Ike to 'Answer Sputnik' Tomorrow

105 U.S. Teams Alert for Sight of Sputnik II

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Moonwatch teams scanned the skies today in hopes of spotting Russia's second Sputnik. Meanwhile, a Senate group sought to spur U.S. efforts to catch up with the Soviets in the satellite-missiles fields.

Officials alerted 105 Moonwatch teams to turn out during daybreak hours when Sputnik II is expected to make three passes over the United States — one just off the East Coast, a second in the Midwest and a third in the Far West.

Three more early morning passes are due tomorrow.

There was a report from Tokyo that Sputnik II is being preceded in its orbit by another object, so far unidentified.

Russia has launched two space satellites. The most recent, fired aloft last Sunday, weighs more than half a ton and carries a small female dog—the world's first space traveler.

From Britain and France came varying estimates of the cost to Russia of firing its satellites. The science editor of the London Star estimated it cost the Russians about 840 million dollars to send out Sputnik II.

A French government official said usually reliable sources in Moscow pegged the cost of Sputnik I at more than one billion dollars, and nearly two billions for Sputnik II.

Manhunt Seeks Slayer of Two

North Carolina Blocks Major Roads to Trap Killer of State Troopers

ELLERBE, N.C. (AP)—About 300 state highway patrol cars prowled the roads of central North Carolina today seeking a driver who shot and killed two state troopers at separate locations.

Barricades blocked major highway intersections.

The manhunt began about 8 o'clock last night when the driver of a 1957 automobile bearing Pennsylvania license plates walked from his car to a patrolman who stopped him for speeding, whipped out a pistol and shot the officer dead.

TROOPER 10 YEARS

The victim was Pfc. Wister Lee Reece, 39, of Ramseur, N.C., a 10-year veteran trooper. The shooting took place at a speed checkpoint on U.S. 220.

A Negro passenger in the Pennsylvania car fled when he saw the driver slip a pistol from the glove compartment and walk toward Reece. The passenger, Robert Perry Jr., 30, of Norman, N.C., was held on an open charge in a Rockingham jail, 10 miles south of here. He told police he was a hitchhiker.

AN HOUR LATER

An hour later near Sanford, about 50 miles away, Pfc. J. T. Brown radioed that he was stopping the car on U.S. 1. Another patrolman, R. L. Gates, was ahead of the fleeing vehicle.

Shortly thereafter, Brown sent a message that he had been shot. Gates left his post and drove to assist Brown. Gates said he saw the car pass him as he drove toward Brown.

Gates found Brown lying partially in his patrol car. Brown died about 10:30 p.m. on an operating room table in a Sanford hospital.

Perry, who said he caught a ride with the driver at Asheboro, 45 miles north of the Ellerbe checkpoint, told police the driver said he was from Brooklyn, N.Y., and was on his way to Florida.

Truck Dumps Cargo Too Soon

FLAMING ROADBLOCK — Motorists on a main north-south Portland, Ore. street had to find an alternate route yesterday as this gasoline tank truck set up a fiery traffic barricade after overturning at an underpass. The truck's driver raced away seconds before it burst into flames. He escaped with minor injuries. No one else was injured. It took firemen several hours to extinguish the blaze.

May Tell U.S. Dramatic News of Space Gains

To Give Speech Early as Result of Russia's Second Moon

WASHINGTON (INS) — Americans and people throughout the free world speculated today that President Eisenhower will reveal dramatic U.S. achievements when he "answers the Sputnik" in a national TV-radio address tomorrow.

The chief executive, in a surprise move last night, canceled his news conference scheduled for today and announced he would make "an address of major importance" at 8 p.m. (EST) Thursday on the subject of "Science and Security."

The speech, originally planned for Nov. 13 at Oklahoma City as the first of an announced series of "chins up" talks by Eisenhower, was moved up a week after three major developments. They were:

—The President held a special meeting with his Cabinet. They hold another session Friday.

—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) announced that the preparedness subcommittee he heads will conduct a "searching inquiry" into the reasons for Russia's lead in missile and satellite developments.

—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles admitted the U. S. is behind Russia in the missile field and may never again regain a substantial margin of superiority.

CZAR SUGGESTED

There was also increased congressional pressure for naming a "czar" to push America's missile and satellite programs. Gen. Alfred Gruenther, former NATO commander, was widely mentioned for the job.

The Mutual Broadcasting System reported it was told by a leading scientist that the U.S. had moved up the launching date of its earth satellite from December to

Public Airs Ideas on Curfew Plan

Youth had its say before the City Commission last night on a proposed curfew for the city.

"If you pass this law, 97 per cent of the children who are absolutely innocent will suffer so only 3 per cent will be protected from themselves," Clark Davis, 15, of 26 Rose Ct. told commissioners.

Basically, the proposed law would set a 10 p.m. curfew for all youngsters under 16 and an 11 p.m. deadline for all 16 to 17 years old. These times would be extended to midnight for both groups on Friday and Saturday nights.

Donald Spurlock said passage of the law would be a violation of American rights.

These were among the many comments which followed the introduction of a new curfew law by Donnie Smith Jr., chairman of a Pontiac Council of PTA curfew committee.

"Perhaps this will cut down on the crime rate in the city," Smith explained to the commission.

'DELINQUENCY NO WORSE'

But Capt. Walter C. Krause, a veteran of 20 years in juvenile work for the Pontiac Police Department, said juvenile delinquency isn't any worse today than it was years ago.

He warned that installing such a curfew should not result just because some children were reported to have stayed out until 5 a.m. because of a midnight movie.

Krause, several commissioners and citizens in the commission chambers all seemed to be reminding themselves that parents were to blame for most juvenile problems.

"The big responsibility rests on the parents," declared Mayor Pro Tem John A. Dugan. "We just can't go around adopting ordinances to correct everything."

TO STUDY PLAN

Commissioners decided to study the proposal along with a report from City Attorney William A. Ewart and the police department as to how such laws have worked in other cities.

Ewart said a 1915 law is still on the books which orders children under 16 to be off the streets by 8 p.m.

The handful of youngsters at last night's session didn't hide their feelings that this law, even though it lacks enforcement, curtails their evening fun.

Smith said his committee of 13 people had acted for a curfew when it was learned that many Pontiac students had attended a midnight movie recently, and didn't arrive home until 5 a.m. He added that police also averted a teenage gang fight scheduled for the same night.

Parents had their say also. Samuel J. Whiters, 453 Harvey Ave., the father of nine, said, "This teaching should start at home."

L. D. McLauchlin, of 715 Melrose Ave., defended the proposed curfew. "It will protect those children whose parents aren't protecting them."

He said those students who have correct supervision at home, and know the proper hour to be home, would not be hurt by the law because they are accustomed to keeping these hours to begin with.

City Youngsters Will Judge Traffic Violations

Exchange Club to Sponsor Teen Court

After witnessing a session of a teenage traffic court yesterday, officials of the Pontiac Exchange Club decided to finance the operation of one in Pontiac.

Feeling teen jurors will benefit as much as the teen traffic violators by judging their own peers and realizing the seriousness of traffic problems, Douglas Booth, president of the Exchange Club, announced yesterday his organization will sponsor a teenage traffic court, plus a correctional clinic.

Booth said he and five other members were sold on the purpose of such a court after visiting a "not open to the public" session of the Genesee County Teen Traffic Court in Flint yesterday.

Booth added that the group would consider sponsoring a teen court which would allow high school students throughout northern Oakland County to participate. He added this would be possible only through the permission and guidance of Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

The teen court in Flint has operated for more than two years and a similar court was established in Birmingham last month. Both of these courts are sponsored by the local Exchange Clubs.

Last week Judge Moore gave Pontiac High School Student Council members his support and permission to establish a teen traffic court under his direction with the cooperation of Pontiac Police and the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Traffic and Safety Committee.

Following the announcement of the Exchange Club interest in the court, George Stewart, PHS driver training instructor who is promoting the organization of a local court, said today the Student Council will meet tomorrow to select a committee of students to make definite plans for the court, its procedure and rules.

If carried on as suggested last week by Moore, the court will be given authority to hear traffic cases occurring in Pontiac and involving teenage drivers.

The judge or clerk and jury composed of 20 high school seniors will rotate to allow as many seniors as possible to participate. At first, they will convene monthly. The Flint court now meets twice a week and hears approximately 80 cases per month.

Youths under 17 years of age who receive tickets for moving traffic violations may request to be heard by the teen court instead of the county juvenile court. They must have written permission from their parents. They may appeal the jury's decision.

SAME PENALTIES

The teens will be allowed to give the same dispositions as the juvenile court, although decisions ordering written traffic safety essays are common in these courts.

This way, the court is educational twofold. The defendants learn traffic laws by writing about them and the jurors learn them through discussions with and comments from the court referee, an authorized adult, usually a police officer, who attends all court sessions as a legal adviser to the jury.

Booth said the club will also finance the organization of a correctional clinic for teens. This traffic education class, probably to be held once a week, will be attended by teen traffic violators who will be ordered by the court to attend a certain number of lectures on traffic safety.

"We certainly appreciate the opportunity to be able to sponsor such a valuable teen educational program. As soon as the students set up their court and have Judge Moore's approval, we will be ready to assist them," Booth said.

Rednik Versik Slaps at Yankee Moon Reversick

TORONTO (AP) — Fred Zaplitny, a member of Parliament from Dauphlin, resorted to verse to mark Russia's achievement in dispatching a second satellite into the sky.

It reads:

You Yankees with your rock and roll
Are living in a rutnick.
We may not have a Gallup poll
But, comrades, we have Muttnick.

You think our homes are thatched witt straw,
Our roads are like a bognick.
We beat you Yankees to the draw,
We're putting on the dognick.

You think the way Nikita raves
He's crazy as a loonick.
But while you talk of smoother shaves,
We'll beat you to the moonick.

And when we get up to the moon,
Before you're out of bednick,
We'll make you sing a different tune,
We'll paint the damn thing rednick.

Anti-Hoffa Men Seeking Way to Stay In AFL-CIO

NEW YORK (AP)—A group fighting to throw out the election of James R. Hoffa as president of the giant Teamsters Union today was reported planning an appeal that the union be kept in the AFL-CIO as they wage their battle.

The Wall Street Jourial said the appeal would be made in Washington this week to AFL-CIO President George Meany.

It also said the anti-Hoffa forces were seeking to raise a $200,000 fund to finance their campaign.

The Hoffa opposition is spearheaded by 13 New York Teamsters members who initiated a federal court action in Washington to nullify Hoffa's recent election at a union convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

They charged that Hoffa's election was rigged. The court has barred Hoffa from taking office pending trial of the case.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council suspended the Teamsters Union and said it would recommend that the AFL-CIO convention in December expel the union unless it ousts Hoffa and other officials.

The Wall Street Journal said the Anti-Hoffa forces aim now is to induce the AFL-CIO to make the Teamsters Union expulsion contingent on the outcome of the Washington court action, so that the union would not be tossed out unless Hoffa wins.

The anti-Hoffa group was said to fear that if the Teamsters are unconditionally expelled and the AFL-CIO sets up a new union, those opposing Hoffa would merely join the new union and thus end any chance of a cleanup in the present organization.

Mackie to Unveil Plans for Detroit

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie will announce his five-year highway plan for Detroit tomorrow, without having met first with Oakland County representatives bidding for inclusion of a north-south expressway past Pontiac in the plan.

The Board of Supervisors a week ago asked its Roads and Bridges Committee to meet with Mackie immediately, before the Detroit plan was publicly announced.

CHANGE MIND

It was hoped that Mackie, who has said the highway will be considered only in his second five-year highway plan for Michigan, might change his mind as a result of the meeting and schedule the highway sooner.

A committee member, John L. Carey, said today that the meeting with Mackie had not taken place, but hoped it would soon.

Carey, Springfield Township supervisor, said, "We didn't want to rush into this too fast."

NOT AVAILABLE

The committee chairman, Don R. MacDonald, of Sylvan Lake, was not available for comment.

Supervisor Roy F. Goodspeed, of Royal Oak, said that he was disappointed. Goodspeed, a member of the Oakland County Planning Commission who had proposed the meeting with Mackie to the Board of Supervisors last Wednesday, said it had been hoped that the Oakland County road could be tied

City Businessman Says Ex-Shefferman Aide Was Labor Consultant

Payments by two Pontiac stores to George Kamenow — Detroit labor consultant who took the Fifth Amendment 76 times before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington yesterday — were described as a "retainer fee" by one local businessman and a Chrismas gift by the other today.

Sam L. Stolorow, owner of a series of parking lots in the city, said payments of $503 were services rendered by Labor Relations Associates of Chicago to his corporation.

"We give Christmas gifts to all the service people," said James K. Rosenthal, secretary-treasurer of Arthur's Women Apparel shop at 48 N. Saginaw St.

Meyer Simon, one of the owners of Simms Brothers, Inc., 98 N. Saginaw St., said, "we have never been asked to buy gifts and have never given any gifts."

Wagner Back In by Big Margin

Dem Piles Up Largest Majority Ever Given Mayor in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner won a second term last night by 920,000 votes—largest majority ever rolled up for a mayor in the history of the nation's largest city.

The son of the late New Deal senator, Robert F. Wagner Sr., amassed 1,507,342 votes to 587,440

MAYOR WAGNER

The size of Wagner's victory was being studied in political circles for possible national implications.

Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman was quick to say it reflected voter disillusionment with "the form of Republicanism you see in Washington under President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon." Other Democratic leaders spoke in similar vein.

The triumph raised the question whether Democratic leaders would call upon Wagner to strive for higher office although he has said that "God willing" he will serve out his four-year term as mayor.

Wagner captured every one of the city's five boroughs and ran particularly well in Manhattan's predominantly Negro Harlem section.

Wagner always has run well in Harlem. He has espoused the New Deal philosophy which has widespread Negro support, and specifically denounced Faubus' action.

The Democrats also scored victories upstate. They wrested mayoralties from the Republicans in eight cities, and themselves lost control in three, for a net gain of five. Additionally, the Republicans in Oswego lost City Hall to a Liberal.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What do people mean when they say things smell differently before a rain? Is this statement true?

As mentioned in an earlier weather article, various smells become stronger and more noticeable before a rain. This would be especially true in low or swampy areas.

The explanation is that approaching rain usually means lowering barometric pressure, lower pressure tends to allow smells and air to rise and circulate. Another factor, previously unmentioned, is that moist air accentuates odors.

Thus, moisture, lower pressure and often wind (prior to a rain) all tend to make odors stronger and more noticeable. The saying, then, is true.

Secretary of State Dulles conceded the Russians seemed to have pulled ahead in missiles "in some respects."

He told his news conference yesterday the Eisenhower administration is taking a new look at the U. S. missiles program, and expressed confidence that "we can catch up."

Dulles voiced the opinion that a demonstration of American capability to launch a satellite would give a boost to U. S. foreign policy. And, he said, "I think we shall" show the world the United States has such a capability.

As for the Russian feat in sending aloft a second and heavier satellite, Dulles said this confirms views that the Soviet Union has developed powerful rockets. But he said the achievement does not show conclusively whether the Russians are in quantity production of intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Amid the debate over the U. S. missile and satellite status, officials at the White Sands Proving Ground in New Mexico said yesterday two types of the Navy Talos missile had been fired successfully at airborne targets.

The Defense Department said a New York engineering - architectural firm — Grad Urbhan-Seelye—had been chosen to plan a multimillion dollar launching device for the Snark. The Snark is a jet-powered guided missile with intercontinental capabilities. It travels at subsonic speeds.

While political developments temporarily overshadowed the scientific aspects of Sputnik II, the huge satellite kept whirling around the globe at nearly 18,000 miles an hour in an orbit that takes it 1,000 miles out in space. The first Russian satellite, a small sphere launched Oct. 4, kept up its round-and-round trips.

Rash of Calls on Sky Object Sets Pentagon Brass in Whirl

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS) — A mystery object, fast supplanting the flying saucer of old, captured the imagination of the nation today, prompted hundreds of reports, and disrupted U.S. Air Force intraservice liaison.

Hovering over it all was an object variously described as glowing, cigar-shaped, egg-shaped, motionless, fast-moving, and otherwise having all the qualities of a phantom from outer space.

It was reported generally in the Western United States — mostly in the New Mexico-Texas-Gulf Coast area — but also as far east as Cairo, Egypt, where it shrunk to a small object and finally was thought to be part of a man-made satellite.

The Pentagon and the U.S. Division of the Northern American Air Defense Command, the latter based at Colorado Springs, were unable to agree on where collected information was to be funneled to the public.

Pentagon spokesmen said NORAD was doing the job but Col. Barney Oldfield, public information officer at NORAD, said all information secured from Air Force investigations would be channeled to the Air Defense Command in Washington.

One Air Force spokesman noted that since the first flying saucer report years ago, some 6,000 investigations have been made. As Capt. Andy Peasley at NORAD said:

RASH OF REPORTS

"We're now getting a rash of unidentified object reports and we intend to investigate as many as possible."

The captain said an official "mouthful." Among the problems facing the investigators are these:

The latest report was by a grain buyer traveling through Nebraska, 48-year-old R. O. Schmidt of Bakersfield, Calif., who said he visited aboard a strange flying machine near Kearney, Neb., yesterday.

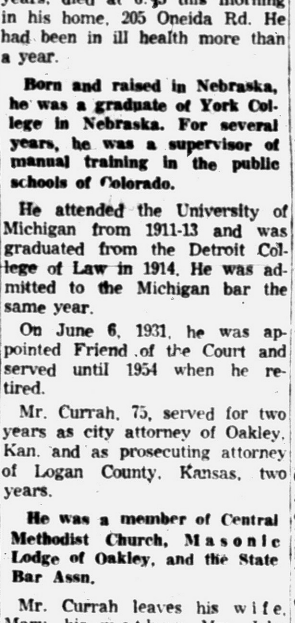

Schmidt said he talked with a four-man, two-woman German-speaking crew and when the craft took off (after repairs) it "just blended into the sky and disappeared."

The Air Force appeared more genuinely interested in the case reported by James Stokes, 45, an engineer from the Air Force Missiles Development Center at Holloman Air Force Base near Alamogordo, N. M.

Stokes said he saw an object yesterday near Alamogordo. He said it was "light-colored and egg-shaped."

The Coast Guard cutter "Sebago" patrolling some 200 miles south of New Orleans yesterday radioed its headquarters that a "brilliant white" mystery object was spotted visually and also picked up on the ship's radar screen.

Cmdr. C. H. Waring, the cutter's skipper, said the object traveled at an estimated 1,000 miles an hour and first appeared on the ship's radar screen as a "good, strong pip."

Service will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday from Sparks-Griffin Chapel with his pastor, Dr. Milton H. Bank, officiating. His body will be taken to Brown City for burial.

Detroiters Vote In Miriani Mayor by Huge Margin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The election of Detroit's first Negro councilman, the retention of one controversial mayor and the upset of a second highlighted voting in Michigan Tuesday.

Detroit voters, by a 6-1 margin, elected former Common Council president and acting Mayor Louis C. Miriani to his first full term. Miriani polled 290,626 votes in the non-partisan race to 48,399 for his opponent John J. Beck, a clerk in the Wayne County clerk's office.

ISSUE DEFEATED

A proposed $9,500,000 bond issue to finance preparation of Detroit's waterfront for St. Lawrence Seaway shipping failed to gain the necessary 60 per cent of voter approval. Also rejected was a proposal to levy a 1.6 mill tax to finance the bond issue.

William T. Patrick, Jr., a 37-year-old attorney, became the first Negro to be elected to the Detroit City Council. Patrick placed eighth in the list of nine successful council candidates.

Another Council newcomer was Democratic State Rep. Ed Carey. Other incumbents were re-elected with the exception of Del A. Smith who lost out to Patrick and Carey.

The second vacancy on the Council was created by Miriani when he became acting mayor following the death earlier this year of Mayor Albert E. Cobo.

Mary Beck, sister of the defeated mayoralty candidate led the Council race with 226,882 votes. As the top vote getter, she becomes Council president.

In suburban Dearborn, colorful Orville Hubbard was re-elected by a large margin to a ninth term in office. Mayor for the past 16 years, Hubbard defeated newspaper publisher William Mills 25,169 to 14,713.

OUST VOISINE

Voters in suburban Ecorse ousted veteran Mayor William W. Voisine in favor of 35-year-old Eli Ciungan, a builder and restaurant operator. Ciungan won 3,320 to 2,848. Voisine is under indictment on graft conspiracy charges leveled by the Bohn Grand Jury.

Hamtramck residents voted to increase city taxes for the first time in 20 years by approving a one-mill hike for the next five years. The revenue is intended for the financing, with federal help, of a $1,950,000 slum clearance and redevelopment program.

Detroit voters approved cancellation of a civic improvement bond issue 126,126 to 75,463. The canceled bonds included one issue of $5,500,000 for the Veterans Memorial Building and $2,500,000 in bonds for the proposed expansion of the Detroit City Airport in 1928. That expansion is no longer contemplated.

Tuesday's election also brought victory to Dearborn Municipal Judge George T. Martin, a long time foe of Hubbard's.

Dearborn voters rejected a proposal to install another full-time judge, 22,390 to 10,196. Martin had campaigned against the additional judgeship.

A bid to increase the Dearborn mayor's term to six years was rejected 22,944 to 7,842.

Night Bus Runs Return on Trial

2nd Shift Workers Ask Resumption of Service; Test to Last 10 Days

Officials of the Pontiac City Lines, Inc., have agreed to restore certain night bus runs for a 10-day trial period beginning today, after complaints were made by members of GMC Truck & Coach Local 594, UAW.

E. W. Dreasher, transportation superintendent of the bus line, in a letter to the union, said union members would have to use this restored service or it would be discontinued.

Andrew Wilson, Local 594 president, pleaded for the restoration of service because of its use by second shift employes.

Although he granted the 10-day trial period, Dreasher, in a letter read before the City Commission last night, said there were not enough second shift Truck and Coach workers riding the buses to warrant continuation.

Bus service on Sundays, holidays and evenings after 6:45 was discontinued Oct. 27 because of lack of patronage.

Meyner Wins in New Jersey

National Political Stock Hits New Heights After Resounding Victory

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner's national political stock hit a new high today after his resounding re-election victory over a Republican candidate who ran with President Eisenhower's full backing.

With 4,156 of New Jersey's 4,219

districts reported in yesterday's election, Meyner led State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes 1,081,563 to 879,459.

Meyner's plurality of 200,000 votes in a normally Republican state was sure to add to his stature as a possible Democratic presidential or vice presidential candidate in 1960. Only minutes after Forbes conceded defeat at 11:13 p. m., some GOP leaders were seeing national issues as a partial cause of Meyner's victory.

But even more surprising than the size of Meyner's plurality was a stunning Democratic sweep of the State Assembly, which the Republicans have controlled for 20 years. The Republicans held on to the State Senate by a reduced margin.

About the only contest the GOP could view with cheer was the election of Milton W. Glenn to Congress as representative from the 2nd District, filling out the unexpired term of the late Republican Rep. T. Millet Hand.

Ike to Address U.S. on Space Progress

next week. There was speculation that the President might announce this in his talk.

But a more informed guess is that the President, under tremendous pressure to do something fast to counter the threat posed by Russian scientific superiority, might reveal something much more dramatic — a spectacular space or missile accomplishment.

The White House said Eisenhower's address will kick off the series of speeches he announced he would make to reassure the American people in the fields of science, security and economy in the wake of Russia's spectacular space accomplishments in launching two earth satellites—the last one Sunday with a live dog in it.

Acting News Secretary Anne Wheaton said the date was moved up because Eisenhower "felt he wanted to talk to the people" and "he wanted to reach a larger audience immediately."

CAN CATCH UP

Dulles, frankly admitting that the Soviets are "somewhat ahead of us" in the field of missiles, said he "feels assured" the U.S. can catch up. But he added he doubts if America can ever regain the military superiority it had 10 years ago through the atomic bomb.

Dulles disclosed the U.S. is considering establishing overseas bases for intermediate range missiles to nullify Russia's apparent advantage in having been first to successfully test the longer range intercontinental missile.

He also revealed that an Atlantic Pact atomic weapons stockpile is being actively considered.

Eisenhower's half-hour speech on Thursday will be carried live by CBS radio and television at 8 p.m. (EST). ABC-TV will carry a kinescope of it at 10:30 and NBC at 11:15. The other radio networks also will carry delayed broadcasts.

The Day in Birmingham

Commissioners Postpone Action on Water Softening

Persons having news for this column from Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township are requested to contact the press correspondent for this area. She is Alice Morgan, 1835 Holland, Birmingham. Her phone number: MI 6-3537.

BIRMINGHAM — Commissioners still have taken no decisive action on the city's building its own water softening plant.

The twofold question before them is to build or purchase the entire water supply from the South Oakland County Water Authority.

City Manager L. R. Gare has presented a detailed report on the two features, showing the purchase plan to be the cheaper.

He pointed out too, that with the possibility of the whole area receiving water from a propsed Lake Huron project, the city faces a possibility that a softening plant may become obsolete before long.

Gare said he felt it advisable to maintain two city wells in the event of a supply failure. Two wells, he said, would be adequate to meet household needs.

The question came before commissioners when it was discovered that the water was not uniform in all sections. Some areas get a larger portion of the pre-softened "Detroit" water than others.

Also, through the summer, there were several incidents of discolored water.

The reason is not fully known, but it is thought that possibly city well water is not blending thoroughly with the other supply.

into the Detroit expressway system.

"What I wanted was for the road committee to get together with the plan commission and the Oakland County Road Commission and present a unified highway plan to Mackie," Goodspeed said.

When he proposed the meeting last week, Goodspeed admitted it was on short notice. However, supervisors gave his proposal unanimous approval, agreeing that Oakland County's highway needs are not being fulfilled under Mackie's present five-year plan.

Goodspeed had pointed out that if a new Detroit expressway is constructed along the Hastings-Oakland avenue route, an extension of this route should be continued north into Oakland County.

"Otherwise expressway traffic will wind up north of Eight Mile road with no place to go," Goodspeed pointed out.

Supervisors backed Goodspeed's proposal to have Oakland County recommend a seven-point highway plan to Mackie, including a north-south expressway east of Woodward avenue from Detroit past Pontiac to Flint—along a route which would make the road eligible for designation as an interstate highway with 90 per cent federal aid.

"Before we left though," said commissioner Robert O. Felt, "we told Mackie that the north-south route is desperately needed no matter where it is located."

Felt added that Mackie gave no indication that he had changed his mind and decided to include the highway in the present five-year plan.

The announcement of Mackie's $300 million highway plan for Detroit will be made tomorrow at the dedication of the $90 million John C. Lodge Expressway.

The dedication ceremonies will coincide with the opening of the tri-level interchange of the Lodge expressway and the Davison expressway, linking the Lodge's 8½ miles from downtown Detroit to James Couzens Highway in northwest Detroit.

Hal Boyle Says:

Weather Change Always Affects Mankind

NEW YORK (AP) — A change of weather affects mankind. It always does.

One who loves people can develop a feeling toward the impact of weather on persons.

On me the effect of weather is obvious. The weather is a thing that gives me both an inspiration and a sense of duty. It does to most people.

On a visit to the far Northwest I saw a couple of Douglas fir trees cut down. It was a memorable scene. They made an echo as they fell. As they fell down the hill, they fell across my heart. All those years of living, even in a tree, must stir an echo.

But the individual death of a tree is not a personal thing, something not missed because you presumed its presence. There came a day when you looked toward it for routine comfort and it had gone. The shelter of the commonplace was no longer there, and the meadow held a mystery.

You look back, and the tree cut down holds the memory of something against the sky. Your eye remembers.

One tree against the forest? How in autumn can a man know his way through the forest except by the trees?

There is a feeling of time and timing in this world—on the bough and in the man.

And in the time of falling leaves a man can walk in the wood, admire the scarlet splendor of nature in its final flourish and see the fall of leaves that happy children will rake up with a shout in the age-old game beyond decay.

A man can endure the torment of autumn after autumn—the frigid repetitiveness of winter after winter—in the hope that he can enjoy again the fresh agony of spring, year after year, after year.

Use Inhalable Vapor to Treat Mental Ills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Use of an inhalable vapor in treating certain forms of mental illness has produced results which "appear to be as good" as those obtained with electroshock therapy, a researcher reports.

Dr. John C. Krantz Jr., of the University of Maryland Medical School said last night patients are "less fearful" of it than in the case of electroshock.

Further, he declared, "the mental blurring which frequently accompanies the post-electroshock period has not been observed" with the new material.

The substance, he said, is a synthetic material called "hexafluorodiethyl ether," and is a colorless, mobile liquid which emits a mild, pleasant ethereal odor. Vapor from it is inhaled.

He told about it at the fourth Pan-American Congress of Pharmacy and Biochemistry.

He said it produced convulsive seizures resembling those of electroshock, but more gradual in onset.

Bulganing Fallen in Favor

Red's Propaganda Expert May Become Premier

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS) — Top intelligence sources have tipped off the administration that the "man to watch" in the current Soviet power struggle is Mikhail Andreyevich Suslov.

These secret sources insist that the 55-year-old propaganda specialist is a "comer" who is expected to wield vastly increased power in the months ahead — possibly replacing Nikolai Bulganin as Soviet premier.

NEW COMINFORM

It was simultaneously revealed that Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev is planning to propose, at the big world-wide Red meeting opening Thursday in Moscow, the formation of a "new type of Cominform" patterned after the NATO Western alliance.

An informant said Red China, Poland, and Yugoslav delegates representing the absent Marshal Tito will probably fight the proposal, because they prefer less, not more centralized control from the Kremlin.

The organization, according to western spies, would only pretend to give the satellites more equality in defensive arrangements than does the Kremlin-dominated Warsaw Pact.

The key to the outcome may be "vacant chair" at this week's Moscow meeting. Tito, who had been expected to attend, has suddenly pleaded an attack of lumbago—an attack which most observers consider a "diplomatic illness."

A top administration source told this correspondent: "We do not believe Tito was in on the plot to keep Marshal Georgi Zhukov out of Russia until Khrushchev deposed him from power. Obviously someone played a trick on Zhukov, however, because no man in his position would have wanted to stay nine days in Albania while the Middle East crisis was blazing in Syria and Turkey."

He said the White House believed Tito, after previously accepting the Moscow invitation, decided in view of the Zhukov situation to sit out the present session until he saw which way the wind was blowing. Tito played host to Zhukov shortly before his abrupt sacking in Moscow last week.

Intelligence sources, noting that Suslov's picture has been put up on Moscow's streets this week along with those of Khrushchev, Bulganin, Lenin and Marx, disclosed that Suslov is generally considered as "Russia's smartest ideological boy."

The thin, bespectacled member of the Soviet intelligensia joined the Communist Party in 1921, and 20 years later became a member of the Central Committee. After World War II he saw duty with the Lithuanian Party Central Committee, and he has been extremely active as a liaison with Baltic republics and other Red satellites.

Suslov directed propoganda for the U.S.S.R. Central Committee from 1947 to '49, and for the next two years served as editor in chief of Pravda, official organ of the party.

An engineer by profession, Suslov first won a seat on the top presidum in October 1952, but lost it after the death of Joseph Stalin five months later.

He regained the coveted post in July 1955 and became a highly respected policy planner in party conclaves. Last year he headed a three-man communist delegation to the French Communist Party in Paris.

Suslov has distinguished himself as a party spokesman on ideology. Perhaps significantly, he made several trips to Hungary immediately before that country's tragic and abortive revolution against Red domination.

Junior Editors Quiz on REPTILES

Question: What's the difference between crocidles and alligators?

ANSWER: When you think of crocodiles and alligators, you probably think of South America and Africa. But did you know that both these big reptiles are natives of southern United States?

They are cousins and you might not be able to see a great deal of difference between them, but the alligator has a broader head and blunter snout. It gets to be as long as 15 feet, but not as big as some of the crocodiles. It is more docile than a crocodile and sometimes is kept as a pet.

Both reptiles live on fish, and smaller reptiles and animals. But some crocodiles are dangerous and especially in the Far East are known to attack men. The skin of each reptile is much sought after for leather. They are being hunted so much that most of them probably will be killed off.

FOR YOU TO DO: You can color this picture for your animal collection. Also, read more about crocodiles and alligators in a book and try to see them in a zoo.

(To win $10, send your question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins in care of this paper. Terry Fober of Clarksville, Iowa, gets $10 for this one.)

Democrats Swept Into Office in Most Vital Races

By JACK BELL
AP Political Reporter

Democrats swept most significant races yesterday in an off-year election interpreted as indicating a measure of dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration's military and domestic policies.

Democrats won the big ones by victories in the governor races in New Jersey and Virginia and in the re-election of Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York City.

Although none could assess accurately the political effect of the firing of two Soviet satellites, there was general opinion this admitted American setback contributed to what could only be regarded as a Democratic sweep.

It seemed apparent the Democrats had cashed in to some extent on what Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate's Democratic leader, told reporters was the greatest indication he had ever received that the American people were "worked up" over an issue—the Russian ability to put satellites into space while the United States only talked about it.

Republicans had scant hopes of winning any significant test in yesterday's balloting. They faced an off-year election trend that usually goes against the party in control of the White House. But some GOP members had hoped their candidates might do better than they did.

In one of the top contests, Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey scored a 200,000-vote margin over his Eisenhower-endorsed opponent, GOP State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes. Eisenhower thus was denied the "big shot in the arm" he said a Forbes victory would give certain Republicans.

Meyner's victory propelled him into the contest for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination with all the force of a Russian satellite. His re-election in a normally Republican state seemed likely to set off a second-stage rocket for any presidential ambitions he holds.

Domestically, the Eisenhower administration got an answer from Virginia to the President's action in sending federal troops into Little Rock, Ark., to enforce a federal court order for racial school integration.

Republican Theodore Roosevelt (Ted) Dalton was snowed under in the Virginia governor's race by State Atty. Gen. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. Dalton polled 45 per cent of the vote in normally Democratic Virginia in his first try four years ago. He rectived less than 37 per cent yesterday.

Almond was backed vigorously by the state organization of Democratic Sen. Harry F. Byrd, who has called for "massive resistance' 'to school integration.

In New York City, Mayor Wagner won a smashing victory without benefit of the Liberal party vote. This encouraged Democrats to believe they have built up the party foundation to re-elect Gov. Averell Harriman next year. The Negro vote in Harlem, which Republicans had hoped would go their way, went about 4-1 for Wagner.

Harriman said the outcome in New York City and in upstate areas reflected voter disillusionment "with the form of Republicanism you see in Washington under President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon."

Eisenhower had endorsed Wagner's Republican opponent, Robert K. Christenberry.

In traditionally Republican upstate New York, the GOP surrendered six of 28 mayor's posts the party had held.

In Connecticut, however, Democratic mayors ran into some trouble. In Stamford and Waterbury Republicans replaced Democrats. In Norwalk, a one-time Socialist who ran as an independent ousted a Democratic mayor.

Another Socialist, Mayor Jasper McLevy of Bridgeport, apparently came to the end of his political road. At 79 and after holding office since 1933, McLevy lost his job to a Democrat by less than 200 votes.

In Pennsylvania, Democrats rolled up big majorities in re-electing Democratic Mayors David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh and John T. Hanlon of Scranton to unprecedented fourth terms. Lancaster elected a Democratic mayor for the first time in 23 years. Republicans appeared to have lost a net of five mayors in 23 contests.

In Kentucky, Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler, an avowed candidate for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, gained ground in his efforts to control the 1958 state legislative session.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler summed up the national results as an indication that the voters "are returning to the Democratic party for leadership in a time of crisis."

Father of Scout Called to Testify

Second Degree Murder Count Against Barmore in Gorham Boy's Death

MUSKEGON (AP) — An Evanston, Ill., oil firm representative was scheduled to recall memories of his slain 12-year-old son today in a murder trial.

Frederick A. Gorham was called to testify for the prosecution in the trial of Herman Barmore, who is charged with second degree murder in the fatal shooting of Boy Scout Peter Gorham 28 months ago. The trial opened Monday before Circuit Judge Henry L. Beers.

Prosecutor Robert A. Cavanaugh said the state would show the young scout was the victim of a sex crime and had been shot to death. Peter disappeared July 6, 1955, from nearby Camp Waganingo.

The boy's skeleton with a bullet hole through the skull was found six weeks later about five miles south of the camp. His clothing and personal effects were scattered nearby.

Barmore, 44-year-old New York ex-convict, has pleaded innocent. Muskegon authorities claim he gave them an oral statement last May admitting he shot the youth when his .22 caliber rifle fired accidentally in a target practice session.

Court-appointed defense attorneys claim Barmore received improper inducements to make the statement. Attorney John P. Boeschenstein said Barmore, alias Charles Ficher "did not shoot Peter Gorham."

Fellow scouts and camp officials were among first witnesses to testify yesterday.

State Reports Rise in Workers' Injuries

LANSING (AP) — An increase of the number of compensable injuries during the third quarter of 1957 was reported today by the State Department of Labor and Industry.

The department said that the 8,132 compensable injuries reported to the State Workmen's Compensation Commission during the third quarter was 5.5 per cent more than the same period last year and 5.6 per cent above the previous quarter of this year.

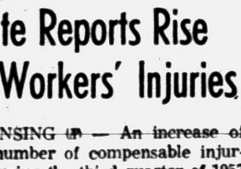

Permanent disabilities reported during the third quarter were 7.9 per cent less than during the second quarter but 4.2 per cent more than in the same quarter last year.

Fatalities during the third quarter represented a slight increase over the second quarter of 1957 period in 1956.

Zhukov Downgraded in Struggle for Power

Reports from Moscow tell of Marshal ZHUKOV's "confession of errors" and expulsion from Communist Party posts.

The Soviet Central Committee did not immediately strip him of all honors. He is still too much of a hero to the people because of his role in World War II. The Marshal was allowed to retain party membership and all his titles and decorations.

Before he was relieved of his posts, Defense Minister ZHUKOV had attained great power and influence and controlled the Soviet armed forces. Party Chief KHRUSHCHEV may have seen peril in this and decided to demote ZHUKOV to prevent his taking over as premier with support of the military.

Communist Party leaders always have feared that the army some day might seize control. STALIN in the 1937 purge executed eight high ranking officers including TUKHACHEVSKY. After World War II he sent ZHUKOV to an unimportant post as commander of the Kiev military district at the same time KHRUSHCHEV was governor of the Ukraine. Former Premier MALENKOV brought back ZHUKOV, and he helped stabilize the situation when the triumvirate of MALENKOV, BERIA and MOLOTOV exercised power.

Although Zhukov has supported Khrushchev in the purge of Beria and again last December when Khrushchev's power in the Presidium was threatened, the Communist Party Chief apparently saw in Zhukov the man most likely to succeed him.

17 European Nations in Free Trade Zone

More than a year ago six European countries — Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, France, Italy and West Germany—banded together to establish a common market.

These nations set in motion plans for a common market within which trade, excluding agricultural products, would flow freely without tariffs. The plan also provided a common tariff on imports from outside countries. However, these plans would have left 11 other countries in the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) outside of the agreement.

Earlier this month financial heads from 17 countries now constituting the OEES met in Paris to formulate a program for freer trade within the whole area. A committee was appointed to begin immediate negotiations toward creating a free trade zone of all OEEC countries.

The 11 nations, including Britain which heretofore had held back, will not go so far in the free trade direction as the six original members. The pace will be slower but their objective is to remove trade barriers over a period of years and they will not adopt a common import tariff.

This unity in setting up a long delayed European free trade zone is of great importance. It has vast political as well as economic significance.

Farm Migration Helps Reduce Crop Surplus

Due primarily to increased use of machinery in agriculture, U. S. farm population has decreased by three million to 22.3 million in the past six years.

This decline includes persons of all ages, but principally those in their early twenties. As a result the average age of the farmer is increasing markedly. The Census Bureau estimates that in the last year alone 1.861 million moved to the city.

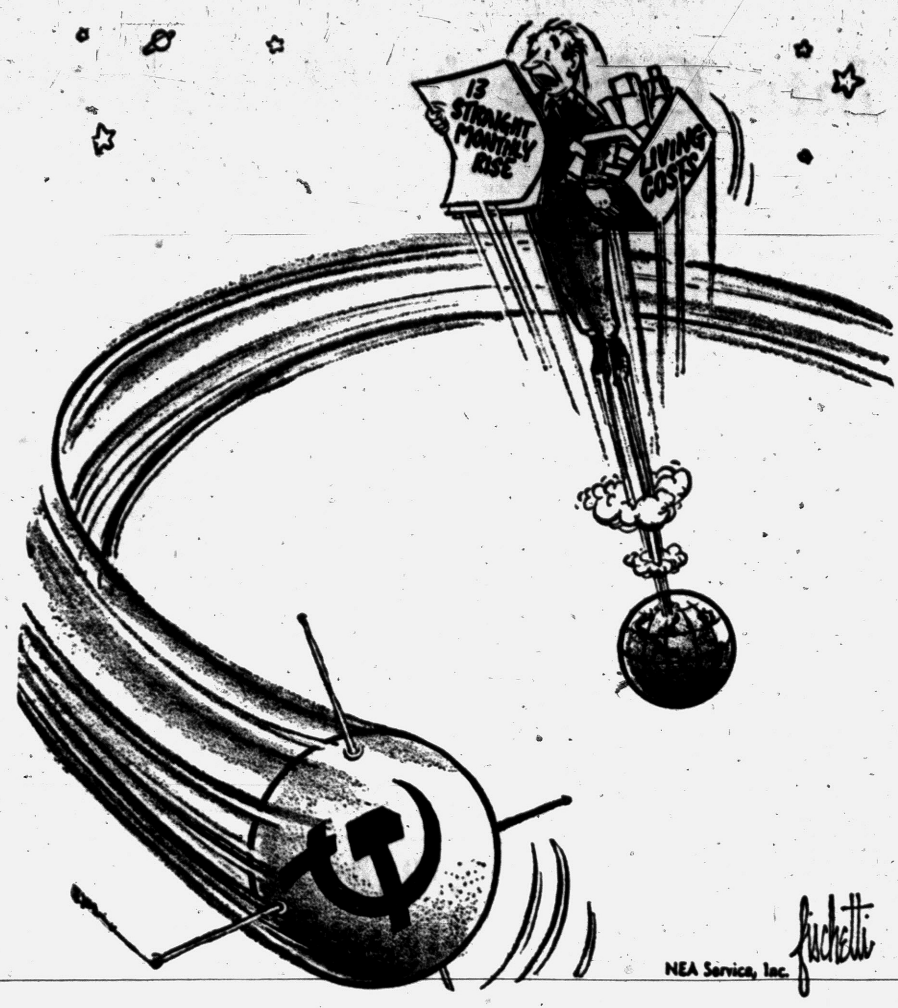

Although this migration does not lower production, it does have the virtue of making these former farmers consumers and producers for use and not for agricultural surpluses.

The chief theoretician of the Administration's farm policy, DON PAARLBERG, admits that its plan is to lower supports to turn some farmers toward the "desirable alternative" of non-farm employment. Migration from farms has been heaviest in low income areas, particularly in the South where industrialization is growing rapidly.

No one yet knows how many farmers will have to shift from agricultural to other employment in order to raise farm income to a desirable level and bring our economy into balance.

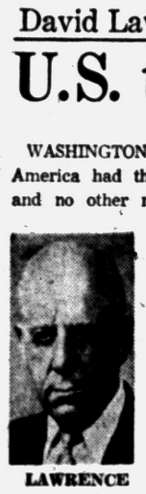

"Gee—Wish I Had an Orbit, Too"

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. to Rush Launching of Moons

WASHINGTON — Time was when America had the atomic bomb—and no other nation did. Soviet Russia may have been nervous then.

LAWRENCE

Time was when America successfully developed the hydrogen bomb despite the strategy of delay recommended by certain important scientists of international fame inside the United States government who argued against it. Soviet Russia may have been nervous then, too.

CAUGHT UP

But in each case Moscow finally caught up. The nervousness then disappeared.

History is likely to repeat itself, with the United States catching up with Russia in intercontinental missiles, satellites, "sputniks" and other spectacular feats. Presumably nervousness then will disappear here, too.

Meanwhile, certain decisions have been reached. America can and will launch satellites that will spin around the world. This doesn't have any direct military value, but it does have propaganda value. Here, in high places in the government, instructions have been issued to launch some dramatic experiments if only to show people everywhere that the United States is abreast of Soviet Russia.

REVEALS HOPES

Secretary of State Dulles, at his press conference on Tuesday, revealed in part the administration's hopes and aspirations. He didn't go into detail, but he undoubtedly reflected in his remarks a knowledge of what transpired at the recent meeting of the National Security Council at which President Eisenhower and the top men in government penetrated the missile subject from every angle, including propaganda effects.

Dulles now discloses that the United States will soon demonstrate that, like Soviet Russia, this country has the capacity to put aloft artificial satellites. He says it would be helpful from a psychological point of view when America demonstrates its capacity in that direction.

This is but another way of saying that the decision has been made to match Soviet performance as promptly as possible, irrespective of whether it helps to any degree on the military side.

ICBM VITAL

In the background here, of course, is not the "sputnik" or the magic of dog travel in outer space but the importance of intercontinental missiles as a military weapon. Disarmament conferences have been suspended and the world is confronted with a race in deadly missiles.

Dulles spoke significantly of the bases available to the United States in Europe for intermediate range missiles, which have already been proved feasible.

All this adds up to the fact that militarily the United States and Soviet Russia stand out as the two rivals in the world and that recent events have, if anything, sharpened the conflict that exists between the two major powers.

The world, to be sure, has been witnessing for the last few years a stalemate. It has often been said that neither side would start a war lest this should threaten such mutual destruction as to make the idea of war itself seem utterly unwise. The introduction of the intercontinental missile has merely accentuated the importance of the previous stalemate.

Whether America catches up or goes ahead of Russia, the truth is that weapons do exist which can be used for such destructive purposes as to make the employment of big bombs and missiles unthinkable.

What, then, will be the course of the power struggle? It looks as if the Communist strategy will be one of penetration and infiltration and the provoking of local situations, such as have flared up in Korea, Indochina and the Middle East.

Local wars—sometimes called "little wars"—can evidently be fought without the risk of the larger war. This has happened three times since World War II, and the pattern set by the Communists could be followed again.

The Man About Town

It's Just One More

Outstanding Honor Comes to Oakland County Woman

Mackinac-Mackinaw: Two words, on which we now should agree on one — and forget the other.

That Oakland County civic leader,

Miss Sarah Van Hoosen Jones,

gets another outstanding honor to be added to her long and highly deserving list. The new and quite unique apartment residence hall at Michigan State University has been given her name. For several years she was a member of that big educational institution's governing body. Sarah always maintains her standing as one of the leaders on my list of the ten top women in Oakland County. Other names are pushed off by new ones—but Sarah is a sticker.

With even the belated reports from all sections now all recorded, it was the sanest and quite generally the most enjoyed Halloween in the history of the Pontiac area.

According to a phone call from

of Waterford, his Plymouth Rock rooster crowed lustily every night at the time Sputnik passed over.

Endeavoring to take the place of the snow we haven't received, a snow ball bush in the yard of

Mrs. Gordon Landsman

of Rochester is decked out with a bigger display of blossoms than it had at its regular blooming time.

A letter just received from

says, "A Detroit paper can blow up an Oakland County friendly argument into a murder. Some reporters never do grow up."

Mr. and Mrs. Orson Fransworth

of Rochester, it was unhurt, and decided to stick around their poultry yard, very agreeably mixing with the chickens.

Personal observation makes me hope that the Mackinac Bridge is more substantial than some of the screwy reports on its dedication.

of another four years on the job. Quieter day, isn't it?

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

The Country Parson

"If a tractor can't pull its load, we say it is underpowered—if we can't pull ours, we say the load is too heavy."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Here's Recipe for Gargle Used by Public Speakers

Antiseptics, germicides or medicaments applied in gargles do not get past the anterior pillars of the pharynx or throat which separate the oral or mouth cavity from the throat anterior pillars or pharynx. The anterior pillars arch down on either side from the uvula (tip of soft palate) just in front of the tonsil.

DR. BRADY

Gargle until you're blue in the face and the neighbors call the police, the antiseptic or medicament will not get to the tonsil, the throat lining, the vocal cords or the gizzard—unless perchance you happen to swallow some of it and maybe lose your last meal.

Gargling with an antiseptic, germicidal or antibiotic agent gives no different result than would rinsing the mouth. And in my opinion rinsing the mouth with soap and water — I prefer plain soap of a certain kind —gives every benefit one could get from any other mouthwash.

Yahbut how shall I account for this fat file of reports received from readers who have used the England gargle with uniform satisfaction?

There you have me. The gargle prevents or relieves hoarseness or huskiness —or so a good many amateur and professional speakers and singers assure me.

HERE'S RECIPE

Meanwhile, here's a recipe for a homemade gargle which, when used before singing or speaking or between songs or speeches, prevents hoarseness or roughness of the voice.

1. Dissolve a rounded teaspoonful of powdered alum in 1½ teacupfuls of barley water.

2. Add enough Mel Rosae (honey scented with rose) to fill a half pint vial.

3. Gargle quietly with a spoonful just before speaking or singing or several times in the course of the program.

In the next piece about gargling I'll give Mr. Joseph W. England's directions for preparing his gargle. He was a pharmacist in Philadelphia Hospital in my diaper days.

Barley water, formerly much used in infant feeding, is made by pouring a quart of water on a rounded tablespoonful of pearl barley (the grain deprived of outer coat and rounded and polished in a mill), boiling away to a pint and straining.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Girls, Don't Fall for This Old Line

Gwen is in a dilemma that is quite common today. But she should be smart and distinguish between true love versus sexual infatuation. Notice what happened to Amnon and Tamar! And memorize the four major reasons why premarital sexual relations are definitely wrong!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-339: Gwen Q., aged 16, is a very attractive high school junior.

"Dr. Crane, I'm in a muddle," she began, and started to cry, as she began our interview following my address to her high school convocation.

DR. CRANE

"My faculty adviser says I ought to ask you for advice. I have been going steady with a senior boy.

"We have dated each other regularly for six months. But now he is beginning to insist on unfair liberties.

"He says he will jilt me if I don't give in to him. And that would be terrible, Dr. Crane, for everybody knows we've been going steady.

"He says I must prove my love by giving in to his sex demands. When I told him that was wrong, he said I was old-fashioned and that all the girls nowadays do such things. Is that true?"

TEEN-AGE PROBLEMS

No, that is just one of the usual methods of trying to stampede people into action.

"Everybody does it," says the child who wishes to coerce his mother into letting him do something which she vetoes.

It is the stupid teen-agers who mistake sexual infatuation for true love. And there is a vast difference.

In both, however, you may feel exhilarated and excited. Both will thus give you butterflies in your stomach.

But sexual infatuation may fade fast. King David's son Amnon thus was so infatuated with Tamar that he grew sick with his longing for her.

But the first night he seduced her, he then hated her and physically had her thrown out into the street (II Samuel, Ch. 13).

Many boys thus try to coerce gullible girls by the demand that the girls "prove" their love by submitting to illicit sexual affairs.

And as soon as the girls become pregnant, the boys usually run away into military service or elsewhere.

"PROVE YOUR LOVE"

Girls, you should use that "Prove your love" argument in reverse and see that your escorts treat you like a a gentleman should.

For in true love the boy is most interested in YOUR happiness, both now and in the future!

So he does what is best for YOU, and premarital sexual indulgence is definitely WRONG on many counts, so it is harmful to a girl.

For example, such a girl then loses her spunk or spirit, which is her major charm as a personality.

Second, she may contract gonorrhea or syphilis, which are both very serious medical diseases even in spite of modern drugs.

Remember, those two venereal ailments are separate diseases, so you can contract both of them at the same time.

Gonorrhea is a common cause of permanent sterility, so you may never be able to have a baby in later marriage.

And syphilis can cause many dire effects, including insanity!

Third, a girl may become pregnant and thus be forced to quit high school before graduation.

This will almost break the heart of her devoted parents, who have actually invested $15,000 in cash in her rearing and who have watched over her sick bed in anxiety during childhood ailments.

Besides, when she bears the baby, she will launch it into life with one strike against it.

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped, return envelope plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It is widely used in high school hygiene courses, so be sure you have a copy for all teen-agers.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Resident Finds No Humor in Defacement of Property

The City recently replaced some sidewalk on the south side of East Pike between Roselawn and Sanford. I would like to invite the City officials, the entire citizenry for that matter, to walk along those three blocks and note the complete lack of civic pride on the part of our youth in the defacement of public property. Such actions by young kids aren't funny nor smart.

'One Would Think Mackie Built It'

I wonder how many thought as I did when they saw the new sign at the beautiful Cut River bridge west of St. Igance. If you read the fine print, the story of the bridge was told, but John C. Mackie was at the top, in letters large and bold.

While I was there I had quite a time convincing one kindly faced old lady from a southern county that Mackie hadn't built the bridge himself. The state highway commissioner's job has long been a stepping stone on the political ladder here in Michigan.

Our own Pat Van Wagoner proved that years ago. But at least Pat waited until he had some projects of his own under way, like roadside tables, scenic turnouts and picnic areas, before he started plastering his name all over the countryside at our expense.

'Teachers Can't Do Everything'

I'm not a teacher but am very concerned about children using correct English. I've noticed that children who use correct English have parents who speak good English but the ones who say "ain't" and "I seen" have parents who talk the same way. Teachers can't overcome bad home influence.

WORLD'S LARGEST? — Two men walking near the tail section are dwarfed by what the Russian government claims is the world's largest aircraft. Designated as TU114, the plane reportedly could transport 120 persons from Moscow to New York in 10-12 hours and up to 220 passengers on shorter flights. Russia says the four prop-jet engines powering the plane are twice as powerful as similar engines outside that country.

Hungarians Told to 'Love Russians'

VIENNA (AP) — Budapest's Communist City Council today told the people of the Hungarian capital to decorate their homes with flags tomorrow to honor the 40th anniversary of the Soviet revolution "and display your love for the great Soviet people."

The instructions contrasted with the Communists' ban Oct. 23 and last Monday on the flying of black flags for Hungarians killed in the anti-Soviet revolt a year ago.

The Red rulers also required Hungarians to work overtime in factories and mines to increase production "in honor of the Soviet anniversary." Similar extra shifts were imposed in the other European satellites and in the Soviet Union.

Traffic Deaths, Drinking Linked

Hare Orders Studies on Whether Drivers in Accidents Intoxicated

LANSING (AP) — Reports from other states showing a startling connection between drinking drivers and traffic accidents have prompted Secretary of State James M. Hare to speed up similar studies in Michigan.

At a meeting of the State Safety Commission yesterday, Hare asked State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs to look for ways to furnish prompt information on whether drivers involved in traffic fatalities had been drinking.

Hare, commission chairman, said he also expects a report next month from the commission's Citizens' Action Committee on the effects of varying amounts of alcohol on driving abilities.

Statistics compiled in Maryland, he said, show that one of every two fatal accidents involves a driver who has had at least one drink of an intoxicating beverage.

Records from an Evanston, Ill., hospital, revealed that nearly half of the drivers hospitalized following a traffic accident had consumed alcohol.

Betsy Ross, with a snip of her scissors, convinced George Washington that a five-pointed star would look better than a six-pointed star on the American flag.

Sears Catalogs on Microfilm in MSU Library

EAST LANSING (AP)—Microfilms of Sears Roebuck and Co. mail order catalogs issued for the last 69 years have been installed amidst the weighty tomes of the Michigan State University Library.

The films, a gift of the company, were hailed by Jackson Towne, librarian, as a valuable addition for research into economic and sociological phases of American history.

They pictorially present the tren toward labor saving devices in the household and in methods of dress, transportation and "nearly every aspect" of American life, Towne said.

Treating Headaches Causes Headaches

There is no such thing as a single treatment that will cure all types of headaches, said Dr. Arnold P. Friedman, physician in charge of the headache unit of Montefiore Hospital in New York.

Not only that, said Dr. Friedman, even patients with the same type of headache won't always react the same.

One of the great difficulties in treating a headache, he said is trying to measure it. The only yardstick is the patient himself and people's ideas of the intensity of pain vary widely.

Most headaches are one of two types — migraine or tension — but the specific causes remain a mystery, he said. Migraine headaches are accompanied by constriction of arteries in the head, he said, and the tension type is caused by nervous anxiety.

Knight to Face Hard Opposition

Tough Battle Expected for GOP Nomination to California Senate

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — California Gov. Goodwin J. Knight will face some formidable opponents in his bid for the Senate seat being vacated next year by gubernatorial aspirant William F. Knowland.

Knight won President Eisenhower's blessing at the White House yesterday when he announced at the "urging" of Vice President Richard M. Nixon that he would forego "personal ambition" and seek the senatorship.

While Democrats shouted "deal" and accused Knight of playing "dirty politics," members of his own party in California pledged a running battle for the seat he hopes to win.

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, boiling over Knight's previous "moral assurances" that he would not stand in his way for the Senate seat, cabled his campaign manager from Israel to push his election plans.

Christopher promised Knight a "tough Fight" in the primaries and voiced what Republican leaders from the President down presumably were thinking: "They don't want a rift in the party between Knight and Knowland."

U.S. to Pay $12 Million

HITCHHIKER — "Bill," a pet pigeon owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Blackburn, of Courtland, Kan., catches a free ride on the noggin of Dan Nolan, as the 12-year-old youngster walks to school. "Bill," unofficial mascot, is sort of a character. He likes to land on women's heads and pull their hair, nip at toes of women wearing open - toed shoes, ride on hoods of cars and chase cats and dogs.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1957 · PONTIAC, MICHIGAN,

Slim pants continue to be a California favorite. Tabak of California gives attention to tailoring and fit in the slim challis pants with hand-screened roses.

Here's the unfitted look. . A handful of soft pleats forms a skirt that is worn with a pulled-on middy jacket. The orlon skirt will wash and hold pleats. Designer is Zolot of California.

California Stylist Tabak Vetoes Chemise Look

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

LOS ANGELES — Tabak of California vetoed the chemise look for 1958 and instead presented the tall, lean, tapered look in his collection shown Tuesday for 73 members of the nation's fashion press.

This firm believes in the defined waistline, but does ease the bodice for that important "relaxed" look. The sheath dress, belted or fitted, is favored.

One ribbon knit sheath shown in white with a scoop neckline, low back and satin piping would make any woman think long before changing to the "new" look (we think).

COLOR COORDINATION

Dyed-to-match separates and tone-on-tone prints are given fashion significance by the detailed coordination of vibrant colors.

The collection is made up of pure dye silk prints, worsted jerseys teamed with pure dye silk prints, cotton crepe, chiffon, cotton pique and hand-screened challis prints on challis and sharkskin.

For late day wear, slim or full-skirted dresses are covered with matching long coats or with white sharkskin coats.

Another firm which holds "firm" on the chemise look is Koret of California. This San Francisco designer showed sportswear that is comfortable and attractive.

WASHABLE FASHIONS

Believing that fashions should be easy to care for as well as smart and wearable, Stephanie Koret has created machine washable, press-free fashions. Highlighting the preview were the permanently pleated dresses that are guaranteed to require no ironing.

Wearable cotton knits rate high with California designers. They have become a signature with the firm of Zolot of California. These are done in the chemise as well as fitted dresses.

A honeycomb knit chemise which was first introduced by this designer in 1952 was shown along with today's chemise, just for comparison. The early model had some shaping at the waistline and came with its own belt.

But Mrs. Zolot, who admits to favoring the chemise and believes in its general acceptance, displayed the '58 version with no shaping at the waistline and no belt—a typical sack dress.

TAKING TO THE SEA

If Phil Rose has his way, all women will take to the sea this year in knits. He calls his collection Chris Craftmates and chooses the reds, whites and blues of the ships' crews for playclothes that wear easily on either side of the wharf.

You might get on deck with some of the print blousons and shorts, but you're sure to make it in the officer's deck coat with brass buttons and sailor's knee-length pants.

Following this busy day of previewing spring and resort fashions, the California Fashion Creators were our hosts at dinner in the Imperial Gardens, where we took our shoes off and ate Japanese food.

Seated across from us, also sans shoes, was Olivia De Havilland who was dining with two television executives.

She explained that she was being asked to consider a TV play, but she said her answer would be "no."

AND ERROL, TOO

Also dining at Imperial Gardens was a former co-star of the actress, Errol Flynn. He took a bit of ribbing, but passed it off with a smile.

We're off now to the Mocambo where we hope to recuperate from today's whirl of fashion shows. Tomorrow we'll report the news in bathing suits.

Waves Are Important to the Navy

Women Assured of Status Equal to Male Sailors

(Editor's note: This is the third in a series of five Washington Letters on the women's branches of the armed forces.)

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — The Waves were only 15 years old last July 30, but since 1948 they have been an integral part of the Navy, assured of the same advancement, security, pay, allowances and benefits as the men.

Their current strength is 5,000 enlisted women and 725 officers. They are not only on duty in continental United States but in Alaska, Hawaii, Japan, Norway, England, France, Italy, Germany, and the Philippines.

MANY ASSIGNMENTS

They have served in nearly every type of shore activity, including air stations, naval hospitals, Navy yards and supply depots.

There are WAVE instructors in international law and one is on the faculty of the Navy's post-graduate school at Monterey, Calif.

GROWS QUICKLY

At first the Navy expected to enlist or appoint only 10,000 women in the Naval Reserve, but the Waves were so successful that the organization reached a wartime strength of 85,000.

The name WAVES stood for Women Appointed for Volunteer Emergency Service, a combination of words obviously chosen for its "salty" initial letters.

Capt. Mildred McAfee Horton, former Wellesley College president, was first WAVE director. Blue-eyed Capt. Winifred Redden Quick, one of the first officers to enter the reserve corps in 1942 and one of the first two to be sent overseas in 1944, is current director.

Born in Great Falls, Mont., the 45-year-old director is a business administration graduate of the University of Southern California.

A JOB TO DO

Waves believe they have a job to do. Their job, Capt. Quick explains, is to "help the men of the Navy with the military tasks that must be done throughout the shore establishments to back up the forces afloat."

"To carry forth this mission," she says, "we must maintain a trained, useful nucleus that could provide the necessary leadership and spearhead the mobilization of vast numbers of women in times of serious national emergency."

"In peacetime," she added, "it not only offers a wonderful career, but gives a young woman a chance to serve her country, as well as an opportunity to serve in jobs around the world."

Altar Units to Combine at Yuletide

Members of St. Michael Altar Society met Tuesday evening in the Parish Hall to plan a combined Christmas party for all units of the society.

It was announced that St. Rose Unit will sponsor a bake sale Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Louis Goulet will be hostess to the unit on Nov. 19.

Mrs. Frank Pruente, chairman of St. Theresa Unit announced a cooperative dinner to be served in the hall Tuesday. Members of St. Monica Unit will meet Nov. 19 at the home of Mrs. Helen Bateman.

A report was given on the Northwestern Deanery workshop held at Our Lady of La Salette Church, Berkley, and attended by nine members of St. Michael Altar Society.

Intense Hues Used in Chiffon Scarves

Intense colors and soft chiffon - the two newsmakers of the year - are blended into a striking new fashion, the boldly patterned chiffon scarf.

Big motifs - oversized polka dots, sprawling scrolls, dominant geometric shapes - make sheer drama against the filmy high - colored backgrounds of these 30 and 36-inch scarf squares. Newest shape is the oblong - so perfect to fill in the new necklines, so flattering tied into a bow.

In any size, these chiffon scarfs give a sophisticated accent to tweeds and rustic wools, provide the chic finishing touch to winter's understated fashions.

Jewel Clips Hold Shower Curtains

Even a consistent bather, who doesn't need to be lured to a daily shower, will appreciate such luxurious appointments. An occasional quick sudsing and drying with a soft cloth keeps these metal beauties bright.

Coat Linings Add Warmth, Subtract Bulk

NEW YORK (NEA) — What goes inside a coat is very nearly as important as the outside.

This is a year of warm and pretty linings, weightless, bulkless but soft to the touch. One of the newest is a pile fabric called verel that comes in lovely colors and turns even a suit into a costume that can be worn on blustery winter days.

Fashion-wise, this pile lining won't make you look bulky while it's keeping you warm. It's used successfully for designs with slim lines. And, according to its makers, it cleans easily, resists matting and is nonallergenic.

Slow Down Routine as Bedtime Nears

Many persons worry themselves out of a good night's sleep. Experts say to slow down the daily routine as bedtime nears. Soothing music, soothing conversation or just plain quiet help set the slumber stage. Arguments, blood-chilling mysteries and loud music do little to entice sleep.

Eat in Quiet Place

Quick lunches eaten at the corner counters may tie your stomach in knots. Clattering dishes and noisy banter of other diners is a nervous strain, although most people don't realize it at first. Try to find a quiet place to lunch and take your time eating. You will feel more relaxed and look it.

Be Good Guests

Memo to teenagers: When a crowd is at a friend's home, don't take over the whole house, keeping the telephone line busy, raiding the icebox, cluttering up the house with your belongings, etc. Remember that you are guests.

Practical Suede

An easy to clean and exceptionally practical suede for footwear and bags, Vodelle, is now widely available. You can go through a rain or sleet storm, a puddle or snow bank with no danger to the suede in your shoe. You can sponge off spots . . . tomato juice, soft drinks, any non-oily substance . . . with water. It naturally repels dirt, and after long wear (and with light colors in mind) there's one all-purpose cleaner for all colors.

After luncheon Mrs. Thomas Dodson, Mrs. Leslie Purslow, Mary Dixon, Mrs. Irene Albright and Mrs. Elsie Welch (left to right) posed for our photographers. The occasion? The sixth annual birthday luncheon held Saturday at Devon Gables by Alpha Beta and Alpha Gamma Chapters of Delta Kappa Gamma.

When a boy makes a date with a girl he should always be definite about it. Saying, "Maybe I'll come over Friday night," is not the way to make a date, even when a couple is going steady.

Method to Cooking

If you look as cooked as the meal you have prepared, it's time to analyze your cooking methods. You can save heat and cooking time by using the right shape and size of saucepan for the food you are cooking.

Cover the pan to confine the heat and insure more even cooking. Adjusting the flame to the right amount of heat is also a great heat saver. These precautions not only put less heat in your kitchen, they save on fuel crosts, to.

How to Buy Buttons for Cotton Dress

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

When choosing buttons for a new cotton dress a "trial method" is suggested by Mae Barton, Pennsylvania State University clothing specialist. "Cut a slash the size of the buttonhole in a piece of fabric and take it with you when you go shopping," she says. Slip this over a button on the card and you'll know at a glance how the button will look on the completed garment.

Spice Filled Coffee Bread Is Different

Mrs. Beckham Puts Ready to Bake Rolls in Refrigerator

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When you are thinking about snacks for the youngsters after school, do you ever consider making sweet rolls? The fragrance of freshly baked bread will draw them (and probably half the neighbors) home as a magnet would. You know you can pack a lot of good nutrition in rolls with the eggs and milk they call for.

* * *

Mrs. Joseph Beckham of Walled Lake is today's cook. Three of her five children are under school age. To complicate her already busy life, Mrs. Beckham's husband is building an addition on the house and she is going to make some of the furniture!

SWEET ROLLS
By Mrs. Joseph Beckham

1 package dry yeast (2 will hurry the dough)
¼ cup lukewarm water
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk, scalded
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
⅓ cup melted shortening

Soften yeast in lukewarm water with ½ teaspoon of the sugar. Let stand 10 minutes. Add remaining sugar and salt to hot milk, stir and cool to lukewarm.

Combine softened yeast with cooled milk and stir well. Add eggs, lemon rind and half the flour. Beat until smooth. Beat in cooled shortening, then remaining flour. Mix thoroughly.

Turn dough out on floured board, let rest 10 minutes. Knead until smooth and elastic. Try not to use more than an additional ¼ cup of flour for kneading. Place in greased bowl, turn to bring greased side to top. Let rise in warm place until double.

Divide in two parts. Roll out in rectangle. Cover with a mixture of cinnamon, sugar, ginger, allspice, nutmeg and cloves. Add raisins and nuts if desired. Dot with bits of butter or margarine. Roll as for jelly roll and slice in 1-inch slices.

Place on greased cookie sheet. Let rise until double. Bake about 15 minutes in a 375-degree oven. Eat while hot!

Mrs. Beckham gets these rolls all ready for the oven, then refrigerates them overnight. In the morning she pops them in a hot oven for a delicious breakfast treat. Makes about 2½ dozen rolls.

Shave Sweaters to Remove Pilling

MADISON, Wis. (INS) — Try shaving your sweaters to remove pilling, suggests a University of Wisconsin clothing specialist.

Sweaters of new synthetic fibers tend to pill—in other words, the nap twists together and rolls into little pill-like shapes.

The clothing expert, Lenore Landry, recommends shaving the sweaters with a safety razor and a new blade. Here is her method

After the sweater has been washed and dried, put over a firm soft pillow. Shave up and down the knit—not crosswise. Don't press too hard or you'll cut the yarn.

After shaving, brush it lightly to remove pilling which is cut off but clings to the sweater.

Chanel felt unhappy that her relaxed style has influenced the extreme "sac" of today. However, entirely Chanel is the suit which consists of simplicity and which stays in fashion for years and years.

Avoid Tight Hats

For years men have been warned against wearing tight hats. Women should heed experts' advice, too. Tight hats hamper circulation and thus lead to scalp problems. Disregard fashion a little, remove your hat occasionally and let your scalp breathe.

MRS. ROBERT E. CLARK

Arrangements of white chrysanthemums and palms banked the altar of Emmanuel Baptist Church for the wedding of Donna F. Pruett and Robert E. Clark. The Rev. Tom Malone performed the Oct. 30 ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey E. Pruett of Strathmore street, and the bridegroom's parents are the Clair E. Clarks of Jonquil road.

For her wedding the bride chose a ballerina-length gown of white brocade featuring a bolero jacket with pointed sleeves and round collar.

A pillbox headpiece of sequins and pearls held a ballerina-length veil of illusion. The bridal bouquet was a white carnation cascade centered with detachable corsage of Carol Amling roses.

The bride's sister, Marie Pruett, was maid of honor. She wore a crimson velvet gown with matching skirt of chiffon and carried a cascade arrangement of enchanting pink carnations. Bridesmaid, Mrs. Barbara Grayer, sister of the bridegroom, was gowned like the honor attendant.

GOWNED IN WHITE

Flower maid Patsy Girdley wore a white brocade dress with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and a full ballerina length skirt. She carried a small basket of pink and white rose petals.

The bridegroom attended Midwestern Bible Seminary.

New members who were not present are Mrs. Harold Rayberg, Mrs. Samuel Gluskin and Mrs. Seymour Skloot.

Mrs. Eva Wethington was guest speaker for the event.

Stop Strain on Feet.

Prolonged driving puts a strain on the feet of the driver. A change of shoes and hose will give some relief. Stop for periodic rests, walk around and wriggle your toes and ankles.

To Store Ice Cream:

Proper packaging will preserve ice cream's quality if it is to be stored in the freezer more than a week. Place original carton in a plastic bag and seal tightly. This seals in moisture and keeps cream from shrinking and becoming coarse-textured.

Must Man Help With Packages?

Husband and Wife Don't Agree About Proper Behavior

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like you to settle a disagreement my wife and I are having. The point in question is: Should a man happen to meet a woman friend returning from a shopping trip and carrying several packages, is it considered ungentlemanly of him if he does not offer to carry her packages?

"I say 'no' but my wife insists that a well-bred man would not allow a woman to carry packages when he himself is empty-handed. Please settle this for us."

Answer: He should offer to carry a package that seems to be heavy or difficult for her to carry, but he is not expected to offer help with any small one that she is carrying easily.

"Dear Mrs. Post: If an invitation to a semi-public dance is printed with the directions 'semi-formal' on it, what kind of clothes are guests expected to wear?"

Answer: In communities where the tail coat is worn, semi-formal means dinner jackets (tuxedos) for the men and simple evening dresses for the women.

In others where the dinner jacket is formal, semi-formal would mean men in dark sack suits and women in afternoon dresses. At any rate, it does not mean women in formal evening dresses and men in business suits as so many mistakenly think.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My stepdaughter is to be married soon and the invitations to her wedding have been made up in my wife's name alone, which I discovered just today when the invitations came back from the engravers. I have been this girl's stepfather for 10 years and have supported her up until a year ago when she started to earn her own living.

"I feel hurt at being omitted but my wife claims that as long as the girl's father is living, it is not proper to include my name on the wedding invitations. Will you please tell me if this is correct?"

Answer: Your wife is wrong. The invitations should very definitely have included your name. However, the third line of the invitation should read "her daughter" instead of "their daughter."

Hadassah Schedules Honor Roll

Paris Airport Fast Becoming Tourist Highlight

PARIS — Orly Airport, many tourists' first sight in France, is something of an attraction in itself as well as an efficient air terminal. For those who wish to start their sightseeing the moment they land, the following points are of interest: Orly has the largest hangars of any airport in the world.

There are two of them which can accommodate planes up to 147 feet long, 49 feet high and with unlimited wingspread.

It has numerous gadgets for speeding up passenger traffic including a conveyor belt which lifts baggage from customs to the top of the Paris-bound bus. Of special delight to travelers who arrive unexpectedly is a giant board listing available hotel space, and hostesses who help make reservations.

In 1958, Orly will also see the inauguration of Air France's Caravelle, which will be the only pure jet in commercial passenger operation.

Bridge Winners

John Burnham and Edwin Clark were north - south winners when Pontiac Duplicate Bridge Club met at Elks Temple Monday evening. East - west winners were Mrs. Jerry Dillon and Mrs. Tom Weeks.

Many Make Stoles by Themselves

Decorated stoles for warmth as well as color in the cool days and nights of spring and early summer can be a "do-it-yourself—project.

The stoles can be draped various ways and you can add your own interesting decorative touches to them—simple or elaborate—according to costume and occasion. The wearer may sew pearls, beads, and sequins to the stoles.

Also for "do-it-yourselfers" are new felt motifs in the variety stores. These are in a wide range of colors, shapes and sizes. Some may be ironed onto the stoles, and others stitched. Some are packaged with sequins and full instructions are printed on all the transparent envelopes.

Unless you can get rid of flies and mosquitoes, don't plan to entertain guests out-of-doors.

Wash Very Hard for Real Beauty

Remember that soap and water add up to the finest beauty formula you could find for the skin. So make it a habit to scrub those suds into the pores; to scrub those roughened patches away; and to scrub elbows, shoulders, knees, till the blood goes racing around and brings a pretty glow to the skin.

Soap not only cleanses — it also softens. Nature does a pretty good job when it comes to skin. Just keep it clean and it will glow.

Fancier Raincoats

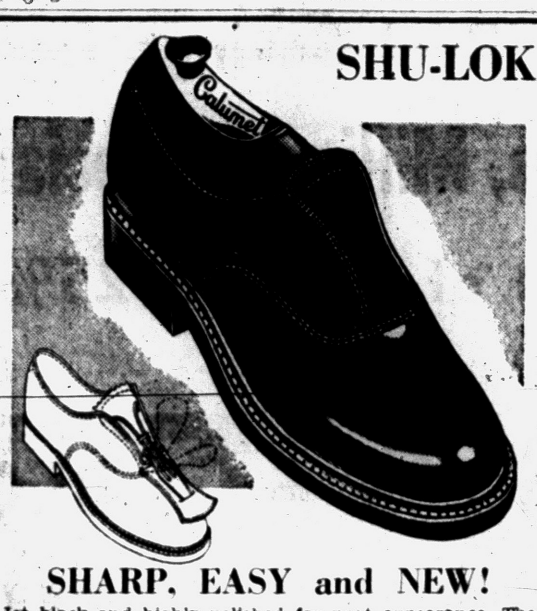

Raincoats turned fancier than ever in the Pais collections. Printed velvet was one notion and printed plastic lined in mink tails was another.

Teeth Guards Help but Must Be Clean

Backyard football and other bodily contact sports will cause fewer broken teeth if juvenile players wear dental guards as professionals do.

A new guard for the sandlot set is fashioned of soft rubber. It can — and should — be washed before and after every insertion with hot water and soapsuds, then dipped in a sterilizing solution.

Child's Meals Need Balance

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Even if your child has a hot lunch at school, thanks to a good school lunch program, you still must worry about balancing his diet with breakfast and dinner.

An ample supply of milk, leafy vegetables, fruit, etc., will cut the chances of his being afflicted with skin eruptions, tooth decay, anemia and other adolescent troubles.

Home economists (of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association) urge a typical breakfast consisting of a full, eight-ounce glass of orange juice, wheat germ cereal with milk, an egg or generous portion of cheese, whole grain bread and butter and a tall glass of milk. Fish liver oil—in liquid, capsule or tablet form—is helpful.

Dinner should include meat, fish or poultry, with variety meats such as kidneys, heart, liver, sweetbreads, etc., served once a week. At least two vegetables, a salad, whole grain bread and butter, a glass of milk and fruit for dessert should be on the daily menu.

House plants need baths, too. Swabbing foliage with warm soapsuds helps plants to breathe and keep lively.

EYEBROWS

The softening effect of your face can be, and often is, your eyebrows. They are in a sense a frame for your most expressive feature, your eyes.

If you pluck your brows all out and attempt to paint them back on, they will look intense and severe.

Learn to fill out a soft becoming brow with a quick short stroke of pencil. Substitute the new soft grey pencil for a bold black one.

Gear the width of your brow to the fullness of your lipline. From the inside corner of your eye to the height of your arch should be thick, then gradually tapered to the outside line.

You Begin to Grow Old When You Avoid Risks

Meet New Challenges and Situations With Courage to Keep Young Spirit

By RUTH MILLETT

Both women are in their 70s. One was planning to drive cross country alone. The other was trying to talk her out of it.

Asked the timid one: "What will you do if you have car trouble?"

Said the one happily planning the trip: "I don't expect to have car trouble. So I won't worry about that unless it happens."

The two women are about the same age. But one seems years older.

The reason for the seeming difference in their ages is probably due to a great extent to the fact that one always anticipates trouble and the other always expects that things will turn out all right.

The one who anticipates trouble quite naturally has gone through life taking few risks, having few adventures and assuming as little responsibility as possible.

In trying to protect herself against all risks, she has led a dull, uninteresting existence.

The one who doesn't expect the worst to happen has gone merrily on her way, tackling hard jobs, taking on responsibilities she could have ducked, having all kinds of interesting experiences.

The minute you begin to be fearful of the future you start limiting your experiences. You begin to grow old.

The only way to stay young in spirit is to meet new challenges and new situations with courage.

Beauty Kept With Pluck, Not Luck

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A letter from a reader turned my thoughts toward the old question, "How much of our luck do we ourselves make?" I am sure that there is such a thing as good and bad luck over which we have no influence at all.

I recently had a startling example of this. My husband and I were driving back from a vacation in New Hampshire. It was late at night. Two monster trucks in a row were approaching us.

All of a sudden a third passed the first two over the top of a hill. There was no time to do anything but leave the road, for to remain was certain death. We were in hilly country but as wonderful, marvelous, heavenly good fortune had it, we did not hit a tree and there was no ditch or cliff.

However, I am convinced that we do create a lot of our luck ourselves, good and bad, by our attitudes, our actions, our words, our deeds and the decisions we make.

When we look behind the scenes, we usually find that those we think of as lucky have worked very hard, have prepared for years for their "lucky break" and have lived with keen awareness.

HFR SENTIMENTS

The letter I referred to said, "Your article headed 'Beauty Need Not End at 50' expresses my sentiments. I was 50 last June and never felt better physically or mentally.

"My oldest child is 25 and my youngest is eight. I exercise every day. I have taken off 20 pounds. Six years ago I weighed 150 pounds and wore size 16. For the last five years I have weighed 128-130 pounds and wear a size 12.

"My friends ask me why I exercise. If they knew how good it makes one feel they wouldn't ask. So many people say, 'My but you are LUCKY to have such a nice figure!' LUCKY? PLUCKY!"

Good looks certainly is a matter of pluck rather than luck from middle age on. A woman may be lucky to be born with the build and potentiality for beauty, but whether she keeps it or loses it is mostly a question of determination and pluck rather than luck. You surely make your own luck in this matter!

If you would like to have my calorie chart, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Sky Objects Just 'Mirages,' Says Harvard Astronomer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Harvard astronomer says mysterious objects reported from various parts of the country and the Gulf of Mexico are mirages stemming from natural causes.

Dr. Donald H. Menzel, director of the Harvard College of Observatory, said yesterday in Cambridge, Mass., that the whole thing amounts to "another flying saucer scare."

The Air Force has started an investigation of the reported sightings of the strange glowing objects in the sky. The Air Force for years has had the responsibility of checking reports of unidentified flying objects.

A rash of such reports had developed since Sunday, with some of the sightings said to have been made near secret military installations in the Southwest. Some of the persons making the reports said the objects caused their auto engines to stall and their radios to fade.

Yesterday the Coast Guard cutter Sebago radioed from the Gulf of Mexico that an object resembling a brilliant planet with a high rate of speed was seen for about three seconds, and that it was tracked by radar.

Menzel said it is probable the cutter's crewmen got a false image "quite likely from bubbles of hot air in the atmosphere which would give a radar reflection."

As for reports of auto engines stalling, Menzel said "it would not be surprising that a nervous foot could stall an engine."

Menzel, author of a book about flying saucers, said he has been studying them for 10 years and has yet to hear of one which could not be explained by natural phenomena.

"They are caused by a layer of heated air . . . acting as a leans and forming an image of objects as much as 40 or 50 miles away," he said.

"They are nothing more than a mirage. They are prevalent just after nightfall as the heated air begins to cool off at the ground, and they are common in the West where they have clear air."

The Air Force said that during the first half of this year only 1.9 per cent of 250 reported sightings of flying saucers and other strange objects in the air have been classed as "unknown." And the Air Force wasn't ready to believe that even this small percentage has sinister implications.

Retired Marine Maj. Donald E. Keyhoe, head of a private group set up to investigate unidentified flying object reports, said he could not now evaluate the present claimed sightings. But Keyhoe, director of the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena, said the reported objects may come from another planet.

IF YOU SUFFER FROM

ARTHRITIS

! KNOW WHAT'S BEST FOR IT!

"O-Jib-Wa Bitters helped me when everything failed," says Mrs. Hazel P. Daniels, 3910 Newberry, Wayne, Michigan.

"The first thing I think of when anyone mentions Arthritis, is O-JIB-WA BITTERS. If someone had told me about this wonderful medicine when I was first struck, it would have prevented three horrible months of suffering. It

Mrs. Daniels first came on like a small stinging pain in my hip; gradually becoming worse, then going down into my leg. I work for a living, and being in this shape, it was certainly painful work. When I got up in the morning my stomach would be upset, and I would have chills and come close to fainting from the pain. I stayed on my feet most of the day because I was afraid to sit down, for fear I wouldn't be able to stand up again. I tried liniments, heat pads, heat lamps, vitamin pills, took shots and finally ended up with a brace on my back, which made my spine hurt even worse. I didn't know what to do next, but when the x-rays taken of my back showed an arthritis condition, I went to the druggist and purchased a bottle of O-JIB-WA BITTERS, as everything else had failed. From the ads I read about people in Michigan that O-JIB-WA helped, it sounded like it was just what I needed. The first week it didn't help, but I stuck right with it, and the second week the pains began to leave and soon I was all well again. That was two years ago, and I haven't been bothered with rheumatism or arthritis since. I give full credit to O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and urge other sufferers to try O-JIB-WA at the first sign of such ailments, and I'm sure this wonderful medicine will help them too."

Flunking Child Is Controversial

Try Many Ways to Avert Failure

By JOHN BARROW
INS Staff Writer

If Johnny falls behind and is flunked, his parents may protest it's undemocratic. Maybe he's merely a slow starter. Branding him as inferior in his playmates' eyes might bring a lifelong hatred of school.

But is he damaged any less by advancing to a grade where he must solve 256 divided by 32 — before he knows how many 8s there are in 32?

The Pittsburgh board of education feels such a child can benefit by taking more time to soak up the fundamentals—that it won't hurt him to take seven or eight years to complete the first six grades.

At Portland, Ore., assistant superintendent Verne D. Bain says two per cent of the children repeat first grade, one per cent the second grade and fewer the third grade. He explains these smallfry holdbacks saying, "We want to mature them as much as possible in the primary grades."

Ohio school officials agree but both point out that if a handicap exists, special training is needed. And this brings up the I.Q., Intelligence Quotient.

The average six-year-old has an I.Q. between 100 and 110. For children with an I.Q. of 50 to 75, Ohio education director E. E. Holt says special classes and counseling within the school are used.

This is done also in Detroit, Atlanta, Portland, Ore., New Orleans and Phoenix, Ariz., among others. Donald S. Kitch, chief of the California Department of Education's supplemental service, says:

"Children are rarely flunked unless they have been absent for a lengthy period. Our studies indicate that if a child flunks and you put him through again he's learned very little, if anything, more than he did the first time.

"As a substitute for flunking, most schools are forming three groups within the same class—the slow students, the average and the faster ones. In this way most students can be given about all they can absorb. It avoids the guilty feeling of flunking and keeps them in their age group."

Blackstone, Mass., Superintendent J. Francis O'Mara feels the same way. Although Massachusetts has set up a subsidized system of special schools, Blackstone handles its own and O'Mara says:

USE SOCIAL PROMOTION

"We subscribe to the so-called 'social promotion' where it is to the advantage of the pupil. If a youngster is oversized with a low I.Q., we find he will learn as much or more with children of his own age. In this we adjust to the pupil rather than the book."

St. Louis uses a system called an "ungraded" primary school. Assistant Superintendent William Kottmeyer explains that the first, second and third grades are reorganized into five stages of growth or "levels" of skill in reading, spelling, writing, speaking and handwriting.

For the sake of records, the first-year pupil is still a first grader. But his teacher keeps a "levels" sheet on each pupil and records his mastery of each skill as he develops.

Kottmeyer says, "Although an average learner usually works through three 'levels' during the first year, the slow learner may master only one or two. At the end of the year most pupils move together to another teacher," who continues to work through the levels, whatever they may be.

"In this way, pupils move systematically through the fundamental skills at their own rates, and instruction and learning material is adjusted to their capacities."

In Omaha, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, supervisor of primary grades, says the failure rate runs about 1.5 per cent of the enrollment and, "We try to place them where they will do the best job."

Phoenix Superintendent Loren Vaughn and Atlanta Assistant Superintendent Roy W. Davis explain they use special remedial classes within the child's regular school. Cleveland Superintendent Mark Schinnerer denies "automatic passing" but keys special studies for I.Q.s of less than 75 to vocations, as does New Orleans where Superintendent James F. Redmond says many move on to the newly built Rabouin vocational school.

Whether Johnny can catch up by repeating a grade or turn to special training is studied closely in Denver. Administrative assistant Jack E. Boyd says a special department of counselors is working "more and more with parents to show them how to let the child find himself."

Boyd says many a youngster is mixed up because his parents think he is a genius, and others whose parents reject him as a dumbbell.

In our land of compulsory education and tax-supported schools, most educators feel as Superintendent Allen H. Wetter of Philadelphia does. He says:

"It is not undemocratic to flunk slow pupils. If he will benefit, he should repeat. But flunking is not always best. There can be no blanket policy, and each child must be taken individually."

Farming Changed Life in Stone Age

LONDON — How life in the New Stone Age was revolutionized by the arrival, from the Middle East, of a knowledge of farming is shown in a new exhibit in the Natural History Museum in London.

It enabled people to live in communities and so to begin pursuing the arts of civilization. The exhibit shows examples of some of the earliest cultivated plants—the particular kinds of wheat used by Stone Age Man, flax and the so-called Celtic beans.

All these have recently been grown under Neolithic conditions in the Kew Gardens. The domestication of animals—dogs, goats, sheep, cattle and pigs—is illustrated, and also manufacture and use of improved flint implements, and developments of basketry, pottery, spinning and weaving.

Former U.S. Treasurer Georgia Neese Clark Gray runs a general store in her home town of Richmond, Kan. (pop. 250).

Proved and approved around the world and now it's here for you... the 58 FORD

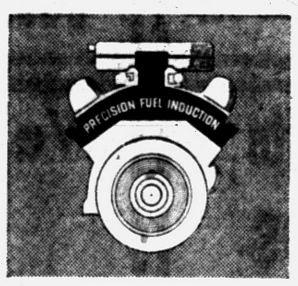

One look tells you... there's nothing newer in the world!

You'll ride in a new world of style in the 58 Ford

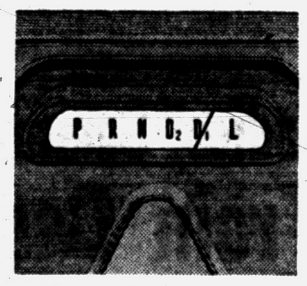

New deep-sculptured styling
New Interceptor V-8 power
New Cruise-O-Matic Drive
New Ford-Aire Suspension
New Magic-Circle Steering

The 58 Ford is the newest car in the world—the only car ever to meet a world-wide test and win world-wide approval before its public premiere.

Here's a car so new, so beautiful it made eyes pop from Paris to Pakistan ... a car so rugged it proved its mettle in a road test around the entire world! Ford's new Interceptor V-8 engine took the mighty Himalayas and our own rugged Rockies without a puff. What's more, it did it on surprisingly little gas—thanks to new Precision Fuel Induction. And after thousands of unbelievably tough miles, all roads led to one conclusion: the 58 Ford is the solidest, smoothest, travelingest new car ever! Let us show you the world's most beautiful new bargain!

You'll be ahead with Ford's new Interceptor V-8 and Precision Fuel Induction. There's nothing newer than these engines that give you up to 300 hp. Smoother power! From less gas! One secret is Precision Fuel Induction, a new carburetion, fuel feeding, and combustion system. It routes the fuel-air mixture from carburetor to machined combustion chambers directly, so each cylinder does the same work, the most work!

You'll get up to 15% more gas savings with new Cruise-O-Matic Drive teamed with the new Interceptor V-8. Here is the newest, most versatile of all automatic drives. New D1 position, used for all normal driving, lets you move smoothly—at a touch of your toe—from brisk, solid-feeling take-offs up to highway cruising speeds. Gas-saving axle ratio used with Cruise-O-Matic means "built-in" overdrive savings.

You'll ride on a cloud instead of a spring with Ford-Aire Suspension. This is the way you've dreamed of driving—floating on air! Four air pillows literally soak up bumps. And the Ford's new air suspension is power-controlled to relevel the car every time someone steps inside or luggage is loaded. It always keeps full road clearance. An extra cost option, you get all this at traditionally low Ford prices!

Come in tomorrow... Action Test America's only world-proved car! 58 FORD

COMMUNITY BENEFITS — Officials of the Community Activities, Inc., in Waterford Township, Carlos Richardson, president Frank Williamson and secretary Mrs. Jack Hall, check the annual budget which benefits some $10,000 from the United Fund.

Over 2,000 Participate Weekly at Community Activities, Inc.

The title "Community Activities, Inc.," fully describes the organization on Williams Lake road in Waterford Township, which serves as a center for the township's 40,000 residents.

More than 2,000 men, women and children in the township participate in every type of instructional and recreational activity, weekly, according to secretary Mrs. Jack Hall.

Ten years ago, a tremendous increase of residents began moving into Waterford Township, and with the growth, came the demand for certain public services.

In 1947, a group of citizens began the construction of the Community Activities, Inc. (Center).

It was financed entirely by private donations and built largely by volunteer labor until now, the present valuation of the building is $150,000. The center is largely supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund.

"Not one red cent of the taxpayers money has been appropriated for support of the C.A.I.," president of the board Frank Williamson, said.

On the first floor of the big C.A.I. building, there is a gymnasium large enough to accommodate two basketball teams, and at one end a professional stage predominates.

The dining room with adjoining kitchen facilities is able to accommodate a capacity of more than 800 people at one time.

Youth of the community take advantage of the well-equipped Dairy Bar, day and night. The self-supporting library has some 7,000 free-lending books on the shelves.

There are five spacious rooms upstairs, to accommodate Scout work, Civil Defense courses, Youth groups and wedding receptions.

14 ACTIVITIES WEEKLY

The Waterford Township recreation department uses the building for more than 14 organized activities throughout the week, and have their main offices in the front of the building.

On Sunday mornings, the Faith Baptist Church members have their services in the structure, and on Tuesdays, 40 members of the Waterford - Drayton Rotary Club meet for lunch.

Each year the Junior Chamber of Commerce takes over the entire first floor of the building for their annual Sports & Builder's Show, Fairs, rummage sales, dances, political club meetings and service groups take advantage of the accommodations at C.A.I.

Downstairs, the Cancer Society gets together once a week, and this group sews dressings for 14 different people in the township, plus keeping the shelves stocked for outsiders needing help.

Three years ago, the United Fund pledged $5,000 towards the support of the C.A.I. Last year the ante was upped to $8,000 and according to director of the United Fund Karl Bradley, $10,000 is slated for this year's operation and maintenance.

"If it wasn't for substantial support from the United Fund, or possible resident - subscription canvasses, the Community Activities Center would fold up," Williamson concluded.

Depression Called as Bad as 'Sputniks'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — "A recession or depression would be as serious as all the sputniks put together," Gerhard Colm, director of the National Planning Assn., told some of the nation's top economists at the final session of the Conference on the Economic Outlook at the University of Michigan yesterday.

Colm said, "It would be a first class debacle from a worldwide point of view." Colm had criticism for those who looked at the nation's present economic picture with complacency. He also warned against fatalistically predicting a major depression.

He said his feelings were that the federal budget for 1958 would be hiked substantially above this year's even before Russia sent its earth satellites into space.

Colm was at variance with other economists at the conference who had predicted a drop in government spending which, they said, would cause an economic leveling off or a trend downward. Colm limited the chances of a serious downward trend next year to one in five.

Oakland 2nd on Decrease List

Report Shows Building Decline

The Regional Planning Commission has released figures which show that the number of building permits issued in the Detroit region has continued to decline through the first nine months of 1957.

While Oakland County ranked second in the percentage drop since September 1956, the county's drop during the past three months has far outdistanced that of both Macomb and Wayne counties.

MACOMB TOPS LIST

In the overall figures, Macomb County showed the greatest percentage drop in permits over last year with a decrease of 30.4 per cent. In September last year 5,666 permits had been issued as compared with a total of 3,941 by the end of September 1957.

Oakland County followed with a decline of 24.4 per cent, having issued 8,301 permits through September 1956, against 6,280 through September of this year.

Oakland county, however, had the most drastic loss of all counties in the third quarter of 1957, with a decrease of 912 permits. Macomb County's third quarter decline was only 177 and Wayne County gained 170 permits, as compared to third - quarter figures for 1956.

Wayne County had the smallest percentage loss over the year, with a decline of 20 per cent based on the drop from 12,220 permits issued a year ago to 9,772 issued through last month.

The totals — including Washtenaw County which showed a gain of 53.3 per cent — showed an overall loss of 5,533 permits (or 20.8 per cent) issued in the Detroit Region over the past year.

At the end of the nine - month period in 1956 only Royal Oak and Waterford Township ranked among the top ten communities—Royal Oak in ninth place with 741 permits issued, and Waterford Township in tenth spot with 709 permits recorded.

By the end of last month, three Oakland County communities had reached the top ten. Madison Heights was ranked sixth with 993 permits, Royal Oak was second with 970, and Bloomfield Township was ninth with 549 recorded permits.

Madison Heights, the leading community in Oakland County, issued almost half of its 993 permits during the third quarter of 1957, far outdistancing its rivals in both August and September.

The current trend downward, however, has been in progress since 1954. The nine - month totals in that year were 9,733. There were 8,973 in 1955, 8,301 in 1956, and the current 6,280 permits issue through last month.

Royal Oak had the best month of any community in the county when it issued 300 permits in April. It followed this with 291 in May, but then dropped off sharply issuing less than 60 per month until September when 122 permits were issued.

Bloomfield Township, third in the county with its 549 mark in nine months, has issued more than 100 permits in only one month thus far, in 1957.

Since 1913 the Woolworth Building (60 stories) has been one of New York City's most famed skyscrapers. Today there are only five skyscrapers higher on Manhattan.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do ... and here's how they do it:

First*—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

PTA Safety Group Screens Suggestions

A sub-committee of the Waterford Township PTA Safety Committee has been formed to work with the Board of Education Safety committee, in an effort to help solve the problem of inadequate walking facilities for school children.

Residents in the township have become alarmed at the increased traffic hazards encountered by children walking to and from schools, on narrow roads.

The new committee's chief function will be to act as a screening body in accepting recommendations that are presented from the various PTA groups throughout the area.

So far, no specific solution has been accepted, however another meeting is scheduled for Dec. 2 when more detailed recommendations will be presented for action, according to chairman Tom Peterson. Clifford Lampson is co-chairman.

Sponsor is the Waterford Lions Club. There will be cotton candy given children of motorists who buy gasoline, according to president Bob Gaff.

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

Copyright 1957

THE STORY SO FAR: Jerry Conway is alarmed by an advertising campaign Gifford Farrell, a discharged employe, is conducting to obtain proxies and oust Conway at a stockholders' meeting. In a mysterious telephone call a woman calling herself Rosalind offers to supply Conway with a list of the proxies Farrell has acquired. Though he suspects a trap, Conway agrees to follow directions. Asking the hotel clerk for a message for Gerald Boswell, he obtains a key to a hotel room for the meeting but instead of finding Rosalind, there's a young woman scantily attired with a mud pack on her face. She points a gun at Conway which he takes away from her. Since the gun has been fired recently, Conway suspects a frame-up and calls Perry Mason, attorney. Mason and Paul Drake, detective, go to the hotel room and find a woman murdered. Mason traps Evangeline Farrell into admitting she is Rosalind. She is divorcing Gifford and wants to help Conway. Farrell is having an affair with Rose Calvert, a secretary. Mrs. Farrell obtains carbons of the proxy list from Rose's wastebasket. Mason tells Drake the body is that of Rose Calvert. Farrell must have had Conway's telephone tapped and had a girl call Conway a few minutes before the call he was expecting from Rosalind. Ruth Culver, occupying the room directly across from the murder room, checked out of the hotel, but the body hasn't been identified by police.

Chapter 21

"Chief," Della said in a low voice.

"Yes?" Mason leaned out to hear her better.

She said, "Custom decrees that when a man has taken a girl home he is entitled to a token of thanks."

Before he caught the full import of her words she had kissed him full on the lips, then turned and ran up the steps of her apartment house.

"Thank you," she called to him as she opened the door.

"Thank you!" Mason said.

It was five minutes after eight when Mason swung his car into the Gladesdell Motel and drove to Unit 21.

Jerry Conway was waiting for him.

"All ready?" Conway asked. "Shall I follow you in my car?"

"Wait a minute," Mason told him. "We're going to have to do some talking. I'll drive my car down the road for a couple of blocks, then pull in to the curb. I'll park my car there and drive in with you."

"How about having me go in your car?"

"No, the police will want to search your car."

"I've searched it," Conway said, "and I've found something that bothers me."

"You've found something?"

"Yes."

"What?"

"It was under the front seat where a man ordinarily wouldn't look once in a couple of years. It was a neatly-typed list of the stockholders who had sent in their proxies."

"Let me look at it," Mason said.

Conway handed him four typewritten sheets of paper neatly stapled together. He said, "It was there under the front seat where it might seem I had tried to conceal it where it wouldn't be found. It was in a manila envelope."

"How did it get there?"

"I don't know. It could have been put there anytime."

"While you were parked near the hotel?"

'YOUR CAR LOCKED?'

"While I was parked near the hotel, while I was parked in front of the drugstore where I was telephoning, while I was parked any place."

"You keep your car locked?"

"No, I take the ignition key with me, of course, but the doors and windows are unlocked."

"What about the list? Have you checked it?"

"As nearly as I can. There's one peculiar thing about it."

"What?"

"It's almost too good."

"What do you mean, almost too good?"

"Almost too reassuring. The people who have sent in proxies are, for the most part, the very small shareholders, and some of them I know were discontented anyway. They'd have sent in proxies even if there hadn't been any advertising campaign."

"On a percentage basis what does it figure?"

"As nearly as I can figure without having access to the books of the corporation, there's only about seventeen per cent of the outstanding stock represented on this proxy list."

"Any date on it?"

"Yes, it's dated day before yesterday. It's supposed to be right up to date."

* * *

"How much have you handled it?"

"Handled it? Quite a bit. Why?"

"Then you've probably obliterated any chance of tracing it," Mason said.

"What do you mean You can't get fingerprints from paper, can you?"

"Sometimes you can," Mason said. "Using iodine fumes, you can quite frequently bring out latent fingerprints."

"I didn't handle the envelope much. I've gone over the list pretty thoroughly."

"I'm afraid it's part of the trap," Mason said. "Let's get started and I'll tell you about my information. You've had breakfast?"

"Sure, I had breakfast early this morning. I didn't sleep much last night."

"Who did?" Mason asked.

"You were worried?" Conway asked in alarm.

"I was busy," Mason told him. "Come on, let's get started."

"What about your list of stockholder proxies, and why do you think my list is a trap?" Conway asked.

Mason produced the sheets of carbon paper from his briefcase. "Take a look at these and you can see for yourself."

"Where did you get these?" Conway asked.

"Straight from the horse's mouth."

Conway held the sheets of carbon paper to the light one at a time, studied them carefully.

'I'M LICKED'

When he had finished he said, "If these are the straight goods, Perry, I'm licked."

"That bad?"

"That bad."

"These could be phony," Mason said, "but I don't think so."

"What will I do with that other list, the one I found in my car?"

"You'll have to give it to the D.A. Tell him you found it when you searched your car. You don't know where it came from so you'll have to tell him the whole story. They'll be searching your car this morning."

"Do I tell him anything about these sheets of carbon paper you have?"

"You're dammed mysterious, Mason. I'm your client."

"That's why I'm being mysterious. I'm going to get you out of this, but I'll do it my way."

"That's a promise," Conway said. "Let me tell them I'm checking out. Then you drive your car down the street and I'll pick you up."

"Okay," Mason said. "We've got lots of time."

Mason drove a block before he found a parking space. He slid his car in to the curb, put the ignition keys in his pocket, took his briefcase and moved over to Conway's car.

Conway was preoccupied, thinking about the proxy battle. "I'm afraid those ads have done more damage than I realized," Conway said.

"Of course," Mason pointed out, "the ads have been running for awhile, and most of the people who would be swayed by that type of reasoning would already have sent in their proxies. Don't throw in the sponge . . . You have that gun with you?"

"Yes . . . How did you get that list, Mason?"

"It's a long story," Mason told him, "and we haven't time to discuss it now. We're going to have to go to the district attorney's office and you'll have to tell your story. You're going to be questioned, and the newspaper reporters are going to have a field day."

"That will suit Farrell just fine!" Conway said bitterly.

"Don't be too certain," Mason said. "I think Farrell is having troubles of his own."

"How come?"

As Associate Press Secretary

Woman Speaking for Ike

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

The "voice" of the White House in this week of accelerated alarm over Soviet space feats has taken on a soft, feminine tone.

Newsmen pressing for President Eisenhower's reaction to Sputnik II and its celebrated canine passenger get their answers from associate Press Secretary Anne Wheaton, filling in for vacationing Jim Hagerty.

ANSWERS REVERBERATE

They are answers which can reverberate around the globe with the speed of Sputnik, echoing through the halls of the Kremlin and council chambers of the free world.

"Annie," as she is known to her closer friends in the Washington press corps, is admittedly sobered by this thought. Her words as spokesman for the President are chosen with care, and she cautiously parries efforts of reporters to draw her beyond her pre-conceived bounds.

COVERED ALBANY

She was initiated into the man's world of politics in Albany, where, in the early 1920's, she was one of the first woman reporters to cover the New York state capital. Her father, John Williams, served as New York labor commissioner under five governors.

After a career in public relations and a marriage that ended in divorce, Anne joined the GOP National Committee in 1939. As publicity director for women's activities, she rode the campaign trains with every Republican presidential candidate from Wendell Willkie to Dwight Eisenhower.

As Mamie Eisenhower's press aide in the 1952 campaign, she became a close friend of the "first-lady-to-be," and was still holding her national committee job last May 2 when Hagerty telephoned and told her she had better sit down, because he had a surprise.

An hour and a half later, Eisenhower announced the appointment of his new associate press secretary to 1,500 cheering GOP women. Anne, who likes to make spur-of-the-moment decisions, had given her answer to Hagerty without taking a moment to think it over.

Does the ranking woman on the White House staff think the United States will ever have a woman chief executive?

"Certainly not in my lifetime," Anne replies firmly. "I just don't think the world is ready for a woman president."

Seaway Jurisdiction Change Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) says he would oppose a change in jurisdiction of the St. Lawrence Seaway from the Army to the Commerce Department.

"The traditional enemies of the seaway have more interest in the department of commerce than the Army," Potter said. The senator said such a change in supervision would open the way to higher tolls than contemplated.

Potter told a news conference that he has been unable to get the White House or the Commerce Department to confirm or deny reports that the change in jurisdiction is being considered.

The senator said he previously protested to President Eisenhower any change in seaway jurisdiction. He said he later was assured by presidential assistant Sherman Adams that a transfer of the seaway to the Commerce Department had been postponed indefinitely.

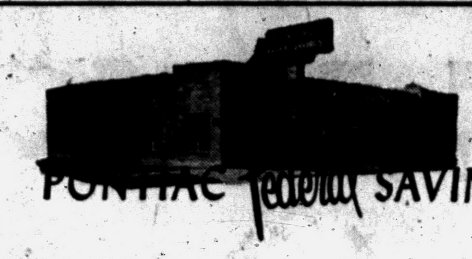

Arithmetic Need Cited

ST. LOUIS — A survey of the nation's newspaper and science editors shows that 70 per cent of them believe the citizens of tomorrow will need a "greater knowledge of arithmetic than their parents to get along."

The novel, "Gone With the Wind," has been translated into thirty languages, more than "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Market Sturdier Glass

NEW YORK — Italian glassware, which its New York importer says will stand up to 20 times the abuse normal glass will take, is being marketed in the United States now.

Will Mamie's Beaver Start New Fashion?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—The understanding-type women of America—reading, with a "tsk-tsk" here and a "poor thing" there, about Mamie Eisenhower and the beaver coat boo boo — say they feel nothing but sympathy for the first lady.

Their contention is that it is hard enough for a lady to turn down a gift of beauty: but then, when it's offered to her with the additional plaintive implication that a refusal might snuff out a dying industry — well, what else could a red blooded patriot do?

"Those nasty politicians," says Mama. "I feel sorry for Mamie!"

Nonsense. Mrs. Eisenhower, like any other resident of the White House, has only to retire her new coat to the blue room closet until the hot talk blows over and the cold blizzards blow up. She has Grade A top priority diplomatic immunity from this think called slur. If she goofed, nobody but the President is likely to mention it to her face, and he seems a tolerant sort.

The sympathy lies, in this case, with those gentle home-builders of America, the beavers.

Judging by past performance, when the unwritten White House rule against endorsements has been broken, beavers are in for a real pelting. Fur designers already are wondering what to do about their overproduction of minks.

A new book by William Freeman called "The Big Name" has an entire chapter devoted to what happens when, inadvertently, a president or his lady endorses a product. The reaction is immediate and phenomenal.

For example, when Ike took the oath of office in 1953, he chose to wear a Homburg, rebelling at the traditional, even haughtier, high silk hat. Overnight, the Homburg was returned to sartorial power throughout the states, and silk hats have rarely been seen since on this side of the Atlantic.

After his heart attack in 1955, the President's physician, Dr. Paul Dudley White, recommended cycling for those with cardiac problems. Bicycle sales almost immediately shot up 20 per cent, and are still on the rise.

F.D.R. used to smoke a certain brand of cigarettes. Fortunately, according to author Freeman, this never got noised around, or the advertising copy might have read: "When Russia puts on the pressure, when the French cabinet fails, when Congress acts ornery, when wars and floods and taxes weigh me down — that's when I take a——." It would have run the other brands out of sight—in tar and nicotine.

When Eisenhower gave up smoking, in 1957, he said off-handedly, "No doctor ever told me I should stop. But for me it was easier to stop, and I will only say this: I really believe if a person turns their mind to something else and quit pitying themselves about it they won't find it nearly as hard to quit smoking as they think it is." Tobacco companies are still smoking about that one.

When the presidential indigestion was blamed on blueberry pie; berry prices fell off sharply; in Truman's administration, the sales of pianos, wild sport shirts and bourbon went up.

"Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower," writes Freeman, "goes to great lengths to make sure she is never photographed holding, using or otherwise appearing to endorse a specific, recognizable product."

This time, for some obscure female reason, she changed her policy.

Relative of Queen Combats Ghost

WORPLESDON, England — Rev. Andrew Elphinstone, 37, rector of Worplesdon, England, and a cousin of the Queen, has laid a ghost for a parishioner.

The "disturbances" started at Shepherds Cottage, near Guildford —a farm cottage occupied by the Chittock family. Mrs. Elsie Chittock, 24, several times saw a white shrouded figure and heard a voice calling her name. A bedroom would feel suddenly cold with a curious flickering in the cold grate. Bedclothes were disturbed. Mrs. Chittock thought the ghost was that of her blind father who died last May.

The white figure was also seen by a number of people listening to the radio in the cottage. One went to Rev. Elphinstone for help. "I did not conduct a formal exorcism," the rector said. "I simply exercised my ordinary ministry of prayer in the house. The family is reassured and there has been no recurrence."

Dental Group Urged to Aid More Patients

MIAMI, Fla. (INS) — The American Dental Association was urged by its president today to seek "ways and means" to help more people in need of dental care.

Dr. Harry Lyons of Richmond, Va., told the association's 98th annual session in Miami "only 45 per cent" of the U.S. population "applies for and receives some type of dental care in a calendar year."

Dr. Lyons, dean of the School of Dentistry, Medical College of Virginia, declared: "Our basic responsibility is that of providing ways and means ultimately for our entire population to receive the benefits of dental care."

An ADA panel discussion assured dental patients that there is no justification for concern about radiation in routine X-ray examinations.

"X-ray examinations are essential in the diagnosis of dental diseases," said Dr. Robert J. Nelsen of Rockville, Md.

He said millions of x-ray examinations have been made yearly by dentists without a single injury reported by a patient.

A-Ships for Great Lakes?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atomic powered ships may be docking at Great Lakes ports some years after the St. Lawrence Seaway is completed. The seaway is scheduled for opening in the spring of 1959.

A Maritime Administration official, while not making any predictions, said today the government hopes atomic ships will be under construction commercially in about five years.

"In recent months," he said, "There has been a stepped up interest in the shipping industry in getting moving on commercial use of atomic power.

"However there are a number of questions to be solved. The industry has to know how much the government will be able to spend in cooperation with private concerns in building these ships."

The government already has launched a program to build the first atomic-powered merchant ship at a cost of about 40 million dollars.

NOT FOR GREAT LAKES

This first experimental ship, however, probably will not enter the Great Lakes since its draft—29½ feet—will be too deep for the seaway's controlling depth of 27 feet.

Atomic energy commission officials say this ship will be much more expensive to operate than conventionally fueled ships.

On the other hand, they expect and hope that subsequent ships will be commercially competitive with present day ships.

Rep. Dennison (R-Ohio) said in a statement:

"Atomic-powered ships are expected to mean cleaner and safer harbors throughout the Great Lakes region. They will emit no smoke or fumes and will eliminate the need for coal and fuel oil installations at dockside.

"They will be able to go two years without refueling, greatly reducing lay-over time during the Great Lakes shipping season."

Radio Moscow Denies Rocket Headed for Moon

In a short-wave interview with Bill Clark of radio station WERI, Wesley, R. I., Alexandre Petrov of Radio Moscow said:

"We have no knowledge of any Russian rocket heading for the moon. This is nothing more nor less than a figment of American newsmen's imagination."

Scientists around the world have speculated that the Russians may time a rocket shot to the moon with the celebration Thursday of the 40th anniversary of the Bolchevik revolution.

Petrov, an English-speaking announcer for Moscow radio, also expressed surprise at the protests in the Western World over the use of a dog in Sputnik II. He said:

"We love animals, too. As a matter of fact I have a spaniel I adore . . . but in our opinions the dog now in space is a real hero—a dedicated hero."

Would you tell her that your husband gives at work?

This is Toni.

She is two years old.

She has spent more than half of her young life in the hospital . . .

Toni is desperately ill.

When you tell the volunteer who comes to you for your United Fund contribution that your "husband gives at work," you are closing the door on Toni, too.

YOU ARE SAYING NO TO THIS LITTLE GIRL . . . and to the thousands of other children whose only hope of ever playing hopskotch or jumping rope or climbing trees again is the money you give to the Pontiac Area United Fund.

TONI NEEDS THE KIND OF HELP THAT ONLY MONEY CAN BUY: money for plasma and medicine, for hospital meals, for treatments and costly specialized equipment. Toni's parents would gladly give this money themselves. But how many families could do it all? Could yours?

Where will the money come from, then?

In our area it comes from all the people.

It comes from businesses, who know that Pontiac Area's future depends on how strong and healthy and happy its children are.

It comes from the fathers, who are thankful that their children don't need the help that Toni needs.

AND IT COMES FROM THE PONTIAC AREA WOMEN. Women who . . . even though their husbands give at work, still don't want to be deprived of having a personal part in helping little children like Toni.

That is why, every year, women of Pontiac area give so generously when the Torch Drive volunteer . . . a woman . . . comes to call on them. Anything you can give will be appreciated . . . the price of a movie or a tube of lipstick or a carton of cigarettes. You can make your contribution right on the spot . . . or, if you want to give more, you can space it out over the whole year.

Whatever you give, the children of Pontiac Area . . . little, brave and helpless little children like Toni . . . will always be grateful to you. Please, please don't tell them your "husband gives at work."

55 CAMPAIGNS IN ONE . . . The United Fund is a permanent, non-profit corporation created to unite separate appeals for funds into one annual drive. This "once for all" way of giving greatly reduces collection costs so that more than 95 cents in every dollar does the good work you want it to do.

Bob Considine Says:

American's Chances of Being Pope Slim

ROME (INS) — The more time one spends around the Vatican the more difficult it is to see how an American might one day be elevated to the Chair of Peter.

It just seems too complex for the American mind. In addition, about half of the 58 cardinals who today would elect the new Pope if Pius XII passed on are Italians with ancestral roots deep in the tissue of the church. There hasn't been a non-Italian pope since the 1500s. Some of those who would vote as of now can recall a day when the U.S. was considered "missionary country" by the ancient church.

HERALDED AT HOME

Francis Cardinal Spellman is called "The Little Pope" by some of the old Vatican hands, but one hears much more in New York about his possible elevation than one hears at the Vatican. Some of the older Italian cardinals are jarred by the fact that the Pope is openly fond of the New York prelate.

The prospect of breaking in a new pope is also an exhausting thought to Vatican circles. Eugene Pacelli, Pius XII, is unquestionably one of the greatest popes since Peter.

His command of languages, (at 81 he is now adding Russian to his Italian, English, German, Latin, Portuguese and Spanish), his grasp of world affairs through the diplomatic system he himself largely built up, and the respect he commands beyond the Catholic world make him the all but indispensible man.

WRITES LEARNEDLY

Pius XII has written and spoken learnedly about a greater number of subjects than any other individual of our time. He was deploring the illicit use of the atomic bomb more than a year before the world knew — with the explosion of the first one in New Mexico—that the device existed. He has lectured on botany, the catechism, domestic service, eugenics, farming, geriatrics, housing, ideology, journalism, and so on through the alphabet to zoology.

Pius writes his own speeches and encyclicals in longhand, usually in the language which he proposes to use upon delivery. He is assisted by two Jesuit scholars, who are his research aides. Sometimes he will write the first draft in Latin, and correct it in translation.

The final draft is often typed out by the Pope himself, on the white portable he keeps in his Vatican office. He gets so wrapped up in the words that aides have found him with the typewriter on his lap instead of on the desk. He is an excellent touch-typist.

The Pope handles an enormous business as well as a spiritual empire. The budget of the Vatican is never released, but most authorities agree that the church gives at least $5,000,000,000 to charity each year. It helps support UNESCO, UNICEF, and the U.N.'s Food and Agricultural Organization.

SLACK TAKEN UP

That slack has been taken up to a large degree by the expansion of American contributions to the Holy See. But the church in the satellite countries cannot be abandoned. One of Pius XII's jobs has been to spirit financial aid to them, as well as support farflung missions seeking converts, and hundreds of other sensitive tasks.

One of these is believed to be the work of the church in Latin America, where a number of great estates have been voluntarily broken up as a means of eliminating a Communist talking point about the exploitation of the poor.

Another would be the precaution taken to avoid criticism by U.S. non-Catholics over the continued asylum Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary is receiving in the U.S. embassy in Budapest. Each month, a monsignor in Washington calls on the State Department and presents a check for Mindszenty's room and board.

It's a huge, exhausting and exacting job, for which Pius XII trained almost from birth. An indication of what he means to it might be gained from the manner in which he answers his private phone in his office. If the voice asks, "Who is this?" The Pope simply answers, in Italian, "Io." It means just "I." For Romans and many others, it is hard to believe that anyone else could say it.

Moscow Radio Calls Space Trip Very Relaxing

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today that nothing could be more restful than a junket through space.

Tests have shown that human beings isolated from the pull of gravity become accustomed to weightlessness, a broadcast to North America said.

It added that this "provides the best form of rest for human beings."

Five at first had "illusory sensations," the broadcast said. But after frequent repetitions, the "Human organism becomes accustomed to it."

Reds May Acquire Moon

DETROIT (INS) — Andrew Haley, chairman of the American Rocket Society, today said Russia may acquire the moon as one of its legal satellites.

He told 200 University of Detroit law students the Reds could legally claim the moon under international law by placing a flag or rocket on the moon.

Haley, an authority on international law and co-founder of the Arrowjet Engineering Corp., addressed the students on the urgency of establishing a code of interplanetary law.

He said nations control the air space above their boundaries up to altitudes of 275,000 feet, but the outer space above that belongs to no one.

Haley suggested the nations of the world will have to take steps to license rocket ships, satellites and other space vehicles.

He added an attempt by the Russians to claim the moon was not so fantastic:

"They were first to put a ball around the earth; they were first to put a brain (the dog's) into space, and their next plan is to put an object on the moon."

He predicted the Russians would attempt "at a much later date" to send a colony of men to the moon.

Mayor, 92, Steps Down After 48 Years in Office

Gay declined to seek re-election, saying he had held the office "about lone enough."

Hensley lost to Gay in the mayor's race four years ago but yesterday beat Marshall E. Vaughn, 482 votes to 237. He served as a member of the City Council six years.

Almond Wins Virginia Vote

Governorship Captured on Nine-to-Five Margin by Strict Segregationist

By JOHN F. DAFFRON

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Democrat J. Lindsay Almond Jr., 59, carried his pledge for a last ditch fight against any race mixing in public schools to a landslide victory for governor in yesterday's Virginia election.

The white-thatched former attorney general, who had the potent backing of the Byrd political organization, easily beat down the second challenge of Republican Ted Dalton.

Dalton lost by a 9 to 5 margin on a program that called for moderation on the schools-race issue. His plan would have substituted for massive resistance a program permitting token integration — enough, he said, to satisfy the requirements of federal court orders.

The Democratic big guns shot at his program constantly. They ridiculed the plan as one that would fight integration by accepting it. The results indicated the shots found the mark, especially in the central and southern areas where the Negro population is substantial to heavy and the Negro vote small.

Near complete returns gave Almond 63.73 per cent of a vote that topped a half million, a record for Virginia in a non-presidential election.

When The Associated Press ceased tabulation at 2 a. m. more than 97 per cent of the vote was reported. Returns from 1854 of the state's 1908 polling places showed Almond 320,266; Dalton 182,251.

Haley Urges Top Priority for Moon Rocket

Asks International Control

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The president of the International Astronautical Society said here last night the United States probably could hit the moon with a rocket within six months.

Andrew G. Haley urged this nation to put a rocket-to-the-moon on a top priority "crash" basis. In a speech at the University of Michigan, he said the U. S. has the components for such a rocket.

His statement followed by three days Russia's launching of its second Sputnik.

"Whoever loses this race, loses legal rights everywhere besides the hearts and minds of the people of the world," Haley said.

He said he would not be surprised if a Russian rocket already was headed for the moon. If Russia is the first to succeed in hitting the moon, it would establish "symbolic rights to its possession under existing international law," Haley said.

"Anyone who controls the moon, controls the earth and becomes capable of destroying anything on it," he said.

Haley said the U. S. should assume leadership in calling for a worldwide conference to internationalize the moon and outer space.

No single nation has a paramount claim to outer space nor a monopoly on the scientific genius which will soon make its exploration and exploitation a reality," Haley said.

"The field of austranautics (space travel) will progress only as international cooperation in this field is achieved."

He said despite Russia's lead in satellite and rocket development it would participate in such a conference.

"I've always found their scientists in this particular field quite cooperative," he said.

After a rocket hits the moon, Haley said, the succeeding step would be to dispatch unmanned and later manned rockets around it and back to the earth. Then human colonization would follow, he said.

9th Graders to Launch Rocket at Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN (AP) The City Council in this Western Michigan community has authorized a group of junior high school bous to go ahead with a rocket launching project.

Five ninth grade boys and three instructors sought council approval because of the ban on fireworks. instructor, said the boys were typical of numerous school groups springing up across the nation as rocketeers.

The boys' spokesman, Bob Harmon, said details of the rocket and a launching site will be kept secret. But he indicated the group planned to buy a kit from a firm that makes rockets for small scale experiments.

Within Striking Distance of Russia

Expect U.S. to Propose Network of Missile Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to propose to allied nations the creation of a network of missiles bases within striking distance of Soviet targets.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference yesterday that while the United States has already made arrangements with Britain for establishment of an intermediate range missiles unit in the British Isles he thought "it would be desirable to have them elsewhere."

The missiles involved would be those which, like the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force Thor, have an operational range of about 1,500 miles.

The arrangement made with the British at the Bermuda Conference last spring provides for the United States to furnish the missiles to Britain. Supplies of atomic or hydrogen warheads also would be kept close by, but those would remain in control of the United States ready for use if war broke out.

Dulles pictured the United States as being behind Russia in the development of ballistics missiles but said "I feel assured that we can catch up."

Dulles said that barring a breakdown in the Soviet system, he does not think the United States will ever again have the wide margin of superiority in military power which it had over the Soviet Union 10 years ago. That was just before the Russians exploded their first atomic device.

In terms of the East-West power relationship, he said, this creates a danger which forces the free nations to increase their unity and cooperation.

France as well as Britain has asked for missiles, and other European governments are understood to be interested.

The United States, for its part, needs advanced bases for intermediate range missiles if they are to serve the purpose of deterring the Soviets from aggression.

Speaking at Jubilee Session of Supreme Soviet

Khrushchev Asks U.S., Other Nations to Help Build Sputnik Commonwealth

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev called today for America's space satellite and those of other nations to join Russia's in a "commonwealth of Sputniks" whirling about the earth.

"Such a commonwealth, such a competition would be much better than competition in the race to manufacture death - producing weapons," the Soviet Communist party chief told a joint jubilee session of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet Union's parliament.

Seventeen thousand delegates and special guests from all over the Communist world, gathered in Moscow for the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, gave Khrushchev a standing ovation as he beamingly escorted China's Mao Tze-tung onto the stage of Moscow's giant Sports Palace.

It was Khrushchev's show. There was only one item on the program—"40 years of the great October revolution"—and the Russian chieftain delivered the main address.

The 40th anniversary celebration opened last night with a reunion of Soviet government and party "elders" in the Kremlin's Grand Hall. It will reach its climax tomorrow in the annual parade of military might and civilian workers through Red Square.

Khrushchev in his speech bore down on the achievements of Russian scientists.

The Soviet Union, he said, was the first to use atomic energy for peaceful purposes. He claimed it had developed the intercontinental ballistic missile for the same use and cited the Soviet launching of the first two earth satellites.

"Now our first Sputnik is not lonely in its space travels," Khrushchev said.

"Our Sputniks are circling the world, and are waiting for American and other Sputniks to appear and make a commonwealth of Sputniks."

Khrushchev recalled the 20th Congress of the Soviet Communist party, at which he criticized Stalin for establishing a "cult of personality." But he made it plain that Stalin is still regarded as a great figure.

"Lenin and Stalin will take their proper place in history," he declared. "Our people will remember Stalin and give him his due."

Turning to World War II, Khrushchev paid tribute to the part played by China in the war against Japan. He also had these kind words for the United States, Britain and France: "A great role in the common struggle of peace-loving peoples against Hitlerite Germany and Japanese militarism was also played by the peoples of the U.S.A., Britain, France and other countries of the anti-Hitlerite coalition."

Detect Ailing Wood With Ultrasonics

PRESTON, England—English researchers have been investigating a method by which foresters may be able to use ultrasonics to detect hidden fungus diseases that slowly destroy timberlands.

The researchers point out that ultrasonic equipment is already being used to detect flaws in wood. Ultrasonic devices send high-frequency waves through the wood and record variations in the waves caused by bad spots.

They report that the ultrasonic waves can be transmitted through four feet of good seasoned beechwood, but that no transmission at all occurred through a 2-inch piece of red pine infected with dry rot.

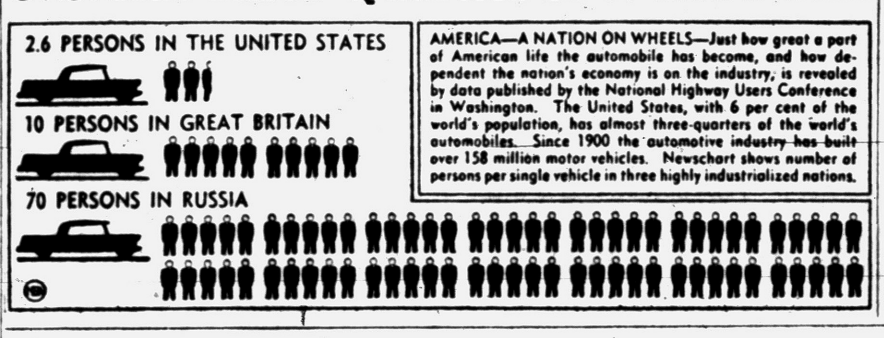

Valuable trees are often lost because such fungus infections as heart and butt rots go undetected for many years, they said.

Pianist's 7th Marriage Ends With Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The seventh marriage of Ervin Nyireghazi, Budapest-born pianist and composer, has ended in divorce.

His wife, Mara, 38, a native of Switzerland, married him only to become an American citizen, the 54-year-old former child prodigy testified yesterday in Superior Court. The couple was married last Dec. 23 and separated last March.

Loot Multiplies to $900 Level in Pot-O-Gold

It doesn't take long for the dollars to mount up in Pot-O-Gold. Right now they're inching their way toward the $1,000 mark. And you know what happens then—entries pour in by the thousands. The more entries there are the more chance there is that someone else will walk off with the money, so avoid the rush and get your entry in now. Those few correct numbers can mean $900 for you.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

HOMES FOR A MOBILE NATION — More than three million Americans are living in mobile homes the year around or using them for weekend holidays and vacations. Newschart above illustrates the make-up of this population on wheels. The use of mobile homes has shown a phenomenal growth: in 1930 sales amounted to less than two million dollars; in 1956, 140,000 units were sold for nearly 600 million dollars. Modern trailer homes range in size from 24 to more than 50 feet, have as many as three bedrooms and cost from $3,000 to $9,000.

Queen Elizabeth Predicts

Women to Sit With Lords

LONDON (INS)—Queen Elizabeth II shivered the timbers of her loyal House of Lords yesterday by warning that ladies may soon sit and vote beside their lordships.

She announced Parliament will be asked to approve this year a bill admitting women to the House of Lords and creating non-hereditary life peerages for both men and women.

The bill would end the ancient ban on women as members of the House of Lords.

The brief paragraph in the Queen's opening speech to Parliament had a stunning effect on the lords, and presaged a political battle that may split the Labor Party.

FORM CONTRAST

Elizabeth opened the Parliament in the traditional ancient ceremony in which stately procedure and glittering pomp formed a strange contrast to the space age events of which she talked.

Despite rain squalls, crowds lined the wet sidewalks six deep to watch the Queen and Prince Philip pass.

She was dressed in a jeweled diadem, gold tissue gown with bodice embroidered in pearls and gold. Philip wore the uniform of an admiral of the fleet.

They rode in a stage coach, and were escorted by scarlet-coated lifeguards and blue uniformed houseguards.

A 41 gun salute boomed in St. James Park as the coach arrived at the Parliament. The Queen's nine minute speech was delivered to an audience that included peers, government leaders and Princess Margaret.

Pontiac City Affairs

Substandard Homes to Go When Housing Is Secured

City commissioners learned from Oakland County authorities last night that county-owned substandard homes in the city would eventually be eliminated when suitable housing is secured for the families.

A lengthy report from Mrs. Hope F. Lewis, chairman of the Welfare Committee of the Board of Supervisors, was read to the commission last night.

It was referred to the city's substandard housing committee which meets today.

Mrs. Lewis emphasized in her letter that only six of the 16 substandard homes in Pontiac were occupied.

Because he said the city was "interested in how rapidly they are going to remove them," Commissioner Floyd P. Miles (District 4) suggested continuous checks to see what action the county takes.

In other business before the commission, City Attorney William A. Ewart was instructed to prepare an ordinance to amend the city's zoning map so as to change lot 167 at 249 Auburn Ave. from Residential 2 to Commercial 1.

The City Planning Commission had proposed the change as this lot is the only one in the block not commercial.

Right-of-way agreements and a deed for work in the Perry Park Subdivision storm sewer project were accepted last evening.

A public hearing was set for next Tuesday on a special assessment roll to finance blacktopping of Orlando avenue from Monticello to Oakland.

Other action was establishing assessment payments for three projects in the city's public improvement program.

Hollywood Headlines

'Wild Is the Wind' Brings Tony Quinn 6 Top Scripts

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(While Louella Parsons is on vacation the column will be written by Dorothy Manners.)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Wonder what made Anthony Quinn think he could give up acting for directing? Even with an extra $10,000 bonus already given to him by C. B. de Mille for his direction of "The Buccaneers" Tony is getting acting offers so good he can't turn them down.

As the result of the Oakland Preview of "Wild Is the Wind" in which he co-stars with Anna Magnani and Anthony Franciosa, Tony has had six top scripts submitted to him. But the first he has accepted is from Hal Wallis, who produced "Wild Is the Wind."

C. V. Whitney may be involved in getting a divorce but he certainly believes in families when it comes to making pictures.

He had Pat Ford, John Ford's son, act as producer on both "The Young Land" and the recently completed "Missouri Traveler," the first two of his "American Series." Pat Wayne, John Wayne's son starred in "Young Land."

So now, he not only has given Pat Ford the production go ahead on "The Valiant Virginians" and set Pat Wayne to be one of the three stars in it, but he is negotiating with Pat's distinguished father to direct it.

One fascinating aspect of "The Valiant Virginians" is that it is a Civil War story done from the angle of teen-agers, and was written by that excellent novelist, James Warner Bellah. What with a teen-age western being made, all I can see left to do is a teen-age Shakespeare.

3 HOURS SUSPENSE

"The Bridge on the River Kwai" runs for almost three hours with the suspense of its last half hour so nearly unendurable that I forgot time and place and every other little thing watching it. Mark my words, it will definitely be in the stretch at Academy time.

It stars William Holden, Alec Guinness, Jack Hawkins and Sessue Hawakawa but it is Guinness who dominates it almost entirely with his unforgettable performance of a British officer. There's a new boy in it, Jeffrey Horne, whom the teen-agers will squeal over. I'm sure. As for David Lean's direction, I've never seen any to surpass it.

Lana Turner, who always has recognized a handsome boy when she saw him, has rather expensive proof of how right she was when she selected Sean Connery, the British TV star, for her first personal production, "Another Time, Another Place."

Twentieth Century-Fox has now put him under a long term deal but so delighted is producer Turner with his work she wants to borrow him for her next lantern opus, "Miss Plymouth Comes Across." Naturally, Lana will play Miss Plymouth and in view of her vivid work in "Peyton Place" Twentieth will undoubtedly come across with Sean—at a slight profit.

Quite a compliment Vittorio de Sica is paying David Selznick. He will make his first visit to Hollywood when he flies in from Rome December 18th to attend the premiere of "A Farewell to Arms" in which he co-stars with Jennifer Jones and Rock Hudson. Next day Vittorio flies right back.

Cute Yvonne Lime with Singer John Durant at the Eldorado.

Ann Jeffreys and Bob Sterling are such a hit in their night club act in Dallas, they have been set for a three-week engagement at the Palmer House in Chicago, opening November 27.

Ricky Nelson has just earned his first gold record, his "Be Bop Baby" having now sold a million. Tomorrow night on Ozzie and Harriet's show, he kisses a gal for the first time—on TV, that is. In his movie "Peyton Place," he kisses Hope Lange both good and plenty.

Connie Stevens, making her movie debut in "Rockaby Baby," will have an $11,000 Edith wardrobe wrapped around her.

That's all for today.

Just as an enormous oil pipeline carries petroleum from producer to consumer, so does a giant medium carry goods from advertiser to consumer. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

The newspaper pipeline is the shortest distance between advertiser and buyer. It functions without letup, carrying sales messages to an average 100,000,000 people daily. Its myriad branches extend into every city and town.

The complete and constant coverage that newspapers guarantee every advertiser is one of the reasons that prompt advertisers to place an overwhelming emphasis on newspapers. Last year all advertisers spent $3,235,600,000 in newspaper advertising – more than they spent in television, radio, magazines and outdoor combined!

If you want a steady flow of your products to your consumers, use steady advertising in the daily newspaper. It's the most efficient and direct pipeline.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

Historical Marker Traces Origins of Lapeer County

One of the first counties to be site-marked under the Michigan Historical Commission's historic site-marking program will be Lapeer County.

Lapeer and Gratiot counties will have cast aluminum green and gold markers at their respective county court houses at Lapeer and Ithaca, according to an announcement made by Dr. Lewis Beeson.

Eventually it is hoped to erect historic site markers at the county seats of all 83 Michigan counties, according to Beeson. This is the second phase of the commission's marking program, and will begin next spring.

During the first phase, which will be continued, 50 historic sites were marked. These were dedicated to certain events or personages.

Showing the origin of Lapeer's name, the new court house marker will trace the county's historic and economic growth, as follows:

"Set off by Gov. Cass in 1822, this county got its name from the French "LaPierre," a translation of the Indian name for the Flint River. Settlers began to arrive in 1828. The county seat, founded in 1831, also was named Lapeer. Organization of the county government took place in 1835. This court house, built in 1839, is the oldest one still in use in Michigan. Farming is the county's principal economic activity, and it was here that the first local Grange in Michigan was founded in 1872."

Light Gelatin Dessert Cranberry Flavored

Of course you're familiar with stewed cranberries, cranberry jelly, and other cranberry companions for the Thanksgiving Day turkey. But here's a dessert which may be new to you: Cranberry Whip. It's suggested by home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, as a dessert that satisfied but avoids over-stuffing.

Cook ½ pint of cranberries for 8 minutes in ½ cup of water. Press berries through sieve. Soften 2 tablespoons of gelatin in 3 tablespoons of water and add to berries. Stir in one third cup sugar and chill. Beat whites of 4 eggs until stiff and add 2 tablespoons of sugar. Then add eggs to cranberry mixture, with 1½ teaspoons lemon juice. Chill before serving.

Keep Children Contented With Candy Spree

By International News Service

If you want to keep those kids happy on stay-indoors winter days, whip up a batch of vanilla caramels.

Here's how to make them:

Mix up tow cups of sugar, one cup of corn syrup, one-half cup of coffee cream, one cup of milk, and two tablespoons of butter.

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture starts to thickeen. Add one cup of evaporated milk slowly.

Continue to stir and cook until the temperature of 245 degrees (sea level temperature) is reached.

Remove from the fire, add one teaspoon of vanilla, and turn at once into a slightly greased pan.

Winter Squash in Season Makes Quick Easy Meal

Winter squash, now on the market, have thick skins and dark colored flesh. Butternut, Table Queen and Hubbard varieties are good sources of vitamin A. When baking, keep moisture in the squash by turning the cut side down, or bake whole.

Forty to 60 minutes is all the time it takes to bake most winter squash in a 400 degree oven. Compatable seasonings are: bacon drippings, sausage, unsulphured molasses, honey or brown sugar and of course, browned butter.

Try Sour Cream Icing

You can prepare one of the easiest and best cake frostings if commercially-prepared sour cream is available. Just melt a six-ounce package of semi-sweet chocolate pieces and blend it with a cup of sour cream. Add vanilla if you like.

Chocolate Sure to Burn If Heat Is Set Too High

Chocolate can develop a burnt flavor quicker than any other food because it contains so little water. It may be successfully melted over low heat.

If you do not have the thermostatically controlled burner, it is best to melt it in a bowl, set over hot water, or in the oven during preheating or while the oven is cooling. The important thing to remember is not to keep chocolate in contact with heat too long.

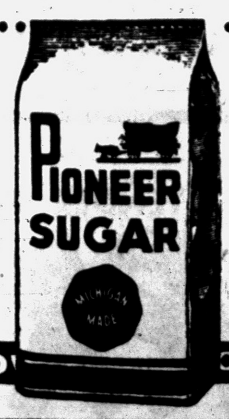

It's Just Plain Good!

A banana nut loaf can do double duty. Serve it first sandwich style with a layer of softened cream cheese; cut in strips or small squares. Then lightly toast slices of the bread under the broiler and serve with a lemon or orange sauce for a lunch or supper dessert.

Irish Say MSU Is Best Team in Nation

AP Wirephoto

Spartans Given Top Rating by Saturday's Foe

Notre Dame at Highest Key for Michigan State This Week

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

EAST LANSING — Despite what the national polls say, the Irish of Notre Dame, this week's opponent for Michigan State, say the Spartans are the best team in the country.

"Our scouts have watched Michigan State closely this year," said Notre Dame publicist Charley Callahan, "and despite the loss to Purdue, we are convinced that the Spartans are the nation's finest football team."

Speaking to members of the Michigan Football Writers Association in East Lansing yesterday afternoon, Callahan indicated that the Irish are a much better team than the squad which was trimmed 47-14 by MSU a year ago.

"We are hurt badly with injuries, however, but I think our team should be at a higher peak this week than it was against Navy last week," he commented.

Callahan said the Irish line was deflated against Navy and the Middies played an errorless game in winning 20-6.

MSU coach Duffy Daugherty in looking over the Notre Dame starting lineup, commented, "I feel I know some of these names quite well. I guess I should, they are the boys we were after and Notre Dame got."

"The attitude is great, this is a spirited and hustling team," said Daugherty. "They tried too hard against Purdue, and it was our own mistakes which hurt us," he added.

The MSU coach pointed out that of 26 times which the Spartan offense was stopped from putting on a drive in the Purdue and Illinois games, it was either fumbles or encroachment penalties which stopped the drives.

This is the 9th straight sellout for the Notre Dame game and with the new seating in Spartan Stadium, a new record crowd of 76,000 will witness the contest.

All seats have been sold for months and a total of 38 radio stations in Michigan, Ohio and Chicago will carry the game along with Mutual Broadcasting System which has 560 outlets across the country.

Delvecchio's Goal Ties Rangers

Wings Rally for 1-1 Draw

DETROIT (AP) — The New York Rangers, for the first time in 16 years, hold a share of the National Hockey League lead.

The Rangers moved into a tie for first place last night after a 1-1 deadlock with the Detroit Red Wings. The Rangers share the lead with high-flying Montreal Canadiens who have played only 11 games to 13 for the New York squad.

"This is the first time we've been in first place in 16 years," beamed Muzz Patrick, Ranger general manager who was a member of the last previous team to achieve that status — the championship team of 1941-42. Patrick watched the game from the press box.

Delvecchio stole the puck in the far zone, legged 12 feet down the boards and whipped a 25-footer past Marcel Paille, New York's sub goalie.

Delvecchio's shot wiped out New York's early lead marked up in the first period by Camille Henry.

The deadlock stopped Detroit's current slump in which the Red Wings have dropped four of their last five games and have been shut out in three of them.

Henry scored the goal while the Wings were shorthanded, slipping in front of the net to poke in a shot which had been blocked by goaltender Terry Sawchuk.

There were no other games in the NHL last night.

Last night's tie was the 1st of the season for the Red Wings, who went into the contest with four wins and seven losses. The Wings are now in 5th place with nine points, seven behind the Canadiens and New York.

The Wings invade Montreal Thursday, Toronto Saturday and Boston Sunday, then go to Chicago on Nov. 16 before returning home for a return match with the Black Hawks on Nov. 17.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The international squabble over the bantamweight championship of the world should be settled tonight when Alphonse Halimi of France and Raul (Raton) Macias of Mexico climb into the ring at Wrigley Field to fight 15 rounds or less.

Most boxing people think it will be less as these two hard punching 118-pounders, Macias the stylist and Halimi a man with a small bomb in each glove, square off to end a dispute that has existed for almost four years in the division.

The bout is set for 10 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, and with a 300-mile radius of Los Angeles shut out, will be televised throughout the nation via ABC network.

Macias rates as a 10-8 betting favorite to gain a clear claim to the title. He laid claim and recognition from the U.S. National Boxing Assn. by knocking out Chamrern Songkitrat of Thailand in San Francisco March 9, 1955, in 11 rounds.

Halimi, the only time he traveled 15 rounds, outpointed Mario d'Agata of Italy in Paris April 1 of this year to win recognition by the World Boxing Championship Committee.

A crowd estimated at 20,000 is expected to pay a startling $200,000 or more to see the fight.

Macias is the magnet, the lure and idol of countless thousands of Mexican nationals who have already swarmed across the border towns of California, Arizona and Texas to see the battle. Added to these is Los Angeles' huge Mexican population, which has a similar adulation for Raton, or "Little Mouse."

The U.S. Embassy in Mexico City announced that 8,000 visas have been issued to Mexican fans heading north for the battle.

Whatever the turnout, the fighters are in for the biggest payday of their lives and the richest purses of the bantamweight division.

Halimi gets a $50,000 flat guarantee, which is some 20 million francs. Macias is guaranteed $30,000, or 380 thousand pesos, or a percentage of the gate on a sliding scale.

Macias, 23, already wealthy as a rancher, business man and movie actor in Mexico, has agreed to give the 25-year-old native of Algiers a return fight within 90 days in Paris if he wins.

READY FOR BOUT — Manager Pancho Rosales tapes the hands of Raul (Raton) Macias before a workout in preparation for tonight's bantamweight title fight against Alphonse Halimi of France. Macias is recognized as the Mexican champ and Halimi is the European champion.

Eye Big 10 Title

Buckeyes on Right Road

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes are right back where they were a year ago—undefeated in Big Ten play and headed for another Western Conference championship.

Ohio State last year blasted past Illinois, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Indiana but ran into Iowa and Michigan, suffered two straight shutouts and finished in a tie for fourth place.

Now the Buckeyes, who lost their opener to Texas Christian, have pushed past Illinois, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Indiana. And again they must face Iowa and Michigan. However, there's a change in the script this season. Rapidly improving Purdue comes before Iowa and Michigan.

All Ohio State needs is two victories in its last three games to assure a trip to Pasadena and the Rose Bowl. And if one of the two possible victories comes against Iowa, coach Woody Hayes' crew also will wind up with the conference title.

One reason that the Buckeyes are not apt to collapse this season is that Ohio State is eligible for the Bowl bid. Last year Ohio State was on probation for Big Ten rules infractions.

Coach Hayes admitted to the Chicago Football Writers yesterday by way of a telephone hookup that he's not sure of his team's "staying power." Neither would he make any comparisons between this year's team and the 1954 and 1955 teams which won successive Big Ten titles.

Hayes fears Purdue and said the Boilermakers have the "best defense in the conference." The game will be regionally televised on NBC at 1:30 p.m.

The Boilermakers have done an about face after losing their first three games to Notre Dame 12-0, Minnesota 21-17, and Wisconsin 23-14. Purdue is now riding a three game winning streak by knocking off Michigan State 20-13, Miami of Ohio 37-6 and Illinois 21-6.

Purdue coach Jack Mollenkopf rates Ohio State as "probably the soundest football team we meet this year." That could very well be true but another coach doesn't consider the Buckeyes tops.

Coach Milt Bruhn, whose Wisconsin team lost to Iowa, Ohio State and Michigan State in order, believes Michigan State is the best of the three. "I'd have to say that on last Saturday's game at least," said Bruhn. "All three, however, are very fine teams."

From The PRESS BOX

Several members of the Detroit Pistons will stage the 2nd in a series of nine weekly basketball clinics Thursday night at 7:15 at the Mumford High School gymnasium. The clinics are free to everyone interested.

Waterford's Kerry Keating of Eastern Michigan College has not only taken over the state scoring lead but also ranks as the leading ball carrier in the MAC. Eastern tops the league with 5-0.

The Huron Bowl Classic league has an interesting three-man individual battle going that should be something to watch from here in. Les Rothbarth and J. Nickell are currently tied for the top average of 205 with Bill Bull just one pin behind. Rothbarth fired a 277 game recently as Bull was posting a 677 series.

Bud Wilkinson has coached five All-American guards at Oklahoma but he calls Bud Krisher of this year's eleven better than any he has had. Krisher is a 216-pounder.

It's ironical that Walled Lake's twice-beaten Vikings have returned a total of five punts for touchdowns this fall as compared to none a year ago when the locals ranked with the state's top powers. Three of the long runbacks occurred Friday at Berkley.

Bob Newman of Washington State College is major college football's new individual offense leader, moving into first place with 1,001 yards made on the ground and through the air.

Statistics released today by the NCAA service bureau show the Cougars quarterback jumped from sixth a week ago to the top spot by gaining 277 yards against Oregon State last week. He completed 17 of 25 tosses for 243 yards and three touchdowns but Washington State bowed, 39-25.

Pistons Fail in Rally As Unbeaten Celts Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Detroit Pistons rallied in a rough-and-tumble fourth quarter but failed to upset the undefeated Boston Celtics last night.

The Celts won their sixth game without a loss last night in downing the Detroit Pistons 111-105 in the first game of an NBA twinbill, which later saw the St. Louis Hawks win over the Syracuse Nats 115-101.

A flareup of tempers in the closing minutes had the Celtics' Tom Heinsohn wrestling on the floor with Harry Gallatin, a Detroit front-liner imported from New York. Then Chuck Noble of Detroit nearly came to blows with Bob Cousy, who got into the game with only eight minutes to go.

Cousy, recovering from the flu, pulled the Celtics together and helped maintain the edge they gained in the first half.

Detroit trailed 20-23 after the first period and 44-58 at the half but outscored Boston in the third period, 20-28, and in the fourth period 31-25.

Boston's Olympic hero, Bill Russell, blocked numerous Detroit shots. But on rebounding Walter Dukes of the Pistons was high with 25 while Russell got 19.

The Hawks moved into a first place tie with the Cincinnati Royals in the western division, both with a .500 percentage. The Hawks are now 3-3, the Royals 2-2.

Bob Pettit hit for 18 points in the first half, a St. Louis record, and wound up with 34 points, as the Hawks were never headed. Dolph Schayes led the Nats with 20 points.

Table Tennis League Starts

PTTA Netters Conduct Loop Play on Fridays at Pontiac High

The Pontiac Table Tennis Association began its 1957-58 season last Friday night under the sponsorship of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Competition this season is being held each Friday evening from 7 to 11 p.m. in the Pontiac High School girls' gymnasium.

Any person interested in the game of table tennis is welcome to attend these sessions. There will be opportunity for general play as well as organized league competition.

It is hoped that the new location and the better facilities provided there will cause an increase in membership. Ten four-man teams played in the league last season.

Although the PTTA wants to maintain its statewide championship reputation, all beginners and mediocre players are invited. The league will meet every Friday through the end of March.

Prep Stars Featured

It will soon be time for the prep honor football teams around the leagues, the county and the state.

Lake Orion Holds 7th in 'B' Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Marshall's Redskins can get by off-beaten Albion and Coldwater in their next two games, the powerful Twin Valley League team should rack up its first mythical state class B high school football title.

The Redskins headed up the Associated Press "top ten" rankings for the fourth successive week today and hold a comfortable edge over the second-place East Lansing Trojans, whose only setback was a 6-0 verdict to the pacesetters.

East Lansing took over second place in the seventh weekly ratings, made by the AP's panel of sports writers from all parts of Michigan. The Trojans whipped Coldwater 41-12 while Charlotte—in second place last week—slipped to third place after the flu outbreak caused postponement of the game against Ionia.

Dowagiac got its seventh straight win and its third shutout Saturday against Howe (Ind.) military 26-0 and slipped past Manistee into fourth place. Manistee beat Traverse City St. Francis 26-16 for its sixth in succession.

Behind Manistee in sixth place for the second straight week is Grand Blanc. The Bobcats started the season with a pair of one-touchdown deadlocks but since halfback Bob Suci got back into fulltime action have racked up five straight wins. They trimmed Flint Beecher 27-13 last weekend.

Lake Orion retained seventh place and Fremont stayed in the eighth spot. Lake Orion bested Troy 20-7 last weekend while Fremont was edging Zeeland 19-13.

Warren and Clawson replaced South Haven, held to a 20-20 tie by Vicksburg, and Flushing, which suffered its second loss (0-14 to Mt. Pleasant.)

Here's the way the AP panel rates the Class B teams this week, including won-lost-tied records:

1. Marshall (6-0-0)
2. East Lansing (5-1-0)
3. Charlotte (6-0-0)
4. Dowagiac (7-0-0)
5. Manistee (6-0-0)
6. Grand Blanc (5-0-2)
7. Lake Orion (6-0-0)
8. Fremont (6-0-0)
9. Warren (6-0-0)
10. Clawson (5-1-0)

Gridder Rocks 'n' Rolls

Sword Dancer at Stanford

"Al puts himself completely into everything he does," Taylor says. "Whether on the football field or in everyday life."

Al learned the knife dance in his native Samoa.

"It is a custom of the people of Samoa and I have been doing it for many years," the 21-year-old senior says.

He does the dance along with singing Hawaiian and Samoan folk songs at San Francisco hotels and nightspots, football season included.

"Samoan music has more of a beat than the American type," said Harrington, an American history major. "It is more of a group music, rhythmic and highly harmonized."

He was born in the small village of Mapsaga in Samoa and moved after World War II to Honolulu with his mother who was a Navy nurse.

"I saw my first football game in Honolulu and I thought it was a great game right from the start," the solid 200 pound six footer declared.

Giant Fans Seek $700,000 Worth of 1958 Ducats

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A torrent of ticket reservations—almost $700,000 worth already—is swamping the San Francisco Giants' front office.

"I've heard of such things happening in Milwaukee, but this beats anything I've ever had anything to do with," exulted ticket manager Peter Hoffman, who's been with the National League organization 25 years.

Hoffman predicts the Giants will play to 1¼ million fans in their first season in San Francisco. To reach that figure, he said, an enlarged minor league stadium still seating only 23,160 would "have to run at near capacity for all our 74 home dates."

The city is building a new stadium for the Giants but it won't be ready next season.

This Line Coach Gives Executive Grid Orders

CLAIRTON, Pa., (AP) — Mayor Kenneth L. Stilley, former Notre Dame football star and now an assistant coach of the University of Detroit Titans, was re-elected yesterday as chief executive of this Western Pennsylvania city.

Stilley, a Democrat, defeated Republican James Kemp, 3,479 to 1,964. This was close to Stilley's winning margin of nearly 1,500 votes in 1953.

46 Teams Keep Records Clear

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirteen teams were blasted out of the undefeated-untied ranks in Michigan's high school football action last weekend, leaving 46 teams with unsullied records. University of Detroit High was the major Class A casualty, taking a 38-7 pasting from Detroit Denby. But even more severe than that was Battle Creek St. Philip's 51-0 loss to Jackson St. John.

On the other hand, Mt. Morris St. Mary dropped off the elite list by the closest margin as Gaines took a 7-6 verdict. Allen Park took a 6-0 lead over Battle Creek but the Western Michigan crew came from behind for a 27-13 decision that knocked Allen Park out of the unbeaten-untied ranks.

Previously-undefeated Homer was supposed to play an oft-beaten Athens team but Athens asked out because of flu. So Homer booked South Lyon and promptly lost a 13-6 decision.

Other casualties included Clare and Montrose.

County 'A' Grid Stars Numerous

By BILL CORNWELL

It's football all-star time again. With the 1957 gridiron campaign entering its final stages, the hour has come for coaches, sports writers, broadcasters and other officials to get their heads together and select the annual honor teams.

High school coaches in Oakland County and the sports staff of The Pontiac Press are not immune to this post - season custom and about three weeks from now the Press will name its 2nd annual All - County elevens.

County coaches will choose these teams. Their ballots will decide who's going to be honored on four different squads — All - Oakland County and classes A, B and C.

Each coach has a player or players from his own club that he thinks worthy of all-star mention. A survey of Class A mentors around the county reveals an abundance of big school talent for consideration.

Birmingham coach Carl Lemle is particularly high on his giant fullback, Chuck Gibson. "He is the heart of our squad," Lemle said.

Gibson, a 205-pound bruiser, has been sparkling offensively for the Maples this season. He has gained over half of his team's yardage and averages better than five yards per try.

Bob Stephenson and Jim Sechrist, the Maples' rangy ends, also got Lemle's praise, but most of it was reserved for Gibson. "When our defense lags, Chuck goes in at tackle and the team perks up right away," said Lemle.

Pontiac High's improved squad has two outstanding candidates for all-star honors in the opinion of new head coach Jesse MacLeay.

Dick Whitmer, who started the season at quarterback for the Chiefs, then switched to fullback, has been a steady standout. He has been particularly effective as a linebacker on defense.

Charley Brown, a 180-pound sophomore guard, rates the other half of MacLeay's praises. The PHS pilot thinks Brown will be a solid all-state candidate by the time he is a senior.

Hazel Park, enjoying the best season in the school's history, has five top-flight gridders in coach Chuck Skinner's opinion.

Most of Skinner's compliments are directed toward tackle Lou Pavloff, a 185-pound senior and an all-A student. "He's a sound blocker, fast and tops at diagnosing plays from his II . backing position," commented Skinner.

Skinner was also keen on his other tackle, Andy Sneddon, who makes a lion's share of the tackles. Others drawing praise were end Bill Murphy, a pass - catching specialist with fine hands, and halfbacks Oscar Lewis and Jim Wellington, both of whom are averaging more than nine yards per carry.

Ted Meister at Ferndale reserves his choicest phrases for Bob Phedehirt, a 185-pound tackle who blocks and tackles viciously and does the team's kicking. He also lauded quarterback Tom Morey, an aerial artist, and halfback Roger Sutton.

Dennis Van Sicklen, a stalwart two-way tackle at Walled Lake, draws coach Dave Smith's juiciest words. Smith calls Van Sicklen "as good a tackle as you can find in this area." Don Yeargan, speedy halfback who also sees end duty, is another Walled Lake mainstay named by Smith.

Southfield's Monte Charles is all out for his big center and linebacker, Tod Grant, and his pulling guard on offense, Jim McCann. In addition, he mentioned his entire backfield of Bob Filar, Tom Ridley, Joe Moore and Jim Zurcher, of which Ridley is the sparkplug.

Farmington's Dave Catherman is the No. 1 object of Jack Hayes' praises. The elusive halfback is the workhorse of the Falcon offense. Hayes calls Frank Clappison "as good a defensive end as I have seen this fall."

Berkley's top contender for postseason honors is center Ron Martens, who was named to the Press Class A team in 1956. Coach Howard (Red) Bailey says that Martens is strongest offensively, especially as a blocker.

Oldtimers Relate Famous Grid Happenings of Yore

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It was a day for reminiscing.

Ernie Nevers, former Stanford coach, told how Coach Glenn S. (Pop) Warner beat California in 1925 by putting too much air in a football. Simple: Cal wasn't used to a fat ball. Stanford practiced with one for a week.

Dr. Harold P. Muller, the Brick Muller of California's Wonder Team, recalled how he reared back in the 1921 Rose Bowl and tossed a 70-yard touchdown pass to Brodie Stephens.

California beat Ohio State 28-0 and Muller said the victory led to the West getting national recognition in football.

But two real old timers really stole the show yesterday at a Touchdown Club luncheon celebrating the anniversary of the first football game — Princeton-Rutgers on Nov. 6, 1869.

It was the first time the pair had seen each other since Dec. 9, 1899 when Stagg's Chicago University team whipped a Wisconsin team sparked by O'Dea 17-0. It was a postseason game at Madison for the Mid-Western championship.

O'Dea, 85 and ramrod straight, told how he dropkicked a 62 yard field goal against Northwestern in 1898 and how his Badgers dumped the Stagg men the year before 23-8.

PHS Faces Bay City 'Passnik' Friday

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Michigan's prep version of "Sputnik" is "Passnik," rifle-armed quarterback Jerry Gross of Bay City Central, which will bring its powerful grid machine to Pontiac's Wisner Stadium, Friday night.

The talented junior has guided the Wolves to six victories in seven games, the only loss being to the state's top ranked team, Midland, 20-14.

Gross hit on 16 of 22 passes for four touchdowns in routing Saginaw, 41-0, last week to bring his total for seven games to 65 of 101 for 1,294 yards and 16 touchdowns.

Actually the passing statistics against Saginaw showed 20 of 28 for a shuddering 331 yards. A pair of reserve quarterbacks, J. C. Dunn and Tom Shook, added to the monstrous total.

The Chiefs can expect an aerial bombardment Friday night with any of a half dozen capable receivers as the targets, but this does not mean the Wolves are shy in running power.

Halfbacks Ken Swincicki and Butch Kokaly and fullback Ken Carey join Gross in the starting backfield to give Bay City a powerful ground attack as well.

Last year at Wisner Stadium the Wolves romped to a 32-0 victory and finished the year as the state's number two team. Currently ranked second, again, Bay City would like to regain the top spot, but this is unlikely since Midland has only Owosso remaining and the Chemics should have little trouble here.

The big game in deciding the championship of the Saginaw Valley Conference may come next week when Bay City and defending champion Flint Northern tangle.

Pontiac, with a 1-2 conference record, has nothing to lose but everything to gain Friday. Except for the Midland game and the 26-6 Arthur Hill game, no team has been able to contain the Wolves within 41 points.

The Chiefs, like the other teams already vanquished by Bay City, are decided underdogs up to as much as 32 points. For this reason Pontiac should feel little pressure, and the Chiefs could afford to take every gamble in throwing everything in the book at the Wolves.

Last week Pontiac spotted Flint Northern 20 points in the first half and then held the Vikings scoreless before losing 20-7.

Coach Jesse MacLeay was upset over the poor blocking and tackling in the Northern game and has made a concentrated effort this week to improve the tactics.

Game time Friday night is 8:00 p.m. Pontiac grid fans can watch one of the state's great high school teams in action. Tickets can be purchased in advance at the high school or at Osmun's men's stores.

Gacki's 121 Tops Area

Drake Still Leading County

By CHUCK ABAIR

Drake ranks first among players with schools inside Oakland County with 85 points, 13 ahead of St. Frederick's Jack Lyon and big Bill Tunnicliff of Ferndale St. James. The latter pair will be running against each other Sunday.

Gacki is all alone in the area point race with a total of 121 in only six games. A distant 2nd is Almont's All-State hopeful Frank Hartway, who has 11 TDs for 66 digits.

Drake, Lyon and Tunnicliff each made two touchdowns last weekend to keep ahead of such county contenders as Stu Clark of Cranbrook, Charlie Graves of Ortonville, South Lyon veteran Tom Underhill and Tom Ridley of Southfield.

Clark holds a one-point edge over Graves for 3rd place with 59 points. Underhill has 56 and Ridley 54.

Milford end Terry Anderson was the top single game scorer during the most recent round of games getting 19. Close behind was Dave Hecht of Rochester with 18. Hecht and rugged Holly fullback Bob Letson have come along fast in recent weeks and have tallied 24 points apiece in their last two games.

Albion Harriers Title Favorites

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Albion College is a heavy favorite to win the MIAA cross-country championship at the league's annual run on Wednesday, Nov. 13.

The meet will be held over Calvin's new course at Grand Rapids.

Albion scored a sweep over league opposition in dual meets including a victory over Kalamazoo's defending champions. Dual meets count toward one-half of the league title while the other half of the title is awarded on the basis of the league meet finish.

Kalamazoo could share the championship by finishing ahead of Albion in the league meet next week. Battle for individual honors is expected to be between Jim Taup of Albion and Dave Whittingham of Kalamazoo.

Albion, coached by Dale Sprankle, won or shared the title for 10 straight seasons before being dethroned by Kalamazoo last fall.

Aluminum Bowl Sites Studied by NAIA Body

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) announced yesterday that the game will not be played at Little Rock because "existing conditions" made the Arkansas site impossible.

NAIA officals did not mention the racial integration difficulties which have beset Little Rock since Labor Day.

The game is scheduled for Dec. 21. One of the contenders for the game is Hillsdale College of Michigan.

Windy Weather Will Aid Duck Hunting Luck

Waterfowl Activities Slowed Up by Lack of Wind and Fog

LANSING (AP) — Fog and windless days plagued waterfowl hunters through most of Michigan last week, but there should be plenty of good hunting days left, state game experts reported today.

"There are still some major duck movements ahead, and hunters have no reason to be discouraged," said Herbert O. Miller, waterfowl specialist with the state conservation department.

Overall, hunter success has been only so-so thus far into the 70-day waterfowl season, which opened Oct. 1. Poor hunting weather is a major cause.

Fog which blanketed many areas last Thursday, Friday and Saturday reduced visibility for hunters and encouraged ducks to stay close to their shoreline hideways, Miller said. Lack of wind gave them cause to delay their flights southward.

"But there are plenty of birds around and there are going to be lots more," Miller said. "Some good, windy weather will give hunters plenty to shoot at."

Ducks of all varieties are reported up and down the major waterways of Eastern Michigan. Heavy concentrations of canvasbacks are reported on Lake St. Clair and redheads on Saginaw Bay. Hunters at Pointe Mouillee on the Lake Erie marshes have bagged blue-bills, baldpates, mallards, black ducks and others.

Multi-Lakes Plans Fish Dinner, Party

A family-style fish dinner, on Dec. 8, along with a turkey shoot the same afternoon, and the annual Christmas party for children have been arranged by Multi-Lakes Conservation.

Christmas party will be held at the clubhouse on Reed's Lake, Sunday, Dec. 15, starting at 2 p.m.

'Pheasant Derby' Near End; Deer Contest Opens Nov. 15

By H. GUY MOATS

The close of one exciting Pontiac Press hunting contest is near at hand, and a new one will reach for top interest for Oakland County outdoorsmen on the following weekend.

Only four days remain of the 1957 "big pheasant derby." Season on this colorful game bird winds up Sunday, Nov. 10. Final day for entries is Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 12 o'clock noon. All entries must be brought to The Pontiac Press sports department for weighing and measurement, and for photographing. Birds must not be dressed before entry.

Winners will receive $50 and $25 U.S. Bonds (heaviest, longest).

Current leaders are 4 pounds 9½ ounces, and 39¼ inches, respectively.

The latest leader barged away out front by more than a pound. Ellsworth Guerin, 3051 Eastwood, Auburn Heights, downed a big rooster on Monday. He was hunting with his son, Jerry, 16, when his pointer put the bird up. It took two shots to down it. Guerin, 35, is a General Motors Truck & Coach employe. His bird displaced Gary Salminen's entry.

Beginning Friday, Nov. 15, and continuing through Nov. 30, the annual Pontiac Press deer contest will take over. The Press will present a $150 U.S. Savings Bond for the heaviest deer. Last year's winner (heaviest buck) was Roger H. Davis, Pontiac, at 207 pounds.

1—Only full-time Oakland County residents are eligible.

3—Deer must be dressed out prior to weighing.

4—Weight slips must accompany all entries, and all must be signed by the weigher (must be weighed on state-approved scales—markets, locker, fuel scales are OK). Must also have signatures of the hunter and at least one other disinterested person who witnessed weighing.

5—All decisions on entries reserved by The Press.

6—Entries may be made at the sports department between 7 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. daily, except that none will be received after 12 noon Saturdays (none on Sundays). Entries should be brought to The Press for photographing.

Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

NEAR RECORD ROOSTER — Prospective entries in The Pontiac Press pheasant "derby," which is fast nearing its conclusion, today had a real target at which to shoot. Taking over the heavy bird division lead is a 4-pound, 9½-ounce specimen, very close to the record for this contest. The husky ringneck (above) is displayed by its captor, Ellsworth Guerin, 3051 Eastwood, Auburn Heights. It was downed Monday near the Dodge estate. All-time largest bird in the contest was slightly under 5 pounds.

ON HIS WAY UP — Here's a new champion German shepherd in the making. The handsome 14-months-old animal above has already collected 7 points towards an AKC championship with wins at Kansas City's 44th Annual Conformation Specialty Show (latest), at Columbus, O., at Macomb County and the recent Saginaw Valley show. Tux of Forjan is owned by Rudy W. Buchmann, 1921 Delrose road, Pontiac, widely known obedience show judge, formerly very active in the breeding and showing of German shepherds. Tux will compete in the Nov. 10 Motor City Specialty Show, in Detroit.

Riviera Wonder Jumping Champ at Horse Show

NEW YORK (AP) — The open jumping championship of the National Horse Show could turn into one big joke—a horse laugh, that is, for Riviera Wonder.

This remarkable 6-year-old gray gelding, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Mann of Port Washington, N.Y., already has won both jumping events he has entered and has made his opposition look like a bunch of farm nags.

Riviera Wonder has won the open jumping title the last two years and it will be recalled that Mann got into a feud with the U.S. Olympic team because of the horse. He thought he was being snubbed and the Olympic bigwigs thought Wonder wouldn't do well in international competition.

Specialty Title Won by Pontiac Area Dog

Although he's only 14 months old, Tux of Forjan's Rudy Buchmann's German Shepherd, has done all right in the show ring, heading for an AKC championship. Besides several other honrs, Tux took two big ones recently at Kansas City.

In a field of 249 entries in the German shepherd division Tux emerged first American bred male and then went on to win the show reserve winners' male.

3 Candidates for M-L Prexy

Selection of a list of candidates for office in the annual session of Multi-Lakes Conservation Assn. has put three in the field for the presidency, now held by Raymond Chabot. Nick Lup's committee named Welbon Payne, Walt Peters and Stan Tusan. Nominations will be certified at tonight's meeting in the clubhouse.

Other officers to be named include vice-president (Howard Perkins, incumbent); treasurer (George Jaffray, incumbent). Secretary (Herb Harvey); membership secretary (Marion Pullis) and directors.

Lake Residents Seek Control Over Speedboats

United action on the part of Michigan's lake resident (and cottagers) associations is sought in an effort to control the fast growing traffic of speedboats on the many inland lakes.

Oakland county lakes are feeling this pressure because of the nearness to great metropolitan areas, and because of the burgeoning interest in outboards and other types of mobile craft.

Residents here have already moved to exercise control, but it is pointed out that one big Lakes Associations Council would serve to protect the right and interests of lake residents and cottagers.

All organized groups of this type should contact the Council, Box 511, Cedar Springs, Mich.

The bobcat is considered a predator in the upper peninsula and a bounty is paid for the animal. In the northern lower peninsula, bobcats are considered game animals and may be hunted only between December 15 and March 15.

Marsh Hunting Satisfies

Snipe Give Fine Shooting

By JACK PATTERSON

We can't take you back to the golden age of American gunning. The fowl are dwindling and people are increasing and the great days of field sports are gone forever. But before the hunting story is finished let's borrow a yellowed page from it and for a rare afternoon enjoy the kind of shooting for which Michigan was famous three-quarters of a century ago. Come with us to the big marshes of Lake St. Clair for a few hours pursuit of that lively sprite of the boglands, Cappella delicata, the jacksnipe.

We grounded the boat at the edge of the cut, and once out of sight of the rusted stoves, boilers and other spoor that litter the waterways, the marsh spreads out to the horizon.

We have walked but a few feet when Brother Bob misses his first opportunity; but a few feet more when we do the same. It's the gun, we figure, because it's a new one, a five and a half pound Beretta double that's going to surprise a young man on Christmas morning. Four snipes flare ahead, "scaping" as they go. They continue to go.

By and by, after we've missed a few more we suddenly started pointing the little 20 in the right direction and from then on it is a breeze. Bob is still having difficulties, both in gun-handling and bogging down in the mire. We point out that it takes many years of snipe hunting to produce an efficient bog-trotter, so hie on!

We reach a cut that can't be waded. We hold a council of war and wonder if it was on a day such as this that grandfather shot 76 snipe at Hilton Head Island.

The wind freshens and the light gets worse as a thin spate of rain dims Bob's glasses. But pretty soon he begins to get down to business and when time has run out, we are both, if not weighted down, comfortably warmed by a decent harvest of snipe.

Back at the boat we pause to consider this business of snipe shooting and decide maybe if we had but one shooting day left it should be spent in the marshes. We are pleased with the little gun. We hope its new owner will use it well for many happy years.

Canada Studies River Pollution

Sarnia Committee Hires Biologist to Check on St. Clair River

SARNIA, Ont. (AP) — Pollution studies in the St. Clair River will enter a new phase this month, Fred Bremner, chairman of the St. Clair River Research Committee, says.

The committee, which represents 10 Sarnia industries and the Ontario Research Foundation, has hired Thomas Beak, Ottawa consulting biologist, to examine the river bottom for small organisms which provide food for fishes.

From the abundance of these organisms, Beak hopes to be able to determine if any pollution or toxic substances are reaching the bottom, killing off the food supply of the marine life.

Beak will dig up 100 samples one cubic foot in size starting at Lake Huron and continuing down the river some 10 or 15 miles below Corruna.

Mahan Returns for Rich International

Hasty House Farms accepted the invitation yesterday of the American selection board. With Christopher Chenery's Third Brother also carrying U.S. colors, it gave the Americans two entries against a six-horse foreign field including three from France.

Biggest Specialty Show Set for Coming Weekend

Billed as the country's largest combined specialty dog show, Motor City Specialty Clubs Association exhibition is set for this weekend (Sunday) at Detroit Artillery Armory, 15000 West 8-Mile Road in Oak Park.

It was expected the entry list would pass the 1,000 mark. It reached 960 last year. Show is rated the 2nd largest in Michigan (biggest combined). Ten specialty clubs will participate, including the Southern Michigan Obedience Training club.

They are the Michigan Boxer club, Midwest Collie club, Doberman Pinscher club of Michigan, German Shepherd Dog club of Detroit, Great Dane club of Michigan, Chihuahua club of Michigan, Detroit Toy Manchester club, Boston Terrier club of Detroit.

According to the association's Gene Burman, "this is a show, win-wise, that means more to the exhibitor of dogs than any show in the country. To the spectator it means opportunity to see outstanding dogs from all parts of the country." An indication of the show's attraction is the 1956 world record Great Dane entry of 145. It's expected to be bigger, Sunday.

Show hours are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

MUCC Camps Opened to Outside Groups

LANSING (AP) — Junior conservation camps, run by Michigan United Conservation clubs will be open for the first time next year to youths sponsored by outside organizations, MUCC secretary-manager Harry R. Gaines said today.

Some 300 boys from 14 to 17 years old are expected to spend one week next summer at the MUCC camps in Ludington State Park. They study conservation practices such as soil conservation and wild life preservation besides taking part in recreational activities.

Estimates of Michigan's deer herd, based on game surveys throughout the year, place the whitetail population at about 600,000 animals.

State Asked to Relax Regulations

Operators Seek Earlier Shooting on Preserves

LANSING (AP) — Potential operators of shooting preserves in Michigan say the state must relax its proposed regulations if the ventures are to prove economically feasible.

They called for earlier openings for shooting seasons and more leeway in the percentage of released pheasants which may be shot by paying customers.

Between 15 and 20 prospective operators aired their views on the matter at a public hearing called by state conservation officials. All objected to a proposed ruling which would compel preserve owners to open shooting concurrently with the regular season for the game species involved. They asked for seasons opening as early as Sept. 1.

Among them was Sen. Charles E. Prescott (R-Prescott), sponsor of the hunting preserve bill. Prescott, who plans to operate a preserve open to the public on a fee basis near his Ogemaw county home, told the gathering:

"There's lots of snow in the northern areas during the latter part of the regular seasons. An operator needs a longer period than that to stay open if he's to make a go of it. If he can't open earlier, then he'll have to raise his fees, and then preserves will become a rich man's set-up."

Conservation game chief Harry D. Ruhl said an early opening for preserves would likely create resentment among hunters who do not choose to hunt on preserves, lives in trees.

Several potential operators objected to a proposed limit of 60 per cent of released pheasants which may be shot by those using the preserves. Release of the other 40 per cent to public lands, they said, would lead to high costs to the paying customer—pricing both customer and operator out of business.

They asked conservation men to raise the maximum to 75 per cent.

The state conservation commission will consider the proposed regulations at its monthly meeting Thursday.

Michigan's 23 state forests which produce timber and pulpwood for a variety of uses, also serve a greater use as recreation land. Public use for hunting, fishing, camping, hiking, nature study and other activities involve millions of visits to state forests annually.

Rotenone Used in Big Fish Eradication Plan

By DION HENDERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

How would you, as an average angler, react if you found on some pleasant autumn afternoon that someone had purposefully poisoned all the fish in a familiar old lake?

It happens, more and more frequently, as modern fish management techniques are applied to lakes around the country.

But it's a good thing that the average angler traditionally is a calm, thoughtful, moderate fellow. If the uproar frequently attendant on the introduction of such practices is any measure, think how the welkin would ring provided the average angler were a real knothead.

The idea of poisoning old, unbalanced fishin' holes is old stuff to professionals, but still comes as something of a shock to the individual fisherman when it happens in his own back yard.

Biggest such project ever undertaken got under way this week on Florida's 31,000-acre Lake Apopka. Move was designed to eradicate the gizzard shad, a trash fish.

Nearly a score of boats, assisted by airplanes, took on the job of spreading some 6,000 pounds of rotenone, with the anticipation of killing more than 4½ million pounds of the trash shad from the big lake.

Red Tide Hits Florida

Tons of Fish Washed Ashore in Naples Area

Tons of dead fish have been washed ashore in the past two days. Much of the area affected is sparsely inhabited.

The state conservation department has stepped up its program of spraying the gulf and passes with copper sulphate.

The outbreak has killed more game fish than any other this season and has extended control operations farther south than previously this year.

Majors' All-Star Teams Named

Detroit's Only Representative Is Jim Bunning

Five Braves Selected; Three Yankees Picked on First Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Batting champions Ted Williams and Stan Musial, five members of the Milwaukee Braves and three from the New York Yankees today were named to the Associated Press Major League All-Star Team for 1957.

Williams and Musial, the only players from non pennant-winning clubs to make the All-Stars, collected the largest number of votes among the 182 cast by members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America.

Williams, Boston's left fielder, was named on 160 ballots. And Musial, St. Louis Cards' first baseman, received 158 votes.

The remainder of the squad was made up of second baseman Red Schoendienst, third baseman Ed Mathews, outfielder Hank Aaron and pitchers Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette of the Braves and shortstop Gil McDougald, outfielder Mickey Mantle and catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees.

Behind Williams and Musial in this year's balloting came Mathews with 154 votes, McDougald and Mantle with 137 each and Spahn with 115.

The closest vote was between second sackers Schoendienst and the White Sox' Nellie Fox. The Milwaukee star was named on 93 ballots and Fox on 86. Another tight one was in the righthanded pitcher category in which Burdette had 75 votes and Jim Bunning of Detroit 66.

Five of the all-star batted higher than .300 during the regular campaign. Williams topped the American League with .388. Musial was first in the National with .351. Mantle finished with .365, Aaron .322 and Schoendienst .309. Mathews wound up at .292, McDougald .289 and Berra .251.

Other pitchers who received high consideration were Billy Pierce of the White Sox with 58 votes, Jack Sanford of Philadelphia with 24 and Dick Donovan of the White Sox with 12.

'Back of Week' Honor Accorded Navy's Wellborn

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ray Wellborn, a substitute fullback on the Navy football team, figured in four touchdowns against Notre Dame last Saturday. One of these was scored by the opposition. But the three Wellborn tallied himself upset the Irish 20-6 and earned the 183-pound Midshipman the designation as Associated Press Back of the Week.

It was a heart-breaking experience when Wellborn fumbled when he was tackled in the first period and Notre Dame's Dick Lynch grabbed the ball in mid-air and scampered 46 yards for a touchdown.

But the 21-year-old Texan wasn't dismayed. He got that one back with a 79-yard touchdown run after taking a pitchout in the second quarter. He plunged for another score in the third period after going 44 yards on a screen pass from Tom Forrestal and he collaborated on the same screen pass in the final quarter for 32 yards and the third Navy touchdown. In all he ran 10 times for 121 yards.

Prep Rivals Meet in 'M'-Illini Tilt

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A red hot rivalry begun several years ago in high school between two fleet halfbacks has its final college chapter Saturday at Illinois.

Again it will be Jim Pace of Michigan matching speed and elusiveness with Bobby Mitchell of Illinois.

They started competing against each other in 1951 in Arkansas. Pace attending Dunbar high school in Little Rock and Mitchell went to Langston, 60 miles away, in Hot Springs.

"This isn't a real rivalry," Pace said. "Bobby and I are good friends. His team always beat us in high school and he scored about 10 touchdowns to my three in those three games."

Mitchell wrecked Michigan's dreams of an unbeaten season two years ago. He ran 64 yards for one touchdown and set up another with a 43-yard dash. The Illini upset Michigan 25-6 as Mitchell netted 173 yards.

Pace squared accounts last season. He had one of his most brilliant days against the Illini.

Thee quick-stepping Wolverine gained 120 yards rushing and another 49 on the receiving end of two passes. He tallied one touchdown in Michigan's 17-7 triumph.

"We've met often in track too," said Pace. "I was usually able to beat him there."

Pace and Mitchell staged a spectacular duel last winter here down a 60-yard straightaway. Pace won by a whisker and went on to become the Big Ten indoor sprint champion, again beating Mitchell.

Pace has been Michigan's top runner all season. His 320-yard rushing total doubled the effort of his closest teammate, fullback Jim Byers. He is Michigan's leading pass receiver behind end Gary Prahst. He leads the team in scoring with seven touchdowns. Pace only scored twice in each of his previous two seasons.

Guard Larry Faul was an absentee with a twisted knee. Alex Callahan replaced him. Stan Noskin was working in Jim Van Pelt's first [illegible] quarterback spot. Van Pelt [illegible] muscle and was only [illegible] yesterday. Both Van Pelt and Faul are expected to be ready for Illinois.

Fans Boo Decision for Joey Giardello

DENVER (AP) — The only persons dissatisfied with Joey Giardello's 10-round unanimous decision over Wilf Greaves last night appeared to be some of the fans among the crowd of 4,425.

Many of the spectators started booing in the late rounds and gave their lungs a long workout at the end.

The result kept intact Giardello's string of 13 fights without a defeat and gave him his ninth straight victory. It kept alive his hopes for a bout with champion Carmen Basilio. Greaves, who's never been kayoed in 23 fights, escaped a trip to the canvas again by dodging, dancing and clinching.

3 Grueling Tests Ahead of Irish 11

Because the Irish face what possibly is one of the most gruelling three-week tests in college football history when they meet up with Michigan State, Oklahoma and Iowa—three of the five top teams in the country.

Notre Dame's loss to Navy was its first of the season after four wins and Brennan said it was just a bad day.

The paper asked in a public opinion poll: "If you yourself could take advantage of recent developments to go into outer space, would you care to go?"

The Express said 14 per cent answered "yes," 82 per cent "no" and 4 per cent "don't know."

Another Express poll showed that 80 per cent of those questioned would prefer to see the United States dominating outer space, while 6 per cent were content to see Russia in command.

Business Sensitive to War Threats

Stocks Show Uncertainty

It's what the effect will be on business and consumer thinking: 1. Of the Russian boast of new sources of power for space rockets; 2. Its simultaneous withdrawal from the United Nation's disarmament talks; and 3. The dumping of Marshal Zhukov with its implication of one-man rule of Russia by a person whose emotional stability, judgment and sense of responsibility is questioned.

While it fervently hopes that peaceful counsel will prevail, American industry is always sensitive to talk of war, threats of war, or—worse—the chance of war. The widespread belief that business as a whole fattens on war doesn't hold water.

True, industries closely tied to defense production get government orders. To fill them the companies often must drop civilian production on which they say they have a chance of better profits.

For business as a whole, international disturbances even short of war threaten the cutting off of sources of materials, the loss of skilled workmen to defense plants or the armed forces, and usually sharply curtailed consumer spending, when the government moves to halt any war scare buying of the first days.

The goods the defense plants turn out don't raise the nation's total wealth. They are made to be destroyed, not to raise standards of living.

The great prosperity of the last two years has been a prosperity of peace. The Defense Department is spending about 38 billion dollars this year. To be sure, this has helped boost total production. But the nation's total output of goods and services is expected this year to hit 430 to 435 billion dollars.

Even if defense spending were doubled next year—most unlikely short of all out war—it would still be but one sixth of the civilian segment of the gross national product.

But while the uncertainty continues, Wall Street will swing back and forth trying to guess what's in the cards for specific industries.

Corporate executives will debate how their firm stands to come out in regard to supplies, to production schedules, to consumer demand.

Rubin Says Impartial Board Set Price on Plot for Highway Use

LANSING (AP) — Lawrence A. Rubin, executive secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, says he followed the procedure recommended by the highway department in the condemnation of a strip of land he and two other persons own near the southern approach to the new Straits of Mackinac Bridge.

The highway department announced yesterday that a condemnation award of $3,500 has been filed in favor of Rubin and Marvin and Lynn Hecht of East Lansing. They are owners of nine acres the department is taking for highway use near the straits.

The department said the owners refused an offer of $3,000 in August 1956.

The determination of the property's worth and damages to 11 acres in the parcel not wanted by the highway department was reached by a commission appointed by the Circuit Court at Cheboygan.

In Detroit, Rubin said, "I followed the highway department recommended procedure of letting an impartial board establish a fair price."

Highway department records show Rubin and the Hechts bought the 20 acres on a land contract from Glenn Chamberlain of Muskegon for $4,000 in July 1955.

The cabinet officer reviewed the economic "outlook" in a speech prepared for delivery before the annual convention of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

Colleges Urged as Boot Camp

U. of M. President Sees Classroom, Laboratory as Modern Battlefield

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan's president Harlan Hatcher yesterday attacked selective service methods and urged greater stress be put on training of engineers and scientists to meet the urgent need to compete evenly with Russia.

Hatcher said American young men and women are as gifted as their Soviet counterpart.

"Their training, however, has been more dispersed and in many instances, much more relaxed and undirected," Hatcher said.

"Right now they must face their contemporaries across the laboratories and classrooms rather than on the battlefield. We must make more effective use of young American talent and time in schools and we must guard against wasting this talent under an outmoded military draft operation.

"This cannot be done overnight. We have an immediate 5 or 10 year educational task urgently ahead. Its success or failure can alter the course of world history."

Detroit Port Group Not Discouraged

DETROIT (INS) — Members of the Port of Detroit Commission said today they were not discouraged by the defeat at the polls of two port development proposals, and would try to find some other means of making the city a major St. Lawrence Seaway port.

The Board of Commerce, which fought the proposals, said it would be happy to work with the port commission to help accomplish the same thing.

Voters indicated yesterday they favored issuance of $9.5 million in bonds for the port development, although the proposition failed to win the required 60 per cent margin.

However, a companion measure for a tax increase to insure the bonds, needing only a simple majority, lost by more than 25,000 votes.

But Rural Population Up

Say Farmers Declining

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says the farm population is declining but the rural population is increasing.

It estimates the farm population at about 20,396,000, or nearly two million fewer than a year ago. But it puts the rural population at 60,677,000 compared with 57,985,000 a year ago.

By farm people it means persons who live on farms and engage in farming. But the rural population includes rural residents, whether they live on farms or not. It includes persons living in small towns and communities of fewer than 2,500 persons.

The department says most of the rural population is interested in buying many things that farmers buy.

Grains Bullish on Dem Wins

CHICAGO (AP) — Democratic victories in yesterday's elections gave the grain markets a slightly bullish tone in early dealings on the board of trade today.

Soybeans advanced a cent a bushel on the March contract and December wheat moved up almost a cent at the outset, but then dropped back to fractionally higher levels as early demand was satisfied.

Other grains held about steady.

Corn and oats were little changed in early dealings compared with yesterday's close. Rye was up fractionally, following the trend in wheat.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ½ higher, Dec. $2.19⅝; corn unchanged, Dec. $1.18¾; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, Dec 68; rye ⅛ to ⅜ higher, Dec. $1.31; soybeans ⅜ to ½ higher; Nov $2.29; and lard was 5 to 12 cents a hundred lbs. higher, Nov. $11.55.

HAT TRICK — Playing what looks like a Mexican hat trick at Miami Beach is Levon McKibben. Such bashfulness isn't necessary, though. Underneath the straw she's wearing the latest in swimsuits (she told us).

Kavanagh Asks Quiz of Witness

Macomb Judge Quinn to Investigate Attack on County Grand Jury

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh has recommended the questioning of a witness who claimed to have an affidavit attacking an aide of the Macomb County grand jury.

Kavanagh said he had requested Judge Timothy C. Quinn, Macomb County one man grand juror, to question the witness, Herbert O. Steiger, under oath.

The Macomb County one man grand jury has requested that Gov. Williams remove Mayor Thomas S. Welsh of St. Clair Shores for improperly profitting from his office.

"I am informed that Welsh has been trying since last summer to blackjack the grand jury to prevent action from being taken against him by hinting that he has an affidavit alleging a plan to trap him," Kavanagh said.

"I am convinced that Steiger is being used by Welsh and his advisers in an attempt to blacken the grand jury which urged his removal and its aides."

Kavanagh said Steiger claimed he was approached by Eugene Krasicky, assistant attorney general, and asked to find someone who needed a favor from the city. This person was supposed to give Welsh marked money for the favor so the mayor would be trapped, Steiger has claimed, the attorney general said.

Steiger did not mention the incident when a witness before the grand jury and refused to say anything to state police and grand jury aides about the alleged affidavit, Kavanagh said.

10-Year-Old Story of Progress Reaction

Reds Call the Tune... U.S. Dances

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's an old story, at least 10 years old. The Russians call the tune and this country dances. They act and we react. It's happening again.

The Russians sent two Sputniks into the sky, more evidence of their amazing progress. A tremendous American reaction, by now familiar, sets in: a great national desire to do something to offset the Russians.

It started in 1947 when Greece and Turkey, pressured by Russia, asked this country for aid. This country gave them the help in a new American policy called the Truman Doctrine.

It was the end of two postwar years of trying work things out peacefully with Russia and the beginning of a program of trying to contain communism within its borders.

That same year President Truman proposed the Marshall plan for Western Europe. This was, to a degree, a reaction to aggressive communism. If Europe wasn't helped to its feet, the Communists would have fertile field.

But 1948 was the big year, although for years afterward one American move after another was the result of something the Communists did.

Early that year Russia grabbed control of all Eastern Europe when Communists seized power in Czechoslovakia, the only non-Communist country behind the Iron Curtain. This country was profoundly shocked.

The Russians kept up the pressure, tried to push the West out of Berlin with a blockade. The answer to that was the Berlin Airlift which broke the blockade. Russia's ugly designs were clear enough now.

This country set up a draft law. The Senate authorized American alliances, the first in peacetime. In 1949 the United States joined with Canada and the West European countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

That year this country suffered another gigantic shock. The Russians set off their first atomic explosion on Sept. 23. This country hadn't up to then decided to make the even greater hydrogen bomb.

But if we didn't do it, the Russians would. That could be expected. On Jan. 31, 1950 Truman ordered the hydrogen bomb developed. On Nov. 1, 1952 this country had its first hydrogen explosion. We were still ahead of Russia.

But not for long. On Aug. 21, 1953 they had their hydrogen explosion. This was truly a shock.

Meanwhile this country had been lagging with its other armaments. But not for long. The Reds attacked in Korea and we reacted by defending Korea. Then this country rushed into more military alliances — with Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Southeast Asia.

Even President Eisenhower's Mid-East program of this year—a policy of helping any country in the area attacked by communism—was a result of Russian pressure in the Middle East.

Composer's Wife Plans to Get Nevada Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The wife of Frederick Loewe, 56, says she plans a Nevada divorce from the composer, who turned out the ditties of the Broadway musical "My Fair Lady."

Mrs. Ernestine Loewe, 49, dismissed a separate maintenance suit yesterday. She said Loewe has agreed to pay her $150,000 in cash and $25,000 a year for life. Mrs. Loewe described herself as destitute when she filed the suit last September.

Manages to Vote Despite New Baby

SOUTH SALT LAKE (AP) — Mrs. Justin V. Richardson couldn't go to the polls in this Salt Lake City suburb yesterday because she had just given birth to her tenth child.

Shortly after the city offices opened, she telephoned and asked for an absentee ballot.

Marshal Henry Dipo Jr. and Mrs. Martha Toombs, city recorder and clerk, delivered a ballot to Mrs. Richardson at Latter-Day Saints Hospital and waited in a corridor while she marked it.

Mrs. Richardson's baby was a boy, evening up the family at five girls and five boys.

Juvenile Court Officers Meet

To Hear Panel Discuss Teenage Traffic Curbs; Hold Election for '58

Do teenage traffic courts curb reckless motoring?

This will be one of the questions taken up today by a panel of experts speaking before the bimonthly meeting of the Southeastern Michigan Juvenile Court Officers Association at noon today in Rotunda Inn, West Bloomfield Township.

Moderating the panel will be Albert Casey, senior probation officer of Oakland County Juvenile Court. Panel members are Walter K. Dennison, assistant Oakland County Prosecutor; D. W. Putney, assistant chief probation officer of Wayne County Juvenile Court and Det. Sgt. Robert Schaule, head of Birmingham police juvenile division.

Schaule also heads the Oakland County's first teenage traffic court, organized in Birmingham a few weeks ago.

The association also will elect 1958 officers. In the association are juvenile court officers from Oakland, Wayne, Washtenaw, Macomb, St. Clair, Monroe and Lapeer counties.

Public Relations Head Appointed by Democrats

LANSING (AP) — The Democratic State Central Committee today announced appointment of Ed Winge, 38-year-old Detroit newspaperman, as its new public relations director.

Winge will replace John Murray, who has resigned to join the staff of Gov. Williams.

Winge, a reporter for the Detroit Free Press since 1951, worked on the Dayton, Ohio, News from 1945 to 1951 and before that served in the Army during World War II.

Refuses Manager's Job in Madison Heights

MADISON HEIGHTS — Add Ellyson, 36, Sapulpa, Okla. city manager, has turned down his appointment as Madison Heights city manager. Ellyson, named to the post in council action Monday, after being reviewed with three others Saturday, wired the city clerk and acting city manager, Mrs. Myrtle Chamberlain yesterday:

"Thanks for the confidence in me, but situation does not warrant change at this time."

Final Argument in UAW Trial

Expect Case to Reach Jury Today; Reuther Ends Defense

DETROIT (AP) — U. S. District Judge Frank A. Picard called for final arguments today by government and defense attorneys before the jury trying the United Auto Workers Union on charges of violating the Corrupt Practices Act in the 1954 election campaign.

The union was indicted on charges of using money from its dues-paying members to finance nine television broadcasts to promote candidates it favored for Congress.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, appearing as the final defense witness yesterday, defended the telecasts as educational. He said the programs were intended for UAW members and that the union's convention had approved such programs. Time was purchased on a TV station broadcasting to the general public, Reuther said, because that was the most economical way to reach union members.

Williams to Study Marketing of Milk

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams says he will go to Pennsylvania and New York next week to get a first hand report on milk-marketing systems in those two states.

Williams said yesterday he will take a look at operations of Pennsylvania's milk laws and milk commission in a conference with Gov. George M. Leader Nov. 13 in Harrisburg, Pa.

Next day, he said, he will meet with Gov. Averell Harriman in Albany, N. Y., to check on effectiveness of a federal order controlling milk prices paid to New York dairy farmers.

"The New York ruling seems to give the farmers a price close to what they shouuld have," Williams said. "Michigan's does not."

Williams told his Milk Study Commission several weeks ago he would take a trip to other dairy states in an effort to find a solution to marketing problems of Michigan's strife - riddden dairy industry.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY dear husband, Roy, who passed away Nov. 6, 1956 in Bradenton, Florida.
Not dead to those who loved him,
Not lost, just gone before;
He lives with me in memory still,
And will forever more.
'Tis hard to part with those we love,
Though parting days will come;
Then let us hope to meet again,
For this is not our home.
Ever remembered by his loving wife, Ethel Hagadone.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF HUSband Harry Meyers, who passed away 1 year ago today.
What would I give to clasp his hand,
To hear his voice and see his smile,
That meant so much to me.
Sadly missedy by his wife, Barbara.

Leading Priority Given Algeria

New French Premier Lists Problem First in Legislative Program

Voted into office after the nation's longest postwar Cabinet crisis, Felix Gaillard told the National Assembly he would demand adoption of the Algerian home rule bill on which the last government of Maurice Bourges-Mounoury foundered Sept. 30. But Gaillard said he would accept amendments to give greater weight to the votes of French residents.

That might appease the French in Algeria. However, it appeared likely the Arab rebels would reject Gaillard's bill, just as they did Bourges-Maunoury's. The rebels demand independence.

The 38-year-old financial expert, youngest French government chief since Napoleon Bonaparte, said the second order of business would be to ease the grave financial crisis. He promised a strict 1958 budget and 100 billion francs—238 million dollars—in new taxes, and said he would ask for special financial powers, presumably to cut expenses by decree.

Although he did not mention it in his speech, Gaillard also is expected to seek a loan from the United States or West Germany to meet the acute foreign exchange shortage.

The new government contains representatives of all National Assembly parties except the Communists on the extreme left and the Poujadists on the extreme right.

Most observers considered general weariness with the long crisis had far more to do with the parties getting together than the grave problems facing France. Nearly all important party leaders remained outside Gaillard's cabinet.

Gaillard, whose 38th birthday was yesterday, was finance minister in the last government.

Advise Shunning of Spike Heels to Avoid Wiggle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ladies who don't want their derrieres to wiggle shouldn't wear spike heels, says Dr. Elizabeth S. Austin.

Spike heels, she told the California Academy of General Practice, force the weight to the front of the foot. This taxes muscles and shortens the gait. It also causes a counteracting tendency to lean backward, whereupon the heels go "clunk, clunk, clunk, and certain parts of the body start to wiggle."

Dr. Austin wears medium-height heels.

Lad Lands Big Muskie

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (AP)—Twelve-year-old Bruce Clarkson of Toronto landed a fish nearly as big as himself. He caught a 43-inch muskellunge weighing 27 pounds in Sturgeon Lake.

WHY BE WORRIED? — Jack Benny, now in his eighth season on CBS-TV's Jack Benny Program, doesn't fret about the possibility of losing his television popularity, the fate of so many other comedians. Without a regular show, he would concentrate on nightclub acts, concerts and guest appearances, Jack says. The Benny program is telecast Sundays at 7:30 p. m.

Even Cowboys Talk of Ratings and Such

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — He had promised to be in western pants and a gun belt but Hugh O'Brian, the Wyatt Earp of TV, emerged from a business conference at the Essex House in shirt sleeves and dark trousers preceded by other conferees and a lady secretary.

"Our rating"—he looked up from a record album he was autographing to me—"is better than last year's.

"And we have pretty stiff competition this year, too. Gobel and Fisher and Eve Arden are powerhouses," he nodded. "But last year we were in the top 10, this year in the first four or five. The new Nielson may put us even in the third or second spot."

It wasn't the talk you'd expect from Wyatt Earp, ever-humble peace officer, famous for treatin' the varmints with kindness.

But in these TV days, it was quite in order for a handsome, scholarly, 32-year-old, six-foot bachelor, who was running ahead of all the "adult westerns" in this big season for westerns, to point out the same.

"I don't take myself seriously, but Wyatt Earp I take seriously," Hugh said now. "This guy did unbelievable things. Lived through 140 gunfights and was never wounded. People didn't believe it; so we had to wound him on a show. Then everybody was happy." Was Wyatt Earp, now that he'd made a record album, going to sing on the show?

"No. It would cheapen the show," he admitted.

But he will be singing everywhere else. "I have seven months a year to do outside appearances."

Hugh, who's a very rich young man, said he's too busy with his career now to get married. "Now is the intelligent time for me to do as much work as possible," he explained.

"It's kind of silly to make any plans," Hugh said. "I have yet to meet a woman who in some way wasn't beautiful. My mother and dad were married 35 years and I'd kinda like mine to be like that. I know a lot of wonderful kids, and I'm ripe for marriage . . . so, meantime, I'm havin' a ball."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Anne Baxter's father's veep of Four Roses and there's a Four Roses plug in her B'way show, "Square Root of Wonderful"—just like on television.

Judy Holliday's low blood pressure worries producers . . . Bob Hope asked to appear on Polly Bergen's show. He'll be on Jan. 25 . . . The Havana Riviera won't tell what it's giving Ginger Rogers to open the place, but it's plenty. Victor Borge's one-man show salary at the Town & Country is also supposed to be a big secret.

EARL'S PEARLS: An American can walk right into the the White House and insult President Eisenhower without being shot. In Russia he can do the same thing; he can walk right into the Kremlin and insult President Eisenhower without being shot. That's earl, brother.

He'd Still Have Plenty of Work

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—As it has come to most all TV comedians, sudden death on a regular appearance basis may even come to Jack Benny.

But he's not worried about it. Now in his eighth season on home screens and his 26th in radio, he told me:

"I wouldn't mind not having anything too steady a year from now. It's a terrific feeling to know I can do other things — play Las Vegas, do charity concerts and guest spots, and maybe even spend two or three months a year doing stage and TV shows in England and in Europe. I'd like that, as a matter of fact."

But there's one thing Jack won't do if the unpredictable TV winds blow his off his every other Sunday CBS show and his five "Shower of Stars" appearances after this season, or the next or sometime.

NO RETIREMENT

The one thing he'll never do, even if he can afford it, and I suspect he can, is to retire.

"I'm like Bob Hope," he laughed, "I can't quit."

We were lunching at the Hillcrest Country Club, where Jack plays golf and shares in the club's new oil wells. The cancellation of the Sid Caesar and Jackie Gleason shows cued Jack's words about his career and the future.

"I was horrified," he said, "at what happened to Sid's Show. I couldn't figure it out. Sid put on great shows. Sid's shows were always different. That's what I try to do, too—no two shows alike."

Another candle this year on "39"-year-old Jack's birthday cake? He's 63 but doesn't look it. The thought of "all the publicity we'd get if I became 40" intrigues him, but right now he doesn't believe he'll ever turn 40.

SERIOUS EDITORIAL

"We were going to do it a couple of years ago," he told me, "but the secret leaked out. I was still going to do it until I read a serious editorial in a Boston newspaper.

"The writer pleaded for me to remain 39 on the theory that it was a magic age everyone past 39 would like to be again. The editorial convinced me. I think I'll stay 39."

The fact that Jack's TV show always winds up in the top 10 every season is a public tribute to his easygoing nature, letting other people on the show get the laughs.

But inside show business there is even a greater tribute to the man. Two of his writers, Sam Perrin and George Balzer, have been with him for 15 years, and another pair, Hal Goodman and Al Gordon, have been on his staff for eight years.

In the frantic rat race for laughs, it's fantastic. Why, even marriages have trouble lasting that long in Hollywood. As Jack explains the long relationship and friendship:

"I never say anything stinks. I say, 'Let's fix it up.' Then we go to work and I have a chance to create, too. No one has more fun than we do working on a script. When four writers and I finally agree on something we very seldom miss."

BUCK RIDES AGAIN

They've already agreed that the Western TV cycle is here to stay for a while and as a result Buck Benny is riding again this season. Buck dates way back to Jack's early radio days and he laughs:

But he wasn't the old pro on the gambling tables when he played Las Vegas this summer. He told me: "I lost what I said would be my limit — $1,000. But a friend of mine from Seattle won $35,000—and they're still kidding me about it."

Diamond Jim Brady, famous Broadwayite of the 1890's, was an ardent suitor of stage star Lillian Russell. He had candles especially fashioned in the likeness of Miss Russell to light his banquet tables.

Add Shelf Room for 500 Books

Girl Scout Leaders Aid O. E. Rule Provide Gift to Waterford Library

There is room for 500 more books in the Waterford Township library, located in the Community Activities building, due to the efforts of the Girl Scout Leaders' Association and O. E. Rule, of 2351 Parkinson Ave.

The self-sustaining township library has had an increase of more than 1,000 donated volumes recently, and although there is plenty of floor space available, book space is at a premium, according to librarian Mrs. Kenneth Valentine.

Rule, a retired pharmacist and cabinet maker, volunteered to build a new rack for the library and members of the Girl Scout Leaders Assn. did the finishing work.

Money for materials was furnished by sponsors of the library, the Waterford Book Club, in conjunction with the G. S. Leaders' group.

Most libraries have steel "stacks" with adjustable shelves, according to Mrs. Valentine, but any new book accommodations will be constructed to conform with those already being used, she added.

There are still more than 500 books in storage due to the lack of shelf space, making a total of some 5,500 books now owned by the free lending library.
