Pontiac Motor Turns Out GM's 75 Millionth Car

ASTRONOMICAL — That's what GM chiefs called the 75-million-car figure achieved today by GM plants. And so they got 2-year-old "astronaut" Buzz Jackson to launch the Pontiac Bonneville symbol of all the other cars. Buzz is the son of GM Detroit Central Office employee Harold Jackson. Behind him are the GM vice president in charge of car and truck group, Edward N. Cole; James M. Roche, vice president of distribution staff; E. M. Estes, GM vice president and Pontiac general manager; and Anthony G. De Lorenzo, GM vice president in charge of public relations staff.

2-Year-Old Boy Helps 'Launch' Historic Auto

'We're Proud to Build Symbolic Vehicle Here,' Says E. M. Estes

It nearly was John Glenn all over again.

In an atmosphere of bright camera lights and a sea of smiling executives a 2-year-old boy clad in a blue space suit this morning "piloted" General Motors' 75-millionth car off a Pontiac Motor Division plant assembly line.

Buzz Jackson, son of a GM employee, nearly stole the show from the sleek, peartwoy Pontiac Bonneville convertible symbol of all the GM cars produced since 1908.

Buzz's dad, Harold Jackson of 415 Seminole Drive, Royal Oak, yelled to his son:

"Wave, Buzz, wave!"

Buzzy waved — for nearly an hour.

Threat to Hospital Made by a 'Moron'

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. — Repeated bomb threats to Binghamton General Hospital were made by a moron, police said today as they continued checking the poisoning of 30 babies at the hospital. Six of them died.

The anonymous telephone calls to the hospital began Tuesday after an earlier threat to the hospital's medical director was made public. Police said the publicity probably led to four subsequent calls, between 5 and 8 p.m.

Detective Capt. Michael F. O'Neill said all the calls apparently were from the same man.

As for the baby deaths, O'Neill said police still were looking for any possible malicious intent. All signs to date point to mistaken use of salt for sugar in the infants' formula at the hospital, police said.

Despite the mixup and spreading alarm, pregnant women have continued going to the city-owned hospital for delivery of their babies since the hospital disclosed the deaths, which began last Friday.

Another infant remained in critical condition today and one in serious condition. Eight others were ill. The remainder had no apparent effects, the hospital said.

A funeral director said the hospital had mixed up the bodies of the babies.

The undertakes, Joseph Graskovic, said another funeral home had received the body of a boy that was to have been delivered to him and the body bore the same name as that of a girl he had received.

There was no immediate comment from hospital spokesmen.

WASNT POISONED

A hospital spokesman said it was determined Tuesday that a seventh child had died of earlier complications and had not suffered salt poisoning.

The bomb threats began before dawn Tuesday.

A caller phoned Dr. Jason K. Moyer, the hospital's medical director, at his home and told he would be bombed and poisoned.

Late in the afternoon, a man made the first of four calls to the hospital, threatening a bombing. The possibility that the parents of Hospital authorities ruled out any of the babies were involved in the bomb threats.

To Examine Flint Man in City Holdup

A Flint man being held today in the kidnapping and $250,000 robbery of the owner of two Pontiac supermarkets last month will be examined next Wednesday in Municipal Court.

Charles R. Thomas, 26, demanded examination yesterday afternoon before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan. Thomas is being held in lieu of $50,000 bond.

Two other men were being questioned in the robbery today by Pontiac police. They are Robert E. Murphy, 32, 431 S. Telegraph Road, and Jack V. Young, 31, formerly of Auburn Heights and Keego Harbor.

Young and Thomas were picked up by state police last Friday in a trailer they shared at Grand Blanc. A pistol similar to the one used in the supermarket robbery was found in the trailer.

IDENTIFIED BY VICTIM

Thomas was identified in a lineup Monday at the Flint-Pontiac Station by Joseph O. Gagne, 40, owner of the People's Food Market, 283 Auburn Ave., and People's Food-O-Mat, 465 E. Pike St.

Gagne, 49, 5 W. Utica Road, Shelby Township, told police Thomas was the man who took him from his home at gunpoint Feb. 25 and forced him to hand over the money from sales in the two markets.

A second bandit held Gagne's wife Guida and her two young sons captive while the market owner "was being taken to the stores." The gunmen escaped in Gagne's car.

Another Round Signals Easing of Old Tension

Rusk, Gromyko and 15 Others Hope to Agree on Some Restrictions

GENEVA — For the first time in almost two years Russia and the Western Allies began a new round of disarmament negotiations today.

There was some hope of restricting, but much less hope of stopping the nuclear arms race.

The 17-nation U.N. Disarmament Committee met at the Palace of Nations in late afternoon for a ceremonial session. The last big disarmament conference broke down in 1960.

The delegates, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, heard the resumption of negotiations hailed as signaling in itself an easing of East-West tensions.

American sources said just before the session opened that the Western powers and Russia might be able to negotiate an agreement to block the spread of nuclear weapons and thus begin to bring the arms race under control.

Western officials saw little prospect of agreement in coming months, however, which would halt the manufacture of nuclear weapons.

The outlook is dim, too, for stopping nuclear weapons testing. In both cases, officials said, the apparently insuperable barrier is Russia's unwillingness to open up its territory to international inspection.

The ministers made no comment as they entered the palace for the crucial discussions, which were set up under a resolution of the United Nations.

Omar Luthi of the United Arab Republic, a U.N. under-secretary, formally opened the conference as the personal representative of Acting Secretary General U. Thant.

Conveying Thant's wishes that the conference be a success, Luthi said "no one can fail to recognize the complexity of your task and the urgency which you must overcome. Positive and hopeful elements, however, exist."

Among the hopeful factors, he said, were the inclusion of eight neutral nations to bring to the conference the "views of the different regions of the world."

"The resumption of general disarmament discussions after a hiatus of almost two years," he added, "can in itself provide a valuable step towards the relaxation of international tensions, and a further impetus to the formidable task of how to achieve general and complete disarmament under effective international control."

EXPECTS AGREEMENT

He felt certain that the board would be of the same opinion as the members of both committees on the legislative committee.

Mayor Cavanagh's tax plan, as explained by Oakland County corporation counsel Norman R. Barnard, would enable both Detroit and Wayne County each to levy a 1 per cent income tax on both residents and nonresidents working either in Detroit or Wayne County.

The Macomb County Board of Supervisors has submitted a counter bill to the state legislature which would prevent Detroit from taxing all nonresidents of the city.

Hamilton saw a weakness in Macomb's action, since it would prevent Detroit from drawing taxes from Wayne County as well as from other counties.

"The state is bound to recognize Detroit's problem," he said, "and is not going to let the city go broke."

"Wayne County certainly has a responsibility to Detroit," Hamilton added, but explained that he wants the line drawn at Oakland County.

"We're here to protect Oakland County taxpayers," Hamilton told the committee.

"Watch the people flock out here from Detroit if that would save them from paying an income tax there," declared Avon Township Supervisor Cyril Miller, member of the Legislative Committee.

"If an income tax ever is needed here, Oakland County should collect it," said Springfield Township Supervisor John Carey, a (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Kennedy to Try for Senate Seat

Young Ted Up Against Kin of House Speaker John McCormack

BOSTON (AP) — Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy stepped into the battle today with State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. for the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat once held by his brother, President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy made his expected announcement at a news conference in his home.

The conference was in the second-floor living room from which all furniture had been removed. His blonde wife Joan stood at his side.

Kennedy is facing a doublet test with McCormack, a nephew of U.S. House Speaker John W. McCormack. Kennedy said he will go to the party convention in June and also enter the primary in September as McCormack has indicated he plans to do.

President Kennedy and the White House had no comment on the younger Kennedy's candidacy.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said this was because Ted Kennedy had asked that the President not become involved.

However, another brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, said he was "very pleased."

Collegiates Sweep Toward Laurdelaide

Batten Down the Hatches!

By BEN FUNK
PORT LAURDALE, Fla. — They're coming again. Down the roads from East, Midwest and South, college students are coming in a steady stream, like lemmings, to the beach at Laurdelaide.

They're on spring vacation. They're fed up with here with ice and snow and campus riots and regulations.

They're coming to rough it on the beach at Laurdelaide, under the romantic palms, the hot sun and the cool moon, far from the watchful eyes of parents and professor.

The annual invasion began Monday, when the first wave of 300 hit the beach. Soon their numbers will reach 10,000 or more.

What will they bring? More beer and sex riots like those that shook Laurdelaide last year? Not if a committee headed by Dr. Clem Binger, First Presbyterian church pastor, can prevent it.

WORKS A YEAR

This committee was born in the riots of last spring. It has worked hard for a year. Its goal is to prevent riots and make an artistic, as well as commercial, success of the annual student invasions.

The collegians saw the first evidence of this work today. At three places along the beach, "Hello" hospitality booths appeared. Here, students who could offer identi-cation cards from their campuses were given plastic tags.

These tags will admit them to a huge recreation area to be opened Friday. In this area, there will be dancing every night. Students may build bonfires, sing and have barbecues.

Athletic, talent and beauty contests have been arranged for the college Joes and Janes. More events will be offered later.

"We'll just play it by ear at the start," Binger says.

The plastic identification tags not only will admit the students to entertainments, but will screen out toughs who invaded the area last spring. They posed as students and were largely responsible for inciting the riots. Many of the 300 jailed were thrill seekers who never saw the inside of a college.

In a way, Binger's committee is Laurdelaide's conscience. Many believe the riots grew out of the city's failure to live up to its responsibilities to the young visitors.

A MILLION DOLLARS

Although many of the collegians come on a shoestring, and have to live on hamburgers and sleep in their cars to get by, the student army spends a million dollars in a few days.

Last spring, the students were 50,000 strong. No entertainment was provided for them. There were 10 boys to one girl. Out of the shortage of feminine company grew boredom, excessive drinking and finally three days of riots.

Many believe the collegians drank, caroused and finally rioted simply because they had nothing better to occupy them.

Snow's Just a Bluff; Spring's On Its Way

Blustery snow storms blowing in with a fury may look like winter here again but don't be fooled. Steadily climbing temperatures are causing the snow to melt almost before it hits the ground.

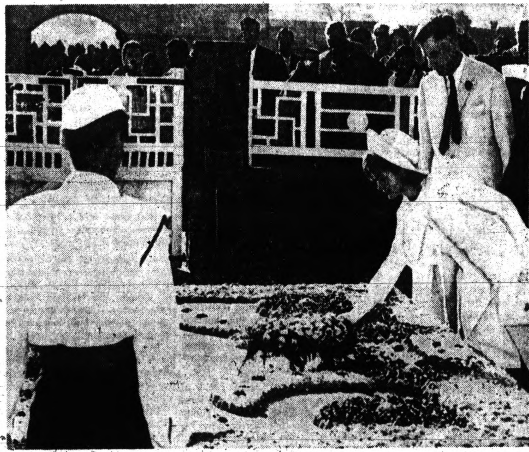

The weatherman said temperatures will average near the normal high of 44 and normal low of 27 for the next few days.

The weekend will be somewhat colder but Monday will be warmer.

Snow flurries are forecast for Saturday and rain Monday with precipitation totaling less than 2 of an inch.

Thirty-five was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer reading at 2 p.m. was 35.

McNamara Aide Boosts JFK's Trade Program

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department called today for approval of President Kennedy's world trade program to help complete an alliance to begin with the military aspects of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Deputy Secretary Roswell G. Gilpatric, substituting for Secretary Robert McNamara, told the House Ways and Means Committee:

"We regard these trade measures for a forward step designed to provide the cement of the free world alliance in which framework of steel."

He said freer trade with Western Europe, as Kennedy advocates, would have direct practical effects in terms of defense.

Plains Digging Out After Heavy Snows

By United Press International
Snowplows churned through mountainous drifts today, cutting paths to towns left snowbound by a paralyzing March storm across the Great Plains.

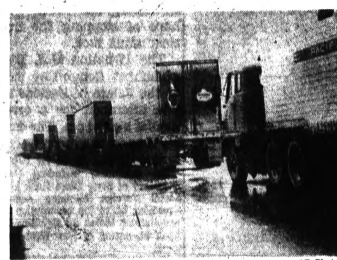

The snows devoured to furies in five Prairie and Midwest states. But scores of towns were still walled off, hundreds of schools were closed, and the threat of thaw-triggered floods loomed.

The plows opened the way for hundreds of travelers who were caught by the storm and had to take refuge in roadside villages and farm houses.

Among the freed storm refugees was a 27-member touring theater troupe headed by actresses Faye Emerson and Eva Le Gallienne. The actors were marooned for two days in the quiet hamlet of Mountain Lake, Minn. They got out today when the plows broke through the heavy high drifts surrounding the town.

As skies cleared over the prairies, another snow storm blew in from the Southwest.

Up to two inches of snow fell throughout the Midwest in the year-spread across the midwest.

TRUCKS IN TROUBLE — This was the scene east of Grand Island, Neb., as ice on the highways halted traffic of big transports headed east during the storm that swept the Midwest this week. The scene is on Highway 30, one of the main east-west roads across Nebraska.

First Flight Made by Terrier Missile

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (UPI) — The first flight test of a new solid propellant Canine Terrier-Asp IV missile carrying piggyback fashion, a communications payload — was made today by the Navy.

The 27-foot long rocket was launched from this Pacific missile range base at 10:42 a.m. EST.

Navy officers said the missile soared about 170 nautical miles, high and impacted some 100 miles west of here in the Pacific Ocean after a 10-minute flight.

Use Sacrifice and Common Sense

Union, Management Save Faltering Firm

By JACK V. FOX
NEW YORK (UPI) — This is a success story. It is the story of how a 36-year old business, about to close its doors and put 1,200 men and women out of work, was saved by a hearing demonstration of union and management working together.

The company is the Ruppert Brewery, founded by Jacob Ruppert two years after the Civil War when massive hordes trundled the beer barrels on wagons through the streets of New York.

The unions are locals of the off-crietized Teamsters, headed nationally by James R. Hoffa although he played no role in the drama.

The method was sacrifice and common sense. Executives took 10 per cent wage cuts — the company president for $30,000 to $25,000 a year. Brewery workers and drivers accepted five-week rotational layoffs. And the oldest workers were persuaded to retire on pensions plus an "incentive" bonus.

Now a little over a year has passed. The company's recent annual report showed a 1961 profit of $21,722 compared to a $7.5 million loss in 1960.

Out of this "share-the-work" experiment may come a lesson and a precedent for other companies encountering the squeeze of high labor costs and for unions gravely concerned by unemployment, particularly that resulting from automation.

It was not automation that brought Ruppert to a crisis in 1959. It was an ill-fated attempt to merchandise its beer widely outside its prime New England-New York-New Jersey markets without sufficient funds for a long-range sales campaign.

Over-all sales dropped and it developed into a situation where Ruppert simply had too many employees for the amount of beer it could sell.

What happened then is told by John J. Waldron, vice president of Ruppert and its chief executive officer for the past year.

WORKED OUT PLAN

The company's position was such that a major stockholder had lined up sufficient support for a proposal to sell the company brand and other assets, tear down the big red brick buildings and construct apartment houses in their place.

It developed, however, that a sale was not feasible for various company would open its books freely to substantiate that figure. The union agreed. Then the union itself worked out a detailed plan.

It was then that the company told the union it had to have relief on its labor costs. The union asked how much. The company said 10 per cent.

Strip Professor of His Ministry

Presbyterian Judicial Commission Acts Over Doctrinal Dispute

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — A seminary professor has been stripped of his ministry in the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. because of a dispute over doctrine.

Because he refused to declare his belief in the doctrine of the virgin birth of Jesus Christ, Dr. John Harwood Hick, 40, Stuart professor of Christian philosophy at Princeton Theological Seminary, was rejected as a minister of the three-million-member church.

The controversy now seems headed for the general assembly of the church, its ruling body. The assembly is to be held May 17 at Denver.

Falling to appeal, Dr. Hick apparently will lose his professorship at the seminary, the oldest Presbyterian seminary in the nation, which requires its faculty members to be ministers.

The decision was announced Tuesday by the permanent judicial commission of the church's New Jersey synod. Acting on the complaint of 18 ministers and ruling elders of the synod's New Brunswick presbytery, which includes Princeton, the commission reversed the presbytery's decision that Dr. Hick could retain his ministry.

The commission said on two occasions that while Dr. Hick "did not deny, he did not affirm his belief in the doctrine of the virgin birth of Jesus Christ."

In a statement, Dr. Hick said he anticipated "when this matter is finally decided by the general assembly of our church, the broader view will prevail."

East Coastline Is Altered by Recent Storms

NEW YORK (AP)—The Eastern seaboard coastline was altered substantially as the result of last week's storms that swept in from the Atlantic, a federal government official said Tuesday.

Capt. Lawrence Swanson, the U.S. Coast Guard and Geodetic Survey's assistant director of physical science, said some channels were filled in and others created.

Bill Would Help Poor Districts

Unit Approves Motion Increasing School Aid and Deductible Millage

LANSING (AP) — Poor school districts with the least taxable property would gain the most under a school aid bill recommended for passage by the House Education Committee.

The measure came out of the committee Tuesday and went immediately to the Ways and Means Committee for a check on costs and possible amendment.

The bill would raise the per pupil state aid formula from $205 to $274 and the deductible millage factor from 3 1/4 to 3 3/4 mills. Increase in deductible millage give poor districts a bigger share of state aid.

Rep. Raymond C. Wurzel, R-Port Huron, Education Committee chairman, said the proposed changes would cost about $21 million a year. That does not take into account an additional $10 million required for an expected 50,000 increase in public school enrollments next year, he said.

UPS SPECIAL AID
The two increases, he said, would raise state aid costs to about $333 million.

Another provision in the bill raises the maximum state equalized valuation for districts to be eligible for special aid to "disadvantaged districts" from $7,000 to $11,000 per pupil.

Wurzel said he anticipated efforts on the House floor to raise the deductible millage factor even higher.

"I agree that our low valuation districts should get more state aid," he said, "but I think that 3 3/4 mills is about all we can hope to get through the legislature this year."

Wurzel criticized Gov. Swainson's proposal for an eight per cent across-the-board aid increase. "This would only compound the inequities in school aid distribution," he said.

Swainson's bill died in the committee.

Mackie to Ask $1.75 Million for High Winter Bill

LANSING (AP) — With its budget exhausted, the State Highway Department is going to ask for $1.75 million in special appropriations to help pay the highway maintenance bill for a long and stormy winter.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said the department already has overspent its $5.5 million winter maintenance budget by $100,000.

Mackie said he would ask the legislature to transfer $1.25 million to the maintenance fund from the gas and weight tax fund which finances highway construction. Another $500,000 will be sought from the Department of Administration, he said.

Mackie said he had signed a 6-month contract and had chosen to exercise her option to withdraw. She said there was nothing to rumors that she had been in disagreement with the management or cast members.

Senators Set Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Armed Services subcommittee will begin open hearings March 21 on the stockpiling of strategic materials. President Kennedy has said an excessive amount of such materials has been accumulated.

What Will Be Result of Disarmament Talks?

Disarmament is a little like virtue. Nobody is really against it. The French are not participating because DeGaulle doesn't see any use in talking with the Soviet Union at this time.

A new try will be made starting today by representatives of 17 nations meeting in Geneva under United Nations auspices. On Monday and Tuesday the British and Russian foreign ministers and the U.S. Secretary of State met.

These talks are the result of a resolution adopted unanimously by the 104 member United Nations General Assembly last December. Actually, it's kind of an East-West compromise asked, "as a matter of urgency" that the new disarmament body seek agreement on "general and complete disarmament under effective international control."

At the talks which we can't get very excited about, the East will again be represented by the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Romania. The lineup for the West will be the United States, Great Britain, Italy and Canada.

The new element will be the relatively independent nations. These eight are Mexico and Brazil, representing Latin America; Burma and India, for Asia; Ethiopia, Nigeria and the United Arab Republic, for Africa and the Middle East, and a neutral European, Sweden.

This will be the first sizable formal discussion of disarmament since June 27, 1960. That's when the Communist half of an East-West conference walked out after three months of futile talks.

We would like to think that for the good of the entire world, Premier Khrushchev would go along with some proposal for inspection machinery. It's that simple, he holds the trump card. If he won't agree it will just turn into another bickering session with little or no gain.

President KENNEDY said at his March 7 news conference that it would be proper at Geneva to discuss Berlin and Germany or South Asia because these matters directly influence the progress of armaments. Further, he said, "If we fail to get an agreement on testing, then . . . we test. And I presume others will test. And I regard that as very risky procedure for the future of the human race."

Report Says Railroads Need Modernization

The report from the Presidential Railroad Commission studying the entire railroad system seems to indicate that modernization is in order. By a 10 to 5 vote the commission has said that part of the featherbedding must cease.

The recommendation that 30 to 45 thousand jobs be eliminated supports the management claims that working conditions have hindered beyond question their operations of the Nation's railroads.

The report calls for a replanning of wage structures and updating working conditions to keep abreast of the new and modern equipment.

Basically, the commission's report seems to make sense. The main issue hinged around the 45,000 firemen helpers now paid to sit in diesel locomotives in freight or yard service. The firemen have absolutely nothing to do and the railroads charge this is costing $250 million a year.

The unions argue that the firemen are necessary for the safety of the engineer, in case something happens.

This is about as absurd as arguing that you could not drive a car alone without hiring a stand-in driver.

Now that the commission has reported, management and labor are bound by a previous agreement to negotiate over the recommendations. The unions are against this but Labor Secretary Goldberg is urging both to settle their differences on the basis of the report.

Why not abide by the findings of the 15 man commission? They spent 16 months gathering the facts, and it would seem utterly silly to waste this time and money.

The Man About Town

Indications of Spring Are Disputed by Others

Getting old. When it takes twice as long to rest up after taking half as long to get tired.

Quite in disagreement are the prospects of an early spring are

Gordon Schenker of Waterloo, who phones that he saw a caterpillar on a snow bank — crawling north; and

Mrs. Gladys Wellerton of Birmingham, who sends word that she saw a caterpillar on her porch—crawling south.

When the sap in the maple trees begins to run early, we have an early spring, says

Phil Waskom of Drayton Plains, who tapped his trees three weeks earlier than usual, and getting a good run of the sweet water that after being boiled down, ends up on flap jacks.

A 15-year-old pony, owned by the family of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fulger of Rochester, has been an unfailing weather barometer all of his life. When we're to have an early spring he begins shedding his winter coat early in February. He's still in full cold weather attire.

Several of Oakland County's leading farmers, including

Earl Voorheis of Davidsburg, highly endorse the "Let owners run their farms" plan which Secretary of Agriculture

Orville L. Freeman gave as advice to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in the latter's efforts to solve Russia's agricultural problems.

Writing me from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Ted Hubert of 1367 Livville Road, Pontiac, says the Florida papers surely make big news of anything wintry in the north. He also says they've had some real snow in Fort Lauderdale.

Regarding that Glidden auto tour that started in Pontiac in 1907 and went to Pike's Peak,

George Olsen of Birmingham states that three Pontiac men,

W. H. Dawson, A. G. North and H. G. Hamilton had just been named directors of the Cartercar Company, who were behind the local entrants.

Whooping it up for his home town,

Joe McCall, Holly Publisher, tells me that there isn't a vacant retail store in the village, and we wonder if any other Oakland County, (or Michigan), city or village can say as much.

Flooded Detroit expressways are hardly news, according to a phone call from

David Lawrence Reminisces:

Things No Different in 50 Years

WASHINGTON—This unchanging world might well be a caption on the dispatch presented here today.

It was exactly 50 years ago this week that the writer—as an Associated Press reporter—found himself riding horseback at night through the mountains of southern Virginia along with a posse of detectives who were searching for a band of outlaws.

They were called the Allen Gang, and they had shot up a courtroom, killing the judge on the bench, the prosecuting attorney, the sheriff, one juror and two spectators.

There was no ban then, any more than there is today, on the possession of deadly weapons. In 1912, however, there were already advocating disarmament of nations.

There had been fruitless international conferences at the Hague before, but in that very same year talk was heard of possible naval disarmament. Winston Churchill, naval secretary in the British Cabinet, opposed it, but reversed himself the next year when he declared in a public speech that Britain would be glad to sign a "disarmament" treaty with Germany.

The proposal was that the two rival naval powers would agree that, for at least one year, neither would build any more battleships. The idea was to proclaim a "naval holiday" thereafter for an indefinite period. The plan got nowhere.

In that same year of 1912, two states—Arizona and New Mexico—were added to the Union as the 47th and 48th. Also, there occurred the biggest transportation disaster of all times. There were more than 1,500 lives lost when the steamship Titanic was speeding too fast through dangerous waters in the North Atlantic, collided with an iceberg.

Because of an insufficiency of lifeboats, the casualties were heavy—almost 16 times, in fact, the number killed in the air disaster in New York a couple of weeks ago.

U.S. FIRST NOBEL PRIZE Not all the news was negative, however, for in that same year, Prof. Elmer V. McCollum of Yale discovered the curative values of vitamins A and B. The Nobel Prize in physiology and medicine was awarded for the first time to an American, Alexis Carrel, for his experiments in the transplanting of blood vessels and organs.

This correspondent, after several weeks in northern Mexico, where a revolution had broken out that year, got back to the political wars in our midst and

So far as is known, we have no more need for stored bile than for some of the farm airplanes that accumulate in our land of plenty.

As you can easily see, we don't need medicinal bile stimulants any more than the farmer needs more wheat.

And, should that need arise, all we are required to do is start the meal with a teaspoonful of cream or a piece of bread that is well buttered and the gall bladder will oblige with a squirt of stored bile that is more than enough for digestive purposes.

So much then for the quantity of bile secretion. But how about drugs to improve the quality? Well, first off, they are nonexistent.

Secondly, even if such were found the three-cornered 1912 campaign a newsy affair. Theodore Roosevelt was shot in the chest but not seriously wounded. Woodrow Wilson gallantly suspended his speech-making until Roosevelt's recovery.

Incidentally, even in 1912 there were servicemen who were annoyed by their tour of duty, as diverse divisions of the U.S. Army were mobilized by President Taft to watch the border between Texas and Mexico. In the same year, too, U.S. Marines were landed in Cuba because of disorders there.

Not all the turbulence was in politics or international affairs. Labor union disturbances were big in 1912. A two-month strike of textile workers in Massachusetts was characterized by considerable violence.

It may seem surprising to many people today, but a Republican administration often referred to as "standpat" or "conservative" did order the Department of Justice in 1912 to take action against the merger of the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads, and the courts agreed.

No was the world of the dance much different in 1912, though they didn't call it the "twist." The "ragtime" music had brought out a series of what were called "animal dances."

These were denounced in the press and in the pulpits of the land. Among the names given were the "fox trot," the "horse trot," the "crab step," the "kangaroo dip," the "camel walk," the "fish walk," the "chicken scratch" and the "lame duck."

But it was the "grizzly bear" and the "bunny hug" and the "turkey trot" which were the most popular.

Fortunately or unfortunately, they didn't have any television then.

(Copyright 1962)

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Liver Bile Production Much More Than Needed

One of the medical fables that seems indelible is that of "biliousness." People who feel out of sorts still complain of feeling "bilious."

Letter writers continue to ask for stimulants to act on a "sluggish liver." And, despite governmental action restraining manufacturers from calling their products "liver pills," there is a sustained demand for drugs to "stimulate" the largest organ of the body whose efficiency rating can be approached by the most impressive of human handiworks. Here are some of the facts about liver functions and the secretion of bile.

Among the more than 30 known activities performed by the countless thousands of microscopic liver cells is the manufacture of bile.

The daily output of bile is about a pint, vastly more than body requirements.

After being collected by a branching series of channels within the liver, bile is stored in the gall bladder during periods of digestive inactivity — during sleep and between meals.

When we eat, and especially when the meal includes fatty foods, the gall bladder contracts and squeezes out some of the stored bile. In the intestines, released bile assists in the digestion of fats.

So efficient is bile formation that the surgeon may remove the gall bladder without disturbing fat digestion. Seemingly, just the amount that continues to flow day and night from the liver cells is enough to perform biliary functions.

No far as is known, we have no more need for stored bile than for some of the farm airplanes that accumulate in our land of plenty.

As you can easily see, we don't need medicinal bile stimulants any more than the farmer needs more wheat.

And, should that need arise, all we are required to do is start the meal with a teaspoonful of cream or a piece of bread that is well buttered and the gall bladder will oblige with a squirt of stored bile that is more than enough for digestive purposes.

So much then for the quantity of bile secretion. But how about drugs to improve the quality? Well, first off, they are nonexistent.

Secondly, even if such were available, there is no known condition for which they would be helpful.

So, unless you suffer an obstruction to your bile passages and are obviously jaundiced, better look for some explanation other than biliousness when you feel out of sorts. And seek relief from some measures other than so-called "liver pills" or "bile stimulants."

"Since I hadn't received a medical check-up for several years, I decided it might be well to see my physician prior to our trip."

"For we go way back into the wild country of Canada. And if I might suffer an attack of indigestion, I don't know how we would, ever find a doctor."

"Well, my physician immediately sent me to the hospital for my medical check-up."

"He kept me there for several days. Meanwhile my friends learned about it from a squib in the newspaper, saying I was one of the new patients admitted on the medical service."

"So they sent flowers and sympathy cards and even candy. They expressed great concern, yet my doctor found nothing wrong with me."

"Why do so many doctors clutter up our hospitals with patients who should be examined in their private offices?"

Myrtle's question explains the jammed hospitals and the constant demand on you taxpayers for additional millions to add new wings to old hospitals or to build new and larger "Cathedrals of Healing."

Actually, a good GP (general practitioner) could have handled

Myrtle's medical check-up in his own office.

And without subjecting her insurance company to several days' hospital expenses.

Furthermore, the room that Myrtle occupied would have been available for surgical or pregnancy cases that acutely needed it.

If you readers require surgery or if you expectant mothers are ready to deliver your babe, then a hospital is an excellent location for such medical and surgical care.

But if you need X rays, blood counts, urinalyses, and all the other expert "medical services" involved in a good medical check-up, then why go to the hospital?

If your doctor can't see his eyes, ears and palpating fingers to make a diagnosis in your own home or his private office, then he is shunting his proper medical duties to lab technicians in hospitals.

So many modern medical arts are thus relinquishing their duties to hospital nurses, lab and X-ray technicians and externs from the junior or senior classes of local medical schools.

HORSE SENSE IN MEDICINE.

But part of the fault for this mad epidemic of "hospitalitis" that afflicts America lies at the feet of you laymen.

You insist on going to the hospital, even before you want a doctor to look into your mouth and ask you to say "Ah."

"But we have hospital insurance," you may argue, "so we might as well get some money back before it goes to zero."

Indeed, you are right. We have been paying $100 million a year in hospital insurance premiums.

A vicious circle is thus started.

'No Wonder Accidents Less in Airplanes Than Autos'

When an editorial such as "Plane Accidents Low Compared to Auto" is trotted out on readers, it makes me wonder if The Press considers us all too stupid to realize that there are several million more automobiles than airplanes. When you consider that 80 per cent of the population do not use airplanes, but 99 per cent have one or more cars, how can you draw any comparison?

According to The Press' way of thinking, the safest way to travel would be in a rocket capsule shot from Cape Canaveral. There hasn't been one single death in all those countless miles of orbit travel. Let's have one of your brilliant editorials condemning the airplane and praising the rocket ship. How soon can you book passage on it?

Believe Referee Showed Partiality

Pontiac Parks and Recreation could do with a thorough examination of the partiality shown by one of the referees in the game between CIO and 300 Lounge, Thursday, March 8.

When so many young people of this area are subject to such bias conduct as was shown by this referee, it will definitely have its effect in their future athletic endeavors.

Bill Brown

Holly

The one who referred to the 300 Lounge game (March 9 paper) as a "well-deserved" victory, did not watch with an unbiased view. It was far from fairly refereed.

I'm convinced that all concerned with the 300 Lounge game did themselves that truth.

Milda Killian

Orionville

It is inconceivable how an organization designed to furthering athletics in this area can contend with such a partial and biased official as in the 300 Lounge game. It is difficult to believe that a person who supposedly is objective could allow his personal feelings to influence his decisions in an athletic contest.

I was under the mistaken impression that the purpose of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department was to promote good sportsmanship, not only among the young people participating, but among young people of this area.

Requests Probe of Tax Board

Senator Says He Only Seeks Unit to Equalize Assessment Rates

LANSING (AP)—The chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee has asked for a special Senate group to investigate what he terms failure of the State Tax Commission to uphold the law.

The committee won't be as tough as the resolution asking for it sounds, says Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings, R. Holland.

"I believe they are trying to do an honest job," he said. "I just want to keep after them until there is a uniform rate of assessment throughout the state."

The threatening title of the resolution asks for a special committee "to investigate the failure of the State Tax Commission to properly administer and enforce the constitution and property tax laws of the state."

"SHOULD BE EQUAL"
"We should have personal property assessed at the same rate as real property," Geerlings said.

The resolution said personal property is being assessed in approximately double the rate of real estate. The assessment range, the resolution said, from two per cent of market value to as high as 175 per cent of the sales price.

The Tax Commission also testified, the resolution said, that it is permitting discriminatory assessments in Detroit.

Eventually, Geerlings said, all property should be placed on the rolls and assessed at actual cash value.

The Tax Commission, Geerlings noted, controls the State Board of Equalization.

"We probably won't hold more than one hearing," said Geerlings. "We just want to hear a progress report and keep the thing alive to eventually bring about uniform assessment."

Hoffman to Stay in the Hospital

Allegan Congressman Expected to Return Home Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R-Mich., is expected to remain at the Bethesda Naval Hospital for another week of observation.

Then, says his son Leo, he will go home to Allegan, Mich.

The 56-year-old congressman has been hospitalized since March 6 when he suffered his second stroke in six months.

"I believe he was sitting in his wheelchair in his apartment (there) when it happened," Leo Hoffman told newsmen Tuesday. "Apparently this one included some involvement of the heart."

FOREGONE CONCLUSION

The congressman's son added, "There isn't much to look forward to."

Asked if his father would retire from politics, the son replied:

"I suppose you might say it's a foregone conclusion, but he just hasn't come out and said anything yet."

Hospital officials said today that Hoffman is not considered to be in serious condition.

He suffered a stroke last Nov. 9 and has not attended a session of Congress since last September.

Burglar Suspect 'Working Way Through College'

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Don Allen Elliott, 23, arrested with three others Tuesday on burglary charges, was quoted as saying he was "just working his way through college."

Dist. Atty. Cameron McKinney said Elliott, of Dallas, and Talmadge Hedrick Jackson, 19, of Killeen, Tex., were students at East Texas State College. He said the other two, accused of burglary, Robert Stanley Box, 18, of Denison, Tex., and James Lee McKinney, 18, of Dallas, were students at Paris (Tex.) Junior College.

The district attorney said statements by the four cleared up 17 burglaries, 10 cases of theft, and 25 cases of breaking and entering coin-operated machines.

Snowed by Piles, He Shovels $1,750 Into Removal

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Charles Haubrich looked with dismay at the seven-foot snow piles along the street in front of his camera shop. They extended eight feet into the street and three feet back on the sidewalk.

He called his alderman. No luck. So Haubrich shelled out $1,750 to have a four-block stretch cleared of snow and ice. It took three trucks three nights to do the job.

Haubrich hopes to get some of his investment back by asking the 180 merchants along the four blocks for 50 cents per foot of cleared area. So far he has received $300.

Ann-Margret Calls Off Troth to Businessman

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress-singer Ann-Margret has called off her engagement to Beverly Hills businessman Burt Sugarman less than a month since he put a 3½-carat diamond ring on her finger, her studio said Tuesday.

The 21-year-old Swedish-born performer is in New York to publicize her new film, "State Fair." The 20th Century-Fox spokesman said he understood she ended the engagement before leaving Hollywood.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Picking, nose-picking, a tormenting metal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms—tiny parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 5 persons. Stomach, family, may be victim and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jay's P-W Tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the large intestine before they dissolve. Then—Jay's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jay's P-W Vermicide—small, easy-to-swallow tablets... special ones for children and adults.

In the Soviet Union, private enterprise among the peasants continues to confound the economic planners by producing the bulk of Soviet eggs, milk, poultry and a large proportion of its meat supply.

Totally collectivized East Germany, once the leader of the whole of Germany, cannot produce enough to feed itself.

Poland's farmers, enjoying more latitude than most within the Communist empire, have demonstrated indisputably that they value private ownership of a horse above communal partnership in a tractor.

Hungary, once a food exporting nation, is in just as bad agricultural shape as East Germany.

The list could be expanded. CHINA'S RECORD

In 1958, as part of the "great leap forward," Red China began jamming 500 million people into 10,000 giant communes. Private enterprise, as well as family life, was to disappear in an overnight lunge toward the perfect Communist state.

Even as dedicated a Communist as Khrushchev ridiculed the idea, and thus perhaps for the first time disclosed the now widely advertised rift with Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-Tung.

But even the determined Chinese have been forced to make accommodations.

The communes have not been abandoned, nor are they likely to be during the lifetime of Mao.

But the old backyard steel furnaces and other home industries which were to provide the communes with much of their own equipment, long since have disappeared.

More recently, many communal dining halls, nurseries and other facilities have been closed or used only part of the time.

Mounting dissatisfaction among the peasants accounted for some of the relaxation of the rigid discipline of the communes. Three successive years of poor grain harvests and resulting economic pressures were other contributing factors.

A most significant change was official recognition of individual land holdings.

The Communists have permitted, even encouraged, certain capitalist, free enterprise practices.

A Swiss professor who visited Red China in 1961, wrote:

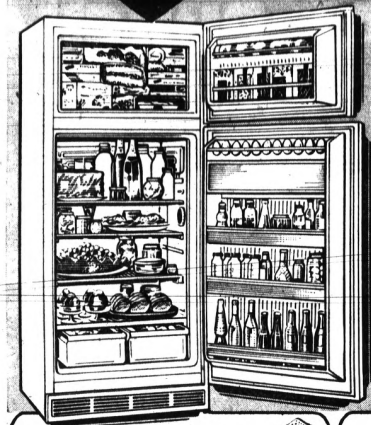

"The party's instructions... encourage rural fairs where the peasants sell the product of their individual work—vegetables, fruit, poultry, eggs, sometimes a pig, more rarely a cow."

Not for the world would the Communists consider this a concession to capitalism. Instead it is an "adjustment" to bring "into still fuller play the enthusiasm of the commune members to production" and "mobilize the whole party and the whole nation to support agriculture."

Soviet Aid Goes to 27 Neutrals

India Gets Top Share of $1 Billion Annual Outlay, Says Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — India heads the list of 27 countries outside the Sino-Soviet bloc which have received economic assistance from behind the Iron Curtain.

Authoritative sources, reporting this today in connection with President Kennedy's foreign aid message to Congress, said such economic aid grants and credits have averaged about $1 billion annually for the last three years.

The total outlay from 1954 when a start was made with a modest $11 million loan to Afghanistan, is figured at $5.5 billion through 1961. That includes $4.4 billion in economic aid and $2.1 in military aid.

Besides the money the bloc has sent $500 economic and 1,800 military technicians to less-developed countries.

INDIA GETS MOST
No country-by-country breakdown of the military aid is available.

India had the largest share in economic assistance with $950 million. Indonesia is second with $641 million, Egypt third with $615 million, Cuba fourth with $357 million, Afghanistan fifth with $217 million and Iraq sixth with $216 million.

The Soviet Union is the leading donor in the bloc, providing about $3.2 billion in economic aid. European satellites, especially Czechoslovakia, have furnished about $350 million, and Red China about $300 million.

North Carolina Digs Into History

Where Was President Jackson Born?

By J. MICHAEL ROUSE
Associated Press Staff Writer
Thursday we can all observe the birthday of Andrew Jackson, soldier, statesman and seventh president of the United States. He was born March 15, 1767 at—

Well, we don't know exactly where.

Most reference books say it was in the Waxhaw settlement in Lancaster County, South Carolina. North Carolina says it isn't so—that Jackson was born just across the border in Union County, North Carolina.

AN OLD ARGUMENT
The Tar Heel state has hired a young historian, Max Harris, to determine which. If he succeeds in settling the 150-year-old argument, one of the states will have to tear down a monument.

"Here was born, March 15, 1767, Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States," reads the legend on a monument in a wooded area of Union County, N.C.

A half-mile away, just across the state line in South Carolina, is another monument to Jackson's birth. It stands on the edge of South Carolina's Andrew Jackson State Park.

The story begins in 1765 when Andrew Jackson Sr., an Irishman, settled with his family in the Waxhaw Indian lands spanning the border of the Carolinas, just inside North Carolina.

He died two years later, leaving two sons, Robert and Hugh, and a pregnant wife.

ENTER CONTROVERSY
Mrs. Jackson decided to move to the plantation home of a sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford, just inside South Carolina.

Enter the controversy.

Not so, say the North Carolinians. Labor pains, they claim, set in on the journey, and she stopped at the home of another sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George McKemie (or McKamie) and gave birth to the child, moving on to the Crawfords when he was six weeks old.

The site of the McKemie cabin is on the North Carolina side of the boundary—by a distance of 407 yards.

Jackson was the only president in U.S. history with two "home states" and, apparently relishing the situation, he never directly disputed the claims of either one.

Each of the Carolinas can furnish direct quotes from Old Hickory himself backing up its claim. Jackson said in 1828 that he was born in South Carolina. In 1831, he said North Carolina.

CHANGED MIND
North Carolinians say he was the home state of Andrew Jackson.

This prompted Col. Samuel Wakeup of Monroe, N.C., Union County seat, to set about obtaining more affidavits from elderly residents of the Waxhaws. These documents also tell the McKemie cabin story.

Some historians say that when Jackson was born, the McKemie cabin was in South Carolina. The surveyor establishing the first boundary between the two states made an error. It wasn't settled until the king of England intervened in 1771. When the new boundary was drawn, the McKemie cabin came inside North Carolina.

Last year, the North Carolina General Assembly appropriated $12,500 to pay for an investigation to settle the question. Harris was hired two months ago to do the job.

"I'm not trying to prove Jackson was born in North Carolina," Harris says, "I just want to find out definitely where he was born."

Even Virginia entered the picture in the 1850s, claiming she

Ex-Aide of Mossadegh Dies in Iran Hospital

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Ayatollah Kashani, once right-hand man of premier Mohammed Mossadegh, died today in a hospital where he had been under treatment for bronchitis. He was 86.

Kashani, a Moslem religious leader, played a key role in staging the demonstrations in 1950-52 in support of Mossadegh's successful campaign to nationalize Iran's oil industry.

But when Mossadegh began opposing the monarchy, Kashani broke with him.

Three out of four new churches have roots of engineered timber construction.

No New Evidence in Eichmann Appeal

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann, sentenced to hang for his role in the slaughter of six million Jews in Europe during World War II, has not produced any new evidence in his appeal, it has been reported.

The text of the 15,000-word appeal was made public Tuesday and it said that Israel had no right to try Eichmann. The former Nazi S.S. lieutenant colonel's West German defense attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, prepared the appeal of the sentence passed last December.

The appeal will be heard starting March 22 by a five-man Israeli supreme court. It is expected to take four or five days.

3rd Term as President

FLUSHING — The village of Flushing, a Genesee County community west of Flint, re-elected Clayton A. Fraser Monday to a third term as president.

How do you measure 30 years?

There are many ways to measure three decades.

You can slice them up into months, weeks, days . . . even minutes. You can squeeze them all together into one big generalization. Or you can do what Osmun's does.

We translate years into people.

Over the past 30 years, thousands of Pontiac men have literally "grown up" with Osmun's. We've watched them pass before our mirrors—from high school and college into marriage and later adult life.

We have seen young customers become old friends. And we have come to know and understand each other . . . as only real friends can.

Together we have reckoned the years, in personal, almost trifling ways: a smile . . . a handshake . . . the right color or the wrong collar. Knowing these little things takes time.

All of us at Osmun's feel our time has been well spent. And judging by what you tell us, you feel that Osmun's is like a member of the family.

That's the best way we know of to measure 30 years.

Poverty Favorite Theme

Proverbs Say the Same No Matter Which Nation

WASHINGTON — In England too many cooks spoil the broth. In Russia a child with seven nurses loses an eye. In China too many bricklayers build a lopsided house.

Many other strikingly similar proverbs crop up in widely separated parts of the world, the National Geographic Society says.

The Japanese say: "A woman's hair is strong enough to keep an elephant tied." An English proverb claims: "One hair of a woman draws more than a team of oxen."

These tributes to the tenacity of women and similar duplicates apparently developed independently in different areas as man drew upon common observations, experiences, and problems.

Thousands of proverbs have been coined about women: A group of West African sayings has a familiar ring: "If you want peace, give ear to your wife's proposals in different areas as man drew upon common observations, experiences, and problems."

Who marries a beautiful woman marries torment. . . . Women take up their market baskets and also take up gossip.

Chivalry dies in the old English couplet: "A spaniel, a woman, and a walnut tree. The more they're beaten the better they be."

Russians put it more gently: "Love your wife like your soul but shake her like a pear tree."

A popular international theme warns against excessive talk. The Chinese hold that a great talker never wants in at the door, talk does not cook rice, and mischief all comes of much opening of the mouth.

ON SPOKEN WORD
The English caution that "a spoken word cannot be recalled." Russian and Japanese proverbs express the same idea metaphorically. Russian version: "A word isn't a bird: if it flies out, you'll never catch it again." Japanese: "A word once uttered is beyond the reach of four galloping horses."

Poverty is another familiar theme, and a thread of cynicism runs through many of the sayings on this subject.

West African: "Being poor makes it hard to have friends but not impossible." English: "When poverty comes in at the door, love flies out at the window." Italian: "It is more easy to praise poverty than to bear it."

But being poor has its compensations, according to an Eng-

Jackson Prison Group Prints Books Into Braille

By LARRY MILLER
Jackson Citizen-Patriot
Written for The AP

JACKSON — A human interest story at Southern Michigan Prison is waiting for someone to write the final chapter.

The ingredients for an inspirational yarn already are there: Six criminals devoted to helping their fellow men, a group of Jackson residents who would like to help them and several scattered groups of blind students throughout Michigan who are desperately in need of Braille text books.

Their story is one that could easily restore anyone's faith in the human race.

The one factor which could throw a monkey wrench into the tale is money. But Jackson area Lions Club members are stepping in to help eliminate that threat.

The story began unfolding in 1958 at the prison when an inmate serving life for murder, Charles Hanna, became interested in transcribing written words into Braille.

STUDIED BRAILLE
Hanna began studying the intricacies of the Braille method and succeeded in getting five other inmates interested. Together they formed an organization known as the Michigan Braille Transcribing Service which has blossomed into one of the most productive volunteer sources of Braille material in this country.

Transcribed Braille material has been sent from the prison to such places as the Michigan School for the Blind in Lansing and the Oakland County School System. The demand grows daily.

Because of this, 21 more inmates now are undergoing the year-long period of instruction that will enable them to become certified Brailleists. Their labor will be free of charge, but there will be still other expenses to be dealt with. This is where the two Jackson Lions clubs come into the picture.

Kenneth Palmer and Donovan F. Lewis learned that although the inmates were transcribing the material at no charge, there still was a matter of postage, paper and other equipment to contend with. Up to then, the prisoners had been digging into their own pockets for the necessary funds. But with much more work to be done, they were running out of money.

"The transcribing of print into Braille is a time-consuming and exacting job," said Lewis.

"When the American Printing House for the Blind or volunteer groups throughout the country transcribe material, they either must pay highly for labor or do it in their spare time. These men at the prison have plenty of time and the necessary skill.

Their efforts shouldn't be wasted."

NEED MACHINE

The biggest problem, right now, Palmer says, is the procurement of a new type of duplicating machine that will enable the prisoners to transcribe material on a mass production basis.

"With this machine unlimited quantities can be produced," he said.

"Thousands of school books can be run off with the same amount of transcribing labor that would be required for just a few copies. The only additional cost involved would be the actual paper and binding of each book."

More than half a million members throughout the world will be able to lead financial support to the project, as well as submit the names of groups in their localities who need Braille material.

"About 90 per cent of the translation work being done by the prisoners will go for school texts and lesson plans for blind children," Lewis said.

"Most schools now face up to a nine-month wait for books to be transcribed by available agencies. We hope to begin placing more critically needed educational material into the hands of blind children who otherwise never would have the advantage of such learning."

The unfolding human interest story may yet have a happy ending. At least, Lewis and Palmer are betting it will.

Wyoming Boy Admits Milking Dairy Supply

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—A Laramie family couldn't understand why its dairy bill suddenly took a sharp increase.

Police investigated and got a confession from a 14-year-old neighbor boy.

He admitted slipping over to the home after dark and changing the dairy order. Then he would set his alarm clock for 5 a.m. and pick up the extra ice cream, chocolate milk and orange drink before the family awoke.

TRACKLESS TRAIN — New supply vehicle capable of carrying 150 tons of cargo over practically any terrain in the world is being tested by the Army in Texas. The 572-foot-long overland train has 13 cars with tires four feet wide and 10 feet in diameter.

Each of its 54 huge wheels is powered by individual electric motors. Three gas turbine engines generate electricity. Ten cars are for cargo, two carry the power plants, and the front car contains controls.

City Girl Sailing Aboard the SS Hope to Peru

BY PAT EVANS

When the SS Hope departs from its San Francisco dock Tuesday en route to Peru, among the ship's staff and 35 U.S. nurses waving her voyage will be Carolyn Stoll of Stirling Road.

Chosen for the mission from 1,000 applicants, Miss Stoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Stoll, is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and the University of Michigan School of Nursing. She received her B.S. degree in nursing from Wayne State University in Detroit, where she also became affiliated with Sigma Theta Tau, national honorary nursing society.

The voyage, though Miss Stoll's first, will mark the second for the Hope. The Hope sailed from San Francisco on her maiden voyage in September 1960; Indonesia, where the ship spent 7½ months, was the first stop.

On June 15, the Hope began a stay at Saigon, South Viet Nam, where staff members worked in six local hospitals and held clinics in villages in other areas, treating more than 28,000 patients. The maiden voyage in Southeast Asia ended Sept. 14 last fall when Hope returned to the California dock.

Perhaps the most valuable item Miss Stoll will take, but which cannot be fitted into a suitcase, is her medical experience chiefly in pediatrics. Her last full-time position was as head nurse in pediatrics at University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Prior to this time, while still attending Wayne State University, she worked part time at the Children's Hospital in Detroit. Last summer was spent in pediatrics at William Beaumont Hospital.

As a member of project Hope, a privately sponsored program, Miss Stoll with the others aboard, will share modern medical knowledge and skills with newly developing nations via the primary vehicle, the SS Hope.

The Hope, formerly the U.S. Navy hospital ship Consolation, on loan from the government to the private People-to-People Health Foundation, and supported by public contributions, will anchor at Salaverry, Peru, on April 1.

Salaverry, 300 miles north of Lima, is the port for Trujillo, site of the new medical school at the famed University of Bolívar, founded by Simón Bolívar. It is some 50 miles from the scene of the recent disastrous avalanche at Mt. Huascaran.

The ship and its staff will augment the facilities and staff of the medical school, designed to train physicians for all of Northern Peru.

Since Hope is primarily a teaching project, Miss Stoll will be working as a teaching nurse, giving on-the-spot instruction to Peruvian physicians while working with Peruvian patients in the ship's hospital.

While in Peru, Hope staff members will use the ship as a base for trips to other Peruvian cities, where they will hold seminars and work in local hospitals, on a program geared to the country's specific needs.

It is possible that the Hope staff members will also perform field missions in neighboring countries while the ship is based at Salaverry, before marking their journey homeward.

Also assisting are Mrs. Robert Felt, Mrs. Richard Jarvis, Mrs. Paul Antilla, Mrs. John Rooper, Mrs. Willis Brewer, Mrs. B. A. TePooten and Mrs. Richard Gavette.

Will Review Book

The Waterford Book Review Group will meet Monday in Waterford Community Center at 1:00 p.m.

Mrs. Eugene C. Cleland will review "Journey Into Summer," by Edwin Way Teale. Mrs. William Stunck and Mrs. Harley Stephens are to be the hostesses.

Luncheon Slated

Mrs. Harry Striffler of East Irons Road will open her home to members of the Fire-side Club for a luncheon Friday.

The SS Hope, former Navy ship on loan to the private People-to-People Health Foundation, supported by public contributions, will anchor at Salaverry, Peru, April 1 to begin its second mission in sharing this nation's modern medical knowledge with newly developing countries.

Anxiously awaiting the SS Hope mission to Peru, Carolyn Stoll packs her trunk for a one-year stay. Chosen from 1,000 applicants for the mission, Miss Stoll will be among 35 U.S. nurses on the ship's staff. A Pontiac Central High School and University of Michigan graduate, she received her B.S. degree in nursing from Wayne State University. Her parents are the Don Stolls of Stirling Road.

Don't Fool Self, Abby Says

'Other Woman' Is Upset

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The "other woman" doesn't have a chance with you. You condemn her before knowing the facts. Well, I know more about it than you, Abby, because I have been the "other woman" for five years.

He loves me and I love

him. I have never lied to my man or cheated on him, which is more than some MARRIED women can say.

Yes, I am waiting faithfully for him because, one day, I know that he will be my husband. What do you say to that?

THE OTHER WOMAN

DEAR OTHER: I say, quit torturing yourself. You may be honest, faithful and loyal to him—but he is lying, cheating and two-timing his wife.

If you should realize your dream—what will you have? A man who is well-trained in the art of cheating on his wife. Congratulations!

DEAR ABBY: I am ten years old and have a problem. My grandparents always talk Italian and I can't understand them. They have lived in this country for about 25 years and it's about time they learned English. I guess maybe they can, but they don't. How can I get my grandparents to talk English? They tell me, in Italian, too, which is very rough.

TROUBLED BOY

DEAR TROUBLED: You are passing up a wonderful opportunity to learn Italian. Ask them to teach you! And when they kiss you in Italian, say, "Grazie, e basta!"

DEAR ABBY: I just can't understand my husband. Due to strikes, lay-offs and sickness he hasn't worked steadily in two years, but he is so self-conscious about going bald that he goes to a hair place for treatments twice a week.

I have had to go to work nights to help out. The kids even put cardboard in their shoes, but that didn't bother their father. I told him to quit worrying about his hair and to feed the kids, but it was like talking to the wall.

I think there must be another woman he's trying to please because I've made it plain I don't care if he has hair or not. What makes a 32-year-old man act like this?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Vanity. The kind he must feed at the expense of his family.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "OL' LIE": You made a bad deal. So far, all you've lost is money. Pull out before you lose your mind.

Class Reunions Wonderful . . . for MEN

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dear alma mater: Never mind reminding me that now is the time for planning the class reunion. When you mention reunion at our house you just create disunion.

I have many tender thoughts about my campus years, but . . . Every mail brings reminders that the years are passing and no matter how many coats of cream with which I grease my chin every night, nature still reaches up and grabs us women by the throat. Your announcements of June get-togethers help not at all.

This, dear alma mater, is a female talking. Men don't seem to worry about double chins, and middle age and thickening middles and men, including my husband, seem to open mail announcing class reunions with the whoop-ido comment "Hey, good old Charlie, boy, it'll be good to see him again?"

The respelling of reunion into disunion begins when he reminds that he hasn't seen "good ole Charlie" for 15 years. Then I remind him that "good ole Charlie" was the one who blew into town and announced, "Hey, I'm class of —, and would you sort of stand back of this check for me?"

Anyway, "good ole Charlie" with his third wife and check that bounced don't really matter in this over-all look at the reunion business.

What I'm talking about, dear university, is that in this world of females, I don't think we want to be reminded about the good old days. I don't.

What woman wants to face a look homeward when somebody will remember me casually, "Gee, I remember you . . ."

you HAVE put on a few pounds, haven't you, my dear?"

And there you are, thinking that from a size 10 to a size 14 through several years of "growth" only indicate you're bucking up all those darned life insurance statistics about the average.

My husband can't understand this line of thinking. He is geared to return to his dear halls of ivy, to dump whatever clothes are clean into an overnight case, and take off like a teen-ager embarking for college.

This is when the household begins really to change the spelling of reunion into disunion.

He urges that, "Dear, a few days back on the campus in June will do you a world of good . . . there are a lot of classmates you haven't seen in—years."

My answer is, "Buster, remember that on YOUR —th, you took a week past the official scheduled adjournment to get home and in WHAT condition, might I ask?"

His answer was, "Well, there was that roommate who had helped me through calculus . . ."

WONDERFUL FOR MEN

I'm sure reunions are wonderful—for men.

But as for me, permit me not to look back to grim reminders that:

"Well, my goodness, you haven't changed a bit, but . . ."

"Now, let's see, what year were YOU president of . . ."

Be Objective When Comforting Children

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
You recently wrote about a girl who was always running to a neighbor after trouble with her parents. My niece does this with me. My sister-in-law is a tense, irritable woman who is never pleased with anything.

She nags her daughter about every little thing until the girl can't take any more. I know she hates me for letting my niece bring troubles to me, but for the child's sake, you will be who not to use her troubled state to widen the breach between her and her mother.

Because what another person's child wants when he complains to us about his parent is only SUBSTITUTE attention. The attention he hungers for is that of his father or mother.

When it is denied him, the disappointment is so overwhelming that he may be compelled to run to a neighbor, his street gang, a friend or a relative like you to express his hurt and confusion.

He uses their sympathy exactly as a traveler in desert country uses his canteen's stale and tepid water to try and slake his thirst.

What the traveler really wants is the fresh and sparkling water of the brook he hopes to find—and what your niece wants is reconciliation with her mother. Her complaints are appeals for your direction on how to accomplish this end.

ISSUES WARNING

Sometimes the hope of the child who complains to us about a parent is never satisfied. Because we have no certain way of knowing this, we take great responsibility when we destroy this hope by our own antagonistic criticism of the parent.

The great British psychiatrist, Dr. Ian D. Suttie, has written these most important words for you:

"It is just a standing reproach to the hated person and owes all its meaning to a demand for love."

If we know these words to be true, then we can be helpful to a child who comes running distressed to us with disappointed hunger for his parent's love.

We help by listening to your niece's angry accusations of her mother—but we do not join her in them. Instead, we remind her that parents also suffer when children show no interest in them. We say:

"You're hurt because your mother won't be interested in what you want. What about her? Do you think she's feeling full of beans right now?"

Isn't it possible that she is feeling just as hurt at your refusal to show any interest in what she wants? Parents and children are not so different you know. Parents need children to show interest in them just as you want to show interest in your...

Though we may fail in helping the child to a reconciliation with his parent, he needs to become aware that he wants it. For this is the truth. Even if he doesn't get what he wants, it is still the truth that he wants it.

Tuesday Musicales Draws Bravos

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The annual spring concert of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicales Chorus, with guest artist Mary Bartlett, harpist, was heard Tuesday afternoon at the Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Dora Dawson, whose appropriate comments were a delight to the audience.

Under the sensitive and accomplished baton of its director, Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer, the 27-member chorus displayed professional musicianship in an unusual program, broad in scope, of seldom heard but very appealing music.

The chorus has a full rich quality, with a fine blend of voices, which Mrs. Gaensbauer plays upon with color and with dramatic intensity. Her control of the chorus, with its clear-cut attacks and releases, excellent diction and wide range of sound, makes for the rare kind of performance which should be heard by a large public audience.

The program featured compositions by contemporary composer William Schuman, and contrasted his three cantatas on Health, Beauty and Thrift with his Prelude, based on Thomas Wolfe's prologue concerning the loneliness of man, from "Look Homeward, Angel."

This was the highlight of the program, particularly in the solo portion, sung with maturity and understanding by Mrs. Victor Omski, with the introspective background of the chorus giving her both support and contrast.

"Old Shoe Boots and Leggin's," a southern folk song, was charmingly sung with solos by Mrs. L. G. Cox and Mrs. J. B. Nicolls Jr. The first portion of the program concluded with Davis' ecstatic song, "I Am Joy."

The chorus' second group was composed of three songs by Brahms, accompanied by harp, and featuring the French horn accompaniments of William Brown and Pastor Guy Smith, who played with artistry and understated simplicity.

The program concluded with the charmingly sentimental "A Dream is a Wish Your Heart Makes" by David, Hoffman and Livingston. Mrs. Walter Schmitz accompanied the group at the piano, and showed at all times a keen understanding of the changing moods and intuitive response to the conductor's needs.

TALK ON HARP

Between choral groups, Mary Bartlett presented a fine and illuminating talk on the harp, its mechanism, background and technical difficulties and showed her complete mastery and affinity for the instrument by playing four selections which demonstrated the wide range of color and virtuosity.

The Michigan Federation of Music Clubs' choice of the hymn "Creation" and was sung by both audience and chorus as the meeting convened. Mrs. J. B. Forman, president, discussed plans for the April 10 men's night program, at Pontiac Northern High School, featuring B. S. S. and Fisher, dopplandis, and Esther Benson, lyric satirist. Proceeds go to the scholarship fund. Auditions for scholarships will be Sunday afternoon at Grace Lutheran Church, 3 p.m.

Election of officers followed, and the slate submitted by the nominating committee, Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. E. C. Russell and Mrs. W. H. Sink, was unanimously elected. The new officers are Mrs. George Putnam, president; Mrs. Victor Lindquist, first vice president; Mrs. James Rosenthal, second vice president; Mrs. O. W. Schmidt, recording secretary; Mrs. A. B. Essler, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. F. Hathaway, treasurer; Mrs. R. H. Austin, assistant treasurer; and Mrs. P. A. Vierich, historian.

Social committee for the afternoon consisted of Mrs. W. J. Wharton and Mrs. H. N. Steinbock, chairmen; assistant Mrs. W. J. Coleman, Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, Mrs. W. E. Brace, Mrs. H. V. Phipps and Mrs. H. C. Carroll.

Floral arrangements were by Mrs. P. A. Voecker and Mrs. J. C. Covert. At the tea table were Mrs. Putnam and Mrs. C. A. Benton. Greeting guests at the door were hostesses Mrs. P. R. Carr and Margaret Steward.

Jackie Will Visit City of Ancient Indian Ruler

By United Press International. By his own admission, Akbar was great. But the abandoned ruler of Fathepur Sikri who visited Thursday was one of his mistakes.

Akbar was the grandson of the chieftain Babur, who founded the Mogul Dynasty in India and claimed as his ancestors Genghis Khan and Tamerlane.

In 1556, at the age of 15, he took over the tottering throne and in 20 years established Mogul rule from the Himalayas to South India.

Akbar was illiterate. And it was one of the measures of his greatness that he became one of the best-read men of his day through the use of court scholars who dutifully kept him abreast of the latest books and writings.

'WISE AND JUST'

The history books say Akbar also was wise and just, getting Moslems and Hindus to cooperate for the good of all.

But the chieftain erred badly when he decided to shift the Mogul capital from Delhi to Agra, 120 miles to the south, and from there 27 miles east to Fatehpur Sikri.

The hitch was that despite all the trouble Akbar sent to in building Fatehpur Sikri, the city had to be abandoned in 50 years because there wasn't enough water to take care of the Mogul court.

But the old place still is well worth looking at, as Mrs. Kennedy will see Thursday.

Akbar chose the site of Fatehpur Sikri out of gratitude to Sheikh Salim Chishti, a holy man who lived nearby. The sheik gave Akbar his blessing and prophesied a son for the Mogul ruler.

When the son was born, Akbar ordered construction to begin. Fatehpur Sikri still is in excellent condition 400 years later.

Pender-McKinnon Rite

Says Evening Vows

MRS. JOHN E. PENDER

Nuptial vows of Joan Elaine McKinnon to John E. Pender were spoken before Rev. Wilbur Courter in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening in the Covert Methodist Church, Waterford Township.

Parents of the bride couple are the Charles C. McKinnons and the Millard J. Penders, all of Overridge Street, Waterford Township.

Styled along princess lines, the bride's ballerina-length gown of white peau de soie was appliqued with Alencon lace on the bodice which had elbow-length sleeves. A crystal tara caught her shoulder veil of silk illusion. She carried a semicascade of white carnations and stephanotis.

Carl Lapeck, Royal Oak, the bride's only attendant, appeared in mist green silk organza over taffeta and carried white and green carnations. Nita Kay Pender, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Matt Sweeney, Oak Park, the bride's cousin, carried the rings.

On the square side, were best man Robert Harrison, Oxford, with Thomas McKinnon and Michael Pender, brothers of the bride couple, seating some 250 guests.

For the wedding, Mrs. McKinnon chose candlelight beige silk crepe and chiffon over taffeta, with green accessories. Her corsage was of green-lipped carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore fuchsia accessories and carnations with a pale beige linen sheath dress with matching lace jacket. The newlyweds, returned from a honeymoon in Michigan, are home on Oregon Street, Waterford Township.

Grandparents of the couple, the E. J. Sweeneys of Bradford Street, Mrs. James Stewart of Oxford and Mrs. John Pender, Lake Orion, attended the ceremony and church reception.

Rowston Proclaims ORT Day

Honors Vocational Training Agency as Drive Climaxes

In recognition of the great strides taken by Women's American Organization for Rehabilitation through Training (ORT) in rebuilding human lives by vocational education, Mayor Philip E. Rowston has declared today an ORT Day in Pontiac. This climaxes Women's American ORT midwinter membership drive which continues all year to support the World ORT Union program.

The largest nongovernmental vocational training agency in the world, ORT provides and maintains training for deprived people and instructs them in over 70 modern industrial trades and skills.

ORT schools combine academic high school with vocational training wherever such training aids individual and economic rehabilitation.

In 1960-61, 36,827 ORT students enrolled in 608 training units. The number of students doubled in the past five years and is expected to continue this rise. About 40,000 ORT students are currently enrolled in twenty countries spanning the five continents.

ORT has been the vocational and rehabilitation agency of the Jewish people for 82 years. Its global program is financed by the World ORT Union and affiliates and receives the second largest amount of support through its contributions from membership dues.

Financial aid is also received from the Joint Distribution Committee, a member agency of United Jewish Appeal, countries housing ORT schools and foundations throughout the world.

Women's American ORT is the largest affiliate with 60,000 members in 43 chapters in all major American cities.

Roundup Calls Girl Scouts

In conjunction with the 50th anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., 10,000 girls and adult members will gather July 18-31 in Button Bay, Vt., for the 1962 Girl Scout Senior Roundup.

Some 200 Girl Guide Rangers (equivalent of Senior Scouts) from approximately 20 countries will join the 14 to 17-year-old campers from the United States and its possessions.

A "city" of 6,000 multicolored tents will be erected in the 250-acre Button Bay State Park, located on the shores of Lake Champlain. The encampment, located about 25 miles southwest of Burlington, temporarily will be the sixth largest city in Vermont.

Third to be sponsored by the Girl Scouts, the 1962 roundup is the largest event for teen-aged girls in the free world. The first roundup was held in July 1956 at Highland Recreation Area west of Pontiac.

Eight seniors will represent the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council at the camp site. They are Leslie Selts and Rosaleen Taunt, Pontiac; Merrily Weber and Jane Tripp, Waterford Township; Sandra Bragen, Auburn Heights; Karen Sue Ashbaugh, Orionville; and Ann Aldrich and Kathie Stouteburg, Rochester.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

This week's Tailor Tix winner is Mrs. David L. DeWolfe, Falls Village, Conn., with this suggestion:

"After making a cotton print dress for my small school child, I nearly always have enough material left for a ruffle for a petticoat. It takes practically no extra time and what a pretty 'ensemble' this makes. I find your column a gold mine of good help, and your information has gotten me 'off the hook' so often."

CANT BE DONE

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"How do you line a one-piece skirt in the back only?"

Mrs. R. T. This is one of the disadvantages of a skirt that is cut in ONE piece, by this we mean, without side seams. You must either line the skirt completely or not at all, since there are no side seams to attach a partial lining to. You must also be sure to measure the skirt at your hip line and then measure yourself, the skirt must be 2" larger than your own measurement. This is very important to do before cutting your skirt because a one-piece skirt cannot be let out or taken in after it has been cut.

TO REMOVE RIDGE

"Dear Eunice:

"I put a hem in a satin sheath dress and used hem binding on the cut edge. When I pressed the hem with a steam iron on the wrong side of the skirt, there was a ridge showing on the right side. Is it the material, or do all materials make a ridge when pressed?"

Mrs. P. W. After the hemline has been accurately marked on you, turn up the hem on this line and baste through both thicknesses of fabric, then press. After the hem has been pressed, lift the loose edge of fabric up and press under the hem, this will remove any ridge that has been pressed in. After the width of the hem has been cut evenly, apply hem tape, and loosely slip-stitch the edge of the hem tape to your garment. It is not necessary to press this hem again.

PUT IT IN BY HAND

"Dear Eunice:

"The dress I am making has a blouse bodice with a zipper down the center back. The zipper has made the bodice back appear very stiff and I think it has ruined the soft appearance it should have had. Is it too late to do anything about it?"

Mrs. P. E. S. In most blouse dresses, you will find that buttons are used for the closing instead of the zipper, in order to achieve that "soft" look. Since you have already cut your garment and must use a zipper, try putting it in by hand instead of machine. It will be much more flexible and you will have more of the blouse effect to your bodice.

SEND IN QUESTIONS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"We are a group of teen-age girls who would like to know how to sew but aren't offered such a course in school. Couldn't you please make your column a little easier to understand for beginners?"

Beginners I have tried to vary the questions used each week hoping that at least one question would be helpful to everyone. It's up to you to send me the questions, I'll do my best to answer them. I'm pleased as punch about the interest from girls your age. Having two teen-agers myself, we keep our sewing machine humming all the time.

If you want sewing help with the 20 most common problems, send your request with 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press.

Women: Do Plan Shopping

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I use the subway every day to go back and forth to business and nothing irritates me more than to see women who are apparently housewives on a shopping spree, enter the train at the height of the rush hour laden down with packages, thus adding to the transportation problem.

I think it is very inconsiderate and thoughtless on their parts not to set aside specific hours for their shopping and to avoid using the transportation systems during the rush hours.

They would be doing the workers a great service. I would appreciate your commenting on this in your column.

A: Not only would they be doing the workers a service but they would add greatly to their own comfort as well. It is very inconsiderate on the part of those who are free to go to the stores at any time they please, not to arrange to take the subway after the commuting rush hours in the morning and early enough to get to the stores in time to do their shopping and to go home again before the returning crowd gets on its way.

Q: At a dinner party that is served by a maid, shouldn't all the women be served first and then the gentlemen?

A: No. Skipping around the table serving the women and then going around it a second time and serving the gentlemen is undoubtedly in its intention but it would be needlessly time-taking and dish-clothing. Service begins with the women seated on the host's right and proceeds around the table to the right, each one—lady and gentleman—being served in turn.

Q: Is it true, as a friend of mine says it is, that if two people are walking together on the street and they are engaged in conversation, that a friend passing by should ignore them, and not even say "hello"?

A: If they are so engrossed that they do not notice her, the passing friend should ignore them and not interrupt their conversation.

Age Doesn't Receive Much Respect Today

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the worst things about being old, says a man who is young for his years, is knowing that younger people are going to blame everything about you that does not please them on your age.

Are some of the neighborhood children brats? If you're old you don't dare say so—or you'll be marked down as an "old grouch" by all the young persons in the neighborhood.

Are you honestly appalled at teen-age vandalism? You had better not voice your feelings too strongly or parents of teen-agers will think your age is making you overly critical of the young.

Are you pessimistic about the state of the world in 1962? It's all right for "angry young men" to voice their dissatisfaction with things as they are, but the pessimism of the old is blamed on their age.

MUST BE BRIEF

Do you wish to have your say in community affairs? Then keep your remarks brief or you'll be regarded as a garrulous old bore—no matter how much sense your words make.

Do you see in the past lessons for the future? Point them out for the future! You will surely be accused of living in the past.

Tell a story more than once—which anyone might do at any age—and you're getting so old you repeat yourself.

Turn down a new idea because you think it doesn't make sense and you're too old to change with the changing times.

Are we really that quick to discredit the old on the basis of age? It's a pity if we are for we can only expect to be treated in the same fashion some day, having our age regarded as a sign of foolishness, rather than of wisdom born of experience.

For a new look at the other end of the age spectrum, see Ruth Millett's booklet, "Tips on Teen-Agers." Mail 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Pontiac Press.

TRIPLE DECKER — A party brunch that late risers would welcome on weekend mornings is Fruit 'n' Ham Pancakes. Dieters, too, can enjoy this appetizing meal because it contains sugar — an ally in holding the "Belt Line" — by satisfying appetite faster than most foods. The meal adds up to 43 calories.

Use Custard Filling in Cream Puffs Meal on One Plate Satisfies Even Dieters

Filling your own cream puffs is not as hard a job as the novice might think. To fill 12 large cream puff shells: mix 1 1/4 cups sugar, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt in saucepan. Gradually add 1 cup boiling water, stirring to mix well. Cook over low heat until mixture thickens, about 20 minutes, stirring often.

Blend 1 tall can or 1 1/2 cups evaporated milk with 3 eggs slightly beaten. Stir into first mixture slowly. Cook 6 minutes longer, stirring constantly until thickened and smooth. Cool filling, then add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Cooking Kidneys

With the exception of those from beef, all kidneys are tender and brulable, advises the American Meat Institute. Beef kidney tastes best when braised or simmered. Plan on three to four servings from a beef kidney, one or two servings from a veal kidney and one serving each from lamb or pork kidneys.

The bane of dieters at a party is trying to enjoy food and still keep within their calorie limits. It's pretty hard to do when surrounded by warm hospitality and good fellowship.

For your next party, as a hostess who wants to aid dieters "stay inside their belts," plan a menu that includes sugar and the good foods containing it. Sugar satisfies appetite faster than most foods and with fewer calories — only 48 to a teaspoon.

On weekend mornings, for example, what could be more satisfying to late risers than an appetizing brunch of Fruit 'N' Ham Pancakes? The pancakes, ham and pineapple slices may be prepared in advance. Just before serving time, they are assembled on an electric warmer to keep hot on the buffet table. The orange sauce can be made ahead too.

To serve, place slice of grilled ham over pancake and top with a slice of broiled pineapple. Accompany dish with orange sauce.

The entire meal contains about 433 calories.

Fruit 'N' Ham Pancakes
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
2 eggs, well-beaten
1 1/2 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add milk to beaten eggs and stir into dry ingredients. Beat in melted butter. Cook on hot griddle. Yield: 12 pancakes.

Orange Sauce
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice grated rind of 1 orange

Melt butter; stir in sugar. Add orange and lemon juice; heat to boiling. Stir in grated orange rind. Yield: 1 1/4 cups.

To serve: Top one pancake with slice of grilled ham. Add broiled pineapple slice. Top with one tablespoon hot Orange Sauce.

Do Little Repairs on the Faucets

Faucets for modern plumbing fixtures are equipped with aerators at the end of the faucet spout. After prolonged use, the aerators on aerators become clogged and the water no longer flows freely.

When this happens, the householder is advised to unscrew the aerator and clean the strainer. If the strainer wires are damaged or if it is impossible to clean the aerator, the householder should take it to a plumbing contractor and get a new one.

It is important to show the old aerator to the plumbing contractor so that the threads can be matched.

A suggestion for the householder who wants to fix a leaking faucet is offered.

The use of a "bare" wrench on the chromium surface of the faucet is not advisable. It is suggested that the teeth of the wrench be covered with adhesive tape. If no tape is available, cloth should be used between the wrench and the faucet.

No attempt should be made to force parts that do not come apart easily.

Many suggestions on easy plumbing repairs are offered in a booklet, "Plumbing Care and Repair," published by the Bureau. Homeholders are advised to send 10 cents for the booklet to the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill.

Mexican Panocha Unusual Candy

To bring a box of homemade candy to friends is one of the nicest ways to say you enjoy being a guest at their home. Mexican Panocha Squares is a candy not readily available in the candy shop so it will be an unusual treat.

Combine 1/2 ounce unsweetened grated chocolate with 3 cups firmly packed brown sugar and 1 cup evaporated milk. Bring to a boil. Add 1 tablespoon butter and stir occasionally until candy reaches softball stage (238 degrees). Remove from heat.

Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 1/2 cups chopped nuts, mixing until candy begins to harden. Turn into buttered 9-inch square pan. Cut into 2 dozen squares.

New Products Help You Feed Your Family or a Crowd

BY JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

For some time we have been saving notices of new products until there were enough to warrant an article. That time has come.

Let's start with the younger generation. Apple-cherry juice is a welcome addition to one baby's food line. Fortified with vitamin C, it takes the place of orange juice for children who are allergic to the latter. The other new baby food is strained creamed corn.

Many of you get involved in quantity cooking, either with church or some other organization. If you would like an excellent new little pamphlet on fresh fruit and vegetable dishes, here's what you do.

Sweet Sour Way to Fix Shrimp

From our newest state comes an ideal dish for Lent or any other time of the year. It's Hawaiian sweet-sour shrimp.

The delightful flavor of this exotic combination of shrimp, pineapple, and other ingredients will make this dish a regular menu feature in your home. Despite the many ingredients, it is easy to prepare. Good accompaniments are rice, bean sprouts, or Chinese noodles.

Hawaiian Sweet-Sour Shrimp

- 1/2 pound fresh shrimp or prawns or 1 7-ounce can shrimp
- 1 No. 211 can (1 1/2 cups) pineapple tidbits
- 1/2 cup syrup from pineapple
- 1 medium onion, cut coarsely
- 1 green pepper, cut coarsely
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch, mixed with 1/2 cup cold water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Devein and clean shrimp. Drain pineapple and save syrup.

Sauté onion and green pepper in salad oil until tender, but not soft. Add shrimp, pineapple tidbits, pineapple syrup, vinegar, soy sauce, brown sugar, cornstarch mixture, salt, garlic salt, and pepper. Stir, stirring until thickened. Yield: 6 servings.

Bologna Turns Into a Roast for Baking

Here is an economical, attractive family entree, a good change of pace to serve . . . Bologna Crown Roast!

Bologna Crown Roast

- 2 to 3 pound piece, 4 1/2 inch bologna, unliced
- 1 large sweet onion
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 small onion
- 1/4 oz. can tomato sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Take a 4 1/2-inch diameter piece of bologna weighing approximately 2 pounds, stand it on end with a sharp knife cut 1/2-inch thick slices down the side to within about 1/4 inch of the bottom.

Next cut a large Bermuda onion in very thin slices and tuck two or three slices into each cut in the meat. Combine tomato sauce and water in a small pan, add the small chopped onion and seasonings, heat to boiling!

Stand bologna roast on end in a shallow baking pan, pour the tomato sauce over it and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for approximately one hour. During the baking process baste the meat several times. Serve with sauce poured over top. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Make Baby's Gelatin With Fresh Fruit Juice

Next time you make a gelatin dessert for your baby, why not give him the nutritional advantage of making it with fresh orange juice? You can make Orange Gelatin in as little time as it takes for the synthetic-flavored boxed mix.

Sprinkle 1 envelope unflavored gelatin on 1/2 cup orange juice to soften and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until the gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat, stir in 1/4 cup sugar and 1 1/2 more cups orange juice. Pour into dessert dishes and chill until firm.

Just for Fish

Oil or fat in which fish has been fried should never be used for any other purpose, as it will retain the fish flavor. It may be used again to fry fish, but should first be strained to remove crumbs-which will burn and speck whatever is fried next.

Fruit and Vegetable Association, 350 Fifth Avenue, New York City 1. The pamphlet is free.

Have you seen the new "Slide-Pak" doughnut containers? Used by a Detroit bakery, it is divided into individual sections shaped like the doughnuts. Keeps them fresh and serves as a handy accessory after it's empty.

SOUP MIXES

Two new soup mixes came to our desk not long ago. One is cream style chicken soup; the other is country style potato soup. Use both for soup or to enhance casserole dishes.

Baked beans now come with ground beef and a zesty barbecue sauce.

General Foods has put out a little cookbook devoted entirely to using frozen foods. The pictures are tantalizing and the recipes enticing. They run the gamut from appetizers to outdoor cookery.

Here is an interesting dessert recipe from the Frozen Foods Cookbook.

Peaches-In Shells

- 1 envelope dessert topping mix
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 2 packages (12 oz. each) sliced peaches, just thawed.

Prepare dessert topping mix

Kitchen Scale Has a 'Weigh' to Please

At last there's a kitchen scale easy to use. The weights show in ounces and pounds instead of grams. Invaluable for home freezing, pressure cooking, baking, weighing roasts, canning, etc.

You can weigh luggage for air travel, the laundry, and check grocery purchases. A handy list of measurements and weights is right on the scale platform.

Another feature is its flip-on-off dial lock to "remember" exact weights. And the scale can be stored on its side.

This newly designed Borg household scale comes in all white; also yellow or red platforms. Weights up to 50 lbs. and is guaranteed accurate.

Available at housewares departments of all leading stores. Made by the Borg-Erickson Corp., 1133 N. Kilbourn Ave., Chicago.

with milk and vanilla as directed on package. Fold in orange rind, blending well. Then fold in nuts.

Drop mixture onto waxed paper, about 1/4 cup at a time. With a spoon, make a depression on the top of each mound. Freeze until firm-2 to 3 hours. Fill with peaches just before serving. Makes 9 servings.

Include Beans in Hearty Salad

Need some extra energy these days? Dry beans are a good source, containing the B-vitamins, especially thiamine and worthwhile amounts of calcium. They are real nuggets of mineral value for the iron they provide—a cupful of cooked beans holding about half of a day's needs. And, besides all this, beans provide protein which your body has to have to build and repair organs and tissues.

You can get the most good from protein of the bean-family foods if you include in the meal some meat, cheese or other proteins from an animal source. That's because the two types of protein, made of different combinations of amino acids, make a strong team. A tasty way to combine the proteins is in Bean-Stuffed Tomato Salad.

- Bean-Stuffed Tomato Salad
- 2 cups cooked dry beans
- 1 cup diced luncheon meat
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
- 1/3 cup tart salad dressing
- 4 tomatoes
- Salad greens

1 small onion, cut in thin rings

Mix beans, meat and green pepper with the dressing. Split tomatoes in quarters two-thirds of the way through. Spread open and fill center with mound of bean mixture. Serve on salad greens and garnish with onion rings. Serves 4.

Find Compromise on Election of Supreme Court

Con-Con Ends Judicial Branch Fight; Executive Next

LANSING (In-Constitutional) convention delegates, weary from nearly three weeks of debate on Michigan's court system, turned their attention today to another subject expected to touch off an oratorical wrangle—the executive branch.

Exhaustive discussion on the judicial branch was completed in committee-of-the-whole Tuesday with a tentative compromise agreement. The controversial matter of how to elect supreme court justices.

All proposals must be approved on at least two more roll call ballots before they will be included in the proposed new constitution.

As finally adopted, the supreme court plan calls for election of nine justices on a non-partisan state-wide basis.

The present court has eight members.

Candidates would be nominated at political party conventions as at present, but in addition any incumbent justice could nominate himself by filing notice of his intention.

Proponents of the district plan indicated they have not yet given up the fight, however, and began laying plans for renewing the battle when the provision is returned from the style and drafting committee for another vote.

Other judicial provisions tentatively approved by the delegates included:

—Election of judges to fill vacancies in all courts of record, eliminating the governor's right to appoint judges. The supreme court would be allowed to fill vacancies temporarily with retired judges.

—Elimination of the justice of the peace system by the legislature within five years after the new constitution goes into effect.

—Establishment of a new strata of judges with a court of appeals handling cases appealed from the lower courts under rules to be established by the supreme court.

PREPARE FOR MORE

Delegates were prepared for another long stretch of debate on the recommendations of the executive branch committee.

The most controversial proposal calls for appointment of members of the administrative board rather than election, as at present.

Most of the ad board members would be named by the governor.

with the auditor general to become a legislative auditor.

Another proposed change in the executive branch calls for four-year terms for the governor and lieutenant governor in place of the present two years, with the two terms as a team like the president and vice president.

The governor would continue to be nominated in a primary, while the lieutenant governor would be chosen in a party convention.

Hoffa Says Teamsters

Need No 'Guidelines'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa says his rank and file membership, not government guidelines, will determine future Teamsters demands at the bargaining table.

Hoffa criticized Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg's stand that the government and private mediators should provide guides to make sure that collective bargaining settlements "take into account the public interest."

"As long as I am president of the Teamsters," Hoffa said Tuesday night, "the decisions on what we will demand at the negotiating table will be made by the rank and file members and not by Goldberg or anybody else."

Take Barbara Stanwyck

to Hospital for Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Barbara Stanwyck, 54, is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, probably until Friday.

When the actress was admitted Tuesday, attendants said she would undergo minor surgery. Her nature was not disclosed.

Young Republicans to Hear Democrat

The Young Republicans have decided they can learn something from a young Democrat.

They've even gone so far as to ask him to address a meeting of their Oakland County club.

And the young Democrat has accepted.

John J. (Joe) Collins, 27-year-old state chairman of the Democratic party, relayed word yesterday that he would be on hand for the Young Republicans' March 20 meeting at 8:30 p.m. in Grove High School, Birmingham.

"I understand Collins was hesitant to accept at first," said Boris Sellers, the Young Republican who arranged for Collins' appearance.

"But he accepted on the basis that he would be our side speaker and that we are gentlemen and he is a gentleman."

Sellers said there would be no "mud-slinging" at the meeting.

which might cause some to wonder why they're taking all the political fun out of the affair.

Sellers explained:

"We want to hear an objective, constructive talk by a Democrat—and Collins is the top."

Another big reason for the speech, Sellers said, is publicity.

"We need publicity, so we have to do something the Young Republicans haven't done before," Sellers said. "It will mean lots of publicity for both parties."

Actually, Democrats have participated in at least two similar Oakland County Young Republican meetings in the past.

But Sellers stressed that those appearances were "debates" and this is not.

Collins' formal speech, not yet announced, will be followed by a question-answer period. The meeting is on the public.

S. Vietnamese Drive Only Partial Success

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A two-pronged government drive to trap hundreds of Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in the Mekong River delta was winding up today apparently only a partial success.

Government forces succeeded in killing an estimated 200 guerrillas in combined ground-air attacks on Viet Cong concentrations in the delta's Vinh-Binh Province.

But the other operation by about 1,500 government troops in a mangrove swamp in Kien Hoa Province is coming to an end without finding the main Communist force believed to be in the area, an authoritative source said.

Urges Marxist Spirit for Young Cubans

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro urged young Cubans today to develop a more intense Communist spirit and declared that they will some day live under communism.

The Prime Minister promised Cuba's younger generations a new society devoid of egoism and individualism. He called on Cuban youth to develop a more intense "Marxist spirit, a more Communist spirit" and said the young of his island nation will some day live "in another more advanced stage, not socialism but communism."

Castro set no date for Cuba to become a Communist state. In a speech last December, in which he publicly identified himself an years ago.

Marxist-Leninist, Castro said "there will be no communism (in Cuba) before 30 years."

"We're not inviting anyone to study Marxism," he said, asserting that Cubans have embraced Marxism-Leninism "because the revolution has taught them so, not because anyone imposed it on them."

YOUTH THAT THINKS

He said Cuba does not want a young generation that "listens and repeats but a youth that thinks and is not revolutionarily by intuition."

Castro addressed a large crowd at a University of Havana rally commemorating an abortive student attack against ex-President Fulgencio Batista's palace five years ago.

County Survey May Hit Snag

Area Planning Group Opposes Broader Probe by Research Group

The Oakland County Planning Commission's efforts to obtain a $32,163 federal grant for an economic survey of the county are being jeopardized by the Southeastern Michigan Metropolitan Community Research Corp., commission director George Skrubb said yesterday.

The research corporation is seeking $3 million of federal funds for a general survey of the metropolitan area, Skrubb said.

He told the legislative and ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday it wasn't likely that the federal government would approve two surveys in the county.

The committees agreed that the planning commission's request would prove more beneficial to the county, if approved.

They instructed Skrubb to vigorously oppose the research corporation's program, saying it was an effort to make work to justify its existence, having no practical application to Oakland County's needs.

These needs are specifically the concern of the planning commission, committee members said.

Skrubb said the research corporation was initially financed by the Ford Foundation to explore ways to economize in local government and has no business in the planning field.

The County Planning Commission having submitted its application for the funds at the beginning of the year, is expecting a reply sometime this month.

The money would be used to help underwrite the cost of an economic survey currently being conducted by the commission and also to enable its faster completion, according to Skrubb.

Considerations of the survey include county population, labor force and employment, industrial composition, industrial land use, market structure and wholesale markets.

It is aimed at developing a better understanding of the county's economic potential, said Skrubb.

Nikita, Brezhnev Tried in Absentia for N-Test Harm

GENOVA, Italy (UPI) — Russia's Premier, Nikita Khrushchev and President Leonid Brezhnev are being tried in absentia in an Italian court on charges of harming the health of Italians through nuclear tests.

The Genoa Civil Tribunal started hearings Tuesday on a damage suit brought against the two Soviet leaders by a local attorney, Nino Musio Sale.

Sale admitted, in bringing the civil suit last year, that his action was mainly symbolic, but he said it could set a valuable legal precedent.

Maria Von Trapp Fights Reds With Christianity

By PHYLLIS BATELLE

NEW YORK—The serene face of Baroness Maria von Trapp did not change as she said, calmly, "Within two years, perhaps three, the Communists will have taken over all the islands of the South Pacific."

"Within 10 years," she continued, still placid, "there will be no white people left on those wonderful islands. One-fifth of the whole earth is there, and it is going so fast, and the American people are completely disinterested."

"I call it," and for the first time she frowned, "Paradise already lost."

The famed mother of the singing Trapp family, which dispersed five years ago after nearly two decades on the concert circuit, has seen first hand what is happening.

With some of the 10 Trapp children and their priest father Franz, who in Austria blended the family's voices into a unique ensemble, she has made it her mission in life to prepare the South Pacific's natives to fight communism with Christianity.

FIGHTING GENIUS FORCE

"We fight as best we can, but we are fighting a genius force."

"May I tell you how the Communists have operated among these poor people, many of them so primitive they might be called a Stone Age culture? The Communists follow two lines. They handpick some of the brainiest natives and take them to Australia, where they train them in Red doctrine. Then they send them back to their islands to ferment against the white people."

"They also send in white Communists, not from Russia but from Australia or England, usually. Not just a few—many. Each island has its Communists, because the Communists are much too circumspect and logical to leave out part of the South Pacific; no island is too insignificant, no tribe too small."

"You have heard of the great 'cargo cult'?"

"This is the white Communists who say to the natives, over and over, 'Watch the big bird in the sky (an airplane, of course). It is sent by the ghosts of your ancestors with gifts for you. See, it lands. Watch—the white people go over and take your gifts.'"

Baroness von Trapp smiled, wearily. "Then, after the people have heard this for months, and only on some ordinary Wednesday the natives take clubs and bang-bang-bang, they kill the white men who are taking their gifts."

"They can't understand why the bird doesn't fly away again. But they are happier, feeling justice has been done..."

This is happening everywhere in the island groups, she claimed, in the last three years.

"As soon as the white Communist can convince the natives that all white people are his enemies, it usually takes about a year of hammering home the point—his job is done. He leaves."

And the white people in residence on some of the islands aren't they smart enough to fight back?

"They are incredibly stupid," she said with some distaste. "They don't fight with kindness and sense, they continue trying to lord it over the people, thinking that's the way to win."

"That's why our work is so important."

The Trapp family's "work" centers around a training center and mission in Fiji, where natives are brought from all over the islands to hear Christian and non-Communist philosophy, and are trained to teach school.

The baroness's daughter Maria is stationed in the section of New Guinea where headhunters still exist. New Guinea, she believes, is almost completely lost to the Communists; the whites are already fleeing out.

The baroness herself travels the islands, consults with bishops, lectures in the United States and tries to raise money for the cause.

Most of the profits from the Trapp Family Lodge, a picturesque year-round resort in Stowe, Vt., and all of her lecture proceeds, go to the mission.

Asked why she works so hard in what she admits is a lost cause, she said that, even though you lose all the islands, you don't have to lose all the 5 million people on them. The Christian teaching can go on. So she hasn't given up all hope?

Baroness von Trapp's face lighted with a wondrous smile. "See who?" she said.

Rationing in Cuba Raps Socialistic Way of Life

By FRANCES L. MCCARTHY

UPI Latin American News Editor

Fidel Castro's announcement of food rationing is a stunning admission of the failure of state control of the Cuban economy.

In blaming the United States for his food problems, Castro is seeking a scapegoat, to alibi his regime's inability to supplant capitalism with socialism.

At no time has U.S. economic pressure on Cuba ever applied to foodstuffs or medicines for the Cuban people.

The supply well has simply run dry in Cuba and Castro has been forced to admit that not only has Cuba lost agricultural self-sufficiency but that Soviet Russia is unable to help solve the crisis.

Castro's announcement of food rationing recognizes a state of affairs that has existed in Cuba for many months.

Lard and cooking oil, two Cuban kitchen musts, have been unavailable to the average housewife for a year. The meat shortage in a nation where the pre-

Castro per capita consumption was 160 pounds per year forced Castro last year to decree two meatless days a week.

Gasoline has been limited to essential use for a year. Even the fish supply in an island nation has dropped off to a bare trickle because of the failure of the Chinese commune-style fishermen's co-ops.

These food facts have been supplied by the average 2,000 Cubans leaving the island each week for a new life abroad. They have been amply corroborated by foreign newsmen in recent visits to Cuba.

News Analysis

Smoke Causes Alarm at Base

Excitement at Missile Launching Silo Touched Off by Motor Fumes

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A smoking motor deep underground touched off a tense alarm Tuesday at an Atlas missile launching silo.

Forbes Air Force Base reported no explosion, no fire, no injuries and apparently little damage. The trouble was at site No. 2 near the town of Worden, 18 miles southeast of Topeka.

ALARM SOUNDED Because Atlas missiles carry nuclear warheads, the smoke resulted in the sounding of a "Broken Arrow" alarm, indicating damage or danger to an atomic weapon.

Fire trucks, ambulances, special security guards, a radiology monitoring team and the air base's top officers raced to the scene.

"It was an erroneous report, originated when smoke from a motor was carried through ventilators," said Capt. Albert E. Haneman, public information officer at Forbes.

Remove Equipment, Oil From Grounded Ship

BEACH HAVEN, N.J. (AP)—Oil and heavy equipment were removed Tuesday from the De-royer Monssen which ran aground off Long Beach Island during last week's disastrous storm.

A Navy spokesman in New York said salvage vessels will remove as much equipment as possible before tugs attempt to pull the ship free.

Tireless Barry Goldwater Making Speeches Like Mad

BY BRUCE BOSSART
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ruggedly handsome Barry Goldwater, tireless preacher of conservatism, hot pilot, budget funder, appears more enthused by Republicans and interested young people today than during his phenomenal 1961 effort, when he bugged out 223 speeches in towns and schools coast to coast.

In 1962's first two months the 53-year-old senator from Arizona spoke 46 times.

Definitely carded for the year are 140 more appearances, with others sure to be added.

A March conservative rally in New York's Madison Square Garden at which he was the star attraction pulled in more than 18,000. Goldwater overloads the halls wherever he goes.

AN ATTRACTIVE FAMILY — Large and attractive families seem to be the hallmark of currently active politicians. Here are left to right, seated) Barry Goldwater Jr., the senator, Mrs. Goldwater with granddaughter Cynthia Ross, Joanne Goldwater Ross, Carolyn Ross and Peggy Goldwater. In rear are Mike Goldwater and the senator's son-in-law, Dr. Thomas Ross.

School Election Bill Signed by Swainson

LANSING (P) — Gov. Swainson Tuesday signed into law a bill to require that any person elected or appointed to a board of education be notified within five days after his election and file an acceptance within 10 days.

Another amendment to the school code approved by the governor adds district libraries to units of counties receiving fines levied against lawbreakers and collected by the counties.

Collegiate Stage Sit-In at Office of Bob Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About a dozen youths staged a quiet sit-in demonstration for several hours in Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's outer office Tuesday.

The college-age youths, both Negroes and whites, told surprised Justice Department officials they were members of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and wanted faster action on efforts to protect rights of Negroes.

John M. Seigenthaler, administrative assistant to Kennedy, said he asked them if they wished to see the attorney general, but their spokesman replied only that "This is an act of civil disobedience."

Says an Illinois politician: "Barry has reached his apex and is edging off."

A New Yorker not allied with rival Gov. Nelson Rockefeller adds: "Barry's best standing still for the past five months."

From Michigan, a professional's word is: "We have a hard enough time in Detroit with more moderate candidates."

Goldwater himself performs as in all such comments were in another world. Daily he reaffirms his intent not to be a candidate now or later. A professional who believes him comments:

"Any serious candidate should be doing three things right now—speaking around the country, raising money, building an organization. Barry is doing only one of these."

The opposite view, from a seasoned Eastern politician: HE HAS THE BUG

"Goldwater has the bug, and once you do you never lose it. He's traveling more, writing more, working harder than anyone. Why do it if not for the nomination?"

Whatever his long range aims in politics, the senator's pursuit of wildly assorted sidelines—a lifetime chase—has not slackened a bit under the strain of constant travel. Look at the background he brings to his extracurricular enterprises:

"Here is a man who, hugging his wife Peggy along, once drove 1,300 miles in a jeep around Navajo reservation lands without ever touching a real road. (Earlier he had proposed to her in a telephone booth.)"

In 1940 he and some friends slithered 700 miles down the tricky Colorado in a flatboat. Another time he clambered 2,000 feet up a canyon wall to nail down his discovery of a natural bridge.

With a wartime flying buddy, he sparked a moonlight ricksha race in Calcutta.

At his own department store in Phoenix, he smashed a record with 204 merchandise sales in a single day.

All his life he has moved in a gadget-cluttered world. At 12 he helped build the first Phoenix radio station. He still holds a "ham" operator's license.

In his striking blitting, home outside Phoenix and in his Washington apartment, he has put hi-fi outlets everywhere but in the closets.

Goldwater contrived an electronic flagpole for his Arizona place. An electric eye triggered by the rising and setting sun raises and lowers both the flag and the pole.

"On days when it doesn't work well," he says, "I get complaints from neighbors about flying the flag at night."

Already well celebrated is his sleek black Thunderbird with more 17 special gauges and gadgets on or near the dashboard—the latest a "radar detector."

MORE IMPROVEMENTS

"There'll be more improvements soon," he asserts. "They all help the driving."

Goldwater can hunt, shoot, fish. He is a master of Indian lore and Arizona history, has a collection of 400 Kachina dolls, Hopi Indian creations of painted wood and feathers.

Once he taught himself to play the clarinet, the sax and the trombone. Ditties and music fits his mood often.

Now and then, weary of dictating letters onto disc recorders, he puts on 10 or 15 minutes of music for his own and a surprised secretary's pleasure.

Putting mechanical models together still intrigues him. Once his aides heard this appeal to a model-maker on a disc order.

Cuba asked the council to suspend the OAS actions until an advisory opinion can be gotten from the International Court of Justice at the Hague.

The United States and others argued that the Security Council in September 1960, by merely "taking note" of similar OAS actions against the Dominican Republic, had already decided actions by OAS did not require authorization.

Kennedy spoke Tuesday at a White House reception for Latin American diplomats, celebrating the first anniversary of the date he launched the alliance, a massive program of aid for Latin American republics.

He said the first months of the program have strengthened confidence that the goal of a better life for the people of the hemisphere is "within our grasp."

He said heartening accomplishments had been made and he promised an intensified effort by the United States to speed Latin America's social and economic progress.

Paint Job for Drivers, Bus Owners Amended

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's House of Representatives had to amend a bill requiring that school buses sold for other uses must be painted a color other than yellow.

The original bill provided that the owners and operators should be painted, instead of the buses.

find the little screw nut that goes down as a reserve pilot.

Fenton Eliminated; Squeaker by Capac

Fenton was dumped from Class B contention while unbeaten Capac was squeaking by in Class C on the opening night of regional basketball play Monday.

St. Michael begins "C" action tonight at 9 at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti against Ann Arbor University High.

Platooning Marysville finished strong to take Fenton 59-55 at Pontiac Northern. Capac slipped Detroit Annunciation, 70-68.

Coach Leroy Decker's FIS quintet took a 12-9 1st period lead but fell behind by two at halftime. Fenton got going again and was in front 42-36 midway in the 3rd quarter. It was cut to 44-42 by the end of the session and stayed close until Frank Polk's two free throws put Marysville in command for good at 53-52.

Polk gamered 14 and Gary Barnes 12 to head a balanced attack. Al Leuenberg of Fenton won game honors with 22. Dick Bachtel added 12.

HAWKES HERO

Rick Hawks, Capac's only senior, was the Chief hero. His field goal with just three seconds to play produced a 70-68 triumph. Dan Petzel headed the scoring with 19.

Defending state champion Groves Pointe St. Paul kept alive hopes for a repeat by beating Detroit St. Hedwig, 67-51.

The two Class C powers will be involved in another twin-bill Thursday at Ferndale with Detroit St. Cyril clashing with St. Paul and then Capac against Mt. Clemens St. Mary.

St. Michael, a district champion after a losing season, can match the best previous school tourney accomplishments with one regional game win and set a record by taking a pair. The 1955 and 1956 Shamrocks each won once. Ann Arbor will be a slight favorite on their (12-5) record.

Memphis swings into Class D regional competition Thursday at Livonia Bentley against Detroit St. Leo.

Jo-Jo's, Pontiac's Class D champ, meets Livonia tonight in the "D" Inter-City tourney on the Lasky court at 9 o'clock.

Big Outfielder Blasts 2-Run Homer to Pace Detroit's 3rd Win

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The Detroit Tigers' top spring training development so far is the unsung kids — those not even on the major league roster.

And Purnal Goldy, a 24-year-old slasher starting only his fourth season of organized baseball has become the most devastating hitter of the young Grapefruit League season.

Goldy did it again yesterday. He smacked a tremendous line drive over the center field scoreboard 420 feet from the plate at Al Lang field. His two-run homer was the big blow as the Tigers licked the St. Louis Cardinals 7 to 1 and ran their exhibition record to 2-1.

"I've never had a rookie like this one before," said Scheffing, who is in his fifth season as a big league pitcher. "He can hit and hit and hit and his fielding has been okay, too."

Only Al Kaline could shove Goldy out of right field at this stage. Kaline has recovered from his sore leg and is back in the lineup. He made his first spring appearance in today's rematch with the Cards at Lakeland.

"I'm moving Goldy over to center and giving Billy Bruton a rest," Scheffing said.

Bob Duvall, a right hander of the Denver roster along with Goldy, was the most impressive of the three Tiger hurlers who pitched the Cards.

Duvall faced the minimum of nine batters in three innings of work his first time against a major league lineup.

The Tigers now have scored 33 runs in their four games. They are 2-2 in the series. The unbeaten St. Louis pitching for five runs in the seventh inning yesterday — and it was the fourth time they've had a rally of five runs or more.

Goldy's home run and another two-run blast by Buba Morton featured the uprising after the Tigers entered the seventh, producing a 7-1 victory.

Swede Skaters in Lead

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The crack Swedish ice hockey team has virtually clinched the 1962 World Amateur Championship and there's nothing the United States and Canadian teams can do about stopping them.

The undefeated Swedes, the dark horses of the 8-team championship bracket, stroked into sole possession of first place Tuesday night by defeating Canada 5-3. It was their fourth straight triumph.

"That was the big one," Arne Stromberg, the Swedish coach, said today. "We've still got to win the other three games and I'm confident that we will."

Any chance the U.S. Nationals and Canadians have left rest with weak British and West German teams and a fair Norwegian squad which is in a three-way deadlock with the U.S. and Canada for second place.

The United States and Canada have a nationally televised match scheduled Sunday, but it's likely to be a battle for second place. Sweden, which last won the world title in 1937, is idle today.

How to Shoot for Big Goal of NHL Career

Winner Tonight Would Likely Take 4th Place and Tournery Berth

NEW YORK (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers have their showdown meeting at Madison Square Garden tonight with the winner likely to go on to nail the fourth and final berth in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs.

The teams go into their last meeting of the season tied for fourth place with 27 points—the Rangers with a 23-31-11 record and the Red Wings 22-31-11. After tonight, Detroit has five games to play, New York four. The Wings still could have a chance should they lose. But a loss all most certainly would mean the Rangers would miss the post-season competition for the fourth straight year.

GOOD SHAPE

Both teams are in good physical shape for the showdown, although the Rangers' player-coach Doug Harvey, has a sore left wrist and winger Dean Prentice has a sore leg. Detroit still is operating with young Hank Bassen as goalie, with veteran Terry Sawchuk sidelined with a burnitis condition in his left shoulder.

In 13 previous meetings, Detroit has won six games, lost four and there have been three ties.

A sidelight to the game tonight is Gordie Howe's bid for his 500th NHL goal. The brilliant Red Wing winger has 499, second only in league history to Maurice Richard, who retired with 541.

Hoyt Realty Wins Two in Waterford Playoffs

Wendy Meyer hit 19 points as Hoyt ousted Don Nichole, 67-62. Two games later Hoyt was back at it again, this time bouncing Johnson & Anderson 59-43 as Meyer pumped in 16.

Dick Hoshorn scored 22 points in leading Nesbitt's to a 70-58 "B" playoff decision over O'Neill in the middle contest.

Russ Rans and Ron Hetherington led the Nichole attack with 22 and 20 points, respectively.

Eliminations started Thursday morning and continue until four semi-finalists are decided. A battle for the $5,000 top prize will follow.

Predict High Deer Starvation

Game Division Experts Worried About Increase

Decline to Estimate; Bartlett Urges Return to Antlerless Season

LANSING (AP) — Unless some miracle occurs, tens by thousands will starve to death in Michigan's north woods this month.

That is the dark verdict of state game experts who recently surveyed the effects on the deer herd of one of the toughest, stormiest winters in most of the state.

Ho H. Bartlett, deer specialist for the State Conservation Department, says reports of deer starvation already are filtering into department headquarters and are expected to pick up momentum through the month.

"We anticipate heavy losses this year, especially among the young deer," he said. "They are virtually inevitable. It will take some unusual warming trend in the last 30 years to prevent it."

March is the time of dying for hungry deer. After a bad winter and weeks of being closely bunched in their yarding areas, deer have eaten all the accessible food. Fat reserves gradually diminish and by the time the first breath of spring stirs the sap in the trees, the younger and weaker of the herd have no strength left for survival.

TIGHTLY YARDED
Deep snow this year have kept most of the herd tightly yarded. "More so than they have been in years," said Bartlett, who took a two-week tour through the Upper Peninsula last month to assay the situation.

In the light snow belt of the Upper Peninsula, ranging along the southeastern section from Iron Mountain to Brimley, snow is the deepest in the 28 years the department has kept records, deeper even than 1959 when winter took a heavy toll of the deer herd. Snow depths averaged 1½ to 2 feet in the middle of the month, six inches more than normal.

In the heavy snow belt, covering the rest of the peninsula, winter has been severe, but not much more than usual. Snow depths averaged about three feet last month and went up to about 3.7 feet.

In most of the northern Lower Peninsula, winter has been the toughest on record, Bartlett said. In the normal deep-snow area, stretching from Cadillac to Gaylord, depths are about average but elsewhere are considerably above normal.

The average is two to three feet. "The weather has been bad over a greater area for a longer period than any year on record," Bartlett said.

Looking back, state game men regret that the State Conservation Commission decided against a doe and fawn harvest in all but small crop-damaged areas last fall.

"It's too bad we couldn't have taken some of the deer then. Because they were doomed to die anyhow," Bartlett said. "Even without this severe winter, the carrying capacity of the range isn't enough to support the herd we've got."

NO ESTIMATE

Bartlett and others firmly decline to estimate the probable starvation death toll in the deer herd this spring. It's too early to be specific, they say.

"People who go out looking for them won't see nearly as many dead deer as they did in 1951 when we estimated that 50,000 starved," he said. "Both sides of the range have done all right since then, but it's likely that the proportionate toll will be as high."

Starvation losses won't be noticed too much in the 1962 deer season although the spikehorn population will be down.

"If we can get a fairly mild winter next year, the herd will bounce right back," Bartlett said. "But if we get two tough winters in a row, things are bound to be bad."

MANAGE TO SURVIVE — While Michigan's deer herd is having its problem finding enough forage to carry many of its members through the winter, the state's elk are faring better. The elk (above) are much larger animals and can move about better in deep snow. Not only can elk range farther from yarding areas than deer, these animals also can reach much higher for succulent twigs on tree branches.

COULD FUN — Crystal Lake near Buchanan seldom freezes solid at all points. Robert Heffner donned his hip boots and waded in the icy water until he found ice solid enough to hold his weight.

Obedience Classes Set for Rochester School

Woodward School in Rochester will be the scene of the latest Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club class.

There will be a demonstration at 8 p.m. March 22 to kick off the class. Registrations also will be taken at this time. Persons planning to attend are requested to leave their dogs home demonstration night.

Additional information is available from John McNary (OR 1-6994) or James McKim (OR 4-1234).

Declines One Million

Commercial fishermen netted nearly 21 million pounds of fish from Michigan's Great Lakes waters last year, a drop of about one million pounds from 1960.

Air Pollution Proposal Before Committee

Con-Con Looking at Conservation

By United Press International
Most people are accustomed to thinking of conservation in terms of soil, forests and wildlife.

A select committee of the Michigan Constitutional Convention has taken a much broader view. If the committee recommendation is accepted the state will become the first to give sweeping recognition to conservation in its proposed constitution.

The emerging problems committee, headed by former state attorney general Frank G. Millard, R-Flint, has passed a proposal which declares that:

"The state holds a paramount interest in the air, waters, and natural resources of the state, in the interest of the health, safety, and welfare of the people. The legislature shall enact appropriate legislation to protect the air, water, and other natural resources of the state against pollution, impairment, or destruction, so that the interest of the people may be preserved."

If this is put in the constitution Michigan will become the first state to officially recognize the problems of air pollution.

Although the matter is not new information on the extent of air pollution is generally confined to technical groups dealing with the subject. From time to time the information barrier is broken when tragedy is tied to pollution.

SMOKE DEATHS

In Donora, Pa., in 1948 there were 20 deaths and nearly 6,000 persons were made ill when pollution from factory smokestacks were held close to the ground by unusual weather.

More common, however, are incidents such as the death of cattle in Oregon, the poisoning of plants in Florida and "mystery" cases of white houses turning black or brown overnight in various parts of the nation.

Air pollution control expert Eugene A. Sloane, editor of a publication called "Air Engineering," told the committee that Detroit and all of Southeastern Michigan is on the edge of a great highway of "aerial garbage which stretches from New York City to Chicago."

Cranbrook Publishes Book on Trout Flies

A new book on "Mayflies of Michigan Trout Streams," written by Justif W. and Fannie A. Leonard and published by Cranbrook Institute of Science, is now available.

This illustrated manual deals with a group of insects that are both interesting in themselves and economically important in relation to trout stream productivity.

Justin Leonard is on the staff of the Michigan Department of Conservation, while his wife, Fannie, is a member of the Department of Natural Science at Michigan State University.

Their book is addressed to anglers and entomologists alike. The book has 131 pages, 25 color photographic illustrations, 92 figures in black and white and is available in cloth binding at $7 and paper binding at $6.

Time to Remove Shanties From Ice on Area Lakes

By DON VOGEL

It may not be so noticeable yet, but lakes in the area are beginning to open up.

Lakes with rivers flowing through them, and there are plenty in Oakland County, are the first to show open water. Many of these lakes did not freeze at the inlets or outlets of rivers.

Although there is up to 20 inches of ice on some lakes, the recent warm weather, wind and rains have combined to start the honey-combing process.

As the ice softens, shanties left too long begin to sink. If not removed, the shanties eventually slip through to the bottom. A few always take the deep plunge every March.

Stiff fines and costs face those who lose a shanty through the ice. That's one of the big reasons for requiring the owner's name and address on the side of the structure.

Dark houses on the bottom cause problems for fishermen snagging lines, the rusty nails are hazards for swimmers, and the frames can do a good job of bending a propeller or shearing a pin on an outboard if in shallow water.

Shanty owners are liable, according to the law, if the building breaks through earlier during the good weather or earlier in the winter.

GOOD CATCH
Fishermen are still getting out on the lakes.

Lee Jarrett of 348 Auburn took four large pike from a lake near Holly last weekend. He caught a 10-pounder Saturday and led three Sunday that totaled 24 pounds.

Also included in his catch was a limit of large bluegills. Being a angler, Jarrett declined to disclose the name of the lake.

LICENSE INCREASE

Conservation Department officials will be waving their crying towels in earnest if the proposed fish license increases fail to clear the legislature.

The way things stand now, there will be no increase. Re-

Auto Electric Retains Margin in Bow League

Auto Electric retained its five-game lead in the Waterford Township Recreation Department's winter archery league by holding runner-up Dryden Drug to a 3-2 tie. Three nights of regular-season action remains.

Bernard Shaw of the pace-setting Auto fired one of the season's best men's freestyle scores (255) while nephew Ron Shaw shot a 232 for the best junior freestyle mark. Bernard leads the season averages in his specialty with a 234 mark while Ron tops his class with a 199 average.

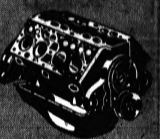

Other results: Lakeland Pharmacy 4, Waterford Fuel & Supply 2; Chiefs 5, Tomahawks 1; and Straight Arrows 5, Five Feathers 1.

Mel Ingelhart of Lakeland (season leader with 225 avg.) fired the top men's instinctive score of 227, while Dan McNeill of Chiefs boasted the highest junior instinctive mark of 148 to up his leading average to 128.

Waterford to End School Millage Talks

Waterford Township School Board members tomorrow will close a six-week series of speaking engagements advocating passage of the proposed five-mill tax increase.

The proposal will be on a special school election ballot March 20. School board members all in favor of the millage boost, have made several appearances before Parent-Teacher association meetings since Feb. 1.

They argue that the school district, which offers starting teachers with a bachelor's degree $4,500, is below most other Oakland County school districts in that respect. Other reasons cited are rising costs and the need to maintain a desirable teacher-pupil ratio.

Edmund J. Winkler, a school board member and chairman of the personnel committee, said the school district loses nearly 100 teachers each year. Constant recruiting of replacements is needed and this is not an easy task when the pay level is below average, he said.

Of the 29 school districts in the county, three have a lower beginning rate, seven have the same figure as Waterford Township and the remaining districts offer from $4,600 to $4,800 to starting teachers.

FIRST CONSIDERATION
School board members who appeared at a town hall type meeting last week sponsored by the Greater Waterford Community Council indicated that a $100 increase for teachers would be the first consideration of the board if the millage proposal passes.

If the full five mills were spread over the next seven years as proposed, approximately $45,000 in additional funds would be available to the school district at the start of the first fiscal year July 1. The school district is presently operating under a total budget of approximately $4,711,185.

The proposed 1962-63 school budget will be submitted to the County Allocation Board the third Monday in April. Two unknown factors, the amount of state aid forthcoming and the new property valuations, must be estimated in the proposed budget.

To the average taxpayer in the school district, passage of the proposal would add some $25 to his tax bill based on an average assessed valuation of $2,500 in the township.

The five-mill increase, in effect, would allow the school district to increase the tax rate for school operating purposes $5 per $1,000 on the equalized valuation. Because the equalized valuation is slightly more than double the assessed valuation in the district, a rate of $5 per $1,000 on the equalized valuation is approximately the equivalent of $10 per $1,000 on the assessed valuation.

Passage of the proposal would allow the school board to spread up to five mills but, at its discretion, the board could spread less than the allowed maximum.

AVERAGE RATIO
The present average of pupils per classroom is 27.4, according to Mrs. Dorothy Barrington, secretary of the board.

The proposed millage is needed to maintain or improve this ratio, Mrs. Barrington said. The ratio in Waterford Township schools is about average for the county.

Board trustee Frederick J. Pude said, in talks to PTA groups and at the GWC town meeting, that with continually rising costs in the over-all operation of the school district and the relative steady level of state aid funds, more help is needed on the local level.

If the millage proposal is approved at the polls, the present total millage of 25.5 would be increased to 30.5 with 23.49 mills for the operating budget and 7.09 for debt the first year.

Polls will be open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Drayton Plains School, 3000 Sashabaw Road, Drayton Plains, Waterford Township; Waterford Center School, 1021 Airport Road, Waterford Township; Waterford Village School, 631 Steffens Street, Waterford Township; Pontiac Lake School, 2315 Williams Lake Road, Waterford Township.

President Signs Bill Boosting Debt Limit
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has signed a bill increasing the temporary national debt ceiling to $300 billion, a boost of $2 billion.

The increase is effective only through June 30. The administration has said it will ask another temporary $8 billion increase by that date.

Won't Seek Re-Election
PETOSKEY (AP)—Veteran Emmet County Treasurer Lewis White has announced he will not seek re-election to the post he has held for all but four of the last 49 years.

White will be 88 in May. He was first elected to office in 1912.

Marking Automotive Milestone

ASTRONOMICAL — That's what GM chiefs called the 75 million-car figure achieved today by GM plants. And so they got 2-year-old "astronaut" Buzz Jackson to launch the Pontiac Bonneville symbol of all the other cars. Buzz is the son of GM Detroit Central Office employee Harold Jackson. Behind Buzz are the GM vice president in charge of car and truck group, Edward N. Cole; James M. Roche, vice president of distribution staff; E. M. Estes, GM vice president and Pontiac general manager, and Anthony G. De Lorenzo, GM vice president in charge of public relations staff.

GM's 75 Millionth a Pontiac

It nearly was John Glenn all over again. In an atmosphere of bright camera lights and a sea of smiling executives a 2-year-old boy clad in a blue space suit this morning "launched" General Motors' 75-millionth car off a Pontiac Motor Division plant assembly line.

Buzz Jackson, son of a GM employee, nearly stole the show from the sleek, pearl-lustrous Pontiac Bonneville convertible symbol of all the GM cars produced since 1905.

Buzz's dad, Harold Jackson, of 4115 Seminole Drive, Royal Oak, yelled to his son:

"Wave, Buzz, wave!"
Buzz waved... for nearly an hour.

"We are tremendously proud," Pontiac General Manager E. M. Estes said, "and honored to have this historic event occur in our plant. Of course, this car is only symbolic of many built in other plants across the nation."

Estes handed the keys to the 75-millionth car to Edward N. Cole, GM vice president in charge of the car and truck group.

THANKS PUBLIC
Cole, speaking for GM Chairman Frederic G. Donner and President John F. Gordon, congratulated "all the people who had anything to do with the production, our shareholders and especially the public who have made this achievement possible."

Donner and Gordon had earlier issued a joint statement hailing "this milestone" as having "a much broader significance than this production achievement."

"To the consumer, it has meant more than half a century of exceeding his own purchase choice," they said. "In this sense, it is a record."

"Just seven years ago, GM celebrated the assembly of its 50 millionth car. The intervening seven years has meant a period of accelerated progress for General Motors, our employees, our suppliers and stockholders and our public generally."

A production achievement unmatched anywhere in the industry, GM's 75 millionth car represents 54 years of auto making, interrupted only by World War II.

The total includes U.S. production of Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Cadillacs and GMC Truck and Coach divisions, as well as the limited numbers of other GM vehicles no longer produced.

EXPRESSIVE PRIDE

Estes added:
"We at Pontiac take great pride in the role we have played through the years in helping the automobile industry grow and prosper. We look forward to the challenges of tomorrow with the expectation of even greater changes and more opportunities of every kind."

The first 25 million vehicles were produced by GM in 32 years (1908-1940). The pace quickened and GM celebrated its 50th millionth vehicle in November 1955.

Kennedy to Try for Senate Seat

John McCormack

BOSTON (AP)—Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy stepped into the battle today with State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. for the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat once held by his brother, President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy made his expected announcement at a news conference in his home.

The conference was in the second-floor living room from which all furniture had been removed. His blonde wife Joan stood at his side.

Kennedy is facing a doublet test with McCormack, a nephew of U.S. House Speaker John W. McCormack. Kennedy said he will go to the party convention in June and also enter the primary in September as McCormack has indicated he plans to do.

McCormack was not immediately available for comment.

The Kennedy-McCormack contest foreshadows one of the most intensive Democratic convention and primary battles in years. Both the Kennedy and McCormack forces have strong organizations.

Two Units Take Action Against Tax Proposals

Oakland Supervisors Seek to Nullify Levy on County Residents

Two committees of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday took action to keep county residents who are employed in Detroit and elsewhere in Wayne County from paying an income tax where they work.

They agreed to seek an amendment to the tax plan proposed by Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh when it is introduced in the state legislature.

The decision to amend such a bill so that it would permit a county to tax only its own residents was reached unanimously during a joint session of the Ways and Means Committee and the Legislative Committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The committees authorized Legislative Committee Chairman John C. Semons to take an amendment immediately to Lansing.

With no Board of Supervisors meeting scheduled, there was no time to recommend its action. Board Chairman Delos Hamlin explained.

He felt certain that the board would be of the same opinion as the members of both committees on this matter, he said.

Mayor Cavanaugh's tax plan, as explained by Oakland County corporation counsel Norman R. Barnard, would enable both Detroit and Wayne County each to levy a 1 per cent income tax on both residents and nonresidents working either in Detroit or Wayne County.

The Macomb County Board of Supervisors has submitted a counter bill to the state legislature which would prevent Detroit from taxing all nonresidents of the city.

Hamlin saw a weakness in Macomb's action, since it would prevent Detroit from drawing taxes from Wayne County as well as from other counties.

Wayne County certainly has a responsibility to Detroit, Hamlin added, but explained that he wants the line drawn at Oakland County. "We're here to protect Oakland County taxpayers," Hamlin told the committee.

PREDICTS MOVES

"Watch the people flock out here from Detroit if that would save them from paying an income tax there," declared Avon Township Supervisor Cyril Miller, member of the Legislative Committee.

Hospital Threatened After 6 Babies Die

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—Police patrolled Binghamton General Hospital today because of bomb threats after the death of six babies, apparently from salt poisoning, at the hospital.

Floodlights were beamed on the hospital grounds Tuesday night after a male caller, believed to be an operator everybody would be dead in the hospital because of a bomb that would explode.

Police said they found no evidence of a bomb, but continued to check visitors and the building. The six babies, who ranged in age from 3 days to 8 months, died during the last six days after being fed a formula that contained salt instead of sugar. One infant remained in critical condition and another was in serious condition. Eight others have been made ill. In all, 20 infants were fed the formula.

Dr. Lawrence E. Kishner, a pediatric specialist called in from Baltimore, said some of the babies had received as much as a tablespoon of salt one day. He said it was the equivalent of an adult swallowing four pounds of salt in one day and is a lethal amount.

WASN'T POISONED

A hospital spokesman said it was determined Tuesday that a seventh child had died of earlier complications and had not suffered salt poisoning.

The bomb threats began before dawn Tuesday.

A caller phoned Dr. Jason K. Meyer, the hospital's medical director, at his home and told him he would be bombed and poisoned.

Late in the afternoon, a man made the first of four calls to the hospital, threatening a bombing. Hospital authorities ruled out the possibility that the parents of any of the babies were involved in the bomb threats.

A practical nurse, Lillie Colvin, who filled the formula sugar can last Tuesday, said she did so from a larger can labeled as sugar. She has been suspended from her job, pending investigation. No charge was placed against her.

There has been a mixed reaction to the deaths among the 76,000 residents of this city. Sorrow has been tinged with both anger and sympathy.

Udall Offered Tour of Dunes by Park Critics

GLEN ARBOR (AP)—The Sleeping Bear Dunes Citizens Council wants to take Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall for a ride.

Opponents of a Senate bill to convert portions of Leelanau and Benzie counties into Sleeping Bear Dunes National Recreation Area say the council has invited Udall for an auto tour of the region.

A letter from the council today urged Udall to visit the region before Senate committee hearings on the matter resume.

Rusk-Gromyko Talks Offer No Hope of Treaty

U. S. Officials Believe Pact to Check Spread of N-Weapons Possible

GENEVA (AP)—Foreign ministers from 17 nations today opened their disarmament conference in Geneva's Palace of Nations. Exploratory talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in advance of the conference failed to open up any real hope of concluding a nuclear weapons test ban treaty now, U.S. sources said.

They expressed belief, however, that it may be possible to negotiate an agreement with the Soviet Union to block the spread of nuclear weapons in the world and thus make a beginning in bringing the atomic arms race under some control.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, hatched in the biting cold wind, gave photographers a snail's pace before entering the palace with William C. Foster, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, and Arthur H. Hays Sulzberger, U.S. delegate to the nuclear talks.

Gromyko, in the preliminary talks was reported to have stuck to the line that Western proposals for an international inspection system to verify disarmament measures amounts to a demand for espionage rights within the Soviet Union.

However, American sources said they believe it may be possible through long negotiations to work out an inspection system acceptable to the Russians.

The present prospect, however, is that President Kennedy's proposal for a test ban treaty with controls will fall through and that the United States will go forward, as it has for years, armed, with its series of nuclear tests in the atmosphere beginning in late April.

Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, in several sessions with Gromyko, have made no progress toward opening up negotiations on Berlin either. But parallel talks on the Berlin crisis will continue outside the disarmament meetings, it was learned.

Rusk and Gromyko will make their final statements on disarmament tomorrow in the first working sessions of the 17-nation conference following today's ceremonial opening.

Lauderdale Girds Loins for Invasion

By BEN FUNK

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—They're coming again. Down the yards from East, Midwest and South, college students are coming by a steady stream, like lemmings, to the beach at Lauderdale.

They're on spring vacation. They're fed up to here with ice and snow and campus rules and regulations. They're coming to lounge on the beach at Lauderdale, under the romantic palms, the hot sun and the cool moon, far from the watchful eyes of parents and professor.

The annual invasion began Monday, when the first wave of 300 hit the beach. Soon their numbers will reach 40,000 or more.

Snow's Just a Bluff; Spring's On Its Way

Blustery snow storms blowing in with a fury may fool winter here again but don't be fooled. Sudden dimming temperatures are causing the snow to melt almost before it hits the ground.

The weatherman said temperatures will average near the normal high of 44 and normal low of 27 for the next few days.

The weekend will be somewhat colder but Monday will be warmer.

Snow flurries are forecast for Saturday and rain Monday with precipitation totaling less than 2 of an inch.

Thirty-five was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer reading at 1 p.m. was 37.

New Storm Brings More Plains Snow

By United Press International
Parts of five Midwest states remained blanketed by 10 to 20 inches of snow today, and a new storm was boiling up in New Mexico.
The Northeast continued to get hit from under as much as 3 feet of new snow.

A dozen deaths, six in Michigan, four in Iowa, and one each in Nebraska and Vermont were blamed on the weather.

A record heat wave lashed Florida, where Miami reported 89 degrees Tuesday, highest ever on March 13.

Rising streams caused concern in Iowa, Illinois, Michigan and Ohio.

Canadian cold sifting southward behind the Midwest storm area dropped the temperature to 5 below zero at Evanston, Wyo., shortly after midnight today. Glasgow, Mont., reported 2 below.

The new storm dropped 6 inches of snow at Corona, N.M., and 25-mile winds fanned deep drifts. Storm, N.M., had 4 inches of snow.

Highway travel was virtually at a standstill in sections of the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska and Iowa.

TRUCKS IN TROUBLE—This was the scene east of Omaha, Neb., as ice on the highway and heavy snow blocked the road. The scene is on Highway 30, one of the main east-west roads across Nebraska.

The 75 million car is scheduled for display for a week at the GM Main Office Building in Detroit starting tomorrow. Then, it will be exhibited at the Ford Pler in Atlantic City for a month.

"After that," said Estes, "I think we'll keep it around for display purposes."

He said it wouldn't be sold.

Even as he was speaking two other assembly lines in Pontiac's Plant 16 were steadily turning out a colorful procession of Pontiacs — already passing the 75 million mark.

City Girl Sailing Aboard the USS Hope to Peru

BY PAT EVANS

When the SS Hope departs from its San Francisco dock Tuesday en route to Peru, among the ship's staff and 35 U.S. nurses waving from the voyage will be Carolyn Stoll of Stirling Road.

Chosen for the mission from 1,000 applicants, Miss Stoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stoll, is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and the University of Michigan School of Nursing. She received her B.S. degree in nursing from Wayne State University in Detroit, where she also became affiliated with Sigma Theta Tau, national honorary nursing society.

The voyage, though Miss Stoll's first, will mark the second for the Hope. The Hope sailed from San Francisco for her maiden voyage in September 1960, Indonesia, where the ship spent 7½ months, was the first stop.

On June 15, the Hope began a stay at Saigon, South Viet Nam, where staff members worked in six local hospitals and held clinics in villages in other areas, treating more than 28,000 patients. The maiden voyage in Southeast Asia ended Sept. 14 last fall when Hope returned to the California dock.

The SS Hope, former Navy ship on loan to the private People-to-People Health Foundation, supported by public contributions, will anchor at Salaverry, Peru, April 1 to begin its second mission in sharing this nation's modern medical knowledge with newly developing countries.

Perhaps the most valuable item Miss Stoll will take, but which cannot be fitted into a suitcase, is her medical experience, chiefly in pediatrics. Her last full-time position was as head nurse in pediatrics at University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Prior to this time, while still attending Wayne State University, she worked part time at the Children's Hospital in Detroit. Last summer was spent in pediatrics at William Beaumont Hospital.

As a member of project Hope, a twelve-year sponsored program, Miss Stoll with the others aboard, will share modern medical knowledge and skills with newly developing nations via the primary vehicle, the SS Hope.

The Hope, formerly the U.S. Navy hospital ship Consolation, on loan from the government to the private People-to-People Health Foundation, and supported by public contributions, will anchor at Salaverry, Peru, on April 1.

Salaverry, 300 miles north of Lima, is the port for Trujillo, site of the medical school of the famed University of Liberty, founded by Simon Bolivar. It is some 50 miles from the scene of the recent disastrous avalanche at Mt. Huascaran.

The ship and its staff will augment the facilities and faculty of the medical school, designed to train physicians for all of Northern Peru.

Anxiously awaiting the SS Hope mission to Peru, Carolyn Stoll packs her trunk for a one-year stay. Chosen from 1,000 applicants for the mission, Miss Stoll will be among 35 U.S. nurses on the ship's staff. A Pontiac Central High School and University of Michigan graduate, she received her B.S. degree in nursing from Wayne State University. Her parents are the Don Stolls of Stirling Road.

Don't Fool Self, Abby Says 'Other Woman' Is Upset

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The "other woman" doesn't have a chance with you. You condemn her before knowing the facts. Well, I know more about it than you, Abby, because I have been in the "other woman" for five years.

He loves me and I love

him. I have never lied to my man or cheated on him, which is more than some MARRIED women can say.

Yes, I am waiting faithfully for him because, one day, I know that he will be my husband. What do you say to that?

THE OTHER WOMAN

DEAR OTHER: I say, quit kidding yourself. YOU may be honest, faithful and loyal to him—but he is lying, cheating and two-timing his wife.

If you should realize your dream—what will you have? A man who is well-trained in the art of cheating on his wife. Congratulations!

DEAR ABBY: I am ten years old and have a problem. My grandparents always talk Italian and I can't understand them. They have been in this country for about 25 years and it's about time they learned English. I guess maybe they can, but they don't. How can I get my grandparents to talk English? They KISS me in Italian, too, which is very rough.

TROUBLED BOY

DEAR TROUBLED: You are passing up a wonderful opportunity to learn Italian. Ask them to teach you! And when they kiss you in Italian, say, "Grazie, e basta!"

DEAR ABBY: I just can't understand my husband. Due to strikes, layoffs and sickness he hasn't worked steady in two years, but he is so self-conscious about going bald that he goes to a hair place for treatments twice a week.

I have had to go to work nights to help out. The kids even put cardboard in their shoes, but that didn't bother their father. I told him to quit worrying about his hair and to feed the kids, but it was like talking to the wall.

I think there must be another woman he's trying to please because I've made it plain I don't care if he has hair or not. What makes a 52-year-old man act like this?

DEAR WIFE: Vanity. The kind he must feed at the expense of his family.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GIL-LIE": You made a bad deal. So far, all you've lost is money. Pull out before you lose your mind.

BY GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dear alma mater. Never mind. Never mind reminding me that now is the time for planning the class reunion. When you mention reunion at our house you just create disunion.

I have many tender thoughts about my campus years, but . . . Every mail brings reminders that the years are passing and no matter how many coats of cream with which I grease my chin every night, nature still seizes the throat. Your announcements of June get-togethers help not at all.

This, dear alma mater, is a female talking. Men don't seem to worry about double chins and middle age and thickening middles and men, including my husband, seem to open mail announcing class reunions with the whoop-it-up comment "Hey, good old Charlie, boy, it'll be good to see him again!"

The resplending of reunion into disunion begins when he reminds that he hasn't seen "good ole Charlie" for 15 years. Then I remind him that "good ole Charlie" was the one who blew into town and announced, "Hey, I'm class of —, and would you sort of stand back of this check for me!"

Anyway, "good ole Charlie," with his third wife and check that bounced don't really matter in this overall look at the reunion business.

NO REMINDERS, PLEASE

What I'm talking about, dear university, is that in this world of females, I don't think, we want to be reminded about the good old days. I don't.

What woman wants to face a look homebound when somebody will remark casually, "Gee, I remember you . . ."

My husband can't understand this line of thinking. He is geared to return to his dear halls of ivy, to dump whatever clothes are clean into an overnight case, and take off like a teen-ager embarking for college.

This is when the household begins really to change the spelling of reunion into disunion.

classmates you haven't seen in years."

My answer is, "Buster, remember that on YOUR —th, you took a week past the official scheduled adjournment to get home and in WHAT condition, might I ask?"

His answer was, "Well, there was that roommate who had helped me through calculus."

WONDERFUL FOR MEN

I'm sure reunions are wonderful—for men.

But as for me, permit me not to look back to grim reminders that:

"Well, my goodness, you haven't changed a bit, but . . ."

Be Objective When Comforting Children

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: You recently wrote about a girl who was always running to a neighbor after trouble with her parents. My niece does this with me. My sister-in-law is a tense, irritable woman who is never pleased with anything.

She nags her daughter about every little thing until the girl can't take any more. I know she hates me for letting my niece bring troubles to me, but for the child's sake, you will be wise not to use her troubled state to widen the breach between her and her mother.

Because what another person's child wants when he complains to us about, his parent is only SUBSTITUTE attention. The attention he hunger for is that of his father or mother.

When it is denied him, the disappointment is so overwhelming that he may be compelled to run to a neighbor, his sister gang, a friend or a relative like you to express his hurt and confusion.

He uses their sympathy exactly as a traveler in desert country uses his canteen's stale and tepid water to try and shake his thirst.

What the traveler really wants is the fresh and sparkling water of the brook he hopes to find—and what your niece wants is reconciliation with her mother. Her complaints are appeals for your direction on how to accomplish this end.

ISSUES WARNING

Sometimes the hope of the child who complains to us about a parent is never satisfied. Because we have no certain way of knowing this, we take great responsibility when we destroy this hope by our own antagonistic criticism of the parent.

The great British psychiatrist, Dr. Ian D. Suttie, has written these most important words for you:

"Fate is just a standing reproach to the hated person and owes all its meaning to a demand for love."

If we know these words to be true, then we can be helpful to a child who comes running distractedly to us with disappointed hunger for his parent's love.

We help by listening to your niece's angry accusations of her mother—but we do not join her in them. Instead, we remind her that parents also suffer when children show no interest in them. We say:

"You're hurt because your mother won't be interested in what you want. What about her? Do you think she's feeling full of beans right now?"

Isn't it possible that she is feeling just as hurt at your refusal to show any interest in what she wants? Parents and children are not so different you know. Parents need children to show interest in them just as you want us to show interest in you."

Though we may fail in helping the child to a reconciliation with his parent, he needs to become aware that he wants it. For this is the truth. Even if he doesn't get what he wants, it is still the truth that he wants it.

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The annual spring concert of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicales Chorus, with guest artist Mary Bartlett, harpist, was heard Tuesday afternoon at the Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Dora Dawson, whose appropriate comments were a delight to the audience.

Under the sensitive and accomplished baton of its director, Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer, the 27-voice chorus displayed professional musicianship in an unusual program, broad in scope, of seldom-heard but very appealing music.

The chorus has a full rich quality, with a fine blend of voices, which Mrs. Gaensbauer plays upon with color and with dramatic intensity. Her control of the chorus, with its clear-cut attacks and releases, excellent dictation and wide range of shading, makes for the rare kind of performance which should be heard by a large public audience. The program featured compositions by contemporary composer William Schuman, and contrasted his three canons on Health, Beauty and Thrift with his Prelude, based on Thomas Wolfe's prodigious concerning the loneliness of man, from "Look Homeward, Angel."

This was the highlight of the program, particularly in the solo portions, sung with maturity and understanding by Mrs. Victor Lindquist, with the introspective background of the chorus giving her both support and contrast.

"Old Shoe Boots and Leggin's," a southern folk song, was charmingly sung with solos by Mrs. L. G. Cox and Mrs. J. B. Nicolls Jr. The first portion of the program concluded with Davis' ecstatic song, "I Am Joy."

The chorus' second group was composed of three songs, by Brahms, accompanied by harp, and featuring the French horn accompaniments of William Brown and Pastor Guy Smith, who played with artistry and understated simplicity.

The program concluded with the charmingly sentimental "A Dream Is a Wish Your Heart Makes" by David, Hoffman and Livingston. Mrs. Walter Schmitz accompanied the group at the piano, and showed at all times a keen understanding of the changing moods and intuitive response to the conductor's needs.

TALK ON HARP

Between choral groups, Mary Bartlett presented a fine and illuminating talk on the harp, its mechanism, background and technical difficulties and showed her complete mastery and affinity for the instrument by playing four selections which demonstrated the wide range of color and virtuosity audience and chorus as the meet- "Music Clubs" choice of the hymn of the month was from Hayden's "Creation" and was sung by both audience and chorus as the meeting convened. Mrs. J. B. Forman, president, discussed plans for the April 16 men's night program, at Pontiac Northern High School, featuring Bossart and Fisher, duopians, and Esther Benson, lyric satirist. Proceeds go to the scholarship fund. Auditions for scholarships will be Sunday afternoon at Grace Lutheran Church, 3 p.m.

Election of officers followed, and the slate submitted by the nominating committee. Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. E. C. Russell and Mrs. W. H. Sink, was unanimously elected. The Social committee for the afternoon consisted of Mrs. W. J. Wharton and Mrs. H. N. Steinbaugh, cochairmen, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Coleman, Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, Mrs. W. E. Brace, Mrs. H. V. Phillips and Mrs. H. C. Carroll.

Floral arrangements were by Mrs. F. A. Voelcker and Mrs. J. C. Covert. At the tea table were Mrs. Putnam and Mrs. C. A. Benton. Greeting guests at the door were hostesses Mrs. P. R. Carr and Margaret Stewart.

Bikini Shelters

SEW HEAD MAKE OVER PAGES

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

This week's Tailor Tris winner is Mrs. David L. DeWolfe, Falls Village, Conn., with this suggestion:

"After making a cotton print dress for my small school child, I nearly always have enough material left for what a petticoat. It takes practically no extra time and what a pretty 'ensemble' this makes. I find your column a gold mine of good help, and your information has gotten me 'off the hook' so often."

CAN'T BE DONE

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"How do you line a one-piece skirt in the back only?"

Mrs. R. T. This is one of the disadvantages of a skirt that is cut in ONE piece, by this we mean, without side seams. You must either line the skirt completely or not at all, since there are no side seams to attach a partial lining. To you must be sure to measure the skirt at your hip line and then measure yourself, the skirt must be 2" larger than your own measurement. This is very important to do before cutting your skirt because a one-piece skirt cannot be let out or taken in after it has been cut.

TO REMOVE RIDGE

"Dear Eunice:

"I put a hem in a satin sheath dress and used hem binding on the cut edge. When I pressed the hem with a steam iron on the wrong side of the skirt, there was a ridge showing on the right side. Is it the material, or do all materials make a ridge when pressed?"

Mrs. P. W. After the hemline has been accurately marked on you, turn up the hem on this line and baste through both thicknesses of fabric, then press. After the hem has been pressed, lift the loose edge of fabric up and press under the hem, this will remove any ridge that has been pressed in. After the width of the hem has been cut evenly, apply hem tape, and loosely slip-stitch the edge of the hem tape to your garment. It is not necessary to press this hem again.

PUT IT IN BY HAND

"Dear Eunice:

"The dress I am making has a blouse bodice with a zipper down the center back. The zipper has made the bodice back appear very stiff and I think it has ruined the soft appearance it should have had. Is it too late to do anything about it?"

Mrs. P. E. S. In most blouse dresses, you will find that buttons are used for the closing instead of the zipper. In order to achieve that "soft" look, since you have already cut your garment and must use a zipper, try putting it in by hand instead of machine. It will be much more flexible and you will have more of the blouse effect to your bodice.

SEND IN QUESTIONS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"We are a group of teen-age girls who would like to know how to sew but aren't offered such a course in school. Couldn't you please make your column a little easier to understand for 'beginners'?"

Beginners I have tried to vary the questions used each week hoping that at least one question would be helpful to everyone. It's up to you to send me the questions, I'll do my best to answer them. I'm pleased as punch about the interest from girls your age. Having two teen-agers myself, we keep our sewing machine humming all the time.

"If you want sewing help with the 20 most common problems, send your request with 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press.

Age Doesn't Receive Much Respect Today

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the worst things about being a woman is that you are young for your years, is knowing that younger people are going to blame everything about you that does not please them on your age.

Are some of the neighborhood children brats? If you're old or you don't dare say so — or you'll be marked down as an "old grump" by all the young people in the neighborhood.

Are you honestly appalled at teen-age vandals? You had better not voice your feelings too strongly or parents of teen-agers will think your age is making you overly critical of the young.

Are you pessimistic about the state of the world? Is it all right for "angry young men" to voice their dissatisfaction with things as they are, but the pessimism of the old is blamed on their age.

WOMEN: Do Plan Shopping

By the Emily Post Institute.

Q: I use the subway every day to go back and forth to business and nothing irritates me more than to see women who are apparently so busy out on a shopping spree, enter the train at the height of the rush hour laden down with packages, thus adding to the transportation problem.

I think it is very inconsiderate and thoughtless on their parts not to set aside specific hours for their shopping and to avoid using the transportation systems during the rush hours.

They would be doing the workers a great service. I would appreciate a service commenting on this in your column.

A Not only would they be doing the workers a service but they would add greatly to their own comfort as well. It is very inconsiderate on the part of those who are free to go to the stores at any time they please, not to arrange to take the subway after the commuting rush hours in the morning and early enough to get to the stores in time to do their shopping and to go home again before the returning crowd gets on its way.

SOME EXCEPTIONS

I believe that most women like to see their husbands well turned out, with well-matched accessories. I think they like to see them in becoming colors, in happy clothing. However, there are some exceptions I suppose.

Some women become jumpy and insecure if their husbands look too attractive. I know one woman who deliberately fattened up her spouse so that he would be unattractive to other females. What a life!

So if you are going to try to jog your hubby out of a rut, clothes-wise, and if he comes home with a green suit, don't let your eyes turn green. Give him a pat on the back, not a verbal whack on the head.

Also, if you are not fattening him up, perhaps you would like to send for my Tubby Hubby Diet if he needs to lose some weight. This will give him a loss of from seven to 12 pounds in 12 days.

If you would like to have the Tubby Hubby Diet booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

EPIDEMIC HERE OF VIRUS COLDS THAT HANG ON

Here's What To Do

New York, N.Y. — An alarming increase has been reported in this area of virus colds that seem to hang on for days and make one feel so miserable.

When you feel yourself coming down with a cold — feverish, have a headache, chills, sniffles, that "grippy" ache-to-the-bone feeling — stay in bed, if possible. And by all means, start taking Anacin® at once to promptly relieve your misery. Be sure it's Anacin because Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of medically proven ingredients. Here's why Anacin is so different and so effective...

Anacin Tablets are stronger yet safer. They give extra medication missing from aspirin, still missing with buffering... to reduce fever fast... relieve that grippy feeling fast... help overcome the accompanying depression fast.

It's these extra ingredients in Anacin (recommended by so many doctors) that make the big difference in the way you'll feel. Anacin gives fast, more complete relief from headache than aspirin. Long-lasting relief from aches and pains, colds and those aching virus colds that hang on.

Unlike many cold remedies, Anacin doesn't leave you "dopey" or "sickish." Anacin may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting the stomach. See if the extra ingredients in Anacin don't give you the relief you need from extra misery the flu and cold season bring. Buy Anacin today.

Split Between Algerian Settlers, Soldiers Grows

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
ALGERIA (AP) — A French soldier in a crowded Algiers street stared grimly as passersby. The butt of his rifle was chained to his wrist.

"They won't get my rifle easily, even if they knock me out," he said.

By "they" he meant members of the Secret Army Organization of European terrorists struggling to bar Algeria's independence. To many draftees from France, the mass of European settlers in Algeria and secret army killers are the same.

After a series of surprise attacks on French patrols by Europeans seeking arms, some unit commanders in Algiers ordered their men to chain weapons to their wrists.

The gulf which has always separated the draftees from France and the European settlers in Algeria has reached the stage of open hostility.

In barracks and camps around Algiers, tempers against the settlers are rising.

BARRACKS BOMBED
"We dragged ourselves through the mountains for seven years while in Algiers. Europeans in fancy blazers drove their girl friends in sports cars," one soldier said.

Last week a plastic bomb exploded in a barracks of the 9th Zouave Regiment, killing one soldier and wounding two. Two days later a hail of bullets met a French patrol in the Bab el Oued district of Algiers. Two soldiers were wounded.

In recent months six French officers have been slain in Algeria by secret army terrorists. The rightist underground accused them of treason.

There have never been any close bonds between soldiers from France and the settlers. To most of the million French draftees who have passed through Algeria in recent years, this has been a "dirty war."

The settlers for their part have been accusing the troops of being devoid of patriotism and a sense of duty.

"No wonder they can't win this war," said a European bitterly. "All they think about are women and the day they can get out of here."

The gulf between the soldiers and settlers started widening after last April's abortive putsch by four retired generals. The putsch collapsed largely because draftees pressured their officers not to support it.

The settlers accused the soldiers of treason and of being communists.

In the days that followed European settlers bombarded troop convoys with empty bottles. In recent days, however, the settlers have been using machine guns and grenades.

Find Compromise on Election of Supreme Court

Con-Con Ends Judicial Branch Fight; Executive Next

LANSING (AP) — Constitutional convention delegates, weary from nearly three weeks of debate on Michigan's court system, turned their attention today to another subject expected to touch off an emotional oratorical wrangle — the executive branch.

Exhaustive discussion on the judicial branch was completed in committee-of-the-whole Tuesday with a tentative compromise agreement on the controversial matter of how to elect supreme court justices.

All proposals must be approved on at least two more roll call ballots before they will be included in the proposed new constitution.

As finally adopted, the supreme court plan calls for election of nine justices on a non-partisan state-wide basis.

The present court has eight members.

Candidates would be nominated at political party conventions as at present, but in addition any incumbent justice could nominate himself by filing notice of his intention.

Proponents argued that this provision would free the judge from dependence upon a political party to keep his job.

One other method of nomination was included. This would allow any person otherwise qualified to be a supreme court justice to become a candidate by filing nominating petitions containing at least three per cent of the total vote cast for the office of governor at the last election.

The proposal was approved in two roll call votes, 82-46 and 72-61.

REJECTED OTHERS

Acceptance of the compromise settlement came only after delegates rejected several other proposals, including one by which justices would be elected from individual districts rather than on a statewide basis.

Proponents of the district plan indicated they have not yet given up the fight, however, and began laying plans for renewing the battle when the provision is returned from the style and drafting committee for another vote.

Other judicial provisions tentatively approved by the delegates included:

— Election of judges to fill vacancies in all courts of record, eliminating the governor's right to appoint judges. The supreme court would be allowed to fill vacancies temporarily with retired judges.

— Elimination of the justice of the peace system by the legislature within five years after the new constitution goes into effect.

— Establishment of a new status of judges with a court of appeals handling cases appealed from the lower courts under rules to be established by the supreme court.

PREPARE FOR MORE

Delegates were prepared for another long stretch of debate on the recommendations of the executive branch committee.

The most controversial proposal calls for appointment of members of the administrative board rather than election, as at present.

Most of the ad board members would be named by the governor, with the auditor general to become a legislative auditor.

Another proposed change in the executive branch calls for four-year terms for the governor and lieutenant governor in place of the present two years, with the two running as a team like the president and vice president.

The governor would continue to be nominated in a primary, while the lieutenant governor would be chosen in a party convention.

Bacteria Count on Lake Michigan Beaches Highest

CHICAGO (AP) — The bacteria count on Michigan beaches — where treated sewage is flushed into Lake Michigan — is higher than in other areas, attorneys said Tuesday.

The attorneys, representing the state of Illinois and the Metropolitan sanitary district of Greater Chicago, produced documents at a hearing on lake diversions which they said substantiated their assertion.

They questioned Loring F. Oeming, chief engineer of the Michigan Water Resources Commission. Oeming testified at a hearing in November that Michigan's practice of returning treated sewage to Lake Michigan is justified because it is treated sufficiently to protect public health.

Oeming said the bacteria levels quoted by the two attorneys are not harmful.

NASA Delighted by Observatory

New Satellite Giving Scientists Data Never Before Attainable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Delighted space officials say the orbiting solar observatory is sending back information scientists have always sought about the sun's rays and wave lengths. The data could provide clues about the origin of the universe.

And, they say, the spacecraft called OSO 1 is transmitting the best radio signals yet received from a satellite.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported at a news conference Tuesday on the satellite, launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., March 7.

By noon Tuesday it had completed 90 orbits at 96.15 minutes per orbit on the most circular path yet achieved by a U.S. spacecraft, ranging from 343½ to 390 miles above the earth.

DIFFICULT TARGET

John C. Lindsay, OSO project director at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., likened the satellite's performance in pointing toward the center of the sun to aiming at a pie plate from a half mile distance.

John Clark, director of NASA Geophysical and Astronomical Programs, said there has not been time to digest and analyze the information which OSO 1 has been transmitting on 13 different experiments.

But he said the findings are sure to be impressive because OSO 1 is providing scientists with their first recorded emissions in the gamma ray, X ray and ultra-violet spectrums of the sun.

They have never been captured in this manner because the earth's atmosphere filters out these emissions.

Mackie Chooses 5 as 'Successors'

LANSING (AP) — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie Tuesday announced the names of five engineers to succeed him if he is killed or disabled in an enemy attack on the United States.

Those named, and their order of succession, are: Carl Carlson of Flint, John J. McElahan of Detroit, Kenneth Long of Ann Arbor, Robert Zimmerman of Kalamazoo and Jerome D. Franklin of Grand Rapids.

Under a 1959 law, all state officials are required to name emergency successors.

House Unit Approves Hike in Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to expand the Peace Corps to 40,000 volunteers — at least — and abroad has been approved by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The measure approved Thursday authorizes an appropriation of $53,750,000 for the year starting next July 1. That's the full amount asked by President Kennedy.

Economy of Bit Smiles of the High Hopes

AP Business News Analysis

NEW YORK—Consumers

economic planners had hoped.

Businessmen aren't buying out

contemplated when the economic plans for 1962 were drawn.

But the chided parties may respond more quickly than a little they may think they're spending

stances.

Much of a consumer struggling with the month's bills and his income tax forms may wonder how anyone could figure he can still spend more than he gets in.

And business spending has been going up steadily since the second quarter of 1961. The government says this advance should continue through 1962, and even pick up considerably in the last half of this year.

IMPRESSIONS GAINS

Considering the excess produc-

such gains are viewed by many as impressive.

In any case, the high volume of consumer and business spending spells anything but recession. It seems to add up, on the contrary, to steady growth.

great expectations and high goals for the economy set forth at the start of the year. Government officials insist their goals can still be met, despite a rough winter's onset.

Take business spending for new equipment and plant expansion.

It's up 10 percent since the start of 1961.

The latest prediction, based on a survey by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission, says that the annual rate will rise to 3.8 percent in the second half of the year, to give 1962 as a whole a rate of 3.5 percent.

doubt this goal can be reached unless consumer spending takes up the slack in excess production capacity.

CONSUMER LEVEL

Consumer spending also continues at a high level, well ahead of

that consumers aren't spending at the rate they set in November and December.

And they will have to spend even more to make up for the loss of the administration's goal of 5.5

percent total volume of national production is reached.

Total consumer incomes are up

10 percent since the start of 1961.

But the increase in liquid assets, providing the wherewithal for increased total outlays.

Many consumers may think they are spending as much as they possibly can, or as they safely can.

But businessmen think others are holding back. And that's what is worrying industrial economists

most for spring to settle the question: Will the consumer spend more, and take on more instalment debt, when good weather ar-

WATT AND SEE

And if the consumer does, will the businessman decide to go ahead with orders for new machinery or another branch plan?

percent total volume of national production is reached.

Trading Is Fairly Active

Stocks Continue to Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to advance early today in fairly active trading.

Steel, motors, drugs and selected chemicals were among the gainers.

Most key stocks made narrow gains. An exception was Du Pont, rising almost 4 points and giving a substantial lift to the averages.

Sizable losses in high-quality issues reflected a continuation of Tuesday's demand by institutional investors. The news background continued fairly optimistic.

Increases in factory employment were cited by the government as evidence that the job picture had improved sharply.
