Three Hunters Asphyxiated by Tent Heater

HEAD-ON CRASH—A Pontiac policeman checks the damage to the wrinkled baggage car of a Durand-bound Grand Trunk passenger train which collided with a freight train yesterday afternoon. Three persons were hospitalized after a fleet of ambulances took 27 passengers and train crew to Pontiac General and St. Joseph hospitals.

License Plate Time Is Near

Oakland County motorists may purchase 1966 license plates for their cars beginning 9 a.m. Monday.

Willis M. Brewer, manager of the Pontiac branch office of the Michigan Department of State, said registration or title to the vehicle and fee payment by cash or certified check would be needed to purchase the plates.

He also reminded drivers to bring certified proof of public liability and property damage insurance.

Brewer said a written statement from the insurance agent or the actual policy would be sufficient.

Motorists not having proof of insurance will have to pay a $35 fee for licenses. Insured drivers will be assessed only $1.

Brewer said the Pontiac office at 96 E. Huron would be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

Three Hospitalized
Probe Head-On Crash

Cause of the head-on crash of two trains which hospitalized three persons yesterday is under investigation today by officials of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

The accident occurred about 12:30 p.m. at the Johnson Avenue yard office when passenger train No. 21, from Detroit to Durand, hit a Detroit-bound freight.

In St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with concussions are Miss Mildred Moore, 72, of Hebron, Ind., and Mrs. Florence MacGregor, 66, of 4175 Sandy Lane, Bloomfield Township.

They were listed in satisfactory condition this morning, while Lawrence Lee, 81, of Okla. was reported in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital with a broken nose.

Twenty-four other persons, including five Grand Trunk crew members, were treated and released from hospitals — 14 at Pontiac General and 10 at St. Joseph.

NO OVERTURNING

Although the fronts of both diesel engines were battered, no cars were overturned. Some wheels left the tracks.

The passenger train had just started up from a stop at the Huron Street depot. It contained a baggage car and a single passenger car, while the freight had 20 cars.

Apparently, the freight pulled on to the main line from a siding. Terminal Trainmaster C. E. Slack made no immediate estimate of damages.

Rumor Luci Seeks to Wed Unconfirmed

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—The White House maintained a stolid silence today about reports that 18-year-old Luci Johnson and her boyfriend, Pat Nugent—both weekend guests at the LBJ Ranch—want to get married.

According to some reports, the young couple flew to the ranch last night to seek permission to marry from the President and Mrs. Johnson.

The Texas White House confirmed that Luci, her 21-year-old sister Lynda and Nugent, who is from Waukegan, Ill., (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

2 Area Residents Killed in Collisions

A 53-year-old Waterford Township woman and an Imlay City man lost their lives in separate collisions yesterday.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Nelson Bottom of 2624 Sylvan and George W. Talbot, 44.

Mrs. Bottom was fatally injured when the car in which she was riding was struck broadside by another vehicle in Taylor Township in Wayne County.

Talbot died when his car collided head-on with a cement four miles west of Imlay City.

Dem Leaders Ready Attack on Triple Veto

Kowalski, Dzendzel Meet on Tactics for Short Special Session

LANSING (P)—Democratic legislative leaders were regrouping their forces today for an assault on Lt. Gov. William Milliken's veto of three large spending measures.

House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said yesterday he would ask for a one-day meeting of the Legislature next month to override vetoes of veterans, senior citizen-renters and higher education bills that carried a collective annual price tag of $8.2 million to $11.7 million.

He was to meet with Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, over the weekend to work out an agreement and a schedule.

Democrats then would try to muster the 74 House votes and 23 Senate votes needed to re-pass measures to extend property tax relief to senior citizens, grant extra funds to smaller colleges and universities with larger than anticipated enrollments, and broaden basic eligibility requirements for property tax relief to disabled veterans.

Milliken, who was acting on Gov. George Romney's instructions while the governor was touring Asia with a group of other state governors, said the bills were vetoed because they would commit the state to spend an additional $23 million over the next 2½ years, while the state treasury surplus is dwindling and expenditures are catching up with revenues.

Two-thirds of the members of both houses would have to vote to override the vetoes—meaning Democrats would have to line up Republican support.

Although an overwhelming majority in both chambers supported all but the senior citizens bill, a quick check of Republican sources indicated little support for a veto.

Kowalski cited a joint rule under which a four-man majority committee can call the Legislature back. No meeting date has been set for the committee.

2 From Area, Warren Youth Found Dead

Say Charcoal Burner Cause of Fatalities; 1 of Group Survives

Two hunters from Farmington Township and a third from Warren were found dead last night near Alpena, apparent victims of asphyxiation from a charcoal burner in their tent.

The victims were identified as Louis G. Karle, 50, 36617 Lyman, Ervin Knight Jr., 16, 29989 Ravenscroft, both of Farmington, and William Palmer, 16, of Warren, a nephew of Karle.

The three were discovered about 6 p.m. yesterday by Karle's son, Jack, 17, who was hospitalized for observation.

Cpl. Robert Rutla of State Police at Alpena said Jack Karle gave this version of what happened:

The four arrived at Wolf Creek public hunting grounds in Alpena County shortly after midnight Thursday and pitched their tent, which had its own rubberized floor.

Viet Support March Draws Big Backing

NEW YORK (P)—Thousands of marchers demonstrating support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam marched down Fifth Avenue today.

The parade, led by five Medal of Honor winners, took the same route as a demonstration two weeks ago protesting American involvement in the Viet Nam war.

The parade chairman, city councilman Matthew J. Troy Jr., estimated the number of marchers today would exceed 100,000.

The five Medal of Honor holders, who were expected to stage a sidewalk parade in support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

At Houghton, Mich., 200 Michigan Tech engineering students were expected to stage a parade in support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

In Japan, Gov. George Romney received a cable from Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain which said that nearly 16,000 Michigan State University students signed a petition in support of the government's position in Viet Nam.

COLD NIGHT

It was cold. A charcoal burner was left inside.

Jack Karle awakened about noon yesterday and felt sick. Although his memory was hazy, Jack said he recalled groggily taking the burner outside, brewing himself a cup of coffee and going back to bed without attempting to arouse the others.

Jack woke up again about 6 p.m., still ill and found his companions dead.

A coroner's report said they apparently succumbed some 10 hours earlier.

Police attributed Jack's long sleep to the effects of the gas.

Lovely Weather Will Linger Longer

Pleasant weather is expected to continue tomorrow and Monday with temperatures a little warmer. Lows will drop to near 38 to 42 tonight.

Highs tomorrow will climb into the mid-60s. Fair and mild is Monday's forecast.

Southerly morning winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour will diminish to 8 to 14 m.p.h. tonight.

A low of 36 was the recording in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 2 p.m. reading was 64.

'Human Wave' Assault

Marines Defeat Cong Hand-to-Hand

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines, using pistols and fighting hand-to-hand from their tents, beat off a "human wave" assault by the Viet Cong in the early morning darkness today 10 miles southwest of Da Nang.

A U.S. military spokesman said 56 Viet Cong, many of them teen-agers, were killed. He described casualties among the 300 Marines as moderate.

One Marine squad, however, was badly mauled. Two of its 14 men were killed and the rest wounded, the spokesman said.

The Viet Cong also launched a mortar attack on the U.S. Special Forces camp at Plei Me in the central highlands and began a flurry of new assaults in the Mekong Delta.

YOUTHFUL CONG

A 13-year-old boy was among the Viet Cong dead at Da Nang, a Marine said. He had been selling soft drinks to Americans in the area and they found drawings of key U.S. installations on his body.

"We dropped a lot of Viet Cong with pistols," said Sgt. Harry Dowdy of Salisbury, Md. "They came right up to our holes. We fired at a range of 10 yards."

The assault, by an estimated 100 Viet Cong from a force of 400, was the second against Marines in the Da Nang area since Thursday, when a Viet Cong suicide squad infiltrated the Marble Mountain air facility and destroyed and damaged 32 helicopters. Da Nang is the site of the big American air base 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

The guerrillas broke through the Marine defense perimeter today and overran bunker positions. After an hour's battle, the Viet Cong broke and fled. Marines and Vietnamese fanned out in pursuit.

Invasion of Rhodesia Is Out, Says Wilson

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today African nationalist leaders' demand for Britain "to attempt to settle all Rhodesia's constitutional problems with a military invasion is out."

Death Claims Ex-City Man

J. Price Hill, owner of the former Oakland Oil & Gas Co., died this week in Santa Barbara, Calif., where he had his home.

Service and burial were to be in Santa Barbara.

Hill leaves a brother, Hani, also of Santa Barbara.

Hill attended the Michigan Military Academy, and engineering school at the University of Michigan.

While living in Pontiac he was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, Knights of Columbus, Elks Lodge No. 819, Kiwanis Club and Pine Lake Country Club.

EX-COMMISSIONER

Hill had served as a member of the Pontiac City Commission and Pontiac Chamber of Commerce.

After selling his business he retired and lived in Hollywood, Fla., for many years before moving to Santa Barbara.

Rule Owner of Inn Is Victim of Suicide

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The coroner has ruled that Leo Frankowski, 44, of 987 Sunny Beach drive, of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Frankowski, owner of the Pontiac Lake Inn, was found dead on his bed Thursday night.

FRESH TROOPS

In Saigon senior U.S. military sources gave another indication of increased Communist activity. They reported North Viet Nam has sent waves of fresh troops into the highlands north of the capital for what could be one of the showdown battles of the war.

The sources said 10 to 11 regiments are roaming the area now. Seven of them were described as North Vietnamese units accompanied by heavy weapons battalions.

The attack on the company of Marines near Da Nang, however, was made by both hard-core Viet Cong and teen-agers. The U.S. spokesman said, "Marines said the youngsters had been recruited a few hours earlier at a village and forced to join in the attack."

One captured Viet Cong was quoted as saying that he belonged to a hard-core battalion of 400 men that massed in the mountains late Friday for the assault.

HAND-TO-HAND

The Viet Cong attack opened with a hail of rifle fire. Mortar fire followed. At the height of the clash, Marines engaged the Viet Cong in vicious hand-to-hand fighting in tents in the Marine bivouac area.

One of the Viet Cong mortars tore an officers' tent to shreds, but most of the men inside had taken shelter at a command post bunker.

SOLUTION POSSIBLE

He added that he believed a democratic solution of the Rhodesian crisis was possible.

The announcement of a royal commission took much of the sting out of the dispute over Rhodesia's future. Wilson and Smith disagreed on the exact terms of reference of the commission, but it assured that talks between Britain and Rhodesia would keep going.

This would make a unilateral declaration of independence by Smith unlikely.

Flowers has been an outspoken moderate on the racial question. He gained considerable national attention recently as prosecutor in the murder trial of a Ku Klux Klan member in Lowndes County in the slaying of Viola Liuzzo, a white civil rights worker. He said in the past that he has received threats.

The tall, red-haired officer said that he and his brother, Dr. Paul Flowers of Dothan, Ala., had left their seats at the Dothan-Lee High School football game when a young man described as a stranger about 20 years old, suddenly called him by name and reached out with his fist, catching Flowers in the mouth.

Flowers said "it hit right on the button. I was out on my feet for a few seconds, staggering backwards."

Waterford Man Hurt in 2-Car Crash

A Waterford Township man was listed in fair condition this morning in Pontiac General Hospital following a two-car collision last night on Dixie Highway near Telegraph.

Charles Garrett, 51, of 2828 Newberry received multiple contusions of the jaw and back in the accident.

Garrett allegedly was attempting a turn when his car and one driven by Larry Johnson, 28, of 2611 James, Pontiac Township, collided.

Johnson was uninjured.

Hoover: Protests to Boost Crime Rate, Spur Anarchy

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today civil disobedience will increase the nation's crime problem and lead to anarchy.

"Sowing contempt for law and order and promoting pride in law-breaking among the nation's youths can only result in an acceleration of a serious crime problem," the FBI chief said in an editorial message in the bureau's November law enforcement bulletin.

Hoover did not mention any groups or individuals by name. However, civil rights and pacifist groups and opponents of the United States' Viet Nam policy have used civil disobedience as a means of protest.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a civil rights leader with whom Hoover has clashed publicly, has advocated use of civil disobedience by an oppressed minority faced with laws it considers morally unjust — but only when the group is willing to accept penalties.

STARTLING THEORY

Hoover described the doctrine of civil disobedience as the "startling theory that if one does not agree with a law and believes it to be morally unjust, he may disregard it to achieve a particular objective."

In some quarters, Hoover wrote, "it already appears that the social stigma formerly attached to lawbreakers is being replaced by sympathy for their actions."

Howell Child Killed

HOWELL (AP) — Daniel R. Harvey, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Harvey, was killed Friday when struck by a car near his home.

Flowers said that he and his brother, Dr. Paul Flowers of Dothan, Ala., had left their seats at the Dothan-Lee High School football game when a young man described as a stranger about 20 years old, suddenly called him by name and reached out with his fist, catching Flowers in the mouth.

Lost Trail in Brinks Case

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Royal Canadian Mounties pondered a painful lesson today—you can't punch a time clock and always get your man.

Apparently because a Mountie surveillance team kept only 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. office hours, two powerful antitank guns fell into the hands of "bandits who pulled last Sunday's $400,000 robbery of a Brinks vault in Syracuse, N.Y."

The FBI and New York State Police also were involved in the goad, but each denied responsibility.

According to sources here, two men bought two powerful anti-aircraft guns and 200 rounds of ammunition from an Alexandria, Va., gunsmith late last March. The guns, of the type used by the Finnish army against the Russian invasion of 1939-40, can pulverize a bulletproof safe a mile away.

The dealer became suspicious and tipped the FBI when he discovered the two buyers had given him a fictitious Alexandria address.

SHIPPED AWAY

The FBI told the dealer, John Richards, to go ahead with the deal so the guns could be traced. They subsequently were shipped as "elevator machinery parts" to Pittsburgh, N.Y.

New York and Canadian authorities were notified. Pittsburgh is near the Canadian border, and an unsuccessful Brinks robbery was attempted last Feb. 29 in Quebec City using the same type of antitank gun.

The Canadians were reported to have been concerned, too, that the guns might get to terrorists of the French separatist movement active in Quebec.

Vandals Strike County Area

Windows Are Broken, Homes Are Defaced.

Vandalism was widespread in northern Oakland County last night on the eve of Halloween. The worst hit areas were West Bloomfield Township, Birmingham and Rochester, where a number of windows were broken with pellet pistols, rifles and other instruments.

Also in those areas, houses were splashed with spray paint and eggs were hurled.

West Bloomfield police reported this morning that they are holding a suspect for investigation in the shooting of a pedigree German shepherd dog last night.

The dog, owned by Jack Pierce, 171 Parkview, West Bloomfield Township, was seriously injured by a .22-caliber bullet.

WINDOWS BROKEN

Also in West Bloomfield Township, several automobile windows and display windows of business establishments were shattered.

A large display window at the Clayton Furniture Store, 2133 Orchard Lake, was broken for the second time in a week.

Youth also set fire to leaves in the township last night, which in a few cases almost spread to homes before firefighters arrived.

In Birmingham, windows of nine cars were shattered in the parking lot of an A & P market on Adams Road. Two blocks away, a truck windshield was destroyed.

In Rochester, several windows of automobiles and business establishments were broken.

An Oakland Township woman, Norma Mullin, 69 Cedarwood, reported that two thermopane windows valued at $200 were cracked.

Three bandits terrorized the family of Bernard Golden, 2770 W. 13 Mile, last night before escaping with an estimated $7,500 in jewelry and cash.

The intruders entered the residence shortly after 8 p.m., tied up Mrs. Golden and her two daughters and searched the home.

When Golden arrived home at about 8:40, he was subdued by one of the gunmen, who took $300 from his wallet.

According to Farmington Township police, two of the men were carrying guns.

Bonn Prosecutor Probes Recruiting for Viet Nam

BONN, Germany (AP) — Bonn's public prosecutor said today he has opened an inquiry into a report that West Germans have been fighting for South Viet Nam.

It is illegal in West Germany to solicit citizens to serve in foreign armies. A similar investigation is under way in Frankfurt of alleged recruiting for a fund.

The kickback was for a $1,076,000 loan for Leonard Claflone, owner of Mid-City Development Corp. and Mid-City Realty Co.

Federal Judge Fred M. Kaess set no sentencing date. Marro's attorney, Philip Gillis, said he would appeal the conviction.

Claflone testified at the trial that Marro told him the loan would cost him a $100,000 kickback but he could arrange it so that $75,000 would be tax deductible.

It is illegal in West Germany to solicit citizens to serve in foreign armies. A similar investigation is under way in Frankfurt of alleged recruiting for a fund.

GUNS STOLEN

Thieves were reported to have stolen the guns while the Mounties were off duty sometime before dawn April 8. The theft was never reported.

At least one of the guns was believed to have been used to blast open the foot-thick vault of the Brinks office in Syracuse last Sunday.

The FBI was said not to have been involved in the actual stake-out in Pittsburgh.

New York State Superintendent Arthur Cornelius said the only role his office played in the surveillance was to provide the Mounties with information about highways in the Pittsburgh area.

Birmingham Area News

Ask Caution by Drivers Near Schools in Winter

BIRMINGHAM—It's not children, but their parents, who create unsafe conditions near schools during the winter, safety experts agree.

Walter Biel, safety coordinator for the Birmingham Public Schools, made this observation in urging adults to mind their driving P's and Q's to maintain the district's good safety record.

"Increasing hours of darkness and more bad weather suggest increased attention to good safety practices," he said.

"Law enforcement, traffic safety and school officials agree that the most serious traffic problems are created around our schools, by parents themselves during inclement weather," he warned.

Piel noted that traffic jams and illegal parking can lead to children's walking between parked cars and greatly increasing their exposure to accidents.

DIFFICULT TASK

"Safety patrol boys may find it very difficult to function in such a confusing situation," he said. "They are taught to cross children only when a safe traffic interval and clear vision exist and to disregard motorists who attempt to signal to them."

Piel listed nine ways in which parents can help:

1. Dress children appropriately so that those who walk to school can do so in all types of weather.

2. Do not attempt to signal safety patrol boys.

EXTRA CAREFUL

3. Be extra careful when approaching or leaving schools.

4. Remind children to accept rides only with persons of whom you approve.

5. Be particularly alert for walkers and bicyclists in areas where there are no sidewalks or adequate lighting.

6. Reinforce efforts of police officers and teachers to develop respect for safety laws and those who enforce them.

ORDINANCES

7. Make sure that your children know and observe bicycle ordinances.

8. Cooperate with officials in carrying out the local school safety program, traffic patterns and suggested walking routes.

9. Seriously consider whether your child has sufficiently mature judgment and experience to drive alone in the area, even though he or she may have met all legal requirements for a driver's license.

A play focusing on family problems is being offered to area PTA and church groups through the Family Service of Oakland County.

This is the fourth year the agency has made such a program available, with the cooperation of five community play groups, according to Mrs. Fred D. Hendrick Jr., chairman of the agency's Plays for Living Committee.

Mrs. Hendrick, 475 Pilgrim, represents the Junior League in the agency, supported by the United Foundation.

She said the play, written by professional playwright Nora Stirling, concerns marital adjustment, child behavior problems and problems faced by individuals in their later years.

Player groups involved in the presentation are the Lithrup Players, Ridgedale Players, St. Dunstan's Guild, the Village Players, and the Royal Oak Civic Theatre.

Further information can be obtained from Paul Yutzy, staff member of the Ferndale-based agency.

Ex-Teamster Agent Guilty in Kickback

Samuel J. Marroso, 51-year-old former business agent for a Pontiac local of the Teamsters Union, was convicted yesterday of receiving a $25,000 kickback for arranging a loan from a union fund.

It was the fifth criminal conviction for Marroso, who lists his residence in Warren.

He is currently serving a three-year federal prison term for interstate transportation of $285,000 in counterfeit funds.

Marroso has been business agent for Detroit Local 247 and Pontiac Local 614 of the Teamsters.

were spending the weekend at the ranch.

But that's about as far as it went.

Jim Moyers, acting press secretary, told reporters that Luci customarily brings one or more friends with her on ranch visits.

"Nugent has been at the ranch before," he said. "Other than these facts, I cannot add anything else. I wish I could tell you something more."

DOESN'T KNOW

Asked if the young couple were engaged, he said, "I do not know."

The reports were said to have come from a long-time family friend in Austin, Tex., but White House spokesmen here and in Washington would not verify them.

All that was confirmed was that vivacious, dark-haired Luci and tall, blond Pat, a Marquette University senior, flew to the ranch together yesterday afternoon aboard an Air Force courier plane.

Pat, about 23, has been dating Luci steadily since they met early this summer through mutual friends. He is the son of Gerald P. Nugent Sr., a Waaukegan, Ill., investment counselor.

Nugent went to Luci's surprise graduation party at the White House June 1 and took her to his senior prom at Marquette University in Milwaukee three days later. Seeking a bit of personal privacy there, Luci donned a blonde wig to escape detection on a weekend with Pat and other friends.

Tragedy Hits Cuban Exodus

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Long feared tragedy has struck the small boat exodus of Cuban refugees fleeing their homeland.

An exile reaching Key West yesterday reported that four of his crew mates apparently drowned Oct. 21 after their 54-foot boat sank in the Florida Straits.

The survivor, Mario Castellanos, 39, of Newark, N.J., said he and Albio Alvarez, 32, also of Newark, floated on a raft three days without food or water before being picked up by Cuban fishermen.

"Our raft started leaking," said Castellanos. "The four men apparently panicked and jumped into the water. There is no hope that they were saved."

Meantime, five other exiles al-tempting to beat a deadline set by Prime Minister Fidel Castro on bringing relatives and friends out of Cuba, were rescued last night a few miles off Key West by the Coast Guard.

SHARK THREAT

The four, including 20-year-old Hortensia Fernandez, floated in shark infested waters in 11 ft jackets for 24 hours before being picked up.

Miss Fernandez, who with the others was hospitalized, said they 35-foot boat, experienced engine trouble Thursday shortly after entering the Florida Straits.

Heavy seas swamped the boat and sank it.

WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Ester B. Fernandez, 65, died yesterday on a boat which was three miles from Key West when it sank.

Meanwhile, the U.S. State Department said minor differences have delayed an accord with Cuba on arrangements for an airlift to bring the refugees safely to this country.

Pending the agreement, the Cuban government ordered an end to the dangerous departures by sea.

However, boats which entered the embarkation port of Camarica before the deadline of yesterday midnight will be allowed to leave for Florida with refugees.

Between 200 and 300 boats were said to be awaiting clearance at Camarica.

November Hearings

To View Liquor Laws

LANSING (AP)—The House and Senate liquor committees Friday announced they will hold nine hearings throughout the state in early November to collect suggestions for modernization of state liquor laws.

The hearing schedule: Nov. 8, Detroit; Nov. 9, Port Huron; Nov. 10, Bay City; Nov. 12, Ironwood; Nov. 16, Iron Mountain and Marquette; Nov. 17, Sault Ste. Marie; Nov. 18, Alpena; Nov. 19, Tawas City.

No Progress Seen in Arms Ban Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—A conference between Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on disarmament and related matters brought "no changes in the position of either side," State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey reported.

McCloskey told a news conference after Friday's 13-minute meeting that it had been arranged by Rusk to "continue orally some exchanges on certain matters which were discussed in New York recently."

McCloskey said the "certain matters" were "generally in the field of disarmament."

Monthly Comparison

Business Pace Up Over '64

Business activity in the Pontiac area was about the same last month as in August, but showed a significant upward swing from September 1964.

Bank debits to customer accounts dropped to $144,005,998 last month, as compared to $146,150,962 in August. In September 1964, bank debits totaled only $128,626,132.

Industrial payrolls jumped from August's $16,983,335 to $17,499,024 in September. Both compared to 232,257,200 in August and 254,084,000 in September, 1964.

Postal receipts climbed to $190,175 last month, up from both August and September, 1964.

The total number of building permits and estimated value of construction also showed gains.

GAS CONSUMPTION

Gas consumption was down to 226,220,900 cubic feet last month, 232,257,200 in August and 254,084,000 in September, 1964.

Card-Burner Jailed for Sit-In

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—David J. Miller, who gained nationwide attention last week when he claimed was his when he publicly burned his draft card, is in jail today on conviction of charges stemming from a civil rights demonstration last spring.

Miller, 22 and a native of Syracuse, was sentenced to 30 days in jail Friday on conviction in city court of unlawful intrusion on private property.

The charge resulted from his part in a sit-in sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality at the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. headquarters here in March.

CORE had charged the utility with discrimination in hiring practices. The company has denied the charges.

Miller pleaded innocent. His attorney, Faith Seldemeyer, said she plans to appeal.

Miller, the first man to be charged under a federal law prohibiting destruction of a draft card, is free on bond on that charge.

Local Jurists Serve the Community Well

It is our unalterable belief that the judiciary is one of society's strongest bulwarks against the rising incidence of lawlessness currently besetting the Nation.

Regardless of how effectively law enforcement agencies and prosecutors' staffs function, unless their endeavors are firmly supported by the courts the war on criminality is seriously hamstrung.

Accordingly, we are quick to approve the local bench for meeting out uncompromising justice to convicted criminals.

Two cases in point are the life sentence imposed by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem on the convicted murderer of a Central Michigan University coed, and the 2-15 year prison term that Circuit Judge William J. Beer decreed in the case of a defendant convicted of fatally stabbing an antagonist during a quarrel.

The Press commends the jurists on their forthright dispensation of justice.

Halloween Enchants the Kids of All Ages

Although without official status, the annual observance of Halloween, the eve of All Saints' Day, perpetuates folkways, mainly Celtic, that found expression four centuries ago.

Halloween, according to spooky legend and the lively imagination of the toddler set, brings forth a myriad assortment of goblins, ghosts and witches mounted on broomsticks (or to update it, vacuum cleaners) for an evening of supernatural high jinks.

The rowdiness and destructive pranks with which an older generation celebrated the occasion has largely given way to a merry outcropping of youthful — yes, and adult — enthusiasm marked by community parties, games and masquerades.

Halloween's most typical custom, however, deploys hordes of fearfully-disguised "trick-or-treaters" on a rollicking house-to-house quest for goodies good-naturedly doled out by householders.

When you think of it, Halloween more than any other holiday or observance belongs to the kids. To them, but also to adults who wholeheartedly enter in, we wish a happy and exciting evening's fun with overflowing bags of treats.

Uninsured Auto Tax Gives Road Equality

Effective Monday, something new is added for Michigan motorists. It is a surcharge that operators of uninsured vehicles will pay when buying 1966 license plates.

Moneys thus collected will go into a State fund out of which will be paid public liability claims against uninsured drivers.

Legislation passed last spring stipulated a $25 assessment, but the amount was amended to $35 in the legislative session just concluded.

To correct misunderstanding in some minds, the surcharge ($35) does NOT take the place of insurance.

The new licensing act further provides for a $1 fee for INSURED drivers, which will also go into the State's liability fund.

Insured drivers will be obliged to show a certificate of insurance (obtainable from the insuring agency) when applying for their 1966 plates. Such proof of insurance should be kept in vehicles at all times.

The new law, giving motorists long overdue protection against irresponsible drivers who operate uninsured vehicles is a good one, worthy the support of all who travel the highways.

We commend the legislature on its progressive action in enacting the measure and Secretary of State JAMES M. HARE on the important part he played in furthering it.

Age and Change Hope for China?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Age and changing generations in Red China are the best hope for the rest of the world that the Chinese eventually will quiet down and get off their endless belligerency kick. At best it's a hope.

It could be easily nullified if, once the Chinese have built up their own nuclear arsenal, they develop a new and fantastic sense of power, daring and impregability.

In the Kremlin's most hostile period, the 1940s; the United States began its containment policy to hem in Russia until time could work changes in the Communist world and push it in a more peaceful direction.

For 16 years the Red Chinese have used the big mouth technique, talking and urging revolution everywhere while very carefully avoiding direct conflict with Russia — except for China's role in the Korean conflict—the United States. This is realistic and understandable.

At this time the United States and Russia have the overwhelming nuclear power, enough to wreck Red China and its revolution, while the Chinese are still in the process of achieving similar nuclear power of their own.

They're at a disadvantage now and, while hostile, they've played cute. With the new weapons they've certainly will be in a position to take more risks while the United States and Russia may be more reluctant to do so.

Nevertheless, hovering over this ominous prospect, is the hope of change: change in the leadership and therefore in the thinking of Red China leaders.

The Lenins, Stalins and Trotskys were not only the children of the Russian revolution but its creators, just as Mao Tse-tung and those close around him have been in China since the 1920s.

The Lenin men were the fanatics, the revolutionaries who thought in terms of any sacrifice for the sake of the revolution. This spirit was kept alive so long as Stalin lived, and he lived until 1953.

But by then, while some of his colleagues of the early days had died, he had murdered others and many of those he had come to depend upon were of a younger generation.

While they were true Bolshevik disciples, they did not, and could not because they were of a slightly different time, have the same obsessions. They had to be concerned with problems of management and internal development.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

The Rev. John Saito, Episcopal priest from Aomori, Japan, found his faith and the power to sustain it when as a high school freshman he went to an Episcopal Mission to learn conversational English. There he found more than English, for as he says, "I felt an atmosphere. It was an atmosphere he wanted to learn more about. He asked questions and after a year of studying Christianity he was baptized."

His family were Buddhist and he had been raised in Buddhist tradition, but they accepted his decision after seeing his deep conviction.

He went to Saint Paul's Episcopal University in Tokyo, then on to seminary and was ordained. As a Christian in Japan he represents only one per cent of the total population.

Mr. Saito is in the United States for a year of graduate study at the General Theological Seminary in New York. He is sponsored by the Division of Overseas Exchange Visitors of the Episcopal Church. To do this Mr. Saito had to leave his wife and four-year-old daughter in Japan. This is only one of the many obstacles he has faced to achieve his goal.

With his knowledge of the traditions of Buddhism he says, "I hope to bring about a better understanding between Christians and Buddhists in my country."

Finding the Way:

Accept Present Responsibilities

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

When the American poet, Emily Dickinson, was a little girl, her father took her for a walk across the New England meadows. He pointed to the outcropping of the rocks and indicated their long history of formation. He gestured toward the hills, speaking of their antiquity.

He was giving his daughter an understanding of the heritage of the years in the creation of this landscape. "What's new here?" he asked. To which little Emily quickly replied, "I am."

In the enormity of world problems and local dilemmas it's important that we keep this sense of the personal presence and responsibility. If the fight against poverty, ignorance, evil, hatred or crime seems as ancient as the hills, it's still imperative that some of us answer that we're around.

These problems seem so gargantuan that it's easy to take the advice of those commercials that tell us to "take a (pill) if you're upset." Sedatives are important but just now we need some people who are upset enough to involve themselves in the problem.

The appeal in most of our communities for the needs of social agencies is but one illustration of the problem. With the federal government pouring millions of dollars into the anti-poverty struggle, many citizens are liable to think that the job is done. Yet citizen voluntarism and personal participation were never more needed.

The very bill which set up the complicated federal machinery talks of "maximum feasible participation." It refers to the whole citizenry, breaking through the artificial barriers. If citizens don't participate, local involvement — and therefore the whole program — fails.

The point to all of this is simply that there's truth in the comment of both father and daughter Dickinson. There's virtue in understanding the additional virtue in understanding the importance of the present and accepting responsibility for it.

It's too easy to get lost in vague generalities, denying them by our actions. Like the man who said, "I love humanity; it's people that bug me."

Our love of humanity needs to be tested every day in the struggles of the whole of our community.

The local agencies of our various communities can use all that we give them and the problem won't be solved. It will constitute a giant step.

An old man in Tennessee, explaining his 118 years, says he "just goes along." He's traveling a busy road.

When driving, never weave from curb to curb. It makes it hard for the motorcycle cop behind you to get by.

Nobody really knows what a punch in the eye feels like until they get one.

The federal government can encourage men and women in each community to develop personal initiative and yet that won't entirely solve the situation.

There is the continuing need of seeing the possibility of continuing the struggle despite the long-placid history of prejudice, hatred and fear which on many occasions has stripped the community which can respond with its resources and commitment of its energies. It echoes Emily's defiant statement, "I'm new here."

Washington Notebook:

Governor Meets 'Butter Keeper'

By WASHINGTON STAFF
WASHINGTON (NEA) — At a recent Republican meeting on Mackinac Island, Mich., Rhode Island Gov. John Chafee departed for home before his colleague, Gov. John Love of Colorado arrived. Chafee left a message for him:

"Tell John I used the butter story."

Weeks later, speaking in Washington, Love asked whether Chafee had preceded him this time and had used the "butter story." The answer was no, so Love launched into it.

He attended a dinner where the main course did not appeal to him, so he decided to make do with rolls, butter and a glass of milk. Quickly he used up his butter supply, and asked the waitress for more. "No," she said.

"Why can't I have more?" Love asked.

"It's against the rules here," she answered.

Voice of the People:

Reader Urges Support of Our Boys in Viet Nam

I wonder how many people realize what our soldiers in Viet Nam are really doing? Don't you know that they are fighting and dying to preserve our democracy and freedom, to assure themselves that they will have this freedom in the future as well as their future families and generations? They are fighting for you, for me, for everyone. They love America so much that they are willing to give the supreme sacrifice of their own lives to safeguard us from the evil dangers of communism.

Why do we discourage them so? Take a look at all the people who cause disturbances in protesting against the American policies in Viet Nam. If Viet Nam were left to the Communists they know that they could take almost every other country besides America, for they know that people over here would be protesting against the American policy. Already 60 per cent of the world's population is under the Communists. We must give our soldiers the support they need.

And a big "thank you" to the young men who tore up their draft cards, as well as the young and old who openly show their criticism of the American policy. It would have been simply the same thing if the Communist world announced "Thank you for your support, loyal Americans!"

Comments on Nursing Personnel Shortage

There is a deplorable shortage of nursing attendants at the Pontiac State Hospital. A published incident was the second beating of an attendant within 30 days and there are no applications for employment. The booming economy robs us of highly efficient employees of many years seniority. Those left are spread too thin.

You, the public, are in part responsible for the demands of society for better and more mental health programs. It is all too apparent now that no thought is given to the dedicated employees who have to care for the patients. They're being overworked when they can cross into private industry for more and draw on unemployment compensation. We plead for public action so we may become a part of the Great Society.

Supports Federal Aid for Nonpublic Schools

In answer to American Civil Liberties Union lawsuit challenging Michigan's new School Auxiliary Services Law which provides noninstructional services to parochial and private schools, since the day the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock religious denominations have built missions and this Nation has been obligated to them all for the high moral standards we as Americans now enjoy.

As there is no division of faith in an emergency, so should there be no division of purpose in times of peace. Therefore, I support federal aid to nonpublic schools; not as a Catholic, Protestant or Jew, but as a fellow American.

Says Democracy Is Weapon of Demagoguery

Today, Democracy is a weapon of demagoguery and a perennial fraud. I think that a constitutional republic is the best of all forms of government man has yet devised. Our founding fathers thought so too.

Let us remind ourselves anew when we pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands. This is a republic, not a democracy. Let's keep it that way.

The governor grew annoyed. "Do you know who I am?" he called Lifetime Sports Foundation.

When he said no, he said: "I'm the governor of Colorado."

"Undaunted, the waitress shot back: 'Do you know who I am?'"

When the startled Love said no, she announced: "I'm the keeper of the butter!"

In his days as a Rhodes scholar at Oxford University, Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach was noted as a goalie on the football's hockey team.

The 6-foot-2, 215-pounder has been taking a good-natured ribbing about this from his friends ever since.

"There have been several tries as to why he played a goalie," said one recently. "The ice then was just as thin as it is today and, of course, his bulk came in handy for blocking shots."

"But a classmate of his told me the real reason: Nick just couldn't skate fast enough to play anywhere else."

Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach and 1964 U.S. Senate nominee from that state, heads a physical fitness outfit called Lifetime Sports Foundation.

Attending a recent convention on athletics, he received the usual identifying badge for his label. Thereafter he found his friends greeting him with broad smiles and even occasional laughter.

He took a look at his badge and discovered that a convention clerk had typed out: "Bud Wilkinson, Lifetime Sport."

In his richest vein as a kind of broken-down Shakespearean actor, Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois paid tribute to Lawrence O'Brien at a press party for the in-bound postmaster general.

Making clear he wants some commemorative stamps and a some new post offices for Illinois, the organ-tongued Dirksen indicated he'd be pretty shameless in his approach:

"Lawrence, I'll fawn on you, I'll cooie you... I'll genuflect, because, frankly, I need a lot of bricks and mortar out there."

"I love you, I worship you as a brother — because you're the postmaster general!"

Simple Rule Offered for Further or Farther

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 18th in a 30-part series entitled "The Word Power to Success." The series is designed to help bring improvement in spelling, grammar and vocabulary.)

It is difficult to think of an easier rule in the whole of the English language than the rule for using further and farther. It is just as difficult to think of a rule that is violated more frequently.

There is not the slightest problem at all in deciding between these two words. Simply keep one thought in mind: If you are talking about distance, always use farther; in all other cases use further.

If there's further insistence. We use the word further instead of farther because we are not talking about distance. Farther simply means "greater degree." Another way of saying that opening line of the rhyme is this: "If there is a greater degree of insistence."

Take this sentence, for example: "The news of the earthquake further disturbed mother." What does it mean? It means that mother was already disturbed, but the news of the earthquake disturbed her to a greater degree. And similarly with such expressions as, "Things became further complicated," "I was made further embarrassed."

Farther, on the other hand, is used only in connection with distance. Though not very many people practice the rule, we should say, "It is farther from here to Pittsburgh than from here to Nashville."

TWO SEPARATE WORDS

Farther and further are two separate words of our language and have two separate meanings. Most of us mean further do double duty, and some people will go through life and never once use the word farther.

Simply remember this: If you are speaking of distance, use farther; otherwise, use further. Between us two, among us three,

The number here affords the key.

When to use between and when to use among? The answer is probably even simpler than the rule for using further and farther. If two people share a secret, then there is a secret between them.

The moment the number increases, then you must use among — no matter how strange it sounds. And this means that gossips are maybe even worse grammarians than reporters of scandal when they say, "Now girls, this news has to remain just between the three of us."

AMONG MEMBERS

There may be disagreement among the members of NATO, but there is a Cold War between the Communist world and the non-Communist world.

In the annual All-Star game between the American and National Leagues there is tremendous competition among the players to be named to the squads.

And that is the sum and substance of that rule. "The number here affords the key."

A QUIZ

The following is a brief quiz covering the points we have made in the past few columns. Simply choose the proper words within the parentheses. The answers are printed at the end of the column.

1. I was unable to appear, so Zilch spoke (on my behalf, in my behalf).
2. (Can, May) I have one of these free movie passes, please?
3. Every one of the coaches (have, has) (his, their) own system.
4. There is no jealousy (between, among) my two brothers and me.
5. We drove (further, farther) tonight than last night.

ANSWERS

1. I was unable to appear, so Zilch spoke on my behalf.
2. May I have one of these free movie passes?
3. Every one of the coaches has his own system.
4. There is no jealousy among my two brothers and me.

Fire Hits Hollywood Movie Set

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Flames raced through movie sets at two Hollywood studios Tuesday night, driving 1,300 guests from tables at an outdoor banquet.

Flame stars Steve McQueen, Elke Sommer, Martha Hyer and Rory Calhoun were among the diners who fled as the fire suddenly flared up at the end of a simulated Western street. No one was injured.

Eighty firemen fought the blaze for half an hour before it was brought under control. A fire official estimated damage at the two studios — Paramount and Desilu — at more than $200,000. The cause is unknown.

Delegates to the National Theater Owners of America convention, who were gathered in Los Angeles for the occasion, were issued down to a barbecue dinner on the set of a forthcoming Paramount Western when the flames erupted up at the fence separating Desilu from Paramount.

COLUMN OF FIRE

Said Welden Linmouth, of Mobile, Ala., a delegate to the theater owners' convention: "All of a sudden, a big column of fire boiled up in the air. At first, I thought it was just something added just to put a little zest into the party. Then I realized it was real."

"We all fled out quickly. There was no panic," said Linmouth. "Flames rose 200 feet in the air as the fire raced through false-front Western buildings at Paramount and through stored scenery and staging at Desilu. Power lines burned, plunging much of the area into darkness — except for the light of flames and firemen's trucks."

SAFER STORAGE

Paramount officials ordered stored film, some of it the only copies of scenes which had cost millions to photograph, to be moved to safer storage. Studio firemen said Los Angeles city crews in battling the blaze.

A crowd estimated at from 5,000 to 6,000 persons, attracted by the glow in the sky, watched the fire from adjacent Hollywood streets.

Rescue Squad Hunts

Mexico Blast Victims

CUATZACOATL, Mexico (UPI) — Rescue squads today plodded through "a boiling lake" searching for possible victims of an explosion that ripped out the midsection of a natural gas pipeline in the southeastern state of Tabasco. Unofficial estimates of the number dead ranged up to 10 but officials in Cuatzacoatl said they had been able to confirm the death of only one person, a 10-year-old boy. Sixteen other persons were hospitalized with burns and at least ten persons were reported missing.

Gunfire Injures 3;

Pursue Gang Motive

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP) — Three men were injured critically early today by shotgun blasts in what police said appeared to be another in a 19-month series of gangland shootings that has claimed 24 lives in the Boston area.

Injured and listed in very poor condition after surgery were James (Buddy) McLean, 35, of Somerville; Rico Sacramento, 28, of Everett; and Anthony DeAugustino, 37, of East Boston.

News in Brief

Consumer Power Co. reported to Pontiac police yesterday the theft of 1,300 pounds of copper wire valued at $375 from a company warehouse at 55 Western.

MSU Group Wants Blood Sent to N. Viet

EAST LANSING (AP) — A student group at Michigan State University has called for sending blood to North Viet Nam because "something should be done for atrocity victims on both sides" in the Viet Nam war.

Henry Blackledge, president of the MSU Humanist Society, said he had written the International Red Cross at Geneva, Switzerland, proposing that it send a unit to MSU to accept donations for the Hanoi government.

"The question is not whether the United States is at fault," he said. "This proposal was made in the name of humanitarianism."

Blackledge said "bleed-in" campaigns at other campuses would aid the South Vietnamese side in the war.

GROUP UNCERTAIN

He said the society did not know whether its proposal was possible and would drop it if the idea were considered treasonable.

The society also sponsored a meeting Thursday night to discuss possible formation of an anti-drug league at MSU. About 50 persons attended.

Her Welfare Was in Mind

CHATTAHOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Erlanger Hospital Administrator Harold Peterson says he has lost an employee in the housekeeping department.

He said the hospital paid the woman $105 per month, then raised her salary $10 in an effort to keep her.

"But she left us for $125 a month welfare," Peterson said.

Detroit Factory Burns

DETROIT (AP) — The Phoenix Wire Works factory, a two-story structure on Detroit's East Side was destroyed today by fire of undetermined origin. No injuries were reported. The first of five alarms was turned in at 4 a.m.

Smog in LA Stays 4th Day

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What happens to a city breathing smog?

On the fourth consecutive day of heavy smog and the 10th straight day of over-90 temperatures, Los Angeles Friday reacted this way:

Doctors in the outpatient clinic at Children's Hospital reported an increase in patients with chronic respiratory diseases.

A nurse on an upper floor said her young patients were unusually cranky.

POLICE SICK

Police Lt. Jasper Clark, 44, commander of downtown traffic control, said more officers than usual had fallen ill.

"The boys in the street are pretty miserable," Clark said. "Combine smog with heat and you can expect some human suffering."

Attendance at harness races at Hollywood Park was down 10 per cent. A spokesman said the hottest times were slower.

In suburban Brentwood, barber Murray Glina, 51, said business was down 50 per cent.

CUSTOMERS CRY

"It's terrible. I can't sleep or eat without wheezing. My politicians are crying. If the politicians don't figure out how to clear it up, I am going back to Boston," Glina said.

The smog attack set tempers flaring on the political front, as Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty and Gov. Edmund G. Brown argued over who was to blame.

"I'm convinced," said Yorty, "that if you want nothing done, you have the state do it."

The governor replied that it was the first time Yorty has shown much interest in the state's fight against smog. The state has required new autos, and used cars resold, to be equipped with antismog crankcase-breather devices.

MORE ON WAY

More smog was predicted for today. The Los Angeles County Air Pollution Control District blamed the attack on lack of winds, which normally blow smog away before it becomes heavily concentrated.

The smog hit all sections of the vast Los Angeles coastal plain.

UNICEF Gets 'Treats'

By Esther Van Wagener Tuffy
To perhaps far more children in Washington area, than elsewhere in the United States, Halloween means giving up their own chances for candy and other goodies and instead turning trick-or-treat night into a collection drive for UNICEF, the United Nations children's fund.

The pennies, nickels and dimes they gather add up nationally to $2 million a year which goes to feed and clothe less fortunate youngsters all over the world.

Here it's remembered that it was Herbert Hoover who first suggested the idea of UNICEF and how pleased he would have been that the Nobel committee has awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for this year to UNICEF, the organization with a $4,500 trick-or-treat gift.

Some right-wing groups don't like UNICEF because it does not discriminate against the children of Communist countries in deciding whom to help. Their members pass out propaganda cards instead of gifts to the boys and girls who ring their doorbells.

Somewhat, the former President Hoover, we believe, would think hungry children should be fed regardless of politics.

Former Vice President Richard Nixon and former Sen. Barry Goldwater will be the two speakers at the Western States Regional Conference of the Western states Republican women Nov. 4 in Albuquerque, N. M.

At the Zambia Embassy the other evening, a few women broke the old convention and joined the men who gathered to eat the three-part native dish at the African republic's first anniversary of its independence as a former British colony then called Northern Rhodesia.

The dish consists of a meal, rather like American hominy, a vegetable (either spin-ach or pumpkin leaves) and meat.

The talk... discreet... swung around the crisis in South Rhodesia, neighbor of Zambia, where the independence demanded outside or inside the British Commonwealth promises violence.

A more pleasant topic of conversation was put forth by Ambassador Hosea Josias Soko.

He said the man-in-the-street campaign to raise funds for a new university was so successful the institution is to open its doors in March. "The future lies in our university" said the ambassador, who is the father of four.

Invitations were issued to a "Tattoo" by the ambassadors of the British Commonwealth countries this weekend.

The Tattoo is a British military spectacle which includes the Scots Guard, the Royal Scots Greys, Royal Marine bands and a Commando Motorcycle Display quad.

A special attraction was the mock battle between the motorcycle squad and the Aston Martin automobile constructed for James Bond in "Goldfinger."

This is a charity event benefiting St. John's Child Development Center, an integrated non-profit organization for mentally retarded children whose needs cannot be met by the public schools.

Mrs. Robert McNamara, wife of the secretary of defense, has called on Democratic women to enhance the gains of Project Head Start by putting a book in the hands of every schoolchild in the nation's capital.

4 Accidents Claim Total of 26 Persons

By The Associated Press

Twenty-six persons were killed and three others were injured in four auto accidents Friday night and early today, police reported.

At Carthage, Tex., Friday night two cars rammed together on U.S. 59 and swiftly burned, killing six adults and three children.

At Emmitsburg, Md., eight persons were killed and two injured early today in a two-car crash near the intersection of U.S. 15 and Maryland Route 97 just south of the Pennsylvania state line.

All were identified as young male students at Mt. St. Mary's College.

At Pomona, Calif., Friday night, five Pomona teen-agers were killed en route to a football game when their convertible veered out of control and turned over.

The driver, held in by a seat belt, was injured.

At Stratton, Maine, Friday night four men drowned. Their car missed a curve and plunged upside down into six feet of water in the South Branch of the Dead River.

TV Female Getting 'Honey West' Image

By BOB THOMAS
Ap Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Honey West may change all that nonsense that a woman's place is in the home. She's the swiftest gal in television.

The television female, usually restricted to apron-wearing matrons or sunny Miss Fifties, is getting a new image in the admirable form of Anne Francis. As the star of ABC's "Honey West," she serves up judo chops instead of light Suppers.

The show has come in for its own share of lumps, some critics finding the plots wildly improbable, with action, intrigue and drama crammed into a too-fast 26 minutes. But the series appears to be holding its own against the potent "Gomer Pyle" in the ratings.

Miss Francis, a 33-year veteran of the film studios, thinks "Honey West" has a lot going for it, as the popular trade expression goes.

LOTS OF LADIES
There must be a lot of ladies in the audience who would like to slug their husbands," she reasons, "and they can get a vicarious thrill watching me chopping them—I've had fights in every show so far."

"We also stress the glamour side, and I think husbands like that. Teen-agers and girls can identify with a girl who leads an adventurous life. And usually get beaten up in the stories."

County Girl Runner-Up 'Miss Teen' Well-Liked Baton Twirler

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A "ghaired males or draft card burners. She felt there was room for off-beat individualism within her generation, though — "It's all a part of growing up."

"She's the sweetest of the whole lot," said Colette's escort, Mary Windsor, one of the singing cadets of Texas A&M University. "I knew she had it all the time. She's genuine and mature for her age and she always kept up the spirits of the other girls."

SECRET POLL
Nearly all of the 59 other contestants in the week-long pageant were pulling for Colette, their favorite in a secret poll Friday.

Poised and personable, Colette drew gasps from the audience with her fiery baton twirling dance. The flames whirled close to her swinging dark brown hair and bangs — she had to shorten her haircut earlier this week because the ends were singed.

For the last five years, Colette, her sister Denise, 13, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daithe have taken vacations together, touring twirling camps in the nation.

Residents Fare Well on Entertainment Diet
AURORA, W.Va., (AP) — Residents of this small mountain town should have their fill of the theater this season. Aurora High School drama students just finished a production of "Something's Cooking." Next on the bill of fare: "Beef Stew."

WINS SCHOLARSHIP
Colette plans to use her $10,000 scholarship to study languages at Syracuse University, become an interpreter and travel.

"I hope I can exemplify what teen-agers are — a bunch of good kids," she said, admitting she didn't much care for shag.

N-Blast 'Near Perfect'

AMCHITKA ISLAND, Alaska (AP) — A thermonuclear device packing the power of 80,000 tons of TNT was detonated far under the bleak, flat surface of Amchitka Friday in a shot scientists called "near perfect."

The atomic shot, with four times the power of the nuclear bombs which devastated Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II, was designed to test the United States' ability to distinguish between earth waves caused by natural seismic disturbances and those generated by underground atomic blasts.

The United States invited all nations with seismological stations, including the Soviet Union, to record the earth waves generated by the shot, and promised that all data compiled from the test would be made available on request.

Col. Donald I. Prickett, test manager for the underground detonation, carrying the code name of Project Long Shot, was jubilant.

"I don't think even an atom got out," Prickett said. "It was near perfect."

The thermonuclear device, buried 2,300 feet in the volcanic rock of which this island is composed, caused a shock described by Lt. Col. Ben Grote, deputy test manager for the Department of Defense, as a sharp, brief jolt.

New Protests Called in Dixie

Federal Registrars Are Headed for 12 More Southern Counties

By the Associated Press

New street demonstrations have been called for in certain areas of the south where civil rights workers have been slain.

The action was taken at a meeting of representatives of several civil rights and religious organizations in Selma, Ala., Friday.

It came on the same day Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach ordered federal registrars into 12 more Southern counties in an effort to step up implementation of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

The Rev. Andrew Young, executive secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the estimated 100 to 150 persons attending the three-hour meeting in Selma voted overwhelmingly for more demonstrations.

PUT AN END

"There was overwhelming agreement that something had to be done to put an end to the murder and brutality that reigns in the South and ultimately the people will have to work this out," he said.

Young said targets of the street marches would be areas where they believe accused slayers of civil rights workers have not been brought to justice.

The Rev. Henry Stines, a white minister representing the Atlanta office of the Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity, put it this way:

"The consensus of this meeting was that the time has come for the good forces in the nation, black and white, to go out in massive demonstrations in Hayneville, Selma, and Birmingham, Ala., in Mississippi, and in all those places where civil rights workers have been murdered."

FINAL DECISION

Young said a final decision on the time and the place of the demonstrations would have to come from Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, president of SCLC.

King did not attend the Selma meeting. He was at Eastchester, N.Y., addressing a fund raising dinner for Abbot House, a children's welfare organization.

Negro life in ghettos is crumbling and disintegrating so badly it could negate all the good done by civil rights efforts, he said.

A group of Negro sawmill workers which blocked a similar march Thursday did not appear. The small northeast Georgia town appeared almost deserted.

Spokesmen for the Lincoln County Negroes said the demonstrations were accomplishing nothing and that an SCLC-sponsored school boycott should be ended.

Panel to Decide if Actress Took Her Own Life

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Whether Actress Marie McDonald died accidentally or took her own life will be left up to a team of psychiatrists, the coroner's office reports.

Miss McDonald, 42, once known in Hollywood as "the Body," was found dead in her San Fernando Valley home Oct. 21.

Dr. Kenneth Chapman, chief autopsy surgeon, said tests show she died from "active drug intoxication due to multiple drugs." He said they could have been taken accidentally or as a suicide.

At the time of her death, friends said she often took drugs to kill the pain of an ulcer.

Three Found Dead in Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Two Grand Rapids residents and a Chicago man were found dead Friday, victims of carbon monoxide poisoning, in a car park on a street in southwest Grand Rapids.

Dr. Bernard Kosi, medical examiner, ruled on the cause of death.

Police identified the victims as Mrs. Rachel L. Dougherty, 41, and Charles Noah, 29, both of Grand Rapids, and Walter K. Borders, 35, of Chicago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal registrars in South Carolina, said Gov. Robert McNair.

"This action is an exercise of raw power," said U.S. Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. "It is an abuse of discretion by the administration in a program to perpetuate itself in office."

NOT WANTED

Thurmond said in a statement the registrars are "not wanted, not needed and not welcome in any county" in South Carolina.

"We regret the attorney general is taking this position because there is no need for federal registrars in South Carolina," he said.

ized to meet demands which in many cases were unreasonable and unwarranted."

OTHER COUNTIES

In addition to the two South Carolina counties, Katzenbach sent registrars to these other counties:

Mississippi — Jefferson, Neshoba, Hinds, De Soto, Holmes and Walthall. Jackson, the state capital and scene of civil rights activity, is in Hinds County.

Alabama — Elmore, Autauga and Greene.

Louisiana — West Feliciana Parish.

IMMEDIATE START

Chairman John W. Macy of the Civil Service Commission said the registrars will set up offices in the 12 counties next week and begin listing voters immediately.

The new orders boosted to 32 the number of counties where special registrars have been sent since the Voting Rights Act was signed Aug. 6.

Previously they had been ordered to nine counties in Mississippi, seven in Alabama and four in Louisiana. They have listed 56,110 Negroes in those counties as eligible to vote.

Complaints have been made by some civil rights groups that the attorney general was not moving fast enough or in registrars must take the necessary steps to meet his new demand promptly."

"Where masses of unregistered citizens are seeking to register for the first time, local registrars must take the necessary steps to meet his new demand promptly."

Washington's in Whirl With Gay Party Plans

By HELEN THOMAS
United Press International
WASHINGTON — Washington's fall social season is in full swing — despite the dimming of the White House party lights.

President Johnson's gall bladder surgery and convalescence through the Christmas holidays has put a crimp in the White House social pace. But members of his "Great Society" are on the party circuit every night.

Besides, some of the younger ambassadors and their chaperones on embassy row are trying to outdo each other in giving glamorous parties for the "In" group.

On the diplomatic front, there has been no lessening of the perpetual social life. It will be highlighted Nov. 10 when "Who's Who in Washington" turns out for the International Ball. Killer Joe Piro, who taught the Frug to the jet set, will be putting on a show.

But the blackout at the White House is only temporary. President and Mrs. Johnson will fly back from the LBJ Ranch to stage a gay dinner-dance for British Princess Margaret and Lord Snowden.

Because royal "Meg" loves to dance and so does Luci Barnes Johnson, 37, the White House guest list will sparkle with younger names.

Because Lord Snowden was a photographer, White House may be quipping that he might be allowed to be in a photographic "pool" to take pictures of the President.

Incidentally, in December, 1963, Johnson laid down an edict for this staff: "Stay away from the cocktail circuit."

"But it doesn't seem to apply to some of his aides such as Jack Valenti and his beautiful blonde wife Mary Margaret or others. They are popular and in demand as guests the "In" hostess must have at her parties.

Chief of protocol Lloyd Hand and his wife Ann also are making the party rounds constantly, mostly in the line of business.

The new White House housekeeper — Mrs. Mary Kaltman says she is "fascinated" with her job, but still in awe of it. She says it will take time to learn the ropes.

Watch 'Friend' Who Talks Unkindly About Mate's Gifts

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband has always brought me gifts of clothing. Clarence knows my dress size, shoe size, glove size, and my most becoming hats have been gifts from him.
I think he has excellent taste, and whenever anyone compliments me on my clothes, I proudly say, "Clarence bought it for me."

ABBY

Recently a good friend of mine said that men who bought their wives wearing apparel were really ashamed of them and tried to make them look better. She said that men married to beautiful women weren't aware that they needed anything.

I thought it over, and had to admit that the wives whose husbands bought them wearing apparel weren't exactly beauties. What do you think, Abby? Maybe some other women would like to comment?

PLAIN JANE

DEAR JANE: Men who buy their wives gifts of wearing apparel do so because they know that nothing delights a woman more.

You may be Plain Jane, but your "friend" is Plain Jealous.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 years old and am happily married to a wonderful man. We both want children very much but we cannot have them. (My fault)
Since we can't have children of our own, we would like to adopt one or two. Our problem is when I was 16 I had a baby out of wedlock at a home for unwed mothers. I gave it up for adoption.
It was at this home that I learned how strict the adoption agencies were about choosing parents for their babies. Only those with the best character could get a child.
If my husband and I qualified in every other way, would be disqualified because of what happened in my past?

WANTS A FAMILY

DEAR WANTS: This would depend on the agency. Some agencies do not regard an incident that took place when a girl was 16 as a character blemish if she managed to make a constructive life for herself thereafter.

DEAR ABBY: About the lady who signed herself "ANNNOYED" because her husband stopped at the same restaurant so many times during the day for "coffee."

I had the same problem with my husband. Only I found out it wasn't the coffee-maker who drew him. It was the book-maker. Have you ever heard of a coffee-colored horse?

ALSO ANNOYED
DEAR ALSO: Yes. And it's pronounced "pal-o-mino." Although it's obviously no pal-oyours, either.

DEAR ABBY: The people who wrote in complaining about snoring mates don't know how lucky they are. All my life I've dreamed about having a man sleeping next to me. So what if he snores? Just as long as he's there — and breathing.

"OLD MAID"

When Vows Are Taken in Home

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My daughter is going to be married here at home. Will you please tell me how the bridal party enters the room in which the ceremony is to take place.
Do the bride and groom enter together? Also, is there a recessional after the ceremony?

A: At a house wedding, the procession usually starts from the top of the stairs, or if there is no stairway, it starts in the foyer or bedroom hall.

The ushers come in two and two, followed by the bridesmaids, exactly as in a church, the bride coming last on her father's arm.

The clergyman and the groom and best man, if possible, approach the altar by another door.

If the room has only one door, they go up the aisle a few moments before the bridal procession starts. After the ceremony, there is no recessional.

The clergyman withdraws, an usher removes the prayer bench, if there is one, and the bride and groom merely turn where they stand and receive the congratulations of the guests, unless, of course, the house is so big that they receive in another room.

NAPKIN ON THE TABLE

Q: May a guest lay his dinner napkin down on the table as soon as he has finished eating, or must it remain in his lap until the hostess lays her napkin down?

A: At a dinner party, the hostess lays her napkin on the table as a signal that the meal is over, and the guests then lay their napkins on the table — not before.

Someone told me the latter is correct. I never before heard of this and would like to know if it is true?

A: At a dinner party, the hostess lays her napkin on the table as a signal that the meal is over, and the guests then lay their napkins on the table — not before.

AT HOME CARDS

Q: I received a wedding announcement with a card enclosed, reading, "At home after the first of November." Will you please tell me the purpose of such a card?

A: The purpose of "at home" cards is to inform friends and relatives of the couple's new address.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Trial Will Begin Next Week in Holdup, Killings

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — A college football hero accused of the slaying of three persons in a small town bank holdup goes on trial Monday, his life at stake and his sanity an issue.

U. S. District Court Judge Robert Van Pelt, a slight, white-haired Nebraskan, is to convene court at 10 a.m. EDT in the case of Duane Earl Pope.

Pope, a rangy 22-year-old from rural Roxbury, Kan., has pleaded innocent to charges of killing three persons and seriously wounding a fourth in the $1,500 robbery of the Farmers State Bank at Little Big Springs, Neb., last June 4.

The killer forced the bank president, his nephew and two other employees to lie face down on the bank floor. Then he shot each person once with a silencer-equipped gun and walked out with the loot in a briefcase. Only the nephew survived.

County Road Workers Negotiate Raise

Hourly rated employees of the Oakland County Road Commission last night ratified a one-year contract for increased wages and additional fringe benefits.

The contract between the Road Commission and the union, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 92, AFL-CIO, was signed yesterday afternoon by officials.

The union represents about 300 of the 440 employees at the increased salaries and benefits. Another $75,000 will be needed to cover the hike among the administrative staff.

The agreement was reached following negotiations which began Sept. 22.

Provisions of the contract include a 20-cent across-the-board wage increase, shift differential, additional holiday time, fully paid hospitalization, and a promotional and seniority procedure program.

The contract also guarantees a nine-hour work day for seven months with the ninth hour at time and one-half.

Significance of a Symbol

To many people, a corporate symbol has very little significance beyond the visual identification it represents. Yet, as in the case of First Federal's new symbol, it has many meanings inherent in the design of its various elements.

The numeral "1" in First Federal's symbol embodies many things. It represents the fact that First Federal of Oakland was the first federal savings and loan institution in Oakland County.

The eagle, of course, symbolizes not only the fact that First Federal savers are insured by an agency of the federal government, but that they are protected by federal regulations under which First Federal operates. Further, the eagle with outspread wings is symbolic of the protection First Federal itself provides for its customers through prudent management and conservative business policies.

Good symbols are, in truth, more than mere artistic designs. They reflect the spirit and the character of the organizations they represent . . . the basic business philosophy that motivates them in all their activities. First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland is proud of its new symbol . . . and all that it reflects. It is a mark of the strength, security, and integrity which has characterized First Federal throughout more than 31 years of service in Oakland County.

Enjoying a brief sabbatical from the world of high fashion, Mrs. Maurice Barnett continues to express her creative flair and love of beauty by decorating her new home.

Found in the Fox Hills subdivision on Rolling Bark Drive, the Sullivan-Smith tri-level reflects a contemporary approach.

A step down from the central foyer, the living room features a monochromatic beige wall, carpeting and drapery background.

"Actually," said Mrs. Barnett, "we bought this house because I fell in love with the living room."

"It was such a perfect place to display my uncle's etchings."

Grouped on the room's walls is Mrs. Barnett's collection of Arthur W. Heintzelman originals including a study of the late Albert Schweitzer.

Twin walnut and cane chairs with striped back and seat cushions of copper, gold, black and green flank the floor-to-ceiling fireplace.

On the walnut triangular table separating the chairs are Steuben pieces and a floral arrangement.

Serving the black wool sofa is an oiled-walnut coffee table. Brown teasel in a black wrought-iron container centers the table.

Color spice is introduced by the single green-gold candle in a black cathedral candlestick on the foyer step.

Off the family room hall on the lower level is the Barnetts' guest room.

Orange accents in the bedspread, the walnut-framed chair and the mosaic end table highlight the room's ivory walls and beige tweed carpeting.

Furniture pieces are in limed oak.

"Our son-in-law calls it our motel room," said Mrs. Barnett with a chuckle. "And Father Schroeder, a close friend, told us, 'the only thing missing is a Gideon Bible.'"

FRENCH CHARM: The delightful appearance of this three-bedroom French Provincial can be traced back to the early 17th century, when architect Francois Mansart designed a two-slope roof that would permit flat, high-ceilinged rooms on the second floor.

G-8 STATISTICS
 Design G-8 has a livable kitchen, family room, bath, foyer, rear porch, dining room, and two-car garage on the first floor; three bedrooms, an unusually large bathroom, dressing room and porch on the second floor. There are 1090 square feet of living area on the first floor, excluding the garage and porches. The second floor has 961 square feet of habitable area, excluding the porches and storage room. Over-all dimensions, including the garage, are 58' 10" by 37' 7".

Pick Furnace to Fit Climate
 Furnaces going into today's new homes are not selected on a hit-or-miss basis, but are carefully chosen to meet varying climate conditions.
 "Contractors, before installing a furnace, must take into consideration the area of the country and even the side of the street on which the home is located," according to Curt Hoerig, vice president of Worthington Air Conditioning Company's Climatrol operations.
 "The trend today is toward furnaces that supply both warm and cool air depending, of course, on the season. Homes located in the south, for example, require a greater air-moving capacity because of heavier air conditioning loads."
 A furnace in the northern section of the country is designed for higher heating capacity and lower air conditioning use. Therefore, it requires a different type of blower and furnace motor.
 Homes in the southwest usually utilize a more compactly designed furnace, such as a horizontal type, that can be placed into a crawl space or small attic.
 "Because of heating and cooling variables across the country, Worthington makes 131 different furnace models and 40 types of air conditioning units, plus combinations, in order to meet the exacting demands of new homes," Hoerig said.

Siding Reduces Time on Ladder
 No need to teeter on a ladder at clean-up time if you have low maintenance mineral fiber siding on your house.
 Because the siding is coated with a touch acrylic plastic, it is impervious to dirt.
 Usually a simple washing down with a garden hose and a long-handled brush gets rid of accumulated dust and grime and restores the finish and baked-in color.

FLOOR PLANS: Spaciousness is the keynote of this room layout; especially note the long living room, the length of the combined kitchen-family room, the giant upstairs bath and the features of the master bedroom suite.

Second floor plan
 58' 10" x 37' 7"
 Includes: PORCH, STORAGE, DRESSING ROOM, MASTER BEDROOM 1 (12' 4" x 12'), FIREPLACE, DEN AREA (12' 4" x 7'), FRENCH DOORS, BATH, HALL, BEDROOM 2 (12' 4" x 9' 6"), BEDROOM 3 (12' 4" x 9' 6").

First floor plan
 Includes: TWO CAR GARAGE, FRENCH DOORS, LIVING ROOM (13' 4" x 24'), KITCHEN (13' 4" x 12' 6"), DINING ROOM (13' 4" x 11'), FOYER, BREAKFAST ROOM, BATH, HALL, CLOSET, OUTDOOR STORAGE, FIREPLACE.

French Provincial Has Modern Touch

The newest House of the Week, an elegant French Provincial, has a roof design originally created to avoid the payment of high taxes!

But the roof's practical advantage of permitting larger, higher-ceilinged second-floor rooms has kept it popular through the centuries, with many variations making their appearance in this country.

Back in the 1600's, in France, two-story houses were taxed at a high rate.

In order to get a lower rate for their clients, French architects built many one and a-half story houses, with resultant cramped upstairs rooms of the garret type.

One architect, Francois Mansart, found a loophole in the regulations that enabled his customers to avoid the high tax rate and yet have spacious quarters on the second floor.

ROOF EAVES
 By keeping the roof eaves just above the first-floor windows, as specified by law, he was able to have his houses classified as one and a-half stories.

But by redesigning the roof with two slopes, the lower one very steep, he was able to offer much more living space on the upper floor.

This type of roof is now known as a mansard, the "s" at the end of the French architect's name having been changed to a "d" somewhere along the line.

Besides the mansard roof, many other exterior details of our house this week are authentic French, among them stone set in the corner brickwork, eyebrow dormers, full-length shutters with panels below the windows, casement sash, chimney pots and plant urns at the front entrance.

By locating the garage doors at the side, the garage appears from the front as an additional living area.

On the inside, architect Rudolph A. Matern has intermingled additional French touches with all the modern conveniences American families have come to expect.

Typically traditional is the large center foyer, with the living room on one side and the dining room on the other, as well as an entrance vestibule with closet.

FOYER CEILING
 The foyer ceiling is pierced by a small, round, railed opening through which drops a light fixture from the second-floor ceiling.

A log-burning fireplace is the focal point of the large living room, which has French doors at the rear leading to an enclosed porch.

Housewives will appreciate the unusually large amount of living room wall space for effective furniture placement.

The combination kitchen-family room is an open 26' of space, with the demarcation of the rooms being left to a light-and-plant touch and turned poles.

Features of the area are the larger, small desk with a top light, and the laundry tucked into the corner. The laundry location allows the homemaker to be "part of the family" while these chores are being done.

Cabinets above and at the side of the washer and dryer provide plenty of space to keep all clothes out of sight.

Folding partitions hide the entire laundry when not in use.

REAR ENTRANCE
 Just outside the kitchen and close to a rear entrance is a sizable bathroom, including a shower.

Another bathroom is on the upper bedroom floor. This one is unusually large, is two steps down, has a tub of mosaic tile and can be entered from the general bedroom area, the rear porch or the master bedroom, with special floor arrangements for privacy.

A glance at the floor plan of Design G-8 discloses a truly spacious master bedroom suite. The room itself is 22' long, has a fireplace, a den area and access to the rear porch.

A special feature is a long, peninsula-like section which contains a dressing room, two closets, a vanity, a desk and storage space.

Ceramic Tile for Framing

As the holiday season gets into high gear with hectic entertaining and family gatherings, busy homemakers usually shift redecorating efforts into neutral and then just idle until spring.

But before you step on the clutch, here's one more inexpensive and simple idea that will lend festive color and lasting beauty to any room:

Frame your dominant windows and conspicuous doorways in colorful, easy-to-clean ceramic tile.

A big bay window looking out on the front lawn, for instance, can be dressed up in holiday garb by surrounding it with a few rows of brightly patterned or brilliantly hued ceramic tile.

Smaller windows throughout the house, such as in the kitchen or hallway, also can be given this same eye-catching accent.

As for doorways, a few vertical rows of ceramic tile on either side can produce a dramatic look and heighten a room that has a low ceiling.

And, of course, ceramic tile is stainproof, so it's impervious to finger marks usually found on walls around door jams.

Storage Is Big Problem

Finding storage space in the modern home is a real problem, to be sure. But there may be some possibilities you have overlooked. The space between kitchen counters and the ceiling may not be completely filled with cabinets.

Even if an empty area is narrow, the addition of a slim cabinet, ideal for spices and canned goods, can relieve that congestion elsewhere. A second spot to look for possible cabinet space is the area between the kitchen head and the ceiling in the bathroom.

A cabinet placed here can be surfaced with waterproof ceramic tile to protect it and its contents from splashing and steam.

Property Owners Attend Banquet

Opulent Elegance Returns.

Window Fashions Do an About-Face

Fashions at the window have done an about-face. The opulent elegance that characterized window decor years ago has returned, but not the room-muffling yards and yards of heavy damask or velvet required then.

Today's elegant window dressings spring from drip-dry synthetics and other practical materials that have a deceptively fragile appearance but never fear the washing machine. Drapery linings are back in the fold as a necessary part of the richer look.

A change in fashion, however, doesn't change difficult windows that seem to resist efforts to decorate them in style. Windows that are marred by air conditioners or radiators, or poorly spaced with varying sill heights, can be visually united to each other and the rest of the room by such devices as cornices, sliding panels, grilles and shutters.

Think of wood, plywood, and light-diffusing plastics as supplemental curtaining materials. Broaden long and narrow windows, for instance, with a decorative plywood border. An awning shade window looks narrower when flanked with a pair of shutters.

Add a pretty companion to the shutters — scalloped cafe curtains hung on a brass rod. Traverse draperies draw together adjacent but unconnected windows to unify a corner area.

OUTDOOR SCENE
For those lucky enough to have a room with a view, curtaining provides the frame to set off the outdoor scene. An exciting new idea for such windows is to install "bottom-up" shades.

The shade rollers are mounted at the sill or top of the baseboard. Cords and pulleys that blend with the window trim adjust shades to any height.

In a room without a view, add an artificial one. Ideal for a bedroom are floral chime shades to match the wallpaper. This gives the fresh, sunny look of a garden to a bedroom window — even one that is on the 7th floor of an apartment building facing an uninspiring air shaft.

One of the happiest tricks that window treatments play is the way they change the personality of a room. Just as you feel like a different person in a new outfit, so your room can take on a dramatic new point of view with even a slight change in window treatment.

Easiest of all — where you don't want to start from scratch — is to dress up simple curtains with a separate lining and inexpensive swagged cords and tassels. The lining gives even the least expensive fabrics the body and fullness that are so important in this year's styling.

In the past, homemakers depended on sateen, the traditional lining material. But it let them down. Sateen sagged and faded. It shrank. It became brittle and failed to protect decorative materials from sun-fading and moisture-staining. So housewives turned their backs on lined drapes and selected see-through fabrics.

Now the pendulum has swung the other way and lined draperies are back in the height of fashion. They have the advantage of hanging better, in richer folds.

EXTRA BOON

The extra body is a boon to fragile fabrics and especially important in the elaborate window treatments that offset the stark lines of so many modern rooms. And, there is nothing like drapery linings to give a home that extra dimension of privacy.

Supporting the revived interest in lined draperies is a new type of insulated lining that has all the virtues sateen lacked. It is washable, dry-cleanable, crease-resistant

Boiler Heats Noiselessly

A basement without a heating plant? Why not?

Recent advances in equipment design have resulted in the manufacture of hydronic (hot water) boilers that, effectively heat the house no matter where they're installed—in a carport, closet, attic, outdoor tool house, or even in the back yard.

Although today's compact boiler is often smaller even than many home clothes washers, it can heat a house that once needed a large, cumbersome heating plant.

Now, owners of homes without basements can place the hydronic boiler in the carport or garage and be able to enjoy the full benefits of a hydronic heating system—with its noiseless, even, floor-level heat.

Many summer bungalows built without basements are also being remodeled into year-round homes.

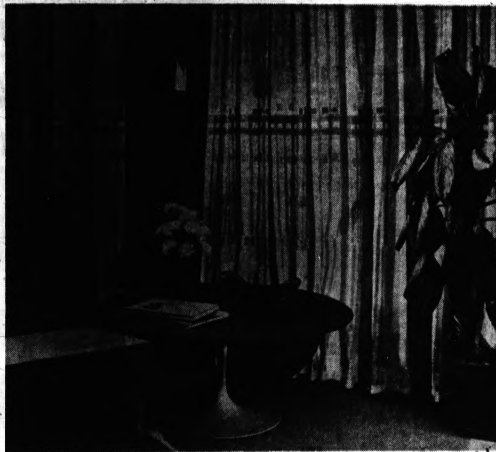

The "heart" of this boiler is a tiny silent pump which circulates heated water from the boiler through small, finger-size piping to room heating units.

The room units, usually baseboard heating panels, emit both types of heat essential for complete home comfort — sun-like radiant heat and convected heat to warm and gently circulate the air.

Cover Old Shingles With New Roofing

Home owners considering the reroofing of their homes, with asphalt shingles will find it practical to have them installed over the old shingles.

Extra insulation and protection against the elements can be gained this way at no additional cost.

PRIVACY AT THE WINDOW — Many modern homes and apartments afford the pleasure of large floor-to-ceiling windows on adjoining walls. Traverse draperies like these unify corner pillars and structural and shrinkage controlled. This treated lining material gives a luxury drape effect without having a stiff, metallic feeling.

When it comes to any drapery lining, choosing the cheapest product can turn out to be more expensive in the long run, if the draperies are ruined by rain, condensation stains, mildew, fading or sun rot.

By choosing a properly-treated lining, you can expect as much as five times the wear from your window treatments. As an extra bonus, it's the first lining to insulate, as well as decorate, thereby saving heating costs, too.

In dealing with difficult windows, it is a good idea to have professionals measure the area. They can follow the ups and downs in floor or ceiling levels. That way you will get draperies and linings that follow the nuances of your particular room.

With shrinkage-controlled fabric as your lining choice, you will eliminate the worry of having the lining sag below the hem or shrink shorter than the drapery after an initial cleaning.

To complete the opulent look, make sure that the custom workshop gives you no less than five-inch top and bottom hems.

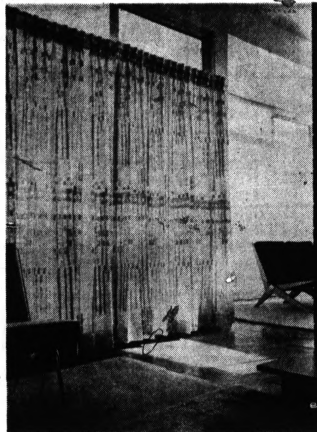

CHANGE MEASURE
A short change on this measure will make your draperies hang improperly.

Once you have your window treatments, you will want to protect your investment. Unlike ordinary curtaining, there is no need to rotate draperies with the new kind of lining; they give protection against fading even in direct sunlight.

Hang the curtains so they cannot blow or rub against furniture or such objects as radiators. Wash or dry-clean at least twice a year. Embedded soil can cause discoloring and deterioration.

When having drapery cleaned professionally tell the cleaner what the fiber content is. Then he can care for them properly and return them in the shape you want.

supports with glass, give the look of a continuous window-corner. Because the Roc-Lon lining is treated to resist sun and moisture, there's no fear of damage to fine decorative fabrics.

LARGE WINDOW AREA — A good way to treat large, broken-up window areas is with traverse draperies that have separate lining. During the day when the draperies are drawn open, the lining remains closed for maximum light control and privacy. Lining hangs below movable clerestory windows to allow free flow of air. Decorative drapery hangs higher for added drama in a long, low modern room.

LOOK OF LUXURY — This living room setting is greatly softened and enhanced by the wall-to-wall draperies at the windows. It's the lining that makes the draperies hang in deep rich folds.

Coordinate Room Colors

Can a room ever contain too many colors?

Most rooms do, according to decorator consultants to the Better Floors Council. The principal reason, they believe, is that furnishings are acquired at different times. As a result, the room is not coordinated in an overall plan.

The BFC suggests that since the floor, apart from the ceiling, is the largest area of any room, it should provide the basic guideline for the rest of the furnishings. If a new floor of resilient tile is planned, they caution that neutral or muted tones be selected that won't dominate the entire room.

For easy floor upkeep, off-white and medium shades in textured or mottled designs in vinyl asbestos tile will need the least amount of care. A daily sweep with a broom or mop and occasional washing and waxings are all that will be needed for tip-top appearance.

After establishing the floor tone, pick up this color or a closely related one for the walls. And unless architectural details are especially interesting, the room will look larger if walls and trim are the same color.

For upholstery pieces, choose colors which are either complementary (red and green, blue and orange) or neighboring (orange and yellow, red and pink, blue and aqua).

If you try not to deviate from the overall plan, the total effect of the room will be much more pleasing and livable.

Latex Foam Saves Work

Housework is easier with a latex mattress.

You can vacuum boxsprings by simply folding the light, flexible mattress over since it is not rigid like an innerspring model.

And you save work because the latex mattresses never need turning, an especially important point with the popular super-size mattresses.

Safeguard Home Against Roof Fire

Most people wouldn't keep their most valued possessions in an unsafe place. Yet many homeowners endanger their homes and the lives of their families by failing to protect them against fire hazards.

Contrary to popular opinion, not all roofing materials sold today are fire-resistant. Where homes have flammable roofs, fire can easily spread from roof to roof.

When buying a home or new roofing, check for the Underwriters' Label.

Asphalt shingles that bear the UL label are resistant to flame exposure and spread of flames and possess no flying brand hazard.

Famed Korean Orphan Choir in Concert

The world-famous Korean Orphan Choir will appear in an evening concert at First Baptist Church Nov. 6. The program which begins at 7:30 p.m. will include special instrumental numbers.

This is the third world tour for the 37 "sober little characters" as they were called by a New York magazine. Immediately after their arrival, the youngsters appeared on the Art Linkletter "Talent Scouts" telecast and the "Art Linkletter House Party" on nationwide radio and television.

Ranging in age from 8 to 16, the children in the choir are sponsored by World Vision Inc. Since presenting a concert at the New York World's Fair in August, the group has been touring the United States.

SING FOR KING

On previous trips the choir was featured in many nationwide telecasts, including the Ed Sullivan Show. The Korean youngsters have sung before many government leaders and heads of state, such as the late Prime Minister Nehru of India, King Olav of Norway, and Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek.

As they tour North America, Dr. Bob Pierce, president of World Vision Inc., says of the children: "They come as little missionaries, singing on behalf of needy children the world over. They are representatives of the more than 20,000 children sponsored through World Vision in 19 countries by individuals, families and groups throughout North America."

It was while Dr. Pierce was in Korea on a special tour for the Christ mission that he became interested in the hundreds of Korean orphans.

He came back to the United States and raised funds to build a number of orphanages, sponsored by persons in this country.

Critics around the world have acclaimed the pint-sized choristers.

A typical reaction from a critic was that of Pierre Petit of the "Parisien Libre": "When I came to the Salle Gaveau to hear the Korean Orphan Choir, I must confess that I expected to witness a touching Sunday School spectacle.

"On the contrary, I was completely won over by the perfection of the execution which they have achieved. The voices are perfectly on pitch. The rhythm is impeccable, and shadings of a remarkable finesse."

"These young children from the Far East perform with ease, a varied and rich program which ranges from Handel to Strauss, and from Korean folksongs to Bellini or Schumann."

An offering will be taken.

CHILDREN IN CONCERT—Coming to First Baptist Church, Oakland at Saginaw to present a concert Nov. 6 is the famous Korean Orphan Choir, presently on world tour. The children whose ages range from 8 to 18 are dressed in white blouses and flowing skirts of deep pink taffeta. Dr. Bob Pierce, president of World Vision Inc., will be among adults accompanying the 37 children. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m.

75th Anniversary Concert Tonight

Colonel Douglas E. Norris, chief secretary for the Central Territory of Salvation Army, adjacent to the old River House and former corps officer at the Pontiac Citadel, will introduce guests at the 75th Anniversary Festival of Praise at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Pontiac Northern High School.

In 1892 a tent was raised on a vacant lot on South Saginaw, Mich., especially church citizens, were up in arms about the way the Army was treated. Ministers denounced the action of the police from their pulpits.

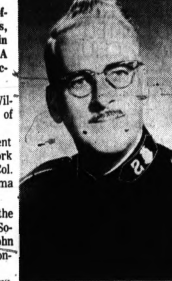

According to Major Grindle, in one of the early meetings Mrs. K. C. Stockwell responded to the invitation and accepted Christ as her personal Saviour. Not too long afterward her husband knelt and surrendered his heart to God. K. C. Stockwell

The Congregationalists and Baptists held an open air in their own in the alley adjoining the hall.

MEETINGS IN JAIL.

Meetings were held all day in the jail and Sheriff Kim Judd was beside himself.

On Monday night when the Salvationists were released a mass meeting was held in the opera house, former site of the former Penner Store on South Saginaw.

COL. D. E. NORRIS

LL. Gary Crowell, former officer of the Pontiac Corps, will lead the congregation in singing 'O God Our Help.' A male chorus will offer selections.

Bringing greetings will be William H. Taylor Jr., mayor of the City of Pontiac.

Other former and present leaders in Salvation Army work speaking briefly will be Col. Marlon Cohn and Maj. Rema Fellman.

Brig. Ernest Alder heads the local Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center. Major John Grindle is in charge of the Pontiac Citadel.

It was 100 years ago that William Booth started preaching the Gospel in London's slums and the worldwide Salvation Army began.

75 YEARS AGO

The Salvation Army came to Pontiac 25 years later. The first meeting was held in May 1890 in front of the Oakland County Court House, Huron at Saginaw. Despite scoffs, jeers and jallings of Captain Casey and his followers, the meetings continued.

In 1895 the Army secured a hall for worship. Rooms were located over the old Post Office on the northwest corner of Saginaw and Pike.

OPEN AIRS

Street meetings (open air) were held on the corner in front of the hall. The authorities forbade the Army to hold open air on the street but the meetings went on just the same.

In 1921 a campaign was launched to raise money for the Citadel. The building was erected in 1921.

Major Grindle says of the local Army: "The bass to pass the drum from one to drum still beats; the band still another as they were being blown; the singers still sing; arrested. Finally Mr. Stockwell men and women still pray; the was last one in the ring. Men, women and even the Lord Jesus still reigns; and to children were kept in jail all God be the glory."

Faith Festival at Newman

Annual Observance Scheduled Sunday

"The Rev. Wendell C. Bassett, executive director of the Michigan Council of Churches, will be the speaker for the annual Festival of Faith observance at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Newman AME Church, 233 Bagley.

The Pontiac Area Council of Churches is sponsoring the event.

The service will be preceded by a youth rally with Al Kaine of the Tiger Baseball Team, guest speaker.

The Rev. Bassett comes from a background of automotive industry where he was employed in factory engineering and service.

His degrees are from North Central College and the Evangelical Theological Seminary at Naperville, Ill.

He served pastorates for 20 years, the last one at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church in Detroit.

Elected to the office of superintendent for the Michigan Conference of the EUB Church in 1955, he served in this office until this year as senior superintendent.

The guest speaker was named executive director of the Michigan Council of Churches in January. The Michigan council is composed of 20 denominations and 18 related local councils.

Assisting Rev. Arlon N. Reid, host pastor, in the service will be Rev. Edmund J. Watkins of Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church, Rev. Jack H. C. Clark of First Christian Church, and Rev. Charles A. Colberg of Gloria Dei Lutheran Church.

Three Choral Vespers at Cranbrook

A series of three choral vespers services, beginning Sunday, and ending on Dec. 12, will be conducted in Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills. Each will be held at 5 p.m.

The choir of the First Methodist Church of Troy, with Rodgers Phillips directing, will appear tomorrow. Thomas Anderson is the organist.

The Collegium Musicum of Oakland University will be featured Nov. 14. George Cripps is director of the group of eight singers and four instrumentalists.

The choir and soloists of Christ Church Cranbrook will present the concluding service on Dec. 12. Director Robert Bates and his group will offer a program of cantatas by Buxtehude and Bach.

Men's Club to Hear Mental Health Talk

Probate Judge Donald E. Adams will speak on "The Changing World of Mental Health" at the Men's Club meeting at Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills at 7 p.m. Monday.

Judge Adams, who headed the juvenile division of the Oakland County Probate Court for two years before taking on other duties as a probate judge, has wide experience in mental health problems both with juveniles and adults.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and a member of the Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board and the Oakland County Community Trust.

The meeting is open to ladies and reservations may be made for the dinner by phoning the church office. Guests are welcome.

MODELS SMOCKS—Ester Hsu of 341 State Hospital Grounds models a yellow denim smock with blue pockets and trim. Mrs. T. Warren Fowler (center) of the Pontiac Area Council of Churchwomen is fitting garments to Ester and Carol Gayles of 3664 Edgewater Beach, Waterford Township.

The clothing will be sent to children in Chile and Africa following World Community Day Friday at Bethany Baptist Church. Clothing was made during the past year by the church women.

World Community Day to Be Observed

Pontiac Area Council of United Churchwomen will gather in Bethany Baptist Church, West Huron at Mark, Friday, to observe World Community Day.

Since World War II churchwomen all over the country have expressed their concern for problems and poverty in nations around the world through international cooperation.

World Community Day offerings and gifts this year will go for a project in community development in Chile under Church World Service.

Mrs. Stanley Kipp, chairman, urges women to bring gifts of yarn, yard goods, remnants of material, sewing supplies and good used clothing. For months women have been sewing smocks for school children in Chile and Africa, and assembling sewing kits for women of those countries.

World Community Day will begin with Mrs. James Fleming in charge of the 9:45 a.m. registration. The luncheon following the program is set for 12:15 p.m.

Devotions will be conducted by Mrs. William H. Taylor Jr. A skit entitled "Children of UNICEF" will be presented by Mrs. Fred Bohman, Mrs. G. A. Steeves, Mrs. William Cabarees and Mrs. Frank Gray.

Mrs. J. C. Covert will bring the message "Lalty's Mission" tending a training session in chard of Orchard Lake will provide the benediction.

Mrs. Lewis Ball and Mrs. T. Warren Fowler are assisting Mrs. Harold Aeschleman, Warren Fowler are assisting Mrs. Kipp with arrangements.

VISIT LIBRARY—Rev. and Mrs. Wallace Lewien, 2288 Crescent Lake, Waterford Township look over books from the Waterford Township Library. Avid readers, the Lewiens are also interested in good music. Rev. Mr. Lewien is the new pastor at Crescent Hills Baptist Church.

COLLECTS FOR UNICEF—Kristina Hall of 2515 Floretta, Waterford Township is shown as she starts her trick or treat for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. Kristina is a member of the youth group at the Church of Atonement, United Presbyterian, Waterford Township.

DISCUSS DRIVE—Pastor J. E. Van Allen and Mrs. Charles Montgomery of 575 E. Mainfield check plans for the financial drive dinner of First Church of the Nazarene, 60 State. The dinner program will be the beginning of a drive for funds for building a new church on adjacent property just purchased. The dinner is scheduled for Nov. 15 at the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

'Miracles' Is Theme of Program

"Miracles Wrought by God in the Lives of Delinquents, Teenage Gangsters and Dope Addicts," is the subject of a program to be presented at Bloomfield Hills Baptist Church at the 5 p.m. young people's service tomorrow.

Herb Meppelink, director of Teen College in Detroit will be the speaker.

A related motion picture, "Ten Revolted," will be shown at the regular 6 p.m. service. The public is invited.

Teen Challenge is a new evangelical movement which is taking the Gospel of Christ to young people in difficult and underprivileged circumstances.

After a marked success in New York City, the program is being extended to other large cities. The work was started in Detroit in June. Mr. Meppelink will describe the results of the project.

The Teen Challenge program which is nonsectarian has received wide publicity through a book "The Cross and Switchblade" written by its founder, David Wilkerson.

Bond Prices in a Tailspin

Refinancing Plans Draw Partial Blame

NEW YORK (AP)—Bond prices declined last week and some market observers are placing part of the blame on the Treasury's plan for refinancing $2 billion in notes due Nov. 15.

The Treasury said it would sell for cash $9.7 billion in 4 1/2 percent notes priced at $99.85 for each $100 of face value.

The yield to maturity of the notes would be about 4.37 percent. The new notes would replace maturing notes carrying 3 1/2 and 4 percent coupons.

The price below par value raises some technical questions about the whole yield structure of Treasury securities.

For example, some dealers noted that corporate investors in the new series would get a capital gains tax advantage. For practical purposes, those investors would get the equivalent of a yield of 4.44 percent.

COMPARISON

This compares to a yield on the closely watched long-term 5 1/2 percent 1967 which ended the week yielding 4.33 percent. Traditionally, the longer-term maturities carry a higher interest rate than short-term maturities, but in this case, the situation is reversed.

Apparently, the Treasury bond market began adjusting accordingly. Of the 40 issues, 39 declined during the week and one short-term bond advanced in price. Declines ranged as high as 30-32 cents for the 4s of 1969.

All-time lows were set for most of the bond issues maturing after 1970.

Tax-exempt bond markets were quiet during the past week. The volume of new issues was less than $600 million.

YIELD INDEX

The yield index of highly rated municipal bond issues held at 3.4 percent.

On the New York Stock Exchange, corporate bond yields for the week totaled a par value of $64.78 million, compared to $76.74 million in the previous week.

Of the 507 issues traded, 175 advanced in price, 203 declined and 129 were unchanged. New issues for the week numbered 114, with 43 new issues at 3 1/2 percent.

Prices Rise in Hog Sales

CHICAGO (AP)—Hog prices were 60 cents to 1 1/2 hundredweight higher in Chicago this week on receipts of 24,000 head, a "tighter" run than last week. The receipts compared with 24,300 the previous week and 39,300 a year ago.

Barrows and gilts worked higher until Thursday, when some weakness was encountered. Reduced receipts at the 12 principal markets and a higher carlot dressed pork trade were bullish factors.

The average weight of barrows and gilts was estimated at 232 pounds, the heaviest for any week since June 1964 and comparing with 230 pounds a week ago and 231 pounds a year ago.

Receipts generally were lower. The 12 market supply totaled 750,000 head compared with 624,000 the previous week and 696,000 a year ago.

SELLING STEADY

At major livestock terminals, slaughter steers and heifers sold steady to 50 cents a hundredweight higher, except at St. Joseph, Mo., and Kansas City where prices were steady to 50 cents lower.

Chicago cattle receipts of 23,500 compared with 31,100 the previous week and 39,400 a year ago. The 12 market receipts were 264,100, compared with 252,800 the previous week and 262,400 a year ago.

Slaughter lambs and ewes sold steady to 50 cents higher in Chicago, principally because of the higher dressed lamb trade. The 12 market receipts were 75,800, compared with 72,400 the previous week and 56,300 a year ago.

YMACA Donated Land

Stock Market Rises to a Higher Plateau

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved to new highs again this week, as trading cooled off a little and emphasis seemed to shift gradually from the high-flying glamour stocks to more solid blue chips.

Wall Streeters were once again murmuring about what seemed to be the millenium — "Dow 1,000" — but this new seemed to be a reasonable goal.

Another good advance took place on Wednesday, although it was dampened considerably by a report of lower nine-month earnings for Standard Oil (New Jersey).

The list emerged with a slight gain on Thursday—when stocks were buffeted by conflicting influences. One was news that the Federal Communications Commission, the other was news that Chrysler had reported record profits and was doubling its dividend. A slight continuation of the rally took place on Friday.

October, the AP average advanced 11.1.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index reached a record close of 92.51 on Wednesday, closing the week at 92.42.

Volume simmered down to 16,007,860 shares from 43,205,800 the previous week, and was the smallest turnover in three weeks.

The four most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

Thompson-Submarine, up 2 1/4 at $14.60; Sperry Rand, up 1 1/4 at $11.11; National Video, up 1 1/4 at $11.11; and Universal, up 1 1/4 at $11.11.

Wheat Has Star Role in Grain Trade

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures played the star role on the Board of Trade this week, staging rallies that carried the price of some contracts into new highs.

With a record crop being harvested, corn futures prices remained under steady selling pressure most of the week.

Soybean futures plodded back and forth over relatively narrow trading ranges during the week. The price in the pit was rather light early in the week, but picked up near the end.

What finished the week 1 1/4 to 2 1/4 cents a bushel higher than the preceding week, December contracts were 1 1/4 to 2 1/4 cents higher, while January contracts were 1 1/4 to 2 1/4 cents higher.

Lions Set to Recall Sweetan If Izo Fails Sunday

Arrows' QB Ready for Duty

Pontiac Can Gain Title Before Recall

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LOS ANGELES — Milt Plum is in the doghouse. George Izo is on the hot seat, and Karl Sweetan is ready to get back into Detroit Lions' uniform when the Lions' get back from two straight road games to play the San Francisco 49ers, Nov. 14th at Tiger Stadium.

Izo received the starting nod for Sunday's contest against the hungry Los Angeles Rams, but Plum is expected to enter the game should the Rams make it rough on the former Notre Dame star who has been in a secondary role for six years in the NFL.

Against the Packers next week in Green Bay, Plum will probably get the nod, but Sweetan, who is currently calling the signals for the Pontiac Arrows is expected to be recalled to Tiger Stadium after Nov. 12th finale in which the Midwest Football League champions play the league All-Stars at Wisner Stadium.

SLIM LEAD

The Arrows must defeat the Stars to win the MFL title. They are currently one half game ahead of Dayton Colts. Should the Arrows win the title, they would face the MFL All-Star team at Wisner, Saturday night Nov. 13th.

Sweetan, a 210 pound and 6-2 quarterback from Wake Forest, was in Chicago last Sunday and watched from the sidelines as the Bears whipped the Lions, 38-10.

Coach Harry Gilmer, who said he dropped Sweetan from the Lions' roster prior to the season, preferably to allow the quarterback to gain some experience with the Arrows, noted: "We certainly haven't lost interest in Sweetan, we always felt he had the pro polish and is a very capable quarterback."

The kickoff of the Rams' game is slated for 4:00 p.m. Michigan time.

49ers Regain Hazeltime Then Release LaRose

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Veteran linebacker Matt Hazeltime, who underwent knee surgery Sept. 24, was reactivated Friday by the San Francisco 49ers.

Coach Jack Christiansen said Hazeltime won't start in Sunday's National Football League game here against Baltimore but is expected to play.

Packers Tangle With Bears

Tight NFL, AFL Races in Focus

By the Associated Press

Focus will be on the two tight division races Sunday as the National Football League reaches the midseason point, with key games for the front-runners in both conferences.

The Green Bay Packers, only unbeaten team in the NFL with a 6-0 record, play the surging Bears at Chicago, Baltimore, second in the West at 5-1, takes on the high-scoring 49ers at San Francisco.

In the Eastern Division, Cleveland's pacesetter Browns are at home to the Minnesota Vikings and the St. Louis Cardinals meet the off-and-on Giants at New York. Cleveland is 5-1, St. Louis 4-2.

AFL FEATURES

Top features in the American Football League pair the winless Boston Patriots against the unbeaten Chargers at San Diego and the Houston Oilers against the Bills at Buffalo in an Eastern Division highlight.

Also on Sunday's schedule — In the NFL: Dallas at Pittsburgh, Detroit at Los Angeles and Philadelphia at Washington; in the AFL: Oakland at Kansas City and Denver at New York.

Green Bay has been lacking in its usual productive running attack, but has swept to six straight victories behind Bart Starr's passing and a tough, opportunistic defense.

The Packers clipped Chicago 23-14 in their earlier game, but the Bears since had won three straight. Bear quarterback Rudy Bukich currently leads NFL passers and his backfield mate, rookie Gale Sayers, has been outstanding.

The Colts and 49ers also are in a rematch. Their first one went to the Colts by a 27-24 score at Baltimore. Sunday's game should produce an exciting quarterback duel between Baltimore's Johnny Unitas and San Francisco's John Brodie.

Charlie Johnson might start at quarterback — which is good news for the Cardinals, who some news for the rebuilt, rookie-packed Giants. Johnson was on the sidelines with a sore shoulder last Sunday, and St. Louis was upset by Washington 24-20.

With Johnson in form the Cardinals are likely to be too much for the reshuffled Giants, who have ranged from dazzling to dismal in splitting their first six games.

The Chargers and Patriots participated in one of the AFL season's biggest shocks two weeks ago in Boston when the Patriots held the Western Division leaders to a 13-13 tie. But last week San Diego smothered New York 34-9, bringing its record to 5-0-2, and Boston lost its sixth, 30-21 to Oakland.

The Chargers have remarkable all-round strength and dominate the league statistics, both as a team and in individual performances. They reached a peak three weeks ago in a 34-3 triumph over the Buffalo Bills, defending AFL champions and generally regarded as the league's top entry.

Since the debacle against the Chargers, the Bills have rebounded with two decisive victories for a 6-1 record. Buffalo has

Canadian Pros Agree in Use of College Site

TORONTO (AP) — The Board of Governors of the University of Toronto agreed Friday to a one-year contract with the Toronto Rifles to allow the Continental Football League team to play at Varsity Stadium next season.

The midtown stadium has 21,721 permanent seats with half of them between the goal lines. Installation of track seats can increase the capacity to 25,000. The Rifles played their home games at Maple Leaf Stadium this year.

Eight Cars Quality in '500' Stock Race

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Eight more cars were added to the inaugural American 500 stock car race field Friday, even as mechanical troubles began to appear among some of the factory Fords already in the line-up.

on the brand new one-mile asphalt North Carolina Motor Speedway.

Drivers involved included Junior Johnson, who starts second in the 44-car Sunday field; Fred Lorenzen, who starts sixth; Gale Yarborough, who starts seventh, and Ned Jarrett, who qualified in 12th position.

Pit crew chiefs said the blown engines resulted from attempts to increase the horsepower needed for the gear ratio that will have to be used on the highly-banked track.

CRUISE AROUND

While the Fords were having their troubles, pole winner Richard Petty and the other Chrysler products cruised the track in practice at speeds around 115 miles per hour. The two factory-backed Plymouths and two Dodges apparently had found the gear-horsepower ratio.

G.C. Spencer, a top independent, qualified his 1964 Ford in 17th position to top the day's time trials. His four-lap average was 113.138.

Others getting into the line-up included Bobby Johns, 1964 Pontiac, 109.256; Babe Thomas, 1964 Ford, 108.657; Gene Elliott, 1965 Chevrolet, 108.441; Larry Hess, 1964 Ford, 107.854; Lionel Johnson, 1964 Ford, 107.921; John Sears, 1964 Ford, 108.599; and Paul Lewis, 1964 Ford, 108.961.

The Stinky Yonick Chevrolet, considered one of the top threats to the Ford and Chrysler products, still was not qualified, although driver Bunkie Blackburn had it cruising at 115 miles per hour by mid-afternoon.

On a final warmup run, however, the car was black-flagged off the track because of a broken sway bar.

Six more cars will be selected Saturday via time trials, with the remaining 14 to be decided in the order of finish in a 25-lap consolation race. Only Yonick's Chevrolet among the better cars remains out of the field.

35-Yard FG Nets Victory

A 35-yard field goal, first in 13 years at Decker-ville, gave Decker-ville a 9-7 victory over North Branch last night.

Gerry Phillips gave Decker-ville a 6-0 lead with a one yard plunge, but two plays later in the second period, Doug Louwers went 65 yards for a North Branch TD. John McNally passed to end Jim Robinson for the extra point and the 7-6 lead.

Player Wins Aussie Open Golf Tourney

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — South African Gary Player won the Australian open title at Adelaide today by a four-stroke lead over a field of 294. Australian Frank Phillips and American Jack Nicklaus were second with 270. Nicklaus shot a final round of 71.

Player's winning total, easily smashed the Australian record of 271, which he set in 1958.

Nicklaus, the Columbus, Ohio, golfer who had taken a four-stroke lead over Player after two rounds, lost it back to him in the third round when the South African fired an 11-under-par 62 to equal his first round.

Nicklaus shot a 70 in the third round earlier today and entered the final round four strokes behind Player.

Australian Frank Phillips shot a final round 69 and also ended with a 270 total.

Gibson, Grant Top 'Gophers'

NEW YORK (AP) — Right-handers Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Jim Mudgett Grant of the Minnesota Twins each gave up 24 home runs to lead the major leagues in 1965, the final averages revealed Friday.

Gibson allowed four more go-pers than Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, the National League runner-up. Gibson pitched 299 innings and Drysdale 308.

Red Wing Lines Juggled by Abel

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Sid Abel juggled his Detroit Red Wings line Friday in an effort to put more scoring punch into the team and called up defenseman Pete Goggin to replace injured Don McKenney.

The Red Wings take on the Maple Leafs at Toronto tonight and return to Detroit to meet Montreal Sunday.

Former Race Horse Leading Jumper Dear Brutus Ahead in Open

U.S. Equestrian Team Continues Sweep

NEW YORK (AP) — Dear Brutus, owned by the Airy Hall Plantation of Green Pond, S.C., was in front in the open jumper division of the National Horse Show today, and most riders were wondering if he, indeed, could win the big one in the equine leaping world.

Dear Brutus is a former race horse — and like many jumpers — one who never made it on the track. He was bred by Rex Ellis-world of Swaps fame.

This is something special in the way of jumping horses, said Russ Stewart, a professional rider, who handles Dear Brutus.

"He is an extremely gentle and generous horse, who is always trying. A lot of jumpers will cheat or chicken out on you, but this one is always trying."

Dear Brutus, who already has won two open jumper events, for 10 points, was owned by Kurt Spraggins, Blackacre Farm of Austin, Tex., until the Pin Oaks show last spring. Then Airy Hall bought him.

Dear Brutus was the reserve open jumper champion at the Pennsylvania National Show in Harrisburg, last week and was four for four at the Fairfield, Conn. show last summer.

The United States Equestrian Team continues to sweep the international events at the show. Mrs. Mary Mains Chapot captured the Good Will Challenge Trophy Friday night after March Bert de Nemethy's squad lost the afternoon event with no faults.

The United States team now has won six of the seven international classes.

yards to score, the payoff coming on an 11-yard pass from Ziem to halfback Dick McDowell.

The fourth quarter belonged to Mount Clemens.

Sheets and Hauff, teamed for a 54-yard scoring play at 8:19 that deadlocked the score at 12-12, and he pitched a 27-yarder to James Dockery at 3:40 that put the game in the win column.

OVERRAN BALL

On the pass to Dockery, defensive halfback Dave Kline stayed with Dockery all the way, but over-ran both the receiver and the ball at the goal line. When Kline ran deep into the end zone, Dockery stepped back to the two-yard line to wait for the ball, hauled it in and jumped across the goal line.

For the evening, Sheets completed six of 12 passes for 120 yards. Ziem was almost as good, hitting on seven of 13 for 107 yards.

The loss was Waterford's second to an Eastern Michigan League team this year. The earlier defeat came at Roseville, 12-7.

Farmington took on Roseville last night and came home with a 31-14 beating.

Pistons Edge Celtics

By The Associated Press

It's going to be a tough season for the champion Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association.

Just how tough was pinpointed Friday night when Sam Jones hit a record 31-point performance for a Boston player in regular season play only to see the Celtics absorb their third straight defeat, this time to Detroit 106-100.

Ray Scott's jump shot was just two seconds left gave the Pistons their first victory over the champions since Feb. 24, 1964. It came after Sam Jones tied the score for the Celtics on his final basket with 39 seconds to go.

The Cincinnati Royals whipped the Baltimore Bullets 131-121 and the San Francisco Warriors downed the New York Knicks 110-100 in the other NBA games scheduled Friday night.

WBA Title Version Sei Monday Night

TORONTO (AP) — If Canada's George Chuvalo can pull his way past Ernie Terrell's elongated left jab and stay out of Terrell's bear hug at the same time, Monday night's WBA heavyweight championship fight could turn out to be an interesting boxer-brawler match-up.

But if the tall Chicagoan lives up to his 44-fight reputation, the 15-round bout may be one of the drabber ever to carry championship billing.

Terrell, the 6-foot-6 WBA titleholder, has a history of dull fights. Endowed with an awesome 82-inch reach, his style has been to jab, clutch and hold.

Pontiac Golfer in 2nd Place of PGA Event

(Special To The Pontiac Press)

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. — Youthful Stan Brion, Pontiac assistant pro at Tam O'Shanter Country Club, fired a par-72 in the second round of the PGA Player's Qualifying tournament and trailed leader John Schlee of Phoenix, Ariz., by three strokes at midpoint.

Brion, 23, had a 142 total compared to Schlee's 139 with 70-69 for two rounds.

The 28-year-old Schlee had an eagle, three birdies and two bogeys in his second round.

Two golfers tied for third were John Josephson of Asheville, N.C. with 69-73-142 and Bob Rose of Toronto with 70-72-142.

First round leader Jim Felters of Fort Arthur, Tex., soared to 77 after an opening round of 67.

The 144 hole event drew 48 players from the U. S. and Canada, 17 of whom will be certified to play on the pro golf tour.

Weightlift Titles Decided

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Vladimir Kaplunov of the Soviet Union lifted 370 1/2 pounds in the jerk Friday for a world record among lightweights in the World Weightlifting Championships.

The lightweight title, however, went to Waldemar Bazanowski of Poland, who held the jerk record of 370 pounds.

The Pole lifted a total of 940 1/2 pounds for first place in the over-all competition. Second was Marian Zieliński of Poland with 930 pounds, followed by Kaplunov, with 907 1/2 pounds.

Kaplunov actually lifted 371 1/2 pounds total.

Legless Navy Flier Reaching for Space

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP)—A legless Navy flier says he'll challenge any two-legged rival for fitness to become an astronaut.

A Navy board in Washington is considering the amputee's application.

Lt. Frank K. Ellis, 32, bled his way back to active flight status with a pair of artificial legs, and the will to win.

Ellis lost his legs below the knees in a heroic effort to keep his disabled jet from crashing into a Point Mugu, Calif., housing area in 1962.

He waited too long, ejecting from the aircraft only 65 feet from the ground.

He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for that.

Ellis suppressed his excitement yesterday on hearing that the board was considering his application to become an astronaut.

"That sounds very preliminary," he said cautiously.

Of his lost legs, Ellis said: "All I lost were some dirty socks and smelly feet."

The Painesville, Ohio native, married and the father of four children, said most people "have some really lousy concepts about the abilities of an amputee." Ellis is an authority on the subject.

A year after the accident, Ellis began an intensive physical training course—swimming, running obstacle courses and parachute-jumping from an airplane. Last year, the Navy returned him to flight status.

"The only difference between me and any normal man is running and jumping ability. There is no change in my flying ability," he said in a telephone interview.

The lieutenant's hope is that the Navy will heed his request for an upgrading in his flight status. Ellis is limited now to dual-controlled aircraft with a qualified co-pilot. He wants to fly alone.

READY FOR SPACE—Navy Lt. Frank K. Ellis of Painesville, Ohio, who lost both legs in 1962 while fighting to keep his jet from crashing into a housing area has applied to be an astronaut. He uses his artificial legs to the satisfaction of the Navy which returned him to flight status.

Roddy Worships Tuesday on Every Day of the Week

By EARL WILSON

On a recent Saturday, Roddy McDowall spoke worshipfully of Tuesday.

But I had a feeling, had it been Wednesday or Thursday or even Sunday, Roddy McDowall would have given Tuesday Welly the best review she's ever received—of a movie he hasn't even seen yet.

Tuesday's 22, and Roddy was recently 38. But he's in love with her (in a movie they just made, "Lord Love a Duck.") Sitting the other afternoon at the discotheque Arthur—Roddy's one of the five original—she rhapsodized over her "wonderful intellect," "her extraordinary talents," "her professional emotional responses," and, shaking his head as though hard to believe it, he commented, "She's a fast 22... an old bag already."

"The publicists once tried to exploit her as a hook," I said. "Oh, she's an original, all right," Roddy nodded. "Tuesday is Tuesday—and that can be said of very few people."

Tuesday plays a teenager, "who wants all the wrong things in 12 cashmere sweaters, to be cheerleader, to have a holiday in Balboa... she will go to any length to get the infinitesimal." "And I play a high school kid—how do you like that?" of 17, going 9,000. I help her get all the wrong things because I'm in love with her."

Effective for a moment, Roddy said, "It's a story about all of us. We're all sold a bill of goods about buying things that are supposed to make us happier but that will not make us happier."

Israelis, Jordanians in Border Clash

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Israeli and Jordanian forces clashed in a no-man's land today on the border in the Latrun area 10 miles west of Jerusalem. A Jordanian spokesman said 15 Israelis were killed but Israel claimed there was only one Israeli casualty.

The fighting was halted after an hour and a half by the U.N. truce supervision mission in Jerusalem. The Jordanian spokesman said the first reported Jordanian killed but later revised this to say the Jordanians suffered no casualties.

Hope to Avert Cons' Threat

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Authorities continued their guard today over a judge and a former prosecutor threatened with vengeance by two convicts they sent to prison 11 years ago and who escaped Friday.

The judge is James R. Breakey Jr. of Washtenaw County Circuit Court; the former prosecutor, Edmond F. Devine, now in private law practice here.

The convicts are brothers, Charles Ervin, 48, and Gordon Ervin, 39. They vowed to kill Breakey and Devine when convicted in 1954 of armed robbery and sentenced to 50 to 60 years in prison.

They escaped from a trusty compound outside Southern Michigan Prison by cutting a hole in a fence.

Bows to Apartheid on Wedding Fete

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (U) — Heiress Mary Oppenheimer has bowed to South Africa's apartheid (segregation) and will not have her nonwhite friends at her caviar and champagne wedding reception.

African guests, however, will attend the wedding at Johannesburg's Anglican Cathedral next Wednesday when the bride, a mer Scottish rugby star Gordon Waddell, 29.

Miss Oppenheimer, 21, daughter of one of the world's richest men, diamond and gold king Harry Oppenheimer, had hoped to have some of her nonwhite friends to the reception, but her family said yesterday she had decided against it because she could not serve champagne.

Man Is Found Dead,

Woman Gassed in Car

OTSEGO (AP) — A Plainfield man was found dead Friday and a young woman semiconscious in a car parked along a road just southwest of here, police reported.

Allegan County Sheriff Robert Whitcomb identified the victim as Larry Cronin, 27. The girl, identified as Jeanne Brabon, about 19, of Otsego, was reported in good condition at a hospital.

Three Hunters Asphyxiated by Tent Heater

HEAD-ON CRASH—A Pontiac policeman checks the damage to the wrinkled baggage car of a Durand-bound Grand Trunk passenger train which collided with a freight train yesterday afternoon. Three persons were hospitalized after a fleet of ambulances took 27 passengers and train crew to Pontiac General and St. Joseph hospitals.

License Plate Time Is Near

Oakland County motorists may purchase 1966 license plates for their cars beginning 9 a.m. Monday.

Willis M. Brewer, manager of the Michigan Department of State, said registration or title to the vehicle and fee payment by cash or certified check would be needed to purchase the plates.

He also reminded drivers to bring certified proof of public liability and property damage insurance.

Brewer said a written statement from the insurance agent or the actual policy would be sufficient.

Motorists not having proof of insurance will have to pay a $35 fee for licenses. Insured drivers will be assessed only $1.

Brewer said the Pontiac office at 46 E. Huron would be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

Cause of the head-on crash of two trains which hospitalized three persons yesterday is under investigation today by officials of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

The accident occurred about 12:30 p.m. at the Johnson Avenue yard office when passenger train No. 21, from Detroit to DuPont, hit a Detroit-bound freight.

They were listed in satisfactory condition this morning, while Lawrence Lee, 81, of Oklahoma was reported in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital with a broken nose.

Twenty-four other persons, including five Grand Trunk crew members, were treated and released from hospitals — 14 at St. Joseph.

NO OVERTURNING

Although the fronts of both diesel engines were battered, no cars were overturned. Some wheels left the tracks.

The passenger train had just started up from a stop at the Huron Street depot. It contained a baggage car and a single passenger car, while the freight had 20 cars.

Apparently, the freight pulled on to the main line from a siding. Terminal Trainmaster C. E. Stack made no immediate estimate of damages.

In St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with concussions are Miss Mildred Moore, 72 of Helbron, Ind., and Mrs. Florence MacGregor, 66, of 4175 Shady Lane, Birmingham.

Apparently, the freight pulled on to the main line from a siding. Terminal Trainmaster C. E. Stack made no immediate estimate of damages.

The main line was cleared by 4 p.m. Beside the battered engines, the front of the baggage car was telescoped, and windows were broken in the passenger car.

Area residents among those treated and released were Miss Carol L. Plew, 21, of 304 S. Saginaw, Holly, and Grand Trunk trainman James K. Carson, 60, of 2112 Yorkshire, Birmingham.

Miss Plew was shaken up, but suffered no cuts or broken bones. A student at Pontiac Practical Nursing Center, she helped conductor John Szlapa, 39, of Mount Clemens compile a passenger list.

Szlapa had an injured arm. "People at the hospital couldn't understand why I couldn't help them, since I was in my uniform," Miss Plew said, "but I haven't gone that far in my training."

The victims were identified as Mrs. Nelson Bottom of 2624 Sylvan and George W. Talbot, 44.

Mrs. Bottom was fatally injured when the car in which she was riding was struck broadside by another vehicle in Taylor Township in Wayne County.

Dem Leaders Ready Attack on Triple Veto

Kowalski, Dzendzel Meet on Tactics for Short Special Session

LANSING (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders were regrouping their forces today for an assault on Lt. Gov. William Milliken's veto of three large spending measures.

House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said yesterday he would ask for a one-day meeting of the Legislature next month to override vetoes of veterans, senior citizen-renters and higher education bills that carried a collective annual price tag of $8.2 million to $11.7 million.

He was to meet with Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, over the weekend to work out an agreement and a schedule.

Democrats then would try to muster the 74 House votes and 23 Senate votes needed to repeal measures to extend property tax relief to senior citizens, grant extra funds to smaller colleges and universities with larger than anticipated enrollments, and broaden basic eligibility requirements for property tax relief to disabled veterans.

Milliken, who was acting on Gov. George Romney's instructions while the governor was touring Asia with a group of other state governors, said the bills were vetoed because they would commit the state to spend an additional $23 million over the next 2½ years, while the state treasury surplus is dwindling and expenditures are catching up with revenues.

Two-thirds of the members of both houses would have to vote to override the vetoes — meaning Democrats would have to line up Republican support.

Although an overwhelming majority in both chambers supported all but the senior citizens bill, a quick check of Republican sources indicated little support for a vote.

Kowalski cited a joint rule under which a four-man majority committee can call the Legislature back. No meeting date has been set for the committee.

NY Parade Shows Viet Support Grows

NEW YORK (AP) — A massive demonstration of support for American fighting men in Viet Nam is being marshaled today on New York's Fifth Avenue.

A turnout of 50,000 to 100,000 is estimated by leaders of the march.

Five holders of the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military decoration, are grand marshals for the demonstration, billed as an answer to the anti-Viet Nam protests two weeks ago.

The parade was new evidence of swelling support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

The New York march has the backing of Mayor Robert F. Wagner and the City Council. It is cosponsored by City Councilman Matthew J. Troy Jr. and the New York Journal-American.

Among those scheduled to participate are veterans groups, labor and fraternal organizations, youth and student associations, and a number of Hun-garian "freedom fighters."

A "silent vigil" against the Viet Nam war will be held at the same time by several peace organizations in Times Square.

At Houghton, Mich., 200 Michigan Tech engineering students were expected to stage a sidewalk parade in support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

In Japan, Gov. George Romney received a cable from Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain which said that nearly 16,000 Michigan State University students signed a petition in support of the government's position in Viet Nam.

2 From Area, Warren Youth Found Dead

Say Charcoal Burner Cause of Fatalities; 1 of Group Survives

Two hunters from Farmington Township and a third from Warren were found dead last night near Alpena, apparent victims of asphyxiation from a charcoal burner in their tent.

The victims were identified as Louis G. Karle, 50, 3617 Lyman, Ervin Knight Jr., 16, 2908 Ravenscroft, both of Farmington, and William Palmer, 16, of Warren, a nephew of Karle.

The three were discovered about 6 p.m. yesterday by Karle's son, Jack, 17, who was hospitalized for observation.

Cpl. Robert Rutla of State Police at Alpena said Jack Karle gave this version of what happened:

The four arrived at Wolf Creek public hunting grounds in Alpena County shortly after midnight Thursday and pitched their tent, which had its own rubberized floor.

COLD NIGHT

It was cold. A charcoal burner was left inside.

Jack Karle awakened about noon yesterday and felt sick. Although his memory was hazy, Jack said he recalled grossly taking the burner outside, brewing himself a cup of coffee and going back to bed without attempting to arouse the others.

Jack woke up again about 6 p.m., still ill and found his companions dead.

A coroner's report said they apparently succumbed some 10 hours earlier.

Police attributed Jack's long sleep to the effects of the gas.

Lovely Weather Will Linger Longer

Pleasant weather is expected to continue tomorrow and Monday with temperatures a little warmer. Lows will drop to near 38 to 42 tonight.

Highs tomorrow will climb into the mid-60s. Fair and mild is Monday's forecast.

Southeasterly morning winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour will diminish to 8 to 14 m.p.h. tonight.

A low of 36 was the recording in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 1 p.m. reading was 64.

Luci, Student Seek to Wed, Say Rumors

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Luci Johnson and her boyfriend, Pat Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., are spending the weekend at the LBJ Ranch amid unconfirmed reports they are here to seek President and Mrs. Johnson's permission to marry.

The reports were said to have come from a long-time family friend in Austin, Tex., but White House spokesmen here and in Washington would not verify them.

All that was confirmed was that vivacious, dark-haired Luci and tall, blond Pat, a

2 Area Residents Killed in Collisions

A 52-year-old Farmington Township woman and an Imlay City man lost their lives in separate collisions yesterday.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Nelson Bottom of 2624 Sylvan and George W. Talbot, 44.

Mrs. Bottom was fatally injured when the car in which she was riding was struck broadside by another vehicle in Taylor Township in Wayne County.

Talbot died when his car collided head-on with a cement truck 12 miles east of Lapeer.

'Human Wave' Assault

Marines Defeat Cong Hand-to-Hand

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines, using pistols and fighting hand-to-hand, beat off a "human wave" assault by the Viet Cong in the early morning darkness today 10 miles south-west of Da Nang.

A U.S. military spokesman said 56 Viet Cong, many of them teen-agers, were killed. He described casualties among the 300 Marines as moderate.

One Marine squad, however, was badly mauled. Two of its 14 men were killed and the rest wounded, the spokesman said. The Viet Cong also launched a mortar attack on the U.S. Special Forces camp at Plei My in the central highlands and began a flurry of new assaults in the Mekong Delta.

FRESH TROOPS

In Saigon senior U.S. military sources gave another indication of increased Communist activity. They reported North Viet Nam has sent waves of fresh troops into the highlands north of the capital for what could be the start of the showdown battles of the war.

The sources said 10 to 11 regiments are roaming the area now. Seven of them were described as North Vietnamese units accompanied by heavy weapons battalions.

The attack on the company of Marines near Da Nang, however, was made by both hard-core Viet Cong and teen-agers, the U.S. spokesman said.

Marines said the youngsters had been recruited a few hours earlier at a village and forced to join the attack.

One captured Viet Cong was quoted as saying that he belonged to a hard-core battalion of 400 men that massed in the mountains last Friday for the assault.

HAND-TO-HAND

The Viet Cong attack opened with a hand-to-hand battle. Marines followed at the height of the clash, Marines engaged the Viet Cong in vicious hand-to-hand fighting in tents in the Marine bivouac area.

One of the Viet Cong mortars took an officers' tent to shreds, but most of the men inside had taken shelter at a command post bunker.

Official Fights Registration of Indians

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Apache County Atty. Richard Moore says he will refuse to register prospective Indian voters who can't speak English despite a ruling that language tests used in the county violate the new federal Voting Rights Act.

"We'll resist the federal registrars in and let them live in the (Indian) hogans," he said Friday. "We're not going to assume responsibility for registering them."

There are 39,000 persons in Apache County. Only 4,500 of them are registered voters.

OUTNUMBER WHITES

Navajos, who live on federal reservations, outnumber whites more than three to one in the county, the only one in Arizona in which the U.S. Justice Dept. presumes possible discrimination under the new law.

Greer says most members of the tribe are illiterate and can't speak English.

A state assistant attorney general, William Eubank, termed the federal law "almost unbelievable."

"What means is that illiterate, insane, people, morons and all others in Apache County may vote and no tests can be applied," he said.

Waterford Man Hurt in 2-Car Crash

A Waterford Township man was listed in fair condition this morning in Pontiac General Hospital following a two-car collision last night on Dixie Highway.

Charles Garrett, 51, of 3228 Newberry received multiple contusions of the jaw and back in the accident.

Garrett allegedly was attempting a left turn when his car and one driven by Larry Johnson, 48, of 2111 James, Pontiac Township, collided.

Johnson was uninjured.

Hoover: Protests to Boost Crime Rate, Spur Anarchy

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today "civil disobedience will increase the nation's crime problem and lead to anarchy."

"Sowing contempt for law and order and promoting pride in law-breaking among the nation's youths can only result in an acceleration of a serious crime problem," the FBI chief said in an editorial message in the bureau's November law enforcement bulletin.

Hoover did not mention any groups or individuals by name. However, civil rights and pacifist groups and opponents of the United States' Viet Nam policy have used civil disobedience as a means of protest.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a civil rights leader with whom Hoover has clashed publicly, has advocated use of civil disobedience by an oppressed minority faced with laws it considers morally unjust — but only when the group is willing to accept penalties.

STARTLING THEORY

Hoover described the doctrine of civil disobedience as the "startling theory that if one does not agree with a law and believes it to be morally unjust, he may disregard it to achieve a particular objective."

In some quarters, Hoover wrote, "it already appears that the social stigma formerly attached to lawbreakers is being replaced by sympathy for their actions."

Howell Child Killed

HOWELL (AP) — Daniel R. Harvey, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Harvey, was killed Friday when struck by a car near his home.

The Waterford Township Board is expected to act on a rezoning request for a proposed $4-million development Monday following a hearing.

Presently zoned agricultural and small farm district, the 60-acre parcel of land is located on the northeast corner of Cass and Elizabeth and Cooley Lake.

The developer, David Zuehlke, has indicated he plans to include new homes, apartment buildings, stores and a beach in the undertaking.

Lost Trail in Brinks Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police pondered a painful lesson today — you can't punch a time clock and always get your man.

Apparently because a Mountie surveillance team kept only 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. office hours, two powerful anti-tank guns fell into the hands of bandits who pulled last Sunday's $400,000 robbery of a Brinks vault in Syracuse, N.Y.

The FBI and New York State Police also were involved in the goof, but each denied responsibility.

According to sources here, two men bought two powerful anti-tank guns and 200 rounds of ammunition from an Alexandria, Va., gunsmith late last March. The guns, of the type used by the Finnish army against the Russian invasion of 1939-40, can pulverize a bullethead a mile away.

The dealer became suspicious and tipped the FBI when he discovered the two buyers had given him a fictitious Alexandria address.

Vandals Strike County Area

Windows Are Broken, Homes Are Defaced

Vandalism was widespread in northern Oakland County last night on the eve of Halloween. The worst hit areas were West Bloomfield Township, Birmingham and Rochester, where a number of windows were broken with pellet pistols, rifles and other instruments.

"Also in those areas, houses were splashed with spray paint and eggs were hurled."

West Bloomfield police reported this morning that they are holding a suspect for investigation in the shooting of a pedigree German shepherd dog last night.

The dog, owned by Jack Pierce, 1707 Parkview, West Bloomfield Township, was seriously injured by a 22-caliber bullet.

WINDOWS BROKEN

Also in West Bloomfield Township, several automobile windshield and display windows of business establishments were shattered.

A large display window at the Clayton Furniture Store, 2133 Orchard Lake, was broken for the second time in a week.

Youth also set fire to leaves in the township last night, which in a few cases almost spread to homes before firefighters arrived.

In Birmingham, windows of nine cars were shattered in the parking lot of an A & P market on Adams Road. Two blocks away, a truck windshield was shattered.

In Rochester, several windows of automobiles and business establishments were broken.

An Oakland Township woman, Norma Mullin, 60 Cedarvale, reported that two thermopane windows valued at $200 were cracked.

Bandits Invade Home in Area

Three bandits terrorized the family of Bernard Golden, 29700 W. 13 Mile, last night before escaping with an estimated $7,500 in jewelry and cash.

The intruders entered the residence shortly after 8 p.m., tied up Mrs. Golden and her two daughters and searched the home.

When Golden arrived home at about 8:40, he was subdued by one of the gunmen, who took $300 from his wallet.

According to Farmington Township police, two of the men were carrying guns.

Zoning Request by Developer Is Up for Action

The Waterford Township Board is expected to act on a rezoning request for a proposed $4-million development Monday following a hearing.

Presently zoned agricultural and small farm district, the 60-acre parcel of land is located on the northeast corner of Cass and Elizabeth and Cooley Lake.

The developer, David Zuehlke, has indicated he plans to include new homes, apartment buildings, stores and a beach in the undertaking.

The rezoning request has been approved by the Township Planning Commission.

Recruiting for Viet Nam

BONN, Germany (AP) — Bonn's public prosecutor said today he has opened an inquiry into a report that West Germans have been fighting for South Viet Nam.

It is illegal in West Germany to solicit citizens to serve in foreign armies. A similar investigation is under way in Frankfurt of alleged recruiting for a fund.

The Canadian Mounted Police were staked out during the daytime at a Railway Express Agency warehouse at Plattsburgh to pick up whoever called for the guns.

GUNS STOLEN

Thieves were reported to have stolen the guns while the Mounties were off duty sometime before dawn April 8. The theft was never reported.

At least one of the guns was believed to have been used to blast open the foot-thick vault of the Brinks office in Syracuse last Sunday.

The FBI was said not to have been involved in the actual stake-out in Plattsburgh.

New York State Police Superintendent Arthur Cornelius said the only role his office played in the surveillance was to provide the Mounties with information about highways in the Plattsburgh area.

Birmingham Area News

Ask Caution by Drivers Near Schools in Winter

BIRMINGHAM—It's not children, but their parents, who create unsafe conditions near schools during the winter, safety experts agree.

Walter Piel, safety coordinator for the Birmingham Public Schools, said this observation in urging adults to mind their driving P's and Q's to maintain the district's good safety record.

"Increasing hours of darkness and more bad weather suggest increased attention to good safety practices," he said.

"Law enforcement, traffic safety and school officials agree that the most serious traffic problems are created around our schools, by parents themselves during inclement weather," he warned.

Piel noted that traffic jams and illegal parking can lead to children's walking between parked cars and greatly increasing their exposure to accidents.

DIFFICULT TASK

"Safety patrol boys may find it very difficult to function in such a confusing situation," he said. "They are taught to cross children only when a safe traffic interval and clear vision exist and to disregard motorists who attempt to signal to them."

Piel listed nine ways in which parents can help:

1. Dress children appropriately so that those who walk to school can do so in all types of weather.
2. Do not attempt to signal safety patrol boys.

EXTRA CAREFUL

3. Be extra careful when approaching or leaving schools.
4. Remind children to accept rides only with persons of whom you approve.
5. Be particularly alert for walkers and bicyclists in areas near schools.

Player groups involved in the presentation are the Lathrup Players, Ridgedale Players, St. Dunstan's Guild, the Village Players, and the Royal Oak Civic Theatre.

Further information can be obtained from Paul Yutzy, staff member of the Ferndale-based agency.

Ex-Teamster Agent Guilty in Kickback

Samuel J. Marroso, 51-year-old former business agent for a Pontiac local of the Teamsters Union, was convicted yesterday of receiving a $25,000 kickback for arranging a loan from a union fund.

It was the fifth criminal conviction for Marroso, who lists his residence in Warren.

He is currently serving a three-year federal prison term for interstate transportation of $245,000 in counterfeit funds.

"Marroso has been a business agent for Detroit Local 247 and Pontiac Local 614 of the Teamsters."

The kickback was for a $107,000 loan for Leonard Claffone, owner of Mid-City Development Corp. and Mid-City Realty Co.

Federal Judge Fred M. Keesel set no sentencing date. Marroso's attorney, Philip Gillis, said he would appeal the conviction.

Claffone testified at the trial that Marroso told him the loan would cost him a $100,000 kickback but he could arrange it so that $75,000 would be tax deductible.

Rumor Luci Seeks to Wed

Marquette University senior, flew to the ranch together yesterday afternoon aboard an Air Force courier plane.

That wasn't unusual, a White House spokesman said, since Luci frequently brings boyfriends to the ranch.

The President, convalescing from his gallbladder-kidney stone surgery, was keeping to a relaxed, light schedule and had no weekend appointments.

HINTS NOT GIVEN

If the family gathering was an indication of a forthcoming engagement announcement, no one at the ranch was giving out any hints.

Pat, about 23, has been dating Luci steadily since they met early '63 this summer through mutual friends. He is the son of Gerald P. Nugent Sr., a Waikanae, Ill., investment counselor.

Nugent went to Luci's surprise graduation party at the White House June 1 and took her to his senior prom at Marquette University in Milwaukee three days later. Seeking a bit of personal privacy there, Luci donned a blonde wig to escape detection on a weekend with Pat and other friends.

Afterward, Nugent, said his date with Luci was "an experience I'll never forget." He said the President's daughter was "as natural and unaffected as any girl I ever dated."

In fact, he said, "I'll probably tell my grandchildren about it."

Lions Set to Recall Sweetan If Izo Fails Sunday

Pontiac Can Gain Title Before Recall

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
LOS ANGELES — Milt Plum is in the doghouse. George Izo is on the hot seat, and Karl Sweetan is ready to get back into Detroit Lions' uniform when the Lions get back from two straight road games to play the San Francisco 49ers, Nov. 14th at Tiger Stadium.

Izo received the starting nod for Sunday's contest against the hungry Los Angeles Rams, but Plum is expected to enter the game should the Rams make it rough on the former Notre Dame star who has been in a secondary role for six years in the NFL.

Against the Packers next week in Green Bay, Plum will probably get the nod, but Sweetan, who is currently calling the signals for the Pontiac Arrows, is expected to be recalled to Tiger Stadium after Nov. 13th finale in which the Midwest Football League champions play the league All-Stars at Wisner Stadium.

SLIM LEAD

The Arrows must defeat the Stars to win the MFL title. They are currently one half game ahead of Dayton Colts. Should the Arrows win the title, they would face the MFL All-Star team at Wisner, Saturday night Nov. 13th.

Sweetan, a 210 pound and 62 quarterback from Wake Forest, was in Chicago last Sunday and watched from the sidelines as the Bears whipped the Lions, 28-10.

Coach Harry Gilmer, who said he dropped Sweetan from the Lions' roster prior to the season, apparently is allowing the quarter-back to gain some experience with the Arrows, noted. "We certainly haven't lost interest in Sweetan, we always felt he had the pro polish and is a very capable quarterback."

The kickoff of the Rams' game is slated for 4:00 p.m. Michigan time.

49ers Regain Hazeltine Then Release LaRose

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Veteran linebacker Matt Hazeltine, who underwent knee surgery Sept. 24, was reactivated Friday by the San Francisco 49ers.

Coach Jack Christiansen said Hazeltine won't start in Sunday's National Football League game here against Baltimore but is expected to play.

Packers Tangle With Bears

Tight NFL, AFL Races in Focus

By the Associated Press

Focus will be on the two tight division races Sunday as the National Football League reaches the midseason point, with key games for the front-runners in both conferences.

The Green Bay Packers, only unbeaten team in the NFL with their 6-0 record, play the re-surging Bears at Chicago. Baltimore, second in the West at 5-1, takes on the high-scoring 49ers at San Francisco.

In the Eastern Division, Cleveland's pacesetter Browns are at home to the Minnesota Vikings and the St. Louis Cardinals meet the off-and-on Giants at New York. Cleveland is 5-1, St. Louis 4-2.

AFL FEATURES

Top features in the American Football League pair the winless Boston Patriots against the unbeaten Chargers at San Diego and the Houston Oilers against the Bills at Buffalo in an Eastern Division highlight.

Also on Sunday's schedule — In the NFL: Dallas at Pittsburgh, Detroit at Los Angeles and Philadelphia at Washington. In the AFL: Oakland at Kansas City and Denver at New York.

Green Bay has been lacking in its usual productive running attack, but has swept to six straight victories behind Bart Starr's passing and a tough, opportunistic defense.

The Packers clipped Chicago 23-14 in their earlier game, but the Bears since had won three straight. Bear quarterback Rudy Bukich currently leads NFL passers and his backfield mate, rookie Gale Sayers, has been outstanding.

The Colts and 49ers also are in a rematch. Their first one went to the Colts by a 27-24 score at Baltimore. Sunday's game should produce an exciting quarter-back duel between Baltimore's Johnny Unitas and San Francisco's John Brodie.

Cleveland's primary job shapes up as defensive — containing Minnesota's explosive attack. Of course, the Vikings' defense has shown definite vulnerability and will get a real workout, from Jim Brown's running and Frank Ryan's passing.

Charlie Johnson might start at quarterback — which is good news for the Cardinals, who some news for the rebuilt, rookie-packed Giants. Johnson was on the sidelines with a sore shoulder last Sunday, and St. Louis was upset by Washington 24-20.

With Johnson in form the Cardinals are likely to be too much for the reshuffled Giants, who have ranged from dazzling to dismal in splitting their first six games.

The Chargers and Patriots participated in one of the AFL season's biggest shocks two weeks ago in Boston when the Patriots held the Western Division leaders to a 13-13 tie. But last week San Diego smothered New York 34-9, bringing its record to 5-0-2, and Boston lost its sixth, 30-21 to Oakland.

The Chargers have remarkable all-round strength and dominate the league statistics, both as a team and in individual performances. They reached a peak three weeks ago in a 34-3 triumph over the Buffalo Bills, defending AFL champions and generally regarded as the league's top entry.

Since the debacle against the Chargers, the Bills have rebounded with two decisive victories for a 6-1 record. Buffalo has

TORONTO (AP) — The Board of Governors of the University of Toronto agreed Friday to a one-year contract with the Toronto Rifles to allow the Continental Football League team to play at Varsity Stadium next season.

The midtown stadium has 21,727 permanent seats with half of them between the goal lines. Installation of track seats can increase the capacity to 25,000. The Rifles played their home games at Maple Leaf Stadium this year.

Eight Cars Qualify in '500' Stock Race

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Eight more cars were added to the inaugural American 500 stock car race field Friday, even as mechanical troubles began to show up among some of the factory Fords already in the line-up.

Four of the front-running 1965 Fords went to the garage with blown engines, apparently resulting from gearing problems on the brand new one-mile asphalt North Carolina Motor Speedway.

Drivers involved included Junior Johnson, who starts second in the 44-car Sunday field; Fred Lorenzen, who starts sixth; Gale Yarbrough, who starts seventh; and Ned Jarrett, who qualified in 12th position.

Pit crew chiefs said the blown engines resulted from attempts to increase the horsepower needed for the gear ratio that will have to be used on the highly-banked track.

CRUISE AROUND

While the Fords were having their troubles, pole winner Richard Petty and the other Chrysler products cruised the track in practice at speeds around 115 miles per hour. The two factory-backed Plymouths and two Dodges apparently had found the gear-horsepower ratio.

G.C. Spencer, a top independent, qualified his 1964 Ford in 17th position to top the day's time trials. His four-lap average was 113.136.

Others getting into the line-up included Bobby Johns, 1964 Pontiac, 109.526; Jabe Thomas, 1964 Ford, 109.837; Gene Elliott, 1965 Chevrolet, 108.441; Larry Hess, 1964 Ford, 107.554; Lionel Johnson, 1964 Ford, 107.921; John Sears, 1964 Ford, 106.999; and Paul Lewis, 1964 Ford, 106.961.

The Smokey Yunick Chevrolet, considered one of the top products, still was not qualified, although driver Bunkie Blackburn had it cruising at 115 miles per hour by mid-afternoon.

On a final warmup run, however, the car was black-flagged off the track because of a broken sway bar.

Six more cars will be selected Saturday via time trials, with the remaining 14 to be decided in the order of finish in a 25-lap consolation race. Only Yunick's Chevrolet among the better cars remains out of the field.

35-Yard FG Nets Victory

A 35-yard field goal, first in 13 years at Deckerville, gave Deckerville a 9-7 victory over North Branch last night.

Gerry Phillips gave Deckerville a 6-0 lead with a one yard plunge, but two plays later in the second period, Doug Louwers went 65 yards for a North Branch TD. John McNally passed to end Jim Robinson for the extra point and the 7-6 lead.
