City Commission Rejects Sunday Blue Law

MAKE OVER PAGES

By PETE LOCHBILER

The drive for a Sunday Blue Law in Pontiac died last night as city commissioners turned down the proposal by a 4 to 2 vote.

Despite a plea for delay by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, the vote was taken after 90 minutes of debate and comment from an overflow audience of more than 150 persons.

Opponents of the proposal felt the city should not legislate "on moral questions." It should be left up to stores to regulate themselve, they said.

John W. Hirlinger, Chamber of Commerce manager, was optimistic that Pontiac businesses would voluntarily stay closed Sundays.

In calling for a roll call vote, Mayor Philip E. Rowston said he "personally felt" stores should close on Sundays.

"Legally speaking, however, the proposal before us is very discriminatory," Rowston said.

Siding with Rowston were Commissioners John A. Dugan, Robert A. Landry and Milton R. Henry. Voting for the proposal were Commissioners Floyd P. Miles and Wesley J. Wood.

Commissioner William W. Donaldson abstained from the vote, saying he believed the Chamber of Commerce request for delay should be granted.

The proposal would have amended an existing ordinance that outlaws Sunday sale of furniture and household appliances. Under the proposed amendment, the ban would have been extended to all sales, except those of essential items such as groceries, medicines and gasoline.

Grocery stores, drug stores, places of amusement and taverns would not have been affected.

"The proposal is obviously aimed at the large department stores," Rowston said.

Miles initiated the proposal last month after one large Pontiac department store, Federal's stayed open on three successive Sundays before Christmas.

Previously, stores had generally abided by an unwritten Chamber of Commerce rule to stay closed on Sundays.

Joseph Davidson, Federal's president, said the firm had to meet Sunday competition from stores outside the Pontiac city limits.

He said Federal's would prefer to stay closed, but only if everyone else closed too.

Frank S. Lyndall, Pontiac Sears Roebuck Co. manager, said if Federal's opened again on Sundays, Sears might have to also.

Lyndall asked the Commission to pass a Blue Law for the sake of store personnel. "They don't want to work on Sundays," he said.

Commissioners received a petition signed by 695 employes of various downtown stores. It called for a Blue Law.

Apparently agreed the question at issue was primarily a moral one, commissioners split on what to do about it.

Miles and Wood felt legislation was necessary if stores couldn't regulate themselves.

"It's important for all of us that we set aside one day of the week for rest and worship," said Miles, a businessman himself.

Miles predicted that Sunday business would be unprofitable, and argued that sales personnel should not have to work Sundays. "There is no doubt in my mind they would be forced to do so or lose their jobs," he said.

Wood quoted the Bible to the effect that the Sabbath should be kept holy.

Observing opposition to the law, he noted "it was the businessmen themselves who originally asked for it."

Opponents of the proposal felt that the city shouldn't attempt to legislate on questions of morals.

"This is a question of con-

Liberals Dump Floor Leader

AFTER 20 YEARS — Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts keeps his eyes on the floor as he walks out of yesterday's meeting with House Republicans with Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana a step ahead of him. Halleck replaced Martin as floor leader of the GOP, after Martin held the post 20 years.

Sickness in Martin's Heart Can't Be Treated by Dr. White

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Joe Martin laid aside the cane he had used since last summer when he suffered a blood clot in his leg.

He marched jauntily into his party's caucus armed with a two-page testimonial from Dr. Paul Dudley White, the heart specialist.

Dr. White pronounced him recovered and the peak of condition.

When Martin left the closed-door session the House chamber two hours later, Dr. White's letter lay crumpled in his pocket.

Joe made his slow way, limping, through statuary hall and back to his office.

He was tired.

He was 74.

The sickness he felt in his heart was not the kind Dr. White treats.

After 20 years as House Republican leader or speaker, during years fat for his party and some that were painfully thin, Joe Martin had been turned out to pasture. Tears he wasn't willing to shed welled up in his eyes.

Sure, his old friends gave him a standing ovation. They offered him a new, hollow title. They shook his hand and wished him good luck. They said—and it was true, almost to a man—they loved him still.

But they voted, 74 to 70, to replace him as party leader with Charlie Halleck, his rival.

"They did what is done for all dead men," Joe told reporters afflicted with unaccustomed lumps in their throats.—'They sent flowers.'

Joe's friends had told him to disregard the revolt that had been brewing among younger Republicans since Nov. 4, when the GOP was reduced to 153 house members against 283 for the Democrats.

Even at the end they were insisting Halleck was licked. But on the ballot, with every man voting

RAYBURN RETURNED — House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) has a smile after he was returned to his speaker post for an unprecedented ninth term yesterday, as parties organized for the opening of the 86th session of Congress. With him is Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va), chairman of the House Rules Committee.

Cold May Give Way to Freezing Drizzle

Rising temperatures have brought a threat of freezing drizzle for the Pontiac area tonight and tomorrow. The U.S. weather Bureau said this was only a possibility, however.

Tonight's low will be near 24. A high of 30 is forecast for Thursday.

For the next five days, the Weather Bureau aid, temperatures will average near the normal high of 33 degrees and the normal low of 19.

Precipitation will average two to three-tenths inches, with occasional drizzle or light snow.

Michigan's cold wave began a retreat today but the state posted two records — the lowest temperature and the most snow.

It was 13 below zero at Sult Ste. Marie, the coldest spot in the nation this morning. Houghton still had 49 inches of snow on the ground, the most in the nation outside the Rockies.

Eleven was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometor registered 22 at 1 p.m.

Hungarians Organize Protest

Mikoyan on Way to Detroit

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan makes his first stop of a Midwest tour in Cleveland today, before flying to Detroit for a two-day visit tomorrow and Friday.

Hungarian refugees will meet again tonight in Detroit to complete plans for protest demonstrations when Mikoyan arrives in Detroit.

Refugee leaders said they will picket the Detroit Club when Mikoyan arrives there tomorrow night. About 250 Hungarians were expected to carry signs.

The group planning the demonstration is the Hungarian Freedom Fighters Association.

Its legal adviser, Tibor Magyar, said the freedom fighters want "to show Mikoyan that we didn't forget him and what he did."

Mikoyan went to Hungary after the 1956 revolution and assured the country that "the Soviet Union honors the will of the people and respects Hungary's desire and efforts for independence." Then Soviet troops moved in.

Mikoyan, the whirling dervish of Kremlin diplomacy, took off on a 13-day coast-to-coast tour today after two days of probing the U. S. attitude toward the future of Germany.

The 63-year-old first deputy premier arranged to head first to Cleveland a visit with millionaire industrialist Cyrus Eaton. He is due back in Washington Jan. 19 to talk to President Eisenhower.

Sale of Pontiacs Tops for Month Since March '56

Pontiac Motor Division has just recorded its highest monthly new car sales figure since March of 1956, it was announced by S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and Pontiac general manager.

During the month of December, Knudsen said, Pontiac dealers sold 32,501 news cars representing a 26.6 per cent increase over the same period last year.

"Our biggest sales month in nearly three years gave Pontiac over seven per cent of total car industry sales in December," Knudsen disclosed. "The performance thus far of our completely new line of Pontiacs holds every promise of 1959 being a highly successful year for Pontiac," he said.

"Since its introduction last October the new Pontiacs have been exceptionally well received by the general public due to tremendous strides made in engineering as well as in styling," Knudsen added.

"Such exclusive advantages as Pontiac's wide track wheels and its high performance economy engine, which is accounting for a current 25 per cent of all sales, are playing an important role in the car's huge success," he concluded.

Keehn Denies Story Is Hoax

Accuses U.S. Embassy in Cuba of Trying to Cover Up

Edward W. Keehn today angrily denied charges that his story of violence and torture as a political prisoner in Cuba was a hoax.

The 20-year-old Pontiac ex-GI accused the American Embassy in Havana, which made the charges, of having "its back up against the wall."

"They (the Embassy) are going to try to discredit us," said Keehn. "They know they are going to be hung."

KEEHN

Keehn and two other Americans who escaped from a Havana prison New Year's Day disclosed yesterday they were held five months by Batista forces on "trumped up" charges of being rebel sympathizers.

The thre accused the Embassy of virtually abandoning them, ignoring pleas that they were held unjustly.

But an Embassy spokesman said today that the trio was being held for common crimes, rather than as political prisoners.

Besides Keehn, the spokesman named Dean L. Gleaves, 23, of Portland, Ore., and Jonathan Graham Jr., 29, of Akron.

He said Keehn and Gleaves were

Cuban Cabinet Polishes New Interim Charter

Courts Suspended as Provisional Government Mops Up Batista Forces

By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cuba's provisional government polished up a new interim constitution today as the work of weeding out remnants of Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship went forward.

The Cabinet met far into the night working on a new fundamental law to replace the constitution of 1940 until the holding of free elections.

It was not immediately learned how the charter would differ from the old one, which was adopted during Batista's first period of power. Presumably the interim constituion will be replaced after a new Congress is elected.

Provisional President Manuel Urrutia Tuesday dismissed all provincial governors, mayors and councilmen in the island's six provinces. Presumably a new list of civilian appointees to replace them was ready, although it was not announced immediately.

Earlier Tuesday Urrutia's cabinet dissolved congress, suspended the criminal courts and announced it would rule by decree until elections are held. Revolutionary courts reportedly will be set up to try Batista, now an exile in the Dominican Republic and other officials of his regime who may be charged.

Urrutia has said he would demand Batista's extradition from the Dominican Republic.

Several hundred Batista supporters have taken refuge in various foreign embassies in Havana, but the new regime has not indicated whether it would observe the Latin American tradition of safe conduct out of the country for political opponents.

LA Auto Boycott Could Backfire

"If the Los Angeles mayor seriously advocates boycotting all new automobiles, we accept the challenge," stated Mayor Phillip E. Rowston today, "and we hereby advocate that Michigan boycott all movies and all vacations and travel to the west coast."

MAYOR PHILIP ROWSTON

Pontiac's mayor expressed grave doubts as to whether the mess in which Los Angeles finds itself can be cured by boycotting new automobiles. "It's my opinion," said he, "that this deadly smog is caused by these small European cars and the old relics that still chug along California highways, plus those beastly and ill-smelling oil wells. There's where the trouble lies.

"If the Los Angeles mayor ordered all the old wrecks off the road and substituted nice, new, bright, shiny 1959 Michigan automobiles, it might cure a lot of awful conditions in which his citizens are forced to live.

"We in Michigan extend our deepest sympathy to the unfortunate residents of Los Angeles who are gripped by this unhappy horrible manifestation of nature, and if Los Angeles must be plagued forever by this depressing fog, we suggest they buy bright new efficient cars to eliminate the oil burners. That might help quite a little.

"We sincerely hope nothing untoward happens in California to cause Michiganders to cancel all California travel in favor of warm, sunny Florida and also to boycott the California movies. But we are quite prepared to act. Also, Ohio and Indiana have very large automotive manufacturing plants and I am sure these very close midwestern associates of ours would be happy to join us in a common cause."

Must Squeeze Plans for Moon in Tight Budget

Top-Heavy With Dems, Session Opens; Rayburn Speaker for 9th Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans today chose Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to be their floor leader for the new session of Congress.

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The 86th Congress, recast in a heavier-than-before Democratic mold, convenes today for a session that must try to fit moon-shot ambitions into an economy budget.

Republicans went into the historic new Congress with leadership fights rocking their membership in both houses.

They turned House GOP leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., (Mass), out of party office and elected Rep. Charles A. Halleck (Ind) in his place by a 74-70 vote.

Halleck took over the leadership of House Republicans with a mandate to give the Democrats Hell. He was ready, willing and able to do just that.

Most Democrats and Republicans figured that with Halleck as GOP leader the temper of House debate in the 86th Congress would be far more partisan than it would have been under Martin.

Halleck's Republican supporters were counting on him to move more quickly, frequently and effectively to challenge the Democratic version of what's going on in Congress.

In the Senate, Republican liberals were running Sen. John Sherman Cooper (Ky) against Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (Ill) for the party leadership.

In contrast, Democrats lined up their top-heavy majorities in harmony, with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) as Senate leader. Rep. Sam Rayburn (Tex) was elected to an unprecedented 9th term as speaker.

But they had trouble ahead in a

Would Keep Only Essential Services

Lodge Hopes to Cut State Waste

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Nothing will concern State Senator L. Harvey Lodge (R-Oakland County) and the 1959 session of the Legislature more than money, where to get more and how to spend wisely what's available.

Lodge, who a week from today will embark upon his sophomore year as the county's single voice in the Michigan Senate, has been busily occupied during the summer months trying to make state officials more dollar-wise.

The Pontiac attorney, Drayton Plains resident and former state representative has just closed out hearings as chairman of a Senate Interim Committee seeking to stop waste in state government.

He has urged Gov. Williams and his official staff to pledge their united effort to produce a rigid economy, "preserving all essential services and discarding those which are merely desirable."

"Otherwise," the cigar-smoking Republican senator remarked, "to follow the wastrel pattern of the past decade with no consideration for the conservation of the taxpayer's dollar will result in this era being known as the age of stupidity under the sign of the jackass."

L. HARVEY LODGE

So holding the top spot on Lodge's priority list of 1959 problems is the nearly-empty state treasury. A $100 million deficit is awaiting the new session which opens Jan. 14.

This poses a big worry, too, about what Sen. Lodge deems his major local concern, that of the future of Michigan State University Oakland.

"The state's money problems will have a big bearing on the opening and operation of the branch university," he said.

The three state universities have already felt the pinch of Michigan's shrinking pocketbook by cutbacks in state appropriations.

"I will keep a sharp eye on the situation to assure sufficient funds for the opening and future operation of MSUO," Lodge promised.

Lodge, recovering from a bout with pneumonia, is under the impression that the state can control wasteful spending and cut budgets all it wants, but this won't "save a sufficient amount to erase the deficit or meet anticipated growth needs."

Some means of additional revenue for the state must be discovered and fast, he said.

What about the proposed tax on personal incomes of Michigan residents, he was asked? "The majority report of this scheme is fantastic and has many elements of questionable constitutionality," Lodge replied.

"The trouble with most tax plans is that they are designed to appease certain political and

U. of M. Teacher, Alumnus Among Jaycees' Top 10

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A University of Michigan professor and a prominent alumnus were among those selected as the nation's 10 outstanding young men by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

They are Donald A. Glaser, 22, U. of M. professor of nuclear physics, and Dr. Hugh Edward Wilson III, 34, of the University of Texas' Southwestern Medical School.

Glaser, who joined the U. of M. faculty as an instructor in 1949, has been acclaimed for his invention of a bubble chamber device, used for observing the paths of speeding atomic particles. The device was finished two years ago and has been used extensively during the past year.

Glaser was recipient of the University's Henry Russel award in 1956. The award is conferred upon the faculty member of instructor or assistant professor rank whose work as a teacher or research worker is outstanding and holds great promise for the future.

Wilson graduated from the University in 1948. He also attended Ann Arbor High School, and his father is an Ann Arbor attorney.

Wilson developed a device which actually substitutes for the heart and lungs during surgery.

He was credited with efforts providing normal lives to a semi-invalid Fort Worth woman and a 6-year-old Dallas girl, both "almost certainly doomed to an early death."

The other outstanding young men included:

Singer Pat Boone, 24, of New York.

Lt. Shepherd Martin Jenks, 32, of Gales Ferry, Conn., who navigated the submarine Nautilus on its pioneer trip beneath the North Pole.

Dr. James T. Grace, 33, of New York, a research surgeon in cancer.

Dr. Richard T. Smith, 34, of Gainesville, Fla., one of the youngest full professors of pediatrics at the University of Florida.

Loren Edward Schnack, 32, county and probate judge of Quincy, Ill.

Warren H. Phillips, 32, of New York, managing editor of the Wall Street Journal.

Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, 35, of Belmont, Mass., associate director of the Center for International Affairs and director of the Defense Studies Program and Harvard University.

Dr. Gus Tubreville, 25, of Ashland, Wis., president of Northland College.

Sunday Blue Law Plan Turned Down

science," said Henry. "We should not try to enter the area of morals which this legislation borders on."

He believed the law favored the Christian majority and did not take into account the rights of religious minorities which do not keep Sunday as their Sabbath.

"A general resolve by God-fearing people not to shop on Sundays would be more effective than action by the Commission," said Landis.

"Out people do not have to be told not to shop on Sundays. They know it in their hearts."

Dugan said the law only went half-way outlawing sale of some things and not others.

"If we're going to say it's a sin to buy a cigarette lighter on Sundays, isn't it a sin also to buy cigarettes?" he queried.

"This Commission has no right to pass moral laws that would only affect the city," he said. "If the ban were statewide, the situation would be different."

Rowston said the judges administering the Blue Law would have to take difficult questions of religious conviction into consideration.

"I believe the proposal would have a hard time of it in the courts," he said.

Donaldson called upon Pontiac ministers to pledge their congregations against Sunday shopping.

He asked the Commission to grant the delay on grounds the proposal needed more study, but was not given any support.

Hirlinger confided that while opposed to Sunday sales, the chamber's Board of Directors felt that self regulation was better than legislation.

Twelve persons spoke from the audience, eight favoring the law and four opposing it.

Rowston said he noted diverse opinions on the question within the ranks of business and religious groups.

Lauretta Paul Gets New Post

Almont Hospital Head Resigns to Take Job With Salvation Army

Lauretta Paul, executive director of the new Community Hospital near Almont, has tendered her resignation to accept a position with the Salvation Army.

Miss Paul is scheduled to report to the director of the Woman's Division of the Salvation Army in Covington, Ky., on Jan. 19 to learn the details of her new assignment.

She said she will be concerned with the business affairs of Salvation Army hospitals throughout the United States.

Prior to accepting the position at the Community Hospital, Miss Paul had served as director of Pontiac General Hospital.

"We are greatly indebted to Miss Paul for the tremendous contribution she has made to our new hospital," said Thomas K. Richards of Almont, hospital foundation board president.

No successor has been named yet, Richards said today.

86th Congress Convenes, Eyes Economy Budget

party-splitting battle over revising Senate anti-filibuster rules and on civil rights legislation. The rule fight may start today.

Biggest single issue of the 1959 session appeared to be spending—the issue raised by President Eisenhower in the 1958 election in which the Democrats strengthened their control of Congress.

Space exploration to overtake Russia's "Mechta," civil rights, foreign policy and a host of domestic problems like labor and farm legislation were other key issues.

Neither house expected to transact anything but routine business until after President Eisenhower delivered his State of the Union message at a joint session Friday.

In it, Eisenhower may add some fiscal facts to his skeletonized announcement that he will propose a 77 billion dollar "balanced budget."

Leaders of both parties were given a briefing Monday on his foreign policy plans and his $40,-900,000,000 defense budget. Details of his domestic program are yet to be unveiled.

Thirty-six senators and 436 House members were set to take their oaths of office today. Eighteen of the senators are newcomers and 15 of these are Democrats in the 64 to 34 political lineup. The new House has 283 Democrats and 153 Republicans.

WILLIAMS HEADS GROUP

Gov. G. Mennen Williams headed a group of Michigan Democrats acclaiming Philip A. Hart as the state's new senator. They also applauded a Democratic addition to the state's House delegation as the new Congress convened.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich), now Michigan's senior senator, arranged to escort Hart down the the Senate's center aisle to receive the oath of office from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Hart, former lieutenant governor, toppled Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) in the Nov. 4 election, and got more votes than the popular Williams in the process.

Williams, privileged as a governor to witness the swearing in from the Senate floor, was on hand for the ceremony.

James G. O'Hara of Shelby Township becomes Michigan's newest Democratic member of the House. O'Hara unseated Rep. Robert J. McIntosh (R-Mich) of Port Huron in the 7th district.

The Michigan lineup in the House now stands at 7 Democrats and 11 Republicans. The old ratio was 6 Democrats and 12 Republicans.

WIFE, CHILDREN THERE

Hart's pretty wife and six of his eight children were on hand to see him sworn into office.

With the addition of two senators and a House member from Alaska, the 86th became the largest Congress in history.

Not until later will the new Congress get down to actual work on legislation.

Meantime, the Congress will go ahead with the routine of appointing and organizing committees and otherwise preparing to handle a flood of proposed legislation.

Democratic leaders have expressed a determination to write an independent legislative record on which their candidates can stand in 1960.

As Rayburn put it Tuesday:

"We have to bring out a great program of legislation as we did in the 84th and 85th congresses—that got us elected to the 86th."

in secret, some of Martin's friends let him down.

To most observers it had seemed unthinkable that more votes would be cast against than for the name of Joe Martin. It was a name known to millions. Martin's unruly black hair, his beetle brow and fierce grin, his stocky figure, were capitol landmarks.

To many Americans, who watched or heard Martin's heavy handed use of the gavel at five consecutive Republican National Conventions, Martin had come to symbolize the Old Guard of the GOP.

That, no doubt, was part of his downfall. There also was the inexcapable fact that Joe's birthdays were beginning to show. The blood clot, cured or not, was mentioned by some. Even his closest friends said that Martin had slipped since the lean GOP year of 1939 when newsmen voted him the ablest man in the House.

Joe never had been much of a speaker. But some members lately had said the bloopers and tongue-twisters for which his speeches were famous were getting more chuckles than votes.

Once, as speaker during a Republican Congress, Martin recognized "the gentleman from Halleck, Mr. Indiana." With the same Charlie Halleck as chairman of an escort committee in mind, Martin on another occasion introduced Syngman Rhee as "President of Indiana — India ... I mean Korea."

Joe always joined in the laughter. Yesterday, there seemed nothing to laugh about.

Royal Oak Boy First Fatality

Murray Hartwell, 10, Dies After Being Hit by Auto

Son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hartwell of 1722 Crooks Rd., he died in the emergency room at William Beaumont Hospital at 6:45 last night, about a half hour after the accident.

He was struck by an auto driven by John W. Keeler, 38, of 924 Hilldale St. Keeler told Royal Oak Police the boy darted into the path of his car, and that he was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting him.

Keeler was not held.

Murray was the youngest of four children.

The mishap got the county death toll off to a grim start, coming two days before last year's first fatal was recorded.

Announce County, State Party Convention Dates

Oakland County political party chairmen have announced the dates of county and state conventions at which delegates will be elected to aid in the selection of party nominees for state offices in the April 6 election.

Republican Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. announced Jan. 21 as the date of the county convention to be held in Pontiac, and Feb. 14 the date for the state convention in Detroit's Ford Auditorium.

Carlos G. Richardson, Democratic county chairman, said the Democratic county convention will be held in Pontiac Feb. 12, while the state convention will take place in Grand Rapids Feb. 20-21.

Primary purpose of the GOP county convention, to be held in the Supervisors' Room, 1 Lafayette St., will be the selection of 140 delegates to attend the state conclave.

State-wide delegates at this meeting will pick their party choices for several state educational and judicial posts to be filled in the April 6 election. Delegates to the 1960 presidential nominating convention are selected at the party conventions also.

Richardson said he could not tell the number of Democratic delegates who will be chosen for the party's convention until figures are released after a meeting of the State Central Committee Jan. 18.

The Embassy said the three apparently were evacuated to the United States while posing as stranded U. S. tourists.

Cuban authorities indicated they might ask the U.S. to extradite Keehn and Gleaves, the embassy spokesman said.

Keehn was indignant over the charges.

He denied being involved in the kidnaping-robbery and maintained he had never been tried on the charge.

"It was brought up at one time and then forgotten about," Keehn said. "For that matter, we were accused once of robbing a bank."

Keehn said that he and his friend Gleaves were accused of being gun-runners for the rebel forces.

"We were tried on this charge by a military court and sentenced to prison. We were arrested by the Cuban Army Military Intelligence Service, not by the civil police."

He noted that the intelligence service was a Batista agency.

"We saw them shoot and torture people. They held us so we couldn't tell the outside world about it."

Keehn denied he was a rebel supporter or had anything to do with gun-running.

"We didn't even meet a rebel until we were in prison," he said.

Keehn maintained he and Gleaves were "strictly on a vacation" when they were arrested by the intelligence agents during a stopover Aug. 8 in Camagey to visit a friend.

"If I had known the revolution was as serious as it was, I wouldn't even have gone to Cuba," said Keehn.

Last August, however, the Cuban government announced the pair was being held for the kidnaping-robbery under $10,000 bail. The last announcement said they were awaiting trial, but no date had been set.

Merendi, a 68-year-old naturalized citizen, told police he had been abducted by two men who took his car and $400 in cash. Police said the two men had told Merendi they wanted to join Fidel Castro's rebels.

Keehn, a former Pontiac Central High School pupil, said he went on the vacation after being discharged from the Army in May last year because of ear trouble.

Parking will be limited to two hours between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Restriction is in answer to complaints from residents that all-day parkers created a serious traffic problem, the chief said.

Moxley also said one-way traffic on Martin street, between Bates and Chester streets will "remain for the time being."

This may be the first step toward more one-way streets in the downtown area, a system long-favored by the Plan Commission, according to Moxley.

Walker has set a goal of $240,000 for the JA's program operation in the area.

Deacons of the First Baptist Church will sponsor a blood bank Jan. 20, from 2:45 to 8:45 p.m. Recruitment chairmen are Mrs. Ralph Alexander of 1975 Shipman Blvd. and Mrs. Fred Sawyer of 325 Manor Rd.

Persons visiting the bank in the basement of the church are asked to use the side entrance. Parking will be provided in nearby lots.

The monthly meeting of Birmingham's Metropolitan Club Spirit No. 9 Auxiliary will be held at 8 tonight at the home of Mrs. Robert Dunn, 1946 Bowers St. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. DeLyle Service, Mrs. Samuel Snell, and Mrs. Howard Hatt.

Plans for the Installation Dance on Jan. 17 will be completed during the course of the meeting.

Program Chairman Thomas Heydon said that a panel discussion on "Parents' Responsibility in Sex Education" will be held when Derby Junior High School PTA meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the school.

Doctors Charles Payton, Robert Mason and Frederick Adams will discuss the subject on the junior high school age level.

Mrs. Frank Van Sickle will have charge of refreshments, to be served in the cafeteria.

Island Cottage Burns; Firemen Stuck on Bank

ALGONAC (UPI) — Fire-fighters watched helplessly from the mainland last night as flames destroyed a cottage on nearby Russell Island.

The blaze was spotted by Algonac residents and they turned in the alarm. But there was no way for local firemen to reach the island since the St. Clair River is frozen over between the mainland and the island.

Ordinarily, a ferry would take fire-fighting equipment to the scene, but the ferry has been out of operation between Algonac and Russell island because of the ice.

Stolen Baby's Sad Mother Goes Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Frances Chionchio, 26, is home from the maternity ward—away from the sight of new mothers with crying babies. Her own infant daughter is still missing.

Mrs. Chionchio returned Tuesday to her Brooklyn home where her child was kidnaped from a nursery Friday night, only 2½ hours after birth.

The woman's uncle, Dr. John Mollica, who delivered the baby, said he had planned to discharge her today or Thursday, but after seeing her Tuesday decided she should leave at once.

"I think she would be better off mentally if she were away from the atmosphere of seeing other new mothers and crying infants," Mollica said.

"She hears other babies crying and goes into almost uncontrollable sobbing," he added.

Mrs. Chionchio has one other daughter, Gerardette, 1. Her husband, Frank, 28, an attorney for the Port of New York Authority, was with her when she left the hospital weeping.

"All I want is my baby back," she sobbed as she waved photographers away.

Sen. Lodge Hopes to Cut State Waste

special interest groups and are based more on political expediency than facing the problem honestly," he added.

Sliding his glasses up on his forehead and glancing out of his office window down Perry street, Lodge said he would favor an excise tax on utilities, such as electricity and natural gas, to produce extra state funds.

He tabooed proposals to dip into the $50 million Veterans Trust Fund.

Whatever state lawmakers come up with, it must produce added dollars immediately to meet the financial crisis, which undoubtedly will be the aim of the 144 senators and representatives when the session convenes.

Ways to counter it will be heard day and night through the transom of Room 226 in the Porter Hotel in Lansing, traditionally Oakland's headquarters in the capital.

In their order of urgency, Lodge listed the state welfare burden, dwindling funds for education, control of youth problems, mental health, and overcrowding of prisons as next in line of important matters to come before the Legislature.

Most of these, too, revolve around headache No. 1—money.

On the subject of the thousands of persons on welfare assistance rolls, the senator proposed a possible control with a law which would require a person to hold residence in Michigan for a specified number of years before he could become eligible for aid.

"Something like our federal migratory bird act," he pointed out.

Lodge urged an overhauling of the state criminal code with more attention paid to rehabilitation of criminals and crime prevention.

Michigan ranks third among states in spending for mental health but its results show we rank 24th. The senator said means to get "more for our money" in this field must be sought.

Besides scrutiny of funds for MSUO, the Oakland County lawmaker said he would work for legislation to allow the merger of the County Drain Office with the Department of Public Works, a county suggested law establishing lake levels, and the appointment of referees to hear all matters in Probate Court except claims for counties of 250,000 or more population.

He said more concrete proposals and bills to aid Oakland County will be drawn up following meetings with fellow representatives and county supervisors.

If Oakland supervisors approve the home-rule government proposal, this will be added to Lodge's repertoire of measures he will help steer toward passage, he said.

"Much can be done if we from Oakland County work shoulder-to-shoulder with each other and put politics farthest from consideration," he said.

Lodge will be in Lansing with six Oakland representatives—three Republicans and three Democrats.

They are Lloyd L. Anderson (R-District 1), Arthur J. Law (D-District 2, Pontiac), Farrell E. Roberts (R-District 3), James Clarkson (D-District 4), William Hayward (R-District 5), and John C. Hitchcock (D-District 6).

Bitter Cold Eases Off

Gusts Whip Northeast

By United Press International

Gusty winds whipped the northeast for the third straight day, but bitter cold temperatures began moderating Wednesday under the influence of a western storm front.

The storm yesterday turned fire-blackened drought sections of southern California into a sea of mud as rains up to 3.57 inches doused the Los Angeles area.

As the storm system moved inland, it sent temperatures soaring into the 50s in eastern Colorado and western Kansas in contrast to sub-zero readings during the weekend.

Cold northerly winds which reached 70 miles an hour again plagued New York City yesterday. The combination of cold and high winds were blamed for a rush of fires in the city which killed five persons and injured 11 others.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. of New York said all of the fires "were wholly avoidable" and he warned against overtaxing furnaces or leaving children unattended.

The gale-force winds also toppled trees and utility lines, and turned the eastern end of Long Island into a miniature dust bowl which forced the closing of schools in the heart of the potato-growing region.

Snows drifted over highways in upstate New York where the mercury sank to a low of 25 below zero Tuesday at Mountain View, N.Y.

The departing cold wave, which swept into the southwest during the weekend, was blamed for at least 69 deaths caused by exposure, traffic accidents, fires and drownings.

Oklahoma counted nine weather deaths, Kansas 8, New York 7, Mississippi 6, Indiana, Missouri and Virginia 5 each, Iowa 4, Illinois and Pennsylvania 3, Georgia, Maine, Massachusetts, Tennessee and Wisconsin, 2 each, and Alabama, California, Louisiana and New Jersey, 1 each.

Whirley-Whirler Successor to Hula Hoop

New Toy Spinning to the Top

By DON ROTH

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A simple toy invented by a former television advertising salesman is whirling toward the top in the kingdom of children's fun.

It's the Whirley-Whirler, the only invention of John Hyatt. Simply, it's a small stick whirling a plastic soup plate aloft.

How did Hyatt get the idea?

"I was reading about the hula hoop craze," Hyatt recalled, "and like a million other guys, I said to myself, 'Why can't I think of something like that?'

"Well I got to thinking about hula hoops and what made them popular. Kids like something that balances and spins—and suddenly I remembered the jugglers and their spinning plates in vaudeville."

With help from a plastics designer, Hyatt fashioned the first model from a dimestore plastic plate and a rim from a coffee can.

Then Hyatt excitedly went to a friend, Lou Westheimer, a marketing consultant, and told him he had the successor to the hula hoop.

The men joined forces and took in Israel Treiman, a lawyer, to handle the legal end.

Tre public unveiling came in St. Louis' biggest department store. Hyatt and his two sons did the whirling. That first day they sold more than 250.

The cost of a single die was $5,000. But "the Whirley boys"—as John and Lou call themselves — gambled.

The toy clicked. In two months a half million units have been sold. Four plants now work around-the-clock to make the toy.

You work the toy by elevating the 4-ounce plastic plate on the 2-foot long stick. You flick your wrists and the plate begins spinning. The right motion puts it in orbit. The wrong one puts it on the floor.

Doctor 'Needles' Old Folk Out of Doldrums

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—The reason some elderly people act old is that they have lost interest in people, places and things.

They don't hear, because what's there to listen to?

They don't say much, because they're wary of not being heeded.

They fold their hands over their stomachs because what is there to reach out for? Money, maybe, like the young grab at? So what's to spend it on? Hula hoops?

Elderly people lose interest in the world around them because it has lost its humor, its flavor. With one infirmity or another, they cannot expand this little world. The same faces. The old routine. Why bother to move?

"Doc" Henry Milchstein, the chief of physiotherapy at the home and hospital of the Daughters of Jacob, in the Bronx, N.Y., has performed wonders on aging people.

Partly it's because he has a sense of humor, which obviously the families of his patients had long lost.

Mainly, it's because he has a great ability to "needle."

Psychology, he has learned, is better than pills when a man passes 70. To rouse a patient from lethargy—and sheer lethargy at life is the chief cause of senility in many cases—kid him.

One of Doc's patients is a man of 80, who hadn't raised his arms in years.

"Howcum?" asked Milchstein, the first visit.

"Can't," muttered the patient.

Next visit, the doctor brought a glass of wine. He held it over the bed. "Private stock," he remarked. "Too bad you can't try it."

The arms went up automatically. The patient tasted again the flavor of life.

An 86-year-old man, stricken with aphasia (speech defect) was too discouraged for anything but lying down. "Don't you want to be up for Washington's birthday." Doc asked. The patient shook his head. "Be more patriotic, man," Doc went on. "Anybody who isn't proud to say, 'I am an American . . .'"

SPOKE UP

"Listen, if I could say 'I am an American'," was the startling response, "I wouldn't be here."

Patient is recovering satisfactorily.

Another octogenarian was awaiting the grim reaper with appropriate grimness. He refused attempts at rehabilitation.

"Don't bother me," was his protest. "I want to go to the devil."

"Would you mind telling me your politics?" snarled the Doc.

"Democrat," came the snarl back.

"The devil's a Republican. He won't take you."

The old man sat up belligerently. "Well the hell," he snorted, "with the devil."

He is now so annoyed with the idea of death that he embraces life.

State Gets Prize for Car Courses

Michigan Honored 2nd Straight Year for High School Driver Education

LANSING (AP) — Michigan was honored for the second straight year Tuesday as the nation's leading state in high school driver education.

The Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, which surveyed driver education programs across the country, was to present Gov. Williams with a silver plaque at a state safety commission meeting today.

The organization reported that 537 of the state's 544 public high schools offered driver education courses at nationally recommended standards in the 1957-58 school year. About 84,700 students were enrolled.

The citation accompanying the award praised the Legislature, State Department of Public Instruction, State Police, the Safety Commission and a host of voluntary organizations ranging from auto manufacturers to newspapers and radio stations for aiding in the program.

Experimental French trains are running on pneumatic tires.

U. S.-Canada 5-Point Plan to Foster Unity in Trade

OTTAWA (AP) — The United States and Canada have agred to consult more closely on issues that can hurt each other's trade. They also have called on Europe to speed up reducton of barriers to imports from North America.

Ending 24 hours of talks between Cabinet members of the two neighbors, a 1,500-word communique Tuesday night announced:

1. Wheat experts of the two countries will meet every three months in attempts to resolve Canadian complaints that subsidized disposal of American surplus wheat cuts into Canada's commercial markets.

2. More talks will take place on U.S. restrictions on import of Canadian oil. There was jont agreemnt that continued oil exploration and development are necessary on defense grounds.

3. The United States expressed hope it could withdraw its import curbs on lead and zinc once some international agreement is reached among major suppliers and buyers.

4. Cabinet spokesmen, probably Canadian Justice Minister E. D. Fulton and U.S. Aty. Gen. Williatm Rogers, will hold talks on U.S. prosecution of three big electrone companies whose subsidiaries operate a patent pool in Canada. Canada wants the suit dropped. The U.S. said it has no intention of infringing on Canadian sovereignty.

5. Canada will study an American proposal to set up an international development association affiliated with the world bank. The assocation would provide underdeveloped countries with long-term loans on more generous terms than the world bank gives.

Canadian Finance Minister Donald Fleming said the talks were held in an atmosphere of utmost harmony.

The talks were on the fourth annual meeting of the Joint Canada-U.S. Committee on Trad and Economic Affairs, set up in 1953 to iron our problems between the two countries before they develop in embarrassing public stuations.

The United States was represented by Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson, Interior Secretary Fred Seaton, Commerce Secretary Lewis Strauss and Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon, representing ailing Secretary Dulles.

Dime Returned to Schoolgirls by Rockefeller

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller yesterday returned a dime sent to him by two Long Island schoolgirls with a note saying:

"We know from our history that your grandfather gave dimes to the populace as a token of friendship, and to show our esteem for you we are sending you the same token of friendship."

Rockefeller thanked the pupils for the gesture but said he could not violate his own rule against the acceptance of gifts.

Let Psychiatrist Check Hoarding Impulse—Abby

This Fellow Is Turning Home Into Well Stocked Supermarket

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: What would you do if your husband bought food like he was feeding a family of 12 and couldn't get to a grocery store for a year? That's my Gus. I'm a wreck from shifting canned goods, sacks of flour and cases of detergent around. He hunts up bargains in the newspapers and runs to food sales and fills up the car.

ABBY

"My cellar and cupboards are so crammed full we could feed an army and there's just the two of us and we never entertain. We live one block from a supermarket. I think he's crazy. This has been going on for years. I bought a freezer but it only made matters worse because now he's got that filled with frozen foods. What's ailing him, anyhow?

ANXIOUS TO HEAR

DEAR ANXIOUS: A psychiatrist would probably call this a "compulsion to hoard." Your husband really should stop and see a doctor on his way home from the store sometime.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a woman in my 30s who, about six months ago, decided to have plastic surgery on a nose that was so big it gave me a complex. It was a very successful operation, but my problem is this. When I see friends I haven't seen in a long while and they say, "You look simply wonderful but there is something different about you and I can't figure out what it is," should I tell them or not?"

RIVA

DEAR RIVA: Certainly. If you don't—somebody else will.

"DEAR ABBY: My fiance is stationed in Germany and will be there for two years. Before he left we became engaged in the church and he gave me a beautiful diamond. "My fiance says it is okay for me to go out on dates with other boys while he's gone to take my mind off my loneliness. My parents say that no engaged daughter of theirs is going out on dates. Don't you think that if my FIANCE doesn't mind, my parents have no say in the matter? I am almost 18." LONESOME

DEAR LONESOME: I agree with your parents. It was generous of your fiance to give his approval, but since you accepted his diamond, you should decline his offer to date others. You made your choice.

"DEAR ABBY: There is this girl at school who I am sure is a very nice girl underneath it all, but if I told anybody that I liked her they wouldn't associate with me any more. She wears so much makeup that you would think she was made up to go on a stage. Her hair is up and she boasted that she had 101 bobby pins in it. One of the teachers made her wash her face once, but the next day she had the makeup on as thick as always and said that was the style and the teacher was square. Do you know of any way I could help this girl without insulting her?" CAROLYN

DEAR CAROLYN: The girl you describe is not likely to accept criticism from anyone who is merely a nodding acquaintance. If you are sincere about "helping" her . . . gain her confidence by offering your friendship first. Then move in with the helpful suggestions.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THELMA: The difference between a successful marriage and a mediocre one consists of leaving about 3 or 4 things a day unsaid.

Sale Gift Often Is Risky

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: During the summer I bought a lovely sweater at a sale at one of the department stores. I put it away to give to a friend of mine for Christmas. She was very pleased with it but unfortunately it was so small for her and she asked me if I would please exchange it for the next size.

"This sweater is now almost double the price I paid for it and I really cannot afford to give such an expensive present. I am really in a spot and hope you can help me out of it. Am I obliged to give her the same sweater or could I possibly give her a less expensive one?"

Answer: Your experience shows why it is unwise ever to buy a present at a sale. You will now either have to tell your friend the truth and explain that you cannot afford to buy her the same sweater at the regular price, or do without something you want and buy it for her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for a bride ever to walk up the aisle alone? A friend of mine insists that it is, but I have never in my life seen this happen and, furthermore, I think she would look very forlorn. Will you please answer this in your column?"

Answer: It is unusual, but not unheard of, for a bride, who has no male relative or close family friend, to walk up the aisle alone. However, one who has natural grace and a happy face can be the loveliest bride imaginable.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Every now and then my husband and I and another couple dine out together. Very often we go to a restaurant where there is dancing. Neither of our husbands cares very much for dancing, but I love to dance and so does the other wife. Would it be proper for the two of us to get up and dance together?"

Answer: Sorry, but it would be most improper.

Planning the telephone bridge party to be held at 2 o'clock Jan. 21 are, left to right, Mrs. G. H. Pitts and Mrs. Julian Wilson. The party is to raise funds for scholarships to the University.

Enjoying luncheon are, left to right, Mrs. Robert Von Maur and Mrs. Neree Alix. Last year the association sent three students to the University of Michigan on scholarships.

Child Needs Physical Closeness to Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

At 3, Chet's activities sometimes resulted in bumps, scratches and cuts.

His response to these injuries was immediate and direct. Roaring, tears streaming down his face, he'd make a bee-line for his mother.

She'd take him on her lap, applying treatment to the bump, scratch or cut. Soon thereafter, he'd start wriggling in her arms or otherwise make it clear that he was ready to resume independent life.

But now that Chet's 6, his demands for her physical nearness are no longer direct.

When his mother comes out to remove his baby brother from his playpen, he notes the tenderness with which she says, "Oh, you want your doll to come, too, do you? All right, here he is. Now let's go in and get that snowsuit off . . . "

The contrast between her tone to Buddy and the way she says "Come in and get ready for supper, Chet" hurts him.

But instead of screaming his need for closeness to her, he follows her into the kitchen to pester her for help in putting his express wagon away. As she knows he can put it into the garage himself, she rejects his appeal with impatience.

If she understood what it represents, she mightn't.

The world too soon makes us timid of a direct admission of our need for a beloved person's attention. Children soon discover that we find their hurts inconvenient or reproachful, and to avoid our impatience will think up all kinds of excuses to get us to attend to them.

One day your 12-year-old will suddenly protest his lonely chore of removing old magazines to the cellar. Like Chet, he has developed a protective pride against appearing to need your company—and has lost the small child's innocent and more honest acceptance of the need.

A Greek myth concerns the giant Antaeus, son of Terra the Earth. A mighty wrestler, he was unconquerable because after every fall he always rose with his strength renewed by contact with the Earth, his mother.

Myths survive because they're interesting. The myth of Antaeus survives because it symbolizes our timeless need to renew our strengths by physical closeness to our beloved people.

When it's filled, like the 3-year-old who wriggles from our lap, older children are ready again for independent activity.

In Youth Is Time to Save

It's never too early to start financial planning for future retirement. In fact your early working years are the time when you should develop the saving habit, according to a spokesman from the home management department at a state university.

HAVE RESERVE

Of course the first aim of the young family's savings program is to serve as an emergency fund. Having a little "spare" money to meet ordinary emergencies elimiates a lot of worry.

Your local bank, a savings and loan association or a credit union are ideal places to start your savings account. Check interest rates and locate your account to get the highest rate possible. Now you can get from 2 to 4 per cent compound interest — and it's compound interest that makes saving worthwhile.

START EARLY

Young families feel responsibilities are heavy when children are small. But actually this is the time to get a savings program under way because the second working stage or education of children period is the most expensive of all. However, this is usually the highest earning period for the family, too.

What started as an emergency fund and long time retirement plan can become the college fund. Savings and loan or credit union shares usually pay the highest compound interest, so continue that saving method. Keep the fund in the names of the parents so it can be a combinaiton emergency and college fund.

Engagement Told

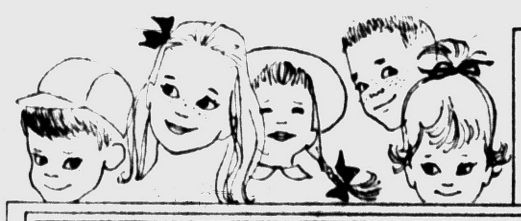

Former Pontiac residents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Blackwell of Hadley announce the engagement of her daughter, Margaret Jane Farrell to Roy A. Heckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heckman of Lapeer. A July wedding is planned.

The first regular coal mining operations in North America were begun by the French in 1720 on Cape Breton Island in Nova Scotia.

Doctor Warns Heavy Eaters:

Grave Can Be Dug With Knife, Fork

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Too much eating rather than too much eating of this food or that food, may well be the real cause of premature hardening of arteries and consequent premature death, in the view of a scientist specializing in the aging processes of the human body.

Dr. Chester Solez urged members of the American Geriatrics Society to set their research guns on testing the ancient saying that it is possible to dig one's grave with a knife and fork. Science has gone along with that idea in a general way but has never paid much attention to seeking out the whys and wherefores.

It should seek them out and at once, said Solez, because there is evidence overeating shortens life, although the evidence is in bits and pieces scattered through the accumulated knowledge of medical science. In his opinion, overeating can keep the body machinery—busy turning out new tissue to replace old tissue—constantly overwhelmed.

This leads to the machinery turning out inferior tissue, which means blood vessel walls suffer in a way that causes them to degenerate before they should. Moreover, "If the dietary overindulgence consists of 'empty calories,' even worse tissue is formed," he said.

The most common source of "empty calories" is alcoholic beverages.

Solez was concerned with the chemical activators of the bodily machinery which construct new tissue to replace old. These are enzymes which get the build-up chemistry into motion, step by step, and the hormones which regulate both the speed and the amount of the motion.

In certain people the supply of some of these enzymes and hormones may be limited at best, and the result of overeating "is a relative or absolute shortage." Insulin, for example, is a hormon produced by the pancreas gland and failure of the pancreas to produce enough of it results in diabetes.

Solez argued that insulin deficiency in an individual could cause deterioration of tissue and degeneration of arteries before it causes recognizable diabetes, if it did.

Another hormone he suspected of being involved in artery hardening is the one secreted by the adrenal glands which counters the building up of proteins for body repair. When all is well, this hormone is useful because it prevents an oversupply.

But if there is too much of it being secreted, there is an undersupply of protein and resultant damage to arteries. Overeating could so upset the intricate balances among hormones and enzymes as to cause a relative surplus of this hormone.

It wasn't so long ago, Solez said, that many medical scientists held that too much fat in the diet caused hardening of the arteries. Then the opinion switched and a deficiency of the unsaturated fats in the diet was suspected of being an important cause. The true answer isn't as simple as that because there is "a wide variety of factors involved."

Overeating is one factor but it is controllable," he said. "If people can get a clearer idea of how and why overeating leads to arteriosclerosis, they may be more willing to curtail dietary overindulgence and make a healthier selection of foods."

Judge to Rule on Murder Notes

Petoskey Man Admits Forging Checks on His Mother's Account

PETOSKEY (UPI)—Judge Edward H. Fenlon was expected to make a key ruling today in the first-degree murder trial of Paul Achenbach, a prominent Petoskey businessman accused of slaying his elderly mother.

At issue to be settled by Judge Fenlon was whether or not to permit introduction of Achenbach's account at the First National Bank, microfilms of the account of the deceased, Mrs. Clara L. Achenbach and the alleged murder date of May 29.

Defense attorneys objected to these items on grounds that the prosecutor has failed to show they are material at issue before the court or have bearing on the case.

A series of 10 notes left with the 46-year-old defendant's associate, Frank Trulson, was also to be decided on by the judge. The notes are believed to be the keystone in the prosecution's case.

Prosecutor Howard Campbell attempted earlier to have the notes introduced but defense objections blocked him.

In an effort to establish a motive, Campbell himself took the stand yesterday and contended that Achenbach forged checks on Mrs. Achenbach's account when she was alive and after her death.

Defense attorneys for Achenbach admitted that a number of checks being introduced by the prosecutor were forgeries by the defendant. The checks were dated between June and October, 1958.

Claws Way Out After Cave-In

Well-Digger Trapped 13 Hours With Steel Strip Around His Ankle

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—A 45-year-old well-digger trapped in a cave-in for nearly 13 hours clawed his way free from a steel and sand prison today with the help of a winch.

Leslie Stafford Jr., once given up for dead, was trapped at the 20-foot level of a narrow four-foot diameter sump hole by a steel strip which pinned his ankle and prevented rescuers from pulling him out after tons of gravel had been removed from atop him following the cave-in at 3:22 p.m. (PST) yesterday.

Cramped conditions and fear of another cave-in made rescuers virtually stop digging.

He dug with his bare hands for more than eight hours before he was freed and was pulled from the hole at 3:57 a.m. (PST).

The terribly tired man who had been forced to forego pain easing sedatives so he would be alert enough to dig his way free was carried in a stretcher to a waiting ambulance and taken to Bakersfield Hospital.

Stafford's condition was reported as satisfactory by hospital doctors who praised the courage and stamina of the wiry 125-pound, 5-foot 4-inch well-digger.

X-rays were taken of his right leg and ankle which had been pinned under the metal strip. Results were not immediately available.

2 Waterford Fires Blamed on Chimneys

Faulty chimneys were the cause of two fires in Waterford Township yesterday.

The first fire was at the Ermit Hardenburgh home, 1145 Holbrook St., at 11 a.m. Damage was estimated at $500 to the frame home and its contents.

The other fire was in the attic of the Leon Kennaday home, 1431 Airway Dr., at 5:30 p.m. Damage was estimated at $1,000 by Waterford Township firemen.

Shiny Bumpers of '59 Pontiacs to Keep Glow

Pontiac customers in 1959 can look forward to unprecedented chrome protection as a result of the division's tried and proven double copper plating process now applied to all front and rear bumpers.

First tested on 1957 automobile rear bumpers and utilized in 1958 on all front bumpers, the treatment is extended on 1959 Pontiacs to afford maximum protection even in areas where rust and corrosion are greatly accelerated by winter road salt or high humidity.

In addition to substantially reducing chrome deterioration, the double copper operation provides an exceptionally lustrous, mirror bright finish, unexcelled by any other car manufacturer.

Pontiac's highly successful plating process consists of two copper platings with buffing, followed by conventional nickel and chrome coatings in the division's modern electro-plating system.

An additional chrome protection called Protex is applied to front and rear bumpers and tail lights on all 1959 Pontiacs built between September and May. The oil soluble coating forms a transparent film over the chrome parts and is moisture repellent.

Pontiac plating experts remind motorists that frequent cleansing and occasional use of a good paste wax or polish during winter months will appreciably reduce chrome deterioration.

$15 Million Expressway Hearing Due

LANSING (AP)—A public hearing will be held Jan. 16 in Ann Arbor on a proposed 15 million-dollar expressway ... a relocation of U.S. 23 ... to run from Milan to a point north of Ann Arbor.

The four-lane divided and limited access expressway will run for more than 19 miles, connecting at its northern terminus with the U.S. 23 Ann Arbor-Whitmore Lake Expressway. It will bypass Ann Arbor on the east and intersect the U.S. 12 expressway south of Ann Arbor.

The expressway also will serve as the eastbelt for the expressway system ringing the Ann Arbor area, channeling big volumes of traffic away from city streets.

The new section will furnish a major link in the U.S. 23 expressway running from the Ohio border north to the Mackinac Bridge.

Twenty bridges and eight interchanges are planned for the project.

This Little Gal Caused a Stir—and With Reason!

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—It was difficult for Glenn Holmgrain to believe that his wife had given birth to a girl.

"Are you positively, absolutely sure it's a girl?" he demanded of the nurse who brought him the news yesterday.

Quite definitely a girl, the nurse answered.

Holmgrain ran to the telephone and called his mother, Mrs. Eric Holmgrain, in Rock Island, Ill. Mrs. Holmgrain promptly caught a plane to Memphis.

Reason for all this excitement: The child was the first girl born in the Holmgrain family in 300 years.

12-Town Drain Case Due in High Court Next Week

Another knot in the legal tangle blocking Twelve-Town storm relief sewer for southern Oakland County is expected to be loosened next week when the State Supreme Court hears arguments on appeals stymying the proposed project.

Donald F. Winters, court clerk, said it probably would be Tuesday or Wednesday before the eight justices could hear arguments from attorneys representing apellants Southfield, Troy and Royal Oak Township, in addition to the county.

The three municipalities appealed a ruling of Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland upholding the constitutionality of the drain act under which the county was proceeding to build the much-needed and long-awaited $44,092,000 system to serve 14 South End communities.

They also opposed what they said was unfair apportionment of costs.

Now the high court is ready to hear oral arguments to back up these claims.

However, county planners and residents of the area who have watched their basements flooded from heavy spring rains, will have to wait awhile longer for any action on the problem.

Winters said it might be several months before the Supreme Court rules on the appeals.

Mart Irregular in Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were irregular in heavy early trading today.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional. There were some exceptions.

One was American Telephone which advanced about 5 points in active dealings.

Reynolds Metals recouped about 2 points of a 2¾ loss taken yesterday on news it will ask stockholders to authorize additional shares of common and preferred stock. Reynolds and Tube Investments Ltd. of Great Britain appeared to have won their struggle to obtain control of British Aluminum Co.

The market as a whole was retreating from its seventh straight record in the Associated Press average. Profit taking, which prevailed in yesterday's mixed market, continued with some strong accumulation moves of specific stocks.

Haveg, a big gainer yesterday, added another point or so. U. S. Steel fell about a point along with Chrysler.

Moderate losses were taken by Goodyear, Caterpillar, Douglas Aircraft, International Nickel, American Cyanamid, General Electric and Lorillard.

Capitol Surprised by Proposal to Merge Wayne and U. of M.

LANSING (AP)—The Wayne State Senate, in its transition from a city to state institution, legally is a University of Michigan merger proposal took the capitol by surprise creature of the legislature," Bartwith only sketchy information to act said.

go on, some interested state officials surmised that bringing the two state institutions under one policy-making roof could be accomplished by legislation.

Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, said he assumed it could be done by repealing existing laws providing for election of a Wayne University board, and by a separate act placing Wayne under control of the U. of M. Board of Regents.

"As I understand it, Wayne

With this

He said he could not immediately come to a judgement as to the desirability of the proposal, advanced by Clarence B. Hilberry, Wayne president.

"A proposal as important as this — not only to the institutions directly concerned, but to the future of higher education in Michigan — needs very careful thought and consideration. There are many ramifications," he said.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, a Wayne alumnus and former faculty member who this year put the school colors on state automobile license plates, said he had no foreknowledge of the plan.

But, Hare said Hilberry had made a date with him for late today — he assumed to talk about the merger.

Bartlett and Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams could give no immediate answer to whether the regents could be obliged to accept Wayne if the legislature gave it to them.

The board of regents is an independent constitutional entity.

"But, as a former regent, and knowing how the two schools have worked closely together in the past, I feel confident the regents would go along on any reasonable plan," Adams said.

One of Bartlett's staff members observed that the possibility of combining Wayne and the U. of M. under one board was nowhere discussed in a voluminous survey of higher education in the state just completed.

The $165,000 study was undertaken by John Dale Russell as research director of a special legislative committee on higher education.

Only a year ago, Wayne administrators quietly favored establishment of their school on a separate constitutional footing comparable to that of the U. of M. and Michigan State University.

But, apparently sensing opposition from the other two schools, the Wayne officials never actually asked the legislature to adopt a resolution putting the question to the necessary statewide vote.

Under existing law, Republican and Democratic state conventions next month will nominate six candidates apiece for election as Wayne's first permanent state board of regents.

The city to state institution transition will not be completed until July 1.

1959 Car Sales Are Brisk

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry is scheduling 1½ million cars for production in this year's first quarter.

The projection is based on an assumption that retail demand will hold up at the current improved rate. A further upsurge will bring increased output, possibly as much as 150,000 more units.

So far in the 1959 model year new car sales have been encouragingly brisk. There is no indication of a leveling off with production again at a more nearly normal level. Some industry optimists are predicting a return of the traditional spring sales upsurge.

The seasonal upturn did not appear in 1958 or 1957. Some analysts noted that 1957 sales approximated six million units despite the lack of a spring sales boom. But much of the 1957 volume came at the expense of profits. A lot of price slashing was needed to attain the relatively high unit volume.

To some extent the current high car production rate has been occasioned by the weeks of idleness that marked General Motors' start on the 1959 model year. GM divisions built few cars in October because of labor disputes that followed the new contract agreement. The disputes were not covered in the contract.

Nevertheless, nobody close to the car factories is disputing predictions that 1959 will bring production and sale of approximately 5½ million cars. Some forecasters say this figure would be in addition to more than 400,000 imported car sales.

The industry's retailers started the new year with approximately 500,000 new cars in inventory. That compares with 625,000 units on hand at the start of 1958. At the present sales rate the inventory represents about four weeks' supply, or about a normal stock.

Sales executives generally expect new car retail deliveries this month to run well above those of the like 1958 month. In January last year 282,000 new units were sold. In February a year ago sales numbered 340,000.

It took nearly four months for the industry to sell 1½ million cars. Industry sales chiefs will be disappointed if that many cars are not sold in this year's initial three months.

Whatever else may be said about the new car market immediately ahead, the industry is favored with more buyer interest, apparently less reluctance to buy and a better over-all inventory situation.

The inventories are in good balance, factory spokesmen say, not only numerically, but also from the standpoint of model availability. This was a major problem for several producers at the start of the new model year.

There are scattered instances of certain model shortages, but generally that problem has been solved—largely through the almost industrywide overtime operations of the 1959 model year to date.

New House Leader Conservative Like Predecessor

GOP Switch to Halleck No Policy Change

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans weren't grasping for new or different ideas Tuesday when they bounced their oldtime House leader, Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, and replaced him with Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

They simply substituted a younger man for an older one. Both are conservative. Martin, 74, was Republican House leader 20 years. Halleck, 58, had been his right-hand man for years.

Anyone who thinks the switch marks a change toward less conservative Republican thinking can look at the skin-tight vote by which Martin was defeated and at the remarks of veteran Rep. John Taber of New York.

The vote was 74-70 for Halleck. And Taber, one of the most conservative of all House Republicans, voted for Halleck. Asked if he thought the change would mean a more conservative leadership, he replied: "I hope so."

He said Martin "stands right" but didn't push hard enough.

Martin has been a nice, kindly man. Democratic Speaker Sam Rayburn once said of him: "He has a great, fine heart." But the Republicans Tuesday didn't stand on sentiment.

Martin is not only up in years but looks tired. He gives the impression of not having had a new idea in years. For that matter, so does Hallack.

Martin was a vigorous anti-New Dealer at a time when the country was undergoing a social revolution which President Eisenhower hasn't sought to alter in any major way.

Halleck was a vigorous anti-New Dealer, too. But Halleck has a lot more hustle, perhaps because he's younger, and it seems pretty obvious he was chosen Tuesday mainly for that reason.

Martin and Halleck haven't always voted like identical twins. At times the older man looked even less conservative than the younger. For instance, in 1957 Halleck voted to kill federal aid to education; Martin voted for the bill.

President Eisenhower had plugged for a federal aid program — until voting time came — and afterwards he expressed disappointment at the defeat of the bill.

But many backers of the measure said it was Eisenhower's own lukewarm attitude that doomed the measure.

Tuesday Martin blamed some of Eisenhower's aides — but not the President — for a part in his defeat. Martin said he thought they throught he was a little too independent for them.

Later Eisenhower congratulated Halleck on his victory and thanked Martin for his many years of service.

Any hustle Halleck can give the House Republicans will be badly needed in 1959 if they are not to be drowned by the overwhelming Democratic majority with which they have to do business this year.

After the November elections, in which Republicans of both houses suffered smashing defeat, liberal Senate Republicans took the setback as a public demand for more liberal Republican thinking.

There's nothing to indicate House Republicans feel that way. But if they feel the need for more action its understandable. A few figures show what they're up against this year.

Last year in the House Democrats outnumbered Republicans 235-200. But, as a result of the elections, this year the score is 283 Democrats to 153 Republicans.

Undisturbed Teller Waves Off Threat

NEW YORK (UPI) — A man walked up to Mrs. Sylvia Meyers, a teller at a New York savings bank, and handed her a deposit slip on which he had written a warning that he'd blow up the place if she didn't hand over "a thousand dollars fast."

Mrs. Meyers just waved him aside and attended to two other customers. When he demanded to know if the teller thought he was kidding, she still ignored him.

The bandit, thoroughly discouraged, shambled out.

18-Year-Old Pressman Won't Quit for Surgery

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP)—Mike Burgos likes his job as a pressman at the Bisbee Daily Review.

He was stricken with appendicitis and emergency surgery was ordered. He refused to go into the operating room until doctors had telephoned the paper and promised Mike he could have a few days off.

After the operation, the 18-year-old pressman tried to crawl out of bed, explaining, "I gotta get dressed and get back to work."

Salk Says Vaccine Responsible

Report One Type of Polio Eliminated

3C-1&OL-42ERB—REPORT ONE

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Salk anti-polio vaccine has eliminated completely one of the three types of polio virus among vaccinated persons.

This assertion comes from Dr. Jonas Salk, the University of Pittsburgh physician-scientist who developed the vaccine that was pronounced "safe, potent and effective" against infantile paralysis less than four years ago.

But the type II polio, which Salk says now is non-existent among the vaccinated, was one of the two least found cripplers among the three types of viuses that cause polio.

The three types are known as I, I,I and III. In the before-vaccine days type 1 appeared on an average of eight times in 10 cases, types II and II only once each in 10.

The vaccine's discoverer told of its prokress in an interview yesterday.

Dr. Salk and other authorities studying degrees of immunity given by his vaccine, agree it dramatically has reduced chances of your developing either type I or III polio and apaprently even has resulted in a dramatic reduction in type II among the unvaccinated.

Why the latter is true Dr. Salk is uncertain, but he suggests that with fewer persons to spread No. I fewer are likely to get it.

Why his vaccine is not more potent against I and II Dr. Salk also is uncertain. There are various possibilities. It may have been by 'happenstance,' he told a medical symposium at the University of Michigan yesterday, that exactly the right virus strain was used in conversion into vaccine to prevent type II.

That is known as MEF-1 and he says further investigation may turn up a vaccine strain as potet against No. I and No. III.

Even if it doesn't, he predicts that with what he says is the consistently increasing potency of mass-produced vaccine will whip the other two types.

Saying that mass production methods have failed to produce a vaccine as consistently potent or uniform as his laboratory-produced vaccine, Dr. Salk suggested that a fourth shot would raise immunity compared with a currently keneraliy prescribed three-shot course.

But by 1960 he expressed "a ho based on the experience of pharmaceutical manufacturers' that vaccine consistency equal in potency to laboratory vaccine will be mass produced.

When the so-caled optima is reached, Dr. Sak said one or two shots shoud give immnity within 10 days and a seond or third shot extend immnity over many years.

o The vaine bider, however, agreed with other ostanding authorities in the symposim that the nation's No. 1 probem in ombating polo is getting more peope inoated three times.

Even if everybody in the ontry had three shots today, Dr. Thomas Franis, Jr., said the batte of vaine vs. polo wod not be won. He expained a new rop of babies omes every year and the most polo-sseptibe years are the preshoo ones.

Waterford Construction Triples Dec. '57 Figure

Construction work in Waterford Township more than tripled during December as compared to the same period a year ago, according to Building Department reports.

There were 35 permits issued for construction costing $297,150. The total for December 1957 was $94,700.

Permits for 12 new houses costing $164,200 were issued from Dec. 1 to 31, 1958, with $116,740 for commercial and additions to buildings.

Meat Had Good Color, but Dealer Gets Fine

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Ted Wong was fined $25 because the meat he sold in his Phoenix market always looked nice and red.

Wong pleaded guilty in city court to sprinkling the meat with sulphite.

American Has Envoy in Lather

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One American at least has Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan all in a lather.

He's Alfonso Tana, a 70-year-old hotel barber. He stopped by the Soviet Embassy today—for the third straight day—to give the visiting diplomat his morning shave.

Tana, who has waited on so many prominent people in the past 50 years that he can't remember them all, said Mikoyan is "a very nice fellow, a kind and gentle man."

Unlike most barber-customer relations there's little conversation—almost none, in fact.

"We just say 'Good morning' and then, when I'm finished, 'Good day,'" Tana said. "Then Mr. Mikoyan thanks me and bows."

Proving to be something of a diplomat himself, Tana said when asked if Mikoyan got or needed a haircut:

"He didn't ask for one."

Tana refused to say whether Mikoyan paid him for the shaves, or gave him a tip for his services.

"Those are money matters that I just won't discuss," he said. Asked how he happened to be tapped for the job, he replied:

"Someone at the State Department asked me to do it. Somebody must have recommended me."

The California legislature met at San Jose, Vallejo and Benicia before Sacramento was established as the state capital in 1854.

Revolution Adds Spark to Michigan Man's Vacation

Holiday in Cuba—Until Lid Blew Off!

YPSILANTI (AP)—It wasn't the fighting that bothered Cecil R. McLeod during the Cuban revolution, it was food — He couldn't get any.

"My trouble," said the Eastern Michiman College librarian back on campus after an exciting few days in Havana," was that I couldn't get anything to eat."

A general strike called by the rebel forces of Fidel Castro had paralyzed the Cuban capital.

"My hotel had no food and all I could buy was a small amount of fruit from a vendor," McLeod said. "A friend of mine had some breakfast food ano that's all we had to eat for a couple of days."

McLeod said he found the situation "more exciting than dangerous" despite the fact the rebels took over his hotel room to shoot at snipers.

He had expected a quiet holiday when he arrived in Havana Dec. 27. But when the trouble broke out in earnest New Year's Eve, McLeod found himself in the middle of the rioting.

"The rebels took over my room and began firing out the window at snipers from the Batista forces," said McLeod. "You couldn't call anything your own."

He said at the height of the street fighting he went into the streets and took nearly 60 pictures.

Asked if the experience spoiled his vacation, McLeod replied: "Not at all.

"It added something to it," he said. "I'll probably have better vacations but they'll never be more exciting."
