Cease Fire Order to End Fighting in Israel, Egypt

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sctor (U)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold announced today Israel and Egypt have agreed to an unconditional cease-fire on their borders tonight.

Israeli diplomatic sources in London reported their government has called a temporary halt to the operation of its ground patrols along the frontier of the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip. The Gaza Strip, crowded with Palestine Arab refugees, has been the chief center of trouble between Israel and Egypt.

The cease-fire is effective at 6 p.m.

It is the major achievement to date of Hammarskjold's peace mission, in which he has conferred over the past 16 days with government officials of Israel and Egypt, leader of the Arab nations.

Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion met with his Cabinet this morning to discuss the progress of his talks with Hammarskjold, which opened Tuesday. Israeli sources said the talks had brought "very good progress" toward evolving means of reducing border friction. Hammarskjold's task was complicated by an Israeli countermand that Egypt lift all restrictions on Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal.

The secretary declared this was outside the scope of his peace mission, which the Arabs have insisted must be confined to the border situation.

The secretary first went to Cairo, where he spent five days conferring with Nasser and top Egyptian officials.

After weekend staff conferences at his temporary headquarters in Beirut, Lebanon, the secretary pushed on to Israel. He expects to go soon to Amman, the Jordan capital, and Damascus, Syria. Only minor border incidents have been reported since Hammarskjold wound up his talks in Cairo and came to Israel.

Ohio's Lausche Sides With Ike's Veto Action

CINCINNATI (INS)—President Eisenhower's veto of the farm bill met the unqualified approval of Ohio's Democratic governor Frank J. Lausche.

Asked by newsmen what he thought of the veto, the governor—a dark horse possibility for the Democratic nomination for the presidency—snapped: "I'd have vetoed it quicker than he did."

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today voted $1,200,000,000 for President Eisenhower to put a soil bank farm plan into effect immediately.

County GOP Convention Selects State Delegation

By BUD MARTZ

Slightly more than a fourth of Oakland County's 212 elected Republican delegates showed up last night at the county convention to name the county's delegation to the state convention in Detroit May 5.

Convention officers, who will serve as officers of the state convention delegation, were elected by the 56 attending county delegates.

They are Everett F. Hayes, of Lathrup Village, chairman; Mrs. Genevieve Schock, of Berkley, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Raleigh, of Hazel Park, assistant secretary; Mrs. Margaret E. Norton, of Rochester, vice chairman; Fred F. Stevens, of Oxford, and William Garling, 502 Bloomfield Ave., sergeants at arms; and L. Harvey Lodge, parliamentarian.

A nominating committee compiled 124 names of delegates to attend the state convention in a 2-hour back room session. Names of the appointed delegates appear on page 32 of today's Pontiac Press.

New delegates were nominated from the floor to serve in the place of absentees.

Just Eat—Be Merry

CHICAGO (INS)—Mrs. Annie Twigg, a native of Leicester, England, who will celebrate her 100th birthday Saturday, said today she had no advice on longevity but added: "I like parties with cake, ice cream and lots of coffee and tea."

Prince and Bride Speak Vows in Monaco's Cathedral

Grace waits her turn beside the prince. At right are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly Sr., of Philadelphia. Other members of wedding party are in background.

Monaco Cheers Rainier and Bride

Partly cloudy with a low of 30 degrees is the forecast for the Pontiac area tonight.

The weatherman says tomorrow will be fair and a little warmer with the high temperature ranging from 46-50.

The lowest thermometer reading preceding 8 a.m. was 30. The mercury rose to 50 at 2 p.m.

Courageous Cat Hikes 200 Miles to Rejoin Family

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (U)—Missy, a fluffy brown and white cat missing for 14 months, has joined her family here after a 200-mile journey that left her dirty and bedraggled and her paws almost raw.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bass said yesterday they moved here 14 months ago after their home at Lyles, Tenn., was destroyed by fire. The day they moved, however, they couldn't find Missy and left without her, much to the disappointment of their daughter, Wanda, 6.

The couple said Missy appeared in their front yard here Tuesday. "That cat had never been outside Hickman County when we lived here and I don't have any idea how she got here or how she knew where we were," Bass said. "But I'm certain she's our Missy."

Hydrogen Bomb Test Delayed to May 8

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government announced today that the hydrogen bomb test in the Pacific scheduled for May 1 has been postponed until May 8.

The Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission, in a joint statement, attributed the delay to "technical difficulties involved in making ready for the detonation."

The announcement did not explain the nature of these difficulties.

Edison May Quit Atomic Project

Special Law Enacted by Congress Only Will Give Green Light to Plan

WASHINGTON (U)—Walker L. Cislir, Detroit utility executive, says a development group he heads will abandon a proposed 40-million-dollar atomic power project in Michigan unless Congress enacts a law to exempt firms participating in such projects from regulation as holding companies.

Cislir, president of the Detroit Edison Co., testified before a Senate Commerce subcommittee yesterday in support of the proposed legislation. It would allow industrial firms to join utilities in the development of atomic reactors to produce electricity without subjecting any of the firms to provisions of the holding company act.

Cislir is president of the Power Reactor Development Co., organized by 26 utilities and other concerns to build a breeder-type atomic reactor at a site on Lake Erie north of Monroe, Mich. The project has been described as one of the most important undertaken by private enterprise in development of the infant atomic power industry.

The project could not continue without the exempting legislation, Cislir said.

She Waits at Airport

Independence Gets Ready for Margaret's Wedding

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (U)—There was an air of quiet anticipation in Independence today as the folks at 219 North Delaware awaited the arrival of the bridegroom-to-be.

E. C. Daniel Jr., the New York newspaperman who will be wed Saturday to Margaret Truman, was due in neighboring Kansas City, by air, about noon.

Margaret planned to meet him at the airport. Daniel will be a house guest of her parents, former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman.

So will Daniel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Daniel Sr. of Zebulon, N. C., who are due tomorrow.

A big family party is scheduled at the Truman home tonight. It's to give Daniel a chance to meet Margaret's aunts, uncles and cousins.

Meanwhile, Independence continued to take wedding preparations in stride.

In the big, white, freshly-scrubbed frame house on Delaware Street there was "hustle and bustle," the lady of the house said.

But the emphasis was on keeping wedding preparations quiet—and thorough.

"We want the wedding to be very solemn and serious—because it is," Truman said.

"They've got me mystified," he added. He wouldn't talk politics—not to the point of saying something that might be controversial, anyway.

Grace in Headlines? 'Good'—Says Official

JERUSALEM (INS)—Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett has told how the name of Grace Kelly came up in Middle East peace talks—for the first time.

He said, "I didn't know who Miss Kelly is until tonight, when I was told her wedding has displaced the Middle East in the news headlines."

"This may be a good thing. What we need is less headlines, and more constructive lines of agreement."

On the way they received shrill squeals of delight from Moroccan schoolchildren dressed in bright red and white and alternately waving United States and Moroccan flags.

As the young former film star predicted with a smile yesterday, the ceremony today was another wedding without a kiss. But Rainier had shed most of the cool, aloof manner he displayed at the civil ceremony.

PROUD PRINCE

He was as proud as his personally designed uniform—and as most as cheerful as his sky blue trousers with gold sidealls as he took her serene highness down the deep red carpets of the church whose white marble seemed made of angel cake.

Philadelphia-born Princess Grace, 26, looked proudly and longingly at the 33-year-old Rainier.

once they were seated in the back of a black and yellow Rolls-Royce convertible with the top down.

The bride was radiant in her white gown of lace, satin and tulle, encrusted with hundreds of pearls and the astonishing numbers of 500,000 transparent sequins.

She hardly had been seated, with three women and two footmen helping her adjust her skirt, when she clasped Rainier's hand and held it tightly as the car waited two minutes for the rest of the procession to form behind them and roll down the hill behind a lane formed of French Alpine troops.

Exclamations such as "She looks like a fairy-princess" and "She's too beautiful to be real" were heard.

Grace smiled at her subjects who crowded outside the cathedral cheering, waving and applauding her and Rainier.

Rainier smiled warmly at his bride but still seemed self-conscious as the car started through the crowd.

Getting to the car, Grace and the Prince walked slowly down (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Telephone Firm Plans $2 Billion Expansion Work

Much of Local Outlay to Be Spent on New Direct Dial System

Plans to spend $3,986,000 on the 1956 expansion of telephone facilities in the Pontiac area were outlined today by officials of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The outlay will be part of a record $2 billion which the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. expects to spend on the improvement of operations in the U.S. The program is reportedly the largest ever launched by an American private enterprise.

The largest part of the local sum will be spent on the introduction of a direct dial system which will connect the "Federal" exchange with more than 85 other Michigan and Canadian communities.

The rest will be used to improve and expand facilities at the central office and plants in outlying areas, Pontiac spokesmen said.

The direct dial changeover will go into effect July 8.

In revealing national expansion plans yesterday, AT&T President Cleo F. Craig predicted that the company would have 50 million telephones in service within a year, compared to the present 47 million.

Last year the corporation spent $1,600,000,000 on expansion.

Craig pointed out to shareholders at yesterday's annual meeting that long distance business continues to show a healthy growth, mainly because of a concentrated sales campaign to increase use of the service.

Most of the new equipment involved in the expansion will be supplied by Western Electric, the manufacturing arm of AT&T, Craig said.

Among the new Bell additions to the area will be an emergency line which will traverse Oakland County for use as auxiliary communication during disasters in various parts of the state.

Will Open Bids on Hospital Job

Architect Leo Heenan to Tabulate Estimates for Report

Bids for the $3,000,000 addition to Pontiac General Hospital will be opened this afternoon at 2:30 in the City Commission chambers of the City Hall.

After receiving all bids, architect Leo J. Heenan is expected to tabulate them for a report to be submitted to the City Commission April 24.

The commissioners approved the final plans for the wing on Feb. 14. At this time, City Manager W. K. Williams said "as soon as we know what the bids are we will begin to advertise the sale of the bonds."

The $3,000,000 general obligation bond issue was approved by voters Nov. 2, 1954.

On March 13, this year, the City Commission approved the issuance of $2,900,000 worth of bonds. This was necessary because $100,000 worth were made void because their retirement date was expected to be reached before a state group approved the bond sale.

The $100,000 will remain in the financial plans as this amount was set aside in the 1955 budget, the city manager reported.

$51.5 Billion Road Building Bill Ready for House

WASHINGTON (U)—A $51.5-billion dollar road building program—one of the most important measures before Congress this session—was approved Wednesday by the House Public Works Committee.

The move cleared the way for early House action—perhaps next week. The Senate already has passed a less comprehensive bill.

Backed by both the Eisenhower Administration and Democratic leaders, the House bill calls for a 12-year program to include a 40,000-mile network of interstate superhighways.

To help finance the program, the measure carries an increase in highway user taxes estimated to net an additional $14,800,000,000 in the next 16 years.

A committee spokesman said the bill as approved included all changes adopted during earlier committee consideration of the measure.

This leaves only the formal procedure of reporting to the House a "clean" bill which may be presented to the committee Thursday. The proposal is sponsored by Rep. Fallon (D-Md.). Committee sources said they expect

HIKES GAS TAX

Similar highway construction proposals were defeated last year because of a dispute—now settled—over financing.

One of the tax increases carried in the House bill would add one cent to the Federal gasoline tax, now set at 3 cents a gallon.

This and other tax proposals already have been approved by the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

MAJOR PROVISIONS:

The Federal Government would furnish some 37½ billion dollars for the 12-year program, with states providing the rest.

Major provisions of the bill include:

1—Federal payments of $24,855,000,000 toward a superhighway network. This represents 90 per cent of the total cost. States would pay about $2,750,000,000.

2—An increase in the regular Federal program of aiding primary and secondary roads, which now involves some 700 million dollars a year. This would total $10,675,000,000 from 1957 through 1969.

3—Appropriation of $1,235,000,000 for roads on Federal lands.

In addition, some $1,600,000,000 in Federal and State funds already have been authorized for road projects in the fiscal year that ends June 30, 1957.

Soviet Joins Atom Peace Program

Delegates prepared by a resolutions committee. These included commendations of President Eisenhower, Sen. Charles E. Potter, and the entire state and county GOP representation.

LAUD DONDORO

The retirement of U.S. representative George A. Dondoro was acknowledged with regret, and delegates expressed their appreciation of his 24 years of service in the House.

Similar regret was expressed at the resignation of state representative Richard B. VanDusen.

When the nominating committee returned its 124 names just before midnight, Waterford Township delegate Richard L. Moore objected to the 35 listed delegates who were not either elected delegates or delegates nominated from the floor.

BLASTS DISORDER

Sharply criticizing the "disorder" at the last state convention, Moore urged that "the operation of the working delegation should remain in the hands of the elected delegates."

Moore told the 17 delegates still on the floor there was "plenty of room on the alternate list" for non-elected delegates.

As alternates, these delegates could be seated in the delegation at the convention, but would have no voice in pre-convention meetings.

The 17 delegates accepted the list over Moore's objection.

Parliamentarian Lodge urged chairman Hayes to appoint a steering committee before the state convention. Lodge said a "good steering committee" would eliminate "most of the disorder."

Newspaper Editors Meet in Washington

WASHINGTON (INS) — The American Society of Newspaper Editors convenes today for a three-day meeting that will conclude with a major foreign policy address by President Eisenhower Saturday night.

More than 400 editors from all parts of the nation are expected to attend the annual convention.

The President will address the annual banquet of the ASNE Saturday night. The White House has already disclosed that he will deliver a major foreign policy address. Presumably, he will review the entire international situation, including comment on the Middle East crisis and foreign aid.

Adlai Stevenson will address a Saturday luncheon meeting.

Molten Rubber, Not Hot Air Flew in First Blowouts

Even the old solid rubber truck tires weren't blowout-proof, an experimental engineer for the GMC Truck & Coach Division recalled at a national conference of safety experts today in New York City.

Gilbert F. Roddewig told fellow commercial vehicle panelists at the 26th Annual Safety Convention and Exposition that the forerunners of modern pneumatic tires "did blow out, spewing molten rubber over quite an area."

He explained that heat from friction melted the rubber inside the tire, causing it to expand and finally burst through the outside crust of rubber. Drilling ventilation holes through the sidewalls solved the problem.

Roddewig observed that the truck manufacturing industry is waging a vigorous campaign against driver fatigue, referring specifically to the development of automatic transmissions, road shock dampers and GMC's air-ride suspension principle.

Asia Is Subject of Seminar by Two Schools

Asia will be the subject of third annual World Affairs Seminar to be held by the combined history departments of Cranbrook and Kingswood Schools tonight and Friday.

Officials from government embassies in Washington will lecture on the affairs of their own countries and participate in student discussions.

The guest lecturers are expected to give a specific point of view on the policy of the governments they represent. These informal sessions enable the students an opportunity to become more familiar with the world of international relations.

FSBA Factions Attack Officials

Milk Group Asks Two to Answer Accusations of CIO 'Sell-Out'

Two leaders of the Fair Share Bargaining Assn., under fire on charges of attempting to hand the dairy farmer group over to the CIO, have been asked by opposing factions to appear at a South Lyon meeting tonight to defend themselves.

The two are Rolland Bregle of South Lyon, president, and Treasurer Arthur Heslop of Northville, ousted Oakland County representative to the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. sales committee.

The public meeting was demanded by Fair Share representatives elected from various counties, who accuse Bregle of "holding private sessions of his rump parliament."

Some Fair Share members have charged that August Scholle, president of the Michigan CIO Council, wants to control the association for political purposes, although the labor leader states that his offer of $1,000 a month was intended only to "help" the Bregle group.

The Fair Sharers recently led a milk strike in the Detroit area in an effort to raise wholesale milk prices above the standards urged by the Milk Producers Assn.

Heart Attack Claims Sylvan Lake Leader

Frank E. Baldwin, 58, of 1430 Oakwood Ave., Sylvan Lake, died last night of a heart attack in the hospital in Venice, Fla. He had been ill for several days.

Appointed by the City Council of Sylvan Lake to serve the remainder of the unexpired term of Trayton D. Smith who resigned in 1948, Mr. Baldwin was elected in 1948 for the office and was serving his third term at the time of his death.

He was a member of the Elks Lodge, the Pontiac City Club, Sylvan Lake Yacht Club, the Rotary Club and All Saints Episcopal Church.

Mr. Baldwin was born in Tecumseh, Ill. Dec. 13, 1897.

He leaves his wife, Florence; a daughter, Mrs. Wallace Riley and two granddaughters, all of Pontiac.

Funeral service will be held tomorrow. The family has requested that in lieu of flowers, contributions be made to the Venice, Florida Memorial Hospital Fund.

Mrs. George H. Pelland

Mrs. George H. (Velma M.) Pelland, 53, of 209 Clifford St. died yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank Foster in Millington.

She had been ill eight years. Born in Cass City March 26, 1903, she was the daughter of Dugald and Sarah Ashley Livingston. The Pellands were married nine years ago in Mexico.

A resident of Pontiac 25 years, Mrs. Pelland was a member of the Eastern Star, and Novesta Church, Cass City. She attended the Wilson Avenue Methodist Church here.

Besides her husband, she is survived by her son, Robert Livingston of Toledo, Ohio. Also surviving are a brother, D. Gerald Livingston of Drayton Plains and a sister, Mrs. Belle Foster of Millington.

Mrs. Pelland is at the Pursey Funeral Home where service will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday. The Rev. Easton Hazard, her pastor, will officiate with burial in Novesta Cemetery, Cass City. Friends may call at the funeral home after 6 o'clock this evening.

Dewy-Eyed Grace Takes Nuptial Vows

the steps of the cathedral as trumpets flourished and two photographic helicopters fought for space right over the cathedral square.

She was given in marriage by her father, John B. Kelly, wealthy Philadelphia contractor. He wore evening dress.

The father and his beautiful daughter moved down the aisle to the altar first. Then Grace stood alone as the procession of the Prince walked slowly to the altar among the bejeveled audience.

SEEMS NERVOUS

Grace did not turn her head backward but some of her composure appeared to be deserting her as she came to the altar. She clasped and unclasped her hands, and seemed striving to hold back a flood of tears.

She kept blinking her eyes—noticeably dark-ringed as if she had spent a sleepless night—as the bishop delivered the allocation.

When Mass began Grace stared intently at the ring on her finger and placed the other hand affectionately over it and rubbed the ring for good luck.

The pontiff's message was read first in French, then repeated in English. Grace perked up when she heard the words in her own language.

The papal legate delivered a special benediction as the couple knelt before him. Grace and Rainier crossed themselves, then rose to shake hands with Msgr. Marella.

RAINIER SMILES

For the first time Rainier broke into a broad smile. But this vanished as he turned to march up the aisle with Grace on his right arm.

His lips were tightly together as he walked up the aisle. Grace, looking grave, glanced slowly from time to time to left and right.

When Grace and Rainier reached the cathedral door they walked into the glaring Mediterranean sunshine.

Both then broke into smiles, as bugles blew and bells pealed happily.

The two walked down the steps of the cathedral 25 yards to an open car and passed the honor guards who smartly presented arms.

Surrounded by a noisy motorcycle escort, the couple's open car moved slowly between lanes of cheering Monagasques who hope Grace will provide an heir to Monaco and save the little land from being annexed by France.

PRINCE ON EDGE

The bridegroom, who was ushered into the cathedral with a flourish of trumpets that was almost drowned out by the flapping of two helicopters above, appeared on edge during the entire ordeal.

Rainier, standing by his slim young bride, wore a black Napoleonic uniform coat with gold epaulettes and sky blue trousers with wide gold stripes. Over his shoulder and across his chest was a sash of the Order of St. Charles.

He carried in his hand a helmet marked with the tricolors. The helmet was crowned with red and white plumes.

The Prince designed his own uniform. The design took into consideration his loss of weight because of a diet and the strain of attending to almost every particular of this tiny never-never land on the Mediterranean coast.

Princess Grace of Monaco gave her bridal bouquet to the patron saint of her new country this afternoon. It was her first official act as her serene highness and wife of Prince Rainier III.

RADIANT PRINCESS

The radiant lovely new princess was smiling happily as she drove amid the cheers of her people to the tiny Chapel of St. Devote, patron saint of the principality.

The Prince stood to one side as the princess knelt in her graceful wedding gown and prayed. Then Grace placed a spray of lilies-of-the-valley at the feet of the statue.

The honeymoon trip will start aboard the royal yacht "Deo Juvante II"—a cruise of about a month's duration during which Rainier and Grace will be received by Pope Pius XII in a special audience.

Then they'll come back to this little land of some 28,000 people ruled over by a man with 600 years of history behind him and by a beautiful 26-year-old screen star whose father was once a Philadelphia bricklayer.

No question about it. Grace Kelly, by her beauty and poise as compared to the nervous, peevish uncertainty her swain shows in public, has given the populace of this semi-microscopic nation a new pride in its leadership.

In Paris, crowds jammed sidewalks in front of television shops to watch the wedding.

The crowds spilled onto roadways, blocking traffic, as they followed the religious ceremony. Many women, old and young, wept openly, and some exclaimed: "Oh, how beautiful she is!"

Reds Sanction World Agency

Nuclear Material Pools Ratified by 12 Nations at U.N. Conference

WASHINGTON — Diplomats credited Russia with another strong bid for international good will today in its agreement to join the Western powers in setting up a worldwide atoms-for-peace agency.

A 12-nation conference, including the Soviet Union and the United States, agreed last night on a charter for the proposed new organization which would function under the general sponsorship of the United Nations.

The agreement was announced by the State Department after a series of meetings which began Feb. 27.

The action appears to assure creation of a project initiated by President Eisenhower in December 1953. He called for an international atoms-for-peace pool which would spread the benefits of peaceful atomic power over the world.

POOL ATOM MATERIALS

In essence the organization is designed to pool contributed atomic materials from the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada primarily, and make them available to applicant countries which lack the knowledge and industrial resources for producing their own atomic fuels.

In the consulting countries the fuels will be "burned" in atomic furnaces to produce electric power and thereby raise the industrial level and living standards.

Russia for more than a year and a half refused to cooperate and the Western powers went ahead on their own. At the Geneva summit conference last July Premier Nikoiz Bulganin told Eisenhower Russia would contribute fissionable material if an agency was set up.

AGENCY MACHINERY

The machinery provided by the charter for the new atomic agency consists essentially of:

1. A 23-nation board of governors with power to make decisions needed to develop and promote the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

2. A director general to be selected by the board and to serve as executive head of operations.

3. A staff of scientists, inspectors and others to conduct operations, provide technical advice to recipient countries and make certain that dangerous materials do not fall into unscrupulous hands.

4. A relationship with the U.N. to be worked out in detail by the board. It is understood the agency would report to the General Assembly and the Security Council but would not be subject to direct operations control.

The 10 nations which participated in the Washington talks in addition to the United States and Russia, are Britain, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Czechoslovakia, France, India, Portugal and South Africa.

Eden and his top advisers were politely but firmly holding to a "deeds not words" attitude toward the Communist visitors.

The official conference agenda included such problems as German reunification, disarmament and the Middle East.

American officials remain highly skeptical of Soviet aims in these maneuvers, but they concede they have wide appeal for millions of people.

The Day in Birmingham

Arthur Blakeslee Elected New C. of C. President

BIRMINGHAM — Arthur F. Blakeslee became new president of Birmingham's Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting last night at Devon Gables.

Blakeslee is manager of the Consumers Power branch office here.

Election was by members, including newcomers announced at the meeting. They are Russell M. Downey, general manager of the Wilson Pontiac-Cadillac agency; Aaron Kershenbaum, vice president of Kay Baum's, and Arthur Lake, partner in Lake Jewelers.

A talk by Calvin Patterson, vice president of Michigan Bell Telephone Company, pointed out civic responsibilities of modern business to the 165 present.

Promoting Birmingham as a shopping center, issuing a new booklet on the city, and supporting civic projects, are among plans to be studied by the members at a future meeting.

Seek to Expand School Program

Bloomfield Hills Orders Cost Study on Summer Stepped-Up Classes

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A plan for an expanded summer school program was considered by the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education Tuesday night, and a cost study was requested by the board.

The increased program might be financed by tuitions, board members were told.

The Wing Lake recreation program would be expanded over the entire district, and "enrichment" classes to give advanced classwork to above-average students are included.

High school typing would be offered, as well as making summer chorus and instrumental music as a part of a stepped-up year round program.

The school's newly approved budget calls for $38,220, with $35,000 for teachers.

New pay schedule is from $4,200 for beginners to $6,600 for top-pay teachers with BA degrees, and $4,400 to $6,800 for MA teachers.

Most contracts have been signed by the 75-teacher staff, with three resigning. Two teachers will be returning next year after teaching in Holland and Japan, and another after a year's European travel.

About 22 teachers will be hired for newly formed classes. Hickory Grove School Board will meet with the Bloomfield Hills board on Tuesday to talk over mutual problems.

Sale at Cranbrook to Augment Fund

Cranbrook Academy's Scholarship Fund will benefit from two weekend sales of weaving work to begin Saturday at the school's art galleries. It was announced today. Sales will be held both Saturday and Sunday and again the weekend of April 28-29.

The weavings to be on sale will be donated by Department Head Marianne Strengell. Among the materials will be chair-lengths of upholstery fabrics, lengths for pillows and hassocks, place mats for trays and tables.

The sale will take place from 2 to 5 p.m. on the four days with the south gallery booths to be manned by student volunteers from the weaving department.

Planning Board members will go to Kingsley Inn next Tuesday to discuss zoning problems with Troy Township planners. The informal session will not be restricted in topic.

The Birmingham Board's monthly business session will be Wednesday. It was postponed from last Tuesday because a quorum was not present.

Salary increase for the maintenance group at Birmingham schools is being studied by Assistant Superintendent Norman Wolfe. A committee of four asked wage increases at the Board of Education meeting this week.

Police are investigating the theft this week of two wheels and whitewall tires from cars parked at the Schutz Motors lot on Adams street. The cars were jacked up for the removals, police said.

An outing is planned for the seventh and eighth graders who have been attending the Friday youth programs at the Community House. Boys and girls are asked to bring lunches and come to the Sprigdale Park shelter at 5:30 p.m. Friday. Adult sponsors will provide sports equipment.

Holy Name Altar Society's new officers will preside at the annual May breakfast at Devon Gables May 2. About 400 tickets are expected to be sold.

President is Mrs. Thomas A. Griffith. Vice president is Mrs. Bard Zimmerman; second vice president, Mrs. C. J. Link, and third vice president, Mrs. Myrtle Pratt. Recording secretary is Mrs. Richard O'Reilly, corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. F. Boening; and treasurer, Mrs. Charles Duffy.

Wayne Prosecutor Pays $120 on Drunk Charge

DETROIT — Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Martin Paulmo, 64, was convicted yesterday while driving, police said, in the case of drunk driving. He was fined $100 and $20 costs by John L. highway.

Mokersky, Dearborn Township Justice of the Peace

Paulmo's attorney said the decision would be appealed. Paulmo was arrested March 14 while driving, police said, in the case of drunk driving. He was fined $100 and $20 costs by John L. highway.

BEACONS OF WELCOME — Four beacons, together generating almost two billion candle power of light, are being installed atop New York's Empire State Building, and this sketch shows how they will look up there. They will be placed 1,092 feet above 5th Avenue and 34th Street. Engineers say they will be visible from the air as far away as Boston and Baltimore. Persons on the ground up to 80 miles away will be able to see the beacons, which will cost some $250,000.

Copper Theft Gang Jailed in Dickinson

IRON MOUNTAIN — Seven persons, including four teenagers, were held today in connection with the theft of $2,344 worth of copper tubing from the Kingsford Chemical Co. plant in Iron Mountain.

An eighth, Art Solom of Aurora, Wis., was arraigned yesterday at Florence, Wis., on a charge of receiving stolen property. He was bound over to circuit court on $2,000 bond.

Sheriff's officers from Iron Mountain and Florence said they found a large amount of copper tubing hidden in the attic of

Cockfight Memory Inhabits Her Nightmares

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK (INS)—A nightmare can come from nerves, worry, a lumpy mattress or cheese and crackers at midnight. This is a briefly uncomfortable nightmare, understandable, and forgettable.

What is ridiculous in the way of nightmares is the kind that comes from a photograph on your memory. If you go out and observe a slice of life that is going to pop up ever after in your darkest dreams—well, this is sheer "lunacy."

That's what I did in Cuba a few days ago. Purposely, and believing myself to be of sound mind, I witnessed a cockfight.

My dreams have ranged from queasy to quaking ever since, and every morning I wake up with the unmistakable stab of a spur in my spine; for the miserable spectacle is still with me.

It is held, this small-time version of death in the afternoon, within a fence enclosure on rich, brown dirt. The cocks are exquisite, colorful examples of birdhood—scarlet and black and white—and they are lowered into the enclosure (called the pit) in glass cages.

A rumble of approval goes through the crowd of lusty men jammed behind the fence. They have paid two dollars apiece to get into this tent-like arena, and they have bet among themselves on the cock they figure to win. The odds are decided by the cocks' size and weight and physical condition.

Suddenly a voice barks "pit cocks!" and the beautiful birds are released from their cages and lunge together. They meet head-on 6 feet high in the air, and fall to earth amid a crackle of wings and snowfall of feathers and ecstatic screaming of bettors.

Now the prelude is over and the slaughter begins. With their natural spurs augmented by sharp plastic spurs, the game cocks pounce on one another, clawing and jabbing, their instinct to kill.

To watch the almost maniacally excited eyes of the watchers, one would suspect that they, too, had the instinct to kill. But knowing the consequences enforced by society, they unburden their unlawful desires in the small, whirling form of the fierce bird they have invested their faith and pesos in. Sometimes a fight is over in a rush. One bird, critically pierced by a spur, drops over abruptly and the proud winner crows lustily.

SLOW, AGONIZING

Other times it is slow and agonizing, and the audience grows bored.

To millions of people, this is a "sport." Begun probably in Tibet, it is practiced all over the world, even in the U. S., where it is against the law but said to be the best illegal fun available in almost every state.

It's a strange and frightening thought, how some people consider irrevocable death a pleasure to watch.

One man's meat is another man's nightmare, however. As my escort to the cockfight advised: "Live and let die."

St. Louis Police Get Plastic Rain Suits

ST. LOUIS — Waterproof plastic jackets and trousers are replacing rubber raincoats as the wet-weather uniform of St. Louis' 100 traffic policemen, who must stand outside—whatever the weather—and direct the flow of cars and pedestrians. The two-piece suits are said to permit more freedom of movement than raincoats, give more protection to the lower legs, and have tiny pores in the material that keep the wearer cooler.

Motorists Ticked Pink With Parking Tickets?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Erring Oklahoma City motorists are actually tickled to get pink traffic tickets, says Police Chief Roy Bergman.

"It's uncanny," he said. "I'm getting hundreds of letters from fine-paying motorists who actually laud the policeman for making the arrest."

"It never happened before. Ordinarily the traffic policeman ranks two rungs lower than the process server on the social ladder."

Cats Hear High Notes

CHICAGO — University of Chicago tests show that cats and men hear equally well between 62½ and 2,000 cycles a second, but beyond that, cats have much better hearing. A cat can hear a 60,000-cycle note; the highest a man can hear is 20,000 cycles.

No Golf Club Can Help Him—He's Up a Tree

DENVER (AP)—There wasn't a club in his bag that could have helped amateur golfer Howard Peck on the ninth hole at Green Gables Country Club yesterday.

Gets Ticket Anyway!

DETROIT (AP)—A car being chased by police went out of control in suburban Lincoln Park Tuesday, skidded, rolled over five times and stopped upside down. The driver, Alexander Pohutski, 36, of Ecorse, climbed from the wreckage and walked a block to Lynn Hospital where he was treated for a cut knee. Police then handed him a ticket citing him for reckless driving.

Math Teachers Turn to Industry; Cause Shortage

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The man in charge of teacher recruitment for Los Angeles city schools warns industry that it is cutting its own throat by attempting to hire the major portion of the nation's mathematicians.

Harmon W. Baldwin's job has become a very real headache because of such competition. He says it is creating a critical shortage of math teachers in the schools.

"Industry," he explains, "is cutting off its source of supply. As long as we can keep good teachers in the classrooms, the kids are going to take math." Baldwin points out it's difficult to complete on even terms with industry and predicts:

"When we no longer can get good teachers, the youngsters are going to avoid math altogether."

Baldwin says the schools offer equivalent starting salaries of about $450 a month, but that this is not sufficient because industry can outbid them when they need the men.

Not 'Gone With Wind'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Police report they are gathering thousands of dollars in valuables scattered by the April 3 tornado here for return to their owners. Officers said everything from watches to guns have been turned in and, whenever possible, identified owners are being notified. Tornado victims will be allowed to go through the collection and identify what they can, police say.

Penicillin Output Shows Sharp Advance

NEW YORK—Twelve years ago, when drug manufacturers first mass-produced penicillin in the United States, production for the year amounted to only 21 billion units, or about 32 pounds. Penicillin production in 1955 exceeded 475 trillion units, or about 725,000 pounds.

Oil Use Sets Record

WASHINGTON—Americans used petroleum products at a record rate of 8,363,000 barrels a day in 1955, an increase of 611,000 barrels over the 1954 daily average. It was the first time domestic demand had averaged more than 8,000,000 barrels a day on an annual basis. Exports averaged 373,000 barrels a day.

Here It Is—the Lowdown on Famed Monaco

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
This is Monaco:
Location — On the Riviera coast of France not far from Italy, surrounded on three sides by France and on the fourth by the Mediterranean.

Size—370 acres, which is a little over half a section and would not make a very big farm.

Population — 20,000 persons, of whom less than 4,000 are citizens. Only way to get to be a citizen is to be born in Monaco and have two ancestors in direct line who were born in Monaco, or be nationalized by decree of the ruler.

Ruler — Prince Rainier III, 32, of the Grimaldi family, which originally was Genoese, 30th of his line to rule Monaco in the seven centuries since his forebears won control. He has 24 titles, is eight times a count, four times a duke and twice a prince.

Army—12 honor guards, 65 military police who guard the palace, plus 120 regular police. There is no draft for citizens. Prince Rainier is colonel of the Monacan army.

The palace — a 120-room, four-towered building standing on a rock overlooking the Mediterranean. It was started as a fortress in 1215. Its awnings are pepper-mint striped in red and white, the national colors.

Taxes — Citizens of Monaco pay no direct taxes. The gambling casino furnishes 10 per cent of the annual three-million-dollar budget and the remainder comes from the government monopoly on cigarettes, matches and the sale of postage stamps. Last year Monaco put out more varieties of postage stamps than the United States. A 1918 treaty with France provides that if Rainier dies without issue, the principality becomes a French protectorate, with its citizens subject to French taxes and the draft.

History — Far back in history, Monaco was a feudal state, its chief asset the granite headland upon which the palace stands, a natural fortress. The first Grimaldi won his way into the fortress in 1297 by posing as a Franciscan monk. He diverted the ruling German lords long enough to permit his followers to enter and capture the fortress. Through brain, brawn and careful marriage, the Grimaldis remained there through the centuries, with the exception of a few years during the French Revolution.

Gambling — In 1861, Prince Rainier's great-grandfather set up the gambling concession at Monte Carlo. He went broke three times but within eight years direct taxes had been abolished and by 1910 the casino was attracting half a million visitors annually, all eager to be the man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo. After World War II, however, the visitors stopped pouring in, rival gambling palaces along the French Riviera cut into the business. Monacan citizens are barred from the gaming tables. Now Aristotele Socrates Onassis, a somewhat mysterious Greek with a 300-million-dollar bankroll from shipping interests, bought into the casino and announced grand plans to restore Monaco to its former splendor as a resort.

The future — Prospects are bright, but not because of Onassis' plans. The tourist business took a brisk upturn as soon as Rainier announced he was marrying Hollywood queen Grace Kelly. And business has stayed good.

Biggest Banquet Slated

GRAND RAPIDS (U.S.)—Members of both houses of Congress and the Legislature are expected at the biggest banquet in Grand Rapids' history April 28. The affair is the 21st annual convention of the Michigan Credit Union League. Some 2,500 delegates and guests are expected.

To Auction 'Dope' Autos

DETROIT (INS)—Twenty automobiles seized in raids on Detroit numbers and narcotics peddlers will be auctioned next week at the police auto pond.

Coat-of-Arms Shields Depict Paint Pots

FRANKFURT — The German Painters and Varnishers Guild during the 15th Century used a coat of arms that was "a half-round red shield, three silver half-round escutcheons, a crowned helmet with visor, silver and red mantling, and the crest, a virgin holding the attire of a stag, horns, and crown alternating in red and green." Art critics explain that the three little shields were there to depict paint pots.

Hangs by Fingertips

DETROIT (U.S.)—For almost five minutes Tuesday Charles Wiggins, 23-year-old father of three, hung by his fingertips from a fifth floor apartment window before occupants of an apartment one story below pulled him to safety. The brief drama was viewed by some 500 school children at Bishop Elementary School across the street. Police took Wiggins to a hospital for observation.

House Criticizes Wilson Actions

Operations Committee Says Defense Secretary Only 'Talks' Economy

WASHINGTON (INS)—A House "Watchdog" Committee charged today that Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson talked economy but continued wasteful practices in the Pentagon's multi-billion dollar food and clothing procurement program.

The Government Operations Committee approved a disputed report which accuses Wilson and civilian aides of failing to follow the wishes of Congress for a unified buying system.

The report is the upshot of charges made by a Hoover Commission task force more than a year ago that the Navy had such things as a 60-year supply of hamburgers and almost as much catsup on hand.

Committee Republicans dissented from the committee report and were preparing their own views on the matter.

The report says: "The record indicates that while Secretary Wilson and his aides were pursuing one course of action, they have steadfastly maintained that they have been pursuing another."

The majority report commented: "The failure of the top civilian officials of the Department of Defense to use the authority granted to them by Congress is a matter of deepest concern to the people of the country and to the Congress."

New Members Taken in Moose in Ceremonies

Twenty-one new members were initiated into the Loyal Order of Moose No. 182 during recent ceremonies at the Moose Hall on Mt. Clemens Street. An election of officers was also held with installations planned April 29 at 3 p.m.

The Pontiac ritual team officiated at the initiations with pilgrim member William J. Mahar, past governor and secretary of 182, speaking. Some 150 members and their wives attended the dinner and dancing.

John Graham Trial to Have Jury Soon

DENVER (INS)—The fourth day of the John Gilbert Graham murder trial opens today with the prospect that a jury may be obtained by nightfall.

Graham, 24, once-convicted forger, is charged with murdering his mother, Mrs. Daisy E. King, 55, by placing a time-bomb in her suitcase last Nov. 1 which exploded in a United Air Lines mainliner 11 minutes after it took off from Denver. Forty-three other persons perished in the tragedy.

In the jury box, tentatively accepted as jurors, were seven men and women. Both prosecution and defense have run out of challenges "for cause." Both sides were at the point where they have each exercised four of their fifteen peremptory challenges.

They can go on until all fifteen peremptory challenges are exhausted, or they can stop before that stage is reached and announce "jury acceptable."

Constable Misses Draft for the Time Being

DIXON, Ky. (INS)—Dixon's 27-year-old constable won't be reporting for Army induction today. Hayden Townsend's attorney obtained a temporary order from the Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati restraining Webster County's draft board from drafting Townsend pending appeal from a Federal Court decision at Louisville.

Father of two children, Townsend has filed suit asking Federal Court to order the board to reclassify him. But Judge Roy M. Shelbourne ruled the court could do nothing about reclassification.

Blue Lights Flash in Cemetery

Nope, No Ghosts Yet—But It's Still Quite Eerie

SILVER CLIFF, Colo. (INS)—Seen any ghosts lately? Neither have the 217 residents of this southern Colorado mining town. But many of them claim to have seen the next best thing. They're eerie blue lights, about the size of baseballs, that dance furtively each night in Silver Cliff's old cemetery, one-half-mile south of town.

An unidentified passer-by first reported the mysterious ghost lights April 6. Intrigued by his story, crowds of curious residents have swarmed to the cemetery each night since then. And they've not been disappointed. "You can see 'em every night," said Ray De Wall, publisher of the Wet Mountain Tribune at Westcliffe, one mile west of here. "Last Saturday night, there were at least 50 people in the cemetery, and every one saw the lights. Some of us have tried to catch them, but as we approached, they suddenly would disappear, only to show up farther ahead in some other part of the cemetery."

He said the lights appear bluish in color, and seem to pulsate and move slowly about.

"The noticeable thing is that they hover about the tops of the tombstones. Depending on how tall the tombstones are, I've seen them near the ground and up to head-high."

He said "everyone has his pet idea." Among them, he said, are these:

Reflection from stars, but the lights have been seen on cloudy, overcast nights.

Reflection from mercury vapor lights in Westcliffe, a mile away. But "some old-timers down here tell us now that they've seen the lights in the cemetery long before the streetlights were installed."

Geiger counters showed nothing. De Wall said the strange lights make no noise.

"Nobody will admit to being scared," he said, "but one thing I've noticed about them when they visit the cemetery. They all go in a bunch."

Boom in Aluminum Changing Pattern of Living in Homes Throughout U. S.

IMPACT OF ALUMINUM — The face of America is changing. This New York skyscraper has an aluminum 'skin.'

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Want to see a revolution? Look in your freezer. Inspect a new house. Check your new car. Notice the office building going up downtown.

You won't have to look hard to see a revolution in American living being caused by light, shiny aluminum.

Aluminum production has doubled during each 10-year period since 1900 to become second in metals only to iron and steel. There's no end in sight to its expansion.

Hottest current boom is in aluminum food packages. A wide range of frozen foods and whole meals sold in aluminum containers which also serve as the cooking pan, are on the market.

A big section of the fishing in-

His 'Valuable' Gem Proves Worthless

CAPETOWN — Thinking it was worth about $110,000 dollars, Major A. J. Hilton, Northern Rhodesia mine owner, paid $280 in Burma for an "emerald" in wartime, Que Quo reports.

He insured it for $70,000. It weighed between 500 and 700 carats and was twice the size of a matchbox. Recently he had it examined in England. The verdict: "Stone not worth a penny."

Haircuts Now Costing 34 Cents—in Belfast

BELFAST—Haircuts have gone up about five cents in price here in Northern Ireland. This brings them to 28 cents to 34 cents in the more expensive downtown section.

A $1.40-a-week wage raise for barbers brought about the change. At the same time word was received from the United States that prices of haircuts were being increased 25 cents, from $1.25 to $1.50.

Housing Boom Grows

WASHINGTON, D. C. (INS) — Final figures are now coming in on last year's phenomenal housing boom which swept virtually every section of the country. In a round-up, the Commerce Department says Americans spent more money — nearly 15 billion dollars — on new housing than ever before although the output fell short of setting an all time record.

dustry is shifting to aluminum cans. It has now been established that aluminum does not cause vitamin C to deteriorate.

The building business is the biggest user of aluminum and fastest to expand its use of the light metal. Today there are 70 "skyscrapers" and 400 major office buildings under construction which will have aluminum "skin" or "curtain walls."

HOMES BENEFIT

In homes aluminum screens, trim, gutters, furniture, screen doors and awnings and blinds are also enjoying immense popularity. About 40 per cent of all window frames made today are aluminum. For many years high tension transmission lines have been aluminum. Newest advance is in the use of aluminum low-tension transmission lines, including home wiring. Telephone lines are beginning to be made of aluminum.

Last year enough aluminum pipe for irrigation systems was made to reach halfway around the world. This was an increase of 25 per cent.

In auto and train manufacturing aluminum is booming. Last year the average car had 30 pounds of aluminum in trim and motor parts. The 1956 models average 50 pounds. By 1960 they will carry 200 pounds, car makers claim. Aluminum motor blocks are coming soon.

NEW TRAINS

Lightweight aluminum rail equipment such as the Aerotrain and Train X are the hope of the railroad passenger industry. The aircraft industry demand will continue high.

Aluminum's light weight, resistance to corrosion, workability and stable price are its chief advantages. It is selling today at only 15 per cent above its average price in 1939. In the same period prices of competing metals soared. Copper prices jumped 300 per cent; lead, 200 per cent; zinc, 130 per cent; tin, 90 per cent; and steel billets, 125 per cent.

Aluminum is the most abundant of all metallic elements in the earth's crust. But it wasn't until 1824 that the first batch was produced. Making aluminum is a complicated process requiring huge amounts of electricity.

From 1945 to 1955 the number

'Jews Here to Stay,' Adlai Says to Arabs

HARRISBURG, Pa. (U) — Adlai Stevenson says the United States should "make it clear to the Arabs that Israel is here to stay."

Stevenson made his statement last night in a rally at Pittsburgh as he carried his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination into Pennsylvania.

Stevenson, referring to the Republican campaign slogan of "peace and prosperity," said "the peace is but an uneasy truce and the prosperity has failed countless small business."

His is the only name that will appear on the Democratic ballot in the state's April 24 presidential primary. He has the support of Gov. George M. Leader and other top state Democrats.

Will Perform Autopsy on Tot

Post Mortem Ordered on Well-Covered Body of Indiana Child

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (U) — An autopsy was ordered yesterday on the body of a well-covered 3½-year-old boy who toppled from a chair at the home of a great-grandmother Tuesday night and died.

Deputy Coroner F. Dale Nelson said he found welts and black and blue places on the body and cuts on the face and head of little Billy Lee Tribbey, whose parents are divorced.

Police sought for questioning the child's mother, Mrs. Viola Tribbey, 23, who police said quit her job as a drug store clerk last Friday and left with a male friend, William Lindsey, 42.

Mrs. Tribbey, Billy and two other Tribbey children, Dennis Paul, 2, and Mary Jo, 3, had been living with Mrs. Tribbey's grandmother, Mrs. Ida May Bolenbacher, 75, since her divorce six months ago.

Nelson said Dennis and Mary Jo also showed marks of beatings and were released to their father, Paul Tribbey Jr., of Lakeville, Ind., after being examined.

Nelson said Mrs. Bolenbacher told him Mrs. Tribbey and Lindsey, who had been living at the house, returned Friday evening and announced they were leaving.

An argument followed, and Mrs. Tribbey and Lindsey "cuffed the three children around," Mrs. Bolenbacher said.

Treasure Island Found

NUEVO GERONA, Isle of Pines — The Isle of Pines, off the southern coast of Cuba, was the locale for Robert Louis Stevenson's famous yarn about buried pirate gold, "Treasure Island." Columbus discovered the island and named it Evangelista. Its pine forests inspired its present name. Many kinds of fine marble are quarried on the island, which is noted for its fine climate.

Exercise Helps Heart Victims

Latest Research Shows Stimulation Can Avert Continued Attacks

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS)—A scientist reported today new evidence suggesting that exercise may help avert a heart attack—or reduce its death-dealing power.

Dr. Richard Eckstein, assistant professor of medicine at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, said exercise apparently stimulated the opening of new pipelines for blood into the heart muscle after the heart's main pipeline—the coronary arteries—have begun to narrow.

Such narrowing, even when it is not extensive, might be the beginning of the process that ends with a blocking of the coronary artery and death of a piece of heart muscle—in other words, a heart attack.

If the result in dog experiments holds true for humans, exercise-like golf for example—might give a man with early coronary disease built-in protection against a subsequent heart attack.

STUDY ON DOGS

The scientist emphasized that, the dog experiments can not show, for humans, how much exercise would be beneficial and how much might overwork a heart with an already damaged blood supply.

In a report to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology Dr. Eckstein said he operated on dogs and narrowed one of their coronary arteries surgically. In humans, this narrowing can occur as a result of disease.

Half of these animals were exercised on a treadmill at regular intervals from five to eight weeks, but the rest were permitted no exercise.

Beaver Island Votes 'No'
CHARLEVOIX (INS)—Nearby Beaver Island residents rejected a $33,000 bond issue for a new school building at a special election Monday. Voters turned down the proposed 15-mill tax limitation by a vote of 49 to 39 and the bond issue was shelved, 48 to 34.

Meet the Professor
EAST LANSING (INS)—Four Michigan State University students received an unscheduled lecture from one of their professors. The four found that Adrian Jaffe, assistant professor of English at MSU, is also Meridian Township Justice of the Peace when they appeared on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. They were fined as well as lectured.

Honesty Does Pay
PONCA CITY, Okla. (INS)—When Robert West, a junior high school student found a billfold on his way to school, he walked back five blocks to give it to his mother so she could return it to the owner while he was attending school. The next evening he entered a drug store and found a roll of bills—$27. The owner came back to the store in a few minutes to claim the money. The boy's reward for honesty? Six dollars.

Grosse Pointe Challenging '55 Michigan Election Law

LANSING — The city of Grosse Pointe has challenged the effect there of a 1955 state law requiring a reduction in the size of many Michigan election precincts.

Thus far, the city's officials have refused to comply, raising the issue whether the state should invoke another new provision in the election laws directing it to step in and redraw voting territories at local expense.

Although the deadline for compliance was April 9, Robert M. Montgomery, state director of elections for Secretary of State James M. Hare, has not yet invoked this new power of his office.

Instead, Montgomery has persuaded Hare to ask for an attorney general's opinion in hopes of effecting a more amicable settlement.

Grosse Pointe has about 4,700 registered voters, all included in one precinct which maintains a single polling place on election day.

PAPER BALLOTS RESTRICTED
Under the new law, paper ballot precincts no longer may serve more than 800 registered voters. The maximum for voting machine precincts is 1,400, provided there is one voting machine available for each 600 voters, or fraction of that number.

In response to the new law's provisions, precincts by the hundreds throughout the state have been divided in recent months, or have switched from the paper ballot method to voting machines in order to keep from dividing and yet stay within the law.

The full effect of the revisions cannot be accurately measured until reports from the state's 83 county clerks are received and compiled in Lansing. Some of these already have come in.

The county clerks had until today to make reports of any precincts not divided according to law, but several of them have indicated they will be unable to supply the required information for another few days.

Montgomery said the Detroit suburb is the only community in the state thus far to question the precinct division standards.

Unveil Rescue Truck for Civil Defense Use

Standardization of a new Willys light-duty rescue truck for use by state and local civil defense agencies has been announced by Willys Motors and the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Highly-maneuverable, the vehicle is equipped with four-wheel drive and a front-mounted, 6,000-pound capacity winch operated from a power takeoff. It is designed to carry various items of emergency equipment, including stretchers and medical supplies.

Under the federal contributions purchase program, defense agencies will be able to obtain national funds amounting to 50 per cent of the truck's purchase price.

OVERFLOW CONDITION — The urgent need for the $3,000,000 addition to Pontiac General Hospital is readily visible in this photograph. The hospital has been forced to put beds in many of the corridors because of the crowded condition. The city hospital now has 198 beds. The addition is expected to result in a total of 345.

EVEN THE CHILDREN — Even the children are forced into the halls at Pontiac General Hospital because of the overcrowded condition which has forced the hospital to put beds and bassinetts in many halls except in the maternity ward. The hospital has set up 198 beds to handle a daily census of 218 patients according to 1935 figures.

Aussies Study Remote Waters

Gulf of Carpentaria Tides to Receive Major Emphasis in Survey

WASHINGTON — A study by Australian scientists of the unpredictable tides in the Gulf of Carpentaria will shed new light on one of the world's least-known major bodies of water.

The gulf cuts deeply into the northern coast of Australia, with Arnhem Land on the west and Cape York Peninsula on the east, says the National Geographic Society. It is 420 miles wide from Cape York to Cape Arnhem and 400 miles in length, almost one-third the size of the Gulf of Mexico.

Besides unstable tides, generally shallow water and many shoals make navigation dangerous in the Carpentaria Gulf. Its shoreline ranges from flat, miles-wide marshes to rocky granite cliffs. Mariners are warned by shipping authorities that some of the island-dotted coasts are still uncharted.

Plankton—tiny plant and animal life—swarms in gulf waters, giving off a vivid phosphorescent glow. At night, waves and ripples are marked with rainbow colors, pink, blue and yellow.

DWARF TEXAS

The surrounding gulf country is literally the edge of civilization—Australia's wildest frontier. It is inhabited by primitive aborigines and beasts only an occasional lonely cattle ranch or mission. Cattle "stations" dwarf even those of Texas. Some encompass many hundreds of square miles.

Gulf rivers are full of edible fish and game abounds in the nearby jungles. A scientific expedition to Arnhem Land in 1948, sponsored by the National Geographic Society, the Smithsonian Institution and the Australian government, brought back a collection of more than 10,000 fish, 350 birds and 400 mammals.

Crocodiles infest the rivers. "Whenever I went to the water's edge to get a drink," said one British anthropologist-explorer, "the porters would have to throw in logs and stones to keep them away."

The aborigines of the gulf country live in a Stone-Age existence. The men are short, averaging five feet, six inches. They have phenomenal skill as spear-men. Using a "woomera," or throwing stick, they can make accurate casts of more than 100 yards.

Easier-to-Use Meats Gain in Popularity

CHICAGO—Only a third of all the bacon sold in the nation was retailed in sliced form a decade ago. Now about three fourths of it is sold sliced.

The increased demand for easier-to-use meats is also reflected in sales of canned hams. Before 1948 such hams were insignificant in volume. That year about 10 per cent of ham production was canned. The figure now is nearing 20 per cent.

Did They Burn Up?

MALDEN, Mass. (P) — Gunmen who "cashed" the variety store of Samuel Cohen, 67, for more than a week decided he kept his money in a cigar box. "Give us that cigar box on the shelf," they ordered, Cohen complied. The box contained a half dozen cigars.

The robbers weren't aware that Cohen frequently changed the hiding place of his money.

Italy Called 'Paradise' by American Businessmen

ROME (INS)—Italy today was painted as a sunny paradise where American businessmen can "live longer, make more money, and work less hours" than in the United States.

An Italian official put it this way: "For the tired American businessman, Italy is better than California or Florida. The climate is mild, the taxes are even milder."

The official who is working on plans to attract foreign—and particularly American—capital to Italy, listed a number of his country's economic advantages:

1. Italy is riding the crest of an economic upswing. Gross incomes increased seven per cent last year, five per cent during the previous year.

2. Italy has vast undeveloped resources. Some oil has been found in the south, more is expected. There are also indications of uranium, coal and other mineral deposits.

3. In the south there is a fertile field for developing citrus fruit and vegetable production in conjunction with canning and frozen food industries that could be established. Wheat and cotton has been grown successfully, and dairy and meat production offers good potentials.

4. Labor is cheap, Italian workers are clever, amenable. And to clinch his sales argument, the official brought up two added inducements for the American investor. The recently passed law permitting foreign investors to re-export their profits and capital at will and the fact that Italy's tax is nominally a flat 32 per cent of profits.

WORDS OF CAUTION

But foreign businessmen now operating in Italy had words of caution for enthusiastic businessmen who would rush into this paradise of profits and pizza-pies.

"On the books, Italy's capital levy of 32 per cent looks a lot better than America's 52 per cent corporation tax," an industrialist explained. "But when it comes down to brass tacks, it's a different picture."

The picture changes, the industrialist said, because Italian revenue agents can make it change at will. Under local regulations, agents have a wide latitude in determining taxable profits of a company or an individual. They often dis-low important cost figures by saying that these costs were incurred as the result of a company's "bad judgment."

In addition, there are a number of additional taxes, such as those levied by local government-sponsored Chambers of Commerce, a three per cent transaction tax, and a number of hidden duties that appear at various distribution levels.

Record Tobacco Crop

BUENOS AIRES — Argentina produced a record 91,000,000 pounds of tobacco from 99,132 acres in the 1956 season compared with 67,000,000 pounds from 84,733 acres in 1955.

Warns Dems on Segregation

Humphrey Says Party Can't Ignore, Rebuke Integration Decision

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today the Democratic party can't afford to go to the voters with a 1956 platform that "ignores or rebukes" the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

Humphrey, who has taken a leading role in past convention fights for adoption of strong civil rights planks, will participate in a two-day Democratic rally opening here tomorrow.

The conference schedule calls only for informal discussion of campaign issues and leaders obviously hoped to avoid any public debate now on the civil rights question, with its threat to party unity.

But Humphrey said he thinks the party's presidential nominating platform will have to express "concurrence in and support of the Supreme Court's decision and the court's implementation of the integration order."

"That doesn't include any congressional or executive action on the issue," he said. "My position is that the court has taken jurisdiction and that it can and will gain compliance with its order."

Some Southerners have made it clear that if the platform calls for White House enforcement of the court's order, or a candidate is nominated who pledges such action, they might walk out of the August convention in Chicago. Humphrey seemed to be stopping short of such a declaration.

CRUCIFIX FOUND—In Lisbon, Portugal, this crucifix has been found in the former royal palace by Augusto Cardoso Pinto, curator at the Lisbon Coach Museum. Standing 6 feet 9 inches high, the silver processional crucifix was made by English silversmiths for Catherine of Braganza at the time of her marriage to King Charles II in 1664.

UM Doctor Awarded Top Medical Honor

LOS ANGELES (U)—The Alfred Stengel Memorial Award, highest honor of the American College of Physicians, was awarded last night to Dr. Cyrus C. Sturgis of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Dr. Sturgis, director of the department of internal medicine at the University of Michigan, received the award at the physicians' annual convocation. An authority on blood diseases, he is a past president of the college and established its Latin American fellowship program.

Salesmen Top Buyers of Autos in Canada

TORONTO (U)—Housewives have become one of the major groups of automobile buyers in Canada, according to a survey conducted by Chrysler Corp. of Canada.

The study, based on the company's sales in the first four months of the year, showed salesmen bought more cars than any other category. Next in order were taxicab operators, corporation purchases for employees, laborers and workmen, farmers, merchants, managers, housewives, clerks and contractors.

New Uniforms Now

PORT HURON (U)—The 30-man St. Clair County sheriff's department has been equipped with new uniforms featuring army type jackets and trousers in dark brown and fawn. It is believed the first department in the state to be outfitted in the uniform adopted recently by the Michigan Sheriffs Assn.

Princess and Rainier Speak Vows in Cathedral Rite Today

PENSIVE BRIDE — American film queen Grace Kelly presented this serious-faced study as she posed for pictures in throne room of Monaco's royal palace yesterday after the civil wedding to

THEIR HIGHNESSES HOST WEDDING PARTY — Prince Rainier III and his new princess, actress Grace Kelly, wave from terrace of palace at Monaco yesterday afternoon as they hosted garden party for people of Monaco on palace grounds. The event was the first official function as a princess for Grace, who was wed to Rainier yesterday in a palace civil ceremony, and in a church ceremony this morning.

"Vive La Princesse"

Cheers of Subjects Start Couple on Honeymoon Trip

BY JOHN E. LEE

MONTE CARLO (INS)—Princess Grace received the homage and heard cheers of "Vive La Princesse" from her new subjects today as she stood by the side of her prince at a window of the Monacan Palace.

The cheering had followed her from the cathedral where she wed Prince Rainier III and on the procession through the tiny streets of the mountaintop principality.

The new princess leaned out of the palace window and waved and smiled directly at one group among the people packed in the palace square.

After about 50 seconds, the princess and Rainier turned to leave. The crowd howled, waved hats and shook their handkerchiefs, so the two returned for ten more seconds.

They had come to the window in answer to a yell started by a group of about 30 American teenagers and college students: "We want Grace!"

The lovely bride appeared completely relaxed, and smiled and waved warmly to the thousands along the route to the palace.

She stepped out of the cathedral into the glaring Mediterranean sunshine on the prince's arm, and broke into a smile as the wind whipped at her veil.

Slowly, the smiling bride and groom walked down the steps to their open Rolls Royce. Escorted by motorcyclists they drove off as bugles sounded and bells rang.

Grace looked proudly and affectionately at Rainier as they settled in the seat of the yellow convertible.

The rest of the procession followed the car down the hill. Grace waved slightly to a newswoman cameraman, but she had to hold her wind-fluttered veil.

She smiled at her new subjects, who had crowded outside the cathedral cheering, waving and applauding. Rainier, too, smiled, but he seemed still self-conscious.

Two helicopters carrying cameramen battled for space in the air directly over the cathedral square.

The couple received the heaviest cheering of their drive as they reached St. Devote Chapel at about noon. Here, Grace and the prince stopped briefly to pray to the patron saint of the principality. Grace left her bridal bouquet at the feet of the statue.

Then the girl from Philadelphia and the scion of the centuries old Grimaldi family rode on amid cheers to the palace.

The crowds fought to get a better look. German hikers in leather shorts, Monegasque schoolchildren, Indians in Saris, and a monocol English lord all pushed, waved and cheered.

Randolph Churchill, among the viewers, said, "I'm very happy it is finally all over, but the bride and groom must be the happiest."

And said screen star Ava Gardner, "She was one of the loveliest brides the world has ever seen."

As they passed through the gates, trumpeters blew a salute to welcome the new princess to her home.

5 Rare Paintings Stolen

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, April 19 (AP)—Monaco's third—and biggest—robbery of the weeklong wedding celebration for Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III was announced today.

Police said five rare paintings valued at more than $85,000 were stolen yesterday afternoon from the home of Dr. S. Mikhael, a wealthy resident of the principality. The home is on the Boulevard DesMoulines, Monaco's equivalent of Park Avenue.

Earlier jewels totaling $55,000 in value were stolen from a wedding guest, Mrs. Matthew McLoughlin of Philadelphia, and from one of the bridesmaids, Mrs. Marce Pamp of Philadelphia.

The most valuable of the paintings was a Rubens portrait, valued at about $70,000. Also stolen were a Rubens portrait of an Apostle, Van Dyck's Deposition of Christ, a Guido Remi of David holding Goliath's head and a portrait of a young girl by John Russell.

Descriptions of the paintings were flashed to police throughout France. Security forces at ports and airfields were asked to keep a close watch.

Kin of Bride Faints

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Mrs. Charles Golt of Westport, Conn., fainted in Monaco cathedral today while her first cousin, Grace Kelly, was being married. She had to be carried out on a stretcher. Mrs. Golt's husband said she had suffered considerable fatigue and nervous strain. Her mother is a sister of Grace's father, John B. Kelly.

WEDDING SCENE IN CATHEDRAL — This was the setting as American film star Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III were married this morning in religious ceremony in Monaco's

HONOR GUARD FOR THE BRIDE — Prince Rainier III and his bride, Grace Kelly, leave Monaco's Cathedral after religious ceremony this morning. Couple passed through honor guard formed by members of the Prince's guard.

Diamonds for Grace, Rolls-Royce for the Prince

(Willie Arlene Francis is reporting the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier wedding. She tells how an American sailor, a jovial Monegasque bartender and a correct Englishman view the nuptials.)

By ARLENE FRANCES

Noted TV and Stage Personality MONTE CARLO (INS)—Fairyland really has moved in on Monte Carlo.

Whoever strung up the lights along the coast and draped a mazzard chandelier on Aristotle Onassis' yacht must have had basic training at Cartier's.

But I wondered how some of the "common people" here felt about the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier wedding.

I asked an American sailor standing next to me on the crowded pier tonight how the boys on board his destroyer felt about the wedding. He said he felt all right. But I had a terrible feeling he wasn't quite sure what wedding I was talking about.

NAVY NOT TALKING

I asked him if the boys minded our beautiful American star becoming throne-bound. He said they didn't mind. I asked him what they all thought of Rainier. He said he didn't think about it much.

Don't worry about our navy. They're not talking.

But I found somebody who would talk.

Joseph, the jovial bartender at the Metropole Hotel whose ancestors were Monegasques way back when Monaco was big enough to rout an English fleet. Joseph speaks pretty good American and loves everybody. He particularly loves the prince whom he has known ever since Rainier was a little boy. Not from the Metropole bar, you understand.

He says everyone in Monte Carlo is overjoyed at the match. There is not a note of dissent, he says.

The prince is a verree happy man and he will make his princess a verree happy woman. I hope they will have many happy children. Joseph is the most lovable bartender I have seen in a long time and I believe he honestly reflects the sentiments of the Monegasques. He assured me that all of us from over the sea had always behaved very well in his bistro—there had been little or no hiccuping despite a preference for double martinis over soft drink.

An Englishman by the name of Mr. Waterhouse—who has had no contact whatsoever with Mr. Prince —gave me his old school tie version of the to-do.

He was here for the express purpose of delivering to the prince a tip-top Rolls-Royce—a silver-top car with English hide upholstery, the most darling present a boy ever found in his stocking.

ONE PRINCESS, NINE CARS

The prince is mad about motors (he stables nine autos) and Waterhouse said Rainier was extremely animated at the presentation of the Rolls by the National Council of Monaco.

Thirty-eight hundred pounds ($10,840) it cost, and that's quite a lot of animation!

A crown and R-G are embossed on the door in exactly the color of freshly-squeezed orange juice. The Rolls (I call it that for short, although it's quite long) has automatic transmission, left-hand drive and no-holds-barred.

It is called "silver cloud." Hi-vo Rainier.

This, you understand, was not a gift for Grace; but it was never intimated in any way she would have to run along side.

Grace was heard to say, and I quote: "It's the loveliest car I've ever seen."

(This made it a little difficult for a Dauphine Renault, a small French car, to be presented later on. I hope this will not cause an international incident.)

Then, continued the observant

Mr. Waterhouse, was Grace's turn. And I might add she took quite a turn.

DIAMONDS FOR GRACE

It was a diamond necklace, diamond bracelet, diamond earrings and a diamond brooch that breaks into two clips.

Sounds like enough light to read by, doesn't it?

Also, something must be said for the practicality of these gifts. They should last a lifetime. Most of my wedding presents are out of fashion now. My marriage isn't. And I hope we will always be able to say the same for theirs.

HARBOR SCENE — The U.S. destroyer Heermann, foreground, is anchored with the French destroyer Kersaint alongside as the British destroyer Dauntless eases into Monaco harbor.

Their cannons boomed 21-gun salutes, one for the Prince and one for Miss Kelly, and were answered by cannons on Rainier's palace battlements.

Bob Considine Says:

Your Suit Was Simply Grand, Buddy, but --

MONTE CARLO (INS) — Opened on one of the gilded little letter to Mr. A. G. Newman of Bristol, England, New York City, and Galveston, Tex.

Dear Gus: Your suit stood up well in the throne room of the palace of Monaco yesterday morning. I was in it. There was no other posture to assume. To have attempted to sit a pair of striped pants go R-R-R-R-P at such a distinguished event? I'll bet not. Hence my wariness about setting a precedent. I stood through all 20 minutes of the sad and strained little ceremony and because I did I commanded a fine view of Grace Kelly trying to catch the eye of what must have been the only man on the face of the earth who didn't want to look at her. It was quite a sight, Gus.

He was made so ill at ease, perhaps by the TV lights or the way the civil wedding dragged, or the knowledge that Grace was turning her head yearningly to him from time to time and swallowing sadly set a record for the little princely where pouts are measured as some lands measure broad jumps and automobile production. But within minutes after he grimly led our frightened-looking Grace out from under gilded gargoyles and the thunderous lightning storm of cameras he was another guy. Cheerful, attentive, attractive, laughing. You see, he was in an apartment below with some people he knew and a drink of good champagne in hand and he was living. Maybe he is just a shy guy who gradually is distressed by the kind of attention he has been getting since he fell in love with a beautiful bricklayer's daughter. Does that sound like I'm saying that Jack Kelly is beautiful? Well, I didn't mean it quite that way but let it stand. He is the kind of fellow any man, prince or not, would look up to as a father-in-law. As I was saying, I stood up because it might have broken up the wedding if I had tried to sit down. Will you let your beautiful Frances feed you a little more before you lend me the suit the next time? It's the least you could do for a friend. I'm not complaining, actually. Jack Kelly took one look at me and said "Cripes, you look like a dude." Nice compliment to our suit, I thought. A BRAVE SUIT I want to thank you also, Gus, for lending me a brave suit. There are, of course, brave suits and chicken suits. The first three comic opera Monegasque guards I approached pulled bayonets on me when I showed them the monochrome. Your Suit Was Grand, but—grammed invitation to be one of three United States reporters in the throne room.

One refugee from the "Chocolate Soldier" marched me and the suit off to an evil little concierge's shack filled with people who wanted to sell Rainier do-it-yourself tattoo sets or something.
"I could hear the suit saying, 'I'm too good for bums like this, get me out of here and march me to the main palace gate.' I obeyed, finding new strength in each step, and called right past them.

They saluted briskly, I stopped, walked right up to the papal nuncio and we entered the throne room arm-in-arm. I hope that's okay with you, you being a wheel in the Church of England.
Again thanks, Gus. Just "one more favor—please cable me" instructions how to take it off, my feet are killing me.
Yours in sport
Bob Considine.

Assistant Eases Theft for Bilking Robbers

OMAHA — Henry Stolley, a welding shop owner, came to police last night to tell them:
Three men came to his business place and told his assistant they wanted to make a purchase. The assistant told the men to see Stolley, absent at the time.
Later the men came back, told the assistant they had talked to Stolley, loaded their truck and departed.
They took three tons of scrap iron.

Williams Begins 'Grassroots' Tour

KALAMAZOO — Top Democratic state officials descended on Kalamazoo today for the start of an "educational tour" regarded by most political observers as the kick-off for the 1956 campaign.
The caravan consists of Gov. Williams, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, Aud. Gen. Victor Targonski, State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown, Sec. of State James M. Hare and Horace W. Gilmore, deputy attorney general subbing for Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh.
Gov. Williams insists the all-day affair is part of a campaign, but more of a "Report to the Democratic state officers elected in 1954."
"The team of state officials which was elected in November 1954 is rounding out its two-year term," Williams said.
"We all feel an obligation to report to the people who elected us and give an account of our stewardship."

WILL MEET HELPERS

Naturally, Williams said, team members will take time out to meet with local Democrats.

The lead-off event was an 8 a.m. civic breakfast presided over by Paul Todd, former Kalamazoo mayor, and attended by Kalamazoo city and county officials. The affair was scheduled to wind up late tonight with a public forum in the Masonic Temple.

Also on the schedule was a 6:30 p.m. television program, which Williams said will be paid for out of personal funds.

The governor and other high-ranking state officials planned to leave the gathering for a flying trip to Grand Rapids, and talks with city officials about another "State Government Day" there April 24.

Williams was also down for an appearance at the Village of Plainwell. The group planned another appearance at the Sutherland Paper Company.

The Governor has explained the Kalamazoo meeting is modeled after the "Minnesota Experiment" to bring state government directly to the people.

If it works out successfully in Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids, he said, the caravan will move on to other communities.

Joe Louis Receives Boost From Solon

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. Alfred D. Sieminski (D-NJ) said today he is trying to find a way to make sure Joe Louis gets a fair count with the government's tax collectors.

The congressman issued a statement noting the former heavyweight boxer's $450,000 debt to the government and said: "He is no great corporation. He has no influential political friends in high-ranking places in the government. He is just Joe Louis, a former world champion."

In some respects, Sieminski said, the government put Louis in his present tax tangle.

Sieminski said he is trying to find a way to help Louis, either by presidential appeal, a treasury decision or legislation.

The former champion has tried various means of paying off the government, including nightclubbing, business enterprises, and more recently, professional wrestling.

GI Uniform Maker Faces Court Action

WASHINGTON (INS) — A black-listed Army uniform maker faced a contempt citation today for refusing to tell Senate investigators how and why he bought six million dollars worth of bonds in 1931-33.

A plea by Joseph Abrams, of Great Neck, N.Y., that "the clothing business is a poor business" failed to melt indignation among investigations subcommittee members.

Abrams, who returns to the stand today, refused yesterday to say whether he ever gave any money or gifts to government employees while a multi-million dollar uniform contractor several years ago.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) told newsmen he would ask the subcommittee to "give early attention" to citing Abrams and Murray Berman, an associate, for what he described as "capricious" use of the Fifth Amendment.

Detroit Police Hold Rapist Gang Member

DETROIT (AP) — A 17-year-old member of what police called a teen-age gang of rapists was held today for investigation in the Oct. 15 slaying of a 64-year-old woman.

The youth, Willie Harris, told Detective Lt. Albert Isaac he beat Mrs. Eleanor Biegalski to death with a rock and then dragged her body between two houses. She was found the following morning.

Harris was arrested with four other youths who Isaac said made up a gang that preyed on women. Three of the youths are 18 and one is 19. Isaac said they admitted criminally attacking at least 15 women on Detroit's Near East Side.

Homicide Inspector Thomas Co-chill said "the gang's operation was one of the most vicious things I've heard of."

Harris told detectives Mrs. Biegalski, a divorcee, broke away years when he first grabbed her, but he chased and caught her. The four other youths are held on open charges.

73-Year-Old Lothario Given His Comeuppance

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth M. Ernest was granted a divorce yesterday after she testified her 73-year-old husband, Frederick, ran around with another woman. Several years ago, she said, he took a woman to Niagara Falls. The couple had been married 51 years.

DR. JAMES F. GREGORY

Quarterly Meeting Scheduled Saturday

Dr. James F. Gregory, editor of the "Free Methodist" and former president of Spring Arbor Junior College, Spring Arbor, will be guest speaker Friday through Sunday at the First Free Methodist Church on Lafayette St.

Each of the 7:30 evening services will be in charge of the District Youth of the church. At 2:30 Saturday afternoon, Dr. Gregory will use for his topic, "Free Methodism, Yesterday and Today."

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, his subject will be "Free Methodism, Today and Tomorrow." The Quarterly Conference of the Flint District is scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday. Representatives from 25 churches of the Flint-Pontiac area are expected. The Rev. E. E. Walling, district superintendent will preside.

Politics Reigns in DAR Election

3 Candidates Seeking Organization's Top Post Still Deadlocked

WASHINGTON (INS) — "King Politics" reigned today over the 65th annual Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution as 3,000 delegates prepared to elect a full slate of national officers.

There appeared only a slight possibility that a final determination could be reached on the first ballot. The DAR was locked in a three-cornered race for president general for the first time in a dozen years.

Election booths were to be opened from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., but a final tally was not expected until late tonight.

Under DAR regulations, the three candidates must remain on the ballot through consecutive votes until one wins a majority or one withdraws.

THREE SEEKING TOP POST
Fighting for the top DAR post are: Mrs. Charles C. Haig, of Silver Spring, Md.; Mrs. Frederic A. Groves, of Cape Girardeau, Mo.; and Mrs. Thomas Henry Lee of Philadelphia.

The retiring president general is Miss Gertrude Carraway, of New Bern, N. C.

In an opulent orchids-and-lace gathering in constitution hall late Wednesday night, the candidates were placed in nomination. Each nominee heads a slate of 11 other office seekers.

A continued election deadlock could keep the group in Washington well past their planned adjournment date of Friday night.

In addition to politics, the Daughters turned their attention today to movies, economics and song.

In an afternoon presentation, the Daughters were set to award their own version of the Hollywood "Oscar" to two motion pictures.

Walt Disney's "Lady and the Tramp," was slated to be honored as the best children's picture of the year, while the accolade for the most patriotic film was to go to Paramount's "Strategic Air Command."

ORDINANCE NO. 1307
Adopted: April 15, 1936.
Effective: April 27, 1936.

An Ordinance to Amend Paragraph 3 of Section 4 of the City of Pontiac Zoning Ordinance No. 64.

The City of Pontiac Ordinance: Section 1:

That paragraph 3 of Section 4 of the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Pontiac be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

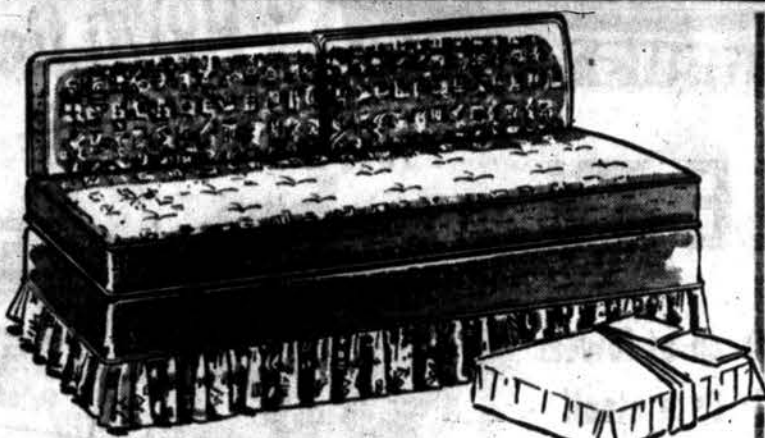

Paragraph 3. A storage or service garage, motor vehicle salesroom, motor supply station, the conduct of any such use shall be limited as follows:

(a) The practice of bumping out, painting or refinishing of damaged fenders and automobile bodies in any storage or service garage, or motor vehicle salesroom, or motor supply station, is prohibited and no such repair work characterized as automobile bumping shall be permitted in Commercial 1 districts.

(b) No repairing shall be done within a building within 50 feet of a Residence District.

(c) Petroleum or its derivatives may not be stored above the ground in excess of 150 gallons and no appliance for dispensing gasoline or for oiling or for greasing automobiles shall be allowed within 50 feet of any Residence District or within 15 feet of any street line.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

'Polio' Parents Sue Government

Families of 2 Stricken Children Blame Serum Negligence in Idaho

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Parents of two Idaho children felled by polio during mass vaccinations last spring charged the federal government was to blame because of what they call negligence in permitting dangerous serum to slip into the program.

Exactly one year after their daughter was inoculated, Lester and Myrtle Pierce of Pocatello filed suit in Federal District Court here yesterday, seeking $150,588 damages for her death.

Susan Diane Pierce, 7, died April 29 of bulbar polio, 9 days after she was inoculated. She was the first child in the nation to die after receiving shots of Salk vaccine.

In a separate suit, Kenneth Turner of American Falls asked for $250,000 damages. He claimed his son, Terry, 5, became paralyzed in both legs after "close association" with a brother who had been inoculated.

Both suits named "The United States of America" as defendant and said government agencies carelessly permitted "live-virus laden" vaccine to be injected into children. The suits named Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., as the source of the vaccine, but the firm was not named as a defendant.

Idaho called off the mass vaccination program last May because of a statewide outbreak of polio. The program was resumed late this March on a limited basis after state health officials concluded new testing methods removed the risk of running into faulty vaccine.

Honest George Tells of Crime, Is Freed

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—The man being questioned by police said "I cannot tell a lie. I committed the crime."

The officers weren't surprised by the admission because they said the man's name was George Washington.

And just to keep in the spirit of things, he was 76.

He was released when the person against whom the crime had been committed refused to bring charges.

The Agriculture Department's price-support purchases of butter totaled 162,300,000 pounds during 1955, a decline of 50 per cent from 1954.

300 Teachers of English to Participate in Conference at Pontiac High School

More than 300 teachers of English will attend the annual English conference at Pontiac High School sponsored by the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of Cooperative School Studies May 2.

Chairman of the committee for arrangements, Robert Beauchamp, Pontiac High English instructor, said that main speaker will be Dr. J. N. Hook, professor of English at the University of Illinois and executive secretary of the National Council of Teachers of English. His topic will be "What's in the Wind?"

Ten separate group meetings the rest of the day will cover such subjects as text book evaluation, teaching of classics, developing perceptive readers, structure of language, fitting the mass media into courses, and development of the Edsel Ford language arts program.

Professor Thelma McCandless of Michigan State Normal College and Mrs. Marion Fisher, Fordson

High instructor in Detroit, are co-chairmen of the conference.

Beauchamp listed some of the important figures in English teaching in the state who will attend the meeting: Dr. Clarence Wachner, director of language education, Detroit Public Schools; Dr. Donald Lloyd, Wayne University Education department; Dr. William Baker of Michigan State University; Dr. Alfred W. Stoley of the University of Michigan and Dr. Muriel Potter of Michigan State Normal College.

Others include Robert E. Beauchamp added.

Recent, public relations department of the Detroit News, Carl O. Moody, WDPB Radio station, Detroit Public Schools and Andrew Diet, director of youth service, Detroit Public Library.

Beauchamp added that Dr. Hook would remain in Pontiac an extra day to visit classes, meet with school principals and speak at a 6:30 p.m. English meeting on "Developing a Language Arts Program for Secondary Schools." This is the first year that Pontiac has been a member of the bureau Beauchamp added.

'Baldy' Wins $5,000 Suit and He Earned It, Too

DETROIT (AP)—A factory accident that cost Lingar Davis, 38, his hair, eyebrows and eyelashes is going to cost Ford Motor Co. $5,000.

The Michigan Workmen's Compensation Commission ruled yesterday that Davis is entitled to damages because of the December 1954 paint spray mishap. Davis said that after the accident his fellow workers called him "Baldy and Cusball."

This made him so nervous, he said, that he couldn't work. Davis said he is giving up factory work and will return to a farm in Kentucky.

Chosen 'Trout King'

KALKASKA (AP)—Victor Beresford of East Lansing, editor of Michigan Outdoors magazine who says he is "strictly a fly fisherman" has been named king of the 20th national Trout Festival at Kalkaska April 27-28. Beresford also edits the magazine of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

No More Busses?

JACKSON (AP)—Ralph E. James of Chicago, executive vice president of National City Lines, told city officials that the Jackson City Lines will be forced out of business if patronage continues to decline and the firm's taxes are not reduced. He repeated an offer to sell the bus line to the city for a "probable maximum" of $400,000.

Not counting irrigation, use of water on farms is estimated at 3½ billion gallons daily.

New Brain to Give Univac Battle of Wits

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — A new electronic brain—much smaller, but just as fast and efficient as its older brother the Univac—has made its public debut.

The U.S. Air Force and Sperry Rand Corp. took the wraps off the new magnetic computer, described as excelling in solving complex problems in mathematics and other sciences.

Officials demonstrated the mid-get brain at Philadelphia. It was built for the Air Force Cambridge Research Center at Hanscom Field, Bedford, Mass.

They explained that the "heart" of the machine may never wear out. It is smaller, and can be produced much more cheaply than the giant Univac.

Trusting Soul, What?

CROSSVILLE, Tenn. — Grocer John Dooley, like most of Crossville's male population, is growing whiskers for the town's centennial celebration. He ordered a mustache cup from Knoxville, but there was only one to be found in the entire city. On learning this, Dooley wired: "Please do not ship mustache cup. Too risky. Will call in person." He did, too, making the 150 mile round trip so he can strain his coffee.

Enrollments Still Rise

WASHINGTON — The nation's public schools are in their 11th consecutive year of increasing enrollments, with 31,238,863 pupils enrolled in elementary and secondary schools. This is an increase of 1,272,811 over 1934-35 enrollment.

Private School Aid 'Unlawful'

Mentally Handicapped Not in Public Schools Lose State Funds

LANSING (AP) — A portion of the 1956 School Aid Bill allotting $30,000 to help meet costs of classes for mentally handicapped children in private schools has been held as unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. Kavanagh's opinion, issued Wednesday, was limited to this one provision in a measure calling for distribution of over 220 million dollars in state funds to local school districts in 1956-57. The opinion was asked by Rep. John J. McCune (R-East Lansing), chairman of the House Education Committee.

The Attorney General found that the purpose for which the $30,000 was set aside conflicted with the state constitutional bar against extension of the state's credit to private organizations.

Under the wording of the bill, the money was to go for reimbursement of "any school district which supplements the cost of any private, non-sectarian group" maintaining classes for handicapped children under 16.

The provision was inserted by amendment in the Senate at the request of Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek).

Kavanagh said he did not question the public purpose of instructing mentally handicapped children, and noted that there existed specific statutory authority for this.

Great Lakes 'Hero'

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce has named John L. Boland Sr., president of the American Steam Ship Co., "Great Lakes Man of the Year." He was among candidates nominated by marine editors of Great Lakes area newspapers. Boland, of Buffalo, N. Y., will be honored at a banquet here May 19 for his leadership in developing self unloading freighters.

His company now operates the greatest fleet of self unloaders on the Great Lakes.

Idaho Progressive Will Run for Senate

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—Glen Taylor, cowboy turned politician who once was a senator and ran for vice president in 1948 on the Progressive party ticket, said yesterday he would run again for the Senate.

Taylor will seek the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat now held by Republican Herman Welker. Five other Democrats also are trying to win the nomination. One, Mayor Theron Ward of Jerome, also announced his candidacy yesterday.

It will be Taylor's sixth try for the Senate. He lost the nomination in 1940 and 1942 but won in 1944 and served six years. He ran again but lost in 1950 and 1954.

Now 52, Taylor ran on the Progressive ticket in 1948 with Henry Wallace as the presidential candidate.

He's a Candidate

MONROE (AP)—Rep. Charles J. Golden (D-Monroe) has announced he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the state senate seat now held by Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield). Golden, serving his first term in the House, seeks to capture a seat held by the Republicans since 1936.

Hot Jewels, Cameras Harass Monaco Police

By EARL WILSON

MONACO—Everybody's been playing detective at the Grace Kelly wedding since the $30,000 jewel robbery, and Grace is lucky she herself hasn't been frisked for a rod—or, what's almost as bad here, a camera.

American guests at the gala—Grace wore her glasses to see what was to eat—kiddingly whispered, "Wanna buy a hot diamond?"

The Monaco police had luck finding people with cameras, anyway.

Fordham law student Stan Rubin, leader of the Tigertown Five Dixieland jazz combo Grace invited to the wedding, was sharply questioned by a cop about both his tiepin and his clarinet.

"You're sure you can't take pictures with these things?" the gendarme demanded suspiciously.

A French stagehand who wished to record the love story for his album plaintively said, "I take peccature. Now I have no camera."

The cops confiscated it.

As Grace entered the "Sporting Club" gala an American photog who'd been shown around shrilled out, "Grace, they're treating us like bums!"

Rainier swept her inside. The prince had a right to be nettled, though, about many of the crazy rumors being printed.

"Grace is a prisoner in the Palace crying her eyes out because the prince won't let her see anybody," a London paper said.

The rumor factory in Madrid said Jack Kelly—known there as "King John"—arranged the marriage because he wanted to acquire the local railroad.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

"The Siegfried Follies" called off a preview performance out-of-town; some of the costumes arrived late and Tallulah wouldn't go on... "Mr. Wonderful" went over the $60,000 mark last week.

Agent George Wood flew to Paris to talk business with Rita Hayworth... Mae West, who had Mr. America in her act last year, will have Mr. Universe at the Latin Quarter—and how can you top that?

Count Basie will open a cafe in Harlem, and Esme Hammond suggested a name: "Basie's Masement"...

Susan Strassberg, 17 and too young to drink, added a cherry to her ginger ale at Gilmore's so it'd look like an old-fashioned... Virginia Leith's next film will be "A Kiss Before Dying."

EARL'S PEARLS...

Lillie Cook still hasn't figured out whether the ladies' hats looked that way because it was Easter or because it was April 1.

Group Gives 'Helping Hand' to Fisherman

DENVER (INS)—The Colorado Game and Fish Department is lending a helping hand this year to fishermen who dislike bucking the highway traffic in order to "get away from it all—but fish."

Department editor Frank Gregg says a "fair portion" of the state's supply of stocking fish will be used to fill various city lakes and streams throughout the state.

Gregg pointed out that Denver's Washington Park Lake got a good supply of fish last year, and that some of the biggest catches in the state were made by fishermen who didn't even leave the city.

"City fishing" is also a good way for a man to "catch a couple of hours practice" between week-ends, and a way for a tourist to mark time while the wife is visiting relatives. There's one problem, however, Gregg says: "Stocking local lakes is beginning to cause a traffic jam around them."

Car's Fuel Economy

NEW YORK—A recent study of automobile improvements shows there has been an increase of nearly 30 per cent in fuel economy in the past 25 years. The average car of 1930 got slightly more than 15 miles per gallon of gasoline at a speed of 40 miles an hour. The average was more than 20 miles per gallon in 1955 at the same speed.

Tarantulas Sluggish

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Despite the many stories that tell about "jumping tarantulas," these spiders are very sluggish and rarely jump more than a couple of inches.

Holly Grove Yields in 10 to 12 Years

PORTLAND, Ore.—It takes 10 to 12 years from the date of planting for a holly grove to become commercially productive. Only the female tree produces berries, which generally are necessary for the holly to have commercial value. Properly managed trees produce for many years.

It is believed that the Polynesian arrived on the island of Oahu in Hawaii about 1004 A. D.

New Chicago Airport Is Nation's Largest

CHICAGO—The nation's biggest airport, O'Hare Field, opened for business recently on Chicago's Northwest Side. It is nearly 11 times the size of Chicago's other for its weight.

field, Midway, and covers 6,325 acres—1,000 more than New York's Idlewild. When completed, O'Hare's terminal facilities alone will cover as large an area as the Loop.

According to scientists, the web of a spider is stronger than steel.

Well, It's About Time

LA JUNTA, Colo.—C. C. Baily, 81-year-old retired truant officer, offered to sell a bicycle cheap after he tumbled from it and broke a hip. Cycling has been a recreation only the past few years for Baily. Before that he rode the bicycle in hunting truant boys and girls. He wore out one bicycle on his job and was given a new one on his 77th birthday by La Junta teachers.

Malta Seeking 'Stronger Ties'

Britain's Colony Wants Full Representation in English Parliament

WASHINGTON — Malta, Britain's Mediterranean Crown Colony of rich tradition and stirring history, now seeks even stronger ties with the United Kingdom by full representation in Parliament.

The colony is famed for its eight-point cross, its gray cats, and its courage under World War II bombings.

Malta itself is the largest of the Maltese Islands which include Gozo, Comino, Cominotto and Filfla. The chain stretches 27 miles northwest to southeast, and is strategically located between Gibraltar and the Suez Canal.

Life in varying forms has existed on Malta from deepest antiquity, says the National Geographic Society. Pleistocene deposits yield remains of giant dormice, hippopotami, and pigmy elephants. Tombs and other artifacts are traceable to the Phoenicians who colonized Malta ages ago.

Valletta, Malta's capital since 1570, stands like Manhattan on a narrow rocky ledge. Disraeli said that Valletta "equals in its noble architecture, if it even does not excel, any capital in Europe." For Sir Walter Scott the city was "like a dream."

It is flanked by Grand Harbour, often called one of the Mediterranean's best, and Marsamxett Harbour. The British Mediterranean Fleet has been based in Grand Harbour since the Napoleonic wars. Its extensive ship repair yards bolster the Maltese economy.

Chief manufactures are jewelry, filigree ornaments and lace. Maltese farmers produce barley, corn, wheat, clover, tomatoes and such fruits as prickly pears, grapefruit, lemons, figs and apricots. They are oppressed by drought and soil erosion.

Stone walls and terracing are used to buttress the land. Windmills bring water to the surface to be fed to the fields and oven turn traditional waterwheels. The soil is rich in phosphates, permitting two or more crops a year.

Danes Lead in Video
COPENHAGEN — Denmark is the first of the Scandinavian countries to have television. About 6,000 sets are in use; it is estimated that in 10 years the figure will be 250,000. Danish-made TV sets sell for the equivalent of $200 and up. Neither radio nor television in Denmark has commercials.

Postcards 'From Grace' Perplex Small Village

CHAUMONT, N. Y. (INS)—Several perplexing postcards signed "Grace" and bearing Monte Carlo, Monaco, postmarks and stamps have been received in this village and surrounding communities.

One was addressed to Henry Gannon, a Chaumont hotel employee. The message read:

"The Prince and I wish that you could be here for our wedding. We will be thinking of you though, and of dear old Ireland."

Bulletin Reports Riesel Eyesight 'Still Menaced'

NEW YORK (INS)—A medical bulletin on labor columnist Victor Riesel said today the fiery writer's sight is "still menaced by dangerous complications."

Riesel's eyes were seriously injured two weeks ago when a thug splashed sulphuric acid in his face a few hours after he made a blistering radio attack against alleged racket infiltration in labor unions.

... And No Wonder

REDMONT, Ore. (INS)—A sign dislodged accidentally caused stomach pains when it hit Mrs. Ray Adney of Redmont, Ore., on the head. Mrs. Adney went to the hospital for five days for the blow on her head. After her release, she began having stomach pains so severe that she went back for X-rays. They showed she had swallowed her bridge work.

German Reds Clamoring for Berlin

BERLIN (U)—East German Communists are setting up a menacing clamor to erase the four-power status of Berlin and take over. They call the city's four-power status a legend and threaten the three Western sectors with new restrictions.

This clamor could foreshadow a fresh attempt by the Reds to annex West Berlin, an island surrounded by East Germany and 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

East Germany's Communist party boss, Walter Ulbricht, hints at uniting Berlin by infiltration among workers.

Divided Berlin has been a focal point in the East-West struggle since the end of World War II. For 11 months during 1948-49, the Russians blockaded the city in an attempt to force the Western allies to more than two million West Berliners.

In their campaign to annex West Berlin, the Communists also have made use of their control over the access routes to the isolated city from West Germany.

Last year they boosted taxes on western trucks bringing in supplies on grounds the money was needed to keep up the roads. West Berlin officials called the levies exorbitant and paid them through government subsidies. In another move, the Russians announced that East Berlin was the sovereign capital of sovereign East Germany. When two U.S. congressmen were detained in East Berlin, the Russians told protesting Western officials to take the matter up with the East Germans.

The U.S. commander, Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher, nipped this move in the bud, however. He insisted on dealing only with the Russians.

Air Pollution Costing Gotham $100 Million

NEW YORK (U)—An expert estimates that air pollution costs New York City 100 million dollars a year.

Dr. Leonard Greenburg, city commissioner of air pollution control, yesterday told the American Society of Safety Engineers that air pollution is a "social and economic evil" demanding constant surveillance.

Greenburg based his estimate of air pollution cost on illness, expenditures involved in cleaning away the effects of soot and other pollution, and fogging-in of airports.

City Junior High Students Plan Washington Trips

Ninth grade students in three city junior high schools this week are busy planning four day trips to Washington D. C.

Approximately 200 Washington and Madison Junior High Students will leave next Wednesday at 6:30 a.m. and the following Wednesday, 132 Lincoln students will leave Pontiac.

According to George Yansen, Principal of Madison Junior High, his group will visit the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Federal Bureau of Investigation, White House and Capitol Building, Supreme Court and Pan American Buildings; Annapolis Naval Academy, the city of Alexandria, Mount Vernon, Washington students will place a wreath on Washington's tomb.

The group will then visit the department of Health and Welfare, the Library of Congress, Jefferson, Lincoln and Washington monuments, the National Cathedral, the Smithsonian Institute and numerous other areas of interest in the capital city.

Madison ninth graders will place a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Another high point, Yansen said, will be the premiere performance of the National Symphony Orchestra presenting a special concert for youth. This is the first time this has been done and also will mark the opening of the season for the orchestra, Yansen said.

The group will return to Pontiac early Sunday morning. They will stay at the New Colonial Hotel in Washington.

Accompanying the group will be Kay Justin, Joan Murphy, Mrs. Louise Norton, Oliver Taylor, Mrs. Virginia Yansen, Warren Abbott, Ralph Allen, Lester Kindy, Alvin Thomas, La Vern Riemenschneider, all from Washington Junior High and Mrs. Patricia Stites, Pauline Woodin, Hercules Renda and Yansen, from Madison.

The Lincoln group will begin their trip at 6 a.m. Wednesday, May 2. They will visit the same places as the Washington and Madison groups. In addition the tour will include a trip to Gettysburg. The Lincoln group will make their trip headquarters at the White House Motel in Washington.

Principal Phillip J. Wargelin said the Lincoln group will place their wreath at the Lincoln Memorial and that the group plans to meet with Senators Charles E. Potter and Patrick V. McNamara and Representative George A. Dondero while in Washington.

Accompanying the Lincoln students will be Ralph Forman, Hazel Potts, Francille Schymik, Mrs. Mildred Wiersma, Mrs. Gladys Wilkinson, Sydney Jones, Donald Keefe and Forrest White.

Warn Residents of Yegg's Tactics

Police Reveal Methods of 'Bedroom Burglar' Active in City

Dwellers in the southeast side are cautioned to be on the lookout this weekend for the "Bedroom Burglar".

Police have tacked that name on the sneak thief who has prowled the area entering unlocked homes and stealing wallets during night hours on the past two weekends.

"If people lock their doors, they may discourage the man," said Det. Sgt. Raymond Meggitt.

"So far he hasn't actually broken into a home, and thus can't be charged with the more serious offense of breaking and entering if he's caught."

The clever burglar has not yet been seen by any of his victims, Meggitt said, although he has been scared away several times when residents awoke.

"If he's forced to break in to gain loot, others may be awakened by the noise and someone might see him and give police his description," Meggitt said.

Eleven robberies since the first of the year, seven of them on the past two weekends, have shown police the pattern used by the "Bedroom Burglar".

"He enters through an unlocked door and heads for the bedroom," Meggitt said. "He takes men's trousers and leaves, stopping outside the house to steal whatever money is in the pockets and wallet. Then he throws away the trousers and goes on to another home."

The crimes so far have been limited to the area bounded by E. Pike, S. Saginaw and Central streets and S. East boulevard Meggitt said, although four other jobs elsewhere may also be his work.

Just a Short Stay

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Edward J. Heath moved his family into a brand new home in the morning, but they moved out again that night, somewhat more hastily. A fire started in a wall heater during their short stay, causing $1,500 damage.

Bishop Rips Hubbard on Racial Attitude

DETROIT (INS) — Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan yesterday attacked Mayor Orville L. Hubbard of Dearborn for his views on racial segregation.

The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich said Hubbard boasted in a recent interview with an Alabama newspaper that no Negroes live in Dearborn.

Bishop Emrich charged Hubbard is opposed to the fundamental teaching of the Christian faith, the Constitution, our government under law, and the wider interests of the United States.

He called upon "every pastor and Christian" to oppose the Dearborn mayor because Hubbard has "hurt the good name of Michigan" and advanced the cause of Communism by "boasting of his intolerance."

Southern newspapers reportedly have widely publicized a statement in which Hubbard allegedly said: "I am for complete segregation, one million per cent, on all levels."

Hubbard could not be reached for comment.

India's Communist Party will hold a 10-day convention at Kozhikode, in February.

TO SPEAK ON YOUTH — Monday night the public has been invited to hear the above panel speak on "Youth and the Community." The meeting slated for 8:30 p. m. is sponsored by the Adult Institute of Congregation B'nai Israel and will be held at their synagogue, 143 Oneida. Seated left to right are Paul Sullivan, Pontiac school psychologist; William Coulosos, director of the Pontac Boys Club; Rabbi Henry Hoshander, moderator of the group; and Mayor William W. Donaldson. Standing left to right are Morris Kampner, director of the Adult Institute; The Rev. C. George Widdifield, All Saints Episcopal Church; and Dr. James McHugh, Pontiac State Hospital. Six Pontiac boys and girls have been chosen to question the panel following their talks.

Inmates Stage Rumpus Over Disturbed Privacy

CHICAGO—More than 50 prisoners demonstrated for 10 minutes in the Cook County jail yesterday.

Guards brought the prisoners under control after the inmates had broken 36 windows and smashed furniture in a dayroom on the jail's ground floor.

Warden Jack Johnson said the outbreak apparently was staged in resentment over a shakedown of jail cells. The prisoners demonstrated while waiting in the dayroom to be led back to their cells following the routine check.

Johnson said five ringleaders were put into solitary confinement and that the others would be denied all privileges for one week.

I Want My Dog

BUTTE, Mont. — A worried woman phoned Butte police that her husband was "out on the town" with their black Chinese chow dog. "I don't care what happens to my husband, it's the dog I'm worried about," she said. The dog was under doctor's care, she explained.

Plumbing Supply Firm to Display New Quarters

A new milestone in its 25-year ago, the store has six employees on history will be observed tomorrow by the Save Plumbing Co. at 100 S. Saginaw St.

The store will conduct a grand celebration Friday and Saturday to show the new building, according to Proprietor Joseph Bloom.

Completely redecorated, the site features a spacious showroom and a new lighting system for the interior. An adjoining parking lot will accommodate 35 automobiles.

The building has nearly 10,000 square feet of floor space. Established a quarter-century.

Samaritan Juror Is Cause of Mistrial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Because a juror offered a pretty plaintiff a ride in his car, a $50,000 damage suit has been declared a mistrial.

The juror, Horton Currie, 49, saw Miss Jeannette Horton, 19, walking home from court. He offered her a ride, which she refused.

The next day Miss Horton recognized Currie and apologized, saying she had decided to walk home because she thought the fresh air would help her headache.

A defense attorney protested yesterday because Miss Horton's suit complained of recurring headaches as a result of a 1934 traffic accident. He said her remarks in the hall could have prejudiced the jury, and the judge agreed. He dismissed the jury.

About one fourth of all new window installations are aluminum.

Very Decent, What?

TAMPA, Fla. (P) — Hillsborough County school officials have ruled a teacher gets "line of duty" sick pay if she catches measles or diphtheria but not if she comes down with mumps, chicken pox or whooping cough. "Line of duty" illness entitles a teacher to 10 days' sick leave with pay. On other illnesses she has six.

Hastings Man Builds an Antique Automobile for $97.60 Total

HASTINGS (P) — Robert Link is one man who beat the high cost of an antique car. He built his own.

In his basement Link has put together what he calls a "tinker toy idea of an old model car"—for a cash outlay of $97.60.

And it deserves its name of Link Special. It isn't a replica or restored model of any car ever made. Link collected some likely looking parts and proceeded to build his own model.

He figures a real antique car of his Special's 1902-1908 vintage would cost about $3,000.

To the non-expert eye it looks like the real thing. The tiller-steered model has a high riding buggy seat, wooden spoked wheels and solid rubber tires.

LIGHTS ARE AUTHENTIC

But the only authentically old things on it are the headlights and tail-light, which Link purchased from a dealer for $15. Old buggies provided most of the other parts, including the seat, wheels and steps.

The dashboard and body frame are made of black walnut and cherry wood, painted with black enamel. Link built the 3½ gallon gas tank and fenders out of sheet metal.

The engine is a 12-horsepower Glad Mustang taken from an old luggage cart. It cost $50. Chain sprockets to the rear axle provide the power. The steering tiller is made of cast iron pipe.

MADE A PROFIT

Link, who works in the milling department of a Hastings factory, said he's always wanted to own an antique car or be able to buy one to restore.

So he didn't let the fact he couldn't afford one stop him. He built his first "antique" car in 1952, then sold it later for a profit to a car collector.

His three children complained so at losing the unique vehicle that Link undertook his present car. He's been working at it since last October and now it is practically ready to run.

There'll be one slight hitch before road test time. Link has to take his car apart to get it out of the basement. But he says that's easy — he'll just remove a few belts, carry the car outside in sections and reassemble it.

Plastic Landing Craft Joins the Assault Fleet

SAN PEDRO, Calif.—The Navy is buying plastic landing craft. One of the first molded plastic landing craft vehicle personnel (LCVP) patterned after those on which thousands of American fighting men stormed enemy beachheads, is to be launched here today. It is all glass cloth and paper except for steel armor plating to protect against small arms fire. The plastic LCVP is 36 feet long and carries a light tank and two platoons of men.

Sugar can be made from wood.

There are nearly 1,800 islands in the Thousand Islands section of the St. Lawrence River.

More than 44 per cent of an average barrel of crude oil is made into gasoline.

4 Aboard Plane Survive Crash

Coast Guard Pilot on Way to Battle Creek Before Crack-Up

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A twin-engine Coast Guard amphibian plane crashed in a hilly section south of here yesterday minutes short of an airport. All four men aboard survived.

The four were taken to a hospital in South Charleston. They were from Elizabeth City, N.C., and were identified as:

Lt. Comdr. Carl Parrott, 33, the pilot, head and face cuts, minor injuries.

A 1C. George Boggs, about 35, radioman, face cuts and bruises.

A 1C. Kenneth L. Hennell, 33, mechanic, back injuries, minor cuts.

A funeral home which sent an ambulance to the scene quoted the navigator that the four men were flying to Battle Creek, Mich., to attend the funeral of the pilot's father, who died yesterday.

The plane took off from the Elizabeth City, N.C., Coast Guard station at 10:01 a.m. (EST) and was to have refueled at Kanawha Airport here.

The pilot radioed the Kanawha control tower at 2:14 p.m. that he was out of fuel and making a crash landing. The plane, a Grumman "goose," crashed in a deep valley.

Salary Reports Due on Domestic Help

The reminder that people who employ domestic workers are required to file Social Security reports in April was issued today by Wesley Dorr, manager of the Pontiac District office of the Social Security Administration.

Workers who earned $50 or more in January, February and March must be covered by the reports.

Dorr pointed out. Among occupations cited by district leaders were cooks, maids, housekeepers and gardeners.

Booklets explaining the employer's obligation and benefits to the employee are available at the local office, 18 S. Perry St., Dorr said.

Planning Open House at Guidance Clinic

Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic board met at noon yesterday to discuss plans for the open house at the clinic May 3. The clinic will be open from 2 until 5 p.m. and 7 until 9 p.m. that day, according to Madeline Hall, director of the clinic.

A film will be shown at 4 and again at 8 p.m. on the 3rd called "A Family Affair." Subject matter deals with adolescent problems, Miss Hall said.

Miss Hall announced that the local staff of the Child Guidance Clinic would attend a meeting today and tomorrow in Lansing. The Oakland group will join in meeting with clinic personnel from all over the state in this semi-annual meeting.

Flint Robbery Suspect Nabbed

Chicago Man to Stand Trial in Bay City for Bank Holdup

CHICAGO (INS)—William L. Radkay was held by federal authorities today for removal to Bay City, Mich., to stand trial on charges of participating in the $62,000 robbery April 6 of a bank at Flint, Mich.

FBI agents arrested Radkay in a house on Chicago's southwest side April 10. He was charged with being one of three Chicagoans who robbed the Citizens Commercial and Savings Bank, Hamilton-Lewis Branch, at Flint. Radkay was held on $40,000 bond.

The two others, John P. Alkes and George Ballin, were arrested in a Flint garage after a gun battle but Radkay escaped.

Radkay was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike in Chicago. He was identified by an FBI agent as the man who escaped from the garage at Flint on April 7.

A year ago Radkay was released from a federal prison where he was serving a 20-year sentence imposed in 1953 for bank robbery.

Here's One Average

WASHINGTON—The cost of building a 50-bed hospital averages $14,850 a bed nationally, according to the United States Public Health Service. But it points out that the average covers many areas where construction costs are much lower than in metropolitan areas.

Make Tiny Bearings

KEENE, N. H.—Bearings made by a Keene company are vital ingredients of the radar equipment carried by Navy ships. Five hundred of the concern's tiny bearings can be put in a thimble and 22,700 of them weigh only a pound. Yet each bearing has an inner and outer raceway with metal balls set in between. The balls come 500 to the ounce.

A range of mountains discovered by Australians in MacRobertson Land, in the Antarctic, has been named Prince Charles Mountains.

Clue to Disease May Be Virus

Connecting Organisms in Body With Illness May Be Valuable

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS) —A Nobel prize-winning scientist said today science may make some great discoveries connecting unsolved diseases with strange "viruses in search of a disease" that are known to hide out in the human body.

Dozens or hundreds of these viruses in search of a disease, said Dr. Wendell Stanley of the University of California, may be coursing through our bodies, perhaps living quietly and innocently inside body cells.

Then, he added, some trigger sets them off and they induce cancer, rheumatism or many other conditions which now baffle science.

Viruses, he said, may prove to be the "best probe that now exists" for learning the secrets of living cells and "may very possibly lead to an explanation of the nature of life itself."

Dr. Stanley and five more of the nation's most distinguished scientists in the fields of viruses, cancer and chemistry described these hopes — and some work in progress on them — to newsmen at a conference preceding a special "50th Anniversary Symposium" at the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

The symposium was devoted to research on a single kind of chemical — called nucleic acid — which many scientists hope will be a key to viruses, to normal cells and cancer cells, to heredity, and even to the creation of life itself.

More Older Workers in U. S. Labor Force
NEW YORK — There are more than 24,000,000 persons 45 years old and over in the nation's working population, a third of the labor force. In 1900 there were only 7,000,000 workers in this age group and they made up a fourth of the labor force.

Rye, Wheat Crossed

LUND, SWEDEN — Dr. Arne Muentzing and his associates at the University of Lund have succeeded in creating a new cereal plant, Triticale, a cross between rye and wheat that has certain advantages over either of the parent plants.

Maltese Rely on Goats for All Their Milk

Having scant pasturage for cows, the Maltese rely on goats for milk. Driven from door to door, the animals are milked for individual customers.

The surrounding sea supplements diets with mackerel, tuna and dolphin. So conscious are Maltese of the sea that emblematic dolphins decorate many homes as door knockers. Fishermen go out in gaily-painted craft.

The sea is close to the Maltese, but never more so than at the Festival of St. Paul Shipwrecked. St. Paul was shipwrecked there while on his way to Rome and during his stay founded the Church in Malta. A seven-hour religious service followed by a street procession commemorates the event each February.

Opera House in Vienna Sporting 'Iron Curtain'

One of the most interesting features of the rebuilt Opera House in Vienna is a new type fire curtain made of iron. A board of judges, headed by Vienna's leading architect, selected a sketch by the well-known painter, Rudolf Eismanninger, for the "iron curtain" on the stage.

The sketch was chosen over 78 designs submitted by 16 Austrian artists. The winning entry depicts the power of music symbolized by Orpheus leading Eurydice from Hades into a brilliant light. The colors of the auditorium, red, white and gold, have been used so that the curtain will harmonize with the hall.

Japan Needs—Skunks!

TOKYO (AP) — Wanted: 360,000 skunks in exterminating the poisonous Oshima Islands, Japan's southernmost territory, plan to use the skunks in exterminating the poisonous habu, a snake. A trial run with 1,000 skunks was highly successful, they reported. How the 360,000 figure was arrived at was not disclosed.

Try These Syrup Delights Sent From Vermontville

Pontiac Press Home Editor
We ate pancakes and new maple syrup at the Maple Syrup Festival in Vermontville last weekend. The festival has been held annually since 1941, but it was our first visit.
Vermontville, a tiny town not far from Charlotte, was settled by a group originally from the state of Vermont. Among the traditions they transplanted from New England was the one of tapping their sugar maples and boiling down the sap.
In addition to the syrup produced by the farmers around the town, the FFA boys tap all the village trees and boil down the sap. They maintain a Syrup Shanty for visitors during the festival.

There were all the usual carnival-like accompaniments that follow fairs and festivals. Bands played, the governor crowned the Queen, there was a parade, stage entertainment and square dancing.
Up and down the main street the syrup producers sold their products. There was an interesting display of maple syrup cookies, cakes, pies and candies.
CHICKEN DINNER
The Methodist Church was serving a chicken dinner. The Congregationalists offered ham.

And the Band Boosters Club served pancakes, sausage and coffee—all you could eat.
We ended up eating pancakes for our dinner. They were big ones, about the size of the paper plates they were served on. Two cakes, pork sausage, a pat of butter and half a paper cup full of syrup, coffee or milk—and all you could eat of everything.
We talked with some of the women who were working. A few had been on the job at seven that morning and expected to keep going until five or six at night. They were going to serve just as long as supplies held out. They had two hundred and fifty pounds of sausage, uncounted boxes of buttermilk pancake mix, mountains of butter and gallons of coffee. Much of the food was donated. This would help swell their final profit destined for the bands of the local school.

We'd like to share with you some of the syrup recipes we brought back from Vermontville.
Maple Syrup Pie
1 cup maple syrup
1 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup flour
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites
3 tablespoons sugar
Cook syrup, milk and flour in double boiler until thick and creamy. Add egg yolks which have been beaten and cook two minutes longer. Add vanilla. Pour into baked pie shell.

Beat whites and add sugar. Spread on filling. Bake in a slow oven at 300 degrees for 15-20 minutes, or until nice and brown.
Scalloped Sweet Potatoes
4 medium-sized sweet potatoes, cooked & sliced
1/2 cup pineapple, cut in small pieces
1/2 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup maple syrup
1/2 cup melted butter
Slice potatoes. Arrange alternate layers of sweet potatoes and pineapple in a wide baking dish so that there are only 4 layers in all. Heat pineapple juice, syrup and butter together. Boil for 3 minutes and pour over potatoes and pineapple. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Serves 8.
Maple Mousse
1 1/2 cups whipping cream
2 egg yolks
1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup maple syrup
3 egg whites
Combine egg yolks and 3 tablespoons syrup. In a small pan boil remaining syrup a few minutes, then add egg yolk mixture to it and cook until it thickens, stirring constantly. Cool.
Beat egg whites, whip cream and combine the 3 mixtures. Freeze in refrigerator tray and do not stir when freezing.
Tomato-Cheese Sauce
Quick trick: Melt a quarter-pound of processed yellow cheese in the top of a double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Gradually stir in a couple of tablespoons of condensed (undiluted) canned tomato soup. Serve over hamburgers on toasted buns.

Egg Croquettes Are Nutritious
Egg Croquettes are a delicious, intriguing disguise for hard-cooked eggs. The combination of eggs, wheat germ and green peppers gives a blend of flavors that is unusual and appetite-teasing, and makes an excellent nutrition-packed meat substitute.
Egg Croquettes
1/2 cup minced onion
1/2 cup minced green pepper
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup milk
1/2 cup wheat germ
6 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped

1 egg beaten
1 cup wheat germ for breeding
Sauté onion and green pepper in butter in top of double boiler over direct heat until tender. Blend in flour, salt, pepper and mustard; stir in milk. Cook over boiling water, stirring until very thick. Mix in wheat germ and chopped eggs; chill mixture thoroughly.
Measure scant one-half cup and shape with hands into chicken or cones. Roll croquettes in wheat germ; dip into beaten egg; then roll in wheat germ again. Let stand 30 minutes before frying in deep hot fat (350) to a golden brown.
Drain on paper towel. For eyes of chicken-shaped croquettes use whole cloves. For variety: Add 1 cup ground ham to egg mixture before chilling. Makes 8-10 croquettes.

Plan Veal for Sunday Dinner This Week

Spring brings variety in meats and new color to produce counters, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Although some cuts of beef carry slightly higher price tags this week, veal is generally lower. Cuts that can be used for veal roasts and legs of veal, as well as shoulder chops are reasonably marked. The number of calves coming to market is increasing, the quality is good, and compared with other meats, veal is a good value.

The best veal is fine-grained, soft, watery, and light pink in color. It is very tender with little fat and much connective tissue. To develop the delicate veal flavor, and to soften the connective tissue, long slow cooking is necessary.

Pork continues at about the same price level with loins, fresh ham, and picnics wise choices for today's market list. Excellent quality center cut pork chops are around 70 cents per pound. Both bacon and sausage remain outstanding pork buys.

The long awaited heavy runs of fryers are under way, as evidenced on many food counters. Consumers will find most fryers displayed in attractive plastic wrappings, selling at varied prices of 33 to 49 cents a pound in many stores.

The plastic wrappings should be removed, the fryer loosely re-wrapped in waxed paper, and then stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Use within two days after buying.

Extra-large size eggs are increasing, but large size remains most plentiful, and generally the best buy. Strong customer demand for the quantity, available has helped keep prices steady and about the same as they have been for several weeks.

Colorful vegetables add appetite appeal with plenty of needed vitamins for spring menus. In some stores, vine-ripened tomatoes have dropped as much as 10 to 20 cents a pound since last week.

The supply of California lettuce is moderate, and shoppers will find it a good value for salads. The size of lettuce heads vary, and prices range accordingly, but even the small heads are firm and crisp.

Better marketing methods are bringing surprisingly fresh corn-on-the-cob to Michiganders. Supplies of corn are plentiful at about six cents per serving. Asparagus is an in-season vegetable right for the market basket; prices are about 20 to 30 cents per pound depending upon quality.

Add a tropical touch with bananas and pineapple from the fruit counter. According to some buyers, the quality of bananas is better than it has been in 5 or 6 years. Prices are very reasonable for the season.

Delicious aroma and deep orange color are good assurance of ripe pineapple. A size 8 or 9 is a large pineapple; a 12 is a small one.

At this time of year apples and grapefruit will keep longer and be less wasteful if kept refrigerated until ready for use.

Regardless of the recent 1 1/2 cent per quart increase of local milk prices, milk remains tops in food value for the money spent. Nutritionists report that the same food value found in one quart of milk would cost about 40 cents if bought in other foods.

Veal Paprika
8-inch covered skillet... Cook time—1 1/4 hours.

1 egg
1 tablespoon water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 pounds veal, cut in 2 inch cubes
2-3 cup fine bread crumbs
4 tablespoons shortening
1 clove garlic, cut in half
1/2 cup water
1 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon paprika

Beat eggs together with 1 tablespoon water and salt. Dip veal cubes into egg mixture, then into dry bread crumbs. Heat shortening and fry garlic. Remove garlic, add the veal and brown cubes on all sides. Add 1/2 cup water. Cover.

When mixture reaches steaming point, reduce heat to simmer and cook 1 hour. Add cream. Do not stir. Sprinkle with paprika. Cover. Cook 15 minutes longer. Serve over hot rice or noodles. Serves 4-6.

When Baking in Glass

Foods baked in glass are usually crusty and rather heavily browned. If you do not want the heavy crust you can use an oven temperature 25 degrees lower than for baking in pans of light-colored metal. (Recipe temperatures are usually based on the use of aluminum containers.)

Fluffy Dressing Perks Up Fruit

Any kind of salad dressing is good and appropriate with canned pineapple — mayonnaise, cooked, Roquefort, Thousand Island, French — depending on the foods used with pineapple.

Here is a delicious cooked dressing you can keep in the refrigerator ready to mix with whipped cream and use for pineapple or any fruit salad combinations.

Fluffy Fruit Dressing
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon flour
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon lemon juice (canned or fresh)
1/2 cup canned pineapple juice

1 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 cup whipping cream
Mix sugar, flour and egg yolk in a saucepan. Add fruit juices and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add celery seed. Cool. Stir in whipped cream just before serving. Yield: Two cups.

Leftover French Bread Makes Soup Toppers

French bread is delicious and crunchy, but any pieces left from those handsome loaves are apt to dry out more quickly than other breads. Use them this way: Toast lightly in your broiler, sprinkle with grated cheese and run under the broiler again until the cheese bubbles. Now float them, cheese up, in a bowl of soup in the traditional French manner. Especially good in onion, tomato or vegetable beef soup.

EXPERIENCE HELPS — When it comes to serving quantity meals, experience is a big help. The three women above have had that in abundance, having helped to serve some 2000 meals in the last year at St. Benedict's Church. From left to right they are Mrs. Homer Moran of Coleman street, Mrs. Arthur Perrin of Starr avenue (she makes all the coffee), and Mrs. Charles Vainare of Voorheis road, co-chairman of the dining room. Mrs. Moran is kitchen chairman.

Cooking Suggestions for Banquets

Group Offers Valuable Tips

Vital Essential: 'Plan' Claim Guild Women of St. Benedict Church

By JANEY ODELL, Pontiac Press Home Editor

From now until the end of the school year Pontiac area women will be serving banquets. Every organization wants a closing dinner. Many of them are prepared by church women.

St. Anthony's Guild of St. Benedict's Church consists of a group of women long experienced in serving quantity meals. For instance, in 1955, this group of 25 women served two thousand meals. In this way they earn money for their church.

Under the direction of Mrs. Peter Aldo, captain of the guild, these women have become an experienced team. Their suggestions for efficiency in serving large groups should carry weight.

A good planning committee is the first important essential, they insist. Half the work is one on paper—and over the telephone.

Mrs. Charles Vainare is co-chairman of the dining room committee. She lines up her workers far ahead of time, then calls them just before the day of the banquet to be sure they are still planning to help.

One person should be responsible for purchasing the food. "She should find a reliable butcher who will cooperate in getting her the large amount of good meat she needs.

When a group has worked together for some time, each woman will find her own specialty. The job she likes best to do. This makes for more efficiency and smoother working.

Here are some useful tips for all banquet chairmen, given in a little pamphlet devoted to quantity meals.

"Give consideration to the food preferences of the group. Know the amount of money you have to spend or allowed to charge.

"Avoid difficult or complicated food for a large group. Use in-season foods to save money and obtain better quality.

"Know the limitations of the equipment you have. Be sure your recipes are reliable.

"Plan a menu with attractive, harmonious colors and arrangement, with a good balance between soft and solid foods and a contrast in flavor and textures.

"Better have leftovers than not enough."

In order to be sure your helpers know their duties it is advisable to make a check list. This will prevent delays, disputes and overlapping of committee jobs.

Groups that are new in this business of serving large crowds can get help. The Michigan Cooperative Extension Service puts out a monthly bulletin. It lists foods in season and gives recipes. Contact Mrs. Josephine Lawman, Oakland County Extension Service, Pontiac, Michigan, for details.

An excellent book for any group to have on hand is Jane Kirk's "What's Cooking?" It is slanted toward church and PTA groups and their needs. The recipes are varied and good, the instructions clear.

Here are a couple of quantity recipes you may find useful.

Veal and Ham Loaf

1 1/2 pounds lean ground veal
7 pounds ground cooked ham
2 1/2 cup grated onion
2 cups cream of rice cereal
2 1/2 cup milk
4 eggs
1 1/2 cups crushed pineapple
3 tablespoons kitchen bouquet
2 1/2 cup catsup

Mix veal, ham, onion, cereal, milk, eggs and salt. Scale into 6 two-pound portions and shape in loaf pan, about 5 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 3 inches. Turn into greased shallow baking pan. Bake in 350-degree oven until done, about 1 hour.

When done, combine pineapple, kitchen bouquet and catsup. Spread over tops of each loaf, allowing it to run down sides, and return to oven for about 10 minutes longer. Serve hot or cold.

Makes 48 portions of a 4 ounce slice each.

Sweet-Sour Cream Dressing

1 tablespoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup vinegar
4 large cans undiluted evaporated milk

Combine salt, sugar, mustard and vinegar together. Beat well. Continue beating and slowly add all the evaporated milk. Use with shredded cabbage or mixed vegetables. Makes 2 quarts.

Grenadine is widely available in supermarkets. This sweet red liquid makes a delightful addition to a fruit cup when used with discretion.

Add sliced strawberries to vanilla pudding and use as a filling for angel food cake. Cut the cake crosswise in three layers.

Put Basil on Tomatoes

The herb basil, so popular in Italy, and tomatoes are inseparable. Lightly sprinkle the dried herb over freshly cut wedges. It's wonderful!

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

"White Sauce," averred a friend of ours who is a well-known chef, "is fit only for pasting wallpaper to walls." Now, we found this rather startling, because white sauce is the basis of a lot of things. Cream soups, croquettes, other sauces, creamed vegetables, meats and poultry, all are based on what is known as "white sauce."

We think if you make your basic sauce as he instructed us, you'll be amazed at the difference. The seasoning must be controlled, with the end objective in view, but instead of the simple white sauce, try it this way:

THIN SAUCE:

One tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, to 1 cup of seasoned milk. 1 egg yolk, in certain instances. This is primarily for cream soups and thin sauce bases.

MEDIUM SAUCE:

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, to 1 cup of seasoned milk. 1 egg yolk, in certain instances. This is called the "Standard Basic Sauce," for almost everything that is creamed.

THICK SAUCE:

Four tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, to one cup of seasoned milk. 1 egg yolk in certain instances. This is very thick, and used for croquettes, and some souffles.

Remember, the egg yolk is an added fluff, which gives a much finer and richer sauce. We don't use it in souffles, however.

But the first step is to butter, very lightly, a small saucepan, (so the milk won't scorch), add one cup of milk, and to the milk add one sprig of parsley, one small celery top with leaves, one thin slice of onion, two thin slices of carrot, one clove, one-quarter bay leaf (use discretion on this one), six peppercorns, lightly crushed. Scald the milk, but don't boil it — and remove from heat.

Over a low heat, melt the butter slowly, then blend in the flour, the amounts determined by the thickness of the sauce that you desire. When butter and flour are smoothly combined, pour in the scalded milk slowly, through a strainer.

stirring as you add it. Discard the seasonings from the milk.

Blend all well, and continue stirring and cooking slowly until sauce thickens. Season to taste with salt, white pepper, one-quarter teaspoon monosodium glutamate powder, and perhaps even a dash of nutmeg, and also, we like a dash of Worcestershire or Maggi sauce. Season with discretion, however, in this as in all things.

Now for the final touch that can set this apart and beyond ordinary "white sauce"—beat one egg yolk well. Pour a little of the sauce into the egg yolk and blend, then pour resultant mixture back into the remaining sauce and stir until smooth. Don't cook after adding the egg!

WHITE SAUCE—per our friend—just omit the egg yolk.

Other sauces can be made from the basic cream white sauce by adding such things as grated cheese, (while sauce is still cooking), or chopped parsley, chives, capers, even lobster or crabmeat or chopped shrimp. Other herbs may be used in the flavoring of the milk too. A fine opportunity for experimenting.

QUICK BECHAMEL SAUCE—use one-half milk and one-half chicken broth in place of one cup milk.

SAUCE VELOUTE—use all stock in place of milk—either chicken, veal, beef or fish stock, and be governed accordingly in your seasoning.

TEDIOUS BECHAMEL SAUCE—for cream soups, for instance. Make with one-quarter cup of butter, one-quarter cup of flour, one quart milk, and a full bay leaf and increase other ingredients as for the basic sauce, and proceed accordingly.

In addition, saute finely chopped lean raw veal, about one-quarter cup of it, until it just begins to brown. You can add two tablespoons minced onion, too, and combine slowly with the milk mixture.

Cook very slowly for one hour, stirring occasionally from the bottom of the pan. Strain this, and if you are not going to use it at once, pour it into a heated jar. Break bits of butter over it to form a seal to prevent formation of scum, seal and store. It will keep a week or more in the refrigerator.

Cranberry Punch Served a la Mode

Cranberry Punch a la Mode

3 pounds (3 quarts) cranberries
1 quart boiling water
1 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup sugar
1 quart sweet apple cider
1/4 cups orange juice
1/4 cup lemon juice
2 cups ice water
2 quarts vanilla ice cream

Wash cranberries. Add the boiling water and cook, covered, until the skins have all popped, and the berries are soft, about 5 to 10 minutes.

Rub through a sieve. Stir the corn syrup and sugar into the hot puree, and chill thoroughly.

Add the chilled cider, orange juice, lemon juice and ice water. Pour into a punch bowl and drop scoops of vanilla ice cream into the punch.

Makes 20 servings.

PEANUT BUTTER HONEY CRACKLES

Yield: 5 dozen cookies

1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon Clabber
Girl Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup peanut butter
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup strained honey
1 egg
Chocolate pieces or shredded, added, whole peanuts 3 tablespoons granulated sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground
orange rind

Sift together flour, Baking Powder, and salt. Cream together thoroughly the shortening, peanut butter, brown sugar, and honey. Beat in egg. Stir in dry ingredients until blended. Form into 1-inch balls; insert 1 chocolate piece or 1 peanut meat into center of each ball and re-shape. Combine granulated sugar with orange rind and roll "balls" in this mixture. Place balls 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a 375° F. (moderate) oven 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned and cracked. Cool on cake racks.

Here's Four-Word Key to Knowing Your Onions

If you're old enough you can recall when "knowing your onions" was a slang term indicating great wisdom. And you can learn to know your onions in a quick easy lesson offered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The key lesson is just four words: Globe—strong; flat—mild. You can enlarge on the lesson to include things like the age of the onions, where they grew, and how long they'll be on the market.

Take the key phrase: Globe—strong; flat—mild. The strongest of the onions on the market now are small to medium size, orange-yellow, like a ball as globe.

They were grown somewhere in the Midwest last year and have been on the market all winter. Their season is about over, and after April we probably won't see them again until next fall. Many homemakers prefer them for cooking.

The mildest of the onions are new onions coming to market from down along the Rio Grande River in Texas. They're commonly called Bermuda onions, and they're quite flat.

Some of them are white and some are yellow. Real experts claim the white, flat onions are the very mildest, but others insist the yellow onions are just as mild. Either kind is great for sandwiches.

Some of the new onions are not quite flat and not quite round. They're not quite so mild as the Bermudas, but not so strong as the Yellow Globe onions. They're in-between, in flatness and in strength of flavor.

From now on, most of the onions we'll be seeing at the stores will be new crop onions from Texas, flat and mild, or medium-flat and medium-mild.

Cook in Consomme

For a new flavor, try cooking fresh asparagus in consomme or bouillon instead of water. Thicken the stock and pour it over the asparagus. It's a wonderful supper dish served over sliced hard-cooked eggs.

Many good Florida cooks use fresh coconut with fish as well as with desserts. If you don't like the tedious job of grating coconut, you may put it through the food chopper.

Croquettes Star Tuna, Tomato

Croquettes are always a good choice for dinner. Fish croquettes are popular, and in line with this thought is a new recipe featuring canned tuna.

The tuna is combined with mushrooms and tomato in croquettes which are topped with a savory tomato sauce at serving time.

Tomato-Tuna Croquettes
1 4-ounce can chunk-style tuna, drained
1 1/2-ounce can condensed cream of tomato soup
1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons water
1 quart salad oil
1/2 cup ketchup
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne

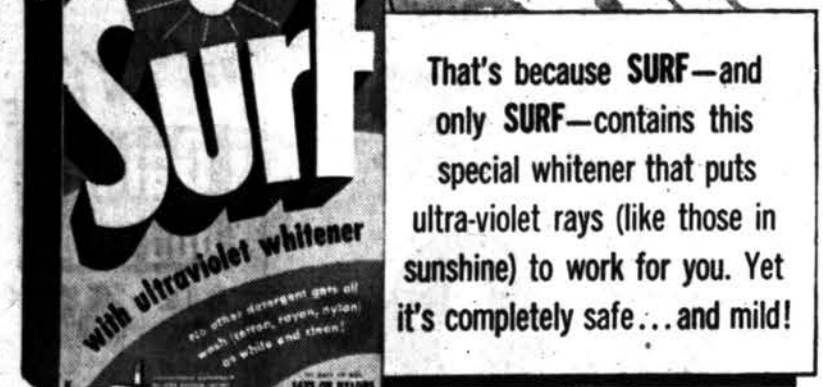

Combine tuna, half of soup, half of mushrooms and one half cup bread crumbs; mix well. Chill. Shape into four croquettes. Combine egg and water. Dip croquettes in egg mixture and coat with remaining 1 cup crumbs.

Fry in hot deep salad oil (375 degrees) three minutes, or until browned. Drain on absorbent paper.

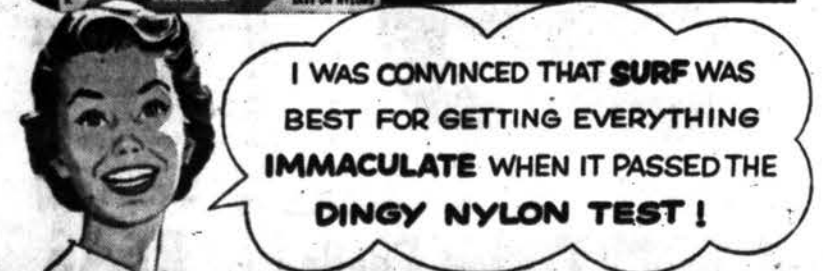

Combine remaining soup and mushrooms and remaining ingredients. Heat to boiling point, stirring frequently. Serve sauce over croquettes. Serves four.

TOMATO TUNA CROQUETTES — For a welcome change serve delicious tuna croquettes with tomato sauce. Individual salads of chicory, cottage cheese, radishes and carrots are colorful and tasty. Buttered corn complements the rest of the meal in flavor and texture.

Peaches Crown Cheese Tarts

The best things in life aren't always complicated and costly.

Today the elegant majority of folks are trying to get more protein into the daily diet.

Unlike most desserts, Peach Cheese Tarts are moderate in calories while contributing more than 8 grams of protein in each serving.

Best of all for the busy homemaker, the tarts may be enjoyed by all the family from gramp to toddler. The golden brown cups are easily made, as directed.

Peach Cheese Tarts
2 slices white bread
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup cottage cheese
1 cup junior peaches
Trim crusts from bread. Lightly oil six large muffin tins or custard cups. Brush bread with melted butter or margarine.

Fold, by holding opposite corners together, one slice of bread, buttered side up, into each tin or cup to form four-pointed cups. Bake in moderately hot, 375-degree oven until lightly browned. Cool bread cups.

Divide cottage cheese equally between the six cooled cups and top with the chopped peaches, flavored with almond extract. Serves six.

Variation: For adults, the peaches may be lightly spiced with cinnamon.

Those Counting Calories Can Enjoy Fried Chicken

Here is a recipe for fried chicken or chicken in a basket which has only 115 calories for a 4-ounce serving instead of 235 for the same portion fried the traditional way.

It comes from Ruth West's book, "Stop Dieting, Start Losing." This book of many recipes shows you how to lose two or three pounds a week and still enjoy pea soup, pork chops, hot corn pone, apple pie a la mode and other mouth-watering dishes.

Fried Chicken or Chicken in a Basket
Cut 3-pound fryer into serving pieces, unless you've bought "parts." Rub each piece of chicken all over with the inside of a lemon that has been cut into quarters, squeezing juice out as you rub.

Then salt each piece liberally with seasoned salt, or onion salt, lifting the skin and salting well underneath it. Sprinkle with freshly ground black pepper.

Put the pieces in a covered dish and let chicken marinate overnight in the refrigerator. When you're ready to cook it, put about 1 teaspoon of butter or margarine in a heavy skillet and brown the pieces lightly on all sides, pressing the chicken down, then moving it around so that it doesn't stick.

As pieces brown, lift them into a broad, flat casserole. If the pieces aren't very well or evenly browned, don't worry, this will be done later.

Into the brown, crusty remainder that sticks to the bottom of the skillet, pour about one-half cup of boiling water and scrape residue until all is blended and the pan bottom is clean.

Taste this mixture, adding a little salt, and perhaps one-half teaspoon of sugar until it's nicely seasoned. Pour over the browned chicken in the casserole.

Cover the casserole tightly with aluminum foil and put it in the oven, set at 350 degrees. Let it bake there for 40 minutes. Remove aluminum foil and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until

Easy Luncheon Dish

Looking for a quick and easy luncheon dish? Just roll a slice of ham around four fresh cooked asparagus spears. Serve with a rich cheese sauce. It's sure to make a big hit.

Italian Recipes Featured in Pocket-Sized Cookbook

The only Italian cookbook in paperback format, "The Art of Italian Cooking" by Maria Lo Pinto, was published this week by Bantam Books. This pocket-size cookbook contains more than 200 recipes for antipasto, soups, spaghetti and pasta, sauces, seafoods, meats, vegetables and salads, game and fowl, and desserts. Special sections on oils, herbs, cheeses, the various types of pasta, wines, luncheon delicacies, and suggested menus are included. Among the hundreds of favorites listed are recipes for:

Veal Scallopine With Marsala
1 pound thin veal cutlets
1 sliced onion
1 cup flour
1/2 cup marsala (sweet sherry)
1/2 pound butter
Salt and pepper to taste
Have veal flattened and cut into 4-inch pieces. Roll in flour. Melt butter; brown cutlets quickly. Add marsala. Cover; simmer over low flame about five minutes. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Serve very hot with lemon slices. Serves four.

Chicken Cacciatore
1 roasting chicken (4 pounds)
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 stalk celery, chopped

1 medium carrot, chopped
1 medium onion, chopped
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon tomato paste
1/2 cup dry sherry
Salt and pepper to taste
Have chicken cleaned and cut into serving pieces. Melt butter and olive oil in hot skillet. Brown chicken on each side about five minutes. Add all chopped vegetables, salt and pepper to taste. Simmer about 10 minutes or until vegetables are partially tender. Gradually add sherry into which tomato paste has been well blended. Cover.

Stir occasionally to prevent sticking. Simmer about 30 minutes. If there is insufficient gravy, add small quantity of water from time to time. Serve very hot. Serves four to six.

1 egg yolk
1 level teaspoon sugar
1/2 half eggshell full of marsala (heavy sweet sherry)
Break egg yolks into top part of large double boiler. Add sugar, six.

Beat with egg beater until light lemon color and thoroughly blended. Add marsala. Beat thoroughly again.
Place boiling water in lower part of double boiler. Cook egg-yolk mixture (over boiling water) about five minutes or until it begins to thicken. Beat constantly while cooking. Do not allow to boil.
Remove from fire immediately upon first sign of bubble. Cool. Place in refrigerator. Serve cold in sherbet or parfait glasses. Serves six.

Quick Yam Custard Will Please Kiddies

The young eater will be pleased to find a wedge of orange or a bit of crisp bacon in his very own Sweet Potato Custard, which can be cooked in minutes right off top of the stove.
One container of golden strained sweet potatoes, makes 2 servings. Quick Sweet Potato Custard

1 cup strained sweet potatoes
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon butter, melted
Topping: Orange or cooked bacon
Combine all ingredients except those used for topping. Pour two greased custard cups and place in pan of gently boiling water.
Cover and cook five to seven minutes or until a knife inserted in the custard will come out clean.
Place wedge of orange in each custard before cooking; or sprinkle crisp, chopped bacon over the top just before serving.

Molasses Gives Icing Caramel Flavor

Molasses, known to the earliest colonists, is also as modern as today's cake mixes. The unsulphured molasses is a mild and delicate sweetener because it is the juice of fully matured sugar cane. It has the sugar, the minerals such as iron, and vitamins found in the cane.

The delicacy of unsulphured molasses gives a wonderful caramel flavor to a broiler frosting. For this quickie frosting, coconut is combined with butter and molasses, spread over a cake and placed under broiler heat for a couple of minutes.

By adding molasses to the old standby seven-minute frosting, one gains a taffy flavor and a frosting smooth and free of sugar crystals.

Molasses Coconut Topping
1 package white or yellow cake mix
1/2 cup unsulphured molasses
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup shredded coconut

Prepare and bake cake according to directions on package, using a 13x9x2 inch oblong pan. Combine molasses and butter; heat until butter is melted. Stir in coconut. Remove from heat. Spread over warm cake. Place under broiler heat two to three minutes or until coconut is brown.

Penneche Frosting
1/4 cup butter
2-3 cup sugar
1-2 cup unsulphured molasses
2 tablespoons evaporated milk
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
Melt butter in saucepan. Add sugar and molasses. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and boil two minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; cool. Stir in evaporated milk. Gradually stir in confectioners' sugar; beat until thick enough to spread. Yield: One and two-thirds cups.

Note: For Penneche Ice Cream Sauce, omit confectioners' sugar. Serve warm or cold. Store in refrigerator. If sauce becomes too thick, add additional evaporated milk.

Molasses Taffy Frosting
1 egg white, unbeaten
1/4 cup water
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons unsulphured molasses
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

Combine egg white, water, sugar, unsulphured molasses and salt in top of double boiler. Beat over rapidly boiling water with rotary or electric beater until frosting stands in peaks.

Remove from heat; add flavoring. Beat until spreading consistency. Frost cake. If desired, garnish with nuts. Yield: Enough for tops and sides of two 8 or 9-inch cake layers.

MACARONI COTTAGE CHEESE RING — Add a bright note to your menu with this unusual Macaroni Cottage Cheese Ring. Serve it with your favorite tomato sauce, pickled peaches and baked ham. It's a budget-saver, as well as a protein-packed dish.

Sauce Tops Off Macaroni Ring

Here's an interesting way to serve macaroni. Bake it in a ring pan and serve the sauce in the middle. Cottage cheese, chopped chives and horseradish make the flavor something special.

Macaroni Cottage Cheese Ring
1 tablespoon salt
2 quarts boiling water
2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ounces)
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 cups creamed cottage cheese
1 tablespoon chopped chives
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper
Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Beat eggs, milk and cheese together. Add chives, horseradish, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and pepper and mix well. Fold in macaroni. Turn into greased 8-inch ring pan. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350) 1 1/2 hours, or until knife inserted comes out clean. Unmold and serve with your favorite tomato sauce. Serves six.

For 'Film' on Eggs
Like your fried eggs with a film formed over the yolks? Then heat a little butter in a skillet and add the eggs. Keep the heat low and cover the skillet tightly; leave the heat on for a minute or so, then turn it off. Leave the cover on the skillet until the eggs are set and the film forms over the yolks — about five minutes.

Ever add a little pure vanilla extract to sliced peaches? Haunting flavor!

Lil' Lemon Muffins Bring Springtime to Your Table

We all know where there's a woman, there's a way, and these muffins are just about the springiest way you can dress up a simple meal.

Even the color of the cornmeal muffins blends beautifully with the natural colors of the fruits to make a perfect ensemble for spring luncheons. And it almost goes without saying that the rich corn flavor and the crunchy texture of these Lil' Lemon Muffins also complement the fruit.

Lemon and spice make everything nice, for there is lemon on the inside and nutmeg on the outside. The shiny crusty glaze on top really does make taste buds tingle.

So whether you arrange an attractive platter of assorted fresh fruits, or fill individual lettuce cups with succulent pieces, you'll agree that any spring salad just naturally takes to these Lil' Lemon Muffins made of enriched cornmeal.

Lil' Lemon Muffins
1/2 cup enriched corn meal
1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
Grated rind of 1 lemon
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
1/4 cup melted shortening
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
Dash of nutmeg
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Sift together dry ingredients into medium-sized bowl; add lemon rind. Stir in beaten eggs and milk. Lightly stir in melted shortening. Fill greased small muffin cups two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven (425) 12 minutes. Remove from oven just long enough to sprinkle glaze (made by combining confectioners' sugar, nutmeg and lemon juice), over tops. Return to oven for three to four minutes. Serve hot. Makes 14-16 muffins.

LIL' LEMON MUFFINS — They look like spring! They taste like spring! These tiny party muffins are none other than the old American favorite — cornmeal muffins — all dressed up gourmet-style for a springtime luncheon. The shiny, crusty glaze is made with sugar, spice and lemon juice. Do try these muffins.

Combine Soups, Seafood for Treats Without Meat

With the help of packaged soup mixes and canned condensed soups, almost any cook can turn out really delicious meatless soups in a very few minutes. Below are three suggestions. The crab bisque using a rich noodle-soup mix produces a special party treat.

Crab Bisque

1 package noodle soup mix
1 stalk celery, chopped
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/4 cups boiling water
1 4-ounce can crabmeat
2 1/2 cups hot milk
2 tablespoons sherry or 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Stir soup mix, onion, celery, and butter into 1 1/4 cups boiling water; cover and boil seven minutes. Pour into electric blender, cover and blend for 45 seconds. Add one-third cup crab meat and blend 15 seconds. Pour into hot milk, add rest of crab meat and sherry or lemon juice. Reheat but do not boil. Serves four or five.

Clam Bisque

Measure one-half cup canned minced clams and one-half cup clam liquor. Follow directions for Crab Bisque, but add 1 tablespoon minced clams and the clam liquor in place of crabmeat to the soup in the electric blender.

Cover and blend one to three seconds. Pour into 1 1/2 cups hot milk and add remaining clams. Reheat but do not boil.

Prize Catch Chowder

2 tablespoons minced onion

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 soup can milk
1 cup minced flaked tuna (1-ounce can)
1 tablespoon minced parsley
Dash black pepper
Paprika

Brown onion lightly in butter. Blend in soup, milk, tuna, parsley and pepper; heat. Ladle soup into heated bowls; garnish with a dash of paprika, if desired. Serves three or four.

Include Dishes Made With Milk in Your Menus

Do you know that... "Milk made" dishes should have a place in menus. From breakfast cereal cooked in milk, to dinner desserts, milk makes meals appetizing and nourishing.

Caramel-flavored baked custard is tasty served with cinnamon-flavored whipped cream.

Cottage cheese, used in preparing a main dish, contributes valuable milk proteins and adds appetite appeal to humdrum meals.

Tea-Bag Dunkers Ought to Hang Heads in Shame

To know whether you're a tea-bag dunker or not, you must first know what a tea-bag dunker is. Generally speaking, a "TBD" is one who doesn't give the tea bag a chance to make a really good cup of tea.

For some reason or other, most TBDs simply cannot resist the temptation to grasp the paper label at the end of the string and, with a very definite up-and-down motion starting at the wrist, they dip the tea bag up and down, down and up, and so on ad infinitum until the boiling water has dropped to a temperature far below the ability to do the tea in the bag any good.

And then they wonder why on earth they can't get a good cup of tea! The truth of the matter is that tea-bag dunkers don't give the tea bag half a chance and blame an insipid cup of tea on the bag—rather than on themselves.

Tea-bag dunkers generally make four mistakes when they get a cup or pot of tea in front of them. No. 1: By dunking the bag up and down, they cause the water to cool off rapidly. To make a good cup of tea, the water must be absolutely boiling. It is the action of the boiling water that extracts the goodness and flavor from the tea bag.

No. 2: Tea-bag dunkers generally continue this devastating up-and-down motion until the water attains a certain color that is pleasing to the dunker's eye. Let it be known here and now—you can't judge a good cup of tea by its color.

Some strong tea blends, strange as it may seem, color up very light, while on the other hand, it's not unusual for a very weak tea to produce a very dark color.

This leads us to error No. 3: TBDs generally brew tea by the color—instead of by the clock. It takes at least three minutes for the boiling water to take action on the tea leaves in the bag. Brew tea by the clock... three to five minutes.

Error No. 4 involves the greatest offender of the tea bag on record. TBDs are known to indiscriminately use the same tea bag over and over again. One pound of tea will make 200 cups of tea—averaging less than one cent per cup. How much can a tea-bag dunker expect to squeeze out of a tea bag!

If tea-bag dunkers had any idea of all the time and trouble that goes into the blending and testing and weighing of the tea leaves that come from halfway around the world, they'd have a little more respect for the modern convenience in tea-making that the little tea bag has brought to Americans, thus enabling them to enjoy tea more often with a minimum amount of effort.

The amount of tea leaves, the size of the tea bag are all calculated with extreme exactness to give tea-drinkers a truly good cup of tea on the scale of one tea bag to every cup of boiling water.

Enough room is left in every single tea bag to accommodate the expansion of the tea leaves in each packet. There are at least 30 and sometimes as many as 50 different kinds of tea in a single tea bag—especially selected for maximum tea-drinking enjoyment.

So—now that you know what a tea-bag dunker is and how he abuses not only the tea bag but his own palate, you might want to start a new reform.

Buy Variety Meals for Thrift, Flavor

When you buy in quantity, you can include in your freezer storage supply one of the variety meats—sweetbreads, kidneys, tongue, liver, heart, oxtail, brains. Or you can add them to your other meat orders at relatively low cost.

Nutritionally, the variety meats are loaded with vitamins and minerals. Economically, they're a real money-saver. Taste-wise, they add new flavor sensations to tired menus. For a starter try this recipe:

Barbecued Beef Kidney

1 beef kidney (about 1½ pounds)
2 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon chili powder
1 tablespoon Worcestershire
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
½ cup catsup

Wash kidney, remove outer membrane. Split through center; remove fat and tubes. Cut kidney in small pieces. Cook covered, in 2 cups water about two hours, or until tender. Drain.

Saute onions in fat; add 1 cup water and remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Add kidney; simmer 20 minutes longer. Serve with fluffy rice or buttered noodles.

Bananas With Pork

Good sidekick for roast pork: Halve bananas lengthwise and spread with soft butter or margarine; top with hot cranberry sauce and bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes. Use canned whole cranberry sauce and break it up as you heat it in a small saucepan on top of the range.

Apples, Raisins Flavor Fritters for Breakfast

Fry Apple Raisin Fritters for a late breakfast on a weekend morning.

Sift together 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar and one-half teaspoon cinnamon.

Combine 1 egg, beaten, one-half cup milk and 1 tablespoon melted shortening. Add 1½ cups chopped apples and one-half cup seedless raisins to liquid mixture. Add to flour mixture, stirring until flour is moistened.

Drop by spoonfuls into deep hot fat (375) and fry until brown, turning frequently. Drain on absorbent paper.

Serve with syrup and pork sausages. Makes about 16 small fritters.

Heat membrane-free orange sections in a spicy sugar syrup and serve with poultry or meat. Whole cloves and stick cinnamon may be used for spicing the syrup.

Women of Forest Lake Sponsor Fashion Showing

Forest Lake Country Club's Women's Group sponsored a luncheon and fashion show Wednesday for members and guests of the club. Mrs. Leland B. Church (right) of Birmingham goes over the list of planned summer events with Mrs. Melville Werner (center) of Birmingham and her guest, Mrs. Forest Dodrill of Bloomfield Hills.

Ensembles for Summer Are Viewed

Wednesday Event Takes Place at the Country Club

Cashmere and linen coordinates highlighted the fashion showing held for women of Forest Lake Country Club Wednesday.

These elegant costumes were shown mostly with imported linen sheath dresses topped by cashmere sweaters which had matching trim of the sheath.

Another feature was the cotton dress (drip-dry, of course) with accordion-pleated skirt making a very lovely summer outfit.

Embroidered sweaters in every color combination imaginable were eye-catchers at the show, and certainly will be seen often this summer over the refined cotton dresses.

Late day and evening dresses of cotton, silk, and some in the new miracle fabrics, all priced moderately, are a delight to the distaff side.

BEAUTIFUL LACE

Climaxing the show was a beautiful blue lace dress, intermission-length in front and draped as a peacock to ankle-length in the back. The strapless gown had a very full skirt.

Modeling the fashions were club members including Mrs. Ferd Brock, Mrs. James Blakeney, Mrs. George Greig, Mrs. William Hartman, Mrs. Herschel Miller, Mrs. George Jacquillard and Mrs. Eugene Cahill.

Others were Mrs. William Hutchins, Mrs. Victor Cramer, Mrs. James Heatherson, Mrs. Stan Gillen, Mrs. Jack Gillespie and Mrs. Sterling Gordon.

Mrs. Alan Pfaff and Mrs. H. A. Swigert were cochairmen of the day.

Mary Holmes, George Purvis Exchange Vows

First Baptist Church was the scene of the ceremony uniting Mary June Holmes and George Richard Purvis in marriage Saturday evening. The Rev. William Hakes performed the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Holmes of Ruth avenue are parents of the bride. George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Purvis of West Fairmount avenue.

A light blue dress with white accessories was chosen by Mary June for her wedding. Her flowers were white orchids and she carried a white Bible.

Mrs. Harold Holmes, her only attendant, wore a salmon-colored dress with white accessories. Harold Holmes, brother of the bride, served as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. The couple is residing on West Fairmount avenue.

Altar Guild Holds China Card Party

Eighty-five tables were in play at the bone china cup and saucer card party held by St. Michael Altar Guild Tuesday evening.

Mrs. A. C. West, Mrs. Robert Galloway, Mrs. Paul Palace, Mrs. John Bookie and Mrs. Leo Halfpenny presided at the silver services during the tea hour. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a spring floral arrangement, flanked by matching tapers in silver candelabra.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to further the guild's work in the parish.

Authority in Fund-Raising Visits State Republicans

Mrs. Julie B. Kirlin of Boston, a former member of the Republican National Finance Committee, is a leading fund-raising expert in the Republican party.

Bride-to-Be Receives Crystal Gifts

Mary A. Pickering Feted at Luncheon in Cloonan Home

Mrs. Stephen J. Cloonan Jr. and Mrs. Robert R. Eldred entertained at a luncheon and crystal shower in the Cloonan home at Watkins Lake Wednesday.

The affair honored Mary Ann Pickering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pickering of Alice avenue, who will become the bride of Vincent J. Raymond Jr. on May 12. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Raymond of Detroit.

Guests were seated at small tables marked with individual favors and placecards. Nosegay arrangements of yellow jonquils placed in silver lace dollies centered each table.

Invited guests included Mrs. Pickering, Mrs. Raymond, Mrs. Sydney J. Baer, Mrs. Glen Torrey, Mrs. H. Guy Moats, Mrs. Vere Hodges and Mrs. Frank Syron.

Mrs. Joseph W. Christie, Mrs. William J. Dean Jr., Mrs. Charles Corwin and Mrs. Martin Rummel of Birmingham were also invited.

Mission Bells Unit Makes Bandages

The Mission Bells of St. John Lutheran Church met with Mrs. Karl Erickson of Henderson street Tuesday evening. Devotions were given by Mrs. Kenneth Anderson.

Twenty members attended the meeting and rolled bandages for the Lutheran missionary hospitals in Africa. Cancer pads were also sewn for the American Cancer Society. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Erickson and Mrs. Ruth Williamson.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Theodore Fauble on Shellbrook road.

MOMS Wrap Gifts for Hospital Patients

Gifts were wrapped for patients at the Oakland County TB Hospital by MOMS of America, Inc. The group met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Jones on Cass avenue.

Mrs. Harry Luxon will be hostess at the May meeting.

Moose Group Hears Talk

Mrs. Arthur Evans of Detroit Chapter 337, Women of the Moose, was speaker at the Friendship Chapter night held by Pontiac Women of the Moose Monday evening.

"Friendship" was the subject discussed by the speaker followed by an original composition "Friends" sang by Michael Oberly.

Mrs. Howard McCandless gave the address of welcome with Mrs. Loretta Jobette of Taylor Township chapter giving the response. Ritual work was done by members from Detroit, Dearborn, Lincoln Park and Taylor Township chapters.

New members initiated into the group in honor of Mrs. Gertrude Evans were Mrs. George Hicks, Mrs. Jay Olsen, Mrs. Robert Mandel, Mrs. L. Shurts and Mrs. Francis Dunn.

She is now attached to the Republican National Headquarters in raising projects by women and will have a fund-raising engagement in Detroit this week.

Her ability in the fund-raising field was exhibited in her vice chairmanship of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee. In 1950 she was instrumental in initiating a Massachusetts statewide doorbell-ringing drive.

In 1953, she became identified with the Republican National Finance Committee. With Mrs. Charles A. Dean Jr. of Grose

She also has served as an ad-men member.

She also has served as an adviser to the Office of International Trade Fairs in the U. S. Department of Commerce.

A long-time worker in the Republican Party, she has filled numerous positions. In Boston, she has been active in the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety, the Boston Community Fund, the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Advertising Club.

Mothers' Club Holds Meeting

At the Tuesday evening meeting of the Boys' Club, invited the Boys' Club, Mr. Caulacos, director of the Boys' Club, invited the group to attend the dinner being served by the senior boys in May.

A gift was presented to the Boys' Club by members of the mothers' organization, Mrs. Ralph Wier was appointed chairman of the group's annual trip.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Leonard Johnson, Mrs. Harold MacKenzie, Mrs. Kenneth Nichols and Mrs. Cameron Clark.

Meeting Attended by Sorority Chapter

Mrs. Clifford Maitson opened her home on Illinois avenue for the Wednesday meeting of Xi Alpha Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Mrs. Willard Sovey assisted the hostess.

Receiving their exemplar degree were Mrs. Edward Markham, Mrs. Robert Pritchett, Mrs. Richard Ferris, Mrs. George Heenan and Joanne McLain, members of Gamma Psi Chapter.

Betty Bryan was a guest of the group. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Elwyn Hall in Drayton Plains.

Mrs. James Blakeney (left) of Utica road and Mrs. W. E. Hartman Jr. of Birmingham are all set for golf or tennis in their Bermuda shorts which they modeled at Forest Lake Country Club Wednesday.

Male Models Wow the Ladies

Waterford GOP Women Present Men's Fashions

Waterford Township Republican Women's Club put on a very special affair for their members at the CAI Building Tuesday evening.

It was a time for women to do the whistling as men were presented in a fashion show sporting latest spring and summer fashions from Osmun's.

First to appear was Louis Berry wearing a tailored suit of gray imported worsted. The lightweight fabric appeared cool enough for mid-summer days.

Some of the models were a little excited by all the attention and applause—like Fred Ziem who made a right turn instead of a left. But he's still one of our favorite fashion models.

He looked debonair in the striped sport coat of light weight woolen. The handsome models made all heads turn as they paraded down the runway. Orrin McQuaid caused a flurry of excitement in the charcoal brown suit of silk and cotton. This blending of fabric gives an elegant look to any suit and is designed to hold its press.

COOL BERMUDAS

A "bell-ringer" was worn by John Bell. This modest priced suit of dacron and cotton blend is washable—a drip and dry fabric. Designers thought of women when they came up with this idea.

Lloyd Anderson made golfers drool when he came out wearing an outfit that would flatter any golf course. The nylon wind resistant green jacket sported a bright checked cap and the stacks of cotton and dacron corded fabric were designed to wash and wear.

A striped blazer sport coat was worn by Justice Willis LeFurgy. Slacks with this outfit were gray worsted. There was casual elegance in this outfit.

Justice Burt White's suit of lightweight mohair with a tropical weave was a truly luxurious suit. Women in the audience agreed after seeing these fashions that there was no excuse for a poorly groomed man.

Cochairmen of the event were Mrs. Byron L. Cole and Mrs. Ben Bowman.

Assisting were Mrs. Everett Reese, Mrs. Floyd Andrews, Mrs. William Bedard, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Willis LeFurgy, Mrs. Clifford B. Steffey, Mrs. Edward F. Collins, Mrs. Omer W. Lewis and Mrs. Fred A. Reffee.

Others were Mrs. Donald E. White, Mrs. Paul Jans, Mrs. L. Raymond Sampson, Mrs. W. Arthur Vernon and Mrs. Robert Sutton. Mrs. Lynn D. Allen, president, welcomed the guests.

Designed to take you all through summer are these dresses modeled by members of the Women's Group of Forest Lake Country Club. Models (left to right) are Mrs. Ferd Brock of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. William M. Hutchins of Birmingham and Mrs. Raymond E. Cahill of Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Kelly Chooses Three-Layer Beige Ensemble for Royal Wedding

By OLGA CURTIS

MONTE CARLO (INS) — Mrs. John B. Kelly Sr. wore a floor-length, three-layer beige ensemble at today's royal wedding of her daughter Grace to Prince Rainier III.

The bride's mother chose an ensemble by Sonia of New York consisting of three layers: Ivory beige satin; flesh-colored tulle and Pale beige lace.

She also wore a matching jacket and a hat of lace and tulle in beige flesh color with matching roses nestled in the tulle.

Mrs. Kelly's gown was a fitting companion piece for Grace's gorgeous wedding dress. The bride's gown was a bell-shaped lace and silk creation of Hollywood's Helen Rose.

It will become a permanent exhibit at the Philadelphia Art Museum after the wedding festivities.

The ensemble of the bride's mother is typical of the exquisite gowns which added to the regal marriage amid the jeweled splendor of the high-vaulted 30-year-old gray stone cathedral.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's gown was of street-length pink chiffon with a bow in back with two tails from the bow falling to the ankles. Mrs. Whitney's hat was in a deeper tone pink, with matching velvet bag and her famous Empress Eugenie pearl and sable jacket.

Mrs. Aristotelle Onassis, wife of the man who holds financial control of the tiny land Miss Kelly now rules as princess, wore a sky-blue pure silk organza embellished with silver thread leaves with matching coat of the same material with a tie at the neck, small hat and the huge marquise-cut diamond over other fabulous Onassis gems.

The costuming of the wedding procession rivaled any comparable royal occasion in recent history.

The four diminutive flower girls carried bouquets of little daisies with tulle collarettes of yellow satin ribbon, while in their hair there were placed little white daisies.

Princess Rainier followed the bride to the altar in a Napoleon-type dress uniform with sky blue trousers, dark blue jacket and a high collar embroidered in crowns of gold braid, gold cuffs and epaulettes and a cord of gold on the right shoulder.

The Prince wore a bicorne hat with white feathers.

A wedding ring for the bride is placed on Grace's finger by Prince Rainier III, during the Monaco cathedral wedding this morning which made them husband and wife in the eyes of the Roman Catholic Church. They were wed in a civil ceremony yesterday. The bride had to help the nervous Prince in slipping the ring on her finger.

Church. They were wed in a civil ceremony yesterday. The bride had to help the nervous Prince in slipping the ring on her finger.

Plymouth Group Holds Meeting

The Plymouth Group of the Congregational Church met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Fernman on Opdyke road. Ruth Tyrer assisted the hostess.

Devotions were given by Fay Donaldson who used the Twenty-Third Psalm as interpreted by the Indians, for her topic. The group contributed to the Christian rural overseas project.

Mrs. Stanley E. Ipp presented the program telling of the work done by the church with the Indians of North and South Dakota. A skit entitled, "The Bell Rang" telling how the church provides assistance to the Indians was presented.

Old, New Bridal Garb Is Modeled

BPW Club Holds Wedding Fashion Show at PHS

Brides today and yesterday were presented in the bridal fashion show sponsored by the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday evening at Pontiac High School.

The first portion of the program was devoted to the modeling of wedding gowns belonging to members or their friends and relatives. The oldest gown modeled was an 1880 style of heavy ivory faille with French imported lace trim.

A short satire of a wedding party was presented between the showing of the old and the new in wedding styles. Vera Bassett, Mrs. C. William Salton, Mrs. Fritz Stoddard, Mrs. Janet Dow and Mrs. Albert Leighton took part in the skit.

A black and white tiny checked voile dress with a lace-trimmed bodice, worn by Joella Dempsey as a part of a troupe, won acclaim from the audience. The De Cor Shop presented troupe fashion. Nora Day modeled a rain-bow-toned cocktail dress of silk organza.

In the presentation of current bridal fashions by the Althea Bridal Salon, one winning "ohs" from the audience was a sheath dress of white lace over pink bridal satin with a detachable overskirt of pink nylon tulle. The dress was modeled as a choice for the maid of honor.

Vocal music was presented by Mrs. Rebecca Gould and C. Stait Lloyd.

Party to Be Given for Mrs. Alexander

Mrs. Flora Alexander of Williams street will celebrate her 80th birthday Saturday. Her granddaughter and grandson-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Lidgey of Birmingham, will honor her with an open house at their home Sunday from 2 to 5 p. m.

A resident of Pontiac for 53 years, Mrs. Alexander's children are George S. Young of Detroit and Mrs. Eunice Koehler of San Leandro, Calif.

Grace Given 138 Titles of Royalty

Many Honors Refer to Areas No Longer in Existence

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Grace Kelly received 138 titles all at once when she wed Prince Rainier III. But many of them refer to villages long since wiped off the map of France.

Rainier rules only over Monaco's 370 acres. Other titles attached to still existing places are just honorary.

Grace is actually twice a princess, four times duchess, once a viscountess, eight times countess, four times marchioness and nine times baroness. To these are added 110 other titles which translate into "lady."

Her second princess title is that of Princess de Chateau-Porcier. A century-old encyclopedia describes the place as a village of 1900 inhabitants in eastern France with a 16th century church adorned with a "nice spire."

Latest encyclopedias have dropped any mention of Chateau-Porcier, and no sizeable map of France shows it.

The duchess titles include that of Mazarin, reminiscent of King Louis XIV's Prime Minister. The Viscountess of Murat harks back to Napoleonic days. Murat was Napoleon's brother-in-law.

Two of the countess titles point to eastern France: Belfort and Thann.

Thann sent a group of young choir singers to take part in the wedding festivities.

Grace will also be Marchioness of Baux, a 12th Century village in southern France which gave its name to bauxite. The aluminum ore was first found there.

She will also be marchioness of three other places which would appear only on a very detailed map.

Areme Chapter of OES Initiates Two Members

Mrs. Dale Hodge and Mrs. James Reinert were initiated into Areme Chapter 503, OES, when the group met Monday evening at Roosevelt Temple.

Past Masters of the chapter were honored by Mrs. Edward Pritchard. They include Mrs. William Zigler, Mrs. James Hampton, Mrs. Eugene Perkle, Mrs. Grover Renley, Mrs. Raymond Swaney, Mrs. Lester Oles and Mrs. Lyle Venner. Each was presented a token of appreciation as she was introduced.

Announcement was made of the Oakland County Association spring meeting to be held at Rochester April 26. Reservations are to be in by today.

Guests attending were Mrs. Beatrice Mundy, past grand warder; Mrs. Ralph Clara, past grand Easter of the Grand Chapter of Michigan and Mrs. J. U. Walker of Crossett, Ark.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. A. F. Snyder, Mrs. Jack Overcashier, Mrs. Walter Mackie, Mrs. Bernice Stafford, Mary Trask and Mrs. Victor Bodamer.

Shower Given for Bride-to-Be Grace Campbell

Grace Campbell was honoree at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Erick Pearson in her home on Sherbourne drive.

The table was centered with a floral arrangement and candles. Decorating the cake was a miniature bride and bridesmaids. Wedding bells and streamers completed the decorations.

Guests attending were Mrs. John Campbell, Annette Campbell, Mrs. Thomas Olson, Mrs. John Wenssten, Mrs. John Englund, Mrs. Arvid Englund, Mrs. Eloy Bergstrom, Mrs. Carl Hoff, Mrs. Claude Parcells.

Mrs. Jack Malmquist, Mrs. Arthur Skarbo, Mrs. Marie Opland, Mrs. Alex Nilson, Mrs. Carl Westnes, Mrs. Ted Anderson, Mrs. Alex Newman and Mrs. Corey Hasseth also attended.

Repair Makeup Quickly and Unobtrusively

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For many years there's been a hot argument going on around the office water coolers, namely, whether or not a woman stays within the realm of the proprieties and her personal rights when she makes beauty repairs while on the job.

Certainly it is important that a girl look well-groomed all day long, but how much repair work she should do on the boss' time is a question. In order to settle this, Max Factor Jr. acts as arbitrator by listing 10 "do's" and "don'ts."

Certainly no one is better equipped to do this since Mr. Factor is the employer of thousands of women and is beauty counselor to millions.

Here is his list:

1. Do go to the powder room any time you wish to freshen up. That's as basic as your right to vote. However, limit the time to five minutes. No employer will object to that.

Hold the time to five minutes by renewing only the "mask." That's the area between your eyebrows, over your nose and around your mouth and chin. You skip eye and cheek makeup which you cannot do over in a hurry. Use cleansing cream to remove makeup from the mask area. Then blend fresh foundation on cleansed areas.

RENEW LIPSTICK

2. Do renew your lipstick when the color has worn off. Gray lips among the usual red lips of others makes one look tired and dreary.

3. Do kill the shine on your nose, or any place on your face where it may occur, by puffing on pressed cream powder from your purse or desk drawer compact.

4. You can renew your perfume. That takes no time at all but be certain that it is a very light fragrance.

5. Do renew your deodorant when necessary because of office stress or strain or hot weather.

6. Stop a run in your stocking by dabbing the top and bottom with clear nail polish or sticky wet soap. There also are products in small containers for this purpose. 7. Do brush your suede shoes or give your leather walkers a brush in your desk drawer.

One of the "do's" for the working girl, listed by Max Factor Jr., is to renew your lipstick when the color has worn off.

Junior Guild Meets at McLeod Home

The Junior Wesleyan Service Guild of Central Methodist Church met with Joan and Jean McLeod of Old Orchard drive Tuesday evening.

The budget for the church year 1956-57 was presented and approved. The nominating committee, Jean McLeod, Elizabeth White and Marilyn Reinhardt, presented a slate of officers to be voted on at the May meeting.

Delores Smith has charge of devotions. Jean Kimple, guest speaker, showed slides of Mexico and told of her trips there. The next meeting will be held at the home of Barbara DeWolfe on Center street.

Shovels and sled runners slide more easily if rubbed generously with soap.

Mrs. Gottschalk Explains Work to Xi Pi Chapter

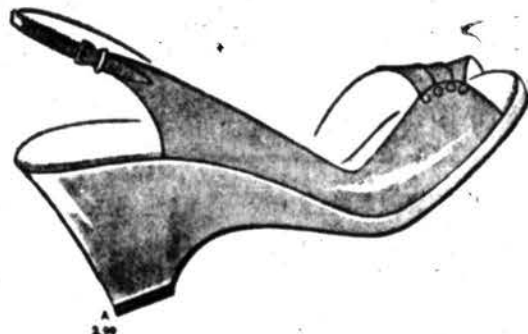

Mrs. Irwin Gottschalk addressed members of Xi Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority when the group met Tuesday evening. Virginia and Margaret Luther were hostesses at their home on Lincoln avenue.

The speaker told of her work in the Hearing Consultation Service in the schools and in the community.

During the business meeting conducted by Margaret Luther, president, a report of the nominating committee was presented by Elizabeth Halsey. The group presented a bon-voyage gift to Adah Shelby.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses following the meeting.

MALING SHOES

You Never Had It so Good

Look! Soft, soft foam rubber to cushion your step! A silky lining to caress your foot! Supple kid to make walking an even greater pleasure! And glamorous styling to—well, your observers never had it so good, either! (And we might say the same for your budget. Look at Maling's low prices.)

Thick, cloud-soft foam from toe to heel.
Butter soft kid.

8. Do a little quick patch work on your nails if necessary.
9. Don't tie up your hands for 15 or 20 minutes by recutting all 10 nails. This should be done at home.
10. Don't wind up or brush pin curls on office time. Don't comb your hair in the office.
It all seems to be a question of whether your hand is quicker than the boss' eye. He likes that well-groomed appearance but your desk and the office are not the places to acquire it. Necessary repairs should be made in the powder room and should take only a few minutes.
If you will keep the essential cosmetics in a small plastic bag at your office you can follow the suggestions given today with the expenditure of very little time.
Tomorrow: "Here's How to Properly Do the 'Double Cross'."

PTA Entertained by Mothersingers

Mothersingers participated in the program presented by the Dublin PTA at the school Tuesday evening. Following the program the members traveled to the home of Mrs. Grace Reddeman in Milford for their meeting.

Plans were completed for the program they will present at the PTA State Convention being held in Detroit April 24, 25, 26. Mrs. Robert Baldwin will open her home on West Strathmore avenue for the cooperative dinner to be held in May.

Returns to Pontiac

Mrs. Vernon Hatte of North Francis street has returned to her home after being called to Johnstown, Pa., due to the death of her brother, Alfred A. Cleaze.

Pink and Blue Top in Britain

LONDON (INS) — Pink and blue are the colors England's top designers favor for spring.

In the recent showings by the Society of London Fashion Designers, such fashion experts as John Cavanagh, Norman Hartnell, Hardy Amies and Digby Morton agreed on pink wools ranging from pale apple blossom to vivid peony.

The alternate favorite, blue, was shown by most designers, especially Hartnell and Amies, both of whom design for Queen Elizabeth. Jewel blues were especially popular, particularly sapphire, aquamarine and turquoise.

FRANCES L. DARNALL

Mrs. Sandy Acker of Euclid avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Frances L. Darnall of South Parke street, to Johnny Whittle of Oakland avenue. He is the son of Mrs. Elma Smith of Piggotte, Ark. They plan a May 5 wedding.

That Nice Feeling

After preparing dinner, you'll feel more like a lovely lady if you smooth cologne or toilet water on your brow and hands. You'll sit down to the meal feeling refreshed and pretty.

Try the Whole-Hearted Approach

By ANNE HEYWOOD
It is said of G. K. Chesterton, the British novelist, that when he scrubbed a floor, that floor was really clean.
I have noticed wherever I go, that the most successful people always have a tendency to do everything they do in a really whole-hearted way.

Everything interests them, nothing is beneath them. Their whole lives are full of zest.

I thought of this some months ago, when I guested on a radio show conducted by a beloved New England mistress of ceremonies.

The announcer seemed so different from some announcers I've met. He really listened to my answers, really listened to the mistress of ceremonies, really whole-heartedly entered into the show.

JUST GESTURES
Some men, on such a show, just kind of go through the gestures, as if this was a lot of nonsense but after all, as the saying goes, "It's a living."

I had a hunch that this was no ordinary announcer and my hunch was right!

Later, at brunch, while the three of us were talking, I learned something about this young man, Carl de Suse.

In addition to working on this very popular show, Mr. de Suse has his own early morning show, plus television, plus feature stories for one of his city's leading newspapers, plus articles in general magazines.

But that isn't all. Mr. de Suse has the travel bug, too, and every year he makes a jaunt, with camera and tape recorder, to some remote part of the world.

He does it on his so-called-vacation—and then lectures about his trips to audiences all over New England!

YUGOSLAVIA NEXT
He was planning to go to Yugoslavia when I met him. He told me of the fabulous complications involved in taking recording and photo equipment to foreign places. But you could see that he loved every minute of it and that he did every bit of it with the same whole-hearted zest with which he had announced the morning's program. You could also understand why his lectures are so popular.

"After all," he told me, "I've always been basically interested in people. I have more or less felt that I could, in a small way, imitate the United Nations by bringing people of different lands face to face with each other—outlining their lives, their problems and their countries with an eye to the beautiful as well as the ugly, the humor as well as the pathos."
If you're not as successful as you'd like to be, resolve this minute to do every single chore as whole-heartedly and zestfully as you can.

It'll make a new person of you! (Copyright 1956)

Hosts May Let Guests Treat Them

However, Visitors Are Not Required to Entertain

By EMILY POST
A hostess writes: "Very often my husband and I have friends come to stay with us anywhere from a week end to two weeks. Naturally we do all we can to entertain them and make their visit pleasant.
"Occasionally guests will offer to pay some of the expenses of entertainment, such as taking us to dinner, or the theater, etc. What should our attitude be under the circumstances? Should we let them do this, or must we, the hosts, pay for everything?"

Answer: It is not expected of them, but if they want to invite you out, you of course accept with pleasure, and show appreciation.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son has been away at boarding school and when he returned home recently for the Easter holiday, I noticed that he always left a little food on his plate.

"When I questioned him about it he said that he was taught always to do this and that to finish everything on one's plate was considered very 'hoggish.' I have never before heard of this and would like to know if there is such a rule of etiquette."

Answer: To deliberately leave a portion of food on one's own plate has never been accepted etiquette—in fact, it is pure waste.

Icardi Case Awaits Decision

Judge Must Choose to Dismiss Indictment, or Continue Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's prosecution of ex-Army Lt. Aldo L. Icardi hung in the balance today.

U.S. District Judge Richmond B. Keach had the task of deciding whether (1) to dismiss the indictment against Icardi or (2) to continue the trial to a conclusion, possibly weeks away.

The judge ordered court convened today without saying specifically that he would be ready to rule then. But opposing attorneys, knowing his penchant for after hours work, expected that he would be.

Icardi is being tried on a perjury charge based on his denial of complicity in the World War II slaying of OSS Maj. William V. Holahan behind enemy lines in Italy. He made the denial before a House Armed Services subcommittee.

The legal question before the judge was this: was the subcommittee, before which Icardi testified voluntarily in March 1953, engaged in a valid legislative purpose?

If the judge finds that it wasn't, Icardi's denial becomes not pertinent and material. Proof of perjury and materiality are an essential element in a perjury prosecution.

And it is a question the judge—not the jury—must decide.

Close School Facilities

KALAMAZOO (AP)—The gymnasium and auditorium of Roosevelt School have been ordered closed down as a safety measure after inspectors found a vertical fracture in a concrete wall. Further study will be made to determine whether the wall can be repaired.

Sneaky 'Fire' Thief

JACKSON (AP)—A sneak thief waited until firemen answered a house call Wednesday, then rifled their clothing of money. Losses ranged from 15 cents to $10.

Urge American Music Teachers to Instruct Jazz

ST. LOUIS (AP)—America's music teachers have been urged to teach fundamentals of jazz "as an important American art form."

Dave Brubeck, modern jazz pianist, yesterday demonstrated his piano techniques at the closing session of the National Conference of Music Educators.

"There's no mystery about jazz," Brubeck said. "It's based as much on fundamentals as anything you can teach."

George Avakian, director of jazz artists for Columbia Records, told the teachers he isn't worried about the current "Rock and Roll" craze.

It is neither a cause nor an effect of juvenile delinquency, he said.

"Today's rock and roll kids will probably grow up into dull, respectable citizens," he added.

THE JUNIOR CIRCUS—4
Jumbo Junior

The Junior Circus has a little elephant called Jumbo Junior. He can do tricks, walk on his hind legs, and stand on his front legs. His last trick in the act is to climb up on a big ball on top of a stand, and balance carefully as it tips this way and that.

For your cutout, color the picture, then cut the parts out carefully. Fold back the ends of the platform and it will stand up.

Attach the ball with Jumbo Junior on it to the platform with a brass fastener through the holes indicated and Jumbo Junior will rock back and forth if you give him a little help.

(This idea was first sent to us by Bobby Bright, Nitro, W. Va. Perhaps you have an idea for Junior Editors. Send it care of this newspaper and it may be worth $10 to you.)

Wet-Strength Sacks Used to Carry Mail

WASHINGTON—The Post Office Department is making a time-and-cost-saving departure from old methods of moving mail in canvas sacks. It's using new water-repellent paper containers reinforced with glass-fiber mesh in handling ocean-going bulk-mail shipments. The paper sacks weigh 15 ounces, the canvas sacks more than 3 pounds. This cuts transportation costs more than a third. Time is saved through machine sewing to seal the paper sacks. The canvas ones are repaired by hand.

South Africa's Orange Free State will be short 900 teachers this year, according to the Free State Teachers' Association.

Would That Others Did

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Jim Stehling, 6, organized a new boys club and proudly showed his big brother, Scott, the membership list. Jim, three of his pals, and Jesus, "You've got Jesus on your list," said Scott, impressed. "Does he belong to your club?" "Sure," said Jim. "He's going to be there anyway, so I thought I'd make Him a member."

Dining Rooms Lost

EAST LANSING (AP)—A five-year study by a Michigan State University researcher indicates dining rooms are on the way out in modern living. Mrs. Alice Thorpe, a home management researcher, says her studies show most families do much of their eating in the kitchen, although many homemakers feel dining rooms are necessary if they are to teach their children good table manners and how to entertain guests.

So It Has Been Said

WASHINGTON—Wood is a superior insulating material, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, because it is made up of myriad cells containing dead air spaces that retard the passage of heat and cold.

Improve Computer

LOS ANGELES—The first electronic computer employing magnetic amplifiers instead of vacuum tubes has been placed on the market by a Los Angeles firm. The company claims that the magnetic amplifiers have a much longer life than conventional vacuum tubes, which have filaments that burn out.

Television Used in Banks Thwarts Robbery Attempts

CHICAGO (INS)—Television is making the bank bandit the "vanishing American" and at the same time is increasing banking service to busy, rural customers.

Since the time Caesar dumped diamonds and crocodiles into the same pond as a safeguard from thievery, increasingly safer methods have been invented to cope with equally talented stick-up men.

Latest safety development is the Monitor Teller-Vue, a compact unit containing a television receiver, currency tray, two-way loud-speaker and enough alarms to send cops scurrying even if the teller momentarily leaves his position unguarded.

The teller-vue contains a closed circuit television unit developed to operate between a bank's central record keeping office and its branch walk-in or drive-in banks in rural areas many miles away, or in the arcade of a large, busy downtown building.

INCREASES TRADE

Until the teller-vue was unveiled recently in Chicago, walk-in and drive-in banks were unable to provide adequate service because they lacked records which occupy vast space, were expensive to duplicate and would require additional bookkeepers.

Frequently in the past, a rural bank had to turn away customers because signature or balance verification was not available.

With the use of television, however, a teller sitting behind a thick, bullet-proof glass window in a suburban four-by-eight branch office can handle all but the biggest bank transactions.

The teller need only press a button and through the two-way loud-speaker request any customer's records from a central location. The customer's signature and balance is flashed back for verification and the transaction completed in seconds.

CUTS EXPENSES

Edwin H. Mosier Jr., president of the New York firm which developed the Monitor Teller-Vue, predicts that within a year most banks will have the unit in operation. He said that in addition, it will cut expenses and increase customers in busy, high rent areas and provide service in railroad terminals, airport shopping centers, sports coliseums and theater districts.

The new device, on which a patent is pending, actually is a cash protection and control system containing an RCA television unit with numerous security innovations.

Bible Still Outsell All Best Sellers

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Best-sellers come and go, but the Bible keeps rolling along. Last year, 1955, was the all-time record year for Bible sales in the U. S., and publishers and booksellers alike figure that '56 should see a new record.

Each year, too, the Bible comes out in some new dress. By now there are an estimated 1,000 different versions of the Bible and the two Testaments — in everything from Braille editions for the blind to special abbreviated versions for children.

In 1955, some six million Bibles were sold in the U.S. By far the vast majority of these were the King James version editions, but sizable sales were racked up for the Old Testament sold separately, the new Revised Standard Version and other special versions of all or portions of the Bible.

OUTSELLS BEST SELLER

This six million figure compares with the approximately 450,000 sales of the so-called "best-seller" of '55 — Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "Gift From the Sea." And, when you figure the Bible has been in circulation for a few years before, it's easy to see the tremendous edge this sacred book has over all other books ever printed.

While the Bible is generally thought of as a black-covered book, there've been some inroads made into that field by a few publishers. White Bibles have been issued for some years and in the last few years, there've been a few printed with red, gray and even multi-colored jackets. These all serve specific purposes—the red is designed for Mother's Day, for instance.

One Bible oddity that is selling increasingly well is the Bible in Basic English. This version contains a vocabulary of only 850 words and is pointed at people with a limited knowledge of the English language.

"Trick" Bibles are also part of the publishing picture. Some publishers print especially small editions, with small print, extra-thin paper and small overall size. You can get a Bible the size of a book of matches, for instance. And, for display purposes, there've been huge Bibles printed, one as large as a grand piano.

ABS LEADS DISTRIBUTION

fied house is the American Bible Society, which has editions in virtually every language on the globe. Figures for 1955 aren't available, but the Society says last year definitely beat '54, when it distributed more than nine million Bibles around the world.

In '55, it brought out a new illustrated version of the New Testament, selling for $2, which had a substantial circulation.

The Society maintains a special division circulating Bibles for the blind. They have a Braille Bible (20 volumes, $60), Bible in the Moon System of raised letters rather than the raised dots of Braille (58 volumes, more than $200), and a set of the Bibles on record, read by Alexander Scourby (170 10-inch records, which take 85 hours to play).

In '55, the blind division added the 41st language to its library of Braille Bibles in foreign tongues — this latest being Tamil, a language of India.

RECORD BRAILLE SALES

As with ordinary Bibles, Bibles for the blind had a record circulation year in '55. In fact, each year of the last ten has seen a new mark set.

Publishers and booksellers see the steadily increasing sales of such units feel that one of the first purchases they should make is a Bible. The second factor, perhaps not so coldly statistical, is the resurgence of religious interest in the nation.

A third reason, which the publishers themselves do not mention, is the increase in advertising expenses. While the Bible of itself is sold to the Government for a proposed national park.

and Easter shoppers that a Bible makes a fine gift, run to sums which booksellers feel set a record in '55.

One leading New York book store, according to its spokesman, "spent more on advertising Bibles in '55 than we spent in the last 10 years combined." This store also set up a special Bible department last year, which matches similar units featured by several of the leading New York department stores.

Rural Schools Keep Students

MSU Survey Reveals City Schools Lose More High School Pupils

EAST LANSING (U) — Children in the smaller communities are more likely to finish high school than students in schools with large enrollments.

This was one of the facts turned up by an extensive study of 441 Michigan high schools made by Dr. George R. Myers, education specialist at Michigan State University.

Dr. Myers said Michigan ranks ninth in the nation in the holding power of its public secondary schools with about 70 per cent of the ninth graders eventually graduating from high school.

"Schools with larger enrollments and classes tend to have a higher percentage of dropouts than smaller schools," he said.

"This may be due to the fact that in smaller schools the teacher is more likely to take a direct interest in the individual child.

"In the small town or rural center, the school also frequently serves as a focus for social and recreational activity so the young people may more readily develop a sense of belonging than in city high schools.

"Also, jobs in business and industry are less often available for the teenager in the small community."

The survey found that more boys than girls leave schools and more transfer students than non-transferers. Non-graduating students tend to be employed at more menial jobs than graduates.

Yule Tree Traced to Medieval Play

BONN, Germany—Some authorities say the Christmas tree originated in the medieval mystery play, "Paradise," in Germany. In this religious drama, performed either inside or just outside the German churches, trees represented the Tree of Life and the Tree of Good and Evil.

Later the trees were placed in homes and decorated with white wafers representing the Holy Eucharist. Still later, cookies and other decorations were added. Lighted candles were put on the trees for the first time in the middle of the 17th Century.

Soviet Hierarchy Unveiling New Policy Exposing Future Leaders to the West

LONDON (INS) — The visit of Russia's top two leaders to London starting yesterday has thrust to the fore a new young mystery man of the Soviet hierarchy.

He is S. N. Khrushchev, listed among the "counselors" or experts of the party, and described as a student at an electrical institute. He is also the son of Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party boss, who will tour Britain with Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Inclusion of young Khrushchev's name in the party was the first time it had come to the attention of the West. And it evidently was the first time many Russians outside of their native land ever heard of it either.

PREVIOUSLY UNKNOWN

Inquiries at the Soviet embassy, to the chief Tass correspondent in London, and to the editor of the Soviet weekly of London elicited no information whatever about him.

At each of these places the answer was the same—"have no information on him," "nothing in our files about him," or "don't know anybody outside of Russia."

who would have such information.

A top Soviet expert at the foreign office did add one little item to the official announcement—he believed that this was Khrushchev's second son, the first having been killed in World War II.

MIKOYAN'S SON RISING

Another new name, about which there is even greater mystery, is that of Stepan Mikoyan, 34, son of the Soviet deputy foreign minister, Anastas Mikoyan. He is one of the nine pilots who have applied for visas in connection with courier flights between London and Moscow.

It was the same when Stalin's son, Major General Vassili Stalin, first appeared in the news after World War II.

He was first identified toward the end of World War II as a Soviet war hero. As he gained favor with his dictator father increasing information got through the "Iron Curtain" about him. Finally he became a full-fledged member of the Soviet hierarchy in his own right as chief of the Red air force.

For months nothing has been heard of him, and it is believed in official circles that he may have been a victim of a minor purge in connection with the discrediting of his father.

But what impresses London observers is that while young Stalin and other well-connected Soviet youths were not permitted outside of the Iron Curtain, the new Soviet regime is exposing similar young men to the once suspect outer world.

This has some Londoners wondering whether the post-Stalin leaders may be working towards a more realistic policy in their attitude towards the West—a policy which will include giving the coming generation of leaders a good look at Western nations as they are, and not as Marx claimed them to be.

Watch the Boiler

GREEN BAY, Wis. (U) — Children at the Franklin Junior High School don't listen for the school bell because there isn't any. The school uses a steam whistle which school engineer George Bunker made from an automobile exhaust pipe. It can be heard for two miles.

LABOR OF LOVE — Erich Barth works on a wood model of the Cologne, Germany, Cathedral, on which he spent 1,000 hours. It is four-and-a-half feet high and four feet long.

Canadian Railway Largest on Continent

OTTAWA — The largest railway organization on the North American continent and one of the largest in the world is the Canadian National Railways System. It operates in every province of Canada and in 12 states of the United States. It runs trains, buses, ships, hotels, trucks, telephone and telegraph systems, and is Canada's largest single employer, outside of the Federal Government.

No-Carburetor Car Requires Less Fuel

WILMINGTON, Del. — A fuel-injection, carburetorless automobile uses 14 per cent less fuel than conventional cars at speeds up to 60 miles an hour, according to the Wilmington company that developed the method.

A pump transfers gasoline from the fuel tank through a filter to a fuel-injection pump, forcing a spray of identical amounts of fuel through nozzles into each cylinder of the automobile's engine.

Ship-Building Record

STAVANGER, Norway — Norwegian shipyards delivered 58 vessels in 1955, an all-time record. They totaled 180,000 gross tons, 50,000 more than in 1954.

Chiefs After Mansfield Title

By H. GUY MOATS
Pontiac Press Special Writer

There are 16 good reasons why Pontiac High's Michigan High School track champions, still unbeaten in 1936, are rated highly for the Mansfield, O. prep relays, this weekend.

All 16 are members of the Chiefs' squad, named today by Coach Wally Schloerke to make the competition red-hot in the Ohio meet.

Included in these good reasons for a new PHS championship are Hayes Jones, the state's ace high hurdler; a mile relay team that has turned in some fine times; and Bill Douglas in the half mile.

Hayes' time this season has bettered the Mansfield mark for the 120-yard high sticks by 3-10ths of a second. Jones skinned the high barriers in 34.3 April 11, at Flint. The Mansfield record of 14.6 was set in 1947.

Archie Brooks, Charley Robinson, Charley Spann and Jim Shorter are believed capable of clipping the Mansfield mile relay record of 3:31.6, set in 1935.

Douglas has been running close to two minutes in the 800, and could well make a hot assault on the meet mark of 1:59.2. Record was set 18 years ago by Quentin Brelford of Birmingham high, who later became a University of Michigan star.

Members of the traveling squad, which will go by private cars to the Ohio city, and their events are:

100-yard dash—Freeman Watkins
120-yard high hurdles—Hayes Jones
160-yard relay—Perry Williams
High Jump—Hudson Ray and Alex Borge
Broad jump—Jones and Bill Douglas Half mile—run—Douglas
Low hurdles—Jones and Jimmy Taylor
Mile relay—Brooks, Robinson, Spann and Shorter
Half mile relay—same team as the mile

Distance medley relay—Roger Coates (half mile), Watkins or Jones (200 yards), Larry Borneer (440 yards) and Gene Cresta (mile) in the anchor spot.

Celestine Boykins will be alternate for either 220 or 440 divisions.

Coates is a sophomore, new to the varsity this year. He has been running close to Douglas. Boykins, a senior, is also a new varsity man.

Pontiac will not be represented in the discus, shot, 220-yard dash, pole vault, quarter-mile, nor in the four-mile, two-mile and shuttle hurdle relays.

Accompanying Schloerke and the squad will be coaching aides Ray Lowry and Dean Wilson. Team plans to leave at noon Friday.

The meet marked the first national recognition for many top U.S. track and field stars, including Jesse Owens, who still holds records for the century, broad jump and 220-yard dash. Dave Albritton, Harrison Dillard are others.

An entry of more than 1,000 from about 100 schools in a half dozen states is expected. The packed schedule includes 18 events. Cleveland East Tech was last year's champion with 37 points. This is Pontiac's first try at Mansfield.

Secrets of Better Golf

By Patty Berg

Golf beginners frequently rush the start of the downswing. Somewhere along the line they have reached the conclusion that in a drive the downswing should start with an abrupt speed in order to wallop the ball off the tee.

This erroneous conclusion results only in the player's losing control of the club. A variety of bad shots can result.

It is true that the speed of the downswing produces distance, but for the average player, and particularly in the beginner, speed initiated too quickly can be disastrous. This is what is commonly referred to among professionals as hitting from the top.

You may fancy yourself the last of the long-ball hitters, but try maintaining the rhythm of the swing as you start down and leave the 325-yard drives to the Sneads.

If you will keep in mind the stroke of a pendulum, whose initial movement is slow but gathers speed as it falls to the lowest point of the arc, you will have a picture of your downswing. Execute it in the same manner, with speed added gradually to your downswing as the club reaches the halfway point, your swing will gather momentum as it nears the hitting area. The same smoothness and rhythm should be maintained throughout the downswing as stressed in your backswing.

As the club is started down from the top, your weight begins to shift back to the left side. The left hip turns out of the path of the descending club and the left heel gradually returns to the turf. Just as the body revolved around the head to the top of the swing in taking the club back, now the body reverses its movements over the same path in swinging the club-head down into the hitting area.

About shoulder high in the downswing, the wrists are still fully cocked and the right elbow is coming in close to the right side. Remember most of the speed of the clubhead is generated when it is only three or four feet from the ball.

Uniform Boxing
Code NBA Aim

Eight-Man Committee Hopes to Draft Rules for Entire Nation

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—An eight-man committee appointed by the National Boxing Assn. goes into a two-day session today in an effort to draft a uniform boxing code for the entire nation.

The code, originally proposed by Pennsylvania Gov. George M. Leader, would be submitted after NBA approval to the Council of State Governments—a cooperative body supported by all the states which studies suggestions with a view to proposing to the states the creation of uniform laws in all states on matters of mutual concern.

Pennsylvania Athletic Commission Chairman James H. (Sleepy Jim) Crowley, famed football figure of the Knute Rockne era at Notre Dame, said the state's relatively new boxing law would form a basis of "something to work on."

Crowley contended the Pennsylvania code—which his commission composed in the wake of an alleged drugging in the Julio Mederos-Harold Johnson bout last May—has cleaned up the sport in the state.

Pennsylvania hasn't had a major fight since, but Crowley blames that on the "International Boxing Club control."

IBC officials, who were openly critical of certain parts of the state law, were invited to the current sessions but informed Crowley they were unable to attend.

Rocky's Decision Due

Athletic Director Hank Crisp arranged a conference for this afternoon to discuss the demands.Not included in the dispute is the baseball team, which was on the road at the time the petition was handed Crisp Tuesday night.One hundred and fifteen athletes lived in the athletic dormitory before nearly 100 of them moved out.Don Coyle, former football end and spokesman for the group, said
"We were tired of being treated like children."The walkout followed disciplinary action against Roy Vickery, Atlanta, Ga., tackle who was involved in an automobile accident
Sunday. He was placed on probation and banned from the athletic dormitory.Five other players were involved in the wreck. Disciplinary action against them is pending.The athletes are demanding reinstatement of Vickery; no bedSPRING TRAINING—Leo

Promoter Called for "Short Changing"

OAKLAND, Calif. (U)—Pudgy boxing promoter Jimmy Murray was called back today before the California Boxing Investigation where he was accused of short changing Rocky Marciano and Don Cockell in their heavyweight championship fight and paying $10,000 "on the side" to Marciano's manager.James Cox, counsel for the investigators, introduced a series of Murray's work sheets and a check stub yesterday in an effort to show the promoter paid $10,000 "under the table" to Al Weill, manager of the champion.Murray insisted he got the money himself and lost it bet-ting on the horses a few days after the title fight in San Francisco May 16, 1955.Cox, former Stanford football tackle, said Murray subtracted the $10,000 from the net gate receipts before figuring the fighters' purses.
State boxing inspectors placed the net receipts at $169,728. Murray's records indicated the boxers were paid on the basis of a $159,306 net.This, Cox said, made Marciano's 40 per cent $63,720, "a shortage of $4,170."Cockell's 20 per cent was $31,860, the attorney said, $2,084 less than it should have been.Cox introduced Murray work sheets showing "the same $10,000 item" listed on various dates as "transportation," "A. W. transportation," "Al Weill" and "publicity and expenses."Murray said he couldn't unde-stand why his bookkeeper would make such notations."Did you ever hear of a practice in the boxing business where managers take money on the side and the fighter doesn't even know about it?" Cox queried.Murray said he had.
"Didn't Al Weill get that $10,000 on the side?" Cox asked.

"No sir," Murray answered.

Strange Circumstances

Outfielder Can't Play, Glasses Are MissingSHREVEPORT, La. (U)—The mystery of the missing spectacles wasn't too deep for Manager Mel McGaha of the Shreveport Sports
—he thought.He said he wasn't accusing anybody of swiping the glasses of his slugging outfielder, Ken Guettler, at Houston Monday, but "circumstances in this case certainly look a little strange."The glasses were taken from Guettler's locker at the Houston ball park and since there was no evidence the place had been broken into, McGaha hinted that it was an inside job.That would mean somebody on the Houston ball club, and the purpose was to render Guettler, who had hit four home runs in two days and broke up Sunday's gameat Houston with a slashing double, Hors De Combat.Guettler can't play ball without his glasses and he's having to get a replacement from Portsmouth, Va., which is keeping him out of the Shreveport lineup.It sounded like "semi-pro stuff" to manager Harry Walker of Houston.Walker, hearing that McGaha was insinuating some of his players took the glasses, declared
"that's silly.""He could have left those glasses anywhere. He worked out in the morning and they worked out in the afternoon. We didn't know anything about it until just before the game."YOU CAN TELL Arrow VODKA

Bucs Draw Fines for Careless Play

2 Pittsburgh Players Each Penalized $25

Pirate Manager Also Warns Violators of Team Curfew

NEW YORK (AP)—If it takes the big stick to lift the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar then Bobby Bragan means to wield it as often as necessary. The 1956 baseball season is only three days old but already the 37-year-old freshman manager has fined two of his players for careless play and served notice that failure to observe the 1 a.m. curfew, without permission, will cost the violators from $500 to $1,000.

"We are the type of a club that can't afford to make mistakes," said the ex-major league shortstop and catcher after firing outfielder Roberto Clemente and first baseman Dale Long $25 each for what he called careless plays in yesterday's 5-4 loss to the New York Giants.

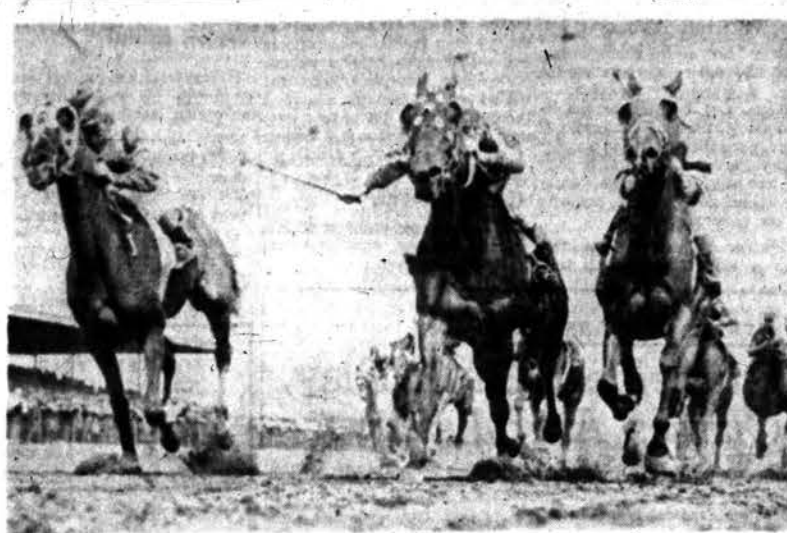

Bragan said Clemente was fined for missing a squeeze bunt sign in the eighth inning with Johnny O'Brien on third with only one out. Long was penalized for cutting off a throw to home plate in the ninth, when Gil Coan scored the tying run on a sacrifice fly.

Bobby, an off season Sunday school teacher who didn't hesitate to bring his players up short in three years at the helm of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League, said "Our team is geared to good pitching and a tight defense."

"We've got to emphasize the squeeze play with the result any mistakes look much bigger than those of other clubs such as Brooklyn," he added. "The Dodgers can make a mistake, allow a run and then comeback to clobber you with home runs. When we get past Long and Thomas (Frank) we just haven't got any power hitters—unless some of the boys surprise me."

Long hit two homers in the Pirates' opening day 4-3 setback by the Giants and Thomas had two yesterday. Clemente hit a two-run single in the fourth yesterday to tie the score at 3-3.

Not since the days of Manager Bill Meyer have any of the Pirates been chastized by fines. Meyer once fined Bill Werle, a pitcher $500, and made Bob Chesnes, also a pitcher, dig up $300. But Fred Haney, whom Bragan succeeded, never wielded the big stick in any such manner.

by Dave Gorman (center) was second and Assistance with Eddie Arcaro up (right) was third. Winner paid $9.80 for two.

Skipper Thinclads Rout Dales, 104-5

Waterford overwhelmed Fern-dale, Lake Orion trimmed Oxford, and Clarkston took triangular honors Wednesday in Oakland County area track meets.

Alfred Cuthrell's Skipper opened their dual meet season in impressive style by overpowering Fern-dale, 104-5, on the Fern-dale track. Waterford won 12 events outright and tied for 1st place in the pole vault to compile its awesome total.

Stan Jones paced the Skipper with 11 1/4 points, winning the 100-yard dash and 180-yard low hurdles in addition to running on the victorious 880-yard relay team. Bob Mawhinney scored eight points with a triumph in the 440 and a tie for 1st spot in the high points with a triumph in the 440 and a tie for 1st spot in the high jump.

Waterford's win was so convincing that the Railsplitters were shut out in 10 of the 13 events. A tie for 1st in the pole vault and 3rd positions in the broad

Imlay Wins Quadrangular

Paced by the Frantz brothers, Imlay City's track team conquered Almont, North Branch and Capac in a quadrangular meet Wednesday at Imlay City.

The Spartans compiled 49 2/3 points, North Branch 52 2/3, Almont 37 1/6, and Capac 7 1/10. Jim Frantz won both hurdle races and brother Orill took 1st

SW Conference Has Expansion Talk on Agenda

DALLAS (AP)—Expansion has been placed on the agenda for the meeting of the Southwest Conference at Fayetteville May 10-11-12, meaning Texas Tech will come up for another vote.

Tech has been an applicant for membership for 30 years and only last December obtained 4 votes—just 1 short of the necessary support. Since then Southern Methodist has announced it is switching its vote and indications are that Tech will have a minimum of 5 when it comes up again.

Ring Fans Boo Boyd's Victory

Beats Holly Mims on Split Decision After Unimpressive Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—After taking a soundly-booted 10-round split decision over Holly Mims, Bobby Boyd now is aiming for Charley Humez as another stepping stone to a chance at the middleweight crown.

The lanky, long-armed Boyd, 22, and the stubby Mims, 26, hamstrung each other in an unimpressive, clinching-and-holding nationally televised bout last night at Chicago Stadium.

Boyd, regarded as the hottest title prospect out of Chicago in five years and ranked No. 2 among contenders, managed to gain his 10th straight victory.

Under the Illinois maximum 10-points-per-round system, Judge John Bray scored in favor of Mims 93-90. Judge Spike McAdams gave it to Boyd 98-90 and Weissman was for Boyd 97-92.

Boyd, a 9-5 betting choice, outweighed Mims 161 pounds to 156 1/2. The victory gave Boyd a record of 39-6-2. Mims, in action for only the second time in seven months, now has 40-14-5.

GOOD FISHING — A Pontiac meat cutter Don Clark, fishing the Halfday Creek, near Brimley, in the Upper Peninsula recently, landed the nice steelhead trout he holds (above). The prize was 27 1/4 inches long and was the biggest fish the lucky angler ever caught, he reported. Clark lives at 2298 Jones Rd.

Summer Water Shortages Expected to Be 'Critical' in the Southwest

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Agriculture Department warned today that Southern California and other parts of the Southwestern United States face a "critical" water shortage this summer.

The department said the summer flow of the Rio Grande River in New Mexico and the Colorado River tributaries in Arizona "is expected to be only one-quarter of normal."

The agency warned of "mild to severe" shortages for the area south of a line from central Colorado through Great Salt Lake to the southern end of the central valley in California. The critical areas are again expected in one or two localized areas in Utah, along the Rio Grande, in the Salt River Valley in Arizona, and in Southern California.

Irrigation reservoir storage was described as generally about normal in the Northwest, "but below normal in most other Western states."

COMPLETE SURVEY SEEN

Under Secretary of the Interior Clarence A. Davis explained "there is no doubt we have reached the time when an adequate survey of the whole water resource problem is appropriate."

There was speculation, meanwhile, that the administration might ask Congress to provide funds for such a study—the first ever to be undertaken on a nationwide scale.

The Agriculture Department's annual forecast of summer water conditions said supplies will be "abundant" along all major streams serving irrigated areas of Idaho, Oregon, Washington and northwestern Montana.

Here are some highlights of the water outlook by states:

ARIZONA—Water prospects the poorest since 1938. Reservoir storage is only about 20 per cent of capacity and 60 per cent of normal. Normal water supplies are anticipated only for projects along the Colorado River main stem, including the Yuma and Wellton-Mohawk valleys.

CALIFORNIA—Above normal supplies generally are in prospect for the area north of Bakersfield. Conditions are generally unsatisfactory for the remainder of the state. COLORADO—Except for the Rio Grande, the outlook is "much improved" over that of the past two years. Soil moisture in irrigated areas is good on the west slope and fair to good in eastern Colorado, indicating material improvement over 1955.

IDAHO—Northern Idaho has a record-breaking snow pack, with an excellent water outlook and probability of exceedingly heavy flow on the Kootenai, Clearwater, Salmon and Payette Rivers. Reservoir storage is good throughout the state.

KANSAS—The outlook for the Arkansas River in western Kansas is only fair but is slightly improved over a year ago. Soils are dry.

Summer precipitation will have to be above normal to provide adequate water.

MONTANA—The mountain snow pack is well above that of 1955 and 15 to 30 per cent more than average.

NEBRASKA—Supplies along the North Platte will be at least average. Valley soil moisture conditions are good. The outlook for irrigated sections on the Kansas River watershed is good to excellent.

NEVADA—Irrigation season supplies range from excellent to very poor. April 1 storage in irrigation reservoirs was 60 per cent of capacity and 97 per cent of the 1938-52 average. In the south, ground water recharging from the snow pack will be deficient.

NEW MEXICO—Drought conditions of the past two years and prospective water shortages continue along the Rio Grande.

OKLAHOMA—With the Altus Reservoir inflow on the W. C. Austin project much below normal, the outlook is only fair.

OREGON—Even those areas pinched by shortages in 1955 will have ample supplies this year.

SOUTH DAKOTA—A shortage of irrigation water is indicated, but storage in reservoirs serving Black Hills irrigated districts is above normal.

TEXAS—Irrigated areas of West Texas along the Rio Grande again will be "very short" of water.

UTAH—Northern Utah can look for supplies ranging from around 30 per cent below to 20 per cent above average. In southern Utah dry weather has created a critical shortage on most streams. Central Utah streams have fair prospects.

WASHINGTON—With the exception of the Elwha River headwaters and the Olympic Peninsula, the mountain watersheds had the greatest snow pack on record.

WYOMING—Supply prospects have improved in the north and northwest mountains. Prospects for most Wyoming irrigated areas are good to excellent.

Ireland Rolls Out Carpet in Attempt to Lure Tourists

DUBLIN — Tourists in Ireland can now explore that enchanted land where the River Shannon flows. This summer, a modern steamer, the St. Clairin, will carry passengers into the storied realm of castles and castles, glens and green fields along the Shannon.

The journey starts off from Dublin, heading west across the Shannon and north to the rugged, wild seacoast at Sligo, the region immortalized by the poet Yeats. The drive continues from Sligo to Mullagh along a coastal road lined with tiny villages overlooking miles of sandy beach.

Highlight of the area is heather-covered Achill Island with its wondrous colors and sub-tropical gardens. On the way south to Galway is Knock Shrine, the Irish Lourdes, famous for remarkable cures.

Galway, the most Irish of all Irish cities, is the gateway to the brown bogs, purple heather and golden gorse of Connemara. Near Galway is Leenane, one of Ireland's best fishing and mountain climbing resorts. Just 30 miles across Galway Bay are the Aran Islands, where ruins date back to prehistoric times.

AWAY TO ATHLONE

The tour heads east from Galway to Athlone where passengers board the Shannon river boat to cruise down through Lough Derg to Killa-lake. Derg Lake is surrounded by forts and castles. Above its shores, they say 2 Brian Boru, the great Irish king, staged his colossal banquet, ale flowed in rivers and bards intoned their songs to the golden twang of the harp.

Limerick on the Shannon River estuary lists among its best loved sights the medieval Castle of King John and Mungret, a nearby abbey, founded by St. Patrick. The final stage of the tour leads from Limerick across the green plains of Tipperary to Dublin. A stop is made along the way at the Cashel of the Kings, Tipperary's major sight. Cashel is a fortified rock, 200-feet high, complete with Cathedral, Round Tower, Vicar's Hall, St. Patrick's Cross and Cormac's Chapel. The story goes that St. Patrick baptized a pagan king at Cashel some 15 centuries back.

Hand in hand with the superb transportation facilities in Ireland go the improvements in Irish hotels. A number of good, small, family-owned inns, offering homely comforts, have been opened in parts of Kerry, Donegal and Sligo, and several fine old country mansions have been turned into hunting and fishing lodges.

Dublin hotels are handsomely appointed, well run, and by American standards, inexpensive. The Royal Hibernian, mellow with age and tradition, is an elegant black and white affair on Dawson St., where room and bath go for $5.50 a day. Gourmets congregate at the Russell Hotel, world-famous for its elaborate menus and superb cuisine.

Sack-Line Garments Best Economic Buy

JOHANNESBURG — Sackcloth and stitches — and one hook and eye — can be the garb of a modern South African girl, who wants, not to do penance, but to look smart on a limited budget.

A London designer now living here has come up with the "sack-line" suited to all figures and adaptable to fit any occasion. In a sack-line, says its originator, a girl can go shopping, dine, dance or picnic.

She has 10 gowns in one and can run it up in less than an hour from 1½ yards of material. Made from a coarsely woven fabric similar to sackcloth, it can be in the forefront of sportswear fashions (worn with sport sandals, a pony tail and masses of crude jewelry).

Off, the sack-line has no line at all, but on, it can be adapted to fit any mood, fancy or figure.

Submit School, City Budgets in Area

Budgets for the coming fiscal year are being submitted this week in the Oakland County Area by both city and school groups. Among proposed school budgets are those of Ferndale, Berkley, Lamphere in Madison Heights and Lake Orion. City Manager Harold Schone this week submitted the proposed Oak Park budget to City Council.

Ferndale
Schools Superintendent Roy J. Robinson has submitted an estimated budget of $2,924,682 for next year, as compared to $2,702,302 for the current year.

Adoption of the budget depends on the Ferndale school district voters, who will vote May 7 on the continuation of a special three mill tax for school operating expenses.

If the tax is approved, it will be continued for another year. Increase in the budget will go for teachers' increased salaries, $235,000 higher for 1956-57.

According to Robinson the district rate will remain about the same if the tax is continued. Residents in the Ferndale section of the district this year paid $30.40 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Oak Park
A tentative budget of $1,222,559 was submitted to the city council this week by City Manager Harold K. Schone.

The proposed budget of $1,222,559 is $183,701 higher than the $1,038,858 for the current fiscal year ending July 1.

Schone seeks among other things—substantial pay increase for some city employees, increases for public safety and parks departments. A $890,000 bond issue for a library, swimming pool and skating rink.

In submitting the budget Schone also asked for a city charter change to permit bonding of city-at-large portions of public improvements, and the present $21.55 per $1,000 tax rate be continued for another year.

Lake Orion
The Board of Education here approved a budget of $793,000. This total makes it possible to raise the teachers salaries from $200 to $650 dollars a year above this year's schedule. Teachers with AB degrees will receive from $4100 to $5750 and with MA degrees from $4200 to $6150.

Berkley
The figure $2,329,804 is set in the new approved budget for Berkley, as compared to last year's $1,877,059.

This will raise school taxes about $4 per each $1,000 assessed valuation.

The increase is attributed mainly to increase in teachers' pay and the operation of a new junior high school.

Lamphere
The Lamphere School Board in Madison Heights approved the 1956-57 school year budget of $424,613 at a meeting Thursday night. The figure more than doubles last year's revised budget of $209,930.

The jump in the budget will among other things cover the cost of increase of pay for teachers, two additional schools and about 20 new teachers. Budget will be submitted to the Oakland County Allocation Board April 16.

Your PTA Is Planning:

Weather Expert to Talk on Tornadoes on Monday

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — W. W. Oak, in charge of the U. S. Weather Bureau at Detroit, will speak at a meeting at Stripling school at 8 p.m., Monday.

The meeting has been arranged as a result of a special request from the PTA due to interest in tornadoes and changing weather conditions in this area. Mr. Oak will demonstrate his lecture with a film of an actual tornado.

Romeo
Two important issues face members of the Elementary Schools Club at their regular meeting tonight at 8 at South School.

Plans for the Spring Fair, to be an event of Friday, May 11, will be presented and projects to be undertaken will be discussed. Election of officers is slated.

Selections by a fourth grade boys chorus will be led by Marguerite Crawford. Refreshments will be served by kindergarten room mothers. Girl Scouts will serve as baby sitters.

Waterford Township
Hudson Covert PTA will meet tonight. Open House will be at 7:30 p.m. followed by a business meeting and program at 8. William Coullas, Director of Pontiac Boy's Club, will speak on the subject "The Case for Juvenile Delinquency". A discussion period will follow his talk.

Refreshments will be served by the Fifth Grade Home Room Mothers and a nursery will be provided for children three years of age or over.

Walled Lake
The Walled Lake Junior-Senior High PTA will consider the merits of dividing the group when they meet tonight in the cafeteria of senior high at 8. A vote will be taken on the question which has been under consideration for most of the year.

A slate of officers has been submitted by the nominating committee, but nominations will be asked from the floor before voting on officers for the coming year.

Because the February meeting was so well received, but did not have time to answer all questions, it is being recalled. Those to speak are the Rev. Perry Thomas of the Commerce Methodist church, moderator; Mrs. Ethel Gibson and Mrs. Lynn Garrett, teachers; John Westerdale and Harold Welch, parents; and Bob Hess and Linda Chabot, students.

A social hour will follow and refreshments will be served.

Waterford
A meeting of Waterford Center PTA will be held at 8 tonight at the school.

Lytle Abel, Oakland County Agricultural Agent, will speak on gardening and planting.

Bruce Orr, band director for the Junior high school, will present some selections with the band students.

Near Record Number Sent Off to Jackson

Busy times for area police and courts have resulted in a near-record number of prisoners being turned over this week to Southern Michigan State Prison, according to Oakland County Undersheriff Elmer McQuern.

He said deputies have escorted some 15 future inmates from county jail to the prison gates in Jackson.

One man was imprisoned for second-degree murder, McQuern said and three for armed robbery.

Others were sentenced for these offenses, McQuern said: four for breaking and entering at night-time, two for car theft, and one each for assault with intent to rob while armed, possession of narcotics, sale of marijuana, larceny from a building and robbery unarmed.

Rochester Meeting Set

ROCHESTER—The Village Council meeting planned for this week to consider the 1956-57 budget, has been postponed until Tuesday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. This will be a special meeting.

Dead Fish by Hundreds

LANSING (INS)—The Conservation Department reported today that hundreds of dead fish were showing up on the shores of several Michigan lakes, victims of "winter kill" (oxygen depletion), caused by heavy ice and snow during the winter.

Chairman for the evening is Mrs. Alfred Keith. Refreshments will be served by the first grade room mothers.

West Bloomfield
The high school PTA here will meet at the school tonight at 8 in rooms one and three. "Choosing your curriculum" will be the topic of the program for the evening.

Data on student requirements in credits will be passed to the assembly. The program has been planned to help students get the required credits in subjects to complete high school and enter college.

After the general information is given out, the group will be asked to split into smaller groups and go to class rooms where teachers will be on hand to answer questions. Parents and students are urged to attend.

Metamora-Dryden Public Meeting Set

METAMORA — A large attendance is expected at a public meeting to study proposals for a new high school for the Dryden-Metamora area.

School officials are urging that every resident turnout at the gathering, to be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Metamora School.

The problem of what to do with the area's high school students is a vital one. Formerly they have gone to Lapeer, but this district is considering closing its rolls to tuition students.

In that case, the Metamora district is faced with either annexation with Lapeer or sending students elsewhere.

Special Stamps Issued Today by Happy Monaco

MONTE CARLO — Hundreds of stamp and souvenir collectors lined up at Monaco's postoffice today to buy the special stamp issue honoring the wedding of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III.

The series of eight stamps of varying denominations was for sale only today, the day of the religious ceremony. Price for the set $2.38.

UM Merchant Study

ANN ARBOR — Lyle Whittington of the National Cash Register Co., Flint, will speak Tuesday on the latest methods of increasing sales and reducing sales costs. His talk highlights the ninth annual merchandising conference at the University of Michigan. Milton Sager, of Seger's Department Store, Sturgis, will preside.

BEVERLY SPRANKLE
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sprankle of Detroit announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverly, to Warren Henderson III. He is the son of the Warren Hendersons of 1995 Wixom Rd., Milford. No date has been set for the wedding.

Sand Loader Flips Into Bottom of Pit

As the operator leaped to safety, a monstrous-sized piece of loading equipment tumbled 30 feet into a Bloomfield Township sand and gravel pit yesterday afternoon. No one was hurt.

Operations began this noon to rescue the machinery, called a "dragline," which maneuvers on treads at the top of the pit, according to Floyd McDonald, a co-owner of B. and M. Sandpit on Quanton road between Woodward avenue and Lahser road.

The dragline scooped sand from the pit bottom, McDonald said, utilizing a bucket on the end of a 150 foot long crane. The sand is loaded in trucks waiting at the top of the pit, he said.

Apparently the bluff yesterday gave way and the dragline went down end-over-end to wind up upside down on the pit floor, McDonald explained. The operator, Luff Nelson, jumped clear at the top, he said. The amount of damage is still unknown.

New Mrs. California Is Suburban Housewife

LOS ANGELES — The new Mrs. California is a 31-year-old housewife of suburban Sherman Oaks.

Mrs. Martha Lizak, wife of a meat market operator, yesterday won the title of top homemaker in the state and a chance to compete in the Mrs. America finals in Florida May 6. The Lizaks have two children.

Disabling illness is nearly twice as frequent January through March than July through August.

600 to Present Pageant at Clarkston North Girl Scout Festival Is Tonight

North District of the Oakland County Girl Scouts will present a festival for sponsors, scout workers and parents, at the Clarkston High School Auditorium at 7:30 tonight.

Beginning with a flag ceremony by troop 99 of Lake Orion, "The Twelve Months of Scouting," a pageant, will be presented by at least 600 of the 1000 girl scouts enrolled in this district. Mary Jean Schoenhals, of Davisburg will act as narrator.

The Orionville troop will present September and the drama of the organization of troops.

October is the birthday month to be presented by the Lake Orion girls. November finds the Gillingville troops planning baskets for the needy and December illustrates "giving," by the Davisburg troops.

January will depict the outdoor activities with the Sashabaw Scouts; February, International month by the Clarkston Troops, Holly illustrates the scout laws, etc., representing March. In "April," the Oxford troops are out of doors again, and in May, Lake Orion honors the Brownies.

June, July and August are represented by Orionville, largest of the groups, with camping activities. Mrs. William Mansfield will be pianist for the pageant.

Five year plans will be presented to a number of girls. The closing ceremony will be conducted by Troop 305 of Orionville.

Mrs. Fred Bisbal, district chairman, was assisted by the following neighborhood chairmen: Mrs. Raymond Ruggles of Clarkston; Mrs. Palmer Bundy of Davisburg; Mrs. Edwin Brodtkorb, Gillingville; Mrs. Oscar Gorkin of Holly; Mrs. Dorey Plue of Lake Orion; Mrs. Laverne Borst, Orionville; Mrs. Herman Whitstock of Clarkston.

Report Soviets Have Super-Duper Missile

LONDON — The Daily Telegraph said today the Soviet Union has developed a ram jet missile with a speed of more than 3,000 miles an hour and a range of 180 miles.

The information was attributed to a German rocket scientist—not named — "who worked for six years in a Russian research center."

The Telegraph said the weapon is 11 inches in diameter, and big enough to carry an atomic warhead.

Ammonia Blast Rips Plant in Pennsylvania

MARCUS HOOK, Pa. — An explosion in the Sun Oil Co.'s new ammonia plant early today caused damage estimated at "several million dollars" and minor injuries to seven employees.

Calvin C. Naylor, acting plant manager, who made the damage estimate, said the cause of the blast was undetermined.

A fire that followed was being allowed to burn itself out, Naylor said, since there was no danger of its spreading to other buildings.

The blast was the second this year in the new plant, built at a cost of about 10 million dollars.

Artist Speaks at UM

ANN ARBOR — Edgar Kaufman, formerly in charge of design and exhibitions at the New York Museum of Modern Art will speak at the University of Michigan Monday on "Some Aspects of Design at the Turn of the Century."

ADOPTED BY STUDENTS — Hur Pan Soon, 6, of South Korea lost her parents in the Red invasion, but she has 221 foster parents — all of them warm-hearted fifth graders in Rochester schools. The children of Miss Louise Burditt's class at Harrison-Central School got the idea of adopting an orphan from a Christian Children's Fund advertisement in a magazine. The $10 a month required to provide food, clothing and education for children in orphanages throughout the world was a bit steep for one class, so the children wrote to seven other fifth graders in the Rochester Community Schools and received a 100 per cent agreement to the project. A dime a month from each child pays the $120 a year and leaves money for gifts and postage. Hur Pan was officially adopted last November from the Chun Yang Won Orphanage at Yu Lung, South Korea. Her picture arrived this year, and now the eight classrooms are sending group pictures to their little Korean orphan. The students hope to continue the project until they graduate, and are keeping a scrapbook of all that is happening in their new role as "parents."

Main Declines to Seek Office

Drain Commissioner Elected to 2 Terms After Appointment

Oakland County Drain Commissioner Ralph A. Main today announced he will not be a candidate for reelection this fall.

Main, appointed to the post in 1951 by the County Board of Supervisors, was twice returned by county voters.

During his tenure as drain commissioner, the drain office was modernized, a new engineering department was established, necessary drain legislation was passed, and six major long range drain projects were conceived.

Main has served on the Legislative committee of the Michigan Association of County Drain Commissioners, and is currently president of the organization.

Main is a former Birmingham city commissioner and mayor.

UM Vocal Festival

ANN ARBOR — More than 750 high school students from 13 Michigan schools will attend a public concert at the University of Michigan. The occasion is the class C-D vocal festival.

Foreman's Session Set

ANN ARBOR — "Interviewing Employees" will be the topic of the 17th annual foreman's conference at the University of Michigan next Thursday and Friday.

College Registrars Worry About Utilization of Space

DETROIT — Deeply concerned by fast-growing student enrollments the nation's college registrars are planning a study of space utilization at colleges and universities.

The Fund for the Advancement of Education announced a $14,800 grant for such an undertaking yesterday at the 42nd annual meeting of the American Assn. of College Registrars and Admissions Officers. Some 750 registrars are attending.

John Rhoads of Temple University, president of the association, said most colleges give "little or no attention" to self studies of space utilization.

Rhoads said the registrars plan to publish in November a "Do-It-Yourself" manual for college administrators as a guide to better use of available space.

"This is important," he said, "because the doubled enrollment of 1965 will require that colleges and universities of all sizes plan to accommodate more students within the framework of existing plant facilities."

In an earlier session, Paul E. Ellicker, executive secretary of the National Assn. of Secondary-School Principals, criticized what he said were inconsistencies in college entrance requirements.

SLAPS ATHLETES

"You claim the requirements are very high," he said. "Why then should you maintain the time 'dishonored' tradition of flunking 40 or 50 per cent before graduation?"

At the same time, he said, some colleges accept athletes regardless of whether they meet standards of admission.

Many college leaders complain college freshmen can't read, spell or learn, he said.

"If this is true, and it may be," he said, "why are such students ever admitted to college?"

Reuther Lists Tips to Defeat Reds in Asia

DETROIT — Globe-trotting Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers came back to Detroit yesterday with some tips on how to defeat Communism in India and Asia.

"Many colleges and universities actually are utilizing not more than 50 per cent of the available classroom space," he said.

Reuther, who just completed a 4,000 mile trip to India, made his remarks quickly. He will leave again tomorrow for the UAW's educational rally in Washington Saturday.

Reuther said that the United States must assist the Asiatic countries in improving the welfare of their people and bettering their economic and social status.

The union leader made 11 speeches in 10 and a half days in India. He said:

"India will be won for the West in the rice fields, not on the battlefields. We must increase our technical aid program and our economic aid to India, instead of spending these funds for military purposes."

Although the Indian government is doing its best, Reuther said, the average annual income in India is only $56 and more than 70 million Indians earn less than $20 a year.

Spaniards under Cortez sent Indian slaves into the yawning crater of Mexico's Popocatepetl volcano to get sulphur for gunpowder.

After Attack in Birmingham

Mixed Kentucky Audience Applauds Nat 'King' Cole

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Negro singer Nat King Cole, attacked while performing in Birmingham, Ala., last week, received a deafening roar of applause from some 10,000 white and Negro fans in the Jefferson County Armory here last night.

The singer, who said he canceled an Atlanta appearance Tuesday night because he feared a repetition of the Birmingham attack, was escorted to the armory by city police. Detectives were scattered throughout the audience, but Police Chief Carl Heustis said this was simply a precautionary measure as he had anticipated no trouble. Referring to sentencing of his attackers in Birmingham yesterday, Cole told reporters "I'm glad to see them take a stand in that direction. No one in that capacity (the attackers) should go without reprimanding, regardless of where the incident happened or to whom it happened."

Three Anniston, Ala., men were sentenced yesterday to 180 days in jail and fined $100 each plus court costs for the April 10 attack on the Alabama-born Negro. They were Mike Fox, 36; E. L. Vinson, 25, and Orville Wade Clevenger, 18. A fine of $100 and a 30-day jail sentence was given Jesse W. Mabry, 43, Birmingham, associate editor of the White Citizens Council publication.

All defendants were members of the North Alabama White Citizens Council which is campaigning against what they call "Negro music."

Happy Couple to Present Flag to Sunset Club

The Charles Littles of 75 Seminole Ave. will never forget what the Sunset Club has meant to them, so in appreciation they are presenting an American flag to the group this afternoon at Wilson School.

The club is an organization for people over 60 years and is sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. It has been active for five years and has 90 members. The Littles first met at a meeting three years ago and were later married. Mrs. Little is one of the charter members of the group.

India's President Prasad announced the government will not curtail the freedom of Christian missionaries or "come in the way of their true mission."

WELCOME IMPORT—Mitsuko Sawamura is the attractive little Japanese singer who speaks no English but sings American pop songs. Making her American film debut in MGM's "Meet Me in Las Vegas," she sings one number in Japanese, then sings "My Lucky Charm" with Dan Dailey in English.

Hollywood Headlines:

Fate Enacts Major Role in the Life of Don Murray

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The lucky lad who gets to play opposite Marilyn Monroe is lanky Don Murray, whose life is full of coincidences.

Like this one: Don was born 26 years ago a stone's throw from the Fox Studios. His father was a dance director there. Now the young man is back on the same lot, starring in the first film he has done.

"WHO'S HE?"
When Don Murray was announced as Monroe's leading man in "Bus Stop," a lot of folks asked "who's he?" It wasn't an impatient question. Except for avid fans of the Broadway stage and TV dramas, he was largely an unknown.

Just so you'll know, here's a rundown on Don: He was born Donald Patrick Murray in Los Angeles but left at the age of 9 months. He grew up in New York, went to school in Long Island, Cleveland and Texas. Show business was his heritage; his father is Dennis Murray, long-time stage manager; his mother is Ethel Cook, one-time Ziegfeld girl.

Don went to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts a grade ahead of Grace Kelly, did a few small stage roles. A member of the Church of the Brethren, he chose to be a conscientious ob-jector and served two years as a worker in refugee camps and other services in Europe.

BIGGEST BREAK
He worked an extra six months on such projects abroad, then resumed his acting career. His biggest break was playing in "The Skin of Our Teeth" with Mary Martin and Eileen Hayes. Josh Logan spotted him in the show, tabbed him as a possibility for "Bus Stop."

Producer Buddy Adler chose Don out of 35 or more others who tested for the role. The lad was signed to two pictures a year, with the right to do plays and outside movies. With Monroe as costar, he's headed for the bigtime.

Also appearing in "Bus Stop" is Don's pretty young bride, Hope Lange, and thereby hang some more coincidences. Their fathers knew each other when Dennis Murray was Ziegfeld's stage manager and John Lange was the showman's arranger.

Don and Hope became acquainted in New York and were cast in the same show, "Hot Corner," without each other being aware of the fact. Don swears that he had no knowledge of Hope's getting the "Bus Stop" job, and studio bosses claim they didn't know the pair was engaged.

They were married last weekend. It must be fate, the youngsters chose to be a conscientious ob-

Hotel Building Booms

SAN JUAN — Puerto Rican hotels have embarked on a building campaign that will more than double the present capacity of first-class hotels by the end of 1957. New hotel construction and additions to existing hotels will cost about $12,800,000.

Automaker H. H. Franklin Dies at 89 in Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Herbert H. Franklin, who gave his name to the once-popular Franklin automobile with its air-cooled motor, died this week at his home here. He was 89.

Franklin built the proceeds from sale of a weekly newspaper into the 20-million-dollar a year automobile business. The company went out of business in 1934, however, a victim of the market crash and competition. The cars now are collectors' items.

Franklin's first job was as a reporter on the Weekly Coxsackie, N. Y., News. He became owner and publisher of the paper, but after six years sold it to invest in a device for making finished castings.

He formed the H. H. Franklin Co., in Syracuse in 1903 and with four partners developed the business into one with worldwide sales. At the beginning of the century he struck up an acquaintance with John Wilkinson of Syracuse, who had built an automobile with an air-cooled motor.

Franklin hired Wilkinson to turn out a four-cylinder model. The first Franklin car was sold in 1902 for $1,300. The company sold 12 cars the first year. By the 1920's production had climbed to 8,000 a year, and by 1930 to 15,000.

Introduction of mass production lines spelled the end of the Franklin. The company refused to lower its standards and produce a cheaper car.

Franklin, a bachelor, is survived only by two nephews, Howard S. Franklin of Newark, N. Y., and Kenneth F. Barton of Syracuse.

Critics Award Given 'Anne Frank Diary'

Truck Crushes Child

DETROIT (AP)—Seven-year-old Audrey Messer of Detroit was killed Tuesday when she was crushed by a truck backing into a loading dock at a Detroit factory. Police said she was knocked down and then run over after she ran behind the truck.

Vessels Forcing Passage in Soo

Highpowered Ships Cut Through St. Marys Up to Canal Locks

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (P)—The Coast Guard said today high-powered Great Lakes vessels were forcing a passage through the 10-mile pack of slush ice in the St. Marys River that has paralyzed lake shipping.

Coast Guardsmen said they would let the powerful vessels of the lake fleets push into the bottleneck in the Birch Point and Bush Point area. Some 15 to 20 ships, upbound and downbound, made it through yesterday, they said.

The ships went on through Detroit passage into Lake Huron and up into Lake Superior's Whitefish Bay. Another 131 less powerful vessels remained at anchor waiting for a passage to open. The smaller craft were ordered to lie at anchor today, the Coast Guard said.

It was estimated there were some 60 ships waiting to go upbound through the Soo locks and another 71 waiting to come down.

Reports from vessels that made it through said the slush ice closed in their wakes.

Strong northwest winds continued to push the ice into the bottleneck area and veteran Coast Guardsmen said the situation wouldn't be eased without an east wind and a thaw.

The tieup is the worst since the spring of 1953 when 150 ships were held up by similar conditions.

Burial of the heart in a casket apart from the body has been practiced since Egyptian times.

Coca Rumors Fall Very Flat

Address by Stevenson Will Be Televised on April 25th

By ATRA BAE
NEW YORK (INS) — Ninety-seven-pound jockey Bill Pearson of Pasadena, Calif., came in first for the big dough by answering a completely impossible six-part question on great art and artists on "The $64,000 Question."

Right after the show, Billy told us he figured the odds on winning were about 100 to 1, but added, "Years ago I brought in a horse named Treasure Isle that paid that much."

"I ignored everybody's advice not to try for top money because there's something in me that makes me want to win all the time."

He said he'll use most of the money to buy paintings.

The diminutive rider, despite the urgings of his wife, mother and his adviser-employer, movie director John Huston, not to go on, correctly identified the subject, painter and one man with whom each painter studied on six of the world's great works of art.

Earlier in the show, Mrs. Ida Sherburne of Nicholasville, Ky., the grandmother who proved an expert on horses, decided to take the $16,000 she had won and go home.

RUMORS RUN RIOT
Imogene Coca threw TV and press into a panic when rumors began exploding like so much popcorn that the pixie-faced star had attempted to commit suicide.

Finally, the pint-sized object of the furor was located at Oldfield Airport where she was enplaning to Miami to open Monday in the former Helen Hayes starrer, "Happy Birthday."

"I slipped in my apartment Sunday night and I fell," said Imogene, adding she was in the hospital some 30 hours for x-rays which reportedly showed her to be suffering from a slight concussion.

Candidate Stevenson makes an address April 25 from the Waldorf, televised via ABC at 9 p. m. It's rumored that as the campaign shows are going to demand "equal time."

We're told Phil Silvers' script will take him to exotic lands like Brooklyn, Washington, the Orient and the continent in future episodes.

LU ANN PONDERS
Ex-Godfreyite Lu Ann Simms, now on a nationwide tour for the Cancer Fund, is deciding what summer replacement spot she'll take prior to signing contracts for her own fall TV show.

Yankee sportscafter Mel Allen has received four offers to star in dramatic roles, one from the GE Theater for a part as a criminal lawyer. Coincidentally, Mel holds a law degree.

Janis Paige's "It's Always Jan" didn't get its option picked up but the show will run through July anyhow.

Most persistent rumor: That several name-your-own-price offers to do a Murrow-type show have been dispatched to Margaret Truman's fiancé, Clifton Daniel.

But the suave newsmen's silence indicates to us that since he has already nodded affirmatively to one very important decision, he figures one "yes" is enough for this season.

Two Onkama Residents Killed in U.S. 31 Wreck

MUSKEGON (P)—Two persons were killed and one was injured today when their car apparently went out of control and hit a tree on U.S. 31 near Muskegon.

Police identified the dead as James Gauthier, 23, and Roger S. Solter, 28, both of Onkama in Manistee County.

Miss Willis Tutten, 20, of Manistee, was taken to Mercy Hospital in Muskegon with multiple injuries.

Police said it was not determined immediately who was driving.

The accident boosted the Muskegon County death toll to 19 so far this year.

Nearly 60 per cent of American men in the 65-69 age group are still in the labor force. So are 40 per cent of
