Optometry Board Member Ousted on Williams Order

LANSING (U)—Gov. Williams today dismissed a 34-year-old Flint optometrist from the State Board of Examiners in Optometry for waiting six months to tell state officials he had accepted $500 which he said was intended as a bribe.

The Governor fired Dr. Julian D. Feiler for "malfeasance and misfeasance in public office" and for "gross neglect of duty."

"I have found almost incredible and inexplicable Dr. Feiler's activities," Williams commented at the end of a four-and-one-half hour hearing.

Change in Law Effective Friday

Financial Responsibility of Motorists Revised, Prosecutor Explains

Changes in the state motorist's financial responsibility law become effective tomorrow.

The revisions, urged by the Automobile Club of Michigan, were made at the last session of the Legislature.

"In effect, the changes will benefit responsible motorists who collide with uninsured financially irresponsible drivers," said Robert G. Jamieson, general manager of the auto club's insurance department.

The new setup was explained today by Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

"Under the new law a person can still drive without insurance. But in most cases where he is involved in an accident resulting in bodily injury or damage of $100 or over, he must then take out public liability insurance."

The former setup did not require insurance if only one car was involved and no other person besides the driver. "Now if a man hits a tree and injures himself or does damage to his car totaling $100 or more he must get the insurance," Ziem stated.

Under the new law, anyone who does $100 or more damage to another car—regardless of whether anyone is injured—must make a report to the secretary (Continued on page 73, col. 4)

LANSING, Mich. (U)—Harold Peterson is going to find it colder in Paradise than in Hell.

The State Conservation Department has transferred Peterson, a park ranger, from the town of Hell in comparatively balmy southern Michigan to Paradise, which is way up north on frigid Lake Superior's Whitefish Bay.

Ike, Humphrey to Discuss Budget

He Walls Up Street in Feud With Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (U)—Henry A. McIver, feuding with the city in a property dispute, built a barricade across a Houston street.

He says the street is private property. The city fathers say it isn't.

It was easy for city laborers to shove aside the obstruction, McIver had used earth.

As soon as the workmen were out of sight, McIver began pouring another barricade—concrete this time. He used quick-drying cement.

Today, it appears only a judge with considerable help from an air hammer operator can remove it.

The city's going to court to get a removal order.

The street is about 25 feet wide. McIver used about four tons of concrete to effectively block it to vehicles.

State Agriculture Board Asks $3.5 Million Hike in Operating Budget

BATTLE CREEK (U)—The State Board of Agriculture today asked for $19,166,926 operating budget for Michigan State University—$3,500,000 more than this year.

The board said the co-operative extension service appropriation requested for next year will be $2,080,963, compared to $1,524,774 received this year.

A special request for a farm marketing program will be added later, the board said.

The board asked for a grant of $1,009,116 for the agricultural experiment station, compared to $1,306,075 this year, and an unspecified sum to match federal research and extension grants.

The board allocated $15,585 to expand the frequency modulation radio broadcasts of the college radio station, WKAR.

The money will be used to make structural changes and equipment purchases for an increase in power granted by the Federal Power Commission. WKAR-FM will be boosted about 10 times to 100 kilowatts, probably increasing its range from 45 miles to 100 miles.

NEW HOTEL SCHOOL

The board voted to set up a new school of hotel, restaurant and institutional management on Oct. 16. Prof. L. W. Scott, director of Kellogg Center, the union building and of the abolished division was promoted to assistant dean of the College of Business and Public Service.

Gifts and grants of $122,097 were accepted by the board. They included scholarships totaling $38,069.

Iran Premier Denies He Defied Russians

TEHRAN, Iran (U)—Premier Hussein Ala denies emphatically that Iran defied Russia by choosing to join the pro-western Baghdad pact.

The government announced yesterday it had joined the pact, originally signed as a mutual defense agreement by Iraq and Turkey last February and later adhered to by Britain and Pakistan.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov warned the Iranian ambassador in Moscow that the step jeopardized Russian-Iranian relations.

The Premier told newsmen Iranian adherence to the pact was "absolutely not" defiance of Russia and added:

"As it has been reiterated time and again, Iran's relations with the Soviet Union are of the friendliest nature. The pact is definitely defensive, not aggressive. It is not directed against the Soviet Union or any country."

City Must Split Precincts, or Buy Voting Machines

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

To establish new election precincts or buy voting machines? That is the question facing Pontiac's city commissioners.

Under a new State law, there cannot be more than 800 registered voters in a precinct where paper ballots are used. There may be up to 1,400 voters in a machine-equipped precinct, however.

Pontiac has 44 precincts and paper ballots are used in all of them. More than half—25 to be exact—have more than 800 registered voters.

Twenty of the 25 have at least 100 and as many as 327 more than the new law permits.

No time limit has been set for communities to correct the situation, according to City Clerk Ada R. Evans, who has studied the law for local implications.

But the law specifically stipulates that the state will intervene if the local government fails to act.

To comply, Pontiac can either establish new precincts or it can purchase voting machines. And they are not cheap.

A fully automatic voting machine sells for $1,445 plus

Ten Room Structure on Walton Boulevard to Cost $439,980

Preliminary plans for a new elementary school were approved last night by the Pontiac Board of Education.

The building will be erected on a ten-acre site on Walton Boulevard in Pontiac Township. Part of the township is in the city school district.

The structure's cost including grading, sewerage and water installation, is estimated at $439,980. It will be built initially with ten rooms. A ten-room addition could be built later.

The architect was authorized to draft final plans. Contracts will probably be awarded the first of next year, with the building expected to be ready for use by September, 1956.

The board decided to participate this year in an accident insurance plan offered by the North American Accident Insurance Co. Premium per pupil will be $1.

Installation of new incinerators was approved at seven schools to prevent sparks, ashes and smoke from blowing around at ground level.

Total cost will be about $9,300. They will be installed at Central, Baldwin, the senior high, Wilson, McConnell, Wever and Whitfield Schools.

"It is our intention to submit an appropriation to cover cost of improved incinerators at all other schools in the 1956-57 budget," explained Superintendent Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

A trial agreement was approved with a local radio station for a 15-minute program every three weeks illustrating some type of school function.

Board President Louis H. Schimmel reported a "universally" favorable community reaction to the new type of multipurpose rooms planned for construction this year at eight schools lacking gym and cafeteria facilities.

The buildings are of a unique design with a circular shape and dome roof.

The board agreed to let the Pontiac Township Fire Department distribute literature on fire prevention to pupils from the township attending Malkin and Willis Schools.

Five pupils from McCarrill School presented a demonstration of classroom work. Participating were Bobby Dugan, Jeff Ledford, Jane Martin, Susan Killian and Dennis Edwards.

$4.5 Million Expansion Slated for GM in France

PARIS (INS)—General Motors President Harlow E. Curtice says the corporation will spend an additional four and a half million dollars to expand GM of France.

Curtice says this will bring to eight million dollars, the amount to be expended by GM during the next three years for new buildings and equipment.

The French expansion will concentrate at the city of Gennevilliers, where GM produces Frigidaire household and commercial refrigeration units and AC-Delco spark plugs and auto products.

Gun Moll Held After Shooting

Blonde of Purple Gang Friend of Fleisher Who Held Up Pontiac 'Club'

DETROIT (U)—A blonde girl friend of former purple gang leader Harry Fleisher was seized today in the wounding of a Dearborn prison parolee.

She is Bernice Jackson, 36, who was taken with Fleisher when the FBI nabbed him as a fugitive in Florida five years ago. She served five months in prison then for sheltering Fleisher in her apartment.

Fleisher headed the FBI's most wanted list when he was arrested in Pompano Beach, Fla., in 1950. He had jumped $40,000 bond in two convictions—one for conspiracy in the slaying of state Sen. Warren G. Hooper and the other for the holdup of the Aristocrat Club in Pontiac.

He served a sentence as a Federal fugitive and now is in Southern Michigan prison serving 25 to 30 years for the Pontiac holdup and 4½ to 5 years in the Hooper case.

SHOT IN BACK
The parolee, Fred Mourey, 42, was taken to the Wayne County General Hospital early today with a bullet wound in the back. The bullet penetrated his body and came out near his heart. He is in serious condition.

The woman was held on an open charge for investigation.

But police said they found blood stains in Miss Jackson's apartment and in the passenger's seat of her car. They also found a bullet hole in a lamp shade in her apartment.

Sgt. William Wrathell of the homicide squad said Mourey apparently was shot in Miss Jackson's apartment and driven to his home a few miles away.

Mourey has spent 17 of the last 21 years in prison. His last term was for armed robbery.

Famed Physical Culturist and Publisher Dies at 87

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (U)—Bernarr Macfadden, colorful exponent of rugged living who regarded old age as "just a bad habit," is dead at 87.

The onetime millionaire publisher died last night at Jersey City Medical Center after an attack of jaundice.

His physician said the attack, which brought him to the hospital last Friday, had been aggravated by a three-day fast. The death certificate listed the cause of death as "cerebral thrombosis."

From a sickly child, Macfadden built himself into a hardy physical specimen and amassed a fortune estimated at one time at 30 million dollars.

However, involved in recent court disputes with his second and third wives, he listed his income at $5,400 a year after taxes.

Macfadden once was publisher of such magazines as Physical Culture, Liberty and True Story, and his former newspaper holdings included the New York Evening Graphic, the Detroit Daily, the Philadelphia News and the New Haven Times.

During his vigorous lifetime, Macfadden was wed three times and had a total of nine children. A son was with him when he died.

He observed his 83rd birthday by parachuting 2,500 feet into the Hudson River.

While in his early 80s, he still piloted his own plane and enjoyed fast games of tennis. He spurned medicines, whisky, tobacco and white bread, and avoided doctors.

It was his regular habit to go without food for one day a week, frequently fasting as long as two weeks but drinking a lot of water during these periods.

A native of Missouri, he launched his career by teaching physical culture at the age of 18. He started publishing a health booklet on a regular basis, which grew into Physical Culture magazine. Then he branched out in the publishing field with other magazines far removed from physical culture.

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (U)—A gigantic flame-colored "C" in southwestern skies—a letter estimated to be 30 miles long—has spelled success to latest Air Force probes of upper-atmosphere secrets.

Scientists describe last night's test, a sodium emission project, as "something never before seen—a complete success scientifically."

The spectacular orange-red plume, shaped by winds from 40 to 70 miles above earth into the alphabetical symbol, was clearly visible more than 300 miles away shortly after its firing at dusk.

The vapor trail, foaming out of a special Aerobee rocket from two containers of metallic sodium, was visible, according to the Air Force, for 27 minutes.

In 'Fair' Condition After 20 Foot Fall

A Dearborn worker was reported in "fair" condition today after his 20-foot drop to a concrete floor here early this morning.

William B. Klovski, 19, told police that the roof of the new Army Storage Warehouse on South Boulevard had collapsed under him.

"I was standing there looking around on the roof to see if we could go to work when the roof broke through on me," Klovski said. "I grabbed for the beams, but couldn't reach them. I remember falling, but I don't remember anything else until they picked me up."

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital's emergency clinic said X-ray films of Klovski's back, which was thought to be injured, had proved negative, but that he was being kept for observation.

Williams Removes Bribe Case Official

Ritholz' arrest—after the case was clinched—before notifying the proper authorities?

Williams asked Feiler why he had agreed to meet Ritholz in Detroit in the first place.

"Because I was the only man on the board that knew him and I thought that if the case were to be successfully concluded it was best to perpetuate the friendship," Feiler said.

Feiler said he was wary of telling people of the $500 because information had "leaked" to Ritholz before.

He said he met Ritholz in Detroit in January in a hotel room in which state police planted a recording machine. At that time, Feiler said, Ritholz offered him money to wash out the Sanchick case "but I told him I couldn't help him."

ROOM WAS WIRED

Later, Feiler said, Ritholz told him he knew the room had been wired.

Several Flint residents testified that Feiler had told them he accepted $500 from Ritholz long before Feiler took the story to the attorney general's office.

Mrs. Beatrice B. McLogan, a neighbor and close friend of Feiler's, said she was visiting Feiler's wife when the doctor came home after his March 28 meeting with Ritholz in Detroit.

"He took the money out of the envelope and counted it," she said. "He told us freely about the bribe and I saw the money. He said he didn't know what to do with the money and had received confusing legal advice. I had absolutely no doubt that the money was going to be used for evidence."

Mrs. McLogan said Feiler had discussed the Ritholz and Sanchick cases with her for "several years" and that she told about a dozen people of the March 28 meeting between Ritholz and Feiler.

TALKED OF BRIBE

Other Flint residents testified that Feiler had told them about the alleged bribe offer long before the Sept. 20 statement and that he had discussed it in public places.

Feiler said Ritholz had made earlier overtures in connection with the Sanchick case, offering him at one time $3,000 or $4,000 to "wash it out."

"I told him I couldn't help him every time he brought it up," Feiler said.

"Do you have any explanation as to why you didn't report those early bribe offers," Williams asked.

"When he called me in November I just thought it was a big joke. I didn't know what to think," Feiler replied.

"You think a bribe is a joke?" Williams asked. "You were in the Navy, what would you think if foreign agents asked you for secrets about your country?"

NOTIFIED FBI

Feiler insisted that he did report the transaction as soon as he thought it was necessary. He said he reported Ritholz' actions first to the FBI, who turned the report over to state police.

The petition requesting Feiler's removal was signed by Detective Lieutenant Donald M. Berry, state policeman who headed the detachment which arrested Ritholz.

Williams said he would let two of the three charges in the petition stand, but would strike out a charge that Feiler had been guilty of "corrupt conduct in office."

"I would strike that part and give Dr. Feiler the benefit of the doubt, although there is a possibility of construing his action otherwise," Williams said.

"To me," he added, "his actions are much more than a mistake of judgment. He hasn't lived up to the duties of his office."

H.S.T. Says Legion 'Haywire' in Action

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman today accused the American Legion of going "haywire" in wanting the United States to quit the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

The legion, in a resolution adopted by an overwhelming voice vote at its Miami convention yesterday, urged Congress to abolish the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO.

"The Legion doesn't know what it is talking about," declared Truman.

"They have gone haywire in the last three or four years. They don't know what they are doing."

Truman, a Legionnaire himself, voiced his feelings to reporters as he took his usual early morning stroll.

Under the Legion constitution, he said, the veterans organization should remain out of politics.

"There's a bunch of new fellows in charge. They haven't read the (Legion) constitution. But they're nice fellows, and they'll get over it soon."

The Day in Birmingham

Final Decision on Rink to Wait Until October 27

BIRMINGHAM — Final decision on who will take charge of the Elton Park ice skating facility when it opens, will have to wait until Oct. 27.

When heads were counted at a joint meeting of the City Commission and Recreation Board last night, only Mayor Charles Renshaw and City Manager Donald C. Egbert were there to represent the city over the misunderstanding.

Also present was City Commissioner William Roberts, but he is the commission's appointee to the Recreation Board.

However, informal discussion which followed revolved not so much around final operation but to changes being made now which the board felt deserved their consideration as well as the city's.

Original costs of $125,000 have climbed to where it is estimated the completed project may run about $175,000. Most of the added sum is accountable to an approved warming building and the commission has since been trying to cut costs elsewhere.

Recreation Board chairman Mrs. William Jackson said, "I think our concern was the features (hockey boards, lighting, music, etc.) we had promised the people in April which we felt were needed to make the rink operate successfully."

The board instigated plans for the rink.

Egbert said hockey boards have not yet been approved but he agreed on their necessity and said he was presenting the question at Monday's commission meeting.

"I don't think you're making full use of your board," stated Coit Allee, Recreation Board member, who said the board had been called on to make certain studies which were then not even used by the city.

Another board member, Roland Reese, came back to the original problem in saying, "We are vitally interested in operation if we are going to run the rink. But if the city is going to, I think we should be told, as we have done considerable work and I feel we have quite a few things to offer."

Despite its monumental growth, Birmingham's annual Halloween parade and party has been systematized enough to require only one or two joint meetings of the committee which for years has arranged the grand-scale festivities.

Such a meeting was held Tuesday when behind-the-scenes workers gave a last check to see that things will run smoothly for this, the 20th such affair.

Parading youngsters, some 6,000 of them, will still line up at Hill School on Oct. 31, to receive the 600 prizes to be awarded for costumes.

Next comes going through the food lines and then the entertainment to follow for various age groups.

Again there will be movies for the smaller fry at Baldwin School and a dance, movies and game rooms for the junior high set held at Barman School. But the high school crowd is coming up with something different and they hope, better, this year.

Student Congress has wangled for and secured, a University of Michigan band for a dance which will probably be held in the Maple Room of Birmingham High School. Plans call for a topay-turvy affair, with the girls to invite the boys this time.

Back of the entire activity for all local school children, is the Recreation Board which sponsors it, and the merchants and professional people who foot the bills. As always, Roland W. Reese heads the party committee, assisted by Mrs. William Jackson, Mrs. Cassius Miller, Malcolm Adams and Lyman Craig Jr.

"The Public Health Nurse in School, Home and Community" will be the topic of Marjorie Gaston, addressing a get-acquainted meeting of the Hickory Grove School PTA at 8 o'clock. She is with the Oakland County Health Department.

Assuming presidential duties at the first fall meeting will be Mrs. Ward Ross. Mrs. John Sinclair is general chairman.

Open to the public is the square dance to be sponsored by St. Anne's Guild of Holy Name Catholic Church tomorrow. The affair at Franklin Community House will get under way at 8:30 p.m., with Art Carthy doing the calling.

Harriman Stops Rumors of Possible Nomination

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman today denied reports that plans have been set for him to announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956.

Asked about a story in the New York Journal American saying that it had been decided he would announce his candidacy at a Democratic dinner here, Harriman said: "There is no basis for it." He added that he is "not an active candidate."

Hungarian Fugitives Escape Into Austria

VIENNA, Austria (U)—Two Hungarians who escaped into Austria during the night said they were forced to leave a companion behind after Communist shots wounded both his legs.

Austrian police said Zoltan Szabo and Andreas Nemeth reached Austrian soil unhurt but touched off a mine during their flight. The explosion attracted Communist border police, who opened up with machine guns. The fugitives said their companion, Kapitla Imre, was hit in both legs and could not continue.

Warns Russia Stronger
WASHINGTON (INS)—Gen. George C. Kenney, former U. S. air commander in the Pacific during World War II, warns that Russia has the greatest military machine in history and that the United States as yet lacks the "counterpunch" to reply to a sneak Red attack.

Detroit Brass Sold

DETROIT (U)—An investor group headed by Ralph S. Geddes, Detroit and Cleveland industrialist, has acquired the business of the Detroit Brass and Malleable Co., the company announced today.

The firm manufactures malleable and cast iron plumbing fittings and brass valves at plants in Detroit and suburban Wyandotte.

Research Funds Benefit From President's Illness

A welcome by-product of President EISENHOWER's illness is increased public concern over the illnesses which strike Americans in their prime.

This in turn has resulted in requests for increases in research funds to be given heart, mental, arthritis, neurology, dental and microbiology institutes. These funds were cut last year from what a Senate subcommittee recommended.

Now, happily, a reported $25,000,000 increase in the next national budget for study of these diseases indicates that some of this public concern will be translated into action.

After the President was stricken, researchers at the National Institute of Health pressed for increases of about $2,000,000 in funds allocated each institute. It is understood that the Bureau of the Budget not only has approved these requests but has added $5,000,000.

The fact that very little yet is known about heart disease emphasizes the need for more research in that area. Even if the increases okayed by the Bureau of the Budget get Congressional approval, the heart fund reportedly will be inadequate. It will be below the $11,000,000 minimum urged last Spring by Dr. White, the heart specialist attending the President.

Another obstacle lies in the fact that no funds have been provided for laboratory facilities. This is holding up research in medical schools and hospitals throughout the country.

Britain Officially Ends Mail Service for Drunks

What probably was the only mail service of its kind, prepaid postage home for drunks, has been ended officially by Britain's post office.

Other unusual services such as escort for bees, dogs and even cows will be continued. But now bibulous Britons know they are going to have to look after themselves or depend on friends. Actually this service was discontinued at the start of World War II.

When it was available it was distinctly a class service because of its high cost. In those days a clubman could phone the post office for an escort for which he paid in advance at the rate of 10 cents a mile plus expenses.

Stamps weren't used in these transactions. Everything was on a strictly cash basis and the messenger wrote out a receipt for the special delivery fee.

Belated though this announcement is, it explodes the widely held opinion that nothing ever changes in England.

Basic Material Shortages

Most Americans, busy with their own problems, pay little attention to the supply of basic materials available to industry.

Distinctly outside this group, however, are the Nation's industrial purchasing agents. As a group they closely watch developments in this field and, according to the magazine Purchasing, more than one-third of them fear such shortages may slow down our economy.

For example, a survey conducted by the magazine reveals that 36 and 37 per cent, respectively, believe that shortage of aluminum and steel will be long range problems. Even more, 57 per cent answering the questionnaire, believe tight supplies of copper and brass will cause difficulties in the years ahead.

Except for defense needs the purchasing agents are solidly against plant expansion subsidies. Almost nine out of ten, or 88 per cent, oppose such aid, either direct or indirect, for civilian needs.

While the principle of Government stockpiling wasn't directly attacked, questionnaire answers showed industrial buyers believe the practice shortens the supply of basic materials and increases prices.

Buying Ideas at a Profit

Years ago industry learned that offering cash awards for labor, time and money saving ideas paid big dividends. Later the suggestion box plan spread to Government. This year a new Federal program of awards for ideas was inaugurated with extremely satisfactory results.

During the first seven months of the Civil Service Commission's new program employees have submitted ideas which have saved the Government $40,724,215. In all 138,000 suggestions were submitted. Of these 35,000 proved usable and for them the commission paid total awards of $1,519,462.

That the suggestion box works as well for Government as it does for industry seems certain. So far suggestions have been submitted at the rate of one every half minute and the ideas have been so good that they have been adopted at the rate of one every two minutes. Civil Service Commission Chairman Young points out that these suggestions have netted the Government savings of $34,358 an hour.

Certainly this incentive plan has proved again that Federal employees not only know their work thoroughly but are very much interested in doing it well.

The Man About Town

Champions of Former Seek to Help Their Reputation

Politics: Where a self-made man often hasn't a chance against a machine-made rival.

Many of our farmers agree that the much maligned crows do not do as much damage as pheasants—and do fully as much good. One Oakland County farmer tells me that the post-mortems on the birds he has killed brings far more grubs, locusts, beetles, grasshoppers and other pests from the crops of the crows than from the crops of the pheasants. He says their record on pulling young corn and doing other damage is about 50-50. This same man also suggests that we cease calling an unattractive woman "an old crow," don't speak of her facial wrinkles as "crow's feet," and when she doesn't look her best, don't call her a "scare crow." Friends of the crow on a country-wide basis have organized.

The National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Crows, whose slogan is "Save a crow and you'll have something to crow about."

Wet leaves on the pavement make it slippery, and constitute a traffic hazard. This causes Sheriff Frank W. Irons to issue a warning and urge motorists to watch out for skidding.

Incidentally, these rains and falling leaves are bringing our autumn foliage displays to an end. You'll have to soon take some fond last looks.

Sending me a bunch of the "Junior Editors" which he has very painstakingly worked out, Charles (Chuck) Kiplinger of Clarkston wonders if any other five-year-old could do any better. Here's our answer, Chuck—a big "NO."

My Oakwood scout sends word that Ben West has sold his general store there, after over 40 years in business in that lovely community on Baldwin Road. Remodeling it from a blacksmith shop many years ago, Ben has been dispensing most everything, with good will as a major factor.

Precarious Perch

David Lawrence Says:

Drive to Prevent Nomination of Nixon Launched by Communist Party in U. S.

WASHINGTON—The Communist Party in America has started a drive to prevent the nomination of Vice-President Nixon for the presidency in 1956.

The opening gun was fired with a fortnight after President Eisenhower became ill. On the page opposite the editorial page of the "Daily Worker," the Communist organ in New York City, there appears a big headline, "Stop Nixon!" Below it is an editorial written by William Z. Foster, formerly the head of the Communist Party in the United States and still one of its most ardent spokesmen.

He is under indictment for violating the Communist conspiracy law, known as the Smith Act. He has not been brought to trial due to claims of ill health, but he is well enough to carry on his writings.

Foster wrote in part as follows: "The occupancy of the office of vice president by the reactionary Richard Nixon, a standing menace under any conditions, has suddenly become a real threat to American Democracy through the severe illness of President Eisenhower."

"One of the most dangerous aspects of the situation lies in the fact that President Eisenhower himself has taken Nixon under his wing, has been systematically cultivating his prestige, and was apparently carefully grooming him to take over as his successor."

NIXON DENOUNCED

Foster then proceeds to denounce Nixon as belonging to a general camp of "anti-laborites, Negro-haters, red-baiters, anti-Semites, warmongers and Fascists."

The article then continues: "Nixon has especially distinguished himself in the ranks of the cultivators of anti-Red hysteria, one of his big achievements being the Alger Hiss frame-up. He is an outstanding figure in the attack upon the Bill of Rights, two of the most noteworthy results of which were the barbaric execution of the Rosenbergs and the wholesale kangarooing of Communist leaders to jail."

Foster insists in his article that the supporters of Nixon have been maneuvering to get him into the White House "by hook and crook." He contends that Nixon's supporters are urging the President's resignation—something that is not true and has never appeared in print before even as a rumor.

The article goes on: "The workers and their allies should let it be known in the most categorical manner that they will not stand for Nixon and his program of ultra-reaction. They should take the most active steps against all attempts to make Nixon president, either through the resignation of President Eisenhower or the delegation of his presidential powers. And they should let it be known to the powers-that-be in the Republican Party that if they dare to place this sinister figure at the head of their national ticket for November, 1956, they will be inviting a first class political disaster."

"THREAT" INCREASES "Prior to the President's heart attack, the workers and other Democratic forces were developing a strong line of opposition to the Eisenhower Administration, mostly upon domestic issues. The coming to the fore of Nixon imperatively requires that this opposition be sharply stepped up, in the fields of both domestic and foreign policy."

The actual number of Communist voters in the country is small. But the influence of the fellow travelers and those who innocently do the bidding of the Communists is large. Thus, the Communist "Daily Worker" readers include many who spend all or part of their time in furthering the causes in which the Soviet government is interested.

The technique is to write letters to newspapers all over the country or to use intermediaries to approach the newspapers in order to get certain lines of attack printed.

The active opposition by the Communists will not hurt Nixon. It may actually aid him. The Communists, however, are not depending upon their own expressions of antagonism to Nixon to do the trick, but upon the allies behind the scenes who they think may be stirred up to do their work for them.

Mothers-to-Be Becoming Sensible About Pregnancy

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
 One movie actress accepted her Oscar before the television audience a few hours before her baby was born. Another appears regularly on a television program wearing things designed for approaching childbirth. There is a heart warming tendency among young women today to go through pregnancy with as much pride as they do engagement or marriage.

If they don't parade it, at least they do not try to hide their condition, as their mothers and grandmothers did.

This inclination to recognize childbirth as a normal, physiological, natural process indicates, I think, that some Americans are beginning to learn, through extracurricular study, of course, the facts of life.

Such study should include the hygiene and physiology of pregnancy and childbirth, subjects in which applicants for a license to marry should be examined.

For beginners or freshmen, the following books, available at public library or from your book dealer are standard:

Gray's Anatomy (Lea & Febiger) contains a 35-page chapter on Embryology, the development of the embryo or fetus from conception to birth.

To Prospective Mothers, by Drs. Hunter and Smith, (Bruce Humphries, Inc.) instructs expectant mothers on normal pregnancy and childbirth. $2.50.

Natural Childbirth, by Helen Heardman, (Williams and Wilkins), $2.

Preparing for Maternity, one of Ol' Doc Brady's Little Lessons, for which send him 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Childbirth, by Dr. Carl Davis and Donita Ferguson, answers questions asked by most prospective mothers. (Harper & Bros.) $2.50.

Childbirth Without Fear, by Grantly Dick Read, M. D., (Harper & Bros.) $2.75. Dr. Read developed the natural childbirth method in England and his followers and students, notably Helen Heardman, introduced it in America.

For all I know, other equally good books dealing with the facts of life may have been published in the past five or ten years.

Anyway, the list I give today should be enough to carry any prospective parent—a prospective father who doesn't study the facts of life along with his wife is not a man, he's a mouse or maybe a rat—along to the first interview with the physician engaged to attend the confinement.

It may seem strange to some readers that a front page editorial should be devoted to untangling a once (or twice) a year traffic jam that affects only a few football fans. It may seem like there are more pressing local problems to explode such indignation about. For example have you ever tried to find a parking place in front of the City Library?

Let specifically authorized toll road authorities take care of the long distance through routes. Meanwhile, travel from Pontiac to Ann Arbor or to any nearby locality remains slow and dangerous.

Perhaps if Commissioner Ziegler would devote more attention to the roads Michigan folks drive daily, rather than high-speed tourist roads, we would all be better off.

Local "M" Grad

It advocates no parked vehicles on Saginaw Street, either side from Auburn Avenue to Oakland Avenue at all times. Let our shoppers be let off in front of the store of their first choice and be picked up later at a given time. No turns either way would also help traffic on Saginaw.

Football Traffic Editorial Brings Varied Comments

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in nature.

The front page editorial concerning Pontiac-Ann Arbor football traffic, although badly overplayed relative to other local, state, national and international problems, made a good point.

That is, state and county roads between two important Michigan cities are obviously inadequate. This is true even under normal driving conditions. When an influx into Ann Arbor of many thousands of football fans occurs, conditions on inter-city roads are intolerable.

In any event, let's not hold the tiny community of New Hudson responsible for failures of our State Police or, more important, of high-salaried officials charged with providing adequate roads.

Hal Boyle Says:

America's Power Symbol May Vanish From Skies

LANCASTER, Pa. (U. S. I)—If the bald eagle would only get bald sooner in life, he'd have a better chance of survival.

Herbert H. Beck, an expert who believes this feathered emblem of American might is facing possible extinction within the next 70 years, explained:

"The eagles don't develop their distinctive white head plumage until the fourth year. Before that can happen farmers and hunters often mistake them for large brown hawks and shoot them down."

Beck, a retired chemistry professor, holds the melancholy distinction of being custodian of an eagle sanctuary that no longer has an eagle in it.

The sanctuary, believed the only eagle refuge in the world, was established on Mt. Johnson Island in the Susquehanna River near here in 1936 by the Audubon Assn. Never more than one family of eagles nested on the 21-acre island at a time, for the bald eagle sets up his own kind of feathered economic cartel.

"Bald eagles are highly individualistic," said Beck. "They never travel in flocks. They set up their own territories and fight off any encroachment by other eagles."

The big untidy, 6-foot-wide nest atop an 85-foot tall red oak tree

on the island has been only intermittently occupied since 1948. "If the male is killed there will be a replacement," Beck said. "But if the female is killed, there won't be."

Beck feels that many farmers, despite a $500 fine for destroying a bald eagle, often shoot down the fierce-looking birds in the false belief they are major barnyard raiders.

"The fact is that examination of their stomachs shows that 95 per cent of their food is fish," he said. "The bald eagle ranges along large lakes, rivers, and bays in Alaska, Canada, and the eastern half of the United States south into Florida."

How deeply has civilization cut down the eagle, a bird which has no real natural enemy. "They are still plentiful in Alaska," said Beck, "but I doubt there are more than 8,000 left in the United States east of the Mississippi River."

"In one area in which I counted 150 occupied nests 25 years ago there are now only 25 to 30."

It distresses Beck to think that some child born today may, before his life is through, have to turn to the back of a dollar bill if he wants to see the rugged winged symbol of American power.

Church Is Guard Against Delinquency, Greatest Protection of Happy Homes

Rev. Poe and his clerical colleagues are stopping thousands of potential divorces. For the churches are the greatest protectors of happy homes and the best safeguard against the booming juvenile delinquency rate. But 40 per cent of Americans aren't members of ANY church, so get smart and join, at least for the sake of your children.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case P-364: Rev. Carl M. Poe, aged about 35, is a very able pastor of the First Church of God in Chicago.

"Dr. Crane, my church is to be host to about 400 Church of God clergymen and their wives," he told me over the telephone.

"We'd like to have you address this Midwestern Meeting, for it will be attended by our ministers from all over the Middle West."

"And I wish you'd talk on the topic 'Mending Our Broken Homes.' You can be as frank as you wish, for we pastors want all the available scientific data for counseling with our parishioners."

"In fact, our program will list you for 3 p.m., but I'd like to have you start at 2:45 so we can have more time for you."

PASTORAL COUNSELING
 Maybe some of you laymen don't fully realize the tremendous amount of constructive counseling which your priests and clergymen are doing.

They usually have better rapport with people than the usual psychiatrist or applied psychologist.

They prevent thousands of divorces and salvage tens of thousands of potentially delinquent youth by their visits to homes and of family and marriage counseling.

Over 1,500 clergymen each year write to me via this daily newspaper column.

And I address many conventions of clergymen and church leaders, for Jesus was the Great Physician and our clergy are doing wonderful work in following his example of healing spiritual and marital ills.

In the past year I have spoken before 7,000 Presbyterian Laymen at their great convention in New Orleans, as well as the 10,000 delegates to the International Disciples of Christ Convention in Miami, plus the Lutheran Convention at Miami Beach.

My speaking has included Seventh Day Adventist Clergy, Mormons, Hebrew, Baptist and other leading religious groups.

Some of the booklets on sex and marriage offered via this column were also requested by Father Kinavey, of St. Ambrose College, for helping develop the wonderful Pre-Cana and Cana Conference work of the Catholic Church.

So please realize that the clergy of America are the mainstays

IMPROVE ON NATURE
 At this Church of God convention, I spoke for two hours. Then I entertained questions from the assembled clergymen for another hour.

In my opening remarks, I mentioned that God expects us to help Him, so we have improved on nature by a variety of shoes and footwear with which babies are certainly not born.

We also add eye glasses to supplement our visual defects, and hearing aids, as well as a third or fourth set of teeth.

In like manner, God expects us to use our brains so we can adapt marriage to changing modern conditions.

Research Funds Benefit From President's Illness

A welcome by-product of President EISENHOWER's illness is increased public concern over the illnesses which strike Americans in their prime.

This in turn has resulted in requests for increases in research funds to be given heart, mental, arthritis, neurology, dental and microbiology institutes. These funds were cut last year from what a Senate subcommittee recommended.

Now, happily, a reported $25,000,000 increase in the next national budget for study of these diseases indicates that some of this public concern will be translated into action.

After the President was stricken, researchers at the National Institute of Health pressed for increases of about $2,000,000 in funds allocated each institute. It is understood that the Bureau of the Budget not only has approved these requests but has added $5,000,000.

The fact that very little yet is known about heart disease emphasizes the need for more research in that area. Even if the increases okayed by the Bureau of the Budget get Congressional approval, the heart fund reportedly will be inadequate. It will be below the $11,000,000 minimum urged last Spring by Dr. WITTE, the heart specialist attending the President.

Another obstacle lies in the fact that no funds have been provided for laboratory facilities. This is holding up research in medical schools and hospitals throughout the country.

Britain Officially Ends Mail Service for Drunks

What probably was the only mail service of its kind, prepaid postage home for drunks, has been ended officially by Britain's post office.

Other unusual services such as escort for bees, dogs and even cows will be continued. But now bibulous Britons know they are going to have to look after themselves or depend on friends. Actually this service was discontinued at the start of World War II.

When it was available it was distinctly a class service because of its high cost. In those days a clubman could phone the post office for an escort for which he paid in advance at the rate of 10 cents a mile plus expenses.

Stamps weren't used in these transactions. Everything was on a strictly cash basis and the messenger wrote out a receipt for the special delivery fee.

Belated though this announcement is, it explodes the widely held opinion that nothing ever changes in England.

Basic Material Shortages

Most Americans, busy with their own problems, pay little attention to the supply of basic materials available to industry.

Distinctly outside this group, however, are the Nation's industrial purchasing agents. As a group they closely watch developments in this field and, according to the magazine Purchasing, more than one-third of them fear such shortages may slow down our economy.

For example, a survey conducted by the magazine reveals that 36 and 37 per cent, respectively, believe that shortage of aluminum and steel will be long range problems. Even more, 57 per cent answering the questionnaire, believe tight supplies of copper and brass will cause difficulties in the years ahead.

Except for defense needs the purchasing agents are solidly against plant expansion subsidies. Almost nine out of ten, or 88 per cent, oppose such aid, either direct or indirect, for civilian needs.

While the principle of Government stockpiling wasn't directly attacked, questionnaire answers showed industrial buyers believe the practice shortens the supply of basic materials and increases prices.

Buying Ideas at a Profit

Years ago industry learned that offering cash awards for labor, time and money saving ideas paid big dividends. Later the suggestion box plan spread to Government. This year a new Federal program of awards for ideas was inaugurated with extremely satisfactory results.

During the first seven months of the Civil Service Commission's new program employees have submitted ideas which have saved the Government $40,724,215. In all 138,000 suggestions were submitted. Of these 35,000 proved usable and for them the commission paid total awards of $1,519,462.

That the suggestion box works as well for Government as it does for industry seems certain. So far suggestions have been submitted at the rate of one every half minute and the ideas have been so good that they have been adopted at the rate of one every two minutes. Civil Service Commission Chairman Young points out that these suggestions have netted the Government savings of $34,358 an hour.

Certainly this incentive plan has proved again that Federal employees not only know their work thoroughly but are very much interested in doing it well.

Politics: Where a self-made man often hasn't a chance against a machine-made rival.

Many of our farmers agree that the much maligned crows do not do as much damage as pheasants—and do fully as much good. One Oakland County farmer tells me that the post-mortems on the birds he has killed brings far more grubs, locusts, beetles, grasshoppers and other pests from the crops of the crows than from the crops of the pheasants. He says their record on pulling young corn and doing other damage is about 50-50. This same man also suggests that we cease calling an unattractive woman "an old crow," don't speak of her facial wrinkles as "crow's feet," and when she doesn't look her best, don't call her a "scare crow." Precarious Perch

David Lawrence Says:

Drive to Prevent Nomination of Nixon Launched by Communist Party in U.S.

WASHINGTON—The Communist Party in America has started a drive to prevent the nomination of Vice-President Nixon for the presidency in 1956.

The opening gun was fired with a fortnight after President Eisenhower became ill. On the page opposite the editorial page of the "Daily Worker," the Communist organ in New York City, there appears a big headline, "Stop Nixon!" Below it is an editorial written by William Z. Foster, formerly the head of the Communist Party in the United States and still one of its most ardent spokesmen.

He is under indictment for violating the Communist conspiracy law, known as the Smith Act. He has not been brought to trial due to claims of ill health, but he is well enough to carry on his writings.

Foster wrote in part as follows:

"The occupancy of the office of vice president by the reactionary Richard Nixon, a standing menace under any conditions, has suddenly become a real threat to American Democracy through the severe illness of President Eisenhower . . .

"One of the most dangerous aspects of the situation lies in the fact that President Eisenhower himself has taken Nixon under his wing, has been systematically cultivating his prestige, and was apparently carefully grooming him to take over as his successor."

NIXON DENOUNCED

Foster then proceeds to denounce Nixon as belonging to a general camp of "anti-laborites, Negro-haters, red-baiters, anti-Semites, warmongers and Fascists."

The article then continues:

"Nixon has especially distinguished himself in the ranks of the cultivators of anti-Red hysteria, one of his big achievements being the Alger Hiss frame-up. He is an outstanding figure in the attack upon the Bill of Rights, two of the most noteworthy results of which were the barbaric execution of the Rosenbergs and the wholesale kangarooing of Communist leaders to jail."

Foster insists in his article that the supporters of Nixon have been maneuvering to get him into the White House "by hook and crook." He contends that Nixon's supporters are urging the President's resignation—something that is not true and has never appeared in print before even as a rumor.

The article goes on: "The workers and their allies should let it be known in the most categorical manner that they will not stand for Nixon and his program of ultra-reaction. They should take the most active steps against all attempts to make Nixon president, either through the resignation of President Eisenhower or the delegation of his presidential powers. And they should let it be known to the powers-that-be in the Republican Party that if they dare to place this sinister figure at the head of their national ticket for November, 1956, they will be inviting a first class political disaster . . .

attack, the workers and other Democratic forces were developing a strong line of opposition to the Eisenhower Administration, mostly upon domestic issues. Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Football Traffic Editorial Brings Varied Comments

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The front page editorial concerning Pontiac-Ann Arbor football traffic, although badly overplayed relative to other local, state, national and international problems, made a good point.

That is, state and county roads between two important Michigan cities are obviously inadequate. This is true even under normal driving conditions. When an influx into Ann Arbor of many thousands of football fans occurs, conditions on inter-city roads are intolerable.

In any event, let's not hold the tiny community of New Hudson responsible for failures of our State Police or, more important, of high-salaried officials charged with providing adequate roads.

Perhaps if Commissioner Ziegler would devote more attention to the roads Michigan folks drive daily, rather than high-speed tourist roads, we would all be better off.

Let specifically authorized toll road authorities take care of the long distance, through routes. Meanwhile, travel from Pontiac to Ann Arbor or to any nearby locality remains slow and dangerous.

Local 'M' Grad

It may seem strange to some readers that a front page editorial should be devoted to untangling a once (or twice) a year traffic jam that affects only a few football fans. It may seem like there are more pressing local problems to explode such indignation about. For example have you ever tried to find a parking place in front of the City Library?

Hal Boyle Says:

America's Power Symbol May Vanish From Skies

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—If the bald eagle would only get bald sooner in life, he'd have a better chance of survival.

Herbert H. Beck, an expert who believes this feathered emblem of American might is facing possible extinction within the next 70 years, explained:

"The eagles don't develop their distinctive white head plumage until the 4th year. Before that can happen farmers and hunters often mistake them for large brown hawks and shoot them down."

Beck, a retired chemistry professor, holds the melancholy distinction of being custodian of an eagle sanctuary that no longer has an eagle in it.

The sanctuary, believed the only eagle refuge in the world, was established on Mt. Johnson Island in the Susquehanna River near here in 1936 by the Audubon Assn. Never more than one family of eagles nested on the 21-acre island at a time, for the bald eagle sets up his own kind of feathered economic cartel.

"Bald eagles are highly individualistic," said Beck. "They never travel in flocks. They set up their own territories and fight off their encroachment by other eagles."

The big untidy, 6-foot-wide nest atop an 85-foot tall red oak tree

But we won't condemn your editorial because we were there. We moved two miles in 20 minutes and agree that something needed to be done. And how about a mean word for the wise guys who zoomed past up on the left side? Or was that one of your editorial writers?

Mr. and Mrs. J. W.

Your front page editorial on traffic congestion in the city of New Hudson is very timely and provoking, but the answer therein lies with our elected officials in Lansing.

It is a shame the way our main arteries of travel have to go right through every town's business district. It is doubly a shame that those towns can put a light wherever they want, that 200 horsepower cars have to wait through at a cripple's speed.

For myself, I would like to see you direct your editorial barbs at our local legislative body. I would like to watch you get home Friday nights after our landmark. The Press, closes.

If you don't own a Pogo stick you must either sleep downtown or ride the bus. I know you wouldn't chance a ride with some of those cab drivers. How a bus driver can maneuver such a large vehicle around double parkers and numerous traffic tieups on schedule is beyond my comprehension.

I advocate no parked vehicles on Saginaw Street, either side from Auburn Avenue to Oakland Avenue at all times. Let our shoppers be let off in front of the store of their first choice and be picked up later at a given time. No turns either way would also help traffic on Saginaw.

Kleber P. Dusenbury

on the island has been only intermittently occupied since 1948. "If the male is killed there will be a replacement," Beck said. "But if the female is killed, there won't be."

Beck feels that many farmers, despite a $500 fine for destroying a bald eagle, often shoot down the fierce-looking birds in the false belief they are major barnyard raiders.

"The fact is that examination of their stomachs shows that 95 per cent of their food is fish," he said.

The bald eagle ranges along large lakes, rivers, and bays in Alaska, Canada, and the eastern half of the United States south into Florida.

How deeply has civilization cut down the eagle, a bird which has no real natural enemy.

"They are still plentiful in Alaska," said Beck, "but I doubt there are more than 8,000 left in the United States east of the Mississippi River."

"In one area in which I counted 150 occupied nests 25 years ago there are now only 25 to 30."

It distresses Beck to think that some child born today may, before his life is through, have to turn to the back of a dollar bill if he wants to see the rugged winged symbol of American power.

of family and marriage counseling.

IMPROVE ON NATURE

At this Church of God convention, I spoke for two hours. Then I entertained questions from the assembled clergymen for another hour.

In my opening remarks, I mentioned that God expects us to help Him, so we have improved on nature by a variety of shoes and footwear with which babies are certainly not born.

We also add eye glasses to supplement our visual defects, and hearing aids, as well as a third or fourth set of teeth.

In like manner, God expects us to use our brains so we can adapt marriage to changing modern conditions.

The barren idea of Jacob and David and other ancients, has now been modified to monogamy, which is far superior as regards the happiness of the children in the home.

But the adult male is still as polygamous or harem-ish as was Jacob, so modern wives must realize this difference in erotic appetite between men and women, and satiate their husbands.

Men, in turn, must recognize that although wives are not as passionate as males, they do have basic erotic hunger that demands full satisfaction occasionally. Otherwise, the wives become jittery, neurotic, nagging and generally unstrung. (See tomorrow's case for further advice.)

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Barnacles Lose Battle to Navy

Deadly Paint to Avert Marine Life on Hulls Turns Out Successful

WASHINGTON—The United States Navy has finally won its battle against hitch-hiking barnacles. No longer need these tight-sticking crustaceans crowd their shells onto hulls of Navy ships, causing loss in speed and boosting fuel consumption.

Government researchers have developed a plastic paint deadly to young barnacles and other marine growths. A plastic-coated warship can now churn the seas for five years without drydocking for cleaning and repainting.

Before World War II Navy vessels docked every nine months for this purpose. Some heavily loaded ships carried 300 tons of sea life on their hulls, the National Geographic Society says.

Two thousand different kinds of life, ranging from bacteria to fish, have been detected on hulls, buoys and marine structures. Barnacles are the most pestiferous of the lot. Even after they die, their shells often remain on a ship's hull.

For many centuries seafarers have tried to rid their vessels of barnacles. Copper sheathing was successful on wooden ships, for even minute quantities of copper in the water kill young barnacles.

But copper sheathing nearly proved disastrous when applied to some of the first metal vessels. In 1833, the plates of HMS Triton corroded to paper thinness because of the electrical action between her copper sheathing and iron hull. She almost foundered.

Several successful anti-fouling paints now replace copper. The Navy favors a resinous plastic applied hot over a primer base. The insoluble plastic releases a copper compound into the water at a small but steady rate for long periods.

Barnacles cannot catch up with fast moving ships. Thus fouling takes places most rapidly on vessels in harbors. Dr. F. G. Walton Smith, director of the University of Miami Marine Laboratory which has been studying barnacle biology along with Woods Hole Oceanographic Laboratory, found the larvae cannot attach themselves to surfaces that move faster than two knots.

The young barnacles hatch from eggs within the parent's shell. Usually there is only one parent—a barnacle is both male and female. Each microscopic infant carries a pair of horns, a single eye and feathery legs for swimming. Spewed into the plankton—life floating in the sea—it molts and grows.

Himmel! Was Ist der Amerikanischer Squash?

WASHINGTON—Jim Macfarland planted squash seeds last spring in Frankfurt, Germany, and before you could say, "der eichelkurbis," he was on his way to international fame.

He has been praised, extravagantly, by the Germans, and condemned, extravagantly, by the Communists. All on account of his vegetable garden.

When Macfarland, who is in the U. S. Information Agency, was sent to Germany, he planned to do as he always had, whether he was in Canada or Turkey. Yes, sir, he would have a little garden.

A PACKET OF SEEDS
Well, it took time, but few gardens ever thrived so spectacularly, Macfarland said today. He's home on leave, and with him is a scrapbook filled with newspaper clippings, all by-products of his gardening.

Macfarland isn't sure now why he decided on gardening as a habit—he never touched a hoe back home in Mountain Lakes, N. J.—but 10 years ago when he went into foreign service he took along a few packets of seeds. No matter where he was, the crops thrived nicely.

Three years ago he was sent to Frankfurt, and found a different situation. The Germans set aside small acres in the heart of town for gardening. Each acreage is run by a club, and members have small plots in which to plant their seeds.

"In 1953, I applied for membership in the club nearest me," Macfarland said. "Nothing happened. In 1954, same story. This year I got it. A nice little plot. I'd say 35 by 100 feet. Fine soil."

"They say I'm the first American ever to join a garden club in Frankfurt. And when the word got around that I planned to plant peas, sweet corn and squash it created a little excitement. Especially the sweet corn and squash. The sweet corn because the Germans think corn is nothing but chicken feed, and squash because they had never heard of it. They had to make up a word, eichelkurbis. It means a corn pumpkin."

SEED S.O.S.

Well, gardeners are the same the world over. So many Germans wanted to try their hand at squash raising that Macfarland had to send an S.O.S. to a Philadelphia seed company. It not only gave the seed, free, but sent it airmail so it would be there in plenty of time.

The German newspaper became interested. There are pictures of Macfarland passing out the squash seed while sitting in front of a sign reading:

"AMERIKANISHER SQUASH SAMEN GRATIS!"

Other pictures show him leaning on a rake discussing crops with Karl Moerschel, president of his garden club and a Frankfurt police official. News stories had headlines: "Better Understanding Over the Watering Can" and "Good Neighbor Over the Garden Fence." Only the Communist paper looked dourly at the gardening. "They said this proved Americans plan to stay in Germany for 50 years," Macfarland said. Well, the crops did splendidly. Some of the Germans raised bigger squashes than Macfarland's, and the prospects for next year are so good the president of the Philadelphia seed company asked him to drop by and fill him in on the German garden club situation.

"Had an excellent lunch," Macfarland said. Did they eat squash? "By golly, we didn't," he said. "I feel like a traitor."

$420 Reward for Tigers

NEW DELHI—Madhya Pradesh state is offering $420 in rewards to the hunters who bag nine man-eating tigers terrorizing farms and villages in that central Indian state. The largest reward—half of the prize money—is being promised the person who kills "the man eater of Saunwar district." This lone tiger has eluded capture for three years. California and South Dakota are the leading gold producing states.

Austrian Actress Gets Odd Sentence

VIENNA, Austria—Convicted of poisoning her husband, Helga Hruby, 33-year-old Austrian actress, was sentenced to eight years imprisonment. Additional features were that she is to spend every Jan. 7 alone in a dark cell and to sleep on a hard board for three months of each year.

It was on a Jan. 7, the court decided, that she killed Dr. Siegwalt Hruby, the husband from whom she was divorced five years ago but with whom she continued to live. In connection with the case, a Protestant clergyman was charged but the charges were dismissed.

Frugal Father Exposed

HOUSTON, Tex. (U. P.)—A frugal father with three sons saves a pretty penny by giving the boys their haircuts himself. One of the boys was telling why father always cuts hair on Saturday. "He saves more money that way," the boy said, "because haircuts cost more on Saturday."

Kauri Bushmen Hold Huge '55 Reunion

AUKLAND, N. Z.—Members of a unique organization, the Pre-War I Kauri Bushmen's Association, have held their 1955 reunion at Whangarei, New Zealand.

There are 630 remaining members, all stalwarts who worked as kauri bushmen over 40 years ago "when kauri was king."

They date back to the time when giant kauri trees of New Zealand—some up to 55 feet in girth—were cut for lumber, dragged out of the bush by oxen and floated down to market.

READY - PACKED—Don't be jarred at the sight of these two watermelons inside a small-mouthed jar. Farmer Ed Burnell of Leavenworth, Kan., grew them there. He did it by running vines containing small melons into the jar. Then he covered the vines with straw for shade. The melons won't bust through the jar, either, because Burnell clipped the vines when the melons reached maturity.

German Airline Waging Battle With Competition

LONDON—Now that German passenger airliners are back in the air after a lapse of 16 years, "war" has broken out in the skies over Europe.

A British commentator who has ridden in the Deutsche Lufthansa planes says the Germans' service is much the best.

They offer passengers two brands of chewing gum, a third of mints. (The British airlines serve barley sugar.) Lufthansa has the stewardess take away your coat to a wardrobe, on a velvet covered hanger. (On British planes you place it in a rack.)

Lufthansa, between Hamburg and London, serves two excellent hot free meals—with seven parts of butter, not two—in contrast to one tepid meal, and clears away the dishes promptly.

And Lufthansa sees you quickly on and off the plane—no 20-minute waits at the airport.

86 Bald Eagles Seen

GLACIER PARK, Mont. (U. P.)—A ranger and a boy scout reported seeing 86 bald eagles, national emblem bird, in less than one hour in Glacier National along McDonald Creek. Making the rare count were Ranger Bruce Miller and scout Garry Gingley. They believe their count is a record.

There were 19 different electrical appliances on the market in the United States in 1930 compared with 36 in 1940 and 56 at the start of 1955.

Fight, Fight - - and They Can't Hypnotize You

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK (INS)—Pat Morris, the demure little coed who got herself hypnotized out of a $100,000 fortune on TV, must have been in a heck of a trance!

Not since Trilby has a sweet young thing been duped so royally by a glistening eye and cottony voice. She was sitting there, see, with a tablet of money worth at least $67,000 in taxes on a tray beside her.

Then a man named Arthur Ellen put his hand on her head, mumbled the voodoo words "nena, zena, rena" over her, and what happened?

"I knew the money was there," she said afterward. "I could see it, and I wanted to walk over and pick it up. But I just couldn't get up."

She said she felt fine, anyway, because she'd had a nice rest. Furthermore, NBC—which sponsored her flirtation with a fortune—had given her $1,000 and a new car and a refrigerator for her sorority kitchen at USC.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

To tell the truth, if she were any less naive-looking, and any older than a college freshman, I might suspect a rat in Pat's sudden sleep. The reason I say this is that I have had run-ins (or is it look-overs?) with hypnotists before; in fact, some of my best friends are hypnotists in a way of speaking.

All the hypnotists I have run into have tried to put me in a trance and make me do silly things, but the most any ever accomplished was to get me to say "This is a beautiful party" to a hostess.

I do not consider this much of an accomplishment, as it was the kind of affair where a person might just have said that anyway.

"Ah, you're fighting me," said the amateur hypnotist who urged me to bark like a dog. I snarled girlishly.

The most professional one who ever got hold of my eyes was a fellow in Dayton, Ohio, who claimed to have hypnotized servicemen on the battlefield during World War II. He learned his talent, he said, among the Yogi set in India.

CONSIDERED GOOD

This boy used the hushed-voice-and-glazed-eye technique and was considered quite good, frequently hypnotizing large groups of Daytonians at one sitting, for a fee of $50.

But he couldn't get to first base with me, because like always, I fought it. When he would say, "Now, Phyllis, you can hear no other voice but mine," I was suddenly keen—able to overhear conversations in the next room which ordinarily I would never have noticed.

He made me lazy in the body, with that drowsy monotone of his, but my powers of perception were better.

Finally, he agreed that I was beyond him. And he conceded that if a strong-willed person resists, indeed fights, a hypnotist, it is virtually impossible for him or her to become entranced.

If this is so, and I believe it is, a popular conception among Rasputin followers, then poor Patty has only herself to kick. She simply wasn't being strong and willful.

Remember, dear, for next time: If anybody says "nena, zena, rena"—don't just sit there. Fight.

Foreclosures Fall

CHICAGO — The United States Savings and Loan League reports that foreclosures on nonfarm residential mortgages in 1954 totaled about 26,000, about one tenth the number of foreclosures in 1933 and one third as many as in 1940. Today's foreclosure rate is less than one per cent of the number of new mortgages recorded.

Hawaii's normal annual output of sugar is one million tons.

Bement, Illinois, Marks Century Anniversary

BEMENT, Ill. — This town was founded a century ago. Three young men, Joseph Bodman, L. B. Wing and Henry P. Little paid the government $1.25 an acre and donated the land.

F. E. Bryant, first cousin of poet William Cullen Bryant, moved to Bement in 1856 and became a leading merchant, establishing the first bank and serving two terms in the Illinois General Assembly.

It was at his home, now preserved as a memorial by the state, that Lincoln and Douglas met in 1858 to plan their debates. There were many relics for the centennial celebration. Among them was Bodman's bath tub and a chain used by Steve Hawks in switching freight cars with a yoke of oxen a century ago.

The international building exhibition originally scheduled for 1956 in West Berlin has been postponed until the summer of 1957.

Allied Commander

Seven days after Pearl Harbor, Eisenhower was called to Washington and promoted to brigadier general.

In February, 1942, he was made head of the war planning division. The next month he was sent to London to plot strategy for the invasion of Europe and shortly afterwards was given full command.

As a lieutenant general he led his troops into North Africa to lick the Axis armies. Then, as supreme commander of the Allied Expeditionary Forces, Ike invaded the continent. He revealed great talents as an organizer and strategist. He dared to make difficult decisions, always accepted blame when things went wrong. On May 7, 1945, Ike accepted the unconditional surrender of Germany. By that time, he was a five-star general.

After the victory in Europe Ike was feted at home and abroad. In a few short years he had risen from a comparative unknown to one of the world's most popular figures.

Arabs Ask Time to Study Project

Israel's Active Part in Development Plan Nettles Moslems

CAIRO, Egypt (U)—Arab states have asked for more time to study the American-sponsored Jordan Valley water development project, Eric Johnston, President Eisenhower's special envoy, announced today.

He added he had been informed that objections raised by the Arab states directly concerned—Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Egypt—can be resolved in the near future.

Israel, which is still technically at war with the Arab states, also is involved in the plan under which the United States has offered to help finance a 200-million-dollar irrigation-hydroelectric development project.

Informed sources said Syrian Premier Said Ghazal raised the strongest objections to Arab acceptance at this time. Arab leaders opposing the plan have contended Arab cooperation with Israel in the development work would constitute indirect recognition of Israel as a state.

Johnston went to Jerusalem today to confer with Israeli officials. The Israeli government has announced it intends to proceed with its own plans for using Jordan waters if the Arab states do not accept the Johnston proposal soon.

Last week Johnston disclosed that the project had been changed several times to meet Arab objections to construction features.

Spear Maker Has Permit

DURBAN, South Africa—An 80-year-old Zulu ex-hief got back 96 spears that he was charged with making without a license. He said he had been making spears for 50 years and produced a city permit to make assegais, which are slender hardwood spears tipped with iron. Most of them were sold to tourists, he said.

The automotive industry uses about $30,000,000 worth of cotton every year.

Moisture Causes Damage

BOSTON — All air contains invisible moisture, known technically as water vapor. Warm air can hold more moisture than cold. Consequently when warm, humid air is cooled below its capacity to hold all its water vapor, the excess moisture drops out. This causes damage in the United States estimated at more than a billion dollars a year.

About 37 per cent or approximately 914 billion board feet of saw timber in the U. S. is privately owned.

Watch Those Calories

Calorie counters planning trips to Guadeloupe, the French possession in the Lesser Antilles, are warned to watch their diets. The French-style finesse applied to such delicacies as agouti stewed in wine, tortoise stew, haunch of wild roast goat and jugged rabbit in red wine makes them hard to resist.

The number of sheep on Canadian farms increased four-tenths of a per cent, or 6,300 head, from the 1954 figure to a total of 1,722,700 on June 1, 1955.

Water Sounds Checked

WASHINGTON — The National Bureau of Standards has developed a "velocimeter" that automatically measures and plots the speed of sound through the sea at depths as great as 300 feet. Experts believe the instrument will prove valuable in oceanography research as well as in underwater signaling and detecting.

The Pan American Union was established in 1890 as a result of the first international conference of the North American - South American states.

PEEKABOO—Despite his eye-covering bearskin hat, Scots Guards Maj. Alastair Ritchie isn't blind to the charms of the new Miss America, Sharon Kay Ritchie. He can see through the hairs of the 20-inch topper. The major is on a good-will tour of the U. S. representing the Scots Guards, one of five regiments assigned to guard Britain's Queen Elizabeth. Crop Production in Record Year

Farm Reports Reveal Volume May Surpass Banner 1948 Result

WASHINGTON (AP)—This year's crop production may equal—perhaps even surpass—the record volume of 1948, if favorable late season growing and harvesting conditions continue another month.

This was the gist of the October crop production report issued by the Agriculture Department.

At any rate, the volume of farm production—crops plus livestock products—will be the largest in history for American agriculture, the department said.

The huge output will supply all anticipated needs and add to the government's seven billion dollar stockpile of surplus farm commodities.

RAINS HELP

The department reported that rains in September fell over much of the Midwest and Great Plains to provide a favorable seedbed for grains to be harvested next spring and summer.

Contributing heavily to the large crop output was livestock feed grain tonnage 6 per cent larger than last year. Added to carryover stock from previous years, the feed grain supply is the largest of record. This big supply is reflected in lower prices than a year ago and in expanded production of hogs and poultry products.

This year's tonnage in grains is down about 6 per cent, largely because of government crop restrictions.

Favorable conditions in September brought increases in production estimates for cotton, hay, sorghum grain, rice, peanuts, tobacco, corn and dry beans. Slight decreases were reported for soybeans, flaxseed potatoes, sweet potatoes, sugar beets and hops.

Six Zones Represented

Six of the world's seven life zones ranging from the Equator to the Poles are represented within a radius of 50 miles from the heart of the Grand Canyon.

The only zone missing is the Tropic, says the National Geographic Society.

Gracious Lady

CARLSBAD, N. M., (AP)—In the future, a Carlsbad woman will be careful who she is facing when she sticks out her tongue. District Judge C. Roy Anderson sentenced her to 48 hours in jail after an outburst from the witness stand during which she stuck her tongue out at an attorney.

Christopher Columbus was the first "exporter" of wine to the New World. On his discovery voyage he carried sherry from Jerez.

Growth Phenomenal

Edmonton, Alberta, symbolizes the phenomenal growth of western Canada. Before 1900 it was little more than a trading post. Now, in the grip of an oil and natural-gas boom, it is one of Canada's fastest growing cities.

Each month 1,200 new residents add to the population, already beyond the 200,000 mark.

Book and wooden matches last year required 18,000,000 pounds of paraffin, which helps transfer the flame from the head to the stick.

Difficult to Swallow

ATLANTA (AP)—Alice Montgomery, 15, of Thomaston, Ga., was baby sitting and teaching her young charges the alphabet via plastic blocks. She sneezed with an A in her mouth and it lodged in her windpipe.

Doctors here retrieved it but Alice now has her doubts about combining education and baby sitting.

The first machine to be used in the manufacturing of all-leather shoes was a clamping device invented to attach the soles to the upper sections.

Science Stalks Thunderheads

U.N. Weather Group Completing Research Map on Storms

WASHINGTON—Science is stalking the thunderstorms that fill summer skies with jagged light and rolling sound. Still only half understood, these black booming deluges of sultry afternoons are among nature's most fascinating phenomena, the National Geographic Society says. They generate electricity and spread fertilizer. They hurl ice balls and stab fire.

For ten years United States air, navy, and weather scientists have studied such storms—often from inside out. This summer the United Nations' World Meteorological Organization is completing a map showing where earth's thunderstorms — 44,000 a day — crash down on every continent but Antarctica.

An average thunderstorm releases 50 times the energy of the first atomic bomb. Yet it begins as a column of gently rising air, warm, moist, walled by a chimney of cooler air, topped by a cottony cumulus cloud.

THUNDERHEAD FORMS

This thunderstorm "cell of rising warmth, if conditions are just right, gains power as it lifts. Air expands and cools; it begins wringing out its load of water vapor. Droplets form and grow heavier. The cloud boils higher and darker. A "cumulus gone wild" becomes a thunderhead.

Ice crystals cap the cloud, but in its middle water drops grow heavy enough to overcome the updraft and fall. They drag cool air with them, the cold gust that blows out from the skirts of the storm. Rain pours down — 110,000 tons of it across eight square miles in the average storm. But only one in nine potential raindrops actually reaches ground.

Most evaporate. Others may be flung back up the chimney to freeze before falling again. Repeated trips up and down can build hailstones as big as softballs.

Vertical currents inside the thunderstorm are often strong enough to rip an airplane apart, tossing it thousands of feet in a minute. The greatest violence occurs 15,000 to 25,000 feet in the air.

LIGHTNING

Massive charges of electricity form inside the thundercloud. Air insulates, but only until the tension grows too high. Then an invisible trail opens from cloud to cloud or to the earth, and back up that trail a gigantic jolt of power flows. Air blazes into fiery lightning and sends out sharp sound waves — thunder.

How this crackling dynamo works is scarcely understood, even 150 years after Ben Franklin's time. But scientists say that lightning, flashing between earth and clouds, continuously recharges nature's electrical system.

Lightning, in addition, combines nitrogen and oxygen in the air into priceless fertilizer for the soil. Rain washes it down. An estimated 100 million tons of usable plant food is thus produced each year, far more than all the fertilizer man makes.

There is an old but apt quotation: "If you hear the thunder, the lightning did not strike you. If you saw the lightning, it missed you; and if it did strike you, you would not have known it."

United Fund Contributions Assisting USO Work With Military Services

Are 5,611 servicemen and women the forgotten citizens of Oakland County?

Fortunately, the answer is "no." By donating to the Pontiac Area United Fund local residents provide funds for agencies which made a number of vital services available at military bases in the United States and overseas.

Chief among these agencies is the USO. Its programs are carried out in its own clubs and centers, in camp shows and maneuver services.

Last year there were 208 USO operations in the United States, with 8 to be opened. Overseas, 15 new clubs will be opened bringing the total to 40.

Another agency, the American Social Hygiene Assn., works to conditions near military bases. ASHA works with both military and community groups to eliminate "climates of vice," stamp out diseases and educate young people for personal and family living.

The National Recreation Assn. helps communities near military bases channel their recreation facilities for the best use of servicemen and their families.

United Seamen's Service operates in overseas ports to provide our merchant seamen with clean living quarters, good food and recreation at minimum prices.

Such help is seen as vital to shipping schedules and America's total defense program.

Teen Girls Quiz Woman on Till Case, Attack Her

DETROIT (INS) — A 23-year-old female laboratory technician is in serious condition at a Detroit hospital after being attacked by two young girls.

Miss Jean Havlena said the girls, about 15, knocked her down and kicked her in the head after asking her what she thought of the Till murder case in Mississippi.

German Forward Money for Brazilian Industry

RIO DE JANEIRO—Recent German investments in industry in Brazil include a steel-tube plant that is to go into operation soon with a capacity of 75,000 tons of tubes a year; a chemical plant to make DDT, jointly financed by a German firm and a United States company; a pharmaceutical plant; a car manufacturing plant; a pump-making enterprise near Sao Paulo, and a factory to make electrical equipment.

Most Farms Electrified

DES MOINES—Ninety-three per cent of American farms have electric power. This compares with 30 per cent 15 years ago.

New Machine Combats Sound With Sound Wave

NEW YORK—Chemical Engineering magazine reports that the newest concept in the war against noise is fighting sound with sound. A machine has been developed that determines the frequency and character of an existing sound wave, then sends out its own sound of the same frequency but opposite phase. Interference results and the waves cancel each other, giving a localized cone of silence.

Brazil Cotton Rises

RIO DE JANEIRO—Brazil produced 450,000 tons of ginned cotton in 1954, a rise of 20 per cent from the 1953 although lower than the 1952 production of 515,000 tons.

Bigger Bottles, Cans Lift Packing Cartons' Sales

NEW YORK—The trend to larger cans and bottles for beverages is one of the main reasons for increased sales of folding cartons, the Folding Paper Box Association reports. Sales for the first six months of this year were 1.8 per cent higher than in the same 1954 period.

A Mile in a Screen

NEW YORK—Screens for porches and windows are the largest single users of woven wire cloth, 75 per cent of which is made of steel. A single window screen ordinarily contains more than three fourths of a mile of steel wire.

Men's Homburg Hat Named for German Spa

FRANKFURT, Germany—Bad Homburg, a beautiful spa only 12 miles from Frankfurt and a favorite of European royalty, gave its name to the popular felt hat known as the Homburg. The first Homburg was especially designed and made for King Edward VII of Great Britain, great-grandfather of the present Queen Elizabeth II, when he visited Bad Homburg during his reign (1901-1910).

A-War Craft
Predicted NearNew Mexico Senator
Sees Ships and Planes
Powered AtomicallyLAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The time is near when America's warplanes and naval craft will be nuclear powered, the chairman of the joint congressional committee on Atomic Energy predicted today.Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), in a speech prepared for the American Mining Congress, said no one knows the variety of military uses to which nuclear energy will be put. Nor did he set a specific time table for atomic air and surface ships.For instance, he said, "we are developing atomic warheads specifically designed to destroy enemy planes in the air.""My own guess, furthermore," he added, "is that we are now overlooking the tremendous market for atomic materials which may develop in the field of radiation as an industrial process.""It ranges from the use of radiation as a catalyst to radio-sterilization of food."He said he was trying to answer the concern of uranium prospectors that demands for nuclear materials may decline sharply after the present government guaranteed buying program ends in 1962."I believe that our output of nuclear weapons may remain on a high level for an indefinite period to come," he declared, "chiefly because we steadily find new military applications and hence design and build new devices."He predicted that by the end of the century "perhaps 90 per cent of the new central station power generating capacity installed each year will run on atomic power."While the United States is "generously endowed" with conventional fuel resources, he said, many nations are not and will rely increasingly on atomic power.He discussed another worry of the uranium mining industry—the possibility of building hydrogen power reactors which might out-mode uranium reactors.Predicting that thermonuclear reactors will be built, he added, however, "progress will be slow;
it will be geared to the eventual depletion of the fossil fuels (coal and oil) and uranium and thorium deposits, perhaps a matter of 100 years or more."

Skilled Workers Set Debate Date

Group to Demand UAW Grant More Recognition to Trained Personnel

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit area skilled trades members of the CIO United Auto Workers will discuss their problems within the union at a meeting scheduled for Oct. 23.

Announcement of the meeting was the latest in a chain of developments reflecting dissatisfaction of UAW skilled workers with contracts recently negotiated in the auto industry.

Workers attending the meeting will hear a report from a delegation which appeared before the UAW executive board last week to ask for more representation and privileges for skilled craftsmen.

Sponsoring the party are the foot and die council and the maintenance, construction and power-house council, both Detroit area groups.

Also invited to attend were UAW President Walter Reuther, Vice Presidents Richard Gosser and Norman Matthews and Joseph McCusker, regional director. Gosser is director of the union's skilled trades department.

Evidence of turmoil among UAW skilled tradesmen has been evident since early last summer when the UAW concluded contract negotiations with the auto makers.

Kefauver Again Appears as Democratic Contender

WASHINGTON (AP)—In all the discussions about Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman as the top challengers for the Democratic presidential nomination — where does Tennessee's lanky Sen. Estes Kefauver fit into the picture?

Three years ago, Kefauver was riding a wave of popularity which had its beginning in the spectacular television Senate crime-busting investigations which he conducted across the country. It was the first time that politicians realized the impact television could have on voters. And Kefauver was a television hero.

On the first ballot at the national convention, Kefauver was out in front with 340 votes. Stevenson was second with 273 and Georgia's Sen. Richard Russell was third with 268.

Kefauver still was the leader on the second ballot with 362½ votes to Stevenson's 324½ and Russell's 294. On the third and final ballot Kefauver's support began to crumble. Stevenson zoomed to 617½ votes. Kefauver slipped to 275½ and Russell had 261. Stevenson was the winner.

Despite this strong showing in 1952, Kefauver today remains a secondary figure in speculation over the probable winner of the Democratic nomination next year. The spotlight is on Stevenson and Harriman — with Harriman now getting strong promotion.

The recent trend of events suggests that Democratic strategists are building toward a situation which could have this result: If Stevenson is unable to swing the convention to his side—then Harriman would be ready to move to the center of the stage.

Kefauver may have his own ideas about these proceedings. For several weeks he has been overseas visiting foreign lands. Thus he has been in no position to project himself into the presidential picture even if he so desired.

If the Tennesseean does make another bid for his party's nomination, he will add considerable interest to the campaign. But despite his personal popularity with the voters, he faces a tremendous handicap in this well-known fact: He isn't popular with most of the Democratic party bigwigs, including the powerful bloc of Southerners whose wishes must be taken into account in convention maneuvers.

In the 10 years he was in the House and during his seven years in the Senate, he never identified himself with the Southern lawmakers. Frequently he found himself lined up against his more conservative colleagues in legislative debates. He didn't sit in the inner councils of the Southerners even though he was from a Southern state. And thus he was more or less isolated from many of the men who could help him most in a convention.

If he could count on the support of his Southern colleagues and add this to his strength in other parts of the country, he could become a formidable factor in the Democratic convention.

But he doesn't have that support —and that's one big reason he isn't named along with Stevenson and Harriman at the top of the list of Democratic strong men at this point.

460-Pound Circus Giant Clifford Thompson Dies

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Clifford Marshall Thompson, the 8-foot, 7-inch former circus giant who became an attorney, died in a hospital yesterday, a week before his 51st birthday.

His 5-foot, 6-inch widow said death was blamed on gall stones and a liver ailment, and had no connection with his height or weight. Thompson weighed 460 pounds before he became ill last week.

A native of Rugby, N.D., Thompson received his law degree from Marquette University in 1944. He practiced in Iowa, Wis., and Los Angeles before coming here in 1949.

Dem Sounds Off on Farm Prices

Sen. Douglas Suggests Production Payments Like Brannan Plan

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) today proposed a many-sided program to boost lagging farm income. It included a production payments idea with the earmarks of the old Brannan plan.

Douglas' suggestions were made in a speech prepared for delivery tonight to the National Editorial Assn. The text was released for publication ahead of time due to a clerical error.

The Illinois Democrat renewed his attack on Republican farm policies and his contention that the GOP "broke" 1952 promises to the nation's farmers.

Douglas cited figures which he said show that average income per farm fell from $2,605 to $2,050 between 1952 and the second quarter of this year.

In addition to the production payments plan, which he termed a "subsidy," Douglas proposed that ways be found to:

1. Build up consumption of food at home and abroad.
2. Send additional quantities of wheat, cotton, cheese and powdered milk to countries "where there is starvation and semi-starvation, in exchange for additional quantities of tin, copper, manganese, uranium, cobalt" and the like.
3. Expand farm exports by liberalizing foreign trade policy, permitting "other nations to sell more of their manufactured products to us."

Douglas said the Eisenhower administration gives "verbal support to this principle, but in every practical situation it acts in a contrary fashion." He cited increases in tariffs on Swiss watches and British bicycles.

The senator said he feels efforts should be concentrated toward giving a lift to small and low income farmers.

Sees Ports Useless in A-War Battle

BOSTON (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said today that in an atomic war, big ports like those used in past wars may be useless because they are prime targets for nuclear attack.

That may mean that armies landing in invasions will have to depend on "mobile ports" and substitute for conventional ports and over-the-beach landings, he said.

Then, in an address prepared for delivery to the National Defense Transportation Assn., the Army chief of staff disclosed that among other things the Army is "exploding the aerial tramway," a device like a ski-lift, for possible use in getting equipment across the beach.

Several types are under test now, Taylor said, including a 4,500-foot long tramway, suspended from 75-foot towers, being tried out at the Ft. Eustis, Va., center of the Army Transportation Corps. He did not go into details.

Envoy Shift Is Hinted

WASHINGTON (INS)—High diplomatic sources say the United States may reassign ambassador to Korea William S. B. Lacy and ambassador to Japan John M. Allison. No reason was given for the shifts except Lacy's reported ill health.

Marines Scour Area to Find Missing Tot

CRANE, Ind. (AP)—Marines today searched the last areas where 3-year-old Ronnie Weitkamp might have wandered, but officials said kidnapping appeared to be the likely explanation of his disappearance.

A 36-hour search ending Wednesday night covered a five-square-mile area without turning up a good clue. The search started within 45 minutes after the boy was missed Tuesday.

"It's obvious he has gotten away from the area by means other than his own legs," said Cmdr. Richard Turner, executive of Crane Naval Ammunition Depot.

The little boy's father, Lawrence Weitkamp, who works at the depot, said, "I think somebody has just driven by and taken him away."

Cmdr. Turner said nearly 1,000 volunteers "covered the area with a fine-tooth comb."

The blond, brown-eyed boy was last seen playing with two other children his own age across the street from his parents' neat, white three-bedroom cottage. The Weitkamps have two other children.

Crane is 15 miles west of Bedford in southern Indiana.

Depression Bank-Saver Schram, Dies in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Bjorn C. Schram, 79, who as government receiver controlled Detroit's two largest banks during the depression years, died yesterday.

Schram came to Detroit in 1933 to become government receiver for the Guardian National Bank. He assumed a similar position with the First National Bank of Detroit in 1936.

He resigned from the Guardian Bank after depositors had been paid 83 per cent of their savings. He remained as receiver of the First National Bank until his retirement in 1944.

A native of Milwaukee and former storekeeper, Schram had liquidated 19 financial institutions before coming to Detroit.

GM Division Unveils New Headlight With Easy, Accurate Aiming Device

A new type of automobile headlamp with a built-in "safety-aim" feature was announced today by Guide Lamp Division of General Motors.

Guide is producing the new headlamps as standard equipment for all 1956 GM cars and trucks and for sale through car division parts and accessory departments.

AC Spark Plug will merchandise and sell the new headlamp through its warehousing-distributor organization, serving over 125,000 dealer outlets in the parts field, and through national oil and rubber companies.

Key feature of the new lamp is three glass knobs, called "guide points," cast into the lamp's face, or lens. A plane laid across these three calibrated points would form a surface at right angles to the axis of the light beam.

The plane formed by these three points thus positions the headlamp when it is installed by means of the special aimer. The result, Guide pointed out, is a "scientifically and correctly aimed light beam on the road."

C. A. Michel, general manager of Guide Lamp, said that the new headlight has "tremendous meaning for all motorists. We believe it is the greatest contribution to safe night driving since the introduction of the sealed beam itself in 1940. The new lamp we have developed goes beyond the standard unit now produced by the industry, and provides for safe, correct aiming almost automatically. We believe this is a real advance in safety."

The Guide lamp, as with other units that have been standardized by the industry, provides up to 80 feet more seeing distance on the lower beam than the old sealed beam type.

There also is more lower beam light on the right to show objects along the side of the road. In addition, a new filament cap has been added to reduce glare and increase visibility in rain, snow and fog.

Michel explained that "with the new lamp and the safety-aimer, we have answered a critical need."

"More than half the cars on the road today have headlamps that are not correctly aimed or adjusted. The lights may be aimed too high, too low, or too much to one side. This creates an unsafe driving condition."

"The new product combination, however, corrects that. A man with a screwdriver can install the new lamps, and aim them, in a few minutes."

Tammany Chieftain Touring West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (U-P)—Caroline DeSapio, New York Tammany Hall chief, was scheduled today to meet with top California Democratic leaders to learn Western "grass roots" preferences for a 1956 presidential candidate.

DeSapio, who arrived here last night with an all but open avowal in favor of New York's Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman, found the local party leaders maneuvering along Stevenson-Kefauver lines of cleavage with the Stevenson backers taking the initiative.

There was speculation that sponsors of the conference — all known to be strong advocates of another campaign by Adlai Stevenson — would announce results of a telegram Brown sent to California Democratic leaders inviting them to join in a campaign urging Stevenson to run again.

Kiwanis Give $200 for Civic Auditorium

A check for $200 was presented to Mayor William W. Donaldson by the Kiwanis Club of West Pontiac at a noon luncheon today.

The money, part of the proceeds of the Kiwanis' recent Kids' Day peanut sale, is earmarked for the Pontiac Foundation and a proposed civic auditorium.

Robert J. Alton, chairman of the peanut sale, presented the check. Remainder of the proceeds will be used for boys and girls projects, said J. Fred Gibson, club president.

SAFETY-AIM HEADLAMP—This new type of auto headlamp and aiming device displayed by Dorothy Smart, has been introduced by Guide Lamp Division of General Motors. Known as the Guide T-3 Safety-Aim Sealed Beam Headlamp and T-3 Safety-Aimer, the products provide for quick, accurate light aiming. A service station attendant can install and aim correctly a set of the lamps in a few minutes in broad daylight.

Probes Efforts to Sell Power

House Seeking Data on Reported U.S. Offer to Supply Georgia

WASHINGTON (U-P)—House investigators about "several White House conferences" involving disputed government efforts to sell federal hydroelectric power to a Georgia private utility for resale to cooperatives.

The conferences were brought to light before a House Government Operations subcommittee last night by Asst. Secretary of the Interior Fred G. Aandahl, who at the same time refused to give any details about the meetings.

Chairman Chudoff (D-Pa.) told newsmen the committee would try to learn what was discussed and who was present.

But he agreed the committee might run into trouble because of a presidential order stating interdepartmental executive discussions may be withheld from congressional committees.

Aandahl indicated the conferences were held prior to preparation of a 20-page ruling by Atty. Gen. Brownell on the power question last summer.

In his opinion, Brownell held that the government must give preference to cooperatives and other public agencies competing for the power with private utility groups, even though the cooperatives had no immediate facilities or transmission lines to take it. Sale to the utility would "flout the congressional purpose" of public power laws, he said.

The dispute has centered over ways of "wheeling"—or transmitting—the power to co-ops and public agencies given preferences to public power by law.

Aandahl said the Interior Department did not feel it was "economically feasible" to contract directly with the Georgia co-ops because they had no transmission lines to take the power. Georgia Power Co., on the other hand, was unwilling to deliver it unless it could take title to the power. But since the attorney general prepared his opinion, Aandahl said, the department and Georgia Power have reached a tentative agreement for the utility to contract for transmitting the power over its own lines to the co-ops.

Longer Imperial More Powerful

Chrysler's Luxury Car Will Be on Display Friday, Oct. 21

A longer, more powerful Imperial for 1956 was announced today by Chrysler Corp. It will be shown by dealers on Oct. 21.

The new car is five and one-half inches longer than last year and is driven by a new 280-horsepower engine. Wheelbase is 133 inches.

A new push-button drive selector, new high fidelity record player, transistor radio, aircraft-type instant gasoline heater, new vacuum-operated center-plane power brakes, and safety door latches are offered.

Imperial offers a wider choice of body models by introducing a new four-door hardtop.

For body finish 17 harmonizing exterior colors are available, with color-keyed interiors of custom nylon fabrics or genuine leather. Interiors in blue, green, gray, tan, coral or turquoise are available.

The new push-button drive is featured on all Imperial automobiles, and is located conveniently to the left of the steering column. Arranged on a small panel, the four buttons require only a light touch, are lighted at night, and have an automatic lock-out to prevent accidentally changing to "reverse" range at over 10 miles per hour.

Compression ratio of the V-8 engine has been raised to 9.0 to 1. Displacement has been increased to 354 cubic inches by enlarging the bore to 3.94 inches, for a full 280-horsepower at 4,600 r.p.m. Stroke is 3.63 inches.

Free Rides in Toledo

TOLEDO Ohio (U-P)—Bus users will ride free in a 24-block area of downtown Toledo during a 60-day trial period beginning Dec. 1. Part of a plan to revitalize the downtown district, the free riding is expected to yield quicker service that may attract passengers to the bus system and boost revenues, bus company president C. H. Forsgard said today.

According to a nationwide survey, 39 per cent of high-school girls do not date.

CHRYSLER IMPERIAL FOR 1956—The Imperial six-passenger sedan for 1956 is five inches longer than last year, and features flight-swept rear fenders topped by distinctive tail lights. It has push-button shifting as standard equipment, and a complete selection of new power equipment. Powering the car is a new 280-horsepower Fire Power V-8 engine. The Imperial will be on display Oct. 21. Dealers in this vicinity are Clarkson Motor Sales, 32 S. Main St., Clarkston, and Talley Motor Sales, 1001 N. Main St., Rochester.

Dead Man's Voice Settles Estate Fight

DETROIT (U-P)—The claimant of a factory worker's $125,000 estate heard a dead man's voice deny his paternity at a Probate Court hearing yesterday in a will dispute involving nine heirs.

Judge James H. Sexton admitted the tape recording of the voice of Jacob Horst, who died last Feb. 2 at 85.

John Jacob Horst, 55, Hokened, attended as the record was played. He is claiming the entire estate as the dead man's direct descendant. The older Horst's will distributed the estate equally among him and eight nieces and nephews.

The voice on the record described John Horst as a founding brought from Germany by the elder Horst and his second wife, Katrina.

Dorothy E. Broeder, attorney for the estate, said she had the tape recording made to protect herself in dealing with John Horst. Judge Sexton took the case under advisement.

According to a nationwide survey, 39 per cent of high-school girls do not date.

Pork and Beef Highlight Better Buys Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A big variety of hearty foods for robust fall appetites awaits the budget-minded housewife this weekend in food stores and supermarkets across the nation.

At the meat counter she's likely to find such marked-down specials as boneless beef potroast, chuck roast, smoked picnic hams, frying chickens and roast loin of pork. Some markets are also featuring ready-to-cook turkeys.

Pork prices are down again in some cities; next week they may go lower still, reflecting a superabundant supply of hogs at mid-west livestock markets.

Beefsteaks will find chain store prices of sirloin steaks marked down anywhere from two to ten cents a pound in some areas. Meat specialists described shoulder of veal as an excellent buy.

CHICKEN SPECIALS
Plump, tender chickens for frying or broiling are prominently featured among the "specials" for the weekend. Prices in some cities are down as much as six cents a pound.

The nation's cow herds have also been working overtime, with a resultant abundance of dairy products. The huge outpouring of milk in the disaster part of the country is partly the result of hurricanes Connie and Diane which brought drenching rains to parched pastures.

Cheese is particularly plentiful right now. Americans may not eat as much cheese as Europeans, but our taste for this interesting and healthful dairy food is increasing.

Best buys in produce this week, all labeled by government marketing specialists as "outstanding values," includes potatoes, onions, peppers, spinach and apples.

Listed as "good" buys are lettuce, sweet potatoes, carrots, cauliflower, snap beans, winter varieties of squash (such as acorn and butternut), green cabbage, endive, escarole and California tomatoes. Table grapes from California are moderately priced. Citrus fruits are beginning to arrive from Florida in increasing volume; prices are down from the week before, but they're not likely to hit their seasonal low until late November.

The Danish Brotherhood in America has 194 lodges in 29 states and three in Canada.

Death Car Driver Is Awaiting Trial

KALAMAZOO (U-P)—Mrs. Mary Lou McDonald Arndt, 26, awaited trial on charges of involuntary manslaughter and negligent homicide today as the driver of a car in a car-school bus crash last week which cost two lives.

Municipal Judge Clark M. Olmstead bound Mrs. Arndt over to Circuit Court yesterday for trial. He set bond at $2,500 and she was released.

James F. Bailey, 14, of Alamo, a student, and Roy Thayer, 72, of Otsego, driver of the bus, were killed. James Borton, another bus passenger, was injured critically and is reported improved at Bronson Hospital.

Thayer had stopped his bus to assist a driver whose car had overturned on a slippery road. Mrs. Arndt came over the crest of a hill and was unable to stop before hitting the bus.

Iran Joins Side of Free Nations

Move to Close Gap in Allied Defenses Comes Sooner Than Expected

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst
Two years ago there were no diplomatic relations between Britain and Iran because of their long dispute over ownership of Iranian oil, and Iran was hinting she might turn to Russia for help in her economic dilemma.

That problem was solved, largely through the good offices of the American State Department, and now Iran is back in formal alignment with the free nations in opposition to Russian expansion.

Her announcement that she is joining the Turkish-Iraqi-Pakistan-British defense pact has come far more quickly, following Turkey's very recent invitation, than most observers had anticipated. Tehran politicians had been slow to move against latent public resentment of Britain and against strong Russian objections.

Russia is still trying to break it up, with a statement that she considers such an act unfriendly to her, but the die seems to be finally cast, Iran said three weeks ago that, in today's world, neutrality could not be maintained.

The pact is not primarily a military alliance, although it provides for joint military planning. It is more of a recognition of the common interests of the members in a united front, much after the fashion of the Yugoslav-Turkish-Greek pact. It ties Iraq, Pakistan and Iran, non-members of the North Atlantic Treaty alliance, into the united front through Turkey and Britain. There is a possibility that the United States will join, just to seal the bargain between NATO and these other sectors of the world-wide defense line begun when President Truman started building it by extending military aid to Greece and Turkey.

Though its military value to the West may not be high, there is an important political effect in Iran's action. It is notice to the entire Middle East—particularly Egypt—that one of Russia's nearest neighbors fully recognizes the dangers of the Kremlin's latest in-fairs.

Following the Iranian oil settlement and the British military evacuation of Egypt, this is the third major victory for State Department policy in the Middle East in a year and a half. It was Secretary Dulles who suggested the pact.

These victories, however, have been at least partially offset by the fact that they have not stopped the Moscow-Cairo conniving and the grave danger of another Arab-Israel war, which Russia seems to be trying to foment.

Harriman on Way Up:

Is Truman Withdrawing Support of Stevenson?

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON 12—A big question in politics today is: WHOM—if anybody—does former President Harry S. Truman favor for the Democratic presidential nomination next year?

First he said it was Adlai Stevenson, the man who carried the Democratic banner unsuccessfully against GOP candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952. Now he says he is neutral. It isn't quite clear whether he has backed away from active support of Stevenson, although that would seem to follow.

In any event, Truman's activities in the past few days have centered attention on Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman of New York as a possible avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination. And it isn't likely an old campaigner like Truman spoke out without knowing his words would have some such effect.

Few politicians would deny that Truman's support in a convention would have great value. He remains a voice within the Democratic party who can speak and command attention because he is an ex-president of the United States and a political strategist of no small ability.

For months past, Truman has said with unmistakable clarity that he was for Adlai Stevenson. He didn't mention neutrality in those statements.

On Aug. 17 he repeated in an interview that he was supporting Stevenson for the nomination although he intended to be in there fighting for the Democratic nominee, no matter who he might be.

Again, on Sept. 9, he still was in the Stevenson cheering section. He said in a speech in Chicago that he had talked with Stevenson by telephone that morning and "I told him if he announced for president I would be for him."

Thirty days later, the former President didn't appear to be so positive about whom he would support. While visiting Harriman in Albany, N.Y., he remarked that he was "as neutral as a man could possibly be in my position."

Political observers noted that on the same day, Harriman said during a television program he had "no obligation" to Stevenson and had never said "I would support him in a convention," although Harriman had said previously he was for Stevenson.

Harriman insists he isn't a candidate for the nomination, but nevertheless he's getting a strong buildup from the Tammany Hall organization headed by Carmine DeSapio, a New York national committeeman.

It has been expected that Stevenson will announce his candidacy soon.

British Bell Ringers Snub U.S. Mechanized Methods

WASHINGTON 12—England's bell ringers, masters of the musical maze known as change-ringing, are unconcerned by an American upstart in their craft—a electronic brain named SWAC.

Into SWAC, a computer at the University of California at Los Angeles, mathematicians fed the complicated rules of English bell ringing.

Out came a complete "score" or pattern for change ringing—but, naturally, not one actual bong. And the real skill, the true test, say the English, lies in the pulling of the ropes.

The game, science, or art of change-ringing requires that

WORLD RECORD

Not long ago a band of eight ringers attempted a new world record. Eight bells offer 40,320 possible changes, a total that has never been reached without substitutions of fresh ringers. This try failed after ten hours and 21,068 changes. The conductor missed a call, and the peel had to end.

Unlike chimes and carillons, which play by clockwork or by pedals and levers, change-ringing is done at the end of bell ropes.

The heavy bells, from the highest "treble" to the lowest "tenor," swing full circle at each pull, beginning and ending mouth upward. While being gradually "rung up" to starting position, they sound in sequence in what is known as "rounds."

Road Workers Vote for Social Security

Employees of the Oakland County Road Commission have voted to come under federal social security, according to Commission Chairman Lee O. Brooks.

Some 150 of the 162 employees voted, with 156 saying "yes," two opposed and one vote void.

"The program will go into effect if approved by the Board of Supervisors at their next meeting," Brooks explained. The commission employees have been operating under a pension system of their own.

Monty Is Eying 3-in-1 Service

British Field Marshal Sees Need to Merge Army, Navy, Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Field Marshal Montgomery is heralding a return visit to the United States with a new commentary on the military future, directed this time at the need for eventual merger of army, navy and air forces into one service.

A year ago, the outspoken British commander shook the United States Navy with some pithy observations about aircraft carriers not fitting into war's future.

In a lecture yesterday before the Royal United Services Institution, a military club in England, Montgomery took note of his previous talk, saying it "created quite a stir in military circles in this country and even more so in the U.S.A."

In his new lecture, delivered a few weeks before he is scheduled to arrive in the United States on a speaking tour, Britain's famous army leader also:

1. Directed some barbs at the present form of armies — "the day of the armored division and of the infantry division as we knew them in the late war is past . . . Tanks must be an integral part of the division."

2. Proposed that an American be given top command of global warfare because the United States has the only big strategic air force among the western nations.

Montgomery applied his views to the forces of all nations, not singling out the United States.

Detroit Evacuation Plan Will Be Studied by Area

DETROIT (AP)—"Operation Survival," a plan under which 400,000 persons would evacuate Detroit one hour after the first air raid alert, soon will be taken under study by a committee representing 39 communities in Southeastern Michigan.

Maj. Gen. Clyde E. Dugherty, director of the Detroit Office of Civil Defense, described the plan yesterday to representatives of the communities involved.

Coast Guard to Probe Yachtsman Mystery

CHICAGO (AP)—The Coast Guard said yesterday an investigation will be conducted into the fate of wealthy yachtsman Philip T. Atwood, 47, missing in Lake Michigan since Sept. 12.

Capt. Gordon P. McGowan, Coast Guard commander, said he was notified by Washington headquarters that an officer will be sent soon to Grand Haven, Mich., to conduct an inquiry.

Wreckage along the Michigan shore—between South Haven and Muskegon—was identified Tuesday as coming from Atwood's yacht, Tyree.

A boarding ladder, a door, a windshield, and a bridge seat covered with a chalky substance were found by a Coast Guardsman. He said the substance indicated a gas or oil explosion.

Mrs. Atwood, former golf star June Beebe, said the wreckage definitely is from the Tyree. Capt. McGowan said the evidence was conclusive and that Atwood's long disappearance makes it unlikely that he is alive.

Atwood, who lived in suburban Winnetka with his wife and three teen-age children, sailed alone from Chicago Sept. 12 and disappeared.

Spending of City Residents Indicated in Food-Buying

—With incomes of Pontiac residents running at a high level, the questions arise: How much of this money are they spending? Where are they spending it and for what?

Answers to the questions are contained in a copyrighted study made by Sales Management of the spending habits of people locally and in other parts of the country. Put under the spotlight are each community's purchases of food, autos, general merchandise and the like.

In Pontiac most of the earnings in 1954 went into the cash registers of the local retail stores. These expenditures produced retail business in the amount of $158,995,000 for the year, an increase over the $154,996,000 recorded in 1953.

The chief buying emphasis was on food, which took 26 cents of each dollar spent in the local stores. It was more than families elsewhere in the United States allotted. The average was 24 cents. In the East North Central states it was also 24 cents.

The volume of such purchases indicates a trend toward more luxurious living. Pontiac's food bill, in meat markets, grocery stores, delicatessens and such, came to $40,669,000 in the year, an increase over the $38,795,000 of the prior year. Divided equally among the local families this amounted to $1,800 per family.

The local ability to indulge in more and better food is but one facet of an overall improvement in the standard of living.

Luxury buying in Pontiac was indicated also in outlets selling new and used cars, farm machinery and other automotive equipment. Such sales ran to $33,747,000, accounting for another 21 cents of the retail dollar.

Another outlet was in general merchandise stores, including department and variety stores. The volume was $23,813,000, amounting to 15 cents.

Local sales of furniture, household equipment and radio and music supplies were $9,676,000, equal to six cents.

Drug store operations came to $4,989,000, for an additional three cents.

Utah Governor Gets Tax Stand Letters

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Gov. J. Bracken Lee's office says he has received "between 300 and 400" letters since announcing he won't pay some of his income tax next year.

Harold Simpson, Lee's administrative assistant, said yesterday "only three have been unfavorable to the governor's action. All three of them obviously did not understand what the governor was doing."

Lee said last week he will file a return but keep the tax money in a bank until the Supreme Court orders him to pay. He says he wants to challenge the constitutionality of the federal government's taxing its citizens to pay for foreign aid.

Ike Officially Proclaims Thanksgiving Day—Nov. 24

DENVER (U)—President Eisenhower today officially proclaimed Nov. 24 as Thanksgiving Day "in keeping with our oldest traditions that at the fruitful season of the waning year we turn again to Almighty God in grateful acknowledgment of His manifold blessing."

The President asked his fellow Americans on that day to lift their hearts in special prayers of gratitude "for the abundance of our endowments . . . for the preservation of our way of life . . . and for the religious faith which has wielded such beneficent influence upon our destiny."

The text of the proclamation: The custom of devoting one day each year to national thanksgiving is a wise and an ancient one, hallowed by observance in the days before we became a nation, and sanctioned throughout the succeeding generations. It is therefore in keeping with our oldest traditions that at the fruitful season of the waning year we turn again to Almighty God in grateful acknowledgment of His manifold blessings.

At this time of thanksgiving, may we express our deep appreciation of those forebearers who more than three centuries ago, celebrated the first Thanksgiving Day. Through their industry and courage, our nation was hewn from the virgin forest, and through their steadfastness and faith, the ideas of liberty and justice have become our cherished inheritance.

May we lift up our hearts in special prayers of gratitude for the abundance of our endowments, both material and spiritual, for the preservation of our way of life, in its richness and fullness, and for the religious faith which has wielded such a beneficent influence upon our destiny. May we show our thanks for our bounty for remembrance of those less fortunate, and may the spirit of this thanksgiving season move us to share with them to alleviate their need.

Now, therefore, I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States of America, having in mind the joint Congressional resolution of December 26, 1941, which designated the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day and made that day a legal holiday, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of November, 1955, as a day of national thanksgiving; and I urge all our citizens to observe the day with reverence. Let us, on the appointed day, in our homes and our accustomed places of worship, each according to his own faith, bow before God and give him humble thanks.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this eleventh day of October in the year of Our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty-five, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eightieth.

Dwight D. Eisenhower.

State Man, 103, Can't Say How He Managed It

MONTROSE (U)—Henry Mole of Montrose is celebrating his 103rd birthday today but "frankly can't say" how he managed it.

"I've had my share of little aches and pains," Mole says. Yet, except for a touch of arthritis, Mole feels fit, uses glasses "only for fine print," saws wood regularly and just finished painting the pump house at the home he shares with his daughter.

Mole had his formal birthday celebration Sunday when 26 friends and relatives came over to congratulate him.

"Imagine all those people coming just to see an old man," Mole said.

He has seen many changes since he came to Saginaw County from Ohio 80 years ago and cleared the land for his 540-acre farm. Mole recalled when cows, pigs and chickens could roam in the road all day. Huge flocks of wild turkeys and the now extinct passenger pigeons used to fly over his farm.

13 NO. SAGINAW ST.

By BRUCE BOSSAT
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (NEA)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California has more in mind for 1956 than trying to throttle Vice President Nixon's presidential hopes. He can see himself in a keyhole role as a wielder of power at the San Francisco convention next August.

Knight repeatedly has disavowed personal White House ambitions. He would be receptive to the lighting if it should choose to strike, but he insists he is not attempting to manufacture his own bolt.

Because he is preparing what may come, some in California declare he is running hard. Others say the idea of a Knight nomination is well back in his mind.

However that may be, Knight seems destined to be on center stage at the convention. Assuming he is able to withstand all challenge and take to that meeting a 70-man delegation nominally tied to him, he will be the most powerful Republican Governor present.

Knight's strength does not stop with the delegate potential he may command. He has carved a sizable niche for himself in two years at Sacramento.

One year after he inherited the governorship from Earl Warren, now Chief Justice of the United States, Knight won election on the GOP ticket in his own right. In a state with 851,000 more Democrats than Republicans, he swept into office by a margin of 530,000. His conduct in office has won wide commendation in many quarters, some quite surprising. Most of Warren's long-time supporters were cool at the outset, but now they are in his camp.

Knight has courted and won major backing from organized labor. Even Warren, an acknowledged progressive, had less success in this field.

Knight takes the hard-headed view that since the evidence indicates the GOP is a minority party, not only in California but the whole nation, anyone who wants to get elected has to woo labor and others usually found in Democratic ranks.

This approach appears not to have cost him any significant part of his conservative support in Northern California. But reports have it that he is hurting in Southern California among this group. The strongly conservative Los Angeles Times assailed him for cozying up to labor.

Aside from these reported defections in an area which happens also to be Nixon's stronghold, Knight's stature is considered to be growing.

There is praise for the caliber of his appointments, for his nerve in proposing higher taxes on whisky, beer, cigarettes and racing (only the whisky levy got through). He has continued and expanded Warren's policies.

Knight has put down a broad political foundation and is bent on making it solid. That is the source of the strength he will take to the 1956 convention. That is the basis of the power he applies in his bitter struggle with Nixon.

That is why, too, he dares to think the presidential lightning might glance off his head. The formula he has worked at home; he is busy working it in other fields—just in case.

He has talked to labor leaders in the Midwest and East. He has done some fence-building with politicians in states like Wisconsin, Michigan and Pennsylvania. This month he has a number of speaking engagements on the eastern seaboard, where the Knight name is still little known.

Denmark's first motel has just been opened near Roskilde.

U.S. Prison Numbers Show 5.4 Increase

WASHINGTON—The Justice Department reports that 182,051 prisoners were serving sentences in State and Federal prisons and reformatory for adult offenses at the end of 1954—a 5.4 per cent increase over the year before.

It was the highest year-end prison population since the De-Uniform series of prisoner figures at the end of 1939. But even with prisoners at the all-time high, their number in relation to the nation's total population continued low—only 114 persons per 100,000 of the civilian population were serving sentences.

Many Women Buried in Arlington Cemetery

WASHINGTON — Arlington National Cemetery is not exclusively for men or for members of the military. Army and Navy nurses are buried there, too, and the widow, unmarried daughters, and minor sons of an officer may be buried in the same plot with him. Widows of enlisted men are sometimes buried there with their husbands.

Named Skate Coach

NEW YORK (INS)—George Ap-dale of Richmond Hill, N.Y., has been designated as coach of the United States roller skating team which will compete in the world championships at Barcelona, Spain, Oct. 21 through 23.

French Woman Wed in 'Fit of Madness'

PARIS, France — On the unusual ground that she had married in a fit of madness, a French woman's marriage has been annulled by an appeal court here. The woman, 35-year-old Madame Eugenie Dognon, is a cafe proprietor. She told the court that after returning home from a mental hospital she was shocked to find that she had been married to a waiter in her establishment. The waiter, although a friend, was not the sort of man she wished to marry or to have share her possessions, she said.

Pitcairn Island has an area of about 1,200 acres.

Lounge Lizards Loaf

LONDON (INS) — "Lounge Lizards" are becoming London Airport's greatest problem. They are sightseers who crowd into the airport lounge to watch celebrities come and go, and who occupy all the seats. Air travelers have complained they cannot find a seat because of these new style "bobby-soxers," who sneak into the airport lounge posing as friends of passengers.

Tiny Generator Powerful

WASHINGTON — Designed for use in guided missiles, a tiny gas generator weighing 3½ pounds and no larger than a 3-by-4-inch can of soup can develop 850 jet horsepower—more than three times the horsepower rating of leading production-model automobiles.

2 Solons Fight Jury Room Mike

Favor Making It Felony for Recording Devices to Take Deliberations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) said today he and Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) favor making it a felony to place recording devices in a jury room. He proposed that Congress enact such legislation next year.

Eastland is chairman and Jenner a member of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee which is inquiring into "eavesdropping" on jury deliberations as part of a University of Chicago research project last year.

Edward H. Levi, dean of the Law School, and Prof. Harry Kalven Jr., a faculty member who is supervising the project, testified yesterday that a microphone was concealed in a federal jury room in Wichita, Kan., in 1954 with the consent of the court.

Kalven said the recordings were only one phase of a project to collect "new basic data on how juries do their work." The overall project is being financed with grants totaling $1,400,000 from the Ford Foundation.

Eastland told him: "I'll guarantee that you'll not do any more 'bugging' after Congress has passed some legislation."

The Hamilton, Grand River, Dexter and Plymouth Express Lines already operate on the expressways.

TV Viewers to See Last Miranda Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television viewers will see the last performance of Carmen Miranda, filmed the night before she died, on the NBC Jimmy Durante Show next Saturday night.

A preview of the show yesterday indicated that the fiery Brazilian entertainer was as vivacious as ever except that during one strenuous dance number she fell to her knees, then jokingly complained that she had lost her breath. But she finished the number.

She finished the show about 10 o'clock the night of Aug. 4, went home to a party for friends and was found dead of a heart attack the next morning. Producer William Harmon said Durante had planned to abandon the show but changed his mind on request of Miss Miranda's family and fans.

Family Parted by Wrong Turn in New Mexico

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Somebody, it seems, made the wrong turn in New Mexico so it took the police here to reunite a family from Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Oval Manning reported it local officers first. She said she was driving the family car with her 10-month-old son Paul to Los Angeles. She was following her husband Hood, who was driving a pickup truck with a house trailer attached.

She stopped for gas near Las Cruces but the husband continued on, expecting his wife to catch up. Before she could, however, she came to an intersection where four roads branched. She took the wrong one.

Shortly after she called police, they received a call from Manning wondering if they had any information about his wife. The family was quickly united.

Newark Police Are Nice, They Return Courtesy

NEWARK, N. J. (INS)—A personal rift between cabbie Thomas G. Hornby and Newark police has been healed.

Hornby was disturbed a few weeks ago when he was held for five hours as a material witness after helping capture two thugs. Threatened with armed assault yesterday, he was rescued by the cops and allowed to go straight home.

Someone else was held as the material witness.

New York Subways

The Chancellor has turned over his duties to Vice Chancellor Franz Blumberg. Government officials said he probably will require a long convalescence.

Lydia Thompson's Body Found 10 Years Ago Today

County's Most Baffling Murder Still Unsolved

Ten years ago today the mutilated body of Mrs. Lydia Thompson was found in a woods just off Shindler Road in Springfield Township. The day was a Saturday, a mild, pleasant day such as have marked the early part of October this year.

A trio of Detroiters, seeking wild-growing mushrooms, made the gruesome find. The discovery was made Saturday forenoon and not until the following Monday was the victim's identity established.

Then began to unfold one of the most baffling and amazing murder mysteries on record in this area.

Today the crime appears as far from solution as it was that Saturday morning ten years ago.

Failure of the victim to keep an appointment with friends in Detroit over the weekend aroused their suspicion when they read newspaper accounts of the crime. They came to Pontiac and made the identification.

About the same time her car was located in a Pontiac parking lot. The attendant said it was not there Thursday night; was there Friday morning, indicating she probably had been killed two days before her body was found.

Discovery of her car indicated that she was taken to the lonely Springfield township woods; condition of the clothing and body fairly well establishes that the murder was committed elsewhere.

The woman's head had been almost severed by a deep slash on the neck; there were many wounds, including puncture wounds on the body which some investigators believe followed a recognizable pattern. Little blood was found in the vicinity and practically none on her clothing. Just how the wounds were inflicted is largely speculation: the murder weapon has never been found.

Lydia Thompson was the wife of Louis V. Thompson, who operated an automobile agency in Highland Park. She operated a laundry in the same city, and they

Holdup Men Foiled in Robbery Attempt

CLEVELAND (AP)—Masked with handkerchiefs, their guns drawn, two men strode last night into Jack's Lounge Bar where 130 people were enjoying a private clam-bake and uttered the usual threats.

What happened next was enough to make any good bandit blush with shame.

Mrs. Ollie Londraville, wife of the owner, banged them in the face with a swinging door. They fired a shot or two, but the marauders went right on eating clams. They found the cash register, but it was blocked by a portable bar. Mrs. Londraville's husband, Ray, produced a pistol of his own and they fled in a car.

A-War in Germany Testing NATO Defenses

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—More than 100,000 American and French fighting men opened an atomic war game in east Germany today to test NATO's strategy along the Iron Curtain.

Long John rockets, Corporal guided missiles and 280 mm. cannon were thrown into the mock action from U. S. arsenals on the Rhine in the maneuver which will continue until Oct. 17.

had lived in an ultra-modern home on the east shore of Orchard Lake. The investigation revealed that they had been estranged for several months and he had been living in an apartment near his auto agency. He said he last saw Lydia early in the week of the crime.

Thompson and Lydia had been married in Constantinople following World War I. Lydia, Russian born, met Thompson while he was stationed with the British Army in Turkey.

Her Russian ancestry added additional mystery to the case. It was learned that she often sent parcels to Russia; presumably to relatives, but no positive record was found.

During the probe an elderly Russian, Andrew Shevchenko turned up and said he was Lydia's father. Her husband said he had never met him. Later, contact with sources in Russia verified his claim. But he shed little light on the motive, manner or place of the crime or on who might have murdered his daughter.

Many unusual phases of the mystery remain unsolved.

Heavy deposits and withdrawals in her personal bank account were unexplained; a gun which she bought some months before her death after obtaining a permit was found tucked away in her home still unwrapped; a handkerchief containing cosmetics was found under a refrigerator in her home by Thompson several months after her death. Whether these items were there when the house was thoroughly searched immediately after the crime is not known.

Notes in her handwriting found in the home instructing that certain people in Detroit be contacted if anything happened to her led nowhere.

The individuals mentioned appeared to have no knowledge of what might have happened.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies and detectives, under then Sheriff Edward K. Thomas conducted the early investigation. Later Donald S. Leonard, then a state police captain, was invited to take charge of the probe. The troopers established a special office in the Oakland County jail and from there hundreds of tips and leads were probed; all to no avail.

Thompson and Mrs. Helen Budnik, his former secretary were questioned early in the investigation, but their alibis were accepted and they were not held.

In March of 1947 a labor racket grand jury in Wayne County, being conducted by Circuit Judge George B. Murphy, came across information which appeared to bear on the unsolved murder.

Judge Murphy announced the grand jury was investigating the killing and indictments were returned against Thompson, Helen Budnik (who now had become Mrs. Thompson) and Stanley Anculewicz, of Berkley, but all were soon absolved of any guilt.

The case went to trial before Circuit Judge Neal Fitzgerald, but after some testimony the court dismissed the charge against Thompson and his second wife, after Anculewicz earlier had been cleared. Thus another lead proved unfounded, as had so many in earlier months.

And there the case still rests, and passing time throws an additional haze over the conflicting and baffling record of Lydia Thompson's activities in the months just before her death.

With each year solution of the mystery grows more unlikely.

Both Parties Eye Farm Belt Vote

By ROGER D. GREENE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Heavy skirmishing has already broken out in the battle for the nation's big "farm belt" vote in 1956. And from now on the din of oratorical cannonading may be expected to grow steadily louder.

The stakes are high. If either party could sweep the 16-state farm vote, as the Republicans did in 1952, it would latch onto a prize package of 170 electoral votes—roughly two-thirds of the 266 total needed to capture the presidential election.

That's why Democratic leaders are pounding away on the theme that if their party wins the White House, it will give the farmer a better shake than he has been getting under the GOP administration of President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Republican bigwigs, in turn, are saying that the farmer's troubles began in the Truman administration, and they are promising that legislation to give farm income a boost will be ready when Congress returns to Washington in January.

Although traditionally regarded as Republican, as the accompanying maps show the farm vote in the three elections before 1952 turned out to be a catch-as-catch-can affair, with the Republicans twice getting the short end of the stick.

In the 1940 election, when the late Franklin D. Roosevelt won his third term against Republican Wendell L. Wilkie, the Democrats snatched a margin of 104 to 74 electoral votes in the farm area.

In 1944, when Roosevelt beat Republican Thomas E. Dewey, the Republicans squeezed out a narrow farm-vote victory, 91 to 81. And in 1948, when Harry S. Truman again scuttled Dewey's presidential ambitions, the Democrats ran away with the farm vote, 112 to 54.

Eisenhower's landslide in 1952 bagged the farm belt's entire 170 electoral votes, but GOP leaders today privately concede they are in for a whole of a fight to come even close to repeating that performance.

Moreover, they gloomily acknowledge that Eisenhower's heart attack has put a heavy damper on their hopes of swinging a clean-cut farm victory in the Midwest.

Squeezed by falling farm income and the rising cost-of-living, farmers generally have tended to direct their fire at Secretary Benson rather than at Eisenhower personally.

Now, with Eisenhower perhaps deterred from running for re-election because of his health, many farmers who were swayed by Ike's personal popularity may decide that Democratic promises sound better.

"Even before the President's heart attack, Democratic chances were looking much higher all through the farm belt," said Ken-man, Michael J. Kirwan of the House Democratic Campaign Committee.

Democratic blasts at Secretary Benson have centered on the contention that while the rest of the economy is booming, nothing has been done to ease the pinch on farmers whose income has dropped steadily in recent years. Farm prices have sagged 15 per cent since early 1953.

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) says Benson is "still playing hop, skip and jump with the welfare of the American farmer" and is "trying to hypnotize the farmers into thinking they're well off."

The even-tempered Benson says he isn't happy about farm prices, either, and will have some "very specific" legislation proposals to lay before Congress early next year in an effort to help the nation's six million farmers.

"I think we are going to see some improvement in farm prices as we get a better balance between consumption and production in this country," the secretary said recently.

NEW OLD-TIMES — John E. Peters, retired farmer of Inman, Kan., steers the pint-sized reproduction of an old-time Rumley steam thrashing machine tractor which he made from scrap and junk. Coal is used to fire the boiler and with full steam up, the thrasher will move about four miles per hour. The whistle, governor, steering wheel and wheels were made from old tractor parts; the boiler from oilfield pipe; smokestack, coal and water bins from tin, and tires and belts from salvaged tires and tubes. Peter's hobby is making models of outdated farm machinery.

Family Law Shingles Date Back to 1790

FINCASTLE, Va. (U) — John James Allen has on his office wall the law certificates of his great-grandfather, his grandfather, his father and himself.

The oldest was made out in 1790 and the second in 1818. His great-grandfather's is especially interesting — he was president of the Virginia Supreme Court (1851-1865) and a Congressman.

Grandfather got his certificate in 1854. Father was the only one not named John James Allen.

Lobbies Plan All-Out Pressure Job on Old Age-Survivor Expansion Bill

(By Congressional Quarterly)
WASHINGTON—With dollars and cents on the line, pressure groups will lobby hard in 1956 on proposals to expand Social Security.

Senate hearings will be held in 1956 on a bill, passed overwhelmingly by the House in 1955, which would affect the pay checks and retirement plans of about 1.3 million Americans.

The House voted to pay Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits to totally and permanently disabled workers at age 50, to pay pensions to widows and other women at age 62, and to extend coverage to most of the occupations still excluded. Social Security taxes would be raised to buy the package.

Lobbyists have been pressing their arguments on senators in their home states, and rounding up grass roots support for their viewpoints.

First target: The Senate Finance Committee, which will decide if, when, and in what form the bill will reach the floor. Later all 96 senators will be fair game for buttonholers and letter-writers inspired by lobby representatives throughout the nation.

No special OASI benefits now are paid to disabled workers. They must wait until they're 65, like everyone else, before drawing pensions.

The Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) favors disability pensions, declaring that "there can be no serious question as to the reasonableness, need, and humanitarianism" of the proposal.

The American Federation of Labor (AFL) agrees, and the American Association of Social Workers says that disability insurance "has been tried and found sound." A means test would be "psychologically" unsound, the social workers say.

On the opposition side, the American Medical Assn. objects, saying the federal government would jump "firmly in the middle of medical practice" through supervision of disability certifications. AMA also fears that patients seeking disability certification would apply "pressures" on physicians.

And the powerful medical group contends disability payments "might undermine . . . rehabilitation."

The Chamber of Commerce of the U. S., the Life Insurance Assn. of America and the American Life Convention agree with AMA that training to earn a livelihood would help disabled workers more than pensions. And the insurance groups contend, pensions "would tend to become unemployment benefits" during depressions.

MOST INSURED
Reduction of the pension age of women from 65 to 62 would permit working women to retire early, shorten the widow's waiting period for survivors benefits, and increase retirement income for many male workers. Currently, a retired couple's pension is increased by 50 per cent if both spouses are 65. Eligibility for women at 62 would encourage a worker to retire at 65 even if his wife were a few years younger.

More than 50 per cent of the working population is insured by OASI. The pending bill would extend coverage to about 250,000 of those still excluded—mainly self-employed professionals. Only self-employed physicians, of all the major professions would stay out of the system.

Physicians were excluded at the insistence of AMA. Other professional groups also opposed coverage of their members, but failed to convince the House.

The American Dental Assn., as well as AMA, stands against coverage. A dissident wing of the dental group, the Congress of American Dentists for OASI, has been trying to upset this policy. And a minor medical organization, Physicians Forum favors compulsory coverage. . . . Farmers, too, are split. The American Farm Bureau Federation wants Congress to reverse its 1954 action in voting for compulsory coverage of farm operators, and wants to tighten the standards for covering farm laborers. The National Farmers Union favors compulsory farm coverage.

Troubled France Faces Its Toughest Year

By PRESTON GROVER
PARIS (U-P)—France faces one of the toughest years of its postwar history—its house politically divided, strikes spreading, its soldiers sometimes mutinous, its budget balanced by foreign aid, and a small war on its hands.

It would seem enough to discourage even a country long used to discouraging situations. But if there is any public evidence of discouragement it is hard to see. France's annual automobile show is perhaps the most eagerly attended ever, with special emphasis on French cars. The Paris theater season is booming, having started off with "L'Amour Fou" (Mad With Love), the comic story of a high-level man falling for a second-level dame.

PRODUCTION INCREASES
Paris is so full of automobiles—for the most part of French make—that traffic movement has become well nigh impossible. French production is increasing and the export position improving. All these showy things point to an economy which is normally rich enough to survive long periods of bad times.

France had one of her most severe rebuffs when the United Nations overrode her protests and inscribed the Algerian problem on the list of subjects for debate this session. It came at a time when many Frenchmen thought they were doing not too badly on the North African front. They had this year given a large degree of home rule to Tunisia. After many a fumble, they had indicated a disposition to do the same for Morocco. These two countries are "protectorates," where France technically is only a protective foreign power, although in fact she has run both countries.

ALGERIA IS TROUBLE
Algeria is a different kettle of fish, and it is for this reason, the French are so bitter. France was taken away from the Turks in 1830 and there was no local government there to be "protected." Algeria was annexed. It became to France somewhat like the Louisiana Purchase to the United States. Her soldiers subdued it, her explorers traced out every stream and gully, and finally her farmers and investors went in.

Some of France's correspondents, particularly those writing in New York, thought perhaps France went a little too far in pulling its delegation out of the U.N. Assembly. But there was no similar reaction in the home offices of French papers. With the exception of the Communist papers, they approved the walkout.

U. S. CRITICIZED
Moreover, there was some criticism of the role played by the United States in the U.N. France's correspondent wrote, "The French delegation walked away

UAW Denies Charge of Coercing Schools

DETROIT (U-P)—A CIO official has denied his organization is seeking control of public schools but said he CIO hopes to intensify its activities in the educational field.

Brendan Sexton, education director for the CIO United Auto Workers, told the Detroit board of Education that the UAW soon will demand an investigation into what he called attempts by business and industry groups to influence thinking in schools.

Miss Ruth Winter, a Detroit high school teacher, charged recently that the CIO is trying to gain control of public schools. She said the "serve-our-schools committee," a parent group, is a tool of the CIO.

Sexton said there is no connection between that committee and the CIO, although the two groups "almost always" support the same school board candidates. He accused the three Detroit newspapers of prejudice in the dispute.

"Labor is always held guilty by all Detroit newspapers until long after proven innocent," he said.

Expert observers estimate that traffic jams in New York City cost motorists about $25,000,000 a year in wasted gasoline, on which tax revenue to the State totals some $3,000,000.

from Cabot Lodge for having made a speech too soft" in opposing the vote on Algeria.

While North Africa is France's most dramatic problem—what with a small-scale war going on in the dangerous Riff country—there are other problems.

Pierre Poujade, leader of a tax strike by small merchants, has a following troublesome to any government, even though he is being sued for inciting nonpayment of taxes.

PRICES CLIMB

Two groups of reserves, called up for North African duty, mutilated briefly.

Prices are climbing with consequent labor unhappiness reflected in strikes, especially in heavy industry.

On top of that, France's age-old trouble of an unstable central government continues to plague the country. Only by the most skillful maneuvering did Premier Edgar Faure avoid being thrown out of office last weekend. And he faced immediately a new and tough hurdle—debate over Algeria. Surviving that will only bring him face to face with economic problems, any one of which could be used as a device for unseating him.

Telephone Amplifier Aids Hard of Hearing

CHICAGO (INS)—A portable telephone amplifier to aid the hard of hearing has been exhibited in Chicago.

The pocket-size amplifier clips on any telephone receiver and operates automatically without any electrical hookup. It not only amplifies speech but cuts out background noises, a feature which makes it useful for noisy connections and overseas calls as well as routine calls for the hard-of-hearing.

The amplifier was exhibited this week at the Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology by Remler Co., Ltd., of San Francisco, which spent two years developing.

The device is powered by two batteries no bigger than dimes and three tiny transistors. It operates as soon as clipped on the receiver though magnetic induction and a special circuit shuts out disturbances created by electrical circuits and appliances.

Production of bituminous coal in 1954 was 392 million tons. This is about 2.5 tons for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Wilson Foresees Warning System

Defense Head Believes Unified Air Networks Will Be Evolved

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today he believes a unified air warning command will be worked out to improve Europe's defenses against bombing attack.

Wilson, returning from the North Atlantic Treaty Defense Ministers' meeting in Paris, said the new setup probably will not be a combat command but that it will at least integrate radar and other warning systems.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, recently described lack of coordination in warning systems as "Europe's greatest single weakness."

Wilson said on his arrival at Washington National Airport that the defense ministers were not alarmed by any of the reports they received in Paris.

BE A GOOD THING

The defense secretary added: "I don't think Gruenther had in mind a new combat command, but rather a unification of warning systems such as America and Canada already have achieved."

"I think we will work out something along that line, and believe it will be a good thing."

Asked whether the NATO representatives were alarmed by "scare stories at the meeting," Wilson said flatly "the defense ministers were not scared. On the other hand, it's a good thing to have such meetings and let the military people state their problems."

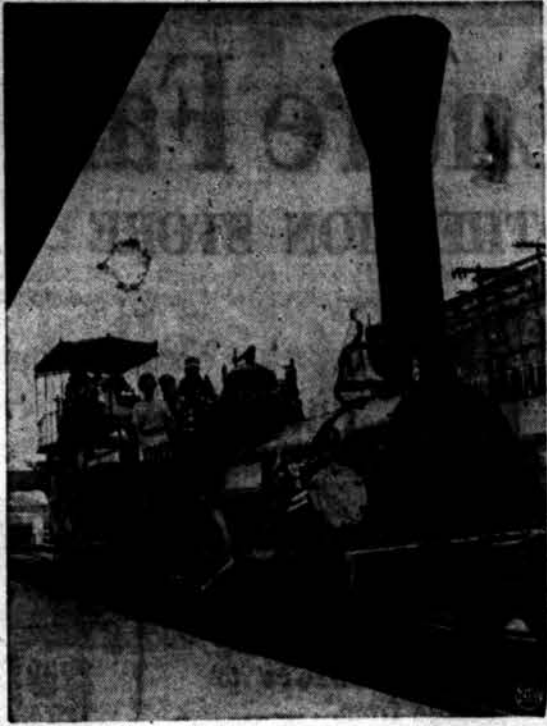

MUST FIND BALANCE

Commenting on Britain's decision to reduce its armed forces by 12 and one-half per cent over the next three years, Wilson said every nation faces the problem of striking a balance between numbers of men and radical new weapons which would make fewer men more effective.

Told that British Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery had advocated unification of air power and eventually complete unification of all military services, Wilson said: "I think Montgomery is overstating the problem in order to make progress in the right direction."

Texas Synod Integrates

ABILENE, Tex. (UP)—The Texas Synod of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., has voted to operate as an integrated synod—allowing Negro churches to membership. The synod includes Louisiana and Texas.

WELL STACKED—Members of the National Model Railroad Association, convening in Baltimore, Md., ride on the famous "Lafayette" locomotive of 1837, which is pulling an "Inlay" coach of the same era. The "armchair railroaders" were treated to a day of real-life railroading, past and present, by the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference.

Biggest Jet Plane Order Placed by Pan American

NEW YORK (UP)—The biggest contract by an American company for purchase of jet transport planes was announced today by Pan American World Airways.

Juan T. Trippe, president of the firm, said the board of directors have approved the purchase of 269 million dollars worth of jet transports from Boeing Airplane Co.

Leonard Refineries Gets OK on Two Purchases

NEW YORK (UP)—Stockholders of Leonard Refineries, Inc., of Alma, Mich., have approved an agreement for the purchase of the business and properties of Mid-West Refineries, Inc., and Roosevelt Oil & Refining Co.

Leonard President Reid Brazill, announcing this yesterday, said "it is contemplated that the purchase will be completed Nov. 30 through exchange of stock. Leonard plans to make application for the listing of its common stock on the American Stock Exchange."

Fabricated metal products are made by more than 16,000 U. S. factories.

U.S. Worried by Arms Deals

Security Council Will Discuss Red Shipments to Middle East

WASHINGTON (UP)—The explosive problem of Communist arms shipments to the tense Middle East is becoming an issue of growing urgency to the United States and its Western allies.

It was expected to get top-level consideration at a meeting today of the National Security Council, the nation's highest policy planning body.

The problem will also be brought up at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva starting Oct. 27.

Diplomatic informants reported the Western ministers would discuss it with Russia's V. M. Molotov outside the conference room. It won't be on the formal agenda.

When Western leaders asked Molotov about it in New York some two weeks ago, he said he knew nothing about Czechoslovakia's reported plans, since partially confirmed, to ship tanks, artillery, jet planes and naval vessels to Egypt in return for Egyptian cotton.

He promised to look into the matter. At Geneva the West reportedly will try to learn what he found out about Russia's attitude and plans for the arms delivery. The Western Powers also will stress again the dangers that could develop from the shipments.

Cab Driver Robbed by Two Passengers

Two men, one armed with a revolver, held up a taxicab driver last night and escaped with about $20, Pontiac Police reported.

This was the third such robbery in three days. The victim, C. W. Donigan, of 313 Orchard Lake Ave., told detectives the pair got into his cab on Howard McNeil Street at about 11 p.m.

One, described as stocky and wearing a light brown sport coat and dark trousers, pointed a .38-caliber, blue steel revolver at Donigan and demanded his wallet.

The other man was described as 25 years old, about 175 pounds and five feet 11 inches tall. He was wearing a light gray suit and a light colored felt hat, Donigan said.

The Netherlands plans to spend $3,750,000 in construction of 10 airfields.

Ex-Arbor Doctor Dies on Hospital Stairs

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Dr. Martha Usher, 26, a resident physician at Children's Hospital, died yesterday.

She collapsed on a stairway at the hospital and was found dead by other members of the staff. Dr. Usher was a former resident of Ann Arbor. Her husband, Dr. Robert Howard Usher, also is a resident at Children's Hospital.

It would require 1.9 million rail-way freight cars to transport the U. S. lumber output for one year.

Pesky San Juan Rabbit

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—The time is coming when you won't find hide nor hare of the San Juan rabbit in the U. S. A.

Pennsylvania has just joined the list of states banning the importation of Peter Rabbit's big cousin Pedro because of his bad habits and a fatal weakness. The San Juan rabbit not only is hard on the farmer's crops but his nocturnal digging encourages erosion. And worst of all, like European rabbits he's subject to myxomatosis, the dread virus that has virtually cleared western Europe of hares.

Chou Will Free All Americans

Red Chinese Premier Asserts U.S. Internees Have Been Notified

WASHINGTON (AP)—Red China's Premier Chou En-lai was reported today to have told the British at Peking that all Americans inside China have been notified they have a right to leave.

That goes beyond a Peking radio broadcast which said yesterday that 47 Americans were free to leave but 19 others had criminal accusations against them.

SEE PAVN MOVE
The broadcast said the cases of the 19 were being examined "one by one according to Chinese legal procedure," and the results would be reported to Chou En-lai, the British charge d'affaires acting as U.S. representative in Peking in the absence of U.S. recognition of Red China.

Some U.S. officials professed to see in that announcement the possibility the Chinese Communists still may be trying to use the 19 jailed Americans as pawns in the repatriation talks under way since Aug. 1 at Geneva.

If so, that would put the Red Chinese in the position of appearing to back out on their Sept. 10 agreement that Peking will "adopt appropriate measures so that (the Americans in China) can expeditiously exercise their right to return." The same agreement pledged Red China to give it "wide publicity" so the detained Americans would know their rights.

$591,124 Timber Sold Off State-Owned Lands

LANSING (AP)—A record $591,124 worth of timber was sold off state lands in the past fiscal year, the State Conservation Department said today.

This represented 87,922,000 board feet of lumber. A year ago, $474,000 worth of timber, 69,637,000 board feet, was cut.

MSU to Study Danger of Industrial Wastes

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University scientists hope to be able to say by next spring how much cadmium and chromium wastes can safely be dumped in public water supplies.

The university's governing body has accepted a $15,970 grant from the National Institute of Health to continue a study begun a year ago.

Swedish Girl to Reign

MUSKEGON (AP)—Anne-Christine Tergil, who arrived in Muskegon in August as an exchange student from Sweden, will preside Friday as homecoming queen at the Muskegon-Flint Northern High School football game. The petite blonde was selected in a popularity contest by fellow students.

Bond Buying This Year Reported Up 12 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Treasury says that Americans already have bought 12 per cent more savings bonds this year than during the record peacetime year of 1954.

Combined sales of Series E and H bonds came to four billion 144 million dollars. After redemptions, the outstanding excess from sales was 592 million dollars.

Americans now own E and H bonds worth 39 billion 700 million dollars, an all-time record. Of this amount, about 37 billion 300 million is in Series E bonds.

Pushes Polish Bid for Seat in Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia was slated to add her voice today to Communist warnings that improving East-West relations will turn for the worse if Poland doesn't get a seat on the U.N. Security Council.

Russian Delegate V. V. Kuznetsov called a news conference for this afternoon in a determined effort to push Poland's bid for the seat sought also by the U.S.-backed Philippines.

The General Assembly will vote tomorrow to fill the seat on the 11-nation council now held by Turkey.

Poland's Juliusz Katz-suchy told newsmen yesterday that defeat of Poland would impair the Geneva spirit and touch off resentment in Eastern Europe.

U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. quickly retorted that Poland had done little toward helping international peace that would qualify her for a council seat.

Detroit Doctor Renews Income Tax Fraud Fight

DETROIT (INS)—Dr. Raymond A. Biggs, a Detroit osteopathic surgeon, has renewed his fight against an $80,000 income tax fraud.

The battle, carried to the U.S. Supreme Court and remanded for a further hearing, is to suppress evidence on the grounds Dr. Biggs surrendered his records in the belief only civil action was contemplated.

Building Dedicated

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—More than 800 persons attended the dedication Tuesday of the $1,250,000 Aquinas College administration building. The Most Rev. Allen J. Babcock, bishop of the Roman Catholic Grand Rapids Diocese, performed the formal blessing ceremony and delivered the dedicatory address.

Held in Moonshining

DETROIT (INS)—A 78-year-old Detroit resident is being held for investigation of a federal moonshining charge. A 300-gallon still and 15 barrels of mash were seized at the home of Willie Fenel by Internal Revenue agents yesterday.

She Plans Lunch for Hundreds

For 27 years she has fed Pontiac youngsters their school lunches. She's working on the second generation now.

Mrs. Annie Lee, head of the Pontiac High School cafeteria, is the second oldest lunchroom employee in the city's schools, in terms of years worked.

It takes a little persuasion to get Mrs. Lee to talk about herself. She's willing to let the work she does speak for itself.

Before 1928 only Pontiac High School and Eastern Junior High had a school lunchroom. During that year Mrs. Lee substituted a couple of hours a day at Eastern. In October of 1929 she went to the then brand-new Washington

Junior High and opened its new cafeteria.

Seven years later she came to the high school as the dining room manager. Since 1938 she has been manager of the entire cafeteria. For four years she planned menus and did the buying for all the Pontiac schools.

BUSY SCHEDULE

What does a school lunchroom manager do during the 9-10 hours a day she's on the job? If there is to be a big extra dinner that evening, she gets to school at 6 in the morning to start baking cakes. She plans each day's menus, does all the buying, pays all the bills. She hires her help. She is general supervisor.

For a number of years now, school lunch programs have received surplus foods from the government. This is a help to the budget, but it means hours of extra book work for the manager.

At times it even means counting the number of extra bottles of milk sold in addition to those on the day's special plate. It means finding ways to use exorbitant amounts of some foods. One can get too much peanut butter, you know.

How many hungry students is Mrs. Lee responsible for feeding each day? It depends on the weather, the season of the year and the financial state of the group.

A bright sunny day may mean only some 600 plate lunches rung up on the cash register. A rainy or snowy day may skyrocket that number to over a thousand. Those are the days when her helpers just keep on making sandwiches for hours.

KNOWS TEEN TASTES

By now, Mrs. Lee knows pretty well what teenagers will eat and what they turn their noses up at. If she weren't a conscientious person, she could make money by serving hot dogs, hamburgers and barbecues every day in the week. Instead, she tries to give the students a balanced diet and more interesting food.

Some years ago the school cafeteria stopped selling candy, potato chips and soft drinks. Mrs. Lee caters to adolescents' sweet teeth with cakes and pies made fresh daily, with ice cream, puddings and cookies. Thanks to government surplus, all the cakes are made with butter.

We asked if there was any dish that the students definitely did not like. "They won't eat Spanish Rice unless we serve ice cream for dessert or put a hot dog on the plate."

Some boys like the school lunches so well that they eat two every day. Mrs. Lee told about one big football player last year who always took two lunches and occasionally came back for the third.

It looks as if Mrs. Lee has helped influence the good eating habits of the younger generation. Students eat differently now. Mrs. Lee says, than they did even five years ago. "We used to make salads only for the adults who ate with us. Boys wouldn't be changed now. Everyone eats caught dead taking a salad. That's salad."

Enrich Canned Soups

Enrich canned soups with instant powdered cream. After the can of soup is hot, add a couple of tablespoons of instant cream and it will dissolve immediately. Homemakers find that it gives body and flavor to many types of soup.

Four cornbread batter into a greased ring mold. Bake and fill the ring with creamed ham or creamed luncheon loaf.

Frosting for Hot Rolls

Hot rolls take no frosting. Make the topping this way: Mix one cup of confectioners' sugar with a couple of tablespoons of orange juice and a teaspoon of grated orange rind.

Make Salami of Duckling With Leftovers of Roast

Most people enjoy tender Long Island duckling. The breast makes a succulent meal. An expert on duck cookery, Mabel Stegner, now of New York City, makes this suggestion:

The next time you wish to serve roast duck, why not roast two meaty Long Island ducklings, then serve just the breast portions? Save the leftovers to make delicious dishes like this salami of duck.

Salami of Duckling

2 cups duck broth
1/2 cup groundnut
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons thyme
2 tablespoons duck fat
1/2 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
1/2 cup sliced onion
2 cups sliced cooked duck
1/2 cup sliced cooked young turnip

To make duck broth, cook duck giblets and neck in 2 cups boiling salted water with a stalk of celery and an onion stuck with cloves until giblets are tender, about 45 minutes. Strain off broth. Pour off any fat. Add water to make 2 cups broth if necessary.

Blend together the duck broth, starch and seasonings. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Place 3 tablespoons fat, using duck fat if desired, in 9-inch frying pan over moderate heat.

Stir in kitchen-bouquet. Add onion and turnip. Cook about five minutes, stirring frequently. Add cooked sauce and the duck meat. Heat thoroughly, then serve. Serves four.

To thaw quick frozen ducklings, allow 24 hours in the refrigerator or 12 hours at room temperature.

Grow Basil in Kitchen, Use in Salads, Soups

Grow basil in a pot on your kitchen window. Keep the soil moist and pinch off the small leaves so the herb will "spread." Basil is, of course, a must for tomato sauce; it is also delectable in green salads and in vegetable soups. If you use it in the soup, mince it and add at the moment before serving.

Refrigerate Eggs to Protect Quality

Buy eggs from refrigerated counters, and keep their quality by putting directly into your refrigerator.

High temperatures or too long a cooking time will toughen eggs. Use a low to moderate heat and cook only until done. Eggs are naturally tender — treat them so.

Shell color does not affect flavor, the nutritive value, or the cooking of eggs. Neither is it a guide to yolk color.

Small eggs have the same food value in proportion as large eggs. The best protein available, and a wealth of vitamins and minerals are inside their shells.

Potatoes Are Plentiful and Cheaper This Year

Michigan has lots of potatoes this year! The supply is one of the largest in history and the quality is very good — much improved over last year. With such quantities available, potato prices are so low that they are a real budget-stretcher for the homemaker.

They can be served at any meal — breakfast, lunch or dinner! They are not necessarily fattening — it's only what you put on the potatoes that adds calories!

Being brittle enough to snap easily is a sign of good quality potatoes.

Try Variations of Soup Mixes

Small scholars tackling the problems of reading, riting and rithmetic for the first time seem to develop enormous appetites which they bring home with them at lunchtime.

To satisfy their appetites, soup, sandwiches, fresh fruit and a beverage serve as a good basic pattern that can be worked out with infinite variety.

A bowl of soup provides the necessary hot dish for a nutritionally sound lunch. With the easily prepared, thrifty packaged soup mixes available, serving a soup each day is an easy matter.

Soup mixes can be varied, too. For example, the tomato vegetable soup can be easily turned into cream of vegetable soup by adding a cup of thin white sauce.

Here, for example, is a nourishing meal youngsters will go for. This is a meal that has good nutritional value and one that will even tempt a finicky appetite:

1/2 cup chicken noodle soup made from soup mix.
Peanut butter and jelly sandwich cut in shape of gingerbread man with cookie cutter.
Deviled eggs.
Fresh orange slices with snowy white coconut.

For the busy mother who must feed children on schedule it is a good idea to use as many short cuts as possible. Keeping handy soup mixes on the pantry shelf and preparing sandwich spreads ahead in quantity are two helpful hints.

Prune-Orange Whip Uses Egg Whites

Use up those leftover egg whites in this simple dessert.

Prune-Orange Whip
2 egg whites
Dash of salt
1/2 cup sugar
1 jar (8 ounces) junior-food prunes
1/2 cup heavy cream
Grated rind of one orange (about 1 1/2 teaspoons)
Membrane free orange sections of 2 oranges.

Beat egg whites and salt until peaks that curl over slightly are formed; gradually and thoroughly beat in sugar. Without washing beater, beat cream until stiff enough to hold a peak.

Fold prunes and grated orange rind into beaten egg whites; fold in whipped cream. Turn into sherbet glasses.

Vital Vitamin C Can Be Found in Citrus Fruits

Did you know:
That citrus fruits are America's No. 1 source of vitamin C.

That scurvy—caused by lack of vitamin C—didn't disappear with the sailing vessel. It's 10 times as common as people thought, according to a study at one of the nation's largest hospitals.

That for every case of frank scurvy, there are scores of cases of milder vitamin C deficiencies which still impair health and vitality.

That the diet every day must contain Vitamin C, because very little can be stored in the body. Oranges, grapefruit and tangerines are all excellent sources.

That three animal species—man, monkey and the guinea pig—must get their vitamin C in their food. Most other animals manufacture the vitamin in their own bodies.

Horseradish Dressing

Creamy horseradish dressing is an added treat on hot and cold meats. To make it, blend two tablespoons of drained, prepared horseradish with one cup of commercially soured cream.

BUTTERMILK COFFEE CAKE — Served hot from the oven, or as is, this spicy buttermilk coffee cake will call for second helpings. For the children be sure to serve tall, cold glasses of milk to add to the taste enjoyment. For adults, there's nothing better than a cup of steaming coffee.

Buttermilk Coffee Cake Means Better Breakfast

Is there a better breakfast surprise for your family than good coffee cake?

Cinnamon buttermilk coffee cake is just as welcome as a snack, or as dessert with a dish of applesauce or other fruit.

The batter is easy to mix even if you're inexperienced at baking. Three-fourths cup of the brown sugar, flour and butter mixture made up in the first step is set aside for a crumb topping. Chopped nuts are added to give the topping a crunchy texture.

Buttermilk is the ingredient that results in this coffee cake being especially light and tender.

A healthful dairy product, buttermilk is prepared from fresh milk. The addition of cultures causes fermentation, and lactic acid thus produced sours the milk. Buttermilk is easily digestible because the milk casein has been broken up.

Except for fat which is absent when skim milk is used in preparation, buttermilk contains all of the body-building materials found in milk.

Once you get in the buttermilk habit, you'll find many interesting ways to use this food. Besides being a delightful beverage, buttermilk is good in salad dressings and sauces, main dishes, breads and other baked goods, and desserts.

Cinnamon Buttermilk Coffee Cake
2 cups sifted flour
3 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sifted flour
1 egg
1 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Mix flour and brown sugar. Cut butter in until the mixture resembles coarse meal. Set aside three-fourths cup of this mixture to be used for topping. To remaining flour mixture, add the one-third cup flour. Mix well. Then add egg, buttermilk, soda and cinnamon.

Mix only until dry ingredients are well moistened. Pour into a buttered 9-inch square pan. Mix the three-fourths cup sugar mixture that was set aside and the chopped nuts and sprinkle over the top.

Bake in a 325 degree oven for

Here's How to Learn if Plums Are Prunes

All fresh plums are plums, but all plums aren't prunes! Only those varieties of plums that can be dried without removal of the pits, and without fermenting, are called prunes.

You can tell whether a plum is really a ripe fresh prune this way: It can be easily separated from its pit. A plum that is not a fresh prune clings closely to its pit.

Applesauce Loaf Has Crunchy Top

Serve this cake warm for dessert tonight. Put slices of it in the children's lunchboxes too.

Applesauce Loaf With Nut-Crunch Topping

1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup soft shortening
2 eggs
1 cup applesauce
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Mix sugar, shortening, and eggs thoroughly. Stir in applesauce. Add sifted dry ingredients. Blend in nuts. Pour into well-greased loaf pan. Cover with one-third cup brown sugar, one-half teaspoon cinnamon and one-third cup chopped nuts.

Let stand 20 minutes before baking. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes.

Finger Foods Useful in Breaking Party Ice

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Foods you can eat with your fingers can help "break the ice" at parties. There's something about using your fingers that adds an air of informality and casualness.

Aside from the usual pretzels and potato chip type of snack, why not put out some seedless grapes. The gay color will add to the party atmosphere, and while they are eaten with the fingers, it's not a messy process.

Include Soup in Lunch

Junior's face will light up with glee if he finds a surprise in every lunchbox. One "surprise" that'll please him every time... a vacuum bottle of hot soup. It can be a different soup each day, from the many kinds in handy cans. Garnish each with some yummy tidbit: Little brown meatballs in tomato soup. Chunks of hot dog in vegetable soup. Bits of cooked bacon in chicken noodle or beef noodle.

'Pumpkins' Atop Soup

"Hooray for Halloween," say the kids when they find cheese pumpkins floating atop their tomato soup. To make this garnish, simply cut little rounds from thin slices of orange cheese. Cut eyes and a mouth in each cheese round too—for a funny face. Float each tomato soup. This will tickle the "pumpkin" on a big bowl of hot kids.

Broil Chicken in Orange Juice

The latest glad word from the Department of Agriculture is that many of our favorite foods are now in good supply, including fresh-frozen orange juice and broilers. So we have a chicken dish coming up — chicken broiled with fresh-frozen orange concentrate, simple to fix and very good eating.

Select your chicken carefully. It should be plump and in the first blush of youth, about 8 to 12 weeks old. Of course, chickens don't come with an age tag on, but weight is a good indication — a good young broiler usually weighs from 1 to 2½ pounds.

If you prefer chicken parts, these can be substituted for broilers, but for best results be sure the parts are from young, spring chickens. Before cooking, wash and wipe dry. Brush generously with melted butter or margarine then add seasoning.

For ordinary broiling you would place the chicken about 4 inches from the source of heat. With this special sauce, however, you'll get 6 inches.

Broiled Chicken With Orange Sauce
3 broiling chickens, split in half (or equivalent chicken parts)
¼ cup melted butter or margarine, melted
1 teaspoon powdered ginger

ORANGE BROILING SAUCE — Chicken With a Gourmet Touch might be the title of this picture. From a famous frozen food test kitchen comes this recipe for broiling chickens with an orange juice and ginger sauce. Broilers are preferable, but chicken parts may be used.

½ teaspoon salt
1 can (8 ounces) frozen orange juice—thawed and undiluted
3 tablespoons water

Brush chicken with melted butter or margarine. Place skin side down in broiling pan and sprinkle with one-fourth teaspoon powdered ginger and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Broil under moderate heat until golden brown, then turn and sprinkle with remaining ginger and salt.

Four frozen orange juice into small pitcher. Rinse can with 2 tablespoons water and stir into concentrate. Pour concentrate over chicken and continue to broil.

Baste frequently with orange juice concentrate and broil, skin side up, until flesh is tender. Small broilers or parts require about 30 minutes to cook, larger chickens 40-50 minutes. Serves four.

Less Fattening Cream

Instant powdered cream is less fattening. One serving for coffee contains only 12 to 15 calories. One serving of coffee cream contains 25 to 30 calories.

Butter-Flavored Carrots Will Pique Family Interest

Carrots go modern in this butter-baked version.

With carrots, as with other vegetables, you may find it necessary sometimes to pique your family's interest in them.

After all, the average American eats about 50 per cent more fresh vegetables every year than his grandfather did. So no matter how well a person likes vegetables, his taste demands their being in different dress now and then.

Butter-baked carrots are a hearty dish. You'll find they fit in especially well for dinner when you're serving two vegetables but no potatoes.

The magic, delicate flavor of butter goes all through, from the bread crumbs on top to every strip of carrot.

This is accomplished by using butter in the sauce which is made from the liquid remaining after the carrots are cooked.

Modern Cooks Turn to Powdered Cream

Modern housewives, used to small kitchens and rising food costs, are turning to powdered cream for the modern way of creaming their coffee.

Made from 100 per cent dairy products, the new instant cream saves needed space — by requiring no refrigeration — and costs approximately one-third less.

And, also, butter is mixed with the bread crumbs.

Then, by baking the dish in a moderate oven, the good flavor of butter blends completely with the other ingredients.

Small amounts of chopped onion and celery add a bit of punchiness that pleases the palate.

Butter-Baked Carrots

6-7 medium sized carrots
¼ cup water
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups liquid (carrot liquid plus milk)
1½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
3 tablespoons butter, melted

Cook carrots in three-fourths cup of water until tender, about 15-20 minutes. Drain and save carrot liquid. Melt the one-fourth cup butter in saucepan. Sauté onion and celery until tender. Add flour, salt and pepper and mix well. Add carrot liquid and milk gradually.

Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is smooth and thick. Cut carrots in lengthwise strips and put them in a baking dish. Pour sauce over carrots.

Combine dry bread crumbs and melted butter, mixing well. Sprinkle over carrots. Bake in a pre-heated 350-degree oven for 20 minutes or until the crumbs are nicely browned. Serves six.

Ever add shredded coconut to waffle batter? Good! Serve with maple syrup or with curried creamed chicken and chutney.

Brown Nuts in Butter

Melt a couple of tablespoons of butter with a few slivered blanched almonds until the nuts are golden brown; serve over green asparagus (frozen or canned) or cooked fresh snap beans.

Spicy Molasses Is Served Hot

Three old favorites will make their appearance on your breakfast table often in the coming cool and cold days. Adults and children alike welcome French toast, waffles or pancakes on their plates, first thing in the morning.

It makes good sense, too, to start the family on a substantial breakfast, when you consider the energy they expend at school or the office.

Serve your favorite breakfast main dish . . . French toast, waffles, pancakes or what have you . . . with a jug of real New Orleans molasses for extra nourishment, extra flavor.

Molasses plain is mighty good—molasses spiced is good and different.

Spiced Molasses

Pour one or more cups molasses into saucepan for warming. Add a few whole cloves, piece stick cinnamon and a small piece lemon peel.

Simmer few minutes to blend flavors. Serve warm for pouring over waffles and the other main dishes.

Tulip-Shaped Bread Has Cinnamon Topping

Roll a slice of enriched yeast-raised bread with a rolling pin to one-eighth inch thickness. Trim the crusts with scissors. Brush both sides with melted margarine or butter. Sprinkle the top with a mixture of 2 teaspoons sugar and one-half teaspoon cinnamon.

Set in muffin pan or individual baking dish. With fingers, press the center edges of the bread toward the middle to make a tulip shape. Bake at 375 degrees (moderate oven) until lightly browned.

SPICED MOLASSES — With the tang of autumn in the air comes the urge for bigger and better breakfasts. The next time you serve French toast, waffles or pancakes have a pitcher of hot Spiced Molasses on the table. Watch your family's faces as they taste this fragrant topping.

Fix Baked Egg Cups for 2-in-1 Breakfast

Serve Baked Egg Cups, a two-in-one breakfast mainstay. A crisp slice of wholesome enriched bread from your bakery holds a tender baked egg sprinkled with nippy Parmesan cheese.

Trim the crusts from four slices of enriched bread. Press one slice gently into each well-greased muffin cup and brush with melted butter or margarine. Break an egg into the center of each slice of bread.

Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with 4 teaspoons grated Parmesan cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350) until the egg is set (about 15 minutes). Makes four servings.

Good Cracker Spread

Here's a good spread for crackers to pass along with tomato juice. Grind or finely chop cooked cleaned shrimp and mix with mayonnaise, lemon juice, chili sauce and curry powder. You can add a dash of Worcestershire sauce, too, if you like.

Michigan Apple Crop Ripens Early This Fall

Michigan apple varieties are about two weeks ahead of last year in maturity. The May freeze hit hard, cutting the potential state crop in half and leaving a very spotty condition of supply. However, the Michigan apple crop will actually be about the same as last year.

Wolf Rivers, Wealthys and Greenings were in the markets in ample supply, the McIntosh variety began to move in right after Labor Day, and the Jonathan and Red Delicious apples are now appearing in plentiful supply.

New filip for canned peaches: Add a little almond extract to the peach syrup, then chill peaches and syrup before serving.

Try Tomato Dressing

Ever add fresh tomato to mayonnaise or French dressing? Peel and seed a tomato, then chop fine before making the addition. Good over lettuce sprinkled with lots of minced chives or parsley.

Fruit Powder Flavors Punch

There isn't a child in the whole world who doesn't love a party, and there isn't a child who doesn't love a luscious party punch.

High on the list of top favorites is this fine recipe—so easy to prepare, so economical, too—made with a base of fruit-flavored soft drink powder.

This easy-to-use beverage mix costs but five cents a packet, and it blends deliciously with other flavors as in this recipe for Strawberry Supreme.

But, most important, this refreshing and good-to-drink party punch makes a party extra gay, extra festive. Serve it in a pretty bowl and let your tiny guests help themselves.

Strawberry Supreme
1 package strawberry soft drink powder
1 cup sugar
2 cups pineapple juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Water and ice cubes to make 2 quarts
Combine all ingredients. Stir until soft drink powder and sugar are dissolved. Makes 2½ quarts, or about 20 servings.

Cherry Chamer
1 package cherry soft drink powder
2 quarts cold water
2 to 1½ cups sugar
2 to 4 drops peppermint extract
Dissolve soft drink powder in water. Add sugar and mix well. Stir in peppermint extract. Add ice if desired. Makes 2 quarts.

Sunny Isle Cooler
1 package soft drink powder (any flavor)
2½ quarts water
1 cup sugar
1 can (10 ounces) quick-frozen concentrated lemonade, thawed
1 can (10 ounces) quick-frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed
1 can (10 ounces) pineapple juice
1 large bottle (2 or 2½ ounces) gingerale
Dissolve soft drink powder in water. Stir in sugar and fruit juices. Chill. Just before serving, add gingerale.
Serve with slices of banana or orange, pineapple wedges or strawberries. Makes 1½ gallons.

Lamb Chops Are Popular Broiling Meat

Lamb chops are popular broiling meat equally suited for indoor or outdoor grilling. Chops branded for quality take the guesswork out of buying so one can be sure to get satisfactory tenderness.

The T-bone loin chop rates first place in favor. It has the tenderloin portion, a temptingly tender morsel.

The rib chop is also a tender chop. Both the T-bone and rib chops are best when cut 1 to 2 inches thick.

The two shoulder chops, though less tender, may be broiled also, although some people prefer to broil the blade bone chop. The round bone shoulder chop is a fine meaty cut.

Lamb chops should be wrapped loosely. Keep in the coldest part of the refrigerator and use within three days or wrap for the freezer and freeze quickly.

For freezing, place the chops on a strip of waxed cardboard before wrapping, so that after freezing the chops may be separated easily to broil without prethawing.

Serve Pork Hocks in Brown Sauce

Pork hocks contain good-size nuggets of flavorful lean meat and taste better after long slow cooking in water. In this recipe for pork hocks, the cooking water is used in the sauce.

Pork Hocks in Brown Sauce
4 pork hocks
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons grated carrot
4 whole cloves
¼ cup fat
¼ cup flour
2 cups meat broth
Salt, pepper
Simmer hocks in water to cover 1½ to 2 hours, adding 1 teaspoon salt for each quart of water. When meat is tender, drain, reserving cooking water.

Skim hocks, if you wish and place in serving dish. Brown onion, carrot and cloves in melted fat. Blend in flour and cook, stirring constantly over low heat, until flour browns.

Gradually stir in 2 cups reserved cooking water, salt and pepper to taste. Cook, stirring until sauce is smooth and thickened.

Discard cloves; pour sauce over hocks before serving. Four servings.

Apple-Sausage Bake

For an appetizing autumn luncheon serve crisp, spicy red Jonathan apples baked with little pig sausages. Core the apples, peel down about 1 inch. Place three pig sausages in each apple cavity and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 45 minutes to 1 hour.

Coffee Keeps High Rating as Drink and Flavoring

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
Let's have a brief discussion about coffee. For millions of people it is a favorite beverage. Some unfortunates must shun it like poison. The latter might just as well stop reading right now; no point in tantalizing yourself.

Do you need a reminder about keeping your coffee pot absolutely clean? Remember that oil from the coffee collects on the sides of the pot and must be removed each time. An occasional boiling up with soda water will help.

Pan American Coffee Bureau gives these further directions for making good coffee. Use two level measuring tablespoons (or one Standard Coffee Measure) of coffee to each three-quarters of a measuring cup of fresh, cold water. Water drawn from the hot tap often gives coffee a flat taste; and if your water is softened, it may give it a more unpleasant taste. Let the coffee brew as long as directions for each kind say. NEVER LET COFFEE BOIL!

If you're an instant coffee fan, just ignore the above paragraph. However, you too must keep your coffee maker sparkling clean. There's a new glass coffee maker for instant coffee. You heat the water and make the coffee in it. Instant coffee is a handy product to have around the house, even if you don't use it for your morning brew. In recipes that call for strong coffee all that is needed is a corresponding amount of liquid and one teaspoon to one tablespoon of instant coffee for each cup wanted.

Blend foods like whipped cream and marshmallow absorb a great deal more coffee flavor than does sugar syrup, for instance. Your own taste is your best guide.

Here are a few ideas for foods with coffee flavor.

Coffee Frosting
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
1 tablespoon instant coffee
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons water
2 to 3½ cups sifted confectionery sugar
Combine softened cream cheese, coffee and salt. Gradually blend in water. Add sifted sugar, beating well after each addition. Will fill and frost two 8-inch layers.

Coffee plus chocolate equals mocha. If you like this flavor, try using some leftover coffee as the liquid in a chocolate cake. Your guests will be wondering just what that elusive flavor is.

Some cooks like to use coffee in gingerbread. Others put a spoonful in a sugar cookie recipe. Still others sprinkle dry instant coffee on vanilla ice cream for an unusual sundae.

Brown Nuts in Butter

Tip for good cooks: Next time you are topping a cake or pie with walnut halves, brown the nuts lightly in a little butter before using as the garnish.

Molasses Flavors Pickled Peaches

It's easy to make your own pickled peaches. This version uses molasses instead of sugar for sweetening.

Pickled Peaches
1 can (29 ounces) peach halves
¼ cup unsulfured molasses
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 2-inch piece stick cinnamon
1 tablespoon whole cloves

Drain peaches. Combine peach syrup, molasses, sugar, vinegar, cinnamon and 2 teaspoons whole cloves; simmer five minutes. Stick each peach half with several of the remaining cloves. Add to hot syrup and simmer 5 minutes longer.

Cool for lunchbox service. Pack one or two in covered container. Yield: Six to eight servings.

First pure nickel is believed to have been prepared about 1804.

State Enforces Federal Rules on Egg Grading

Michigan enforces the latest United States Department of Agriculture standards and grades for eggs.

All eggs sold in retail stores must be graded. The size of the eggs must be marked on each egg carton. The grade needs to appear on the egg carton only if it is grade C or less.

All egg advertisements appearing in newspapers must give the size of the eggs being offered.

Egg producers can sell ungraded eggs directly to the consumers by door to door delivery, roadside stand, etc.

All other handlers selling directly to consumers must grade their eggs.

Shrimp, Rice Combine in Crisp Croquettes

We Americans are especially fond of deep fat fried foods, and with good reason. There's nothing more appetizing, when these foods are seasoned well in side and crispy brown outside.

Because of the abundance of shrimp and rice this fall, Sept. 29 through Oct. 8 has been designated as a Shrimp and Rice Fiesta by the shrimp and rice industries, with the cooperation of the United States government.

The croquette recipe below was developed especially for the Fiesta by the Shrimp Association of the Americas, which gives these suggestions for frying food in deep fat:

Use enough oil or fat to cover the food. Allow 2 or 3 inches between the fat and the top of the pan so that the fat will not bubble over. It's best to use a pan with straight sides, and a frying basket to lower the food into the pan.

Heat the fat slowly. If you don't have a thermometer, drop a cube of bread into the hot fat. If it browns in 40 seconds, the fat is ready for frying.

Fry only a small amount of food at one time.

Take out all scraps of food. Otherwise they will burn and smoke up your kitchen.

When the food is brown, remove it from the fat and let it drain on absorbent paper.

Shrimp and Rice Croquettes

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 cup cooked rice
1 cup grated process cheese
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 cup finely chopped cooked shrimp
1 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Melt butter, remove from heat and stir in flour. Return to heat and gradually add milk, stirring constantly over moderate heat until thick. Combine with remaining ingredients. (If there is time, chill mixture for easier handling.)

Shape into small balls. Mix 1 egg with 1 tablespoon water and beat slightly.

Dip shrimp balls in egg mixture; then roll in fine dry bread crumbs.

Fry in deep hot fat (350) until browned, about two minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes about 24 small croquettes, six servings.

Add Cream Cheese to Scrambled Eggs

Very early breakfast eggs with this new version of scrambled eggs.

Scrambled Eggs With Cream Cheese

1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
4 eggs
3 tablespoons heavy cream
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 tablespoon butter

Have cheese very firm and cold; cut into tiny squares using sharp knife dipped into hot water.

Beat eggs just until yolks and whites are combined; add cream, salt and pepper to taste; beat enough to combine.

Melt butter in 10-inch skillet until it hisses; add egg mixture. Cook slowly, stirring only as eggs set.

Increase Cheese Zip

Add celery salt and Worcestershire sauce to a jar of blue cheese spread; use as a stuffing for small wedges of celery. Good served with tomato juice.

Make Your "Dish to Pass" a New One

By JANET ODELL,
Pontiac Press Home Editor
Potluck... covered dish supper... cooperative supper... whatever the name, the idea is the same. Who knows where or how it originated?

Perhaps the earliest, well-known potluck was the first Thanksgiving dinner. Each member of that courageous little band of settlers contributed something to the harvest feast. Remember, the Indians brought popcorn?

Cooperative meals have long been a means of furthering church fellowship. In the very early days of Christianity, according to one book, if a person did not contribute to the meal, he had to sit on the sidelines and watch the others eat.

What do you take to potlucks? Often, a woman has one special dish she always takes because it's always requested. We are going to suggest some new ideas later in this article.

Unplanned potlucks—which are the only true potlucks—are fun. It's surprising what a good variety of food you can get without any advance planning. It's funny, too, what a run you have on similar foods at times.

The kinds of dishes you usually take can be divided into three parts, a main dish, a salad, or a dessert. Let's see what different recipes we can find in each category.

Instead of the usual ham or hamburger casserole, you might take the following one which uses dried beef.

Noodles With Dried Beef Sauce

8-ounce package noodles
3 tablespoons chopped green onions
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Dash Tabasco sauce
2 cups milk
1 jar (3 oz.) dried beef, shredded
1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs

Cook noodles according to package directions in boiling salted water. Drain and rinse. Saute onions in butter until tender but not brown. Remove from heat and blend in flour and seasonings. Gradually add milk, mixing until smooth. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in dried beef. Taste to see if it is necessary to add more salt. Mix sauce and noodles.

Pour into greased casserole. Top with bread crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until top is brown and sauce bubbles. Serves 6.

A good salad for this time of year is this one made with cider.

Spicy Cider Mold

1 envelope gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups cider
2 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon
Unpeeled apple strips
Orange sections
1 cup chopped unpeeled red apples
1 cup orange sections, halved

Soften gelatin in the cold water. Heat the cider with the cloves and cinnamon stick and cook a few minutes. Strain, and add softened gelatin, stirring until dissolved.

ENJOY POPCORN OFTEN!

Enjoy fluffy, delicious popcorn often... with RAYO Peanut Oil, finest popcorn oil you can buy!

Chill until slightly thickened. Arrange alternate apple strips and orange sections in a 1-quart mold; add enough gelatin to cover. Chill until firm.

Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened. Fold in chopped apples and the cup of halved orange sections. Pour over the first mixture in the mold and chill until firm. Unmold on a round chop plate and garnish with greens and additional orange sections. Serves 4 to 6.

Here is the recipe for a pudding which carries well. You may make it early in the day and serve it cold; or you may bake it just before you go to your potluck and serve it warm.

Butterscotch Graham Cracker Pudding

1 quart milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Melt butter or margarine, add 1/2 cup sugar; stir and cook until brown. Add to scalded milk and stir. Add cracker crumbs. Beat eggs and remainder of sugar together. Stir into the milk. Add remaining ingredients to mixture. Pour into greased pan. Place in pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees for 75 minutes. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream, hard sauce or vanilla sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Delicious Apple Hermits Will Really Attract Crowd

Most hermits hide away from the world. But these hermits love a crowd—and a crowd will love these Apple Hermits.

They're cookies, of course. Like traditional hermit cookies they are tangy with spices and old-fashioned molasses. Bite into them and taste plump raisins, crisp walnut meats.

There's a special ingredient, too, that makes these hermits-with-a-difference. Chopped apple gives them a touch of the unusual, a welcome change of pace.

In most states, coast to coast, it's apple time right now. Delicious, McIntosh, Northern Spy, Ribbston, Pippin, Jonathan—all these apples are ripe for the picking or the buying.

Any variety of apple is the right kind for making Apple Hermits and you can serve Apple Hermits almost any time of the day. They answer the call for a mid-morning snack, an afternoon nibble, an after-dinner sweet.

The same can be said of coffee, and hermits are specially friendly to this fragrant, heartwarming brew. A pot of fresh coffee and a plate of hermits seem to be made for each other.

When you have both of them on hand, it's practically certain you won't be alone for long!

Apple Hermits

1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 cup molasses
2 eggs, unbeaten
3/4 cup sifted, enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons powdered cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg
1 cup broken walnut meats
1 cup finely chopped raw apples, peeled

Rinse raisins in hot water and drain on absorbent paper. Cream shortening with brown sugar until light and fluffy. Add molasses. Add unbeaten eggs one at a time, beating after each addition. Mix and sift flour, salt, baking soda and spices and add to molasses mixture. Mix lightly.

Stir in walnuts, chopped apples and raisins. Mix well. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven, 350, 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 5 to 6 dozen.

To get more milk into the family, make cooked cereals with milk rather than water. Most packages give directions.

Quick Apple Pie Needs No Crust

Green apples, the hard variety that have been responsible for many a tummy ache when eaten by young orchard raiders, are plentiful now, ready to be made into delicious sauce, tarts and pies.

If you believe statistics you know that apple pie is the most popular pie in the country. It is the one most often ordered in restaurants, the one that can be really called a man's dessert. And you'll probably be having plenty of calls for it at your house.

Because of this, and because it's smart to make maximum use of fruits in season, you'll want several apple recipes at hand so you can serve this popular fruit in a variety of interesting ways.

One of them will certainly be this quick apple pie. It takes only minutes to make and you need not roll a pie crust. Simply fill an 8-inch pie plate with apple sauce, then sprinkle over the top the crust mixture to which you've added cinnamon, brown sugar and other flavorful ingredients.

It's a real quickie, and so-o-o good.

Speedy Apple Pie

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups applesauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup cream or regular cream

Start heating oven to 375 degrees. Rub 8-inch pie plate with shortening. Cut shortening and salt into sifted flour with pastry blender or two knives until the pieces are the size of small peas. Then add brown sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg, and mix well.

Fill pie plate with applesauce, add lemon juice and spread the crumbly mixture over it. Bake for 35 minutes or until the top is golden brown.

Serve it with ice cream or regular cream. This will make about four servings for average eaters.

Peppermint Topping Will Dress Up Cake

Peppermint Stick Topping is the shortest of short-cuts to an exciting dessert. Simply place a generous spoonful of the candy-studded topping on a slice of spice cake, a favorite plain cake, pound cake or chiffon variety, all purchased

Top Off Dieters' Salad With Tomato Dressing

Joy for the hearts of calorie counters comes in a big salad bowl, filled with crisp fresh greens and topped with lively tomato dressing. Whip up a dressing with a can of tomato soup plus cottage cheese for a happy choice. It tingles with flavor and is almost "no-count" on calories.

Rainbow-Hued Fruits Nestle in Tea Tarts

A rainbow of fresh fruit tarts is on the party-time horizon. Fruits in every color of the spectrum from the pale gold of pineapple to the jet blue of blueberries are part of this delightful new recipe.

Each is gently nestled in its own flaky petal pastry shell . . . each ready for a topping of thick cream, sweet or sour.

A tray of tea-time rainbow tarts gives guests the privilege of choosing their favorite fruit filling. Covered with an easy-to-make sugar glaze, they have a picture-pretty sparkle.

The crust is made from a wonderful rich pastry dough flavored with the sweet nutlike goodness of rolled oats . . . the perfect complement to the fresh fruit filling.

Make these tarts your tea-time specialty. Serve them over and over again to the delight of company and family alike.

Baby Food Utilized in Low-Calorie Dip

Here's an unusual dip for those who watch the calories.

Low-Calorie Dip
1/2 cup creamed cottage cheese
1/2 cup strained sweet potatoes or strained peas
1/2 to 1 teaspoon seasoned salt or favorite seasoning
Best creamed cottage cheese until smooth. Add strained sweet potatoes or peas and season to taste. Blend thoroughly. Chill. Makes 1 cup golden yellow or pale green dip.

Calorie value: About 10 to 15 calories per tablespoon.
Note: Serve with thin whole wheat crackers or pieces of raw vegetable, such as crisp celery or carrots.

It isn't necessary to trim off the inspection stamp on meat. The stamp is of a harmless vegetable compound.

Show Your Creative Skill With Plum Blush Pudding

Coffee break, tea time, cocktail hour—they are being adopted throughout the land, and one or other is "going steady" with each family! America is learning to relax.

At the same time, everyone is becoming more creative . . . the housewife likes to exercise ingenuity in her home tasks, so she widens her range of desserts by adding to the variety of products she uses and to ways of preparing foods old and new.

If she can make culinary variations with a single product—perhaps a convenient package product such as tapioca pudding mix—she'll be creative, in time and money-saving ways, too!

Here a creamy tapioca dessert, made quickly from vanilla tapioca mix, is used with Red Plum-Coco-nut Sauce.

The result is a subtle blend of flavors and a delightful pastel color in a dessert light enough to end a heavy dinner . . . festive enough to serve guests at the coffee hour.

Plum Blush Pudding
1 package vanilla tapioca pudding mix
2 cups milk
Red plum-coco-nut sauce
Combine pudding mix and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil and is slightly thickened. (Mixture will continue to thicken as it cools.)

Remove from heat. Let stand 15 to 20 minutes; stir once or twice just to mix. Pour into sherbet glasses. Chill.
Serve with Red Plum-Coco-nut Sauce. Makes 4 servings.

TEA-TIME TARTS—Let your guests choose their favorite tarts from a tray of miniature pastries. Fill scalloped shells with fruits of every color and serve thick, sweet or sour cream for a topping. The pastry has an unusual nutlike taste that comes from rolled oats.

TEA TARTS
1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons corn starch
1 cup boiling water
1 cup water
Assorted Fresh or Frozen Fruits
Blueberries, pineapple, peaches, strawberries or other fruit.

For the pastry, sift together flour and salt; add rolled oats. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water a little at a time, mixing lightly until pastry can be formed in a ball. Let rest five minutes.
Roll dough out very thin on pastry cloth or lightly floured board. Using a floured small cutter, about 1 1/2 inches in diameter, cut six rounds for each tart. Line each small muffin cup by overlapping five rounds on the side and then placing one round in the bottom.

Dampen edges of each round and press firmly to make sure they are sealed together. Bake tarts in very hot oven (450 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown.

For the glaze, combine sugar, cornstarch, salt and water. Cook over low heat, stirring until thickened and clear (about five minutes).

Use a variety of seasonal fresh (or frozen, drained) fruits. Mix each with a portion of the glaze. Fill tart shells just before serving. Garnish with whipped cream if desired. Makes 1 1/2 dozen small tarts.

Apple Tapioca Is Easy, Tasty

Even cake eaters will enjoy a change of dessert pace, especially when the surprise is Apple Tapioca.

This is the easy recipe you have been hoping to find, with junior applesauce ready to use and a minimum of cooking; blessings on thee, quick-cooking tapioca.

No need to eat Apple Tapioca because it's good for you. Eat it for pleasure.

Fun for the young: Red Apple Tapioca. See recipe tip bringing in those red cinnamon candies that are so good when you are baking apples.

Apple Tapioca Pudding
1/2 cup junior applesauce
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon butter
1 1/2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
Nutmeg, if desired

Combine ingredients. Place over medium heat. Cook and stir until mixture comes to a full boil (about five minutes). Remove from heat. Cool. Makes two servings.

Variation: For a fluffy tapioca dessert, beat 1 egg white until foamy. Gradually add 1 tablespoon sugar and continue beating until mixture stands in soft peaks.

Pour a small amount of hot apple mixture on beaten egg white, blending well. Quickly beat in remaining mixture. Cool. Makes three servings.

For Red Apple Tapioca: Add 2 tablespoons red cinnamon candies to water and stir until dissolved before adding applesauce.

Busy Wives of America Work 80 Hours a Week

The busiest person in the country is the American housewife.

The average housewife, a recent survey found, works about 80 hours a week. It would be much more if Mr. Average American Husband didn't help as much as he does.

These are the conclusions of the Moses Brothers, Midwest sales representatives for leading housewares manufacturers, who made the survey.

A middle-class housewife, with two children, the Moses Brothers found, spends 21 hours cooking and preparing meals, 10 hours cleaning up after meals (average hubby helps appreciably in this department), 15 hours cleaning house, 1 hour washing and ironing, 7 hours shopping, 15 hours caring for children in and out of the house, and 5 hours for miscellaneous activities.

For those better-to-do housewives with more gadgets, more maid service, or a highly domesticated husband, the work week still remains about 80 hours, the survey found.

Having become used to the intensive pace, Mrs. Homemaker U.S.A. devotes her extra time to her children, to part-time work, or to F.T.A.

The 40-hour week is something the little woman has never managed to achieve.

Quick spread for crackers to accompany tomato juice: Liver-wurst mashed with lemon juice and finely grated onion.

Ham-Cheese Mix Dresses Up Rolls

Dress up store rolls with a tangy ham and cheese mixture.

Deviled Ham And Cheese Rolls
4 butter-flake rolls
1 can (3 ounces) deviled ham
1 cup (1/2 pound) lightly packed grated cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Onion salt or finely grated onion (pulp and juice)

Separate top sections of rolls with fingers or small sharp knife, but do not cut all the way through to bottom so rolls will be intact.

Stir together deviled ham, grated cheese, mayonnaise and (if used) a dash of onion salt or a little grated onion. Spread mixture over inside of cut sections of rolls.

Place in moderate (350 degrees) oven until browned on top and heated through—12 to 15 minutes or longer. Serve hot.

Pears Baked With Coating of Cornflakes

Baked pears, served with a lemon spice sauce, make an ideal dessert, particularly in the fall of the year when fresh pears are in such plentiful supply.

Baked pears are easily prepared, yet are perfect to serve after any hearty dinner. Roll the pared fruit in cornflakes and dot with butter before baking. Then serve with a lemon sauce.

The dessert is light, sweet and spicy.

Pears Au Gratin
1 cup cornflakes
3 fresh pears
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Crush cornflakes into fine crumbs. Pare and halve fruit; roll in cornflakes crumbs. Place in buttered baking dish, cut side up. Dot with butter. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 25 minutes. Serve with Lemon Spice Sauce.

Lemon Spice Sauce
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt

Combine sugar and cornstarch. Stir in boiling water gradually. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is clear and slightly thickened. Stir in butter, lemon juice, nutmeg and salt. Yield: six servings.

VEAL SCALLOPINI — Veal can be made into an appetizing dish by the judicious use of spices and vegetables. Canned chicken bouillon and canned mushrooms make it easy to prepare. You and your family will rate this way of preparing veal high on the list.

Veal Scallopini Features Intriguing Foreign Flavor

Make your next company meal one with a party atmosphere by featuring an exciting foreign dish. You'll find that some of the best and most delectably different foreign recipes are made with delicately flavored veal.

And there's a reason for the popularity of this meat. Veal is mild flavored and combines well with many other food flavors so you can experiment and create recipes that are truly "your own."

Remember, when preparing that veal is a meat which should be cooked slowly with moist heat. This type of cooking brings out the tenderness and flavor and is the basis for many a famous foreign recipe featuring veal.

Of course, always buy top quality, branded veal so you'll know you are getting fine meat, especially for company service.

Along with the party-style veal recipe, which will probably be Italian or French-inspired, serve an Italian-style tossed salad and crusty bread.

You may want to start out the meal with attractive, frosty cool fruit cups. For dessert, lots of hot coffee and simple individual cakes will contribute the happy ending to an exciting meal.

Set a foreign food atmosphere by decorating your dinner table with miniature flags and use any interesting serving pieces you may have which will give a touch of old world charm.

Here is an easy-to-follow recipe for that intriguing dish Veal Scallopini. It's really one of those recipes from which an exciting dinner party can be made with a theme of "Viva Veal."

Veal Scallopini

4 veal cutlets
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup paprika
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 clove garlic
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup shortening
1 medium onion, sliced thin
1 green pepper, cut in strips
1 cup chicken bouillon
1/2 cup canned sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon butter
6 pimiento olives, sliced

Make sauce by combining salt, paprika, oil, lemon juice, garlic, mustard, nutmeg and sugar. Beat well or shake in bottle to combine thoroughly.

Lay veal flat in baking pan. Pour sauce over veal. Turn pieces of veal to coat with sauce. Let stand 15 minutes. Remove garlic.

Lift veal from sauce. Dip into flour. Brown well in heated shortening in skillet. Add onion and green pepper. Add chicken bouillon to sauce and pour over veal.

Cover and cook slowly until veal is tender—about 40 minutes. Brown mushrooms lightly in butter. Add mushrooms and olives to veal. Stir and dip sauce over veal.

Cook about five minutes more. Serve with sauce poured over veal. Serves six.

Easy Heavenly Hash

Ladle beef-rich gravy over corned beef hash for honest-to-goodness Heavenly Hash. Only two ingredients are needed: 1 can of gravy and 1 can of hash.

Simply slice the hash into four patties; brown them in butter in a skillet. Pour in the can of gravy (1 1/2 cups). A splash of catsup into the gravy will "jazz it up" still more, if you like. And how about a garnish of French-fried onions!

Please Your Family With Hot Popovers

Hot popovers served with butter or margarine and jelly for breakfast make a hit with young and old. Plan to make them on a Saturday or Sunday morning when you don't have to get Dad off to work and the children ready for school.

Sift together 1 cup sifted enriched flour and one-half teaspoon salt. Combine 2 eggs, beaten and 1 cup milk. Add to the flour mixture and beat to a smooth batter. Add 1 tablespoon melted shortening.

Beat three minutes with a rotary beater. Pour into well-greased custard cups, filling one-half full.

Bake in hot oven (425) 20 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350) and bake 25 to 30 minutes longer. Makes six popovers.

Make Wiener Relish

The honey frankfurter comes to the barbecue in the best manner when served with freshly made Frankfurter Relish. Combine one-fourth cup chopped sweet pickle, one fourth cup mayonnaise or salad dressing and 2 tablespoons prepared mustard. Spread relish generously on frankfurters to be eaten between tasty, oven-warmed bakery rolls.

Vary Breakfast Menus for Family Enjoyment

Your family will enjoy eating a hearty breakfast every day if you key your meal-planning to variety. Serve a variety of enticing hot bakery breads. Bake waffles and griddlecakes, too. Prepare eggs in many different ways—cooked, fried, baked, poached, shirred, in omelets and souffles.

Choose different breakfast meats—bacon, sausage or Canadian bacon. Start every breakfast with fresh fruit in season or frozen or canned fruit juices.

Make beverages play an interesting role in the breakfast meal—hot chocolate with whipped cream, cocoa with marshmallows, hot coffee or cool milk.

Don't Skimp on Milk

Never be health-foolish. The average family might well spend as much as one-third of its food allowance on milk and dairy products, according to marketing and consumer information agents of Michigan State University. In actual nourishment milk is a fooder, for it actually contains more solid foods than many fruits and vegetables.

Ever add a little finely chopped onion to that cabbage slaw? It gives tangy flavor.

The Michigan Federation of Music Clubs will supervise and manage the competition for a music scholarship award. This award, which will be given annually, is to discover the best young pianist in Michigan.

The winner receives a $1,000 scholarship given by Grinnell Brothers with the teacher or school of his or her choice. Pianists between the ages of 16 and 25 are eligible.

Auditions will be held within the period of March 1 to March 15, 1956, and each student must be prepared to play the following program: Choice of a prelude or four-voice fugue from the Bach well-tempered clavier, or French or English suite of toccata.

Secondly, contestants must be able to play the first movement of any Beethoven sonata except Op. 2, No. 1; Op. 14, Nos. 1 and 2; Op. 27, No. 2, and Op. 49, Nos. 1 and 2.

The last requirement is to be able to play a selection by a composer of the romantic and impressionistic period and a work by an American composer, comparable to the difficulty of the following three works: Griffé's "White Peacock," MacDowell's "March Wind" and Kent Kennan's "Three Preludes."

Applicants must be citizens of the United States and residents of Michigan for at least two years.

Students interested may obtain application blanks from any Grinnell store in Michigan.

Who Apologizes First for Double Rhubarb?

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
Emotions can certainly fuzzle up a usually clear head, and set off a temper tantrum! When a girl is hurt, she either sinks into a sickly silence that accomplishes nothing but to arouse a torrent of after-thoughts, or she snaps back something that's aimed at hurting back.

Then everybody owes everybody apologies. If she won't accept the ones that are offered to her because her emotions are still clouding the issue, things go from bad to worse. The strain gets stickier and more apologies are indicated.

That's what has happened to this girl who writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: After a month of going steady my boyfriend and I have had our first dispute. I don't think it was entirely my fault, but I have certainly made things worse than they were.

"You see, I invited him to a party and he accepted my invitation. During the week before the date I saw him several times and he said nothing about going with me, but he didn't seem mad.

"So imagine how I felt when he called me the night of the party and said he'd never told me he would go to it with me. I didn't know what to say!

"The next time I saw him was two weeks later at a dance. He tried to talk to me, but I could think of nothing but our last phone conversation; I was still hurt, so I walked away. Now I guess it's my turn to apologize for that.

"I don't see him around and I don't want to call him, since I don't know when he'll be home from work. But I really do want to patch things up. Should I hold out for an apology from him first, or go to him with mine?"

Answer: Your disappointment over being let down at the last minute made you lose your wits. You were so stunned that you forgot to speak up for yourself, to say you had understood he would go and you'd looked forward to it; in fact, you were all dressed and ready to go.

He'd have been forced to make an excuse, and, good or bad, you'd have been forced to accept it. But the incident would have been closed then and there.

Blue Star Mothers Planning Projects

Chapter Four of the Blue Star Mothers met Tuesday evening at the YMCA.

Mrs. William Morris is chairman of the club's project of dressing dolls and packing candy and clothes to be sent to orphans in Korea. Mrs. Florence McCrae of East Rutgers avenue is handling the packing of Christmas boxes for men in the service.

It was announced that the chapter will have charge of Fun Night at the National Convention of Blue Star Mothers to be held at Hotel Fort Shelby in Detroit Oct. 28. Mrs. John Yungk is chairman for the affair.

A chapter donation was made recently to the Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital.

You obviously stammered something that kept him from getting in touch with you right away. And when you did see him you put him off and wouldn't listen. Now you wish you had listened.

So, since you don't want to phone, write to him. Tell him that you regret your part in this rhubarb and you'd like to clear it up.

Tell him that even if you don't date together any more you'd like to iron out your share of the misunderstanding so he won't think too badly of you. That ought to make things better instead of worse.

Houseguest Owes One Thank-You It Isn't Necessary to Write Letter to Dinner Hostess

By EMILY POST

"A man I knew quite well in college stayed at our house recently for several days. While he was here we took him to the home of friends of ours for dinner and to spend the evening.

"While he thanked my wife and the hostess who entertained him at dinner, he did not write either of them to thank them for their hospitality. They, of course, feel that he was lacking in appreciation by not writing.

"It seems to me I read that it was not necessary to write the so-called bread and butter letter if the guest personally thanked his hosts before he left. Am I right about this?"

Answer: He should have written a bread and butter letter to your wife but none to the dinner hostess.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My mother and father will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. We plan to have open house and expect about 100 friends and relatives to call during the afternoon.

"Should they open their gifts as they receive them, or put them aside until later? What brought this question up was the possibility that some who call will bring gifts and some probably will not, and we do not want those who come empty-handed to feel embarrassed.

"Also, would it be proper for my parents to receive their guests sitting down? They are quite elderly and I'm afraid it will be too much for them to stand any length of time."

Answer: Because they are elderly, it is entirely proper for them to remain seated. They should open their presents and show their appreciation as they are opened.

Thank each donor at that time so as not to have to write a letter later. Those who have not brought presents need not feel embarrassed because presents are not exacted.

Simple straight lines and a wide fabric choice characterize moderately priced junior coats for fall. This double-breasted coat in pale beige is in fabric called barkella, a wool with a look of cashmere. Pockets are set low to continue hip line detailing.

Read This Useful Article Before Storing Clothes

Now is the time for homemakers to begin putting away summer clothing for the winter season.

This advice from the National Cotton Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture can help homemakers store clothes safely:

Cotton garments are in danger from clothes moths and carpet beetles, but they are frequently damaged by silverfish, tiny insects that resemble fish in shape and in their quick darting movements.

Silverfish feed on starch or on cellulose materials. One reason for not starching cottons before packing them away is to make them less attractive to silverfish.

SIMPLE COMFORT

The simplest way to control these insects, however, is to spray the closet, chest or clothes bag with a five per cent DDT surface or residual spray. A point to remember is that silverfish like heat.

They may spend the summer in a hot attic, but if it gets cold, they move to warmer quarters.

It pays to put cottons away clean because the longer spots and stains remain on fabric, the more likely they are to become set and difficult to remove. It's wise to remove any pins or metal ornaments that might leave marks on fabrics in storage.

LIMITED SPACE

If storage space is limited so that clothes must be packed closely, then ironing them first will help and will leave them with fewer creases in the spring. Otherwise, the homemaker may want to save time by putting cottons away rough dried.

The more expensive garments, like men's suits or coats and women's better dresses, will keep in shape if carefully placed on hangers in clothes bags that ward off dust.

When packing clothes away, make sure they are thoroughly dry to avoid mildew trouble.

Save time by labeling all containers as to contents and if possible, keep a list in the household file.

Fragrance boosts morale, wear it not only as a fashion accessory, but also to lift waning spirits, for scent gives a psychological lift to the wearer and those around her.

GM Girls' Club Picks Candidate

When members of the General Motors Girls' Club met Wednesday for their October dinner meeting at Fellowship Hall, Grace Lutheran Church, they voted Margaret Mitchell their candidate for queen of the "High Fever Follies."

Mildred Whitfield and Donna Wilmont reported on the Greater Pontiac Civic Association meeting which they attended as delegates.

During the evening members enjoyed a gift-wrapping demonstration and completed plans for a toy demonstration to be held at the Oct. 25 meeting.

Good food hygiene includes keeping all can openers clean and sanitary. If yours is mounted on the wall, just lift it off the hinges for regular washing in hot soapsuds and rinses.

Special Education Explained by Panel

"Special Services in the Pontiac Schools" was the topic discussed by a panel of members of the Special Education Department at the Wednesday evening of the Emerson PTA. Parents and teachers of the Linda Vista School joined the Emerson PTA group for the meeting.

Serving on the panel were Mrs. Wilson B. Roback, speech therapist; Mrs. Erwin Gottschalk, hearing consultant; Eleanor Truitt, physical therapist, and Mrs. Lamar Pepple, teacher of the mentally handicapped. William G. Wright, director of special education, was moderator for the panel.

New officers of the Emerson PTA are Mrs. Anton Koenig, president; Mrs. Kenneth Casey, vice president; J. C. Gammay, father vice president; Mrs. Evelyn Woodworth, teacher vice president, and Mrs. Stephen Klives, secretary.

Others serving are Mrs. Wayne Wightman, treasurer; Mrs. Keith Mortimore, historian, and Mrs. L. Mc Lauchlin, parliamentarian.

Council delegates are Mrs. Gilbert Williams, Mrs. Charles Collison and Mrs. Lawrence Curtis, with Mrs. Stuart Kramp as alternate.

Mrs. Eugene Affolder was appointed chairman of the bylaws committee to draw up bylaws for the organization of the new Linda Vista PTA.

Homeroom mothers from Mrs. R. R. Dougherty's and Mrs. Evelyn Woodworth's rooms provided the refreshments.

Emerson School will sponsor a dinner at the school on Oct. 27.

Michigan companies produce nearly all the aspirin made in the United States.

Secretaries Hear Talk on Defense

Sgt. Nicholas Chizewsky of the United States Air Force, field representative for Oakland and Lapeer Counties, presented the film "One Plane, One Bomb," which vividly demonstrated the great need for civil defense.

The regional meeting to be held at the Hotel Sheraton-Lincoln in Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28-30 was announced by the president, Mary Eleanor Lockman.

She also announced the 1956 State Workshop to be held at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center Feb. 18-19.

"Clever gal, my Carol!"

I'm tickled pink with the smart way my Carol handles her housework. Take wood floors for instance. Most gals complain about all that scrubbing and waxing. But not my Carol! She cleans and waxes them in one easy operation with Bruce Cleaning Wax. It takes her half the time and a lot less elbow grease. And we've yet to have a guest who hasn't commented on our beautiful wood floors. My Carol and her Bruce Cleaning Wax really make easy work of a hard job. I'm mighty pleased with both of them.

P.S. For lighter waxing on linoleum and wood, Carol uses Bruce Floor Cleaner.

Housing Shortage Inspires Hobby

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The other day a woman told me of an interesting and lucrative hobby which she and her husband have.

"But," she added, "the funny part is, we never would be in it if it hadn't been for the housing shortage."

"After the war, my husband and I could find only one huge room, with a tiny kitchenette.

"The room was really enormous and we reveled in it—until our first baby was born. Then, big and all though it was, the room was always a mess.

"Finally, George decided to isolate the baby's part, with a huge folding screen. After hunting through all the antique and junk shops in town, he found a cheap old screen, too big for most ceiling heights.

"He scraped it, covered it with a piece of beautiful old French wallpaper and then coated it with shellac.

"It was lovely and it saved our lives. Behind that screen, we fixed up practically a whole room for the baby. His crib, bureau, bath, linette, diapers and equipment were all there. It was really charming.

NO OTHER PLACE

"Meanwhile, of course, we tried to find another apartment, but it wasn't possible, not for what we could pay. I thought about going back to work, but paying somebody to look after the baby would take all the profit.

One night George brought the boss and his wife to our place for dinner. They were enchanted with the screen. The wife said she would love to have one to separate her sewing corner from the rest of her bedroom and George offered to make it for her.

"Again, he shopped the old junk shops and found a beauty for almost nothing. He decorated it with modern wallpaper design—since her home is in modern—and she loved it. Furthermore she insisted on paying for it.

"Word got around about George's work. So many people, it seems, have too few rooms and are looking for a way to isolate the dining area of a living room, or the office equipment and desk, or the hobby corner.

"In that first year, George did three or four screens, in addition to our own. After that, we moved to a larger place.

"He began collecting old screens while I looked for interesting wallpaper. Between us, we made several dozen screens a year.

"In addition to customers resulting from a word-of-mouth campaign, we find many more when we advertise occasionally in our local paper. We love our hobby, which is more than paying its way by now!"

Necklaces Taking on New Importance

Necklaces take on a new importance this year, many of them in bib proportions and they are often made of colorful beads or stones set in gold, gold filled or gold plate.

Perhaps the newest news is the return of a marked interest in the large pin. The new clothes with their cuffed hip lines and missing waistlines particularly invite the finishing touch of a big pin at the waist or placed prominently on the hip.

Foes' Miscues Give U. M. Winning Touchdowns

ANN ARBOR (U)—Even though Michigan's Wolverines are rated the top football power in the nation, they've been able to start only one touchdown drive in their own territory all season.

That one barely made it—by three yards. It began on the Michigan 47-yard line.

Coach Bonnie Oosterbaan's Wolverines have scored 13 touchdowns in their first three games, defeating Missouri 45-7, Michigan State 14-7, and Army 20-2. But Oosterbaan says, "we haven't put together a good drive all season. Why, all our scores have come after the other team miscued."

Oosterbaan isn't kidding. But it's tribute to Michigan's defensive ability as an opportunistic team and as a master of field position.

Michigan has scored three times after the opposition fumbled, three times after intercepting passes, once after blocking a kick, and three times after taking over punts in enemy territory.

Most of them have come as a result of relentless Michigan pressure.

Only once have they put together a drive that has carried them out of their own territory and into pay dirt.

Of six touchdowns they scored against tiring Missouri, all of them came on opportunities presented by the Tigers.

Four of these were handed to the Wolverines on Missouri punts. Michigan cashed in on all of them, starting from the Missouri 33, 42, and 49-yard lines and from their own 47-yard line.

They also stung the Tigers after intercepting a pass and running it back to the Missouri 25. And they scored again when end Mike Rotundo intercepted another pass, running it back 81 yards for the tally.

Against Michigan State, the Wolverines scored after a pass interception gave them the ball on the Spartan 20-yard line and again after a blocked kick gave them the ball on the Spartan 21.

Army, Michigan's most impressive victory, was even more surprising from the opportunity viewpoint.

Michigan recovered a fumble on the Army 48, 43 and 23-yard lines. It scored after each of them. On top of that, halfback Terry Barr returned an Army punt 63 yards for another score.

It's an old Michigan theory from the days of coach Fielding H. Yost that field position is one of the most important phases of the game.

If you stay in enemy territory long enough, they'll make a mistake there and it will be fatal.

Army didn't manage to cross the 50-yard line until the 4th period was three minutes old.

Michigan pressure and defense is like that, and it works.

Missouri End Leads Nation in Pass Reception

Hank Burnine Snagged 17 in Four Games for 245 Yards, 2 TDs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warning to Oklahoma's Sooners: Some of your Big Seven opponents are beginning to come up with players who can give you trouble.

Hank Burnine, the 6-foot-2, 181-pound Missouri end is one. He grabbed eight passes against Southern Methodist last Saturday and became the nation's leading pass receiver. Another is Ted Rhode of Kansas, the No. 1 punter in major college statistics.

NCAA Service Bureau statisticians had to go back 13 years to find another Missouri player holding the lead in any of the individual rankings. That was Bob Steuber, who won the major college scoring championship back in 1942.

Burnine barely got to the top through his splendid performance against SMU. He has caught 17 passes in four games for total gains of 245 yards and two touchdowns. Bill Barnes of Wake Forest is just one behind him with 16 receptions. Then come Roger Ramo of California, John Bredice of Boston U. with 15 each and Menan Schriever of Texas and John Stewart of Stanford with 14 and Jim Orr of Georgia and Monte Pascoe of Dartmouth with 13.

Orr has the most yardage on pass receptions, 274, and he and six others have caught three touchdowns apiece. Ramo registered the season's one-game high by catching nine passes against Washington State last Saturday.

Rhode reached the top in punting with four kicks that averaged more than 53 yards against Iowa State last week. His season average is 48.9 yards on 9 punts. He was second to New Mexico's A. L. Terpening at the end of last season.

Coaches Group Holds Its First Session Nov. 12

The newly formed Michigan High School Coaches Association will hold its first meeting of the executive committee at the Jenson Field House at Michigan State University, Nov. 12 at 10 a. m.

A chairman from each region will be elected to represent his area and also serve on the executive committee composed of a chairman from each region, Vice-President Bob Hayes of Fort Huron and Paul Smarks of Fitzgerald, Van Dyke.

After the meeting, the coaches will be guests at the Minnesota-MSU football game.

Among area organizers for the group in the immediate Pontiac area are: Bob James, Warren; Bruno Morone, Center Line; Gene Koenig, Rochester; and Paul Smarks of Van Dyke Fitzgerald.

Waterford JV's Down VanDyke

Leroy Vogt scored twice on runs of 60 and 74 yards to lead the Waterford Junior Varsity to a 14-0 victory over the Jayvees from Van Dyke in an encounter played at Waterford.

Waterford's Tom Blezinski recovered a Van Dyke fumble in the end zone in the 3rd quarter for the winner's final margin.

In freshmen competition, Waterford's Cray school team lost to Van Dyke, 6-0 when Walt Venadom scammed 30 yards on a reverse for the TD in the 3rd period.

Barney Poole Named to LSU Grid Staff

BATON ROUGE, La. (INS)—Barney Poole, former All-America end at Mississippi has been named to the Louisiana State University coaching staff.

The appointment, announced yesterday at Baton Rouge, said Poole will take over his assignment immediately. A part of his duties will be to "contact prospective student athletes."

Poole, recently released by the New York Giants, caught 52 passes at Mississippi in 1947—a collegiate record that still stands. He was a regular on the West Point teams of 1944 through 1946.

Won't Give Up Games

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—There's "absolutely no question about California giving up the winter Olympics," the man who swung the deal to bring the 1960 snow-and-ice festival out of Europe said today.

"We'll have all the 'firm assurance' Avery Brundage or anyone else will want by the first of the year," declared Alex Cushing, who persuaded the International Olympic Committee to give the games four winters hence to Squaw Valley, Calif.

"There's a lot of talk about there being no city behind the games," Cushing went on. "Well, that's so. Squaw Valley is not a city. But I'll trade the State of California for any city you can name."

Cushing, obviously upset by a statement made here Tuesday by Brundage, IOC president, that there was some doubt about whether Squaw Valley would be ready for the games and that the committee would want firm assurance of readiness at its January meeting in Cortina, Italy.

"I think Brundage's statement was very unfair," Cushing fumed.

Floyd Patterson Faces Cal Brad

Challenger for Crown Choice in West Coast Local Debut Scrap

LOS ANGELES (U)—Brooklyn's Floyd Patterson, at 20 the nation's No. 1 challenger for the world light-heavyweight title, is heavily favored to make his local debut a winning one tonight in a bout with Cal Brad of Los Angeles at the Olympic Auditorium.

The fighters are expected to weigh in at around 175 pounds.

The match is billed for 10 rounds but Patterson is expected to stretch his unbroken 1955 knockout string to eight.

Brad has a so-so record and few expect him to give the 1952 Olympic games champion much more than a workout. Patterson's pilot, Constantino D'Amato, makes it plain that he is bringing the tall, well-built fighter along slowly and carefully.

This is Floyd's first appearance here but he has shown twice in San Francisco, knocking out Esau Ferdinand and Dave Whitlock.

Patterson has lost but one bout in 27. This was a decision to Joey Maxim in Floyd's 14th pro fight.

Hazel Park's New Mentor, Skinner, Meets Top EML Birmingham Eleven

EASTERN MICHIGAN LEAGUE STANDINGS

Birmingham 20 Ferndale 01

FRIDAY'S GAMES

Hazel Park at Birmingham

MI. Clemens at Ferndale

East Detroit at Port Huron

With a new coach at the helm, Hazel Park High School's winless football team invades Birmingham Friday night for an Eastern Michigan League game with Carl Lemle's loop-leading Maples.

Charles Skinner, Junior Varsity mentor at Hazel Park for the past two years, will pilot the Vikings tomorrow night. Skinner was named after the forced resignation of J.D. Webster, Webster, serving his 2nd year, as head coach, and his brother Calvin, line coach, quit Monday under pressure.

Whether or not Skinner can instill new life into the luckless Vikings remains to be seen.

Birmingham, nursing definite EML title hopes, will be an overwhelming favorite to defeat Vikings.

If Skinner can succeed in "firing up" the Vikings, tomorrow night's contest could develop into a false "breather" for Birmingham.

Friday night's No. 1 Eastern Michigan League attraction will be played at Port Huron between the Big Reds and East Detroit Shamrocks. The Lake Huron school lists one setback and a tie, but is undefeated in loop play. Alva Asbury's unbeaten Shamrocks are unscored on in four games.

In tomorrow night's other EML game, Ferndale's Raispliters entertain MI. Clemens. The Bathers are minus a victory in four attempts while the up-and-down Ferndale team holds a 1-3 record.

Royal Oak's Acorns, listing a 2-1 mark, meet Monroe tomorrow night in a Border Cities League affair at Monroe. Cranbrook Cranes open their Inter-State Prep League campaign Saturday afternoon at Cranbrook against Western Reserve of Hudson, Ohio.

Revival of Glory

Fabulous Centre Eleven May Be on March Again

DANVILLE, Ky. (U)—Centre College, which dropped from football's fabulous heights to obscurity is on the march again, powered by a ground game averaging 364 yards a contest.

Not since the 1920s, when All-Americans Bo McMillin, Red Roberts and Red Weaver played with the famed "Prayin' Colonels," has Centre now strictly Simon Pure in sports, been so "hepped" on its team.

Its starting backfield has averaged 7.5 yards a carry in victories over Maryville, Otterbein and Washington & Lee, a game which drew over a third of the Centre student body to Virginia.

Noting that Centre's 364-yard average on the ground topped the leader among major college's—Texas Christian with 334.3—the Colonels decided today to put in a claim among small colleges.

The only drawback was that even statistics had been de-emphasized—Centre no longer sends its figures to national compiling bureaus.

This is a far cry from the 1918-22 era when a powerhouse from the tiny Kentucky school rocked the football world.

An influenza epidemic was all that limited the 1915 schedule to four victories. The next year, with McMillin and Weaver first team All-Americans and Roberts on the third team, Centre scored nine straight victories and 485 points.

Wisconsin Top Attackers in Big Ten Race

Peaks' 158 Yards Tops as 'M.' MSU Share Defensive Honors

CHICAGO (U)—Undeclared Wisconsin's harmonized attack of passing and running has blended the Badgers into the top yard-gaining team of the Big Ten, official conference statistics showed today.

In two league games, the Badgers have averaged 177.5 yards on the ground and 180 in the air for a total offense mark of 357.5.

Wisconsin's aerial average easily is the best in the Big Ten at this early stage, with Purdue second with 129.1. But off one conference game, Ohio State has a fine start toward rushing honors. Buckeyes rolled up 234 yards on the ground against Illinois last week. They gained only 17 in the air for a 251 total.

Defensive honors are shared by unbeaten Michigan, ranked No. 1 nationally, and Michigan State.

Wolverines have yielded only one touchdown in their only league game to date, a 14-7 decision over Michigan State. Spartans allowed two in each of their two conference starts.

Spartans, however, have limited opponents to only 3.09 yards per play and a total of 170 per game. Michigan has yielded 3.30 per play and a total of 215.

Clarence Peaks, Michigan State halfback, heads the league in rushing with a net of 158 yards in 31 trips for a 5.0 average. Wisconsin's fullback, Charlie Thomas, has the top average of 5.3 on 152 yards in 26 tries.

Badger's Jim Haluska is No. 1 on total offense with 278 for a 7.3 average.

German Horse 5th Entry for Laurel

LAUREL, Md. (U)—Ataturk, the leading handicap horse in Germany, today became the fifth entry in the field for the Washington, D.C., International turf race at Laurel, Friday, Nov. 11.

Baron Henry Thyssen, owner of the dark brown 4-year-old, accepted an invitation to the Veterans Day classic. Ataturk has won various German races as well as the Lopenger Prize, rich mile and a half international event at Stockholm Sept. 11. The German horse has been in the money all year.

Laurel foots the bill for its invited foreign guests, shipping entries to his country by air.

Some months ago a bet was made between the brothers on the outcome of the Bears-Deers game in Chicago. The prize—a house painting job for the winner.

The game was played last Sunday and the Bears lost, 20-13, a real heartbreaker for Dan.

But Dan has no intention of running out on his bet. He said: "I'll be heading out West in a couple of weeks and I'm going to do some painting."

"When I get through, Sam will have the nicest little place in California—the only six-room stucco house in the world painted black and red with white trim!"

Black, white and orange are the Chicago Bear's colors.

All Except 13 Colleges Abide by NCAA Rules

MEDFORD, Mass. (U)—NCAA President Clarence P. (Pop) Houston said today that all but 13 of 456 member institutions have certified they are in compliance with NCAA rules and regulations.

Houston, vice president of Tufts University, said in a statement that a report on the failure of the 13 schools to certify compliance will be submitted at the NCAA Council meeting in Chicago Oct. 23-25. The schools out of the fold were not named.

The NCAA head praised the "certification of compliance" program, begun last year under then-President A. B. Moore of the University of Alabama. Houston called the program "a landmark in the improved administration of intercollegiate athletics."

The actual enforcement program was started by the NCAA in 1952. Since that time, Houston said, the NCAA has made inquiry into 65 cases involving 84 different institutions. In 18 cases, 22 institutions were found to have violated NCAA rules and regulations and received penalties. Of the other 48 cases, no evidence of non-compliance was found in 28, 3 were classified as miscellaneous, and 17 are pending.

Houston said the NCAA plans to make penalties more severe for future violations of the NCAA code. "It is the association's intention to revise its penalty system for cases originating after approximately June 15 of this year," the NCAA president said.

Braves Defeat Eastern, 18-6

Washington Junior Hi Extends String to 16 in Game at Wisner

Washington Junior High School handed Eastern Indians an 18-6 shellacking Wednesday afternoon in a Pontiac Junior High League football game at Wisner Stadium. It was the 16th consecutive game without defeat for Em Ghilani's Braves.

Halfback Harrison Munson scored Washington's 1st touchdown early in the 1st quarter on a 25-yard run across the goal line. He was nullified by a clipping infraction.

Fullback Willie Pierson tallied the 2nd TD in the 3rd period on a run of six yards. Moments later a 45-yard run across the goal line by quarterback Charles Bargo was nullified by a clipping infraction.

Bargo got his touchdown back in the 4th quarter on a 55-yard sprint which began as a quarterback sneak.

Eastern's lone touchdown came in the 4th period on a 20-yard screen pass from Bill Hayward to Gary Christianson.

Wade Jones and Ray Smith played outstanding ball at defensive end posts for the winners as did linebackers Dick Moss, Isaac Jones, and Pierson. The middle of the Braves' defensive line also performed in yeoman-like style.

Fisherman Keeps Cool, Lands 10-Pound Trout

Eastland Gets By South Lake, 13-6

Eastland's speedy tailback Pete Carrizalas scampered for two touchdowns last night to pace his team to a 13-6 triumph over South Lake in Bi-County prep league competition. Fred Fuhr kicked the extra point.

Carrizalas connected on runs of 10 and 75 yards for the victories while Mel Fillingier ran for 85 yards and the TD for South Lake in the closing seconds of the contest.

Somebody Drilling to Become a Golf Star

NORTH PROVIDENCE, R.I. (U)—Thieves broke into the Louisquisset Golf Club last night and carted off about $7,000 worth of golfing equipment.

Police said the loot included 25 sets of golf clubs and bags, balls, shoes and even the power drill used by Joe Pezzullo, the club pro.

Goatnapping Penn State Keys Up for Navy's Unbeaten Middies in 100th Homecoming Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

About a week ago some Penn State students goat-napped Navy's mascot, Billy XIV—a theft first attributed to Pittsburgh lads—and Coach Rip Engle began to moan about the danger of getting Navy's goat before the game.

Engle is a guy who can see the sad side of almost anything connected with football, but whether he'll admit it or not, this Saturday offers an ideal time for Penn State to deflate Navy and restore Eastern football to its normal quiet, everybody-loses-sometime status.

Penn State, thoroughly deflated by Army, likely will be keyed up for its 100th anniversary homecoming game. The Army game also indoctrinated the Nittany Lions to the same kind of savage, swift line play that has given Navy the nation's best defense record so far.

The records seem to justify the line that has made Navy a two-touchdown favorite. The Midshipmen haven't yielded a point and have given up only 324 yards to the combined attacks of William & Mary, South Carolina and Pittsburgh.

Engle complains that his team lacks size—one of his starting tackles is under 200 pounds—and that State's attack hasn't been sharp enough. But he can't overlook one offensive weapon that hasn't been stopped—Lenny Moore. Penn State's defense has been strongest against passes, Navy's principal means of attack.

Moore, second in the nation in ground-gaining last season, made 75 yards in a losing effort against Army. Michigan rushed for only 69 yards in whipping the Cadets last week.

Navy's ace is quarterback Dick Welch, a genuine All-America candidate who has clicked on 25 passes for 350 yards and who directs a team as smoothly as if he were driving a 1956 push-button automobile through traffic.

Of Welch, South Carolina Coach Rex Enright said: "He's like a boxer. He keeps you off guard constantly."

Navy is one of four major Eastern teams that will risk undefeated records against dangerous opposition this week-end.

Yale, co-leader of the Ivy League takes on Cornell in an important meeting between the pre-season favorites in that circuit; Princeton meets troublesome Colgate and Boston College plays Detroit Saturday.

NCAA rules allow colleges 20 spring basketball practice sessions which must be within a 30-day period.

Jones Captures Another TV Bout

Decisions Al Andrews in Middleweight Tiff at Miami, Fla.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones decisively defeated Al Andrews last night in a free-swinging middleweight fight at Dinner Key Auditorium.

Jones hammered out a unanimous decision in the 10-round bout that was televised by ABC. Throughout the fight Jones, seventh-ranked middleweight contender from Yonkers, N.Y., ignored Andrews' punches while he got set for his own delivery. Andrews, fighting out of Superior, Wis., scaled 181½, Jones 163½. Referee Pety Sarron scored the fight for Jones 97-96. Judge Mark Erwin called it 99-94 for Jones and Judge Jerry Sherrard saw it 97-94 for Jones. The Associated Press gave Jones 100 points, Andrews 91. A crowd of 2,272 paid a gross gate of $4,816 to see the bout.

Middlecoff, Littler Each Win Four Events

CHICAGO (AP)—When it comes to winning golf tournaments, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Gene Littler were the 1st two pros to take four events this year. Middlecoff won the Crosby Invitational, St. Petersburg Open, Masters and Western Open for his 1st four. Littler took the Los Angeles Open, Phoenix Open, Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas and the Insurance City Open.

AID TO RELAXATION—To coordinate footwork and swing, you've got to be totally relaxed from the start. No tenseness whatever. And to get that "loose" feeling, I suggest you try former world match champion Hank Marino's stance. As sketch shows, you stand erect, the left foot slightly ahead of the right, with the weight entirely on the right foot. It's what Marino calls the added half-step. The left foot is used as an indicator, pointing at the spot on which your slide is to finish at the foul line. You go into stride with the right foot as you push the ball into swing away from your body in timing with the first step.

Take it easy. Make the first step slow, no more than a shuffle, and you'll find that putting footwork and swing together isn't at all difficult. Be relaxed all the way to complete the stride with a full follow-through.

Tackle Central on Even Basis in Friday Tilt

Both Clubs Possess Backfield Speed and Good Passing

Shooting to even its Saginaw Valley Conference standing, Pontiac High School football team Friday night invades Flint Central's camp. Chiefs dropped their 1st SVC encounter to a hard-going Bay City Central crew that capitalized on the breaks to compile a 33-7 count. Game is set for 8 p.m. in Atwood Stadium.

The Wolves, rated as the big Valley threat this season collide Friday with a highly-rated Saginaw High eleven. This battle may point the finger to the ultimate SVC champion.

Chiefs and Central are regarded as just about on even terms. Both possess speed in the backfield, operate good aerial games, and overall, tip the scales not too far apart.

The two big threats in the Tribe's play which Chiefs will have to take care-of are Charles Thrash and Willie Williams. This par packs weight and speed in one instance, and exceptional running ability, plus speed, in the other.

On the other hand, Chief's Charley Spenn at fullback, Jim (Red) Taylor and Freeman Watkins at halfbacks, have plenty of drive, hard running ability and are as fast as any Indians.

A sturdy front line, and good defense are there if full advantage is taken of the potentials they hold. Bob Casteel and Art Poe spark the PHS aerial game.

Hornsby Lone Hitter to Bat .400 Thrice

NEW YORK (AP)—When it comes to .400 hitters Rogers Hornsby stands alone. Of the seven major leaguers who have hit above .400, Hornsby is the only batter to achieve the feat three times. He did it in 1922 with a .420 for the St. Louis Browns and in 1924 and 1925 with a .424 and .403, respectively, for the St. Louis Cardinals. Ty Cobb and George Sisler hit above .400 twice.

Jim Pyburn, Orioles' bonus rookie, played end for Auburn's football team.

Little Volo Rated Favorite at Jackson

JACKSON (AP)—Little Volo, who has finished in the money in 10 of 20 starts this year, will be the probable favorite tonight in the Albin Pace, the 8th and feature race at Jackson Raceway.

Another likely favorite will be Bill Stoy, 6-year-old gelding that boasts a win and a 2nd in its only Jackson starts.

LA Team Purchases 2

Boston College Seeks Contest With Cadets

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—John Curley, graduate manager of athletics at Boston College, says negotiations are under way with Army for a football game between the two institutions.

"We have been negotiating with Red Blaik, Army coach and athletic director, for a possible meeting between the two teams but nothing definite has developed," Curley said last night.

Questioned about a specific date for a game, Curley would only admit that a football meeting between B.C. and Army is "possible" within three years. The two teams held a pre-season scrimmage at West Point last month.

Whitey Lockman, first baseman for the Giants, started his career in the outfield.

Spartans Fully Expect to Wallop Irish

EAST LANSING, Mich. (P)—This is "next year" at Michigan State and Saturday it will be up to a sophomore-sprinkled football squad to gain promised revenge on the vaunted Irish of Notre Dame.

Just a year ago Notre Dame squeezed by the Spartans 20-13. Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty dashed to the Notre Dame dressing room to congratulate young Terry Brennan and his players. He flung this challenge: "Next year we'll beat your brains out."

Daugherty, who is so Irish you'd expect to find him on the Notre Dame side, hasn't forgotten his words although he has not been so brash as to repeat them in public recently. But an observer is left with little doubt that the coaching staff here fully expects to whip Notre Dame.

So far the Spartans have beaten Indiana by a touchdown, lost to top-ranking Michigan by the same margin and then overpowered Stanford 38-14. Notre Dame whipped Southern Methodist 17-0, Indiana 19-0 and the University of Miami 14-0.

Michigan State has speed in halfbacks Clarence Peaks and Walt Kowalczyk; power in a hard-charging line of 200 pounders; and passing talent in quarterback Earl Morrall who hit 4 for 4 against Stanford and 12 for 18 during three games.

What State does lack is experience. Half of the varsity players are sophomores. Three of them will start—Pat Burke at tackle, Kowalczyk at halfback and Dave Kaiser at end.

Kaiser will be a starter for the first time. He played his freshman football at Notre Dame, transferred back to his home state of Michigan, sat out a year of ineligibility and now gets his big chance against his former teammates.

Michigan State uses a multiple offense—variations of the T formation mixed with orthodox single wing plays. Notre Dame hasn't played a single wing team this season.

Notre Dame is a running team and Michigan State's one loss was to a Michigan team that threw only two passes in a full game.

Given a dry field, Daugherty will have the option of a running or passing offense. Peaks at halfback is the Big Ten's leading ground gainer with a 5.4 yard average. Fullback Gerry Planutis, who at 175 is almost 25 pounds lighter than either of the halfbacks, has averaged 4.3 yards.

On the other hand Notre Dame's pass defense has been weak, at least in midfield. The Irish have been passed against 63 times with 31 completions.

Miami made good on 12 out of 13 passes last week in losing to the South Bend squad.

As for revenge—it's been gained before in this series. Michigan whipped Notre Dame 35-0 in 1951 and 21-3 in 1952. Then Coach Frank Leahy promised his Irish faithful: "We'll be back." Leahy retired but Brennan collected last year.

The game has been a 50,000 plus sellout since last spring. For the stay-at-homes it will be televised nationally in color and black and white. Game time is 2 p.m. (EST).

Leading Eastern Rider Once Unknown Jockey

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (P)—Sammy Boulmetis, one of the leading jockeys in the east, was an unknown apprentice in the spring of 1948. The son of an emigrant Greek tailor in Baltimore was so obscure that his horse in the 1st race and the winner of the 2nd race paid a $3,015.40 daily double at Monmouth Park. Now 27, Sam led the Monmouth riders that year and repeated twice since.

"BREAD, BUTTER RUNNER"—Fullback Don Schaefer of Notre Dame is called by Coach Terry Brennan his "bread and butter" runner. He has been one of the main Irish ball carriers this season. He can throw too, Brennan said.

Badgers Leave for USC Game but Look Ahead

Coach to Spell Some Players in Preparation for OSU Battle

MADISON, Wis. (P)—The University of Wisconsin Badgers—the nation's sixth-ranking football team—left for Los Angeles today for a Friday night date with Southern California, but their Big Ten meeting with Ohio State next week rates higher on Coach Ivy Williamson's agenda.

For that reason his six "iron men" probably will be spelled more often against SC than would be the case if it were not an inter-sectional battle.

The six "60-minute men" are fullback Charlie Thomas, center Bill McNamara, end Dave Howard, halfback Pat Levenhagen, guard Wells Gray and end Jim Reinke.

Thomas, Howard and Reinke put in 58 minutes in the 9-0 victory over Purdue last week, while McNamara, Levenhagen and Gray were bracketed at 55 minutes each.

Jim Haluska and Dick Simonsen probably will share the quarterback slot.

The Trojans looked great until the Washington game last week. They overwhelmed Washington State (50-12) and Oregon (42-15) and beat Texas (19-7) before Washington upset them 7-0.

Wisconsin and SC have played only once before, in the Rose Bowl game of 1953. The Trojans won that game 7-0.

Kaline Enters Select Circle as Sophomore

DETROIT (P)—Al Kaline, Detroit's 20-year-old right fielder, is in select company as a hitter. The sophomore who paced both leagues in hitting during 1955 with a .340 average is the 3rd soph to lead both circuits in hitting.

Others are George Stone, a St. Louis Brown rookie who won the American League batting title with .338 in 1906, and Stan Musial, who hit .357 as a soph for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1943. Only other sophs to win batting titles are Paul Waner of the 1927 Pirates with .380 and Pete Reiser of the 1941 Dodgers with .343. Kaline, incidentally, is the youngest soph ever to win a batting title.

12 Amateur Boxers Bound for Europe

NEW YORK (INS)—Twelve U. S. amateur boxers, including nine national AAU champions, will leave next Tuesday for a month-long tour of Europe and bouts with Irish, English, German, Swedish and Scotch teams.

The tour, under the auspices of the AAU, was announced yesterday by Louis G. Wilke of Bartlesville, Okla., president of the AAU.

Wilke said the trip "should furnish the Americans with needed experience for the Olympics and help stimulate interest in boxing at home and abroad."

Traffic Judge, Social Outcast Set for 20th
Hawthorne Race

CHICAGO (U)—Ten handicap stars are expected to go postward in Saturday's $75,000-added Hawthorne Gold Cup.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast and Clifford Mooers' Traffic Judge arrived from New York yesterday for the 20th running of the race which features the wind up of Hawthorne's 35-day meeting. Samuel Tufano's Wise Margin was shipped in Tuesday.

Jet Action of Maine Chance Farm and jockey Willie Shoemaker, the winning combination in the Washington Park Handicap on Labor Day, are expected from the East today. Mrs. Harry L. Nathanson's Blue Choir also is a probable arrival.

Other candidates include Hasty House Farm entry of Sea O Erin and Mister Black, Reverie Knoll Farm's Smoke Screen, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Mr. Paradise, Walmac Farm's Hasseyampa and Harold G. Bockman's Happy Go Lucky.

With 10 starters, the mile and a quarter event will gross $94,600 with $55,750 for the winner.

Trout Adds 18 Ounces

LANSING (U)—A rainbow trout, tagged and released on the Manistee River, was caught a year later 100 miles away in the Betsie River. When tagged the fish was 42 ounces; when caught 60 ounces.

Lane Picks Hutch for 'Work With Kids'

ST. LOUIS (U)—Frank Lane says he picked Fred Hutchinson as 1956 field leader of the St. Louis Cardinals because "He did a helluva job with kids in Detroit and our future is based on youngsters."

WINS PRESS AWARD—Winner of the 1955 Pontiac Press Most Valuable baseball award for Class A City League play, Terry Thomas (above) is a proud champion. The handsome watch is the Press trophy. The large trophy is emblematic of the league's batting championship. Terry hit .517 for the season.

year contract yesterday, was "in my book" the American League Manager of the Year in 1954 because of the fine job he did with young players.

The signing of Hutchinson at a reported $30,000 a year by Lane, general manager of the Cardinals, merely confirmed repeated reports.

Fact is, Lane introduced him jokingly to newsmen with: "Gentlemen, Mr. Jones."

This was in reference to Hutchinson's unsuccessful attempt to register at a hotel the previous night as "Mr. Jones." Newsmen soon learned of it.

Both Hutch and his boss agreed the Cardinals seventh-place finish this year—worst since 1919—will be improved in '56 with an "ultimate" pennant in the future.

When, they wouldn't venture to say.

He takes over from Harry (The Hat) Walker who replaced Eddie Stanky last May. Hutchinson, 36, led Seattle to the Pacific Coast League title this year. He pitched for Detroit in his playing days.

Lane said Walker has been offered a managerial job in the Redbirds' minor league system and he "will let us know in a day or two."

"I picked him to help Frank Lane do a good job," Lane said of Hutch.

He praised Walker but said he didn't know him well and "my eggs are in one basket—the manager's—and I wanted a man in whom I had great personal confidence."

Along with the appointment of the American League immigrant came the announcement of three coaches, two of them one-time Cardinals stars, who should help Hutchinson acquire a knowledge of National League personnel.

They are Terry Moore, Johnny Hopp and Bill Posedel. That latter is the only holdover.

Moore, a coach under Stanky until a personality clash flared up, was a highly regarded outfielder for the Redbirds and managed the Philadelphia Phillies during part of 1954.

Hopp served as a coach under Hutchinson at Detroit in '54. The former outfielder-first baseman managed the Class C Grand Forks, N.D., club in the Northern League part of last season.

Press Awards
Highlight City
Sports Banquet

Terry Thomas Given
Most Valuable Loop Trophy

By H. GUY MOATS
Latest of many Pontiac Press most valuable player awards, for outstanding performance in City Class A Baseball League, and men and women's softball leagues, were made last night.

Awards highlighted the annual banquet for players, officials and sponsors, in St. Benedict's Church hall. Team championship trophies, and individual trophies were also presented at this time.

Upwards of 150 attended the function, over which Dave Ewalt presided as toastmaster. Ewalt is director of parks and recreation.

Winner of the big award, Class A most valuable player, was Terry Thomas.

Terry, former minor leaguer, who waited out a two-year period before becoming eligible for City League play, received the honor in his 1st year as a General Motors team member. His last minor league attachment was with the Memphis, Tenn. club. He is a teacher in Clariston schools. His trophy is a fine watch.

Eddie Seay of the Giles Realty Club received the women's softball award. Tom Piersall of Shaw's received similar honors for the men's softball circuit.

Awards were made by Pontiac Press sports editor.

More about Thomas.

Terry was a centerfielder. He was selected by a "universal panel," that included players, managers and others. He was named because of outstanding leadership (he captained the GM club); for sportsmanship; for playing ability (he led the loop in batting with a .517 mark).

Also taking part in last night's affair were John Streiff of the Parks and Recreation Department; Harold Welch, GMC; Bruce Martyn, WCAR sports director; Larry Payne, WPON program director; Russ Thenn; Jim Jones; Charles Irish, and George Gary.

Michigan's deer herd is said to be increasing rapidly.

OAKLAND-B PRELIMINARY STANDINGS

Roseville	0-3	0

LAST FRIDAY'S RESULTS

Madison 12, Fitzgerald 4
Clawson 24, Lake Orion 6
Avondale 14, Roseville 9
Roseville 12, Troy 4

The Oakland-B League title goes on the block tomorrow night out at Madison.

The bidders: A top ranked Madison Eagle contingent playing before a hopeful Homecoming crowd and an upset minded Clawson Trojan eleven ranked 2nd in the conference carrying a 3-0 loop mark. The triumphant club has an excellent opportunity to capture the crown with only two Oakland-B contests remaining for each.

The two-school's scrap has established a new pattern for the league picture. For many years, Clawson and Madison were considered also-rans in the race. This year the standings tell the story—reversed.

What glory there is to be handed out in the Clawson camp for the team's boost into contention ranks rests with the Trojan 1st year head coach Bob Acton. Bob has pushed his gridders into the present slot after 5th place finishes in 1953-54 and one higher last season.

Hopes at Clawson, prior to the big test Friday, are quite dim according to Acton. "We have plugged along up to now free from injuries, and now that this game comes along the injury list is plaguing us," the head coach said. Despite the list, senior fullback Bud Lumsden is the sole doubtful starter. He suffered a sprained ankle in Trojan's win over Lake Orion last week, 26-0.

Clawson will be looking to All-State candidate senior left halfback Dick Allen to pace the eleven in hopes of overcoming Madison's superior size in the line. Madison averages 15 to 20 pounds heavier than the Trojan forward wall.

It will be a battle of the split-T formations and to date Acton's company has scored 71 points to the opposition's 34. Only defeat suffered was in its opener against non-league Center Line, 21-13. Madison, coached by 5-year veteran Don Scott, allowed the other team to cross its goal line for a total of only 19 points while chalking up 43.

Two prep squads tied for the league lead at the end of last season and presently tied for 3rd place, Avondale and Roseville, do battle in a night encounter at Roseville. In a move for more punch, senior Leonard Dalton has placed Jim Smith at quarterback and Bob Boetsch at fullback.

Yellowjacket coach Frank Crowell also has his troubles this week. He has lost starting right flanker Lynn Wright, probably for the rest of the year, due to a kidney injury. Crowell said he might have to put the Jacket's top scorer Ray Boyl into Wright's slot.

An old rivalry will be renewed when Lake Orion, occupant of the league cellar, tangles with intersectional Oxford at the Dragon's field. Two more injury riddled teams will clash in the afternoon featuring winless Troy and 4th place Van Dyke Fitzgerald. Kick-off is slated at 3:30 at Troy.

Middies Rated Top Defensive College Eleven

Erdelatz' Club Has Not Been Scored on in Three Games

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy's football team will take the nation's top defense into its game with Penn State at University Park, Pa., Saturday for what Coach Eddie Erdelatz thinks may be the sternest threat yet to the Middle goal line.

Navy has not been scored on in its first three games, defeating William & Mary 7-0, South Carolina 26-0 and Pitt 21-0.

"Penn State should have the best offense we've faced," Erdelatz said at a weekly news conference yesterday. "Lenny Moore will be the best running back we've met and may even be the best we'll play against all year."

Navy scouts report that the Nittany Lion attack is geared to its fleet halfback with a quick change-of-pace, who has averaged 5 yards per carry and 77 per game in Penn State's first three games. He ran for 75 yards in a 35-7 loss to Army, the only blemish on the Penn State record. That was more rushing yardage than the entire Michigan team gained against the Cadets in defeating Army last week.

To keep Moore and his mates hemmed in, Navy will rely on a defense that has yielded only 29 yards passing and 79 rushing per game to its first three opponents. The total 108 yard-per-game average is the lowest in the major college bracket as is the 29 pass defense average. Navy's rushing defense is fifth nationally.

Erdelatz said some changes are being made this week to meet the Penn State attack which has scored 68 points in its first three games. But these, he explained, are only modifications. Basic defenses are established before the season begins.

Erdelatz, who has long been recognized as an expert on defense and in the past couple of years has had a strong offense to go with it, is pleased as punch with his squad's showing.

IBL Chiefs Release Manager and Coach

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Syracuse Chiefs of the International Baseball League have released Lamar (Skeeter) Newsome as manager and Bernie Zientars as coach.

Newsome had headed the Chiefs for two seasons. They finished fourth in 1954, won the playoffs and lost to Louisville of the American Assn. in the Little World Series. They finished fifth in 1955.

Guy Lombardo's Tempo VII, winner of Detroit's Silver Cup Regatta, will compete in the International Cup Regatta at Elizabeth City, N.C., on Oct. 12.

Subject of football television came up at a recent get-together between newsmen and Michigan State football coaches.

Newsmen were digging the needle into the coaches because two members of the Spartan staff were spotted watching Notre Dame play Miami on big screen TV last Friday night in Detroit.

Big Ten rules hold that scouts can only watch an opponent three times during any one season.

So how about watching the opponents on television, the MSU coaches were asked.

"I don't know any rule against watching an opponent on TV," said coach Duffy Daugherty. "I don't think there's anything unethical about it or against the rules."

Then Daugherty went on to elaborate.

"Watching a game on TV is very misleading," Daugherty said. "You don't see the secondary and you don't see the defense. You don't see the blocking. The camera just follows the ball."

In a later jawing around it was agreed that the TV camera tries to follow the ball but doesn't always succeed.

Six Huge Ore Ships Planned

Detroit to Be Home Port for Ocean Traveling Carrier-Tankers

NEW ORLEANS, La. (U.S.)—Six of the largest ocean-going vessels ever projected may fly the American flag under Detroit ownership, a U. S. maritime official disclosed today.

The giant freighters of 45,000 tons and costing $10,000,000 each will carry the words "of Detroit" on their sterns.

They will be combination ore carriers and tankers, the first such American-built, American-flag vessels.

Application to construct the six supercarriers has been filed with the U. S. Maritime Board by Troy H. Browning, Detroit ship owner.

This was revealed by Clarence G. Morse, chairman of the Maritime Board and U. S. Maritime Administrator.

ORE TANKERS

Defending his administration against charges that it was not proceeding with an American-flag shipping program, he told the American maritime conference:

"We have received an application for government aid for the construction of six combination ore-carrier tankers."

The Maritime Administration would pay nearly 30 million dollars in subsidy for the giant ships under its plan of fostering an American merchant marine and providing a fleet of freighters for defense purposes.

NO OFFICERS

The balance would be paid by a new firm which Browning incorporated in Michigan two weeks ago as American Bulk Carriers, Inc. Browning, who heads several Great Lakes shipping companies, is president. There are no other officers "at the moment," he said, nor has financing yet been lined up.

Browning refused to disclose his specific plans for the vessels. Reliable guesses are that the big ships will carry iron ore in the summer from the new Labrador mines and in the winter from Venezuela. American destinations would be Philadelphia or Baltimore.

They could be used year round on the Venezuela run.

The 45,000 ton freighters would be able to carry almost twice as much as the largest lake ore carrier. The big ships will be 600 feet long—longer than the greatest lake freighter—and have a width of more than 100 feet.

Bob Considine Says:

It Takes Plenty of Wordage to Say Nothing

NEW YORK (INS) — Most fearless sub-head of the week, from the magazine section of the New York Times:

"Connecticut's Governor says the August Disaster Has Brought a Great Opportunity to Rebuild."

That whirling sound you hear comes from the shade of Cal Coolidge, who once wrote, at a dollar a word, "When a great number of people are out of work, that makes for unemployment."

There was something enormously poignant about Phyllis McGinley's birthday poem to President Eisenhower which the American Weekly printed last Sunday.

This wonderful poet's eye, in a fine frenzy rolling, did glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven: and as imagination bodied forth some weeks back (before Ike's attack and in time for the Weekly's deadline,) Miss McGinley plucked from airy nothingness some fine thoughts about "A General Man From Abilene, Kan."

For his 60th birthday, which is coming up Friday, she wished him:

"Peace for the world that you helped defend;
Good health, good luck, good neighbors;
With now and then, like the rest of men,

A holiday from your labors;
Trout to your line; good laws to sign;

Success to your favorite putter;
And plenty of bread for the nation, spread
With maybe some jam and butter;

Sixty-five candles, sir, properly glowing Plus one to grow on—as you've been growing!"

You don't necessarily have to be a State Department man to have a foreign policy. My friend Conrad Hilton has one. By next year Hilton will have a hotel on every continent except Antarctica. Long-range plans call for the Penguin Hilton.

"But I assure you that if money were all we were after, we could make it right here in this country with a few less headaches." Connie told the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

"Behind this profit motive is a deeper philosophy, a political science, an economics superseding the business of making money; even superseding the philosophy of the Iron Curtain—in fact, ready to pierce the Iron Curtain."

What I propose is bulldozers instead of tanks. I propose sharing our know-how in agriculture, technology, medicine and atomic energy. I propose starting a stream of good men around the world, scientists, technicians, doctors, crop experts, yes, even hotelmen, sharing our wealth of knowledge with those nations who do not yet possess it.

"And sharing our wealth, too, by steering a stream of travelers from the West through these countries; a constant circulation of businessmen and tourists in and out of the Iron Curtain. After all, the biggest business in England, France, Italy and Switzerland is tourism.

"... When the time arrives that we can go into China and Russia, we shall be ready," Connie stated.

Connie, as everyone knows, is a 110 per cent American. It is not true, as stated elsewhere, that he will call his Moscow hotel the Comrade Hilton and the one in China the Peking Tom. Either should be so lucky even to get one called Ye Olde Capitalistic Hilton.

DELINQUENCY ANSWER

Want the answer to juvenile delinquency? Simple. Tune in WRCA-TV any Saturday at 6 o'clock (if you live in the New York area) and watch "Junior Champions," produced by Gerry Gross and Norman Baer and hosted by Vince Scully, the verse of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Kids play, strive for athletic awards, get to meet Joe Louis, Duke Snider, Jack Dempsey, Willie Mays, etc., and never have time (or inclination) to go out and belt some nice old lady over the head. Fine show. Should be one in every town.

Years of Prison Camp Fail to Dim Talented Light of Pianist Turel

A man who became one of Europe's leading pianists, despite five years in a Nazi prison camp during World War II, will present a recital at 8 p.m. Tuesday in St. Mary's College Auditorium, Orchard Lake.

Severyn Turel, 48, has dedicated his life to music since age 8 when he made his debut playing a Beethoven concert in his native city of Lodow, Poland.

Turel's career was interrupted when the artist was captured by German forces while fighting in France in the Polish Army.

He resumed his musical work following the war and has given over 200 recitals throughout France, England and Switzerland in the past four years. He made his initial American appearance in Dec. 1953 and played two concerts at Carnegie Hall in New York City last year.

Turel, who spent the summer at St. Mary's, will begin his program here with the well-loved "Moonlight Sonata" by Beethoven.

The artist will then present five of his own compositions, two preludes, two sketches and the "Polish Rhapsody."

The sketches are from a group of 12 recently put out in book form by a New York publishing house.

Turel composed the Polish Rhapsody while in prison camp. It describes the deluge of enemy armies invading a country and the struggles of the underground in preparation for liberation.

A popular, sentimental composition, "Sospiro" by Liszt will precede a little-known nocturne by Chopin, published after the composer's death.

Other selections from Chopin include three Scottish dances, two waltzes and two etudes, one the "Revolutionary Etude" written by Chopin while inspired by a 19th century Polish attempt to throw off Russian rule.

Two Polish songs are programmed which were written as concert pieces by Liszt from melodies by Chopin and re-worked again by Turel himself.

Turel will perform his adaptation of "Ave Maria" for the first time. The length notes must be held in the composition has discouraged pianists from attempting it before without a violin accompaniment. But Turel has filled in with arpeggios ranging up to 48 notes.

The recital will conclude with Turel playing his own transcription of the "Warsaw Concerto" by Adornell.

Tickets for the concert are available at Calbi's Music Store, 119 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac.

Woman Is Hospitalized in Fight With Neighbor

DETROIT (INS) — A 46-year-old Detroit woman is in critical condition at Saratoga General Hospital today as a result, police said, of an assault by a neighbor.

Mrs. Anna Corsi told police Mrs. Adryann Wolff, 22, attacked her with a broom in her back yard yesterday. However, Mrs. Wolff said it was Mrs. Corsi who first wielded the broom.

The quarrel was the culmination of a neighborhood feud which dates back to last November when an injunction was issued against Mrs. Corsi to prevent her from annoying Mrs. Wolff.

Wyandotte Chimney Will Be Replaced

DETROIT (U.S.) — The top 85 feet of the 220-foot concrete chimney at the Wyandotte Chemicals Corp. plant will be torn down and rebuilt, the company states.

They said an examination of the downriver landmark determined that while there is no danger of the top part falling it cannot be repaired.

Cables and timbers will be used to reinforce the cracked portion so that it will not collapse during dismantling operations starting Monday.

MISLEADING—This car speeds along almost as in response to the sign: "Go Man Go!" which a local artist-joker "installed" under a highway marker: "Resume Speed, Thank You." It is just outside the Franklin, Ohio, city limits. Speed is restricted in the city.

Look! The Friend of the Poor

Argentinians Gaping at Peron's Wealth

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Some of Juan and Eva Peron's wealth—enough jewels, clothes and art treasures for a king-size rummage sale—was put on public display here today by the provisional government.

Valued at more than 6½ million dollars by authorities, the former dictator's riches were shown to newsmen in a preview last night at his former residence in suburban Palermo. Most of them were in a strong room whose door could be opened only by pressing a secret button.

Officials said the treasures had been found in Peron's various homes locked in eight strongboxes which had to be opened with blow torches.

Also on display were some 400 dresses, 600 hats and a great number of purses and shoes said to have belonged to the former President's late wife Eva. The value of her evening dresses alone totaled "several million pesos," an official said.

Among the glittering jewels were a diamond necklace said to be worth $357,000, a group of emeralds valued at $428,000, another diamond necklace worth $214,000, and a collection of decorative ivory objects valued at $71,000.

Two pictures, said to be originals of the Flemish artist Rubens, were valued by authorities at $50,000 each.

It already had been disclosed that Peron possessed a miniature gold elephant with the world's second largest emerald glinting in the forehead. It was not known whether he purchased these objects outright or received them as gifts.

The show, open to the public beginning today, is part of the government's campaign to prove that Peron while calling himself champion of the working man actually lived in lavish wealth.

Peron, meanwhile, continued in exile in Asuncion, capital of neighboring Paraguay. Authoritative sources there said he may soon be packed off to a ranch near Villarrica, about 100 miles from Asuncion. Argentina has asked that he be domiciled far enough away from the Argentine border so that he cannot cause trouble here. Asuncion is on the Argentine border.

Native Students Publish New Guinea Newspaper

NEW GUINEA — For the first time in New Guinea, native students of Fatima College, near Banz, are publishing a newspaper written in English.

The 10-page paper tells of the development of the college and its grounds since it was started last year. There are 200,000 coffee plants in the farm nursery, 5,000 banana trees, pineapples and vegetables.

The "Fatima Chronicle" carries advertisements, too. One says that newspaper for cigarettes is available at the teacher's house for seven cents a sheet or one hour's work on the farm. For a 15-cent stamp, payment is 1½ hours work on the farm.

U.S. Cautioned on Dixon-Yates

GAO Advises Against Quick Solution at Risk of Court Test

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The General Accounting Office, Congress' watchdog on spending, disclosed today that it has advised against any quick settlement that would sign away the government's right to a court test on whether the Dixon-Yates contract is "void or voidable."

It appears certain that the recommendation played a part in the decision by the Atomic Energy Commission to hold up action pending determination of the validity of the pact. The AEC stand came to light Monday in a letter from Chairman Lewis L. Strauss to Sen. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee.

Both Edgar H. Dixon and Eugene A. Yates, heads of the two companies which negotiated the contract, insisted after Strauss' letter was made public that the contract was valid.

If that is correct the government would be liable for cancellation costs probably running into millions of dollars.

Keller said that Frank H. Weitzel, assistant comptroller general and No. 2 man in the agency, has been handling GAO's work on Dixon-Yates.

Five Brothers Patrol Jersey Turnpike

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—If you exceed the speed limits anywhere between Atlantic City and Princeton or on the New Jersey Turnpike there is a good chance you'll get a ticket by a state trooper named Miller.

There are five Miller brothers with the state police.

The oldest, Joseph A. Miller Jr., joined seven years ago after a hitch in the Navy. And as brothers Robert, Leonard, Richard and Gerald completed their military service, they followed in the footsteps of their big brother.

But although they're in the same outfit, they have different shifts and rarely get together.

Drinking Cow's Milk Is 'Disgusting' to Chinese Who Prefer Birds' Nests

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Any one who thinks the milk he's getting is too watery, should not be content to switch dairies. He also should switch beasts.

For that rich, creamy milk, a reindeer can't be beat. Why, even a water buffalo gives richer milk than a cow.

Naturally at this point a question arises: What about the camel? Here cow admirers can relax. A cow's milk is richer than a camel, llama, donkey and mare.

These items from the milky way come to us via the Agriculture Department, publishers of a new booklet, "The pattern of world milk production."

EXPERTS BOTHERED

Secretary Ezra Taft Benson and his agricultural experts are bothered, understandably, by one of mankind's little ironies.

Here is this country, turning out more dairy products than it can use.

Here are two-thirds of the world's population not getting the milk they need.

And the worst of it is, many of those who need the milk the most wouldn't touch the stuff if they could get it.

In the words of Dr. Jacques M.

May, a medical geography specialist:

"Hundreds of millions of adult human beings frown upon its use."

Take Africa. A native of Ruanda-Urundi likes cattle. The more he has, the higher his social prestige. They're useful, too, since he can swap them for a wife. But many of the cows are unproductive, and the report says of Ruanda-Urundi:

"A child, once weaned, may never touch milk again."

DISGUSTING

Or take China. The Chinese like such delicacies as birds' nest soup, but they have an old saying:

"Whosoever drinks the milk of a cow creates a bond of familial parentage with the cow — which is disgusting." Disgusting? What about those birds' nests?

Still, other millions have no aversion to milk, and take it where they can get it.

The cow thrives chiefly in temperate regions, which helps to explain why 10 per cent of all milk swigged comes from some other animal.

OTHER ANIMALS USED

The reindeer—its milk is six times richer than that of the cow—comes in handy in the cold, as does the yak. Goat's and sheep's milk is drunk in many areas of the world. In India, with its water buffalo, more than half the milk comes from some animal other than the cow.

It was in the Middle East, probably six to eight thousand years ago, that man first added milk to his diet. There the herdsman still wanders, much as he did when he first discovered milk's value.

In dry regions of the Middle East a bedouin may go three days without water, and his life depends on camel's milk. Often the milk is poured warm into a leather bag, and allowed to sour.

It seems strange in this age of refrigeration, but the ages-old verdict is:

"A very popular drink which sits well on the stomach in the hot climate."

Prevents Water Splash

CHICAGO—Aerators, now standard equipment on many new faucets, keep water from splashing because bubbles in the stream act like a cushion. Aerators make water taste better, look better, and wash and rinse better.

Furnace Plays Tune

CLEVELAND — A home-music system is being marketed by a Cleveland manufacturer that utilizes hot-air furnace ductwork to pipe tunes into every room in the house served by the ducts.

'Clippies' Now Man London Autobuses

LONDON (INS) — Thousands of London women have forsaken the comforts of home or the dull routine of ordinary jobs for a life of travel and adventure—on the city bus lines.

Six thousand "clippies"—women bus conductors—are now helping to man London's big red or green double-decked busses and more are being recruited at the rate of something like forty a week.

Most of London's "clippies" are girls between 20 and 30, fast on their feet and equally fast with a comeback. Their occupational cry is "Hold tight!" and they scurry up and down the curving stairs of the busses, collecting fares, giving directions, parrying wisecracks and clipping tickets with the little machines suspended from cords around their necks.

A spokesman for London's transportation board explained:

"Women seem to like the idea of an interesting life and a chance to meet people."

Europe to Need More Oil, U. S. Fuel Men Discover

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—American oilmen are rediscovering the Europe from which Columbus sailed to discover America.

While atomic and solar energy are being harnessed economically, oilmen say, Europe is going to need more oil as a quick source of the energy it demands.

American oil companies, in addition to shipping oil to Europe, have invested 750 million dollars in plants there since the war multiplying its oil refining capacity eight times. Jersey Standard Oil's house organ, The Lamp, says this year will see 26 catalytic cracking and reforming speed up output. It predicts that within the next 20 years oil consumption there will double.

Economists of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, say consumption of energy from coal, oil and water power is equivalent to 18,000 pounds of coal a year for each person. In Europe per capita energy consumption is equivalent to 5,600 pounds a year. But it is rising fast in Europe because of the striking increase of late in the standard of living there.

Europe has higher real wages now. Autos and motor scooters multiply on its roads. With this new prosperity has come a desire to substitute machinery for manual labor—a yen which used to be considered chiefly American.

European farmers now look more favorably on mechanization. Factory owners have put in power equipment, thereby raising productivity, and thus hiding their profits and the pay of their employees.

Europe still gets 68 per cent of its energy from coal and 10 per cent from hydroelectric plants. Oil provides 20 per cent, with natural gas making up most of the rest.

Atomic energy is likely to be developed commercially in Europe before it is here because the costs of older forms of energy are higher there. But in the next 10 years, Jersey Standard believes, the atom will satisfy only one fourth of Europe's increased demand for electricity. Three fourths must come from increased consumption of the conventional energy sources.

American oilmen busily observing Oil Progress Week right now may be comforted to hear that the New York bankers think that in the next 50 years the fossil fuels will still be the world's dominant source of energy.

More than 800 U. S. coal mines development within the last eight have been opened and placed in years.

Auto, Train Crashes
Result in Broken Arm

CONCORD, N.C. (AP)—A car plunged off the highway at a bridge approach near here, barreled down a 50-foot embankment and propped itself against a railroad track.

The driver, Mrs. Loretta Lewis of Charlotte, was pinned inside the wreckage. Along came a train, would-be rescuers waved frantically but in vain. The train delivered a rattling side-swipe to the wreckage.

Mrs. Lewis escaped with a broken arm and a few bruises.

Man's Failure to Get Message
Closes Factory

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—A dispute stemming from an employee's failure to receive a message from his wife that she was ill resulted in a shutdown yesterday of the International Shoe Co. plant, which employs 600 persons.

A company spokesman said the employee's failure to receive the message "was definitely a misunderstanding."

The worker said his wife suffered a miscarriage and was unconscious when he arrived home from work last Thursday. His wife, three months pregnant, had telephoned the plant 20 minutes before he was off duty.

A shutdown was forced by a walkout of about 50 CIO boot and shoe workers in the employee's department, who had demanded the foreman be fired. The company spokesman said the plant would remain closed until next Monday.

Officials of the union declined comment but said they would have a statement later.

CARDS FROM HOME—Sara Louise Hamm, of 903 Lake Angelus Rd., Pontiac, a patient at Sister Kenny Polio Hospital at Farmington, displays get-well cards to Mrs. Betty Schrier, assistant director of nursing. The hospital is the only one of its kind in the state. It receives support from the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Trip Through Polio Hospital Shows
Where Portion of UF Money Is Used

Have you ever been inside a polio hospital?

If the answer is "no," then a trip through the Sister Kenny Hospital at Farmington would prove both enlightening and allow you a chance to see how some of your donation to the Pontiac Area United Fund is used.

First-time visitors to the hospital are likely to receive an entirely new slant on the dread disease, its effects on victims, and how it is treated.

Upon entering the building you will notice the lack of any medical odor because the treatments are physical in nature.

You might be guided on your tour by Miss Lois Anderson, hospital administrator. Your questions would bring out some of the following facts.

Many polio patients remain hospitalized for only a few days, others for several months and some for years. A large number of victims recover quickly and completely. Few require use of an iron lung, but all need constant care and attention.

The treatment is expensive. The hospital rate is figured at $25 per day. This includes use of a respirator which cost $2,385, and all necessary packing material of which the hospital uses 150 to 200 pounds each month at $3.60 a pound. It also includes nursing care and services of specially trained therapists who apply hot packs and massage the affected muscles.

Patients pay all or part of costs, said Miss Anderson, "but we never refuse treatment because of a person's inability to pay."

The Farmington hospital serves the whole state, but the bulk of its patients come from Oakland County.

Total patients treated by the hospital from the Pontiac UF area compares closely with number of patients from all of Wayne County. In 1954 there were 209 outpatients and 15 inpatients from Pontiac compared to 194 and 30 from Wayne.

Sen. Knowland Seeks Open GOP Primary

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—In remarks interpreted by listeners as aimed at Vice President Nixon, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said last night no one man should be designated as "an heir-apparent" if President Eisenhower does not seek reelection in 1956.

The Senate minority leader departed from the text of a prepared speech to tell a Republican women's club that he felt "the nation will be better served by a wide-open Republican primary."

If all the land underlain with coal in the U.S. could be placed side by side, it would cover an area larger than all of Great Britain, Erie and France combined.

Hollywood Headlines:

Natalie Moves With Ease
From Child to Adult Roles

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The in-between stage—that hobgoblin of all child actors—holds no terrors for Natalie Wood. She has bridged the gap with the greatest of ease.

Few have been as fortunate. Most kid stars are baffled by that age when they're too old to lick lollipops and too young to pose for cheesecake. Most of them drop out of sight until they have matured enough to play grown-up roles. Not many again achieve the prominence they knew as children.

But Natalie, a cute chick who started in films at 4, looks set for a brighter career than ever. She's now 17.

"I guess I was lucky," she reflected. "I was always skinny when I was young. So when I was 11, I could play a 9-year-old. When I was 13, I could seem 11."

"When I got to be a teen-age type, I was in a TV series, 'Pride of the Family.' The show was pretty bad, but it kept me busy for a year. By the time it was over, I was ready for leading roles."

Warner Brothers recognized the fact and placed her opposite James Dean in "Rebel Without a Cause." She then appeared in "The Searchers" with John Wayne. Warners has just signed her to a seven-year contract.

San Francisco-born Natalie began her acting career in Santa Rosa, Calif., where her family later moved. The townspeople were enlisted to appear in a movie being made on location there. The late Irving Pichel was directing. He took a shine to 4-year-old Natalie.

"I had a scene in which I was supposed to drop my ice cream cone and cry," she recalled vividly.

New Spire Dedicated in Old North Church

BOSTON (AP)—It's official now. The Old North Church has a steeple—a duplicate of the spire from which hung the lanterns that sent Paul Revere on his famed ride back in '75.

The new steeple was dedicated formally "to the glory of God" yesterday by Massachusetts Episcopal Bishop Norman B. Nash.

The old steeple was blown down Aug. 31, 1954, by Hurricane Carol. The new steeple is "the gentlemen of the Bay of Honduras" was occupied for one of the few times since the church's founding in 1740.

The original steeple was built through contributions from Honduran merchants and sea captains and the new was named in their honor.

The Honduran ambassador to the United States, Gen. Carlos Izaguirre Valladares, sat in the pew for the steeple ceremonies.

Government May Reduce Income Tax Next Year

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP)—Rep. John Taber says the government may be able to cut income taxes next year "if tax receipts continue at their present high level."

Taber, ranking Republican minority member of the House Appropriations Committee, said yesterday that any reductions would be "small."

The New York Representative told the Auburn Lions Club that federal tax receipts in the first quarter of this year were a billion dollars more than in the same period of 1954.

Wide-Open GOP Race
Predicted if Ike Resigns

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A wide-open Republican primary if President Eisenhower is not a candidate for reelection was called for tonight by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.).

The GOP Senate leader said the nation would be better served by open competition for the nomination than "by one man being designated as an heir-apparent."

The remarks apparently referred to the possibility advanced by some political leaders that Eisenhower may name his personal choice.

Dryden, Population 600, Up 15 Per Cent

Homes and Industry Grow Steadily

By GLADYS HARRINGTON
Press Dryden Correspondent

DRYDEN — A little town of less than 600 persons, Dryden, "just a nice place to live," is growing slowly but steadily.

Located in Lapeer County, authorities this past month have issued three building permits for houses to be built within the village limits.

To be fair-sized residences, they are to be built by George Nemeth, Earl Millikin and Robert McCauley.

Two other homes are being completed in the area and in the past year, three other homes were constructed.

Dryden's population has increased by 15 per cent in the last two years.

This fact may be attributed to the opening of the Champion Home

Builders, a trailer factory. The company employs 170 men, putting out from six to eight trailers daily.

INDUSTRY GROWS

Another small industry opened recently in the Foundry Building here, and last year a new corporation was formed, known as the Farmers Elevator Co., Inc.

They built huge silos for grain storage and a complete dryer service.

Another much-needed addition also was realized with the opening of a branch of the First National Bank of Lapeer, in the Everson Building.

The Community School, on the state accredited list, offers a full, 12-grade course.

There are three churches, St. Johns Episcopal, Dryden Methodist and the Pilgrim Holiness Church.

A complete reading service is offered to Dryden residents by the Library Association, established here 75 years ago.

Slate 4-H Square Dance

Pledges Grow for Field Lights

$17,000 Now Promised Toward Campaign for High School

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — To date the high school football lights campaign shows a total of $17,000 in pledges, according to Howard Bennett, faculty adviser. The $25,000 project was started with the approval of the Board of Education by a student council committee in the latter part of August.

Pledges are being taken in denominations of $50 and $100. The money will be secured by issuing bonds in those amounts as soon as the pledge drive is completed. These bonds will bear one per cent interest and will be retired in numerical order beginning five years from date of issuance, at the rate of $1500 a year.

Money for this purpose will be acquired from gate receipts. Smaller donations are being taken but they must be in check form made out to the "Football Lights Fund."

Solon Rips Plan for Mental Care

Sen. Francis Claims Wagg Proposal Is Not Far Reaching Enough

MIDLAND (U) — The proposed emergency program offered by Michigan's mental health director for aiding retarded children was under attack by State Sen. Francis (R-Midland) today as "not far reaching enough."

Francis, who is chairman of a joint legislative committee that has been making a study of the mental health program in Michigan, said yesterday Charles A. Wagg's proposed plan contains "no long-range planning."

"I think Wagg is talking of bricks, mortar and institutions in his recommendations while I am more interested in helping the mentally retarded with a long-range program," Francis said.

Earlier this week Wagg submitted plans for an emergency 1½ million dollar program which would provide 1,350 additional beds for the state's retarded children within the next three months.

Wagg also outlined plans for a 15-year expansion of mental health facilities at a cost of about 41 million dollars.

The emergency program included purchase of a tuberculosis sanatorium in Oakland County and the Farmington Children's Hospital as well as expansion of existing facilities and placement of retarded children in other institutions.

Francis said he hoped to learn full details of Wagg's proposals today at a conference called by Gov. Williams in Lansing. The governor said he wanted to hear the views of legislators connected with the problem before making his recommendations at a special session of the Legislature Nov. 1.

Denmark Offers Tourist Treats

Arts, Crafts Exhibition on Copenhagen Agenda for Autumn

COPENHAGEN—Danish artisans will hold open house for tourists during a major exhibition of arts and crafts early this fall. This nationwide show, a part of the Scandinavian Design Cavalcade, will feature the latest Danish work in silver, brass, porcelain, textiles, ceramics and furniture.

Visitors will find any number of rare buys in this land where artistic work is held in high esteem by everyone from the royal family to the humblest workman. Unusual patterns in silver, for example, are designed by Sigvard Bernadotte, brother of the queen.

The best of Danish goods has been brought together under one roof called "The Permanent," a display of just about everything of top quality and all of it for sale.

Prices and quality, incidentally, are supervised by a committee representing the artists and manufacturers, and whether one goes in for Danish milk and court silver or a box of local cigars, the cost runs about one-third less than in the United States.

Just across the street from "The Permanent" in the heart of Copenhagen is another kind of showplace which the Danes call Tivoli. This is one of the world's most magnificent amusement parks covering 850,000 square feet with gardens, fountains and colored lights.

FIREWORKS DISPLAYS

Daily, a group of toytown soldiers, the Tivoli Guard, dressed in the style of the King's Guard, parades through the grounds. And several times a week, the gardens close with a magnificent burst of fireworks that illuminates the whole of this fairland.

More formal amusements begin in the fall when Tivoli closes for the season. The Royal Theater has been the center for ballet, plays and the opera since 1748.

Just an hour's ride from Copenhagen on the Danish Riviera is one of the most plush seaside hostels in the world. Called Kystens Perle, or Pearl of the Coast, this Palm Beach-type establishment offers such amenities as movie screens inlaid in bar tops and private push button panels to record telephone messages on a dictaphone.

Nearby, too, is one of Denmark's most famous landmarks, Kronborg Castle in Elsinore, where the melancholy Dane once lived.

Road Equipment Bids Opened

Walled Lake Council Determine Purchases at Special Meet

WALLED LAKE — At a special meeting of the Walled Lake City Council Tuesday night, bids were opened on road maintenance equipment and some purchases determined.

A 1955 Chevrolet chassis was purchased from Taylor Chevrolet Sales in Walled Lake. To this chassis will be added a root undertruck scraper and additional strengthening by the Shults Equipment Company of Ithaca. The grader will be a 10 foot unit with hydraulic controls.

No decision was made on awarding the bids for the front mounted plow or the truck body. Both of these will be determined at next week's regular meeting.

According to city manager, A. J. Koenig, the equipment should be complete in 30 days and the city able to service its gravel roads.

Following the opening of the bids a joint meeting of the council and the city planning commission was held. Matters which the council asked the commission to study were: to determine which roads in the city should be blacktopped, what kind of blacktopping to use, and drainage of these roads. They also were to work out a plan for street lights for the entire city.

The joint group decided to retain the services of Waring and Johnson, consulting city planners, of Detroit to develop a detailed zoning ordinance for the city. At present the city is using the Commerce Township ordinance which does not meet all of the needs of the city.

For Suspicious Wives

2.8 of Stained Clothes Sport Lipstick Smears

WASHINGTON (INS) — For the benefit of husbands with suspicious wives, a survey discloses that stains on clothing are more likely to come from spilled gravy and food than from lipstick.

The survey conducted by the National Institute of Drycleaning reported 10.2 per cent of all stains removed by the nation's drycleaners are the gravy and food type while only 2.8 per cent are lipstick.

The nearby Silver Spring, Md., drycleaning school queried 2,000 of its graduates and came up with these results:

Thirty per cent of all stains removed by drycleaners consist of such categories as gravy, food, blood, milk, ice cream and eggs.

Twenty per cent come from spilled coffee and tea, soft drinks, alcoholic drinks and fruit juices.

Eleven per cent come from paint stains and 11 per cent from miscellaneous sources such as grass stains, shoe polish, mustard, ketchup and tar.

COOKING OILS

Eight per cent are the result of cooking oils and salad dressing and 7 per cent come from misapplied cosmetics.

Five per cent are dye stains, mostly ink, and 4 per cent are medicine stains such as iodine and mercurchrome. The final category of stains are glue and adhesives, which account for 4 per cent.

The Institute said it will submit the results of its inquiry to researchers in the hope of discovering better ways to remove spots and stains.

For the time being, the poll certainly provides ammunition for husbands of the nation.

Powell Tells Why Actors Go Into Producing, Directing

Stars Motivated by Income Tax

TV's 4-Star Playhouse Is One of Ex-Crooner's Enterprises

By CHARLES DENTON
HOLLYWOOD (INS)—That old and obnoxious American custom, the income tax, has caused many a sob and wrought many a change among the high-salaried inhabitants of Hollywood.

Among the most important of these changes has been the conversion of the simple, carefree stars of movies' lush days into hard-eyed businessmen capable of handling themselves like Rockefeller in the tough world of profit and loss.

Few stars worth their salt have not plunged into the business end of their trade, producing and directing their own efforts and even heading their own film companies.

A case in point is Dick Powell, who, at 31, has run the theatrical gamut from a singer of slightly saccharine songs to a pugacious private eye and, finally, to a producer-partner-star of television's "Four Star Playhouse."

And there's no secret about why he and most of his picture pals are sweating over ledgers as well as scripts these days.

"It's very simple," he shrugged, tilting back in his chair behind a littered desk in his office at Columbia Studio. "We're all trying to make money, and you can't do it on a salary."

"Taxes take too big a bite, so you have to find another way to make it."

CITES JACK WEBB

Powell studied, space intently and pointed out several other reasons for the dual, and even treble, personalities that most stars are assuming.

"Look at it this way," he said. "Who is better qualified to produce and direct some of these shows? Who, for example, could produce and direct 'Dragnet' better than Jack Webb?"

"Then, too, while I'm very grateful for my movie career, I had to work under a lot of guys I didn't respect very much. As you get older, there comes a time when you no longer want to be told to do this or that or you won't get paid."

Even more important, Powell said, is the independence a star derives from handling his own business problems. It enables him to pick and choose his roles and thus dodge the fate of actors who go before the public in too many inferior pictures.

"I learned a long time ago that making too many pictures is the quick way to kill yourself," he explained. "People get tired of looking at you. Why, I just won't let June this famous spouse, June Allyson) work unless it's a good part. Why should she?"

Dick is currently producing and directing a musical version of the Academy Award winning flicker "It Happened One Night" with his wife in the starring role. But he admitted it's quite a chore.

PREFERS TO DIRECT

"I really prefer to direct," he said. "Producing involves so much detail and paper work. The telephone alone ruins your whole day."

Powell and his partners, David Niven and Charles Boyer, produce—but don't direct—their individual "Four Star Playhouse" shows.

Powell grinned broadly at the inevitable question about whether he ever plans to croon again for public consumption.

"I have a chance to do some records, but I just haven't the time right now. I still sing, though. I sing 25 minutes a day—on my way to work. People must think I'm daffy."

Train Ferry at Straits Resumes Trips Today

CHEBOYGAN (AP)—Shut down since Friday by mechanical troubles, freight service via train ferry across the Straits of Mackinac was expected to resume today.

The ferry Saint Marie was tied up at St. Ignace after a throttle valve burst. The part was taken to Manitowish, Wis., for repairs and was expected back today for installation.

Thirty cars of freight were waiting at Mackinac City to be taken to St. Ignace across the Straits. Cars arriving in St. Ignace were diverted over other routes.

The other train ferry of the Mackinac Transportation Co., the Chief Wawatam, is in a shipyard at Manitowish for repairs.

Borden Adds to Plant

NEW YORK (AP)—The Borden Co. will complete a new addition by next June to its chemical division's Illinois plant, which will boost capacity by 25 per cent, according to Augustine R. Marand, Borden chemical division president. The plant produces butadiene styrene and vinyl acetate emulsions, widely used in manufacture of water based paints.

Britons Fretting as Buckingham Silence Prevails

LONDON (AP)—Fifty Million Britons positively latched with curiosity today over the next move (if any) in the romance (if there still is one) between Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

The principals let them go right ahead and litch.

It was the worst case of mass frustration hereabouts since the word got around in 1936 that King Edward VIII was making eyes at Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Still unassured and unsighted—was the long-forecast official public statement which is supposed to fill the nation in on the prospects of another marital alliance between the royal house and the common people.

CLOGGED TIGHT
Buckingham Palace pipelines were clogged tight.

Townsend, arriving in London last night for a month's leave from his post of British air attaché at Brussels, had nothing to tell newsmen that he hadn't told them before—which in essence was that he isn't talking.

Margaret, boarding her train in Scotland for an overnight trip to the capital after a summer vacation, said only: "It has been a grand holiday but I am looking forward to going home."

Gets New Promotion
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—General Foods Corp. has announced the appointment of Dr. Roger M. Bellows as director of personnel research and communications. He is a former Detroit personnel management consultant.

MANISTIQUE (AP)—H. E. Benson, freight traffic manager for the Soo Line's western division, died unexpectedly Wednesday on a Soo train en route from his home in Minneapolis to Sault Ste. Marie. He was traveling to Toronto, Ont.

So Railman Dies

Hammerstein's Uncle Dies of Heart Attack

LANTAN, Fla. (AP)—Arthur Hammerstein, a member of one of the world's leading theatrical families, died yesterday, apparently of a heart attack. He was 82.

He was the producer of famous "Naughty Marietta" and 29 other musicals in about 40 years in show business.

Oscar Hammerstein II, a famous playwright, lyricist and producer is his nephew. His father Oscar Hammerstein I was a producer in both this country and Europe.

Hammerstein retired from show business about 25 years ago and was a winter resident here many years.

Other famous musicals he produced include "Rose Marie," "Midwinter," and "Kantinka."

Smokeless powder was first manufactured in the United States in 1890.

"ETERNAL BEAUTY" diamonds are cut so that when light enters, it is reflected from facet to facet and comes back through the top in a rainbow blaze.

In a stone that is too deep, much of the light is reflected to opposite facets at the wrong angle to return through the top and so is lost through the sides.

of the light is lost as it fails to be reflected at all and "leaks" out the bottom.
