Moulder Quits as Probe Chairman

Lincoln and Jeff Davis . . . Comrades in Arms

Served in Black Hawk Uprising

Foes of '61 Were Buddies in '32

Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis. The one, President of the United States and Commander-in-Chief of the federal armies in the Civil War. The other, President of the Confederate States of America and Commander-in-Chief of the Southern armies.

Could there be two more mortal enemies? It would seem not. But was that really so? One wonders—especially if one goes back 30 years before Fort Sumter.

Kentucky-born Abe Lincoln and Kentucky-born Jeff Davis were both 23 years old—and comrades-in-arms. The year was 1832. That's when they first met, liked each other and became friends.

This is a tale that they tell of cultured, aristocratic, West Point-trained Davis and rawboned, gangling, self-educated frontiersman Lincoln when their lives touched briefly, as do forking streams—to flow away on divergent courses, each branch ultimately finding outlet in its own tragedy. They say it happened in the Black Hawk War—a campaign that earned little more than a paragrph in history.

Black Hawk was the chief of a band of Sauk and Fox

Along Saginaw Street

Traffic Lights Plan for Pontiac Readied

Final plans for the first $4,500 section of an improved, progressive traffic signal system on Saginaw street are expected to be ready by next week, City Traffic Engineer Theodore Vanderstemple said today.

The first stage involves lights at the corner of Oakland and Lafayette, Warren and Mt. Clemens streets, he said.

The proposed changes, including a new $1,000 safety island at the Oakland avenue interchange, could be put into effect about a month after the state authorizes the city to proceed, Vanderstemple believed.

By mid-summer, he predicted, the rest of the progressive system should be in effect along the entire route from Oakland south to South boulevard.

The plans are being completed by the State Highway Department, which has jurisdiction over Saginaw street because of its designation as a federal highway (U.S. 10).

"We expect the plans to be submitted to us for final approval next week. Approval here means that the city is willing to participate in construction costs on a 50-50 basis," Vanderstemple explained.

The traffic island would lie in the middle of Saginaw just north of the Sears Roebuck store. It is designed to separate the two northbound traffic lanes from the two southbound ones, "making driving less confusing and pedestrian crossing easier and safer," Vanderstemple said.

The principal expense in the entire project in installation of a new wire connecting existing traffic signals. By means of this, Vanderstemple said, the signal periods can be varied uniformly throughout the length of the street to handle rush-hour traffic.

Oakland Cool to Mental Plan

Bill Provides for 50-50 State-County Division of Hospital Costs

A proposal to require counties to bear half the costs of caring and treating for the mentally ill in Michigan is headed for a cold reception in Oakland County.

"I think our county has got all we can do now to provide the budgeted services we are obligated to," declared Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, when told of the proposal.

It has been up in the State Senate for two weeks after being offered by Sen. Lewis G. Christman (R-Ann Arbor).

Christman said for the current year, the state will spend about $64 million while the counties will carry about $8,000,000—the entire cost of a patient's hospitalization for the first year. "The state pays the rest," he said.

★ ★ ★

Hamlin said he intended to contact State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge in regard to opposing the bill.

Under the measure the state mental health expenditures would be cut to around 25 million dollars for 1958-59, Christman said.

Together with the 50-50 state-county split in costs, Christman's bill calls for commitment reforms which he says would exert a downward pressure on total spending in years to come.

It would require the committing judge to screen carefully a prospective patient's legally liable relatives for ability to pay.

Shanty Ransacked

ALGIERS (AP)— The French today announced they killed 100 rebels and captured large quantities of arms and ammunition in two clashes in eastern Algeria.

The clashes occurred late Sunday night and yesterday. The French said one of the rebel bands was intercepted near Khenchela just after it crossed the border from Tunisia into Algeria.

Cites Dissention in House Group, Schwartz Firing

Upholds Ousted Counsel as 'Courageous'; Lauds FCC Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Moulder (D-Mo), voicing disappointment at the ouster of counsel Bernard Schwartz, resigned today as chairman of a quarreling House subcommittee investigating federal regulatory agencies.

Moulder said he couldn't go along with the firing of Schwartz, whom he described as "outstanding, courageous and conscientious."

He said he found himself powerless as chairman because of "dissension and disagreement" among the 11 members, and was submitting his resignation to Chairman Harris (D-Ark) of the parent House Commerce Committee. He said he will continue as a subcommittee mmber.

The subcommittee voted 7-4 to get rid of Schwartz after a majority of the group complained of tactics used by the 34-year-old former law school professor in his investigation of the Federal Communications Commission.

Schwartz, quizzed by the subcommittee for three hours, contended most of the members wanted a "whitewash" of the probe. He said his investigation involved intervention in agency affairs by Sherman Adams, chief White House aide, and other top administration officials.

★ ★ ★

But Harris said Schwartz "has had an improper attitude. He has shown lack of cooperation with the committee . . . and has made some very serious charges against the committee."

Harris said the investigation will proceed. Moulder commented that "I favor a good hard-hitting investigation."

He said he "definitely" believed the group should pursue an investigation into whether Adams had any connection with FCC cases.

He disagreed with Schwartz's contention that a whitewash was in the works.

Schwartz told reporters: "I charged directly to their face that a majority of the members of the

Dr. Sullenberger Refuses to Enter Sidelines Battle

Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger today steered away from entering another sidelines battle in his dispute with the Pontiac General Hospital administration and medical staff.

The ousted staff surgeon, who is suing for reinstatement and $250,000 damages, was asked to comment on a resolution passed recently by the staff in support of hospital director Carl I. Flath's charges against him in reply to the suit.

The resolution was publicized yesterday. Today, Dr. Sullenberger commented simply, "The staff appears very brave in the newspapers. I'll wait to see what happens in court."

Flath alleged Dr. Sullenberger had violated professional standards and listed 25 specific cases in six of which, he said, the patient died. Dr. Sullenberger noted today that in their reply, medical staff members claimed only that he had violated professional standards.

"It's easy to back up Flath's charges in the newspapers, but I notice they didn't do so in the litigation," he said.

Trial of the suit has been set for early in April before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams. Two medical staff committees, the hospital, its board of trustees and the city are named as co-defendents.

City GM Plants Spend $189 Million Here in '57

During 1957 General Motors in Pontiac paid out more than $189 million in plant payroll and local expenditures.

★ ★ ★

In a statement made at the outset of GM's golden anniversary by S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division; P. J. Monaghan, general manager of GM Truck & Coach Division, and T. F. Wiethorn, general Manager of Fisher Body, Division, it was revealed that during 1957 about 26,000 employes received a total payroll of $145,005,415.

LOCAL PURCHASES

The GM Plants in Pontiac also made substantial contributions to the community through extensive purchasing from local concerns. During 1957 it was estimated that GM spent more than $44 million with more than 200 firms in the area for services and supplies.

★ ★ ★

GM employes of Pontiac invested $4,266,513 in U. S. Savings Bonds through the payroll deduction plan and $184,207 was paid to employes in awards for ideas submitted through the suggestion plan.

Besides these contributions to the economic progress of Pontiac, GM employes again gave support to the Pontiac Area United Fund. The employes of the three plants donated $236,314 and GM wrote an additional check for the United Fund in the amount of $115,000.

DSR Manager to Study Fare Hike's Effects

DETROIT (INS) — Leo J. Nowicki, general manager of the Detroit Street Railways (DSR), will report in two weeks on the savings or increased revenues which would result from possible fare hikes or service cuts.

The DSR Commission yesterday instructed Nowicki to look into the effect of any of the following:

—A two-cent across-the-board fare increase.

—A one-cent fare boost.

—A five-cent charge for transfers.

—A cutback to only eight hours service on Sundays on 25 lines now producing less than 50 per cent of operating costs for the day. Some of the lines now operate around-the-clock.

Nowicki has forecast a $400,000 deficit for the DSR by the end of the current fiscal year, June 30, and a $4 million delinquency in pension fund payments.

Mayor Louis C. Miriani would have to approve any fare boosts or service reductions.

Chou Replaced in Chinese Post

Apparently Resigns as Foreign Minister, but Remains Premier

HONG KONG (INS)—Chou En-lai was replaced today as foreign minister of Communist China.

Chou, who has been both Premier and foreign minister since 1949, apparently retained his premiership.

According to the official Communist New China news agency, Chou voluntarily relinquished the foreign ministership in favor of Chen yi, a vice premier, as part of a government reorganization.

Parliament named Chen after he was recommended by Chou, who is generally considered the No. 2 man in Red China, outranked only by party chief Mao Tse-tung.

★ ★ ★

Chen, 60, is a veteran Communist and an old associate of Chou.

The news agency said Chou told Parliament the reorganization would strengthen government administration and improve efficiency.

He was quoted as saying the reorganization was necessary in view of China's "rectification" campaign aimed at streamlining the bureaucracy. It also would meet the needs of the second five-year plan, he said.

Hoffa Disclaims Heart Ailment

Admits Recent Tests but Tells Newsmen His Condition Fine

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Teamster Union aides to James R. Hoffa, new Teamsters president, today vehemently denied reports that Hoffa had a heart ailment recently.

Hoffa, the controversial 44-year-old truck union chief, did have some heart tests. But he told reporters questioning him about a heart attack that he'd race any of them 100 yards.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa is meeting here with the Teamsters Executive Board to revise policies of former Teamster President Dave Beck, whom Hoffa replaced.

Beck was due to arrive today to stake a claim with the Teamsters Executive Board for certain prerogatives he had become accustomed to — including continued use of the $163,000 home he sold the union and continues to occupy rent-free.

The board is also expected to consider appointing new chairmen for the union's Western and Central States conferences. Until his installation as president last month, Hoffa headed the central states group.

Farrell 'Bright and Chipper'

Moon Trip Proceeding Smoothly

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) —Airman Donald G. Farrell brushed his teeth and shaved this morning just like many other husky 23-year-olds — except that he is pretending to be on a trip to the moon.

The blond six-footer from the Bronx was squeezed Sunday into a 3-by-5-foot experimental sealed cabin, quickly dubbed a space barrel, at nearby Randolph Air Force Base.

Space medical experts at the base's School of Aviation Medicine expect Farrell to crawl from the cabin at 9:35 a.m. next Sunday unharmed by the seven days in a make - believe space ship.

★ ★ ★

"Very bright and chipper" was the way Lt. Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine, reported Farrell's condition. "At this point I see no reason why he should not last the full seven days."

CONTACT BY TV

Steinkamp described how Farrell spends his time in the hermetically sealed cabinet. He sees and hears nothing on the outside. All instructions are relayed to him by a closed - circuit television hookup or by pre-arranged signals on a panel of buttons and switches.

He said Farrell has "work periods" of about four hours that might be compared with standing a shift at the controls of a space ship.

He has a rubber mattress he can inflate and stretch out on during a specified sleeping period. Otherwise he must sit almost bolt upright.

However, it is not all work and sleep. There are "rest periods" during which he reads, including two textbooks on accounting and English grammar. In these periods he also listens to hi-fi record music piped into the cell-mostly George Gershwin and Cole Porter selections that he picked before the "trip" started.

The scientists figure it would not be impossible for space travelers to hear radio music broadcast from the earth — or maybe from a space station relay point.

Farrell follows a master menu that Steinkamp said was "high in protein and highly nutritious." It does not consist entirely of condensed or dehydrated foods. He had an orange with his breakfast.

To test Farrell's reactions from day to day an alarm signal may be sounded during any of his rest periods. He is expected to respond and take over the controls of the make-believe spaceship as soon as possible.

Sergeant's Court-Martial Begins Today

NCO Accused of Spying

WASHINGTON (INS) — Master Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes, 41, asserting his innocence, went on trial before a general courtmartial today on charges that he was bribed by vodka, sex and rubles to spy in Moscow.

The Eatontown, N. J., soldier loudly declared as he entered the sound-proof courtroom at historic Fort McNair: "I'm not guilty." His civilian attorney, James K. Eaton, said Rhodes' innocence would be established.

★ ★ ★

Clad in an old - style Army uniform including the now outmoded "Eisenhower jacket" on which his decorations — the combat infantryman badge, the Bronze Star and the good medal gleamed — Rhodes faced a 10-officer court.

The scene of the court - martial is the same Army post where persons involved in the assassination conspiracy against President Abraham Lincoln were tried, convicted and hanged.

Col. Milton S. Glatterer, presiding at the court - martial, called the dramatic proceedings to order at 9:35 a.m. (EST).

Rhodes' pretty wife came to Washington from their New Jersey home to stand by him. A brother, Franklin, of Colorado Springs, Colo., also is present.

The sergeant was charged in two specifications with conspiracy to violate U.S. espionage laws after he appeared as a government witness at the trial of convicted Soviet spy Rudolph Abel at Brooklyn, N. Y., last

Another government witness, Reino Hayhanen, had testified Abel had told him to try to locate Rhodes in this country after the latter's return from Russia.

★ ★ ★

Rhodes created a sensation when he was called from Fort Myer, Va., to teestify. He testified he had started giving information to the Russians after spending a night with a Russian woman.

According to Rhodes' own admission, he received between 2,500 to 3,000 rubles from the Russians over a period extending from May 1951 to July 1953. The Army charged he took a total of $3,000 — which would be worth 12,000 rubles at the official exchange rate and about 30,000 rubles in actual value.

Rhodes, currently under restriction at Fort Myer across the Potomac River from Washington, also is charged with signing a false official certificate. If convicted of the lesser charge, he could be entenced to one year. In both of the charges, he also, upon conviction, could be sentenced to forfeiture of al lpay and allowances and a dishonorable discharge.

Call Car Dealers to Senate Probe?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said today the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee would turn next in its auto prices investigation to complaints of car dealers.

"I've been hearing from a number of dealers that they feel they're being forced to bear a disproportionate share of what competition there is in pricing," Kefauver told a reporter.

★ ★ ★

He said that the subcommittee first would hear Frederick J. Bell, executive vice president of the National Auto Dealers Assn., scheduled to testify Feb. 19.

Individual dealers may be asked to appear later, the senator said.

The subcommittee completed the first phase of its hearings yesterday, with a second day of testimony by George Romney, president of American Motors Corp.

In the previous two weeks, officials of the big three auto producers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—appeared. Another witness was Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers.

★ ★ ★

Romney, representing a company with only a small share of the car market, said in winding up his presentation that he could be running a "real risk" with his proposals in view of the proportions now assumed by "the economic power concentration in the auto industry."

He had urged the subcommittee to approve legislation which would break up General Motors and Ford into smaller companies, and also split the bargaining forces of the UAW into smaller segments.

Kefauver and other senators praised Romney for his forthright testimony.

"You have been critical of big business and big labor," Kefauver said. "You have spoken what you believe from your heart. You have given us a real basis for thought and study.

"I don't contemplate there will be any retaliation or attempted retaliation against you or your company."

But if any is tried, the senator added, Romney should advise the subcommittee promptly.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

How can the stars be useful to you, in connection with the weather?

Perhaps today the stars have lost some of their importance as guides and direction indicators, what with radio direction-finding, radar and the beams which are used for homing and charting compass courses.

In the old days, when sailors or hunters or explorers ran into foul weather, or fair, they could use the stars to give them a course away from the undesirable elements. In bad weather, glimpses of the stars are few and far between, but one glimpse is enough.

You must know that there are five constellations of stars in our hemisphere which never sink below the horizon—Big Dipper, Little Dipper, Draco, Cepheus and Cassiopeia. The lip of the cup of the Big Dipper always points to the North Star—also always visible.

In this hemisphere weather moves west to east, and bad weather counter clockwise. A direction bearing from the stars can point the way to the warmer south, away from the center of a hurricane or storm, etc. And the stars, unlike a compass, never fail.

Unemployment at 8-Year-High

U.S. Slated to Report That 4½ Million Were Jobless in January

WASHINGTON (INS) — More than a million Americans lost their jobs in January, raising the nation's unemployment to the highest point in eight years.

★ ★ ★

Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks was scheduled to reveal the exact figures today. But it was learned that January unemployment totaled about 4½ million persons, compared with 3,400,000 in December.

Weeks, who is calling on President Eisenhower today to brief him, said Sunday that the total may rise to five million in February, traditionally the poorest employment month because the cold weather prevents construction.

Congress only yesterday passed and sent to the White House an urgent appropriation bill adding $43,400,000 to the federal till for unemployed payments to jobless veterans and federal workers. Funds have been exhausted in both categories.

The Agriculture Department, meanwhile, reported that the number of hired hands on farms dropped to 898,000 in January, the first time since 1925 that the number has declined below 900,000.

The 4½ million total unemployment is the highest since February 1950, when unemployment climbed to 4.6 million. The last big employment decline came in 1953-54, but the greatest number out of work in that period was 3.7 million.

AP Facsimile Map

TUNISIA, CENTER OF NEW CONTROVERSY — Map locates Tunisian border village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef near the Algerian frontier, scene of attack by French warplanes. The explosive incident has caused concern both in Washington and London, and in Paris the French cabinet met in special session to consider repercussions of the attack.

Over Tunisian Bombing

Parliamentary Fight Brewing in France

PARIS (AP)— A bitter parliamentary battle brewed today as Premier Felix Gaillard faced sharp questions on the French air attack on a Tunisian border village.

Tunisia said 78 persons were killed and 84 wounded in the attack Saturday on Sakiet Sidi Youssef.

Some newspapers and officials suggested a possible explanation was that the attack by 25 warplanes was an "unauthorized action" by military leaders in Algeria who failed to clear it with the government in Paris.

FAVOR TOUGH POLICY

Rightist military men and right-wing politicians in France have long favored a tough policy against both Algerian rebels and their sources of arms and other support. The rebels have shown renewed strength lately, some French say because of aid received through Tunisia.

The French claim the attack was directed against Algerian rebels hiding in Tunisia and firing at French planes from across the border.

Rightists tended to support the attack as justified to protect French soldiers in Algeria. But many independents and leftists in Parliament severely criticized the raid.

LACOSTE TO REPORT

Gaillard, an economic expert projected into a grave diplomatic problem threatening relations with NATO allies and the Arab world, brought home Algerian Minister Robert Lacoste to report to the government.

Reliable sources said the Cabinet would seek to place blame for the raid and take steps to prevent such attacks across international borders in the future.

Gaillard still faced a hard choice. A reprimand to the army or Lacoste would bring rightist accusations that he was weakening French forces in their three-year-old fight against the rebels.

But if Gaillard failed to make some dramatic move against those responsible for the raid, he risked a further deterioration of France's international position and possible alienation of what friends the West still has in North Africa.

NAACP Official Raps Segregation in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—There is greater racial segregation in housing in Detroit than in most southern cities, Thurgood Marshall told a Detroit audience Monday night.

Marshall, special counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, told a Brotherhood Week meeting: "Schools that are segregated by custom or by residential segregation are just as damaging to a child's mind as schools that were segregated by law."

Abe Lincoln, Jeff Davis Were Comrades in 1832

Indians whose country was the lush valley of the Fox River in northern Illinois.

Under what was admittedly a most unfair treaty, they sold the whites their homeland for little more than a "mess of pottage" and retired westward across the Mississippi.

THERE THEY STARVED. In desperation they recrossed the Great River, thus violating the treaty and rose against the whites. Blood was shed.

★ ★ ★

There were federal garrisons nearby and, to augment them, Governor John Reynolds called for volunteers from every village in the area.

All responded, including New Salem, where Abe Lincoln lived. There were 68 New Salem volunteers and they elected Lincoln captain of their group, which they called the Sangamon Company, after the river on whose banks New Salem stood.

The Sangamon Company marched to Fort Armstrong, on Rock Island, to link up with Regular Army troops of the first U.S. Infantry under a newly created colonel—Zachary Taylor—a 20-year veteran of Indian fighting, even then called "Old Rough and Ready" by his men.

The Illinois volunteers formed up to be welcomed by the Regulars. Company captains were ordered "front and center."

Except Abe, these leaders were mounted but none was in uniform. Capt. A. Lincoln, the only commander afoot, stood there in rough jacket, coarse frontier shirt open at the neck, yellow homespun trousers stuffed into rawhide boots instep deep in mud.

★ ★ ★

AFTER THE BRIEF welcoming speech, Old Rough and Ready introduced two young aides who would be liaison officers between the volunteers and the Regulars. One was a Lieut. Robert Anderson—to be known to every schoolboy as the hero of Fort Sumter. The other was Lieut. Jefferson Davis, less than four years out of West Point and three decades away from immortality as the leader of the Lost Cause.

Later that afternoon the volunteers stood muster and inspection by Colonel Taylor and his aides, with Lieutenant Davis as the inspecting officer. Sharp-eyed Colonel Taylor interrupted the proceedings.

★ ★ ★

"Captain Lincoln, you have no sabre?"

"No, sir."

"Lieutenant Davis, see that Captain Lincoln has a sabre before the next inspections."

The men dismissed, Lincoln and Davis remained together, the rough, slouching, home-spun pioneer, and the West Point-erect soldier, natty in Army blues, with gold-barred epaulets and gleaming sabre. Davis, strangely attracted to the young rustic, invited him to his quarters.

"I have an extra sword I'd like to lend you."

Inside the Spartanly furnished tent, Lincoln noticed a sword in its scabbard, hanging from a peg on the tent pole.

★ ★ ★

AS LINCOLN FINALLY prepared to leave, Davis took down the sword and buckled its belt around Abe's waist.

Lincoln wore the sword throughout his Black Hawk service, which lasted a scant four months. Lincoln was mustered out by Lieutenant Davis on July 10, 1832.

It was then that Lincoln returned the borrowed sabre. He had worn it since he was mustered in at Fort Armstrong. He had never drawn it against a foe.

The Black Hawk War was Lincoln's only military experience and he never saw a hostile Indian.

And that is the tale they tell of Lincoln and Davis together under the Stars and Stripes.

Potter Says Dems 'Captive' of Reuther

GRAND RAPIDS (INS) — Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) charged today United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther holds the Michigan Democratic Party "captive" and could possibly "dictate" who will be in the White House in 1960 or 1964.

Potter told a Lincoln Day banquet in Grand Rapids the state Republicans would be combating Reuther during the 1958 election campaign as well as the Democrats. He charged the union chief has held the Democrats "captive" since 1948. The senator added:

"I am old-fashioned enough to believe a majority of people will not want to let Reuther dictate who'll be the man in the White House in 1960 or 1964."

BIRMINGHAM — The public hearing on the proposed Birmingham zoning ordinance has been set for March 3.

Commissioners, meeting last night, again offered an explanation to Charles C. Currie, owner of the Baldwin Manor Apartments, concerning the condition of the pavement on Southfield avenue.

City Manager L. R. Gare was asked by commissioners to inform Currie that resurfacing is done according to need. Gare said he could not tell at this time whether the street would be included in the 1958 program.

Currie had requested the street be resurfaced, stating that the condition of the pavement caused a noise disturbing to his tenants.

Commissioners also denied—for the second time—permission to Milton Freedman to connect lines with the Birmingham sanitary sewer system.

Freedman owns property at the southeast corner of 14-Mile road and Pierce street in the newly-incorporated village of Westwood.

Commissioners said it long had been a city policy to withhold this type of service.

In commenting on the request, Gare said "our system is unequipped to handle an additional load." If this request were granted, it would quite possibly bring other requests from surrounding areas, he said.

Still Hunt Break in Water Main

Jersey City Afraid of Cave-Ins From Earth Being Eaten Away

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) —This city remained in a state of emergency today as an unlocated break in a gigantic water main kept pouring tons of water somewhere underground.

★ ★ ★

The possibility of cave-ins caused by the eating away of under earth was still considered the greatest danger, and police and firemen continued through the night to search for the break on foot, bicycle and auto.

Deputy Police Chief Joseph B. Foley, the city civil defense director, said he is ready to evacuate 1,000 residents to the Jersey City armory should the leak be found under any tenement area. National Guard trucks would be used and commercial buses commandeered, he said.

The search thus far has been confined mainly to the downtown and Lafayette areas, where about 100,000 persons — a third of the city's population — were without water for a time early yesterday.

The pressure was restored later in the day, however, and Public Works Director August W. Heckman said the danger from fire was greatly reduced.

A total of 195 plants employing 23,500 workers have been closed in an effort to conserve water and keep the pressure up, while 20 schools in the area were also shut down, giving some 16,000 students an unexpected holiday.

Heckman said the schools would remain closed until the break was "found and repaired."

subcommittee were interested only in a whitewash — interested only in squelching the investigation."

"If the committee wouldn't constantly shoot me in the back I could carry on," he added.

★ ★ ★

Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss), a subcommittee member, said anyone making charges that the committee was out for a whitewash "is a deliberate liar." Williams said no member of the group had indicated he wished that any information withheld from the public or that any phase of the investigation should not proceed.

★ ★ ★

Harris said Schwartz had acknowledged that, in the presence of several people in Schwartz's office last week, he had said, "They could convict me for contempt of Congress for I have nothing but contempt for most of the members of this committee."

Sunspots Blank Out Radio Communications

LONDON (INS) — Sunspots blanked out radio communications over a large area of the world today.

European radio links with the Far East, North and South America were particularly affected by the major disturbance in the upper atmosphere.

The disturbance was caused by one of the greatest displays o fthe aurora borealis seen in Europe in many years. The lights also were seen in many areas of the United States last night.

Corncobs Fed to Cattle

PIERRE, S. D. — Ton for ton, corncobs have been found slightly higher in total digestible nutrients than summer-cut prairie hay. This makes them worth $15 to $20 a ton for wintering beef cattle. Some farmers feed them whole; others grind them or mix them with ground grain or silage.

Weather Claims 46 Lives

Snow, Cold Bring Death and Misery to U. S. East

CHICAGO (INS) — A deceptive postcard winter scene of snow, ice and cold shrouded vast areas of the nation bringing death and misery to the eastern half of the nation.

★ ★ ★

At least 46 persons have died since icy temperatures and storms swept down across the Canadian border from the Arctic four days ago.

An ice storm advanced on Alabama and Mississippi and was expected to cover the central and southern sections of both states after the frigid slick belt moved eastward from the Texas Panhandle region.

Roads in the area of freezing precipitation will be hazardous and one weather observer predicted the result will be a "motorist's nightmare" when highways become slick and slippery.

★ ★ ★

Upper New York state was digging out of a record 38-inch snowfall after a two-day near blizzard. Snow drifts towered up to 15 feet disrupting business and transportation and closing schools and industrial plants. Highways were blocked for hours.

DEATH REPORTS

New York listed its storm dead at 18. Massachusetts reported eight dead and Pennsylvania six in the wake of the extreme cold and snowstorm. Oklahoma attributed five deaths to the weather, Texas three, Iowa three, Illinois two and Indiana one.

★ ★ ★

Weather - related accidents claimed half of the winter victims while others suffered heart attacks while trying to shovel snow or free stuck automobiles.

Sleet and freezing rain halted buses in hilly Vicksburg, Miss.

The ice accumulation was expected to move through the Gulf states during the day. Mississippi expected a snow and sleet coat of up to two inches.

Florida's weather chill continued and frost formations were reported in the Everglades. Rain and renewed cold were expected tonight in the Sunshine State.

But They'll Yield to Exercises

Oversize Thighs Prove Stubborn

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Those women who joined my Eight - Week Self - Improvement Marathon already are writing in to tell me about some of the wonderful results they have achieved!

★ ★ ★

Pounds and inches have dropped away. They are gaining or losing where they wish. Many mention a pickup in energy and a feeling of youthfulness which had been lost in the rolls and bulges. It is wonderful for me to know that I have been able to help so many of you.

Quite a few of these readers already have banished most of their figure faults, but still are struggling with large thighs. This is one of the most stubborn spots and usually the last to give in to diet and exercise.

Out - of - proportion thighs are a source of distress to many women with otherwise nice figures. They are stubborn but will yield to a woman's determination. This condition is a result of sagging muscles and fatty deposits. Today I am going to give you an exercise which will mold the thighs into lovelier lines.

Stand facing a table. Take hold of it with both hands. Bend the right knee slightly and at the same time raise the left leg forward with a stiff knee. Slowly straighten the right knee and return left leg to usual position. Repeat several times.

Now bend the left knee and raise the right leg forward with a stiff knee. Straighten left knee and return right leg to position. Repeat several times and continue. After you have done this exercise some time, you will be able to go all the way down until you are sitting on one heel.

The exercise just described firms the thigh muscles. Do the following one also: Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees and place the feet on the floor fairly close to your hips. Raise the heels from the floor. Keep the toes on the floor as you roll from side to side, slapping the thigh at the end of each roll.

If you failed to join Marathon and would like to do so for a loss of up to 20 pounds in eight weeks time, send 10 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope with your requet for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Guests Outline Jewish Music for Sisterhood

Mr. and Mrs. Shimon Gewirtz were guest artists when the Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel met in the synagogue.

Mr. Gewirtz is co-director of music of the United Hebrew Schools of Detroit and has appeared on radio and television. Mrs. Gewirtz, a music student at Wayne State University, sings and is an accomplished flute and recorder player.

Mr. Gewirtz spoke on the history of Jewish music from the time of Biblical cantilations to the music being composed in Israel today. He pointed out that many modern composers use the old cantilations in their modern compositions.

To emphasize the various phases of Jewish music, Mr. Gewirtz played the guitar as he and Mrs. Gewirtz sang Chassidic melodies, Yiddish folks songs and modern Israeli numbers.

Today's Parents Act Shy About the Word 'Wrong'

How Can Teenagers Know the Rules of Society Unless They're Told?

By RUTH MILLETT

If a kid gets in trouble in Harris County, Tex., the sheriff's department has a memo for his parents to read and mull over.

They have given their memo the frightening but thought-provoking title, "Twelve Rules for Parents in Raising Juvenile Delinquents."

Every point is a good one, but it seems to me the most effective rule is No. 5:

"Avoid the use of the word 'wrong.' It may develop in the child a 'guilt complex.' This will prepare him to believe that when he is punished later on for stealing cars and assaulting women, society is 'against him' and that he is being persecuted."

Parents of today's teenagers have been mighty shy about using that word "wrong."

We've given Sis and Junior just about every other reason we can think of for not doing wrong things but the real reason: "Don't do it because it is WRONG."

★ ★ ★

And when a teenager does disobey society's rules and gets in trouble as a result, we look for every kind of excuse to explain his behavior.

He comes from a broken home. Or his parents are too strict or too lenient. Or he is "insecure." Or he has had too much, or had too little.

We just can't quite bring ourselves to explain to our children, "He did wrong — and now he's paying the price for it."

How can we honestly expect our children to know the difference between right and wrong, unless we use the labels?

And how can we teach them to expect unpleasant consequences from wrongdoing so long as we blame everybody and everything for the trouble a gid gets himself into — except the kid's own choice between right and wrong?

The two-week baseball school of the Detroit Tigers has drawn 108 boys from 25 states and Canada, with 29 from Michigan.

Several area boys are listed in the group, including Art Clifford, Madison Heights; Tony Copenhagen of Birmingham; Dick Covrea of Oxford; James Dunlap of Ferndale; Larry Hower of Birmingham; Terry O'Connor of Birmingham; Jack Smith of Ferndale and several Flint boys.

Writers from at least nine Michigan dailies, outside of Detroit, are planning to be on the spot when the Tigers open camp at Lakeland officially February 26th. We have our ear muffs, gloves and topcoats ready just for precautions, really! One thing surely will be better than five-below and that's 20-above.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

All four players nominated by The Press in the All-America High School football team balloting received recognition on the National Prep-All-Star team and as result may get the opportunity to play in one or two games next summer.

The four players nominated as the outstanding players we had seen last season were back Jim Drake of Lake Orion, tackle Lou Pavloff of Hazel Park, center Steve Stieler of Wyandotte and end Jim Schultz of Bay City Central.

When the team came out a few weeks ago, Stieler received high recognition in being named to the 4th team. The others were honorable mentions.

All are eligible to play in the 1958 All-America Prep Classic at Crump Stadium in Memphis, Tenn., next August.

From here, the outstanding players will be picked to play the Pennsylvania High School Stars at Hershey Stadium in Hershey, Pa.

Seems quite an honor for the Keystone State to have the best of 47 states play the Pennsylvania stars.

SIGNS PACT — Tiger outfield star Al Kaline signed his 1958 contract yesterday at a reported slight cut. The fleet flychaser is expected to earn $30,000 this season.

Kaline Agrees to Slight Cut in '58 Salary

DETROIT (AP)—Slugger Al Kaline has ended his mild salary differences with the Detroit Tigers. He took a slight cut in pay.

The 23-year-old rightfielder, a member of the American League All-Star outfield for three years running, came to terms yesterday in a brief conference with Gen. Mgr. John McHale.

Kaline's 1958 contract is believed to call for a salary of about $30,000.

Chiefs to Face Two Top Rated Teams in State

Strong Highland Park Has Not Lost at Home Since 1950

Pontiac Central gets its two toughest assignments in one week tonight and Friday by facing the second and third ranked teams in the state's class A prep ranks.

Powerful Highland Park which hasn't lost a game on its own court since 1950 is favored to make Pontiac its 9th victim in 10 starts.

The Parkers under Jim Wink posted a 16-1 record last season among which Pontiac was a victim on the PCH court. This year Highland Park went through seven straight games before losing a return match at Grosse Pointe last Tuesday.

The Parkers were the number one team in the state according to one poll until the loss to the Pointers, but it only dropped Highland Park a single notch to second place.

★ ★ ★

The mid-year graduation of forward John Bradley just before the Grosse Pointe game hurt the Parkers, but Wink still has a well rounded ball club led by all-state senior forward Gene Lawson.

Lawson, who stands 6-2, is a former Pontiac resident, and he was responsible for knocking the Chiefs out of the unbeaten ranks a year ago on the PCH court with his dead-eye shooting and rebounding.

Dick Turner, 6-feet-4, is Bradley's replacement, except that he will move into the center spot with Larome Hancock, 5-10 at forward.

★ ★ ★

At guards, Highland Park has John Cannis, 5-11 and John Fundackian, 5-9.

There is a possibility that Pontiac Central coach Art Van Ryzin may miss the contest. Van Ryzin has been in Wisconsin because of the illness of his mother and should he be able to make connections he may try to go directly from the airport to the game.

Meanwhile Fred Zittel, assistant coach, is handling the team. The Chiefs are now 8-3 for the season after last week's 56-52 win over Arthur Hill.

★ ★ ★

The play of junior forward Bill Hayward has been heartening for Pontiac since he joined the team four games ago. He has 45 points in four games and has done well on the boards.

How well Pontiac can handle the boards against Highland Park will be a big factor in the final result. Lawson is the Parkers' one-man portable sweeper and with 6-4 Turner the task will be tougher.

★ ★ ★

Dick Whitmer at the other forward, Harrison Munson at center and Charley Barge and John Bandy may get the nod at tipoff time.

A jammed house in the little Highland Park gym is expected. Only 900 fit into the hard-breathing quarters.

Layne Hopes to Return to Lions Next Season

DETROIT (AP) — Quarterback Bobby Layne said today the injury that sidelined him for the last part of the Detroit Lions' 1957 football season has healed completely. He expects to play football again next season "if I can cut the mustard."

The veteran quarterback, in town on oil business, said doctors removed the cast from his leg 10 days ago.

He suffered a dislocated ankle and a fracture of a small bone in his leg in the Lions' Dec. 8 game against the Cleveland Browns. Layne missed the final regular season game against the Chicago Bears, the Western Division playoff contest at San Francisco and the world championship game against Cleveland.

"My doctors gave me a real good report," said Layne. "they said the leg and ankle healed in perfect position and they believe everything will be all right."

Layne said he has been taking daily whirlpool treatments and plans to play a lot of golf once he returns to his home in Lubbock, Tex.

"It's still a wait-and-see deal about next year, though," Layne added. "I'll do a lot of running and give my leg a thorough test this summer before I ever come to camp. I'll know whether I'm all right then.

"If I can cut the mustard, then I wouldn't think of retiring. On the other hand, I'd quit in a minute if I felt I couldn't go 100 per cent."

★ ★ ★

Layne would not speculate on the Lions chances when they defend their world championship in 1958.

★ ★ ★

"I still can't get over the 1957 team," he said. "we had to have more than just playing ability — something bigger and more important held us together."

Bottle Barrage Halts Game

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — They're going to try and get around to ending the second game of a doubleheader between Cuba and Puerto Rico today in the Caribbean baseball tournament after the fans vented their feelings with a barrage of trash when their favorites lost a lead and caused the game to be suspended.

★ ★ ★

The deluge of bottles and cans happened last night when Cuba had the bases loaded and one run in that erased a 4-3 Puerto Rico lead in the last of the ninth inning.

★ ★ ★

Milwaukee Braves fireballer Juan Pizarro had taken over just previously and Alejandro Leroux hit a ball to right field that umpires said was trapped by right fielder Marcial Allen. The tying run scored easily.

The crowd began throwing missles and officials immediately suspended the game until tonight. It will be resumed with the bases loaded and none out with Pizarro pitching.

Group Winner at PKC Show Wins N.Y. Class

One of the area group winners in the recent Pontiac Kennel club show here has gone best of breed in the big Westminster show in Madison Square Garden, N.Y. in the French bulldog class.

Ch. Bouquet Nouvel Ami, owned by the Ralph Wests of Livonia, topped the class last night, as two other Pontiac area dogs placed high in the German Shepherd class. Ami needs just one more win to set a Westminster show record. This was his 6th straight class victory.

Luxi von Liebestraum (Emil Lederer, Union Lake) went best of breed, and Tux of Forjan (Rudy Buchmann, Pontiac) went reserve winner in last night's judging.

Show will wind up tonight with selection of the coveted Westminster best-in-show award.

Eaglets entertain Detroit St. Thomas Thursday in the 2nd of five additional contests just announced for St. Mary.

Sooners Reject Ex-Baylor Star

Refuse Scholarship to McClellan as Release Is Denied

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Mike McClellan, star athlete who pulled out of Baylor and enrolled last week at Oklahoma, still had a home with the Bears today if he wanted it.

Oklahoma turned a cold shoulder to the Baylor football and track star yesterday when Coach Bud Wilkinson refused him an athletic scholarship.

Baylor had steadfastly refused to give the 18-year-old Stamford, Tex., freshman a letter of release to Oklahoma stipulating that Oklahoma had not recruited him. Baylor officials, including head football coach Sam Boyd, accused Oklahoma of unethical tampering with the boy.

"Naturally," said McClellan, "I'm disappointed but I don't blame Mr. Wilkinson. There is no reason why they should change their policy for me."

McClellan, still in Norman, Okla., said last night, "I have no plans for the future. I'll probably leave Norman tomorrow or Wednesday, return to my home town of Stamford and think about what I'll do."

Wolverines Knocked Out of Big 10 Lead

MSU, Hoosiers Share 1st

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The old "who's on first" gag has a new twist in the Big Ten basketball race. Now it's who's in first?

Michigan State and Indiana are tied for first place at the moment but how long that will last is anybody's guess.

Minnesota knocked Michigan out of the top spot last night with an 80-69 lashing while Michigan State defeated Iowa 90-84 and Indiana dropped Wisconsin 93-87. Illinois routed Purdue 99-84 and Northwestern edged Ohio State 78-76.

Every home team was victorious except Wisconsin's Badgers who slid into a last place tie with Illinois. However, Illinois and Wisconsin—both 3-5—are only two games behind MSU and Indiana who have 5-3 records.

★ ★ ★

Great balanced scoring helped Michigan State beat the Hawkeyes. Larry Hedden scored 27 points, John Green 26 and Jack Quiggle 25. MSU led all the way and was in front 44-40 at halftime.

Dave Gunther of Iowa led all scorers with 30 points but didn't get enough help from his teammates.

Indiana rallied in the closing minutes to beat Wisconsin after the Badgers had led most of the way. Trailing 47-45 at halftime, the Hoosiers went ahead 80-79 with 4½ minutes left and added to their margin rapidly.

Archie Dees paced the Indiana attack with 30 points but Bob Litzow of Wisconsin took honors with 34 points which tied the Wisconsin fieldhouse record set by Don Rehfeldt of the Badgers in 1949. Litzow's 16 field goals wiped out the old mark of 13 set by Rehfeldt.

Minnesota, scoring its third straight conference triumph, held a 45-30 lead at halftime over Michigan and then smothered a Wolverine rally in the second half when Michigan pulled within four points. George Kline led the Gopher attack with 28 points. Jack Lewis was tops for Michigan with 19 while high-scoring Pete Tillotson was held to 15.

Ambitious Purdue, seeking a fourth straight triumph, ran into one of Illinois' better nights. The Boilermakers fought back from two eight-point deficits after Illinois led 45-43 at halftime but Roger Taylor and Don Ohl pulled the Illini out of danger.

Purdue tied the score at 76-all before Ohl hit three straight baskets and after the Boilermakers threatened again, Taylor scored three. Taylor was tops with 29 points, Ohl added 22. Harv Austin was high for Purdue with 24.

Northwestern blew a 47-34 halftime lead and then stalled its way to victory. Ohio State, unable to win on the road, fought back to a 68-68 tie but Northwestern put on two quick spurts and a stall for the triumph. Joe Ruklick and Dick Johnson paced the Wildcats with 19 points each and Larry Huston was high for OSU with 24. Buckeye star Frank Howard sat out about 10 minutes of play with four fouls.

Jones Seeks Pro Aid to Regain Davis Cup

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Perry T. Jones, newly-appointed captain of the U.S. Davis Cup team, said today he will get help from professional stars in trying to win the trophy back from Australia.

Jones, 68-year-old retired businessman, has developed some of the brightest stars of American tennis in 40 years of coaching and counseling in Southern California.

He numbers among his former charges Jack Kramer, Ted Schroeder, Pancho Gonzales and Gene Mako and hopes they will return his past favors by doing what they can to regain the Davis Cup.

Stilt's Average Takes Dip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colorado clamped down on Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain and as a result, the Kansas All-America today was far behind the two front-runners in the major college basketball scoring race.

The 7-foot ace took only five shots against Colorado last night and scored six points as he turned playmaker in answer to a three-man defense set up against him.

Chamberlain's average dipped over a point to 31.1 on 466 points in 15 games. That left him more than two points behind Elgin Baylor of Seattle, the leader with a 33.7 average. Baylor and runner-up Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, who has a 32.9 mark, were idle last night.

Permits Banned to Land Firm

Area Board Prohibits Issuance to Developers Until Debt Paid

Formal action by Waterford Township board members at last night's meeting prohibits the issuance of any more building permits to land developers Coleman and Friedman of Ferndale.

Th company developing subdivisions near Isaac Crary Junior High School had deposited $2,500 with the township for operation and maintenance of a sewer treatment plant. These funds have been used plus $1,500 more which has been paid by the township.

Until the debt has been paid and an additional $2,500 deposited with the township in good faith, there will be no more permits issued to the company.

A request from Lewis Bromm, 3448 Shelby St., for installation of blinking warning signals for school children's safety was considered by board members.

Bromm asked the board to send a letter to the Oakland County Road Commission to request installation cost estimates so that he may promote his project to, parent-teacher associations, the board of education and other organizations.

Cost of two machines for each school is $400 but installation is approximately $1,000 per school. The lights have been state - approved, Bromm said.

Caution Rules in Slow Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Caution prevailed in an exceedingly narrow and slow market early today.

Leading stocks were mised, showing fractional gains or losses. Many were unchanged.

The opening was fiarly active but after the initial blocks were cleared, trading slowed down to a walk. The market has gone through four straight declines since the 1958 rally topped-out on Feb. 4.

Business and industrial news remaned spotty. Some economists expressed doubt about the widely-predicted midyear upturn.

★ ★ ★

Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad cut its dividend and the stock dropped around a point but selling was not heavy. Meanwhile, badly-battered New Haven Railroad stock picked up about a point.

★ ★ ★

Throughout major groups there was no particular emphasis. Such stockn as General Motors, American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel and Anaconda were about unchanged.

★ ★ ★

Small gains were posted by U. S. Steel, Goodyear, Phelps Dodge, International Nickel, General Electric and Texas Co.

Dime Store Earnings Show Increase for '57

Williams said that 33 new stores were opened in 1957. This was the largest new store program since the early 1930's.

Ninety-nine stores were converted from full sales clerk service to check-out, making 281 of the companies' 692 stores check-out operations.

Links It to GOP Election Chances

Nixon Watches Economy

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today that Republican chances of winning the congressional election this fall are "wrapped up in the fate of our economy."

★ ★ ★

He predicted that Democratic attempts to make defense an issue will boomerang, because the launching of the Army "Explorer" and other developments between now and November will prove the effectiveness of our military posture.

"The economic factor is all that the administration needs to be concerned about, as far as the campaign is concerned," Nixon told this correspondent in an informal chat.

He advised the "wise money" boys to bet, however, on an upturn in the economy before fall, "because the economy is basically sound and this administration does not plan to sit idly by and allow the downtrend to continue."

★ ★ ★

Nixon said the time is past when any administration can tolerate prolonged, excessive unemployment without taking dramatic steps to right the economy.

NO FULL CONTROL

He warned, however, that no administration can completely control the economic cycle, any more than it can control what Russia might do to upset the precarious world peace.

★ ★ ★

Nixon, who leads other GOP presidential contenders by a nearly three-to-one margin in the public opinion polls for 1960, said he thinks President Eisenhower passed his low point in popularity two weeks ago. From now on, he predicted, Ike will begin to regain his once-phenomenal public esteem.

Asked for his opinion of "strong" presidents as opposed to those who "compromise" with Congress, the vice president mused:

"Each president has his own way of effecting leadership. President Eisenhower has been strong in his way. He believes in persuasion and getting people to work together. He is not flamboyant and loud and dictatorial. President Truman was all of those things, and yet both were leaders in their way."

★ ★ ★

Nixon said a president's popularity is like a free economy—it goes up and down. If a president is fundamentally sound, however, he believes history will record him as an outstanding one. Otherwise, it won't.

MOST SUCCESSFUL

The vice president predicted that by the end of his eight-year term, Ike will no doubt rank among the most successful presidents.

★ ★ ★

"But this, of course, can be affected by events he can't control," he cautioned. "Three great issues affect a president's place in history: International affairs, domestic economy, and the honesty and efficiency of his administration."

Nixon said that on the third count, Ike will "rate among the very best," but that he cannot control what the Soviets may do, or the exact cycle of our economy.

One thing working in favor of Eisenhower, Nixon declared, is his own "high standard of personal morality which he insists on up and down the line."

Occasionally, he conceded, a bad apple turns up "but is promptly disposed of."

★ ★ ★

"There is no danger of Eisenhower going out as Truman did under a cloud in 1952," Nixon concluded. "Truman's place in history was damaged by the acts of some of his friends in high places."

Slate Special Programs

With National PTA Founder's Day moving into the limelight, parent-teacher associations throughout the Oakland County area are scheduling special programs this week in observance of the organization's 61st birthday. The PTA dates back to Feb. 17, 1897.

Climax of the scout program will be presentation of the troop charter by a representative of the Oakland Boy Scout Council.

Dryden Ski Area Is Open

DRYDEN — Another new ski area has been added to the growing list of local ski slopes.

The Dryden Ski Area, owned and developed by Fred Molitor and his son, Fred Jr., both of Royal Oak, is in its second week of operation.

Two rope tows, with another under construction, serve the four slopes.

A snow-making machine, capable of covering 20,000 square feet within an hour, insures excellent skiing conditions all winter.

Lights have been installed for night skiing, and there is a warming hut, snack bar and rental service.

Lessons and instruction are available under the direction of Alice Minod, and her husband, Jerry. Both are certified instructors.

More than 50 children from the Kingsbury School take ski lessons three times a week at the area as part of their regular school program.

The Molitors plan to continue expanding the 33 acres which will provide a variety of runs for all levels of skiers.

They also plan to raise the main hill 50 feet and maintain a lodge of top of it.

U.S. to Battle Sea Lamprey With Chemical

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department now regards chemical compounds as the best means of eradicating the sea lamprey in the Great Lakes.

★ ★ ★

Donald L. McKernan, director of the department's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, said this method "in the long run . . . will bring about a control of sea lamprey perhaps as much as 5 or 10 years earlier (than electrical means) and save perhaps millions of dollars."

McKernan's statement was made before the House Interior Appropriations Subcommittee.

The lamprey, a parasitical eel-like sea animal which preys on fish, has been steadily increasing in the Great Lakes.

McKernan testified that a chemical compound called Dowlap 30 was 98 per cent effective last October in destroying lamprey larvae at a Lake Huron stream in Michigan without appreciable damage to game fish.

Sweden's Favorite Film Is 'Gone With the Wind'

STOCKHOLM — "Gone With The Wind" has a decisive popularity lead over all other motion pictures, domestic or foreign, ever shown in Sweden, according to a poll by the Swedish Institute of Public Opinion Research.

The American film starring Vivien Leigh and Clark Gable won 11 per cent of the votes. A Swedish movie was second; third was "Waterloo Bridge," also starring Miss Leigh.

Primeval Land Found in U. S.

3,658-Foot Boardwalk Takes Visitors Through Exotic Swamps

WASHINGTON — A naturalist's paradise, until recently as inaccessible to the average traveler as a mountaintop in the Himalayas, lies 25 miles southwest of Fort Myers, Florida.

It is primeval Corkscrew Swamp. Its unusual birds and animals, living in one of the country's few remaining stands of virgin cypress, have been preserved for the American people by the National Audubon Society.

★ ★ ★

Several years ago, loggers began to hack at the edges of Corkscrew's small but magnificent forest. Conservationists protested, lumbermen cooperated, and the Audubon Society was able to acquire nearly 10 square miles of the area for a wildlife refuge.

Today, a 3,658-foot boardwalk extends over the swamp's muck and mire, permitting visitors to move in comfort and safety through a region that formerly presented very rough going.

Writing in the National Geographic Magazine, Dr. Melville Bell Grosvenor says that a tour of the swamp now is, quite literally, child's play. He predicts that thousands of visitors will wander through the green maze this winter.

131 SPECIES OF BIRDS

To date Audubon Society experts have listed 131 species of birds as full or part-time residents of the refuge, and the roster continues to grow. Sixteen mammal species have been recorded, including Florida black bears, panthers, and bobcats. The bears and big cats, however, considerately avoid the boardwalk during daylight hours.

ALLIGATORS COMMON

From the walkway the visitor may see a venomous water moccasin sunning itself. Alligators are commonplace, and quite blase about people. But they flash into action if food moves within range —fish, turtles, birds, even pigs that come into the swamp to root around.

Foxy Hound Steals

HEXTON, England (AP)—Farmer Gus Oliver reported that a hound on a foxhunt left the pack, jumped through a window of his cottage, seized a freshly made bread pudding and resumed the chase, chomping happily.

Fire Kills Aged Woman

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — Mrs. Elmer Straub, 84, died Monday night in a fire that destroyed her home in Mecosta County. She lived alone in the frame building.

'Charlie Chan' Assails Medium

But Admits Television Is Chief U.S. Source of Entertainment

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—J. Carrol Naish, the world's only Irish Chinese philosopher, had a broad, new approach to the great living room quiz game of "who's to blame for television?"

★ ★ ★

If you agree with him and the many other critics who feel that the medium is mired in a slough of mediocrity and shows little promise of achieving its vast potential, he says regretfully, look for the culprit responsible in your mirror.

Blaming the television industry, as the motion picture industry does, or the motion picture industry, as the television industry does, for the lamentable lack of spirit and imagination in TV "is too easy, says the 57-year-old veteran character actor, currently video's version of the ageless Oriental private eye Charlie Chan.

He believes that both industries have had a hand in hobbling TV with "dependable," dreary formulas, but the real blame for the medium's faults resides with "the world we live in."

★ ★ ★

"The war is partly responsible," says Naish, just back from filming 39 "New Adventures of Charlie Chan" in Europe, "because after the war everyone said everything was gone, that there was nothing left. They doubted everything, disbelieved everything.

WE'RE ALL AFRAID

"Pride of workmanship has gone out of the world, completely out. Kids today know nothing about real family life. No one thinks alike any more. No one is mature in his personal living. We're all afraid, which is what leaves us wide open to all the H-bombs and Sputniks.

★ ★ ★

"Today everyone is after security — security of the bank account, not the security of peace of mind. We fight tuberculosis and cancer and all the other diseases, but what do we do to fight to restore the integrity of living?

"And let me tell you something —security of that kind is the cyanide of creative talent. That's an old Irish saying—of my own!"

Therein lies the nucleus of Naish's argument. The radio industry, he says, inherited a golden monster in television but didn't know what to do with it.

★ ★ ★

"The people in radio knew nothing about show business," insists Naish, who starred in the old "Life With Luigi" show in both radio and TV for years. "They didn't have to think. Television was just dumped in their laps. Whatever they did was accepted.

TESTED TECHNIQUES

Motion pictures might have cured this complacency, he says, had it stepped boldly into television to apply its tested techniques to entertainment experiments in the living room laboratories which TV offered.

★ ★ ★

But instead, the same film formulas which coined money at the box office during the war began cropping up in TV and eventually took it over like weeds in an untended garden.

"It's a shame," he goes on sadly, "because television is the greatest potential medium for giving the public wonderful things — great plays that happened years ago, for instance, plays of the sort they don't write any more.

"Now all they write are plays about neuroses. They've all forgotten heart, mystery, suspense and melodrama. Everything is a problem."

But with all of its shortcomings, Naish agrees that television is the chief entertainment source of the American people and one day will be the chief source in the world.

★ ★ ★

"I used to think it was a low, mediocre medium," he concedes, "but now that I've been in this little challenge of my own — and I hate to admit this — I realize that TV will replace the theater.

"It's part of the new era. No one has time for anything. We're in it, so we'd better go along with it."

Another Blow to Congressmen

Government Heads Prone to Dandruff

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—And now another blow to our hard pressed congressmen and government officials.

A survey shows their line of work leads directly to dandruff.

The announcement was made today by the Curtis Dandruff Treatment Council, which says it's a nonprofit organization set up to study such things.

★ ★ ★

The council found:

That dandruff is worse in winter than in summer.

That city people have more dandruff than country people, and that New York and Chicago are the most dandruffy of all.

That men have more dandruff than women, and that pregnant women don't seem to have dandruff at all.

That around 70 per cent of the population has some dandruff.

That if your shoulders are cluttered with the stuff, it's a tipoff that you're in a worrying kind of a job.

"We've long suspected that dandruff is closely related to emotional stress," the council said. "Our study confirms it."

So 95 per cent of all big shot executives, and their junior executives, in advertising, public relations, radio and television have dandruff trouble. The council didn't say so, but possibly they work up a frightful head of dandruff while fretting about their ulcers, and vice versa.

★ ★ ★

In second place are motion picture people and, alas, newspapermen.

But coming up strong on the inside rail, and threatening to take over first as their problems stack up from here to outer space, are government officials, with 83 per cent.

Well, the council may have something here.

Anyone who ever has sat in the gallery and looked down on Congress has realized that dandruff is an untidy sight.

But whether congressmen will pay much heed to the council's cure is something else again.

★ ★ ★

The council is sponsored by the shampoo and hair tonic industry, and naturally the hope is that each of us will hurry in and lather our locks.

But the politician can be crafty, shrewd, able to turn weakness into strength.

Won't the politician of the future, fortified with the council's study, point to his dandruff as proof he's worrying his head off for his constituents?

A final note:

The government has had this problem for a long time. The council triumphantly passes along this historical nugget:

Julius Caesar had dandruff.

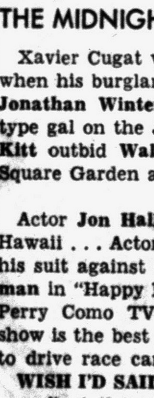
How New 'Fair Lady' Meets Her Fair Lad

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The new fair lady in "My Fair Lady," pretty Sally Ann Howes from London, leaned across a table and told me how she married the brilliant American composer, Dick Adler.

★ ★ ★

"I only met Richard last July," she said. "He was casting for 'Of Human Bondage' in London and I was asked to go and sing for him.



WILSON

"My agent didn't want me to sing for him. My agent got very snobby and said I was established—I didn't have to audition for anybody. Richard got very angry and said, 'But why can't you sing for me? Everybody else sings for me!'"

"I stuck to my guns. So Richard said, 'Well, then, will you have lunch with me?'"

★ ★ ★

Sally Ann's a lady of independence — for example, she drinks coffee instead of tea, and when she does make a concession and drink tea, she makes it from a teabag, American style. Dick Adler, who'd written the "Pajama Game" score, intrigued Sally Ann. When a show she was doing closed in London, she came to America "to decide whether I liked him."

"We were married in Arlington, Va., because you don't have to wait so long for your Wasserman there. You don't have that in England, and it's an extraordinary experience.

"We went to this little hut with a Red Cross sign on it that said 'Blood tests, one hour.' We went on a tour of Washington and I read the Gettsyburg address while they were finding out whether I passed."

Sally Ann, daughter of a famous British performer, Bobby Howes, took over the Julie Andrews part in "My Fair Lady" last week.

Intangibles Tax Sent to House

No Surprises in Bill When It Appears in State Legislature

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams' much publicized intangibles tax plan, backed by 16 House Democrats, made its appearance in the legislature last night.

It proposed to boost the present $23,600,000 levy on stocks, bonds and other intangibles by some 20 million dollars a year.

The bill carried no surprises, following pretty much to form what Williams proposed in his 361-million-dollar 1958-59 budget. Even with the intangibles tax hike, however, the Governor said the state would wind up the ensuing fiscal year some five million dollars in the red.

As a concession to Republicans, Williams by-passed his original plan to collect a tax on intangible properties held last year. He has agreed not to oppose a plan by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the House Taxation Committee, to pick up a quick 16 million dollars by deferring payment on state liquor purchases for 90 days, rather than 30 days as is now done.

In turn, House Speaker George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) and other Republican leaders have promised to take a "hard look" at the Williams plan.

Rep. Frederick Yates (D-Detroit), chief sponsor of the bill, said it would exempt 11,000 present intangible tax payers from any levy and reduce it for 8,000 others.

Absorbing the increase would be another 49,000 individuals, partnerships, corporations and others who already pay the biggest share.

Iraq and Jordan Ponder Merger

2 Might Be Joined by Saudi Arabia in Move to Counter U.A.R.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Iraq's King Faisal was due in Jordan today to discuss with his cousin King Hussein a royal merger to counter the overshadowing union of Egypt and Syria.

★ ★ ★

Indications grew that the kingdom of Saudi Arabia might join the two Hashemite realms of Jordan and Iraq in a federation — provided Iraq pulls out of the pro-Western Baghdad Pact that has alienated her from powerful nationalist elements in the Arab world.

★ ★ ★

Hussein and Faisal were expected to form some sort of union to stand off increasing pressure from Egypt and Syria to bring the rest of the Arab world under the banner of their newly formed United Arab Republic. A Hashemite federation would be basically opposed to the U.A.R., whose two members Jordan divides geographically. Syria long has viewed Jordan as a potential province.

★ ★ ★

Union with Iraq probably would spell the end of the little state of Jordan, which Britain created after World War I and gave independence to in 1946. Iraq—bigger, more populous and richer—undoubtedly would dominate such a union.

★ ★ ★

Official sources in Amman predicted that King Saud of Saudi Arabia might join the federation, although his family was long an arch foe of the Hashemites. To permit Saudi Arabia's entry, these informants said, Iraq might take certain steps. They added that they "would not be astonished" to see Iraq pull out of the Baghdad Pact.

5 Teenagers Drown as River Gulps Car

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — A carload of high school pupils turned into a dark, deadend street last night and somersaulted into the Portneuf River. Five teenagers drowned. Two others made it to safety.

★ ★ ★

One of the survivors was Kim Sharp, the driver, 16-year-old son of a Pocatello physician. He said he did not know the quarter-block street ended at the river.

Sharp crawled through a window and another youth, Lynn Everso, 16, was pulled from the car by a passing motorist, Wayne Davis. Davis said the strong current prevented further rescue attempts.

The youngsters had been to a church youth meeting.

Coroner Allen Manning identified the five victims as Lamona Webster, William Clark, Dwenna Woodward, Verda Mae Stone and Marilee Smith. All were about 16.

Ballistic Missiles Mass Produced in Super-Secret Warren Plant

By JERRY CHIAPETTA

WARREN (INS) — American ballistic missiles are being "mass produced" in Warren in a complex and precise operation that makes an auto assembly line seem simple by comparison.

In an ultra-modern, super-secret plant 16 miles north of Detroit, Chrysler Corporation employes are busy every day building, checking, testing and guarding Redstone and Jupiter missiles for their only customer — the U. S. Army.

Business appears to be good. About 100 new employes are hired each week. By the end of the year, some 9,000 persons will be working at the plant. Most of them will be engineers and special technicians.

Nick Pragos, of Pontiac, a foreman in the instrument department, said, "I love my work. It's fascinating."

NO BOASTING

Unlike other private industrial plants, there are no boasts in Warren about production reports.

And the product is never officially compared to that of the competition — Russia — because all these things are top secret.

This reporter was permitted a sketchy look around certain areas of the plant, after he had been thoroughly checked for security. Even so, Deputy Security Officer H. B. Whitescarver and Chief Production Supervisor Burwyn Bender acted as escorts.

The intermediate range (1,500) Jupiter was kept out of sight. This is the missile developed at the Army's Redstone arsenal by the same team, under Dr. Wernher Von Braun, which turned out the Jupiter-C test vehicle that launched the U. S. satellite.

The Jupiter and the Jupiter-C, however, are different missiles.

Information about the weight, cost, number produced and other data on the Jupiter was listed as "classified" or "unavailable." The only performance information released was on the thrust. It was compared to "something like that of 2,066 modern automobiles."

During the tour permission was granted for a look inside the belly of the Redstone.

It looked like a bad dream after a wild party. There were wires and then more wires, miles of them of all colors and sizes. There were pipes, tubes, tanks, and fins — all representing obviously many hours of precision labor.

Building a missile can only be compared to building a fine watch. Engineer Bender said there are tens of thousands of things that can go wrong and prevent a successful launching or cause these missiles to miss their targets.

NO PRODUCTION LINE

These fantastic machines do not move down a "line" as automobiles do. Like airplanes, they are assembled on the spot.

Missiles are built in three main sections — nose, brain, and fuel cells for the power plant. The latter accounts for about 75 per cent of the Redstone's 69-foot length.

The Redstone has a range of 200 miles, is highly accurate, uses liquid propellant and is capable of carrying nuclear or conventional warheads.

BIRTH OF A JUPITER — Skilled workmen assemble the frame of an Army Jupiter IRBM at Chrysler's Warren, Mich., plant.

The Chrysler missile plant — said to be large enough to cover 40 football fields — is spotless and air conditioned in many areas where precision work is under way. Noise generally associated with most factories is lacking.

Busy men around the Redstone seemed engrossed in their work. C. Allen Brady, a Chrysler corporation veteran and now general manager of the missile division, said:

"The spirit and enthusiasm of these people is amazing. Why, we have to remind some of them to go home because they get so intent on what they are doing."

Chester Roberts, a foreman in final assembly, was asked if he enjoyed making missiles. The Mt. Clemens man replied, "This is science. This is good for the country."

SAN FRANCISCO — In many areas huge machines capable of cleaning and packing 500 cartons of produce an hour now follow harvesters along the rows in the fields.
