Reds Move to Handle New East Zone Unrest

Ask Accounting From Teamster Union Officials

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

International Teamsters (AFL) President Dave Beck, James R. Hoffa, president of the union's joint Council and trustee for Pontiac Local 614, were named as defendants in a bill of complaint today in Oakland County Circuit Court by an insurgent group representing some 1,500 members of the local.

Among other things, the suit asks for accounting on local funds, claimed to be in excess of $1 million.

Also named in the bill, filed shortly before noon by Pontiac Attorney Louis W. Snyder, are State Representative Leaun Harrelson (Pontiac-D), acting president of the local; Daniel J. Keating, and Louis C. Linteau. Keating and Linteau were recently indicted by a one-man grand jury probing alleged labor racketeering.

Snyder, with eight members of the Pontiac Local, were awaiting a judge's signature for a show cause order and hearing date at which the defendants would be ordered to appear.

The bill of complaint demands that the officials account for "annual reports of the receipt of members' dues which have exceeded the amount of one million dollars during the past ten years."

The group's present efforts followed the failure of Beck to respond to a recent petition by the same 1,500 signers which demanded a complete accounting of records and the expulsion of all present officers of the local.

"The said defendants . . . have successfully refused demands for such an accounting of such funds and property of Local 614, the bill states.

The show cause order, according to Snyder, is in hopes of obtaining

8 Die in Blaze as Home Burns

7 Children and Mother of Four of Victims Are Trapped in House

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Fire raced through a four-room frame house here early today, killing seven children and the mother of four of the youngsters.

Neighbors told of watching helplessly while the panic-stricken children ran through the home, seeking to escape the flames.

The dead were identified as:

Mrs. Evelyn Lillard, 30; her four children, Linda, 6; Kay, 4; Barbara, 2, and Johnny Jr., 5 months; and Gary Letterman, 4; Linda Lee Letterman, 10, and Sandra Kay Letterman, 11.

The Letterman children had been staying at the Lillard home while their mother, Mrs. Dorothy Letterman, was at a Springfield hospital with another son who is critically ill with a brain tumor. She is divorced from the children's father.

John Lillard, 28, the father of the Lillard children, escaped from the blazing home but suffered severe burns. He told police his wife awakened him and told him the house was on fire but he said he did not kno how he managed to escape from the flaming structure. He was in serious condition at a hospital.

Origin of the fire was not determined.

Ike Greets Boy Scouts on Eve of Special Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower praised the Boy Scouts of America today for contributing to the "moral strength of our nation" during its 44-year history.

Eisenhower sent "warmest greetings" to the 3,300,000 scouts and scout leaders and to the 21 million others who have belonged since the organization was founded in 1910.

Boy Scout Week opens tomorrow.

Filled Docket Delays Trial in Roosevelt Marital Suit

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The separate maintenance suit against James Roosevelt, in which his wife accuses him of adultery with 12 women, won't go to trial for six or eight months, a judge said today.

A crowded calendar will delay the case, said Superior Judge Kurtz Kauffman, who recessed a pre-trial hearing yesterday after a lawyer tried to question Roosevelt about one of the women.

Kauffman ruled such questions will be proper only when Mrs. Romelle Schneider Roosevelt's suit for $3,500 monthly support actually is tried.

Intimate details of Roosevelt's complex financial affairs and his family's lavish standard of life were recited in the day-long court session. Opposing counsel will delve further into these matters when the temporary support hearing is resumed Feb. 15.

Mrs. Roosevelt's complaint names three women as corespondents and incorporates a letter, signed by Roosevelt, in which he admits infidelities with nine other women. Since her suit was filed, Roosevelt has denied misconduct with any of the 12.

The question about one of the correspondents, Gladys Irene Owens, came just after Roosevelt had related from the witness stand that he went to Mexico last Dec. 22 and returned early in January,

Ignore Prophets of Gloom, Ike Urges Citizens

6,500 Cheer President at Box Supper for GOP in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has advised Americans to ignore "prophets of gloom" and has promised them a "big brother partner in the federal government."

Addressing a cheering throng of more than 6,500 at a GOP box supper last night, Eisenhower sailed into Democratic predictions of hard times, saying "The United States doesn't need to fail."

And he emphasized he wants to conduct the presidency under the Constitution "in the same general form" as it now stands.

He spoke only 12 minutes. In that time he took on two sets of critics—those, like former President Harry S. Truman, who say the country is now in a recession, and those who have been calling for a constitutional amendment that would limit the scope of treaties and give Congress more control over international agreements.

"We don't have to listen to the prophets of gloom who say we are going into this or that kind of stumble or fall," he declared as the crowd cheered.

Then, without mentioning by name Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), whose constitutional amendment on treaty powers he has opposed, Eisenhower said:

"We must make certain that the genius of our Constitution and our government shall not perish, that it shall belong . . . to those who come after us in the same general form that it has been received by us."

Bricker, who had preceded Eisenhower to the speakers' platform, touched off a roar of laughter when he alluded to the "family troubles" he said the Republicans have had.

"My Republican friends, I like Ike," he declared. The crowd howled approval.

Bricker said there had been "honest differences of opinion" but that the GOP has "a singleness of purpose."

"Let me make one thing clear," he said. "There is not now nor will there be, any split in the Republican party."

The President's brief sally against those who predict a further economic downturn was in line with repeated statements by administration and Republican party

Air Force Plane Crashes in Mud

All 13 in Crew Taken Off Wreckage Stuck in 'Frisco Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An Air Force "flying radar station" crashed on San Francisco bay's mudflats last night when it missed its runway in a soupy fog. All 13 occupants were rescued after clinging to the wreckage for 1½ hours.

Only two of the 13—all Air Force personnel—suffered injuries beyond bruises and they were not seriously hurt, military physicians said.

The rescue boat, unable to return to Hamilton Air Force Base because of heavy fog, landed at Ft. Baker near the northern end of the Golden Gate Bridge.

The four-engine Super Constellation, flying out of McClellan Field near Sacramento, plunged to the bay about two miles from the end of the Hamilton runway as it attempted a ground control approach radar landing.

The plane had been on a training mission off the Pacific coast and dense fog prevented its return to McClellan Field. It was diverted to Hamilton—about 30 miles north of San Francisco—because of better blind landing facilities.

The crash boat, groping in the bay for survivors, was led to the plane wreckage by ground radar facilities from Hamilton.

The rescue operation was completed about 1½ hours after the plane went down.

The modified Constellation—known as an RC121C—was commanded by Lt. Col. Russell E. Cheever of San Antonio, Tex., who served as instructor pilot. The entire crew was learning how to operate the radar-loaded plane.

Other crewmen included a Michigan man. He is S. Sgt. Ira Jones of Mt. Clemens.

Carts for Mail May Be Adopted by Post Office

A new aid to burdened mail carriers may soon make an appearance throughout the nation, according to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Carts, similar to those used on the golf links, have been tested by the Postal Department in an effort toward mechanization and cheaper service.

Practicability of the carts has already been proved by two Pontiac mailmen. During the last Christmas rush, Volney Shafer of the Huron Street Branch and Roy Ainsworth of the main office successfully used their caddy carts to tote bulging mail bags.

Maurice B. Feimster, chief of postal procedures and systems, told a House appropriations subcommittee at Washington that the cart will take the load off the carrier's back so he can deliver twice as much mail with half the effort.

Former Czech Prisoner Returns to Mother's Arms

NEW YORK (AP)—John Hvasta came back to his mother's arms today and said it was "with God's help" that he escaped from a Czech prison and eluded Red police for many months.

The 26-year-old Navy veteran from Hillside, N. J., home for the first time in more than five years, embraced his mother at Idlewild Airport and cried: "Thank God, thank God, thank God."

Mrs. Michael Hvasta, the mother, tearfully hugged and kissed her son while other members of his family and officials from his home town crowded around to welcome the young man.

To reporters, he said:

"I'm glad to be home. Anybody that's been in the situation I have been in really knows what it feels like to be home."

But he declined to give any details of his imprisonment on espionage charges while studying in Czechoslovakia and his subsequent escape, his game of hide and seek with the police and his refuge in the American embassy.

He said he had been "scribbling" his story while at the embassy and that he intended to publish it.

"I intend to reveal everything I have," he said.

Hvasta said, however, an account of his escape experiences "will come soon from the embassy."

Reporters asked him if he had been in touch with his Czech wife,

President of CIO Here for Dedication of New Local 653 Union Hall

CIO President Walter P. Reuther will speak on the nation's employment situation at 7 tonight at dedication ceremonies of UAW-CIO Pontiac Local 653's new union hall.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the international union, is also scheduled to speak, according to Charles S. Curry, the local's president.

The local, which represents 13,500 Pontiac Motor Division employes, has already moved to the new quarters located at 388 E. Kennett St.

International, state and local labor leaders along with representatives of government, civic, religious and fraternal groups have been invited to attend.

Pope's Health Better Today

Pontiff Has Easy Night, Confers 1 Hour Today on Church Affairs

ROME (INS)—The condition of Pope Pius XII improved so much today that the Pontiff met a high-ranking Vatican official for a brief period of work on urgent Roman Catholic church affairs.

An official Vatican bulletin said: "We are happy to inform that the improvement of the condition of the Holy Father's health, which was noted late last evening, continued this morning.

"The august Pontiff passed a tranquil night and worked with pro-secretary of state for ordinary affairs, Msgr. Giovanni Battista Montini, on problems interesting to church life for almost one hour."

The Pope's improved condition enabled him to drink milk and other liquid foods. His personal physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi Lisi, regarded the Pontiff's sips of milk and other beverages as the first steps in the resumption of regular nutrition.

The doctor returned to the Pope's bedside shortly after dawn today. Yesterday Dr. Lisi said he hoped for a general improvement in the Pontiff's condition as the result of proper nourishment.

Shifting Army Nearer to Berlin in Revolt Scare

Reports Tell of Angry Acts Against Commies Over Big 4 Talks

BERLIN (UP) — The Communists are moving a Soviet army division to Berlin's outskirts and gave heavy arms to their Peoples Police in an effort to head off a new East German rebellion, Western sources reported today.

Reports from throughout the Soviet Zone said East German feeling threatened to boil over into a revolt similar to that of last June 17 when workers staged a series of violent uprisings.

Russia's filibuster on German free elections and unification at the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference brought about the latest upsurge of East German anger, the report said.

Communist authorities have taken stern measures to keep the situation under control, but East Germans were said to be planning protest marches on Berlin.

Communist officials already have been reported beaten up, government - sponsored rallies have been heckled, and anti-Soviet leaflets distributed.

The West Berlin "Fighting Group Against Inhumanity" said the Soviets moved an army division from the Potsdam area to Babelsberg, a suburb 10 miles southwest of Berlin.

The move was considered the latest of Communist moves alerting security forces to cope with trouble resulting from East German demands for free elections and unity.

The Soviet Zone government also sent thousands of picked agents into the area to show the alleged wisdom of continuing Red rule.

Other reports said the Communists distributed carbines to their factory militia, alerted their 300,000-man police army and organized a special auxiliary police force.

The Communists also ordered the arrest of all suspected rebels to crush the unrest, according to reliable reports reaching West Berlin.

At least 200 persons were seized by the secret police.

Western officials said the Communist police reinforced their border guards around Berlin and canceled all police leaves.

They said East Germans were being arrested merely for listening to Western radio broadcasts.

Local Scouts, Explorers Will Manage City Monday

Pontiac officials will take a holiday Monday when the city's Boy Scouts and Explorers assume the reins of municipal government in celebration of the 44th annual Boy Scouts of America Week, Feb. 8-11.

Scouts and Explorers, recently appointed to take office following a two-party mock election, will assemble at the city hall at 1:15 before they embark on the civic project.

City Manager Walter K. Williman will be on hand to brief the youths on the duties of various offices.

William J. DeGrace, chairman of Pontiac district camping and activities committee, pointed out that the annual event will give the boys the opportunity to learn more about their city government by actual participation.

Tom Furtney will act as city manager.

Modernizing of Employe Retirement Plan Is Reason for Proposed Amendment

BIRMINGHAM — A trend in municipalities and private business toward a general modernizing of their employe retirement systems is the basic motivating factor behind the placing of such a charter amendment to the city's retirement plan on the April 5 ballot.

"Studies we have made, and available information, indicate this trend," Assistant City Manager John Waler Walker says, "and the city's retirement system has not been materially changed, except in regard to benefits for employes killed in the line of duty, since its adoption in 1944."

The Birmingham Retirement Board, composed of the city manager, the mayor, a citizen, a city commissioner and representatives of the police, fire and public works departments, and aided by a professional consultant, have reviewed the existing system, and recommended the changes which will appear on the April ballot.

The proposed amendments call for four basic changes and several minor ones affecting primarily the administration and clarification of the system.

Pension received by an employe is made up of a basic pension, plus a membership service pension computed on the time of service and average compensation at the time of retirement.

The proposed amendments would raise the basic pension from $100 to $120 a year, plus increasing the membership service pension from 1/135 to 1/120 of the employe's average final annual compensation.

"A deficiency in municipal retirement systems has recently been brought to light where an employe was retained in service after reaching the eligible retirement age, and died prior to being actually retired," Walker added.

The result was that the widows were left without benefits which would have normally been theirs, and were entitled under the retirement system to only the amount of the employe's accumulated contribution to the retirement system, according to Walker.

The proposed amendment would correct this by automatically providing for protection to the beneficiary in any similar case.

The fourth major change would provide for the automatic payment to the beneficiary of any difference between the actual amount paid in pension to a retired employe who died after retirement and the amount he had accumulated during his years of service in the retirement system.

A delegation of young people of Redeemer Lutheran Church tomorrow will join the annual Silver Valley caravan, which is sponsored by the Walther League, youth organization of Lutheran churches of the Detroit area.

Reds Set to Handle Angered East Zone

central committee of the East German Communist party ordered "thousands" into the zone to combat discontent and unmask "agents and provocateuers."

East German authorities also ordered a roundup of potential anti-Communist ringleaders.

As these steps were taken by the Reds, anti-Communist agencies in West Berlin told of new troubles brewing for the Soviets.

Reports that new revolt was stirring against the Soviets were made by the West Berlin newspaper Telegraf, the American-run radio station Rias, the anti-Communist "Information Bureau West," the "Fighting Group Against Inhumanity," the West German newspaper Frankfurter Rundschau, the Eastern bureau of the Socialist party and the U. S. High Commission newspaper Neue Zeitung.

Anti-Communist actions and arrests of workers were reported over much of the Soviet zone, including East Berlin, Merseburg, Henigsdorf, Rostock, Wismar, Stralsund, Magdeburg, Wenigerode, Bitterfield, Erfurt, Elsertberg and other centers of last June's revolt.

The Neue Zeitung, official organ of the U. S. High Commission, said the Soviet Zone interior ministry has ordered formation of a special auxiliary police force.

This is to be composed of picked Communist party members and is to back up the regular police in case of a new revolt.

Seeks Change in Election Date

Builder Wants Special Ballot April 5 on Troy Land Annexation

Oakland County Board of Supervisors will meet Feb. 16 to consider changing the date for an election on Birmingham's proposed annexation of part of Troy Township.

A petition signed by 37 supervisors calling for a special board meeting was filed at Oakland County Clerk's office Thursday by Patterson and Patterson, Attorneys representing W. E. Reid Development Co. of Birmingham.

The petition asks that the election date, set for Aug. 3, be moved up to April 5.

Wallace Reid, development company vice president, explained the company plans residential construction on the 65-acre island of Troy Township lying between Adams Road, Columbia, Howland and Villa inside Birmingham city limits.

"We can't get sewers, water and such facilities unless the property is annexed to Birmingham," he said. "And if the annexation is approved, and we can't get started until Aug. 3, we'll lose this year's building season."

Ex-Czech Prisoner Returns to Mother

Gabriella Bansova Hvasta, who has been reported missing.

"No," he said softly, his eyes filling with tears.

Stephen Hvasta, 23, his brother, interceded at this point and asked reporters to refrain from any more questions.

The escapee began the brief news conference by saying:

"Well, listen, fellows, I want to thank anyone who has helped me in the past days to get out of Czechoslovakia."

He said that he particularly had received help from Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr. (D-NJ); U. Alexis Johnson, American ambassador to Czechoslovakia, and George Wadsworth, former American ambassador there.

Czech officials granted him permission to leave the country from the embassy and said it was as a result of pleas from his family.

Hvasta also thanked newspapers for their work in helping him, and specifically mentioned the Newark Star-Ledger.

Asked his opinion of why the Czech government allowed him to leave, he replied: "It's hard to say, now."

To a question whether the State Department had asked him not to talk of his experiences, he said:

"It's my own private version" not to make statements presently.

Newsmen asked if his reticence was prompted by a desire to protect Czech underground members who helped him escape.

"That is one reason and I have other reasons—mainly for security," he said.

Airman Slips Away From Guard, Flees

An AWOL Air Force man escaped early today from his guard on Wayne street, fled into the Oakland County Courthouse and disappeared.

Ransom A. Campbell, 21, of 722 Kinney Rd., who once before escaped from the same Selfridge Air Force Base sergeant, was last seen running inside the court building by a janitor there.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies Ted Kentross and Robert Metro, who witnessed the escape and tracked Campbell to the courthouse, said he took a couple of steps away from his unarmed guard, waved his hand and ran.

When the guard stood pointing to the fleeing Air Force man, the deputies who were in a patrol car, took up the chase, but were unable to catch him.

New Bill Would Aid Township Financing

BIRMINGHAM—A bill has been introduced in the State Legislature which would enable townships to finance such measures as the contemplated interceptor sewer on the Rouge River to relieve local pollution problems, according to City Manager Donald C. Egbert.

"The major problem in this project is the financing, and this can only be accomplished by amending present laws," Egbert said.

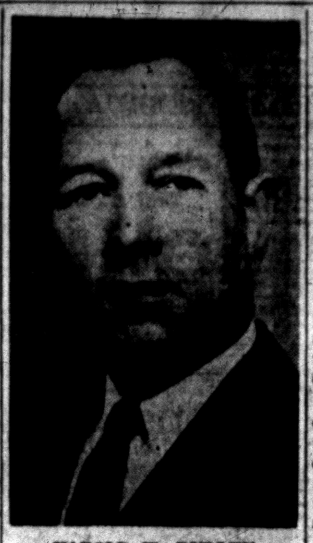

Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, and Bloomfield and Southfield Townships have been ordered by the State Water Resources Commission to end pollution of the Rouge River.

A $2,500,000 interceptor to carry the sewage into Detroit treatment plants has been discussed as a possible solution, but the townships have no method of raising their share of the costs.

Tigers May Sign Young Lansing Ball Player

LANSING (AP)—The Detroit Tigers were reported ready to sign an 18-year-old Lansing outfielder today after the Brooklyn Dodgers turned down the boy's request for a three-year $30,000 bonus contract.

He is David (Bucky) Russell, who won the Five-A Conference batting championship with a .595 average while playing for Lansing Sexton High School last season.

HAROLD W. DUDLEY

Dudley Retiring From City Post

Will Not Be Candidate for City Commission; Served Since 1949

Harold W. Dudley announced today he will not run for re-election to Pontiac City Commission from District 2.

A Pontiac attorney, Dudley has served as commissioner since August, 1949, when he was named to fill the unexpired term of John C. Cowe. He was re-elected in 1950 and 1952.

Dudley has a long record of service in local government and civic groups. He is past president of Pontiac Board of Education and former chairman of Pontiac Planning Commission.

He is a past president of Oakland County Bar Assn. and president of the Community Loan Co. of Pontiac.

In a statement of his views during the 1950 pre-election campaign Dudley summed up his approach to public service saying, "I believe that a city progresses in direct proportion to the interest which its citizens take in local government, and in proportion to their willingness to support the services which an alert city commission can offer."

141 Enrollees Start Y Membership Drive

BIRMINGHAM — Competing in a mythical four-car race of Michigan's Water Wonderland to boost the local YMCA's total enrollment to 1,500 by March 1, teams turned in 141 new recruits at a kick-off dinner this week. The campaign goal for the current membership enrollment is 425.

Under chairmanship of Oscar Peterson, cars Y, M, C and A receive a point score of five miles for each member and one mile for each dollar.

Speakers at the dinner supported a permanent YMCA building here. The local branch has requested the backing of the Metropolitan Detroit Building Fund of the United Foundation, for a $1,500,000 two and one-half story structure.

Auto Crashes Into Pump, Starts Fire

Fire damage was estimated at $350 after a car late Friday plowed into a service station gas pump at 560 N. Perry St., according to Pontiac police and firemen.

The driver, Lawrence Hamilton, 35, of Mt. Clemens, police said, struck the pump, breaking one of the gas lines, and damaged another after failing to stop at Glenwood and Perry Sts. Police said the car had defective brakes.

Police said that another auto driven by David R. Gillard, 42, of 54 S. Parke St., was unable to stop when Hamilton's car cut in front of him. Gillard's auto struck the Hamilton car in the rear before the crash into the pumps.

Firemen extinguished the blaze before it spread to other pumps. No one was injured.

Press Story in Error as to Who Struck Whom

An article in Tuesday's Press stated that Mrs. Lydia Sheppard, 19, of 42½ Pingree St. was injured when the taxi in which she was riding was struck in the rear by a car driven by Henry M. Bailey, 25, of 346 Central Ave.

The article should have stated that the woman was injured when the taxi struck the rear of Bailey's car as he was halted for a red light on Auburn avenue.

County Bar Association Favors New Judgeship

A resolution favoring the creation of a fourth Oakland County Circuit judgeship was forwarded this week to the County Board of Supervisors by the Oakland County Bar Assn.

At a meeting of the association this week, a motion was made and unanimously passed to inform Fred Smith, head of the ways and means committee of the board of supervisors, of the resolution.

Egbert Defends Street Program

BIRMINGHAM — A defense of plans to eliminate the intersection at N. Woodward and Hunter Blvd. was made by City Manager Donald C. Egbert today.

Egbert is negotiating with property owners to extend Oak street through to Hunter at right angles, closing the long, slanting intersection at Woodward and Hunter, scene of several fatal accidents and numerous collisions.

"It has been said that this will create a congested intersection similar to Lincoln and Woodward, where southbound drivers on Adams road jog onto Lincoln to make their turns south on Woodward," the manager said.

"There is bound to be congestion, but that is better than the bad accidents we have had" Egbert added. The Socony-Vacuum Co., owners of the property, are studying the plan, and seem eager to reach an agreement, he said.

Press Carrier Discovers Gas Leak in Street

The alertness of a Pontiac Press carrier boy led to discovery of a gas leak on South Johnson Ave. Friday night.

While making his weekly collections, Aaron Clark, 16, of 37 Elizabeth Lake Rd., heard a gurgling sound in the street. Upon investigation it was discovered that gas was escaping.

Consumers Power Company was called to find that while snow was being scraped from the street the top on a gas drip (pipe where water is pumped from gas) had been broken off.

The only immediate danger, according to the gas company, would have been if a lighted cigaret butt had landed in that particular area.

Woman Kills Self on Second Attempt

An unidentified woman who twice attempted suicide last night was killed when she ran into the side of a truck on James Couzens highway.

Her first suicide attempt was made by running into the path of a car driven by Don Clarkson, of Kalmazoo. He swerved around her and notified Michigan State Police of the Redford Post.

Before police arrived the woman had killed herself by running into the side of a truck driven by Ben A. Cole, 40, of 1341 Jean, Ferndale.

Cole was released after questioning. The woman's body is at Van Valkenburg Funeral Home on Grand River avenue pending identification.

Exhibition on Aborigines Open Daily at Cranbrook

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—The most complete exhibition made of the life of Australian aborigines may be seen for the rest of this month at the museum of Cranbrook Institute of Science, open daily from 2 to 5 p.m.

Mayor Main Proclaims Feb. 7-13 Boy Scout Week

BIRMINGHAM—Coinciding with the 44th anniversary of Boy Scouting, Mayor Ralph Main has proclaimed Feb. 7-13 as "Boy Scout Week" in Birmingham.

"I urge our citizens to express appreciation to the volunteer scout leaders in churches, schools, PTA groups, veterans associations, fraternal groups and service clubs which sponsor the program," Main's proclamation reads in part.

One of the many events highlighting the observance locally will be a rally at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the auditorium of the Royal Oak High School.

The program will feature a pistol and machine gun shooting exhibition, and a firearms safety demonstration by Sgt. Lester Coykendall of the Michigan State Police.

The Detroit Area Council, of which Birmingham is a member, is the largest in the nation, with 45,000 scouts, and 15,618 volunteer leaders.

According to Detroit Scout officials, Scouting is at an all-time peak in south Oakland County, with membership in 149 Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer posts now 6,063, and 1,900 men and women leaders.

"Although three out of four boys want to belong to Scouting, only one boy in every three can be a member," Edward E. Wilson, district chairman said.

"There is no lack of volunteer leaders, but the backbone of the organization is the professional staff leaders who give professional guidance to the program. This shortage of leadership is due to a lack of funds," he added.

The movement is financed by four methods: dues paid by the boys, membership fees, funds from the United Foundation, and contributions of friends of the program.

"Parents should encourage their boys to join Scouting, and every civic-minded citizen should do his best to help Scouting grow in Oakland County," says Arthur E. Moore, Oakland County probate judge.

"In the past 15 years, more than 10,000 boys have appeared in my court on charges ranging from delinquency to murder. Very rarely does an active Boy Scout appear before me.

Trial Delay Seen in Roosevelt Suit

on a trip partly for business and partly for pleasure.

"Were you accompanied by anyone on the trip?" asked Arthur Schifferman, one of Mrs. Roosevelt's lawyers.

The court sustained an objection by Samuel Picone, Roosevelt's counsel.

"Were you accompanied by Gladys Irene Owens?" persisted Schifferman.

The day-long hearing, during which Roosevelt glared at his wife and she on occasion burst into tears, brought testimony ranging from the price of her dresses to Roosevelt's assertion that he built up a deficit of $120,000 in four and a half years. Some of the highlights:

Mrs. Roosevelt said her husband sold, for one dollar, his one-fourth share in business interests worth four million. The sale, she said, took place one week after he asked her for a divorce.

"Mr. Roosevelt's financial picture began to change after he said he wanted a divorce," she remarked.

Roosevelt, an insurance man, referred to the business interests sold for one dollar as "worthless," and observed:

"I want to leave some of my money, if I ever have any left now, to my children. I guess I'm getting poorer by the minute."

Introduced in evidence was a statement showing Roosevelt's receipts from Jan. 1, 1948, to July 31, 1952, were $217,034 while his expenditures were $338,684.36.

Mrs. Roosevelt said her estimate of monthly needs was based on "the manner in which we have lived for the past 12 years." In that period, she said, her dresses cost $300 apiece, she and Roosevelt often dined out at $20 for the two of them, they occupied $80 a day hotel suites when they traveled. Household expenses, she said, included $465 monthly for servants and $350 for food.

Roosevelt said his monthly expenses included $100 for clothing, $15 for taxis, $509 for insurance, $409 payments on a $100,000 loan from his mother, $135 for rent and $100 for food. His net income, he said, is $2,425.57 a month plus $100 semi-annually in fees from the estate of his father, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

About the $100,000 note he gave his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, he said.

"I won't receive my inheritance during her lifetime. Normally I couldn't repay her until I got my inheritance."

He said the note was protected by a $100,000 insurance policy, the premium on which is $1,200 annually, paid by his Massachusetts firm of Roosevelt and Sargent.

Honor 30-Year Pastorate of H. H. Savages Sunday

The familiar greeting, "This is the Happy Half-hour of Heaven and Home" will be heard again Sunday evening at First Baptist Church. It will introduce a program at 7:30 to duplicate one of a series of Sunday evening radio programs given over CKLW for many years.

Visitors from out of town also will be recognized at this service planned in observance of the 30th anniversary of the pastorate of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Savage.

About 700 members and friends gathered at the church Wednesday evening in honor of the Savages. A book of remembrance, first filmed on the screen for the pleasure of the guests, was later presented to the honor guests, who also were presented with an all-expense-free trip to South America next year.

They then are to visit their children: Robert and family in Quito, Ecuador; James and family associated with the Ebenezer Bible Institute at San Cristobal, Venezuela and Helen Broach and family who are in language school in Costa Rica, Central America, studying Spanish in preparation for work in Venezuela.

It is expected that the gift will enable the family to be united some where in South America next Christmas.

When the Savages came to Pontiac there were approximately 1,200 members in the church which has grown to 3,000, including the branches.

During this ministry the educational building has been built and paid for and the church auditorium was dedicated in July, 1951; total cost of which was approximately $498,000.

The church is still broadcasting the Sunday School of the Air and the morning worship service over CKLW, a ministry started in 1926.

During the 30 years that the Savages have been at the church more than 100 young people have gone into full time Christian service: 30 missionaries, 35 pastors, 21 pastor's wives and 20 in evangelistic and other Christian work.

Total receipts of the First Baptist Church for 1953 were $76,027.45.

Besides the ministry at the church, Dr. Savage is director of Maranatha Bible and Missionary Conference; active in the work of the Michigan Branch of the Conservative Baptist Association and writes the Sunday School lesson for Gospel Echoes, which also is used over radio station HCJB in Quito.

He also is a member of the board of directors of the Denver Baptist Seminary, Detroit Bible Institute, Cleveland Bible Institute, National Association of Evangelicals, Hiawathaland Independent Baptist Missions, National Sunday School Association, Missionary Workers, Inc., Radio Station HCJB, Ukrainian Missionary Society and the National Religious Broadcasters.

He also is a member of the International Association of Evangelists, associated with "Christ for America" and has been listed in "Who's Who In America."

Through the years Mrs. Savage has been active in the work of the church. She was for many years superintendent of one of the branch Sunday Schools and is now teaching a class in the main Sunday school. She also is active in the missionary program of the church.

Accounting Is Asked of Teamster Funds

an injunction against further functioning by the present officials and "to show why the group's requests should not be granted."

Snyder's bill asserts that Keating, who was automatically unseated as president following his indictment, came to Pontiac in 1941 without cash funds or apparent property.

The bill of complaint alleges that since coming to Pontiac in 1941 Keating has benefited from union funds through property purchases and other activities which have hidden the real ownership of the funds.

Linteau, former secretary of the local, and Keating both were given a vote of confidence by Hoffa and appointed as business agents following their indictments on extortion charges.

State Representative Harrelson, regularly a business agent for the local, was later appointed as acting president by Hoffa.

The bill claims that the value of Keating's property and other interests . . . "amounts to many times the total compensation received by the said defendant for his service as president of Local 614 during the corresponding period of time."

The complaint also charges that union leaders: ". . . by means of conspiracy and rigging of the nominating and election procedure and qualifications for eligibility of the members for offices . . . elected Keating and Linteau, to be the duly elected president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the said local upon the vote of less than 25 members voting at the election in 1949."

Snyder's bill claims that many hundreds of qualified members were denied the right to vote, or refused to vote because of such fraudulent election procedure."

The present legal action specifically asks for:

1. "Termination of the trusteeship.
2. "That all offices of the local be declared vacated, and
3. "That a date, time and place for the regular election of new officers of the local be set pursuant to the International Constitution prior to Dec. 31, 1953, which date was extended to Jan. 31, 1954."

Signing the bill in the Oakland County Clerk's office during the filing of the paper were Robert Godfrey Jr., Floyd Hook, Charles J. Grimm, Raleigh C. Fetherlyn, Ronald W. Smith, Robert Harrington, Harold LaBarre and Leon R. Messler, all members of the local.

They claim they represent the members of local 614 who have been attempting to win control from the group headed by Keating and Linteau.

It was learned today that Keating is a patient in Pontiac General Hospital. Hospital attendants said he was hospitalized "for observation."

Parked Car Struck

Incomplete reports of an auto accident which occurred Thursday night on U.S. 10 in Drayton Plains resulting in an error in the Pontiac Press yesterday.

Mrs. Joyce O'Jibway, 31, of 245 Josephine Ave., was not operating her auto, when it was struck by another car driven by Lloyd G. Kirby, 25, of 2245 Hedge, Waterford Township. Her car was parked along the roadside, she reports.

Death Takes Mrs. Sachse

Suffered Long Illness; Had Been Active in Club and Civic Work

Mrs. Otto (Adelaide) Sachse, 81, of 85 Mary Day Ave. died Friday at 3:30 p.m. after a prolonged illness.

Born in Genesee County, Oct. 17, 1872, she was the daughter of Jay and Sarah Curran Stadler. She married Mr. Sachse at Mt. Morris in 1893 and had resided in Pontiac 45 years.

Mrs. Sachse was a member of the All Saints Episcopal Church, and before her illness was active in many social and civic organizations.

They included Tuesday Musicale, Woman's Literary Club, Norton Ave. Hospital Guild, Pontiac Hospital Association and the Friendship Birthday Club.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one niece, Virginia Wood of Pontiac.

The funeral will be Monday at 2:30 p. m. from the Farmer-Snover Funeral Home. The Rev. C. George Widdifield, her pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Samuel W. Cannon

Samuel W. Cannon, 71, of 185 Wolfe St. died in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital at 5 a.m. today. He had been ill 10 days.

Born in Marion, N. C., March 10, 1882, he was the son of Phillip S. and Mary D. Turner Cannon. He married Minnie E. Wilson at Bakersville, N. C., 50 years ago and had lived in Pontiac 29 years. Before his retirement in 1925, he was a spot welder at Fisher Body Division.

Besides his widow he is survived by two sons and two daughters, Robert of Rochester, John H. of Marlette, Mrs. Helen Greenway of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Carol Lee of New York City.

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Anna Sinclair of Pontiac, Mrs. Nancy Benfield of Burlington, N.C., and Mrs. Della Simpson of Nebo, N.C.; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Miss Maxine H. Faber

Miss Maxine H. Faber, 35, of 16 S. Shirley Ave., was dead upon admittance to Pontiac General Hospital at 8 a.m. today. She had been ill for one week.

Born in Pontiac April 24, 1918, she was the daughter of William and Anna Suhr Faber. She attended Pontiac schools and had been employed as church secretary at the Grace Lutheran Church of which she was a member for several years.

She is survived by her father and a sister, Mrs. Robert H. Schapler of Pontiac.

The body will be at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home until 10 a.m. Tuesday when it will be taken to the Grace Lutheran Church where it may be viewed until noon.

The funeral will be at 2 p.m. from the church. The Rev. Otto G. Schultz, her pastor, will officiate and burial will be in the Glen Eden Cemetery on Eight Mile Road.

Sture O. Rohn

Funeral for Sture O. Rohn, 65, of 509 Elizabeth Lake Rd. will be Monday at 2 p.m. from Pursley Funeral Home. The Rev. Otto G. Schultz, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Oakland Hills Memorial Park Cemetery.

Mr. Rohn died in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Thursday.

leaders that the country is undergoing no more than an adjustment which will run a natural course without serious trouble.

However, echoing the expressed views of many Democrats, Truman said in New York last night, "The recession that started on the farms last spring has already spread to the city streets—and a depression would do likewise."

Truman spoke at a dinner meeting of Americans for Democratic Action.

In Denver, Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell asked, "If things are so fine, why are President Eisenhower, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago and House Speaker Joe Martin talking about recession and readjustment?"

He said his Republican counterpart, Leonard Hall, "should get out of the White House ballyhoo atmosphere and talk to some storekeepers, farmers and ranchers and housewives. He'd find a great many people not as well off today as a year ago."

The Republicans who polished off chicken from $1.50 lunch boxes they held in their laps heard speaker after speaker lash the Democratic opposition with stronger words than the President used.

McCarthy Says Dems Tolerate Crooks, Cronies

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) says the Democratic party has "irrevocably labeled itself" as standing for government by "Communists, crooks and cronies."

In a speech last night before some 4,500 persons attending a Lincoln Day meeting, the Wisconsin senator said Democratic leaders had tried to "scare the country into a depression," so that they may win an election. The speech was the second of nine he is making on a tour of the nation.

In a press conference after the address, McCarthy said "the greatest bulwark against the Communist menace is the church."

Slump Ending, Report Shows

Economists Predicting Upswing in Production Sometime in Spring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence gathered by the Senate-House Economic Committee suggests that the slump in jobs and production "has begun to level off" and will turn into a recovery this spring, Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) said today.

The committee, weighing the anti-depression program President Eisenhower presented to Congress in his economic report last month, took testimony from the heads of nine government economic and statistical agencies this week.

Their findings, Rep. Wolcott said in an interview, clearly point to a seasonal upturn in hiring and business activity in the early spring, followed by a possibly substantial economic revival in the fall.

"The upturn should come early enough," he forecast, "so that production and employment in 1954 will be only slightly below the average of 1953—which set an all-time record."

Wolcott said he hoped to get from the committee a final report "as nearly unanimous as it's possible to get in Congress," on the policies and legislation needed to maintain a stable prosperity.

But the committee obviously was split on party lines on at least two major elements of the White House program—taxes and agriculture.

Democratic members attacked Eisenhower's tax revision program, on grounds that it contains too many benefits to business, presented as incentives to greater production. Some indicated they would support, instead, a $100 increase in the $600 individual income tax exemption for dependents. This would add to consumers' ability to "purchase the production we've already got," one Democrat explained.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey retorted that the President's tax proposals are a "balanced program" which would benefit both business and consumers.

The Democrats assailed the Eisenhower program for gradually lowered, flexible crop supports. Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) led the attack, saying that the "shock" of lowered price supports might set off a general agricultural depression with serious effect on the whole economy.

While the argument over future farm programs went on, Senate-House conferees yesterday agreed to give the Commodity Credit Corp. $681,739,703 more to finance price support operations under the present program.

Diggs Introduces Bill to Compensate Calloway

LANSING (AP)—The State Senate has received a bill calling for payment of $13,533 to Willie Calloway for the 7 years and 11 months he spent in prison for a crime he did not commit.

Senator Charles Diggs Jr., who introduced the bill, said the money would be paid "out of humanitarian consideration for the wrong done of Calloway by the citizens of the state of Michigan."

SUGGESTION PAYS OFF—Ellis H. Storey 638 Detroit St., Lake Orion, hit the jack-pot at Pontiac Motor Division when his money-saving suggestion in the chrome plating plant was awarded $2,500. Robert M. Only two other suggestions of the many to win cash awards at Pontiac have won the maximum of $2,500 since start of the suggestion plan. They went to Frank James, 312 Dover Rd., in the tool room and Bert Joiner, 263 S. Paddock St., in the camshaft department.

Team Stands By to Curb Trouble

8 Men Fly to Outposts to Keep Armed Forces Mechanically Working

DETROIT (INS)—An eight-man team of trouble-shooters in Detroit is ready to fly to any American military post in the world on a few hours notice.

They have the dirty job of correcting mechanical bugs that pop up when Detroit designed military vehicles are operating in the field.

The trouble-shooters work out of the field liaison office at the Detroit arsenal. Each man averages more than 32,000 travel miles annually in the fight to keep America's armed forces operating mechanically.

On-the-spot investigations frequently show the need for a design change in a vehicle. More often, it's a matter of training the troops who run the machines.

As one Technician put it, "It's not too unusual to find a vehicle condemned because someone forgot to put gas in it—or at least the proper kind of gas."

Once a trouble-shooter traveled to Germany to check a main drive gear that was repeatedly being stripped in the M-47 tank. Come to find out, field mechanics were mismatching replacement parts. A short, instructive lecture cured the complaint.

Another time in Korea, M-46 tank batteries were constantly going dead leaving the machines immobile in the face of the enemy. An inspection showed a tiny, 20-cent resistor wasn't big enough to carry the load.

Reflections

LINCOLN'S COMPASSION

by J. Lee Voorhees

J. L. VOORHEES

Of all the elements of Abe Lincoln's character that endeared him to us his compassion was the strongest.

When Grant lay siege to Vicksburg, Lincoln saw and felt the suffering of those non-combatants; he heard the whine of shells, saw women, children and the aged run for their caves. He lived with them in the stifling caverns, felt the pressure of bodies as they squeezed closer and closer, felt the oppressive lack of oxygen, ducked when a shell exploded close to the entrance and fought with the men to claw away the earth as their cave was sealed by an erratic cannon ball. He walked the muddy streets of that little town between bombardments, saw the glassless windows, gaping like sockets in a skull, the gun boats on the placid Mississippi and felt compassion that wrung his great heart. In a note he said, "If I had known I would have gladly lifted that siege—."

M. E. SIPLE

We revere Abe Lincoln for many reasons; his great, compassionate heart touched us most deeply. Stop a minute February 12th, thank God for the example He gave us in Lincoln.

Bob Considine Writes:

Of Movie Code, Birthdays, Whirlybirds in Southland

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—Some people. . . and places—

Proponents of changes in the decency code of the motion picture industry—which would make pictures like "The Moon is Blue" the rule rather than the exception—were given something of a set-back recently by Gen. Frank Howley, former U. S. commandant in Berlin and now of New York University. He could not see that the code was obsolete.

Quoting from the code, he said that it prescribed, for instance, "murder should be presented in such a manner that it will not be imitated."

"Is that old-fashioned?" he asked.

So much of the tax-payers' money is shot aimlessly from the cannon of our concern for foreign peoples that one is inclined to wince when he learns that a wonderful little plan to reach the hearts of children overseas is experiencing difficulty getting any funds at all.

It is the plan of Mrs. Ira J. Heller, of Merion, Pa., a woman who believes that if there is to be peace and understanding in the world it must begin in the young.

She originated the "share your birthday" campaign which has prompted countless American children to send a portion of their birthday toys to children in foreign countries. More than 8,000,000 toys have been distributed through the generosity of childish hearts.

In this, a land with a towering literacy rate, fewer books are bought and read per capita than in any other modern democracy. An organization named Broadcast Music, Inc., has been trying to do something about that for the past years. It enlists the services of well-known people as reviewers of good books for young people and distributes those reviews (in 15-minute tape-recording form) to about 1,000 radio stations in this country and Canada.

Reviewers have included Harold Stassen, Estes Kefauver, George Fielding Eliot, Bennett Cerf, Joseph Henry Jackson, Paul Smith and a number of working reporters.

Pittsburgh's Shoppers Forced to Tote Packages

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Shoppers loaded down with bundles remained a familiar sight on Pittsburgh streets today as deadlocked contract negotiations pushed a strike against the city's five largest department stores into the 11th week.

About 4,000 members of 11 AFL unions, including truck drivers who make deliveries, are off the job. However, 8,000 other employes have stayed on the job pending negotiation of new pacts.

Cpl. Dickenson Gets a New Investigator

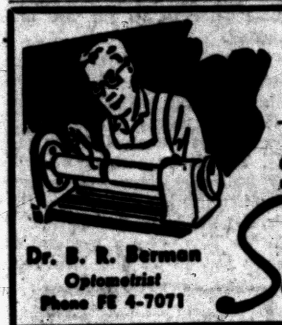

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, former Korean prisoner of war who changed his mind about staying with the Reds, will have a new officer in charge of investigating his case as the result of objection by defense counsel.

The military district of Washington, which is handling the pre-trial inquiry as to whether Dickenson should face court-martial, announced last night that Col. James Jewett Carnes has been relieved as officer in charge of the pre-trial group. Lt Col. George W. Carter Jr. has been named in Carnes' place.

Aside from saying the switch was due to a request from defense counsel Lt. Col. E. Hendrick, the announcement gave no further explanation.

Dickenson has been charged with having intercourse with the enemy and seeking favorable treatment while he was held in a Communist prison camp.

About 70 per cent of all the crippled persons in the U. S. are men, of whom about 1.4 million are of working ages in the 16 to 64 year bracket.

Korean Treaty Ratified

If members of the Senate had any doubts as to the wisdom of approving the mutual defense treaty with South Korea, they vanished before the chamber voted its formal ratification.

Some previously expressed misgivings no doubt could be traced to South Korean President RHEE's several bellicose statements of his intent to unify Korea by force.

It should be remembered that so far Dr. RHEE hasn't taken any action to make good these threats. Also, and this is important, our Government promised him a defense pact as an inducement to accept the armistice in the first place.

Certainly South Korea is the country which suffered most terribly from the long drawn out war. As such it is entitled to whatever assurance we can give it against renewed attack from north of the 38th Parallel. At the same time it was vital that our Government avoid commitment to back any South Korean military aggression.

This point was emphasized during discussions of the treaty. In fact it was made clear that the pact only pledges the United States in the event of an attack on South Korea to "act in accordance with its constitutional processes."

In other words this pact is merely an extension of Pacific Defense treaties already negotiated with Japan, Australia and New Zealand. Actually the treaty's built-in limitations are generally expected to act as strong deterrents to any rash action by Dr. RHEE.

Human Tide Reversed

Due in part to greater industrial development in Puerto Rico the strong tide of immigration from that island to New York has been reversed.

Last year, according to the commonwealth's Department of Labor, a net total of 70,000 islanders took up residence in our largest city. In the last three months of the year, however, 25,000 more Puerto Ricans returned to their homeland than came to the mainland.

Among the strong lures to returnees is the prospect of 10,000 new jobs to be created annually by the Puerto Rican Industrial Development Co. This organization expects to build at least 100 new plants a year to add to the 250 already operating.

Other prospects for more employment include plans to reclaim 30,000 agricultural acres. Also planned are facilities for the production of 100,000,000 additional kilowatt hours of electricity annually.

It is good news that economic conditions are improving in Puerto Rico not only for the islanders but for New York. With this human tide reversed, housing and social problems created in Spanish Harlem by the influx, soon should begin to ease.

Seaway Hopes Brighten

House Public Works Committee approval of U.S. participation in the St. Lawrence Waterway is significant and cheering.

First, it means that Rep. GEORGE A. DONDERO, a long time seaway advocate, soon may realize his ambition to pilot this bill to final passage. Second, the committee's favorable 23 to 6 vote marked the first time this project, conceived in 1895, has received kindly treatment from any committee of the lower chamber.

Actually the wide margin in favor was unexpected. Less than a month ago an informal poll of the committee indicated more members against than for the measure.

The bill was amended in committee to require that all of the U. S. share of the tolls be earmarked to retire the $105,000,000 in revenue bonds, our part of the construction costs.

This enabling act modeled on a bill co-authored by Rep. DONDERO and Sen. WILEY of Wisconsin, still has another important hurdle to negotiate before it can reach the House floor. It must have the approval of the Rules Committee and Rep. DONDERO already has set machinery in motion in the hope of getting the OK within a few days.

The facts that the Senate has approved the bill and Administration leaders are strongly behind it, have brightened chances for final House approval.

For the House it will be a last chance decision. Failure to approve the bill will mean that Canada not only would build the seaway alone, but have full control of its operation and tolls.

New Hope for Iran

Dark though Iran's economic skies have been since oil production ceased, there now is hope that revenue from this source soon will begin to flow again.

Word from Tehran indicates the probability that Premier ZAHEDI's government will accept advice offered by a special committee. This advice was that the government permit a group of American, British and Iranian oil companies to market the country's oil.

For Iran the grim truth is that it has little choice but to accept. Everyone has gotten along very well without Iranian oil, which is only six per cent of world production. But Iran long has known it can't get along without the revenue its oil will produce.

The People's Business:

Who's Running?

Candidates Make Latest Capital Guessing Game

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—The political grapevine is more grape than vine these days.

Politicians, who love the game "who's goin' to run for guv'nor," are getting so muddled this year they act like they are playing cat's cradle with wet taffy.

Is Williams going to go for governor or senator? How's Brake holding up? What do you hear from Don Leonard? Is Higgins serious? What the heck is Cleary up to? Where does Keyes figure?

The heighth of something or other was reached this week when a Democratic legislator deduced that Williams was going to run for governor because he was not supporting a bill to buy a governor's mansion! Explanation: Williams wouldn't want that to be a campaign issue. Get it? Cute, eh? No.

It's getting so that every time Williams announces a speaking engagement, which is 13 times a day, six reporters acting on a hot tip race out to cover the long-awaited announcement they just know he's going to make.

Probably when he does make the announcement there won't be anyone there but Nancy and she won't be able to clap because her arm's in a sling.

The faithful have been alerted six times for an announcement from Donald S. Leonard, Detroit police commissioner. Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary is so badgered he says "I haven't made up my mind" if you just ask him how the weather looks.

Dr. Eugene Keyes, the frenetic political aspirant from Dearborn, is busy writing himself letters, with copies to all his friends, about what a great guy Keyes would be in the governor's office.

Ex-U. S. Sen. Blair Moody is looking so much like a sphinx these days that, on meeting him, you immediately peer eastward for a glimpse of the blue Nile.

Cause of all this modesty and restraint, of course, is Gov. Williams' refusal to punt or play trumps.

Only the determined D. Hale Brake keeps plugging along. He's running for governor while the rest of them run in circles.

But the rest of them are verging on a split personality trying to figure the lay of the land. And the longer it goes the worse it gets.

The insiders have just about made up their minds that Williams intends to seek a fourth term as governor. But they were convinced, and with some reason, two months ago that it was the senatorship he wanted.

He's still in position to go either way, although concensus grows that he will find U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson, the Republican incumbent, no pushover if he seeks the Senate post.

Organized labor, the Williams' devotees, his wife, his staff—all reportedly are pushing Williams toward the governorship, many of them for purely selfish reasons, they don't want to let go of a good thing.

It seems definite that Sen. George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) will oppose Brake for the Republican nomination—and a lot of folks think that will be the ticket right there.

It appears to be to Williams' advantage to keep them guessing as long as possible. He has been advised to withhold any announcement until the Legislature is through April 9, or until it is nearly done.

But, oh, the strain of waiting.

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical, in its nature.)

Raymond Ed Pace says it cost him $50 for exceeding our speed limit by three miles. Our court records show he paid $20 fine and $5 costs on a charge of careless driving to which he pleaded guilty.

This is a charge, less than reckless driving, which we have in Sylvan Lake to save motorists from having minor citations placed against their driving records.

Pace charged we could not have a 15 mile speed limit. We can and do have such a legal limit in a recreation area.

Abe Zamek Commends General Hospital Staff

I was recently confined for a short time in Pontiac General Hospital and would like to commend that institution for its service.

I found the staff cooperative, understanding and efficient. My meals were well prepared and in sufficient quantity. The facilities used to promote my recovery and provide for comfort and safety were modern, plentious and used unstintingly.

I hope the hospital with its fine staff will continue to offer this good service to the citizens of our city.

St. Scholastica Founded a Convent; Her Twin, St. Benedict, Founded a Monastery

DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

St. Scholastica was the twin sister of St. Benedict, founder of the great Benedictine monastic order. They lived in Italy in the Sixth Century.

When Benedict started his monastery, Scholastica founded a convent five miles away, modelling the convent life on the same strict rules inaugurated by her brother.

They broke their seclusion once a year, tradition says, and met at a half-way point to engage in deep spiritual conversation.

Gregory the Great tells a story about their last meeting. Scholastica had a premonition of death, and knowing that this would be the last time she would see her brother, hoped to prolong the interview. As evening closed in, she begged Benedict to spend the entire night in discussion with her.

Horrified at the idea of staying away from his monastery after hours, Benedict stoutly declined. Whereupon Scholastica simply lowered her eyes, clasped her hands, and was silent for a few moments.

Immediately there came a thunderstorm of such violence and intensity that Benedict had no choice in the matter.

Three days later, on Feb. 10, 543, Scholastica died.

Feb. 11, the African Methodist Episcopal Church will honor the memory of its founder and first Bishop, Richard Allen, who was born on this day in 1760, the son of slave parents living in Philadelphia.

It would have been difficult for any young men, slave or free, to have done what Richard Allen did in Colonial America. The fact that he educated himself to the point where the Methodist Church was willing to license him as a preacher was in itself a feat for a slave boy.

The greatest mystery is how he had managed to amass $2,000 and purchase his own freedom by the time he was 26 years old. That would be the equivalent of $15,000 or $20,000 today.

By 1786 Richard Allen was a free citizen, leading a Negro congregation which met on Sunday afternoons in St. George's Methodist Church in Philadelphia.

Within a year he personally bought a lot and moved onto it an old blacksmith shop and there began America's first church for colored people. Members were known as Alleanites.

His church soon had a charter from the Pennsylvania legislature, and plans were under way for a new church building.

The building, completed in 1794, was dedicated by the great Francis Asbury, first Methodist bishop in America. Allen's acceptance by the white man's church was complete when in 1799 he was ordained to the Methodist ministry.

By 1816 the Methodist work among the Negroes had grown so tremendously, and Allen was so insistent on the rights of his people, that the time seemed right for the organization of a Negro church on a national scale. Allen became its first bishop.

There is an ancient Jewish legend which says that when the Torah (the first five books of the Old Testament) was given, God first offered it to several other nations, but all of them turned it down because they did not care to assume its difficult laws and regulations.

Last of all it was offered to the Jews, who took it without reservation.

Israel might therefore be more accurately called "the choosing people." They have accepted "the burden of the Torah"; that is, the responsibility of handing down through the centuries God's basic moral and spiritual truths. But there is in this sense of appointed duty no suggestion of Jewish superiority.

Rabbi Mordecai M. Kaplan sums up the Jewish attitude when he says "In a sense, every great people that has contributed to enlightenment and progress is chosen of God."

Case Records of a Psychologist

Says Everyone Craves Outlets for His Energy

Pioneer boys used to get rid of their excess energy by whittling or making whistles, etc. Nowadays, your smart hostesses should recognize the need to keep one's fingers occupied, so place a dozen hand gadgets where your guests can toy with them as a nervous outlet.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case K-318: Phillip, aged 23, is the second eldest of our five children.

"Dad, just look at my hands," he exclaimed, and thrust both of them in front of me.

They were cracked and bleeding at several points.

"How did they get this way?" I inquired.

"Oh, I keep picking at any rough spot on the skin, just as a nervous outlet," he ruefully confessed.

"And when I go to a movie and get interested, I'm hardly aware of the fact but I apparently just pick at the broken skin till my hands begin to bleed all over again."

That's one reason for the continuation of the tobacco habit after it has once been started.

For smokers expend some of their nervousness by waving their arm back and forth at stipulated intervals in the act of smoking.

Without a cigaret between their fingers, however, they'd look silly if they sat and waved their arm in the same manner.

We humans crave outlets for energy. This is even more evident with school children who fidget and pick their hangnails, or chew their fingernails to the quick.

So we have recess periods in school, just to let the kids run outdoors and try to drain off part of this pent-up energy via the leg action involved in footraces, football, baseball, etc.

"Dr. Crane, when I attend a party, I soon begin to feel self conscious about my hands," a coed recently informed me.

"Then they begin to feel as big and awkward as hams of meat. So what can I do to overcome this embarrassing situation?"

One reason why cocktail shaking is popular is the fact that modern young people crave something to occupy their hands.

So you hostesses should try to meet this need by quickly making it possible for guests to pick up something in their fingers and toy with it.

Instead of cocktail shaker or cigarets, give them mechanical puzzles, such as metal rings that can be taken apart by certain motions.

Novelty stores have many of these clever gadgets that will preoccupy one's hands far more constructively than with cigarettes or cocktail glasses.

But if you hostesses don't have such things scattered around the room, then your guests feel jittery.

Chewing gum is also an outlet for nervous tension and is actually prescribed for neurotic youngsters by psychiartists.

Many men will also toy with their key rings, just as a nervous outlet. Others keep twisting their wedding ring around one of their fingers.

In my own case, I keep tossing my pencil, end over end, in the air and trying to make it do a complete revolution before I catch it by the same end. This is similar to the baton twirling of band leaders.

It would be a wise plan if every new guest were handed some hand gadget to solve or play with as soon as he entered the room, for young folks would then get rid of their pent-up energy in a constructive fashion.

I suggested that Phillip use a key ring to keep his fingers occupied.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

This legislative immunity business is mallard consomme for the guy who wants to hide behind Uncle Sam's coat-tails.

It says a distinct as square eggs that no congressman is three gimmickries during sessions. And nobody can pot the finger on him coming and goong from the gilded dome.

Even if he takes the oath of office in hog Latin he cannot be quizzed about it on any other panel. Article 1, Section 6, of the well known constitution vaccinates him thissaway, "They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at sessions of their respective houses, and in going and returning from the same."

Of course two-thirds of the house can expel three-thirds of him.

But, otherwise, he can get a sunstroke playing winter rules. And all you can do about it is sputter like a post-office pen.

Even when one congressman blasts another fellow-clubster out of the tank, he's as safe as a batter sliding to first on a bas on balls.

The vitrolic John Randolph paid tribute to the twisted brilliance of Henry Clay with the parliamentary indictment, "Like a mackerel in the moonlight he shone and stank."

What redress did the uncommon Clay have? He challenged Randy to a duel. What did Randolph do? He chose oyster forks at different banquets.

We consider it a bit pusillanimous for a legislator to hide behind his laundry frank.

But that's the way it reads in Article 1, Section 6. If revenge is sweet it takes 36 legislatures to gratify.

Reader Sends Report After Taking Iodin, Says It Cleared Up Bad Brown Spots

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE MAIL BOX

Brown Spots

Had terrible brown spots on neck and shoulders. Doctors merely laughed and said "You've had the spots a long time." After many years I read of your Iodin Ration. It has cleared up all the spots. (Mrs. B. M. B.)

Answer — Thank you. Every man, woman and child should have an adequate daily intake of iodin. It may not clear up spots, but anyway it can do no harm. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for instructions for taking the Iodin Rations.

At Your Own Peril

I have wanted for some time to try somersaults but you frighten me when you say "you must turn 'em at your own peril." (T. A. T.)

Answer — Well, after all you can't have absolute security and live too. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and asked in writing for pamphlet on Somersaults. Read it over and if you still feel too stiff or fragile to try turning 'em, get back into the chimney corner where you'll be reasonably safe.

Shots for Arthritis

Having spent a good deal of money for shots for arthritis without any apparent benefit, I decided to follow the plan you recommended in Little Lesson No. 12. I am happy to report that after six months of it I am better than for years and to say that I am grateful . . . (W. D. B.)

Answer — Fine! The fact that you bother to report at all is enough. Few do so, unless or until they want to complain.

Fishwives

Several women in our office believe that children born to mothers past 30 are more likely to be feeble minded . . . (Mrs. S. C. R.)

Answer — On the contrary, children born of mothers past 30 and past 40 have as high or higher IQ as their older brothers and sisters. Send 25 cents and stamped self-addressed envelope for booklet Preparing for Maternity.. I do not now claim that any one who can roll hal fa dozen somersaults every morning can have a baby, but I do say that any woman of 40 who can do so need not fear childbirth.

Jitters

Daughter was so nervous that she failed in two subjects . . . but this last exam she prepared by taking the quinine and thiamin and passed easily, but she refuses to give your advice any credit . . . (Mrs. O. C.)

Answer — The mule had no faith in the vet's medicine, but it cured him just the same. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing (clipping will not suffice) for pamphlet Stage Fright and Examination Jitters.

An Obsession

Prior to my marriage (nine years ago), mother insisted on each of us children taking a large dose of salts every week. She said it was necessary to keep the system cleaned . . . I swore I'd never take another physic when I left home, and I never did, although I worried a little about it at first. I found I never needed one. We value your common sense advice . . . (Mrs. T. F.)

Answer — Mother meant well, of course. But what could you expect — her health education was limited to what Lydia Pinkham, Dr. Pierce, Mrs. Winslow and other oldtimers thought good for her. Slaves to physic or enema should send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for No. 25 Little Lesson Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene.

Cocoa Butter Hokum

Did you ever hear of cocoa butter to rub on to develop skinny . . . ?

Answer — Uh-huh, and it is a silly notion. Nothing applied to or "rubbed into" the skin can "build up" or "develop" or round out or in any way increase the measurement of any part of the body. You may get some help from the pamphlet How to Gain Weight, available on written request (clipping will not suffice) if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 150 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if A stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Repentant Thief Poses Problem in Sentencing

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—James Kulick, 27, of Swoyersville, who repented and confessed to a robbery, has been paroled in police custody while a court ponders sentence.

Kulick returned $130 he had gotten in a holdup Thursday from Kingston fruit market proprietor Philip Ancillo.

He handed the money back while Kingston Police Chief David Francis looked on. Although Ancillo said he did not want to prefer charges, Francis ruled that he must arrest Kulick.

Kulick pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge J. Harold Flannery who then deferred immediate sentence and paroled the repentant robber in custody of Francis.

Police said Kulick committed the holdup after his wife poked fun at him for his inability to make more money. They said he handed her the money and told her of the robbery. The two talked it over and Kulick decided to return the money.

Firemen Obey Sign, $1,000 Damage Done

LANCASTER, Pa (AP)—Volunteer firemen in southern Lancaster County were allowed on Jacob Schmuckle's property yesterday for the first time since the day before Christmas.

Schmuckle claimed that volunteers searching for a lost boy the day before Christmas had caused $1,000 damage to his property. He threatened a lawsuit and put up no trespassing signs.

Yesterday, the firemen were called to a blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Harmon, adjoining Schmuckle's property. The Harmon's home was destroyed, leaving them and seven children homeless.

Embers from the blaze landed on Schmuckle's valuable timberland. Firemen looked at the signs and made no move for the new blaze.

Several hours after the blaze started, Schmuckle called the firemen and asked their aid. They responded and extinguished the fire—after it had done an estimated $1,000 damage.

Want to Lose Weight... Easy-Like?

Eggs, Meats, Vegetables; All These on Proper Diet

By ELMER WHEELER
Chapter 10

In yesterday's chapter Fat Boy Wheeler told how his home-made reducing diet contained enough calories for an entire family. Then he consulted his doctor and came out with the following diet.

This WILL reduce you:

Breakfast:
Average size tomato juice	25
2 soft-boiled eggs	130
2 slices crisp bacon	50
1 slice any bread, butter, jelly	100
Black coffee or tea	000
Fillin', too	305
Luncheon:
Light soup, cup	25
Normal blue plate of meat, fish	150
Two vegetables	100
Vinegar salad	25
1 slice any bread, butter, jelly	100
Jello desert	25
Buttermilk	80
Black coffee	000
Dinner:
1 thin soup	25
1 order most meats, fish	150
1 order most vegetables (choose three)	150
1 slice bread for "push stick"	100
1 vinegar salad	25
3 fingers cheese, pie, ice cream	150
And you're gasping!	600

If you look this over first without reading the figures, I'll bet you'd think it was more than the self-administered diet.

Yet this totals less than 1,500! Within the bounds of this diet, you stand to lose no less than a quarter of a pound a day!

Now just think — when the dieting is over, you can go a little higher and hold the weight!

And remember—hold the weight, and you'll hold the ladies! Hold the lowered weight for three months and it'll be hard to go back up.

Here is a neat trick I found that lost me pounds, even without dieting.

I trim the fat.

Reducing Chart Free by Writing to Press

This chart, 3½ by 6 inches, may be obtained in the lobby of the Pontiac Press or by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope. Address the Fat Boy's Diet Editor, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Watch Fatty and Skinny eat. Fatty knifes clear through the meat, gulping down fat and all. Skinny takes a moment to trim the fat!

Both think they are eating alike, but just that little bit of trimming reduces many a fatty.

Good grade meat is interlined with enough fat without your eating the fat off the edges. So trim the edge!

Remember, just 1 ounce of food less a day is a loss of nearly 23 pounds a year!

Cat Befriends Unusually Tame 18 Lb. Raccoon

PRINCETON, Mass (AP)—Look what the cat dragged in—and nobody has the heart to drag out.

Friskus, pet cat of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Slongwhite Sr., brought home an unaccountably tame 18-pound raccoon.

The 'coon lunched on peanuts and bread from a bowl on the Slongwhite's kitchen table, washing it down with water.

Then, even more unlikely, the 'coon consented to be petted and curled up in a living room chair like the master of the house.

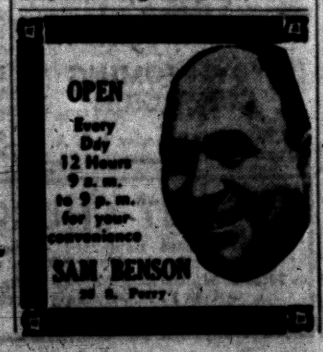

This happened Thursday night and the 'coon is still the Slongwhite's star boarder, because, says Mrs. Slongwhite:

"It's so tame and beautiful, I hate to chase it back into the woods."

Strike May Close 153 A&P Stores

SCRANTON, Pa., (AP)—Union and management representatives meet here today to attempt settlement of a strike that threatens to close 153 A&P food stores in northeastern Pennsylvania and southern New York.

The meeting was arranged yesterday by federal and state mediators. In the meantime, the food chain made last minute plans to close the stores at 6 p.m. (EST) tonight for an indefinite period.

However, a spokesman for the striking union said the membership would vote either tonight or Sunday on any new proposal made by A&P in the negotiating session.

The union — Local 229, AFL-General Drivers and Helpers represents 200 workers in two main food supply warehouses for the northeastern Pennsylvania - southern New York area.

A&P has claimed that the strike, which began last Sunday, has made impossible the delivery of food to the 153 stores.

Neither disputant would discuss details of the strike. It was reported that a wage increase and better working conditions are the principal issues.

Woman Held in Jail on Bad Check Charges

A Pontiac domestic servant waived examination yesterday on bad check charges and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court by Birmingham Judge John J. Gafill.

Mrs. Winnifred Louise Moore, 24, of 356 Howard-McNeill St., is in the Oakland County Jail awaiting appearance in circuit court Feb. 15. She was unable to furnish $2,000 bond.

She is accused of forging seven checks totaling $295, by signing the names of former employers or using fictitious names, according to Birmingham Detective Merle Holmquist.

Korean Treaty Ratified

If members of the Senate had any doubts as to the wisdom of approving the mutual defense treaty with South Korea, they vanished before the chamber voted its formal ratification.

Some previously expressed misgivings no doubt could be traced to South Korean President RHEE's several bellicose statements of his intent to unify Korea by force.

It should be remembered that so far Dr. RHEE hasn't taken any action to make good these threats. Also, and this is important, our Government promised him a defense pact as an inducement to accept the armistice in the first place.

Certainly South Korea is the country which suffered most terribly from the long drawn out war. As such it is entitled to whatever assurance we can give it against renewed attack from north of the 38th Parallel. At the same time it was vital that our Government avoid commitment to back any South Korean military aggression.

This point was emphasized during discussions of the treaty. In fact it was made clear that the pact only pledges the United States in the event of an attack on South Korea to "act in accordance with its constitutional processes."

In other words this pact is merely an extension of Pacific Defense treaties already negotiated with Japan, Australia and New Zealand. Actually the treaty's built-in limitations are generally expected to act as strong deterrents to any rash action by Dr. RHEE.

Human Tide Reversed

Due in part to greater industrial development in Puerto Rico the strong tide of immigration from that island to New York has been reversed.

Last year, according to the commonwealth's Department of Labor, a net total of 70,000 islanders took up residence in our largest city. In the last three months of the year, however, 25,000 more Puerto Ricans returned to their homeland than came to the mainland.

Among the strong lures to returnees is the prospect of 10,000 new jobs to be created annually by the Puerto Rican Industrial Development Co. This organization expects to build at least 100 new plants a year to add to the 250 already operating.

Other prospects for more employment include plans to reclaim 30,000 agricultural acres. Also planned are facilities for the production of 100,000,000 additional kilowatt hours of electricity annually.

It is good news that economic conditions are improving in Puerto Rico not only for the islanders but for New York. With this human tide reversed, housing and social problems created in Spanish Harlem by the influx, soon should begin to ease.

Seaway Hopes Brighten

House Public Works Committee approval of U.S. participation in the St. Lawrence Waterway is significant and cheering.

First, it means that Rep. GEORGE A. DONDERO, a long time seaway advocate, soon may realize his ambition to pilot this bill to final passage. Second, the committee's favorable 23 to 6 vote marked the first time this project, conceived in 1895, has received kindly treatment from any committee of the lower chamber.

Actually the wide margin in favor was unexpected. Less than a month ago an informal poll of the committee indicated more members against than for the measure.

The bill was amended in committee to require that all of the U. S. share of the tolls be earmarked to retire the $105,000,000 in revenue bonds, our part of the construction costs.

This enabling act modeled on a bill co-authored by Rep. DONDERO and Sen. WILEY of Wisconsin, still has another important hurdle to negotiate before it can reach the House floor. It must have the approval of the Rules Committee and Rep. DONDERO already has set machinery in motion in the hope of getting the OK within a few days.

The facts that the Senate has approved the bill and Administration leaders are strongly behind it, have brightened chances for final House approval.

For the House it will be a last chance decision. Failure to approve the bill will mean that Canada not only would build the seaway alone, but have full control of its operation and tolls.

New Hope for Iran

Dark though Iran's economic skies have been since oil production ceased, there now is hope that revenue from this source soon will begin to flow again.

Word from Tehran indicates the probability that Premier ZAHEDI's government will accept advice offered by a special committee. This advice was that the government permit a group of American, British and Iranian oil companies to market the country's oil.

For Iran the grim truth is that it has little choice but to accept. Everyone has gotten along very well without Iranian oil, which is only six per cent of world production. But Iran long has known it can't get along without the revenue its oil will produce.

The People's Business:

Who's Running?

Candidates Make Latest Capital Guessing Game

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—The political grapevine is more grape than vine these days.

Politicians, who love the game "who's goin' to run for guv'nor," are getting so muddled this year they act like they are playing cat's cradle with wet taffy.

Is Williams going to go for governor or senator? How's Brake holding up? What do you hear from Don Leonard? Is Higgins serious? What the heck is Cleary up to? Where does Keyes figure?

The heighth of something or other was reached this week when a Democratic legislator deduced that Williams was going to run for governor because he was not supporting a bill to buy a governor's mansion! Explanation: Williams wouldn't want that to be a campaign issue. Get it? Cute, eh? No.

It's getting so that every time Williams announces a speaking engagement, which is 13 times a day, six reporters acting on a hot tip race out to cover the long-awaited announcement they just know he's going to make.

Probably when he does make the announcement there won't be anyone there but Nancy and she won't be able to clap because her arm's in a sling.

The faithful have been alerted six times for an announcement from Donald S. Leonard, Detroit police commissioner. Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary is so badgered he says "I haven't made up my mind" if you just ask him how the weather looks.

Dr. Eugene Keyes, the frenetic political aspirant from Dearborn, is busy writing himself letters, with copies to all his friends, about what a great guy Keyes would be in the governor's office.

Ex-U. S. Sen. Blair Moody is looking so much like a sphinx these days that, on meeting him, you immediately peer eastward for a glimpse of the blue Nile.

Cause of all this modesty and restraint, of course, is Gov. Williams' refusal to punt or play trumps.

Only the determined D. Hale Brake keeps plugging along. He's running for governor while the rest of them run in circles.

But the rest of them are verging on a split personality trying to figure the lay of the land. And the longer it goes the worse it gets.

The insiders have just about made up their minds that Williams intends to seek a fourth term as governor. But they were convinced, and with some reason, two months ago that it was the senatorship he wanted.

He's still in position to go either way, although concensus grows that he will find U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson, the Republican incumbent, no pushover if he seeks the Senate post.

Organized labor, the Williams' devotees, his wife, his staff—all reportedly are pushing Williams toward the governorship, many of them for purely selfish reasons, they don't want to let go of a good thing.

It seems definite that Sen. George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) will oppose Brake for the Republican nomination—and a lot of folks think that will be the ticket right there.

It appears to be to Williams' advantage to keep them guessing as long as possible. He has been advised to withhold any announcement until the Legislature is through April 9, or until it is nearly done.

But, oh, the strain of waiting.

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Raymond Ed Pace says it cost him $50 for exceeding our speed limit by three miles. Our court records show he paid $20 fine and $5 costs on a charge of careless driving to which he pleaded guilty.

This is a charge, less than reckless driving, which we have in Sylvan Lake to save motorists from having minor citations placed against their driving records.

Pace charged we could not have a 15 mile speed limit. We can and do have such a legal limit in a recreation area.

Abe Zamek Commends General Hospital Staff

I was recently confined for a short time in Pontiac General Hospital and would like to commend that institution for its service.

I found the staff cooperative, understanding and efficient. My meals were well prepared and in sufficient quantity. The facilities used to promote my recovery and provide for comfort and safety were modern, plentious and used unstintingly.

I hope the hospital with its fine staff will continue to offer this good service to the citizens of our city.

St. Scholastica Founded a Convent; Her Twin, St. Benedict, Founded a Monastery

DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

St. Scholastica was the twin sister of St. Benedict, founder of the great Benedictine monastic order. They lived in Italy in the Sixth Century.

When Benedict started his monastery, Scholastica founded a convent five miles away, modelling the convent life on the same strict rules inaugurated by her brother.

They broke their seclusion once a year, tradition says, and met at a half-way point to engage in deep spiritual conversation.

Gregory the Great tells a story about their last meeting. Scholastica had a premonition of death, and knowing that this would be the last time she would see her brother, hoped to prolong the interview. As evening closed in, she begged Benedict to spend the entire night in discussion with her.

Horrified at the idea of staying away from his monastery after hours, Benedict stoutly declined. Whereupon Scholastica simply lowered her eyes, clasped her hands, and was silent for a few moments.

Immediately there came a thunderstorm of such violence and intensity that Benedict had no choice in the matter.

Three days later, on Feb. 10, 543, Scholastica died.

Feb. 11, the African Methodist Episcopal Church will honor the memory of its founder and first Bishop, Richard Allen, who was born on this day in 1760, the son of slave parents living in Philadelphia.

It would have been difficult for any young men, slave or free, to have done what Richard Allen did in Colonial America. The fact that he educated himself to the point where the Methodist Church was willing to license him as a preacher was in itself a feat for a slave boy.

The greatest mystery is how he had managed to amass $2,000 and purchase his own freedom by the time he was 26 years old. That would be the equivalent of $15,000 or $20,000 today.

By 1786 Richard Allen was a free citizen, leading a Negro congregation which met on Sunday afternoons in St. George's Methodist Church in Philadelphia.

Within a year he personally bought a lot and moved onto it an old blacksmith shop and there began America's first church for colored people. Members were known as Allenites.

His church soon had a charter from the Pennsylvania legislature, and plans were under way for a new church building.

The building, completed in 1794, was dedicated by the great Francis Asbury, first Methodist bishop in America. Allen's acceptance by the white man's church was complete when in 1799 he was ordained to the Methodist ministry.

By 1816 the Methodist work among the Negroes had grown so tremendously, and Allen was so insistent on the rights of his people, that the time seemed right for the organization of a Negro church on a national scale. Allen became its first bishop.

There is an ancient Jewish legend which says that when the Torah (the first five books of the Old Testament) was given, God first offered it to several other nations, but all of them turned it down because they did not care to assume its difficult laws and regulations.

Last of all it was offered to the Jews, who took it without reservation.

Israel might therefore be more accurately called "the choosing people." They have accepted "the burden of the Torah"; that is, the responsibility of handing down through the centuries God's basic moral and spiritual truths. But there is in this sense of appointed duty no suggestion of Jewish superiority.

Rabbi Mordecai M. Kaplan sums up the Jewish attitude when he says "In a sense, every great people that has contributed to enlightenment and progress is chosen of God."

Case Records of a Psychologist

Says Everyone Craves Outlets for His Energy

Pioneer boys used to get rid of their excess energy by whittling or making whistles, etc. Nowadays, you smart hostesses should recognize the need to keep one's fingers occupied, so place a dozen hand gadgets where your guests can toy with them as a nervous outlet.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case K-318: Phillip, aged 23, is the second eldest of our five children.

"Dad, just look at my hands," he exclaimed, and thrust both of them in front of me.

They were cracked and bleeding at several points.

"How did they get this way?" I inquired.

"Oh, I keep picking at any rough spot on the skin, just as a nervous outlet," he ruefully confessed.

"And when I go to a movie and get interested, I'm hardly aware of the fact but I apparently just pick at the broken skin till my hands begin to bleed all over again."

That's one reason for the continuation of the tobacco habit after it has once been started.

For smokers expend some of their nervousness by waving their arm back and forth at stipulated intervals in the act of smoking.

Without a cigaret between their fingers, however, they'd look silly if they sat and waved their arm in the same manner.

We humans crave outlets for energy. This is even more evident with school children who fidget and pick their hangnails, or chew their fingernails to the quick.

So we have recess periods in school, just to let the kids run

outdoors and try to drain off part of this pent-up energy via the leg action involved in footraces, football, baseball, etc.

"Dr. Crane, when I attend a party, I soon begin to feel self conscious about my hands," a coed recently informed me.

"Then they begin to feel as big and awkward as hams of meat. So what can I do to overcome this embarrassing situation?"

One reason why cocktail shaking is popular is the fact that modern young people crave something to occupy their hands.

So you hostesses should try to meet this need by quickly making it possible for guests to pick up something in their fingers and toy with it.

Instead of cocktail shaker or cigarets, give them mechanical puzzles, such as metal rings that can be taken apart by certain motions.

Novelty stores have many of these clever gadgets that will preoccupy one's hands far more constructively than with cigarettes or cocktail glasses.

But if you hostesses don't have such things scattered around the room, then your guests feel jittery.

Chewing gum is also an outlet for nervous tension and is actually prescribed for neurotic youngsters by psychiartists.

In my own case, I keep tossing my pencil, end over end, in the air and trying to make it do a complete revolution before I catch it by the same end. This is similar to the baton twirling of band leaders.

It would be a wise plan if every new guest were handed some hand gadget to solve or play with as soon as he entered the room, for young folks would then get rid of their pent-up energy in a constructive fashion.

I suggested that Phillip use a key ring to keep his fingers occupied.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

This legislative immunity business is mallard consomme for the guy who wants to hide behind Uncle Sam's coat-tails.

It says a distinct as square eggs that no congressman is three gimmickries during sessions. And nobody can pot the finger on him coming and goong from the gilded dome.

Even if he takes the oath of office in hog Latin he cannot be quizzed about it on any other panel. Article 1, Section 6, of the well known constitution vaccinates him thissaway, "They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at sessions of their respective houses, and in going and returning from the same."

Of course two-thirds of the house can expel three-thirds of him.

But, otherwise, he can get a sunstroke playing winter rules. And all you can do about it is sputter like a post-office pen.

Even when one congressman blasts another fellow-clubster out of the tank, he's as safe as a batter sliding to first on a bas on balls.

The vitrolic John Randolph paid tribute to the twisted brilliance of Henry Clay with the parliamentary indictment, "Like a mackerel in the moonlight he shone and stank."

What redress did the uncommon Clay have? He challenged Randy to a duel. What did Randolph do? He chose oyster forks at different banquets.

We consider it a bit pusillanimous for a legislator to hide behind his laundry frank.

But that's the way it reads in Article 1, Section 6. If revenge is sweet it takes 36 legislatures to gratify.

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE MAIL BOX

Brown Spots

Had terrible brown spots on neck and shoulders. Doctors merely laughed and said "You've had the spots a long time." After many years I read of your Iodin Ration. It has cleared up all the spots. (Mrs. B. M. E.)

Answer — Thank you. Every man, woman and child should have an adequate daily intake of iodin. It may not clear up spots, but anyway it can do no harm. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for instructions for taking the Iodin Rations.

At Your Own Peril

I have wanted for some time to try somersaults but you frighten me when you say "you must turn 'em at your own peril." (T. A. T.)

Answer — Well, after all you can't have absolute security and live too. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and asked in writing for pamphlet on Somersaults. Read it over and if you still feel too stiff or fragile to try turning 'em, get back into the chimney corner where you'll be reasonably safe.

Shots for Arthritis

Having spent a good deal of money for shots for arthritis without any apparent benefit, I decided to follow the plan you recommended in Little Lesson No. 12. I am happy to report that after six months of it I am better than for years and to say that I am grateful . . . (W. D. N.)

Answer — Fine! The fact that you bother to report at all is enough. Few do so, unless or until they want to complain.

Fishwives

Several women in our office believe that children born to mothers past 30 are more likely to be feeble minded . . . (Mrs. S. O. R.)

Answer — On the contrary, children born of mothers past 30 and past 40 have as high or higher IQ as their older brothers and sisters. Send 25 cents and stamped self-addressed envelope for booklet Preparing for Maternity.. I do not now claim that any one who can roll hal fa dozen somersaults every morning can have a baby, but I do say that any woman of 40 who can do so need not fear childbirth.

Jitters

Daughter was so nervous that she failed in two subjects . . . but this last exam she prepared by taking the quinine and thiamin and passed easily, but she refuses to give your advice any credit . . . (Mrs. O. C.)

Answer — The mule had no faith in the vet's medicine, but it cured him just the same. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing (clipping will not suffice) for pamphlet Stage Fright and Examination Jitters.

An Obsession

Prior to my marriage (nine years ago), mother insisted on each of us children taking a large dose of salts every week. She said it was necessary to keep the system cleaned . . . I swore I'd never take another physic when I left home, and I never did, although I worried a little about it at first. I found I never needed one. We value your common sense advice . . . (Mrs. T. F.)

Answer — Mother meant well, of course. But what could you expect — her health education was limited to what Lydia Pinkham, Dr. Pierce, Mrs. Winslow and other oldtimers thought good for her. Slaves to physic or enema should send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for No. 25 Little Lesson Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene.

Cocoa Butter Hokum

Did you ever hear of cocoa butter to rub on to develop skinny . . . ?

Answer — Uh-huh, and it is a silly notion. Nothing applied to or "rubbed into" the skin can "build up" or "develop" or round out or in any way increase the measurement of any part of the body. You may get some help from the pamphlet How to Gain Weight, available on written request (clipping will not suffice) if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 250 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Repentant Thief Poses Problem in Sentencing

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—James Kulick, 27, of Swoyersville, who repented and confessed to a robbery, has been paroled in police custody while a court ponders sentence.

Kulick returned $130 he had gotten in a holdup Thursday from Kingston fruit market proprietor Philip Ancillo.

He handed the money back while Kingston Police Chief David Francis looked on. Although Ancillo said he did not want to prefer charges, Francis ruled that he must arrest Kulick.

Kulick pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge J. Harold Flannery who then deferred immediate sentence and paroled the repentant robber in custody of Francis.

Police said Kulick committed the holdup after his wife poked fun at him for his inability to make more money. They said he handed her the money and told her of the robbery. The two talked it over and Kulick decided to return the money.

Firemen Obey Sign, $1,000 Damage Done

LANCASTER, Pa (AP)—Volunteer firemen in southern Lancaster County were allowed on Jacob Schmuckle's property yesterday for the first time since the day before Christmas.

Schmuckle claimed that volunteers searching for a lost boy the day before Christmas had caused $1,000 damage to his property. He threatened a lawsuit and put up no trespassing signs.

Yesterday, the firemen were called to a blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Harmon, adjoining Schmuckle's property. The Harmon's home was destroyed, leaving them and seven children homeless.

Embers from the blaze landed on Schmuckle's valuable timberland. Firemen looked at the signs and made no move for the new blaze.

Several hours after the blaze started, Schmuckle called the firemen and asked their aid. They responded and extinguished the fire—after it had done an estimated $1,000 damage.

Want to Lose Weight... Easy-Like?

By ELMER WHEELER
Chapter 10

In yesterday's chapter Fat Boy Wheeler told how his home-made reducing diet contained enough calories for an entire family. Then he consulted his doctor and came out with the following diet.

This WILL reduce you:

Breakfast:

Average size tomato juice	25
2 soft-boiled eggs	130
2 slices crisp bacon	50
1 slice any bread, butter, jelly	100
Black coffee or tea	000
Fillin', too	305

Luncheon:

Light soup, cup	25
Normal blue plate of meat, fish	150
Two vegetables	100
Vinegar salad	25
1 slice any bread, butter, jelly	100
Jello desert	25
Buttermilk	80
Black coffee	000

Dinner:

1 thin soup	25
1 order most meats, fish	150
1 order most vegetables (choose three)	150
1 slice bread for "push stick"	100
1 vinegar salad	25
3 fingers cheese, pie, ice cream	150
And you're gasping!	600

If you look this over first without reading the figures, I'll bet you'd think it was more than the self-administered diet.

Yet this totals less than 1,500! Within the bounds of this diet, you stand to lose no less than a quarter of a pound a day!

Now just think — when the dieting is over, you can go a little higher and hold the weight!

And remember—hold the weight, and you'll hold the ladies! Hold the lowered weight for three months and it'll be hard to go back up.

Here is a neat trick I found that lost me pounds, even without dieting.

I trim the fat.

Reducing Chart Free by Writing to Press

This chart, 3½ by 6 inches, may be obtained in the lobby of the Pontiac Press or by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope. Address the Fat Boy's Diet Editor, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Watch Fatty and Skinny eat. Fatty knifes clear through the meat, gulping down fat and all. Skinny takes a moment to trim the fat!

Both think they are eating alike, but just that little bit of trimming reduces many a fatty.

Good grade meat is interlined with enough fat without your eating the fat off the edges. So trim the edge!

Remember, just 1 ounce of food less a day is a loss of nearly 23 pounds a year!

Cat Befriends Unusually Tame 18 Lb. Raccoon

PRINCETON, Mass (AP)— Look what the cat dragged in—and nobody has the heart to drag out.

The 'coon lunched on peanuts and bread from a bowl on the Slongwhite's kitchen table, washing it down with water.

Then, even more unlikely, the 'coon consented to be petted and curled up in a living room chair like the master of the house.

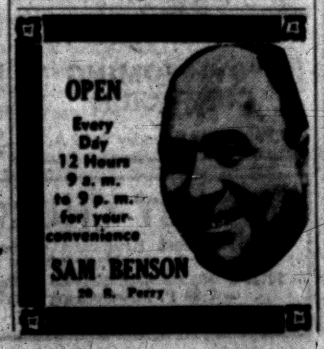

This happened Thursday night and the 'coon is still the Slongwhite's star boarder, because, says Mrs. Slongwhite:

"It's so tame and beautiful, I hate to chase it back into the woods."

Strike May Close 153 A&P Stores

SCRANTON, Pa., (AP)—Union and management representatives meet here today to attempt settlement of a strike that threatens to close 153 A&P food stores in northeastern Pennsylvania and southern New York.

The meeting was arranged yesterday by federal and state mediators. In the meantime, the food chain made last minute plans to close the stores at 6 p.m. (EST) tonight for an indefinite period.

However, a spokesman for the striking union said the membership would vote either tonight or Sunday on any new proposal made by A&P in the negotiating session.

The union — Local 229, AFL-General Drivers and Helpers represents 200 workers in two main food supply warehouses for the northeastern Pennsylvania - southern New York area.

A&P has claimed that the strike, which began last Sunday, has made impossible the delivery of food to the 153 stores.

Neither disputant would discuss details of the strike. It was reported that a wage increase and better working conditions are the principal issues.

Woman Held in Jail on Bad Check Charges

A Pontiac domestic servant waived examination yesterday on bad check charges and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court by Birmingham Judge John J. Gafill.

She is accused of forging seven checks totaling $295, by signing the names of former employers or using fictitious names, according to Birmingham Detective Merle Holmquist.

Occasionally this Board receives a complaint concerning the policy of a merchant relative to refusal of refund of money or exchange of merchandise. In most cases, the complainants take it for granted that the store will refund their money or exchange the merchandise if it does not give complete satisfaction. We must remind such complainants that matters of refund, exchange or repair are part of each store's adjustment policy and any settlement is within the discretion of the store.

The public is asked to co-operate by making careful selections of purchases and the retailers are urged to give customers complete information about their return policies to eliminate misunderstandings.

Townsite Church Pastor to Be Speaker on Sunday

REV. JOHN D. ROSE

Two services remain in the Inter-Church effort for the year. This Sunday in Central Methodist Church, the guest speaker will be the Rev. John D. Rose, pastor of Townsite Community Church, having served the Birmingham area since the church was founded seven years ago.

The Rev. Mr. Rose has served as pastor at the First Congregational Church of Avon Lake and was associate minister of North Woodward Congregational Church in Detroit.

The Townsite Church has a membership of 500 in both the church and Sunday school of 800. It is now working on a $200,000 building fund campaign.

Mr. Rose's topic Sunday will be "Finding a Faith" and his text is announced as Hebrew 11:1.

Dr. William P. Lemon will give his Bible exposition at 6 p.m. followed by the fellowship period.

The last night in the series will be the Inter-Church Choral Festival which will be held at First Presbyterian Church.

Group Plans Taffy Pull

The Christian Youth Fellowship will hold a taffy-pull at the home of Mrs. Elwood Dunn, 640 Third St., following the Sunday evening service at the church.

'Disciples' Subject of Sermon Series

The Rev. Duncan D. McColl, pastor of the First Christian Church, announces a series of sermons on "Disciples," in the sense of individual responsibility, starting Sunday.

His subjects will include "Disciples in History; and Race Relations; and Christian Union; and the Bible; and Christian Names; and Creeds; and Christian Baptism; and the Lord's Supper; and the Lord's Day; and the Church; and the Law; and Stewardship. He will close with "Disciples in Review and Summary."

Presbyterian Youth Plan Singspiration for Sunday

The young people of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church will be hosts to the youth of Pontiac Sunday evening at 9:00 at a Singspiration. Musical numbers will be given by young people of the host church.

A Singspiration held two months ago was attended by 250 young people of the community.

Presidents Rutherford Hayes and James Garfield walked to church so that their servants might rest and worship on the Sabbath.

Sunday Sermonette

THE IMPORTANCE OF ONE

The life of the humblest individual affects the lives of all. The destiny of everyone in the community is tied in with the fate of its most obscure number.

Suppose there is a heavy snowfall, and everybody in the block shovels off his sidewalk—except you. You are only one; but your negligence threatens the safety of everyone walking down the street.

Suppose you are a truck-driver's helper, working for a moving company. You are careless in handling someone's precious antique, and it is broken—with the result the person never does business with the company again. You are only one; but your carelessness has helped to jeopardize the job of everyone working for the firm.

Suppose you are a tourist, travelling in Europe. You are rude and undisciplined in your behavior, and in consequence antagonize the people you meet. You are only one; but you are giving your whole nation a black eye at a time when it desperately needs friends in foreign lands.

The fact is that as you start out each day, you are not a solitary individual. You are a representative of your country, your neighborhood, your company, your church, and your family. You are only one; but what you do—or fail to do—will affect those you represent. Tied in with your behavior is the destiny of all.

Group Plans Appeal on Court Decision

By Religious News Service

CHICAGO — Plans were made here by the Committee for the Continuation of the Congregational Christian Churches to petition the New York Court of Appeals for a rehearing of the case in which it upheld the denomination's merger with the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The appeals tribunal held that civil courts lacked jurisdiction in the proposed merger because no property rights were involved.

Appellant in the case was the Cadman Memorial Congregational Society and the Cadman Memorial Church of Brooklyn, N. Y., which claimed that the denomination's general council had no power to make the merger.

Delegates from 16 states to the continuation committee's meeting here also adopted a resolution urging the General Council to withdraw its approval of the union. They claimed that should merger be effected it would cause "wide misunderstanding and disunity for years to come."

Big Leaguer Will Speak at Brotherhood Banquet

Guest speaker at the Brotherhood Banquet, 7 p. m. Tuesday at St. George Greek Orthodox Church on Mariva Avenue, will be Jackie Robinson of baseball fame.

Joining the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947, Robinson won the "Rookie of the year" award, and in 1949 the National League batting championship. He also was voted the "most valuable player" in the league.

Born in Cairo, Ga., in 1919, Jackie grew up in Pasadena, Calif. He is married and the father of three children.

Active in many civic and welfare interests of Greater New York, he does extensive work with the Harlem YMCA, Boy Scouts, CYO, YMHA and PAL.

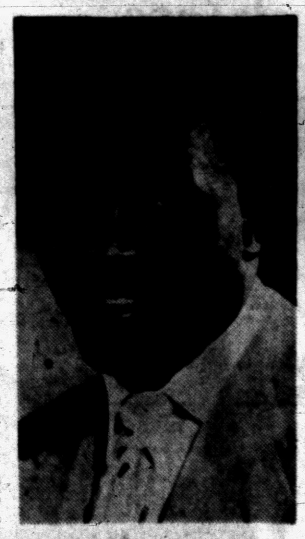

Currently he is national chairman of community organizations for Brotherhood Week under the sponsorship of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Theme of the observance is "Let's Get Together for Brotherhood."

First Negro to participate in organized baseball, he has carved an outstanding career in sports, which he is now extending to the field of community welfare and better intergroup relations.

Three hundred tickets have been issued for the banquet which is being sponsored by the host church, Temple Beth Jacob, Newman AME Church and Bethany Baptist Church. Tickets may be purchased from any of the sponsoring organizations.

Jackie will be introduced by Louis Radelet, director of the Commission on Community Organizations of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, who is accompanying him on his tour.

Complete Plans for Festival

Seventh Inter-Church Choral Sing to Be Held on Feb. 14

Arrangements for the presentation of the Seventh annual Inter-Church Choral Festival have now been completed.

The affair this year will be participated in by the adult choirs of First and Central Methodist, Bethany Baptist, First Congregational, All Saints Episcopal and First Presbyterian Churches will be held Feb. 14 at 7:30 p. m. in First Presbyterian Church.

In previous years the festival has been held in June. This year, however, it will follow and be held in connection with the Inter-church Fellowship services.

The festival chorus of 200 voices will present a unique service in song, featuring an inspirational narrative between the anthems which will provide a continuity of religious thought and meditation.

Author of the script is Wilha Hutson of All Saints and the narrator will be Mrs. Fred Robert Tiffany.

Baldwin Wallace College Tries Voluntary Chapel

By Religious News Service

CLEVELAND—Baldwin Wallace College in nearby Berea has cast aside a 107-year old tradition. No longer are students compelled to attend chapel in this Methodist institution. They may go or stay away and no punishment or loss of credit threatens the absentee.

Dr. Ernest Knautz, chairman of the department of religion, said there were two reasons for adopting voluntary chapel:

"First, we wanted to raise the quality of campus religious life and we thought we could do it by giving the young people freedom of choice. Next — and equally important — we came to the conclusion that if students attended chapel voluntarily, they would be more apt to take an active part in church after they leave school."

Churches Sponsor Membership Drive

Sunday will mark the beginning of a Sunday School membership and attendance contest between the First Baptist Church, Drayton Plains; the Calvary Baptist Church, Roseville; the Livernois Baptist Church, Detroit; the Halsey Baptist Church, Clawson; the Stone Baptist Church, Auburn Heights; and the Silvercrest and Marimont Baptist Churches, Pontiac.

The contest will end April 25.

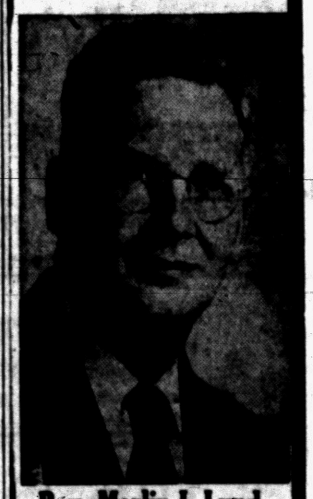

Anyone not currently attending Sunday school will be eligible to enter any one of the seven Sunday schools.

Bethany Baptist to Hold Sunday Night Meetings for Next Six Weeks

A "School for World Outreach" will start at Bethany Baptist Church Sunday at 7:30 p. m. Planned by the local board of missions, Mrs. Forrest Brown, chairman, the meetings will continue for six consecutive Sunday evenings.

The Sunday evening meeting will be followed by a fireside discussion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Turis McCully, 452 W. Iroquois Rd. The topic will be "The Relationship of the Church and State as a World Issue."

Members of the Angelus Class, taught by the pastor the Rev. Fred R. Tiffany, will lead the discussion.

The service is open to the public and there is no registration fee.

Pilgrimage to Visit 2 European Shrines

BOSTON — Members of a major Marian Year pilgrimage to the Shrine of Our Lady of Perpetual Help in Rome, and the Shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes in the French Pyrenees will sail from New York, August 12 in the RMS Mauretania of the Cunard Line. The pilgrimage, under the sponsorship of the Redemptorist Fathers of the United States and Canada, was announced last night by Rev. Joseph Scannel, C.S.S.R., Vice Rector of the Mission Church here.

Father Scannell said the highlight of the pilgrimage will be a Novena which will begin aboard ship and will terminate at the Shrine of Our Lady of Perpetual Help in the Church of San Alfonso in Rome, wherein may be seen the original painting of Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

It is expected the Redemptorist Fathers and their students in Rome will join the more than 300 pilgrims in closing the solemn Novena in the historical church.

Reservations are being received by all travel agents. Father Scannell said the Redemptorist Fathers appointed the Catholic Travel League, 1841 Broadway, New York City, to handle all travel arrangements.

Confident Living

Lincoln's Rugged Breed Still Strong in Americans

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

This next week, the birthday of Abraham Lincoln comes round once more. There will be many things said about Lincoln because he was a many-sided figure of history. But the thing about him that has always impressed me most is that quality of self-reliance which brought him from his backwoods log cabin to the White House at the most crucial time in our nation's history.

DR. PEALE

You may remember the stories of Lincoln as a boy learning his letters at the fire long into the night; or splitting rails to keep alive while he was fitting himself to practice law; or keeping store to help things along.

You may be tempted to ask yourself whether, in our country today, these qualities of self-reliance have disappeared. Aren't we getting soft and lazy?

I don't think so. Just last spring, I received a post card from a college boy which he sent to my farm at Pawling. He said he would mow lawns, paint, wash dishes, clean cars; in other words, he wanted to work.

I had no work of that kind at the moment; so I tore the card in two and started to toss it into the wastebasket. Then suddenly, I pieced it together with Scotch tape and put it in my files.

Here was a boy willing to work and that warmed my heart, and I made a point of finding jobs for him.

The great breed hasn't run out. A few years back, I got off a train at five in the morning to make a speech in a college chapel and found a boy waiting to meet me. "Are you Dr. Peale," he asked. And when I said yes, he explained: "I'm sorry to say that the president of our college has been detained in New York. So I'm acting for him both as your chauffeur and your official host."

He drove me to the president's house, showed me to a room and told me that breakfast would be ready for me at seven. When I came down to the dining room, there was the boy wearing a waiter's apron.

He served me a wonderful meal and I told him it was no good.

I wanted to congratulate the cook personally. So he took me out into the kitchen; there was no one else there—he stood by the stove, bowed and said, "Meet the cook."

I made my speech in the chapel and, afterwards, someone in the choir behind me sang a beautiful tenor solo. I turned around to get a look at the singer and discovered that it was the same boy.

When he drove me back to the train, I asked him to tell me about himself. His father, he said, had been well-to-do, and when he had first come to college, his father had given him a car and a substantial allowance. But then, at the end of his first year, his father had lost all his money and had told the son that he couldn't afford to send him back to college.

"When I was young," the father said, "I had no money. I went to college because I worked my way through. God helped me do it. But you've been brought up as a rich man's son and I guess you're pretty soft, and so you will have to drop out of college."

"That annoyed me," the boy told me, "and I said, 'Dad, if you did it, I can do it, too.' I went back to school and have worked ever since. God has helped me. And today my father and I are closer than ever because I can see what he had in him and he knows I have something in me. Whatever strength we've got in our blood hadn't died out."

When my train pulled away from the platform, I looked back and there he stood, smiling, happy and self-reliant. I've followed his career since. Of course he has done well because he learned the vital lesson that, with God's help, you can depend on yourself.

Our country is full of youngsters like that. No, Lincoln's breed has not died out.

Chaplains Assigned to Health Institute

By Religious News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Government medical scientists have decided that spiritual ministry is an important part of the healing arts. They have appointed chaplains of the three major faiths to the new $20,000,000 clinical center at the National Institute of Health here.

Operated by the U. S. Public Health Service, this beautiful modern hospital in suburban Bethesda, Md., will accommodate hundreds of patients suffering from cancer, heart disease, and other ailments who will be studied by the nation's top medical research teams.

Chaplains appointed to minister to its 500 patients are the Rev. James A. Caulfield, pastor of St. Jane Frances de Chantal Catholic Church, Bethesda; Rabbi Tzi Forath of the Montgomery County, Md., Jewish Community; and the Rev. Daniel E. Weeks of the Washington Federation of Churches.

Kensingers to Lecture at First Assembly of God; Lund Speaks Sunday

Continuing the missionary convention at First Assembly of God, North Perry Street, which started Thursday evening, services will be held tonight and all day Sunday. Guests tonight will be the Rev. and Mrs. Russell A. Kensinger, missionaries to Nicaragua in Central America.

The guest speaker Sunday will be Merlin I. Lund who has served in Africa for the past five years. His work had been in the missionary printing field, serving as manager of the Emmanuel Press located at Nelspruit, East Transvaal.

After his furlough he will return to South Africa and continue his work printing and distributing Gospel literature.

The Rev. Mr. Kensinger and his wife will tell of their work establishing a church in the heat of widespread spiritual revival in Nicaragua.

DAR Honors 5 Chosen as Top Citizens

Chapter Holds Tea for Girls, Mothers; Awards Pins

The five Pontiac area girls chosen recently to represent the General Richardson chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, as "good citizens" were guests of the chapter Thursday at the YWCA. The girls' mothers also were present at the tea.

Those attending were Dessalee Temple and her mother, Mrs. Thomas Temple; Donna Shaw and Mrs. Clarence Shaw of Rochester; Solvej Petersen and Mrs. Albert C. Petersen of Clarkston; Mary Parker and Mrs. Hubert Parker of Auburn Heights and Patricia Wagonjack and Mrs. Percy B. Lowery of Waterford township.

Congratulations were extended by Mrs. Lloyd G. Porter who presented the girls with their Good Citizenship pins.

The girls, together with their mothers will attend the DAR conference in Battle Creek on March 27 when state honors will be awarded.

Ernest Huthwaite gave a talk on Abraham Lincoln. He told of a speech and two letters written by Mr. Lincoln which portrayed the president's outstanding characteristics, appreciation of goodness, appreciation of principle, and his tolerance and patience.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Frank B. Gerls, regent, and Mrs. E. L. Tibbals were elected delegates to the national congress to be held in Washington in April. Mrs. L. L. Dunlap, Mrs. E. V. Howeltt, Mrs. Melville Luttrell and Mrs. E. G. Clark were elected alternates.

Dessert was served from a tea table centered with red and white flowers in the valentine motif. Mrs. Homer Osmun and Mrs. Harry Chapman presided at the tea service.

Mrs. E. D. Benjamin, chairman of the hostess committee, was assisted by Mrs. Myron Cable, Mrs. Pingree Hazen, Mrs. T. Edward Nelson, Mrs. Everett M. Peterson, Ella Smith, Mrs. E. L. Tibbals, Mrs. Harry B. Yoh and Frances Backenstose.

Monsignor S. J. Holbel of Buffalo, N. Y. officiated this morning at St. Michael Church when Joan Joyce Slivensky became the bride of his nephew, Paul Robert Holbel.

Joan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Slivensky of West Huron street and the bridegroom is the son of the Benjamin A. Holbels of Spokane drive.

For the 10 o'clock ceremony the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin, fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. A tiara of pearls and rhinestones held her veil of French illusion, and she carried a white orchid on a prayerbook.

Mrs. Gerald Schell was matron of honor in a pale blue dress. She carried a cascade of blue carnations. Her dress was fashioned of lace and net, with a portrait collar outlined with rhinestones and pearls highlighting the lace bodice and her headpiece was a matching tiara.

In rose colored gowns similar to that worn by the matron of honor were bridesmaids, Beverly Flanders and Mrs. Glen Blust. They carried cascades of rose carnations.

Receiving the 150 guests in Chieftain hall in the afternoon, Mrs. Slivensky wore a mauve lace dress with a corsage of Jay Hill roses. Mrs. Holbel wore a blue lace dress with navy accessories and a corsage of Jay Hill roses.

The bride changed to an aqua knit dress with brown accessories for the wedding trip to Lewiston. On their return she will live with her parents, while he returns to military duty in Fort Knox, Ky.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Detroit, where he was affiliated with Delta Pi Kappa fraternity.

MRS. PAUL ROBERT HOLBEL

Joan J. Slivensky became the bride of Paul R. Holbel this morning in St. Michael Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Slivensky of West Huron street. The Benjamin A. Holbels of Spokane drive are the bridegroom's parents.

School Holds Father-Son Program

An estimated 175 fathers and sons of Longfellow School met Thursday for an evening of fun together.

Mr. L. G. McKinney introduced Troop 51 in presentation of colors and allegiance to the flag. Mr. E. H. Leland, scout executive, was present to answer questions on cub scouting.

George Conibear, PTA father vice-president, directed the audience in group singing.

A panel discussion on the history of aviation was moderated by students of Mrs. Charles Gleasons's room. The boys were: James Colando, Michael Duff, Gerald Noren, Larry Chambers, Michael Burrill and Mervill Mennick.

The program was concluded with a color film, "The Boy Scouts of America," depicting a tour on a ranch in New Mexico. Mrs. John Leonard was program chairman.

Cowboy boots and hats, cactus, rail fence, and Texas Longhorns, decorated the walls and serving table. "Gold Nuggets" of foil-wrapped fudge marked each boy's and dad's place.

Mrs. Carl Colando, Mrs. Elmer Foster, Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Donovan Everling planned the decorations.

Mrs. Frank Lesco supervised the refreshment committee. Serving with her were, Mrs. Arthur Oxley, Mrs. Edwin Carlson, Mrs. Thomas Cauley, Mrs. Harold Wesley, Mrs. Edward Bialik, Adeline Hook and Mrs. Robert Howey.

Committees Named by Silvercrest Club

Committees for the year were appointed by members of the Silvercrest Community Club when the group met Thursday evening in their club rooms on Silver Circle drive.

Fred Kemp heads ways and means, and youth activities will be planned by Mrs. John Benaglio and Mrs. Steven Dodge. A card party is planned for Feb. 20 to be held in the club rooms.

Try Handkerchiefs as Apron Trims

Handkerchiefs of various sizes appliqued on a plain apron can put it in the fashion accessory department. It's an inexpensive trick and so practical, too.

After all, nothing on earth—absolutely nothing—washes as easily as a handkerchief. Just be sure that the basic apron material can also take successfully to the soapsuds.

Keep House Clean

How about making cleanliness a "must" in your life all through '54? A clean house and a neat you will cause less friction in the household and make everything seem so much pleasanter.

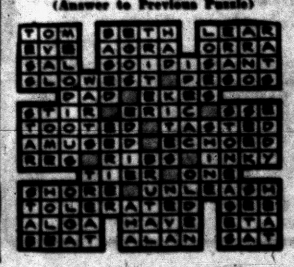

Coming Events

Women of the Moose will hold ritual chapter night program and initiation Monday. Officers meeting will be at 7:30 and initiation 8 p. m.

Camp Nesbitt 11, Ladies National League will hold a card party and luncheon at 12:30 p. m. with Marie Dromm, 184 Mechanic St.

Forget Me Not birthday club will meet with Mrs. Nellie Foster, 90 N. Jessie St., Tuesday with a cooperative luncheon at noon.

200 Present at Nuptials of Local Pair

Calvin John Rhodes claimed Kathleen Marie Terihoy for his bride this morning in St. Benedict Church. The Rev. John Dowling performed the 10 o'clock ceremony before 200 guests.

The bride is the sister of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson of Wenonah drive. Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Rhodes of Wenonah drive are the bridegroom's parents.

Kathleen chose a gown of white Chantilly-type lace and nylon tulle. Iridescent sequins and seed pearls traced the lace motif at the illusion neckline and on the points of the long sleeves.

A crown of lace and seed pearls held her tulle veil and her full nylon skirt ended in a cathedral train. She carried a pearl prayerbook given to her by the bridegroom and a white orchid, stephanotis and white streamers.

Mrs. Johnson was her sister's matron of honor in a lilac strapless waltz-length dress of lace and tulle over taffeta with a matching lace bolero. Her headpiece was a crown of yellow carnations, and yellow carnations formed her cascade bouquet.

Mrs. Glenn D. Rhodes of Indianapolis, Ind., and Iva Pinkston as bridesmaids, were dressed similarly, and had headpieces and crowns of pink carnations.

C. William Rhodes was best man for his brother, and ushers were Ralph Wilson, Fred Juergens of Lansing, Glenn D. Rhodes, and Ronald J. Rhodes of Detroit.

For her son's wedding Mrs. Rhodes wore a floor-length gown of dusty rose ornamented with rhinestones and silver beads. She wore a deep orchid corsage.

After a reception at Rotunda Inn, the new Mrs. Rhodes changed to a beige suit and blue coat with beige and blue accessories for the wedding trip. On their return the couple will reside in Pontiac.

Calvin is a graduate of Wayne University.

Weight Unchanged by Warm Weather

RALEIGH, N. C. (INS)—Dieters have been advised to ignore the old saying that "you'll lose weight in the summer and gain in the winter."

What you eat and how you eat determines your weight, declared Virginia Wilson, North Carolina State College nutritionist. She reminded overweights:

"When you eat more than is needed, the body lays by the extra as fat. If you do not eat enough of the energy-giving foods, your body uses the stored supply."

MRS. CALVIN JOHN RHODES

Married this morning in St. Benedict Church were Kathleen M. Terihoy, sister of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson of Wenonah drive, and Calvin J. Rhodes, son of the Charles F. Rhodes, also of Wenonah drive.

District Officers Meet

Shape WCTU Program

Mrs. Joseph Green, new president of the 18th district WCTU was hostess to the district officers and the board of directors Wednesday at her home in Royal Oak for the first administration session of the year.

The members of the board and district officers joined in planning and shaping a concise program dedicated to the cause of temperance in the year ahead and pledged their support and assistance to the individual unions throughout the district.

The year 1954 marks the 80th anniversary of the nationally organized WCTU and also the 80th anniversary for Michigan.

In special observance of this particular epoch in the history of organized temperance activities and to recognize the efforts of the founders, ministers will be invited to give sermons dedicated to WCTU during this year.

Cooperation will be encouraged from more sources including schools and youth groups. Various organizations will be offered suggestions for correlating and including temperance instruction in their programs and alerting their groups to their responsibilities in this field.

Attention to voting is stressed and inquiry into background of candidates seeking important offices also is carried out by the organization.

Plans were made to sponsor an all-day spring Institute to be held March 31 in the educational building of First Baptist Church.

District Secretary Talks for WSCS; Tea Is Planned

Mrs. Herbert Spencer, district secretary of missionary education of Flint district, WSCS, was guest speaker Thursday at Central Methodist Church for the February WSCS meeting.

Ens. John Bennett Takes Bride in Flint

In a 4 o'clock ceremony this afternoon in St. Paul Episcopal Church in Flint, Donna Mayo Beaton became the bride of Ens. John Benjamin Bennett.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Murray Beaton of Flint, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mildred Bennett of Vinewood avenue.

Donna's bridal gown was designed to go with a bonnet of Battenburg lace, made by the bridegroom's grandmother for a christening cap and later worn by his sister for her wedding.

The dress was of champagne chiffon velvet fashioned with a U neckline designed to set off an heirloom cameo belonging to the bridegroom's family. The bodice had a pointed waistline, buttons down the back and long pointed sleeves. The circular skirt ended in a chapel train and her illusion veil was of fingertip length. A lacy valentine nosegay of valley lillies and stephanotis centered with a white orchid formed her bouquet.

Mrs. Helmut Heuser of Flint was matron of honor and attendants included Mrs. L. James Hicks of Ann Arbor, Mary Wate of Cleveland and Mrs. Ian Beatr i of Flint.

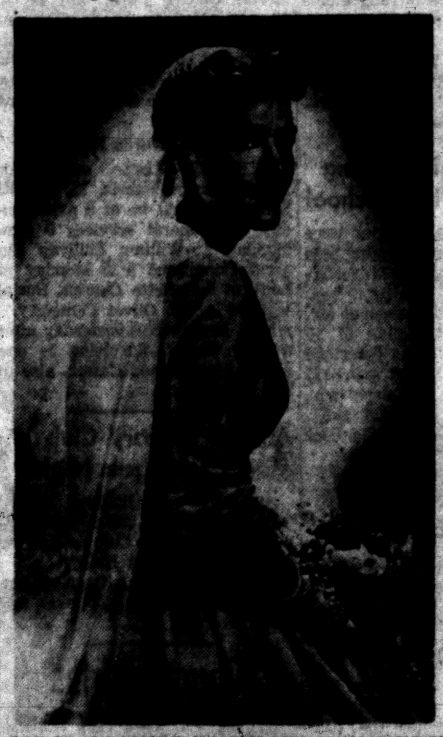

Their gowns, fashioned like the bride's, were of deep turquoise velvet in a ballerina length and they wore matching velvet leaf clasps in their hair. Carrying out the valentine theme, their flowers were heart-shaped arrangements of shattered red carnations.

Mr. Heuser was best man and groomsmen included Mr. Beaton, Harry Crewer, Mr. Hicks and Clifford A. Delare of Hastings.

Mrs. Beaton chose a blue dress with blue accessories for her daughter's wedding and she wore a corsage of pale pink roses. Mrs. Bennett wore antique shantung in blue with pearl and rhinestone trim and navy accessories.

After a reception in the church parish, the new Mrs. Bennett will don a coral and brown suit with a clipped raccoon jacket for the wedding trip to Washington, D. C.

The couple will reside there while Ens. Bennett attends naval college, and later they will move to Glenview, Ill.

Board Studies New Drawings

Romeo Education Group Checks Plans Showing Expansion Cost

ROMEO — Revised drawings by architects for school buildings will be studied at the regular meeting of the Romeo Board of Education Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Drawings submitted to the board this week revealed that preliminary plans for school expansion would cost taxpayers over a half-million dollars.

As a result, architects were sent back to their drawing boards to work on suggestions offered by the board and the administration.

Overall cost of the entire program, including buildings, architects' fees and equipment, would cost an estimated $548,737, according to original architects' figures.

In a preliminary investigation the board had estimated $395,000 for the proposed program, which included a four-room addition at Washington, 12 rooms at South School in Romeo and separate classroom-agricultural building.

8 Area Men Elected by Breeders Units

Eight area men were among officers elected this week at meetings of livestock breeders associations in conjunction with Farmers Week at Michigan State College.

They included: Robert W. Williams of Rochester, secretary of Aberdeen Angus Breeders; Clare Fuller of Oxford, president of Red Polled Breeders; and Thurman Ruggles of Milford, president of Hereford Breeders.

Name 3 Heads for Foundation

Romeo Residents Given Posts on Area Hospital Board

ROMEO—Three Romeo residents were named to the Area Hospital Foundation board of directors at a meeting of members of the corporation this week at Almont.

They are Mrs. E. E. Anderson, Dr. L. R. Newlin, veterinarian, and Williard Bird, local businessman.

Others on the 11-member board are: James Ligon of Allenton, who has served as temporary chairman and resident agent of the foundation since its inception two years ago; David Ross, Leonard; T. K. Richards and L. T. Bishop, Almont; Mrs. Franklin O'Connor, Armada; J. H. Hannum, Washington; James Maurice, Imlay City; and Howard Smith, Capac.

The board will elect officers at a future meeting. A permanent board is a major step in the hospital program. A constitution and by-laws have also been drawn up.

Tentative plans of the group call for a 50-bed hospital located somewhere between Almont and Romeo, presumably on M-53. No official site has been selected, however.

3 Hurt in Collision on Pontiac Trail

SOUTH LYON — Three persons were injured yesterday in a two-car collision on Pontiac Trail near North Territorial road.

A car driven by Mrs. Edwin Wiseman of South Lyon, going south on Pontiac Trail, collided with one driven by Howard Prough, Jr., 38, of Wayne, going north.

Mrs. Wiseman was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor with a fractured nose, ankle and jaw and severe facial cuts. Her nephew, Paul Sawallich, 4, was treated for a cut tongue and later released.

Prough was treated for minor injuries.

Garden Club Treats Husbands to Potluck Dinner

Citizens' Group to Support Revote on School Bonds

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

ROCHESTER — This week the Citizen's Advisory Committee, strong lay force behind the success of the Dec. 15 school building bond issue, announced it was ready to swing into action on the Feb. 24 revote.

The revote has been necessitated because of a technical error in the election notice published prior to the December 15 bond issue.

Omission of a statement covering the excess millage in effect in the part of the school district which lies in Macomb County makes the bonds unsalable, according to bond attorneys.

When the county treasurer's figures were transferred, the one mill levied to cover the construction of a jail for Macomb county did not appear on the statement.

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission said it has approved the bond issue in principle, but that the school district must again vote on the one proposal covering the 9.75 millage increase.

Approved by the electorate by a more than two to one vote in December, that election followed two unsuccessful issues last summer.

Wallace Hodges, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, said that they would again work to finish the job they had started last fall.

This group gave days of their time to finding out what the community wanted and needed in schools before they made their formal recommendations which were endorsed by the Rochester Board of Education and approved by the electors in December.

Hodges said there would be a committee meeting next Thursday night in the high school. Planning for what type of campaigning will be done to inform the public will be instituted at that time.

The confidence you place in us is deeply appreciated.

COL. JOHN D. CRAIG

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Heralded as "an adventure into time," the fourth in the township travel-adventure series will be presented in the Waterford High School auditorium at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Col. John D. Craig, by means of the most recent Atomic Energy Commission film releases of the Eniwetok atom tests, will describe man and the atom.

Entitled "Atoms and Atolls," Craig's talk will also seek to outline the spiritual side of science in modern times and how atomic power may be used for peaceful purposes, according to Tom Belton, recreation department supervisor.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Belton has announced there are still openings in the camera club which meets at the township hall semi-monthly.

Due to popular request, Beltons said, the Womens' Ballet Class will continue for eight more weeks. There is some room for additional members in the class, which meets every Thursday afternoon in the CAI building.

Ad Campaign to Promote Milk

Dairy Spokesman Tells Farmers' Week Crowd About Program

EAST LANSING (INS)—The general manager of the American Dairy Association said at East Lansing Friday that a nationwide advertising program launched by the ADA will change the nation's milk drinking habits.

He is Lester J. Will of Chicago, who addressed Farmers' Week at Michigan State College.

Will said that the plan is to urge people to "drink three or more glassees of milk a day if they wish to live longer, feel better, sleep better, lose weight comfortably and get all the calcium they need." The advertising will be aimed primarily at adults.

Pilot advertising programs conducted last summer in Rochester, N. Y., and in Kansas City, Mo., brought favorable increases in milk consumption, according to Will.

First Baptists Hold Special Meetings

ORTONVILLE — First Baptist Church here will have special evangelistic meetings beginning Monday at 7:45 p.m.

The meetings will be held each evening through Feb. 21, according to the Rev. Perry Deyarmond.

Speaker will be the Rev. Kenneth F. Dodson of Winona Lake, Ind., who has served as chairman of the Council of Six of the Indiana Fellowship of Regular Baptists and in several other Baptist capacities.

Central Michigan Professor Tells of State Lore

MARLETTE—Dr. E. C. Beck of Central Michigan College presented a lecture on Michigan lore Wednesday evening here dealing especially with the Cass River area and the Saginaw Valley.

Following the presentation, Mrs. Max Patrick, Community Council president, called a short business meeting to discuss arrangements for the barbershop quartette program in April.

The program will include a chorus and several barbershop quartettes from Detroit. Date will be announced later.

Search for Girl Missing From Oxford High School

OXFORD—Police agencies were searching today for a missing teen age girl who disappeared yesterday noon from Oxford High School.

Judy Bailey, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bailey of 10 Seymour Lake Rd., was described as four feet, 10 inches tall, 115 pounds, dark eyes and dark hair. She was wearing a plaid skirt, orange sweater, short white coat and brown fur-topped boots.

Police Find Nine Slips Hidden in Man's Coat

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police noticed a lacy object hanging from beneath the coat of a 52-year-old man yesterday and began tugging at it.

Out came a slip. They pulled again. Out came another. After nine pulls and nine slips they jailed the man for investigation of shoplifting.

"It was like pulling tissue paper from a box," officers said later.

Woman, 77, Travels on Only $1 and Faith

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A 77-year-old woman with only $1 in her pocket but millions in faith paused briefly here on a projected 2,276-mile hitchhiking tour from Paragould, Ark., to Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Elizabeth Poulsor admitted it takes "faith and courage to stand on the highway" at her age. Besides, she pointed out, "I happen to have a lot of experience at hitchhiking.

"I've been a Pentecostal minister for 30 years, and for nine years of that I was a missionary on the highways."

She is going to Oregon because of her health, Mrs. Poulson said.

Robert Taylor Turns Down Gable Crown

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—With Clark Gable checking out as king of MGM, that crown falls on the unwilling head of Robert Taylor.

"None of that 'king' business for me," laughs Taylor, who dislikes all forms of ceremony. He made it clear that he'll just keep on doing his job without any regard for royalty. A 20-year man in films, he still has two and a half years to go on his MGM contract.

Taylor is appearing in another epic, "Valley of the Kings," the story of finding a fabulous Egyptian tomb. He has opined that he'd like to do pictures in which the dramatics are not so overpowered by massive production values. But he probably won't get his wish. The Taylor-made epics are too successful at the box office. . . .

It was the birthday season on the added scenes of "Betrayed." Vic Mature celebrated his 38th while working last Friday. "King" Gable his 53rd on Monday of this week. Lana Turner will be 34 next Monday. Happy birthday, kids. . . .

Another birthday celebrant this week was pretty Suzan Ball, who isn't letting her leg amputation slow her down. She has been hobbling around on crutches and says she's doing fine, "although it's a little hard to balance."

Suzan hopes to be back there before long. She plans to go to Palm Springs for sunning and swimming and may start training with an artificial leg in two or three weeks. . . .

Sometimes the studios can treat actors pretty shabbily at the end of their contracts. For his last picture at 20th Century-Fox, David Wayne was given virtually a bit role in "Hell and High Water," despite the fact that he had played leads there. He gets sixth billing in the picture, but he should worry. He's the toast of Broadway in "Tea House of the August Moon". . . .

Well thank heavens! The Academy picked up an automobile sponsor for its awards telecast. Now the movie industry will be spared the embarrassment of having a TV firm sponsor filmdom's biggest night.

Prize Winning Cartoonist Leaves $164,519 Estate

NEW YORK (AP)—Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist Rollin Kirby left a net estate of $164,519, according to an estate tax appraisal filed here yesterday.

Kirby, who won Pulitzer Prizes for his political cartoons in 1922, 1925 and 1928, died in May, 1952, at the age of 77. He had retired from his job with the New York Post in 1942.

Mrs. Janet K. Banning of Duarte, Calif., a daughter, was named residuary beneficiary of the estate.

Hallenbeck to Seek Re-election to Post

Ronald C. Hallenbeck, 37, of 25 Gingell Ct., yesterday filed a nominating petition announcing intention to run for re-election to Pontiac City Commission from District 5.

J. Marvin Smith of 631 E. Tennyson Ave. also has filed from District 5.

Hallenbeck is a native of Pontiac and graduate of the high school here. He is employed as financial secretary of Fisher Local 596, UAW-CIO. He was first elected to the commission in 1952.

Ten other candidates have filed for commission posts. Deadline for submitting petitions is Feb. 9, with primary election slated for March 1.

Thursday night the same safe was robbed of around $400 and there was another note:

"Your safe is still a tin can. See you next trip."

Toto to Undergo Brain Surgery to Halt Paralysis

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—A circus gorilla was made ready today for a brain operation which his veterinarian said was unprecedented in the animal world.

Dr. Mason Trupp of Tampa, a leading brain surgeon, is to operate on Toto II this afternoon in an attempt to halt paralysis which has been creeping over the gorilla's body.

Preliminary diagnosis indicates that the paralysis is caused by a brain tumor blood clot, the veterinarian, Dr. J. Y. Henderson, said.

The operation is expected to take three to four hours.

Theft of Instant Coffee Brings 5 Days in Jail

Tribe Routs Chiefs 57-35 for Season's Worst Defeat

By BILL MARTIN

Pontiac High's basketball team dribbled to within a few percentage points of the Saginaw Valley Conference cellar here Friday night as Flint Central handed the Chiefs their worst beating of the season, 57-35.

Central's smooth-passing, sharp-shooting aggregation was vastly improved over the erratic outfit that bowed to Pontiac, 57-55, earlier in the season. Indians have now won five of their last six starts.

Coach Art Van Ryzin's youthful PHS squad was never in contention after the 1st few minutes of play.

Indians broke loose with a 9-point spree midway in the opening period and moved to a 18-7 lead by the end of the quarter. Guard Bill Lyon, apparently fully recovered from a recent attack of influenza, found the range for four baskets in the 2nd stanza to spark Flint in a 17-point splurge that turned the game into a rout.

Pontiac trailed 35-13 at halftime, and could do no better than match Central point-for-point through the 2nd half.

One bright spot in an otherwise drab evening for Pontiac was the promising performance of two sophomore guards, Bob Casteel and Walter King. The 10th-graders, who alternated with juniors Walt Poe and Bob Johnston in the backcourt slots, each collected eight points to lead PHS scoring.

Larry Catlin, Central's agile, 6-foot 3-inch forward, took game honors with 17 points, while teammate Bill Lyons had 10.

Chiefs face another rugged test next Tuesday, at Highland Park where they meet the undefeated, top-ranked Polar Bears. After Highland Park comes Ferndale, another unbeaten power, here on Feb. 16.

Junior Varsity coach Fred Zittel's Little Chiefs dropped a 35-33 thriller to Flint's juniors in Friday's preliminary game.

3-Way International Knot Marks Phoenix Open Play

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) — Lanky John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., was only five strokes off the pace today as the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament moved into the final half.

Barnum fired a three-under-par 68 Friday for a 135 1st-half total. Walt Burkemo of Detroit was two strokes behind Barnum with 140. Burkemo, 1953 PGA champion, slipped to a 72 Friday after a 1st-round 68.

Third round of the event took on a definite international complexion today as a Canadian, Australian and American were deadlocked for the half-way lead with scores of 133.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, was the only "name" player among the five leaders, putting together rounds of 68 and 65 for his 133 total. Peter Thomson, Melbourne, Australia, had a 69 Friday to go with his 64 Thursday.

But it was Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B. C., who drew a major share of the plaudits of the 4,000 who watched play Friday. Leonard, five-time Canadian PGA winner, equalled the all-time competitive Phoenix Country Club course record of an eight-under par 63, after finishing with 70 the day before.

One stroke back was slight, 138-pound Bob Inman, 26-year-old Tulsa, Okla., golfer who started tournament play a year ago in this same tournament.

Maples' Grid Coach Quits to Enter Business

Vince Secontine Leaves Birmingham High After Seven Seasons

Resignation of Vince Secontine as head football coach at Birmingham High School was announced Friday.

Secontine asked to be released from his coaching-teaching contract to enter business in Birmingham. He has been the Maples' football mentor for the past seven seasons as well as a social studies instructor.

SECONTINE

Prior to his arrival in Birmingham, he was football coach at Kiski Prep School in Kiski, Pa.

"It is with a great deal of regret that I leave Birmingham High," Secontine said this morning, "and it is only after much consideration that I made my decision."

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dwight B. Ireland commented, "He leaves under good conditions and would have been offered a contract for next year. We think he's done a fine job."

Secontine plans to enter the sporting goods business in Birmingham. His resignation is effective this spring.

Chicago's Lane Wants Yankees' Carey for Sox

Groth, Lipon Obtained From Orioles in Deal on Friday

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO (AP)—Now that Johnny Groth has made the Chicago White Sox outfield "the league's fastest," general manager Frank Lane plans to besiege the New York Yankees —"Hat in hand"—for 3rd baseman Andy Carey.

"Carey is THE man we need," declared Lane after announcement of yesterday's straight player trade with the Baltimore Orioles.

Sox obtained outfielder Groth, a Chicago boy, and infielder Johnny Lipon for outfielder Sam Mele and infielder Neil Berry. All but Mele are former Detroit Tigers.

Lane apparently is satisfied that the addition of Groth gives the White Sox an outfield with real authority.

"I'd say we have right now the best outfield we've had since I've been with the Sox," said Lane. He spoke glowingly of the speed of a combination that might include Groth, in right field, Jim Rivera in center and Minnie Minoso in left—"with big Bill Wilson, up from the minors, making them all battle."

"All of them have terrific speed," said Lane, "and they're all top throwers. You couldn't say any is a power hitter but they all can hit that long ball."

The Sox overseer then turned to Carey, the 22-year-old infielder who has been in the Yankee system five years as a shortstop and 3rd baseman, playing with Syracuse and Kansas City.

"I don't have to tell anybody that we want that young man and intend to go after him," said Lane. "Our latest information from the Yankee organization is that he can be had for an attractive offer.

"If that means the line forms to the right, we'll be there, hat in hand.

Groth and Mele were the key men in yesterday's deal. Both the Orioles and White Sox seemed to think of Berry and Lipon as infield insurance.

Groth, 27, played under Sox manager Paul Richards when both were with Buffalo of the International League. "Paul always has been high on Johnny," said Lane.

Rochester, Troy, Ferndale Sew Up League Races

By JACK SAYLOR

Rochester, Troy and Ferndale High Schools virtually wrapped up league championships in top games on Friday night's prep basketball schedule. Southfield and Farmington are tied for the Inter-Lakes lead and Milford lost its share of the Wayne-Oakland lead in other action.

Ferndale extended its unbeaten streak to nine games with a 47-44 victory over Birmingham. Tom Turner and Dick McKinney led 'Dales to a 1st half lead of 29-19 and Maples couldn't catch up. Win all but sewed up the Eastern Michigan crown for Ferndale.

Rochester clinched at least a tie in the Tri-County by lacing Lapeer, 66-46. Arlan Stone and Max Powell each collected 22 points for the Falcons. In the other Tri-C game, Romeo downed Oxford, 38-28.

A 3rd period stall featured the game as the only scoring was one Romeo free throw. Oxford handled the ball only once in that quarter.

Troy's Colts, led by brilliant Mike DeKane, came from behind in the 4th quarter to whip Roseville, 43-38, and take a commanding edge in the Oakland B race. DeKane won the duel between two talented left handers, out-scoring Roseville's Jim Berger, 21-18.

Jim Murdock also was outstanding for the Colts and Jerry Wyett sparked the final period drive. It was Troy's 6th straight win. Also in the Oak-B, Avondale snapped a 5-game losing string by beating Madison, 48-44, behind Dick Kramp's 18 points.

Farmington bumped Berkley from its share of Inter-Lakes lead, 47-37, and Southfield stayed with the Falcons by beating Van Dyke, 47-32. Walled Lake nipped Waterford, 52-49.

Vikings had a 10-point halftime advantage, but Skippers wiped it out in the 3rd quarter. Final period was see-saw until the last two minutes when baskets by Ralph Feaf and Myrel Taulbee pulled the Lakers ahead to stay.

Dick Tims of Waterford led scorers with 18 points and Bob Jacober added 14 before fouling out early in the 4th quarter. WL's Don Williams bagged 15 points, all in the 1st half, then departed on fouls on the 3rd period.

Keego Harbor sprung a 56-55 upset on Milford to knock Redskins out of their 1st place Wayne-Oakland tie with idle Northville, Sam Minard's Presidents had to overcome a 15-point halftime deficit.

Clarkston thumped Holly, 66-33, with 11 Wolves sharing in the scoring. Vern Carman's 12 points were high. Bud Lamberton had 10 for Holly.

Elsewhere, Utica spilled previously undefeated Warren, 28-23, to climb into a 1st place tie in the Bi-County race. Ortonville won its 2nd straight game, handling Millington, 55-38, as Bob Mills hit 19 points.

Eaglets Stay in Thick of SCL Race; St. Ben Routs St. Rita

Orchard Lake St. Mary's once-beaten Eaglets stayed in the thick of the Suburban Catholic League title scrap Friday night by turning back St. Frederick, 66-40, at Orchard Lake.

Led by Gene Stasialowicz's 23 points, Eaglets stretched a 12-5 1st-period lead into a 27-15 advantage by halftime and never were in danger thereafter.

SCL leader St. Benedict extended its undefeated skein to 13 games by overpowering St. Rita, 75-25, at Hazel Park.

League race comes to an end next week with three games on Tuesday and a final 3-game card on Friday.

Whitfield Sets Sights on Double Victory in 600, 880 Runs

NEW YORK (INS)—Eight Olympic champions and a liberal sprinkling of national and collegiate titlists will spearhead an assault on indoor track and field records tonight in the 47th annual Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden.

Josy Barthel, Olympic 1,500-meter champ from Luxembourg, is shooting at the world record 4:05.3 indoor mile mark set by Gil Dodds six years ago.

Barthel will receive stiff competition from ex-Ohio Stater Len Truex, FBI agent Fred Wilt and Gordon McKenzie.

Mal Whitfield, 2-time Olympic 800-meter champ from Los Angeles, hopes to win both the 600 and 880, to be run 70 minutes apart. Whitfield's 600 record is 1:09.5 and the Millrose mark is 1:10.2. It will be the first Millrose double try since 1953.

A field of 20 will compete in the 60-yard dash, including five national champions and six college leaders. Andy Stanfield is the favorite to come near the world and Millrose record of 06.1. But he will be pressed by Olympic 100-yard king Lindy Remigino, outdoors 100-yard king Art Bragg, Trinidad champion Mike Agotine, IC4A 60-yarder Bob Keegan of Seton Hall, Ivy League 100 outdoor titlist Henry Thresher of Yale and indoor 60-yard boss John Haines of Penn.

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielder Chuck Diering, who couldn't make the grade with the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants of the National League, today loomed as a key figure in the plans of the Baltimore Orioles for the upcoming season.

Diering, who was listed as Johnny Groth's No. 1 replacement in the Orioles' centerfield spot, now is expected to get first crack at the job.

Groth and infielder Johnny Lipon were traded to the Chicago White Sox yesterday for outfielder Sam Mele and infielder Neil Berry.

The 31-year-old Diering, a light hitter during his National League tenure, reportedly picked up some batting points at Minneapolis last season, for he batted .2, cracked out 12 home runs and drove in 74 runs.

Unbeaten 'Jacks Roll On at Expense of PHS Crew

Undefeated Saginaw Arthur Hill handed Pontiac High's swimming team its 6th straight defeat here Friday afternoon, 52-32.

Lumberjacks swept 1st places in seven of the nine events. Bob Lamson won the 200-yard free style and teamed with Tom Cross and Bill McLarty to take the medley relay to account for Pontiac's only 1sts.

Diver Bill McLarty placed 2nd in his specialty to break Arthur Hill's long-time stranglehold on the event.

Other 2nds were taken by Jim Shellenburg, in the 40 and 100 yard free style events; Bob Keavy, in the breast stroke; Tom Cross, in the back stroke; and the free style relay team of Gayette, Howse, Mumbru and Scott.

Summary:

100-yard free style—Mehl (AH) 1st; Shellburg (P) 2nd; Vanblois (AH) 3rd. Time 58.8 seconds.

100-yard breast stroke—Graft (AH) 1st; Keavy (P) 2nd; Krogman (AH) 3rd. Time 1 minute 6.9 seconds.

Enraged Kentucky Alumni Carry Case to NCAA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — An alumni group of the University of Kentucky, enraged by the loss of head football coach Paul Bryant to Texas A. & M., today took their case to the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Indirectly rebuking the Texas school, Kentucky's Alumni Friday adopted a resolution suggesting that the NCAA adopt rules forbidding "tampering" with coaches under contract to other institutions without permission.

The Cleveland Indians' spring training schedule lists 34 games, all against major league teams.

Hoosiers Return to Big 10 Play

CHICAGO (AP) — Indiana's league-leading Hoosiers return to Big 10 basketball competition tonight after a three weeks absence, playing Michigan State (2-3) at Bloomington, Ind.

The contest headlines a four-game conference schedule which also has Minnesota (5-1) at Purdue (1-6), Michigan (2-3) at Illinois (3-3) and Wisconsin (3-3) at Ohio State (3-3).

Iowa, with a record of six wins in seven Big 10 games and 2nd to the Hoosiers (6-0) plays Missouri at Iowa City in a non-conference game.

'Jolting Joey' Puts Quick Finish to Cartier Scrap

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—"From now on, call me Jolting Joey."

Joe Giardello, a technical knockout winner over Walter Cartier in 2:48 of the first round, was talking about himself last night in his dressing room.

"I like the feel of those knockdowns," he said, "I've been letting those guys get off the hook too long. From now on, I'm out to stop 'em all."

It was the second straight fight in which Joe's opponent had failed to last the limit. He stopped Garth Panter, the rugged Salt Lake City mauler, in his last previous start, Jan. 8. That was the first time Panter hadn't gone the route.

Giardello dropped Cartier three times, automatically stopping the fight under rules of the New York State Athletic Commission. Referee Harry Kessler ended matters as soon as the 29-year-old New York veteran went down for the third time, all from right hands.

All Leading Collegiate Quints See Action

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP)—Sixteen of the nation's top 20 college basketball teams—including the three remaining unbeaten major quintets—hit the boards tonight in the sport's biggest night of the winter.

Top-ranking Kentucky goes after its 16th straight against Georgia at Owensboro, Ky., in a match which Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp calls "as ridiculous as kissing your own sister." The Wildcats scorched Georgia 108-55 Thursday night.

Fourth-ranking Western Kentucky seeks its 22nd in a row against Eastern Kentucky, twice a victim of the Hilltoppers already this season.

Duquesne, No. 2, takes on the talent-laden Quantico Marines in a game billed as an exhibition. This means the Dukes' 18 game all winning streak won't be in jeopardy, although a loss might dim its lustre.

From the standpoint of individual talent, the game of the night should be in Philadelphia where Frank Selvy of Furman meets Tom Gola of LaSalle for the first time.

Indiana's NCAA champions return to Big Ten action against Michigan State. The once-beaten Hoosiers currently rank third behind Kentucky and Duquesne.

Holy Cross got enough action last night in beating St. John's of Brooklyn 78-58 in what was described as the roughest and most disorderly game every played in Boston.

Marty Satalino of St. John's attacked Referee Tony Agatiello in the second quarter and pushed him to the floor. In the fourth period, Satalino came off the bench to which he had been banished and wrestled Joe Liebler of Holy Cross. This time police took him off the court as the crowd swarmed on to the floor. Police warned the fans they would be prosecuted if they didn't stay in their seats.

State AAU Indoor Relays Under Way

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Indoor track makes its 1954 bow here today with the running of the annual Michigan AAU Relays at the University of Michigan.

While the relays are a state fixture, competition will not be limited to teams from Michigan. Big Ten will be represented by four teams including Ohio State and Purdue in addition to Michigan State and Michigan.

A delegation from the University of Toronto will give the meet international flavor.

'M' Swimmers Victors

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — University of Michigan swimming team handed the Indianapolis Athletic club its worst beating in modern times last night. Michigan won, 67-23.

Sentimental Favorites Advance in 4-Ball Test

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Hollywood golf fans wondered today whether Cookie Swift could continue her par-shattering golf in the Women's International Four-ball Tournament, and most of them hoped the answer would be "yes."

Cookie and her best-ball partner, Vonnie Colby, were sentimental favorites as the tournament entered semifinals.

They bested Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore and Ellen Gery of Reading, Pa., in a battle of birdies yesterday, 3 and 2, and met Marjorie McMillen of Decatur, Ill., and Bobbie Dawson of Piedmont, Calif., today.

The Wiffie Smith-Joyce Ziske duo downed Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., and Carol Dirlinger of Mid-Pines, N. C., 3 and 2, in the quarterfinals.

Little Miss Swift, who has won practically every turnament she entered in the New York area, played spectacularly yesterday. The pretty brunette collected five of the six birdies her team scored. And it was a case of necessity, because the Gery-Glick combination got four birdies over the match's 16 holes.

Miss Colby won two holes on the front nine, allowing the team to make the turn 1-up, but Cookie took honors on the back nine.

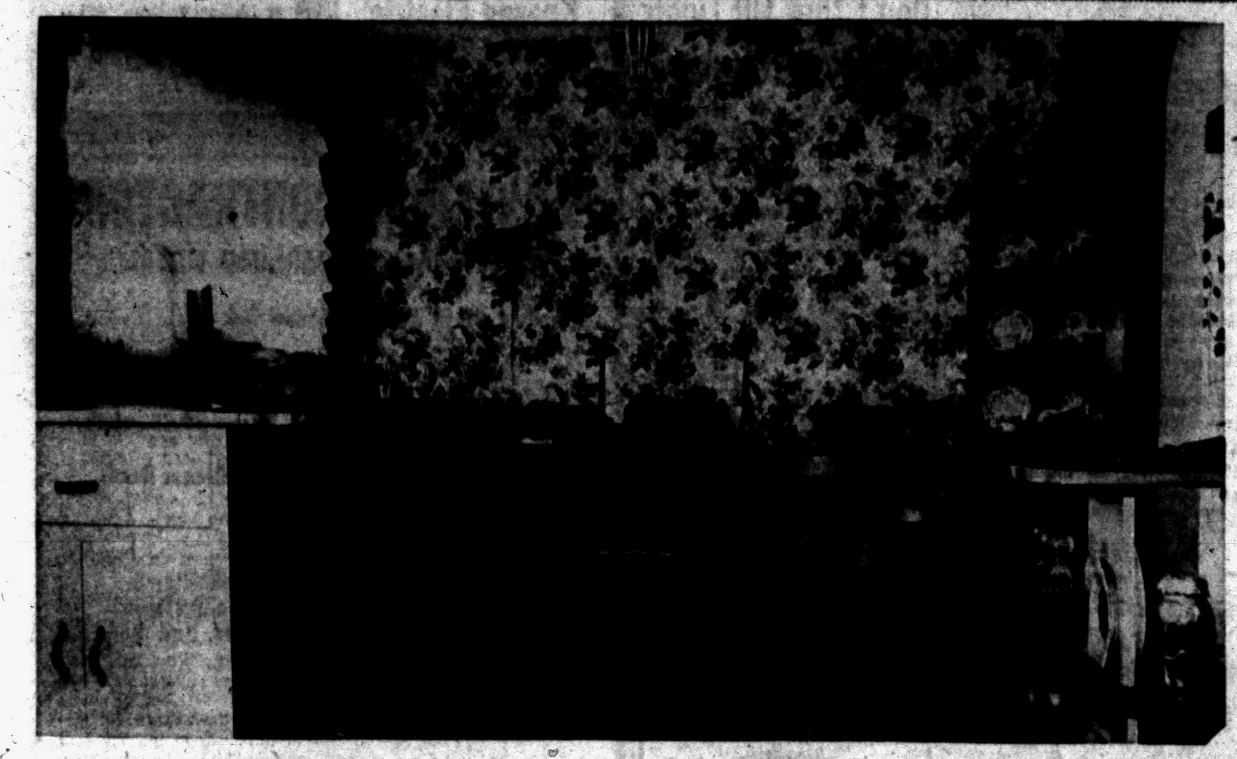

Miss Swift's and Miss Colby's best-ball medal score was four under men's par for the 16 holes over the 6,643-yard Orange Brook Municipal Course. Par is 72 for men, 75 for women.

Spartans Upset Purdue

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State threw Purdue for an 18-10 loss in a Big Ten wrestling meet here last night.

Upset of the meeting was a decision by MSC's Dick Abraham in the 177-pound weight over Ahmet Senol of Purdue. Senol was a member of the Turkish Olympic team in 1952 and won the AAU 174-pound Greco-Roman wrestling title.

background for LIVING

COMBINED KITCHEN-DINETTE—An occasional waxing gives this champagne birch dining room furniture a mirror finish. Floral paper covers one end wall of this combination kitchen-dinette, and the other colors are in shades of green. Tightly looped cotton carpeting is used on the floor of this dinette in another shade of green. Cotton carpeting, says Mrs. Bowers, requires less care than wool and always looks fresh. Spots can be removed with soapy cloth followed by a quick brushing.

LIVING ROOM INVITES CONVERSATION GROUPINGS—Planning for a new home involved choosing a new type of furniture for the Bowers. They disposed of their overstuffed traditional furnishings which, as Mrs. Bowers said, required constant cleaning and moth-chasing. Selecting champagne birch in natural color and simple lines, their upholstered furniture now uses nylon and cotton fabrics which merely have to be sudsed off for cleansing. Mrs. Bowers has arranged sectional chair groups in two different areas of her living room. Colors for this room are in light green and chartreuse, a pale blue, gray, red and white.

Your Neighbor's House

Home on Walton Is Answer to Dream

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

The outdoors is as important as the indoors when a couple selects a home plan for their retirement years.

With this in mind, Mr. and Mrs. Harley A. Bowers set out to find the right spot for their ideal retirement home. Although actual business severance was a few years hence, the Bowers believed in planning ahead for the future.

On their search, they found just what they wanted, already constructed, at 4440 W. Walton Blvd., Drayton Plains.

A compact, one-story white frame house, it was surrounded by terrain which offered everything they could want in an outdoor as well as indoor plan.

In fact, they find it hard to decide whether they chose their home for the house plan or the outdoor living opportunities it offered.

They have one acre of ground, with a backyard stretching between a double row of full grown trees; side yards with plenty of room to give a feeling of country living; enough space in the front to be back from the main highway, yet close to busy suburban life.

Mr. Bowers thinks a man, when he retires, should have enough property to keep him busy, but not so much he feels a slave to hard-to-care-for shrubbery and landscaping.

Lawns are level areas to make mowing easy.

Shrubbery is the kind that doesn't require pruning and trimming every year.

There are plenty of shade trees for relaxed moments and and hobby shop in the rear yard for the do-it-yourself hours.

Painting and repair of the entire house can be done from a step-ladder and requires no climbing.

Inside planning of the house emphasizes convenience and ease of care. Plan includes a large recreation room, combination kitchen and dining room, living room, two bedrooms and bathroom, a breezeway and garage.

Versatility of the recreation room cuts down on traffic in living room. It can be entered from the front of the house, the back and breezeway.

Materials such as tile and glass block allow easy cleaning.

This recreation room also has one corner allotted to combination washer-dryer unit, heating plant and hot water heater.

The opposite corner, close to the rear door, has a shower facility.

An abundance of closets located throughout the house give adequate storage space.

Mrs. Bowers said that when they moved into their new home, they said goodbye to three-story homes, mohair and traditional furniture which took hours of care. They also said goodbye to ruffled curtains.

"These things are important to get rid of when you decide you would like to take things a little easier," she said.

Furnishings they selected include simple, clean lined champagne birch which relies upon its wood coloring and line for beauty.

The living room is arranged for several comfortable conversational groupings. One corner has a sectional group in pale blue tapestry centered by the family television. Modern, adjustable lamps allow maximum of light and require very little space.

Lots of natural light is another nice feature of this retirement house. Besides the large expanses of windows in all the rooms of the home, the bathroom has one full wall of glass block giving this yellow and blue tiled room a sunny appearance at all times.

The combination kitchen and dining room is separated by a snack bar upholstered in red leather.

This house was built by Arthur Jacobson of Drayton Plains.

Try Plaids for Effect

You can make your long narrow upstairs hall appear shorter by carpeting it with a bold plaid pattern. To help muffle the nose, the carpet is laid over thick padding.

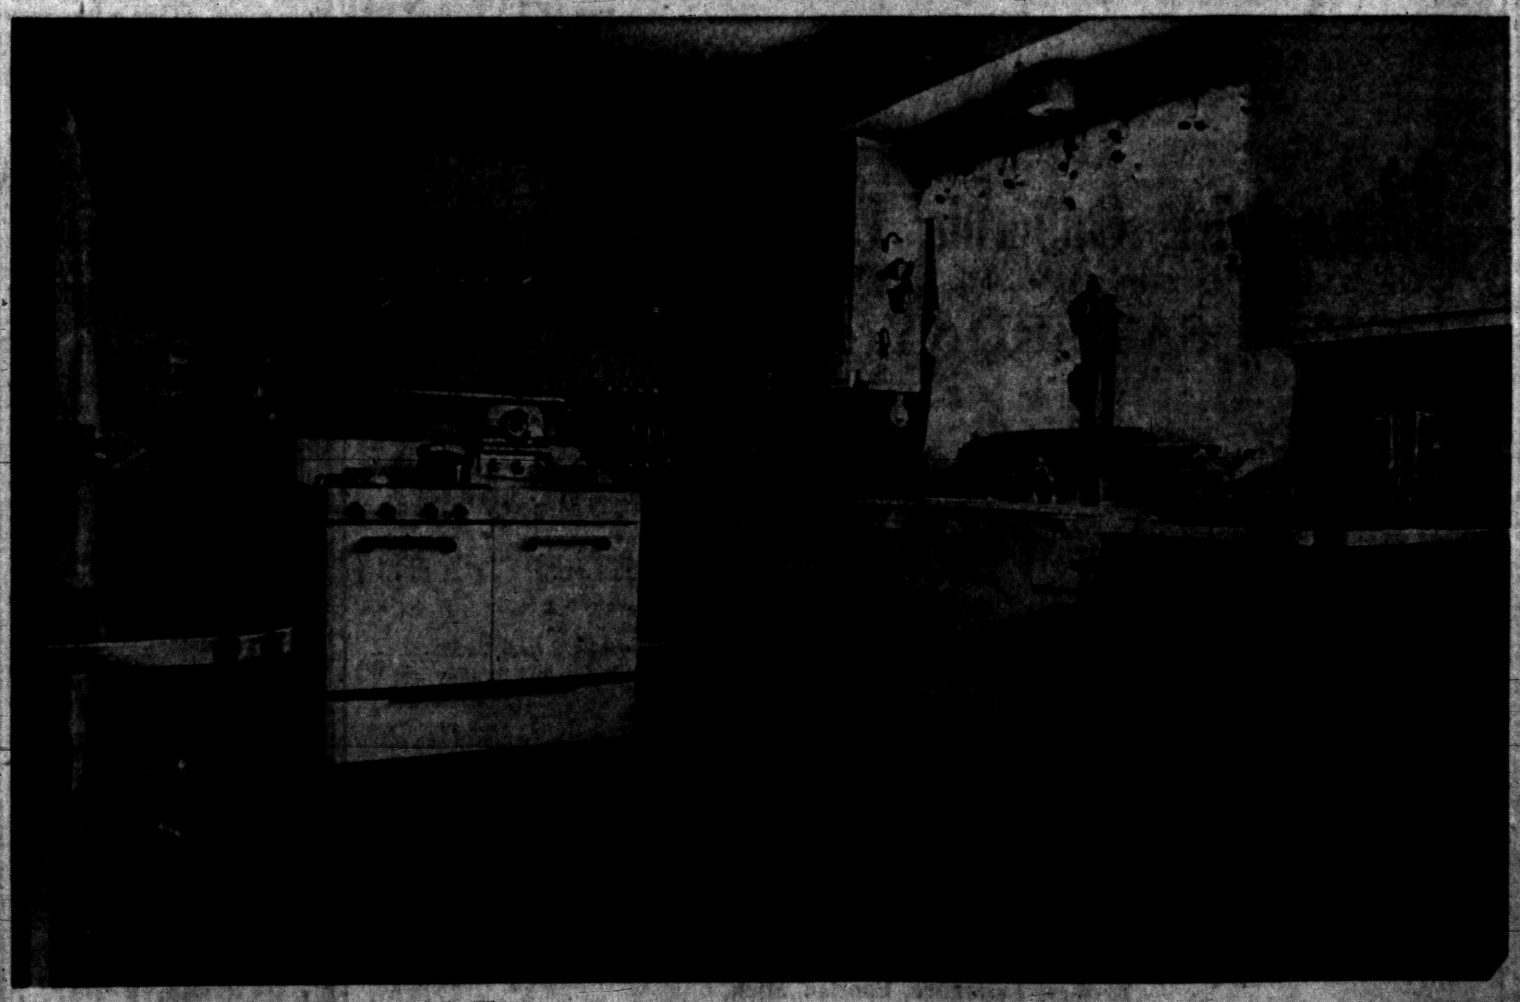

BOWERS HOME IDEAL FOR RETIREMENT DAYS—Located on an acre site at 4440 West Walton Blvd., Drayton Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Bowers have an outdoor-indoor living plan that is the ultimate in desirable retirement features. A one-story house, the entire exterior can be painted from a step-ladder. Most of it can be reached from the ground. Permanent type awnings that need neither painting nor annual removing, are placed over the two largest picture windows facing south. Exterior terrain is practically level, making lawns easy to mow. Shrubbery is the kind that does not need periodic pruning and trimming. The backyard has a double-row of fully grown shade trees with the lawn section in the center. A spacious garden area is located on the back, and Mr. Bowers says he chooses perennials in flowers to save annual plantings. A hobby shop and picnic area is located in the rear yard. The house plan includes a garage, breezeway, recreation room, combination kitchen and dining room, living room and two bedrooms with bath.

Pontiac Press Photos

GLASS BLOCK WALL LIGHTS BATHROOM—To give the light of a full-sized window expanse, an interesting decorative note with a maximum of privacy, the Bowers' bathroom has one full wall of glass block. The bathroom is finished in blue and yellow tile.

KITCHEN FEATURES STEP-SAVING PLAN—Mrs. Bowers has arranged all of her kitchen facilities within a few steps of each other. A large double window overlooks the backyard with sink and work counters placed beneath. Cupboards face two walls of this rectangular room. Counter tops and leather upholstery on the snack bar are in deep red. Wall color is pale green. The other section of this room is a dining area and partial separators form china cabinet space. Adjacent to the kitchen is the recreation room which houses a washing-drying facility, heating and hot water unit and tiled corner shower.

Convert Attic to Extra Rooms

Overcome Crowding but Investigate Certain Factors First

You can discard an outgrown coat that has given good wear, but a home is something else. There's a remedy, however, and that is to let out the seams.

One of the best ways to do this is to utilize the attic for extra space. No matter how small this upstairs area is, it is sure to accommodate a waterproof tiled bathroom and a living-sleeping room for one or more persons.

Because one of the reasons for home crowding is family growth through the years, this bath and bedroom combination is particularly ideal for children, especially because it is away from the main living areas of the home.

Before you and your husband consult a builder about remodeling the attic, it is wise to keep certain factors in mind. First, the floor of the attic must be constructed to bear additional weight.

Second, the home water system must be adequate to supply the additional bathroom.

Third, the heating plant must be able to carry the load of warming extra space.

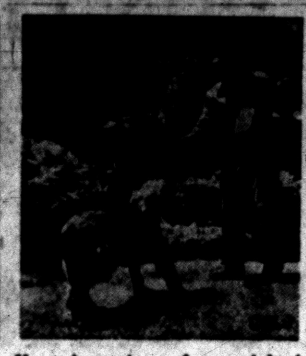

Regarding the second bath, plumbing costs can be saved if no extra, long lines have to be installed. For this reason, it is smart to install the upstairs bath directly over existing plumbing, such as the downstairs bath or the kitchen.

Because of the importance of protecting the ceiling of the first floor, be sure that the new bathroom in the attic has a floor of waterproof material like tile, as well as walls or wainscots of the same steam-resistant surfacing.

The converted attic need not be an expensive project. Except for good insulation, durable clay tile and quality plumbing in the bathroom, and the best and safest of electrical wiring, the extra space may be remodeled at minimum cost.

There is enough water in the world to cover the earth to a depth of two miles if all the surface were level.

WATER HIM DOWN—Does Your dog raise a fuss and bark his head off every time someone comes up the walk, even if it's the familiar postman? Unless you want a real watchdog, you should correct this. It's a situation that isn't hard to remedy. Just give that friendly postman or a friend a water pistol. A sudden squirt of water in the face usually cures a "bark-happy" dog very quickly.

Best Dog House Is Found on Rug Before Fireplace

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER

How to build a dog house seems to be a far cry from the problems usually pursued in this department. But it isn't. It's just the latest howl. A reader wants to know how to plan a dog house. Maybe she assumes we must have had experience inside such a structure.

Well, we don't happen to have any doghouse plans with two bathrooms and expansion attics on our desk at the moment. But since dogs are a problem to householders everywhere and since the construction of a good dog house might set an example for much modern construction, le's take a look at the dog problem.

If you don't think this involves a bone of contention, you must live in the best of regulated neighborhoods. Harry Henderson, writing about big suburban developments in Harper's magazine, observes that one detail the super planners overlook in new home communities is dogs—dogs brought from apartments by young home buyers, who turn the pooches loose to roam through neighbors' yards.

"The result," says Henderson, "is that the dogs form great pacts which race through the area, knocking down small boys and girls, and wrecking gardens and flower beds When they are tied up they howl and bark. When they are locked up in the house, they charge out to bite mail carriers and delivery men. In one community 13 mail carriers were bitten in one summer.

Now this is no criticism of the best friend a reporter ever had. In fact, we love dogs just as much as (and when) they love us. While raking up some rubbish in the fall, we found that neighbor Harry O'M's handsome and lanky Irish setter pup was a wonderful diversion—a perfect time killer, barking at each reach of the rake and running after every stick we'd throw—until we took off a good pikskin glove to light a match to the rubbish pile and the pup ran off with the glove.

Well, we didn't complain to Harry O'M, but meeting J. D. of Ho-ho-kus, N. J., (which is many miles away), we unburdened.

"You know, John," we said, "we can't keep on buying five-dollar gloves for a pup to hide in the woods."

"Try buckshot," John said. But that wasn't the answer. Who would want to hurt a handsome animal like Harry's setter pup? Besides, our village has rules against guns.

"You don't want a gun," John replied. "Get a sling shot. All suburbanites use sling shots. You can make one. It's a good do-it-yourself project. Or buy one. They're advertised in the papers. They don't hurt the dogs. Just sting 'em and they won't come back."

Well no dog in the David's neighborhood is named Goliath, so we haven't tried John's sling shot idea. But to see the holes made in our newly sewn lawn you'd think that all dogs were giants of horse size.

And it made us feel sad the other day when neighbor Harry said he'd given his setter away—to many complaints from people.

So we decided that if we ever had a dog again, the way we'd plan a dog house would be to keep a nice soft rug in front of the fireplace and cut a swinging panel in the bottom of the front door so Rover could run in and out to his heart's content—in, to get away frm the neighbors, and out, to remind them that the best part of living in a house is—living.

Construction Progressing on West Bloomfield High

Planned for completion by February, 1955, this one-story structure will have 18 classrooms.

Also included in the plans are a gymnasium 100 by 100 foot, homemaking rooms, shops, a library and a cafeteria-study hall.

Of light beige brick, the school is being built on a 31 acre site.

Although seven school districts have geographic boundaries within West Bloomfield Township, the new high school will be the only one located within the township.

The contractor for the building is Ray Misch & Son of Detroit. The plans were drawn by the George D. Mason Co.

Don't Turn Off Lights to Watch Television

If you want your family and friends to enjoy comfortable television viewing, don't keep them in the dark.

Because television is much brighter than a movie screen, you need more light in your living room than in a motion picture theater.

For most comfortable viewing, turn floor and table lamps on the medium level (about 100 watts) and place them so that they are not reflected in the television screen.

Clean Brush, Roller Right After Painting

It is very easy to clean your brush or roller after using one of the new paints in which synthetic latex is the vehicle.

The job can—and should—be done immediately after you have stopped painting. Such latex-base paints are easy to apply, dry quickly and leave no marked odor.

After the paint has had sufficient time to age—or "cure"—the painted surfaces are easy to wash.

How to Use Old Putty

Old putty that has dried out can be softened up for use.

Crumble it on a sheet of glass Remove any hard crusts or lumps, and pour a little linseed oil over the crumbs and mix to the proper consistency.

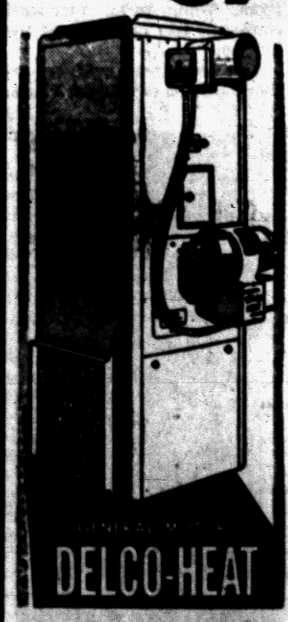

To get a smooth mix, use a putty knife to break down the lumps. Don't add too much oil.

Charcoal at very low temperatures will absorb 10 times as much gas as charcoal at barely freezing temperature.

Wood Surfaces Take on Beauty With Coloring

A piece of wood is like an artist's palette. On it colors will be even more beautiful because of the way wood lends itself to the tone of the finish you put on it.

You can finish wood a natural color with pale varnishes or lacquers to emphasize its grain. You can stain to deepen its splendid color and grain patterns. You can bleach to lighten the wood without destroying its natural color. And you can color it with pigment stains which combine its natural beauty with hues nature omitted from her own color scheme for wood.

If, for example, you want white-grained oak, all you have to do is enamel the wood, then use white pigment as your filler. Oak's open grain is as beautiful when it is finished as natural oak or bleached oak. If you would like to work with walnut or pine, you will find that there is no easier way to get a beautiful finish. Just stain the wood the color that you wish and you will have a more beautiful piece of furniture in your home.

2 New Products Aid Decorators

Paint-on-Wall Designs, Plastic Paper Spray Top Spring Items

NEW YORK (INS) — A paint product that produces "wallpaper patterns," and a spray that makes real wallpaper act like paint top the list of the "do-it-yourself" items for the spring redecorating season.

Home craftsmen will be delighted with the paint that looks like wallpaper, because it's inexpensive and easy to apply—yet looks like a real design on the wall. But there's no "paper," no paste, and not even a paintbrush involved.

This wonder item made by a prominent paint company, is a combination of a new kind of paint roller and a new kind of paint.

The roller is a double-job, one cloth roller and one embossed pattern plastic roller. The paint is a company secret. Here's how they work:

You first have to paint the wall with the recommended paint. Then you dip the cloth part of the roller into "applikay," and roll the plastic part against the wall. The plastic picks up paint from the cloth, and keeps tracing a design.

There are five roller patterns — including one that comes out looking like wood — and eight "applikay" colors — opalescent tints like white, gold, gray and blue.

The design you get isn't geometric, which means you don't have to worry about matching lines, it's washable when dry — and the whole work costs an estimated $12 per room!

The second new product, which seems to be for people who insist on paper, not paint, is even simpler to use.

It's just a new flat plastic spray in an aerosol container. You press a button, and sprish! An invisible plastic coating goes on your treasured wallpaper.

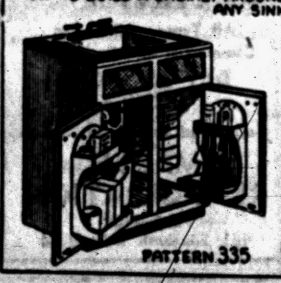

When it dries, neither crayon marks nor dirty fingers are any problem, since you can clean the plastic-treated paper with soap and water.

The manufacturer of this item intends to sell it for $1.95 a can, which is said to be enough for 75 square feet. The company also confides that lazy "do-it-yourself" hobbyists can do just the bottom part of the wall without fear of detection, since the plastic finish doesn't show.

Both products, introduced for wall use, lend themselves easily to other home jobs. Anything that takes paint will take the applikay, and as for the plastic spray — it could give a permanent washable finish to anything from lampshades to news clippings.

HOW TO BUILD A CABINET AROUND ANY SINK

PATTERN 335

While this sketch shows a cabinet for a small kitchen sink, the pattern includes variable dimensions for adapting the construction to a sink of any size; or to extend the cabinet along the side of the kitchen. Each step in construction is illustrated in large perspective drawings on pattern 335. The two containers for dish-washing supplies attached to the inside of doors are made from quarter-inch plywood. Tracing diagrams for these are in full size on the pattern. To get pattern 335 only, send name and address with 25 cents. And for the Kitchen Remodeling Packet which includes the sink pattern, send $1 with your order. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press.

Convectors are easier to install than old-style cast-iron radiators, heating engineers have found, because they usually are light enough for one man to carry. That means less time for installation, hence more economy, too.

ARM CHAIR NEWS—For the relaxed, sprawling type of occupant, this expansive over-sized chair, extends an inviting reception. Strong, wide curving back assures comfort from any angle. Unusual arm design features a micarta inset on either side providing stain-proof serving surface. Foam rubber has been extensively used in upholstering.

Early Americans Started Compact Living of Today

NEW YORK (INS) — If you're looking for modern space-saving ideas in home decoration, look back about 150 years.

The Early American idea of decorating is just what 1954 housewives ordered, says antique expert Narcissa Chamberlain.

"The Early American period originated all these so-called modern ideas," Mrs. Chamberlain believes.

"This period featured good design—things compact, easy to take care of, and good to look at. As for space-saving, it was the U. S. pioneers who invented things like the drop-leaf table, because they had little furniture, less space and had to make the most out of every piece."

Mrs. Chamberlain, who lives in a real Early American house at Marblehead, Mass., believes in her theory so firmly that she's written a book called "Old Rooms for New Living," a page-by-page, picture-by-picture summary of how Early American fits into modern comfort.

She doesn't suggest that women buy a lot of Early American furniture to try out the ideas of the period, although Mrs. Chamberlain points out that there are more good Early American reproductions now than ever before.

But she maintains the ideas behind Early American furniture are perfect for 1954 use.

The woman who has a closet or an odd corner to furnish might recall that the early Americans thought up slant-top desks and wall shelves to take care of just that problem.

Slope-roofed attics? Our ancestors had those, too, says Mrs. Chamberlain, and they disguised them into bedrooms by using low-poster beds and all-over wallpaper patterns that camouflaged the different roof levels.

Mrs. Chamberlain laughs when she hears someone discuss "new living kitchens" with wood paneling or natural wood trim.

"The early Americans really lived in their kitchens, and they paneled the kitchen to make it look like a room," she pointed out. "What's more, the return to the idea of a china cupboard involves something they discovered in Revolutionary days—bright dishes add color to dark woods, and it's nice to have all the dishes in one place."

The early Americans were both practical and decoration-minded, Mrs. Chamberlain added. They hung mirrors on the wall to add light and also for use.

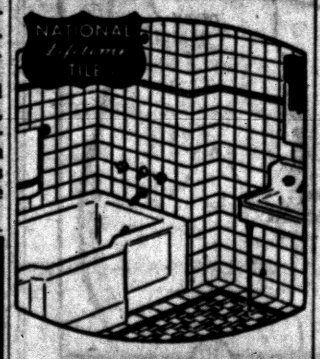

They used plenty of colored wallpaper to make their rooms look cheerful and warmer. If they didn't have a table, they hung a shelf on the wall and decorated it without apologies.

Whenever possible, they built in cabinets and cupboards to provide storage and save space.

In fact, she claims, the early Americans established the pattern for "compact" living, and the original pattern is still the best.

Wood Blocks Upholster New Chairs, Stools

NEW YORK (INS)—Wooden blocks used to be something children played with, but in 1954 wooden blocks are one of the latest things in chair upholstery.

A New York company has introduced a set of chairs, stools and settees made of small wooden blocks strung on cotton webbing across wrought iron frames. The blocks, about two-and-one-half inches square and three-quarters of an inch thick, are spaced roughly half an inch apart on the webbing.

He calls his new designs the "Checkerboard Collection," and that's a good description of what they look like. The wooden blocks, stapled to the webbing, stretch to all sides of the seating frame on chairs and stools—but sort of sag in the middle for sitting accommodation.

Soybeans Ease Painting of Automobile Bodies

Soybean oil is used in the making of paints and industrial product finishes.

Highly refined soybean oil helps to provide many of the better-spreading, longer - lasting automobile finishes that are sprayed onto car bodies as they move down the production line of automobile factories.

Builder Predicts Limited Changes in Kitchen Design

NEW YORK (INS) — Don't get too dreamy-eyed over predictions that the apartment of 1964 is going to have everything from disappearing walls to electronic kitchens.

A noted New York builder warns that this rosy forecast is not likely to come true.

"The average middle-income city apartment 10 years from now," declares Paul Tishman, "isn't going to look much different from the one you've got right now. There may be better equipment and a few more cabinets, but mostly it will be four walls with electric plugs."

Tishman, who has given New York both low-cost housing and some of its most luxurious apartments, pointed out that the construction industry is having trouble enough trying to build new apartments, much less futuristic room layouts.

"There just isn't enough space to go around, and the big problem in rehabilitating city housing is to clear out old buildings and put up new ones," he said.

But Tishman does promise some improvements in '64 for city dwellers. He says housing by then should offer modern fireproof elevator buildings set on enough land so that children have play areas off the street.

Sees New Era of Better Homes

Real Estate Association Leader Optimistic Over Ike's Housing Proposals

A new era of better homes and better neighborhoods will open in 1954, Ronald J. Chinnock, Chicago, said this week in taking office as president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"President Eisenhower's number one recommendation in his recent message on housing matters," Mr. Chinnock said, "encourages the practical, direct, and wholesale attack on slum, blight, and unfit housing conditions that our Build America Better Council has urged.

"As the President's message to Congress pointed out, the main elements of this approach to solving the problem are (1) strict enforcement of city codes on housing standards, (2) upgrading of older neighborhoods by replanning and improvements to streets, parks, and other public works, and (3) demolition of unfit structures and use of the land for new construction.

"Good progress in this type of local program is noted in the President's message, which, in most of its provisions, outlines constructive and workable measures to stimulate improved housing conditions."

Owners must be sold on modernizing their properties and cooperating with their neighbors in renewing whole neighborhoods. Municipal governments must be sold on helping this effort by doing their share in renewing public facilities and services, Chinnock pointed out.

"Owners of neglected properties will have an effective incentive to modernize because entire neighborhoods will be undergoing modernization, Chinnock said. "There will be more incentive to home ownership for a wider range of family incomes, because this too is a goal of the private housing industry and of the President's plans for expanding the mortgage insurance programs. Home repair loans will be brought within the reach of more people.

"Because of the importance of incentive to this new era of better housing, any extension of the principle of government owned, operated, and subsidized family dwellings would deliver its impact against a successful program.

"Public housing is an incentive destroyer. It does more harm than good. For every family it accommodates, in effect it makes a vain, incentive-killing promise to hundreds of other families in the same income group—the promise that they all can expect huge government-financed discounts in family housing."

Proper Airing Cuts Moisture Losses

Moisture is, of course, always present. In fact, moisture in the air is necessary for life.

But uncontrolled moisture in excessive amounts is dangerous and can ruin your home. Eternal vigilance and corrective steps when they are needed are necessary to see that moisture does not win the unending battle.

Make sure, at all times, that your home is adequately ventilated.

Adequate Light, in Proper Location, Will Make Sewing Easier, Save Eyes

Illuminating facts to shed more light on avoiding eye strain are required reading when long autumn evenings and an overflowing sewing basket conspire to keep our eyes pinned on the fine seam.

And if you have an eager beaver junior seamstress in the family, it's more important to protect her young eyes from squints than it is to guide her hand on tailor tacks and darts.

Lighting experts of the Lamp and Shade Institute consider the type of lamp, placement and amount of wattage in their recommendations for lighting a sewing corner.

You can check your own sewing nook to see how it compares with their recommendations. Similar lighting is advised for other close work such as reading or studying.

1. Does the lamp provide general illumination plus concentrated glareless light on the work area? Critical work area in machine sewing, for example, is the small area around the needle, but you need plenty of light to the left of the machine for handling material, making adjustments and so on. Deep shadows invite eye fatigue.

2. Is your lamp practical as well as decorative? Reflectors made of plastic or glass eliminate glare.

Shades may be translucent or opaque, but they should be lined in white and broad enough to cast a wide spread of light downward.

On a floor lamp, for example, the shade should have a bottom diameter of at least 16 inches, say the experts.

3. Where do you put your lamp? For machine sewing, recommended placement of a floor lamp is determined by measuring 18 inches to the left of the needle and 12 inches at a right angle toward the sewer. Center of the shade should be directly above this point. Pin-up lamps should be secured so that the bottom of the shade is 12 inches above the machine and centered about 12 inches to the left of the needle.

4. When you pick up some handwork, where do you sit? The table lamp should be 15 inches to the left of right-hand sewers (to the right of southpaws) measuring from the center of the fabric and six inches toward the rear.

Bottom edge of shade should be moved about six inches further back.

5. What about wattage? A 300-watt bulb is advised for floor lamps; 150-watt for table lamps and 100 watts for pin-up lamps for the best seeing while sewing.

Dark Interiors Need Color Lift

Bright Decorator Tones, Modern Lighting Can Banish Gloom

One of the most important problems confronting interior designers is the amount of natural light entering a building.

If your home is closely flanked by other houses, for instance, it may receive little natural light, even at the brightest time of day and even though window expanses are large. A similar problem often arises in office buildings, too, which are adjacent to taller structures.

Lack of natural light, of course, can be corrected by installation of a modern lighting system.

But there's more to it than that. For less artificial light will be needed, and available natural light will be utilized more completely, if the proper color schemes and furnishings are employed.

In the case of a dark office, for example, the use of bright colors will help improve the interior. Combinations such as white ceilings with pale yellow walls will add life to the office and the reception room can be varied by using lime green on the walls.

Beige carpeting or marbleized asphalt tile floors in light shades add further sparkle.

Metal furniture has gained popularity in such modern decorative schemes because of its bright shades, too. Softly-lustrous satin chrome or plastelle enamel finishes, blended with colorful upholsteries, highlight today's metal furniture for offices and reception rooms. And metal furniture in bright or satin chrome finishes has become the vogue for many areas of the home, too.

Cuthbertson sweet peas, and several other kinds, are now available in a "floribunda strain" with more flowers per stem. You will have good success with Cuthbertsons when you let them sprawl on the ground, thus shading their own roots.

Hal Boyle Says:

Today's Youth Discovers New Entertainment Form

NEW YORK (AP)—The charms of old things never disappear.

Many children growing up in the television era now are discovering and enjoying an antique form of home entertainment their parents have appreciated for some years. It is called radio.

"The kids are going back to radio," said Johnny Sinn. "There are some programs they like better on radio because they can imagine the scenes better than if they are shown on a screen."

You probably never heard of John L. Sinn. But he has thought of you, wherever you are. He has studied you for many years harder than he ever studied his primer in school. He wants to know how to make you laugh and cry—and afterward to go out and buy things.

Johnny travels about 100,000 miles a year between New York, Timbuktu and Hollywood. He and his partner, Fred W. Ziv, produce—at the moment—23 weekly radio and 12 television shows. They have 500 employes, their own Hollywood studio.

Two years ago their gross gulp was estimated by "Variety" at 20 million dollars annually, perhaps a modest figure today when their programs are on at least 1,500 of the nation's 2,500 radio outlets and some 145 television markets.

He recently signed Red Skelton in a three million dollar deal.

Yet only 18 years ago Sinn quit college in his junior year to take a $25 a week job in Radio Station WLW in Cincinnati.

How did he leap from $25 a week to a partnership in a 20-million-a-year-or-plus firm? It began with a gimmick, or, as they say in the advertising field, an idea.

Johnny thought up a program for a local bakery firm called "The Freshest Thing in Town," that caught on well. He and Fred Ziv, owner of an advertising agency, decided to try to get other bakeries in other towns to buy it. The idea worked.

"We just went on from there," Sinn recalled. "As we brought in more money, we created more programs, hired bigger stars, sold our shows to more stations. We put them on tape in radio, film in television later.

"We've learned famous names help start a new program, but only quality will keep it going.

Johnny, who started off by writing his own shows, then said:

"Gee, you know the biggest decision in my life was whether to quit college before getting my degree. But it was exactly the job I hoped to get after I finished college. I feel I did what I had to. What would you have done?"

Well, personally, I stayed in college and got two degrees. But I didn't tell Johnny. A guy pulling in 20 million dollars a year has enough worries without me adding to his feeling of inferiority.

Lady Clippers May Organize in Michigan

DETROIT (UP) — A pretty lady barber at Kalkaska, whom most any man would be glad to let nick his chin, may be able to realize her ambition.

She wants to organize all of the female "clippers" in Michigan into an association. And a very select organization it will be, too. There are only about 15 in the state.

But Mrs. Ardell Richardson, 32, has at least two prospective members in Detroit. They are Mrs. Katherine Farkas and Mrs. Bertha Adams who wield the clippers and razor on men in their "all women" shop.

All three are veteran barbers. Mrs. Richardson started slapping on hot towels at the age of 17 in Lansing where her father, Peter Geshko, was a barber.

They like their trade and all have regular customers who come in to get trimmed or shaved.

"It's a funny thing," said Mrs. Richardson, "the wives of my men customers seem to like the way I cut hair. In fact some of them have told me that they ask their husbands to come to my shop."

Nickel Beer Not Cheap

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (UP)—Customers swarmed into a local tavern when it offered a one-day special—a 10-ounce glass of beer for five cents. Some of them swarmed right out again. They had to buy a 35-cent double shot of whisky to get the nickel beer.

College Education Costs Double in Last 10 Years

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — The rising cost of living is pushing the price of a college education upward, a survey shows.

Western Reserve University statisticians estimated that a year's study in 1943 totaled $870 but now costs a student about $1,640. Tuition jumped from $320 to $600, while room and board went from $400 to $630.

A survey of co-eds showed many are now doing more sewing and working at part-time jobs. Men have reduced dates to a stroll and sandwich schedule to meet higher costs.

India Plans Conscription

NEW DELHI (UP)—India plans to conscript technical men from both government and private industry into the Territorial Army. The Defense Ministry has asked state governments for their views on the subject, and the government is expected to introduce legislation in the next session of parliament.

Machine Can Skin 420 Pigs Per Hour

GREENVILLE (INS)—A tanning company here, faced with a declining horsehide supply and increased demand for pigskin, has installed a machine that can skin a pig in less than 10 seconds.

The mechanical innovation was made by the Wolverine Shoe and Tanning Corp., leather suppliers to shoe and glove manufacturers.

The new skinner can rip the hides from pig carcasses at the rate of 420 an hour. That outdates the old hand-skinning method that netted two hides an hour.

Thanks to another mechanism—the tractor—horsehides aren't as plentiful as they once were a decade ago when 15,000,000 skins annually were available to the tanning industry.

The supply today is about 6,000,000 horsehides a year and recently has dropped at the rate of 700,000 hides every 12 months.

It looks like the pigs have had it—or soon will be without it.

Curtice Scolds '54 Pessimists

Says 'All We Have to Fear Is Fear;' Plastics Still in Future

MIAMI, Fla. —Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, spoke sharply about those who predict a coming business recession.

"The principal danger we face is psychological," Curtice told a press luncheon which preceded the opening of the General Motors Motorama show.

"Many so-called experts predict an economic setback. If these pessimists succeed in planting fear in the minds of the public, these seeds of fear could take root and the result might be the very condition we seek to avoid."

General Motors sees no future for a small car selling under $1,200, nor does it expect steel to be replaced by plastics or lighter metals in auto bodies in the near future.

Curtice said he could not see "extensve growth" in plastic-bodied cars or those with bodies made of aluminum or other light metals because they are "not feasible" at present.

GM has built several "pilot model" plastic-bodied cars and is in limited production of one model, the Chevrolet Corvette. But Curtice's remarks at the company's "Motorama" here Friday would indicate that most of GM's work along these lines is still experimental.

Guardian Angel Home Buys Land Near Holly

HOLLY — The Guardian Angel Home, Inc., of Detroit, has purchased 140 acres just southwest of Holly on Elliott Lake.

Business Notes:

Retailers Study Auto Market

Manufacturers Charge Salesmen Slow, but Take Aid Steps

By DAVID WILKIE
Associated Press
Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — For the first time in more than a decade the auto merchandisers have more cars than customers.

What brought on this condition continues a matter of differing opinion among the car makers, retailers and industry experts generally.

Retailers say the manufacturers loaded them with outgoing models late last year. This, they say, forced them to increase trade-in allowances and pile up a stock of used cars accepted as down payments on new ones.

They add that "forced" sales late last year borrowed substantially from the early 1954 market. That, they claim, is why overall demand is down substantially from that of the like 1953 period.

The manufacturers generally disagree with the retailers. Most of them say they did not overproduce in 1953. Some sales chiefs, who want to remain unidentified, have charged the dealer organizations did not realize soon enough that competition had returned.

Others put it more bluntly. "We had to call many of our dealers from the golf links to sales meetings," they said.

It isn't any secret, of course, that car merchandising in the postwar era made a lot of millionaires. But it is also true that the going got pretty rough for many new car retailers in mid-summer last year.

Whatever may be the reasons for high inventories and lagging demand right now, many manufacturers are taking steps to ease the load of new car shipments from the factories.

Complete suspension of assembly line activities obviously are not contemplated. Nevertheless indications are that factory output for the year's first quarter will be sharply down from original schedules.

However, while they cut back production schedules the manufacturers will put increasing pressure on the retailers to increase their sales effort during the weeks immediately ahead.

The car makers still look for a major upsurge in new car demand in the April-June quarter. And they look also for increasing production during that period.

If the expected sales upsurge should not materialize three and possibly five of the auto companies may have their 1955 models on the assembly lines shortly afterward.

Crossing Safety Is Under Study

Railroad and State Men to Confer With City Officials Feb. 18

City officials will meet with representatives of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad and the Michigan Public Service Commission here Feb. 18 to discuss changes in traffic warning signals at Pontiac railroad-street crossings.

A preliminary inspection was made yesterday by City Manager Walter K. Willman and A. N. Laird, chief engineer for the railroad.

Yesterday's session saw no conclusions reached, Willman said, but was held to gain a common understanding of problems involved in providing greater safety.

The state agency's plan was revealed in a letter received this week by City Clerk Ada R. Evans.

Pontiac City Commission has requested the Public Service Commission to compel installation of traffic control devices where considered necessary and to direct the railroad to route freight trains on the belt line.

Reason for the move was given as the mounting number of accidents at crossings in recent years.

Youth's Finger Caught in Hole in School Desk

KALAMAZOO (UP) — Everyone was excited except the victim when 15-year-old Harold Ray got his finger stuck in a hole in his desk at South Junior High School.

Firemen were called Friday when Harold's efforts to release the finger caused it to swell and stick even more firmly. They worked for 15 minutes with a hack saw, a hatchet and drills, finally tearing the desk completely apart.

"It was sort of fun," said Harold.

Lost Hunter Takes Rest

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (UP)—Al Mack welcomed the Pennsylvania deer season by posting this sign on his confectionery shop, "Closed—Gone Hunting." He was lost in the woods for 30 hours. When he returned safely, Macked changed the sign to read, "Closed—Resting After Being Hunting."

Do You Know How to Fill Out Return? Take It Slowly . . . Just Step by Step

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
Article 11

Before deciding which tax return to use for reporting your 1953 income, you should know:

1. What to report as income.
2. What deductions you can claim.

The previous Primer articles help you with these items. This article helps you choose and fill out your tax return.

A simple chart printed with Article 2 told the best form to use if your income is under $5,000.

Check over your answers on the chart to make sure they are correct. If your deductions are close to 10 per cent of your income, it is best to compute your tax on both Short Form 1040 and Long Form 1040 (with itemized deductions) and then use whichever gives the smaller tax.

Remember, if your income is over $5,000 you must use Long Form 1040.

Those of you using Form 1040A (printed on yellow paper) will not have to compute your tax.

Just fill it in showing your name and address and exemptions and income. The district director of Internal Revenue will use the tax table printed on the back of Form 1040 to compute your tax and send you a refund or a bill depending on whether too much tax or too little tax was withheld from your pay.

The tax table automatically gives you a $600 credit for each exemption and a deduction of about 10 per cent of your income for such items as contributions, medical expenses and the like.

Before attaching your Form W-2 to the return, add up the amounts shown as deducted for Social Security Tax (FICA employe tax).

No one person is supposed to pay more than $54 for such tax in 1953. If you worked for more than one employer, it is quite likely that you have had more than $54 deducted for FICA tax. In such case, follow the instructions on the reverse of Form 1040A and you will be given credit for any excess.

Those of you using the Short Form 1040 should fill in pages 1 and 2 showing all your exemptions and all your income. You then tear off pages 3 and 4, and find your tax from the Tax Table on page 4.

Just follow the simple instructions at the top of the Table and be sure to select the exemption column that corresponds to the number of exemptions you claim on page 1.

Then enter the tax in Item 5, on page 1. The last few steps necessary to complete your Short Form 1040 will be described in tomorrow's article.

Those of you who itemize deductions or who have incomes in excess of $5,000 must use the tax computation schedule on page 3 of the return to compute your tax.

The first step in using the tax computation schedule is to enter on Line 1 your adjusted gross income as shown in Item 4, page 1.

What you enter in Line 2 is important. You have a choice of showing either your itemized deductions or one of the amounts shown in (a) or (b) of the instructions with Line 2. Use whichever gives you the larger deduction.

You can change your method of computation from itemized deductions to standard deductions and vice versa any time before the statute of limitations expires, which is normally three years from the time your return is due.

For example, suppose your itemized deductions are $611 while your standard deduction (10 per cent itemize and claim the $611 deductions.

Suppose also that a year or two later you or a revenue agent discovers that an additional $1,000 should have been reported as income in 1953.

This would increase your standard deduction by $100 (10 per cent of $1,000) making it $690.

Since the standard deduction would then be larger than your itemized deductions, you could change to the larger one in making your new computation.

Fill out the remainder of the tax computation schedule of page 3 following the instructions opposite each line and you will end up on Line 13 with your 1953 income tax. You have probably paid all or most of the tax through withholdings or payments on estimated tax.

Association Calls Meeting to Discuss State Park

MONROE (AP) — Directors of the Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity Assn. will meet Feb. 15 to discuss plans for improvement or possible abandonment of Sterling State Park.

The area was heavily damaged by Lake Erie floods in the spring of 1952 and was closed that summer. It was opened last summer.

Russian Develops Rose (It Follows Party Line)

LONDON (INS)—Russian horticulturists claim to have developed a flower with the ability to follow the party line.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said a new rose changes color several times a week, turning from white to pink and then to yellow, light brown and finally red.

Mary Sinclair Busy on TV in Studio One, Suspense

NEW YORK — Mary Sinclair, Conover model turned actress, has appeared on TV shows many times.

Miss Sinclair, known to television viewers through numerous appearances on "Studio One," "Suspense" and other top programs, came to New York in 1945, after three years of modeling and a little movie and theater work in Los Angeles.

Landing in Manhattan with $35 in her purse, Miss Sinclair looked up a model agency and was directed to the Illustrators Club—where she promptly pocketed $200 prize money in a beauty contest. This tided her over until she became a Conover model.

In 1947, she played summer stock at Ogunquit,Me. Bits came first, then featured roles with Ruth Chatterton in "The Little Foxes," Peggy Wood in "Fatal Weakness" and year later she was a summer theater star.

Then came television—a part in a "Studio One" production, followed by more "Studio One" roles before Miss Sinclair went to Paris for work with the American Club Theater.

On her return to the States, she compiled a record of 14 appearances on "Studio One," and five each on "Suspence," "Starlight Theater" and "Danger."

Born in San Diego, Calif., Nov. 15, 1922. Miss Sinclair was educated at San Diego Cabrillo Grammar School, Point Loma High School and San Diego State College.

College Dean Dies

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Edward M. Freeman, 78, dean emeritus of the College of Forestry, Agriculture and Home Economics of the University of Minnesota, died at his home yesterday.

More than 90 per cent of the milk sold in cities of 100,000 or more population, is a pasteurized product.
