

$13-Million Building Plan Eyed for Waterford Schools

By HUDSON WILLSE

A $13-million building program for Waterford Township Schools was proposed last night by a citizens' advisory committee, meeting at Pierce Junior High School.

The far-reaching plan, which includes construction of a third high school at a cost not to exceed $5.25 million and three elementary schools, is expected to be presented to board of education members Feb. 3.

If the board endorses the plan, a special election will be called, according to Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe. March 23 was listed as the earliest possible election date.

Voters would consider:

- Borrowing a maximum $13 million from Michigan under terms of the state bond loan fund.
- Extending the 15-mill operating levy to 16 mills by reducing the debt service millage from 8 to 7.

The proposed millage change would go into effect in 1968, extending to 1973.

Dr. Tatroe emphasized the proposed five year program would not increase the board of education's tax authority of 31.71 mills.

Currently operating on 29.71 mills ($67.17 per $1,000 assessed valuation), the school system has a 2-mill reserve which could be used for the recommended building program.

The citizens' group recommended that the high school be located at the Pontiac Lake Road-Scott Lake Road site already owned by the district.

Construction of the high school would begin late this year, with completion eyed in 1968.

An auditorium, swimming pool and other modern facilities would feature the structure. The citizens' recommendation was based on a projected enrollment of 1,500 students.

The proposed new elementary buildings would be located in the Crescent Lake, Eagle Lake and Twin Lakes areas. The Crescent Lake project would rate first priority.

Included among recommendations for existing elementary schools are a total of 26 additional classrooms and a gymnasium.

LBJ Proposes $2.3 Billion in Aid to Cities

Rebuilding Program Would Help Selected Locales in America

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a $2.3-billion, six-year federal aid program for rebuilding selected American cities "on an unprecedented scale."

The President, in his message to Congress on the cities, outlined a vast program for rebuilding central sections of cities, reorganizing and governing metropolitan areas and building new towns outside existing metropolitan areas to provide for the nation's fast growing population.

In his demonstration program, available to any U.S. city, Johnson proposed:

- "That we make massive additions to the supply of low and moderate-cost housing."
- "That we combine physical reconstruction and rehabilitation with effective social programs throughout the rebuilding process."
- "That we achieve new flexibility in administrative procedures."
- "That we focus all the techniques and talent within our society on the crisis of the American city."

The impact of the program will be significant, involving as much as 15 to 20 per cent of the existing substandard structures."

The federal aid, he said, would take two forms. First would be "the complete array of all available plants and urban aids in the fields of housing, renewal, transportation, education, welfare, economic opportunity and related programs."

Finally, the President said, there would be special grants of up to 80 per cent of the nonfederal cost of the demonstration projects.

Michigan Bell Lists Outlay for Pontiac

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. announced today that it will spend $4,117,000 in Pontiac this year to expand and improve its communications services.

The local outlay is part of Michigan Bell's 1966 construction program totaling a record $175 million. This surpasses last year's previous high by $40 million and is about double the amount spent by the company three years ago.

Charles B. Woodhead, manager of Michigan Bell in Pontiac, broke down the local outlay as follows:

- $1,494,000 for outside plant facilities.
- $935,000 for telephone equipment in homes and offices.
- $1,451,000 for central office equipment.
- About $237,000 for land and buildings.

Michigan Bell President William M. Day said much of the capital required to finance the program must come from investors willing to put their money into the telephone business rather than other investment opportunities.

The expanded program, he said, will require hundreds of additional employees to supplement the company's present force of some 23,400 men and women.

"A program of this magnitude is necessary to keep pace with Michigan's economic boom," Day said. "This boom has led to service demands such as the company never before has experienced."

HIGHER USAGE

Day also attributed a good share of the surging demand to higher telephone usage stimulated by "increasingly attractive prices."

He cited the recent series of rate reductions and service improvements which "are making telephone service a constantly increasing bargain." As examples, he noted would be "the complete array of all available plants and urban aids in the fields of housing, renewal, transportation, education, welfare, economic opportunity and related programs."

Finally, the President said, there would be special grants of up to 80 per cent of the nonfederal cost of the demonstration projects.

NEW BUILDINGS

Nine new telephone buildings will be started during the year along with 22 building additions.

During the year, Touch Tone telephones, which use push-buttons rather than the conventional dial, will be offered to customers in Pontiac, Auburn Heights, Birmingham, Clarkston and Rochester.

Romney to Ask Record Budget

LANSING (AP) — Record state general fund spending of $196 million or more will be recommended tomorrow by Gov. Romney.

He'll present to the Legislature a 1966-67 budget expected to continue virtually all existing state services, expand in some areas and dip into the $136 million surplus to balance itself.

Romney has said it will cost some $96 million merely to continue the programs contained in the current year's budget of $820 million — thus the apparent minimum of $196 million for the coming fiscal year.

The budget message of about 8,000 words will be delivered only in writing, not in person, by the Republican governor to the Democratic-controlled Legislature.

His recommendations will go to the Senate Appropriations and House Ways and Means committees for scrutiny.

Under the current legislative calendar, spending for the year beginning July 1 will be determined by June 3.

Education, both local and higher, is expected to pick off a major share of whatever improvements Romney recommends.

He promised primary and secondary increases in his State of the State message and in a talk to community college trustees said he'd offer both operating and building boosts.

State construction projects — the bulk of them at colleges and universities — are expected to get another sharp prod from the governor.

In his State of the State message, Romney said his new budget would contain funds for building projects with a final total value of $475 million.

His so-called planning-to-ribbon-cutting figure a year ago was $260 million.

These figures are not one-year budget totals but the value of all buildings in progress — some of which may have their cost appropriated over a three-to-five year period.

Mental health, a $102 million budget item this year, is due for a $10 million increase next year, according to the governor's message.

Bonanza for City GM Workers

A total of 2,709 General Motors Corp. salaried employees in Pontiac will receive over $5.2 million as a result of their participation in the company's 1960 Savings-Stock purchase program.

The $5,202,983 payoff is the outgrowth of $1,416,282 originally invested in 1960 by the participating employees.

Distribution of GM common stock, government bonds and cash is being made this week to the salaried employees who chose to receive their assets from the 1960 "Class."

Johnson Order Expected Soon to End Pause

President Is Reported Weighing All Factors Involved in Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected soon to order renewal of bombing attacks on Communist North Viet Nam.

This expectation is widely shared among administration and congressional authorities.

The bombing lull is now in its 34th day.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said today that Johnson is still "weighing all the factors involved in our position in Southeast Asia and is assessing and evaluating those factors."

Among such factors is the following view known to be held by some of his advisers:

In spite of the military cost involved, a prolonged bombing suspension or even a decision not to resume bombing at all would be justified by the diplomatic interest involved.

It would, according to this view, retain maximum good will in foreign countries and minimize prospects of increasing tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union.

NO ALTERNATIVE

Nevertheless the President, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other administration leaders gave the impression to congressional leaders at a White House conference yesterday that they see no alternative, in view of military considerations, except to renew the bombing.

The question of timing is considered open, but military and diplomatic authorities think a presidential order is likely in a matter of days rather than weeks.

The White House session with leaders of Congress included some who have outspokenly opposed resumption of the bombing.

The session came shortly after the State Department disclosed that the United States had been notifying interested foreign governments that the peace offensive was a failure in getting North Viet Nam to agree to negotiate, and that the United States would not agree to a ceasefire.

A low of 3 above was recorded at 3:30 this morning. By 2 p.m. the mercury had sallied up to 17.

Bloomfield Hills Slates School Vote

By PAT MCCARTY

An $11-million school building program, including five new elementary schools, will be on a special ballot in the Bloomfield Hills School District April 4.

The building package, to be financed through the state school loan fund, will not increase the school tax rate more than 50 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation, school officials maintain.

The figure for the bond issue proposal was determined last night by Bloomfield Hills Board of Education members, who also set the special election date to correspond with municipal elections within the district.

Warned in October that the district's building program was not keeping pace with enrollment increases, school trustees subsequently were told they could count on needing $8 million to $10 million worth of new facilities by 1971.

Enrollment is expected to jump from the current 7,617 to 12,000 in the next five years.

BOND PROPOSAL

In authorizing the drafting of the $11-million bond proposition, school board members indicated that figure may be altered slightly before it is placed on the ballot.

Architects are to review cost estimates and present their analysis at a special board meeting Tuesday.

The updated enrollment projections were calculated by consultants from Michigan State University. Architects at Tarrata-MacMahon Associates, Inc., of Bloomfield Township estimated cost of the new buildings in December.

Estimated cost of the five new elementary schools is $5,818,780.

5 YEARS

Educational consultants have noted the district should build the equivalent of one new elementary school annually for the next five years.

Also in the bond issue are funds to complete buildings authorized in a $7.6-million bond issue approved in 1964.

Substantial increases in construction costs account for much of the additional money being sought.

Those projects and the additional funds needed for their completion are the district's second high school, to be completed by September 1967, $1.1 million.

Area 'Sniper' to Face Charge

A 1957 charge of assault with intent to murder against Oakland County's alleged "phantom sniper," Gary Addison Taylor, will be pursued by the prosecutor's office, but the decision has not yet ruled out the possibility that a sanity hearing will be called.

Taylor, 29, of Royal Oak, was returned to the Oakland County Jail last week after authorities at Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane said that he is now able to understand the charges against him.

He was committed to the hospital in March 1957, after being accused of shooting at seven women and wounding two of them shortly before his arrest a month earlier. He was never tried on the charge.

Asst. Prosecutor Ronald Covaluit said today that there is a "strong possibility that a sanity commission hearing will be held before any preliminary court examination is scheduled."

Four Blazes Account for Half '65 City Loss

Four major fires last year accounted for over half the fire loss in the city of Pontiac, according to a report submitted last night to the City Commission by Pontiac Fire Chief James R. White.

White noted, however, that the total damages of $447,000 in the city were down over $400,000 from the figure recorded for 1964.

The worst blaze of the year in terms of monetary loss was a $117,000 fire which swept the site of Plywood Distributors Co., 375 Cass, last April 11.

Three other fires of major proportions accounted for another $107,000. The remainder of damages came in 370 other business and residential fires.

Commission Okays Budget

Calls for Tax Rate of $17.50 Per Thousand

A record 1966 budget, now estimated to require a tax rate of $17.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation, was approved last night by the City Commission.

The total $9.2 million budget incorporates a general operating budget of $7.6 million—$650,767 higher than last year.

The 1966 tax rate was $17.90 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Emphasizing that final equalization figures won't be available until later in the spring, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the projected 40-cent drop in the tax rate generally reflected a decrease in the special earmarked sanitation millage.

The millage was increased last year to provide funds for the purchase of a sanitary land fill site.

The annual appropriation ordinance was passed by the commission after a public hearing that featured objections by one citizen, James L. Carr, 1051 Canterbury.

QUIZZES WARREN

Carr quizzed Warren on the use of city cars after working hours and the efficient use of police personnel.

Warren said city cars are used by those, such as himself, on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The city manager further claimed that police personnel were used for clerical work only as much as is necessary.

Carr claimed that $14,000 appropriated for youth protection services could be better spent to attract industry to the city. He said the youth services were duplicating county services.

AUSTERE SPENDING

Essentially, the 1966 budget holds city departments to austere spending in line with last year's budget, allowing for pay raises for most municipal employees.

The budget appropriates some funds for new waste collection and disposal equipment, nine new policemen and 13 new police cars.

City Manager Warren pointed out that the projected drop in the tax rate did not mean the city was not levying all that it could.

He said the full charter-limited 10 mills would be levied for operating purposes.

The tax rate is reduced in areas supported by special earmarked millage.

Lawyer Enters Court Race

William R. Beasley, attorney for the city of Huntington Woods and the Birmingham and Ferndale School Districts, announced today that he is a candidate for Oakland County Circuit Judge.

An attorney for 23 years, Beasley, 47, of 330 W. Drayton, Ferndale, was president of the Oakland County Bar Association in 1957-58, after previous service as a director.

Long active in legal assistance to the indigent, he was an organizer of the Oakland County Legal Aid Society and served as its president from 1961 to 1964. He continues as a director.

Beasley will seek one of the two open seats on the bench.

In partnership with Oak Park City Attorney Carl W. Forsythe for more than 18 years, Beasley is a graduate of the University of Michigan Law School.

ROMNEY BACKER

He was cochairman of the Oakland County Lawyers for George Romney Committee in 1962.

From 1951 to 1953 Beasley was a Ferndale City Commissioner. Presently he is a member of the South Oakland Hospital Authority and Ferndale Rotary Club and has been a director of the Oakland County Citizens League.

He has also served as a city commercial chairman for the Torch Fund and as a director of the Oakland County chapter of the American Red Cross.

sium, multipurpose room and instructional materials center for each building. In addition, several other improvements were recommended.

An estimated $619,000 would be earmarked for improvement of existing secondary buildings, including:

- Improvement of outdoor athletic facilities.
- Expansion of libraries and learning centers.
- Expansion of vocational facilities.
- Major additions to classrooms.
- Auditoriums for the two high schools.
- Swimming pools for both high schools.

Also proposed at last night's meeting was a new board of education building, which would be built on existing school property.

Tatroe thanked members of the citizens' committee for their extensive study and ensuing recommendations, which was undertaken with the advice of architects, and stressed the need for the program.

"I'm impressed and somewhat staggered," he said. "There aren't many communities that would undertake a program of this magnitude."

"It can be done and it must be done," said Tatroe. Heading the four subcommittees of the citizens' body are Donald Redmond, finance; Charles Sitton, community facilities; Arnold Wilson, high school facilities; and Mrs. Edwin Markham, elementary school facilities.

BASE OF SUPPORT
 By messages to foreign governments and the discussion with congressional leaders, Johnson apparently was trying to build the broadest possible base of support for a renewal of the air operations.

His essential argument was that instead of moving toward the conference table the North Vietnamese had increased infiltration into the South, on some occasions using huge truck convoys for a maximum flow of men and supplies.

Officials said they saw no chance of any early change in North Viet Nam's rebuff to U.S. peace overtures.

2 Men Are Arrested by FBI in Railroad Extortion Plot

BOSTON (UPI) — On television, a teen-ager plotted to extort $100,000 from a railroad under threat of blowing up a bridge.

In real life, the FBI said, two men conspired to shake down the Boston and Maine Railroad for $250,000 by threatening to dynamite its facilities throughout New England.

The similarities between the television drama, shown on a national network last month, and the real plot, smashed with the arrest of two men yesterday, apparently was coincidental.

The actual plot was concocted before the TV show was broadcast.

FBI agents arrested the two suspects, Donald Albert Dupray, 26, and Caleb John Babbitt, 25, at their homes in the central Massachusetts community of Athol.

The FBI said both men signed statements admitting their roles in the plot.

NOT ARRESTED

U.S. Commissioner Francis H. Farrell reported a juvenile also implicated in the conspiracy had given information to the FBI. He was not arrested.

James L. Handley, special agent in charge of the FBI's Boston office, said agents found 75 sticks of dynamite in the trunk of Dupray's car.

He said both men had signed statements admitting their roles in the plot.

The extortion scheme was even more ambitious than the story aired Dec. 12 on the network television series, "The FBI."

TV EPISODE

In an episode subtitled "How to Murder an Iron Horse," a 19-year-old boy threatened to explode a bomb under a railroad bridge unless railroad officials gave him $100,000.

The FBI was called into the investigation little more than one week after the television drama was screened.

Authorities said however, the two men apparently began planning the scheme in November and did not obtain the idea from the television show.

Storm Drain Program Gets OK for Planning

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The first step toward development of a $3.5-million storm drain has been taken by the Township Board.

The board Monday night adopted a resolution authorizing the Oakland County Drain Office to begin work on plans for the drain.

The program would cover only Bloomfield Township, generally the southern half of the community.

Township engineers twice have developed plans for a joint Bloomfield Hills - Bloomfield Township drain, but city officials have indicated they are not interested in the project, according to Township Clerk Deloris V. Little.

A joint program would have made use of the Sunken Bridge and Gougeon drains in Bloomfield Hills to carry water to the Rouge River.

MATTER TABLED

Mrs. Little noted the matter has been tabled by the City Commission.

The new proposal calls for a drain along 14 Mile Road to the Rouge River near Covington.

In presenting preliminary plans for the drain, township engineers at Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc. estimated the program would take the total levy for township drainage systems to 1.5 mills.

A quarter-mill tax was levied last year for the Hamlin, Murphy and Devonshire drains which have not yet been constructed.

DRAIN LAWS

Under state drain laws, such a program is financed by general obligation bonds and the levy need not come within the 15-mill limit for the township.

Mrs. Little noted there are several areas of the township which can not be developed because of poor drainage conditions and that officials receive numerous complaints of flooded basements in areas that have been developed.

The situation also would prohibit widening of the pavement at the Telegraph and Maple intersection, she said.

The proposed drain would service the area south of Lone Pine.

The study committee was established a month ago to draft a proposed merit system, or civil service program, for county employees.

A previous merit system proposal was presented to the board of supervisors last November but became entangled in amendments and finally was tabled for further study and revision.

Also yesterday, the study committee agreed to a change in the original merit system proposal that specified that the salaries committee of the board of supervisors sit as the personnel policies board.

The new procedure gives the board of supervisors chairman authority to appoint any seven supervisors to this committee which will establish personnel policies.

Study committee members will meet again Feb. 22 to continue work on the merit system which will again be proposed to the full board of supervisors for adoption as an interim program.

Further revisions probably will be made before the merit system is put to a vote of the people for formal approval.

405,050; West Hills Junior High School, September 1967, $231,000; and a bus maintenance facility, February 1967, $72,380.

Some $712,800 would be used for construction of a swimming pool addition to Bloomfield Hills High School by June 1967, $687,500 for a 20-classroom addition to West Hills Junior High School by June 1969 and $1,194,950 for a 25-classroom addition to the second senior high school by September 1970.

The package also includes $660,000 for purchase of four school sites and $217,540 for athletic and recreational facilities at both high schools and West Hills Junior High School.

The board last night resolved it intends "to utilize the state school bond loan fund to the greatest possible degree in order to minimize the tax burden."

A new state law provides low-interest loans for rapidly growing districts that assess 7 mills for building bond retirement.

The Bloomfield Hills district currently has a debt retirement levy of 6.83 mills included in a total school tax of 29.03 mills.

2 1/2 HOURS

Part of yesterday's 2 1/2-hour session at the White House was devoted to a presentation of evidence from aerial reconnaissance and reports of refugees.

These reports indicated that Hanoi has used the pause in the bombings to rebuild roads and bridges and increase the flow of supplies — and perhaps armed troops — to Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

These were some of the items of evidence, mostly photographic, being weighed by the administration as it considered a resumption of bombings:

• More than 200 trucks were photographed in daylight in the southern area of North Viet Nam between Dec. 31 and Jan. 13. Most of the trucks were seen on routes 1A and 15 — the latter moving toward Mugia Pass, a gateway to the Laos infiltration corridor.

• On Jan. 1, a number of trucks were photographed just inside North Viet Nam's border with Laos and others were seen at a rest and refueling area just north of the Mugia Pass.

• Refugees on the Laos side of the border reported counting 500 trucks going south between Dec. 27 and Jan. 14.

One report being considered in the capital suggests that as many as 1,000 infiltrators may have moved into South Viet Nam's northernmost Quang Tri Province on Christmas Day alone.

On the diplomatic front, the series of messages to foreign governments participating in the U.S. peace offensive said that the North Vietnamese Communists have shown no interest in ending the war.

Despite the suspension of bombing, the U.S. messages said, the Reds have continued infiltration and attacks in the South.

Two Land Sale Offers Made to City

Two proposals for the sale of city-owned lands were presented last night to the City Commission.

One proposal, which received tentative approval, provoked a lengthy debate. Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson eventually voted against the okay.

The commission voted 6-1 to give tentative approval to a $22,500 offer to purchase 30 scattered lots in the R20 urban renewal project.

Made by Herbert Chernik of the Detroit Construction Co., the purchase offer put an average of $750 on the 30 residential lots.

Chernik, who would buy three lots immediately and purchase the balance as the building progressed, proposes to build three-bedroom homes in the $13,950 to $21,000 price range.

OBJECTS TO PRICE
Commissioner Hudson, insisting the lots should be advertised, objected to the price on the basis that the reuse appraisal put an average value of $1,000 on the lots.

Hudson claimed the commission was departing from its policy in selling property below the appraised price.

Planning and Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates, who recommended the Chernik offer, said the city had unsuccessfully advertised the lots in the past and that six other builders had been shown the property but had not offered any proposals.

In addition, he said 20 other builders in Pontiac had been contacted and told of the lots available.

MOTION TO TABLE
Hudson's motion to table the Chernik offer for two weeks, to allow time to advertise, lost on a 5-2 vote with Commissioner Robert C. Irwin voting with the District 4 commissioner.

Irwin, in turn, who said the only true value was what someone would pay for it, then joined the majority of the commission in voting the tentative approval.

The land sale proposal goes to the regional urban renewal office for approval and returns for the commission's final okay.

The second proposal presented last night was for the purchase of approximately 32 acres of an old city land-fill site on Orchard Lake Avenue at the Michigan Airline Railroad tracks.

CITY MANAGER
The proposal was referred to the city manager. The offer of $128,000 for the roughly 32 acres was from Phillip LaVant, president of the E.R.E. Company, Inc. of Detroit.

A multiple housing project with some single family homes, a medical clinic and a commercial building are projected for the old fill site. In action embracing the city's urban renewal effort, the commission approved hiring of a Detroit firm to aid in preparing financial reports.

Urban Technical Staff Associates of Detroit will assist in budgeting and accounting of urban renewal funds and in preparations of financial reports to the federal government.

Maximum cost of the firm's aid was put at $5,000 per year.

Commissioner Hudson voted against the contract on the basis that the city had been commended for its accounting reports.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling reported that bids would be received Feb. 14 on a demolition contract for the R20 project.

Involved in the demolition would be two commercial buildings, three houses, two garages and two barns.

In other business last night, the commission approved the city's participation in the cost of modernizing left turn controls from West Huron onto Williams.

Neippling said the traffic signals would be rearranged and illuminated. "No Left Turn" signs would be erected.

Cost of the changes are estimated at $523 with the city's share reaching $264.

In still other action, the commission accepted a deed to property located south of the Waldron Hotel.

The city is buying the lot for $12,000, planning a parking lot there.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren reported last night that the State Municipal Finance Commission had approved sale of bonds for the Clinton River Drain No. 2, moving that project closer to actual construction.

For 'Extra Boost' Program

Huron Valley to Ask U. S. Aid

MILFORD — Huron Valley school officials are planning a program which would give an extra boost to elementary school youngsters having trouble keeping up with their classmates.

With the outline of the program approved by the board of education, staff members today were to submit an application for $38,460 in federal funds for the project.

The money has been assigned to the district under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Aim of the act is to improve educational opportunities for children from low-income families.

The initial program of the Huron Valley School System will be designed to provide remedial help for all children living in the district who are significantly below achievement levels of their age groups.

TAKE TRAINING

Two district teachers, Mrs. Marjorie Bourns and Irene Wisner, have received inservice training from Oakland Schools for their parts in the program.

They are to serve as resource persons, advising elementary school teachers who seek information for development of their academic programs.

The two teachers will spend the major part of their time at Brooks and Duck Lake elementary schools to improve the language arts backgrounds of youngsters who test below achievement levels of their classmates.

Emphasis will be on reading, spelling and English fundamentals.

News of the Area

Troy Commission Agrees to Share Cost of Signal

TROY — The City Commission has agreed to pay half of the installation and maintenance costs of a traffic signal at the intersection of Maple Road and Coolidge.

In view of the development taking place in the area, the Oakland County Road Commission agreed to the traffic light, even though a traffic count failed to meet requirements for traffic signals.

R. W. Osgood, traffic engineer, said more recent traffic counts have been attempted but have not been successful due to weather and construction on Coolidge.

He said development activity in the area will continue to generate a great deal of traffic at the intersection.

The signal will operate "stop and go" between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m., and as a flasher from 10 p.m. to 7 a.m.

ESTIMATED COST

The estimated cost of the installation is $1,650 and the maintenance cost $350 per year. Troy's share will be $825 for installation and $175 for maintenance.

In other action, the commission gave approval to the board of education's application for federal aid in the purchase of two elementary school sites.

The application for $25,000 is being made under the Open Space Land Program for which the federal government will reimburse a school district up to 50 per cent if it can guarantee that part of the land it buys will remain open space.

2 to Oppose Incumbents for Troy Seats

TROY—Incumbent City Commissioners Ben S. Jones and Glen H. Houghten will be opposed in their bid for three-year terms in the April 4 general election.

Since only two other candidates filed nominating petitions before the Monday deadline, there will be no need for a primary.

Opposing Jones and Houghten will be Gerald Hershberger of 285 E. Long Lake and John Stine of 1915 Boulan.

An attorney, Hershberger is making his third try for a commission seat, Stine, who is running for the first time, is a broker with the U.S. Trucking Co., Detroit.

Jones was appointed to the commission in August to fill the unexpired term of the late Clifford F. Sutermeister Jr.

ELECTED IN 1963

Houghten was elected to the commission in April, 1963.

Also on the April 4 ballot will be the question of a pay increase for commissioners and a charter amendment giving the city manager the right to hire an assessor.

The pay increase proposal will $5-per-meeting raise. Commissioners presently receive $10 per meeting. It will also ask that the maximum to be earned in one year be raised from $600 to $900.

The charter amendment is to straighten out contradictory clauses. One states that the city manager is responsible for hiring an assessor and the other states that it is the commission's responsibility.

Missionaries Due to Speak in Troy

TROY—Rev. and Mrs. Philip J. Cochran, Congo missionaries who narrowly escaped imprisonment by rebels in 1964, will be among the missionaries to speak at the annual missionary convention at Troy Assembly of God Church.

The convention will be held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday through Wednesday.

The Cochranes went to the Congo in 1958 where they founded the Elodi Medical Center. They have recently been appointed as missionaries to Ghana, West Africa.

Women's Unit Sets Meeting

ROCHESTER — The Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church will hold a luncheon and meeting starting at noon tomorrow.

Mrs. Hector McMillan of Waterford Township, a former missionary to the Congo, will be guest speaker.

Mrs. McMillan and her six sons were with her husband in Stanleyville, Congo when he was killed by rebels during the 1964 revolt.

Walled Lake District

Adult Classes Sign Tuesday

WALLED LAKE — Registration for adult education classes in the Walled Lake School District will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday at Walled Lake High School.

Classes will begin the week of Feb. 7.

Among the courses scheduled is one in dramatics, being offered for the first time in the district.

The Monday night course will cover all phases of theater production.

Instructor will be Ross Easty, a graduate of the Pasadena Playhouse College of Theater Arts who recently returned from a USO tour of the Far East, including Viet Nam.

Other classes meeting Monday night are welding, knitting, refresher shorthand and French.

Tuesday classes are oil painting, men's gym, welding, driver education, new math, knitting, dog obedience and sewing.

Scheduled for Wednesday nights are great books, home nursing, driver education, book-keeping, cake decorating, women's gym and bridge.

A course in beginning knitting is being offered Thursdays.

In addition, several courses for high school credit are scheduled to meet twice a week for 15 weeks. Meeting Monday and Wednesday are algebra, plane geometry, shop math and government.

Classes in American literature and typing will be held Tuesday and Thursday.

Any person 16 years of age or older who is not enrolled in high school can register for the courses.

For Conservation

Pine Tree Orders Accepted

Orders for pine tree seedlings are being taken by the Oakland County Soil Conservation District, according to Ellis G. Humphrey, work unit conservationist.

Species available this year are white pine, red pine, Austrian pine, Scotch pine and Norway spruce.

Order blanks may be obtained at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, 4515 Highland, Waterford Township; the Cooperative Extension Service office, 155 N. Saginaw, Pontiac; or the SCD office, Room

9 of the Federal Building, 35 E. Huron.

The trees will be available sometime between April 1 and April 15, Humphrey said.

Those who order trees will be notified of the time and place to pick them up.

Site for Junior High Is Purchased in Troy

TROY—After several months of negotiations, the board of education has completed the purchase of an 18.78-acre junior high school site for a total price of $57,881.

The land, located on Donaldson south of Square Lake, consists of 12 different parcels owned by seven persons. The price per acre is $3,080.

The site acquisition is part of an eight-point program approved by voters as part of a $4-million bond issue last June.

To date, the board has completed purchase of the junior high site, two elementary sites which will be put into use when construction starts in the spring, and a site for a future elementary school.

Still to be acquired are two

Meeting Highlighted by Awards, Election

Some 200 persons gathered at St. Benedict's Church in Waterford Township last night for the 20th annual meeting and banquet of the Oakland County Soil Conservation District.

Awards, election of a director and the annual report of the district highlighted the business meeting, which was topped off with a unique slide show presented by Robert Brouwer of Grand Rapids.

James Reid, chairman of the district, acted as toastmaster for the affair.

A plaque was presented to Zolie Visnyak of 50655 W. Nine Mile, Novi Township, named the district's outstanding soil and water conservation farmer of 1965.

This was the first presentation of such an award, which in the future will be made annually.

FIRST PRIZE

First prize in the county's annual corn-growing competition, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, went to E. L. Morris, manager of Tollgate Farms at 28115 Meadowbrook, Novi Township, for his yield of 149.2 bushels.

Second place went to John Speiza Jr. of 4960 Rochester, Addison Township. Nelson Tucker of 1985 Oakwood, Brandon Township, and Keith Middleton of 2610 Stony Creek, Oakland Township, tied for third.

Harold Mitchell, district vice chairman, was reelected to a three-year term as a director. He was opposed by Eldridge Bryan of Highland Township.

Jay Poffenberger, former county agriculture agent, was honored for his service to the district. He was presented a watch by Reid and verbal tributes were paid by leaders of other county farm organizations.

LOCAL OFFICE

Poffenberger was with the local Extension Office nine years before being transferred to Presque Isle County last December.

The annual report of the district was presented by Robert McCrory, member of the board of directors.

elementary sites, a site for a future junior high and expansion of the Niles School property.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Construction of an elementary school will start in the spring on a 13-acre parcel at the end of Forsyth which cost $41,408.

A second elementary school will be started this spring on a 15-acre site costing $53,677.

The site for a future elementary school consists of six acres adjoining Boulan Park for which the board paid $32,000.

The board is attempting to obtain federal aid for three elementary sites and a junior high site.

OTHER ACTION

In other action, the board decided to ask members of the last citizens study committee to meet to discuss the relative merits of a 6-2-4 educational program and a 6-3-3 plan.

Ninth graders are now part of the high school giving the district a 6-2-4 plan or six elementary grades, two junior high grades and four senior high grades.

Co-op Nursery School to Hear Wayne U. Prof

ROCHESTER — J. Frank Campbell of the College of Education, Wayne State University will be the guest speaker at the 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow of the Rochester Co-op Nursery School.

His topic will be "The Three P's for Preschoolers—Patience, Pacing and Perceiving." The meeting will be held at St. Luke's Methodist Church.

Soviets Set to Release Dead American to U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — The body of Newcomb Mott, the young American who died while serving a Soviet prison term, will be returned to the United States this weekend, the U.S. Embassy said today.

An embassy spokesman said the body would probably be sent to London via an Air India flight Friday night and then be transferred to a New York-bound plane Saturday morning.

Mott, 27, died last Thursday on a Soviet train taking him from a jail in Murmansk to a labor camp. He was serving an 18-month sentence for entering the Soviet Union illegally.

Soviet officials said he killed himself by cutting his throat. They promised a full investigation.

The spokesman said the embassy was still waiting for further reports on the investigation. An autopsy Monday, attended by the American embassy doctor, left several questions unanswered. Among them were:

1. Identification of the instrument that made the fatal wound. It was not produced at the autopsy.

2. Explanation of cuts on Mott's wrists, elbows, stomach and neck and how these cuts fit in with the official Soviet explanation of suicide.

3. How Mott managed to administer a cut in his own throat five inches wide.

The Church of the Transfiguration, more popularly known as the Little Church Around the Corner, was built in 1848.

BURIAL DELAYED — The burial of Robert G. Thompson (above) in Arlington National Cemetery has been delayed because the former Communist party leader had served more than five years in prison on federal charges, the Pentagon said yesterday. He served 21 months in the U.S. Army, earning the Distinguished Service Cross in 1943.

Urges More U.S. Jobs for Five States

LANSING (AP) — The five Great Lakes states, despite advantages in brain power and manufacturing power, are not receiving a fair share of federal government contracts, Gov. George Romney said Tuesday.

Romney said the states hold nearly 30 per cent of the nation's productive capacity but receive only about 11 per cent of military procurement expenditures.

In the last 10 years, he added, the Big Ten universities, in and around the Great Lakes states, have conferred more than 30 per cent of the nation's doctoral degrees.

"We must have more of the (government) research (contracts)," Romney told the annual conference of the Great Lakes States Industrial Development Council Inc.

The council includes Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin.

"To help remedy this inequitable distribution of tax resources, we joined in 1964 to establish the Midwest Resources Association, which channels information about available federal programs to Midwestern states and in turn makes the capabilities of the Midwest known to federal agencies," he said.

Romney also noted efforts of the Midwestern Governors' Conference to bring the Atomic Energy Commission's proposed new 200 billion electron volt accelerator to the Midwest.

"We are more concerned about it coming into the Midwest than in it coming into any of our particular states," he said.

WATER RESOURCES

In addition to full use of federal programs, Romney suggested preservation of water resources and expansion of international trade as important ways toward industrial development.

He said he hoped other states along Lake Erie would follow programs similar to one just launched in Michigan to clean up the lake and the Detroit River.

As for international trade, he said, "we're convinced we can do a great deal more."

FAVORABLE CLIMATE

Romney said industrial development requires private initiative and skills plus a favorable climate of public understanding.

"Together with our Canadian neighbors, we live in the heart of the single most prosperous industrial and agricultural area of the world," he said.

"We must maintain and build on these advantages," the governor added.

Plane Crash Kills Pilot Near Rhode Island Site

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R. I. (AP) — A Navy test pilot was killed Tuesday when his Skyhawk crashed in the waters just short of the runway at the Quonset Point Naval Air Station.

The pilot was identified as Lt. Philip Guy Richardson, 31. His wife and three children live in North Kingston, and his parents live in Jackson, Mich.

LBJ's Budget Wears Rose-Colored Glasses

There were few surprises in the 1967 Federal budget that President JOHNSON submitted to Congress Monday since most of its proposals had been touched on in the State of the Union Message or otherwise disclosed.

The $112.6-billion budget is the biggest in history — just under $13 billion more than the 1966 budget that cuts off June 30.

With the exception of a total reduction of $1.5 billion in five areas of government, all others call for spending increases over current appropriations.

U. S. involvement in Viet Nam accounts for a sizable slice of the hike in spending — with an estimated $10.3 billion earmarked for 1967. It brings the total two-year cost of our undeclared war in Southeast Asia to $15.2 billion. Total Defense Department budget, including a new $400-million nuclear aircraft carrier, is $58.3 billion — up nearly $4 billion from this year.

On the domestic front, the President signaled full speed ahead on the Great Society blueprint, with a 23 per cent boost in outlay for education to implement new programs passed by Congress in 1965, bringing the total to $2.8 billion. Over-all expenditures for the Great Society are slated to increase by $2.1 billion.

Financing of the whopping budget would rest on anticipated revenue of $111 billion. Included would be nearly $5 billion expected to materialize through Congressional rescission of excise tax cuts on automobiles and telephone calls that went into effect Jan. 1, and an additional amount to be realized from a 1 per cent boost (to 6 per cent) in the excise levy on airplane passenger travel.

On the supposition that the U. S. economy will continue its breakneck pace through a sixth year of upsurge, Johnson estimates a deficit of $1.8 billion in the 1967 budget — the smallest in seven years. The 1966 budget is expected to wind up $6.4 billion in the red, June 30.

There was immediate criticism from Republican party leaders on several aspects of the budget, and Senate Democratic leader MIKE MANSFIELD commented that barring unforeseen Viet Nam developments "the President's budget requests will be cut somewhat..."

Our own reaction is that the budget is seriously unrealistic. It presupposes for the next 18 months the most favorable climate on the income side while recognizing no adverse possibilities on the outgo. It portends, we think, a fiscal day of reckoning not pleasant to contemplate.

Both houses of Congress will undoubtedly give the budget a pretty good working over before final adoption, but the heavy Democratic majority is unlikely to take revisionary action of consequence.

Savage Child Beater Is a Demon Incarnate

Solved is the mystery surrounding the shocking death of little PEPE MONTALVO and the unspeakable disposition of his body. Unsolved is the mystery of a human heart so infected with bestiality that it finds outlet in beating a two-year-old child to death and consigning the pitiable victim to a revolting burial.

The statement of 20-year-old CAROLINA MONTALVO, unwed mother of the tot, is the revelation of another of society's tragic stories of humankind trapped by a mixture of deficient upbringing and depravity.

With her illegitimate offspring to care for, the mother's course was rudderless as she drifted into a liaison with Alberto Sanchez, the man she charges not only with the murder of her first child but of fathering a second, born a month after the atrocity.

To normal members of society, reared in a climate of respectability and kindness, the revolting background and sordidness of the MONTALVO-SANCHEZ cohabitation is beyond easy comprehension.

None, however, would question the injunction that no effort be spared to apprehend the fiend who vented his savagery on the helpless child and that the fullest measure of punishment be his fate. Not so easy to prescribe is the judgment of society against the young woman whose passive involvement led to the crime.

System of 1700s Picks President

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON — The nation's Founding Fathers were great men but, being human, they were not omniscient. They thought up a system for selecting presidents which did not work. It had to be changed after only four presidential elections. Now it is up for proposed revision once more.

In the minds of many of the makers of the U.S. Constitution was the idea that there is a "natural aristocracy" — composed of men with such qualities as virtue, talent, public spirit, wealth, learning and so on.

Naturally the president should be selected from among the best of these men. But how to do it? The public at large was not considered equipped with enough information or sound judgment to make the selection.

So the Constitution makers hit upon the idea of electors. Each state would choose, by whatever methods it thought best, some of its wisest men to serve briefly as electors.

EACH GOT 2 VOTES
Each would vote for two men. The person who got the highest vote would be president, the next highest vice president.

The system worked in the first three elections, George Washington twice and John Adams once. But in 1800 it sort of broke down — the reason being that in their lack of omniscience the Founding Fathers had failed to foresee the rise of political parties.

Each Republican elector voted for Jefferson and Burr and the result was a tie for president, 73 to 73. Under the Constitution, the election went to the House of Representatives and Jefferson was elected president after 36 ballots.

So in 1804 the Constitution was amended to provide that electors, instead of just voting for two men, would vote separately for president and vice president.

Electors, beginning in 1900, became mostly rubber stamps, merely voting for their party nominees. But a few have not done so, leading to criticism that some day the popular will may be thwarted.

President Johnson proposes to abolish the office of elector. The entire electoral vote of a state would automatically be credited to the ticket which won in the popular vote.

His is not the only suggestion under debate. Others include:

Elect the president and vice president by nationwide popular vote; that is, a plurality of the popular vote cast in the nation at large.

Elect by a "district method." There would be one electoral vote for each congressional district and two at large for each state. A majority of electoral votes in the nation would be required for election.

Can't Say He Hasn't Been Patient!

David Lawrence Says:

Soviets Bungled the Mott Case

WASHINGTON — The Soviet bureaucratic mind, which could conceivably trigger a possible nuclear war some day, has revealed an example of its eccentricity in the handling of the case of Newcomb Mott, an American tourist who is alleged to have committed suicide on a train in Russia.

Young Mott wandered across the Norwegian border last September into Russia without a visa, which he thought he didn't need inasmuch as persons of other nationalities were not required to have visas to enter Russia in this area.

It is alleged in Russia that Mott was a spy and connected with the Central Intelligence Agency. This is absurd on its face. Nobody with any intelligence would ever send into another country on a dangerous mission — or any other kind of errand with risks involved — an American who didn't have a proper visa, especially when it is so easy to employ persons of other nationalities living nearby to undertake such tasks.

But what is even more incomprehensible is the way the arrest and trial were carried on by the Soviet authorities.

To sentence to 18 months of hard labor in a prison camp a tourist who mistakenly assumed he could cross an international boundary, as persons from other countries were privileged to do, is to point the finger of blame squarely on the Soviet bureaucracy.

BRAINWASHED MIND
The receptive mind of the Communist is brainwashed into believing that any form of cruelty may be employed against a so-called enemy.

The Soviet bureaucratic mind, whether in the civilian or military category, is basically regimented and unimaginative, and therein lies the danger of a wrong decision.

Certainly anybody with a knowledge of diplomacy would have hesitated to impair Soviet-American relations at this time by affirming such an incredible sentence to Mott.

Doubtless there are persons in the Soviet Foreign Office who at once saw the error but were afraid to take measures to correct it.

A MYSTERY

Just why the Soviet premier, himself, however, didn't recognize the potential risks is a mystery. For there was ample time to weigh carefully the effects of such an unjust sentence.

Now the blunder has been compounded by the clumsy handling of the inquiry into the circumstances under which Mott died.

Why wasn't a Soviet guard able to prevent the tragedy? Plainly any prisoner undergoing hardship can go berserk and do violence to himself. But the Soviet bureaucrats wouldn't think such things out that way.

The incident undoubtedly will be discussed throughout the world as an example of bureaucratic bungling. For certainly the Russian people are themselves humane and considerate of other persons.

NOT HAPPY

They were not happy when they were mobilized in World War I to fight in behalf of the czar's government, nor were they sympathetic with the cause of Hitler when Stalin lined up the Soviet army as an ally of the Nazis in 1939.

Millions of Russians were lost in World War II due to bureaucratic mistakes in handling military operations. Their families haven't forgotten the blunders of Communist bureaucracy, and some day will express themselves unequivocally about it as they exercise their concerted will.

The Mott incident is a symbol of how Soviet bureaucracy operates and what Communist tyranny can mean.

Bob Considine Says:

Guevara Death Report Not Lacking in Sense

NEW YORK — It makes sense, the report that Che Guevara caught a bullet with his name on it last year during the Dominican Republic's three-headed war and was buried there.

This could account for Fidel Castro's coyness about the mystifying exit from public view of the man he treated like a brother.

Castro has lots of gall, much of it based on his pretty sure knowledge that the U.S. will not slap him down.

But to admit openly that his chief co-conspirator and adviser had undertaken to export Castro's communism elsewhere in Latin America would be risking new U.S. and OAS sanctions.

Hence (perhaps) his sometimes lugubrious, sometimes arch references to Guevara. Hence (probably) his being seen here and there in Havana with flashy Mrs. Guevara.

DEMISE OVERDUE

If Guevara is dead, his demise was overdue. He was a revolutionary, ready to die for his causes, when Castro was still dreaming of being a big league pitcher.

He quit his medical studies at the University of Buenos Aires, near which he was born, to join the Communist underground, then conspiring to overthrow Juan Peron.

He wielded a gun and explosives in the anti-Peron riots in 1952, and was lucky to escape with his life.

He showed up some months later in Bolivia, working in a leper colony by day and haranguing peasants to cast off their imperialist chains by night.

TWIN BUSINESS

He knew his twin-businesses, the military and Marxism. He was with the little Castro force that sloshed ashore in Oriente Province in 1956, took to the mountains of the Sierra Maestra when scattered by Batista forces, and with Fidel when he rode in triumph into Havana — acclaimed on all sides.

I saw Guevara in Santiago a year and a half ago, listening to Castro endlessly address a crowd of 300,000.

He sat next to his dashing wife and contentedly puffed a long cigar.

The 20-20 vision of hindsight now makes me think he looked like a man who wanted some fresh action.

Unite for Survival

Michigan Out-of-Doors

Michigan's 800,000-member UAW-CIO deserves a hearty pat on the back for the way in which it is plunging into natural resource problems.

The anti-pollution conference was attended by 1,000 persons interested in "doing something" about our state's growing water problems. Union leaders were acting not only in behalf of their members but for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Members are those whose voices are faint as individuals. United, however, they are a highly potent force. We here in Michigan United Conservation Clubs are glad to see them striving for the same objectives for which we have fought so long.

Discuss Representation of Latin American People

In regard to the letter from Mr. Tom Chavez, I must say that Mr. Chavez does not represent me or the "Latin American community." He should consult some of us before making statements about us as a whole.

I'm a veteran of WW II and I'm satisfied with the job I've held for nearly 20 years with General Motors. If I or any member of my family should encounter better employment, why should Mr. Chavez be notified of it? How long has he been in Pontiac? A lot of Latins from Pontiac think we are being misrepresented.

ISMAEL RENDON
231 RUTGERS

In reply to a letter by Tom Chavez Jr. in regard to being a representative for the Latin American people of this community, I disagree. To represent a Latin American community you must have at least 75 per cent of the people backing you.

I was one of the survivors of Bastogne in the Battle of the Bulge of World War II. We were surrounded by units and divisions of the German armies. Our division, the 101st Airborne, was asked to surrender or be annihilated. Our commander, Brig. Gen. Anthony B. McCauliffe, refused.

I do not say that I represent the 101st Airborne Division. I am a member of it and very proud. By the same token, Tom Chavez Jr. does not represent the Latin American community. I have belonged to local and national organizations for over 20 years and have been a citizen of Pontiac for 30 years. Now I find that I have a representative. How long have you lived here, Mr. Chavez? 30 days?

'Mature Person Would Help Solve Problem'

I didn't realize there were so many immature people until I started reading the Voice of the People. Every time a teen-ager does something wrong or a hunter gets too close to a house, someone thinks they should be sent to Viet Nam. A mature person would try to help the teen-agers solve their problems or suggest the hunter lose his license. How would they feel if the teen-ager was their son or the hunter was their husband or brother?

Another class of people want to tell the President how to do his job. Do you think LBJ is going to reveal all his plans to the public? Unless you know every move that the President plans to make, how can you say his methods are wrong?

In reply to the statements of J. A. Weiser, principal of Isaac Crary Junior High School, in regard to fighting problems occurring within this school's area, I personally have broken up two of these fights. A poll taken of residents on North Cass Lake Road and various motorists using this road would confirm more disorder. It is also my firm belief that this fighting problem and the disregard for personal property along North Cass Lake Road is caused by the "unruly" five per cent, but let's have some corrective action.

In answer to Irate Citizen concerning gangs at Crary Junior High, Crary isn't like that at all. When you go through any school you will find a certain number of people who act differently but they're not bad once you know them. It is understandable that members of the UAW-CIO should be interested in clean waters. Clean water is necessary for industry to operate properly and efficiently. Industry means jobs. It therefore follows that clean waters means more and better jobs. There is also the serious matter of human survival.

Many union members have belonged to MUCC for years and have worked hard for water-cleanup. It is even more encouraging now to see the UAW-CIO, one of the giants of our state, coming to grips with the problems of pollution and other natural resource problems.

The war on pollution needs every soldier it can get.

Northern Activity...
The New York Times

It is a bit over three weeks now since U. S. bombers paused in their raids on Communist targets in North Viet Nam.

Our aerial reconnaissance shows that the Reds up north are using the lull to rebuild and improve the assorted rail lines and bridges which our planes had taken out. This, of course, will swell the flow of war supplies to the North Viet regulars and their Viet Cong puppets who are killing our men and our South Viet allies and touching off terrorist bombs in Saigon.

What we'd like to know is how otherwise President Johnson expected the enemy to utilize the bombing lull. In plainer English, just how smart is the "peace offensive" anyway?

Lauds Detroit Poverty Fight

Shriver Hails Plan,
Ducks Demonstrators

DETROIT (UPI) — War Against Poverty Director R. Sargent Shriver lauded Detroit's part in the antipoverty program yesterday while saying he did not know how temporary the freeze on Detroit's federal funds would be.

Shriver ducked about 50 demonstrators who gathered before and after his talk to about 1,000 persons attending the first anniversary dinner of Detroit's Total Action Against Poverty program.

The demonstrators were attempting to bring attention to "hundreds of people who are so poor that the gas company shut off their gas in the middle of winter."

The Office of Economic Opportunity announced two weeks ago that funds for Detroit's antipoverty programs would be held up because of "fair-share" spending planned to encompass all communities.

The freeze at that time was seen as a cutback in spending caused by the war in Viet Nam.

DETROIT'S SHARE

Shriver said yesterday, "I have no idea how long the freeze will last." Detroit had been receiving nearly $11 million from the federal government for its projects.

The OEO director called Detroit's program a model for other cities to follow.

He termed the program "first rate, an outstanding example of community action by the total community."

He added that Detroit was one of the first and largest fund recipients under the program because it got off to a fast start with a lot of advance planning.

A SUCCESS

He said the War Against Poverty is meeting with much success because "We are actually getting people out of poverty."

He took a jab at House Minority leader Gerald Ford, R-Mich., without naming him.

Shriver said, "A Michigan congressman said a year ago that there were no poor people." He quoted the congressman as saying last week that the program was not reaching enough poor people.

Shriver had praised project "Head Start," which he said touches nearly 200,000 persons.

He called the centers established under the program "supermarkets for social service" and named Detroit as a pioneer in the activity.

Bid to Drive Up Steps of St. Peter's Falls

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Giovanni Pomponi, 37, tried yesterday to drive his car up the steps of St. Peter's Basilica. Police said he drove into St. Peter's Square at a high speed and went straight up the low steps, but the tires blew out and the car halted abruptly near the top of the steps.

Pomponi, offering no explanation, was hospitalized for contusions, and described in a state of nervous agitation.

Cuban Refugees Get Warm Nebraska 'Hello'

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nine-ty-one years old and partly lame as the result of a recent fall, Miguel Ulecia was helped from the airliner into the 25-degree chill of a typical Nebraska winter evening.

The chill was quickly forgotten in the warmth of a reception from about 45 already-established Cuban refugees, including members of his own family, assembled at the Lincoln Airport to meet him.

And Miguel Ulecia, only two days away from his home in Havana, was on his way to becoming another member of a growing Cuban colony taking root in one of the country's more unlikely areas, the flatlands of the inland Great Plains. As the somewhat indirect result of a Catholic priest's dream, Nebraska's capital city has embraced 30 Cuban families plus scores of unaccompanied Cuban children.

FIVE YEARS AGO

It all started less than five years ago when the Rev. Edward C. Tucheck, as director of the Catholic Social Service Bureau, sought and obtained permission to bring unaccompanied Cuban refugee children to Lincoln.

Fourteen boys and 11 girls made up the first contingent, arriving in September 1961. Since then the total has risen to about 100.

Some of the smaller children have been placed in foster homes. Others, up to age 19, have been cared for in specially set up orphanage type group homes.

As parents and other Cuban relatives have turned up in the United States later, they have been subjected to the Chamber of Commerce salesmanship of the youngsters. Reluctant to leave friends and pleasurable school situations, many of the children have induced their elders also to adopt the city.

OLDEST REFUGEE

For Miguel Ulecia, the oldest Cuban refugee so far to find his way to Lincoln, the problem of adjustment to Nebraska's climate, language and Nordic-Slavic heritage promised to be more challenging than it has for more pliable youngsters and younger adults.

But three weeks after his arrival, surrounded by children and grandchildren in a 10-member household, Ulecia was able to say he likes it here, is happy to be with his family and is looking forward to summer and the chance once again to be in the sun.

Elsewhere in Lincoln, Darlo Perez, 27, and his wife look forward to the prospective arrival of parents, a grandmother, aunts and uncles and two sisters of Mrs. Perez.

"I don't think they will want to leave here once they come," said Perez, who worked in a cigarette factory in Havana.

"It's a nice place. If they want to work, they can make it really good. And there is plenty of work."

Perez puts in 44 hours a week as maintenance man at a downtown church, and another 20 to 25 hours a week at a manufacturing plant.

"I guess I will never leave here," he said. "We are doing really well."

Perez is amused at the quick Americanization — U.S. style — of the older of his two daughters, Teresa, 4.

DANCES TWIST

"She only wants to speak English all the time," said the father, who counted only one year's study of the language before he left Cuba. "She also dances the twist. She's terrific."

Cubans here say language represents the most difficult adjustment. Youngsters pick up English quickly, but elders find it more of a struggle.

"When I came to this country

3½ years ago, the only thing I want to have to make new friends."

For Mario Fiallo, the outlook was better. His parents were coming to Lincoln for a reunion which Mario envisioned as "the most wonderful thing that has ever happened to me."

But in at least one area — the custom of unchaperoned dating — Mario saw the prospects of some conflict with parents, accustomed to Cuba's chaperonage customs.

LEFT FRIENDS

Carlos Rosello, facing the prospect of departure to join his recently-arrived parents in Boston, Mass., was saddened by the thought of leaving friends with whom he had lived through his 3½ years in the United States.

"They are like brothers to me, and that's why I don't want to go to Boston," he said. "I don't want to have to make new friends."

LONG TALK

"The first thing I am going to do when I see my father is to sit down with him and have a good talk with him about these things," he said.

Armando Gonzales - Vinas arrived in Lincoln at the age of seven and lived for three years with a foster family. He recently returned to Miami to join his newly arrived parents.

The day after that reunion, Armando nicknamed "Mandy" took pencil in hand and wrote this letter to Lincoln friends:

"I am not very happy without seeing Mr. and Mrs. Davis. I wish I could go back."

NO TELEVISION

"We don't got a television nor a radio nor a record player. I wish we did because could see science fiction and cowboys movies and other kinds of movies."

"My father is right in back of me reading."

"Be sure to write to me."

U. S. Probing Icy Plateau

Stations Being Built for Antarctica Study

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The United States is building a completely new research station high on a remote icy plateau of Antarctica.

Russia and Australia are each building new stations to replace older ones damaged by ice and snow of that harsh land.

Japan has reopened a station and Norway has closed one down.

In an expanding search to probe the icy secrets of dramatic Antarctica, scientists from 12 nations are setting up instruments to study the wind, ice, cosmic radiations and rich animal and plant life of the surrounding oceans.

Of all the scientific programs, the United States retains the largest. The new Plateau Station, due to be finished in a few weeks, will be the seventh scientific base operated by the United States.

KEY PROGRAM

This station is part of a program sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Navy to transport, shelter, feed and sometimes rescue about 150 to 175 scientists and 2,500 to 4,000 assistants.

About a dozen ships and a squadron of aircraft help in the yearly operation, which costs about $28,000,000.

Four U.S. scientists and four assistants will be stationed at Plateau, which is located on Queen Maud's land, on a lonely 13,000-foot ridge where no plant or animal grows naturally, and the nearest human community is about 600 miles away.

The station will be at an altitude of 11,500 feet, where temperatures sometimes plunge lower than 120 degrees F. below zero.

Here men will study meteorology of the lower atmosphere, solar and other cosmic radiations, and will conduct limited medical experiments. The station will be operated on a round-the-year basis for two years.

U.S. Tops Red China Hate List—Briton

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In comparatively well-stocked and relaxed Budapest, Hungary, not too long ago, a British buyer leaned back and told of his most recent trip to Red China.

"You have no idea," he said, "how they hate the United States."

"It's drummed into the smallest children. As an English-speaking businessman, I almost had to wear a flag on my jacket to prove I was not an American."

The businessman, a toy buyer whose trip had not been to successful, typified in his own way the thousands of well-manicured representatives of the west who stream into Red China in the interests of expanded trade.

Even as the United States steadfastly has maintained its total ban on trade with Red China, its Western allies and Japan steadily have whittled down the agreed list of strategic goods banned for sale to the nation of 700 million people.

TRADE JUMPED

Within the last year, Red China's trade with the West jumped close to 20 per cent over 1964, most of it in far less frivolous items than toys.

It did not make Red China a major trading nation. The two-way trade, amounting to about $3.5 billion, came to less than a drop in the bucket of the world total.

Nor did the Western traders make any great killing. The Chinese are shrewd bargainers.

In the forefront of U.S. allies increasing their Red China trade was Japan.

LOOK TO CHINA

Despite the fact that the United States remains Japan's best customer, Japanese businessmen traditionally look toward China as a vast market and increasingly are pressing the government to remove restraints.

Last year, Japan's trade with the Red Chinese came to about $400 million suggesting that eventually Japan may become Red China's major trading partner.

As the Soviet-Red Chinese rift has deepened, the Chinese have not let ideological reasons stand in the way of expanded world trade.

On generous credit terms she has purchased heavy freighters and trucks from France, oil pipes from Britain, seamless steel pipes from West Germany and whole plants from West Germany for an over-all total in the non-Communist world of about $2.5 billion.

PRESSING DRIVE

Red China's pressing drive to recover from the disaster of the "great leap forward" in 1958 and to expand her industry and agriculture provide important reasons for her refusal so far to become involved in a war with the United States over Vietnam.

None of the goals could be accomplished if the United States blockaded her ports and wrecked her cities.

Supplemental Material Adds Meat to Course

Textbooks Are Necessary Guide for Teacher, Pupil

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Pupils do not learn in school alone. They are surrounded by opportunities.

Newspapers provide daily accounts of history in the making. They also report the latest in science, education and medicine. They review the best of the new books.

Paperback books are now available to students in great numbers. There is a wealth of reference materials in libraries. Material from all these sources adds meat to the sometimes bare bones of the textbook. For, indeed, textbooks are not being replaced.

They still are a necessary guide for both the teacher and the student.

Without a textbook, it is difficult for a student to look ahead and prepare his mind in advance for the understanding of the ideas presented in the classroom.

Students need to review from time to time the basic organization of a course. As they add knowledge and ideas, these must be woven into the overall pattern. The end result of education should be the organization of knowledge in the mind of the student. With this end in view, the process should be carried on throughout the length of the course.

Development of this skill not only takes time, but demands the guideposts found in textbooks, especially in the early stages of learning.

The textbook presents material predigested and already organized. Yet something more is needed for the all around training of the student. The multiple reference method of assigning work should be introduced as soon as the student has gained sufficient skill in cursory writing to prepare a notebook.

Use of references outside the textbook should be gradually increased, giving the student experience in the gathering and organization of material.

By the time he reaches graduate school, he can be free from restrictions of a textbook and set up his own program of learning and research.

Rapid change is no excuse for avoiding the use of a text. Supplements with recent changes often are made available by publishers or can be provided by the teacher.

Cost of textbooks is such a small fraction of the cost of a child's education that he should not be handicapped by having to struggle along with outmoded ones or, even worse, with none at all.

HIGHWAY MISERY — At least 25 cars had flat tires on an interstate highway yesterday in Chattanooga, Tenn., after a truck spilled bits of tin scrap. The truck driver, unaware of the misery he caused, did not stop. The photographer counted 25 cars at this spot, but there were probably many more farther down the highway with flats.

Congress Gets Plan for Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sends to Congress today his proposals "to rebuild completely — on a scale never before attempted — entire central and slum areas of several of our cities."

This proposal, made in the State of the Union message two weeks ago, is one of the major items in the message on the cities.

Johnson has said the major task of the new Department of Housing and Urban Development is to make the cities better places in which to live.

Today's message details some of his new ideas, including probably some proposals made previously dealing with coordinating planning in urban areas and federal aid for development of new towns in the suburbs.

Proposals for federal aid in creating whole new towns were made twice before but failed to win congressional approval.

In his State of the Union message, Johnson hinted at plans for massive pilot projects in rebuilding center cities.

"In some of our urban areas, we must help rebuild entire sections and neighborhoods containing, in some cases, as many as 100,000 people. Working together, private enterprise and government must press forward with the task of providing homes and shops, parks and hospitals, and all the other necessary parts of a flourishing community where our people can come to live the good life," he said.

The message is expected to cover only legislative programs, not proposals for organization or reorganization of the new Department of Housing and Urban Development. It is understood that any proposals for including new functions in the department, other than those laid out in the legislation last year, will be in a separate message or a reorganization plan.

2 Men Fatally Shoot Each Other in Fight

SAGINAW (AP) — Two men shot and fatally wounded each other Tuesday in a fight on Saginaw street. Police said Lindsay Barney, 43, and James Barnes, 26, were fighting when both drew pistols and shot one another. Barney died of a wound in the lung, and Barnes of a wound in the head.

Detail Trap for Firestone Kidnap Plotters

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police witnesses gave their official version yesterday of how they laid an intricate trap for the "mastermind" of a plot to kidnap tire magnate Leonard K. Firestone and how their informer "froze" and also fell in the hail of police bullets.

More disclosures were expected today — the second day of a coroner's inquest into the killing of the two men.

It was revealed yesterday that five persons originally were in on the kidnap scheme and the victim originally was to have been Woolworth heir Lance Reventlow, son of Barbara Hutton.

Police described how the trap to capture Cal Bailey, 44, and George Skalla, 25, the informer, exploded in violence.

Officers said Bailey, who wore a Halloween-type mask, drew his gun on a detective and Skalla, who was supposed to drop to the floor at any hint of gunplay. But, police said, Skalla "froze" so badly he, too, was slain.

SHOTGUNS, PISTOLS

Armed with shotguns and pistols, Beverly Hills police Lt. B. L. Cork, Sgt. Jack Eggers and Patrolman Jack Mourning were staked-out inside the Firestone mansion Jan. 13 when Bailey and Skalla made the kidnap attempt.

Firestone, who had been warned in advance of the plot by police, was staying with friends in San Francisco when the kidnap attempt occurred.

Authorities claimed Bailey and Skalla planned to seek $2 million to $8 million ransom for Firestone.

As the story unfolded from the lips of the principals involved, it assumed the dimensions of a James Bond spy thriller — police provided the car for the kidnap, had a tape recorder installed in the vehicle and followed the abduction scheme.

Tests Find TB in 17th Child

DETROIT (AP) — A former pupil at a suburban Garden City nursery school Tuesday became the 17th child from the school to contract tuberculosis.

Officials of the Wayne County Health Department said tests indicated very early stages of the disease in the child. Fifteen other children are hospitalized and another is an outpatient at a Detroit sanitarium.

Meanwhile, Health Department officials said they were investigating the possibility that an X-ray of a teacher at the school had been misread and failed to disclose a previous case of TB.

The department said it was swamped with requests for TB tests since the outbreak at the school, but said no discernible spread of the disease was evident.

every mile of the way through Skalla's help.

But the carefully worked-out plan disintegrated when Bailey drew his gun on Eggers at the door of the mansion.

"The gun was pointed directly at my chest," Eggers testified. "I thought 'this man is going to kill me.'"

Eggers said he jumped behind the door and dropped, simultaneously opening fire on Bailey. He fired his service revolver three times.

At the same time, Cork and Mourning — inside the house — each blasted once with their shotguns.

POOL OF BLOOD

Bailey and Skalla crumbled in a pool of blood.

Cork testified he was "very afraid for Eggers' life" and fully believed Bailey intended to use his pistol.

Eggers said he hurdled Bailey's body to rush to the wounded Skalla's side.

"Are you hit, Skalla?" Eggers said he asked.

"I froze," Skalla replied feebly. Skalla, whose weapon had not been fired, died within three hours in Los Angeles County General Hospital.

The original police plan, according to Eggers, was to order Bailey and Skalla to drop their weapons.

It was hoped that "Mr. Bailey would drop his weapon and surrender" because of the "psychological" impact of seeing two shot-gun-toting detectives.

Senators Far Apart on N. Viet Bombing Resumption

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Senate is widely divided on the issue of whether President Johnson should order a resumption of the bombing of North Viet Nam targets in the absence of any Communist peace feelers.

Of 50 senators willing to take a position in an Associated Press survey, 25 said they are against renewing air strikes at this point. Twenty-five said they favor resumption of bombing, most of them contending such action is inevitable.

If the bombings are revived, however, only 18 think they should be expanded to include industrial and military targets in the areas of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, and Haiphong, its chief port.

Senatorial reluctance to take sides on the bombing issue was emphasized by the refusal of 39 members to commit themselves on a decision they said was President Johnson's sole responsibility.

NO DECISION

The White House said late Tuesday that the President had made no decision on the resumption of bombings. Sources said Tuesday night after Senate and House leaders met with Johnson that the congressional group had been given no word on whether the air strikes would be resumed.

Senators were asked in the AP survey: 1. Do you favor resumption of bombing of North Viet Nam targets such as those being hit before the suspension? 2. Do you favor expansion of the bombing to include military and industrial targets in such areas as Hanoi and Haiphong?

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, led the list of those opposed to resuming air attacks.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who said that "war admits of no holiday," nevertheless declined to take a position because he said, "You don't make a final judgment unless you are sure you have the facts."

NO COMMENT

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the assistant Republican leader, declined comment. Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, said he favors resumption of bombings. He said that if the President decides to widen their scope, he will support the action.

The two women senators, Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, and Maurine B. Neuberger, D-Ore., said they are opposed to renewing bombings now and against widening their scope if they are resumed.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said he wants to prolong the pause in attacks in the hope that "we can find some point of negotiation." He said he would not favor expansion to include targets near Hanoi or Haiphong.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said he would not resume bombings unless Communist countries made it clear they wanted to fight the war to a finish.

CHANCE OF PEACE

"If there is a likelihood of a slowdown of the fighting and possibility of restoring any peace to Southeast Asia, I would not resume bombings," he said. "I would not expand the bombings to the Hanoi and Haiphong areas unless I wanted to lose Saigon. They are counter hostages."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said in a statement that resumption of bombing in North Viet Nam "will lose, at least for the present, the chance to negotiate."

"I do not believe that we will make any critical point, solve any dilemma or move along the way to an honorable settlement now by resumed or by larger bombing," he said.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said that in view of the testimony Secretary of State Dean Rusk gave before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, "I do not think that the administration has demonstrated that, in the past, bombing has particularly helped the cause."

MIXED EMOTIONS

It was a matter of mixed emotions for Sen. B. Everett Jordan D-N.C., who said:

"I feel we should do everything we can to make every effort to get those people to the peace table. If they don't agree soon I guess we'll have to resume the bombing, but I'd like to hold off a little longer." He added he would leave any decision on expansion of targets to military leaders.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said he is against renewing bombing attacks because he wants to see a naval blockade tried first.

Most of those who favor resumption of bombings based their position on the belief that, in the absence of any Communist response to peace overtures, such action is inevitable.

PRIME TARGETS

In this group, as well as among some of those who want a longer pause in air attacks, there is a strong feeling that if the bombings are resumed, they should be directed at prime military targets.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the bombing of North Viet Nam has been ineffective. He said attacks should be resumed to hit prime military targets. Symington, who visited Asia in December, called for fuller use of naval power and for elimination of Communist sanctuaries in Laos and Cambodia.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said that "in view of the fact that Hanoi has made no response to President Johnson's peace overtures, the bombing of North Viet Nam will inevitably be resumed — the timing, of course, is up to the President."

"Our previous bombing of North Viet Nam was extremely restrained and with one exception — a small power plant near Haiphong — was limited to non-strategic targets," he said. "This is not the most effective use of our airpower. When bombing of North Viet Nam is resumed, it will be necessary to hit selected strategic targets, like power, petroleum, and others."

MILITARY CHOICE

Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., said that "if the North Vietnamese don't come to the conference table soon to negotiate on peace, I think we'll have to resume bombing, but I think the military will have to decide the timing."

A number of senators declined to comment on the questions and one of them, Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., assailed polls on such matters. He said it was unimportant how many members thought bombing should be resumed.

"What is important," he said, "is our purpose, our goal. The question of bombing North Vietnamese targets, or even to expand our target selection to include industrial or military targets in the Hanoi-Haiphong complex, cannot be separated from the overall policy of our government."

"Viet Nam is a complex, gray area of decision; not conveniently black and white and the saying 51 senators favor bombing decisions must be based on goals and needs and knowledge people on Main Street think we and not on a newspaper story should invade the north."

Mrs. Googasian to Be Hostess for Tri Deltas

Tri Deltas of the Birmingham Alumnae, Group II, will gather on Tuesday in the home of Mrs. George Googasian on East Iroquois Road. Mrs. William Malloy Jr. will be cohostess.

Members will make Valentine favors for Pontiac State Hospital patients.

Mrs. William Tillotson is president this year; Mrs. Robert Cameron, vice-president; Mrs. Calvin Moore, treasurer; Mrs. Googasian, recording secretary, and Mrs. John McFaridge, corresponding secretary.

Any Tri Delta alumna interested in joining this evening group should contact the president.

First Negro Woman Federal Judge

By AUSTIN SCOTT

NEW YORK — When Constance Baker Motley was a high school senior in her home town of New Haven, Conn., her father, a chef, asked why she had already decided to become a lawyer.

"... law is difficult," she replied, "and I want to do something that's difficult."

EYE OF THE STORM

She certainly did. Most of Mrs. Motley's adult years have been spent in the eye of one legal hurricane or another.

Her selection by President Johnson Tuesday to be a federal district court judge is not likely to ease her burden.

She is believed to be the first Negro woman to be nominated for a federal judgeship.

Northern born and Southern educated, with graduate work at Columbia University Law School, she has helped break several precedents in her 21-year career.

She studied for more than a year at Fisk University, then attended New York University and was graduated with a degree in economics.

NAACP

As second ranking attorney in the legal defense fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People — the $2-million-a-year agency that handles much of the nation's civil rights cases — she has argued many times before the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1964, she left the fund to enter a special election, and became New York's first Negro woman state senator.

A year later, she was named by the Democrats as Manhattan's first woman borough president, a $35,000-a-year post.

Mrs. Motley, 44, is the wife of real estate man Joel W. Motley, and the mother of 15-year-old Joel Jr.

"I think a woman has to be good enough at her job to justify her skipping the housework," she once said. "She certainly should be able to earn enough to justify paying a housekeeper."

Send Goodies to Students

Group I of the Oakland County Alumnae chapter of Delta Zeta sorority will meet on Feb. 2 for a coffee. Mrs. Laurence Trevarrow Jr. of Far Hill Drive will hostess the 10 a.m. event.

Members will bring homemade cookies to be sent to Delta Zetas at Northern Michigan University, along with book marks decorated with the sorority creed for Valentines day.

Plans will be discussed for the annual theater benefit party at the Village Players on April 1. The performance will be "An Inspector Calls."

Plan March Vows

The engagement of Kathleen Ann Larson to Donald Eugene Morgan, son of the Joe Morgans of Riviera Terrace, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Larson of Royal Oak.

A March 5 wedding date has been set.

The four children of Mrs. Norman Russell, Cristy Street, are pleased that mama went to cooking school Tuesday evening. She won the portable General Electric television set donated by Hamton Electric Company.

Mrs. Anne McCleary, North Perry Street, (left) and Mrs. James Hunt, Ostrum Road, are interested spectators at The Pontiac Press cooking school. This is the first cooking school they have attended since they went to ones The Press sponsored in the 30's.

After going to a laundromat for two years, Mrs. Robert Patton, Bangor Drive, can hardly believe she has won a Westinghouse automatic washer. With her is Tim Morrison, representing World Wide Home Furnishings, Inc., the company donating the washer.

Mrs. Bessie Whitehorn, Elizabeth Lake Road, won a sewing machine donated by Richman Sewing Center.

Delighted to win one of three diamond pendants awarded at The Press cooking school, Mrs. Elgin Green, Berkeley Street, holds it up for admiration before trying it on. Connolly's Jewelers has donated the pendants.

Her Private Life Has Affect on Government Job

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago, my best friend applied for a job with the government in Washington, D. C. She said she needed a security clearance check for this job, so they gave her a lie detector test. All was fine until she was asked some extremely embarrassing questions about her sex life. She then became so shocked and flustered that she failed the test and lost the job opportunity.

Abby, this girl is as normal and aboveboard as a girl can be. Is this form of questioning for a government job routine now?
ALSO SHOCKED
DEAR ALSO: John W. Macy Jr., Chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, assures me that "NO Federal agency subject to civil service rules and regulations screens applicants in this manner."
"Only TWO agencies, both operating outside the civil service framework, use the lie detector (polygraph) in screening applicants. And they feel they must do this because of the top security nature of their work."

DEAR ABBY: I once had some work done by a dentist I liked very much. He has a reputation for being tops in his field, but I never went back to him. The reason being I once saw him turn on the faucet and go through the motions of washing his hands, but I'm quite sure he didn't even get his fingers wet! (He didn't know I was watching him.)
I would like to go back to him again because his work is excellent, but I would have to be sure he washed his hands before going to work on me. Is there some way I can accomplish this without insulting him?
FUSSY
DEAR FUSSY: No. But if you have any such doubts, go to a dentist in whom you have complete confidence. It is hard to believe that a dentist who has a reputation for being tops in his field would be so unhygienic.
Are you sure you don't need to see an eye doctor?
For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

Group Planning Cards, Styles

A card party and fashion show with fashions from Lisbeth's of Birmingham, will be sponsored by the Silver Lake School Association on Tuesday.
The general chairman for the 8 p.m. event in the Silver Lake School is Mrs. Don Bryson.
Mothers modeling will include Mrs. Charles Patrick, Mrs. Richard Puertos, Mrs. Cecile Stricklin, Mrs. David Foran, Mrs. Ronald Arnold, Mrs. David Freeman, Mrs. Larry Pulaskey and Mrs. William Baer.
Scout troop No. 643 will assist the hostesses.

Strolling by on the heels of fashion is Mrs. Larry Pulaskey of Wormer Drive. Taking a moment from their card game to heed the newest in evening wear are (from left) Mrs. Donald Bryson of North Lake Drive and Mrs. Don Tatroe of Angelus Drive. The show and card party on Feb. 1 is sponsored by the Silver Lake School Association. Models will be dressed by Lisbeth's of Birmingham.

A bridal luncheon and shower today in the Lake Angelus home of Mrs. Alton J. Deutscher will honor Margaret Marie Johnson daughter of the Roy W. Johnsons, also of Lake Angelus.

Mrs. R. W. Montgomery gave a shower for the bride-elect, Monday evening at her home in Pleasant Ridge.

Family members, Dr. and Mrs. Willett Whitmore of Manhasset, N.Y. and the Charles Whitmores of Anagansett, Long Island, N.Y. arriving for their niece's wedding, will be house-guests of the Deutschers.

The Johnsons will host the rehearsal dinner, Thursday, in Fox and Hounds Inn, for their daughter and her fiancé, John Andrew Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Douglas of Douglaston, N.Y.

NEXT STOP FOR PRINCE — The boys are leaving their unit at Timbertop, a school in Australian ski country 150 miles northeast of Melbourne. Britain's Prince Charles will start a three-month course at Timbertop

Prince's New School Toughens Boys

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — When Britain's Prince Charles ends his three-month term at Timbertop School he will be expected to swing an ax with the authority of a lumberjack, run six miles up and down a mountainside with no strain, land a trout with little fuss — and pass all his scholastic exams.

He will rise at 7:20 a.m., take a cold shower and make his own bed before breakfast. And at the end of each day in class, he will take an hour's cross-country run.

Timbertop is the school in Australian ski country 150 miles northeast of Melbourne that claims to make self-reliant, independent, practical and physically competent men out of boys. It is a branch of the Geelong Church of England grammar school at Australia's Corio Bay and it has ties with Gordonstoun School in Scotland which the 17-year-old future king has been attending since 1962.

The operations at Timbertop are left almost entirely to the 130 boys of 15 years or older. They select their own leaders and change them frequently to give as many as possible a taste of leadership.

The boys live in groups of 15 in bungalow-type living quarters each containing a dormitory, living room, small pantry, shower room, changing room and boiler room. They must maintain their own living quarters, sweeping the floors, making beds, keeping the area tidy and chopping firewood.

Charles will occupy quarters of the "young old boys" category. He will do some supervising of younger boys while studying under the nine masters at the school. Each of the boys in the prince's category occupies an apartment.

But Charles' apartment had to be specifically built to conform to rigid security precautions for the royalty. No two windows or doors were placed opposite each other and full-length windows have been partly screened by bookcases four feet high.

Jury Is Selected in State Appeal on Viet Protest

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Nine women and five men have been named to a jury scheduled to hear an appeal for 29 persons convicted of trespassing in an anti-Viet Nam war protest at a local draft board office.

Selection of jurors Tuesday took nearly five hours because of repeated challenges from defense attorney Ernest Goodman of Detroit.

The 29 University of Michigan students, junior faculty members and former students were among 39 arrested Oct. 15 during a sit-in at the Ann Arbor Selective Service office.

All were charged with trespassing when they refused to leave the office at closing time. They were convicted in Municipal Court one week later and were fined and sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Thirteen of the student demonstrators later lost their student deferments and were reclassified 1-A. All appealed or were planning to appeal the draft action.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Everyone needs a hobby and no one knows better than the chairman of New York City's Planning Commission.

If any job has its problems, William F. R. Ballard's does. To lighten his day, his staff members bought him a dartboard for Christmas. The board, hanging in his office, is a map of the New York City area with a set of instructions on planning problems accompanying the targets.

Dart throwing is now a pastime for the planners. Even Ballard tries a few shots now and then.

When all else fails, the planners say, try darts.

Georgia Senator Still Working for Free

State Sen. Brooks Pennington of Georgia doesn't like to be reminded that he has accumulated $10,500 in back pay at the state treasurer's office over the past seven years.

"I haven't talked about that for five years," he said yesterday, "and I don't intend to start now."

Pennington, 39, an industrialist, made it known, however, he has chosen to work for the state for free. While his salary and expenses have gone unclaimed, he has spent thousands of dollars of his own money.

Detroit Native Named Red Paper Editor

A native of Detroit is the new editor-in-chief of the Communist party newspaper, the Worker, in New York.

He is Carl Winter, 59, who served a five-year prison sentence for conspiracy to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

Winter, who joined the Communist party in 1925, was named yesterday to succeed James E. Jackson, 51, who becomes publisher and president of the firm that publishes the newspaper.

Snow Piles Up in N. Carolina

Freezing Rain Belts Georgia, S. Carolina

By The Associated Press

The third and worst snow within 11 days blanketed North Carolina today as wintry weather continued through most of the nation.

A belt of snow mixed with sleet and freezing rain swept across northern Georgia and South Carolina and cold rain fell in Florida. Gale and small craft warnings went up south of Savannah, Ga. and along Florida's western coast.

In North Carolina, snow harried drivers and forced many schools to close. Late Tuesday afternoon, 2 inches fell at Pope Air Force Base and by midnight, snow was falling over most of the state. A total of 4 inches was predicted before tonight. In the evening, Aberdeen, N.C. reported 3 inches and Raleigh, Waynesboro and Fayetteville 2 inches.

South Carolina was doused with snow mixed with sleet and freezing rain. Schools closed and low temperatures kept roads treacherous. Similar conditions prevailed in northern Georgia, where roads were reported icy. Sections of Interstate 85 between Buford, Ga. and the South Carolina line were closed because of icy pavement.

More Maneuvering on 14B Due Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — More parliamentary skirmishing was in prospect today in the Senate battle over the bill to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act which authorizes states to outlaw union shop contracts.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen he believed he would have "a little more favorable position" today in his effort to circumvent a filibuster and get the bill up for debate.

Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, chief strategist of the forces opposing the legislation, declared he was confident of blocking it "so long as we have breath and ingenuity."

Dominican Move Not Likely to Lessen Tensions

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — If the Dominican Republic's top military men go abroad, their departure is not expected to lessen the army's opposition to ex-President Juan Bosch and his Dominican Revolutionary party.

In a move to lessen tensions, provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy ordered top armed forces and rebel officers to diplomatic posts abroad Jan. 26.

The rebel chiefs, headed by Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno, left Jan. 22. The Supreme Armed Forces Council began a series of meetings Monday to decide whether it, too, would comply.

The general expectation is that it will, probably by early next week. Three of the army's four top officers are affected by the order, including the armed

$20 Billion Is Asked to Control Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee Tuesday called for a national expenditure of $20 billion to control water pollution over the next six years. The total would include $6 billion in federal money.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Subcommittee on Air and Water Pollution, issued the group's recommendations for expanding and improving the Water Quality Act of 1965.

forces minister, Commodore Francisco Rivera Caminero. Rivera Caminero and the man named to succeed him, the navy chief of staff, Commodore Emilio Jimenez, conferred with Garcia-Godoy for 90 minutes Tuesday.

The two officers met later with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, the U.S. member of the Organization of American States political committee which negotiated an end to the rebellion.

The meetings indicated the military leaders are under heavy pressure to accept Garcia-Godoy's order.

The final decision is up to the general officers who collectively run the armed forces. Since the assassination of dictator Rafael Leonidas Trujillo in 1961, there has been an upsurge of opposition to caudillism — or bossism — both political and military.

MILITARY POWER

Power in the armed forces passed to the general officers and they have exercised it much like corporation officers. The armed forces minister has acted as chairman of the board and the three chiefs of staff and their subchiefs as directors. The brigade and base commanders are the chief stockholders.

There have been six armed forces ministers since the death of Trujillo.

These changes from Trujillo's strong rule have had little, if any, effect on the military's basic structure or orientation, which, like that of the political parties, is fundamentally one of self-preservation.

The army considers Bosch and his party the most serious threat to it. But there is widespread fear that if the military chiefs decide to resist the president's order, violence will ensue, and this might force the OAS and the Inter-American Peace Force to take measures which could mean drastic changes in the armed forces. Military leaders want to avoid this.

Asian flu is so-called because it originated in Asia.

OK $54,000 Margin for OCC Project

Oakland Community College officials last night were given a $54,000 leeway to make necessary changes in order to expedite construction of the Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Township.

College's President Will Outline Plans

Oakland Community College President John E. Tirrell will discuss curriculum and facility plans for OCC's new Orchard Ridge Campus Tuesday night at North Farmington High School. The 8 p.m. open meeting was scheduled to provide detailed information on the Farmington Township campus which will open by the fall of 1967.

This represents 1 per cent of the $5,416,000 contract price.

The college's board of trustees authorized the maximum fund for additions or deletions by the administration subject to later approval by the board.

A ceiling of $10,000 per change also was specified.

Purpose of the board's action was to permit changes, considered necessary by the administration.

OCC Director Resigns

Oakland Community College's board of trustees last night released a top-level college official from his contract so he could accept a post with the newly established Washtenaw Community College.

The board cut short the contract of Lloyd H. Van Buskirk, director of campus development. His contract was to expire June 30.

The resignation prompted Trustee Earl M. Anderson to condemn raiding tactics aimed at drawing away key personnel.

Van Buskirk was director of finance for the Birmingham Public Schools prior to joining the OCC staff.

tration without a delay in work pending board approval.

BOARD TREASURER

Administrators had suggested a 2 per cent fund for changes but Vernon Fitch, board treasurer, felt that $108,000 would be excessive. Other board members agreed.

In other business last night, the board authorized pay increases for some classifications of noninstructional personnel to reach a more competitive level in the area labor market.

A total of 22 service and maintenance workers and seven clerk typists received increases.

Also last night, the board approved a lease agreement for three portable classroom buildings on the Auburn Hills Campus.

NO ACTION

OCC President John E. Tirrell reported that the Royal Oak City Commission has taken no action on the sale of a city park to the college.

The matter is being studied by city officials, Tirrell said.

Only 2 Plane Victims Found

Give Up Hunt in Alps

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—yesterday, mountain rescuers abandoned attempts to recover the bodies of all but two persons killed in the crash Monday of the giant Boeing 707.

Parts of two unidentified bodies were recovered in initial rescue attempts Monday.

Salvage teams also abandoned

Faced with snowstorms and any hope of recovering wreckage near 100-mile-an-hour winds, age and debris scattered along a wide area of the 15,771-foot mountain that could provide some clue to the cause of crash.

With another 45 feet of altitude, the plane might have cleared the mountain.

BLACK BOX

Crash investigator teams had particularly hoped to find the "black box" — the nearly indestructible flight recorder which would have provided technical information about the plane's final moments that could have helped solve the crash.

An Air India Constellation crashed in the same spot on western Europe's highest mountain 16 years ago and its cause is still unexplained.

French Alpine officials called off the search yesterday until spring — probably April — because of the severe weather conditions.

But even when the search is resumed, there is no guarantee that the mountain teams would be able to find the bodies and wreckage buried deep under Mont Blanc's year-around snow.

CRASH IMPACT

The impact of the 600-mile-an-hour crash shattered the plane into pieces no bigger than a man's fist and showered them down the mountain.

"It would require at least a hundred men and they would have to go over the summit of the mountain with a fine tooth comb," said Georges Payot, one of the first mountain guides to reach the wreckage Monday.

Five Americans and Dr. Homi J. Bhabha, chairman of India's Atomic Energy Commission, were among the plane's victims. The pilot, Capt. J. T. D'Souza, who flew Pope Paul VI to Bombay in 1964, had flown the mountain route many times before.

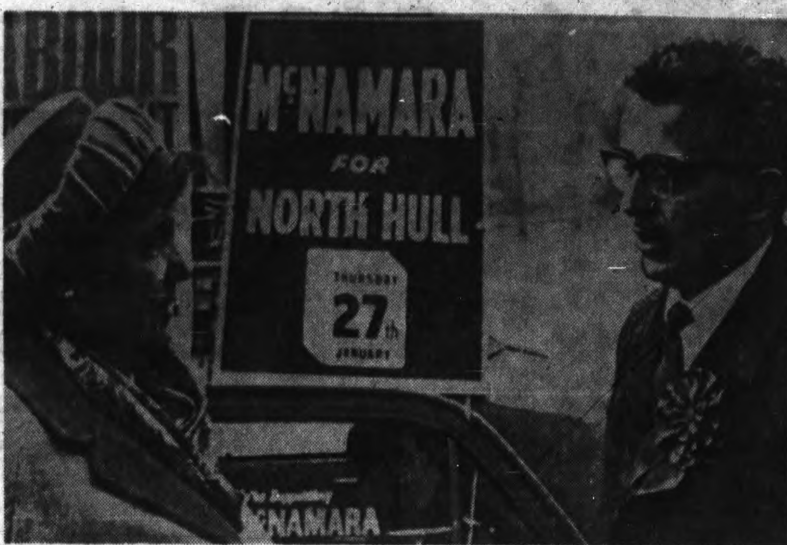

Job Status for Negroes Not Improved—Hubert

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said yesterday the occupational status of Negroes has not improved in the last 20 years and that it may take until the year 2490 for them to catch up.

In a speech, he called for further government-industry efforts to close the "employment gap." The vice president appeared at the fourth annual meeting of plans for progress — a government agency which promotes equal opportunity in hiring and employe promotion.

Illegal Self-Service

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — At Lee's Carry Out Shop, hungry burglars carried out beef patties, sausage, 10 pounds of frozen french fries, a ham, a dozen small pies, and two radios in illegal self-service during the early morning hours.

LABOR CANDIDATE — Kevin McNamara explains his views to a woman shopper this week as he campaigned in Hull, England, for tomorrow's special Parliamentary election. Defeat of McNamara, the Labor candidate, would send Prime Minister Harold Wilson's House of Commons majority down to the absolute minimum of one vote and might force a new general election.

Laborite Future Keyed to Special Vote

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
HULL, England (AP) — Two election posters peer out from Mr. and Mrs. Barry Nicholson's third-floor walkup apartment across the street from local Labor party headquarters.

In the living room window, Nicholson's poster reads: "Kevin McNamara — vote Labor."

Mrs. Nicholson's poster shouts back from the kitchen window: "Vote Richard Gott — end the war in Viet Nam."

Nicholson, a lab technician at Hull University, told a reporter: "We both like Gott. But I don't like his tactics, and she does. He may bring down the government. We're split."

END IN SIGHT?

The Nicholson's domestic political disagreement, if multiplied by only a few hundred of Hull's voters, could indeed bring an end to Britain's Labor government. A Labor defeat in Thursday's special Parliamentary election would send Prime Minister Harold Wilson's House of Commons majority down to the absolute minimum of one vote and might force a new general election.

It also would send Conservative morale skyrocketing after a winter of party feuds.

Henry Solomons, the Labor member who died last November, wrested the Hull seat from the Conservatives at the last election by a margin of 1,181 votes. That margin now is hanging by a thread, which could be snapped by such imponderables as a snowstorm on polling day, a 15 per cent rise in local property taxes announced only this week, or the immediately recognizable red beard of Richard Gott.

Gott, 27, a London journalist, has quit the Labor party to run as a candidate of a group calling itself the Radical Alliance, and he doesn't care if he shaves away enough Labor votes to bring Labor down.

He acknowledges a political kinship with the peace demonstrators in the United States, sel, the Conservative candidate, and his single platform plank is a protest against Wilson's support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam. Only the voting will tell how many supporters Gott has unearthed behind smoke-blackened brick facades of the dock and transport workers' houses.

He thinks there may be as many as a thousand, which would satisfy Gott and probably ruin Labor.

Hull has a radical tradition, dating from its opposition to the king in the 17th century civil war. It was prominent in the 19th century campaign against slavery and for a hundred years it has been a center of militant unionism. Gott thus is plowing fertile ground.

While oldsters and confirmed labor voters regard him as something between a nuisance and a menace, he seems to be finding a sympathetic audience among women and the young.

MAY ABSTAIN

Some, like Nicholson, are not ready to vote against Labor. But they may abstain.

One housewife told Gott: "I'm so red, I'm infrared. We are fed up with the government. It's not really Labor at all."

Labor's candidate, Kevin McNamara, 31, a Hull law instructor with iron-gray hair and a reticent manner, follows the party line to the letter and stays clear of emotional debate on Viet Nam.

He has refused even to talk about Gott and has campaigned solely on Labor's long-range domestic policy of improved welfare, voluntary wage and price restraint, and national economic planning.

ASSAILS LABOR

This presents its own problems, especially when Toby Jessel, the Conservative candidate, assails Labor for rising taxes and prices. Jessel's line is that Hull can become Britain's gateway to Europe if the nation follows the Conservative lead and makes another bid to enter the European Common Market.

The Liberal candidate, Laurie Millward, a housewife and Hull city councillor, follows her own party's pro-European program. She demands more roads and industrial development for Hull, which is out in East Yorkshire on the Humber estuary and literally at the end of the railroad line.

These domestic questions probably will have the most influence on the mass of voters who have been turning up for the campaign rallies in record crowds.

The combination of high interest, typical issues and hunger on the left makes this a test-tube election for Britain.

Although Labor started its campaign late — some voters even thought Gott was the regular Labor candidate at first — it has now organized its canvassers and combed the district twice over for supporters.

Jessel, 31, a London businessman and former navy officer, runs from house to house shaking as many hands as he can while a team of six pretty girls goes on ahead to get the voters on their doorsteps. His strategy is to make himself known to every potential Conservative voter and then hold on to them and coast to victory while Labor splits.

Two unknowns also are running. They are Kelvin Woodburn, the World Government candidate; and Russell Eckley, who claims from the "Legions of God." Even Eckley's candidacy could make a difference. He is alphabetically first on the ballot and that's usually worth at least 50 to 100 votes.

A 'Taxing' Time for Everyone

CHICAGO (AP) — Prince, a collie-aidale, and Tiny, a fox terrier, who inherited the income from a $79,075 estate for life, must pay taxes totaling $795.

Judge Thaddeus V. Adesko, in a Circuit Court hearing Tuesday, ruled they must pay because they are not related to their late master, Joseph Platchy, of La Grange, Ill., and despite Plat-chy's will provision that humans will divide the principal after the dogs die.

Judge Adesko calculated Tiny, a 2-year-old, has a life expectancy of 16 years, and owes $640. Prince, who is 10 years old, may live to be 13, and his liability was fixed at $153.

Big Rolled Oatmeal Cookies Make Teatime a Success

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
WE'RE ALL for the old-fashioned practice of serving tea in the afternoon. If you tend to feel weary around four o'clock, you might try finding out how refreshing a good strong cup of tea can be.

Lemon Biscuits

Add a little grated lemon rind to rich baking powder biscuit dough for biscuits. Split the biscuits when they are hot from the oven and spread with a mixture of butter and honey. Rush to the table.

And if teatime brings home-made cookies, so much the better!

For everyday teatime, we think a cookie that has a certain substantial quality and is not too sweet is perfect. That's the sort you can make with this recipe.

Although we've suggested that these cookies may be sprinkled with confectioners sugar, actually we like them plain.

If you try this rule, be sure to chill the dough as suggested; chilling will make it possible for you to work with a soft dough without sprinkling extra flour over the prepared pastry cloth. And soft dough makes the tenderest cookies.

After cookies are cut out, use a wide spatula (the size of a pancake turner) to transfer them to the baking sheets.

Teatime Cookies
1 1/4 cups sifted regular flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine

Canape Cubes

Quick canapes: first cut slices of bread into small squares — four from each slice. Mix soft yellow cheese with salad dressing and spread over bread. Bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes.

3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 large egg
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1/2 to 3/4 cup finely chopped walnuts
Confectioners sugar, if desired
On wax paper, sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. In a medium mixing bowl, cream butter, sugar and vanilla. Thoroughly beat in the egg. Gradually stir in the sifted dry ingredients until blended. Add rolled oats and walnuts; mix well to distribute evenly. Tightly cover mixing bowl (or turn out dough on plastic film and wrap tightly) and chill about 1 hour or until dough is firm enough to roll. Using a prepared pastry cloth and stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out dough to about 1/8-inch thickness. Cut out with a floured scalloped round cookie cutter (about 2 inches); roll tag ends of dough and cut out. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets, about 1 inch apart, in a preheated moderate (375 degrees) oven until lightly browned — 10 to 12 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool. Store in a tightly covered container. Makes 3 to 4 dozen. If you like, before serving, you may put a little confectioners sugar in a small fine-mesh strainer and shake it over the cookies.

Fondue-Like Mixture Serves as Dunking Dip at Party

In the winter time, hot dips are the 'in' thing to serve. A cheese dunk made with a carbonated beverage is sure to make a hit with guests of any age.

HOT CHEESE DUNK
2 cans condensed cheddar cheese soup
1 bottle lemon-lime carbonated drink
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Few drops onion juice
Dash of white pepper

1 pound shredded Swiss cheese
Place cheese soup in saucepan; stir until smooth. Gradually blend in carbonated drink. Heat slowly until bubbly, stirring constantly.

Add seasonings and Swiss cheese. Stir until smooth. Serve immediately in a chafing dish. Stir occasionally. Makes 4½ cups sauce.

Special Beef Soup Is Satisfying to Eat

There's old-fashioned goodness, new-fashioned ease in this hearty soup. In saucepan, cook ½ cup diced Canadian bacon and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until green pepper is tender. Add 1 can (1½ ounces) beef noodle dry soup mix, 5¼ cans (3 cups) cold water, and generous dash oregano.

Bring to boil; stir often. Partially cover; simmer 7 minutes. Stir now and then. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Strawberry Cake Is Gelatine One

If you enjoy preparing spring-form desserts, you may want to try this recipe.

Strawberry Winter Dessert
8 ladyfingers
2 packages (each 10 ounces) frozen sliced strawberries, thawed
2 packages (each 3 ounces) strawberry flavor gelatin
2 cups heavy cream
½ cup flaked coconut
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
½ teaspoon almond extract

Arrange ladyfingers around sides of an 8-inch spring-form pan.

Drain strawberries; add enough water to strawberry syrup to make 1½ cups; heat syrup mixture to boiling point; add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill until slightly thickened.

Beat cream until stiff; gradually beat in gelatin mixture. Fold in drained strawberries and remaining ingredients. Turn into spring-form pan. Chill until firm.

Add a suspicion of nutmeg to a white sauce that is to be used with chicken or turkey.

Chili Sauce Dip Has Sour Cream Base

If your teen-agers love French fries, try something new! Use convenient frozen French fries, served with a nippy sour cream Dunkin' Dip. Nowadays the rules of etiquette have been relaxed to permit finger foods, so just pick up those crisp fries and dunk them in the sauce. It is easy to make.

Blend together 1½ cups dairy sour cream and ½ cup chili sauce; chill. Prepare French fries according to package directions. Serve hot with chilled Dunkin' Dip.

PETER PANGUIN — This cake will be an honored guest at any child's party. Simple to make, it has a flavorful peanut butter icing which in addition to being beloved by youngsters has the added attraction of high nutrition value.

Two Cake Layers Become Party Pet

Have you even had a panguin to a party? Peter Panguin himself can be the guest of honor seated right in the middle of the refreshment table next time you're having a party for a youngster's birthday or any other occasion.

His delicious peanut butter flavor will delight the children, and Mother will find this deliciously amusing cake so simple to make.

Peanut butter is high in protein value too, and when served with a deliciously pleasing beverage, this party fare is sure to be a delight to the young—and the young in heart.

Peter Panguin Cake

1/2 cup smooth peanut butter
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup milk
Peanut Butter Frosting
Multi-colored non-pareils
Flaked coconut
1 peanut

Cream together peanut butter and butter; gradually beat in sugar. Beat in eggs until mixture is light and fluffy. Stir in vanilla.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Gently stir into egg mixture alternating with milk. Turn into 2 greased and floured 8-inch cake pans.

Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven 30 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool.

Cut 1 1/2-inch slice across end of one layer; cut slice in half to form bill and feet, placing cut layer for head. Brush off loose crumbs.

Frost with Peanut Butter Frosting. Sprinkle bill with non-pareils. Sprinkle face and breast with coconut. Place peanut for eye.

Peanut Butter Frosting

Using electric mixer on low speed, blend together 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup smooth peanut butter, 1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, melted and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Add 2 1/2 cups sifted confec-tioners' sugar, alternating with about 1/2 cup undiluted evaporated milk or light cream to spreading consistency. Stir in 2 tablespoons light corn syrup. Makes 2 cups.

Dressing Balls Go With Ham

A thick and savory smoked ham slice given an escort of rye bread dressing balls makes a memorable meal with little fuss.

Pork and dressing are old teammates, but this time the meat is ham and the dressing made with rye bread with zestily different seasonings: prepared mustard, caraway seeds and onion.

The dressing is shaped into balls to bake with the ham.

With a glance at the recipe you'll recognize the ease of preparation.

Ham Slice—

Rye Bread Dressing Balls

1 smoked center-cut ham slice, cut 1 inch thick
1 egg, beaten
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds
1/4 cup chopped onion
3 cups soft rye bread crumbs

Mix together egg, mustard and water. Add caraway seeds, onion and crumbs. Mix and shape into 8 balls, using about 1/4 cup of mixture per ball. Place ham slice and dressing balls on a rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 1 hour. 4 to 6 servings.

Lily Learns about Rose!

Citrus Fruit Flavors Cranberry Sauce

Fresh lemon gives this cranberry sauce extra tang.

Tangy Cranberry Sauce

1 pound (4 cups) cranberries
2 cups sugar
1 cup water
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup orange marmalade

In a large saucepan over low heat, stir together the sugar and water until sugar dissolves; boil for 5 minutes. Add cranberries; without stirring, until skins pop — about 5 minutes.

Remove from heat. Skim off foam. Stir in the lemon rind, lemon juice and orange marmalade. Cool in saucepan, then chill. Makes about 1 quart.

Lily? Yes, so have Mary, Joan, and Madge—learned that Rose Lotion Vel is so mild it won't harm the petals of a rose. And the way it cuts grease... your dishes come out sparkling clean. Handy "push-pull" cap, too. Now that you've learned what Lily did, make sure you try...

ALL NEW ROSE LOTION VEL

Chinese New Year Lasts Two Weeks

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

The Year of the Firehorse started on Jan. 21. But you can celebrate year 4664 for two weeks; the Chinese do.

Over the weekend we were guests at a party in honor of the Chinese new year. Our hostess served all Oriental food with one of the dishes an unusual meat and vegetable combination.

She prepared a mixture of beef, cauliflower and snow peas that had been grown in her garden last summer.

FRIED BEEF WITH CAULIFLOWER

1 pound beef filet, sliced
1 egg white
1 teaspoon ginger
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 small cauliflower
2 oz. snow peas
1 tablespoon wine
Dash of black pepper
1 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons salad oil

Wash and separate cauliflower; cook until just tender. Combine sliced beef with egg white, ginger, soy sauce and cornstarch.

Heat additional oil and fry beef until tender. Drain. Heat 5 tablespoons oil and fry snow peas and cauliflower. Add wine, pepper and salt. Add beef and stir well.

Keep hot until serving time. Makes 4-6 servings.

If you want a Chinese type dish without the above work, try this recipe.

SHRIMP NOODLE CASSEROLE

2 cans (3 oz. each) chow mein noodles, crushed
1/2 cup melted butter
6 eggs
3 cups milk
1 can (1 pound) meatless chow mein

2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 cup cooked shrimp or 1 can (7 oz.) tuna
1/4 pound sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded

Combine the noodles with the melted butter and line a shallow 2 1/2-quart baking dish with the mixture. In a large bowl, beat eggs; blend in milk, chow mein, and soy sauce.

Pour into noodle-lined dish. Sprinkle the shrimp or tuna over evenly; then sprinkle with the cheese. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 35 minutes or until filling is set. Makes 6 generous servings.

For dessert you'll want to serve almond cookies, of course. The recipe calls for quick-cooking rice cereal, but you could substitute wheat or whole wheat cereal, if that is what you have on the shelf.

RICE AND ALMOND COOKIES

2 cups sifted flour
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup quick-cooking rice cereal
1/2 cup butter or margarine
4 ounces, blanched almonds, 1 cup
1 egg
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon almond extract

Sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder into large mixing bowl. Stir in rice cereal. Add butter and blend in thoroughly with hands or pastry blender.

Chop and add enough almonds to make 1/2 cup. Beat egg, water and almond extract together until smooth. Sprinkle over blended flour mixture, stirring with fork until dough comes away from sides of bowl.

Knead until smooth and chill for 1 hour. Form balls about 1 inch in diameter.

Place balls on ungreased cookie sheet and flatten with hand until about 3/4 inch thick. Press a whole almond into the center of each cookie. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, until golden brown, about 20 minutes.

If you want a glazed cookie, beat 1 egg yolk and 1 tablespoon water until smooth, then brush over the tops of the cookies before baking. Yield: about 48 cookies.

Rich Sauce to Use Often

Smooth Custard Sauce comes naturally when it's made with evaporated milk. This easy dessert topper can be stirred up in a saucepan in minutes.

In a heavy saucepan beat 2 eggs just until yolks and whites are blended. Mix in 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stir in contents of a tall can of evaporated milk (1 1/2 cups) and 1 cup hot water. Cook and stir over low heat until mixture just coats a spoon, 5 to 7 minutes. Be careful not to overcook.

Cool by setting in a pan of cold water, stirring often. Flavor with 1 teaspoon vanilla extract and 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg. This makes 3 cups of sauce, enough to give a touch of glamour to all manner of desserts.

for a five International Match Point pick-up, since at most tables East-West played at two or three spades. What do you think about the way one North-South pair reached five clubs?"

Jim: "This bidding could not have taken place in an early round. It started normally with the club opening and the spade overcall. North's double of one spade was a negative type."

Oswald: "Practically everyone in the trials played that the double of a low level overcall would be primarily for takeout and designed to show a hand that had some values but no convenient bid."

Jim: "North could have bid two hearts but that would have been forcing and North did not really have enough to force at that high a level. Anyway, this negative double worked pretty well when East decided to get into the act and preempt to three spades. East was pretty sure that North and South had a heart suit and wanted to shut them out."

Oswald: "West knew that his partner was preempting but West had a pretty good hand and hoped to be able to make game anyway. His four spade bid was a serious game bid."

Jim: "North's double was sound. He would have beaten the hand one trick in any event, and two tricks if West went wrong and played him for the queen of spades. Unfortunately South suddenly had a complete brainstorm and went to five clubs. Both opponents forgot to double but South went down three to lose seven IMP's instead of gaining at least the same amount."

MSU Math Team Finishes Ninth in National Testing

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University's mathematics team has finished ninth in nationwide competition, marking the sixth straight year MSU has been in the top 10.

The team of William Webb of Wyckoff, N.J., Neil White of Midland and Allen Beadle of Mount Morris took the six-hour tests for the 26th annual William Lowell Putnam mathematics competition last Nov. 20.

MSU has learned that White placed 18th out of 1,600 in the individual standings.

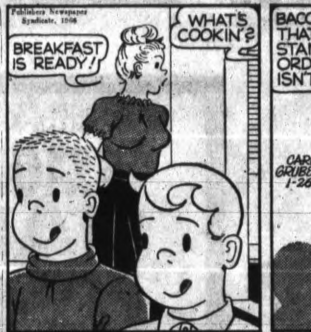

Ahead of MSU in the 200-team field were Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Toronto, Princeton, California Institute of Technology, Brown University, University of Colorado and University of Illinois.

Deputy Draws Jail Sentence for Shakedown

DETROIT (AP) — Suspended Wayne County Deputy Sheriff John P. Bommarito Tuesday was sentenced to 90 days in the Detroit House of Correction and placed on probation for two years.

Bommarito was convicted of omitting duty for reward. He had been accused of shaking down the owners of a Redford party store for $100 in return for not citing them to the Liquor Control Commission for an alleged violation.

Bommarito's sentence was stayed by Circuit Judge Victor J. Baum after Bommarito's attorney said he would appeal. Bommarito, 24, of Redford Township was released on $2,500 bond.

Bill Aim Is to Curb 'Freeway Bombers'

LANSING (AP)—A bill aimed at protecting motorists against so-called freeway bombers has been introduced in the Senate by Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit.

The measure would require the building of fences or barriers at least 10 feet tall on each side of bridges or overpasses spanning the freeways.

Dzendzel said the proposal is supported by both state and Detroit police, who have received numerous complaints of youngsters and other people throwing stones, bricks, bottles and other objects at cars passing below.

Linoleum is made by mixing cork powder with linseed oil and spreading this paste over canvas or burlap.

Area Junior Achievers Mark National Week

By JODY HEADLEE

Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Visitors to the annual open house at the Junior Achievement Business Center, 20½ E. Pike, can watch Pontiac-area teenagers in action as they operate their own small-scale businesses this week.

Part of the National Junior Achievement Week program, the public open house will continue tonight and tomorrow from 7 to 9 p.m.

On a typical Monday night, odors and sounds mingle in the entrance area giving a clue to the products of the various enterprises which meet that night.

Mixing with the pungent fumes of melting wax as they wait silently through the Merco Co.'s doorway is the smell of shellac and raw white pine from the Capreco Co.

Merco manufactures wax fire-place lighters; Capreco, wooden ironing board caddies.

WHINE OF PRESS

The scrunching whine of a drill press as it bites neat round holes into wooden strips, frequently punctuates the general rumble of chatter and laughter.

A young lady's voice from the small office cuts through the background din. "Is Jo there?"

"Hi. This is Mary from Junior Achievement."

"The records show you checked out four yards of vinyl at the last meeting to cut into squares. Have you finished the squares?"

"Oh, I'm sorry you've been ill. But, in order to balance out my J.A. account, I've got to have either the vinyl or the money by next Monday."

"It's 25 cents a yard or $1 for the four yards."

"OK. See you then. Thanks. Bye." The whirr of the dial indicates Jo isn't the only achiever on the calling list.

In another room, the president calls the business meeting to order. The company's last venture was a Christmas item and it's time to choose another product.

TOMORROW'S LEADERS

The hands of the clock spin toward 9 p.m. as tomorrow's leaders practice the steps common to America's free enterprise system — from management to maintenance.

Each company of approximately 15 to 20 members is assigned a team of three adult volunteer advisers from area businesses.

Ten companies are associated with the local center.

They include Pontiac Fisher Body Plant, Pontiac Motor Division, GMC Truck & Coach Division, Consumers Power Co., Community National Bank of Pontiac, S. S. Kresge Co. and Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Fort Division.

OTHER FIRMS

Others are Ford Motor Co. Tractor and Implement Division in Troy and Utica Trim Plant in Shelby Township; and National Twist Drill and Tool Co., Avon Township.

Assisted by their adviser teams, the teen-agers incorporate their group, elect officers, sell stock and go into the production of an item selected by their organization.

J. A. products are household items which are sold door to door by achievers or wholesaled to retail stores.

All are specially labeled to identify them as being made by a J. A. company.

BUYERS WARNED

Prospective buyers of these products are warned by William McMaster, public relations director for Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan, Inc., to check the salesman's membership card.

"All achievers are cautioned to show their cards when soliciting business," said McMaster, "and to sell only the one or two items made by their particular company."

A salesman who claims to represent Junior Achievement but cannot produce a membership card should be reported to the local J. A. Center or the J. A. headquarters in Detroit.

Keeping records is an important part of the achievers' business education.

LEARN ALL ANGLES

They learn to set up production sheets, organize sales campaigns, meet payrolls, plan advertising schedules and prepare financial statements.

Salaries and wages, usually $2 a month for those working on an hourly basis and $3 monthly for salaried personnel, are paid out of each company's earnings.

This teaches the junior capitalists that wages and salaries are as important a cost factor as taxes and public demand, in establishing a wholesale and retail price of their product.

Individuals and area firms provide the J.A. business center, office and production equipment each company needs.

FIRM CHARGED

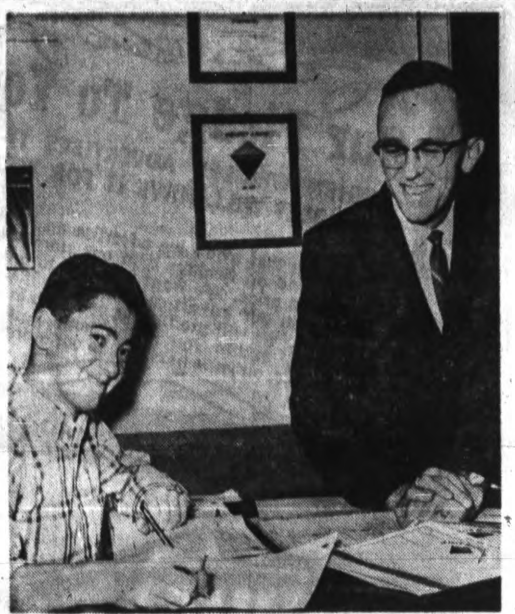

In return, each J.A. company is charged a nominal amount for rent, capital deposit and the use of the machines.

Launched at the beginning of the school year, the bantam corporations are voluntarily liquidated in May.

Stockholders are then sent a financial report of the disbanded company.

LOCAL COMPANIES

This year's local J. A. companies are Merco, Temp-Co, Capreco, Varado, PoJack, Bis-Co, C.O.T.Y., Rewop, Continental Enterprises, Tempon, Emanon, Lof-Co, Cosko, M.F.G., Tapon and Potential Products.

BALANCING THE BOOKS — Temp-Co Treasurer Jerry Bixby (left) of 2020 Ostrum, Waterford Township, gets the ledger in order under the watchful eye of Tom Case, adviser from Pontiac Motor Division. Case lives at 407 Castell, Rochester. Operating as a nonprofit, educational organization, Junior Achievement was started in Pontiac 15 years ago.

SALES CAMPAIGN — Mrs. Michael Howard of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Fort division, offers tips as Tim Hall of 3575 Cass Elizabeth, Waterford Township, chalks up sales totals of the center's J. A. companies.

Jeanne Tarchalski, 990 Berwick, waits patiently with her organization's weekly receipts. Mrs. Howard lives at 5774 Parkview, Independence Township.

SEE YOU NEXT WEEK — Ted MacManus (left), coordinator of Pontiac's J. A. Business Center, holds the door for Judy Myers, 583 Mansfield, armed with a few of Merco's fire-place lighters and vinyl place mats, and to replace the firm's discontinued Christmas candle. The membership voted on the vinyl cushion as its next project. Ruthe was selected as Miss Junior Achievement of Pontiac at J. A. headquarters.

house. As part of J. A. Week's program, the center will continue to remain open to the general public tonight and tomorrow from 7 to 9 p.m. Johnson lives at 719 S. Hampton, Avon Township.

SAFETY FIRST — Darla Wallet, 2649 Littleell, West Bloomfield Township, and her adviser, Michael Sherman of Detroit, take no chances, protecting their eyes before operating any of the power tools. Sherman is employed at the Ford Motor Co., Utica Trim Plant, Shelby Township. The two are working on the Capreco's ironing board caddie.

FINISHED PRODUCT — Janice Cauley, 120 Henry Clay, hangs a freshly shellacked ironing board caddie on the drying rack as Roger Thornton, 5145 Tangent, Waterford Township, shows how the caddie is attached to the ironing board. Freshly ironed clothes can be hung on the caddie to dry completely before putting them away in closets and drawers.

Focus TV Image

Getting GOP in Tune

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Republican Party has set up a committee to study ways to "modernize and simplify" its national conventions.

National Chairman Ray C. Bliss said the idea is to make the conventions "more attractive and effective in the eyes of the public."

He said the WEST committee "will seek advice from top-flight correspondents in the newspaper, television and radio fields" as well as from party officials and political scientists.

This is such an admirable project that I have decided not to wait for the committee to solicit my advice. I am voluntarily giving it the benefit of my thinking of the problem.

I want to make it clear, however, that there are no partisan strings attached. If the Democrats want to adopt my recommendations for their conventions, they are free to do so.

Demonstrations: It used to be that political conventions had a monopoly on demonstrations. But that situation has changed drastically. Demonstrations may take place every day of the week and twice on Sunday.

To meet this outside competition, conventions have no choice but to escalate to full scale riots. Nominations: Conventions usually end anticlimactically with acceptance speeches by the nominees. From a dramatic standpoint, it would be more effective if the candidates made their acceptance speeches before they are nominated.

Television: This is the root of the whole problem. Until television came along, the public didn't give a hoot how conventions were run.

Delegates were free to mill around the floor, pick their noses and otherwise enjoy themselves. Orators could ramble on for hours without boring anyone except the delegates, who weren't listening anyhow.

Once people started watching what was going on, they naturally became exasperated. The politicians, in turn, began worrying about their image.

MAIN CONCERN

The business of picking candidates became of secondary importance, the main concern being not to alienate the TV audience.

It is therefore obvious that the simplest way to make conventions more attractive and effective in the eyes of the public would be to ban television coverage.

Several species of birds in Yellowstone National Park steamheat their nests by building them in the drift of warm vapor from geyser basins.

Junior Editors Quiz on NEWSPAPERS

PRINTING STARTED NEWSPAPERS 1

MOVABLE TYPE HELPED 2

IN COLONIAL TIMES —

FOR HUNDREDS OF YEARS NEWS-PAPERS HAVE BROUGHT THE WORLD TO THEIR READERS —

QUESTION: Did newspapers start printing, or was it the other way around?

ANSWER: It is said that the first newspaper — or publication regularly giving news — was the Chinese court journal, "Tsing Pao," which began in the 500's and ran until 1935.

Before this, the Chinese had been printing from carved blocks, so it may be said that printing came first.

Movable type (2) with single carved type letters which could be put together into words, was introduced by Gutenberg in the 1530's.

Here again, printing came first, for it was not until the 1600's that regularly issued papers appeared in Germany and England.

The first American newspaper, "Public Occurrences Both Foreign and Domestic," began publication in 1690, but was suppressed by the English authorities.

However, by the time of the Revolution, there were at least 35 newspapers publishing. Their importance was recognized by such leaders as Washington and Jefferson.

In printing most newspapers these days, lines of type are set up by operators of linotype machines, who work from typed scripts.

Impressions of the pages are stamped into paper mats, and hot metal poured into these, producing printing plates which are curved into rollers. The rollers are inked, newspaper paper passes over them, and newspaper pages appear in rapid succession.

FOR YOU TO DO: If you have an idea that newspapers are for grown-ups only, look carefully through the pages of your local paper. You'll be delighted to find many things that appeal to the interest of your own age group.

Admits to 75 Years

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

LOS ANGELES — "I never felt I had to tell any lies or make any excuses," says violin virtuoso Mischa Elman, admitting to his 75 years.

"When the time arrives that I have to find excuses, I will simply retire," he says.

Pink-faced and roly-poly, he seemed far from retirement as he played in a concert for International Concerts Exchange at the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion of the Music Center Tuesday night. It was the first appearance in the brilliant new hall for Elman, who made his initial concert appearance in Los Angeles 57 years ago.

Before the concert, he talked of his life and career as he rested in his suite at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel. He and his wife had flown down from San Francisco, where last week they celebrated his 75th birthday with children and grandchildren who live in the bay area.

"I deal very little with the past," he explained. "I am more concerned with the present and therefore with the future, because the present takes care of the future."

"Every performance is a new performance. I feel as if I have to go out and conquer each audience anew—and myself as well as the audience."

This devotion to perfection has been implicit in the Elman art since his debut as a soloist in Berlin in 1904. As if to demonstrate his timelessness, he recently performed again in Berlin, playing the Khachaturian concerto.

"I like to include modern composers in my repertoire," he remarked. "I believe there are only two kinds of music—good and bad. It doesn't matter if it's old or new."

CONTEMPORARY

"I feel I am a contemporary. I am still here, thank God. I am performing."

Elman remains contemporary by the same rigorous schedule of practice he maintained as a youth in Russia.

"I don't have the right to let my admirers down," he said, "and so I practice every day; it is the duty of every artist to do so. But the advantage of age is

Exam Theft May Lead to Repeat Test

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The University of Miami freshman class, now enjoying a semester break, may have to take final exams over because someone swiped a copy of the answers.

The school said Tuesday that a professor's office was broken into, copies of exams stolen and then sold for as much as $40 each.

One spokesman said it was impossible to determine how many students got the answers. Students reported the exams were for courses in natural science, social science and humanities—all required freshman courses.

MULTIPLE CHOICE

All were multiple-choice questions, designed for computer scoring. Apparently only the natural science material was of value to the exam-peddlers. They failed to get the question sheets for the other two courses, and without them the answers were useless.

"The reaction of all the students who take their tests honestly would naturally be, 'This is unfair,' and I'd tend to feel the same way," a university official said. "But, what else can we do?"

British Seek U.S. Financial Aid for Commitments East of Suez

LONDON (AP) — Defense Secretary Denis Healey flew to Washington today to seek financial aid from the United States for Britain's military commitments east of Suez.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart was to follow Healey later in the day.

Reports from Washington indicated the Johnson administration would approach the question of financial aid cautiously. Healey and Stewart meet Thursday with U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

DEFENSE ROLE

Informed sources said while Britain intends to continue to play a world defense role, Healey and Stewart would make clear that this raises serious balance of payments problems as well as budget difficulties for their government.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson emphasized in the House of Commons Dec. 21 that Britain's defense policy must be constructed on the basis of interdependence and collective security.

Stewart plans to return Friday. Healey will go on across the Pacific for talks with officials of Australia, New Zealand, Singapore and Malaysia.

Stewart and Healey are not looking for cash handouts from the United States. Their government wants the United States to share in some of the burdens in the Orient now carried by Britain.

The U.S. government has made clear that it wants Britain to remain east of Suez. But Rusk has been reported unconvinced that Britain has too many commitments in the area for her resources. The suggestion that Britain might abandon its big base in Singapore and establish a base in northern Australia has not been warmly received by the U.S. State Department, reports from Washington said.

HIGH-CONTRAST LIGHTING — This candid view of homework concentration is an example of high-contrast lighting. To get detail in the shadow area, diluted D-76 and less than normal agitation is helpful.

Camera Angles

D76 Developer Tried, True

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Thoughts on a winter evening in the darkroom: There have been so many phenomenal changes in photography in recent years that special tribute should be given to one tried, true and tested friend in the darkroom which has proved its dependability for more than 30 years — D 76 developer.

Darkroom history is littered with the discarded bottles of sensational super developers whose devotees claimed miracles in higher film speed and finer grain size. And against what standard were they compared? Most always, D76.

I recall being introduced to the simple elon-hydroquinone formula more than 25 years ago by my older brother, Sid, when he worked in the NBC darkroom.

But he was also experimenting with the new miracle "soups" which flourished periodically on the crest of some camera club cliques.

They were comparatively expensive, of course, and a bottle and replenisher soon were finished.

BACK TO D76

Without a replacement at hand, back to the D76 we went and the results were always as good or better, though it wasn't fashionable to admit it.

Sid went on to become a staff photographer, then chief photographer and finally manager of the NBC photo department in New York but D86 followed along, through change after change, without becoming obsolete.

In the spring 1964 issue of Leica Photography magazine, Richard Vesey of the Wisconsin State Journal details the results of D76 performance based on five years of records in their photo lab.

His conclusions were that it was an excellent, economical developer and also very versatile.

CONSISTENT RESULTS

It yields consistent results at different temperatures but has the ability to alter the contrast and density of a negative by a change in dilution or the rate of agitation during development.

For amateur use, the mix-it-yourself gallon can is most economical. For one-roll-at-a-time processors, it's best to put the D76 in pint bottles which are tightly corked and sealed with tape.

For normal development at 68 degrees of Tri-X film, developing time is six and one-half minutes when exposed at 400 ASA; eight minutes at 650 ASA; nine and one-half minutes at 800 ASA.

Normal agitation during development is continuous for the first 30 seconds and five seconds of each minute for the remaining time.

AGITATE FILM

To increase contrast of the negatives, agitate the film continuously for the first minute and then at 30-second intervals for the remainder of the processing time.

To decrease negative contrast, agitate continuously for the first 15 seconds, then for three seconds of every minute of the remaining time.

When pictures have been taken in a very contrasty lighting situation and it is desirable to decrease the negative contrast, you can also dilute the D76 solution with an equal amount of water to get a flattening effect.

The dilution, however, calls for a 40 per cent increase in developing time.

OTHER IDEAS

Some other ideas of changing the basic D76 formula to make it into a faster developer are found in Paul Farber's column in the February issue of U.S. Camera.

He recalls the set of impatient fans who couldn't wait almost seven minutes so they increased the content of granulated borax by 10 times in order to halve the developing time.

For the record, here's the original D76 formula: Start with 1½ pints of water at 125 degrees F and dissolve in order: Elon — 2 grams; desiccated Sodium Sulphite — 100 grams; Hydroquinone — 5 grams; granular Borax — 2 grams and water to make 1 quart.

And there you have the developer which has spanned time from the age of the flivver to the age of earth satellites.

While on the tree, the pistachio nut may be reddish or yellow in color and the kernel is pale green to cream.

Figuring Your Income Tax—3

Joint Return Means the Lowest Rate

(EDITOR'S NOTE: If a couple files a joint income tax return, the lowest rate applies. Also, individuals who qualify as heads of households get a lower rate than if they file as single persons. This article, third of a series of five, goes into such matters.)

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are a few rules on the 1965 income tax returns of married couples and those individuals who get a tax break if they qualify as head of household or surviving spouse.

A husband and wife almost always save by filing a joint return, rather than separately. To be joint, a return must be signed by both. A wife is not a dependent for income tax purposes. The rules on wives and dependents are not the same.

You were considered married or divorced for all of 1965 if you were married or divorced as late as last Dec. 31. You get no exemption for a wife divorced in 1965 even though you paid more than half her support.

Anyone under 65 filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself — $1,200 if 65 or older plus $600 if blind. The same exemptions apply to a wife if she files jointly with you, whether or not she had income, or, if she had none, fails to file jointly.

LOWEST RATE

A couple filing jointly gets the lowest tax rate. A husband filing separately, because his wife failed to sign with him, gets the exemption for her but is hit with a higher tax rate.

If your wife had 1965 income, no matter how small, you can not claim her exemption unless she files jointly with you and reports the income. If it was $600 or more, she would, like everyone else, have to file a return.

She could do it jointly with you or separately. If separately, she'd take her own exemption. But if her income was less than $600, which wouldn't require a return and she failed to file jointly with you, you'd be wasting part of the $600 exemption you could have had.

Everyone filing a return gets a standard deduction for personal expenses without itemizing to prove them. If your expenses exceeded the standard, you can claim them fully but only by itemizing.

TWO STANDARDS

There are two standard deductions: the 10 per cent standard and the minimum standard. The two standards, along with the tax tables and the tax-rate schedules for determining your tax, were explained in No. 2 in this series.

But, when a married couple files separate returns, if one uses the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must; if one uses the minimum standard, both must; if one itemizes, both must.

Certain widows and widowers get a lower tax rate if they can qualify as surviving spouse:

If your husband or wife died in 1965, you can generally claim a $600 exemption for him or her on your return, if you did not remarry in 1965. You file it as a joint return, reporting any 1965 income the deceased had, and using tax table B or tax rate schedule No. 2, both of which have the lowest tax rate.

CONDITIONAL

Further, if you meet the following conditions, you can still use table B or schedule No. 2 even though your wife or husband died in 1965.

You must have been entitled to file a joint return with him or her for the year of death; you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

If you meet those conditions, you can use table B or schedule No. 2, listing your own income, exemptions and deductions. But — you cannot claim an exemption for a husband or wife who died in 1965.

Individuals who can qualify as head of household get a lower tax rate than allowed if they had to file as single persons. You qualify if:

UNMARRIED

You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1965 or were married by the end of the year to someone who for part of the year was a nonresident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of your home which was the main residence for the year for yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or of any relative you can claim as a dependent or, if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

You cannot claim you maintained a home for a parent if you were paying for him or her in a home for the aged. But, if you meet qualifications listed above, you can use tax table B or tax rate schedule No. 3.

(NEXT: Claiming dependents.)

Pet Parakeet Dies a Hero

WHITWICK, England (AP) — Betty Lowe's pet—a parakeet—died a hero, and made Mrs. Lowe one, too.

The bird may have saved the lives of 20 persons, Mrs. Lowe told police yesterday.

When the parakeet dropped dead in its cage, Mrs. Lowe ran outside in search of a reason for her pet's fate.

She discovered gas leaking from a broken main and alerted neighbors in six houses.

Soap Opera

Here's a real-life soap opera—that's happening right now on your grocer's shelf. It's all about the big guy versus the little guy. David versus Goliath. The giant soap makers versus Easy Monday. And the little guy is winning.

Take fabric softeners, for instance. You can pay 89¢ a half-gallon for other big-name brands. Or you can pay 69¢ for Easy Monday. Are the high priced products any better? Not on your life. In fact, laboratory tests show Easy Monday is not only equal in quality but actually superior to some of its more expensive competitors.

We're tickled pink. But what pleases us even more is the fact that so many women are smart enough to realize it. In many areas of the country, Easy Monday is outselling all other brands, including those of the giant soap makers.

At last count, some 5 million housewives were buying Easy Monday products. Not just fabric softener, mind you—but starches and bleaches and dish-washing detergents. You see, the same basic advantages apply to the whole Easy Monday line.

Easy Monday products offer top quality—and they cost much less than many other fine brands. For women who want to save money, that's all the reason they need to switch to Easy Monday. And their number is growing rapidly.

Soap opera? We love it. Can 5 million intelligent women be wrong? Can the little guy beat the big guy? Will our story have a happy ending? Keep tuned to Easy Monday and see.

But meanwhile, clip the coupon and take it to your grocer. It's your ticket of admission to the Easy Monday Thrift Club . . . and entitles you to 10¢ off on a quart, half-gallon, or gallon of Easy Monday Pink Fabric Softener. You might as well start saving money right now. And we'd like to number you among our fans. Opera lovers all.

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

All the "omens" which presented themselves last night couldn't stop the speedy Chiefs of West Huron Street from winning the big one.

From the time Pontiac Central left for Saginaw at 4:00 p.m. everything went wrong — everything except the final score, 61-59, that is.

The bus, which apparently lost its heat, had the players and coaches wiggling their toes.

About 15 miles from Saginaw the bus broke down and the troubles really started.

Fortunately, a car with three Pontiac fans stopped upon seeing the bus along darkened I-75.

Five starting members of the junior varsity along with coach Ralph Grubb packed into the back seat of the car and continued on as another sympathetic driver stopped to get the bus driver to Saginaw.

Grubb had just lost one of his starting players earlier because of an eye injury, but he got the jayvee game under way with only five players.

In the first period, the scoreboard clock went out of commission and a few minutes later the scoring lights also went haywire. Amid the makeshift scoreboard arrangements, during which a PCH scorekeeper had to be recruited, Saginaw jayvees jumped to a 24-12 lead.

Midway in the second quarter, the rest of the team arrived and without a warm up shot, Grubb made some changes. At halftime the PCH jayvees were ahead 36-32.

The home jayvees subsequently won 81-64, handing Grubb's crew its second loss of the season.

VARSITY WOES

When the varsity game started, one of the officials' whistles went dead; the public address had to denote the time continuously and at halftime when newsmen tried to relay the 35-32 lead to the newspapers, the telephones were dead.

Add all of these woes to the fact that Pontiac Central hadn't been able to win on the Saginaw court since the 1959-60 season and all the black-cat and Friday the 13th fanatics wouldn't have given the Chiefs a ghost of a chance on Tuesday the 25th.

Incidentally, a year ago on a similar trip to Saginaw, the bus caught afire.

As far as we know, the jubilant and omen-defiant Chiefs returned healthy and happy last night.

"We're No. 1," the players say, but coach Zittel shudders at the thought with some toughies still ahead of him.

"Sure it's an honor to be considered as the top team in the state, but I'm content to stay No. 2 because we'll have to work that much harder knowing we still have a chance to go up," said Zittel, who denies being superstitious with reservation for the rabbit's foot, four-leaf clover and concern for the series of "omens" which prevailed before the tip-off.

This isn't a big or overly-talented Pontiac Central basketball team, but as far as we can recall, it is the fastest and most spirited unit in at least a decade.

How far this team will go will depend on the team itself, regardless of "omens."

Atlanta Falcons Name Norb Hecker as Coach

ATLANTA (AP) — Norb Hecker, backfield coach for the Green Bay Packers, was named head coach today of the Atlanta Falcons, who make their National Football League debut this fall.

The selection of Hecker, 38, came as a surprise. His name was not among those mentioned during months of speculation about the coach the Falcons would choose to build their new team.

Hecker was named by Falcon owner Rankin Smith, who said the Green Bay assistant would serve only as head coach and not as general manager.

Hecker was given a four-year contract, Smith said. Terms were not announced.

The new Falcon coach has been with the Packers since 1959, and helped coach Green Bay to NFL championships in 1961, 1962 and 1965.

FORMER RAM

Hecker started his coaching career as a player-coach with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Canadian Football League in 1958, after playing five seasons in the NFL. A halfback, he started with the Los Angeles Rams in 1952 and wound up his playing career with the Washington Redskins in 1957.

He played his college football at Baldwin-Wallace College, Cleveland, Ohio.

Hecker was named to the Atlanta job in preference to more widely known candidates, including former NFL head coaches Red Hickey, George Wilson and Buddy Parker. Smith also tried to get Hecker's

Strampe Rolls Perfect Game in Tournament

Detroit Bowler Sets Hot Pace; Tops Field in Qualifying Action

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Detroit's Bob Strampe and Joy Abel of Lansing, Ill., set a hot pace in leading 32 of the nation's top keglers into the finals of the 25th annual National All-Star Bowling Tournament Tuesday night.

Strampe, rolling the tournament's fourth 300 game, led the field of 16 men finalists.

Miss Abel topped the women's field with a strong 1236 set to take the qualifying crown with a 27-game score of 5436.

Both fields were cut from 72 entrants for the five-day match play finals based on total pin-fall. The men bowled 42 games and the women 27.

SIXTH GAME

Strampe had six-game blocks of 1432 and 1338 Friday in topping the men's qualifying field. His 42-game preliminary total was 9454. Strampe's perfect game was his sixth in sanctioned competition.

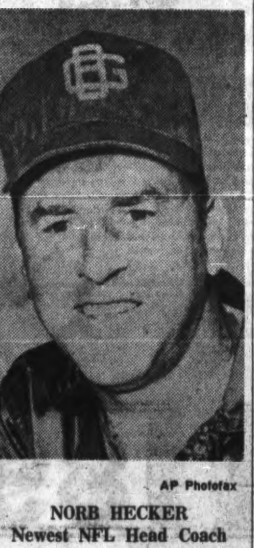

Men's and women's match play was to begin Wednesday. The tournament winds up Sunday with the two top bowlers in each division rolling a three-game match for the title.

LANSING (AP) — The top 16 bowlers after 42 games in the 25th annual National All-Star Bowling Tournament Tuesday night are:

1. Bob Strampe, Detroit, 9454

SETS UP MOVE — Bob VonBargen of Kettering fakes defender Jim Rulapaugh (11) of North Farmington prior to driving down foul lane for first-period field goal.

USES TEAMMATE — Kettering center Dave Cox (43) drives crosscourt and shakes free from defender Rich Schultz of North Farmington by leading him into screen set up by Dick Miceli (53). Cox was a problem for the visiting Raiders most of the game as he gave his best performance, hitting 24 points.

Kettering '5' Sails On

Kettering's Captains broke open a close game with a big fourth quarter last night as they ran their unbeaten record to 9-0 with a 65-54 decision over North Farmington.

Playing before the home fans, the Captains jumped off to a 20-19 lead after one quarter and upped the count to 34-28 at intermission.

But North Farmington, with only one victory in nine starts, rallied to tie the score at 45-45 after three quarters.

The visitors, who hit 8 of 13 field goal attempts in the third quarter, then took a two-point lead as cocaptain Rich Schultz opened the final period with a basket.

The poised Kettering's squad then shook off its erring ways and surged back into the lead.

BEST GAME

The well-built pivotman hit 11 of 14 shots from the floor in the game and led all scorers with 24 points, his best varsity performance.

He tied captain Dick Miceli with 8 rebounds for the best effort by the winners.

Schultz, who made 9 of 16 and topped all rebounders with 15, was well contained after putting the Raiders ahead with his quick basket.

He hit only one more field goal in the period.

The score remained close until the final two minutes when North Farmington errors permitted the Captains to build their biggest margin.

Bob VonBargen, who was off on his shooting, set up five buckets by teammates with his crisp passing. Forward Joe Raczyński grabbed key rebounds and netted several big shots for Kettering, as did Dick Miceli, also.

A meeting between Orchard Lake St. Mary and Pontiac St. Michael could be in the making in the Detroit Catholic League tournament which opens Sunday, Feb. 6.

OLSM's Eaglets, leading the Northwest Division of the Catholic League with a 9-1 record, have two games remaining in loop competition and need only one more victory to insure themselves of a spot in the tournament.

St. Michael, which was being pressured by Waterford Our Lady of Lakes for the Macomb Catholic title, was closer to a playoff berth today after WOLL dropped a 69-61 league decision to Richmond St. Augustine last night.

Dryden Five After Prestige in 84-53 Win

Dryden's Cardinals, trying to regain some prestige among the state's Class D team, ran its record to 8-2 last night with an easy 84-53 triumph over Goodrich.

Last week the Cardinals were ranked 10th in the state Class D prep poll, but they were clipped by Almont on Friday and tumbled to 16th in the poll.

Last night they made their bid to get back among the leaders.

The Cardinals, beating Goodrich for the second time this season, jumped off to a 15-9 first-quarter lead and upped the margin to 34-18 at halftime.

Ken Kitchenmaster grabbed scoring honors for the winners with 26 points, while teammate Ken White chipped in with 23.

Chiefs Gain 61-59 Win Over Trojans

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

SAGINAW — Wow! Whew!

These may be a couple of fitting words to describe Pontiac Central's 61-59 victory over Saginaw last night.

It was the top high school game in the state and it was the thriller everyone expected it to be.

As PCH coach Fred Zittel stated afterward, "It was the kind of game neither team deserved to lose."

The two teams were evenly matched last night, strong on defense, and balanced on the boards but it was a matter of which made the least mistakes, an honor which went to the Chiefs by a slight margin on their smoother floor play.

The victory gave the Chiefs undisputed possession of the Saginaw Valley Conference lead with a 7-0 record and an over-all season mark of 9-0.

It should have solidified the No. 2 spot in the state and may even earn the right to move into the No. 1 position, because Saginaw with its 7-2 record is still justifiably as good or better than at least a half-dozen of the teams amid the state poll's top 10.

CLUTCH POINTS

It would be difficult to single out any one player on either team, but the "clutch award" for the game should probably be bestowed on Ross Ludwick, 6-2 senior, who closed his ears to the thunderous screams of 2,600 capacity fans who tried to shake him from hitting four crucial free throws in the final 50 seconds.

Equally as strong-nerved in the final minute was the game's high scoring star Jim McClendon with 19 points who also dropped in six of the final 13 points.

Saginaw jumped to a 12-4 lead to start and was ahead 16-11 after one period.

Broncos Post 108-88 Win

KALAMAZOO (AP) — With six players in double figures Western Michigan led all the way Tuesday night in defeating Northern Illinois 108-88 in a non-conference basketball game.

Reggie Laceyfield and Phil White led the Broncos with 19 points each. Willie Hanson paced Northern Illinois with 24.

When Larry Platt had to leave the game with four fouls, Willie Craft gave a big assist in the second quarter with three big rebounds and six points.

Except for a 40-40 tie in the third quarter, Central stayed ahead from one to three points and twice pushed the margin to seven in the final stanza, 50-43 and 54-47.

With two minutes left however it was 54-51 and the saw-saw exchange of points continued.

McClendon hit two free throws on the 1-1 situation to make it 56-51, but tricky Saginaw guard Charlie Kelley hit a pair to make it 56-53.

At this point on the press, Saginaw stole the ball and when a shot and three rebounds by the tall Trojan front liners failed, Ludwick came down with the ball, and was fouled.

The crowd was jammed around the sidelines of the floor and if the noise did anything to make him jittery he never showed it. Both free throws cleared the nets, to make it 58-53.

Gene Seals took a turn around jump shot to make it 58-55 and Ludwick was again fouled in the closing press. This time the noise grew louder, but he dropped both of them to push it to 60-55, with 32 seconds remaining.

Rapidly, Greg Prince hit to make it 60-57 but with 18 seconds it was far from over.

MISS FREE THROWS

Ed Pruitt was fouled and missed his first shot. Saginaw cleared the boards and Riley drove in hoping for a three pointer. The Chiefs stayed off and Riley made it 60-59 and with six seconds Pruitt again was at the line.

He missed the first shot and a big scramble for the rebound

Yankees' Mantle OK After Surgery

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI) — New York Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle was in satisfactory condition today after undergoing surgery Tuesday, a spokesman for the Mayo Clinic said.

Surgeons at the clinic removed a bone chip from Mantle's right shoulder.

The spokesman said that Mantle, $100,000-a-year outfielder, will be hospitalized at St. Mary's Hospital from 10 to 14 days and then will spend several weeks as a clinic outpatient.

Yanks' Kubek Calls It Quits Due to Injury

29-Year-Old Infielder Has Bad Neck, Fears Permanent Disability

NEW YORK (AP) — The first chink in what once seemed an impregnable New York Yankee armor has left a deep crack in the Bombers' infield.

Shortstop Tony Kubek, hampered by injuries through most of last year's sixth place Yankee finish, has decided, at age 29, to retire from baseball.

Kubek, who played on seven pennant winners in his nine years as a Yankee, announced his decision Monday after undergoing a thorough examination at the Mayo Clinic last fall.

Reports from the clinic indicated that pressure on Kubek's spinal cord which apparently is the result of a fracture in the cervical section of the neck could affect his reflexes.

UNDISCOVERED

The fracture, previously undiscovered, apparently was suffered several years ago and bone spurs and nerve damage have developed. Doctors at the clinic told Kubek that months of rest might alleviate the condition but the veteran infielder felt there was a possibility of permanent damage if he tried to play.

There was speculation that Kubek might have suffered the original injury in the final game of the 1960 World Series against Pittsburgh when a grounder hit by Bill Virdon struck a pebble, bounced up, hit Kubek in the throat and caused him to snap his head back.

The bouncer led to a five-run eighth inning for the Pirates and Pittsburgh went on to win the game and the Series on Bill Mazeroski's lead-off home run in the last half of the ninth inning.

Kubek, who was Rookie of the Year in 1957, had a career average of .266 in 1,092 games as a Yankee. He batted .218 last year in 109 games.

HOUK CONCURS

"Naturally, we are very sorry to lose the services of such a fine shortstop as Kubek," said Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk. "But we heartily concur in Tony's decision to retire. His own future health comes first and we all join in wishing Tony the best of everything in the future and a speedy recovery from his physical difficulties."

Boxer Suffers London Upset

LONDON (UPI) — Canadian George Chuvalo's hopes of gaining an early crack at Cassius Clay for the world heavyweight title were shattered at the Olympia Circus Arena Tuesday night when he lost a 10-round decision to Argentina's Eduardo Corletti.

Chuvalo's plans for a fight for the British Empire championship also will have to be shelved, for while he was losing to the 24-year-old man Corletti, champion Henry Cooper of Britain knocked out ninth-ranked Hubert Hilton of New York in two rounds.

Cooper put Hilton down with a left hook in the second round and referee Bill Williams called a halt after 1:20 with the Long Island truck driver reeling around the ring in a helpless condition.

Crozier Sparks Surge to Top

Wing Sophomore Not Jinxed

DETROIT (UPI) — Sophomore Jinx? Forget it. Goalie Roger Crozier, of the National Hockey League Detroit Red Wings, last year won the Calder Trophy as the league's best rookie.

The award is one which a good many coaches, and players as well, would just as soon not receive since in hockey, as in most sports, it is occasionally given the "kiss of death" implication.

But if Crozier suffered a sophomore jinx it was the shortest in history.

In the first game of the year, Montreal scored eight goals on the spunky little fellow and for about the first 15 games things looked a little rocky for the Wings and Crozier.

His chronic stomach ailment also gave the Wings a few anxious moments early in the season. Once they had him hospitalized to find out just what the problem was. As a result, Crozier's eating habits are a little restricted but his goal-keeping time is not.

HIT PACE

About the middle of December the Wings and Crozier began to hit their pace. On Dec. 16, the 5-foot, 8-inch goal-tender blanked Boston, 2-0, for his second shutout of the season.

Since that time the Wings have won 13 including the Bruin game, lost just three and tied once. They moved into first place on Jan. 20 by beating Montreal and now hold a four-point edge on the Canadiens and Chicago.

During that period of just over a month, Detroit has jelled into a much stronger team than the one which took the ice early last fall to defend the regular season NHL crown.

General manager-coach Sid Abel has put together two potent scoring lines, one made up of Gordie Howe, Alex Delvecchio and Parker MacDonald, and the other consisting of Paul Henderson, Norm Ullman and Floyd Smith.

But just as impressive as the 56 goals the Wings have scored during the drive to first place, is the stingy net-minding which Crozier has been doing.

He has allowed only 26 goals in the 16 games and has turned in five more shutouts, for a total of seven, one more than he had all last year when he was the NHL leader. Three of the white-wash jobs are against Toronto, two are against Boston.

Neither Crozier or Abel can foresee any signs of a let-up. Last year, as a rookie, Crozier tired and Abel sent him to Florida for a quick three-day vacation. But no such signs this year. "I'm not looking forward to any more Florida vacations," he said. "I'm stronger right now than I've ever been."

Sophomore year jinx? No such luck for the NHL.

Anyone want to try for the junior year?

Knicks Drub Pistons; Royals Leading East

By The Associated Press

The hapless Detroit Pistons, in last place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, dropped a 115-110 decision to the New York Knicks, their counterparts in the Eastern Division Tuesday night.

In the first half of the Detroit-New York doubleheader Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 110-106. In other games the Boston Celtics dropped out of the top slot in the eastern loop with a 113-101 loss to Cincinnati and St. Louis crushed San Francisco 142-107.

Eddie Miles led the Detroiters with 28 points, but hot fourth-period shooting by New York's Dave Stallworth and Walt Bellamy put the game out of reach.

It was the Pistons 34th defeat of the season against 15 victories. New York stands 15-32.

HALFTIME LEAD

The Pistons led at the half, 46-42, but fell down in the third quarter when the Knicks moved ahead, 76-70.

The victory stopped New York's seven-game losing streak.

Oscar Robertson scored 35 points and contributed 10 assists as the Royals beat Boston. Sam Jones had 24 for the Celtics.

Braves Lose Battle, Again, to Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin has a legal siege gun in place today after winning another battle in its war to keep baseball from abandoning Milwaukee as a major league city.

A decision by Circuit Court Judge Elmer W. Roller cleared the way for a temporary injunction designed to block the shift of the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

It also opened the gates to a full scale judicial review of baseball's unique exemption from antitrust laws.

Roller, who refused Tuesday to dismiss the state's antitrust action against the Braves and the National League, also had been expected to rule on the injunction sought by the state.

TALKS SET

He declined, explaining that he first wanted to confer with counsel for both sides "to determine whether there are any further developments."

By developments, Roller was apparently alluding to the possibility of a pretrial settlement that would assure Milwaukee a future as a city with a major league team.

Should there be no settlement the trial is scheduled to open in Roller's court Feb. 1.

was won by Platt who was fouled by Kelley. There were two seconds left and Platt was awarded two shots for a deliberate foul.

He missed the first, dropped in the second one and as Saginaw tried to pass into midcourt for a desperation shot, the buzzer sounded, unheard by anyone in the din of the field-house.

Moving the ball rapidly, PCH got off only 43 shots but hit on 21 of them, while Saginaw pushed up 64 and made 24. The Trojans were actually sharp from the floor through most of three quarters and many of attempted shots in the final moments were of the rebounding tip variety.

Both teams had 33 rebounds and each had seven players in the scoring column, in the evenly played contest.

License Fee Hike Sought

Prepare Deer Moratorium Bill

LANSING (AP)—A two-year ban on shooting does and fawns and a $2.50 hike in the deer license fee will be among provisions of an omnibus hunting bill being framed in the Senate Conservation Committee.

The measure is being drawn up following a series of hearings held by the committee throughout the state.

Hunters complained of over-shooting of antlerless deer and were disgruntled because of a sharp drop in the deer kill last season.

Sen. Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, committee chairman, said he was sure the bill could be reported out of committee.

ONE OPPOSE

Only Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, is opposed to the two-year moratorium on antlerless deer hunting, O'Brien said. The five other committee members, he said, will go along with the bill although some might try to amend other individual items on the floor.

One proposal in the measure would hike the deer license fee from $5 to $7.50.

In addition, hunters would be allowed to purchase a license to bag a doe or fawn for the hunting camp for $10. The camp deer would have to be used for meat within the camp. It would be a misdemeanor to transport the deer outside the camp or use it for other purposes.

LIMIT SET

The number of camp deer allowed would be set at 50,000 and the Conservation Department would be given the responsibility of deciding where they could be taken.

Another provision of the bill would specify that all monies raised from the increase in the hunting license and the new camp deer fee must be used "to set the table with food for the deer," in the words of O'Brien.

This would include feeding the deer or burning and cutting to improve their range.

The measure also will provide for a uniform deer season opener on Nov. 15, eliminating the early season opener in the Upper Peninsula of last year.

LICENSE CHANGE

Another proposal would change the license from the present one worn on the back of the coat to a badge type. O'Brien said, however, it is not contemplated to make this change until 1967.

Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, said he would agree to the moratorium on antlerless deer, but wouldn't go along with the license fee increase.

Mack already has introduced a bill calling for a one-year suspension of doe and fawn shooting in the Upper Peninsula.

"My people can't afford it," Mack also proposed that each hunter be required to give a detailed report on his hunting success for the previous season when applying for a new license. This would provide an accurate record of the deer kill, he explained.

Commission Sets 10-Point Program

Michigan's Conservation Commission has set a 10-point platform for progress in 1966.

In outlining its goals, dealing with conservation's most pressing needs, the Commission noted that none of them may be fully achieved in the next 12 months.

Point by point, the commission pledged its efforts this year to:

- 1) Implement the concepts of state government reorganization as outlined in the Executive Reorganization Act of 1965, with the specific objective of developing harmonious and productive relationships among the agencies included in the Department of Conservation.
- 2) Pursue the development of sound and adequate financing for the Department of Conservation.
- 3) Attack vigorously the problems of environmental pollution, particularly those involving water.
- 4) Press for the establishment of a state code of water rights and use which will recognize and delineate the legitimate interests of recreation, public health, business, industry and agriculture.
- 5) Continue to encourage the purchase of land, particularly in southern Michigan, for parks and other public recreation and to promote recreational development of parks and lands already in public ownership.
- 6) Seek to establish a better understanding in relationships with the Legislature in the utilization of discretionary authority for the Commission to manage natural resources according to scientific principles.
- 7) Encourage the department staff to further develop and refine its methods and techniques for the scientific management of resources.
- 8) Intensify measures to rehabilitate the Great Lakes for the benefit of both sport and commercial fishing.
- 9) Take steps to recodify and simplify laws regulating the use of Michigan's natural resources, especially those relating to fish and game.
- 10) Work for better public understanding of all conservation programs.

Stony Creek Pike Fishing Rated Good

Two Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority lakes are providing the area's top ice fishing. Pike fishing on H-C's Stony Creek Lake near Utica is producing good catches of pike and the outlook is for even better success.

An old stand-by in the Huron-Clinton Authority's network is Kent Lake at Kensington Park. Crappies are the top attraction although bluegill activity has been picking up.

Stony Creek is only three years old, but the lake is fast gaining a reputation as a top pike-producer. Anglers must be able to distinguish between northern pike and small muskies.

The lake was stocked with fingerling muskies a couple of years ago and some of these are reaching the 20-inch mark, the legal size for northern's. Muskies must be 32-inches before they can be kept.

Kent is pretty much unrestricted. Because of the constant threat of winter-kill, any species of any size can be kept. And there is no creel limit.

MINNOWS BEST

Best results on crappies are being obtained after dark with small minnows the best bait.

Pike have been hitting on Lake Orion. A 12-pounder was taken there last week. Action on northern's continues fair on Walled Lake, but is spotty at Lake St. Clair.

Two other good crappie waters have been Loon and Oxbow lakes.

Bluegills haven't been active. Catches are reported to be fair to poor. Spider flies baited with mousies or wax worms are luring what few bluegills are being caught.

Perch fishing on Lake St. Clair and Detroit River is slow, but is improving on inland lakes. Some of the better area waters have been Square, Sugden, Union and Elizabeth.

Additional Dog Training Work Set for Area

Two more dog training demonstrations and class schedules have been set by the Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club.

A demonstration will be held Thursday at Whitfield school on Orchard Lake at 8 p.m. Another is scheduled Feb. 1 at Walled Lake. Ten-week training sessions will start at both sites a week after the demonstrations.

Dog owners planning to attend the demonstrations are requested to leave their dogs home. Registrations will be accepted before and after the special programs.

A veterinarian's health certificate is required before a dog can be enrolled in any of the classes. Additional information for Whitfield is available from Jim Richmond (682-5455) and for Walled Lake from Len Schell (624-1314).

Game Habitat Stock Offered

The Conservation Department is "excellent for grouse." Siberian crab is good rabbit and deer habitat and beneficial to grouse. Dogwood is good for grouse as is arrowwood.

PHEASANT FOOD

Sumac and cranberry provide pheasant food and cover.

Among the species listed individually, but not included in the packets, are multiflora rose and stratified black walnuts.

Orders will be accepted to April 16 and shipments will end May 15. The packets will originate from department nurseries at Manistique, Howell and Higgins Lake.

The department's long established program of making available coniferous trees to landowners continues. These must be ordered on separate forms which are available at district offices.

"We will be very happy to discuss with people in the best locations on their property for planting this stock," said Howard Greene, district game biologist.

The four packets available:

1. South of M55, medium to good soils and moisture — autumn olive, Siberian crab, silky dogwood, wild grape, fragrant sumac, white spruce, Norway spruce, arrowwood and nannyberry.

2. South of M55, light to medium soils and moisture — autumn olive, honeysuckle, Siberian crab, silky dogwood, wild grape, coralberry, red and jack pine.

3. North of M55, medium to good soils and moisture — autumn olive, honeysuckle, Siberian crab, silky dogwood, high bush cranberry, white pine and white spruce.

4. North of M55, light to medium soils and moisture — autumn olive, honeysuckle, Siberian crab, silky dogwood, red and jack pine.

A minimum of four hardwood and two conifers is contained in each packet. The actual composition will depend on stock inventories.

Several of the species listed for the packets are available individually or in combination. Greene said that autumn olive

$631,257 Is Asked for Oakland Schools

A proposed instruction and administration budget of $631,257 for Oakland Schools in 1966-67 was presented to representatives of the county's local school districts last night.

This is $92,353 more than the current budget.

The increase was attributed to the recommended hiring of new personnel and increased salaries for the majority of the 45 employees involved.

The current budget is $539,904. The instruction and administration budget is separate from the special education budget which will be considered later.

The county board of education will study and analyze the proposed budget tomorrow. When a final figure is determined, the budget will be presented to the tax allocation board for a share of the allowable 15-mill property tax.

Included among new proposed personnel is a liaison person to deal with the state and federal governments for approval of federally-financed projects.

City to Halt Laboratory Contribution

The City Commission last night directed that the city's contribution to a county-operated health laboratory be terminated.

The move appears to be based on economic reasons.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren reported last night that the city had been contributing $16,130 a year toward operation of a consolidated city-county health laboratory.

Warren said he could not find another single municipality making such a contribution, which totals about one-third of the cost to operate the laboratory.

The city manager said the laboratory contributions dated back to a 1957 agreement between the city and Oakland County.

HAVE OPTION

The agreement is now on a month-to-month basis with either side having the option for termination.

Warren was directed by the commission to work toward eliminating the annual city contribution.

Several grant applications for Elementary and Secondary Education Act programs reported to be being turned aside.

"These applications are distressing, frightening even to look at," said Farmington Board of Education member Herbert R. Neal.

The liaison position would pay an annual salary of $15,000. Secretarial and clerical help and other expenses would add $7,000 more, according to Oakland Schools officials.

Other proposed new positions are an assistant director of transportation, $9,000 salary; technical assistant in systematic studies, $9,000; two part-time graduate assistants in mathematics, $3,500 each; and two part-time secretaries, $3,000 each.

City OKs Low Bid on Loan Note Sale

The City Commission last night approved the low bid of Pontiac State Bank for the sale of $1.1 million in preliminary loan notes for the R44 urban renewal project.

The lowest of six bidders, Pontiac State Bank asked for an interest rate of 2.98 per cent.

James L. Bates, planning and urban renewal director, reported that the new loan notes were $215,000 less than the outstanding notes of $1.3 million, which represents the use of federal grant money and monies from the sale of land.

2 Subjects Top Agenda for Board

An $18,500 request for purchase of three school buses and presentation of preliminary plans for additions to Herrington and Will Rogers elementary schools are scheduled for tonight's regular meeting of the Pontiac Board of Education.

Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent-business and staff personnel, will present the plans for both projects to board members, who last October gave unanimous approval to the proposed school additions as part of a general expansion move.

The new buses (two 60-passenger vehicles and one orthopedic bus) have been requested by administration officials for delivery by September of this year.

Board approval of the request is needed by Jan. 30 to insure use of the buses next fall.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer will also report to the board on results of an informal hearing last week with State Labor Mediation Board and representatives of Pontiac's two teacher bargaining groups.

The hearing, preliminary to a pending election for bargaining rights, involved the Pontiac Education Association (PEA) and the Pontiac Federation of Teachers (PFT).

At issue in the hearing were categories of school employees to be represented by the groups and obligations by both the PEA and PFT to a board-adopted policy forbidding use of school mailboxes for election campaign literature.

Human Relations Unit Reports

The city's Human Relations Committee reported to the City Commission last night on its investigation on the lack of Negro representation in the leadership of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

In a letter, Irving Steinman, committee chairman, said the matter had been discussed with UF staff personnel, who reported they were aware of the problem.

Steinman said the UF Board of Trustees had discussed the lack of any Negroes on the board and had conveyed this to the UF nominating committee for consideration at the next election of board members.

UF officials reportedly were also aware of the lack of Negroes as division chairmen for the annual United Fund campaign.

The human relations group is to meet with UF representatives to discuss possible candidates for the UF board.

Meantime, the committee has taken the position that various segments of the community should be represented in the UF effort.

The commission received the committee report and placed it on file.

Car Hits Tree; Driver Serious

A 22-year-old Highland Township man is in serious condition at Pontiac General Hospital with injuries received early today when his car went off a road and hit a tree.

Phillip D. Johnson of 1805 White Lake suffered fractures and internal injuries in the accident on West Commerce Road near the intersection of Garner Road in Milford Township.

Johnson told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies his car went out of control as he attempted to round a curve.

U.S. Planes, Ships, Pound Cong Targets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes flew more than 400 combat missions against suspected Red targets in South Viet Nam today and three U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers unleashed a coastal barrage of 729 heavy shells in a massive display of American firepower.

A U.S. spokesman said hundreds of huts and small buildings were hit in the bombardment of Viet Cong concentrations and supply camps, but the suspension of American air attacks against the Communist north continued into the 34th day.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes, including the eight-engine B52 Stratofortresses from Guam, took part in the all-out assault.

On the ground, U.S. and other allied troops extended their post-truce offensive but failed to prod the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese regulars out of their jungle hideaways.

NO MAJOR ENCOUNTER
Although long columns sloged through the forests and rice paddies, military spokesmen reported no major encounter with the enemy or any sign of the whereabouts of the North Vietnamese troops in the central highlands.

U.S. Marines fanned out of their big base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, on 300 patrols in the last 24 hours, but mostly met only an occasional gunshot, mine or booby trap. They were seeking the Viet Cong mortar crews who lobbed 42 shells into the base Tuesday, killing three Americans and two Vietnamese.

One patrol came across an unknown number of Viet Cong shortly after midnight and a moderately heavy firefight ensued. One Viet Cong was killed, a spokesman said, and Marine casualties were moderate.

U.S. Auto Collector Buys Churchill Car

Youth Is Held in Fatal Blaze
Fire at N. Y. Center Killed 12 on Dec. 20

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A youth wanted in connection with the setting of a fire that killed 12 persons in a Jewish community center is in custody. Westchester Dist. Atty. Leonard Rubinfeld said today.

Rubinfeld would say only that Thomas Ruppert, 17, a high school student who worked part-time at the center under the city's antipoverty program, was "in the custody of the Family Court of Westchester."

Family Court officials refused to confirm or deny Rubinfeld's statement.

Nine children and three adults died last Dec. 20 in the blaze. A warrant was issued yesterday for Ruppert's arrest on a charge of first-degree arson.

A Yonkers police officer said earlier today that Ruppert had not been found.

ANTIPOVERTY PROGRAM
The corps is part of the city's antipoverty program.

Polson said last night his department had "obtained evidence that the fire was deliberately set and originated in the southeast wing of the building in the vicinity of the third and fourth floors."

Police Capt. Frank Vesco said he knew the motive but declined to make it public.

The victims were trapped in a music room on the top floor of the four-story building.

Ruppert is one of eight children. His father operates a truck for a diaper service and his mother is critically ill in a hospital.

Cards Are Humorous

Relax—Judge Tells Drivers

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Motorists in the Burlington area were told by municipal judge Arthur D. Peterson to relax—the postcards are phony.

Several motorists received the cards, which said: "The Traffic Ticket Accounting Bureau wishes to inform you that its records show an overpayment on your part for traffic tickets."

"We cannot refund this overpayment, but you can do us a favor by hurriedly running up another violation so we can balance our books."

Judge Peterson, pointing out there is no such bureau, said Tuesday the postcards were "misguided humor . . . not vicious at all."

Wedding Bells Ring for Yank in Viet

By TOM TIEDE
BIEN HOA, Viet Nam — (NEA) — As Pfc. Joe Boyles explained it, he was just sitting around the tent cracking his knuckles, blowing his nose, shining his boots and trying to keep from yawning.
One day a man is fighting Viet Cong and the next day he is fighting boredom.

And, as any GI who has served 12 months in this jittery jungle can testify, the time is at least as hard to kill as the enemy.

"So," Boyles recently shrugged, "I decided to get married."

"To a girl?" he was ineptly asked.
"What else?"
"Er, that is, to an American girl?"

AMERICAN GIRL
"Of course, my girl back in Philadelphia."

"What's her name?"
"Patricia Zidenski."
"How do you spell it?"

CAN'T SPELL NAME
"Z-I-D . . . cripes, I don't know."

"You can't spell your own wife's name?"

"Look, I can hardly even pronounce it."
Despite that obstacle, Boyles had no trouble in winning his Philly filly. He wrote a letter and popped the question in print.

SAID YES
She immediately replied yes, but wondered how. Boyles talked the situation over with his unit chaplain,

Joe Boyles Decided To Get Married

but found out that a leave was, of course, out. This is, after all, war and all that.

"Then," he said, "we decided to do it by proxy."

"You mean with a stand-in?"
"Yes, it's perfectly legal."

ANY FUN
"Of course, but is it any fun?"
"Uh, not so's you'd notice."

The paper work was set in motion. Power of attorney . . . statements . . . legal acknowledgments of Joseph 22, and Patricia, 21.

Mating by mail, Boyles christened it. Nuptials on an eight-cent stamp.

"Finally I got the formal vows," he said. "It was the usual line . . . 'Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded, et cetera.' I signed everything and from then on it was up to my girl."

WEEK BEHIND
"She kept me informed as much as possible but I was always a week or so behind the news. I had no idea of when it was to take place. I didn't even know the name of my stand-in."

"The wife said the ceremony would be simple. They'd go through the whole bit except for substituting my name for the stand-in. Then one day I got a letter that said we were finally hitched."

"What were you doing during the wedding?" somebody asked.
"I was on K.P."

"No!"
POTS AND PANS
"Yeah, scrubbing pots and pans."

"Did you ever celebrate?"
"I had a few beers one night."

"And what about your wife?"
"She got pretty excited about it all."

"How?"
BRIDE FAINTED
"After she said 'I do,' she fainted dead away."

Pfc. Joe Boyles, a 173rd Airborne paratrooper, will not see his bride for five more months, but he's already making plans for the reunion.

"I got her a perfect wedding present," he said.
"What's that?"
"Baby doll pajamas."

"What?"
"For our honeymoon next May."

"Oh!"
"Yeah, man. That's one thing we aren't doing by proxy."

Ready for Weather

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A member of the Maine Legislature, Rep. M. Jerome Dickinson, arrived at the statehouse this week with a spare vehicle. Attached to his car was a trailer carrying a motorized sled. The snowstorm at the time was not that bad so Dickinson did not use his sled.

Tribute to Tony Triggers Street, Night Club Tremor

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Tony Bennett, the singers' singer, the pros' pro, caused a traffic jam around Jules Podell's Copacabana the other night and the next morning reminiscent of the wildest nights of the Frank Sinatra Hysteria.

Some cab drivers declined to drive into that mad maelstrom. Cops were around stopping fights, or starting them.

Wearing a new tailor-made mop of curls for this special occasion, Tony got a huge laugh at the midnight show when he saluted Marty Allen of the famous bushy mane by saying: "Lend me your hair, will you?"

This made Marty so mad, he'll probably be back again. It was all special tribute to Tony trumpeter Bobby Hackett seeming to appear as if by surprise . . . Jack Cassidy, Lauren Bacall, Jason Robards, the Henry Fondas, Lisa Kirk, leaping to their feet for the standing ovation . . . Mimi Hines, swathed in mink, tilting her teeth at him . . . "Diamond Danny" Stradella grabbing a tab for 47 guests occupying three large (and one small) tables. Jules Podell, the usually restrained proprietor, broke into a definite temporary grin.

Tony, now in the movie actor set ("The Oscar"), stopped his dinner show to shake hands with Jolly Joe Levine who explained: "I picked up his option today."

There was room for Ronnie Martin to tell jokes and for the chorus girls to dance, and it was sort of appropriate that one of the girls tripped and fell right on her bosom.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Maureen O'Sullivan gave a birthday celebration at Arthur for dtr. Prudence, just turned 18 . . . Aristotle Onassis is flying bandleader Lester Lanin and eight musicians to Italy, to play at a party on his yacht . . . Joey Heatherton was offered the summer replacement spot for the Dean Martin Tver.

Ed McMahon's daily schedule this week: Morning, a 2-hour radio show; afternoon, rehearsal for "Tonight" show; early evening, "Tonight" taping; late evening, the B'way show "Impossible Years" (plus two matinees a week) . . . BBardot switched from an inconspicuous little Peugeot to a conspicuous big Rolls-Royce.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Bobby Vinton suspects a recent marriage won't last. As they were eloping, the couple argued over who'd go down the ladder first.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: In today's jargon, the local no-good isn't a bum any more—he's merely "a fellow who isn't achieving his potential."—Quote.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Life's like a taxi—the meter keeps running whether you're going or standing still."—Arnold Glasgow.

EARL'S PEARLS: One disappointed student not only got poor grades but sat on the wrong side of the room during the toothpaste test.

Stripper Hope Diamond has a birthday coming up, and a friend asks: "What can you get for a girl who takes off everything?" That's earl, brother.

Rival School Editors Will Vie at Jacks

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) —

Now a dispute has erupted over a home court for a challenge match of jacks between the managing editor of the Yale Daily News and the Harvard Crimson's first woman managing editor.

"I prefer that the match be here," said the Crimson's new managing editor, Linda McVeigh today. "Rothchild doesn't even know the rules for jacks."

John Rothchild, managing editor of the Yale Daily News, challenged Miss McVeigh to a game of jacks in New Haven after she was elected the first woman managing editor in the 93-year history of the Harvard student newspaper.

He said he wanted the game played in the Yale News board room, which is "covered with pictures of past News boards since 1878 and not one woman to mar a perfect record."

'EVIDENT IGNORANCE'

Miss McVeigh said she is "optimistic about our chances because of his evident ignorance about the game of jacks."

"My sports editor has me well prepared in onesies, twosies, chicken in a basket, pig in a sty and clapsies."

She offered to cook dinner for Rothchild before the match.

But with an obvious sneer at the cooking abilities of modern women — whom he accuses of conspiring to undermine male-ness — Rothchild replied that he'd be "pleasantly surprised if the dinner isn't prepared TV style or from a can."

'MORE SOPHISTICATED'

Why are the Yale men getting all worked up about this? Miss McVeigh asked.

"Harvard men are infinitely more sophisticated — not as easily titillated by something like this."

She said she is in the midst of final exams now and that the match would have to be played next week.

Erupting Volcano Causes Flooding

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Heat from erupting Mt. Redoubt melted snow which set off a flash flood Tuesday, forcing the evacuation of about 20 persons.

Members of a U.S. Geological Survey team and homesteaders who lived just north of the 10,197-foot volcano were taken by Air Force crews to Kenai, about 50 miles east, across Cook Inlet. Mt. Redoubt, close to the west shore of the inlet and 110 miles southwest of Anchorage, started erupting Monday. The volcanic action increased Tuesday spreading ash over an area about 30 miles across and melting snow which flooded the drift river.

Conservative leader Edward Heath assailed Wilson for refusing further negotiations with Smith.

British government officials saw little significance in Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's statement in Johannesburg that South Africa will permit oil supplies to be sent to Rhodesia despite the international embargo.

MADE NO OFFER

They noted that Verwoerd made no offer to send any of his own country's petroleum supplies to Rhodesia. They also noted that the South African prime minister stressed that his government should take no sides in the independence dispute.

Verwoerd told his Parliament that open support for Rhodesia would impair South Africa's relations with the United States and Britain.

British officials said their main problem is to prevent private oil operators from sending Rhodesia petroleum either by truck from South Africa or by pipeline from Beira, Portuguese Mozambique.

The Rhodesian dispute also spilled over into the sports world. The Jamaican government, which will be host to the British Empire and Commonwealth Games in August, said it will refuse entry to any Rhodesian athlete carrying a passport issued by Smith's government.

Role Pledged for Africans

Wilson Move Aimed at Balky Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has promised Africans a place in the interim Rhodesian government he hopes to set up if he can bring about the overthrow of Prime Minister Ian Smith's all-white government.

Wilson told the House of Commons Tuesday night he hoped Rhodesians would accept "this week, and if not, then next week" his plans for ending the 10-week rebellion and bringing the colony back to constitutional rule under Queen Elizabeth II.

Conservative leader Edward Heath assailed Wilson for refusing further negotiations with Smith.

British government officials saw little significance in Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's statement in Johannesburg that South Africa will permit oil supplies to be sent to Rhodesia despite the international embargo.

They noted that Verwoerd made no offer to send any of his own country's petroleum supplies to Rhodesia. They also noted that the South African prime minister stressed that his government should take no sides in the independence dispute.

'Hot' Debate on Tortillas

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — State Sen. Tibbo Chavez, a Democrat, inquired during a New Mexico Senate session what the Senate rules had to say about a member eating tortillas in the chamber.

He referred to Sen. Matias Chacon, Democrat, who was taking a quick lunch Tuesday during the discussion on Senate reapportionment.

Sen. W.C. Wheatley, another Democrat, president pro tem, said the rules only required that eating of tortillas be done quietly. Tortillas are pancake like delicacies made of corn flour.

Navy Landing Ships Enter Hunt off Spain

ALMERIA, Spain (AP) — The U.S. Navy today moved more of its forces into the search for a nuclear device missing since the collision nine days ago of a U.S. B52 bomber and its jet tanker over the southern coast of Spain.

Two landing ships, (dock) joined the flotilla of U.S. and Spanish ships searching offshore about 65 miles northeast of Almeria.

Other units and search and recovery experts from as far as the U.S. West Coast were being assembled in the area to complete the operation, officials said.

Technicians of the U.S. Air Force, the U.S. Navy, and the U.S. Army were all working closely with Spanish military units in their search.

Spanish sources said the first immediate result of the search at sea was the recovery of two ejection seats from the downed bomber.

In the coastal village of Palomares, villagers watched American airmen eating fresh tomatoes from local gardens near the crash scene and lost their fears of radioactive contamination.

"When we saw those young Americans eating that fresh produce from our gardens, it was a sure sign we had nothing to worry about any longer," said one farmer.

Non-Red Shipping to Cuba Is Down

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Shipping from non-Communist nations to Cuba declined from 341 vessels in 1964 to 280 last year, an exile organization reported today.

In December, 19 free world ships docked at Cuban ports as against 33 in November, said the group, Revolutionary Unity, which says it keeps track of the dockings.

The group attributed the decrease largely to U. S. discouragement of shipping to Cuba plus a spreading international longshoremen's boycott of vessels from countries trading with the Communist nation.

Plan Offered for Waterford School Growth

By HUDSON WILLSE

A $13-million building program for Waterford Township Schools was proposed last night by a citizens' advisory committee meeting at Pierce Junior High School.

The far-reaching plan, which includes construction of a third high school at a cost not to exceed $5.25 million and three elementary schools, is expected to be presented to board of education members Feb. 3.

Vote Is Slated on School Plan

$11-Million Proposal for Bloomfield Hills

By PAT McCARTY

An $11-million school building program, including five new elementary schools, will be on a special ballot in the Bloomfield Hills School District April 4.

The building package, to be financed through the state school loan fund, will not increase the school tax rate more than 50 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation, school officials maintain.

The figure for the bond issue proposal was determined last night by Bloomfield Hills Board of Education members, who also set the special election date to correspond with municipal elections within the district.

Warned in October that the district's building program was not keeping pace with enrollment increases, school trustees subsequently were told they could count on needing $8 million to $10 million worth of new facilities by 1971.

Enrollment is expected to jump from the current 7,617 to 12,000 in the next five years.

BOND PROPOSAL

In authorizing the drafting of the $11-million bond proposition, school board members indicated that figure may be altered slightly before it is placed on the ballot.

Architects are to review cost estimates and present their analysis at a special board meeting Tuesday.

The updated enrollment projections were calculated by consultants from Michigan State University. Architects at Tarrata-MacMahon Associates, Inc., of Bloomfield Township estimated cost of the new buildings in December.

Estimated cost of the five new elementary schools is $5,818,780.

5 YEARS

Educational consultants have noted the district should build the equivalent of one new elementary school annually for the next five years.

Also in the bond issue are funds to complete buildings (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Michigan Bell Lists Outlay for Pontiac

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. announced today that it will spend $4,117,000 in Pontiac this year to expand and improve its communications services.

The local outlay is part of Michigan Bell's 1966 construction program totaling a record $175 million. This surpasses last year's previous high by $40 million and is about double the amount spent by the company three years ago.

Charles B. Woodhead, manager of Michigan Bell in Pontiac, broke down the local outlay as follows:

- $1,494,000 for outside plant facilities.
- $935,000 for telephone equipment in homes and offices.
- $1,451,000 for central office equipment.
- About $237,000 for land and buildings.

Boy Is Sought in Fatal Blaze

12 Died Dec. 20 in Fire at N.Y. Center

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A boy who was being helped by the city's antipoverty program was sought today on a charge of setting a fire in the Yonkers Jewish Community Center that killed 12 persons.

Nine children and three adults died Dec. 20 in the fire that police said was set by Thomas Ruppert, 17, a high school student who worked part-time at the center.

A warrant was issued yesterday for Ruppert's arrest on a charge of first-degree arson.

A Yonkers police officer said today that Ruppert had not been located.

ANTIPOVERTY PROGRAM

The corps is part of the city's antipoverty program.

Polson said last night his department had "obtained evidence that the fire was deliberately set and originated in the southeast wing of the building in the vicinity of the third and fourth floors."

Police Capt. Frank Vesco said he knew the motive but declined to make it public.

The victims were trapped in a music room on the top floor of the four-story building.

Ruppert is one of eight children. His father operates a truck for a diaper service and his mother is critically ill in a hospital.

U.S. Is Hinting Resumption of N. Viet Strikes

Johnson Meets With Top Assistants, 20
Leaders of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has made new moves on diplomatic and political fronts amid mounting indications of a possible early resumption of the bombing of North Viet Nam targets.

The political move came at dusk last night when the President summoned 20 congressional leaders from both parties to meet with him and key members of the National Security Council to discuss Viet Nam and other matters.

One source reported the meeting was not called as a result of any emergency development.

Part of the 2½-hour session was devoted to a presentation of evidence from aerial reconnaissance and reports of refugees.

These reports indicated that Hanoi has used the 34-day pause in the bombings to rebuild roads and bridges and increase the flow of supplies — and perhaps armed troops — to Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

EARLIER MESSAGES

Earlier, in a series of messages to foreign governments, Johnson had acted to clear the way diplomatically for a resumption of the bombings if and when he decides that is necessary.

Announcement of last night's White House meeting was not made until the session was under way.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers reported Johnson had asked the congressional leaders to "regard the information divulged as confidential."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was on hand, along with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Romney to Ask Record Budget

LANSING (AP)—Record state general fund spending of $196 million or more will be recommended tomorrow by Gov. Romney.

He'll present to the Legislature a 1966-67 budget expected to continue virtually all existing state services, expand in some areas and dip into the $136 million surplus to balance itself.

Romney has said it will cost some $36 million merely to continue the programs contained in the current year's budget of $628 million — thus the apparent minimum of $196 million for the coming fiscal year.

The budget message of about 8,000 words will be delivered only in writing, not in person, by the Republican governor to the Democratic-controlled Legislature.

His recommendations will go to the Senate Appropriations and House Ways and Means committees for scrutiny.

Under the current legislative calendar, spending for the year beginning July 1 will be determined by June 3.

Education, both local and higher, is expected to pick off a major share of whatever improvements Romney recommends.

He promised primary and secondary increases in his State of the State message and in a talk to community college trustees said he'd offer both operating and building boosts.

State construction projects—the bulk of them at colleges and universities—are expected to get another sharp prod from the governor.

BUILDING PROJECTS

In his State of the State message, Romney said his new budget would contain funds for building projects with a final total value of $475 million.

His so-called planning-to-ribbon-cutting figure a year ago was $260 million.

These figures are not one-year budget totals but the value of all buildings in progress—some of which may have their cost appropriated over a three-to-five year period.

Mental health, a $102 million budget item this year, is due for a $10 million increase next year, according to the governor's message.

STATE SURPLUS

The current budget by Romney's early 1965 figures was expected to top more than $20 million off the state surplus.

Instead, despite spending that exceeded his recommendations by more than $30 million, indications are that the surplus could hold its mid-1965 level and perhaps even climb a bit.

The broad breakdown of the budget will follow a new format, made necessary by government reorganization.

Functions have been stripped for some departments, added to others and in some cases such as commerce and licensing, regulation, entire new departments have been created.

Security Tight at Crash Scene

ROY, N.M. (AP) —The military clamped a tight security cover around a northeast New Mexico ranching area after the flaming crash of a 2,000-mile per hour American reconnaissance plane.

One test pilot was killed and another injured slightly when the black SR71 spiraled to earth near the Texas border yesterday.

Both men parachuted out of the burning jet. One was found dead by ranch workers.

The Air Force stopped everyone but ranchers and their employees from entering the area, and refused to elaborate on details of the crash.

A spokesman at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., said the SR71 was on a routine long-range test flight.

IST ACCIDENT

The spokesman said that it was the first reported accident for the new series of twin-engine surveillance craft capable of scanning 60,000 square miles of earth from an altitude of 80,000 feet.

Light Snow Is Expected

A light snow is expected to fall in the Pontiac area during the night with lows tumbling to near 4 above.

Snow flurries will dot the skies tomorrow. High temperatures will register 14 to 22. Friday's forecast is fair and slightly colder.

Morning east to northeasterly winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour will become south to southeast tonight and north to northwest at 10 to 20 miles tomorrow.

A low of 3 above was recorded at 3:30 this morning. By 1 p.m. the mercury had sallied up to 17.

Pair Arrested by FBI in Rail Extortion Plot

BOSTON (UPI)—On television, a teen-ager plotted to extort $100,000 from a railroad under threat of blowing up a bridge.

In real life, the FBI said, two men conspired to shake down the Boston and Maine Railroad for $250,000 by threatening to dynamite its facilities throughout New England.

The similarities between the television drama, shown on a national network last month, and the real plot, smashed with the arrest of two men yesterday, apparently was coincidental.

The actual plot was concocted before the TV show was broadcast.

FBI agents arrested the two suspects, Donald Albert Dupray, 26, and Caleb John Babbitt, 25, at their homes in the central Massachusetts community of Athol.

The FBI said both men signed statements admitting their roles in the plot.

NOT ARRESTED

U.S. Commissioner Francis H. Farrell reported a juvenile also implicated in the conspiracy had given information to the FBI. He was not arrested.

James L. Handley, special agent in charge of the FBI's Boston office, said agents found 75 sticks of dynamite in the trunk of Dupray's car.

He said both men had signed (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Area 'Sniper' to Face Charge

A 1957 charge of assault with intent to murder against Oakland County's alleged "phantom sniper," Gary Addison Taylor, will be pursued by the prosecutor's office, but the decision has not yet ruled out the possibility that a sanity hearing will be called.

Taylor, 29, of Royal Oak, was returned to the Oakland County Jail last week after authorities at Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane said that he is now able to understand the charges against him.

He was committed to the hospital in March 1957, after being accused of shooting at seven women and wounding two of them shortly before his arrest a month earlier. He was never tried on the charge.

Asst. Prosecutor Ronald Covault said today that there is a "strong possibility that a sanity commission hearing will be held before any preliminary court examination is scheduled."

Bonanza for City GM Workers

A total of 2,709 General Motors Corp. salaried employees in Pontiac will receive over $5.2 million as a result of their participation in the company's 1960

Savings-Stock purchase program. The $5,202,983 payoff is the outgrowth of $1,416,282 originally invested in 1960 by the participating employees.

Distribution of GM common stock, government bonds and cash is being made this week to the salaried employees who chose to receive their assets from the 1960 "Class."

The payoff at Pontiac Motor Division will be $2,557,637.

GMC Truck & Coach Division employees will receive $2,279,404 of the total and Pontiac Fisher Body Plant salaried personnel will get $375,942.

$146 MILLION

A total of approximately $146 million has been credited to GM employees on a corporationwide basis due to the 1960 savings program, according to Frederic G. Donner, GM chairman.

This includes 67,500 participating employees.

Some 51,700 of this total chose to receive their assets now while the other 15,800 are leaving their assets in trust under this option of the 1960 program.

The return on an employee's savings was more than $3.65 for every dollar saved, based on the closing market price of $103.50 for GM common stock at the end of 1965.

COMMON STOCK

This week's distribution will include 795,000 shares of GM common stock with a market value of $82,282,000, government bonds valued at $16,072,000 and approximately $3,225,000 in cash.

The distribution results from employee savings of $27,590,000 in 1960 and corporation contributions of $13,795, plus interest and dividends earned from them until last Dec. 31 and ap-

Four Blazes Account for Half '65 City Loss

Four major fires last year accounted for over half the fire loss in the city of Pontiac, according to a report submitted last night to the City Commission by Pontiac Fire Chief James R. White.

White noted, however, that the total damages of $447,000 in the city were down over $400,000 from the figure recorded for 1964.

The worst blaze of the year in terms of monetary loss was a $117,000 fire which swept the site of Plywood Distributors Co., 375 Cass, last April 11.

Three other fires of major proportions accounted for another $107,000. The remainder of damages came in 370 other business and residential fires.

Pontiac Local Sets Feb. 9-11 Election

UAW Local 653, Pontiac Division, will hold elections for committeemen Feb. 9, 10 and 11, it was announced today by John B. Maye, president.

He said committeemen selection produces the heaviest balloting of any of the Local's elections.

Voting will begin at 5 a.m. Feb. 9, and continue until 8 a.m. Feb. 11. All Committeemen are up for reelection.

Commission Okays Budget

Calls for Tax Rate of $17.50 Per Thousand

A record 1966 budget, now estimated to require a tax rate of $17.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation, was approved last night by the City Commission.

The total $9.2 million budget incorporates a general operating budget of $7.6 million—$650,767 higher than last year.

The 1965 tax rate was $17.90 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Emphasizing that final equalization figures won't be available until later in the spring, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the projected 40-cent drop in the tax rate generally reflected a decrease in the special earmarked sanitation millage.

The millage was increased last year to provide funds for the purchase of a sanitary land fill site.

The annual appropriation ordinance was passed by the commission after a public hearing that featured objections by one citizen, James L. Carr, 51 Canterbury.

QUIZZES WARREN

Carr quizzed Warren on the use of city cars after working hours and the efficient use of police personnel.

Warren said city cars are used by those, such as himself, on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The city manager further claimed that police personnel were used for clerical work only as much as is necessary.

Carr claimed that $14,000 appropriated for youth protection services could be better spent to attract industry to the city. He said the youth services were duplicating county services.

AUSTERE SPENDING

Essentially, the 1966 budget holds city departments to austere spending in line with last year's budget, allowing for pay raises for most municipal employees.

The budget appropriates some funds for new waste collection and disposal equipment, nine new policemen and 13 new police cars.

City Manager Warren pointed out that the projected drop in the tax rate did not mean the city was not levying all that it could.

He said the full charter-limited 10 mills would be levied for operating purposes.

The tax rate is reduced in areas supported by special earmarked millage.

Lawyer Enters Court Race

William R. Beasley, attorney for the city of Huntington Woods and the Birmingham and Ferndale School Districts, announced today that he is a candidate for Oakland County Circuit Judge.

An attorney for 23 years, Beasley, 47, of 330 W. Drayton, Ferndale, was president of the Oakland County Bar Association in 1957-58, after previous service as a director.

Long active in legal assistance to the indigent, he was an organizer of the Oakland County Legal Aid Society and served as its president from 1961 to 1964. He continues as a director.

Beasley will seek one of the two open seats on the bench.

In partnership with Oak Park City Attorney Carl W. Forsythe for more than 18 years, Beasley is a graduate of the University of Michigan Law School.

ROMNEY BACKER

He was chairman of the Oakland County Lawyers for George Romney Committee in 1962.

From 1951 to 1953 Beasley was a Ferndale City Commissioner. Presently he is a member of the South Oakland Hospital Authority and Ferndale Rotary Club and has been a director of the Oakland County Citizens League.

He has also served as a city commercial chairman for the Torch Fund and as a director of the Oakland County chapter of the American Red Cross.

JUDGE OKAYS LONG HAIR — Richard Gorz, 17, a student at University of Illinois in Chicago, appears with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Gorz, after Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Slater ruled yesterday, in Chicago, that he need not get a haircut. His father,

Steven, 52, a truck driver divorced from his mother last September, filed petition asking the court to force the lad to get his hair trimmed. Richard, a drummer in a rock 'n' roll group, said he wears long hair for "professional reasons."

sium, multipurpose room and instructional materials center for each building. In addition, several other improvements were recommended.

An estimated $619,000 would be earmarked for improvement of existing secondary buildings, including:

- Improvement of outdoor athletic facilities.
- Expansion of libraries and learning centers.
- Expansion of vocational facilities.
- Major additions to classrooms.
- Auditoriums for the two high schools.
- Swimming pools for both high schools.

Also proposed at last night's meeting was a new board of education building, which would be built on existing school property.

Tatroe thanked members of the citizens' committee for their extensive study and ensuing recommendations, which was undertaken with the advice of architects, and stressed the need for the program.

CITES MAGNITUDE

"I'm impressed and somewhat staggered," he said. "There aren't many communities that would undertake a program of this magnitude."

"It can be done and it must be done," said Tatroe.

Heading the four subcommittees of the citizens' body are Donald Redmond, finance; Charles Sitton, community facilities; Arnold Wilson, high school facilities; and Mrs. Edwin Markham, elementary school facilities.

University of Pittsburgh Official Dies at 68

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A spokesman for the University of Pittsburgh said acting Chancellor Dr. Stanton C. Crawford died today of a heart attack.

The spokesman said Crawford, 68, was stricken at his home in Pittsburgh after attending a banquet at Duquesne University.

Long active in legal assistance to the indigent, he was an organizer of the Oakland County Legal Aid Society and served as its president from 1961 to 1964. He continues as a director.

U.S. Warplanes, Ships Pound Suspected Viet Cong Targets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes flew more than 400 combat missions against suspected Red targets in South Viet Nam today and three U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers unleashed a coastal barrage of 729 heavy shells in a massive display of American firepower.

A U.S. spokesman said hundreds of huts and small buildings were hit in the bombardment of Viet Cong concentrations and supply camps, but the suspension of American air attacks against the Communist north continued into the 34th day.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes, including the eight-engine B52 Stratofortresses from Guam, took part in the all-out assault.

On the ground, U.S. and other allied troops extended their post-truce offensive but failed to prod the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese regulars out of their jungle hideaways.

Commission members agreed unanimously that William J. Pulte, 2664 Amberly, be ordered to cease discriminating on the basis of race.

statements: admitting their roles in the plot.

The extortion scheme was even more ambitious than the story aired Dec. 12 on the network television series, "The FBI."

TV EPISODE

In an episode subtitled "How to Murder an Iron Horse," a 19-year-old boy threatened to explode a bomb under a railroad bridge unless railroad officials gave him $100,000.

The FBI was called into the investigation little more than one week after the television drama was screened.

Authorities said, however, the two men apparently began planning the scheme in November and did not obtain the idea from the television show.

Dec. 31 and Jan. 13. Most of the trucks were seen on routes 1A and 15 — the latter moving toward Muga Pass, a gateway to the Laos infiltration corridor.

On Jan. 1, a number of trucks were photographed just inside North Viet Nam's border with Laos and others were seen at a rest and refueling area just north of the Muga Pass.

Refugees on the Laos side of the border reported counting 500 trucks going south between Dec. 27 and Jan. 14.

One report being considered in the capital suggests that as many as 1,000 infiltrators may have moved into South Viet Nam's northernmost Quang Tri Province on Christmas Day alone.

DIPLOMATIC FRONT

On the diplomatic front, the series of messages to foreign governments, participating in the U.S. peace offensive said that the North Vietnamese Communists have shown no interest in ending the war.

Despite the suspension of bombing, the U.S. messages said, the Reds have continued infiltration and attacks in the south.

The messages are said to have made clear that the United States must now look to the security of its own and allied forces fighting the Communist guerrillas.

In Cairo, where one of the messages was delivered Monday by U.S. Ambassador Lucius D. Battle, the Egyptian Foreign Office evidently interpreted it as a new peace overture, and it was so reported in a press dis-

Storm Drain Program Gets OK for Planning

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The first step toward development of a $3.5-million storm drain has been taken by the Township Board.

The board Monday night adopted a resolution authorizing the Oakland County Drain Office to begin work on plans for the drain.

The program would cover only Bloomfield Township, generally the southern half of the community.

Township engineers twice have developed plans for a joint Bloomfield Hills - Bloomfield Township drain, but city officials have indicated they are not interested in the project, according to Township Clerk Deloris V. Little.

A joint program would have made use of the Sunken Bridge and Gougeon drains in Bloomfield Hills to carry water to the Rouge River.

MATTER TABLED

Mrs. Little noted the matter has been tabled by the City Commission.

The new proposal calls for a drain along 14 Mile Road to the Rouge River near Covington.

In presenting preliminary plans for the drain, township engineers at Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc. estimated the program would take the total levy for township drainage systems to 1.5 mills.

A quarter-mill tax was levied last year for the Hamlin, Murphy and Devonshire drains which have not yet been constructed.

DRAIN LAWS

Under state drain laws, such a program is financed by general obligation bonds and the

Intersection Is Scene of 3rd Mishap

A 37-year-old Commerce Township man was treated at Pontiac General Hospital this morning for injuries received when his car and another vehicle collided at the intersection of Wise and Carroll Lake Road.

It was the third accident at the intersection in little more than three weeks. Two Commerce Township sisters were killed at the corner Jan. 3 and two cars collided at the intersection last Wednesday.

Donald D. Rotary of 4920 Sundew was today after complaining of brief periods of unconsciousness following the accident about 7 a.m.

Rotary was driving eastbound on Wise when he collided with a northbound vehicle on Carroll Lake driven by Marjion W. Payne, 53, of Detroit.

Payne told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Gerald Girard that Rotary failed to observe the stop sign at the intersection.

Rotary said he came to a stop at Carroll Lake—posted by a warning sign and stop sign in either direction—and then proceeded when he saw no other vehicles.

Would Hear Appeals of County Employees

Oakland County's newly established merit system study committee yesterday agreed that a three-member board should be established to rule on employee grievances.

The appeal board would be comprised of an employee representative who is not a county employee, a representative of the County Board of Supervisors appointed by the chairman and a citizen at large named by the first two members.

The study committee was established a month ago to draft a proposed merit system, or civil service program, for county employees.

A previous merit system proposal was presented to the board of supervisors last November but became entangled in amendments and finally was tabled for further study and revision.

Also yesterday, the study committee agreed to a change in the original merit system proposal that specified that the salaries committee of the board of supervisors sit as the personnel policies board.

CHAIRMAN TO NAME 7

The new procedure gives the board of supervisors chairman authority to appoint any seven supervisors to this committee which will establish personnel policies.

Study committee members will meet again Feb. 22 to continue work on the merit system which will again be proposed to the full board of supervisors for adoption as an interim program.

Further revisions probably will be made before the merit system is put to a vote of the people for formal approval.

authorized in a $7.6-million bond issue approved in 1964.

Substantial increases in construction costs account for much of the additional money being sought.

Those projects and the additional funds needed for their completion are the district's second high school, to be completed by September 1967, $1,405,050; West Hills Junior High School, September 1967, $231,000; and a bus maintenance facility, February 1967, $72,380.

SWIMMING POOL

Some $712,800 would be used for construction of a swimming pool addition to Bloomfield Hills High School by June 1967, $687,500 for a 20-classroom addition to West Hills Junior High School by June 1969 and $1,194,950 for a 25-classroom addition to the second senior high school by September 1970.

The package also includes $680,000 for purchase of four school sites and $217,540 for athletic and recreational facilities at both high schools and West Hills Junior High School.

The board last night resolved it intends "to utilize the state school bond loan fund to the greatest possible degree in order to minimize the tax burden."

A new state law provides low-interest loans for rapidly growing districts that assess 7 mills for building bond retirement.

The Bloomfield Hills district currently has a debt retirement levy of 6.83 mills included in a total school tax of 29.03 mills.

Lauds Detroit Poverty Fight

Shriver Hails Plan,
Ducks Demonstrators

DETROIT (UPI) — War Against Poverty Director R. Sargent Shriver lauded Detroit's part in the anti-poverty program yesterday while saying he did not know how temporary the freeze on Detroit's federal funds would be.

Shriver ducked about 50 demonstrators who gathered before and after his talk to about 1,000 persons attending the first anniversary dinner of Detroit's Total Action Against Poverty program.

The demonstrators were attempting to bring attention to "hundreds of people who are so poor that the gas company shut off their gas in the middle of winter."

The Office of Economic Opportunity announced two weeks ago that funds for Detroit's anti-poverty programs would be held up because of "fair-share" spending planned to encompass all communities.

The freeze at that time was seen as a cutback in spending caused by the war in Viet Nam.

DETROIT'S SHARE

Shriver said yesterday, "I have no idea how long the freeze will last." Detroit had been receiving nearly $11 million from the federal government for its projects.

The OEO director called Detroit's program a model for other cities to follow.

He termed the program "first rate, an outstanding example of community action by the total community."

He added that Detroit was one of the first and largest fund recipients under the program because it got off to a fast start with a lot of advance planning.

A SUCCESS

He said the War Against Poverty is meeting with much success because "We are actually getting people out of poverty."

He took a jab at House Minority leader Gerald Ford, R-Mich., without naming him.

Shriver said, "A Michigan congressman said a year ago that there were no poor people." He quoted the congressman as saying last week that the program was not reaching enough poor people.

Shriver had praised project "Head Start," which he said touches nearly 200,000 persons.

He called the centers established under the program "supermarkets for social service" and named Detroit as a pioneer in the activity.

Bid to Drive Up Steps of St. Peter's Fails

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Giovanni Pomponi, 37, tried yesterday to drive his car up the steps of St. Peter's Basilica. Police said he drove into St. Peter's Square at a high speed and went straight up the low steps, but the tires blew out and the car halted abruptly near the top of the steps.

Pomponi, offering no explanation, was hospitalized for contusions, and described in a state of nervous agitation.

Economic Restraint

Not Easy to Effect

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Can the federal budget really change the economy's course? In the second of four articles, Sam Dawson, AP Business News Analyst, tells how the government fiscal policy has been working.)

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Changing the government's policy from a goal of stimulating a lagging economy to restraining a go-go one isn't always as easy or effective as it sounds. But this time, government economists and fiscal experts are using what they call new methods and better understanding of what makes the economy tick. And they have a big talking point: a five-year record that bears all the outward signs of success.

Using tax cuts and pump priming as pep pills has been tried many times before. Using increased tax collections and tighter money as a curb on speculation has, too. In many instances in the past, the government action has lagged so far behind the business cycle as to be of little help, and sometimes a hindrance.

One reason has been that the government policymakers got around to it too late. Another was that Congress took too long to make the changes.

ON THE BALL?

The new economists say they are right on the ball now. And Congress may move fast out of respect for the record of the last five years.

Five years ago next month, the last recession hit bottom. Unemployment was high. A horde of teen-agers plus the increased of mechanization threatened that more joblessness would be on the way. Industries had overbuilt plant capacity in the middle and late 1950s and much lay idle.

From 1961 to the summer of 1965, the economic and fiscal policies of the government were aimed at building up demand for goods and services and spurring economic growth. More money was pumped into the economy by the government spending than out by tax collections. That is, the Treasury ran a planned deficit without apology. Tax incentives, such as depreciation allowances, led corporations to invest more.

In 1964 and 1965, taxes were cut for individuals and corporations. It all added up to more money to spend. And all hands spent more. Business boomed and jobs multiplied.

AVOID INFLATION

Inflation was avoided for several reasons: As long as unemployment was high, wage demands were moderate and job security the prime union goal. Idle plant facilities kept competition keen and prices down. Automation meant more units of production per man-hour of labor and held costs down. Consumer demand — and confidence — grew along with the economy but there were still enough goods for everyone to buy.

A change became evident last summer. The economy was expanding faster than any one had expected. Idle plant capacity shrank. The jobless rate dropped. Productivity from new equipment wasn't rising as fast as before. Wholesale prices, long stable, started moving up fast. The consumer price index rose sharply toward the end of 1965. And the buildup in the Viet Nam war foretold increased spending, greater demand for materials that go into both military and civilian products, a callup of more youths at the age they enter the labor force.

The economy was building up fast under the lid of capacity and supply. The trick was to keep the lid from popping off but, at the same time, keep the economy just hot enough for everyone's taste.

The new economists say the government can handle this, just as it did the economic stagnation back in 1961. The overall policy will be the same: a prosperous and still expanding economy. The methods will change: restraint rather than stimulation — but just the right amount of restraint.

Next: What steps are government and business taking to make 1966 different?

Q. "I hold 200 Tectron and 100 Roberts Co. of North Carolina, purchased five years ago. The rise in the price of these stocks worries me and I would appreciate your advice as to whether to sell at present market." A.D.

A. Tectron, under able management, has expanded and enlarged its profits base. I believe the growth seen here in recent years will continue and I advise you to hold.

Roberts Co. is a relatively small manufacturer of textile machinery, which is showing a sharp gain in profits due to the boom in textiles. The company's earnings have in the past been subject to wide cyclical variations and this is also true of the price of the shares. The stock is at high levels and I would accept my gain and reinvest in Consolidated Foods.

Q. "I have income-producing property worth $100,000, am 55 and do not plan to be married. There are no heirs. I am considering selling my property and buying a straight life annuity. From other sources I have about $600 monthly income. What is your opinion of an annuity?" T.G.

A. Generally, I think highly of a straight life annuity. In your circumstances, however, I suggest that you wait a while. At your relatively young age, marriage is not out of the question. There are variable annuities, available in some states, in which the principal amount is invested in stocks, which may lift your annuity payments if the market rises.

If you are set on buying an annuity, this is the contract you should consider. Otherwise, I would invest in high yielding stocks of the caliber of Libby-Owens-Ford Glass, which will add about $400 a month to your income and postpone the annuity purchase.

DAVIS CARLSON

Charles F. Brown, manager of Consumers Power Company's Pontiac Division, has announced the appointment of Clyde W. Davis of Jackson as gas distribution superintendent.

Davis succeeds Gordon D. Carlson, 3672 Meadowleigh Lane, Waterford Township, who has accepted a new position in the company's general gas engineering department at the general offices in Jackson.

Davis expects to move to the Pontiac area in the near future.

He graduated from Michigan State University, majoring in engineering.

Glancy, 27, lives with his wife and one child in Grosse Pointe Farms.

He is a graduate of Princeton University and Harvard Business School.

Jury Is Out

in Drug Trial

Defendants Charged in Krebiozen Sales

CHICAGO (AP) — A jury of seven housewives and five men is deliberating the fate of Dr. Andrew C. Ivy and three others charged with fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of Krebiozen.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court handed the case to the jury at 4:45 p.m. Tuesday.

The jurors deliberated until 10 p.m., then were locked up in a hotel for the night.

Judge Hoffman said the jury will remain under the custody of U.S. marshals until it reaches a verdict.

NOT EFFECTIVE?

Krebiozen is a substance taken by some cancer sufferers which the government contends is not an effective medication.

The jury heard the testimony of 178 witnesses, 121 testifying for the government and 57 for the defense. The trial ends its ninth month Friday, and is the longest trial in Chicago's federal court history.

A transcript of the trial filled more than 18,000 pages and formed a stack of books seven feet high.

The defendants are Dr. Ivy, 72, director of medical research at Roosevelt University and chief sponsor of Krebiozen; Dr. Stevan Durovic, 60, developer of Krebiozen; his brother, Marko, 64, a lawyer; and Dr. William F.P. Phillips, 52, a general practitioner who has administered the drug.

MAIL FRAUD

They are charged in an indictment with mail fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of Krebiozen.

The government contended Krebiozen is worthless in the treatment of cancer. The white, powdery substance — which its proponents say is derived from the blood serum of horses — has been banned from interstate shipment by the Food and Drug Administration. It can still be purchased in Illinois.

The defendants waited in a corridor outside the courtroom as the jury deliberated.

Says Homework Can Be Overdone

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Excessive school homework and "busy work" — purposes assignments which merely keep a student busy — have been ruled out by Leonard Suchsland, principal of Rex Putnam High School. He says:

"Too much home study interferes with education instead of enhancing it. It encourages poor study habits and interferes with many things that are important, such as social development."

Suchsland wants his students to spend only two hours daily studying at home, thus giving them, along with time spent at school, eight hours a day of work.

Charged in 5 Deaths, Woman Is Ruled Insane

HONOLULU (AP) — An Air Force captain's wife is insane and cannot stand trial in the bathtub drownings of her five children, Honolulu Circuit Court ruled Tuesday.

The woman, Maggie Young, 38, is charged with the death of her son, James Frankie, 8. Police say she also admitted drowning the other four youngsters.

D76 Developer Tried, True

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Thoughts on a winter evening in the darkroom: There have been so many phenomenal changes in photography in recent years that special tribute should be given to one tried, true and tested friend in the darkroom which has proved its dependability for more than 30 years — D 76 developer!

Darkroom history is littered with the discarded bottles of sensational super developers whose devotees claimed miracles in higher film speed and finer grain size. And against what standard were they compared? Most always, D76.

I recall being introduced to the simple elon-hydroquinone formula more than 25 years ago by my older brother, Sid, when he worked in the NBC darkroom.

But he was also experimenting with the new miracle "soups" which flourished periodically on the crest of some camera club cliques.

They were comparatively expensive, of course, and a bottle and replenisher soon were finished.

BACK TO D76

Without a replacement at hand, back to the D76 we went and the results were always as

Rabies Serum Designated as a Preventive

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — At last there is a rabies vaccine that people can use without waiting to be bitten first.

The vaccine, first introduced in 1957, has now been licensed by the Division of Biologics Standards of the National Institutes of Health for use by "high-risk" people such as police officers, kennel workers and mailmen.

The reason that this vaccine, a killed-virus type produced in embryo ducks, has received government approval is that it does not contain the "paralytic factor" found in Pasteur-type vaccines, which are made from rabbit brain tissue.

In some people, this factor causes paralysis and even death, and doctors have therefore been reluctant to recommend immunization except in cases of known exposure to rabies.

There are two possible treatment schedules with the vaccine: either three doses a week apart and one four to five months later, or two doses a month apart and a third dose seven months later.

BOOSTER SHOT

An annual booster shot is then enough to maintain an adequate immunity level.

Eli Lilly and Co., Indianapolis, Ind., recommends blood tests one month after the initial series of doses and after each booster, to make sure that sufficient protective antibodies are present.

Standard rabies treatment, given only after exposure, consists of at least 14 painful injections, one a day for two weeks, into the muscle wall of the stomach.

good or better, though it wasn't fashionable to admit it.

Sid went on to become a staff photographer, then chief photographer and finally manager of the NBC photo department in New York but D86 followed along, through change after change, without becoming obsolete.

In the spring 1964 issue of Leica Photography magazine, Richard Vesey of the Wisconsin State Journal details the results of D76 performance based on five years of records in their photo lab.

His conclusions were that it was an excellent, economical developer and also very versatile.

CONSISTENT RESULTS

It yields consistent results at different temperatures but has the ability to alter the contrast and density of a negative by a change in dilution or the rate of agitation during development.

For amateur use, the mix-it-yourself gallon can is most economical. For one-roll-at-a-time processors, it's best to put the D76 in pint bottles which are tightly corked and sealed with tape.

For normal development at 68 degrees of Tri-X film, developing time is six and one-half minutes when exposed at 400 ASA; eight minutes at 650 ASA; nine and one-half minutes at 800 ASA.

Normal agitation during development is continuous for the first 30 seconds and five seconds of each minute for the remaining time.

AGITATE FILM

To increase contrast of the negatives, agitate the film continuously for the first minute and then at 30-second intervals for the remainder of the processing time.

To decrease negative contrast, agitate continuously for the first 15 seconds, then for three seconds of every minute of the remaining time.

When pictures have been taken in a very contrasty lighting situation and it is desirable to decrease the negative contrast, you can also dilute the D76 solution with an equal amount of water to get a flattening effect.

The dilution, however, calls for a 40 per cent increase in developing time.

OTHER IDEAS

Some other ideas of changing the basic D76 formula to make it into a faster developer are found in Paul Farber's column in the February issue of U.S. Camera.

He recalls the set of impatient fans who couldn't wait almost seven minutes so they increased the content of granulated borax by 10 times in order to halve the developing time.

For the record, here's the original D76 formula: Start with 1½ pints of water at 125 degrees F and dissolve in order: Elon — 2 grams; desiccated Sodium Sulphite — 100 grams; Hydroquinone — 5 grams; granular Borax — 2 grams and water to make 1 quart.

And there you have the developer which has spanned time from the age of the flivver to the age of earth satellites.

While on the tree, the pistachio nut may be reddish or yellow in color and the kernel is pale green to cream.

Figuring Your Income Tax—3

Joint Return Means the Lowest Rate

(EDITOR'S NOTE: If a couple files a joint income tax return, the lowest rate applies. Also, individuals who qualify as heads of households get a lower rate than if they file as single persons. This article, third of a series of five, goes into such matters.)

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are a few rules on the 1965 income tax returns of married couples and those individuals who get a tax break if they qualify as head of household or surviving spouse.

A husband and wife almost always save by filing a joint return, rather than separately. To be joint, a return must be signed by both. A wife is not a dependent for income tax purposes. The rules on wives and dependents are not the same.

You were considered married or divorced for all of 1965 if you were married or divorced as late as last Dec. 31. You get no exemption for a wife divorced in 1965 even though you paid more than half her support.

Anyone under 65 filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself — $1,200 if 65 or older plus $600 if blind. The same exemptions apply to a wife if she files jointly with you, whether or not she had income, or, if she had none, fails to file jointly.

LOWEST RATE

A couple filing jointly gets the lowest tax rate. A husband filing separately, because his wife failed to sign with him, gets the exemption for her but is hit with a higher tax rate.

If your wife had 1965 income, no matter how small, you cannot claim her exemption unless she files jointly with you and reports the income. If it was $600 or more, she would, like everyone else, have to file a return.

She could do it jointly with you or separately. If separately, she'd take her own exemption. But if her income was less than $600, which wouldn't require a return and she failed to file jointly with you, you'd be wasting part of the $600 exemption you could have had.

Everyone filing a return gets a standard deduction for personal expenses without itemizing to prove them. If your expenses exceeded the standard, you can claim them fully but only by itemizing.

TWO STANDARDS

There are two standard deductions: the 10 per cent standard and the minimum standard. The two standards, along with the tax tables and the tax-rate schedules for determining your tax, were explained in No. 2 in this series.

But, when a married couple files separate returns, if one uses the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must; if one uses the minimum standard, both must; if one itemizes, both must.

Certain widows and widowers get a lower tax rate if they can qualify as surviving spouse:

If your husband or wife died in 1965, you can generally claim

a $600 exemption for him or her on your return, if you did not remarry in 1965. You file it as a joint return, reporting any 1965 income the deceased had, and using tax table B or tax rate schedule No. 2, both of which have the lowest tax rate.

CONDITIONAL

Further, if you meet the following conditions, you can still use table B or schedule No. 2 even though your wife or husband died in 1965.

You must have been entitled to file a joint return with him or her for the year of death; you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

If you meet those conditions, you can use table B or schedule No. 2, listing your own income, exemptions and deductions. But — you cannot claim an exemption for a husband or wife who died in 1965.

Individuals who can qualify as head of household get a lower tax rate than allowed if they had to file as single persons. You qualify if:

UNMARRIED

You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1965 or were married by the end of the year to someone who for part of the year was a nonresident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of your home which was the main residence for the year for yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or of any relative you can claim as a dependent or, if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

You cannot claim you maintained a home for a parent if you were paying for him or her in a home for the aged. But, if you meet qualifications listed above, you can use tax table B or tax rate schedule No. 3.

(NEXT: Claiming dependents.)

Pet Parakeet Dies a Hero

WHITWICK, England (AP) — Betty Lowe's pet—a parakeet—died a hero, and made Mrs. Lowe one, too.

The bird may have saved the lives of 20 persons, Mrs. Lowe told police yesterday.

When the parakeet dropped dead in its cage, Mrs. Lowe ran outside in search of a reason for her pet's fate.

She discovered gas leaking from a broken main and alerted neighbors in six houses.

Soap Opera

Here's a real-life soap opera—that's happening right now on your grocer's shelf. It's all about the big guy versus the little guy. David versus Goliath. The giant soap makers versus Easy Monday. And the little guy is winning.

Take fabric softeners, for instance. You can pay 89c a half-gallon for other big-name brands. Or you can pay 69c for Easy Monday. Are the high priced products any better? Not on your life. In fact, laboratory tests show Easy Monday is not only equal in quality but actually superior to some of its more expensive competitors.

We're tickled pink. But what pleases us even more is the fact that so many women are smart enough to realize it. In many areas of the country, Easy Monday is outselling all other brands, including those of the giant soap makers.

At last count, some 5 million housewives were buying Easy Monday products. Not just fabric softener, mind you—but starches and bleaches and dish-washing detergents. You see, the same basic advantages apply to the whole Easy Monday line.

Easy Monday products offer top quality—and they cost much less than many other fine brands. For women who want to save money, that's all the reason they need to switch to Easy Monday. And their number is growing rapidly.

Soap opera? We love it. Can 5 million intelligent women be wrong? Can the little guy beat the big guy? Will our story have a happy ending? Keep tuned to Easy Monday and see.

But meanwhile, clip the coupon and take it to your grocer. It's your ticket of admission to the Easy Monday Thrift Club . . . and entitles you to 10c off on a quart, half-gallon, or gallon of Easy Monday Pink Fabric Softener. You might as well start saving money right now. And we'd like to number you among our fans. Opera lovers all.

All the "omens" which presented themselves last night couldn't stop the speedy Chiefs of West Huron Street from winning the big one.

From the time Pontiac Central left for Saginaw at 4:00 p.m. everything went wrong — everything except the final score, 61-59, that is.

The bus, which apparently lost its heat, had the players and coaches wiggling their toes.

About 15 miles from Saginaw the bus broke down and the troubles really started.

Fortunately, a car with three Pontiac fans stopped upon seeing the bus along darkened I-75.

Grubb had just lost one of his starting players earlier because of an eye injury, but he got the jayvee game under way with only five players.

In the first period, the scoreboard clock went out of commission and a few minutes later the scoring lights also went haywire. Amid the makeshift scoreboard arrangements, during which a PCH scorekeeper had to be recruited, Saginaw jayvees jumped to a 24-12 lead.

Midway in the second quarter, the rest of the team arrived and without a warm up shot, Grubb made some changes. At halftime the PCH jayvees were ahead 36-32.

The home jayvees subsequently won 81-64, handing Grubb's crew its second loss of the season.

VARSITY WOES

When the varsity game started, one of the officials' whistles went dead; the public address had to denote the time continuously and at halftime when newsmen tried to relay the 35-32 lead to the newspapers, the telephones were dead.

Add all of these woes to the fact that Pontiac Central hadn't been able to win on the Saginaw court since the 1959-60 season and all the black-cat and Friday the 13th fanatics wouldn't have given the Chiefs a ghost of a chance on Tuesday the 25th.

Incidentally, a year ago on a similar trip to Saginaw, the bus caught afire.

As far as we know, the jubilant and omen-defiant Chiefs returned healthy and happy last night.

"We're No. 1," the players say, but coach Zittel shudders at the thought with some toughies still ahead of him.

"Sure it's an honor to be considered as the top team in the state, but I'm content to stay No. 2 because we'll have to work that much harder knowing we still have a chance to go up," said Zittel, who denies being superstitious with reservation for the rabbit's foot, four-leaf clover and concern for the series of "omens" which prevailed before the tip-off.

This isn't a big or overly-talented Pontiac Central basketball team, but as far as we can recall, it is the fastest and most spirited unit in at least a decade.

How far this team will go will depend on the team itself, regardless of "omens."

Bruins Look Ahead

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins, the National Hockey League's doormat for the last five seasons, figure they have a long way to go but things are looking up in their bid to regain respectability.

The Bruins, who haven't won a championship in a quarter century.

"We haven't turned the corner by any means, but it's certainly nice to put together three victories," said Coach Milt Schmidt. "For a while there, we had trouble putting together three good periods."

Boston knocked the Chicago Black Hawks out of first place with a 4-3 victory last Thursday and followed with weekend triumphs over New York and the Toronto Maple Leafs in moving to within two points of the fifth-place Rangers.

STILL CHANCE

"Our No. 1 objective is to catch New York and get out of last place," Schmidt said. "Then we'll set our sights on Toronto. Sure we're 19 points behind the Leafs, but there's still a chance to overtake them. With 30 games to go, we're not counting ourselves out of the playoffs — not by a long shot. If we can beat Chicago here Thursday and then the Leafs in Toronto Saturday, anything can happen."

"We're still very much in the race. We're shooting for the playoffs, but if we fail to make it we'll play a big part in deciding the regular season race."

Strampe Rolls Perfect Game in Tournament

Detroit Bowler Sets Hot Pace; Tops Field in Qualifying Action

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Detroit's Bob Strampe and Joy Abel of Lansing, Ill., set a hot pace in leading 32 of the nation's top legkies into the finals of the 25th annual National All-Star Bowling Tournament Tuesday night.

Strampe, rolling the tournament's fourth 300 game, led the field of 16 men finalists.

Miss Abel topped the women's field with a strong 1236 set to take the qualifying crown with a 27-game score of 5436.

Both fields were cut from 72 entrants for the five-day match play finals based on total pinfall. The men bowled 42 games and the women 27.

SIXTH GAME

Strampe had six-game blocks of 1432 and 1338 Friday in topping the men's qualifying field. His 42-game preliminary total was 9454. Strampe's perfect game was his sixth in sanctioned competition.

Dave Davis of Phoenix, Ariz., jumped from fifth to second place with a block of 1396.

Men's and women's match play was to begin Wednesday.

The tournament winds up Sunday with the two top bowlers in each division rolling a three-game match for the title.

At stake is $15,000 for the men and $5,000 for the women.

Kettering '5' Sails On

Kettering's Captains broke open a close game with a big fourth quarter last night as they ran their unbeaten record to 9-0 with a 65-54 decision over North Farmington.

Playing before the home fans, the Captains jumped off to a 20-19 lead after one quarter and upped the count to 34-28 at intermission.

But North Farmington, with only one victory in nine starts, rallied to tie the score at 45-45 after three quarters.

The visitors, who hit 8 of 13 field goal attempts in the third quarter, then took a two-point lead as co-captain Rich Schultz opened the final period with a basket.

The poised Kettering squad then shook off its erring ways and surged back into the lead.

The well-built pivotman hit 11 of 14 shots from the floor in the game and led all scorers with 24 points, his best varsity performance.

He tied captain Dick Miceli with 8 rebounds for the best effort by the winners.

Schultz, who made 9 of 16 and topped all rebounders with 15, was well contained after putting the Raiders ahead with his quick basket.

He hit only one more field goal in the period.

The score remained close until the final two minutes when North Farmington errors permitted the Captains to build their biggest margin.

Bob VonBargen, who was off on his shooting, set up five buckets by teammates with his crisp passing. Forward Joe Raczynski grabbed key rebounds and netted several big

OLSM, Mikemen Heading for Tournament Meeting

A meeting between Orchard Lake St. Mary and Pontiac St. Michael could be in the making in the Detroit Catholic League tournament which opens Sunday, Feb. 6.

OLSM's Eagles, leading the Northwest Division of the Catholic League with a 9-1 record, have two games remaining in loop competition and need only one more victory to insure themselves of a spot in the tournament.

St. Michael, which was being pressured by Waterford Our Lady of Lakes for the Macomb Catholic title, was closer to a playoff berth today after WOLL dropped a 69-61 league decision to Richmond St. Augustine last night.

The Mikemen have two games left — against WOLL and St. Frederick — and a win in either one would send them into the tournament.

OLSM's first opponent would probably be St. Philip (9-1), a member of the East League of the Second Division, while St. Michael would tangle with the champion of the West League.

FIRST GAME

OLSM would play its first game at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 6 at the University of Detroit Memorial Building in Detroit. St. Michael would take the same floor at 8:15, and should the Mikemen and OLSM win the first round, they would meet at 8:30 p.m. Feb. 12 on the Memorial Building floor.

WOLL (7-3) fell two full games behind the Mikemen in the loss to St. Augustine.

St. Augustine jumped off to a 20-16 lead after one quarter, lost the lead for a short time in the second half and pulled away with three minutes to play.

Carl Matzelle paced WOLL with 19 points while Mike Fix tossed in 24 for the winners.

Chiefs Collect 61-59 Decision

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

SAGINAW — Wow! Whew!

These may be a couple of fitting words to describe Pontiac Central's 61-59 victory over Saginaw last night.

It was the top high school game in the state and it was the thriller everyone expected it to be.

As PCH coach Fred Zittel stated afterward, "It was the kind of game neither team deserved to lose."

The two teams were evenly matched last night, strong on defense, and balanced on the boards but it was a matter of which made the least mistakes, an honor which went to the Chiefs by a slight margin on their smoother floor play.

The victory gave the Chiefs undisputed possession of the Saginaw Valley Conference lead with a 7-0 record and an over-all season mark of 9-0.

It should have solidified the No. 2 spot in the state and may even earn the right to move into the No. 1 position, because Saginaw with its 7-2 record is still justifiably as good or better than at least a half-dozen of the teams amid the state poll's top 10.

CLUTCH POINTS

It would be difficult to single out any one player on either team, but the "clutch award" for the game should probably be bestowed on Ross Ludwick, 6-2 senior, who closed his ears to the thunderous screams of 2,600 capacity fans who tried to shake him from hitting four crucial free throws in the final 50 seconds.

Equally as strong-nerved in the final minute was the game's high scoring star Jim McClendon with 19 points who also dropped in six of the final 13 points.

Saginaw jumped to a 12-4 lead to start and was ahead 16-11 after one period.

EARLY LEAD

The Trojans' Herb Riley hit three long arching shots in a row in the second quarter, but Jessie Evans offset these by driving for 10 points as PCH moved to a 35-32 halftime margin.

When Larry Platt had to leave the game with four fouls, Willie Craft gave a big assist in the second quarter with three big rebounds and six points.

Except for a 40-40 tie in the third quarter, Central stayed ahead from one to three points and twice pushed the margin to seven in the final stanza, 50-43 and 54-47.

With two minutes left however it was 54-51 and the saw-saw exchange of points continued.

McClendon hit two free throws on the 1-1 situation to make it 56-51, but tricky Saginaw guard Charlie Kelley hit a pair to make it 56-53.

At this point on the press, Saginaw stole the ball and when a shot and three rebounds by the tall Trojan front liners failed, Ludwick came down with the ball, and was fouled.

The crowd was jammed around the sidelines of the floor and if the noise did anything to make him jittery he never showed it. Both free throws cleared the nets, to make it 58-53.

Gene Seals took a turn around jump shot to make it 58-55 and Ludwick was again fouled in the closing press. This time the noise grew louder, but he dropped both of them to push it to 60-55, with 32 seconds remaining.

Rapidly, Greg Prince hit to make it 60-57 but with 18 seconds it was far from over.

MISS FREE THROWS

Ed Pruitt was fouled and missed his first shot. Saginaw cleared the boards and Riley drove in hoping for a three pointer. The Chiefs stayed off and Riley made it 60-59 and with six seconds Pruitt again was at the line.

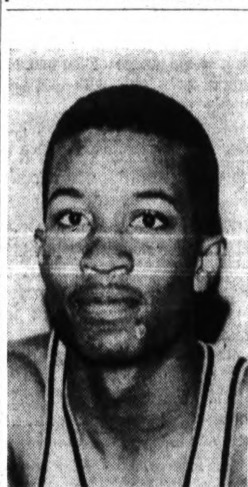

He missed the first shot and a big scramble for the rebound (Continued on Page D-2, Col. 3)

Yanks' Kubek Calls It Quits Due to Injury

29-Year-Old Infielder Has Bad Neck, Fears Permanent Disability

NEW YORK (AP) — The first chink in what once seemed an impregnable New York Yankee armor has left a deep crack in the Bombers' infield.

Shortstop Tony Kubek, hampered by injuries through most of last year's sixth place Yankee finish, has decided, at age 29, to retire from baseball.

Kubek, who played on seven pennant winners in his nine years as a Yankee, announced his decision Monday after undergoing a thorough examination at the Mayo Clinic last fall.

Reports from the clinic indicated that pressure on Kubek's spinal cord which apparently is the result of a fracture in the cervical section of the neck could affect his reflexes.

UNDISCOVERED

The fracture, previously undiscovered, apparently was suffered several years ago and bone spurs and nerve damage have developed. Doctors at the clinic told Kubek that months of rest might alleviate the condition but the veteran infielder felt there was a possibility of permanent damage if he tried to play.

There was speculation that Kubek might have suffered the original injury in the final game of the 1960 World Series against Pittsburgh when a grounder hit by Bill Virdon struck a pebble, bounced up, hit Kubek in the throat and caused him to snap his head back.

The bouncer led to a five-run eighth inning for the Pirates and Pittsburgh went on to win the game and the Series on Bill Mazeroski's lead-off home run in the last half of the ninth inning.

Kubek, who was Rookie of the Year in 1957, had a career average of .266 in 1,092 games as a Yankee. He batted .218 last year in 109 games.

HOUK CONCURS

"Naturally, we are very sorry to lose the services of such a fine shortstop as Kubek," said Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk. "But we heartily concur in Tony's decision to retire. His own future health comes first and we all join in wishing Tony the best of everything in the future and a speedy recovery from his physical difficulties."

Boxer Suffers London Upset

LONDON (UPI) — Canadian George Chuvalo's hopes of gaining an early crack at Cassius Clay for the world heavyweight title were shattered at the Olympia Circus Arena Tuesday night when he lost a 10-round decision to Argentina's Eduardo Corlett.

Chuvalo's plans for a fight for the British Empire championship also will have to be shelved, for while he was losing to the 24-year-old man Corlett, champion Henry Cooper of Britain knocked out ninth-ranked Hubert Hilton of New York in two rounds.

Cooper put Hilton down with a left hook in the second round and referee Bill Williams called a halt after 1:20 with the Long Island truck driver reeling around the ring in a helpless condition.

Crozier Sparks Surge to Top

Wing Sophomore Not Jinxed

DETROIT (UPI) — Sophomore Jinx? Forget it. Goalie Roger Crozier, of the National Hockey League Detroit Red Wings, last year won the Calder Trophy as the league's best rookie.

The award is one which a good many coaches, and players as well, would just as soon not receive since in hockey, as in most sports, it is occasionally given the "kiss of death" implication.

But if Crozier suffered a sophomore jinx it was the shortest in history.

In the first game of the year, Montreal scored eight goals on the spunky little fellow and for about the first 15 games things looked a little rocky for the Wings and Crozier.

His chronic stomach ailment

also gave the Wings a few anxious moments early in the season. Once they had him hospitalized to find out just what the problem was. As a result, Crozier's eating habits are a little restricted but his goal-keeping time is not.

HIT PACE

About the middle of December the Wings and Crozier began to hit their pace. On Dec. 16, the 5-foot, 8-inch goal-tender blanked Boston, 2-0, for his second shutout of the season.

Since that time the Wings have won 13 including the Bruin game, lost just three and tied once. They moved into first place on Jan. 20 by beating Montreal and now hold a four-point edge on the Canadiens and Chicago.

During that period of just over a month, Detroit has jelled into a much stronger team than the one which took the ice early last fall to defend the regular season NHL crown.

General manager-coach Sid Abel has put together two potent scoring lines, one made up of Gordie Howe, Alex Delvecchio and Parker MacDonald, and the other consisting of Paul Henderson, Norm Ullman and Floyd Smith.

But just as impressive as the 56 goals the Wings have scored during the drive to first place, is the stingy net-minding which Crozier has been doing.

He has allowed only 26 goals in the 16 games and has turned in five more shutouts, for a total of seven, one more than he had all last year when he was the NHL leader. Three of the white-wash jobs are against Toronto, two are against Boston.

Neither Crozier or Abel can foresee any signs of a let-up. Last year, as a rookie, Crozier tired and Abel sent him to Florida for a quick three-day vacation. But no such signs this year. "I'm not looking forward to any more Florida vacations," he said. "I'm stronger right now than I've ever been."

Sophomore year jinx? No such luck for the NHL.

Anyone want to try for the junior year?

Knicks Drub Pistons; Royals Leading East

By The Associated Press
The hapless Detroit Pistons, in last place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, dropped a 115-110 decision to the New York Knicks, their counterparts in the Eastern Division Tuesday night.

In the first half of the Detroit-New York doubleheader Philadelphia edged Los Angeles 110-106. In other games the Boston Celtics dropped out of the top slot in the eastern loop with a 113-101 loss to Cincinnati and St. Louis crushed San Francisco 142-107.

Eddie Miles led the Detroiters with 28 points, but hot fourth-period shooting by New York's Dave Stallworth and Walt Bellamy put the game out of reach.

It was the Pistons 34th defeat of the season against 15 victories. New York stands 15-32.

HALFTIME LEAD

The Pistons led at the half, 46-42, but fell down in the third quarter when the Knicks moved ahead, 76-70.

The victory stopped New York's seven-game losing streak. Oscar Robertson scored 35 points and contributed 10 assists as the Royals beat Boston. Sam Jones had 24 for the Celtics.

Braves Lose Battle, Again, to Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin has a legal siege gun in place today after winning another battle in its war to keep baseball from abandoning Milwaukee as a major league city.

A decision by Circuit Court Judge Elmer W. Roller cleared the way for a temporary injunction designed to block the shift of the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

It also opened the gates to a full scale judicial review of baseball's unique exemption from antitrust laws.

Roller, who refused Tuesday to dismiss the state's antitrust action against the Braves and the National League, also had been expected to rule on the injunction sought by the state.

TALKS SET

He declined, explaining that he first wanted to confer with counsel for both sides "to determine whether there are any further developments."

By developments, Roller was apparently alluding to the possibility of a pretrial settlement that would assure Milwaukee a future as a city with a major league team.

Should there be no settlement the trial is scheduled to open in Roller's court Feb. 1.

was won by Platt who was fouled by Kelley. There were two seconds left and Platt was awarded two shots for a deliberate foul.

He missed the first, dropped in the second one and as Saginaw tried to pass into midcourt for a desperation shot, the buzzer sounded, unheard by anyone in the din of the field-house.

Moving the ball rapidly, PCH got off only 43 shots but hit on 21 of them, while Saginaw pushed up 64 and made 24. The Trojans were actually sharp from the floor through most of three quarters and many of attempted shots in the final moments were of the rebounding tip variety.

Both teams had 33 rebounds and each had seven players in the scoring column, in the evenly played contest.

License Fee Hike Sought

Prepare Deer Moratorium Bill

LANSING (AP)—A two-year ban on shooting does and fawns and a $2.50 hike in the deer license fee will be among provisions of an omnibus hunting bill being framed in the Senate Conservation Committee.

The measure is being drawn up following a series of hearings held by the committee throughout the state.

Hunters complained of over-shooting of antlerless deer and were disgruntled because of a sharp drop in the deer kill last season.

Sen. Carl O'Brien, D-Pontiac, committee chairman, said he was sure the bill could be reported out of committee.

ONE OPPOSE

Only Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, is opposed to the two-year moratorium on antlerless deer hunting, O'Brien said.

The five other committee members, he said, will go along with the bill although some might try to amend other individual items on the floor.

One proposal in the measure would hike the deer license fee from $5 to $7.50.

In addition, hunters would be allowed to purchase a license to bag a doe or fawn for the hunting camp for $10. The camp deer would have to be used for meat within the camp. It would be a misdemeanor to transport the deer outside the camp or use it for other purposes.

LIMIT SET

The number of camp deer allowed would be set at 50,000 and the Conservation Department would be given the responsibility of deciding where they could be taken.

Another provision of the bill would specify that all monies raised from the increase in the hunting license and the new camp deer fee must be used "to set the table with food for the deer," in the words of O'Brien.

This would include feeding the deer or burning and cutting to improve their range.

The measure also will provide for a uniform deer season opener on Nov. 15, eliminating the early season opener in the Upper Peninsula of last year.

LICENSE CHANGE

Another proposal would change the license from the present one worn on the back of the coat to a badge type, O'Brien said, however, it is not contemplated to make this change until 1967.

Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, said he would agree to the moratorium on antlerless deer, but wouldn't go along with the license fee increase.

Mack already has introduced a bill calling for a one-year suspension of doe and fawn shooting in the Upper Peninsula.

"My people can't afford it," Mack said of the proposed increase. "You might as well raise the license to $50 and make it a private club."

Mack also proposed that each hunter be required to give a detailed report on his hunting success for the previous season when applying for a new license. This would provide an accurate record of the deer kill, he explained.

BIG WINNER — Anson R. Baker, 263 E. Livingston, Highland Township, shows off his Great Dane, Ch. Baron von Koenigstein, after the dog won the working group at Sunday's Pontiac Kennel Club Show.

Mrs. Ruth P. Grant, a PKC member holds the trophy, while Thomas S. Lee, Southampton, L.I., N.Y., judge for the group, looks on.

Commission Sets 10-Point Program

Michigan's Conservation Commission has set a 10-point platform for progress in 1966.

In outlining its goals, dealing with conservation's most pressing needs, the Commission noted that none of them may be fully achieved in the next 12 months.

Point by point, the commission pledged its efforts this year to:

- 1) Implement the concepts of state government reorganization as outlined in the Executive Reorganization Act of 1965, with the specific objective of developing harmonious and productive relationships among the agencies included in the Department of Conservation.
- 2) Pursue the development of sound and adequate financing for the Department of Conservation.
- 3) Attack vigorously the problems of environmental pollution, particularly those involving water.
- 4) Press for the establishment of water rights and use which will recognize and delineate the legitimate interests of recreation, public health, business, industry and agriculture.
- 5) Continue to encourage the purchase of land, particularly in southern Michigan, for parks and other public recreation and to promote recreational development of parks and lands already in public ownership.
- 6) Seek to establish a better understanding in relationships with the Legislature in the utilization of discretionary authority for the Commission to manage natural resources according to scientific principles.
- 7) Encourage the department staff to further develop and refine its methods and techniques for the scientific management of resources.
- 8) Intensify measures to rehabilitate the Great Lakes for the benefit of both sport and commercial fishing.
- 9) Take steps to recodify and simplify laws regulating the use of Michigan's natural resources, especially those relating to fish and game.
- 10) Work for better public understanding of all conservation programs.

Stony Creek Pike Fishing Rated Good

Two Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority lakes are providing the area's top ice fishing. Pike fishing on H-C's Stony Creek Lake near Utica is producing good catches of pike and the outlook is for even better success.

An old stand-by in the Huron-Clinton Authority's network is Kent Lake at Kensington Park. Crappies are the top attraction although bluegill activity has been picking up.

Stony Creek is only three years old, but the lake is fast gaining a reputation as a top pike-producer. Anglers must be able to distinguish between northern pike and small muskies.

The lake was stocked with fingerling muskies a couple of years ago and some of these are reaching the 20-inch mark, the legal size for northern's. Muskies must be 32-inches before they can be kept.

Kent is pretty much unrestricted. Because of the constant threat of winter-kill, any species of any size can be kept. And there is no creel limit.

MINNOWS BEST

Best results on crappies are being obtained after dark with small minnows the best bait.

Pike have been hitting on Lake Orion. A 12-pounder was taken there last week. Action on northern's continues fair on Walled Lake, but is spotty at Lake St. Clair.

Two other good crappie waters have been Loon and Oxbow lakes.

Bluegills haven't been active. Catches are reported to be fair to poor. Spider flies baited with mousies or wax worms are luring what few bluegills are being caught.

Perch fishing on Lake St. Clair and Detroit River is slow, but is improving on inland lakes. Some of the better area waters have been Square, Sugden, Union and Elizabeth.

Additional Dog Training Work Set for Area

Two more dog training demonstrations and class schedules have been set by the Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club.

A demonstration will be held Thursday at Whitfield school on Orchard Lake at 8 p.m. Another is scheduled Feb. 1 at Walled Lake. Ten-week training sessions will start at both sites a week after the demonstrations.

Dog owners planning to attend the demonstrations are requested to leave their dogs home. Registrations will be accepted before and after the special programs.

A veterinarian's health certificate is required before a dog can be enrolled in any of the classes. Additional information for Whitfield is available from Jim Richmond (682-5455) and for Walled Lake from Len Schell (624-1314).

Game Habitat Stock Offered

The Conservation Department has come up with a "do-it-yourself" plan for landowners who want to improve wild game habitat on their property.

Game habitat planting stock will become available from department nurseries in time for spring planting.

The plan is designed for tracts of land larger than the normal homestead.

Packets of 500 seedlings will be available at $7.50 each. These will include 400 hardwoods and 100 conifers. The packets are designed for northern or southern Michigan and for various soil conditions.

Order blanks can be obtained from department district offices. The Pontiac Lake office is located at 7625 Highland, near the intersection with Williams Lake Road.

"We will be very happy to discuss with people in the best locations on their property for planting this stock," said Howard Greene, district game biologist.

The four packets available:

1. South of M55, medium to good soils and moisture — autumn olive, Siberian crab, silky dogwood, wild grape, fragrant sumac, white spruce, Norway spruce, arrowwood and nannyberry.
2. South of M55, light to medium soils and moisture — autumn olive, honeysuckle, Siberian crab, silky dogwood, wild grape, coralberry, red and jack pine.
3. North of M55, medium to good soils and moisture — autumn olive, honeysuckle, Siberian crab, silky dogwood, high bush cranberry, white pine and white spruce.
4. North of M55, light to medium soils and moisture — autumn olive, honeysuckle, Siberian crab, silky dogwood, red and jack pine.

A minimum of four hardwood and two conifers is contained in each packet. The actual composition will depend on stock inventories.

Several of the species listed for the packets are available individually or in combination. Greene said that autumn olive

This Mr. Fix-It Has No Peers

OVID, N. Y. (AP) — Nothing is too old or worn out to be tackled by Gerald Brewer, who has been putting things back in running order since he bought a 1913 Harley Davidson motorcycle at the age of 10 and restored it to excellent condition.

The Seneca County under-sheriff, now 34, spends his free time making ancient mechanical devices purr like new.

His biggest achievement to date is a one-eighth-scale replica of a steam locomotive which was in sad shape when he purchased it, but which has been refurbished and now runs in his yard.

The 1,500-pound engine pulls neighborhood kids over some 400 feet of track complete with switches, sidings, a bridge and other railroad trappings.

Car Hits Tree; Driver Serious

A 22-year-old Highland Township man is in serious condition at Pontiac General Hospital with injuries received early today when his car went off a road and hit a tree.

Phillip D. Johnson of 1805 White Lake suffered fractures and internal injuries in the accident on West Commerce Road near the intersection of Garner Road in Milford Township.

Johnson told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies his car went out of control as he attempted to round a curve.

City to Halt Laboratory Contribution

The City Commission last night directed that the city's contribution to a county-operated health laboratory be terminated.

The move appears to be based on economic reasons.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren reported last night that the city had been contributing $16,130 a year toward operation of a consolidated city-county health laboratory.

Warren said he could not find another single municipality making such a contribution, which totals about one-third of the cost to operate the laboratory.

The city manager said the laboratory contributions dated back to a 1957 agreement between the city and Oakland County.

HAVE OPTION
The agreement is now on a month-to-month basis with either side having the option for termination.

Warren was directed by the commission to work toward eliminating the annual city contribution.

U. S. Auto Collector Buys Churchill Car

LONDON (AP) — An Oklahoma automobile collector has paid $6,000 for a Humber limousine that belonged to the late Sir Winston Churchill.

The new owner is Arthur G. Hayes of Muskogee. He plans to add the 12-year-old car to the Churchilliana on display in America.

Kentucky OKs Bill on Rights

FRANFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, adding a touch of drama to Kentucky's new civil rights bill, will sign it Thursday morning at the base of Abraham Lincoln's statue in the Capitol rotunda.

He hailed the unprecedented action of the General Assembly as "another step in Kentucky's steady civil rights progress over the past 15 years."

The state has become the first south of the Mason-Dixon Line to enact a comprehensive measure barring racial discrimination in public accommodations and jobs. The law takes effect July 1.

It contains wider coverage than the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 and is much stronger than a version which died in committee in a 1964 legislative session.

LONE DISSENT
The only opposition voiced by senators in less than an hour of debate was on the ground it is too weak.

The measure, which glided through the House 76-12 last week, won 36-1 Senate approval Tuesday. By bipartisan agreement, no amendments were offered although a dozen had been prepared.

Sen. C.W.A. McCann, D-Louisville said, "Today, gentlemen, you are making history. You are giving the Negro what he should have had when Lincoln freed him 100 years ago."

"It's a great day for Kentucky," said caucus chairman Martin Duffy, D-Louisville.

Doorman President of Plush GOP Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ivy Republican Club on the fashionable upper East Side has re-elected Peter Grippi as its president for a third term.

Today and Thursday, the victorious Mr. Grippi will be relaxing at his place on Mastic Beach, Long Island.

Then he will be back at the plush Sutton Terrace Apartments on East 63rd Street near the East River — opening doors and hailing cabs.

Peter Grippi, 55, the political leader, is also Pete the doorman at the Sutton Terrace Apartments.

OTHER JOBS

He also is a judge at wrestling matches, shop steward of nearly 30 men in the AFL-CIO Building Service Employees Union, one-time auto mechanic, onetime builder and house painter — and onetime Democrat.

When Pete became doorman at Sutton Terrace in 1950 he had come full circle, for the apartment house is only a block away from the building where he was born.

His political career dates back to 1942.

"A friend of mine couldn't get a little favor done," he says. "The Democratic club told him they wanted $200 to do the favor. So I went to Mr. Malleo (Thomas Malleo, then and now the Republican leader in the district) and got the same favor done for nothing."

JOINED CLUB

So Grippi joined the Ivy Republican Club. He sold more ads for the club's annual journal and brought in more new club members than anyone else.

Four years ago Grippi was elected president, and he has been chairing meetings and setting club policies — "with Mr. Malleo" — ever since. He was re-elected again Tuesday night.

The club's name dates back more than 100 years and has nothing to do with the Ivy League. But the membership is loaded with doctors, lawyers and other prominent persons.

"They might like the glory," he says, "but they wouldn't want to spend the time and they'd probably be embarrassed going around and pushing for ads and members the way I do."

During Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay's campaign last fall, Grippi's long, pleated doorman's coat was always bulging with literature.

"Everytime a cab would pull up," he said, "I'd slide the leaflet right out of my sleeve onto the seat."

Grippi has his own nine-room house and two-car garage — one side for the boat, "a 16-footer with a 50-horsepower kicker." He also has a swimming pool.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Rules Lessen Danger of Ice Skating

Skating remains one of the most popular of the winter sports. It can promote physical fitness if the hazards are recognized and measures are taken to prevent them.

The chief danger to skaters, unless skating on a flooded field, is falling through the ice.

For this reason you should skate only in supervised areas where rescue equipment and personnel are available. When skating on a river or small lake avoid skating in groups as this puts an added strain on ice that could easily support one person alone.

On the other hand, you should not wander off alone and if an area is marked as a danger zone avoid it.

If you do fall through the ice, don't try to climb back onto it as you would scale a fence. Place both arms on the ice and kick hard as in swimming.

ROLL OVER

This will lift your body nearly level so that you can gently slide or roll onto the ice.

If you see someone else fall through the ice, you should not rush to the hole or jump in and try to accomplish a swimming rescue.

Lie flat on the ice and push or throw the victim a tree branch, plank or rope with which you can pull him ashore.

If none of these are available, form a human chain with others lying flat on the ice. In pulling the victim out a slow, steady pull will achieve the best results.

Q — What is the difference between histamine and antihistamine? What are they for?

A — Histamine is a substance that is released into the blood when body cells are damaged by an allergy.

Many of the reactions attributed to allergy are caused by the histamine. These include loss of fluid from capillary blood vessels into the tissues (when this occurs in the skin it is called hives) and constriction of the smaller branches of the bronchial tree (asthma).

Antihistamines are drugs given to combat allergies.

Q — Is it possible to contract leprosy by indirect contact? In our office we received a begging letter from a leper colony in the Philippines. After reading the letter, we all carefully washed our hands but we're still worried.

A — The chances of getting leprosy or any other disease from a letter are practically nil.

The hysteria over leprosy is traceable to Biblical accounts of the disease written when very little was known about it. Leprosy is the hardest of all communicable diseases to catch.

It is never seen in normal attendants in the leper colony, even after years of daily close contact with lepers, if the attendants take an ordinary warm bath with soap and water daily and change their underwear 2 or 3 times a week.

Cards Are Humorous

Relax—Judge Tells Drivers

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Motorists in the Burlington area were told by municipal judge Arthur D. Peterson to relax—the postcards are phony.

Several motorists received the cards, which said: "The Traffic Ticket Accounting Bureau wishes to inform you that its records show an overpayment on your part for traffic tickets."

"We cannot refund this overpayment, but you can do us a favor by hurriedly running up another violation so we can balance our books."

Judge Peterson, pointing out there is no such bureau, said Tuesday the postcards were "misguided humor . . . not vicious at all."

Wedding Bells Ring for Yank in Viet

By TOM TIEDE

BIEN HOA, Viet Nam — (NEA) — As Pfc. Joe Boyles explained it, he was just sitting around the tent cracking his knuckles, blowing his nose, shining his boots and trying to keep from yawning.

One day a man is fighting Viet Cong and the next day he is fighting boredom.

And, as any GI who has served 12 months in this jittery jungle can testify, the time is at least as hard to kill as the enemy.

"So," Boyles recently shrugged, "I decided to get married."

"To a girl?" he was ineptly asked.

"What else?"

"Er, that is, to an American girl?"

AMERICAN GIRL

"Of course, my girl back in Philadelphia."

"What's her name?"

"Patricia Zidenski."

"How do you spell it?"

CAN'T SPELL NAME

"Z-I-D... cripes, I don't know."

"You can't spell your own wife's name?"

"Look, I can hardly even pronounce it."

Despite that obstacle, Boyles had no trouble in winning his Philly filly. He wrote a letter and popped the question in print.

SAID YES

She immediately replied yes, but wondered how. Boyles talked the situation over with his unit chaplain,

Joe Boyles Decided To Get Married

but found out that a leave was, of course, out. This is, after all, war and all that.

"Then," he said, "we decided to do it by proxy."

"You mean with a stand-in?"

"Yes, it's perfectly legal."

ANY FUN

"Of course, but is it any fun?"

"Uh, not so's you'd notice."

The paper work was set in motion. Power of attorney... statements... legal acknowledgments of Joseph 22, and Patricia, 21.

Mating by mail, Boyles christened it. Nuptials on an eight-cent stamp.

"Finally I got the formal vows," he said. "It was the usual line... 'Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded, et cetera.' I signed everything and from then on it was up to my girl."

WEEK BEHIND

"She kept me informed as much as possible but I was always a week or so behind the news. I had no idea of when it was to take place. I didn't even know the name of my stand-in."

"The wife said the ceremony would be simple. They'd go through the whole bit except for substituting my name for the stand-in. Then one day I got a letter that said we were finally hitched."

"What were you doing during the wedding?" somebody asked.

"I was on K.P."

"No!"

POTS AND PANS

"Yeah, scrubbing pots and pans."

"Did you ever celebrate?"

"I had a few beers one night."

"And what about your wife?"

"She got pretty excited about it all."

"How?"

BRIDE FAINTED

"After she said 'I do,' she fainted dead away."

Pfc. Joe Boyles, a 173rd Airborne paratrooper, will not see his bride for five more months, but he's already making plans for the reunion.

"I got her a perfect wedding present," he said.

"What's that?"

"Baby doll pajamas."

"What?"

"For our honeymoon next May."

"Oh!"

"Yeah, man. That's one thing we aren't doing by proxy."

Ready for Weather

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A member of the Maine Legislature, Rep. M. Jerome Dickinson, arrived at the statehouse this week with a spare vehicle.

Attached to his car was a trailer carrying a motorized sled. The snowstorm at the time was not that bad so Dickinson did not use his sled.
