Hoffa Destroying Decent Labor, Say Probers

Lawmakers Meet to Iron Out Taxes

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's tax fight shifted to the House-Senate conference phase today after majority Republicans pushed their one cent use (sales) tax increase through the Senate a third time.

The bill, heart of the GOP Senate revenue program, cleared last night on 20 to 11 vote amid new signs of political jockeying over details of a final settlement.

Left behind by GOP strategists was the business activities tax (BAT) revision bill and a two million dollar addition to intangibles tax paid by banks.

The BAT measure carries the last hope of Democrats for making business shoulder part of the new revenue load. The House approved it with a two per cent surtax on corporation profits.

The House, with only 70 members present, delayed the formality of throwing the use tax bill into conference until the afternoon session, when a fuller attendance was expected.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), calling GOP tax shots, said what is done with the bill, and when, "depends on developments" in conference bargaining on the use tax increase.

He wouldn't amplify, but seemed to mean Republicans might yield to a token bite on business generally — not just corporations — if Democrats softpedaled arguments that GOP senators are coddling corporations.

FOR SMALL BUSINESS

After huddles with House leaders last Friday, Morris drafted a proposed BAT formula, not yet disclosed, that he said would give "some" relief to concerns making little or no profits.

In debate last night, Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) raised GOP revenue sights for fiscal 1959-60 another 10 million dollars. This was on top of a three million revenue increase he forecast last Thursday.

Geerlings cited record high July sales tax collections, and a guarded forecast by Revenue Commissioner Louis M. Nims that sales tax receipts could hit 318 million dollars.

Booming business was bound to pump up predictions on yields from other revenue sources, he argued.

As their part in the jockeying, Senate Democrats withheld votes needed to give the use tax increase immediate effect. They admitted trying to counter GOP strategy.

Besides boosting the use (sales) tax to four per cent, the Senate bill would apply the higher levy to hotel and motel rooms, telephone

ARTHUR C MOONEY

Teacher Given Jackson Term

Free on Bond Pending Appeal of Conviction on Gross Indecency Charge

Minutes after he was sentenced to 2 to 5 years in Jackson Prison, a former Waterford Township High School mathematics teacher was out on a $1,000 bond pending an appeal to the State Supreme Court, on his gross indecency conviction.

Arthur C. Mooney, 50, returned to a farm he is living on in Imlay City as his attorney, Carlton S. Roeser of Pontiac, prepared legal papers opposing his May 6 conviction by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury of eight women and four men.

Mooney, formerly a principal for a Chicago elementary school before coming to Oakland County, appeared this morning before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for his often-postponed sentencing.

He was pale and thin after spending seven weeks at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dearborn with a liver ailment.

Mooney, formerly of Commerce Township, was charged with gross indecency after an investigation into an accident last December in West Bloomfield Township in which one of Mooney's students was killed.

Three other students in the car said in a statement to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem that Mooney purchased two six-packs of beer for them before the accident from a grocery near his home, using their money.

At the same time, two of the three survivors of the crash told of having immoral relations with Mooney in his Pontiac Township motel apartment in February of last year.

Later he was cleared of a second charge of furnishing beer to minors. Pending still are his appeals of convictions of drunk driving, and driving with a revoked license.

GMC Is Only Bidder Seeking DSR Contract

GMC Truck & Coach Division was the only bidder yesterday seeking to sell 150 to 300 new buses to Detroit's DSR bus system.

The Division's bid was $25,417.80 for each bus, with air conditioning costing $4,193.18 extra per coach.

The DSR Commission took the bid under consideration and decided, informally, to ask Mayor Louis C. Miriani whether extra money should be spent on air conditioning.

Action on the bid is expected within 10 days, said Leo J. Nowicki, DSR general manager.

Nixon Pleads for End of War; Visits Ghetto

Then he made a plea for the end of racial prejudice as he stood on the spot of Warsaw's destroyed Jewish ghetto.

He coupled his pleas with the warning there must never be another war because cities such as Warsaw would be destroyed.

Nixon plans to fly back into Washington tomorrow at 2:30 p.m., (EST), ending his 15-day European trip.

Today, he stood before the remains of a bombed-out building where Jews fought in their last bunker to resist "the almost indescribable suffering of the Jewish people in Poland and other countries."

"As we move into what we hope will be a period of peace and of good will, whatever be our economic or social philosophies, we must all unite to fight against prejudice and racial hatred because here is what happens when such passions are released," Nixon said.

Earlier he had gone to Palmiry Forest where he laid a wreath on the site of graves of 2,200 Poles slaughtered in Nazi mass executions early in World War II.

HONORS TRACK STAR

He laid a special wreath on the the grave of Janusz Kusocinsk, Poland's 10,000-meter run winner in the Los Angeles Olympics in 1932.

Among others who died there, American officials said, were Parliament Speaker Maciej Rataj; and Mieczyslaw Niedzialkowski, Socialist party leader and editor.

Nixon was the first foreign dignitary to visit the site.

In his statement on the spot where the ghetto stood, Nixon said "this should help us realize the

'59 Pontiac Output Still Leads Field

From Our Wire Services

Pontiac Motor Division continued to lead the medium-priced field as automakers reported their July production was up more than two-thirds from the same month a year ago.

Auto companies said 555,384 cars were assembled last month and a total 3,838,401 so far this year.

By comparison, last year in July 321,130 cars were built and the seven-month total stood at 2,561,433.

All five companies reported hefty increases over 1958 figures.

GM said there were 41,586 Pontiacs assembled last month, bringing the seven-month total this year up to 289,229. There were 16,490 Pontiacs assembled during July of last year and 136,675 during the first seven months of 1958.

Pontiac production figures for July were topped only by the low-priced Chevrolet, Ford, Plymouth and Rambler.

Other July production figures released by GM included 162,130 Chevrolets, 38,115 Oldsmobiles, 16,836 Buicks and 14,124 Cadillacs, compared with 111,188 Chevrolets, 23,292 Oldsmobiles, no Buicks and 11,825 Cadillacs produced in July 1958.

In the first seven months of this year, GM built 1,047,676 Chevrolets, 264,144 Oldsmobiles, 158,426

VISIT TO BE REPEATED — President Eisenhower, who yesterday announced his intention of trading visits with Soviet chief Nikita Khrushchev, will be no stranger to Russia. The then Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower rode with his Soviet counterpart, Marshal Georgi Zhukov, on a tour of Leningrad during a 1945 visit to the Soviet Union at the end of World War II. Marshal Zhukov, later Russian defense minister, since has been demoted. The President said he will visit Russia following Khrushchev's trip to this country next month.

Khrushchev Due Sept. 15 in Washington Via Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — It now appears that Nikita S. Khrushchev will begin his momentous visit to the United States on Sept. 15.

State Department officials said today it is safe to assume the Soviet premier will arrive here that day. They said they could not officially confirm that date, however, since the final word has to come from Khrushchev himself.

Where Khrushchev will land in the United States depends on the type of airplane he will use, officials said. It is expected in any case, that he will come directly to Washington.

Informants said that since Khrushchev is an official guest of the United States, his visit to Washington would by all mean precede an eventual appearance elsewhere, such as the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

This does not rule out the possibility that the Russian leader may address the Generas Assembly after his Washington visit.

President Eisenhower mentioned only September in announcing yesterday that Khrushchev would come here, and that later in the fall he would return the Russian's visit.

In any event the Khrushchev-Eisenhower exchange of visits raises U. S.-Soviet diplomacy to the summit level, whether or not it results in a formal summit conference on a broader scale.

His exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and an earlier trip to Europe to confer with heads of the major western Allies will give Eisenhower direct contacts with the participants in any later summit meeting.

A generally favorable reaction, both in this country and elsewhere in the world, greeted Monday's announcement that Khrushchev has accepted Eisenhower's invitation to visit the United States next month.

HOPES EXPRESSED

Many expressed hope that East-West tensions would be eased if Khrushchev were impressed first hand with the nation's strength and peaceful intentions.

Talks with Eisenhower and a 10-day tour of the country are among the plans for the Khrushchev visit. Reports from Moscow said the Soviet Premier is expected to bring along his wife, son and daughter.

With most details still uncertain, there has been no announcement

Antifreeze Highballs Kill Five Prisoners

PUTNAMVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A weekend binge on highballs made from antifreeze and soft drink powder brought death to five Indiana prison farm prisoners.

At least a dozen others are less seriously ill as a result of drinking the mixture. The victims were: Raymond Morton, 23; Paul Durcho, 39; Carlos P. White, 28; and Jesse W. Tudder, 41.

The antifreeze was taken from drums in a garage at the farm.

Ivan Expects Good Will Come of Visit Swap

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—The climate of Soviet-American relations improved sharply and suddenly with the announcement that President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev will exchange visits.

A sampling of man-in-the-street opinion in Moscow indicated a general feeling that "nothing but good can result" from the visits. It also revealed considerable good will for Eisenhower.

"We respect President Eisenhower for his wartime leadership and apparent devotion to peace," said a student from Moscow's electrical institute.

"Comrade Khrushchev said the President knows what war means and that he honestly fulfilled his (wartime) agreements with us. Need more be said?"

"It's high time the heavyweights got together," said another Russian.

Warrick Assets Being Checked

Internal Revenue Men Probing Possibility of Tax Evasion

Pontiac police today were still without a motive, and a murderer, in the slaying of Dr. W. Carleton Warrick, while federal treasury agents were making an investigation into his financial assets.

Meanwhile, James F. Deane, assistant director of the Detroit district office of the Internal Revenue Service, said agents were making a "routine" investigation.

"We make such an investigation wherever there appears a possibility there may have been an income tax evasion," Deane said.

He would not comment on a report that agents found an estimated three-quarters of a million dollars in stocks and bonds in the Pontiac office of Dr. Warrick, at 24½ E. Huron St.

The 71-year-old doctor was shot in his office on the evening of July 24 by a bandit, whom he later described as having a "very red face" and who announced he intended to rob the doctor.

However, Taylor believes robbery was not the motive because officers discovered $100 strewn about his office. Another $1,400 was found in the doctor's trousers.

Although he would not go into detail about what they were investigating, Taylor said there was "some question about the doctor's background."

Cleared after he passed a truth serum test administered Sunday was Lloyd J. Tunnell, 53, who operates a rest home at 1755 Williams Lake Rd. Tunnell had been

Senators Fling Charges in New Report Today

Group Claims Leader of Teamsters Abuses His Union Members

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The Senate Rackets Committee asserted in a new report today that Teamster President James R. Hoffa "will successfully destroy the decent labor movement in the United States" if his power remains unchecked.

The committee flung its allegations in a report prepared to be filed with the Senate this afternoon by Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark).

The committee said no member of the eight-man committee raised a dissent to the findings.

"In the history of this country," the report said, "it would be hard to find a labor leader who has so shamelessly abused his members or his trust."

The committee made public the report before filing it with the Senate, after learning that a preliminary draft which was substantially accurate had been leaked to some newsmen.

The committee outlined a 21-point indictment against the controversial boss of the nation's largest union in the first section of an interim report based on its 1958 hearings.

It charged that Hoffa has formed, or is attempting to form, alliances with elements of crime, corruption and Communists both within and without the giant truckdrivers' union.

The section of the report dealing with Hoffa was expected to be filed in the Senate later today. Parts dealing with three other unions will be filed tomorrow and other sections will follow later in the month.

The committee lambasted Hoffa and his associates on a half-dozen points, including his "faithlessness" to his own union, his "callous repression of democratic rights" and his ties with racketeers.

The committee recalled that it had called Hoffa's Union leadership "tragic" in an earlier report based on 1957 hearings. Since then, it said, testimony of "even more sordid nature" has developed.

FINAL REPORT COMING

The report did not touch on the recent hearings involving Hoffa. These findings will be included in its final report expected to be published next January.

"In 1958," it said, "ignominy was piled on ignominy as the testimony wove through stories of violence, financial manipulations, callous repression of democratic rights and racketeer control."

In the face of this "ugly situation," it said, Hoffa and some of his Union underlings appeared to take the attitude that "they are above the law."

The report said Hoffa sought to "justify his outrageous behavior" by claiming he was acting in the best interests of his Union members.

But, it said, "he has betrayed these members so frequently that it has become absolutely clear that Hoffa's chief interest is in his own advancement and that of his friends and cronies—a great number of whom are racketeers.

Typhoon Ellen Roars Toward Okinawa

Air Force weathermen in Tokyo said winds of 115 miles an hour would hit the island by 2 a.m. Wednesday (2 p.m. EDT Tuesday).

The typhoon, dubbed "Ellen," was 224 miles southeast of Okinawa at 1 p.m., (midnight EDT), moving northwest at 15 miles an hour. It was expected to be 98 miles northwest of the island tomorrow morning.

Earlier, the Tokyo weather bureau said the storm was not expected to hit Japan, But shipping between Japan and Okinawa was suspended because of heavy rains.

Blind Cigarette Girl at Courthouse

Hears All but Tells Nothing

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

Ada Dodson has done business with some of the most influential men in the county . . . with some at the other end of the pole, too.

She has overheard confidential conversations of judges and criminals alike.

She can be trusted. Ada hears all, knows all and tells nothing. She sees nothing. She has been blind for 17 years.

Ada has the cigarette, candy and soda pop concession in the Oakland County Courthouse on Saginaw and Huron streets.

Her counter occupies a small corner on the first floor, situated in a good vantage point to both entrances of the building. This month marks Ada's 10th year in that spot.

She recognizes voices easily and a day doesn't go by that each of the courthouse employes doesn't have a cheery word for her, and she for them.

But, it's more than just "Hi," she says.

Ada's counter is the conversation corner in the old building. It is a place to congregate and discuss old news, current happenings or simply the weather.

Ada is kept well informed, and more observant, say her friends, than many people who have sight.

"People ask me for directions all day," says Ada. "When it's right there in front of them. I still have to point out the drinking fountain, the telephone or the stairway. I guess they just don't look."

Ada makes change by "feel." She can tell a dime from a penny by its rough edges, a nickel by its size and thickness, and a quarter from a half dollar by its rough edges. She will change a dollar bill, but nothing higher

"Some blind people say they can tell a dollar bill from a five dollar bill," says Ada, "but I don't believe it. They must be fibbing. There's no difference in size. They must be able to see a little bit."

Ada went totally blind at the age of 17, during her senior year in a Tennessee high school. She doesn't know how it happened or what caused it. "I guess I studied too hard," she says.

She came to Pontiac in 1943 and learned of her present job through a friend in a braille class.

"This is the first job I've ever had in my life," says Ada. "I guess I'm a lazy one."

She says she doesn't miss the use of her eyes.

"I think if I could see all of a

CIGARS, CANDY AND PLEASANTRIES — This might well be the motto of Ada Dodson's stand in the Oakland County Courthouse. Her cigarette and candy counter is probably the most popular spot in the courthouse. Although being blind since she was 17, Ada's disposition and cheery outlook on life could serve as an example for all. One of her satisfied customers is attorney Joseph F. Kosik (right) of 160 Mohawk Rd.

FBI Hesitating in Cases on Probers' Periury List

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Justice Department officials said today the FBI still is investigating only six of 42 cases submitted by the Senate Rackets Committee for possible perjury prosecution.

The six cases involve 17 individuals.

Most of the other cases, many involving Teamster Union officials, were dropped on the grounds that there was not enough evidence to get a conviction. There have been no convictions among the 42 cases.

Assistant Attorney General Malcolm R. Wilkey explained that while contradictory testimony before the committee may show someone was lying, court proof of perjury is another matter.

The department went to court with charges against two Union officials — Teamsters' organizer Clyde C. Crosby and James G. Cross, president of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Union.

OUT OF BOUNDS

But it lost out in both cases, when the judge ruled that the rackets committee had asked questions which were not relevant to its legislative purpose.

Wilkey pointed out that it is perfectly proper for the committee to fire "multiple-barreled" questions at witnesses testifying under oath. But such questions, he said, would be out of bounds in the courtroom.

"We have to have a question," Wilkey said, "that will stand up in court. It has to be proper."

"Naturally," he continued, "the committee does not tailor its questions for possible perjury . . . since its objective is not to nail a witness for prosecution."

The government's role, he added, however, is to prove "by clear, convincing evidence to the satisfaction of 12 men — who was lying. It also has to have two witnesses to make its point."

HARD TO PROVE

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Committee has been sympathetic to the department on this score. He recently told reporters he realized the difficulties in proving perjury despite conflicting testimony.

But rackets committee counsel, Robert F. Kennedy, has fired some barbs at the Justice Department. Last year, he criticized the department for taking "no action" on perjury cases referred to it.

Security Force Plans for Mr. K

Expect Protests While Red Boss Visits U.S., Eisenhower Concerned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Worried security officials worked today to devise airtight arrangements to protect Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev during his visit to the United States next month.

One local police official, accustomed to guarding VIP visitors, said Khrushchev's visit was likely to touch off protests by organized groups and individuals "who just plain don't like the guy or Russia."

The official said Khrushchev was sure to attract more demonstrators than his deputy premiers Frol R. Kozlov and Anastas I. Mikoyan, who visited here recently, because the Russian leader is much better known in this country. A major international incident would be caused if Khrushchev was harmed while in the United States.

State Department security officers will have primary responsibility for guarding the Soviet chief. They will be aided by the Secret Service, FBI, local police here and in other cities Khrushchev will tour, and the Russian's own guards.

The State Department security forces held the first of a series of planning sessions within hours after President Eisenhower announced yesterday that Khrushchev was coming. District of Columbia police held a similar planning meeting.

One veteran security chief said if any incidents do happen, "it won't be for lack of trying" to prevent them.

Eisenhower is known to be concerned about the security problem and anxious to avoid any incidents. He told reporters in announcing the visit that Russian officials had been alerted to the fact that there were "uncontrolled individuals" in this country. He said he was certain "that we can control this matter."

The President has told friends that public opinion in this country must be prepared carefully to avert anti-Khrushchev demonstrations.

He Can't Move River Rouge, Say Property Owners

The homeowners took the issue to court and Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore scheduled a hearing for Thursday at which time Esriel Weissman will be asked to show cause why he should move the river.

Nine residents in a subdivision near Telegraph and Lyndon west of Detroit charged that Weissman is having a new river bed cut 300 feet closer to their subdivision.

They said running the river closer to their homes will cause a flood and health menace.

The homeowners contend that Weissman is rerouting the stream to increase the footage of usable land he owns fronting on Telegraph.

Don't Fence Me In!

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Shaw charged yesterday that their neighbor was too emphatic in protesting against a fence they put up. They filed a court suit claiming that Mrs. Margaret B. Olander cut the fence wire, pulled out hooks, tried to dig up the cement blocks that anchored the fence, uprooted the Shaws' flower garden, and turned a hose on Mrs. Shaw when she tried to work in the garden.

Ed 'Petrovich' Sullivan Wows 'Em

Russians Applaud Variety Show

By ALINE MOSBY

MOSCOW (UPI) — Ed "Petrovich" Sullivan, speaking haltingly in Russian instead of English, opened a Soviet tour last night with a gala premiere of a variety show staged as part of the American exhibition here.

The show was approximately the mixture Americans are accustomed to seeing on television — jugglers, pretty singers in tight, low-cut dresses, a contortionist and a magician, among other acts.

Ballerina Nora Kaye and operatic soprano Rise Stevens, singing "Getting to Know You" in Russian, provided a spice of culture to the bill.

An audience of intent, smiling Russians applauded every act, although in some cases it wasn't certain that they got the point. The turns they liked particularly were called back repeatedly for bows.

A critic for the official Tass agency said the audience "accepted the performance in a very warm, friendly manner."

Sullivan's show, specially tailored for Russian audiences, is scheduled to play two weeks in the outdoor theater in Moscow's Gorky Park. He plans also to play Odess and Tbilisi (Tiflis) before returning home.

The TV master of ceremonies, whose father's name was Peter, adopted "Petrovich" (Peterson) as his middle name for the duration of the tour.

Sullivan delighted the audience by introducing the acts in halting Russian, a language he learned during a recent three-week stay in Las Vegas.

"I was the only person in Las Vegas studying Russian roulette," he quipped last night.

In addition to the Misses Kaye and Stevens, hits of the show included dancers Marge and Gower Champion and a team billed as Janik and Arnaut featuring a girl contortionist who coiled around her partner like a snake.

The Barry sisters, in white dresses so tight they could hardly walk, drew gasps of delight with a jazz version of the Russian song "Dark Eyes."

The girls also sang a medley of western songs, wearing pink-and-white, sequined "cowboy dresses," but Americans in the audience weren't sure the Russians got the point.

John and Bonnie Shirley made a hit with the balloon-loving Russians by twisting balloons into animal shapes and floating them out into the audience. The Russians swarmed out of their seats to grab at the balloons.

The Russians also liked soprano Margaret Tynes, who sang songs from "Porgy and Bess"; Hawaiian tenor Charles Davis, singing in his native tongue, and Eddy Mannon, who played Rimsky-Korsakoff music on a harmonica.

DR. JAMES R. KILLIAN JR.

GM Elects Board Member

Dr. Killian Has Long History of Service to Nation, Education

The Board of Directors of General Motors yesterday elected Dr. James R. Killian Jr. a member of the board.

Dr. Killian is chairman of the Corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a member and former chairman (1957-59) of the President's Science Advisory Committee.

He is a leading figure in the fields of education, science and public service. He holds honorary degrees from 27 of the nation's leading colleges and universities as well as a doctor of applied science degree from the University of Montreal.

Dr. Killian was graduated from M.I.T. in 1926 and became assistant managing editor of the Technology Review at M.I.T. the same year. He was editor of the Review from 1930-39. From that position, he advanced to various executive posts at M.I.T., becoming the Institute's tenth president.

Among the many public service posts Dr. Killian has held are chairman of the Army Scientific Advisory Panel, 1951-56; special assistant to the President of the United States for science and technology, 1957-59; member of the Board of Visitors to the United States Naval Academy, 1953-55; member of the Committee for the White House Conference on Education, 1954-56; and a member of the President's Board of Consultants on Foreign Intelligence Activities, 1956 to the present.

He has been a trustee of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation since 1954.

Dr. Killian is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a holder of numerous awards for his public service contributions.

destruction another war would bring the world. Nothing would be left in a great city such as this if atomic bombs hit their mark.

MUST AVOID BOMBS

"This nation has suffered enough. These people have suffered enough. All this makes it most important to avoid anything that would allow Poland to be bombed again."

Nixon also visited a huge steel mill about 15 miles north of the city, before he went to Warsaw University to talk with the faculty. Students gathered outside in the courtyard to cheer him.

Announcement in the Warsaw press today that President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would exchange visits brought a question immediately from politically conscious Poles: When will Eisenhower come to Warsaw?

There was speculation that Polish President Aleksandr Zawadzki was drafting an invitation to the U.S. President which Nixon would take back with him.

Zawadski, in a toast at a reception he gave for Nixon Monday night, noted that Eisenhower had visited Warsaw at the end of World War II. He said there had been a great deal of reconstruction here since then.

Nixon in reply said: "I wish he (Eisenhower) could be here today to see what the Polish people have done in rebuilding this city."

Nixon's program today, his last full day in Warsaw, was devoted largely to sightseeing.

HANDS OF FRIENDSHIP? — Vice President Richard Nixon and Poland's Communist chief Wladyslaw Gomulka begin to extend their hands to each other as Nixon is distracted for a moment. The two officials conferred for three hours after an enthusiastic welcome by the Polish people yesterday.

Buicks and 103,568 Cadillacs, compared with 823,682 Chevrolets, 202,678 Oldsmobiles, 133,111 Buicks and 88,876 Cadillacs built in the same period a year ago.

Ford Motor Co., which nearly doubled its output of Ford cars last month, reported its best July since 1955, when the industry enjoyed its greatest production year.

Ford turned out 143,516 Fords and Thunderbirds, 12,316 Mercurys, 1,971 Edsels and 1,850 Lincolns and Continentals last month, compared with 72,879 Fords and Thunderbirds, 7,899 Mercurys, 596 Edsels, and 1,185 Lincolns and Continentals in July last year.

For seven months this year, the company has built 969,732 Fords and Thunderbirds, 95,060 Mercurys, 25,270 Edsels and 17,747 Lincolns and Continentals, compared with 577,853 Fords and Thunderbirds, 72,161 Mercurys, 7,540 Edsels and 16,018 Lincolns and Continentals in the same period of 1958.

CHRYSLER UP

Chrysler Corp. said its output this year is 141,015 units ahead of last year.

Chrysler produced 51,240 Plymouths, 12,007 Dodges, 2,837 De Sotos, 5,464 Chryslers and 53 Imperials in July, compared with 34,886 Plymouths, 10,115 Dodges, 3,089 De Sotos, 5,300 Chryslers and 712 Imperials in the same month of 1958.

De Soto and Imperial were the only makes in the industry which showed lower output in July than in the same month last year.

For the first seven months this year, Chrysler built 306,245 Plymouths, 108,950 Dodges, 33,969 De Sotos, 50,277 Chryslers and 11,919 Imperials, compared with 237,258 Plymouths, 66,256 Dodges, 22,956 De Sotos, 35,545 Chryslers and 8,330 Imperials in the same period of 1958.

American Motors Corp. said it is assembling cars at a rate of about 2½ times greater than a year ago.

American Motors assembled 42,368 Ramblers in July and 259,139 in the first seven months of the year. In July 1958 Rambler output was 18,038 and seven-month output was 110,850.

Studebaker-Packard built 9,002 cars in July, compared with 3,524 in the same month of 1958. The seven-month S-P output this year was 98,081 compared with 23,584 in the same period a year ago.

the only suspect arrested so far in the slaying.

He was the first person to discover the wounded doctor, who died the following night at Pontiac General Hospital. Tunnell was arrested later for investigation of narcotics violations.

During the truth serum test he admitted receiving frequent prescriptions from Dr. Warrick for the narcotic drug Demerol.

Pontiac Police Det. William Nesbitt said records of the doctor's patients at Romulus Hospital were being checked for possible clues to the shooting.

He said he would also look into a $20,000 lawsuit filed in 1956 against Dr. Warrick by a Pontiac couple charging negligence in professional services.

Herter to Return to U.S. by Special Jet Thursday

GENEVA (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter plans to leave Geneva at 9 a.m. (3 a.m. EST) Thursday for his return trip to the United States. The foreign ministers' conference is scheduled to end here tomorrow.

Herter is to fly home in the same special jet which brought him here for the second half of the Geneva conference nearly four weeks ago. The plane will make a refueling stop at the Azores Thursday and Herter and his party will have lunch. It is due in Washington at 4:15 p.m. local time Thursday.

Award Contract for Water Main

Waterford Area Board Also Plans Addition to Main Fire Station

A water main contract and a proposed $5,000 addition to the Fire Dept. Building was the main order of business last night at the Waterford Township Board meeting.

The Allard Contracting Co. of New Hudson was awarded the $5,513 contract for a 640-foot water main extension to the Stringham School. The Allard Co. was the low of four bidders.

The Board also took under consideration a proposed $4,699 addition to its main fire station on M59 at Crescent Lake road.

The addition would house a new fire engine and offices for a full-time chief, both expected in September.

Chief of Police Millard J. Pender reported to the Township Board that 28 persons were ticketed during the month for traffic violations within the township limits.

The monthly record also showed 24 arrests made for crimes committed, 19 of them adults and five juveniles.

Of the total calls answered, 78 of them were for accidents, while 709 were miscellaneous.

The arrests made included two for safe burglary, two for breaking and entering, one for leaving the scene of an accident, one for auto theft, one for malicious destruction and others of a minor nature.

The Day in Birmingham

Baldwin Library Plans Accepted by Commission

BIRMINGHAM — The city commission voted at last night's meeting to accept final plans prepared by architect Linn Smith for the proposed addition to Baldwin Library.

Smith estimated construction costs for the addition would be approximately $115,000 and that 33 per cent more space would be available.

Linn Smith Associates will receive $500 from the city for plans prepared for the Birmingham Fire Dept. training tower, the Commission decided.

Construction of a training tower was first considered in 1957, but as matching funds were not available the project has been dropped for the present, according to City Manager L. R. Gare.

The commissioners named Edward R. White, of Berkley contractor for the Birmingham 1959 P-3 paving project. White bid $14,601.61 to build the N. Woodward avenue access drive from Redding street south, extension of the Southfield road access drive at Wakefield street and the Maple-Bates alley.

Commissioners also authorized an appropriation of $8,500 for removal and replacement of concrete pavement on Maple avenue immediately west of the Rouge River.

The commission decided not to purchase false arrest insurance at this time. According to R. S. Kenning, assistant city manager, such insurance offered too limited coverage and the premiums were too high.

Proxy appointments were authorized by the commission to the Michigan Municipal League annual meeting to be held Sept. 11, at Mackinac Island. The league will vote upon a resolution to extend its corporate term which expires in 1960 to 30 years.

The quarterly parking meter survey submitted by Police Chief Ralph Moxley showed a slight increase in average meter revenues over July 1958. According to Moxley, a reduction in the number of meters may account for the increase.

He credited the sharp rise in revenue for the four hour meters in municipal parking lot No. 4 to "the large number of good movies shown in the local theaters lately." The average per meter jumped from $.83 in April to $1.35 in July.

In its final action of the night, the commission confirmed the appointment of Mrs. Ogden W. Vogt to the Baldwin Library Board.

William Green

Sgt. Green, who was residing at 5975 Rolton St., Waterford Township, retired from the Birmingham police force in 1953 after 30 years service. He then went to work as Bloomfield Village's sole policeman.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Mrs. William H. Yoemans

Service for Mrs. William H. (Lottie M.) Yeomans, 49, of 2216 Northlawn Ave., Birmingham, will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. Yeomans died Sunday at her home following a brief illness.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Ruth of Detroit; two sons, James and Stephan, both at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Butchart of Wireton, Ont.; four sisters and three brothers, all living in Canada.

Mrs. Hattie (Rolley) Fuller

Service for Mrs. Hattie (Rolley) Fuller, 78, of 1461 Webster St., Birmingham, will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

Graveside service will be conducted at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Downing Cemetery in Deckerville.

Mrs. Fuller died Monday at the Bloomfield Hospital after a long illness.

She was a member of the Birmingham Rebacca Lodge and of the Pythian Sisters of Birmingham.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Archie Livingston of the same address, and three brothers in Ohio.

State Is Broke Again After Paying Some Debts

LANSING (AP) — The state treasury was flushed out again today, speeding 15½ million dollars to universities, welfare recipients and the state's longest overdue suppliers and contractors.

The state administrative board ordered the money dispatched yesterday hours after $14,900,000 in tax revenues were checked in. At a special meeting, it decreed this distribution:

1. Two million dollars to state contractors, suppliers and servicemen. This triggered release of 5,000 state warrants (checks) held for lack of funds. In a few cases, it meant payment of contractors' bills dating back to December, including some who halted work on state projects.

2. Six million dollars to complete 1959-60 appropriation installments for three major state universities — three millions to the University of Michigan, $2,300,000 to Michigan State and $700,000 to Wayne State.

3. About $4,100,000 to Wayne to wipe out arrears for the fiscal year ended June 30.

4. Transfer of $3,200,000 to apply against current monthly welfare payments to the aged, blind, disabled and dependent children.

"We'll have nothing left. We're flat. Nothing but bills," he replied.

Brown said the payout would leave the state about 85 million dollars in the hole and actual accumulated debts of about 60 millions.

The university allocations came too late to prevent two of them from borrowing to meet last week's payrolls. The U. of M. borrowed $1,000,000 and MSU $1,500,000 against September tuition payments.

Wayne, with restricted borrowing powers, received $500,000 of its July installment last week.

Of the two million dollars for contractors and suppliers, one million was to cover release of 5,000 warrants (checks) held by Aud. Gen. Frank S. Szymanski for amounts of less than $50,000. They will come off the bottom of the stack.

This will cut Szymanski's backlog down to about 23,000 warrants totaling five million dollars.

The other million was to be applied against larger obligations. These include $771,000 in payments to contractors on the Boys Vocational School (BVS) at Whitmore Lake, the Plymouth State Home and Training School, and an expansion of the state power plant at Kalamazoo.

DeKoning and associate contractors on the job suspended operations last month after first threatening to cancel their contracts.

Committee Handling Tax Confabs Today

bills and materials sold for use on federal projects.

Geerlings, who last week priced the package at 116 million dollars, shoved his yield estimate last night to 127 millions.

He said this would supply money needed to balance the 1959-60 state budget and leave 15 millions over for reduction of the state's 100 million dollar deficit.

Sen. Harold M. Ryan of Detroit, Democratic floor leader, ridiculed Geerlings' revenue data. He called the GOP bill unfair, inequitable, insufficient and unconstitutional.

Sen. Stanley Novak of Detroit, assailed the GOP package as designed to protect corporations making the highest profits in history.

Sen. Philip Rahoi (D-Iron Mountain) renewed his argument that the Republican effort was to destroy Gov. Williams politically. He predicted it would "backfire."

Answering a contention by Ryan, Geerlings said that if the bill were held unconstitutional Democrats were to blame for their refusal to allow a statewide vote April 6 on a sales tax increase.

"I stood here and pleaded for the one Democratic vote needed to get this thing on the ballot," he said.

In his revenue report yesterday, Nims said that the sales tax could hit 318 millions if the trend reflected in July sales tax collections continued.

But he cautioned that the figure would have to be cut back if the steel strike lasted into the fall months.

Blind Girl Tends Courthouse Stand

sudden I'd be scared to death," she exclaims. And then with a laugh, "If I could see again I'd really have to get out and work.

"Then, too," says Ada, "I have a lot of friends and I get a lot of attention."

And she gives a lot of attention.

An officer of one of the courts approached the stand and asked Ada for "the usual." She picked two of his brand of cigars from a box (all arranged so that she knows where each brand is in the counter).

She handed the cigars to the man and said reproachfully, "Johnny, you smoke too much."

Ada doesn't know yet whether space will be allotted for her stand in the new courthouse to be constructed. It might pose too great a transportation problem, too, from her home at 219 Rapid St., where she lives with her aunt.

During the course of 10 years Ada has made many close friends. "I sure hope they have room for me when they move," says Ada. The others do, too.

whether Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany her husband to Europe.

The Khrushchev announcement overshadowed Eisenhower's plans for an earlier series of meetings with British, French, and West German heads of government. These could bear importantly on his talks with Khrushchev.

U.S. officials said details of the newly announced travels must be worked out. But they spoke in terms of Eisenhower's attending a Western Big Three summit meeting in Paris, plus talking separately with the British and French chiefs and with Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Eisenhower will be returning to the area where he served many years as an international military commander. The Allies, despite some differences, see eye to eye on most problems.

The largest exception in this harmony scene is the towering figure of French President Charles de Gaulle, whose ideas about France's destiny have caused concern in the Western camp.

De Gaulle has demanded a voice for France in the use of atomic weapons, has withdrawn the French Mediterranean Fleet from NATO combat command, and has embarked on a controversial campaign to quell the Algerian insurrection.

Ike Was Honored in Red Square

Mr. K's Visit to Be Russian 1st

By the Associated Press

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States in September will be a historic first—no other top leader of Russian communism has ever visited the United States.

It will pose a massive security problem for federal officers and for state and local authorities wherever Khrushchev may go.

However, security officers already have had practice workouts in protecting lesser Soviet officials in whirlwind tours of the United States.

Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov was here from June 28 to July 13, following up a visit by Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan in January.

While no top man in the Red Russian hierarchy has ever visited this country, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt did visit Russia.

In February, 1945, Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin met at Yalta in the Crimea in a conference which has been a bone of controversy to this day.

President Eisenhower has been to Moscow before, in 1945, as an honored comrade-in-arms in the victory over Nazi Germany.

REVIEWED PARADE

It will be 14 years ago Aug. 12 that Eisenhower mounted a platform in Moscow's Red Square with preme Commander of the Allied a parade and demonstration.

He was the first foreigner so honored.

Eisenhower was then the Supreme Commander of the Allied forces which had swept from Normandy to a union with the Russians on the River Elbe in Germany.

At the time, Eisenhower said the subjects Stalin had talked about during their social meetings convinced him Russia's paramount aim was to be friendly with the United States.

Eisenhower has met Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev before, too. It was in 1955 at the summit meeting in Geneva. The Soviet Premier there was Nicolai Bulganin but Khrushchev was powerful even then, as first secretary of the Communist party. This was the only time Eisenhower ever saw Khrushchev.

Grand Rapids to Host AMVETS Confab

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The AMVETS veterans organization will hold its 1959 national convention at Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 26-30.

AMVETS officials said Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) will be the keynote speaker Aug. 27, and former Georgia Gov. Ellis Arnall will be the toastmaster at a banquet Aug. 29.

More than 2,500 delegates were expected to take part in the convention.

Citizens Will Study Michigan's Problems

DETROIT (UPI) — A volunteer group of non-partisan voters is organizing a "Citizens For Michigan" committee to study and help solve Michigan's governmental problems.

The group will hold its first membership meeting in Lansing Sept. 21.

"Citizens For Michigan" is headed by George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., as temporary chairman. Romney said a survey is being made among present membership as to which of the state's problems should be studied first.

Horde of Cars Slick Highways

State Tries to Halt Road Skids

LANSING (AP) — State highway department engineers are trying to solve the problems involved in some highways polished almost to the slickness of bowling alleys by increased traffic.

"A combination of increased horsepower and vastly improved tire design, as well as tougher rubber, is rapidly polishing many of our heavily-traveled highways dangerously smooth," said state highway commissioner John C. Mackie.

"The result is an increase in skidding and accidents when highways are wet," he explained.

"Most pavements have a high skid resistance when new, but polish up under continued heavy use," Mackie said.

The department started a statewide survey of every mile of hard-surfaced trunkline routes to test skid resistance in 1957. It expects to finish the job late this year.

"We've learned a lot about the relationship of skidding and certain types of aggregates and sands used in pavement makeup," Mackie said. "As a result, some changes in our specifications for new pavements have taken place and other changes may be in the making."

The department also is working on a method of de-slicking pavements that need treatment.

Michigan's skid-testing equipment — nicknamed Skidometer — consists of a truck hauling a trailer with wheels braked at a speed of 40 miles an hour. The truck sprays water in front of the trailer wheels and skid resistance is measured by a special recording device.

The department is studying skid-proofing treatments which employ types of adhesive binders and aluminum oxide grits. A counter-offensive is planned against highways that have shown low skid resistance.

Experimental non-skid treatment has been given to high accident intersections on Telegraph Rd. at West Chicago Blvd. in Wayne County, two sections of Fort St. in Detroit and a section of U.S.23 south of U.S.112 in Washtenaw County.

The Telegraph-West Chicago intersection is the only section where accident data is complete. Skidding accidents there dropped from 48 to 19 in a 12 month period after treatment.

Mackie said Michigan is the first state in the nation to undertake such a comprehensive program of skid testing and prevention. Heading the program are E. A. Finney, director of the department's research laboratory, and Myron Brown, chemical research engineer.

7 Million Idle Tons Cut Oil Ship Rates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Merchant Marine Institute, Inc. reported Monday that in the middle of this year, 7,000,000 tons of tankers were laid up throughout the world for lack of business.

"This surplus toonage hanging over the market has aided in keeping tanker freight rates at an extremely low level," the Institute commented.

The United States' portion of the idle tonnage was 1,050,000 tons on July 1, according to the Institute. That was the third largest tie-up of tankers in U.S. history. The two previous records were 1,397,000 tons in 1949 and 1,384,000 tons in 1954, the report said.

Commenting on the effect of idle tankers upon freight rates, the Institute said that the charge for hauling peroleum from the Netherlands West Indies to U.S. North Atlantic ports in July 1959 was only $1.08 contrasted with $7.86 a ton in early 1957.

"Even with this low level of freight rates, the U.S. tanker fleet has increased in size over the past two years, due to the large vessels added from new construction . . ." the Institute said.

The Institute said that the U.S. tanker fleet gained a total of 415,000 tons, or 7 per cent, in the last 12 months.

Says Hello to Child Patients

Pat Nixon Meets Surgeon

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon met one of Poland's famous surgeons Monday—a man who has devised a new method for treatment of curvature of the spine resulting from polio.

Gray-haired Dr. Adam Gruca took the vice president's wife into his office in a big Warsaw hospital and laughingly suggested that they interview each other.

He was prepared to discuss the work of the famous orthopedic clinic, but Mrs. Nixon quickly told him she came to say hello to some of the child patients as she has done throughout the tour of the Soviet Union.

"I don't want to examine anything," she said, "I know it is good."

They went to the wards and Mrs. Nixon gave a greeting, handshake, and a cheery word to the youngsters.

As she went around, doctors and staff followed along.

Two young women in the group were surgeons. Asked if there were many women doctors on the staff, they answered that there were.

"Too many women," interjected a male colleague.

"We don't think so," retorted a pretty blonde surgeon in high-heel shoes with open toes.

When Mrs. Nixon left, Dr. Gruca kissed her hand and gave her a handsome carved wooden nut bowl and nut cracker.

Mrs. Nixon promised "When you come and visit me I'll have it on my table."

Folks of Adopted Korean Orphans Stage Reunion

EAST LANSING (AP)—It was like any other good sized picnic group except the kids, from diaper-wearers to nine year olds, all were black-haired, doll-faced youngsters from the Orient.

The occasion was the second annual reunion of Michigan parents of adopted Korean war orphans.

About 30 families of the estimated 45 eligible in the state showed up Saturday.

Lee Mast, a Lansing repairman, said it was like any other big family picnic with "all of us admiring the children as they romped and played."

Mast said the parents hope to form themselves into a state association and make the outdoor get togethers an annual affair.

Almost 90 per cent of American homes are of wood frame.

Stay Alive Longer!

Don't Settle for Life of Chronic Fatigue

By LELORD KORDEL
Installment Twenty

Could this be you?

Are you tired when you wake up in the morning, exhausted by the time you get to work, wondering by noon how you'll ever make it through the day? Is your fatigue of such duration that you're beginning to wonder if you were literally born tired?

How did you get this way? What happened to your zest for living, your drive, your dreams of accomplishment?

What happened to you?

Chronic fatigue is not normal. Neither is disease. But your low N. Q., or nutrition quotient, can make them so.

Roland H. Berg, in discussing the socioeconomic factors affecting medical care in the United States, deplored the state of the nation's health. "We have been winning the battle against acute diseases," he said, "but losing the war against chronic killers."

The mortality rate for the largely preventable chronic diseases continues to mount. We have the scientific knowledge to ward off many of the crippling chronic diseases and the sudden deaths from heart attacks, but we don't use it.

You've heard of hidden hunger. "Sure," you say, "but I eat three good meals a day, not to mention the coffee breaks. That couldn't apply to me."

Couldn't it? How much do your meals contribute in the way of protein, vitamins, and minerals?

Do you know what your body actually needs to withstand the stress and strain of everyday living, to build up tissues, and to avoid nutritional deficiencies?

The costs of high mortality have become too great for insurance companies. Consequently they are preaching health consciousness.

Dr. Tom Spies, of Northwestern University, tells us: "The use of nutrients to replenish the tissues and to prevent disease is the physician's primary problem.

"He knows that the nutrients must be supplied for the body from the outside. No statistics can determine the loss and no words can describe the waste when physicians do not meet this challenge, head-on."

SECOND-RATE SELF

Why should you settle for a second-rate self? Why be only half-alive, low in energy and spirits, losing confidence in yourself and your future? Trade neglect for know-how, and come over to the nutritionally safe side of life.

A famous doctor of the Hollywood stars said recently: "Motion picture stars are the healthiest people in the world.

"Even the old ones are vigorous, firm and pink-cheeked. They eat the best food — and less of it! — than anyone else."

They also take vitamin-and-mineral supplements.

"The amount of food eaten has nothing to do with good nutrition," according to one of America's leading weekly magazines, which presented a symposium of qualified professional views on health.

The symposium put significant emphasis on nutrition. "It is the kinds of food that matter. Nutritional deficiencies . . . are apt to increase with aging and are a primary source of the afflictions of old age. For instance, the bones of elderly people are easily broken. This is due mostly to gradual demineralization of the bones, especially loss of calcium . . . Once the demineralization has started, there is little or no help for it.

"But it can be prevented by deliberately increasing the intake of foods rich in calcium and minerals during middle age, when the process begins."

FORMULA FOR YOUTH

Robert Cummings, the motion picture and television star, shares with us his formula for youth, energy, and vitality. Cummings, at almost 50, is young, handsome, and vigorous. He says: "Usually, by the time an actor learns his trade, he's so old and beaten up that he doesn't look well. So I take good care of myself."

Among other things, including exercise, concentrated vitamin-and-mineral supplements, and a high protein diet — "We're all creatures of protein," he says— Cummings takes soybean lecithin three times a day.

Robert Cummings enjoys his life, his work, and his accomplishments, which are many and varied. His excellent care of himself has paid off in the good health which makes all this possible.

I've told you the facts, the rest is up to you.

Will you trade neglect for know-how, and lengthen your life instead of shortening it? Is it so hard to do the following simple things—when the only life you have is in the balance?

1. High-protein foods. Eat with a purpose. Don't junk up your machinery with starches, sugars, and fats. A good rule to follow: First eat all the foods you need. Then, if you still have the capacity for something else, have it. Chances are you won't want it.

2. Vitamins and minerals. The realistic fact is that our foods just do not supply all the vitamins and minerals that we should have. For tthat reason, in addition to good eating, use a concentrated source of all the vitamins and minerals.

I have found for my own use the formula called Nutri-Time to be an ideal vitamin-mineral food supplement.

3. Lecithin, the miracle food. For your health's sake — and for your sake as a man — please include at least three teaspoonfuls of lecithin granules in your program daily.

Don't wait until your body is completely deprived of its reserve. Start today to be the person you want to be . . . the person you can be.

Realize your latent potencies. Utilize the talents that have been buried beneath inertia. Race through life instead of limping . . . stride toward success instead of stumbling along half-alive. Report Reduction in Mental Patients

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New tranquilizing and anti-depressant drugs brought a steady reduction in patients in state mental hospitals in the past three years despite record high new admission rates.

The National Committee against Mental Illness, Inc., also said that if present rates continue, even more new treatments must be found or one out of every 10 Americans will spend part of his life in a mental hospital.

Calling for more local and federal funds for research and training, the committee noted that Americans are spending more than 230 times as much on alcoholic beverages as they are on mental illness research.

The report said that at the end of 1958 there were 545,465 patients in state mental hospitals, a reduction of more than 13,000 since 1955. The drop occurred, it said, despite a record increase in admissions averaging 10,000 new patients annually.

Ask Soviets to Leave Russian Jews Alone

"There is no people in the world suffering more from the cold war than the Jews," said Nahum Goldmann, president of the assembly.

"Most other people live either on one side of the Iron Curtain or the other," said Goldmann. "The Jews live and work on both sides."

The only Jews from Eastern Europe attending the assembly are three Polish observers.

Dems Have Reason for Praising Johnson

Democrats are turning to appraising each other with a few well-chosen words which practically amounts to backslapping. All these tender utterances are a mere political play designed for publicity.

In a recent interview, Senator JOHN F. KENNEDY of Massachusetts declared in one breath that Senate Majority Leader LYNDON JOHNSON'S weaknesses as a Presidential prospect are that, "He fluctuates and is not a heavyweight thinker." Next, he reverses himself and says JOHNSON is a great guy and would be a better president than some bland character.

Kennedy says, "like Franklin D. Roosevelt, Johnson has the faculty of attracting brilliant people to work for him, and this would offset his weaknesses." He further said of his opponent for 1960 that he was "tough," and at least would get things done.

A few other hopefuls joined KENNEDY in singing the praises of JOHNSON. Why? Perhaps they are courting JOHNSON'S support for passage of some legislation.

STUART SYMINGTON of Missouri sent his orchids like this: "LYNDON would make a fine president. He understands government, and that's not the most prevalent trait around Washington today."

Senator Mike Monroney of Oklahoma stated: "Lyndon is a compromiser, true, and I don't like compromisers ordinarily. I like people who fight things out. But a leader must have this quality. Lyndon does terrific mental homework, and he has a memory like an electronic computer."

We strongly suspect that after all these kindly words Senator JOHNSON will be returning favors to Messrs. KENNEDY, MONRONEY and SYMINGTON.

Prime Minister Nehru Ousts Kerala's Reds

After more than two years of turmoil and a complete breakdown of law and order, Prime Minister NEHRU has used his constitutional powers to force out of office the Communist government of the State of Kerala.

Communists gained power through a small majority in the April, 1957, election. By August their "People's Action Committees" had usurped the functions of the law courts; had cut down the authority of the police so that they were helpless; instigated strikes on the slightest pretext and freed all Communists from jail regardless of their crimes.

Unrest mounted when the Kerala government recently passed an educational act giving Communists control over appointment of teachers in thousands of government aided schools in the state. Anti-Communists carried on a stepped up campaign to force action by the central government.

With the announcement by the Communist regime that the promised August elections would not be held, violence flared. Prime Minister Nehru then was forced to act not on the ground that the Kerala government is Communist but rather that the people had been denied their fundamental rights of democracy guaranteed under India's constitution.

New elections are expected to be held within six months. If Kerala has learned its lesson, the Communists should be completely routed.

Churches Enlist Aid of Air Conditioning

An interesting sidelight on how clergymen are using air conditioning to help increase their flocks and keep summer attendance up comes from a cross section survey.

To be sure, certain sections of the country experience more hot and humid days than others. But figures released by the Carrier Corporation point out than more than 8,000 church buildings are air conditioned.

Results after cooling churches all follow the same pattern. A New Orleans church reported a 44 per cent increase in summer attendance. In Dallas, Texas, one newly conditioned church found 11 extra curricular meetings scheduled during a single summer week. Summer is normally an inactive period.

In the Midwestern state of Iowa an air conditioning installation in one church was not only followed by an increase in attendance, but some of the other churches reported a loss, which in part possibly contributed to the other gain.

The only conclusion to be drawn is that in certain areas air conditioning is becoming quite commonplace.

It would be a pretty sad commentary, of course, if people went to church only because they were cooler there. At least they are going to church, and in our fast moving life today, nothing is more important than religion.

Three Local Girls Make Use of an Opportunity

Heat spell; What we longed for last winter.

At a time when so many teenagers complain about nothing to do,

Sue Turner, Valerie Fox and Sue Maddsen,

all of Pioneer Ave. in Pioneer Highlands, and on the lower teen border, are outstanding exceptions.

Each Wednesday and Friday morning they hold a play school for the small children of the neighborhood. It is conducted like a nursery school, and the girls furnish soft drinks and cookies to the children, and help them on projects to take home. They also play games with them, and keep them entertained until lunch time.

It's a plan worthy of emulation everywhere. The children are happy and kept off the streets, their mothers are happier, and the two Sues and Valerie are not the least beneficiaries from the project.

Quite a Load to Dump on Him

David Lawrence Claims:

President Knows Visit Is a Gamble

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower certainly deserves an "A" for effort in trying to maintain world peace — but his decision to invite Soviet Premier Khrushchev to visit the United States will probably prove, through no fault of the President, as futile a gesture as was the "summit" conference of 1955 at Geneva.

LAWRENCE

Memories are short, but only four years have passed since Eisenhower fraternized with the top leaders of the Kremlin, including Nikita Khrushchev, and worldwide acclaim and enthusiastic comments in the West that this was the way to bring about an "easing of tensions" and a solution of the current controversies of the "Cold War."

But every pledge made at Geneva has since been broken by the Soviet government. It became necessary afterwards for the United States actually to take a military posture in the Far East to prevent a Soviet-inspired invasion of Formosa by Red China's forces.

Also, the United States had to land Marines in Lebanon and take other measures to forestall a Soviet conquest of the Middle East.

Not only has the solemn promise, made at the 1955 "summit" meeting at Geneva, to assure the reunification of Germany been broken, but within the last few months the Moscow government has issued an ultimatum to the Western powers to withdraw their forces from West Berlin or face the threat of war.

MUST BE 'GIVE'

For several weeks now it has been the American position that there must be some "give" on the part of the Soviets before there could be a "summit" conference.

The Moscow government has refused to give an inch. Consequently, the conference of the four foreign ministers has been deadlocked and is ending in failure.

The President has said there would be no "summit" conference until developments at Geneva "justified it." Nikita Khrushchev insisted that the foreign ministers couldn't settle anything, and that the "summit" was the place to do it.

He hasn't yet had his way entirely on that point, but he will have a chance in a two-man "summit" meeting to indicate whether the Soviets mean to withdraw their ultimatum on West Berlin.

Meanwhile, the President will go to London and Paris later this month to canvass the views of Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain and President de Gaulle of France. Presumably, Eisenhower will reflect the views of the Western Allies when he meets Khrushchev, though the President will, as he says, not be their authorized spokesman in a formal sense. Then, after Premier Khrushchev has visited America, Eisenhower will pay a return visit to the Soviet Union.

Two points of view prevail today about the exchange of visits between the Soviet dictator and the American President. One is that tension will be eased and the "Cold War" will thaw out a bit. The other view is that Khrushchev will tighten his hold on the Soviet people and will tell them that America now accepts the leaders of communism as equals.

With a controlled press, this will mean misleading propaganda inside the Soviet Union and within the countries occupied by Soviet troops.

The impression will be cultivated that the United States no longer is hostile to communism and that all dissenters in Eastern Europe had better give up their battle.

TIME WILL TELL

Time alone will tell which view of the Khrushchev trip will turn out to be the correct appraisal. But the Soviets thus far have given not the slightest indication of any concessions or changes, nor have they exhibited any evidence that they will not break agreements again.

The President himself is under no illusions. He knows that Khrushchev is bent on world conquest. But Eisenhower is betting on the inevitable restraints that peoples themselves can exercise when their leaders go too far.

He is hoping his own visit to the Soviet Union will furnish another opportunity, like that accorded Vice President Nixon, to convey certain truths to the Soviet citizens.

It's a gamble, and hereabouts the comment is often heard that the advantages of a visit by Khrushchev outweigh the disadvantages, and that no harm can be done by trying to "educate" him.

This, however, ignores the effect on the peoples of the "captive nations" of Eastern Europe who yearn for freedom and who have hoped in vain.

The Country Parson

"Men can be hooked easier than fish because they are attracted by so many more kinds of bait."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Pop, Confections Foster American Malnutrition

Common factors of the apparently increasing malnutrition of Americans are lollypops in the preschool years, pop in the early teens and sweet confections in place of undoctored cereals.

BRADY

Even now it is frightening to think of the great numbers of young men who are physically unfit for military service. I believe that the increasing use of narcotics, sense-deadening drugs, including, of course, alcohol, as well as barbiturates and tranquilizers, is the manifestation of the vain desire of the victims of malnutrition to be free for an hour from consciousness of their own inferiority. The drug brings oblivion.

An ironical yet familiar scene: the school cafeteria ostensibly supervised by physician and dietitian, but equipped with an elaborate pop dispenser which keeps the children away from the milk bar.

Youngsters who are allowed to indulge in such substitutes for proper food at their own whim hanker after the stuff in preference to milk (whole milk or skim milk). From the sugar they get a quick but brief spurt of energy. For half an hour they seem as lively as healthy children should be all the time. But then they lose interest in the game, feel tired and languid, as children with malnutrition feel all the time.

A glass of whole milk or skim milk contains more suger (milk sugar, lactose) than a bottle of pop, and in addition gives the drinker the long lasting energy and building material of protein and vitamins and minerals essential for health and vitality.

For persons who will not or cannot take whole or skim milk, the super milk shake described here recently may prove highly satisfactory. For instructions for preparing the drink (with electric blender) send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The super hydramin powder used in making this delicious high protein, high vitamin, high mineral beverage, makes it good not only for growing children but also for convalescents, feeble elderly persons, persons who want to reduce (it may be taken in place of a meal) or persons who want to gain (it may be taken in addition to regular meals).

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I heard your recent address on the psychiatric problems in industry.

DR. CRANE

"You said that social and family difficulties, jealousy and personality feuding, pull down efficiency and produce labor troubles.

"Well, I wish to give you my heartfelt 'Amen.' And I'll cite a few samples of what occurs right now among our workers here in Gary.

"Two girls, employed in the same department, haven't spoken to each other in seven months, though they used to be close friends.

"And what caused the rift? Well, the second simply bought a different brand of automobile this year than the first girl had purchased.

"Apparently, the first girl felt the second was being disloyal to her. Anyway, she will not speak to the other young woman. Isn't it juvenile?

"But such feuding goes on and causes friction between those two workers! So — juvenile or not, it is a real problem in that department.

"In another department, a similar quarrel has arisen between two of our female employes. They used to be bosom friends.

"One day the first girl forgot to bring her glasses. So a third party with an extra pair, volunteered to lend them.

"The second girl spoke up and warned her friend not to wear anybody else's eye glasses lest she might injure her vision.

"But the first girl ignored the warning and used the borrowed glasses. As a result, these two former friends no longer speak to each other.

IMMIGRANT PSYCHOLOGY

"Maybe we have a few more problems than some other factories, for our employes often come from immigrant homes.

"They are only the first or second generation Americans. Their older parents or grandparents may still speak a foreign language.

"And the older generations try to domineer over the modern young people, who greatly resent such European dictatorship.

"They start breaking away from home at 17 or 18. And in their revolt, they often go too far and thus take up bad habits that hamper their efficiency at the steel mills.

"Sometimes, too, those old folks emphasize frugality and other virtues of the past generation so strongly, that the modern young people kick over the traces.

"For example, many employes are more concerned with a down payment on a shiny new auto, than on paying their rent or grocery bills.

"A few years ago, thousands of new cars had to be repossessed by the finance companies when we had a shutdown.

"The old folks obviously veto this tendency of modern youth to splurge and squander money on non-essentials.

"Young people, especially of immigrant parents, think they will be disgraced and looked down upon unless they can flaunt their social success by driving a shiny new car.

"So all sorts of friction develops. It isn't entirely the fault of the parents nor of the young folks. But we personnel directors feel the effects.

"Please warn workers to widen their vision and quit acting like overgrown infants. Employers shouldn't have to serve as kindergarten teachers, too."

Voice of the People

'Hope Veep's Report Includes Unemployed'

I hope the Vice President's public report of his visit to Russia and Poland will include the number of unemployed people he met. To date, no government official who has visited there has made any reference to automation or its effects on workers.

Car output here is at its highest peak with record marking sales and almost a record number of working hours for those employed.

Corporations are playing a dangerous game by not using automation for the benefit of the nation. Labor laws will be changed when the Labor Department acts to place the people first in the Constitution, first in the heart of government, and first in common sense.

Never let it be said that this is the last of the slave states. Are we the unemployed half slave and half free in the eyes of the world?

Reader Defends Public Utility

I read in this column recently the letters criticizing the telephone company for its attitude and actions on a particular subject.

May I say something in its defense—the company has a big heart. As a handicapped person I have received aid at a great expense to the company in selecting telephone equipment suitable to my needs, and I have always found it willing to assist me.

I have thanked them many times privately, but in view of the critical letters printed, I feel people would be interested in hearing another side of our great public utility.

How would you like to be without a telephone today?

Khrushchev-Ike Talks May Thaw Cold War

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI) — Assuming all goes well, the exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may finally lead to a thaw in the 14-year-old Cold War.

The agreement between the leaders of the world's two greatest powers is being taken in Moscow as the first concrete result of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's nine-day tour of the Soviet Union.

The President-Premier meetings may be only the first of several important developments to emerge from Washington and Moscow after Nixon's conversations with Soviet officials have been analyzed and evaluated.

Nixon, like the nine U.S. governors who preceded him on a Soviet tour, got the distinct impression that it would be "useful" to have the leader of the Soviet Union see for himself the American way of life and the political and economic systems of the country.

There has been a feeling in Moscow that a face-to-face meeting between Eisenhower and Khrushchev might break the international logjam, especially in view of the total deadlock at the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Geneva.

There are serious problems connected with the Khrushchev visit to the United States, both from a standpoint of security and opposition to the visit by large segments of the U.S. public and Congress.

Although Khrushchev recently canceled a Scandinavian trip because of "insulting" attacks in the Norwegian, Danish and Swedish press, it was considered unlikely that he would do anything to interfere with his visit to America—a country he has publicly said for years that he would like to see.

Furthermore the stakes are incomparably higher than in the case of the small Scandinavian powers.

What is said and done during the Eisenhower and Khrushchev exchange visits will have great bearing on the future of world affairs.

Rockefeller's Fiancee Faces Problems

She'll Keep Heritage

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (UPI) — Pretty Anne Marie Rasmussen faces a lot of problems Cinderella never dreamed of when, on August 22, she becomes a Rockefeller.

She already has had a taste of one problem — the publicity that accompanied her romance with Steven Rockefeller, and, by her own admission, she was "scared stiff." More problems are on the way when Anne Marie leaves her home in the quiet town of Sogne to set up housekeeping in a New York apartment.

But friends will tell you she is a stable, well adjusted girl, with old-fashioned — though by no means outdated values, and she is quite ready to take on the challenge.

Anne Marie was born 21 years ago on the island of Boroeya outside Tvedestrand, where her father had a household goods store. She moved to Sogne, on the southern tip of Norway, after World War II.

Anne Marie loves good music and art.

"You can keep your rock and roll as far as I am concerned," she says. "When I dance, it is in the old fashioned way."

Some reports would have it that Anne Marie grew up in an overly strict, Lutheran home, dimming her capacity for a good time. But Anne Marie denies this.

"I like to have fun and I think I am a natural Norwegian girl," she says. She has the sparkling blue eyes and blonde hair to prove her point.

Anne Marie has had comparatively little formal education. She attended a rural elementary school for seven years. In 1956 she went to New York to study English, spending two years at a supplementary school.

Her quest for work to pay for her studies took her into the Rockefeller home as a maid. There she had her first introduction to Steven. She also worked in a department store and an insurance company, returning home last April.

"She did not know much," Steven recalls. "But she took special lessons each night and was rather good after eight months."

Her attractiveness, resourcefulness, and tremendous energies made Anne Marie one of the most popular girls in her hometown.

(In London, reliable sources said Anne Marie once was engaged to the son of a printer at a Kristiansand newspaper, but broke off the engagement before her trip to New York.)

Anne Marie and her new husband plan to start off simply — they won't have a maid in their new apartment and Anne Marie will do all the housework and cooking. She plans to take piano lessons and study art in between her housewife's chores.

Anne Marie knows what drastic changes face her in marriage to a Rockefeller, but she doesn't intend to let her new life affect her sense of values or her appreciation of where she got them.

"Whatever happens and whatever my station in life will be, I will never forget the heritage I bring with me from my father and mother," she said.

In the United States, the average person consumes 1,500 pounds of food a year. Grocery advertisers last year invested over $148 million in daily newspaper advertising to tell consumers about their products.

Today, more people enjoy boating than ever before. And more people are traveling by boats for business and pleasure. Last year steamship advertisers invested over $4,600,000 in daily newspapers to tell travelers about their accommodations.

Glycerine was discovered in 1779 by K. W. Scheele who was an eminent Swedish chemist and scientist.

The evening and part-time schools in the United States have an enrollment in normal years of about two million.

Mrs. Shambaugh died of a heart ailment yesterday at the home of another daughter, Mrs. Rolland Shoemaker at Waterville, Ohio, after an illness of several months.

Other survivors are a son, Joseph of Celina, and two grandchildren.

Service and burial will be in Celina.

ORVILLE M. FELMLEE

ROYAL OAK — Service for Orville M. Felmlee, 55, of 603 W. Lincoln St., will be held at 8:30 a.m. Thursday at William Sullivan & Son Funeral Home here.

The funeral mass will be at 9 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church with burial to follow in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mr. Felmlee, owner of the Rochester Turkey Farm, at 1171 S. Rochester Rd., Avon Township, died as the result of a fall.

He was a member of the National Turkey Federation and of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church.

Surviving are his wife, Anna M.; two daughters, Mrs. Robert T. Cameron of Royal Oak and Susanne, at home; and two grandchildren. His father, Orville Felmlee, and three brothers, Clifford and Roscoe, both of LeSuere, Minn. and Lester of Troy, also survive.

Light Bulb Blamed for Pentagon Blaze

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The General Services Administration (GSA) blames a light bulb for the five-alarm fire that swept through a secret Air Force storage room at the Pentagon July 2.

The government housekeeping agency also said after an investigation that total damage to government-owned property was $690,000.

It noted, however, that the "greatest damage" was to computing equipment leased by the government from International Business Machines. These losses have been estimated at some five million dollars by company officials.

The GSA said that just before the fire, workmen had been moving storage racks in a storeroom which housed highly inflammable plastic tapes bearing statistical information.

The GSA noted that temporary lighting had been installed until the moving jobs were finished.

State's Collection of Sales Tax Zooms to Record

LANSING (AP)—Sales tax collections zoomed last month to a record $29,411,000, an increase of better than 20 per cent over July 1958, the State Revenue Department reported Monday.

Commissioner Louis M. Nims said the bumper receipts tended to support optimistic revenue estimates unveiled by Senate Republicans last week in the legislative tax fight.

GOP senators pegged probable sales tax income for 1959-60 at 318 million dollars as compared with the 312 millions previously foreseen by top state budget planners.

"If the steel strike should continue into the fall months, then we may be badly hurt and estimates would have to be revised accordingly," he said.

Solons Far Apart on School Aid Issue

LANSING (AP)—Conferees on 1959-60 school aid meet again today with the growing possibility they will be unable to agree.

Two House and two Senate members of the six-member committee discussed inter-chamber differences for an hour yesterday without settling any of them.

The House approved an aid formula based on $210 a pupil and 3½ mills deductible, the factor taking account of low property taxing capabilities of "poor" school districts and favoring them accordingly.

The Senate position is for a $200 and 3 mill deductible formula. From a program cost standpoint, the two chambers are 10 million dollars apart.

48 Have Gone and Returned

Prison Tries Furloughs

BRIGHTON (AP)—Forty-eight convicts have walked away from the state's prison camp near here in recent weeks.

Camp officials watched them go. Nobody tried to stop them. And, they all returned within three days.

Some of the convicts left on three-day furloughs. Others carried 12-hour passes.

Unusual? Yes. Risky? Yes, again.

But, state corrections men believe the risks are more than offset by the advantages.

The Brighton facility is an open-type camp where prisoners are trusted to stay on the premises. Most of them are under 25 years of age, serving short terms and rated good security risks.

Furloughs and passes are rightly controlled by the camp staff and issued to carefully selected prisoners.

The three-day furloughs go only to men who have been granted a parole and are sweating out the usual 30-day waiting period before release.

Many such prisoners are caught in a dilemma as the time for their release nears.

State law bans release of parolees who do not have a promise of an outside job. On the other hand, very few employes will hire a parolee without a personal interview.

A furlough often ends this dilemma. It also allows a potential parolee to secure outside living accommodations and take care of any special problem that might crop up before his release.

The 12-hour passes are issued, after approval by five staff officers, to men who have been at the camp at least four months and have no black marks on their prison records.

A pass enables a prisoner to keep in contact with his family and society. Sometimes it permits a birthday celebration at home or attendance at a funeral of a close relative.

In the four months that the program has been in operation, only 12 furloughs and 36 passes have been granted. The men who received them were released to the custody of their parents or approved relatives.

A similar program has been in operation for two years at Camp Pugsley near Traverse City.

There, however, the inmates are probationers. At Brighton, the prisoners are felons.

The whole experiment could collapse if one man on furlough or pass failed to return, or committed a crime while away from the camp.

Parents of Teenage Drivers Take Heed

As parents of youths old enough to drive, here is what you and they are up against:

(1) A high accident rate that finds more than one out of every three teenagers who drive involved in an auto crash each year.

(2) A "safety lag" in driver education courses that sends young students out on the highways at night without adequate training.

(3) An increase of up to 90 per cent in the amount of insurance premium you have to pay on a car that a teenager drives.

Frankly worried, safety authorities point to the disturbing fact that only 600,000, or a slim 10 per cent of the total six million teen-age drivers, received fully adequate driver education courses last year.

An Alaska bull moose may weigh up to 1,800 pounds.

Most Europeans Cheering Visits; One Headline: 'End OK Frozen Mitt'

LONDON (AP)—Most West Europeans today cheered the impending exchange of visits by President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as a near miraculous melting in the cold war ice.

The general enthusiasm was tempered in some capitals by a fear that the two superpowers would work out a settlement in which the lesser nations had no voice. Eisenhower's pre-Khrushchev tour of the major West European capitals was designed to assure the Allies.

One West German newspaper warned the meetings would be "pregnant with danger" for Germany; and an Italian newspaper expressed fear the two powers might "carve up" spheres of influence. The conservative L'Aurore of Paris regretted that the negotiations would "pass over Europe's head."

But the West German government officially welcomed the exchange of visits, Italian Premier Antonio Segni said "every step, every contact which contributes to the clarification of relations between East and West...can only be viewed with great sympathy." And informants in Geneva said the French government approves the Eisenhower - Khrushchev exchange as something that would stall off the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Diplomats in Geneva said the United States has assured its chief Western Allies they will be kept fully informed of developments and consulted on any specific agreements which may be proposed.

But one veteran ambassador in Moscow said Khrushchev obviously was intent on a deal with the United States and considered the other Western powers relatively unimportant

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan declared: "I have always believed that tension in the world between the East and West can largely be resolved by personal contacts and discussions."

IT'S A HOMER

"Yes; it's a homer," shouted Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express in an eight-column front page headline. "Miracle of 1959," said the Conservative Daily Mail. "End ok frozen mitt," said the leftist Daily Mirror.

Sweden's Socialist Premier Tage Erlander said the decision to get together was "a great victory for reason." Another Socialist, Danish Premier H. C. Hansen, said it was a sign of "a sense of realities and a really political state of mind."

Soviet newspapers splashed across their front pages the announcement of the Khrushchev-Eisenhower visits.

Diplomatic observers in the Soviet capital cautioned, however, that there was still hard bargaining ahead to bring any results in such major issues as Germany and disarmament.

Hal Boyle Says:

Opera Star Faces a Dilemma

NEW YORK (AP)— "Young men today are impossible," said Elaine Malbin, the tiny spitfire of opera.

Miss Malbin has a problem.

She is young and pretty and as vibrantly alive as a violin string. She has smoldering eyes the color of autumn leaves.

She has one of the best lyric soprano voices in the land. She makes up to $75,000 a year.

BOYLE

But she has a problem. It is the same problem faced by millions of other career women her age—finding the right guy.

The public never thinks the feminine stars of the entertainment world have many dating woes. But they do. They have plenty.

The very gifts that make them famous turn out in a way to be a reverse curse. They scare away many men.

"That's part of my trouble," said Elaine ruefully.

"Of course, it's partly my fault too. I'm afraid I can't be attracted to just an ordinary guy. I hesitate to date a man who isn't interesting. And to me the interesting men are those I feel are above me mentally, or who have achieved more."

"Young men are too glib," she said. "They are glib about things they know nothing about—such as work. I have worked too long and too hard myself to care for glibness. I like older men because they appreciate you more, but the best ones are already taken."

Why not fall in love with someone in her own field? Miss Malbin shook her midnight mane vehemently.

"I don't find American male opera stars very sexy," she said flatly.

"I prefer businessmen and writers."

Brooklyn-born Miss Malbin started singing at 11, made her debut here at the age of 14. She wearies sometimes of the exacting dicipline of opera, particularly since she says it is financially far less rewarding than television or the supper club circuit.

She still practices three hours every day.

"But the hardest thing to me is that I have to live in accord with the demands of my vocal art," she said.

"It means I can't talk as much as I want to; smoke at all; or stay up late at night.

"I've worked very hard and long. I've worked and watched the world go by. Now I feel I want to see more of the world—and watch the work go by."

"I never regret what I've done, and I don't want to live to regret what I have not done. I'm very stormy, and I guess I like stormy people who are tremendous workers."

She paused, brooding. Asked if there was anything else she wanted to say, the little girl with the big fine voice smiled and said: "Help!"

Guide at U.S. Exhibit Reveals Russian Doubts

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Doris Johnson of Ann Arbor, Mich., is one of the student guides at the United States exhibit in Moscow quoted in press releases from the Russian capital.

Miss Johnson, a graduate student at the University of Michigan, is quoted as stating it will be many years before the effect of the U. S. exhibit will be known. Miss Johnson, who learned to speak Russian at Michigan, said the Russians express doubt that Americans can walk into a store and buy the household appliances being exhibited.

'Natural Death' Jury's Ruling

But Colorado Mother Is Held on Murder of Tot by Smothering

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Death came by natural causes to 19-month-old Carol Bonner as she lay in her crib under two heavy leather coats, a coroner's jury has ruled.

She surrendered to police last Thursday and told of trying to suffocate the child and end her suffering. Carol was born with a congenital heart malformation, water on the brain, and a cleft palate.

The jury ruled the heart ailment had caused Carol's death.

It added that her ailments may have been aggravated by lack of oxygen when the coats were placed over her.

The district attorney's office had no immediate comment on the ruling.

Mrs. Bonner now is under psychiatric care. She is the mother of three other small children. The husband and father is an accountant.

In 1958, the sporting goods industry did approximately $1.8-billion business. To keep sales up, the industry invested $4.7 billion in daily newspapers, 8.6 per cent more than was invested during the previous year.

Full Scale Battle Looms in House Over Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A wide-open floor battle over labor control legislation was indicated today as the House Rules Committee called hearings to determine procedure.

Without working over the legislation itself, the committee decides on debate limits, the extent of amendments to be allowed, and ground rules which play a big part in shaping House action on bills.

Before it was a bill approved 16-14 by the House Labor Committee but opposed by many who want it changed on the House floor.

The committee consequently was expected to send the bill to the floor wide-open to amendment to satisfy members who contend it is too weak and needs strengthening, and others who say it is too tough and needs toning down.

The Rules Committee, under pressure to get the bill before the House this week, suspended hearings on other legislation to give it priority.

As it came from the Labor Committee, the measure eased many restrictions of the Senate-passed bill but followed that bill's general pattern.

It would ban "hot cargo" clauses in union contracts and extortion picketing. A modified labor "bill of rights" is included, but without the criminal penalties the Senate voted for violations. The bill would require unions to make extensive financial reports and would require the National Labor Relations Board to take jurisdiction in all labor dispute cases. The board may now decline jurisdiction in small cases, and the states are prohibited from acting.

Is strongest and most influential backing came Monday from Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), who declared: "I think it does a splendid job." Rayburn said the Labor Committee bill "covers racketeering in a fine fashion."

But only five of the 30 Labor Committee members had a good word to say for it. The others said it would be too tough on labor, or not tough enough.

Ezra Taft Benson Notes 60th Birthday

He arranged to take time out at noon for cutting a birthday cake supplied by office aides.

Beside the cake was a large cartoon depicting a gun pointing at the figure "60."

An aide said smilingly this could have a double meaning — his 60th birthday or the election in 1960.

Disappearance of Fugitive Baffles Police

MARQUETTE (AP) — The disappearance of fugitive Mike Gisondi grew more baffling today as police criss-crossed a heavily wooded area 27 miles west of here for the second day.

Gisondi, 29, escaped from the maximum security prison at Marquette five days ago in a truck which he commandeered by threatening the driver with a knife as he left the prison with a load of garbage.

The escapee was serving a life term for murder in the shooting of two men in a Hazel Park tavern in 1956.

The manhunt was concentrated in the Humboldt Junction area near U. S. 41 early yesterday after a man dashed from a truck into the woods about 300 yards from a state police roadblock. Officers said the truck had approached with its lights out.

State police at Marquette said they are checking out several reports by area residents that they spotted suspicious-appearing persons in the vicinity.

Fingerprints on the truck, a pickup model, are being checked in an effort to identify the driver, police said. The vehicle was stolen at Negaunee.

Double Existence Revealed After Death

Led Jekyll-and-Hyde Life

Tha's the —Jekyll-and-Hyde double life police say was lived by Daniel M. Snyder, ex-Marine, art lover, and man about town.

His honest path by day and dishonest path by night came to light after police had shot him to death during a drugstore holdup attempt Sunday night.

Officers said Snyder, 40, who wore elevator shoes to increase his 5-foot-7 stature, called himself Police Sgt. Cain L. Wood and carried a detective sergeant's badge that was a remarkably accurate duplicate of the real thing. He held up two markets and got away with $38,000.

By day he moved in high financial circles and was regarded as a shrewd investor with apparently unlimited income. He had no criminal record.

"We were to be married this week," lamented Mrs. Hilda Loar, 29, a divorcee.

Sunday night he entered a drugstore, flashed his detective badge and told the manager, "I'm here to prevent a robbery."

The manager recognized Snyder from descriptions of the man who had robbed two markets. He tripped a silent burglar alarm. Officers arrived. Snyder bolted for the back door, then turned on the officers, gun in hand. They fired first.

DANIEL M. SNYDER

"He was strange in many ways," said Mrs. Loar. "Now I understand why."

Defense Department Budget Passes House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate today a bill appropriating $39,228,239,000 to finance the Defense Department for the fiscal year that started July 1.

The compromise measure, biggest money bill of the session, included a 35 million dollar allotment for advance planning for a 380 million dollar nuclear carrier which will take four years to build. The Navy now has one such craft.

Investigators Begin Probe of Plane Crash

Federal and state aeronautics investigators have begun a probe of the plane crash which claimed three lives in a White Lake Township corn field Sunday.

The investigation was started yesterday by the Federal Aviation Administration and the Michigan Civil Aeronautics Board into the cause of the crash of the Piper Tri-Pacer.

Killed in the crash were Earl A. Tregesch, 29, his son, Mark, 4, and cousin, Robert Sowders, 34, all of Warren.

Investigators said they will question witnesses in an effort to clear up the mystery of the reason for the crash.

Witnesses said the plane came straight down in a tight spiral after its engine sputtered and stopped.

The craft was demolished but there was no fire. Both men were described by relatives as experienced pilots. Investigators will also try to find out who was piloting the plane when it crashed.

The crash occurred near the intersection of M-59 and Fisk road, about two miles west of Pontiac Municipal Airport.

If Williams Sees Khrushchev

To Take Off His Gloves

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Gov. Willliams, who described his talk with a Russian official last month as a "table-pounding fight," says Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will get the same kind of questions if he decides to visit Michigan.

"If Khrushchev comes to my state, I'd want to talk turkey with him," Williams said yesterday in commenting on the Russian leader's forthcoming visit to the United States. Williams is attending he 51st annual Governors Conference here.

The Democratic governor said he would give Khrushchev the same kind of treatment he gave touring Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov early last month.

Williams described the conversation afterwards as a "good, knock-down, finger-pointing, table-pounding fight." The meeting followed a refusal by Detroit Mayor Louis Miriani to meet Kozlov.

The governor said the conflict in his talk with Kozlov was mainly over the treatment by the Soviet Union of its satellites. Williams said Russian tempers flared when Kozlov was asked when satellite nations would be given a chance to hold free elections.

Williams said in a news conference after the Kozlov visit that he did not feel Soviet visitors should get only "honeyed words" in their tours of this country. He said a previous visit by another deputy Soviet premier, Anastas Mikoyan, had produced "fawning" by U.S. hosts and gave the impression that "we were a bunch of cream puffs."

Pontiac Takes In Over 94 Per Cent of Its Taxes

Pontiac took in more than 94 per cent of its city and school taxes during last month's collection period, almost one per cent more than last year.

As of midnigh' Saturday, 94.13 per cent of the July tax spread had been paid into the City Treasurer's office, compared with 93.20 per cent last year.

In terms of money, the difference is about $100,000.

"Tax collections have been very good this year," said Marvin Alward, city finance director.

So far, $9,435,455 in 1959 property taxes have been collected, said Alward, roughly two-thirds for the schools and one-third for city government.

The 1959 city and school tax spread is $10,026,837, with $6,348,201 earmarked for the schools and $3,678,636 for the city.

Alward estimated that about 97 or 98 per cent of the tax spread will be collected by the end of the year.

A one per cent tax penalty that went into effect Saturday will be increased by an additional one per cent charge for every month that tax payments are delinquent, he said.

Link in Shooting Accusation?

Investigate Car Vandalism

Detectives from the Brighton State Police Post and Detroit Police are investigating vandalism of the car of a Dearborn woman who last week accused a Detroit patrolman of shooting at her.

Patricia Kingsbury, 22, of 4878 E. Korte St., reported to state police Sunday that vandals damaged her car and the car of her mother, Margaret, at Camp Dearborn in Milford Township.

Troopers said the vandals slashed tires and upholstery and smashed glass on the dashboards of the two parked cars.

Damages were estimated at more than $100 by police.

Miss Kingsbury has accused Robert L. Bush, 31, of Detroit, of shooting at her car after she attempted to break off a two-year romance with him.

The suspended patrolman said he knows nothing of the slashing incident. Detectives are attempting to find if the two incidents are in any way connected.

Between City, Pontiac General

To Act on Hospital Pact

City commissioners tonight will be asked to formalize this year's financial arrangements with Pontiac General Hospital into a new, two-year pact.

City Manager Walter K. Willman, who drew up the pact, said it embodies all the points city and hospital officials have formally and informally agreed to since hospital finances floundered last summer.

No new points have been added that have not been previously reported, he said.

Main item in the pact concerns funds for unbudgeted repairs now under way in the hospital's east wing. The city is loaning the hospital money to make the repairs on condition that the hospital eventually pay the money back.

Latest estimates by Willman place the repair costs at $350,000 over and above construction funds alloted to complete the hospital expansion program.

The pact was approved by the hospital's board of trustees last month. It is subject to review every two years.

Commissioners, in other business, are expected to adopt a resolution formally recognizing the Pontiac Police Reserve for the first time. Although the reserve has operated several years as a civil defense team and police auxiliary, its status has never been legally defined by the city.

As part of urban renewal preparation, it will be recommended that the city adopt provisions of the State Housing Law to meet federal requirements for an urban renewal program here.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said adoption of the state law locally would stiffen some building requirements to a slight degree, especially those concerning plumbing.

Two public hearings are scheduled. One is on intention to proceed next year with a sanitary sewer system on Stanley avenue and Meadowlawn, Cherrylawn and Cloverlawn drives between Ypsilanti and Columbia avenues.

The other is on intention to construct this summer a water main on Palmer drive north of Mt. Clemens.

Solon Employs 'Hoffa Tactics' at Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House rules committee, hearing arguments on labor controls legislation, was picketed today by Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio).

Ayres, a member of the labor committee, appeared in the capitol corridor outside the committee with large flashily lettered placards bearing such slogans as "hot cargo sold here," "join now or starve later," and "don't eat here. Scabs."

"I'm here to explain blackmail picketing," he told newsmen.

Senator Langer's Wife Dies After Cancer Bout

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Lydia Cady Langer, 68, wife of Sen. William Langer (R-ND), died of cancer shortly before noon today at George Washington University Hospital after a long illness.

The senator and their four daughters were at her bedside.

Mrs. Langer, a former New York City socialite, was the daughter of famed architect, J. Cleveland Cady who designed the Metropolitan Opera House, Carnegie Hall and many other well-known buildings.

Backs Up His Boast

WIGGINS, Miss. (UPI) — Authorities today searched for an escape artist who they said picked a lock to get out of the city jail, sawed three bars to free his wife from the county jail, then picked an auto dealer's lock to steal a pickup truck. C. B. McNair, 29, of Hattiesburg, Miss., had boasted earlier "There ain't no jail that can hold me."

MRS. CLYDE R. KIZER

Waterford Girl Wed in Double-Ring Rites

Clarkston Methodist Church was the scene of the Saturday evening wedding of Hazel Lee Miller and Clyde R. Kizer. The Rev. William Richards officiated at the double-ring candlelight ceremony before 250 guests.

The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Royal S. McGill of Waterford and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard R. Kizer of Clarkston.

The bride wore a dress of Rosepoint lace and taffeta with a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The full floor length taffeta skirt was overlaid with Rosepoint lace. She wore a fingertip veil trimmed with sequins. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and white roses on a white lace covered Bible, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Stewart Pickering was matron of honor. She wore an embroidered turquoise sheath dress with a chiffon overskirt and a short veil accented with bows. She carried a white fan with pink daisies and pink roses.

Ann Lowrie and Mary Jo Willits, both of Waterford, were bridesmaids. Their sheath dresses with chiffon overskirts were pink and yellow repectively and their veils matched their dresses. Miss Lowrie carried a white fan with blue daisies and pink roses and Miss Willits carried blue daisies and yellow roses with her fan.

Nate Riffle of Clarkston was best man. Ushers were Fred Vess, Leroy Volberding of Clarkston, James Williams of Waterford, Douglas Fortin and William Shanks of Clarkston. Maynard Kizer was junior usher for his brother.

HOLD SUPPER, DANCE

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church parlors. Following the reception, a supper and dance for relatives and the bridal party was held at Mountainview Country Club.

For her going away outfit, the bride wore a white embroidered cotton dress with a lavender sash and matching accessories with the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will honeymoon at Niagara Falls and tour New York. They will make their home in Ypsilanti, where the bridegroom is a student at Eastern Michigan University. He is affiliated with Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, Stole Honor Society and Kappa Delta Phi fraternity.

Volunteers of America Help

Mom Can Go to Camp, Too

By MARY PRIME

The youngsters play under supervision, leaving the mothers free to participate in handcrafts, swimming, and other camping activities. The women join their children at mealtime and tuck them in bed at night.

"We keep the families intact. Each mother has a cabin to herself and her children," said Col. Emily Coleman, financial secretary.

Not just any mother who would like a rest is eligible. Women must be underprivileged and referred to the Volunteers by hospitals and welfare agencies. Only mothers with two or more children are accepted.

Col. Coleman recalled one mother who came with her 12 children—"so many they would not fit in one cabin"—and another who brought some of her 18 youngsters. She parceled the others off to another camp to give them a rest from each other.

A camp on Staten Island N. Y., now in its 38th year and one of 60 such camps in the east, midwest and far west, each season averages about 50 mothers and 200 children, some without their mothers. One counselor tends 8 to 10 children or fewer, depending on the age group.

Some camps take fathers, too, she said. The Bar-None Ranch in Anoka, Minn., recently started to help straighten out first offenders in juvenile courts. Instead of being released from court to home, the children first must spend a week at the camp with their parents.

"It's wonderful to see these mothers relax," Col. Coleman said in an interview. "For the first time, they don't have to do dishes or worry about food. They know their children are safe and off the city streets."

One woman was so eager to come she had planned the visit for before one of her babies was born. But the baby arrived early. Not to be thwarted, the mother went from hospital to camp—infant in tow.

"We forget that city children don't always see animals," Col. Coleman added. "This year at Staten Island, we had goats, lambs, a baby skunk, chicks, bantam roosters and a piglet. One mother told me it was the first time she and her children had seen a lamb."

A Volunteer for 29 years, Col. Coleman is the wife of a textile businessman, Arthur J. Coleman and the mother of a son earning his master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

"The work gets in the blood," she said. "You realize you've helped make someone else's burden a little lighter. And people remember it. Once I took a carload of children from the camp on a shopping trip. I was stopped by a policeman because I had too many children in the car. But he found out where I was from, and let me go. He had lived at the camp when it was a home for children."

Honoring Future Bride With Showers, Parties

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BIRMINGHAM AND BLOOMFIELD HILLS—The approaching marriage of Anne Jackson Alexander and Peter A. Cartwright, Aug. 22, is occasioning many parties. Early this month Anne's aunt, Mrs. James R. Weeks, gave a luncheon and shower before the Weeks family left to spend the summer at Rockland, Maine.

Another aunt, Mrs. June Babcock Vinton, gave a dinner party in July.

Mrs. Frank S. Cartwright has entertained for her future daughter-in-law and Mrs. Joseph Dodge and her daughters, Ellen and Allana, will give a table top shower at Orchard Lake Country Club Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Genung are planning a supper party for Wednesday evening.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Reed Alexander of Lane Lake road.

Her fiance is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank S. Cartwright of Glenhurst drive.

Mrs. M. M. Burgess is giving a series of dinner parties in her home on Country Club drive. She has invited guests to another affair on Aug. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Strouse of New York, formerly of Birmingham, are spending several weeks at their Roaring Brook cabin.

Mrs. William B. Graham and her daughters have spent ten days in Birmingham. They divided their time between visits with her mother, Mrs. George A. Beecher and Mr. Graham's parents, the William L. Grahams of Wimbleton drive. They are returning to their home in Fayetteville, N. Y. today.

Husband Proud

Feels 20 Years Younger

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I think most folks like to read success stories, especially when the success has to do with a subject of universal interest to woman — improvement of the figure. Because I believe this to be true, every August I print some of the letters I receive from readers who joined my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon in January.

The following is a very gratifying and thrilling letter: "Dear Mrs. Lowman: As a young girl I had a lovely figure. After 15 years of marriage and nearing middle age I had gradually accumulated 20 pounds too much. That was 10 years ago. Now I have been married for 25 years.

"I am ashamed to say that during the last 15 years I have hated this overweight. It made me self-conscious. It absolutely ruined my pleasure in clothes and it even affected my life in more important ways.

I gave up sports and dancing, and became less interested in my appearance generally. As you can imagine these extra pounds even affected my personality because I myself did not FEEL attractive.

"How I could have allowed this situation to exist for so many years I cannot now imagine, looking back, but I did until last January, when I read about your Marathon.

LOST 20 POUNDS

"With your 'shots in the arm' of encouragement, enthusiasm and confidence I lost 20 pounds in eight weeks. I also lost 4½ inches from my waist, 6 from my abdomen and 5 from my hips. My measurements are just right now.

"I cannot possibly tell you how this has changed my entire outlook. I hope you will pass this along in your column so that it may encourage other women.

"I feel and look 20 years younger and this summer I am swimming for the first time in many years. My husband is the happiest and proudest man in town. Thank you so much."

If you missed Marathon last January and would like to have the same routine this reader used, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

Honoree May Take the Prize

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have attended quite a few showers lately and have noticed that the guest of honor took part in games that were played, which is all right, but is it correct for her to accept a prize if she wins? Shouldn't she refuse it and let the runner up or the person who tied with her, have it, as she received many presents already? I think it is a very selfish act. What is your opinion?"

Answer: I am sorry, but I do not agree with you and think that whoever wins a game, even if she has received other presents, should keep the prize.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is planning to give a bachelor party for my brother who is soon to be married. It is to be held at his club and of course he will pay all the expenses of the dinner.

"However, he would like to present the bridegroom with a present at this time and thought of asking the men invited to the dinner to contribute ten dollars toward the present. Would this be in order, and do you think ten dollars too much to ask?"

Answer: If your husband asks the guests to contribute toward the present, it becomes a joint present from all of them and they should decide together how much to contribute and what the present will be.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it permissible to present one's physician or physicians with a gift? One doctor performed the operation and one assisted. After the operation I was in the care of the latter. If it is permissible, how should it be delivered—in person or sent by the store where the gift will be bought.

"Is a note of appreciation necessary or just a name card enclosed? I would appreciate your answer to these questions."

Answer: A gift is certainly not necessary, but if you wish to send one you certainly may do so. Write on your visiting card, "With many thanks" and have the store enclose it with the gift which should be sent by them.

Call His Bluff . . . Abby

He Says He's Playing Cards, but His Friends Deny Story

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I love my husband and I know he loves me. We have five children from the ages of two to twelve years old. My husband is a good provider. We've never fought over anything but now I have a problem. He plays cards almost every night — so he says.

But the men he says he plays cards with say they don't play with him. I am very confused. Should I ask for the truth or should I try to keep our home together and be quiet? UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: A home, in order to be "kept together" must have a sturdy foundation. Mutual honesty is the cornerstone. You'll never get rid of termites by ignoring them. Nor will you solve your problem by closing your eyes to it. Lay all your cards on the table . . . and ask your husband to do likewise. Now that he's dealt you a full house — call his bluff.

DEAR ABBY: I wish the woman who signed herself RECKLESS DRIVER'S WIFE" would read this. Maybe she'd think twice before she let her husband drive again.

Five months ago my husband was killed by a reckless driver. He left me with three children, ages 5, and 3 and 1. I am 23 years old.

The reckless driver who hit him is now serving time in prison. But that doesn't bring my husband back. No mother enjoys telling her children why Daddy isn't coming home any more.

Believe me, I have suffered many sleepless nights because of a reckless driver. Thanks, Abby, for letting me tell my story to millions of people. It's true. Every heart-breaking word of it.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a sweet little niece who is 14 (almost 15). She thinks she is in love with a 24-year-old man who works at the neighborhood grocery store.

She runs there every evening and asks him for a ride home in the market truck. He takes her for a spin around the block and then home. She doesn't even know his last name, but firmly believes she's in love with him.

She won't listen to her mother. (She says she's "old-fashioned.") Please say something in your column (she reads it faithfully) before this crush gets out of hand.

AUNTIE

DEAR AUNTIE: This crush cannot get out of hand if she leaves the grocery store on foot. Ask the Romeo at the market to co-operate by explaining to her that he isn't allowed to have riders in the truck.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 24. He's just been divorced and is living at home again. He is robust, gainfully employed and is buying an automobile and motorcycle on time. He is on the go seven nights a week.

Should he be expected to contribute toward home expenses? If so, how much is fair? We are in moderate circumstances.

DISAGREEING PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: A 24-year-old "boy" is a man. He should, in my opinion, contribute the same amount at home that it would cost him to live in a hotel (or rooming house) plus his board and laundry. You do him no favor by supporting him when he is able to support himself.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GOLF WIDOW:" Play with the girls. There's more than one fair way.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Quick Raisin Nut Loaf Enriched by Oatmeal

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today's recipe is for an interesting raisin-nut bread. Oatmeal in the batter gives the bread more nutrition, especially vitamin B. Furthermore, the bread tastes good.

Lately we've been getting recipes from mothers of large families. Mrs. Ralph Reinhart, today's cook, has five. She's active as a Den mother and in teaching Sunday School. In the winter the Reinharts love to square dance. Cooking is her hobby.

OATMEAL RAISIN BREAD
By Mrs. Ralph Reinhart

Put in bowl:
2 cups raw oatmeal
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sugar

Mix well and add:
½ cup light molasses
2 tablespoons melted shortening
2 cups sour milk

Beat well and add:
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup raisins

Pour into two greased loaf pans. Bake 45 minutes at 375 degrees.

Rx for Girl Wallflowers: Take Up Fortune Telling

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Girls who yearn to be popular, always in demand and the life of the party might heed the advice of Betty Penson, women's editor of The Boise, Idaho, Statesman.

"Learn to tell fortunes," says Betty. "If you add a smattering of astrology and handwriting analysis, so much the better. You'll never have a dull moment."

Betty subscribed to a course in fortune-telling and palmistry a few years ago, got interested in the whole psychic subject and added astrology. Now she's the center of attention at every party, never at a loss for dinner invitations, and besieged on all sides by friends who look on her as an oracle.

"I wish I'd discovered this when I was a teen-ager," says Betty, who now has a teen-age daughter of her own. "I could have had a lot more fun than I did because then I used to suffer from shyness. But a girl who can read palms and all that always has more dates than she can manage."

A different suggestion comes from attractive Marianne Probst, of Augsburg, Germany, who recently was named the world's champion accordion player.

"No girl who can play the accordion is ever a wallflower," says Marianne. "It's a wonderful way to make friends and also, if you take it seriously, to see the world."

Someone gave Marianne an accordion when she was 12, and she became so proficient that she started giving concerts and teaching accordion classes. She has been playing in competition since 1950, when she was runner-up for the German championship. She has participated in the world championship matches since 1954, when she placed fourth. In 1955 she finished second, in competitions held in Brighton, England. This year she got her first trip to America to compete here.

No doubt Michigan picnics, hayrides and square dances will be much livelier this summer, and there certainly will be no dull moments for Marianne and her accordion.

Girl wallflowers please note.

Colorado has the highest mean elevation of any of the states averaging 6,800 feet. By contrast Delaware has the lowest with 60 feet average.

Americans Fussier Than Kings on Decor

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI) — When it comes to decorating a home, the average American woman is fussier than kings and diplomats.

Just ask Fred Gerstel, an interior decorator who once counted among his clients eight royal families of Europe and the Middle East, two Czechoslovakian presidents, and 56 foreign embassies in Prague. Gerstel owned the largest furniture factory in Europe and designed for the cream of international society until he was forced to flee Czechoslovakia in 1939.

"Easier, much easier," he said in an interview in his New York office. He generally was given a free hand when decorating embassies and palaces.

For example, he was commissioned to re-model the Japanese embassy. His price was high, but the Japanese ambasador sent a check without looking at one sketch or color scheme or consulting his wife.

"Then nobody asked a price or had a budget. But I have learned since to work on budgets very carefully," Gerstel laughed.

In dealing with royalty, the decorator was not faced with a lot of do's and don'ts. There was only one rule: everything he purchased or designed had to be beautiful for 200 years.

A castle or palace meant as much to kings and queens as a home to commoners, and they wanted personal touches, he said. But no queen considered re-decorating a traumatic experience. The accepted decor was usually 18th century French. If new carpets or draperies were needed, Gerstel was asked to get the same pattern because the clients were "happy" with them. But American women want a complete change every time they redecorate.

Tastes varied from simple to luxurious. Gerstel recalled doing a red damask reception room for King Alexander of Yugoslavia and oriental bedrooms and modern baths for the king of Albania. The Albanian queen had been to the United States, and wanted an indoor swimming pool and a room furnished as an American bar.

Unfortunately, the royal Albanians were forced to abandon their palace to the Italians, so the job never was completed and Gerstel never received payment.

"Kings are delightful customers, but it's difficult to get paid," the decorator said. "They felt they were doing us an honor. They had no business sense."

Gerstel's most expensive job was a $3-million bank (now the equivalent of $12 million, he said). It looked like a palace and contained a staircase modeled after one in Chesterfield House, then owned by British Princess Mary. Lord Chesterfield had purchased the staircase in 1760. The bank also had panelings which took 68 woodcarvers five years to complete.

A hearty man who has been in business since 1919, Gerstel is divorced and has three sons and one grandchild. After fleeing his country, he came to the United States with "no money, but my business in my head." In 1944 he opened his own office. Today he does interiors for commercial firms and institutions and is chief consultant on interiors for a firm doing missile research.

In Czechoslovakia Gerstel lived in a castle with 19 servants.

"It was fun sitting on the right hand of queens, but it doesn't do me any good to be nostalgic about that life in a castle," he said. "I was sitting on a lonely island. I had no friends. Here in my office we are all friends, we have our sandwich together.

"If someone could give me the chance of going back, I wouldn't. Now I am an American and I like it here."

Some People Secretly Delight in Refusal

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Once upon a time, so the story goes, there was a Little Red Hen. Her wheat needed planting so she asked Goose, Donkey and Pig to help her. They excused themselves and she planted it herself.

Next she asked them to help gather in the wheat. They found more excuses. Finally, when the wheat needed threshing, she went to them again—and once more Goose, Donkey and Pig pleaded other engagements.

Are you sorry for Little Red Hen? I'm not. She enjoyed disappointment. She wanted refusal. If she had really expected help, she would not have sought it from animals known to be flighty, stubborn and greedy. So she wanted not help but disappointment. She wanted the refusals that enabled her to regard herself as an overworked martyr to her family.

Today, asked to do an errand, our 10-year-old Ella will say, "How can I when I have to finish dusting my bookshelves?" To this excuse we'll bring two feelings—one we're aware of and one we're not. Consciously, we'll resent Ella's refusal, but unconsciously we'll be quite pleased with it.

Since we've expected refusal, getting it will fortify our conviction that Ella is a combination goose-donkey-pig—and that we are the only good and responsible creature in the barnyard.

If you don't believe me, listen to what we say to Ella. With a whine in our voice we complain: "I might have known it. Everything around here is left to me."

If our anger at Ella's refusal were pure, not adulterated by our secret pleasure in it, we'd say briskly with no whine in our voice, "We'll want eggs for breakfast tomorrow morning. As Meyers' didn't deliver them, you'll have to go and get them."

But Little Red Hens of the world never really protest refusal. They are too secretly pleased to prove themselves responsible — and everyone else, geese, donkeys and pigs — to be able to protest it.

The collected injustices give them a sense of security — the assurance that they alone are the long-suffering servants of duty. They are the only ones who care about the wheat crop or tomorrow's breakfast eggs. Everything depends on them.

Teens in Past Years Had Different Rules

By RUTH MILLETT

Children and teenagers may not have been any better when I was growing up than they are now. But they were certainly easier for adults to live with.

Adults, in those days, saw no harm and weren't afraid to make and enforce rules for their own protection and for the protection of other adults.

When we were kids, we weren't allowed to go to our friends' houses on Sunday. "A man has a right to have his home and family to himself on Sunday," my father used to say.

If that seemed like a hardship to us kids at the time, we now now it wasn't. We read a lot of good books on those long Sunday afternoons. And all the fathers in the neighborhood actually got their day of rest.

We weren't allowed to use a horn for a doorbell either, which did a lot to keep our neighborhood quiet. "Get out of the car and go to the door" was the order of the day. Now teenagers use an automobile horn to save their legs. Many of them even have a habit of giving a tap on the horn every time they pass a friend's house.

There was another phrase most kids were well aware of when I was growing up. It was: "Don't wear out your welcome." Now kids and teenagers are so unafraid of "wearing out their welcome" that they take over the houses of their friends.

Another thing about those bygone days, the telephone was mainly for adult use. Now in the average home, kids develop telephonitis by the age of 6. From then on they make and receive about 10 times as many calls as their parents.

So the home is never quiet even when the children are all away. For the telephone keeps ringing and Mama or Papa — whichever one is good-natured enough to take over the job as children's secretary — keeps repeating over and over such phrases as, "Susie isn't here. She went swimming. Yes, Mary Beth went with her. I think they'll be back about five. Have her call you as soon as she gets home? All right, I'll tell her."

Couple Exchange Vows July 25 at Drake House

Oil Industry 100 Years Old

(The petroleum industry, which began with the discovery of the first successful oil well on Aug. 27, 1859, is currently marking its 100th anniversary. Following is the first of two dispatches describing what oil has meant to the nation and the world during its first century as a source of energy—and what it is likely to mean in the years ahead.)

By CLYDE H. FARNSWORTH

NEW YORK (UPI)—A century ago a retired railroad conductor drilled an oil well in western Pennsylvania and an industry destined to shape the course of history was born.

Oil had been known centuries before. Noah calked the ark with a form of petroleum called pitch gathered from seepages in Mesopotamia. Job tellls of a rock which poured out "rivers of oil."

But it wasn't until Edwin L. Drake was hired by the Pennsylvania Rock Oil Co. to investigate the firm's Titusville, Pa., property that this energy was unleashed and its commercial potential tapped.

In the America of 1959 nearly all heavy work is done by machines lubricated, and in most cases, powered by petroleum products.

The big day in the industry's history was Aug. 27, 1859. After numerous delays and financial difficulties the Drake well reached into a rock crevice at a depth of 69½ feet.

It was a Sunday afternoon. Orders had been received to abandon the project, already dubbed "Drake's Folly." The disheartened Drake's chief driller, William A. (Uncle Billy) Smith, peered into the well. It was just possible . . .

The long shot paid off. Within a few feet, according to industry chroniclers, a dark green liquid bubbled and frothed. With a crude bailer Smith lifted several gallons of oil to the surface and the era was born.

The early years of the industry ran parallel to the transformation of America from a nation of small farms and workshops to a land of spreading cities and mushrooming industrial empires.

Oil helped power the transformation. It also supplied kerosene which replaced dwindling supplies of whale oil in the pre-Edison lamps.

Speculation marked the early years of the industry. The Titusville discovery touched off a scramble for oil lands that rivalled the gold rush. Fortunes were made and lost. Crude oil prices ran as high as $20 a barrel and as low as 10 cents. Today crude oil averages $3.25 a barrel.

Incidentally, Drake, who had been so right about oil in the earth, turned to speculation as an oil land promoter on Wall Street and did everything wrong.

The wife of the man who founded an industry now worth billions had to take in boarders and do sewing to make ends meet.

Most of the early drilling was confined to New York and Pennsylvania. Historians tell us wells were drilled on hunches, with the advice of spiritualistic mediums and dowsers, or just by sailing an old hat into the air and "spudding in" where it happened to land.

—1861, first year of the Civil War: The first ship to carry a cargo of oil cleared Philadelphia for London.

—1863: John D. Rockefeller invested in a new refinery in his home town of Cleveland, Ohio.

1876: Oil went west and was discovered in California.

—1890: The Sherman Antitrust Act led to reorganization of the Rockefeller interests into a number of holding companies.

—1893: Charles E. Duryea built a horseless carriage by attaching a one-cylinder gasoline engine to an ordinary buggy. This opened up the gasoline era at a time when kerosene was starting to lose markets because of the coming of electricity.

—1901: The Lucas Well at Spindletop, Tex., spewed 75,000 to 100,000 barrels of oil into the air each day and opened up the fabulous East Texas oil field.

1914-1918, World War I: oil was used to fuel tanks, trucks and planes of mechanized warfare for the first time.

—1939-45: By World War II, there was no question about the importance of oil. It supplied gasoline and lubricants for vehicles, was the principal ingredients of synthetic rubber and plastics and even supplied ingredients for healing salves and other medicines.

Flying Farmers Elect Standish Man to Post

He was named Sunday at a meeting at Capitol City Airport, succeeding Cecil Snyder of Merrill. Louis Lockwood of Jackson, Phil Jones of Brooklyn, Ernest Irwin of Clare, Richard Wardle of Ypsilanti and Peppel were elected board members.

According to a recent report, 85 per cent of the food shoppers select their food store on the basis of the price of these items: Baby food, butter, coffee, dog food, meats, milk, produce, shortening, soaps and detergents, and sugar. More food advertisers invest their ad dollars in daily newspapers than in any other advertising medium.

Snub for Nikita? Mayor Miriani Isn't Talking

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor Louis Miriani, who snubbed Soviet Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov on a recent Detroit visit, dodged a direct comment today on a possibility that Premier Khrushchev might pay a call here.

"I have nothing to say. I'll make the appropriate comment when the right time comes," Miriani said.

In scorning Kozlov, Miriani said he did so because word of the deputy premier's visit had not been officially given him beforehand.

First reactions of organized labor to the chance of a Khrushchev visit were divided.

Al Barbour, president of the Wayne County AFL-CIO which represents 450,000 workers, welcomed the possibility because he said there would be "a lot of questions" labor would like to ask him.

On the other hand Thomas McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the Detroit Building Trades Council, said his group should have no part of any reception for the Premier "as long as there are no free trade unions in Russia."

Last of Honor Flotilla Passes to Lake Ontario

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (AP)—The last ship of the "Operation Inland Sea" Flotilla passed through the Welland Canal Sunday night.

The destroyer Roan was the last of the 27 U.S. Navy vessels to make its way through the Welland Canal from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario. The flotilla sailed the Great Lakes this summer to honor the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Charge 10 Men With Smuggling

Herbs Brought In From Red China Against Ban, Say Indictments

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted 10 men on charges of smuggling more than a million dollars worth of contraband herbs from Red China into the United States.

The indictments, charging 13 counts of smuggling, trading with the enemy and conspiracy were unsealed here Friday. They were returned last April but kept secret in hope that three alleged Canadian members of the smuggling ring might be picked up in this country.

In San Francisco, E. E. Minskoff, chief enforcement officer of the treasury's foreign assets control section, said the herbs were smuggled into this country by way of Canada.

Minskoff said the herbs were labeled "dried vegetables" in New York and shipped to distribution points in Chicago and Memphis. From there they were routed to Chinese population centers in many sections of the country, as far west as Honolulu.

The herbs are considered necessary medicines by many Chinese.

Joe Quong, alias Joe Wilson, of Chicago and Memphis was called the ring's key man in this country. Also named in the indictments were Quong's two sons, Joe Wing Wah and Joe Wing Fong; Lun Fee Lee of New York City; John Hong Hall, Fong Quock Tip and Won Shew Git, of San Francisco.

Former Dean Applauds Captive Nations' Week

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—The former dean of Notre Dame's law school, Clarence Manion, said to-school, Clarence Manion, said Sunday night that President Eisenhower's recent proclamation of "Captive Nations Week" marked one of the "few times" since the cold war began that the United States had seized the psychological initiative.

"At long last," Manion said, "our anti-Communist program has taken the offensive."

Doris Hayes to Open Shop

ROCHESTER—A new store in French colonial design; Doris Hayes Women's Apparel Shop, will open its doors here Thursday.

The owners are Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Hayes, who have moved from their home in Sylvan Lake into the apartment over the shop.

Mrs. Hayes formerly owned the Doris Kay Shop in Oxford for 13 years. She sold out in 1957 and for the past two years has been associated with the Flora Mae Shop in Pontiac.

The interior of the shop is designed for the shopper's ease. Lighting is recessed in the ceiling and the store is air conditioned.

Mrs. Hayes said she will feature medium-priced and better suits, dresses and coats, a complete line of accessories plus boutique items.

The apartment carries out the same decorating motif of the shop and has a second-floor roof garden and "garden house" at the rear.

Mrs. Hayes said the apartment is versatile for it will double as a home and as a setting for fashion showings whenever the occasion arises.

Turkey Farmer Dies of Injuries From Fall

AVON TOWNSHIP — The 55-year-old owner of the Rochester Turkey Farm who fell down a 60-foot elevator shaft at the farm a week ago today died last night of his injuries.

After a week-long struggle, Orville Felmlee of 603 W. Lincoln St., Royal Oak succumbed at 6:15 a.m. in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Suffering multiple back injuries, he never regained full consciousness following the mishap.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said that Felmlee apparently was fixing the motor at the top of the shaft, which is four stories high, when he fell.

Take First Step in Setting Up Water System

SOUTHFIELD — The first step in plans to set up a master water supply system was taken by the city council when it met with the City Planning Commission last night.

The council authorized Mayor Donald L. Swanson and City Clerk Patrick Flannery to sign a contract with the Southeastern Oakland Water Authority which will clear the way for the city to negotiate with Detroit for water when the plan gets under way.

The council will meet again with the planning commission Monday when the matter will be discussed further.

Electric Auto Plans on Shelf Because of Cost

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Production plans for an electric automobile have received a temporary setback.

Plans to produce the car have been shifted to Germany or Japan, Dr. Charles Graves, executive vice president of Stinson Aircraft Tool & Engineering Corp., said yesterday. Costs of manufacturing in this country appeared too high, he added.

Graves also said production has been set back 12 months while foreign production sites are studied.

Several pilot models, which feature a home-charging battery that would run 77 miles between charges, have been produced here by Stinson. The company expected an initial retail price of $2,800, dropping to $2,000 as production increased.

REV. PAUL VANAMAN

Area Pastor Now in Europe

Conducting Evangelistic Meetings in Sweden, Finland in English

His whirlwind tour of the two Scandinavian countries is taking him to Vasa, Turku and Helsinski in Finland and to Stockholm and Vasteras in Sweden, where he is preaching the gospel in English.

Acting as Rev. Mr. Vanaman's interpreter is the Rev. Sven Esselstrom, a missionary and native Finn supported by the Baptist church here. Rev. Mr. Esselstrom arranged the tour.

Also assisting Rev. Mr. Vanaman are Mr. and Mrs. Enos Zimmerman, American missionaries to Finland.

Rev. Mr. Vanaman has been serving as a Baptist pastor since 1949. He organized the church in Clarkston in 1956. He also teaches at the Midwestern Baptist Schools in Pontiac. He is married and has four children.

The Scandinavian tour will be concluded by Rev. Mr. Vanaman this Sunday after which he will return to the church here at 8585 Dixie highway.

Finds New Career at 46

Romeo Author Makes the Grade

By LEE WINBORN

ROMEO — Robert J. Kost felt he was a square peg in a round hole until he took up creative writing and became an overnight success.

The first short story Kost ever wrote appears in this month's issue of Esquire magazine. It is entitled "A Girl For Me."

Since its publication, the new Romeo author has been deluged with offers from leading publishing houses and authors' agents who are interested in his future works.

"No new fame or success will give me more of a thrill, though, than selling my first story," Kost, who is 46, said today.

He describes himself as being "rather short, a little too heavy and losing a little hair."

He is married and the father of two, a daughter, Julie, 17, and a son, Marc, 15. The Kosts live at 421 N. Bailey St.

Kost's success story starts back in January 1958, when his wife, Vonnie, sensing her husband's current restlessness, suggested that he take an aptitude test in Detroit to see just where his talents lay.

Analysis of the comprehensive two-day examination pointed directly to the field of creative writing. Kost works in the engineering department of a Detroit cutting tool plant.

"Actually I got into this phase of the cutting tool trade during World War II and am now well paid and fairly successful. Consequently my employers couldn't understand my discontentment," said Kost.

ENROLLED AT U. OF M.

The next move in this saga of success is that the fledgling author enrolled in a course in creative writing at the University of Michigan. And his first productive effort was "A Girl For Me."

Kost is a man of many talents. He has a rich, tenor voice and for three years he studied at the Detroit Conservatory of Music and the Detroit Institute of Musical Arts.

He was just beginning to achieve a reputation as a soloist when a throat allergy forced him to give up singing.

A quiet, unassuming person, Kost also has made his mark as an actor having appeared in a number of productions by the Romeo Players. Further proof of his artistic versatility is his hobby which is portrait sculpture.

The budding middle-aged novelist wrote "A Girl For Me" in six hours—"after thinking about it for six months," he said.

"I don't know now if I can ever equal it," Kost said humbly. "It had all the elements of adolescent psychology and human tragedy which will be hard to duplicate."

HAS WRITTEN MORE

Not resting on his new-found laurels, Kost has written two more stories, both now under consideration by two national magazines.

When asked if he planned to write the "Great American Novel," Kost said, "This is all too new. I've never thought about it, but I may."

When he does, he has numbers of contacts to draw from and an agent. Among the authors' agencies he has heard from is Jacques Chamburn Inc. which represents Ben Hecht, Somerset Maugham and Grace Metalious.

He also has had letters of encouragement from several publishing houses including Thomas Y. Crowell, The Viking Press and Doubleday & Co. Inc.

"The worst part of this whole profession is the waiting—after the stories are written—until I find out if they're sold," Kost concluded wistfully.

FIRST STORY CLICKS — Forty-six-year-old Robert J. Kost of Romeo took a course in creative writing after an aptitude test showed that was the field where his capabilities lay. The test proved accurate when Kost's first short story was accepted for publication. He is employed in the engineering department of a Detroit cutting tool plant.

Full Grandstand Greets First Day

IMLAY CITY—The Eastern Michigan Fair got off to a bang-up start last night with the grandstand a "complete sell-out," Kenneth Ruby, fair secretary, said today.

"It was the biggest crowd we ever had in the grandstand," Ruby reported enthusiastically.

He added that every inch of the fairgrounds is filled with displays and exhibits in all departments are "breaking all existing records."

There are 50 riding horses in the stalls, 60 pens of sheep and 275 head of cattle in the barns, Ruby said.

The Floral Hall, where exhibitors display their canned goods, produce, grains, baked goods and other farm and home items, is filled to overflowing.

Last night's opening was marked by the traditional flag-raising ceremony followed by an auto thrill show.

Today is judging day in the Floral Hall and for 4-H livestock departments. Beginning at 7:30 p.m. Lapeer county firemen will have their annual tug of war, and at 8 p.m. the horse-pulling contest will be staged.

DRAW FOR RACES

A behind-the-scenes activity today will be the drawing to see which horses will be entered in the harness races which begin tomorrow night, Ruby said.

Also on the schedule tomorrow is the judging of dairy cattle and horses.

Thursday's program will feature judging of livestock at 10 a.m. and harness racing again at 8 p.m.

Friday is judging day for all Future Farmers of America departments at 10 a.m., the tractor hauling contest at 1 p.m. and harness racing at night.

MISS MICHIGAN TO COME

The final day of the week-long show, Saturday, will be devoted mainly to harness racing, both at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Highlight of the evening program will be an archery exhibition by Ann Marston, who was contacted to be in the show before she won the title of "Miss Michigan" to represent her state in the "Miss America Pageant."

Over 200 trotters and pacers are expected to race for the $19,000 in purse money with top horses from leading area tracks to be represented, the secretary said.

A total of over 75,000 people are expected to attend this year's fair which is billed as "the biggest and best" in its 61-year history.

Fire in College Building

JACKSON (AP)—The east wing of the John George Hall administration building at Jackson Junior College was damaged by fire Monday night. The damage was confined to a lounge in the building. No injuries were reported. The blaze was believed to have been caused by an overheated incinerator in the basement.

Virginia Colombo Wed in Double-Ring Rites

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — Virginia Colombo and Ernest F. Kulaszewski were united in marriage Saturday in solemn High Mass at St. Veronica Catholic Church, East Detroit. The Revs. Jerome P. Shanahan, Edward Walling and Thomas Litka officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Virginia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Colombo of 12101 Big Lake Rd., here. Ernest's parents are the Adolph Kulaszewskis of Redmond avenue in East Detroit.

A gown of soft nylon tulle over silk "I Do" taffeta featuring a shawl collar with re-embroidered decals of organza was chosen by the bride. Each decal was accented by tiny seed pearls and borealis sequins. The billowy skirt offset by a tulle drape, was accented by decals and ended in a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured by a Swedish crown of French lace accented with sequins and seed pearls. Virginia carried a white orchid and stephanotis centered on a mother-of-pearl topped prayer book.

Rosalie Marino of Detroit served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Grace Russo of Center Line, Carolyn Russo of Davisburg, Jean Clark and Marguerite George of Ann Arbor and Madge Kulaszewski of East Detroit.

Attending as best man was William Forton of East Detroit and as ushers were Robert and David Kulaszewski of East Detroit, brothers of the bridegroom. James and Joseph Kotcher of Center Line and William Rogers of St. Clair Shores.

A dinner and reception was held in the evening at Alcamo's Hall, St. Clair Shores.

Upon returning from a honeymoon in Northern Michigan, the couple will reside in Ypsilanti from September until June, at which time the bride will attend Eastern Michigan University.

Limp Got Trouble, Not 'Subscriptions'

ROYAL OAK — Arraigned on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, Dennis R. Hall, 22, of 716 N. Edison St., stood mute yesterday before Recorder's Judge George Murphy in Detroit.

According to Detroit Police, Hall fooled his vitcims by limping into their homes, saying he was just released from the veterans hospital.

Police say he crossed himself up when he forgot to limp on his way out of one apartment.

Adventists Announce Annual Camp Meeting

Paralytic Wins Prize for Painting in Art Show

Glen Fowler of Beverly, Mass., who lost the use of his arms and legs after suffering a broken neck in an automobile accident five years ago, took the award for his entry in the mixed media division.

TAKING ADVANTAGE — These office girls enjoy their lunch in one of Toledo's four downtown shopping malls which officially opened yesterday. The downtown stores are fighting to hold their retail business, and are experimenting with the lure of trees and flowers.

People Exclaim: 'We Like It' About Toledo's New Malls

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Downtown Toledo, fighting to hold its retail business from the lure of shopping centers in the outskirts, is using some of the tricks of its suburban rivals.

The city began Monday a 45-day trial of four downtown pedestrian malls, complete with grass, trees, flowering shrubs, blooming flowers, benches, and a playground for the kiddies.

PENGUINS FROM ZOO

And to top what the shopping centers offer, the malls include an elongated pool containing five penguins from the Toledo Zoo and at other spots Saturday from the Toledo Museum of Art.

All this where only four days ago were only asphalt, cement, brick, and the busy bustle of vehicular traffic.

Thousands of Toledoans responded as the malls officially opened, milling through the four-block area, and, as was hoped, dropping in at the stores around it to browse and buy.

Inspector Frank Baumgartner, head of the Police Traffic Bureau, said traffic on the rims of the malls was heavy but kept flowing smoothly.

Michael Yamin, president of LaSalle's Department Store, said the mall idea was "a shot in the arm for downtown Toledo. It looks extremely promising."

Mrs. Paul Rausch of Napoleon, Ohio, here with her husband, said: "We came only out of curiosity, but I like the atmosphere and we'll be back. It's a big improvement."

MOST SENSIBLE

Carl Clymer of Fremont, Ohio, said the mall was "by far the most sensible thing Toledo has ever done to improve business conditions."

To get space for the malls the city shut off two blocks each of Adams Street and Madison Avenue between Huron and St. Clair streets. Thirteen bus lines were rerouted.

Over the week end 150 workmen placed 2,400 feet of asphalt curb to outline curving walkways down the center of the mall blocks. Eighty tons of topsoil was leveled back of the new curbs and topped with 350 square yards of sod.

The workmen set out 110 young trees, more than 100 shrubs, and some 10,000 flowering plants. Toledo nurserymen supplied these at cost.

Hollywood Headlines:

Roger Smith Full of Life After Brush With Death

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Roger Smith passed unnoticed in the restaurant, though he was known by millions of movie and TV fans. I failed to recognize him myself, so changed was he.

Thirty pounds had dropped from his already slender frame, and his hair was close-cropped. But his spirits were bright, as any man's would be after returning from a brush with death.

THOMAS

Roger is one of the new crop of stars created by television. He plays one of the slick sleuths of the hit show, "77 Sunset Strip." He also scored as Rosalind Russell's grown-up nephew in "Auntie Mame."

Life was full for Roger. He was making money, had a happy marriage with actress Victoria Shaw, and they were blessed with two young children.

A month ago he was leaving his house for the studio. His vision was impeded by a hi-fi set he was carrying, and he stumbled over a flower planter. As he fell, his chin hit the record player and his head jarred backwards. His wife rushed out to find him dazed and helpless.

He believed he was still in Chicago on a tour he had just completed. A doctor diagnosed his trouble as temporary amnesia, which he had suffered before in football at the University of Arizona. Rest was prescribed.

But he began suffering massive headaches and had to be hospitalized. This time he was said to have had strained neck ligaments, and he was placed in traction. Pain tortured him for five days, then vanished. He returned home, painted his garage and did some interviews. But the pain returned.

Now he was told he had migraine headaches and was given sedatives and tranquilizers.

"I could think about nothing but the pain," he recalled. "One night I lost the power to speak. My arm became paralyzed, then my tongue and my cheek. The pain was so great I went off my rocker. I rolled on the floor, rocking my head from side to side, trying to find some comfort."

They said Roger had a nervous breakdown and sent him to a private sanitarium. He prescribed a two-week treatment. But his wife felt he needed more help, and she brought in a psychiatrist-neurologist. He recognized Roger's trouble as physical and tested him at another hospital. The tests revealed a massive blood clot.

Five ounces of blood, discharged from veins by the impact of the fall, were drained from Roger's skull. For four days he was on the critical list; he remained paralyzed and speechless and had no will to live. His wife stayed with him constantly, trying with all her skill as an actress to cheer him.

On the fourth day he smiled at her, and she knew he was going to be all right.

Roger is eager to get back to work as soon as he adds some hair and a few pounds.

He Doesn't Want First 3 Shots, Fourth Is Best

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The caller was concerned about Arkansas' polio epidemic.

"I want to know where I can get my fourth polio shot," he asked.

"Why not go back where you got the first three," suggested Dr. E. J. Easley, assistant state health officer.

"Oh, I haven't had the first three," the man said, "I just want the fourth one. I've heard that's the best."

Pumped for Answer

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — John Frahm, a University of Wisconsin sophomore, recently broke a bone in his foot and, naturally, he's reluctant to tell how it happened. But the fact is that John fell while wearing a pair of women's high-heeled pumps. And the explanation is that he was rehearsing for a college production of "Du Barry Was a Lady."

GM Considers Cancer Probe

May Finance Research Into Possible Link of Auto Fumes, Disease

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors confirmed Monday it is looking into the idea of financing a study of a possible link between automobile exhaust fumes and cancer.

If undertaken, the study would be made by the Sloan-Kettering Institute for cancer research and would be the first such project ever undertaken by a single automobile company.

A spokesman emphasized, however, that the project has not progressed beyond the "conversational stage."

"The matter is under study, but no commitments have been made," said the GM spokesman in New York.

All officials of General Motors were in New York attending a board meeting.

Another GM spokesman explained that the idea was proposed some time ago and that officials of the Sloan-Kettering Institute proposed drawing up a contract.

He said there were still many discussions to be held concerning just what form the investigation would take and how much it would cost, as well as how big an area would be involved in the study.

If the study were undertaken, it would include chemical analysis of exhaust fumes to isolate any materials that might be suspected of causing cancer. It would also involve "trapping" air in congested areas with heavy concentrations of auto traffic, such as Times Square, New York.

Auto exhaust fumes, including hydrocarbons and oxides of nitrogen, have been criticized by medical scientists as possible causes of lung and skin cancers as well as other diseases, but no positive link ever has been proven.

Liberal Party Head Asks for International Cabinet

LONDON (UPI)—Joe Grimond, leader of Britain's once powerful Liberal Party, proposed today that an international cabinet composed of Western heads of state be created. He also suggested the establishment of a Western foreign ministry.

Grimond spoke at Oxford University. He said his idea would give Western chiefs of state a chance to talk over general lines of coordinated policy.

Death Notice Panics Wife of Ex-Sergeant

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—William H. Suggs' wife received two letters from the U.S. Army Monday.

One offered condolences and one suggested she start processing insurance claims on the death of her husband, a retired Army sergeant.

"I couldn't help feeling funny," the 33-year-old Suggs said. "It was like reading my own death warrant. It said I was officially dead—but I'm not.

"My wife panicked even though I had only left for work three hours before. I had to come home and convince her I was alive."

Suggs, a janitor, retired from the Army in 1958 with a 100 per cent medical disability.

"The letters all gave my right name, my rank and my serial number," he said. "It was all right—all except for that one thing.

Allies No Longer 'Occupy' Germany

Ambassadors of six Western nations signed agreements in Bonn formally regulating the status of their troops in Western Germany.

The agreements meant that the troops of the six nations—Britain, the United States, France, Canada, Belgium and Holland—no longer have the status of occupiers of a conquered country.

Henceforth their standing will be exactly the same as that of American forces in Britain, France and other NATO nations.

Marathon Mountaineer Up 31 Peaks in 27 Days

DENVER (AP)—Cleveland McCarty, 26, a Denver dental student at Washington University in St. Louis, is four days ahead of schedule in his attempt to scale all 54 of Colorado's 14,000-foot peaks in as many days.

He has climbed 31 of the peaks in 27 days.

Williams Might Run for Governor Again

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI)—Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams parried questions about his future political plans Monday and it added up to:

He might be a candidate for an unprecedented seventh term as governor of Michigan.

He could be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He could be a candidate for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

There is "no chance" he will run for the United States Senate. Michigan already has two Democratic senators.

As for running for governor again, Williams said "I haven't ruled out" the possibility of a seventh term.

Asked if he considered himself a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, Williams said "No, I do not." But he also said he would not and could not do anything to "remove or inject" himself into the presidential picture.

As for being a vice presidential possibility, Williams dodged that by saying "I am still in the business of being governor. I anticipate being in politics until the day I die."

Williams answered the questions about his political future during a news conference at which he said New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller would be the strongest Republican candidate.

He also fielded some sharp questions about Michigan's financial woes, which he blamed on a "tough and diehard" Legislature.

Voice of America Tells of Meetings of Ike and Mr. K

A spokesman for the government agency said the President's announcement was broadcast in 37 languages to 80 countries.

The newscasts, the spokesman said, stressed that the exchange meeting is not one for negotiating of international differences, but an opportunity to increase understanding between two major powers.

American League All-Stars Even Count With NL

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

We are losing the battle with Russia for dominance of Olympic sports. This is the opinion rendered by Bob Richards, two-time Olympic champion and three-time U. S. decathlon king.

Rev. Richards points to statistics which show that Russia has 1,000 competitors to every single American participating in Olympic sports.

To help the U. S. cause in the physical education of our youth, he urges a nationwide summer program laid out by individual communities.

Once a great local attraction for youngsters the Junior games moved from unpublicized obscurity to nothing.

They had peak years from 1948 through 1952 and they could claim much of the credit for the great track years of Pontiac Central from 1953 'til now.

But now the last of the products of those Junior Olympics are moving out of the high school scene and how Pontiac holds its prestige as a track power on the state prep scene, remains to be seen.

Next year would be a great time to revive the Junior Olympics and in 1961 when the city celebrates its centennial anniversary, the pageantry of the World Olympics in miniature would add color to the celebration and be Pontiac's answer to Rev. Richards' plea for community response to U. S. Olympic needs.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Remember Willie DeWalt, Pontiac Central's outstanding all-state basketball ace of a couple years back?

He will undergo a second operation on his arm Wednesday morning in Pontiac General.

Willie sustained an arm injury with fractures in the elbow and wrist down at Florida A & M where he is now attending school.

He went through the elbow operation and now must have surgery on the wrist.

"Doctors say I'll be ready by October and so I hope to play basketball this winter," Willie says. DeWalt transferred to the Florida school from Central Michigan in the spring of 1958.

He played four games in the second semester this year, having to wait out a year under transfer rules.

VIVA FRANCONA!

Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians says "Viva Tito Francona, it was my best deal since coming to Cleveland."

If we recall, Francona was the guy to whom the Tigers gave a first baseman's mitt and kept him shagging loose balls near the dugout in Lakeland.

His batting average for the last 20 games is about .450, and if you're interested Gail Harris is batting .209, and Larry Osborne .207 for the Tigers.

Future Fate Uncertain

Players Speak Pro-Con on 2nd All-Star Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fate of a future second All-Star Game appeared uncertain today.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said he planned to take another vote of the players shortly to learn whether they want to continue the second game for next year.

"I don't think they're for it," he said. "However, it's their game and they'll have to make the decision. If they vote against it, I'll drop the game. I don't want to detract from the original one in any way.

Frick was an interested spectator at yesterday's second All-Star game of the year, won by the American League 5-3.

There were pro and cons among the players themselves.

"Yes, we the Yankees voted for it," said New York catcher Yogi Berra whose two-run homer was the difference yesterday. "Else we wouldn't be out here. It's for a good cause."

"But if we have another one, I'd like to see both games played in a space of five days. Then everything wouldn't be crammed into such short notice like this one."

"This game has been badly presented to the public," he said. "It's for a great cause. I can't understand why people are against it.

The most vehement of the dissidents were Early Wynn, the veteran Chicago White Sox pitcher, and Frank Malzone, flashy Boston Red Sox third baseman.

"I think two All-Star games are stupid," said Wynn. "I said so before and I have seen no reason to change my mind."

"We just won," said Malzone, "and nobody gives a damn. This is a farce and I'm going to be dragging my tail tomorrow."

Outfielder Al Kaline of Detroit thought a second game was not fair to the players.

"There are five teams in the pennant races," he said. "It's not fair to ask them to use up the pitchers they need for the games that may decide the pennant."

Ted Williams and Stan Musial, two of baseball's all-time greats and granddaddies in the All-Star business, both spoke enthusiastically for two games.

"I'm sure glad I was asked to play," said Musial. "I got a kick out of coming. I think most of the fellows feel the same way. They like to play."

"It's an honor to play in the All-Star game, whether it's one or two," said Williams. "If the fans want two games, then I'm all for it, especially if it's played for a good cause."

Added Mickey Mantle: "I like it. I'll play anywhere, anytime they tell me. That's how I make my living."

AP Wirephoto

BACK THE HARD WAY — Mickey Mantle of the American League All-Stars gets a mouthful of dirt as he dives back to first on an attempted pickoff play. Stan Musial of the Cardinals, playing first for the National League, tried to make the tag. Mantle went out a moment later trying to steal second base. Umpire is Charlie Berry. The American League won, 5-3 in Los Angeles yesterday.

Stengel's Team Beats National Leaguers, 5-3

Berra's Two-Run Blast Puts AL Squad Ahead at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The count stood all square at one apiece for the 1959 All-Star classics between the American and National League today. And back to the formal pennant races went the ballplayers.

Manager Casey Stengel's American Leaguers pinned a 5-3 defeat on Fred Haney's Nationals as a paid attendance of 54,982, fourth highest in the game's history, sat through the game in sun-baked Memorial Coliseum yesterday.

The All-Star game held last month in Pittsburgh grossed $229,636 and netted $194,303.46.

Individual honors went to catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees, whose 2-run blast off Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale put the Americans in front, 3-1, in the third inning for a lead they never relinquished.

Oddly enough, this was Yogi's 11th All-Star appearance but the first time he had hit for extra bases.

Collective honors went to the American League pitchers who throttled such sluggers as Hank Aaron, Ernie Banks and Willie Mays.

The winning pitcher was 20-year-old Jerry Walker of Baltimore, who just a year ago was laboring for Knoxville, Tenn. in the Class A Sally League.

Walker, inserted into the squad just the afternoon before, yielded but one run and two hits in the three innings he worked.

The loser was strikeout artist Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, who was voted the Most Valuable Player award in the Pittsburgh game.

"This was a great day for the Italians," said Yogi, referring to the home run by Rocky Colavito of Cleveland in the eighth inning and Malzone's four bagger.

Sharing pitching honors with Walker were Early Wynn, Hoyt Wilhelm, Billy O'Dell and Cal McLish.

Malzone's homer came in the second inning, which tied the score at 1-1 after Johnny Temple doubled in the first and scored later on Aaron's sacrifice fly.

In the third, Nellie Fox singled and scored on Berra's homer.

From there on it was a homer duel, with the Americans leading the way.

Yankees Must Face Nemesis Tonight

Lary to Pitch First Game of Eastern Trip

Tiger Manager Happy Casey Snubbed Frank for All-Stars

NEW YORK (UPI)—Frank Lary, New York's No. 1 nemesis, will be on the mound tonight when the Detroit Tigers open a three-game series against the fading world champion Yankees.

Lary boasts a 20-5 life-time mark against the Yankees, including four wins and no losses this year.

He was forced to go 10 innings for his most recent triumph over New York, gaining a 1-0 decision on July 26 when pinch-hitter Neil Chrisley lined a two-out single to score Gail Harris from second.

Despite his mastery over the Yankees, Lary was snubbed by New York manager Casey Stengel for a pitching berth in each of the two All-Star games this summer.

Stengel's snub of Lary drew criticism from Detroit players because Frank's 13-7 record makes him one of the top three hurlers in the American League. Early Wynn of Chicago and Cal McLish of Cleveland are the only other hurlers in the league who boast as many wins as Lary this season.

Detroit manager Jimmie Dykes was about the only person who was happy that Stengel didn't pick Lary as one of his pitchers for yesterday's second All-Star battle at Los Angeles.

"If Casey had picked either Lary or (Don) Mossi, I think they would have come up with a sore arm in a hurry," Dykes said. "Now, they're both ready to go against New York."

Mossi, who has five straight wins over the Yankees this year, will oppose New York tomorrow.

Stengel picked rookie Eli Grba to face the Tigers tonight. Grba has won one game and lost two since summoned from the minors several weeks ago.

The Tigers trail the fifth place Yankees by one game and are only two games behind Baltimore and Kansas City, co-holders of third place.

On the strong pitching of Lary and Mossi, Detroit has built up a 10-4 edge over New York this season. Paul Foytack is the lone Tigers' hurler aside from Lary and Mossie to halt the Yankees in 1959.

Honors for Swim Team

A synchronized girls' swimming team entered by the Pontiac Recreation Department in the state tournament at Ferndale tied for team honors with Dearborn.

World Record for Brown

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

LYNN HAVEN, Va. — Turning in a world's record 98x100, 14-year-old Eddie Brown of Birmingham, Mich. yesterday captured the world's junior .410 skeet championship, shooting against the finest youngsters in the world.

The Michigan shotgunner's score was three targets under the former junior record. It was also the best of the day for Michigan shooters. Chet Crites of Detroit had 96x100.

Other top performances in the National Skeet Shooting Assn. world championships here this week, were by veteran Alex Kerr of Beverley Hills, Calif., Kathy McDowell of Shreveport, La., Dave Yager of Anoka, Minn., Jay Dee Williams of Washington, D. C., and the team of Kerr and T. H. Mettler of Bakersfield, Calif., who wound up in a tie with H. E. Meyers and Floyd Scott of Massachusetts for the team event.

Kerr fired a record 99x100 to retain his world's .410 crown. Miss McDowell won the ladies .410 title with 89x100; Yager is the pro champ with 96x100; Williams won the sub-seniors with 95x100 and R. R. Bogie of Loon Lake, N. Y. won seniors .410 with 94x100.

Rich Oilman Backs New Grid Team

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Owners of the first two of six teams to make up the new professional football league said today there will be no "cut-throat competition" between the American Football League and the current National Football League.

Millionaire oilman K. S. (Bud) Adams, 36, said he will definitely field a team from Houston and that he will be the sole owner of the team. It is the second team to be entered.

Lamar Hunt, 26, who will field a team from Dallas and was the driving force behind the formation of the new league, was on hand when Adams announced his entry into the circuit.

They said that there would definitely be four more teams ready for the 1960 season, and that they would be announced within the next 30 days. They are expected to be from New York, Denver, Los Angeles and the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Two additional teams will be added in 1961.

Hunt and Adams, both millionaires, said the new league has a verbal agreement with the National Football League to honor each other's contracts and that there will be an unlimited television policy.

"There will be two separate player drafts," Hunt explained. "If a player is drafted by both leagues, he can take his choice."

Hunt said that the American League will be able to televise anywhere in NFL territory, but there is no definite television connection at present.

"It will be sold as a league," he said.

Adams, a wealthy man in his own right and president of the Ada Oil Co., is the son of K. S. (Boots) Adams, chairman of the board of Phillips Petroleum Co. Hunt is the son of H. L. Hunt of Dallas, reputed to be one of the richest men in the world.

Hunt said his only connection with the league once it is formed will be as owner of the Dallas team.

Adams said he is going to try to get Rice Institute Stadium for the Houston team's use during the 1960 season and hope that a new county stadium will be completed for the 1961 season.

Harris county voters last year approved a 20 million dollar bond issue to build a stadium in which both football and baseball can be played.

Houston is also a member city in the recently announced Continental Baseball League, and Adams is in the Houston Sports Association that acquired that franchise.

Finsterwald's Golf Tip:

Aim Before You Shoot

By DOW FINSTERWALD
1958 PGA Champion

The player not lining himself up correctly is like a hunter shooting at a rabbit without aiming.

Thot's why I consider properly lining up the shot next in importance to the grip. Even a fine swing that is well grooved is misspent if you fail to put yourself on target. Ever so many golfers lack a concept of how to get properly lined up, and to the definite detriment of their score.

The first step is approaching the ball (in my case a Dunlop) from directly behind it on an imaginary line from the ball to to the objective. Step two in addressing the ball is to place the feet close together on the line directly opposite the ball.

You will notice in following tournament golf that most of the better players stand up to the line of flight with their feet only slightly apart before assuming their final stance.

The reason is that this is a starting point from which they can move into their stance for any shot from 8 iron to driver.

At this point, I systematically check my grip to make sure my hands are in proper position on the club.

Moving the hands out of position on the club even a half inch can lead to slicing, hooking and other shot-dissipating headaches.

Modified Hardtops Race Here Tonight

Don Porter of Flint will be out to make it two in a row when the modified hardtops return to the M-59 Speedway tonight. Last week the hardriding Flint pilot held off the last lap charges of Joe Doyle and Joy Fair.

The recently reopened local speedway seems to have cured its car-shortage problem, with over thirty competing in each of the last two programs at the track.

Time trials for tonight's program start at 7:30 with the first race slated to get underway at 8:30.

Deadline Wednesday

Swim Meet Entries Open

The Pontiac Recreation department will hold its first annual competitive swimming and diving program for all ages at Pontiac Northern High School pool this Saturday starting at 9:00 a.m.

Entries are open to all residents of the Pontiac school system and all entries must register at the Recreation office by Wednesday.

There is no entry fee and registration can be made by calling FE 3-7131.

Events are restricted to two for individuals and one event for relay and diving.

Preliminaries will be run Saturday and the finals will take place Thursday, August 13th at 7:00 p.m.

A special program of demonstrations will be held in conjunction with the competition on the night of the finals.

Bald Mountain Ace

The 5th hole-in-one of the season was recorded at Bald Mountain Sunday.

Russ Martin of Royal Oak became the first to ace the 185-yard 8th hole. R. Harpster of Pontiac, A. Uzelac, Troy, and H. C. Frederick of Royal Oak witnessed the 2-wood shot. Martin's round was 102.

Gold Cuppers Make Qualifying Trials

SEATTLE (AP) — Five boats scheduled qualifying efforts today for next Sunday's Gold Cup unlimited hydroplane race on Lake Washington.

KOL-Roy of Seattle was to try to do what her sister boat, KOL-Roy Too, failed to do yesterday—turn three laps of the course at an average speed of 95 miles per hour or better.

Others listed for qualifying rounds were Miss Spokane, the Pay 'n Save of Seattle, the Maverick of Lake Mead, Nev., and the Breathless II of Oakland, Calif.

State Men Finish High

LANSING (AP) — A pair of Michigan sharpshooters have taken second and third place in the .22 caliber pistol championships of the National Guard at Camp Perry, Ohio, state guard headquarters announces.

Dorr F. Wiltse of Ionia took second honors with a score of 858 points out of a possible 900. Alfred J. Harrow of Mt. Clemens placed third with 857.

SECRET WEAPON? — This football player looks the Lions' secret weapon. This is tackle John Gordy and he doesn't have four arms. That's little Jimmy David, defensive halfback, getting his hands on the ball from the back. Gordy hurt his ankle in scrimmage yesterday and may not play in the Lions' first exhibition game Saturday against Los Angeles in Boulder, Colorado.

Major Leagues Back to Normal

Flag Races Resume

By the Associated Press

Now that the player pension fund is rolling in crisp All-Star dollars, the athletes can turn their undivided attention to the bread and butter realities of the pennant races.

The National League struggle could be cleared up considerably in the next few days when the third-place Milwaukee Braves visit both the leading San Francisco Giants and the runner-up Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Giants, clinging to a half game lead over the Dodgers, entertain the Braves for the next three days, starting Tuesday night. Milwaukee then moves on to the coliseum for two big weekend games.

The two-team race in the American League in which Chicago holds a three-game edge over the Cleveland Indians, finds both clubs stepping off on long road trips.

Chicago will play 13 games at Baltimore, Washington, Detroit and Kansas City before returning home for the final visit of the eastern teams. Cleveland will hit the same cities in a different rotation for a total of 14 consecutive road games.

Unless both the White Sox and Indians collapse completely on this journey, they should have things all to themselves the rest of the way. Baltimore and Kansas City, tied for third, are 11 games back, New York in fifth place is 12 games off the pace and Detroit in sixth trails by 13.

Both races may be won on the road this season. Look at the schedules of the top teams for the rest of the season:

AMERICAN LEAGUE	To Play	Home	Away
Chicago	52	23	29
Cleveland	50	21	29
NATIONAL LEAGUE	To Play	Home	Away
San Francisco	50	24	26
Los Angeles	47	22	25
Milwaukee	52	23	29

For the opener of the big series at San Francisco, manager Fred Haney is calling on the veteran Warren Spahn, a 14-game winner, to oppose young Mike McCormick who has won 10 games. It will be the Braves' first look at young Willie McCovey, the Giants' sensational new first baseman who is hitting .500 in four games.

While the Giants and Braves are trying to cut each other's throats, the Dodgers have two games with a Cincinnati club that seems to have come alive.

As the White Sox and Indians start on their long road trips, an analysis of the standings shows it would be next to impossible for any other club to shoulder its way to the pennant.

Chicago has won 62 games with 52 to go. If they play .500 ball, winning only 26 of the rest, they will have won 88 games. A similar pace by Cleveland in its last 50 games would give them 85 victories.

Baltimore with 48 to go would have to scoot at a 36-12 pace to top Chicago. Kansas City with 52 to go would have to play 38-14 ball. New York with 52 to play would need a 39-13 record and Detroit in 48 games would need a 38-10 record to beat Chicago's .500 pace.

First Exhibition Contest Against Rams in Boulder

Rookies to See Action in Early Preseason Encounter

It sounds silly — football in August — but the Detroit Lions will open their exhibition season Saturday against the Los Angeles Rams in Boulder, Colo.

Coach George Wilson said today he will use a generous sprinkling of rookie material along with the veterans in order to find out just what capabilities his 1959 team may have.

When Buddy Parker was coaching the Lions, it was his idea to win every game — including the preseason encounters. Wilson is a little like that, too, but he is not quite as intent about winning the games that do not count.

"Sure," said Wilson, "it's important to win all of them. I'd like nothing better than to open the season on Sept. 27 with a whole flock of preseason victories behind us.

"But the most important thing about these games is to find out what a youngster can do, to find out whether the veteran still can cut the mustard. If you can win, fine. But we're trying to learn things, too, and to get more information on our ball club."

The Los Angeles club has been in training a couple more weeks than have the Lions. Too, the Rams have Ollie Matson this year, and such outstanding returnees as Ron Waller, Bill Wade, Tommy Wilson and Jon Arnett.

Meanwhile, the Detroit club went ahead with plans for its 10th annual "meet the Lions" banquet It will be staged Monday night, Aug. 17, at a hotel in downtown Detroit.

All the players, both veterans and rookies, plus the coaching staff and front office personnel will be on hand for a going-over by pro football fans. Harry Mehre, one-time Notre Dame football and basketball player and a former football coach, will be the main speaker.

Pro Camp Notes:

Grid Giants Set Plans for 2-Pronged Offense

By The Associated Press

The New York Giants have the makings of a two-pronged offense built behind the quarterbacking of Frank Gifford on one hand, and the combined talent of Chuck Conerly or George Shaw at quarterback and Gifford at halfback.

That is what Coach Jim Lee Howell is working on these days at the Giants Winooski, Vt., National Football League training camp.

Howell announced before the drills began that he would move Gifford to quarterback from his halfback spot. Then just as quickly he obtained Shaw from the Baltimore Colts.

He still has Don Heinrich and rookie Lee Grosscup among his signal callers but did not deviate his plans for Gifford. Yesterday, he had him working at the quarterback post then switched him to his halfback spot with Conerly and Shaw running the team.

The Cleveland Browns received a jolt when offensive tackle and Capt. Mike McCormick must undergo an operation of a right knee injured a week ago and will miss six to eight weeks.

Elsewhere around the training camps:

Washington Redskins: Lost tackle Bob Toneff for a week with a knee injury and learned that linebacker Larry Morris is staying out of pro football this year to open an insurance business.

Pittsburgh Steelers: Had rookie tackle John Perkins of Mississippi Southern taken to hosiptal after collapsing in his room, ostensible from heat prostration. Defensive end Billy Ray Smith reported to round out squad while fullback Howie Ferguson was returned to the Green Bay Packers.

Green Bay Packers: Dick Emerich of West Chester, Pa. Teachers, their No. 30 draft choice, reported to camp while fullback Mel Schmidt of Idaho and lineman Jerry Spranders, a free agent, were placed on waivers.

Playoffs Continue in City Leagues

Playoffs in city softball and baseball continued today with Elks 810 meeting Lakeside Royals and Blue Star facing Harrison in 7:00 and 8:30 games at Beaudette. These are Class A and C playoff games.

At North Side, Pontiac Merchants face UAW-CIO at 7:00 p.m. and at 8:30 p.m. Buttercup meets Huron Bowl in "B" and "D" games.

In Class B baseball playoff yesterday Talbott Lumber scored a 9-5 victory over Pontiac Business Institute with timely hitting by Ken Senter and Glen Funck.

Marv Holler limited PBI to five hits while his teammates collected nine. Larry Cates struck out seven Talbott batters and he helped his own cause by getting a hit and scoring two runs, but eight errors by PBI was his downfall.

In softball action, Stadium Inn advanced by defeating Lakeside Royals 3-1 with Fred Konchis and Percy McConner, opposing pitchers, each giving up only three hits.

Homer Harrison got two of the Stadium hits and Grant Heffernan got the other. Edgar Mullin got two Royal singles. Two errors helped the Stadium cause with two runs in the 4th inning.

Arro Realty, behind the pitching of Art Weiss, defeated Harrison's 2-1 with Jerry Christoferson getting two hits, including a triple, and John Snyder getting a pair for Arro. Jim Faust had a single and double for Harrison's.

Another close game saw CIO 594 nip Deni's 5-4 in an error-marred game. There were 13 miscues in the contest, seven by the winners. Bob Rapin had two singles for the winners and Ben Traxlor and Bill Nunez each had a pair for the losers.

In Class B playoffs, Pontiac Boys Club took a 2-1 decision from Auburn Boys Club, and Independence took an 8-3 verdict from Our Lady of Refuge.

Tom Zink allowed the Auburn Boys only one hit, that being a single by pitcher Danny Allen. Zink struck out 12 batters and he was helped by the hitting of Jay Trevino and Mike Marcum.

Trips Spencer After Trailing 2-0

Nonne's Wraps Title Up

Waterford Recreation's American division softball title was tucked away for 1959, last night by Nonne's front-running club, with a 7-6 win over Spencer Floors.

In another AL contest Drayton Drugs disposed of Snobol, 10-3 for its 4th straight victory. All four teams have one more scheduled game left in the circuit, but it can't take the title from the Nonne's outfit.

The champs had to do it the hard way. They trailed 2-0 going into the 3rd frame, but speedily wiped the deficit off with a 6-run blast in that session, and wrapped up the victory with a 4th inning tally. Al Sharrard tripled, then scored what proved to be the winning counter when the fielder threw the ball away on the thrown.

In the free-hitting tilt Randy Beedle had 2-for-3 for winners and Monty Tipton a double and a single for losers. Norm Jennings was the winner in relief (replaced Jim Christy with bases loaded on walks in first). Loser was Arlo Flesher, who was relieved in the 3rd by Jack Nelson.

Drugs also had to come from behind an early 1-0 lead (in the 3rd) to defeat Snobol. They collected four runs in that frame on two walks, an error and three singles, added two more in the 4th, four in the 6th for insurance. Losers scored one each in the first, 6th and 7th. Jim Cuthrell hurled a 8-hitter as winner, while Drugs got 10 off loser Dale Badder.

Edgewood Caddie Is Low

Jackson Country Club took team honors in the District Caddy championship yesterday at Red Run by edging Edgewood Country Club 506-508.

Individual honors went to Don Stipcak of Walled Lake High School, a member of the Edgewood team. He put together a 38-37—75 to pace the field of 167 caddies entered.

He is the son of Edgewood greenskeeper John Stipcak and he did not play golf at Walled Lake High the past season because of doctor's orders.

Ray Levandowski of Dearborn Country Club was runnerup with a 77, followed by Jim Buck of Edgewood with 78 in a three-way tie for third.

Jon Shaw of Orchard Lake had a 79 and Bill Dingel of Edgewood had 80 among local entries.

Southfield Legion Rolls to Fifth Win

Rolling along an unbeaten schedule, Southfield's Junior American Legion ball club yesterday won its fifth straight over Rochester, 11-6. Jim Jarvis and Harry Hrdlicka gave up 11 hits, while their mates got 13 off Denny Scott. Five Rochester errors hurt Scott's good try.

Dave Boyd, with 3-for-4, John Dempsey with 4-for-4 and Dave Newsome, 3-for-3, led winners' batting. Dineen's 2-for-4, and Feed and Sawyer's 2-for-4 paced losers.

U.S. Picks Team for Wightman Cup Net Test

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The American team was announced today for the 31st annual Wightman Cup tennis tournament at nearby Edgeworth, Pa., Aug. 15 and 16.

The team includes Darlene Hard, Beverly Baker Fleitz, Sally Moore, Jean Arth and Janet Hopps. Mrs. Margaret Osboene DuPont, who will not play, and Miss Hopps have been named co-captains.

The Wightman Cup tourney pits the top amateur women stars of the United States against those of Great Britain. The British are the defending champions, having won the cup last year at Wimbledon, 4-3. The United States has won the cup 25 times, the British five.

Ladies Western District Starts

Mrs. Anneaux to Defend Title at Lansing CC in Match Play

LANSING (AP) — Mrs. Dwight Anneaux of St. Joseph will defend her title today as match play gets underway in the Women's Western District golf tournament at the Lansing Country Club.

But Mrs. Jack Scripsma of Grand Rapids, annual title threat and former champ, was knocked out of title contention with an 89.

In addition to the title flight, nine other flights with eight players each will be on hand for the match play which extends through Thursday.

The title flight and qualifying scores:

Mrs. Dwight Anneaux, St. Joseph vs. Mrs. Charles Chandler, Gull Lake (84).
Carolee Everise, Grand Rapids Greenridge (83) vs. Patti Shook, Saugatuck (86).
Sharon Miller, Marshall (83) vs. Mrs. George Martucci, Jackson (85).
Mrs. Edgar Reynolds, Lansing Country Club (84) vs. Nancy Way, Grand Rapids Lincoln (86).

Gull Laker 2nd in Star Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Flame, skippered by C. Stanley Ogilvy of Larchmond, N. Y., won the first race in the International Star Class North American Yacht Championships Monday.

The championships, which run through Saturday with Thursday off for a day of rest, will serve as the qualifying round for the Pan-American Games.

Second was Barnstorm, skippered by Charles Barns of Gull Lake, Mich., with Shrew, skippered by William Parks of Chicago, third.

Sfate Netter Bows

SOUH ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—Kalamazoo's Sue Hodgman was turned back in three sets in the opening round of women's singles in the Eastern Grass Court tennis touramtnt.

The Michigan lass was defeated yesterday by Barbara Browning of Burbank, Calif., 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.

Jensen Will Retire

CRYSTAL BAY, Nev. (AP) — The wife of Boston Red Sox star Jackie Jensen said Monday night he "probably" will retire from professional baseball at the end of this season.

"I spoke to Jackie in Boston Saturday," she told reporters after the Boston Globe quoted an informant as saying Jackie will quit.

Boost Pan-Am Field

CHICAGO (AP) — Entries from five more nations were filed Monday for the third Pan-American Games, Aug. 27-Sept. 7.

The five include the Bahamas, Canada, Columbia, Costa Rica, and Cuba and bring to 21 the number of countries from North, South and Central America, plus the Caribbean Islands, now entered.

Olmedo Wins Easily; Junior Champ Beaten

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (AP) — Alex Olmedo returned to the U. S. tennis circuit Monday with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over little-known Don Thompson of New York as three upsets marked the opening of the Eastern Grass Court Championships.

The seventh-seeded Crawford, Piedmont, Calif., lost 6-1, 6-1 to Art Andrews, Iowa City, Iowa, and Ralston, 17-year-old from Bakersfield, Calif., who won the U. S. junior title Sunday, was surprised by Marty Reissen, Chicago, 4-6, 6-1, 8-6.

Arnaz Pays $40,000 for Pair of Yearlings

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — Desi Arnaz paid $40,000 for two horses to top the first night sales of the Del Mar yearling sales last night.

The $21,000 he paid for a Laguna Seca-Old Westport bay filly was the highest bid of the 50 sales. He also bought Red Cloud, chestnut filly belonging to Mr. and Mrs. John Eder of Rialto, Calif., for $19,000, second highest price of the night.

Chisox Hold Tryouts

WYANDOTTE (AP) — The Chicago White Sox have scheduled a baseball tryout camp at Wyandotte on Monday, Aug. 17, at Pulaski Park.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, former Detroit Tiger and American League pitcher, will join with ex-Yankee hurler Red Ruffing in heading up the camp.

Toughest Problems Still Unsolved

Congress Plods Into Eighth Month

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A weary Congress plodded into its eighth month of lawmaking today with its toughest problems still unsolved.

The most bruising battles of the session — over labor reform and civil rights — lie ahead.

Lawmakers agreed that Congress before adjourning also must do something to prevent threatened shutdowns in (1) major housing programs and (2) federally-financed construction of highways.

Unless Congress can dispose of these and other matters this month, its members will be stuck with the longest session in five years. But the prospects aren't bright. Many legislators are fearful adjournment will be delayed until sometime in September.

Democratic leaders want to dispose of as many time-consuming controversial measures as soon as possible, clearing the decks for a short session in the 1960 presidential election year.

Here's the outlook:

Labor reform — Prospects are good, but far from certain, that Congress this year will vote to curb labor racketeering. Awaiting House action is a revised version of the Senate-passed reform bill. The House may reject that moderate measure for a far tougher administration-backed substitute. If it does, Senate-House conferees could deadlock in trying to draft a final compromise. If it doesn't, the moderate bill could be killed in the House by a coalition of Republicans who want a tougher bill and pro-labor Democrats who want a softer one.

Civil rights—Chances are better than 50-50 for enactment of a mild bill. The House judiciary committee may finish drafting a bill today. But it's expected to take at least another week, perhaps longer, to get a bill out of the Senate committee. Then, it would face lengthy Senate debate.

Highways—Congress hasn't yet decided how to avoid blame for an impending halt in federal financing of road-building. The House ways and means committee rejected the President's plea for higher gasoline taxes. But the administration and many lawmakers oppose the committee's double-barreled alternative: A slowdown in construction doubled with the sale of bonds to provide new financing.

Housing—With FHA-mortgage insurance and other housing programs threatened with collapse, the President threw the ball back to Congress by vetoing the far-reaching Democratic bill. Democrats keep talking about overriding the veto, but don't have the votes to do it. Probable result: Passage of a stripped-down bill less objectionable to the President.

There's almost no chance that Congress will pass a new bill to curb wheat surpluses to replace the one Eisenhower vetoed. A pick-up in business also has just about killed chances for House passage of a Senate bill to aid economically-depressed communities.

The President's plea for removal of ceilings on interest on government bonds seems headed for the deep-freeze. As for his plea for a five-cent stamp on first-class mail, Democrats have ignored it and Republicans would just as soon not mention it.

Although Congress hasn't yet completed action on eight of the 16 money bills needed to finance the federal government in the year ahead, it has enacted a lot of legislation since January

It made Hawaii the 50th state, extended the military draft four years, increased the maximum interest rate on new GI housing mortgages, raised the ceiling on the national debt to a peacetime record high and extended temporary Korean War taxes for another year.

It also raised income taxes on life insurance companies, boosted the U. S. subscriptions to the international monetary fund and the international bank, and extended federal grants for construction of local airports for two more years.

Despite administration misgivings, Congress raised railroad workers pensions 10 per cent, financing them through higher payroll taxes on the workers and the railroads. It imposed—with certain exceptions—a $50,000 limit on direct price support benefits for individual farmers on 1960 crops.

Stock Market Trends Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils held their ground in an otherwise mixed stock market early today. Trading was moderately active.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among most key stocks. A tendency toward the downside was apparent.

Some of the farm machinery stocks made strides following news that farm machinery sales in 1959 are running 20 per cent ahead of the year ago pace.

Asks Hearing in Wife's Death

Pontiac Man Charged With Manslaughter in Auto Smash

A 20-year-old father of two has demanded examination on a charge of manslaughter arising from the death of his wife in an auto accident Thursday morning.

Delbert Zimmer of 219 Willard Ave. appeared yesterday before Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

His examination has been scheduled for Aug. 12. Zimmer was returned to the Oakland County Jail with bond set at $2,000.

He is charged with forcing his wife into a car and driving at a high rate of speed into another auto at Judson and Paddock streets where police said Zimmer admitted failing to see a stop sign.

His wife, Sophia, 17, who planned to divorce him, was killed instantly. Zimmer and two occupants of the other car were injured.

Witnesses told police the Zimmer car was traveling 70 to 90 miles an hour before the crash. The husband admitted he had been drinking, police said.

Won't Override Ike's Veto of Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) reported today the Senate Housing subcommittee had rejected by a 5-4 vote his proposal for an attempt to override President Eisenhower's veto of the housing bill.

Douglas, who left the meeting before it was finished, said Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), the subcommittee chairman, and Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) joined three Republicans to defeat the motion.

This suggested the Senate Democratic leadership had decided against any effort to reject the veto and instead had decided that a new compromise housing bill should be written.

California Judge, 84, Dies of Heart Attack

Shenk had been a Supreme Court justice since 1924 when he was appointed by Gov. Friend Richardson.

Wheat Futures Move Upward

CHICAGO (AP)—A brisk flour business boosted wheat futures prices about a cent a bushel on the nearby contracts during the first several minutes of dealings today on the Board of Trade.

Other grains and soybeans were steady to weak although September soybeans were strong at the opening.

Trade advices said one of the major banking concerns had booked flour for 90 days ahead. It was described as one of the largest commitments of the new crop year and some sources called it only the forerunner of other large long-term purchases.

Wheat was ½ to ⅞ cent a bushel higher after about an hour, September $1.91 ¼; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, September $1.19¾; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, September $1.91¼; corn unchanged rye ⅝ to 1 cent lower, September $1.82; soybeans ⅜ to ¾ lower, September $2.15¾.

Toots Shor Wields First Blow to His Restaurant

NEW YORK (AP) — Toots Shor's restaurant, a celebrity hangout for nearly 20 years, began coming down today to make way for a palace-like hotel in mid-Manhattan. Shore will set up business again in new quarters a block away.

The well known restaurateur was at the controls of a crane to wield the first blow of a ton-and-a-half demolition ball against the four-story brick building on 51st street between Fifth and Sixth avenues.

A lobster has a possible life expectancy of 50 years.

To Seek New Bids for Courthouse

With hopes they can get down to earth soon building a new courthouse, Oakland County supervisors will convene tomorrow in a rare summer meeting to scrap old construction bids and ask for new ones.

Wednesday's meeting — which is expected to produce many empty chairs due to summer vacations —was prompted when two contractors announced they were withdrawing their bids submitted back in April.

This was not all disheartening news to county planners as it was followed by a promise that a lawsuit against the county, waiting an appeal decision in the State Supreme Court, would be dropped if a previously accepted bid of Pontiac builder J. A. Fredman, Inc. was killed.

Besides their concern with speeding up courthouse construction tomorrow, supervisors will be confronted with another timely topic —that of the sanitary sewer system for Michigan State University Oakland.

Planners of the $660,000 project —the county's Department of Public Works — are eyeing the calendar closely in hopes the sewers and plant will be completed when classes commence late next month.

SEEKS DRAIN LOAN

Tomorrow, supervisors will be asked to permit the DPW to borrow $100,000 from other drain funds owed the county, and initiate a $370,000 revenue bond issue to meet a portion of the costs of the system.

DPW officials emphasized that "these bonds will be strictly revenue bonds payable solely from the net revenues of the system. They will not be a general obligation of the county."

Before getting into the MSUO sewer matters, supervisors are expected to set a new date when prospective bidders in the general construction and mechanical fields will be asked to submit new bids for the proposed $3,000,000 courthouse.

However, top electrical bidder —Schultz Electric Service — has already signed its contract with the county.

Delays were encountered in the county awaited word from Lansing of action on an appeal by a Royal Oak man, Frank P. Scruggs Jr., in a lawsuit protesting the county's awarding the larger of three contracts to Fredman instead of the low bidder, A. Z. Shmina & Sons Co.

Three county circuit judges had ruled earlier that the supervisors were legally correct in awarding the top contract to Fredman.

Ex-Rep. Faulkner, 84, Dies in Barry County

DELTON (UPI) — Funeral service will be held tomorrow for former State Rep. Ellis E. Faulkner, 84, who died Sunday in Watervliet Community Hospital.

Faulkner, who operated a drug store in this Barry county community from 1903 until his retirement in 1946, served as a representative from 1935 to 1948. He served as a probate judge for several years after World War I and also was secretary of the State Board of Agriculture.

SOMETHING FOR THE SPORTSMAN — GMC truck dealers are now offering this sports cab as special equipment installed at the factory. Designed for sportsmen, the GMC sports cab fits on a wideside pickup, can be installed for use in a matter of minutes.

Steel Meetings Step Up Pace

3rd Joint Session Set for Today but Federal Mediator Shrugs

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry and union chiefs—each side blaming the other for prolonging the three-week-old steel strike — have stepped up the pace of their negotiations.

The third joint session since the strike began was called for today. A joint session Monday failed to break the deadlock that has shut down almost 90 per cent of the country's steel production.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, is sitting in on the talks.

Asked if he had noticed any change in the attitude of either side as a result of criticism of both industry and union by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, Finnegan said: "I didn't discern any particular impact. Both sides are aware of the statement."

Monday's joint negotiations had been arranged by Finnegan before Mitchell accused both sides on Saturday of failing to make serious efforts to settle their contract dispute.

Finnegan said that an exchange of viewpoints Monday convinced both sides that another joint session today would be worthwhile.

R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., and David J. McDonald, president of the striking United Steelmakers of America, issued public statements aimed at each other.

Truck Becomes Sportsman's Delight

GMC Offers Sports Cab

A sports cab that fits over the cargo space of the GMC wideside pickup truck is now being offered by GMC truck dealers, it was announced today by R. C. Woodhouse, general truck sales manager of the GMC Truck and Coach Division. It can be installed in a matter of minutes, he added.

For sportsmen, campers or vacationers, the GMC wideside pickup with sports cab offers roomy, overnight accommodations for up to five persons. The interior measures 53 inches high, 74 inches wide and 98 inches long, has hardwood paneling, wide storage shelf and two six-footer bunks with thick cotton mattresses.

The exterior is all aluminum, finished in automotive enamel. The body is fully insulated with one-half inch fiberglas. Roof ventilator and easily positioned windows provide excellent ventilation. Two interior lights give ample illumination.

The sports cab fastens securely to the wideside box with six bolts. Two skyhooks on top the cab permit hoisting on or off quickly.

One minute you have a load-carrying pickup and the next it's ready for recreation. The cab also serves as a big, weather-proof carrying space for tools, displays or exhibits.

Williams Offers Data on State

Would Prove to Fellow Governors Michigan Is No Worse Than Others

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams spoke with the authority of experience today when he reported to the Governors' Conference on state tax and revenue problems.

He offered 40 pages of charts, graphs and statements to show that Michigan is not alone with its fiscal woes.

The nation's senior governor, who hinted yesterday he may seek a seventh term as Michigan's chief executive, said tax problems in all states can be laid to explosive population growth, expanding technology and mushrooming cities.

Williams also figured in a five-governor committee that proposed to the Governors' Conference today a combined federal, state and local effort to provide civilian protection against radioactive fallout as "a major contribution to peace."

The committee was headed by New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, but its recommendations did not go as far as a New York state advisory committee which recently proposed to him that fallout shelters be compulsory for all New York state residents.

Others members of the governors' committee besides Williams are Edmund Brown of California, and Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, all Democrats, and J. Hugo Aronson of Montana, a Republican; as is Rockefeller.

Their report called for state educational campaigns on the dangers of fallout, and for federal, state and local campaigns to help individuals protect themselves against fallout by shelters and other means.

Ad Man Reports Layouts Stolen

Advertising layouts of a product believed ready to go on the market next year were reported stolen from a Birmingham executive's car, it was revealed today.

Robert J. Hungerford of Campbell, Ewald & Co., an advertising firm in the General Motors Building, Detroit, discovered the layouts missing from his car yesterday morning as he started for his office. He reported the loss to the Birmingham Police.

The car had been parked on the street overnight in front of his home at 599 Westchester Way, Birmingham. Thieves had forced a window of the car to open the door.

The stolen layouts were encased in a three by two and a half-foot leather folder.

Herter in Confabs Over Reds in Laos

GENEVA (AP) — Christian A. Herter conferred with his British and French colleagues here today on the Communist rebellion in the little southeast Asian country of Laos.

The U. S. secretary of state met with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Maurice Couve de Murville, the French foreign minister, for nearly an hour. Their talk was described officially as a general exchange of views on the situation in Laos.

Lloyd told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in a quickly arranged conference two days ago that Britain is concerned about the alarming state of affairs in Laos.

Britain and the Soviet Union are charged with overseeing the terms of the armistice that settled the Indochinese war and set up Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam as independent states in 1954.

British informants said Gromyko failed to give any assurances that the Soviet Union would use its good offices to prevent interference by Communist forces from outside Laos in the internal affairs of that country.

To Buy Water System

DETROIT (AP)—The Common Council was expected to ratify Tuesday a contract under which the city of Detroit will purchase the Wayne County water system for 54 million dollars. The contract already has been ratified by the Wayne County Board of Supervisors and the City Water Commission.

Business Notes

The Bramson Publishing Company of Birmingham has announced that George H. Amber of Detroit, formerly a consulting engineer and author of numerous industrial articles, has been added to the editorial staff of "Production," the monthly magazine of mass production and metalworking.

AMBER

As associate editor, he will interpret the significance of scientific and engineering developments to mass production, and will be responsible for feature articles pertaining to industrial engineering, automation, electronics, and automatic control.

$60,000 Fire Destroys Mount Pleasant Barn

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—Fire destroyed a large storage barn early today at the Mount Pleasant State Home and Training School. Officials estimated the loss at $60,000.

The 136 by 36-foot wooden and concrete structure formerly was used as a dairy barn.

Fruits such as apples, oranges and bananas are rich in sugar values.

2-Car Collision on Dixie Highway Injures Three

Three persons were injured early this morning in a two-car collision on Dixie highway at W. Walton boulevard in Waterford Township.

Karl H. Liewert, 20, of 2355 Terness Dr., Drayton Plains; his passenger, Mary C. Beechum, 19, of 4787 Dixie Highway, Drayton Plains, and Charles L. McCarty, 38, of 380 Dick St., Pontiac, were treated and released at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Police said McCarty told them he thought Liewart's car was moving as he approached it from the rear and could not avoid the collision. According to Liewart, he was standing still at the red light on Walton street when McCarty ran into the back of his car.

Detroit's Albert F. Wall Died Monday, Age 58

DETROIT (AP)—Albert F. Wall, Detroit industrialist who was a breeder and racer of thoroughbred horses, died yesterday at the age of 68.

He was chairman of the board of the Wall Colmonoy Corp., a metal plating firm, and president of Wall Gases Co. He was born in Montreal.

He leaves his wife, Christine, and two daughtrs, Mrs. W. T. Clark and Mrs. W. Z. Breer.

Consumers Asks Ruling on Sharing A-Plant Cost

LANSING (UPI)—The Public Service Commission said today it will probably be next week before a decision is reached on a bid by part of the cost of an atomic power plant near Charlevoix to research and development.

In a hearing July 20 Consumers officials said the big Rock Point atomic generating plant might be the first step in converting all its power plants to nuclear fuels.

NBC Offering Nikita 'Time' to Answer Dick

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Broadcasting Company is offering Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev "equal time" to answer Vice President Richard M. Nixon's Russian radio-TV speech, the network said yesterday.

NBC said it suggested that Khrushchev record a speech using the equipment displayed by Radio Corporation of America at the U.S. Exhibit in Moscow — the same equipment before which Khrushchev and Nixon carried on a portion of their public debate on the exhibit's opening day.

Death Sentences Less in Canada

Law for Murder on Books but New Cabinet Grows Lenient

OTTAWA (AP) — Capital punishment has been reduced in Canada since the Conservatives came to power two years ago.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Cabinet has commuted 25 of 32 death sentences since June 1957. The previous Liberal Cabinet allowed 21 hangings and commuted 18 death sentences between 1954 and 1956.

Under Canadian criminal law, the courts must sentence anyone convicted of murder to death. But the federal Cabinet decides whether a murderer hangs or receives a life sentence instead.

The Conservatives' reduction of death sentences has led to criticism in some quarters that the Cabinet is making a mockery of court decisions. Justice A. M. Manson of Kamloops, B.C., charges that the Cabinet's action constitutes an infringement of Parliament's rights.

Lester B. Pearson, Liberal leader in the House of Commons, said that if the government wants to abolish death sentences, it should propose such a change in Canadian law and let Parliament decide.

State to Ask Death in Rape Accusation

LAGRANGE, Ga. (AP) — The state will demand the death penalty for three Negroes accused of raping two white women last Saturday, Solicitor General Wright Lipford said Monday.

The trio will go on trial next Monday.

A grand jury, which included one Negro, returned two indictments in the case Monday. The first charges Clifford Johnson, 32, Brannon Epps, 24, and George Alford Jr., 18, with raping one of the women. The other indictment charges Epps and Alford with raping the other victim.

Police said the three Negroes had raped the women after first scaring them away from their escorts and finally snatching them from three would-be Negro protectors.

McNamara Raps the 'Segregation' of Aged Citizens

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich) said Monday the nation must not "segregate" its elderly citizens "as a hostile class apart."

McNamara, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on problems of the aged and aging, said that older persons were looked upon as a minority group. He said they resented this.

"Obsolete ideas about their inability to contribute to society must be discarded," McNamara said in a statement, "along with such notions that they can get along on a mere subsistence income or that their housing can be dilapidated or that the financing of their health care can take care of itself."

McNamara announced that his subcommittee would continue its hearings on the problems of the aged today, Wednesday and Thursday by hearing representatives of various groups which work with older persons.

Khrushchev Invited to See Liberty Bell

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—City officials have invited Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to come to Philadelphia during his visit to the United States next month.

The formal invitation, drafted Monday by Mayor Richardson Dilworth and City Representative Frederic R. Mann, was forwarded to Khrushchev directly.

Deputy City Representative Abe S. Rosen said that "we are suggesting that, after the official amenities in Washington, Mr. Khrushchev be taken to Philadelphia to see where this great country of ours got its start."

"We want the Russian leader not only to see the Liberty Bell and Independence Hall, but also how the people of Philadelphia live and just what we did to improve the city," he added.

Lear Awarded Contract for Navy Bomb Releases

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— Lear, Inc. of Grand Rapids, has been awarded a $12,638,000 contract by the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics for its electronic low-altitude bomb releases.

The device was developed by Lear about two years ago to be used in connection with "toss-bombing" techniques by the Navy for carrier-based aircraft.

MAN FROM TOMORROW—These youngsters gaze at a soldier equipped for the nuclear battlefield. He's Sgt. 1/C Ben Sawicki of Pacific Grove, Calif., and he's modeling the latest battle dress for U. S. soldiers. The equipment includes a radio helmet, infra-red binoculars, a rocket-powered "jump belt" and an explosive device for digging fox holes fast.

He'll Be Masked Flier

Reveal Future GI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The combat soldier of the future, an awesome appearing individual, was shown to a meeting of Army supporters Monday.

A briefing officer, pointing to a GI in futuristic battle dress, told the annual meeting of the Assn. of the United States Army:

"This man is geared to the nuclear battlefield, equipped for what the Army thinks war will be like in the immediate future and from 1965 on."

The GI was a grim figure. His face was hidden behind a mask for protection against radioactive contamination. His garb consisted of contamination - resistant material and flexible body armor made of 16 layers of nylon."

Atop his head, he wore a radio helmet, already in use by the Army and designed to keep the individual soldier in constant contact with his command.

This is a rocket device to assist soldiers in taking giant strides as they move about tomorrow's battlefields. With it, the Army said, the soldier will be able to jump down cliffs, using the rockets to decelerate his drop or leap over obstacles in apparent defiance of gravity.

He may move into battle in some type of "air car" like those already being tested by the armed forces. These vehicles use a downward directed blast of air to serve as a cushion and send them skimming across nearly any kind of terrain.

Also displayed at the meeting was a new portable central system for directing anti-aircraft missile fire against enemy planes attempting attack on troops in the battle field. The Army said the equipment is being sent overseas.

The highly mobile system, mounted in five truck vans, is a combination of radar, electronic computers and two-way radio contacts between the central control and widely dispersed missile batteries.

With this equipment, the Army said, "the process of pinpointing targets and firing anti - aircraft missiles is reduced from minutes to split seconds."

The directing system is being produced for the Army Signal Corps by the Hughes Aircraft Co. of Fullerton, Calif., which received a 30 million dollar contract last year.

Baptists Giving Up Private School Plan

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—The Selma Baptist Assn. has given up—for the present—its efforts to open a private school for white students.

The association's education commission met Monday night and announced that public apathy had caused them to abandon the plans.

"We led the goat to water, but we couldn't make it drink," the commission noted.

However, the commission maintained that its school plan is workable and will be held in readiness in the event schools here are closed—by integration orders or for other reasons.

N.Y. Will Greet Khrushchev if U.S. Requests It

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City will cooperate to any extent requested by the State Department should Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev visit the city, Mayor Robert F. Wagner said today.

Wagner refused two years ago to extend an official city greeting to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia because of reported anti-semitism and slavery in that country.

The mayor said President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the State Department apparently believe an Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange of visits will serve the purpose of world peace.

He said that under these circumstances "there can be no question" that the city would cooperate officially "regardless of any opinion we may have about the Russian system of government."

"I am sure that after Premier Khrushchev gets a first-hand view of the wonders of New York he will have fewer doubts about the workings of our own system," Wagner said.

School Car Pools Mean Wear, Tear

Carrying four or five lively children each day can subject a car to wear and tear never dreamed of by the designers in Detroit.

According to Joseph Weiss, president of Rayco, keeping the interior of a car trim and clean is as important as keeping the outside washed and polished. Use of seat covers, Weiss says, assures that a car's interior will always be presentable. A damp cloth will take off any dirt that accumulates.

In addition a car can be used for a longer period and will give greater satisfaction if kept reasonably clean.

Gets Her Degree After 31 Years In, Out of College

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Stanley Katherine Apfelbeck started college in 1928. Next Friday she will graduate from Florida Southern College with a bachelor of science degree.

The 53-year-old grandmother eloped after her first year at Doane College, Crete, Neb., reared a family and worked part-time as a newspaper reporter.

In 1954 Mrs. Apfelbeck decided to resume work on her degree. It was back to Doane and the University of Nebraska.

Mrs. Apfelbeck dropped out of college again in 1956 when she and her husband moved to Lakeland.

Shakespeare Festival Allowed in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" has finally arrived at Central Park. This year's first offering of the New York Shakespeare Festival came Monday night.

It followed a court battle and months of wrangling between festival producer Joseph Papp and Parks Commissioner Robert Moses.

Wise Ol' Owl Just a Myth, Says Expert

He stopped by the Bronx Zoo Monday, and his scorn for owls knew no bounds.

"They are even dumber than chickens, if that's possible," he said. "An owl makes a hen look like a mental giant. Even a possum is smarter."

Payne bases his knowledge on two years of research with owls.

He said that in his laboratory he has seen owls take off from their perches and crash into the rafters time and time again. He had one owl that had to be forced-fed for six months. When it finally did eat it attacked the man who fed it.

However, he had to admit that stupid as owls are, they seem to elude researchers pretty well. He has had considerable trouble getting enough to carry on his research.

Test Child's Hearing Regularly

Something just seems to have come over little Frankie.

He behaves terribly. His temper is so short that he doesn't have friends any more. He's fallen behind in school, although he never had trouble before.

He won't let anybody help. He won't talk about it. All he wants is to be left along.

Frankie doesn't know what's wrong. It may be months or years before parents or friends or teachers recognize the subtle symptoms of hearing impairment.

David H. Barnow, an executive of a hearing aid company, says: "Frankie, like three million other hearing handicapped children, needs help. The first step is simply to discover that there is something wrong with his hearing.

Once that's been determined, there is plenty of medical, scientific and social help available to cure, or help him compensate for, his hearing loss."

And, he stresses, the only practical, effective way to take that first step is through a hearing conservation program conducted in a community's school.

Barnow points out tht 27 states have laws requiring school children to have hearing tests periodically.

Outside these states, many school districts provide hearing tests without compulsory state legislation.

"In thousands of schools, however, there are no hearing tests, and loss may go undetected for years," he stresses.

Each child, he says, should be tested at least once every three years, preferably as often as once a year.

Try Proper Light for Good Studying

How many homes have a bookshelf 18 feet long? That's the length needed to hold all the books an average student must read by the time he graduates from high school.

How many light bulbs he burns out in the process is anyone's guess. However, good lighting is an essential of good studying habits. It prevents eye fatigue and aids student comprehension.

A manufacturer of desk and study lamps says studies show that a minimum of 40 foot-candles are required for prolonged reading or studying. This may go up to 100 foot-candles.

According to Lightolier technicians the light also should be soft and well diffused. Too great a contrast between the light and the surroundings forces the eye to adjust continuously.

America Lags in 'Capitalistic' School Courses

Besides a seesaw battle with Russia over science supremacy, this country is lagging in "capitalistic" training.

The teacher education committee of the American Economic Foundation recently made the discovery that "practically nowhere is the study of economics re-

The training of economics teachers in U. S. schools is also virtually nonexistent.

One disheartening result of this educational gap, the report continued, is that elementary grade school teachers are poorly equipped to pass on to pupils basic economic facts and principles.

"The need to make American children literate in the field of economics is made more urgent," the committee declared, "by Russian boasts that Communist social and economic methods will conquer the free enterprise system unless we maintain a strong economic program."

The District of Columbia has only 34 miles or rail lines.

With Informal 'Summit' Meetings

Ike and Nikita Off Hook for Time Being

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How high is up? Or when is a summit conference not summer conference?

No matter what they're called — and they are not being called summit conferences — the coming meetings between President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev get both men off a hook, for a while, anyway.

Yet, as of now, Khrushchev is away ahead on points in his duel with Eisenhower over Berlin where he precipitated a crisis which he has never let subside. He knows, and Eisenhower knows, he has the United States on a tough spot.

As a result of all he has done, he is getting exactly what he wanted; a personal meeting with Eisenhower.

It seems safe to say that if Khrushchev hadn't caused the Berlin crisis, and refused to budge an inch, Eisenhower wouldn't be asking him to Washington in September.

The dictionary describes a summit as the highest point. Since Eisenhower and Khrushchev are the top men in their governments, no meeting between Americans and Russians could be any more of a summit than this one.

JUST INFORMAL

Still Eisenhower doesn't call Khrushchev's visit here and his later visit with him in Moscow a summit meeting. He says they will have "informal talks...which will afford an opportunity for an exchange of views about problems of mutual interest."

Actually, the two men can reach understandings on their problems without signing formal papers. That could be done later — at a meeting officially billed as the summit — with Britain and France sitting in.

Whatever Eisenhower works out with Khrushchev will probably be acceptable to the Allies. He's making it plain he won't do anything behind their backs.

Congress May Escape Decision

Should Khrushchev Speak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should Congress invite an address from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev?

That's a delicate question already bothering some members. But chances are they won't have to answer it. They won't if Congress has adjourned before Khrushchev arrives.

Leaders are aiming for adjournment of Congress by early September — at the latest by Labor Day, Sept. 7. Khrushchev is expected about Sept. 15.

From the standpoint of protocol, an invitation to Khrushchev isn't necessarily called for even if Congress is in session.

Visiting heads of government have been invited to address joint Senate-House sessions, wartime British Prime Minister Winston Churchill for one. But when Harold MacMillan, the present British Prime Minister, visited Washington recently he was not asked to address congress.

Ears Look Alike, Hear Differently

That's because, even if they are perfectly matched physically, they do not receive exactly the same set of impressions from any given source of sound.

According to Raymond W. Saxon, a vice president and general manager of RCA Victor, the differences are in part caused by differences in the paths of the sound to either ear.

This, he says, is the reason that stereophonic sound makes a different and more realistic impression than any single-channel sound source can mae.

Upper-grade high school students and college students are among the most enthusiastic advocates of stereo. This is partly because of their interest in electronics and partly because of their alertness to "realism" in sight and sound.

Don't Brush Off Proper Hair Care

The soft, baby hair of a child grows out after two. And for some men it continues to grow out, more or less, as the years go by. However, aside from this latter state of affairs, maintaining healthy hair starts with childhood care.

The scalp of children, even more than grownups, needs cleaning and stimulation just as much as the face or hand skin.

Proper brushing with a special soft hair brush keeps the scalp clean longer. And according to brush experts at Kent of London, it induces naturally curly, healthy hair.

When shampooing a child's hair, mothers should rub the hair with a soft towel until it is almost dry. Then brush the hair vigorously with an upward, outward stroke until the hair is dry.

Today there are over 900 newspapers with a combined circulation of over 44 million copies daily offering advertisers newspaper run-of-paper color. With Canada added, over 1,000 newspapers with a combined circulation of over 47 million daily, offer run-of-paper color.

Says Rocky to Enter the Presidential Race

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newsweek Magazine said today that New York's Republican State Chairman L. Hudson Morhouse told a group of congressmen last week that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will begin to campaign for the Republican presidential nomination before the end of the year.

The magazine said Morhouse told the group Rockefeller's name will be entered in the New Hampshire primary next March 8 and that a well-financed and organized campaign will be conducted in the state. He was quoted as saying he didn't know if Rockefeller would participate personally in that campaign.

The magazine said the consensus of those at the meeting was that Vice President Richard M. Nixon presently has a better chance for the nomination than Rockefeller but that Rockefeller appeared to have a better chance to win the election, against any Democrat, than Nixon.

Worker Strikes Oil Excavating for L.A. Building

A jackhammer operator, digging in the excavation for the new Hall of Records Building, Monday hit a seam of heavy viscosity oil four feet down in shale strata.

Mississippians Vote in Primary Today

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A record 450,000 Mississippians were expected to turn out today for the Democratic primary to choose a governor and other state and local officials.

Four men seek the governorship. They are Dist. Atty. Charles Sullivan of Clarksdale, Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin of Laurel, Attorney Ross Barnett of Jackson, and Robert Mason, a Magee welder.

Nomination in the primary is equivalent to election in the predominantly Democratic state. In the event there is no clear margin, a runoff election will be held Aug. 25.

Will Postpone Hearing for Finch Accomplice

WEST COVINA, Calif. (UPI) — The prosecution agreed today to a week's postponement in the preliminary hearing of Carole Tregoff to permit famed Hollywood lawyer Jerry Giesler to study the case. She is charged with helping Dr. Bernard Finch murder Finch's estranged wife.

India to Get Pure Milk but Cow Still Sacred

But to a devout Hindu, milk is nectar. It is one of the prime offerings to a deity. Nothing is said to please a departing soul more than a few spoonfuls of milk.

The government is building a big milk processing plant in the heart of New Delhi's industrial suburb. A system of cattle colonies is being established with a 50-mile radius of the city.

BAR PRIVATE SOURCES

Sacred cows will continue to wander in Delhi's streets, but small, unsanitary private farms will be banned from the city.

Five countries are supplying money, experts, and equipment for the first milk plant of its kind in India. More than half of the funds for the four-million-dollar project came from New Zealand, through the Colombo Plan. Ten experts and machinery have come from Britain, West Germany, Sweden and Denmark.

The plant will turn out 100 000 gallons of milk a day. It will also produce ice cream, butter, and the first powdered milk made in India.

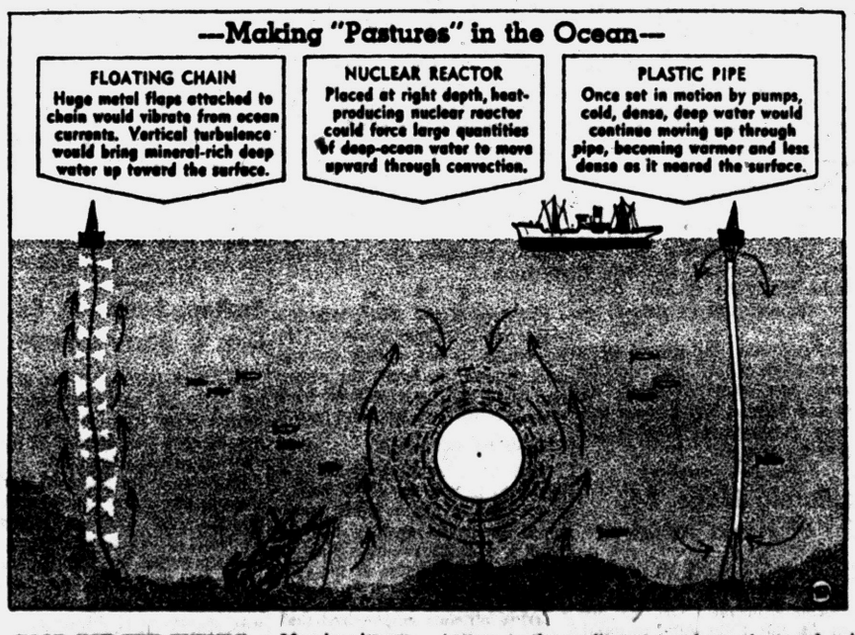
The foreign experts hope to get the plant into production by mid-September. The original completion date was Independence Day, Aug. 15. A water and power shortage caused the delay.

—Making "Pastures" in the Ocean—



FOOD FOR THE FUTURE — Man has begun to take a closer look at his watery planet in this day of expanding populations and dwindling resources. Some say that the oceans one day will be the most important means of feeding the billions. But areas of the sea which are abundant with life are limited to places where a natural vertical circulation brings nutrients up from the bottom to the sunlit waters where plant and animal life can flourish. Vast other areas are virtual "deserts." To solve this problem and populate these unproductive sections, oceanographers of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council have suggested three possible methods, which are shown in simplified sketch above.

Prepares to Appeal Fine

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Attorneys for a father fined $50 for refusing to give his son and daughter polio shots today prepared to take the case to the Tennessee Supreme Court.

Ben Gamble, a laborer, had refused to let health authorities inoculate the children.

Mrs. Gamble testified that her son, Arthur, had had one shot in 1955 and became "deathly ill." She said she "vowed to God" he wouldn't have another.

Gamble's defense attorney said he was "getting ready for the Supreme Court."

Young Rocky Sets the Date

Couple to Be Married August 22 in Soenge in Small Wedding

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) — Steven Rockefeller and Anne Marie Rasmussen said today they've definitely settled on Aug. 22 for their wedding date.

Steven told a news conference his father and mother, Gov. and Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, will attend unless something completely unexpected happens.

Young Rockefeller added that he hopes several other members of his family will be on hand.

The couple will be married, probably in the afternoon, in the Lutheran Church at nearby Soenge. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Olav Gautestad, an old friend of the Rasmussen family.

Steven David, a publicity man sent over by Gov. Rockefeller, said the wedding would be comparatively small and therefore could be held in the 18th century Soenge chapel instead of in the newer but larger Lund church.

ABC-TV Wants Action

Emphasizes Escape

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—In the coming season ABC-TV will continue the type of filmed action television programming that brought it increased audiences and dollars last season.

"The mass culture of this country is escape," says Thomas W. Moore, vice president in charge of programming for the network, in describing ABC-TV's plans.

"Action — adventure is at the moment the most effective entertainment in our medium. It will continue as long as we can't come up with something more appealing.

"The coming season will see a continuation of our programming philosophy of the past few years. The emphasis will be on action and adventure. We would have liked to add new situation comedies.

"But the successes we have had indicate it's quicker to get an audience with action adventure than to pioneer a situation comedy."

Nearly all of the network's programs in prime evening viewing time will be on film.

ABC-TV will have very few specials, compared to the other networks. Walt Disney plans three on man in relation to space, and three others will feature Bing Crosby, Pat Boone and Frank Sinatra.

"We believe specials should be just that," says Moore. "A program by Crosby or Sinatra certainly constitutes a special. But it seems kind of silly to program specials just for the sake of calling them specials."

In 50 half-hour periods during prime evening viewing time, the network has scheduled 13 Westerns, 17 adventure and detections, seven varieties, and five situation comedies.

The action detection-romance concept of "77 Sunset Strip" has been expanded into two other hour programs. "Bourbon Street Beat" on Mondays at 8:30 p.m. will carry the concept into a New Orleans background. "Hawaiian Eye" Wednesdays at 9 p.m. will carry it to Hwaii.

On Sunday nights the ABC-TV screen will bristle with action. "Maverick" at 7:30 is followed by "Lawman" and then a new Western, "The Rebel," which Moore describes as "the adventures of a Reconstruction beatnik." Then comes a new hour adventure series, "The Alaskans."

Three hour-length action programs stand back-to-back on Mondays: "Cheyenne," "Bourbon Street Beat," and the new "Adventures in Paradise," concerning the skipper of a schooner in the southwest Pacific who seeks adventure.

TV Dicks Modern Robin Hoods

Expect Glamour in Detectives

By RICK DU BROW
UPI Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Why are private detectives the new heroes of television?

"Because they're the modern versions of Robin Hood — and there'll always be a Robin Hood," says Frank Lovejoy, star of the "Meet McGraw" series on the ABC network.

Lovejoy, 45, who portrays a charming and unarmed private eye, elaborated:

"People like to think there's always someone around to help the weak ones—someone who's strong, has ethics and is glamorous. You can make a private eye glamorous because very few people know anything about them —or ever came across one.

"You couldn't do that with most trades—an accountant, for instance. Too many people know accountants and their normal routine. The same goes for your postman. You think of him in a benign sort of way, so it's hard to cloak him in glamor."

"If you want to be honest about it," he said, "Wyatt Earp was hardly anything like you see on TV. I'm not knocking the show, but he wasn't exactly a wonderful person. And I don't think Bat Masterson won any medals for humanitarianism. But nobody wants to hear about that.

"It's like Custer's last stand. Heaven forbid that the Indians should make the picture from their viewpoint."

Lovejoy said that even private eyes—as glamorous as the average person might imagine them to be—must be further glamorized for TV consumption.

"Let's face it," he grinned, "there's nothing really very glamorous about listening in on a party line. And if you shot the whole thing in Joe's corner saloon, you'd have a great big nothing.

"So they get you in a studio—and the lights are right, and the broads are better looking, and naturally you look better. Who wouldn't? Let's be honest again—all real-life private eyes aren't exactly great. But who can sit down and tell their kids that?

"When I was a kid, we used to play cowboys and Indians, and I always wanted to play the cowboys. Only the jerks played the Indians. Why? Because the cowboys were glamorized. We don't want to sit down and be educated on TV. If there's an idea in it okay—but entertainment is what we want."

Lovejoy, who is married and has two children—Judy, 16, and Stephen, 13 — admitted, however, that he does try to get one idea across as McGraw.

"I never use a gun," he said. "I never carry one. It's a matter of personal conviction. I don't believe in it."

Suede, Leather to Rule Fall Campus Clothes

When school bells ring, leather jacket weather is not far behind. Styled for casual wear for the young and not so young, today's jackets and coats of sueded and smooth leathers are lightweight, rugged and easy to care for.

College men will find high-styled suede vests and pliable cabretta leather suburban coats with easily accessible slash pockets and knit trim designed for them.

Most popular masculine colors on the campus this fall are dark brown, tan and ivory. The suedes can be inexpensively dry cleaned, while the smooth cabrettas need but a damp sponge.

Younger students have a wide range in jackets of sheepskin and cowhide. Pile and shearling linings provide warmth in jackets and coats that resist scratches, scars and scuffs.

Tweed and leather make handsome combinations in blazers, tailored and cardigan jackets. Suedes and cabretta come in a full range of pastels, white, black and gold.

Newspapers are keeping modern. In 1957, $130,000,000 was invested by daily newspapers to improve plants, equipment and product. These same newspapers, it is estimated, spent an additional $75,000,000 for improvement in 1958.

There's Nothing Cheap About Caracas Prices

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

We were lucky and got invited to lunch by a charming millionaire, Emanuel Vincente Rodriguez, 71, who sighed as he showed us around his rambling house which goes back to the 1500s, "We have nothing but rooms, rooms, rooms."

"About how many?" we asked.

"Fifty-one," he recollected. And 14 servants.

"I started living early," he said, chain-smoking cigarets. "By the time I was 20, I had three bullets in me."

Grandson of a Venezuelan President, he's the stepfather of N.Y. and L.A. Cafe Socialite Renaldo Herrerra Sr. Laughing, he said he was an average Venezuelan — he'd been exiled and also been in jail, during a revolution or two.

"I was unhappy when I was in exile — even though I was exiled to an apartment on Park avenue in N.Y.," he said.

He spent much of his exile at El Morocco and some in Palm Beach, and some with Mike Romanoff in L.A. When in jail, he discovered he knew the chef and so he got special "cell service."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Jackie Gleason will use his millionairish home at Peekskill as the setting for his TV series about a press agent named O'Hara. He'll start shooting it early in '60. The "Ah, Wilderness," the "Connecticut Summer" show he'll do on B'way has been renamed, "Take Me Along" (the name of a prospective hit song in it) . . .

NAPLES

Monique Van Vooren got a big break: she was cast as the dramatic lead in a U.S. Steel TV show Aug. 26 ("A Case About Champagne") and will also be able to do the next Bardot picture in France . . . There's talk of the Jack Paar TV show going to England — but Jack admits most of the talk is on his part . . . Bob Evans, the young actor, gets bloged in the S.E. Post.

Opera Star Delores Wilson is in Mexico sampling the bullfights and the tequilla . . . Prettiest bartender in N.Y. is Delores Naples, 24, size 37, at the Hob Nob on E. 41st street. This lovely mixologist contemplates writing a book, "My Five Years Behind Bars."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Marriage," claims the Vagabonds, "is a period during which a man finds out what sort of fellow his wife would have preferred."

Two Boys, 17 and 14, Tie Dogs to Tracks

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP) — He and a friend tied two dogs to railroad tracks and waited for a train to come, Danny Clem, 14, admitted in juvenile court.

Danny related that he had waited behind some boxcars while his 17-year-old companion watched the train run over and kill the helpless canines.

Danny, of nearby Dixon, appeared unremorseful as he told about it, said Judge Cathryn Harrington, as she announced disposition of the case Monday.

The judge sentenced the boy to seven years in Ohio's Boys Industrial School, with recommendation that he not be released before serving the maximum sentence.

The case of the older boy is being handled by a court in adjacent Paulding County.

Baseball on TV Breaks Into Keyhole Episodes

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—It is only logical, in a summer freighted with TV reruns, that NBC-TV should offer a repeat of the All-Star baseball game.

Yesterday, a group of gentlefolk from the National and American Leagues reenacted an exercise originally presented on July 7. The cast was changed somewhat — notably missing on the National side were two skilled performers, Orlando Cepeda and William White.

EWALD

And the point of origination was shifted from Pittsburgh to Los Angeles, but that's only fitting since almost all network television is moving to the West Coast anyway.

However, there was one rather striking innovation in this repeat: A change in script. In the July 7 original, the Nationals won. Yesterday, the Americans won.

In a way, the idea seems like a dandy solution to the problem of summer repeats and I suggest other TV series might adopt it — if Peter Gunn and Marshall Dillon and Wyatt Earp were to lose all their winter gunfights during the summer, it might add some tang to the schedule.

PRETTY DULL

As for the game itself, announcer Mel Allen described it at the close as "a game fraught with excitement from start to finish." This, of course, was a kind of commercial and like most commercials was somewhat overly enthusiastic.

It was, as a matter of fact, a pretty dull game — a little less stimulating than a crocheting bee. There seems to be a kind of conspiracy of silence about baseball with nobody quite willing to admit that it's The Great American Bore.

On television, the game is less than satisfactory. TV offers sectional baseball — its canvas displays only partial glimpses of its complex actions like the hit and run, the double play, the base hit with men on.

One typical example; Yesterday in the seventh inning with Anthony Kubek on second and James Runnels on first, Nelson Fox singled for the Americans. The camera showed the ball slithering toward the outfield, picked up Kubek as he planked the run and then switched back to Fox roosting on first.

JUST A KEYHOLE

What was missing was the merry-go-round itself: The complete picture of the ball being retrieved and thrown, the defense realigning, the runners scooting. It struck me then that looking at baseball on TV is a little like trying to watch a tedious war through a keyhole.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: "The Moon and Sixpence," an NBC-TV special which stars Laurence Olivier, has been shifted from Dec. 10 to Oct. 30 . . . NBC-TV is preparing a daily fashion show for its daytime schedule — it'll replace one of the three shaky shows on the daytime docket: From These Roots, Court of Human Relations or County Fair.

Monique Van Vooren and Hans Conried will star in "A Taste of Champagne" on CBS-TV's U.S. Steel Hour Aug. 26 . . . Lloyd Nolan will guest in a CBS-TV Father Knows Best episode next fall titled "Bud Plays It Safe."

Westinghouse will sponsor the Democratic and Republican political conventions and election night on CBS-TV in 1960 for the third consecutive presidential election year . . . Lana Turner is ticketed in for the NBC-TV Milton Berle Special Oct. 11 — Danny Thomas also will guest on the show.

Richard Diamond, Private Detective, currently seen Sundays on CBS-TV, will switch to Monday nights on NBC-TV starting Oct. 5 . . . Richard Boone, star of CBS-TV's Have Gun, Will Travel, will direct an episode, "The Campaign of Billy Banjo," for the fall series . . . NBC-TV's Cavalcade of Sports will cover the middleweight championship bout between former titleholders Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer Aug. 28.

Denies Queen Ordered to Undergo Examination

LONDON (UPI)—A Buckingham Palace spokesman denied today that Queen Elizabeth's physicians insisted that she undergo a physical examination on her return from Canada.

He said no such examination is planned.

The Queen spent the day quietly at the palace. The spokesman said he knows of no change in plans for the visit she and Prince Philip are scheduled to make next week to the Orkney and Shetland Islands.
