History Shows Temporary Taxes, Like Surcharge, Linger

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Temporary taxes have had a way of lingering on — almost permanently.

But government officials say they don't want that to happen to the proposed temporary 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes sent to Congress by President Johnson.

His plan calls for the surcharge to expire June 30, 1969, or to continue only so long as the Vietnam war if the war lasts beyond that date.

Top officials say they hope this timetable can be kept. But a look at some past "temporary taxes" makes the outlook bleak.

★ ★ ★

Consider the fate of extra taxes imposed or old ones increased during World War II and the Korean War. Many of them — chiefly excise taxes — were put in the temporary category and called for on grounds of war needs.

But many lingered on for years afterward.

Congress adopted in 1965 a major reduction and elimination of excise taxes which dated from the depression of the 1930s and World War II. Johnson strongly supported the measure.

But it's been hard to remove a temporary tax once it works its way into the system.

Take, for example, the tax on transportation. It was first enacted during World War I, expired after the war but was re-established for World War II.

Part of it — a 5 per cent tax on air transportation — lingers on. A 10 per cent tax on train rides finally was repealed in 1962.

The alcohol tax of $9.50 per gallon was raised "temporarily" to $10.50 during the Korean War but was later made permanent.

News Analysis

Officials said a "temporary tax on theater admissions and other amusements was first enacted during World War I. It was in use during World War II and the Korean War but was repealed in 1965.

Long-standing "temporary taxes on luggage, jewelery and furs went out in 1965.

★ ★ ★

Although the administration has worked to rid the tax system of as many excises as possible, it now wants to postpone some reductions which are scheduled to go into effect early next year.

REPEAL SCHEDULE

On April 1, the 7 per cent manufacturer's auto excise tax is scheduled to fall to 2 per cent and to 1 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969. The 10 per cent excise tax on telephone service is scheduled to fall to 1 per cent on April 1 to be eliminated on Jan. 1, 1969.

★ ★ ★

These rates had been substantially higher during wartime.

Johnson now has asked Congress to postpone the first drops to July 1, 1969, and the second drops to Jan. 1, 1970, as part of his new tax package.

U. of M. Grad Among New Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Space Agency has 11 new scientist-astronauts who may spend days on the moon, weeks in space stations circling earth or months flying to Mars or other planets.

Selected for their scientific rather than piloting background, the fledgling spacemen swelled the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's astronaut corps to 56.

Among the 11 is a professor of astronomy who earned his doctorate at the University of Michigan.

All must learn to fly jets before taking a space trip.

NASA said they came into the program to train to "conduct scientific experiments in manned orbiting satellites and to observe and investigate the lunar surface and circumterrestrial space."

They join five others in the scientist-astronaut category who joined in 1965.

A Manned Spacecraft Center official formally announced the all-civilian group yesterday.

All hold doctor's degrees, either in the sciences or medicine. They are:

- Joseph P. Allen, 30, research associate at the University of Washington.
- Philip K. Chapman, 32, naturalized U.S. citizen from Melbourne, Australia; staff physicist at the Experimental Astronomy Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.
- Anthony W. England, 25, graduate fellow at MIT, doctorate in geophysics.
- Karl G. Henize, 40, professor of astronomy. Northwestern University; graduate of the University of Virginia and the University of Michigan where he earned a doctorate in astronomy; married to the former Caroline Rose Weber of Bay City, Mich.
- Donald L. Holmquest, 28, intern at Methodist Hospital in Houston, Graduate of the Baylor University College of Medicine.
- William B. Lenoir, 28, electrical engineering doctorate from MIT, an associate professor at MIT.
- John A. Llewellyn, 34, born in Cardiff, Wales, an associate professor at Florida State University, doctorate in chemistry from University, College, Cardiff.
- F. Story Musgrave, 31, doctorate in physiology from the University of Kentucky, where he is a postdoctoral fellow.
- Brian T. O'Leary, 27, Ph. D. in California, NASA trainee at Space Sciences Laboratory, Department of Astronomy, University of California.
- Robert A. Parker, 30, associate professor of astronomy, University of Wisconsin, astronomy doctorate from the California Institute of Technology.
- William E. Thornton, 38, M.D. from the University of North Carolina until recently a researcher in Air Force space-program.

DESTINATION: MOON — Dr. Robert A. R. Parker, 30, an astronomer at the University of Wisconsin, talks to newsmen after his selection yesterday as one of 11 new U.S. scientist-astronauts. Parker said he applied "for kicks, to see what would happen, to see if I could make it." Behind him is a photograph of the moon.

Girl Missing in Oklahoma; Fears Spread

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Fears for the safety of young girls in this capital city area began to spread among its half-million population today as the search for 6-year-old Brenda Lois White entered its third day.

Brenda is the second child to disappear here within a month.

On July 6, 5-year-old Judith Ann Elwell disappeared from her home in northwest Oklahoma City. She has not been seen since.

Mrs. Bob White of Midwest City, 10 miles southeast of Oklahoma City, reported her daughter missing late Thursday after the girl's bicycle was found at a grocery store about two blocks from the family home.

Authorities immediately launched a search which included men on horseback, in helicopters and on foot in the soggy area.

As many as 400 persons, including some National Guardsmen and volunteers from Tinker Air Force Base at Midwest City, searched vainly yesterday in a soaking rain.

"We're all getting worn . . . We're tired out. And not a lead one . . . Nothing," Midwest City Police Chief Ernest Bailey said late yesterday.

He had gone sleepless for some 39 hours in directing the hunt.

★ ★ ★

"I don't think she is around here," said the father, who drove nonstop from St. Louis Thursday night after learning of the girl's disappearance.

'THOROUGH SEARCH'

White said the search has been thorough and that she "would have been found" if still in the vicinity.

Bailey said the White girl's disappearance "looks identical with the Elwell case. There is no doubt about it."

Lt. Jim Reading, Oklahoma City police officer in charge of the Elwell investigation, agreed.

★ ★ ★

"I was afraid of something like this (another missing girl) several weeks ago when we ran into one blank wall after another," he said.

Chrysler Unionists to Meet

Topic: Plant Issues

DETROIT (AP)—In a move aimed at forestalling localized strikes over at-the-plant issues, the United Auto Workers Union is calling the leaders of its Chrysler locals across the country to Detroit next week.

National contract negotiations at Chrysler will be recessed from Monday through Wednesday for union meetings with about 150 representatives of 70 Chrysler bargaining units.

Douglas Fraser, UAW Chrysler director, said a primary purpose will be to discuss with local leaders at-the-plant issues and decide which, if any, should be moved to the national bargaining table for decision.

Local working agreements supplement national contracts at Chrysler, General Motors and Ford which expire Sept. 6.

★ ★ ★

In 1964 localized strikes crippled both General Motors and Ford after agreement had been reached on a national contract.

BETTER INFORMED

Fraser said the newly called Detroit conference would serve to keep Chrysler's 95,000 UAW members better informed on what is happening in national bargaining.

Local issues were a matter of debate between the UAW and Ford as they wound up their fourth week of negotiations at the national table.

Both the union and company expressed concern about the number of issues still unresolved at the plant level.

Outlook Is Sunny

"In the Good Old Summertime" might well be the theme song of residents in all southeast and southwest Lower Michigan for the weekend. The U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts fair and warm through tomorrow.

The official Weather Bureau report looks like this:

TODAY — Sunny and mild. High 78 to 80. Tonight fair and cool, low 54 to 58.

TOMORROW — Sunny and warmer, high in the 80s.

MONDAY — Warm with chance of showers.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent: Today and tonight near zero, Sunday 10.

Horse Judging to End Fair

The Oakland County 4-H Fair will conclude its best year with horse competition tonight.

Record crowds have been flocking

to see the youngsters display their best efforts as well as to attend the carnival.

The horse competition starts at 8 p.m. with 35 finalists displaying their accomplishments in breeding, riding and training.

Last night's events included awarding of trophies to about 45 winning youngsters in various fields of competition.

★ ★ ★

This year's fair, favored by excellent weather, except for Thursday's rain, has been labeled the biggest ever, judging by the number of cars and the cash receipts.

FACILITIES TAXED

At times the facilities at Perry and Walton were taxed by the visiting crowds, especially as in relation to parking.

However, the county 4-H'ers have plans for larger facilities in Springfield Township, pending the County board of supervisors' approval.

Reactions Vary to Rain Deluge in the Northeast

NEW YORK (AP) — A Flushing, N.Y. homeowner stood at the steps of his newly finished basement, bemoaning the warps in the knotty pine walls and the moldy football on the floor.

A Long Valley, N.J., woman looked out the window of her home at the back yard brook.

"Usually it babbles so nicely," she said. "This morning it looked like something Bobby Kennedy could ride a kayak in. Real white water."

A Boston man took one look at the gray sky and walked to the closet for his three constant companions — a pair of rubbers, a raincoat and an umbrella.

The problem is rain — and after five years without it, residents in the Northeast are being deluged with it.

★ ★ ★

"Our problem now is not too little water, but too much," said a spokesman for the Delaware River Basin Commission, a four-state agency which serves 20 million persons in New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey.

The Weather Bureau at Boston reported only 10 days without rain last month and "a lot of complaints, particularly that the rain has been too frequent."

While baseball players, sun worshipers onion farmers and umbrella carriers can't wait to get rid of the rain, indoor sports fans, corn farmers, policemen and lawns soak it up.

"I love indoor activities," said Jean Bednarik, a 21-year-old blonde secretary from Astoria, N.Y. "My skin is very light, so I can't sit in the sun. When the sun is out everyone goes to the beach but me. But when it rains everyone runs to cocktail lounges or house parties or different amusement areas which are sheltered."

Viet Consensus Seen by Envoys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential envoys Clark Clifford and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor returned from their Southeast Asian trip today reporting they found general agreement among the allies on how to push ahead with the Vietnam war.

★ ★ ★

"A great degree of consensus," was how Taylor summed up the attitude of allied leaders on which he was slated to report to President Johnson this afternoon.

"There was unanimous agreement among all the allies that the bombing should be carried on at its present level or possibly at an increased level," Clifford added.

And there was no reluctance expressed about sending more troops to Vietnam from other allied countries, Taylor said, "because we were not asking for more troops."

★ ★ ★

Johnson dispatched the two senior presidential advisers to talk with the chiefs of the countries who have forces fighting the Communists in Vietnam.

Their two-week trip took them to South Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea.

Clifford described their mission as "a stock-taking trip" rather than one in which any decisions were reached.

"It was not the type of trip in which decisions were made or decisions were reached," he said.

U.S. Jets Keep Pressure on N. Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes kept up heavy pressure on North Vietnam Friday, flying 145 missions after a record 197 strikes the previous day, and a main target was the Communist guns which were shooting at them.

Air Force F105 Thunderchief pilots reported they destroyed at least 17 antiaircraft gun emplacements around the airfield and railroad yard at Kep, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Other pilots flew through heavy antiaircraft fire and surface-to-air missiles to hit other military targets and fuel storage areas.

The Communist fire brought down a Navy Skyhawk, and the pilot was missing. It was the 636th announced U.S. warplane loss over the North.

Ground fighting continued in one of its periodic lulls, but South Vietnamese military headquarters said three infantry sweeps in the Vietcong-infested Mekong Delta had accounted for a total of 469 enemy dead in nine days.

The Vietcong struck again at two U.S. military installations near Saigon.

* * *

For the second time in 10 days, the Communists unleashed a mortar attack on the base camp of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade at Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon.

The attack Friday night killed one American and wounded eight. A Communist rocket and mortar barrage on the base camp July 27 killed 11 U.S. soldiers and wounded 43.

The U.S. naval base at Nhe Be, eight miles southeast of Saigon, came under Communist recoilless rifle attack early today for the second time in three days.

The Navy said Communists fired eight or nine rounds of 75mm recoilless rifle rounds into the complex, but that only two hit the base. The others landed in the Long Tao river bordering the base, from which Navy patrol boats conduct operations against the Vietcong in the delta.

The Navy said there were no casualties and only light damage to the facilities. In a heavier mortar and recoilless rifle shelling of the base and a nearby petroleum tank farm Thursday, 27 Americans and six Vietnamese were wounded and 1,000 55-gallon drums of fuel went up in flames.

2 Senators Dispute Program-Hate Link

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate champion of the war on poverty says the program is imperiled by "stabs in the back" falsely linking its men and money with racial hatred and Negro rioting.

But a Southern senator said such charges against antipoverty agencies have not been proved false.

* * *

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said in his view the charges were substantiated by the very witness summoned to deny them.

"We serve nobody's interests except the fellow that wants to cause a riot by whacking at the poverty program," said Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., criticizing the course of a Senate Judiciary Committee inquiry into Negro rioting. Eastland heads the committee.

PROGRAM FACES TROUBLE

President Johnson's $2 billion poverty program request already faces trouble in Congress.

"This is sure as hell not helping," Hart said in an interview. "It doesn't need this kind of stabs in the back, unverified charges and irrelevancies."

* * *

Another defense of the poverty program came Friday from the Rev. J. Paschall Davis, who denied the Nashville, Tenn., antipoverty agency he heads has funneled funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity to a school accused of teaching Negro children to hate white people.

He told the Judiciary Committee that funds have been allocated for that school program, and a contract has been signed—but if it teaches race hatred no money will go to it.

"We've made mistakes," he acknowledged, and cited as one of them a transaction which put the Nashville chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee in possession of a new station wagon leased by the local poverty agency.

Romney Says U.S. Lacking Global Plan

CHAUTAUQUA, N.Y. (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney, linking domestic racial strife with U.S. foreign policy, warns that this country lacks "a cohesive world strategy for the long run."

* * *

Romney, a possible 1968 Republican presidential candidate, added in an address to 10,000 persons Friday night at Chautauqua Institution:

"I believe we are in danger of 'hip-pocketing' crucial international decisions. I believe we have placed more emphasis on the problems of today than on the purpose of tomorrow."

"Vietnam is an example," the governor continued. "Our preoccupation with Vietnam has infected many important relationships in other areas of the world. In terms of over - all American interests, the Vietnam tail is wagging the global dog."

Romney's address was interrupted frequently by applause at the amphitheatre of the institution, a privately run cultural, educational and religious center in the southwestern corner of New York State.

PAUL IGNATIUS

New Secretary of Navy Picked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has picked Paul R. Ignatius, assistant defense secretary, to be secretary of the Navy, a post left open by the death of former nominee John T. McNaughton.

Nomination of Ignatius, a Los Angeles native who has been with the Defense Department since 1961, was announced Friday by the White House. It must be confirmed by the Senate. Ignatius currently is assistant defense chief for installations and logistics.

McNaughton's appointment had been approved by the Senate but he was killed July 19 in a North Carolina air crash. McNaughton, whose wife and son also died in the crash, had not yet assumed the post.

The Navy secretary's office has been vacant since July 1, when Paul H. Nitze was elevated to deputy secretary of defense.

In other moves set off by Ignatius' nomination, the White House said Johnson has:

—Approved reassignment of Thomas D. Morris, now assistant secretary of defense for manpower, to fill Ignatius' present post.

—Accepted the resignation of Norman S. Paul as undersecretary of the Air Force, effective Sept. 1, and nominated Townsend Hoopes, deputy assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, to succeed Paul.

Embassy Fight in Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Communist Chinese inside a well-barricaded embassy drove back a mob of 300 Indonesian youths with small arms fire today as the youths smashed into the embassy compound and set fire. Three youths were seriously wounded.

One of 100 Indonesian soldiers who arrived to control the outbreak also was wounded seriously by the volley from the embassy.

After the initial outburst, the Chinese, believed to number about 20, kept their positions inside building, and an uneasy lull came.

YMCA Truck Flips; 5 Killed, 30 Injured

FREMONT, Calif. (AP)— The overturning of a flatbed truck carrying YMCA youngsters on an outing took the lives of four youngsters and a YMCA summer worker Friday.

A California highway patrolman said he saw the truck veer onto a raised strip that divides the Nimitz Freeway. The vehicle somersaulted and landed on its side, scattering its 70 passengers on the strip and road.

* * *

The dead:

Janet Cotton, 10, of Berkeley, Calif.

Mark Linde, 9, of Seattle, Wash.

Eric Lowe, 7, of Berkeley.

Burton Garnett, 11, of Berkeley.

Helen King, 22, a YMCA summer worker from Woodside, Calif.

30 HOSPITALIZED

Some 30 are in hospitals and one is in critical condition.

The truck, rented by the Berkeley YMCA for its "Summer Fun Club," had taken 62 youngsters and eight staff members Friday morning to Santa Cruz, some 100 miles south of Berkeley. It was returning at 4:30 p.m. when it turned over in Fremont, 30 miles south of Berkeley.

* * *

The Highway Patrol said it could find no mechanical defect in the truck. One tire was found flat, but officers could not tell whether it went flat before or after the accident.

Red Skipper Again Caught in U.S. Zone

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Soviet trawler skipper Daniel Baronik remained in the Alaska state jail Saturday in lieu of $10,000 bail after he was charged Friday with violation of the exclusive 12-mile U.S. fisheries zone.

Baronik appeared before U.S. Commissioner James Hanson who set bail and ordered the Russian held. Arraignment was postponed until Monday to permit the arrival of Soviet Embassy officials from Washington.

* * *

Baronik's vessel was seized by the Coast Guard Thursday after a three-mile chase north of Akutan Island in the Aleutians and escorted to Dutch Harbor. Baronik and a crew member were flown here Friday.

It was the second time in six months that the 180-foot refrigerator vessel, the SRTM 8-457, has been picked up for fishing violations. In the first instance, skipper Leonid M. Kuschenko was fined $10,000.

2 Bound Over in Riot Sniping

DETROIT (AP) — Two Negroes accused as snipers in last week's riot were bound over Friday for trial.

Y. T. Morrison, 37, and his brother, O. B. Morrison, 23, both of Detroit, were charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

They are accused of firing from a speeding car at an East Side police station July 24.

Bond was set at $50,000 each. No trial date was set.

SHOT FIRED

Police testified at examination Friday that a shot was fired from a passing car. Patrolman Lee Brown testified he fired back, shattering the auto's windshield. The vehicle was stopped by a National Guard patrol.

Brown said the occupants were the Morrison brothers.

Hungarians Hold Yank, 24

Accused of Helping Alien Cross Border

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "Dick has always been out to help someone," Mrs. Richard Goos said when she was told her 24-year-old son had been arrested in Hungary.

The Hungarian Foreign Ministry announced Friday night that Richard Goos of Hamilton, Ohio, had been arrested on a charge of helping a foreign citizen cross the border illegally out of that Communist country. The announcement did not include the date or circumstances of the arrest.

* * *

Goos' father, a Hamilton real estate man, said in a telephone interview that his son had written about going on a trip to Hungary and Yugoslavia after completing a year as an exchange student at the University of Bonn on July 29. The younger Goos had majored in government at Indiana University.

"All we can do now is wait and hope," the father said. "I hope it turns out to be just a misunderstanding."

NO IDEA WHY

Both parents said they had no idea why the Hungarians might have wanted to arrest their son. His last letter from West Germany talked about his final examinations, getting a visa for the trip and plans to help a school friend with the harvest before returning home.

"He was only going to be in Budapest for three days," Goos said. "He wrote he would be traveling with a friend who is going to study medicine at IU."

* * *

The younger Goos was to have returned to the United States on Aug. 30.

Official Wounded Critically in Macomb

A township supervisor and father of seven children was wounded critically by a gunman early today in the Macomb County community of Muttonville, about 17 miles east of Romeo.

Romeo State Police identified the victim as Desmond Stern, 44, of Richmond.

Stern, they said, is supervisor of Casco Township in St. Clair County.

He is listed in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital in Mount Clemens with a gunshot wound in the right temple.

* * *

The shooting occurred at the Cavalier Gas Station, Gratiot at M 19 at 1:50 a.m., police said.

PART-TIME EMPLOYE

Stern was employed part-time at the station as an attendant and was on duty at the time of the shooting.

A neighbor, who witnessed the shooting, told police the intruder escaped on foot.

Police are searching for a motive. No money apparently was taken from the gas station or the victim.

* * *

The witness said he saw Stern running away from his assailant just prior to the shooting.

The gunman was described as a white man in his late 30s, about 5-10, stockily-built, balding and wearing a light-blue work shirt.

Police said a small caliber gun was used.

* * *

Yul, the Pontiac State Police post's tracking dog, followed the suspect's scent north on Gratiot about a block before losing it, indicating the gunman may have entered a car at that point.

The Macomb County Sheriff's department also provided assistance.

News Briefs at a Glance

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Historymobile—a traveling museum on wheels—will be driven into a garage at the end of August because of lack of funds to continue its tour of the state.

Secretary of State James Hare's office said the tight budget given the State Historical Commission by the Legislature forced the April-to-November tour to be cut short this year.

Charge for Parking Hit

LANSING (AP) — A state employes group has charged discrimination — noting that rank-and-file state workers are charged for parking while legislators park for free. The 16,800-member State Employes Association objected because state workers are being charged $2.50 biweekly to park on three lots near the two main state office buildings in Lansing.

Station Sale Sanctioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced yesterday it has approved the sale of radio station WJOR, South Haven, Mich., to the Van Buren County Broadcasting Co., Inc., for $135,000.

Pianist Will Perform

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Pianist Eugene List is scheduled to play with the Northwestern Michigan Symphony Orchestra in a benefit concert Oct. 14 for the Joseph E. Maddy Interlochen Memorial Fund, it was announced today. List teaches at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y.

Curve Reflectors Eyed

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department is conducting a study to determine the effectiveness of new reflecting curve markers for night driving. The 3-inch-by-12-inch rectangular markers have been placed on all curves greater than three degrees on rural state highways other than freeways. The markers are designed to reflect headlights so curve outlines can be seen well in advance for approaching motorists.

First Checks of Program

EAST LANSING (AP) — The first checks have been distributed to participating communities under a law establishing the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council. Police agencies representing 76 city, township and sheriff departments were mailed checks totaling $58,826. The money represents a 50 per cent reimbursement for salaries and living expenses of 263 officers who attended 12 approved area police training schools.

State Milk Output Dips

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's milk handlers processed 4.6 million pounds of milk in 1966, down 7 per cent from the 4.9 million pounds processed in 1965, the Michigan Crop Reporting Service said yesterday. Butter production was 30.5 million pounds, down less than 1 per cent, while 36.4 million pounds of cheese produced was 3 per cent below the 1965 figure.

Promotions Announced

EAST LANSING (AP) — Promotion of State Police Cpls. William H. Carter and Bernard F. Schrader to the rank of sergeant was announced yesterday by Col. Frederick E. Davis, director. Carter is the department's water safety expert and supervisor of the underwater recovery squad and Schrader is ordnance officer and manager and coach of the department pistol team. Both are attached to East Lansing headquarters.

Reminder to Guardsmen

LANDING (AP)— Michigan National Guardsmen who were federalized under the recent riot emergency are reminded they have reemployment rights under the Universal Military Training and Service Act. Charles Fleming of the U.S. Department of Labor said the law states: "Upon return to his job the Guardsman shall be reinstated by his employer with such seniority, status, pay rate and other rights and benefits that he would have had, had he not been ordered to active duty."

Conservatory Is Adding Art Classes in the Fall

BIRMINGHAM — The new owners hope to bring a new image to the Birmingham Conservatory of Music and Arts.

Part of the new image is the "and Arts" added to the former institution.

Co-owner Cliff Morris announced fall classes will include a graphic and plastic arts department in addition to music studies.

Another part of the new image will be a different building at 772 E. Maple, across the street from the former premises.

Morris pointed out his school is a registered nonprofit corporation. "We are dedicated to good music and hope we can find acceptance from the community," he said.

PROUD OF TEACHERS

Morris is especially proud of the staff of teachers, most of them associated with the former owners with new members added in the expansion.

"Our instructors include some of the finest veterans of the Detroit Symphony. Every one of the staff is an 'involved' sort of person," he said.

Another innovation at the school will be a music appreciation course to begin in the fall.

* * *

Morris said the new organization hopes to expand its workshop program in organizing various musical groups among the enrolled students.

SCHOLARSHIPS PLANNED

He said the school plans to offer scholarships, depending on available funds, to needy, promising students.

* * *

The school is centrally located to serve the county, and Morris said, "There is a great need for the type of school we intend to develop."

2 New Blows for McNamara

Prime Projects Feel Senate Panel's Ax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has dealt new blows to two of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's prime projects—the controversial F111D jet planes and massive ships intended to serve as floating military warehouses.

The actions came Friday as the Senate panel sent to the floor a massive $70.16 billion defense money bill, including $20 billion for Vietnam war costs. The total was slightly less than the $70.23 billion defense measure approved by Congress for the past fiscal year, which ended June 30.

* * *

Committee members conceded privately the $20 billion Vietnam total will fall short of meeting actual costs, especially after President Johnson's announcement Thursday he is dispatching 45,000 to 50,000 more troops to the Southeast Asia conflict.

The better than $70 billion okayed by the committee was $1.4 billion below Johnson's budget requests and $139 million less than the House approved June 13.

The Senate committee accepted House action in denying $300 million that McNamara requested for construction of a fleet of fast deployment logistic ships.

The defense chief has said the floating arsenals would allow the United States to move quickly to avert crises. But some Senate critics have said use of such ships could result in U.S. involvement in future conflicts such as Vietnam.

The Senate panel also reduced from $287 million to $115 million funds to build the F111D jets—the Navy version of the long controversial TFX. The House version cut funds for the swing-wing interceptor to $208 million.

The plane has been designated by McNamara for use by all services. Designers have encountered weight problems in attempting to fit the plane to aircraft carrier use.

Light Agenda Faces Board in Waterford

A light agenda is in store for Waterford Township board members at their 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday.

Excluding reports, only four items are on the agenda.

The board will consider approval of the preliminary land plan for Lakeland Estates No. 2 Subdivision, which has been recommended for approval by the Township Planning Commission.

At the request of a group of residents, the board will hold a discussion on a proposed sanitary sewer project for parts of Marion, Elizabeth Lake, Voorheis, Chadwick and Colrain.

* * *

Bids previously were opened for the project, but rejected because they were too high. Since then, engineers have launched a study of the undertaking.

RESIDENTS ANXIOUS

The residents apparently are anxious for the project to proceed.

In other business Monday, the board will consider a request for transfer of ownership of a 1967 SDM licensed-business at 6500 Hatchery from L. Clare Kramp to Charles F. and Marjorie Martin and Lee R. and L. Marlene Stark.

* * *

A request for a lot split on property at Airport Road and M59 also will be up for consideration.

Thorburn Cites City Man Who Refuses to Testify

A Pontiac man with a long string of gambling arrests was cited for contempt of court yesterday by Oakland County Grand Juror James S. Thorburn.

The contempt charge against Basil W. Burke, 68, was the second such action taken by Thorburn in as many days.

On Thursday, John Johns, 53, of Ferndale was cited for contempt for refusing to answer questions before the grand juror.

Burke also was cited for refusing to answer questions.

* * *

He repeatedly failed to answer, according to grand jury records of the proceedings filed with the county clerk's office, or just simply nodded his head when queried by special prosecutor Jerome K. Barry.

NO REASON

Burke would give no reason to investigators as to why he would not answer questions.

"Mr. Burke, we are not looking for glory," said Barry. "We are just trying to do our job."

"I know that," said Burke, "No disrespect to you but there is nothing I can say or nothing that I can do. So I might just as well take the contempt."

* * *

A hearing is scheduled for Friday before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem as to why Burke should not be held in contempt.

JOHNS CITED

The day earlier Johns was cited for refusing to say whether or not he was a bag (collection) man for alleged Mafia chief Tony Giacalone.

Burke has been arrested a number of times on gambling charges, and in 1951 began serving a 1- to 5-year prison sentence for a gambling conviction stemming from a 1946 Grand Jury conducted by the late Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick.

In 1959, a gambling charge against Burke and Mrs. G. J. Gullett, wife of a former Pontiac deputy treasurer, was dismissed in Circuit Court because of insufficient evidence.

* * *

Burke has a police record dating back to 1924.

NOT THE WAY IT HAPPENED? — This is the statue of Lady Godiva in Coventry, England, where a report claims she didn't ride nude through the streets of the town in the 11th century. The report was prepared for the 900th anniversary of her death on Sept. 9. Lady Godiva's ride was supposed to have been in protest against cruel taxes laid on the people by her husband.

Lady Godiva Buffs Learn Naked Truth in Report

COVENTRY, England (AP) — The naked truth about Lady Godiva is that she didn't ride nude through the streets of Coventry, says a report prepared for the 900th anniversary of her death.

To help commemorate the anniversary, Sept. 9, the Coventry City Council asked Joan Lancaster and Dr. Hilda Davidson to write a book. Miss Lancaster, formerly the city's archivist, is now archivist for Britain's Commonwealth Relations Office.

* * *

"Lady Godiva may have ridden in a beggar's garb on a horse without a saddle," she says. "But we feel strongly that she would not ride around naked in the 11th century. That sort of thing just would not happen."

She said she has studied ancient documents that say only that "Lady Godiva was stripped of all signs of her rank—not that she was stripped naked, or that she stripped."

'STORY EXAGGERATED'

Dr. Davidson, a former university lecturer, observed: "The story of the ride has been exaggerated until people accept that she did ride around naked."

Lady Godiva's ride was supposed to have been in protest against cruel taxes laid on the people by her husband, Leofric.

* * *

"There is no real evidence to suggest that any protest took place," said Miss Lancaster. "If she did ride through the streets it is much more likely that she was 'stripped' of all signs of rank to associate with the common people."

* * *

If the two ladies are right, the world owes an apology to the original Peeping Tom. A Coventry tailor named Tom is supposed to have been the only citizen who peeped at her ladyship on her ride.

A Fine Humanitarian Takes His Leave

A dedicated worker for the salvation of the desolate leaves his Pontiac post to assume a similar one in Flint.

ALDER

Brig. ERNEST ALDER who established the local Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center 10 years ago has seen the facility grow from a four-truck operation to a fleet of 15 trucks. Salvation Army officials call it one of the Country's foremost enterprises of its kind.

The Center is a rehabilitation depot for men who gather salvaged material, recondition it, and sell it at a resale shop.

During his Pontiac assignment, the Brigadier has not only administered a flourishing and significant social establishment but has become prominently identified with civic and humanitarian activities. Additionally, he has won a host of friends who will deeply miss his engaging personality, ready smile and keen sense of humor.

ALDER will be succeeded August 30 by Major LEONARD ESPINOSA, a Salvation Army officer for 25 years and for the past three director of the Waukegan, Ill., center.

The PRESS joins the community in bidding ERNEST ALDER a reluctant farewell and extends the hand of welcome to his successor.

Bar Association Works and Plays in Hawaii

Now under way in Honolulu is the 90th annual meeting of the American Bar Association. The agenda is as topical as the day's headlines, with urban crime, abortion and wiretapping figuring prominently in reports, discussions and debates by 21 sections of the 250,000-member association and its policy-making House of Delegates.

Some 12,000 lawyers, judges, law professors and their families are in attendance at the 10-day work-and-play convention in which relaxation on Waikiki Beach will compete with learned seminars.

One of the stickiest issues on the convention's agenda is that of protecting a criminal defendant from harmful publicity, and will be reviewed by two separate bar groups. They will hear the so-called Reardon Report which recommends withholding of some crime news by police and court officers to insure a fair trial.

★ ★ ★

This proposal has been roundly attacked by the press as unnecessary and unconstitutional. The prospect is that it will be modified somewhat at Honolulu and then sent to the House of Delegates for approval when it meets in Chicago next February.

Auto Insurance Grows Increasingly Complex

Auto insurance ought to guarantee some peace of mind to the man who purchases it, but all too many of us know that it frequently produces headaches instead.

As the number of cars increases, so do the number of accidents and the number of lawsuits. The courts are so jammed that some damage cases take years to come to trial.

Then there is the matter of cancellations of insurance policies, for a variety of reasons — most doubtless fair, some perhaps questionable.

The insurance companies bear a heavy load. Juries are prone to vote huge sums for personal damage, which in turn increases the cost of auto policies. Lawyers are all too quick to file suits, since the company pays rather than the insured individual.

It has been years since the whole question of auto insurance has been reviewed at the national level, and now the time seems ripe. Rep. EMANUEL CELLER, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has been asked by two of his members to undertake a preliminary inquiry. Sen. WARREN G. MAGNUSON, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, has asked the Department of Transportation to make a separate study.

★ ★ ★

Where justice resides in this matter may be difficult to determine. Many policyholders feel that insurance companies treat them arbitrarily. In turn, many companies feel that they are the targets for frivolous or ill-founded lawsuits brought by the greedy.

The simplest way to narrow the gap is through a Federal investigation, either by Congress or by the Department of Transportation.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Mrs. Alan Rogovin, known to nearly everyone as Suzy, (has, through faith, overcome tremendous obstacles.

At the age of 11, Suzy developed a rare neurological condition. First she couldn't use her right hand, then her walk was involved, then loss of speech and control of neck muscles. Bitter, even at 11, she thought God had been unfair. But then her handicap seemed to give her greater insight and at 12 she wrote, with difficulty, an essy titled "What Judaism Means to Me." In it she said, ". . . I began to realize that feeling sorry for myself was not going to do any good, so I began to pray instead of cry. You would be surprised how much difference there was in my condition."

She learned to write poetry and paint well with awkward hands. She rode a bike and horses. Even won ribbons in horse shows. She graduated from public high school and was accepted at Skidmore College although at that time unable to write with either hand.

During her four years at college she had four major surgical operations which did much to improve her condition. After graduating with "meritorious achievement," Suzy had a successful career as an advertising copy writer before becoming Mrs. Alan Rogovin. Soon to become a mother, she will tell you:

"I have a little motto that I always say when I'm a little unsure of myself . . . If you have faith in God, nothing shall be impossible unto you."

Confident Living:

Remove Anxieties With Prayer

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

This is the story of a man who had a tough bout with mental illness and, believe it or not, he says he is actually glad of it for the experience brought important discoveries leading to a successful life.

DR. PEALE

But while in the throes of the suffering he was boxed into "a private hell" through lack of personality balance.

★ ★ ★

"At 23," the young man writes, "when a junior officer in the United States Navy, I was taken sick. Hospitalized at a naval hospital — the diagnosis was acute anxiety with depressional reaction.

"While having consultations with Navy psychiatrists I had much time to think and reflect on the past years of my young life. But still my mind remained foggy, and fears of everything assailed me from all sides.

★ ★ ★

"I was constantly afraid something was going to happen, but what I did not know.

"After a few weeks the doctors allowed me to live at home but consultations continued on a regular basis. They could not pinpoint any real cause for my illness.

"I prayed in desperation to be healed of my miserable state of mind. I had never prayed much. I had attended church in childhood but religion did not take up much room in my later life.

★ ★ ★

"One day I came across a column you had written. I thought that just maybe this could help. This was my start to a new life. I began to read the Bible and pray.

"Perhaps I was still praying out of desperation. I only know that God began to rule my life and take hold of my thoughts."

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile this officer was discharged from the Navy, and the couple moved to North Carolina. He found a job with a big bank. The young wife took a teaching job.

★ ★ ★

"I still had not been completely released from illness," he continues, "and had continuing consultations with a psychiatrist. Then suddenly one day a new truth came that the unrest of mind and spirit I was suffering was due to a hunger for God.

"Slowly, as I began to fill my life with prayer and faith, anxiety and depression subsided.

★ ★ ★

"Recently I was promoted to assistant operations manager of the bank. I claim no sudden healing or emotional enlightenment. But I'm no longer consulting a doctor and never felt more vibrant and full of life.

★ ★ ★

"I know now that 'All things work together for good to them that love God.'

"I am grateful for this experience, bad as it seemed at the time. I shall always be thankful for it as a blessing in disguise."

The young man's experience points up the important fact that we face a danger of unhappiness and failure, even breakdown, by neglecting essential needs of mind and soul.

Take time for God — It is the way to health of body, mind and soul.

Negro Likened to Early Immigrant

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Until 13 years ago most Negroes in America were like a horde of immigrants held 300 years in a U.S. office off-shore, waiting to be admitted.

MARLOW

All that time they were within this country's territorial limits but never allowed to land.

First there had been slavery and, when that ended, segregation that continued until the Supreme Court in 1954 declared the very principle of segregation unconstitutional.

Until that day Negroes had been kept out of the mainstream of American life, never permitted to be full participants, with their actions and ambitions restricted by discriminations pasted on a thousand closed doors.

When the segregation barrier went down, they still had to endure prejudice, which was one of the main handicaps of the European immigrant who came here in the 19th and early 20th centuries.

It is hard for anyone who did not grow up in the early part of this century, surrounded by immigrants and their descendants, to recognize the similarity between these newcomers' problems and those of the Negro since 1954.

But take an example, say the west side of New York City along the Hudson River, about 20 blocks called "Hell's Kitchen," the toughest section of the city at the time and one of the poorest.

There they were, block after block of tenement houses, five stories high, three apartments to a floor, 15 families in all, each restricted to a four-room flat without hot water, only gas for light, only the kitchen stove for heat.

Take a time, say between 1900 and 1915. There would be three generations in a typical block of Germans and Irish or Italians.

★ ★ ★

The immigrant mother and father, usually ignorant; their sons and daughters who never had much schooling because they had to go to work early to help out; and the grandchildren, a few of whom might get to high school but far fewer to college.

It was the newer generation each time, thanks to the struggle of the parents, which did a little better than its ancestors through a little more schooling and, therefore, a little better opportunity.

There wasn't much room for the immigrant's grandchildren, the second generation Americans, to play in four-room flats. If they weren't the kind that could stay in and read they had to play on the streets. Some became gangsters.

Youths with Irish and German grandparents on 47th Street fought youths with Irish and German grandparents on 46th Street. They used sticks, stones, knives, bottles. Or the two groups teamed up to fight the Italians.

Far and away most of the immigrants and their descendants worked hard. Some had neat homes. Some didn't. Youngsters born to poorly educated parents didn't get much encouragement to learn, no matter what the schools tried to do.

The climb up the economic-social ladder to comfortable middle-class status mostly took generations. This is also the story of Negroes now for the first time trying to find their identity in American life.

Washington Notebook:

Riots Put Damper on Exuberance

By DAVE BURGIN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Humor has always been an integral part of the Washington scene — the politicking, the decision-making.

In the White House in the Pentagon, on Capitol Hill, in the State Department, there's always a good story or a good line or a funny scene every week — something to spread through the halls for a good laugh and something for reporters and newscasters to pepper their work for "a lighter touch."

★ ★ ★

But because of Newark and Detroit, Milwaukee and the threat of the next ghetto riot, humor today in Washington is hard to find.

"I haven't laughed in two weeks," said Rep. Albert Quie (R-Minn.).

Some try. The multitude of newsletters and other politically partisan publications which come out here weekly still contain their "humor" features.

Take two items from the Republican Congressional Committee Newsletter, for example:

"LBJ says riots and civil disturbances will not be tolerated. Encouraged maybe—but not tolerated.

"The same administration that plans Vietnam strategy is now trying to cope with domestic riots. Vietnam, of course is the 'longest war!' Now it looks as though this will be the 'endless summer.'"

On a "normal" week, dealing with a "normal" political issue, the two GOP jibes at President Johnson would have evoked the usual chuckles. Lately it is not the same.

So it was in the Congress when House comedians were out full force in the debate over whether to debate the now infamous "Rat Bill."

This measure, which would have provided $40 million over two years to help exterminate disease-carrying, crop-destroying rats in the slums and on the farms, was beaten, in effect, rather soundly.

★ ★ ★

The debate to debate the "Rat Bill" took place while Newark smouldered. Congress, in turning back the appropriation, was not saying that rats in the ghettos are not a problem.

It was saying that there is enough antirat money already, and that it was a state and local problem, not a federal one.

Newark answered that rats were one of many ghetto ills and needed immediate attention, no matter where it came from.

★ ★ ★

Still, the chaos of Newark wasn't yet in perspective and the tragedy of Detroit was still to come. Congress laughed in the Rat Bill debate. It hasn't since.

"I think it would be a rat smart thing to vote this down rat now," said one congressman on the House floor.

Said a Democrat: "Too expensive. This outlay, all things considered, comes to about $6 per rat to exterminate them."

"How about snakebite cases?" another in the House debate snickered. "How about bugs? Are we to forget about people bitten by bugs? Should we start a bug corps?"

Another got up and chortled that in his district there was one llama bite recorded last year.

So Congress had a laugh that day and so did some who saw it, talked about it, reported it or read it.

But that was while Newark was just lighting up. It was before Detroit, Milwaukee . . .

'Governor's Ideas Are Ideal for Michigan'

Our part-time governor deserves the commendation of all for his ideas as evidenced by his report to the people Sunday evening. Though largely utopian in character they are sane, sound, constructive, logical ideas which if carried to final fruition would produce for Detroit and Michigan an almost ideal place to work and live. Cheers for the Governor for his ideas and let us hope that some of them can be carried out. All people working together to this end could accomplish these goals.

'Khrushchev Not Shown in True Character'

It's a sad state of affairs when one of our largest TV stations will have a program on one of the greatest Communists the world has known and not show him in his true character, but try to build a kindly, benevolent person out of Nikita Khrushchev. At no time will they let us forget Hitler and his inhuman treatment of people, and rightly the world shouldn't forget. But here is a man ten times worse and they don't even condemn him, but try to impart to him an aura of respectability that ill fits this character.

★ ★ ★

Are they trying to lull us into believing that Soviet agreements are worth anything—that their objective of total domination has changed? The presentation of "World's Living Number One Criminal, Nikita Khrushchev" without a resume of his criminal actions is a fraudulent mistake upon humanity.

'Working Man Can't Afford More Taxes'

I don't see how an ordinary working man can possibly pay more taxes. Out of $600 monthly wages our family pays $49.60 Federal income tax; $26.40 Social Security tax; $30 lights, heat, water sewer and telephone; $185 car and truck payments; $67 house payment; $200 food; $20 school lunches and supplies for three grade school boys. That leaves $22 a month for medicine, clothes and entertainment. There isn't enough left to pay state and city income tax. If these taxes go through, every family will have to have two jobs to keep up with taxes.

Guard Did Best It Could, Says State Adjutant General

DETROIT (AP) — State Guardsman performed to the best of their ability during last week's racial violence in Detroit, the adjutant general of the Michigan National Guard said yesterday.

Maj. Gen. Clarence Schnipke made the statement in a letter to U.S. Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., who reportedly criticized the Guard for inefficiency despite 10,000 men and all the equipment required, said Schnipke.

"The problem was that the troops were not requested by the city of Detroit until the riot had expanded almost to its maximum intensity which was then too late," said Schnipke.

"I am sure you are aware that even with active Army troops and the entire Michigan National Guard it took almost four days and nights to bring some semblance of order."

Schnipke said the available strength of the guard was 8,000 men, not 10,000.

"You must be advised too," he added, "that we do not have all the equipment we need and that when 3,000 men in the 2nd Brigade were ordered to mobilize they were without transportation."

* * *

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, reportedly criticized the Guard for inefficiency in Detroit at the time our units arrived, I am convinced that another few hours of armory training in disturbances would not have changed the situation one bit.

* * *

Schnipke said that the Guard did not have sufficient training in civil disturbances and that "mistakes were made," but he said the units were committed piecemeal and, "In view of the conditions as they were in Detroit at the time our units arrived, I am convinced that another few hours of armory training in disturbances would not have changed the situation one bit.

"It is my firm and honest belief that it was not the inefficiency of the Michigan National Guardsmen which allowed the riot in Detroit to get out of control," he said.

SOLUTION FOR RIOT

"The solution for riot control lies in getting sufficient strength at the scene before it gets out of control and the authority to accomplish this does not rest with the National Guard."

Meanwhile, Detroit slowly began to return to normal as Guard units gradually were relieved for duty in some areas of the city. The entire force was expected to leave by the middle of next week.

* * *

The federal government said Guardsmen who were federalized during the riots have reemployment rights under the Universal Military Training and Service Act.

Two men arrested on sniper charges last week were bound over for trial Friday on charges of assault with intent to commit murder.

CHARGED WITH SHOOTING

Y.T. Morrison, 37, and his brother, O.B. Morrison, 23, both of Detroit, were accused of firing from a speeding car at a police station on the east side July 24.

Recorder's Judge Frank G. Schemanske set bond at $50,000 each, reduced from $200,000.

* * *

No trial date was set. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

Police officers testifying at the examination stated the Morrison's car was stopped a short distance away and a switchblade knife was taken from O. B. Morrison and a 38-caliber revolver, with a spent shell, was found near the police station shortly after the car passed.

RIOT DEATH TOLL

Detroit's riot death toll rose to 42 when fire fighter John Ashby died in a hospital. He suffered severe burns July 24 when a power line struck his metal helmet while he was fighting a fire set by arsonists on the east side.

Meanwhile, the Interfaith Emergency Council, made up of clergy from most major denominations, charged police with inhuman treatment of prisoners.

* * *

Arrests approached 6,000 and many men were held up to four days without their whereabouts being known, the council charged.

The council charged unreasonable bonds were set for minor crimes, sanitation conditions were deplorable and many prisoners were not fed for long periods of time.

'INEXCUSABLE CONFUSION'

"Our real concern is that there are people in jail who ought not to be," said Byron Wahls, a Detroit attorney. "There is absolute and inexcusable confusion in the courts as to where some of these defendants are. When their name is called for preliminary examination the police cannot even say where they are being held."

Bishop Dwight Loder, head of the Methodist Church in Michigan, said: The withdrawal, curtailment and repeal of...basic rights is shocking. They have been taken away in a wholesale manner."

The Bank of the Commonwealth said it will institute a formal loan program in conjunction with the Small Business Administration to expedite restoration of businesses and property damaged last week.

George W. Miller, bank president, said the long-term loans would be made available to customers at favorable interest rates.

Junior Editors Quiz on BUTTER

QUESTION: How did men find out about butter?

* * *

ANSWER: People have known about butter for a long time. The Greeks and Romans used it, not only as food, but as a medicine and for dressing the hair.

There is an old tradition as to how butter was discovered, which we illustrate. One hot day a man of the ancient Asian Aryan peoples was riding his horse on a bumpy road. He had a bag of sour goat's milk along. When he stopped to eat, the milk had changed to a thick yellow substance which tasted very good.

In some such way, it was found that when you shake milk sufficiently butter will form. At first the ancients produced it by swinging bags of milk.

Housewives in early American times set milk on crocks so the cream would rise. They skimmed this off and made butter by moving a paddle or dasher up and down in a churn. When the mechanical cream separator appeared in 1856, butter-making was taken over by large creameries..

We must apologize to Bossy (last picture). Although butter can be made from the milk of goats, sheep and some other animals, it is good old Bossy the cow who provides us with the delicious and nutritious spread we enjoy so much.

BIG ROCK POINT NUCLEAR PLANT

When you are in northern Michigan make it a point to visit Michigan's first large-scale atomic electric plant, just off U.S. 31 about five miles north of Charlevoix.

You will be welcomed at the Information Center. There you will view animated exhibits showing how the atom is split and how electricity is produced. In a small theater you will see a short film and hear a brief talk on nuclear power. Closed circuit television will show you what is going on inside the plant. (We regret that, with Big Rock Point in operation, tours cannot be conducted.)

From an observation platform you will obtain a close view of the reactor sphere and the turbine-generator and office wings with Lake Michigan just beyond and forest scenery all about.

The composer, educated in his native Vienna and in Berlin and now an American citizen, is regarded as one of the most successful writers working in the twelve-tone idiom. He will fly in from Hawaii for rehearsals and performances.

Household Musts May be Poisonous

LANSING (AP) — Two common items found in almost every home — aspirin and soap headed the list of substances responsible for accidental poisonings reported in Michigan last year.

★ ★ ★

The State Health Department said children under five years of age were the most frequent victims of accidental aspirin poisoning. A total of 1,505 youngsters under five ate aspirin last year it said, and some 60 per cent of the cases were treated by doctors.

SOAP NEXT

Soap was the next most prevalent cause of accidental poisoning, accounting for 455 cases. Of these, 86 per cent were children under five. Only 10 per cent of these children required treatment.

★ ★ ★

Victims were next in line as a cause of poisoning in children under five. This age group accounted for 90 per cent of the 362 cases reported.

Dr. Douglas Fryer, coordinator of poison control centers in Michigan, said 7,417 children under five were victims of accidental poisoning in the state last year.

BEANS, BERRIES

Pain relievers other than aspirin, some beans and berries and insecticides were next highest in the list of substances causing accidental poisoning.

Michigan had 9,205 cases of accidental poisoning last year, down from 10,087 the previous year. Poisonings resulted in 178 deaths in the state last year.

More Telling About Use of Child's Harness

ELIZABETH L. POST

Here's another suggestion about harnesses for babies. Thanks, Mrs. Salemme!

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: When my children had outgrown the play-pen, but were too young to be outside by themselves, I used a harness to keep them in the yard. I strung a clothesline from one tree to another, put the harness on the child and attached the leash to the line.

I used a metal ring on the end of the leash so that it would slide more easily. The line and harness were flexible and long enough so that the child could run, play, and sit down if he wished. I changed toys occasionally to keep him from getting bored.

★ ★ ★

The child soon adjusted to the harness and spent many happy hours playing outdoors. The most wonderful part of it all is that I didn't have to watch him every minute or worry about him. I never had a child get hurt because of the harness.

My friends and neighbors kidded me a lot, but I would not hesitate to use the harness again.—Mary Salemme

GROUP ANNOYED

Dear Mrs. Post: I hope this question wins the good manners book because if I am wrong, I'm afraid I will need it. The other evening a group of us went to a benefit performance of a special movie.

We had been seated for about 10 minutes when an usher told us we would have to move, because that section was reserved for the clergy. We got up and started to look for other seats, but one lady in our group decided she wasn't going to move. Finally we got her out of that row, but she insisted she was going to the manager and demand the money back for our whole party.

We were very embarrassed by her actions. In a situation like this isn't it better to just smile and move graciously than to create a scene and make a spectacle of our whole group?—C. T.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. C. T.: You don't need a book on Etiquette — you're absolutely right. The woman's action was inexcusable and contrary to all good manners. Leave her out of your future group activities!

Adopted Children Should Be Treated No Differently From Others in Family

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live in the same city with his parents. We happen to have two adopted children and two "natural" children.

ABBY

My husband's parents show a marked preference for our natural children. They say our adopted children would be better off in an orphanage with other "orphans" who are in the same boat. Should we continue to retain contact with these grandparents, or should we refrain from seeing them until they learn to accept our adopted children? TORN

★ ★ ★

DEAR TORN: What's this "same boat" your adopted children and those in an orphanage are supposedly in? The children in an orphanage have no parents — yours have.

I would not expose my children (any of them) to grandparents so cruel and unjust as theirs appear to be.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to sound off about people who ask real estate dealers to show them homes when they are in no position to buy.

You'd be amazed at the number of people who make a pastime of "looking" at homes. This takes up the time a salesman could be devoting to a customer who is really in the market to buy.

I've had people tell me they can't afford to buy just now, but maybe in "four or five" they will. Others take up half a day, and then say they are looking for "a relative."

Others just want someone to chauffer them around for a Sunday afternoon. But the payoff was the lady who had me out every day for a week showing her new homes. Then she told me she's planning to build, and she just wanted some "ideas." How about people like that? IN REAL ESTATE

★ ★ ★

DEAR IN: Everyone who has something to sell is exposed to "lookers." And real estate people are no exception. But the salesman who treats all prospects with the same patience and courtesy he shows a "live one," will make more sales.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know who I should turn to, so I'll ask you first. Am I normal? Or am I going crazy? I dislike my husband and I can't stand my two daughters, ages six and eight. I hate my two-year-old son. He is a very active child and is always into something. And I seem too enjoy beating them.

I am tired all the time and brood a lot about being unloved and being incapable of loving my children. I could fill your column with my problems.

I think I need help. But where can I get it? I can't go to our family doctor because he's a friend of my husband's family, and I don't want them to know I have problems. CONFUSED

★ ★ ★

DEAR CONFUSED: Ask a friend whose judgement you respect to recommend a doctor, and make an appointment to see him at once. If you have no friend to ask, telephone your local Mental Health association and ask for their recommendation. I think your problem is urgent.

New Enrollment for Nursery Begins

Fall enrollment for the Bethany Week-Day Nursery at Bethany Baptist Church begins Friday.

Registration is also scheduled for August 18 and 25 from 10 a.m. to noon.

Entering its seventh year, the nursery is for three- and four-year-old children.

★ ★ ★

Four-year-olds attend Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9 to 11:30 or from 1 to 3:30 in the afternoons.

Three-year-olds attend Tuesdays and Thursdays during the morning time.

TRAINED PERSONNEL

Staffed by professionally trained personnel, the nursery uses the gymnasium, two nursery rooms and music room at the church.

Mrs. Mark J. Cheney is director and lead teacher. She has studied child development at Detroit's Merrill-Palmer Institute and received degrees from Wayne State University.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. George Felice and Mrs. William Gentry also assist.

The nursery, which is non-profit and non-sectarian in enrollment, is licensed by the State Department of Social Welfare.

Balenciaga Collection

Elegance in Design

PARIS (AP) — Balenciaga drew the curtain on the Paris winter fashion shows today with a collection devoid of jazz or gimmicks and expressing beautiful, traditional and true elegance.

These's big news in suits displayed by Balenciaga, often called the grand master of haute couture. This season he likes them cut close to the body, following its shape and featuring a curved cutaway jacket.

He does them again and again in Donegal or salt and pepper tweeds, or black wool touched with a narrow black velvet collar.

This by no means signifies that he has given up his own techniques. Favorite themes such as wrist length or fingertip tunics, appear throughout. The newest are worn with slacks or bermudas.

Many of the long pants are in uncurled lamb, as worn by Balkan or Spanish peasants. And he does topcoats in the same lamb and in almost every color — green, cerise, cafe au lait, beige and brown.

★ ★ ★

A good third of Balenciaga's collection is shown with "twin" girls wearing the almost identical topcoat, though always in a different color, over tunics and pants, bermudas, a divided skirt or a little belted jersey dress.

Many skirts in Balenciaga's suits are quite straight. The newest have a back panel with multiple pleating, and others a wide front panel left unpressed.

Sleeves are narrow, set in at a high shoulderline, but on topcoats they are raglan for the most part, expertly tailored with no padding anywhere.

Head scarves or hoods go with most of his sports coats, whether of lamb or cloth, and sometimes the hood reveals a draped silk scarf.

Coats are lengths from three-quarter to nine-tenths. They are often simple and straight, with welt seaming around the edges and classical rolled collars. They often are contrasted in color — beige over a brown dress or vice versa, or rose pink over black or china or ultramarine blue over black.

Letter Postage Saves Sailor's Life Aboard Forrestal

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa (AP) — "I don't think I'll ever put the right postage on a letter again," said 18-year-old Gloria Frye. "And I'll never sell a penny short."

PENNY SHORT

The lack of an extra one-cent stamp on a letter from Miss Frye to her sailor boyfriend Mike Gradisar, aboard the carrier Forrestal is credited with saving his life when the ship was wracked by explosions and fire last Saturday.

"I can't believe the letter actually saved his life," Gloria said in an interview, "but it really doesn't matter. The important thing is that he's alive."

★ ★ ★

Gloria said she and Mike, 19, of Pueblo, Colo., plan to become engaged next summer.

Mike told how the letter saved his life in a telephone conversation Wednesday with his mother, Mrs. Bud Collette of Pueblo.

He said he was informed in his compartment Saturday that a letter had arrived for him at the ship's post office but there was a penny postage due.

OCCUPANTS DEAD

Mike said he went to get the letter and as he started back to his compartment, the first explosion rocked the ship, killing all of the occupants of his compartment. Mike escaped with a shoulder bruise.

Gloria, a secretary for a Marshalltown trucking firm, said she can't understand why the postage on the letter was insufficient.

"I write him every day, sometimes twice a day, and always put the same postage on the letter," she said. "But I guess this letter was longer than usual, about 14 pages. I had had some problems I wanted to discuss with him. I guess my problems saved his life."

Gloria said she met Mike in the summer of 1964 when she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Frye, lived in Grand Junction, Colo.

★ ★ ★

She last saw Mike in May when he was on leave, and she hopes he will get another leave when the carrier is returned to the United States for repairs.

Gloria, a pert blonde, was runnerup and Miss Congeniality in the recent Miss Marshall County beauty contest.

Just Who Needs Rock 'n' Roll Shopping?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Some of the nicest people never get together on what constitutes their mutual interests. Like the store customer and the store manager.

She has a lot of things on her mind she'd like to sound off about. So does he. But he's so busy running the store, and she's so busy trying to save three cents on a bottle of ketsup, that they're often running up and down different aisles. They just don't get time to discuss what matters — such as innovations in the store which he thinks will attract the customer, and which she thinks is driving his trade away!

MARY FEELEY

In today's mail, shoppers speak up:

Dear Miss Feeley: All the supermarkets that I have to patronize have music piped in, or radio. There's one that usually has a radio going so loudly in their produce department that it can be heard over the store.

Even worse, it's that Yeh-Yeh rock-and-roll stuff. All I can do is grab the few necessities I need and get out of there pronto-pronto. I actually forget what I came in for!

There is another store in a nearby shopping center where I dash in and get a few items I actually must have, never staying long enough to browse around and perhaps do some impulse buying. The radio in this store is earsplitting. The manager is a young guy.

The kids he employs are all teen-agers and he lets them out this kind of music on all the time. I asked one of the youngsters once if she could turn it down, and she said "Turn what down?"

For heaven's sake, can't the stores where we older women must shop take us into consideration and keep the noise down? I suppose it really is asking too much to have nice soothing music to shop by — some music that would make you think, well, I surely must get some candles and some wine, perhaps, and have a candlelight dinner (supposing the orchestra was at that moment playing a lovely waltz).

All the Yeh-Yeh noise is doing is driving away business. Will you please say something about this in your column? Mrs. W. L., Chicago.

Dear Mrs. L.: I think you've said it. Now let's give a turn to Mrs. E. G., of Westchester County, New York, who's riled up about trading stamps:

Dear Mary Feeley: Why is it that merchants who hand out trading stamps try to convince us shoppers that we're getting something for nothing? If stamps are money, as we're told, why can't I buy what I really want with mine? The stamp catalogues offer only "place settings" of china — when what I need are replacements for the cups that get broken. But I can't "buy" just cups with my stamps. I have to take plates I don't need.

Another thing — if I send in my stamp books with an order by mail, and the stamp company doesn't have that item, I have to take a substitute — which the company selects. They won't send my stamp books back so I can make another choice.

Miss Feeley, who's spending whose money? Mrs. E. G. Westchester County, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. G.: It's a good question. Maybe some of the stamp-dispensers would like a shot at it?

Dear Miss Feeley: You wrote in your column recently that a label on a can of food must list the ingredients in the proper proportion — the most comes first. But how about pork 'n beans. Where's the pork? You can hardly find it.

Is that getting your money's worth?

San Antonio Reader

Dear Reader: Look on that can again. The list of ingredients puts beans first. Pork 'n beans is just the name of the contents! Always buy by the list ingredients if you want to be sure of what you're paying for.

Barbie Has Earrings

DEAR POLLY — Innocent of voodoo or vicarious pain, our nine-year-old Tammy has discovered that pastel-headed straight pins make attractive earrings for her Barbie doll. She pushes them into place and changes them to match different costumes. After all, if real people can have pierced ears, dolls can have pierced heads.—PHIL, TAMMY'S DAD

DEAR PHIL — My nine-year-old granddaughter, Kit, had told me about doing this just a few days before your letter came. The same ideas seem to catch on in widely separated areas, and at about the same time.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I wish someone would tell me how to make jewelry boxes from milk cartons. I know it is being done, and we want to teach the six-year-olds in Bible School how to make them.—MRS. H. G.

DEAR POLLY — Barbecue time is here, so my tip is for the boys in the back yard. I find it quick and easy to make uniform hamburgers by using my wife's cupcake pans and paper cupcake liners.

I put the diners in the pan, then, using the ice cream scoop, fill each cup with the meat and pat it down to make it firm. I can remove the filled cups or freeze them in the pan with the top covered with foil.

The filled cups could be placed in any deep pan or freezer tray and hold their shape. I am always ready for any quick call for a cookout.—WILLIAM

DEAR POLLY — and Mrs. S. A. M. — If you are inviting guests out to eat, then it should be understood that you are paying the bill without any discussion. However, when couples go out together Dutch treat, as we always do, it is better to ask the waiter to make separate checks. Then there is no discussion before or after the meal and each feels to order what she really wants, and can tip as she pleases.

If I owned a cafe, I would tell my waitresses to always make separate slips unless the customers asked to have it otherwise.—KAY

DEAR POLLY — The girls who pack lunches every morning should try putting that piece of cake or pie in a soft margarine container. I punch two or three small holes in the cover to keep this dessert from sweating.

These containers are also good for carrying candy when the children's favorite is a type that melts easily.—KAREN

Priest, Sister Superior Leave Positions to Wed

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest and the former superior of a Catholic convent have wed in an Episcopal church.

★ ★ ★

LIKE ANY OTHER

The simple ceremony was performed in St. John's Episcopal Church by the Rev. William O. Swan, assistant pastor. "It was just like any other marriage ceremony," said the Rev. Mr. Swan. "The couple came to me a few weeks ago. They said they'd gotten permission from the Most Rev. Bishop Steven Woznicky, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Saginaw, to get married in an Episcopal Church."

★ ★ ★

He said the newlyweds could not get permission to marry within their own communion.

Catholic canon law forbids the clergy to marry except in very unusual circumstances.

The Rev. Mr. Swan said he held the usual premarriage conferences with the couple with the only difference that these included "a discussion about the unusual circumstance of the marriage."

Shortly before the ceremony, attended only by the families of Dewitt and his wife, the couple issued a statement.

"The exercise of the right to marry is within the realm of personal choice, rather than of situational choice," they said.

"We hold the right for a priest to marry in accordance with Paul."

In his first letter to the Corinthians, St. Paul wrote, "Do we not have the right to be accompanied by a wife as the other apostles and brothers of the Lord and Cephas?" Cephas was the first Pope.

★ ★ ★

"Furthermore," wrote the couple, "a priest may normally pursue the right to marriage in accordance with the statement of Pope John XXIII — 'He who has right has also the duty demanding those marks of his dignity.'"

The couple said they interpret the late Pope's comment to mean "that it is unjust that the love between a man and a woman leading to the stable union of marriage should be a cause for a priest being unable to exercise his minustry."

The Rev. Mr. Swan said both Dewitt and his wife intend to remain Catholics.

Cottons Glitter for After Dark

When the sun goes down this summer, glitter-sprinkled cottons come out, adding a firefly sparkle to patio parties.

Guaranteed to gleam after dark are new white cottons threaded with metallic bits of silver. The National Cotton Council reports that one of the prettiest styles is a high-necked pique skimmer. It's touched with the extra glitter of rhinestone buttons on pocket and collar.

★ ★ ★

Another silver-threaded white cotton is chosen for a simply-cut pinafore shift. The fabric is a sculptured pique matelasse.

Tiny rhinestones are dotted over another "firefly" cotton, a tent dress woven in an openwork fishnet design. The white cotton crochet tent is worn over a slip-dress.

Turtle Neck Is Popular

Turtle neck treatments go on and on.

Look for them on sweater knits above collars of falls suits or in the form of small fur pieces circling the throat.

Prototype Artificial Kidney Passes Test on Volunteer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A prototype artificial kidney, small enough to carry, has passed its first major test on a human volunteer, a University of Michigan research team reported Friday.

The volunteer, William Knezevich, 38, of Monroe, Mich., underwent two treatments this week. Researchers pronounced the trial run "highly successful."

* * *

The apparatus, four inches in diameter and a foot long, was attached to Knezevich's left arm. His blood was routed out of an artery into the apparatus, purified, and back into a vein.

The research team was made up of physicians and engineers from the U - M and Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis., and research engineers from Dow Chemical Co., at Midland, Mich., and Walnut Creek, Calif.

NO COST ESTIMATE

Researchers said no cost estimate on a production model was available but the portable machine likely would be much lower than conventional kidney machines, often as large as a washtub.

Some of the better artificial kidneys now in use cost $20,000 or more. A Dow spokesman said the firm hopes to develop a disposable machine similar to the type tested at the U-M Medical Center. It took five years to develop the current prototype, he said.

* * *

"The results from this small compact unit have proved just as successful as conventional artificial kidneys," said Dr. Reed M. Nesbit, chief of urology at U-M and president-elect of the American College of Surgeons.

"In addition, it offers marked potential advantages through its low priming volume, ease of operation and maintenance and its over-all efficiency."

HUMAN KIDNEY

The human body has two kidneys in the small of the back, each equipped with a million or more tiny filtering units which filter the blood stream and remove impurities released as urine.

Kidney failure prevents discharge of the impurities, and a complete kidney breakdown results in death from waste product poisoning known as uremia.

Some 20,000 American die each year from kidney-related diseases.

The prototype kidney developed at U-M contains a cylinder packed with 11,000 hollow cellulose fibers, which filter impurities from the blood in an action similar to the human kidney.

Knezevich was admitted to the University Hospital last May suffering from irreversible kidney failure. He is awaiting a kidney transplant operation.

He underwent an hour treatment Tuesday and a six - hour treatment Thursday.

* * *

Scientists said Knezevich's blood flowed through the cylinder at the rate of 230 cubic centimeters per minute at very low pressures. An auxiliary pump was attached to the prototype kidney during the trial as a precautionary measure, but doctors said they believe the new kidney may be operated by the patient's own heartbeat without the additional pump.

New Coaches Debut in Exhibition

Lions Expected to Start Milt Plum Against Denver

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, The Pontiac Press

DENVER, Colo. — Veteran Milt Plum, the abused and injured quarterback of the Detroit Lions in 1966, is expected to get the starting nod tonight in the exhibition game against the lowly Denver Broncos of the American Football League.

The Lions, cellar dwellers of the western division of the NFL, are figured as 18 point favorites against the Broncos who were likewise the cellar team of the AFL's western division in 1966.

★ ★ ★

Both teams are going into the 1967 season with new coaches, Joe Schmidt of the Lions and Lou Saban of the Broncos.

The Lions, however, will have a distinct advantage in play experience especially on the defensive side.

The Bronco defense will have four rookies and five sophomore players in the starting lineup. Defensive tackle Dave Costa, in his fifth season, and cornerback Nemiah Wilson, one of the AFL's top defensive backs, in his third year, are the seniority players on defense.

Coach Schmidt plans to give Plum and Karl Sweetan equal playing time, with one getting the first half and the other the second half. The decision to start Plum may have come as result of a sore shoulder which Sweetan has had this week.

Plum, who has come into Lions' camp with more determination than ever to regain the starting role he had before his injury in the sixth game last year, was impressive in passing drills during Friday workouts in Denver University Stadium.

SECOND YEAR PLAYER

The Broncos are planning to start sophomore quarterback Scotty Glacken, a 6-foot, 190-pounder from Duke.

Glacken is regarded to be the Fran Tarkenton of the AFL because of his scrambling style.

At Duke he had an impressive record of 255 completions in 480 attempts for 3,170 yards and 24 touchdowns.

He stayed with the Bronco taxi squad last year and got his chance to play in the final game against Buffalo in which he completed six of 11 passes for 84 yards and one touchdown.

Among the sophomores or new faces the Lions will start are Jerry Rush at defensive tackle, rookie Lem Barney at cornerback and Bill Malinchak at flanker in place of the injured Pat Studstill.

The Lions have 55 players in Denver, the largest traveling squad in history for any game.

Game time is 10 p.m. Michigan time and a crowd of 32,000 is expected in Denver University Stadium.

Green Bay Riddles All-Star Pass Defense

Starr's Aerials Produce 20-0 Halftime Edge

CHICAGO (AP) — Bart Starr had only a half interest in the 34th college All-Star game Friday night but that's all it took for the Green Bay passing master to cool off a fired-up All-Star defense and pace the professional champions to a 27-0 triumph.

Starr, facing a strong collegiate rush, put the Packer running game in cold storage in the first half but chilled the All-Stars with 15 completions for 212 yards and two touchdowns before retiring to the sidelines at the halftime.

The lanky Alabaman, who directed the Packers to a Super Bowl victory last season, used six different receivers to flood the collegiate defense, then ignored the long strike and picked apart the shallow secondary.

The Green Bay quarterback was surprised early in the game when Bubba Smith, Michigan State's mammoth end, broke through and pinned him for a 10-yard loss.

Starr dusted himself off and completed three straight passes to the All-Star 13-yard line, where Don Chandler kicked a field goal.

Three plays later, Steve Spurrier, the Heisman Trophy winning quarterback from Florida who started the game for the collegians, fumbled and when the rugged star defense stopped the Green Bay running game, Chandler kicked his second field goal.

In the second quarter, Starr began testing the collegiate secondary and he found it wanting. The Packers drove 61 yards in eight plays with Starr hitting Boyd Dowler with an 11-yard touchdown strike.

HELD IN CHECK

The All-Star offense, loaded with highly regarded running backs, was held in check by the impregnable Packer forward wall.

Coach John Sauer shuttled Spurrier and Bob Griese of Purdue in and out of the line-up, but neither could find the passing magic to loosen the Green Bay defense.

Midway in the second quarter, Starr hung out three completions bringing the Packers to the All-Star 21, then found Bob Long all alone in the right corner of the end zone for a touchdown.

Zeke Bratkowski relieved Starr for the second half, and though he completed eight of 11 passes the All-Stars were able to contain the Packers in the third quarter. But again the Packer defence yielded little to the collegiate attempts.

Jim Grabowski, last year's prize rookie from Illinois who was on duty with the National Guard in Milwaukee, Wis., joined Green Bay shortly before the game and stamped himself as an appropriate heir to the fullback position where Jim Taylor once reigned.

Grabowski sparked the Packers in the second half, gaining 53 yards in seven carries, including a 22-yard touchdown sprint through the middle of the All-Star defense in the final period. He was the game's leading rusher with 77 yards in nine carries.

After the score, Griese led the Stars on their only sustained march of the evening. He completed four passes to carry them from their 19 to the Green Bay 18, then threw to Dave Williams of Washington who was alone in the middle of the end zone. But Williams had to leap for the ball and came down past the end line nullifying the score.

PACKING AN ALL-STAR — Detroit Lion backfield hopeful Nick Eddy (dark shirt) is driven to the ground Friday night by Green Bay defenders Henry Jordan (74) and Willie Davis during the third quarter of the College All-Stars' loss to the Packers.

Four Area Players in GAM Semifinals

Special to The Press

GRAND RAPIDS — Defending champion Pete Jackson of Oakland Hills as still in action here today as the 46th annual Golf Association of Michigan championship moved into the third round of match play at Blythefield Country Club.

The Pontiac area's representation in the GAM tournament dwindled ot four entering today's double round of head-to-head combat and the beefy Jackson was one of them following a pair of victories Friday.

★ ★ ★

Jackson's companions from the Pontiac area were Gene Eyler of Oakland Hills, Orchard Lake's Pete Green and Indianwood's Pete Schubeck, each of whom conquered two foes Friday.

The field was reduced to eight players Friday and only two of them will be around come nightfall. The two survivors will go 36 holes for the championship on Sunday.

Joining Jackson, Eyler and Green in today's match play were Alex Nowicki of host Blythefield, Meadowbrook's Tom Skover, Washtenaw's Bruce Lopucki and John Grace, the Houston University golfer who registers from Detroit Gol' Club.

Jackson advanced at the expense of two Oakland County players, scoring an easy 5 and 4 triumph over Red Run's Fred Zinn in the morning session, then edging Meadowbrook's Jim St. Germain, 2 and 1, in the second round.

Jackson's opponent today was the tourney dark horse, Nowicki, who ousted five-time state amateur champ Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile, 2 and 1, then went 19 holes for a 1-up conquest of John Richart of Barton Hills.

The top casualty Friday was Tom Draper, the veteran Red Run amateur who won Thursday's qualifying medal over Blythefield's 6,710-yard course with a two-under-par 70. C. A. Carver III of Barton Hills ousted Draper, 2-up, in the first round before losing a 7 and 6 decision to Skover.

Green's victims were Fred Ewald of Oakland Hills, 4 and 3, and Ray Palmer of Grosse Ile, 3 and 2. Eyler moved along by defeating Dr. Robert Sena of Blythefield, 2 and 1, and then scoring a 1-up victory over long-hitting Bill Albright from Detroit GC.

Jackson handled Zinn with ease, mounting a 6-up lead at the turn and closing out the match with a par 5 for a half on the 14th hole. He rallied from an early two-hole deficit to eliminate St. Germain, delivering the crusher on the 17th hole with a 15-foot putt for a winning birdie four.

Green led Ewald throughout their duel and followed a similar pattern against Palmer in a closer match.

STARS IN HIS WAKE — Green Bay's Donny Anderson (44) leaves four College All-Star gridders behind him on this first-period end sweep last night at Soldier's Field in Chicago. The spilled collegian is Bill Fairband from Colorado. Michigan State's Bubba Smith (95) is, also, in on the pursuit. The world champion Packers won, 27-0.

2 Young Pontiac Golfers Reach Publinx Semifinals

Special To The Press

SAGIAW — Co-medallist Terry Hoy and 17-year-old Gary Balliet, both of Pontiac, were in semifinal action of the Michigan Publinx Golf tournament here as the final competition started today.

Hoy, a 26-year-old GM Truck and Coach employee, was paired against Dan Townsend of Royal Oak and Balliet against Ed Thompson of Redford Township in this morning's semifinal round.

The final was scheduled for this afternoon.

Balliet scored a 1-up victory over Pat Pomy of East Detroit in 19 holes and a 4 and 2 victory over Bob Skrzycki of Detroit yetserday.

Hoy, shooting 1 over par golf, ousted 1966 runner-up Jack Flock of Troy, 1-up, and Ray Allen of Royal Oak, 2 and 1, to move into the semifinals.

Townsend sent Dr. Wayne Kramer of Flint, who won the title the past two years and who had won 15 straight Publinx tournament matches, to the sidelines with a 3 and 2 victory in the quarter-finals. Earlier, Kramer defeated Jack Jurach of Detroit, 1-up.

Pan-Am Contests Climaxing Today

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — The dominant U.S. forces set their eyes on four world records in track and field and a cluster of at least 15 more gold medals today in the climax of the fifth Pan-American Games.

Four men won gold medals yesterday and set Pan-Am records in track and field. Ralph Boston, the world record-holder, won the long jump with 27-2½. Tom Gage of Billings, Mont., captured the hammer throw with 214-4. Earl McCulloch of Long Beach, Calif., took the 110-meter hurdles in 13.4 and Larry Young of San Pedro, Calif., won the exhausting 50-kilometer (31-mile) walk in 4:26:20.8.

Pontiac Police Team Ousted From Tourney

Portage capitalized on Pontiac errors and wildness to oust the city's Police Officers Association team from the state Connie Mack Baseball Tournament Friday at Marshall, 11-4.

The P.P.O.A. team left the bases loaded in the first inning and ran itself out of a rally in the third. Meanwhile, Portage used three first-inning walks to score twice without the aid of a hit.

★ ★ ★

The P.P.O.A. defense wilted and Portage tallied twice more in the fourth and five in the fifth to end the game under the eight-run-lead rule.

Working Agreement

The Muskegon Panthers of the North American Basketball League have sold guard Tom Thacker to the Boston Celtics and also have completed a working agreement with the National Basketball Association team.

BALL SPURNS SPURRIER — All-Star quarterback Steve Spurrier (11) is separated from the pigskin (right) during a hard tackle by an unidentified Green Bay Packer lineman in the first quarter last night at Chicago. Lionel Aldridge (82) of the Packers is in good position to make the recovery while the collegians' Gene Upshaw (75) can only watch the unfortunate developments.

Indians Bomb Tigers, 11-5

Tribe Routs Podres

CLEVELAND (AP) — The bubble burst for Detroit Tiger pitcher Johnny Podres Friday night.

Podres, who posted a 3-0 mark while being used as a relief pitcher and spot starter, hardly worked up a sweat. He gave up four hits and five runs in the opening inning and a leadoff single in the second before Dave Wickersham replaced him.

★ ★ ★

Cleveland galloped to an 11-5 victory.

The Tigers started off in great style. Don Wert and Dick McAuliffe singled in succession and Al Kaline blooped a double, scoring Wert.

But then the Tiger bats fell silent. Willie Horton popped out. Bill Freehan walked, but Mickey Stanley struck out and Jim Price popped out.

Cleveland came right back with a walk and a single. Then Don Demeter doubled and Duke Sims homered. Vern Fuller followed with another homer.

The Indians scored again in the third on a double, a sacrifice and a sacrifice fly.

Hank Aguirre took over the mound for Detroit in the fourth and allowed just one base runner in two innings. He was llifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth, when the Tigers almost made a game of it with four runs.

★ ★ ★

Horton led off with a single. Freehan flied out, but Stanley walked. Price laid down a sacrifice bunt. Ray Oyler followed with a double that scored Horton and Stanley. Jim Landis followed with a pinch-hit home run.

But the Tigers scored no more and Cleveland got two in the seventh off Fred Gladding and three in the eighth off John Hiller.

Miss Kazmierski Hoping to Snap Slump on Links

Last year was a banner one for MSU graduate Joyce Kazmierski of Grosse Ile.

Miss Kazmierski won the Women's Michigan Golf Association championship, the Women's National Collegiate title and the Women's District Golf Association match play crown.

It's been the other way around this season. She failed earlier in the campaign in efforts to retain her WMGA and national titles, and now she faces a tough challenge as she tries to keep the match play crown.

Competition in this year's WDGA match play tournament opens Monday at Pine Lake Country Club and runs through Friday.

★ ★ ★

The chief threat to Miss Kazmierski's reign is expected to come from three-time winner Mrs. T. M. Werner of Indianwood.

MEDAL CHAMP

Mrs. Werner captured the medal play crown earlier in WDGA competition and she's fared well in the group's weekly events.

Miss Kazmierski will be looking for her third victory in the event. She won the first time in 1964. She, Mrs. Werner and Mrs. Robert Gamble of Lochmoor tee off together at 8 a.m.

Reach Final Rounds of Softball Playoff in Waterford Action

Day's Sanitary and McAnnally's Auto Sales reached the final rounds of the Waterford Township men's recreation softball playoffs with victories Friday night at the Drayton Plains diamond.

Day's avenged, in part, its loss to Spencer Floor Covering in the league regular season title showdown game with a 4-0 decision that dropped Spencer's into the losers' bracket.

McAnnally's took advantage of eight errors by the Waterford Merchants to break open a tight game for a 9-3 verdict. The score was tied, 2-2, after four innings.

Dick Cooper's two-run fourth-inning single sent Day's on its way past Spencer's. Jim Attard doubled home the third run and Paul Atkins singled home the final marker. Jerry Thomas blanked the floormen on six hits and seven strikeouts.

BOROS BLASTS BALL — Julius Boros and an intent crowd follow flight of his ball after he blasted a shot from a sand trap on the 17th hole Friday at the Western Open Golf Tournament in Chicago. Boros took a bogey four on the hole and finished in a tie for second place with Dave Marr after the first 36 holes. They are two strokes behind Labron Harris' 134. — AP Wirephoto

Men's Nines Beginning Playoffs

The sparring ended Friday in the Pontiac Class A Baseball League and the jousting begins in earnest tonight with the men's playoffs at Jaycee Park.

Oakland University exploded for nine runs in the sixth inning to break a 2-2 tie and defeat U.A.W.-653, 11-4, in a game that left the school team alone in ninth place.

★ ★ ★

The game was scoreless until the fifth when winning hurler Ken Sullins singled home two runs for the Pioneers. But U.A.W. knotted the count as losing moundsman Dick Barrett crashed a two-run homer in the sixth.

But control trouble and fielding deficiencies by the union promptly enabled Oakland to settle the issue in the bottom of the frame.

This evening, Cranbrook and Teamsters-614 (the defending playoff and city champion) collide at 7:30 to decide which will play regular-season leader Booth Homes in Monday night's double - elimination playoff round.

Tomorrow night, the R.T. Clippers will face M.G. Collision. They finished third and second, respectively, during the regular campaign.

U.A.W. No. 653	000 002 2—	4	4	6
Oakland U.	000 029 x—	11	5	1

BARRETT (0-4), Farris, 6th, Hemsley, 6th, and Brocklebank; SULLINS (2-0) and Ingamells.
HOME RUN—Barrett.

Tonight's Game
JAYCEE PARK — Teamsters-614 vs. Cranbrook, 7:30 p.m.

Sunday's Game

Newton With Firebirds

Ex-Laker Makes Bid

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Jack Newton, who completed an outstanding prep football career at West Bloomfield High School in 1961, has set some high goals for himself educationally.

Just five hours away from getting his Master's Degree and with a Doctor's Degree in mind, Newton still finds his love for football too strong to keep him away from the action on the gridiron.

JACK NEWTON

Newton has apparently gained himself a regular assignment at halfback with the Pontiac Firebirds of the Midwest Football League who are now preparing for their first exhibition contest next week against the Ypsilanti Vikings in Rochester.

KNEE INJURY

After leaving West Bloomfield with all-county honors, Newton went to the University of Michigan where he suffered a knee injury as a freshman.

★ ★ ★

He then transferred to Hillsdale and picked up three varsity letters with the outstanding teams under coach Muddy Waters.

"I played the corner defensively most of the time, and sometimes was a running back also," he said; "but you could understand why I didn't stay on offense with Bruce McLenna ahead of me."

McLenna, a Lions' draft choice, is now with the New Orleans Saints of the NFL.

★ ★ ★

At Hillsdale, Newton also picked up letters in track and wrestling, and staying in trim condition has enabled him to keep his weight within two pounds of his college weight.

"I was around 182 at Hillsdale, and I'm around 184 right now," he said.

MASTER'S DEGREE

For the past year, Newton received a government grant and a fellowship toward his Master's degree in personnel and counseling at Denver University.

"I plan on picking up my final five hours for the Master's at Michigan State this fall," he said, "but I guess it will be tough grind with a job, classes and now football."

"They didn't have football at Denver, and I missed it very much. I guess that's why I thought I'd like to play in this league."

★ ★ ★

Firebirds' coach Tom Tracy is high on Newton's football talents.

"He's a hard runner with some good moves. He could be one of the better backs in this league," said Tracy.

Tracy has scheduled a controlled scrimmage Sunday at Wisner field.

He will divide the team's bulging roster in half to study the players under game conditions beginning at 3 p.m.

The scrimmage will be open to the public at no charge.

The Firebirds have two exhibitions with Ypsilanti and Flint prior to opening the season Sept. 2 in Mt. Clemens. The home season starts September 9th against the strong Ypsilanti Vikings under coach Jug Girard.

Game tickets and season tickets for all Firebirds' games are available dowtown locations, Griff's Grill, Osmun's, Bob-Ken's and the Firebird office, 12 N. Saginaw.

Each team is comprised of six members. Approximately 120 golfers are entered with trophies awarded to the top five teams. Tee off time will be 8:30 a.m.

City Lacking Two Finalists in Baseball

Only two finals berths remain unfilled in the city junior baseball playoffs after six more teams advanced yesterday at Jaycee Park.

Cranbrook stayed alive in Class D and earned a shot at favored Rochester in the title round by stopping Arnold Drugs, 8-1, as Dick Wallace tossed a two-hitter and Sandy Heavenrich cracked two singles and a two-run triple.

Another strong performance had Steve Chivers of the Hustlers allowing only two hits and fanning 14 in an 11-4 romp over the Optimist Braves of the F-International League.

The day's best game found Lakeland's Bill Ziem gaing a 2-1 verdict in an F-American elimination tilt against the F.O.P. Pirates. Ziem whiffed 11 and scattered four hits.

Only the F-National and Widget B finals pairings remain undetermined.

Junior Semifinals Has Top Net Match

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Giant killer F. D. Robbins of Salt Lake City met 1966 Boys Champion Erik van Dillen of San Mateo, Calif., today in the junior semi-finals of the National Junior and boys Tennis Championships at Kalamazoo.

The sixth-seeded Robbins, 17, a slender blond, scored a major upset Friday when he overpowered top-seeded Zan Guerry, Lookout Mountain, Tenn., 2-6, 6-2, 6-1, to earn a spot in the semifinals.

In the other junior semifinal, second-seeded Jeff Borowiak of Lafayette, Calif., played Mike Estep, Denver.

In junior doubles semifinals Friday, Guerry and Tony Ortiz upset the top-seeded team of Jeff Borowiak, Lafayette, Calif., and van Dillen, 9-7, 6-3.

Opening lead—♥2

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Thirty years ago one of the most popular fancy bids was to bid one of your worst major suit when your partner's opening minor suit bid was doubled by the next player. You reserved this bid for a bad hand. There is no point confusing your partner when you have a good hand.

JACOBY

The bid has gone out of style. Opponents learned how to take care of it and partners didn't learn to watch for it.

East was an old-timer playing rubber bridge with a bunch of youngsters. East also knew that West was a conservative youngster and East decided to turn the clock back 35 years and try a 1932 psychic.

South really should have doubled one heart but South was after game and rubber. South jumped to two spades.

East had a couple of uneasy moments while West thought but relaxed when West passed. North closed the bidding at four spades and West opened the deuce of hearts.

★ ★ ★

South knew what had happened to him when he saw five hearts in dummy, but there was nothing he could do about getting out of spades into hearts.

He let the heart run around to his ten and played the three of spades.

West was a youngster and a conservative youngster but he was also a smart youngster. He stopped to think about his partner's heart bid. Could East hold four hearts to the ace? Not a chance. If East did, he would have gone right up with the ace of hearts and played the deuce lead as a singleton.

Could East have four hearts? No, there were only three not in sight and South held the ace. Could East have no more hearts? Quite likely! West led the nine of hearts. East ruffed, returned a diamond and set the hand with another ruff.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1♠	1♠	1 N.T.
Pass	3♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠K 10 2 ♥5 4 ♦Q 5 4 ♣K 9 7 6 5
What do you do?

A—Jump to five clubs. You have the right cards for your partner.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do jump to five clubs and your partner bids five diamonds. What do you do now?

Statistics Tell Story of Musical Instrument Boom

By MILES A. SMITH
Associated Press Arst Editor

This is a $955-million story about Johnny and his piano lessons, Susie and her violin, George playing trumpet in the marching band, the neighbors playing in the community symphony.

And then there's Fred and his guitar.

As you may have noticed in the last few years, the twang of the guitar is "the sound of the 60s."

All this story is wrapped up in the "Report of Amateur Instrumental Music in the United States, 1966," the annual survey of the American Music Conference, a nonprofit educational organization supported by various trade groups in the music industry.

LOTS OF STATISTICS

The report is crammed with statistics, most of which mark a record of some sort, because the musical instrument business, which was declining before World War II and during 1945-46, is booming today.

In 1966, 3.35 million new instruments were sold, with an estimated retail value of $801 million. Approximately $78 million was spent for instrument accessories — cases, music stands, strings, etc — $65 million for sheet music, and $10 million for instructional aids. That makes the $953 million. In 1965 the figure was $888 million and the year before that $731 million.

★ ★ ★

The survey says there were 41.6 million amateur musicians across the country in 1966, an increase of 2.3 million over the previous year. They include 26.2 million adults and 15.4 million students, ages 4 to 21. An amateur is someone who plays six or more times a year without pay, or is receiving instruction on a specific instrument.

But from all this maze of statistics the story of the guitar stands out. Some 41.6 million play it.

BIG INSTRUMENT

Of course, the piano always has been the main instrument for learners and participators. In the span from 1956 to 1966 the number of pianists increased from 19.7 million to 23.3 million.

But in the same 10-year period the number of guitar players rose sharply from 2.6 million to 10 million.

★ ★ ★

There has been a change in fashions. Strings, woodwinds and brasses always are with us. But some of the instruments have suffered declines. From 1956 to 1966 the number of accordion players dropped from 1.5 million to a million, and the number of ukulele players from 1.5 million to 900,000.

★ ★ ★

Now there is an indication that the guitar boom may be leveling off.

PEAK YEAR

In 1962, when the guitar already was popular, 435,000 new instruments were sold, with a retail value of $41 million.

Then came the big surge. In 1963 the figures were 700,000 instruments with a retail value of $65 million. The next year, 1,065,000 instruments with a value of $95 million. In 1965 came the peak of 1.5 million instruments and a retail value of $140 million.

The survey also reports that summer music camps are a swiftly growing element of the musical scene.

Another development has been the rise of the youth symphony composed of top student musicians from many schools in a given locale.

Farsighted Scout

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — David Bundy Fogle, 15, has become an Eagle Scout one year ahead of the schedule he set out for himself five years ago. That was when he went to live with the Ivan Fogle family after he lived in a series of foster homes. Also, David is blind but the only concession to his blindness in his earning 21 merit badges was to substitute first aid to animals for lifesavng.

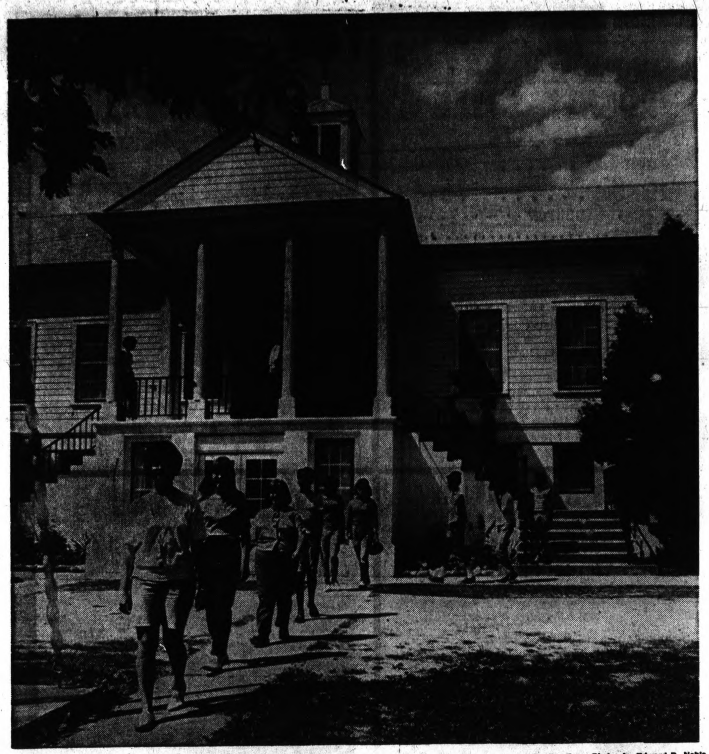
Mothers Invited to Camp



CAMP CHAPEL — Morning devotions are over at the Salvation Army Camp near Lakeville and boys and girls are headed for craft shop, swimming lessons, recreation, boating and other group activities. The large white building is the camp chapel.

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

Hopping out of bed long before the sun comes climbing over the horizon are boys and girls at Echo Grove Fresh Air Camp near Lakeville, the camp under the direction of the Salvation Army.

★ ★ ★

Mothers in the Pontiac area are having a vacation with their youngsters at the camp this week. There are no meals to get. All mothers have to do is look after the younger children of the family.

Older young people are placed in cottages and custody of counselors who are responsible for their whereabouts.

FLAG RAISING

Everyone rushes to the dining hall for breakfast after the flag raising ceremony at 7:45 a.m. Then boys and girls are required to clean up their cottage or cabin. Morning devotions follow at 9 a.m.

Boating, swimming, recreation, supervised play, crafts and free time take up the morning and afternoon hours.

A talent program is offered at 7:30 each evening with many children taking part. Lights are out at 10.

Families arrived at camp Monday and will leave for home after dinner tomorrow.

Besides sending mothers and children to camp every summer for a week, the Salvation Army makes available many services to residents of Greater Pontiac and Northern Oakland County.

A Men's Social Service Center is located at 118 W. Lawrence and the Salvation Army Citadel, 29 W. Lawrence.

★ ★ ★

Working with Brig. John Grindle of the Citadel as members of the Salvation Army Advisory Board are Milton F. Cooney, Mrs. Gelston V. Poole, William H. Taylor Jr., William Dean, Bruce J. Annett, Dana P. Whitmer, Harry J. Reed and Harcourt S. Patterson.

★ ★ ★

GIFT FOR MOTHER — Vicky Coleman didn't say just what she is making but it is a present for her mother. Here she is attending handcraft class at Echo Grove Fresh Air Camp near Lakeville. The camp is sponsored by the Salvation Army. Vicky also has fun swimming, boating and running up and down hill.

State Student at Institute

Campus Crusade Offers Program

Roger Putnam, a student at Michigan State University, is attending the Institute of Biblical Studies with 1,225 other students from hundreds of campuses in 48 states and 16 foreign countries.

★ ★ ★

The institute is held in San Bernardino, Calif. at Arrowhead Springs, former health resort and spa frequented by the famous of the world.

Roger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Putnam of 2376 Renfrew.

Conducted by Campus Crusade for Christ International, the Institute is a month-long intensive Biblical training program designed to give Christians a practical orientation to the basic teachings of Scripture, the Christian life, the Church and evangelism.

★ ★ ★

Campus Crusade for Christ International, an interdenominational Christian student movement, believes that the world can be changed only as individuals are changed within, and that Jesus Christ is the only one who can truly accomplish this change.

"The students of the world are looking for a leader whom they can follow, one who is worthy of their allegiance," said Dr. Williams R. Bright, founder and president of Campus Crusade for Christ.

"They are looking for a cause which demands the best that is in a man, and which in turn, accomplishes the most for the good of all men."

Founded by Dr. Bright in 1951, Campus Crusade has since spread to hundreds of campuses in this country and 21 foreign countries.

BRIDGE SESSION — Huddled in the shade of the walking bridge to escape the burning sun are boys and girls of Marjorie Read's counseling group. Marjorie sees that her charges enter sports activities including swimming and boating at the Salvation Army Camp near Lakeville this week.

Jackie Frushour Writes of Trip to Africa

After graduating ceremonies at Waterford Township High School in June, Jackie Frushour decided to find out for herself if she really wanted to become a missionary. So she accepted an invitation from former Pontiac residents Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Slater to spend the summer with them in West Africa.

★ ★ ★

A member of First Baptist Church, Jackie was a leader in youth work, and Youth for Christ serving as an officer in her school group.

Her parents the Jack Frushours of 424 Lakeside, Waterford Township share their first letter from her:

"Dear Family:

"I'm here and I can't believe it. It doesn't seem possible that I'm actually in Africa.

"We stopped in Dakar, Liberia and Moravia before arriving in Abidjan. The flight was only eight hours flying time from New York.

"On the way north to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Slater we stayed in Bouaki at the Missionary Children's School overnight and arrived in Ferkessedongon the following night.

"The trip from Abidjan is like traveling from the southern part of Michigan to the Straits only on a dirt road.

"Africa is having its cool season now so the weather is beautiful. But it does rain and storm almost every night.

"The villages have mud houses with thatched roofs just like you see in pictures. Last night we went out to a village back in the bush country called Pisincaha and had a service under a tiny veranda.

"Dr. Slater introduced me and you should have heard them trying to say my name.

"I lay in bed at night listening to all the sounds from the jungle. I wish I could tape them for you. I hear partridges, guineas, owls, monkeys and sometimes the donkeys. And every single night we hear the drums.

"The Africans are always dancing to their drums.

"There is a type of deadly snake that nests in trees. I always duck low when walking under one. There are also tiny tsetse flies and misquitoes that carry malaria. We have to look closely to see them in our room at night.

"Lois Gould, one of the missionaries, said she got in bed with a lizard the other night. I always check my bed for scorpions and spiders. I found a great big spider the other night but we don't think it was poisonous.

"You should see the pets the Slater children have — a cat, dog, four puppies, a monkey, a deer. They had a crocodile but it got away and they can't find it. On our trip here we saw a camel and wild goats.

"I learned more in those six years of French in school than I thought I did. I'm really catching on to communicating with the people. For my benefit the Slaters insist we speak only French at the dinner table, have devotions in French and then translate.

"And, of course, we speak French at the hospital. I'm also taking lessons from an African girl who lives near here.

"When I first toured the hospital I was surprised to find some women cooking in the wards. They were washing rice and pounding something with a big club. I'll be helping with surgery part of the time.

"Cooking and hospitality is almost a fulltime job here. The Slaters have company all the time who have to be fed. The milk has to be strained, boiled and cooled before drinking or using it.

"The Slaters make their own ice cream and pizza from scratch.

"Even before we drink any water we have to filter it. All the vegetables have to be washed and boiled. Barbara (Mrs.) Slater makes her own bread. We get chickens from the market. Then Barbara has to clean and cook them well since most of the animals have diseases.

★ ★ ★

"We also buy pork at the market where goats, donkeys and chickens run all over the place.

"Every thing we eat is homemade.

★ ★ ★

"In addition to working at the hospital I'm helping with the secretarial work and making a new stock card system for all the medicine.

"There is so much work to be done and so few to do it.

Love,
"Jackie"

Camp for Deaf at Grass Lake

Although the Summer Camp for the Deaf at Fa-Ho-Lo Park, Grass Lake, which opens tomorrow is sponsored by the Michigan District Council of the Assemblies of God, deaf persons from all churches are welcome and invited to attend.

Programs are planned for deaf and hard of hearing children over nine, young people and adults. Deaf parents may bring their hearing children with them. Small children and babies will be taken care of by workers during classes.

The camp offers cabin, food, camp insurance, handcraft, baseball, boating, swimming, volleyball and Bible study.

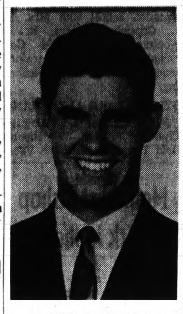
Thousands of persons are attending the Central Michigan State Camp Meeting at St. Louis which began Thursday. Sessions will continue through Aug. 13.

Pontiac churches represented at the camp are East Side with the Rev. M. M. Scott, pastor; First with the Rev. Ottis L. Burgher; Lake Street with the Rev. Paul C. Cooley; and Southside, the Rev. Chester M. Staton.

There are 125 Church of God congregations in Michigan with a membership of 10,338. General headquarters are in Anderson, Ind.

Missionary speaker at meetings and conferences is the Rev. Laverne Root from Barbados, West Indies.

Trailer camping facilities are provided with space for 300 units.



ROBERT SMALLMAN

University Singers at Sunnyvale

The Bob Jones University Ensemble will present a musical program at 7 p.m. tomorrow in Sunnyvale Chapel, 5311 Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township. The public is invited.

★ ★ ★

Robert Smallman who is in charge of the group will bring a brief Gospel message.

A native of Maryland, Mr. Smallman is a senior enrolled in the School of Religion with a major in Bible.

Other members of the ensemble are Alvin Browder Jr., Virginia; Ralph Scharfe, Maryland; Jack Nelson, Indiana; Lee Anderson, New Jersey; and Larry Wood also of Maryland.

★ ★ ★

The musicians will offer a variety of vocal selections including quartets, trios, duets and solos. Well known and seldom heard selections will be presented.

★ ★ ★

The new Bob Jones University film will also be shown.

Bake Pies, Cakes for Lawn Social

An old fashioned ice cream social becomes an "Eat-In" on the front lawn of First Methodist Church, Maple and Pleasant, Birmingham Friday. Hours are from 6 to 9:30 p.m.

Under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stout, the Merry Mates group of the church are responsible for the baking of pies and cakes to serve with the ice cream, coffee or soda pop.

Detroit Edison's calliope will furnish music during the evening, and a balloon booth and movies in Fellowship Hall will be available from 7 to 9 p.m.

Learn from your mistakes, but don't cry over them. We best redeem the past by forgetting it. — Elbert Hubbard, American editor.

Youth Singspiration in Auburn Heights

Young people of Auburn Heights United Presbyterian Church, 3456 Primary, Pontiac Township, will be hosts for the Youth for Christ Singspiration at 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Guest singers include Jill Powell, Judy Hawthorne, and Jan Powell, a girls' trio from Waterford Community Church.

Youth for Christ Singspirations are held the first Sunday evening of each month in various Pontiac area churches. Everyone is welcome, William Ballard, lifeline director, said.

Protestants More Apt to Proselytize

NEW YORK (UPI) — The average Protestant is more likely to try to convert others to his faith than the Catholic or Jew, according to a Gallup poll sponsored by the Catholic Digest.

Asked whether they ever tried to get anyone to join their religious group, 45 per cent of the Protestants queried said they did not; while the negative response from Catholics was 75 per cent and among Jews, 81 per cent.

PICTURE STORIES — Mrs. Robert Santora of 2521 Lanergan, Troy tells the story of Bible characters as children look at the pictures of Bible times at Vacation Bible School held this week at Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church, Bloomfield Township. Pam Ankeny of 1690 Ledbury, Bloomfield Hills, a member of the youth group, assists Mrs. Santora with handcraft and recreation.

Daily Vacation Bible Schools Continue

Volunteers continue to give time and talents as they serve on staffs of Vacation Bible Schools in Pontiac area churches.

★ ★ ★

During the usual two-week period workers hope to instill the love of God in the hearts of children as well as provide fun and recreation for the youngsters.

This is in addition to the regular Church School each Sunday.

Vacation Bible School opened Monday at Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church, 5631 N. Adams, Bloomfield Township with classes from 9:30 to 11:30 daily.

The school is open to children of any denomination. Classes are held for boys and girls three years of age and up through the sixth grade.

The theme is "Living in God's Kingdom" with mission emphasis on Ethiopia.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Stuart W. Gulsvig, assistant pastor, heads the vacation school with Mrs. E. L. Crusinberry, Mrs. E. L. Koester, Mrs. Donald Gottschalk and a staff of trained teachers and teenagers assisting.

SYLVAN LAKE LUTHERAN

Sylvan Lake Lutheran Church, 2399 Figa, West Bloomfield Township will have Vacation Church School for youngsters in the community with classes opening on Aug. 14.

The school will continue through Aug. 25 with weekday classes from 8:45 to 11:30 a.m.

All children from age 3 through 12 are invited. A daily freewill offering will help to cover expenses.

A full staff of teachers will help each child discover what it means to be a Christian, Pastor James Schalkhauser said.

Called to Stamford as Youth Director

JAMES R. HENSEL

James R. Hensel, youth director of Grace Lutheran Church for the past three years, will give his farewell sermon at 9 a.m. tomorrow. "First Say Peace" will be his theme.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Hensel has accepted a call to Zion Lutheran Church in Stamford, Conn., as youth director working with the church and community.

He also will attend Yale University part time to further his education.

★ ★ ★

With his wife, Deanne, and small son he will leave Pontiac the latter part of August.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Methodist Bishop at Kirk in the Hills

Coming to speak at Kirk in the Hills worship hours tomorrow is Bishop Dwight E. Loder, resident bishop of the Michigan area for the Methodist Church.

His sermon topic for both the 9:30 and 11:30 morning services will be "Let's Play Church."

★ ★ ★

The choir will sing at both hours and sessions of the Kirk School will be held in the Abbey concurrently with worship services.

Johnson to Preside

Leaving this week for Detroit where he will preside at the 53rd Annual Convocation of the Churches of God in Christ will be Bishop C. J. Johnson, minister of Johnson Temple.

★ ★ ★

More than 100 local residents are expected to attend the sessions slated for State Temple, 3500 Elmwood, Detroit, beginning Tuesday.

A preconvocation musicale is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday.

The Rev. Clinton Levert Jr. of Pontiac will direct the Northeastern State Choir in special numbers.

Other groups participating include the Southwestern State Choir led by Mrs. Mattie M. Clark and the Mount Zion Tabernacle Choir of Canada, directed by James Morton.

Also featured will be the East Side Tabernacle Junior Choir, the Psalms of Faith, the Jones Temple Choir, the Glen Trio, the Jonesaires and the Bishop Robert Hill Choir, all of Detroit.

Kennis Hutchons is president of the Pontiac choir.

Carriage House Ends Family's House Hunt

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

The William Robinsons knew their house-hunting trials were over when two years ago they discovered the charming converted carriage house in Bingham Farms.

"As soon as I saw it, I liked it," said Mrs. Robinson. "It was the perfect background for our collection of family heirlooms."

Purchased from the Bristol Farms by Eric Fromm of Detroit, the carriage house underwent its first transformation when it was turned into a luxurious weekend retreat.

The loft remained in its original state until the property again changed hands and the Paul Brigg's family remodeled, partitioning the second floor into bedrooms.

Rich wood paneling, its knots creating an interesting patterned effect, dominates the first floor sidewalls and partitions.

"The paneling," said Mrs. Robinson," is all reversed barn planks."

The round log ceiling beams are hewn into squares at each end where they join the sidewalls.

Braided rugs in shades of brown and beige with highlights of red cover the living and dining room floors.

Treasures reminiscent of Early America are seen above the living room's built-in bookshelves including a land grant signed by Andrew Jackson. It was made out to Mr. Robinson's great grandfather for property near Saline.

On the bookcase wall is a fruitwood chest which has been in the Robinson family for over 100 years. Brass candlesticks, a teapot and an antique grain scoop grace the chest's top.

The wooden bucket beside the chest pressed into service as a magazine container was once Mrs. Robinson's grandmother's potato bucket.

At the end of the adjoining formal dining room, the decoration theme swings to a Victorian mood.

A collection of colored etchings highlights the wall above the walnut framed sofa covered in a spruce green velvet. Serving the sofa is a round walnut lamp table and a marble topped coffee table.

Silver candlesticks of varied patterns and heights with red candles to emphasize the floor's accent color circle a wooden fruit bowl on the honeyed walnut banquet table.

The Robinson's have two children, Nancy, 13, and Bill, 11.

Wells Play Vital Role in Country

Is this statement true? "Only a few families living in the sticks get their water from a well anymore. Wells are obsolete in the 20th century."

It's false. Wells are an important part of modern living for more than 25 per cent of the U. S. population. Nearly 10 million families depend upon individual wells for their total water supply. They live not only on modern farms but in urban areas beyond municipal water mains.

In the past few years, individual wells have also assumed a new importance as a supplemental source of water in areas that have municipal systems but where shortages force local governments to curtail use of water.

About 50,000 such supplemental wells are drilled each year, and their number is expected to double or triple in the next few years because, almost everywhere in the U. S., there's plenty of water underground.

★ ★ ★

The modern well isn't half as picturesque as the old-fashioned one with its romantic "old oaken bucket" but it's considerably more efficient. The motor is electrically powered and is likely to be a submersible that's installed right in the well, where it can neither be seen nor heard. The well itself is about four inches in diameter and is sealed after being sanitized.

★ ★ ★

There's no hand-carrying of water from this 20th century electric appliance. As the water is pumped to the surface, it goes first to a storage tank. From there it's piped to the water-using equipment in the home in the usual way.

If you'd like to know more about the possibility of having your own well, write for a free booklet to the Ground Water Resources Institute, 205 W. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60606. Ask for "How Water Wells Help You Solve Your Water Problems — Easily and Economically!"

Glass Window Is Insulated

Manufacturers of stock wood windows report that windows with insulating glass now account for more than 50 percent of sales.

Their popularity is due to the advantages of double-glazing which, combined with the natural insulation of wood sash, cut heat loss substantially and eliminate condensation; and to availabilty of insulating glass in all styles of stock wood windows such as ponderosa pine units.

Forecast Revised for Homebuilding

The Commerce Department has revised upward its homebuilding forecast for 1967.

Assistant Secretary William Shaw says it's now fairly certain that new construction will exceed the 1.1 million units predicted by the department earlier this year. In fact, this year's total "could well exceed" last year's 1.2 million, Shaw says.

But don't hold onto your hats. According to Shaw, 1967 starts are almost sure to fall below the 1.5 million level of 1964 and 1965.

Shaw outlined the plus and minus factors in a recent speech to the American Marketing Association. On the plus side:

* * *

● Savings and Loan Associations, banks and other savings institutions had an inflow of nearly $5 billion in January, about twice what it was a year ago, and the trend appears to be continuing. This means mortgage money should be easier to find.

● The business plant and equipment boom has cooled so businessmen won't be competing so hard with homebuyers for credit.

● The Johnson administration has released funds for the Federal National Mortgage Association and other agencies in the business of helping housing. And Congress is restoring fast tax depreciation on commercial and industrial buildings, which will encourage more apartment houses.

● The Federal Reserve Board has moved toward making credit cheaper (lower interest rates) and more plentiful. And the FED shows every sign of continuing to ease as the economy continues to cool.

But there are minus factors, too, which are going to restrict housing's recovery in 1967:

● Some financial institutions had to sell assets last year to stay in business. Many of these will want to rebuild their financial base before stepping up their mortgage lending.

● Builders will need time to reestablish their money connections and to line up land, labor and machinery.

● Some homeowners who wanted to sell their old home last year but could not get financing for a new home, fixed up their old home instead and have given up plans to move.

● Last year's homebuilding slump drove skilled construction labor into other industries. It'll take time to get these workers back.

FRENCH PROVINCIAL: The elegant styling associated with this type of architecture is evident throughout the exterior design of this four-bedroom house, with the diamond-paned windows over the recessed front entryway an instantly recognizable feature.

French Provincial Spotlights Elegance

Attractive variety in exterior design is always more evident in areas of high-priced homes. When a distinctive house of moderate cost and size is desired, however, French provincial styling is often the answer. It has a special kind of elegance.

The basic plan of this latest House of the Week is rectangular for cost saving, with a habitable area of 1317 square feet on the first floor and 1123 on the second.

Typical of this type of native French architecture are the diamond-paned windows over the recessed entrance; the hipped roof with continuous dentil moulding around the eaves; the cupola over the garage wing; and the light-bricked veneer font.

Red cedar V-joint vertical boards are used on the garage and cedar shingles at the rear of the house.

A large foyer, 13' 6" wide, makes a fine reception area. It has two clothes closets and is the key to efficient circulation, leading directly to all rooms on the first floor and, via an open stair rail, to the four bedrooms on the second floor.

G-100 STATISTICS

Design G-100, a two-story French Provincial, has a living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, lavatory and laundry on the first floor, with a habitable area of 1317 square feet. There is a two-car garage large enough for the storage of tools, lawn equipment, toys, etc. A patio is located to the rear of the family room. Upstairs, there are four bedrooms and two baths. There are eight closets on the second floor and five on the first. The second floor has 1123 square feet of living space. Over-all dimensions, which include the garage, are 69' by 31' 2".

WIDE VISTA

The living room and dining room are at either side of the foyer, creating a vista of more than 45'. The living room has two separate windows; the dining room has a mullion window.

The kitchen and the family room area at the rear of the first floor. The 16' of width across the back of the kitchen provide sufficient eating accommodations for the family at the right side of the room.

Three windows, two of them over the sink, provide plenty of natural light besides affording a clean view of the back yard.

There is a lavatory with a mirrored vanity between the kitchen and the family room. Sliding glass doors in the family room take full advantage of the view, light and access to the rear patio, lounging and garden areas.

A corner brick fireplace highlights the family room.

On the other side of the kitchen is a laundry room with access to the outside, as well as

Fanny May Helps in Tight Situations

By JOHN PIERSON
United Press International

They say misfortune brings out the best in people. Fanny May proved it last year.

Fanny May has the most intriguing name of any government agency—and one of the most prosaic jobs—buying and selling mortgages.

Her real name is the Federal National Mortgage Association and the misfortune she weathered in 1966 was tight money. But that's what Congress created her for.

When money gets tight, interest rates rise. But since mortgage rates are pretty sticky going up and coming down, they tend to lag behind rates on stocks, bonds and other types of investment.

As rates rise, investors tend to shift their money out of mortgages and into something more lucrative.

Anyone who tried to buy a home last year knows how scarce mortgage money was. But it would have even been scarcer without Fanny May.

Doing what comes naturally when money's tight, Fanny May purchased 161,235 mortgages—an all-time high—and thereby supplied homeowners with an additional $2.1 billion in mortgage funds.

She bought them from mortgage companies, banks, trust companies, savings and loan associations and insurance companies—all of which were hurting for funds last year.

This permitted these private lenders to turn around and lend $2.1 billion more to home buyers.

You can see just how tight money was last year from the fact that Fanny May sold a grand total of only seven mortgages all year.

Investors just weren't buying mortgages when they could buy higher yielding investments.

Since 1954, Fanny May has purchased nearly 667,000 mortgages for $8 billion and has sold nearly 200,000 for $2.3 billion.

The success of her operation has led to suggestions that the government help set up a secondary mortgage market that would deal in conventional as well as government - backed mortgages.

quality & economy with Stran-Steel buildings

You get economy with Stran-Steel buildings because economy is literally designed and built into every steel component. It is the natural result of quality planned, mass production techniques that are not only better, but also economical. The savings are passed along to you.

Before you build any building, discover why a Stran-Steel building is a better investment. Find out why Stran-Steel is able to offer written guarantees to back-up the performance of the steel components. Lower heating and cooling bills are the direct result of exclusive insulated wall systems. Faster construction, often 60 to 90 days, will get you in business sooner.

Call us for a free estimate or a copy of our brochure "10 Costly Mistakes To Avoid Before You Build." We are able to handle your complete turn-key project. Arrangements can be made for financing.

to the over-sized two-car garage, which has ample space for garden tools, toys, lawn chairs and the like.

While the plans of architect William Chirgotis call for garage doors at the side, these doors could be located at the front if the width of the lot does not permit a side driveway.

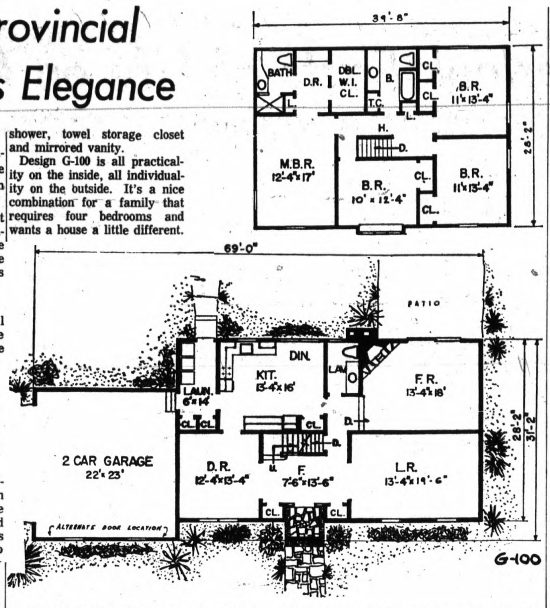
SPACIOUS

An open, spacious stairwell and foyer-like hall eliminate any feeling of congestion on the second floor.

The master bedroom has a private full bath, with a built-in full-length mirrored vanity a tiled stall shower and two closets, one of which is what is known as a double walk-in.

Each of the other three bedrooms is amply supplied with closet space. In fact, there are eight closets on the second floor. The main bathroom is fully tiled, has an over-tub shower, towel storage closet and mirrored vanity.

Design G-100 is all practicality on the inside, all individuality on the outside. It's a nice combination for a family that requires four bedrooms and wants a house a little different.



FLOOR PLANS: Rectangular layout lends itself to economy construction. Large foyer provides excellent circulation to any part of the house. Situated between the living room and the dining room, it has a long vista in either direction.

Kitchens Are Busy Places

How does a kitchen resemble a subway car?

Many mothers know the answer from the amount of traffic their kitchens seem to get every day.

All mothers will be interested to learn how New York subway cars have solved the problem of millions of feet tramping in and out every day.

The Better Floors Council reports these subway car floors are covered with vinyl asbestos tile. One floor in use for over fifteen years has been tramped on by more than four million people.

* * *

These same tough materials developed for public use are available to homeowners. Kitchens, baths, family rooms and laundries all take a daily beating by any active family; mud and dirt tracked in from outside and spills of all kinds are a daily occurrence.

* * *

To benefit from the hard-wearing qualities of vinyl asbestos tile, it is not necessary to settle for dull, uninteresting patterns. To meet the huge demands for their products, manufacturers of resilient floor tiles have developed hundreds of consumer designs for home use.

* * *

These are available in popular beiges and off-white as well as more vivid tones such as shocking pink, Bristol blue and tangerine for accent areas.

* * *

The recent development of embossed designs simulating travertine, wood, brick and other natural materials has even further increased the wide selections on the market.

Truckloads of produce are "put to sleep" with nitrogen in the carrier to slow the "breathing" process of produce and retard spoilage.

Population Explosion—4

Optimists Overlook Facts of Life on Problem

IN VIETNAM, victims of war grovel for food as births increase. Even vast American food programs merely postpone the inevitable.

By LEWIS C. FRANK JR.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In the tight streets of our inner cities, trucks are timed at an average speed of six miles an hour. Horse-drawn vehicles in 1910 moved faster.

One ponders the growing proliferation of people and cars and envisions the end of civilization as a massive bumper-to-bumper traffic jam. All car radios are turned to the civil defense bands, listening for reports of help that never comes. The white sidewalled, chromium-trimmed sedan becomes a convertible; convertible, that is, from car to coffin.

Grim fantasies come easily when one couples awareness of current problems of smog, water pollution, transportation, urban blight and crowded playgrounds and schools with knowledge of proliferating populations.

The world adds 1.3 million people every week — another Houston, Prague or Saigon.

And those lovely optimists who see the vast reaches of space as the new frontier to absorb the growth must be referred to the president of the Population Reference Bureau, Robert Cook.

8,000 HOURLY

This Paul Revere of population problems has pointed out that if we could build and launch every hour a space ship larger than any ocean liner man has ever built, we could stabilize population. How large? Each one would have to hold almost 8,000 people!

The optimists persist. They point to the ever-expanding wonders produced by science and technology to assure us that the world can absorb more and more people.

Yet population experts, no less optimistic about the breakthroughs in science, point to the great backlog of people who still do not enjoy a decent quality of life on this already crowded planet.

★ ★ ★

The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations estimates that 10,000 people die of starvation every day. The great famines are yet to come. Almost two billion of the world's people will go to bed hungry or malnourished tonight.

RUNAWAY GROWTH

Let's emphasize that runaway population growth is not simply a problem for India, China and Latin America. It exists here in the United States.

The National Academy of Sciences has warned that here at home "decreasing land and increasing people are on a collision course . . ."

While the U. S. economy still manages to grow more rapidly than population, the increases in population are exacerbating such problems as crime, juvenile delinquency, the quality of education, recreation and air and water pollution.

★ ★ ★

J. Edgar Hoover has pointed out that "since 1958 the increase in crime has been almost six times greater than the population growth," adding that "a relationship is indicated between population growth and the crime rate . . . those areas having the fastest growing populations generally are reporting the highest crime rates.

FREEDOM INHIBITED

We proudly cherish the extraordinary degree of individual freedom in the United States. But our forefathers, if they were Caucasian, enjoyed greater freedom. The frontiers have gone. Escape to new opportunities or from particular forms of oppression are ever more circumscribed. Proliferation of population brings new laws, ordinances and regulations, which inhibit individual freedom.

There is a common canard uttered against the 40 million people in our own poverty group; that if they weren't lazy, if they had "get up and go," they'd find lots of opportunities. Opportunities do exist, but in this technical age they don't resemble the opportunities of decades past. They require training and education that isn't being provided to the degree necessary.

And those who think of our own poverty group as being essentially nonwhite should read a new report of the Social Security Administration which shows that there are four times as many poor whites as there are nonwhites living in the big city areas of our country.

★ ★ ★

In the past 20 years our national policies have been predicated on defending freedom from foreign threats. To this end we spent in the period 1947-66 more than $900 billion for national defense. But today the greatest threat to freedom comes not from other ideologies and weapons but from proliferating populations at home and abroad. Present and projected expenditures to curb runaway population are relatively infinitesimal.

FERTILITY CONTROL

We have begun to move, albeit slowly. In the past two years there has been rapid acceleration in the efforts of the federal government, both at home and abroad, to help provide fertility control information. Domestic and foreign birth control programs in 1967 are expected to cost $25.3 million—10 times the amount of two years ago.

Yet this greatly expanded effort figures out to only one penny for every 2,000 pennies allocated for defense programs.

Frederick S. Jaffe, vice president of Planned Parenthood/World Population, has estimated that "the average cost of providing adequate birth control service, including supplies, is no more than $20 per year per patient." A massive program to reach 5 million additional women might cost taxpayers $80 to $100 million.

★ ★ ★

The savings in health and welfare services, education and capital investment for water, sewage disposal, fire and police and other services would amount to more than $2 billion.

FOREIGN ASSISTANCE

Of the total U. S. appropriations related to family planning, an estimated $8.4 million will be expended for foreign assistance by the Agency for International Development.

While the AID population budget is more than twice that for 1966, it still represents less than the cost of one hour's operation of our defense establishment!

Some opponents of federal expenditures for birth control decry the possibility of government pressure on the indigent to adopt contraception for family planning. But the advocates of family planning contend that the children of the poor have an equal right to be born "wanted" and that family planning assistance permits the indigent to have the children they want — births by choice, not blunder.

★ ★ ★

Serious and humane students of population problems are already projecting a necessity for compulsory birth control. Anthropologist Ashley Montagu has written that "voluntary birth control cannot be depended upon." He would add compulsory birth control to "compulsory education, the compulsory draft, compulsory taxes, compulsory vaccination and compulsory obedience to law."

CHEMICAL ADDITIVES

Montagu and others seriously project the use of chemical additives in food and water to provide temporary sterility in overpopulated lands.

Vastly accelerated programs at home and abroad are needed to determine whether voluntary birth control can stop the population explosions. In the absence of such programs or with the failure of such programs, it takes no special Cassandra to foresee the day when governments everywhere will severely penalize those who have "excess children."

Sociologist Lincoln Day of Yale has charged that "the couple with more than three children is contributing to the population disaster . . . (and) is socially irresponsible."

★ ★ ★

Day believes that the best way to control fertility is through the free decisions of individual parents and that "there can be no other way in a democratic society without serious loss to individual liberty." But he decries the misuse of this personal liberty by some citizens who "jeopardize the liberties of us all."

It is doubtful that individual couples with more than three children have been consciously "irresponsible." Neither they nor the governments of the world have yet faced up to the real meaning of the population explosion and its threat to every cherished freedom.

Peru Admirals Join Cabinet

LIMA, Peru (AP) — President Fernando Belaunde increased the number of military officers in his cabinet from two to four Friday and some observers considered it a move to show his opponents he has the support of the military.

Vice Adm. Raul Delgado was named minister of the navy in the 12 - member cabinet and Rear Adm. Luis Ponce Arenas was named minister of government and police, a post he had held on a temporary basis since last month.

An anti-Belaunde coalition dominates congress, which has noe met in 10 days. A group of senators supporting Belaunde walked out in protest against the election of Julio de la Piedra of the opposition Odriista party as senate president and, without them, the senate has been unable to muster a quorum.

Unofficial reports persist that Belaunde will attempt to resolve the congressional crisis by meeting with Manuel Odria of the Odriista party and Victor Raul Haya de la Torre of the Aprista party, leaders of the coalition that opposes him. But government sources insist Belaunde is remaining aloof from the dispute.

Panel to Review Its Plan to Restrict Crime News

HONOLULU (AP) — The chief proponent of limiting crime news reporting said today his American Bar Association panel will review its recommendations in the light of objections raised by news media representatives.

Justice Paul C. Rearden of the Supreme Judiciano Court of Massachusetts said in an interview that the review will be carried out before the recommendations are presented in February to the ABA's policy-making arm, the House of Delegates.

Still, it seemed clear after a day-long hearing. Friday that the Reardon panel will not retreat on its major proposals.

And J. Edward Murray, chairman of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' Freedom of Information and Press-Bar Committee, said he is pinning his hopes for liberalization of the recommendations on the House of Delegates. It is that group, he said in an interview, that is likely to give a "more liberal construction to the very serious sanctions recommended by the Reardon report."

Murray, managing editor of the Arizona Republic, said the recommendations are "of grave concern for all of society."

The Reardon report calls on lawyers and police officials to restrict their comments on pending criminal cases and to cut back on the release of information about them.

It also recommends contempt of court action against anyone who "disseminates by any means of public communications" a prejudicial statement about a defendant in a willful attempt to affect the outcome of his trial.

The same sanction is recommended when the pretrial hearing has been closed by the judge.

Reardon and David L. Shapiro, Harvard law professor who was chief researcher for the panel, defended the contempt recommendations. "It seems to us," Reardon said, "that the contempt proposals should be welcomed by the press. We have narrowed the power."

This big, handsome, picture-packed volume on the six-day war at the Middle East crossroads of history and faith is now in production for the readers of this newspaper.

It will tell the complete story of an event whose dimensions and details and human ingredients are still unfolding. It will view the whirlwind war through the eyes of individual Jews and Arabs who fought it.

It will tell that still untold story, hour by hour, against the backdrop of history. From the biblical days of Isaac and Ishmael, through the clash of empires and the cries of their pawns, through centuries of hate and fear and bloodletting.

It will tell the full military story of the lightning war that stunned Arabs everywhere and caused Jews everywhere to stand taller, from the first air strike sweeping in low over Egypt to the last shot fired in Syria. It will tell the story in terms of broad strategy, specific tactics, the humble and the proud, the heroes and the cowards.

"Lightning Out of Israel" is now being prepared by the same team that produced "The Torch Is Passed," AP's best seller about the Kennedy assassination. Like that compelling tale, the new book will be freshly reported, and freshly written. It will be structured as a novel with the immediacy of today's bulletins.

Cause No. 22966

STATE OF MICHIGAN — In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division

In the Matter of the Petition Concerning Mary Ann Burlingame aka Lago, Minor

TO Edward F. Burlingame, father of said minor child

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that said child comes within the provisions of Chapter 712A of the Compiled Laws of 1948 as amended, in that the present whereabouts of the father of said minor child is unknown and said child is dependent upon the public for support, and that said child should be placed under the jurisdiction of this Court.

In the Name of the People of the State of Michigan, You are hereby notified that the hearing on said petition will be held at the Court House, Oakland County Service Center, in the City of Pontiac in said County, on the 17th day of August A.D. 1967, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, and you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing, at which time temporary or permanent severance of all parental rights will be considered.

It being impractical to make personal service hereof, this summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

WHAT HOUR SHOULD WE SCHEDULE THE SERVICE?

The hour for a funeral service is contigent upon three things; your wishes, the clergyman and the funeral director.

Our time is your time and from our side the only possibility of interference would be if another service had been scheduled for the same hour and day you select.

One of the most important considerations is the clergyman. Many times the hour desired by the family is unsuitable to the clergymen due to a prior commitment.

When desired by the family we will notify and make arrangements with your clergyman, or in the event you do not have one of your own choice, we will select one for you.

Local Accident Injures Man

A Taylor Township man is in serious condition in Pontiac General Hospital with injuries incurred in an early morning accident on Elizabeth Lake Road east of Ogemaw.

Lloyd G. Langer, 23, suffered a fractured right leg and internal injuries, according to a hospital spokesman. He is under treatment in the intensive care unit.

Police said Langer was traveling west on Elizabeth Lake about 2:45 a.m. when he apparently lost control of his vehicle and left the road.

The car went some 200 feet then careened across the road into a tree, officers said.

Youth Sentenced on Assault Charge

A Waterford Township teenager was sentenced to 60 days in Oakland County Jail on an assault and battery charge yesterday by Township Justice Patrick K. Daly.

Francis M. Woodcum, 18, of 4708 M59 pleaded guilty to the reduced charge Wednesday.

Township police said he threatened two youths with a knife July 16. Woodcum had been charged with felonious assault.

He was arrested on the complaint of James Welch, 1017 Otter, Waterford Township. Welch told police he and a companion were confronted by Woodcum and two juveniles who followed them home from a grocery store.

BLUDGEONED PILOT — John Woods, 41, lies in a Newport Beach, Calif., hospital last night after being attacked with a hammer while piloting a small private plane from Santa Ana, Calif., to Santa Catalina Island yesterday. Woods and one of his two passengers, Mrs. Evelyn I. Rooker, 42, said her former husband, John Milton Eickmeier, 54, of Corona del Mar, Calif., struck Woods without warning as they approached the island, and that Mrs. Rooker struggled with Eickmeier until they landed.

Pilot Bashed in Flight; Passenger Is Jailed

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — John Milton Eickmeier 54, described by sheriff's detectives as a "brooder," today faced charges of attempted murder for allegedly attacking the pilot of a chartered plane with a hammer 10,000 feet above the Pacific Ocean.

Detectives said Eickmeir told them he "blacked out" prior to the incident Thursay afternoon on a flight to Santa Catalina Island off the southern California coast.

John Woods, 41, pilot of the single - engine Cessna Skyhawk said the attack occurred about nine miles north of the island. Eickmeier said he was going to take some pictures and reached into an attache case, Woods said.

"Suddenly, I was knocked unconscious. When I came to, we were diving straight toward the water. I saw blood all over my shirt and thought we had collided with another plane."

* * *

When detectives questioned Eickmeier about the incident, he told them he had suffered a lapse of memory that began just prior to the attack. He was scheduled to be flown to Avalon on the island Monday for arraignment on the attempted murder charge.

PILOT RELEASED

Woods was released from Hoag Memorial Presbyterian Hospital in Newport Beach, Calif., yesterday after treatment for a concussion, face and neck lacerations, a broken finger and loss of blood.

Authorities said Mrs. Evelyn I. Rooker, 42, Eickmeier's former wife, also was aboard the plane. The suspect was reportedly flying to the island for a job interview, but it was not known why his ex-wife accompanied him.

Woods told authorities that after he regained consciousness from the first flailing attack, he reached for a painful spot on his head just in time to soften a second blow from the 15-inch, 40-ounce hammer.

* * *

He pulled on the controls, sending the plane into a steep climb, throwing his attacker backward in the cabin.

LANDED SAFELY

With this tactic and help from Mrs. Rooker, who fended the attacker off with a shoe, Woods managed to land the plane safely at Catalina Island where Eickmeier was taken into custody.

Backbone Mountain, with an elevation of 3,360 feet, is the highest point in Maryland.

Woman Tells of Ordeal; State Man Feared Dead

HOUGHTON LAKE (AP) — Skin divers and surface craft continued to scout Michigan's largest inland lake today after an Ohio woman told authorities she spent 11 hours swimming to safety after a boat operated by her companion sank.

* * *

Missing and feared drowned was Harold Maxwell, 42, of East Lansing, Mich.

* * *

"I kept swimming until I made it to shore," Mrs. Ethel I. Hamister, 43, of Elyria, Ohio, told State Police when she reached shore in the predawn hours Friday.

* * *

She described her harrowing experience on Houghton Lake, 16 miles long and seven miles wide in central Lower Michigan, before being treated at a Grayling hospital for exposure.

Mrs. Hamister said she and Maxwell went out in his 16-foot boat, equipped with a 110-horsepower outboard motor, Thursday afternoon. Maxwell fell overboard, she said.

* * *

Mrs. Hamister was unable to operate the craft but Maxwell, treading water, shouted instructions to put the motor in reverse and pick him up.

* * *

In her haste, Mrs. Hamister said she applied full power and the boat submerged.

Mrs. Hamister said she lost sight of Maxwell but managed to swim ashore by floating and swimming throughout the night.

Vacuum Cleaner Stolen From Home

A vacuum cleaner valued at some $160 was stolen from a Pontiac woman's home, it was reported to city police late yesterday.

* * *

Ruby Ballard, 35, of 103 N. Tasmania told officers a neighbor spotted someone climbing through a rear window about 9:30 p.m.

Investigators said the burglar first removed a screen, then forced the window open.

Rocky Backs Surtax Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he thinks President Johnson's plan for a 10 per cent surcharge on federal income taxes is "sound, provided it does not have an adverse effect on the economy."

The Republican governor added that he thought the 10 per cent figure "would not have that effect."

* * *

Rockefeller said at his news conference Friday that it was "a very delicate and difficult problem" to take action to curb inflationary trends in the economy while insuring that the steps were not too deflationary.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR MOTHER, Florance Howard, who passed away 1 year ago today August 5, 1966.
Your presence is ever near us.
Your love remains with us yet.
You were the kind of mother,
Your loved ones would never forget.
Sadly missed by your children.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear grandson and nephew, Robert F. Clark, who passed away August 4, 1966.
One year has passed since that sad day.
One we loved was called away.
God took him home,
It was His will,
But in our hearts,
He's with us still.
Sadly missed by relatives.

Our Music's Tripe--Monkee

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — "Don't buy us if you want good music," Mike Nesmith of the Monkees advised an interviewer. "Our music is sort of inane, banal. The Beatles give the kids the good stuff." "Do you remember our second album?" he asked. "That was all tripe... We're limited in musical ability. We have to overdub."

★ ★ ★

Nesmith, 24, and other members of the television group were in St. Paul for a concert Friday night.

★ ★ ★

"The TV show makes no sense, and we're quite open about it," Nesmith added. "But what goes on the TV show goes on 24 hours a day. These guys will do anything for a gag."

Nesmith prepared for the concert by pulling out a set of ear plugs.

"I wear them during every concert," he explained. "I can't hear a thing with them, but then I wouldn't be able to hear anything without them either."

Chevalier Sticks Neck Out, Picks Marlene Over Greta

By EARL WILSON

MONTREAL — Maurice Chevalier, "a very happy old man" in his own words, delivered himself of the provocative opinion here the other day that "Marlene Dietrich had the guts that Greta Garbo never had" in continuing her career and that Garbo "must not be very gay now not working."

WILSON

"You have to go on and face your destiny," said Chevalier, who obviously lives by that dictum. "Everybody fails one day but you've got to go on till you fail."

Chevalier, who'll be 79 soon, has fixed his 80th birthday, Sept. 12, 1968, as the time to quit hopping around the world doing concerts and cafes . . . but he'll probably be doing occasional work after 80 and that's how we got started on Garbo and Dietrich who'll be doing a one-man woman show on Broadway this fall.

"I don't approve of Garbo not working," Chevalier said.

"She got so scared because something she did went wrong, then she didn't dare to come back, and she has refused everything. If she had kept working she would still be the great Garbo whereas now Dietrich is greater than Garbo.

"She would have had to take older parts but so she would be the great old lady of the screen. It's better to be a great old lady than just a souvenir."

Chevalier was sure that Marlene — "who has a lot of guts and it's surprising to find guts in one so feminine"—will be a big hit in her one-woman singing, dancing show which, he pointed out, "is not her profession, but a new one for her."

In the year that he is turnig 79, Chevalier himself proved to himself that he could play the big stadia. He faces up to 25,000 a night at Expo '67.

"I was scared to do it but now I know ett's easeee," he said. "I have not much voice, you know. The second night there was a train going up and down making a hell of a noise. But I outnoised the train.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Juliet Prowse's London premiere of "Sweet Charity" was pushed ahead a month to Oct. 12 because of ticket demand . . . Bantam Books now has 5,000,000 copies of "Valley of the Dolls" in print.

American-International's "Wild in the Streets" will have their longest shooting schedule—20 days (for them, the equivalent of 20th's "Cleopatra" schedule) . . . The antique furniture at Aux Puces was photo'd for Good Housekeeping.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "I'm always disagreeing with my wife," grumbled a guy, "—and someday I'm gonna tell her so!"

History Shows Temporary Taxes, Like Surcharge, Linger

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Temporary taxes have had a way of lingering on — almost permanently.

But government officials say they don't want that to happen to the proposed temporary 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes sent to Congress by President Johnson.

His plan calls for the surcharge to expire June 30, 1969, or to continue only so long as the Vietnam war if the war lasts beyond that date.

Top officials say they hope this timetable can be kept. But a look at some past "temporary taxes" makes the outlook bleak.

* * *

Consider the fate of extra taxes imposed or old ones increased during World War II and the Korean War. Many of them — cheifly excise taxes — were put in the temporary category and called for on grounds of war needs.

But many lingered on for years afterward.

Congress adopted in 1965 a major reduction and elimination of excise taxes which dated from the depression of the 1930s and World War II. Johnson strongly supported the measure.

But it's been hard to remove a temporary tax once it works its way into the system.

Take, for example, the tax on transportation. It was first enacted during World War I, expired after the war but was re-established for World War II.

Part of it — a 5 per cent tax on air transportation — lingers on. A 10 per cent tax on train rides finally was repealed in 1962.

The alcohol tax of $9.50 per gallon was raised "temporarily" to $10.50 during the Korean War but was later made permanent.

News Analysis

Officials said a "temporary tax on theater admissions and other amusements was first enacted during World War I. It was in use during World War II and the Korean War but was repealed in 1965.

Long-standing "temporary taxes on luggage, jewelery and furs went out in 1965.

* * *

Although the administration has worked to rid the tax system of as many excises as possible, it now wants to postpone some reductions which are scheduled to go into effect early next year.

REPEAL SCHEDULE

On April 1, the 7 per cent manufacturer's auto excise tax is scheduled to fall to 2 per cent and to 1 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969. The 10 per cent excise tax on telephone service is scheduled to fall to 1 per cent on April 1 and to be eliminated on Jan. 1, 1969.

* * *

These rates had been substantially higher during wartime.

* * *

Johnson now has asked Congress to postpone the first drops to July 1, 1969, and the second drops to Jan. 1, 1970, as part of his new tax package.

U. of M. Grad Among New Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Space Agency has 11 new scientist-astronauts who may spend days on the moon, weeks in space stations circling earth or months flying to Mars or other planets.

Selected for their scientific rather than piloting background, the fledgling spacemen swelled the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's astronaut corps to 56.

Among the 11 is a professor of astronomy who earned his doctorate at the University of Michigan.

All must learn to fly jets before taking a space trip.

NASA said they came into the program to train to "conduct scientific experiemnts in manned orbiting satellites and to observe and investigate the lunar surface and circumterrestrial space."

They join five others in the scientist-astronaut category who joined in 1965.

A Manned Spacecraft Center officials formally announced the all-civilian group yesterday.

All hold doctor's degrees, either in the sciences or medicine. They are:

- Joseph P. Allen, 30, research associate at the University of Washington.
- Philip K. Chapman, 32, naturalized U.S. citizen from Melbourne, Australia; staff physicist at the Experimental Astronomy Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.
- Anthony W. England, 25, graduate fellow at MIT, doctorate in geophysics.
- Karl G. Henize, 40, professor of astronomy, Northwestern University; graduate of the University of Virginia and the University of Michigan where he earned a doctorate in astronomy; married to the former Caroline Rose Weber of Bay City, Mich.;
- Donald L. Holmquest, 28, intern at Methodist Hospital in Houston, Graduate of the Baylor University College of Medicine.
- William B. Lenoir, 28, electrical engineering doctorate from MIT, an associate professor at MIT.
- John A. Llewellyn, 34, born in Cardiff, Wales, an associate professor at Florida State University, doctorate in chemistry from University College, Cardiff.
- F. Story Musgrave, 31, doctorate in physiology from the University of Kentucky, where he is a postdoctoral fellow.
- Brian T. O'Leary, 27, Ph. D. in California, NASA trainee at Space Sciences Laboratory, Department of Astronomy, University of California.
- Robert A. Parker, 30, associate professor of astronomy, University of Wisconsin, astronomy doctorate from the California Institute of Technology.
- William E. Thornton, 38, M.D. from the University of North Carolina until recently a researcher in Air Force space-program.

DESTINATION: MOON — Dr. Robert A. R. Parker, 30, an astronomer at the University of Wisconsin, talks to newsmen after his selection yesterday as one of 11 new U.S. scientist-astronauts. Parker said he applied "for kicks, to see what would happen, to see if I could make it." Behind him is a photograph of the moon.

Girl Missing in Oklahoma; Fears Spread

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Fears for the safety of young girls in this capital city area began to spread among its half-million population today as the search for 6-year-old Brenda Lois White entered its third day.

Brenda is the second child to disappear here within a month.

On July 6, 5-year-old Judith Ann Elwell disappeared from her home in northwest Oklahoma City. She has not been seen since.

Mrs. Bob White of Midwest City, 10 miles southeast of Oklahoma City, reported her daughter missing late Thursday after the girl's bicycle ws found at a grocery store about two blocks from the family home.

Authorities immediately launched a search which included men on horseback, in helicopters and on foot in the soggy area.

As many as 400 persons, including some National Guardsmen and volunteers from Tinker Air Force Base at Midwest City, searched vainly yesterday in a soaking rain.

"We're all getting worn . . . We're tired out. And not a lead one . . . Nothing," Midwest City Police Chief Ernest Bailey said late yesterday.

He had gone sleepless for some 39 hours in directing the hunt.

* * *

"I don't think she is around here," said the father, who drove nonstop from St. Louis Thursday night after learning of the girl's disappearance.

'THOROUGH SEARCH'

White said the search has been thorough and that she "would have been found" if still in the vicinity.

Bailey said the White girl's disappearance "looks identical with the Elwell case. There is no doubt about it."

Lt. Jim Reading, Oklahoma City police officer in charge of the Elwell investigation, agreed.

* * *

"I was afraid of something like this (another missing girl) several weeks ago when we ran into one blank wall after another," he said.

Chrysler Unionists to Meet

Topic: Plant Issues

DETROIT (AP)—In a move aimed at forestalling localized strikes over at-the-plant issues, the United Auto Workers Union is calling to Detroit the leaders of its Chrysler locals across the country to Detroit next week.

National contract negotiations at Chrysler will be recessed from Monday through Wednesday for union meetings with about 150 representatives of 70 Chrysler bargaining units.

Douglas Fraser, UAW Chrysler director, said a primary purpose will be to discuss with local leaders at-the-plant issues and decide which, if any, should be moved to the national bargaining table for decision.

Local working agreements supplement national contracts at Chrysler, General Motors and Ford which expire Sept. 6.

* * *

In 1964 localized strikes crippled both General Motors and Ford after agreement had been reached on a national contract.

BETTER INFORMED

Fraser said the newly called Detroit conference would serve to keep Chrysler's 95,000 UAW members better informed on what is happening in national bargaining.

Local issues were a matter of debate between the UAW and Ford as they wound up their fourth week of negotiations at the national table.

Both the union and company expressed concern about the number of issues still unresolved at the plant level.

Horse Judging to End Fair

The Oakland County 4-H Fair will conclude its best year with horse competition tonight.

Record crowds have been flocking to see the youngsteres display their best efforts as well as to attend the carnival.

The horse competition starts at 8 p.m. with 35 finalists displaying their accomplishments in breeding, riding and training.

Last night's events included awarding of trophies to about 45 winning youngsters in various fields of competition.

* * *

This year's fair, favored by excellent weather, except for Thursday's rain, has been labeled the biggest ever, judging by the number of cars and the cash receipts.

FACILITIES TAXED

At times the facilities at Perry and Walton were taxed by the visiting crowds, especially as in relation to parking.

However, the county 4-H'ers have plans for larger facilities in Springfield Township, pending the County board of supervisors' approval.

DOUBLE TROUBLE — What a summer for Patrick Campau, 10, and his brother Peter, 8, of Bay City, Mich. Both are sporting casts on their left arms. Patrick, (left,) started the bad-luck streak on the 4th of July by falling off a ladder, and Peter followed suit two weeks later by falling off a swing.

Outlook Is Sunny

"In the Good Old Summertime" might well be the theme song of residents in all southeast and southwest Lower Michigan for the weekend. The U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts fair and warm through tomorrow.

The official Weather Bureau report looks like this:

TODAY — Sunny and mild. High 78 to 80. Tonight fair and cool, low 54 to 58.

TOMORROW — Sunny and warmer, high in the 80s.

MONDAY — Warm with chance of showers.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent: Today and tonight near zero, Sunday 10,

Reactions Vary to Rain Deluge in the Northeast

NEW YORK (AP) — A Flushing, N.Y. homeowner stood at the steps of his newly finished basement, bemoaning the warps in the knotty pine walls and the moldy football on the floor.

A Long Valley, N.J., woman looked out the window of her home at the back yard brook.

* * *

"Usually it babbles so nicely," she said. "This morning it looked like something Bobby Kennedy could ride a kayak in. Real white water."

A Boston man took one look at the gray sky and walked to the closet for his three constant companions — a pair of rubbers, a raincoat and an umbrella.

The problem is rain — and after five years without it, residents in the Northeast are being deluged with it.

* * *

"Our problem now is not too little water, but too much," said a spokesman for the Delaware River Basin Commission, a four-state agency which serves 20 million persons in New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey.

LOT OF COMPLAINTS

The Weather Bureau at Boston reported only 10 days without rain last month and "a lot of complaints, particularly that the rain has been too frequent."

While baseball players, sun worshipers onion farmers and umbrella carriers can't wait to get rid of the rain, indoor sports fans, corn farmers, policemen and lawns soak it up.

"I love indoor activities," said Jean Bednarik, a 21-year-old blonde secretary from Astoria, N.Y. "My skin is very light, so I can't sit in the sun. When the sun is out everyone goes to the beach but me. But when it rains everyone runs to cocktail lounges or house parties or different amusement areas which are sheltered."

* * *

Agriculture Department and Weather Bureau officials in Albany, N.Y. agreed that the rain is a boon. The Weather Bureau's chief meteorologist said the rainfall — most in five years — would have a "terrific effect on all growth, trees especially."

Viet Consensus Seen by Envoys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential envoys Clark Clifford and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor returned from their Southeast Asian trip today reporting they found general agreement among the allies on how to push ahead with the Vietnam war.

* * *

"A great degree of consensus," was how Taylor summed up the attitude of allied leaders on which he was slated to report to President Johnson this afternoon.

"There was unanimous agreement among all the allies that the bombing should be carried on at its present level or possibly at an increased level," Clifford added.

And there was no reluctance expressed about sending more troops to Vietnam from other allied countries, Taylor said, "because we were not asking for more troops."

* * *

Johnson dispatched the two senior presidential advisers to talk with the chiefs of the countries who have forces fighting the Communists in Vietnam.

Their two-week trip took them to South Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea.

Clifford described their mission as "a stock-taking trip" rather than one in which any decisions were reached.

"It was not the type of trip in which decisions were made or decisions were reached," he said.

U.S. Jets Keep Pressure on N. Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes kept up heavy pressure on North Vietnam Friday, flying 145 missions after a record 197 strikes the previous day, and a main target was the Communist guns which were shooting at them.

Air Force F105 Thunderchief pilots reported they destroyed at least 17 antiaircraft gun emplacements around the airfield and railroad yard at Kep, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Other pilots flew through heavy antiaircraft fire and surface-to-air missiles to hit other military targets and fuel storage areas.

The Communist fire brought down a Navy Skyhawk, and the pilot was missing. It was the 536th announced U.S. warplane loss over the North.

Ground fighting continued in one of its periodic lulls, but South Vietnamese military headquarters said three infantry sweeps in the Vietcong-infested Mekong Delta had accounted for a total of 469 enemy dead in nine days.

The Vietcong struck again at two U.S. military installations near Saigon.

★ ★ ★

For the second time in 10 days, the Communists unleashed a mortar attack on the base camp of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade at Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon.

The attack Friday night killed one American and wounded eight. A Communist rocket and mortar barrage on the base camp July 27 killed 11 U.S. soldiers and wounded 43.

The U.S. naval base at Nha Be, eight miles southeast of Saigon, came under Communist recoilless rifle attack early today for the second time in three days.

The Navy said Communists fired eight or nine rounds of 75mm recoilless rifle rounds into the complex, but that only two hit the base. The others landed in the Long Tao river bordering the base, from which Navy patrol boats conduct operations against the Vietcong in the delta.

The Navy said there were no casualties and only light damage to the facilities. In a heavier mortar and recoilless rifle shelling of the base and a nearby petroleum tank farm Thursday, 27 Americans and six Vietnamese were wounded and 1,000 55-gallon drums of fuel went up in flames.

2 Senators Dispute Program-Hate Link

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate champion of the war on poverty says the program is imperiled by "stabs in the back" falsely linking its men and money with racial hatred and Negro rioting.

But a Southern senator said such charges against antipoverty agencies have not been proved false.

★ ★ ★

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said in his view the charges were substantiated by the very witness summoned to deny them.

"We serve nobody's interests except the fellow that wants to cause a riot by whacking at the poverty program," said Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., criticizing the course of a Senate Judiciary Committee inquiry into Negro rioting. Eastland heads the committee.

PROGRAM FACES TROUBLE

President Johnson's $2 billion poverty program request already faces trouble in Congress.

"This is sure as hell not helping," Hart said in an interview. "It doesn't need this kind of stabs in the back, unverified charges and irrelevancies."

★ ★ ★

Another defense of the poverty program came Friday from the Rev. J. Paschall Davis, who denied the Nashville, Tenn., antipoverty agency he heads has funneled funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity to a school accused of teaching Negro children to hate white people.

He told the Judiciary Committee that funds have been allocated for that school program, and a contract has been signed—but if it teaches race hatred no money will go to it.

"We've made mistakes," he acknowledged, and cited as one of them a transaction which put the Nashville chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee in possession of a new station wagon leased by the local poverty agency.

Romney Says U.S. Lacking Global Plan

CHAUTAUQUA, N.Y. (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney, linking domestic racial strife with U.S. foreign policy, warns that this country lacks "a cohesive world strategy for the long run."

★ ★ ★

Romney, a possible 1968 Republican presidential candidate, added in an address to 10,000 persons Friday night at Chautauqua Institution:

"I believe we are in danger of 'hip-pocketing' crucial international decisions. I believe we have placed more emphasis on the problems of today than on the purpose of tomorrow."

"Vietnam is an example," the governor continued. "Our preoccupation with Vietnam has infected many important relationships in other areas of the world. In terms of over - all American interests, the Vietnam tail is wagging the global dog."

Romney's address was interrupted frequently by applause at the amphitheatre of the institution, a privately run cultural, educational and religious center in the southwestern corner of New York State.

PAUL IGNATIUS

New Secretary of Navy Picked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has picked Paul R. Ignatius, assistant defense secretary, to be secretary of the Navy, a post left open by the death of former nominee John T. McNaughton.

Nomination of Ignatius, a Los Angeles native who has been with the Defense Department since 1961, was announced Friday by the White House. It must be confirmed by the Senate. Ignatius currently is assistant defense chief for installations and logistics.

McNaughton's appointment had been approved by the Senate but he was killed July 19 in a North Carolina air crash. McNaughton, whose wife also was killed in the crash, had not yet assumed the post.

The Navy secretary's office has been vacant since July 1, when Paul H. Nitze was elevated to deputy secretary of defense.

In other moves set off by Ignatius' nomination, the White House said Johnson has:

—Approved reassignment of Thomas D. Morris, now assistant secretary of defense for manpower, to fill Ignatius' present post.

—Accepted the resignation of Norman S. Paul as undersecretary of the Air Force, effective Sept. 1, and nominated Townsend Hoopes, deputy assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, to succeed Paul.

Embassy Fight in Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Communist Chinese inside a well-barricaded embassy drove back a mob of 300 Indonesian youths with small arms fire today as the youths smashed into the embassy compound and set fire. Three youths were seriously wounded.

One of 100 Indonesian soldiers who arrived to control the outbreak also was wounded seriously by the volley from the embassy.

After the initial outburst, the Chinese, believed to number about 20, kept their positions inside building, and an uneasy lull came.

YMCA Truck Flips; 5 Killed, 30 Injured

FREMONT, Calif. (AP)— The overturning of a flatbed truck carrying YMCA youngsters on an outing took the lives of four youngsters and a YMCA summer worker Friday.

A California highway patrolman said he saw the truck veer onto a raised strip that divides the Nimitz Freeway. The vehicle somersaulted and landed on its side, scattering its 70 passengers on the strip and road.

★ ★ ★

The dead:

Janet Cotton, 10, of Berkeley, Calif.

Mark Linde, 9, of Seattle, Wash.

Eric Lowe, 7, of Berkeley.

Burton Garnett, 11, of Berkeley.

Helen King, 22, a YMCA summer worker from Woodside, Calif.

30 HOSPITALIZED

Some 30 are in hospitals and one is in critical condition.

The truck, rented by the Berkeley YMCA for its "Summer Fun Club," had taken 68 youngsters and eight staff members Friday morning to Santa Cruz, some 100 miles south of Berkeley. It was returning at 4:30 p.m. when it turned over in Fremont, 30 miles south of Berkeley.

★ ★ ★

The Highway Patrol said it could find no mechanical defect in the truck. One tire was found flat, but officers could not tell whether it went flat before or after the accident.

Red Skipper Again Caught in U.S. Zone

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Soviet trawler skipper Daniel Baronik remained in the Alaska state jail Saturday in lieu of $10,000 bail after he was charged Friday with violation of the exclusive 12-mile U.S. fisheries zone.

Baronik appeared before U.S. Commissioner James Hanson who set bail and ordered the Russian held. Arraignment was postponed until Monday to permit the arrival of Soviet Embassy officials from Washington.

★ ★ ★

Baronik's vessel was seized by the Coast Guard Thursday after a three-mile chase north of Akutan Island in the Aleutians and escorted to Dutch Harbor. Baronik and a crew member were flown here Friday.

It was the second time in six months that the 180-foot refrigerator vessel, the SRTM 8-487, has been picked up for fishing violations. In the first instance, skipper Leonid M. Kuschenko was fined $10,000.

2 Bound Over in Riot Sniping

DETROIT (AP) — Two Negroes accused as snipers in last week's riot were bound over Friday for trial.

Y. T. Morrison, 37, and his brother, O. B. Morrison, 23, both of Detroit, were charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

They are accused of firing from a speeding car at an East Side police station July 24.

Bond was set at $50,000 each. No trial date was set.

SHOT FIRED

Police testified at examination Friday that a shot was fired from a passing car. Patrolman Lee Brown testified he fired back, shattering the auto's windshield. The vehicle was stopped by a National Guard patrol.

Brown said the occupants were the Morrison brothers.

Hungarians Hold Yank, 24

Accused of Helping Alien Cross Border

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "Dick has always been out to help someone," Mrs. Richard Goos said when she was told her 24-year-old son had been arrested in Hungary.

The Hungarian Foreign Ministry announced Friday night that Richard Goos of Hamilton, Ohio, had been arrested on a charge of helping a foreign citizen cross the border illegally out of that Communist country. The announcement did not include the date or circumstances of the arrest.

★ ★ ★

Goos' father, a Hamilton real estate man, said in a telephone interview that his son had written about going on a trip to Hungary and Yugoslavia after completing a year as an exchange student at the University of Bonn on July 29. The younger Goos had majored in government at Indiana University.

"All we can do now is wait and hope," the father said. "I hope it turns out to be just a misunderstanding."

NO IDEA WHY

Both parents said they had no idea why the Hungarians might have wanted to arrest their son. His last letter from West Germany talked about his final examinations, getting a visa for the trip and plans to help a school friend with the harvest before returning home.

"He was only going to be in Budapest for three days," Goos said. "He wrote he would be traveling with a friend who is going to study medicine at IU."

★ ★ ★

The younger Goos was to have returned to the United States on Aug. 30.

Official Wounded Critically in Macomb

A township supervisor and father of seven children was wounded critically by a gunman early today in the Macomb County community of Muttonville, about 17 miles east of Romeo.

Romeo State Police identified the victim as Desmond Stern, 44, of Richmond.

Stern, they said, is supervisor of Casco Township in St. Clair County.

He is listed in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital in Mount Clemens with a gunshot wound in the right temple.

★ ★ ★

The shooting occurred at the Cavalier Gas Station, Gratiot at M 19 at 1:50 a.m., police said.

PART-TIME EMPLOYE

Stern was employed part-time at the station as an attendant and was on duty at the time of the shooting.

A neighbor, who witnessed the shooting, told police the intruder escaped on foot.

Police are searching for a motive. No money apparently was taken from the gas station or the victim.

★ ★ ★

The witness said he saw Stern running away from his assailant just prior to the shooting.

The gunman was described as a white man in his late 20s, about 5-10, stockily-built, balding and wearing a light-blue work shirt.

Police said a small caliber gun was used.

★ ★ ★

Yul, the Pontiac State Police post's tracking dog, followed the suspect's scent north on Gratiot about a block before losing it, indicating the gunman may have entered a car at that point.

The Macomb County Sheriff's department also provided assistance.

News Briefs at a Glance

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Historymobile—a traveling museum on wheels—will be driven into a garage at the end of August because of lack of funds to continue its tour of the state.

Secretary of State James Hare's office said the tight budget given the State Historical Commission by the Legislature forced the April-to-November tour to be cut short this year.

Charge for Parking Hit

LANSING (AP) — A state employes group has charged discrimination — noting that rank-and-file state workers are charged for parking while legislators park for free. The 16,800-member State Employes Association objected because state workers are being charged $2.50 biweekly to park on three lots near the two main state office buildings in Lansing.

Station Sale Sanctioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced yesterday it has approved the sale of radio station WJOR, South Haven, Mich., to the Van Buren County Broadcasting Co., Inc., for $135,000.

Pianist Will Perform

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Pianist Eugene List is scheduled to play with the Northwestern Michigan Symphony Orchestra in a benefit concert Oct. 14 for the Joseph E. Maddy Interlochen Memorial Fund, it was announced today. List teaches at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y.

Curve Reflectors Eyed

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department is conducting a study to determine the effectiveness of new reflecting curve markers for night driving. The 3-inch-by-12-inch rectangular markers have been placed on all curves greater than three degrees on rural state highways other than freeways. The markers are designed to reflect headlights so curve outlines can be seen well in advance for approaching motorists.

First Checks of Program

EAST LANSING (AP) — The first checks have been distributed to participating communities under a law establishing the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council. Police agencies representing 76 city, township and sheriff departments were mailed checks totaling $58,826. The money represents a 50 per cent reimbursement for salaries and living expenses of 263 officers who attended 12 approved area police training schools.

State Milk Output Dips

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's milk handlers processed 4.6 million pounds of milk in 1966, down 7 per cent from the 4.9 million pounds processed in 1965, the Michigan Crop Reporting Service said yesterday. Butter production was 30.5 million pounds, down less than 1 per cent, while 36.4 million pounds of cheese produced was 3 per cent below the 1965 figure.

Promotions Announced

EAST LANSING (AP) — Promotion of State Police Cpls. William H. Carter and Bernard F. Schrader to the rank of sergeant was announced yesterday by Col. Frederick E. Davis, director. Carter is the department's water safety expert and supervisor of the underwater recovery squad and Schrader is ordnance officer and manager and coach of the department pistol team. Both are attached to East Lansing headquarters.

Reminder to Guardsmen

LANDING (AP)— Michigan National Guardsmen who were federalized under the recent riot emergency are reminded they have reemployment rights under the Universal Military Training and Service Act. Charles Fleming of the U.S. Department of Labor said the law states: "Upon return to his job the Guardsman shall be reinstated by his employer with such seniority, status, pay rate and other rights and benefits that he would have had, had he not been ordered to active duty."

Birmingham Area News

Conservatory Is Adding Art Classes in the Fall

BIRMINGHAM — The new owners hope to bring a new image to the Birmingham Conservatory of Music and Arts.

Part of the new image is the "and Arts" added to the former institution.

Co-owner Cliff Morris announced fall classes will include a graphic and plastic arts department in addition to music studies.

Another part of the new image will be a different building at 772 E. Maple, across the street from the former premises.

Morris pointed out his school is a registered nonprofit corporation. "We are dedicated to good music and hope we can find acceptance from the community," he said.

PROUD OF TEACHERS

Morris is especially proud of the staff of teachers, most of them associated with the former owners with new members added in the expansion.

"Our instructors include some of the finest veterans of the Detroit Symphony. Every-one of the staff is an 'involved' sort of person," he said.

Another innovation at the school will be a music appreciation course to begin in the fall.

★ ★ ★

Morris said the new organization hopes to expand its workshop program in organizing various musical groups among the enrolled students.

SCHOLARSHIPS PLANNED

He said the school plans to offer scholarships, depending on available funds, to needy, promising students.

★ ★ ★

The school is centrally located to serve the county, and Morris said, "There is a great need for the type of school we intend to develop."

2 New Blows for McNamara

Prime Projects Feel Senate Panel's Ax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has dealt new blows to two of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's prime projects—the controversial F111D jet planes and massive ships intended to serve as floating military warehouses.

The actions came Friday as the Senate panel sent to the floor a massive $70.16 billion defense money bill, including $20 billion for Vietnam war costs. The total was slightly less than the $70.23 billion defense measure approved by Congress for the past fiscal year, which ended June 30.

★ ★ ★

Committee members conceded privately the $20 billion Vietnam total will fall short of meeting actual costs, especially after President Johnson's announcement Thursday he is dispatching 45,000 to 50,000 more troops to the Southeast Asia conflict.

The better than $70 billion okayed by the committee was $1.4 billion below Johnson's budget requests and $139 million less than the House approved June 12.

The Senate committee accepted House action in denying $300 million that McNamara requested for construction of a fleet of fast deployment logistic ships.

The defense chief has said the floating arsenals would allow the United States to move quickly to avert crises. But some Senate critics have said use of such ships could result in U.S. involvement in future conflicts such as Vietnam.

The Senate panel also reduced from $287 million to $115 million funds to build the F111D jets—the Navy version of the long controversial TFX. The House version cut funds for the swing-wing interceptor to $208 million.

The plane has been designated by McNamara for use by all services. Designers have encountered weight problems in attempting to fit the plane to aircraft carrier use.

Light Agenda Faces Board in Waterford

A light agenda is in store for Waterford Township board members at their 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday.

Excluding reports, only four items are on the agenda.

The board will consider approval of the preliminary land plan for Lakeland Estates No. 2 Subdivision, which has been recommended for approval by the Township Planning Commission.

At the request of a group of residents, the board will hold a discussion on a proposed sanitary sewer project for parts of Marion, Elizabeth Lake, Voorheis, Chadwick and Colrain.

★ ★ ★

Bids previously were opened for the project, but rejected because they were too high. Since then, engineers have launched a study of the undertaking.

RESIDENTS ANXIOUS

The residents apparently are anxious for the project to proceed.

In other business Monday, the board will consider a request for transfer of ownership of a 1967 SDM licensed-business at 6500 Hatchery from L. Clare Kramp to Charles F. and Marjorie Martin and Lee R. and L. Marlene Stark.

★ ★ ★

A request for a lot split on property at Airport Road and M59 also will be up for consideration.

Thorburn Cites City Man Who Refuses to Testify

A Pontiac man with a long string of gambling arrests was cited for contempt of court yesterday by Oakland County Grand Juror James S. Thorburn.

The contempt charge against Basil W. Burke, 68, was the second such action taken by Thorburn in as many days.

On Thursday, John Johns, 53, of Ferndale was cited for contempt for refusing to answer questions before the grand juror.

Burke also was cited for refusing to answer questions.

★ ★ ★

He repeatedly failed to answer, according to grand jury records of the proceedings filed with the county clerk's office, or just simply nodded his head when queried by special prosecutor Jerome K. Barry.

NO REASON

Burke would give no reason to investigators as to why he would not answer questions.

"Mr. Burke, we are not looking for glory," said Barry. "We are just trying to do our job."

"I know that," said Burke, "No disrespect to you but there is nothing I can say or nothing that I can do. So I might just as well take the contempt."

★ ★ ★

A hearing is scheduled for Friday before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem as to why Burke should not be held in contempt.

JOHNS CITED

The day earlier Johns was cited for refusing to say whether or not he was a bag (collection) man for alleged Mafia chief Tony Giacalone.

Burke has been arrested a number of times on gambling charges, and in 1951 began serving a 1 to 5 year prison sentence for a gambling conviction stemming from a 1946 Gran Jury conducted by the late Circuit Judge George B. Hartick.

In 1959, a gambling charge against Burke and Mrs. G. Gullett, wife of a former Pontiac deputy treasurer, was dismissed in Circuit Court because of insufficient evidence.

★ ★ ★

Burke has a police record dating back to 1924.

WHAT HOUR SHOULD WE SCHEDULE THE SERVICE?

The hour for a funeral service is contigent upon three things; your wishes, the clergyman and the funeral director.

Our time is your time and from our side the only possibility of interference would be if another service had been scheduled for the same hour and day you select.

One of the most important considerations is the clergyman. Many times the hour desired by the family is unsuitable to the clergymen due to a prior commitment.

When desired by the family we will notify and make arrangements with your clergyman, or in the event you do not have one of your own choice, we will select one for you.

Local Accident Injures Man

A Taylor Township mah is in serious condition in Pontiac General Hospital with injuries incurred in an early morning accident on Elizabeth Lake Road east of Ogemaw.

Lloyd G. Langer, 23, suffered a fractured right leg and internal injuries, according to a hospital spokesman. He is under treatment in the intensive care unit.

Police said Langer was traveling west on Elizabeth Lake about 2:45 a.m. when he apparently lost control of his vehicle and left the road.

The car went some 200 feet, then careened across the road into a tree, officers said.

Youth Sentenced on Assault Charge

A Waterford Township teenager was sentenced to 60 days in Oakland County Jail on an assault and battery charge yesterday by Township Justice Patrick K. Daly.

Francis M. Woodcum, 18, of 4708 M59 pleaded guilty to the reduced charge Wednesday.

Township police said he threatened two youths with a knife July 16. Woodcum had been charged with felonious assault.

He was arrested on the complaint of James Welch, 1017 Otter, Waterford Township. Welch told police he and a companion were confronted by Woodcum and two juveniles who followed them home from a grocery store.

BLUDGEONED PILOT — John Woods, 41, lies in a Newport Beach, Calif., hospital last night after being attacked with a hammer while piloting a small private plane from Santa Ana, Calif., to Santa Catalina Island yesterday. Woods and one of his two passengers, Mrs. Evelyn I. Rooker, 42, said her former husband, John Milton Eickmeier, 54, of Corona del Mar, Calif., struck Woods without warning as they approached the island, and that Mrs. Rooker struggled with Eickmeier until they landed.

Pilot Bashed in Flight; Passenger Is Jailed

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — John Milton Eickmeier 54, described by sheriff's detectives as a "brooder," today faced charges of attempted murder for allegedly attacking the pilot of a chartered plane with a hammer 10,000 feet above the Pacific Ocean.

Detectives said Eickmeir told them he "blacked out" prior to the incident Thursay afternoon on a flight to Santa Catalina Island off the southern California coast.

John Woods, 41, pilot of the single - engine Cessna Skyhawk said the attack occurred about nine miles north of the island. Eickmeier said he was going to take some pictures and reached into an attache case, Woods said.

"Suddenly, I was knocked unconscious. When I came to, we were diving straight toward the water. I saw blood all over my shirt and thought we had collided with another plane."

* * *

When detectives questioned Eickmeier about the incident, he told them he had suffered a lapse of memory that began just prior to the attack. He was scheduled to be flown to Avalon on the island Monday for arraignment on the attempted murder charge.

PILOT RELEASED

Woods was released from Hoag Memorial Presbyterian Hospital in Newport Beach, Calif., yesterday after treatment for a concussion, face and neck lacerations, a broken finger and loss of blood.

Authorities said Mrs. Evelyn I. Rooker, 42, Eickmeier's former wife, also was aboard the plane. The suspect was reportedly flying to the island for a job interview, but it was not known why his ex-wife accompanied him.

Woods told authorities that after he regained consciousness from the first flailing attack, he reached for a painful spot on his head just in time to soften a second blow from the 15-inch, 40-ounce hammer.

* * *

LANDED SAFELY

With this tactic and help from Mrs. Rooker, who fended the attacker off with a shoe, Woods managed to land the plane safely at Catalina Island where Eickmeier was taken into custody.

Woman Tells of Ordeal; State Man Feared Dead

HOUGHTON LAKE (AP) — Skin divers and surface craft continued to scout Michigan's largest inland lake today after an Ohio woman told authorities she spent 11 hours swimming to safety after a boat operated by her companion sank.

* * *

Missing and feared drowned was Harold Maxwell, 42, of East Lansing, Mich.

* * *

"I kept swimming until I made it to shore," Mrs. Ethel I. Hamister, 43, of Elyria, Ohio, told State Police when she reached shore in the predawn hours Friday.

* * *

She described her harrowing experience on Houghton Lake, 16 miles long and seven miles wide in central Lower Michigan, before being treated at a Grayling hospital for exposure.

Mrs. Hamister said she and Maxwell went out in his 16-foot boat, equipped with a 110-horsepower outboard motor, Thursday afternoon. Maxwell fell overboard, she said.

* * *

Mrs. Hamister was unable to operate the craft but Maxwell, treading water, shouted instructions to put the motor in reverse and pick him up.

* * *

In her haste, Mrs. Hamister said she applied full power and the boat submerged.

Mrs. Hamister said she lost sight of Maxwell but managed to swim ashore by floating and swimming throughout the night.

Vacuum Cleaner Stolen From Home

A vacuum cleaner valued at some $160 was stolen from a Pontiac woman's home, it was reported to city police late yesterday.

Ruby Ballard, 35, of 103 N. Tasmania told officers a neighbor spotted someone climbing through a rear window about 9:30 p.m.

Investigators said the burglar first removed a screen, then forced the window open.

Rocky Backs Surtax Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he thinks President Johnson's plan for a 10 per cent surcharge on federal income taxes is "sound, provided it does not have an adverse effect on the economy."

The Republican governor added that he thought the 10 per cent figure "would not have that effect."

* * *

Rockefeller said at his news conference Friday that it was "a very delicate and difficult problem" to take action to curb inflationary trends in the economy while insuring that the steps were not too deflationary.
