Barry, LBJ Fire Personal Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater offered "brinkmanship with nuclear power." So said President Johnson. Johnson was the "most power hungry man in American politics." So said Goldwater. With these personal attacks, the political air bristled once more today.

President Johnson, who assailed Barry Goldwater by name in a southern trip yesterday, aims his campaign at the northeast today. He speaks tonight in Boston, Pittsburgh, and Evansville, Ind., before flying to Albuquerque, N. M., for an overnight stay.

In some stops yesterday, Johnson ran into some heckling and some Goldwater chanting. Interrupted by several chants of "we want Barry" in Augusta, Ga., Johnson left his prepared text to lecture the demonstrators:

"I was always taught as a little boy when people don't know any better, and when they make mistakes, and when they were rude, and when they didn't show good manners, to turn your other cheek and say, 'Dear Lord, please forgive them for they know not what they do.' "

Johnson, who smiled through much of the opposition chanting, insisted he didn't feel hurt or angry.

"We just feel sorry," he said. "And I think that on Nov. 3 they are going to feel sorry, too."

Earlier, in Macon, Ga., Johnson faced similar but less noisy pro-Goldwater demonstrations that included the waving of outspoken anti-Johnson placards.

There he said: "Some people like to write signs about individuals. And I guess I would do that, too, if I didn't have any issues to talk about. But we do have issues."

The President, who only recently has begun to take direct pokes at Goldwater, did so several times yesterday.

★ ★ ★

At Macon, he mentioned half a dozen votes taken when he was Senate Democratic leader on proposals to increase defense spending.

After each citation, he shouted: "Goldwater voted no and I voted aye."

Johnson suggested voters judge Goldwater by his deeds rather than his words.

From the President's standpoint, the high point of the day's journey came at Columbia, S.C., where a police-estimated crowd of 60,000 to 70,000 assembled outside the Capitol building of that politically uncertain state to cheer him.

Goldwater, in a speech prepared for delivery in Bristol, Tenn., today, accused Johnson of playing upon questions of race, religion and hardship in America. The Republican nominee said Johnson wants to plunge the nation to socialistic ruin.

". . . he won't be satisfied with just an election — he wants to be crowned," Goldwater said. ". . . He wants total trust, total love, total power over your lives."

His accusation today seemed to echo his words of yesterday when he told a crowd of more than 18,000 in New York's Madison Square Garden that Johnson engaged in "political daddyism . . . as old as demagogues and despotism."

It was more of the same today in traditionally Republican eastern Tennessee.

"Somebody," Goldwater said, "and it's got to be you, must tell this man who uses race, who uses religion, who uses hardships, who uses everything and everybody to further his political ambitions . . . somebody must tell him that American votes cannot be bought, cannot be coerced and will not be hijacked."

Romney's Back on Stump; First Miller State Visit Due

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Romney returned to reelection campaigning today after an absence of 48 hours from the field of action.

The Republican chief executive, home again in Michigan following a day in Massachusetts, set out on his southern Michigan "blitz" drive for votes.

On the national level, the GOP vice presidential candidate, William E. Miller, was scheduled to make his first Michigan campaign appearance tonight with a speech before the Detroit Economic Club.

Including Sunday, during which Romney eschewed politics in accordance with his policy, the governor had been away from the campaign a full two days.

In Boston, Romney said at a news conference that a defeat of GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater could be beneficial to the Republican party.

"A reverse is not always a bad thing in terms of long term result," he said. "Victory doesn't always produce the best result."

Romney has withheld his personal endorsement of Goldwater.

Romney's Democratic rival, U.S. Rep. Neil Staebler, continued his metropolitan Detroit area quest for ballots following a handshaking Ford factory visit in Dearborn yesterday.

Staebler, observing "I can feel the first touches of abrasion," shook an estimated 5,000 hands while accepting individual promises of support.

★ ★ ★

He also spoke to a Wayne State University faculty group in Detroit and to a Negro group of older people.

EDUCATION FUNDS

"We should bring higher education appropriations to at least the level recommended by the governor's own blue-ribbon commission," he told the faculty group.

Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart, seeking reelection over the challenge of Republican Elly Peterson of Charlotte, praised the 1962 Federal Drug Act before a drug manufacturers group in Detroit.

GM Resuming Production of New Models

Local-Plant Strikes Still Limiting Output; 28 Units Remain Out

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. edged forward today in resuming production of its 1965 model automobiles after its month-long strike.

Local-plant strikes limited the production rate to a trickle compared to GM's vast potential, greatest of the auto industry.

GM factories in Flint, a major cog in the nationwide complex, apparently led the way. Buick in Flint anticipated full production today.

Flint plants, where Chevrolet cars also are made, recalled an estimated 35,000 employes made idle in the United Auto Workers' strike that began Sept 25.

GMC Truck & Coach Div. resumed full production this morning with its work force of approximately 8,000 hourly rated employes back on the job, a company spokesman said.

TIME UNKNOWN

GM officials declined to speculate when all 360,000 workers would be back on the job. More than 300,000 were idled in the strike.

At the last count, 28 UAW bargaining units had yet to settle their local issues. These included 15 of 23 assembly plants.

One was the important Hydra-Matic Division at Willow Run, Mich., which makes automatic transmissions for GM cars.

The first new car to come off the line since the resumption of production was at Pontiac.

Thousands of workers were recalled at Fisher Body, Chevrolet, Fernstedt, and AC Spark Plug plants.

The UAW called off its national strike Sunday with approval of the national agreement between the union and the company. Local strikes were permitted to continue, however.

Mild Weather to Stay in Area Few More Days

Mild temperatures will prevail through Thursday, says the weatherman.

The mercury will drop to a low of 44 to 52 tonight, and climb to a high of 69 to 76 tomorrow. Little change is expected Thursday.

Skies will be partly cloudy.

Today in Pontiac winds are south-southwesterly at eight to 15 miles an hour.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a. m. was 44. At 2 p.m. the thermometer registered 70.

STARTS PRODUCING — First car off the line with the resumption of production at General Motors, was this Tempest at Pontiac Motor Division last night. Only two of Pontiac's nine assembly plants—the home plant and the Kansas City B.O.P. plant—have begun production. Local settlements in other plants still are holding up resumption of production.

Ford's Sales, Earnings Up

Nine-Month Totals Are All-Time Highs

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co., the nation's second largest automaker, yesterday reported all-time highs in earnings and sales for the first nine months of the year.

Ford reported earnings of $403.7 million or $3.65 a share for the period, up 16 per cent from $346.9 million and $3.14 a share in the similar period of 1963.

Sales were up 15 per cent to $7,127,500,000 from $6,197,800,000 in the year earlier period.

The Ford report followed the disclosure last week by Chrysler Corp. of disappointing results that cut that firm's profits in half in the 1963 third quarter. Chrysler reported profits of $11.4 million.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, General Motors, the nation's largest auto maker, prepared to restart four of its 23 assembly lines which had been shut down by a 33-day strike.

WORLDWIDE SALES

Ford reported its factories built and sold 2,923,166 cars trucks and tractors worldwide, up from 2,623,993 in the 1963 nine-month period.

★ ★ ★

Third quarter profits of 79.7 million, amounting to 72 cents a share—not a record — were announced, compared with $69.7 million or 63 cents a share in the similar period of last year.

Third quarter sales totaled $2,039,300,000, up from $1,763,700,000 last year.

U.S. Auto Producers Set 2-Month Goals

DETROIT (AP)—U.S. auto makers, heartened by the General Motors strike settlement, set as their goal yesterday production of 800,000 cars in November and a like number in December.

The industry, hopeful that the bulk of its labor problems were behind it, thus set out to try and make up the estimated 500,000 units it lost during the General Motors strike.

Most sources agreed the twin 800,000 goals were ambitious, particularly since the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays will fall during the two months.

To achieve their goal, the auto companies will have to turn out about 205,000 cars a week in the nonholiday periods.

Enormity of this task is evidenced by the fact that the industry's current weekly production record is 189,187 set in the week of November 9, 1963.

The U.S. industry originally had set a goal of 875,000 cars as its October target but probably would wind up the month about 390,000.

★ ★ ★

The drop was due to the GM strike, some individual plant work disputes at Ford, a brief strike at American Motors and some parts shortages in Ford and Chrysler plants.

Ford's output last week was set at 55,675 in preliminary production reports.

If attained, this would have been its largest week in history, topping the mark of 54,266 set last Nov. 9. Last week's figures are subject to revision.

Chrysler production last week was an estimated 28,800, while AMC settled for about 6,800 units.

Tie-Up to Last for 3 Weeks

It will be at least three more weeks before the daily traffic jam on West Huron between West Wide Track and Saginaw will be cleared up, according to city traffic officials.

★ ★ ★

The jam is being caused by the closing of three other main east-west arteries — Pike, Lawrence and Clinton — for construction of West Wide Track.

To provide relief for the clogged conditions the city has banned parking on both the north and south side of West Huron between Saginaw and West Wide Track.

Also, the police department is using all available men to assist the flow of traffic on West Huron.

★ ★ ★

Motorists are urged to remember the crowded traffic conditions and exercise caution and patience when driving through the area.

Pontiac in Line for Medical Training Site

Community Is Asked to Support Project With Fund-Raising

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. announced today that Pontiac is in line to get the proposed new Osteopathic College. This announcement came from Dr. Benjamin F. Dickinson, president-elect of Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

A previous decision to award this big institution to Lansing has been reconsidered in the light of Michigan State University's announcement of an oncoming medical college there.

Already $252,750 has been pledged by Pontiac firms to purchase the necessary site, and $122,250 more is needed before the move can become a reality.

"We are asking the community for a location, sewers and water," Dickinson declared, "and then the Michigan osteopathic physicians are prepared to spend $3 million in the establishment of a medical college for the training of osteopathic physicians, nurses, technicians and personnel.

"When it opens, this will carry 280 medical students and employ 1,714 people. Ultimately, our investment will increase many times and I confidentially predict that more than $20 million will be invested here within the next eight years."

"At this time the payroll will total $10-12 million a year."

Pontiac businessmen rallied quickly to this new cause. Listed below are firms which have already pledged the amounts indicated, contingent upon raising the total.

An immediate drive among civic-minded people will be launched to raise the additional $122,250.

Everyone who is anxious to assist the community in making this big project become a reality here in Pontiac can contact Max Adams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at the West Huron Street office.

A purchase agreement has been entered into and $20,000 paid down by the group below. But additional help is badly needed.

The Michigan Osteopathic Association has pledged $3 million and it is expected the national osteopaths will contribute $2,000,000 more for the building and equipment if the site is fully financed.

The location is the southwest corner of Opdyke and Auburn Avenue consisting of 164 acres, all of which is inside the city limits. The transaction was negotiated by Bruce Annett who has waived his commission of $35,000.

County May Get Clinton Drain Project

Clinton River Drain Project No. 2 on the east side of Pontiac may be turned over to the Oakland County Drain Commission.

Encountering money problems the City Commission tonight will consider petitioning the drain commission to take on the river work as a county drain project.

Thus, it would be handled like the current Clinton River tunnel project in downtown Pontiac, with the county selling bonds to finance the work and the bonds being retired by a special assessment levied on Pontiac taxpayers.

The assessment would be included with county tax bills.

City officials say the project will be turned over to the county because the city's share, previously expected to come from the capital improvement fund, has jumped from an expected $100,000 to $235,000.

The river improvement project was to run from Union to Opdyke and precede M59 construction.

In addition to the river improvement, relocation of a sanitary sewer interceptor — a related project — at a total cost of $175,000 will also be turned over to the drain commission.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling said that the reason the river work must be done now is to enable M59 construction to continue.

"Otherwise," he said, "the city would be faced with the staggering cost of moving a new highway."

The city had planned to do limited river work to allow M59 to proceed, but the city's share rose to $235,000.

Originally, the city was to have improved the river only from Paddock to the railroad tracks with certain parts of the river project coming within the highway work.

The Bureau of Federal Roads, however, gradually added items to the original $100,000 cost, claiming they were not part of the M59 project.

Neipling estimated that the M59 work would be delayed until spring.

Bids were to be received next month, but the river work will postpone the project.

Pattern Osteopath College After Five Others in U.S.

By L. GARY THORNE

The osteopathic college proposed for Pontiac will be patterned after five other osteopathic schools of medicine in the United States.

What will the new school be like? Will it graduate only doctors? Why may attend? What will be taught?

Tentative answers to these questions are compiled in a "College Fact Book," prepared by the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

The MAOPS through its members will lend both financial support and manpower to the projected institution at Auburn and Opdyke.

What will the new school be like?

★ ★ ★

First, the college will run on the quarter system, operating four quarters a year. It will offer students a 44-hour week in the classroom and laboratory, which might include Saturday instruction.

Who may attend?

3 YEARS IN COLLEGE

Applicants are required to have spent at least three years in an approved college or university. Generally, the minimum acceptable grade average will be a C plus, according to prevailing practices at five other osteopathic schools.

★ ★ ★

Other osteopathic colleges report that about 75 per cent of their entrants have earned their undergraduate degrees prior to entering the professional school.

Will only doctoral candidates be able to attend?

The college will train doctors of osteopathy as well as all types of medical ancillary personnel.

★ ★ ★

Such auxiliary personnel would include nurses, medical assistants, nurses aides, X-ray technicians, bacteriological technicians and public health personnel.

NEED IS GREAT

The need for persons trained in related medical fields is in many cases as great or greater than the need for physicians, the MAOPS points out.

What will be taught?

Professional training accreditation will be set by the Bureau of Professional Education and Colleges of the American Osteopathic Association and the American Association of Osteopathic Colleges.

The four-year training program will include a minimum of 5,000 hours.

★ ★ ★

The college will be divided up into 20 departments, several of which will be innovation in medical education.

★ ★ ★

For example, tentative plans call for separate instruction in atomic medicine, space medicine and industrial medicine.

IN KEEPING WITH TIMES

"These innovations may bring the curricular content more in keeping with the needs of our times," according to the MAOPS.

During a student's first two years the educational emphasis will be placed on the basic sciences — anatomy, physiology, chemistry, pathology and bacteriology.

In the third year principles of osteopathic medicine obstetrics, surgery and gynecology are studied, along with completion of general and clinical diagnosis.

★ ★ ★

Clinical training also begins in the third year, while the entire fourth year is spent in actual clinical practice.

Children Sign Up for Halloween

Schoolchildren across Pontiac were signing up this week to participate in the parks and recreation department's annual Halloween celebration on Saturday.

Each year the department organizes a "Meet and Treat" hour for all age groups followed by Halloween parties for elementary, junior high and senior high school students.

Elementary parties, conducted by local civic, PTA and community groups, must be scheduled to enable youngsters to get home by 9 p.m., while junior and senior high youngsters must be home by 10:30 p.m.

These hours are set so youngsters can qualify for the citywide Mystery Treat, sponsored by the parks and recreation department and Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Pontiac Board of Education.

★ ★ ★

Some 102 prizes will be awarded to boys and girls who answer telephone calls on Halloween night from the Mystery Treat committee.

His statement:

"In too many instances, dictation by federal governmental edict has become the rule rather than the exception in our country. If we are to have responsible, responsive government, it must remain the servant of our citizens rather than their master.

"If we are to efficiently and economically solve our local problems, those solutions must come from local units of government rather than through the arbitrary order of a government employe who has never seen the site in question and has no contact with local officials.

"Our individual citizens, our local units of government and our business and industry need the federal government to get out of the way so we can move forward."

Goldwater are such that no candidate for Congress can ignore the top of his party's ticket . . . unless he is a complete cynic.

"To vote for a Michigan Democrat is to vote for a Johnson Democrat. To vote for a Michigan Republican is to vote for a Goldwater Republican . . . there is no other choice.

"The American tax dollar (foreign aid) should not be given to Communist countries to relieve them of the price of being Communists.

"I oppose the sale to Russia of wheat which can be turned into industrial alcohol for their war machine. The mess in Washington, exemplified by the Jenkins, Baker and Estes cases, should be cleaned up and not swept under the rug."

"I am in favor of a peace policy of 'never negotiating in fear, but never fearing to negotiate and always using our strength to defend democracy'.

"I back the Kennedy-Johnson traditionalism that smashed communism's unity while keeping the peace. That led to more jobs, tax cuts and general prosperity.

"Unlike my opponent, traditionalism will make me seek legitimate, needed federal assistance — the kind that founded Michigan State University; that is making possible fine highways; that will help us solve educational, job, drainage, farm, lake level and other local problems.

The council termed the proposed city tax as "taxation without representation" and voted to send a copy of its resolution to the Pontiac City Commission.

Britain Warns S. Rhodesians

Fear Independence Declaration by Rulers

LONDON (AP) — Britain warned Southern Rhodesia's white rulers today they will be guilty of treason and rebellion if they unilaterally declare the East African territory's independence.

Economic disaster, banishment from the Commonwealth and isolation from most of the world would follow if the country breaks from Britain, a government statement said.

★ ★ ★

The stern statement came from Prime Minister Harold Wilson's office a day after 622 African chiefs and headmen meeting outside Salisbury gave a unanimous "yes" to Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith's "independence now" plan.

The British government had said earlier it did not consider the chiefs represented the opinion of Southern Rhodesia's African majority, which in 1961 outnumbered the whites 3.6 million to 221,500.

NATIONAL REFERENDUM

Smith has scheduled a national referendum Nov. 5 in which the largely white electorate is expected to vote emphatically for independence now. Smith then is expected to demand freedom from Britain, with the threat of declaring independence unilaterally if refused.

The British warning sent a shock through the Rhodesian capital. Some white Rhodesians felt it might force Smith and his colleagues to retreat.

★ ★ ★

A few said it could spur Smith's government to a unilateral declaration of independence within the next 48 hours.

"A declaration of independence," the British statement said, "would be an open act of rebellion and it would be treasonable to take steps to give effect to it."

TOUGHEST LANGUAGE

It was the toughest language yet used in the dispute between Britain and the leaders of the self-governing territory demanding independence while the white minority still has control. Britain wants a new constitution promising the African majority control ultimately.

Birmingham Area News

Proposed Zone Change to Get Hearing Nov. 14

BIRMINGHAM — A proposed zoning amendment that would encourage the development of luxury apartments will be aired by the City Commission at a public hearing on Nov. 14.

The commission scheduled the hearing last night after receiving a report on the recommended revision from City Planning Director William R. Brownfield.

According to Brownfield the only area that could be developed as a result of changing the present Multiple Family R-7 classification is generally bounded by Merrill, Southfield, Brown and Henrietta.

The requirements under the existing classification, said Brownfield, encourage the development of small dwelling units on a one- or two-story scale, permit more than desirable building coverage and allow small, single - family lots to be developed as multiples.

★ ★ ★

The new formula, according to Brownfield, would promote larger apartments with more green area per unit. It also would maintain existing densities and yet provide more usuable open space, discourage use of small parcels and encourage assembly of land.

PROVIDES INCENTIVE

He said the change also would provide an incentive for planned unit development and architectural variation that would be in harmony with existing or proposed developments.

Another change to the present classification is a new definition of the height permitted.

At present the ordinance permits four stories or 50 feet. Without exceeding this 50-foot limitation the new proposal would allow four stories of living area and one floor of parking.

★ ★ ★

The Planning Board prepared the report after studying the proposed change for more than two years.

The planning department, city planning consultant, and several architects and builders in Birmingham have already endorsed the proposal, according to Brownfield.

TO BE NOTIFIED

Property owners in the area affected by the proposed change and the Birmingham Real Estate Board will be notified of the public hearing by mail.

The commission, in other business, authorized a stepped up antilitter campaign in the downtown business district.

The plan calls for the continuation of flushing down the area three days a week and the assigning of two men working one day each to sweep in the downtown alleys.

Ballots in 40 States Hold Amendments, Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters in 40 states will ballot next Tuesday on home state issues ranging from housing discrimination to capital punishment.

Up for decision are 253 proposed state laws or constitutional amendments.

The spotlight is on a proposal which would prohibit the California Legislature from barring discrimination in real estate sales, as it did in a law enacted last year. Some observers think the proposal might play a role in determining who gets the state's 40 electoral votes in the presidential election.

Real estate interests and other groups are leading the fight for approval of the California proposition which would permit a person to sell, lease or rent property to any person he chooses.

OPPOSE AMENDMENT

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and other state leaders oppose the amendment and defend California's so-called fair housing law which prohibits racial discrimination in real estate transactions.

Neither President Johnson nor Sen. Barry Goldwater has taken a stand on the matter but some political observers think a big turnout in favor of the proposal would help Goldwater, the Republican nominee.

Gambling proposals of some sort are on the ballot in four states — California, Washington, Montana and Arkansas.

California voters have a choice between two amendments. One would authorize state-franchised, privately operated lotteries, while the other would prohibit privately operated lotteries. If both pass, the one with the highest number of votes wins.

In Arkansas the question is whether to legalize the gambling casinos in Hot Springs, Ark., which have operated off and on in the past outside the law.

In Montana the proposal would prohibit the legislature from barring gambling. Washington voters are being asked to legalize bingo.

★ ★ ★

Oregon voters will decide whether to abolish capital punishment in their state.

Reapportionment of state legislatures, a big item in the 1962 election, goes to the voters in only two states — Florida and New Hampshire — and in Florida the question may be moot in light of U.S. Supreme Court decisions on the subject.

GOVERNOR'S TERM

Massachusetts voters will decide whether to raise the governor's term from two years to four. Voters in Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Mexico and Oklahoma will vote on the questions of legislators' pay and length of legislative sessions.

The only question in Michigan is proposed adoption of the so-called Massachusetts ballot which would make split-ticket voting easier.

★ ★ ★

Voting law changes are up for decision in Connecticut and Hawaii, while Kansas and North Dakota voters will decide on proposals to abolish personal property taxes on certain possessions.

Among the bond issues up for approval are one for $200 million for roads in West Virginia and $100 million for schools in North Carolina.

State History Is Recounted in New Movie

A new half-hour sound film, "When Michigan Was Young," produced by Consumers Power Co. in cooperation with the State Historical Commission, the Michigan Historical Commission and a group of other agencies, was unveiled at a special showing in Pontiac yesterday.

The film will be available for school and club use in Michigan schools according to Charles F. Brown, manager of the Pontiac division of Consumers.

It is believed to be the first authentic motion picture dealing with the state's early history through historical drawings and paintings, according to Brown.

Reservations for showing the film may be obtained by calling the Consumers Power Co. offices in Pontiac.

Lake Orion Sewer Session Leaves Some Dissatisfied

LAKE ORION — The director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW) last night answered questions and explained a planned $1.36-million sewer system.

However some residents still are dissatisfied with the plan and with the method of effecting it.

County DPW Director R. J. Alexander had been asked to attend the Village Council meeting by Councilman Robert Stokes.

Also present was DPW Deputy Director Donald W. Ringler, who has attended several previous informational sessions on the sewer issue.

* * *

The officials told residents that federal help in building the system would amount to only about $125,000 at best.

COME THROUGH STATE

This money would come through the Michigan Water Resources Commission, and could only be applied toward the estimated $272,000 cost of the sewage treatment plant and its site.

William Berry, newly elected president of the Lake Orion Homeowners Association, raised a new point of objection to the plan in questioning Alexander about the Clinton-Oakland System.

This sewer line is expected to eventually extend northward from Detroit, and will come to the Lake Orion area, running parallel to Paint Creek.

* * *

Various officials have estimated that the major line will reach the village in between eight and 15 years.

VILLAGE TIE-IN?

Berry asked if the village would be asked to tie in to the Clinton-Oakland line at that time, regardless of its own sewer lines and treatment plant.

Alexander and Ringler told Berry that Lake Orion would probably be asked to tap in.

The association, which has already objected to the sewer system plan on both engineering and financing points, has now added this point to its list.

* * *

Vice President Mrs. Charles Robbins said today that "we will build a sewage disposal plant and sometime in the future, when this other drain comes in, it's possible that Lake Orion will be charged again.

"We're not against progress," she continued, "we're just against paying for something today and tearing it up tomorrow."

ONLY LOSSES

Village President William V. Shoup pointed out this morning the sewage treatment plant and site would be the only losses when the village ties into the Clinton-Oakland line.

The plant and site represent only $272,000 of the total cost of the project.

Shoup said the village would actually be in an advantageous position when the Detroit line reaches the area, inasmuch as it would already have groundwork done and would be well on the road to paying for the collection system.

He also pointed out that operating costs would decrease significantly when the Clinton-Oakland line can be used by the village, thanks to the greater size of the sewage treatment plant that would then be used.

* *

This drop in operating costs as compared to the expense of running the village's own treatment plant will help to compensate for the cost of tying in to the Clinton-Oakland line, he said.

Mrs. Robbins called the meeting "a farce," and assailed the council again for not having begun work sooner on halting pollution of Paint Creek, which is the reason for the sewer system.

The association has two petitions asking for a delay in the sewer system to allow time for examination of "at least six" alternate methods of curbing Paint Creek pollution.

TO SET ACT

Mrs. Robbins said the petitions are in the hands of attorneys Dondero, Jones & Peterman of Royal Oak, who are awaiting the right moment to take action on the group's behalf.

The council is facing a Jan. 1 deadline for the letting of contracts on the system, and a July 1 operation deadline.

Plan Census on Agriculture

Oakland County Job Would Be in 3 Stages

Plans for taking the 1964 census of agriculture in Oakland County were announced today by Lorenzo B. Perkins, newly appointed census crew leader for the county.

* * *

The job will be done in three stages, the crew leader said. First will be recruitment and training of enumerators to count all farms in the county.

About one enumerator for each 150 farms will be needed.

SECOND STAGE

Shortly after Nov. 5, the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U.S. Deparment of Commerce, will start the second stage by mailing agricultural questionnaires to all rural boxholders in the county.

This will give farm and ranch operators, who are required by law to fill out the forms, a period of time to consult their records and fill in answers to the questions.

In the final stage, enumerators will visit each farm in the county to collect the questionnaires. At the time of this visit, the enumerators will help farmers complete answers to any questions the farmers may have had difficulty with.

Enumerator visits are scheduled to begin in the county Nov. 9. Enumerators will take about three weeks to complete their work.

* * *

The census of agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production.

Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U.S. economy.

Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, farm products sold, and use of fertilizers, insecticides, and herbicides.

To Hear Views of Candidates

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The second in a weekly series of meetings to acquaint citizens with candidates for national, state and local offices will be Friday night at the library.

* * *

Slated to give their qualifications are Township Supervisor John C. Rehard, Republican, and his Democratic opponent John Doherty.

Also sharing the spotlight will be incumbent trustees Emmett DeConick and John Warren, both Republicans, and their Democratic challengers, John Marble and John Nahabedian.

All other candidates for clerk, treasurer, justice of the peace, constable and library board have been invited to air their views on local issues and tell their reasons for seeking office.

Friday night's session will start at 8.

Vote Dec. 14 on Holly School Additions

$775,000 Bond Issue on Ballot

HOLLY — Voters in the Holly Area School District will be asked "to approve a $775,000 bond issue for elementary school construction Dec. 14.

Although the date for the election was set at a previous meeting, the board of education waited until last night to set the amount to be asked.

Close consultation with architect Keith Wieland of Ann Arbor and schools attorney John Thomas of Flint produced the $775,000 figure for building additions at Davisburg and Patterson elementary schools.

Schools Supt. George Garver said that if the issue passes the Davisburg school would gain a 5,000-square-foot addition which would provide four rooms and some auxiliary space.

The $115,000 estimate for that construction also includes the cost of bringing the entire present building up to the state fire marshal's code requirements.

2-MILL INCREASE

Garver said the bond issue would result in an increase of "not more than 2 mills ($2 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) for the people in the community."

This would bring the total tax burdens for buildings and sites to 9 mills.

The bond issue would finance a 31,000-square-foot addition at Patterson school, which would include 15 classrooms and a large multi-use area.

* * *

The multi-use area would include administrative offices, a library, eating area, facilities for a limited physical education program and a kitchenette to be used on the occasion of public meetings held at the school.

PATTERSON ADDITION

The Patterson addition would more than double the size of the school when completed.

The district is presently operating with a shortage of four elementary classrooms, and is completing construction under a $950,000 bond issue passed two years ago.

The board also authorized preparation of educational specifications for the additions last night.

* * *

A public informational meeting on the elementary building program has been slated for Nov. 9, at 8 p.m. in the student center at Holly High School.

Methodist Group Schedules Dinner

ROCHESTER — The Men's Club of St. Paul's Methodist Church will serve a steak dinner, open to the public, Friday.

* * *

A nominal ticket price has been set, with half-portion tickets also available at half-price.

The dinner will start at 5:30 p.m. in Friendship Hall, 620 Romeo Road, and serving will end at 7.

* * *

Proceeds from the dinner will go into the Methodist Men's Fund for service work.

Wifely Remarks That Make You Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Wifely remarks that make a husband wish he were a bachelor:

BOYLE

"I don't see why you need more than $1 for lunch."

"Jean's husband makes $25 more a week than you do, and he's no smarter than you are or not that much more, anyway."

"We're just having scraps for dinner tonight, dear. I didn't feel very hungry."

★ ★ ★

"Other husbands I know love to discuss the office with their wives. Why don't you? What goes on there that you don't want me to know about?"

"Some evening I'm going to make a recording of how you talk after you've had three martinis, and play it back to you the next morning. It'll make you cringe."

BLONDE HAIR

"Is that a blonde hair on your coat? I thought you told me your secretary was a brunette? Not that I'm jealous. Me jealous? Ha, ha, ha."

"I took Emily to the orthodontist today. He says that for $1,200 he can make her teeth look like a movie star's."

★ ★ ★

"Other husbands I know love to take their wives dancing. So why do you have to be so different."

"The television set is on the blink again. I think it'll cost at least $50 to have it fixed. Don't you think it would be more economical to buy a new one?"

HEATHEN SAVAGES

"Why is it you men don't like to take your wives along when you go fishing? If you ask my opinion, you all act like a bunch of heathen savages."

"Put down that newspaper. There's something I want to tell you — right now."

★ ★ ★

"Guess what day this is."

"You're going to have to do something about those children. Before you lie down on the sofa, let me tell you what they were up to today."

TURTLE IN TUB

"You'll have to take your shower later, dear. Jimmy's got his pet turtle in the bathtub."

"Other husbands I know think it is a privilege to take their wives out once in a while. Why do you want to act like an old hermit?"

"Well, I might as well tell you the bad news now. The refrigerator collapsed today. But after all, we've had it for 14 years. I guess we'll have to buy a new one."

"I get so tired of living in this same old house that I could scream."

NEVER LISTEN

"You never heard a single word I said. For that matter, you never do."

"I don't expect you to be perfect. But I do expect you to show a little consideration when —"

"How do I know you really love me, when you so rarely say it? Do you think I'm a mental telepathist?"

"I hate to call you at the office, dear, but on the way home I'd like you to stop off at the supermarket and get a few items I forgot. I'll read you the list."

★ ★ ★

"Other husbands I know are glad to—" et cetera, et cetera, et cetera.

Author Fears Liberty Loss

Political Plague in America

By GEORGE P. LOWEKE

By CORETNA ALDRICH

"Little drops of water . . . make the mighty ocean . . ." Such is "The Political Plague in America," as related by George P. Loweke, Ph.D.—the drops in this case being acts of government which are gradually eroding our freedoms and sweeping us into a sea of socialism.

Ignoring party politics, Dr. Loweke makes this literary cry for help against foreboding implications of the path we are taking. He fears the present trend to drift with the current and forsees a bleak future for our country unless we encourage those individuals who are willing to risk the swim upstream to better economic and political spawning grounds.

Forced to leave high school to support himself, Dr. Loweke has nevertheless earned four degrees: two from University of Michigan, a master's degree in engineering from Chrysler Institute of Engineering and a doctor's degree in celestial mechanics from University of Berlin.

Now professor of engineering mechanics at Wayne State University, he formerly taught economics and was at one time an editor of Babson's Reports. He organized and taught the first space flight course in the U.S., prior to launching of Sputnik I. He has appeared on many radio and television programs in connection with the American space program.

During his studies in Berlin, Dr. Loweke saw the Nazis rise to power, not by force but by vote of the electorate. He parallels example after example to show how such a thing could happen here, unbelievable as we like to think it would be.

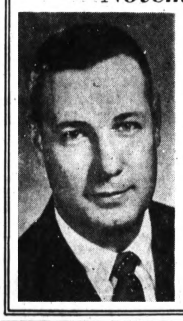

The major impact of Dr. Loweke's book lies not in any one startling usurpation of liberty, but in the plethora of small freedoms which he feels have been inundated by legislation and legal interpretations contrary to Constitutional intent.

His concern is that this and immediately succeeding generations may, both through complacency and deliberate action, sacrifice our heritage of liberty on the alter of security. "Every time the citizenry votes, it votes for more care and less freedom."

Whether or not readers agree with Dr. Loweke, "The Political Plague in America" is a book everyone should read. He may not convince all his readers, but he will almost certainly shock them out of lethargy and force them to consider many aspects of our economic and political life in a totally different light.

First Aid Programmed for Emergency Victim

Jointly sponsored by national and state medical associations and the Medic Alert Foundation, acting locally through the Life Underwriters Association, a praiseworthy program is under way for the protection of persons afflicted by certain forms of physical ailment or are allergic to specific drugs.

In this category are numerous chronic sufferers, diabetics for example, who require a delicate balance of continuous treatment the upsetting of which can cause prostration or, in extreme cases, death.

★ ★ ★

The program advocates that individuals subject to such reaction carry identifying device that in emergencies wherein they are unable to communicate will alert casual witnesses to the need for immediate medical attention. Also, it will save valuable time, once the stricken are in physicians' hands, by indicating precisely the treatment required.

To implement the program, the medical societies are supplying physicians with appropriate cards that can be issued to patients in need of such protection.

★ ★ ★

The Medic Alert Foundation, while endorsing the card plan, goes further and urges that bracelet or necklace symbols be worn instead. It points out that the cards, usually carried in wallets, may remain undiscovered for precious minutes in the early stages of victims' incapacitation.

Applications for the visible form of treatment specification are available at physicians' offices and at many pharmacies.

★ ★ ★

We heartily commend the agencies furthering this concept of emergency treatment and urge all persons to whom it is applicable to avail themselves of it.

Skyscrapers Doomed to Let New Ones Boom

Despite its appellation as the Windy City, Chicago has long been known for backing its wind with deeds.

Currently she is giving foremost authenticity to the basic physical principle that what goes up must come down.

★ ★ ★

For Chicago, generally credited as being the birthplace of the skyscraper, is about to tear down a few — to make room for some more.

The venerable 46-story Morrison Hotel, scene of many a festive ball, is about to experience a ball of a different sort—the wrecker's ball. It will be the tallest building ever to be demolished — Chicago never does things halfheartedly—and will take two other edifices down with it.

★ ★ ★

A total of 78 stories will hit the bricks to make room for a banking complex.

Well, as the man said, here today and gone tomorrow.

Export of Our Ideals Duty of U.S. Traders

If there is one thing that liberals and conservatives might agree on, it is that foreign affairs is the proper province of the Federal government.

That policy should, among other things, facilitate and protect American investments abroad, but how it's done is not the responsibility of the private businessman. And if a foreign country expropriates a business or passes restrictive laws against it, the failure lies at the door of the State Department.

Or does it entirely?

★ ★ ★

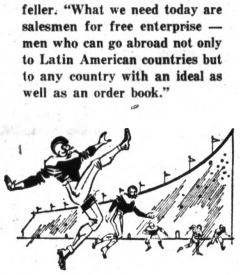

One respected businessman says no. David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, warned U. S. businessmen the other day that they have been "thrust into a new and difficult role": They must begin to sell themselves as well as their products if they are to counteract a relentless campaign by the Communists to mobilize public opinion against free enterprise.

"No longer can it (business) depend solely on government to tell its story abroad," said ROCKEFELLER. Each individual company, operating in Latin America or trading with Latin America must identify itself as a positive factor in the region's economic development.

The story that needs to be told is that private enterprise is the system with the potential for the fastest and surest means of economic development in an atmosphere of individual freedom and human dignity.

"Every Marxist is a dedicated salesman at heart," said Rockefeller. "What we need today are salesmen for free enterprise — men who can go abroad not only to Latin American countries but to any country with an ideal as well as an order book."

Press Pickers Are Cagey Ones

Entrants 'X' Grid Games That Run True to Form

For those who came in late, Purdue's Boilermakers banged out a 19-14 win over Iowa, raising higher their hopes of flying a Big Ten Conference championship pennant while dashing those of 166 Hawkeye partisans in The Press Annual Football Contest who had envisioned waving the award-winning $500 Savings Bond.

Four hundred ninety-six picked Purdue, while unanswered went the prayers of 10 who prayed for a no-decision.

★ ★ ★

As usual, the uncanny, unerring and unassuming Major Hoople, the Press' Peerless Pigskin Prognosticator, nosed out another correct call.

So far all seven contest games have run true to form in that the majority of contestants have picked—in some cases, lopsidedly—the teams favored to win, which in each case did finish ahead.

But next Saturday's set-to is something else again, and could produce an upset.

★ ★ ★

Thus only 73 think that undefeated, untied Notre Dame will get their Irish up and lick The Navy (2-3-1), while 419 are intoning incantations that the Middies will not be the goat. Four are keeping their fingers crossed for a tie that would bind them closer to the bond.

There are approximately 96 hours remaining before the outcome of the eighth contest game is known. If the suspense grows too agonizing, be comforted by the thought that until the result is in, no news could be good news.

David Lawrence Says:

FCC Ruling Is Incredible Action

WASHINGTON — Sometimes, in reading the constitution of the United States, one wonders whether it is a reality or a myth.

The phrase "freedom of the press" has been often heralded as a great attribute of the American republic. So it seems strange LAWRENCE that a federal government agency in the last few days actually issued a ruling which told the radio and television networks and stations they were authorized to refuse free time to the Republican presidential nominee while granting it to the Democratic nominee.

This is an incredible action in a democracy. But it is based upon a law passed by Congress which has delegated to the Federal Communications Commission the right to tell the radio and television stations the way they can handle certain broadcasts during a political campaign.

It is argued by the sponsors of the law that this does not mean "censorship," or even program control, but merely that all sides must be treated equally and that if the two major-party candidates are given time on the air, then all minor candidates must likewise be given the same treatment.

★ ★ ★

The FCC, however, now has ruled, in effect, that the President of the United States, although he is at this time a candidate, can make broadcasts which happen to monopolize all three national networks just because he has some "news" to give out.

REQUIRED TO PAY

The Republican candidate, on the other hand, is required to pay for his time to give out his "news" in reply, even though the Democratic candidate is furnished free time.

There are, of course, many arguments advanced that Mr. Johnson's address was obviously newsworthy in and of itself. But no answer has been made to the argument that Sen. Goldwater's remarks also were newsworthy, as he, too, is a nominee of a major party and what he has to say is news to the public.

The proof of this is that newspapers usually print the speeches from both sides, and they do not require either party to take paid advertising space in order to get its candidate's views before the people.

★ ★ ★

The theory back of the Federal Communications Commission's action is that Congress has specified by law that during a national campaign "equal time" must be given only to "political" speeches. Thus, a government agency undertakes to rule what is and what is not political.

UPHELD POWERS

The Supreme Court has upheld the powers of the FCC to regulate radio and television under the broad provision of a law whereby licenses are issued on the basis of "public interest, convenience, or necessity."

It is conceivable that, if there were no FCC ruling, some radio or television networks would give free time for political speeches anyhow, and some broadcasting stations would deny it. Public opinion in the local communities would take care of any inequities that might result as is the case with the press.

Usually, in any contest, sportsmanship and fair play prevail. In this instance, President Johnson himself might well have insisted that he didn't want the benefit of any favoritism exercised through a governmental agency, especially during a political campaign in which the incumbent chief executive is a candidate.

The President, moreover, has the power of appointment of the members of that same federal commission.

Bob Considine Says:

Madman-vs.-Rogue Label Is Disputed by Thomas

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . . putters . . .

Norman Thomas, head of the Socialist party, does not agree with an English critic of the American political scene who has stated that the 1964 presidential race is a contest between a "madman and a rogue."

"Goldwater doesn't strike me so much as a 'madman' as a man whose intellect is too retarded to guide his emotions." CONSIDINE The onetime perennial candidate for the White House writes.

"There are things I don't like about Johnson but I am not quite ready to say he is an outright 'rogue.'

"I do think he has done a relatively good job in office and is a bulwark against a very dangerous type of reaction."

If you are looking for the proper present for that man who has everything, puttermaker John E. Maloney urges you to grab hold his newest brainchild.

Maloney, who made enough dough from his previous putter designs to quit his job as pro at Spring Brook Culb, Morristown, N.J., is responsible for developing the Educated and the Dural Gold putters.

The Educa'ed is a putter equipped with built-in tape measure, compass, carpenter's level, spotlight and warning horn. You can miss very easy with this.

Politics Remain Popular Subject With Subscribers

Senior citizens and Social Security retirees, let's vote the Democrats out of office. They talk a lot just to cover up all the dirt, then they try to blame the other party. They blame the police of being brutal when trying to keep the law.

★ ★ ★

What has Staebler done for Michigan? For 14 years Michigan has gone downhill but now it's in progress, Let's keep it going that way. Mr. Romney didn't get Vets funds as the former Governor did. I guess they just wanted to raise their pay, as was done in Washington. Because they didn't get Medicare they wouldn't raise the Social Security. Then they say they want to help the elderly. They are making poverty and not helping it, flying all over the country on non-political flights.

A FORMER DEMOCRAT

A recent article of the Press carried an account of 700 Episcopalians accusing Goldwater of "manipulation of racism among white citizens." A great majority of intelligent and responsible citizens would agree with Goldwater and with your columnist, Ruth Montgomery, that crime and violence on the streets of our cities is intolerable. Why is it called "racism" when the truth is pointed out that a major part of this lawlessness is the activity of Negro gangs?

★ ★ ★

According to Ruth Montgomery, Washington, D. C. is being swept by a wave of revulsion and horror by the brutality of thugs on the Capitol streets.

I wonder if the "liberal" churchmen have issued a statement regarding the presence of an accused sex offender high in the Democratic administration. The Bible is explicit regarding sex perversion.

CONSERVATIVE

Lecturing about the country we have come to know the people and their local problems. The people of the southern states are more understanding of the Negro's problems than are the slum-infested northern states. We decry northern politicians who point the finger at the South instead of cleaning up their own backyards. We decry the colored community voting solidly black while calling for desegregation. We decry the labor leaders who demand pay raises without considering the other side of the inflationary equation.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater is said to be two centuries behind in his philosophy but I suspect that he is two laps ahead of the myriad of bureaucrats who are rushing blindly and madly into socialism. He believes in the U.S. constitution and is ready to defend the rights of minorities and majorities alike. I commend you for supporting him.

THOMAS E. HADLEY
HOLLY

America was settled by individuals, for individuals. What has happened in the last 30 years? If you believe you are an individual who is supposed to make up your own mind and fashion your own destiny, you are labeled an extremist. The news media is blacked out to your cries for help to remain free as an individual American. You must follow the Reuthers, Hoffas and Kings, along with other powerful leaders who remain anonymous but who work to make you conform to society. Russians refer to their people as "The Mass." Our current phrase is "The Society."

★ ★ ★

There are no underprivileged people in a free country, only those who refuse to exercise their privileges. If you are a laborer are you going to let Reuther or Hoffa usurp your rights and do your thinking for you? Does your race make you any less an individual American, capable of shaping your own future as a dependable human being? Why not dignify yourself by obtaining the unadulterated facts yourselves rather than have someone else pretend to do it for you while furthering their own self-interests.

Several years ago no self-respecting American would admit to accepting welfare assistance. Today it is a way of life.

★ ★ ★

Wake up America! Preserve the freedom obtained with the blood of our fathers, husbands and sons. Be a free contributing citizen when you vote and exercise your own God-given mind. In our hearts we know what is right.

Goldwater's alleged statement "The child has no right to an education . . ." was out of context. In referring to federal encroachment into education, he said, "The government (federal) has no right to educate children. The family has an obligation to educate the children through local school boards and local taxes."

It would be a simple matter for a federal government to plant seeds of socialism through "suggesting" texts to promote this idea. Local control of policies, monies and texts avoid nationwide spread of bad practices.

FOR FREE ENTERPRISE

Every time Barry Goldwater opens his mouth on TV I like him less. Are we judged by the acts of a neighbor, coworker or brother? His slander has not touched our President. I wonder how many people now satisfied with our government will be taken in and give him a vote.

Atomic weapons — I don't believe we should have many fingers on the button. ADA — We need it. It gives a minimum wage and controls rent. Education — All children are entitled to all they can get.

Foreign relations, goodwill and help go a lot farther than threats and pushes.

AN INDEPENDENT VOTER

People are worried about Goldwater having control of the nuclear bomb because of his trigger-happy and reckless disposition. The first man to fire a nuclear bomb was Harry S. Truman, the happy haberdasher and Democratic President. The targets were not military but cities full of defenseless people. If this was right, what can anyone do wrong? This man is referred to as one of our great presidents.

★ ★ ★

Our president, in office less than one year and with four scandals in his administration, questions Goldwater's character, morals and judgment. I wish someone would explain what we have to lose.

Goldwater said government is spending money they don't have on things they don't need. What does he think the average American is doing? Do people have the right to ask government to do something they will not do? If you want to criticize their spending policy, pay up.

New Drug Formula Clears Up Pimples

HOUSTON, TEXAS — Successful completion of field tests of the new product, "KleerPlex" have been announced by Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc.

"Daily use of the new product, which is simply dabbed on the face with a piece of cotton, should completely control pimples within 30 days, prevent blackheads, etc., according to a company spokesman.

Pimples, blackheads, and similar complexion problems are usually caused by excessive discharge of "sebum", a body waste which is discharged constantly through the skin. Pimples are caused when sebum at or near the skin surface dries and plugs the skin pores. Additional body wastes back up, behind this "plug" of dried sebum, bacteria infects the area, and the resulting skin irritation becomes a pimple or blackhead.

KleerPlex is a deep pore cleanser, designed specifically to dissolve every known chemical component of this sebum. It clears up pimples, makes the skin soft and smooth, and helps prevent the formation of pimples and blackheads in the future. It is sold on an absolute money-back guarantee of results.

As a special introductory offer, you can now order two months supply of KleerPlex, a regular $2.50 value, for only $1.98. Just send the coupon below with your check or money order for $1.98 (no C.O.D.s please) and your KleerPlex will immediately be shipped prepaid. Adv.

To: KleerPlex Dept. M-400

GOP Hopes to Block Landslide

LBJ Ahead in Pennsylvania

(Editor's Note: Pennsylvania, with 29 electoral votes, has the third largest total after New York and California. President Johnson appears to have a long lead in Pennsylvania now. Here is a report on the political situation in the Keystone state.)

* * *

By JACK LYNCH

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania's political leaders, Republican and Democrat alike, are working harder than they ever have before in a presidential election campaign.

They are being spurred, for different reasons, by polls which indicate that President Johnson enjoys a heavy lead over Sen. Barry Goldwater in the race to capture Pennsylvania's 29 electoral votes.

Republicans headed by Gov. William W. Scranton are working intensively to prevent a Democratic landslide which, in addition to giving them a black eye nationally, would threaten their hold on the state legislature.

Democrats, fearing that the polls might lead to complacency among their workers, are working to give Johnson a major triumph and, at the same time, capture at least the lower house in the state legislature.

NATIONAL PATTERN

Polls of Pennsylvania voter sentiment generally follow the national pattern as indicated by widely published pollsters.

One poll taken last week by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette in the city's "barometer" wards indicated that 66 per cent of the voters favored Johnson. Only 12 per cent were for Goldwater with 22 per cent undecided.

* * *

The feelings of many Pennsylvanians were ruffled by Goldwater's defeat of Scranton for the presidential nomination.

Although Scranton said many harsh things about Goldwater in his 32-day campaign to win the nomination, the governor fulfilled a pledge to back the convention's choice and went into eight states in recent weeks to make speeches for the national ticket.

CAMPAIGNS AT HOME

He also is campaigning heavily at home, appealing for support of Goldwater as well as for nominees for the state legislature. He says he needs a Republican legislature to complete the programs laid out for his final two years in the executive mansion.

Scranton also is considered to have played a role in convincing Sen. Hugh D. Scott, his floor manager at the GOP convention, to endorse Goldwater.

Scott, in a tough fight for re-election to a second six-year term, reluctantly agreed that as a Republican he had an obligation to support the entire ticket, including Goldwater.

But, running as a liberal Republican, he stresses his independence in areas of Pennsylvania where anti-Goldwater sentiment is heavy, and in conservative sections he points out his "party regularity." When he does mention Goldwater, he points out their differences, but says basic Republican principles are still better than those of the Democrats.

SCOTT'S OPPONENT

Scott's Democratic opponent, Miss Genevieve Blatt, who as state secretary of internal affairs became the first woman to win statewide office in Pennsylvania, constantly tries to link Scott with Goldwater.

Democratic candidates for Congress, the legislature and four statewide offices — auditor general, state treasurer, and two Superior Court judgeships — generally use the same tie-in strategy. They also campaign heavily on Johnson's record, hoping that the presidential vote will filter down to them.

Republican State Chairman Craig Truax, another top Scranton lieutenant in the nomination fight, claims his organization is campaigning for Goldwater as hard or harder than it has for any other candidate.

* * *

He agrees that Goldwater has a long uphill fight in Pennsylvania, once a solidly Republican state, but he adds:

"The polls are not going to be reflected on election day because there is no steam behind Johnson on the neighborhood level. And people aren't publicly lined up. Four years ago you could get an argument on any street corner, whether for Nixon or Kennedy."

JOHNSON TREND

Truax said he has found that the so-called trend toward Johnson has declined in recent weeks and that Republicans feel much better now about their congressional and legislative races.

Both Truax and Otis B. Morse, the Democratic state chairman, expressed concern about the apparent depth of voter apathy and indecision.

But with visits by Johnson and Goldwater scheduled in the state this week and next, they expect increased interest.

"It has been apathetic up until now," said Morse, "but we are beginning to catch glimmerings of heat and fire."

Neither chairman would be pinned down on predictions of margins in the Nov. 3 balloting.

But in Philadelphia, City Democratic Chairman Francis R. Smith has forecast his organization will better the 331,000-vote margin delivered in 1960 for John F. Kennedy, which enabled him to win the state by 116,000 votes.

Junior Editors Quiz on Ocean Salts

QUESTION: How does the salt get into sea water?

* * *

ANSWER: Salts are chemical compounds. We are apt to think of table salt (sodium chloride) as the only salt; but actually there are a number of others.

Sodium chloride makes up 77.8 per cent of all the salts in sea water. The other important sea water salts are magnesium chloride, magnesium sulphate, calcium sulphate and potassium sulphate.

Most of these ocean salts come from the land. For millions of years, rain and ice have worn away rocks and carried dissolved minerals through brooks and rivers to the sea (upper picture).

Every year, about 6,500 cubic miles of river water move into the sea, carrying several billion tons of salts. Are these ocean salts of value to us? Indeed they are.

The tiny marine plants and animals, which together are called "plankton," use immense amounts of ocean salts to construct the shells inside of which they live. Plankton makes the main food supply for small fish, and large fish live on the smaller ones.

Salts thus help to make the extremely rich and abundant life in the sea possible. And since food from the sea is becoming more and more important to us, you can understand that ocean salts are exceedingly useful to mankind.

Says Barry Out to Degrade U.S. Way of Life

Hubert Hits 'Tasteless Attacks' on LBJ

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey charged today that Sen. Barry Goldwater has made "tasteless personal attacks" on President Johnson and has launched "a systematic campaign to degrade almost every aspect of American life."

"The Goldwaterites," said Humphrey in remarks prepared for a meeting of Democratic workers, "spread doubt and suspicion about our government. They scold our youth, villify our cities and show a cynical disregard of our elderly."

★ ★ ★

"To the Goldwaterites," added the Democratic vice presidential candidate, "America is sick and tired. What an insult to this great country!"

Humphrey addresses a get-out-the-vote appeal to the workers after a get-out-the-dollars appeal to the Presidents Club, an organization of party contributors.

SHARPEST ATTACK

Humphrey turned his campaign to New York -- for the third time — after delivering perhaps his sharpest attack on Goldwater, the GOP presidential candidate, in a University of Wisconsin speech that his aides considered one of the best so far.

Hoarse from weeks of speeches and now and then forced to talk over the blare of a Goldwater fan's horn, Humphrey charged "the logical consequences of Goldwaterism are only too clear.

★ ★ ★

"If we were to do as he bids us, we would find ourselves eventually at war all over the globe — war fought with nuclear weapons in Eastern Europe, escalated war in Southeast Asia, war against Cuba, war in Berlin."

And if Goldwater means what he says about cutting foreign aid, in opposing the Peace Corps, "if he means no negotiations but merely ultimatums," said Humphrey, then—

"I warn this audience and this generation that if this man should be elected president of the United States there is no alternative — the only prospect is one of disaster and one of cataclysmal tragedy for the American people and for the world."

HER DOG FOR A WHILE — Madeline Guarneri holds a 6-week-old Labrador retriever she will raise in her home for nine months. At that time, the dog will be turned over to be trained as a guide dog for the blind. She is one of 10 New York high school students in the program.

Leikett Jury to Be Selected

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (UPI) —Jury selection was scheduled to begin today for a trial for Bruce Walter Leikett, 26, Detroit, accused in the predawn slaying of two policemen here May 5.

Leikett will go on trial on a murder charge in the death of Sgt. Roy G. Wright, 31. Leikett is also charged in the death of patrolman William F. Mines, 27.

★ ★ ★

The two were found dead in a loading area of a shopping center here. Wright, the father of three young boys, was shot six times and Mines, father of a 7-year-old girl, was shot three times. Paraffin tests showed neither officer fired a shot in self-defense.

FATAL SHOOTING

Leikett was indicted in a fatal shooting in New Jersey and linked to a death in Michigan.

He was indicted in Brunswick, N. J., in the death of a filling station attendant, John S. Kernowsky, May 4.

★ ★ ★

Leikett was captured three days after the police slayings in a suburb of Detroit after a high speed automobile chase in which a young man was killed on the eve of his wedding. Police said Leikett's pursued car sped through a stoplight and collided with a car driven by Joe Ferrell, 21, who was killed.

Teens to Raise Pups to Help the Blind

NEW YORK (AP) — Madeline Guarneri and a puppy named Cleo are headed for an emotional crisis and there is nothing either can do to avoid it.

Madeline, 15, set out on her emotional collision course Monday when she took the 6-week-old Labrador retriever into her home.

★ ★ ★

In nine months she will return it to an institute for training as a guide dog for the blind.

"I knew when I agreed to take a dog into my house it would be hard to part with her when the time came," Madeline said. "But here I have the dog only two days and already I'm dreading the day I'll have to give her back."

Nine other students at Bay side High School are in much the same predicament.

PART OF PROGRAM

The ten — five boys and five girls —agreed to take puppies as part of a program launched by the Queens Child Service League in conjunction with the Second Sight Guide Dog Foundation.

"Those in charge of the program feel that a dog cuddled and brought up in a home with lots of attention and love is better equipped to be trained as a guide dog for the blind," Madeline said.

★ ★ ★

"I named my dog Cleo right after I brought her into the house and she sleeps at the foot of my bed. I don't know how I'm going to be able to give her up when the time comes. I guess I'll just have to take in another pup right away."

Dominick Alaggia, high school guidance counselor, chose the students who got the dogs.

MATURE STUDENTS

He said he selected only those who "displayed the maturity needed to live with a dog for nine months and then give him up."

★ ★ ★

He said the youngsters also had to show that they wanted to explore the possibility of a career dealing with animals, such as veterinary medicine.

★ ★ ★

Second Sight has put up $2,000 to finance the program, admittedly a far cry from the cost to board the 10 dogs in a commercial kennel.

Before the program could begin, parents had to agree to allow the dogs into their homes.

DADDY PUSHOVER

"Daddy was a pushover," said Madeline. "And my four brothers and two sisters went for the idea right away. It took a little while to convince mother, but she finally went along."

★ ★ ★

"My father said that if this one works out okay, we'll get another one at the end of the nine months," she said. "All I can say is, we better."

Says N-Bomb Tests Will Kill 2 Million

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Dr. Linus Pauling, twice winner of the Nobel Prize, claimed today that 2 million people now living will die from cancer induced by nuclear bomb tests.

In an address to 600 trade union members, Pauling said he expects the French to explode a 20-megaton bomb in the South Pacific. If they do, he said, it will lead to gross physical and mental defects in 500,000 unborn children. The lives of another 70,000 persons will be shortened 10 to 20 years by cancer induced by fallout, he said.

N-Sub at Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—The U. S. nuclear-powered submarine Sea Dragon arrived today for a three-day stay in Hong Kong. She is the first nuclear-powered vessel to visit the British colony on the coast of Communist China. U.S. Navy officials would not give her next destination.

Even if Goldwater Defeated

Fear GOP Liberals to Lose in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) —With the election a week away, Republican strategists now believe conservative GOP senatorial candidates might have a better chance than liberals of surviving a presidential contest defeat for Sen. Barry Goldwater.

★ ★ ★

Any such outcome would be likely to slow down the efforts of GOP moderates to bring about what Gov. George Romney of Michigan and others have called "a rebirth of the Republican party" if Goldwater should lose.

★ ★ ★

In 10 state races where the Republicans credit their candidates with an even, or better than even, chance of winning, all but three of the nominees are listed as conservatives.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Robert Taft Jr., running in Ohio, is given the best chance of winning of any of the Republican senatorial candidates. Party moderates think that, in case of a Goldwater defeat, they could count on Taft to help reorient the party.

INDICATED TIDE

Sens. Winston L. Prouty of Vermont and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, if the latter can breast an indicated tide for President Johnson in that state, would be counted on to bulwark the moderate cause.

But in seven other states where Republicans believe they have a chance of electing their candidates, the nominees are generally regarded as conservatives.

★ ★ ★

They include Sens. John J. Williams of Delaware and Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, and candidates Paul J. Fannin in Arizona, George Murphy in California, Bud Wilkinson in Oklahoma, George Bush in Texas, and Ernest L. Wilkinson in Utah.

The Republican strategists are not counting anybody out. But they concede privately that Sens. Kenneth B. Keating in New York, Hiram L. Fong in Hawaii and J. Glen Beall in Maryland, all considered moderates, have uphill battles on their hands. Sen. Edward L. Mecham of New Mexico, a conservative, is put in a similar category.

GOOD CHANCES

Republican strategists, analyzing governors' races, think the GOP has a good chance of electing two moderates, Romney in Michigan and Charles Percy in Illinois.

★ ★ ★

A confidential party rundown credits Republicans with a chance of electing governors in 12 states. Besides Illinois and Michigan, these include Arizona, Delaware, Indiana, Kansas, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin.

★ ★ ★

There is frank admission in the memo that the margin of President Johnson's poll-predicted advantage will affect close races in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont and West Virginia.

ABC-TV Shows Delayed by Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co.'s television network was about 15 minutes late getting on the air this morning because of a strike of ushers.

★ ★ ★

The ushers, known as pages, are members of the National Association of Broadcasting Employes and Technicians and their picket lines apparently kept some other network employes from reporting for work on time.

However, a spokesman for ABC's radio network said operations got under way on schedule at 7 a.m., with union engineers and other employes reporting on time.

Safety Sabbath Slated

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed the weekend of Nov. 20-22 as Traffic Safety Sabbath in Michigan. The governor urged clergy of all faiths to give consideration to this problem in their lessons or sermons over the weekend.

Lady Bird's Day Ends at Rally

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — After a hard day of stumping across Texas for her husband, Lady Bird Johnson couldn't resist dropping in on a nostalgic courthouse campaign rally on her way home.

Rep. Jacke Pickle of Johnson City really didn't need any help in his bid to retain Lyndon Johnson's old seat in Congress, but Lady Bird came around to his meeting Monday night anyway.

★ ★ ★

She brought along the three Cabinet wives who went campaigning with her, drawing cheering thousands on their 868-mile plane swing to Beaumont, Tyler and San Angelo. It was the opening day of their two-day vote-seeking swing into five states.

The flying trip had been colorful, despite bad weather. The windup in the courthouse square, with the speakers' platform in front of a hardware supply store, topped it all for old-fashioned politicking.

LESS THAN 500

There had been stomping, roaring yells and cheers in the Lamar State Technological College gym at Beaumont, where 10,000 jammed in to see the President's wife. There were less than 500 standing around in the square here but it was folksy.

The local ladies supplied homemade cookies, cakes, coffee and soft drinks. All the kids came along, dogs ran about and the grownups listened to the speech making.

★ ★ ★

LBJ's home town has only about 700 or so population and all of Blanco County some 3,500.

But Pickle told the gathering, "the eyes of the world will be on Blanco County and Johnson City (election night). You'll want to look good and want to make your President look good — and you might want to make your congressman look good too."

DEMOCRATIC THEME

"Elect the Democratic ticket from the White House to the courthouse" was Mrs. Johnson's day-long theme.

By the time she got to the courthouse rally after hop-skip flying, making three big speeches, planting a new "white beauty" rose amid the blooming Tyler rose gardens and shaking hands everywhere, the First Lady told the home folks: "You'll have to forgive me if I don't have any speech left."

She called on the Cabinet wives, and even Dr. Janet Travell, a White House physician traveling with her, to speak up instead.

Ambulance on Fire, Driver Sped On

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Ambulance driver Eddie James hit the switch for the siren and flashing red light and wheeled away from a south Forth Worth bowling alley last night with a heart attack victim.

★ ★ ★

He hadn't gone far when he smelled smoke. The ambulance was on fire.

The emergency brake cable, rubbing against a battery cable, was giving off sparks. The floor mat in the ambulance caught fire, burning right beneath the driver's legs.

★ ★ ★

James, 24, an ambulance driver for three years, called the sheriff's office on his radio and explained his predicament. The dispatcher suggested he pull over, try to fight the fire, and another ambulance would be sent to pick up the heart attack patient.

"I wasn't about to stop," said James later. "I realize that in a case like this, a minute or two can be the difference between life and death."

SPED 10 MILES

While a doctor administered oxygen to the patient in the rear, and flames began licking at his trousers, James sped 10 miles through the crowded city to the hospital.

The ambulance screeched up to the emergency room door and waiting firemen yanked at the burning upholstery and sprayed the flames with extinguishers.

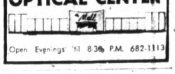

But for the patient, Alvin F. Haueisen, 55, of Fort Worth, it was too late. He was dead.

★ ★ ★

Doctors treated James for minor burns on his legs.

The dead man's wife, told of the ambulance driver who wouldn't stop, sent James her thanks. "He was a very courageous man," she said.

Legends of Hitler Henchman Continue

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mole-like Martin Bormann, the sinister and conniving right-hand man of Adolf Hitler, has been presumed dead since the final fall of the Third Reich in 1945. But reports of the presence of the man the Fuehrer called "my most faithful party comrade" have been turning up ever since.

To this day, the legends continue: Bormann escaped by submarine, by boat, by plane. He has been reported in Red China, the Tyrol, Argentina, Egypt and the Soviet Union, among other places. Recently the West German news magazine "Der Spiegel" and others have been looking for him in Paraguay, where he was last reported seen.

★ ★ ★

Now Bormann, tried in absentia and sentenced to death in 1946 at Nuremberg, shows up again. Not as the instigator of the mass killings of German clergymen, as he was known in the 40s, but as a guide named "Carlo" in the Bavarian Alps well after his reported death.

Mladin Zarubica, the 47-year-old head of a heavy construction firm in Los Angeles, claims in a new book, "The Year of the Rat: a Chronicle," (Harcourt, Brace and World) that over a seven-month period after the war was over, he swapped tales with Martin Bormann.

HE'S CONVINCED

He didn't know it at the time, Zarubica says, but he's convinced now that the man he knew then only as Carlo was really the Nazi himself.

"I realized it in 1959," Zarubica said in an interview, picking up a copy of the Jan. 6 issue of a national magazine of that year which showed a picture of Bormann, a rare one taken by Hugo Jaeger, Hitler's photographer.

Zarubica spotted it five years ago and bases much of his case on it. "Carlo was Bormann and it would be difficult to fool me. I was with him so long and watched him so intently," Zarubica said.

There have been numerous published reports of Bormann's death but his body was never found. Erich Kempa, who was Hitler's chauffeur, claimed he had seen the Nazi die when a tank Bormann was attempting to follow received a direct hit from a Russian shell.

YOUTH LEADER

And Arthur Axmann, the Hitler youth leader, has also reported seeing Bormann's body. But Axmann said he could see no signs of wounds on it. He presumed that the Hitler deputy swallowed a vial of poison when he realized that all was lost as the Russians stormed into Berlin in the last days of the war.

Zarubica's Carlo talks as Bormann might talk, were he alive today: "There are bones out there buried so deep the world will never know — no one will ever know what went on or how; yet, if Hitler's brain had not been twisted, he could have been as great as Caesar, or even Alexander the Great. This whole European continent could have been neutralized by him and his followers."

★ ★ ★

Carlo looks as Bormann might have looked: "short-legged and with the build of a squatty giant. His large head was crowned by a mane of receding, straight black hair, slightly grayed at the temples . . . he had a round, large-feature face, with puffy circles below his eyes."

And he even tells a story that only Bormann himself, among the Germans, might have known all the details about — an Allied intelligence hoax to substitute an agent for a German courier general in order to foist false secret plans for the Normandy invasion on the German high command.

PLAN ON INVASION

This plan, Zarubica suggests, made the German believe that the invasion which came at Normandy, would actually have come at Calais, the area on June 6, 1944 where the 15th German Army plus many of the German Panza tanks were grouped.

But as businessman Zarubica himself says: "The reader will, of course, have to make up his or her own mind."

★ ★ ★

"I'd have no way of knowing where Bormann is if he is alive.

But this isn't World War II buffery. It's an actual account and there are men showing up with swastikas today — this isn't sandlot football.

"There's an organization behind this, and if Bormann is alive he's got to be involved in it."

Newest Handbags Are Beaded

Making their debut this season are the sprightly little bags and purse accessories called "moon pearls."

Created by the Walborg people, they are hand knotted of lustrous pearls in a bevy of colors, any and all of which will appeal to the young-in-heart and the young-in-years.

* * *

Handy to hold and commodious enough to accommodate all the wherewithall is the smart little clutch, its top zipper discretely concealed beneath a flipover flap.

Another bag of moon pearls is shaped like a miniature tote and swings gracefully from double top handles. To accessorize the inside of these little bags are coin purses, cosmetic kits and eyeglass cases, all in the same pearls.

Other Walborg "young elegants" this season combine sleek satin with pearls and beads for a gala look.

In this mood is the convertible handled clutch of satin, completely covered with a delicate motif of pearls and beads, golden on gold, inky black on black and silvery white on white.

Other clutches in the envelope mood show their satin on the back only, while the front is reembroidered in beads and sequins in varying patterns.

Reminiscent of grandmother's reticule is the demure pouch, its top a drawstring closing ruffled with beading that is repeated fringe-style on the bottom of the bag.

For less formal occasions there is the soft little pouch crocheted of heavy silk with chunky beads in a matching hue.

Among the range of clutches of all sizes is a wide variety of motifs. Sometimes, this combines glossy and dull beads in striped effects; other times it achieves a dimensional effect via raised floral and foliage motifs. Still a third patterns the gleam of bugle beads with the soft gloss of round beads for a subtly ombre effect.

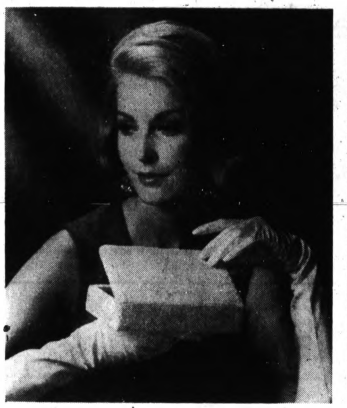

In such evening favored colors as alabaster, jet, silver, gold, white and the jewel tones, these are bags to partner with the most formal of ballgowns as well as with the little discotheque dresses beloved of the younger set this season.

All set for autumn celebrating is this "pearl" handbag. Created by Hilde Walborg, the envelope is hand knitted of lustrous pearls. One of several designs in a collection called "moon pearls," the clutch conceals a top zipper beneath its top flap and opens widely. It comes in pink, royal, turquoise, emerald, red, gold and taupe as well as black and alabaster. About $9.

The snappiest handbags for autumn-winter '64 are slung from short shoulder straps. Shaped like a musette bag, this design features twin compartments. Identical compartments are joined. Both swing from the adjustable shoulder strap and are clasped with matching gilded locks. The textured fabric, specially woven in Italy, counterplays a dull with a glossy finish. By Walborg, it sells for about $26.

The little purse takes on beaded mannerisms as it is interpreted by Walborg. This rectangular overall bead design opens up to reveal a mirror, while the satin lined box can stow away compact, lipstick, et cetera. In alabaster, cut jet, chalk and bronze, it retails for about $23.

Hostess Shouldn't Take Prize

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Last evening I went to a jewelry party at a neighbor's house. After the jewelry was displayed and the guests ordered what they wanted, the person in charge of selling the jewelry handed each woman a slip of paper with a number on it.

Duplicate numbers were put into a box and she asked one of the women to draw a number for the prize she was offering, which incidentally, was a piece of jewelry.

It so happened that the hostess's number was called and she received the prize. Some of the women questioned the propriety of her accepting the prize.

Will you please tell me if she was right to have done so?

A: If the hostess had been given a present by the woman selling the jewelry for allowing her to have the party in your neighbor's house, she should not have taken part in the drawing and accepted another prize.

Q: I am expecting a baby shortly and if it is a girl would like to name her for my mother-in-law who has an unusual and pretty name.

Is it necessary to add any suffix after her name in the way that Jr. is added when a boy is named for his grandfather?

A: The correct feminine suffix is Yr. (Younger). However, as your daughter will be Miss Mary Smith and your mother-in-law Mrs. John Smith there can be no confusion between the two and therefore no suffix is really necessary.

The Emily Post Institute offers readers booklets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette.

If you would like to have the booklet entitled, "The Bride's Trousseau," send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

A New Horror and Its Remedy for Halloween

If you are planning a Halloween party and the refreshments include cider, jot down this tip from the National Institute of Rug Cleaning just in case there's a spill on the carpeting.

Absorb the excess cider immediately with white absorbent material.

* * *

Next, make a solution of one teaspoon neutral detergent to ½ pint lukewarm water.

Work the solution into the spot.

Lastly, place a ½-inch layer of white absorbent material over the area and weight down with books for six to eight hours.

Writers Back Up Abby: Keep Some Things Secret

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I, for one, agree with you 100 per cent when you say that a husband and wife should not tell everything just to clear their own consciences.

First of all, it doesn't make the sin any less, so why hurt someone by confessing?

* * *

A few years ago I became a restless housewife, and thought that an affair with another man was the answer to everything.

So, after becoming involved, I became pregnant. That woke me up and I broke off with him without telling him why.

Instead, I vowed to be a better wife and mother, and I worked toward that end and prayed daily for forgiveness.

* * *

We now have a little daughter. My husband worships the ground she walks on, and she idolizes him.

We have other children, but there seems to be a closeness between this little girl and her "Daddy" that does not exist between any of the others.

* * *

So why break his heart by telling him that she is not his child? This secret is between God and me, and it will always be that way.

COULD NEVER TELL

DEAR ABBY: Of all the despicable people I will ever have to contend with, deliver me from the "kiss and tell" hypocrite.

Confessions to clear the conscious? Baloney!

Most confessions are motivated by a wilful desire to injure an innocent party, guilt transference, and the wish to boast.

* * *

Confession to God is good. Likewise, confession to a clergyman. Even to the bartender or the barber. But never to one who will be hurt to hear it.

To have an affair is one thing. It is wrong to be sure. But it is a human weakness and the flesh is weak.

* * *

But to inflict pain on an innocent person, needlessly, is quite another. ("Go forth, and sin no more.")

But Christ had no good message for the hypocrite.

Who am I? I'm the guy who once confessed to his wife his infidelity.

GUILTY

DEAR ABBY: Re confessing infidelity to one's mate: I agree with you wholeheartedly, Abby.

It has been said, "The truth shall set you free." Rubbish! The truth has enslaved me.

I would give everything I own never to have heard my wife's "confession." Sign me,

Shoe for Spring to Be Elegant

Come spring, watch for the invasion of a new baby doll shoe silhouette from Europe.

The National Shoe Retailers Association said the shape being shown most often is a far cry from the very short baby doll last.

These are elongated; heels tend to be curvy and shaped. The resulting shoe: much more feminine and elegant.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The newest fashion fad from Paris, the pants suit, planned to be worn by elegant women on city streets, has men moaning in their beards. They complain, "What kind of modern progress is this when you can't tell men from women?"

If the pants suit is generally adopted on every main street in the country, men can comfort themselves with the knowledge that many times throughout history men and women dressed alike, and somehow nobody got too confused.

Fashion-stealing never has been a one-way street. In past years men stole outrageously from women's styles in dress and coiffure.

In early Rome both sexes wore togas draped the same way. During the Byzantine Empire both men and women wore the same long elaborately embroidered tunics and jeweled girdles with mantles fastened on the right shoulder. Their bright ankle-high bootlets were the same. Their only obvious style differentiation was long hair for the women and short hair for the men.

* * *

The first really distinctive parting of the ways came soon after the early middle ages. Male tunics became shorter and shorter, until they barely covered the thighs and men wore their hair shoulder length. Women kept their long gowns and even grew trains on them. They plucked their hair back on their foreheads, covering what was left with huge headdresses and cloths of silk and other materials.

IMMODEST, VAIN

For many many years men were by far the more immodest and vain of the two sexes, showing off their legs in colored tights, their long hair under plumed hats and their status with beturned and bejeweled satins.

By the time of Louis XIV the gentlemen had reached the ultimate in glamour.

They strode around bedecked with ribbons and bows, cascades of lace, jeweled garters and fur muffs. They doused themselves with perfume and used powder and rouge.

* * *

Their hair was worn so long and curly that those whose hair wouldn't grow began to wear huge wigs. Their shoes had high red heels and they carried lacy handkerchiefs. Yet there is no record that the ladies could not tell the men from the women.

SEIZED BY WOMEN

Now let's skip to the French Revolution and the advent of long trousers for men. These seemed to sweep away the peacock male for good.

Women seized upon the frills, the perfumes, the showing of the legs, as their prerogatives and male garb grew drabber and drabber.

Now the tide may be turning the other way. Women have decided to steal trousers for themselves and many men use colognes and wear fabrics and colors which were originally developed for women. As many young men, at least, wear hair as long as the Beatles.

* * *

Imagine Papa coming home in cascades of lace, jeweled garters and a muff! They would immediately bring the straitjacket! No kidding, though, if you plan to wear the new pants suits, or even slacks, be sure that your figure is right for it.

FOR FIRMER LEGS

Here is an exercise that will firm the inner leg muscles. It also works the abdominal muscles.

Lie on your back on the floor with your arms resting on the floor at right angles to your body. Raise both legs up with stiff knees, to a position right angles to your body.

Keep the legs together as you lower them to the right, touching the floor with your right leg. Now bring the legs up, swing them across the body and touch the left leg to the floor. Continue.

If you would like to have my hip slimming exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leftlet No. 3 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press

Share Struggle to Quit Smoking Habit

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our 15 - year - old daughter smokes. We have tried to break her of cigarettes by making her cut out dating for a time but this wasn't successful.

We are good friends and can talk openly about her smoking with her. Some of her friends don't smoke nor does her boy friend. Can you help us?

By the way, her father and I are heavy smokers . . .

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: We help a smoking child quit cigarettes by giving him an "example" of quitting them ourselves, according to a recent pamphlet issued by the Children's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Maybe. Myself, I think it's more effective to ask him to help us by giving us the "example."

I'm for asking him to share a common resolve to quit cigarettes — and the common struggle to execute it.

I'm for the sharing of the chewing gum, the nervous tensions, the pride in the first cigarette-less day, the one sneaked inhalation — the whole shared business of withdrawal.

★ ★ ★

But then, this "example - giving" requirement of parents always leaves me cold.

OVERWHELM THEM

It's just too easy to overwhelm children by the weight of our successful "examples." The superiority of our virtues can end in a child's discouragement instead of emulation of our virtues.

Alcoholics Anoymous is so successful because it knows how easily we can be discouraged by other people's nobility.

In seeking to help a new member, A.A. does not parade the successful "example" of alcohol abstinence by old members; it stresses the mutuality of their common struggle.

★ ★ ★

Old members do not say to new ones, "Admire our strength." They say with words or without them, "This is rough. We know. It is still rough for us."

SELF-RIGHTEOUS

What I'm saying is that I think there's something awfully self-righteous about setting out to give other people noble "examples."

But then I have vast respect for human struggle and not too much for human success.

It is my view, therefore, that letting children in on our struggles to be better is what gives them the courage to enter into the struggles themselves.

BALL-ANDERSON

Off on an eastern honeymoon are the Michael James Balls (Mary Jean Anderson) who spoke vows before her uncle, Dr. Floyd McCallum, Saturday, in the First Free Methodist Church. Their parents, all of Avon Township, are the William L. Andersons, Devondale Road, and the Douglas M. Balls, Greenwood Street. Mrs. Barry Anderson, Mrs. Henry Stormer and Lennie Ball attended the bride who wore white Chantilly lace over taffeta, with illusion veil. Largest Center Will Research Birth Defect

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A new research center — largest in the United States — for the study of the causes and cure of cleft lip and palate will be set up at the Lancaster Cleft Palate Clinic, Lancaster, Pa., under a grant from the National Institute of Dental Health.

★ ★ ★

The research will be led by Dr. Herbert K. Cooper, a pioneer in rehabilitation of cleft palate patients.

This birth abnormality, in which the solid surface of the mouth is missing, occurs once in every 800 births, the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare reports.

HAZELETT-KELLER

The James Lindle Hazeletts (Cynthia Darlene Keller) left for a northern honeymoon after vows and reception, Saturday in the First Methodist Church, Clarkston. Daughter of the Joseph A. Spencers of Matthews Street, the bride wore chapel-length white silk worsted with illusion veil. She held white orchids and roses. Her attendants were Linda Hipp, Linda Keller, Susan Wahl, Cynthia Stevens. Robert Hutchinson was best man for the son of Mrs. Emmer Hazelett of Corunna Street and the late Mr. Hazelett. Ushers were Robert and Charles Hazelett with James Higgins.

The Richard Ross DeBolts (Margaret Ann Gawne) are touring the east following recent vows in St. Joseph Catholic Church, Lake Orion, and reception in Gingellville Community Club. Their parents are the Douglas Gawnes, East Silverbell Road, Orion Township and the Ross DeBolts, East Boulevard South. The bride wore imported white silk peau de soie with illusion veil and carried white orchids and Stephanotis. Attendants were Mary and Margaret Gawne, Mrs. Richard Hardy, Mrs. Douglas Gawne and Mrs. Jack Stephan; Stanley Baleczak, Richard Hardy, Douglas, Henry and Timothy Gawne.

Do Not Sneeze at Your Ring

DES MOINES, Iowa—A diamond ring is nothing to sneeze at, Helen Ryan has learned the hard way.

While walking to her job as a dental assistant, the 19-year-old girl felt a sneeze coming on, reached into her pocket for her handkerchief and pulled her engagement ring out with it.

★ ★ ★

The ring rolled into a street sewer. City workmen hunted though the debris for six hours before finding it.

LEGAL HAIR — George "Georgie Porgy" Leonard (right), 18-year-old senior at Attleboro (Mass.) High School, arrived at school yesterday with his attorney, Ernest I. Rotenberg (center) and Deputy Sheriff Robert E. Blackburn (left). Blackburn carried a restraining order prohibiting the school from barring Leonard because of his hairdo. He had been barred from classes since September. His father follows in rear.

Prison Officials Weed Out Riot Chiefs

AP Photofax

CONFISCATED CONTRABAND — Warden William Steiner of the Maryland House of Correction (right) holds objects which guards and state police confiscated during a shakedown last night. The cell-by-cell investigation was prompted by a sit-down strike. The trooper is holding a sackful of similar objects.

JESSUP, Md. (AP) — After stripping prisoners of scores of weapons at the riot-shaken Maryland House of Correction, officials picked up today the job of weeding out ringleaders of continuing unrest at the prison.

"We got about 36 troublemakers, and there are about 20 more to go," said Vernon L. Pepersack, state commissioner of correction.

★ ★ ★

"Once we weed them out and get them all assigned to one section, we'll be able to get this place back to normal again."

He gave the appraisal early today after a cell-by-cell search by guards and state police yielded knives, clubs, chains and other weapons in possession of prisoners.

TOSSED FROM CUBICLES

Some were found in cells but most were tossed from the barred cubicles of the four-tiered cell houses as inmates set fires, jeered, whistled and shouted to distract the searchers moving from tier to tier. At least four fires were touched off, but all were small and were quickly doused with extinguishers.

Pepersack said a sit-down strike Monday idled about 500 inmates in the prison laundry and workshops. He met with spokesmen for the strikers and received a list of grievances.

★ ★ ★

They complained that a guard treated prisoners brutally, that an office worker was not keeping proper account of money and time-off credits earned by shop inmates, and that the prison commissary did not carry a big enough variety of items.

"I'll talk with the guard," Pepersack told newsmen, "but I've already done some checking and can't find a thing to substantiate the complaint about him."

MAY BE REASSIGNED

He said, however, the guard might be reassigned "as much for his own safety as anything else."

"There's no basis at all for the complaint about the office worker," Pepersack added. He said the employe does not handle the kind of work involved in the complaint.

The commissioner told the strike spokesmen Monday he would consider their complaints. They returned to their shops, but the idleness continued.

At quitting time, the inmates left the shops, ate dinner without incident and returned to their cells.

PLAN NEW UPRISING

But Pepersack received word through the prison grapevine that ringleaders of a riot which erupted at the medium-security prison last Friday night planned a new uprising for Monday night.

About 40 state police who had been sent to the prison earlier in the day were ordered into the cellblocks at 7 p.m. to keep order during segregation of inmates tabbed as ringleaders and to help search for weapons. They worked until after midnight.

★ ★ ★

Monday night's disturbance was mild by comparison with the Friday night session. In that one, about half of the 1,700 prisoners ran loose in the cellblocks, set dozens of fires, jammed locks, smashed windows and furniture, and flooded the floors by ripping out plumbing.

★ ★ ★

Some 100 state police helped put down the riot and rescue 12 guards who had sought refuge in cells and a utility tunnel. Four inmates suffered minor head injuries caused by objects thrown or dropped from upper-tier cells and catwalks.

RAIN OF WEAPONS

During Monday night's shakedown, beginning with the top tiers and working down, there was a steady rain of weapons and debris as prisoners rid themselves of contraband.

In some places, there were knee-deep piles of stolen clothing, bottles, tin cups, cracker cartons, scissors, surgical clamps from the prison infirmary, crudely fashioned knives, clubs and charred newspapers which had been ignited and flung from the upper cells.

★ ★ ★

Someone even tossed a few coins. Possession of cash is forbidden to inmates in the prison, which is 16 miles southwest of Baltimore.

Kremlin Is Pressing Its Drive to Restore Red Unity in Europe

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin's new leaders pressed their campaign today to restore unity in the European Communist world in the aftermath of Nikita Khrushchev's ouster.

The government newspaper Izvestia aimed an appeal at the Soviet Union's East European allies, warning in a front-page editorial that further economic progress in the bloc will require stronger unity.

★ ★ ★

Izvestia made no mention of Red China and the bitter dispute which split it from the Soviet Union. The appeal apparently sought to quiet unrest that has swept the East European nations since Khrushchev was dumped Oct. 14 as premier and first secretary of the Communist party.

Izvestia did not name Khrushchev, but it repeated assurances that his policies of de-Stalinization and economic progress would be continued by party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

STRENGTHEN UNIT

"In the present moment," it said, "the cause of peace and social progress in an increasing degree depends on strengthening the unity of all anti-imperialist forces and first of all the unity of the Socialist countries, the world Communist movement."

The key step, it said, was the economic cooperation agreements the Soviet Union concluded with the Communist East European nations.

★ ★ ★

Diplomatic informants in Vienna said they had heard the Kremlin was putting pressure on East European Communist parties to speak out against Khrushchev. So far only Hungary has done so. Its central committee issued a statement Sunday saying Khrushchev's regime made "regrettable mistakes."

★ ★ ★

Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Poland have all praised Khrushchev since his ouster. The diplomats in Vienna said the Kremlin has told its allies it was time they realized that Khrushchev had outlived his usefulness.

MORE DIFFICULTY

The Soviet leaders apparently faced more difficulty with leaders of the West European Communist parties.

Red delegations from France, Denmark, Austria, Italy, India and other countries have begun flocking to Moscow to find out the real story of the sudden power shift and what it portends.

★ ★ ★

Communist newsmen in Moscow have been told an official account of the secret meeting that decided Khrushchev's fate will be published within the next few days.

★ ★ ★

There has been no official word on Khrushchev's whereabouts, although unconfirmed reports have said he was living in a small apartment near the Kremlin or just outside Moscow.

Sudan Chief Takes Power, Vows to End Military Rule

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — After five days of bloody rioting, President Ibrahim Abboud promised Monday night to end the military's six-year rule of the Sudan. Opposition political leaders called off a general strike scheduled today.

★ ★ ★

Abboud set no date for the end of military control but in a broadcast promised progress toward a government "acceptable to all citizens."

★ ★ ★

His first move was to take full power personally, dissolving the ruling Supreme Military Council of eight generals and the Cabinet. Abboud was chairman of the council, which seized power in a bloodless coup Nov. 17, 1958.

★ ★ ★

There was no immediate indication whether other military leaders would bow to Abboud, who also is commander of the army and widely respected.

CONSIDER PROTESTS

The president said he would call the legislature into session to consider protests made during disorders in Khartoum and adjoining Omdurman and North Khartoum.

★ ★ ★

Ten persons were killed and about 100 injured in the rioting, according to unofficial estimates. No Americans were among the casualties, although university students stoned the U.S. Embassy and attempted to burn it over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Abboud's radio address appeared to go as far as possible toward satisfying the rioters without impugning the army.

★ ★ ★

He recalled his regime had announced a plan last year — which opposition leaders called a smokescreen to retain power — calling for "a sound political system."

'FIRST STEP'

Now, Abboud said, he had decided to take over full power "as a first step toward accelerating the attainment of our required goal."

Sudan, lying immediately south of the United Arab Republic, had been an independent parliamentary republic 34 months when the British-trained Abboud first seized power.

★ ★ ★

During the period of parliamentary rule, Sudan had been plagued with political snarls, corruption and ineffective government.

The rioting followed suppression of a student meeting on the problem of southern Sudan, where an anti-Moslem revolt by African tribesmen has been in progress the past year. But the underlying cause appeared to be a desire for elimination of military rule.

PROFESSORS RESIGN

The university closed last Thursday and some professors resigned in protest. About 5,000 students took to the streets. They were joined Monday by striking government employes.

The rioters' targets indicated Communist elements had seized upon the disturbance as an opportunity to push their town cause. In addition to attacking the U.S. Embassy, the rioters damaged shops owned by foreigners.

★ ★ ★

Communists are a small minority in the Sudan, but they have considerable influence among university students.

Abboud's major problem will be to reconcile the soldiers and the politicians. Each group regards the other with contempt.

Eyes Fool Witness to 'Murder'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) —A Casanova and a jittery station attendant is a bad combination. Just ask the San Antonio Police."

A service station attendant yesterday called police to report he had seen a man chasing a woman. He said he heard a loud report and the woman screamed and fell. The man picked her up, tossed her in his car and drove off.

An all-points bulletin was broadcast for the "killer," whose license number the service station attendant had jotted down.

A motorcycle patrolman spotted the hunted car in a residential district and curbed the auto. Inside was the object of the search — John Casanova, 25, a schoolteacher.

★ ★ ★

His version of the incident was somewhat less exciting.

'WITH FIANCEE'

"I was out in the country with my fiancee," he said. He and his fiancee, Audrey Kimble, 24, often meet on their lunch hour. He was playfully chasing her back to the car.

Just as he slammed the car door, she screamed and fell into a water-filled ditch. He picked her up and bundled her into the car so she could get home in time to change her clothes and go back to work.

★ ★ ★

Miss Kimble backed up the story, and the "manhunt" was called off.

'Doctors' Drug Family and Rob Life Savings

TRUJILLO, Venezuela (UPI) — Three thieves masquerading as medical men drugged a family here and robbed it of $30,000, it was reported today.

★ ★ ★

The trio, posing as "a doctor and his two assistants," fed sleeping pills to Milan A. Mendez Cardenas, his wife and their children on the pretext of giving them Sabin antipolio vaccine. The thieves got away with Mendez' life savings.

To Retain Price Stability

Calls to Labor, Industry

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon appealed today to industry and labor to curb any inflationary pressures that would upset price stability and damage the nation's international trade.

"For price stability today is imperative, not only to our domestic economy but to our balance of payments position," Dillon said.

★ ★ ★

Dillon's statements were in a prepared address read to the 90th annual American Bankers Association convention by G. D'Andelot Belin, Treasury Department general counsel. Because of illness Dillon couldn't attend the convention.

James J. Saxon, U.S. comptroller of the currency, touched off a debate among the bankers Monday when he proposed that federal regulation of state banks be transferred to state governments.

DRAWS ATTACK

The proposal immediately drew an attack from another government official.

In his statement Dillon said that because of the growth of the nation's economy in the past 45 months "we have begun to see clear evidence that price stability is gradually improving our international competitive position."

★ ★ ★

He said monetary policy partially contributed to the improvement, but the main reason has been the absence of inflationary factors in the domestic economy.

Dillon said monetary authorities "will certainly be watching closely for evidence" of forces that could upset price stability.

MUST NOT ASSUME

"But we must not assume that the maintenance of price stability is the responsibility of the monetary authorities alone," said Dillon.

"For the most difficult problem — and one with which the monetary authorities are ill-equipped to deal — would be spreading wage and cost pressures that industry could not absorb from rising productivity.

★ ★ ★

"Here the heaviest responsibility rests on both industry and labor to maintain a relationship between wages, productivity and prices that can permit us to prolong our excellent record of cost and price stability."

In proposing to transfer banking regulatory control to state governments, comptroller Saxon said:

ENCOURAGE IMPROVEMENT

"Such a transfer of regulatory power would encourage improved performance by the state authorities, and it would end the discriminatory treatment of state banks which results from the exercise of federal authority," he said.

Joseph W. Barr, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., a government agency, attacked the proposal as "a radical change, a very radical change."

★ ★ ★

William F. Kelly, president of the bankers association, said he disagreed with Saxon's proposal. He contended the problem is "really one of effective cooperation at the federal level so as to assure relatively uniform and fair treatment of national and state banks."

Under Saxon's proposal, state authorities would have such powers as the say in qualifying state banks to receive federal deposit insurance on accounts.

Chicago Woman Keeps Vigil Candles Burning

Can't Get Over Loss of Kidnaped Baby

CHICAGO (AP)—Today is Mrs. Chester Fronczak's 29th birthday—but there will be no celebration.

Mrs. Fronczak will begin the day as she has all others for the past six months—by going to St. Anne's Roman Catholic church to pray and keep the vigil candles burning.

Six months ago today, Mrs. Fronczak's day-old son, Paul Joseph, was kidnaped from her hospital room by a woman who posed as a nurse.

Despite thousands of telephoned and mailed tips, police have no leads in the case.

★ ★ ★

As the search for the infant proved futile, more and more attention focused on Mrs. Fronczak, a brown-eyed, attractive brunette whose first child was stillborn the year before.

FINE NOW

"Oh, I'm fine now—physically," Mrs. Fronczak assured an interviewer Monday. "But emotionally I just can't seem to get over the loss of the baby.

"It's something they say time heals," she said wistfully, "but so far it hasn't.

"We keep hoping that maybe he'll return."

Her husband, Chester Jr., 33, a machinist, left his job for five weeks to help his wife adjust to the loss of their son.

At first Mrs. Fronczak went into virtual seclusion after her release from Michael Reese Hospital.

STOP AT CHURCH

But now, she says, "I do get out quite a bit. I don't visit the priest Father Daniel Purcell of St. Anne's quite as much but I stop in the church every morning to see to the candles.

"I believe God will return him some day."

Faith and a desire to keep her home going helped in those anguished first days, Mrs. Fronczak recalled.

★ ★ ★

"What pulled me together," Mrs. Franczak said, "was the thought that if Paul is found who would be here to take care of him?

NOT NEGLECTED

"I just hope that he is being taken care of and not neglected."

Police Lt. John Carten, who has worked steadily on the case since it broke, said today that "there's nothing new. We're still checking out leads."

But now, he said, the leads average less than one a day.

"I'm not giving up hope," he said. "There's still a good chance the baby is alive and well."

U.S. Commends Laborites' New Surcharge

Britons Resigned to Costlier Imports

LONDON (AP) — Britons resigned themselves today to stiff price increases on manufactured imports as a result of the Labor government's new 15 per cent surcharge to cut buying abroad.

Traders on the European continent and in Ireland expressed alarm that the crash action of Prime Minister Harold Wilson's new Labor government would sharply reduce their lucrative flow of exports to Britain. Wilson's experts anticipated imports would be cut about $560 million a year.

* * *

In Washington, the U.S. Treasury commended the plan as a prompt and effective way to protect the stability of the pound sterling. The surcharge will apply to about 50 per cent of the $1.5 billion worth of goods the United States sells to Britain each year.

The surcharge affects all imports except food, raw materials and raw tobacco. At 15 per cent, cost of the items involved will rise about three shillings — 42 cents — to the pound — $2.80. But economists believe that after sales taxes and retailers' profits the actual increase will be closer to 20 per cent.

EMERGENCY PROGRAM

The surcharge was the main step the government announced Monday in an emergency program designed to check Britain's widening balance of payments — the difference between what the nation earns abroad and what it buys. To spur exports, the government promised exporters tax rebates ranging from 1 to 3 per cent.

* * *

Wilson said Monday night in a television address that Britain could "no longer afford easy-going attitudes." The import levies, he said, were on "goods which a country like Britain should be able to make herself." He stressed that the measures were only temporary and denied that his government favored increased trade barriers.

* * *

There was some fear that the price increases would set off a new round of wage demands and defeat the government's long-term stabilization plans. The government's big hope lay in a hopeful sign from its allies in the Trades Union Congress.

After a meeting with Wilson, Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan and Economic Minister George Brown, the TUC General Council said it had assured the prime minister of its "willingness to examine urgently how best the trade union movement can make a positive contribution to a national recovery."

ACTION SUPPORTED

Most of the British press supported the government's action.

The conservative Daily Mail acknowledged that something had to be done to cope with the economic situation. The liberal Guardian called it an "encouraging start" and the independent anti-Socialist Daily Express commented, "sensible and timely."

But businessmen in West Germany, Britain's main trading partner in Western Europe, said "sharp protests," and possibly counter-measures, could be expected from German industry.

* * *

French businessmen said 60 to 75 per cent of French exports to Britain would be affected, and expressed grave concern.

The news produced gloom in Canada, which sold $792 million worth of goods to Britain between January and August of this year. Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said he expected about a third of Canada's exports to Britain would be affected. Some Canadian manufacturers said the surcharge was better than devaluation of the pound or restrictions on the quantity of imports.

HARDEST HIT

Common Market officials in Brussels said all six of its members — West Germany, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg — would be affected. They said Dutch refined oil products, German machinery and Italian textiles would probably be hit hardest.

Swiss businessmen expressed fear the measures would seriously harm their nation's foreign trade. More than half Switzerland's exports to the seven nation European Free Trade Association go to Britain.

* * *

The EFTA Council held a special meeting in Geneva to consider the British measures. Foreign Minister Per Hakkerup of Denmark, an EFTA member, said the British action was "out of harmony" with the free trade area.

"The charges are a disaster for Irish industry," said J. J. Stacey, director-general of the Federation of Irish Industry. "Many of our exports simply could not get into Britain against this surcharge."

British 'Whodunit?'

LONDON (UPI) — Conservative party officials today said they had no idea who put a notice in a London newspaper advertising for a "leader for the new Conservative party."

Breathing Properly Sometimes Difficult

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Two whole pages in my giant scrapbook are nearly filled with clippings and bits of letters written for my information concerning breathing — items that have given me many a good chuckle. It is amusing to watch a wise-acre going through the motions of what he thinks is deep breathing, but laughable to hear or read the instructions charlatans give customers or followers — the blind leading the blind.

Being generally ignorant of elementary anatomy, physiology and hygiene, American educators shrug off the idea that refined people need know anything about "innards" and the snobs take it from there. Shining examples: The fashionable "saleslady" explaining to the Dumb Dora the importance of supporting, restraining or molding the "diaphragm" and the TV huckster showing how to get right to work on ache or pain without upsetting the stomach or "lower tract."

This peculiar American snobbery makes it difficult to teach people how to breathe. For instance one chapter in my booklet, "How to Breathe" (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) deals with natural, physiological, normal breathing, belly breathing, that is, as listed in the index. But the instructions for such breathing, on pages 13 and 14, are given under the heading "Directions for Bellows Breathing," beginning with this:

"Pretend your chest is paralyzed. Your belly is your bellows."

Now I have also a pamphlet (if you provide 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope) on "Belly Breathing" which tells how to use your bellows and what for. If you want the pamphlet you had better ask for it by name. It is not available under any other title, nor is a clipping a request.

* * *

I like to think I have caught N. Webster changing his semantics: He defines belly as a word derived from the Anglo-Saxon belg, bag or bellows, without a hint of impropriety. But then Webster chickens and calls belly-ache vulgar.

The belly proper (after all, there's no other English word for it) is the front wall of the abdomen (accent the "dough"). The abdomen is the body cavity which contains the stomach, intestines, liver, spleen, etc.

When Winston Churchill talked about attacking the soft underbelly of Europe I wondered whether there was any other belly the allies might attack.

An animal breathes by inflating the bellows (belly). So does a man who has not been misled. Prevent inflation of the bellows and the animal or man can barely survive on chest breathing alone.

The thorax is the body cavity which contains the heart, lungs and great blood vessels (aorta and vena cava). The chest is the front wall of the thorax.

So far we have referred to the breathing muscle, the diaphragm, only in a (sales) lady like way. Most Americans if asked "What is the diaphragm? Where is it? And how does it work?" would flunk. Watch this column for the answers.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Some State Republicans Think They'll Be Hurt

A Third of Candidates Expect Aid From Top Men

(Editor's Note: The Associated Press asked all Republican and Democratic candidates for the state legislature for their views on issues facing the 1965 Legislature. One hundred ten of the 292 candidates responded, including 56 Republicans and 54 Democrats. This is the second of three reports analyzing the candidates' answers.)

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

LANSING — Only about one-third of responding candidates for the Michigan Legislature expect to be helped by any ballot magic of their party's presidential or gubernatorial candidates.

★ ★ ★

In answer to an Associated Press questionnaire, Democrats indicated that what help there is will come from President Johnson while most Republicans specify Gov. George Romney as their source of any coattail assistance.

★ ★ ★

Eleven per cent of Republicans even said they would be hurt by their party's ticket leaders.

Both parties tended to discount the role of so-called "white backlash" on the election.

AP ASKED

The AP asked, "How do you expect the presidential and gubernatorial contests to affect your race?" Twenty-one per cent of the Republicans and 39 per cent of the Democrats said there would be no effect.

Thirty-three per cent of Democrats and 32 per cent of Republicans expect help. No Democrat thinks he'll be hurt.

Other respondents indicated they did not know what the effect would be though many said there would be some effect.

★ ★ ★

Five-sixths of the Republicans expecting help limited the source to Romney. Said Sen. Lloyd A. Stephens of the new 33rd district: "Presidential? Gubernatorial, yes. Romney will help the Republican party."

From Samuel F. Winfield of the seventh house district: "Presidential very doubtful, gubernatorial favorable."

From Stanley M. Powell of the 89th House district: "The President's popularity might result in many straight Democratic party votes, but many of those folks will probably split in favor of the governor, and, we hope, in favor of many of us."

★ ★ ★

Says Robert J. Frost of the 5th House district: "Seems to be more of a detriment than an asset."

Edward Sorenson of the 20th House district represents the minority Republican view: "I believe Sen. Goldwater will carry Michigan and could possibly carry me in with him. The governor's race doesn't affect me because I'm running as a conservative Republican and I'm proud of it."

OPPOSITE RESULT

On the Democratic side George Fitzgerald of the 1st Senate district has the same form of answer as Stephens, but the opposite result: "Federal—favor Dems. State?"

"The presidential race will help, but the gubernatorial will be more even," said James McCarthy of the 14th Senate district.

★ ★ ★

"Johnson will help. Romney will be tough," says Richard A. Young, 33rd House district.

Asked whether backlash would be a factor in Michigan voting on any level, 59 per cent of Republicans and 72 per cent of Democrats said it would have little or no effect.

PARTY SWITCHING

Some, such as Democrat Charles C. Wickett, 23rd senate district, said "any Dems switching will be more than offset by Reps. switching to Johnson."

★ ★ ★

Democrat Jack Paxon, 15th house district, said he sees no backlash but cautioned "it is quite possible that many individuals may say one thing and do another."

By contrast, Republican Herbert Steiger, 2nd senatorial district, says "In ringing doorbells in Wayne County, I am amazed at the size of the so-called backlash."

And Republican William Magill, 5th senatorial district, also Wayne County, says backlash will have an effect because "land owners have always had the right to select their own tenants and many home owners are concerned about the possibility such right may be impaired."

The AP also asked about the effect of redistricting and an opinion on the Massachusetts ballot.

Thirty-five per cent of Democrats and 27 per cent of Republicans said the Democratic-drawn legislative redistricting plan would help them in their contests.

Thirty-four per cent of Republicans and 13 per cent of Democrats said it would hurt. The rest said it would have no effect.

★ ★ ★

Every Democrat who answered opposed the Massachusetts ballot, a Republican-sponsored piece of legislation up for voter approval in the general election.

★ ★ ★

All but four Republicans said they favor the Massachusetts ballot over the party ticket ballot now used in Michigan.

DEM HELP

Interestingly, 20 per cent of the Democrats said that the Massachusetts ballot would help them win election if it were used.

Object to Attacks on Khrushchev

Czechs Exert Autonomy in New Economic Plan

By PRESTON GROVER

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — With an almost astonishing show of independence, Czechoslovakia is shaping up a new modified free-enterprise economic system, and at the same time objecting to attacks on Nikita Khrushchev.

The Czechoslovakian Communist Central Committee already has approved a new economic plan going far beyond any program the Soviet Union or other states have approved. But on top of this came a new show of daring for Czechoslovakia in the face of official Soviet press criticism of the record of Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

The Czechoslovakian party Central Committee adopted a resolution expressing "surprise and emotion" at his removal.

★ ★ ★

But even more impressive to observers in Prague was the new economic plan, already approved in principle by the Central Committee, giving industrial managers many of the powers exercised in the free enterprise Western countries.

STEADY SLIDE

The new plan was forced on the Czechoslovakian economy by a steady downhill slide in production. The rate of increase in production has slowed down in most other Socialist states, including the Soviet Union, but in 1963 production in Czechoslovakia actually went into reverse and fell below 1962.

★ ★ ★

Prof. Ita Sik, director of the official Economic Research Institute in Prague, said central planning will be limited, and local factory managers will have vast new authority. They will, within certain limits, fix their own production quotas, establish their wage scale, order their own raw materials, fix their own prices, and even import new production machinery from abroad.

★ ★ ★

This correspondent, in a 10-day tour of Czechoslovakia, interviewed a number of officials and others about the proposal and found almost unanimous enthusiasm for it.

★ ★ ★

Most of those interviewed conceded that with the rise in authority and influence of the business and factory managers, the authority and prestige of Communist party officials would be correspondingly lowered.

KEY PROVISION

An important provision of the plan is that in the event some of the plant managers try to exercise their new freedom by jacking up prices too high, competitive goods will be imported.

★ ★ ★

That is a step that no Socialist state has yet dared to take. All have operated under communism with a carefully protected home market where domestic prices and quality had no real relation to foreign prices or quality.

★ ★ ★

The central authority will still keep a governing hand on many major sources of raw materials, such as basic food items, fuel, power, rent and basic raw materials.

★ ★ ★

But, Sik added: "Gradually, with the progress of the new system, the number of centrally fixed prices could be further reduced."

North America's only native domesticated fowl is the turkey.

New Image for Bobby Darin

By QORIS KLEIN
Written for Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bobby Darin stripped down to his shorts, stuck out his legs for an application of suntan makeup, and displayed the new Bobby Darin.

★ ★ ★

He sings, he smiles, he can explain complicated tax situations, he works five days a week, loves being a family man and reads the New York Times on weekends.

★ ★ ★

He is even humble — well, just a little.

"Yeah, I know I said I'd be a star at 25 and an institution at 30. I don't consider myself a star yet — the stars are people like Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Elizabeth Taylor.

TWO TO GO

"But remember, I've still got two years to go before I'm 30."

After successful years as the brash, sometimes angry, sometimes rude young man, Bobby is looking for a new image.

★ ★ ★

Maybe it's because he is still angling to be in institution, maybe it's because he is getting older, or maybe it's because marriage to actress Sandra Dee and being the father of a 3-year-old son have softened his outlook.

"My life is really upside down of what it was before.

★ ★ ★

"I'm off nightclub appearances — but I'd really decided against that even before Sandy and I separated and got back together again.

NO GYPSY LIFE

"I don't want my wife and child to have a gypsy life."

"Now, I work five days a week and have nights and weekends off. On Sundays, I can read the New York Times — all the way through — and a lot of other papers."

Then there's father Darin.

★ ★ ★

"We have friends who are always teaching their kids things — like the alphabet and reading by the age of 3. Not my son. Sandy and I are teaching him things — but we're not pushing him.

★ ★ ★

"We just want our kid to grow up to be a normal kid."

Bobby was minus the trousers for a comedy scene in his new movie, "That Funny Feeling," his third costarring with his wife.

CHECKS ON FIRM

Between shots, he keeps tabs by phone on his music publishing firm which he started two years ago.

★ ★ ★

"It grossed $300,000 the first year and $400,000 the second," says tycoon Bobby. "The possibilities are unlimited."

Bobby isn't making his own records because of tax complications, but he has Wayne Newton in his stable and cut a hit with Pat Boone recently.

Veterans' Policies Said Unauthorized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators reported yesterday that 22,000 veterans hold government life insurance policies to which they are not legally entitled.

The General Accounting Office (GAO), which audits executive spending for Congress, said that the policies will remain valid because the fault lies with the government and not the individuals involved.

The total face value of the policies involved is $189 million, the GAO said. It recommended that the Veterans Administration revise eligibility requirements for the insurance, which the GAO said was designed for service - disabled veterans unable to qualify for commercial insurance.

GM Donates V8 Engine to Kettering

General Motors has given a Pontiac V8 engine to Waterford-Kettering High School for use in the school's mechanics classes.

The donation, under a new corporation program to aid automotive service education, also included carburetors, Delcotron generators, an engine stand and special tools similar to those used in GM dealer service departments.

Launched last January, the new GM donation program is a part of the corporation's total program of support to education which in recent years has amounted to more than $9 million annually.

GM has aided higher education for many years through operation of the General Motors Institute in Flint by financial grants for research, contributions for special fellowships, scholarships and summer training of high school and vocational teachers of auto mechanics.

Grand Rapids Firm Submits Low Map Bid

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Lithographing Co. of Grand Rapids submitted the low bid of $46,400 to print one million copies of the 1965 state highway map, reports the State Highway Department.

Commissioner John Mackie said he will recommend approval of the bid to the state administrative board. The only other bidder was Calvert Lithographing Co. of Detroit, at $49,940.

Baseball Club Executives 'Relaxing' Together

Only Dodgers Fail to Attend New Meeting

Job Problems, Deals, Bonus Rule, Minors Receive Attention

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — What do general managers and other executives from 19 of 20 major league teams talk about behind closed doors in a secluded resort?

"Baseball naturally," said Joe L. Brown, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates who fostered the idea of such a session, the first ever held outside the regular league meetings and talks at World Series time.

★ ★ ★

The meeting opened Monday at the exclusive Rolling Rock Hunt Club outside this western Pennsylvania town where millionaries wine and dine, shoot pheasants and deer and hunt fox for pastime.

The meeting will continue through noon Wednesday.

"We just want to prop up our feet, relax and talk about things peculiar to our jobs," said Brown. "Three days isn't time enough, but it will have to do."

PLENTY OF TALK

If the first session was any barometer, the general managers certainly did a lot of talking — a four-hour session and after a dinner break they burned the oil until about midnight.

What they talked about, no one knows since newsmen were not permitted to sit in on the meetings.

Rolling Rock is used mainly by millionaries and their guests. Photographers are barred altogether except on special occasions. This wasn't one.

★ ★ ★

While the meetings were private and generally reported geared to such topics as bonus players and farm clubs, the question of Milwaukee moving its franchise to Atlanta was injected by a newsman.

John McHale, general manager of the Braves, declined comment on the move. So did his colleague, Chub Feeney of the San Francisco Giants.

LITTLE DOUBT

However, one source said there is no doubt in his mind that the National League owners will vote favorably for the shift.

Before the general managers wind up their meeting they certainly will take the opportunity to feel each other out for eventual trades. And the fresh mountain air may be just the stimulant in which to do it.

The Los Angeles Dodgers are the only club not represented here. It currently is holding its own organizational meeting and no representatives could attend.

★ ★ ★

General managers attending the meeting are Gabe Paul of Cleveland; Jim Campbell of Detroit, John Quinn of Philadelphia, John Holland of the Chicago Cubs, Lee MacPhail of Baltimore, Fred Haney of the Los Angeles Angels, McHale, Feeney, George Selkirk of Washington, Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees, Paul Richards of Houston, Calvin Griffith of Minnesota, Pat Friday of Kansas City, Ed Short of Chicago White Sox, Bob Howsam of St. Louis and Brown.

★ ★ ★

Others at the session are Richard O'Connell, vice president of Boston; Art Routzang of Houston; Bing Devine, assistant general manager of the New York Mets; John Murphy of the Mets; Phil Seghi, assistant general manager of Cincinnati and Joe O'Toole, assistant to the Pirates' general manager.

Two Amateurs Hit Par in Qualifying

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Two golfers, one from San Francisco and the other from Chicago, turned in identical 72 cards Monday to lead the amateur qualifiers for the Almaden Open Tournament starting here Thursday.

★ ★ ★

San Francisco's Jim Westfall and John Harbinson of Chicago shot par for the rugged Almaden Country Club course.

'Nationals' to Play in NABL

Pontiac Gets Team in Pro Cage Loop

By JERE CRAIG

Pontiac, professionally speaking, is on the verge of becoming a two-sport town.

That is, it may be by the end of next month if area basketball and football fans reward the faith that local sportsmen are placing in them.

There has been publicity about the efforts of several Pontiac businessmen to build enthusiasm for a United Football League franchise by holding a professional game Nov. 7th at Wisner Stadium.

Two Midwestern Professional Football League teams will provide the opposition — the Macomb County Arrows and Dayton, Ohio.

The basketball developments, however, have not received much attention, primarily due to their uncertainty. It wasn't known whether enough confidence could be generated from a capital standpoint to begin play this year or next.

Commissioner Bob Todish of the newly organized North American Basketball League met with interested parties last week in Walled Lake and by Friday the Pontiac Nationals were in business.

LOCAL BACKING

Some four area businessmen plus several players provided the money needed to get the club rolling as a charter member of the league.

★ ★ ★

The circuit previously competed as the Midwest Semi-Pro Basketball League with as many as six teams. Three of the top teams in the circuit are in the new organization — Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Chicago.

Pontiac joins Benton Harbor as new entries.

The Nationals and Chicago's Bombers will both compete as "traveling" teams. Chicago has no home games.

Pontiac, in order to determine how well local fans will accept Professional basketball, was granted two home games this season by the league. They will be Saturday nights Nov. 28 and Jan. 30 against the talented Bombers from Chicago.

★ ★ ★

Walled Lake High School varsity basketball coach Bob Bolton will be guiding the court destinies of the Pontiac quintet, also.

His 6-10, experienced frame can also expect to see a lot of playing time during the Nationals' 16-game schedule.

Early indications are the local quintet will not be lacking in talent although venturing into a circuit dotted with former college All-Americans, National Basketball Association prospects and American Basketball League victims.

(The latter loop folded and left numerous high caliber performers available for the Michigan-dominated NABL.)

Bolton already has Pete Tillotson, former Michigan state cager; ex-University of Detroit aces Larry Hughes, Al Cech and Harrison Munson, former Illinois and Harlem Globetrotter Manny Jackson; and John Hannett, all-Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association guard at Albion as definite team candidates.

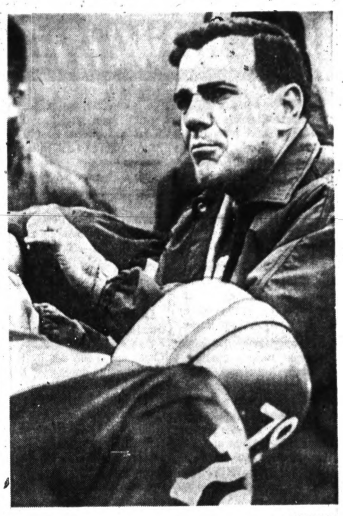

★ ★ ★

Munson and Felix Brooks are expected to add hometown flavor to the team. Both had standout athletic backgrounds at Pontiac Central.

Dave Gunther, former ABL and Iowa star and now coach at Royal Oak Kimball is another top prospect. Contract talks will be held with two former U-D aces, Dick Dzik and Charley North.

The squad has height and is pursuing backcourt performers who can score. But more important, it will need fan support.

Tomorrow: Pontiac's Pro-Football Entry.

Your job—Stay alive...keep well...and prepare the ex-champion for his self-styled day of reckoning Nov. 16 with Cassius Clay, the man who lifted his heavyweight title.

You've watched 10 spar mates fall battered and bleeding by the wayside. There's still three weeks to go.

"I love to see the late afternoon, it means I've made it through another one," confided Lincoln at Liston's plush white cliffs resort training camp Monday. Fresh sea breezes blow across this mayhem manor just a few miles from where the pilgrims—they never got past the amateurs—landed.

"Sonny's ready, mentally and physically," Night Train said. "He's going to knock Clay out real quick—the first time he catches him good in a corner.

★ ★ ★

"In the ring you can run so far and then the guy's going to catch you. Clay was looking for a way out in the fifth round the last time, saying 'My eyes, my eyes.'

"I've been boxing for years. There's never been a man I couldn't tie up. But I can't do anything with Sonny. He's too strong.

TOO STRONG

"Lots of guys just don't want to box with Sonny. Oh, maybe earlier in training survival wasn't uppermost in their minds. But now Liston is getting down to the the point where every punch counts.

"Man, in the last round when they say 'that's it', I let out a big 'W-he-e-w!'

"He used up seven sparring partners before we got here. Now Leroy Greene has a couple of broken ribs. And Alonzo Johnson just took off yesterday. He said 'More of this ain't going to happen to me.'

"There's a rumor $80 is being offered to anyone who can last a couple of rounds with Sonny. That's not enough loot.

"They tell me more sparring partners are on the way.

"I hope so.

"I could sure use some help."

Lee Williams of Boston came to the rescue about an hour later at the workout. He won't be back. As if to prove the ailing left shoulder which forced him to retire in the first fight was sound, Liston raked open a half-inch, eight-stitch cut over Williams' eye with a smashing left hook.

Black Hawks' Mikita in NHL Scoring Lead

MONTREAL (AP) — Fiery Stan Mikita, junior member of the Chicago Black Hawks' two-man demolition team, is off to an explosive getaway in defense of his National Hockey League scoring title.

★ ★ ★

Mikita, who with Bobby Hull, gives Chicago its best 1-2 punch since the Bentley brothers, leads the league with a five-game total of 12 points.

The 24-year-old center hopes to become the first repeater as scoring king since Dickie Moore, then of Montreal, achieved the feat six seasons ago Max Bentley, in 1945-46 and '46-47, was the only Black Hawk ever to win two point titles in succession.

TWO MORE

Mikita finished with 89 points last season — two more than Hull.

Mikita scored two goals and assisted on four others last week for a four-point margin over Toronto defenseman Kent Douglas. The Maple Leafs have four players among the top ten scorers, Chicago and Detroit three each.

★ ★ ★

Hull, the leading goal scorer with five, is looking for his first assist. The blond bomber, who fired three goals against New York Sunday, is in a four-way tie for seventh place.

Montreal's Charlie Hodge paces the goalies with a goals-against average of 1.80 in five games. Arnie Brown, rookie defenseman for the Rangers, has served the most penalty minutes, 20.

Lions Rebuffed Again on QB

In a meeting of National Football League owners in Chicago yesterday and today, the Detroit Lions were rebuffed again in their bid to get another quarterback to replace the injured Earl Morrall.

Hoping to change the rule which forbids adding another player unless four players are dropped as injured players, the Lions have tried to add quarterback Sonny Gibbs, currently with Toledo of the United Football League to the roster.

★ ★ ★

In a straw vote last week of NFL clubs, the Lions were rejected and thus were hoping the rule might be changed in Chicago during the present two-day confab.

Meanwhile, the Detroit injury list was heavy after the 34-0 loss to Baltimore on Sunday.

Quarterback Milt Plum, who reinjured his elbow, was at practice today but the arm was swollen and sore.

Nick Pietrosante was taking further tests for his eye injury. A hemorrhage behind the retina was reported yesterday.

Gail Cogdill's finger was broken, Alex Karras suffered severe groin injuries, J. D. Smith is out with a torn leg muscle and Tommy Watkins pulled a hamstring.

Irish Spirit Rekindled

New Grid Era at Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's golden dome has a new glisten—from the aura of Ara Parseghian.

The Fighting Irish have won their first successive games so quickly and so convincingly under their new football coach that Notre Dame's legions of long-frustrated partisans overnight have forgotten the school's dark decade of gridiron fortunes.

In pasting Stanford 28-6 last Saturday with an awesome defensive display, the revitalized Irish became the first Notre Dame club to win its first five starts since Frank Leahy's last team in 1953.

The 1953 team was Notre Dame's last unbeaten contender with a 9-0-1 record. But it was 13 seasons ago, in 1949, that Leahy's national champions had the last perfect Irish season, a 10-0-0 achievement.

SPIRIT REKINDLED

Now, the legendary Spirit of Notre Dame has been so rekindled by Parseghian that the campus crackles with the expectancy the Irish will once again win over all.

★ ★ ★

Before the Stanford game an imposing statue of Moses, in front of Notre Dame's new library with a finger pointed skyward, suddenly bore a placard reading:

"Moses says we're No. 1."

★ ★ ★

At a prep rally preceding Notre Dame's second game against Purdue, when Parseghian was introduced, the students loosed a roaring din that prevented the former Northwestern coach from getting in a word for 10 full minutes.

Notre Dame's 34-15 triumph over Purdue Oct. 3 was a tip-off that Parseghian might be an instant wonder-worker with leftovers from the 1963 team that won only two games and some big, but untested sophomores.

TITLE CONTENDER

Since that setback, Purdue has become a formidable Big Ten title contender with victories over Wisconsin, Mighigan and Iowa.

The Irish have averaged 30 point per game and fashioned the nation's best devensive record against rushing in storming past Wisconsin, Purdue, Air Force, UCLA and Stanford.

Remaining on Notre Dame's schedule are Navy, Pittsburgh, Michigan State, Iowa and Southern California.

★ ★ ★

Understandably, Parseghian —who saw flaming starts too often fade into November ashes in eight Big Ten seasons at Northwestern— warns that the Irish bubble could burst any time.

He cringes at thought of injury to either of his record-breaking pass combination of quarterback John Huarte and end Jack Snow. Without Huarte, the Irish victory march could be reduced to a straggling limp.

"Our whole offense is built around Huarte," said Parseghian. "Without him, we just don't go."

★ ★ ★

"We have one excellent defensive unit and one real good offensive unit, but have a marked lack of depth behind either. We've got to stay healthy, because each time we win from now on makes us more and more a marked team."

Former Coach Leahy, most successful in the Irish lineage following Rockne, has been lured to the past few Notre Dame games from his Portland, Ore., insurance base.

Anniversary Gift Eyed by Buckeyes

By The Associated Press

Ohio State would like nothing better than to celebrate the 10th anniversary of its last national football championship by winning the title again.

Now past the halfway point in quest of that honor last achieved in 1954, the unbeaten Buckeyes are at the top of The Associated Press major college rankings for the second straight week.

Ohio State, with five victories, received 32 of the 47 first place votes and a total of 439 points as the Top Ten remained fairly static. The only changes from last week's standings were made in the lower four teams.

Second-ranked Notre Dame and third-rated Alabama provided the Buckeyes with their only real opposition for the top spot, but the two undefeated teams had a tighter battle between themselves.

Alabama, 6-0, earned eight first-place votes to Notre Dame's six but trailed the Irish, 5-0, in overall points 367-380.

EIGHT VOTES

Arkansas, 6-0, received the other vote for the top spot and had 311 points for fourth place. Nebraska, 6-0, retained fifth place with 242 points while Texas, 5-1, held sixth with 195.

★ ★ ★

Two teams were dropped from the Top Ten after losing last Saturday. Syracuse, eight last week, was belted by Oregon State 31-3, and Virginia Tech defeated Florida State, 10th last week, 20-11.

The newcomers are Oregon, No. 7, and Georgia Tech, No. 8. The West Coast team blanked Washington 7-0 for its sixth straight victory while the independent Yellow Jackets nipped Tulane 7-6 for its sixth in a row.

Louisiana State, held to a 3-3 tie by Tennessee, fell from seventh to ninth, and Florida, 17-14 losers to Alabama, slid from ninth to 10th.

Postpone Attempt for Speed Record

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—Art Arfons postponed until Tuesday his practice run in preparation for a land speed record attempt.

The track at the western Utah salt flats was too rough Monday for the planned 400 mile per hour warmup run of Arfon's jet-powered Green Monster.

Craig Breedlove's three wheeled Spirit of America set the world record average of 526.26 m.p.h. Oct. 15.

BOWLING

Tony Ledesma's 254—677 helped Huron Cleaners split with Triple XXX and remain atop the Huron Bowl Wednesday Nite "A" League last week.

All-Star Lanes took six points from Andy's Service and deadlocked the latter for the runner-up spot while North Hill Lanes moved into fourth place, also aided by a six-pointer.

A big 248-279—716 effort by Bob Phillips took Six Lakes Service to a sweep in the Pontiac Motor Tuesday Morning loop last week at Huron.

At Airway Lanes that night, the Classic League boasted a 243—656 for Bill Nunez, a 234—655 for Pat Treacy, a 233-237—654 for Jim Long and a 213-228—653 for Howard Dietzel. Clint Nicholl hit 265—640 and Art Schluton 265—616.

The Airway Queens, also, Tuesday had 201—548 by Fran McCallum; and Wednesday the Airway First circuit recorded another fine performance (221-219—609) by Marie Reynolds.

Earl Adams (213) and Larry Thompson (210) had high games Friday night as the Airway Kings and Queens League saw its race knotted with three leaders.

The Lakewood Pinspillers Lanes circuit Sunday had a 258—614 by George Titus which qualifies him for a Century Club patch. Lew Sullivan hit 216 and Helen Fry 214—500.

In last week's Independent Women's League, Sue Bourdo scored a 230 game.

Lakewood Lanes last week listed a 233-212—630 by Gary De Frayne, a 242—616 by Don Chuey and a 207—566 by Betty Schmidt all in the Sunday Night Mixed League.

Wednesday Lakewood's Fashionette loop had a 211 by Nita White, a 203 by Louise Rynerson and 202 by Helen Kelly.

There was a fancy 256—673 by Ray Pace in Sylvan Lanes Sylvan Lake loop. Gary Billington added a 241—654 and Gaylord Addison 242.

Friday's Guys & Dolls bowling at Sylvan was paced by Jay Storey with 255—617 and Ginny Richards with 220—508.

Pontiac Motor's Inter-Office Loop again last week at 300 Bowl had an abundance of 200 games, including a 231 by Joe Odorizzi, a 211-203 pair by Vic McGlashen and a 213 by Tom Lawrence.

Tuesday's Fisher Hill keglers at Montcalm Bowling Centre were led by Ken Buckley's 246 for Clark's Drive-In and Ella Irwin's 221 for Hudson's.

Braves in Legal Dealing

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The legal wheeling and dealing headed for another round today in the Milwaukee Braves' bid to move to Atlanta.

★ ★ ★

The Braves averted a Circuit Court showdown scheduled for today by asking Monday that the Federal Court take jurisdiction in the county's attempt to force the club to remain in Milwaukee and fulfill a contract which runs through 1965.

Although the Circuit Court hearing was canceled, a temporary order restraining the Braves from moving was continued. The order issued by Judge Ronald Dreschler prevented the club from seeking National League approval of a franchise transfer at a meeting in New York last week.

'DIVERSITY'

The Braves said in their Federal Court petition that "diversity of citizenship" was cause for moving the case out of the state courts. The club is a Delaware corporation with principal offices in Chicago.

U. S. District Court Judge Robert E. Tehan set Nov. 5 for a hearing. He said he would determine whether Wisconsin or Illinois is the Braves' principal place of business and whether six Wisconsin directors who oppose the club's move are proper parties in the action.

★ ★ ★

Ray T. McCann, a Milwaukee attorney retained by the Braves, said the club would show that its principal business has been transacted out of Chicago "for the past three or four weeks." The Braves announced recently they had moved their executive offices from Milwaukee County Stadium to Chicago Oct. 5.

The Braves said in the petition that if the club is compelled to play 1965 home games in Milwaukee it will sustain losses "in excess of $10,000."

In another development Monday, Mayor Henry Maier and representatives of several other cities issued a statement urging that a definite blueprint be drawn for major league expansion.

LSU Awaits Rival 'Ole Miss'

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Along about this time every year the Bayous of Louisiana begin to echo with a chant consigning Mississippi's football team to the eternal fires.

"Go to hell, Ole Miss," yell partisan fans of Louisiana State.

Louisiana State Coach Charlie McClendon will be out to whip the only team that has defeated his Tigers in every meeting since he took over as headman at Tigertown.

★ ★ ★

In recent years, the rivalry between LSU and Ole Miss has become one of the top traditional games in the nation.

And although the once proud and mighty Rebels of Coach Johnny Vaught are off to their poorest start in a decade (with a 3-2-1 record), this year's battle at LSU's Tiger Stadium before 68,000 screaming fans Saturday night won't be any less fierce.

NO TREATS

The game falls on Hallow'een night—"but I don't believe there will be much trick or treat this Hallow'een," says McClendon.

It was on Hallow'een night five years ago that LSU's All-America Billy Cannon raced 89 yards with an Ole Miss punt to give the Tigers a 7-3 victor over the Rebels.

Ole Miss soundly whipped LSU in the last two meetings—and McClendon still has nightmares about last year's game, which the Rebs won 37-3.

The 41-year-old McClendon says he didn't sleep any that night and he doesn't intend that such an experience will ever be duplicated if he can help it.

GOING TO MOVIES

"We'll look at that game in the movie room plenty of times this week," McClendon said Monday.

As usual, both McClendon and Vaught are talking about the relative merits of the other coach's team.

"This is the best the Tigers have been in years," says Vaught, trailing off with a list of superlatives that would put any press agent to shame.

★ ★ ★

"It looks like they have better people over-all than any team we've met this year," says McClendon. "Their offensive line from end to end averages 6-foot-3 and 230 pounds and their defensive line is 6-2 and 217 pounds. That's a pretty nice size line."

Two weeks ago in New Orleans, after Ole Miss squeaked past winless Tulane, Rebel guard Stan Hindman told a newsman:

"Don't let our performance fool you...we'll be ready Hallow'een night."

Bay City Drops

New Top Team in 'A'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

East Lansing and Elsie claimed No. 1 spots in two of the three classes in this week's high school football poll conducted by The Associated Press.

East Lansing, after running second to Bay City Central the past three weeks, took over first place in Class A. Bay City was held to a tie by Midland last Friday.

★ ★ ★

Elsie (6-0) emerged as the leader in Class C-D which underwent another shakeup. There were nine changes in Class C-D, and three teams finished in a deadlock for ninth place.

The AP's statewide panel of sports writers and sportscasters retained Kingsford (8-0) as the best team in Class B.

But Albion, after whipping previously Hillsdale, and Cadillac moved into contending positions by taking second and third, respectively.

SECOND PLACE

Traverse City took over second place in Class A, and is just nine points back of East Lansing.

★ ★ ★

Detroit Southeastern, Kalamazoo Central and Muskegon replaced Lincoln Park, Grosse Pointe and Grand Rapids Catholic in the Class A top ten.

★ ★ ★

Cadillac, Buchanan and Manistique round out the top five in Class B which has only one newcomer, St. Louis which placed eighth.

Beldle and Middleville, both 6-0, dueled for first place in C-D, with Elsie getting the nod by eight points.

Watervliet advanced six places in C-D to take over third place. St. Charles improved by four positions to take fourth. Akron-Fairgrove finished in fifth, three places lower than last week. Portland, last week's leader, tumbled to sixth.

★ ★ ★

Fennville and Flint St. Matthew are the new teams in Class C-D.

Ex-Bosox Manager Chooses Coaching

BOSTON (AP) — Deposed Red Sox Manager Johnny Pesky believes some practical experience as a coach will make him a better manager if he should get another chance.

Pesky was named a coach Monday by the new manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Harry (The Hat) Walker.

"A coaching job in the majors is what I wanted," Pesky said. "I doubt if I would have accepted a managerial job in the majors or the minors if I had been offered one.

"I want the experience of working on the lines for a few years. Then," he added, "if I get another chance to manage in the big leagues, I'll take it."

Seniors Ready for Golf Meet

National Tournament Grows Into Big Event

RENO (AP) — A retired professional golfer who says "amateurs have been the backbone of the game, brought them together in the U.S. National Senior Golf Association eight years ago.

Now the association, founded by 61-year-old Joe Mozel of Los Angeles, has more than 700 members and is sponsor of the 1964 National Seniors Open Golf Tournament with a total pro and amateur purse of nearly $45,000.

"There's nothing like it any place," says Mozel, who retired for the second time three years ago. He formerly was pro at Green Hills, Millbrae, Calif.

★ ★ ★

What Mozel describes as a strong field tees off in a preliminary pro-am best ball event today. Seventy-two hole medal play opens Wednesday and runs through Saturday.

The pros will collect about $30,000 in prize money and the amateurs will win prizes and trophies valued at up to $15,000, Mozel said. All players must be at least 50 years old and members of the association. Helping to sponsor the tourney are three major Reno hotels and a large gambling casino.

Harlem Quintet to Appear at Olympia, Nov. 7

The Harlem Globetrotters, winners of more games than any team in the history of sports, will pay their semiannual visit to Detroit's Olympia Nov. 7 for a game against the Washington Generals.

★ ★

The Globetrotters, owned and coached by Abe Saperstein, have compiled an amazing mark of 8,160 wins in the past 38 seasons. The club has lost only 322 times during that same time.

No other team in the history of sports can match the Globetrotters' record for victories.

This year's club includes a host of Negro stars from schools across the country. The tallest Trotter is former University of Portland star Bill (Orbit) Garner, a seven-footer who earned his nickname because of tremendous rebounding skill.

Among the returning veterans are such favorites as Meadowlark Lemon, Connie Hawkins, Tex Harrison and Bobby Joe Mason.

WRONG WAY RUN — Most embarrassed player in the NFL these days is Jim Marshall a four year veteran defensive end of the Minnesota Vikings. In Sunday's game against the San Francisco 49ers, Marshall (top photo) scoops up a fumble. In the second photo he starts his run of 60 yards with the Viking bench and more than 31,000 fans screaming at him. In the bottom photo he crosses the wrong goal line, throws the ball up in disgust and then receives the congratulations of Bruce Bosley (77) of the 49ers for giving San Francisco a two-point safety.

Gridiron Foe Dusted Off

Dusters opened the best-of-three Waterford men's touch football playoffs yesterday with a 14-9 victory over Castoffs.

Tom Morris fired touchdown passes to Paul Emerson and Ken Morrow for the winners. Gary Moran caught a TD toss from his brother, Paul, for the Castoffs who also posted a safety.

Wildcats Next 'M' Foe; MSU Savoring Win

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's offensive squad worked on medium and long-range passing plays Monday in preparation for Saturday's football game with Northwestern.

★ ★ ★

In a light workout, the defensive unit practiced measures to ward off the aerial-dominated Northwestern offense.

Coach Bump Elliott reported that defensive guard Bob Mielke suffered an ankle injury in last Saturday's 19-12 victory over Minnesota. Mielke did not practice Monday but is expected to return later this week.

BLESSINGS COUNTED

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State was still counting its blessings today after the 24-6 victory over Northwestern, a victory that is expected to give the Spartans a big lift in their upcoming meeting with Wisconsin.

Quarterback Steve Juday "has made great progress" with his passing, said coach Duffy Daugherty. He particularly liked the way Juday was getting away his throws on a rollout pattern.

★ ★ ★

The early lead allowed coaches to rest some key players and experiment with sophomores who hadn't seen any game action earlier in the season.

LA's Elgin Baylor Nurses Stiff Knees

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Leg problems that plagued Los Angeles Lakers' basketball player Elgin Baylor have flared up again, says team physician Dr. Robert Kerlan, but the problems are not expected to be serious.

Dr. Kerlan said Baylor complained of stiffness in his knees following Friday's game in San Francisco. He was given shots Monday that were expected to have him ready to play against the Baltimore Bullets Wednesday night.

2nd String Oakland QB Pass Leader

Cotton Davidson Tops AFL After Five TD's in Sunday Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton Davidson, Oakland's second string quarterback until a couple of weeks ago, is the American Football League's No. 1 passer today.

★ ★ ★

Latest AFL statistics show Davidson, a nine-year pro veteran, on top in the league's passing efficiency ratings after a five-touchdown, 419-yard binge in last Sunday's 40-7 victory over Denver — the Raiders' first of the season.

The 30-year-old signal-caller, who considered retiring after losing his starting job to Tom Flores last year, completed 25 of 34 tosses and set a club record for passing yardage. His career-high performance shot him past Kansas City's Len Dawson in league passing figures.

★ ★ ★

Houston flanker Chuck Henningan grabbed the pass-catching lead with eight receptions for 145 yards and two TDs in the Oiler's 20-17 loss to the Chargers. Henningan has caught 46 passes in seven games. Lionel Taylor of Denver, last week's leader, dropped to third place, behind Oakland's Art Powell.

NCAA Aims Heavy Artillery in Another Battle With AAU

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association began pulling out its heavy artillery today for what may be the final battle of its bitter, drawn - out feud with the Amateur Athletic Union for control of amateur sports in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Barely three days after the close of the Olympic games, the NCAA rekindled the flames of the damaging conflict by issuing a memorandum that referred to the AAU as "little more than an administrative anachronism" that exploits and coerces athletes.

The NCAA council, the policy - making, supreme body of the organization, will hold its annual convention here Nov. 1-4.

It is expected that it will take some direct action concerning the AAU during that meeting.

★ ★ ★

The first solid blow, however, may be struck today since Jay-Ehret Mahoney, president of the AAU, has scheduled a press conference in San Francisco at 2:30 p.m. EST.

CONTROVERSY

The AAU and NCAA have been embroiled in controversy for the last few years over which should assume control of amateur athletics.

★ ★ ★

The late President Kennedy, fearing that the dispute would seriously damage the U.S. Olympic team, called on the late General MacArthur to arbitrate the matter early last year.

A temporary settlement was effected Jan. 19, 1963, with both parties agreeing to a truce until the Olympics were over.

MacArthur did make a strong recommendation, however, that an athletic congress be called after the games to devise a lasting peace.

The AAU long has been the dominant power in the United States and it is solidly backed by the International Amateur Athletic Federation. The recognition of the IAAF means that the AAU is the only group in the U.S. that can authorize international competition for American athletes.

★ ★ ★

The NCAA, through such federations as the United States Track and Field Federation, which was formed in March of 1962, is attempting to wrest power from the AAU on the strength of its control of college athletics.

Wilt Ready for Action

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, whose prolonged "stomach ache" has caused the San Francisco Warriors severe pain, is about ready to resume his role as pro basketball's most prolific scorer.

★ ★ ★

The 7-foot-1 Chamberlain, who has led National Basketball Association scorers for the past five seasons, worked out with the Warriors Monday for the first time since Sept. 21.

He was hospitalized for four weeks with what doctors finally diagnosed as an inflamed pancreas.

Team officials said today the 290-pound Chamberlain is on a controlled diet. He is avoiding fried food and carbonated beverages, they said, as well as cutting down on his daily intake of all foods.

ON SIDELINES

Although the Warriors meet Baltimore tonight in Oakland, Calif., Chamberlain still won't be in the line-up. The towering center currently is on the injured reserve list, prohibiting him from appearances in the first five games.

But the man who holds nearly every NBA scoring record will be back in action Saturday when Baltimore visits San Francisco — and it won't be a bit too soon for the Warriors.

During the big man's absence, the defending Western Division champs lost their first four games.

Philly 76ers Sign Jackson

U. S. Olympic Cage Ace in NBA Ranks

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I think we've got the greatest. You're gonna be surprised. He's got (Boston Celtics' Bill) Russell's timing and he's got a heck of a shot and he's tough."

★ ★ ★

That's the opinion of Ike Richman, owner of the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association. Richman may be patting himself on the back a bit, after signing Lucious Jackson, 6-foot-9 Pan American University and U.S. Olympic team star, to a 76ers contract Monday. But he's apparently put his money where his mouth is.

Contract terms with Jackson, the 76ers' No. 1 draft choice, were not announced, but Richman hinted it cost him the price of maybe a thousand kimonos.

"I think we're going to go all the way with him," said Richman, with unqualified praise for the 240-pounder from San Marcos, Tex.

U. S. Olympic Official Hospitalized in Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Clarence E. (Ding) Dussault of Needham, Mass., Tufts University track coach and Boston's Knights of Columbus track meet director, has suffered a heart attack at the Olympic Village.

Dussault was declared out of danger at the hospital where he was taken after being stricken Monday.

Void in Public Conversation

Americans Treat Politics as Unmentionable Topic

(EDITOR'S NOTE—UPI Reporter Loury Bowman has just completed a 26-day, 8,600-mile bus tour to sample America's mood in this election year. He found they are thinking, and thinking deeply, about some provocative issues. His dispatch follows.)

By LOWRY BOWMAN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans generally simply do not discuss politics in public.

They will give an opinion — often cynical—when asked. But it would be possible for a foreigner to visit each state of the union and not be aware that a presidential election is coming up if he did not read the newspapers or listen to television.

This is the main conclusion reached by this reporter after a 28-state, 8,600-mile tour by bus, train and plane that lasted almost four weeks.

It was in no sense a poll to determine whether President Lyndon Johnson or Sen. Barry M. Goldwater is the voters' choice in November. The aim was to find out what the American voter is thinking about, bothered about and talking about in election year 1964.

★ ★ ★

I talked to scores of people on buses, in bars, restaurants, coffee shops and barber shops, and in a plane over the Gulf of Mexico. All were chance encounters except for deliberate calls on local political leaders.

HAD OPINION

Each had an opinion on Goldwater and Johnson. Each was willing to defend his opinion if pressed. But in 26 days of eavesdropping on America's public conversations, only once did I hear the name of either candidate come up spontaneously in the course of conversation.

That one time was in a drugstore in Concord, N.H., where a young man sat reading the Concord Monitor over an afternoon cup of coffee.

He tossed the paper down and said to no one in particular: "Sometimes I think this Goldwater is right—that we ought to bomb them and be done with it." Then he walked out.

★ ★ ★

Luke Burns, cutting hair in the Marshall Barber Shop at Marshall, Tex., gave what may be the best explanation of this curious void in America's public conversation.

STANDING RULE

He said it was a standing rule in his shop that customers were free to give their views on politics and religion, but the barbers would only listen.

"A political fanatic is just like a sports fanatic," Burns explained. "If his team loses, he figures the referee is crooked. Bad for business."

But despite their public silence, the voters indeed are concerned about many of the issues raised by Johnson and Goldwater. And some limited generalizations can be drawn:

● The old political lines are shifting and changing. Republican New England now cannot be considered safe for the GOP. The Democratic south displays more Goldwater signs than any other area of the nation. The Negro vote seems almost solid for Johnson.

● Sen. Goldwater has become identified — among the nation's bus riders, at least—as a man who would involve the United States in a nuclear war.

TIME AFTER TIME

This was reported time after time even by those who professed no love for President Johnson. The one phrase heard over and over again was "The man scares me."

● There is a widespread sentiment among both Democrats and Republicans that the federal government employs too many people at salaries that are too high.

Another oft-recurring phrase was "tax money going down the Washington rat-hole."

George McConnell, Abingdon, Va., farmer, said, "It takes two men working full-time to support one man on the government payroll these days."

James D. Blackwell, prosperous wholesale furniture dealer in Kansas City, Mo., said the nation could begin an unprecedented economic boom "if the government would let the businessman keep some of his money and use it to provide the jobs instead of hiring government workers to talk about unemployment."

● Americans of all classes, particularly in the East, are worried and confused by juvenile crime and street violence.

The entire community of Independence, Mo., is fighting the problem with a 10 p.m. curfew for teen-agers and a program of supervised recreation.

A Kansas teen-ager, on his way to join the Marine Corps, was overheard telling two companions of his exploits with a fast car. He made this revealing statement: "There's one old cop down there that when he catches me he always lets me go. Don't know why. He must be a crooked cop."

★ ★ ★

● Street violence is not necessarily connected with the civil rights struggle.

Tom Farris of Bristol, Va., said, "You don't hardly ever hear of a Negro kid getting in trouble with the law here."

MINISTER RAPPED

In Cleveland, Ohio, the Rev. John Bruere has been criticized by militant civil rights groups and many of his fellow Presbyterian ministers for preaching against sit-ins and racial demonstrations.

Bruere, whose Calvary Presbyterian Church is located in a neighborhood that is 95 per cent Negro, recruits Negro youngsters to play games in his church, clean up the neighborhood with brooms and mops and fight juvenile crime by the weight of opinion.

● There is a vague feeling that many old and long-accepted American values are being lost in the modern crush.

★ ★ ★

Vic Carreira, who runs a service station on the town wharf at Plymouth, Mass., said it best: "We're living too fast. I like to make a dollar as well as the next man. But look at it this way—what man is really worth $400 . . . $500 a week? We keep on the way we're going, our money won't be worth anything."

ONLY SCENERY

Tom Fitz-Simons, wood carver, Manchester, Vt., said it another way: "Everybody's after a dollar. Why it's even getting that way in Vermont. And people are making a mess of this country, too. The only scenery left is automobile graveyards."

Many of those questioned—perhaps half—displayed a resentment of the nation's press and television and a complete contempt for political polls.

Burns, the Marshall, Tex., barber, summed up the feeling about the polls.

★ ★ ★

"I've never seen a pollster, never knew anybody who'd seen one and don't expect I'll ever see one or talk to one," he said. "Even if I did, I'm not sure I'd tell him the truth. I think that if they do question any people they don't get the answers that mean anything."

LOCAL EVENTS

Much resentment against the press apparently stemmed from publication in the smaller newspapers of local court cases, traffic fines and similar events.

One woman in California, summoned to court because she stopped payment on a check for kitchenware she did not want, said this:

★ ★ ★

"I was taken in by a high-pressure, door-to-door salesman. I don't mind going to court about it, but now why does my home town newspaper have to pick this up and make me look ridiculous? Even if I win the case, all my friends will tease me about having a criminal record."

★ ★ ★

John Berais, who works in the sales department of a printing shop at Hannibal, Mo., was strongly critical of Sen. Goldwater for "dodging the press." But he was equally critical of reporters.

SAW HUMPHREY

"I saw a picture on television of Sen. (Hubert) Humphrey the other day with about a dozen reporters sticking microphones in his face, flashing cameras at him and all asking questions at once.

"The people have to know what the candidates are saying, but why can't the reporters back off and be decent about it? Nobody could think with all that kind of thing going on."

June Stinson, 18-year-old hostess on an Oregon-to-California bus, said she was convinced that newspapers stretched the truth in efforts to increase circulation.

★ ★ ★

"I would like just one time to see a newspaper that waits to get all the facts before jumping into print," she said.

Neither Side Has Monopoly

Terror Plays Strong Role in Viet War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Terror and counter-terror, persistent themes of Vietnamese political and military history for many centuries, continue to play a dominant role in the increasingly bloody war raging now.

Terror is used for interrogation, as propaganda, as punishment and as revenge. Neither the Viet Cong nor Saigon government forces have any monopoly on its use.

★ ★ ★

Terror strikes in many forms. A month ago, it came to a battalion of Vietnamese Rangers caught in an ambush near the Mekong River delta town of Cau Ke.

A Viet Cong unit concealed in a Buddhist pagoda opened fire on the government unit, killing 10 Rangers, including an American sergeant advising them.

A few days ago the same Ranger unit was back for an operation at the same place, spoiling for revenge.

The pagoda was deserted but three likely looking suspects, all of them Vietnamese of Cambodian extraction, happened to be in the area. The Rangers picked them up.

★ ★ ★

Their arms tied behind their backs, the three men were given the "water treatment". A cloth is placed over the face of the prisoner and water is poured over the cloth, tending to suffocate the man.

Just before he loses consciousness, he is released. This is repeated until he talks.

LOWERED HEAD FIRST

As an innovation on this operation, one of the prisoners was lowered head first into a water-pot with his hands bound.

In the mouth of one of the prisoners, Rangers found a little bag containing several human teeth carved with Buddhist symbols. Under questioning, the man said the teeth had belonged to his grandmother, and were supposed to protect him from death.

Another prisoner was rounded up and eight old villagers sitting on a log watched quietly while the four young men were tortured. Later, the prisoners were taken to the operation command post by helicopter for further questioning. They were lucky.

Chances of surviving field interrogation are of ten extremely poor. Death can come for prisoners under the tracks of armored vehicles, by decapitation or by bleeding to death after both hands have been chopped off, or by a bullet through the head.

It is all part of the war in South Viet Nam.

Pontiac Man Is Quizzed in Armed Robbery

A Pontiac man is being held at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of armed robbery following the midafternoon holdup of a Detroit delivery man.

Pontiac Police arrested John E. Taylor, 24, of 253 Crystal Lake, shortly after the robbery took place in front of 317 Whittemore.

★ ★ ★

The victim, John Stabnick, 53, told officers he was opening the back door of his meat truck when a subject carrying a revolver came up behind him and demanded money.

Stabnick said he gave the man $690 and then was struck on the head with the revolver.

Taylor was arrested near the scene and fit the description of the bandit, police said.

30 Cong Said Killed in Fighting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — At least 30 Communist Viet Cong guerrillas today were reported killed and another 40 captured in three days of fighting in the Communist-infiltrated central coast of South Viet Nam.

U.S. military sources said the fighting broke out Saturday in Quang Ngai Province, about 325 miles northeast of Saigon. The area has been the scene of rising Communist activity following the political and religious upheavals that swept the province this summer.

The report was made as South Viet Nam, at war for 20 years, began today cracking down on draft dodgers.

All men between the ages of 20 and 25 were warned they had until Nov. 3 to register for military service. Police set up check-points and conducted house-to-house searches to issue the warnings.

DRAFT DRIVE

The drive for draftees came as relations worsened between South Viet Nam and neighboring Cambodia.

Cambodia conceded today one of its airplanes had shot rockets at a South Vietnamese border post that had fired at the plane with machine guns.

The official government news agency said Cambodia would return "blow for blow" any further "aggressions" from South Viet Nam or the United States.

The warning followed the announcement by a U.S. military spokesman here that an investigation was started into the possibility that Cambodian gunfire downed a U.S. Air Force transport plane on Saturday. Eight U.S. servicemen were killed in the crash on the South Viet Nam-Cambodia border.

Ashe said the thieves took $15, a ring and a cigarette lighter.

"Barry Goldwater shares these views and is dedicated to keeping the peace and providing the moral leadership we need.

"I hope you will join with me in voting for him for president November 3rd."

One of the most difficult points of bidding for the player who wants to move into the expert class is the "reverse" bid.

Al Morehead points out that a "reverse" bid is the naming of a new suit which makes it impossible for partner to go back to your first suit at the level. Thus in the partnership sequence — one club, one heart, two diamonds — the opening bidder has reversed since he has made it impossible for the hand to play at two clubs.

JACOBY

The bidding of today's hand illustrates a typical misunderstanding of just what a reverse bid is and isn't. North misunderstood, but his unfortunate partner had to share the loss with him.

There was nothing wrong with South's diamond opening or with North's bid of two hearts after West overcalled two clubs, but the two-heart bid put pressure on South.

He had to find some rebid and he made the cheapest possible call of two spades. This sent North into orbit. He bid four no-trump to ask for aces and after South showed one ace, North contracted for the spade slam.

Four South had to lose one club and one heart and when spades failed to break he was down two.

North said, "Partner! How could you reverse with a minimum hand?"

Of course, South had not reversed. North's two-heart bid had shut out two diamonds. South's two-spade bid was merely the lowest bid he could make and merely showed four spades in addition to his diamond suit.

If the annual return reflects an overpayment of the tax, the declaration may contain a petition for refund or credit for refund and the overpayment shall be credited against any estimated tax due by thereunder or, at the election of the taxpayer, shall be refunded out of any appropriation available for that purpose.

Sec. 44. Where total income, total deductions, net profits, or other figures are derived from the unincorporated business income tax return, any item of income not subject to the city income tax or nonallowable deductions shall be eliminated in determining the income subject to the city tax. The fact that a taxpayer is not required to file a federal income tax return does not relieve him from filing a city tax return.

Sec. 45. For the purpose of determining net profit allocable to the city under this ordinance, a corporation which is subject to file a consolidated return in accordance with federal income tax laws, including subsidiaries of which more than 50% owned by the taxpayer, if such return will more properly reflect the net profits allocable to the taxpayer in the city. The city may require a consolidated return in order to properly determine net profits of the taxpayer allocable to the city.

Sec. 46. An amended return shall be filed, on a form obtainable from the city, when necessary to fully set forth the income and pay an additional tax due, or to claim a refund or credit for overpayment subject to the requirements or limitations provided in this ordinance, within 3 years from final determination of a federal tax liability. The taxpayer shall file an amended return following the filing of the computation of a taxpayer's city income tax liability. The taxpayer shall file an amended city income tax return showing income subject to the tax based upon the federal determination of federal tax liability, and pay any additional tax due, or may claim for refund of an overpayment. A taxpayer may change his method of accounting or apportionment for city income tax purposes in filing the original return for any year subsequent thereto.

Sec. 51. (1) An employer doing business or maintaining an establishment within the city shall withhold such amount of the tax imposed by this ordinance on and after the effective date of the ordinance, as is required to be withheld from the compensation subject to the tax after giving effect to exemptions, as follows:

(a) Residents.

(i) At a rate equal to 1% of all compensation paid to the employee who is a resident of the city, but is not subject to withholding in any other city ordinance.

(ii) At a rate equal to 1/2 of 1% of all compensation paid to the employee who is a resident of the city designated by the employee as his predominant place of employment, if a withholding ordinance is in effect in that city, applied to the percentage of the employee's compensation earned in that city, as the employee's estimated percentage of work to be done or services to be performed in the city for such employer, but no withholding shall be required if the estimated percentage is less than 25%.

(2) An employer withholding the tax is deemed to hold such tax as a trustee for the city.

(3) An employer who is required to withhold and who fails or refuses to deduct and withhold the tax from the payment of the amount required to be withheld by the employer, is personally liable for the amount of the tax withheld and unpaid to the city by the employee and the amount withheld shall be held in trust for the city. The employer shall not be relieved of liability for the tax withheld by the payment of the tax by the employee or by the subsequent payment thereof to the city by the employer.

Sec. 59. Correction of an over or an under-withholding in a return filed by an employer's error shall be made as follows:

(a) If the error is discovered in the same quarter in which it was made, the employer shall make the necessary adjustment on the return for the quarter.

(b) If the error is discovered in a subsequent quarter of the same calendar year, the employer shall make the necessary adjustment on a subsequent pay day in the same calendar year, but not later than the last pay day of the month following the close of such quarterly return.

(c) If the error is discovered in the following calendar year, or if the employer-employee relationship is terminated, the procedure shall be as follows: (i) The employer or former employer shall apply to the city for a refund in case of an over-withholding. Upon proper verification by the city, it shall refund the amount of the over withholding.

(ii) If a deficiency exists, the employer shall notify the city and the employee or former employee, who shall pay the city the additional tax due on his annual return.

Sec. 60. An employer shall file a return, furnished by or obtainable on request from the city, and pay to the city the total amount of the tax withheld on or before the last day of the month following the close of each calendar quarter.

Sec. 61. (1) An employer shall file a reconciliation of his quarterly returns on or before the last day of February following each calendar year in which he has withheld from an employee's compensation, a return showing the total tax withheld from the employee's compensation, the tax due or paid by the employer, and such other information as may be required.

(2) In addition to the reconciliation the employer shall file an information return for each employee from which taxes on income tax has been withheld and each employee to whom compensation subject to this ordinance, setting forth his name, address and social security number, the total amount of compensation paid by him during the year, and the amount of city income tax withheld from him. The information return shall be on a copy of federal form W-2 form or on a form furnished or approved by the city. A copy of the information return shall be furnished to the employee.

(3) If an employer goes out of business or otherwise ceases to be subject to withholding reconciliation forms and the information returns required by this section, shall file the final withholding return and payment thereof.

Sec. 62. (1) A person, who anticipates that the compensation paid to him in the same tax will not be withheld, shall file a declaration of estimated tax on a form furnished by the administrator or obtained from the city. A calendar year taxpayer shall file a declaration on or before the April 30. A taxpayer on a fiscal year basis shall file a declaration within 4 months after the beginning of each fiscal year or other accounting period.

(2) If a taxpayer has not previously been required to file a declaration shall be filed on or before the first date for filing a return if the taxpayer's tax liability occurs after he becomes subject to the requirement to file a declaration. A taxpayer shall file a declaration for the same calendar year, fiscal year or other accounting period that he is required by the federal internal revenue service to file a declaration of estimated tax, or, if required by an individual or unincorporated entity is not required to file a estimated tax, less any credits applicable thereto, does not exceed $200.00. A taxpayer by a corporation is not required if the total estimated tax, less any credits applicable thereto, does not exceed $250.00. A declaration by or on behalf of an estate or trust is not required.

Sec. 63. (1) A taxpayer's annual return or declaration of estimated tax may fix as the basis for computing his declaration of estimated tax for the current year, either the tax shown in the return for or estimating his federal income tax adjusted for the current year any income not otherwise subject to withholding or taxable or permissible under this ordinance.

(2) The estimated tax may be paid in 4 equal installments on or before the last day of April, the 15th month and the 18th month following the beginning of the taxable year.

(3) An amended declaration may be filed when making a quarterly payment and the unpaid balance of the amount due on shall be paid in equal installments with the remaining payments.

Sec. 64. (1) The filing of a declaration of estimated tax does not excuse from filing a return or relieve him from any penalty or interest for failure to file a return even though there is no change in the declared tax liability. An extension of time for filing a return does not extend the time for filing a declaration of estimated tax or the time for payment of the tax shown in the declaration.

(2) An amended declaration may be filed on or before the last day of the 15th month following the close of the taxable year.

(3) The taxpayer shall file a final return showing income subject to the tax based upon the federal income tax liability, and pay any additional tax due, or may claim a refund of an overpayment. A taxpayer may change his method of accounting or apportionment for city income tax purposes in filing the original return for any year subsequent thereto.

TV Is Warned on Violence

Senate Group Says Children Fed Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee today warned the television industry to cut the amount of violence and crime on its programs or face possible Congressional intervention.

In an interim report, the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency prodded the industry to "substantially reduce the violence and crime which today is fed the nation's children as an all-too-steady diet."

"Effective self-policing is the desirable approach to this problem which poses so clear a threat to both our present and our future," the report said. "But the patience of Congress, though considerable, is not endless."

The subcommittee said it had under consideration several legislative proposals designed to spur the networks into better programming.

The report said no legislation would be introduced at this time, but the investigation was continuing.

RELATED BEHAVIOR

The Senate group found "that a relationship has been conclusively established between televised crime and violence and antisocial attitudes and behavior among juvenile viewers."

The investigation began in 1954. At that time and again after the 1961-62 season, the industry asked for a chance at self - regulation through its "code of good practice." But the subcommittee reported it still did not find any reduction of violence and crime.

Chairman Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said the National Association of Broadcasters' (NAB) code "is violated with impunity."

★ ★ ★

"There has been no substantial over-all change in the degree of violation between 1961 and 1964," he said.

LITTLE IMPACT

"The NAB code is drawn up so that it appears to be the proverbial 'mailed fist'. But its impact has been that of the velvet glove.

"The industry's claim that this code is an effective vehicle cannot be substantiated in light of the evidence of chronic violation.

★ ★ ★

"Network programming policies which deliberately call for insertion of violence, crime and brutality are hardly conducive to building respect for any central authority within the industry."

'Lady's' World Premiere an Earth-Shaking Event

NEW YORK—I was a part of a "brilliant audience" at the glamorous world premiere of "My Fair Lady."

While a prisoner in a cab going at least 160 inches an hour down Broadway to the Criterion, I heard cheers . . . saw Rex Harrison and Sybil Burton stumbling through the sidewalk crowds, unable to make progress by limousine . . . saw broken-ankled bearded Mel Ferrer assisting Audrey Hepburn out of Henry Ford's $17,000 special Lincoln . . . they ran along the curb to get there on time. Brilliant audience . . . brilliant broken-field running, you mean!

WILSON

"Darling, you must be so proud of you!" Joan Crawford exclaimed at Audrey Hepburn at the intermission, as Audrey worked her way up the aisle. "You're the most beautiful person in the world."

Now that was a brilliant speech . . . equally brilliant was the act of a theater official who went and got Rex Harrison a scotch at the intermission . . . especially brilliant since I made him go and fetch me one, or I would squeal.

I had a brilliant 8-block walk to the Hotel Americana's huge party afterward . . . where "Fair Lady" was described as the greatest thing since "Gone With the Wind" . . . where Adlai Stevenson sat beside Irene Selznick, while David O. Selznick was with his wife Jennifer Jones . . . and where Arthur Godfrey said to the mob; "Is it not the most poignantly beautiful thing you've ever seen?"

★ ★ ★

Everybody applauded that remark about it being poignant except Jack L. Warner who produced the probable masterpiece. He's calling it poignant?" said Warner. "Arthur and I are both getting to the point where we got to work nothing but stag audiences from now on!"

Even Jack's remark about his picture probably won't prevent Audrey and Harrison from winning numerous Oscars because they're . . . uh . . . brilliant.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: When a woman says she's going to economize it means she's found a new place to spend money.—Harold Coffin.

LANDING EXERCISE—Marines of the U.S. 2nd Division hit the beach from an amphibious tractor during an invasion exercise yesterday near Huelva, Spain. U.S. and Spanish troops collaborated in the maneuver which involved 120 ships and 50,000 men. Nine U.S. Marines were killed during the maneuvers when two H34 helicopters collided.

Nearly Half of Dependents Gone From Guantanamo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly half the American women and children living at Guantanamo when Cuba shut off the naval base's water supply last winter have returned to the United States, the Navy reported today.

The U.S. family population of Guantanamo totaled 1,747 as of Oct. 1. Last February it stood at 2,994. All dependents are expected to be gone by February 1966.

* * *

Gradual removal of dependents of American naval and civilian personnel was ordered Feb. 11 as one of a number of measures designed to make the base self-sufficient.

* * *

Several days earlier Fidel Castro shut off Guantanamo's fresh water source in retaliation for U.S. seizure of some Cuban fishermen who had strayed into American waters. Less than a month later, Castro offered to turn the water back on but the United States spurned that offer.

CONVERSION UNITS

To make the base independent of outside water sources, the government ordered construction of three plants for converting salt water to fresh, with a daily output of 2.2 million gallons.

Two of the three plants have been finished and are producing 1.5 million gallons a day, the Navy said. The third plant is on schedule and due to be in business in mid-December.

* * *

As a result, Navy tankers which had been shuttling back and forth between Florida and the Guantanamo base for seven months have been relieved. In all, they hauled more than 293 gallons of fresh water to the base.

Families leave the base as their menfolk finish two-year tour periods. New men are sent to Guantanamo on one-year tours, without their wives and children.

RETURN TO U.S.

The military population of the base is 4,125 men, plus 154 U.S. civilian workers.

To keep morale from slipping, the Navy said it is expected that married men sent to the base without their families "will be able to return to the States once during their tour for leave."

* * *

"Extensive plans are in the mill for Christmas leave," the Navy said. "Single men will also be given leave in the States or in Jamaica."

The number of Cuban workers coming onto the base each day and returning home to Castro territory at night has been reduced by about two-thirds from the 1,800 total at the time of the water cutoff.

* * *

The Navy said between 500 and 600 Cuban workers come through the gate on an average workday. Another 600 or so live on the base and never cross back into Cuba.

State Income, Outgo

LANSING (AP)—State treasury income during the past week was $53.1 million and outgo was $90.9 million. The treasury balance at the end of the week was $173.9 million.

Meeting Called by Committee

The Supervisors Inter-County Committee will meet at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

* * *

Following the meetings of standing committees scheduled for the forenoon, the committee will join the 39th annual meeting of the Southeast Michigan Tourist Association for a luncheon.

The guest luncheon speaker, sponsored by the tourist association, will be Walker L. Cisler, chairman of the board of the Detroit Edison Co.

The afternoon schedule includes committee reports and a meeting of the legislative committee with the welfare directors of six counties and the City of Detroit.

* * *

The intercounty committee represents Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne counties. Vice chairman is Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE 63rd DISTRICT

Experienced is one way to describe Jim Carey. He's served faithfully on the Troy City Commission, Oakland Country Board of Supervisors and the Planning Commission for each of these groups. Jim's record exemplifies the Republican platform of limiting "big" government, while at the same time keeping Michigan on the move. His experience is needed to give the 63rd District some really solid representation!

Barry, LBJ Fire Personal Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater offered "brinkmanship with nuclear power." So said President Johnson. Johnson was the "most power hungry man in American politics." So said Goldwater. With these personal attacks, the political air bristled once more today.

President Johnson, who assailed Barry Goldwater by name in a southern trip yesterday, aims his campaign at the northeast today. He speaks tonight in Boston, Pittsburgh, and Evansville, Ind., before flying to Albuquerque, N. M., for an overnight stay.

In some stops yesterday, Johnson ran into some heckling and some Goldwater chanting, interrupted by several chants of "we want Barry" in Augusta, Ga., Johnson left his prepared text to lecture the demonstrators:

"I was always taught as a little boy when people don't know any better, and when they make mistakes, and when they were rude, and when they didn't show good manners, to turn your other cheek and say, 'Dear Lord, please forgive them for they know not what they do.' "

Johnson, who smiled through much of the opposition chanting, insisted he didn't feel hurt or angry.

"We just feel sorry," he said. "And I think that on Nov. 3 they are going to feel sorry, too."

Earlier, in Macon, Ga., Johnson faced similar but less noisy pro-Goldwater demonstrations that included the waving of outspoken anti-Johnson placards.

There he said: "Some people like to write signs about individuals. And I guess I would do that, too, if I didn't have any issues to talk about. But we do have issues."

The President, who only recently has begun to take direct pokes at Goldwater, did so several times yesterday.

★ ★ ★

At Macon, he mentioned half a dozen votes taken when he was Senate Democratic leader on proposals to increase defense spending.

After each citation, he shouted: "Goldwater voted no and I voted aye."

Johnson suggested voters judge Goldwater by his deeds rather than his words.

From the President's standpoint, the high point of the day's journey came at Columbia, S.C., where a police-estimated crowd of 60,000 to 70,000 assembled outside the Capitol building of that politically uncertain state to cheer him.

Goldwater, in a speech prepared for delivery in Bristol, Tenn., today, accused Johnson of playing upon questions of race, religion and hardship in America. The Republican nominee said Johnson wants to plunge the nation to socialistic ruin.

". . . he won't be satisfied with just an election — he wants to be crowned," Goldwater said. ". . . He wants total trust, total love, total power over your lives."

★ ★ ★

His accusation today seemed to echo his words of yesterday when he told a crowd of more than 18,000 in New York's Madison Square Garden that Johnson engaged in "political daddyism . . . as old as demagogues and despotism."

It was more of the same today in traditionally Republican eastern Tennessee.

"Somebody," Goldwater said, "and it's got to be you, must tell this man who uses race, who uses religion, who uses hardships, who uses everything and everybody to further his political ambitions . . . somebody must tell him that American votes cannot be bought, cannot be coerced and will not be hijacked."

Romney's Back on Stump; First Miller State Visit Due

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Romney returned to reelection campaigning today after an absence of 48 hours from the field of action.

The Republican chief executive, home again in Michigan following a day in Massachusetts, set out on his southern Michigan "blitz" drive for votes.

On the national level, the GOP vice presidential candidate, William E. Miller, was scheduled to make his first Michigan campaign appearance tonight with a speech before the Detroit Economic Club.

Including Sunday, during which Romney eschewed politics in accordance with his policy, the governor had been away from the campaign a full two days.

In Boston, Romney said at a news conference that a defeat of GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater could be beneficial to the Republican party.

"A reverse is not always a bad thing in terms of long term result," he said. "Victory doesn't always produce the best result."

Romney has withheld his personal endorsement of Goldwater.

Romney's Democratic rival, U.S. Rep. Neil Staebler, continued his metropolitan Detroit area quest for ballots following a handshaking Ford factory visit in Dearborn yesterday.

Staebler, observing "I can feel the first touches of abrasion," shook an estimated 5,000 hands while accepting individual promises of support.

★ ★ ★

He also spoke to a Wayne State University faculty group in Detroit and to a Negro group of older people.

EDUCATION FUNDS

"We should bring higher education appropriations to at least the level recommended by the governor's own blue ribbon commission," he told the faculty group.

Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart, seeking reelection over the challenge of Republican Elly Peterson of Charlotte, praised the 1962 Federal Drug Act before a drug manufacturers group in Detroit.

GM Resuming Production of New Models

Local-Plant Strikes Still Limiting Output; 28 Units Remain Out

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. edged forward today in resuming production of its 1965 model automobiles after its month-long strike.

Local-plant strikes limited the production rate to a trickle compared to GM's vast potential, greatest of the auto industry.

GM factories in Flint, a major cog in the nationwide complex, apparently led the way. Buick in Flint anticipated full production today.

Flint plants, where Chevrolet cars also are made, recalled an estimated 35,000 employes made idle in the United Auto Workers' strike that began Sept. 25.

GMC Truck & Coach Div. resumed full production this morning with its work force of approximately 8,000 hourly rated employes back on the job, a company spokesman said.

TIME UNKNOWN

GM officials declined to speculate when all 360,000 workers would be back on the job. More than 300,000 were idled in the strike.

At the last count, 28 UAW bargaining units had yet to settle their local issues. These included 15 of 23 assembly plants.

One was the important Hydra-Matic Division at Willow Run, Mich., which makes automatic transmissions for GM cars.

The first new car to come off the line since the resumption of production was at Pontiac.

Thousands of workers were recalled at Fisher Body, Chevrolet, Ternstedt, and AC Spark Plug plants.

The UAW called off its national strike Sunday with approval of the national agreement between the union and the company. Local strikes were permitted to continue, however.

Mild Weather to Stay in Area Few More Days

Mild temperatures will prevail through Thursday, says the weatherman.

The mercury will drop to a low of 47 to 54 tonight, and climb to a high of 69 to 76 tomorrow. Little change is expected Thursday.

Skies will be partly cloudy.

Today in Pontiac, winds are south-southwesterly at eight to 15 miles an hour.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 6 a. m. was 44. At 1 p. m. the thermometer registered 67.

STARTS PRODUCING — First car off the line with the resumption of production at General Motors, was this Pontiac at Pontiac Motor Division last night. Only two of Pontiac's nine assembly plants—the home plant and the Kansas City B.O.P. plant—have begun production. Local settlements in other plants still are holding up resumption of production.

Ford's Sales, Earnings Up

Nine-Month Totals Are All-Time Highs

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co., the nation's second largest automaker, yesterday reported all-time highs in earnings and sales for the first nine months of the year.

★ ★ ★

Ford reported earnings of $403.7 million or $3.65 a share for the period, up 16 per cent from $346.9 million and $3.14 a share in the similar period of 1963.

Sales were up 15 per cent to $7,127,500,000 from $6,197,800,000 in the year earlier period.

The Ford report followed the disclosure last week by Chrysler Corp. of disappointing results that cut that firm's profits in half in the 1963 third quarter. Chrysler reported profits of $11.4 million.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, General Motors, the nation's largest auto maker, prepared to restart four of its 23 assembly lines which had been shut down by a 33-day strike.

WORLDWIDE SALES

Ford reported its factories built and sold 2,923,166 cars trucks and tractors worldwide, up from 2,623,993 in the 1963 nine-month period.

★ ★ ★

Third quarter profits of 79.7 million, amounting to 72 cents a share—not a record — were announced, compared with $69.7 million or 63 cents a share in the similar period of last year.

Third quarter sales totaled $2,039,300,000, up from $1,763,700,000 last year.

U.S. Auto Producers Set 2-Month Goals

DETROIT (AP)—U.S. auto makers, heartened by the General Motors strike settlement, set as their goal yesterday production of 800,000 cars in November and a like number in December.

The industry, hopeful that the bulk of its labor problems were behind it, thus set out to try and make up the estimated 500,000 units it lost during the General Motors strike.

Most sources agreed the twin 800,000 goals were ambitious, particularly since the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays will fall during the two months.

To achieve their goal, the auto companies will have to turn out about 205,000 cars a week in the nonholiday periods.

Enormity of this task is evidenced by the fact that the industry's current weekly production record is 189,187 set in the week of November 9, 1963.

The U.S. industry originally had set a goal of 875,000 cars as its October target but probably would wind up the month about 390,000.

★ ★ ★

The drop was due to the GM strike, some individual plant work disputes at Ford, a brief strike at American Motors and some parts shortages in Ford and Chrysler plants.

Ford's output last week was set at 55,675 in preliminary production reports.

If attained, this would have been its largest week in history, topping the mark of 54,266 set last Nov. 9. Last week's figures are subject to revision.

Chrysler production last week was an estimated 28,800, while AMC settled for about 6,800 units.

Tie-Up to Last for 3 Weeks

It will be at least three more weeks before the daily traffic jam on West Huron between West Wide Track and Saginaw will be cleared up, according to city traffic officials.

★ ★ ★

The jam is being caused by the closing of three other main east-west arteries — Pike, Lawrence and Clinton — for construction of West Wide Track.

To provide relief for the clogged conditions the city has banned parking on both the north and south side of West Huron between Saginaw and West Wide Track.

Also, the police department is using all available men to assist the flow of traffic on West Huron.

★ ★ ★

Motorists are urged to remember the crowded traffic conditions and exercise caution and patience when driving through the area.

Pontiac in Line to Get Major Training Site

Community Is Asked to Support Project With Fund-Raising

Mayor William T. Taylor Jr. announced today that Pontiac is in line to get the proposed new Osteopathic College. This announcement came from Dr. Benjamin F. Dickinson, president-elect of Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

A previous decision to award this big institution to Lansing has been reconsidered in the light of Michigan State University's announcement of an oncoming medical college there.

★ ★ ★

Already 252,750 has been pledged by Pontiac firms to purchase the necessary site, and 122,250 more is needed before the move can become a reality.

"We are asking the community for a location, sewers and "and then the Michigan osteopathic physicians are prepared to spend $3 million in the establishment of a medical college for the training of osteopathic physicians, nurses, technicians and personnel.

"When it opens, this will carry 280 medical students and employ 1,714 people. Ultimately, our investment will increase many times and I confidentially predict that more than $20 million will be invested here within the next eight years."

"At this time the payroll will total $10-12 million a year."

★ ★ ★

Pontiac businessmen rallied quickly to this new cause. Listed below are firms which have already pledged the amounts indicated, contingent upon raising the total.

An immediate drive among civic-minded people will be launched to raise the additional $122,250.

Everyone who is anxious to assist the community in making this big project become a reality here in Pontiac can contact Max Adams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at the West Huron Street office.

A purchase agreement has been entered into and $20,000 paid down by the group below. But additional help is badly needed.

The Michigan Osteopathic Association has pledged $3 million and it is expected the national osteopaths will contribute $2,000,000 more for the building and equipment if the site is fully financed.

The location is the southwest corner of Opdyke and Auburn Avenue consisting of 164 acres, all of which is inside the city limits. The transaction was negotiated by Bruce Gannett who has waived his commission of $35,000.

County May Get Clinton Drain Project

Clinton River Drain Project No. 2 on the east side of Pontiac may be turned over to the Oakland County Drain Commission.

Encountering money problems the City Commission tonight will consider petitioning the drain commission to take on the river work as a county drain project.

Thus, it would be handled like the current Clinton River tunnel project in downtown Pontiac, with the county selling bonds to finance the work and the bonds being retired by a special assessment levied on Pontiac taxpayers.

The assessment would be included with county tax bills.

City officials say the project will be turned over to the county because the city's share, previously expected to come from the capital improvement fund, has jumped from an expected $100,000 to $235,000.

The river improvement project was to run from Union to Opdyke and precede M59 construction.

In addition to the river improvement, relocation of a sanitary sewer interceptor — a related project — at a total cost of $175,000 will also be turned over to the drain commission.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling said that the reason the river work must be done now is to enable M59 construction to continue.

"Otherwise," he said, "the city would be faced with the staggering cost of moving a new highway."

The city had planned to do limited river work to allow M59 to proceed, but the city's share rose to $235,000.

Originally, the city was to have improved the river only from Paddock to the railroad tracks with certain parts of the river project coming within the highway work.

The Bureau of Federal Roads, however, gradually added items to the original $100,000 cost, claiming they were not part of the M59 project.

Neipling estimated that the M59 work would be delayed until spring.

Bids were to be received next month, but the river work will postpone the project.

Pattern Osteopath College After Five Others in U.S.

By L. GARY THORNE

The osteopathic college proposed for Pontiac will be patterned after five other osteopathic schools of medicine in the United States.

What will the new school be like? Will it graduate only doctors? Why may attend? What will be taught?

Tentative answers to these questions are compiled in a "College Fact Book," prepared by the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

The MAOPS through its members will lend both financial support and manpower to the projected institution at Auburn and Opdyke.

What will the new school be like?

★ ★ ★

First, the college will run on the quarter system, operating four quarters a year. It will offer students a 44-hour week in the classroom and laboratory, which might include Saturday instruction.

Who may attend?

3 YEARS IN COLLEGE

Applicants are required to have spent at least three years in an approved college or university. Generally, the minimum acceptable grade average will be a C plus, according to prevailing practices at five other osteopathic schools.

Other osteopathic colleges report that about 75 per cent of their entrants have earned their undergraduate degrees prior to entering the professional school.

Will only doctoral candidates be able to attend?

The college will train doctors of osteopathy as well as all types of medical ancillary personnel.

★ ★ ★

Such auxiliary personnel would include nurses, medical assistants, nurses aides, X-ray technicians, bacteriological technicians and public health personnel.

NEED IS GREAT

The need for persons trained in related medical fields is in many cases as great or greater than the need for physicians, the MAOPS points out.

What will be taught?

Professional training accreditation will be set by the Bureau of Professional Education and Colleges of the American Osteopathic Association and the American Association of Osteopathic Colleges.

The four-year training program will include a minimum of 5,000 hours.

The college will be divided up into 20 departments, several of which will be innovation in medical education.

★ ★ ★

For example, tentative plans call for separate instruction in atomic medicine, space medicine and industrial medicine.

IN KEEPING WITH TIMES

"These innovations may bring the curricular content more in keeping with the needs of our times," according to the MAOPS.

During a student's first two years the educational emphasis will be placed on the basic sciences — anatomy, physiology, chemistry, pathology and bacteriology.

In the third year principles of osteopathic medicine obstetrics, surgery and gynecology are studied, along with completion of general and clinical diagnosis.

Clinical training also begins in the third year, while the entire fourth year is spent in actual clinical practice.

Britain Warns S. Rhodesians

Fear Independence Declaration by Rulers

LONDON (AP) — Britain warned Southern Rhodesia's white rulers today they will be guilty of treason and rebellion if they unilaterally declare the East African territory's independence.

Economic disaster, banishment from the Commonwealth and isolation from most of the world would follow if the country breaks from Britain, a government statement said.

★ ★ ★

The stern statement came from Prime Minister Harold Wilson's office a day after 622 African chiefs and headmen meeting outside Salisbury gave a unanimous "yes" to Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith's "independence now" plan.

The British government had said earlier it did not consider the chiefs represented the opinion of Southern Rhodesia's African majority, which in 1961 outnumbered the whites 3.6 million to 221,500.

NATIONAL REFERENDUM

Smith has scheduled a national referendum Nov. 5 in which the largely white electorate is expected to vote emphatically for independence now. Smith then is expected to demand freedom from Britain, with the threat of declaring independence unilaterally if refused.

The British warning sent a shock through the Rhodesian capital. Some white Rhodesians felt it might force Smith and his colleagues to retreat.

★ ★ ★

A few said it could spur Smith's government to a unilateral declaration of independence within the next 48 hours.

"A declaration of independence," the British statement said, "would be an open act of rebellion and it would be treasonable to take steps to give effect to it."

TOUGHEST LANGUAGE

It was the toughest language yet used in the dispute between Britain and the leaders of the self-governing territory demanding independence while the white minority still has control. Britain wants a new constitution promising the African majority control ultimately.

His statement:

"In too many instances, dictation by federal governmental edict has become the rule rather than the exception in our country. If we are to have responsible, responsive government, it must remain the servant of our citizens rather than their master.

"If we are to efficiently and economically solve our local problems, those solutions must come from local units of government rather than through the arbitrary order of a government employe who has never seen the site in question and has no contact with local officials.

"Our individual citizens, our local units of government and our business and industry need the federal government to get out of the way so we can move forward."

His statement:

"Unlike my opponent, traditionalism will make me seek legitimate, needed federal assistance — the kind that founded Michigan State University; that is making possible fine highways; that will help us solve educational, job, drainage, farm, lake level and other local problems.

Rochester Hits Tax for Pontiac

The Rochester Village Council last night went on record as opposing the City of Pontiac's proposed income tax levy on nonresidents of the city.

A resolution opposing the tax levy, which was passed unanimously, was deemed a necessary action to be taken on behalf of Rochester citizens who work in Pontiac.

The council termed the proposed city tax as "taxation without representation" and voted to send a copy of its resolution to the Pontiac City Commission.

New Floods Threat to Yugoslavians

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Rescue teams stepped up evacuation operations today as new floods threatened northern Yugoslavia.

The official death count was 4, but unofficial reports said as many as 18 were dead.

Zagreb, Yugoslavia's second largest city and capital of Crotia, was crippled, with streets inundated with up to nine feet of water. The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said more than 70,000 of the city's 470,000 residents had been evacuated.

★ ★ ★

Tanjug said the flood threat had spread to Sisak and Jasenovac, southeast of Zagreb, and many residents of those towns had been ordered evacuated. The situation there was called very critical.

WORST FLOOD

It was the worst flood in northern Yugoslavia since 1933.

As a two-week fall of heavy rain continued, helicopters and boats picked up families who had spent the night on rooftops with the waters of the swollen Sava River swirling around them.

Thousands had fled to safety in the hills surrounding the city.

★ ★ ★

Also threatened by the flood was the province of Slovenia, upriver from Zagreb.

Birmingham Area News

Proposed Zone Change to Get Hearing Nov. 14

BIRMINGHAM — A proposed zoning amendment that would encourage the development of luxury apartments will be aired by the City Commission at a public hearing on Nov. 14.

The commission scheduled the hearing last night after receiving a report on the recommended revision from City Planning Director William R. Brownfield.

According to Brownfield the only area that could be developed as a result of changing the present Multiple Family R-7 classification is generally bounded by Merrill, Southfield, Brown and Henrietta.

The requirements under the existing classification, said Brownfield, encourage the development of small dwelling units on a one- or two-story scale, permit more than desirable building coverage and allow small, single - family lots to be developed as multiples.

★ ★ ★

The new formula, according to Brownfield, would promote larger apartments with more green area per unit. It also would maintain existing densities and yet provide more usable open space, discourage use of small parcels and encourage assembly of land.

PROVIDES INCENTIVE

He said the change also would provide an incentive for planned unit development and architectural variation that would be in harmony with existing or proposed developments.

Another change to the present classification is a new definition of the height permitted.

At present the ordinance permits four stories or 50 feet. Without exceeding this 50-foot limitation the new proposal would allow four stories of living area and one floor of parking.

★ ★ ★

The Planning Board, prepared the report after studying the proposed change for more than two years.

The planning department, city planning consultant, and several architects and builders in Birmingham have already endorsed the proposal, according to Brownfield.

TO BE NOTIFIED

Property owners in the area affected by the proposed change and the Birmingham Real Estate Board will be notified of the public hearing by mail.

The commission, in other business, authorized a stepped up antiliter campaign in the downtown business district.

The plan calls for the continuation of flushing down the area three days a week and the assigning of two men working one day each to sweep in the downtown alleys.

Ballots in 40 States Hold Amendments, Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters in 40 states will ballot next Tuesday on home state issues ranging from housing discrimination to capital punishment.

Up for decision are 253 proposed state laws or constitutional amendments.

The spotlight is on a proposal which would prohibit the California Legislature from barring discrimination in real estate sales, as it did in a law enacted last year. Some observers think the proposal might play a role in determining who gets the state's 40 electoral votes in the presidential election.

Real estate interests and other groups are leading the fight for approval of the California proposition which would permit a person to sell, lease or rent property to any person he chooses.

OPPOSE AMENDMENT

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and other state leaders oppose the amendment and defend California's so-called fair housing law which prohibits racial discrimination in real estate transactions.

Neither President Johnson nor Sen. Barry Goldwater has taken a stand on the matter but some political observers think a big turnout in favor of the proposal would help Goldwater, the Republican nominee.

Gambling proposals of some sort are on the ballot in four states — California, Washington, Montana and Arkansas.

California voters have a choice between two amendments. One would authorize state-franchised, privately operated lotteries, while the other would prohibit privately operated lotteries. If both pass, the one with the highest number of votes wins.

In Arkansas the question is whether to legalize the gambling casinos in Hot Springs, Ark., which have operated off and on in the past outside the law.

In Montana the proposal would prohibit the legislature from barring gambling. Washington voters are being asked to legalize bingo.

★ ★ ★

Oregon voters will decide whether to abolish capital punishment in their state.

Reapportionment of state legislatures, a big item in the 1962 election, goes to the voters in only two states — Florida and New Hampshire — and in Florida the question may be moot in light of U.S. Supreme Court decisions on the subject.

GOVERNOR'S TERM

Massachusetts voters will decide whether to raise the governor's term from two years to four. Voters in Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Mexico and Oklahoma will vote on the questions of legislators' pay and length of legislative sessions.

The only question in Michigan is proposed adoption of the so-called Massachusetts ballot which would make split-ticket voting easier.

★ ★ ★

Voting law changes are up for decision in Connecticut and Hawaii, while Kansas and North Dakota voters will decide on proposals to abolish personal property taxes on certain possessions.

Among the bond issues up for approval are one for $200 million for roads in West Virginia and $100 million for schools in North Carolina.

State History Is Recounted in New Movie

A new half - hour sound film, "When Michigan Was Young," produced by Consumers Power Co. in cooperation with the State Historical Commission, the Michigan Historical Commission and a group of other agencies, was unveiled at a special showing in Pontiac yesterday.

The film will be available for school and club use in Michigan schools according to Charles F. Brown, manager of the Pontiac division of Consumers.

It is believed to be the first authentic motion picture dealing with the state's early history through historical drawings and paintings, according to Brown.

Reservations for showing the film may be obtained by calling the Consumers Power Co. offices in Pontiac.

Wifely Remarks That Make You Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Wifely remarks that make a husband wish he were a bachelor:

BOYLE

"I don't see why you need more than $1 for lunch."

"Jean's husband makes $25 more a week than you do, and he's no smarter than you are or not that much more, anyway."

"We're just having scraps for dinner tonight, dear. I didn't feel very hungry."

* * *

"Other husbands I know love to discuss the office with their wives. Why don't you? What goes on there that you don't want me to know about?"

"Some evening I'm going to make a recording of how you talk after you've had three martinis, and play it back to you the next morning. It'll make you cringe."

BLONDE HAIR

"Is that a blonde hair on your coat? I thought you told me your secretary was a brunette? Not that I'm jealous. Me jealous? Ha, ha, ha."

"I took Emily to the orthodontist today. He says that for $1,200 he can make her teeth look like a movie star's."

* * *

"Other husbands I know love to take their wives dancing. So why do you have to be so different."

"The television set is on the blink again. I think it'll cost at least $50 to have it fixed. Don't you think it would be more economical to buy a new one?"

HEATHEN SAVAGES

"Why is it you men don't like to take your wives along when you go fishing? If you ask my opinion, you all act like a bunch of heathen savages."

"Put down that newspaper. There's something I want to tell you — right now."

* * *

"Guess what day this is."

"You're going to have to do something about those children. Before you lie down on the sofa, let me tell you what they were up to today."

TURTLE IN TUB

"You'll have to take your shower later, dear. Jimmy's got his pet turtle in the bathtub."

"Other husbands I know think it is a privilege to take their wives out once in a while. Why do you want to act like an old hermit?"

"Well, I might as well tell you the bad news now. The refrigerator collapsed today. But after all, we've had it for 14 years. I guess we'll have to buy a new one."

"I get so tired of living in this same old house that I could scream."

NEVER LISTEN

"You never heard a single word I said. For that matter, you never do."

"I don't expect you to be perfect. But I do expect you to show a little consideration when —"

"How do I know you really love me, when you so rarely say it? Do you think I'm a mental telepathist?"

"I hate to call you at the office, dear, but on the way home I'd like you to stop off at the supermarket and get a few items I forgot. I'll read you the list."

* * *

"Other husbands I know are glad to—" et cetera, et cetera, et cetera.

Author Fears Liberty Loss

Says Government Is Eroding Freedom

By CORENNA ALDRICH

"Little drops of water . . . make the mighty ocean . . ." Such is "The Political Plague in America," as related by George P. Loweke, Ph.D.—the drops in this case being acts of government which are gradually eroding our freedoms and sweeping us into a sea of socialism.

Ignoring party politics, Dr. Loweke makes this literary cry for help against foreboding implications of the path we are taking. He fears the present trend to drift with the current and forsees a bleak future for our country unless we encourage those individuals who are willing to risk the swim upstream to better economic and political spawning grounds.

Forced to leave high school to support himself, Dr. Loweke has nevertheless earned four degrees: two from University of Michigan, a master's degree in engineering from Chrysler Institute of Engineering and a doctor's degree in celestial mechanics from University of Berlin.

Now professor of engineering mechanics at Wayne State University, he formerly taught economics and was at one time an editor of Babson's Reports. He organized and taught the first space flight course in the U.S., prior to launching of Sputnik 1. He has appeared on many radio and television programs in connection with the American space program.

During his studies in Berlin, Dr. Loweke saw the Nazis rise to power, not by force but by vote of the electorate. He parallels example after example to show how such a thing could happen here, unbelievable as we like to think it would be.

The major impact of Dr. Loweke's book lies not in any one startling usurpation of liberty, but in the plethora of small freedoms which he feels have been inundated by legislation and legal interpretations contrary to Constitutional intent.

His concern is that this and immediately succeeding generations may, both through complacency and deliberate action, sacrifice our heritage of liberty on the alter of security. "Every time the citizenry votes, it votes for more care and less freedom."

Whether or not readers agree with Dr. Loweke, "The Political Plague in America" is a book everyone should read. He may not convince all his readers, but he will almost certainly shock them out of lethargy and force them to consider many aspects of our economic and political life in a totally different light.

Even if Goldwater Defeated

Fear GOP Liberals to Lose in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) —With the election a week away, Republican strategists now believe conservative GOP senatorial candidates might have a better chance than liberals of surviving a presidential contest defeat for Sen. Barry Goldwater.

★ ★ ★

Any such outcome would be likely to slow down the efforts of GOP moderates to bring about what Gov. George Romney of Michigan and others have called "a rebirth of the Republican party" if Goldwater should lose.

★ ★ ★

In 10 state races where the Republicans credit their candidates with an even, or better than even, chance of winning, all but three of the nominees are listed as conservatives.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Robert Taft Jr., running in Ohio, is given the best chance of winning of any of the Republican senatorial candidates. Party moderates think that, in case of a Goldwater defeat, they could count on Taft to help reorient the party.

INDICATED TIDE

Sens. Winston L. Prouty of Vermont and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, if the latter can breast an indicated tide for President Johnson in that state, would be counted on to bulwark the moderate cause.

But in seven other states where Republicans believe they have a chance of electing their candidates, the nominees are generally regarded as conservatives.

★ ★ ★

They include Sens. John J. Williams of Delaware and Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, and candidates Paul J. Fannin in Arizona, George Murphy in California, Bud Wilkinson in Oklahoma, George Bush in Texas, and Ernest L. Wilkinson in Utah.

The Republican strategists are not counting anybody out. But they concede privately that Sens. Kenneth B. Keating in New York, Hiram L. Fong in Hawaii and J. Glen Beall in Maryland, all considered moderates, have uphill battles on their hands. Sen. Edward L. Mecham of New Mexico, a conservative, is put in a similar category.

GOOD CHANCES

Republican strategists, analyzing governors' races, think the GOP has a good chance of electing two moderates, Romney in Michigan and Charles Percy in Illinois.

★ ★ ★

A confidential party rundown credits Republicans with a chance of electing governors in 12 states. Besides Illinois and Michigan, these include Arizona, Delaware, Indiana, Kansas, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin.

★ ★ ★

There is frank admission in the memo that the margin of President Johnson's poll-predicted advantage will affect close races in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont and West Virginia.

ABC-TV Shows Delayed by Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co.'s television network was about 15 minutes late getting on the air this morning because of a strike of ushers.

★ ★ ★

The ushers, known as pages, are members of the National Association of Broadcasting Employes and Technicians and their picket lines apparently kept some other network employes from reporting for work on time.

However, a spokesman for ABC's radio network said operations got under way on schedule at 7 a.m., with union engineers and other employes reporting on time.

BARNOLDSWICK, England (UPI)—Senior employes at millionaire Tom Clarke's bed factory have insured his life for $2.8 million for his flight to Bermuda Saturday. A senior executive said "if anyone is indispensable, it is Mr. Clarke."

Safety Sabbath Slated

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed the weekend of Nov. 20-22 as Traffic Safety Sabbath in Michigan. The governor urged clergy of all faiths to give consideration to this problem in their lessons or sermons over the weekend.

Lady Bird's Day Ends at Rally

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — After a hard day of stumping across Texas for her husband, Lady Bird Johnson couldn't resist dropping in on a nostalgic courthouse campaign rally on her way home.

Rep. Jacke Pickle of Johnson City really didn't need any help in his bid to retain Lyndon Johnson's old seat in Congress, but Lady Bird came around to his meeting Monday night anyway.

★ ★ ★

She brought along the three Cabinet wives who went campaigning with her, drawing cheering thousands on their 868-mile plane swing to Beaumont, Tyler and San Angelo. It was the opening day of their two-day vote-seeking swing into five states.

The flying trip had been colorful, despite bad weather. The windup in the courthouse square, with the speakers' platform in front of a hardware supply store, topped it all for old-fashioned politicking.

LESS THAN 500

There had been stomping, roaring yells and cheers in the Lamar State Technological College gym at Beaumont, where 10,000 jammed in to see the President's wife. There were less than 500 standing around in the square here but it was folksy.

The local ladies supplied homemade cookies, cakes, coffee and soft drinks. All the kids came along, dogs ran about and the grownups listened to the speech making.

★ ★ ★

LBJ's home town has only about 700 or so population and all of Blanco County some 3,500.

But Pickle told the gathering, "the eyes of the world will be on Blanco County and Johnson City (election night). You'll want to look good and want to make your President look good — and you might want to make your congressman look good too."

DEMOCRATIC THEME

"Elect the Democratic ticket from the White House to the courthouse" was Mrs. Johnson's day-long theme.

By the time she got to the courthouse rally after hop-skip flying, making three big speeches, planting a new "white beauty" rose amid the blooming Tyler rose gardens and shaking hands everywhere, the First Lady told the home folks: "You'll have to forgive me if I don't have any speech left."

She called on the Cabinet wives, and even Dr. Janet Travell, a White House physician traveling with her, to speak up instead.

Ambulance on Fire, Driver Sped On

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Ambulance driver Eddie James hit the switch for the siren and flashing red light and wheeled away from a south Forth Worth bowling alley last night with a heart attack victim.

★ ★ ★

He hadn't gone far when he smelled smoke. The ambulance was on fire.

The emergency brake cable, rubbing against a battery cable, was giving off sparks. The floor mat in the ambulance caught fire, burning right beneath the driver's legs.

★ ★ ★

James, 24, an ambulance driver for three years, called the sheriff's office on his radio and explained his predicament. The dispatcher suggested he pull over, try to fight the fire, and another ambulance would be sent to pick up the heart attack patient.

"I wasn't about to stop," said James later. "I realize that in a case like this, a minute or two can be the difference between life and death."

SPED 10 MILES

While a doctor administered oxygen to the patient in the rear, and flames began licking at his trousers, James sped 10 miles through the crowded city to the hospital.

The ambulance screeched up to the emergency room door and waiting firemen yanked at the burning upholstery and sprayed the flames with extinguishers.

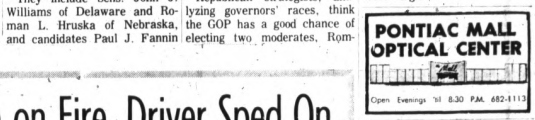

But for the patient, Alvin F. Haueisen, 55, of Fort Worth, it was too late. He was dead.

★ ★ ★

Doctors treated James for minor burns on his legs.

The dead man's wife, told of the ambulance driver who wouldn't stop, sent James her thanks. "He was a very courageous man," she said.
