Inquiry Clouded by Constitutional Issue in Probe

McCarthy, Eisenhower Administration Clash on Data Sources

WASHINGTON (AP) —A head-on constitutional conflict between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and the Eisenhower administration hung heavily today over the Senate inquiry into the treatment of Army Pvt. G. David Schine.

The Senate's "who lied?" probe into the dispute between McCarthy and Army officials was temporarily submerged in a roaring battle over the Wisconsin senator's declaration that "no power on earth" will stop him from seeking information from government employes about "corruption, graft or treason."

McCarthy took this stand after a statement by Atty. Gen. Brownell yesterday—issued from the White House—that the executive branch of the government has "sole responsibility" for protecting the nation's security.

Brownell with President Eisenhower's approval gave this reply to McCarthy's earlier call on the two million federal workers in the executive department to give the senator secret information despite presidential orders to the contrary:

"The obligations and duties of the executive, judicial, and legislative branches of the government are defined by the Constitution . . .

"That (executive) responsibility can't be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override orders of the President of the United States to federal employes of the executive branch of the government."

The constitutional argument speedily found its way into the Senate Investigations subcommittee's televised hearings where it developed additional political overtones.

Firing in all directions, McCarthy said:

Eisenhower is "an extremely busy man" and is "getting bad advice."

He is not suggesting that Brownell "resign or anything like that," but he hopes to persuade the attorney general "that where he does have the duty to enforce the law, that we have the duty to expose any failure to enforce the law."

He stands on his position that federal employes are "duty bound to give me information even though some little bureaucrat stamped it secret to protect himself."

His Democratic colleagues on the investigations subcommittee, currently waging a fight for full access to subcommittee files, "will not get the names of the loyal gov-

No Rain Seen for Weekend

U. S. Bureau Revises Forecast but Expects Cool Holiday

Revising an earlier forecast, the U. S. Weather Bureau today predicted no rain—but cool weather—for the remainder of the Memorial Day weekend.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms skipped the Pontiac area yesterday, but doused areas south of here.

A thunderstorm hit Detroit yesterday afternoon, causing some lightning damage. Other parts of southeastern Michigan reported sizable showers.

Partly cloudy and cool weather is forecast for tonight, Sunday and Monday. The mercury is expected to rise to a high of 60 to 64 degrees Sunday after a 46-50 degree low tonight.

Northeast and northwest lower Michigan and east and west upper Michigan may get scattered showers tonight and Sunday, but no rain is in sight for the southern part of the state.

The thermometer in downtown Pontiac today bobbed up from 63 at 8 a.m. to 75 at 2 p.m.

A temperature range of 55 to 82 degrees was recorded here yesterday.

20,000 Review Military Units in City's Parade

Fallen Heroes Honored by Largest Procession in Pontiac History

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

An army of civilian-soldiers, supported by medium tanks and heavy machine-guns mounted on jeeps, invaded Pontiac this morning and thousands cheered.

Campaign banners fluttered in the stiff wind and drums rattled as the army of marchers moved up Saginaw street in one of the most colorful Memorial Day parades in Pontiac's history.

A crowd, estimated by police at 20,000, watched the mile-long parade of weapons, marching units, bands, reservists and floats.

The procession stopped at Oakland Ave. and Saginaw to salute this country's fallen heroes with a brief prayer given by Hugh P. Ritter, chaplain of Jimmey Dey Post 12, Amvets.

Then it disbanded and veterans and reservists started for Perry Mount Park Cemetery for a more complete Memorial service.

Chief Pontiac Post 377, American Legion, commanded by Merlin J. Best, received an award for having the largest marching veterans group.

Miss Jackolyn W. Smith, parade co-chairman, called the procession one of the best Memorial day parades in the history of Pontiac.

"More effort on the part of everyone this year has made the parade outstanding," she said.

Moving out at 10 a. m. from Jackson and Whittemore Sts., a Marine Corps League color guard led off the march north on Saginaw stset to the Civil War Memorial at Oakland avenue and Saginaw.

Escorted by Pontiac motorcycle police, honorary parade marshal Harry J. Pattison, Spanish-American War veteran, rode in the leading vehicle.

Principal speaker, Billy Wickins, Michigan American Legion Commander, Gold Star Mothers and city officials, occupied following vehicles.

Pontiac's National Guard Company M marched and the 107th Ordnance Co. displayed its military trucks and jeeps, which passed before the huge crowd. A Red Cross vehicle preceded the guardsmen.

Three reserve organizations of the U. S. Navy, Army and Marines marched behind the Pontiac High School Senior band, followed by the Civil Air Patrol and Boy Scout Troop 244.

Medium tanks of the 703rd Tank Battalion rumbled in front of a platoon of men from the reserve group.

Girl Scouts formed the historical tableau upon a float, telling the story of "Betsy Ross."

Second section of the parade included marching units from Girl and Boy Scout troops, a Pontiac junior high school band and Spanish-American War veterans.

County Reports Heavy Traffic

Few Mishaps Mar Start of Holiday Weekend as Cars Roll Northward

State Police and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department reported few accidents and a minimum of traffic tieups as one of the heaviest flows of holiday traffic moved out onto the highways Friday night and this morning.

Undersheriff Donald O. Menzies said the traffic was extremely heavy Friday night on the Dixie highway. Almost all of it was northbound and moving smoothly.

State Police of the Keego Harbor Post revealed similar indications that the usually deadly traffic of the Memorial Day weekend started out in a well-behaved manner, and proceeded north with a minimum of hindrance.

Both voiced the opinion that southbound returning traffic Monday afternoon and evening will be even heavier. Congestion is expected at U.S. 10 and Clarkston Rd., at Williams Lake Rd. and the Dixie Hwy., and at Telegraph and Orchard Lake Rds.

Dad, Ray, Roy Nab a Body Goin' Thru Their Rye

J. P. Stover, and his sons, Ray, 15, and Roy, 13, met someone yesterday a 'comin' through their field of rye in Farmington Township.

The elderly stranger was reaping their crop with a hand sickle.

When asked what he was doing, the grain-grabbing interloper menaced them with his reaping sickle, until disarmed by the Stovers.

Complaining of a heart ailment and lung condition, he feigned illness only to spring to his feet and escape in a late model Cadillac parked nearby.

Australians Return Coalition Party

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The Liberal-Country party coalition government headed by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies appeared tonight to have won today's general election by a narrow margin.

With well over half the votes counted, the government, which favors free enterprise, appeared likely to win 58 seats against 55 for the Socialist Labor party. Eight other seats in the 121-member House were in doubt. These doubtful seats included two now held by Labor.

The Menzies coalition has governed Australia since it upset Labor in 1949.

French Crash Red Lines to Relieve Besieged Fort

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Five thousand French troops slashed through to the relief of Yen Phu today and the rebel besiegers ran for the hills.

The French command said the relief force, under heavy air cover and using tanks and armored units, hammered through with reinforcements and supplies for the tiny post 30 miles south of Hanoi. Under fire for 18 days, it had been manned by only one company of 160 men.

The French described the relief operation "the biggest offensive move" they have made since Dien Bien Phu fell May 7.

The Vietminh were estimated to have 12 battalions in the Phu Ly sector, an anchor of the Red River Delta defense line. The French Union troops number about a division.

The fall of Yen Phu and Phu Ly would give the rebels good bases to step up attempts to destroy the highway and paralleling railway between Hanoi and the seaport of Haiphong. Over these routes moves the bulk of American war equipment for French forces in the delta.

Until the French offensive move, the Vietminh had been having an easy time creeping closer to Yen Phu.

The rebels had kept the little outpost in the vital Red River Delta area under steady mortar bombardment while Vietminh mole squads burrowed to within 300 feet of the barbed wire barriers. Some 12 Vietminh battalions took part in the grueling attack.

Following the tactics they used to take Dien Bien Phu, the rebels apparently aimed to pound the outpost until it was sufficiently softened up for a frontal assault.

News of the French breakthrough came after a day of scattered action in which the rebels knocked off one Vietnamese-manned defense post 20 miles southwest of Hanoi and encircled two others in the same sector.

The French said they were supplying the embattle posts by air.

The French Union cause was bolstered somewhat yesterday by the arrival of 17 American fighter planes and fresh troop reinforcements.

The 17 fighter planes—Grumman Bearcats—arrived in Saigon aboard the American light aircraft carrier Windham Bay. The planes, with a top speed of 450 miles an hour, are able to take off at high speed on short runways, a valuable asset in Indochina.

The troop reinforcements were coming into the delta area both from France and other areas of Indochina

Australian Wins British Title

Doug Bachli Beats Campbell 2 and 1 in Whirlwind Finish

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (INS) — Doug Bachli, 34-year-old Australian pubkeeper, come on like a whirlwind in the homestretch today to win the British Amateur Golf championship with a 2-and-1 victory over Bill Campbell of the Unites States.

The former Australian champion, hooked up with the 31-year-old Walker Cupper from Huntington, W. Va., in the first Aussie-U. S. final in British Amateur history, won with the aid of a spectacular blow-up by Campbell on the last four holes.

The American, behind only once prior to his final difficulties, was 1 up through 31 of the scheduled 36 holes. But the tide turned abruptly as Bachli won three in a row on a bogey and two doublebogies by Campbell.

That made him dormie 2, and it ended when they halved the 35th with par fives.

College Student 1st State Fatality

Blair Moody Jr., Wife Injured in Same Crash Near Novi

By The Associated Press

Only one fatal smashup happened on Michigan highways in the first hours of the long Memorial Day weekend, which saw an estimated 2,500,000 motorists take to state roads.

A Michigan State College student was killed in it, and the son and daughter-in-law of former U. S. Senator Blair Moody were injured.

Ralph Horney, 22, of Detroit, was killed Friday night as his car and one driven by Blair Moody Jr., 26, collided on U. S. 16 two miles west of Novi.

Moody suffered only minor injuries, but his 25-year-old wife suffered internal injuries and was transferred from Atchison Hospital at Northville to University Hospital at Ann Arbor. At first physicians expressed fear she would not survive, but today her condition was reported as "fair" and she was not on the hospital's critical list.

The Moodys, who live in Detroit, were en route to Grand Rapids to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Kennedy.

Horney was en route home from Michigan State College to spend the holiday weekend. State Police said the collision apparently happened as Horney pulled to the left in an attempt to pass another car and met young Moody's car head-on in the three lane highway.

Before the Associated Press began its tabulation of holiday weekend deaths at 6 p. m. Friday, Marilyn Brown, 13, drowned in a gravel pit near her home in Watertown Township of Sanilac County.

State Police said Marilyn went down while swimming with two sisters, Norma, 17, and Jeanette, 12. She was the daughter of Erwin Brown, a widower.

All Are Charged With Plotting U. S. Overthrow

Arrests Are Made in Connecticut and New York City

WASHINGTON (INS) — FBI agents arrested seven top party Communist leaders today in raids in Connecticut and on a top-secret underground meeting place in New York City.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced the arrest and said all seven were charged with plotting to overthrow the U.S. government by force and violence.

Federal agents carried out the dramatic raid on the secret party meeting place in New York to pick up three alleged Communist Party underground leaders. The other four were arrested at West Hartford and New Haven, Conn.

Hoover said the FBI men interrupted an underground party meeting in a third floor rented art studio at 38 Old Broadway, New York City.

Arrested at the secret hideaway were:

Simon Silverman, 38, known in the Communist Party underground as Sid Taylor; Robert C. Ekins, 46, and Jacob Goldring.

Hoover said:

"These three were leaders in the Communist Party in Connecticut and have been holding secret meetings in New York City to avoid detection."

Hoover added: "Silverman and Ekins have been in the Communist Party underground for several months and their whereabouts has been unknown to many of their friends."

Others arrested in today's Smith Act raids were:

Joseph Diman, 34, Alfred Leo Marder, 32, and Sidney Sussman Resnick, 32, all arrested in New Haven.

James Sherman Tate, 43, of Hartford was arrested at West Hartford.

Hoover said that FBI agents who made the New York raid permitted the secret party meeting to get under way and then broke in to make the arrests.

Mother's Plight Earns Excuse From Jury Duty

DENVER (AP)—Although she said "it would be a pleasure just to sit down," an unidentified Denver housewife begged off from jury duty yesterday.

In a letter to the jury commissioner she listed her reasons:

"Three children—12, 6 and 1.

"Dirty diapers, dirty dishes, dirty clothing, dirty faces.

"School, ironing, cleaning, cooking, washing, and also consulting the best book on psychology to know more about why they behave like demons."

She was excused for at least another year.

Split Hinted in Guatemala as Reds Kick Out Fortuny

GUATEMALA (AP)—Communist party headquarters announced today that Jose Manuel Fortuny has been dropped as secretary general of the party. It said Fortuny, a close adviser to President Jacobo Arbenz, had been relieved because of ill health.

But there was immediate speculation that he had been ousted because of a split inside the party. There also were rumors that Arbenz forced the party to take the action to remove the stigma of communism from the government.

Fortuny, as secretary general, was rated as top man in the nation's Communist party. He was also a member of the important national Democratic front which some observers believe helps shape government policy.

His removal as party leader automatically removes him from the Democratic Front.

The independent newspaper La Hora said Fortuny had been ousted after a heated party meeting.

Another announcement today said Defense Minister Jose Angel Sanchez has decided not to visit the United States as planned, until the situation eases.

The move came as tension gripped the country in the wake of U. S. State Department accusations that Guatemala has received arms from behind the Iron Curtain and reports from Washington that the United States was thinking of recalling its air and military missions to Guatemala.

In Washington, Sen. Smathers (D-Fla) said last night the shipment of Red arms to Guatema was "Russian intervention in Latin America and emphasizes the challenge this nation has no choice but to meet."

Rescue Team Inches Up Slope

8-Man Party Searching for Injured Mountaineer in Tiny Pup Tent

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — A rescue party of eight men clawed its way up the rugged slopes of snow-covered Mt. McKinley today toward a tiny tent housing the broken body of a man they hope is still alive.

The rescue party, spurred by clearing weather and air-dropped provisions, radioed its base at Micnhumina at 11 p.m. Alaskan time. It was within 1,000 feet of the tent in which Pfc. George Argus was lying. They expected to reach the tent by 4:30 p.m.

The tent was sighted from the air late last night by Morton Wood, who was one of three survivors of a 1,000 foot fall, which killed one man and left Argus helpless with a broken hip.

* * *

As a swirling snowstorm, which made flight over the area impossible let up last night, the Air Force flew Wood over McKinley in a C47. He spotted the tent standing undamaged at the 11,000-foot level.

From the plane, Wood gave radioed instruction to the ground party, and with renewed hope that Argus might still be alive, the rescuers below pushed ahead.

The Air Force also dropped the ground party provisions.

* * *

The ground party was split in two sections. In the lead were five experienced mountain climbers — Col. Edmund Mueller, Capt. Ray Zebrowski, and Frank Milan, of the Army's Arctic training center at Big Delta; Dr. John McCall, the University of Alaska glacierologist, and Petet Gabriel, a civilian instructor at the Air Force's cold weather training center at Ladd Air Force Base here.

Another rescue group of three men followed them.

Argus was left on the mountainside when Wood and Les Viereck, a third survivor, had to give up their attempt to bring him down the tortuous slopes alone. They left him waiting for help that never came.

Argus was warmly wrapped, lying on an air matress. He had enough food to carry him through this weekend.

The temperature, at the tent level, was 10 to 50 degrees above zero.

Constitutional Issue Clouding Hearing

ernment employes who gave us the evidence of treason that has been growing over the past 20 or 21 years."

These issues spewed out of the inquiry into Army charges that McCarthy and his aides improperly sought favored Army treatment for Pvt. Schine, a former unpaid subcommittee consultant, and the McCarthy camp's contention that top Army officials used Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to sidetrack an investigation into alleged Communists in Army installations.

Roy M. Cohn, McCarthy's chief counsel, got in some under-oath denials yesterday of these charges but the subcommittee quit until Tuesday with cross-examination of him by Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins still unfinished.

McCarthy's attacks, which interrupted testimony, brought a Democratic defense of the President and Brownell, Republican criticism of Democrats for making "political speeches" and a threat to carry the fight over subcommittee files to the Senate itself.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo) told newsmen that if McCarthy persists in what the Missourian called blacking out information in the files from the Democrats, "I'm going to take the issue to the Senate and find out where we stand."

McCarthy has stepped off the subcommittee for the inquiry into his dispute with Secretary Stevens and other Army officials, but he remains chairman of its parent Government Operations Committee.

Symington criticized GOP members for what he termed their "abysmal silence while he and Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) were saying that Brownell and the President were right in contending that Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) were saying that Brownell and the President were right in contending that no unauthorized person should get security information from government employes.

McCarthy said that, as chairman of a Senate committee appointed to expose any wrongdoing in the executive branch, he is not "an unauthorized person."

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) replied tartly to Symington that "the Republican members on this committee are here to ascertain the facts and not make political speeches."

"I have a great respect for the man who sits in the White House, President Eisenhower," Potter said. "I think the other members of the committee respect him likewise. He is a great administrator and a great American."

But Potter said he is happy that in this country "the people's representatives can watch the executive branch of government."

"I am the first to admit that the investigating committees of Congress sometimes step out of line," he said. "When we do, we get our toes stomped on, as we should.

"But by the same token, I think many times the executive branch of the government oversteps their responsibilities and authority. When they do, the Congress has seen fit to pass laws to create a committee such as this."

McCarthy said that his remarks were not to be taken "as any reflection" on President Eisenhower because he has "a great deal of respect for him."

The Wisconsin senator also said he wants no argument with Brownell, for whom he has "quite a bit of respect," but he was "confused" by some of the statements being issued.

"I am disturbed to find that my friends in the executive feel this duty we have to expose what they are doing, that this duty is interpreted by them to mean that we are trying to tell them what to do," he declared. "That is strictly not true."

As for the subcommittee files, he said he had "a heavy duty to the people who give us information" to protect their names, since many of them otherwise might lose their jobs.

McCarthy said, and the Democrats denied, that if he gave the minority access to the files, he could not be sure that the names of informants that might be in them would be protected.

There was a great deal of by-play over a subpoena served on McCarthy yesterday for production of any documents that might show that Schine had done subcommittee work while he was on leave from Ft. Dix, N.J.

McCarthy in turn asked acting Chairman Mundt to issue a subpoena which would require the Army to turn over bulky files on just about everything pertaining to his dispute with Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams.

Both subpoenas finally were held up as Cohn promised to produce Tuesday any memoranda or other documents showing the extent of Schine's work.

Cohn described Schine's role generally as "contact man between the committee and a number of witnesses or informants who were furnishing information to the commitee on various matters which might or might not result in investigations."

Cohn said that while Schine was in the Army he "prepared substantial sections" of committee reports on the U.S. Information service.

Pravda Calls Atomic Talks Useless Without Unconditional Bar

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda said today secret American-Soviet talks on atomic control "cannot bring any positive results unless the United States agrees to unconditional prohibition of atomic-hydrogen weapons."

The Communist party newspaper in a lengthy article denounced President Eisenhower's world atomic pool plan as unworkable otherwise.

* * *

The paper accused the United States of trying to reveal the course of the confidential talks in a "one-sided and distorted light whereas the point of view of the other (Soviet) side remains unknown or distorted."

The article was the first public presentation here of the Soviet version of the talks.

Pravda said the Soviet Union "put forward a new proposal" which it said consisted of a "solemn, unconditional obligation not to use atomic, hydrogen or other weapons of mass destruction."

The United States made clear last December the Eisenhower atomic pool plan, introduced at a special meeting of the United Nations General Assembly at that time was intended to circumvent Soviet insistence on the ban.

The plan envisaged contributions by many nations to an international pool of fissionable materials for peaceful research.

* * *

Since then Secretary of State Dulles has held private talks on the plan with Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin in Washington and with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in Geneva.

Pravda declared these negotiations "caused legitimate doubts about the sincerity and initiative displayed by the Americans."

Under consideration is a $2,500,000 interceptor sewer up the Rouge Valley, which would be a joint community project.

Source of Gas Seepage Puzzling Home Builders

BALTIMORE (AP)—The mysterious underground seepage of gasoline in the Baltimore area has resulted in a request by the city for help from the United States Bureau of Mines.

Since excavation holes were dug three weeks ago for the Flag House Homes project about 20,000 gallons of mixed gasoline and water have been pumped out of the holes. About a third is gasoline.

Experts from the Mines Bureau at Pittsburgh were asked to see if they can determine the source of the gasoline.

Thousands Flock to See Pope Pius X Canonized

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Thousands of Catholic faithful, including high church prelates and pilgrims from many countries, thronged St. Peter's Square today for ceremonies elevating Pope Piux X to saint-hood.

Pope Pius XII was to preside over the historic canonization—the first of a pontiff in 242 years.

Reserved places were set aside for 500 high church officials including cardinals, archbishops and bishops as well as various diplomatic envoys to the Vatican and special missions from around the world. A crowd of possibly half a million was expected to jam the great square.

* * *

The solemn rites called for Pope Pius XII to be borne on a portable throne through the square and to proclaim Giuseppe Sarto—Pius X—a saint as a picture of him is unfuried from the central loggia of St. Peter's basilica.

Pius X is the 77th of 260 Popes to be made a saint. None of the others was canonized in the square.

* * *

For the first time the ceremonies bestowing the church's highest honor were to be carried to millions by means of radio and television. The Vatican Radio and many European networks arranged direct broadcasts, and the Italian television system set up its cameras for direct transmissions. Later the ceremonies were to be carried on Canadian and American television and radio networks. Pius X was known during his lifetime as "Papa Santo"—the saint Pope. The ceremonies today, only 40 years after his death, make him that in fact.

The Roman Catholic pontiff, Giuseppe Sarto, was born in the little northern Italian town of Riese June 2, 1835. His parents were poor, but aid by his bishop enabled him to attend a seminary and become a priest.

He was noted for extreme humility and charity from his earliest years.

* * *

In 1903, when he was archbishop of Venice, he was called to a papal conclave in Rome. He assured his followers he would return quickly, and some accounts say he bought a roundtrip ticket, borrowing 300 lire to pay for it.

But Cardinal Sarto never returned to Venice. None was more surprised than he when the conclave elected him the 258th pope in the long history of the Catholic Church.

A man who had deliberately subjected himself to poverty, he continued—as pontiff—his austere way of life. He cut display and pomp at the Vatican court. His relatives remained in the humble positions they had when he was a priest. A brother continued to carry mail.

* * *

During his 11-year rein, Pius X tightened the church's central government, reaffirmed Catholic doctrine and fought modernistic trends.

Pius X, saddened by the outbreak of World War I, died Aug. 20, 1914, the day the German army occupied Brussels.

Work Held Up 6 Days as Duck Defends Nest

SEAFORD, N. Y. (AP)—"Maternity ward—nature at work."

A fine sign, says homebuilder Louis Hirsch, but he hopes mother mallard hatches out in a hurry.

Today marks the sixth day bulldozer and crane crewmen have stopped clearing trees and brush from an area where 96 houses will be built.

The men were forced to cease work early in the week after a papa wild duck repeatedly "divebombed" them near where his mate sits on nine eggs.

Hirsch then ordered the employes to "lay off" until mama duck produces her offspring.

* * *

The workmen, marking time, erected the sign yesterday. Scores of neighbors and children have been visiting the area because papa mallard still does his divebomb routine when anyone gets what he deems "too darn close."

The normal incubation period for duck eggs is 26 days. But no one knows when the mother's sitting started.

* * *

Hirsch says his partner is egging him on to resume full activities, but he says: "I don't think we're wasting money when living things are involved. I hate to destroy anything. It's not humane."

Hirsch, while humane, also is human. Keeping the crewmen idle is costing him about $250 a day. He sets his loss so far at about $1200.

"I'll hold off as long as my money lasts, but I hope the little ones hatch soon."

Supreme Court Gets Quill Pens

Goose Fancier Hoping for Revival of Interest in Old Tradition

WASHINGTON — Thanks to a flock of Embden geese, the Supreme Court has just revived one of its oldest traditions — stocking its courtroom with quill pens.

From its beginning the highest tribunal had used the feathery shafts plucked from the outer wing of the goose. But at the end of World War II its sole supply from a London manufacturer ran out. Thus was broken a largely ceremonial but nonetheless venerable link with the past.

Now, however, a New Haven, Conn., goose fancier has sold the court 1,500 quill pens at 15 cents each. As a result, every day lawyers find 20 prim, white, 10-inch quills crossed in pairs atop lined note pads.

The quill pen stands among literate man's greatest tools — the instrument that set down unforgettable chapters in American history and the richest passages in English literature.

Almost certainly William Shakespeare grasped a goose quill when he wrote, "Many wearing rapiers are afraid of goosequills" — forerunner of Bulwer-Lytton's famous line, "The pen is mightier than the sword."

Thomas Jefferson cut his own goose quills and wrote the Declaration of Independence with one. John Hancock may have held a goose quill for the flourishing strokes that affixed his showy signature to the Declaration. And George Washington signed his name many times with a variety of cherished goose quills.

The quill pen was the intimate accessory of Geoffrey Chaucer and Edmund Spenser, although examples of their script no longer exist. John Milton employed it to shape his neatly formed letters. With it Queen Elizabeth scribbled in a virtually illegible hand, and Shakespeare wrote his words in angular, plain characters.

Thte Supreme Court pens are the work of Lewis Glaser, of New Haven. During the war he was released from active service because the armed forces needed goose down badly for the lining of flyers' suits and sleeping bags.

Later Glaser became interested in the kindred craft of quill making. He and two Yale professors experimented to create a pen especially for artists and calligraphers.

MEMORIAL DAY

by J. Lee Voorhees

J. L. VOORHEES

"Here they come!" Marching heroes, faces straight ahead, passed in perfect formation! The war was over. Parks were over-flowing with happy, proud people, listening, applauding as orators lauded those men who came back. Speakers' voices shook with emotion as they promised those who had fallen, "We shall not forget. Your resting places shall be shrines of glory."

M. E. SIPLE

86 years have passed. Our soldiers, marines and sailors have fought in every corner of the world; some of whom paid the full price for our liberty. Have we taken the torch they held and carried it to the ideals of our way of life? Has expediency dimmed that light to feebleness? Has selfishness curtained it to murkiness?

On this Memorial Day we must dedicate ourselves to the ideals for which these men fought and died. Our flag must wave over a vigorous, virile people dedicated to the ideal of justice, liberty and freedom for all.

Hitting Bottle Is Good Omen Around Cognac

COGNAC, France (INS)—It's considered a happy omen in this region, home of cognac brandy, if the groom starts off his marriage by hitting the bottle—literally.

The bride's bouquet is tied to a bottle of cognac brandy, according to custom, and then suspended from a branch of a tree.

The groom is handed a rifle and backed off a reasonably good distance. His job: shoot down the cognac.

If he scores a bull's eye with the first shot it's a sign of immediate luck and happiness for the marriage, so legend goes. If it takes three, four or five tries, these are the number of years it might take to achieve martial bliss.

Disaster On a Flat Top

The Nation still is stunned by the disaster which befell the Aircraft Carrier Bennington.

Two explosions and resulting fire were so severe that 97 members of the crew perished. Fear which prompted questions as to whether the explosions were the result of sabotage, has receded. It is gratifying that a Naval Board of Inquiry will probe the disaster as well as the Armed Services Committees of Congress.

★ ★ ★

While the absence of any evidence of sabotage is reassuring, the people want no effort spared to learn facts which may prevent a similar disaster on other naval craft.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile the Nation's sympathy goes out to the families of those who died in our second worst peacetime naval disaster. So do prayers for the recovery of the 200 injured. These men are just as much casualties of national defense as those who die or are wounded in battle.

Kiwanians' Pine Forest

Back in 1928 the Kiwanis Clubs of Michigan invested $19,400 in a co-operative reforestation project.

That investment bought more than seven million two-year old red pine seedlings. These were hand planted between 1928-30 by local crews employed by the U.S. Forest Service on a 10,000 acre tract a short distance north of the Tawases.

★ ★ ★

Today this largest of the co-operative plantings in the Lower Michigan National Forest is a living memorial to Flint Kiwanian Harry B. Black, who conceived the idea. It also is inspiring evidence of the support he got from Kiwanis clubs throughout the State for a new and wonderful way to plan for the future.

Except for 324 acres destroyed in a 1948 fire caused by a careless camper, the Kiwanians' forest has thrived. In 1937 CCC crews did the first cleanup job taking out scrub oak and jack pine for pulpwood. In 1950 a second cleanup took place with the harvested jack pine being sold for $10,350.

A thinning out will be made in another five or 10 years and sold as pulpwood. Another thinning will probably be made 10 years later.

Today the red pines are 15 feet high. They have an estimated present value of $250,000. In another 50 years at present sawtimber prices, the Kiwanians' $19,400 investment will be worth $2,500,000 to $3,000,000.

Seldom has money been more wisely invested than that which helped transform this burned over wasteland into a potential cathedral of pines.

Item Veto Long Overdue

A favorable report was voted the other day by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee on a Constitutional amendment to authorize Presidential item vetoes.

That action is a reminder that this common sense curb on Congressional logrolling and pork barrel waste is long overdue. In fact the first President to urge item vetoes on appropriation bills was Ulysses S. Grant 80 years ago.

The Confederacy's President, Jefferson Davis, had that power. Governors of 38 States, including Michigan, and five territories have it now. The late Sen. Vandenberg proposed it in 1936 and the present amendment was introduced by Virginia's Sen. Byrd in January, 1953.

Nonetheless many members of Congress oppose it as a brake on logrolling riders to finance pet schemes and on exchange of political favors among individual Congressmen. Without the item veto the President has no choice but to sign omnibus appropriation bills. Unable to veto objectionable items, he can only veto the entire bill, which could result in financial paralysis of the Government.

It must be admitted the item veto is not a foolproof cure. If members of Congress could muster the necessary two-thirds majority in each House, they could override it.

The fact remains that this amendment would give the President a tighter rein on expenditures for which he is held responsible anyway. It also would focus public attention on those members of Congress who insist on logrolling and pork barrel appropriations.

Even if the Senate should pass the Byrd amendment, and that is unlikely with summer approaching, the prospect of its getting on the House agenda without strong public demand is slim. That doesn't alter the fact that there is no sound argument against the item veto.

A newspaper correspondent says the only difference between Libya and hell is that hell doesn't have sandstorms. Newspaper correspondents certainly do get around, don't they?

The future is so dark that it will be unusually conspicuous when handed to this year's college graduate on a silver platter.

Bingo No Issue

Drive to Legalize Charity Gambling Falls Flat

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—The drive to put bingo on the ballot seems to be flopping.

And this is one of the biggest surprises in current politics.

When a peculiar combination of circumstances led to a crackdown on bingo a year ago, politicians ran for the storm cellars to avoid the fury of an aroused people.

It seemed for a while as though the dear people would rather have their feather parties, legally or illegally, than they would a chance at everlasting peace.

Various groups which had profited by bingo—or merely enjoyed it—rushed into the breach shouting for legalized bingo. They quickly organized the Michigan Association of Non-Profitable Charitable Organizations and started a campaign for sufficient signatures to put the issue on the ballot.

Firemen and policemen in Detroit, who finance their own welfare program with a form of lottery, gave the campaign a magnificent push in its early stages. In a door-to-door canvass they turned in tens of thousands of signatures.

But since then the going has been tough. The sponsors have gathered 130,000 of the 287,000 signatures needed and they have only until July 2 to get the rest. That's a long way from the 500,000 signatures some enthusiasts said would be gathered.

So far, firemen, policemen in Detroit and a few veterans' organizations have borne the brunt of the campaign work and there is no evidence they are going to get much more assistance.

This is the surprising feature of the campaign because the sponsors clearly expected to have strong, if unofficial, support from the Roman Catholic churches.

It was obvious before the crackdown that many Cathloic parishes long had used bingo, feather parties and "grand prize" lotteries to finance church affairs and expansions.

The petition sponsors obviously did not expect the church itself to put over the drive, but they concede privately they expected all-out support from the church-affiliated groups.

To their amazement, that support has been lacking. Officials of the association say they have made repeated attempts to draw workers, mailing lists and similar assistance from the church groups and have had an almost universal turndown.

Government officials have been definitely pleased by this development.

It is no secret in the Capitol that from the very start of the bingo fight the government has been afraid it would degenerate into a religious issue with the Catholic folks on one side and the Protestant adherents on the other.

One high Catholic churchman has been quoted in official circles as saying his church wants no part of any move to legalize any form of gambling, no matter what the excuse for it.

This attitude apparently has left proponents of legalized bingo high and dry.

One other factor also appears to be taking the steam out of the drive to legalize bingo.

That it is that bingo, under various pretexts, is creeping back in some parts of the state. Either openly, or under some strained interpretation of the law, local officials are again winking at "harmless" bingo conducted under reputable auspices.

Obviously, it is difficult to get people worked up to legalize bingo when they are already playing it.

The association may, with superhuman effort, get enough signatures in the few weeks left to gain a place on the ballot. But insiders are now betting their cause is lost.

To the credit of the association, it should be added that it could have had a fine war chest at its disposal if it had accepted funds from professional gambling sources.

Mrs. W. M. McDonald Says Argument Concerning Law of Christ Unnecessary

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

With regard to your editorial about the Christian Amendment in the issue of May 21. The object of this amendment, as you see by the wording, is to have Jesus Christ recognized by our nation as having supreme authority in all things.

Nations as well as individuals savior, Ruler and King — "Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord," Ps. 33:12. As the constitution stands the preamble reads thus: "We the people do ordain and establish this Constitution," etc. It is only as the authority of Jesus Christ is recognized by the people that we may have righteousness and peace.

"For He is Lord of lords and King of kings," Rev. 17:14. Who is gone into heaven and is on the right hand of God: angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto Him," 1 Pt. 4:22.

As to argument concerning the law of Christ I think that is unnecessary as it is clearly stated in the law of God, the Bible.

She Says Bible Contains Facts on Many Subjects

Did you know the Bibles today are a blessing? If you want to know about marriage the index shows all page numbers on whatever you could want to know.

I looked up anger once because I do get so angry sometimes. Naturally there were scriptures stating a foolish man gets angry. I think everyone should take more time in this book of knowledge which is life itself.

The one which seems to fit the nation is "If people which are called by the name 'Christian' shall humble themselves and pray and turn from their wicked ways then will you hear from heaven and will heal your land." It pays to believe the greatest power man has ever known.

Days of All Faiths

Pius X, Pope From 1903 to 1914, New Saint in Calendar of Roman Catholics

By REV. HOWARD V. HARPER

Today there will be a new saint in the calendar of the Roman Catholic Church. Pius X, who was Pope from 1903 to 1914, will be canonized in ceremonies this morning in St. Peter's Square, Rome. He is the first Pope to be so honored since Pius V was made a saint in 1712.

The declaring of a new saint has not always been a formal process. In the early days of Christianity especially strong members of the Church were just acclaimed as saints by those who had known them.

The result was that every community had its own local calendar of saints, and in those days of limited communication a saint was not likely to be known much beyond his own neighborhood.

So, to keep the idea from running away with itself, and to take it off its mostly local basis, a formal plan was worked out, much like the one that is followed today. The first saint to be canonized in the present way was St. Ulrich, who became a saint in 993, during the reign of Pope John XV.

The process of canonization begins with a request by the Bishop of the place in which the proposed saint lived. The request is always made in the presence of a "devil's advocate," a sort of attorney for the prosecution.

He tries his best to find flaws in the character of the candidate and in the evidence presented. If, in spite of the devil's advocate, the candidate is acceptable, he (or she) is at this time "beatified" and is known from then on as "Blessed."

A period of time must then elapse — sometimes it is several years — during which proof must be found of two miracles that have been brought about by the intercession of the beatified one.

When such proof is available, three meetings of the Congregation of Rites are held. The Pope presides at the last of these meetings (the public is admitted to this one) and gives his consent for the canonization to take place.

Today a mass will be said in honor of the new Saint Pius X, his statue will be unveiled, and his place in the calendar will be announced. Today's ceremonies, which would ordinarily last about five hours, have been shortened to three hours because of the age and health of the present Pope, who was 78 in March.

Sometimes on stormy nights at sea, sailors will see a pale brush-like discharge of electricity at the tip of the mast. Naturally, this phenomenon was known long before the time of any Christian saint.

The Greeks called it Helena if it appeared as a single jet, or Castor and Pollux when it was double.

In the Middle Ages sailors had a superstition that these fires were the souls of the departed, rising in brilliance and glory. And since St. Elmo was at the time the most popular of sailors' patrons, it was thought that the souls were achieving this happy condition through his intercession. So they called the electrical display "St. Elmo's fire."

June 2, called St. Elmo's Day by some, is really St. Erasmus Day, in honor of a Third Century Italian bishop who suffered martyrdom on June 2, 304. He was a patron saint of sailors, and a very popular one just at the time another patron of sailors came along.

This second one was St. Elmo, a Thirteenth Century Dominican who had spent much of his life working among the sailor-folk along the Spanish coast.

It was this St. Elmo to whom the sailors really referred when they talked about St. Elmo's fire, but over the centuries, he and the earlier patron, Erasmus, became so coupled together in the sailors' minds that finally no distinction was made between them.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Alcohol Habit Is Symptom of Hidden Fear Complex

Helene's problem is nationwide. Why did her husband suddenly develop the liquor habit at the age of 40? Well, alcoholism is just a symptom of a deep-seated complex. With the sex bulletin mentioned below Helen banished her husband's fear and restored his sex pride, so he didn't need to flee via whisky. She went to the core of his problem.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-318: Helene F. aged 37, has a common problem.

"Dr. Crane, my husband is 41, and used to be a total abstainer from liquor," she began, unhappily.

"But in the past year he has become a whisky addict and now comes home staggering drunk several nights per week.

"I've reasoned with him and pleaded, but to no avail. Our clergyman has likewise had an interview with him, but still he gets intoxicated.

"So what else can be done? Would Alcoholics Anonymous be an aid?"

Teen-agers are stimulated to drink to appear "big shots." But men like Helene's husband, who had avoided liquor till middle age, don't start the alcohol habit for that teen-age reason.

They usually try to hide from their fears or humiliation in a drunken spree.

American Indians were also very fond of liquor. In fact, it was forbidden to them by our government. Why?

Because the Indian was so deflated in his pride by being pushed ever westward until he was fenced in, on tiny reservations.

As the former proud monarch of the North American continent, he now found himself demoted to a subservient role. He was looked down upon and called an "Injun."

So how did the Indian males feel before their women folks with this humiliation confronting them?

They were so deflated in ego that they eagerly took to the whisky flask whenever possible.

For whisky anesthetized their brains for a time and gave them temporary respite from their despondency and shame.

Under its drunken effects, too, they would re-live the grand old days and act like conquering heroes.

Indeed, they'd actually take their tomahawks and start wars, which was why the U. S. government forbade liquor to Indians.

But millions of modern Americans are really "white" Indians, in their dismay and humiliation, especially at middle age when they become victims of sex fears and impotence. This humiliates them.

So they seek temporary relief from their inferiority complex via whisky. This is also a convenient "red herring" to divert their wives' attention from their deep-seated complex re impotence.

Alcoholics Anonymous does a fine job trying to salvage the former drunks. But it can't help them until they admit their total inability to cure themselves.

And they must seek the aid of A. A. by their own voluntary request. Worried relatives can't impose A. A. upon an unwilling drunkard!

But A. A. gets only palliative effects unless it goes to the deep-seated cause of the victim's alcoholism. And that is usually a sexual defeatist attitude in men who have been married for 15 or more years.

Many of us Psychologists find that alcoholism is just a figurative fire escape from a burning building. Put out the inner emotional flames and the victim no longer needs or desires his alcoholic fire escape.

So send for my bulletin "How to Prevent Impotence," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

It is used widely by A. A. members to eradicate the basic cause of their drunkenness.

Smart wives soon learn that alcoholism is only a symptom so they must go to the core of the problem to produce real cures. Helene thus eliminated her husband's alcoholism by restoring his sex pride.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.)

Baering Down

While the Democrats are staging their victory dinners the Republicans are eating at their desks.

You cannot claim a seventy-dollar-a-plate picnic is scoffing off the cuff. That was the one they gave in memory of Harry Truman's seventieth birthday.

There's more to this than eyes the meat. Do they tip ten per cent?

When the cigars are stacked high in the barn and the good Brazilian coffee is simmering in the saucer a prominent Democrat tops it off with an unmonitored telephone diatribe.

The last time we heard Mr. Truman unload an after-dinner solo he told Ike what he was doing wrong. Harry is an expert on that item. It was wrong when Harry did it.

Mr. Stevenson is also a postpradial oracle who gives out advice from a liberal script writer. He is still sounding the tocsin on an exhausted keynote.

If you look into the fundamentals prandial oracles who give out most victory dinners are celebrated while retreating.

It might be nutritious to inform Harry he should turn over a leaf from Teddy Roosevelt's book. When Teddy tried to jump on the hay scales with big Bill Taft he was informed there was no such office as President Emeritus.

Weddings Cast Romantic Spell on Spring Holiday

Newlyweds Honeymoon in the North

Thomas Moreaus Will Make Home in East Lansing

The altar of St. Thomas Aquinas Chapel in East Lansing was decorated with white and yellow gladioli this noon when Patricia J. Roiland of Lansing spoke her vows with Thomas Cashin Moreau of East Lansing.

The Rev. Robert K. Kavenaugh performed the ceremony for Patricia, who is the daughter of the Thomas Roilands of Petoskey, and Thomas, whose parents are the Frank J. Moreaus of East Iroquois road.

The bridal gown was fashioned of nylon tulle and lace over duchess satin. The full skirt of tulle was inset with bands of Chantilly lace and the fitted bodice featured a pleated scoop neckline of illusion. The long tapering sleeves were pointed at the wrists.

A tulle tiara encrusted with pearls held a veil of French silk illusion and the bride carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and varieated ivy centered with a white orchid.

The bride's cousin, Shirley Froyssa from Petoskey, was maid of honor. The other attendants were Karin Hansen of Lansing and Mrs. Del Seitz of Grand Rapids.

All attendants wore ballerina-length gowns featuring butterfly skirts of tulle over taffeta. They wore tiny jackets of taffeta over tulle halter tops. Italian straw flowers formed their headpieces and they carried colonial - style bouquets of yellow daisies and blue cornflowers.

The honor maid wore a pale yellow gown of this description and the others wore pale blue.

For her duties as flower girl Margaret Rosalie Moreau, the bridegroom's sister, wore a floor-length gown of yellow nylon net over a hooped taffeta skirt. Her headpiece was composed of flowers and she carried a basket of rose petals.

John Moreau was best man and ushers were Lorne McDougall and Robert Kimmins.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Roiland wore a dress of black lace over beige taffeta with matching beige accessories and a corsage of pale yellow roses.

Mrs. Moreau wore a dress of Windsor rose lace over taffeta with a matching lace jacket, matching slippers, a soft blue hat accented with pearls, and a corsage of French iris and stephanotis.

Hotel Porter in Lansing was the setting for the reception, after which the bride changed to a navy blue dress and matching jacket with white accessories for the wedding trip to northern Michigan. The newlyweds will reside in East Lansing.

Both attended Michigan State College where she was a member of Delta Zeta sorority and he was affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Live in Town or Country?

Choose Suit According to Your Manner of Living

PARIS (INS)—Most husbands seem to want their wives to look smart but not frivolous, chic but not eccentric—and to dress economically but with an expensive look.

If your husband is one of these, your suit is the item in your wardrobe that can have the great "husband appeal."

According to Paris suit and dress designer Raphael, a well-made suit will have all the above-mentioned qualities, plus a few extras.

A perfect suit should look as if it were made just for you and the occasion you wear it, though it ought to be right for many purposes. Raphael's advice is to choose a suit material and cut according to your way of living and your personality.

A tweed or camel-hair suit will be right if you live in the country or a small town or for traveling. A worsted wool suit or a fine flannel outfit will be perfect for both town and country wear. A black suit is for the sophisticated city type and a new navy-blue spring suit for this season will be the height of chic.

Raphael is of Spanish origin whose father used to dress Queen Victoria-Eugenia in Madrid.

The smartness of a suit is in its perfect fit. Raphael said it takes two to three weeks work to achieve perfection. According to him it is also most important that a suit be lined, the jacket as well as the skirt.

In his spring and summer collection Raphael proposed new details for the 1954 Paris suit-look. He cuts the shoulderline round but slightly widened, bustline important, waistlines and hips trim and fitted. On many coats the sleeves have a new fullness starting from below the elbow.

Tweed, fine flannel, checked cotton and jersey are the more classic suit materials, but fine lace, eyelet embroidery in synthetic materials and silks are used for dressy outfits.

Raphael likes piping and braiding for trimmings on plain as well as on patterned materials. Handmade pleats for skirts, and sometimes even collars, are a spring feature on classic or semiclassic suits.

"Wear your suit with perfume and jewelry," insists Raphael.

He thinks that these two additions make the strictest suit feminine, elegant and dressy.

Plaid Material Demands Skill in Cutting, Sewing

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (INS) — Plaids are favored fabric with homemakers who make their family's clothing.

But plaids are tricky patterns, and clothing specialists at the University of Tennessee say much care must be given to the piecing of plaid fabrics.

The specialists advise:

"Select your plaid carefully. If you are a beginner, choose a simple dress pattern and a balanced design which has no up and down or right and left to consider in cutting."

The unbalanced plaid, they explained, usually has a right and left side and an up and down, which means that every piece of pattern must be cut separately and the plaid must be matched four ways. Pointed out the experts:

"Woven patterns are the best plaid buys, because a fabric with a right and wrong side requires more material, and it is often almost impossible to match the plaids satisfactorily."

With an up and down design, the pattern must be placed running all in one direction, or "with nap."

When there is a right and left to the design, the fabric is not folded. Every piece must be cut separately with a seam at center front of the blouse or skirt. The plaids, say the specialists, should face each other with the main plaid running down the center front and with crosswise plaids matching.

The back is cut in this way, also.

They continued:

"Cut an inch seam allowance so that the seam lines of the skirt may be slipped for a perfect match if necessary. Plan to cut so that plaids at the shoulders, tops of sleeves and top of skirt are the same.

"Cut so that darts in the pattern will fall in such a way that the plaid is not distracted when the darts are sewn."

Finally, the smart seamstress will choose a time to lay her pattern and cut the plaid when there will be no interruptions. The specialists cautioned:

"You'll have to think hard and cut slowly and carefully to do a good job."

New Styles Sew Easily

If you have berated yourself for lacking a knowledge of machine sewing, you now have one of the best opporunities in years to make the acquaintance of the machine.

Fashion lines have never been simpler than they are for this spring and summer. And the new fabrics are often easy to work with also.

The most popular silhouettes, the "sheath," "princess" and "empire," are very easy to stitch up. In these styles, belts, collars, and sleeves present few problems. Sheaths for example, are usually sleeveless.

If you prefer a dress with an important sleeve, try the dolman; it requires no tedious fitting into armholes.

Lightweight spring-back toppers can also be easily made by the novice. And many handsome beach accessories pose no sewing problems.

Here are a few hints that will help your sewing efforts:

Choose thread to match the type of material you're sewing.

To prevent raveling or fringing, outline your pattern on the fabric with a sliver of soap before you cut.

Plunge pins and machine needle into a bit of soap, too, so they'll slide easily without snagging.

Avoid puckered seams by loosening the tension on your sewing machine.

If you have any doubt about the shrink-resistance or colorfastness of a washable fabric, suds out a sample of it before you start sewing.

IF casual but pretty effect—

Choose feminine clothes rather than stereotyped classics to achieve the casual yet pretty when not so young.

She's Looking Out for Herself

Don't Take Rival's Word

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Why settle for just any old somebody's say-so? Why not look those "know-it-alls" in the face and make up your own mind why their words of wisdom should be considered pearls?

Why should they know better than you, for instance? What prejudiced interest makes them pronounce as they do? Couldn't they be more than slightly biased? And against you for some reason or other?

Yet so many of you take somebody's word for it. And what shakes your self-confidence to the very roots. Some one person's opinion you take to be the general consensus.

It, being contrary to what you've been doing, is what you should be doing, of course. And from there on in you're sure you're wrong and must reform.

The lesson for today is aimed at proving that what other people tell you "ain't necessarily so." And the first point we want to make is that you should consider the source of your information every time. As this girl should do. She writes:

"Dear Miss Wooddard: I like Jackie very much — and for a while I though he might like me, but now I'm not too sure. It seems a girl name Martie is beating my time.

"She says that he likes her, but how can I be sure? How can I know whether or not he likes me?

And you'd take Martie's word for it? A girl who's out to do all she can to get Jackie for herself? A girl who's likely to put monkey wrenches in the works of all other girls who have an eye out for Jackie?

She says he likes her. But maybe that's what she wants to think. Maybe that's what she wants you to think. And maybe it has nothing whatsoever to do with the truth of the matter.

The truth is what you hear from Jackie. What you see in his attitude, his attention, his gestures toward you. How he is with Martie is something else again, and has nothing to do with your case.

How he feels about you is bound to be reflected in the way he talks and acts when he's with you. And don't let any other girl put you off because it suits her purposes to have you off!

* * *

A gal can get a reputation through no fault of her own. Someone's bias starts a round of stories, and a girl suddenly finds herself the victim. It's all sour grapes, as in this girl's case. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I have quite a reputation for being 'cold'! For this reason some of the boys who might like to go out with me won't ask me for dates.

"It all started when I went out with this one boy and wouldn't let him neck with me. He apparently talked plenty.

"Now when a boy wants to take me out, other kids tell him I'm cold and steer him off. What can I do about this?"

That boy you dated had ideas that didn't come off. He didn't even get up to bat with you. And instead of blaming himself for not being attractive to you, instead of considering it his fault that he couldn't persuade you, he said you were an icicle. And he passed the word along.

It's funny, but a reputation like that gets many another girl a terrific rush. All the boys are eager to see who can thaw her out. Each one in turn wants to get a try at making her fall off her high horse. Some girls find it a real popularity-getter.

It's very sour grapes, in your case. The boy who started the stories wound up that date with you with his nose out of joint. His disappointment found vent in making up a story about you.

Should his twisted nose really bother you? Should you really care what he says?

You know how you are and how far your friendliness with boys is going to go. If necking is all they want on a date, let them date elsewhere. And keep true to yourself.

Charm, Detail, Special Air

Costume Has Everything

David Goodstein is a king in the realm of casual sportswear, a title he has held through many successful seasons through the years.

His pattern today is one of the powers behind this throne, for it has everything a casual ensemble should have: Charm, detail, figure-enhancing silhouette and a very special air of its own.

The sweater is not included in the pattern but the fabric allowance for the trim is. It is strongly recommended to add the sweater, for the dress is sleeveless and its addition not only makes a complete costume but is certain to come in handy on certain breezy occasions.

Denim, pique and linen are the suggested materials for now, but in wool, possibly flannel, it will be a sensational weekender in the fall.

This pattern is cut in designer sizes.

Bust	Waist	Hips	Sizes
34	24	35 inches	10
35	25	36 inches	12
36½	26½	37½ inches	14
38	28	39 inches	16

Size 12 requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material for dress and one-half yard of 25-inch material for interfacing.

Manners
MAKE FRIENDS

The compliment that comes to you second-hand is often the most flattering of all. For obviously the person who said something nice about you to someone else didn't know that the remark would ever get back to you. So don't overlook an opportunity to say nice things, not only to people, but ABOUT them.

Then you'll be responsible for some second-hand compliments, too.

Brighten Old Cottons With Bertha Collars

Bring last year's strapless cottons up-to-date by making Bertha collars for them in contrasting colors.

For easy sewing and added comfort, make each collar from two pieces of material and join them at the shoulders with ribbon. Make a wide boat neckline that starts at the shoulder, where the ribbon joins the back and front pieces.

Scale Prints to Size

If you are short, avoid the flamboyant prints that make their appearance in summer cottons. The delicate, floral patterns are better scaled to your height. If you choose checks be sure they are rather small. And you would do well to avoid plaids.

Take Time to Rest

Resting for 15 minutes each day with your feet about 30 inches higher than your head is one of the most effective beauty treatments you can take. You can purchase a beauty rest board or use pillows to elevate your body.

No Reason to Include Guests' Kin

Hostess Not Rude in Omitting Mother From Dinner Bid

By EMILY POST

A woman writes: "A friend of mine recently married and she and her husband are living with his mother, she being a widow and living alone in a big house.

"I invited these young friends of ours to dinner the other evening but did not invite the mother. I understand that she is put out over this and thinks me very rude for omitting her. Will you please tell me if I was wrong not to invite her too?"

Answer: If it was a small dinner of your own personal friends, there was no possible reason why you should have included this one friend's mother-in-law. If she invites you to dinner and you accept, then you should invite her in return if you possibly can.

Dear Mrs. Post: My wife and I are having an argument over Welsh Rabbit. I say it's Welsh Rabbit and my wife says it's Welsch Rarebit.

If rarebit is sued, it seems to me one would say a cheese rarebit. But if Welsh is used, then the expression is Welsh Rabbit. Will you please settle this difference of opinion?

Answer: There are plenty of grounds for both. Usage, at any rate, has seemed to prefer the sound of rabbit to rarebit.

Correctly, of course, Welsh Rabbit by that name is a special cheese concoction and is not a small furry animal any more than "Bombay Duck" (a fish dish) is duck.

Dear Mrs. Post: Many of my friends are closer to me than my relatives. Some of the relatives I see only at family weddings and funerals.

At my wedding must these relatives be asked just because they belong to the clan, and my friends left out as a result? The list has to be cut and I can't have both.

Answer: If you have to cut your list, then it seems to me it is better to cut it according to affection. That is, ask those whom you know best and care for most, be they friends or relatives.

Organize to Make Dishwashing Easy

Organize to make diswashing easy. Keep space on either side of sink clear. Immediately after dinner, scrape and stack dishes at right.

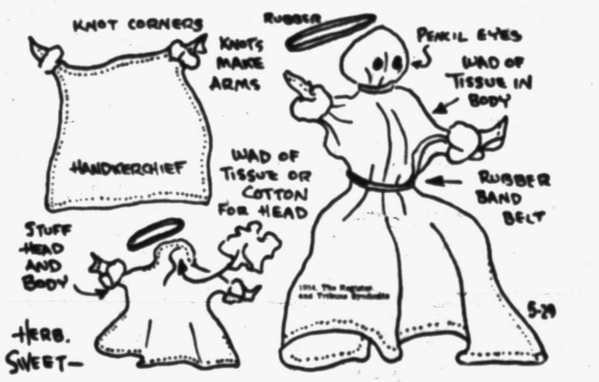
Then wash glassware and silver, stack at left and put dishes in water. While dishes soak, dry glasses and silver. Wash dishes, rinse, and rack to drip dry. Let pots soak while you relax.

Wash Most Things Before You Paint

Any cabinets, walls, or woodwork you intend to redecorate need a preliminary soap-and-water treatment.

As a matter of fact, sometimes a thorough washing will reveal the fact that you don't need to do quite as much repainting as you thought. Maybe the original tired-looking coat is just soiled, not actually faded or marred.

It's the guy who foots the bills that knows where the shoe pinches.



Try It

Make Handkerchief Doll

Have you ever seen anyone make little people from handkerchiefs? This is fun to try, and there are many things which can be made, but let us talk about just one kind today.

We will make a simple doll. The main requirement for this doll is a man's handkerchief. A plain color is best, so perhaps you can borrow one of Dad's if you ask Mother first. Tell her that it will not be hurt in any way. It should be at least 14 inches square.

Put the handkerchief down flat on a table with it fully outspread. Make a loose knot in the upper two corners. These will be the hands of the doll.

Gather the middle upper edge of the handkerchief for the head. This will be the part between the two hands. It will look even more real if you stick a tissue or a piece of paper inside. Fasten in place with a rubber band.

Gather the skirt in and put a second rubber band around the waist. Hold up and pull the dress down evenly and smooth the fullness so that the baby doll is finished.

Pencil on eyes and other features if desired. A wad of tissue can also be put in the upper part of the body. These make real looking puppets for impromptu plays and stunts. Try it!

Mary Elizabeth Freegard Speaks Marriage Vows

Altar vases of white gladioli, orchid-colored pompons and green carnations decorated the altar of St. Michael Church this morning when the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly joined Mary Elizabeth Freegard and Charles F. Halpin in matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of the Thomas Freegards of North Saginaw street, and the Floyd Halpins of North Ardmore avenue are the bridebroom's parents.

For the 10 o'clock ceremony the bride wore a floor-length gown of tulle fashioned with a bodice of hand-clipped Rose Pointe lace, a tucked yoke and tiny lace collar. Tiers of tulle over satin fashioned the skirt, and a cap of lace held her veil.

MRS. CHARLES F. HALPIN

A white orchid fastened to a prayerbook given to her by the bridegroom formed the bride's bouquet.

Virginia Verwey wore mint green for her duties as honor maid. She carried a bouquet of orchid-colored carnations and Marguerite daisies.

In similar attire were the other attendants, Jeanette Ashton, Marguerite Raymond and Mildred Schwartz. Rita Ann Halpin, the bridegroom's sister, was junior bridesmaid in an orchid gown with a Shalimar bouquet of green carnations and white daisies.

William Freegard, the bride's brother, was best man, and seating the guests were Gerald McHaney, Joseph Swengros and Kenneth Halpin, the bridegroom's brother.

St. Michael Hall was the setting for the reception. Mrs. Freegard wore a navy sheer with a corsage of pink roses and feathered carnations. Mrs. Halpin chose aqua shantung with a red rose and white feathered carnation corsage.

For the northern honeymoon the new Mrs. Halpin changed to a navy linen suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Removes Rust

You can remove rust from the corners of well-used cake tins by dipping a raw potato in a pot cleanser and scouring them with it.

American History 'Lives' for You Through Travel

Your car is a veritable "open sesame" to the nation's history as seen through the eyes of past presidents.

You can get a rare glimpse of America's national heritage by motoring through any of the 13 states that have preserved a total of 23 homes of former Presidents of the United States.

The two most famous of the presidential mansions which have been turned into public museums are Mount Vernon and Monticello, both in Virginia.

George Washington's Mount Vernon home on the banks of the Potomac is a perfect example of Colonial American country living.

Thomas Jefferson's home, Monticello, is near Charlottesville and stands as a lovely monument to the President who wrote the original draft of the Declaration of Independence.

Theodore Roosevelt's birthplace in New York City is a museum, and Sagamore Hill, his Long Island residence at Oyster Bay, is now a national shrine.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt's home at Hyde Park, became a national historic site in 1944.

At Quincy, Mass., the Adams Mansion has been preserved as a National Memorial to John Adams and his son, John Quincy Adams.

In Plymouth, Vt., the public may visit the combination store, post office and cottage where Calvin Coolidge was born and sworn in as President.

The Hermitage, Andrew Jackson's home near Nashville, Tenn., is a typical southern mansion. Ohio boasts the Rutherford B. Hayes estate, Spiegel Grove; James A. Garfield's Mentor Home and Warren G. Harding's house in Marion.

Patient Goes Home

Mrs. Floyd McGrath of Elizabeth Lake road is home from Pontiac General Hospital.

Glen Abbotts Travel West After Rite

Barnett Chapel of First Baptist Church was the setting this afternoon when Airman 3. C. Glen D. Abbott of Denver, Colo., claimed Clair M. LaClair as his bride in a double-ring ceremony.

The Francis H. LaClairs of North Midland drive are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern B. Abbott of Clarkston.

The Rev. H. W. Schoof performed the 4 o'clock service before 125 guests. The bride approached the altar on her father's arm, wearing a gown of lace and net over satin.

Tiny buttons fastened the bodice in back, and a stand-up collar and long sleeves coming to points over the wrists were other highlights of the lace bodice. Scalloped lace trimmed the net skirt, and a cascade of white roses and carnations, with plumosa and white rosebuds tied to the streamers, formed the bridal bouquet. A small rhinestone trimmed cap held her fingertip veil.

Attending the bride as honor maid was Patricia LaBarge in canary yellow net over taffeta. Appliqued white flowers sprinkled with rhinestones ornamented the bodice, and her bouquet was of variegated white and green carnations to match her headband.

Clifford McDermott of Clarkston was best man, and seating the guests were Al Warman and Tim Mortimer, both of Clarkston.

Receiving guests at the home of the bride's grandparents, the John H. Malleys of Mathews street, Mrs. LaClair wore a pale blue matelasse dress with a corsage of white camellias. Mrs. Abbott chose navy nylon with a corsage of white camellias.

Later the bride changed to a navy linen suit with the white roses from her bouquet for the trip to Denver, Colo., where the bridegroom is stationed.

Maple Leaf Club Plans Summer

Birthdays of Mrs. Wendell Newman and Mrs. William R. McClure were observed. Hostess for a future bridge party will be Mrs. Royal Pazik. Mrs. Charles Lloyd will have charge of entertainment.

Hostesses for the Friday meeting were Mrs. Harry Ambler and Mrs. Arthur Hunt.

Birth Announced

Announcing the birth of a daughter, Lee, May 25 at Pontiac General Hospital are Mr. and Mrs. Arden J. Seaton, of Otsego drive.

The Thomas E. Footes, of Birmingham, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosemary, to Robert D. Traylor of Colorado Springs, son of Mrs. J. Dewey Traylor and the late Mr. Traylor. A late summer wedding is planned by the couple. Rosemary attended Denison University and her fiance attended Oklahoma City University.

ROSEMARY FOOTE

Now Both Pretty, Practical

Nightcaps Guard Hairdos

Whether or not you set your hair nightly, you will find it more manageable in the morning if you wear a nightcap.

Pin curls will stay pinned or curlers will remain in the comfortable position you arranged them in. If you don't set your hair, your tresses will take any amount of tossing and turning without tangling.

Devotees of nightcaps have had one problem: To find a cap that was both pretty and practical.

There have been many gay wisps around that could be worn quite becomingly and that would do a good job of hiding unsightly curlers, but only for a time. By morning these caps would have worked their way completely off the head.

Some women have remained faithful to heavy net nightcaps that could be pinned to stay on indefinitely.

Though they weren't the most attractive things one could wear, they certainly did the job of holding the hair in place.

To expect both practicality and prettiness, some said, was asking too much, but others held out hope.

Now the maker of famed feminine accessories says that it can reward the hopeful. The company has introduced a nightcap made of nylon tulle trimmed with non-tarnishable gold thread and topped by three tulle bows for a beguiling effect.

On the side of practicality, the cap is puckered with several rows of elastic so that, the firm claims, it will stay in place through endless tossing and turning.

For extra security, one might catch the cap with a few rubber-tipped bobby pins.

Shelf of Pots, Pans Will Amuse Baby

Exploring kitchen cupboards is a favorite pastime of one-year-olds. When baby gets to that stage, you might set up a special shelf for him.

Keep on it cans that are light enough not to hurt him if one falls off. A couple of small pots and pans that you seldom use can also be kept there.

Suede Wallpaper Actually Washable

Washable wallpaper has taken on a new look. Now it's being made with a soft, suede finish—spotlighted in such varied designs as a dramatic floral, a stylized modern pattern, a leaf, a provincial, and a kitchen motif.

Simply sponge this paper with soap and water and such stains as grease, crayon, and lipstick smears come right off.

Hair Styling Trick

If you would like to wear a center part but believe it to be unbecoming to your face, ask your hairdresser to style your hair so that the part ends about an inch behind the forehead. The hair at the hairline can be cut into short bangs or waved.

Rev. Savage Addresses WCTU

Group Hears Missionary

"The Open Door" was the title of a talk given by the Rev. James A. Savage, missionary to South America, when he appeared recently as speaker for Emor L. Calkins Chapter of WCTU.

Speaking on temperance in South America, the Rev. Mr. Savage assured his listeners that efforts in the direction of temperance are most rewarding in the countries which he serves.

He said that there is a decided contrast between a true Christian native and "just a churchgoer." A native, when Christianized, automatically drops all evil habits and stops wrongdoing. According to the Rev. Mr. Savage, the native becomes a missionary among the people thereafter.

In conclusion, the speaker said that all who can be reached are responsive and cooperative once they realize how a new way of life affects them.

Meeting in Central Methodist Church, members heard Mrs. Rhoda Ruby give the opening devotions based on faith. Group singing was directed by Mrs. Mable Wiser accompanied by Mrs. Glen Mason. Duets were presented by Mrs. Wiser and Mrs. George Bryan.

Also on the program for the day was Mrs. Bradley McCoy who talked on proper deportment and attitude at meetings. A short citizenship discussion was conducted in the form of a round table.

Plan Switch From Home to Business

Are you one of the many housewives who will turn to a career now that your youngsters are no longer children? If you are planning to make the change shortly, you should take an entirely different view of yourself.

Combining home management and a job, even a part-time one, may prove too taxing unless you set up a good plan for living.

You'll want to be sure there will be time for everything. When you can see how a task fits into your schedule, you won't waste time (and energy, worrying about getting things done.

As a career woman, your approach to grooming will be different, too. Things that seemed luxurious before will now be essential to maintaining your stepped up pace.

Restful baths scented with oils, pedicures and manicures, reclining frequently in the beauty-rest position (with feet higher than head) all these will be of great help to you in adjusting to your new mode of living.

Selection of new clothes will require considerable thought. We assume you can't afford to buy an entirely new wardrobe. Yet many of your afternoon dresses and hats will not be appropriate for business wear.

Your best bet, then, is to invest in one good tailored suit and a carefully made basic dress One or two simple hat-bar hats and a couple of pairs of plain dark pumps will be good choices.

With these garments as the foundation of your business wardrobe, you ought to manage quite well.

As you go along, you can buy accessories to change their moods. In the meantime, you are likely to have blouses, scarves, gloves and jewelry in your present wardrobe that will serve the purpose well.

Coming Events

Group Two OES will meet Tuesday for a cooperative luncheon at noon with Mrs. Ambrose Powers, 1796 Lakeland Ave.

Insurance Assn. Committees Set

Committees for the coming year were appointed at the Wednesday meeting of the Pontiac Women's Insurance Assn., held in Hotel Waldron.

Mrs. Emerson Loan, president, appointed Cecil Davidson as program chairman; Joyce Smith, telephone; Mrs. Mac Harrington, membership; Mrs. Marvin Blades, publicity, and Rose Ajoian, parliamentarian.

A safety film was shown by Arnold Whittaker and Fred Veamis. Plans were made for a dinner and a baseball party for the June meeting.

Julia Pope Honored With Bridal Shower

Julia Pope, bride-elect of John R. Mason was honored recently with a miscellaneous bridal shower given by Mrs. Paul Gardner of Beach street.

The daughter of the James Popes of Lowell street, Julia will speak her vows with John on June 19. He is the son of the James Masons of Beach street.

Everyday Religion

BY DON D. TULLIS

THE VOICE OF THE TURTLE

If April showers bring May flowers, May showers bring the Spring. It is here at last. It seemed that Nature's flower girl had forgotten to come to the wedding of Dull April and Dame May, but today the sun is shining. The vanguard violets are crying to the rear-guard roses saying forsake your sleepy couches—all is well.

New Englanders recall with a smile Mark Twain's words, spoken 78 years ago—"There is a sumptuous variety about the New England weather that compels the stranger's admiration—and regret.

The weather is always doing something there; always getting up new designs and trying them on people. In the spring I have counted one hundred and thirty-six kinds of weather inside of twenty-four hours."

If he were living today he could say the same of his own hideout on the banks of the Mississippi. To meet his charge I opened my Bible this sunny morning to Solomon's rebuttal, "The winter is past, the rain is over and gone, the flowers appear on the earth, the time of the singing of birds is come and the voice of the turtle is heard in the land.

Turtles do not sing in New England, or do they? Hearing this remark a certain lad said, "Turtles sing? How can they keep from it." A devout immersionist is said to have used this text for a sermon on baptism saying, the only voice a turtle has is when he goes kerplunk into the water.

The coming of spring has a deep meaning for man. It tells of enlargement and growth. It challenges our littleness and shames our easy satisfaction with things as they are.

We need the challenge of Paul — "let your hearts expand." Bursting buds call for bursted bigotries. The need of this sick world is not political panaceas but expanding hearts, bulging with sympathy for all races of men.

But there are limits to natural expansion. Trees stop growing. So do human beings. How then can turtle-natured man find a voice to welcome the spring, a mind to learn its lessons or a heart to open to its call? Can he expand beyond the law of nature?

The answer is yes. There is living water within our reach. The well is deep but we can reach it if we bow low enough. One draught and eternal growth is ours.

Beyond the sunset it is always spring.

More Theology Students Reported in Soviet Zone

By Religious News Service

BERLIN—Statistics issued here by the Evangelical Church in Germany disclosed that the number of theology students in the Soviet zone has more than doubled since 1948.

The report said that a total of 931 students are presently enrolled at the evangelical faculties of East German universities, including Rostock, Halle, Greifswald, Leipzig, Jena, and East Berlin.

It stressed, however, that the increased number of candidates for the ministry will not substantially relieve the acute clergy shortage in the Soviet zone.

Science Exhibit to Prove Bible

Moody Institute Slates Nightly Demonstrations at First Baptist

Armed with more than a ton of specialized laboratory equipment, the Moody Institute of Science is scheduled to set up its equipment on the stage of First Baptist Church auditorium Monday through Friday.

There will be spectacular demonstrations to show the harmony that exists between true science and true religion.

Dr. George Speake, of the Institute staff, will give five lecture demonstrations starting at 7:30 Monday. These are open to the public and no admission will be charged.

Following the findings of numerous scientists over the years, Speake will demonstrate that many things which are looked upon by some as Bibical myths can be supported by scientific facts, and that the natural laws of the universe substantiate the spiritual laws of God.

Nehru Indicates Curb on Foreign Missionaries

By Religious News Service

NEW DELHI — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told the Lower House of Parliament here that the government is not in favor of increasing the number of missionaries in the country.

He also indicated that missionary activities in border areas would be restricted.

The Prime Minister's comments were in reply to criticisms that foreign missionaries, especially Americans, were allowed to conduct activities in Uttar Pradesh state on the Ido-Tibetan border.

DR. R. T. ANDEM

Dedication of the new Bethany Baptist sanctuary will take place June 6 to 13. One of the speakers will be Dr. Ralph Taylor Andem. Dr. Andem is executive secretary of the Michigan Baptist Convention.

Educator Urges Church Council to Aid Schools

By Religious News Service

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Dr. Frederick J. Moffitt, associate state commissioner of education, has called for church advisory councils to aid public schools in the teaching of religious appreciation.

"Such councils," he said in an address here, "could help overcome our critical teacher shortage. They could secure teachers for schools who are imbued with moral and spiritual values."

Dr. Moffitt spoke at a two-day conference on religion and public school education sponsored by the New York State Council of Churches. Delegates from throughout the state attended.

While the basic legal principle under which the state educational system must function is separation of church and state, Dr. Moffitt said, this in no way is anti-religious.

"James Madison and Horace Mann, who led the fight for separation were deeply religious men," he said. "They took their stand for the protection of all religions."

Dr. F. Ernest Johnson, professor emeritus of education at Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, told the conference that "the business of public schools is not religious instruction, but instruction about religion."

Yale Dean Calls for Leadership

Head of Divinity School Tells Y Officers Church Needs New Vision

By Religious News Service

BUFFALO, N. Y. — Christians cannot meet the challenge of the present world with a middle-class philosophy or a nationalist creed, Dr. Liston Pope, dean of Yale Divinity School, declared here.

Speaking at the 52nd triennial conference of the Association of Secretaries of YMCAs of North America, Dr. Pope declared that "for many Christians, God and country are twin members of the Diety."

"For others," he continued, "a veritable pantheon of class interests, racial prejudices, political loyalties and international suspicions are all fused into an astonishing amalgam that is called the Christian faith.

The religious institutions in America have taken on the protective coloration of the society in which we live; it is little wonder that they blend so easily with the social landscape and accommodate so neatly to the evil about them."

Dr. Pope observed that the influence of religion on human affairs in this age is small and that great decisions usually are made by secular considerations. He said the Church is "desperately in need of leadership and vision."

First Christian to Hold Dinner

Plans will be completed at an official board meeting Tuesday evening for a reception of new members at First Christian Church. The affair will be held Wednesday evening and will consist of a "carry-in" dinner and program.

The current year among Disciples of Christ has been stressed as "A Year of Evangelism." First Christian Church has cooperated in this project emphasizing "Personal Evangelism."

This has been carried out with a comprehensive program of visitation. As a result it is announced that 54 have joined the church since the coming of the Rev. D. D. McColl last December.

Lester Stanley is chairman for the reception planning and John Appleton will have charge of music. Fred Jackson will assist the pastor in welcoming the new members.

Plan Church to Serve Americans in Paris

PARIS—Catholic Americans in Paris today announced plans to build a church and community center in Paris at a cost of $600,000. This will be the first American Catholic church ever to be built in France in the 177 years that there has been official American representation here.

The new church and community center will be dedicated as a memorial to the thousands of Americans who fell in France during World Wars I and II. It will be built in the Trocadero area, overlooking the Eiffel Tower, and will provide facilities for religious and parish activities of the large Catholic American community in Paris.

Confident Living

Master's Touch Releases Dynamic Hidden Powers

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Sometime ago I saw something which made a lasting impression on me. I was scheduled to speak at a banquet in a large hotel ballroom. The program was an elaborate one and some musical numbers preceded my talk. First, there was an excellent vocalist and then a violinist played several enjoyable numbers.

DR. PEALE

Finally he played a piece which the lady sitting next to me said was very difficult. Not knowing too much about music, I had to take her word for it, but it was confirmed by the audience, which burst into hearty applause as soon as he was finished.

As he was taking his bow, we saw a strange thing. Just behind him, a workman in overalls wandered out on the platform carrying a saw. The audience laughed, thinking there had been some mistake.

The violinist turned, took the saw from the man, placed the end on the floor, applied his bow to the smooth edge and began to play. The laughter continued for only a moment because the violinist began to bring forth really good music from that saw.

After he had played one number, he handed the saw back to the workman without comment and returned to his violin.

I haven't been able to get that incident out of my mind because it made me realize what a master can do with any commonplace instrument. And I began to reflect that perhaps if I, poor individual that I am, would yield myself more completely to the skillful touch of God, that great Master might get out of me music I didn't know was there.

I began to ask myself these questions. "Have I any powers hidden within me that I have never found? Is there something better in me than has been demonstrated?"

I suggest that you might find it worthwhile to think seriously about these same points. Do you honestly believe that your own best powers have ever been completely released? Have you ever expressed fully your inner capacity? Has the fundamental charm of your personality ever been exercised?

One of the greatest tragedies in this world—and it is one we witness every day—is the pathetic fact that people live out their lives and never have these hidden powers really released. They may have been given a wonderful charm which does manifest itself to some extent, but their full talents and abilities have never come to fruition.

As a very great thinker once said, "What a tragedy that so many people live and die with all their music still within them."

Indeed, there must be hundreds of people in this world who have never gotten themselves out of low gear. They are still struggling, crawling along through life, getting more and more bitter and frustrated and discouraged because life is so hard for them.

We do not minimize the fact that life is difficult, but I want to emphasize that there are amazing hidden powers in each of us which can enable us to meet and overcome both our own weaknesses and the circumstances of life.

One of my favorite Scripture passages testifies to the existence of these powers. It is the twelfth verse of the first chapter of John: "But as many as received Him, to them He gave power to become the sons of God."

The meaning of this pasage is quite simple: those who believe and practice spiritual living experience a release of hidden powers which enables them to have God-like attributes and new effectiveness in their own lives.

It is amazing what can come out of human beings when they get to know themselves. Hidden powers respond to the Master's touch.

Story of Passover Will Be Presented

The story of the Jewish Passover will be presented by the Rev. Oscar Stern in the Marimont Baptist Church on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

This story is a remarkable drama of Jewish and Christian pageantry. "The reverence and typology is something that everyone should see," suggests Rev. David Mortensen, pastor of the church.

The Passover will be set up just as it was used by Christ and his disciples, and as it is used in the present-day Orthodox Jewish home.

Rev. Mr. Stern is a prominent Hebrew Christian and a former refugee from Czechoslovakia. The public is cordially invited.

Rabbis Assail 'Climate of Fear'

Urge Nation to Guard Spiritual Freedom, Quit Internal Squabbling

UNIONTOWN, Pa. — A warning that "the climate of fear" is deepening in this country was sounded by the spiritual leaders of Conservative Judaism at their yearly meeting here.

"Mutual distrust has become more rampant . . . and those who would dissent from popular opinion are silenced," the Rabbinical Assembly of America said in a resolution adopted at its 54th annual convention.

"Leading members of our government are involved in controversies which drag their good names—and the names of all of us—into disrepute," the resolution said.

"The time-honored tradition by which a person is held innocent until proven guilty has all but been abandoned in a reckless and indiscriminate search for subversives. Meanwhile, we forget that, by our sanctifying evil means for good ends, we are ourselves subverting the principles of ethics and good government."

The rabbis urged the nation's leaders and all Americans to "qualify ourselves for the task of world moral leadership to which history has called us."

They asked that Americans "arouse ourselves to the dangers that lie in the path we have needlessly taken, dispel the atmosphere of suspicion and mutual fear, and recapture our sense of dedication to freedom and the methods of free men."

Adventists See Huge Demand for Schools

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seventh-Day Adventists spend a fourth of the church's income on schools but there still aren't enough schools to meet the demand, the Adventists' Quadrennial General Conference was told yesterday.

"The denomination's investment in education is larger than in any other single branch," said E. E. Cossentine, secretary of the Department of Education. "Yet we could open up 2,000 new schools next fall if we had the money and the staff."

The church has 4,571 schools employing 91,599 teachers and instructing 229,014 students.

Foreign Films Reveal Talents of U. S. Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Let's take a look at some of the current and forthcoming movies —

Three of them were made in Europe with American stars, and they provide an interesting contrast. "Three Coins in the Fountain" was filmed in Rome and Venice and is a decorative travelogue against which is played a palatable romantic story. Dorothy McGuire, Maggie McNamara, Clifton Webb and Jean Peters play Americans in Rome with varying degrees of romantic inclinations. All their problems are more or less resolved for the inevitable clinch, leaving the audience with a warm feeling, if little else.

* * *

"Flame and the Flesh" was filmed in Naples and the cast is European with one exception — Lana Turner. She plays an Italian girl of negligible morals and presents a Lana you never have seen before. This one scratches her hip and disports herself in a tired suit (outdoors) or slip (indoors). Without the usual glamorous trappings, she demonstrates an acting skill that few suspected until "The Bad and The Beautiful." She enacts a girl who moves in with a couple of men and almost ruins both their lives. How did this pass the industry censors? A good question.

"Indiscretion of an American Wife" is an unwieldy title for a fairly elemental subject. Filmed entirely in the Roman railroad station, it concerns an American wife who tries to catch a train home after a fling with an ardent Italian. As with many Italian films, it amounts to many variations on a single theme.

* * *

"Elephant Walk" puts Elizabeth Taylor in jeopardy of a cool husband and a herd of elephants. The husband has some sense of loyalty to his overbearing sire, and the elephants resent the intrusion of a plantation mansion on the path to their water hole. Well, comes a dry spell and all heck breaks loose. All ends well, after the elephants have gone their destructive way to get their drink. Miss Taylor is properly perturbed throughout.

"Dial M for Murder" wrings just about all that is possible out of an overworked film topic — the wife-murdering husband. This tale is treated to the delicate Alfred Hitchcock touch for tenseness, thus placing it head and shoulders above the usual thriller. Ray Milland, Grace Kelly and Robert Cummings keep the proceedings in an urbane tone and that adds to the buildup of suspense.

Electrician Survives Second Heavy Shock

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—Wilbert H. Reinhart, 47-year-old city electric lineman, escaped electrocution for the second time in 12 years last night.

Sixty-seven hundred volts flowed into Rinehart's right index finger and out his right big toe, causing third degree burns to both members.

Prompt action by city electrician Max Kehne who saw Rienhart slump in his safety belt was credited with saving his life. While still high above the ground on the small platform attached to the pole, Kehne applied artificial respiration.

Twelve years ago, while working for the Potomac Edison Co., Rinehart was victim of a similar accident.

Socialist Party Holds National Convention

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Socialist party opens its 29th national convention in Philadelphia today with one of its chief aims the adoption of a platform for 1956.

Norman Thomas, six times the party's candidate for President, is chairman of the Platform and Resolutions Committee and will deliver one of the main addresses at the three-day affair. Darlington Hoopes, of Reading, Pa., Socialist candidate for President in 1952 and national party chairman, also will speak.

The keynote address will be delivered by Dr. Caleb Smith, professor of economics at Brown University. His topic is "The Coming American Recession."

Stevenson Gets Keys to Mystery of Conventions

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, quoted recently as saying political conventions are "a mystery" to him, has been given a chance to look for a solution to the problem—in a set of books on the subject.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee was given a five-volume set of books entitled "Presidential Nominating Politics, 1952" by the American Political Science Assn. Material for the books was gathered by some 300 college professors.

Stevenson had no comment on the gift.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Patty Andrews of the singing Andrews Sisters has sued the others, Laverne and Maxine, in a dispute over distribution of their mother's estate.

Patty, who recently withdrew from the trio, demanded partition of a $40,000 Brentwood home left by Mrs. Ollie Andrews when she died in 1948.

North Carolina Holds Primary

Contest Among Dems Affected in Past Week by Segregation Ruling

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)— North Carolinians voted today in Democratic primaries in which the segregation issue, pointed up by the Supreme Court's decision banning separation of white and Negro pupils in public schools, played a vital role in the final week of the senatorial race.

Actually, Sen. Alton A. Lennon and former Gov. W. Kerr Scott, probably the strongest of his six opponents, stood shoulder to shoulder in calling for the maintenance of segregated public schools.

However, in the final hours of campaigning thousands of leaflets, reprints of a newspaper advertisement which warmly praised Scott as a friend of the Negro, flooded the state's eastern rural areas.

The unsigned leaflets, admittedly distirbuted by Lennon forces, followed by a few hours the appearance of the ad.

* * *

Mayor Marshall Kurfees of Winston-Salem, the state's second largest city, admitted placing the ad which drew charges of "falsehood" from the Scott camp. Kurfees was an active Lennon supporter. Kurfees said he had persuaded J. H. R. Gleaves, a Negro leader to sign the ad.

Scott's lieutenants called for investigations by federal and state officials for possible violations of statutes against distributing unsigned campaign literature.

Lennon, a 47-year-old lawyer, and former state senator, was virtually unknown politically when Gov. William B. Umstead named him last July 10 to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Willis Smith. Scott served as governor from 1949 to 1953.

In addition to the senatorial race, there were contests in five of the state's congressional districts, races for two superior court judgeships, nine superior court solicitors, state insurance commissioner, and for the state treasurer's office. There also were local races for state house and senate and for county posts.

* * *

The contests were confined to the Democratic party, where nomination is tantamount to election in North Carolina. There were no Republican primaries.

In the congressional races, Rep. L. H. Fountain of Tarboro was opposed by Herbert T. Bailey of Tarboro in the 2nd District; Rep. Carl T. Durham by H. C. Sprinkle of Durham in the 6th; Rep. F. Ertel Carlyle by Seavy Carroll of Fayetteville in the 7th; Rep. C. B. Deane by Coble Funderburk of Monroe in the 8th; and in the 10th J. C. Sedberry and Marvin Ritch of Charlotte battled for Democratic nomination. Rep. Charles R. Jonas, the state's only Republican congressman, represents the 10th.

Indianapolis Speedway Mecca for Racing Fans

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The advance guard of the world's most patient sports crowd camped today at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's 10 gates, with two days to kill before the 38th annual 500-mile auto race.

Dust-covered cars from coast to coast steadily fell into line for Monday morning's dash after choice parking spots in the track infield.

* * *

Main routes to the speedway—16th and 30th Sts. and Georgetown Road—will be packed with miles of parked racing fans by Sunday night.

* * *

This annual gathering of speed lovers looks like self-imposed misery to non-members of the fraternity but the blue-jeaned swarm seems to enjoy itself.

Northeast Indianapolis and Speedway City were trying hard to relieve the tedium—for a price.

A complete carnival was operating near the speedway's main gate. There were miles of stands selling racing helmets, checkered flags and other souvenirs.

Bars spotted strategically along 16th St. were having trouble keeping their glassware washed up, but they'll be closed Sunday and Monday under Indiana Law.

* * *

A nearby drivein movie billed a special feature to run from dark until dawn for the benefit of those who planned an all-night wait for the track to open. The theater added that it was only a (fast) 15-minute walk to the track and cars could be left in the drivein during the race.

* * *

The rumpled fans were in no immediate danger of parched throats. Portable refrigerators full of beer were standard equipment on their vehicles, many of them had light trucks equipped with folding chairs and tables, cots and cooking equipment.

* * *

The quarter-mile 16th Street speedway, across from the big track, will run three full shows of AAA national championship midget races Sunday night. The last will end about 2 a.m. Monday, and the 9,600 seats will be cleared after each program.

Speedway gates will open at 5 a.m. Monday, six hours before the start of the race. The management has held back 10,000 unreserved bleacher seats for the patient ones but about 75,000 grandstand seats were sold out months ago.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Ray Harroun, who won the first 500-mile Memorial Day auto race in 1911, today picked the winner of the 38th race Monday.

* * *

"Nothing to it," the Sturgis, Mich., manufacturer said. "It will be the last driver who pulls his head out from under the hood, just before the start."

Harroun was among the great drivers of the past and present who filled a ballroom last night as guests of the champion 100-mile-an-hour club, men who have finished the 500-mile race at speeds over 100.

Tribe Retains Lead as Rosen Sets Pace

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Al Rosen can continue his present pace, he's going to force the major league baseball wirters to dig up a new award.

The writers unanimously picked Rosen as the most valuable player in the American League last season, the first time any player had been selected on a perfect ballot.

* * *

The handsome, prematurely grey Cleveland star polled the landslide after sweeping virtually every available hitting honor and missing the batting crown by a single point.

* * *

It was a tremendous year, leaving little room for improvement.

But this season he's ahead of his last year's pace in every department.

In 37 games he has collected 51 hits in 137 times at bat for an average of .372. He's hit 13 home runs, scored 29 and driven in 48. At the same stage a year ago he was hitting .338 with 47 hits, 10 homers, 22 runs and 30 runs batted in.

* * *

Not only is he getting more of everything but his timing has been near perfection. For example, in 5the last 15 days Rosen has personally accounted for the winning or tying run in 6 of the 12 games won by Cleveland.

He did it again last night as he broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Early Wynn and Steve Gromek of Detroit with his 13th home run with Larry Doby on base in the seventh inning. The final score was 3-0 as Wynn checked the Tigers on two hits.

* * *

By winning, the Indians stayed nine percentage points ahead of the onrushing Chicago White Sox who swept a twilight-night doubleheader from the slump-ridden Baltimore Orioles 11-6 and 14-8. The New York Yankees came from six runs behind to edge Boston 10-9 and Philadelphia bowed to Washington 12-6.

In the National League the first place Milwaukee Braves extended their winning streak to 10 although they had to go 12 innings to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2. New York battered Brooklyn 17-6, knocking the Dodgers into fourth place. Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 4-0 in a game shortened to six innings because of rain and Cincinnati beat Chicago 6-3 in the only daylight action in either circuit.

* * *

Hurricane Batters Norkus, Wants Shot at Nino Valdez

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Hurricane Tommy Jackson will be offered a July 21 date with Nino Valdes, Coley Wallace or James J. Parker after his fifth round technical knockout victory over blood-spattered Charley Norkus.

Sammy Golden, one of the Hurricane's co-managers, will insist on Valdes, the hulking Cuban who is the second ranking challenger to heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano.

* * *

The Hurricane, upset by "Spoiler" Jimmy Slade in his last previous start, was slow to blow up a storm last night at Madison Square Garden. He was cautious, like a man driving a car the first time after he had been in a crash.

* * *

Once he started to rip and tear in the third, fourth and fifth, Jackson looked more like his old self. Norkus bled from cuts over both eyes from the second round on and reeled from Jackson's left hooks and short right hand punches in the fourth and fifth before Referee Al Berl called a halt at 2:29 of the fifth. The crowd of 4,139 that paid $13,205 approved.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello of the New York State Athletic Commission said he would have to take six stitches in each of two cuts over Jackson's eyes. Norkus preferred to have his eye stitching done later.

* * *

Superior condition told the story for Jackson, a 4 to 1 favorite.

Jackson now has a 17-2-1 record for 20 pro fights to Norkus' 23-12 for 35 starts.

Pontiac Bowlers Lead

Three Pontiac bowlers currently hold the lead in the state tournament of the Loyal Order of Moose. Forest Hatfield and Louis Thompson lead that event with 1266, while Hatfield's 1902 paces the all events. Robert Lee has the lead in singles with 710.

Maples Victors in Two Sports

Skippers Bow in Both Track and Baseball on Close Decisions

COUNTY RESULTS
BASEBALL
Birmingham 1, Waterford 0.
Van Dyke 5, Farmington 3.
TRACK
Birmingham 53⅓, Waterford 50⅔.

Birmingham High School athletes shaded Waterford in two sports Friday. Maple trackmen slipped past the Skippers, 53⅓ to 50⅔, while the Birmingham baseball team took a 1-0 shutout victory.

On the track, Ray Campbell was a double winner in the dashes despite Waterford's loss. His 10.1 100-yard effort set a new Pierce Field record. Gale Wigner set a new WHS mile record of 4:54.

Deciding break came in the high hurdles when Waterford's Laine Hetherington fell while leading the field.

In baseball, it was freshman Larry Hower marking up his 1st victory on a 6-hit shutout. Hower also started the winning rally in the 3rd on a walk. Singles by Jerry Wedge and Ebbie Goodfellow followed and the one run proved sufficient for Hower.

Both teams received good news from other sites. A 3-2 Mt. Clemens triumph over Port Huron gave Birmingham undisputed championship of the Eastern Michigan League, and Van Dyke spilled Farmington, 5-3, Friday to give Waterford sole possession of 2nd place in the Inter-Lakes behind champion Berkley.

Dodge Horses Nearing Top Honors in Big Devon Show

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two horses from Dodge Stables are close to winning permanent possession of top trophies at the Devon Horse Show and County Fair next week.

Some of the nation's finest show horses will compete in the 228-event affair for $30,000 worth of stakes and trophies. The show starts Monday and runs through Saturday, June 5.

The Long View Farm Challenge Trophy, donated by Mrs. Loula Long Combs for the champion three-gaited saddle horse, will be retired this year if won by Meadow Princess of Dodge Stables. Meadow Princess has won twice.

One of the top five-gaited horses in the world, Wing Commander, also of Dodge, may retire the Robinson Memorial Challenge Trophy in the $1,000 champion five gaited saddle horse stake. Wing Commander won in 1951 and last year.

The Devon Horse Show and County Fair claims to be the largest outdoor horse show in the world with qualified events in every show horse class.

Aqua-Devils Challenge Pontiac Area Drivers

MT. CLEMENS — Outboard enthusiasts in the Pontiac area wishing to try their skill in racing have been challenged to do so by owner Dr. Clayton E. Stubbs of the Mt. Clemens Race Track.

Dr. Stubbs is offering $25 to any skipper who can beat a member of the Mt. Clemens Aqua-Devils, who have been staging races on the lighted quarter-final racing lagoon at the Bath City oval since being organized by ex-Gold Cup race driver Danny Arena.

Skippers desiring to compete may contact Dr. Stubbs at HOward 8-5423 to arrange for Saturday practice schedules.

Wynn's 2-Hitter Ends Bengals' 3-Game Streak

House Gets Both Tiger Safeties; Gromek Takes 3rd Loss

CLEVELAND (AP) — There's a difference between beating a ball club like the Baltimore Orioles and taking the Cleveland Indians. The Detroit Tigers found that out the hard way last night.

They looked right smack at the two-hit pitching of Early Wynn and watched the Indians walk off the field with a 3-0 victory.

But Cleveland's Al Rosen did his share too. His two-run homer—the 13th of the season—brought in Larry Doby to break up a scoreless tie in the 7th inning. But that wasn't the end. Dave Philley followed Rosen with a walk, took 2nd on Rudy Regalado's infield out and scored on a single by Jim Hegan.

It was Steve Gromek's 3rd loss against seven victories. An Indian for 12 years, Gromek held Cleveland to three hits in the first six innings. He was replaced by Bob Miller in the 8th.

Detroit's two only hits were both by catcher Frank House—a double in the 3rd and a single in the 8th.

Wynn's shutout followed a week's rest after suffering a back ailment. He faced only 30 batters and retired 12 of the last 13 Tigers for his 5th straight victory.

Detroit had a three-game winning streak—all against Baltimore at home—going into the game. Tigers meet Cleveland tonight in a single game. Detroit is expected to use Ray Herbert or Ralph Branca against Bob Lemon.

Trabert, Connolly Favored in France

PARIS (UP)—Tony Trabert and Maureen Connolly, court titans from the United States, were favored to gain their 2nd title rounds today in the French International Tennis championships.

Trabert, the current U. S. Champion from Cincinnati, teamed with Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in a semi-final doubles match against Australia's No. 2 team of Rex Hartwig and Mervyn Rose.

Another match pitted Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and Budge Patty of Los Angeles against the Aussies' Davis Cup championship tandem of Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad.

In the semi-finals of the women's doubles, Miss Connolly, of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Nelly Hopman, met Mrs. Barbara Bradley of Reno, Nev., and Mrs. Barbara Kimbrell of Los Angeles.

Thomson Stays Out Front, but Ben Is Still Favorite

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex., (AP)—Peter Thomson, the young golfing man from Australia, led the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament by two strokes today but Ben Hogan, the guy who was sharing the third spot, three strokes away, still was considered the man to beat.

The stage was set for one of those famous Hogan finishes as the field of 46 players headed into the third round with Thomson leading with 137 for 36 holes, Mike Souchak of Durham, N.C., second with 139 and Hogan in a tie with amateur Harvie Ward of San Francisco for third with 140.

* * *

Souchak, the former Duke University football star who is built like a tank, stroked a fine 3-under-par 67 to climb into second place. Hogan, the defending champion and favorite, shot what he called his worst round in 10 years but he still had a 71.

Playing with a severe cold, Hogan said he was missing the fairways and the greens and that his putting on the first nine was "terrible."

But the railbirds paid little attention to Hogan's woes. The little man usually is toughest when he's complaining.

Byron Nelson, the Roanoke, Tex. farmer who shot a 67 in the opening round Thursday, was worrying with an upset stomach—"Just nervous tension," he said— and shot a 74 that put him down into a tie for fifth place.

Campbell Takes Slight Lead at Halfway Point

Ends 18 Hole Round 1 Up on Steady Playing Bachli at Muirfield

GULLANE, Scotland (UP) — Big Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., driving long but putting poorly, grabbed a 1 up lead on little Doug Bachli of Australia today at the half-way mark of their 36-hole final in the British Amateur golf championship.

Campbell, a 31-year-old insurance agent, twice enjoyed a 2 up lead during the first 18 holes as his booming tee shots outdistanced the five-foot-five Australian's from 20 to 80 yards. But each time the steady Bachli rallied to tie the match before falling behind on the 18th when he three - putted, missing a five-footer.

Playing in sunny but windy weather, Campbell fired three birdies on the 1st nine holes for a two-under-par 34 on the ancient 6,806-yard Muirfield Course. But his game disintegrated on the incoming nine holes as Bachli almost wiped out the lead.

The American's putting was poor. He missed a three-footer on the fourth hole, a six-footer on the 12th, a five-footer on the 13th and another three-footer on the 16th. On the 17th hole, Campbell drove into a bunker and twice failed to blast out. When he finally did come out, he put another shot into the rough and picked up his ball in disgust as Bachli evened the match.

On the 18th hole, Campbell characteristically outdrove Bachli by 30 yards, then approached to within 15 feet. The Australian's 2nd shot was 60 feet away and he putted to within five. He missed and took a boogey five while Campbell two-putted for a four.

Mistaken Identity

Assisting Wally Schloerke in measuring the record-breaking Class A high jump, Thursday in the Junior Olympics, was Em Ghianni. Ghianni, Schloerke and Alex Barge, prize athlete at Washington, who set the mark, were pictured during the checkup. Bob Beauchamp, clerk of course, was mistakenly identified as Ghianni.

Race Fans Get Bigger Program

Pontiac Speedway to Run 125 Laps Sunday; No Races Monday

Over 125 laps of modified stock car racing is planned for a resurfaced track at the Pontiac Speedway Sunday afternoon.

Workmen this week are spreading 100 truck loads of clay and 15 tons of chloride around the quarter-mile oval west of Pontiac off M-59. Track now will be flatter in the turns.

All races have been increased for the Memorial Day program, which starts with qualifying trials at 1:30 p.m. First race will go at 3 p.m. There will be no racing Monday.

Heat races of 10 cars each have been boosted from eight to 10 laps and the pursuit will go 15 instead of 10. Twenty-one cars will race in the semi-final event of 20 laps, while the feature attraction is a 35-lapper.

Trophies will go to the winners of both semi-final and feature events. Over 50 cars are expected to make qualification runs Sunday.

First night feature of the racing season at the Speedway is scheduled Thursday, June 3, when the Jimmie Lynch "Death Dodgers," the nation's oldest thrill show, appears.

Tied for 14th

Franklin Hills' Wally Burkemo, National PGA champion, yesterday wound up in a 14th place, four-way tie in the Colonial Open at Fort Worth, Tex. Burkemo had 72 Friday for a 36-hole total of 145.

Baltimore Fans Boo

Orioles Keep Losing, but They Set Records

BALTIMORE (AP)—Manager Jimmy Dykes and his Orioles got wind last night that their honeymoon with Baltimore might be breaking up and they offered oddities instead of winning baseball to prolong it.

The Orioles were booed for the first time since moving here from St. Louis as their losing streak stretched to nine on 11-6 and 14-8 losses to the Chicago White Sox.

The doubleheader started at 6 p.m. and ended at 1:06 a.m. Before it was over, the 23,184 fans learned the truth of the hawker's spiel "you can't follow the game without a scorecard."

The two teams used 36 players in the first game to tie the record for the most in an American League night contest. Twenty of them were Orioles. Eight of them were pinchhitters, one more than ever used before in a major league game.

Baltimore, which had been out of big league baseball for 52 years until this season, showed it hadn't gotten rusty in leaving men on base.

It stranded 16 in the first game, only two shy of a record it set in the National League back in 1897 with Boston.

Between them, the Orioles and White Sox left a total of 47 runners on base. The leagues' record for two teams in a doubleheader is 49.

Ironically, the Orioles couldn't complain about lack of either hitting or scoring which has been their main trouble so far. They matched the White Sox 13 hits in the first game and outhit them 13-12 in the second only to lose both.

The booing, particularly of Dykes when he went to the third base coaching box, started in the fourth inning of the first game when the White Sox scored four runs.

Lions Favored for IC4A Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Not since the days of the great Barney Ewell more than a decade ago has Penn State had a real chance to win the IC4A track and field championship which will be decided today on the speedy Randalls Island cinders.

But with Yale practically strangled out of the running and Manhattan, the champion the last two years, holding out but a faint hope, this looks like the Nittany Lion's year.

Art Pollard is the youngster on whom Coach Chick Werner is depending and the 170-pound sophomore seems more than ready to handle the assignment. In yesterday's qualifying heats, he ran the 100 yards in 9.6 to tie the meet record, then came back to do the 220 in 20.5 and shave a tenth of a second off Andy Stanfield's meet mark.

Dixie Juniors Set 15 Events for Horse Show

A hard-working group of young horsemen from the Junior Dixie Saddle Club has arranged for a 15-event horse show on Sunday June 6. Event takes place at the Glenn Ellis farm, 9331 Dixie Highway.

All work on the show has been done by these 15-17-year old riders. They will handle the entire show themselves, too, serving as announcers, ringmasters, and they have arranged to provide their own ribbons, trophies, programs, music and other details.

Entries will be taken from the age groups under 18 years, and there are features for those under 13 years, as well as up to 18. Among the events are the musical stalls, bending races, musical barrels, flag races and calf riding.

Sprint, Hurdle Stars Are Key to Illini Hopes

UM's Ross Misses 880; MSC Places Most Men in Finals

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Unless sprint champion Willie Williams and hurdling specialist Willard Thomson falter, Illinois should conquer a Michigan-led band of challengers for its 4th straight Big Ten outdoor track and field crown today.

Illini must rely on double triumphs by Williams in the 100 and 220 dashes and by Thomson in the 120 high and 220 low hurdles to edge out Michigan's Wolverines and possibly Michigan State and Indiana.

The Wolverines, though strong in the distances and owning a 9-point start in yesterday's discus finals, have their Canadian ace jogger, John Ross, ailing with an infected throat.

If Ross, 1952 conference champion, is unable to run in the mile, Michigan's hope of an upset are slim. Ross had to scratch from yesterday's 880 trials.

Numerically, Michigan State had the best of the qualifying at Purdue's new nine-lane track yesterday with 14 men carried into the finals, against only nine for Illinois and Michigan. Indiana qualified 8, followed by Iowa with 6, Purdue with 5, Minnesota, Northwestern and Wisconsin with 2 each and Ohio State with 1.

Illini firsts also are possible in the 880, by Gene Maynard with the fastest qualifying time, 1:54.1, and 440 yard run by Ralph Fessenden, while the Illinois mile relay team appears a cinch to pick up 8 points for first.

Yesterday's discus competition saw defending champion Fritz Nilsson of Michigan dethroned by teammate Roy Pella, who flipped the platter 160 feet, 6⅝ inches against Nilsson's toss of 158-9.

Two Records Fall in PCC Track Trials

SEATTLE, May 28 (AP)—Southern California's Trojans cracked one Pacific Coast Conference record and Stanford broke another today in the qualifying trials of the annual PCC track and field meet. Finals will be run tomorrow.

Joe Graffio of USC, after a rather poor start, closed fast to win the 100-yard dash in 9.5 seconds. The old mark was a tenth-of-a-second slower and was shared by three men.

Leo Long of Stanford hurled the javelin more than a oot over the record and nearly 30 feet beyond his competition to win the spear preliminary on a toss of 232 feet, 4½ inches. The old standard of 231 feet ,one inch was set by Bob

Max Carey Given Credit for Starting Al Rosen on Path to Stardom After Several Mediocre Years

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK — We would like to call your attention to a ballplayer who suddenly became prominent last year and who will become more and more prominent as time moves along.

* * *

With Ted Williams handicapped by a broken collarbone so far, there is but one man in the American League who can challenge Stan Musial in the National.

* * *

He is Albert Leonard Rosen of the Cleveland Indians. He started this season as a fine third baseman and he is now one of the star first basemen of the game. He is only 29 years old.

* * *

Here was a young fellow batting around .280 for years at Cleveland. But unlike too many ballplayers who are unwilling to work for improvement young Rosen and high ambitions to keep moving up.

During the latter part of a winter season two years ago in Miami, I met an old friend, Max Carey, the Ghost of the Base paths.

I asked Carey what he was doing.

"I've an appointment with Al Rosen," he said. "I've been working with him on hitting. I have a system worked out that I know will help any man who uses it. Rosen happens to be an ambitious player. He wants to move up and he knows you don't automatically improve and advance.

"He is not only ambtious," Max said, "he is also quite intelligent. I only wish I had met him sooner."

* * *

Probably one ballplayer out of 50 would have been willing to take on extra work, and pay for it, after he had been in the big leagues for three or four years.

Rosen was the big exception. What he worked on with Carey was largely the plane the bat should travel in. Not too much up—not too much down. More on a level line.

Rosen's average climbed from .265 in 1951 to .302 after his talks with Carey early in 1952. Last year he moved up to .336, led the league with 43 home runs, and 145 runs batted in.

PAINT CREEK CIRCLES TEAGUE HOME—How to live on an island, even if you have to make your own, is demonstrated by the Sidney Teagues of Livernois Rd., Rochester. Their Spring Valley home, circled by a rechanneled Paint Creek, is surrounded by young willows, acres of lawn and high green hills. Their house, built of reclaimed brick, is a complete electric home with each room thermostatically controlled and all inside partitions fully insulated. The one-story design has a large combination sitting-dining room, a formal living room, spacious kitchen with dining area, utility room, a master bathroom and shower room and three bedrooms plus a guest room. One wing of the house features a men's suite where Mr. Teague and his teenage son have an office-hobby room. The photo at the right shows the bedroom of this special suite. Walls are paneled in cherry and built-ins dispense with any furnishings save chairs and the bunk beds.

Teagues Reroute Paint Creek to Develop Island for Home

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

"Cross Over the Bridge" is more than a popular song to the Sidney Teague family, of N. Livernois road, Rochester — it is a several-times-daily act.

Because they ingeniously rechanneled Paint Creek, they have an island to live on.

"Spring Valley" the Teagues' country home, is located in a veritable artist's paradise with the crystal creek vying for attention with graceful willows and high green banks centered by the contemporary - colonial brick house.

The five-acre site has been fully developed with landscaped lawns, recreational facilities and extensive gardening areas.

A one-story design, the Teague home is built of reclaimed brick with the white tones matched in shutters, doors and window trim. Furnished in Early American and traditional decor, warm cherry paneling in the dining room is repeated in the special "men's suite" at the opposite end of the house.

Compatible with this background are the soft-toned maple furniture, the oval, wool hooked rugs, needlepoint chairs and canopied beds.

An all-electric house, the temperature in each room of the Teague home is thermostatically controlled with the added feature of full insulation for inner-wall partitions as well as exterior walls.

"Most wonderful heat to live with," testify the Teagues.

* * *

Wide window sections overlook the old Paint Creek and its new branch with the two end wings of the house containing a combination dining-sitting room and the men's suite. For the latter section, cherry not only panels the walls but is used for the complete wall of built-ins—desk, bureaus and a series of chests.

Between the bedroom and the den which doubles as an office, study and hobby room, is a partial room separator which belies its true function—it is a wardrobe closet with sliding door panels.

A collector of guns, Teague and his son have built-in display cases accompanied by a complete library on the guns of history.

* * *

Overlooking the new river route is the formal living room.

Its walls are done in vertical strips of waxed white ash and one curved window alcove section. A ledgerock fireplace with a slate hearth is located in this room and furnishings are twin-cherry chests, marble-topped tables and mahogany chairs.

In the front entranceway the Teagues have placed a New England buggy seat. This reveals the delicately turned spindle legs of that era and provides not only a decorative note but also a practical bench.

* * *

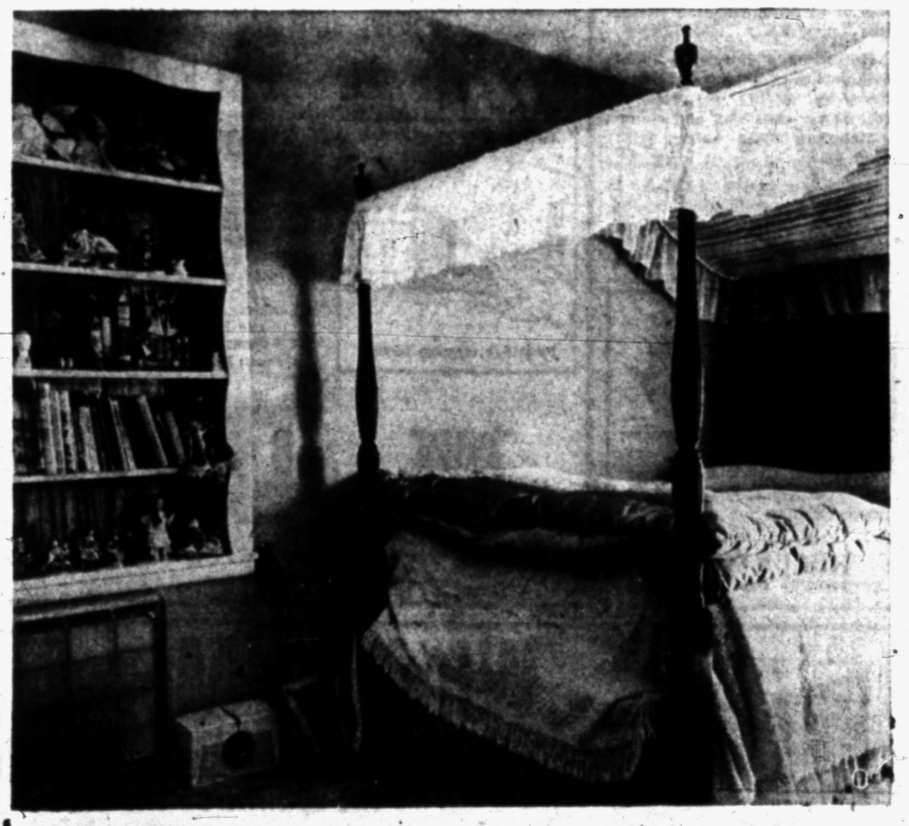
In full view of the old Paint Creek waterway is the functional kitchen done in green, yellow and gray. The working unit is U-shaped with gray tile used for the floor and the back of the work counter areas.

A master-sized bathroom has a full-dressing table built-in feature with a counter top of Formica. Green and pink give the color keys for this room.

Feminine in color and design is the two Teague girls' bedroom with a starched white organdy canopy covering their four-poster bed. Blue colors the walls with one wall containing a recessed bookcase and doll display rack.

Two other rooms, a master bedroom and a guest room are included in the Teague home with an attached two-car garage accessible from the house.

Future plans, the Teagues say, call for another room to be added which will serve as an activity and family room. This, too, they anticipate, will be paneled in mellow cherry wood.



CONTEMPORARY - COLONIAL—In its picturesque setting surrounded by Paint Creek, the Teague home is an authentic contemporary colonial in architectural lines.

WARM CHERRY PANELS MEN'S SUITE—A section of their home dedicated to the men of the household is the Teague's special men's suite. A large, rectangular room, it is separated by a cherry wood divider (matching the wall paneling) which is actually a wardrobe on one side and a glass-doored display cabinet on the other. One end of the room is the bedroom with its built-in cherry bunks and also built-ins for chests and desks. This view shows the hobby-office section where Mr. Teague is showing Mrs. Teague one of his favorite guns from his historic collection. At the left, the dining room with its cherry paneled walls, has soft maple toned furnishings and a pair of oval wool hooked rugs covering the floor.

Carbide Tipped Drills Cut Concrete, Brick

Here's an easy way to drill holes in concrete, stone, or brick. Rather than pecking away with a star drill, use a carbidetipped drill. You'll be amazed at the speed at which it can go through masonry.

True, the carbide bits are expensive and have to be used in an electric drill. But, with such a combination, chances are you won't again bother with a star drill.

Now, with all the wonderful heat-proof materials that are available at small cost, for the top and bottom of this de sign, the toaster, waffle iron and coffee pot may be wheeled around the house wherever needed. This double-deck style is especially handy beside the dining table to hold vegetable dishes and dessert; to take care of used dishes and avoid those extra trips to the kitchen. Once this teacart is in the house many new ways will be found to use it. The pattern illustrates each step in sawing and assembling. Use fiber or rubber casters available at hardware stores. Price of the pattern is 25c postpaid. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press.

Plane Table Leaves to Correct Warping

When table leaves warp so that they don't fit tightly, remove the metal pins and carefully plane the edges so they are once again straight. Better have a good level surface or straightedge to check progress from time to time.

If a considerable amount of wood has to be removed to insure a good fit, drill the pin holes a little deeper to compensate for the wood removed.

Wallboard Cuts Costs

Adding Space to Houses Not Especially Expensive

Making more room in a house for family living and enjoyment—without building a new house or wrecking the family budget—is our puzzle contest for today.

In fact, this is supposed to be the season's national pastime for all do-it-yourselfers as well as for armchair handymen, who prefer to hire their work done.

One reason for this sudden proposal is that so many of us are finding our homes too small.

Another reason: Building material manufacturers have designated June as Add-a-Room Month and have prepared to give you all possible advice and ideas through your local building supply dealer.

There are many ways a house can be enlarged by making use of spaces which already have a roof, a floor and all or part of the wall structure needed.

One of the biggest spaces going to waste in the average house is the basement. Modern heating and dehumidifying equipment, new finishing materials, landscaped window wells and various other devices have changed our thinking about basements.

The next big space, on which lots of people are paying carrying charges and taxes, is the unused attic. Modern insulation can make an attic as comfortable as any other part of a house.

Then the advent of car ports, and the realization that cars today stand outdoors far longer than under a roof, have shown many families that garage space can be put to much more valuable use.

And it seems that breezeways between house and garage are mainly built by people who think of better ways to use that space by enclosing it.

Finally the old porch (how often do you use it, especially in dull weather?) offers excellent space for an extra room.

It used to be that any such alteration in a house meant a lot of muss, such as dripping water around while mixing plaster, scattering sawdust while cutting innumerable small boards, etc.

Today dry wall construction, precut lumber and various prefabricated materials make the job easy enough for any handyman to tackle.

Instead of cutting and fitting boards diagonally for sheathing to be covered by building paper before you apply the outside facing or siding, you can use rigid sheets of prefabricated sheathing which add a blanket of fire protection.

What will it cost? Well, here are some actual estimates obtained in the Chicago area—to select a more or less central location. You can allow for variations up or down from Chicago prices.

Finishing a room 11 by 13 feet in a basement, including ½ inch wallboard on ceiling, ⅜-inch board on walls, interior trim, one door and frame, electric wiring with six outlets, asphalt tile on floor, painting ceiling and trim heating —Materials $138; Labor $207; Total $345.

Finishing an attic room 11 by 13 feet, including foil-backed wallboard, two doors; other specifications as in basement — Materials $193; Labor $262; Total $455.

Converting a garage 10 by 20 feet, including similar specifications, but adding one window, two doors, sheathing and siding —Materials $335; Labor $478; total $455.

Enclosing a breezeway 11 by 13 feet, similar specifications, including exterior paint, two windows, two doors — Materials $431; Labor $565; Total $996.

Use of Plywood More Extensive Since the War

Wider usage of plywood has been one of the biggest changes in home building and home repair since World War II. Production of this sturdy panel type of lumber has almost doubled in that time.

Almost a tenth of all plywood produced is now sold over the counter at retail lumber dealers to home handymen who have discovered the advantages of the material in making furniture, finishing attics and basements and doing other home construction jobs.

One of the most recently developed forms of plywood has been a type faced with plastic to save labor cost in painting and maintenance. It is designed for both indoor and outdoor use. On the exterior it is suitable for lapped siding, gable ends, blinds and shutters and wall panels.

A lower-priced, medium density, plastic-faced plywood was introduced by Georgia-Pacific as GPX green, named for its green surface. This surface, being more than equivalent to a coat of paint made one-coat paint jobs practicable.

The manufacturers claim that the hard surface is impervious to hairline checking and grain-raising, thus greatly extending the life of paint film.

Panels are produced in standard thicknesses ranging from 5-16-inch to 1 ⅝-inch in 3 by 8 and 4 by 8-foot sizes.

Use Glazing Compound

Ordinary wood putty that is good for glazing wood window sashes does not work too well on metal sashes.

The best bet when it comes to metal is a metal window sash glazing compound which you can buy at most hardware stores.

"CERAMIC TOUCH"—Definitely new and practical is a touch of ceramic with furniture. Here small inlaid ceramic tile squares add interesting informality and versatile durability to the top of this double dresser. It is part of a new 13 piece oak grouping, finished in rose beige with non-glazed tiles in a selection of several colors. Note, too, the tapered brass legs.

Ceramic Tile on Furniture Viewed as Latest in Style

Competing with the many other variations of unusual surfaces introduced on furniture, ceramics are now entering the home furnishings picture to create really exciting fashion news.

Formerly used predominantly for practical reasons in the kitchen, shower, and bath, ceramic tiles have found new purposes and smartness in the living room, dining room and bedroom.

Ceramics are greatly versatile in color, size, and function. Dressed up in a wide range of pretty pastels, and possessing a softness of sheen, they have been attractively applied to the tops of buffets, dressers, chests, night variety.

On such pieces ceramic tiles are inlaid in small mosaic size. They can be obtained in all popular decorator colors to blend with or accent any room color.

Coffee tables, end tables, and occasional tables receive more elaborate and dramatic ceramic treatment. They are bedecked with tile in large squares of white. Into these are worked lovely florals, abstract and old print reproductions, to provide an unusual note in table interest.

Further, the versatility of ceramic tiles is shown in the array of delightful and attractive mirror frames. Here, warm and rich looking Provincial patterns are popular for the tile swuares. They create lovely and unique framings for mirrors.

Furniture featuring ceramic tiles will be warmly welcomed by the homemaker for use in her living rooms. When entertaining, the tiles are unharmed by the heat of serving dishes, or the spills and chills of cold beverages. In a bedroom, the inevitable make-up, perfume or cologne mishaps will not be a major catastrophe.

The fact that they are washable, as well as high style this season, just adds to the many reasons why the practical and fashion-wise homemakers will want ceramic-topped furniture in her home.

IN THE HOME WORKSHOP

While no special skill is needed to make this handsome post lantern you will need a pair of tinsnips and a soldering iron, as well as some household tools, including a pair of pliers. The do-it-yourself craftsman will find that he has saved a tidy sum when the cost is compared to that of a ready-made lantern. The practical experience gained in making the first one may lead to others as working with metal is an interesting avocation for handymen. The price of this pattern is 25c. The Homestead Improvement Packet which includes the lantern pattern, and four other outside improvements will be postpaid for $1.

Timers Regulate Air Conditioners

A new device for the home or office will increase comfort during warm weather by turning the air conditioning unit on and off any time you wish.

This timer, which is smaller than a lunch pail, thus converts the room air conditioner into fully automatic operation. It plugs into an AC outlet and connects to the air conditioner.

By pre-setting the timer you do away with that uncomfortable period before a room becomes cool and you avoid the problem of forgetting to turn off the air conditioner.

The metal-cased timer, in addition to 24-hour control, may be adjusted so the air conditioner does not operate on certain days.

Extend Rug Life by Proper Care

Three Rules Are Given to Maintain Beauty of Floor Covering

WASHINGTON — For long life and beauty, rugs ad carpets need proper home care and expert professional servicing, says the National Institute of Rug Cleaning.

Dirt is the enemy of all carpets and rugs. Since rugs are pile fabrics, dirt not only collects on the surface but works itself down into the nap. Under constant pressures of foot traffic, this embedded soil will cause the rug to wear out more rapidly. Dirt will slowly discolor a rug too.

Actually, rugs and carpets are easier to maintain than hard surfaces. A simple little system recommended by the National Institute of Rug Cleaning will insure longer life for rugs and carpets and maintain their beauty. This system is known as NIRC's three rules of rug care. The rules are simple and easy to follow:

First—Daily cleaning with a carpet sweeper or vacuum cleaner. The carpet sweeper is a handy tool and is especially well adapted to frequent light pickups and fluffing of matted cotton pile.. A light vacuuming is equally recommendable.

Second—Careful vacuuming once or twice each week. A careful vacuuming may require up to seven strokes over each area. Whether careful vacuuming should be done once or twice a week depends on traffic and soiling conditions.

Third — Thorough professional cleaning at least once a year. Because sweepers and vacuums cannot remove adhesive atmospheric soil or prevent some traffic soil from getting into the nap, yearly professional washing is essential. In the case of pastel carpets in heavy traffic, more frequent cleaning is usually advisable.

An old hotelman's slogan is: "Wear depends upon care." So does beauty.

Aluminum Avoids Rust

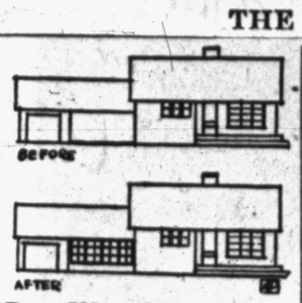
Enamel Rates High as Drawer Lining

Paint is better than paper for lining bureau drawers. A thorough coating of gloss enamel not only reduces the danger of delicate fabrics snagging on wood splinters, but also provides a hard slick surface which can be dusted easily.

One warning — since paint will not dry on a waxed surface and some furniture makers wax interiors of drawers, try a test in an inconspicuous corner to see if enamel will dry in 24 hours.



Big Windows Make a Room of Breezeway

A breezeway often offers an unusual opportunity to create an extra room with big floor-to-ceiling windows. It can provide an extra living room, den or hobby lobby. Ready framed windows of ponderosa pine can be obtained from well-stocked lumber and millwork dealers in virtually any size required. Bridge the openings to remove weight from your windows and you can plan them as wide as you want.

Spray Paint Cans Available

Pressurized 'Bombs' Can Produce Smooth Surface

Now you can spray paint and produce a job as slick as your refrigerator without the use of a spray gun.

Pressurized spray cans of paint are on the market and with the use of masking tape you can get a sharply defined job with no danger of overlapping.

All you have to do is shake the can, aim the nozzle and press a small valve with your thumb the same as you do with DDT bombs or deodorizers. The paint goes on evenly. You have no brush to clean and no waste.

An important point to keep in mind—a tip from professional spray gun users—is to keep the spray at absolute right angles to your work. The reason spray paint fogs into the air and on adjacent surfaces is that the angle is changed, giving it a bounce.

Proper preparation of the surface to be painted is even more important when spray painting than when using a brush. Paint will not stick to dirty, oily or overly smooth surfaces. Clean the surface first with soapsuds and an almost dry cloth, rinse and wip dry. Rough the surface with a very fine production sandpaper, dust off and then apply the first coat.

After shaking the can, point the spray at a newspaper, press the valve and spray until the paint flows in an even pattern. This will give you the angle of spray. Then aim at the object to be painted, holding the nozzle 8 to 12 inches away. Keep the spray going while covering the work. Turning the spray on and off will result in a spotty, uneven finish.

Two thin coats are always better than one. Allow a first coat to dry 24 hours, then sand lightly with extra fine black waterproof sandpaper, remove the dust and apply a second coat.

Spray paints dry with a hard, glossy finish.

Masking Tape Available

Consumer demand for the 1½-inch wide masking tape used by commercial and industrial painters has brought this handy accessory into the retail market. The manufacturers, who make the tape, recently announced that 1½-inch wide masking tape would now be available in 300-inch rolls.

"ACCENT ON CHAIRS"—The occasional chair, an important accent in every room scheme, is well expressed in this pair of Modern chairs. Although they are scaled low, these chairs offer the same comfort as the bulkier loung chair. Note the bumper treatment on the side of the chairs. Exposed wood parts are available in ebony, wheat, or walnut finish—with brass ferrules. Tight seat construction adds to the trimness of these chairs. They are available in an extensive selection of fabrics.

Modern Meets Traditional in Furniture Combinations

Current bridal dreams of homemaking vary little from those of several decades ago. Today's bride, however, has furniture and home furnishings advantages that her ancestors never had when they embarked on a domestic career.

Fashionable homemaking and good homemaking are no longer dreams for which the bride must wait many years. Those domestic feats have been simplified to an almost unbelievable degree. The new homemaker can furnish a home or apartment exactly as she desires. It is more exciting and feasible than ever.

Best of all, her first home can be filled with new and lasting items of furniture. For today's bride, the theme is new ideas for the new homemaker.

New also are the designs and lines of other wood pieces. Table qualities of endurance, and usefulness are all a part of dreams come true.

Her own ingenuity will be supplemented with countless innovations in furniture fashions, furniture versatility and furniture durability.

The bride, and those who are contemplating giving her a furniture wedding gift, will surely want to consider such new fashion touches as the shutter look, inlaid ceramic tiles in occasional pieces and case pieces, and now the use of silver for ferrules and other fittings.

Circular dining tables are coming more and more to the fore to vie with rectangular and oval dining tables for attention in the fashion picture.

Chairbacks have a bowed effect, and chair legs are curved to sweep outward in graceful gentle motion.

In upholstered pieces, sofas have a new word—multi-unit. Its just about the last word in a sofa for any home or apartment, large or small.

Multi-unit sofa groupings consist of such units as bumpers, facing sections, center sections, curved and angled sections.

You can add, subtract, divide or reverse as much as you like, and however you like. Here, endless possibilities are at the disposal of the new homemaker who likes changes and variations in her home.

Lovely finished woods and softer lines give today's Modern a more refined effect, formerly seen only in Traditional furniture. In turn, Traditional is now borrowing some of the simplicity of Modern. It looks like the twain will meet after all.

Modern and Traditional have had an exchange of ideas and are finding merit in each other. A definite liberation is revealed in the new presentations, yet both retain the identification of their original design.

Which shall it be and what shall it be for the bride of 1954? This is a transitional period in furniture and homemaking history. Nothing is impossible or unattainable in satisfying even the grandest homemaking plans within the limits of the most discriminating budgets.

Basement Tells House Condition

Damp Walls Indicate Prospects of Trouble to Buyers

Basement walls may not be able to talk but they can tell a prospective home buyer much about a house.

Not only the history but also the future of a house is written on the basement walls, waiting for a perceptive individual to interpret it. More can be learned from an inspection of the basement than from a check of almost any other part of a house. Here are stories it can tell:

1. General condition of the house. A dry basement is insurance for a long lifetime for a home. Dampness is a danger signal, for wood rots under such conditions. Look for such warnings as water stains on walls, and for large cracks.

2. Extra living space. Large basements often have space enough for a recreation room. Simple paneling, a floor which is both durable and colorful, and built-in furniture wil make it attractive.

3. Condition of plumbing. In other areas of the home, plumbing is concealed behind the walls. In the basement, the prospective buyer has a chance to see what kind of metal was used for the pipes and what condition they are in.

4. Insulation of heating ducts. If heating ducts and pipes are not insulated, much of the heat that is wanted upstairs will be dissipated in the basement instead.

5. Condition of the sills. In most frame construction, wood sills to support the floor beams are laid on top of the basement wall and set in a mortar bed. Check to see that the sill is bolted to the masonry and stick a knife into it to make sure that the wood is sound.

2 Types of Paint Glow

There are two kinds of luminous paints. One, the fluorescent type, glows only when it is activated by artificial light—such as headlights, or under ultraviolet, "black" light. The other is phosphorescent paint, which continues to glow for several hours after sunlight or other stimulation is gone.

Bookcase Walls Swing Closed to Create Rooms

Swinging bookcase walls have added a glamorous note to modern homes. They often are used to close off one end of a living room, or an ell off a living room to create a den or extra sleeping space.

When empty, such bookcases swing easily. When loaded with heavy books, trouble may develop unless the contrivance is cantilevered properly and equipped with strong bearings.

This problem was illustrated recently when a decorator for a large furnishing establishment telephoned various companies to find out where she could buy false book bindings.

"We are decorating a new house with a swinging bookcase wall," she explained, "and when the shelves are loaded with real books the wall will not swing."

Tractors Durably Coated

Tractors, which need to be able to take rugged treatment, are given an especially durable coating. To some, heated enamel is applied with a spray gun. The lasting, weather-resistant finish is then baked on at the factory.

Insurance Against Winds Seen as Wise Precaution

Tornadoes, hurricanes and high winds know no geography.

They have moved into built-up urban areas leaving extensive property damage. Such damage has increased considerably in recent years — not because wind storms are becoming more violent, but because more homes and other buildings are exposed to damage.

While sound construction can help a property owner minimize such damage, there is no such thing as a completely windstorm-proof house. This has been brought out by studies made after storms. Insurance is a wise precaution.

Here are steps you can take:

1. In addition to fire insurance, you can carry what is called extended coverage. This is an endorsement on a fire policy to provide protection against windstorm, falling aircraft, motor vehicles crashing into your house, smoke damage, hail and riot.

2. Extended coverage can be had on the contents of a dwelling as well as on the house itself. In many cases, windstorms may break a window or damage a roof, exposing the interior furnishings of a house to damage.

3. If you have a mortgage and your mortgage payments include insurance, remember that such protection usually is only enough to cover the mortgage. You need additional insurance for your equity. Without this, in case of a severe loss, the mortgagee would get the money to reimburse him for his loan, but there would not be enough to cover your share in the property.

4. In case of windstorm damage, your first step should be to try to protect your property from further damage from the weather. Then call your local fire insurance agent. He will have suggestions to offer and will report your loss to the company to have an adjuster assigned to make a personal inspection. He also will advise you to get up a list of damages.

"E" is the most commonly used letter in the English alphabet, but "S" is the most commonly used capital.

Special Paints Available for Outdoor Furnishings, Screens, Fences, Floors

WASHINGTON, D. C. — As summer comes along, outdoor furniture isn't the only recipient of the attention of your paint brush. Porch floor and steps, porch rugs, screens, fences, trellises, arbors and iron work also come in for their share of attention. For all of these surfaces, there are special finishes.

Finishes for porch floors and steps that are constructed of wood or concrete are designed to take the wear and tear of foot travel as well as weather. For a finish coat, the tough, hard-wearing porch-and-deck paint is available for both types of surfaces.

Beneath it — on wood — use a slightly thinned version of the same paint for a primer. For cement, however, an alkali-resistant primer is often recommended. Also suitable for concrete floors are the rubber-base and similar coatings.

Before these are applied, hard and glossy concrete should be of muriatic acid.

When painting steps that may have to be used before they are thoroughly dry, do the job in two operations. Paint the first, third and fifth steps the first day. Do the second, fourth and sixth the next. This way, there will always be dry steps to walk on.

Worn fibre porch rugs can be renewed with canvas paint or exterior stain. If the rug is badly discolored, don't use stain, because it is transparent and the blemishes will show through.

The frames of screens should be painted so that they match the color of their companion window and door frames. Thus may mean, of course that the inside colors differ from the outer ones.

The screen wire also should be painted—on both sides—and before the frame is coated. Steel or galvanized screens need the protective coating to prevent rusting.

While copper and bronze wire screens do not rust, they also should have a protective coating because a corrosive wash develops which will stain and disfigure any light-colored areas below them. Spar varnish or special screen paint should be used.

Both types of coatings can be applied with a spray gun, brush, short-napped roller or an inexpensive screen-painting tool, made from a block of wood and covered with carpet on one side. While the paint or varnish film is still wet, it's wise to jar the screen sufficiently to keep the openings in the mesh from becoming clogged.

For fence posts, treillises and arbors, there are special products which retard the rotting of wood which must be placed underground. These are known as wood preservatives. Get the non-staining type if you plan to paint the wood to harmonize with the exterior color scheme of your house.

For the finish coats on a fence, use regular house paint. This will serve also for trellises and arbors, although you may wish to use trim-and-trellis paint which is made especially for the purpose.

Trim-and-trellis paint, as well as other types of exterior enamel, are also advisable for exterior iron work. If there are any signs of rust on the iron, they first must be removed. Any bare spots should then be coated with an anti-corrosive primer—available in any paint store—before the new finishing coat is applied.

Manufacturers Stick to White for Appliances

Ever wonder why most manufacturers of kitchen equipment stick to white finishes, while people decorate their kitchens with brightly colored wallpapers, woodwork and curtains?

* * *

Colored appliances would be a perennial headache to the housewife as well as economically unsound both for her and for the manufacturer.

Color preferences change so often that makers could not possibly stock a variety of steel kitchen cabinets, sinks, dishwashers, refrigerators and other appliances to sell at popular prices.

Problems of scheduling production of colored appliances and equipment would be so great they would have to be sold on virtually a custom-made basis at prices prohibitive for the average homemaker.

* * *

A woman can be as fickle as she wants and can redecorate her kitchen as often as she likes if she chooses white cabinets and appliances as a base.

Two-Way Furniture Vital to Save Space

Dual purpose furniture—an idea that was first used in America in disappearing beds and fold-away desks designed by Thomas Jefferson for his home in Monticello — is even more important today in smaller homes and apartments than it was in Jefferson's time.

Surprisingly ,traditional furniture as well as today's modern are adding space-saving ideas. Typical is a server created in French Provincial with a two-drawer serving unit. This provides concealed space for linens, silver or cutlery and, likewise becomes a server when dropped leaves are raised. Wheels on legs make it easily movable to any room in the house.

New Sander for Handymen Now Available

A new item for home workshop enthusiasts is a hand sander for wood and metal work.

The sander—called "Li'l Sharpy"—features a sponge rubber cushion to which the sand paper or emery cloth is applied directly.

The sanding surface may be replaced in a matter of seconds, simply by peeling off the old paper and affixing a new adhesive strip.

Cushioning the sander helps to improve the cutting action and minimizes clogging. It also distributes the pressure more uniformly to give a finer finish.

Each sander bears two top handles, which means less fatigue for the user.

The cushion principle is also applied to a special convex file with a goose neck handle. The file segments are interchangeable for filing, sanding, planing and stoning.

Exercise Caution When Tiling Floor

Any of the resilient floor coverings — linoleum, rubber, asphalt, or plastic—can be laid successfully on a concrete floor suspended above ground.

When the concrete slab is in contact with the ground or below ground level, watch your step. Some of the plastic and rubber tiles may be used under these circumstances, however, asphalt tile is recommended. Study the manufacturer's guarantee before deciding on one of them.

Power Grinders Smooth Concrete

A really smooth concrete porch surface can be attained if it first is ground down with a power grinding machine, shod with rapid-cutting abrasive stones.

The grinder removes the thin film of cement and exposes the coarse aggregate underneath. Holes and pits in the surface then are filled with a creamy cement grout. After this has dried, the floor is given another grinding to remove the film.

For a nice finish, apply two or three coats of paste wax, buffing each coat thoroughly. Thereafter, you can use either paste or liquid wax.

Quick Mixing Paint Is Now on Market

Homeowners who like to "do-it-themselves" may soon get a break from the tiresome duty of stirring paint every time they want to brighten up a wall or a piece of furniture.

Chemists at B. F. Goodrich Chemical Co. say they've develop a white synthetic gum powder which can virtually eliminate the need for long stirring sessions with the water-based paints now used extensively for indoor decorating.

The powder is added by the manufacturer to increase the viscosity of the paint. This means the color pigments don't settle in a lump in the bottom of the can where they have to be stirred before painting can be started.

A basement ceiling can have three advantages. It acts as a fire-retardant, protecting joists and woodwork for sufficient time for possible control of a fire. It keeps dust and drafts from sifting up through floors. It improves the appearance of the cellar and therefore the value of the house.

Giraffe Clothes Tree Easy to Build, Teaches Tidiness

By STEVE ELLINGSON

People all over America are asking for projects they can make for themselves — hence today's giraffe clothes tree.

Shown demonstrating how it is used is NBC's television actress, Dawn Oney, and her young son.

The pegs on the giraffe's neck hold caps, coats, pajamas, and all sorts of children's wearing apparel. It teaches youngsters to keep their clothes hung up too. For a tail we used a whisk broom, which also comes in handy.

This is an easy article to build from the full size pattern. Simply trace the pattern on wood, then saw it out and put it together. Painting is easy too. All you need do is trace the giraffe's features on the wood and paint over the tracing. Anybody can do it Simple tools are all you need.

To obtain the giraffe clothes tree pattern No. 113, send 50c in coin to Steve Ellingson, Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

Outdoors Living Gains Popularity

More and more Americans are making the outdoors an extra room for their homes.

A survey of living trends throughout the country reports that today's homes and multiple dwellings are built with a patio or terrace as an integral part of their construction design.

Use of the patio for dining and lounging has made it possible for modern Americans to enjoy the same comfort out-of-doors as they enjoy in their living and dining rooms.

Hal Boyle Says:

Awards for Hero Dogs May Change Flea Variety

NEW YORK (AP)—Somewhere in the world there is the kind of dog I kind of like to dream about.

He's just an old, offhand, carelessly dressed dog with an easy going air. He has no particular color or weight and wouldn't fight another dog to protect his master or defend his honor.

When other dogs brag about their blueblood ancestry, he only yaps, "I'm a mongrel and a bum, I enjoy biting the hand that feeds me, and if anybody wants to loot the joint I am supposed to be guarding, I will help him by carrying out the television set in my own mouth—saying shushhh . . . . . shushhh . . . on the way."

* * *

The kind of dog I dream about is the dog, who, if he discovered gold, will throw dirt over it so his master won't find it. He is the gay carefree dog who sneers at the tint of his license tag, gnaws thoughtfully at every passing child. If he digs up the vegetable garden to bury a bone and finds himself in a uranium patch, he would die rather than report it to his owner and make the man rich.

* * *

That's old Bowser, my dream dog.

A funny old unaffectionate kind of beast, but mine. You throw him the remains of a sirloin steak, and after nosing it once he checks the current prices of beef at the local supermarket before deciding it is up to his gulping standard.

The reason that I yearn for Bowser is that I am sure he is a sweet old-fashioned dog who would splash water on me if I were drowning, and play patty-cake with his paws in applause as I went down for the third time.

Yes, I want a dog like that, a con-dog with a sense of humor who cons the human race for food and laughs, and is content with a tail-wagging servile sense of superiority, such as an astute Greek slave showed to his ignorant but muscular Roman conqueror.

* * *

With this kind of dog I feel safe, because I know he is a normal, sensible, uninhibited dog who would rather scratch a flea than save mankind.

It is the new, ambitious dog that worries me. This is the go-getter, win-recognition-at-any-price dog.

I am not joking in the least when I say that a combat man would not only thrive on canned dog food in the field, but would welcome it as a change—if they would but issue it once a month and make the label read "Doughboy Victory Dessert."

My quarrel with the manufacturers is that next Aug. 18 they are going to honor "America's Top Hero Dog" by giving him $1,000 in government bonds, a gold plaque, leash, collar and tag, and a year's supply of canned food.

* * *

This lucky dog will be flown to Chicago for the award, put up at a fancy hotel for three days, have a limousine at his disposal. Naturally the windy city's plushest night club kennels will have the latch-string hospitaly handy.

* * *

What does this mean? As I see it, this is the heyday of the opportunistic dog. No human being will be safe from rescue, whether he needs it or not.

Dogs will be hurling people from subway platforms into the path of advancing trains and leaping down and pulling them back by the skin of their teeth. Dogs will sneak up behind you, butt you sprawling headlong in front of taxicabs, then carry you proudly off in their jaws to the nearest hospital. Dogs will be lighting matches and setting fires, just to save somebody.

* * *

It is too great a temptation. Frankly, if the offer were reversed, wouldn't you go all out to rescue a dog for $1,000, a gold leash, and a year's free food, plus three days on the cuff in Chicago?

* * *

Yet I still say, give me an old-fashioned, sourpuss, disgruntled dog like Dad used to have. At least if Bowser ever accidentally did a fellow a favor he never boasted about being man's best friend—or turned around to look for a photographer.

Flint Druggist Killed by Thief

Frightened Customers Stand By, See Slaying After Struggle

FLINT (AP) — Charles Agasian, 58, a druggist, was slain Friday night ina struggle with a bandit.

The gunman pulled a gun, forced Agasian to empty his cash register, then killed the druggist while several terrified customers stood by in fright.

Police said the bandit first pulled his gun while Agasian was at the cash register in the rear of the store, forcing the druggist to hand over an undetermined amount of money.

Agasian's wife observed the robbery and ran to a nearby bar for help. Meanwhile, a clerk dashed into a rest room and watched the episode through a crack in the door.

As the gunman approached the outside door, Agasian lunged for him. The bandit fired two shots, striking the druggist in the head and back.

The thief then backed out the door as he threatened customers and two other clerks. He fired one more shot and disappeared.

Convict Reds in Missouri

Jury Finds 5 Guilty of Conspiring to Urge Forcible Upset of U. S.

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Five Communists were convicted by a U. S. District Court jury here yesterday of conspiring to advocate forcible overthrow of the government.

A jury of 11 men and one woman returned the verdict after deliberating two hours 15 minutes.

Judge Roy W. Harper told the jury: "Your verdict is a just one."

Said James F. Forest, one of the five: "A travesty on justice."

Sentencing was deferred until next Friday. Each faces a possible maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The convicted:

* * *

Forest, 44, Missouri state chairman of the Communist party.

His wife, Dorothy Rose Forest, 39, former organizational secretary of the party's Hollywood, Calif., section.

William Sentner, 47, a Midwest district official of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, and long an active Communist.

Robert Manewitz, 37, former educational director of the party here, now a resident of Los Angeles.

Marcus A. Murphy, 46, Negro, who ran for lieutenant governor of Missouri on the Communist ticket in 1940.

The five laughed and joked among themselves while waiting for the verdict. They will remain free under bond until they are sentenced. Sentner is at liberty under $15,000 bail and the others under bonds of $10,000 each.

* * *

The trial began Jan. 25, and, with frequent recesses, required 46 days of testimony, a record for federal district court here.

Judge Harper, who will pronounce sentence, said in dismissing the jury: "You can remember to your dying days the fact that you were able to sit and pass judgment and that your verdict is a just one, and among your fellow Americans that will be the 'pay day' that is yours. I congratulate you."

The jury had been instructed by Judge Harper that the Communist defendants had the right to publicly express their views but that the charge, under the Smith Act, was that they engaged in a conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

Fatties Advised to Keep Eating if Health Is Good

CHICAGO (UP) — An insurance company physician says that fat men have "gotten a raw deal," and that they should "eat and be happy."

Dr. Richard Gubner, assistant director of medical research for the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, defended the fatties who have been badgered in recent yars by doctors dmanding that they "take it off."

Gubner told the American College of Cardiology yesterday that if there are no complications in a fat man by the time he is 60 there is no particular reason for him to cut down eating.

"We would be unnecessarily taking away one of the few pleasures left in life," Dr. Gubner said. He explained there is no indication obesity in itself is a cause of heart ailments. But, he added, it can lead to high blood pressure and diabetes, which in turn can lead to cardio-vascular ailments.

Bicyclist, 7, in Hospital After Collision With Car

Paul Leroy Wray, 7, of 4232 Dixie Hwy., Drayton Plains, received a deeply cut left leg and was taken to Pontiac General Hospital Friday after his bicycle was struck by a car.

Driver James Denherder, 44, of 3221 Sashabaw Rd., Drayton Plains, said he didn't see the boy until after the accident. Hospital officials today say the boy's condition is good.

Man in Fair Condition After Crash Friday Night

Roderick Edwin Bigelow, 26, of 2636 Corey St., is reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after an accident at Elizabeth and Scott Lake Rds. last night.

He is suffering from head injuries. According to Waterford Township Police, the car driven by Bigelow was struck by one driven by Dr. Maxwell L. Shadley, of 94 Ottawa Dr., who received a cut chin. Dr. Shadley told police Bigelow's car was crosswise on the highway before he had time to stop.

Report Theft of Tires From Auto and Truck

John Hettche of 40720 W. Eight Mile Rd., Novi Township, told Oakland County Sheriff's Department today that thieves stole 11 tires off new automobiles stored at his home, and also took a new pickup truck to haul them away. The truck was found in Plymouth, also without its tires.

Legislative reapportionment is required by the constitutions of 42 states.

Schiller Explains Rules Covering Vote Registration

Vernon M. Schiller, treasurer of Pontiac Public Schools, today reminded Pontiac School District voters that "if you're registered for any elections you're registered for school elections.

Schiller said he is still getting inquiries from people who do not know that if they are registered for city and township elections for the June 14 school vote.

Voters will go to the polls June 14 to choose two members of Pontiac Board of Education, decide on a 10-year building and operating tax program, and a countywide half-mill tax for the special education for handicapped children program.

"Anyone who has voted within the last four years is automatically registered with his city and township clerk, Schiller said. "Anyone who isn't registered still may sign up until 5 p.m. Friday, June 4, at his city or township clerks office.

Talks Extended for Bell, Union

11th Hour Vote Allows Continuation of Contract for One Week

DETROIT (UP) — Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and the CIO Communications Workers will have another week — free of a strike threat — to try to settle their contract differences.

A one-week extension of the old contract was agreed to late Friday, eight hours before the pact was due to expire at midnight.

The union has not said what course of action it would have followed in the absence of a contract, but a strike of 18,400 union members had been regarded a possibility. It already has conducted a strike vote, and said 30 out of 34 Bell locals had approved strike action overwhelmingly.

Joint negotiations were called off Friday night until after the holiday weekend. Both the company and union negotiators planned to meet separately over the weekend, however, and will be on call if federal and state mediators decide a joint session would accomplish anything.

Federal Mediator E. Marvin Sconyers and State Mediator John Loell asked for the contract extension and both sides agreed to it. They sat in on negotiations Friday for the first time since they started more than a month ago.

The union is demanding a "reasonable" wage increase, reduction of inter-city pay differentials, company-financed hospitalization and other benefits.

Gov. Williams has appointed a three-man fact-finding panel to study the dispute if a deadlock persists. The members are Dr. William Haber, University of Michigan economist, and Ronald W. Haughton and Gabriel N. Alexander, Detroit labor relations experts.

New Moth Finds Spur Spray Plan

Infestations in Lansing Vicinity Hike Extent of Area to Be Treated

LANSING (UP)—Discovery of two more gypsy moth infestations in the Lansing-East Lansing area today spurred state and federal pest fighters to double plans for aerial spraying to kill the damaging insect.

The State Department of Agriculture expert, C. A. Boyer, said one heavy egg mass was found on the northwest limits of Lansing, more than two miles from the original discovery a week ago.

Another infestation was found at Park Lake Rd. and U. S. 16 three miles east of East Lansing, more than five miles from the original location.

State and federal experts have warned that unless the moth is halted it can cover most of southern lower peninsula this year and wreak millions of dollars of damage on trees, shrubbery and other vegetation. The pest has not been found west of Pennsylvania until now.

Boyer said original plans to spray about 18,000 acres of land along the south Lansing boundary now will be increased to cover 30,000 to 40,000 acres, embracing most of Lansing and East Lansing.

Governor Williams has called the "little legislature" into special session Wednesday to provide funds for the spraying.

Boyer said 10 crews of 20 men, including six federal experts, have been scouring the Livingston-Ingham County area since the first discovery, looking for more infestations.

The two new finds were made yesterday afternoon.

Jobless Pay Claims Show Slight Decline

Unemployment payments this week were 71 below last week with total payments to 2,051 persons as compared to 2,122 the week before, according to Luther C. Olson, manager of the Michigan Employment Security Commission office here.

Last weeks initial payments totaled 292, compared to 391 this week. Continued payments totaled 1,660, compared to 1,830 last week.

Road Hypnosis Danger Cited

Safety Committee Head Suggests Coffee Break to Lift Monotony

The Pontiac Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee today warned motorists to guard against a highway disease — "road hypnosis" — during Memorial Day trips this weekend.

"It is easy to become hypnotized by the continuous rolling of your automobile and the white line in the middle of the road," explained Clyde R. Haskill, committee chairman.

He explained that reports by the National Safety Council claim such monotony lulls drivers into a stupor and a false sense of security.

"Awareness at all times is needed while driving in order to avert highway accidents," Haskill said.

As an antidote, the committee advises a coffee break every 50 miles or every hour.

Quoting the national council, Haskill said that as many as 30 persons may die in auto accidents in Michigan over this week end.

The committee suggests these rules be followed when planning a trip:

1. Make sure your brakes, steering, windshield wipers, tires and lights are in good working order.

2. Leave on your trip as early as possible and allow about 1-3 more time to reach your destination.

3. Drive defensively, always watching for the unexpected, especially on crowded highways.

4. When visibility is poor, especially during the hours of dusk, drive slowly with highlights on.

5. Make it a pleasure trip instead of a fatal accident by observing the law. Be courteous.

Haskill added that "it is better to be late to your destination, than not get there at all."

Witness Relates Buffalino Threat

Claims Juke Box Czar Told Him to Cooperate or Lose Business

DETROIT (UP)—A witness at a juke box rackets conspiracy trial testified Friday that a union official once threatened to put him out of business.

The witness, William J. Patterson, of Dearborn, was the first man to testify at the opening of the trial before Recorder's Court Judge Joseph A. Gillis.

Patterson told the court that William E. Bufalino, president of Juke Box Local 985, AFL Teamsters Union, once threatened to ruin his business unless he gave up valuable music box locations.

"I told him I wouldn't do it," Patterson said. "Bufalino told me that from now on I was out of the union and that he would put me out of business."

Bufalino, his brother-in-law, Vincent A. Meli, owner of the Meltone Music Co., and five other juke box merchants are the defendants. They were charged with conspiracy in a rackets investigation last fall.

Are the Ones who loved him best.
Sadly missed by Mother, Father and Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF HARRY Alee who passed away Dec. 2, 1951.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all His ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Louise Alee and Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF CAROlyn Louise Conley, who passed away May 23, 1952.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just, to the end of her days;
Sincere and true, in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.
Sadly missed by husband, David and granddaughter, Donna.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF WILliam G. Rustem who passed away February 27, 1951.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day.
But never will the one I love,
From memory pass away.
—Mrs. Gertrude Rustem.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY father, Russell Taylor who passed away January 2, 1946.
His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day we know not when.
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Sadly missed by Hazel and Ronnie.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY sister, Betty Campbell who passed away September 5, 1951.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a Dear Sister gone to rest.
And the one who thinks of her today
Is the one who loved her best.
—Sadly missed by Hazel and Ronnie.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Raphael Hooks who passed away May 27, 1950.
It was hard to say Thy will be done.
So great was the parting pain,
But hope and prayer have given us strength
And faith that we shall meet again.
—Sadly missed by Mother, Son and Daughter.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MR. Edward Hudson who passed away October 7, 1943.
Not dead to us who loved him
Not lost, but gone before.
He lives with us in memory,
And shall forever more.
Mrs. Edward Hudson and Children.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF NORman R. Edwards who left us so suddenly on July 24, 1948.
Son, I think of you always;
Fond memories keep you near.
—Mother, Sister and Brothers.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear sister, Pearl Newsum who passed away Feb. 5, 1950.
You are not forgotten, Sister,
Nor ever will you be,
As long as life and memory lasts
We will remember thee.
—Sadly missed by Steven Clark and Family, Betty and Jimmy Newsum.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR beloved parents, Mary and Samuel McKenzie and our brothers Pvt. William McKenzie, who gave his life for our country during World War I and Wesley (Pinky) McKenzie.
To have, to hold, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of our heart.
Ever remembered by Mrs. Bessie Huston and Mrs. Beatrice Cavalier and families.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. Catherine B. Lare, who passed away January 9, 1945.
What is home without a mother
All things this world may send,
But when I lost my darling Mother,
I lost my dearest friend.
—Sadly missed by her Son.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR wife and mother, Alice Cumberworth, who passed away 7 years ago, May 2, 1947.
She is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of her are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
Sadly missed by her husband, Ernest and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ENSIGN Joseph Dickie, who passed away July 30, 1945.
Our sorrow's lessened by our pride
In knowing that you bravely died
So freedom might not pass away;
We miss you this Memorial Day.
Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Dickie and family.

IN MEMORY OF DANNY ELDON Hunt;
He was a flower too sweet for earth,
Sent here for but awhile,
God marked him when He gave him birth
And took him with a smile.
Sadly missed by Mother and Father.

Formosan Capital Has Air Raid Alert

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Air raid sirens signalled an alert in this capital of Nationalist China today and defense authorities said radar screens had picked up a flight of unidentified planes over the Formosa Channel.

The planes reportedly were in the vicinity of the Pescadores, strategic islands off the lower end of west-central Formosa.

Most residents of Taipeh thought the alarm was a test because there have been repeated warnings from government officials in recent days that a test was planned. Some persons said they were not convinced that planes actually were spotted by radar.

Philippine Official Urges Force Sent to Indochina

MANILA (AP)—Sen. Cipriano Primicias today suggested sending a Philippine expeditionary force of battalion combat strength — made up mainly of wartime guerrillas—to Indochina.

The Nacionalista Senate majority floor leader earlier this week urged Philippine military participation in the Indochina War to prevent the hostilities from spreading to Philippine soil.

Judy Garland Show Draws Fantastic Television Bids

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Judy Garland in a TV version of her fabulous Palace Theater one-gal-show has networks bidding fantastic fees.

She would do just one show, as her entire TV season, for more cash than a network president takes home in a year . . .

* * *

The "Music to Eat By" sketch Martin & Lewis used recently was uncomfortably reminiscent of a skit comic Lew Parker's been doing for years . . .

Red Skelton takes over eight weeks of Godfrey's Wednesday night shows. Red threatens to quit comedy in three years for producing-directing. . . Polly Bergen to take over when Anita Colby exits. . .

Dean Martin will undergo major surgery . . . Liberace and a movie studio are conferring on a film biog . . .

Columbia pix has its private eye on the midwest where someone is bootlegging to TV a print of its Rita Hayworth film "You Were Never Lovelier."

Hooray for ABC—which says it has no immediate plans for dropping the McCarthy-Army quiz. . . Interest is rising instead of slipping as had been expected. . .

Eddie Cantor ended his TV contract May 16 with still another cavalcade of Cantor. This time he reminisced back through 50 years. . .

After two years in a TV sanatorium fine jazz pianist Jimmy Jones (former Sarah Vaughan accompanist) is back melting ivory in virtuoso style . . .

Jean Hagen is the real star of "Make Room for Daddy" so far as this pillar leans . . .

We call to the attention of Humphrey Bogart—who said he'd wait to enter TV until he started to slip in movies—the willingness of Charles Coburn and Waler Hampden to embrace the new medium—and not because they can't get equal or better pay on stage or screen. . .

Longshoremen, Shippers Agree to New Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Officials of the Shipowning Pacific Maritime Assn. and Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union reported agreement today which they said will "assure waterfront peace on the West Coast through the better part of 1956."

New terms include a three-week vacation with pay after 12 years service, a program of dental care for longshoremen's children, and continued wage negotiations with arbitration if no agreement is reached.

Horse Damages Car

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A stray horse caused several hundred dollars damage when it ran into the side of a moving automobile. The horse was unhurt when his owner reclaimed him at the city pound.

Bridge Caves In, Trucker Saved After 4-Mile Ride

MISSOULA, Mont (AP)—The report said "a logging truck is floating down the river and a man is on the logs screaming for help."

City police, deputy sheriffs, state highway patrolmen and firemen stationed themselves along the bank of the Clark Fork River near the East Missoula city limits.

Then Henry Knight, Missoula, about 50, came into view. Three firemen paddled a rubber boat out to Knight and brought him to shore.

Knight rode Bandmann Bridge four miles down the river after it collapsed under the weight of his logging truck and plunged into the stream.

Said Knight from his hospital bed where he is receiving treatment for exposure: "it must have been the luck of the Irish."

Luggage With Windows

NEW YORK (UP)—Luggage now has windows so the traveler can see to remove one garment without disturbing the rest of the bag's contents. The travel cases, made of faille, have window insets of clear plastic. The cases also can be used for closet storage.

The Customer Is NOT Always Right

Sometimes a business house receives an unreasonable request for a refund or adjustment which it must refuse. Many customers have the false notion that because an article on which they have paid a deposit has not been taken from the store, they are entitled to a refund of their deposit if they change their minds about buying. Again there is the customer who pays a deposit and holds goods for two or three months and wants a refund on the return of unseasonable goods, which the merchant would have to resell at a loss.

SO BE SURE you want the article before you make a deposit.

Ike Sets Sunday as Day of Prayer for Lasting Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today designated Sunday, Memorial Day, as a day of prayer for lasting peace.

In a proclamation, the President said that in memory of the sacrifices of America's war dead, "we should keep faith with our heroic dead by humbly and devoutly supplicating Almighty God for guidance in our efforts to achieve a peaceful world."

The President designated the hour beginning in each locality at 11 a.m. Sunday as a period "when the people of the United States may solemnly join in prayer for God's help in reaching the coveted goal of amity among nations."

The President's proclamation was provided for by Congress in a joint resolution approved May 11, 1950.

Congress specified then that Memorial Day each year should be set aside as a day of nation-wide prayer for permanent peace, and called on the President to issue a proclamation annually for observation of Memorial Day in that manner.
