Four Die as Fire Rages in Detroit's Tuller Hotel

Bloomfield Girl Reigns

She's State's Junior Miss

A 17-year-old Pontiac Central High School senior smiled as she danced into the hearts of the judges last night, but the tears fell freely and she trembled when she heard she was selected Michigan's first Junior Miss.

Winner of the statewide contest was Shirley Gail Hutchison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hutchison of 2086 Lakeward Lane, Bloomfield Township. She won the title over 11 other contestants judged on personality, beauty and talent.

Shirley gracefully toe-danced to Tschaikovsky's "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairies." Then she quickly changed costume, personality and mood for her own tap dancing interpretation of the "Charleston."

Runner-up in the contest was Toni Sharron Bogue, a senior at Niles (Mich.) High School.

Barbara Parker of 2908 Midvale St., Avon Township, an Avondale High School senior, walked off with the third place trophy.

Judging of the contest, sponsored by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, took place at Rotunda Inn in West Bloomfield Township.

Shirley, who has been dancing for 12 of her 17 years, is now looking forward to her first plane flight in March. One of the prizes she won was a plane trip to Mobile, Ala. and all accommodations for the March 3-7 America's Junior Miss Pageant which she will now enter.

There, the Pontiac Motor Division will provide her with a 1959 Pontiac to drive during the five-day miniature Miss America contest sponsored by the national Jaycees.

A brown-eyed, brownette Shirley is a teacher at the Love School of Music & Dance in Pontiac on Saturdays and Mondays after school. This year she will work in summer stock in New London, N.H.

But Shirley's ultimate goal after a dancing career is "to get married to a man like my father."

Shirley received a dress by Peggy's Women's Apparel, a sweater from the Lion Store, a certificate to have her portrait taken by Haskill Studios and one for a pair of shoes from Georges-Newports, a matching necklace, bracelet and earring set from Connolly's Jewelers, plus a trophy and spray of flowers from the Jaycees.

U. S. Discloses Midget Atomic Battery Device

Five-Pound Gadget Could Revolutionize Power Industry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has come up with a trifling little gadget that could revolutionize the power industry.

It is a five-pound device roughly resembling an old-fashioned flatiron. Its descendants could make obsolete all the cumbersome and costly plants now supplying the power needs of man.

This gadget, called SNAP III, was announced by the Atomic Energy Commission yesterday by way of the White House. It is a device for converting heat energy directly into electrical energy.

It doesn't bother with steam, turbines, generators, or any rotating machinery whatsoever.

Col. Jack Armstrong, deputy chief of the AEC's aircraft reactor division, today predicted such batteryless power might also be used in the future to:

Provide juice for instruments in large, unmanned satellites for long periods of time; furnish shelter heat and power for communications and weather instruments in remote areas like the arctic and antarctic; provide new types of navigational aid for air and sea traffic; and allow use of radio-controlled beacons which might forecast the development of hurricanes.

The device employs radioactive polonium 210 as a heat source and chemicals which convert the heat into electricity without any moving parts.

The AEC calls it SNAP III — short for system for nuclear auxiliary power.

The development at present consists of a five-pound device, 4¾ inches in diameter and 5½ inches high—somewhat resembling a ship's barometer. Officials estimate the weight could be cut to three pounds.

The model cost $15,000. But AEC spokesmen say it probably could be turned out on a production basis for about $200 per unit.

Technicians for the AEC, which sponsored the development, said the device is the most efficient for its particular purpose known to exist anywhere—including the Soviet Union.

SNAP III was developed by the Martin Co. of Baltimore in conjunction with the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. of St. Paul.

President Plays Host

MIKOYAN AT WHITE HOUSE—Anastas I. Mikoyan, Russia's Deputy Premier, sits with President Eisenhower at the chief executive's White House desk today as they meet for the first time during the Russian's visit to the United States. Standing between them is Russia's Ambassador to the United States, Mikhail Menshikov.

Discuss 5 Key East-West Problems

Mikoyan Offers Ike No New Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration has told Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan flatly that the United States and it allies are completely determined to preserve their position and their rights in West Berlin.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan held a lengthy conference at the White House today and agreed they had a useful exchange of views. But the Russian offered no new proposals or suggestions.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters after the one-hour 45-minute talk that Eisenhower and Mikoyan discussed at least five vital East-West issues.

Among the subjects discussed, Hagerty said, were the Berlin situation, the questions of Germany, disarmament, increased trade and freer exchanges of persons between Russia and the United States.

"I can also say," Hagerty added, "there were no new proposals during this discussion."

Hagerty made clear his comment referred specifically to speculation in advance of Mikoyan's arrival here that he would probably bring some new proposals or offers of concession on the Berlin situation.

The press secretary said there was no mention of any visit by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United States nor a visit of Vice President Nixon to the Soviet Union. There had been speculation about such visits.

"The President thanked me and asked me to convey similar warm greetings to our prime minister," Mikoyan reported.

Secretary of State Dulles and other officials participated in the conference which began at 9 a.m. in Eisenhower's office.

Mikoyan, wearing his usual outdoor dress of dark gray overcoat and blue plaid scarf, walked into a room where reporters hastily gathered after the conference.

It had been generally expected that the meeting with Eisenhower would last at least two full hours since about 50 per cent of the time was devoted to translations between the Russian and English languages.

Mikoyan began by saying he

Others Crawl Safely Through Smoky Halls

Firemen Save Many More by Ladder From Upper Windows

From Our News Wires

DETROIT—Four persons were killed, a number injured and scores of others saved their lives by crawling on their hands and knees through smoke-filled corridors as fire raced through the 750-room Tuller Hotel today.

Fire Commissioner Paxton Mendelssohn said 10 or 20 people were hanging out of hotel windows above the reach of firemen's aerial ladders when the first fire trucks arrived.

Others, including a number of elderly women who are permanent guests at the hotel, groped their way down smoky fire escapes.

Receiving Hospital authtorities said at least 14 injured had been admitted there, several in serious condition. Names of the dead and injured were not available immediately.

Many of the hotel guests were clad only in nightclothes as they fled into the 12-degree cold. They were given lodging at other hotels.

Receiving Hospital said eight injured were admitted there within half an hour after the fire broke out in the 14-story hotel.

The fire started in a hat shop off the lobby and flashed through the first floor in less than 15 minutes and caused the evacuation of 250 to 300 guests and some 100 employes.

Fire Chief J. H. Adler and police arson Lieut. Glenn B. Bennett first said there were three known dead.

But Fire Commissioner Paxton Mendelssohn stated a few minutes later that four were killed, three in an elevator at the front of the lobby and a fourth in an elevator at the rear of the lobby.

Mendelssohn also said flames went as high as the sixth floor before being completely extinguished about 11:25, 45 minutes after the fire broke out.

'AMAZING SPEED'

"The fire certainly must have spread with amazing speed," Mendelssohn said. He added the flames which went to the sixth floor must have gone up the shaft of elevators and other openings because

500,000 Called to Cuban Rally

Castro Asks Support Against Intervention; Raps U. S. Policy

From Our News Wires

HAVANA — Fidel Castro has called for a 500,000-man mass meeting Wednesday to "reject foreign intervention" and demand that the United States return "Batista war criminals" and their money.

In a bitterly anti-American speech last night, Castro accused the United States of resorting to "defamation" and "gunboat diplomacy" against his regime because it includes no one "they can buy or bribe."

He called on his supporters to stage "the most gigantic concentration our nation has ever seen" outside the Cuban "white house" Wednesday.

Castro's attack on the United States was a reaction to congressional criticism of the wholesale executions of supporters of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista now going on throughout Cuba.

He called on unions, civic organizations, students, commerce and industry to "assemble massively before the presidential palace in a demonstration for justice and demand that the United States return the war criminals and the millions of dollars they took with them."

In Washington, American officials said today the United States may have to return escaped supporters of ousted dictator Batista to Cuba to stand trial if the new rebel government accused them of serious crime such as murder.

But these officials said that under the U. S.-Cuban extradition treaty this country would not have

'Human Ice Cube' Uses 'Antifreeze'

SAULT STE. MARIE (UPI)—A "human ice cube," who doctors said was kept alive for 12 hours in zero weather because of a heavy concentration of alcohol in his blood, fought today to recover.

Dr. William F. Mertaugh said it was a nip and tuck battle between life and death for 55-year-old William Korbi whose body temperature had been down to a few degrees above freezing.

Korbi was frozen "stiff as a board" when he was found along a road on Drummond Island in Upper Michigan early yesterday.

Mertaugh said alcohol was so concentrated in Korbi's blood stream it literally acted as antifreeze and prevented the blood from icing and bursting the blood vessels.

Korbi was en route to a friend's house on the island when he stopped to rest along the road. Two surveyors, John Hewett of Sault Ste. Marie and Leroy Adams of Detroit, rushed him to War Memorial Hospital.

Mertaugh theorized that after sitting down in the snow, Korbi kept taking drinks from two bottles of liquor until his arms became so frozen he couldn't raise the bottle.

30 Milkmen Protest Store's Milk Prices

Some 30 milkmen milled about the aisles of an A & P supermarket in Waterford Township last night, apparently demonstrating against the store's low milk price.

The milkmen entered the store, located at 949 W. Huron St. at 6:15 p.m. and stayed 45 minutes. They took pushcarts and strolled through the aisles. All of them purchased an item before leaving, according to A & P district supervisor Cyril F. Borst.

"The demonstration was orderly and they caused us no trouble," Borst said. The store was not busy and there were enough pushcarts for everyone, Borst added.

The milkmen refused to speak to store employes, answering all questions with a "no comment."

Borst said the police were not called because there was no need for them.

"They were perfectly within their rights," he commented. "Lots of our customers are milkmen."

Civil Service Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated Roger W. Jones of Hartford, Conn., to be a member of the Civil Service Commission. He would succeed Harris Ellsworth, the present chairman.

News Flash

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A Trans World Airlines Super Constellation with 26 passengers and a crew of four was circling over Lambert-St. Louis Airport early this afternoon, unable to land because of a jammed landing gear.

TWA identified the 4-engine plane as Flight 125, originating in Washington with Kansas City its destination via Indianapolis and St. Louis.

Tsermengas Guilty; His Wife Collapses

Demitrios "Jimmy" Tsermengas' expectant wife collapsed and was rushed to the hospital yesterday minutes after a Circuit Court jury convicted him of second-degree murder.

Tsermengas, a 40-year-old ex-convict from Texas, was on his way back to the Oakland County jail when his wife, Constance, seven months pregnant with their fourth child, was overcome with grief.

Six men and six women jurors had just found Tsermengas guilty as charged of killing George Kean, a Texas hoodlum, after deliberating one hour and 47 minutes. He could receive anywhere from one year to life in prison when Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty passes sentence Jan. 26.

A Pontiac Fire Department inhalator squad was called to the courtroom when friends of Mrs. Tsermengas yelled for help. She was carried from the courthouse on a stretcher and taken to Pontiac General Hospital where she later was released.

Tsermengas glanced at the lined-up jurors and remained calm when foreman Maynard Siebert of Royal Oak announced the verdict.

Siebert later told newsmen the jury took five ballots to arrive at the decision. A unanimous opinion is necessary for conviction.

The foreman further said that

Keep Your Collar Up, It's Going to Get Colder

The mercury will plunge to near zero tonight in southern Michigan with an expected low of about 9 above in the Pontiac area, the U.S. Weather Bureau forecast today.

The cold will continue through the weekend but a slow warming trend is forecast for Sunday. Tomorrow's high will be around 16.

For the next five days temperatures will average about five degrees below the normal high of 33 degrees and normal low of 19. The warming trend Sunday will continue through Monday.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 7 degrees. The reading at 1 p.m. was 15.

Fire Routs Families Into 13 Below Cold

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Frozen hose lines hampered firemen in battling a spectacular fire in a downtown business block here today.

The blaze, which broke out at 2 a.m., routed four families into 13 below zero weather.

The fire apparently started in the basement of a clothing store in the Barrish block on Sault Ste. Marie's main Ashmon street.

Flames spread rapidly through the wooden building and shot through the roof.

The city's entire fire fighting force and all available reserves were called out.

The building owner, Max Barrish, estimated the loss at $125,000.

Absolutely Not! Say Veterans

Refuse to Support Plan to Use Trust Fund in State's Financial Crisis

LANSING (AP)—A flat no.

That was the answer of spokesmen for organized veterans when Gov. Williams bid for support of his plan to bail the state out of its tightening cash emergency.

Afterwards, Williams told newsmen the state might "hit the wall" financially as early as mid-February, but that he was unable to predict the time with exactness and it could be later.

"This evil day keeps staring us in the face," he sighed last night.

Williams received the word about 6 p.m. from veterans leaders in the executive office where they had returned after an hours' conference earlier in the day and then retiring for a private huddle.

"We unanimously agree that no tampering, changes or alterations affecting the 50 million dollar veterans trust fund are acceptable to the organized veterans," said a typewritten statement handed to him.

Nicholas R. Firis, state commander of the Marine Corps League, acted in behalf of himself and commanders of seven other major veterans organizations.

In brief, the Governor's plan is to lend the bulk of securities in the veterans fund to hard-up state universities which would mortgage them with banks to raise operating cash.

'That Gold's Mine,' Says Gas Attendant

CORSICANA, Tex. (UPI)—Secret Service agents from Dallas were expected here today to ask a 38-year-old service station attendant, father of eight children, about the $2,408,000 in gold bricks he says he found and hid.

But the owner, if he has it, appeared in no hurry to give it up.

U. S. Attorney William Steger said yesterday he asked the agents to question D. E. Jones and "make a demand upon him for the gold if he has it in behalf of the federal government."

Jones, who works from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. in a service station to support his family, said he found 86 bars of gold last May 17, in a berry patch east of Alto, Tex.

Jones said his eye was attracted by something that looked like a pit sticking out of the ground. He dug it up, and it was a gold bar, weighing about 50 pounds.

FINDS 85 MORE

His interest aroused, he dug further and found 85 bars more. He said he borrowed a truck to haul the gold away.

Jones wouldn't say where he stored it — although he denied burying it — but stated that he held on to it for a year in the belief that after that time no one could question his right to it.

However, Steger said an ordinary citizen is not allowed by law to possess more gold than the fillings in his teeth, certain coins and jewelry.

He added that the law provides for a fine of twice the value of the metal, should Jones refuse to hand it over to the government. The estimated value of 86 bars of gold, weighing 50 pounds each, is $2,408,000.

Jones declined to tell reporters where he had cached it, but "I never said I buried it, like some pieces in the newspapers said," he stated.

"I have it in a safe place."

Smiling at suggestions the gold might have been placed in the berry patch by Cuban revolutionaries who intended to buy guns with it, Jones said "that gold was there a long time.

'PECULIAR FRAGMENTS'

"I know that particular area had not been disturbed in 50 years. I talked with other persons who were pretty old and they told me they don't think that area has been disturbed for around 100 years," he said.

There were "peculiar looking fragments" among the bars, he added, which might have been decayed wood or cowhide.

Jones said he was assured by the owner of the property where he found the treasure that he would make no challenge for ownership. Anything Jones gives him, the property owner was reported to have said would be like "getting candy from heaven."

Jones' feelings about the treasure were summed up in his remark that "if anybody tries to take it, I am going to act like the alligator when the pond dried up."

He maintained, however, he intended to help the government "in every way."

Sandahl Says He's Sorry About Murder of Parents

A former Waterford Township youth charged with the murder of his parents told authorities in Sacramento (Calif.) yesterday, "I'm sorry I shot them, but I'm not sorry they're dead."

David K. Sandahl, 20, said he killed his parents because his father made him practice eight hours a day on the accordion.

"I didn't want to kill anyone. It was just that my dad kept hammering at me to practice all the time. I just wanted him to shut up about my music and leave me alone," Sandahl said.

The youth, discharged from a California mental institution in November, was charged with murder in the death of his parents, Ewald L. Sandahl, 52, and his wife, Elizabeth Mae, 50.

The parents were shot with a .22 caliber pistol Monday. Sandahl remained in the house, sleeping on a cot four feet from his father's body.

The killings were not discovered until he was involved in an accident Wednesday evening. Highway authorities checking on the accident went to the home and discovered the bodies.

His music teacher said David was a good player but not of professional ability.

The youth said his father wanted him either to get a job or practice eight hours a day. The father told him he worked eight hours a day and there was no reason why he shouldn't also.

Young Sandahl quit school in the second year of high school, and had been admitted to a mental institution for treatment of schizophrenia (split personality) while the family lived in Davenport, Ia., police said.

The family, which lived at 6411 Harriet St., moved to California in April, and David spent a month in the DeWitt Sanitarium, Auburn, Calif.

He was released with the recommendation that outside treatment be continued if possible.

4 Dead in Hotel Fire; Many Guests Saved

the blaze was not generally widespread above the lobby.

Bennett said police were attempting to make identifications, but were unable to get the necessary information from hotel clerks and records immediately.

Lou Balzy, room clerk on duty, said the fire started in Chickee's Hat Shop, facing the street on Grand Circus Park on which the Hotel Statler, and large business buildings also face.

Balzy said the fire quickly swept into the lobby as clerks attempted to use the telephones and employes to alert the guests and get them out.

Morgan Howard, assistant manager of the Briggs, said "flames were coming out the front and there was smoke as high as the 11th floor. I saw many people groping their way down fire escapes while others waited for firemen to raise ladders to them."

Inge Boxman, a maid on the 12th floor of the Tuller, said "the elevator was full of smoke. I heard people screaming."

Firemen brought the major part of the blaze under control within a few minutes but smaller blazes were reported on upper floors. More than 50 policemen were mobilized to aid in rescue efforts.

Overheated Furnace Starts $1,700 Blaze

A fire caused by an overheated furnace broke out in the basement of a two-story frame building at 363 W. Huron St. and was battled for more than an hour last night by firemen before being brought under control.

Damages to the building and contents were estimated at $1,700.

No one was injured, and the blaze was confined to the basement.

Four offices on the first floor of the structure were vacant at the time of the fire, which broke out at 9:30. Tenants in two second-floor apartments fled to safety outside.

$250,000 Sewer Grant Told by Rep. Broomfield

Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) today announced approval of a $250,000 federal grant to defray construction costs of the North Evergreen sanitary sewer to benefit Pontiac, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Troy and Bloomfield Township.

Broomfield received word of the approval from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

At the same time, Harold K. Schone, director of the county's Department of Public Works, which is building the sewer, announced that the department would make a second application to get a similar grant for the South Evergreen section of the huge $6,175,000 sewer system.

This section will benefit Southfield, the city of Lathrup Village, Westwood Village, Bingham Farms and Franklin. A first request for this segment was turned down.

Schone said a tentative construction date for the North Evergreen section has been set up March 1.

Approval from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission to issue general obligation bonds to finance the sewer is pending, Schone said.

Files $100,000 Suit in Freak Lake Accident

The widow of a Detroit man killed in a freak accident last summer while watching water skiers on Lake Orion, has filed a $100,000 damage suit against a Lake Orion man and two other defendants.

Mrs. Elsie E. Lakin, of 14091 Warwick Rd., Detroit, filed suit in Wayne County Circuit Court against James F. Shafor, of 616 Longpoint Dr., Sears Roebuck Co., and G. A. Simenson, a metal repairman.

Shafor's 15-year-old son, James, was using his father's outboard motor on a boat pulling a skier when a piece of the starter plate flew off and killed Edmund H. Lakin, 60, as he watched from a dock May 31. He died 10 minutes later at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The attorney for Mrs. Lakin claims the company was negligent in suggesting to Shafor that the motor be repaired by Simenson instead of sent back to the factory for proper repairs.

DEEP IN WINTER'S GRIP — A Western Union messenger finds the going rough as he attempts to get his bicycle out and going in the snow which hit the South Bend-Niles area yesterday. A state of emergency was declared by the South Bend mayor as workers attempted to unsnarl snow-stalled traffic.

Michigan-Indiana Border Buried

More Snow for Niles and South Bend

From Our News Wires

The Niles community dug itself out from under 20 inches of snow today.

But the weatherman said more was on the way.

"Another six inches would paralyze us," State Police Trooper Norman Schenmaker said.

The Berrien County community in Southwestern Michigan was the hardest hit by the snowstorm which buried neighboring South Bend, Ind., yesterday, causing the Hoosier City's mayor to call a state of emergency.

At least 100 cars were stalled in Niles, high schools canceled basketball games and more storms swept St. Joseph, Benton Harbor, Buchanan and Dayton Hill.

Stormy weather and biting cold struck crippling blows across broad sections in the eastern half of the country today.

Ice and snow storms created hazardous driving conditions in many sections of the Northeast. Blizzard conditions were forecast in parts of the lower Great Lakes region.

Temperatures tumbled to 25 degrees below zero in northern Minnesota as the huge mass of icy air spread eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

The Southland shivered in the fresh surge of frigid air, with temperatures dropping into the teens in northern sections of Alabama and Georgia. It was freezing in northern Florida.

The freak snowstorm spread across areas in Michigan and Indiana for 65 miles from the southeastern corner of Lake Michigan.

Winds of 20 or more m.p.h. whipped the heavy snowfall in the South Bend area into huge drifts. However, maintenance crews worked throughout the night, clearing most of the main roads.

The storm which struck near the eastern shore of Lake Michigan was caused by cold air which was warmed as it crossed the lake and chilled when it reached the South Bend area. Normally, the Weather Bureau said, the chill would have developed at the shoreline but strong winds carried the air inland.

Plans to Finish Prosecution Part of Murder Trial

Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang said yesterday he expected to close out his first-degree murder case Tuesday against Raymond L. Alyea, charged with the robbery-slaying of a Southfield nursery caretaker.

Expected to return to the stand when the trial resumes Tuesday is State Police Sgt. Conrad Konetshny who investigated the savage killing of Anthony J. Jasinski, 51.

He was under cross-examination by Alyea's attorney, William R. Beasley, when Circuit Judge William J. Beer called a halt to the sixth day of testimony Friday.

Beasley said he will attempt to show when he opens his case—probably Tuesday—that Alyea, a 35-year-old, part-time gardener, went to visit Jasinski at the Ilgenfritz Nurseries Inc., 22951 Northwestern Highway, July 31, and found him the victim of a holdup and murder.

It has been the contention of Lang who has called 25 witnesses, that Alyea cashed a check for Jasinski, returned the money and later returned himself to steal the money that only he knew the caretaker had.

In a statement to investigators after his arrest, Alyea recalled returning to the nursery, and suddenly bending down to see if Jasinski was still breathing.

Story's Moral: Stop Car to Argue With Wife

DERBY, England (UPI)—Sidney Brown, 35, charged with speeding, told the court yesterday that while driving he was having an argument with his wife.

"I decided to put my foot down firmly and it went on the accelerator," he explained.

The court fined him $14.

Castro Calls Mass to Back Executions

to send back persons cited only for political offenses.

450 TO DIE

Castro estimates that 450 persons will die before the current wave of executions ends in Cuba.

Already 250 persons have been reported shot on charges of crimes against the people during the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista. Cuban prisons recently held an estimated 5,000 to 6,000 more for trial on similar charges, but some have been released and others given jail terms.

Castro gave his estimate to a crowd of about 10,000 in front of the presidential palace Friday night.

The Cuban people generally have applauded the trials and executions. Police broke up 200 persons in front of a police station Friday demonstrating for lynching of one suspect.

Newspapers in Brazil, Peru, Ecuador, Argentina and Costa Rica have called for a halt to the bloodshed. The Uruguayan representative to the United Nations appealed to Provisional President Manuel Urrutia to stop the killings.

Other Latin-American delegates at the U.N. reportedly are planning a similar appeal. U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) suggested in Washington that Castro invite U.N. observers to check the trial and execution methods.

Some U.S. and Cuban businessmen and industrialists are paying advance taxes to help the revolutionary government, the New York Times reported.

A dispatch from Havana said a treasury official estimated about three million dollars had been paid in advance in recent days.

The Cuban government named Havana lawyer Ernesto Dihigo as Cuban ambassador to the United States.

It was reported in Washington that career diplomat Philip A. Bonsal, presently U.S. ambassador to Bolivia, will be the new American envoy to Cuba. Cuban Foreign Minister Roberto Agramonte said Bonsal would be acceptable.

Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith resigned as U.S. ambassador to Cuba last week. The revolutionary regime had charged he had favored the Batista regime.

Jurors were long deliberating because some questioned Tsermengas' intent in the December 1957 slaying of Kean in a Commerce Township home.

Jurors could have acquitted him or found him guilty of a lesser charge of manslaughter, which carries a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison.

ON STAND 5 HOURS

Tsermengas had spent five hours on the stand in his own defense Wednesday and Thursday, claiming throughout his testimony he meant no harm when he tried to strike Kean over the head with a pistol after he became unruly following a drinking spree.

Tsermengas, whose background includes three years of college in addition to his criminal record, claimed the pistol went off accidentally.

Jerome K. Barry Jr., assistant prosecutor, closed his case yesterday, charging Tsermengas and two other Texas hoodlums plotted to kill Kean, 32, because they feared he might upset the gang's plans for a robbery in Sault Ste. Marie.

This four-man "band of badman bandits," as Barry described them, stopped off at the cottage of Donald E. Chandler, whom Tsermengas had met in prison, in search of uniforms and a rifle to use in the planned robbery.

Chandler was not connected with the killing other than being an eyewitness.

The bizarre slaying came to light last September when Michigan State Police and Texas Rangers uncovered Kean's body buried in a make-shift grave outside Alpena.

A tip received by the Rangers led them to the spot.

ESCAPE PROSECUTION

So far the other two men, Lowell E. McComb and Thomas D. Smith, have escaped prosecution in the killing. Smith is being held in Texas on another charge and McComb is fighting extradition back here.

In a lengthy closing argument, Tsermengas' attorney, Clarence L. Smith, attempted to show that Tsermengas could not have saved two Collinsville, Ill., policemen, whom the gang had kidnaped on the flight to Michigan, from certain death by Kean, and the very next day be the murderer of Kean.

After the verdict, Smith refused Tsermengas' request to address Judge Doty. Smith refused to tell reporters what Tsermengas wanted to say.

The Day in Birmingham

Cold Snap 'Just Fine' With Recreation Board

BIRMINGHAM — The return of snappy cold yesterday came as manna from heaven to the recreation board and recreation director Robert Girardin and also offered a big boost to the Eton Park skating rink.

The rink budget is running low and appeared that an appeal to city commissioners for more money would be necessary.

Recreation chairman John O'Gorman, said that the rink is operating on a day-to-day basis. Last weekend spring-like weather put a heavy load on the freezing mechanism to keep the ice in usable condition.

Temperatures like today will make it possible to operate the rink within the budget until the March 1 closing date.

Today's prediction from the National Weather Bureau of below average temperatures for the next 30 days is "just fine," Girardin said.

Members of the Metropolitan Club Spirit 9 and the Women's Auxiliary, will install officers at the VFW Hall in Berkley tomorrow night. A dance will follow the installation.

Club officers are Robert Schaule, president; Glenn Felts and Harold Coldren, vice presidents; Howard Foote, financial secretary; Kenneth Allison, recording secretary; Delyle Service, treasurer; George Kemp, Joseph Collins and George Wallace, trustees.

Auxiliary officers are Mrs. Foster Raymond, president; Mrs. Donald Richardson, vice president; Mrs. C. J. Nunneley, recording secretary; and Mrs. Robert Dunn, financial secretary.

Others are Mrs. Howard Hatt, treasurer; Miss Winona Singers, chaplain; Mrs. Ambert Peterson, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. George Scott, Mrs. Stanley Church and Mrs. Samuel Snell, auditors.

The Rev. Paul Nicely, assistant director of the Institute of Advanced Pastoral Studies in Bloomfield Hills, will preach the sermons in the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services tomorrow at the First Congregational Church in Rochester.

"Courage to Receive" will be the title of the message.

The Oakland County chapter of the American Association for the United Nations will hold its annual meeting in the Birmingham Community House Monday at 8 p.m.

Meyer Barash, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at Wayne State University, will speak on "Barriers to World Communications."

Allie Greer

Service for Allie Greer, 75, of 351 Ferndale Ave., will be held 1 p.m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Greer died yesterday at his home following a long illness.

He was a retired gas station proprietor and a life member of Birmingham Lodge 44, F&AM and two years ago was honored by the Grand Lodge of Michigan for 50 years of Masonic membership.

Surviving is a sister, Miss Blanche Greer of Birmingham.

Mrs. John B. McKee

Requiem Mass for Mrs. John B. (Lucy) McKee, 72, of 1945 Quarton Rd., Bloomfield Township, will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at Holy Name Church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. McKee died Friday at her home following a nine month illness.

Surviving are her husband, John B.; a daughter, Mrs. A. R. Soltis of Bloomfield Township; two sons, James W. of Detroit and John B. Jr. of New Hampshire; two brothers and nine grandchildren.

Ike and Mikoyan Exchange Views

supposed the newsmen had a "shower of questions" ready. But, he said, he would not be able to answer them because as all could see "I have my coat on all ready and am not prepared to hold a press conference."

"I can say we held an exchange of views on many matters of mutual interest. We did not conduct negotiations but tried to find the positions of our countries on many matters," Mikoyan said.

"This was not a negotiation but a useful exchange of views. At the end, the President, the Secretary of State and we all came to the conclusion that the exchange was useful.

After the brief statement, Mikoyan broke off the session with reporters saying in English: "Thank you and good by." Eisenhower and Mikoyan presumably discussed the problems of Berlin, a divided Germany and disarmament.

Mikoyan arrived at the White House about two minutes before his 9 a.m. appointment time. He was met by Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House staff secretary. Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov and interpreter Oleg Troyanovsky accompanied Mikoyan.

Before the meeting with Mikoyan the President got a half-hour briefing from Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles arrived at the White House as scores of uniformed policemen were deployed in the streets as a security precaution.

A dozen or so pickets paraded a block away from the White House as the conference went on inside the executive mansion.

The pickets said they were just plain American citizens who had gotten in touch with each other and decided to make a protest.

"We censure our patriots; we dine our enemies," one sign read, apparently in reference to many dinners given for Mikoyan.

"No red carpets for Reds," read another placard.

A squad of motorcycle policemen accompanied Mikoyan and his party on their short drive from the Soviet Embassy to the White House.

For Mikoyan the meeting was the climax of the spectacular tour which has taken him around the United States making public and private speeches, selling the Soviet peace line, and pleading for trade and better relations.

51 Feared Dead in Airliner Crash

Find Only 1; Argentine Plane Plunges Into Sea Just Before Landing

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — An Argentine airliner with 52 persons aboard crashed into the Atlantic Ocean Friday night off the seaside resort of Mar del Plata. Only one survivor was found.

Almost four hours after the vacation flight crashed a man was found alive on the beach, his clothes burned or ripped off. All others on the twin-engine plane apparently perished. Only three bodies were recovered in predawn darkness.

Searchers who were hampered by stormy waters said many of those in the plane presumably were trapped inside and drowned.

The airliner was on a special summertime vacation flight from Buenos Aires to Mar del Plata, 240 miles to the south, and then to Bahia Blanca, another 260 miles west.

It was coming in for a landing at Mar del Plata in windy and rainy weather when it smashed into the ocean about 150 yards from shore.

One eyewitness said he heard the plane's engines fail just before the crash.

A caretaker at a resort park said the plane apparently developed trouble as it came down for a landing, tried to regain altitude and then plunged into the sea. He said he heard a terrific explosion.

1 Dead and 1 Missing in Florida Hotel Fire

STUART, Fla (AP)—One unidentified man was burned to death and another was missing and presumed dead in an early morning fire at a downtown hotel today.

Seven of the nine registered guests got out of the two-story 40-room Commodore Hotel, but coroner Jimmy Peagram said other persons might have been trapped in the building.

The missing man was George Jackson, 31, a bartender. He was last seen in his room and refused to leave, according to witnesses.

Robert King, 23, and Gene Panipinto, 23, of Rochester, N.Y., said they tried to get the hefty bartender out of his room but he refused to leave.

Big Brothers Organization Needs More Volunteers

Big Brothers of Oakland County, Inc., whose observance of Big Brother Week will end tomorrow, have revealed a need for more volunteers to work with county youths.

"At the present time there are 81 active Big Brothers working with 81 boys. There are always boys in need of help, but rarely enough big brothers to help them," said Bill Clark, executive director.

"Our program of youth counselling is the only one of its kind. It is considered one of the most effective programs in the field of social welfare, since volunteer men work with boys on an individual basis," he said.

His words came on the heels of a statement made by John Sterling, president of the agency.

UNDERSTANDING, GUIDANCE

"Our objective is to help each boy reach his highest physical, mental, emotional and spiritual development," said Sterling.

"This is done through the understanding and personal guidance of a Big Brother. We are combating the continued high incidence of crime among youth, by attempting to keep boys out of trouble."

The basic philosophy of the Big Brother movement is "one man and one boy," and its slogan is "No man ever stands so straight as when he stoops to help a boy."

The big brother is a volunteer who gives fully of himself to guide and befriend a boy with problems, and who is in need of a mature man's companionship.

After careful screening, the Big Brother is assigned to a boy whose interests match his own and whose needs can best be met through his friendship.

The Oakland County organization is a non-denominational, interracial social agency which covers the entire county area and is supported by both the Pontiac and Detroit United Funds.

Anyone interested in the manner in which the agency works may contact Clark at the Big Brothers' office, 132 Franklin Blvd.

Chicago Shows $20,000,000 Worth of Cars

CHICAGO (UPI) — The nation's oldest and largest automobile show today unveiled $20,000,000 worth of chrome and high combustion to tempt the buying public.

Industry executives, civic leaders and newsmen last night jammed a preview of the 51st annual Chicago automobile show, expected to top last year's record of 518,521 visitors during its nine-day run starting today at the amphitheater.

Exhibits ranging from the 1916 Indianapolis "500" winner to a futuristic car without wheels surrounded shining examples of the show's main theme—the best of domestic and foreign manufacturers' lines for the 1958 motorist.

Show Manager Edward L. Cleary, executive vice president of the sponsoring Chicago Automobile Trade Association, said the 450 gaily displayed cars and trucks should make the the show the "greatest ever held."

It Seems to Me . . . .

Why Treat Mikoyan Like King After He Slaughtered Millions?

This bloody butcher, Soviet First Deputy Premier ANASTAS I. MIKOYAN, has been accorded two types of receptions in American cities. The same citadels have been profligate in providing both the cheers and jeers. One school of thought suggests he should receive the red carpet treatment with all international honors and banners flying. The other suggests he should be hooted down and given the bum's rush.

If you leave it to the relatives of the slaughtered Albanians, Bulgarians, Czecho-Slovakians, Estonians, Hungarians, Latvians, Lithuanians, Poles and Romanians—if you leave it to them—he would be torn limb from limb. They would accord him almost as little humanity as he did the breath-taking number of human beings in Europe that he helped slaughter.

Another school suggests he should be forgiven, treated with utmost courtesy and plans made for better Russian relations. This is the sweetness and light department; and these proponents have many earnest disciples.

In the first place, this international thug invited himself over here. Next, he thumbed his nose at our State Department by selecting his itinerary and announcing it to the newspapers before he took it up with our diplomatic representatives. Our State Department properly protested and the Soviet Embassy declared "it would never happen again." (And who, I ask you, will ever believe THAT?) The beetle browed bum managed to be as completely offensive and stupid as only a well grounded Russian can.

However, his trip has been a signal success in the main. He has been wined and dined by Americans while the fellow countrymen of those he helped kill have picketed him at every turn of the road. They've yelled "murderer" (and worse). GEORGE MEANY, AFL-CIO president declared MIKOYAN "perpetrated the world's greatest double-cross when he personally tricked those countless Hungarians into death and captivity." Yes, Russia extended the olive branch, with one hand and with the other she beckoned the massing troops to march in and fire.

And they did.

The President's brother, Dr. MILTON EISENHOWER, who was an Oakland County visitor just recently, said: "We should embrace warmly those countries which are democratic, but treat dictatorships and dictators with required courtesy only."

We've gone far beyond that.

Actually, we've bowed and scraped.

In New York on Wednesday, I heard some of those Europeans who have had liberty ripped from their countries. Their shouts were not the disapproval which we visit upon a baseball umpire's decision against the home team; their voices and faces were not those of a beaten group on election night. No, there were anger and venom in their voices. Their faces were contorted. Their taunts and insults arose from hatred undisguised. Had an opportunity presented itself, I believe an avenging angel of death might have been close at hand.

The Daily News in New York said:

"MIKOYAN'S government has been swearing for 41 years to destroy U.S. Capitalism . . . repudiated all the debts of the Czarist Russian government . . . has never settled its World War II Lend-Lease accounts with us . . . recently repudiated its bonded indebtedness to its own people . . . and now is trying to kid U.S. businessmen and our government that it is a good credit risk for expanded trade between the U.S.A. and the USSR."

The Daily News has the largest circulation of any newspaper in America. It is sound, well grounded and thoughtful.

Yes, the international tramp stirred a storm across the country. President Eisenhower asks us to show him every courtesy. Yet, I ask, have the Russians shown any courtesy to the nationalities listed above?

And, oh, yes, Mr. President, how about just a little courtesy for the Americans whose plane was shot down illegally this past year?

Mikoyan, go home!
And stay there!

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Newspapers were recalling great opening sentences of the past. Here are a few: A sports writer was assigned to cover the H.S. band concert and the next day his review opened: "The high school band played Beethoven last night. Beethoven lost." . . . . . EUGENE FIELDS opened a theatrical review in Chicago with this: "John Doe played the King in a new play at the Illinois last evening and he played it as though he were in constant fear someone else would play the ace." . . . . . An Oklahoma girl reporter wrote in a fashion story: "A sweater is a garment which is too tight in the first place. And also in the second place."

A U. S. project to put a camera in orbit squarely over Russia has been sidetracked . . . . . Florida law compels motels to provide heat this winter . . . . . Who knows a grander girl — anywhere — than Vera Bassett? . . . . . The number of taxis that can operate in New York is limited by law. Thus the only way to get into business is to buy an existing "medallion." A new taxi sets you back around $2,500 and the precious medallion is currently $18,000. That goes to the gent you "buy out." The law never contemplated any such happening . . . . . .

Overheard at the Men's Club: "TV was doing fine until trigger mortis set in." . . . . . The A-bomb that leveled Hiroshima equaled 20,000 tons of TNT. The H-bomb that exploded 10 years later equaled 15,000,000 tons of TNT. Use your imagination as to what would happen in 1959 if they let the latest go over any city anywhere in the world . . . . . Architectural Forum magazine says in the next ten years there will be 50 per cent more buildings than in the last ten. Think what that means in Oakland County . . . . . Look alikes: CHARLEY GEHRINGER and LAWRENCE HARTMAN.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Robert E. Lee, often called the soldiers' soldier, was a living model of Christ's edict to "love your enemies."

Lee, whose birthday falls this week, was born Jan. 19, 1807. A master strategist and brilliant leader, he hated only one thing in his life: war.

"What a cruel thing war is," he once observed sorrowfully after a great victory, "— to fill our hearts with hatred instead of love for our neighbors, and to devastate the fair face of this beautiful world."

A man of prayer and sturdy faith, Lee on another occasion wrote: "I remember . . . in the Good Book that we must love our enemies. I have fought against Union soldiers, but I have never cherished any vindictive feelings. I have never seen the day when I did not pray for them."

May Stall Solution to Cash Crisis

Williams' Olive Branch Wilts Fast

LANSING (UPI) — The olive branch that Gov. G. Mennen Williams extended to the legislature in his opening message wilted within a few minutes after it left his hands.

As a result, the Democrats and Republicans in both chambers are locked in party squabbles that threaten to stall efforts to find an immediate solution to Michigan's cash crisis.

On Wednesday, Republicans took advantage of the absence of one Democrat and organized the house by a 55-54 margin. Democrats vowed to turn the tables at first chance. "We'll fight you all the way," said Floor Leader Joseph J. Kowalski (D-Detroit).

On Thursday, Williams urged both parties to "let the dead past bury its dead" and said there was "no excuse for partisanship in the situation we face."

Minutes later, the GOP-dominated Senate was engaged in a bitter partisan battle.

Republicans decided to trim by one the number of Democrats on most of the Senate's 19 committees.

Some Democrats retaliated by saying they would refuse to accept any committee assignments. Sen. Stanley Novak (D-Detroit) said he might demand that every word of a bill be read aloud before passage.

"I can't serve on a committee under this setup," Novak said. "And if I'm not in committe when a bill is studied, I'll have to have it read to me."

It was unlikely Novak would carry out his threat—but the fact that he made it indicated the mood of lawmakers during the opening week of a crucial session.

In the House, where there will be a 55-55 split when all members are present, refusals to cooperate would have serious effects. It takes 56 votes to pass a bill.

In the Senate, where Republicans had a 22-12 edge, Democratic rebellion would be expressed primarily through harrassing measures.

The Senate strife proved embarrassing for Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, a Democrat.

Swainson, who said he would boycott meetings of the committe on committees, sent a communication to the Senate charging Republicans with "dictatorial and contemptuous" action.

The Senate refused to allow the statement to appear in the record.

Sen. Carlton Morris (R-Kalamazoo) told Swainson "you overstepped your bounds" in sending the communication and said the newly-elected lieutenant Governor was "off to a poor start."

Democratic state chief Nell Staebler got into the Senate bickering. He accused the Republicans of "parliamentary trickery and tyranny."

Williams told the legislature "never before, in my experience, has the need for cooperation in the people's interest been more imperative."

Never before did it appear so difficult to achieve.

Tries Eating Raw Wheat: 'Like Chewing on Straw'

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

"Can't understand why you advocate chewing plain wheat. Ever try to chew it yourself? Might as well try to chew a mouthful of straw. (A.R.)

Ans.— No teeth? It takes a little more chewing than chickle. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Wheat to Eat.

"I live 7,000 feet above sea level. Always short of breath, especially when walking. Feel I can't take a deep breath because of pain under left shoulderblade. Drink very little water . . . Can you suggest anything for me?" (Castle Rock).

Ans. — Yes. Consult a physician. Seriously, son, this is the only advice I can conscientiously give you.

"I have been eating calcium and vitamin D now for nearly a year. I am completely cured of my hay fever and migraine." (Mrs. E.P.)

Ans. — Thank you. For particulars send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for (1) The Calcium Shortage, (2) Hay Fever and Migraine pamphlets. Periodic sick headache is common name for migraine.

"With my headaches there is a tenseness in the back of my head and neck. I belive it is all due to a female operation I had six years ago . . ." (Mrs. W.A.)

Ans. — Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing (do not use clipping) for pamphlet Why Have Headache?

"How can stomach gas be "swallowed air?" (C.S.)

Ans. — Air isn't solid. It isn't liquid. It can be nothing else than gas. Everyone swallows more or less air every day. Most of the "gas" in stomach or intestine is air. Spasmodic contraction of throat muscles under some unpleasant emotional experience cause repeated gulps of air.

Police Hassle Once Again Prompts Readers' Letters

Reading that 41 persons charged with gambling have been cleared, Eastman really left himself open for lawsuits. Although Straley may not be the smartest chief, somehow I feel if Straley had made such charges he would be able to back them up. However, Straley isn't a public safety director costing the City a useless $12,000. Also, Straley isn't an expert, just a policeman.

The Safety Director and City government keep yelling for a showdown with Straley. Why doesn't the public demand a showdown with all concerned, including Willman. Sometimes I think City government is afraid of what the Chief knows. If Eastman would stop blowing his own horn and do police work and leave the Chief alone for the time being, just do the work the P.A.S. report called for (which cost taxpayers $8,000) the City would soon be cleaned up.

Is this going to cost homeowners as much as the hospital, just because of poor planning?

Public Defender

The City Manager seems fond of saying he doesn't want to hurt Straley because he has given seven years service. He doesn't mention it hasn't been good service. Any other man who made such a botch of his job wouldn't get this tender treatment.

I wonder if the fact Willman arranged the appointment for Straley has any connection with the hold he seems to have over the City Manager.

If Civil Service had been in effect when the Chief was appointed, politics could not have entered in and there could have been no such doubts.

Suspicious of Politicians

Three cheers for Commissioner Landry. He at least had courage to say what he thinks. I'm 100 per cent with him.

If Chief Straley has made mistakes, he has also done a lot of good. After all, we are all human and are entitled to make mistakes.

I suggest that the Mayor make a more thorough study of our "perfect" automobiles. You find more foul air created by the incomplete combustion of these inefficient new monsters than any oil burning older models.

Minister Praises, Clarifies Article

Let me compliment the paper and Lee Winborn on the interesting and well-written article of Jan. 15, "Ex-Executive Heads Religious Community."

Secondly, however, it should be said the article doesn't describe a phase of life which is characteristic of the Lutheran Church in the United States. From the article it might be inferred that a monastic retreat from life into pious isolation is advocated by Lutherans. We have high respect for religious devotion, but our primary concern is addressing the message of Christ to the world. To my knowledge, St. Augustine's House and the movement associated with it are strictly independent and unofficial so far as their relation to the Lutheran Church in America is concerned.

Finally, it's unfortunate churches don't provide better news for your paper on what I believe to be the normal aspects of church life in our community.

'Separate Facilities Please Both Races'

So what's wrong with having separate waiting rooms and toilets, as most of the Negroes as well as whites had rather it be that way. I can take you to one city and show you a high school for whites and one for colored, two theaters for white, two for colored, two city parks and all are happy. But don't let the NAACP know, for they would try to change this satisfaction of things.

The Negroes say they had rather associate with their own and if left alone they would be happy. I have colored friends in the South and Pontiac, but I don't care to be in their homes.

The main objection is they monopolize parks, pools, sports and anything they have an opportunity to participate in. If you knew of the details as thousands of Southern people do, you wouldn't be so quick to criticize. If you have to print my name, don't print this letter.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Facts Dispel Fears of Childbirth

Mabel has the normal worries that beset an expectant mother, so study this case carefully. Then paste it in your scrapbook, or mail it to some wife who is pregnant. For much of the painfulness of childbirth is due to ignorance and failure to cooperate intelligently with your doctor. Send for the booklet below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A-430: Mabel M., aged 23, is an expectant mother.

"Dr. Crane, we hope to have our first baby in three more months," she began.

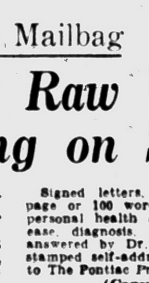
"And I am very happy about it, except for a few fears which probably bother most wives.



CRANE

"For example, I was in a bad auto wreck a month ago, but fortunately I wasn't hurt very much. They released me from the hospital in 24 hours.

"But I have a grandmother from Texas who says I may have 'marked' my baby because of my fright.

"Is that possible? And what can I do to insure my baby the very best of health and I. Q. before it is born?"

PREGNANCY FACTS

We doctors receive a daily inspiration from the unselfishness of expectant mothers, most of whom are exceedingly desirous of giving their babies the very best send-off possible.

So let me remind you of some simple medical facts, for they will relieve the minds of you wives who are having your first baby.

First, the idea of "marking" babies because of a mother's fright or unsatisfied hunger for strawberries or melons or other freak out-of-season foods, is now passe.

Your brain has no direct connections with the baby while it is in your womb.

For that baby has no nerves linking it with the mother nor does the baby's blood circulate in the mother's veins.

Each has its own separate nervous system and its own heart and blood supply. The baby's heart beats 135 to 150 times per minute, though the mother's pulse rate is about 75.

In ancient times of intense famine, when wives were shut inside walled cities, they might have stunted their babies via a shortage of food, but that is highly improbable nowadays.

If you expectant mothers eat a varied diet and are checked regularly by your doctor, you need have little worry about the child's mental and physical growth before birth.

Better, beware of cigarettes, however, for nicotine is a powerful poison and it might injure your baby's development.

TRUTH LESSENS PAIN

Your baby is suspended in a sack of fluid. During the final month of pregnancy, it usually is upside down so its head lodges in your pelvis and acts as a ball to dilate the outlet at the time of birth.

When the baby is ready to leave the mother, the muscles of the womb contract at slow intervals, say 10 to 15 minutes apart. That is normal, and the purpose of these contractions, which feel like stomach cramps, is to gently dilate the pelvic outlet.

So don't try to speed up the process. Too fast a delivery might injure the head and cause bleeding into the brain, which sometimes results in spastic babies.

With the first baby, the duration of labor averages 18 hours, so don't expect a 30-minute affair.

With the second baby, the time drops to 12 hours, for the first baby has dilated the pelvis, thus making it easier for the next.

Relax between your contractions and drop off for a few minutes nap, for the more relaxed and informed you are of the mechanics of childbirth, the less painful is the process.

A lot of pain is due to ignorance of what is going on, so send for my booklet "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (nonprofit).

It helps you cooperate more intelligently with your doctor and answers questions about the Rh factor, etc.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Merry Olde England Was Never Like This

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Hermione Gingold consented to one of my "Intrepid Interviews" and took the stand promptly at 1:30 p.m. at a restaurant whereupon I grilled her about taking out first papers to become an American citizen.

WILSON

"I don't know if this should be mentioned — the English papers can get so beastly—it wants a lot of consideration," she hesitated.

Then, with a toss of her shoulders, the British star of movies, stage and Jack Paar's program said, "Inasmuch as I'm living in America all the time and have become part of the life around New York, I think I should, and I have! That's a wonderful way to feel.

"Of course," she added, "They may never grant me my other papers—they may decide they don't want me!"

In a book called "The World Is Square," which has some but not too much truth in it, Hermione tells some of her life.

HERMIONE

"But my life wasn't sordid enough to compete with the best sellers by narcotics addicts and sex maniacs, so I made up things," she confessed. "For example, I tell how I was a spy. You see, I always wanted to be a spy. The idea of wearing a mink coat with nothing under it winter and summer appealed to me."

Q—"Isn't that dishonest?"

A—"People are very strange. They believed that. The world is so square!"

Q—"How old are you?"

A—(Hermione registered astonishment) — "Darling, have you gone mad!"

Q—"Why shouldn't you mention your age?"

A—"All right. What should I say, about 53? Oh, that's too old! How about 45. Now I'll have to remember I'm 45." Hermione became, for a moment, almost serious. "The American fear of maturity is one thing I don't understand. I used to say to John Murray Anderson"—who directed her in "Almanac"—" 'Why don't you have my age put up over your box office?' "

Q—"But I repeat why does it matter if you tell your age?"

A—(resignedly)—"Because I'm so old, sweetie! They'd have to put a doctor in attendance."

"Hollywood," she said, speaking of her movie career, "is really a nutty place. A man comes up to you and says, 'I'm a narcotics addict.'

"People say New York is a nice place to visit, but I disagree. I think New York is a terrible place to visit, but a wonderful place to live. When you live here you can have a wonderful leisure. And the rest of the country—we would call them the provinces in England—are so much more hep than it used to be in the provinces at home."

Q—"Do you know that England is now the most decadent place in the world, with the most astonishing daytime strip-tease clubs, hordes of streetwalkers and general wickedness making London the widest-open city anywhere?"

A—"Really? I must go back!"

EARL'S PEARLS: Bob Hope said it: "If you watch a game, it's fun. If you play it, it's recreation. If you work at it, it's golf." . . . That's earl, brother.

Writers Down to Earth for Final Fashion Peek

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

NEW YORK—After soaring serenely above the earth at a speed of 600 miles an hour to view a fashion show, we were a little "let down" for today's showings.

MRS. CLEMENCE

As guests of the Wool Bureau and American Airlines, we were flown to Washington, D.C., where we circled briefly, and then were returned for an "after-jet" dinner party.

As we conclude Press Week sponsored by the Couture group of the New York Dress Institute, we review the silhouette for spring.

Significant is the fact that this season marks the return of the fitted bodice, natural waistline and the shirtwaist dress.

Also important is the trend toward shorter jackets, shorter sleeves and off-the-neckline collars for suits.

Cardiac specialists have cried for it and fashion is prepared—for walking. Suits, although slim skirted, are designed to take you where you want to go by foot.

Important also in this age of travel are fabrics. They are adapted for lunch on the West Coast, dinner in the South and supper along Broadway—all in a day, of course. They're packable; versatile and light weight.

Dinner dresses with brief jackets become around-the-clock costumes.

SPECIAL COLORS

Gay prints and deep solid colors will have a place on the fashion horizon this spring. Greens, blues and lilac are special colors with black, white and gray very important.

The dress and costume dress for the woman with the petite figure highlighted today's fashions. This is a dress based on figure, not age.

Designers also stressed the "pretty girl" look today with high poised waistlines and often bouffant skirts. Especially feminine was the Gainsborough grouping from Junior Sophisticates.

In a price range most of us can afford, these pretty party dresses of linen with lace accents are very refreshing. They are done in sheaths, shirtwaists and full skirts with camisole tops in a delicate ivory.

Betty Carol's figure-flattering designs have both the urban dash and country freshness. Sheaths and shirtwaist dresses in prints and solid colors, checks and stripes stress the shape of 1959.

In keeping with the age of travel, Mr. Mort has a collection which will fit into any suitcase. The sheath is still the choice, but occasionally a little shirtwaist with a full skirt pops up for applause.

PRINCESS LINES

Full skirts and princess lines add up to Suzy Perette, who believes there's no fashion more exciting than a pretty woman. Big sashes and belts emphasize the natural waistline.

We hope you like the new look. We do. It's been a long time since models have looked so good—they're really slim again.

When you read this, we'll be aboard the USS Independence for a tour and dinner party, wnding up the 32nd Press Week held in New York.

Jane Derby combines white men's wear with gray flannel for this dress and jacket costume. The pleated skirt is attached to a sleeveless, white linen bodice under a white short jacket.

Greet Guests at Door

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I live on the third floor of a large apartment house. It is a walk-up apartment. When we have visitors they ring the bell in the lobby before coming upstairs. I would like to know if I should then open the door to our apartment and wait at the open door to greet them, or do I wait until they arrive outside our door and knock, before opening it"

Answer: Unless you are occupied entertaining other visitors who have already arrived, it is more cordial to greet those coming to see you at your opened door.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We are preparing to send out invitations to our daughter's forthcoming marriage. On our list is a family of five—mother, father, two daughters and a son, all living together. Should each member of this adult family receive a separate invitation, or may all five be included on one?"

Answer: The father and mother (Mr. and Mrs. So-and-so) and the daughters below the parents (The Misses So-and-so) on one envelope. A separate invitation is sent to the son.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I will soon be celebrating my eighteenth birthday and plan on having a birthday party. I would like very much to invite the boy who lives next door to us to this party, but would like your opinion before doing so. We have never been introduced to each other but we do say 'Hello' whenever we meet and he seems very friendly. My mother says he will think me very forward."

Answer: I think it would be entirely proper for you to say, "I am giving a party on Saturday and I would like to have you come to it." It is certainly not very personal to invite him to a party.

Mom Sees Peril in Marriage to Diabetic

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who has one more year of college left. I'm in love with a reliable boy who has already graduated. He wants to marry me when I graduate but my parents object to him for a reason he cannot help. He has diabetes. He explained that his diabetes is "under control" but my parents think I am taking a big risk by marrying a diabetic. They tell me I will be a "diet cook" and a "nurse" for the rest of my life. I love this boy, Abby. What can I do?" UPSET

ABBY

DEAR UPSET: Your parents should have a long talk with the boy's doctor to find out how severe his case is. Diabetes can be "controlled." When your parents know more about it they will be less prejudiced.

DEAR WILBUR: Five cents.

"DEAR ABBY: At Christmas time my husband's boss gave our 5-year-old boy a puppy. I know nothing about training dogs and my husband travels so he's no help. The gift has been more trouble and expense than it's worth. He's spotted my carpet and is teething on the legs of my dining room chairs. My husband is afraid if we give it away his boss might find out.

"To make matters worse, our son is getting attached to this puppy. I wish you'd tell us what to do. Also, put this in the paper to wake up folks who mean well but cause others headaches by giving them a gift they can't refuse but find almost impossible to keep." STUCK

DEAR STUCK: If you don't know how to train or care for a pet, either take the trouble to learn—or give the pet to someone who will. Living creatures should be given only to those who sincerely want them and will care for them properly. People should think twice before giving away puppies and kittens. This goes for baby chicks and rabbits at Easter, too.

"DEAR ABBY: I have a teenage daughter who insists on washing her hair every single night! We've had many heated arguments over this, but she won't listen to me. If you feel as I do that it is not good for the hair to be washed every night, I wish you would say something about it in your column. Maybe you can convince her."

DEAR EXHAUSTED: Expert hairdressers agree that excessive shampooing can be harmful to the hair. Don't work yourself up into a lather every night and I advise your daughter to follow the same advice.

Kim Novak, Perry Como Score a Hit at Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government business came close to a standstill for a few minutes at the White House Friday. Kim Novak and Perry Como showed up.

The blonde screen actress and the suave television singer represented their industries in presenting President Eisenhower with a membership in Variety Clubs International, an organization of entertainers.

CAUSE BIG STIR

The arrival of Miss Novak and Como brought women secretaries and other office workers scurrying to the west wing White House lobby from all directions.

At one point it looked like one of those parties of grade school youngsters where all the girls are crowed in one corner and all the boys in another.

The women secretaries paid scant attention to Miss Novak. Instead they swarmed around Como, plying him with questions and getting his autograph.

KIM NOT IGNORED

But the pretty Miss Novak wasn't ignored by any means. The male reporters kept her from getting lonesome.

After the session with Eisenhower, Miss Novak reported that he was friendly and charming, and that he showed her and Como photographs of his four grandchildren, his mother, and other members of the family.

Miss Novak also chatted with the president about his painting. She, too, is an amateur artists.

Eisenhower and Como had something in common in their golf. They discussed the merits of various kinds of clubs.

NO NEED TO SING

The president then went on to tell Como that he had had an offer to do a television show. Como had no detail on that, but added with reference to his own show:

"I told the president I know of one show he'd have no trouble getting on."

"But can he sing" a newsman asked.

"He wouldn't have to," Como chuckled.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnoldi of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Douglas, to Harry E. Durbin, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Durbin of Birmingham. Mr. Durbin attends Michigan State University and is a member of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

Female Scientists on the Job

If Man Reaches Moon, He Can Thank Women

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Women may not be driving man to the moon, but a lot certainly are helping in efforts to put him there.

Women scientists and researchers add a feminine touch to programs sending satellites and rockets aloft to explore the mysteries of space. They are astronomers, biologists, physicists, mathematicians, chemists, draftsmen, physiologists and audiologists—to name a few classifications.

Besides running homes and raising families, these women are charting "road maps" to the moon; designing electronic brains for missiles and rockets; developing foods for space-chamber dining; computing orbits for man-made satellites, analyzing cosmic rays and drafting missile parts.

CHARTS SPACE MAPS

Nancy includes among her tasks charting "road-maps" to the moon. Working with an 84-foot radio telescope, the largest of its kind in the world, she supplies for persons tracking rockets through space, data to help differentiate man-made projectiles from natural phenomena in the wide open spaces.

Inter-service rivalry takes a back seat to science where her work is concerned. One recent customer for one of Nancy's road-maps was the Army, before the launching of Pioneer III.

Nancy also measures temperatures on the moon at different wave lengths to find out what the surface of the moon is like—"fairly important if we ever get there."

Or take Women's Air Force Maj. Elizabeth "Betsy" Guild. Stationed as an audiologist at the Wright Air Development Center's Aeromedical Laboratory, Dayton, O., she has flown more than 100 hours in high-speed jet aircraft, measuring noise levels at super-sonic speed.

Her concern is not only psychological—how noise effects pilots and crews—but practical—how to retain effective radio communication in spite of screaming engine or wind noises.

Her work one day may help make that trip to the moon a quieter one for the traveler.

Another space woman is Mrs. Helen Hayes, who got into space work via the ocean. Formerly an oceanographist with the Fish and Wildlife Service studying oyster life in Chesapeake Bay, she now keeps a biologist's eye on navy research contractors, experimenting with getting oxygen to future spacemen by the same manner that oysters get it; oxygen-producing algae.

Scientific assistant to the chief of the Biology Branch of the Office of Naval Research, Mrs. Hayes saw to it that yeast experiment samples went up with the Navy's Vanguard to measures gasseous exchanges during the flight.

Dr. Lillian A. McNally, WAF first lieutenant, keeps busy as a chemical engineer at the Air Force missile test site at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., developing fuels and oxidizers for rocket propellants.

Don't Neglect Shampoos

Cleanliness Still Comes First

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women who touch up their hair are likely to let too much time elapse between shampoos. Just because you are beguiled with the lovely new color, do not neglect your usual good grooming habits.

It is true that the indiscriminate use of strong bleaches and dyes may be drying but well cared for hair can remain vital and healthy through years of cosmetic color changes. Touchups or not, do not neglect to shampoo your hair as often as is needed.

How often this is varies, depending on the amount of natural oil on the scalp and hair. Once a week is right for many women while others who have extremely oily hair may require a shampoo every three or four days. On the other hand, every 10 to 12 days may be best for some. This is true when the hair is very dry.

Whether you wash your own hair or have it done at a beauty salon be sure that it is brushed well first. This stirs up circulation and helps remove the first film of oil. Apply the shampoo only after your hair is completely wet. Massage the suds into your scalp as well as into your hair.

Lather twice and rinse at least twice in between sudsing. You can tell when your hair is clean and free of soap when it squeaks between your fingers.

Well-cared-for hair can remain vital and healthy through years of cosmetic color changes.

Very oily hair may require more suds and more rinsing than drier locks. Massage before the shampoo, and in between times as a daily habit, is beneficial to both oily and dry hair since this tends to normalize the little oil glands in the scalp. If your hair is dry, touch the ends with a bit of oil or hair lotion after it dries following the shampoo.

Gray hair is extremely smart and becoming to many women. However, the woman with gray hair must be even more careful about the care of her hair if it is to be attractive. Gray hair looks even worse than darker hair when it is neglected. More frequent dunkings are indicated.

The yellow tinge which some gray hair takes on is a problem for many women. This of course is most unalluring. However a blue rinse will hide this. The trick is to use just enough to hide the yellow but not enough to make you appear blue headed.

Most of the beauty aids which produce such lovely results are quite simple, and good old-fashioned cleanliness is one of the best of all complexion and hair aids.

You Bet!

All That Glitters Gold?

Looking like a beauty at gay parties this year is no trouble at all. For gold has come to your aid in the form of jewelry, fabrics and even nail polish and lipstick.

The nail polish is a true molten gold which gives your nails shimmering sparkle. It goes on quickly and easily to give you beautiful hands all evening long. Matching lipstick is actually a red shot with golden undertones. It's neither pure red nor orange but a dash of each and pure flattery to blondes, redheads and brunettes.

Try wearing an emerald eyeshadow with this gold glitter. You'll find the effect a pretty one. But remember, such hijinks are for evening only. You won't rate compliments if you turn up at luncheon, a tea or the office glittering with gold. Actually, it's no more to be considered than wearing an evening gown and satin pumps in the middle of the day.

Use Fruit Box for Baby Tray

Make an inexpensive after-bath baby tray to put all baby needs together at mother's fingertips and in one place. An ordinary fruit box from the vegetable store that plums and cherries come in will do.

Paint it with two coats of non-toxic paint, decorate it with cut-outs from baby cereal boxes, and line with felt. Fill the box with diapers and after-bath baby needs.

Pace of Later Years Changes and Slows

By RUTH MILLETT

Memo to the older woman who wants her later years to be rich and rewarding:

If in the past you have been a careless manager of time and energy, working in spurts, putting things off, never looking for easier ways to do routine jobs, you'll have to change your ways, and learn to pace yourself. Only by doing this will you have time for everything you want to do.

If you wish to keep old friends and to continue to make new ones, go a little more than 50-50 in doing the small, thoughtful things that nourish friendships. Plan some some things yourself instead of waiting for others to include you in their plans.

If you want to stay young in mind and spirit, continue to learn. Don't kid yourself that you are too old to learn something new.

If you want to be congenial with those who are much younger than you, cultivate a tolerance for their ideas and opinions and ways of doing things. They may not be your ways, but that doesn't necessarily mean they aren't good.

If you possibly can, keep your own roof over your head instead of moving in with a son or daughter. It will be much easier on your disposition and morale, and you'll keep your freedom.

Never miss a chance to be useful to others. It will do more to build up your self-esteem and to make you feel needed than words anyone can say to you.

Be cheerful and optimistic, instead of letting yourself get down in the dumps and become apprehensive about the future.

If you live today with good cheer, the problems of tomorrow will somehow work out.

Exciting Make-Up for Eyes

Iridescent color, in creamy stick form, is the newest way to give yourself evening eyes for after five. It's intended to deepen the color of your eyes and to add a certain sparkle and excitement.

There are two ways to apply this mist of color: in a streak at the edge of the lid, and in a luminous film over the entire lid. By experimentation, you can find out which is most becoming to you.

Generally, your eye color is a sound guide to the color of the eyeshadow you choose. But teal frost can be used for either blue or green eyes. And iridescent silver is a shade that all women can wear superbly. It's lovely with the sparkle of pearl and rhinestone jewelry. Since it makes the white of the eyes look whiter, it deepens the color of the iris by contrast.

Mauve mist is a shade that many women will want to experiment with this winter. It's lovely for wear with white or the whole range of blue or violet.

For Smooth Brow

Train your eyebrows to lie smoothly by dabbing on a bit of petroleum jelly each night. Rub out toward the temples several times.

Good Deodorizer

A little ammonia mixed with fresh water will act as a deodorizer. Allow the mixture to stand in a bowl overnight in the room or closet that needs refreshening.

Choose Larger Teething Toys

Teething babies need serviceable toys to chew on — to provide pressure for their gums, relieving pain and providing pleasure.

Be sure to choose durable, washable, teething toys which are too large to be swallowed, and with no small, detachable parts. Then keep them sanitary with hot soap or detergent suds and rinses.

Hopes for Unity of the Religions

Leader of Protestant Episcopal Church Eyes Integrated U.S. Society

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new head of the Protestant Episcopal Church says he hopes for religious unity among all Christians and a fully integrated society for Americans.

The Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, 49, son of a Wisconsin grocer, was inducted as presiding bishop Wednesday in a ritual of pageantry and prayer in Washington Cathedral.

He expressed his views in a sermon at the installation service and in a news conference which preceded it.

Bishop Lichtenberger is the 21st clergyman to hold the highest ecclesiastical and administrative office of the church founded in 1789.

Nearly 3,000 of the denomination's more than three million communicants attended the installation ceremony.

Retiring Bishop Henry Knox Sherill inducted Bishop Lichtenberger.

At a news conference Bishop Lichtenberger called desegregation a moral issue but said the country should move "as quickly and quietly as we can into a fully integrated society." In doing this, he added, Americans should recognize "extremely difficult" situations existing in the South.

Oakland Youth Rally Tonight

Bible Quiz to Continue Between Perry Park and Memorial Baptists

The Rev. E. H. DuBois, pastor of Andersonville Community Church, will be the speaker at the Oakland Youth Fellowship Rally at 7:30 tonight in Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, 404 Oakland Ave.

During his 34 years of ministry, he has worked with the Starr Commonwealth for Boys as well as with children in rural areas.

The Oakland Youth Fellowship Quartet and Trumpet Trio will present selections and Nancy Tanner will sing a solo. Bob Lilleyman and Bob Kitely will play an organ and piano duet.

The Tic-Tac-Toe Bible Quiz between Perry Park Baptist young people and those from Memorial Baptist Church will be continued. This will be a playoff of the tie on Dec. 27.

Young people of the Andersonville church have won the attendance award for the past two rallies. Fifty-two were present on Dec. 27. If the group manages to take the award tonight, it will be given to them to keep, Glyn Stone, a director said.

Slate Leadership Training for Oakland Ave. Church

Pioneer Girls Leadership Training will be held in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. on January 22, 23, and 29 and 30.

Miss Mary Ann Lindblade of Royal Oak, the Pioneer Girl field representative, will be in charge each evening.

A sound film in color, "Pioneer Girls in Action," will be shown Thursday. Other programs will include instruction in crafts, games, camp, the weekly meeting, finance and missionary work.

Pioneer Girls is an interdenominational club similar in interest and accomplishment to other national girls' organizations but with a Christ centered program.

Churches in the Pontiac area which have the program are the First Baptist Churches in Clarkston, Lake Orion, Rochester, and Pontiac.

The Marimont Baptist and Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Churches of Pontiac are also included.

According to Mrs. Robert F. Dohner, a local leader, more than 36,000 girls throughout the United States and Canada are members of the organization.

Sunday School Class to Hear Missionary

Miss Janet Davis, missionary to the Philippines, will be the speaker when the adult Sunday School class of Calvary Baptist Church meets tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cogswell, 2510 Sunhill Rd., at 7:30.

A graduate of Prairie Bible Institute in Alberta, Canada, Miss Davis is here on a missionary internship program.

For several weeks members of Calvary Baptist have been worshipping in the new sanctuary. Although the church interior has not been completed nor the building dedicated, Sunday School attendance already requires more room.

Plans are presently under consideration for adding nine new classrooms on the east side of the building.

"Why Have a Bible?"
Many indorse the idea that it doesn't matter what a person believes . . . but if it doesn't, why have a Bible? The Bible wasn't given to make man religious but to make man religiously right. Acts 17:22 23. The Bible is God's guide book for man. Without it man has no guide. No Bible, then no true guide in religious matters. Thousands believe the Bible, the Holy scriptures, to be the word of God. They believe they are inspired and infallible but they do not believe what the scriptures say. In the days of Jesus, the Jews believed Moses was the mediator of the law and that he wrote the pentatruch, but they did not believe what Moses wrote. Jesus said in Jon. 5:45-47 that they believed not what Moses wrote. Many who believe the Bible to be the word of God believe not what is written in the Bible. The word of God says, "Repent and, be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins." Act. 2:38. Do you believe it? Man says it is not for the remission of sins. Does it matter which I believe? The scriptures teach that baptism is immersion. Rom. 6:4. Man says it is sprinkling or pouring. Which do you believe? The scriptures teach man is not justified by faith only. Jas. 2:24. Men say by faith only. Does it matter whether a man accepts or rejects what God has said and has written? I believe it does. For God's word is to be believed and obeyed. Heb. 5:8-9. Believest thou this?

PCH Holds Top Ranking by Trimming Flint Northern, 57-49

Pontiac Central Stays Unbeaten in League Play

Chiefs Hold 20 Point Margin in Final Four Minutes of Game

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Pontiac Central showed its poise as the number-one ranked class A team in Michigan by whipping second-ranked Flint Northern, 57-49, before a jammed crowd on the PCH court last night.

The Chiefs started fast and Northern never got within serious striking distance as Charley Barge and John Bandy scored all 23 points in the first quarter for PCH.

Barge hit on six of eight shots in the first period and finished the first half with 18 of his 29 points. Bandy had 13 in the first period and between them the pair combined for 31 of the 36 points PCH had at halftime.

The 12-point margin after the first period, 23-11, was the widest until the fourth quarter, as the Chiefs cooled off in the second quarter and did not hit a field goal until 3:43 to go at halftime. It was 36-30 at intermission.

Neither team could put together any sustained scoring spree in the third quarter as Pontiac got nine points and Northern six.

But in the 4th quarter, the Chiefs started with an 11 point spread and with four minutes left to play it was 57-37.

Coach Art Van Ryzin started clearing his bench and Northern scored every point thereafter as the Chief reserves failed to score in the last four minutes.

Barge, who has only one more game left against Saginaw on the PCH court next Friday before mid-year graduation, moved his point total to 129 points in six games.

It was his second 29-point output of the season. He hit the same number against Catholic Central earlier this season.

Bandy played his best defensive and board game of the season as he pulled down 11 rebounds, but the unsung hero of the contest was Bill Hayward, 6-2 junior who put a defensive net on Northern's ace John Gillian.

Hayward held Gillian to only four points, before leaving the game, and the Viking collected six more for a total of 10 in the final moments.

Van Ryzin started George Fed in place of Harrison Munson in a surprise move and the 6-3 sophomore, although he did not score, was Pontiac's big board man in the first part of the game. He hauled down seven rebounds.

The Chiefs' out-rebounded Northern 40-29 and this was a big factor in as much as the Vikings have depended on strong board work this seaon in getting two and three shots at the basket each time.

Pontiac Central, after shooting 44 per cent in the first half, finished with 35 per cent. Northern also had a bad second half and finished with 29 per cent from the floor.

The victory preserved Pontiac's position as the top team in the state and gave the Chiefs sole possession of first place in the Saginaw Valley with a 4-0 record.

In other league contests last night, Arthur Hill whipped Bay City Central, 61-56, and Flint Central romped Saginaw, 80-52.

Dondero moved into a 16-14 lead at the end of the 1st quarter and led the Tractors the rest of the way in their battle at Royal Oak. Mike Joyce swished 25 points for Dondero while Emil DeGrazia topped Fordson with 14.

THEIR VOICES RAISE—Mid-year graduates at Pontiac Central raised their voices to sing the praises for the state's number one class A basketball team last night in the PCH gym where the Chiefs toppled Flint Northern, 57-49. One of their graduating classmates who will play his last game next Friday night against Saginaw will be guard Charley Barge who scored 29 points last night. A capacity throng watched the Chiefs lead all the way in posting their 6th straight, and 4th without a loss in the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Walled Lake Unable to Stop Berkley

East Detroit Pulls Out 41-40 Win Over Kimball

East Detroit really had its hands full in its own back yard but the Shamrocks rallied for a 41-40 triumph over winless Royal Oak Kimball Friday night in an Eastern Michigan League basketball contest.

Ernie Kesckes and Carl Richter were the heroes. Kesckes sank a jump shot to force a 39-39 tie and Richter potted two foul shots in the final 35 seconds for the margin of victory.

Vikings Routed by Inter-Lakes Leaders, 56-37

Waterford Loses 44-43 Decision to Van Dyke; Farmington Nips Jays

Walled Lake's ambitions of upsetting powerful Berkley were squelched in no uncertain terms Friday night when the rangy Bears delivered a 56-37 knockout punch at Walled Lake to headline the Inter-Lakes Conference basketball program.

Luckless Waterford dropped another one-point heartbreaker, this time a 44-43 loss to Van Dyke Lincoln, and Farmington stunned Southfield with a 62-58 upset win to complete last night's Inter-Lakes schedule.

Walled Lake ran into the same Berkley buzz-saw that had cut down six previous opponents and the Bears made the Vikings victim No. 7 to take a giant stride towards their 4th Inter-Lakes title in a row.

Shooting nearly 50 per cent from the floor in the 1st half, the unbeaten Bears raced to a 13-2 bulge at the end of the 1st quarter and Walled Lake never came close to catching them.

Four Berkley cagers broke into double figures with tall Dave Burris topping the parade on 18 points. Bob Smith was the scoring leader for the Vikings with 13.

Despite missing 18 out of 21 field goal attempts in the 4th period, Waterford managed to seize the lead for the 1st time in the last minute of the finale, only to see victory hopes die at the free throw stripe.

Dale Mahrle's basket with a minute to go gave the Skippers a 43-42 edge, the 1st time they had been ahead all night long. Then Van Dyke's George Hatch bagged two foul tosses with 30 seconds remaining to wrap up the verdict for the home team.

The Skippers were just as cold yesterday as they were hot Tuesday when they ran up 80 points at Pontiac Northern's expense. They trailed the Abes by margins of two to eight points until the closing minute.

Larry Bowen meshed 13 points and Mahrle added 10 as the Skippers suffered their 5th setback in seven games. Hatch netted 14 for Van Dyke.

Farmington dealt Southfield's title chances a crushing blow on the Farmington court. The Jays as well as Walled Lake now trail Berkley by two full games.

Southfield's last-second rally died on a missed layup shot which would have tied the score at 60-60 and Farmington's Ken Cobb bagged two free tosses after time had run out to furnish the final four-point cushion.

Cobb sparked the Farmington attack with 22 points while Cliff Solberg clicked for 18 in Southfield's losing cause.

Oakland-B Has Troy as Only Unbeaten Team

Avondale Gains 66-51 Victory Over Madison for 2nd Win

Things got tighter in the Oakland-B race as Lake Orion handed Fitzgerald its first loss, 55-51, of the season and Troy remained unbeaten by squeaking by Clawson, 45-43, last night.

A bucket by Barry Sill just as the buzzer sounded ended a wild affair at Lake Orion and moved the Dragons into a second place tie with Fitzgerald.

In another loop contest, Avondale pulled out of a 13-7 deficit in the first quarter to trounce Madison 66-51.

Most of the action in the Lake Orion game took place in the final 11 seconds. The Dragons led all the way until Ken Burgess of Fitzgerald tied it 53-53 on a free throw.

Burgess then stole the ball and with seven seconds to play he was fouled while shooting. He made the second try to give Fitzgerald a 54-53 lead.

Orion quickly brought the ball down court and Sill hit his shot from the corner for the clincher.

Sill finished with 19 points including nine field goals out of 19 attempts. Jim Recknagle added 18.

Avondale led 33-26 at halftime then broke the game wide open with a 24 point third period.

Gary Acker had 22 for the winners and Rick Moos the same number for the losers.

At Clawson, 8th-ranked Troy was pressed all the way as the game was tied 27-27, 29-29, 37-37.

The Colts then made it 39-37 and Forest Culp then added two free throws to clinch the game.

Don Harned was Troy's high man with 22.

North Branch Nips Ortonville

Imlay Whips Oxford, 75-65

There were a few moments in the 1st quarter at Imlay City last night when underdog Oxford envisioned an upset of the unbeaten Spartans, but coach Lyle Powers' cagers had other ideas.

The Wildcats enjoyed brief leads in the opening period, but they could not hold down the high-powered Imlay attack and bowed to the tune of 75-65 in Friday's South Central Conference headliner.

Imlay forged into a 16-13 lead at the end of the 1st stanza and kept in front the rest of the way. The closest Oxford could come to catching the mighty Spartans was a five-point difference in the final quarter.

Oxford's Doug Stott made his contribution to the cause, but it still wasn't enough. Stott poured 30 points through the hoop on nine field goals and 12 out of 13 from the free throw line.

Three Imlay players hit double figures with Jim Ward heading the list on 26 points. It was Imlay's 39th consecutive regular season victory. Imlay, rated No. 3 in the State Class C poll, now stands 4-0 in the league and 7-0 altogether. Oxford is 1-2 in the loop and 2-6 overall.

Ortonville went down to its 3rd straight South Central defeat yesterday when Ralph Deshetsky fired a field goal in the last 50 seconds to win for North Branch, 49-47. Deshetsky, a 6-foot-3½ junior, connected after grabbing a rebound.

Mike Patrick with 17 points and Don Nellenbach with 15 were tops for North Branch. Ted Follis threw in 15 points for Ortonville.

Two foul shots by Jim Loesel in the final 20 seconds handed Frankenmuth a 52-50 win over Millington of the South Central in a non-conference game. Bill Sawyer and Ned Lockwood each tallied 14 points for Millington.

Maple Tankers Tie Record, Lose Meet

Although they tied one pool record at Ann Arbor High, last night and captured two other firsts, Birmingham High's swim crew was outscored by their unbeaten hosts, 53-43. Win was Ann Arbor's 4th of the season, its 15th consecutive dual meet win in three years.

Maples' 200-yard freestyle relay team of Les Harber, Jim Elliott, Bob Sintz, Bill Buick equalled the pool mark of 1:36.2. Pete Palmer won the 50-yard freestyle in :24.5, and Buick took the 100-yard freestyle in :55.5.

Lamphere Edged, 35-34

An 18-point scoring effort by Frank DeSantis was not quite enough last night as the Lamphere basketball team lost a 35-34 squeaker to Clintondale on the latter's court. Friday night's scheduled game between Country Day and Harper Woods was postponed.

Lions Still Undefeated

Doug Kinne's 10 points sparked South Lyon's well balanced offense Friday night as the Lions crushed Dexter, 45-23, in a League of the Lakes basketball game at South Lyon. The victory was South Lyon's 6th of the season against no defeats.

Clarkston Falls 76-68; Milford Tastes Victory

W. Bloomfield Falters in Final Quarter to Lose, 52-49

Brighton's competition in the Wayne-Oakland League temporarily narrowed down to Holly and Clarenceville as Clarkston and West Bloomfield both fell by the wayside last night, and Milford won its first game of the season by tripping Bloomfield Hills, 56-49.

Holly won its third league game and 6th in eight starts by whipping Clarkston, 76-68, while West Bloomfield fell to Clarenceville, 52-49.

Brighton made 4-0 in the league and 7-2 for the season in spanking Northville, 75-61.

Holly had four balanced quarters and four players in double figures in beating Clarkston. George McDaniel led the Broncos with 26 points.

Clarkston got within four in the final quarter but Holly pulled away to stay.

West Bloomfield held the lead until the last six minutes when Clarenceville moved to a 43-42 lead. Both teams matched baskets but Clarenceville went into a stall in the last three minutes and hit two easy layups to clinch it.

Cliff Simons with 22 for the winners and Barry Johnson's 16 for the Lakers paced the scoring.

Bloomfield tied the count at 29-29 in the third quarter but Milford hit quickly to regain the lead and win its first game in eight starts this season, with Whitman and Sheffler each getting 13.

Northville had a 10-0 lead, but Brighton started hitting in the second quarter and had a 36-36 lead midway in the third quarter.

Balanced scoring with Sean Lavan's 22, Don Appleton's 14, Russ Hudson's 13 and Jim Paddock's 10 was a big factor for Brighton.

Schwarze had 18 and Starnes 15 for Northville.

Rochester Wards Off Romeo Threat, 53-45

Rochester wasn't completely up to par, but the long layoff didn't prevent the Falcons from staying in the undefeated basketball ranks.

Playing for the first time since before the holidays, the Falcons opened their drive for the Tri-County League crown with a hard-earned 53-45 victory over Romeo last night at Rochester.

Lapeer, finally beginning to "jell" a little better for new head coach Gene Hepinstall, started its Tri-County campaign yesterday with a 66-47 rout of L'Anse Creuse at Lapeer.

With beefy Chuck Ebersole and lanky Gene Lothery in the driver's seats, the Rochester quintet turned back the challenge of aggressive Romeo.

Ebersole starred on the boards and also took individual game scoring honors with 18 points on four field goals and 10 out of 11 free tosses. Lothery was close behind with 17.

Romeo had more height, but the determined Falcons survived their 1st league crisis to post their 6th straight victory. Eugene Hohf was a key figure in their winning 4th period drive with three fielders on jump shots.

Romeo held brief leads in the 1st period and pulled even at 21-21 in the 2nd stanza before falling behind at the half, 25-22. The Falcons hiked their lead to 10 in the 3rd quarter, then had the margin cut back to three before staging their 4th period spurt to ice the verdict.

Chuck Peterson and Dave Watterson each scored 10 points to pace the Romeo attack. Romeo's record now reads 1-1 in the Tri-County and 3-3 overall.

L'Anse Creuse was never in the game with Lapeer as the Mt. Clemens school absorbed its 2nd league defeat and 3rd in six starts. The loser's Skip Winnright took point-making laurels with 16. Ed Marshall notched 13 for Lapeer as the Panthers won their 3rd decision in seven games.

Dryden Slips Past Capac

Almont Comes Back, 49-43

The Southern Thumb League basketball race was tangled in a three-way scramble for 1st place today following Almont's 49-43 conquest of previously unbeaten Anchor Bay last night.

Almont, Anchor Bay and New Haven are now deadlocked for the lead with 4-1 records. New Haven gained its share of the top spot by crushing Armada, 73-37.

Trailing at the half, Dryden bounced back for a 50-36 victory over Capac in another Thumb contest. Yesterday's other scheduled league game between Brown City and Memphis was postponed until Feb. 3 due to poor highway conditions.

Almont, an unexpected 43-42 victim of Dryden last week, rebounded to upset Anchor Bay's applecart behind the deadly shooting of Jim Ostrander, Dave Bishop and Don Eschenburg.

Ostrander tossed in 18 points, Bishop 12 and Eschenburg 10. Jim Rivard caged 15 for Anchor Bay.

There was no stopping New Haven as four players hit double figures with Nate Petty showing the way on 18 points. Armada's Terry Wills took game scoring honors with 20.

Carl Grondin tallied a dozen points for Dryden, which moved in front for keeps in the 4th quarter. Jerry Kersden scored 14 in Capac's losing cause.

Vikings Edge Chief Tankers

Up against a sharp Flint Northern swim team yesterday, Pontiac Central High's club dropped a close Valley Conference meet at Flint, 51-45. Chiefs missed verdict on every close race, but managed five firsts nevertheless. Wins included Bruce Norvell's breaststroke win, to keep his unbroken string of victories intact.

New Aide and Boss Elliott Old Teammates; Chalmers Leaves Army

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Two pals and former teammates will head up the University of Michigan's football strategy of the future.

Henry (Hank) Fonde, teammate of new head coach Chalmers (Bump) Elliott on the 1947 Michigan Rose Bowl champions, was named Wolverine backfield coach yesterday.

One of the state's most successful prep coaches, Fonde, 35, was taken from Ann Arbor High School where in 10 years he had compiled a brilliant record.

Obviously, Michigan hopes for much success from the Elliott-Fonde combination to balance off lean recent seasons.

"He (Fonde) has got so used to a winning way that we hope he will carry it over with him," said a Michigan spokesman.

At Ann Arbor High, Fonde's teams won nine 6-A League championships including four perfect seasons and three others without defeat. The teams won 69 games, lost six and tied four.

The university gave Fonde a one-year appointment in the formal capacity of instructor in physical education and assistant football coach.

City Mat Teams Divide

The city high school wrestling teams divided matches held yesterday.

Pontiac Northern overcame deficits of 10-2 and 16-7 to down Royal Oak Dondero 24-18 at home matching a Central win over the same school last week.

The Huskies are now 3-2 in dual action.

Pontiac Central bowed to powerful Lansing Sexton 38-6 at Lansing. Sam Wescombe and Duke Relyea scored the only PCH points on decisions.

Rams, St. Mary Score Easy Wins

Eaglets Wing to 6th Straight League Victory

Stop St. James 64-36; St. Frederick Defeats Crusaders 52-40

By H. GUY MOATS

St. Frederick from Pontiac, and Orchard Lake St. Mary cagers Friday night climbed on the scoring wagon and rolled along to resounding victories in Suburban Catholic League competition.

The Rams entertained visiting St. Clement with a display of balanced team scoring, compiling a 52-40 victory, their 5th against a single defeat. Ten of the 11 players who got in the tilt contributed to the count.

While the Pontiac club was collecting its win, St. Mary was having an easy time recording its 6th straight league victory, 64-36, over Ferndale St. James.

The Eaglets' scoring twins, Chet Wlodkowski and Glenn Hass enjoyed their 2nd consecutive "big night," accounting for exactly the total of the entire Ferndale crew (36 points). Chet dumped in 19, Glenn 17. Eight of nine Eaglets figured in the scoring. Tim Mulcaster's 10 led the losers.

Two fast baskets by Hass set the Eaglets off to a 7-point first period edge at 13-6. They went on to boost each previous period, 15-17, and 19 in the finale.

After setting up a 24-10 halftime count over the Crusaders, St. Frederick coach Gene Wright tossed in his entire bench which continued to score well. Tom Derocher set the Rams' scoring pace with 11, but game honors went to sturdy Ron VanHulle of Crusaders, with 14. Ron flipped in six goals in the final period to pull his team within seven points of the Rams.

Steve Pocs bagged a pair of foul shots, Joe Keller and Pocs each added a basket to regain the long lead as time ran out.

Mike Reed in his first start as a varsity member, dunked three baskets, handled himself well.

Crusaders gave Rams a lesson in handling offensive rebounds getting 33 to 8 for their hosts. Rams were better with defensive rebounds, 27 to 14.

In one other SCL game RO St. Mary edged St. Rita 49-43, led by Bill Crawford with 16 points. Larry Bucic had 11 for losers;

Pat McLaughlin and Jack Moores each hit 16 points to pace Shrine to a 77-43 win over Lourdes, and AA St. Thomas defeated Farmington OLS 65-46.

2nd Segregation Episode Occurs

NBA in Mixup Again

CHARLESTOWN, W.Va. (AP)—The National Basketball Assn. found itself involved in another segregation episode today following the refusal of Elgin Baylor, Minneapolis' rookie scoring ace, to suit up for a game here with Cincinnati last night.

Baylor, apparently miffed when he and two Negro teammates were refused permission to stay in a hotel at which the rest of the team had reservations, didn't appear in uniform although he was on the bench during the pre-game warmup. Cincinnati won the game 95-91.

Neither the former Seattle All-America or Coach John Kundla would comment on the reason why the Lakers' top scorer was on the sidelines.

To questions, Kundla replied, "Ask him." Baylor responded with "ask the coach."

When Minneapolis checked in at the hotel, Kundla protested upon learning that Baylor and Minneapolis' two other Negro players, Alex Boo Ellis and Ed Fleming, had reservations elsewhere. The Minneapolis coach then moved the entire team to the hotel where the Negro players were to be quartered. Ellis and Fleming both played.

William S. Bolden, manager of the Charleston Civic Center, said he advised Kundla last month that the Negro players would not be quartered in the same hotel available to the other Lakers.

The American Business Club, which sponsored the game seen by 2,356, indicated it might protest Baylor's action to NBA President Maurice Podoloff.

In other NBA games last night, St. Louis snapped a five-game Syracuse winning streak 102-89 as the Hawks stretched their own streak to five, and Philadelphia tripped up high riding Boston, 105-98. Bob Pettit scored 30 for St. Louis and Woody Sauldsberry 31 for Philly.

Pontiac Ski Club Readies 3rd Slope

This weekend will mark the 2nd week's operation for Pontiac Ski Club, at Teeple Hill, in the Highland Recreation Area. Two portions of the area have been operating, with tows in use.

They will again be in use Saturday and Sunday and there was a possibility the beginners' tow on the north slope will be ready Saturday. However, it will be in use Sunday, Arthur Kollin, secretary, said today. Ski school will also meet both days.

"We were surprised last weekend when all skiers among the 60 using the area were from family groups," Kollin said.

There is no rental equipment at the area, but a snack bar is available.

Current officers include John Irwin of Farmington, president and head of the ski school at the area. Dr. Edwin Hammer of Grosse Pte. is vice president.

Name Three Possible White House Candidates

Call Younger Cabinet Men Future GOP Hopes

WASHINGTON—A lame duck Republican cabinet, held together by a last-term President, confronts an overwhelmingly Democratic Congress in this restive year before the 1960 political fray.

The going will not be easy, since next year's campaign will dominate practically every major legislative decision during the 12 months ahead.

Ailing, hard-working Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will unquestionably face an increasingly hostile Congress as he battles to hold the foreign policy line through 1960.

Even if his health permits the completion of his term—which many doubt—his public career will necessarily draw to a close with this decade.

The men to watch in the President's cabinet, therefore, are the younger, newer members whose political fates are inevitably tied to the GOP fortunes in 1960 and beyond.

At least three of them could emerge as possible White House candidates in 1964 of 1968.

Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton, regarded by many of his colleagues as the "fair-haired boy" of the President's entourage, is riding a crest of popularity with the creation of Alaska as our 49th state.

Barely 49, the former Nebraska publisher served as Secretary to GOP presidential candidate Alf Landon in his ill-starred 1936 campaign, served out an unfinished term in the Senate in 1951-52 and later became a presidential assistant to Ike.

Able and pleasant mannered, he is not only well liked on Capitol Hill, but so highly regarded by Mr. Eisenhower that he invariably appears on Ike's list of potential presidential prospects.

Firm but affable, he succeeded in charming a group which had been training some of its biggest political guns on his predecessor, Charles E. Wilson.

Portents now point to a tougher row ahead for the one-time "soap king." Democrats, armed with a landslide victory at the polls last November, are determined to increase the administration's defense budget which McElroy is pledged to defend.

Even before the election, Senate Republicans spearheaded by Policy Chairman Styles Bridges had criticized McElroy for starting an inspection trip around the world while they were trying to defend his budget against sniping Democrats.

So vigorous were their protests that the defense secretary abandoned the tour in mid-Pacific and flew home to lend his support. McElroy remains, however, a powerful voice in the government, and a man to watch at future Republican conventions.

The one-time Thomas E. Dewey aide who helped to mastermind Sen. Richard M. Nixon's first vice presidential campaign — including the now-famed "checkers" speech —is also Nixon's closest friend in the President's official family.

The Attorney General's role in the troops-to-Little Rock and integration crises has not endeared him to die-hard Southerners, but since Dixie shows little signs of becoming a two-party area anyway, this fact should help rather than hinder Rogers' potential as a sometime GOP presidential hopeful.

The man who must necessarily do most to defend the next budget, which Democrats have already dubbed "a political document," is a 56-year-old former Texas Democrats who switched to Eisenhower in 1952.

Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, a former deputy defense secretary, now calls Connecticut home, but his first notable success was his expert management of the vast Waggoner ranch in Texas.

Well-liked by such Democratic power-houses as House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson—fellow Texans—Anderson wields enormous influence with the cabinet and Congress.

Because his decisions can so vitally affect the pocketbook of every American, Anderson inescapably becomes a man to watch in 1959.

Soundless Record Boon to Haters of Rock 'n' Roll

DETROIT (UPI) — University of Detroit students have a weapon to fight back at rock and roll fans who previously filled the student union snack bar with loud music.

Students who want quiet can now buy it. The juke box has a silent record. For a dime, they can buy silence — except for a very quite beep every 15 seconds or so to let you know the machine is operating.

Mike McCann, discoverer of the silent jukebox record, said he has been besieged by the nation's collegiate jukebox listeners for copies of the silent records.

Future records will feature "sterophonic silence," he said.

He quiped:

"These will be twice as silent as regular uni-aural recordings. Also the silence will have finer nontonal qualities. The lows will be more silent, the highs less audible and the middle ranges more medium."

McCann continued, "The woofer and tweeters combined will actually give greater presence to the silence, while the bi-aural effect will increase the brilliance of the quiet."

In short, he said, his newer records will give the listener more nothing.

He said he will also have Silent Long Playing albums as records to talk by, records to sleep by, records to think by, and so on.

His records were a big hit at U. of D. He said they have had to replace them because they developed scratches which "detracted from their silent excellence."

House-Hunters Get Surprise at Model Home

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A house-hunting husband and his family drove through a new subdivision and decided to inspect the home where all the cars were parked.

They entered, wandered through the crowded living room, and at last found themselves face to face with a man in the kitchen.

"Are you the salesman?" the husband asked.

"Why, no," said William F. Hayes. "I live here. We're having a house-warming."

HAVE A DESTINATION

J. L. VOORHEES

On a certain date each year swallows touch down at a Mission in California. Those bickering little birds start from somewhere, navigate a precise course to a destination. A bees goes directly from hive to a flower-destination, loads up, and goes back to its hive like an arrow to its mark. Thousands of drivers on our super-highways speed quickly to a destination.

We have IBM machines, brains, intellect, discrimination to choose a course we like best to a destination of our choice. There is no super-super man to dictate what we must do; we can dig rock if we choose, or form that rock into a cathedral. There are no limitations except those we choose to erect. There is one destination that too few consider; that time when age will force them into a new way of life. Plan now, for a sound, well-rounded retirement. That can be a very pleasant destination.

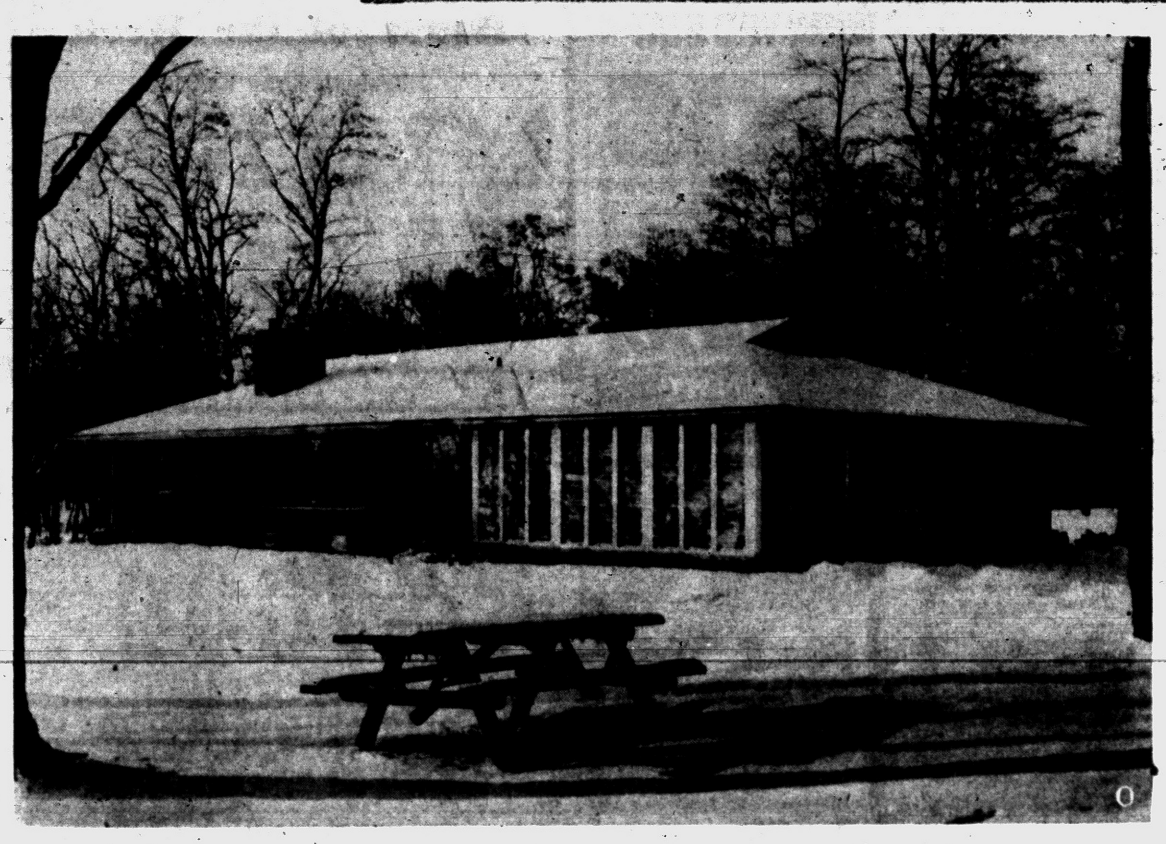
background for LIVING



ON DOW RIDGE — The Leslie Patterson home on Dow Ridge was completed about a year ago. Norman Burns of Green Lake was the builder, using a revised architect's plan. This red brick house sets in the middle of a two-and-a-half-acre lot with frontage on Orchard Lake. The Michigan porch isn't very usable at this time of year and the picnic table looks absolutely forlorn. But the views all around are beautiful.

Pontiac Press Photos by Tom Gerle

MICHIGAN PORCH — Pine paneled walls like those in the living room make this Michigan porch a summer extension of that room. Green throw rugs contrast pleasantly with the corktone tile floor. The furniture is bamboo with bright cushions. Lamps have driftwood bases. There are jalousie windows on two sides. Behind this room is the double garage.

Your Neighbor's House

Pattersons Enjoy Wooded Dow Ridge Site

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Orchard Lake Village scarcely seems like the country, but the Press photographer saw a fox run across the yard at the Dow Ridge home of the Leslie Pattersons. According to Mrs. Patterson, that is not an uncommon sight on their two and a half acres. Even the fox doesn't keep away the birds that swarm in for food in this kind of weather.

For 12 years the Pattersons were homeowners at Green Lake. A little over a year ago they moved into their new home which has frontage on Orchard Lake and an elusive view of Cass Lake.

Norman Burns of Green Lake built their brick home. We would say one of its best features is the wide expanse of glass which traps all the light and sunshine.

The main entrance is at the rear of the house. There is a good-sized, slate-floored vestibule that leads directly into the living room. On the left is the kitchen; at the right is the hall to the bedrooms.

Living-dining room and Michigan porch take up two thirds of the front of the house. Although there is heat on the porch, it is not usable in the kind of weather we have had since Thanksgiving.

There are jalousie windows on two sides. Two walls are paneled in knotty pine. The floor is corktone tile. Throw rugs are green.

Furniture is bamboo with bright cushions. Lamps have driftwood bases. We're sure this place is the favorite spot in the house all during the summer months.

At the porch end of the main room is the dining section. A small sofa marks the dividing line. Its upholstery portrays a Colonial Inn scene in greens and rose. There is a hassock to match.

BUILT-IN BUFFET

On the wall next to the kitchen door is a long built-in buffet of knotty pine to match the paneled walls in the room. There are ample cupboards both above and below the serving counter. All hardware is brass.

The carpeting is turquoise, beige and brown tweed. All chairs are maple as are the occasional tables. On one side of the fireplace book shelves are built in.

The maple slant top desk has a Windsor chair. The wing-backed sofa is upholstered in a brown and green Pennsylvania Dutch style print.

There are several interesting samplers on the wall, embroidered by Mrs. Patterson. The one above the sofa is an early map of the Great Lakes region.

JUST RIGHT

Mrs. Patterson is a small, gracious, white-haired person. Her kitchen is just right for her, combining as it does shades of pink and blue. Walls are pink, the ceiling white and the lino-

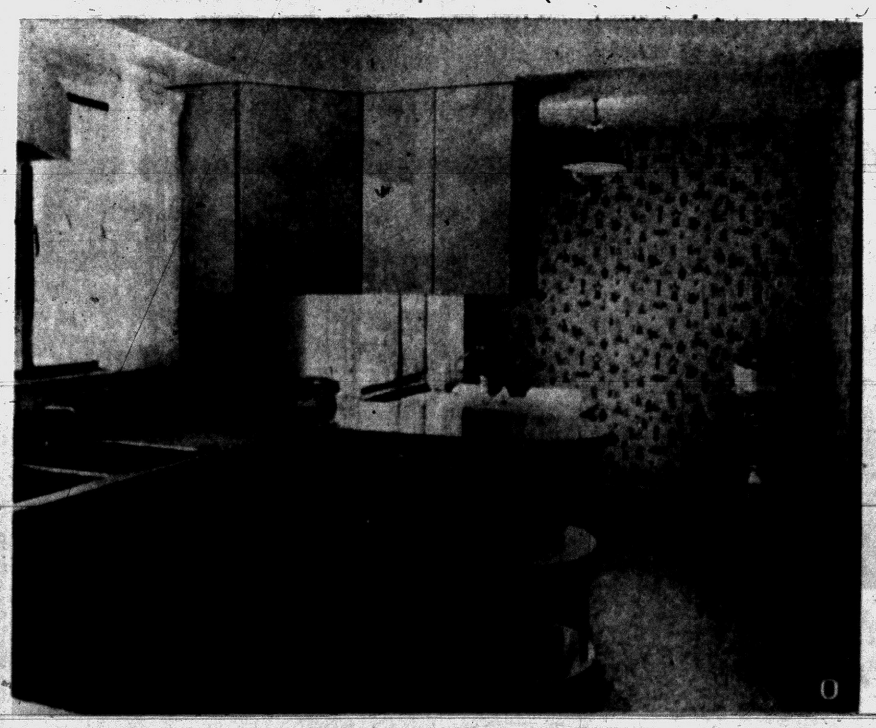
SWITCH PLATE — In the den the light switch is covered with this interesting handmade plate. The tree motif is appropriate for a home situated in the trees as the Patterson home is.



ANTIQUES ON THE WALL — One wall of the breakfast room has paper that shows all sorts of antique articles. Walls and cupboards in the kitchen area are pink (there's a pink utility room too). Floor and counter tops are a mixture of pink and blue. Even the oven and refrigerator are pink. This room is at the back of the house where it has a wooded view.

INFORMAL CHARM — Pine paneled walls, comfortable furniture and a maximum of light and air add up to pleasant living in this room. Taken from the fireplace end of the room, this view shows the dining room area and the Michigan porch beyond. The front wall of the room is green. The tweed carpeting is turquoise, beige and brown. The larger sofa on the left has a small stylized print in the upholstery; the smaller one in the middle has a colonial scene. Lamp shades have bird pictures on them. The chair at the right, the dining room chairs and all the tables are maple.

Child's Desk Is Easy to Make From Panel Door

There's no need to touch a saw to wood to make a lovely, strong desk for your child's room or study.

Just attach legs to a flush panel wood door, and place your desk against a wall, says a current issue of a home magazine.

Standard-size doors are usually 80 inches long, and come in different widths. Available at lumberyards, they are from a solid frame near the ends and sides, and ¼-inch plywood covers the hollow structural core.

Be careful to place the screws with which you attach legs only along the edge of the door, on the solid part. Fasten the legs to thin wood cleats, then screw them to the door.

An idea for a child's room is to use an old discarded chest-of-drawers as a base for the desk, says the magazine.

Ventilators Are Paint Savers

Usually it's the fault of neither the painter nor the paint when big blisters appear on the exterior walls of your house. Examine one of these blisters carefully. You'll probably find that there is bare wood beneath. It looks just as if something from within the house has pushed the paint off.

That's exactly what has probably happened. The villain here is water vapor. You can check this diagnosis easily by noting where most of the blisters appear. Chances are you'll find them outside bathroom and kitchen, the two rooms of the house where most water vapor is created. It is the result of cooking, washing clothes and dishes, taking hot showers and the like.

The water vapor seeks to escape, passes quite easily through most building materials—until it reaches the back of the film of paint protecting and beautifying your house. The paint film acts as a vapor barrier, keeps the water vapor from getting out. More and more vapor gathers, creating vapor pressure. It is this vapor pressure which literally pushes your paint off the siding.

Before you repaint your house you can take steps to correct the situation. Metal ventilators, properly installed, will provide the water vapor with an escape route.

There are two important places for these metal ventilators, the attic and the foundation (if your home is a basementless, crawl-space home). You need one square inch of attic ventilator for each two square feet of attic floor area. For proper crawl space ventilation you need at least four vents, one in each wall.

The total open area of these foundation ventilators should amount to feet of foundation wall, plus 1-300 fet of foundation wall, plus 1-300 of the total ground area in the crawl space.

Mix Up Pointing Mortar

Pointing mortar for small repair jobs around the home can be prepared quickly in a standard galvanized steel pail by mixing 2½ parts of clean sand with one part of masonry cement. Waterproofing can be added if desired. Mortar color can be added to the mix to match existing mortar.

Soda Cleans Bricks

The brick around the fireplace can be cleaned quickly by scrubbing it with a stiff brush. Fill a pail with a solution of washing soda and water, and apply it liberally to remove soot and grime.

Wall cabinets, oven and refrigerator are pink. Counter tops are pink and blue. Curtains above the sink and in the breakfast room are sheer white nylon.

An open end counter shuts off the eating area. One wall is papered in an antique print. The steel breakfast set has cream colored upholstery. Just a glimpse of Cass Lake can be seen through the trees from this room.

The hallway to the bedrooms is papered in green paper that has gold flecks and white lines on it. The first room at the right is the den.

Walls are blue. The yellow curtains have aqua flowers. Blue is repeated in the braided rug which also has green, maroon and beige in it.

Two charcoal colored sofas double as guest beds when the grandchildren come to visit. Bright yellow cushions take away any hint of darkness. The plate around the light switch is interesting. Hand made of aluminum, it is etched with trees.

Both the master bedroom and the guest room have windows on two sides; the former has a view of Orchard Lake while the latter has a nice woodsy view. Between the two rooms is the main bath while the master bedroom has a bath of its own.

Gold and silver stars and whirls on off white paper distinguish the upper part of the bathroom walls. Tiles below and fixtures are beige. The vanity top is marbleized beige.

In the smaller bathroom, tile, vanity and fixtures are pink. Both rooms have glassed-in showers. Paper in this bathroom is pink with blue butterflies on it. Rugs and curtains are also pink.

Deep aqua carpeting covers the floor in the master bedroom. Walls are pale aqua. One wall contains built-in clothes storage in addition to the two closets. Curtains are plain white.

Below the white quilted spreads on the bed, the skirts are striped in aqua and white. All furniture is mahogany.

The Patterson home was planned for livability and convenience. It has both as well as charm.

Adhesives Rescue Man Stuck With Repair Jobs

With the right adhesive, used properly, the handy man can make joints stronger than the original material and can repair nearly anything.

If you are new at the use of adhesives, tell your hardware or building supply dealer what you intend to mend. He'll be able to recommend the most suitable stickum for your use.

Read the manufacturer's inmore to sticking things together than spreading adhesive and waiting for it to dry.

Directions may vary, but the following points are generally true for all gluing:

PREPARE SURFACES

Clean, scrape and sand. Get rid of old binder. Make certain that joints fit before applying a new adhesive.

Spread material evenly. Use a brush. Apply to both surfaces.

Some glues should be allowed to stand and become tacky before joining. This is especially true of wood glues.

Join the surfaces carefully. If excess adhesive oozes out, wipe up quickly before it sets. Some glues stain, require extra care.

Clamp joints properly. The way you clamp them is the way they will dry. Clamps should be tight and be keep that way for the proper amount of time required for the adhesive to set.

Don't disturb the joint until it is set. Use a warm, dry room in which to work. The right temperature is important when working with glue, especially.

Unless the instructions tell you otherwise, figure on working in a room where the temperature is at least 70 degrees Fahrenheit.

There are many special clamps for gluing.

C-clamps are versatile, will work for gluing as well as other jobs. They're good, basic clamps to have in the home shop.

Scraps of wood under the jaws of the clamps will protect work surfaces.

Special clamps include the hand screw clamp, bar clamp, bench clamp, edge clamp and many more. The hand screw, with its parallel wooden jaws, is the most common, the one you are most likely to invest in if you do much furniture work.

If you don't have a clamp, improvise. A loop of clothesline, tightened tourniquet style with a scrap of wood will do.

Tie the wood to something so it won't spin loose.

Place small objects in the jaws of a pair of pliers; hold tight by stretching rubber bands around the handles. Or use spring clothespins for small work.

A word about glues—The old fish, animal and vegetable glues have been pretty well replaced by modern, synthetic glues. But no one glue will do everything.

Woodworking once called for animal and fish glues. Those have been replaced by casein glue and resorcinal-base glue. Casein is mixed with water.

Resorcinal glues came in two parts—liquid solvent and powder. Mix only what you need. Once set, a resorcinal glue is absolutely waterproof.

Flexible glues — rubber base glues, clear cellulose, polyvinyl —different in color and properties, but can be used on both nonporous and as porous surfaces. They make good general household cements, handy for minor mending jobs.

You May Soon See His Carpet Sweeper

CHICAGO (UPI) — Carpet sweepers soon may wear "his" and "hers" labels, if one appliance manufacturer has his way.

"Men aren't inherently messy," Robert S. Wagner said. "They just hate to get up, rummage in the closet for a vacuum cleaner, and spend 15 minutes trying to figure the thing out."

Wagner, president of the E. R. Wagner Manufacturing Co. of Milwaukee, is offering new midget sweepers that can be used to decorate a fireplace or living room corner.

Three-fourths of all treated poles made in the United States are of Southern Pine.

Wet Crack First

When you're patching a crack in a plaster wall, you'll get a better bond if you wet the crack thoroughly. One of the best ways to do this is with an ordinary water pistol. Simply shoot water at the crack from close range. You'll get penetration that no brush or sponge can match.

Wallpaper — and its first use — can be traced back to the Chinese in 200 B.C.

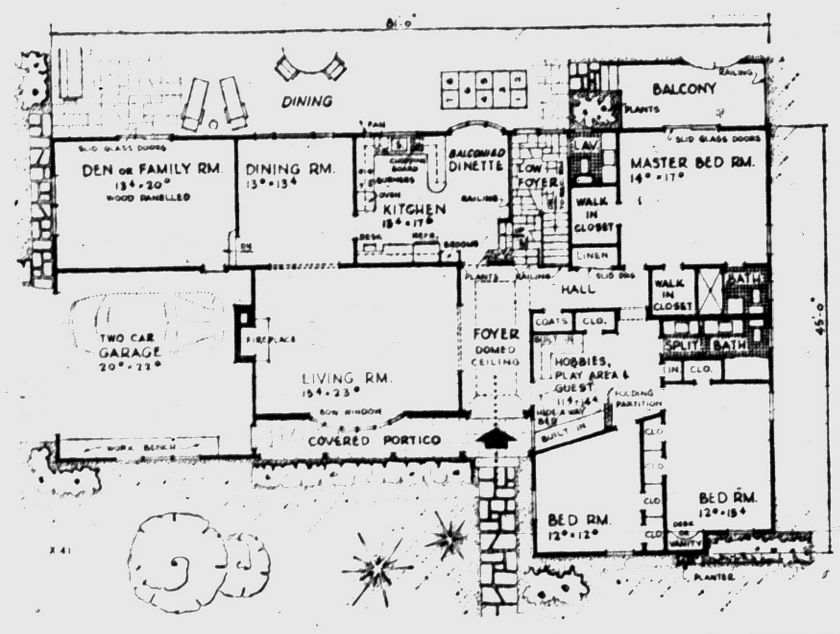
WHAT THE WOMEN WANT — This eight-room contemporary home was designed to the specifications of 80 delegates from all parts of the United States who attended the Women's Conference on Housing in Washington, D. C. It has three bedrooms, 2½ baths.



FLOOR PLAN — Wide foyer and hobbies, play or study area in the sleeping wing are two of the attractive features of X-41. The design includes a luxurious master bedroom, large living and dining rooms, a wide kitchen and dinette area, and a generous wood-panelled family room or den. The basement plan, not shown, includes an optional lower level recreation area and a maid's room.

Women Call the Tune for Their Ideal House

By DAVID L. BOWEN

Eighty women from all sections of the United States traveled to Washington recently to tell the nation's home builders what they wanted in a house.

Here is a home designed to their specifications.

It has eight rooms, 2½ baths, a glamorized center hall, both a balconied dinette and a formal dining room, a fireplace, a centrally located work or hobby area plus a family room off by itself at one end of the house.

The plan, X-41 in the House of the Week series, is a composite built on the main preferences expressed by delegates attending the Women's Conference on Housing, sponsored by the National Assn. of Home Builders and the United Industry Committee for Housing. This, incidentally, was one of two women's conferences on housing at Washington last fall.

One of the moderators at the three-day conference was Herman H. York, prize-winning architect and frequent designer of House of the Week plans. As a participant in the discussions, he was in an ideal position to get a detailed picture of the elements delegates believed should be included in a modern home.

Here's how he put them together:

ENTERTAINMENT AREA

The living room is in the front of the house, with direct access from a domed ceiling entrance foyer. This foyer, incidentally, connects with a flagstoned rear foyer two steps lower to make a "center hall" connection so that children can come in the back door and go out the front without crossing a single room.

The living room has a bowed multiple-pane window, instead of the conventional picture window—which found no approval at the conference. It also has a fireplace, a luxury feature high on the delegates' desired list.

The dining room has a "semi-separate" location, a compromise between the totally separate and the "L" shaped arrangement which appeared equally popular among the women.

INFORMAL LIVING

A special feature of X-41 is a room in the sleeping section set aside for study, quiet hobbies, sewing or similar activities. Architect York has further increased its multiple use by making provision for a hideaway bed and a folding partition, so that when needed it can serve as a guest sleeping room.

In addition to this relaxation or work room, a large family room or den is located beyond the dining room. This room is intended for noisier family activities and connects through sliding glass doors with the huge terrace which runs most of the length of the house at the rear. The plans allow for yet another private family area as an optional arrangement in the basement.

Women at the conference insisted that kitchens should be large enough to provide an eating space for informal meals. Most of the delegates also wanted kitchen cabinets out of sight from the living and dining rooms.

The kitchen in X-41 not only answers these demands but also gives control of the rear yard play area. Among other desirable features: A built-in cutting board, a planning desk, a broom closet (often overlooked nowadays).

The three bedrooms are isolated from the noise areas. All have two closets, and both of the two in the master bedroom are "walk-ins." The master bedroom has a private full bath, and sliding glass doors lead to a balcony terrace overlooking the rear yard.

The main bath is "split" with a sliding door, a practical and desirable arrangement when two bedrooms are served by the same bath.

On exteriors, women attending the housing conference expressed desire for a house which, whether traditional or modern, retained the warmth of domestic architecture. They like wood which shows its grain, or brick which "looks like it belongs on a house and not a gas station."

Architect York had this in mind in fashioning a contemporary exterior with a fresh, clean appearance. Its "homeyness" was achieved by limiting the exterior materials to brick, wood shingles and flush boards.

The garage is generously oversized to provide for garden tool storage and work bench. A large cellar off the optional lower recreation room gives ample room for additional storage.

The habitable area of the house is 2,193 square feet, not including the family room which contains 284 square feet. The garage covers 453 square feet and another 1,042 square feet of space adaptable for finishing is enclosed by the basement.

The over-all length is 81 feet, the depth 45 feet. Minimum lot width recommended is 115 feet.

The square foot area of the house is higher than average, but necessary to make room for features delegates desired.

Architect York reports the women at the conference were frank to admit that there were many things they wanted which they could not afford. That doesn't mean they'll never enjoy them; it just means they won't get them as soon.

Over 80 per cent of all homes now under construction are estimated to contain ceiling insulation. In 1940, only one home in four was built with such protection.

The Green Empress

(Copyright 1958) . . . by Elizabeth Cadell

CHAPTER XXIX

Angus lost Miss Seton and Mr. Holt at the third tasca. For the rest of the evening, he wandered alone, thinking of Angela, of her father, of the future. Walking homeward at last, he reviewed the events of the past few days and tried to find running through them the thread which — according to Mr. Holt — connected them.

He arrived at the door of the hotel without any theories which he felt would stand up to investigation.

The next morning was brilliant with sunshine, and he threw off all thoughts that could cloud the day. Everything in Spain, he thought gratefully, splashing in his bath, was golden.

Its sherry, its sun, its soil, its villages perched on hills. And today the Empress would plunge deep into the Moorish past, to the Spain of Arab dominion that had left its mark forever on Spanish life and mood and music.

Today, the Empress would go through Zamora, once a frontier town. Toweling vigorously, he recalled that King Ferdinand I had rebuilt it — but who had razed it to the ground? Who? Reaching for a shirt, he remembered it was a gentleman by the name of Al Maneour.

ORDERED BREAKFAST

He brushed his hair and called permission for his breakfast to enter. He drew a chair up to the table and looked at the tray with growing appetite. Churros to be dunked in coffee. Excellent churros, excellent coffee — but perhaps not enough churros; ring for more.

Why couldn't one get them at home? Perhaps, to get their full flavor, they would have to be imported with the wizened old men who fried them, and the little dark boys who carried them through the streets, piping hot, in a cloth-covered basket.

Churros, here they came, second lot, every bit as good as the first, and Hsst! wait a minute, perhaps you'd better bring me another lot of coffee to wash them down.

Breakfast over, he went out with the intention of knocking loud and long upon Angela's door. If she were not ready, he would wait for her and then they would go down and pay a morning visit to Ferdy.

SIX SUITCASES

He walked along the gallery towards her room. Glancing over the wooden railing to the hall below, he saw something that brought him to a halt.

In the hall, neatly aligned, were six suitcases, the Zollers'.

He stood still for a moment. There was no reason why the luggage should not be there. It was early for the cases to have been brought downstairs, but perhaps the Zollers had risen early and were now out, taikng a last look at Burgos. All the same . . .

He walked to the head of the stairs and saw that Mr. Zoller had entered the hall. He looked up and saw Angus, and the latter walked downstairs and joined him.

"Good morning. I have been looking for you," said Mr. Zoller. "I am so sorry to tell you that we have been called away."

"I don't quite understand. Do you mean you're not going to Lisbon?"

"Oh, we are going to Lisbon; yes, oh yes. But I have had a message—an urgent message, you know — that I am wanted there at once, and I told the manager to arrange for me to have a car. He said that he must first ask you, but I said to him — you will excuse me for this? — I said that I had asked you and you had given permission. It is a pity that we have to go — we are so sorry."

There seemed nothing to say. Worse, there seemed nothing to do. Mr. Zoller had ordered his car, had his luggage brought down and now was standing, coat over arm, hat in hand, ready to leave.

Questions sprang to Angus' lips, but there seemed no point in uttering them. He was bound to accept Mr. Zoller's statement. There was nothing he could do but see him off.

Mrs. Zoller came downstairs, her informal clothes discarded; she wore a linen suit and her usual array of jewels. She held a plump hand out to Angus.

"We are so sorry to go," she said. "But it is important — my husband has told you already?"

"Yes."

"Will you please say to the others that we are sorry not to tell them good-by? We shall see everybody in Lisbon."

Angus looked at Mr. Zoller.

"There's just one thing puzzling me," he said. "No messages are ever taken direct to passengers, and I—"

"It was extraordinary, you know." Mr. Zoller's small, bright eyes were fixed unblinkingly on Angus's. "I was coming down the corridor, and here is this telegram for me. The man did not want to give it up, but I said that you would not mind and perhaps you would be sleeping. I did not think that you would object. And now" — he held out a hand — "good-by, Mr. Graham. If you are going to be on an Empress to return to England, I hope that we shall see you. Good-by."

"Good-by, good-by," called Mrs. Zoller on her way to the car.

Parents Tearful as Son, 6, Has Time of His Life

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A little boy from Georgia is having the time of his life in the wonderland of Walt Disney's big amusement park near here.

What Marty Jackson isn't aware of is that it may be the last time in his life he has such fun.

Marty is the 6-year-old son of Cpl. and Mrs. Vernon E. Jackson of Ft. Gordon, Augusta, Ga. He has a rare blood disease and needs a transfusion a week to keep going. Doctors don't expect him to reach 7.

Back home the frail little boy spends most of his time watching television. His two favorite programs are Disneyland and Zorro.

His dad's buddies at the Army base knew how much Disneyland meant to Marty and they secretly raised the money to send the family to California for a look at Adventure Land, Frontier Land and the other delights of Disneyland in person. Soldiers throughout the 3rd Army chipped in.

If he was the happiest boy in Disneyland, his parents were the saddest, although they didn't show it. They lost another son from the same disease just before his seventh birthday three years ago. And Marty will be seven in May.

Questions About Social Security

Change Won't Affect Her

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

From Mrs. C. V. Westover, W.Va.: "I'm wondering if the new changes in Social Security help me. My husband passed away in 1952. I drew Social Security until my youngest child reached 18. This was a year ago last March. I'm now 52. Did the changes make me eligible again? I haven't remarried and I don't work."

The changes don't affect you. You must wait until you're 62 to be eligible for Social Security again as a widow.

From J. M. of Garwood, N.J.: "I believe I meet the requirements to be eligible for Social Security disability payments. I applied last year and was turned down because my disability wasn't considered severe enough. But, I haven't been able to get a job since then because of the disability. What should I do?"

You should ask your Social Security office to reconsider your application. The fact that you've been unable to find work because of your disability may have a bearing on your entitlement to payments now.

From J.W. of Dwight, Ill.: "My husband owns a farm which he rents to our son. Could we live on the farm with our son's family and still draw Social Security payments? My husband will probably help with the chores around the farm."

Whether you and your husband could collect under such circumstances would depend on how much work he actually did. If he did a substantial amount of work, he probably couldn't collect Social Security. The fact that you'd be living with your son would have no bearing on your eligibility to payments.

From C.H.M. of Wichita Falls, Tex.: "I know a widow in her 70's who is not covered under Social Security and not getting any payments. If I should marry her would she become eligible at once for Social Security on my earnings? I'm 78 and have been drawing Social Security several years."

She would not be eligible until you've been married three years.

From S.G. of Lansing, Mich.: "My son owns a repair garage which he bought about four years ago with a GI loan. I'm a mechanic and because my son's business is increasing he's asked me to go to work for him. Someone told me that I couldn't get Social Security coverage if I worked for my son. Is this right?"

Yes, unless your son forms a corporation.

From D[illegible] of Clearwater, Fla.: "During World War I, I suffered a serious shrapnel wound. I've been receiving compensation from the Veterans Administration for the disability ever since. I'm now getting ready to retire and wonder if this compensation will have any affect on my Social Security payment?"

Chicago Ready for Auto Show

Spends $20 Million on Window Dressing for 51st Annual Event

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Automobile Trade Association dangles a 20-million-dollar bait before Chicago area drivers to draw them out to see what's new in cars.

The association opens its 51st annual auto show at the International Amphitheater.

Without obscuring the prime attraction—450 individual cars and trucks, including all the big-name American and foreign makes—show officials have trotted out 36 miles of decorations, an assortment of neighborhood beauty queens, a revue and the usual collection of antique cars for the collection-minded and the truly veteran motorists.

That's where the 20 million dollars went, and is why show officials feel they can charge an admission price.

But the association's expenditure, designed to get the public in the mood to go flocking to dealers to trade in the old one, is a drop in the bucket compared with the investment that is represented in the cars to be shown.

Edward L. Cleary, executive-president of the association, said pre-production costs alone to automobile manufacturers, including design, styling and engineering changes, were estimated at a billion and a quarter dollars.

Cleary said more than 500,000 people are expected to attend.

Last year, he said, imported cars were required to draw for space for the first time.

Foreign cars, which have recently been taking up more and more U. S. highway space, will be represented this year by 31 different models, Cleary said.

And on the great stage of the amphitheater, manufacturers will present the latest in American automobile perfection. The cars will be showcased in a musical, "Motorevue of 1959."

Auto Output Now 27,000 Units Daily

AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—The auto industry is rolling out new cars at a rate of approximately 27,000 units daily. Retail deliveries are moving into higher volume areas, too, but they still are behind the output level.

That means dealer inventories are mounting. Some industry authorities say that at the present production-sales ratio inventories could reach a near-record total of 900,000 units by mid-March.

Whether they will be permitted to go that high is uncertain. But with sales on the upgrade that volume would be less worrisome to the auto makers than it was last spring.

Industry experts say that in sharp contrast to the early months of last year considerably less buyer resistance is in evidence. They add that indications point to a continuing increase in retail demand through this year's March-June period.

This is not wishful thinking. It is a view based upon survey in the larger marketing areas throughout the country.

If sales come up to expectations a high inventory will not be unmanageable. If sales level off there will be a production cut, although it is not now in the auto makers' planning. Production schedules for the January-March quarter call for approximately 1,650,000 car assemblies.

Nearly 600,000 of these have been booked for completion this month. In January last year U. S. factories built about 490,000 cars.

The industry so far has built about 1,800,000 of its 1959 models. But for the slow start by all General Motors divisions the total would be well above the two million mark.

Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Pontiac were out of production through much of last October because of labor problems at the local plant level following settlement of national contract differences.

The growing overall inventory indicates most makers now have their retailers fairly well stocked with all competitive models. Along with this virtually every maker is reporting improved retail demand.

Chrysler, whose operations have been hampered by labor problems through much of the new model year so far, is among the makers reporting increased sales activity. Chrysler's several car divisions were among those hardest hit by the sales decline of 1958. Some of them face more output problems from a glass shortage.

It is no secret that overall sales volume so far in the 1959 model year is much better than most industry executives expected. Figures for the early part of the present month have not been officially tabulated; but they reportedly are running well ahead of those of the comparable 1958 period.

The upturn started with the introduction of the 1959 models. Official and unofficial figures show 334,876 new car registrations in November and 490,000 in December. Some industry analysts are predicting January sales will go above the 500,000 unit mark.

Michigan's Factories, Farms and Stores Depend on Trucks

Manufacturing, farming, the retail business — all have one thing in common: each needs transportation facilities.

And, since the motor truck provides fast, flexible, direct service unequalled by any other form of transportation, more tonnage is shipped by truck in Michigan each year. (Nationally trucks haul more than 3 times as much tonnage as all other systems combined!)

Every truck you see on the road is working — working to help keep Michigan's economy humming, to help keep employment and sales high. There isn't a corner of the State that isn't served daily by trucks. And factories and shopping centers can be located anywhere and be assured of efficient truck service so long as they're on a road.

You see how vital trucks are to Michigan.

Agatha Christie Mystery Stars Nina Foch

A member of the technical crew of "Ten Little Indians" was intently watching a rehearsal the other day when he turned to a friend and said: "You know, I've watched this darn thing a dozen times and I know how it comes out, but I'm never quite sure it will!"

To be seen Sunday at 7 p. m. on Channel 4, this is the story of 10 persons assembled on an island off the coast of England for a weekend of fun by a "Mr. Owen." It turns out, though that the invitation for "fun" is only a pretext and murder is the main agenda for the stay.

As each one of the guests is about to be murdered, the death is foreshadowed by the mysterious breaking of one of the figures of "little Indians" on the mantel.

The deaths, too, are accomplished in a bizarre manner. Each is killed in the way described in the nursery rhyme of the "Ten Little Indians," the first four lines of which, go like this:

"Ten Little Indians going out to dine.
One choked himself and then there were nine.
Nine Little Indians sat up very late.
One overslept and then there were eight . . ."

The unraveling of this mystery by Agatha Christie has become one of the classic stories in the crime fiction field—and is full of tricks.

Nina Foch plays one of the central roles—that of the secretary, Vera Claythore. Barry Jones has the part of Justice Lawrence Wargraves and Kenneth Haigh portrays Philip Lombard.

Miss Christie, author of "And Then There Were None"—from which "Ten Little Indians" is taken, is the acknowledged queen of crime fiction, the author of some 60 books published in this country alone.

Her total book sales stand in the millions—60,000,000 is one educated guess—and her income from these books can only be described by publishers' accountants as "fantastic."

Miss Christie is also the author of 12 plays, one of which, "The Mousetrap," has been running in London since 1952 and is the longest-running play in British theatrical history.

The source of this small avalanche of productions is a tall, sophisticated Englishwoman in her 60s who is so shy that she is almost as much a personal mystery as her fictional creations.

She doesn't attend literary luncheons, is rarely photographed, and almost never gives interviews. Only within the past few years has her French publisher met her after 25 years of business association.

When Miss Christie isn't producing chillers such as this, she's engaged in either of two hobbies. One is decorating homes—she owned eight at one time but is down to three now. And the other is picking among archeological ruins with her husband, archaeologist Max Mallowan.

CROONER COMMENTATES — Bing Crosby will be the commentator for the 18th annual Bing Crosby Golf Tournament, a $50,000 pro-amateur event carried live Sunday at 5:30 p. m. (Channel 7) The world's greatest pros will be shooting for the prize money.

Hollywood Headlines

D. A.'s Man Has Drawl Like Western Cowpoke

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The way John Compton talks, you'd expect to find him in a Western or maybe "The Real McCoys." Here's how he describes how he came to Hollywood:

"Well, sir, I was out on a ridge in the moonlight with this purty girl down in Tennessee. She looks up at me and says, 'John, yer jist handsome enough to be a movie star.' That was enough for me. The next day I told my mammy and pappy goodbye and started for Hollywood."

No cowpoke or hillbilly is Compton in the TV world. He plays the lead in "The D.A.'s Man," NBC's new Saturday night crime show produced by Jack Webb. Rangy, squarely built Compton is the wily undercover agent who adopts a variety of guises to ferret out criminals for a New York district attorney.

John tells a colorful story. But some of the things he says appear to be true.

He did come to Hollywood 15 years ago in search of the fortune which is only now materializing.

"One year I made only $25 from acting," he related. "How did I live? I worked in a gas station at night for $1.25 an hour."

He had a contract at Warner Brothers for a couple of years, then the film depression struck and he was back on the streets again. But he persisted and lately had been doing well in TV films. He tried out for "The D.A.'s Man," but figured he didn't have a chance because he could never be mistaken for a New Yorker.

He figured without Jack Webb. The producer saw some film on Compton, had a couple of chats with him and ordered him signed. The actor told of the clincher, and you'll have to figure if it's legend or not.

It seems that Compton keeps bees. He has five hives of them at his home in the Hollywood hills.

"The morning I was to see Webb, I was cleaning out a hive of unfriendly ones," he said. "They stung me all over the arms about 200 times. I didn't even have time to take out the stingers. Webb asked me what they were and I told him. He said, 'If you can take that, you can take anything.'"

Webb is known as a tough taskmaster. Compton has been able to take the producer's stings, too. So far, that is.

Library Project Called Success

8,000 Books Loaned Through N. Oakland Service in 6 Months

An estimated 8,000 books were borrowed in the North Oakland Library Project during its first six months.

Officials hailed this figure as an indication of the project's success.

Just as important, said Phyllis Pope, Pontiac Librarian, local book collections have gained circulation or at least remained constant during that period.

"This bears out our belief that when good books are put within easy reach in sufficient quantity, people will do more book reading," said Miss Pope, assisant director of the project.

The project books were loaned by the Michigan State Library and circulated on a monthly basis throughout the participating communities.

Latest communities to join are Addison, Oakland and White Lake Townships. Others participating are Independence, Highland, Holly, Orion, Milford, Brandon and Oxford Townships.

The project headquarters is at Adah Shelley Branch Library in Pontiac.

Televise Bishop's Rite

Highlights of the colorful installation ceremonies of Bishop Arthur C. Lichtenberger as 21st Presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church will be presented on Open Hearing Sunday at 3 p. m. (Channel 7.)

Bishop Lichtenberger's ceremonial at Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul in Washington, D. C., is reminiscent of medieval pageantry; trumpets and the cathedral organ play as a procession of scarlet and white-clad candle bearers moves slowly before the bishop down the broad main aisle.

Bishop Lichtenberger becomes the spiritual head of three million Episcopalians in the United States, and main representative of the world-wide Anglican Communion of 40 million.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

98-Lb. Wife Too Tough for Six-Foot Husband

CHICAGO (UPI)—Superior Court Judge Frank M. Padden yesterday granted six-footer John K. Lawrence, 48, a divorce on testimony that his wife beat him up three times.

Lawrence described his wife, Annabelle, 39, as five feet two inches tall and weighing 98 pounds. He also said she was "ferocious."
