Postal Site Bid Gets School Veto

Education Board Refuses to Give $137,500 Option

Price of Central School Should Be Much Higher, Officials Say

The Board of Education last night threw cold water on a $137,500 proposal to buy the Central School site for an additional post office building.

Four board members at the meeting agreed they stood to lose almost a quarter million dollars on the deal.

The $137,500 figure was quoted in a four-months option asked by Pontiac real estate man James A. Taylor, who first made overtures in a sale three months ago. He urged action within a few days.

Postal officials said today that Taylor was not empowered by them to negotiate for options on the site for the building.

Arthur C. Chandler, regional real estate manager of the Chicago district of the Post Office Department, said the government preferred to negotiate its own options on sites for proposed additions.

Taylor indicated that the 1½ acre site across E. Pike street from the City Hall is the favored location for a new building already promised by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

FOR MAIL HANDLING

The additional postal building would be primarily for mail handling, and it would provide adequate space to process parcel post, allowing mail-carrying vehicles to move in and out with ease.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield told the Pontiac Press in February that "there is no question of (Pontiac's) need." He added that a site would be announced in 60 to 90 days.

No official vote was taken because three board members were absent. Present were Mrs. Lola

Group OKs Big Farm Aid

WASHINGTON (INS)—The most powerful financial hypodermic in history was voted America's farmers today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The panel approved a $1,983,512,568 money bill to carry the nation's expanding farm programs during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Noting that the measure was pared $3.8 million below the amount requested by President Eisenhower, the Democrat-controlled committee remarked that the administration at last seems to have "recognized the serious situation facing American agriculture."

During the three previous years, the administration has attempted to reduce drastically the farm budget.

The 1957 bill, however, represents the largest agricultural appropriation America has ever had and an increase of $1.1 billion over 1956 funds.

* * *

The gigantic price support program accounts for the unprecedented size of the 1957 appropriation.

* * *

Of the total amount, $1.2 billion is earmarked to make up losses suffered by the Commodity Credit Corp., this fiscal year in administering the price support and surplus programs and in carrying out such acivities as the eradication of livestock diseases.

Only $783,061,708 is to be used for the department to carry out its regular continuing programs.

This amount includes 359.3 million dollars for various farm loan plans providing ruralists with credit, telephones and electricity.

The comimttee also voted an additional 150 million dollars contingency fund to be used if the initial amount set aside for these continuing program runs out.

Flood Dangers Confront Flint, Grand Rapids

Local Situation Better, but Thundershowers Are Predicted for Area

Although this morning's sunshine is expected to yield to showers and scattered thundershowers tonight, no serious flooding danger is expected locally.

But communities elsewhere in southern Michigan are preparing for overflows and evacuations today as rivers swirl dangerously close to flood stage and weathermen predict more rain.

Gov. Williams today asked state officials to report to him immediately the extent of flood damage in the state.

He said property damage appeared to have reached the proportions of a public emergency and that he wanted to get all necessary information.

In Flint, authorities say another inch of rain will spill the Flint river over its banks.

Meanwhile, a sloudburst belted Grand Rapids this morning as more than 1,500 persons in 400 families were ready to evacuate homes in Western Michigan along the swirling Grand River.

At least four persons have died as a result of thundering downpours. Three small boys were drowned and a 65-year-old man died when his car went out of control on a flooded spot in the road.

The Grand River had risen to 14.2 feet in downtown Grand Rapids this morning and 25 families already have been evacuated by police. Some 300 others were told to move.

The river would have to rise to 21 feet to spill over into downtown Grand Rapids, but bridges there already are strained by the fast-moving current. They become unsafe when the water reaches 15 feet.

A low of 60 degrees is expected in Pontiac tonight, with slightly cooler and cloudy weather tomorrow. High will be 66-70 degrees.

Lowest Pontiac temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 50 degrees. The mercury rose to 76 at 2 p.m.

Where Rocket Hit House

AP Wirephoto

FAILED TO EXPLODE — An unidentified guard looks at the side of a house hit near Mt. Clemens by an Air Force rocket liberated, the Air Force said, "inadvertently" during unloading operations of Sabre jet planes at nearby Selfridge Air Force base.

3 Deadly Rockets Hunted by AF at Mount Clemens

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Demolition experts searched in a populated area today for three deadly rockets unaccounted for among 22 fired accidentally from a grounded F86 Sabre Jet at Selfridge Air Force Base yesterday.

An Air Force board of inquiry was convened to seek the cause of the accident that sent the Mighty Mouse rockets skimming across the big base. Some shot into a residential area.

Three airmen were injured. A mother and her two children had a narrow escape. So did another family.

The missiles, carrying 75mm. warheads, skipped along the airfield before at least a part of them fanned out into adjoining Harrison Township to the east.

A demolition squad from Griffiss Air Force Base at Rome, N. Y., was flown in to hunt for the missing rockets and to disarm five that dug their way into the Selfridge turf.

One rocket gouged into the ground near Tony Arpaio's home, spewing dirt and flinging a part of its casing against the house. It didn't go off. The family was evacuated and a demolition expert removed the missile.

The "engine" section of one rocket flew off as it passed the home of Mrs. Shirley DePew, 24. It flew through the window of a bedroom, from which she had just moved one of her two children. Glass and metal were scattered over the crib.

Three servicemen, none from Michigan, suffered slight injuries.

A Selfridge spokesman blamed the accidental discharge on "apparent electrical malfunction" of the firing device which the pilot uses to unleash the rockets at a target. He said all switches in the plane were at "off."

The jet fighter had just been pulled off the alert line and was being disarmed when the rockets let go.

* * *

Because the rockets skidded on the ground for a time shortly after leaving the plane, it was believed they failed to attain a speed sufficient to set up their automatic triggering apparatus.

Will Pay Deficit on Furnishing New Structure

Bids Top $3.5 Million Without Equipment for Proposed Building

The City Commission allocated a half-million dollar appropriation to Pontiac General Hospital last night to aid in the construction of what is destined to become an unequipped 200-bed hospital wing.

But the city will make up any deficits to equip the wing when it is opened, according to City Manager W. K. Willman.

The deficit will be between the present construction bids and what the hospital fails to secure to pay for some $700,000 worth of equipment.

The hospital Board of Trustees and the commission heard Willis M. Brewer, building committee chairman, report that a tabulation of low bids, minus all equipment except elevators, totaled $3,565,666.30.

Pontiac voters approved a $3 million general obligation bond issue November 2, 1954 for the construction of the new addition.

The $500,000 will be absorbed by the city, according to City Manager W. K. Willman, out of a three-year capital improvement program "without any appreciable disturbance of the existing tax rate."

CAN ABSORB COST

Willman said: "We can state rather definitely that the City Commission can absorb this added cost over a three-year period without disjoining the construction carried on in the past and hoped for in the future."

Willman added this morning that the city "will stand behind the board in an effort to work out any deficit because of the expected decrease in income the hospital is bound to experience during construction."

* * *

The difference between the half-million dollar city share and the low bid construction price is anticipated to be supplied from a federal grant from the Hill-Burton Fund according to Board Chairman William P. Babcock.

"We anticipate between 50,000

More Trouble Boiling Up for Tiny Isle of Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (INS)—Trouble is boiling up anew on the tiny island of Cyprus.

The outlawed underground Cypriot organization Eoka claimed today it had executed two British soldiers in reprisal for yesterday's hanging of two Greek Cypriots.

Leaflets distributed in Nicosia identified the executed British soldiers as Cpls. Gordon Hill and Ronnie Shilton.

The Eoka leaflets said the two soldiers, held prisoner since November and April respectively, were hanged yesterday and buried secretly in reprisal for the executions of "victims of British military dictatorship on this Greek island."

Yesterday at dawn the British hanged two young members of Eoka, one for having killed a policeman and the other for having wounded a British businessman.

* * *

The two men, considered by the large Greek majority on the strategic British island base as martyrs in the fight for union with Greece, were Michael Karaolis, 23, and Andreas Demetriou, 22.

They were the first Cypriots executed for political crimes since the British took control of Cyprus in 1878.

Eoka, which has sought to advance the nationalist cause through acts of terrorism and guerrilla warfare, has been blamed by the British for most of the violence that has marked the 18-months campaign for "Znosis"—union with Greece.

The Eoka leaflets contained this stark warning to the British:

* * *

"We shall answer hanging with hanging, torture with torture. Supported by over 400,000 Greek Cypriots, inflexible and determined, we shall fight day and night for the application to Cyprus of the right of self-determination."

Dag Tells U.N. to Avoid Orders

Warns Against Trying to Impose Peace Pact on Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold has warned the Security Council not to try to impose a peace settlement on Israel and her Arab neighbors.

* * *

Reporting on his recent mission to the Middle East, Hammarskjold said the cease-fire agreements he negotiated could start a chain reaction toward peace.

* * *

But he also said (1) a final settlement may still be far off, (2) the initiative must come from the Middle East countries themselves and (3) no attempt must be made to impose a settlement from the outside.

* * *

The secretary general returned to New York Sunday after getting Israel and Egypt, Syria, Lebanon and Jordan to reaffirm the cease-fire pledges they made originally in the 1949 armistice agreements.

GM Car Output Stopped for Day

Three City Plants Send Over 11,500 Men Home in Company Shutdown

More than 11,500 assembly workers were given a day off from their jobs at three local General Motors plants today in a corporation shutdown involving 119 factories in 64 U.S. cities.

Affected by the brief production halt were 6,000 production employes at the Pontiac Motor Division, 2,800 in GMC Truck and Engine operations, and 2,800 in assembly operations at the Fisher Body Division.

Coach and sheet metal production activities were not affected by the shutdown, according to GMC spokesmen.

The production cut was ordered to "balance output with current customer demand," General Motors sources said. The company was unable to say today how many workers would be affected by the layoff.

Similar action was taken by the Chrysler Corp. which closed its plants today, announcing plans to resume normal operations Tuesday. Neither GM or Chrysler usually operate on Saturdays and Sundays.

A GM spokesman said that the shutdown will be for a single day and will not mean adoption of a four-day week.

The shutdown came in the midst of a general downward trend in automobile production and sales.

Pontiac is reported to have laid off 4,500 workers since Jan. 1 out of a total employment force of 12,700 hourly-rated and salaried personnel.

GMC Truck and Coach, with an overall complement of 10,700, has reported no layoffs involving seniority.

Other major divisions which will be affected by the one-day include Buick, which has laid off 6,000 since Jan. 1; Oldsmobile, whose layoffs since Jan. 1 total between 1;700 and 2,000; and Chevrolet, offinals of which did not state how many would be affected today or the number laid off since the first of the year.

Chrysler Corp. layoffs total about 34,000 nationally, of which 30,000 involve Detroit plants. Hourly-rated Studebaker - Packard Corp. employes presently working in the Detroit area total 6,770, down from 12,000.

A Cool Move Lands Driver in the Cooler

The 28-year-old driver of an allegedly stolen car apparently ran out of gas last night at S. boulevard W. and Franklin road. He flagged down another car for help.

In the other car was Bloomfield Township Officer Newton Tubbs, who arrested Corrie C. Bloodworth, 346 Central St. after identifying the license plate number with that of a car reported stolen a few minutes before in Pontiac.

Pontiac police today obtained a warrant charging auto theft. They said the car was taken at 1:45 a. m. from a restaurant at S. boulevard W. and S. Woodward avenue.

Bloodworth explained that he'd been drinking, according to Det. Charles Hewitt.

Holds Out Hope for Security Bill

George Says Benefits May Be Restored on Senate Floor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) said today "I think we have a better chance on the (Senate) floor than we did in the committee" to win approval of new social security benefits for women and disabled workers.

George referred to the action of the Finance Committee yesterday in striking from a House bill a provision to give benefits to persons totally disabled at age 50 or above, and in modifying sharply a plan to lower from 65 to 62 the retirement age for women under social security.

The committee voted to give the benefit of the 62 retirement age only to widows, leaving it at 65 for working women and wives of retired workers.

Seamen's Strike Idles Great Lakes Shipping

TORONTO (AP) — Nearly a fourth of Canada's Great Lakes-St. Lawrence River fleet was either idle or heading for port today because of a seamen's strike for higher wages.

The Seafarers' International Union (SIU) called the strike yesterday against two shipping companies. Twelve hours later 14 ships manned by 325 seamen were tied up at ports from Quebec City to Fort William, in westrn Ontario.

Union and company representatives were to continue talks today in Montreal in an effort to end the dispute.

City to Limit Speed on Railroad Trains

In what is believed to be the first such case, the Michigan Public Service Commission imposed a 45 m.p.h. speed limit on Grand Trunk trains passing through the city.

But Frank Gaffney, vice president and general manager of the railroad, had already set the same limit, effective May 3.

The restriction resulted from complaints of City Traffic Engineer Theodore M. Vanderstempel who said police had clocked Grand Trunk trains crossing South Saginaw street at speeds greater than 55 m.p.h.

"I think this limit will work out satisfactorily," Vanderstempel said. "But I still plan to perform more radar checks to see if the trains abide with the limit."

Atomic-Power Transportation 'Round the Corner

EAST LANSING (AP) — Atomic-powered trucks, railroad yards operated by electronic brains, flying boxcars traveling 500 miles an hour . . .

* * *

These were some of the developments predicted for the future by speakers attending the annual Michigan traffic and transportation conference Thursday at Michigan State University.

Thomas Robertson, executive director of the American Trucking Assn., predicted that more than half the total freight transported by railroads and highway will go by truck-trailer by 1956.

* * *

"In ten years," he said, "it should be possible to travel from one end of the country to the other on superhighways without seeing a traffic light."

Robertson also saw the development of atomic-powered trucks for the future.

Ford to Enter Guided Missile Field

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Ford Motor Co. announced last night in Los Angeles formation of a new subsidiary organization to work in the field of guided missiles and exploration of outer space.

Ernest R. Breech, chairman of Ford, said the new firm, called Aeronutronic Systems, Inc., will have its headquarters in California.

Breech announced that it is expected to make "an important contribution, not only to the defense of our country, but to the development of peacetime uses of the miracles of science in the fields of physics, electronics, and nucleonics."

TO EMPLOY LA FIRM

A group of scientists and engineers, together under the name of Systems Research Corp., a Los Angeles firm, will form the nucleus of the new Ford subsidiary.

Breech said that top government scientists in guided missile and atomic and hydrogen bomb projects will also join the new firm.

Gerald J. Lynch director of Ford Motor Co.'s office of defense products and governmental relations, will head the company as president.

Lynch, who will resign his present position to become president of Aeronutronic, said:

"We expect to take a missile or other project and see it through from its very conception to its manufacture, and possibly even to its utilization and maintenance.

SETS SIGHT ON PRODUCTION

"And when the new corporation gets to the point where it is ready to start production, it will either build new plants or use some of the modern, versatile factories Ford has located strategically around the country."

Dr. Ernst H. Krause, formerly president and board chairman of the old SRC was named vice president of research and development. And Dr. Montgomery H. Johnson, also of SRC, will be director of research and development.

Dr. Joseph V. Charyk, an authority on jet propulsion, will become head of the aerodynamics and propulsion division.

The Ford executive told the news conference:

"We are plainly fascinated with the possibilities the future holds . . the development of still undreamed of electronic devices that will make our lives more pleasant, more comfortable and more interesting.

'Unguided Missile'?

Small Twister Hits Minnesota

30 Homes Damaged in $100,000 Loss to Farm Community of 400

RUSHMORE, Minn. (AP) — A small tornado ripped through this southwestern Minnesota community last night, heavily damaging more than 30 houses, farms and business places.

Loss was estimated at more than $100,000. No injuries were reported.

* * *

The twister tore out part of a brick wall at the Rushmore State Bank and peeled off a steel roof on the Farmers Co-op buiding.

Outlying farms took the brunt of the damage. Several farmers lost most of their outbuildings as the storm cut diagonally northeastward and plowed into the town of 400.

Entire blocks of trees were blown down, scores of television aerials were toppled and power was temporarily disrupted.

Drenching rains which followed the storm damaged feed and seed stored in the Farmers Co-op building. Inventories in some stores also got a drenching after the twister blew in windows.

Board of Education Turns Down Option

B. King, Glenn H. Griffin, Dr. Walter Godsell and Monroe M. Osmun.

Griffin said the 2-story school building and property had been appraised at $330,000. He said the board was ready to stand a $75,000 loss in the sale but no more. Taylor claimed the appraisal price was "highly exaggerated."

HINTS AT FREE SITE

Taylor hinted that city officials were prepared to offer the board free another site for a new school if a sale is made. He pointed out that, in his opinion, the present site is poorly located for school purposes and is situated on streets with heavy traffic, endangering school children.

The site in question is on a hill bounded by N. Parke and Union Sts. It extends about 530 feet north of E. Pike street.

The site also is located near the Public Safety Building, now under construction, and the large municipal parking lot on E. Pike. It is about a 4-minute walk from downtown.

"To build the post office there would add another impressive building to the downtown area we all are trying to beautify. It is an ideal location, and the offer is best you'll ever have," Taylor said.

CITE BUDGET PROBLEMS

All four board members agreed with Taylor's first two considerations. They pointed to budgetary problems, however, in consideration of the $137,500 price.

"I don't see how we can even consider that figure in the face of present problems," Griffin said. He referred to the board's present long-range allocation of funds in a ten-year building program.

"Some of our students are attending classes in temporary 'shacks' because we can't afford new buildings this year," Griffin said "How can we afford to throw away $225,000 to $250,000 in a sale like this?"

School's Superintendent Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said no official of the postal department had contacted the board on a sale. He pointed out that the school board had never offered the site for sale.

It was believed that $400,000 would be necessary to replace the school with a new building at another location. Built 63 years ago, Central School serves some 387 students in 12 classrooms and a kindergarten.

Some $25,250 in renovations has been invested there in the past two years, according to Otto Hufziger, coordinator of the building program. He believed the school would not need further repairs for another three years.

Adams, 4 Others Are Possibilities for Court Vacancy

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams is among five circuit judges reported under consideration by Gov. G. Mennen Williams for appointment to the vacant Supreme Court seat, an Associated Press dispatch said today.

The vacancy resulted from the death last week of Justice Neil E. Reid of Mt. Clemens, whose term expires Dec. 31, 1959.

Others being considered, the wire agency said, are Judge George Edwards of Wayne County, Frank Fitzgerald of Detroit, Stephen J. Roth of Flint, and Noel P. Fox of Muskegon.

Adams, 51, of Waterford Township, previously was named to the high court by Governor Williams in 1952, but lost election for a full term in 1953. He served as Williams' legal adviser from 1949 to 1952, and has served on the State Corrections Commission.

Mrs. Beth Wix Pleads Guilty

Doctor's Receptionist Admits $1,792 Theft From His Accounts

Mrs. Beth S. Wix, Drayton Plains doctor's receptionist charged with larceny by conversion of $1,792 of the doctor's accounts, pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Dr. Joseph J. Ruva of Waterford Township, who hired Mrs. Wix in 1950, claims she took between $15,000 and $20,000 of his money between 1953 and 1955.

The warrant covers checks which Mrs. Wix cashed by forging the doctor's signature and using his office stamp, but Dr. Ruva says she embezzled most of the money by concealing cash payments by patients.

He says he is unable to trace the defalcations accurately, since many records have been destroyed.

Dr. Ruva's attorney, Anthony Renne, said today it has not been decided whether a civil suit will be filed against Mrs. Wix for recovery of the remainder of the money.

Mrs. Wix is free on $2,500 bond pending sentence May 28 by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Sue to Get OK on Subdivision

Owners Would Compel Troy to Approve Land; Protest Restrictions

Owners of a proposed subdivision in the new City of Troy yesterday asked for a Circuit Court order requiring the city to approve their subdivision plat.

Lester F. Houghten and his wife charge in the suit, filed by Pontiac attorneys Dell & Heber, that conditions set by the city for approval of the plat are "unlawful and unreasonable" and beyond human control.

The suit charges the city required the subdivision owners to install public sewers. The Houghtens claim no public sewer facilities exist in the city for them to tie into, and probably won't for five years.

They claim the State Department of Health rejected their proposal for a temporary sewage plant, ruling the plant would be a menace to health.

They add tests show septic tank disposal methods would be practical on the 245-lot "Glen - Moor Estates."

A hearing was set for May 15 by Judge Frank L. Doty.

May Deadline Nears for Half-Year Plates

Truck-owners who hold half-year license plates have until May 15 to purchase tags covering the next six-month period, according to Willis Brewer, manager of the Pontiac Secretary of State's office.

The plates, necessary on trucks and trailers weighing over 5,000 pounds, will cover the interval between May 15 and November 14, Brewer pointed out.

The manager said yesterday that each vehicle-owner must accompany his license application with a statement of weight. He emphasized that each truck or trailer must have been re-weighed since applications were filed for plates in November of last year.

Ike Undergoing Medical Exam

White House to Reveal Report of All Results on Checkup to Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, slimmed down to 168 pounds, is in Walter Reed Army Hospital for an annual checkup and a new study of his heart condition.

* * *

A report on the results — certain to have political significance because of his re-election bid—will be made public by the White House tomorrow afternoon shortly after the President leaves the hospital.

He entered late yesterday for an overnight rest. The series of examinations begins this morning. He is occupying the three-room-and-bath Presidential Suite.

CALORIES INCREASED

Immediately after Eisenhower's heart attack last Sept. 24, his doctors put him on a diet of 1,600 calories a day to keep his weight in check. Later they authorized a 200-calorie increase.

* * *

During seven weeks in a Denver hospital his weight went from 178 to 172 pounds, his weight more than 40 years ago at West Point.

The change from around 172 pounds may reflect a stepup in Eisenhower's physical activity during the last three months.

* * *

In February he resumed playing golf. Last week he played three 18-hole rounds on three different days. He also has been swimming in the White House pool almost every day.

Vandals Set Blazes in Malkim School

Vandals who broke into Malkim School Tuesday night endangered thousands of dollars worth of property by setting papers ablaze in three rooms.

Pontiac police believe that juveniles set the fires to see by as they ransacked desks in a search for money.

"Important papers were destroyed," according to the principal, Miss Lillian Davidson, "but luckily the building did not catch fire.

"Whoever broke in didn't get any money, either," she added. "Our teachers never leave money in desks overnight. That's the Board of Education's policy."

Miss Davidson said small fires were set in her office, the Health Clinic and a classroom. Glass windows in doors to 14 classrooms were broken, she said, and teachers' desks throughout the school were ransacked.

Police said entry was gained through a rear door, where a glass window was broken with a rock.

'Witnesses' Bar Ousted Member

Waugh Is Unsuccessful in Attempts to Enter Drayton Church

Strong-arm tactics and scuffling on the ground marked Chester Waugh's latest attempt to go to church last night, he said today.

Waugh, 36, of 55 Newberry St., was "disfellowshipped" from Jehovah's Witnesses in 1954 and has been waging a private war with the Drayton Plains congregation ever since. He charges the religious group has improperly barred him from attending services.

When a Circuit Court ruling last week overturned a temporary injunction restraining the Witnesses from preventing Waugh's attendance at meetings, he announced he would continue to try to attend.

Last night, he said, two church members stood at the door and prevented him from entering. Finally, he said, they took him by the arms and tried to walk him away.

When his "feet got tangled" and the group fell to the ground, Waugh says he stopped struggling, got up and walked away.

As he left, he said, he heard Pastor William P. Strong tell the two men, "Don't get too rough."

State to Hike Ferry Rates on Straits of Mackinac Run

LANSING (AP)— Straits of Mackinac ferry rates will be boosted Saturday to meet higher operating costs, the State Highway Department announced today.

Comm. Charles M. Ziegler said the state will need $353,000 more to operate the ferries this year than last because of pay raises for state employes, repairs to docks and boats and a decision by Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh that the state must pay a three per cent federal transportation tax.

Following is the schedule of rates, the old followed by the new.

Passenger cars, $2.50 to $2.75; car trailers, $2 to $2.25; car coach, $4 to $4.25; trucks under 20 ft., $3.25 to $3.75; truck-trailers, 20 to 30 ft., $5.50 to $6.50.

Truck-trailers, 31 to 40 ft., $7.50 to $8.50; truck trailers, 41 to 50 ft., $10 to $11; truck-trailers, over 50 ft., $14 (new classification); buses, under 32 passengers, $5 to 6; buses, over 32 passengers, $6.50 to $7.50.

City to Help Finance Wing for Hospital

TO PASS RESOLUTION

It is expected that the City Commission will pass a resolution next Tuesday setting up the $500,000 reserve for the construction. The contracts are expected to be signed the following day.

The accepted $3,565,666.30 price will include general contracting, plumbing, ventilating, electrical systems, and elevators according to the report submitted last night.

Bids received April 19 resulted in a figure approximately $4,200,000.

Additional funds to be sought by the hospital will equip the wing with all beds and furnishings, all operating equipment like X-ray, operating tables, etc., boilers, and all new kitchen equipment.

* * *

"It won't include much of any equipment as planned now," Babcock said this morning.

The accepted building price will not include the architect's fee which "will become the immediate study of the hospital board" according to the city manager.

CONSULTANT SPEAKS

During the 3½ hour dinner meeting, architect consultant Adolph H. Roessling told the combined group that to build a hospital now for $3 million the city would get but a 125-bed capacity.

There was considerable discussion during the meeting that there was the possibility of "scrapping" the present plans and starting over again.

Miss Lauretta Paul, hospital director, told the commission that "the state fire marshal would padlock the doors of the hospital if he found out we have scrapped these plans."

She said the facilities of the present hospital had been condemned for the last five years. The marshal was pending condemnation as the hospital was showing definite intent to expand, she added.

* * *

Asked how the hospital would secure the additional $700,000 to equip the proposed wing, Babcock said: "In addition to the anticipated $75,000 from Hill-Burton, we see the possibility of more from the fund in the 1956 program to be announced in July."

"We feel that since we will be in an emergency status lacking equipment, the Hill-Burton authorities will look at our request on this much-needed basis."

He added there was the possibility of the medical staff assisting to make up the financial shortage. "There are also a number of people and organizations in the city that have said they might be interested in furnishing equipment."

At last night's meeting, the commission and board members agreed that there was an obligation to the city to proceed with the construction. "I have faith in the people of Pontiac," Mayor William W. Donaldson said. "We can't afford to scrap these plans."

In the report submitted last night, Brewer told the group that since 1954 "there has been a building cost rise of approximately 32 per cent."

Chairman Babcock stressed that three-quarters of a million dollars of the construction cost is for revamping the present hospital.

"This is a case of the continuous spiral of building prices," he said. "The board had no intent whatsoever to give the people more hospital then they could afford."

The city's absorption of the $500,000 over a three-year period will be based on $160,000 a year.

According to Willman this will not interfere with the construction of the Public Safety Building, and the proposed new sewage disposal plant or fire station for the west side.

Another burden of the city will be construction of an off - street parking lot for the new facility as required under a city building code.

"We will have a little more time to work on this," Willman explained. "We need a decision on the construction immediately as the submitted bids become void after June 18."

Prior to the discussion the commission and board concurred with Mayor William M. Donaldson's recommendation that the meeting be consider informal. Under commission custom this prevents The Press from releasing any matters discussed. This decision was later reversed.

Legislature to Work Till Noon Saturday

LANSING (AP)—Caught in an inter-chamber dispute over 95 million dollars in appropriations bills, the Legislature was forced to delay its final adjournment for 24 hours today until Saturday noon.

Some of the lawmakers said the real trouble was over a pension plan for legislators which the Senate rejected.

By noon, the lawmakers had passed only one of the appropriation bills still to be dealt with. This was a 16 million dollar appropriation for public health.

The Legislature worked until midnight last night but accomplished little except passage of a deer management bill.

Still hanging fire were a 35 million dollar capital outlay bill and a 59 million dollar mental health measure.

Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Gladys Cowan of Detroit; three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Carruthers of Lebanon, Mrs. Maud Marthel and Mrs. Pearl Rile, both of Detroit.

Mrs. Watkin's body will be at the William F. Davis Funeral Home at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. It will be taken to Kingdom Hall, 600 E. Pike St. at 11 o'clock Monday morning for service at 2 p.m. Brother Clayton Bell will officiate with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Free Track Admission Advocated to Senate

LANSING (AP)—Sen. Charles S. Blondy (D-Detroit) today took the senate floor to advocate free admission of the public to Michigan horse race tracks.

Blondy complained about the free pass system under which state racing commissioner James H. Inglis printed some 4,500 race track passes.

Blondy said 2,700 of the passes were allocated to members of the legislature who request them for themselves and their friends with 40 set aside for each member from Wayne county.

"Why should 4,500 selected people be allowed admission to the race tracks free and the general public have to pay?"

Mystery Infection Kills 3 Babies in Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A mysterious infection has killed three babies at Los Angeles General Hospital and 28 other infants have been exposed to it.

* * *

Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, yesterday ordered the hospital's nursery for premature babies isolated while an investigation is made.

* * *

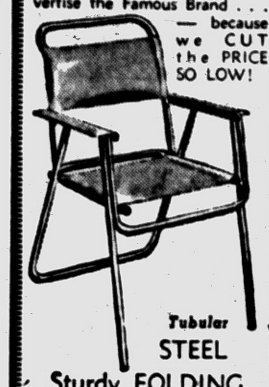

The origin of the illness is unknown. He said it apparently is a bacterial infection from some type of staphylococcus.

Grosse Pointe Finds New Way 'to Skin Cat'

GROSSE POINTE CITY (AP) — City fathers here came up with a neat solution to a problem imposed by a state law requiring the town to split up its one election precinct into six.

The city objected because for years it has prided itself in voting all 4,781 registered voters in one place—the Neighborhood Club. Voters still will cast their ballots in the Neighborhood Club, but in six different sections separated only by rope.

Board Reaffirms No Bus Policy

Pupils Within City Limits Must Walk or Provide Own Transportation

City school children living far from school will continue next year to walk or provide their own transportation to classes.

The Board of Education last night reaffirmed its policy of not providing bus transportation to pupils living within the city limits except in emergency cases.

Students living more than a mile outside the city limits but within the school district will continue to be furnished school buses provided by funds reimbursed by the state.

Buses operating wholly within the city limits must be financed through board funds. These will continue to operate in these four cases, the board decided:

At the Hawthorne School, where 83 pupils from the Kennett-Baldwin road area must be transported 2.3 miles because of overcrowding at Owen School.

At the Willis School where 34 pupils from the Bay street area otherwise would be required to walk along the shoulder on Opdyke road.

At the Bailey School, where 34 kindergartners are transported from Wisner school because of overcrowding.

And at the Wilson School, where 31 pupils are transported because of overcrowding at Whittier School.

Hong Kong Suffers From Water Shortage

By LEN LEFKOW
(For Hal Boyle)

HONG KONG (AP) — The rents on hilly Hong Kong's upper-level apartments are high, but most people say they're worth it. The views of the harbor and sea are breathtaking, especially at dusk. But not many are gaping out picture windows right now.

They're too busy peering or sitting in dry bathtubs waiting for the water to come on. For some, since May 1 when strict rationing—water only three hours every other day—began.

THOSE NEIGHBORS

It seems their downstairs neighbors spend the three hours in washing clothes, bathing, mopping floors and filling every available can with water for use on dry days.

* * *

That means water pressure never gets a chance to build up to the top apartments.

The Water Authority, which takes the brunt of the complaints, can only urge downstairs folks to have some pity on their upstairs neighbors. So far, the pity angle hasn't worked. Complaints are increasing as the temperature rises.

* * *

Hong Kong Island and its adjacent chunk of mainland, Kowloon, always have suffered from water shortages, but things this year are the worst since 1929 when ships had to carry water in from Canton.

SLIGHT RAINFALL

Rainfall the past six months has been about half normal and reservoirs are nearly empty.

Most of the 20,000 Europeans and Americans take the shortage in stride, but it's hard on many of the hundreds of thousands of Chinese refugees who fled Communist China.

These, the poor of Hong Kong, live in orange crate huts and are forced to carry their supply—sometimes miles — from public taps.

* * *

Long lines form hours before the taps are turned on. Occasional fights flare when someone attempts to cut in or stays too long at the pump.

SOME SELL IT

Some enterprising Chinese, who need a meal more than a bath, sell what water they can get.

* * *

Others have gone into the container-making business. The price of a 10-gallon can was about $8—$1.30—but now costs about $20.

A fish bowl dealer said business suddenly perked up. People are buying the bowls to store water.

* * *

A wealthy British trader who lives in a plush—and high-level—apartment said he plans to join a golf club even though he has never played the game.

THEIR OWN TANK

"They've got fine showers there," he said. "And their own water tank."

So far, rationing hasn't cut into the business life of this British colony of 2,500,000, but the problems will become worse than a missed bath unless rains begin soon.

1,865 Wood Acres Lost

LANSIN (AP)—Forest fire damage was restricted to 53 acres burned over by 27 fires during the past week, the State Conservation Department reported. So far this year, 217 fires have damaged 1,865 acres of forests and grasslands in the state.

Ex-Sailor Gets Medal After Waiting 39 Years

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP)— The Navy finally has gotten around to sending that lifesaving medal to Stephen Hughes.

* * *

Hughes, once a sailor but now a federal alcohol tax investigator here, found the medal in yesterday's mail.

Its arrival was a mere 39 years tardy.

* * *

The Navy only recently had noted the medal wasn't presented when Hughes was cited for saving a drowning shipmate in April 1917.

Greeks, Carthaginians, Romans, Arabs, Normans, French and British have invaded Malta.

Jaycees Plan Three Projects

Waterford Group Slates Clean-Up; Safety Drive and Road-E-O

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Junior Chamber of Commerce members here are planning a clean-up and paint-up campaign next week and, weather permitting, will paint the home of Mrs. Mary Goodwin, a widowed mother of three children, at 1150 Lakeview Dr. this Saturday. Jerry DeWees is chairman of this project.

A one-day safety drive is also scheduled for May 26. On that day, Jaycee members will be selling Scotchlite reflector safety stickers and banners. Proceeds will go toward a scholarship to be offered to a 1956 graduate. George Scantland heads this committee.

May 27 is the date set for the annual Clarkston-Waterford Road-E-O. This competition includes a brief written exam about safety rules and a driving session through an obstacle course. Young drivers interested should register with Jaycee members as soon as possible.

Bud Volberding of Clarkston was the 1955 winner.

New officers elected by the group this week are John Chase, president; Donald Arsen, vice president; George Scantland, second vice president; Frank Richardson, secretary; Jack Cooper, treasurer, and Thomas Belton, corresponding secretary.

Re-electeed to the board of directors for two-year terms were Arsen, Charles Pappas, Cooper, Delwin Richardson, W. C. Robertson, and Scantland.

Congress Should Give Washington Home Rule

For the residents of our national capital, last week's primary was an historic and memorable event.

Although it was only a primary to choose the District of Columbia's delegates to the Republican and Democratic conventions, it was the first time the city had voted in 82 years. It also was another reminder to the country that the responsibility for the disfranchisement of 800,000 Washingtonians rests squarely on Congress.

For many years efforts have been made to end this situation. President Eisenhower in all of his state-of-the-union messages has asked Congress to give the District self-government and the ballot.

Last year the Senate approved a home rule bill. But it is firmly tucked away in a House Committee pigeonhole with little prospect that it ever will reach the floor.

★ ★ ★

Except for a brief period after the Civil War, the District has been administered by Commissioners appointed by the President and is run by House and Senate committees. Behind the reluctance of lawmakers to enfranchise the District is the fact that Negroes make up more than a third of Washington's population and would have a strong voice in the District's affairs.

★ ★ ★

The treatment of all these people as second class citizens by keeping them disfranchised, is a poor advertisement for American democracy. President Eisenhower was right when he requested "that the principle of self-government be extended and the right of suffrage granted to the citizens of the District . . ."

Tree Farmers in State Set New Planting Mark

Probably few residents of Michigan realize that tree farming is a sizable industry in the State and that it results in some very significant reforestation work.

In 1955 alone believers in replenishing our timber resources set an all time high record by planting to trees 46,800 acres of barren land. Authority for this statement is the Michigan Forest Industries Committee, promoter of tree farming.

Besides revealing that 80 per cent of this area was privately owned, the committee reports that the number of trees planted averaged 1,000 per acre. This means that approximately 46,800,000 seedlings were given a start in addition to those Nature herself planted.

In a few years some of these trees will be thinned out for use as Christmas trees, posts, poles and pulpwood. The rest will be allowed to mature and in about 30 years will be marketable as timber.

The importance of this reforestation work cannot be overemphasized. The comeback of Michigan's forests in the past 50 years has been phenomenal. Experts report that the rate of growth now is faster than the rate of cutting.

In this connection it is worth recalling that last November the State announced its first great new reforestation program since World War II. This year 10,000 acres will be planted, next year 15,000 and the total will be 20,000 acres by 1960.

Our Fastest Humans

Athletic history was made at Los Angeles when for the first time in this country the four minute barrier was cracked not by one, but by two mile runners.

The performance was additionally noteworthy because one of the two Australian stars, Jim Bailey, outran his fellow countryman, John Landy. Neither, however, equalled Landy's world record of three minutes and 58 seconds.

Bailey, a student at the University of Oregon, covered the distance in three minutes 58 and six-tenths seconds. Landy's time was one-tenth of a second slower.

Whether the time for a mile ever will be pushed below the present world record, is still a matter of speculation. Nonetheless, it is remarkable how often runners have covered the mile in less than four minutes.

★ ★ ★

Britain's Roger Bannister first turned the trick two years ago. Others who have done it are Chris Chataway and Brian Hewson of England and Laszlo Tabori of Hungary.

★ ★ ★

Certainly on the basis of their achievements these six men have earned the honor of being classed as the world's fastest humans.

The Man About Town

Rain Is Welcomed

Heavy Moisture Puts Soils in Shape to Resist Drought

Children: What some of are on the street at night because they're afraid to stay home alone.

A check with Oakland County farmers shows that these heavy rains are blessings in disguise. Their experience has been that when the ground is sufficiently soaked in the spring we usually have a good harvest. This moisture was especially needed this spring on account of the light snowfall the past winter, which put very little water into the soil. The delayed development of the fruit buds also is welcomed, as they thus will probably escape any late frost.

I like that reservation card put out by the Pontiac City Club:

"It's hokay with me. We'll get busy on a baby sitter. If my wife won't go I'll take the sitter."

Just celebrating her eightieth birthday,

Mrs. Christine Taber

Surely a rugged individualist is a branch on a forsythia bush in the yard of

With chickens and ducks in the same poultry yard,

I like that advice from

Alistar Cooke,

Last year a hen in the poultry yard of

Ah, Ah . . . That Won't Tidy Things Up

David Lawrence Says:

Dulles' Proposal of 'Broadening' NATO Will Ease Dealing of Global Problems

WASHINGTON — It will dawn on the world soon that a plan of far-reaching importance—perhaps even more significant in the long run than the Marshall Plan—has just been unfolded by the Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles.

When first mentioned several days ago, it was vaguely described in official pronouncements as a means of "broadening NATO." This was erroneously interpreted in many quarters, here and abroad, to mean that emphasis on the military side of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was being abandoned altogether and that henceforth there would be increased attention to economic help in some new spending program by the United States.

But it turns out that neither impression was correct and that what the United States now is proposing is the development of a new instrumentality for the exercise of moral force in the world paralleling, though not supplanting, the United Nations itself.

Basically, the new approach can be interpreted as a realistic recognition of the handicaps imposed by the very universality of the United Nations. Its cumbersome voting procedures sometimes only accentuate factionalism. Also, the logrolling within the U.N. creates balances of power and rival groups in "power politics."

By utilizing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's council, however, as a political entity, there is a chance for agreement among a smaller group of nations which in emergencies can make their influence felt more effectively and more promptly. For, after all, back of the NATO council is military potentiality—something the United Nations Security Council lacks because of the misuse of the veto power by the Soviet Union.

What stands out as the sensational significance of the "Dulles plan" is the forthright manner in which it seeks to deal with the Soviet Union's mischief-making not only in the Middle East but in Asia. Thus, if the European nations which are members of NATO stand together, they can, through the council, bring a conciliatory influence and a constructive mediation to bear in such disputes as Cyprus and Algeria which tend otherwise to weaken NATO militarily. While these are internal questions, legally speaking, they involve external factors. Neither France nor Britain, for example, would be compelled to accept the help of the other members of NATO in such disputes, but there would be an opportunity, through new ways and means, to bring about solutions.

For it is obvious that if the Middle East's oil is shut off from Western Europe, NATO's military strength suffers. It becomes of vital concern, therefore, to NATO to find, if possible, an early solution to the Middle East crisis. Likewise, the problems of Asia are interwoven in European problems.

No super-government, but rather an effective alliance, is what Dulles envisages. He says:

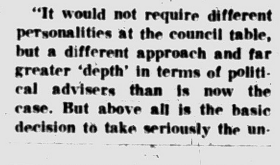

"It would not require different personalities at the council table, but a different approach and far greater 'depth' in terms of political advisers than is now the case. But above all is the basic decision to take seriously the unity of the Atlantic community and seek to promote it, not by super-government but by common counsel. Such a decision has not yet been taken, except in military terms."

Dulles purposely avoids giving details at this time but says that, under the new concept of NATO, the members "could generate greater dynamism to help, in acceptable ways, to sustain political and economic independence elsewhere."

This, then, is what the United States means by "broadening NATO." President Eisenhower fully supports the "Dulles plan."

It always takes time for the full import of new ideas in diplomacy to sink in. But the plan will be welcomed in Europe. It meets boldly some of the comments of those critics who have themselves been groping recently for a way to deemphasize military force and reemphasize moral force. It means reliance on a community of peoples, acting together in a common cause, to build a world opinion which conceivably can reach even behind the Iron Curtain.

Babies Have More Trouble in Hospitals Than at Home

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

"Our first two children were born at home," writes a lady from the Deep South. "I didn't have a bit of trouble and the babies got along wonderfully well.

"By the time the third baby arrived the doctors here had all made some sort of deal with a hospital and refused to attend confinement at home, saying that in case of hemorrhage or other emergency they could take much better care of you in the hospital.

My husband with me at the time our baby would be born? Out of the question. Neither a husband nor anyone else than doctor or nurse is allowed in the "sterile" delivery room.

"My two hospital babies came home with thrush (sore mouth) and sniffles and coughs, which we certainly did not have with our home delivery babies.

"Hospital delivery cost for each baby over $200.

"Home delivery for each baby cost about $70.

"In the hospital I had to wait on the nurses' pleasure or convenience for everything.

"At home I did pretty much as I darned pleased.

"Please keep hammering away (your own expression, and it is just so) at it, Dr. Brady. I'm sure your teachings are far more effective than you seem to realize."

(Mrs. F. C. E.)

That sales talk about treatment of hemorrhage or other emergency is far-fetched. It is conceivable that some rare emergency might be better treated in hospital than at home, but that remote risk is far outweighed by the real danger of infection of mother and/or baby in the hospital. Especially in the plate glass show window [illegible] 19th century hospital huddles new-born infants together, any infection one infant has is easily transferred to other infants.

The pretext that presence of the husband might contaminate the "sterile" environment of the delivery room is sheer hooey, in view of the familiar disregard of asepsis by doctors, nurses, and other attendants or visitors who come and go as they please. Whenever correspondents quote this one, I am reminded of the trick played on a gullible customer by a hospital in the Northwest. In this instance the waiting husband was persuaded to go home (30 miles away), assured that there would be plenty of time and they'd telephone him when the time came.

As soon as the poor geek was out of the way the entire class of student nurses filed in and without consent of the patient or her husband each in turn made an examination. I don't know whether the hospital would be liable for such a violation of a patient's privacy or whether a non-pay patient in hospital or clinic automatically consents to be examined and treated before students. I do know that the chance of infection (puerperal septicemia, childbed fever, blood poisoning) was multiplied by the number of persons who examined the woman digitally in the course of labor.

This is not a pretty story, but I am repeating it in retaliation for the lie about the husband bringing infection into the environment and fainting all over the place.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Man Often Avoids Self-Incrimination by Making Accusations to His Spouse

Charley is insanely jealous. Even the neighbors have commented that he must be "teached in the haid" to suspect his lovely wife. But his jealousy is a smoke screen. Smart wives should banish their husbands' inferiority complex and thus nip jealousy in the bud. Scrapbook this case record. It may happen to you, too!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-353: Charley D., aged 44, is a very successful merchant.

"But, Dr. Crane, Charley is excessively jealous," his charming wife informed me.

"We have been married 15 years and have three darling children. I am active in the church and president of our PTA.

"But Charley is insanely jealous. He has even hired detectives to trail me, though I have never even thought about any other man.

"So what is wrong with him? Is it his age? I am only 36 so could that be a factor?"

WHY JEALOUSY

We psychologists urge you to employ simple scientific procedure in handling human relations problems.

And jealousy is usually an evidence of an inferiority complex, frequently in the sexual realm.

★ ★ ★

This inferiority may be real or imagined, but it exerts a powerful and negative effect on its victim.

For he may either become a hypochondriac who runs around from one doctor to another for consolatin, pep talks and testosterone shots, which is the masochistic reaction.

Or, he may become sadistic and upbraid his wife, caustically criticize and accuse her, threaten to shoot her friends, and even harm their children.

He may also place a detective on her trail, though everybody else in the neighborhood realizes she is above reproach and he must be crazy to think such evil things about her.

If you have followed this scientific column in clinical psychology for several months, you can shrewdly diagnose Charley.

SCAPEGOAT POLICY

Sometimes the old adage applies to such a man which is expressed in the statement that "It takes a thief to catch a thief."

People who are guilty of sexual unfaithfulness may then suspect their mates. Or they often actually urge similar unfaithfulness upon those innocent mates to stop their own twinges of conscience!

"If I have been unfaithful and have engaged in an illicit affair, why wouldn't it have been possible for my mate to have done likewise?" is the dangerous negative thought that often prompts such accusations.

But the more frequent explanation is the "scapegoat" need of men and women. Charley is almost platonic as a mate. He is panicky about his impotence.

"Since I am not satisfying my wife's need for erotic love," he reasons subconsciously, "and since all women must have such satisfaction, ergo, she must be having an affair with somebody else."

So he tactfully slides out from under the load of self recrimination about failure to fulfill his erotic function in the marriage and thus tries to make it look as if she is the guilty party.

This neat little ruse is simply camouflage or a subterfuge for keeping her on the defensive when really he feels as if he should be defending his sexless marital behavior.

STOP IMPOTENCE

Most cases of impotence are psychological. A diplomatic wife can soon stop jealousy by restoring her husband's proficiency.

For wives too often affect indifference to sex, partly because they are not very passionate by nature. And their children, PTA and church duties fully occupy their time and interest.

But a smart wife should affect ardor and become more aggressive in their boudoir to banish man's age-old bugaboo, namely fear of impotence.

So send for my booklet "How to Prevent Impotence," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents in coin. It stopped Charley's jealousy in two weeks.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Concerned Subscriber' Commends Paper Boys

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

This is in regards to complaining Press subscribers who, with their constant complaints, cause a paper boy to lose his job. Many times I fail to get my paper when I'd like it. But I do make allowances for these boys.

It's a different story if you lack the change when they collect, and they are forced to return time after time. That happens to be their inconvenience, not yours. Or perhaps sometimes supervisors of these boys lack tact in understanding circumstances paper boys might encounter.

If a few people were refused paper service and had to walk to the corner in the snow and rain, perhaps then they would appreciate their paper service.

So hats off to all paper boys. Maybe your job is small, but it's important to some of us. In my opinion, it's they who should complain. Trying to please the public is an adult's job, not a child's.

Local Symphony Groups Commended by Putnams

Another highly successful concert season of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, under the fine direction of Francesco Di Blasi, has come to a close. This organization is of great credit to the City of Pontiac, and we are proud of each member who so loyally contributes his time and talent. The audieneces present at each concert have demonstrated their wholehearted support and enthusiasm.

We wish to extend our appreciation to anyone connected with it, who worked so diligently in the past year to promote the symphony to its high place in the cultural enrichment of Pontiac.

Each concert has been beautifully performed and the artists have been exceptional. We take pride in the fact that Pontiac can boast a symphony of such calibre.

Romantic Algeria Turns Into Country of Bloodshed

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

American tourists and honeymooning couples are no longer flocking to romantic Algeria, which today is a land of terror.

Weekend fighting, in which 20 French European farmers were massacred, resulted in the killing of 275 or more persons.

The warfare caused by Algerian nationalist demands for complete independence from France is assuming proportions that exceed some of the casualty lists that used to come out of the Korean conflict.

The French are pouring in reinforcements and calling up more reservists in their determination to keep Algeria as part of metropolitan France after granting independence to Tunisia and Morocco.

The Algerians are threatening to carry the war into France itself, where hundreds of thousands of Algerians live.

In Algeria you will see swarms of white-kepied Foreign Legion members and hear their accents of Prague, Hamburg, Warsaw and other points in the fight against the rebels.

200,000 MEN

The French already have at least 200,000 troops in the North African area. But it will take many more troops, perhaps double that number, to fight the elusive guerrilla bands.

It is estimated that to protect Algeria it takes 50 well-trained and well-equipped French soldiers for every ill-armed or ill-organized rebel.

The rebels strike by night usually, but they also have daringly hit by day and escaped. They have derailed trains and assassinated city and local Moslem officials blacklisted as pro-French.

Reports from Algeria quote French officers as agreeing that safety can be produced only if at least 400,000 French troops are on hand. Even if that figure is achieved it is agreed it will be a long, frustrating task.

A main rebel objective is to disrupt ordinary life to such a degree that the French eventually will grow weary of the war and agree to independence for the country it has developed greatly over the years.

NOT RESTRICTED

The terror is by no means restricted to the French settlers, or colons, and other Europeans. It also strikes at Moslem natives in the villages.

No matter their respective political views, the Moslem villagers are caught in a very vulnerable position.

Rebels prey on their political views and their meager supplies. French troops comb the villages for those believed in complicity with the rebels.

To escape with their lives villagers lie and play one side against the other.

Thirty Days Inside Red China'

America Haters Prefer U. S. Automobiles

By PHILIP LUKER

(Philip Luker, special writer for the International News Service, has just returned from spending 30 days inside Red China where he met and talked with rank and file Chinese citizens — and Europeans still behind the Bamboo Curtain. This is the last of five articles describing his visit.)

Imitation American cigarettes, boys' cowboy suits, popguns made from American tin cans and flashy new American cars—I saw them all in the "New China."

* * *

They were just a few slits in the armor of the world's most materialistic and anti-American government which almost has succeeded in converting a race that burns paper money at weddings and turns its eaves upwards to frighten away devils.

Chinese houses still have upturned eaves and paper money still burns at weddings. The Communists have sense enough not to try to sweep away immediately customs of one of the world's oldest and richest civilizations.

They have been quicker to squash habits inherited from the more recent men of power — the Europeans.

FROM WHERE?

But the Communist officials themselves still prefer American cars to Russian or Eastern European ones. Very few government cars are anything but the best and newest from the United States.

Where did they come from? No one knew for sure and Communist officials I asked always changed the subject.

There were hundreds of amusing results of a regime that kills off its capitalists and then asks for more to come in, as visitors.

THE KING KONG

The visitors are herded into capitalist hotels, fed on really sad imitation Western food and given as servants enthusiastic youths who speak a spattering of English.

The 14-story goverment hotel in Shanghai now called the King Kong, for a reason nobody knew, still uses towels inscribed in blue "Cathay Hotel."

I played American jazz on an Indonesian student's record player in the Pei Fung Hotel in Peiping. I listened to the Voice of America in several European homes and heard John Landy run the mile on Radio Australia.

THOSE BOOKSTORES

In Canton and Shanghai I saw girls dressed almost as attractively as their sisters in Hong Kong. Boy's jersies often had a cowboy on a horse painted on the front.

Second-hand bookshops are the last strongholds of capitalism. The books in them were the tattered remains of departed Europeans. The sad-eyed shopkeepers had been marking the prices down until they were little more than scrap paper value.

"Language for men of affairs," at one book shop and "The British Empire" at another, should have about as much demand in Peiping as "Das Kapital" has in Wall Street. But they were there.

The International Bookshop in Peiping, stronghold of indoctrination, held surprises like "Letters of Charles Lamb," Goldsmith's "The Vicar of Wakefield," and "Poems by John Keats."

ELEPHANT PACKS

"The Market" a dark and cold honeycomb of arcades in Peiping was where I saw imitation American cigarettes, only with an elephant on the package instead of a camel.

Chewing gum was done up to imitate an American brand which the Chinese remember from pre-Communist days.

In the market you can buy English cigarettes, American safety pins and shoe polish and cheap pop guns.

Few countries in the world control antique prices, but China is one of them. But the rule is rarely adhered to, and I often bargained for antiques.

THEY 'VOLUNTEERED'

They would have brought many times the price in Hong Kong. Foreigners were always the antique dealers' best customers.

Pedicab drivers, born capitalists, are as much a dying race in China as antique dealers. The government has induced many of these bicycle rickshaw men to "volunteer" to go to Manchuria where the labor supply is short.

Even those remaining are too many for a China with no western bosses and no desire to pay for a pedicab now that there are many buses.

The pedicab drivers and the street peddlers have been the hardest for the government to socialize. Countless numbers of the peddlers still make a living selling shoelaces, hot rolls, combs, balloons, ribbons, pins, pencils and calendars.

OLD CUSTOMS

The Chinese won't take a coffin through their front door, they write backwards and still occasionally drown female infants.

Yet they now jail preachers, want to "liberate" Formosa and call capitalists "reactionary." They save money all their lives for their own funeral, but drive truckloads of executed "reactionaries" through the streets.

They have renamed Morrison Street and yet keep the old names of relics of a far more feudal society such as the "Palace of the Ultimate Certainty of Reasonable Happiness," and the Walls of the Precious Concubine."

ABUSED AGE

In the middle of a Peiping herbalists' window display of bottled sea urchins and the bones of unknown monsters is a small picture of Mao Tse-Tung.

Signs of an abused age, such as the little old ladies with bound feet, are still there. But the Communists bind the feet of their political prisoners far more securely.

The Chinese, until Westerners came to their shores, were among the most colorful and superstitious races on earth.

The West never really wooed them although Western influences will always remain.

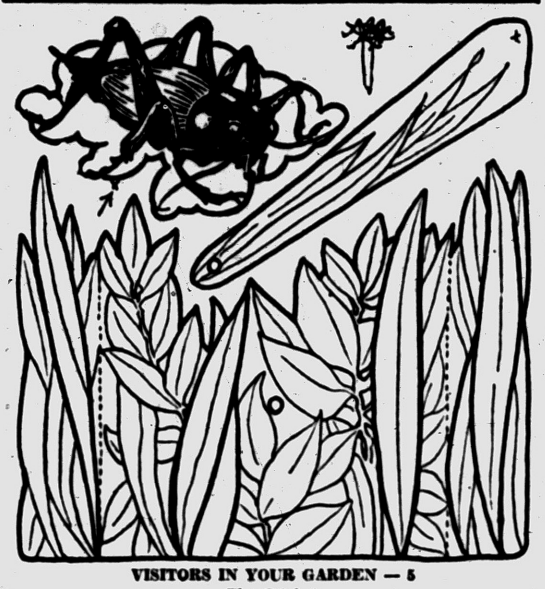

* * *

Now the Communists have tried to change superstition into materialism and to make China sail East again.

But the Chinese will not drop their heritage easily.

The Cricket

Although the cricket is only about an inch long; his song is loud and clear and he has been popular since ancient days because he seems so cheerful. We say "merry as a cricket" and consider it's lucky to have a cricket in the house.

A cricket's chirping is caused by the rubbing of his hind legs against the rough surface of his wings. Cheerful as he is, however, he sometimes causes damage to crops in the field and to rugs in the house.

In the Far East, crickets are sometimes put in little wicker cages and used as watchdogs. If an intruder enters the house, the cricket stops chirping and the sleeping householder wakes up.

After coloring the plants on the background and on the tab green, paste the picture down on cardboard and cut out the parts. Paste the tab behind the cricket and thrust a fastener through the holes in the tab and in the background. Now the cricket can be made to leap over the grass and leaves.

Senate Passes Flood Measure

Government Would Sell Insurance, Pay 40 Pct. of Cost; States to Share

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government would sell flood insurance and pay 40 per cent of the cost under a bill passed by the Senate last night.

* * *

A 61-7 vote sent the measure to the House, where the Banking committee has considered several similar measures without yet taking action on them.

The government subsidy is designed to offset the high premium charges which private insurance companies say they would have to charge for such policies because the risk of flood damages is concentrated in limited areas. A series of disastrous New England floods increased pressure for federal action.

As passed by the Senate, the bill would require that states share the cost of the subsidy after June 30, 1959. That provision, asked by President Eisenhower, was approved by a 39-31 vote over protests of Sen. Lehman (D-NY) that it "virtually crippled the measure."

President Asks Method Change

Revisions Would Follow Recommendation Given by Hoover Group

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower has asked Congress to approve recommendations for overhauling and streamlining the federal government's entire buggetary, accounting and management procedures.

* * *

"The Hoover Commission has estimated that such modernization of fiscal functions will save taxpayers about four billion dollars annually.

In a message to Congress, the President recommended early action on the recommendations of the group headed by ex-President Herbert Hoover which is studying government reorganization.

Initially, the President asked for a supplemental appropriation of $405,000 for the 1957 fiscal year to expand the budget bureau's staff to review and study the carrying out of the proposed streamlining.

Eisenhower told Congress the Hoover Commission's report on federal budgeting and accounting practices "is an important contribution toward the attainment of more effective and economical and governmental services."

He said it contains "significant recommendations showing how the federal government can bring about improvements in budgeting, accounting and management practices generally."

* * *

The President added: "Today's government demands the use of the best and most economical methods that can be devised. To that end, we whould take full advantage of the constructive proposals put forth by Mr. Hoover and his able associates."

Tubeless Tire Tax Higher Than Regular

WASHINGTON (INS)—The House Ways and Means Committee voted to tax tubeless tires one cent a pound higher than tires using separate innertubes.

The change, which would net the government an additional $6,600,000 a year in revenue, is part of an overhaul of the nation's excise tax laws undertaken by the cimmittee.

The lawmakers also voted to tax tape and wire recorders at a rate of 10 per cent of the manufactuers' sales price — the same as other electrical appliances. This change would bring the governmemt five million dollars a year.

Most Men Stay at Work After Reaching Age 65

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

If you're over 65 and still working, you're not unusual. The popular impression that most men retire at 65 is all wrong.

* * *

A recent survey by the Bureau of Census shows that about 60 per cent of all men between 65 and 69 are working or looking for work. So are about 40 per cent of the men between 70 and 74.

Their work runs the full gamut of employment, but the largest group—about one-fourth — are farmers or manage farms. Large numbers are managers, officials and owners of businesses. Many hold jobs in construction and manufacturing industries.

These men work past 65 mainly because they need money to live on. Of course, wanting to keep busy and productive is also a factor, as is the fear of being put on the shelf.

WILL REDUCE

In years to come, the need to continue to work to earn money to live on probaby will become less important. Social Security pensions are increasing both as to amount and number.

And of equal importance is the fact that private pension plans are being given to more and more employes.

Thus, Social Security pensions and private pensions will combine to give many millions of older people enough economic freedom to make work after 65 unnecessary.

Since Social Security pensions are designed only to supplement income from other sources after retirement, the real unknown in the whole equation is: How fast will private pension coverage increase?

TAKE 20 YEARS

If the increase in the last 20 years can be used as a standard it will take only another 20 years—perhaps less—before all the nation's workers are covered.

For example, today some 22 million employes have some form of pension coverage with about two million a year more being added. In 1935, only about four million were protected by private pension plans. The number of plans has increased from 1,000 to more than 20,000.

Another factor will also play a part in retirement at age 65 in the future when private plans become more widespread. The vast majority of the plans set normal retirement at 65. Under many, however, an employer can keep a worker on the job beyond 65. And many don't make retirement compulsory until between 68 and 70.

Just how much a person covered by one of today's pension plans can expect as income depends largely on the type of plan.

The Institute of Life Insurance took a look at the nation's pension systems recently and found a tremendous variety. Some are based on an employe's average salary during his employment, on units for length of service, on final salary. Other types pay flat monthly benefits based on specified lengths of service, while others are combinations of two or more types.

Under the plans, the Institute found that you could draw as little as $47 to $53 a month for a regular salary of $2,400 a year; from $133 to $166 for a constant $6,000 a year; and from $515 to $610 a month if you made a steady $18,000 a year.

Red Arms Shipment Studied by America

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials are studying reports that the Soviet bloc has virtually completed delivery of around 100 million dollars worth of arms to Egypt.

* * *

According to these reports in diplomatic quarters, the Egyptian deal with Red Czechoslovakia was for one year, expiring July 31.

These officials add that at least 80 per cent of the weapons already have been delivered. Estimates place quantities roughly at 200 MIG15 jet fighters, 50 Ilyushin IL28 medium jet bombers, 200 heavy T34 and Stalin tanks, 6 submarines, some artillery and a number of torpedo patrol boats.

* * *

Egypt is giving Czechoslovakia cotton and rice in return for these arms which come largely from Russia's pile of obsolescent war goods.

Police were undecided about the proper course of action.

Marine Officers Receive Backing

General Places Blame on Drill Instructor for 'Death March' Abuse

WASHINGTON (INS) — Marine Corps Commandant, Gen. Randolph Mc. Pate, said today the drowning of six Marines in Parris Island, S. C., April 8 was in no way the result of negligence on the part of base officers.

In a letter to Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore.) Pate said proper orders were in effect at Parris Island to prevent abuses "and they were being enforced by the responsible officers."

He explained that the drowning of the six Marines in a tidal swamp was the result of misconduct on the part of Staff Sergeant Matthew C. McKeon, 31, who led the death march.

Pate said: "All those connected with the matter were doing everything that might be expected of them, taking into account the time and place in question."

* * *

He added that although the system of supervision in force was the type usually accepted as adequate, "it simply proved to be inadequate to prevent Staff Sergrant McKeon's misconduct."

The general explained that, since the tragedy, he has "taken steps to increase officer supervision to the degree necessary to prevent a recurrence of this or any similar situation by the assignment of additional officers to both Parris Island and San Diego."

In hearings before the House Armed Services Committee last week, Pete said McKeon was "under the influence of alcohol" at the time of the tragedy.

Building Costs Level

CHICAGO — About half of 52 major American cities said in answer to a questionnaire that construction costs in their areas stayed at about the same level in 1955 as in 1954. The other half thought costs were slightly higher.

Luce Flying to Gotham for Medical Checkup

NEW YORK (INS) — U. S. Ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce arrives in New York (at noon EDT) today to undergo a medical checkup.

American embassy officials in Rome said the diplomat is suffering from a "rundown condition" and was advised by her Italian physician to get a thorough checkup in the U. S.

An embassy spokesman said Mrs. Luce was expected to return to Rome shortly.

To stop jitters at wedding ceremonies, bridegrooms now are dosing themselves with "confidence pills," says Canon E. W. Brown, Vicar of St. Michael's at Sutton Coldfield, England.

House Yields $11,652

BAY CITY (AP) — A search of the ramshackle home occupied by Lewis Caminsky, 81-year-old recluse who died April 28, disclosed he left bank and postal savings totalling $11,652. An oil well on Caminsky's Hampton Township property has yielded $188 a month for many years. He had lived alone since 1927.

Device May Reduce Lubrication of Autos

NEW YORK (INS)—Automobiles of the near future may have bearings that, in many cases, will not require lubrication.

* * *

The American Metal Products Co. of Detroit, which manufactures automobile and aircraft parts, announced an invention yesterday that could lead to the development of improved automotive bearings.

* * *

The company has developed a new suspension joint whose socket, lined with slippery teflon tetrafluoroethylene fabric and sealed about the ball-stud, functions without any other lubrication.

* * *

R. Jamison Williams, American Metal's research chief, said the new joint will reduce friction by 50 per cent in comparison with conventional lubricated suspension joints used in today's cars.

Cape buffaloes are Africa's most deadly and vindictive animals. Wounded, they have been known to ambush hunters and, not content with killing their victims, they trample them with ax-sharp hooves.

Commerce Fire Trucks to Get Two-Way Radios

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP—The Commerce Township Board has approved purchase of equipment to install two-way radios on both fire trucks, at a cost of about $2,281.

The purchase includes the installation of a master radio at the main fire hall, 593 West Commerce Rd. and of police-type radios on each of the two fire trucks in about 45 days.

The decision makes Commerce Township among the last of nearby firedepartments to install a two-way radio hookup. In case of a big fire, one department can contact another almost immediately.

At its Wednesday meeting the Michigan Inspection Bureau for a board also decided to contact the new rating for the territory within a traveling distance of two miles from the main fire hall. This new rating would result in a lowering of fire insurance rates for property owners in that area, according to Fire Chief Ray Price.

In other action, board members agreed to send Price to the 81st Michigan Firemen's Assn. Convention June 8-10 at Port Austin. They also voted to have Price and his assistant, Clarence Kuttkuhn, attend the 28th annual Fire College June 19-22 at the University of Michigan.

Queen Contest Applicants to Attend Dinner

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—This year, the queen's contest for the CAI fair will begin with a kick-off dinner for applicants, according to Mrs. George A. Dean, chairman. This event is scheduled for May 15 at the Old Mill.

Girls between the ages of 15 and 21 are eligible to participate in this contest. There are many prizes for the top four winners.

One of the greatest attractions for Miss CAI of 1956 will be a one-week trip for herself and a companion to the Gay El Rancho lodge at Gaylord.

Shirley Lamberton, 1955's queen will be a special guest at the kick-off diner. Contestants planning to attend the May 15 affair are urged to contact Mrs. Dean, at OR 3-4330, as soon as possible.

Centennial Planners Seek Hessian Heirs

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — The Fort Frederick Bicentennial Committee has sought Hessian soldiers who fought the colonists as British hirelings in the Revolutionary War, in connection with the bicentennial celebration to be held at Fort Frederick.

* * *

Several hundred of the Hessians captured in the Battle of Saratoga were imprisoned at Fort Frederick. Instead of returning to Germany after the war, many remained in the United States and became progenitors of generations of American citizens.

Fort Frederick, about 15 miles west of here, was erected in 1756 to provide settlers with protection against Indian raids in the French and Indian War.

School Wants Signed Commie Accusations

DENVER (AP) — The Colorado Board of Education has approved a plan under which charges of subversive activity made against teachers in the state's public schools would have to be submitted in writing and under oath to require action.

* * *

A 20-member citizen's committee suggested the procedures in dealing with such charges—aimed at eliminating "hearsay" accusations submitted by "faceless informers."

* * *

The committee defined subversive activity in teachers as membership in or adherence to the Communist party or advocacy of "any change in the forms of government" of the state or nation "by means of force or violence."

Murphys of the Circus Answer Kelly Wedding

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—In my official capacity as a "lot louse"—that's circus slang—I was roaming around Madison Square Garden when I bumped into a wedding.

Pat Murphy, on behalf of the Murphys, was answering the Kellys' wedding in Monaco.

Pat, 28, "first assistant bull man"—meaning elephant trainer—married Ruth Havilla, 19, a Ringling ballet artist.

Everybody from the soup jockeys—the waiters—to Chicken Charlie and Straight-Ahead Willie went to the center ring after the show for the wedding party.

There were 19 circus weddings last year. This was the first of '56.

How had romance flowered between the elephant prince and the ballet princess? Bridegroom Murphy, of Ireland, then Boston, pushed back the blue cap of his "1st Assistant Superintendent of Elephants" uniform.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Three of them came over to practice riding the elephants for the Sarasota Pageant before we came north.

"Ruth rode in the parade—four miles on an elephant. I was walking alongside. You get pretty well acquainted walking beside a gal on an elephant for four miles.

"Then I asked her if she'd like to go to the drive-in movie, 'The Siesta.' She said yes."

THE MURPHYS AT HOME

"After that things just happened," smiled the bride, who comes from Wilkes-Barre and Detroit.

The "second assistant bull man," Jack Masgas, was best man at the St. Luke's Lutheran Church wedding. Murphy was lucky to be there.

★ ★ ★

He had three ribs busted when an elephant fell on him in Pine Bluff, Ark. He was riding Big Julie when an auto hit her at 80 miles an hour and knocked her over on her back near Orlando. He got just a scraped arm.

Mothers Protest Three Buildings

Temporary Structures Set for Bagley School Use Next Fall

The Board of Education last night heard eight mothers protest against locating three temporary buildings at Bagley School to house additional students next fall.

Board members sympathized whole-heartedly.

It was pointed out, though, that some 26 of the structures would be used by the school system next fall in an effort to provided classrooms in areas where new buildings as yet are not under construction.

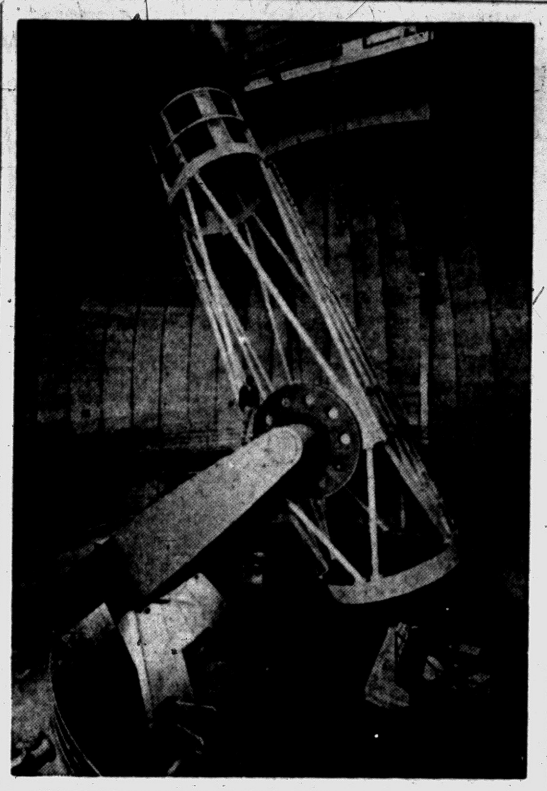

The mothers were told by Otto Hufziger, coordinator of the building program, that new construction at the Bagley School probably would begin next year.

"Every school in the system suffers from growing pains," according to School's Superintendent Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

"Each year we relieve the situation with new construction at the three or four schools hardest hit, but then the problem springs up again elsewhere.

"We hope to have the entire problem licked when our 10-year building program is completed. After that," Whitmer said, "there'll be no more temporaries."

GIANT GLASS "EYE" — Probably th emost expensive piece of glass in the world—worth almost 2½ million dollars and weighing four tons—is going into this 120-inch reflecting telescope nearing completion on Mount Hamilton near San Jose, Calif. It will be the world's second largest of its kind, being exceeded only by the 200-inch one at Mount Palomar. It's being built at the Lick Observatory for University of California astronomers. The 10-foot curved mirror is mounted at the bottom end of the telescope. The new telescope, which will be available for public inspection, is 50 feet long and 10 feet in diameter. It is so large the observer rides inside the upper end of the tube.

Swimable Swimsuits Take Spotlight This Season

Here's a honey of a suit with little boy legs to fit and flatter almost any figure. The gingham check chromespun taffeta and lastex creation has button-down pockets on either side for an added touch. The contrast cording trim accents the lines of the pockets and bra.

The hour-glass silhouette is suggested in this lastex swimsuit. The shirred bloomers are topped by a deep V plunging bodice edged in contrasting braid. The sprinkling of nailheads completes the picture of a pretty, swimable suit.

Hiding under this plaid pullover is a matching swimsuit. The ensemble look is taking no back seat this season. This outfit, also available in contrasting plaids, enables you to look fairly covered up after a brisk summer swim.

Styles Run From Chic to Classic

Touches of Glamour Featured on Some Versions

Swimsuits this season are running the gamut from the very chic made of taffeta and metallic threads to the all-cotton. But no matter what the material or finishing touches for the added look of glamor, the emphasis is on swimable swimsuits.

* * *

The suits feature wearability and swimability plus the details that make a difference, ruching, shirring and nailheads for a touch of sparkle. And construction this year is purported to be at its best, with built-in bras and elasticized backs and sides for better fit.

Fabrics are varied. There is no fabric taking a back seat in this year's swim styles. Cotton satin, chromespun taffeta, gingham, lastex, embroidered sateens and failles are all in the swim swing!

There seems to be no most important look to this season's suits; dressmaker versions cut a fine and youthful figure with flared ballerina skirts or long torso bodices.

And the perennial classic, devoid of trim, is still tops on the market. A great many little boy-type suits are also available.

These styles pictured are only a very small portion of smart swimsuits being sold now for the early vacationer and the avid swim fan. They are all available at local stores.

Multiple bubbles in graduated colors set the fashion scene for this cotton satin one-piece swimsuit. The back is fully elasticized with cable stitching accenting the horizontal front shirring and the shirred bra. The special bra is lined in Pellon for permanent shape.

This suit is designed to steal the fashion spotlight with its cuffed legs that make it look like boys' shorts. The lastex material is shirred in the front for better fit, with a side zipper.

Employes Tour St. Joseph Hospital

National Hospital Day was observed at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today. Employes visited departments of special interest and meaning, according to their individual interests.

* * *

Sister Mary William, administrator of the hospital, expressed a feeling that unless an employe has a picture of how his particular job fits in with the total operation of the hospital, he may not realize the true importance of his function, thus she arranged these tours.

Over the past year the hospital has initiated a project in employe training, including a refresher course for registered nurses who have not been active in nursing, and special training for nurses' aides.

Mrs. Mildred Saunders, instructor at Mercy College School of Nursing, heads a course in personnel administration for the department of nursing, and a diet manual for use of physicians and nurses has been published.

DONNA MARIE GIBSON

The engagement of Donna Marie Gibson to Vernon E. Taylor, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Gibson of Otter avenue. Vernon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Taylor of Keego Harbor. No date has been set for the wedding.

BETTY DAVIDSON

Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson of Eastwood drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Thomas Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Moore of Auburn Heights. No date has been set for the wedding.

Banquet Tonight to Fete Mothers and Daughters

Mrs. Frederick Root is directing plans for the annual mother and daughter banquet of the Women's Department of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The banquet, this evening at 7 o'clock in the church, is sponsored by the church women. Men of the congregation will serve the dinner and act as the cleanup committee.

Mrs. James L. MacDonald is program chairman, and program souvenirs are being made by Mrs. Ronald Curtis and Mrs. John Goit. Mrs. Claude Goff is ticket chairman, with Mrs. Otto J. Berndt serving as toastmistress.

Mrs. Rigby Leighton of Southfield is the speaker for the evening. Her topic will be "Daughters Today, Mothers Tomorrow—Mothers Today, Daughters Yesterday."

The Mad Hatters, a barbershop quartet, will be part of the entertainment and Paul Shaw of Detroit will also sing.

The 21st annual spring concert of the Pontiac High School Vocal Department was presented again Thursday evening, with the final concert being presented tonight at 8 o'clock.

The program was filled with successes that once more evidenced the precise and expert direction of George Putnam.

Beginning with the Senior Girls' Ensemble singing the title song by Irving Berlin, to the finale which included "It's A Big, Wide, Wonderful World," "One God", and "Pilgrims' Chorus" presented by the entire Vocal Department, the audience was constantly impressed by the artistic execution of the program.

Went the Strings of My Heart" by Hanley presented on Tuesday evening by Vickie Everett and "Vienna, My City of Dreams" by Sieczyński presented on Thursday evening by Jane Austin.

David Lugg will sing a solo number, "Come Back to Sorrento," at this evening's concert.

41 Isn't Too Old to Improve Figure

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Do you think that at the age of 41 it is too late to take exercises to develop the bust?"

A. No. I have had many pupils in my classes who increased their bust measurements at even a later stage in life. If any of you readers would like these exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7.

* * *

Q. "What is the correct weight for a girl of 11 who is 5 feet, 7 inches tall?"

A. About 128 pounds.

Q. "I am a boy, 18 years old. I have a good build except for a slightly protruding abdomen. I cannot understand this because I am not overweight. I had my appendix out a few years ago and some of my friends tell me that this is the reason. Isn't there anything I can do?"

A. It may be that you were inactive for a long time after your operation. However, I think that this is probably a question of posture. You see, when you allow your abdomen to protrude the muscles become lax.

You certainly are not overweight. Therefore I suggest some exercises for the abdominal muscles and advise you concentrate on your posture. That can make all the difference in the world.

* * *

Be sure to carry yourself correctly. Lift your chest and pull your abdominal muscles in. If you or any of my other readers would like to have the abdominal exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2.

Q. "Will you please tell me if I am overweight, or fat? I am 33 years old, weigh 129 pounds, dressed. My bust measures 35, waist 27 and hips 37 inches. For my build I would not want a larger bust (37 inches) to correspond with my hips. I am very conscious of standing tall and holding myself correctly but my family kids me about being fat."

A. Tell your family that they do not know their "onions." You are not overweight and your measurements are in the allowable for a lovely figure. You are right! A larger bust on a woman of your size would make you look top-heavy. I would guess that you are pleasingly curved, but do not gain any more.

* * *

Tomorrow: "Get Ready Now to Expose Your Toes in the Summer."

From this position lift your arms upward with straight elbows. This exercise, corrective to round shoulders, will do much to improve the appearance of your bust.

Lindberg's Spirit Still Thrives

St. Louis Takes Lavish Airport in Stride

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

ST. LOUIS (INS) — Everybody here it St. Louis is from Missouri. That means they firmly believe in nothin'.

* * *

I tried to tell them their month-new super airport with the built-in babysitters and copper dome roofs is the positive end. But they said oh shucks, and didn't swallow a word of it.

"The end," said a man holding the May edition of the Chamber of Commerce dope sheet. "Why, this is just the beginning."

They are imbued with the Spirit of St. Louis (from the monoplane of the same name) in this eighth largest of American cities.

Ever since May, 1927, when Charles A. Lindbergh flew from here to Paris in a floundering toy of a plane, they've pioneered ahead with four-engine speed.

WORLD LEADERS

"We are now the nation's leading producer of electrical machinery, the world's leading hog market (world's, mind you), one of the country's top five manufacturing areas, second largest trucking center, fifth biggest commercial printing center, and"—he stopped to polish his nails on his lapel—"we also have the St. Louis Cardinals. Of some fame."

So the mammoth $7,728,000 airport, dubbed by architecture experts "The Grand Central Terminal of the Air," is just another feather in a heavily festooned cap.

Nevertheless, this glass-and-copper palace is, to the traveler, a glorious oasis from the sky. As one New York City interior decorator put it: "Home was never like this. But there's a good chance that in the future, it may try to be."

The St. Louis airport of tomorrow is composed of acres of shiny terrazzo-tiled floors, under three great domes of concrete with 100,000 square feet of copper casing. Except for these "roofs" it is entirely glass.

* * *

No matter where you stand — whether impatiently waiting for a reservation clerk, or coolly sipping a glass of St. Louis' own "Bud" — you can see planes swooping onto or away from a panorama of runways.

FEELING OF AIRINESS

There is a feeling of airiness that can be achieved only with ceilings that curve upward almost out of sight of a near-sighted woman, and with transparent green-tinted walls that let in all of the great outdoors, except the sunlight's glare.

* * *

The floors are spaciously divided into the conveniences travelers want, but seldom find. A nursery with trained babysitters to keep the kiddies happy while mother and dad go their various ways; a post office and barbershop, a bank with direct-wire telephones to all major St. Louis hotels, TV room, an amusement room equipped with all the gamery of home, a small efficient hospital, and any number of restaurants and cocktail lounges.

To encourage business, there are even special conference rooms where a man may conduct his affairs at the airport between planes.

Altogether, a home away from—and much fancier than—home. St. Loiusans take it casually in stride. Their attitude: "Lindy pioneered air travel of the early days. We're taking care of the jet age."

Teenagers Build Car

DETROIT (AP)—After a brief but successful venture into the automobile manufacturing business, the Junior Achivement Automobile Co. has ceased operation—its first and only car sold at a profit. Twenty-four teenagers formed the company and sold stock to purchase parts needed to assemble the auto—a 230 horsepower model dubbed the Royal Achiever. The 800 stockholders got back their original investment plus a dividend and 10 cents an hour for their work. Ross Roy of Detroit bought the car, but the purchase price was not disclosed.

The autogiro was invented by Juan de la Cierva, of Spain, and the first successful flight was made in 1923.

Population Experts Meet

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Population Assn. of America will hold its annual meeting at University of Michigan May 19-20. Among the topics for discussion are: "Population Trends and Problems in Underdeveloped Areas," and "The Growth of American Families; Fecundity, Sterility and Family Limitations."

Murder Fence Razing Scorned

Austrians Deride Soviet Announcement on Iron Curtain Removal

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Communist Hungary's announcement last night that it plans to tear down the Iron Curtain of mine fields and barbed wire barricades along its frontier with Austria got a lukewarm welcome in this country today.

* * *

Suspicion of Hungary's motives is being expressed, with some Austrians contending the real motives are:

1. To aid Austria's weak Communist party in Sunday's national elections with an "end the cold war" slogan.

2. To boost the Communist campaign to force at least a two-year postponement in building an Austrian federal army by claiming there is no danger from neighboring Communist states.

* * *

Although the Hungarians said they would start dismantling the border fortifications immediately, "as a friendship gesture," officials of Austria's frontier police said nothing had been started today. Nor was there any sign that Czechoslovakia intended to tear down its barricades on Austria's northern frontier, although the Austrian Communist press has hinted this also could be expected.

The border barricades are called "murder fences" here because many refugees have been killed or injured trying to get through them to asylum in Austria.

Russia still maintains strong armed forces in Hungary.

RIGHT HERE—in this blazing '56 Buick—you control the most powerful engine Buick ever built.

It's so packed with high-compression zip and go that when you're cruising at a legal 50 miles an hour your engine is practically loafing.

Even going uphill, this big new 322-cubic-inch V8 feels no more stress and strain than a sprinter taking a stroll.

Any engineer can tell you what that means. You save on wear and tear because your engine is taking it so easy so much of the time. You save on repair for the same reason. You even save on gas bills.

So—in all literal truth—driving a 1956 Buick feels just as good as money in the bank.

But what makes this an even greater dollar-and-cents value is how Buick's vast engine power is translated into smooth and spectacular action.

For now Variable Pitch Dynaflow* has the highest torque ratio in the industry. It uncorks a brilliant new getaway response at your slightest say-so, and with a new step-up in gas mileage, to boot.

And brother, when you have to zoom for the sake of safety, you really zoom. Dynaflow's full-power, switch-pitch take-off even opens the eyes of airplane pilots.

It's a gorgeous bundle of ginger and snap, this new '56 Buick—and an undiluted joy.

It's a solid, spacious and simply sensational Buick through and through.

So come explore its excitements—its great new ride—new center-grooved brakes—newly balanced X-braced frame—sweet new steering—all the many new blessings that make it the best Buick yet.

Best of all, come learn how little it costs to drive a new Buick for keeps.

Russia, Devoid of Farm Labor, Urges U.N. Nations to Reduce Armed Forces

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia is reported preparing to announce a drastic cutback in conventional arms which may reduce her armed forces to 1½ million men and slash her military budget.

* * *

High Western diplomats in the Soviet capital predict the Kremlin will proclaim a decision to cut its armed forces to levels suggested at the recent, stalemated East-West arms talks in London. The cut, they said, would not be conditional on the West joining in.

MILITARY STRENGTH

The Soviets proposed at the London talks that the armed forces of Russia, the United States and Red China be limited to 1½ million men each. The Western Powers suggested a ceiling of 2½ million.

Four visiting members of France's Parliament said they had been tipped by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev: "The Soviet government is at this moment taking a very important decision which will be announced soon."

PROPAGANDA MOVE

Western diplomats feel, Russia would like to cut her armed forces for other reasons as well as for the propaganda effect.

* * *

The present Soviet government apparently is not so apprehensive of war as was Stalin, who established the present levels. (The State Department has estimated that Russia has some 4½ million men under arms with 175 to 225 division ready for combat.) With advances in atomic development, the Russian leaders probably feel safe in reducing conventional arms.

Her manpower supply sapped by the new five-year industrial plan, Russia urgently needs labor for her farms.

* * *

The United States has been making a progressive cut in its armed forces since it hit a post-war peak of 3,685,054 in April 1952, during the Korean War. The total June 30, 1955, was 2,936,003. The goal under the administration's cutback program is 2,850,000 by June 30, 1956.

Find Detroiter's Body in Lake Near Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The body of a missing Michigan man was found in Lake Michigan off the Chicago Loop yesterday.

The body was that of Louis Kostoff, 40, a Detroit bartender, who had been missing from his job since Monday. Detroit relatives could give no reason for Kostoff's being in Chicago.

Police estimated the body had been in the water 24 hours.

Kostoff was married and the father of three daughters, all under 6.

Farm Measure Veto Blasted by Kefauver

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver says President Eisenhower's veto of the farm bill was a "cruel, hard blow for the American farmer."

* * *

The Tennesseean, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination, told an audience at the Bakersfield Country Club last night:

"The administration has the theory that the farm surplus has to be tied around the farmer's neck to hold him down forever. In reality, pushing prices down doesn't reduce the surplus because the farmers have to grow more to support their families."

* * *

Kefauver said the surplus under a good farm program could be a blessing instead of a detriment by using it in a food allocation program for the needy in this country and through the State Department in foreign aid.

Senate Group Formed to Study Seaway Effect

LANSING (AP) — An iterim Senate committee to study the effect of the St. Lawrence Seaway project on Michigan has organized with Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) as chairman.

Named vice chairman at the committee session Thursday was Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland).

Morris said the group plans hearings throughout the state to collect information on how the state best can exploit the commerce advantages resulting from the seaway's completion.

Medic Resigns Health Position

Lack of Cooperation of Department Personnel Blamed as Cause

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Dr. Earl D. Hamilton, 42, saying his first try at public health service was his last, resigned yesterday as health director for Isabella, Osceola and Mecosta counties.

* * *

Dr. Hamilton's resignation climaxed a controversy with the tri-county board of health, which started shortly after his appointment a year ago.

IMPOSSIBLE SITUATION

He said he "inherited an impossible situation" in which health department personnel refused to sign in or out or submit daily activity reports and that the board failed to support his program.

* * *

The board said Dr. Hamilton "failed to cooperate" with it and had "difficulty commanding or soliciting cooperation" from his staff. It also contended he was not giving the job full time attention and had used profanity in his offices.

No board members questioned his ability as a physician.

To Submit Recording as Bribery Evidence

MASON (AP) — A tape recording of an alleged hotel room bribe payoff was to be submitted as a key piece of evidence today in the bribery trial of Benjamin D. Ritholz, wealthy Chicago businessman.

* * *

Ritholz, head of the King Optical Co., of Chicago, is charged with bribing three members of the State Optometry Board with $100 bills.

* * *

Irving Beattie, assistant attorney general heading the prosecution, said he planned to enter the tape as evidence and to play it for the jury.

Defense attorneys were expected to stage a showdown fight against permitting use of the tape.

* * *

Beattie spent most of the Thursday afternoon session laying the groundwork for introduction of the tape.

Lad Drowns in Creek in Redford Township

DETROIT (AP) —Frank Maley Jr. 6, tumbled from a bridge into a rain-swollen Redford Township creek and drowned yesterday.

Frank, freed from St. Vanentine School in celebration of a holy day, was playing on the bridge with a chum when he fell. His body was recovered 10 hours later in the Rouge River tributary.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Malley Sr. of Redford Township. The 37-year-old father is a foreman for the Bond Steel and Storage Co.

The St. Louis Cardinals have the poorest opening day record of teams in the National League. They have won 22 openers, lost 34 and tied one.

SACKED IN — Princess Akim looks at her 11 pups taking a nap in a shoe bag at their master's home in Winnipeg, Canada. The thoroughbred boxer seems to approve of this new way to keep her offspring together and out of trouble.

Harriman Won't Speak Before Michigan Dems

LANSING (AP) — New York's Gov. Tverell Harriman has canceled plans to speak at the Democratic State Convention June 1 in Grand Rapids.

Harriman will undergo a minor operation that date, his aides said.

Col. Arthur H. Levitt, New York state controller, will speak in Harriman's place.

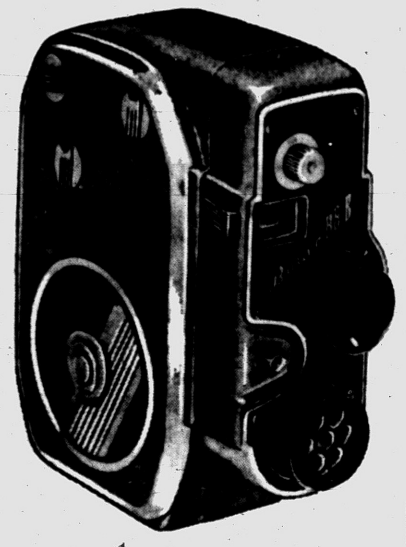

Jockey Willie Hartack owns a farm near Charles Town, W. Va.

Dem Candidate States GOP Donating Funds to Aid Kefauver

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Adlai Stevenson's accusation that big-money Republicans are contributing to defeat him in the Democratic primaries has drawn the tart retort from his principal rival, Sen. Estes Kefauver:

"It looks like Mr. Stevenson is preparing an alibi."

* * *

The Republican party did not immediately reply to Stevenson's assertion here yesterday.

Kefauver, also campaigning in southern California, said he knew nothing about any Republican contributions to his campaign in Minnesota or elsewhere.

Stevenson said he was informed that influential Republicans raised the money "needed to defeat me in Minnesota." He added: "It is not unlikely that their money has or will turn up in Florida and California, and possibly elsewhere."

In Long Beach last night, Stevenson was cheered enthusiastically by a crowd of 2,000 when he urged more old age benefits and increased pensions, rather than immediate tax cuts.

Expert Analyzes Adoption Issues

Explains Parent's Part in Offering Home Life to Foster Child

Adoption, as it applies to infants, was the topic discussed by Morris Price of the Jewish Social Service Bureau, Detroit when he addressed members of the National Assn. of Social Workers yesterday at Rotunda Inn.

The speaker pointed to the changes in the area of adoption, saying that in the beginning the need was finding homes for the abandoned or orphaned child. Today there is tremendous pressure on the part of the public for these children, he stated.

There are 100 applicants for every three infants, Price said, and he added that there is no one answer to the problem of sterility among so many families. It is felt that "pressures" in every day life have much to do with it, he pointed out.

For adoptive parents to be good parents, Price said that first they must accept three things.

1) They must have resolved their inability to have children of their own.

2) They must be ready and willing to accept the "risks" involved.

3) The individual must be convinced in his own right regarding the part played by heredity and environment. Adoptive parents, he said, sometimes reject the child that has not lived up to their ideals, placing the blame on the real parents.

Store Is $12.04 Richer After Robbery Attempt

LANSING (AP) —Allen's Drugstore has an extra $12.04 in the till because of an attempted robbery.

A youth entered the store last Sunday, hid in a telephone booth until no one was around the safe, then emptied it of cash.

Two Michigan State University students who were in the store noticed the youth's actions and apprehended him on the way out. They forced him to empty his pockets, but allowed him to leave before police arrived.

Police yesterday returned the confiscated loot. It came to $1,457.28. Store accountants figured the amount on hand at the time of the attempted theft. It came to $1,445.24.

Thunderstorm Gives Colt a Name

A black and white colt was foaled in the midst of a thunderstorm Wednesday night.

That's why "Stormy" is the name of the newest addition to the four-horse table of Donna Humbaugh, 13, of Waterford Township.

There'll be no storm, though, when Donna brings the little Shetland Pony into the kitchen. Her parents, Irwin and Lee Ette Humbaugh have gone a long way to encourage their oldest daughter's hobby—they'll let the colt in if his feet are clean.

Humbaugh, who works at General Motors in Pontiac, and his wife, a route supervisor for The Pontiac Press, own a five-acre farm at 6299 Elizabeth Lake Rd.

Donna's horses have more or less taken it over. "Stormy" and his dam, "Topsy," are living in the garage. "Prancer", a four-year-old gelding stays in a chicken house along with "Princess", a year-old mare.

A special addition was built to house "Bucky", a one-year-old Shetland Pony.

Donna takes care of all the horses, feeding and currying them each morning before school. After much pleading and coaxing, she got her first pony two years ago. That was "Prancer".

At that time, she didn't know how to ride. She learned, and earned money to buy fodder by selling pony rides for 10 cents.

When she saw Bucky as a colt, "he was just the sweetest little things," she said, and her parents bought him. Then in quick succession came "Buck's dam, "Topsy" and her first real horse, "Princess".

Although Donna stands only five feet high and weighs 85 pounds, she's undertaken to break in "Princess", who towers above the little girl.

Donna has taught a brother, Butch, how to ride. But Butch, 11, is more interested in cars. Now she's teaching a five-year-old sister, Shelley, how to ride.

"Once I was going to grow up to be a woman jockey," Donna said. But now she thinks she'll run a ranch with a cousin Judy Wallace, 13, who lives at 6511 Highland Rd., a few miles away.

The pair can be seen any nice day, riding together in the fields near the Humbaugh home.

Her husband, also 26, was injured seriously, but John Fadrowski of Daggett, driver of the second car, escaped with minor injuries.

Police said the collision happened as Fadrowski attempted to turn into his driveway.

Road Dispute Brings Jail, Assault Charge

Joseph R. Gibson, 25, of 229 E. Walton Blvd., is being held in Oakland County Jail under $1,000 bond awaiting appearance in Oakland County Circuit Court on a felonious assault charge.

* * *

He was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday after examination by Justice Willis D. Lefurgy, of Waterford Township.

The Pontiac resident is alleged to have threatened Albert Smith of Waterford Township with a knife in demanding aid in getting his car off the road. Gibson was arrested by State Police April 28.

Defense Funds Bill Goes to the Senate

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House-approved $33,600,000,000 defense appropriation bill goes to the Senate today for more debate on whether the U.S. is staying ahead of Russia as a military power.

* * *

The spending measure—1¾ billions more than was approved by Congress last year, but still a half billion under the amount requested by President Eisenhower—passed the House yesterday, 337 to 0.

The unanimous vote came after a day-long debate, during which a move to increase funds for B52 intercontinental bombers by one billion dollars was rejected by a voice vote.

Area Boy Wounded as Weapon Goes Off

A man known only as "Mr. North" is being sought by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department today after an unusual weapon he is alleged to be attempting to sell in this area was accidentally discharged resulting in a punctured right hand for a Waterford Township boy last night.

* * *

Leroy D. Conway, 14, of 2829 Buick St., unknowingly fired the gun while looking it over, sending a .22 caliber bullet through the fleshy part of his hand between the thumb and index finger. He was treated for the wound at Pontiac General Hospital.

Deputy Robert A. Bloom said the weapon was a Brooks Burglar Alam Lock. The gadget, which looks like a paper stapler, is made in Ohio.

* * *

A friend of Conway's brought the weapon to show him last night. He said "Mr. North" had given him the gun and asked him to sell them for him. The boy told deputies the man showed him how to fire the gun. He and another youth were at the scene when Conway was hurt, according to Bloom.

Nab Minors, Adult for Beer Possession

Three minors paid $25 fines today after pleading guilty to possession of beer while a 29-year-old man pleaded guilty to contributing to their delinquency.

The four and another girl under 16 were arrested at 8:30 p.m. yesterday in a car at the corner of S. Saginaw street and W. Wilson avenue, where Pontiac police said they confiscated six bottles of beer.

Charged with contributing to the minors' delinquency, Bruce A. Kent, 217 Greg St., Auburn Heights, paid a $50 fine and was placed on probation for 90 days by Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

Paying $25 fines levied by Finnegan were: Valmore B. Berridge, 17, of 50½ N. Jessie St.; Charles K. Smith, 20, of 369 Seward St. and Donna J. Stevens, 20, of 140 Colgate Ave.

Waives Examination on Larceny Charge

Mildred Freidman, 35, of Detroit, was released under $1000 bond from Oakland County Jail after being bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court on a charge of larceny in a building. She waived examination before Justice Allen C. Ingle of Farmington Township.

Redford State Police arrested the woman Thursday charging her with stealing two women's blouses from a Northland store.

Metal Shop Entered by Front Window

An apparently tipsy woman driver last night reportedly drove her auto through the plate glass window of a sheet metal shop at the corner of N. Paddock street and Ellwood avenue.

* * *

Mrs. Laura Kendall, 54, of 251 E. Rundell St. this morning pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct after her auto reportedly caused extensive damage to the building and office furniture at 351 N. Paddock.

She paid a $50 fine imposed by Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

* * *

The auto reportedly struck several desks, filing cabinets and chairs and tore a garage door off its hinges.

Apparently it first struck the corner of the building, then bounced through the window, about five by six feet in size. The building is made of sheet metal.

Holding Two Youths in Probe of Breakin

Two Pontiac youths, 18 and 19, are being held for investigation in the reported breakin early today of a tavern at 404 Orchard Lake Ave.

They were picked up in a restaurant at 5 a.m. after detectives alleged they were seen earlier near the tavern. One youth reportedly had loose change hidden in a shoe.

Detectives Orville Johnston and Eugene Hendren said change was reported looted from four coin machines at the tavern. The owner, Mrs. Jennie Berkholz, 94 Oriole St. said $5 and some pennies also were missing from the cash register.

She told police the breakin occurred between 2:30 a.m. and 4:30 a.m. by means of a rear window, which a janitor found broken.

Troy, Clawson Join in Projects

Support Construction of $450,000 Drain; Make Water Deal

TROY — Troy and Clawson officials have joined in urging citizens to support construction of a $450,000 drain project and agreed on the sale of well water to Troy.

The City of Troy, drained mainly by the Wrey Drain that runs along Maple, will support efforts to enlarge the drain to prevent flooding in the Clawson area immediately to the south.

In a joint meeting of Troy Commissioners and Clawson Councilmen Wednesday night in Troy, the Troy officials asked that people sign petitions asking the county to establish the drain area.

Clawson City officials last week, realizing the need for petitions to replace others declared invalid, had tried but failed to secure enough Troy signatures. The earlier set had been submitted two years ago.

Clawson will put up the needed $2,000 for preliminary drain plans. That city, which owns two wells within Troy's limits, refused to sell them but agreed to sell water from one until Troy can get its own wells drilled.

Clawson does not need its wells no wbecause of the Southeast Oakland Water Supply, but is holding one well as a standby in case the Oakland group cannot secure enough water from Detroit.

Troy will not press to be included in the Twelve-Town Drain Project because the $450,000 project would be cheaper. Cost would be $150 per acre rather than $1,300 an acre, officials estimate.

Old Coffee Bag Hides $4,000 in Treasure

DETROIT (INS) — A 26-year-old Center Line man discovered yesterday that coffee bags, as well as coffee beans, can be money.

James Irons found eight books of American Express money orders worth nearly $4,000 in an empty coffee bag piled among some refuse behind the Detroit Print Shop where he works.

Irons turned to money orders over to police and they are looking for some person who may have lost the orders or had them stolen.

Oak Park Boy, 5, Killed by Truck

Mother, Two Sisters See Martin MacLachlan Hit Crossing Street

OAK PARK — Martin MacLachlan, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. MacLachlan, 23030 Rosewood, was killed a few feet from his mother yesterday when he was hit by a truck while crossing Scotia street.

According to Oak Park Police, the boy's mother, Rita, had just crossed Scotia with her two youngest daughters, Jeannie, 2, and Kay, 1, when the boy slipped and fell. When she looked back the truck had struck him.

Truck driver Bernard J. Schueren Jr., 27, of Detroit, left 55 feet of skid marks before hitting the boy, police say. He was to make a statement to the Oakland County Prosecutor today.

The boy's father, a commercial staff supervisor for Michigan Bell Telephone Co., was at work in Detroit when the boy was struck. Mrs. MacLachlan was treated for shock following the accident. There are two older sons, Lon, 10, and Rodney, 7.

Pontiac Woman Guilty in Assault, Jury Rules

Mary Payne, 606 Bloomfield Ave., yesterday was found guilty by a Circuit Court jury in the felonious assault March 10 of another Pontiac woman shot in the arm with a rifle.

Mrs. Payne is free on $500 bond pending sentence May 28 by Judge Frank L. Doty.

Ask Bond Issue to Build Schools

Avondale Board Says $850,000, 5-Mill Hike Won't Raise Taxes

"Meet the financial needs of running your schools now, and still enjoy a sizeable cut in taxes this year." This was the theme of four Avondale School Board members and Superintendent R. N. Baker last night when they talked to two PTA gatherings in the school district.

Facts were presented on the coming school bond issue to groups at Avondale High School and Elmwood School.

District voters will go to the polls June 12 to vote on a proposed $850,000 bond issue for increased buildings with a two-mill increase, and a three-mill tax increase for operational costs.

This millage increase would be absorbed by a corresponding reduction due to retirement of part of the current school debt, thus bringing about an actual reduction in taxes. The tax reduction, Baker conceded, would naturally be less than if the proposed bond issue were not voted in, but argued that the building expansion was vitally needed.

Because of the drop in debt of the 1949 high school bond issue, 1956 school taxes are due to go down $20 per thousand evaluation, according to Baker, and the new requests would still allow a $10 per thousand decrease in school taxes.

Total school taxes at Avondale was $57.26 per thousand last year, and the Board of Education's proposals would result in a $47.26 per thousand school tax this year, Baker said.

Baker also pointed out that the millage increase would qualify Avondale to receive $37,000 from the state under the Distressed School District Act. This would more than double the income of $30,000 that would come from the three-mill operational increase being sought, he said.

Building program planned for the district includes 17-19 elementary room additions, 9-10 junior high room additions, and 10-11 senior high room additions.

"As near as we can anticipate, next year one grade will be on half-day sessions," claimed the board members as they pointed out the continuing increase in enrollment.

6,000 Registered for Troy Voting

Annexation Election Is June 5; Areas to Divide Remainder of Township

TROY — An additional 110 voters were registered in the final two days before this week's deadline, according to City Clerk Lawson Lockhart. It brings the total residents ready to vote in the June 5 annexation election to about 6,000, he estimates.

Voters of Birmingham, Troy Township and the city of Troy will be voting that day to divide up almost all of the remaining township area.

Only two pieces will remain, and those property owners will be faced with need for fire and police protection and other governmental problems, Lockhart says. The owners do not wish to join any neighboring city, he says.

One site has several families on it, the other has no homes, but is three or four acres.

Most of Troy Township's remaining land will go to the City of Troy if voters approve, but two parcels are to go to Birmingham.

Troy City's election includes a ballot on taking over a water system within the city limits that is now owned by the township. Troy township itself has 117 voters, having added only a few in recent registrations.

Set Funeral Service for C. W. Jewell Sr.

LAPEER — Funeral service for Clifford W. Jewell Sr., 55, of 3924 Davison Lake Rd., Lapeer County, will be held at 11 a.m. Monday at the Virgo E. Kinsey Funeral Home Royal Oak. He was found dead by his wife, Ida, yesterday in the basement of his home.

Lapeer County Undersheriff William J. Porter said Jewell died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound through the skull. His wife, upstairs at the time, heard the shot and reported to the Sheriff's Department.

Mrs. Jewell said her husband had been despondent because he was unable to keep up his job at a Potiac industrial firm. She said he had had a brain tumor for about a year and was off work several months. Recently he returned, but found himself unable to handle his job, she added.

Besides his wife, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Helen Heroux of Troy; a son, Clifford Jr., of Oxford; his father, Joseph Barron of Hazel Park; two brothers, Paul of Pontiac, Eli of Nebraska; and six grandchildren.

Dedicate Monteith School

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — As speaker of the John Monteith School dedication program last night, Rev. Theodore Allebach of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, cited the school as a symbol of progressive education.

He praised the school board in considering the growth of the township and measuring the economy of the people in its building program.

In speaking to the teachers, he noted their lasting effect on the lives of the children and he pointed out to the students that school is not just a preparation for life—it is life itself and a source of precious memories.

Donald Smith, former assistant principal of Williams Lake School, conducted the program and business meeting which followed. The parent-teacher group present voted to become affiliated with the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

George Stout was elected president of the new PTA; Mrs. William Whitlow, mother vice president; Clellan Vore, father vice president, and Betty Fowler, teacher vice president.

Mrs. Earl Bell is the new program chairman; Mrs. Robert Tallman, recording secretary; Mrs. J. D. Boardman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Preston Green, treasurer; Mrs. Clair Newkirk, historian and Leslie Powell, parliamentarian.

The Monteith School, located at Crescent Lake and Hatchery Rds., is one of four elementary schools begun last year and the only one ready for occupancy this school year.

The exterior is of tan brick and the building has an entrance of blue glazed brick, with ceramic plaques as a special note of interest. Other outstanding features are the dome skylights and the space allowed for auditorium use. The walls of the two rooms next to the hall can all be pushed back, allowing a seating capacity of nearly four hundred.

Two gift presentations were made to the new PTA last night—$150 from the Williams Lake PTA and a shower of kitchen gifts from the Williams Lake Girl Scouts.

Detroit Man Jailed for Entering House

A Detroit resident is being held on a five-day sentence for entering a house without permission. Jerome LePrell, 20, was to be examined by a psychiatrist today on advice from Justice Willis D. Lefurgy of Waterford Township.

LePrell will also be required to pay $15 court costs before his release or receive an additional 15 days. A previous $10 fine was suspended by the Justice.

Lefurgy said the man was arrested for breaking into a house at 1043 Myrtle Street May 4.

WTHS Units Will Combine

Seniors Plan Events at Waterford Before Graduation

By JEAN LIMATTA

Seniors monopolized the news around Waterford Township High School this week as they planned the big events that will terminate their high school years.

Within the next 24 hours WTHS gym will be transformed into the beautiful moon-crater land for tomorrow evening's senior prom, "La Lune Reverie." This is the school's only elaborate and semi-formal dance of the year.

After dancing from 9 to 1, seniors will dine at the Kingsley and Northern Inns. Bob Lippert has served as chairman of the prom along with faculty sponsors Barbara Frank and Donald Arsen.

Early this morning seniors met to learn the details of the trip they will take to Mackinac Friday with Pontiac High.

Band and A Cappella members also topped the "newsy list" this week as they diligently rehearsed for their Spring Concert to be Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The concert, under the direction of Helen Davis and Bruce Orr, choir and band directors, respectively, will be the second annual combination program of the two musical groups.

'Dry Bones" with the aid of the black light will be a highlight of the concert.

Sheldon Smith, senior, made a name for both himself and Waterford Monday when he took first place in the state competition of the Hearst Oratory Tournament. Today Sheldon, under the instruction of Patty Looman, is taking part in the Midwest competition in Chicago.

Striving to nominate the most capable students for the highest slate of officers at Waterford, Student Council members were kept busy this week.

Next Wednesday at the annual Council-election assembly the nominees will be introduced and the candidates for the presidency and vice presidency will give five-minute speeches. Those nominated for president are Rodney Evans, junior; Bob Hope, junior; and Jerry Nelson, sophomore.

'Paris by Starlight' Glows Brightly at St. Frederick Annual Senior Prom

By ANN SCHACHERN

St. Frederick High School seniors and juniors were tired and starry-eyed after the prom Wednesday night. Theme was Paris by Starlight or "Chez Parie" as the more artistic called it.

* * *

Wall murals of Paris scenery and myriads of stars and pastel flowers were main points of decorations.

* * *

Juniors are now hard at work planning the Junior-Senior Banquet to be held next Wednesday night.

* * *

Yesterday morning, the student body journeyed to Dodge Park for the annual school picnic. The day was spent in playing baseball, roasting hotdogs, and eating other picnic fare.

* * *

Boy's favorite pasttime seemed to be dunking girls in the lake. A huge bonfire closed the affair.

* * *

Junior Achievers pulled themselves away from the picnic to attend a program in their honor at the Masonic Temple in Detroit last night.

* * *

"Future Unlimited" the name of the affair featured television star Sam Levenson. Awards were given to advanced achievers for their accomplishments.

* * *

Chemistry students have worked hard on their projects which were due this week. The projects, which could be on anything concerned with the field of physics or chemistry, are necessary for a final mark.

* * *

Sophomore Modern History students have been making the school library their second home lately. They found reference books a big help in composing their term papers which are due shortly.

* * *

The choral club has been squeezing extra practices into its schedule whenever possible. Noon hours have been spent by the club's members in preparing for their annual spring concert "A Fantasy in Song."

* * *

Monday afternoon students were shown a movie of the life of Father Damien, a priest who spent his life among the Hawaiian lepers on the island of Moloki.

* * *

Kathleen Kinch and Sally Crake entertained seniors and their dates with a "COKEtail" party before the prom last Wednesday.

Schedule Style Show

Future Homemakers at Lake Orion High are preparing for their style show May 24 at the school. Under the direction of home economics teacher, Mrs. Rosalie Francis, the event is open to the public.

To Salute Nurses

Future Nurses Club will be observing Professional Nurse Week next week at Pontiac High School, saluting men and women in the field of nursing.

IN TUNE — Another combined concert will be held at Waterford High School Wednesday night. Richard L. Dexter (left) band member, sets the pace for chorus members Nancy Winslow and John Bersche. The concert is under the direction of Helen Davis and Bruce Orr. Highlight of the event will be a rendition of "Dry Bones."

Spring Brings Much to Do!

West Bloomfield Band, Chorus to Perform on Wednesday

Music in the form of choral and band concerts will dominate news at area schools during the next week.

West Bloomfield High School is planning a combined band and choral concert on Wednesday night.

Under the direction of Robert Pfeuffer, band director and Drema Royal, chorus, the groups will perform separate programs and then join together for one number "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desire," by Bach. Another unusual number will be the "Octet Woodwin" by Haydn.

This is the first formal concert the band has presented since its reorganization three years ago.

AT WALLED LAKE

Three Walled Lake seniors, Maribelle Dolan, Carol Ann York, and Ruth Sappington, attended a tea Sunday given by the Panhellenic Association of Pontiac. Seniors in the Pontiac area who were college-bound and interested in sororities were invited. Displays and posters showing pins and activities of the various sororities were enjoyed by the guests.

* * *

The Student Council is sponsoring a Sock Hop tonight. Joe Van, WKMH disc jockey, will be spinning the records. No one who is wearing shoes will be admitted. The dance to be held in the senior high gym will run from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

Student Council elections were held Tuesday during homerooms. Laurie Passmore was elected president for next year and Bill Brown, vice president. The council will elect students from among the members to fill the offices of secretary and treasurer in the fall.

Senior lettermen and cheerleaders were honored guests at the annual All-Sports Banquet given by the Walled Lake Rotary Club Monday. Woody Donovan was named outstanding senior boy and presented with a watch. Dick Woodworth was named outstanding senior athlete.

AT BLOOMFIELD HILLS

The Student Council is sponsoring the play, "Elmer and the Lovebug," at 7:30 p.m. next Friday night in the school auditorium. Eighth graders will serve as members of the cast.

Elmer is the story of a teasing brother who finally ends up calm and peaceful as he's smitten with the "lovebug."

Glenn Wooster is directing assisted by Elizabeth Ross.

AT AVONDALE

Avondale's concert was well attended Wednesday night. Roughly 40 students participated in the event under the supervision of Jean Woodworth.

PTSA put on a civil defense program Thursday night.

Big news at Avondale this week is the possible use of activity fee cards. The Student Council has made a study of the school and decided that 400 students would have to sign up to make the program a success.

The activity cards would cover all home sports games, Student Council sponsored dances, the school paper and yearbook. Senior Jim Carr introduced the issue to the council.

Spring carnival is just a week away. Classes nominated king and queen candidates yesterday, and have started out to sell votes for their class favorites. Most money will elect King and Queen who will be crowned the night of the carnival.

AT LAKE ORION

Girls have their dates lined up for tonight's Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Seniors leave Tuesday for Holland to begin their class trip. They'll catch a boat for Chicago and go to Mackinac Island and come back to Detroit.

National Honor Society Committee will present thier constitution to the faculty and Student Council for approval Wednesday.

AT DRYDEN

Twenty-seven will graduate from Dryden High School. This is the largest number in the history of the school.

Janet and Janine Abbott tied for valedictorian and salutatorian is Shirley Behnke.

AT CLARKSTON

The noon hour program has been changed so that the students may spend their noon hours outdoors participating in different games.

The Clarkston baseball team will attend the Detroit Tigers Baseball clinic at Briggs Stadium and will also see Detroit play the Chicago White Sox.

The seniors received their announcement cards and invitations. Clarkston placed second at the triangle track meet with Milford and Clarenceville.

A Musical Month Is May!

Junior High students took tours, planned concerts and serenades and even a variety show during the past week.

AT MADISON

Madison 9-A Community Problems classes recently toured the buildings and grounds of the Pontiac State Mental Hospital during their Open House. The groups were impressed by the facilities there.

* * *

A number of homerooms are busy planning homeroom parties which will take place before the end of the present semester.

AT LINCOLN

Lincoln Junior High School students will present a Spring Serenade on Thursday, May 24, in the evening. The next day the program will be presented in an assembly for the students.

* * *

The program will include sacred numbers and numbers from South Pacific by the ninth grade chorus; three selections by the Boys Glee Club; four numbers by the Choralines; singing by the seventh grade choirs, and a finale, "No Man Is an Island," sung by all the performers together.

* * *

There will also be solos by Judy Lembky, Marilyn Drumn, David Austin, and the ninth grade boys ensemble, and the ninth grade girls trio.

* * *

On May 17 the Lincoln Band will give its annual Spring Concert. Band members are busy selling tickets to the concert and competition in the ticket selling is keen, for high sellers will be taken to see Cinerama or a baseball game.

* * *

The final six weeks of school are here at last, and in the rush of last minute planning for graduation activities, time will pass quickly.

* * *

The assembly last week was presented by the boys gym classes under the direction of Mr. Sherwood, boys gym teacher. The program was called, "Presenting — Star Gymnast," and featured acrobatic feats.

AT ISAAC CRARY

The Assembly Club at Isaac E. Crary Junior High School offers Melodies in May, the last all-school dance of the year, tonight 7:30 to 10.

Friday, the senior members of the Sodality sponsored the "May Flower Frolic." The admission charged for the dance, provided necessary capital for future benevolent projects.

A representative of the International Business Machines Company demonstrated the I. B. M. Executive for the second year typing class on Thursday.

The high school assembled Monday for a talk on "Propagation of the Faith" given by a representative of the Society. A movie entitled "Damien" was shown to the students.

In it was depicted the work of Father Damien with the lepers on the island of Molokai in the Pacific.

It was announced this past week that the "Silver Cane Ball," a formal dance sponsored by the athletic association will be May 18 from 9 until midnight. Alumni is invited.

Surge of Rebels Continues in North African Terror

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Military and unofficial reports indicated today the French have killed at least 500 Algerians this week in their drive to check the new nationalist offensive against European farms and settlements.

* * *

Some French newspapers in Algiers estimated rebel losses since last weekend at up to 1,000.

* * *

The French have admitted only a handful of soldiers killed and slightly more wounded. In addition, 20 European farmers, wives and children were reported slain in western Algeria last weekend in the initial phase of the new nationalist offensive.

REBELS UNABATED

The surge of rebel activity continued unabated. Nationalist bands ranged through the vast central North African territory with torch and submachinegun. The French concentrated on vast military sweeps in western Algeria, where 40 farms were burned early this week, and in the area north of Constantine, east Algeria, where some 45 settlements and farms were attacked Tuesday and Wednesday.

The number of rebel dead in the West was put at 300. In the East some 200 were reported killed.

* * *

The French army reported clashes with the rebels last night in the mountainous Kabylie region in northeast Algeria and near Algiers itself.

The village of Rivet, only 15 miles southeast of Algiers, was under fire for almost an hour. Six rebels were killed in the skirmish.

At least seven rebels were reported killed in the scattered Kabylie fighting, where 20 French outpost were attacked yesterday.

Another stiff battle was reported in progress near the east Mediterranean port of Philippeville. Rebel losses were described as heavy, but no casualty figures were given.

State Employes' Average Pay Set at $4,330

LANSING (AP) — A study showed today that the average state of Michigan employe earned $4,330 last year, or nearly triple the amount received 15 years ago.

* * *

However, the Department of Administration which undertook the analysis as part of a study of employment trends said the increase was only from $1,500 in 1941 to $2,260 in 1955 if adjusted for constant value of the dollar.

* * *

In other words, the worker's purchasing power has gone up only 50 per cent.

The report listed the number of state employes at 27,091 last year and the total state payroll $117,316,011.

* * *

Fifteen years ago, the average number of state employes was 18,682.

The ratio of state employes to population rose from 3.45 per thousand in 1941 to 3.74 per thousand in 1955.

Warners Cancels Plans for Mario Lanza Picture

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — It's a surprise to hear that the Mario Lanza picture, "Golden Voice," has been called off at Warners, or it was as of today. Just what happened is being kept a secret but whatever it is, Mario is out of the picture.

As it was based on Lanza's life and tailored to fit his singing, I can't imagine any other star stepping in.

Twenty-seven years ago I printed Adolph Menjou's list of the best-dressed men of the year. This was the very first of the "10 best" lists which have now become a regular thing.

I asked Adolph to name the 10 best of 1955 and he comes up with: Jules Glaenzer, vice president of Cartier's, New York; Douglas Fairbanks Jr., the Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Windsor, Fred Astaire, Frank Sinatra, statesman Henry Cabot Lodge, Noel Coward, Cecil Beaton, British photographer, and Sen. Stuart Symington.

Not one of these was on his original list, but Douglas Fairbanks Sr. was included. In "The Ambassador's Daughter" Adolph has a chance to dress in the impeccable taste which has always been part of his stock in trade.

SHOW CLOSES

Barbara Britton's show, "Wake Up, Darling," closed after a few days on Broadway. However, she isn't discouraged. She planes here Monday just long enough to pick up her little girl and then goes back to New York to do some mother-daughter commercials on TV.

Her husband, Dr. Eugene Czukor, plans to close out his practice in Beverly Hills, and as soon as possible he and their son will follow Barbara to New York to make their home permanently.

If anybody can make commercials attractive and fresh — it's Barbara. She is very good in those I've seen.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: There'll be wedding bells one of these days soon for actress Barbara Darrow and Tom Tannenbaum, son of David Tannenbaum, former mayor of Beverly Hills.

Dancing Dolls by Uncle George Keep Tots Happy

DALLAS, Tex (INS)—"Uncle George" Stovall, a grizzled 78-year-old former cowpuncher, is whiling away the golden years of his life making Dallas kids happy.

* * *

"Unc," as the youngsters call him, is a handy man with a pocket knife and the dancing dolls he carves from wood for a pastime make the small fry squeal with joy.

* * *

The dolls reflect the atmosphere of the Old West of which the old cowboy is a part and loves so well. They are lanky and loose-jointed like a true range rider, and their feet are carved in the shape of cowboy boots.

Last Christmas Uncle George donated 80 of the dolls to a drive to gather toys for underprivileged children.

* * *

Uncle George, who quit punching cattle in 1940, lives in Dallas with his sister, Mrs. Esta Garland. She says her brother has been carving the wooden dolls for 70 years and that he began punching cattle in 1900.

Amateurs bought 150 million rolls of wallpaper in the United States in 1953.

Pravda Blasts Diver Incident

Charge Spying to 'Lost' British Frogman on Cruiser During Visit

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet press added its voice today to the outcry over the mysterious disappearance of a British skin diver near a Soviet cruiser in Portsmouth harbor.

* * *

The Communist newspaper Pravda and the Soviet government organ Izvestia charged the frogman was engaged in "shameful" spying.

Lionel (Buster) Crabb, 46, a retired naval commander, vanished April 19 on an underwater mission near the Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze, anchored in Portsmouth Harbor. The ship had brought Soviet Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev here for a 10-day visit and was waiting to take them home.

* * *

The Admiralty announced only that Crabb was missing and presumed dead. His body has not been recovered. British newspapers and Labor members of Parliament demanded further explanation, and Prime Minister Eden agreed yesterday to a House of Commons debate on the case Monday.

Dispatches from Moscow said the Soviet newspapers splashed two-column stories on the frogman's disappearance.

"The shameful operation of underwater espionage was directed against those who came to the country on a friendly visit," said Pravda, "and does no honor to its organizers and cannot but arouse legitimate concern of the British as well as the Soviet public."

* * *

Some British newspapers speculated that Crabb might have been killed or taken prisoner by the Russians as he carried out an underwater inspection of the cruiser. There also were hints that he might have died while protecting the vessel against sabotage by anti Red groups.

SONGFUL PLEA TO IVORIES — Marion Brando sings "Luck, Be a Lady Tonight" as he rolls the dice in a scene from "Guys and Dolls." The million-dollar filmization of the Broadway hit opens here today at the Strand.

Reds Ease Controls in European Nations

VIENNA (AP)—Russia's East European satellites recently have been proclaiming an easing of controls — with amnesties, rehabilitations and promises of freer debate. But the grim business of arrest and sentencing of suspected anti-Communists goes on much as it did when Stalin and Beria were alive.

* * *

This is disclosed by a survey of the satellite press here and by reports of Westerners stationed in the satellite capitals.

Poland's press almost daily announces arrests of alleged "Western espionage agents" and capture and sentencing of "terrorist gangs." Many of these have been identified by Western authorities as anti-Communist underground units which enjoy widespread secret support among the population.

* * *

The Polish Communist party organ Trybuna Ludu announced May 4 that a six-member band had been sentenced to terms ranging from seven years to life.

In Czechoslovakia newspapers for two days reported five trials of persons accused of listening to American broadcasts, resisting collectivization or various other "antistate activities."

Eight of every ten vacationists in the United States during 1955 traveled by automobile.

Two Executed for Utah Killing

Condemned Slayers Die Before Firing Squad for '49 Crime

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP)—Two men faced a double firing squad today.

The state sent Verne Alfred Braasch, 30, Reinbeck, Iowa, and Melvin Leroy Sullivan, 25, to their deaths for the Oct. 22, 1949, slaying of a Beaver, Utah, service station attendant.

* * *

The condemned men spent their last day yesterday visiting with friends and relatives. Prison Warden Marcell Graham said they were "gloomy and not too happy."

They asked for a last meal of roast pheasant and mashed potatoes.

* * *

A brief crime spree that ended in murder in the fall of 1949 led to the execution order.

Braasch and Sullivan, both jobless, met in a Los Angeles bar in September 1949. They became friends and decided to hitchhike to the midwest in search of work.

CONFESSION REVEALS ALL

A confession signed by the two after their arrest said they ran low on money and on Oct. 13, 1949, burglarized a store in Pomona, Calif., and stole two .22-caliber pistols. They used the pistols in a store robbery in Mesquite, Nev., a few days later.

* * *

About midnight Oct. 21 they stopped in a Beaver, Utah, service station to get warm. They made friends with the attendant, Howard Manzione, 21.

They left the station and early the next morning returned to rob it. A confession said one of them shot Manzione in the back and the other shot him in the head. They escaped with $20 from a cash register.

* * *

Two days later they were arrested in Las Vegas and confessed the crime. They were convicted of first-degree murder in an Iron County Court and were sentenced to death. On Dec. 30, 1949, they began their prolonged stay in Utah State Prison's "death row."

Boys' Clubs Draw Praise of Hoovers

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover today hailed the Boys' Clubs of America for helping stem delinquency and "giving America each year an army of good citizens."

* * *

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, also praising the clubs, said it is "a sad thing" that "the crime problem, more and more, is a youth problem."

Both Hoovers spoke at a banquet marking the 50th anniversary of the clubs.

The former president said civilization has provided a difficult environment of bricks, cement and pavements for boys in congested areas of cities.

'DEPRESSING PLACES'

"To me, as a boy who grew up ranging the fields, tracing the rabbits and prairie chickens with the help of an unregistered mutt, these places in our cities are particularly depressing," he said in his prepared address. He is chairman of the Clubs' board of directors. He cited 15 things boys are made of, such as dynamism, curiosity, affection, and a desire for competition, and the efforts of the clubs to meet the boys' needs.

"He comes from every race, color and religion," he said. "He needs a place to go where the dignity of all of them is respected."

He said there are now more than 420,000 members in 437 Boys' Clubs in 287 communities.

"I could give you reports from authorities in 20 cities," he said, "as to the invariable decrease in juvenile delinquency where clubs have been established."

He said great editors, scholars, musicians, legislators, civic leaders and big baseball players had come from Boys' Club ranks.

CRIME RECORDS CITED

FBI Director Hoover said that last year juveniles between the ages of 10 and 17 were involved in 62 per cent of all arrests for automobile thefts, 53 per cent of all arrests for burglaries, 47 per cent of all arrests for larcenies, and 21 per cent of all arrests for robberies.

"There is nothing more important before this nation than the problem of juvenile crime," he said.

"It gets worse the longer responsibility for it is dodged. Men and women old enough to know better and to do more about the serious moral and spiritual collapse inherent in these facts have the major fault."

* * *

He said one city, which he did not identify, has had a 61 per cent increase in delinquency since 1946, but that in one section where a Boys' Club was organized the delinquency rate decreased by 51.9 per cent.

Oakland County Justices Planning Dinner Meeting

A dinner meeting of Oakland County Justices of the Peace is planned at Devon Gables next Wednesday, County Justice Court Coordinator Gerald A. Terrien said today.

* * *

The assembled justices will discuss a possible county justices' association and review current issues affecting Justice Court operations.

Short speeches will be given by Cadman Prout, Oakland County Friend of the Court; Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem; James Rohm, supervisor of records at Oakland County Jail; and James VanLeuven, assistant director of children's services for Juvenile Court.

* * *

Change in Terrien's title from Justice Court Accountant to Justice Court Coordinator recently was announced by John Austin, vice-chairman of the County Board of Auditors.

"It was felt the new title fits Mr. Terrien's job better than the old one," Austin said yesterday. "His work is concerned with coordinating all justice court activities and records in the County."

Truck Comes to Table

MACKINAW CITY (UP) — Mayor Neil Downing, who operates a restaurant here, was startled to have a semi-truck trailer crash through the plate glass window at breakfast time Thursday. The truck had rolled 300 feet down an incline when its air brakes failed, nudged two cars out of the way, including Downing's, and climbed the sidewalk into the restaurant.

Delta Sheriff, Retiring

ESCANABA (UP) — Delta County Sheriff William Miron, who has served 24 years in the office, is going to retire. He is a past president of the Michigan Sheriffs Assn. and the Upper Peninsula Assn. of Law Enforcement Officers.

Plot: From Rags to Riches

Eight Chosen for Horatio Alger Award

NEW YORK (INS)—Eight businessmen who rose from rags to riches by hard work and determination yesterday received Horatio Alger awards.

* * *

The tenth annual awards were given the winners by elder statesman Bernard M. Baruch, a 1947 recipient.

Those honored with plaques by the American Schools and Colleges Association were:

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Air Lines, who worked as an automobile mechanic to support his family and was educated by correspondence school courses.

W. Cordes Snyder Jr., president of the Blaw-Knox Co. of Pittsburgh, trudged miles as a youth through waist-deep snow in below freezing temperatures running a trapline to pay for his education.

Roy T. Hurley, president of Curtiss Wright Corp., Woodridge, N. J., had no formal schooling beyond the public grades. In 1916 he became an aircraft mechanic and during World War I was an aircraft inspector.

Allen Gelman, president of Elgin American Co., Elgin, Ill., was an itinerant machine tool maker from Hungary whose metal working innovations revolutionized production methods in the costume jewelry industry.

Gustav S. Eyssell, president of Rockefeller Center and a director of Radio City Music Hall, started as an usher in the Paramount Theater in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Armando Conti, president of Trenton Beverage Co., and Seaboard Excavators, Inc., Trenton, N. J., was a penniless Italian immigrant. His first job in this country was in a West Virginia coal mine where he earned $8 a week.

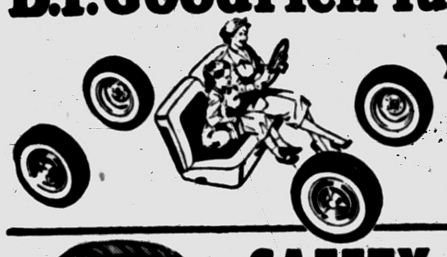

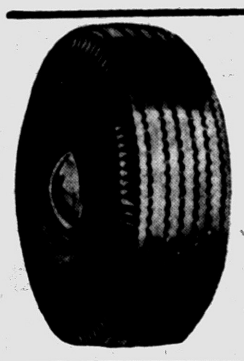

Lester W. Carter, president of the American Hotel Association and the Western Hotel chain, started his career as a $5 a week bellboy.

John M. Joyce, president of Seven-Up, Inc., Joliet, Ill., earned his first wages as a messenger boy for the Pennsylvania Railroad after quitting school to help family finances.

A small camera in the rear trunk picks up the view behind and flashes it via closed circuit TV to a four-by-six-inch screen on the dashboard. The camera, equipped with a special wide angle lens, will pick up an image as far back as the naked eye can see.

SCARLET BEAUTY — Scarlet verbena "Defiance" is a welcome change from salvia as an annual with plenty of summer color. Time is about now to plant verbena. Verbena also comes in a pink and a rich blue. The "Royal Blue" has individual florets so large they will cover a quarter and the blooms grow on stems long enough to make fine cut flowers.

Quizzing the Gardener

Q—Must hybrid blueberries be pruned? If so, when and how?

A—Blueberries produce better if pruned rather severely at any time before growth starts. The bushes should not be permitted to become too dense or too leggy. Old, weak branches should be removed, as well as enough of the small, thin, lateral twigs to prevent overproduction of small and poor-quality fruit. The amount to cut will vary with the variety and will be learned by experience.

Q—Is the Capitata Japanese yew a tree or shrub?

A—The Capitata yew is a tree growing up to 50 feet under favorable conditions. But it can be kept lower by early pruning and training. Plant it only where it is not crowded by other plants.

Q—Should the roots of flowering shrubs be pruned at planting time?

A—Remove only broken pieces of roots. The plants will establish themselves if their roots are not trimmed, unless they are injured in the course of digging.

* * *

Q—How can I prevent vegetable and annual flower seedlings from becoming slender and spindly? All my plants are now inches tall and yet no second set of leaves.

A—Lack of sunlight, excessive heat, crowding and overwatering are common causes of spindly plants. Seedlings grown indoors seldom become stocky plants of a dark green color. Better try again, and use a cold frame.

Q—How severely should one spring-prune hybrid roses?

A—Experience has taught the old gardener that roses do best when cut back to 12 to 15 inches above ground. The removal of live wood only robs the plant of the reserve food supply that it spent last summer accumulating.

* * *

Q—What are some of the better flowering evergreen shrubs for planting under windowsills 30 inch above grade? The area receives plenty of sunlight.

A—Flowering evergreens, like rhododendrons, are out of the question—therefore you must choose from the following: Andorra juniper, convex-leaf holly, spreading English yew, evergreen bittersweet, mountain andromeda, drooping leucothoe.

Flowering Shrubs Practical, Beautiful

Never has the need for flowering shrubs been so great. And never have there been so many good varieties to meet the need.

Gardeners beset by today's twin problems of space and upkeep are finding that, with these plants, they need not compromise beauty for practicality. Flowering shrubs give them both.

They have other values too — ones that are frequently overlooked. By nature woody in growth, these shrubs are permanent plants, giving form to the garden and improving in appearance and flowering ability each year.

Foliage on those is good. Handsomely and sturdy, it resists damage by insects or disease. Several shrubs blossom impressively in shady areas where other flowering plants do poorly. Others tolerate intense heat and drought, some poor soil. Many are as valuable for the fall color of their fruit or foliage as for their earlier flowers.

Clip Grass by Hand Until Bulb Leaves Die

If you cherish the early spring sight of crocuses under trees and naturalized in clumps here and there on the lawn, prepare to pay for the sight by hand-clipping the grass in the area until the leaves of the bulbs have yellowed down.

If they are chopped off by the mower along with the grass, they will be unable to develop bloom for the next season.

Trees Bloom Too Profusely

Large Crop of Small Apples Is Worthless, Says Specialist

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — There comes a time when nature can be too bountiful to the farmer.

Unseasonal cold weather has delayed Michigan's vast fruit season by a week to 10 days, but in turn has put the cap on tree buds and thus protected them from blossoming and then getting nipped by frost.

The buds are out this week in an awesome display which has some farmers concerned over a new problem.

Take apples for instance. H. Don Hootman, Michigan State University extension fruit specialist, puts it this way:

"Orchards have come into extra profuse bloom this year. But an apple tree can only produce so many pounds and if there are too many apples too close to each other on a tree they are almost certain to be the little "schoolboy" kind that yield nothing but red marks on bookkeeping records.

"A large crop of small apples is practically worthless to the grower," said Hootman. "They are fit only for cider at about 30 to 50 cents a bushel whereas a good 2½-inch apple sells for anywhere from $1.50 to $3 a bushel."

Hootman said the reason for the heavy budding is partly last year's May 9 freeze which resulted in heavy losses, but stored up strength in trees for this year's crop. He said an extra heavy crop could cut down next year's buds, but that thinning properly can control the situation.

On the other hand, there has been noticeable damage to southwestern Michigan's lush cherry crop. Clifford Conrad, Berrien County agricultural agent at St. Joseph, says damage inland from Lake Michigan has run as high as 50 per cent in spots from three frosty nights.

"The buds advanced to the 'water stage', (filled with water) and were caught in 26-degree weather," said Conrad. "The water froze and farmers lost the buds."

Conrad said, however, that the crop otherwise looks choice and the blossom season will hit its peak this week.

Rain, too, has come to the rescue of spring crops. Heavy rains the first weekend in May changed soil condition from too dry to almost too wet.

Stanley Johnston, superintendent of the Michigan State University experimental staffon at South Haven, said "the ground was a little wet directly after the rain, but we needed it so bad it didn't hurt a thing."

Johnston forecasts a banner year for cherries.

To the north, at Lake City near Cadillac, Ashly Berridge, superintendent of the MSU Lake City experimental station, said snow right through April had aided conditions for potato and bean crops. "Our season is two to three weeks late because the ground still is very cold," he said. "But everything is in fine shape."

Watch Out for Frost

There is still danger from frost in the area. Keep bushel baskets, a supply of newspapers, a quantity of straw or hay or unmatted leaves around for action when one threatens. Protect the plants endangered by the cold.

Givs Medical Advice

Gardeners, Take Heed!

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Medical advice to middle-aged amateur gardeners: take it easy.

The N. J. Medical Society put it this way today:

"The aim is to dig flower beds, not graves; the result should be a summer of flowery pleasure, not an eternity of repose."

Colorful Borders Come From Plants Like These

By HENRY PREE
NEA Service

Are these plants in your garden plans?

If not, they are worth investigating and perhaps adding to the border either to fill in a few voids or to replace shrubs which failed to come up to expectations.

Occasionally a mild spell will bring into bloom the dainty lilac-purple flowers of daphne mezereum. This shrub, while introduced in early colonial times, somehow has not been commonly planted.

It makes an excellent border plant and is happy if given a lime soil and plenty of moisture. Like its evergreen cousin, daphne cneorum, it is rather difficult to transplant, and moves easiest when small and with the roots well balled and burlapped. A hybrid known as daphne somerset, is superior to its parent, being more attractive in bloom.

Flowering border shrubs add the final touch to your landscaping plans. But take time to study the coloring of the various plants.

The lilac has rosy purple flowers which are very fragrant and appear before the leaves.

Because of its deciduous nature this daphne does not burn during the winter and it is perfectly hardy. Its ultimate height is three feet. Scarlet berries, in June, add much to the charm of this shrub.

Daphne cneorum, commonly called garland flower, is a beautiful low-spreading evergreen shrub seldom attaining a height of 15 inches, covered with clusters of bright, rosy-pink fragrant flowers. A second but more or less sparse bloom appears in late summer.

Donald Wyman, director of Boston's Arnold Arboretum, says that "opinion is divided as to whether it grows best in acid or alkaline soils, since it can do well in both.

However, since all daphne are somewhat difficult to tame, and many are known to prefer a limestone soil, this daphne should do better if given an alkaline soil.

A cool, moist condition about the roots at all times, and some winter mulch, are added aids to secure good growth."

I suggest a light shearing of established plants, immediately after the bloom.

Give Trees Proper Distribution of Food

If you're going to feed your trees this Spring, there are no short cuts to providing blue plate specials for arboreal friends. The do-it-yourself feeder sometimes makes the mistake of punching too few holes too shallowly.

The key to taking care of the arboreal appetite is to assure proper distribution of the tree food high in nitrogen content.

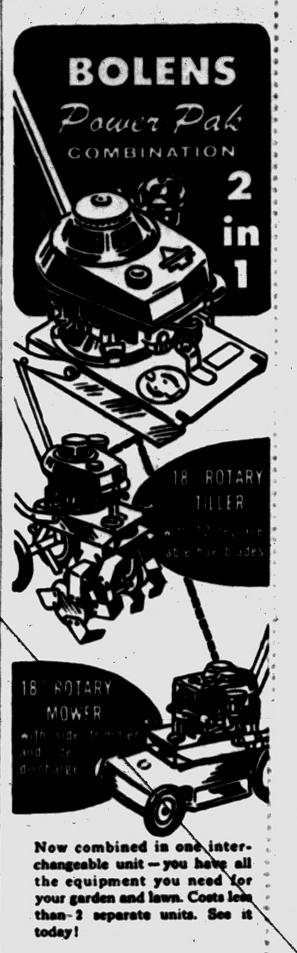

This means punching the necessary amount of holes at least 18 inches deep over the entire root area.

Holes should be punched no further than 18 inches apart. It is no mistake to put them even closer. The more holes, the better the distribution of the fertilizer to feeding roots. Feeding roots usually extend as far as the branch spread.

Since most feeding roots are within 20 inches of the ground surface, holes about 18 inches deep assure the tree available supplies of nourishing elements. Roughly, each hole accommodates about a handful of dry, granular fertilizer material. Holes filled back with peat or other humus will aid in root aeration, another essential for arboreal health.

Make Cuttings Now

Cuttings should be made now from the sturdiest house plants — wandering jew, philodendron and coleus, so that they may have established root systems and can be set outside in a shady garden spot in a month or so to develop further.

Now combined in one interchangeable unit — you have all the equipment you need for your garden and lawn. Costs less than 2 separate units. See it today!

Tent Caterpillar Season Coming

Tree Experts Forecast Heavy Pest Invasion This Year

A heavier than usual invasion of destructive tent caterpillars is to be expected this year, warns the National Arborist Association, from examination of the egg masses wintering on the small twigs of trees.

The Association advises home owners to watch carefully for the hatching of the eggs and the formation of small webs in the crotches of trees.

When the caterpillars begin to feed they may entirely defoliate some trees leaving an unsightly mess, and crawling over the ground by the thousands attack valuable fruit trees and shrubs as well as certain shade trees.

Consult with your local tree expert or arborist for the best means of control of these pests.

Control is achieved by several sprayings timed for different climatic areas to be effective when the eggs are hatching and when the insects are small and first start to feed.

Preventative sprays also are advised on shrubs such as Japanese quince, small fruit trees, flowering crabapples and many others, which may die completely if severely eaten by these pests.

Burning out of the tents formed by the insects is not advised. Not only does it damage the tree, but many insects only fall on the ground undamaged and crawl into the same tree or another in a short time.

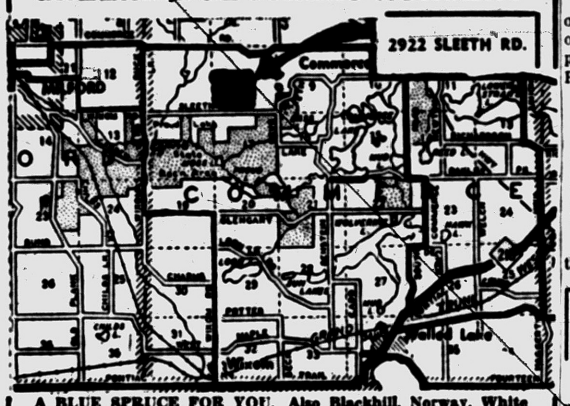

Nests in small trees that can be reached from the ground can be removed by carefully wiping off the nest with a rag that has been soaked in soap and water.

Garden Group Buys Trees Yearly

Flowering Crab to Beautify Pontiac

A project of the Pontiac branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Assn. is entering its third year this spring.

* * *

The ladies purchase through various fund raising projects hundreds of flowering crab trees for approaches and parkways throughout Pontiac.

Next Wednesday committee members, Mrs. Walter K. Willman, chairman, Mrs. Standish Sibley and Mrs. Kimball Albert, have planned their annual bridge party which is the main fund raising project.

Farm and garden members open their homes to bridge players and usually have 1,600 tables of bridge in operation. Each table prize consists of one flowering crab tree.

Mrs. Sibley says that this beautification of Pontiac should show results this year. Flowering crab trees take two or three years to get to the blossoming stage so this should be their first year in blossom. Flowering crab usually blossoms in May.

Between the activities of Pontiac, Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham Pontiac garden lovers have taken Avenue will bea burst of blossom every May!

Birmingham group has planted flowering crab through their city to Bloomfield Hills where that group has picked up the project and planted the trees to Square Lake road. At that point our Pontiaci garden lovers have taken up the chore and brought the trees to the entrance of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Better Homes and Gardens, a local garden group, has planted from the hospital entrance to South Boulevard.

Advice from Mrs. Sibley to crab tree growers is to start them small so they'll live through the year.

From the Garden Editor

Cactus is in the news again this week following the picture and story of Mrs. Percy Merritt's blooming cactus in The Press last Friday.

First a letter came from Mrs. Claude Helm of Rochester who has studied cacti for some 20 years and at one time had 175 different varieties. Mrs. Helm identified the cactus as Orchid Cactus. Botanically, she said, they're called Epiphyllum meaning, on a leaf or Phyllocactus, leaf cactus.

They come in some 35 different colors ranging from white to deep red and orange with flowers four to ten inches across.

This is one of the easiest grown of all cacti, Mrs. Helm said, and the blossoms are often compared to orchid or water lilies.

Mrs. Frederick Smith, of 313 Michigan was looking through some old home magazines and in a 1952 issue found a story and pictures of the orchid cactus. A call from her revealed that foreign varieties were crossbred with American species to get the present plant.

In growing cactus, Mrs. Helm advises letting the plants have a dormant period. This resting period allows the cactus to get back its energy after its blooming session.

Elzada U. Clover, association professor of botany at the University of Michigan, says that cacti will bloom well in any climate if given proper care. Professor Clover recommends cacti for a hobby.

Fast growing annual vines like scarlet-runner bean, can be used as a quick cover for naked spots while perennials are getting established. The scarlet runner bean is a rather dramatic plant for fences.

War on Bugs Begins for 1956

Atom Among New Weapons Which Will Fight Insects

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The war on bugs gets under way this month with new weapons that include the atom.

Insecticide manufacturers and scientists of the Department of Agriculture have come up with some new killers as well as some new methods of getting their bug. Atomic materials are being used in research to learn how insects outfox men by developing immunity to once potent poisons. And gamma rays are used to pull a dirty trick on the female screwworm fly.

It's a costly war, whichever side wins. The department estimates that insects do four billion dollars worth of damage each year. And the National Agricultural Chemical Assn. says American farmers pay about 350-million-dollars-a-year for insect killers. It estimates that it costs a chemical company around 1½ million dollars to develop a new pesticide.

Even what Congress does about farm surpluses interests the insect battlers. They point out, for instance, that the soil bank could be a bug coddler. The farmer would leave the idle land be, and insects might discover a fine place to multiply unmolested.

Manufacturers start the bug year with inventories the lowest for some time. The Agriculture Department says that last September 30, the end of the season, their carryover was 9 per cent below the previous year and 29 per cent under 1953—there was heavy infestation last year and more insecticides were sold. As a sales year it was second only to 1951.

The bad news this year is that grasshoppers thrived on last summer's drought in many places and may be a menace this summer.

For mosquitoes and other insect delinquents who have learned to thumb their noses at DDT, the Agriculture Department has thought up DDVP (dimethyl dichloro vinyl phosophate) said to be deadly to the immune ones.

Another gimmick to be tried out in Texas this year is a chemical to be put on cotton seeds which is said to make the plants resistant to insects. Other chemicals have been developed that move through plants to attack bugs where they show up.

Can Transplant Iris

Iris coming to life again can be transplanted to other garden areas without damage at this time. Take care, however not to break off the growing roots any more than you can help.

Prune Big Tree in One Minute

Buzz Saw Invention Used by Kent County Brothers

Carroll and Herrick Chase, who operate three fruit farms in Kent County, have made a "one minute snap" of a once-tedious and hazardous task of heading back their many mature apple trees.

Lowering the top of a big apple tree normally takes about an hour with hand-powered tools and individual climbing. Mechanical devices operated by laborers from elevated platforms save only about 35 minutes per tree.

The Chase brothers, however, are using a multi-buzz saw invention, perfected by Lloyd Gilbert of Ravenna, which prunes overgrown trees at the rate of one a minute.

The business end of the device consists of a row of buzz saws mounted on the underside of a steel beam and connected through an elevating boom to a tractor with a power takeoff.

Hydraulic controls allow the beam to be set at a level between 10 and 20 feet off the ground.

Ten chain-driven, 20-inch buzz saw blades are mounted on the underside of the beam to give a quick trim. A welded steel and plexiglass cage protects the tractor driver from falling limbs.

Carroll Chase, credited with suggesting the trimmer, says:

"With the trees headed back once and for all, we can keep them in control easily from now on, using the machine just like a mower to hold down the suckers that spring up in the next year."

Cut Flowers Will Last Longer if Given 'Bath'

A bouquet of flowers will last longer if the posies are dunked in warm water about 110 degrees for half an hour after being brought in from the garden.

Before the "bath" the flower stems should be cut off an inch at the bottom to get rid of bacteria that clogs the blooms' ability to absorb water.

Eight Waterfalls Beautify Michigan for Vacationers

(The following story, describing a little known aspect of Michigan's geography, was written for the Associated Press by Gilbert Goodwin of the Michigan State University geology department staff).

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan vacationers need not go to Niagara Falls to see one of nature's most breathtaking shows — there are eight waterfalls in Michigan's Alger County alone.

Though none of the Michigan falls nearly equals the tremendous water flow of the Niagara cataract, each provides a similar spectacle in a beautiful and sometimes rugged natural setting.

The Michigan falls plunge over escarpment walls as much as 100 feet high, and sightseers can take in many of them in a single visit since the falls are located short distances apart in the single county.

The Alger County waterfalls occur in streams emptying into Lake Superior basin. They owe their existence to the presence of a hard resistant cap rock, below which softer rock has been worn away by the rushing waters, according to Dr. William A. Kelly, geology professor at Michigan State University.

Such rock formations have created a series of waterfalls, steep-walled rock escarpemnts and shore cliffs in a narrow belt extending inland for some 8 to 10 miles from the Lake Superior shoreline.

5,000 YEARS OLD

The falls present a continuous spectacular show of nature, just as they have for perhaps 5,000 years.

Laughing White Fish River in western Alger County plunges over an escarpment to expose a sandstone cliff of 90 feet. The river has excavated a broad, picturesque amphitheater in the rock formation below the crest of the falls. Numerous caves have been water-carved.

Au Train falls descends in upper and lower cataracts, over a wide, step-like rock formation of about 100 feet in thickness.

Three of the waterfalls—Wagner, Tannery and Munising—are located in the easily reached Munising vicinity, served by two state highways.

Wagner falls plunges through a heavily-wooded area southwest of the city. Tannery waterfall, steep and graceful, has sculptured a steep amphitheater-like gorge for some distance below it. Nearby Munising Falls is another slender, graceful drop, resembling Tannery and its water-etched rocky caves.

Miner's falls, a short distance northeast of Munising, exposes a vertical gray rock section of about 100 feet. It is located just south of the imposing Pictured Rocks on the Lake Superior shoreline. These are bold mural cliffs with sheer walls of from 100 to 150 feet or more in height, and featuring colors of red, brown, yellow and green.

Chapel falls is located at the south end of Chapel Lake, where the creek breaks over the escarpment rim and plunges in a series of cascades into the lake.

Sable Creek, outlet of Grand Sable Lake just west of Grand Marais, plunges over a 75 foot rock escarpment before reaching Lake Superior. It has a series of cascades.

Prep Track Teams Meet at 16 Regional Sites

By BILL CORNWELL

High school track squads from all parts of Michigan will invade 16 lower peninsula centers and five upper peninsula sites Saturday for the annual MHSAA track and field meets.

Teams representing classes A, B, C and D will battle it out in the lower peninsula for the right to enter the state meet May 19 at Ann Arbor. Class B, C, D and E schools will compete above the straits.

Oakland County will have its share of representatives in action Saturday, with Pontiac High's powerhouse heading the long parade. The Chiefs, who go to Ypsilanti to defend their regional title, are heavy favorites to repeat as state Class A champions.

Unbeaten since mid-season 1954, which covers a period of 20 straight meets, the Chiefs will seek to repeat as champions in eight events.

* * *

Last spring Pontiac won the regionals by amassing a record 92 points.

Led by Hayes Jones in the high hurdles and broad jump, Bill Douglas in the 880 and Hudson Ray and Alex Barge in the high jump, all state champions of 1955, the Chiefs will have Perry Williams in the mile, Jimmy Shorter and Charley Robinson in the quarter-mile, Freeman Watkins, Charley Spann, Lon Humphrey, Dave Payne and Joe Hill in the sprints and Jimmy Taylor in the hurdles.

Waterford's capable team, coached by Al Cuthrell, will also journey to Ypsi for its Class A regional test. The only other Oakland County area school at Ypsi is South Lyon in a huge field of 24 Class C squads.

Cuthrell is hopeful of landing Gary Meeker into the finals in pole vault and possibly Stan Jones in the hurdles.

Birmingham's talented thinclads will be favored to win the Class A diadem at Van Dyke Fitzgerald. Other 'A' teams at Fitzgerald from this vicinity are Ferndale, Hazel Park, Berkley, Royal Oak and East Detroit.

The Maples will pin their hopes on hurdler Joe Kidwell and crack miler Doug Wuggazer, along with Bill McFarlen and Ron McCrumb, a pair of pole vaulters, to pick up major points.

Class B teams competing at Fitzgerald are Troy, Clawson, Roseville, Van Dyke Lincoln, Cranbrook and host Fitzgerald. Center Line and Warren of the Bi-County League will also run on the Spartan track.

Seven neighboring Class B schools will join eight other squads at Howell, with Wayne-Oakland League champion Milford favored to take the regional title. Clarkston, Brighton, Holly and Clarenceville of the W-O circuit will also go to Howell, along with Avondale of the Oakland B loop and Farmington from the Inter-Lakes Conference.

* * *

Milford will receive stiff opposition from East Lansing as well as Fenton, Charlotte, Durand, Eaton Rapids, Mason, Grand Ledge and host Howell.

Orchard Lake St. Mary's strong team rates the edge in Class C at the University of Detroit. The Eaglets will be bucking a contingent of 19 other teams in the Detroit regional.

Other area 'C' schools at U. of D. are West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Hills, Roseville Eastland, New Haven and Bob Mineweaser's St. Michael Shamrocks, who have yet to run a meet this season.

The Southfield Jays will also see action on the Titan cinders against nine opponents in the 'A' ranks.

A total of 48 schools will vie for regional honors in classes B, C and D at Flint Central, including a six-team delegation from the Oakland County area.

Lapeer is the lone Class B representative of the group. Entries in Class C are Almont, Armada and Ortonville. Dryden and Memphis are 'D' hopefuls.

Walled Lake from the Inter-Lakes circuit and Northville of the Wayne-Oakland loop will compete against nine others in the Class B regional meet at Ann Arbor.

From The PRESS BOX

The Pontiac High School track team yesterday went out to their muddy track as usual yesterday to prepare for the regionals at Ypsilanti yesterday, but the sessions were limited to calisthenics and short sprints when the Chiefs started sinking in the mud all over the field.

Jimmy Taylor went over the high jump bar and when he came down his leg sunk 15 inches into the mud.

At this point coach Wally Schloerke decided to forego workouts in the different events and stick to warming drills.

* * *

Those who drive to Michigan football games will find some of the traffic bottlenecks relieved next fall.

The Willow Run expressway will connect directly with Stadium Boulevard.

* * *

University of Michigan has contracted with Ann Arbor High School to handle 5,000 cars. Fritz Crisler, Wolverine Athletic Director, says there should be enough parking around the stadium, including parts of the UM golf course, to provide parking for crowds far over 100,000.

* * *

The St. Louis Cardinals boats the oldest living battery in the Major Leagues. Pitcher Ellis Kinder and catcher Walker total 83 years in age, Kinder is 42 and Cooper 41.

* * *

St. Fredrick High School will hold its annual athletic banquet at the St. Vincent DePaul Parish Hall Thursday May 24th. The Moms and Dads club is sponsoring the affair.

The POWERHOUSE By JIMMY POWERS

There is no city quite as beautiful as Washington in the spring. The cherry blossoms and azaelas spread a colorful carpet of color along the banks of the Potomac, and on the neatly groomed grounds of our Government buildings.

★ ★ ★ ★

A lone sentry from the 3rd Infantry Regiment stands guard over the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, day and night. Beautiful secretaries from every state in the Union hurry to work. Cocktail lounges are busy with reports of impending political changes. Amidst all this panoply of beauty and government, I came across a story of how the AAU juggled the registration of 26 boxers.

FARMED THEM OUT TO AAU DISTRICTS

Here's my beef: The AAU, of late, has been inflicting harsh and capricious sentences, life bans, probations, disqualifications. Many of the offenses are trivial. Many of the charges are ridiculously petty.

Bewildered athletes and promoters asked, in effect: "For years we did things this way — why the sudden hair-splitting and devastating string of penalties?"

The AAU defense was: "We have to draw the line somewhere. We go by the book. All regulations will be enforced impartially before things get out of hand, Olympics or no Olympics!

Well, that sounded reasonable. But then, it developed, the AAU, itself, staged a boxing championship in Boston. The Air Force sent 26 boxers. Now the rule book states each AAU district association is limited to 10 boxers each.

The Air Force was entitled to send its champions in a group, which it did. That is, all except Joe Hemphill, who was originally replaced by John Stewart, a seasoned performer. Stewart could not participate in the AF tournament because he was in the process of transfer.

Charley Swift, a civilian who runs the AF boxers, felt Stewart had a better chance to win in Boston than the champion. Hemphill was given to the South Texas Association, but was recalled to active duty for the Air Force when Stewart's entry was protested.

★ ★ ★ ★

What about the other 16 Air Force boxers?

Why, very conveniently, they were farmed out to various AAU districts, who either had not entered a team at all or who were short of the 10 men permitted.

You'll find their names scattered in this manner, with ersatz originating points, in the official program. Was this legal? Of course not. Why was it done?

Well, quite simply and understandably the Air Force wanted to have as many as possible of its boxers take a shot at winning individual titles. Titleholders automatically qualified for the final Olympic trial next fall.

Eventually, 34 boxers represented the AF in Boston and by this technical method of circumventing a 10-boxer limit, they literally stuffed the entry list. They walked off with five individual titles and the team championship.

I learned in Washington the Armed Services and the colleges are now joining forces against the AAU and will dictate the selection of Olympic coaches and managers. Colleges have six votes, Armed Forces four, AAU six.

Tiger Brass in Huddle About Cutting Roster

DETROIT (AP) — Bucky Harris came back to Detroit today for a head-on clash with "can't wait" problems that may decide the fate of the 1956 Detroit Tigers.

Harris must emerge from the showdown with the answers to all but one of the questions. Uncle Sam will provide the other.

Shortstop Harvey Kuenn was in Milwaukee today for his third physical examination before his draft board. The 25-year-old former bonus player has been twice rejected because of a knee injury.

Harris was due to huddle with other Tiger brass in a "personnel" meeting at Briggs Stadium today. Out of that confab will come decisions on four players who must be trimmed from the 29-man squad before midnight May 15.

The Tigers are carrying four catchers, five outfielders, eight infielders and a dozen pitchers. They must be down to the 25 player limit in four days. Whom the Tigers will cut is anybody's guess. It's no secret that Harris would like to work out a trade—but he admits quite frankly that trade prospects are dim.

It generally is believed that Harris would be willing to part with several veteran players, possibly including catcher Red Wilson, outfielder Jim Delsing, infielder Fred Hatfield and first baseman Jack Phillips. They have been used sparingly and have not impressed the Tiger manager.

The club is carrying three first basemen—Earl Torgeson, Wayne Belardi and Philips. But Belardi has possibilities as an outfielder and has been the club's best pinch hitter.

The club must cut at least one and possibly two pitchers. Left-hander Jim Brady is a bonus player and cannot be farmed out. So is outfielder Jim Small.

Some of the decisions may await the weekend's action against the Chicago White Sox starting tonight. Harris may want a final look at some of the "border line" players.

Frank Lary or Billy Hoeft will pitch the opener of the three game set at 8:15 p.m. (EST). Manager Marty Marion's choice for Chicago is Jack Harshman.

Lary had been anounced as the Tiger starter for this first home night game. But the selection became uncertain when Detroit's game in Washington was rained out yesterday. Hoeft had been due to start that one.

The rainout following two straight victories left the Tigers with a 4-6 mark for their first Eastern road trip.

Prep Golfers in Regional Tests

Pontiac's high school golf team left early this morning for Flint to take part in the State Class A Regional matches at the Kearsley course. Pontiac dropped its only match of the week, Tuesday, to Waterford, which also plays in the Flint test. St. Frederick is paying at Flint, in Class C.

Chiefs' starters today, according to Coach John Maturo, are Tom Cross, Dick Singleton, Sammy Coleman and Dick Whitmer. Nick Shorter is alternate.

Birmingham's star-studded team, headed by captain Tim Baldwin, will be a strong Class A threat at Flint. Other area "A" schools at Kearsley are Ferndale and Royal Oak.

Golfers from Avondale, Clarkston, Fitzgerald, Holly and Shrine will compete in Class B at Flint while Bloomfield Hills and Royal Oak St. Mary are "C" entries.

Southfield and Berkley will see Class A action at the Burroughs Golf Club in Brighton.

Maples, Skippers Down Loop Foes

A base on balls, a stolen base and two throwing errors handed Birmingham a 3-2 extra inning victory over Mount Clemens in an Eastern Michigan League baseball game Thursday at Birmingham.

The score was 2-2 when the Maples came to bat in the bottom of the 8th frame. Bill Deer opened the inning with a walk, stole 2nd and moved to 3rd on the catcher's wild throw. After John Fleser flied out, Jim Traa fanned and headed for 1st on the dropped 3rd strike. Deer scampered home with the winning run on a bad throw to 1st.

Mount Clemens scored once in the 5th stanza and once in the 6th to take a 2-0 lead. The Maples knotted the count in the 6th on a walk to pinch hitter Tom Kelly and singles by Fleser, Traa and Arnold Issetee.

Fred Bleakley, who relieved starter Larry Milford in the 7th, was the winning pitcher for Birmingham. Roy Simms worked five innings for the Bathers, then gave way to John Falkenhagen who was tagged with the loss. Each team garnered five hits.

Yesterday's win evened Birmingham's league record at 3-3. The Maples play an EML game at Hazel Park next Tuesday.

Oxford's tough luck team banged out nine hits, but blew a 5-0 advantage to drop a 7-6 decision to Millington in a South Central League contest at Oxford.

Pitcher Don Atwood coasted along in shutout fashion until the 5th inning when he lost control and walked in two runs. A single scored two more and before the storm had subsided the count was deadlocked at 5-all.

The Wildcats took a 6-5 edge with a run in the 5th, but Millington tallied once in the 6th and once in the 7th to wrap it up. Dave Sweeney collected three hits and drove in three runs for Oxford. It was the Wildcats' 6th setback in eight starts.

Waterford finally had its string of shutout innings snapped, but the Skippers still whipped Van Dyke, 8-1, in an Inter-Lakes Conference game yesterday at Waterford.

The Abes pushed across a lone run in the 6th stanza, which halted at 39 innings the streak of scoreless pitching by Waterford. Chuck Gillis hurled for the Skippers and allowed five hits while fanning 12 and walking one.

Dave Latta and Tom Bryce paced Waterford's 9-hit attack with two safeties apiece and Jerry Kruskie clouted a 1st inning home run. It was the 5th straight league triumph for the Skippers, who lead the Inter-Lakes circuit.

Unbeaten Imlay City posted its 10th straight win with a 3-2 decision in eight innings over Frankenmuth on the Imlay diamond. A hit batsman, a single by Jerry Watz and a wild pitch scored the winning run. Charles Berry pitched the route for the winners and limited Frankenmuth to three hits.

Youthful Angler Gets Last Laugh

DETROIT (INS) — Passers-by laughed at a small unidentified boy today as he fished in a flooded lot two blocks from the nearest stream in suburban Detroit.

Later, the boy was spotted smiling as he carried home a 14-inch pike.

Oscoda Area Reports Good Trout Fishing

Some good trout fishing has suddenly become a fact in the Oscoda-AuSable area, according to Dick Allen of the Oscoda-AuSable Chamber of Commerce.

Allen writes this department that while the smelt run is finally over, limit catches of browns and brookies are not too unusual in the upstate area. However, the steelhead trout situation continues at a very low point, Allen reports.

So far no perch runs have started from Lake Huron. But perch and walleyes are coming in from the AuSable backwaters above Foote, Cook and Five Channel dams.

Wolverines Close Drills With Annual Spring Game

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan football coach Bennie Osterbaan bows to necessity tomorrow for the second time this spring. It could pay off as well as any gamble he's made.

* * *

"We'll run Bob Ptacek at left halfback," Oosterbaan said. "He's a quarterback, sure, but we think he can do the job." He gets the last day of spring practice to prove it.

For the 200-pound Ptacek, it won't be too much of a departure. The left halfback job at Michigan requires passing ability. It will also give him an opportunity to use his speed and bulk to better advantage.

"A football player is a football player," Oosterbaan said. "Ptacek is a good athlete and could play either position. His passing has improved and he's fast too."

* * *

Admittedly the change may be only a spring trifle. Unlike the shift of Ron Kramer from end to right half, Ptacek's shift won't seem so important next fall.

Than Oosterbaan will have the services of last season's regular Terry Barr and irregular Jim Pace, both speedsters who lack throwing ability.

"Let's face it," Oosterbaan said. "We haven't got a (Chuck) Oortmann or a (Bob) Chappuis on the squad."

In spite of injuries, Oosterbaan will call on John Herrnstein, the Chillicothe, Ohio, freshman for first string fullback duties that will likely be his spot next fall.

Ron Kramer still has the right halfback job sewed up. Last season's quarterbacks Jim Maddock and Jim Van Pelt look like shoo-ins for the spring scrimmage tomorrow anyway.

The game-style, full dress scrimmage in Michigan stadium will wind up the four week spring practice.

Doubleheader at Bay City Ends Chiefs' Long Layoff

Season's longest idle period for Pontiac High School's baseball club comes to an end Saturday. The welcome return to action after a two week's layoff sends Coach Ed Heikkinen's nine to Bay City for a doubleheader.

Chiefs risk their unsullied Valley mark of two wins, in Saturday's twin bill, but are rated right along with the strong Wolves, who have lost one game (3-1). Pontiac won two from Arthur Hill. Other SVC club standings: Flint Central 4-2, Northern 2-2, Saginaw High 3-3 and Arthur Hill 0-6.

Heikkinen, who has been at home for the last three days with a touch of blood-poisoning in his right foot, will be back with the club today. A blister on his heel became infected. In his absence Arnie Wilson and Fred Zittel took over.

Jim Jones has the call for the first game, with Arnold Larson hurling the finale. Each has won a Valley game. Chiefs batting order will be unchanged from the last encounter.

Wolves were expected to start right hander Terry Ebright with lefty Danny Schermerhorn going in the 'cap.

Soph-Loaded Cornell Team Meets Favorite

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Cornell's sophomore-dominated track team, showing improvement with every meet, will be favored to win the team title in tomorrow's 22nd annual Heptagonal Games at the U. S. Military Academy.

Harvard won the indoor championship in March in the competition among the eight Ivy League schools plus Army and Navy. But since then, Cornell has come with a rush, listing among its accomplishments a romp in a triangular meet with Harvard and Penn last Saturday.

Normal Thinclads Outrun Chippewas

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—Michigan Normal defeated Central Michigan, 70-61, in a dual track meet in mud and cold weather yesterday. The two teams previously had met indoors, with Normal taking that one, too.

Both teams had a pair of double winners. Normal's Jim Allen won the discus and shot put, while Duane Root won the low hurdles and tied Central's Jim Podoley for first in the high hurdles.

Net Entries to Be Closed for Girls Tourney

Entries for the annual Michigan State Girls Open Tennis Championships for girls 15 to 18 years of age must be completed by Saturday, May 12, according to tournament manager Louella Houser of Kingswood School Cranbrook.

For girls under 15 the deadline is Saturday, May 19.

Matches will be played on the courts of Kingswood School from May 17 through 27.

Entries should be sent to Tournament Manager, Kingswood School Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills.

'Diving' Catch

Fish Caught, After a Swim

Three Oakland County men, one a 17-year-old, and the others a pair of Milford fishermen, yesterday took to the water to bag a couple nice pike.

Real battle was that at Cedar Island Lake where Del Tederow, 1286 Locustwood, Milford, and his companion, H. H. Stewart, Milford, hooked a 10¾-pounder on a 6-pound line from a spinning rig.

After a 10-minute scrap the fish was moved into shallow water. Then the line broke. Tedrow fell into the lake and the pike headed for freedom. But not for long. Tedrow took a flying dive, grabbed the pike by the gills and hung on.

"Boy, that water was sure cold," Tedrow reported.

Young Ken Backus, son of Elbert Backus, 677 Walton West, while washing his car, heard a splashing in Little Silver lake, on which the home is located. He saw a pike thrashing in the weeds, jumped in (had on boots), grabbed the fish, 21 inches long, and a 5-pounder.

Out of 500 Race

Adrian Driver Is Injured

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Marvin Pifer, a 28-year-old Korean War veteran from Adrian, Mich., won't drive, as he had hoped, in the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway race May 30.

* * * *

Pifer, who passed his driver's test only May 3, was seriously injured yesterday when his racer slammed into a wall in a practice spin.

Witnesses said the car skidded to the inside of the track while going an estimated 135 miles an hour around the northwest turn, did a half-spin, then crossed the track and smacked into the wall.

Part of Pifer's helmet was found stuck in the wall where the racer hit it. He was rushed to a hospital with a possible skull fracture. The car bounced along the wall 894 feet from the point where it went out of control.

* * *

The racer, owned by Karl Hall of Orleans, Ind., was damaged badly. Pifer was to have driven it in his first 500-mile race.

The Adrian man has a wife, Gloria, and a 2-year-old daughter.

DETROIT (INS) — Undefeated heavyweight Joe Gray, of Dearborn, takes on popular Henry Bronko, of Detroit, tomorrow night in the Motor City arena.

White Sox Win, 2-1

Tribe Rips Yankees

This was supposed to be Black Friday in the American League—the day seven clubs awoke to find themselves among the walking dead with the New York Yankees having copped the pennant at the earliest date yet.

That's the way the talk was going. Those Yanks had smacked the Boston Red Sox four out of five and spanked the Chicago White Sox two out of two, All they had to do was fast-shuffle the Injuns and Ol' Casey Stengel had the deck stacked again.

* * *

But Al Lopez and his Cleveland Indians put a stop to all that nonsense. The Yankees huffed and puffed and Cleveland clipped 'em two out of three. The tribe won the rubber game going away yesterday at Yankee Stadium 7-2 to climb past Boston into second place, two games behind New York.

Boston went down 2-1 to Chicago, which snapped a five-game losing streak.

Those were the only two games played in the majors. All the other scheduled contests were rained out.

* * *

Bob Lemon, who couldn't get the job done in six tries against the Yanks last season, went the route with ease yesterday on an eight-hitter. His only mistakes were home run balls to Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra. A lot of guys have made that mistake this season. It was Mantle's 11th, Berra's 10th.

While the 35-year-old righthander was getting his point across, the Indians were giving Maury McDermott a fit. The veteran southpaw, who beat Cleveland three times for Washington last season, was rapped for five of the Tribe's eight hits and four runs in five innings.

George Kell and Minnie Minoso homered to end the White Sox' slump, but it was the nifty relief job of Bob Keegan, who took over from Connie Johnson with one out and the bases loaded in the first inning, that clinched it.

HOSPITALIZED — Cleveland Outfielder Gene Woodling entered a New York hospital yesterday to receive treatment of what doctors described as a "mild case of diabetes."

Clarkston Beats Holly, St. Fred in Golf Meet

Clarkston High's golf team conquered Holly and St. Frederick in a triangular meet Thursday at Davisburg Golf Club. The Wolves' 4-man squad fired 180 to nose out runner-up Holly by one stroke. St. Fred shot a total of 184.

Ed Kast of St. Frederick was medalist with 40. Harms of Holly and Dubats of Clarkston each carded 42.

Marbles Meet Saturday

The championship finals of the 9th annual Marbles Tournament, sponsored by The Pontiac Press in cooperation with the Parks and Recreation Department, will be held Saturday morning at Wisner Field.

Mibs winners from 18 local centers will assemble on the infield diamond at 9 o'clock to determine Midget and Junior champions in the city-wide tourney.

Tomorrow's dinalists will gather from Jefferson, Whittier, Bagley, Whitfield, Crofoot, Webster, Bethune, Longfellow, McCarroll, Malkim, McConnell, Owen, Willis, Wisner, St. Frederick, Linda Vista, Hawthorne, and Pontiac State Hospital.

Manuel Ledesma from Crofoot was the 1955 Midget titlist while last year's Junior crown went to John Taylor of Eastern. The Midget division features play for boys and girls below 12 years of age; the Junior class is comprised of 12-14 year olds.

The Pontiac Press will award trophies to the winner and runner-up in each division.

GMC, RO Open State Circuit

A reputedly better Pontiac nine, representing General Motors, will tangle with a Royal Oak club next Tuesday in the opening test of the important Michigan State Class A Baseball Lague.

Manager Paul Parks of the GMC crew announced today that the southern Oakland club is the former Hodges-Dodges of Royal Oak, that won the loop title last year. The RO club is again rated highly as a title prospect.

Tuesday's game will be under the lights at Memorial Park, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

GMC will start either Herman Bishop or Dick Goldsworthy on the mound.

Pontiac and Royal Oak are in the Eastern division with Dearborn and Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Jackson, Battle Creek and Grand Rapids comprise the Western Division, Parks says.

Landy Puts OK on Coast Track

Mile Champ Features Big Sports Event at Fresno, Calif.

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — There are 61 events and 1,450 competitors for tomorrow's West Coast relays but the affable Australian school master John Landy and the mile run command the No. 1 spot.

The world record holder from Melbourne whose 3 minutes 38 seconds at Turku, Finland, is the fastest mile ever run will face four others including Ron Delany, the Irish lad from Villanova University, in a race starting at 9:10 p.m. (EST).

There is a possibility that the track would prove a little too hard for the milers although excellent for the sprinters.

Landy himself called the strip "a bit of all right."

Not all the stars are runners. Heading the field events are Fortune Gordien, world discus record holder at 194 feet 6 and the Rev. Franklin (Bud) Held, who holds the javelin mark at 268 feet 2½.

Woodling Ill, Left at Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Outfielder Gene Woodling remained at his home in nearby Fairlawn, N.J., last night when the Cleveland Indians left New York after their three-game set with the Yankees.

Woodling, suffering from recurring dizzy spells for some time, was expected to undergo a check-up to determine the extent of his illness. Indians' officials were as noncommital as the club left by plane for Cleveland as Woodling was reluctant to discuss the matter earlier in the day.

A former golf champion, Edgar Eisenhower told "Dad," "I'm still the best golfer in the family."

Leads St. Louis Open

Finsterwald Fires 7-Under Par

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dow Finsterwald, considered one of pro golfdom's up-and-coming stars, held a slim two-stroke lead today as a field of par-busting players moved into the second round of the $25,000 St. Louis Open.

The 26-year-old Bedford Heights, Ohio, pro smashed through Sunset Country Club's hilly, swind-swept course yesterday in 32-33—65, seven strokes under par.

• • •

This sub-par round over the relatively short 6,277-yard course did not phase Jack Burke Jr., Masters champion who missed practice sessions here because of a cold and hadn't toured the layout since the Western Open a decade ago.

• • •

Burke, from Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., came through with a 32-35—67 to pull within easy striking distance of the red-hot Finsterwald, who came out of the Air Force only 18 months ago.

• • •

Finsterwald, who won $5,400 in three weeks last may by taking the Fort Wayne open and placing second in the Colonial Invitational, turned pro in 1952 and is the ninth-ranking money winner this year.

He won $14,838 and was 16th in the play-for-pay ranks during the 1955 golfing season.

Razor sharp on the greens, he rammed home a 25 foot putt on No. 15 in the first round yesterday and also sank two 18-footers.

"That wind made this a pretty tricky little golf course," said Burke.

• • •

Just one stroke back of Burke stood George Bayer of Cincinnati, Ohio, the long-ball-hitting ex-football player from the University of Washington; Art Doering of Cedarhurst, N. Y., and Doug Higgins of Midland, Tex. All carded 68s.

Cub Roster Cut to 27; Ship Out Two Rookies

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs trimmed their roster to 27 players today by sending rookies John Briggs and Ed Winceniak to the minors on 24-hour option recall.

Briggs, a 22-year-old right-handed pitcher, was sent to Los Angeles. He had a 15-15 record last season with Sacramento.

Winceniak, 27, a shortstop, was sent to Havana of the International League. He batted .248 last season for Los Angeles.

No Gimmick!

Birdie's 4-Man Outfield Designed to Stifle Runs

CINCINNATI (AP)—That four-man outfield that Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs has used a few times isn't just a gimmick.

• • •

The idea is to cut off a possible double or triple in a spot where it might lead to a run that could mean a ball game.

• • •

Tebbetts used the four-man outfield Wednesday night against the New York Giants. He shifted second baseman Johnny Temple to right center with Willie Mays coming to bat with two out in the ninth and the Reds nursing a 6-5 lead.

As it turned out, Tebbetts didn't need any outfielders—Mays struck out.

• • •

But here is the way Tebbetts explains the move:

"We use this in certain spots against certain hitters to defend against the hitter getting a double or triple which might mean a tied score or a defeat for us."

• • •

He pointed out that even nine nine outfielders, wouldn't protect against a home run but that he would be willing to yield a single through the vacated infield position in order to keep a known hard hitter from getting into scoring position with a double or a triple.

There may be some psychology in Tebbetts' move too. Such a set-up might cause a hitter to try too hard for the homer.

• • •

Tebbets remarked that in Wednesday night's game the shift to four outfielders brought glares from Mays and the Redleg manager said, "He was determined to hit the ball out of the park but he didn't."

Notre Dame Ends Drills With Game

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Coach Terry Brennan, looking hard for youngsters capable of first-line duty, put four sophomores in Notre Dame's varsity lineup for tomorrow's annual spring football game with the old timers.

The old timers are graduated and about-to-be-graduated stars of past Irish seasons. Every year they suit up to give next season's Notre Dame team a test of big-time competition in a game ending spring training.

Included in the old timers lineup were eight players with the bloom of the 1955 season still on them, and thus considered in good enough condition to make the varsity strain.

BALTIMORE, May 11 (INS)—The arrival of Mrs. Helen Kellog's Cinderella colt, Come On Red, brings to five the number of Kentucky Derby runners at Pimlico for the $100,000 Preakness a week from Saturday.

Toledo Trotter Takes Feature

Rasmataz Pays Well in Opening Card at DRC on Thursday Night

DETROIT (AP) — The trotters and pacers finally got going over the Detroit Race Course last night, after their opening night program was rained out. Those among the 7,193 fans who turned out on a soggy night and picked Rasmataz in the featured Class BB trot were happy.

Rasmataz, a 6-year-old owned by Lloyd Cogley of Toledo, won by two lengths over Elby Hanover on the muddy oval and paid $18.80, $7.20 and $4. He was driven by Ralph Sugg, who also brought Paul Scott home first in the 2nd race.

Daily double bettors who coupled Iva Blackstone in the 1st race with Paul Scott were rewarded $70.80.

A total of $281,799 was bet on the nine-race program.

The harness sason was scheduled to have opened Wednesday night, but was washed out by a downpour which flooded much of Detroit and its suburbs.

Resort Asked for Holly Area

Elaborate Ski Development Is Proposed

Bloomfield Hills Man Outlines His Plans to State Commission

LANSING (AP) — The State Conservation Commission has been asked to approve a proposal for the establishment of an elaborate ski resort in the Holly Recreation Area of Oakland County.

Morton Graddis, Bloomfield Hills builder and promotor, outlined his plans at the informal meeting of the State Conservation Commission Thursday.

Graddis asked for a lease of 25 acres in the Holly Recreation Area to be developed as a ski resort.

The commission said it would take the proposal under consideration and would not make a decision until its regular meeting next month.

• • •

"We could have an outstanding ski resort offering low-cost recreation to the people of southeastern Michigan within 50 miles of the county-city building in Detroit," Graddis told the commission.

He said he planned to construct the most modern facilities and to install a snow-making machine to guarantee good skiing for at least three months during the winter.

"I'm not interested in money," Graddis told the commission. "It doesn't give me any satisfaction. I'm doing this more or less for the fun of it. I just like to see happy people having fun."

Commissioner Frank E. Burch of Detroit told the commission it should consider "taking another look" at the spring fishing season, particularly as it affects fishing for rainbow trout.

Burch said there are indications that rainbow trout are on the decline, mostly because of the inroads by sea lamprey. He suggested that perhaps the take and number of days allowed for fishing should be cut.

The commission was told that its institute of fisheries research plans a survey of commercial and sports fishing in the Saginaw Bay area this summer.

Two conservation department boats and one from the federql fish and wildlife service will patrol the area during the summer months to take water, bottom and fish samples.

Bahama Tackles Bronx Slugger

Colorful Bahaman to Face Smallwood in TV Fight Tonight

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Yama Bahama, a middleweight with a style as bizarre as his ring name, is the 3-1 favorite to beat Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood in a 10-round fight here tonight.

Bahama was expected to weigh in at about 152 and Smallwood at 158 for the bout in the War Memorial Auditorium. It will be broadcast and telecast nationally (NBC, 9 p.m., EST).

Yama, who hails from the Isle of Bimini in the Bahamas, has a spectacular left-hand combination. He hooks the left to the stomach, hooks it to the chin and follows with an uppercut to the chin in almost the same motion. The right hand is poised meanwhile for whatever can do the most harm.

• • •

Smallwood, of Brooklyn, is a slugger who uses both hands for the kill after stalking his opponent. He packs more power in the right.

Secrets of Better Golf

By PATTY BERG
21st of a Series

The foundation of good putting is the grip. While there are many variations of the putting grip among the professionals, they all agree that your grip should be comfortable at all times.

I use what is called the reverse overlapping grip. This is formed by placing the left hand on the shaft so the back of the hand is facing along th line to the hole. The left thumb is pointing down the shaft. By having the left hand somewhat under the shaft, you will be able to bring the clubface squarely back on the line to the hole.

The fingers of the right hand are then placed on the shaft with the index finger of the left hand overlapping the little finger of the right hand. The right hand holds the club more in the fingers with the thumb pointing down the shaft.

The index finger of the right hand takes a firm grip on the club. This finger is important to a good putting grip, for most of the feel of the putt exists between the index finger and the thumb of the right hand. Also, the index finger of the right hand controls how hard you hit the ball.

Your grip should be firm enough so you can swing the club like a pendulum. If you hold the club too tightly your stroke will become jerky. A loose grip will make it hard for you to judge the force to use in hitting the ball. A firm grip gives you a positive stroke.

Since there is very little action in putting, I feel the right hand controls the stroke more than the left. However, the importance of the left hand on the club is not to be neglected. Be sure both hands are firmly on the shaft.

Keep your arms and hands in close to your body so the club can be swung smoothly—straight back and straight through. I always try to keep my right elbow against my right hip and perform the stroke with my hands and wrists.

COMFORTABLE GRIP IS ESSENTIAL IN PUTTING

I use the reverse overlapping grip in putting. All the fingers of the right hand are placed on the shaft with the index finger of the left hand overlapping the little finger of the right hand.

Commission Regains Deer Herd Control

LANSING (AP) — The State Conservation Commission has rewon the right to control the size of Michigan's deer herd by setting special hunting season.

On the eve of its final adjournment, the legislature sent Gov. Williams a bill giving the commission discretinary authority over the deer herd throughout the state.

Previously, the commission had the power to set special seasons in the southern part of the lower peninsula and certain fruit-producing counties in the Traverse City area.

It had authority to set special season throughout the lower peninsula between 1952 and 1954. The legislature refused to renew the authority in the 1955 session.

* * *

The issue had provoked a sharp running fight between sportsmen groups, the commission and legislators.

Under the bill sent to the governor, the commission has the power to open certain areas in the state to hunting of deer of either sex and any age by a limited number of hunters.

The commission says the authority will be used only in areas where deer are threatened by starvation.

The measure gives the joint interim legislative committee on administrative rules power to pass on the special seasons.

But Sen. Harry F. Hittle (R-Lansing) said the provision is "totally ineffectual" because of a supreme court decision.

The wrangle over the bill dragged on through most of the session. The scene of action shifting from one house to another.

Defeated in one form in the house, the senate grafted it onto a house-approved bill opening the season on black squirrels.

When it returned to the house, the lower chamber slapped on the admendment giving the legislative committee a veto power over the special seasons.

It also amended the measure to provide for opening the regular season on the Saturday closest to Nov. 15.

Unable to agree on the measure, the bill was tossed into a house-senate conference committee. The committee threw out the Saturday opening but kept the legislative veto.

Try Again Sunday

Kiwanis Reschedule Race

"If at first you don't succeed—try, try again."

* * *

This weary old proverb very properly applies to the Kiwanis Club of West Pontiac, which will once more attempt to hold its benefit auto racing program Sunday at the Pontiac M59 Speedway.

The Kiwanis show was originally scheduled last Sunday but heavy rains forced postponement with less than half of the 10-event card completed.

Another 10-event program is planned this Sunday in addition to the special race featuring Kiwanis drivers. All proceeds will go to the Kiwanians' Youth Activities for the benefit of underprivileged children.

The trials begin at 1:30 p.m., with the 1st race at 3 o'clock.

Bob Considine Says:

Americans Become the World's Guardians

ABOARD MOUNT McKINLEY, ATOMIC PROVING GROUND (INS)—At Kwajalein the other day, while waiting for a plane that would carry us into the atomic proving ground, a big Connie pulled up to the ramp in front of the neat terminal, opened its doors and and in poured 80 Americans who had been waiting patiently for several hours.

* * *

It was a semi-poignant scene, somehow. About a third of the passengers were children, including some in arms. An Air Force sergeant put a protective arm around his little daughter with the cute horse-tail hairdo. The mother shepherded two fine little sons up the stairway.

They were off, as were the others, to some new assignment on some new island across the world from the little town the mother and father had known. The kids would go to school there and remember a jungle as others their ages remember Main street.

What an incredible change has overcome us in 15 fleeting years! It seems a thousand years ago that Selective Service squeezed through Congress by the margin of a single vote, yet it was just before Pearl Harbor was attacked.

* * *

It seems an equally long time ago that there was serious debate among serious people that the U.S. could remain neutral, isolationist, indifferent. "A pox on both their houses . . ."

IN EVERY CORNER

Now there is hardly a place on the face of the earth that is not marked by an American family, an American structure, an American grave.

* * *

In a split moment of time, as time is measured historically, we have taken over (from the British) the so-called "white man's burden." And you can still hear their sigh of relief. With hardly a colonial-minded drop of blood in our veins we have become colonizers without compare.

People who once complained bitterly if the hot water wasn't just right at the Ritz in Paris now have proconsuls where plumbing is as unknown as tomato aspic and the language we speak as eccentric as Urdu.

We build airfields, teach school, show people what end of a hoe to use, and jab wonder drugs in arms of assorted colors in places that weren't in our best atlases a few short years ago.

* * *

These atomic tests have caused us to fan out additionally. A young lieutenant colonel named Richardson, not too long out of the University of Tennessee, was telling us at breakfast that he had some dealings recently with a monarch so absolute that his subjects, when given an errand to attend to do, crawled away backwards on all fours so as not to turn their back on him or presume to stand on two feet as did he.

WEATHER STATION

"The King of Kaping Marangi," Richardson recalled. "It's a little place about 1500 miles southwest of Eniwetok. We put an automatic weather station down there a few weeks back, for these tests.

* * *

"It was an odd feeling going in there. We were the first white people they had seen in years. They came out to our amphibian in a big outrigger with sail. I put two little parties into rubber boats and started them for the beach.

"You could see that outrigger didn't know which to follow, the rubber boats or our plane that was taxiing around slowly. Finally they chose us, and arrangements were made for us to be taken to the King.

"Quite a fellow. Beat-up old aloha shirt and khaki pants. But he sure was boss. He couldn't read a word of the agreement. He'd throw a page on the floor of the elevated hut that was his conference room, bark for one of his subjects, and order them to crawl away with it—for filing, I guess.

* * *

"But finally he said okay, put in the station. The clincher was that we promised him he could store copra in one of the electronic shacks."

Talmadge as Senator Can Hamstring Legislation Aimed at Race Integration

ATLANTA (AP) — Herman Talmadge, former governor of Georgia and now candidate for Sen. George's seat in the U. S. Senate, is probably best known across the nation as an advocate of "white supremacy."

* * *

Talmadge says flatly that Negroes and whites will never go to the same schools in Georgia as long as he has anything to say about it.

Now, at 42, Talmadge feels that if elected to the Senate he will be in a position to fight more effectively on the national level what he considers encroachments of states rights.

His stubborness in a fight and his devotion to "white supremacy" both were inherited from his father, the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge, as was his fondness for red suspenders while campaigning among the "wool hat" rural regions of the state.

Talmadge has proved as unyielding as his father on the question of racial segregation but unlike his father will not cling to a hopelessly untenable position, especially where he has lost public support.

In public life Talmadge can speak equally well in the dignified tones of a governor or in the rustic vernacular of his "wool hat" followers on the farms.

LITTLE MAN CHAMPION

He calls himself a champion of the little man in the belief that "the big folks can look after themselves" and says he has 10,000 friends in the state known to him by name.

Some of his detractors have called him a "demogogue." Claims were made while he was governor that he was trying to set up a "dictatorship" and a political dynasty in Georgia along the lines of the late Huey Long's regime in Louisiana.

Talmadge was born Aug. 9, 1913, at McRae, Ga., and attended public school in Telfair County until his father's home burned in 1930. Then the family moved to Atlanta.

After graduating from the University of Georgia he began law practice with his father in Atlanta and got his first taste of politics.

During World War II Talmadge served in the Navy in the Pacific and was discharged in 1945 with the rank of lieutenant commander.

Talmadge operates a dairy and raises beef cattle and Mrs. Talmadge runs a ham curing plant.

TOOK DAD'S PLACE

But even the joys of rural life could not keep Talmadge away from politics for long. In 1946 he again managed his father's campaign and his father won a fourth term but died 23 days before the inaugural.

The Legislature elected young Talmadge to take his father's place. However, Talmadge was finally thrown out by a State Supreme Court decision and Lt. Gov. M. E. Thompson was installed as acting governor.

* * *

In 1948, Talmadge was elected to serve his father's unexpired term, defeating Thompson. While the state constitution limits a governor to a single four-year term, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook ruled that Talmadge was eligible for re-election, and he won a full term in 1950, again defeating Thompson.

Detroit Art Institute Given Old Tapestries

DETROIT (INS) — Mrs. William Randolph Hearst has presented four world-famous tapestries to the Detroit Institute of Arts.

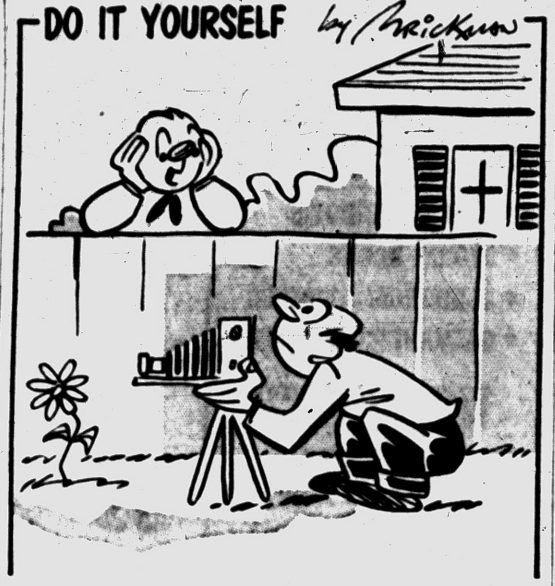

Valued at $500,000, the tapestries were among the greatest treasures in the art collection of her late publisher-husband. They were woven about the time Columbus discovered America.

The tapestries will be displayed along with other gifts from the Hearst family including 10 suits of armor, ancient swords, wheellock pistols and other choice examples of expert armorers of centuries ago.

The armor and firearms were given a nominal value of $250,000 at the time they were donated to the institute in 1953, although single suits of armor have been sold for as much as $150,000.

Mrs. Hearst was accompanied to the motor city by John R. Hearst, one of her five sons.

Strong Demand Bolsters Wheat

CHICAGO (AP) — A lower than expected government estimate on winter wheat created a strong demand for the bread grain on the Board of Trade today, pushing prices up for gains which extended to more than five cents at one time.

* * *

Old crop soybeans also were sharply higher in early dealings, reflecting a good demand for cash soybeans and a firming soybean oil market. Feed grains tilted upward but their gains were limited to fractions. Some of the sharpest advances were reduced as trading processed.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1 to 2¾ higher, May $2.30¼; corn unchanged to ⅜ higher, May $1.49; oats unchanged to ¼ higher, May 66; rye ⅜ to 1 cent higher, May $1.26½; soybeans ½ to 5¼ higher, May $3.17, and lard 10 to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.90.

GE President to Head GI Pay Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson appointed Ralph J. Cordiner, president of the General Electric Co., as chairman of a special committee to study the possibility of higher pay for technical skills in the armed services.

The Defense Department recently informed Congress that it is having difficulty—particularly in the Air Force—in keeping young officers and enlisted men after they had attained high technical abilities because private industry will pay them ore.

Other members of the advisory committee include Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University.

Jury Finds Him Guilty at His Second Trial

A Circuit Court jury yesterday found Walter Oakley, 360 N. Perry St., guilty of second-offense drunk driving at his second trial on the charge.

An earlier jury was dismissed March 7 when jurors were unable to agree on a verdict.

Oakley was charged with driving on North Perry Street under the influence of liquor Nov. 2, 1955. He is free on $100 bond pending sentence by Judge Frank L. Doty May 28.

Market Shows Moderate Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined moderately today with trading less active than yesterday when the market fell sharply.

Signs of recovery throughout the list persisted in the early afternoon with prices spread over a range of around 3 points lower to 2 points higher.

Trading hit a pace around 2,850,000 shares for the day as compared with 2,850,000 shares changing hands yesterday.

* * *

The steels, motors and oils were mixed, coppers were higher, and railroads were slightly lower. The aircrafts and chemicals were down.

Yesterday's market dropped off after General Motors announced a plan for cutting production, something the entire motor industry has been facing in recent weeks.

* * *

GM closed off ½ at 43¾ as the day's third most active stock, and today it opened on a huge block of 19,000 shares at 43¼ and then continued trading actively at 43⅛ with blocks of 1,000 to 4,000 shares changing hands.

Chrysler was down a little, but Studebaker-Packard held steady, and Ford advanced, a reflection of a new Ford plan to invest in guided missile development.

* * *

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 50 cents at 187.40. Yesterday the average lost $2.50 on the day, the greatest drop in a month.

Work Resumes Today at Ford Rouge Plant

DETROIT (AP) — Assembly line production resumed today at the Ford Motor Co.'s Rouge plant. Work had been interrupted yesterday and earlier this week in an alleged shoving incident involving a foreman and a production worker.

The workers, members of the United Auto Workers Union, demanded the company discipline the foreman.

The company said no action had been taken.

A UAW spokesman said he did not know "at this time" what action would be taken by the union.

Tito to Follow Neutral Course

Yugoslav Leader Says Independent View Best for Keeping Friends

PARIS (AP)—President Tito says Yugoslavia's independent course has provided a useful link in encouraging East-West understanding and his government will continue to serve in that role.

• • •

Speaking at a Foreign Ministry dinner, the Yugoslav leader again emphasized that his Communist country will be friends with both the Communist bloc and the Western nations. He said Yugoslavia stands for constructive collaboration with all nations.

• • •

The Yugoslav chief of state is nearing the end of a six-day state visit to France.

"Should we gain new friends in the East," Tito declared, "this will by no means signify that we want to disown the friends that we have in the West."

• • •

"We desire to persevere in our independent policy," he continued, "and we are profoundly convinced that such a policy has been useful and remains so, for the West as well as for the East, in encouraging the cause of their rapprochement."

Funds Will Be Sought by Safety Commission

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — The Calhoun County Safety Commission today announced plans for a June fund-raising drive.

The money will be used to hire a full-time county safety director.

The commission also said the Sheriff's Department, along with State Police and local departments, has mapped out a coordinated highway patrol plan in an effort to cut traffic accidents on Memorial Day.

ABC TV, Radio to Carry Adlai, Kefauver Debate

NEW YORK (AP)—The May 21 Miami debate between Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver will be carried live on ABC radio and television, the network says.

The time will be 10 to 11 p.m. EDT.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Bipartisan Fund Catching On in Minnesota

ALEXANDRIA, Minn. (AP) — An elderly Norwegian woman who contributed $1 to a bipartisan political fund drive last night said she wanted 50 cents to go to the Republicans and 50 cents to the Democrats "because they're both good people."

• • •

Her remark set the tone for an experiment in party fund raising that brought a total of $715.95 into a common campaign pot as 34 volunteer teams canvassed homes during a two-hour rainstorm.

• • •

John Obert, who heads the project, said 86 per cent of the 435 households contacted contributed to the fund. Obert is the editor of the weekly Park Region Echo.

Money raised will be split between Republican and Democratic-Farmer-Labor party organizations, both of which backed the plan.

RESPONSE GOOD

Keith Wallace, Republican member of the steering committee, said he was "pleasantly surprised." He said, "I thought that if we got response from half the people contacted, we'd be doing good."

• • •

Ten contributors handed workers sealed envelopes marked for one party or the other. These were to be opened today.

Tams of fund collectors will continue their work tonight, and tomorrow night in this city of 5,300.

Joe Tomlinson, Douglas County (Alexandria) DFL chairman, said "I'm sure we are getting money from people who never contributed to party campaigns before. The idea is an asset to both parties."

• • •

Obert said the amount of money collected was secondary. Prime purpose of the drive was to determine "the extent to which the public is willing to participate in a campaign like this. If it goes over here, it might mean the start of a nationwide project along these lines."

Funds, all to be expended in the county, will be distributed to political parties on the basis of the party vote cast for president in 1952 and for governor in 1954.

Other Networks After His Scalp

Bandleader Attributes Success to Loyalty of His Coddled Fans

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A soft-spoken accordion player from Strasburg, N.D., is the new giant - killer of television.

• • •

When Lawrence Welk and his band went on TV, not many expected him to do very well. There were three strikes again him:

1. He was up against stiff competition in the prized Saturday night time.

2. He was on ABC, not noted for high ratings except for Disneyland.

3. Bands have never clicked on TV.

HEALTHY RATINGS

But Welk baffled all the doubters. He amassed healthy ratings, even whipping some spectaculars that were pitted against him. Now both NBC and CBS are replacing the shows opposite him, including Jimmy Durante, Janis Paige and Herb Shriner.

Welk attributes his success to the loyalty of his fans. This loyalty is no accident. It is the result of his catering to the likes of sweet band devotees. Furthermore, he coddles the fans like no one else in the band business.

• • •

"Most leaders like to take a 15-minute break between sets," he says. "I don't. I always stay on the bandstand and talk with the people. Of the 2,000 people who come to see you, usually 1,000 want to talk to you. They want to say how their two-year-old pronounces 'Lawrence Welk,' how she can dance like the champagne woman and so forth."

Welk is no stay-at-home bandman. He often embarks on one-night tours through various parts of the country, making friends as he goes. He's also on radio five times weekly and has a strenuous recording schedule.

• • •

It's apparent that the other networks are bringing up their big guns to blast away at the Welk ratings. NBC is moving Sid Caesar back to Saturday night to oppose him. But the bland bandman isn't worried.

• • •

"I don't think he'll give us much trouble," he commented. "If he does, we'll just have to give away some more cars."

People Borrow More, Save Less

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—So many people want to borrow that banks are having trouble finding the money to lend. A drive is on to induce Americans to spend less and save more.

* * *

If they save more, the banks will have the money to lend to business to expand, to people to build homes, to governments to build schools and roads. Inducements run all the way from appeals for greater thrift to the raising of interest payments to those who save.

Telling Americans what they ought to do with their money doesn't necessarily work—in the past they've usually changed their spending or saving habits of their own free will and in their own good time. But W. Randolph Burgess, under secretary of the Treasury, is trying. He says, "I think in the long run this country would make faster progress if we saved a little more and spent a little less."

MUST SAVE FIRST

His point: We must save first to build up productive capacity; otherwise, we'll try to expand too fast and just bid up prices on the material and labor we have, and thus pull the dollar's buying power another notch or two lower.

Boosting interest rates to savers, may work more effectively. It costs more now to borrow. It pays a little more now to save. Bankers say, however, that this trend hasn't changed things much yet. The demand for loans seems as high as ever, and the volume of savings so far this year is below that of a year ago.

People are still saving. And the total volume of saving continues to rise. But the percentage of personal incomes after taxes that are going into the various forms of saving is smaller now than a year ago.

One reason may be that since people piled up such a large debt last year, they are mainly occupied right now in making the regular payments needed to reduce it. The slower rate of savings is one reason—and probably just as effective a one as any taken by the money managers—that money is tight now and interest rates rising.

The treasury official would like to see savings increase so that the nation's economic expansion won't come at the cost of inflation. Or, as one banker here puts it, people should be induced "to rely more on their own money and less on the other fellow's."

Panty Raid Leads to Near Riot at Dixie College

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana State University, which had not decided on disciplinary action for participants of one panty raid, today had another near-riot to consider.

* * *

An estimated 700 men students headed for the women's dormitories last night with plans for a panty raid. Many were dissatisfied with the way Wednesday night's unsuccessful raid was broken up by police, who were forced to use tear gas. That raid also resulted in 42 arrests, 20 of them high school students. LSU took no immediate action on its students.

Police used tear gas again last night to disperse the students who shot blank cartridges, hurled clods of dirt, bricks, iron pipe and rotten eggs, broke windows and exploded firecrackers.

Three were arrested. No injuries were reported.

* * *

The outnumbered campus police force was augmented by state troopers, city police and sheriff's officers. The fire department also was called out but it refused to turn water on the students. Fire Chief Robert Bogan said he feared the students would cut the hoses.

Warnings blared out over loudspeakers that the campus would be placed under martial law if the students refused to behave.
