Strife-Ridden Indiana Plant Intends to Reopen

President's Staff Talks Hopefully About the Future

Eisenhower to Undergo Complete Exam Over Weekend by Specialist

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower's recovery from his heart attack progressed to the point today that his staff began to talk hopefully of the future.

The private opinion, which no one would put into words for quotation, was that the crisis has passed, and that the President soon will be taking a firmer hold on administration policy.

A complete examination is scheduled this weekend when Dr. Paul Dudley White returns to Denver. He will join the staff of president physicians for a thoroughgoing check at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

White, the noted Boston heart specialist, will fly here Saturday with Sherman Adams, assistant to the President and his chief administrative deputy. Adams flew back to Washington yesterday for meetings of the National Security Council and the Cabinet.

The President, who will be 65 on Oct. 14, is doing so well that Adams no longer hesitates to present him documents requiring signature. Eisenhower signed four such papers yesterday and initialed two others.

Adams left for Washington after a 10 - minute conference with the President.

But even Adams, who enjoys Eisenhower's confidence more than any other man in official position, limited his discussion to noncontroversial matters with which the President was familiar before his coronary thrombosis Sept. 24.

4TH DAY OF WORK

It was the third day in a row, and the fourth time since his illness, that the physicians have allowed the President to do such paper work.

The cheerful patient got his biggest kick of the day out of a gift package from his grandchildren, the three children of Maj. John Eisenhower, now stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

The package included:

Two packs of playing cards — and bubble gum — from 3-year-old Susan.

Stationery — and more bubble gum — from Barbara Anne, 6½.

A 25-cent Texas border story, "The Mackenzie Raid" — and still more bubble gum — from David now 7½.

With their gifts the children sent greetings, get-well cards and even some personal drawings.

If all shows up well at the weekend examination by White, the extent of the President's return to active control of government will be increased.

The doctors may even okay conferences with Cabinet members or other key officials for sometime late next week.

Truman Would Run if 12 Years Younger

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says if he were 12 years younger he might try to get the job again.

But he adds that, at 71 and after 30 years in public office, "I think I have made my contribution to the public welfare."

* * *

Truman's attitude was set forth in a letter to Howard Goldfluss, a Bronx attorney and Democratic district captain. Goldfluss had written Truman urging him to run again.

* * *

Truman replied:

"I certainly appreciate your letter . . . and the statement . . . that I could beat the entire Republican party single-handed was highly complimentary.

"If I were 12 years younger, I might try to do just that."

Winds Lash Britain

LONDON (AP)—Winds with gusts up to 70 miles an hour lashed the British Isles today, disrupting shipping and blasting a trail of damage along the west coast. No fatalities were reported.

New Hudson Pleads Innocent

State Police, Sheriff Control Pontiac Trail Traffic, Says Smith

"New Hudson is the innocent victim. It is not responsible for delaying Saturday football game traffic at the intersection of Grand River and Pontiac Trail.

"Control of traffic at that point, in my opinion, is the responsibility of the Sheriff and the State Police."

This was the response of W. K. Smith, Lyon Township Supervisor, to the Pontiac Press editorial Wednesday which urged better handling of Saturday traffic at the busy New Hudson intersection.

"I agree with the editorial in every other respect," he said. "But I want to make it clear that New Hudson is the innocent victim of this situation every Saturday there is a big home football game at Ann Arbor."

"New Hudson is unincorporated. It has no control of traffic and no law enforcement officers.

"Neither does Lyon Township have any control over traffic at this intersection.

The Press editorial suggested that an officer should be stationed at the intersection to handle the football traffic, or the timing of the traffic light should be changed in view of the heavy use of Pontiac Trail at such times.

Traffic was backed up for miles there last Saturday.

Future of Shopping Center May Be Settled in 2 Weeks

What the future holds for 145 acres of Bloomfield Township land located along Pontiac's southern border may be revealed in two weeks.

The land, located at Telegraph and Square Lake roads, was the focal point of a debate between its owners, who said they wanted to build a multi-million dollar shopping center on it, and downtown Pontiac merchants.

Its owners, headed by Bernard Edelman, a Detroit real estate broker, in early August requested the City Commission to annex the land.

The city would benefit from taxes on the property and the developers would gain city water and sewage facilities, Edelman said.

Opposition sprang up almost immediately from the Retail Merchants Assn., which contended the city would be helping to promote a nonexistent shopping center if it annexed the land before there was positive information that such a center actually would be built.

A Columbus, Ohio, man identified as the center's developer, Don M. Casto, declared that a shopping center would be constructed, whether or not Pontiac annexed the land.

Although no official word had been received from the Bloomfield Township Board, whose approval was necessary before the land could be annexed, the Commission agreed to decide two weeks later on whether or not to annex.

But several days before that meeting, Edelman requested a "temporary postponement" by the Commission, and the matter was tabled pending further information.

In the meantime, Bloomfield Supervisor David E. Anderson re-

2 Die, 1 Injured in Dixie Collision

Detroit Man Surviving Crash in Rainstorm Near County Line

A headon crash on a Dixie Highway curve just north of the Oakland-Genesee County line during yesterday's rainstorm killed two men and critically injured a third.

The dead are: Clyde Elwell, 73, of 64 Kimball Ave., Pontiac, and Alvin R. Hines, 31, whose address was listed as Farmington.

Kenneth J. McSweeney, 25, of Detroit, driver of one of the cars, was reported in critical condition at Flint's Hurley Hospital.

State Police of the Flint Post said McSweeney apparently lost control of his southbound car on the wet pavement and skidded into the path of Elwell's northbound auto.

Troopers said Elwell was riding alone, and according to witnesses, had been driving at about 35 miles an hour due to the heavy rain.

326 Mexicans Dead as Floods Ravage Tampico

Anxious City Watches River Rise; Relief Units Continue Rescues

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The death toll in flood-battered Tampico mounted today to 326, by unofficial count, as the relentless Panuco River went still higher.

Reports from upriver communities of a sharp drop held out some hope of relief for the stricken port within 48 hours. But there were fears the inland rains of the past week would continue, sending the river's headwaters climbing again before Tampico could get a respite.

As Mexico grappled with a major disaster beyond the limits of its strained resources, U.S. armed forces and relief agencies handled most of the rescue and relief operations at Tampico. Mexican efforts have been concentrated largely on relief to the Yucatan Peninsula, where Hurricane Janet killed an estimated 200 persons last week and wiped out three towns.

At Tampico, the aircraft carrier Saipan took the lead in the most intensive American relief campaign ever staged in Mexico. The U.S. Army, Air Force and Marines, plus the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army, poured food, clothing, medicine and other supplies into the stricken city of 110,000 and the surrounding area.

The aircraft carrier Siboney was en route from Norfolk with 12 large helicopters, while the Oglethorpe, an American transport, was reported loading additional food at Norfolk.

* * *

Lt. Col. M. C. Quillen, airlift operations officer in charge of joint U.S. Army-Air Force transportation, announced that the 14th Air Force has airlifted approximately 280,000 pounds of food and clothing to Tampico since Oct. 1.

ARMY ON ALERT

The U.S. 4th Army's headquarters in San Antonio, Tex., announced it was preparing additional equipment for air shipment requested by the Red Cross and U.S. Navy. Included are water purification units, power generators and field equipment. Army personnel were being sent to operate and maintain the equipment.

Grateful residents of Tampico called all this "Operation Friendship." Mexican newspapers hailed the aid as greatly strengthening U.S.-Mexican ties.

The forces gave top priority to rescuing trapped refugees in the Tampico area. Most of this work has been carried out by 14 helicopters. An estimated 1,500 persons have been rescued in the last three days. Tamaulipas Gov. Horacio Teran reported another 1,500 were still marooned on rooftops, dikes and in trees in the Los Llanos del Golfo area out from the city.

327 Killed as Typhoon Fury Slashes Indonesia

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—At least 327 persons were killed and extensive property damage was suffered when Typhoon Kate struck North Viet Nam, the Hanoi press reported today.

Observers here thought it probable the death toll was much higher than the Communist government would admit.

Ford Announces Research Plan

$50 Million Project Calls for Five New Buildings, 3,000 More Engineers

DETROIT (AP)—A $50,000,000 research expansion program has been announced by the Ford Motor Co.

Ernest R. Breech, board chairman, told newsmen yesterday the project will add five new major research buildings to present laboratories in Dearborn. The company will hire 3,000 more engineers and technicians for the program.

Breech said the new expansion is in addition to previously announced projects totaling $2,400,000.

At the same time, Ford engineers, looking to the future, described a new "dream" car called the "Mystere."

It is an auto with an engine in the rear, with interchangeable internal combustion or gas turbine power and has a glass canopy room with no windows to raise or lower.

A. A. Kucher, director of Ford's scientific laboratories, also told of work on a project called a "Cardiac Manometer," a device to fight heart ailments.

Kucher described it as a miniature electrical measuring device attached to a tube which could be inserted into the heart cavity through a vein. It would measure variations in pressure on the heart while it is beating.

Paraguay Sets Strict Asylum for Peron

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—President Alfredo Stroessner told foreign reporters that Paraguay will carry out strictly its duties in granting asylum to ex-President Juan D. Peron of Argentina.

Asked whether his government would prevent Peron's engaging in "activities against the Argentine government," the President replied:

"We have no interest in creating a situation jeopardizing our traditional friendship with Argentina."

Yesterday's Fall of Rain Tops September Moisture

More rain fell in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today than fell in all of September. And the Weather Bureau says more is in store.

Grateful Oakland County farmers and lawn-conscious homeowners watched happily as an inch and three-quarters of rain came showering down yesterday and last night.

The Weather Bureau says showers and thunderstorms will accompany the mild weather through today and tomorrow. High temperature is expected to be 78 today and 74 tomorrow.

Rainfall in September totaled less than 1½ inches—half the average precipitation for the month, the bureau reported.

Lyle Abel, Oakland County agricultural agent, said the rain was welcomed by orchardists and wheat and potato farmers.

"We will need a lot of rain yet before we get back to normal," he said, "because the sub-soil was very dry.

"It will make for larger potatoes, but its greatest effect will be on fall wheat, which has just been planted. Pastures will also be helped."

Homeowners, worried by the long dry spell, brightened as the heavenly waters soaked into their lawns. Especially concerned were owners of new homes planting grass for the first time.

State geologists said it will take a lot more rain to bring lake levels up to normal.

Levels have been easing downward all through the dry summer and only a month or two of high or even average rainfall would recharge the ground water supply and rebuild lake levels, said a spokesman for the State Conservation Dept. in Lansing.

Low reading during the night was 65 degrees. The same reading was registered at 8 a.m. The mercury rose to 78 at 2 p.m.

Gas Firm Asks Court for Help

Seeks Commissioners to Set Fair Prices for Right-of-Way

The Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has petitioned Oakland County Probate Court to name commissioners to set values on land the firm requires in Lyon and Milford Townships for pipeline right-of-way.

The Michigan Public Service Commission July 19 this year gave Consolidated the go-ahead to build a 30-inch pipeline over 25.5 miles from a receiving station near Willow Run, Washtenaw County, to a point in Milford Township.

The line will connect at Willow Run with one being constructed by the American-Louisiana Pipeline Co. in Milford Township it will hook up with two transmission lines now owned by Consolidated.

The property owners named in the petition have refused to sell at the price offered them by Consolidated, the company states.

The firm asks that three impartial citizens be named to examine the lands in question and set a fair price which the property owners must accept.

It also asks a court order allowing it to move in immediately and make surveys.

Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore has set an Oct. 24 hearing on selecting the commissioners.

Property owners named in the petition are Claude L. Matthews, Robert W. Orlick, Mary Jane Burgess, Andrew Burgess, John Bloom, Sam Nostrich, James Jamieson, Nellie B. Johns, Ralph F. Napier, Edith M. Napier, Josephine Huck, and Vernon M. Spencer.

Others are George W. Spencer, Melville Woods, Lloyd W. Croft, Rolland B. McMaster, Andrew McMaster, Birchcrest Bldg. Co., Mabel S. Holden and Thomas J. Callan.

Italian Atomic Scientist Working in Soviet Plant

BRISTOL (INS) — British Physicist C. F. Powell reported today that Bruno Pontecorvo, who had fled behind the Iron Curtain, was working in an advanced atom plant on the banks of the Volga River.

Powell, a Nobel prize winner in physics and head of the Bristol University physics department, made the disclosure on his return from a four-day tour of Russian atom plants.

Perfect Circle and UAW Hold Peace Meeting

Guard Patrols Closed Foundry After Injury of 8 in Gunfight

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP)—The Perfect Circle Co. said in a public meeting today it has no intention of keeping its riot-beset foundry here closed.

"We are just not in a position to close that plant," company attorney Clyde Hoffman told Mayor Paul F. McCormack at an emergency conference between Perfect Circle and representatives of the CIO-United Auto Workers.

The union retorted immediately that it could not guarantee against a repetition of yesterday's rioting if the plant reopens.

Eight persons were shot yesterday as 5,000 union sympathizers advanced on 100 nonstrikers barricaded in the three-story red brick foundry.

Mayor McCormack opened the union-management meeting —first in more than a month—with a quotation from the Bible. The robust, bald chief executive of this city of 18,000 people read from 1st Romans, 2nd chapter, which begins:

"Therefore you have no excuse, Oh man, whoever you are, when you judge another."

* * *

Hoffman, speaking for the company, told the meeting that despite yesterday's gunfire, nonstrikers, including at least one of the injured, are insistent upon returning to work.

"So you can see there was a little courage there," he added.

Hoffman said the company has been willing at all times since the strike began July 25 to negotiate wages, union shop and other issues with the union but that the UAW-CIO has refused.

UAW international representative William F. Caldwell replied the company was insisting upon bargaining only for the New Castle foundry while the union thinks it is entitled to bargain simultaneously for plants at New Castle and nearby Hagerstown and Richmond, Ind.

Caldwell accused the company of coercing nonstrikers into going through picket lines and added that yesterday "company representatives shot at pickets first." After these initial shots, Caldwell claimed, the demonstrators "went home for guns and came back."

He said Perfect Circle flew guns and bed clothing into the non-

Sculptor's Will Filed in Probate

Carl Milles' Holdings Given to Foundation; 2 Trust Funds Set Up

The will of world-famous sculptor Carl Wilhelm Milles was filed in Oakland County Probate Court yesterday.

Milles died last Sept. 19 at age 80 in his home near Stockholm, Sweden. He had been resident sculptor and head of the sculpture department of Cranbrook Academy for 21 years.

All Milles' holdings in Sweden were bequeathed to the Lidingohem Foundation, a museum located in the late artist's former home in Stockholm.

His wife, Olga, is guaranteed an annual income of $5,000 from previously set-up annuities, the will states.

Curator of the Lidingohem Foundation Anne Hedmark is granted a $30,000 trust fund. Milles' former technical assistant Axel Wallenberg recives a $15,000 trust fund.

Mrs. Milles' brother, Erwin Granner, of Sweden, is left $300.

Milles, who became a United States citizen after World War II, drafted the will May 7, 1953 in Rome, Italy. LeRoy W. Dahlberg, of Bloomfield Hills, is executor.

The sculptor created many large fountain groups now standing in major European and American cities. Seventy-two of his works are at Cranbrook.

Top Cop Urges Schooling for Bad Drivers

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—The nation's No. 1 policeman thinks the nation's No. 1 domestic problem is traffic. And he thinks one solution of highway carnage is to send offending motorists to school.

* * *

"Don't blame the deaths and injuries on bad enforcement of the law," said Miami Police Chief Walter E. Headley.

Headley, first vice president of the International Chiefs of Police Association, is slated to become president today at the group's 62nd annual convention in traditional line of succession.

"Traffic safety is just as much an engineering job as a police job," the Florida law officer told International News Service. "Engineers have to redesign our cluttered streets and highways which were never built for today's heavy traffic."

* * *

Headley, who looks fit as a professional football player despite 22 strenuous years on the force, figures that stiffer fines definitely won't cut deaths on the road.

LAUGH IT OFF

"What's the use of that?" he asked. "Sure, you'll hurt the truck driver with five kids, but a guy with a fat wallet will just laugh the whole thing off."

* * *

But Headley is enthusiastic about a compulsory traffic school begun in Miami in 1947. After paying fines, violators attend three night classes with policemen acting as teachers.

"They come to school with a chip on their shoulder," Headley smiled, "but when they are 'graduated' they are very high in their praise."

The police chief said only 2 per cent of Miami's traffic violators are repeaters.

Headley who started as a "depression day" rookie has stuck to the police business because he's genuinely interested in doing a good job. And he thinks many more fine young men would join police forces if a few conditions, such as higher pay, were met.

"In Miami," he said, "we pay policemen four cents an hour less than the union scale for common laborers."

KEEP STANDARDS

Nevertheless, Headley does not favor cutting down on the high requirements necessary to join the force.

* * *

"Policemen live under a microscope," he said. "Let one officer get in trouble, for even the most trivial fault, and everybody will refer to the force as "racket ridden."

"Yet a city official can swindle thousands of dollars and you never hear of anybody castigating the whole city government."

Headley is happy to see a new type of public relations developing through television crime shows which depict policemen as intelligent, scientific-minded individuals.

* * *

"For a long time the private eye got all the credit and police were made to look like morons," he complained. "In actual practice, those TV-type private eyes would be kicked right out of the office."

Berber Towns Fly Truce Flag

French Legion Presses Fight Toward Mountain Positions of Rebels

RABAT, French Morocco (AP) — White flags went up today over small villages in the mid-Atlas mountains and along the Spanish Moroccan frontier, indicating that some rebel tribesmen are ready to call it quits.

* * *

French officers on the spot were not optimistic that all trouble was ending. Fighting still continued at Tizi Ouzli, in eastern French Morocco near the frontier of the Spanish zone.

Although the military situation seemed to be getting slightly better, the political situation worsened both in Morocco and in France.

In Rabat, a French colonial group known as the "French Presence" insisted they had a promise from Resident Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour that he would not put fully into effect the reform program outlined by the government in Paris.

FIGHT AMBUSHES

There was no confirmation from the resident general, who was touring the troubled areas in the vicinity of Fez.

Troops from Boured and Tizi Ouzli fought through ambushes and past mountain marksmen yesterday and finally linked up with Moroccan cavalry from Aknoul.

* * *

They beat off a series of mass attacks that began Saturday against the triangle of outposts along the border between French and Spanish Morocco.

But the French were still menaced by the rebels holding positions in the surrounding mountains.

Both sides apparently had been reinforced for a hard fight in the area where Abd el Krim, the veteran warrior, scored successes in the Riff war more than 30 years ago.

* * *

Taza, a city of 29,000 45 miles south of the border, was crowded with hundreds of refugees from isolated outposts in the area.

vealed that Edelman had appeared before the township board at its September meeting asking that body to withhold final action.

Anderson said the board earlier had given tentative approval to releasing the land to Pontiac, provided several problems were worked out. They included traffic, commercial-use zoning restrictions and drainage of surface water.

He said Edelman had not come up with any answers and the board was prepared to "wipe out" its previous tentative approval when Edelman asked a delay of one week.

Since the township board meets only once a month, the delay has stretched into this month.

Anderson said yesterday he was not certain the matter would appear on the agenda when the board meets Monday night.

Contacted at his Detroit office, Edelman said:

"Obviously the land isn't going to remain that way. Something will be done with it. We had hoped to come forth with information a week or 10 days ago, but had to delay an announcement.

"My guess is that in two weeks we will have something positive."

Envoy Fails to Convince Egypt of Arming Hazards

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Asst. Secretary of State George Allen flew back to Washington today after warning Arab leaders of the dangers of accepting arms from the Communist bloc.

* * *

Allen did not persuade Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser to cancel his controversial arms deal with Czechoslovakia. But, the U.S. envoy declared, he thinks his week's flying mission to Egypt and Lebanon has alerted Arab leaders to the possibilities of increased Red penetration of the Middle East.

The main effect of Allen's special trip—in Arab eyes, at least—appeared to be increased East-West rivalry in the Middle East. Most observers agreed Red propagandists and arms merchants are scoring, largely because of increasing Arab hostility toward Israel.

* * *

Allen said on departure he thought his trip had been fruitful "in clearing up misconceptions about U.S. policy," but some Arab leaders are skeptical.

"When Mr. Allen speaks of keeping the balance of power between Arabs and Israel and relaxing tension, he is talking about something we Arabs simply do not comprehend," one Western-educated Lebanese official commented.

"We Arabs do not want a balance of power. We must be stronger than Israel and if that's an arms race, let's go."

* * *

The Arabs never have ceased blaming the United States for supporting Israel and stronger feeling has flared up as result of Israeli-Egyptian clashes along the Gaza Strip.

Western diplomats here privately caution against optimism in the current situation.

Some observers feel the best chance of avoiding an arms race in the Middle East lies in direct agreement with the Soviet Union not to pour in arms — a doubtful hope, dependent on the Russians' desire to carry out the Geneva promises to relax world tensions.

Hungry Red Ants Eat Up Insulation Causing 'Shorts'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Hungry red ants with a taste for plastic insulation have been traced as the culprits responsible for a mysterious series of short circuit failures in San Fernando Valley traffic signals.

* * *

Manager Lloyd Braff of the Los Angeles Traffic Department said there have been 56 short circuits in six weeks, mostly along heavily traveled Lankershim and Ventura boulevards.

Electricians were mystified. Motorists were confused.

Finally, Braff related yesterday, investigators found that the red ants, traveling in armies of thousands, burrowed down through 10 inches of crushed gravel in wire-connector boxes placed near the signals and chewed the insulation off the wires.

* * *

In many places insulation had been stripped from the wires for several inches.

Teenager Charged With Slaying Man

NEW YORK (AP)—A high school student was charged with homicide today in the playground slaying of a young park department employe.

Three other youths have been arrested.

The park employe, Frank Gargiulo, 20, was shot down yesterday in full view of hundreds of mothers and children in a playground section reserved for youngsters.

* * *

Last night police arrested Hiram Rosa, 17, as the alleged triggerman. Rosa attended the Machine and Metals High School which adjoins the playground, on the border of east Harlem.

Also seized were David Vargas and John Barnett, 17-year-old high school students; and a 15-year-old youth whose name was not disclosed.

Strife-Ridden Plant Intends to Reopen strikers within the plant by helicopter.

* * *

"We know guns are not going to settle this, Caldwell continued. "We know mass picketing isn't going to settle this. The only thing I think we can do today is try to reach some sort of peacable solution for what may happen in the future."

Mayor McCormack offered a compromise suggestion. He proposed that the union permit management personnel and nonstrikers employed before the strike began to enter the plant. In return he suggested that the company bar from the premises any employes hired since the strike began—employes whom the union regards as strikebreakers.

* * *

Caldwell replied:

"Mr. McCormack, I could not assure you what would happen."

He said he felt confident the union members at the foundry would abide by such an agreement but that he was afraid outside UAW-CIO sympathizers would not.

National Guardsmen were sent in by Gov. George N. Craig last night after Mayor McCormack declared a state of limited emergency.

The plant was closed today and tightly ringed by guardsmen.

In urging an immediate truce in the bitter strike, McCormack called this "the darkest day New Castle has had since 1917 when we had a tornado here."

* * *

That, he added, was the last time the state militia had been sent into this eastern Indiana town of 18,000 persons.

Six hundred National Guardsmen with rifles and walkie-talkies barricaded the streets around the struck foundry today. Two half-tracks with weapons aboard were at the plant entrance. Two tanks were in reserve at the New Castle Armory. With the plant closed, the union made no attempt to post pickets.

* * *

The shooting broke out yesterday as demonstrators gathered from throughout Indiana marched on the little plant, which normally employes only 280. The union said the nonstrikers fired first.

Six Hurt in Crash

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Charlevoix County Sheriff Glenn Rose reports six persons were injured Wednesday in a two-car crash on rain-slicked U.S.131 near Bay Shore, eight miles north of Charlevoix. Mrs. Howard Fales, 28, of Charlevoix, driver of one car, and her daughter, Ginger Lee, 2, were reported in critical condition at Charlevoix Hospital.

Pretty Filing Clerk Escapes Train Death

BIRMINGHAM — Susan Waters probably owes her life to Francis Duffy, 48, baggage man for the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

Called a "loyal employe" by company officials, his screams were attributed to halting a commuter train about 7:30 this morning, seconds before it would have run over Miss Waters as she lay between the track and platform.

The 20-year-old file clerk for Burton Abstract and Title Co., who lives at 917 N. Glenhurst, jumped on the slowly moving train on her way to work. But she told police the train was moving faster than she thought, causing her to slip and fall.

Police said the train actually pulled her a short distance before Duffy's frantic yells were heard either by the engineer or conductor, who pulled the emergency cord. The lucky Miss Waters was treated at William Beaumont Hospital for cuts and abrasions on her back and legs.

South Oakland Plans Road Discussion

BIRMINGHAM — Turnpike, expressways, roads, and highways—these will receive first consideration by the South Oakland Planning Council, members of the 13 area communities represented, decided last night.

The council, an agent of the Detroit Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission, held its first meeting of the fall here last night, to begin working out the year's agenda.

Problems common to all these municipalities, and on a citizen's level, will be outlined at an Oct. 14 committee meeting.

Chairman Herbert Herzberg, Birmingham planning technician, said land use maps and recreation will also be among the agenda topics.

AF, Conservation Men to Discuss Base Site

LANSING (AP) — Air Force and Conservation Department officials will meet in Lansing Friday to discuss Air Force land requirements for the new jet air base at Kalkaska.

Wayland S. Osgood, deputy conservation director, said the Air Force presumably is interested in land in the Au Sable State Forest.

Land turned over to the federal government would probably be leased, he said.

The Day in Birmingham

City Building Overhaul to Provide Room for All

BIRMINGHAM — Preliminary plans currently being hashed over by the City Commission show the Police Department coming off biggest space winner when the Municipal Building undergoes a thorough interior face-lifting.

The added space came about when the city's old Fire Department moved into two new quarters, and set the city to thinking of an overhauling to provide more suitable quarters for all its departments.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert has now been authorized to secure an architect for planning the remodeling.

In latest discussions, the southeastern end of the building, formerly reserved for fire fighting equipment and personnel, would be given over for police work, allowing that department three levels for facilities. Provision of the third floor would necessitate excavating beneath the fire wing.

Better organization through moving related departments, such as all fiscal functions, into one area, is included in the plan. A walk to the second floor would locate City Manager Donald C. Egbert's office, the commission room would be improved and the city clerk's office enlarged, with a counter off the main lobby for easy citizen access.

Some merit has even been seen in constructing a separate building for police activities.

Featured speakers at tomorrow's second annual all-day Mission Institute sponsored by local United Church Women will be Mrs. William Tighe and Mrs. Raymond Woolfenden.

The session held at First Baptist Church will open at 10 a.m. with Mrs. Tighe speaking on the program theme, "Christian Missions in a Revolutionary World."

Her talk deals with the study books available in all churches.

The home missionary project, "Indian Americans," will be dealt with by Mrs. Woolfenden. She will speak at 1:15 p.m. following a noon luncheon and 12:45 devotions. Women are invited to attend any part of the program, which will conclude at 3.

Patricia Barkley of Henrietta street, president of the Junior League Musicale, will entertain the group at a supper at 6 tonight, when the year's program will be planned.

Proof of the success of the give-once-for-all approach was cited last night by Don E. Ahrens, keynote speaker at a dinner for business captains and team members for the annual United Foundation drive in the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin area.

Ahrens, vice president of General Motors said, "More than 600 other U.S. communities have adopted our plan," and added that more than $71,000,000 has been raised by UF in the last five years.

He said the over 150 participating agencies are receiving more money than they ever did before the Torch Drive, for which the local goal this year is $200,485.

Mrs. Charles Tiffany

Rosary will be said at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Melvin A. Schutt Funeral Home for Mrs. Charles (Mary Alice) Tiffany, 41, of 6860 E. Dartmoor Rd. Mrs. Tiffany died Wednesday in William Beaumont Hospital after a two weeks illness.

Survivors include her husband, Charles, one daughter Harriet; and one brother, Edward J. Malloy of Lansing.

The body will be sent to Milwaukee for service and brulal.

DETROIT (AP) — Construction of new churches in the last 10 years in the Michigan district of the Lutheran church—Missouri synod cost $20,601,000.

This report was made yesterday by the Rev. Eric C. Peterson to the 600 delegates at the centennial convention of the Michigan district.

Pastor Peterson of St. Peter's church in East Detroit, said the total value of property owned by the 256 congregations in the district totaled $41,786,000.

Area Explorer Scouts Set Planning Session

Delegates and troops of Pontiac District Explorer posts will meet at 7:30 p. m. tonight at Wisner School to plan activities for the year.

The conference will give boys a chance to decide district-wide events in the four fields of the Explorer Scout program—outdoor, vocational, social and service. Bill DeGrace, Pontiac District vice chairman, has asked each unit's adviser to bring at least two boy delegates to the planning session.

In Exploring, the older boy Scout program, the boys select and then produce their own events. Last year's major activity was a bus trip to inspect the Great Lakes' Steel Corporation plants, near Detroit.

India has produced more than 200 feature films a year since 1946, New Delhi reports.

Irish Terrorists Get Life Terms

Three Are Sentenced for Unsuccessful Raid on British Barracks

READING, England (AP)—Three members of the outlawed terrorist Irish Republican Army were under life sentences today for their part in an unsuccessful raid on a British army barracks in August.

The trio and at least seven others, posing as British soldiers, stole large quantities of arms and ammunition from an army depot at Arborfield, England, Aug. 13. Scotland Yard operatives recovered the loot from a London hideout. The rest of the raiders were not captured.

During the two-day trial the three sat glum and silent. After sentence was pronounced last night, Joseph Doyle, at 30 the eldest of the trio, spoke up:

"We are soldiers of the IRA. Those arms and ammunition were to be used against the British army of occupation in Ireland. We have no regrets—our only regret is that it (the raid) was not a success."

• • •

Doyle comes from County Wicklow. Sentenced with him were Donald Murphy, 23, of Dublin, and James Andrew Mary Murphy, 20, of London.

The largely Catholic Republic of Ireland wants to incorporate the six Protestant counties which form Northern Ireland and now are united politically to Britain. The IRA—banned in the Irish republic as well as in Britain—has repeatedly urged a terrorist campaign to unite all of Ireland.

Army Forming Force of Guerrilla Trainers

The Army has created a special unit to be trained specifically to drop behind enemy lines and organize guerrilla forces, according to Sgt. Thomas Murphy, of the local recruiting station, 53½ W. Huron St.

"The 77th Special Forces Group is the first of its kind," he stated. "Other units such as the Rangers and Commandos, after which the new group is patterned, were used mainly as shock troops not intended to remain behind the lines for any length of time.

"Only the top graduates of airborne training can qualify." Further information is available at the local station.

How About That!

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Katherine Kreitzer, who won $32,000 by correctly answering Bible questions on The $64,000 Question television show, says she's had requests for donations totaling more than $100,000.

He Won't Eat or Shave for Month Behind Bars

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) —Dr. Michael J. Piese, 67, with his sights set on spending 30 days in jail without food, now says he won't shave either.

The retired Tarpon Springs dentist has spent much of the past two days in prayer and reading a prayer book. His only nourishment has been coffee and soft drinks.

He was ordered to jail Sept. 26 for contempt of court after he refused to pay alimony and created a scene at a judicial hearing. He says his former wife, a Yugoslav, married him so she could become a U.S. citizen.

New Officers Installed by City Toastmasters

Otto Milldebrandt was installed as president of the Pontiac Y Toastmasters Club at a dinner meeting Tuesday.

Morris Decker and Larry W. Collins took the oath of office as first and second vice presidents; Donald Rofe as secretary; Henry Powers, treasurer; John Griesen, sergeant-at-arms; and Arnold Whittaker, area governor.

Outgoing president Robert Pote gave a speech of welcome to the new officers. Piano selections by Barbara Broadway comprised the music for the program.

In the fiscal year 1955, cargo carried through the Panama Canal set a record of 40,646,301 tons — more than 1½ million tons over the previous year.

GOP Will Campaign With Ike's Policies

DETROIT (AP)—Eisenhower policies will guide the Republican campaign in 1956 regardless of whether the President's health will permit him to run again, a party leader says.

Arthur T. Iverson, former deputy Michigan attorney general and a candidate for Republican state chairman last spring, made the statement yesterday at a party meeting.

"Anxious as we all are for the President's speedy recovery," he said, "I'm impatient with those who take the gloomy attitude that his illness shatters campaign chances.

"I hope he can still be our candidate. But we're going to run on his policies and he will be part of our campaign team. What's more, we're going to win."

Scholarships Not 'Open Sesame' to Success

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Suppose that upon graduation from high school you won one of the most famed scholarships of all time, were headlined throughout the nation as "the brightest boy in America," and educated accordingly.

* * *

Would it have any significant effect on your later career?

Two men, now in their early 40s, had that unique experience. One says it was a significant factor in landing him in his present job as an aeronautical research scientist. The other, a physics professor, says he believes his career would have been pretty much the same without the scholarship.

Wilber B. Huston and Prof. Arthur O. Williams Jr. were the only winners of a scholarship set up nearly three decades ago by Thomas Alva Edison. Newspapers hailed the winner as the nation's brightest boy. He was selected from candidates quizzed by a board of prominent men.

The scholarships were awarded in 1929 and 1930, then discontinued because of Edison's death.

The first winner, in 1929, was Huston, then 16 and freshly graduated from Lakeside High School in Seattle, Wash. Williams, who had just completed his studies at East Providence (R.I.) High School was chosen in 1930.

Where are they today?

Huston is a civil service scientist, engaged in research for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley Air Force Base, Hampton, Va.

Williams is teaching a few courses and specializing in theoretical physics at Brown University in Providence.

Says Williams:

"I think my career would have been pretty much the same even if I hadn't won that scholarship. I don't believe it would have made much difference."

Huston joined a small research laboratory run by Theodore Edison, son of the inventor, after his graduation from MIT in 1933.

* * *

Today Huston's job is with the maneuver loads branch of NACA, which tests the strength, buffeting ability and air speed measurement of military and civilian planes in the planning stages. He is married and the father of four boys.

Even though 25 years have passed, Williams still winces at the label, "America's Brightest Boy."

"That was a purely publicity label," he says, "and really had nothing to do with the Edison scholarship. I have always known I was not a prodigy. As far as I can see, I'm just a fellow of average career in academic work."

Huston, similarly modest, says only that the past 26 years have been extremely kind to him and "I shall always be grateful to Mr. Edison for the opportunity he afforded me."

Commercial TV Hits Snag in British Isles

LONDON (AP)—Britain's new commercial television network is running into difficulties after only two weeks in business. It can't sell advertising time on morning shows designed for housewives.

* * *

For the third straight day, the Independent Television Authority morning telecasts went out today without commercials.

Some ad men claim the present system prescribed by law whereby the TV station puts on the shows and offers ad time regardless of whether the product fits in with the type of the program, just isn't an attractive commercial proposition.

* * *

They want the rules changed so that advertisers can sponsor their own shows — along the American pattern.

New York's municipally-owned transit system, including subways, elevated trains, buses and trolleys covers a total of 819 mile.

Home Building Remains Factor in Good Business

Latest figures indicate that home building not only will remain the backbone of the construction industry but a factor in the country's continued prosperity.

Something of a slowdown has occurred in housing after a rush of business which sent dollar outlays and the number of new housing starts zooming to record highs. Yet the outlook is bright with no sign of a building slump.

In fact, construction of more than a million houses and apartments per year on the average is indicated for the rest of the decade. Authority for this prediction is the economic unit of the magazine U. S. News & World Report.

In the last five years more than 5,900,000 new homes, not counting farm homes, have been built in the United States. In that period the increase in non-farm households requiring shelter is put at less than 5,300,000. But a building slump has been avoided because of houses being torn down.

Fewer dwellings are being created by turning older houses into apartments. Other houses are being taken off the market to be used for offices and stores.

There is an even brighter side to the statistics gathered in the survey. These indicate that to take care of a growing population there will be another housing boom in 1962. Conservative figures, says the magazine, show this will topple the records set in the last five years.

★ ★ ★

In other words, builders and persons whose money has been invested in houses needn't worry. They can look ahead with reasonable assurance that the housing demand is likely to continue at a level rarely exceeded in the past.

U.N.'s War on Diseases

Important as are its political activities, achievements of some of U. N.'s specialized agencies may prove to be of greater benefit to humankind.

A special example is the World Health Organization (WHO). Its American headquarters is in the office of the Pan American Sanitary Bureau (PASB) in Washington. PASB was organized in 1902 to standardize quarantine programs.

In 1949 when Haiti was being swept by yaws, a disfiguring and crippling skin disease, PASB went to work on the island. Since then, aided by U.N. funds, the agency has all but eliminated yaws. This near miracle was accomplished with a single dose of penicillin for each infected person.

One result of this medical triumph was a new approach to the whole problem of disease in underdeveloped countries. The former objective of control has been replaced by the goal of eradication.

With the help of funds from U. N. agencies, PASB now is planning relentless attacks on smallpox, malaria, yellow fever, venereal diseases and other killers and cripplers. In the malaria campaign the primary effort is to eliminate the anopheles mosquito, the carrier of that disease, before it can develop immunity to such insecticides as DDT.

One of the great byproducts of this international effort is the co-operation it has produced among experts from many nations. Who knows but this example eventually may result in similar co-operation in the political sphere with resulting further benefits to all peoples.

Podres, Idol of Flatbush

Hail to the Dodgers—baseball's new World Champions!

And hail to JOHNNY PODRES, the 23 year old southpaw who pitched his mates to their first world title after seven successive Brooklyn failures in the Autumn classics.

★ ★ ★

The Dodgers were underdogs before the series opened. Their chances looked slimmer when the Yanks captured the first two games. But the picture changed after ALSTON'S athletes beat STENGEL'S men three straight at Ebbets Field. Dodger stock fell again when the Yanks took the sixth game.

Just what effect injuries to outfield stars of both teams had on the final result, isn't known. One sure thing is that PODRES is Brooklyn's number one series hero and the new idol of Flatbush.

When, with one victory already to his credit, he declared himself "the fair haired boy who'd take proper care of the Yanks," Podres wasn't just talking. While he was doing exactly that, Gil Hodges shared honors of the final victory by driving in the two winning runs.

STENGEL'S men fought right down to the wire and missed their 18th championship by a narrow margin. Actually, both teams played so brilliantly that the series as a whole was one of the most interesting and dramatic of modern years.

Fall Color Display

Is Now Approaching Its Best; Worth Taking Drive to See

Experience: Substitute for the advice you didn't take.

The autumn foliage color display is with us. The hot and dry summer was not to its advantage. But it is worth observing. The sumac red is not as brilliant as usual, nor is the sassafras yellow up to its display of some former years. The maple, usually the leader in gorgeous coloring, also may be a trifle deficient, but its shades of pink and red are coming through. The yellow of the elm, ash, hickory, apple and pear is on hand, and even the bushes in the hedgerows are doing their best under adverse circumstances. Better take a drive or two into the country, following the routes mapped out in the Pontiac Press series.

of Detroit, offers good building lots within five blocks of the court house at $100 each, with one dollar down and 50 cents per week, without interest.

Our neighboring beautiful Village of Orchard Lake is unique in many ways. Unlike most other villages, it holds its local election in the autumn, which

David Lawrence Says:

Top Law Enforcement Chiefs Worried About Red Drive to Discredit Witnesses

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—A drive to break down the use of confidential informants in detecting and prosecuting criminals has been begun in America under the guise of protecting "constitutional rights." It could lead to the breakdown of the entire grand jury system, too.

* * *

When the assistant attorney general in charge of enforcing the laws against subversives and the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation feel it necessary to make public speeches calling attention to the crusade faced by the government in protecting the people's interests against Communist infiltration, it is significant. It means that officials here think the drive to bar confidential informants is making headway due to distortion and lack of knowledge by the American people as to the nature and objectives of the attack.

Assistant Attorney General William F. Tompkins and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover spoke before the International Association of Chiefs of Police, and both frankly declared themselves on the subject of the Communist conspiracy.

At present council for a defendant indicted for a crime cannot obtain the transcript of the grand jury proceedings nor the names of the witnesses.

STIGMA REMAINS

Likewise, when an indictment is filed and subsequently there is an acquittal, the individual who is accused does carry the stigma of having been indicted. Today those who want security boards inside the executive branch of the government not to accuse anyone unless guilt is known in advance, because a stigma might remain, are really arguing that those who have been acquitted after court trials should not have been tried at all. This is a novel concept of American law and traditional jurisprudence.

* * *

"As an institution," said FBI Director Hoover, "the confidential informant is used not only by law enforcement but in practically every walk of life, particularly by the press and our financial institutions. In recent years, there has been a determined campaign designed to deprive law enforcement of the use of the time-tested and valued confidential informant.

"The campaign of vituperation is part and parcel of Communist strategy to convert the courtroom into a forum to discredit the judicial processes. For the most part, the technique of the smear has been devised by Communist lawyers, skilled in concealing foul and despicable acts behind the Fifth Amendment. They employ tactics which even the most unscrupulous underworld 'mouthpiece' would frown upon as improper.

"The Communist owes no allegiance to God, to his family or to his country. He owes it only to the party and will do anything the party commands him to do. He will lie, cheat, steal or do anything for the Communist cause.

* * *

"The inroads that Communist propaganda has made in influencing law-abiding Americans, who fail to realize that criminal conspiracies are conceived behind closed doors under the cover of darkness, are disheartening. It is through the efforts of confidential informants that we have been able to expose the Communist conspiracy in the past and through them we must stake much of the future security of the United States. That is why such a vicious and sustained attack has been made against former Communists who have first-hand knowledge of the secret, diabolical purpose of the Communist party.

WON'T FACE FACTS

"Those now furthering the campaign of vituperation against witnesses say that the Communist menace is a myth created by those who testified against it. Therefore, to destroy the myth, they feel it is necessary to destroy the witnesses. They refuse to recognize the Communist enslavement of one third of the world's people and one fourth of the world's surface. These witnesses have been cross-examined in our courts, observed by judges and juries and they have been brought under the penetrating eye of the American press.

"The Communists, bent on weakening our American way of life, have now turned to enlist other individuals and groups to convey propaganda designed to discredit truth."

After declaring that the use of the confidential informant isn't new or unusual in criminal law enforcement, Tompkins in his address said:

"And I dare venture to state that it is because of their very effectiveness as witnesses that they have become a target of abuse by the Communist Party and certain of its apologists."

It begins to look as if a determined effort will have to be made to counteract the concerted attempt that has developed throughout America to weaken law enforcement measures which, if adopted, would frustrate the means of detecting criminals.

Suntan Letter Answered With a Dash of Salt, Iodin

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Recently I wrote you regarding the remarkable sun tan lotion which I guarantee . . . notwithstanding your assertion that it is absurd to imagine anything that will let a person tan will at the same time prevent sunburn, I can prove . . . (No address).

I am a medical student at . . . and I have been taught that a salt-free diet is often helpful in the control of hypertension. In your article you said that the effect of expressive salt consumption on blood pressure, in scientifically controlled tests, is insignificant. I would appreciate it if you would cite the source of the "scientifically controlled" tests . . . (Properly signed).

"It has been reported that if iodine or iodide is used beyond a certain point it may produce undesirable or dangerous effects . . ." I would like to know your opinion . . . (A. M.)

In the pamphlet The Iodine Ration, available on written request (clipping will not suffice) if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope, I give my advice concerning the use of iodine in nutrition. The use of iodine or iodide as medicine is best left to the judgment of your physician.

NO REFERENCE

I'm sorry I haven't the reference the medical student asks for, and anyway, if the student's teacher or professor says salt-free diet or salt-poor diet is beneficial to a person with high blood pressure, the professor's opinion is as good as any other doctor's opinion, even as good as mine, so why fash ourselves about it?

* * *

Incidentally, the medical student may be interested to know, advising patients to avoid or restrict their intake of foods containing much cholesterol is, in my opinion, without scientific foundation — but it makes an impression on the Yankee Wiseacres who patronize trick specialists or "clinic" racketeers instead of consulting a physician who practices under his own name.

For the person or firm that sent four pages of sales talk about a sun tan lotion I repeat that in my opinion anything that prevents sunburn prevents tanning.

Sunburn and tan are both due to the ultraviolet rays in sunshine or skylight or in the light from a therapeutic lamp, so any covering or application that protects against burning must also retard or prevent tanning. But don't let the truth discourage you — when you set out to peddle your magic lotion keep in mind the fact that fifty million credulous customers are always waiting for the newest cosmetic that promises to make them beautiful or glamorous over night.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Voice of the People

Praises Press Feature, Tells of Local Example

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I think the Press' picture of the Sargasso Sea and explanation of how adult eels all go back to that sea to spawn and die was very good and true.

But I would like to have Mr. Disney or someone else explain how these little eels get distributed all over the world and especially how they got into Duck and White Lakes.

There is no inlet nor any outlet. Sixty years ago men put in a two-foot tile for 80 rods to drain Duck Lake. Maybe the eels saw it and started their trip back to the Sargasso.

They would have had to go through the tile down the Pettibone Creek to Milford, half the length of the Huron River, across Lake Erie, over the Falls to the mouth of the St. Lawrence and then 2000 miles more. It seems it would have taken years.

I know some of them never got back as they got caught in the water wheel at Spring Mills, and the miller had them for dinner.

I wonder if there are eels in White Lake now. I speared one there 60 years ago and saved it the trip back to the Sargasso Sea, as we had it for breakfast the next morning.

Vests Making Comeback, No Longer Rate Sneers

NEW YORK (AP)— Facts and fancies from the Oddity Almanac:

Friends of the vest may be pleased to learn that this handy item of male apparel is making a quiet but steady comeback.

Time was when a clothing salesmen sneered at you as old-fashioned if you demanded a vest. But some New York stores are now featuring the three-piece suit again. There are also signs of a revival of the double-breasted suit, the fat man's friend.

Gaudiest new bait to tempt the peacock male, however, is a new sheared beaver coat for men. Next year mink, fellows?

Everyone has heard of the tired businessman. But business girls get tired, too—and no wonder. The average gal typewriter jockey performs 61,440 typing operations a day. Incidentally high school students, who some critics hold have forgotten how to spell, may also be in the process of forgetting how to write by hand . . . 75 per cent of the students now use a typewriter in their school work.

Oldtimers who bemoan the passing of the $2 hotel room might be interested in a 1790 tavern bill on display at the New York Historical Society . . . a breakfast of "cold meat with a pint of good beer or cyder" cost a dime . . . "A good clean bed with clean sheets for a single person" cost six cents, or if two slept in the same bed, it was four cents each.

Almanac nature study note: The average hen thinks she is doing the farmer a favor if she lays an egg every morning. But she's a piker compared to a queen honey bee. This busy little lady can lay more than 2,000 eggs in a single day—totaling four times the weight of her own body.

Almanac statistical department: The average beginning pipe smoker uses 10 matches for every bowl of tobacco. A survey shows that 73 per cent of boys and girls 5 to 13 years of age prefer TV Westerns to space ship programs. Despite the fact martinis are getting Sahara dry, Americans are consuming more vermouth than ever. In the first six months of this year 914,319 gallons were imported, compared to 800,888 gallons in the same period of 1944.

* * *

Almanac health department: The common cold is still flourishing. About 90 per cent of the entire U.S. population will get at least one cold this winter. But two out of every three persons will get the sniffles three times before next summer.

The ordinary cold remains one of America's most expensive ailments. The nation's annual toll of 500,000 colds, it is estimated, will cost more than five billion dollars, counting medical expenses and time lost from work, or $10 a cold.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Widespread Sport of Bargain Hunting Typifies Advantages of Free Republic

Men, what do you think is America's favorite type of hunting? It's described below. And women are usually most adept to it. But when you finish this case today, you'll have far more respect for the advertisements in this newspaper, for advertising typifies this great Republic.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-358: Mrs. Crane is a vivacious brunet who typifies most wives in being a great addict of bargain sales.

"Just look at these ads!" she exclaimed as she was reading the newspaper.

"They are really offering some wonderful bargains. So I think I'll go downtown tomorrow and buy some things for Judy, as well as the boys."

A shrewd wife is an asset to any husband, so I knew it would be a good idea to O. K. her plans.

"What time will you be leaving the house?" I inquired.

* * *

"Well, I think I'll go early," she replied, "for notice this clever innovation."

Then she showed me the ad wherein that department store offered free coffee to all customers who arrived before its doors were open.

And at 9:30 a. m. the store furnished a 10 cent breakfast consisting of orange juice, plus a roll or doughnut, and coffee.

"And look at the lunch, too," she exclaimed, as she pointed to a 39 cent bargain turkey dinner served all day.

"It's a regular $1.05 dinner at the bargain price of just 39 cents," she added, but I reminded her she was on a diet so she shouldn't tempt herself unduly.

BARGAIN HUNTING

Many husbands can't understand a wife's fondness for bargain hunting, but this is the most widespread sport in America and the one which pays richest dividends to the average family.

Men may squander literally hundreds of dollars on fishing tackle or shotguns, and not bring home a dollar's worth of edible fish or game.

* * *

So masculine hunting and fishing sprees are costly and thus inefficient.

But a woman's shrewd bargain hunting not only saves her husband many dollars in actual cash, but brings delight to all the family.

For when Mamma obtains needed dresses for Susie or shirts and socks for Daddy and Junior, and at lower prices than usual, she renders a dual service to her entire family.

Besides, bargain hunting finally becomes a great indoor sport. I have a cousin, who is a talented salesman and manufacturer. But he spends his evenings scanning the newspaper ads just to pick up bargains.

When he fills his garage and attic with too many bargains, then he runs ads himself and sells the stuff, usually at a good profit.

* * *

He doesn't need most of the things he buys, but he relishes the game of buying and selling just as a major hobby.

He is a great golfer and can shoot a round in par, but this bargain hunting has now exceeded golf in monopolizing his interest.

HURRAH FOR STORES

When you analyze American stores, you'll better appreciate their contribution to our happiness and high standard of living.

For example, a grocery carries at least 3,000 different items, while a drug store or hardware will stock more than 10,000 items.

And the inventory of a large department store may exceed 500,000 items! Contrast this bountiful array of goods with the paucity of merchandise in shops behind the Iron Curtain.

Then be glad you live in our free Republic. Henceforth, read the ads in this newspaper with greater thankfulness, even if you are not shopping bent.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Proposed Drunk Testing Labeled 'Very Liberal'

LANSING (AP) — A National Safety Council representative told the State Safety Sommission recently that proposed chemical tests for drunk drivers in Michigan are not as severe as the public thinks.

Gov. Williams has said that he would propose legalization of so-called "drunkometer" tests as court evidence at a special legislative session called for Nov. 1.

Robert Schmal of the NSC said the standards of drunkeness to be set by the proposed state law are "very liberal."

"For instance," Schmal said, "a 150-pound man would have to drink and absorb in his blood stream all the alcohol in six ounces of 100 proof alcohol to be considered unfit to drive a car.

"What this means," Schmal said, "is that a normal person would have to consume nine to 10 ounces of 100 proof alcohol in two to three hours to be drunk."

"Any driver who has taken two or three beers and is arrested should insist on a chemical test for his own protection," Schmal said.

Schmal said that a "two-fisted, experienced drinker doesn't absorb alcohol into his blood stream as fast as a novice drinker. This protects him from being trapped in a drunk driving charge for consuming what is for him a normal amount of liquor."

Curious Girl Discovers Sack Containing $160

ELKIN, N.C. (AP) — Curiosity paid off for 6-year-old Janice Marshall.

While playing in a smokehouse at her home, she saw a mouse run into a hole in one of the logs. She gouged at the hole and uncovered a small tobacco sack containing some money but couldn't get the sack out.

Her father sawed the log in two and found $160 in old U.S. currency. Marshall doesn't know how the money got there. He plans to redeem it and buy U. S. savings bonds in Janice's name.

Prejudice Hiring Cases Total 147

70 Complaints Involving Race, Color and Creed Disposed of by Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's Committee on Government Contracts reported today that it received 147 complaints in the past two years of hiring or promotion discrimination because of race, color or creed.

The committee, headed by Vice President Nixon, said it had disposed of 71 complaints and is still working on the others.

It said many more complaints would have been filed but for a general "reluctance" of people to do so.

* * *

The committee seeks to enforce the antidiscrimination clauses which are contained in most federal government contracts with private firms. The complaints were filed by various organizations and individuals against firms in the utility, aircraft, auto parts, oil refining, chemical, construction and machine tool industries.

Of he 71 cases closed, the committee said, "corrective action" was taken in 21, no violation was found in 21, lack of jurisdiction resulted in dismissing 16 and the remaining 13 were dismissed because of inadequate information.

* * *

The committee said there has been "improvement in compliance" in a number of the 76 cases still pending. It said that cases are not closed until the committee is satisfied with a contractor's general compliance as well as with results achieved in connection with the specific complaint.

Knowland Cancels Far Eastern Junket

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate GOP Leader William Knowland has canceled a planned December trip to the Far East as a result of the changed political picture produced by Presidnt Eisenhower illness.

The California Republican, a key contender for the GOP presidential nomination if Eisenhower does not seek re-election, intends to remain where he can keep in close touch with domestic events for the rest of 1955.

Knowland returned to California Tuesday after a brief speaking swing in the East. He will be within quick air-commuting distance of the nation's capital during the critical weeks of Eisenhower's recuperation and of political jockeying for 1956.

Air-Dropped Leaflets Announce Newcomer

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Leaflets floating down from an airplane over Texarkana yesterday read: "It's a Girl, Sheila Kay McCall, Five Pounds Eight Ounces, Ten Fingers, Ten Toes, Mother OK."

The mystery was cleared up when it was learned that Mrs. Joe McCall gave birth to a first child at St. Michaels Hospital and the father, a private pilot, was just advertising.

Detroiter Is Acquitted of Kidnaping Charges

DETROIT (AP) — A Recorders Court jury yesterday acquitted Murray Sinuk, 26, of kidnaping his former girl friend.

Sinuk was accused of abducting Miss June Dallen, 21, at gun point and taking her on a wild car ride to Ohio last May 19 in an attempt to persuade her to marry him.

Sinuk claimed she went willingly.

Break Robbery Ring

CHICAGO (AP)—Police seized Kenneth Clifford, 23, and two other men yesterday after two West Side groceries had been held up. Police said they admitted the holdups and a dozen other robberies in the last three weeks. Clifford, on bond awaiting trial on a charge of statutory rape, told police he was trying to raise money for attorney fees.

Hoshana Rabbah Services Scheduled

Hoshana Rabbah marks the final day of the Succoth Jewish Holiday. Services Friday at Congregation B'nai Israel will be at 7:30 a.m. and 6:00 p.m.

Saturday morning services are scheduled for 7:30 and 8:30. Shemini Atzereyh, as this day is known, is celebrated by two prayers. Gesham is a prayer for abundant rainfall and the second, Yiskor, is a prayer recited by individuals pledging themselves to live righteous and just lives.

With the evening service at 6 p.m., the Jew commences to celebrate his most joyous holiday of the year, Simchas Torah. The final chapter of the Torah is read and the first chapter also read, ensuring a continuous study of the Bible.

The Torah scrolls are carried in a procession around the chapel. The children follow singing songs and waving multi-colored flags. This ceremony will begin at 7 p.m.

Following the Sunday morning service at 9 a.m., a special brunch will be served at which Irving Prizant will act as host.

LAST LAP OF THE ARCTIC HIGHWAY: "Cat" trains tow loaded sleds across sea ice to final installation sites of "DEW" radar line.

Highway to Arctic Uses Cat Trains

By COL. G. L. CURTIS, USAF

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (NEA)—In a pioneering adventure which made transportation history, regular highway trucks have been driven from here to the shores of the Arctic Ocean.

* * *

They carried supplies and fuel for construction of the U. S.-Canadian "Dew Line" radar screen.

The private trucking concern blazed its own highway more than 600 miles through the Arctic in only 39 days, smashing through a virtually unknown and uncharted area of snow and ice.

This project was first proposed in the latter part of 1954 by Alfred Ghezzi, Jr., President of Alaska Freight Lines.

SUMMER ROAD

Sensing the possibilities of a complete new concept in Arctic military supply, the Army and Air Force gave their approval to the proposal. U. S. and Canadian authorities realized that if the firm could make overland delivery of the supplies and equipment needed to build the radar screen, the high cost of air lifting the same supplies could be greatly reduced, and transportation schedules could be maintained despite the tricky Arctic weather.

Although a summer road exists between Fairbanks and a small way station located on the Arctic Circle, this road has always been Circle, this road has always been impassable during the bitter Arctic winters. Alaska Freight Lines' lead "Cat" train blasted through to this intermediate point (last February) over terrain previously considered impassable in exactly eight days.

The "Cat" train, crossed the frozen Yukon River and headed north for the Arctic Ocean.

Ahead of the lead unit two Alaskan guides went forward on snowshoes, working in constant liaison with a scouting plane. Red flags dropped from the plane spotted the most passable routes.

SNOWTRAIN FOLLOWS

Day and night the "Cats" kept punching into the North, with the big diesel truck-trailers right behind. Temperatures hit 68 degrees below zero and engines had to be kept running constantly. Drifts 50 to 75 feet high were commonplace, and at times the "Cats" worked in "layers" of two and three.

Behind the "Cats" rolled the "Snowtrain," each of its 24 wheels individually powered, its five trailer units loaded with 150 tons of supplies. The wheels of the Snowtrain are seven feet four inches high, and the trailer beds stand nine feet off the ground, enabling the train to roll securely over the roughest terrain.

The firm's original plans called for the Diesel trucks and trailers to go only to the dividing line between the sub-Arctic and the actual Arctic. There the cargo would be transferred to the Snowtrain for final delivery to the Dew Line radar network along the rim of the Arctic Ocean.

CAT-SKINNERS

However, the diesel trucks and trailers surpassed all expectation and kept rolling north as if they had been intended all along for Arctic operation.

The lead "Cats" of the trail-blazing section were the first vehicles ever to be driven north to the Arctic Ocean, and their "cat-skinners" had accomplished the impossible by blazing a route considered by many experts to be impassable, and in the face of conditions designed by nature to test to the limit both men and machines.

This achievement in pioneering a land route to the Arctic has opened up an entire new concept in logistic support of Arctic sites.

It may reverse the original resupply program for the Dew Line from the summer open-water season to the winter frozen-tundra season. Supplies may be fanned out to individual sites from strategic inland staging points such as Fairbanks. Or ships may move supplies into three or four central locations on the Dew Line during the summer open-water season for lateral movement to individual sites during the winter season.

Ireland's Historical Facts Sign-Posted

DUBLIN, Erie — Ireland's history is being sign-posted. People who want to know what happened and where will find it on one of the 8,800 signs being put up by the Eire Government. Every village, castle, ruin and building is to have its signpost or plaque.

Over 6,000 mileage signposts have been erected on roadways 2,000 name-posts at the entrance of towns and villages, 500 nameposts at national monuments and 300 plaques at historical sites.

The "digest plaques" are erected at old castles, famous buildings, fortresses, towers and monuments. They give a historical survey of about 100 words.

The most-sign-posted areas are Wicklow and the West of Ireland down to Killarney, according to Aidan O'Hanlon, public relations officer for the department in charge.

Samoan Newlyweds Get 200-Lb. Cake

WELLINGTON, N.Z. — A 200-pound wedding cake, perhaps the most ambitious undertaking of its kind in the history of the South Pacific, featured the linking of two prominent Western Samoan families in Apia.

Some 1,500 guests attended the wedding, the bride being Emi Papalii of the Malietoa family and the groom Tamasese Morgagogo, of the Tamasese clan. A nine-tiered cake was ordered from New Zealand because there are nine sections in the family of Malietoa.

The cake, baked by a Wellington firm and delivered by ship, contained 90 eggs and 60 pounds of fruit, and was topped with 70 pounds of icing-sugar.

Two thousand different kinds of life, ranging from bacteria to fish, have been found on hulls, buoys and marine structures.

Niagara Falls' Face Gets Beauty Treatment

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (NEA)—Niagara Falls is having its face lifted. To make sure that the famous falls will look as magnificent for future honeymooners and world tourists in the years to come, the United States and Canadian governments are doing a $17,500,000 beauty job on the crest of the waterfall. It is expected to be completed by 1957.

* * *

When the French missionary and explorer, Father Louis Hennepin, first saw the Niagara Falls in 1678 the drop into the Niagara River was almost 1,000 feet further than it is today. Since records of the crest of the waterfall have been kept since 1784 the falls have receded 865 feet, more than half of this in the first 78 years.

ROCK SLIDES

Use of the falls for hydro-electric power has slowed down the recession considerably. Once the falls was an unbroken line of water falling from Lake Erie into the Niagara River. Gradually rocks fell off and two sections were formed, the American Falls and the Horseshoe Falls. The former is in the United States, the latter straddles the international boundary.

In recent years there have been a number of rock slides which have left more spots in both falls. Ice floes have also carried away sections of the rock over which the water used to plunge.

Now under an international treaty signed in 1950, Niagara Falls is being given a new appearance, so that the Horseshoe Falls will present an unbroken front of water tumbling 160 feet down from the rapids in the upper Niagara River to the lower Niagara River which carries the water in a foaming torrent down to Lake Ontario.

CONTROL STRUCTURE

The face lifting job is being done by the United States Army Corps of Engineers on the United States side and by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission on the Canadian side.

The project consists of first building a control structure on the Canadian side above the falls, so that the amount of water falling over the crest can be controlled.

Then the rapids near both shores will be excavated to make for a more even flow over the crest, and sections near the shore will be filled in to provide better vantage points from which to see the plunging waters.

A start on saving the face of Niagara Falls was made during the Second World War when a weir was submerged on the Canadian side of the river about 1½ miles upstream from the falls.

BEAUTY ENHANCED

This weir not only provided more water diversion for electric power generation, then greatly needed on both sides of the international border, but it also maintained the natural level of the water. In fact it increased the flow over the American falls, enhancing its appearance considerably.

When engineers on both sides of the river began studies of how to obtain more electric power from Niagara Falls and at the same time fight erosion, water surface and river-bed surveys were so difficult that conventional methods were out of the question.

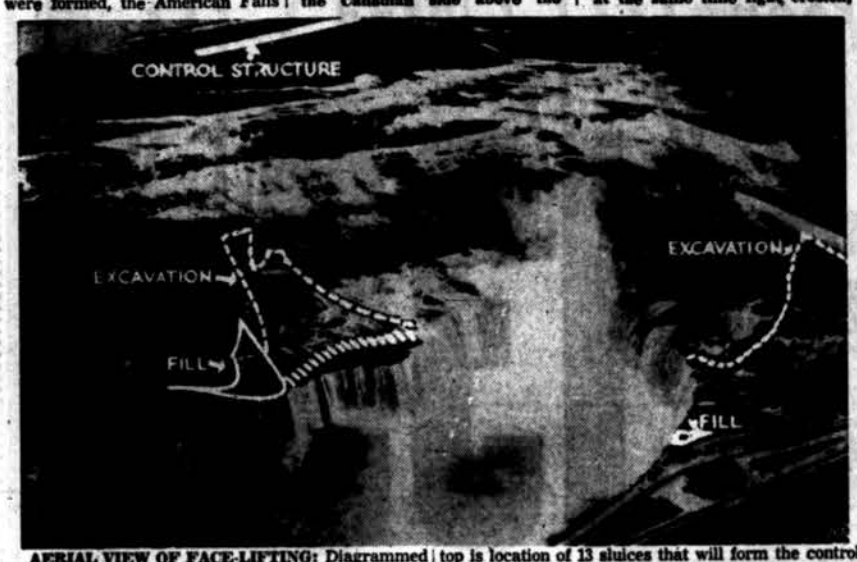
The steep cliff surfaces and the turbulent waters meant that kytoon balloons and helicopters had to be used to provide sky-hooks from which to hang survey equipment. In one section on the American side of the river trees and a narrow channel required an even more ingenious method of surveying. Searchlights with 800 million candle-power were used and engineers found their figures by taking measurements of water reflections from the searchlight beams.

On both the United States and Canadian sides of the Horseshoe Falls rock and earth will be excavated, 24,000 cubic yards on the U. S. side., and 64,000 cubic yards on the Canadian side. This will allow the waters to flow over sections which have till now been only partly under water.

* * *

Near these excavations small areas will be filled in as well and have concrete retaining walls, so that visitors will be able to better see the unbroken crest of the Horseshoe Falls.

A British travel agency is offering vacation trips to Russia, for the first time.



AERIAL VIEW OF FACE-LIFTING: Diagrammed photo shows the work now under way at Niagara Falls to beautify this major tourist attratcion. Near top is location of 13 sluices that will form the control structure, while on both flanks are excavation and fill work to be done by 1957.

SETS UP RITZY PERON EXILE—Maria Goran Weiss, glamorous, tennis-playing friend of Juan Peron is seeking a luxurious villa in Zurich, Switzerland, for the deposed Argentine dictator. She is backed by his "exile" fortune. The 35-year-old brunette is armed with Peron's power of attorney. Peron is reported to have a sum estimated at between $6,000,000 and $20,000,000 in various banks in Switzerland. Miss Weiss is pictured in Buenos Aires, where she competed in the Pan-American Games tennis matches.

Genteel Smuggling Big Italian Industry

ROME, Italy — Smuggling is still big business in Italy, according to the records of the anti-smuggling Finance Guard (Customs and Excise men). It is not associated, in these days, with colorfully dressed men rolling kegs of liquor into caves, but with powerful speedboats, fast cars, running gunbattles, airplanes, frogmen, and even one-man submarines.

Last year 194,000 persons were arrested in Italy in connection with smuggling. The Finance Guard seized $30,000,000 worth of smuggled cigarettes, drugs, jewels, gold and military strategic cobalt. They say they missed contraband worth many times that amount.

Ex-wartime frogmen have been caught not only smuggling across lakes but using the sewers of towns which are split by the frontier. And one-man subs cross lakes between Switzerland and Italy.

Leaf Sweepers Busy

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Molting trees this month signal a job boom for a portion of Grand Rapids' Public Works Department. City Manager Donald M. Oakes says street sweepers will be put on a 16-hour daily schedule until fallen leaves no longer clutter curbs.

Plans to Probe Religions Closed

Hearings on Freedom of Faiths Voted Down; Will Mail Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators have dropped their disputed plans to conduct public hearings on freedom of religion.

* * *

Chairman Hennings (D-Mo) announced his subcommittee on constitutional privileges has decided to dispense with the calling of witnesses. He said it will proceed, instead, to the writing of a report based on replies to a widely circulated questionnaire sent out by subcommittee staff aides.

Hennings' prepared statement did not mention protests he acknowledges had been received from some Catholic, Protestant and Jewish church leaders against the plan for public hearings.

* * *

Hennings told reporters these churchmen had expressed concern lest public hearings explode into controversies having little or no relation to the basic issue of how freedom of religion as guaranteed by the Constitution has fared in this country.

Others have protested the idea of delaying or abandoning the hearings.

Educator Claims Today's Teeners Read Very Well

EAST LANSING (AP)—A midwestern educator would like to see critics who say "Johnny can't read" entering a reading contest with today's high school seniors.

* * *

Virgil E. Herrick, professor of education at the University of Wisconsin, told the seventh annual Michigan school board conference at Michigan State University that today's high school students compare favorably with those of yesterday in reading ability.

Prof. Herirck said at a reading test given in a Wisconsin community, high school seniors placed higher than members of the board of education and some of their own teachers.

College freshmen, he said, are at an all-time high standard for reading skill.

Prof. Herrick said criticism of reading ability of today's child is slanted to take examples from the minority.

* * *

"The vast percentage of today's school children, right down to the sixth grade, are reading above average," the speaker said.

New 'Hallucination' Drug Being Tested

LONDON, England—A new drug with a name so long that it is called T.M.A. for short, gives normal people hallucinations like those experienced by mental invalids, according to Britain's "Journal of Medical Science."

Volunteers are taking pills containing this drug in the hope that it may eventually aid in finding causes and treatment of some types of insanity.

The drug is still in the research stage but volunteers have had interesting experiences, including apparent trips on a magic carpet over unknown cities. T.M.A.'s full name is 345-trimethoxyphenylbeta aminopropane.

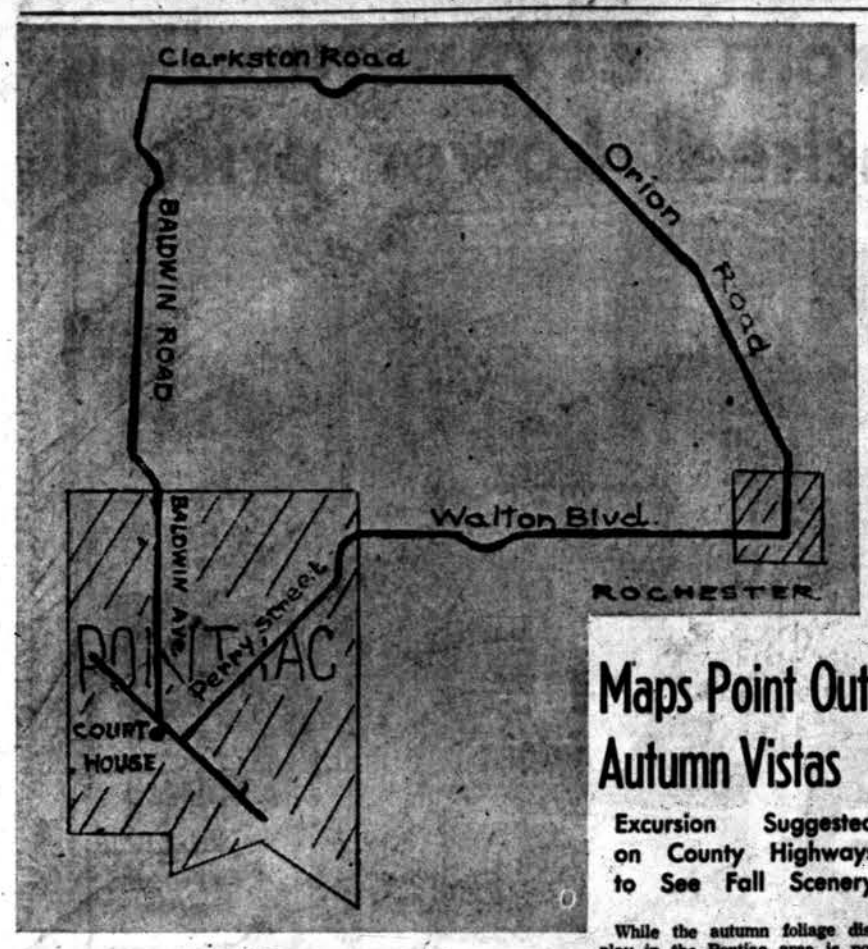
Red Trade Offensive Seen in Arms Offer



Economic War Touches Egypt

Soviet Strengthens Grip on Middle East Nations With Commercial Ties

VIENNA (AP)—Western diplomats said today Czechoslovakia's arms deal with Egypt conceals a subtle Soviet trade offensive. These diplomats believe Russia hopes by economic penetration to win Middle East and Balkan countries away from the West.

* * *

Quietly, Russia and her satellites have strengthened their position in Egypt, Turkey, Greece, Israel, Iran, Afghanistan and Yugoslavia with new trade ties in recent months.

During the past year Egypt has signed agreements with Russia, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Poland and Romania.

Besides weapons from Czechoslovakia, the Communist countries are sending Egypt industrial machinery, rolling stock, tractors, automobiles, machine tools, chemicals and petroleum. Such deals will permit the Communists to send technical personnel to Egypt to set up industrial installations and train local people.

The general Soviet pattern is to exchange Communist bloc industrial equipment and petroleum for agricultural goods and raw materials like phosphates, iron, bauxite and pyrites.

* * *

Turkey—The Communist nations are providing Turkey with toos, machinery and finished products in exchange for agricultural products, some of which are hard to dispose of elsewhere.

GREECE

Greece—Trade, particularly imports from the Soviet area, increased during the past year.

Yugoslavia—Trade relations with each member of the Soviet bloc in Europe have been resumed as a result of the Kremlin's new attitude toward Tito.

Afghanistan — Russia's success here is most noticeable, probably due to the country's isolation and proximity to the Soviet Union. Russian has extended several credits for the purchase of industrial equipment.

IRAN

Iran—Russia is taking agricultural products in exchange for industrial and manufactured goods.

Israel—Exports to the Soviet bloc increased from 3.4 per cent of the nation's total in 1953 to 5.2 per cent in 1954 and it is believed it will be greater in 1955.

Maps Point Out Autumn Vistas

Excursion Suggested on County Highways to See Fall Scenery

While the autumn foliage display in the Pontiac area is not as gorgeous as in some past years, on account of the dry weather, it is well worth a drive into the country.

Herewith is the first of a series of maps covering sections of Oakland County that have plenty of trees adjacent to the highway, and where Mother Nature is working with her paint pots to good effect.

Covering approximately 20 miles, and with only one left turn, this drive has some attractive rural landscapes and a variety of lakes, hills, valleys and other alluring vistas. All of it is on pavement, with the exception of one mile of excellent dirt road.

Starting at the corner of Oakland and Baldwin avenues, drive north on the latter 10 miles to Clarkston road. There turn right five miles to the Orion road.

Do not make the mistake of turning when you come to the Lapeer road (M24), but continue on Clarkston road straight ahead to Orion road.

Turn right on Orion road seven miles to Rochester. Then turn right on Fifth street six miles to Lapeer road, where you turn left three miles, entering Pontiac on Perry street.

Entire Estate Willed to Rochester Church

A Rochester woman, who died July 1, has left her entire $26,000 estate to the First Baptist Church of Rochester, according to a will filed in Oakland County Probate Court.

Cora O. Wagner bequeathed $16,000 in real estate and $9,000 in personal property to the church in a will made April 19, 1947.

For a Half-Buck

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal court jury convicted Frank Boyd, 36, a substitute clerk in the main post office, of stealing 50 cents from a letter. Judge John P. Barnes sentenced him to a year and a day in prison.

Author Asserts Congress Hasn't Right to Quiz Him

WASHINGTON (AP)—All the evidence was in today in the contempt of Congress trial of author Harvey O'Connor, who testified he did not think any congressional committee had a right to ask him whether he was a Communist.

* * *

Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy, conducting the trial without a jury, was ready to hear closing arguments from both sides.

O'Connor, testifying in his own defense as the last witness, said yesterday that under the Constitution no government authority can inquire into the political opinions of its citizens.

* * *

O'Connor replied that he didn't know what the term "Communist conspiracy" meant, but he said he did not feel any congressional committee had a right to ask him if he were a member of the Communist party.

TOOK FIRST AMENDMENT

O'Connor, 58, lives in Winnetka, Ill., and Little Compton, R.I. He is the author of "Mellon's Millions," "The Astors" and other books.

He was charged with contempt after he had refused to tell the Senate Investigations subcommittee in July 1953 whether he was a member of the Communist party or the Communist conspiracy at the time books he wrote were placed in the State Department's overseas libraries.

* * *

"My writings, my books and my political opinions are of no legitimate concern of this committee," he told the subcommittee, then headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

McCarthy, the government's principal witness, testified that the subcommittee was inquiring into whether the State Department was complying with the law in the administration of the overseas information program. He said it was not trying to censor books.

ANTI-McCARTHY

O'Connor testified he would have refused to answer any congressional committee that asked him about Communist party membership.

* * *

O'Connor said he had read about the activities of McCarthy's subcommittee and had decided to do what he could to halt what he considered to be "an invasion of the basic freedoms" of American citizens. He said McCarthy had called him merely in an effort to "blacken my name and ruin my reputation."

Want Indonesia Minister Ousted

Parliamentary Elections Press to Get Harahap Removed From Office

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A mounting Nationalist party lead in returns from Indonesia's first parliamentary elections brought new demands today for the ouster of Prime Minister Burhanuddin Harahap's caretaker government.

* * *

Harahap's Moslem Masjumi party was running fourth, behind the Moslem Orthodox Radicals and the Communists as well as the Nationalists. The prime minister, whose friendliness to the West contrasts with Nationalist coolness, has said he will step down only after the new Parliament is organized early next year.

* * *

However, leaders of several parties represented in the temporary government suggested that their ministers resign to provoke a Cabinet crisis. Some newspapers joined Soekano, a Nationalist padlrrdrshdr in the Nationalist and Communist demands that President Soekarno dissolve the appointed provisional Parliament to force Harahap's Cabinet out of office.

Some newspapers suggested that Soekarno, a Nationalist party veteran who now is officially above politics, head an interim government.

Holland Signs Contract

FUN AT "Y" — Four young swimmers get in some practice at the Pontiac YMCA pool. The "Y" provides stimulating recreation and entertainment to 2,300 youths each week. A United Fund agency, it also offers an extensive adult program. Pictured are (l-r) Douglas Livy, Gregory Riggs, Arnold Osta and Tom Heydon.

UF Contributes to 'Y' Programs

The Young Men's Christian Assn. here provides healthy entertainment and recreation for more than 2,300 Pontiac youths each week.

You can help continue and expand that program by contributing to the Pontiac Area United Fund drive beginning Oct. 11. A portion of your donation will back YMCA youth activities.

Each Friday night the "Y" attracts 900 school students who are members of the Swim and Swing Club.

Payments of a nominal membership fee allows club members to engage in swimming, dancing, games and refreshments on a low-cost, pay-as-you-go plan.

"We feel this carefully supervised function provides an excellent outlet for energetic young people," said Director Theodore N. Slosson.

Another large group of boys spend their spare time as active members of the "Y" affiliated Phalanx Club and Hi-Y Clubs at local schools.

The adult program is more than self supporting, said Slosson, but still cannot carry the youth program.

Thus nearly 40 per cent of the association's yearly $70,000 budget must come from some outside source. That source is the United Fund.

The progressive physical training program is on a low-cost basis and "where else could young people get so much for so little?" asks Slosson.

Nixon's Camp Blasts Knight for 'Fantastic Pretensions'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Friends of Vice President Nixon are at his side today with sharp retorts to Gov. Goodwin J. Knight for bringing a California Republican party feud, smoldering for more than a year, into the open.

The governor touched off intraparty fireworks yesterday by stating that, if President Eisenhower doesn't run next year, he intends to head the state's delegation to the GOP National Convention even if it means an open fight with Nixon.

The Nixon camp retaliated swiftly with statements by Rep. Carl Hinshaw, chairman of the state's GOP House members, and V. John Krehbiel, Los Angeles County Republican chairman.

Both criticized the governor for making his remarks in a Sacramento interview while President Eisenhower is ill.

* * *

Rep. Hinshaw accused Knight of "fantastic pretensions as a bona fide contender for the office of president."

Control of the delegation is considered vital to any Californian with presidential aspirations. It will be second in number of nominating votes only to New York. Traditionally in California, the governor heads the delegation.

Gov. Knight, in his interview, had reiterated that his first choice as a GOP nominee is President Eisenhower but that if the President doesn't run he will seek control of this state's convention votes as a favorite son—and only nominal—candidate.

* * *

Kreihbiel said in his statement: "Gov. Knight by his conduct in injecting partisan politics while the President is confined to his hospital bed forfeits any right he may have had to enter the national picture. He certainly doesn't belong in the class of such outstanding men as Vice President Nixon and Sen. Knowland."

Navy to Direct Technical Part of Satellite Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has been picked to direct the technical part of the armed services' work in building a space satellite, a Pentagon spokesman said yesterday.

* * *

The Defense Department official said "supporting participation" would come from the Air Force and Army, with coordination at the department level, on the military's share of the project to construct the basketball-sized device to be hurtled some 300 miles into outer space.

* * *

A top Navy official declined comment on a report by the Baltimore Evening Sun that the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore, producer of the Viking rocket, has a 20-million-dollar contract to build and operate the satellite's launching gear.

AWOL Mental Patient Located in Battle Creek

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Millard Hale, a 33-year-old mental patient, was picked up in a downtown hotel yesterday after failing to report back to the Veterans Administration Hospital following a weekend pass.

His capture ended a statewide alarm. Police had been guarding two Ann Arbor judges Hale had threatened.

Under protection were Circuit Judge James R. Breakey Jr. and Probate Judge Jay H. Payne.

The police alarm was issued after a relative whose home Hale had visited in Ann Arbor reported a gun was missing. Hale, however, was unarmed when found by state police. He gave up without trouble.

Picket Line May Keep Hare From Convention

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James M. Hare says he is uncertain whether he will attend the the secretaries of state annual convention in Miami Beach, Fla., Oct. 8.

He wants to determine first whether he would have to cross a picket line to reach the meetings.

Hare said yesterday he was advised by Secretary of State Joseph L. Donovan of Minnesota that the hotel in which the convention is to be held is being picketed. Hare said he understood New York's secretary of state, Carmine de Sapio, and Donovan intend to pass up the convention for this reason.

Skin Transplant Solution Hinted

Pediatrician Claims Key to Successful Grafting Lies With Patient

By FRANK CAREY
(AP Science Reporter)

CHICAGO (AP)—The key to transplanting skin grafts — and even whole organs — from one person to another may lie in the mechanism by which man defends himself against disease.

Dr. Robert A. Good of the University of Minnesota told reporters evidence suggests that "if ever" science is to realize that dream, it must find ways and means of "tinkering" at will with the human body's immunity-producing system.

He talked about it after having received the American Academy of Pediatrics' $1,000 Mead Johnson Award for "outstanding scientific contributions to pediatrics" during 1955.

Explaining to reporters that skin transplants from one normal person to another never "take" for longer than a couple of weeks, Dr. Good said:

"We think that the success of the transplants in the case of the patients suffering from this disease is due to the same deficiency that is responsible for their great susceptibility to infection. . . .

Therefore, he said, it appears that if researchers ever are to perfect techniques for normal transplantations, they must find some way of "controlling the immunity response."

And the newly dead—such as people killed in accidents — conceivably could be the source of entire organs, he said.

DRIVER ESCAPES DEATH — George Shaw, 33, of New Bedford, Mass. crawled out of this car with most of his clothes torn off and a fractured arm when he lost control of the auto, and it crashed into the end of a highway fence. The top rail of the fence smashed through the car's radiator, went through the steering wheel, and emerged out the back end of the car.

Used Clothes Here Means Cash Abroad

HOUSTON, Tex. (INS) — A Houston firm makes big money rounding up old clothes.

The firm acts as a clearing house for used clothes, reprocessed woolens and silks from throughout central U.S., exporting them to foreign countries.

Leon W. Brown, head of the Houston Wiper and Mill Supply Co., said the people in Harris County alone discard a pound of clothes per person each month—a total of one million pounds worth some $30,000.

The firm expects eventually to export to Japan and Italy 300,000 pounds of woolens and silks and 60,000 pounds of used clothing a month.

Florida City Decides to Keep Horse Laws

PALATKA, Fla. (AP)—The city of Palatka is recodifying its ordinances but Mayor J. H. Millican says there is no plan for omitting these three which have been on the books a long time:

All persons under 16 must be off the streets after dark unless accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

Horses may be hitched only to designated hitching posts—not to lamp posts—on downtown Lemon street. Boats on the St. Johns River may travel no faster than five miles an hour.

Sweeps Winner Is Calm

AUKLAND, N. Z.—A family syndicate of four here who won $168,000 in an Australian lottery took the news calmly. Dr. Louis Robinson, spokesman, said he has been buying tickets for 20 years without previous success. The pool will be divided between him, his lawyer brother, their mother and a brother-in-law, H. M. Israel.

Distress Cries of Former Tramp Haunt Parisians

PARIS — The distress cry of a former tramp, now working and living in poverty, has aroused the conscience of Paris.

William Borst, tall, gaunt, aged 29, now a clerk in an insurance company, wrote his story to a newspaper. "For two years I have worked for the royal salary of 25,000 francs ($70) a month," he wrote. "Half the month I starve. I collect cigarette butts.

"Each day I walk five miles to work. My wife is slowly dying. My child is sick. I cannot even light a fire because we have burned even the handle of our broom. If I were single I would live again outside this rotten society that remembers our existence only when there is a war."

Gifts and offers of jobs rolled in. But Borst says: "There are thousands like me in Paris."

No Sense Frittering

KALISPELL, Mont. (AP)—At 101, William McKinley took a plane to his Seattle home after visiting his former Kalispell home. Said McKinley: "That's the only way I care to travel. I'm not in a great hurry but that's no reason for frittering on a journey."

Young Scientist Now Listens to Atoms' Hearts

DENVER, Col. (INS) — James T. Smith, a young atomic scientist built a magnet so powerful it enables him to "listen" to the hearts of atoms.

The magnet is part of a machine so new it still is unnamed. Only at the University of Colorado, has a few exist in the world. But oil companies think it will lead to new methods of making crude petroleum yield more gasoline. Chemists can use the machine to study the formation of molecules.

Smith explains that the magnet creates a field 150,000 times as strong as the earth. Into this field he places a sample containing an atomic heart—a nucleus. Magnetic energy in the machine starts the nucleus—and others like it—racing. The nuclei spread out until another pulse of energy brings them all into position.

At this point, the magnetized nuclei turn into miniature broadcasting stations. They start to hum at very high frequencies. Smith is able to pick up this "nuclear spin echo" and show it visually on a screen similar to a TV screen.

From the shape of the wave from on the screen, scientists learn about the magnetic properties of nuclei, about the interaction on one nucleus with another, and about the electrons that spin around the nuclei. It's all part of learning why matter behaves as it does.

To build the machine, Smith used 200 vacuum tubes and two tons of copper.

The number of passenger-train cars in service in the United States dropped from an average of 53,216 in the 1926-30 period to 32,800 at the start of 1955.

British TV Viewers Uaware of Choking

LONDON, Eng. — Tele-viewers who recently watched a British commentator being hoisted from the sea by a helicopter didn't know he was nearly strangled to death.

It happened to 36-year-old Berkeley Smith during a "live" broadcast from the Navy's newest aircraft carrier H.M.S. Bulwark.

Said Smith, afterward: "I became entangled with a length of microphone cable which tightened around my neck, slowly strangling me. I was landed on the deck of the carrier just in time.

One TV critic said I looked grim. I felt grim. My wife was looking in but did not realize anything was wrong. Viewers saw Smith raise his hands to his neck —but it was a long distance shot.

American Egg Consumption Up

Average Citizen Downs 414 a Year; Dried Type Uses Greatest Amount

WASHINGTON — Whether a person likes his morning egg fried or boiled may depend as much on where he lives as whether he wakes up fit, fussy, or otherwise.

* * *

Residents of Providence, R. I., prefer theirs boiled. As many as half the shoppers in Mansfield and Columbus, Ohio, and Wichita, Kan., still buy their eggs by the bag rather than by the carton. Housewives in Chicago go for light-yolk eggs, while those in surrounding towns hold out for orange yolks. Bostonians will pay several cents more for a dozen of brown-shelled eggs, but New Yorkers pay more for whites.

Americans ate more eggs last year than ever before: an average 414 per person — almost half again as many as 40 years ago. Not all were marketed as shell eggs. Some were transmuted into bakery and grocery products. Others were frozen or dried.

Today nearly half of all dried eggs end up in consumer-size packaged mixes. Called egg solids now, they are made by a completely new technique.

KEEP EGGS COOL

Until scientists breed a hen whose eggs will keep for weeks at room temperature, it is still vital to the shell egg that it be kept cool. Hot out of the nest, it has a temperature of 105 degrees F. Unless refrigerated, and kept that way, it deteriorates fast. An egg held three days at 70 degrees loses as much "freshness" as one kept two weeks in a refrigerator.

Eggs should be bought from a refrigerated case and stored as soon as possible in a home refrigerator. Put them in a covered container to keep the porous shells from absorbing strong flavors. And be sure that the eggs are standing big end up so their air cells will be on top.

One egg recently turned up in Chicago with no yolk at all. But Nature compensated in New York State through Bessie. She laid 29 double-yolked eggs and two triple-yolkers in five weeks.

* * *

Bessie, however, was outdone in sheer numbers by Duplicate, which now stands stuffed on her owner's piano in Sussex, England. After allegedly laying 463 eggs in 12 months, Duplicate burst a blood vessel and died.

New York Hospital Reports Hiss 'Good'

NE WYORK (AP)—Alger Hiss was reported in "very good" condition today at New York Hospital.

A hospital spokesman declined to say why the former State Department official is in the hospital.

Hiss, 50, made his last required report to a parole officer four days before he entered the hospital Sept. 27.

He served 3 years and 8 months of a five-year perjury sentence for denying before a federal grand jury that he passed State Department secrets to Whittaker Chambers, admitted onetime courier for a prewar Soviet spy ring.

Chief of Police Testifies Against Own Brothers

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP)—Police Chief Oda Amburgey testified against two of his brothers in Circuit Court yesterday. But they were acquitted of stealing copper wire from a coal company.

The police chief arrested Victor and Estill Amburgey along with three of his other brothers after an investigation of the theft at the Sandlick Coal Co. Theft charges against the other brothers are still pending.

Urban League Picks Glickman Trustee

The National Urban League today announced the election of Louis J. Glickman, New York real estate investor and philanthropist, as a member of the league's board of trustees.

Robert W. Dowling, league president, in making this announcement, stated that because of Flickman's extensive experience and leadership in the field of health and social service, he is well qualified to serve the organization. The Urban League is a national interracial social agency designed to secure equal opportunity for Negro and other minority groups.

Butler Tells Dems Nixon Is Easiest Candidate to Beat

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Vice President Nixon "is the easiest Republicap to beat" for the presidency but the Democrats will win next year from anybody, says Chairman Paul Butler of the Democratic National Committee.

* * *

Butler, here for a Jefferson-Jackson Day fund-raising dinner, discussed 1956 presidential possibilities at a press conference. His talk to the party rally was concerned mainly with a plea for Democratic unity and with an endorsement of Sen. Lister Hill for renomination and re-election next year.

Butler said Nixon would be his choice as "the Republican candidate for president easiest for the Democrats to beat."

Butler was here on a swing through the South. He made no direct reference at the dinner to the effort of E. D. Nixon, a Montgomery Negro, to buy a ticket for the meeting, but he did say he did not know why anyone would think he would not come to Birmingham.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan decided not to come here for the dinner after Nixon failed to get a ticket. Birmingham's segregation laws prohibit Negroes and white persons from dining together in public places.

* * *

Butler predicted that the Solid South, broken in 1948 and 1952 elections, would return solidly to Democratic ranks as a part of a Democratic sweep next year.

Butler said the illness of President Eisenhower had brought more appeals for readmission into the Democratic party than at "any time in 100 years."

They Can't Forget the Gas Chambers

German Unity Delay Suits Poles Fine

By TOM REEDY

WARSAW, (AP)—Polish informants indicate here the Russians plan to keep Germany divided for at least a decade.

One government source commented in an informal conversation:

"Reunification may be possible, but in 10 or 15 years."

This suits the Poles fine. A 2,000-mile tour of Poland by this correspondent made clear that Nazi Germany's conquest of Poland and extermination of six million out of a prewar population of 34 million turned this generation of Poles against Germany.

* * *

The murder camp at Auschwitz (Oswiecim), where it is estimated that four million died in the gas chambers, is now a museum. Every Sunday 5,000 visitors go through it in shocked silence. The children are reminded that all this was the work of Germans.

* * *

Almost every family in Poland has been touched by personal wartime tragedy.

The legacy from the Nazis has shifted to the Germans the traditional Polish hatred for the Russians. The Poles do not bother to qualify which kind of Germans — East or West, Nazi or Christian Democrat.

"We Poles dislike the Russians," a progovernment editor in Cracow said. "But we hate the Germans. Since we are between them, we have to take the lesser of two evils."

The Soviets have capitalized on this by pouring industrial goods and financial credits into Poland, by isolating Russian troops from public view and by recognizing instances when Polish patriotism must take precedence over Communist party doctrine.

* * *

Government spokesmen argue that a reunified Germany would instill 70 million Germans, gazing across the Oder-Neisse frontier, with ambitions to recover old German territory now in Polish hands. A Germany divided with 50 million in the West and 18 million under Communist role in the East is regarded as much less of a worry.

Warsaw officials admit that the forces of destiny require Germany to be fitted together eventually. But they argue that in 10 years more, Poland will be so solidly entrenched in its western territories that the 1945 Oder-Neisse border will be generally accepted in world councils.

This, they claim, is also Soviet strategy.

East German Communists attending the World Youth Festival here in July were embroiled in various incidents. An angry crowd threatened physical violence when the Germans tried to give candy to Polish children in the streets. Police had to break up several rows in night clubs.

* * *

Examples of anti-German feeling abound. In a hotel in Zoppot, an angry girl stormed out of the bar because the waitress spoke Polish with a German accent.

Ignazy Krasicki, a former noble, told how 40 people in his house were shot, and added:

"The Germans made me a Communist, not the Russians."

Lightning Playfully Skips Around Town

KENNETT, Mo. (AP)—Lightning, on a playful spree, caused little damage but a lot of confusion in this southeastern Missouri town.

One bolt hit a tree, coursed across the wet grass, up a drain pipe and into and out of Mrs. A. W. Garrett's kitchen.

Another bolt struck the radio at the fire department headquarters and smacked Marcus Williams, the driver, out of his chair. He arrived at the Garrett home still a little groggy. Neither bolt caused fire and neither Mrs. Garrett nor Williams was hurt.

Hungry Coons Raid Resort Guests' Bait

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — They were good for business—in more ways than one—but a northern Wisconsin resort operator's pet coons had to go.

Fishermen came to the resort to see the coons. Once there, they bought minnows.

Then they bought more minnows, because the original minnows had a way of evaporating from the bait buckets. Then someone caught the coons at their thievery: one swiping minnows while the other performed.

Many Blueprints Used by Aircraft Industries

LOS ANGELES — The use of more than 19,000,000 square feet of blueprints a year is required in the manufacture of aircraft and guided missiles by a typical American aircraft company.

The blueprints could cover a highway 72 miles long and 50 feet wide.

Babs Should Learn to Live With Her Blues

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — When Barbara Hutton was cracking open her first bottle of wedding champagne, I was still cracking open the heads of small boys, yelling "Yaa, so's yer old man."

That was in 1933, and I have grown up now, no longer addressing boys, small or large, in this manner.

Babs, however, is still at the same old standstill.

The latest word is that she will wed for the sixth time—to Baron Gottfried von Cramm, the German Davis Cup player and man-about-Europe.

This interesting background of Von Cramm's is nothing new, particularly in Hutton husbands-to-be. Nor is there anything startling in the potential nuptial site—Paris. Barbara has married interesting men in Paris before.

* * *

I suppose the only unusual twist about this wedding, which sets it apart from the others, is that Van Cramm is a tennis player.

SMALL AND CONFUSING

I attended Miss Hutton's last wedding—to Porfirio Rubirosa—though I missed the four which preceded it. The Rubirosa affair was the smallest, and certainly the most confusing (the entire ceremony was read in Spanish, the tongue of Rubi's Dominican Republic).

* * *

Frankly, I didn't know what was going on, and I don't think she did, either. A dazed look in her doe-eyes, fingering nervously a glass of scotch and soda, she didn't look at the man she was marrying. Nor at the small party of friends gathered into the tiny parlor of an apartment on Manhattan's upper East Side.

Only once did she display genuine interest in the proceedings. That was when the officiating justice turned to her nordic-blond, teenage son, Lance Revention, and asked him a question as a portion of the ceremony.

"Oh, no," shuddered Babs, then, and leaned forward to send a tortured look at Lance. "Oh, my dear," she whispered, "I didn't know you'd be brought into this."

* * *

It was the most doleful wedding I have ever attended. When it was completed, everyone drank and was merry. When I turned in my story to the office, the only description I could think of to fit the occasion was:

"For her fifth wedding, the bride wore black and carried a scotch and soda."

CRUEL BUT TRUE

It was a cruel phrase. But it was never denied. And it was a cruel mistake of a wedding, as later events proved. After one of the shortest honeymoons on record, Babs returned from Palm Beach ill and more fragile than before, then quickly escaped to Europe.

* * *

Ruirosa, who seemed not at all confused at the wedding, has sought out other blondes in other climes.

I have always sympathized with Miss Hutton since the wondrous days when she was lovely and the symbol of what every young maiden wanted to be.

But now that she is getting older, and I am getting philosophical, I realize that life is too short for a steady diet of the blues.

* * *

I could never laugh, as many now do, at the misguided marriages of Babs Hutton. But I do wish she'd learn to live with herself, like a big girl, instead of planning her personal tragedies with all the care of a Chekhov planning a denouement.

Safety Expert Criticizes Michigan Highway Rules

LANSING (AP) — A National Safety Council official told the State Safety Commission recently that Michigan is "tossing 215 million dollars a year down the drain" by its failure to adopt modern, tested highway safety measures.

Harry Porter, NSC field representative, reported on an inventory of Michigan's safety controls.

He said this economic loss from highway accidents can be reduced by using methods tested in other states.

Many of his recommendations coincided with the 14-point safety program which Gov. Williams will present to a special legislative session Nov. 1—but he refused to say whether the national organization endorsed the Governor's program in full.

He and Robert Schmal of the same organization told the council that:

Michigan has a greater increase in highway fatalities in the first eight months of this year than any comparable state.

* * *

Indiana saved 200 lives in 1954 by adopting some of the same methods.

Michigan's traffic situation is "serious" and needs "immediate action" of a nonpartisan nature.

A 10 per cent reduction Michigan's highway toll would reduce the economic loss to the state by three times the cost of Williams' program.

Michigan's legal definition that an auto accident should be recorded only if a car cannot drive away from the scene is behind the national trend of fixing specific damage minima for reportable accidents.

Drivers of trucks and busses should be required to pass driver tests in the vehicle they will drive, not just any handy passenger car.

Michigan's highways are "outstandingly engineered," but that they need more money, men and research and less construction on a "checkerboard" pattern.

No other comparable state lacks a highway speed limit.

Toll roads nationally have had the finest engineering but this has not prevented the necessity for speed limits.

The need for compulsory auto safety inspection is shown by the experience of other states that 39 per cent of the cars on the road have unsafe equipment.

The Canadian apple crop for 1955 amounted to 17,600,000 bushels, an increase of 1,300,000 bushels, or 22 per cent, over the 1954 yield.

THE LAND OF DOWN UNDER—4
More Strange Creatures

Although Australia is so big we call it a continent, it really is an island cut off from the rest of the world for thousands or even millions of years.

In that time, some strange animals had a chance to develop. Also, many animals and plants that once had been common elsewhere, continued to live in Australia because of favorable conditions there.

Two of the strangest are the spiny ant-eater, and the duck-billed platypus.

Although they do not look alike nor have similar habits, they have this in common: They both lay eggs. They are the only mammals in the world that do so.

The spiny ant-eater, also called the echidna, carries its egg around in its mouth and after it hatches carries the young one in its mouth for awhile also. When threatened, it rolls up in a ball and relies on the barbs in its hair to repel the enemy.

The platypus has webbed feet, a duck's bill, and soft fur like a mole's. It lives in a burrow by the water. The mother platypus hatches her two eggs by cuddling them against her warm body.

To add to your Australian cutout collection, color the platypus picture, mount it on light cardboard, and cut along the heavy lines. Fold back the top panel, and fold forward the bottom panel along the dotted lines. Now your platypus will stand up as does the one in the small picture at the upper left.

Irish Bishop Knocks Emigration Problem

DUBLIN, Eire — Irish parents who won't improve living conditions in their homes may be a potent cause of the emigration that drains the youth from Ireland, the Right Rev. Dr. F. J. Michell charged in Cavan, Eire.

"Everywhere I go in these dioceses I hear of men in their forties and fifties, and sometimes even in their sixties, living as dependent children in the homes of their aged parents, victims of a father's greed and a mother's selfishness," he said.

"Small wonder that many sons prefer to live as men in other countries rather than exist as objects of pity in Cavan, Leitrim and Roscommon, and in far too many similar places."

Distilled Spirits Drop

NEW YORK—The nation consumed 189,470,688 gallons of distilled spirits during 1954, a decrease of 2.7 per cent from 1953.

Army Charging Ike for Hospital Meals

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Army has ruled that President Eisenhower must pay for his meals at Fitzsimons Army Hospital but he cannot be charged for nursing, medical care or other expenses.

The ruling was made in answer to inquiries from newsmen.

* * *

The Army said there was never any question but that the President, as commander-in-chief of the military forces, was entitled to medical care under the usual regulations.

These regulations provide that the military patient shall pay his "subsistence"—which in the case of hospitalization is interpreted to mean only the meals at the usual military rate.

Four Receive Fines for House Vandalism

Two men and two youths were fined $25 each and ordered to make restitution to owners of a Troy Township home they admittedly vandalized over the weekend.

They are: Arthur James, 23, of 17 Porter St., Pontiac; Charles Bell, 22, of Rochester, William Emery, 19, of Rochester, and James LaVergne, 17, of Clawson.

All four pleaded guilty to throwing rocks through a large picture window in a new home at 58 Booth St. when they appeared before Township Justice George T. Jeffers yesterday.

They were apprehended by Troy Police who had questioned them about being in the area earlier.

Only One Died Who Had Vaccine

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Polio took the lives of 134 Wisconsin residents in the first nine months of 1955 — as the state experienced the worst outbreak in its history—but only one had been inoculated with Salk vaccine.

* * *

Tabulation of figures from local public health officials today showed a total of 2,286 reported cases of polio as of Sept. 30 This exceeded the all-time state record for an entire year of 1,272 cases in 1951.

Considerate Thieves

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Burglars who took a safe from the Standard Feed Store were considerate about one thing. They carefully wrapped checks, inventory books and other papers in the safe so they were udamaged by weather when the battered safe was found. The burglars got $400 in cash.

Shucks, Officers, a Fellow's Gotta Look to D'future

DETROIT (AP) — An old man in ragged attire stopped a policeman in downtown Detroit yesterday and begged the price of a bowl of soup.

Patrolman Gordon Headley is a kindly man, but he recognized Genter Adams, 65, as a familiar character. He took him to police station.

The man was wearing two pairs of pants. In the outer pair police found about $40. A pocket in the other pair contained $489. Police said Adams also had a bankbook showing savings deposits of $5,226.

"The money's mine all right," said the man, "but I have to save it. Who knows what might happen?"

"I hope I'm not too late for lunch," he added as he was led to a cellblock.

* * *

Police said Adams has been arrested 25 times for begging since 1929, serving at least four 90-day terms in the Detroit House of Correction.

* * *

Adams said he has no living relatives.

Lost His Pants

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Found yesterday in Norfolk's city council chamber: one pair of gray flannel trousers. A quality silk handkerchief found in one of the pockets failed to give any clue to the owner. One city official observed: "All sorts of schemes and pet projects have been abandoned there, but this is the first time anyone left his pants."

Actor Denies Charge

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Sonny Tufts, 44, says he did not heat up Mrs. Adrienne Forman, 22, in a restaurant last July 17. The actor filed a Superior Court denial yesterday of allegations brought by Mrs. Forman. She demands $5,000 compensatory and $5,000 punitive damages, declaring she suffered permanent and serious injuries.

12 Lose Lives in State Traffic

Rain-Drenched Roads Claim High Toll Within 24-Hour Period

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Twelve persons, including two Upper Peninsula youths, were killed in traffic accidents during the past 24 hours as rain banketed Michigan.

* * *

Two Crystal Falls youths, Donald Trepasso, 17, and his 15-year-old cousin, Ernest Barnett Jr., were killed there last night when their car left rain-slickened U.S. 2, skidded 150 feet and rolled down a 40-foot embankment. Sheriff's men said the accident occurred during a heavy fog.

Among the other traffic fatalities:

Daniel Burnham, 64, of Caro died today of injuries suffered yesterday when he lost control of his coal truck. The truck plunged off a rural road near Caro and overturned.

* * *

John B. Wallace, 17, of Detroit was killed early today when the car in which he was riding flipped over near Indian River in Cheboygan County.

Mrs. Vera Farrow, 38, of Detroit was killed today when struck by a car while walking to a bus stop in downtown Detroit.

Two separate crashes within an hour and a half near Flint yesterday claimed the lives of three men. The crashes occurred during a heavy rain.

Alvin Hines, 31, of Flint and Clyde Elwell, 71, of Pontiac were killed in a head-on auto collision on U.S. 10, 12 miles south of Flint.

Allie T. Shick, 47, of Flint was killed and his wife was injured critically when their car skidded out of control on U.S. 21, about two miles west of Flint.

* * *

In Kalamazoo, a school bus driver and a 14-year-old youth were killed today when a car plowed into a group of children on a rural road as they tried to aid a victim of a previous accident. Seven were injured.

Hypnotism Combats Sea Claustrophobia

SYDNEY, Aus. — Australian naval psychologists are using hypnotism to defeat claustrophobia in deep-sea divers.

Some 15 per cent of men in the Navy's frogman school have dropped out because they could not bear being confined in the rubber suit used in deep-water.

Claustrophobia is a product of the imagination and imagination can be stronger than will-power, psychologists point out.

Now it is hoped that hypnotism will implant confident suggestions of well-being in the imaginations of the divers. One man who ripped off his mask when 30 feet down died because he held his breath.

Whooping Bird Near Extinction

Their Nests Resemble Other Vanished Birds, Investigators Report

WASHINGTON—The fate of the passenger pigeon and the heath hen looms desperately close for the whooping crane.

* * *

Urgency in guarding the whooper's nesting area, just discovered in wilderness south of Canada's Great Slave Lake, stems from what happened to other American birds.

At least five are gone forever, the National Geographic Society says, among them the great auk, the Labrador duck, and the only United States parrot, the Carolina parakeet.

The last heath hen vanished as recently as 1932. No extinction in history, however, matches that of the passenger pigeon. It was the most numerous bird in America a century ago. By 1914 not one remained.

Passenger pigeons took their name from an early Indian name that meant "wanderers." The lovely blue-gray birds were highly gregarious. They flew up and down the continent, east of the Great Plains, in flocks that literally filled the sky.

Disease, storms, fires, and drownings were blamed for their extinction. "There is now very general agreement that man was responsible," writes the Wisconsin ornithologist A. W. Schorger dryly in a new book on passenger pigeons. The reason: They were worth money in the markets.

PIGEONS BAGGED

One old-timer remembered greasing a long smooth pole until it was slick as ice, raising it into a tree and lighting a bull-eye lantern at the bottom. Pigeons landing would slide haplessly into a bag.

The last passenger pigeon, a female named Martha, died of old age (29) in the Cincinnati Zoological Garden Sept. 1, 1914.

* * *

The last heath hens, in contrast, perished despite all that men could do at the end to save them. Once plentiful from Maine to the Carolinas, by 1880 they survived only on the Massachusetts island of Martha's Vineyard.

Then in 1916 fire swept the island. Most birds killed in the scrub oak were nesting hens. Two dozen males survived for every female.

Goshawks invaded to prey on the remaining birds. Rats took a heavy toll of young, despite the warden's guard. The species was doomed, for it could not produce enough young to equal annual losses.

* * *

Naturalists hope this is not yet the case with whooping cranes. Only 21 adult birds, one flock, flew north from Texas this spring. In the last 15 years the number has fluctuated from 15 to 34 birds. Last year not a single fledgling flew south with the flock.

Quinine for Indians

NEW DELHI—India has three quinine factories. A new one was opened recently in Madras, where there already was one. The third is in West Bengal.

ONE STEP TO DEATH — Two school children were killed when they fell from this bus, which crashed through a barrier above tracks near Lyons railway station, Paris.

Lottery 'Winner' Victim of Hoax in New Zealand

WELLINGON, N. Z. — Because he had celebrated prematurely, believing he had won a big lottery prize, a young man in New Zeland was convicted of theft.

He was the victim of a hoax perpetrated in Hawera, in which three men were given the glad tidings of a $40,000 win in an Australian drawing.

After staging a celebration, they learned that the report had been faked. One celebrant, traveler for a Wellington firm, had to confess he had used up $130 of the firm's money "borrowed" in the belief that he could return it from the prize money before the end of the month.

"You understand," Judge L. M. Inglis told the unhappy youth, "that even though you had the intention of repaying the money, you are guilty of theft." He adjourned the case for six months on condition that the money be repaid.

Methodist Temperance Officials Admit Losing Battle Against Demon Alcohol

WASHINGTON (AP) — Methodist board of temperance officials have ruefully admitted that in one respect, at least, they are fighting a losing battle.

* * *

Seven liquor or beer emporiums spring up, they report, for each new church built in this country.

The temperance people, after digging into Internal Revenue Service statistics, dredged up this information:

During one three-month period, ending June 20, new liquor outlets increased by 9,053.

But in all of 1954, they said the number of new churches went up by only 5,697.

MORE SALOONS

As a result, there are 141,733 more saloons, bars, cocktail lounges and liquor stores than there are churches, synagogues and temples.

The breakdown shows 441,789 establishments dispensing alcohol, and 300,056 dispensing religion.

One reason for the big increase in the liquor statistic, according to a temperance man: More and more grocery stores are getting permits to sell beer and wines.

* * *

The temperance people didn't stop here. They report that, on the latest figures available, this nation spent $9,855,000,000 on alcoholic drinking each year as compared with $2,964,000,000 on churches.

BETTER INVESTMENT

They even came up with the news that; from a business standpoint, a bar is a better investment than a church.

They reckoned the average church budget at no more than $15,000 to $20,000 a year. This compares with a study of 256 taverns—reconnaissance "dry" platoons try to read every speck of literature put out by the "wets" — which showed a typical bar did $55,807 worth of business a year.

* * *

Well, that's about the news on the dry front except for one statistic the temperance board gets more joy out of reporting.

The fight still goes steadily on in local option elections throughout the land, and the board reports that in 36,739 such elections since repeal, it has won 21,334 of them.

* * *

And even though the bar business seems to be booming, the board points with pride to this: 25 million Americans still live in areas where it's illegal to buy whisky.

Post Office to Issue Pamphlet on Mailing

Helpful facts about wrapping and shipping packages are contained in a new illustrated pamphlet entitled "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels for Mailing" available free at all post offices on and after Oct. 15, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced recently.

The pamphlet describes the types and sizes of cartons best suited for outer and inner shipping containers; gives details for the internal protection for goods being shipped; lists hints on wrapping chinaware, stemware, framed articles; and gives instructions for making various types of parcels to insure the quickest possible delivery.

The Postmaster General emphasized that much of the delay in delivery of parcels, particularly at Christmas, and most of the damage en route is due to lack of knowledge of basic rules to follow in mailing packages.

U.S. Opposes Making Records of Jury in Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Moves were under way today in Congress and the Justice Department to preserve what Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) called the "sanctity of the jury room."

This was in reaction to disclosure yesterday that jury deliberations in five civil cases in a Wichita, Kan., federal court last year had been recorded as part of a research project conducted by Prof. Harry Kalven of the University of Chicago.

* * *

Kalven said it was done with the prior consent of the judges and the attorneys for all parties concerned.

Atty. Gen. Brownell, declaring the Justice Department "unequivocally opposed to any recording or eavesdropping on the deliberations of the jury," announced the department will ask Congress "at the first opportunity" to enact legislation "to prevent such intrusions. . . ."

Eastland said his Internal Security subcommittee would open hearings on the situation next week.

In the meantime, Eastland condemned any use of microphones to record jury discussions which normally are carried on in strict secrecy.

Historical Seward Mansion Exhibits Memorabilia of Lincolnian Epoch

By OWEN CRUMB

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP)—A piece of history goes on display here when the home of William Henry Seward, restored to the somber splendor of the days of Lincoln, is opened to the public.

'888

* * *

Stepping through the doorway, a visitor leaves the present outside and feels like a part of the days when Seward served as governor of New York, U.S. Senator and secretary of state in the cabinets of Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson.

Three rooms have been converted to house mementos. In one is a piece of bedsheet, slashed by a knife, taken from the bed in which Seward was lying when he was attacked by an assassin in the same plot which brought about the death of Lincoln.

The table in the glittering dining room is set with China given the Seward family by Prince Napoleon Joseph Charles Paul Bonaparte, the nephew of Emperor Napoleon — whose portrait hangs in the diplomatic gallery on the second floor.

SEWARD'S ICEBOX

The place of honor in the gallery is given to Emanuel Leutze's oil painting of the Signing of the Alaska Treaty.

The $7,200,000 purchase negotiated by Seward and dubbed "Seward's Ice-box" by his enemies also is recalled by numerous mementos of Alaska.

But one of the most striking evidences of this high-spot in Seward's career is a huge copper samovar, presented by Baron Edward Stoeckl, Russian minister to the United States, with whom Seward negotiated the purchase. The samovar surveys the dining room from its resting place atop a traditional buffet.

A practical note on Seward's political career is evident in a two-volume biography of Thurlow Weed, tucked among shelfloads of biographies. In the dining room hangs an oversize portrait of Weed, Editor of the Albany Evening Journal, Whig and Republican strategist and a principal guiding hand behind Seward.

BUILT IN 1816

The house was built in 1816-17 by Judge Elijah Miller, Seward's father-in-law. A fireplace in the parlor where the great men of Seward's time were entertained was carved by Brigham Young, then a 16-year-old carpenter who was to become a guiding force in the Mormon Church.

Sections of the house were added by the family until it came to its present 48-room size. Twelve rooms will be on public display.

The house was restored by the Foundation Historical Society, formed under the Emerson Foundation headed by William Emerson of Auburn.

William H. Seward III gave the house to the foundation on his death in 1951. The foundation declines to say what it cost to restore the building to its civil-war grandeur.

LITTLE RESTORATION

But the restoration has been minute. In the library where Seward worked (and where his family was tucked away when important visitors were being entertained), a bust of Lincoln sits opposite the couch where the secretary died in 1872.

Were it not for a quirk of politics, the house might have been the home of a president. Seward was the leading Republican candidate for president in 1860. But his former political associate, Horace Greeley, threw his weight against him and Lincoln won the nomination.

Upjohn Enters Mexico

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The Upjohn Co., pharmaceutical firm, has announced formation of a wholly owned Mexican subsidiary. Dr. E. G. Upjohn, president, said Robert S. Jordan will be president of the subsidiary, which will begin operations in December. Upjohn already has foreign subsidiaries in Canada, England and Brazil.

A Hamburg, Germany, shipyard is building ore carriers for a Los Angeles company.

Goldfish Eating Rites Continue in Belgium

GRAMMONT, Belgium — Citizens here recently again thronged the market square to watch the mayor and town officials open their mouths an dswallow several live goldfish.

This is not a new craze but a curious ceremony which has been held there without a break for 360 years. No local municipal official is allowed to retain his post unless he observes the custom annually on the appointed date.

Before the vigilant eyes of spectators who will tolerate no evasion, each squirming participant is handed a goblet of wine in which the goldfish are swimming.

Then the men step up for their ordeal, drain the contents and thus assure their livelihood at least for another 12 months.

Leaves $94,196 Estate

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Dr. John T. Fawcett, former chief of staff at Elyria, Ohio, Memorial Hospital and late president of B & G Terminal, Inc., at Grand Rapids, leftt an estate valued at $94,196, according to a Probate Court inventory. Dr. Fawcett died last June 20.

Old Theater Doomed

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The Post Theater, where such old-time stars as Lillian Russell and Sarah Bernhardt once performed, is soon to be destroyed to make room for a city parking lot. Built in 1902, the theater has been a movie house in recent years.

The 3-foot-high pronghorn antelope has eyes nearly as large as an elephant's and can spot a moving coyote at three to four miles.

Meet the Vice President

Friends Call Nixon a 'Broad Gauged Guy'

(This is the second of four articles on Vice President Richard M. Nixon by INS Correspondent William Theis who has "covered" Nixon for more than seven years.)

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON — Many Democrats and some Republican rivals of Nixon's question his sincerity and his political "morals." Top Democrats will never forgive Nixon for what they claim was a "smear" approach in 1954 campaign speeches he made against their senatorial candidates in the West.

* * *

They contend he played loosely with the topic of security cases and misrepresented the reasons for removal of government employes in order to link the Truman Administration with Communism.

Republicans denied Nixon's words were so designed. Eisenhower blandly ignored the quarrel.

In a sense, Nixon has been "working off" unfavorable publicity which he acquired in the "Expense Fund" incident of the 1952 campaign. His friends and co-workers are unstinting in their praise. One associate puts it this way:

A BROAD-GAUGED GUY

"Dick has depth and sensitivity. That was apparent from the reception he got everywhere on his Far East trip. He couldn't make that kind of impression unless he had a genuine interest in people. And with that, he's a logical, incisive thinker — a really broad-gauged guy."

His office staff is one of the most overworked on Capitol Hill. But it is loyal and as dedicated as its boss. He has the politician's most precious asset—the "Common Touch."

Nixon enjoys telling how he "never made the team" in college football. He went out for the squad all four years at Whittier College in California.

But he recalls: "I was not heavy enough to play in the line, not fast enough to play halfback and not smart enough to play quarterback."

A lot of his listeners, when that story is told, had "never made the team" either. Nixon reaches through to them.

PRAISES THE HELP

During his 45,000-mile Far Eastern "Good Will" tour, the Vice President never failed to preface every luncheon or dinner speech with a warm tribute to the servants.

Whether in Cambodia, Afghanistan or Australia, his thoughtful expression made a deep impression upon those present, especailly when it was directed to native servants.

Richard Milhous Nizon was born on Jan. 3, 1913 at Yorba Linda, Cal., not far from Los Angeles. His father, Frank, had gone west from McArthur, Ohio, in 1906. His mother, Hannah Milhous, was born in Indiana and moved to Whittier with her family in 1897.

"PERSONAL HONESTY"

Richard and his four brothers, two of whom died before manhood, were raised in the Quaker faith and by its moral precepts. Tolerance and "personal honesty" were two of his mother's watchwords.

Nixon's father dated his Republicanism from the day in McArthur, when candidate William McKinley had admired his horse and asked him if he'd "always vote Republican." Frank said he would and never deviated—except possibly 1932, for Franklin D. Roosevelt. He leaned toward Republican liberalism, admiring Teddy Roosevelt and Robert LaFollette, Sr.

Like former President Truman, Dick Nixon was a studious, serious and rather shy boy. Like Truman, Nixon read avidly and developed a great interest in the leaders of American history. *

LITTLE TIME FOR FUN

By hard practice, he learned the piano, taught Sunday school and got his first taste of public speaking in the 8th grade, when he won a class debate. He was president of his high school and college classes. At Whittier he won the Southern California title for extemporaneous speaking.

During college, he operated the fruit-vegetable department of his father's grocery store in Whittier, rising at 4 a.m., to do the produce buying and study before class. Nixon recalls he had "little time for fun" and few dates.

Nixon won a scholarship to Duke University, where he was graduated in 1937 from its first law school class in the upper 10 per cent. He returned to Whittier and practiced law. He later served as assistant city attorney in Whittier.

It was during this period that he met Patricia Ryan, a graduate of the University of Southern California, who was teaching high school at Whittier. They saved their money for three years and were married in 1940.

* * *

After a brief period of legal service in the wartime Office of Emergency Management in Washington, D.C., Nixon entered the Navy as Lieutenant Junior Grade, and was sent to the South Pacific.

Tomorrow: Nixon enters the political arena after a successful career in the Navy; and reaches the turning point in his public life.

THE VICE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

A trans-Arabian highway 1,000 miles long, Jidda to Damman, will be started in 1956.

Scales Working for Industries

New Jobs for Old Tool Include Weighing Bills, Counting, Packing

WASHINGTON — The scale, man's oldest measuring tool, whose use dates beyond the dawn of history, is taking on many fascinating new jobs in American business and industry.

* * *

Take the matter of weighing money, for example. Today, scales are used in many banks to check-weight packages of paper money to make sure that the bills are all there.

A typical transaction might be to drop a package of $1,000 in ten dollar bills on the scale. Present weighing machines are so sensitive that if even a single ten spot is missing its absence sticks out like a sore thumb.

Coins are also counted by weight. This saves time and money and makes for peace of mind for bankers (assuming the money is all there of course).

NO HUMAN HANDS

A manufacturer of baby nipples advertises that his product isn't touched by human hands—and it packs them three to a box.

* * *

The only thing is sometimes the machine makes a mistake. It may pack only two nipples or sometimes one in a box where the customers pays for three.

This causes howls of anguish, not only from the babies, but from the customers, too. So the manufacturer has his boxes check-weighed. He doesn't give a hoot how much they weigh, but if one is missing the scales detect it.

Suffer Twin Injuries

HASTINGS (AP)—Motorists Albert C. Cruttenden and John Lawrence Hawkins were hospital case twins Tuesday night after their autos collided on M37, about five miles south of the city. Both 45, and of Hastings, they suffered fractures of both legs, face and head lacerations and possible internal injuries in the head-on crash. They were in critical condition at Pennock Hospital.

Government researchers have developed a plastic paint deadly to young barnacles and other marine growths. A plastic-coated warship won't need drydocking for cleaning for five years.

Victor Borge Uncorks Champagne for Fans

By EARL WILSON

Alfred Hitchcock, filming "The Trouble With Harry," said people expected him to make mysteries: "If I did 'Cinderella,' they would expect to find a corpse in the pumpkin."

NEW YORK—Victor Borge was saluted with a Happy Birthday speech by Ed Sullivan at the Golden when he launched the third year of his fabulous one-man show by serving champagne to everybody at the intermission.

As Sullivan left the footlights, Borge asked the audience, "Who was that gentleman?"

The mad Dane was never funnier. While playing Liszt's "Liebestraum," he suddenly said, "I still can't understand why Jimmy Roosevelt signed that letter." After he blew out the candles on the birthday cake, they suddenly flamed up again — and again — and again — a trick now available at magic stores.

VICTOR BORGE

Borge also played around with a watch "guaranteed for life—not yours—its," he said.

The Jack Bennys hope the rift between dtr. Joan and young broker Seth Baker—who were married in a spectacular wedding—can be patched up. He's around NY, Joan's been visiting San Francisco, and the Bennys are taking care of their granddaughter.

Gretchen Wyler, the dancin' darlin' of "Silk Stockings," turns out to be a poetess. Interviewing her in her dressing room three months ago, I left my hat. She's just returned it with the following poem in longhand:

"It potted a plant, held punch at soirees,
Even wore it myself on rainy days,
But now I'll return it
My maid says she'll burn it
She's mad 'cause I used it to mix mayonnaise."

Jane Russell was sitting unconcernedly in her upstairs dressing room at CBS the other night while Jackie Gleason was stalling in front of millions of viewers waiting for her to come on stage for "Stage Show." When frantic couriers told her she was due on stage, Jane exclaimed, "You mean the show is on already?" Nobody'd told her.

Stroke Kills Boy, 12

CADILLAC (AP)—Dr. Charles Black, Lansing pathologist, ruled cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday caused the death of William Sebastian, 12, of rural Cadillac. The boy was dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital after his parents discovered him in convulsions. Dr. Black said the boy apparently had suffered a broken blood vessel about 4 or 5 days before his death.

Typhoon Season Will Hurt Japan

3 Dozen Violent Storms Expected to Smash Into Hirohito's Country

TOKYO (AP)—Japan is the bull's-eye at which from one to three dozen disastrous Pacific typhoons are aimed each year.

October is when most of them slam home.

* * *

When the typhoons rip into densely populated Japan, thousands of houses are blown away, scores of persons are crushed by flying debris and drowned in flash floods, huge waves splinter fishing craft and thousands of acres of sorely needed rice plants are destroyed.

Damage from a single storm can top 100 million dollars.

Typhoon Louise, this year's most violent, took at least 42 lives last week during its rampage through southern Japan. Another 300 were injured. The storm's howling winds tore down a high-tension wire and started a fire that destroyed the center of Niigata, a city of a quarter million.

After Louise howled out to sea, nearly 300,000 persons were homeless.

TYPHOON ALLEY

On her way up "Typhoon Alley" from Guam, Louise also flattened the American base on historic Iwo Jima and took a pass at Okinawa, where the United States maintains a large garrison.

Typhoon Marge howled to a stop today on Japan's doorstep after keeping 88 million Japanese on edge for days.

* * *

And new typhoons are brewing in the South Pacific, gathering steam for the charge to the north.

When full grown, Pacific typhoons are twisting terrors that whirl winds of 75 to 175 miles an hour around a hollow center. They cut paths as wide as 250 miles. They dump torrents of lashing rain —sometimes as much as a foot in a few hours.

Typhoons are called hurricanes in the Western Hemisphere. They act exactly alike and pack the same destructive power, with the edge, if any, probably going to the typhoon.

* * *

"Typhoon Alley" in the Pacific runs from Guam and the Philippines through the East China Sea, over Okinawa and up the Japanese island chain.

Some storms blow themselves out harmlessly over the ocean. But an average of three to six a year streak right up the island chain. They have plagued Japan for centuries.

Hospital officials say there is now no shortage of nurses in Dublin, Eire.

BIG WHEELS — Alert and ready to travel are these police dogs, training for the police show parade in Berlin, Germany. Axel, left, and Senta will "drive" the radar-controlled motorcycle in the annual display of the training and efficiency of Berlin's law enforcement forces.

Gas Permit Is Granted

ALLEGAN (AP)—City Council has granted a permt to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Falk to operate a new filling station in Allegan despite objections from gasoline dealers who protested the city already had "too many filling stations." Council members noted it was not within their province "to limit competition."

Parcel of Land Returned

LUDINGTON (AP)—City Commission has acted to return a strip of land donated by Mrs. R. L. Stearn for park purposes. The gift, in 1949, apparently was made in error by following old deeds. The mistake was discovered recently when Mrs. Stearns decided to dispose of some of her property.

Bob Considine Says:

Alert Newsmen Expose Official Corruption

(Editor's Note: This is National Newspaper Week, and here a famed columnist and reporter illustrates the theme of this year's observance: "Your Newspaper—Fights for Your Right to Know.")

NEW YORK (INS)—The trial of John Peter Zenger on the charge of seditious libel against British Colonial Gov. William Cosby, back in 1735, and the verdict that Zenger's New York Weekly Journal should be entitled to print the truth about decadent government, did not instantly guarantee freedom of the press.

* * *

(For those who came in late, this is Newspaper Week and we've been puttering around the week's slogan, which says, proud as a flag, "Your Newspaper Fights for Your Right to Know.")

It took the British 50 years to recognize the precedent established in the Zenger case, which denied the legality of "the greater the truth the greater the libel."

By that time, we had a nation of our own, but the early American press did not always have smooth sailing in its relations with the people who were running the government.

Reporters had a great deal of trouble managing to cover the goings-on of the first American Congresses, despite all the fine promises—including Thomas Jefferson's "when a man assumes a public trust, he should consider himself as public property," and many another stirring bow to the right of the press to seek the truth and print it when found.

DANGEROUS ACTS

The Alien and Sedition Acts, passed by the Congress and signed by President John Adams in June and July 1798, would have pulled the rug from under the Zenger verdict if portions of them had not expired or been killed by subsequent legislation.

* * *

One of these acts, passed at a time when war with France seemed imminent, made it a punishable crime to utter or print any uncomplimentary statement about a U.S. official however true.

The Federalist press heartily endorsed the act, as did George Washington and his secretary of the treasury, Alexander Hamilton. They had lost their faith, at least temporarily, in the citizen's right to know the facts and make up his own mind. It led to the disintegration of the Federalist Party.

During the Civil War at least one publisher, having run out of newsprint, put out his paper on the unadorned back of rolls of wallpaper because he believed in the people's "right to know."

* * *

Before and after that war the historic rush to the urban centers took place, together with the influx of millions of immigrants, and cities grew to unprecedented sizes. With that growth came political crooks every bit as dangerous to the general good as, say, the autocratic, law-waiving Cosby.

CORRUPT OFFICIALS

A century ago in New York City, for example, Collector of the Port Samuel Swartwout stole more than $1,000,000 — an incredible fortune before the Civil War—and made off with it to Europe. Mayor Fernando Wood set new highs (or lows) for corruption.

But the champion in that respect must have been William Marcy Tweed and his "40 Thieves." Tweed and his group fattened up on every racket known in that day. Their crimes ranged from selling horse-car franchises to supplying substitutes for well-to-do men drafted to fight for the Union Army.

There are estimates that Tweed and other members of his ring, including "Slippery Dick" Connolly, city controller, "Elegant One" Hall, mayor, and "Brains" Sweeny, Chamberlain, and dozens of others, stole up to $200,000,000 before the press moved in where police feared to tread.

Thomas Nast of Harper's Weekly, George Jones of the Times and editorialist George William Curtis of the Weekly brought the monstrous Tweed to earth. Nast, spurning a half million dollar bribe to lay off (he made scarcely $25 a week), told the truth about Tweed with his scimitar-like pen.

* * *

"Devastating cartoons depicted the Tammany tiger of Nast on the loose," says a sum-up in "A Treasury of Great Reporting," published by Simon and Schuster and edited by Profs. Louis L. Snyder and Richard B. Morris.

"With Tweed watching from his regal seat as the tiger attacked a young girl (the republic) lying prostrate in the arena; a group of vultures waiting for the storm to blow over ('Let us prey'); each member of the Ring pointing to the other, 'Twas him,' in answer to the question: "Who stole the people's money?'; finally, the panicky Ring members shouting 'Stop, theif!' and running frantically by the side of decent citizens to track down the crooks.

* * *

"Stung to the quick, Tweed threw all Harper textbooks out of public schools, replacing them with products of a Tammany-owned publishing company."

The Times story of July 1871 did the rest. To do so, Jones and others turned down a breathtaking offer of a $5 million bribe. Tweed bought his way out of jail after conviction, fled to Spain, was identified by a Nast cartoon and brought back to New York, where he died in jail.

But that was long ago. There have been a lot of similar cases since which could have compounded into national disasters if the American press had not been able to deliver the information to the people.

Jap Shocks Nippon With His Idea of Girls

TOKYO, Japan — Crown Prince Ahihito shocked the sensitive Japanese public opinion when he remarked that "Western girls are more beautiful than Japanese girls."

His fellow countrymen have started speculating with renewed interest on the Crown Prince's impending choice of a wife—a selection which will be made by the end of this year under the direction of the bespectacled Cupids of the Imperial Household.

Recently several different forecasts have been made in popular magazines — forecasts unthinkable in prewar days.

The Prince's remark appears to have been inspired by the varied aspects of feminine culture he observed during his recent tour of the world.

The Philippines is studying a five year plan to cope with unemployment, designed to employ 400,000 persons a year and to be financed by borrowing, Manila reports.

Stuffing Glamorizes Pork Chops

STUFFED PORK CHOPS — If there's a party in the planning and you want to fuss a little, choose everyone's favorite — pork chops. Glamorize them with a savory bread stuffing and bake with potato slices and tender carrots. Garnish with parsley.

Hearty Dish Good for Fall

Thick and juicy pork chops, potato slices and parsleyed carrots make a platterful of good eating.

The pork chops, cut extra thick and fitted with pockets, filled with a savory bread dressing, are browned thoroughly in hot fat, then cooked slowly with the vegetables until well done.

The combination may be cooked on top of the range or in a moderate oven.

Stuffed Pork Chops with Vegetables

4 pork chops, cut 1½ inches thick
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2½ cups bread crumbs
½ cup water
4 tablespoons fat
6 medium potatoes
6 medium carrots

Have meat man slit chops from fat side to bone to form a pocket. Saute onion, green pepper and celery in butter until lightly browned. Add 1 teaspoon salt and crumbs and moisten mixture with water.

Fill pockets of chops and fasten with skewers or cocktail picks. Brown chops in hot fat in a heavy skillet or other large utensil.

Add thickly sliced pared potatoes and cleaned whole carrots to chops. Sprinkle 1½ teaspoons salt over meat and vegetables. Cover and bake in a 325-degree oven one hour, or until meat and vegetables are tender.

Remove skewers from meat before serving. Four servings.

* * *

Stuffed Pork Chops, Orange Sauce

Stuff and brown four thick pork chops as in the above recipe. Prepare sauce as follows:

Blend three tablespoons each, flour and melted butter or margarine; stir in one cup orange juice, one-half cup sauterne or other white table wine and one-fourth cup water.

Cook, stirring, until mixture boils and thickens. Add one-fourth cup brown sugar, two tablespoons grated orange rind, one teaspoon grated lemon rind and one-half teaspoon salt.

Pour over browned chops, cover and simmer gently about one hour, or until chops are tender. Turn and baste chops occasionally. Four servings.

Applesauce, stewed fruit, ice cream, all make excellent toppings for freshly baked gingerbread if you are wearied of the traditional whipped cream.

Teenage Misses Acquire Food Quirks From Moms

Where do many girls, junior and senior high school age, get their ideas about food? The question long has concerned many parents and scientists.

* * *

Some of the answers apparently are to be found at home. Studies conducted at Iowa State College report a striking similarity between food likes and dislikes of older women and early teenage girls.

The shortcomings of the diets of these two generations are so much alike — like mother, like daughter — that it may be assumed that adult food habits begin about the junior high years.

What happens is that about this time, some girls decide to be independent about food. Sometimes, too, in the desire to be grownup, they "kick over the parental traces" and pick a freak diet.

* * *

What help is at hand for the mother who doubtlessly recognizes this as one more adolescent characteristic? She can begin with the mid-day school lunch either carried from home or purchased at school.

Its requirements are met in the Type A lunch in this way: A serving of protein-rich food; three-fourths cup vegetables and-or fruits; one portion enriched or whole grain bread; 2 teaspoons butter or fortified margarine and one-half pint milk. This lunch furnishes one-third of the day's nutritional needs of a 12- to 16-year-old girl.

OFFER ADVENTURE

Many mothers very wisely take into consideration the school lunch when planning family meals, noting menus sent home by the school. These frequently offer her adventure in serving new foods, which adds variety to family meals.

* * *

Mothers want to help their daughters grow into healthy young women. As to what foods should be eaten in addition to the good school lunch, the research at Iowa State College gives some leads.

Although teenage girls keep on growing, many do not correspondingly increase their calories, protein, calcium or other nutrients except perhaps vitamin C. Girls usually eat an adequate evening meal but often breakfasts should be more nutritious.

Many girls might well join their brothers in a well chosen after-school snack. This might be a glass of milk and a generous-sized peanut butter sandwich. Both peanut butter and enriched bread are excellent sources of B vitamins, protein and calcium.

Bit of Chicken Can Serve Ten

Here's the way to stretch 2 cups of chicken into 10 servings of delicious chicken chop suey! This is an especially easy way to make chicken chop suey because it's baked and served from the same dish. Toasted crisp almonds on top add that "extra touch."

Chicken Chop Suey

2 tablespoons butter or margarine or chicken fat from broth from stewing chicken
1 cup celery cut in ¼ inch strips ½ inch long
½ cup green pepper cut in ¼ inch strips ½ inch long
2 tablespoons coarsely grated onion
1½ cups chicken broth or 1½ cups water with 2 chicken bouillon cubes
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 can Chinese vegetables
2 cups diced chicken
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup uncooked white rice
½ cup blanched almonds split in half

Melt the butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add the celery, green pepper and onion. Cook until the onion is yellow. Add the broth and heat until very hot.

Put the cornstarch in a cup or bowl. Mix in the 2 tablespoons water. Slowly stir in some of the hot broth. Return mixture to saucepan.

Cook, stirring, until mixture thickens. Stir in the soy sauce, Chinese vegetables and chicken.

In a greased 3-quart oven dish place the water, salt and rice. Top with the chicken mixture. Bake in a pre-heated 350 degree oven for 45 to 55 minutes or until most of the liquid is absorbed.

Sprinkle the almonds over the top during the last 15 minutes of the cooking time. This recipe makes 10 servings.

Cherry Nut Muffins Good for Breakfast

For a quick hot bread to serve with those scrambled eggs and bacon, try making Cherry Nut Muffins.

Cherry Nut Muffins

1 8½-ounce package muffin mix
½ cup chopped maraschino cherries, well drained (about 20 cherries)
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup chopped walnuts

Combine muffin mix and cherries. Prepare batter according to package directions. Pour into eight greased 2½-inch muffin pans. Sprinkle with sugar and nuts. Bake according to package directions. Makes about eight muffins.

Pack Sardines in His Knapsack

With the hunting season fast upon us and the men cleaning and oiling their guns, the busy homemaker starts wracking her brains for nourishing foods to put in the knapsack.

Men need plenty of protein on a hunting trip and sardines are an ideal source of protein, as well as being good eating.

The weight factor in the knapsack is a serious consideration, too, one that was resolved by Mt. Everest's conquerors when they carried sardines as their main food on their grueling ascent.

When the men are leaving camp for the day, a can of sardines and a can opener will provide a hearty snack.

Here's a quick and easy recipe for him when he's tired from the days' sport:

Sardine Cache

2 cups cooked spaghetti or macaroni
1 No. 2 can of tomatoes
1 medium onion
3 cans sardines (3¼ or 4 ounce)

Cook tomatoes and chopped onions slowly for 10 minutes. Place sardines in center of baking dish. Cover with tomato and onion. Bake until thoroughly hot.

Super Home Sundae

Super ice cream sundae for home kitchens: Two scoops of ice cream, a ladle full of maple-flavored syrup, thawed frozen strawberries or pineapple, crushed pineapple, chopped nutmeats, whipped cream, chocolate sprinkles. Definitely for the youngsters.

Make Pea Soup With Dry Milk

Homemakers can afford to be lavish with milk nourishment in family meals, thanks to instant nonfat dry milk.

The family package, which yields 12 quarts (3 gallons) of nonfat milk, is especially economical for this makes it possible to have nutritious nonfat milk for as little as seven cents a quart.

One quart of liquefied instant nonfat dry milk is called for in a test kitchen recipe for Cream of Pea Soup:

Cream of Pea Soup

2 cups cooked peas
4 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 carrots, diced and cooked
1 medium-size onion, chopped and cooked

Sieve peas. Pour liquefied instant nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler. Sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Stir in peas and Worcestershire sauce.

Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in carrots and onion. Cook until thoroughly heated. Makes 8-10 servings.

Mold Dainty Salads for Next Bridge Party

Make dainty molded fruit salad to serve with tea sandwiches at your next bridge party. Drain syrup from a can of fruit cocktail. Spoon fruit into individual cups of a muffin tin, filling each cup about three-fourths full.

Make plain gelatin and pour over fruit; chill until firm. Unmold by holding pan in hot water for a few seconds and turning onto a cookie sheet. Serve on crisp salad greens, garnish with cream mayonnaise.

Do not use salted butter for greasing a cake pan; the salt in the butter is apt to make the cake stick.

Many Flavorings Spark Lamb Chops

Lamb calls mint to mind. But lamb is companionable with lemon, orange and pineapple flavors, too.

A subdued tomato barbecue sauce is flavored on lamb by some, but use it sparingly to avoid overpowering the delicate flavor of the chops.

Cover T-bone lamb chops with an herb-seasoned lemon and oil dressing and leave in the refrigerator four hours before broiling.

About six minutes broiling per side for these 1-inch chops should produce well-browned chops with a faintly pink interior. Serve lamb chops sizzling for serving perfection.

Tempt Lunch-Carrier With Varied Menus

Lunch packing is much easier and menus have greater variety if there is a small vacuum bottle for carrying milk or fruit beverages or soup. Also, small paper cups with fitted covers make it possible to carry a wider assortment of salads and desserts in the packed lunch.

Another point is that these items make a neater and more appealing pack when opened—an important morale factor to the person who must eat a lunchbox meal every day.

An idea of the wider variation possible with these easily available lunchbox aids can be seen in these suggestions:

Lunchbox Menus

*(Hot) Cream of Vegetable Soup (in vacuum bottle)
Sliced Ham and Cheese Sandwich on a Weiner Roll
Frosted Cupcake (in covered cup)
Apple

* * *

Cold Chocolate Milk Shake (in vacuum bottle)
Tuna Salad Sandwich
Chopped Vegetable Salad (in covered cup)
Orange Tapioca Pudding (in covered cup)

A frequent change of breads for the sandwiches, and occasionally a homemade loaf, makes a pleasing surprise for the lunch carrier. This *Bran Flakes Bread is delicious spread with butter, soft cheese, jam, jelly or marmalade.

SOUP FOR LUNCH — Soup for lunch can easily be carried in a small vacuum bottle, the top serving as soup bowl. In addition, this lunch also has a cheese and ham sandwich on a bun, a frosted cupcake and an apple. Send your scholar on his way with a good lunch under his arm.

Cream of Vegetable Soup

2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
2½ cups milk
1 cup meat broth or vegetable liquid or 1 cup water and 1 chicken bouillon cube
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
2 cups pureed or chopped vegetables*
Salt and pepper

Saute onion in fat in saucepan about two minutes. Add milk, broth and tapioca. Place over medium heat and cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly.

Add vegetables and heat thoroughly. Season to taste. Serve with croutons, if desired. Makes four to six servings.

*Use canned or fresh vegetables such as spinach, green beans, asparagus, corn, potatoes, carrots, celery, Lima beans or mixed vegetables. Use liquid from the canned or cooked vegetables for the soup.

Bran Flakes Bread

2 cups sifted flour
2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
¾ cup milk
⅓ cup molasses
⅓ cup shortening, melted
½ cup chopped raisins (optional)
1 cup malted whole wheat flakes

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg, milk and molasses. Add to flour mixture, add shortening, then mix only enough to dampen flour. Fold in raisins and cereal.

Bake in greased 8x4x3 inch loaf pan, in moderate oven (350) one hour, or until done. Cool. Wrap in damp cloth or waxed paper and store several hours or overnight before slicing.

Shrimp-Rice Dish Comes From China

To take advantage of plentiful foods, the following recipe has been adapted from the Chinese.

With protein-rich egg and seafood, green vegetables and mounds of hot, fluffy rice, the dish is satisfying and nutritious — needs only the addition of a beverage (hot tea, of course) and a dessert, fresh fruit or perhaps a fruit compote.

Chinese Shrimp and Rice

½ cup celery, sliced thin diagonally
½ cup raw Frenched green beans
4 scallions, sliced thin
3 tablespoons oil
2 cups cooked small shrimp
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 tablespoon soy sauce
Dash monosodium glutamate
4 cups cooked rice

Add celery, beans and half the scallions to hot oil and saute three minutes, stirring frequently. Add shrimp and egg and stir over low heat until egg is cooked. Stir in soy sauce and monosodium glutamate.

Taste and add up to 1 more tablespoon soy sauce if desired. and serve on hot rice. Makes four servings.

1,000-Pound Steer Yields About 600 Pounds of Beef

WASHINGTON (INS)—The average live steer weighing in at 1,000 pounds nets the meat packer about 600 pounds of dressed beef.

* * *

This piece of information was published in a new booklet distributed by the American Meat Institute as a sort of catechism for the industry.

According to the institute, if you know all the answers you are qualified to converse with authority in the company of visiting cowboys, eminent economists and the waiter who serves your steak.

Here are some of the questions posed and answered in the booklet:

Q. If the meat packer pays $250 for the steer, what can he expect to get for the dressed beef?

A. About $250 or less. Meat packers frequently sell the beef for less than they paid for the animal on the hoof. Overhead costs and profit must come from recovery and sale of by-products such as hides for leather and glands for medicine.

* * *

Q. What kind of steer will make choice grade beef?

A. The grade of meat can't be established definitely until after the steer is dressed. But to be a buyer for a meat packing plant you'd have to be able to judge not only what the grade will be, but the meat yield within 1 per cent.

* * *

Q. How many pounds of beef in a 1,000-pound steer?

A. Dressing percentage varies from one animal to another but on the average a steer that weighs in at 1,000 pounds shrinks down to 600 pounds of dressed beef. A steer that brings 25 cents per pound on the hoof, for example, usually costs the packer about 40 cents per pound for the beef.

* * *

Q. Where does sirloin steak come from?

A. From a small strip just in front of the rump. Only about 8 per cent of a side of beef is sirloin. There is over five times as much pot roast, stew meat and hamburger in a side of beef.

According to the industry, processors are able to cancel out many of the costs of processing meat because they save "everything but the squeal."

Make Ice Cream Cake, Top With Fruit Sauce

You can make an ice cream cake at home. Bake an angelfood cake from a packaged mix and cut it in three crosswise layers. Spread two pints of slightly softened ice cream between two of the layers. Work fast now and cover the whole cake with two cups of whipped cream (sweetened and vanilla-flavored).

Freeze the icecream cake and serve with a fruit sauce. You can vary the flavors of the ice cream and sauce to suit your taste.

Main course in one dish: Fish fillets cooked in a skillet with tomato sauce and green lima beans.

Pour creamed corn beef over wedges of cooked cabbage.

How About Some Delicate Ladyfingers Like Mother Used to Make for Guests?

Ladyfingers, fresh from the oven! So tawny-pale, so delicate in flavor, such a graceful shape.

* * *

We can still see our mother easing them out of their pans, putting them together with homemade preserves, sprinkling them with a drift of powdered sugar.

Then it was our turn to arrange the snowy trifles on a mammoth old-fashioned platter—and nothing ever got more tender loving care.

No use storing those sweet morsels. They were made fresh for 4 o'clock tea and "afternoon callers"—and small fry always had their share.

* * *

Fortunately nostalgia sometimes leads to action! We ferreted out a shop that sells ladyfinger pans and baked a batch of those airy nothings.

Then we put them together with fine preserves and a creamy coconut filling. And just for old time's sake we spread them on our willow-pattern platter when we offered them for dessert.

If you are not in a mood to bake ladyfingers, you can buy them ready-prepared in many bakeries and most supermarkets, and then give them that homemade flavor with our filling.

We used grape preserves in the filling, but black raspberry jam or jelly are fine, too; so are apricot preserves with the addition of a little brandy or rum flavoring.

LADYFINGERS — If you've never tried making these delicate, old-fashioned dainties, why not do it now? At any rate, try some filling ladyfingers for your next afternoon tea party.

Coconut Ladyfingers

3 eggs (separated)
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon vanilla
⅔ cup sifted cake flour
Coconut filling

Beat whites until stiff but not dry; beat in one-fourth cup of the sugar, a tablespoon at a time.

Without washing beater, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; beat in remaining one-fourth cup of the sugar, a tablespoon at a time. Beat in salt and vanilla; yolks should be very thick and ivory-colored.

Fold whites into yolks. Fold in flour gently, sifting about a third of it at a time over the egg mixture.

Fill ungreased ladyfinger pans almost to the top; bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 10 to 15 minutes, or until tops are a very light tan color.

Loosen edges of ladyfingers with tip of small spatula; ease from pans with spatula. Place on cake rack. Put together with Coconut Filling.

If shallow ladyfinger pans with wells about 4 inches long and 1½ inches wide are used, recipe will make about 15 filled ladyfingers.

Coconut Filling

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon heavy cream
¼ teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup lightly-packed shredded coconut (cut in short lengths)
Jam or jelly (about ½ cup)
¼ cup confectioners' sugar

Cream butter and one-half cup sugar; blend in cream and vanilla; stir in coconut.

Spread bottom side of half the ladyfingers with filling mixture; spread bottom side of the remaining ladyfingers with jam; press together. Roll filled ladyfingers in one-fourth cup sugar.

Spark Creamed Dishes

To make those creamed dishes interesting, serve them with steamed rice and crisp Chinese noodles. Creamed ham, chicken, turkey or veal are all good candidates for this treatment.

Wrap sandwiches tightly in waxed paper, then in a damp tea towel and store in the refrigerator. This treatment will keep them fresh-tasting.

Sauce Tops Off Fried Cereal

If you have a yen for something different for Friday lunches, here's an idea for you . . . fried rice with mushroom sauce . . . delicious and substantial . . . and good for those hard-to-keep-filled up small fry.

Fried Rice With Mushroom Sauce

3 cups water
2 bouillon cubes
½ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon onion salt
⅔ cup quick-cooking rice cereal
½ cup flour
½ cup butter
1 teaspoon minced onion
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon curry powder
1½ cups milk
2 ounce can sliced broiled-in-butter mushrooms
4 ounces process sharp American cheese, diced

Place water, bouillon cubes, celery salt and onion salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to boil. Sprinkle in rice cereal so boiling does not stop. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Lower heat and let cook five minutes longer. Remove from heat and pour into lightly oiled loaf pan, about 8x4 inches. Chill thoroughly. When ready to serve, unmold and cut into eight slices and dip into the flour.

Brown lightly in the butter in large frying pan over moderate heat. Drain on absorbent paper and keep warm. Meanwhile, add onion to butter remaining in pan and let cook, stirring frequently, until tender but not brown.

Stir in remaining flour, pepper and curry powder. Add milk and contents of can of mushrooms. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils. Add cheese and stir until completely melted.

Serve mushroom-cheese sauce over the browned slices. Yield: Four servings.

Leftover Lamb Goes Into Loaf

Here is something new in "Before and Afters" from the food pages of the current issue of a home magazine.

* * *

The "Before" is what you have left after the first meal; the "After" is what you can do with it to make it into a wholly new looking and new tasting dish.

One of the big secrets of successful encores, says an article called "Two-Time Your Family," is to hold back on spicing and seasoning the first time you serve a food.

For example, almost everybody uses oregano these days when roasting lamb. Yet, pure unadulterated roast lamb cooked without benefit of anything but salt and pepper can taste awfully good.

* * *

So, start out that way and save the pluses for the second appearance. The recipe for Lamb Loaf does just that . . . with just a little gravy saved from before and some mint added:

Lamb Loaf

Mix all the following ingredients until they are well blended:

2 cups of cooked ground lamb
2 cups of raw grated potatoes
1 small chopped onion
1 cup of fine bread crumbs
1 egg
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon oregano

Pack it in a greased loaf pan and bake it for 45 minutes in a 375-degree oven. Turn it out on a platter and serve it with mint gravy. It will serve from six to eight adults.

Cinnamon Apples Are Delicious With Meat

Cinnamon apples are delicious served as a salad or as an accompaniment with your meat.

To prepare, core and peel 6 Jonathan apples, cut into halves. To 2 cups water, add one-half cup red cinnamon candies and one-fourth cup sugar and cook until dissolved. Add apples and cook slowly until apples are transparent but not mushy.

Arithmetic for Cooks

Kitchen arithmetic: A cup of medium white sauce will be enough for a 7-ounce can of tuna when you are planning to serve the fish creamed.

Famed Author Gives Recipes

An event worth noting by the millions of fans who eagerly await each of Frances Parkinson Keyes' new novels is the recent publication of her cookbook. ("The Frances Parkinson Keyes Cookbook," Doubleday & Co., Inc., Garden City, New York, $3.95).

Because she has traveled widely and has taken great pride in being a truly great hostess, her recipes, chosen with thought and care, are gems to be presented to your guests.

The book is almost an autobiography. Following the events of her life, she has diveded the chapters into four parts — the New England bride, the senator's wife in Washington, the Southern writer, and the world traveler.

Representative of her section on Southern cooking is this gourmet recipe for red snapper, one of the finest fish to be caught in the Gulf and South Atlantic.

Red Snapper Marguery

2 pounds red snapper
1 can mushrooms
1 tablespoon chopped truffles
½ pound American cheese, grated
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 pounds shrimp, cooked and cleaned
1 dozen freshly shucked oysters, if desired
2 tablespoons butter
1½ tablespoons flour
1 cup hot cream
Salt, pepper and cayenne to taste
1 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 bay leaf
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper

Simmer the red snapper (or his ilk) in salted water for about 15 minutes, or until the flesh flakes from the bones. Cool the fish on ice and break the flesh into pieces, discarding the skin and bones.

Mix the red fish with the mushrooms, truffles, cheese, eggs, shrimp and oysters, if the latter are used, and turn the mixture into a buttered baking dish.

In a saucepan heat the butter until it bubbles and stir in the flour. Stir in gradually the hot cream and cook, stirring, until the sauce thickens.

Add salt, pepper and cayenne to taste, stir in the onion, parsley, bay leaf and green pepper and cook for two minutes longer. Pour the sauce into the baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350) for about one hour.

Malibu Melon Makes Perfect Dessert, Salad

Combine delicious Western-grown cantaloupe with several fresh fruits and top the dish with a sherbet and you have a perfect salad or dessert. Here's the way to do it:

Malibu Melon Cup

Cut a chilled cantaloupe in half. Remove seeds. Peel each half. Place a half on a bed of Iceberg lettuce.

Fill the cantaloupe with cool green grapes, diced fresh peaches, sliced and peeled fresh figs and thin sticks of green-skinned apple. Top with a scoop of your favorite sherbet.

* * *

For an unusual and delightful salad, use lettuce, tomatoes and sardines. It makes a fine main course for luncheon or an appetizing starter for dinner.

Seascape Salad

1 head lettuce
1 small onion, finely chopped
6 radishes, sliced
½ cucumber, sliced
1 can sardines, cut into thirds
2 tomatoes, quartered

Tear lettuce into bite-sized pieces in a large bowl. Add remaining ingredients and toss lightly with a French dressing. A few of the whole sardines may be used as a garnish, if desired. Makes six servings.

Team Prunes and Pork Chops for Guest Meal

Here's a new idea for you . . . just a simple dressing-up of an old favorite. And what a difference a simple idea can make!

It's pork chops cooked with prunes . . . easy to do and all top stove . . . may turn out to be one of your special company dishes.

Pork Chops With Prunes

4 loin pork chops, about 1 inch thick
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
1 tablespoon fat
1 cup thinly sliced onions
8 large dried prunes
½ cup water
2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dash of Tabasco sauce
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ cup cold water

Trim chops of excess fat, leaving only a very small amount around the edge of each. Brush chops all over with kitchen bouquet.

Place fat in large frying pan, or Dutch oven, over moderate heat. Add chops and brown quickly on all sides. Arrange onions in a layer over the chops and place two prunes on each.

Mix one-half cup water, brown sugar, lemon juice, Tabasco sauce, salt and pepper and pour over all. Bring to boil, lower heat, cover and simmer until chops are tender, about one hour.

When chops are tender, combine and add the cornstarch and cold water. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils.

Serve immediately with fluffy rice or mashed potatoes. Yield: Four servings.

Strips of canned pimiento add contrasting and attractive color to green vegetables; try them with green peas, snap beans or broccoli.

Many Nationalities Offer Eggplant Recipes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Requests for recipes from our readers often send us off on a hunt through our collection of cookbooks. This last week we had a request for different ways to cook eggplant. Since we were looking up a number of recipes anyway, we decided to use them in a byline and share them with everyone. Our thanks go to Mrs. A. DeWitte of Green Lake for her request.

Isn't it amazing that one member of a plant family can be deadly poison, while another member is edible? Eggplants belong to the nightshade family. Everyone knows that the scarlet nightshade berries are poisonous. But no one considers eggplant unfit to eat. Our ancestors did.

Explorers found eggplants first in South America, the World Book says. Now, however, they are grown in many parts of the world. We know countless Pontiac area gardens contain a plant or two of this handsome, dark purple vegetable.

Most people simply wash, pare and slice eggplant, then saute it in butter or other fat. There are many many other ways of preparing this food.

In a cookbook full of sophisticated recipes of all kinds, one for eggplant with shrimp and rice appears. Since the last two foods are more than plentiful this fall you should be happy with the following recipe.

Eggplant With Shrimp and Rice

1 eggplant
1½ cups cooked rice
½ pound cooked shrimp chopped
1 small clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon onion, grated
2 tablespoons green pepper, chopped
¼ cup cream
Pinch salt
Pinch paprika
1 tablespoon bread crumbs

Cut top from eggplant and scoop out pulp. Place pulp in boiling water with salt and cook until tender. Drain and mash it, then combine with rice, shrimp, garlic, onion, green pepper, cream, salt and paprika. Fill the eggplant shell.

Top with bread crumbs, dot with butter and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake 20 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Serves 4.

There are any number of recipes for baking eggplant with cheese and/or tomatoes. You brown the eggplant first, then put it into a casserole with layers of tomatoes, or tomato sauce and cheese. Bake 10 or 15 minutes in a moderate oven. The next recipe is a more elaborate version of this idea. It comes from a Parisian cookbook.

Eggplant Compote

Peel 4 eggplants and 4 tomatoes and cut into thin slices. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Add sliced vegetables and 2 cups of sliced mushrooms. Place in buttered casserole, alternating layers of eggplant, tomato and mushrooms, seasoning each layer with salt and freshly ground pepper.

Pour over the butter from the pan and add 1 cup white stock (or 2 bouillon cubes dissolved in cup of boiling water). Cook in a covered casserole 2 hours in a 250-degree oven. Serve with a garnish of thin triangles of toast.

Greek cooks stuff and bake their eggplants. This recipe comes from a little book called, "Can the Greeks Cook!"

Baked Eggplants

3 medium-size eggplants
1½ pounds hamburger
¾ cup grated cheese
2 medium onions, chopped fine
¾ cup butter
Salt and pepper

Cut stems from eggplant and cut in half lengthwise. Scoop out pulp from centers with a spoon, being careful not to break shell. Salt shells to taste and let stand 30 minutes.

Place pulp in large bowl, mash with fork and salt to taste. Let stand 30 minutes.

Saute hamburger with onion for 10 minutes, add butter and fry for 7 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Rinse eggplant shells and place in baking dish. Add pulp to meat mixture and continue frying for 6 minutes. Cool and add grated cheese and salt and pepper to taste. Fill shells with meat mixture and arrange in baking dish. Any meat mixture left over may be arranged around the eggplants.

Prepare a cream sauce using ¼ cup butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, ½ cup grated cheese, 4 eggs, and salt and pepper.

Top each eggplant with sauce. Bake in 350-degree oven for 1½ hours watching carefully so it will not burn. Remove eggplants with spatula to avoid breaking. Serves six.

French fried eggplant is easy to prepare and delicious to eat.

Eggplant Sticks

1 large eggplant
2 eggs, beaten
Bread crumbs

Peel eggplant and cut into ½-inch thick slices. Cut these into sticks as for French fried potatoes. Dip in the egg and roll in the crumbs. Fry in hot deep fat at 380 degrees for about 4 minutes, or until light brown. Serve at once.

This last recipe is for eggplant broiled with veal patties.

Guiseppe's Veal and Eggplant

4 slices cooked eggplant, ¾ inch thick
Melted butter or margarine
¾ pound ground veal
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Dash nutmeg
4 slices firm tomato
Salt, pepper, oregano
4 slices Mozzarella cheese

Brush eggplant slices with melted butter. Place on greased broiler pan. Mix veal, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Form into 4 patties to fit eggplant slices and place beside them. Broil 4 inches from heat for 8-10 minutes or until browned. Turn eggplant slices with broad spatula. Turn patties and place brown side down on eggplant. Return to broiler and broil for 8 minutes longer.

Place tomato slices on patties. Brush with butter, sprinkle with salt, pepper and oregano. Broil 4 minutes longer. Top each serving with a slice of cheese and continue broiling until cheese is lightly browned. Serve hot with rice. Serves 4.

Flavor With Pepper

Next time you prepare a beef and vegetable soup, tie a teaspoon of whole peppers in a piece of cheesecloth and add. Remove the peppercorns before serving.

Coffee Frosting Tops New-Style Chocolate Cake

Here's how we serve one of the new cakes made with oil.

Chocolate-Coffee Cake

1½ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup cocoa
⅔ cup salad (not olive) oil
1 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1¼ cups sugar

Sift the flour, baking soda, salt, and cocoa into a large mixing bowl. Add oil, buttermilk and vanilla; beat until very smooth.

In another bowl beat eggs until they begin to get thick and foamy; gradually beat in sugar until very thick and ivory-colored. Fold egg mixture into flour mixture until completely blended; batter will be thin.

Pour into two cake pans (each 8 by 8 by 2 inches) whose bottoms are lined with waxed paper. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 35 to 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

Turn out on cooling racks at once; remove paper; cool; fill and frost as follows:

Add 3 teaspoons instant coffee to 1½ cups heavy cream. Beat until almost stiff. Gradually beat in 4 tablespoons sugar.

Use a small amount of the whipped coffee-cream for filling; the rest for covering tops and sides of layer cake.

Top of cake will look pretty if sprinkled with chopped toasted almonds (available in cans) or shaved chocolate.

Gelatin Fortified With Vitamin C

Autumn means many things to many people, but to the homemaker preparing three meals a day, it means, above all, a welcome change in meal preparation.

* * *

At the first sign of a chilly breeze, out come the baking pans, the stew kettle and roaster. It's such a delight to turn on the oven, light up the burners and cook a good hot and hearty meal.

The best choice of dessert for these fall meals that lean to the heavy side is a light but delightful fruit-flavored gelatin dessert.

This fall, there's another good reason for serving gelatin. One manufacturer's flavors now come fortified with vitamin C. Each package from lemon to the deep red cherry contains 30 milligrams of vitamin C.

* * *

The fall is a particularly significant time for the introduction of vitamin C gelatin, for it's at a time when some of the fresh fruits known for their richness in vitamin C are not only expensive but less readily available.

And vitamin C, as you may know, is not stored in the body to any great extent, and therefore should be in everyone's daily diet.

Vitamin C is found in many fruits and vegetables, but because it is easily destroyed by heat, by air, by cooking and processing, the diet may vary considerably in the amount of vitamin C it supplies.

When you make this easy gelatin dessert you're not only providing your family with the perfect ending to a heavy meal, but you're also provding them with a good source of vitamin C, the vitamin so necessary to every day good health.

Frosty Pink Gelatin

Dissolve 1 package cherry-flavored gelatin in 1 cup hot water; add three-fourths cup cold water. Pour half of the gelatin into a mold and place in refrigerator to chill.

Chill remaining gelatin in bowl until it begins to thicken, until it is a little thicker than unbeaten egg white. Whip with a rotary beater until frothy and thick like whipped cream. (To shorten whipping time, set bowl in pan of cracked ice while whipping.)

Pile whipped gelatin lightly into mold on top of plain gelatin. Chill until firm. Unmold. Makes eight servings.

FROSTY PINK GELATIN—Pretty as a picture and light as a cloud is this simple gelatin dessert. It's the ideal kind of dessert to serve with hearty fall meals. If you use the new gelatin desserts that have added vitamin C in each package, you'll be giving your family a valuable nutrition boost.

Vinegar Helps You Perform Kitchen Magic

You can become a kitchen magician with the same vinegar you have been adding to your salads all summer long. You will find vinegar helpful in many ways around your home. Here are several household tips using vinegar.

* * *

By adding vinegar to the water you can boil cracked eggs without having the white run out of the shell.

* * *

Poached eggs will hold firm if you add vinegar to the water.

* * *

If soup or other food is too salty, add a spoonful of vinegar and a spoonful of sugar and reheat.

* * *

The odor of boiling cabbage can be prevented from permeating the house if vinegar is added to the cooking water.

Meat Bolsters Reducing Effort

Your family is off to work and to school. When noon time arrives, do you open the refrigerator and eat a bite of this and that, then take some cookies from the cookie jar?

By the middle of the afternoon you're hungry so you piece some more. Far too many homemakers get into this bad habit, points out food authority Reba Staggs.

For the woman who's the least bit susceptible to adding pounds, piecing during the day is one of the easiest ways to count up those calories.

If you want to fit into the slender line decreed for this fall, your daily diet should be made up of foods that are important to body health, yet low in calories.

* * *

Of special interest to homemakers wanting to reduce is the fact that a diet rich in meat actually aids this effort.

A lunch planned around meat provides a sense of satisfaction so there's no temptation to piece between meals. Also, there's no tendency toward poor disposition often associated with weight reducing.

Here are some simple menu suggestions when preparing lunch just for you—tossed salad topped with strips of luncheon loaf, "boiled" ham or three or four strips crisp bacon crumbled; slices of luncheon loaf broiled and served with a tomato-cucumber salad;

Smoked tongue slices with a shredded cabbage—green pepper salad; grilled frankfurters with tomato aspic salad, relishes; pan-broiled bologna and a peach-cottage cheese salad.

Accompany lunch with a beverage and with fresh or canned fruit if desired.

Put Egg Salad Mounds Atop Tomato Halves

Easy tomato salad: Cut the tomatoes in half and top each half with a mound of egg salad. Mash the eggs in making the salad so the mixture will make an easily-managed topping.

Serve the stuffed tomato halves on greens; pass French dressing or mayonnaise. A little minced or grated onion added to the egg salad will give it zip.

Mamie Contributes Recipe for Bipartisan Cookbook

WASHINGTON (INS) — Mamie Eisenhower has supplied a page for a book written by both Democrats and Republicans without a trace of political fussing and fueding.

It is the cookbook of the Congressional Club, an organization of wives of members of Congress. The new edition—the first since 1948—is a personalized book in which recipes of members appear in their own handwriting along with their autographs.

Illustrations show the donkey and the elephant having a fine time together cooking, gossiping and eating.

The First Lady's recipe, timely with Halloween and Thanksgiving coming up, is Pumpkin Chiffon Pie. Mrs. Eisenhower, an honorary member of the club, signed the recipe in large, bold handwriting. However, the recipe itself was written on a script typewriter.

* * *

Pat Nixon, wife of the vice president, wrote out her recipe by hand, as did wives of Supreme Court justices and Cabinet officers who contributed to the book. Mrs. Nixon's recipe, as befits someone from the Golden State, is California Date Nut Bread.

Many members supplied recipes for home-famed food. Mrs. John J. Williams, wife of the Republican senator from Delaware who is a big poultry man, chose oven-fried chicken as her contribution.

A recipe for Florida grapefruit pie came from Mrs. A. Sidney Herlong, wife of the House-Democrat from, of course, Florida.

Mrs. Thomas G. Abernethy, chairman of the cookbook committee and wife of the House Democrat from Mississippi, said the club could almost issue another cookbook from recipes discarded to prevent overlapping. Each member was invited to submit three recipes and, usually, only one was selected.

Mrs. Eisenhower doesn't do any White House cooking but when she does, this is the way she makes Pumpkin Chiffon Pie:

3 beaten egg yolks
¾ cup brown sugar
1½ cups cooked pumpkin
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 envelope gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 stiffly beaten egg whites
¼ cup granulated sugar

Combine egg yolks, brown sugar, pumpkin, milk, salt and spice. Cook in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly.

Soak gelatin in cold water, stir into hot mixture. Chill until partly set.

Beat egg whites, add granulated sugar and beat stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into pie shell and chill until set. Garnish with whipped cream.

The First Lady said this makes "one big pie or eight individual pies."

Try Clabber Girl's Flavor Fresh
Lemon Loaf Cake

Lemon Loaf Cake is truly flavor fresh, a fine example of how delicious a cake may be when baked only with fresh ingredients. Baked as a loaf, it is easy to slice and serve as a base for fruits, ice cream or sauces. Baked as cupcakes it ideally fits into the family menu or the lunch box. Fresh Clabber Girl Baking Powder guarantees its flavor and light texture.

LEMON LOAF CAKE

Yield: 1—9¼ x 5¼-inch loaf cake or 24—2½-inch cupcakes

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon lemon extract
3 eggs, separated
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
½ cup milk

Sift together flour, Baking Powder, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Cream together butter or margarine, ¾ cup sugar, lemon rind, and lemon extract thoroughly. Beat in egg yolks until mixture is light and fluffy. Beat egg whites and ¼ teaspoon salt until foamy. Gradually beat in the ¼ cup sugar until whites form stiff, moist peaks. Add dry ingredients to egg yolk mixture alternately with milk, adding dry ingredients first and last; beat only until mixture is smooth after each addition. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour batter into a greased and floured 9½ x 5¼ x 2¾-inch loaf pan. Bake in a 350° F. (moderate) oven about 1 hour. Or bake in 24 greased or oiled 2½ x 1¼-inch muffin pans at same temperature for 20 minutes.

Bun Shells Hold Creamed Tuna

There is nothing simpler to prepare — nor more delicious to eat — than crispy bun shells filled to overflowing with savory creamed tuna. This tip comes from the Lever Test Kitchens.

The filled buns are so flavorful and eye-appealing that they are bound to be served often throughout the year. For variety, other creamed mixtures may be substituted for the tuna.

Bun Shells With Creamed Tuna

With a pointed knife, cut out 2-inch circles from the tops of sandwich buns. Brush inside of each bun with melted shortening.

Place on baking sheet and bake in very hot oven (450) 10-12 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve with a filling of creamed tuna or other creamed mixture:

* * *

To make creamed tuna: Melt 3 tablespoons shortening in saucepan, add 1 tablespoon chopped onion and cook until tender . . . add 3 tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one-eighth teaspoon celery salt and blend . . .

Stir in 1½ cups milk gradually; cook and stir over low heat until thickened . . . add one 7-ounce can tunafish, drained and flaked, and 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento and heat thoroughly . . .

Enough filling for five-six bun shells.

Oatmeal Comes to Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Rolled oats nowadays are a multiple-duty food. Oatmeal appears at breakfast, of course, but it turns up, too, at lunch and dinner in other forms.

* * *

In breads: Contributes a rich, nutty flavor that is always delicious in yeast rolls, yeast breads, muffins, fruit and nut quick breads.

In cookies: Brings a sweet, nut-like flavor and delightful texture to old-fashioned drop, rolled or bar cookies.

In meat dishes: Serves as a binder and retains meat juices in such dishes as meat loaf and meatballs.

In toppings: Combines with sugar, butter and spices to add variety to crunchy toppings baked on fruit crisps, coffee cakes and puddings.

In desserts: Adds interesting texture and flavor to torfes, pie crusts and meringues.

Salad Contrasts Food Textures

Michigan celery is coming into its own again as the crop comes to market. It has its place on your table in many ways.

Serve it with dips for an appetizer. Serve it on the table on a relish tray. Cook it in main dishes. Add it to salads for crisp texture.

This easy recipe for a fall salad takes advantage of the new crop and calls for a cup of chopped celery. Unpeeled apples add more color, while nuts add chewiness.

Taste Treat Salad

1 package lemon gelatin dessert
1 cup finely chopped Michigan pascal celery
1 package cream cheese
½ cup chopped nutmeats
1 cup diced unpeeled red apples
½ cup whipped cream.

Prepare gelatin. When it begins to thicken, blend in cheese. Add nuts, fruit and celery. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into mold and place in refrigerator until firm.

TASTE TREAT SALAD — For a subtle blend of contrasting textures try this festive salad that is easier to make than anyone will guess. The lemon gelatin is made creamy with cheese and whipped cream. Crisp celery and diced apples give contrast.

Expert Reports Stew Vegetables Are Abundant

Alan T. Rains, executive secretary, United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, said this year growing conditions for fresh vegetables have been predominantly good.

* * *

Rains, one of the best informed men in the seven-billion-dollar fresh fruit and vegetable industry, added, "Although the potato crop is not fully made nor harvested, estimates indicate that the crop of intermediate and late potatoes, marketing of which will extend into next spring, is about 12 per cent above last year. Potato producers are deeply concerned as to how they may be able to market this extra 36 million bushels at a fair return to themselves."

He said further that onions, carrots, celery, peppers will all be in adequate supply for the stew pot or roast this fall. The late summer crop of carrots was 40 per cent above average. Celery also is in good supply. Peppers should be 24 per cent above average.

"This year's harvest is certainly a bountiful one," he said. "The nutrients in vegetables, combined with those in meat, go far toward providing the balanced diets we need for a stronger America."

* * *

All this food abundance—some people may call it food surplus—adds up to millions of beef and vegetable stews for the American dinner table. So let's get out the cookbooks and start stewing.

Color of Cheese Indicates Flavor

MADISON, Wis. (INS)—You can tell whether a cheese has the best flavor by its color, according to the University of Wisconsin Agricultural Extension Service.

* * *

The service said most cheeses should have a uniform coloring and gives housewives the following guide:

Cheddar—creamy white to dark yellow-orange.

Swiss—creamy yellow.

Brick—light cream.

* * *

The extension service said a bright red wax coat hides most of the outside characteristics of a Baby Gouda cheese, but a good product should be "evenly shaped and without any irregularities." The cheese should be a light orange.

Keep bite-sized shredded rice biscuits on hand for munching on hot summer days. Good for between-meal snacking with a glass of chilled tomato juice.

Careless Cooking Habits Can Result in Disasters

What's cooking? Some day, if you aren't careful, it could be you!

* * *

Careless cooking habits can lead to serious trouble, and some of the most common practices are fraught with danger.

Take the matter of lifting the lid off a steaming vessel. You should lift the farther side of the lid first so the steam won't boil up in your face.

Nine times out of ten you raise the nearer side. Someday your face may be close enough to suffer disfiguring burns.

* * *

Here's a quick review of correct cooking habits:

1. Use back burners whenever possible, and turn pot handles to the rear.

2. Counters around the range should be surfaced with a really fireproof material like ceramic tile so hot dishes can be set down anywhere in a hurry. Virtually nothing can mar tile's surface. Just a swish with a damp cloth and all smudges and stains are quickly removed.

3. Wipe spills from the floor at once. A flooring material such as ceramic tile offers a slip-resistant feature because of its slightly abrasive surface.

4. Keep your range clean at all times. Don't leave containers of grease on the range. Store salt or soda nearby for a sudden grease fire. A lid clamped over the flames is a good way to smother them.

5. Use potholders to pick up hot pans; don't use dish towels. A loose end of the dish towel can fall in the flames.

Sweet-Sour Sausage Varies Hamburgers

A few flavoring ingredients added to your hamburgers will give you a ground beef dish that is different, yet easy to make. Try these sweet-sour hamburgers. You will want to serve them often, especially with steamed or fried rice.

Sweet-Sour Hamburgers

1 pound ground beef
½ pound pork sausage
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 large onion, sliced
2 tablespoons soy
½ cup water
¼ cup vinegar
⅓ cup brown sugar

Mix the ground beef, pork sausage, salt and pepper together and form into six large patties. Brown on both sides in an ungreased frying pan. Add the sliced onion.

Mix together the soy, water, vinegar and brown sugar and pour over patties. Cover and simmer until hamburgers and onions are done, about 15 minutes. Yield: Six servings.

If you lightly grease your broiling pan before placing chicken in it, you reduce the tendecy of chicken to stick to the pan.

Topping for Mince Pie

With all its appetite-tempting aroma, mince pie from your favorite food shop offers a new taste appeal with Nippy Cheese Topping. Make the topping in a double boiler or over low heat by melting a tablespoon of butter and blending it with a tablespoon of flour. Add one-third cup milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add 1 cup grated, sharp Cheddar cheese. When cheese is blended, serve the warm sauce over mince pie which has been heated in the oven.

The delicious little fish known as sardines are really any small fish with rich flesh and weak bones that will dissolve in oil.

Sauce Adds Zip to Fish Steaks

An important section of the fishing industry taking part in National Fish Week (Oct. 3 to 8) is the great Northwest, which ships halibut, salmon and swordfish to the entire nation.

We buy these fish in the form of steaks, and no matter what our favorite among these popular three may be, the same broiling recipe can be used.

To make the steaks doubly delicious, serve them with a well-seasoned, creamy sauce, such as the Celery-Pimiento Sauce given below:

Broiled Fish Steaks

Preheat broiler and broiler pan. Place fish steaks on pan. Brush with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with salt, pepper and a little onion or garlic salt (if desired).

Place pan 2 or 3 inches from source of heat. Broil three minutes. Turn carefully, brush again with melted butter and repeat seasonings.

Broil five minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork, brushing with more melted butter once during the cooking time.

Serve on heated platter with rice timbales and lemon wedges, accompanied by a bowl of Celery-Pimiento Sauce.

Celery-Pimiento Sauce

Boil one-half cup chopped celery until tender. Reserve one-fourth cup of water in which celery was cooked. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in saucepan. Remove from heat and blend in 1½ tablespoons flour.

Return to heat and add slowly one-fourth cup of celery water plus three-fourths cup milk, stirring constantly. Add one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-eighth teaspoon thyme, one-fourth teaspoon paprika.

Cook, stirring constantly until mixture begins to bubble. Add cooked celery and one-half cup chopped pimiento and cook just enough to be sure vegetables are heated. Makes enough sauce for four servings.

QUICK PASTRY DESSERT — Here is a dessert that can be put together in a matter of minutes. Cut a baker's sponge-cake shell into three or four layers. Mix up a package of instant banana cream pudding, using 1¼ cups milk, and 1 cup heavy cream. Spoon between cake-shell layers to make individual desserts. Top with an extra spoonful of pudding and sprinkle with shaved chocolate. One package makes enough for four desserts.

Earthen Pot Needed for Boston Beans

BOSTON (INS)—The housewife who wants to make real Boston baked beans needs a beanpot, a brown earthenware one with a cover. It should be the 2-quart size for a moderate family.

Soak your pound of small pea beans overnight, pick over and wash thoroughly.

In the bottom of the pot place 1 tablespoon salt, one-half cup each sugar and molasses and a piece of fat salt pork about one-quarter pound.

Place beans on top, add boiling hot water to fill pot. Place cover and bake in slow to moderate oven over six to eight hours.

Water must be replaced as beans bake and absorb. During last stages of baking, remove cover to brown.

After filling home canning jars, use a knife to agitate food to dislodge air.

Blend Olives, Vegetables for Extra Flavor Appeal

Homemakers who serve tasty, nourishing meals are always glad to add some new vegetable suggestions.

The distinctive flavor of pimiento-stuffed green olives is delicious when blended with a wide variety of vegetables.

Olive Buttered Carrots

6 medium-sized carrots, cut in quarters
Boiling salted water
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives

Cook carrots, covered, in a small amount of boiling, salted water 15-20 minutes.

Drain; add butter or margarine and olives. Heat to serving temperature. Makes four servings.

* * *

Olive Scalloped Potatoes

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
2 cups milk
½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
6 cups sliced cooked potatoes
1 cup thinly sliced onions
Salt and pepper
½ cup grated cheddar cheese

Melt butter or margarine and blend in flour. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add olives.

Arrange alternate layers of potatoes and onions in greased 2-quart casserole. Sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper.

Pour sauce over other ingredients. Top with cheese. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 45 minutes. Makes six servings.

* * *

Green Olive Spanish Rice

2 15-ounce cans Spanish rice
½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
6 slices cheddar cheese

Combine Spanish rice and olives. Pour into greased 1½-quart casserole. Top with cheese.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 20-30 minutes, or until thoroughly heated. Makes six servings.

* * *

Olive Potato Cakes

2½ cups mashed potatoes
½ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives
Flour
Melted fat

Combine potatoes and olives. Shape into patties. Coat with flour. Brown on both sides in fat. Makes six servings.

Pork Supplies Liberal and Prices Are Lower

About this time of the year everyone gets a bigger appetite. When the temperature starts going down, we get hungry for pork. Right now that is good, for pork supplies are liberal.

They are going to stay that way during the fall and winter for hog slaughter this fall is expected to average 10 to 12 per cent higher than in 1954.

Larger supplies are also accompanied by lower prices. Some stores are selling certain cuts of pork for as much as 15 cents less per pound.

The quicker food cools after processing, the better the texture and less chance of spoilage.

Bacon Varies Beans

Want to vary green snap beans? Add the cooked beans to a cream sauce and top with bits of crisply cooked bacon. Use bacon fat in making the cream sauce, if you like a lot of bacon flavor.

Junior Edition of Famous Cookbook Now Available for Young Cooks

Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's not too early to think about Christmas gifts for the youngsters on your list. If there is one who aspires to be a cook, she will love having the Better Homes and Gardens Junior Cook Book (Meredith Publishing Company, $2.95).

The mother-daughter theme has been expanded to include cookbooks. This new junior edition is a somewhat smaller version of the familiar Better Homes and Gardens cookbook that mother has been using for many years.

A gay red and white checked cover is eye-catching. Inside, the recipes are arranged in six categories. Beverages, Breads and Sandwiches, Candy and Cookies, Desserts, Main Dishes and Vegetables and Salads cover the foods included.

Each recipe has an accompanying picture so that the young cook can see what the finished dish should look like; many of the pictures are in color. Amusing drawings are scattered throughout the book. Step-by-step illustrations accompany every recipe.

Although this cookbook, logically enough, is slanted toward the feminine side of the family, there is no reason why small boys shouldn't use its recipes. We intend to let our second grader try out some of the simpler ideas. Boys like to cook if given a chance.

Parents, educators and psychologists were consulted by the Better Homes and Gardens editorial staff to decide on what material to include. The editors wanted to get across the idea that cooking is fun, but they wanted also to insure foolproof ideas. Each recipe was triple-checked.

Proper ideas of cleanliness and the necessity for cleaning up after cooking are stressed in the opening section. Cooperation with mother is also emphasized.

Here's a sample of the kind of recipes the book includes:

Bar-B-Q-burgers

2 tablespoons fat
1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¼ cup water
1 can condensed chicken gumbo soup
1 tablespoon catsup
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Cook meat and onion together in hot fat till meat is lightly browned. Stir frequently with wooden spoon. add other ingredients. Cover; Simmer gently over low heat 30 minutes. Stir occasionally. Spoon into 8 buns.

Taking advantage of modern mixes and partially prepared foods the book gives a number of recipes similar to this one.

Cherry Fill-ups

1 package refrigerated biscuits
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
Cherry preserves

Set oven at 425 degrees. Open biscuits and arrange in round pan so they nearly touch. Press a hollow in center of each with your fingers. Fill hollow with a teaspoon of cherry preserves.

Break egg into bowl. Beat smooth with beater. Beat in sugar, milk. This glaze puts a shine on biscuits. Brush on egg mixture with pastry brush. Bake about 10 minutes. Remove biscuits from pan.

For diabetics, all fruits may be canned without sugar. Sugar adds nothing to the preservative quality of foods; rather only the taste.

Needlework Guild Organizes Membership Drive

When members of St. Hugo of the Hills Altar Guild met at the home of Mrs. Frank Caswell of Epping lane Tuesday, new members as well as present members enjoyed the opportunity to become better acquainted. Presiding at the silver service was Mrs. James P. Tomlinson of Birmingham, pictured serving Mrs. Caswell and Mrs. Paul Lindzon of Birmingham (left to right).

Singers to Open Musicale Season

Pontiac Tuesday Musicale will present Pauline and Gene Greenwell, guest artists, at the opening meeting Oct. 11 at 2 p.m. in Fellowship Hall, Grace Lutheran Church.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwell came to Michigan State University three years ago after work in New York City as professional singers. They have sung together in opera, operetta, concerts and oratorio in their careers in music.

They met while attending the Juilliard Graduate School of Music. Their first singing together was in the opera company at Chautauqua, N.Y., and they continued with that company for 11 seasons. They were married after their first season.

Their appearances include many with major orchestras, as well as those with the large oratorio societies and at festivals.

* * *

Mrs. Greenwell is one of three outstanding personalities developed by the New Opera Company in New York. Mr. Greenwell was a leading bass with the New York City Opera Company for seven years and has performed with the company since becoming chairman of the Vocal Department at Michigan State University.

Mr and Mrs. Greenwell both teach at MSU. Despite a busy campus life, they appear in many concerts.

The reception committee at the Tuesday affair will include Mrs. C. E. Galloway and Mrs. L. R. Sampson. Mrs. W. D. LeFurgy and Mrs. Charles Allen will pour.

Social chairmen for the day will be Mrs. J. L. Bennett and Mrs. L. H. Schimmel, assisted by Mrs. E. C. Russell, Vera Bassett, Mrs. G. A. Harkless, Mrs. C. A. Scott, Mrs. J. H. Keller and Mrs. S. J. Dalley.

Marks 70th Anniversary This Year

To Join Group, 2 or More Garments Must Be Donated

In this, the 70th anniversary year of the Needlework Guild of America, Inc., the Pontiac Branch is participating with the national association in a concerted membership drive.

* * *

Membership requirements are simple: The donation of two or more new garments, items of practical clothing or household linen, bought or made, or a sum of money.

The NGA started 70 years ago in Philadelphia, where a group of seven women began aiding other charities with gifts of clothing and supplies of linen.

There are now almost 500 branches throughout the U.S., all functioning as parts of a national organization, but each caring for the needs of its own local welfare agencies and institutions.

* * *

The quality of Needlework Guild garments is famous; they are not drab "charity clothes", but are garments selected by givers with interest in the less fortunate.

COLLECTIONS VARY

In some of the larger branches these gifts may total 20,000 to 40,000 garments each year, distributed among a list of agencies; in smaller units, a few hundred items are donated for the school cupboard or the public health nurse.

* * *

Members of the Pontiac Branch cooperate with the National Needlework Guild of America, Inc., in furnishing more than a million garments a year to the sick, orphaned and underprivileged. The garments are distributed each autumn by the guild.

Mrs. Harold E. Howlett of East Iroquois road invited officers and chairmen of committees of the Needlework Guild to a coffee at her home Wednesday morning.

Those attending were Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald, Mrs. John W. Fitzgerald, Mrs. George H. Crane, Mrs. Stuart A. Whitfield, Mrs. Donald Nicholle, Mrs. Basil E. Brown, Mrs. Bertil Larsen and Mrs. Anthony J. Michal.

* * *

Plans were made by the group for the Ingathering which will be held at the First Presbyterian Church Nov. 10. The Pontiac Branch answered the call from the National Needlework Guild and sent a check for $100 to the flood relief in the East.

Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald will have a coffee Oct. 19 for section presidents and directors.

Football Dominates Hills Weekend

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Plans for the weekend in the Hills include several football parties. Now that the World Series is concluded, football stadiums all over the country will come into their own.

The Damon S. Galls' annual Football Day and Oakland Hills Country Club are synonymous since the before-and-after-the-game entertainment is staged there.

Mr. and Mrs. Gall have chosen the Michigan-Army game this year, and after an early breakfast at the club they will transport their guests to Ann Arbor in three chartered buses with an accordion player in each.

After the game, the many guests, some from out-of-town, will be taken back to Oakland Hills for cocktails, dinner and dancing. This will be the 10th year Mr. and Mrs. Gall have been hosts at the football party.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Anderson will entertain at dinner in their home Friday night for their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Flanigan of Glencoe, Ill. They will all attend the Ann Arbor game Saturday, joining the Norrises' son, Neil, who is studying law at the U. of M. Graduate School.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Darden and Dr. and Mrs. Harold R. Roehm will go to the game together, lunching on the way, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Taylor have invited a group to dinner in their Orchard Ridge road home after the game.

The Taylors will attend the game with their dinner guests who include Mr. and Mrs. Fred Colombo, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. George Cavanaugh Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Bolton.

CONCLUDES VISIT

Mrs. Frank Tyson has returned to her home in Wayne, Pa., after being the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Poole. Mrs. Tyson came to attend the Cumiskey-Gillette wedding last Saturday.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Colbert spent Monday and Tuesday in New York with their daughter, Sarah, who came down from Bennington College to meet them. Together they returned home Tuesday night and left almost immediately for a visit in Oakwood, Tex.

* * *

Marynell Anderson is spending a week in St. Louis, Mo., where she is visiting the Clay E. Zinzers, who formerly lived in Birmingham.

Miss Anderson attended the Veiled Prophet Ball in St. Louis Tuesday evening.

VISITORS FROM WEST

Fur Buttons Are Back

Fur buttons have been revived in Paris. Genevieve Fath, for instance, shows a little mink scarf which is fastened in front by a mink button. That way it replaces a shawl-collar and looks much newer than the usual way of knotting it around the neck.

Furniture Gets Synthetic Finish

CHICAGO (INS) — A synthetic finish has been developed for a process which will make hardwood furniture impervious to alcohol, nail polish, or burning cigarettes.

He said tops of tables, desks, bars and chests will be available next fall with the stain-proof process, which includes laminating aluminum foil into hardwood plywood. Neither a varnish or laquer is used.

Green told a meeting at the recent International Home Furnishings Market in Chicago that 28 firms are using the process for walnut, mahogany, oak and cherry furniture which will be in stores by fall.

City-Bred Couple Plans Rural Life

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Bill and Edie are in their mid-20s and are as bright a young couple as I have ever known.

They were both born and brought up in a big city and were married just before Bill went to Korea.

* * *

Edie kept her job, lived at home and saved up a nice nest egg.

As for Bill, he was one of the lucky ones who came back safe and sound. But while he was serving in the Army, he got a real idea of what he wanted from life.

"A buddy of mine," he told me, "was the son of a farmer in New Jersey. Joe would tell me about farming, the chicken route he ran for his father and the wonders of living on a farm and being your own boss. I decided that some day, Edie and I would have a life like that.

HE'S A TECHNICIAN

"I got back from the Army," he continued, "and got a job in Newark, N. J., as a technician with a big utilities company. I learned a lot about that kind of work in the Army and I like it all right. Been with them now since 1953.

"Meantime, Edie has been working, too, and we save every penny of her salary.

* * *

"Summer vacations, we take the old jalopy and spend two weeks in the Jersey country. We visit my old buddy on his father's farm and browse around the countryside for miles, looking at property.

"We have enough money now to buy a couple of acres for ourselves, within commuting distance of my job.

"Then, we figure Edie will stay home and on weekends we'll fix the place up.

"Next summer, we plan to start with a few chickens and learn the business. We'll just have enough eggs for ourselves and neighbors at first, but if we learn the ropes, we plan eventually to have a nice little egg business of our own.

* * *

"Edie can probably handle it with a little help. I'll keep my job and work on the place weekends and vacations."

Then Edie put in happily, "It'll be a fine place to raise a family!"

Buy Right Carpet

An important consideration is selecting just the right carpet for the place and mode of life of your household.

If you have the type of family or house location where soil is a problem, select patterned and textured rugs in medium colors. They won't show soil as fast as light or dark colored rugs in solid color.

IF ever-this—

A fur-type of Orlon and Dynel with over-size collar will soften angles and give a sumptuous, bulky look to a lean figure.

Fur-type coats are seen not only in natural hues, but in dyed colors ranging from light pastels to vibrant jewel tones. This bulky fabric is a natural complement to column-thin figures.

... and the glowing touch is the starring fashion in shoes this season! Richly hued suede, beautifully detailed with lustre-calf and set on the foam-cushioning that makes Allures the heavenly light shoes that are— BETTER THAN BAREFOOT!

Girl Must Choose Between Pal and Beau

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going steady with Jack for three months and we get along fine. The trouble is that he disapproves of my best girl friend. Actually, he has no reason to, as she has done nothing wrong.

"But he has given me a choice — it's either him or my girl friend. I like to have her for a friend, but I do like him so much. What can I do?"

Answer: It's tough all around when the love of one's life doesn't go for one's friends. But sometimes a boy will take a violent dislike, for no reason that you can see, to the girl you like best to run around with.

The sight and sound of her might rile him. Your very closeness might make him jealous. He might resent the important role she plays in your life.

I suspect that's what's eating Jack. He just doesn't want you to be that close to any one girl friend these days. He doesn't want his secrets shared with her; doesn't want you to tell everything he says and does to her. He wants to be your best friend himself. Which is understandable.

You can't very well tell all of that to your best girl friend, and expect her to like it — or Jack. She won't understand how any boy could come between you. But she can appreciate that you might want to have some more girl friends in your life.

And that would be my solution. See less of her by seeing more of other girls in your crowd. And don't see too much of any one of them in particular. Spread your time with the girls around, so that you don't get too intimate with any one.

If you see less of your best girl friend for the time being, you will make Jack happy. If you continue to see her now and then, she'll be happy. If they're both happy, you will be.

"Dear Miss Woodward: The boy I go with hasn't a very good reputation, but he has always treated me very nicely. In fact, since he has been going with me, he has changed a lot for the better.

"But my parents and friends don't approve of him. They say I'll get a bad reputation too. He needs help and I'm sure I've helped him.

"Please tell me if I should keep going with him or, give my parents and friends their way."

Answer: Their opposition is pretty hard to buck. Parents and friends can make things mighty unpleasant when they don't like the boys you like.

They object to your concentration on this one particular boy. They probably appreciate the help you've given him, and wouldn't mind your dealing out more in small doses.

But a small dose of this boy is what they wish for you. Can't you see your way clear to seeing less of him and more of other boys?

Luminize Skin Tones

Use a basic foundation to luminize the natural skin tone (or lighten it in case it's sallow), an eyeshadow which widens and brightens your eyes — and this comes only by experiment with blue, green or violet — and two face powders to give you a peach-bloom glow by day and by night. All you have to do to complement your new wardrobe colors is balance them with one basic lipstick and rouge colors.

Southwest Designer Criticizes Fashions

SANTA FE, N.M. (INS) — A southwestern designer feels that fashions from her part of the country have had too much of a good thing.

"Novelty clotes never last long," says Mariam. "Southwestern fashions must come out of the novelty class to take their rightful place in the fashion world."

* * *

She thinks the southwestern clothes have been overloaded with rick-rack, braids and laces and, while she herself prefers cotton, she thinks southwestern fashions can be made up in velvets, lames, silks, satins and laces.

Iraq Caldron Holds Its Annual Meeting

Iraq Caldron, Daughters of Mokanna, held its annual meeting Wednesday evening.

Commitee reports were given and Mrs. A. Murray White and Mrs. Albert Kugler, delegates, read reports of the Supreme Session held in Rock Island, Ill. A check was given to the grand monarch of the Grotto as the Supreme Caldron's contribution to the Spastic Child Fund.

Election of officers was held and the new officers will be installed Oct. 20 at 8 p.m. The installation is open to the public.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. W. J. Morris, Mrs. Floyd Sinkler and Mrs. Kugler.

Matching Lipsticks

The woman who lets color be her shopping guide this fall need not find that the aftermath is a five-foot-shelf of essential makeup. Instead, if she "plays it smart," she can actually streamline her personal makeup palette to three different lipsticks, three matching rouge shades, one becoming eye shadow and two face powder tints.

More late-day and dinner dresses, short-length, for fall. Most of these are black but some are plaids in the violet or blue tones.

"Amazing gal, my Amy!"

The efficient way my Amy whizzes through her housework leaves me dizzy, but proud! Take wood floors, for instance. Some gals spend a backbreaking day scrubbing and waxing. But not Amy! She cleans and waxes them in one easy operation with Bruce Cleaning Wax. It takes only half the time and Bruce does practically all the work. And Amy's friends just rave about our beautiful wood floors. My Amy and her Bruce Cleaning Wax sure outsmart tough floor care problems. And I can't help crowing about them.

Series Payoff $9,684 for Each Dodger Share

NEW YORK (AP)—The situation in Brooklyn once again is normal ' :t it'll be many a day before the last word is uttered about the Brooklyn Dodgers winning their first world baseball championship.

The shouting and tumult that followed the Dodgers final-game triumph over the proud New York Yankees had died today but it didn't take much prompting to send a Flatbush fan bff on the clutch-pitching of Johnny Podres, the great catch of Sandy Amoros in the seventh game, the slugging of Duke Snider or the spirited play of Pee Wee Reese and Jackie Robinson.

* * *

Meantime, the Brooklyn players scattered to all sections of the country to await their World Series checks. The Yankees packed their bags for an exhibition tour of the Far East starting Saturday.

* * *

The final figures on the payoff to the players were expected today. But it was estimated each of the 32 full Dodger shares would be worth about $9,684 and each of the 36 losing Yankee shares $5,739.

The money comes out of the players' pool from the first four games, amounting to $654,853.59. Thirty per cent of the pool goes to players on the teams finishing second, third and fourth in each league. The Dodgers get 60 per cent of the remaining 70 per cent and the Yankees 40.

* * *

The seven-day series attracted 362,310 fans and record net receipts of $2,337,515.34. The players receive an estimated $83,000 as their share of the $100,000 receipts from the pre-game television show while $1,125,000 from the actual broadcasting and televising of the games went into the majors' central fund to help support the players' pension fund.

* * *

For some of the Dodgers there will be very little let-up from baseball. Don Newcombe, the team's 20-game winner who failed in the first game, will join the Giants' Willie Mays in heading an exhibition tour of major league players.

Amoros, who has a big welcome waiting in Cuba, will play in the Winter League, which opens Friday. Don Zimmer, Dixie Howell and relief pitcher Ed Roebuck also are signed up for winter play.

Podres will be home Saturday for a big party at Mineville, N.Y., an adjoining hamlet to Witherbee, the tiny iron-mining town where the 23-year-old southpaw makes his home.

* * *

A big welcome home celebration also awaits Manager Walt Alston at Darrtown, Ohio, after he fulfills a television committment here Saturday night.

Alston also called a meeting tomorrow of his coaches and scouts.

"There are a number of little details I'd like to get cleaned up," said Alston. "We have a lot of fine players coming up from the minor leagues and since it isn't likely we'll be together again until the minor league meetings in Columbus, I thought it best to talk things over now."

* * *

Although Alston has not signed a contract for next year, President Walter J. O'Malley has said the 43-year-old ex-school teacher will be back.

O'Malley saw in the Dodger triumph a fresh impetus to the plans for building a new Brooklyn stadium in the Atlantic and Flatbush sections.

"Right now the matter is pretty much out of our hands," he said. "But I don't see how anyone could want to see the Dodgers leave Brooklyn. Certainly we don't want to go anywhere else and I am now more confident than ever that some thing will turn up which will enable us to build a new home befitting the world champions."

* * *

Manager Casey Stengel, looking ahead to pitching help in 1956, will have plenty of time to talk to General Manager George Weiss and Co-Owner Del Webb. All three will be members of the Yankee party of 67 leaving New York on a chartered plane Saturday. The plane will take on additional players and wives at Chicago and then on to San Francisco, from where they leave Sunday morning for Hawaii. Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick also is going along.

* * *

The first of five games in Hawaii will be played Tuesday night. Sixteen games in 27 days will be played in Japan and two each in Okinawa and Manila before the tour ends.

* * *

Only Phil Rizzuto, Joe Collins, Tommy Carroll, Rip Coleman and Coach Frank Crosetti won't be on the tour.

Three Yankees will be married before Saturday and use the trip as a honeymoon. They are third baseman Andy Carey, first baseman Eddie Robinson and pitcher Johnny Kucks.

Rocky Creates Wide Gap in Heavy Ratings

Punched Way Out of Good Opponents, Ring Publication Says

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano has pounded a big gap between himself and the rest of the division with his hammer-like fists, according to today's quarterly ratings of the National Boxing Assn.

The NBA believes the gap is the widest it has been since Marciano became champion three years ago and doesn't bother to list a logical contender.

* * *

"Marciano has punched his way out of good opponents," said Fred Saddy, chairman of the NBA Rating Committee in a statement. "We are listing Bob Baker, Nino Valdes and Hurricane Jackson as the outstanding boxers in the heavyweight division."

* * *

Saddy suggested that Baker, Valdes and Jackson engage in an elimination tournament, the winner to meet Marciano. He said that would be the best way to provide a logical contender for the Rock.

Marciano knocked out Archie Moore, light-heavyweight titlist, in eight rounds in his last title defense Sept. 21. Floyd Patterson is listed as Moore's most logical contender.

Sooner Named Back of Week in Press Poll

Oklahoma's McDonald Honored for Stellar Work Against Pitt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of the principal reasons why Oklahoma was able to whip Pittsburgh and kept football's longest winning streak going through its 21st game last Saturday was halfback Tommy McDonald.

Tommy scored two touchdowns on runs of 43 and 9 yards, raced 23 yards on a key play in another Sooner scoring drive and racked up an impressive 124 yards by rushing as Oklahoma turned back the big Eastern team 26-14. In addition he hit 2 of 5 passes for 39 yards.

* * *

In recognition of this fine all-around performance, the nation's sports writers and broadcasters participating in the weekly Associated Press poll today picked McDonald as the season's first Back of the Week.

* * *

The experts had named Wisconsin's pass-catching end, Dave Howard, as Lineman of the Week by a big margin for his feats against Iowa.

McDonald earned the designation by the narrowest of margins over a trio of brilliant pass-pitching quarterbacks, Clemson's Don King, Navy's George Welsh and Maryland's Frank Tamburello.

King, in one of the best performances of his career, completed 10 of 20 passes against Georgia for 180 yards. Four other passes, three of which might have produced touchdowns, were dropped by teammates. He also called a perfect game and as safety man on defense made as many tackles as anyone on the field.

* * *

Welsh, playing in a heavy rain against South Carolina, connected on 11 of 15 passes for 163 yards. One went for a touchdown and another set up a score. His performances moved Coach Eddie Erdelatz to say: "I thought Welsh played an All-American game. He called a great game and threw that wet ball well."

* * *

Tamburello's shotgun passes produced two touchdowns in Maryland's victory over Baylor.

Golf Pros Aim for Big Purse at Baltimore

Eastern Open Season's Final Top Money Test; Field of 127 Entered

BALTIMORE (AP) — Travelers of professional golf's tournament trail were shooting for the season's last big bundle of prize money as the $17,500 Eastern Open got under way today at Mt. Pleasant Public Course here.

The field of 127 was lined up in the 72-hole medal event, final date on a 1955 calendar of 43 tournaments regulated by the Professional Golfers' Assn.

* * *

Rain gave the par-72, 6,895-yard layout a thorough soaking last night and showers were forecast for today.

* * *

The sixth annual affair also attracted Max Evans, winner of the Long Island Rotary Open last weekend, defending Eastern Open champion Bob Toski, and 1953 winner Dick Mayer. After taking this one in May of last year, Toski went on to capture the rich Tam O'Shanter and become the leading money winner of 1954.

MSU Faces Air Attack

EAST LANSNG (AP)—This week—once again—Michigan State is preparing to meet a passing opponent.

Football coach Duffy Daugherty expects Stanford to use a fancy passing attack in the home opener for the Spartans at Macklin Field Saturday.

* * *

Last week, also, Michigan State made elaborate preparations to defense against the barrage of passes expected from Michigan. The anti-climatic payoff was that Michigan tried only two throws during the afternoon, directed none at end Ron Kramer and completed only one.

Daugherty is sure there will be a little more aerial razzle-dazzle this week.

In its first three games, Stanford threw 36 forward passes and completed 23, 13 of them to end John Stewart. Quarterback Jerry Gustafso is the top passer for the Indians.

Stanford coach Chuck Taylor has an imaginative attack, especially in the passing department, Daugherty said.

"He can think up more ways and means of completing a pass than anyone in the game I know," Daugherty said. "And he has a running game that goes with it.

"They do things with the pass that nobody else thinks of," he said. "They like to throw short passes and will try one even when there is a 4th down and a yard to go. That's how sure they are of connecting.

"Taylor has those receivers running all over the place and it's going to put our pass defense to a severe test."

Because of a driving rain, the workout yesterday afternoon was staged indoors in Jenison Fieldhouse. The squad was able to hit the dummies and run signal drill almost as if the practice were outdoors since scrimmage is being skipped again this week for the regulars.

Sophomore Tackle Pat Burke was able to run through signal drill and has recovered so well from a knee injury he now is expected to play Saturday.

'Escapology' Fails Moore as He Looks Out for Fans

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Well, there was old Archie Moore, jammed in on three sides in a press session at the Hollywood Legion Stadium, and the talk got around to what happened to his famed theory of "Escapology" the night just two weeks ago when he ran into the heavyweight king, Rocky Marciano.

* * *

Already back on the soap box, campaigning for a rematch with Rocky, old Archie raised an amused eyebrow and counterpunched:

"You boys forced me to become a ham," and as he and everyone else guffawed, he continued, "so in playing my role, I overplayed my hand.

"But you know the captain of a ship or the pilot of an airplane, well, he must see to the safety of his passengers.

"In my case, the fans were my passengers, who were, after all, paying the freight.

"I was, I am afraid, more concerned with the fans than my own safety.

"And that's where my 'Escapology' failed."

* * *

Archie, never flip but heartily enjoying himself and his own observation, sat quiet for a full five seconds. Nothing was said.

Finaly someone piped up. "What you mean is that you didn't want to stink up the joint?"

* * *

"You are a smart man," declared Archie without delay, and again everyone, Archie included, howled.

Archie was more serious, however, when he talked of his Marciano rematch dream. He said he could give promoters a tip to make a rematch draw $2,000,000. But he wouldn't tip his tip.

SOLID DEFENSE — Eddie Chavez, San Jose, Calif., ducks and rocks away from a long right hand by Glenn Flanagan during the early rounds of their nationally televised fight here last night. Chavez with his cover-up defense and powder puff punch proved too much for the St. Paul, Minn., Irishman and won a unanimous decision.

Bucky Signs '56 Contract With Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Bucky Harris today signed a one-year contract to manage the Detroit Tigers again in 1956.

No salary terms were announced but a source close to the club put the figure at $40,000.

The Tigers also announced that coach Schoolboy Rowe is being dropped from the staff and will be given a minor league managerial post.

Coaches Billy Hitchcock and Jack Tighe were retained.

Harris said the Tigers "have several men under consideration" to take Rowe's place. Rowe, a great Detroit pitcher in the mid-1930s, signed as Detroit's 1st base coach for the past two seasons.

Announcement of Harris' re-signing was made at a news conference. Harris was obviously pleased at the new contract.

Cobb Had Sound Idea, but Fred Lacked Players

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Manager Fred Haney of the Pittsburg Pirates says he received a weekly letter from his former Detroit Tiger teammate and manager, Ty Cobb.

In one letter, Cobb—known for his fearless base running—declared:

"Use the hit and run, do a lot of running and keep the other fellows worried and off balance."

Haney, who had been attempting to put together a team composed mostly of rookies, chuckled and said:

"Wish I had the kind of players to do it with."

Hutch Reported New Card Coach

Paper Says Ex-Bengal Mentor to Join Lane in St. Louis

SEATTLE (AP) — The Post-Intelligencer said tonight Freddie Hutchinson will be signed within a few days as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League.

* * *

The paper, without naming sources, said Hutchinson, manager of the Pacific Coast League pennant-winning Seattle Rainiers, is the personal choice of Frankie Lane.

Lane is to take over the job of general manager of the Cards tomorrow, it was reported in baseball circles. The Post-Intelligencer said Hutchinson, manager of the Detroit Tigers from the middle of 1952 until the conclusion of the 1954 season, has talked to Lane about the St. Louis spot.

* * *

Hutchinson quit at Detroit because he couldn't get a two-year contract and came to Seattle this year, leading the underdog Rainiers to the PCL pennant and earning the title of "PCL Manager of the Year."

Pro Cage Career Delayed; Sparrow Inducted in Army

Guy Sparrow, former Pontiac High School and University of Detroit basketball star, today is wearing a different type of uniform—that of Uncle Sam.

Guy, only Pontiac High hoop player to sign a professional basketball contract, left Pontiac Tuesday to begin a two-year hitch in the Army after being drafted.

Selected by the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association as their 3rd draft choice, Guy reported to the Knicks at Madison Square Garden for workouts Sept. 25.

He had just arrived in the big city when Guy received the wire from his father, Paul Sparrow, that his number had come up, and to pack up and return home. Guy did manage to get a week's workout with the pro quintet and according to his dad, Knick coach Joe Lapchick was pleased with what he saw.

Lapchick was reported to have said that if Uncle Sam did not want Guy, there was a space on the Knicks anytime. It is not known where he reported for basic training after his physical at Fort Wayne in Detroit.

Basilio to Face Tony for Title

BOSTON (AP)—Welterweight king Carmen Basilio of Conastota, N.Y., and former champion Tony De Marco of Boston were scheduled today to sign, at an afternoon luncheon, for a 15-round title bout Nov. 30 at the Boston Garden.

Basilio will be making the first defense of the title he won by stopping De Marco in the 12th round at Syracuse, N.Y., last June 10. He has won non-title bouts since then.

* * *

The bout will be televised nationally with New England blacked out.

De Marco held the welterweight title only 70 days. He won it by stopping Johnny Saxton in the 14th round in Boston Garden. In his only bout since losing to Basilio, he stopped Chico Vejar in the first round Sept. 24.

Scott Frost After Triple Crown in Kentucky Match

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Scott Frost, perhaps the top 3-year-old trotter of all time, went after full claim to that tile and harness racing's first triple crown today in the Kentucky Futurity.

* * *

Winner of the $85,000 Hambletonian and the newly established $70,000 Yonkers Futurity, the stalwart son of Hoot Mon faced a field of seven other fine 3-year-olds in the $62,702 Futurity over Lexington's famed "Red Mile."

Scott Frost, winner of 16 of 19 heats and a record $121,673 this season for Owner Sol Camp, drew the No. 6 post position for the 63rd renewal of the coveted Futurity.

* * *

Driver Joe OBrien, who shoots for victories rather than records, figured to break the Futurity record of 1:59¼ set by Protector in 1931 only if Scott Frost were pushed.

Rated as top "pusher" was William T. Maybury's Galophone, winner of $62,658 this year despite only one heat victory over Scott Frost.

Chavez Defeats Flanagan in Dull TV Bout on Coast

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP) — Boxing fans who stayed away by the thousands from last night's nationally televised bout between Eddie Chavez and Glen Flanagan congratulated themselves today. They were able to turn off their sets.

* * *

The 615 who paid their way into the Richmond Auditorium weren't that lucky. They sat through—but not silently—a dull 10-rounder in which Chavez, of San Jose, was given an unanimous decision over Flanagan of St. Paul, Minn.

* * *

"Somebody hit somebody," pleaded the fans who paid $2,468 gross. "It won't hurt much."

The way they were going it wouldn't have, either. Chavez, a notorious powder-puff puncher, appearing to be trying on occasion but the veteran Flanagan preferred wrestling, and that's the way it went. So successful was the Minnesota Irishman that twice he succeeded in hurling Chavez between the ropes, both times squarely in front of the television cameras.

* * *

Flanagan, who weighed 139½ to Chavez' 139, was on his bicycle most of the time with the exception of the early rounds. Chavez caught up with him often enough, but immediately was caught himself in an octopus-like tangle of arms. Flanagan was warned repeatedly for holding by Referee Frankie Brown, but was not penalized for his tactics.

In fairness to Flanagan it should be pointed out that he was only a substitute.

Tame Geese Fall to Guns of Poachers on Holly Farm

Jesse Van Camp, living on the Maple Hill Farm, near Holly, today is nursing a grievance that grew out of the wanton slaughter of six tame Toulouse geese and Chinese white geese. The birds were killed while paddling on the waters of Van Camp's private lake. Two others were left so badly injured they will have to be dispatched, Van Camp says.

"Who shot the birds, which my wife has been feeding since we bought them and put them on the lake, is a mystery. We did not know they had been shot," Van Camp told the Pontiac Press, "until another hunter saw them and came in and told us.

"Undoubtedly the deed was done by a trespasser (or trespassers), who fled after the shooting. We have been glad to have hunters on the property, but now the bars will be up to all of them."

Van Camp reported the matter to the Oakland County sheriff's office, Tuesday afternoon.

Deposed Champs' Chieftain Casey Stengel Gives Reasons for Strategy in Losing Series Tilts

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball fans like to rehash games in the off season. Casey Stengel, manager of the deposed world champion New York Yankees, is no different.

In what might be termed the opening of the Hot Stove League Casey gave the reasons for some of his moves in his losing 7th World Series game—the game that gave the Brooklyn Dodgers their first world championship 2-0.

It was hours after the game and Casey, in a relaxed mood, chatted with reporters at Yankee press headquarters.

Casey reiterated his praise of the Dodgers. "We got beat, that's all," he said. "That guy (Johnny Podres who banked the Yanks 2-0) was sure putting juice on the ball at the end."

He meant Podres was throwing a fast ball.

"Say, Case," someone asked, "was Berra on his own on that 3-0 pitch in the 8th inning or did you have him take it?"

"I had him take it," Stengel replied.

The Yanks had men on first and third with one out and with the 3-0 count on Yogi Berra, had a big threat going.

* * *

Casey went on: "We need the long ball, but if my man walks we have the bases loaded and a single ties the score. If that guy gets the ball over (as he did for 3-1) Campanella (Brooklyn catcher) don't dare to call for a pitchout and I can have my men running."

Berra, Yankee catcher and their leading hitter of the series, swung at the next pitch and flied to Carl Furillo in short right field. A rifle throw to home kept Phil Rizzuto on third base.

Hank Bauer then fanned to end the last Yanks' threat of the game.

How about the sixth when the Yankees had men on first and second with none out and Berra again at bat?

"Some folks think I should have had Berra sacrifice, but we didn't go for a tie. We wanted to win. Then he hits to the opposite field and from the dugout I never thought that guy would catch the ball."

* * *

He referred to Sandy Amoros, sensational glove-handed catch of Berra's fly near the left field foul line that led to an equally surprisingly double play when Gil McDougald couldn't get back to first in time.

Harvie Ward, a native of Tarboro, N. C., is the first southern golfer to win the National Amateur title since 1930 when Bob Jones scored.

$821,150 U.S. Funds Will Aid Wildlife, Fishing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan will get $821,150 under a federal aid program for restoration and development of sport fishery and wildlife resources.

Secretary of the Interior McKay, announcing the allocation said $580,525 was earmarked for wildlife resources and $240,625 for fishing.

Nationally the grant amounted to $16,537,900.

McKay said that under the requirement the states must put up one dollar for every three dollars of federal aid they get, a total of $22,050,533 will be available for such work by state conservation departments.

The funds come from excise taxes imposed on arms, ammunition, fishing rods, creels, reels, artificial lures, baits and flies. Funds are designated for the benefit of "hunters and anglers who seek recreation and food from the nation's fields and streams."

'M' Favored to Finally Beat Army 11

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Army's point-a-minute powerhouse runs into Michigan's strong defense this Saturday in the resumption of college football's "million dollar" series.

Michigan expects to fill its 97,239-seat stadium, but the size of the crowd is not the main question. It's this: Will Michigan finally beat Army?

Since it started playing football in 1879, Michigan has beaten every team on its schedule at least once with two exceptions—Army and Wesleyan.

The Cadets have taken the Wolverines five straight times since 1945. Although they are a touchdown underdog this Saturday, Many feel they will make it No. 6.

Michigan met Wesleyan only once—in 1883. The little Connecticut school won, 14-6. It's not likely they will ever get together again

The natural appeal of Army vs. Michigan—usually the best of the East vs. the best of the Midwest—has been a financial boon to both institutions.

Thus far, the five-game series has drawn 377,310 spectators—an enormous average of 62,885 per game.

The series started in Yankee Stadium in 1945. Although Glenn Davis raced 70 yards for one touchdown and Doc Blanchard 69 for another as Army won 28-7, the game was notable for quite another reason. That was the year Michigan coach Fritz Crisler introduced a new-fangled form of substitution which soon became to be known as the "platoon system."

Army won 20-13 in 1946, then there was a two-year lapse before the Cadets won again in 1949, breaking Michigan's 25-game winning streak 21-7 before 97,239 somewhat stunned fans in Ann Arbor.

The series went back to Yankee Stadium in 1950 with Army's margin 27-6 this time. Last fall Army, a touchdown underdog, won 26-7.

The Cadets bring an imposing offensive mark into this year's game—116 points in 120 minutes. They rolled past Furman 81-0 and Penn State 35-6.

* * *

Wolverines are ranked No. 2 in the weekly Associated Press poll, Army No. 6. With a convincing victory over the Cadets, Michigan could challenge Maryland for its No. 1 spot.

Bolivia's oil output has showed a 300 per cent gain in 11 months, La Paz reports.

Big League Trial

Maples Face Stiffest Test for EML Top Spot Against Strong Ferndale

Birmingham High School's ambition for an Eastern Michigan League football crown this year will receive its stiffest test Friday night when the Maples entertain a capable Ferndale team.

Coach Carl Lemle's Maples, undefeated in three starts, opened their EML campaign last week with a 21-0 victory over a weak Mt. Clemens squad. But their road to the championship is bound to get rockier from here on.

Ted Meister's Ferndale crew is a much better team than last Friday's 33-0 shellacking at the hands of Pontiac might indicate. Railsplitters' 13-13 tie with an able Grosse Pointe 11 a week earlier attests to this.

The Railsplitters are certain to be in a fighting mood after the loss to Pontiac, especially since the tilt with Birmingham begins their EML schedule.

* * *

Four remaining EML schools also lock horns tomorrow night in loop tussles. A strong East Detroit team, unbeaten and unscored upon in three games, invades Hazel Park to meet the winless but once-tied Vikings. Port Huron's Big Reds will be favored to down visiting Mt. Clemens.

Royal Oak's Acorns, smarting under last week's 13-6 defeat by defending champion Grosse Pointe in their Border Cities League inaugural, face another potent BCL foe Friday in Wyandotte at Royal Oak.

Cranbrook, with one win and one loss to its credit, journeys to Flint tomorrow for a battle with Flint Tech. It will be the last non-conference contest for Fred Campbell's Cranes before they start their Inter-State Prep League season.

Phillies Sell Former Yankee

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies have sold Bob Kuzava, southpaw pitcher who starred in the 1951 World Series for the New York Yankees, to Columbus of the International League.

* * *

Announcement of the sale came yesterday a few hours after the Phillies gave unconditional releases to two veterans, first baseman Eddie Waitkus, in the major leagues for 14 years, and outfielder Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, in the majors for 13 years. Each played with several clubs.

Kuzava had a 1955 record of one victory and no losses in 17 games for the Phillies. He was bought from the Baltimore Orioles last year.

* * *

The Phillies announced also the purchase of Angelo Lipetri, right-handed pitcher, and first baseman Edward Bouchee from their Schenectady, N.Y., farm team in the Class A Eastern League.

Gerald Claycomb, an infielder on option to Schenectady last season, was sold outright to the Eastern League team.

Peaks, Morrall Hold Early Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Michigan State backs, Earl Morrall and Clarence Peaks, have gained the early lead in total offense among Big Ten football performers.

With the benefit of two conference games, Peaks tops ground gainers with 158 net yards for an average of 5 per try. Morrall has 27 rushing and 131 passing to match his teammates' total offense record.

However, Wisconsin's Jim Haluska threatens the aerial leadership. He hit for 138 yards with a completion average of .800 against Iowa, his only conference game to date.

Haluska's main target, Dave Howard, took No. 1 spot in scoring, with three touchdowns, and in pass catching with six receptions.

Wisconsin's 407 yards against Iowa—225 by rushing and 182 by air—gave the Badgers top spot in team offense. Purdue limited Minnesota to 147 yards to lead Michigan State's two-game defensive average of 170.

Little Lion Back Tops Grid Yardage Makers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Football, not to be outdone by the World Series, has come up with the second almost unbelievable sports happening of the week.

As incredible as the Dodgers' triumph over the Yankees is the fact that a little guy—and an Ivy League player to boot—is the leading ground gainer in major college football so far this season.

Statistics issued today by the NCAA Service Bureau show that Claude Benham, 5-foot-8, 170-pound Columbia quarterback, is the major college individual leader both in passing and total offense. Like another small star of 16 years ago, Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian, Benham's durability is one of his best assets.

* * *

Benhem, who provides most of Columbia's offense, is a 60-minute player, and in two games he has handled the ball—either passing or running—on 79 pays. That's close to the record rate set by the 148-pound O'Brien in 1938, when he averaged 40 rushes and passes per game.

In two games the stubby Columbia junior from Portsmouth, Va., has racked up 397 yards on 79 plays. His 59 pass attempts, 27 completions and 363 yards through the air are high for the season to date. He's had seven passes intercepted, also high for the leaders.

It was a losing game that sent Benham to the top. He accounted for 239 yards by rushing and passing — the individual single-game high for the year—while Columbia was losing to Princeton, 20-7.

Meanwhile Art Luppino of Arizona, who never passes, reclaimed the rushing leadership he held all but one week last season. Luppino gained 129 yards in 16 carries against Idaho for a three-game total of 361 yards.

* * *

Jim Swink of Texas Christian, last week's rushing leader, slipped to second place with 345 yards, but he scored 13 points against Arkansas to go into a tie for the scoring lead with Southern California's Jon Arnett. Each has 44 points.

Joe Clements of Texas, passing and total offense leader a week ago, was sidelined by a head injury after only two plays against Southern California and dropped to fifth in passing and seventh in total offense.

* * *

Another Ivy Leaguer, Bill Beagle of Dartmouth, moved into second place behind Benham in passing with 26 completions out of 50 attempts.

* * *

John Stewart of Stanford, who made two catches against Ohio State, retained his pass-receiving leadership with 13 in 3 games.

* * *

Two punters, Bill Schmitt of Pittsburgh and Billy Smith of Louisiana State, are averaging better than 50 yards per kick — Schmitt 51.2 and Smith 50.4.

Lane Heads for Cards' GM Slot, but Not Signed

To Be Given Full Reins to Rebuild Club After Bad Finish

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Frank Lane, the trading whizard of baseball, presumably will be named the new general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today and given strong authority to rebuild a club in its lowest position in 36 years.

* * *

While Lane was conferring yesterday with August A. Busch Jr., brewery owner and president of the club, Bill Walsingham Jr. quit after nine years as vice president, saying: "I believe a ball club cannot be successfully run by two people, both of whom are confident they are qualified to do the job."

The 59-year-old Lane, who elevated the Chicago White Sox from the second division to pennant contention with more than 200 trades in seven years, told newsmen after the conference with Busch, "There's nothing certain until it's on the dotted line."

* * *

But it's understood a contract was drafted and will be presented at a meeting of the Cardinal board of directors, called for 3 p. m. (CST). The club has called a news conference for an hour later.

The way Lane expounded his theories on club operation before the conference made it appear his meeting with Busch was merely a formality. Only once or twice did he use the word "if" in discussing the job.

"I don't contemplate any wholesale shakeup," Lane said.

The Redbirds' seventh place finish was their worst since 1919.

Lane will be succeeding Dick Meyer, who also served as a top executive of Busch's Brewery. He is stepping out to devote more time to his brewery duties.

Walsingham, 46, had been with the club 29 years, beginning his career under his uncle, the late Sam Breadon, a former owner of the Cardinals.

HANOVER, N. H. — Bill Beagle, Dartmouth quarterback, is an Air Force ROTC cadet training to be a pilot.

Sugar Bowl Eyes Army

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Sugar Bowl may land Army's football team for its next game if the academy's rebuilding program produces an impressive season.

The last major scholastic obstacle was brushed aside with the change of examination dates from Christmas week, when pre-bowl practices reach their peak, to late January.

Sugar Bowl officials have made no secret of their longing for Army teams since five major conferences have committed their members to other bowls and big-time football has declined in the East.

* * *

Army previously turned down bowl feelers on the grounds that a new year's game would conflict with examinations. The change of dates came after the academy Board of Visitors earlier this year recommended acceptance of bids to major bowls when they were made.

Of the four biggest bowls, only the Sugar Bowl has no tie-up with conferences. The only other open berth is in the Cotton Bowl, where the Southwest Conference champion meets an invited opponent.

The acceptance still would be left to academy officials, but a source close to the Sugar Bowl said it would be merely a formality.

The change in academy examination dates was announced here last night by Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La), a member of the Board of Visitors and a leader in a move to put the academy into bowl games.

* * *

Hebert said he received the information in a routine letter from the superintendent. The letter did not mention football or hint of bowl games, Hebert said. The announcement came only five days before the Sugar Bowl places 4,000 tickets on sale to the general public here. About half the 82,000 tickets go to competing teams.

Hebert was credited with helping bring Navy to last January's Sugar Bowl game—the Middies' first bowl since 1924. Navy officials have said the appearance greatly helped their recruiting program.

* * *

Unofficial sources in Washington have said they expect the academy to accept an offer if it entails a major bowl, a major opponent and an Army team that earned a bid.

A game against powerful Michigan Saturday and the annual meeting with Navy seem the biggest threats to an Army bowl appearance. A loss to Michigan in a close game wouldn't rule out the Cadets.

Trojans Seek 3rd League Win

A newcomer to the Oakland-B league ranks, the Lake Orion Dragons, will attempt to spoil Clawson's bid for its 3rd straight league win Friday night at Lake Orion as the Oakland B gridders plunge into the 4th week of battle.

Three important loop contests and one inter-sectional clash appear on the Oakland B card for the week.

Out at Clawson, head coach Bob Acton isn't underestimating Lake Orion despite its two league losses to date to Madison (6-0) and Fitzgerald (13-6). The Trojans hold wins over Fitzgerald (12-6) and Roseville (20-7).

The encounter will be a battle of two split T systems with Clawson counting heavily on its backfield foursome of Bud Hudson at quarter, Dick Allen at left half, Jim Kolb at right halfback and Bud Lumsden playing fullback.

Acton has been putting his gridders through drills stressing defense and looks to his 235-pound sophomore tackle Roger Lance to lead the boys that get little glory—the defensive eleven.

• • •

Madison Eagles, sharing the top spot in the league with Clawson, journeys to Van Dyke to test Fitzgerald's 1-1 record in the league. The Spartans lost to Clawson in its loop opener, 12-6 and came back last week to down Lake Orion, 13-6.

Madison spoiled Avondale's 1st night home game debut last week, 13-7 after blanking the Dragons 6-0 the week before.

Two league winless elevens will meet when Roseville goes to Troy who is seeking its initial touchdown in loop play.

Lapeer will play host to the loop defending champion Avondale Yellowjackets in the single intersectional battle. It will be the 2nd match between the two schools who fought to a scoreless tie last year. Jacket head coach Frank Crowell has been avoiding contact work this week to prevent further injuries to the squad.

The only doubtful starter will be Sven Blomberg, a halfback nursing a sore knee Avondale has been bolstered by a Pontiac High transfer, Ben Karpoiss, who will play in a fullback slot.

2 Canadians Win Honors in Big-Bore Rifle Shoot

Ed Busby and Gerald Ouellette, two sharpshooters from Windsor, Ontario, won a trophy, 1st and 3rd place aggregate medal respectively, and four match place medals in the big-bore qualification tournament recently at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club rifle range.

Two Canadians are members of their nation's team which will compete against England's best in the 1956 big-bore Bisley matches. Both belong to OCSC, Michigan Rifle and Pistol Assn., and Southeastern Rifle and Pistol group.

Bert Beam and George Pearce, both of Pontiac, gave Busby and Ouellette a stiff battle before settling for 2nd and 4th spots in aggregate score.

Medals were awarded for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd places in aggregate total and for each of the four matches.

Competition was held in standing slow fire, sitting slow fire, and sitting rapid fire, all at 200 yards, and prone rapid fire at 300 yards.

Total scores with handicaps follow:

Ed Busby 230-16v, Bert Beam 229-11v, Gerald Ouellette 229-10v, George Pearce 229-9v, George Forstrum 227-10v, Bob Waggoner 224-6v, Kjell Danielson 223-10v, Merrick Guy 220-9v, Don Ettinger 218-11v, Robert Beard 211-13v.

Hilltopper Needs Beginner's Luck

MILWAUKEE—When Ray Zagar tossed his first pass in a game this fall it marked the initial pitch in college football for Marquette's new quarterback.

Zagar has been a standout halfback for three years, but all his offensive work has been on the ground. He did play some quarterback in high school.

Frosty Ferzacca was forced to use Zagar as the signal-caller when Jere Carmody underwent surgery for a back injury. Dick Shockey, giant hand of two seasons, gave up football because of a recurrent shoulder injury.

Track Official Named in Suit by Jake Guzik

CHICAGO (INS) — Jacob M. (Jake) Guzik, one-time Capone mobster, has filed suit charging Benjamin F. Lindheimer with defrauding the Arlington and Washington Park Jockey Clubs out of $455,000.

The suit, filed in Superior Court in Chicago, accused the executive director of the two race tracks of loaning $227,500 from each track to the now defunct Los Angeles Dons Professinal Football team, of which Lindheimer was a principal stockholder, in 1947 and 1948.

Redlegs Sign Solomon to Class B Farm Team

CINCINNATI —The Reds signed Lefty Amiel Solomon for their High Point-Thomasville club of the Class B Carolina League. He stood out at Union College, Barbourville, Ky.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

ON THE SPOT—Although I don't recommend it, spot bowling has its place among the stars. A number of topflighters deliver the ball only a few inches over the foul line, notably Ed Kawolics, Buddy Bomar, Ned Day, and Lee Jouglard; and they've all won titles and big money.

More women than men spot bowl, because hitting the spot, as sketch shows, is a little easier than rolling the ball over a board 15 to 17 feet out on the alley. Which system to use is a matter of personal choice, as I mentioned in the preceding article. Try both methods, board and spot, pick the one that work best, and stick to it. In spot bowling, it is important to extend the left arm for body balance to finish each stride at an identical spot at the line. Don't just dump the ball and quit. Swing through for control, keeping the arm pointed straight ahead, at the target pins.

Red Wings Open NHL Race

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings open their National Hockey League season tonight in Olympia Stadium, meeting the "most improved" team in the league, the Chicago Black Hawks.

• • •

The Red Wings, who were given a new look by two off-season trades, will be seeking their 8th league championship. They also will be seeking to play their 17th successive opener at home without a loss.

Not since 1938—when the Boston Bruins dealt them a 3-2 setback—have the Red Wings dropped a home inaugural. They have won their last eight home openings games since playing a 3-3 tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs in 1946.

Hockey writers covering the All-Star game in Detroit last Sunday tabbed Chicago as the "most improved" team in the circuit. Coached by Dick Irwin, who shifted from the Montreal Canadiens after last season, Hawks will present a roster that will look much like that of a Detroit farm team.

• • •

There will be no fewer than nine ex-Red Wings playing for the Chicagoans, who finished a dull last in the 1954-55 campaign.

Two of these ex-Wings figure strongly in Chicago's present plans. They are forward Tony Leswick and center Glen Skov.

It will be Leswick's chore tonight to guard Ted Lindsay, fiery captain of the Red Wings. This, in itself, should make for an interesting evening, for it matches the pesky little Leswick with the trigger-tempered Lindsay.

Skov, a brilliant back-checker who fell into general manager Jack Adams' dog house for failure to hustle last season, will team with Leswick and Nick Mickoski to form one of Chicago's front lines. They will play opposite Detroit's great "production line" of Lindsay, Gordie Howe and Dutch Reibel.

Those same hockey writers who tabbed Chicago as the most improved club also named Montreal to unseat Detroit as league champion.. But they did this last year, too, only to have the Red Wings stage a whirlwind finish and nose out the Canadiens on the final night of the season.

The opening game also will mark the 1st appearance of Glenn Hall as the Detroit's regular goalie. The 24-year-old rookie takes over from Terry Sawchuk, traded to Boston. Hall had played several games in Sawchuk's absence through injury, and did well. But his real baptism of fire starts tonight.

THE DUKE DELIVERED — The big number four on his uniform and the tools of his trade tell the story of Duke Snider's part in the Brooklyn Dodger World Series victory. The slugging centerfielder blasted out eight hits, four of them homers to help crush the Yankees for Brooklyn's first championship. Snider posed while cleaning out his locker at Ebbets Field yesterday.

Alouettes Release Former NFL Player

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Alouettes last night released Blackie Kincaid, a Columbia, S.C., halfback who formerly played with the Los Angeles Rams and Washington Redskins.

Kincaid, acquired early in the season after being cut by Hamilton, played four games with the Als. His departure probably will make way for either Jim Brandt, formerly of the Pittsburgh Steelers, of Jim Williams, recenty cut by the New York Giants. Both are working out with the team.

Jack Christiansen and Jim David were teammates at Colorado A & M before being drafted as defensive halfbacks by the Detroit Lions.

Victory for Nashua Would Top Citation's Best Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Nashua won't join Citation as a turf millionaire this season, but the Belair Stud's 3-year-old star will surpass one of the Caumet Comet's proud records today if he can cop the $25,000-added Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park.

• • •

When Citation ruled the 3-year-old roost in 1948, winning 19 of 20 races, he collected $709,470 which stands as a record for one year.

Nashua meets three 3-year-od opponents in the Lawrence, a race mossy in tradition that first was held at old Sheepshead Bay in 1889. With Eddie Arcaro up, the Belair beauty is expected to go off at 1-5, or perhaps shorter in the parimutuels.

• • •

A winner of seven $100,000 races this year, Nashua has banked $699,700 for owner William Woodward Jr. With four starters the Lawrence will have a gross value of $27,550. The winner would grab $18,500, and victory for Nashua would hoist his one year total past Citation to $718,200. Citation retired with $1,085,760 and Nashua's two-year total is $892,565, nearing Stymie's $918,485.

• • •

Nashua has a tough assignment, for he must carry 130 pounds—most in his career—and go a mile and five eighths. He won the mile and one half Belmont Stakes by nine lengths, but all eight starters had 126 pounds.

'Nine Holers' Hold Last Meet of Year

In match play Mrs. Manley Bailey of Birmingham was 1st and Mrs. George Souter of Oxford second.

Mrs. H. V. Hodges of Ottawa drive won the prize for lowest total on ringer score as well as for the lowest putting score, with Mrs. H. A. Schuneman of Royal Oak second.

Gridders Hope to Pass School of Hard Knocks

AMES, Iowa — Iowa State's football squad has enrolled in a special course.

While not listed in the school's curriculum, the gridders feel it's one of the toughest courses.

That would be Vince DiFrancesca's "School of Hard Knocks," which is what the Iowa State savage practice sessions are being called.

DeBarros Leads Brazilian Voting

28 Per Cent Returns Give Sao Paulo Chief Top Spot in Election

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Former Gov. Adhemar de Barros of Sao Paulo held a substantial lead today in the counting of ballots from last Monday's presidential election.

• • •

With about 28 per cent of the anticipated 10 million votes counted, De Barros, mutimillionaire leader of the Social Progressive party, had a 77,124-vote margin over Juscelino Kubitschek, running with the support of two parties organized by the late President Getulio Vargas.

About half the votes in Sao Paulo where De Barros is strongest, had been counted, however. It was evident several days would be needed to show whether his lead would hold up.

De Barros also was running ahead in the Federal District and the states of Maranhao and Parana.

• • •

The vote: De Barros 943,301; Kubitschek 866,177; Maj. Gen. Juarez Tavora, representing old anti-Vargas forces, 836,289; and Plinio Salgado of the Popular Representation party, 260,864.

Yugoslavia to Get U.S. Surplus Wheat

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Yugoslav government says the United States is going to ship it 300,000 tons of American surplus wheat.

The government's Weekly Economic Review said last night the wheat agreement was reached during the recent visit of Robert Murphy, U.S. deputy undersecretary of state. The Review added that Murphy assured the Yugoslavs they would get considerable quantities of other American surplus farm products.

President Tito's government was reported especially interested in importing cotton.

Where Could Gems Be but Under the Mattress?

NEW YORK (AP)—House cleaning can turn up all sorts of things.

Last Thursday, Mrs. Milton Unger told police she had placed six velvet cases of gems worth $35,000 in a bureau drawer some 10 days previously but couldn't find them that night.

Police said Louvinia Richardson, a maid, reported finding the gems under a mattress in the Unger apartment yesterday.

The Ungers — in Toronto, Ont., where Unger, a drug broker, has accounts — were notified.

UAW Local Rejects AMC Wage Offer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A spokesman for the American Motors Corp. body plant here said yesterday that the national contract reached by AMC and the CIO United Auto Workers' Union would not be applied at the Milwaukee plant until workers here agree to it.

Last Sunday members of Milwaukee Local 75 of the UAW-CIO rejected both the national agreement and the local plant contract.

Workers at AMC's Kenosha plant voted last night to accept the national agreement, which also had been approved by workers at two Michigan factories. Union spokesmen said they believed the approval by the majority of AMC's union workers meant the national agreement would be applied to all plants, despite the Milwaukee plant workers' disapproval.

A statement issued by the company at Detroit says company and union representatives will meet in Milwaukee Friday at which time "the company will ascertain what the union's position is and will make known its position."

House Slates Navy Plane Probe Date

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Government Operations subcommittee has set Oct. 24 for the opening of a hearing to "establish responsibilities" for the purchase of jet fighters which the Navy found underpowered for carrier service.

* * *

Chairman Holifield (D-Calif), announcing the hearings yesterday, told Secretary of the Navy Thomas "the best interests of the Navy and the public would be served" by laying out the "relevant facts." Thomas has blamed the difficulties with the F3H1 Demons on "inadequate" procurement procedures in effect under the previous administration.

The Senate Preparedness subcommittee announced sometime ago it was sending investigators to the St. Louis plan of the McDonnell Aircraft Co., which produced the fighters.

The Navy said tests showed the first 60 Demons produced did not have enough engine power for their weight. Several crashed, others were refitted with new engines and some were assigned to land bases.

Orders the Arrest of Adoptive Father

DEDHAM, Mass. (AP) — Probate Judge James F. Reynolds has ordered the arrest of Melvin B. Ellis after he failed to appear in court in connection with a religious adoption case.

The case centers around a Massachusetts law which says that "when practicable" a child may be given for adoption only to couples of the same religious faith as the child.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis are Jews and their adopted daughter Hildy, for whom they have cared for most of her 4½ years, was born to a Catholic mother, Mrs. Marjorie McCoy Doherty of Hingham.

Judge Reynolds ordered Ellis arrested after he failed to appear in court yesterday to answer to a charge of contempt because of his failure to surrender the child.

* * *

The same judge ordered the couple arrested last June because they failed to return the child to her natural mother.

The case has been in the courts for three years.

Baby Bills Cavorts With Black Bear; Mama Trembles

THURMAN, N.Y. (AP) — Charley Bills, 14 months, is not likely to remember the day the black bear visited him. His mother will never forget it.

Mrs. Edith Bills said Charley suddenly began jabbering with enthusiasm in his play pen on the porch of their house in an isolated section near this Adirondack community the other day. She found him "sticking his finger out through the play pen slats, smiling and cooing." A big black bear was standing nearby on its hind legs.

"I grabbed up the baby and ran into the house and into a bedroom and slammed the door," she said. "The baby didn't seem to be scared at all, just wondering what ailed me."

The bear just plodded away.

Wilson Asks Accord From Armed Services

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson has named a special six-member committee to try to see that his orders are carried out more rapidly and in a more uniform manner.

* * *

A Pentagon spokesman said Wilson has sent a memo to the secretaries of the Army, Navy, Air Force expressing his concern about the matter.

In this memo the secretary said he was "increasingly concerned over the growing criticism in Congress and elsewhere of the lack of consistency in the manner in which the military departments carry out the purpose and intent of Department of Defense directives."

The spokesman said Wilson indicated no specific lack of good will or failure by the military services to carry out his decisions, but that the defense chief was disturbed by criticisms made by congressmen and some of the Hoover Commission reports.

Building Expansion Program Looms at Rochester

School Board Decides Oct. 18

Addition Would Include Gymnasium and Music Facilities

ROCHESTER—Possibilities for an addition to the new high school, which would include a gymnasium and music facilities, loom large as result of recent legislation.

* * *

The Board of Education of the Rochester Community School District has been advised by Claude Stevens, their bonding attorney, that an additional million dollars for building construction could be obtained for a very slight tax increase of one mill for one year.

Stevens explained that this is possible because it is no longer necessary to create large reserves which were required under the 1954 issue.

With a 12 percent increase in the number of students this year, the board directed Superintendent Donald C. Baldwin to prepare census data in order to determine where the next elementary buildings should be placed.

Feelings were unanimous by the board of education that immediate planning of the gymnasium should be begun in order to allow as early construction as possible.

The board exepects to present a definite plan to the community following the Oct. 18 meeting.

DROP IN VALUATION

Due to a ruling of the State Tax Commission, the valuation of the Rochester Community School District was dropped last week from $34,491,132.00 to $32,674,647.00.

The ruling was the result of a protest by the Supervisor of Waterford Township regarding the methods used by the County Equalization Board.

Supt. Baldwin said that the loss of valuation would result in a tax loss of $30,000 to the school district this year. "This is extremely serious and might result in the district finishing in the red for the first time in five years," he said.

Baldwin was directed by the board of education to study possible ways of curtailment in order to come within the budget.

Indian Fears TV, Radio Are Dooming Native Lore

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Redskin lore and legend may be almost lost in a generation, warns an Indian leader, who places much of the blame on TV and radio.

* * *

The viewer with alarm is Gilbert Connor, who has the blood of Nez Perce chiefs in his veins. Born to a Presbyterian minister and his Indian wife, Connor is the grandson of Chief Olokut, brother of the great warrior Chief Joseph.

Connor, who is 58 and has a face that could have come off a nickel, was enlisted to help hire Indians for a Jeff Chandler western, "Pillars in the Sky." The movie was shooting near his home of Pendleton, Ore. He also is portraying a Christianized Indian leader in the film and is working here on his first visit to Hollywood.

He is an authority on legends of the Northwest Indians. The trouble is, he complained, that the younger generation of redskins has little interest in perpetuating the old stories.

"We've had radio on the reservation for 28 years and now we've got television," Connor explained. "Whenever the young folks have free time, they watch TV or listen to the radio. They don't take the time to listen to the old sories.

"It's too bad, because the old chiefs of the Northwest can still tell the old legends that have been handed down from generation to generation. But as the chiefs die, the legends die also. Few of them have been written down."

* * *

Hollywood has helped sustain some of the Indian lore, he observed. He said movies have become more sympathetic toward the Indians in recent years. "Broken Arrow" started this trend.

"The young Indians see Indian movies and they feel proud of themselves for five minutes," he said. "Then they forget. The fact that they were part of one of the earth's great civilizations means nothing to them. Soon there will be none of us left who know the old culture."

* * *

Connor, now a rural mail carrier, says seven young Indians leave the reservation for every five that stay. And of the five that remain, only one would be a full-blooded Indian. The American natives face the problem that has troubled many races in world history: how to keep the blood pure.

The result of the introduction of foreign blood, he said, was further loss of identification with Indian traditions.

* * *

"The young Indians never dress up in the traditional costumes except for occasional celebrations," he said. "Most of the time they wear blue jeans."

Queen Likes Whirlybird

LONDON, Eng. — An American helicopter has been added to the British Royal Family's fleet of planes known as the Queen's Flight. The 'copter is reported to be a S.55, built in Britain under license from its American producer. The Duke uses a helicopter nearly every day to travel to his engagements and the Queen, Princess Margaret and Queen Mother all have ridden them.

Adenauer Gives Report on Saar

West German Leader, French Premier Agree on Political Freedom

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer reported to his Cabinet today on his discussions in Luxembourg with French Premier Edgar Faure.

The 79-year-old Chancellor and Faure took a cautious step toward saving the project to "Europeanize" the rich Saar territory by pledging that it must continue to enjoy full political freedom if it agrees to become a European territory.

* * *

The 960,000 German-speaking Saarlanders vote on "Europeanization" in a plebiscite Oct. 23.

There had been speculation that Adenauer and Faure would issue a joint appeal to the Saarlanders to approve the Europeanization statute. Adenauer once before issued a similar appeal but it did not budge the pro-German parties in the Saar from their fierce campaign to kill off Europeanization.

* * *

Apparently Faure and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay favored a new appeal signed by the leaders of the two governments. Reports from Luxembourg said Adenauer declined to sign. The result was the statement that the Saar Europeanization plan forms a part of a French-German understanding and pro-European policies.

GI's Wife Is Fined $100 for Black Marketeering

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP)—The U. S. Army reinforced today its campaign to wipe out minor black marketing by soldiers' families in West Germany.

A military summary court here fined the wife of a master sergeant $100 for having sold illegally two cartons of American cigarettes to a German. Her black market profit was less than $5.

If she does not pay the fine within six months, she will be placed under confinement for a maximum of 30 days. Her name was not released.

Oh!—The Life of a Steer

Japan's Farmers Coddle Beef Cattle Inside Home

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese cattle, smaller than their American counterpart, lead a life that would make a Texas steer blush. But you should taste the steaks they produce!

* * *

Dubbed affectionately with such girls' names as Hanako and Michiko, the cattle are a part of the Japanese farm family. They live right in the house. Rooms are built around their stall to take advantage of their bodily warmth in winter.

During the day there's not much to do but loaf in small pens, gaze contentedly at the serene Japanese landscape or graze in tiny pastures.

The food's good too — occasionally rice and plenty of barley, wheat and bran.

GENTLE RUBDOWNS

With only one or two animals to care for, the farmer lavishes great attention on them. They get a gentle but brisk rubdown every day with handfuls of straw. Farmers say this rubs the outer layer of fat right into the meat where it belongs.

This goes on for six years — that's right, six years — and then comes the payoff.

* * *

If the farmer did his job right, the meat will come out a deep, glossy red — deeper than American beef — rimmed with a thin layer of fat. Throughout there will be flecks of "fallen frost," or fat.

Now you're in for a treat. In a top Tokyo meat market, you pay 70 cents to $2 a pound, depending on grade, and carry your haul home, making certain not to bruise it en route.

* * *

Soak it for two hours in soy sauce, sprinkle well with garlic salt and then slap it on a grill, glowing with a deep mass of cherry-red charcoal.

The result is one of the greatest treats of the Orient. Some say your life will never be the same.

Soy and Wheat Fight Pressure

CHICAGO (AP)—Easiness in soybeans spread to the rest of the grain list as trading progressed at moderate pace on the Board of Trade today.

Soybeans and wheat encountered the most selling pressure, but they did not give up all of the gains they scored in the previous session. Apparently those gains brought out selling from holders who decided to take profits at these levels.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to ½ lower. December $2.03⅝; corn ⅜ to ⅝ lower, December $1.31½; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, December 64⅛; rye ½ to ¾ higher, December 1.12½; soybeans 1½ to 2¾ lower, November $2.43¼ and lard 10 to 25 cents a hundred pounds lower, October $10.65.

Cock 'n' Bull Story Reported in Mobile

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Mobile had a cock-and-bull story today.

It all began when the city commissioners said yesterday that all roosters inside the city limits must go. Too much early morning noise.

The action had hardly been taken when police headquarters heard a caller say: "You better make like a matador."

Eight young bulls had knocked down a gate and gone AWOL from the Haas-Davis Packing Co.

Patroman J. M. Shepherd sent one back to the packing plant ready for processing. He killed him with two rifle shots.

A second one disappeared in—of all paces—the Bulls Head community.

Another stalked last night into the yard of McGill Institute, a Catholic high school more than four miles from the packing company, and was lassoed and bulldogged by six tenderfoot flatfoots.

Officers took to the range today armed with shootin' irons and rope.

Barnyard sources said the roosters were rooting for the bulls.

Weekly Auto Output Reflects Changeover

DETROIT — Motor vehicle output this week will drop to 84,920 cars and 16,820 trucks, reflecting model changeover shutdowns by more manufacturers, Automotive News reported today.

Chevrolet and Studebaker have curtailed assembly line activity while seven other companies are just getting started on 1956 model assemblies or building out on 1955 models.

This week's output compares with 115,723 car assemblies and 22,973 truck completions last week.

The trade paper said that despite this week's cutback over-all output is running nearly 45 per cent ahead of the 1954 pace. It estimates 6,086,000 cars will have been made by this week-end, as compared with 4,204,324 up to Oct. 8 of last year.

Stocks Mixed in Early Deals

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed today in early dealings.

Prices spread over a range of around a point either way, although most changes were quite small.

Trading was at the slowest pace in a month. For the past two days, the volume of business has been extremely moderate.

Aircrafts, which were ahead yesterday, were mostly lower today. The rails, strong factor in yesterday's advance, were largely higher today. The steels and motors, two early leaders yesterday, were mixed today.

Among higher stocks were Montgomery Ward, Boeing, American Cyanamid, Santa Fe Railroad, New York Central (yesterday's most active issue up 1⅝ at 45¾), and Loew's.

Lower were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Allied Chemical, International Paper, and United Aircraft.

Crocodile Tears Fail to Impress Top Army Brass

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP) — American Military wives in Europe were advised today not to weep on the shoulders of their husbands' commanding officers.

Mrs. Lauris Norstad, herself the helpmate of a four-star Air Force general, says such tears "are wasted."

Lecturing here on service customs, Mrs. Norstad noted approvingly that an old rule forbidding a junior from speaking first to a senior had gone by the boards.

TEARS WASTED

"But is should still be applied," she told an audience of wives, "on any occasion when you may feel urged to tell your husband's commanding officer how well he deserves a promotion, that he isn't understood or appreciated, or that he is the victim of bad breaks.

"A wife's tears shed on the shoulders of her husband's senior are tears wasted."

Mrs. Norstad also urged wives not to appear in pincurls, even under a scarf, or wear shorts and slacks in public instead of dresses.

"Too many people mistake sloppiness for comfort," she said.

U. S. Rubber Co. Unveils Steel-Backed Auto Tires

LANCASTER, Calif. (INS)—A new line of steel-strengthened passenger car and truck tires that are longer-wearing and remarkably resistant to blowouts was announced today by United States Rubber Co.

The ability of these tires to withstand all sorts of punishment was demonstrated in a dramatic fashion to automotive writers who gathered at U.S. Rubber's testing grounds on the Mojave desert, near here.

The tires were driven over double rows of razor-sharp axe blades, beds of jagged broken bottles, upturned railroad spikes —and even fired upon with a 12-gauge shotgun at short range— and nothing happened to them.

All-fabric tires used in the same tests blew out when driven over the sharp projectiles and lost air as if it were coming out of a seive when the No. 5 shotgun pellets penetrated through the truck-tire tread and into the tube.

WIRE SHIELD

Secret of the new tire's resistance to ruptures is a steel wire shield which is part of the tread itself. U.S. Rubber engineers said this is the first practical application of wire in the construction of a passenger tire although manufacturers have been experimenting with it for the last 20 years.

* * *

There are wire truck tires on the market already but they use wire in place of fabric. U.S. Rubber uses the wire in addition to the textiles.

Dr. Arthur W. Bull, the company's research director who directed the demonstrations in the 96-degree desert heat, said each tire contains from one to eight miles of flexible, high strength steel wire.

"We believe these tires are the safest that have been made to date," Dr. Bull asserted.

Dr. Bull explained that the wire, made of steel as strong as bridge cable, is used in filaments slightly larger than a human air. These filaments are twisted into strands and laid in criss-crossed layers which give the effect of a fine mesh steel cloth."

Canada Asked to Stop Pollution

2 State Officials Are in Ottawa to Press Fight for Sewage Plants

LANSING (AP) — Two state officials went before the International Joint Commission in Ottawa, Canada, today to press Michigan's fight for an end to pollution of the border rivers.

Presenting the state's case before the commission were Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh and Nicholas V. Olds, assistant attorney general.

* * *

The state has urged the commission for more than a year to put pressure on Ontario municipalities to stop dumping sewage in the St. Mary's, St. Clair and Detroit Rivers.

"We're trying to do our part in clearing up this pollution but Canada is lagging," said Milton P. Adams, executive secretary of the State Water Resources Commission.

Adams said Kavanagh and Olds would ask the commission to force Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. to build a sewage disposal plant.

The city of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. is delaying action on a sewage disposal plant until it has some assurance that the Canadian city intends to build sewage disposal facilities too, Adams said.

* * *

"The Michigan Soo was under order to get started before last December," Adams said. "But the city voted overhwelmingly against building the plant because the Canadian Soo wasn't making a move."

* * *

Adams said other cities along the border rivers have the same attitude, including St. Clair and Marine City.

Paul of Greece OKs Karamanlis

New Greek Government Needs Confidence Vote From Parliament

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The Cabinet of Constantine Karamanlis — unexpectedly asked to form a new government to succeed that of the late Field Marshal Alexander Papagos — was sworn in today.

* * *

Opinions are divided as to whether the new premier will be able to win a vote of confidence when he appears before Parliament next week.

King Paul picked Karamanlis to take over the government reins.

The nation, meanwhile, mourned the passing of Papagos, who died Tuesday night after a prolonged gastric ailment contracted in a Nazi concentration camp. Sorrowing Greeks filed through Athens Cathedral to pay their last respects. Weeping women knelt to kiss the bier.

POPULAR MAN

Karamanlis, 46, tall and handsome, is considered one of the best dressed men in Greek politics. Under Papagos he was communications and public works minister. He became one of the most popular men in the country because of a sweeping road-building program.

His selection last night was a surprise, since one of Papagos' last acts was to name Stephan Stephanopoulos, foreign minister and deputy premier, as acting premier.

* * *

The son of a poor tobacco farmer, Karamanlis studied law at Athens University. He has served in Parliament since 1932, except for the period of John Metaxas' dictatorship and wartime occupation.

State's Bean Harvest Two-Thirds Complete

LANSING (AP)—The harvest of Michigan's field bean crop is more than two-thirds complete, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service noted today.

In the Thumb area, many farmers have already completed their harvest. Combining is not so far along in the central Michigan area, however.

The harvest of other late crops is moving ahead rapidly despite the rain, the service noted.

Plains Changes Postal Service

Mail Delivery Devised; New Service Begins October 17

DRAYTON PLAINS—A change in the delivery system of mail at the Drayton Plains Post Office was announced today by Postmaster Kenneth F. Oakes.

According to orders received from the Post Office Department, all rural routes will be discontinued effective Oct. 16. They will be replaced by city mounted and foot carriers. Patrons now served by rural rutes will for the most part continue to receive their mail through boxes at the curb line. However, some will be served by foot carriers in the area bounded by Dixie Highway, Walton Boulevard and Seebaldt.

Patrons of the mounted routes should place name and address on their boxes, as under the new system mail will be delivered by street and number. This should be completed by Oct. 17.

A foot carrier route will be established Oct. 17 also. This route will service the area bounded by Dixie Highway, Walton Boulevard, and Seebaldt. There will be no foot service on Walton. Foot service will be extended beyond Seebaldt on those streets dead ending just east of Seebaldt.

Patrons in this area are requested to install approved boxes so they can be serviced from the ground by the foot carrier. Persons now receiving mail through post office lock box, desiring the new delivery system should contact the postmaster to make arrangements.

Patrons how receiving mail through general delivery should make other arrangements as this service is primarily for transients. Patrons are given 30 days to make the change and get their mail on delivery routes or through a rented post office lock box.

New Plane Plug Revealed by AC

All-Weather Igniter Is Sealed Against Salt, Moisture and Dirt

FLINT — AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors today announced an "all-weather" aircraft spark plug for executive-type planes.

The plug, designated the HSR-86, has been approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration for business-type aircraft.

* * *

Henry P. Stanley, director of AC aviation sales, said the availability of the plug is part of AC's expanding aircraft parts program.

"Outstanding feature of the all-weather aircraft spark plug," Stanley said, "is its ability to seal against moisture, salt, and dirt, regardless of altitude.

"Construction of the plug is such that ground-level atmospheric pressure is maintained inside the plug even at very high altitudes—eliminating 'rough engine' and 'misfire,' that often occur with other type aircraft plugs."

* * *

Dodge Cars to Cost $87 to $152 More

DETROIT (AP)—The 1956 line of Dodge passenger cars will be priced $87 to $152 higher than their 1955 counterparts.

Announcing this today Dodge also reported price cuts on certain items of optional equipment. These will include a $20 cut on power steering.

The prices, at the factory, range from $1,961 for the Coronet Club Sedan to $2,685 for the Custom Sierra eight passenger station wagon. They did not include distribution, excise and handling charges or state and local taxes.

Also increased for 1956 were the price tags on Dodge trucks. The increases range upward from $79, averaging $115.

Hope, 'Honeymooners' and 'Favorite Husband' Lose Vitality

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Bob Hope's premier on NBC-TV was on film, not nearly so lively as Hope is "live;" "My Favorite Husband" came back to CBS-TV on film and wasn't as bright and warm fun as it was last year "live."

* * *

They join Gleason's "Honeymooners" in the less-effective-on-film brigade . . .

Gleason's "live" performances are vital, the pace unmistakably lively; there is an extra satisfying dimension seeing the funny stuff flung at the TV screens at the very moment of the show.

The process by which Jackie & Co. have shifted their show to celluloid this season is a faster, less expensive method than customary Hollywood-style TV films, but there is a combined problem herein that must be solved:

Gleason's show "live" had a riotous downhill fling and recklessness and explosive impact that crunched happily clear through any defect in production, and there were many; any digressions from script, and there were quite a few.

* * *

Not that filmed shows are unsuitable simply because of the celluloid, for "I Love Lucy" is fine on film, and Burns & Allen came back to TV freshened by a new fictional setting (a penthouse in the St. Moritz Hotel here) but just as high a hilarity content as ever, which is saying plenty.

VERY GOOD BUNNY

Now that Wendy Barrie is off the $64,000 lipstick reading, may we say her afternoon Dumont opus is fresh and impudent fun in which she is a very good bunny indeed.

She works wonders with a pure built-in bubbly attitude toward some of the normally static-style interviews which, in other hands, simply lie there, dulling you to death.

CBS expects "Gunsmoke" will knock just enough of the edge off Gobel's ratings to nudge him from the top 10 . . . or 20 . . .

Wobbly Bridge Defies Italians

600-Year-Old Structure Still Stands, Engineers See Possible Collapse

WASHINGTON—The Ponte Vecchio, top-heavy bridge, art gallery and jewelry shop in one, spans the Arno at Florence. No other bridge in all the world is quite like it. Few are so old or well-known.

Thus the whole world worries as Italian engineers warn of Ponte Vecchio's threatening collapse. Cracks in the 600-year-old structure widen steadily. To keep it intact, the bridge may have to be closed, shutting too its goldsmiths' and jewelers' medieval shops over the river and the upperstory arcade hung with old paintings.

Florence, or Firenze as Italy knows its city of art, has good cause to take drastic steps. The Ponte Vecchio, built in the Renaissance, barely survived World War II. And it is the last old Florentine bridge left, the National Geographic Society says.

As the Germans retreated northward in August 1944, they blew up in one terrible night all of Florence's bridges except thta one. To deny even it to the Allies, they reduced a swath of buildings at each end to piles of rubble.

Gone was Ponte Santa Trinita just downstream, built by Ammanati in the 1560's with its graceful arches bearing Michelangelo's torch. Later salvaged piece by piece by piece from the river, Santa Trinita is gradually being rebuilt by private subscriptions, many from the United States.

BORE GREATS

Through the stirring time that gave Italy its High Renaissance, the Pont Vecchio bore pageant, procession, and many a great figure of history. Dante had already died in exile, but Botticelli, Cellini, the youthful Michelangelo, and Galileo trod its three stone arches.

At both ends of the Ponte Vecchio, Florence gave matchless expression to the soul in stone and oils. Michelangelo captured ageless sadolescence in the figure of the young David. Cellini's perseus holds the severed head of Medusa forever aloft.

In 1565, Giorgi Vasari built the enclosed second-story passage across the Ponte Vecchio, connecting the ducal palaces that are today's world-famed Uffizi and Pitti art galleries.

Beneath the bridge the Arno, winding from Apennine hills across the plain of Tuscany, flows through Florence often heavy with silt. After one of summer's violent thunderstorms it can rise from four-foot depth to 40 in less than 12 hours. It is such a storm that might bring down the ancient bridge.
