Recorded for Posterity!

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
Who's A Romberg?
Who's A Newman? Or Romberg, Albert Miller, Jerry Lindsay, Janice Dawson, Roy B. Flemming, Janice Dawson, or just plain Taylor?
No one seems to know the answer, especially the three tired members of the Oakland County Board of Canvassers.
As they checked over the returns in the Nov. 8 election they came across some of these names, just a fraction of the 90 write-in votes given mystery persons among the 301,405 votes cast in the county.
"Some people just like to play a practical joke on their neighbor or see their own name in print, apparently," said Carlos G. Richardson, chairman of the board.
All the votes, regardless of whether they were candidates listed on the ballot, must be certified as canvassed to the state, he said.
DOWN IN HISTORY
So, some unknown persons are now recorded in history.
Recurring the most was American Motors President George Romney. Some voters wouldn't take him at his word when he stressed over and over that

Scientists Hope Solar Power Will Build Up
Big One in Tires

WASHINGTON (AP)—The little camera was outperforming the big camera aboard the orbiting Tiros II weather-eye satellite today. But space scientists were hopeful that the larger camera's pictures would improve.
The satellite itself was launched Wednesday into what scientists said was the most nearly perfect orbit yet achieved. It ranges from 450 to 471 miles above the earth.
National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials still have not decided what's causing the trouble with the pictures from the larger camera. They said the difficulty could be in the equipment or a temporary result of an initial power drain.
It reduced power is to blame, they said, for the trouble with the pictures from the larger camera. The smaller camera continues to work in the sunlight. Its batteries draw power from solar cells.
But with poor quality wide-angle photos from the larger camera, scientists have trouble pinpointing the exact location of the clouds photographed by the small camera.

Public Is Invited Dec. 1 to 1st City Airline Run

Commercial airline service will come to Pontiac at 10:06 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 1.
That's the time the first regular passenger run by North Central Airlines is scheduled to touch down at Pontiac Municipal Airport, according to John W. Hiringer, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.
Hiringer said that North Central Airlines officials in Minneapolis, Minn., had announced yesterday details about the inauguration of the city's first regularly scheduled commercial airline service.
The first Convair transport to arrive here will be northbound from Willow Run Airport. After leaving Pontiac it will head for Flint, Tri-City Airport (Bay City, Saginaw and Midland), Alpena, Petoskey and Sault Ste. Marie.
Ceremonies along the way will prevent the airlines from keeping to a strict time-schedule opening day.
The stop-over in Pontiac will be the first and a 15-minute interval is planned. The usual interval would be six minutes.
Hiringer said city officials and community leaders, as well as the general public, are being invited to participate in the event.
Among the North Central officials aboard the first plane, he said, will be Arthur E. A. Mueller, chairman of the board.
The company said it would have a plaque ready for presentation to the city, commemorating the inauguration.
The announcement followed the visit by a team of Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) officials, who flew into the airport Tuesday in their first "proving" run and pronounced the expanded field ready for commercial airlines.
The team was flying in a North Central Airlines Convair transport in an inspection trip of 16 Michigan fields that the airlines is scheduled to begin commercial service at Dec. 1.
All the fields were satisfactory, it was reported at the end of the tour in Port Huron.
The team, headed by Jerry D. Murphy, FAA air-carriers operations inspector, was accompanied by North Central flight operations manager Gaile Wallis and other airlines officials.
Army Sets Cutoff Date
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army, like the Air Force, has set a Jan. 31 cutoff date on sending wives and children along with soldiers to various overseas posts.
The government estimated today it takes $220 to $280 monthly to support a retired couple aged 65 or more on a modest but adequate urban living level.
Budget cuts for such couples in 20 cities surveyed by the Labor Department's statistics bureau ranged from $2,641 in Houston to $3,366 in Chicago for the specific living standard on which the study was based.
The bureau described it as "not a luxurious level, but adequate to provide more than the basic essentials of consumption."
The budget cost estimates compare with average Social Security payments of about $125 a month to couples over 65.

Bonn Government Only

Cutting Own Forces

BONN (UPI)—The West Germans told American Secretary of Treasury Robert Anderson they would pay troop costs here only by cutting back their own defense buildup. It was learned on good authority today.
But Anderson was reported to have refused to entertain any suggestion that the Germans finance one program by cutting back another.
The United States, he said, wants additional money rather than a rearmament of funds already earmarked.
For the same reason, Anderson was not interested in a German suggestion that this country prepay all or part of its $800 million American debt or pay in advance for part of the sizeable amounts of arms on order for American companies.
These sums, the secretary of the treasury said, will be paid the United States anyway. With the balance of payments running an annual four-billion-dollar deficit, Anderson said, he wanted new money.
In Washington, state department officials say they had nothing to do with Anderson's ill-fated attempt to persuade West Germany to contribute toward support of U.S. troops in that country.
The officials said Anderson's move was not considered in the state department, where authorities recognized that the Bonn government undoubtedly would reject it.
Bonn sources said that once the Germans made it plain they were not prepared to pay troop support costs or any other of the direct forms Anderson suggested, he seemed to lose interest in the negotiations.
The result was that Anderson and Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon left here Wednesday with nothing but promises that the West Germans would do what they could to help promote new markets for American exporters.

HOW ABOUT THAT — Four-year-old Danny Weishart, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Weishart of 1104 Dorchester Drive, Bloomfield Township, isn't really this little, and old Tom Turkey isn't really this big. But today, in every big city and quiet rural hamlet, Mr. Turkey will look this big to the little folks when he is placed on the dinner table. When the meal is over and everyone is stuffed with meat, potatoes and dessert, it's a good bet that the big folks will retire from the dinner table wondering if maybe old Tom Turkey was bigger even than he looks here.

Busy Americans Say 'Thanks' Today

By The Associated Press
Today marks the 339th Thanksgiving since the observance began at Plymouth colony in 1621.
As of old, it is a day for prayer and feasting, family reunions, and a hope of better things to come. It is still a day to count our blessings and renew our faith in the future.
As President Eisenhower put it, it is a time to "give special thanks to Almighty God for the bounty which he has bestowed upon our land."
Churches big and small throughout the land conducted their annual "share-out-surplus" collections for the needy throughout the world.
Travel facilities bulged as usual with hundreds of thousands taking to the highways, trains, planes, and buses to be home with their loved ones.
It is a day where the turkey population takes a basting, and we all eat a little more than we should.
The annual, traditional football games are very much in the picture, with those fans not being able to attend watching them on television.
In many cities are merry parades, headed in size at least by Macy's annual parade in Manhattan featured by gigantic balloon figures such as Popeye, a spaceship, a dancing dragon, and a gannet gobbler.
For more than 2½ million men and women in the armed forces everywhere, turkey and all the

Ike, Jack and Dick Return to Capital for Holiday

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — The President, president-elect and vice president of the United States all returned home within a two hour period last night to spend Thanksgiving with their families.
President Eisenhower landed at the Military Air Transport terminal at 6:35 p.m. (Pontiac time) flying from Augusta, Ga., to join the First Lady for the holiday.
Eisenhower drove immediately to the White House.
President-Elect John F. Kennedy flew in from Palm Beach, Fla., landing at the same terminal at 6:35 p.m. He will spend Thanksgiving with his wife and daughter.
Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who has been vacationing in the Bahamas, arrived on a commercial airline flight from Miami at 8:20 p.m. EST. He landed at National Airport.
Eisenhower, suffering from painful bursitis, spent his final Thanksgiving in the White House.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top American experts predicted today the Communist summit meeting in Moscow will bring no basic solution to the deep rift between Communist China and the Soviet Union.
Some sort of declaration probably will be issued in Moscow within the next few days which may gloss over the differences within the Communist world on coexistence with the West, it is believed here.
But such a declaration is not expected to settle the fundamental struggle between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and the Chinese Communist party chairman, Mao Tse-tung.
The meeting of Communist leaders in Moscow started Nov. 9. Strong signs that the differences are basic and continuing appeared this week.
First, China, in its People's Daily, and then the Soviet Union, in Pravda, published sharply conflicting views of what lies ahead.

Tots Deserted on Holiday Eve

NEW YORK (UPI)—The two neatly dressed children clutched hands tightly and stared wide-eyed at the rows of toys.

They wandered aimlessly around the aisles of Gimbel's, looking at the dolls and trucks and cap pistols, until a security officer for the department store noticed them and asked about their parents.

The boy in the blue jacket spoke up proudly, "my name is Michael and I'm five and I'm taking care of my sister. She is Maria and she is four."

Michael said they were looking for Yogi Bear, a children's toy designed after a television cartoon hero. "Mommy said we could," Michael added.

It was near closing time and an announcement on the public address system failed to produce anyone to claim the two brown-haired, dark-eyed children.

They were taken to a police station where a policeman found a neatly written note in Michael's jacket. Both he and his sister had religious medals in their pockets.

"These are my children, Michael and Maria," the note read. "They are Catholic. They have had their shots and vac-

Weather Bureau Serves Pleasant Holiday for U.S.

By The Associated Press

The weather bureau served a tasty morsel of climatic conditions Thanksgiving Day for most of the nation.

Pleasant weather was the rule in nearly all sections. Temperatures were above normal in many areas, marking a return of Indian summer in some sections.

There were a couple of wet spots. In the Far West, rain fell from northern California northward into Washington and Oregon and east to the Continental Divide in Montana. Snow fell at the higher elevations, with four inches adding to the 15 inches already on the ground at West Yellowstone, Mont.

The rain and drizzle in the Carolinas and Georgia diminished during the morning to widely scattered activity. Fog blanketed other sections of the Southeast, excluding central and Southern Florida where skies were clear.

The Day in Birmingham

Baldwin Library Group to Hear Author Monday

BIRMINGHAM—Cleveland Amory, author of several best sellers irreverently depicting high society, will address the Friends of the Baldwin Public Library at 8:15 p.m. Monday.

Amory, 41, established his reputation in 1947 with the publication of his first book, "The Proper Bostonians."

Like all proper Bostonians, Amory attended Harvard University, where he devoted much time to the Harvard Crimson, of which he was president during his senior year.

Following graduation he became editor of the Postscripts page of the Saturday Evening Post.

During World War II he served as a lieutenant in the Army. After his discharge he spent a year, and a half as a reporter for the Arizona Star and was managing editor of the Evening Star in Prescott.

In 1945 he returned to Boston to do research for his first book.

Amory's second book, "Home Town," was published in 1950. It was a satire on the New York publishing and publicity worlds and proved to be another best seller.

A third book, "The Last Remains," published in 1958, depicted American society with an account of the playgrounds of the rich.

Between books Amory is a frequent contributor of articles to national magazines.

The Birmingham Newsmen's Club will sponsor a "Winter Whirl" dance Dec. 3 at the Hillcrest Country Club.

The semi-formal dance will be preceded by refreshments at 8:00 p.m. and a buffet dinner at 8 p.m. Dancing will begin at 9 p.m.

Decorations will center around a holiday theme with a glittering miniature sleigh adorning each table.

Mrs. Donald Wood is general chairman of the dance.

Police to Meet Over Ending of Permanent Shifts

A special meeting of the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA) has been called for Monday over an ending of permanent shifts of duty for uniformed officers.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the basement of the Public Safety Building.

Police Chief Joseph Koren announced earlier this week that the department's three platoons of patrolmen would rotate morning, afternoon and evening shifts.

The department has been on permanent shifts since May 1959, after a poll of officers indicated approval of the plan.

Police Sgt. Herbert C. Cooley, PPOA president, said the meeting had been called by the association, but was open to all members of the department.

Write-In Votes Nov. 8 Listed for Posterity

"If nominated I shall not run, and if elected I shall not serve."

Bloomfield Hills resident Romney received two votes for president. Another voter marked Romney with two defeated presidential candidates Adlai E. Stevenson on a president and vice president ticket.

SPELLING OFF

Romney is undoubtedly the "Romney" and "Romney" that two voters had trouble spelling when they pulled up the write-in slots for Michigan governor. Romney received a total of four votes in the county for governor.

One voter didn't want to see veteran Gov. William G. Milliken for president. Williams also got one vote for president, and one for U.S. senator.

Although Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore was unsupported for another term, votes were written in for 10 other persons, some prominent lawyers.

The ballot for the new two-year name judgeship showed only two names, but the canvass produced eight votes among six persons, including two for City Commissioner Milton R. Henry. One voter apparently mistook the commissioner's last name for "Perry."

A die-hard Democrat wouldn't take his allegiance from defeated primary candidate for governor, Secretary of State James M. Hare, and gave him one vote for governor.

Actor Ward Bond Leaves Shotgun to John Wayne

Bond's will, filed Wednesday for probate, listed his estate as worth more than $10,000 and excepted for a few personal effects left to his widow, Mary Lou Bond.

The master of television's "Wagon Train" died Nov. 5 in Dallas, Tex., of a heart attack.

Bond left other guns and fishing gear to friends Ben Harold and Wayne Rennie, and gave Wayne an option to buy his interest in two Kern County, Calif., ranch properties totaling 400 acres.

Once a candidate for president on the Democratic ticket, Sen. Stuart Symington, was paired with Stevenson by six voters for president and vice president.

One voter listed New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for president and Lodge for vice president.

McCarthy — believed to be Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy — was favored for vice president on a ticket with Stevenson.

Somebody liked Dr. Eugene Keyes for U. S. senator. Keyes' nominating petitions for lieutenant governor forced him off the ballot when state officials declared them insufficient.

Detroit Mayor Louis Mirani was the recipient of one vote for senator.

The only officially announced write-in candidate was William Aeborsold, a Waterford Township school teacher who made an 11th hour bid for 1st district state representative. He received 180 votes for this post. He also received one each for Congress and prosecutor.

John S. Coleman lost in the Democratic primary for this same post but received two votes anyway Nov. 8 from his faithful.

In Deadpan Seriousness

Humor Spices Life in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Canadian signalmen serving in the Congo haven't lost their sense of humor, despite the heat and humidity, the hot-and-cold political war, and the routine job of handling messages for the United Nations.

The story of Acting Corp. Chico and his guardians' attempt to get him the usual 65 francs ($1.30)—a day paid all U. N. soldiers, is an example of the quiet humor that makes life in the Congo bearable.

Chico is a chimpanzee adopted by the Canadian Signals Detachment at Matadi, the Congo River port about 175 miles southeast of Leopoldville.

An exchange of messages between Matadi and Canadian headquarters here tells the story.

Matadi: "This detachment has recruited a new operator. Here are his particulars for records."

Rank and name A.C. Chico, age 2 months, sex male, fair lots of complexion fair, nationality monkey family commonly called chimpanzee. At the present time he is undergoing basic training.

"It is requested that you look into the matter of pay and allowances for him. He is single so therefore is not entitled to any marriage allowance. However, since he is separated from his family it would be advisable to give him separated family allowance."

The message went on to say that Chico was happy in his new home to all concerned that resemblance between mother and child is sufficient proof."

his mother, since he has the job of giving him his daily bath, applying DDT powder and feeding. Uniforms were being tailored by Cpl. Ronald Tooke, 34, of Amherst, N. S., but "some trouble is being encountered getting a blue hat to fit."

The message landed on the desk of Maj. Ken Kaye of London, Ont., paymaster of the Canadian contingent who sent this deadpan reply:

"Request for granting separate family allowance declined as SPA payable to married personnel and his widowers only."

He suggested Anglo complete a new income tax exemption form due to becoming a mother. Blood tests not required as it is obvious to all concerned that resemblance between mother and child is sufficient proof."

'Soviet Food Ideas 20-30 Years Behind'

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Milan D. Smith, president of the National Canners Association, says Russia is 20 to 30 years behind the United States in food processing and distribution techniques.

Smith told the Michigan Canners and Freezers Association convention here that food canning is one field in which the Russians have not even come close to the scientific development in the United States.

Smith, who recently served on a United States food industry research delegation on a tour of the Soviet Union, said Russia's food processing industry utilized a good deal of hand labor to accomplish tasks which in this country have been mechanized for years.

California Crop Damage Set Near $178 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—California agriculture lost an estimated $177,974,144 because of insects last year, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The total includes estimates of actual crop damage and the cost of controlling the pests.

Political Education Boosted for Farmers

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—The president of the National Farmers Union has proposed that the group set up a "political education" association by January 1961.

James Patton told the annual convention of Minnesota farmers here that "farmers have to be more realistic about politics than they have been."

He said the Political Action Association would "support candidates on the basis of their records and pledges—not on the basis of their being Republicans or Democrats."

Patton said the proposed group would attempt to raise $300,000 in

13 State Road Officials to Be Active at Parley

DETROIT (AP)—The State Highway Department says 13 of its officials will present papers or serve on panels at the 46th annual meeting of the American Association of Highway Officials here next week.

The week-long session will host an estimated 2,000 highway department officials from the 50 states, Washington, D.C., Puerto Rico and Mexico.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and U.S. Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on roads, will be among featured speakers.

Rumor Farm Official as Agriculture Head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fred W. Heinke, president of the Missouri Farmers Association, was reported to be high on the list of possible choices for secretary of agriculture in the Kennedy cabinet.

One informed source said Heinke, a long-time advocate of programs to raise farm income and control production, had a "very good chance."

More than a dozen other names have figured in speculation about the post to which President-Elect John F. Kennedy said he would appoint a Midwesterner with a farm background.

been Rep. George McGovern, D-S. D., Govs. Gaylord Nelson, Wis., Herschel Loveless, Iowa, Orville Freeman, Minn., George Docking, Kan., and Buford Ellington, Tenn., and Ralph Bradley, president of the Illinois Farmers Union.

Heinke's post as president of a statewide farm cooperative has not brought him as much national publicity as the leaders of the big farm organizations. But he is well known in farm cooperative circles and among farm belt legislators in Washington.

The shalene, a snail with a clam-like shell, may kill a man by slamming its shell down on his fingers and holding him prisoner to death as the rising tide comes in.

Halleck Says House to Hamper Spending

RENSSELAER, Ind. (UPI) — House Minority Leader Charles Halleck said he was confident the "wild-eyed spending schemes" of Democrats would meet severe opposition in the House.

But the Indiana congressman said no actual coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats has been formed to block President-Elect Kennedy's legislative program.

He said, however, he knew some "Southern Democrats who must feel as I do, and I hope some Northern Democrats do, too."

"The Democrats have been running Congress for six years and they have had a 2-1 majority," Halleck said.

"But they didn't pass all they wanted to then and how can you expect them to do it now?"

Designs an Ointment With Built-In Bandage

NEW YORK (UPI) — An ointment with a built-in bandage has been designed by Dr. Joe E. Haberle of the University of Tennessee College of Pharmacy. The researcher calls his development "a kind of bandage in a tube."

The white cream dries in four or five minutes, leaving a rough, tough, flexible, plastic film that sticks tightly to the skin.

British May Request More Bonn Army Aid

LONDON (AP) — The British government may ask West Germany to meet a bigger share of the cost of its Rhine army when the present British-German financial agreement runs out in four months, it has been reported today.

Two British newspapers said Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government may make its request as a result of American pressure on Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to contribute to the cost of U.S. forces in West Germany. At present the Germans pay Britain 12 million pounds — $33.6 million — a year toward the cost of maintaining 35,000 troops on German soil. The total cost is nearly $140 million.

Locate Wreck of Cutter Missing Since 1892

MANCHESTER, Mass. (UPI) — Fogmen recently located the wreck of the U.S. revenue cutter Gallatin on the ocean floor 75 feet below the surface about 12 miles off here.

Only one member of the cutter's crew was lost when the vessel crashed into a ledge and sank Jan. 6, 1892.

Rhode Island has 50 tree farms, covering 7,821 acres.

All Thanksgiving Blessings Come From Our Creator

(In keeping with our policy of running great editorials from time to time, our Thanksgiving Day message has been written by the Rev. Edward D. Aschard, Pastor, Orchard Lake Community Church, Livestock.)

At Thanksgiving we heed the injunction of the Gospel song: "Count your many blessings, name them one by one..."

We are a fortunate people. We live in a land of abundant resources. We enjoy the fruit of the world's greatest industrial system.
We are more secure, more prosperous, more free than the people of any other land or any preceding generation. Our standard of living is the fulfillment of a dream and the envy of the world.

Yet merely to enumerate our benefits can be a coldly calculating and thankless act. We know from observation that those who have acquired the most wealth, the greatest comfort, and the largest fame are not always the most grateful. Gratitude is the result, not of the quantity of our possessions, but of the quality of our lives.

We need to take cognizance of the manner of our receiving as well as of the abundance of our blessings. Our lives are enriched by the intelligence and labor of many whom we have never seen, of whom we rarely think, and for whom we assume slight responsibility. Our freedom, our culture, and our churches are the result of faith and sacrifice across many generations. All that we have, we have received.

The gifts of life come to us by many avenues, but ultimately they are from One Source. The Bible reminds us that "every good endowment and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father..." Our gratitude to Him becomes sung in the ancient Doxology:
"Praise God from Whom all blessings flow..."

As we acknowledge our blessings and give thanks to Almighty God, we rediscover the primary meaning of a truly human life, for "Man's chief end is to glorify God and enjoy Him forever."

The Man About Town

1st Thanksgiving

After Pontiac Became City
Nearly a Full Century Ago

Talk turkey: What most of us want not have the ambition to do after today's meal.

As Pontiac prepares to celebrate its centennial as a city next year, it is quite interesting to note that its first mayor, Erastus Thatcher,

issued his first proclamation for the observance of Thanksgiving Day in 1861.
While expressing thankfulness, it was couched in somber and impressive words that stressed the war clouds.

Pontiac then had few factories, but was primarily a farmers' trading town. In some respects the crop yields had not been up to the average, and the proclamation pointed out that there always were more good years than lean ones.

The young city had no poverty. Everybody was working. If there was no other employment, there always was "breaking the forest," to clear more land for the "boundless crops that are sure to come."

Wild turkeys were still quite numerous in the adjacent countryside, and even at that time of nearly 100 years ago, the bird was the centerpiece of many Thanksgiving tables.

Royal Oak and Troy were then the leading townships among the 25 in the county in the production of farm crops. Population gains have long ago taken that distinction away from them.

"Don't put so much stress on the hunting accidents and fatalities," writes

Perry Ortmann

of Waterford, who asserts that among as many thousands as are in the field, there would have been some accidents and deaths if they had remained at home.

Another letter comes from

of Dayton, Ohio, which says he worked in the old woolen mills here in his early days. He has learned that were to celebrate our centennial in 1961, and to hope to make his first visit back to the old home town in 55 years.

Shooting an eight point buck in northern Oakland County.

Hiram Channing

of Oxford says he saved a lot of gasoline and escaped traffic hazards by not going to the northwoods. "But I almost had a heart attack," he reports.

A turkey that has been the pet of the children of

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Drison of Rochester ever since soon after it was hatched last spring was scheduled to lose its head for Thanksgiving. But the children have decided that it can die of only one thing—old age.

Verbal Orchids to—of 424 Lowell St.; 60th wedding anniversary.

Allied Apprehension Feared

U.S. Gold Drain Could Aid Russians

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst

U.S. troubles with the drain on its gold and dollar resources could create an atmosphere of apprehension among America's friends — and satisfaction for the Communists.

Unless the United States finds means of correcting the situation, the squeeze in which it finds itself conceivably could accomplish for the Communists some of the things they have been unable to do themselves.

The situation could create confidence for America's friends.

It could raise worry about the health of the North Atlantic Alliance. It could arouse uneasiness about the future of U.S. aid programs for underdeveloped countries.

We are spending, investing or giving away abroad more than we take in from foreign spending and investments. This is called an "unfavorable balance of international payments." The nagging question arises: How long can U.S. economic strength withstand the strain of vast investment in a global cold war contest?

European business circles seem confident of the soundness of the U.S. economy. Actually, U.S. exports in the fiscal year ended this summer exceeded imports by a robust margin.

But the deficit comes from spending for military equipment and technical aid, maintenance of troops and bases, U.S. travelers' expenditures, short-term investments in things like the West European construction boom and other U.S. private capital investment. Since 1958, the overall deficit has been well in excess of $1 billion annually.

To stem some of the dollar outflow, President Eisenhower ordered a reduction in the number of families of U.S. servicemen overseas. Already this has brought guarded European speculation about future unity of the Atlantic Alliance. How long, some Europeans ask, will the U.S. administration be able to withstand pressure to bring home American troops, too?

There are other haunting questions. Will U.S. aid be undermined by internal priorities? Will there be new U.S. restrictions on imports? Will U.S. aid now take on a frankly political character, pinpointed—as Soviet programs are—to areas where it will do the most good the soonest?

Will the dollar situation embarrass the pro-American Japanese government, just overhangingly re-elected? Will Japan now be under pressure to turn to trade with the Communists? Will U.S. administration be able to withstand pressure to bring home American troops, too?

The Russians, existing satisfaction, openly boast that they hope to undermine world confidence in the dollar. They speak hopefully of an imminent "general crisis of capitalism."

Soviet Finance Minister Vasily
Gorbuzov in a Pravda article discussing the recent ruble revaluation laid all U.S. monetary problems to military spending and the "arms race," which he said would undermine Western currencies while the ruble's prestige would soar.

The Soviet ruble revaluation, in fact, reflects Moscow's own troubles, indicating that even the planned Soviet economy suffers from inflation.

But the fact that Moscow has its own fiscal troubles is little solace for Americans facing a complex international payments situation which could have lasting adverse impact on U.S. cold war efforts.

The situation, say experts in such complicated affairs, simply must be corrected, to guarantee futures confidence abroad in the dollar's value.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Give the Old Boys Time, They'll Find What's Right

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes was 34 years old when he published his essay "The Contagiousness of Puerperal Fever," childbed infection, purplish septemia, blood poisoning following childbirth, which was fatal to so many young mothers a century ago.

All the world today knows that Holmes was entirely right and contemporary medical "authorities" who criticized him so severely — such big shots as the professor of obstetrics at the University of Pennsylvania and the professor of obstetrics in Jefferson Medical College — were entirely wrong.

And yet these scurrilous critics never acknowledged their error or made any amends for their reprehensible behavior.

The medical profession in America was not quite so vicious in condemning Holmes as the Austrian profession was in hounding
Dr. Ignaz Philipp Semmelweis, the young whippersnapper (28 years old) who discovered obstetric sepsis (particularly the sterile aspects of cleanliness).

Maybe Dr. Semmelweis had been 38 instead of 28 when he noticed that doctors and students were in the habit of coming directly from post-mortems to the obstetric ward, and that the death rate of young mothers in the ward was much higher than the death rate in another ward where the childbirths were attended solely by midwives, the profession might have adopted a septic obsteric technique immediately and saved thousands of lives.

In the general hospital ward where students were required to wash their hands in chlorinated water before examining a woman in labor, the death rate declined from 11.4 per cent to 1.7 per cent in two years.

And yet, more than 20 years after Semmelweis' discovery, the mortality in many lying-in hospitals in Europe remained as high as 10 per cent. The medical profession stood pat in those days just as it does today.

I tell you, folks, if we doctors are wrong about anything, just give us time—20 or 30 years — and maybe we'll correct it.

Voice of the People

'Public Demand Controls Instruction Requirements'

Today schools have become the center of community activity. It is not the fault of school policy that teachers are required (by public demand) to discipline, to carry out magazine drives, to feed at lunch time, to teach dancing, and to be all-around baby sitter, counselor, and friend.

The moment any teacher implements rigorous discipline in conduct and scholastics he is met with outcry.
Under the present teaching load, educators are doing a task of the first order. Any sincere teacher who is concerned with student development knows that mass education brings upon him a dilution of techniques and discipline.

If the parents will support school policy for upgrading the curriculum, more mental discipline will be forthcoming, or else the teachers will continue, reluctantly to give up the fort to play schools.

'Two Excellent TV Shows on Saturday'

May I call attention to two great TV shows? NBC features an hour long debate on "The Nation's Players" and ABC features "The Players of the Week" both on Saturday night.

'Students Prodded by Seeing Grades'

Our school used conferences for several years, then went back to report cards and conferences.
Through this plan you become acquainted with the teacher, while the report card serves a purpose that the conference cannot replace.

'Free Education No Longer Free'

What used to be termed a "free education" should be changed to "expensive education." How do schools expect the parents to afford to send two or more children?
The expenses for our four children comes to about $50 each since September. This includes scholastic magazines, metal and wood shop supplies, lockers, gym suits, towel rental, used books, and clothes.

I also agree with the two articles about magazine drives at school, and the candy sales are just as bad.

Maybe if the schools could cut down on expenses more students could get their diplomas. How about it, school board members?

A Discouraged Parent

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, Nov. 24, the 329th day of the year, with 37 more in 1960. This is Thanksgiving Day.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Mars.

The evening stars are Jupiter
Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1784, Zachary Taylor, 12th
U.S. president, was born.

In 1864, French artist Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec was born.

In 1869, women of 21 states met in Cleveland to draw up plans for organization of the American Woman Suffrage Association.

In 1929, Ruth Nichols became the first woman to start out on a transatlantic air flight across the

In 1944, American Superfortress
Tokyo.

Thought for today: American author James Russell Lowell said:
"Misthops are like knives, that either serve us or cut us, as we grasp them by the blade or the handle."

THANKSGIVING

I have so very many things to be so thankful for...

There always would be more...

But difficulty that I face... Is how to recognize...

Those things which are in daily life... A blessing in disguise... And if certainly would hold well...

Many values spiritual... So I'll have exceeding good... So I'll give thanks and be content...

And also would if I had found... Nor would I cry about my shoe...

Because it was a shoe... And down the street... May be without a sole.

Population Status Shifts Throughout U.S.

Our census bureau is coming up with some final statistics on the population of cities, counties and states.

There are interesting shifts.

New York City still ranks first and lion lead on Chicago.

Then we have a change.

Los Angeles has passed Philadelphia and stands 3rd with the City of Brotherly Love 4th. Of course, the West Coast city's gain is partly synthetic. Annexation is normal and a part of all orderly growths. But Los Angeles has added so much territory her city limits embrace hundreds of square miles.

Houston has made the most sensational gain in the nation.
The Texas citadel has leaped from 14th to 6th position. Her population is beyond 900,000 and in ten years she should join the million group.

Phoenix made the biggest percentage growth and vaulted from 99th to 29th. This won the biggest proportional growth title by miles.
Tampa was second and went from 85th to 48th.

Q. After moulting, our canary stopped singing. How can we get him to start again? Mrs. R. Casey of West Hollywood, Fla.

A. Be patient. A lot of canaries seem to feel there is little to sing or dance about for four, to eight weeks after moulting.

The rest of your letter reveals you are on the right track toward reinstating your bird's Caruso qualities. Playing your special canary record, feeding song-food and vitamins will all help. If the bird is still silent eight weeks after the moulting period is finished, I'd suggest you have him examined.

STARS IN HER EYES — Kathy Klein, with stars in her eyes, pauses before a towering clown as she wanders through one of Santa's warehouses in San Francisco while contemplating what she will ask the good St. Nick to leave under her Christmas tree. Kathy, accompanied by her mother, was touring a department store's toy section.

See Best in Springtime

Night Is Bad for Human Eye

NEW YORK (UPI) — The season of the year has a great deal to do with how well people see in the dark, according to results from a new scientific approach to an unsolved and increasingly important question.

Fast transportation, bright lights, and other modern innovations have made nocturnal creatures out of human beings who in the scheme of nature had been dependent on daylight. The high rate of accidents which befall them in the night shows they're not as well suited for it as owls and cats.

In their new approach three scientists of the Naval Research Laboratory, New London, Conn., produced evidence which indicated the less daylight the human being sees, the better he sees at night. Owls, cats, and other naturally nocturnal animals stay in the deep shade by day. Most people don't.

By the calculations of these scientists, Edward J. Sweeney, Jr., Ann S. Kinney and Alina Ryan, people should have their best night vision toward the end of winter and the beginning of spring. Their worst night vision comes in August and September, at the end of summer.

Many existing ideas about human night vision are based upon one or a few measurements in large numbers of persons under special circumstances. The new view comes from measurements in only three persons for more than one year under ordinary circumstances.

These three were neither outdoor workers nor vault people in winter or summer; they had about as much exposure to the sun as most people. In the fall they were exposed to less and less as the days grew shorter; in winter they were exposed to more and more as the days lengthened.

At each end of the scale there was a seasonal lag between maximum and minimum day-length and minimum and maximum sharpness of night vision. In late winter and early spring, their night vision was at its best. Then it started falling off gradually and reached its low in late summer and early fall.

The scientists used a more precise measurement of exposure to the sun than day-lengths, however. They measured the amount of skin-tanning each of their subjects took. The point measured was the skin just above the nose, because it gets the same amount of sunlight as the eyes do.

As their subjects' skin took on a pink and then a deepening tan in this spot as spring progressed into summer, the sharpness of their night vision fell off. As these spots of skin paled more and more through the fall, the sharpness of night vision increased.

There were differences in the vision of the three, of course. But the scientists noted in their report to the Optical Society of America that those differences were not greater than the differences between the night seeing ability of all three in the winter and the summer.

Soft-Hearted Driver Is Fouled by Feline

BAY CITY, Mich. (UPI)—Janet McGonigle, 19, had a ready explanation for police when her car recently failed to stop and rammed into the rear of another automobile.

Her kitten had crawled down under the brake pedal, Miss McGonigle said, and she just couldn't bear to press down on the brake and squeeze her pet.

The two towers of the famous Chartres Cathedral are topped by totally dissimilar spires — one Romanesque and one Gothic. The cathedral was built during the 12th and 13th centuries.

SWEET VICTORY—Coppy, a Shetland pony, gets a little sugar from his owners Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Darrow as they give him the good news—he won't have to leave their home in swank Harbor Bluffs Subdivision. The Darrows' neighbors sought a court order to force them to board the pony elsewhere. But the doctor and his wife claimed Coppy was a household pet. Circuit Judge Jack F. White sided with the Darrows—at least for a while—as he refused to issue a temporary injunction against the pony. Coppy waited in the car during the trial.

Dems in Hawaii Asking Recount

HONOLULU (AP)—Hawaii may have to recount the 184,889 votes cast in the island state Nov. 8 which gave Vice President Richard M. Nixon a 14-vote margin over Sen. John F. Kennedy for the nation's highest office. Hawaii has three electoral votes. Democrats petitioned in Circuit Court Tuesday for the recount, alleging discrepancies in almost every one of the state's 240 precincts. The petition was filed against Republican presidential electors and alternates and Lt. Gov. James Keoloha, who last week certified the final tabulation as: Nixon 92,305; Kennedy 92,304.

Would Halt Immigration to Philippine Islands

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—The head of the immigration bureau wants to lose his job. Camilio Galap, immigration commissioner, recommends stopping all immigration to his country as a solution to the problem of temporary visitors who become more or less permanent residents. Most of them are Chinese.

State Man to Stand Trial on Stock Charge

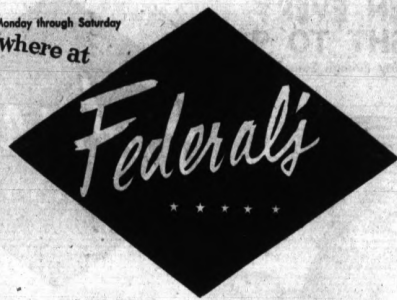

NEW YORK (AP)—Samuel S. Garfield of Clare, Mich., and five other men pleaded innocent in U.S. District Court here Tuesday to charges of conspiring to sell 37,500 unregistered shares of United Dye and Chemical Corp. stock.

A trial date will be set Dec. 12. Garfield was released on $5,000 bail. Asst. U.S. Atty. Jerome J. London said the six conspired to violate the Securities Act of 1933 by selling $1.5 million worth of United Dye common stock in 1955.

Chicago's Chinatown Ignores Environs—Delinquency Low

CHICAGO (AP)—Unlike many other areas, Chinatown here has virtually no juvenile delinquency.

Why? One answer is that Chinese children are instilled with a special sense of duty toward their parents.

"It's a matter of family honor and pride to behave, and they do."

"That's right," said Lt. John L. Sullivan, commander of police in the area.

In recent listing of the Chicago Crime Commission, the Prairie district ranked first in rapes and third in murder, manslaughter and aggravated assaults among the city's 38 police divisions.

INTERNAL MATTER
Such surroundings have had little influence on Chinatown.

"If it's delinquency there, they are taking care of it themselves," said Capt. Michael J. Delaney, head of the Police Youth Bureau.

Chinatown, centering around 22nd and Wentworth on the South Side, is five blocks long and two blocks wide. It is crowded, wall to wall, with top-and-three-story business buildings and apartment houses.

It's much like any other time-weathered big city neighborhood. There are stores, restaurants, Oriental trade agencies, laundries, two cocktail lounges, two funeral parlors and a scattering of clubs and lodges, including Chinatown Post 1003 of the American Legion.

There are two churches — one Protestant and one Roman Catholic — but no temple of any Asian faith.

The growing population of about 2,500 includes an estimated 800 children of teen-age and younger.

The congestion leaves little room for off-street recreation. There is a small playground on the property of the Chinese Christian Unity Church, a religious center maintained by nine Protestant denominations.

The St. Therese Chinese Catholic Mission has a small library, a TV set, table tennis equipment and a jukebox built by the youngsters.

Albert Leong, a gray-haired community leader and past president of the Chinese-American Civic Council, saw nothing surprising in the good behavior pattern of the young folk. He traced it back to the teachings of Confucius.

Dentists Learn of Pain Music

Detroit Society Is Told About Audio Analgesia by Eastern Doctor

DETROIT (AP) — The swinging sounds of jazz soon may be pumped into your brain by your dentist to get your mind off that painful tooth he intends to pull out.

The pumping process is called "audio analgesia" and it was demonstrated Tuesday at the annual review of the Detroit District Dental Society by Dr. Wallace J. Gardner of Cambridge, Mass.

Gardner is the inventor of an audio analgesic machine designed to take the aches and pains out of tooth pulling and drilling.

Gardner explained the machine, known as Audiac, this way: "Many of the same nerve cells which are activated by noxious stimuli (pains) also are used to conduct sound to the brain. That is the principle of the machine — to keep the channels so busy the pain is crowded out — like jamming radio signals."

He said the patient does ear-phones and tunes in his favorite kind of music. The machine, however, plays two recordings at the same time. One is music. The other a series of low pitched sounds.

The music tells the patient but if he starts to feel pain he steps up the volume of the low pitched sounds to drown out the pain signals.

"The auditory stimulus blocks out the pain," Gardner said. "There also is an element of distraction, helping to forget experiences of pain which magnify it."

NOT A SUBSTITUTE
"This is not a substitute for local anesthetics but an adjunct which is used successfully with local. Where a local must be used, it frequently can be reduced to a third of the usual amount required."

"One of its finest effects is on the dentist's nervous system. Dentists don't like to hurt people. Audio analgesia reduces the cure and stress under which they work."

He said dentists who had used the machine reported that they worked on 9 to 97 per cent of their patients.

"It's important to give patients the kind of music they like best," Gardner said. "Poppy music seems to be the best kind for dental work."

"We follow the filial piety philosophy. Parents take responsibility of them as a prisoner of Communism until they are adults. Children are taught to honor their fathers and mothers. It's a matter of family pride," he said.

"The worst thing a Chinese boy or girl could do is to do something wrong, or not do something right, whereby they could bring sorrow or shame or embarrassment to their parents," he said.

A similar explanation came from Father Frederick J. Becka, who runs St. Therese Mission. He is a Chinese-speaking priest.

Overseas Cargo Up 58 Pct. at Toledo

TOLEDO (AP) — Overseas cargo handled by the Port of Toledo during the first six months of the 1960 shipping season totaled 88,192 tons, up 58 per cent over the similar period a year ago.

The Toledo-Lucas County Port Authority announced that through Oct. 31, exports amounted to 56,829 tons, a 78 per cent increase over the year-ago figure. Imports increased 37 per cent to 31,363 tons.

The overseas shipping season started here April 22. The last ongoing vessel this year is due Thursday.

Louis C. Purdy, port general manager, said the total of overseas cargo passing through Toledo will come close, but probably will not reach the 150,000 tons he predicted earlier this season.

He said a three-week longshoremen's strike at Great Lakes ports disrupted shipping schedules and cut down on shipping volume.

The Berlin Tourist Office says 21,500 foreigners live permanently in Berlin, including 1,775 Israelis, 1,300 Italians, 2,500 Austrians and 1,900 Poles.

NATO Nations Sift MIT of Europe Plan

PARIS (AP)—Legislators from NATO countries are examining a plan for a center of research and practical science in Western Europe comparable with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the United States.

European members of NATO would be asked to pool their financial resources, trained manpower and scholarly talents.

The proposal highlighted a report to the annual NATO parliamentarians conference from its scientific committee. The report, written by U. S. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., will be discussed in plenary session later this week.

The 200 conference members are expected to ask the NATO council, which holds its annual meeting here next month to initiate preliminary studies for such an institute as quickly as possible.

During the last few years, February farm fires in Michigan, often caused by faulty heating systems, have been almost double those in September, say Michigan State University safety specialists.

Boston University Plans 6-Year Medical Course

BOSTON (AP)—A program to produce doctors in six years instead of eight will be begun next fall by the Boston University School of Medicine, through summer study, the program will combine in a single six-year program both liberal arts and medical studies, said B.U. President Harold C. Case.

Food prices at stores have been going up while food prices at the farm level have actually gone down, say Michigan State University agricultural economists.

Macmillan Proposes to Plan Against Reds

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was reliably reported to be considering a "grand plan" for long-range Allied policy which he will discuss with President-Elect John F. Kennedy in Washington early next year.

The British leader believes the West should start mapping policy for 10 or even 20 years ahead. Authoritative sources said Macmillan believes the absence of long-range Western policy planning has seriously weakened Allied capability to deal effectively with Communist pressures on a worldwide basis.

COMFORT AFTER ESCAPE—These two elderly women were among 150 oldsters forced to flee a downtown San Francisco hotel fire early Tuesday. No one was injured. Here Mrs. Marie Block (left) comforts her friend 92-year-old Cara Harris after their escape. Firemen kept the fire contained in the basement of the hotel, which has been the residence of the 150 oldsters for two years.

Wolf Is the Gentleman Who'll Get the Job Done

BLANCO, Tex. (UPI)—A. O. Wolf says he has "more licenses and less money than any man in Texas."

If you met with a fatal accident in Blanco, it's possible that Wolf, single-handedly, would:

—Drive the ambulance to pick up your body, conduct the inquest, embalm you, direct the funeral service and bury you.
—Wolf is licensed as a:
—Mortician
—Justice of the Peace
—Barber
—Insurance salesman
—Real estate salesman

On the side he also serves as an amateur veterinarian. "Mostly midwifing calves," Wolf said. He also hands out advice in matters of social security and old age assistance, and tends 17 hives of bees.

In 1941, at the age of 26, Wolf became the youngest justice of the peace in Texas. Since then, "jobs have just sort of snowballed," he said.

As for his routine of everything from ambulance to opiate work, Wolf claims that he has actually performed those services for a couple of dozen dead people.

Wolf can't even be conventional when it comes to his barbering. He turned circuit rider after a competing barbershop cut into his business three years ago.

He makes two circuits a week, when he isn't operating at his regular shop on the west side of the city square. One circuit takes him 17 miles and the other 22 miles, with him operating in "branch" shops or in the customer's homes.

Wolf says cash is scarce sometimes, so he has to take his barbering pay in vegetables or other farm products. The 6-foot, 230-pound Wolf said he became a jack-of-all-trades because "I'm just a poor devil trying to make a living."

The "Sala de las Dos Hermanas," or Hall of the Two Sisters, one of the richly decorated rooms of the Alhambra, famous Moorish palace in Granada, was named after the two huge slabs of almost identical white marble which decorate the room.

FOR ANYBODY — No Christmas stocking is complete unless stuffed with crispy butter cookies.

Krisp, Krunchy Kookies Kwickly Kaptivate Kids

Butter cookies belong to the child's world, fitting snugly into the realm of Santa Claus and Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer. Though we must say, there's hardly an adult who's not a cookie lover, too.

Crispy, crunchy butter cookies, as flavoresome and satisfying as the butter they are prepared with, are wonderful for stuffing into those tall Christmas stockings that hang so festively 'neath the tree and along the cheery fireplace.

Butter cookies wrap and travel so wonderfully, too, making a sumptuous treat for young ones many miles away. Be sure to stuff a plump cookie in the very toe; then when the stockings are emptied of the upper layers of cookies, nuts and candies, there's a last luscious treat at the very end.

Drop cookies chock-full of crushed pineapple, currants or raisins are a refreshing midwinter confection. Minicream and nuts traditional Christmas foods that they are make appropriate cookie ingredients. You can make minicream refrigerator cookies and pre-line cookies well in advance, individually wrap and store them in a tightly covered container until needed. For extra glamour and allure wrap the cookies in brightly colored aluminum foil.

You'd better make plenty, that family of yours is not going to wait 'til Christmas to open.

Forgotten Saginaw-Grand Haven Canal Was to Be Michigan's Answer to Erie

SAGINAW — The year was 1838, the State of Michigan was a peering and 32-year-old Norman Little hired 100 Irish pick and shovel workers and started digging a canal to link Saginaw and Grand Haven.

The job was to cost $238,246. The State Legislature, hungry for improvements in the new state, set aside $25,000 to start work. Excited by the phenomenal success of the 13-year-old Erie Canal and encouraged by a near-perfect belt of rivers over Michigan's mid-section, it had been easy to spark enthusiasm in the project.

Engineers surveyed a 15-mile canal route from the forks of Bad River, about 15 miles from Little Saginaw City, to a head in Maple River, 35 miles from its junction with Grand River. The Bad, a tributary of Saginaw River, and the Maple divide to within only three miles of each other near Hamlet in Gratiot county.

The Saginaw-Grand Canal stopped, of course, but the idea seemed so good it was dusted off again before the Civil War and again before World War I. But it never got as far again as it did when Norman Little and his whisky-drinking Irishmen hacked a big ditch through two miles of forest.

Traces of the old canal can yet be followed through pastures and woodlots near the Saginaw County hamlet of Brant. Somewhere beside the canal are buried the bones of pick and shovel workers, rusted tools and, according to legend, at least one barrel of whisky.

The plan for a large canal from Lake Huron to Lake Michigan, shortening the water distance from Detroit to Chicago by 300 miles, sounded so good Gov. Stevens T. Mason negotiated a loan from the Morris Canal Banking Co. of New Jersey.

The contract for the Bad-Maple connecting canal went to Norman Little, a shrewd young businessman who with three wealthy New Yorkers developed East Saginaw, started its first bank and brought the first steamboat up the Saginaw River.

IRISH IMMIGRANTS
Little hired 100 Irish immigrant "navvies" as canal workers, and marched them into densely-forested wilderness in the summer of 1838. Lumber for big cotterdams was hauled from mills at Saginaw. Dirt was moved by pick, shovel and wheelbarrow.

The navvies were divided into three gangs. The first cleared trees with teams of oxen, the second dug the bed of the 40-foot-wide, eight-foot-deep canal and the third gang built the low-paths and finished the work.

The men lived in log huts. Food and tools were stored in a large log warehouse. All supplies had to be boated up the river to what is now the village of St. Charles, then pulled through the forest by oxen.

Food was plentiful. The forests were a storehouse of deer and other wild game.

Many of the workers never came out of the forests. In the spring of 1839 cholera ravaged the crews. Those who died were buried quickly in unmarked graves and replaced by fresh workers. Sickness delayed construction.

Indians were troublesome. Ignorant of what the diggings were, they took advantage of the operations to pilfer tools, food and whatever else they could carry off.

Work stopped in August or September of 1839 when the Morris Canal Banking Co. failed before the State of Michigan got its bond money. Little's funds were cut off and when his money ran out he held off the workers. They had dug about two miles of canal.

HEAD FOR SAGINAW

Thinking the layoff temporary, the navvies buried their tools, wheelbarrows, provisions and—it's said—at least one barrel of whisky to protect them from the Indians, and headed back for Saginaw.

When they got to Saginaw, they were told the project wouldn't be continued and that there was no money to cover their last month's wages.

Angry the navvies milled through Saginaw for several days, threatening Little and other contractors and trampling the settlers. Then they drifted off, in search of other work.

Years later, farmers working their fields near Brant would turn up pieces of old wheelbarrow, an ax or pick or chunk of log chain. Often, too, they'd find human bones.

Ten years after the canal had been halted a Saginaw company was incorporated to complete the project. Stock of $200,000 was offered for sale, but the country was excited about gold in California, not canals in Michigan. There were no buyers.

The old dream came to life once more in 1909 when the Grand Saginaw Deep Waterway Association was organized at the board of trade offices in Grand Rapids. Byron G. Coryell, cleaning banker, was elected president.

The association liked the Grand River-Maple River route, but planned a new connection at the Saginaw end, a seven-mile cut from near Ashley to Shishwa River, another Saginaw River tributary.

Four locks would raise the canal barges over a 72-foot mid-state crest. One would be at Grand Rapids, another at Ionia, the other two in Saginaw County. The total estimated cost: $10 million.

The association hit bitter opposition from railroads and others, spathily from cities involved in the project. Between 1909 and 1913 the City of Saginaw had taken over active sponsorship of the waterway.

But even their interest dwindled: so rapidly, in fact, that after 1913 no mention of it is made in official Saginaw City Council proceedings.

Afterward came a war, good highways and fast auto travel, airplanes, radios and a new era—one for a slow-moving canal barge towed along a canal right across the state.

Decorative Sprays
Must Wash Off Well

If you're decking your halls with glitter this Christmas, have fun—good, clean fun, that is!

If you use a special spray to make glitter and baubles adhere to the surfaces, you wish to decorate, just spray the surface with a product which can be washed with soap or detergent suds.

This is important because sprays usually drift on to furniture and other nearby surfaces, and you'll want to be able to get it off with a minimum of effort.

Cardboard Toy Chest

A toy chest or doll house can be made from a large corrugated cardboard carton. Spray the surface with shellac to strengthen the cardboard, and then preserve the artwork with another coat sprayed from a can.

35 Philippine VIPs Told to Get Busy, Pay Taxes

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—Fifty-five Philippine Congressmen, Cabinet members and provincial governors are under orders to file income tax returns and pay up tax debts. Melecio Domingo, commissioner of internal revenue, gave the officials two weeks to clear up their delinquent standing or face prosecution.

Shoppers spent $4.1 billion in 1959 in retail grocery outlets for dairy products. Manufacturers of these commodities helped the retailers sell them by placing nearly $200 million worth of advertising in daily newspapers last year.

May Be Much Like 1st Form on Earth

Lab Creation of Life Moves Nearer Reality

NEW YORK — Scientists are close to creating life in the laboratory.

One breathtaking day, out of a special soup will come a chemical entity which lives and reproduces itself.

It will be very primitive, this man-made life, to be sure.

But it might be quite similar to the first life which rose on earth perhaps two billion years ago, by scientific theory. From that life gradually evolved viruses, plants, animals, and man.

Estimates vary from a few years to decades until science strikes the spark of life itself.

ULTIMATE CONTROL

But the promise is inherent now in brilliant research in genetics, the search to learn not only what we are, but how and why we are like we are.

And it promises ultimate control by man over his own heredity. Men and women of superior health and intelligence could actually be designed in advance.

Dozens of scientists over the years have contributed to an exciting understanding of the basic units of life, the genes.

Genes control all inherited character — eye color, shape of the nose, limits on intelligence, resistance or susceptibility to many diseases, and to some extent your capacity for long life.

Genes pass from generation to generation. Occasionally they change or mutate, creating some new trait, bad or good.

Now it seems clear the gene is an acid, DNA or deoxyribonucleic acid.

4 BASIC ACIDS

In simplest outline, DNA consists of four basic acids or nucleotides — adenine, guanine, thymine and cytosine. These spell the whole alphabet of life.

Just as you could compose thousands of different words by using only four letters so can thousands of different genes and DNA be made with the four acids.

The genetic message of DNA is coded in the manner in which the four "letters" follow each other in making up a chain. Each DNA molecule consists of two chains, entwined around each other.

We have 20,000 to 30,000 genes in the nucleus of each cell.

Microscopically tiny though it is, this nucleus nonetheless contains so much genetic information that it would fill 100 large library books if it were all printed just in English.

In a huge forward step, DNA has been made artificially by Dr. Arthur Kornberg and associates of Stanford University.

USED AS "STARTER"

He assembled the DNA from the four basic chemical letters.

He has to use natural DNA as a "starter" for the reaction, taking DNA for example from certain bacteria, or the thymus tissue of a calf.

—Her Blind Cat
Tells the Time

BOGNOR REGIS, England (UPI) — Mrs. Elsie Groat doesn't need a clock; she's got a blind cat that tells time.

Mrs. Groat, who runs a local grocer, claims that her 11-year-old blind cat has developed an uncanny sense of time.

According to Mrs. Groat, Topsy, the "Cat Clock," tells her when it is time to open the store, have meals and go to bed.

Topsy is a cross between a Siamese and an English Blue. The cat's judgement, Mrs. Groat says, has nothing to do with its Siamese ancestry.

The cat has been blind from kittenhood. At 9 a.m. each day, Mrs. Groat says, the cat paws at the door leading to the store in an "open-up" order. Promptly at 1 p.m. and 6 p.m., Topsy slinks in to indicate that meal times have come around.

The cat takes time off during the evening, while Mrs. Groat sits comfortably in front of her television set. But at 10:30 p.m. it uncurls, stretches and jumps on to Mrs. Groat's lap: bed time.

Mrs. Groat swears by her blind cat's accuracy.

"In the same way that blind people have their other senses of hearing, touch and smell highly developed, my cat, being blind, has developed its sense of time," she said.

The nation's top national newspaper advertiser, the General Motors Corporation, confirmed its faith in the selling power of daily newspapers last year by upping its expenditure 11.6 per cent over 1959.

It differs according to what he uses as the starting DNA.

In structure and chemical properties, the artificial DNA is exactly like the natural DNA. This test-tube DNA has not yet been shown to be biologically active.

Many scientists feel that this or other approaches are but a step away from actually creating life. Perhaps primitive cells then can be grown, to study and understand how cells grow, age, become cancerous, and to crack fundamental secrets of life.

Practical health benefits already are coming from the deepening understanding of genetics. Many diseases or susceptibility to them are inherited.

Errors in bodily chemistry often stem from faulty genes responsible for mistakes in body metabolism.

As these are understood, special chemicals or treatments can intervene to prevent disaster which the gene otherwise would bring. An example is galactosemia, in which a baby is poisoned by milk. Milk substitutes save his life.

Consider a Mobile
for the Dining Room

There are a number of ways to decorate a dining area. But first wipe of smudges around doorways, light switches, windows with painted surfaces. Light fixtures or chandeliers and bulbs also need to be free from dust as all the light comes through to spotlight the decorations.

In a dining room you might want to create a Christmas mobile of large colorful ornaments or angels to hang above the table or use a special tablecloth.

Bread Spread's
From Drugstore
— Nontastening

This Christmas, for the first time, every low-fat dieter will be able to "feast" along with the rest of the family, without having to pass up any of his favorite foods. Christmas tables are proverbially laden with taste — tempting goodies. But these same foods can take the pleasure out of the occasion if a member of a group on a low-fat diet is unable to eat what is served.

This situation has now been remedied, for a new margarine has been developed which can be used by those on low-fat diets as a replacement for conventional table spreads and shortening.

It will not raise blood cholesterol levels because it is made chiefly from isohydrogenated corn oil. High blood cholesterol is believed by many authorities to be related to the most serious form of hardening of the arteries.

Be a considerate homemaker by preparing your Christmas food with the low-fat dieter in mind. The spread is a food, not a medicine, but is sold in drugstores.

His Ideal University
a Lonely Institution

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The ideal university would provide for every student to live alone, believes Samuel B. Gould, chancellor at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

"This would guarantee that after all of the student's gregarious urges were fulfilled, there would be a place to which he could retire and be alone with his thoughts, his books and his dreams," he said.

This would allow creative ideas to be pursued without interruption, he added.

Big Japanese Cities Wheeze Under Cloud of Soot, Fog, Smoke

TOKYO (U)—That haze hanging over Japan's major cities is plain, dirty smog.

The mixture of soot, fog, smog, dust and other aerial contamination is not dense enough to make most people weep, cough or sneeze — yet. But many wheeze.

The Ministry of International Trade and Industry wants to do something about it.

"We have selected eight areas for investigation," a spokesman said, "and hope to know by the end of 1960 what is causing the trouble."

LIMITS VISIBILITY

Measurements so far show 50-100 tons of soot and other materials are deposited on each square kilometer (3861 square miles) of downtown Tokyo every month, compared with 15 tons for London.

Visibility is often limited to 1,000 yards.

Investigators are taking a close look at exhaust fumes from motor cars and smoke pumped into the atmosphere daily by hundreds of factories.

The areas under study are Tokyo-Kawasaki, Yokohama, Nagoya, Osaka-Kobe, Amagasaki, Ube, Yawata and Sapporo.

All but Sapporo is frigid Hokkaido are intensely industrialized, yet Sapporo has a smog over about six months of the year, perhaps because almost every house has a coal stove.

Even the swans in Emperor Hirohito's most know something is wrong.

"Look at them," an irate city official said. "They were snow white when they arrived from Germany. Now they are all gray."

Chrysler to Distribute Rebuilt Vehicle Parts

DETROIT (U)—MoPar Division of Chrysler Corp. says it will distribute nationally a line of what it calls remanufactured parts for cars and trucks starting early next month.

A remanufactured part is a used part rebuilt to original specifications and warranted for 90 days or 4,000 miles.

Five independent companies will do the rebuilding, Chrysler said. They are Engine Rebuilders, Inc., Tacoma, Wash.; F & B Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio; Kenco Inc., Warren, Mich.; Lal Par Manufacturing Co., Amsterdam, N.Y., and Precision Automotive Rebuilders, Inc., Hutchinson, Kan.

Various other companies are in the remanufacturing field, including Ford Motor Co.

FOR FALLOUT PROTECTION — At Burlington, Mass., Dr. Eric T. Clarke (left) checks instruments recording the amount of radiation received in different parts of this model home from which the roof has been removed. The test device developed by Technical Operations of which Dr. Clarke is vice president was demonstrated to newsmen recently. An atomic source is propelled through a mile of plastic hose circling the test model to simulate fallout radiation from a nuclear blast. At right, Robert McMath reads instruments. Tests indicated old-fashioned buildings with basements offered better protection than many modern homes.

Equalize Income, Expenses

Stable 2-Year Tax Rate Can Mean Savings to You

By FAYE RENLE
NEA Columnist

The educated guess is that the tax rate for individuals will remain the same in 1961 as currently. Therefore, you should aim to equalize your income and expenses over this two-year period.

If you think your income and expenses will be higher next year, try to defer expenses that will give you a tax deduction. Try to boost your 1960 income by getting advance payments. If you believe your 1961 income will be lower, do the reverse.

Here are some suggestions from the Research Institute of America:

—If you wish to reduce the income you will report for 1960, hold U.S. Savings Bonds. Interest on these need not be reported until you redeem the issues.

—Make the most of the optional deduction. This may be possible if you can keep deductible expenses well below the 10 per cent of adjusted gross income in one year and bunching such expenses in the other year.

DON'T WASTE DEDUCTIONS

—Don't waste medical deductions. Instead, advance or defer these so they will exceed the 3 per cent limit in at least one of the two taxable years. Remember, you get a full deduction (without wasting the 3 per cent) for medical expenses of dependent parents over 65.

—If you support parents, handle their support so that you are able to claim at least one parent as a dependent in order to qualify you for the head-of-the-household tax break.

—Make any stock market "paper" losses pay off. To do this requires some work.

List the gains and losses you may realize so far this year. Separate long and short-term gains and losses. Check any carryover loss you may have from previous years.

If you have a short-term gain, offset this by selling at a loss a stock you may have held more or less than six months.

If you have long-term gains only, postpone taking losses until next year or later. Such losses can be used to greater tax advantage by offsetting short-term gains or ordinary income.

If you have both long and short-term gains you can avoid taking any long-term losses this year because they would be only 50 per cent effective in cutting taxes.

CARRY LOSSES

If you expect long-term capital gains in '61 there is no incentive to deferring losses. Losses exceeding $1,000 can be carried over to later years.

Take short-term losses up to the amount of short-term capital gains. This will cut taxes at the full rate applicable to your ordinary income.

If you have short or long-term losses only you need do nothing, or you can take short-term or long-term gains to be offset by those losses, or convert other losses into carry-overs for use in future years when they all will become short-term.

You might think about switching securities. Once you think you have figured some clever strategy, to double check with a stock broker and the Internal Revenue Service.

Mistletoe Kissing — It's the Berries

One of the happiest customs of the Christmas season is stealing a kiss under the mistletoe. To adhere strictly to the old Norse tale from which this pleasant pastime springs, bachelors should pluck one of the white berries for each kiss.

According to tree experts, when the berries are gone, the sprig loses its magic power to bring happiness.

Snow and Sow Ought to Be Linked Together

After a fresh snow, but before a crust has formed, is an excellent time to sow grass seed. When the snow melts, the seed will be carried down with it into the crumbly, frost-opened surface of the soil. There it will be ready to germinate as soon as the weather warms.

There are 11 articles in the United Nations charter.

If you've a fireplace, add another touch of old Christmas tradition . . . the blazing Yule log. At dinner time, and later in the evening, the only illumination should be true lights, the fire in the hearth and window candles.

A Fool and His Money Are Soon Parted—When He Takes Part in Christmas Schemes!

With the advent of the Christmas Season, both businessmen and members of the public will be solicited on every hand both directly and by mail to help the "unfortunate" have a happy Christmas. Those of us who are able, would be derelict in our duty if we did not donate to help the needy have at least one day of happiness during the year.

But, let's don't be a Santa Claus to the promoters. They are master psychologists and always attempt to prey on the "milk" of human kindness and our generosity during the Christmas season.

Based on past performances the following are some of the Christmas schemes you may expect:

1. Solicitations by mail to help some underprivileged charitable or patriotic group in which the promoter gets the "lion's share" of the proceeds.
2. The same kind of scheme, based on the shipment of unneeded merchandise, such as greeting cards, neckties, handkerchiefs, aprons, pencils, etc.
3. Attempts to sell advertising space in holiday issues of publications that have no established circulation and which is sold on the basis of helping some cause.
4. Sale by advertisement of gift merchandise which can be purchased at local stores at much lower prices.
5. Solicitations for donations and prices for bazaar by unknown religious groups to help the needy.

Find Haven at Dismas House

'Hoodlum Priest' Aids Ex-Cons

By BOB POOS

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The Rev. Charles D. Clark glances around the old school building and remarks:

"You can see more crooks here in 10 minutes than you can in a month on TV."

The old school is Dismas House, a haven operated by Father Clark for burglars, stickupmen, murderers and other felons recently released from prison.

Dismas House, named for the good thief who died on a cross next to Jesus, is possibly the only place of its kind in the United States—a halfway house between prison and the outside world.

In a recreation, a change of clothing and, more than likely, a new lease on life.

ENJOYS HIS TITLE

Father Clark, a 57-year-old Jesuit, has devoted himself to helping criminals for the past 23 years. He rather enjoys his informal title, "Hoodlum Priest."

Since October, Dismas House has turned out more than 300 rehabilitated criminals. They have jobs and homes and are on the way to becoming useful members of society.

Before Dismas House, Father Clark helped countless other convicts. Some slipped back to the guns and blackjack.

"I don't kid myself," says Father Clark. "I play the percentages. But you can almost sense it if a man really wants to go straight."

Before the men are paroled in his custody, they are carefully screened at the prison. Then Father Clark takes a long look at them himself. He will not accept rapists, homosexuals or narcotics addicts.

GETS IDEA IN COURT

The idea for Dismas House started working in Father Clark's mind 23 years ago when Judge David Fitzgibbon invited him to attend some sessions of the Court of Criminal Correction.

"I was shocked by what I saw," he recalls. "Men with no hope in life. No home, family, friends. Men who returned to crime because they couldn't see any other way to go."

At first, he visited prisons all over the country, trying to bring some small comfort to the inmates. During his travels the idea of a halfway house grew in his mind.

One day last year Father Clark walked into the office of his lawyer-friend, Morris Shenker, an Orthodox Jew and sometimes benefactor. The lawyer looked at the priest and reached for his wallet.

"OK, father, how much this time?" he asked.

CONVERTS SCHOOL

Shenker put down $2,000, signed a note for the remainder and soon an 85-year-old abandoned school, located in a grim section of downtown St. Louis, became Dismas House.

The old school rooms have been converted into dormitories. The kitchen and dining rooms are in the basement.

There is a chapel on the third floor, but, says Father Clark, "if they want to pray, OK. If not, that's OK, too." Getting Catholic converts is not the aim of Dismas House.

About 30 men currently are residents of Dismas House. It can handle 60. A released convict usually stays about two weeks.

Dismas House employment service is run by an Oliver, who formerly worked for a professional agency. He is the only non-ex-convict at Dismas House.

Music Comes Alive, and It's in High Style

The music goes 'round and 'round and it comes out . . . everywhere! Exciting developments in hi-fi and stereo during the past few years are making recorded music come alive for the listener. The number of dealers selling high fidelity equipment in the United States has skyrocketed to a total 2,500.

And now, manufacturers are considering the fact that there's less living space in modern American homes. Architects say that today's average living room is one foot lower and three feet smaller than was common a generation ago.

So speaker systems are being consolidated and components are coming off the production line more compact than ever before. The makers of hi-fi and stereo rigs are not only concerned with the sound their components produce—but their appearance as well.

New designs and new styling appeal to women, who in the past have been the sight of awkward, bulky components in their living rooms.

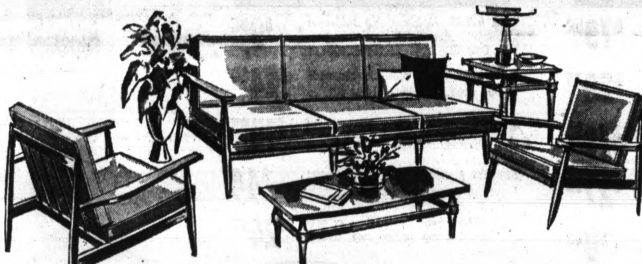

Advances on the technical side are right in step with our jet age.

Holly Spurs Tradition

The traditional Christmas colors of red and green stem from the use of holly for decorative purposes. Tree experts advise that the holly is often called the Christ thorn because its leaves supposedly represent the crown of thorns. Thus when used for Christmas decoration it is usually fashioned into a wreath symbolic of the crown.

Japanese Premier Once Playboy

Suffering Builds Confidence

TOKYO (AP) — Hayato Ikeda, the victor in Japan's eighth post-war election, found faith and renewed self-confidence in deep personal suffering.

The 60-year-old prime minister, whose pro-U.S. policies received a mandate from the voters, was the son of a wealthy sake manufacturer who spent his youth as a university student at Kyoto drinking deeply of the pleasures of that famed geisha capital.

Like many sons of the rich, he chose government service as a career. He might have remained an obscure official, if a rare disease of the skin had not forced him to resign his post in the tax office in Utsunomiya in 1932.

Dressed in the white clothes of a pilgrim, and accompanied by his devout mother, he made a long and painful tour of Buddhist temples on the island of Shikoku in search of the spiritual cure modern medicine could not provide.

Five years later he emerged well and healed. He attributed it to his faith in Buddhism, a faith that continues deep today.

He returned to ordinary life as a serious, purposeful man who bore little resemblance to the playboy of his youth.

rough economic reforms which put Japan firmly on the road to recovery. He learned to work with highly placed Americans and won their respect in the process.

He became prime minister July 14, succeeding Nobusuke Kishi, who was forced to resign following his successful but bitterly opposed fight to push through the new defense treaty with the United States.

Some veteran politicians predicted Ikeda would soon be ousted from power because of a temper and a candor which are celebrated in Japan, traits which stirred him to retort to critics of his austerity measures: "Let the people eat barley if they can't afford rice."

But Ikeda has conducted himself during his four-month tenure with mastery control.

PROVES COMPROMISE
Recognizing that Kishi aroused hostility among the leftists and the general population by a general attitude of rigidity, Ikeda set about proving he could and would compromise if the opposition Socialists cooperated.

This approach won him new friends and helped channel away much of the resentment felt against the Conservatives under Kishi's helm.

He injected new confidence into the nation's workers by promising them an increasing share in the expanding economy.

He has shown some signs of willingness to seek a rapprochement with Communist China, speaking of the need to trade with Japan's big mainland neighbor. But his foreign policy is based squarely on cooperation with the United States and the West. He rejects the Socialist theory that Japan must be neutral if it is to survive the cold war.

It Takes a Coon's Age to Get Alaska Returns

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Results are still coming in from Alaska's general election — and they are still coming in from Alaska's Aug. 9 primary election, too.

Vote counting in the massive state is the looking for proverbial needles in haystacks.

In fact, there are precincts that haven't reported in to say whether or not elections were held.

Vice President Richard Nixon, who virtually won Alaska's three electoral votes Sunday when absentee ballots gave him a margin of more than 800 over President-Elect John Kennedy, has the distinction of carrying the majority of the state's 300 precincts.

But it may take more than a month before he finds out how he did on the four precincts that are still out in Alaska.

Such pilots, short wave radio, ship-to-shore telephone, mail-bus, and even Edna's whale bone play a part in bringing in votes from an Alaska election.

If the state's 300 precincts were spread out equally, each would cover more area than the state of Rhode Island, approximately 19,555 square miles per precinct.

When results from St. Lawrence Island finally arrived late last week they included the first vote count from the Aug. 9 state primary. The island is located 48 miles from the Soviet Union in the Bering Sea.

Nixon carried the two precincts there by 75 votes.

Two of the four precincts that haven't come in yet are located in the Aleutian Island chain. Indians who live there may have been out fishing or hunting when the election was held. State officials may never find out where they were or if the vote was held.

Sweet potatoes are the driest of the common vegetables, containing only about twice as much water content as any of the boned dry materials.

Foreign Cars Holding Own

Assured Second Best Year Despite Flood of U.S. Imports

By BEN PILEGAR Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—Despite the hullabaloo surrounding the introduction of new, smaller American cars a sizable number of imported cars still is being sold in this country.

The imports already are assured of their second best year in the American market with three months of official figures still to be tabulated.

Last year, of course, was the record. Some 10 per cent of all cars sold in this country were made abroad and the total reached almost 410,000.

Official registrations now available cover only the January-September period. During those nine months total sales of imports were 397,368. Previously, the second best year was 1958 with 378,517 import sales.

Unless there is a drastic falloff in the year's final quarter, the 12 month total will be 500,000 to 520,000. Most optimistic estimates by United States manufacturers were that imports might reach 500,000 this year.

The consensus was closer to 450,000 and one of the importers figured 400,000. This low guesser, surprisingly, was Volkswagen, by far the most successful of the import lines.

For the companies involved the import picture, certainly, is not bright, except in certain special situations. For example, Renault, second largest volume seller both last year and this, has discontinued all shipments to the United States until current inventories are reduced.

3-MONTH SUPPLY Over-all inventories of the import makes are estimated at upwards of 110,000 cars, or more than two months supply at current selling rates. Cadillacs have particularly hurt the French and British manufacturers.

In the face of all this Volkswagen has moved steadily ahead. It is the only volume line to show an improvement over last year's performance and the improvement is considerable—a matter of 38 per cent.

Sports car and luxury car sales have held up well while other small economy type vehicles have fallen off sharply.

For the past 22 months the importers have sold 40,000 or more cars in the United States. The high point was June 1959, when 37,211 were sold. But the biggest cut into the market came last December when imports grabbed 12.71 per cent of all sales.

There is no doubt Volkswagen is working hard to keep its foot-hold. It claims 10,000 employees here (counting those working in VW dealerships) and says each of its cars sold in the United States represents more than $1,000 to the American economy.

General Motors definitely is not pushing sales of Vauxhall or Opel. Ford continues more emphasis on the English Anglia but dropped the German Taunus altogether. Chrysler has been trying to set up outside dealers for Simca since it couldn't particularly interest its own dealers in the French car.

Wiring Flowers Across Country Is Effective

Sore feet and wrapping chores can be avoided during the Christmas rush. Just wire flowers. That bouquet of posies will arrive faster than anything else even if you've managed to put the package on a cross-country jet liner.

It's all due to a service known as Florists' Telegraph Delivery, with 11,000 members across the country.

A florist makes sure those buds arrive in time and he can be a big help when it comes to making a choice. Polka-dot plants, for example, are great Yuletide favorites and in some parts of the world, they're become known as the Christmas flower.

If you like bouquets, try carnations. They're becoming more and more popular at holiday time. Bright red carnations are a good choice because they're sure to fit into any Christmas decoration.

Roses, of course, are right for any occasion and particularly this one.

They have always carried messages of deepest love and affection. And if you really want some-thing a bit different, wire a cor-down to opening Christmas gifts. sage for Christmas.

It's a delighted woman, young Tasmania's capital and largest or old, that has a fresh courage city is Hobart.

Thanksgiving's Our Rovingest Holiday; Goes Back to Ancient Harvest Festivals

WASHINGTON — Thanksgiving is regarded as an American custom, but it is as universal as the need to worship. Its origins go back not only to the old world but the ancient world.

The Old Testament contains many references to harvest festivals. Long before the people of the Nile learned to measure a year, they gave annual thanks for the grain crops that helped carry them through the hard months ahead. So important were harvest ceremonies in ancient Greece that if states were at war, they called a truce.

The United States has put its special imprint on Thanksgiving as a day for worship, feasting and family reunions. However, it took Americans a long time to set the present date — the fourth Thursday in November.

Uttli Abraham Lincoln tethered the nation's roving Thanksgiving in 1863. It had showed up in eight different months, the National Geographic Society says. For some inescapable reason, it had settled far more often on Thursday than any other day.

The record of the Pilgrim's first harvest celebration in the fall of 1621 does not specify dates. Since the feasting lasted three days, there is a fair chance that one of the days was Thursday.

Although other colonies adopted the Pilgrim custom, Thanksgiving remained a local on-and-off affair until the time of the Revolution. The Continental Congress designated annual days of thanks for victories throughout the war.

Then in 1789, Elias Boudinot, member from New Jersey, rose in the new Congress and proposed that the President recommend a day of Thanksgiving for the establishment of the Constitution.

States-rights objected violently, but the resolution carried. Thus, in setting aside the last Thursday in November 1789, George Washington became the first President to proclaim a nationwide Thanksgiving.

SKIPS AROUND
Six years elapsed before he proclaimed another — on Feb. 19, 1795. President John Adams called for one in May 1798, and another in April 1799.

President Jefferson disclaimed such a "monarchical practice." But President Madison renewed observance in August 1813. September 1815, January 1814 and April 1815.

Over the next 47 years, Thanksgiving was left to the states. There might never have been a national holiday without Sarah Hale, a philanthropic widow, mother of five and author of "Mary Had a Little Lamb." Mrs. Hale also was the forceful editor of Godey's Lady's Book, the most widely circulated periodical of the day.

For some 20 years, she drummed for a national Thanksgiving on the last Thursday of November.

Finally, President Lincoln, by proclamation, established America's annual Thanksgiving observance. With "humble penitence for our national perverseness and disobedience," Lincoln implored the Almighty to "heal the wounds of the nation and to restore it to the full enjoyment of peace, harmony, tranquility and union."

President Johnson postponed Thanksgiving in 1865 until December. President Grant predicated it, in the first year of his presidency, to Nov. 18.

But thereafter every president followed the Lincoln tradition — until 1939 when Franklin Roosevelt upset it again. His third Thursday Thanksgiving lasted only three years, however. In December, 1941, Congress pegged the nation's Thanksgiving again to the fourth Thursday of November.

Nevertheless, the day must still be proclaimed every year. As Ogden Nash puts it: "Thanksgiving, like ambassadors, cabinet officers and others . . . depends for its existence on presidential appointment."

AVOID POLITICS
Presidential proclamations generally have skirted political issues. Some have achieved eloquence. Wrote Rutherford B. Hayes: "The completed circle of summer and winter, seedtime and harvest, has brought us to the accustomed season at which a religious people celebrates with praise and thanksgiving the enduring mercy of Almighty God."

TOASTY WARM is this infant's jacket of snow white pile, lined with pink satin. Pink floral, broad trims the hood and front. It makes a five-star hit for Christmas.

In the panic year of 1893, Grover Cleveland's proclamation carefully gave thanks for past rather than present bounties. It so annoyed the free-silver governor of Colorado, Davis H. Waite, that he wrote his own proclamation detailing the things not to be thankful for: heavy farm mortgages, unemployment of miners, a drop in land values. Another westerner, Gov. Sylvester Penney of Oregon, also rebelled. President Cleveland's Nov. 30 Thanksgiving was too close to Christmas to suit him, so he set Oregon's day one week earlier. But Mrs. Penney disagreed. Her family, as a result, ate two turkey dinners.

Herein there was precedent for the double Thanksgivings that taxed Americans' digestions in 1899, '40 and '41. A third of the states maintained the traditional fourth Thursday instead of the federally proclaimed third.

In November with five Thursdays, a few states have celebrated on the first Thursday instead of the fourth. In Texas, in 1959, the governor proclaimed both fourth and fifth Thursdays.

"Texas," he said, "has enough to be thankful for to have two Thanksgiving Days."

Texas obviously had learned the lesson laid down by Calvin Coolidge: "We have been a most favored people," said the laconic President. "We ought to be a most generous people. We have been a most blessed people. We ought to be a most thankful people."

Sales Tax Revenue Hits Record for Fiscal '60

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sales tax collections by the states reached $4.3 billion during fiscal 1960, according to Commerce, Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law.

This all-time record yield was 16 per cent higher than the previous year and represented the major source of tax revenue in 30 states.

Sees Reds Supplying Most of India's Oil

NEW DELHI, (UPI) — East European diplomatic sources predict that Russia will become India's major supplier of petroleum products by 1965.

Government officials privately agree. The main reason being that the Russian Oil is available for rupees while Western oil must be paid for in foreign exchange.

At present, the British and Dutch-owned Barmah Shell and two American concerns, Standard-Vacuum and Caltex, pretty much control the local market. In 1959, they supplied about five million tons of the seven million tons of oil India used. Russia got its foot in the door this year by signing an agreement to supply 1.5 million tons of refined oil products during the next four years. Subsequently, the government-owned Indian Oil Company, which will market the Russian products, announced the agreement had been increased to one million tons of oil each year for the next three years.

Here's Good News

CHICAGO (UPI) — There's good news for kids who love ice cream. An ice cream plant of the future which produces 70 gallons per man hour, a step up from the present 31.2, has been developed by engineers of Cherry-Burrill Corp.

Approve New Insurance Policy for State Farmers

LANSING (UPI) — A farm owners insurance policy expected to result in a saving of approximately 20 per cent in property insurance costs for Michigan farmers has been approved by the State Insurance Department.

Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford said the new policy, filed by the Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance Co. of Michigan, will be introduced to the public early next month.

The policy is for exclusive use on farms, similar to homeowners policies now offered only to non-farm risks, Blackford said. Blackford said other companies were expected to offer a similar policy in the near future.

THIS PIRATE CHEST IS FUN — It features a box tray that slides from one end of the chest to the other on runners, affording easy access to the main storage space below. It's easy to build, too.

You Can Fashion a Real Marvel of a Pirate Chest

Space age or not, every boy likes to look back on the days of pirates and buried treasure and with this mind, one of the most practical and popular do-it-yourself Christmas gifts a father can make for his son is a pirate chest. For toys, sports equipment and all the mysterious "treasures" boys collect.

It's bound to make a hit with boys, too, since it increases storage space for things that might otherwise be left lying about.

Such a chest can be made simply and economically with pine. The chest features a box-type lid and will measure approximately three feet long, 18 inches deep, and a

Priest Reveals Conversion to Judaism in Book

LONDON (AP) — A former Roman Catholic priest told in a book published this week how he decided to adopt the Jewish faith.

Using his new Jewish name, Abraham I. Carmel plans a lecture tour of the United States from January to March under auspices of the Jewish MBY Foundation of New York and London. The foundation's aim is to "make a better Jewish Jew."

"For a priest of the Roman Catholic Church to embrace Judaism — and purely for Judaism's own sake — that, surely, must be an occurrence almost, if not wholly, unique," Carmel said in his book "So Strange a Path."

Carmel was born outside London in 1911 as Kenneth Charles Cox. In his early years, he was a member of the Church of England.

His work as a priest involved him in youth work in Scotland. Even then, Carmel said, he was having doubts about Christianity.

"Christianity, I had come to believe, no matter how good and noble, could only be regarded as an offshoot of that ancient monotheistic faith," he wrote.

He tells how eventually the British Catholic archbishop suspended him from his duties.

Since September 1959 Carmel has been living in Israel. His book is due to be published in the United States by the MBY Foundation at the end of January.

State Can Lose Seats in House if Qualified Voters Cannot Ballot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New census figures reducing the congressional representation of some states and increasing others remind many that there is a powerful, unused, constitutional provision relating to civil rights and the congressional representation of the various states.

This provision is embraced in Section 2, Article 15, one of the reconstruction articles commonly known as the 15th Amendment. It was adopted by Congress in 1866 and became effective two years later.

The 15th Amendment provided that "Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed."

A footnote to "The Constitution of the United States" edited by Thomas James Norton explains further:

"Up to this time (1868) members of the House of Representatives were allowed to each state in proportion to the whole population and three-fifths of the slaves but this new provision (15th Amendment) made each Negro count as one."

The fraction of "three-fifths" in counting the slave population was imbedded in Article 1 of the Constitution dealing with the legislative powers of Congress. Norton explains that it came about this way:

"Although slaves were not citizens or voters, the number of them was considered in laying direct taxes."

The three-fifths fraction had been agreed on in Congress when the question was whether, in the levy of direct taxes, slave-holding states would be under-taxed (as Northern men contended) by not counting the slaves as population or overtaxed (as the South claimed) by counting them. The compromise then made as to taxation was employed as to representation in the House."

Norton concluded that the slave states received a disproportionate of a state's representatives in the House.

The weapon lies handy, however, to any member of Congress minded to penalize alleged discrimination against Negroes in the South or desiring, merely, to get his name in the paper as a friend of the Negro.

Stranger things have happened in Congress than that some member, for his own reason, would challenge the congressional representation of some Southern states under terms of the 15th Amendment.

The wholesale disenfranchisement of Southern Negroes is more often claimed in large numbers than it is legally proven.

The claims persist, however, and the 15th Amendment awaits the whim of any legislator who may believe it would be worthwhile to raise in the new 87th Congress a legislative ruckus of large proportions.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, estimated last week that about three million Negroes in some Southern states were denied the vote in the Nov. 8 election. More specifically, Wilkins cited Mississippi registration figures. He said 8,000 Mississippi Negro citizens were registered, of a Negro voting-age population of 495,000 in that state.

Asks New Look at African Ways

Fund Says Primitive Areas May Find West's Government Style Poor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Americans must change their attitudes toward "tropical Africa" and its people if they want to influence the newly emerging nations on that continent, according to a Twentieth Century Fund study published this week.

In a two-volume survey of "Tropical Africa," Dr. George H. T. Kimble, who began the study for the Twentieth Century Fund seven years ago, said Africans and other western peoples must get over the idea Africans necessarily want to emulate them.

Westerners are often dismayed by the types of government chosen by some African nations, the study said, but "There is the disposition of more and more Africans to do their own thinking and deciding about the world they want to live in."

Frequently (there is) skepticism concerning the suitability of western political forms in countries still largely illiterate."

Kimble said westerners must stop thinking of Africa in terms of being one place or even several nations. Rather, Africa is an area composed of 600-odd tribal groups with differing origins, customs and aspirations. He said the nations of Africa, as they exist today, represent "very artificial boundaries."

The study said this was "painfully evident in the Republic of the Congo," beset by government chaos and tribal dissensions and riots for the past several months.

Heads-Up Approach Not Too Realistic

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The "parade ground" idea of good posture — the one that called for "heads up, shoulders back, chest out, abdomen in" — has been replaced by a more realistic approach, reports the Minnesota State Medical Association.

That group says it's now agreed that most young persons in good physical and mental health can achieve good posture through systematic physical exercises.

HAPPY PLANE DAYS — A sense of achievement comes with creating personal treasures... and novel gifts... from handcraft kits. For fun, for sharpening skills, for lasting pleasure, this year more than ever before will mean "A Hobby Christmas to all!"

Aircraft Kits Just Plane Fun

Models With Remote Controls Quite Exciting — Fully Equipped, Too

An exciting "first" for model plane hobbyists is a remote control BSM model that simulates flight.

A detailed version of the latest supersonic jet, the model has movable controls, retracting landing gear, four jet engines, complete crew, hatches that open and close, interior cockpit detailing and decal markings.

For more Christmas airborne thrills, all-plastic gas model planes are available in colorful variety... including replicas of the Snark SM82, Starfighter, Sabre 41, and the sleek and terrific Regulus SSM.

If you're looking for something to add to your collection of historic model planes, the ready-to-assemble Curtis Pusher, 1911 vintage, offers realistic, old-time flight at its best! Wingspan is 24".

An adult flier, or a boy who is ready to handle an engine powered plane can find one to suit him in "ready-to-fly" models or kits of wood or plastics.

Small Tree Is Safest

For Christmas safety at home, the International Association of Fire Chiefs advises: Choose a small tree and set it up away from radiators, heaters or fireplaces. Stand it in water to retard drying, use fireproof decorations, and when it starts to dry out, discard it.

Here's New Way for You to Serve Ol' Tom Turkey

A spicy curried dish keeps pace with the nippy winter weather. It serves a double purpose, too, when the main ingredient is Tom Turkey.

Try this tested recipe: Combine one cup chopped onion, one cup chopped celery and two cups sliced carrots. Add one cup boiling water and one bay leaf. Simmer until vegetables are tender but not soft.

Then remove bay leaf and add two cups canned apple sauce, one teaspoon grated lemon rind, three cups diced cooked turkey, 1 1/2 cups turkey gravy, one teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper. Mix two teaspoons curry powder with a little hot water, add it to the mixture and heat.

For a decorative platter surround the curried dish with a border of well seasoned rice and top with a lattice work of pimiento strips. This recipe will serve eight and goes well with salted peanuts, coconut, chutney and raisins.

All of the land in four Nevada counties is owned by the federal government.

He Won't Accept Tale About Lightning

KINGSTREE, S.C. (AP) — Don't tell DeWitt Joye that old adage about lightning never striking twice in the same place.

His seven-year-old brick house has been struck three times in four years, and damaged each time.

The latest strike burned up a bed, tore holes in a plaster ceiling, scorched a washing machine and knocked out service on two telephones.

A TREE GROWS IN TEXAS—This is not an illusion. It is actually a tree growing in this 30-foot silo seven miles south of Edna, Tex. What is more unusual is that the tree is a Chinaberry tree, which seldom grows to 10 to 12 feet in height. The great height of this tree no doubt is caused by the branches seeking air and light. The tree trunk at the base is about a foot in diameter.

Some Neurotics Can Cut Strain

Rules Reduce Your Tensions

NEW YORK (UPI) — People who are "not too neurotic" can reduce their own tensions by following 10 "stop-gap" rules, said a noted psychiatrist. Fortunately, he added, they constitute the majority of people and so there is hope for a tension-laden world.

These "not too neurotic" people must realize that almost all the things which come to them from the outside and which they think cause their tensions, are not tension-causers at all. These outside things merely are nuisances.

The real tension-causers are deep inside tense people. In the jerky workings of the unconscious segments of their minds, continued

Dr. Edmund Bergler who is well known to psychologic-psychiatric science as a leading theorist.

True neurotics can't straighten out these jerks without professional help.

His 10 rules:

1. Each day is going to provide every person "tax free, with a constant flow of nuisances." Accept that as a fact. "The simplest way to make sure of disappointment is to expect too much."
2. Keep your sense of proportion. "Be capable of making a distinction between a pin-prick and a dangerous wound. You are not often and how hard you kick your always deliberately victimized by self."
3. Be wary of phony explanations of your tensions such as blaming your constitution or other people for them. Their "originator is you yourself."
4. Face up to the constant reproaches which come from the unconscious segment of your conscience which is the malicious internal trouble-maker.
5. Everyone has unconscious self-damaging tendencies. Understand that and you can regulate to some degree "how much, how often and how hard you kick your

6. Test yourself to find out if your conscious unhappiness isn't the result of an unconscious "pleasure in displeasure" which sets off the unconscious conscience. "You must not be fooled by self-pity."

7. and 8. "Ask yourself whether you aren't an unconscious injustice collector and self-appointed trouble-maker. Consciously, of course, you are your own best friend and well-wisher; unconsciously, the story may be different."

9. Remember that your depression which you can't explain and your "lousy moods" represent only the ails you are unconsciously presenting to your unconscious conscience which isn't impressed.

10. With the appearance of each new nuisance, ask yourself: "Am I dwelling on the incident, enlarging it, turning it inside out to extract its last drop of irritation, humiliation or refusal?"

THE REFRESHING—scent of lavender imparts a young feeling. Packaged in blue and gold, spray mist and soap of this delicate scent make a mighty pretty gift.

Northeast Airlines Sports Costly Fleet

BOSTON (UPI) — Northeast Airlines' new fleet of six Convair pure-jet airliners is valued at more than $30 million including spare parts, engines and other accessories, airline officials report.

The same amount of money can purchase 10,715 new cars at an average price of $2,800 a car.

Legend Tells Meaning of Traditionally Holly

Holly is often regarded as the most sacred and symbolic of all Christmas greenery decorations. Legend has it that it was from a burning holly bush that God spoke to Moses.

And when news spread of the Savior's birth, it is related that holly were hung up as symbols of gladness.

Jackie Kennedy Has Big Plans for White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy is expected to engage in a favorite feminine pastime when she moves into the White House—redecorating.

The wife of the president-elect has taken great delight in furnishing her elegant Georgetown home. She is expected to take many of her French and Italian antiques to the executive mansion, in addition to her impressionistic paintings, which are collector's items.

One of her first chances to be to create a nursery for her daughter Caroline who will be three years old in another week, and for the baby due in mid-December.

The historic first floor rooms of the White House won't be part of Mrs. Kennedy's redecorating scheme. They are in the public domain and alterations would be up to the Fine Arts Commission. But from the second floor up in the four-floor mansion, the first lady can, and usually does, make the decor reflect her own taste.

By tradition, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower probably will invite her successor to look over her future home before inauguration day Jan. 20. But no word has been announced as when the "inspection trip" will take place.

Besides the furnishings, the tempo of the first family's life is expected to increase when the young Kennedys move in. They are likely to do a lot more entertaining than President and Mrs. Eisenhower, who have lived relatively quiet lives in the White House.

Frequent guests are expected to include the president-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, his two brothers, three sisters-in-law and their children.

Heroin Heralds Dog Days for Narcotics Chief

Canine Dope Sniffers Thrown Off Scent

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — A statue may some day be erected to the first dog that can develop a talent for sniffing out illegal heroin.
Man's best friend has already proved so adept at "pointing" opium that America has virtually rid itself of the vile traffic in that habit-forming drug.
Narcotics Commissioner H. J. Anslinger discloses that German shepherd dogs, especially trained for this unique service, have become so proficient that they have "just about cleaned out

New York and San Francisco Chinatowns of opium—and cats, as well."
These heroic shepherds, who are performing similar chores in Cairo and other world centers of narcotics traffic, have such a delicate nose for opium that they can even point to it in locked, steel safes.
So far, the narcotics bureau has been unsuccessful in training dogs to track the scent of heroin, which is now the preferred drug of America's 60,000 addicts.
The problem is an urgent one, because most of the heroin that illegally enters America originates in Red China, and 65 per cent of our addicts are under 30 years of age. In fact, nearly 11 per cent of them are teen-agers who are deliberately being subverted by our cold-war enemy.

The jet age is a boon to international gangsters who dominate the illicit narcotic field. A slow boat from China is no longer good enough for Mafia mobsters and other organized crime syndicates, who smuggle dope into this country to lower our morals and our morale.
Virtually all of the international traffic has now shifted from ships to airplanes, and for that reason Anslinger has appointed Sam Pryor, executive vice president of Pan American World Airways, as his special adviser on how to trip up the airborne smugglers.

"Pryor is a godsend to us in this jet age," Anslinger exclaimed. "He travels all over the world at least twice a year, and knows every trick of the trade when it comes to customers or airline personnel trying to slip contraband past customs officials.
This knowledge is desperately important to us, when you realize that a smuggler flying out of Hong Kong can now reach San Francisco within hours.
Pryor, a director of the Boys' Club of America, became interested in the narcotics problem when he saw "normal boys turned into animals" by the use of dope.
"I have five children and eight grandchildren," he mused, "so I can afford to get mixed up in this risky business if it's going to make a safer world for them. It's a horrible situation when teen-agers, hopped up on heroin, commit major crimes — not just juvenile misdemeanors."
Since becoming something of an expert on narcotics traffic, world-traveler Pryor says of Anslinger: "He's like the heroic Dutch boy standing with his finger in the dike until our judges, and the rest of America wake up to the peril."

The Pan-Am executive insists that our greatest danger today is not enemy-directed guided missiles and nuclear bombs, but the narcotics which Red China is subversively sending abroad.
He says Communist agents are using the drugs in many countries to undermine officials and law enforcement officers, but that their chief target in America is our youth.
Anslinger does a slow burn at our British cousin, who refuse to let his agents help clean up the narcotics situation in Hong Kong. He points out that this Oriental city just outside the bamboo curtain is the chief clearing house for the China-grown narcotics that illegally enter America through Los Angeles and San Francisco.
The British home office vigorously denied it when Anslinger recently asserted that the city of Hong Kong has as many drug addicts as our 50 United States combined. Suddenly it performed an abrupt about-face.
Great Britain has now issued a white paper officially admitting that Hong Kong houses from 150,000 to 250,000 heroin addicts. America has only 60,000, thanks to Anslinger and his dedicated agents.

It won't be easy. Experts have been working away at it ever since the tower started to tilt, seven centuries ago. In all that time only a few ideas have been taken seriously.
All you have to do is come up with a workable plan for stopping the decline and fall of the leaning tower.
Every June the commission measures the tilt of the 173-foot tower. Since it was built in 1174 it has tipped 15 feet out of line. The ground beneath the foundation was weaker on one side than on the other, and slowly sank.
In recent years the tilt has been increasing by about one millimeter (.025 of an inch) annually. Last year the slant increased 1½ millimeters.
Most pessimistic forecasts are that the tower may topple within 100 years.

Cement was injected under the weak side of the tower years ago. It helped, but didn't stop the ever increasing lean.
The mayor of Pisa and the city's commission for safeguarding the tower have promised large financial awards and honorary citizenship to anyone who can come up with a better idea.
A British engineer, Fordham Pryke, suggested: Jack up the tower on its leaning side and ease it over onto a new foundation. Pisans are afraid to try this for fear the tower will fall.
A Polish expert, Prof. Romanald Chertowicz, has suggested using some sort of a "chemical-electronic injection" to strengthen the weakened side. Details are awaited.
Oddly enough, the most popular suggestion so far has come from an Italian schoolgirl in Argentina, Lilla Bianchi.
It was this:
Just dig out some of the sandy soil underneath the other side of the tower, and let it settle back until it's straight.

"MY ACHING BACK" — D. V. Klatt of Duluth, Minn., felt he had earned his $30 election bet winnings after he carried these pennies from the Duluth Post Office to a bank, Metro Eberle of Scranton, Iowa, bet that Richard Nixon would be elected president. Eberle paid off in 5,000 pennies, mailed to Klatt. It cost $2.92 in parcel post charges, plus registry, to send the 30-pound package of pennies.

Tower's Lean Shakes Pisa's Peace of Mind

PISA, Italy (U) — Would you like to make a small fortune, and at the same time become an honorary citizen of this ancient city?

Nation Has Compassion 72,000 Children of GIs Find Life Hard in Reich

BONN (UPI) — "If there's another war," the saying goes in Germany, "just send uniforms. Your army is already here."

This sarcastic piece of German advice to the powers which occupied post-war Germany is somewhat exaggerated. There is hardly an "army" of occupation children in West Germany — but there are certainly several divisions.
Statistics show there are some 72,000 children in Germany today born of a German mother and a foreign soldier.
Of these, around 6,000 were fathered by Negro soldiers, mainly Americans.
Most of the soldier-fathers soon went elsewhere, but the women and their children remain.
Of the 6,000 children parented by Negro fathers — Germans call them "mixtures" or "half and halves" — 70 per cent still live with their mothers.

The other 30 per cent live in orphanages, with relatives of the mother or with foster parents, or have been adopted by childless couples.
Today, many of these children — it is 15 years old — are starting to take jobs. It is not always easy, for they are faced with a three-way problem.
As one official of the federal ministry for family affairs said: "They are colored in a world where not all white people are free of foolish prejudice. They were born out of wedlock, and they are occupation offspring."

Germany is now going all-out to create a normal world for these children to live in. Social workers are attempting to erase any prejudice adults may have. Research has shown that there seems to be no prejudice against the "half and halves" among other children.
The University of Hamburg recently carried out a test to help combat adult prejudice. It studied intelligence quotas of 200 colored children and 200 white children.
There was no difference in I.Q. between the two. Some 1,600 of the total 6,000 "mixtures" leave school for full-time work this year.

The family ministry reports that first indications are that all will be well, particularly in Southern Bavaria where the largest number of Negro soldiers were stationed after the war.
There, officials said, labor bureaus have discovered that businesses have no aversion to hiring these children provided they meet necessary requirements. The color of skin has made little difference.

The problem is of prime importance for Germany. Not only has the nation set itself to overcome prejudice against the mixed race child, but many Germans feel it also has a moral obligation to do so.
These people believe tolerance toward the "half-whites" would help atone for the racial bestiality shown during the Nazi years.

Plan Water Pollution Talks in Washington
WASHINGTON (U) — Water pollution, an increasingly painful national headache, will be given a three-day conference treatment here Dec. 12-14.
Under the sponsorship of the United States Public Health Service, hundreds of experts will swap ideas on the problem—what it is, where it is and what can be done about it.
Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney, who called the conference at the request of President Eisenhower, said 1,500 persons are expected to participate.
Represented will be major water using industries, agricultural groups, conservation organizations, public health leaders and government officials from local, state, interstate and federal agencies.
Dr. Burney said the objective is to reach substantial agreement on a set of national goals to halt water pollution and to develop specific programs to achieve the goals.

EMERGENCY HEART SAVERS — Westinghouse Electric Corp. X-ray and Electronics Division in Baltimore announced this week it plans to manufacture this heart resuscitation equipment. The units shown here are capable of broadcasting a warning of heart failure to a doctor up to 2½ miles from his patient, and stimulating a failing heart automatically. The two metal disks are fastened to the patient's chest. Demonstrating the equipment is its inventor, Morris Tischler of Baltimore.

Start Reading God's Book--- It's Filled With Truth, Beauty

NEW YORK (NEA)—The Christmas season is a good time for suggested verses.
"If you do this every day," says Dr. Nettinga, "you will soon partner R. The American Bible Society, 480 Park Avenue South, possible, read the story of the Nativity to a child.
Surely, the child will love it and it just may rekindle a flame in your heart for the Book.
James Z. Nettinga, doctor of theology and secretary of the American Bible Society, reminds us that the Bible is the most wonderful book ever written.
"It is full of beautiful songs," says Dr. Nettinga, "like the 23rd Psalm, romantic poetry, like the Song of Solomon; fascinating stories, like the tender story of Ruth and her mother-in-law, Naomi—good, sound, how-to-it directions for living a better life like the Sermon on the Mount. Yet, foolishly, many of us keep our Bibles carefully put away somewhere—and seldom, if ever, open them.
"Maybe," continues Dr. Nettinga, "we neglect this wonderful book because we think it is out of date, or too hard to understand. This is nonsense!
"The Bible is really a whole library in one volume—66 books by many different writers. They are all worth reading not just once, but many times over.
"Every book is included because it was believed to be important and God-inspired by the devout and learned men who put our Bible together.
"But this does not mean that all the books are equally understandable and enjoyable to a person who is just beginning to read them. Some of them are tough going, even for professors in theological seminaries.
"Fortunately," Dr. Nettinga says, "there are many parts of the Bible that almost everyone can read at once with enjoyment as well as profit. For example, there are the parables—the human interest stories Jesus told his disciples to illustrate the things he was trying to teach them."
All right, you may say, I'd really like to get better acquainted with my Bible. But I don't know where to begin. If I start just anywhere, I may pick one of the hard parts.

5 reasons why you look younger in a Hathaway Shirt

HATHAWAY cuts all of their collars with a subtle flair that makes you look years younger—more distinguished.
And Hathaway collars are incredibly comfortable. Their exclusive low-slope design fits the natural contours of your neck. They never ride up on your neck—an unsightly and uncomfortable habit of many ordinary shirt collars.
The trim, Bi-Angle stays keep Hathaway collars neat all day. As a result, you still look fresh when the cocktail hour rolls around.
Five of Hathaway's superbly tailored collar styles are shown on this page. Each is remarkably flattering and has the Hathaway habit of making you look younger. Drop by today and select a few. We have them in a collector's range of fabrics from $6.50 to $10.95. SPORTSHIRTS TO $16.95

Seek Effective Answer to Pet Population Surge

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Americans are humane people, why do they allow ever increasing millions of unwanted pets to die miserable deaths each year?

Most of us would rather not be asked this question. It arouses memories of kittens turned loose in the country, puppies given away to strangers, surreptitious drownings of entire litters, and children's tears.

Even humane means of disposal such as legal gas chambers and crematoriums usually leave animal lovers with a vague but unshakable sense of guilt.

This year Americans will spend more than 2.5 billion dollars on their 30 million pet dogs and cats, yet more than 20 million homeless dogs and cats will die of starvation and exposure and about 3 million more will be destroyed in animal pounds. Is there an answer to the staggering question of ethics posed by these statistics?

A relatively new organization on the national scene, the Friends of Animals, Inc., thinks there is. This group would like to limit the number of dogs and cats born each year, estimated at 33 million and increasing as rapidly as the human population, to the number of permanent homes available to them—about 8 million.

"This can be done by convincing the American people it is to their benefit to sterilize their pets rather than letting them breed accidentally," said Dr. Robert C. Schmid, an executive of one of the nation's largest philanthropic foundations, who with his wife was a founding member of Friends of Animals.

"The neutering operation is a simple one and usually inexpensive, but apparently even the small expense involved has kept many people from having it done," Schmid said. "That's where Friends of Animals comes in. We are willing to give financial assistance to those who cannot afford the prevailing fee."

Friends of Animals has begun its operation in the greater New York area and is willing to help branches of the organization get started in other parts of the country.

It hopes eventually all humane societies and dog pounds will cooperate by offering pets for adoption only to persons who agree to sterilize them.

"Once this program is generally adopted, there would be a great reduction in the number of abandoned dogs and cats and our humane societies could begin to allocate their funds mainly to animal welfare services rather than animal disposal," Schmid said.

"Of course there would always be enough accidental breeding to provide us with plenty of mongrel pets, but for the most part breeding would be left to the professionals."

The Friends of Animals' program has been approved by religious authorities, including the New York Catholic Archdiocese. It has the backing of most pet authorities who stress that neutering does not make cats fat and lazy as commonly believed.

It is being actively promoted by many pet-owning celebrities including June Haver, James Mason, Fannie Hurst, Budd Schulberg, and the Duchess of Windsor.

"My wife and I got interested in this when we first moved to New York and began taking stray kittens into our apartment," said Schmid. "We wound up with 22 cats and an intense interest in how to deal with the problem of animal overpopulation humanely and rationally. Now we think we have found the way."

Dead a Decade, Yet Speculation Fresh

Sainthood-Villainy Debate Rages On Over Evita Peron

By BOB CONSIDINE
BUENOS AIRES. — The legend of Evita Peron remains fresh, clear and a little terrifying.

She has not been dead a decade, but her story has taken on the gloss of an ancient Greek tragedy, a deadly morality play about the unremitting wages of sin.

"Two absorbing biographies could be written about Evita," the dean of American correspondents in Latin America, King Features Syndicate's Percy Forster remarked.

"The books would have nothing in common. One would portray her as the epitome of villainy. The other would picture her as a saint. Both books in a sense would be right."

DIRT FARMER'S DAUGHTER

Evita Peron was one of five children of Argentine dirt farmer Juan Duarte and his woman Juana Juerguen. Before he died he acknowledged three of them as his own, but not Evita.

The mother moved her brood to the nearest town, Salta, opened a house of prostitution and gave the children an education.

Evita ran away to Buenos Aires when she was 17, determined to become an actress. She picked up a few bit roles, and, between roles, was a working prostitute. She could find no other work.

In 1943, when the military junta presumably headed by Gen. Ramirez came to power, the new government ruled, among other things, that there should be no further playing of off-color songs on the radio.

The Argentine singers and disc jockeys held a protest meeting which Evita, friend of one, attended. She was elected to represent them in a formal appeal to the government to rescind the law.

The next day she presented herself at the government palace and, after an interminable wait on hard benches, was received by the officer in charge of such matters.

MEETS HANDSOME COLONEL
He was a handsome black-haired colonel named Juan Domingo Peron.

They fell in love and Evita came to live in his home. His wife had died not long before that, of cancer. The pornography records resumed spinning.

Evita was given the star role in a popular soap opera and soon was drawing her weight around pretty good. Her fellow was, in truth, the powerhouse of the junta.

When it was announced that Peron would run for the presidency it was suggested to him that he and Evita legalize their union.

They were married and when Peron won overwhelmingly, Evita opened a suite of offices of her own in the palace. She set up the Eva Peron Foundation and became its czar.

It was announced purpose was to aid "the shivering ones" and it did go in for much charity of a showy and well-publicized nature.

FANTASTIC PLOT
But it was also a fantastic extortion plot.

Any individual or corporation wanting something from the government had to clear the matter with Evita. They all coughed up for her fund.

Unfold millions passed through her hands. Great sums of it appear to have been sent to her numbered bank account in Switzerland, and into New York real estate.

They made a spectacular pair, the Perons, he in his peacock uniform, she in her Paris gowns and dazzling jewelry.

Publicly, and politically, they worked as a team. Privately, as the years went on, they battled like cat and dog.

One night, just before they were to appear at a posh affair at the opera, Evita wrestled his sword out of its scabbard, belted him over the head with the side of it, and threw it out a palace window.

Half an hour later she was the portrait of wifely affection as she entered the opera house on his arm.

Then cancer of the uterus struck. The world's leading experts were flown to Buenos Aires to treat her, including George Pack of New York.

MASSIVE COLLECTION
When it became known that she was deemed a great public collection was taken up and plans drawn for a monument to her "two and a half times as tall as the Statue of Liberty."

Peron made so many changes in the architect's plan that it was said he would climax his alterations by offering a statue of himself placed on top of the building.

Evita's last public appearance must have been startling. Looking like death's own portrait she was carried to her car, driven to the Congress, and carried to a chair near the dias from which Peron spoke.

She never uttered a word or batted an eye. She was under heavy sedation.

Peron wanted to perpetuate her for his own political fortunes. He retained the famed Spanish pathologist Pedro Arz with the intention of giving her the kind of embalming which the Russians gave Lenin and Stalin.

FINAL WEEK IN PAIN

Arz's $24,000 contract demanded that when the doctors agreed Evita had one week to live they stop giving her narcotics.

Her last week on earth was one of excruciating pain.

The body was preserved and placed in a vault. But Peron was on the sickle, after bankrupting the government.

When he fled, the provisional government of Dr. Lezardri wanted to make certain that Evita's followers would not turn the mausoleum into a shrine.

Her mother was given the body for Christian burial with the understanding that she would never reveal where the daughter was buried. And this she attended to. There is a story, probably apocryphal, that Peron's first act after Evita's death was to send two trusted representatives to Switzerland to claim her story of stolen money, believed to be enormous.

The bank president appeared and, by one of those trick endgames too good to be true, turned out to be an Argentinean who had been driven out of his homeland by the Perons and had bought control of this particular bank for a combination of revenge and profit.

He refused to release the money; the story goes, because there had legally been no person named Eva Duarte Peron.

As for the Manhattan real estate, perhaps that is what is keeping Peron living better than any known king can.

St. Lawrence Cargo Loads Fall Under '59

MASSENA, N.Y. — Cargo tonnage on the St. Lawrence Seaway for April through October fell slightly from last year's total, evidently because of sluggishness in the steel industry.

The Seaway Development Corp. said this year's total of 18,020,137 tons between Montreal and Lake Ontario was 129,675 tons below the 18,149,812 total, despite a 10 per cent increase in downbound cargo.

Upbound cargo decreased 11 per cent, apparently reflecting a sharp decline in movement of iron ore, a corporation said. In October, downbound cargo totalled 1,881,617 tons, 30.5 per cent more than in 1959. Upbound cargo decreased 41 per cent to 1,162,365 tons.

Tonnage on the Welland Canal for April through October totalled 26,047,597, a 10 per cent increase.

The Seaway closes Nov. 30, and the Welland Canal 15 days later.

Gives Up Dem Digest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic National Committee has decided to hand over control of the party publication, the Democratic Digest, to a nonprofit corporation headed by Herbert G. Pilen, a Washington business executive, it was announced.

OK Spending in Detroit Slum Clearance Project

WASHINGTON — The Urban Renewal Administration said it has authorized Detroit to spend $74,325 of local funds for survey and planning work on its 127-acre Elmwood Park Slum Clearance Project.

The agency said it is expected that when planning has been completed, the city will apply for federal funds to carry out the project. In anticipation of such a request, the agency said, a total of $6,423,888 in capital grant funds has been earmarked.

The site of the White House, about 16 acres, was originally purchased for the sum of about $1,600.

For Health . . .

"For health and strength and daily bread, we praise Thy name, O Lord!" In the words of a traditional grace, 5-year-old Margaret Widdifield (above), daughter of the C. George Widdifields of Ottawa Drive gives thanks for her fine health. Measuring her growth is pediatric supervisor at Pontiac General Hospital, Mrs. Virginia Rise.

At right, 7-year-old Danny Dierkes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dierkes of Westacres, flexes his biceps with boyish pride. He is thankful for the strength burgeoning from his healthy young body.

Giving thanks for their daily bread are members of Temple Beth Jacob's nursery school Roberta Flynn, 4, of Ogema Road and Steven Mahler, 4, of Ivanhoe Street.

Each U. S. Serviceman to Have Holiday Turkey

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Every U. S. military man—be he on land or sea—will have his Thanksgiving turkey if the Quartermaster Corps has its way.

The Defense Department said that enough turkeys to serve all 2,492,414 members of the armed forces had been shipped, with all the trimmings, to military stations throughout the world for traditional Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners.

"We have the birds in position," said a quartermaster spokesman. "If a single man in the armed forces doesn't have his turkey it will be the cook's fault."

Quartermasters began purchase of the ready-to-cook holiday turkeys in August and started immediate shipments to far-flung stations. Most of the holiday fare, including mince-meat, pumpkin, fruit cake, nuts and candies, was en route by early October.

Turkey on Thanksgiving is a great morale-builder to lonely servicemen, the spokesman said.

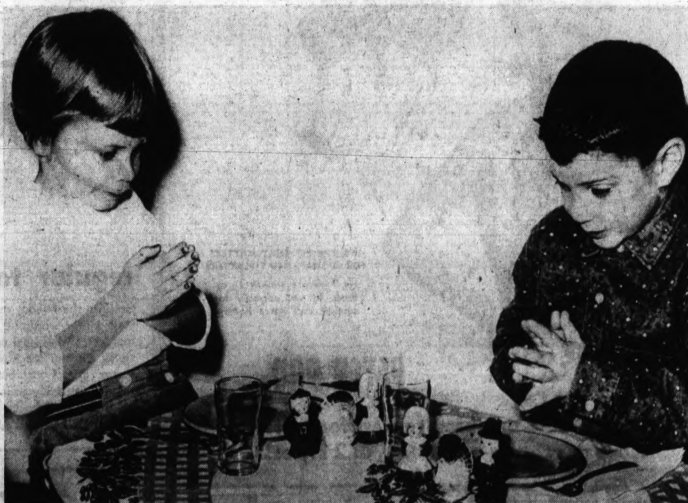

During the Korean War, cooks moved up to the rear of the firing lines and served hot turkey to combat soldiers wherever possible.

"We're taking care of the dependents too," the spokesman said. "There will be enough turkeys available for purchase for men and dependents living off bases."

Allowances provide for 90 pounds of oven-ready turkey per 100 men.

The Navy and Marine Corps prepare their own menus for Thanksgiving and Christmas. The Army and Air Force have a "Joint Army-Air Force master menu."

It includes: Shrimp cocktail with cocktail sauce and crackers; roast turkey with giblet gravy; bread dressing; cranberry sauce; mashed potatoes and orange glazed sweet potatoes; buttered peas and buttered broccoli; assorted relishes; assorted hot rolls and butter; pumpkin pie with whipped cream, or mince-meat pie and fruit cake; assorted fruits, dates, candy or nuts; and tea, coffee or milk.

A List of Our Thanksgiving

By MARJORIE RICHER

Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press
God of all sects and centuries, we pause in grateful thanks for all the beauties of the earth.

For autumn's brown branches
And spring's sudden surge of blossoms.

For the stillness of winter's snow
And its white pristine perfection.

For the robustness of summer
With its sweat and sweetness,
Its laughter and long starry nights.

For simple, homey things—the mended sock, the singing kettle, the smell of pot roast rich with onion tang.

For family and friends and unsuspected blessings

Like the lingering of autumn
Or a familiar face in a strange crowd.

For contrast and continuity—
The contrast of season and the continuity of life from generation to generation.

For abundance—and the awakening need to share it.
For the rights we mutually cherish.

For grace to meet life's little obstacles, and courage and faith, its larger demands.

For spirit and sensitivity and stalwart strength to strive for the realization of the American dream set forth so simply by our forefathers: "... life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

To all men—and in that order.

Many Indians, Little Food

Holiday Was 'Make Do'

Thanksgiving has been a feast day ever since the Pilgrims brought in their first harvest in Plymouth in 1621. To the dwindled band of pioneers surviving the first year, the corn and barley crop looked like an abundance.

It called for a celebration, and celebrations, then as now, meant company. An invitation was sent to Massasoit to come to dinner and bring his "chief men," and as often happens with a blanket invitation, more came than the hosts bargained for. Massasoit showed up with 50 Indians and they stayed three days.

PROVIDED FOOD
Fortunately Massasoit was as thoughtful a guest as he was a good friend and sent his "chief men" into the forest for more food. They came back with five deer, bringing them to the square with great ceremony.

So it's pretty certain that deer was served at the first harvest celebration, but what else was on the menu takes a lot of supposition. History does not record the dishes, but it does say that there were only four women, one servant and a few girls or maidens to prepare the meal. With 51 hungry Indians to feed and 55 English, these resourceful women must have made use of any edibles that flew, stalked or grew in the area.

For the Thanksgiving bird

they had a selection. The feast day was timed with the autumn migration of wild fowl when geese and ducks from the north poured down in great numbers on their way south. Turkeys, too, were within musket range and would scarcely have been bypassed for a morsel of clams.

Cranberries must have been there, too. The ruby fruit, growing wild in the lowlands, had been providing that "added something" to American mealtimes ever since Indian women first used them to pep up their cakes. They passed up their pemmican cakes. They passed on their cooking arts to Pilgrims women who adopted and adapted them to fit their English fancies and cooking facilities.

Our forefathers knew how to "make do" but they also knew how to surround the bleakest conditions with an aura of gracious living. When they set their Thanksgiving table they made sure it sparkled with cranberry sauce and juicy cranberry tarts, and so, on that memorable occasion in 1621, turkey and cranberries began their long and lasting affinity.

John Josselyn, who visited America later on (1663), said of cranberries, "The Indians and English use them much, boiling them with sugar for sauce to eat with their meat."

We Praise Thy Name O Lord

Miriam J. Forbes (right) of Chadwick Drive has been named to the Honors Program at Michigan State University. With her above is her Honors College advisor, Dr. Paul Bakan, associate professor in the department of psychology.

Shower Guest

December bride-elect Elizabeth Gale Meyer was honored Friday evening at a shower in the home of Mrs. William Kenefide of Oakbrook Street, Drayton Plains. Mrs. Edwin Cavell of Waterford Township was cohostess.

Daughter of the William D. Meyers of Milford, Miss Meyer is the fiancée of Glenn F. Hartman, son of the Vern R. Hartmans of Starr Avenue.

Keep Panels Clean

Before installing metal or fireproofed wood paneling, mask it first with a thick layer of warm soap or detergent suds.

When the lather coating dries, it protects the surfaces against fingerprints and soil due to handling. Later, use a damp cloth to wash off the suds and grime together, leaving the paneled walls clean.

Local Coed Named for MSU Honor

EAST LANSING — Pontiac's Miriam J. Forbes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Forbes of Chadwick Drive, has been named to Honors College at Michigan State University.

The Honors College program aims at enriching rather than accelerating academic experience. Only students who have finished their freshman years with B plus averages or who have attained that average during their sophomore years are eligible for membership.

Privileges of members include following independent study plans with faculty guidance and entry into advanced or graduate courses without prerequisites.

Miss Forbes, a sophomore at MSU, is a psychology major. She is also active in the International Club, Foreign Brother-Sister Program and Inter Varsity Fellowship.

Human and animal footprints believed to be anywhere from 2,000 to 5,000 years old have been found in Managua, Nicaragua. Scientists believe the prints to be the earliest trace of man in that part of the world.

Soap, Water Help

When your skin becomes irritated, its damaged tissues open up and are especially susceptible to germs and bacteria.

At such times, frequent washing with soap and warm water becomes especially important. The skin should be washed, rinsed, and then gently patted dry. After that, apply any powder or lotion that is recommended by your doctor.

Discuss Problem Without Liquor

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I see by your column that you are against secretaries going to lunch or dinner with bosses. If I am a salesman, and I am, Ab, a salesman has to sell himself first, and there is no better way to do it than to invite the lady buyer out for a nice lunch or dinner and talk business over a cocktail or two.

It doesn't cost me anything because my firm figures this is the cost of doing business. There is nothing shady about it. It's fun for the lady and profitable for the salesman, so why knock it?

NUMBER ONE SALESMAN
DEAR NUMBER: A salesman may want to "sell himself"—but all he has to deliver is the product. "A Number One Salesman" doesn't need joy juice to sell anything.

DEAR ABBY: What is the custom today with regard to asking a father for his custom today with regard to daughter's hand in marriage? I met a young woman at church who qualifies in every respect.

She has accepted every invitation to be in my company and I have courted her as a gentleman. I would like to marry her. She is 100 per cent respectable and so am I. I think I am possibly a year or two older than her father.

Under the circumstances, is it necessary for me to ask a man who is younger than I for permission to marry his daughter?

COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

DEAR COUNTRY: Age has nothing to do with. Ask the girl's father.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when the kids upstairs keep running a rat race day and night, knocking things off the shelves, shaking the lights and putting cracks in the ceiling? The kids are under five years old and probably don't know any better, but I beg my landlord almost daily for some peace and am ignored.

I have worn out my ceiling ramming against it with a broom handle, and my pots and pans are bent from banging them on the ceiling to let my neighbors know I mean business.

The father of these little monsters is an Air Force Sergeant, so he should be intelligent enough to realize how annoying it is for us downstairs. Don't tell me to move. I am stuck here.

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: The kids are "under five years old"—what's your excuse? Intelligent, peace-loving grown-ups do not bang objects against the ceiling to gain peace and

Good Taste Today

Question: The other evening while dining at a friend's house, coffee was served with dessert at the table. The cup was filled almost to the brim and after I put cream into the coffee, it overflowed into the saucer.

I lifted the cup and poured the coffee that was in the saucer back into the cup. I've been wondering ever since if this was the right thing to do.

Answer: In the first place, you should have noticed that the cup was too full and taken a tip or two from it before adding any cream.

But once having done so, you should have left the spilled coffee in the saucer and leaned over it while drinking from the cup to be sure no drops would fall on your dress or the tablecloth, or you could have apologized for spilling your coffee and asked if you might have a dry saucer.

Question: Would you please explain the proper etiquette when a baby is born? Is it up to the parents to call and invite each of their friends to see the baby on a specified date or is it up to the friends and relatives to call on the mother and new baby at their convenience?

We understand that some friends of ours are hurt because we did not extend a special invitation to see our newest addition to the family. We would appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: There is no rule about this, but those wishing to see the new baby should telephone and ask if they may and what are the best hours to see him (or her).

Question: A business acquaintance of my husband and his wife entertained us at dinner and the theater. Having expressed our thanks for a most enjoyable evening, is it necessary to write a note saying once again how much we enjoyed the evening? I had met our host once before but I had never met his wife.

Answer: Your verbal thanks at the end of the evening were sufficient.

From University of Michigan Campus Newsletter

By SHARON WARREN

Now that mid-semester examinations are over, I've been able to find some students crawling out from under their stacks of books. July Dearing of 1910 Ottawa Drive has found time to see the pianist, Van Cibus, the Krsmanovich chorus of Yugoslavia, and Arthur Rubenstein, the pianist who was here Nov. 11.

July Dearing of 191 Ottawa Drive is a freshman majoring in education.

"The Mikado" played a three-day run Nov. 10-12 in Lydia Mendelsohn Theatre. It was the first performance of the season by the University of Michigan Gilbert and Sullivan Society.

The university's only touring student musical group, the society also appeared Saturday evening at Detroit's Raskhan Auditorium. Ronald F. Saback of Amherst Avenue in Birmingham participated in the chorus of the production. Ron is a sophomore in engineering.

Gary Relyea of Washington Street, a freshman music major, has joined the Choral Union and the Michigan Singers to maintain his choir interest.

Gary works at Drake's Sandwich Shop, a favorite spot for college students. He confesses that music practice, plus working added to his daily college assignments make a full schedule.

Another busy person at Michigan is Jo Ann Dearing of Ottawa Drive. She is a premedical student and is also in the honors psychology program. Jo Ann will be aiding Dr. Isaacson with an experiment in psycho-psychology.

Among other things, she will be training animals and assisting in surgery on rats. Jo Ann's interests lie in this area of academic life rather than in student organizations. She is a Junior.

With "mids" over, students are looking forward to Thanksgiving vacation and turkey. Equally excited are 150 of the university's foreign students who will be Thanksgiving guests of Ann Arbor and area families.

The 13-year-old hospitality program is a project of the University of Michigan International Center. A total of 1,533 international students and visiting scholars from 85 countries are on campus.

Among the 439 students who recently pledged membership in 43 campus fraternities are a number of Pontiac area students. From Birmingham, James E. Bird pledged Beta Theta Pi.

The world's highest cable car is in the French Alpine resort of Chamonix. It rises to 12,605 feet in 25 minutes up the slopes of Mount Blanc.

Murthas at Home in Tucson

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Murtha are at home in Tucson, Ariz., following their marriage in St. Ambrose Catholic Church in Tucson, and a honeymoon trip to Las Vegas, Nev.

The former Diana Guglietti is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Guglietti of Tucson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Arthur V. Murtha of Erie Road and the late Dr. Murtha.

Harriet Ryerson served as maid of honor at the Nov. 5 wedding. Mrs. Mitchell A. Southern, sister of the bridegroom, and Hannah Brown were bridesmaids.

A reception in the Rose Garden Room of the Bagdad followed the ceremony.

Mrs. Murtha attended her son's wedding, with his aunt, Mrs. John M. Howe of Chatham, Ont.

Children Should Face Coolness in People

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Because John didn't remember his Uncle Fred and Aunt Gert, he was delighted to hear that they were coming for Sunday dinner.

To him the titles "uncle" and "aunt" had aroused an expectation of special grown-up interest in him. So he was both surprised and disappointed by their lack of it.

Arriving, Aunt Gert said he had a look of his father's family about his eyes and Uncle Fred said, "My, you'll soon be big enough to go to school." And that was that.

Only after a hearty dinner of roast beef and pumpkin pie did Uncle Fred grow more expansive. Then, asking Steven if he liked lollipops, he took 50 cents out of his pocket and gave it to him. Aunt Gert said:

"For heaven's sake, Fred, if you want to give the child money, give him $5 to put in his bank. You're teaching him to save money, aren't you, Rhoda?"

Steven's mother said she was under her guidance, Steven relinquished the 50 cents, handed Uncle Fred's $5 bill and poked it through the slot of his large pink plaster piggy bank.

Later, preparing for bed, he said to his mother, "I don't like Aunt Gert."

"Sh-sh," she said. "That's not nice. She likes you very much."

Now in terms of Steven's future welfare this attempt to conceal the truth of Aunt Gert's disinterest in him could become as wasteful of his energies as though mommy had told him he could expect stones to turn into chocolate cakes.

What she did was to tell Steven that his own awareness of another person's disinterest in him was unreliable and that he could expect affection from it.

Woman Is Honored at Stork Shower

Mrs. Doyle Thompson Jr. was honored at a stork shower Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Tamm on West Yale Avenue. Mrs. Ben DeVar was cohostess.

Guests were the honoree's grandmother Mrs. Mike Knowles of Harrisburg, Ill., Mrs. Cyde DeVar, Beverly DeVar, Mrs. Fred Foster, Lorraine DeBerger, Mrs. Doyle Thompson, Nina and Donna Thompson and Mrs. John Combs.

Others were Mrs. Carolyn Masters, Mrs. Barbara Pankey, Sue Braumager, Mrs. Carl Richardson, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. George Stone, Nicky Trieth and Mrs. Celeste Boenick.

I hope she won't continue to feed him this lie. If she does, Steven's ability to withdraw expectations from people who can't feel interest in him will be impaired.

Hoping to reach that interest in him which mommy has told him disinterested people possess, he will have to pursue little boys and girls in school who have made it clear that they don't want him around.

He will have to believe in the good will of employers who don't have it to give him. He may become painfully involved with girls who will exploit his hope of affection that they do not feel.

We tell this kind of lie to children, not because we want to spare them the hurt of our relatives' lack of interest in them but because we can't accept their disinterest in us.

Optimists Slate Hard Time Party

The Lakeside Optimists of Waterford Township will have a "Hard Times" party for members, their wives and guests at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Old Mill Tavern in Waterford.

The dinner dance will feature a costume party, with prizes awarded for the best, the funniest and the most original attire, according to club president Frederick P. Pansky.

Play Weekly Game

Winners were Ernest Guy and Dr. John Clarke, Dr. and Mrs. Robert W. Dustin, Dr. Charles Patrick and Dr. James H. St. Louis, Mrs. James H. McGuire and Mrs. Carleton Wright.

Emmanuel PTF Elects Officers, Plans for Social

Officers have been selected by the Parent-Teacher Fellowship of Emmanuel Christian School.

Darwin Catlin, president, will serve with Mrs. James McKee, vice president; Mrs. Marvin Jackson, secretary; Mrs. John Thomas, treasurer; Donald Spring, father vice president; Sue Loomis, teacher vice president; and Mrs. Julia Black, publicity chairman.

Home room parents and teachers staged a cooperative dinner Friday evening. Mrs. McKee outlined the PTF's plans for the year preceding home room workshops.

Coming events include a box lunch social and spring fair. Dr. Lawrence D. Butcher, principal, was moderator for a recent panel discussion on the subject "The Curriculum in Our Christian School."

Tarzan's 1st 'Jane' Relives Movie

She Goes Back 42 Years

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

(AP)—Actress Enid Markey sat in the darkness of a tiny Greenwich Village theater recently and curiously waited to come face to face with herself as she was 42 years ago.

Celluloid had captured and immortalized her in 1918 as "You, Jane," the pretty young thing with a blushed face, wide eyes, and purred lips who taught Tarzan to appreciate girls.

Since the silent screen star's days at the first Jane (and the only fully dressed one), a number of Janes, talking and animal skinned, have swung true limb to true limb across the screen.

In the four decades that have passed, Miss Markey too has moved on from silent films to the theater, to TV. Today she is co-starring, in CBS' "Bringing Up Buddy" TV series as Violet Flowers, an incurably romantic stunt.

But the role of Jane with Elmo Lincoln as Tarzan was the beginning of her road to fame.

A director discovered Miss Markey in a Los Angeles dramatic school in the days before peroxide blonde aires. The girl's thick mass of black hair was considered photogenic.

"Mama rolled it up on rags every night," the silent screen star recalls.

Now hedging 60, beige-blonded, and perfumed, Miss Markey is remarkably well preserved. A tiny unenthusiastic audience shared the actress' meeting with her young self without recognizing her. . . not even when the camera fell down and the lights went on.

As a shirt-sleeved piano player trilled the keys, Miss Markey watched the plot thicken. Tarzan and his hairy companions flickered and jerking through the jungle bought back a flood of memories. "Where's the part when he finds the locket? It seems to have been cut out. Or maybe they've lost that reel. I know there was a locket. Tarzan gave it to me at the end and I've still got it somewhere."

Miss Markey giggled at the dress worn by Lady Graystone, Tarzan's ill-fated mother. ("Still, they're not as bad as some we've got today.") And she roared at the picture captions. ("If this be justice, sir I want none of it!") But she politely demanded silence at the point where she was due to enter.

"My dear Jane, you cannot take your maid!" The caption said Jane was warned. The piano keys danced beligerently. "Sir, is courage only for men then?" And Jane and her maid flickered into the tiger-maided jungle. Miss Markey's laughter rose above the piano noise.

"Ohhhhhh, isn't that AW-ful!" The film jerked about. The screen went blank. The reel rolled down the aisle. The lights went on temporarily.

Enid Markey was determined to stay until the bitter end. Somewhere there was a lion. "O yes . . . there. Now watch. O p, that part has been cut out. No, there it is. Well, anyway, see Elmo (I mean Tarzan) knock him out."

"O, he was real all right, supposed to have been drugged, but something went wrong, the drug I guess. But that lion really meant serious business. Elmo had no idea! I tell you I was terrified!" Yet everything turned out all right. Jane found happiness in the tree tops, and Tarzan learned to treat ladies like a gentleman should. The piano turned from mournful to lyrical as the jungle of Hollywood, 1918, vanished from the screen.

And Jane, nee Miss Markey, exited into her world of 1960.

Cranberry String Rates Hearty Kiss

No need to wait until Christmas for the pleasures offered beneath the mistletoe.

It's an old Thanksgiving custom, dating back to the early days of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, to enjoy a cranberry contest. A peek into the diary of Juliana Smith (1778) provides us with the rules.

"The players, each supplied with a large needle and a long coarse thread, stood around a big bowl of raw cranberries. At a given signal all pitched in and threaded as many cranberries as he could in the allotted three minutes. The one who strung the most cranberries won a prize and the privilege of hanging his ruby necklace around the neck of his chosen one with the accompaniment of a hearty kiss."

Juliana doesn't say it, but it's also a Thanksgiving custom to cook up cranberries in a variety of enticing sauces, salads and pies for the Thanksgiving table. . . to reap the same reward!

Eyes Tell on You

(NEA) — The best way to have clear and sparkling eyes is to get enough sleep, eat the right food, drink lots of water and avoid daily use of cocktails. Don't depend on drops of any kind to make your eyes clear and bright. Your eyes, like your hair and your skin, reflect your total health. If you are careless with your health, your eyes show it fast.

Tiles Cut Noise

If you're bothered by noise and clutter in your home, why not try sound conditioning one or more rooms with acoustical tiles? A popular material for this purpose is wood fiber, which offers a "bonus" advantage to homemakers.

Wood fiber acoustical tiles are coated with washable paint. When soiled, just sponge them with soap or detergent suds, and rinse. They'll continue to be a decorative as well as practical addition to any home.

You Need Knit

(NEA) — To be included in your fall wardrobe: at least one wool knit. In this age of travel by car, train and plane, the wool knit is indispensable.

Remedy for Blues

A bright new hat is not the only remedy to cure a case of "the blues." Many women find that briskly shampooing their hair does the trick, too — or buying a rosy lipstick, or some eye shadow in a "different" color. Anything which perks up a woman's appearance is sure to cure her of the doldrums!

Variety Is Stimulating

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
I feel deeply and joyfully thankful for the variety in life!
This was impressed on me not long ago when I was looking at one of the most beautiful skies I have ever seen. It was a vivid blue and had fluffy pillows and cushions and footstools and mountains of white clouds in it.
I thought of how many different roles the sky alone plays. I remembered it angry and wild, with lightning streaking and mad winds hurrying monstrous black clouds across it.
I recalled a breathtaking sunset I once saw in New Hampshire when the setting sun was reflected on clouds which were torn and shredded.
I thought of the sky when it is lighted by the moon.
I saw it once when the Northern Lights were cascading down from its dome. I remembered with inner stillness and peace, the crisp, star-studded sky of a winter night.
CHANGE OF SEASONS
How dull it would be if even the sky were always the same, and yet we often take it for granted. The change of seasons, each with its distinctive mood provides us with a refreshing change of pace if we are aware in a perceptive way.

Variety in life and the changing seasons provide us with refreshment. How stimulating and exciting it is that there are so many different kinds of people to know and that every one of them is a surprise package of contrasts.

I give thanks for the variety in people. How stimulating and exciting it is that there are so many different kinds of people to know and that every one of them is a surprise package of contrasts.
How dull it would be if people could be catalogued and put into files or cubbyholes like we do our papers and letters.
I feel thankful for the world of ideas, except that it is a little frustrating because I will be able to tap such an infinitesimal part of it. I feel thankful for the variety and years except I felt the Al in the mistic we can listen to, the mighty might feel that to be a little extreme.

Discusses U.S., Russia

Peaceful Coexistence in Soviet Russia was the subject of Marygrove College Professor George Virga when he spoke to the American Association of University Women Monday.
"Professor Virga listed changes in the colonial countries' background and political geography conducive to peaceful coexistence by Russia, adding that he believes aid given to neutralists is weakening to democracy and strengthening to Communism.
He concluded his talk with the comment, 'The failures of the United States are too thoroughly advertised, while only the successes of Russia are made public.'
Guests were Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. Gilbert Gleason, Cecilia McIntosh and Mrs. Edmund Winkler. Mrs. Thomas Metzger, social committee chairman, was assisted by Mrs. J. L. VanWagoner, Patricia Hott, Dorcas Wolf, Mrs. Robert Doer, Helen Voss, Alberta Malden, Mrs. John Kamp and Mrs. Roy Alexander.

Demonstrates How to Acquaint Strangers

Hazel Boltwood, assistant counselor of foreign students at Wayne State University, spoke on conversations at a meeting of the Pontiac Woman's Club Monday in Adair Shelly Library.
Mrs. Boltwood demonstrated methods of acquainting strangers in groups of mixed backgrounds.
During the business meeting Mrs. Hayden Henley, president, announced that donations have been given to Girls' Town and to Girls' Ranch at Camp Oakland.
Mrs. Ralph Glick was program chairman. Committee members for the meeting were Mrs. Grace Steeves, Mrs. L. M. Lewis, Mrs. John Lyons, Mrs. H. T. Rombough, Mrs. Orin Hantson, Mrs. Ira Hadrill and Mrs. Russell Winger.

The next meeting will be the annual Christmas Silver Tea Dec. 19 at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

Leslie P. Motz (at right) of Whitmore Street, a candidate for an advanced degree in metal smithing at Cranbrook Academy of Art, joins sculptress Norita Eglet of Westlake in admiring some of the articles which will be sold at the annual Student's Christmas sale in Cranbrook's Art Galleries.

December Birth Offers Choice of Two Stones

A choice of two birthstones, each with a background steeped in ancient legends, is offered for those born in December. These gems are the turquoise and zircon.
According to the American Gem Society, both gems have histories leading back to distant lands and early civilizations.

Annual Art Sale to Have Many Items

Colorful ceramic vases, cups and pots, silver and copper jewelry, handwoven scarves in brilliant tones, place mats and napkins, small rugs and drapery material, small sculpture, Christmas cards, drawings, paintings and wood block prints are among the many items being readied by students at Cranbrook Academy of Art for their annual Christmas Sale which opens in the art galleries Dec. 2, at 2 p.m.

It will also be open to the public on the following two week-ends: Dec. 3 and 4 and Dec. 10 and 11, from 2 to 5 p.m. The display will be in the lower galleries this year.
Wilbur E. Steiner, a design student from Rochester, N. Y., is sale chairman, appointed by the student council. Thomas Hillebrand of Lexington and Vernon Kamholz of Green Bay are the hanging committee.
There also will be a selling committee, but the entire student body will be active in the sale. Fifteen per cent of the receipts is donated to the student scholarship fund.

Youngster Offers Prayer of Thanks
An 11-year-old boy who reads the Women's Section of The Pontiac Press put this prayer in our mailing:
"We give Thee thanks for the food we eat this day. We give Thee thanks for this free and wonderful country of ours. Any most of all, we give Thee thanks for the freedom of saying a prayer when and where we want."

Clay Chalk's Best
Reach for clay chalk instead of wax chalk when you work with fabrics of synthetic fibers. Home economists say the wax may leave bracelets and earrings, pins and odd marks which are difficult to remove.

Thankful Theme Is Emphasized

Bethany Baptist Church Women's Society groups have observed their weekly meetings, emphasizing a Thanksgiving theme.
Rebecca Group met with Mrs. Harold Wirt on Liberty Street to hear Mrs. Edward Lewis review a chapter from the book "One World, One Mission" by W. Richey Hagg. Devotions "Thoughts for the Day" were read by Mrs. Wallace Joyner.
Mrs. C. N. Derrick of Dakota Drive was hostess to Dorcas Group with Mrs. Bernard Koyon as co-hostess. Chairman Mrs. Lawrence Taylor introduced Mrs. D. R. Veazy who reviewed a chapter from the book "My Several Worlds," by Pearl Buck.

Announcement of the Christmas Tea Dec. 8 at 1:30 p.m. in the church was made, and members made plans to assist a college girl this year.

The Lincolnshire Road home of Mrs. George Lang was opened to Esther Group. After Mrs. Harry Taylor offered devotions "Things to be Thankful For," a chapter from the Church's foreign mission book was reviewed by Mrs. Basil Hart. The group will take Christmas gifts to the Oakland County Medical Care Facility next month.

Naomi Group met for a luncheon at the Ogemaw Road home of Mrs. Arthur Schutt with Mrs. Etta Hibbard and Forrest Brown as co-hostesses. Mrs. Hayden Henley conducted a "Service of Thankfulness" in which all members participated. Her compelling plans for the Baptist Vesper Service Dec. 18 at the church, members voted to assist a woman student at the Baptist Missionary Training School in Chicago at Christmas and throughout the year.

Luncheon was served at the home of chairman Mrs. William Dorris of Spokane Villa for Martha Group. Mrs. Thelma McCall was co-hostess. Mrs. Jennie Richmond's devotions on "The Christian as a Soldier," by the Rev. Richard Emerich, a guest on cancer dressing program was given by Mrs. Wesley McCulloch. Mrs. Omer Lewis read an introduction to the foreign missions study book.

The Lydia Evening group met at the dinner at the Washington Street home of Mrs. Wellington Ryley. Mrs. O. B. Fink and Mrs. Lillian Mitchell were co-hostesses. Preceding the business session, devotions were read by Mrs. Lewis Cornell. Mrs. Aden Thornton reviewed the group's foreign study book.

Deborah Group members who sponsored a toy party at the church for their weekly meeting are sponsoring a "Post the Bells" party for the next few months. Mrs. Donald Fogell was hostess, assisted by Mrs. Thor Peterson and Mrs. Andrew Pepper.
Mrs. Omer Lewis of LaFay Drive entertained the Ruth evening group. Her cohostess was Mrs. Frank Eddy. Dessert followed devotions by Mrs. J. Noble Smith.

Officers Installed During Luncheon of Fellowship

Officers were installed when the Woman's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church held their annual luncheon meeting Friday.
Luncheon was served by the Saybrook Group. Group singing of Thanksgiving hymns was led by associate minister Howard Clegg with Charles Wilson accompanying.
Using as her theme "Fellowship," Mrs. Dora Dawson installed Mrs. Sydna Olson as president.
Serving with Mrs. Olson will be Mrs. George Gaches, first vice president; Mrs. Charles Hart, second vice president; Mrs. Carl Leonard, third vice president; and Mrs. Cecil Bondurant, recording secretary.
Others are Mrs. Grady Smith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Andrews, treasurer; Mrs. Ethelwyn Peterson, auditor; and Mrs. Dale Motes, parliamentarian.

Among the Bantu of South Africa, the cost of an attractive wife of good family has reached the equivalent of $500 or $600.

THANKSGIVING DAY
Today officially opens the holiday season. While turkey and all the trimmings sound wonderful . . . it is possible to eat a bit of everything without completely throwing caution to the wind. Think of that special glamorous dress you have to wear . . . if you don't gain any more weight! Make yourself a solemn promise today that you are NOT going to over eat through the holiday season. Let your mind work out a plan that will work for you. Perhaps you will deliberately bypass the candy dish . . . be polite but firm about refusing fruit cake . . . rich pie . . . only you can know your biggest temptations.
If it helps . . . make a list of them throughout the season and count the calories that you would have absorbed on New Year's Day. Make it fun and stick to it!

Majority Would Like 2-4 Children

Most Teens Prefer Married Life in Suburbs

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert
Youth Research Co.

If you're planning on getting married, having two to four children, and living in a big city suburb, you're a rather typical teenager.

There's no question that marriage figures in the future of today's teenagers. We interviewed more than 1,000 young people across the nation and asked them if they hoped to be married one day.

Ninety-two per cent said yes. And almost all of them thought they certainly would be wed before the 1970's end.

"Every person should have a mate in life," said Douglas Johnston, 18, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., whose comment is typical of the majority.

"I believe every girl hopes to marry some day," was the way Mary Brant, 15, of Pomona, Calif., put it.

The typical teenager also plans to have children. Ninety-four per cent of those questioned said their hopes for the future included building a family.

"What's a marriage without children?" Tom Rubel, 17, of Dallas, said. And a Dallas girl, Martha Dillard, 17, replied, "That's one of the main purposes of marriage."

"A family is like cultivating a garden. With every addition one grows with pride," said Maxine Morrin, 15, of New York City.

ONE CHILD NOT FAVORED

What is the ideal sized family? Families consisting of two, three or four children were the favorites. The idea of a single child seems to run against the grain since only 2 per cent thought this would be ideal.

Only 9 per cent—most of them girls—hoped to have families with six or more children.

Twenty-nine per cent of the teenagers went for the two-child family, 18 per cent for three children and 18 per cent for four children. Some of the comments:

"Four," said Jill Hankins, 14, of Indianapolis, who explained, "There are not too many children and not just one to get spoiled."

"The ideal sized family is the well-supported one," said Carol Baldwin, 14, of King of Prussia, Pa., expressing an attitude shared by a number of others.

One-fifth of the girls want to have their first child when they are 20. On the other hand, less than one-eighth of the boys want to be fathers at 20.

But the majority—66 per cent—said they want to start a family no later than the age of 25.

THE SUBURBS FOR THEM

The prevalent feeling was that they didn't want to be too old to enjoy their children.

When they begin building their families, they hope to have children at two year intervals. That's the preference of 43 per cent.

Those favoring one year between children accounted for 27 per cent of those questioned. The notion of having children three or more years apart found favor with only 12 per cent.

Mary A. Tenfelder, 18, of St. Louis, said she would want her children to be one or two years apart because "if I am to have a large family, this is necessary."

On the question of preference for sons or daughters, 40 per cent of the boys said they wanted two sons and 44 per cent said one daughter.

The girls for the most part favored having two sons and two daughters. Forty-six per cent said two sons and 45 per cent two daughters.

While 39 per cent of those interviewed now live in a big city suburb, 39 per cent chose the suburb as the place they would like to live after marriage and starting a family.

The second most popular choice was the big city itself. Thirty per cent favored the city.

Though only 1 per cent now live on farms, 5 per cent thought that's where they would like to live one day.

The reasons for the various choices followed lines similar to these responses:

"In a big city suburb," said Sue Anderson, 16, of Pomona, Calif., "a small town or farm is too dull, and a big city is too crowded."

"On a farm," said Bobby DeAngelo, 17, of Brooklyn, who considers it a place of "peace and tranquility."

Chapters Put On Workshop

A Workshop Night joint school of instruction was given Monday at Roosevelt Masonic Temple by Pontiac Chapter No. 228 and Arden Chapter No. 503, Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Pearl Rowell of Kalamazoo, grand conductress of the grand chapter of Michigan, instructed.

Mrs. Clarence Curry, worthy matron of Chapter 228, and Mrs. Robert Schaff, worthy matron of Arden Chapter, presided for the evening.

Distinguished guests introduced were Mrs. Paul Hagle, past grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Michigan; Mrs. James L. Matthews, past grand matron and past grand Ruth of the Grand Chapter of South Carolina; Mrs. Lloyd Walt, worthy matron of Oxford's chapter; Mrs. Henry Bowden, worthy matron of Birmingham; Paul Bryant, worthy patron of Lake Orion; and Mrs. Howard Crenshaw, grand counselor.

Guests also were present from Lake Orion, Birmingham, Commerce and Thomas chapters.

Refreshments were arranged by Mrs. Earle V. Hoskins, Mrs. Robert Calvery, Mrs. Mary Erickson, Mrs. Earl Ross, Mrs. Bernard Garner, Mrs. Albert Holton, Mrs. Russell Canterbury and Mrs. Loren Pallen.

"On a farm," said Bobby DeAngelo, 17, of Brooklyn, who considers it a place of "peace and tranquility."

Protect Family

You can protect yourself and your family from illness by following these simple rules laid down by the New York State Department of Health. Get all shots recommended by your doctor. Always cover your nose and mouth when sneezing or coughing. Wash your hands with soap before eating and after using the bathroom. Avoid unnecessary contact with persons who are ill and see your doctor when you are ill.

Fashion Show Seeks Scholarship Cash

Secretaries and members of the office staff at Michigan State University Oakland hope to clear $700 for scholarships at their 8 p.m. fashion show Tuesday in the university student center.

Models will include members of the MSU Foundation Scholarship Committee which includes Pontiac, Bloomfield Hills, Lapeer and Metamora residents. Mrs. D. E. Van der, wife of the school's chancellor, will comment on fashions.

Among models will be Mrs. E. M. Estes, Mrs. William T. Gossett and Mrs. Jamison Wil-hams, all of Bloomfield Hills; Mrs. Robert Myers of Lapeer; Mrs. Paul Horton of Metamora; and Mrs. Ralph Norvell of Metamora. Addition Oakley of Pontiac.

Stores in Pontiac, Birmingham and Rochester will provide fashions for all ages and sizes—for all hours of the day. Of particular interest will be apparel in sizes for the hard-to-fit. Door prizes and entertainment also will be featured.

Women of the Foundation Scholarship Committee already have raised $40,000 which have helped provide funds for 130 scholarships, largely for new students. Assistance for sophomores and, in the future, for juniors and seniors, still is needed.

Cranbrook Music Guild Slates Second Concert

Cranbrook Music Guild's second concert of the season will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in Cranbrook House, Bloomfield Hills. Mariel Greenspan, 1960 winner of the Grinnell Operatic Scholarship Award, and Nelita True, winner of the 1960 Grinnell Piano Scholarship Award, will be featured on the program which continues a custom of providing an early opportunity for professional recognition, established eight years ago.

Twenty exceptional young artists have been presented by the guild since 1952. Miss Greenspan is the ninth Grinnell operatic scholarship winner, and Miss True the fourth Grinnell piano award winner, to appear at Cranbrook House.

The Grinnell scholarship has been provided by Grinnell Brothers for a quarter of a century and represents one of the highest cash awards in the nation, $2,500. The piano scholarship, added two decades later, is administered by the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. LeRoy E. Kiefer will be in charge of arrangements for an after-concert reception, assisted by Mrs. Robert Lee Graham. Younger guild members will act as hosts. Mrs. George D. Miller Jr., Mrs. John W. Crim, Mrs. John E. Graham and Mrs. Frank Perron will pour. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinkeloch and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kasperak also are assisting. Edmund Pratt is usher chairman.

Among successful artists who appeared with the guild early in their careers are Robert Kerns, Cranbrook graduate and winner of the 1957 Grinnell Operatic Scholarship Award, now with the New York City Opera Co.; Emily Cundari, 1952 operatic scholarship award winner, with the Metropolitan Opera Company; and William Dugan, who has been playing with the country's major symphonies.

Others are Frank Poretta, 1955 operatic scholarship winner who sang here last winter with the Detroit Symphony; Linda Newman, Kingswood graduate, who has been studying and singing in Italy; and Philippe Entremont, a little-known artist when he performed at Cranbrook House in 1957.

Most of the young musicians have been in their twenties, but David Cerone, violinist and protégé of Mischa Mischakoff, was 12 when he first appeared in a concert presented by the guild.

Topnotch Harvest of Cranberries Cheers Eaters

The 1960 cranberry harvest provides reason for rejoicing by all who enjoy the tart flavor of our native American fruit.

Of topnotch quality, the U.S. cranberry crop is estimated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture at 141 million pounds, exceeding all previous harvests.

Approximately 50 per cent comes from Piquitand, 25 per cent from Wisconsin, 6 per cent from New Jersey, 1 per cent from Washington and 2 per cent from Oregon.

North, south, east and west, as families gather around the dinner table today to make known their choice for white meat, dark meat, drumstick or —, once again they will help themselves to a generous portion of cranberries in a sauce, relish, salad or perhaps in a pie with the ruby fruit bubbling between the lattice crust.

In true American tradition, heads will bow in thanks for the abundance that continues in this country.

Coordinate Pattern and Material

EAST LANSING — Each seamstress decides for herself whether she'll buy the pattern or the fabric first. It really doesn't matter so long as the two are blended into an attractive finished garment.

Eleanor Mullikin, home economist at Michigan State University, notes that the most handsome fabric can lose its appeal when cut and stitched into a design which ignores its natural characteristics.

The lines of any garment are created, not only by the pattern design, but also by the way the lines are supported and shaped by the fabric.

If a lovely fabric first catches your eye, you may want to experiment with it before you choose a pattern.

Hold a length of the fabric up to note if it hangs in soft folds or springs out and away. Gather a width with your hands, then try folding it into three or four pleats. This will show which skirt style is better.

Fold a small corner of the fabric over and crease it with your thumbnail to determine if it can be pressed into sharp, tailored edges. Let the character of the fabric lead you to a suitable pattern design.

If you begin with the pattern, study it before you get to the fabric counter and know the type of fabric which should be used.

For a soft, feminine look, you'll want soft, flexible fabric. A sleek, tailored look calls for a stiffer fabric, and the fresh, bouncy look asks for a crisp fabric.

Pontiac Area UF Selects Volunteers of the Month

The Central Volunteer Bureau of the Pontiac Area United Fund has chosen Karen Schultz and Sharon Rorison as the November Volunteers of the Month. They are being cited for their work as members of the Junior Central Volunteer Bureau at the United Fund office.

Karen, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schultz of Dick Avenue, has worked more than 75 volunteer hours.

She is also the Motor Aide and Placement Chairman of the Junior Central Bureau. She is affiliated with the Walther League at St. Trinity Lutheran Church and is a member of the pep club at Pontiac Central High.

Mr. and Mrs. Theron Rorison of Pioneer Drive are parents of 16-year-old Sharon who has over 70 volunteer hours to her credit.

She is time-recorder chairman for the junior bureau, belongs to the pep club at Pontiac Central and is affiliated with the Queen Esther group at the First United Methodist Church.

Both girls will be among the group who will be working at Pontiac State Hospital next week.

Anyone within the age group of 13 to 18 years interested in volunteer services to the community should contact the central bureau in the Community Services Building.

'Ran' Cold Water

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Egyptians, about the time the first pyramids were being built, pioneered a method of refrigeration whose principles, considerably refined, are used today.

They filled shallow earthen jars with boiling water and exposed them to the night air on the roofs of houses. Slaves kept the outside of the jars moistened and the resulting evaporation cooled the water. Carried to them by fast slave messengers, the Egyptian nobles had civilization's first running cold water.

TURNING A NEW LEAF — A familiar face in an unfamiliar setting, the likeness of President-Elect John F. Kennedy stands ingeniously revealed as part of this ordinary maple leaf. The unique portrait was created by Brother Adrian Lewis, who utilizes a secret pinprick process. Brother Adrian, head of the placement bureau at Manhattan College in New York, plans to send a similar leaf to Kennedy.

Vacuum Cleaner Does Snow Job on Your Carpet

The surest way to remove artificial snow that silts below the surface of rugs or carpets is to use the vacuum cleaner's nozzle. The beating-suction action picks up all the deep-down particles which might damage carpet fibers. Vacuum pine needles from the floor with rug nozzle or floor brush.

If lint or wigs of cotton from Santa's Christmas costume have collected on his favorite chair, use the vacuum cleaners upholstery tool to remove the traces.

Christmas wreaths and mantel decorations gather dust if you keep them on display for some time. Freshen them by vacuuming with a soft dusting brush. Reduce dust to a minimum to protect delicate ornaments, home care experts suggest.

Christmas Clubbers to Get $1.4 Billion

NEW YORK (UPI)—Checks totaling more than $1.4 billion will shortly be mailed to over 13 million Christmas Club members, according to the Christmas Club Corp. This year the average check will amount to $110 against $108 in 1959, $105 in 1958 and $93.73 in 1957.

New York State has the largest number of club members — 2,632,358 receiving checks totaling $27,862,572. Pennsylvania, New Jersey and California follow.

NL Not Expected to Go Along With AL Proposal

NEW YORK (AP)—An American League spokesman and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick Wednesday indicated it appears unlikely the National League will go along with a nine-team, inter-league schedule offered as an alternative to immediate American League entry into Los Angeles.

The AL source told The Associated Press: "They'll (the National League) never go for it. Walter O'Malley would have to be a superelement to sell it—the other clubs don't want it."

Frick made no such out-and-out statement, but did announce he has called a meeting next week to draft legislation which would enable the American League to set up shop in Los Angeles next year as a 10-team league.

The American League unloaded its starting one-year proposal Tuesday night, after failing to reach any agreement with O'Malley, owner of the National League's Los Angeles club, over its proposed invasion of the West Coast territory.

Under the alternate plan, the AL said it would forget about putting a club in Los Angeles until 1962—O'Malley's main demand in negotiations—and would operate in 1961 as a nine-team league with its new Washington franchise, if the National League would add a tenth and play an inter-league schedule.

O'Malley hopes to have his own ballpark built by 1962, and then, would not have to share the makeshift site at the Coliseum with the AL club.

The National, which turned down a nine-team, inter-league proposal a year ago, already has named two new franchises—Houston and New York—but neither was supposed to become an official member until 1962.

The AL source said O'Malley seems to be the only National League member in favor of the alternative suggestion. A poll of available NL owners by The Associated Press also indicated such feeling.

The stumbling block in the path to Los Angeles is baseball's Rule 1. It states that neither major league may move into a city occupied by the other without unanimous approval by both leagues.

An amendment appears to Frick to be the only solution. The commissioner has demanded, however, that such an amendment be "fair and equitable." His vote would dissolve any deadlock between the two leagues over an amendment.

At an informal press conference Wednesday, Frick said that while he favors expansion, and that it is inevitable that Los Angeles will be a two-team city, expansion in 1961 "is not a governing factor."

"I am not attempting to dictate to either league, nor to any owner, but we must find a solution that is orderly . . . something that we can live with . . . something that in conscience indicates that it is not just going in someplace for a fast buck and then get out."

As a means of showing "good faith," Frick added, the league or new club would have to present "some arrangements for a park."

While stressing that he was not attempting to pre-judge, Frick said one nine-team league seemed impractical. He also believes any "inter-league play extended very long would be a very bad thing. It could destroy league identity, would threaten the All-Star Game and perhaps even threaten the World Series."

Although no solution to the problem was in sight, a group headed by Kenyon Brown, Los Angeles radio-TV executive, seemed to have the edge in bidding for the AL's Los Angeles franchise.

Meanwhile, a new problem arose for the AL, in the form of a suit by H. Gabriel Murphy, chief minority stockholder in the Washington Senators. He hopes to block the club's transfer to Minneapolis-St. Paul, which was part of the expansion plan approved by the AL.

John E. Powell, attorney for the Senators, said Murphy's suit was expected and the club intends to go ahead with its plans to operate next season in Minneapolis-St. Paul. A new Washington franchise already has been awarded to a group headed by Elwood (Fete) Quesada, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency.

Houston's Baseball Entry Incorporates

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The of a National League franchise, formed a $5,000,000 corporation Wednesday with $1,000,000 paid-in capital, and elected Craig F. Culnan Jr. as president.

Then the association said it would gladly answer the call as the National League's ninth team for next season if the National League accepted the American League's offer to expand to nine teams each for 1961.

Lions, Bears Pay for Having Brawl

DETROIT — The Detroit Lions have been fined $25 each for brawling but they can get their money back if they behave like good little football players for the rest of the season.

Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner, fined 35 Lions and 35 Chicago Bears $25

each for fighting near the close of their game last Sunday. The Bears won the game 25-7.

Lion rookie back Bruce Mahler and Bear lineman Roger Davis were assessed $50 apiece because they were ejected from the game in Chicago. The fight broke out after Mahler and John Avent of the Bears collided. Players from both clubs ran out on the field when Avent and Mahler started swinging and an all-out battle followed.

Detroit coach George Wilson said his players weren't happy about being fined but were cheered by the news that Rozelle might return the fine money if the Lions were not involved in any other incidents for the rest of the season, especially in their return match with the Bears at Detroit Dec. 18.

him by the helmet. But Rozelle said he was fining everybody who left the bench and came on to the field to take part in the fight.

Anderson said Rozelle decided to fine all the players on both teams because he could not be certain who actually was involved in the fighting.

He said Rozelle had agreed to review his decision at the league's draft meeting Dec. 27.

"He's going to get a film clip of the fight and review the whole situation," Anderson said. "I've never heard of a whole club, or two clubs, being fined this way."

The Lions tangled with the Green Bay Packers today in the only NFL Thanksgiving Day tilt on the calendar. The game at Briggs Stadium will be nationally televised.

Civilian Can't Stop Middies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Down went a big "Beat Army" sign from above a Pentagon entrance. Down went a "Beat Navy" sign from a Pentagon fence.

A civilian referee stepped in to cool off the growing inter-service rivalry in advance of Saturday's Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia.

"The signs were not in keeping with the dignity of the establishment," explained John J. Province, the civilian business manager of the Pentagon. "For a college campus—; but for headquarters of the Defense Department . . . it was something entirely different. It was not appropriate or dignified."

Province's order didn't dampen the Navy spirit for long. A short time after the "Beat Army" sign was ordered off the Pentagon grounds, it was flapping from the main Navy building on the other side of the Potomac River.

Teen-Agers Finish Philippine Netters

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Teenagers Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley, brightest of America's tennis hopefuls, completed a 5-0 rout of the Philippine today in the Davis Cup interzone semifinals.

Playing in substitute roles after clinching the series with a double victory Wednesday, they trounced top-ranking Philippine stars who were pulled off the bench for the final day's play before a sparse crowd of less than 200 at Milton Courts.

"The Americans qualified to play Italy in the interzone finals at Perth, Western Australia, Dec. 4 through the 11th."

MINNEAPOLIS — Jack Mylvonen, a hard-hitting guard who helped make Minnesota's defense one of the strongest in the nation, Wednesday was named captain of the 1961 Gopher football team.

Cornell Coach Ready to Quit, It Is Reported

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — George K. (Lefty) James will resign as head football coach at Cornell University after Thursday's traditional Thanksgiving Day game against Penn. it was learned Wednesday.

Although the 55-year-old James will issue a statement of resignation, he actually was told two weeks ago by Cornell's athletic officials that his contract would not be renewed. James' current pact expires next July 1.

It was learned that the Cornell action hit the veteran coach like a bombshell. He had no idea that his 25-year association with Cornell was coming to an end.

Houston Back Is Top Rusher Again

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Houston's Dave Smith regained his rushing lead and the Oilers' George Blanda retained his scoring advantage in the American Football League last week.

Smith, who has held the rushing leadership nine of 10 weeks, recaptured first place when Abner Haynes of Dallas was limited to 10 yards by Boston. Smith has gained 555 yards on 129 carries. Haynes' 540 on 112 trips. Billy Cannon of Houston is third with 484 on 102.

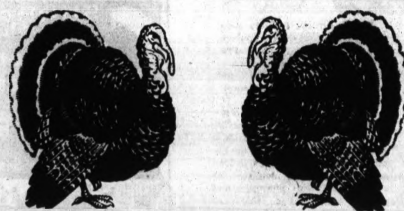

Blanda holds a 20-point bulge over Denver's Gene Mingo in scoring. The Houston veteran has scored four touchdowns, kicked 35 extra points and booted 10 field goals for a total of 88 points. Mingo has 68. Dallas' Jack Spikes 66. Tom Greene of Boston holds the punting lead with an average of 41.7.

Haynes is tops in punt returns with nine for 151 yards and a 16.8 average.

Many Wives Destroy Own Marriages by Putting Husbands Through College

By G. K. HOENFELD
IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Many a wife, working and sacrificing to put her husband through college, is destroying the very thing she cherishes most—her marriage.

Many a husband, degree in hand and embarked on a professional career, angrily finds that the woman who got him there is no longer good enough for him.

These are harsh facts of life, all too often lost in the glow of young romance.

Here at the University of Iowa, and on hundreds of other campuses, the trend toward early marriage is causing real concern.

The educators are not opposed to early marriage in itself, but they do worry about the domestic, social and intellectual problems that follow.

Dr. Russell Cooper of the University of Minnesota has reported that many wives end their formal education after one or two years of college to support their husbands.

MENTAL GAP WIDENS
"The result," said Dr. Cooper, "is a widening in the intellectual gap between her and her husband. This in turn often results in dissimilarity of the family, frustrations, long-term dissatisfactions."

Dr. Eleanor Luckey, married student counselor at Iowa, says, "The greater the educational or intellectual gap between husband and wife, the bleaker are the prospects for a happy and enduring marriage. A doctor who has had 8 to 11 years of college work will be far less satisfied with a high school-educated wife than will, for instance, an accountant who has finished college in four years."

This is not to say that a girl whose formal education can't live happily ever after with a college-educated man. Thousands do. But such a marriage can carry its own built-in time bomb, which may tick away unheard until it explodes in a divorce court.

Every marriage is made up of many factors that can't be measured: maturity, mutual respect, common interests, personal background, attitude toward having children, ambition.

And, whatever the difficulties, "Love conquers all" is as near the truth today as it was when the Roman poet Virgil first said it 2,000 years ago.

However, those most concerned with the problem seem pretty well agreed that mixing marriage and education can be risky—particularly if the wife sacrifices her own education to help her husband.

Members of the medical faculty at the University of Iowa are frankly disturbed by the situation. No sooner do some of their graduates hang up their stethoscope than they get a divorce. They want a wife whose educational background is similar to their own.

This, say the faculty members, is snobishness—it's human nature.

DEVELOPMENT IS NEW
Just a generation ago, you wouldn't find more than a handful of married college students except in the graduate schools.

The big change came at the end of World War II. The thousands of veterans who flocked to college on the GI Bill proved you could be married and still go to school. Continuing properly since has made it relatively easy even for those who aren't veterans.

Recent surveys indicate about 10 per cent of all college students get married before graduation.

At some co-educational schools, married students represent 25 per cent or more of the total enrollment.

Enrolled at Iowa this year are 2,438 married men and only 382 married women, a total of 2,820 in a student body of 10,789. In the undergraduate schools which include medicine, law and dentistry as well as liberal arts, pharmacy and business administration, there are 1,342 married men, and 238 married women.

These figures are real shockers to members of an older generation. My wife and I were married when we were juniors at the University of Iowa before World War II. We knew of only three other married couples in undergraduate schools, although there may have been a few more.

Unfortunately, the university has no figures to show how many wives today are working full time to support their husbands in college, nor how many of these working wives do have degrees.

But Ted M. Rehder, a university housing official, says virtually all the wives of men students are working wives. The only exceptions are the few whose parents are supporting them financially or those who have young children that keep them at home.

Despite stresses and strains, Dr. Luckey believes most campus marriages have an excellent chance for success. She quotes a recent study which shows that in the first four years of marriage, when the national divorce rate is highest, the rate is lower among couples married while going to school than among other college-educated people.

But these are early figures. Marriage isn't for four years, or five or 10 or 20—it's "until death do us part."

There is probably no such thing as a typical married couple on any college campus. But Gary and Sandra Blodgett, both 22, illustrate the situation.

Gary and Sandra began dating in 1953 when they were both sophomores at Pleasantville, Iowa, High School. They graduated in 1955 and were married in June 1956.

That fall Gary enrolled in a pre-dental course at the University of Iowa while Sandra went to work as a secretary at the university hospital school for handicapped children. They borrowed money from Gary's father for the down payment on their house trailer.

For the first two years Gary worked and studied, while he attended dental school two years ago, he has not worked during the school year. Although the couple got some help from Gary's father, on a loan basis, it has been Sandra's $310-a-month salary that has made Gary's education possible.

Gary says: "Marriage has helped me. It has been a stabilizing force. I've been more satisfied to study since I've been married. I think you're more serious, and you aren't so apt to goof around with a gang of guys as when you're single."

Gary is in class eight hours a day, 40 hours a week. All his studying must be at night, and he averages 4½ to 5 hours a night. While he studies, usually in a cramped little bedroom behind closed doors, Sandra goes about her housework and only rarely watches television.

Sandra realizes her formal education came to an apparent end when she left high school and she is uncomfortable about it.

"I feel I ought to have more education," she volunteered during an interview. "I don't want to be a career woman and I don't really know what field I'd want to study. I just know that I could very definitely better myself."

COLLEGES AT A LOSS
What can a university do to help girls like Sandra? Unfortunately, not much.

It has been suggested that colleges should help out with something like a "couple's tuition" so the wife could continue her studies. But few schools, particularly a tax-supported state university, could put themselves in the position of subsidizing the marriage of their students.

Phil E. Connell, assistant to the president of the University of Iowa, says, "It seems to me that after a wife has put in eight hours at the office or store and then goes home to get the evening meal and do the housework, she does not have the time or inclination to take on an additional assignment. And this is even more true where there are children who have been left with a sister or put in school for the day."

Whatever the answer, educators are finding it increasingly hard to ignore the problem.

Five Charred Bodies Found in Burned Car

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A pathologist says five killed five men whose charred bodies were found sitting in a car on lonely Greasy Creek Road in Pike County.

Dr. Frank Cleveland of Cincinnati's Kettering Laboratory examined two of the bodies Tuesday and said death was caused by fire fracture of internal heat.

He said metal fragments detected by X rays were not shotgun pellets or bullets, but pieces of metal that had dropped onto the bodies when fragments of the car melted in the fire.

Maehap Diamond Lil Wants to Go West, Man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Maehap of the screen, the screen's bad girl and the original Brinkley girl.

The judge said also there was no evidence that Miss Lind imitated Miss West.

That settles it, unless Maehap wants to come up and see the California Supreme Court sometime.

Patched-Up Marriage Split Asunder Again
LOS ANGELES (AP)—After a reconciliation that didn't take, actress Gita Hall has sued again to divorce actor Barry Sullivan, star of the TV "The Tall Man" series.

Miss Hall, in a suit filed Tuesday, charged extreme cruelty. She had obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce June 25, 1959, but they became reconciled. She said their latest separation occurred Oct. 9.

Miss Hall, 27, and Sullivan, 48, were married in Tijuana, Mexico, July 25, 1958.

Bars Civil Servant as Con-Con Delegate

LANSING (U-P) — The Civil Service Commission has barred Civil Service workers from running for delegates to a proposed state constitutional convention.

The commission issued a ruling which said workers must resign before they can become candidates for such delegate spots.

It said that the ruling was made because the State Legislature in 1959 changed the election of delegates to such a convention from a nonpartisan to partisan basis.

Except for nonpartisan elections of local charter commissions and school boards, the commission said, there has always been a ban on candidacy for political office.

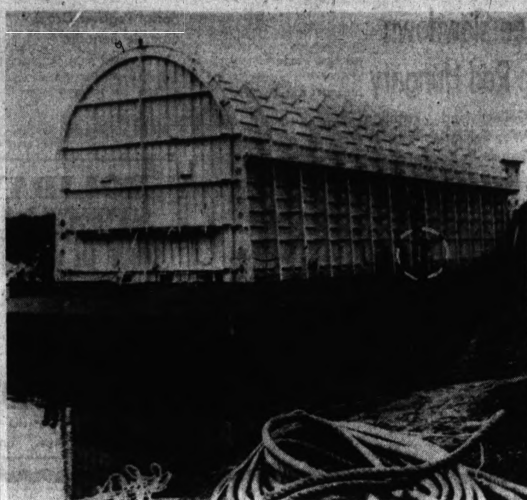

Franklin K. Dewald, state personnel director, said the commission believed candidacy by a state civil servant on a partisan ticket "would violate the spirit of a constitutional amendment voted by the people in 1940 which created service in the first place."

Mall Is Recommended for Downtown Lansing

LANSING (UPI) — A downtown mall in the main business district of the capital city was included in recommendations submitted to the City Council.

The Downtown Development Committee spent $60,000 recently on a survey of redevelopment of the central business district.

The survey and recommendations were referred to three council boards for a 90-day study.

MASSIVE MISSILE CARRIER—The monster barge that will transport the Saturn space booster from Huntsville, Ala., to Cape Canaveral, Fla., edges into its dock Tuesday at Redstone Arsenal. The Saturn, an 8-barrel complex developing 1 1/2

Star Taboo Invoked

Slew of Names Lopped From Social Register

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 1961 edition of the New York Social Register dropped a beautiful socialite for marrying film actor Sterling Hayden Tuesday and gave the gate to such well-known blue blood names as Bostwick, Stewart, Thayer, Warburg, Van Beuren and Howard.

The new edition of society's little black book exercised its traditional rule against stage and screen stars by dropping the listing of Mrs. Catherine Devine McConnell, a wealthy young divorcee, who married the dashing blond Hollywood star last March.

The Register, long ruled by non-listed Bertha Eastmond Barry who began her career on its staff as a secretary, also frowns on marriages outside the social pale, too many divorces and tabloid scandals.

Whether Mrs. Barry's death early this month will result in less stringent listing standards will not be known until the 1962 edition.

Otis Skinner Bledget, son of the impeccably social actress Cornelia Otis Skinner, failed to get his usual listing following his recent marriage to Martha Bertin, an unregistered daughter of an American oil executive.

And James Franciscus, who kept his listing even after starring in the TV show "Naked City," got only a marriage listing to Hollywood film actress Kathleen Wellman — meaning he'll be out next year.

The annual game of who's "in" and who's "out" found Michael Canfield, former brother-in-law of President-Elect John F. Kennedy, firmly enmeshed with his new bride Laura, countess of Dudley.

Canfield's ex-wife Lee Bouvier lost her listing after their divorce. Catherine Devine McConnell, a wealthy young divorcee, who married the dashing blond Hollywood star last March.

The Washington edition of the social register automatically has the chief executive, But Kennedy and his socialite wife, the former Jacqueline Bouvier of Newport, already have a listing in the Washington register.

The most expected departure from the register was that of Albert C. Bostwick Jr., 22-year-old heir to one of Long Island's greatest sporting names, and oil fortunes. He apparently got the boot for marrying 35-year-old Molly Netherer Braggo, Chicago department listing following his recent marriage to Martha Bertin, an unregistered daughter of an American oil executive.

First toll road in the U.S. is believed to have been one constructed in the state of Virginia in 1786.

Other States to Ticket 600 Michigan Drivers

LANSING (U-P) — Some 600 Michigan motorists traveling outside the state will get traffic tickets during the four-day Thanksgiving holiday, the secretary of state's office predicted today.

Most of them will be convicted of moving violations in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Ontario and other nearby areas, the office said.

Motorists were reminded that convictions in other states and Canadian provinces are recorded on their Michigan point system record, through reciprocal agreements.

There's No Business Like Shoe Business

Millionaire Harry Karl Not All Playboy

By JAMES RACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If you read movie gossip columns, you've heard of millionaire shoe in a Harry Karl — but not much.

For instance, you might have heard that his marriage to Marie (The Body) McDonald was one of the most hectic in Hollywood history. That his marriage to Joan Cohn, beautiful widow of the late boss of Columbia Pictures, was one of the briefest—23 days.

That, between marriages, he has sowed the most beautiful daisies in town from A (Audrey Meadows) to Z (Zsa Zsa Gabor) and that he currently is front-runner in the Debbie Reynolds sweepstakes.

But is Karl just a red-blooded American millionaire who likes pretty girls?

The Harry Karl of the gossip columns is quite unlike the Harry Karl of the business world where he is known as a progressive and liberal employer.

He once called in the AFL to organize the 6,000 or more employees in his shoe empire that covers 330 stores, warehouses and buying units in 15 Western states.

"We decided that wages in the shoe industry were too low," he says, "so we gave all our employees a 60 per cent increase. As a result, we attracted the best shoe employees in the nation. The wage increases and unionization are among the biggest factors in the success of our firm."

His stores are staffed without regard to race, color or creed. Hospital and pension plans are a model for the industry.

MONEY REALLY FLOWS

Karl, 41, is a millionaire and lives like one. His two-bedroom house atop a Beverly Hills Mountain is valued at $450,000.

He buys $250 suits in dozen lots and is generally rated one of the best-dressed men in town. He once spent $800 to fly his favorite bar-b-q to Honolulu to give him a hair-cut.

"That was not really extravagance," a friend explains, "it was just Harry's way of paying for a vacation for someone he likes very much."

But Karl gives away much more than he spends.

One of his famous girl friends once told a reporter: "I will never marry Harry. He is kind, generous, but he will give away all his fortune."

One of the top philanthropists in town, he underwrites "expenses" usually with no credit—for many of the neglected charity folk.

He estimates some three millions have been given away already. So far this year he has contributed $310,000 to charity, including a $250,000 gift to establish a new institute for advanced learning at the City of Hope.

Probably his pet charity is the

A DATE WITH DEBBIE — Millionaire shoe store executive Harry Karl has quite a reputation as a ladies man in filmland and his current interest certainly supports the contention. Here he attends a Hollywood premiere with actress Debbie Reynolds who may say he may marry soon.

Franciscan Sisters home in a poor section of Los Angeles. Each Christmas he gives toys, new clothing—and, of course — new shoes for each homeless child. Another favorite charity is the Thailians, headed by Miss Reynolds.

Whether he and the actress will be married is a big question. Neither will comment. But much of Hollywood is betting they will.

His home built in November, is already in escrow. The Hollywood crowd sees this sale only in one light—that the two bedroom house isn't big enough for a divorcee with two children.

But Karl says: "I sold the house because an offer was made that was too good to turn down."

Although often seen at plush Hollywood functions and parties, Karl is no playboy. He's a full-time executive who makes the decisions for the big chain that his adoptive father started years ago in a hole-in-the-wall shoe repair shop.

In 1941 when he was 6-weeks-old baby, Harry was taken from a New York founding home by a childless Russian immigrant couple, Pinches and Rosa Karl, from Los Angeles.

When he was 8, Harry worked in his dad's shoe, polishing and finishing the shoes his father fashioned for Los Angeles policemen.

A few years later — as a school for money instead of an auto-graphed picture. "I get about 500 letters a month," he says. "We read and investigate each case. Sometimes we find some horrible hardship cases and help them out."

Red China Executes Girl Accused in Bomb Plan

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China has announced the execution of a girl accused of planning to bomb important buildings in Canton with explosives hidden in candy and a toy plane. The girl, autumn sowing of wheat was 25 per cent behind schedule and in some counties as much as 40 per cent remained to be sown.

Consumption of gasoline in the U.S. has increased 10 times since 1920 with six times as many vehicles.

Collectivized Farming Way Behind as Peasants Refuse to Cooperate

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Communist Hungary is facing a setback in its drive to collectivize farming. Crops are rotting on the ground.

The Communist party organ Nepszabadsag said that as of Nov. 19 about 27 per cent of the grain and 16 per cent of sugar beets remained unharvested.

It said that, at this late date, the autumn sowing of wheat was 25 per cent behind schedule and in some counties as much as 40 per cent remained to be sown.

The minister of agriculture, Pal Losonci, said that by the time much work should be ending only 20 per cent of grain seeds had been sown.

justified because there was more soil preparation, more machinery available and twice as much seed on hand compared with previous years."

BLAMES RAINFALL
His deputy, János Kemuri, blamed the weather, saying: rain-fall in October had been exceptionally high.

But the Communist-controlled paper Nepszabadsag said that in many parts of the country "there is more talk about rain than actual rain. Rain will certainly not wash away the responsibility from agricultural workers."

Some 70 per cent of arable land is now either in state farms or collectives—an increase of 40 per cent since the beginning of 1959.

Many of the peasants—conservative, independent and suburban—are obviously not taking easily to the new order.

Provincial newspapers, often more outspoken than the Budapest press, for months have been exhorting the peasants to get on with the job. Lately, the national press itself has been weighing in.

Social Register Drops Gamble Benedict
NEW YORK (AP)—Runaway heiress Gamble Benedict has been dropped from the new edition of the Social Register.

But her grandmother, Mrs. Harper Benedict, who used every-possible legal means in an unsuccessful attempt to keep Gamble from marrying Romanian-born Andre Furumbeanu, still is in the 1961 Who's Who of Society, out Tuesday.

Most watermelons consumed in the U.S. are timed to reach the markets in early spring and summer.

There are Methods of Putting Your Portraits in the Best Light

Here are some suggestions on what to do with family portraits you get for Christmas.

For the homemaker who has a den with a fireplace, decorators suggest a large-size portrait photograph of the man of the house in direct color, hung over the mantel.

A casual wall arrangement for the family room is especially designed for hobbyists. If you collect butterflies, for instance, have them mounted and framed, and surrounded with portrait photos of the collectors.

With all the far-flung relatives headed home for the holidays, Christmas is the perfect season to schedule a group photograph. The ideal place to hang such a masterpiece to enjoy year-round is over a writing desk. Coordinate the frame to the furnishings.

Have your children photographed at regular intervals. Hang the photographs in the master bedroom on ribbons suspended on either side of the dressing table mirror.

A clever idea for the family that has a long narrow hall leading into the house or apartment is to cover one whole side with pegboard.

Decorate with portrait photographs in black and white and color in frames of various sizes and shapes. This arrangement is ideal for any passageway too narrow for furniture.

And for the homemaker who likes a touch of drama in her decorating, full-length, almost life-size photographs are the magic formula.

These can be printed to exactly fit a screen, room divider, triptych or panel. The result is tres magnifique!

So don't keep your family portraits hidden away in a cabinet drawer. When framed and displayed tastefully, they can add to the beauty of your home.

Deck Your Doorway

A dingy light-colored front door stands out. You want it clean to greet holiday guests and before you deck it out with a Christmas wreath or fancy spray of pine branches and cones. Scrub it with a sponge dipped in a solution of special cleaner for walls and painted surfaces. Be sure to polish the door knob and brass knocker, too.

THREE-STAGE DELIVERY—A helicopter lowers a truck-trailer container onto a freighter in the Hudson River during a demonstration Tuesday near Weehawken, N.J. The copter had picked up the trailer from the piggy-back facilities of a railroad to place it on the ship in a three-way link of truck, rail and sea carriers.

Estes Asks 'Tighter' Cooperation of NATO

PARIS (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver today appealed to NATO countries to join the United States in creating a high-caliber commission to generate "new ideas and new approaches" for tighter political and economic cooperation in the Western world.

In a speech prepared for delivery before 200 parliamentarians from NATO countries, the Democratic senator from Tennessee pointed out that the United States Congress has authorized $300,000 to finance an American delegation of 20 members to an international idea commission. He urged other members of the Atlantic alliance to legally authorize representation to such a body.

He said the commission, made up of about 100 "people of the highest caliber" from various fields, would consult experts on various problems and issue reports, similar to those of the Hoover commission on reorganization of the U. S. government. Its reports would not be binding on the governments.

For the first seven months of 1960, run-of-paper color advertising in newspapers topped that of the same period in 1959 by 20 per cent.

To Open Bids for Highway Work, Dec. 7

Bids on the first construction work for Interstate Highway 66, which eventually will connect the Brighton-Farmington Freeway with Telegraph Road, will be opened Dec. 7, the State Highway Department announced today.

The interstate highway will be 11 1/2 miles long. The first structures to be built on the highway will be grade separations at Haggerty, Haledale and Drake roads and a connecting ramp between 66 and the Brighton-Farmington Freeway.

The grade separations will be overpasses without any access ramps to the interstate highway. The grade separations are all in Farmington Township, the connecting ramp in Novi.

White Citizens Council Gets Oil Man's Help

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — The White Citizens Council announced that oil man B.C. Campbell at Salt Lake City has deeded it all, gas and mineral rights to 30 acres of land in Utah.

Citizens Council Treasurer Marvin Collins said the gift was the start of an endowment program to step up the council's racial segregation program.

Texas Still Eying Possible Recount

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Republicans are still considering a contest of the general election presidential vote despite a setback in their demand for a statewide investigation of ballot counting.

Dist. Judge J. Harris Gardner Wednesday held there was not enough evidence of criminal fraud to justify seeking to impound and open ballot boxes.

State Atty. Gen. Will Wilson argued that under the election code, he lacks authority to make such investigation unless there is sufficient evidence of criminal fraud. Judge Gardner agreed with Wilson.

Group Wants a Flag

STRASBOURG, France (AP) — "Little Europe" is looking for a flag. A contest has been suggested to select a banner for the European Economic Community, whose six member-nations are France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Gasoline service stations in the U. S. accounted for $15.8 billion worth of gas, oil and other petroleum products sales in 1959. Backing up these retailers was $26 million in newspaper advertising by the various manufacturers of gasoline and oils.

Congo Conciliation Group Decides to Hold Up Trip

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The U.N. Conciliation Commission for the Congo, headed by President Joseph Kasavubu's plea for time to prepare groundwork for their mission, today canceled its departure for Leopoldville.

Kasavubu, strengthened by recognition of his delegation by the General Assembly, appeared to have dropped most of his opposition to the dispatch of a good offices group to seek reconciliation of warring Congolese political factions.

He met for more than an hour Wednesday night with the 15-nation group, which comprises only the African and Asian countries contributing contingents to the U.N. force in the Congo.

Guinea and Mali, objecting to the assembly recognition of Kasavubu, have announced they will not serve with the group.

Informed sources said Kasavubu told the commission he believed a reconciliation aimed at establishing a more stable government in the Congo was possible, but that he needed time to prepare for it.

In Leopoldville, Ghana ordered its 350 citizens there, including diplomats and troops with the U.N.

The order was issued from Accra shortly after Nathaniel Weilbeck arrived there and reported personally to Ghanaian President Kwame Nkrumah on the gunbattles which forced him out of the Congo Tuesday. He was Ghana's chief diplomat in the Congo.

Dispatches from Accra said the order involved only Leopoldville and that Nkrumah had no immediate intention of withdrawing other Ghanaian troops with the U.N. force in the Congo's Kasai province.

A ship was reported leaving Accra for Leopoldville today to pick up the Ghana personnel.

Ever since the battle at the Ghanaian embassy Monday night between Congolese and Tunisian U.N. troops, Congolese soldiers have roamed the city harassing U.N. personnel.

The Christmas selling season of 1959 gave U.S. retailers a record sales total of $21.6 billion — a 2.3 per cent gain over the previous year. A boon to Christmas shoppers is the advertising placed by retailers in local newspapers, which tells them of the variety of gift items available and where to buy them.

There is enough concrete in the Grand Coulee Dam to construct two modern highways from New York City into the Pacific Northwest.

Eichmann Admits Part in Exterminating Jews

NEW YORK (AP)—Adolf Otto Eichmann, the accused slayer of six million Jews during the blood baths of Hitler's Third Reich, freely admits participation in the monstrous crime in his horror-filled personal memoirs.

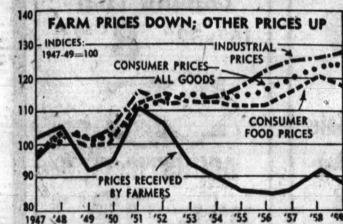

"Where I was implicated in the physical annihilation of Jews," the captured Nazi war criminal says, "I admit my participation freely and without pressure."

The first installment of his memoirs appears in the current issue of Life magazine.

At one point, Eichmann declared: "At heart I am a very sensitive man."

At another point, in relating how he watched one mass execution, he made this statement: "I was reflecting about the meaning of life in general."

Then he reports details of the fire.

FARMERS' FLIGHT—Caught between mounting costs and diminishing income, the nation's farmers are having difficulty in making ends meet. The average farmer in 1959 received 10 per cent less for his products than he did in 1947-49. At the same time his labor costs have soared and the prices he has to pay for consumer goods have risen at least 25 per cent. Source: Department of Agriculture.

Eichmann insisted that he is not anti-Semitic.

He had no wish, he said, to harm "the individual Jew personally."

He was just "politically opposed to Jews because they were stealing the breath of life from us."

CONVICTS HIMSELF

In presenting the memoirs, Life magazine said Eichmann "convicts himself as one of the major Nazi war criminals. Yet he set it down in the belief that his version of the truth would go far to explain his actions and even to exonerate him. Engaged in an effort that dwarfed the exterminations of Genghis Khan or Tamerlane, he preserved the mentality of a competent bookkeeper, eager to please his superiors."

Eichmann, now in an Israeli prison awaiting trial, was abducted from Argentina last spring by a band of Israeli secret agents who had sought him for years.

A German journalist, Wilhelm Saenger, put the memoirs together from more than 300 pages of handwritten notes and transcripts of tape-recorded interviews with Eichmann in Buenos Aires starting in 1955.

Eichmann described himself as "merely a little cog in the machinery" that directed the mass slayings.

"I carried out my orders. With us an order was an order. If I had sabotaged the order of the one-time Fuehrer of the German Reich, Adolf Hitler, I would have been not only a scoundrel but a despicable pig."

Approximately 1,200 persons each year are drowned in the U.S. as a result of accidents which involve the use of small boats in fresh water.

Legion Hospital to Be Locally Autonomous

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Administrator Harold M. Owen said today the American Legion hospital in Battle Creek will become locally autonomous next year and specialize in the treatment and rehabilitation of chronic disease sufferers.

Owen said the hospital, currently operated by the Michigan Department of the American Legion, would close out its tuberculosis operations next March 1. He said the hospital was in the process of being incorporated as a self-operating institution and was discontinuing its tuberculosis operations because of a decline in the TB case load.

From 1940 to 1959 the number of family units in the U.S. increased from about 32 million to about 40 million, a new record at that point.

Few Quick Forecasts for Cafe Stars of '65

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Who will be the big night club stars five years from now?
Frank Sinatra won't deign to sing in saloons then—why, how would it look for a Cabinet officer or Ambassador?
Sophie Tucker will have married some young wolf and settled down; Jimmy Durante will have quit, and there'll be a rumor that he and Marie Little are going to get married any day. Paul Anka will own three record companies and MGM and 20th Century-Fox. His voice will have changed, too.
So that will leave Conline Francis, Joni James, Eydie Gorme and Steve Lawrence, the Crosby Brothers, Phillis Diller, and such other ancients as Jack E. Leonard, Don Rickles, Jack Carter . . . Harry Richman, who will have made a comeback.
They will get $50,000-a-week (Kennedy prices). I don't exactly guarantee this prophecy, but the 1960 lineup of stars can't continue—something's got to give.
Let's look back five years—to 1955—and see who was around.
Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio had broken up but were seeing each other again. Steve Allen was doing the "Tonight" show.
Grace Kelly was dating a Philadelphia millionaire, and Paul Douglas, touring the South, got headlines by saying "The South stinks!" Eddie Fisher was upset because his new record, "A Man Chases a Woman," didn't give credit, for the background voice, to Debbie Reynolds.
Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis were still together, too—and as we look at the present scene, it appears that Marty Allen and Steve Rossi will be their successors in the cafes—maybe in pictures and TV eventually, too.

What about Mort Sahl, Shelley Berman and those types. Frequently they—and Belafonte, too—prefer the so-called concert dates.
There are no bookmakers blowing cigar smoke at concert dates, no drunks arguing loudly with girl friends, and it is nice for the ego to be thought of as a concert artist instead of a saloon comedian or saloon singer.
EARL'S PEARLS: The arithmetic teacher, trying to illustrate subtraction, said, "Now, Johnny you had ten fingers and lost four. What would you have?" Replied Johnny: "No piano lessons."
TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: It happened on Fifth Avenue. A woman told a shoe clerk, "I want a comfortable shoe." The clerk replied, "Sorry, Madame, this is a high class shoe."
WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Money can be lost more ways than one"—Quin Ryan.
"A woman can talk herself out of anything," according to Henry Youngman, "except a phone booth" . . . That's earl, brother.

Has the Facts—and Figures—about Michigan
EAST LANSING (AP) — Do you know which Michigan city has the heaviest yearly snowfall?
Or which Michigan city has had the largest population increase?
Or which county has the highest per capita income?
Michigan State University's bureau of business and economic research says it has the answers, and others, compiled in its recently published "Michigan Statistical Abstract."
The answers, incidentally, are: Houghton—184½ inches; Oak Park census figures.
—an increase of 396.2 per cent, and Wayne County—$2,225.
Hiram Walker Reports $2.91-a-Share Earnings
WALKERVILLE, Ont. (UPI) — F. M. Walker-Gooderham & Worsley, Ltd., today reported net earnings of $23,060,238, or $2.91 a share, for the fiscal year ended last Aug. 31.
The earnings came on record sales of $440,179,872.
Comparable figures for the previous fiscal year were earnings of $23,694,387, or $2.76 a share, and sales of $412,121,674.
Oregon had the fifth largest percentage increase in population from 1940 to 1950, according to Houghton—184½ inches; Oak Park census figures.

WELCOME, SANTA — A familiar figure is set in place around a Saginaw Street streetlight as the Downtown Merchants Association wraps up preparations for opening of the Christmas season Friday. This Santa will beam colorfully at night.

In Dutch, in Court, in Jail
A Pontiac driver's run-in with the law cost him dearly in Municipal Court yesterday.
He fined Young $100, sentenced the errand driver to 60 days in the Oakland County Jail and placed him on a year's probation.
He also ordered Young to pay the city $185 to cover the cost of repairing the damaged police car. McCullum also warned that more jail time would be forthcoming unless the unpaid balance of the previous fine was taken care of by the defendant.

Moroccan Group Off for Soviet to Get Jets
RABAT, Morocco (AP)—A Moroccan military mission under Gen. Mohamed Amezziane leaves for Moscow today, one week after Crown Prince Moulay Hassan announced the Soviet Union had agreed to supply the Moroccan air force with jet aircraft.
Ordinary water weighs about one pound per pint.

Pontiac Woman Hurt When Car, Truck Collide
A 33-year-old Pontiac woman was in satisfactory condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today after being injured when her car collided with a milk truck yesterday at the intersection of Paddock and Osburn streets.
Mrs. Cleveland Houston, 33, of 467 S. Edith St., suffered a fractured leg when her car collided with the truck driven by Clark Denison, 31, of 49 S. Roselawn.
She was driving east on Osburn and Denison was going south on Paddock when the accident occurred.
Denison and a passenger in the truck, Andrew Davidson, 18, of 832 Romeo Road, Leonard, were treated for minor injuries at the hospital and released.

Wins Damages of $135,000 for Stunt Injury

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A jury has awarded $135,000 damages to a man who said he was injured in the crash of a kite he was riding in a television stunt.
Alphonse Woodall, 37, of Cleveland, Ohio, said he was pulled too fast by a car towing him on his 13-by-10-foot kite and crashed from 75 feet.

The injuries—suffered March 23, 1959—barred him from ever flying again, Woodall testified Tuesday. He was working for the TV show "You Asked For It" at the time.
Defendants were Wayne Steffner Productions Inc. and four in-

Riled Sterling Hayden Denies Being an Actor

BEVERLY, Calif. (UPI)—Mrs. Sterling Hayden said she does not mind being dropped from the New York Social Register, but added her husband is upset at the reason—that he is an actor.
"Sterling blew his top at that," she said. "He said 'I'm not an actor. I'm a sailor or writer.'"

Shows Rise in 1960

NEW YORK (UPI)—Business Uncle Sam $22.2 billion in corporate income taxes in fiscal 1960, $4.1 billion more than in 1959. Federal excise taxes on various products took in another $11.9 billion, up $1.1 billion from 1959.

Red Delegates Call for Music to Serve Peace

BERLIN (AP)—Delegates from seven Communist countries have appealed to composers for popular music "to serve peace"—and more marches.
The appeal went out from the "Second Festival of Dance and Light Music" held at Leipzig, in Communist East Germany.
What is needed, delegates said, is better light music, and more songs, dance melodies and marches.
In East Germany, dance orchestras are required by law to play six pieces originating in Communist countries for every four Western numbers.

Make This One a Light Christmas

Send the world a Christmas card in lights, outdoor lights! And you don't have to be a master electrician or a lighting expert to get "professional results."

Some simple, common sense guides plus your own imagination are your best tools for a successful holiday lighting display — one that's fun to see and fun to make.

For instance, if your family is the eat-and-play outdoors type, you may be nicely equipped with covered electrical outlets outside your home or garden. These outlets are the most convenient way to power Christmas lights.

Because of this and because they help perform other electrical miracles all year round — for outdoor cooking, garden lighting, electrical lawn mowing and a host of other duties — you may even wish to consider installing them.

But if you're sold on the idea of permanent outdoor sockets, and haven't got them yet — hire an electrician. This wiring job is not in the do-it-yourself category.

Don't give up if we haven't described your home's facilities so far. How about garage or porch lighting, or electric post lanterns on the lawn? You can power

Christmas lights from any of these sockets.

Even if all of your electrical outlets are indoors — and you want to coax some power outside — run one front window to insert a narrow board with a hole drilled in it. Plug an outdoor type extension cord in your living room or kitchen, pass it through the hole in the board, and you've got the power outside for your holiday lights.

One other tip for planning your lights: Find out the wattage whatever circuit you use will carry — subtract the wattage of any electrical items that may operate on the same line — and the rest should be the maximum you use for outdoor lights on that circuit. Christmas bulb cartons and many of the bulbs themselves will tell you the wattage of the lamps. If your circuit uses a 15 ampere fuse, its wattage capacity is 1800 watts. If it uses a 20 ampere fuse it can safely handle 2400 watts total.

HAVE NO FEAR

Ready to go? Then there's no need to fear damage from snow or rain. Just make sure you use outdoor, weatherproof equipment — lights, extension, etc.

Electrical living outdoors has grown so in popularity that many stores today carry outdoor wiring. One tip — when you plug your Christmas lights into an extension cord, wrap the joint in a plastic film — then tie or tape the wrapper in each cord — you'll lessen the chance of moisture affecting the circuit.

Christmas lights are available in a wide array of colors. "Snowball" bulbs to twinkling lights to the familiar flame shaped outdoor string sets — and there's a growing selection of outdoor lighted figures — candles, Santa, etc.

Now on to the fun of decorating. Let the whole family pitch in with ideas — and work — but keep the plans simple for the best results and the most fun.

If you want to string lights on an outdoor Christmas tree, here's a rule of thumb to figure out how many bulbs you'll need. Multiply the height by the width of the tree, in feet. Double this number, and you've got your approximate bulb count.

All or Nothing, Says United on Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Air Lines says it agreed to pay a "package price" for Capital Airlines and is interested in merger with Capital only on that basis.

United told the Civil Aeronautics Board, in a brief filed with Examiner Thomas L. Wrenn, that "if the entire Capital system is not included in the board's approval, the merger will be abandoned."

Rival airlines urged, at a hearing before Wrenn, that if Capital is permitted to merge into United only part of its routes be transferred to the merged airline.

Capital said in its brief that the board must weigh the "remote possibility of minor diversion" of traffic from other airlines with the alternative to merger—Capital's bankruptcy and its disappearance.

Japanese Royalty Visits

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Japanese Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko arrived here from Aden Wednesday to begin a four-day state visit.

Argentina is said to have more miles of railways than any other country in South America.

How about a breathtaking "rain-bow" tree. Select a floodlight unit with a four-color disk that revolves above a clear bulb. Place it on the ground so that it shines on your evergreen. The play of colors is especially attractive after a snowfall and on aluminum trees.

EXPERIMENT WITH SHADE

Light and shade — equally dramatic. Experiment with new ideas. Decorate with shadows of Christmas trees, reindeer, Santa and his sleigh.

Cut figures such as these from plywood — paint them — with insulated staples, attach strings of colored lights. To bring bulbs closer together, overlap several strings and tape them to each other.

Stand the cutout figure about five feet from a plain wall — and face a floodlight on it. The magical effect of a plant shadow on the wall behind doubles your decoration. It's especially effective where you have large areas of wall to light.

If you feel black shadows aren't festive enough — color them.

Offer Shoulders for Crying to Election Losers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Three defeated Democratic candidates offered Tuesday to serve as reluctant consultants for election losers who think they were "robbed by the voters."

The tongue-in-cheek U. S. Re-count Corporation of America was set up by James P. Seidensticker Jr. and Andrew Jacobs Jr., defeated Indianapolis candidates for the legislature, and William P. Jones of Franklin, defeated for circuit judge.

They said their organization will try to popularize the slogan, "The reason we sobbed was we were robbed."

New Golfmaster Cart Powerful but Costly

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Toro Manufacturing Corp., a leading producer of grass cutting equipment, has introduced the 10-horsepower Toro Golfmaster, which is described as the most powerful golf cart on the market.

The two-cylinder engine is insulated for quietness and features an automobile-type electric starter. The car operates only when the accelerator is depressed; releasing the accelerator brakes the cart. Top speed is 7 to 10 miles per hour. The cart is priced at $1,295.

Belgium Is Accused of Foul Play in Congo

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru has accused Belgium of "supporting disruptive elements" in the Congo. Some other countries which he did not identify have interfered in the Congo, Nehru added.

The prime minister attacked "the deliberate, wilful and purposeful attempt" of Belgium to regain Congo influence in a speech opening a foreign affairs debate in Parliament.

Bird Comes Out in the Wash—It's Agitating

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gloria McGown of nearby Carmichael opened her washing machine, removed some sheets and the cleanest pigeon in town.

The bird apparently had perched inside the washer, in the McGown's open garage, before Mrs. McGown put in the laundry. It went through 30 agitating minutes but humane officer Herbert Denn said it rallied splendidly.

UNUSUAL SALAD RING — Stuffed olives and maraschino cherries seldom team up as ingredients, but they join forces in this orange gelatin salad ring for an unusual, but pleasing combination of flavors.

Cherry-Olive Salad Ring Odd But Good Combo

Gourmet cooking, like politics, sometimes makes strange bed-fellows.

Here, for instance, is a recipe which combines the tangy taste of stuffed olives with the sweetness of maraschino cherries and pineapple to bring a surprisingly new flavor to an orange gelatin salad ring.

Another feature of the recipe calls for the blending of the juices from the olives, cherries and pineapple with water to make the gelatin. A half-cup of slivered olives provides texture and additional flavor.

Served with mayonnaise or salad dressing, the unusual salad ring is ideal fare for a party luncheon or as a complement to a formal dinner.

Cherry and Olive Salad Ring

HONEY PUDDING CAKE — This is a gelatin dessert with a crust made of vanilla wafer crumbs and browned coconut. Honey gives the filling an elusive delicate flavor. It's a dessert that is easy to make, attractive in appearance and light enough to end a dinner.

Coconut Crust Base of Dessert

"Sweet as Honey" describes this refrigerator dessert which is a winner in the dessert class among men, women and children.

It is a pretty dessert with the hint of pale honey orange accented by the golden brown of toasted coconut. It uses honey which every homemaker knows gives flavor and that extra bit of quick energy.

It can be made with little fuss and there are few dishes to be washed. It can be made at any time most convenient to the cook. And best of all it tastes so good. Here is the recipe:

Coconut Honey Pudding Cake
1/2 cup fine grained coconut
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups (fine) vanilla wafer crumbs
1 package (3 ounces) orange fruit flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1/2 cup honey
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup chilled evaporated milk, whipped

Saute coconut in butter until golden brown, stirring constantly. Add crumbs and mix well. Press half of mixture in bottom of 9x9x2 inch pan.

Dissolve orange fruit-flavored gelatin in hot water. Add honey and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in whipped evaporated milk. Turn out over coconut crumb mixture in pan and top with remaining coconut and crumbs. Chill until firm. Cut in 2 1/2 inch squares. Makes 9 servings.

Gelatin Cubes

Your children will be delighted with a gelatin dessert served in cubes. To prepare, pour gelatin about 1-inch deep in a large pan and let set; cut into cubes, serve in dessert glasses with whipped and sweetened evaporated milk.

Children Love Them

What a treat! Time-saving, no bake Marshmallow Conflake Drops for the bustling Holiday season. Melt 1/2 pound (32) marshmallows and 1/2 cup butter in saucepan over low heat. Stir constantly; remove from heat and add 3 cups cornflakes. Mix well. Moisten hands with cold water and shape mixture into 24 small balls. Place on cookie sheet covered with waxed paper and let stand till firm.

Strong Stuff

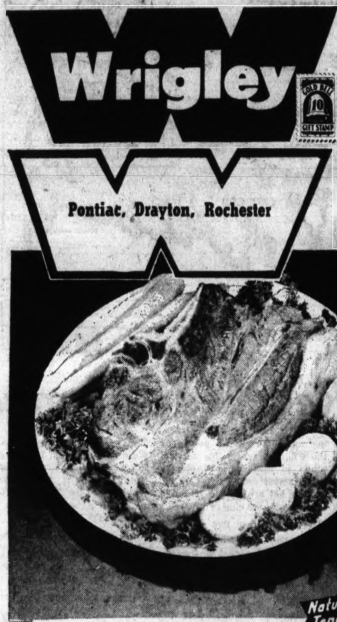

Old-time goodness from the kitchen: Sandwiches made with cooked sliced meat—lamb, smoked tongue and corned beef—were spread with fresh homemade mustard.

Heat Fruit Cocktail With Mint Jelly

Legs of lamb and mint jelly are natural partners, but for an extra treat add canned fruit cocktail. Drain cocktail and heat gently with mint jelly. Serve warm with lamb. Don't discard the fruit cocktail syrup—have to add flavor to puddings. Use it in place of 1/2 the quantity of milk.

Temperatures in Madrid sometimes range 50 degrees in a day.

WHEAT GERM OMELET — The next time you are in the mood for a festive breakfast—or for a hearty dinner main course—try this puffy wheat germ omelet, folded over shredded American cheese and diced Canadian bacon, and topped with a creamy vegetable sauce.

Sandwich Prune Filling in Cookie

FILLED OATMEAL BARS

1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1/2 cup butter (melted)
1 cup regular rolled oats
Prune filling

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and sugar. Stir in butter and rolled oats. Pack 2/3 of mixture into buttered baking pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). Spread with Prune filling mixture.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 to 35 minutes or until top and sides look crisp and browned. Cool in pan placed on wire rack. Cut into bars.

Prune Filling: In a small saucepan mix 1 cup cooked drained pitted prunes, 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 cup water; cook over low heat, stirring often, until thick. Cool; stir in 1/4 cup chopped pecans or walnuts and grated rind of 1 lemon.

Family dessert: pour a lemon custard sauce over cubes of angel food cake.

Cranberry Sauce Used Many Ways

Cook fresh cranberries only until they burst, advise the experts. Additional cooking tends to make them a little bitter.

To make the traditional fresh cranberry sauce, combine 2 cups sugar, 1 cup water and a few grains of salt in a saucepan. Bring to boiling point. Add 1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries. Cover and cook until the skins pop, about 5 to 8 minutes.

This basic cranberry sauce can be used in dozens of ways. Combined with whipped cream and mayonnaise it makes a delectable fruit salad dressing. It could not be easier: Combine 1/4 cup heavy cream, whipped; 1/4 cup mayonnaise and one-third cup strained cranberry sauce. Serve over fresh pear halves, orange sections or a salad of mixed fresh fruits.

Old Time Way

Old-fashioned cooks sometimes made French Toast differently from the way it is prepared today. Instead of heating together the egg and milk as the coating for the bread to be fried, they dipped the bread slices first into the milk, then into the beaten egg.

Extra Nutrition Added to Omelet by Wheat Germ

Here's an omelet that's a work of culinary art — from the standpoint of taste, looks and all-around nutrition. It can be the highlight of a festive breakfast—or, if you prefer, the main course for hearty dinner eaters.

The omelet, itself, fortified with nutritious wheat germ, is the light-puffy kind that makes the cook most proud. But look what goes with it!

The omelet is folded over shredded American cheese and diced Canadian bacon and then adorned with a creamy vegetable sauce. Maybe, we ought to call it an omelet parfait, or, perhaps, an egg sundae. But by any name you'll find it just as pretty and delicious as a parfait or sundae and if you make it once, it will have featured billing in your recipe file from now on.

Puffy Wheat Germ Omelet
1/2 cup wheat germ
1/2 cup milk
4 eggs, separated
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/2 pound processed American cheese, shredded
1/2 pound fully-cooked Canadian bacon, diced

Add wheat germ to milk; let stand while preparing rest of mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Beat egg yolks and salt together until thick and lemon-colored. Fold yolks and wheat germ-milk mixture into beaten egg whites.

Heat butter or margarine in 10-inch fry pan with heat proof handle until pan is hot enough to make drops of water sizzle when dropped into pan. Pour egg mixture into pan and spread gently until level. Cook over low heat until puffy and lightly browned on bottom and sides, about 10 minutes.

Place in slow oven (325 degrees F.) until done (a knife inserted in center comes out clean when done) about 10 minutes. Sprinkle cheese and bacon over omelet a few minutes before removing omelet from oven. Fold omelet slightly off center and turn out on plate.

Chopped Cooked Turkey Tastes Fine in a Loaf

Turkey after a holiday meal can be a case of too much of a good thing and the usual cry is for new ways to serve the bird to spark interest in eating it another day. A turkey loaf is the ideal solution — an entirely different shape and form in which to present the fowl that's almost as festive as the holiday bird itself.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Round Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is from the beef hind quarter, from the section called the round. It is round or oval in shape with a small round bone. It has one large muscle and three small ones.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By braising. It may or may not be dredged in seasoned flour, then browned on both sides in 2 to 4 tablespoons lard or drippings. A small amount of liquid is added, the utensil is covered tightly, and the meat is cooked slowly until tender, 1 to 1½ hours.

2 cups finely chopped cooked turkey
1/2 cup cooked or canned green peas
1/2 cup dried minced onion
1/2 cup dried minced onion
1/2 cup dried minced onion

Best eggs in large mixing bowl. Stir in beer, bread crumbs, onion and seasonings. Add turkey, peas and pimiento and toss gently until thoroughly mixed. Turn into greased 1½ quart loaf pan or form into loaf in shallow baking pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) 45 to 55 minutes or until firm in center.

Loosen edges of loaf from pan with spatula and unmold on serving platter or lift from baking pan colorfully and place them on top of the loaf. Serve with mushroom sauce, easily made by heating canned mushroom soup with a little milk according to directions on the can label, and your favorite cranberry sauce or relish.

Mincemeat in Apples

Big, baked apples filled with mincemeat make a colorful garnish for roast beef during the holiday season. Remove apple cores but do not peel. Place 1 tablespoon sugar in center of each apple. Fill with mincemeat and bake, covered, in a moderate oven (375 degrees) about 45 minutes or until apples are tender.

Holiday Turkey Loaf

1/2 cup beer or oil
1/2 cup fresh bread crumbs
1/2 cup dried minced onion
1/2 cup dried minced onion
1/2 cup dried minced onion

Stitch in Time Saves Cryin

Why Fret About Lack of Funds When You Can Tend to Your Knitting?

Clever girls with a long Christmas gift list and a limited budget will do well to turn the click of knitting needles into a pile of gay and useful gifts for the Yuletide season. For there is a gift to knit for everyone on your list, from the newest baby in the family to a bachelor uncle.

Sweaters — all varieties — offer smart "present potential" for guys and girls who can never have too many.

Hooded pullovers and heavy weight sport sweaters, perfect for the outdoor enthusiast, are easy to knit since they are worked in bulky yarn.

For girls who go in for at home lounging, gay patterned tops, often fringed at the neckline and knit in bright colors will be a welcome gift, while party goers will delight in charming little jackets, boleros and sometimes jeweled, that have all the aplomb of a little fur wrap.

And for teen-agers, handsome crew necked pullovers can be knit in school colors, while V-necked "cosmo" cardigans, the latest coked set rags, can be made in matching boy-girl duet sets.

Since the tiniest tots often offer a gift-giving problem, those who are handy with knitting needles and crochet hooks can start the "carriage trade" off on the right road to fashion with a wardrobe of handknits.

Tiny jackets in soft and fine baby yarn acquire a sophisticated air with cable stitch motifs down the front or sleeves.

Other cardigans are knit in lacy see-through stitches, while surprise sweater jackets for easy dressing slip on and tie at the waist just above a pair of fancy knit diaper covers.

Even boys lend themselves to the knitting needles, and sure to please mother as well as baby are dolls, pummy cats and other nursery animals in knit or crocheted in various sizes and stuff to soft cuddly shapes.

Those who believe in putting off their shopping until the calendar reads mid-December, can still knit their Christmas gifts if they dress their project from the many novel boutique designs, such as aniel cuffs to dress up white bobby socks or looped slipper socks and matching mittens.

Automatic Buying Becomes Popular Habit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans are putting well over a billion dollars into coin-operated machines to buy cigarettes and cigars, the publication Tobacco News said.

Tobacco products are by far the biggest selling items in the field of automatic merchandising, averaging 38 to 40 per cent of sales in recent years.

"The Virgin Adoring the Christ Child"

Detroit Institute of Arts Shows Glory of Nativity

DETROIT (NEA) — Art, handmaid of religion, never serves so happily as it does at Christmas.

All over the world, people going to churches, museums and private collections see the Nativity of Christ through the eyes of the Old Masters.

In this country, probably the most fascinating Christmas scene will be in the Detroit Institute of Arts, "The Virgin Adoring the Christ Child." It is by Andrea del Verrocchio and Leonardo da Vinci, the only authentic painting by Leonardo in his youth and one of the few in the world.

If you don't know its story you wonder why the Virgin is just a transparent ghostly figure, a dark outline on flat white, while the infant Jesus and his angels are so realistically painted. Here it is. NEVER AGAIN.

It was painted at least a decade before Columbus discovered America, when Leonardo was an apprentice in the workshop of Andrea and it was the custom, for the master to block in his rough idea, paint a part of it and leave the rest to "his boys."

Legend relates for a painting of "The Baptism of Christ" Andrea did just this; he turned it over to Leonardo and did not see the work until it was finished.

Finally, it was brought to Andrea where he was working. He looked at it for a long time, enthralled by its beauty, so far had his pupil surpassed him. He threw down his brush, never to lift it again.

William Suhr is the American authority on the condition of old paintings. He probably was not the first to notice the contrasts in the work, between the heavy, earthy face and humplily painted figure of the Virgin, and the heavenly infant and angels. Especially the kneeling Angel might be called a plaintive Mona Lisa. The heaviness was characteristic of Andrea, the delicacy of Leonardo.

Suhr and other authorities said the Virgin had been painted over. Only Suhr would have dared to discover what was underneath. Fluorescent light experiments showed he was right.

In its 600 years the Virgin had been done over, completely so rather recently, probably within the last 50 years. Suhr carefully removed layers of paint down to the bare board. He found Andrea had painted as his suggestion to his pupil the ghost outline of the Virgin on the gesso.

That's what we see in Detroit today. Left side of the picture is the kneeling Virgin, brushed in outline, the six-century-old strokes protected only by a thin layer of varnish. Her pose is straight-ahead, stiff. Her features are heavy.

But how glorious is the right-hand group, with its background landscape typical of the country around Florence. This is the work of a plodding old man — and of a young genius.

Many other wonderful Christmas paintings are in America. Comparable to the Detroit Leonardo is "The Adoration of the Shepherds" by Giorgione in the Samuel H. Kress Collection in the National Gallery in Washington. The great painter-poet-musician, Giorgione, died when he was only 36. Little of his work remains today but it was the height of the Renaissance.

If you are in Florida at Christmas time, you will see the beautiful "Holy" Family with the infant Jesus in the Ringling Museum at Sarasota. It is by Fra Bartolomeo, friend of Raphael, influenced by Giorgione.

At the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, there will hang Gerard David's Flemish "Nativity" painted in early 1500's, the figures wearing the costumes of his time. Even the angels are dressed like pious peasants.

DOBBS

BE ALARMING—For Christmas, wear a wristwatch alarm.

Her Wristwatch Rings the Bell

If the Little Lady Rarely Is on Time, She May Need This Device

Wondering when the Christmas turkey will come? Know when to feed the baby? Or are you thinking of a home permanent?

There's a new wristwatch for women that's guaranteed to revolutionize the sociological scheme of things.

From now on, women can do things on time! even "think" on time with the wristwatch with an alarm.

The effect of this new time-piece may result in a topsy-turvy world (at first, anyway) when your beau expects you to arrive an hour late and the boss, well, minutes tardy.

But, strenuous as the adjustment period may be, the watchmakers believe that the world will be a better place to live in, when women begin to arrive on time.

Granted this new wristwatch with an alarm may take the romance out of things, but the male, in the end, will be thankful, particularly if he's waiting in hotel lobby, corner drugstore or under a movie marquee.

Besides, you can cheat a little by setting the alarm to arrive, let's say, just five minutes late.

Just how much the new woman's wrist alarm will come to the aid of women depends on what it's used for. It can time hair coloring, shopping sprees and luncheons, and that should be helpful.

And as a Christmas memento, for both the housewife and business woman, it just might be set at 12 midnight Christmas Eve, to watch Santa slide down the chimney.

Picture Would Make a Wonderful Present

Unexpected, thoughtful presents that show careful shopping delight both the giver and the receiver.

How about an artist's reproduction of a favorite painting? Or pay tribute to Mother's coolery with a colorful, yet useful herb chart to hang in her kitchen. When selecting art work, choose what the recipient likes.

A proper frame for a special print is the next consideration. The print itself is most important in picking a frame. Also consider furniture and room color plan.

Remove Stains Quickly

Even if you don't have time to completely launder your table linens directly after holiday meals, do try to remove the stains right away. This will prevent their setting in the fabric. Most stains may be removed from washable fabrics with soap or detergent suds if soaked or sponged almost as fast as they happen.

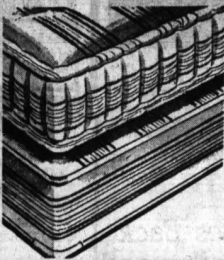

Tip on Togetherness

Good trick to keep rubbers and rainwear from getting separated or mislaid: supply each small child with brightly painted clothespins with his initials on them to clip rubbers and galoshes in pairs, and rain hat to raincoat.

LIKE A BOUQUET of Christmas roses, this bedspread is fashioned with floral-effect holes of lint-free rayon in pink, yellow, blue or white. No ironing is needed.

Girls Are Sorry They're Females for Dad's Sake

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Sometimes it's tough to be a girl.

Dorothy Shamblin, 18, of North Brunswick, sent a local paper two dollars, asking the paper to run an advertisement about her father's new gas station.

She said the money was from the allowance of herself and her four sisters. The girls run the station from 1 to 12.

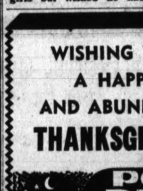

The letter was inspired by Dorothy overhearing her daddy tell a customer that he had five girls, but wished he had five boys to help him with the station.

Dorothy and the other girls offered to help their father buy, but he told them, "Little girls don't work around gas stations."

The newspaper (the New Brunswick Home News) mailed back the two dollars today, telling Dorothy that it was putting gas station in a new story, and the information about daddy's there's no charge for that.

More and more American families are moving into their own homes, giving rise to the "do-it-yourself home handyman." This means more business for local hardware stores. To reach these prospects, hardware dealers allocate 55 per cent of their advertising budgets to newspapers.

She Might Stay This Time

Diana Dors Comes Back for 2nd Try at Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Diana Dors is back for another swing at Hollywood, and this time she might stay.

Last time it was murder. She fell into a swimming pool, an ocean of respect, publicity and two bad pictures. It was enough to drown any career.

But the swinging Dors has rebounded and is back playing not in one, but two topflight movies at once. She's Danny Kaye's "Ladies Man" with Jerry Lewis. The latter characterization is one she plays quite well.

So sanguine is her outlook that she and husband Richard Dawson are shopping for a house to buy so they can settle here.

"I don't say I'll stay here forever," she said. "Forever is a long time. But my husband and I are planning to stay as long as we can for several reasons.

THINKS OF SON

"Mainly it is for our son, who is 7 months old. I want him to grow up in America, where there is so much more opportunity. Here, a boy can be anything—a shopkeeper's son can be president.

"There isn't much opportunity in England. It's a closed shop, really. And England is not a very healthy place to raise children."

Such remarks aren't calculated to enthrall the folks back home, but Diana is prone to speak her mind. She had some rather pointed things to say about her Hollywood career No. 1.

"The publicity was terrible," she said. "It was run by a man who didn't know what he was doing. From the moment I stepped off the boat, I was compared to Marilyn Monroe. It was ridiculous; we're not the least bit alike."

HANDS OFF FILMS

She couldn't run away from the comparison, nor could she escape the films she was handed at RKO.

"Abysmal," she termed them. "I was expected to carry the whole load myself. They didn't give me any stars" (attn: George Gobel and Rod Steiger).

She left $250,000 richer, but with no artistic triumphs to her name. She noted wryly that RKO went out of business shortly afterward. "I had other offers to do films here, dozens of them," she said. "But they all wanted me to play the sexpot. I wouldn't do it. I'm tired of that, and I think the public is, too."

NATO Group to Hear About Underdeveloped Nations' Grants

PARIS (AP)—Soviet bloc and Red Chinese economic aid to underdeveloped nations reached record levels by the middle of this year, a report prepared for the NATO-Bureaucratic Conference shows.

The report, drawn up by Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., was based on U.S. intelligence reports.

The Soviet bloc is leading the Communist economic offensive, Javits said, accounting for 75 per cent of the aid to the backward and new nations, many of them in Africa.

The total of credits and grants to these countries in the past decade has gone over the $4 billion mark. During the 12 months ended in mid-1960, aid totaled $1.42 billion, or 82 per cent more than in any previous 12-month period, according to the report.

The report noted that Communist aid for military purposes has been declining and now amounts to 20 per cent of the total outlay. Javits noted that the relaxed atmosphere before the scheduled May summit conference caused some of the underdeveloped countries to be less wary of political consequences of Communist aid.

The implication was that the countries have since been more cautious in accepting Communist help.

The United Arab Republic, India and Indonesia are receiving 68 per cent of the Communist bloc aid which is being handled by 6,900 Communist technicians, the report said.

"Most countries apparently are still satisfied with the competence and behavior of the Communist bloc technicians, and there continues to be little evidence that they are being used for propaganda or subversive purposes," the report said.

More aid money is being spent by associations — industry groups, chambers of commerce, etc. They spent 27 per cent more in 1959 than 1958, with $18.9 million going into daily newspapers.

It's a Weighty Problem

Calories Ruin Thanksgiving

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Just in time to ruin my Thanksgiving dinner comes a booklet from the agriculture department entitled "Food and Your Weight."

I regard the booklet as noteworthy because it spells out, in clear, unambiguous terms, the department's policy in response to one of the heavier issues confronting the nation.

"Persons who are considerably overweight probably should reduce," the booklet says.

This is the type of crisp, pure logic that we have come to expect from our government agencies. There are some other statements in the booklet, however, which seemed to be less finely reasoned.

For instance, in discussing the relationship of food and exercise to bodily weight, it asserts that "typical uses more calories than watching television."

This would appear to imply that typing expends more energy than TV watching, which is not an assumption that I am prepared to accept. Almost nothing makes me as tired as watching television, particularly when the wrestling matches are on.

I also was astonished to read that a 15-ounce chocolate milkshake contains 466 more calories than a eight-ounce glass of beer. I don't know why that should astonish me, but it did.

So did the revelation that two large pumpkins have more calories than 10 jelly beans, that soda crackers are more fattening than saltines, and that a cup of popcorn contains more calories than five medium potato chips or 15 small pretzel sticks.

REDUCE BY COOKING

If, however, you pop the corn yourself, you can almost break even. The booklet tells us that preparing and cooking food burns up calories at the rate of 110 to 160 an hour. If the food itself is burned, I assume that the rate goes up.

Doing the dishes, dusting and ironing also are in the 110-to-160 class, but "laundrying by machine" uses up 170 to 240 calories per hour. Thus a housewife who runs her washing machine

Other activities which consume calories in the 170-to-240 bracket including making beds, mopping and scrubbing, light polishing and waxing and light gardening and carpentry work. This is about what you take in from a big helping of turkey and dressing.

Heavy scrubbing and waxing, hand laundering, hanging out clothes and stripping beds, sends the rate up to 250 to 330. Calorie-wise, an hour's work of this sort entitles you to one four-inch slice of pumpkin pie.

All of this provides some food for thought for Thanksgiving. I must caution, however, that even food for thought should be taken in limited quantities.

You know what happens to people who get too much food for thought? They become fatheads.

Woody's Smith of CMU to Boss Michigan Week

LANSING (AP)—The 1961 Michigan Week general chairman John Carton of Battle Creek has announced the appointment of a Central Michigan University vice president as chairman of the organization board for the week.

Woodward C. (Woody) Smith of Central Michigan at Mount Pleasant will supervise the activities of groups and organizations, as well as local celebrations during Michigan Week, May 21-27.

Pick Children's Gifts Carefully

Consider Age Levels, Select Suitable, Safe Playthings for Toddler

NEW YORK (NEA)—Besides money, spend a little thought and time in selecting toys.

Double check the age levels of the children. Also, confer with the parents to find out the expanding interests and capabilities of their offspring.

If it is impossible, consult a list of children's play interests at different age levels which most good toy departments have on hand.

Remember that children need a well balanced selection of toys which contributes to physical development and to creative and dramatic play. They need toys which will help them initiate the activities of the grownup world and toys which encourage group participation.

Keep in mind that safety of toys is based on suitability. A knife, for example, in a hobby set is fine for the school age youngster but it could be dangerous in the hands of a toddler.

Make sure that toys for cribs and play pen tots are especially designed for safe sucking, have smooth edges and no loose parts that the child might detach and swallow.

Use common sense in buying toys, keeping in mind where the children live. Giving an apartment dweller an outdoor merry-go-round could lead to the child's parents going around in circles.

Start your shopping early so that you will have the energy and enthusiasm to really enjoy it.

Don't allow inhibitions to prevent you from buying the mechanical toy, train or game that delights you. But don't confuse what you want for yourself with what the youngster needs for all around dramatic play. They need toys which

Pollster Says Religious Issue Hurt Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—A political pollster, who did pre-election surveys for President-Elect John F. Kennedy, says Kennedy was hurt by the religious issue and would have won more strongly if he had not been a Roman Catholic.

Louis Harris, marketing researcher, said in an interview and a talk to the Democratic West Side Club that the Democratic presidential candidate ran 7 per cent behind the Democratic congressional nominees across the country largely because he was as much as 25 to 30 per cent behind in the heavily Protestant South.

Harris attributed the Kennedy victory largely to the senator's ability to restore traditional big-city Democratic majorities.

Shivers of Texas Pushed for Senate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Former Texas Gov. Allan Shivers said he may get into an expected free-for-all to pick a Senate successor to Vice President-Elect Lyndon B. Johnson.

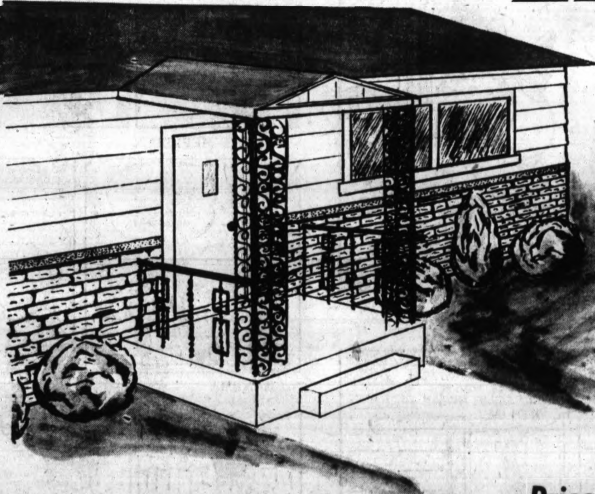

"I am considering it," he said, Tuesday of requests by backers that he enter the race, "but I will not make a final decision for another 10 days or two weeks." Shivers headed a Texas Democratic drive for Nixon-Lodge organization in the general election campaign.

The only announced candidate for the Senate term Johnson won at the same time he was elected vice president is Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex.

Products Groups Going International; Exchange Reports to Aid Consumers

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (NEA) —American consumers are taking to water like ducks, buying everything from motor boats to swimming pools.

And if past performance counts, the consumers in other English-speaking and European nations probably are swimming close behind.

Spotting this trend of world consumer conformity is Colston E. Warner, president of the U. S. Consumers Union. He just returned from the Hague, Netherlands, where he was named president of the newly formed International Office of Consumer Unions.

The International will exchange product testing information offered by the independent, nonprofit, non-commercial consumer organizations in the United States, Iceland, Britain, Australia, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Netherlands, France, New Zealand, Germany, Austria, Belgium and Israel.

The organization was created at a time "when nations are becoming increasingly brand conscious," Warner says.

It used to be that a carrot was a carrot. But today it's brand A carrot which is either better or worse than brand B, C and so on.

It seems that the United States has taught the world the "brand" new lesson. This follows, Warner notes, from the pattern of copying American consumer ideas and fads.

European nations now are becoming "automobile conscious," Warner says. The United States may already be done with its starts of the "motorboat complex."

But "copycatting" has its differences. Germany is going through a washing machine phase without ever having been at the refrigerator.

OKs Removal of Sacred Scalp

Hillary Gets 1st Chance to Study Closely Flesh Linked to Snowman

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) —Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mt. Everest, this week received government permission to examine a strange-looking scalp, a century old, in his quest to solve the riddle of the abominable snowman.

A Nepalese government announcement said Hillary, currently on a scientific expedition in the High Himalayas, has been granted authority to take the "withered flesh from the Pangboche monastery and remove it from Nepal for one month."

The scalp has been photographed many times at the monastery on the 13,000-foot level of Everest.

But Westerners intrigued by the Nepalese belief in half-human creatures roaming the snowy peaks never have been able to give the scalp a thorough scientific examination.

SACRED ITEM

The scalp is sacred to the monastery and to the people of the mountain village of Karnham.

In this area, no one discredits the idea of the abominable snowman. To Nepalese he lives and is called "Yeti."

Supposedly, there are many yeti in the high passes, many of which never have been trod by man.

The Pangboche monastery in the past has refused requests to remove the scalp to a laboratory of testing.

But the Nepalese government strongly supports Hillary's request for permission to examine the scalp.

Hillary overcame opposition by villagers by promising to donate money for village projects.

Wherever the scalp goes, it will be accompanied by a village elder who will guard it.

Bans Food Coloring for Cherries, Franks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A red food coloring used for maraschino cherries and the coatings of some frankfurters has been banned pending further tests of its safety.

The Food and Drug Administration announced the ban Tuesday night, saying more than a year of experiments with dogs and rats have shown the color "produces liver damage in test animals and to safe use level has been established."

No effort will be made, however, to remove from the market foodstuffs already colored with the coal tar dye, designated Red No. 1.

John L. Harvey, deputy FDA commissioner, said "the additive is not an acute toxic substance" and "is only used in small amounts in foods, drugs and cosmetics."

COLSTON WARNER

ator stage," Warner says, "contribute to the U.S. pattern."

Instructing the other consumer associations in the pitfalls of catering to the consumer interest, Warner reported that Consumers Union here reaches five per cent of the nation's families. They are primarily those that are better educated, informed and wealthier than the average.

He suggests that this consumer "elite" will also be observed as the consumption pattern-setters by the various foreign consumer organizations.

Foreign consumer groups also can teach this nation a thing or two in exchange for the information received from U.S. Consumers Union.

Sweden may point the way toward a new method of testing a product for its "lifetime," indicating the number of times an item must be serviced and the ease in which it can be serviced, Warner says.

More U.S. consumers today are wondering where an item can be repaired even before they purchase it, he says, citing servicing as a major consideration of consumers interested in foreign autos.

Some foreign testing methods also will help the United States in its highway safety crusade, Warner says. He adds:

"Auto safety belts and cushions are coming into the consumer's mind more often when he thinks of buying an automobile."

Warne says foreign consumers still generally seek the "best buys" (a balance of quality and price), while the Americans usually "buy the best."

He believes this difference, too, may pass as other Western nations improve living standards and step up advertising campaigns to "universalize" merchandise.

But if the consumer must conform, Warner and others are trying to get him to do so "with a social conscience."

In this direction, Consumers Union already has quantitatively evaluated in its publication, Consumer Reports, stromium 50 cent in milk; health insurance; and TV programming.

Now Warner expresses an interest in evaluating the colleges in the United States as consumer "products," in the public interest.

Cat Nipped 9th Time in Ruckus

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP) — For the ninth time, his owner says, Herman, the cat with a courtroom appointment, has been beaten on up.

Herman is too battered to keep the court appearance scheduled for today.

Herman's owner, Mrs. Russell H. Bowler, said she found Herman in a neighbor's garage Tuesday, suffering from multiple cuts on his ears, throat and head, not to mention bruises on head and body.

Sombody tried to kill him with a baseball bat, Mrs. Bowler declared in anger. Others took the view Herman had been talking to another cat when he should have been listening.

Herman is due to appear in Superior Court, when he's feeling better, in connection with a request for an injunction sought by the neighboring owners of Siamese cats, Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Cook.

They are asking the court for a $3,500 damage award and an injunction to make Herman quit bothering the female cats and Mrs. Cook.

FAMILY PROJECT — Let each family member contribute one high fidelity component for Christmas. One manufacturer of hi-fi components says a turntable with tonearm, a stereo amplifier and two speakers are needed.

A Stereo System Can Be Family's Gift to Itself

Christmas without music would be like the Fourth of July without fireworks. Hymns and carols set the tone of the season and create the traditional atmosphere in which families move closer together.

But if music penetrates the soul of Christmas, so, too, does it infuse the lifeblood of our daily existence.

Some people travel miles and spend countless dollars to hear performed the music they love best.

Others prefer to sit in the comfort of their living room while listening to the selections and artists of their choice; for they know that their high fidelity music system will enable them to hear a concert almost as clearly as if they were attending the performance.

The most recent dramatic advance, and one which captures the public fancy, has been the development of stereophonic high fidelity music for the home.

According to one manufacturer of high fidelity components, stereo (two channel sound) basically uses two separately placed microphones to simultaneously record two separate sound tracks — one on each side of the record groove.

Making use of two strategically placed loudspeakers, the stereo system creates a veritable curtain of sound which more faithfully reproduces the illusion that the listener is actually sitting in the concert hall or studio.

What better time than Christmas, then, to avail yourself and your family of a stereo high fidelity music system? For Christmas is a family time and a gift-giving time as well.

This Yuletide season why not arrange to have each member of your family contribute just one high fidelity component as a gift for the family?

Four basic pieces are necessary for your stereo music reproduction system: a turntable with a tonearm, a stereo amplifier, and two loudspeakers.

If you already have a monophonic (single channel) hi-fi setup, then it's easier still. Did, for example, can provide an additional amplifier; more might contribute the second loudspeaker; and junior can supply the stereo cartridge.

Your treasured collection of LP records will sound even better than before with your new stereo system.

British sailors at one time were recruited by the Royal Navy to seek lemons and limes to help prevent scurvy. Today, however, modern medical science provides more efficient and effective ways of preventing and curing disease. Medical advertisers provided information about their products and services last year through over 600 million worth of national newspaper advertising.

EASY TO STORE — This plastic Christmas tree may be assembled in minutes, and stored in small space after the holidays. Each cluster of the silver spruce replica fits onto a branch that slips onto a holder of the trunk. Sizes range from 30 inches to 72 inches in height. Colors include forest green, pink, and frosty white.

Why Not a Plastic Tree?

The crowning glory of Christmas—at least the best part as far as the kids are concerned—is the tree and all its trimmings.

You'll want a tree that will mean the least mess to clean up on "the morning after," and that is, above all, safe from fire hazards.

Quite a tall order, unless you have a handsome polyethylene plastic tree . . . an exact duplicate of nature's own silver spruce.

The plastic tree comes in four height sizes, and three colors—forest green, frosty white and pink. The sturdy base is high impact styrene plastic.

It's easy to assemble, heads of fun to decorate, safe from fire hazards caused by short circuits or "hot wires," and washable, for use over and over again.

Getting Support on GOP Buildup

Hillsdale Man Awaits Nixon's Reaction to Plan for 4-Year Job

HILLSDALE (AP) — David E. Arnt, Hillsdale industrialist, reported "tremendous response" to his proposal the Vice President Richard M. Nixon spend the next four years as the salaried head of an organization dedicated to rebuilding the Republican party.

As a result, Arnt said he was proceeding with plans to form a nonprofit corporation to be supported by 100,000 volunteers pledging $10 a year apiece. He said pledges already are on hand from 10 states.

Arnt, vice president of the Hillsdale Tool & Manufacturing Co., has not yet received Nixon's reaction to the plan, under which Nixon would be paid $100,000 annually.

Arnt said that 100 fellow townsmen here had pledged to the plan and that a California physician had telephoned he would guarantee 1,000 members. He said a pledge of at least 11 members had been received from Phoenix, Ariz.

Chastened Motorist Takes Pride in Fine

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Sherman Patton of Cheyenne was fined $20 and court costs for speeding 65 miles an hour in a 45-mile-an-hour zone.

But Patton expressed a little pride in the fine — just to think his 1955 model T could go that fast.

Japan Finds Trouble in Defense Program

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's 10-year-old self defense forces are having trouble filling their ranks.

Ground, sea and air forces now number 250,000 men, but the ground units are about 18,000 short of their authorized strength of 170,000.

Despite intensive recruiting campaigns and plans, officials fear the shortage may continue to the end of the current fiscal year next March.

Some quarters say booming business conditions are responsible for the difficulty in getting men into uniform. Jobs are available for qualified men who look with more favor on a business career than on the military life.

In addition, there is among many Japanese a feeling of apathy and even antipathy toward things military carried over from the end of World War II.

Europeans Leave Two African Nations in Drove

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — More and more Europeans are emigrating from the Federation of the Rhodesias and Nyasaland and the figure for the month of August — 622 — was the highest since the Central African Statistical Department began keeping records.

Up to the end of August a total of 3,998 Europeans had left the federation for good since the beginning of this year.

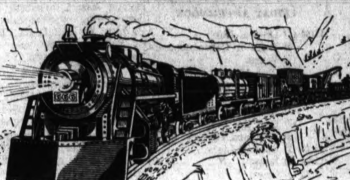

Taken in conjunction with the immigration figures, this gave the federation a net gain in European population of 4,344 during the eight month period.

Elect Head of Miracle Mile Assn.

Newly elected president of the Miracle Mile Business Association is Gene Schweiss. He is manager of the S. S. Kresge variety store at the shopping center.

Other new officers for the coming year are Darlene Goldberg, vice president, and Robert Terry, treasurer.

Miss Goldberg is manager of Robinson's women's apparel shop. Terry manages the Pontiac State Bank branch at Miracle Mile.

Schweiss succeeds Donald Shaw, manager of Kroger's supermarket, to the top post. Shaw was named to the board of directors for 1961.

Other new directors are Marvin Barnett of Peggy's Women's Apparel Shop; Louis Davidson of Lou-Mor Jewelers; Lee Zadaske of Craig's Gift Shop; and Robert Bowman of Thom McAn Shoe Store.

Those who will remain on the board of directors for another year are Ralph Eastridge of Penny's Department Store; Morris Fireberg, Naden's Women's Apparel Shop; Dore Novitz of Monarch Clothing Store; Marvin Talan of the Lion Department Store; and Jack Vitou of Grant's Department Store.

High Fidelity's Better and Better — Stereo Gains

Hi-Fi improvements have not merely changed the speaker system construction — they have transformed sound quality. Reproductions are truer — from the lowest notes to the tones too high for the human ear. The living room becomes alive with sounds you've been missing from records, tapes and tuner.

And designers have not forgotten the little woman. The speaker systems — each and every model — come in handsome styles, designed to fit conveniently in the home.

The girls can choose from walnut, cherry, mahogany, blond — finished in modern decorator tones — or unfinished woods.

Groups of manufacturers have been increasingly active this year, developing basic manufacturing and broadcasting standards. Regulations for tuner and amplifiers have been drafted, and a study and classification of stereophonic broadcast transmission systems is to be submitted for federal consideration.

The sound of stereo is being recorded on all fronts for the hi-fi listener's pleasure. Finest portable recording equipment is brought to the study of folk music — and on-the-spot performances of amateur singers are captured.

The hi-fi and stereo enthusiast can keep on expecting better things from the ever-expanding industry because perfection is the goal for the sound of music.

Use That Wrap Paper

Use fancy gift wrap paper you received. Paste the paper to a large potato chip can that has been cleaned. Spray shellac over the surface and you have an attractive waste paper receptacle. The shellac can also be used to paste the paper to the can.

Get Rid of 'Snow'

To get rid of the "snow" with which youngsters decorate windows at Christmas time, apply sal soda concentrated in solution form or dry to the area with a stiff brush.

Jeweler Branch to Open Soon

Connolly's 2nd Store Slated to Open Dec. 1
at Miracle Mile

Connolly's Jewelers of Pontiac will open a second store in the Miracle Mile Shopping Center on Telegraph Road, owner Norman Pattison announced.

The shopping center store is scheduled to open Dec. 1, offering the same lines of quality jewelry and china, crystal and silverware available at the present store at 16 W. Huron St.

Prizes will be featured the first three days of the new store's opening. First prize will be a diamond ring, second a silver tea and coffee service, and third a wristwatch, said Pattison.

He announced that Donald Finney, a present employee of his firm, will be manager of the new store. An additional 10 new employees also will be hired, according to Pattison.

PASTEL DECOR

Finney has been a jeweler in Pontiac for the past 10 years.

The Miracle Mile store is being decorated in gay pastel colors. Setting the motif will be wood and ceramic plaques of various shapes, such as diamonds, ovals and squares in bright colors, mounted on the walls.

Fluorescent lighting will enhance the color scheme. The store will also feature air-conditioning during the summer months.

The 20-by-150-foot interior will be readily visible through spacious display windows.

The new store will offer a bridal gift registration service and watch and jewelry repair along with ring designing.

Bright lights will present the jewelry and other merchandise in its truest form to shoppers, noted Pattison.

Registered jewelers of the American Gem Society, Connolly's has been in business in Pontiac for 35 years.

Diamond Needn't Be Too Costly

You don't have to be a millionaire to say you love her at Christmastime. Just give her a diamond.

Designers today are producing diamond jewelry within everyone's reach. Unusual texture finishes, shadings of gold and platinum-gold combination settings give individuality.

What about a second or "late" diamond ring? Domes, swirls, and a gardenful of flower designs executed in diamonds give tremendous variety to occasional rings available today.

And you'll find lockets and pendants no longer conjure up thoughts of lavender and old lace. Heart and oval shapes continue to serve as basic choices, while three-dimensional floral motifs set with center diamonds enjoy popularity.

Religious medals and crosses set with small diamonds are very meaningful at Yuletide while practicality combines with a luxurious touch in a monogram pin outlined in small round diamonds.

What a Breakfast!

Here's the Word From Santa Claus

By DICK HANSON

The old man wearing what looked like a berry red union suit was intently putting together an electric train set as I approached for an interview.

Behind him was a row of baby dolls waiting for fresh paint on their pretty faces to dry.

"Brrrr, it's cold here, I said, trying to break the ice—er, I mean strike up a conversation.

"That's the North Pole for you," he replied with a merry chuckle. TOO MUCH OIL.

"What brings you here at this time of the year, young man? Don't you know I'm always busy now?" Santa Claus added as he plugged in the train set.

It spun crazily around the miniature track. "Must have put on too much oil," he mused.

He wiped the underpart of the engine with a cloth and replaced it on the track. "Ah, that's better," he said.

"Sorry to bother you," I put in briskly. "But my editor said to get with it. There's not much time left for us to get your story in the newspaper, either."

"I don't need any advance publicity after all these years," the gentleman replied kindly, moving over to a nearby bench to feed a horn.

The clear note of the toy instrument shivered icicles hanging outside the window.

HE'LL USE PARACHUTE

"What can I do for you?" he asked at last, giving the already shiny horn another swipe with a duster.

"Well, I hear you're planning to stop at Miracle Mile Shopping Center near Pontiac for a few days before Christmas," said I.

"That's right," he answered,

"I'm going to parachute in at 1 p.m. Friday, the day after Thanksgiving. That's when things will be done around here for another year."

"Parachute in," I gasped! A frightening picture of Santa Claus plummeting earthward like a big red bomb, a long trail of empty silk streaming behind, flashed through my mind.

"Don't fret so," he said, evidently reading my thoughts. "I've been practicing for several months now with the North Pole Airline folks.

"They are going to fly me down there as a matter of fact. I expect to make a perfect jump and land right smack in the parking lot at Miracle Mile."

"But, what's the matter with arriving by sleigh with your reindeer," they can fly, too, can't they?" I asked.

"Of course they can," said Santa. "Been doing it for a number of years, putting on millions of miles every Christmas Eve whizzing around the world, never missing a rooftop.

"The fact of the matter is my poor deer are getting old, and we'll have to conserve their strength this year, I'm afraid. Oh, they'll make it all right.

"But if they fly me down to Miracle Mile now, they might not make it back up here to pick up the last-minute orders and then around the world.

I nodded in amazement. "Here's one old man who never really gets old," I thought to myself in wonder.

"See you Friday, Santa."

"I'll be there," he shouted as I went out the door to my waiting dog team.

We arrived at Miracle Mile in time to catch the shopping center manager, Gray Graham, before he left for the day.

"Just talked to Santa Claus, and everything's all set," I told him.

"I know," replied Graham. "His telegram came today.

"The old boy will be here to meet the kids from 4 till 8:30 p.m. weekdays and from 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Saturdays to Christmas."

I just hope the greatest man on earth doesn't break a leg. Imagine—jumping out of airplanes at his age.

Good Luck, Santa!

Supervise Children

SANTA'S HELPER — Pretty artist Molly Huston, 20, puts finishing touches on her decorations at Santa Claus' hut at Miracle Mile Shopping Center prior to the cheery gentleman's arrival Friday afternoon. Children will be able to visit Santa in the hut to tell him what they want for Christmas.

Give and Make Up

Young marrieds entertain their friends and proudly display their new home furnishings. If you have been negligent about a wedding gift, make up for it at Christmas. They'll appreciate a silver-plated chafing dish, sauce boat or a handsome pitcher or an addition to their flatware.

SANTA PACKS—Brave Santa Claus will jump by parachute from a plane to arrive at Miracle Mile Shopping Center Friday at 1 p.m. His reindeer are getting too old to make the extra trip, he said. Here Santa packs his parachute at his home in the North Pole prior to taking off. Children will be able to visit Santa in his special hut at the shopping center until Christmas.
