Rusk, Gromyko Produce Little Accord in Talks

Agreement to Outlaw Nuclear Arms From Orbiting Satellites

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko have indicated a possibility of agreement to ban nuclear weapons from orbiting space satellites. But their talks so far have produced no specific accord on that or any other issue.

Rusk and Gromyko met for a three-hour discussion over dinner last night at the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

U.S. sources commented on the "cordial atmosphere" of the parley, the first exclusively U.S.-Soviet high level meeting since the signing of the limited test-ban treaty two months ago.

They said Gromyko appears interested in some further limited disarmament accord, though just what remains unclear.

It was tentatively agreed that Gromyko would go to Washington sometime next week for further talks, including a meeting with President Kennedy.

Gromyko told newsmen that "agreement is quite possible" on outlawing orbiting nuclear weapons. He said "the question is promising" because "in substance I think our views coincide."

Rusk agreed before seeing Gromyko that "our policy is pretty much the same" on this issue. After the meeting he said no conclusions were reached but "we were very much interested in the possibilities of other steps we might be able to take, particularly in the disarmament field."

In the U.S. view, there is no military need to orbit nuclear weapons because they can be fired more efficiently from ground bases. There could be difficulties in policing a formal agreement to ban space weapons, however.

Another test ban follow-up idea that finds both sides pursuing similar policies is preventing the spread of atomic weapons to nations that don't have them.

But Gromyko was reported to have linked this proposal with criticism of the U.S.-backed plan for a multi-nation Polaris surface fleet under NATO. The United States denies that the plan is designed to hand over nuclear weapons to West Germany.

City Gets Plan for $2.5-Million Building Zone

Planners Pass Along Okay for Change at Telegraph Road Site

Pontiac planning commissioners last night recommended rezoning a seven-acre site on Telegraph for a proposed $2.5-million apartment house development.

The site lies on the east side of Telegraph between Edna and Hazel.

A Residential-3 zoning, which allows multifamily dwelling units, was requested for the property by J. Phillip Levant of Henros Building Co., Detroit.

The land is currently zoned Residential-1, which limits its use to single-family homes.

The recommendation will go to city commissioners for acceptance or rejection next Tuesday night.

One highlight of the proposed development is a central court-recreation area with swimming pool, tennis courts and putting green for golfing tenants.

Levant said preliminary plans called for about 250 one- and two-bedroom apartment units.

WILL EXPAND
"Initially, we will probably build about 100 units and then expand as demand for more units dictates," Levant explained.

The ultimate development would consist of eight buildings, 2½ stories high, grouped around central courts.

The same firm developed Clarkston Gardens, a 200-home subdivision near Clarkston.

If the City Commission accepts the planning commission recommendation, a public hearing and final action on the rezoning would be slated in several weeks.

State Department Warnings Failed to Halt Latin Coup

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON—The State Department said today that military leaders in Honduras went ahead with their coup against the government of President Velasco Morales despite its warnings that they abandon the idea. The United States warned Honduran military leaders in advance that it was opposed to "unconstitutional seizures" of power, a State Department spokesman reported.

This indicated that the United States was prepared to condemn the coup assuming it proves successful. "We still do not have all the facts, by any means, of today's events," spokesman Robert McCloskey told reporters.

"But as you well know, the United States has consistently opposed unconstitutional seizures, and in the specific case of Honduras, U.S. officials in that country have made this position clear."

Thunderstorms, Tornado Damage Lower Michigan

Strong winds caused extensive damage over the southern half of Michigan's Lower Peninsula last night as a quick-forming band of thunderstorms raced across it.

Damage ran into thousands of dollars and state police reported a small tornado struck near Reed City, 60 miles north of Grand Rapids.

No injuries were reported, however.

DAMAGE TERMINAL
Damage was estimated at $15,000 to $18,000 to the Chesapeake & Ohio Lake Michigan Car-Ferry terminal at Ludington where two ships were torn from their moorings, a passenger ramp was demolished and one empty freight car was dumped into Pere Marquette Lake. No injuries were reported.

Brian Draper, a Scottsville High School student, reported his automobile was blown off U.S. 10 between Scottville and Ludington. Although the car rolled over several times, Draper was unhurt.

The reported tornado outside Reed City wrecked a 55-foot house trailer owned by J. V. Sorvari of Detroit and ripped the roof off a barn on the Keith Young farm.

During the wind storm 2 of an inch of rain fell in the downtown area. Fifty-three was the low temperature preceding 8 a.m.

By 2 p.m. the thermometer had registered 59.

Space Error $100 Million, U.S. Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The general Accounting Office says bungled management of the nation's space agency and in private industry has cost the taxpayers more than $100 million.

The hitherto secret report to Congress, dated March 29, but only made public today says that as a result the lunar exploration program has been delayed two years and one whole project involving a communications satellite had to be redirected at a loss of $76 million.

The GAO investigation was undertaken as a direct result of findings by the House Committee on Science and Astronautics, headed by Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., in June 1962.

In a report to Miller, Comptroller General Joseph Campbell wrote:

"The findings are consistent with the conclusion reached by your subcommittee on space sciences . . . that government and contractor management of the Centaur program was less than adequate."

On May 8, 1962, the first flight test of the Atlas missile, using the hydrogen-oxygen fueled Centaur as a second stage, blew up 54 seconds after launch.

Heavy Fighting, Casualties in Street Battles

Civil Guard Resists; Air Force Bombings Back Army Troops

From Our News Wires
TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — Military leaders today deposed President Ramon Velasco Morales and seized power in a predawn coup. Heavy casualties were reported in street fighting.

Some army units in the 4th and 5th military zones, central Honduras, and the civil guard were resisting the coup.

The air force was reported bombing loyal troops at Santa Barbara, 100 miles northwest of Tegucigalpa. Six contingents of army troops were en route to Santa Rosa de Copan to demand the surrender of the holdout garrison there.

An army communique from the third military zone said Velasco Morales was overthrown to put a halt to "treason and anarchy" in the country and halt "flagrant violations of the constitution and obvious Communist infiltration."

It was the second military coup against a constitutional government in Latin America in eight days. The Dominican regime of President Juan Bosch was toppled last week.

Velasco Morales was deposed just 10 days short of completing six-year mandate. General elections for his successor were scheduled for a week from next Sunday.

The army said the coup "responded to the popular clamor" and was "a gesture of authentic patriotism." The military decided, "to rescue the country and restore tranquility in the Honduran family."

The armed forces guaranteed "full respect" for the "lives and rights" of all citizens. They called on the people for "frank and sincere" cooperation.

State Unit OKs Appellate Plan

A legislative subcommittee headed by State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, yesterday approved a recommendation that Michigan's new appellate court be split into nine single-judge districts.

Consideration of the boundaries for the districts is set for next week.

Tentative plans call for Oakland County to be coupled with Livingston and Shiawassee counties to form one of three districts in the suburban division.

Yesterday's recommendation will be forwarded to the 18-member legislative committee drafting legislation implementing the new state constitution for presentation to the State Legislature at its current special session.

JUDICIAL PROVISIONS

Roberts' subcommittee, one of three into which the committee was split, is studying implementation of the constitution's judicial provisions.

His committee is expected to take up soon the question of extending the current terms of appointed Circuit Court judges to 1966.

Such extension of terms for elected Circuit Court judges is required under the new constitution, which eliminates the biennial spring elections and provides that no judge's term be shortened.

Terms of many elected judges would have expired at the end of 1965.

STAGGERED TERMS

They will be elected to staggered terms: 1966 and afterwards settle into six-year terms.

Likewise extending the terms of appointed judges is being considered, according to Roberts, "to phase in their terms."

It would affect eight state Circuit Court judges, including Oakland County's Arthur E. Moore, Philip Pratt and James S. Thornburn.

When appointed by Gov. George Romney this year, the three anticipated having to seek election in 1964 in order to retain their posts.

RETIRED JUDGES

Roberts' committee also agreed to recommend that the new appellate court begin operation April 1, 1964, with its nine posts to be filled temporarily by retired judges appointed by the State Supreme Court.

These judges would serve until successors were elected in the 1964 November elections to take office Jan. 1, 1965. It would give the court time to become established administratively, Roberts said.

Yesterday's recommendations on the district split would provide six appellate districts divided into three divisions and three districts in a Wayne County division. The choice on districting lay between nine single-judge districts and three districts of three judges each.

Under the approved plan, the districts would be divided into three divisions of three judges each for administrative but not jurisdictional purposes. The plan is contemplated as the space program in 1947 while headquarters for the suburban division.

FRENZY OVER GRAIN — This tumultuous scene is the floor of the world's largest grain exchange in Chicago yesterday. Russia's need for wheat has greatly stimulated sales, and prices have risen as much as 24 cents a bushel in the last month.

Dirksen for Wheat Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today he is inclined to support gold-on-the-barrel deal of wheat to Russia if some fringe benefits are involved.

This statement in an interview indicated that President Kennedy might be able to rally the king of GOP leadership support associates said he wants before he decides on any deal with the Soviets.

So far, neither the White House nor the Kremlin has given any word that Russia has offered to buy American wheat. In Winnipeg, Leonid Matveyev, head of the Soviet grain board and chief negotiator in Russia's $500 million purchase of Canadian wheat, said he is inhaled when the droppings dry and become dust, causing a respiratory infection. "Many thousands of people have become infected," according to the health department.

Art Show to Demonstrate Beauty in Everyday Life

BIRMINGHAM — The significance of art in everyday life will be illustrated in an exhibition opening Sunday at the Bloomfield Art Association.

The collection of interiors designed to show how art can be used in today's home is entitled "Living with Art."

Some of the artists whose work will be shown are Walter Midenker, Glen Michaels, Baltazar Korab, Francis de Erdely, Ruth Taylor, Al Pepeczynski and Salli Moran.

Outstanding interior designers in the area have planned a number of interiors around these pieces of fine art.

Among those scheduled to exhibit are Ruth Adler Schnee, nationally known fabric designer and interior planner; Phipps Saurisen Swanson, A.I.D., internationally prominent designer; and Hugh Acton, designer and manufacturer of his own contemporary furniture.

Others are Roger Bracey, A.I.D., and Lewis J. Sappington, A.I.D., Birmingham interior designers; James Allison, A.I.D., design coordinator for America House; and Dean Corey, manager of interiors for Triangle Furniture Co.

Landscapes Architects Johnson, Johnson and Roy, N.S.A., also will be represented.

Open from 2 p.m. daily except Mondays, the exhibition will continue through Oct. 27.

Karen McHalpine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. McHalpine, 6125 Gilbert Lake Road, Bloomfield Township, is among four members of the 1963 homecoming court at Olivet College.

One of the coeds will be chosen to represent the homecoming activities on the campus this week-end.

JFK Aides See Troop Pullout

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's military advisers have told him the anti-Communist war in South Vietnam is going well enough that it may be possible to withdraw most of the American forces there in two years, the White House reports.

In a statement issued only hours after the return from Viet Nam of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, there was no indication of any dramatic change of American policy toward the South Viet Nam government.

The two officials said the political situation in South Vietnam remains "deeply serious."

But they predicted that by the end of this year the U.S. training program for Vietnamese would have reached the point where 1,000 military personnel assigned to South Viet Nam can be withdrawn.

The White House said last night its declaration was approved by Kennedy on the basis of recommendations of McNamara and Taylor, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Moon Probe Detailed by Navy Doctor

The first moon astronauts may land at night, Dr. Norman L. Barr, former Navy scientist and physician, told members of the Oakland County Medical Society last night.

Dr. Barr, who aided in the selection and training of the Mercury astronauts, discussed the U.S. moon shot at the medical society meeting at the Kingsley Inn and outlined the major medical problems.

Any landing on the moon will probably be made at dusk or at night, he said, because the extreme cold temperatures might prove easier to control than the hot.

Temperatures on the moon range from minus 250 to plus 212 degrees, he added.

PROBE MOON'S SURFACE

Dr. Barr said three principle activities will be conducted during the first visit to the moon. A chemical and physical analysis will be made of the surface, but most important will be an analysis of the subsurface.

Moon astronauts may drill to a distance of five feet to examine the subsurface. Their foremost concern will be to find water.

Several factors, Dr. Barr explained, will make exploring the moon difficult. Besides the extreme temperatures, astronauts will be exposed to meteorites. These could puncture their space suits and kill them in just a few seconds.

The lack of gravity and the rugged terrain will make moon walking difficult.

MOON HOLDS SURPRISE

Landing on the moon may also hold a surprise for the first visitors, Dr. Barr said.

A dust that covers the moon's surface may be four inches or 40 inches thick. "We won't know until we get there," he quipped.

Now in private practice in Royal Oak and a research consultant for several government and private agencies, Dr. Barr entered the space program in 1947 while headquarters for the suburban division.

Body Parts Identified in Illinois

CHICAGO (U) - Portions of a woman's body found scattered over Lake County during April and May have been identified as belonging to a former nurse's aide at two Chicago hospitals.

Robert H. Babcock, Lake County coroner, said yesterday a positive identification was made by comparing old and new X rays of the body parts.

The woman - Mrs. Wilma Jeanette Hassan, formerly of Johnston City, Tenn. - has been missing since April 6, police said.

Five days later, boys playing near the Des Plaines River in suburban Ruge found a woman's right leg floating in the water, wrapped in blue and white plastic and tied with twine.

On May 4, a woman's rib cage and right thigh were found wrapped under a vine at a vicar north of Wauconda. Eleven days later, a left leg was found in a ditch south of Libertyville similarly wrapped.

Police quoted the woman's husband, Mohsin Abdul-Amer Hassan, 34, an immigrant from Baghdad, Iraq, as saying he last saw his wife at O'Hare International Airport April 6.

Hassan, who is employed by an exterminator company, said he and his wife had agreed to send their 3-year-old daughter Lynn to Hassan's parents in Baghdad because of financial and domestic problems.

Hassan said he last saw his wife when he departed from O'Hare with the daughter for New York, where the child was sent to Baghdad by plane.

Hassan said he had not reported his wife's absence because she had left home on two previous occasions.

Sitter Mute on Charge She Beat Neighbor Boy

WARREN (U) - Mrs. Mable Rager, 22, stood mute in Municipal Court yesterday to a charge she beat a 2-year-old neighbor boy left in her care. Mrs. Rager said she slapped the boy on his back to assist his breathing.

The boy, Richard Melnyk, son of Mrs. Charlotte Melnyk, 20, was left in Mrs. Rager's care while his mother worked. Mrs. Rager was freed on $500 bond for examination Oct. 9.

U.S. Mediator Trying to Head Off St. Lawrence Port Strike

MONTREAL (AP) — A federal mediator is meeting today with shipping officials and longshoremen to try to avert a strike that could tie up three major ports on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Judge Rene Lippe called the meeting after conferring Wednesday with Paul Asselin, president of the Montreal longshoremen's local. The 3,800 stevedores in Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivières have threatened to strike Friday if, their demands for a package increase of 22 cents an hour over a two-year period are not met.

Three thousand longshoremen in Halifax, N.S., and Saint John, N.B., may join the strike.

A strike would hamper the shipment of 60 million bushels of wheat to the Soviet Union, part of a $500-million purchase made from Canada last month.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Bosch told a news conference to act more forcefully against Communists in the Dominican Republic stemmed from fear of triggering Batista-type terrorism.

Bosch, deposed in a bloodless coup last week by military officers, was referring to the strong arm tactics employed by former dictator Fulgencio Batista of Cuba. The military leaders said they ousted Bosch because he was leading his country into the arms of the Communists.

Bosch told a news conference

Wednesday that many Roman Catholic priests helped instigate the coup. He said it was a "land" Catholic priest who first accused him of being a Communist.

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — Present prospects of commercial flights over the South Pole have been overemphasized, an American admiral who blazed the route from South Africa to New Zealand said today.

"I don't look for great hordes of aircraft taking off from Cape Town for Australia and New Zealand," Rear Adm. James R. Reedy, commander of the U.S. Navy Antarctic Support Force, said on his arrival from McMurdo Sound, the American Antarctic base.

Before taking off Tuesday on the first trans-antarctic flight from Cape Town, Reedy had predicted eventual establishment of a commercial airport in Antarctica.

Reedy said the Navy has no plans to fly the polar route again. Going from Washington to the Antarctic base via Cape Town took five hours longer than a flight across the Pacific via New Zealand, he said.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Four labor organizations representing 100,000 Congolese workers have called for the ouster of Premier Cyrille Adoula's government.

The unions demanded a new regime "composed solely of honest and capable men who are conscious of their responsibilities."

Labor spokesmen described the Congo administration as a "camouflaged colonialist committee of the great powers."

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Amid growing labor tension and threats of corruption in the force Wednesday night to be prepared to take over operation of essential industries.

Pioneer corps units have been moved to eastern Ceylon to run a struck government sugar factory, and police guards have been posted to check sabotage.

Workers in the State Petroleum Corporation have threatened to work part-time only if their award of contracts are not investigated.

Population Increase Keeping State Costs Up—Romney

By The Associated Press
Gov. George Romney told some 400 citizens last night his administration is doing everything possible to cut state spending — "but you people keep having more kids."

"You tell me how to educate 53,000 more kids this year than last at the same dollar level," Romney told a meeting at Grand Rapids.

"Public officials are not responsible for the kids," Romney added, "but they are there. So are more senior citizens."

The state is committed to the care of these."

"You can't devise a tax program to keep pace with economic growth, and population growth is even more difficult," the governor said. "Why should we defer making our tax program more just? What can we accomplish by putting it off?"

The issue of school property tax relief earlier provoked first public criticism of Romney's tax reform program by any top Republican legislator.

House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, Tuesday night termed "unfair" Romney's plan to have the state apply 20 per cent of local school taxes levied against property.

Romney said at Grand Rapids that differences "are not great" between himself and Green.

PROPERTY TAX

"I don't think Mr. Green disagrees with the need for property tax relief," Romney added. "As I understand it, he wants the $80 million (proposed state share of property tax payments) distributed to school districts on a per-pupil basis."

But, said Romney, if distribution of the $82 million was made on that basis, some school districts would not get back the full amount of the 20 per cent reduction in the local property tax and other districts would get back more than the 20 per cent.

"Obviously, this gets far away from the basic objective of tax reform and gets into ... equalizing educational opportunity through adjustments in the state school aid formula," Romney said.

Romney met with citizens at St. Joseph, Benton Harbor, Holland, Muskegon and Grand Rapids yesterday. He will visit Allen Park, Wyandotte, Detroit and Ypsilanti today.

At Holland, Albert Schaafsma, board of education treasurer, read a board statement in support of Romney's program.

It said:

"We would emphasize that this program does not do anything for the public schools in the matter of needs for additional funds. What it does ... is to place a greater responsibility upon the community to support its own education program, and the community is aided in this by the provisions of Mr. Romney's program."

The statement contrasted with testimony before the House Taxation Committee by various local school board members.

EVERY HEARING

School administrators have appeared at every house committee hearing to object to Romney's school property tax relief provisions.

The House committee was at Alpena last night, while the Senate Taxation Committee was at Traverse City.

Traverse City Manager N. G. Damoose said Romney's proposal for county assessment procedures in place of city and township assessing of property would be "usurpation of city home rule rights."

Romney wants to tighten property assessment practices to make them more uniform. * * *

Robert J. Danhof, the governor's legislative liaison aide, explained Romney's program to the more than 80 people at the Senate hearing.

Press Says Welcome to Colombia Visitors

On a return visit to one made last spring by a representative group of Oakland County leaders, a party of five South Americans is here to observe local business and manufacturing methods in the light of adaptability to their own community, of which Cali, Colombia, is the center.

Though considerably larger than Pontiac, the two areas have in many respects comparable social and industrial considerations, with mutual benefit seen from exchange of viewpoint.

The concept of interhemisphere evaluation was initiated by Congressman William S. Broomfield, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, working through the United States Department of State. It was viewed as contributing purpose to the United States Alliance for Progress aid program for Latin America.

The Press extends a hearty welcome to our visitors and bespeaks an enjoyable and rewarding ten days while in our city.

Long Service to County Ends for Robert Moore

It is seldom indeed that an area citizenry has had public service so dedicated and productive as that given Oakland County by ROBERT Y. MOORE.

A member of the County Board of Auditors for 33 years, 24 of which were served as chairman, he has announced his retirement effective Jan. 1.

Mr. Moore's incumbency embraced the critical and trying times of the depression followed by acceleration of fiscal activity and population growth as Michigan's second largest county rose to its present prosperous and expanding status.

MOORE

Through it all, the presence of Mr. Moore on the board exerted no little influence in establishing it as a highly-rated and effective administrative body.

We congratulate the retiree on his superb record of accomplishment, and wish him many enjoyable and rewarding years in his well-earned retirement.

Plan to Fight Divorce Is Commendable Move

A program to combat the divorce evil in Oakland County has been announced.

The move takes the form of a new corporation under the banner of "Religious Assistance and Protective Services."

The corporation is headed by Rabbi MILTON ROSENBAUM. Three vice-presidents are Circuit Court Judge ARTHUR E. MOORE, County Probate Judge NORMAN R. BARNARD and JAMES W. HUNT. A panel of 23 clergymen drawn from the County's 500 churches, and the other circuit court judges, are additional incorporators of the organization and will serve as directors.

Plans are under way for a county-wide marital education and counseling service as a first step in reducing the County's alarmingly high divorce rate of one for every three marriages. This compares with the national average of one for every four new marriages.

The program embraces a counseling corps of 200 clergymen and laymen for whom training for their activity would be given by University of Michigan experts. Community specialists in psychology, budgeting, child care, medical and in other fields would be utilized.

Private donations, currently amounting to some $15,000, are the source of support for the project. Further contributions will be needed if the results envisioned are to be realized.

The Press warmly commends the socially-conscious group on its interest in developing a concept designed to strengthen the family fiber of our area, and bespeaks effective and rewarding results for the movement.

Magazine Marks 75th Anniversary

By J. W. DAVIS

Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON — A great American success story is being celebrated here this week.

It's the 75th anniversary of the National Geographic, a magazine that many Americans have grown up with in their homes. Many others have walked away apprehensive time reading it in doctors' offices.

The miracle of this success is that a slim, scholarly publication that started in October 1888 has grown today to be a giant in circulation (3,335,000), fat with advertising, and with never a compromise on principles or goals.

The magazine goes to members of the National Geographic Society and is not sold on newsstands.

It's dismaying to think how many magazines once sturdy and flourishing, have folded their pages and silently stolen away.

OUT OF BUSINESS

In recent years alone, Collier's, with a huge and growing circulation, went out of business. The Saturday Evening Post, a true giant of the decades, has admittedly been losing money heavily. Coronet, the Woman's Home Companion, and the American Magazine are no more.

Going back further, the Literary Digest, the Pathfinder, the Review of Reviews, McClure's, Scribner's and the Century are just a few once-popular but now vanished contemporaries of the Geographic.

The man credited with being the master builder of the National Geographic Society and its magazine is Gilbert Grosvenor who, from 1899 to 1954, edited 600 issues of the magazine with more than 3,300 articles.

In a reminiscent narrative that features the diamond anniversary issue this month—the largest in the magazine's history—Dr. Grosvenor, now chairman of the society's Board of Trustees, tells of the early struggles and the advances through the years.

ADVERTISING BAN

For example, even in the first, short-money days, Grosvenor laid down a policy that still holds—there would be no advertising of liquor, beer, wine, tobacco or patent medicines.

Most positively, he took everything into his field of operations. He recalls: "I thought of geography in terms of the Greek root: geographia—a description of the world. It thus becomes the most catholic of subjects, universal in appeal and embracing nations, people, plants, animals, birds, fish."

Here may lie the key to the geographic's success:

"Long ago I evolved an editorial policy—One principle was absolute accuracy. Others required that each article be of permanent value and avoid partisanship and controversy."

"I also decided that no derogatory material would be printed about any country or people. The Geographic has always dealt in facts, not bias, rumor, or prejudice."

The Geographic's leadership in photography, especially color photography, has been generally conceded.

What about those pictures of native women, dusky and largely bare, that the Geographic has carried so often over the years? Says Dr. Grosvenor: "National Geographic never dressed tribal women prudishly in Western clothing; we picture them in their natural state."

Absolute accuracy was the first principle.

This Ought To Be A Breeze

End Cold War Before Red Trade

WASHINGTON — In war time, there usually is a trading-with-the-enemy law. It forbids trade with enemies of this country.

Today there is a war on between the United States and the Soviet Union. But, because it's called a cold war instead of a hot war, there are no laws at present which spell out exactly what trade can be carried on with Communist countries.

LAWRENCE

It is handled largely by the executive branch of government under discretionary powers.

The issue has arisen specifically in connection with the possibility that 100 to 200 million tons of wheat in the United States may be sold to the Soviet Union.

In Congress, there is opposition to the idea, for, while a cold war doesn't involve battles between armies of this country and Russia, the fact is that American soldiers have lost their lives in fighting the guerrillas sent into South Viet Nam by the Communists.

Likewise, large numbers of American troops stand guard in Korea and in Berlin against Communist armies.

Not many months ago, a missile base was established in Cuba, and around 15,000 Russian troops still remain on the island.

NOBODY OBJECTS

Nobody would object to selling food or almost anything else to the Soviet Union if there were no cold war going on today. American people would be glad to develop friendlier relations with Soviet people. But should trade restrictions be removed without bringing the cold war to an end?

Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota, Republican, in a speech to the Senate a few days ago, pointed out that it is not just sale of wheat that is involved. For if wheat is sold, then sale of other products not necessarily agricultural, will be pressed.

Mr. Mundt urged President Kennedy to call a conference here of all the countries of the free world which are engaged in exporting either agricultural or industrial materials.

The purpose would be "to formulate a workable, consistent pattern of trade with the Communist bloc countries, and to determine the impact that a program of expanded trade with Russia, Cuba, Red China and other Communist countries would have upon the mutual assistance and foreign aid programs to which the United States is today by far the most significant and sizable contributor."

The South Dakota Senator pointed to some realities of the trade controversy as he recalled that recently the National Legislature of West Germany "voiced against export of oil pipe to Communist Russia," and he added:

"Be it said to their credit, they faced the facts of the cold war. Unhappily, our British cousins, who sensed a chance to 'make a quick buck' in this sort of trade, then picked up the contract the Germans rejected, and shipped the oil pipe to the Communists."

RADICAL SHIFT

Sen. Thomas Dodd of Connecticut, Democrat, suggested to the Senate "we are soon to be officially informed of a radical shift in our foreign policy."

History certainly repeats itself—for it was refusal of certain free countries to stop their trade with Hitler or to join the embargo on oil to Mussolini's Italy which helped Fascists to arm against the free world in the 1930s.

The American people would gladly trade with and help to feed peoples of countries behind the Iron Curtain if there were a definite end to infiltrations, aggressions and subversive activities in the west which are being financed and directed by the Soviets.

Bob Considine Says:

Catholic Prelate Performs Daily 'Miracle of Noodles'

THE SCRUTABLE EAST—Starved-looking Chinese refugees had been queuing up for some time along the littered curb outside beautiful Eastern China Hospital—one of Hong Kong's best.

Tiny mothers and grandmothers carried sleeping or wailing infants on their backs, old men stood their ground like ragged sentries, elbowing, jostling and jolting youngsters out of the way.

CONSIDINE

"Okay, start handing out the noodles," cried out Maryknoll missionary John Romanelli, an incorrigibly cheerful and industrious monsignor, who is keeping some uncountable number of refugees from Red China alive with regular injections of noodles. About half of those we spoke to knew that it was United States which was responsible for the noodles.

We showed them a sample noodle bag stamped "Relief Food Donated by the People of the United States of America Through the Catholic Relief Services—Not to Be Sold or Exchanged."

The same legend was in Chinese but some of the people could not read.

"Tell you how I got started making noodles," the theologian from New Rochelle, N. Y., told us later as we stood in one of his 26 busy noodle factories.

5 POUNDS OF FLOUR

"Not long after I got kicked out of China and came here with a lot of other refugees, I saw something happen in a bakery shop and learned that it was common practice."

"I saw a little girl come in with five pounds of flour donated by the United States, hand it over to the baker and get two pounds of noodles in exchange."

"I walked out saying to myself why the hell can't I do that? Why can't I make noodles without the middle man and give the American taxpayer his money's worth?"

"Well, to make a long story short I got my first thousand dollars from Bishop Swanson of the National Catholic Welfare Council in Washington and jumped into the noodle business."

In Washington:

Federal Delay Hikes Demands

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — As leaders of the Aug. 28 March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom meet in the capital again to assess what has happened in the intervening month and to plan their future course of action, they are confronted by a confused civil rights situation in Congress.

The draft of a bill to carry out President Kennedy's civil rights reform recommendations for this year is being readied for action by the full House Judiciary Committee under Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y. He was also chairman of the subcommittee which wrote the bill.

It is obviously not going to satisfy all demands of the march organizers, meeting in Washington as members of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights.

This is a 14-year-old biracial lobby of 60 religious, labor, fraternal and civil liberties groups working for stronger legislation.

It recently opened a Washington headquarters under its secretary Arnold Aronson for the duration of the Congressional battle. Its general chairman is Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP and one of the march organizers.

If the leadership conference decides that the House civil rights bill is as good as can be obtained this year, there may be no cause for immediate action.

If the leaders decide the bill is too weak, there will be a fight. If even a mild reform bill gets hung up in House Rules Com-

Voice of the People:

Local Citizen 'Disgusted' With Various Situations

The Governor wants a lien on old folks' property. What next? In Tampa, Fla., the first $5,000 valuation in taxes is exempted without any strings attached.

Now Detroit's mayor wants old-age retirees to pay sales tax on food and medicine.

Why do old folks have to pay school taxes?

I hope we get rid of all the city commissioners except Mr. Taylor.

Who was the cause of us getting this horrid, warm water from Detroit? I wish we had that pure well water back.

I enjoy David Lawrence and Ruth Montgomery. They tell what's going on in Washington. I hope these Democrats get their fill of it. They're getting what they asked for.

'Buses Not Following Published Schedule'

A recent article told of the sharp drop in the passenger load on the Pontiac City Lines.

Within the last week I have taken a taxi home twice because the bus left 15 minutes ahead of the published schedule. More recently I had to take a taxi to work because the bus was not operating on its schedule.

The route I refer to is the Joelyn run. The schedule was published Sept. 9, 1963.

Teen-Ager Wants to Work More Hours

People who complain about the many teen-agers who don't work might want to hear our point of view.

For two months I looked for a job through the paper, Michigan Employment Security Commission and on my own. After being turned down every time, I was pretty discouraged. I couldn't give up because I needed the money to help out at home and for college after I graduate.

I got a job last week and only work 17 hours a week. When getting working papers I was told I had to quit because I had to work both Saturday and Sunday. I can either quit school or my job. I don't want to do either.

What is a teen-ager supposed to do — sit back and watch his younger brothers and sisters go hungry?

People want us to work, so how about helping us instead of complaining? We cannot do it alone—we need the help of adults.

The Country Parson The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Thursday, Oct. 3, the 27th day of 1963 with 89 to follow.

The moon is full.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born today include the American novelist, Thomas Wolfe, in 1900.

On this day in history:

In 1922, Mrs. Rebecca Felton, a Georgia Democrat, was appointed to the U.S. Senate and became the first woman to serve in that body.

"The world would improve if everybody paid something to his church — if nothing more than attention."

In 1922, Mrs. Rebecca Felton, a Georgia Democrat, was appointed to the U.S. Senate and became the first woman to serve in that body.

These "little marches" would not confine themselves to the Washington monument or the Lincoln Memorial. Picketing of both the White House and Capitol might be expected.

An indication of what's ahead is found in a statement by Wilkins that the proposals made by President Kennedy in February are now obsolete.

The injunctive power (of the federal government) must be extended to cover all civil rights violations," says Wilkins.

"Both Fair Employment Practices and the broadened injunctive power were pledged in the 1960 Democratic platform, yet the administration stands in the way of inclusion of these provisions in the civil rights bill."

"There are of course other features of the (House) bill that need strengthening," adds Wilkins. "The defense of voting rights could be made easier. The lagard school desegregation program could be speeded up. There should be mandatory withholding of funds from all federally assisted programs that practice discrimination."

This is the big change — increased demands by Negro leaders — that has taken place in the first month since the march.

President Kennedy has recommended a four-year extension, and this has been approved by a Senate civil rights subcommittee.

The attempt to make the commission a permanent agency and enlarge its functions brought on such prompt southern opposition that the sponsors withdrew their amendment, claiming it had been introduced as a mistake. In its place they offered a simple one-year extension.

This may prevent an immediate filibuster but one is almost sure to develop when the House-approved omnibus civil rights bill gets to the Senate by, say, mid-November.

During preparations for the March on Washington its leaders announced that in event of a filibuster, march participants would

Army Poll to Be Followed by Antibias Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon's latest anti-discrimination move today was expected to be followed by a long and quietly-conducted campaign of persuasion aimed at obtaining better off-base treatment for Negro soldiers.

Defense officials said information obtained in a lengthy questionnaire being sent to military base commanders could be used as a basis for such a campaign, which would seek cooperation of local community leaders.

The questionnaire, disclosed yesterday, asked information on racial discrimination which might effect Negro soldiers in off-duty hours. Commanders were asked to report by Nov. 8.

Base commanders already have a directive from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara authorizing them to place communities discriminating against Negroes off-limits, with approval of their service secretaries. But, officials indicated this step would be taken only after all other possibilities have been exhausted.

Rep. Carl Vinson D.-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee has introduced a bill that would make it a court martial offense to enforce McNamara's directive.

The questionnaire by implication suggests one preliminary step to be taken. It asks: "Is there a military-civilian community advisory committee, and if so is it bi-racial?"

Where such committees do not exist, the department will seek to establish them if commanders report that Negro servicemen are being discriminated against in nearby communities.

Several bases reported yesterday they have not received questionnaires, which were issued without a public announcement on Sept. 24. However, both the Defense Department and the Army said the questionnaires are "in the process" of being sent out.

The document seeks many kinds of information available only in the office of the base commander including number and current ranks of his men, number of Negroes and what kind of transportation they use.

It asked for a description of any discrimination against Negro soldiers practiced on buses, air-lanes or railroads or in their terminals; in parks, libraries, municipal golf courses, tennis courts, theatres, (including drive-ins), bowling alleys, taverns, restaurants or other establishments serving the public.

What's School? Asks Rancher's Daughter, 15

LIBBY, Mont. (AP)—It was a long time between classes for 15-year-old Billie Jo French, a sophomore at Libby High School.

For four years she lived on a ranch too far from town and too far from school bus routes. Her parents moved from Blair, Neb., to a ranch 40 miles west of Libby after Billie Jo finished the fifth grade. She kept up with her school work by taking correspondence courses from the University of Nebraska.

The family bought a new ranch a mile from Libby recently and Billie Jo returned to school.

Waterford Board Sets Fees

Fees payable to the two architectural firms preparing final drawings of new school buildings and additions will be set at a special meeting of the Waterford Township Board of Education tonight.

Preliminary drawings on all school facilities including a five-year building program already have been approved by the school board.

Following the brief special board meeting slated for 6:45 p.m. at Pierce Junior High School, a meeting of the school system's citizens advisory committee will be held at 7:30.

A review of school achievements since the June 10 school election and the presentation of new assignments to the advisory committee are the chief items of business.

The committee, which was instrumental in planning the $6.25 million building program, will be asked to aid in the formulation of school district operating policies.

Among these will be further development of a master school system plan and development of an education program for non-college bound youngsters.

Savannah Integrates Businesses Quietly

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — This Deep South seaport, one of the nation's racial trouble spots during the summer, desegregated motels, hotels and theaters last night under an agreement worked out by white and Negro negotiators.

No incidents were reported at any of the business establishments participating in the plan. Restaurants were not involved. The Negroes entered the establishments in groups of four under a plan reached after more than two months of negotiations between the businesses involved, special committees representing about 100 of the city's businessmen, and representatives of the Negro community.

Indian Beggars Bother Tourists

Tip-Hungry Natives
Drive Spenders Away

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Greedy bell-hops, tip-hungry guides and pestering fortune tellers are helping drive foreign tourists away from India.

The number of tourists in this country has been dwindling for the last two years, depriving India of foreign currency desperately needed for development programs.

The Federation of Hotel and Restaurant Associations of India blames part of the drop on snake charmers, beggars and others who make a living by harassing tourists.

The association recently circulated letters to its members in which former visitors complained that even their rooms were invaded by black marketers seeking to cash travelers checks.

One visitor was virtually chased into his hotel by a clamoring mob of shouting Indians. His pursuers included two snake charmers, a sidewalk acrobat, an accordion player, a six-year-old dancing girl, two beggars, a shoe-shine boy, a sight-seeing boat captain and a curbside chiropractor who wanted to trim his corns.

NULLIFY JOYS

A foreigner recently wrote to the government's Department of Tourism: "The frustration and annoyance nullify the joys of seeing even the Taj Mahal."

Other letter writers complained of India's croaky bureaucracy. Visitors get a taste of it soon as they arrive in this country by waiting through one of the world's longest customs checks in airports where the temperature sometimes soars to 129 degrees.

Some major hotels have made their guests reasonably safe from harassment by posting burly Sikh guards at their gates and by ruthlessly firing employees who badger visitors for tips.

NEED CRACK DOWN

But the Hotel Association has warned its members that a tougher crackdown is needed.

Even the Hotel Association can't provide the balm—a nice stiff drink—that could make a hot, tired, harassed tourist look on India in a more kindly light.

The nation is afflicted with a hodgepodge of prohibition laws that has closed down all of New Delhi's nightclubs, banned drinking on Fridays in Calcutta and dried up some Indian hotels.

Even sophisticated Bombay has restricted legal drinking to holders of hard-to-get "ration cards." The cards are good only during strictly limited hours, in a handful of regulated "permit rooms," where uniformed Bombay police routinely stamp out the coupons which entitle a tourist to 26 ounces of liquor per week.

Man, 21, Admits Shotgun Slaying of His Landlord

Hardy Harris, 21, of 30 Iowa, pleaded guilty Tuesday to manslaughter in the March 22 shotgun death of the man in whose home he was a boarder.

Harris entered his plea before Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Zieman, who set sentencing for Oct. 28. Harris was charged with second-degree murder in the case, but was allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charge.

He was accused of slaying Tommie L. Holston, 32, also of 30 Iowa, in front of 28 Iowa where a birthday party for a third man was in progress.

Detroit Youth Gets 30 Days for Burglary

A Detroit youth was placed on three-years probation and ordered to serve 30 days in jail Tuesday for his Aug. 29 burglary of a Pontiac wholesaler.

Thomas Howick, 18, was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Zieman, who accepted the teen-ager's guilty plea Sept. 8.

Howick was accused of breaking into Oak Distributing Co. at 61 Jackson and taking cash and merchandise valued at $22.

PENNEY'S MIRACLE MILE

Where Is Hideout of Arizona's 'Tiger Woman' Killer?

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—On Oct. 8, a year ago, trunk murderers Winnie Ruth Judd opened a door left unlocked by attendants and escaped from the Arizona State Hospital for the seventh time. It was big news at the time. Now, no one seems concerned that the "Tiger Woman" of the 1930s still is missing.

Given her nickname by newspapers for the mutilation slaying of two Phoenix women in 1931, Winnie Ruth, 57, hardly looked the part when last seen by authorities. She looked more like Mrs. Average American—auburn-haired, 5-foot-5 tall and weighing between 127 and 150 pounds.

Mrs. Judd, an inmate for 29 years, probably escaped at a spot where the high chain-link fence had been torn down temporarily for highway construction.

FOUND CLOTHING

A week later police found her clothing on the roof of a shed four blocks from the hospital.

She was reported at various times to have been seen in Minnesota, New Mexico, California, South Dakota and other places.

All leads fizzled out. For nine months the case has been practically a dead issue with police and hospital authorities.

Dr. Samuel Wick, head of the hospital, refuses to discuss Mrs. Judd or to permit hospital employees to talk with newsmen about her. He says only that she no longer is considered dangerous.

Phoenix police will say only that there has been no progress in finding her.

WELL KNOWN

"She isn't here," says Maricopa County Sheriff Cal Boies, who has participated in most searches for her. "She's well enough known around here that someone would have reported her by now."

On Oct. 16, 1931, Mrs. Judd, Phoenix apartment shared by the then 26, shot Agnes Anne Leroy, a victim. She stuffed Miss Leroy's body into a large trunk and cut Miss Samuelson's body into pieces which would fit into a smaller trunk.

She addressed the trunks to herself and sent them to Los Angeles by train.

A suspicious baggage master in Los Angeles demanded Mrs. Judd open them before he would turn the trunks over to her.

ELUDED POLICE

Winnie Ruth eluded police for four days. When they caught her she was suffering from a bullet wound in her hand.

She told Los Angeles police: "I killed them after Hedvig Samuelson had shot me in the hand during a quarrel. Right after Hedvig shot me, Agnes Leroy picked up an ironing board and beat me on the head. I fell to the floor and picked up the gun. Then I shot them both."

She said the quarrel was over a Phoenix lumberman she had introduced to the two women, both previously her close friends.

During her trial, Mrs. Judd, the daughter of an Indiana preacher, tried to disrupt one session by a continuous loud coughing spell.

Another time, she refused to get out of bed in jail to go to the courtroom. Only after the sheriff threatened to handcuff her and haul her to court in wheelchair did she relent.

CHICOPEE, Mass. (AP) — Everyone at the Streiber School remembered Kenneth Garrett as the second grader who loved to read. When he had read all the books for his age bracket in the school library, he talked his father, an Air Force captain, into donating more volumes.

Last week, Kenneth, 6, "who couldn't get to school fast enough," died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

The Chicopee school board voted Wednesday night to rename the room with the books that Kenneth loved so well, "The Kenneth Garrett Memorial Library."

His father is Kenneth Garrett Sr., of Shawnee, Kan., and Westover Air Force Base.

No Leads Yet in Tots' Deaths

Authorities Continue
Minneapolis Probe

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Police kept up an all-out man-hunt for the kidnap killers of two little girls today knowing they may never learn how the tots died.

Police Chief E. I. (Pat) Walling said the condition of the bodies indicated Melissa Ann Lee, 5, and Barbara Foshag, 4, were killed about the same day they disappeared nearly a month ago.

Dr. Leonard Crowley, a pathologist, said an autopsy failed to reveal the cause of death or whether the girls had been sexually mistreated.

Little remained of the bodies but the bones. X-rays showed no fractures.

The police crime laboratory tested red shorts found on the body of Melissa and clothing found near the nude body of Barbara.

LOCAL RESIDENT?

Walling said an investigation so far indicated the kidnap-killers might have been a local resident familiar with the underdeveloped remote area where the bodies were found Tuesday afternoon.

A road maintenance worker found the bodies lying side by side, face up near Medicine Lake 10 miles northwest of here in a wooded area across from Mission Farms, a rehabilitation center for alcoholics.

Walling said an investigation was mapped at a meeting of 10 representatives of Minneapolis, the FBI, state police, Hennepin County Sheriff's Office and Plymouth Township authorities.

The FBI was ready to handle any "outside angles" of the investigation, Walling said.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Gene Arnold said his office would check the residents of about 20 homes in the area where the bodies were found "to determine if they noticed anything suspicious."

The girls were last seen getting into the car of a dark-haired stranger Sept. 7 near their homes in a south Minneapolis tenement district, at least 10 miles from where their bodies were found.

Three Lifers Get Commuted Terms From Governor

LANSING (AP)—A 72-year-old widow and a man who has served 41 years in a cab driver slaying were among three persons whose life sentences were commuted yesterday by Gov. George Romney.

The three, all serving life for murder, include:

Johanna Reese, 72, who has served 34 years for the death of her two-year-old son in Kent County. She was convicted June 1, 1928.

Emery Sterrett, 62, who was convicted Sept. 27, 1921, in the slaying of a cab driver near Detroit.

Dixie Negro Condemns Bias Protests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A negro voice was raised today in condemnation of street demonstrations and civil rights militancy that has swept the country since the Birmingham, Ala., riots last spring.

The voice is that of Army Maj. Hughes Alonzo Robinson, former commandant of cadets at Fort Valley State College, a Negro unit of Georgia's state school system.

Robinson, 62, contends that self-improvement and not "ultra-turms" on desegregation is the best way to advance the Negro cause.

He is sharply critical of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, as well as those who direct the Congress for Racial Equality and the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee.

MORE HARM

"They are doing more harm in the South than they are doing good," he said in an interview.

"In Albany, Ga., a large number of Negroes lost their jobs or were not hired for job openings because of the demonstrations by Negroes under King's leadership there," Robinson said.

He said his talks with Albany Negroes indicated that many of them were forced to give up their homes because they could no longer meet payments once they were jobless.

"The demonstrations got the white people mad," he said. "You can't drive people in Georgia."

QUIET NEGOTIATIONS

Robinson said quiet negotiations could produce more benefits for Negroes in the south than the methods being used.

King and others, he contends, are "self-appointed leaders seeking economic advantage, influence, prestige and power."

Leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Urban League, he said, have been forced into similar demonstrations against their will to compete for headlines.

Robinson has organized a "National Council for Patriotic Citizenship" to award scholarships and fellowships to outstanding Negro students. He said he hoped to go on a speaking tour in Southern states and form clubs at Negro high schools to promote better citizenship and discourage demonstrations.

THREE EVILS

"There are three major evils in the Negro community," Robinson said. "One is crime. Another is excess number of babies, including illegitimate babies. There's too much time spent on sex. And third, illiteracy should be wiped out, by Negroes themselves."

In Robinson's view, President Kennedy's proposal to desegregate public accommodations would infringe on private property rights. He also said he doubted that a federal law would make much difference because "most Negroes don't vote anyway."

Robinson conceded that he has no large body of followers. But he said the "better class of Negroes" in the south and older Negro professional men shared many of his views about the wave of demonstrations that erupted

Blue oxford with button-down collar, barrel cuffs. Collar sizes 14½ to 17, sleeve lengths 32 to 35.

Here's the sale of shirts that many smart shoppers wait for. Small wonder, they're a great value. The fabrics will delight you, the white broadcloth is fine pima, lustrous and silky smooth . . . the oxford beautifully woven—and they're both wash 'n' wear. But quality doesn't stop there. The stitching is very fine (and fine stitching is the standard by which shirts are judged). The buttons are real ocean pearl. In fact, we know if we could show you these shirts we wouldn't have to say a word . . . the extraordinary value would speak for itself. So drop in and stock up.

Nationalist China Blasts Russia, Red China in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Nationalist China assailed the Soviet Union today as a force bent on aggression despite its new gestures of amity toward the West.

Nationalist Ambassador Liu Chieh, in a speech prepared for delivery in the U.N. General Assembly's policy debate, made the harshest attack on the Russians since the assembly's 18th session opened.

Liu warned that the Cold War "has by no means come to an end."

He said his government welcomed the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, but added:

"We are, however, fully aware that this is at best only a start toward larger goals, goals that are not easily attainable."

"The drive toward Communist expansion on a worldwide basis has not ceased. So long as this is the case, peace, genuine peace, I am afraid, will continue to elude us."

DESPITE WORDS

Despite the Soviet espousal of peaceful coexistence, he recalled that Russian Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told the assembly less than two weeks ago his government would continue to "struggle for the triumph of the ideals of Socialism and Communism."

Switching his attack to Communist China, Liu accused it of pursuing a policy of hate and violence that "has even alarmed the Kremlin."

"Communist activities, ranging from direct military pressure to infiltration and subversion, of the members of the 18-nation to the peace and security of the vast Asian continent," he said.

"Internal stresses have immeasurably weakened the Chinese Communist regime. This, however, does not make it less of a threat to world peace."

Turning to disarmament, Liu said that a vital pre-condition was mutual confidence between East and West.

"The Soviet proposal of convening a conference in Moscow to discuss the possibility of a disarmament committee . . . is hardly calculated to achieve a breakthrough," he said.

DEEPER SUSPICION

"It will only serve to deepen the suspicion that the Soviet Union intends to make as much political capital out of disarmament as possible."

Liu halted the limited test ban as an event of great importance, but said exclusion of underground testing shows that east-west mistrust continues.

Liu also said the charge of colonialism applies to the Soviet satellites of Eastern Europe as well as to Africa.

Elsewhere in the U.N.:

Secretary-General U Thant's request for a $19.2 million appropriation to keep a protective U.N. force of 5,350 men in the Congo until next July was presented to the assembly's 111-nation budgetary committee Wednesday.

Along with Thant's request was a recommendation by the 12-nation budgetary advisory committee that the secretary-general pare the cost by $1 million.

Buu Hoi, South Viet Nam's U.N.

observer, told newsmen the Buddhist crisis had ended in his country. He said he and Thant had discussed "how to make international public opinion better aware of the true situation."

TALK WITH RUSK

Buu Hoi also talked with U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Inform sources said they discussed the situation in Viet Nam and the handling of the problem in the United Nations.

The U.N. starts debate Monday on charges by 16 African, Asian and Latin American nations that Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime persecutes Buddhists. The United States, which criticized government raids on Buddhist pagodas in South Viet Nam in August, supported the request for debate.

Church Membership

Church membership in the United States is reported to be growing twice as fast as the population, and 60 per cent of all U.S. adults are now members of a church.

Astronaut Describes Wondrous Beauty of Space, Earth

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The

wondrous, almost spellbinding nights and colors of space were

naut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. in the final report on his 22-orbit mission.

The report, presented at a conference summarizing the results of the Mercury man-in-space project, contained no new disclosures of Cooper's flight of last May 15-

Polio Victim Still Critical

8-Year-Old Burned by Mystery Flames

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Little Cathryn Reeves remained on the critical list at San Francisco General Hospital today, while authorities sought to determine how and why the 8-year-old crippled polio victim was set afire.

Cathryn suffered third-degree burns over 40 per cent of her body Tuesday evening when her dress caught fire and she was unable to run for help because of the braces on her legs.

The injured child told police that two boys in her special ungraded class at Visitation Valley School threw a book of flaming matches at her. She said they teased her because of the braces.

Police questioned three of Cathryn's classmates, including the two whom she had named. Authorities said the youngsters, ranging in age from 7 to 10, denied throwing the matches.

BOYS' CLAIM

"The boys claim she lit them herself," said police Lt. Dan Mahoney, who added that his investigation determined that the four children were playing together, and that Cathryn evidently had the matches.

Police Inspector Kevin Conroy said all three of the boys seemed confused as to what actually happened.

"I don't think any of them really knows," Conroy said, "It appears it might have been accidental. We'll talk to the little girl later, when her condition improves."

The girl was admitted to the hospital in "fair" condition, but Dr. Thomas Alberts, hospital superintendent, said last night "she is now worse than when she was admitted."

"She will be on the critical list from 36 to 72 hours," Alberts said.

State Okays Public Key Club in Detroit

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan Liquor Control Commission Chairman Don S. Leonard said today he was satisfied with the intention of Detroit promoters to operate a completely public Play-boy Club in the old Stockholm restaurant on the East Side.

Leonard and other commission members met this week with members of the Stockholm Play-boy Club of Detroit and reached agreement on what the chairman termed a "previously understood condition" of the transfer of a Class C liquor license to the new organization.

"The only reason we met again was to assure the commission that they did not intend to operate a private key club, which is against Michigan law where Class C licenses are concerned," Leonard said.

The only thing holding up operation of the Play-boy Club in the Motor City is redecoration of the Stockholm Club and final inspection by the commission.

Caroline Tells the Russians Off Via Hot Line

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Going on 45-year-old Caroline Kennedy picked up the newspaper, and finding no holes cut out of it, decided that her press image must be slipping.

Like everyone else in the free world, she knows that whenever her picture appears in the paper, Mummy slips it out — not to paste in a family scrap book, but to keep Caroline from seeing it.

Thoroughly disgusted that a fickle public now seemed more interested in pictures of quintuplets than Kennedy Clan kids, she was about to toss away the paper when a small headline caught her eye: "U.S. for keeps jumping despite 'hot line' sunset."

The article said it was an amendment chief William C. Foster told the House Foreign sanctum and discovered that the which mummy used to write her "hot line" was easy to her "enquiring photographer" operate as the typewriter on columns.

Kennedy's Mom

Campaigner Lost?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy may lose one of his best political campaigners—his mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy. To hear the youthful grand-mother, it's on account of her age, 73.

Mrs. Kennedy, the wife of former ambassador to Britain Joseph P. Kennedy, was a show-stopping stand-in for her daughter-in-law this week at a state dinner honoring Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia.

Afterward, she announced she was "retiring" from politics. "I found out that I'm one year older than Haile Selassie," she said with a laugh.

Informed of his mother's remark, the President quipped, "I thought it was a family secret... but now that it's out..."

Cereal Company Exec Dies of Heart Attack

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)—George W. Burry, 63, vice president of the Quaker Oats Co. in charge of the Burry Biscuit Division, died Wednesday of a heart attack. Burry was a member of the board of directors of the Quaker Oats Co., Chicago, and represented the third generation of his family in the baking field. He was born in Toronto, Ont.

Using the hunt-and-peck system, Caroline carefully typed, "It's a fib that our dogs let foxes jump over them."

Having vindicated her mother, she was about to slip back upstairs to school when the machine burped, and began to type. Standing on tip-toe she read: "That was not the coded message agreed on for sounding alert, but does this mean war?"

Thank heavens Caroline, unlike little John R., know how to read and write. Eager to set the Russians straight, she typed: "It's true that we use guns as well as dogs, but it's somewhat different from regular war."

GUERRILLA WAR
Quick as a flash, the unscrambled words came back: "Are you threatening guerrilla warfare?"

As patiently as possible, Caroline replied that all our guerrillas have bars in front of them. The pause this time was longer than usual. The little girl waited expectantly, and in a few minutes the machine disgorged this message: "Are you testing at that end?"

Now they were questioning poor daddy's integrity! Fairly bristling with indignation, Caroline typed: "Can't you even read the papers? We passed the test-ban agreement even though 17 refused to agree."

ONE IS LADY
Really, didn't they even know about Senator Margaret Chase Smith? "They weren't all men," Caroline wrote with asperity.

"One is a lady with a high-up rank in the Air Force Reserve; but some of the men against the test-ban outrank her. They're reserve generals."

Smoke seemed to belch from the machine with the reply: "Dirty American Dogs!"

Poor Mummy! She had just given baths to Charlie and all the other dogs except Pushinka, who had run away to hide under a Chinese holly bush. That wasn't mummy's fault, so Caroline primly typed:

"The only dirty dog is the Russian—I can't spell the name—who is hiding behind the Chinese..."

Caroline didn't get to finish the sentence, because she suddenly saw "Uncle Pierre" Salinger coming through the rose garden. Quick as a flash, she bounded upstairs, and was safely back in her schoolroom before she heard the explosion of guns.

She must remember to tell daddy that the 21-gun salute for visiting heads of state makes it very difficult for children to concentrate on their studies.

Indiana Sales Tax Is Constitutional

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The State Supreme Court gave Indiana its first sales tax with a unanimous 5-0 decision that the 2 per cent levy passed by the 1963 General Assembly is constitutional. Unless a rehearing is asked, collection of the tax can start on Oct. 22.

The tax will apply to all retail sales, including food and drugs, but exempting such things as school lunches, newspapers, and materials used by farmers or manufacturers in producing goods for human or animal consumption.

Citizen Unit to Study Needs Before School Tax Election

For the first time in years, a 'Pontiac citizens' committee will probe school needs preparatory to a millage election sometime next year.

Hand picked by its chairman James L. Howlett and the local school board, the select committee will study a ten-year plan of school needs and recommend a millage to replace the 8.75-mill levy that expires in 1964.

Thirty-two of the 42 members of the Pontiac School Study Committee met Tuesday night at Madison Junior High School for an organizational meeting. Chairman Howlett, a local attorney appointed by the school board to head the study, outlined the group's purpose. He also created four at-large subcommittees.

"We must look to the future in terms of school income and expenditures for the next 10 years," Howlett explained, "and make a recommendation to the school board on what the community wants."

Howlett divided the group into four subcommittees. These are income, expenditure, report and public information.

He said any committee member can serve on the subcommittee he is interested in. The first two subcommittees tentatively planned to meet on alternate Wednesdays.

The group's chairman said the citizens' study would follow an administration report on the school needs for the next 10 years. School Board President William H. Anderson and Supt. Dana P. Whitmer greeted the committee members Tuesday night.

JOB VITAL

"Your job is vital to the community, the country and, most of all, our kids," Anderson told the assembled church, civic and business leaders.

The school board president emphasized that the board was interested in what the community thought of the school system and its needs.

Whitmer said "financial support (of schools) is really a community decision."

He added, "Local control of schools is precious."

Howlett said the report subcommittee would eventually draft a report of the group's work and submit it to the school board. The report will include a recommendation on the millage to be voted next year.

Castro Speaks Today

MIAMI (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro returns to the Havana airwaves today for his second speech in five days. His words will be followed closely for fresh evidence of his apparent worry over Russia's "soft line" toward the United States.

The bearded Cuban leader indicated his concern to the world last Saturday when he cryptically declared that Soviet-dominated Cuba has "her own line" in international affairs.

Taken at face value, Castro's remarks could be interpreted simply as a sort of "Cuban declaration of independence" from Moscow's policy directives.

But diplomatic sources here regarded the speech as symptomatic of Castro's evident fear that he is being "put in a corner" as a result of new Soviet-American efforts to reduce East-West tensions.

ARCHITECTS' CONFERENCE

Castro is scheduled to address the closing session of a Communist-promoted International Conference of Architects in the Cuban capital.

Once the "hottest" issue on the Moscow-Washington conference agenda, Castro Cuba has been dropped far down the list behind disarmament, Germany, wheat trade, Viet Nam and sundry other diplomatic questions.

Accompanying this diplomatic "downgrading" in the view of observers here are the quiet but continuing statements by top U.S. officials, including President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Assistant Secretary of State for Latin America Edward Martin, that Cuba cannot be "negotiated" while Castro is around.

Although the United States has barred exile raids from being launched in the United States and has sought to stop raids from the Bahamas Islands, attacks — by sea and air — against Castro are continuing.

RAIDS CONTINUE

The latest was a mysterious sea raid on Northern Oriente Province early yesterday morning, announced by the Castro regime.

The failure of the Soviet Union in recent months to publicly protest any of these raids has also certainly not gone unnoticed by Castro, sources said.

There are other apparent irritations. For example, reports in the Communist press that the United States is "pressuring" Uruguay to cancel, its recently concluded $5-million trade deal with Cuba. This would be a real blow to Cuba's economy.

Castro, speaking to his "Committees for the Defense of the Revolutions," a national network of neighborhood informants and spies, said Saturday night that Cubans must not "get used" to the idea of Soviet aid and a continuing trade deficit with Russia. He then attacked the United States "war" and "blockade" and "strangulation" of Cuba and, in a statement directed to Moscow, said that future U.S. actions "will determine our attitude on the nuclear pact and our attitude on de-nuclearization."

He meant the U.S.-Soviet limited nuclear test ban treaty which has been signed by a majority of the world's nations.

Hundred Years Later

Colorado is known as the Centennial state because it was admitted to the Union in 1876, just an even 100 years after the United States Declaration of Independence.

Official 'Bounced' on Check Issue; Had Bad 'Name'

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Roe Saunders became chairman of the county welfare board because his signature plate was better than the one for Art Jens.

The plate with Jens' signature suddenly wouldn't work in the mechanical check writer in the welfare office two weeks ago. So, nobody could get paid.

The plate bearing Saunders' signature was rushed into service, and he was made board chairman so the payment would be good.

Saunders, a county commissioner, gave up the emergency job after Jens' signature plate was fixed.

Gurka Troops Kill 10 Raiders

KUCHING, Sarawak (UPI) — British-led Gurka troops, pressing a hunter-killer operation on the border of this Malaysian province, killed 10 Indonesian-based guerrillas in a clash today.

The casualties increased the toll of five days of fighting in a five-month-old undeclared war to 22 guerrillas and six Gurkhas killed.

Three guerrillas and the six Gurkhas were killed in the initial fighting Saturday when Indonesians attacked the border post at Long Jawi.

The garrison drove them off and began the mopping-up operation in which the other guerrillas were killed.

Commie Capture Made Real for GIs in Special Training

HONOLULU (UPI) — Combat-ready GIs in Hawaii are being taught that capture by the enemy signals the start of a new "military operation," which ends only in a successful escape from the prison camp—or death.

They are being taught, too, that a Communist interrogator is a cold professional who will stretch an innocent tidbit into vital military information.

Their bleak classrooms are located within a barbed wire compound set in a remote, wooded area of Schofield Barracks' sprawling east range. Inside the compound, the American soldiers sees and experiences the beatings and humiliations suffered by his buddies in North Korean prison camps.

He sees Red star flags and insignias, and reads anti-American slogans.

And he hears an instructor praise Maj. Walter H. Moon of Rudy, Ark., who was killed on his second escape attempt from a Communist Pathet Lao prison camp in 1961.

CODE OF CONDUCT

This is the 25th Infantry Division's "code of conduct" school. Its job is to dish out the same kind of treatment GIs can expect if they are captured by Communist forces in Asia.

The training is accompanied by a not-too-encouraging observation by the school's commander, Capt. Thomas Barrier of Westminster, Calif.

"It is highly probable that each of us could be committed to combat on very short notice," the Captain says. "The next time you see these (communist) uniforms, we may not be wearing them."

He is referring to Laos, Viet Nam and other possible trouble spots in Southeast Asia where men of the 25th may find the Cold War against the Communists grows hotter.

He is also referring to the instructors who are dressed in Red Chinese uniforms.

PRISONERS, GUARDS
The four-and-a-half hour session begins with American "prisoners" being marched through the prison gates by "Chinese guards," dressed in appropriate uniforms.

The prisoners are pushed, shoved to the ground and roughed up during the march.

Then, standing at rigid attention with their hands on their heads, they hear a "Red Chinese colonel" bellow:

"I will take away your pride. I will take away your god."

A prisoner stirs in the ranks.

He is yanked off his feet, roughed up and tossed into a cramped isolation booth sprinkled with tear gas.

Inside the barracks, the men are given a long look at the type of interrogation utilized by the Red Chinese during the Korean War.

They witness a "spy trial" in which an American GI is kicked and slapped by the interrogating officer.

COMMIE TECHNIQUES
They become familiar with Communist techniques in obtaining information from American prisoners.

They also learn how to survive until the eventual escape.

They also are shocked to learn that some American prisoners of war lost the "will to live" and in a few instances merely pulled blankets over themselves and died in North Korean prison camps.

They are also told that a thousand American soldiers died on Korean roadblocks because their fellow prisoners didn't offer a helping hand when they fell out of the ranks marching to prison camps.

And they are reminded of Article Three of the military's code of conduct which reads:

"If I am captured, I will continue to resist by all means available. I will make every effort to escape and aid others to escape. I will accept neither parole nor special favors from the enemy."

The school has been in operation since 1958 and has trained more than 60,000 men, who now know that the best thing to do in a POW camp is to keep your mouth shut.

And escape at the first opportunity.

E. German Guards Stone U.S. Troops

BERLIN (AP) — East German border guards threw stones at an isolated American patrol last night, the U.S. Army reported.

The harassment stopped when the Americans retaliated with two smoke and two tear gas grenades.

It was the second stone-throwing incident this week at the enclave of Steinstuetken, a piece of West Berlin entirely surrounded by Communist territory. The U.S. Army keeps a patrol of three men in the small community.

Chiang Chinese Backed as Legal Government

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has informed Russia that the United States still considers Nationalist China as the "legitimate government in China."

The department announced yesterday that it had sent a note to Russia Sept. 19 saying the United States considered the Nationalist Chinese signature on the nuclear test-ban treaty "valid." Russia had protested the Nationalist signing.

Computer, Teletype Put Autos Together

By CHARLES C. CAIN
Associated Press Automotive Writer

DETROIT — Most people who view an automobile production line for the first time are amazed at the way the approximately 4,500 parts in a car arrive at assembly points at precisely the moment they are needed.

This split-second timing is not haphazard. Rather, it is the result of much detailed planning and the use of an elaborate computer and teletype system.

The complex job of building a car begins soon after a customer selects his car in the dealer's showroom.

As the dealer fills out the order, the customer's preference for body style, color, trim, power equipment and accessories are assigned a numerical code.

For instance, at Chrysler Corp., 421 indicates a four door sedan, 281 the trim, 351 the power steering.

It is here that the complexity of auto manufacturing is best illustrated. Formerly, about 1,500 combinations of models, series equipment and accessory options were available in a single car line such as Dodge.

COULD RUN YEAR

Now, Chrysler officials estimate, there are 630,000 combinations of parts and accessory groups available, so that conceivably its production line could run an entire model year without manufacturing two identical cars.

Virtually all the auto companies have the same basic system of computers and teletypes.

If you ordered a Chrysler product, the car order would be forwarded to one of 26 regional sales offices throughout the country and from there to processing centers and the nearest assembly plant.

The information on each order is prepared on punch cards and fed into computers. At this stage, management teams study the orders and coordinate production schedules.

When it is time to start production, the punched order card is fed into another computer. Much of this information is converted to punched paper tape which runs through the teletype system.

The teletypewriters carry the information to each of the various subassembly lines, such as body framing, paint, engine and power train equipment, trim, accessories and shipping.

As welders work on the actual framing of the car body, every other part to go into the auto is placed on lines in the plant and starts its trip along the assembly line.

The teletype system, installed in most Michigan auto factories by Michigan Bell Telephone Co., assures that as each car comes down the line it gets the proper instrument panel, the right engine and the host of other special things that the individual customer ordered.

BIG CHANGE

It marks a big change from the production standards of six or seven years ago when a customer who ordered a car with minor equipment changes faced a delay of several weeks.

One of the most intriguing changes performed by the computers, almost as a sidelight to processing of new car orders, is to spot trends in consumer tastes.

The computers note, district by district for each part of the country, the "fast movers", automotive jargon for the type of cars that are selling best.

Armed with the information, the dealer is better able to order the type of cars and equipment that are in most demand.

One industry source said the day was coming when customers' orders for new cars would be transmitted directly over telephone lines from car dealer showrooms to a data processing center and thence to the factory where work on the customer's car would be begun within hours after he signed the order blank at his dealer's showroom.

Our happiest problem for '64 was: how to beat a winner? According to thousands of owners, the 1963 models just about had it made in all departments. But—when your name is Buick—you just don't rest on your laurels. You keep pushing to make a great car greater.

So... the '64 Buicks are new—but new. New engines, V-6 or V-8 (you'll like their new gas economy), new, smoother, extra-cost option, Super Turbine Transmissions (and who, but Buick, would build in an altitude compensator?). Youngest looking Fisher Bodies in town! Visit a showroom, sit in any one of the new Buicks, and practice this short easy line: "My Buick." Sounds good, doesn't it?

Giddy NY Dresses Up for Fall

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—No one is quite sober in Manhattan in October. Everyone drinks the wine of new possibility. Anything can happen; everything does.

New York City advertises herself as a summer festival, but she is even more of a fall festa.

Her fugitive children troop back from their summer hide-aways, mosquito-scarred and full of tales of country adventure. But they really don't start living again until they cross the Bronx line, or enter the Lincoln Tunnel, and leave New Jersey behind. Any time spent anywhere, but here doesn't count.

SIREN CITY
Now in October the cocoon time is over, and Manhattan again becomes a siren city, the American enchantress.

The word is "big." Everybody has big plans, big dreams, big hopes—the big angle. Every bus, every train, every plane unloads hard-eyed or starry-eyed hopefuls who come here to seek the big chance, to beat the big city down to their size.

A cool wind sweeps away the heat and blows the dirt from new skyscraper holes into your eyes. The subways are packed again with human sardines.

The season of safety is over for the pedestrian. He must hop to it now to make it from sidewalk to sidewalk. A blue haze of gasoline fumes rises from traffic-clogged streets. Truck drivers and cabbies curse each other with boisterous geniality—for who can harbor hate in October?

BOOM, BOOM, BOOM

The hammering sound of new buildings going up and old buildings coming down echoes all day. Crews of workmen seem to rip up every pavement as they lay new utility lines or repair deep potholes.

"What are they all doing?" asks a curious stranger.

"The mayor's just digging for gold," replies a bus driver. Out in Flushing Meadows Bob Moses and his merry elves are clothing the skeleton of the giant World's Fair in a mad race against time to get the biggest show in history ready by next April. Will they do it? "Yes-sir-ee!" our Bob tells doubters. Flying footballs replace the thump of baseballs in gloves on city playgrounds. The pigeons outside the Central Park Zoo get fewer handouts, and the polar bears gambol gaily in their chilling pool. Old ladies wait for sun afternoons to lean plump arms on pillows in tenement windows and stare down with timeless curiosity on the antics of mankind.

QUICKER WALK
Everybody walks a little quicker to match the faster rhythm that pulses through the town. Got to get a move on if they're going to close that big deal and earn enough money for a big Christmas.

A fresh glitter comes to tawdry Broadway. Old shows close. New shows open—and some close. But in Tin Pan Alley the pianos go on tinkling forever.

On Fifth Avenue, the fabulous store windows drip with furs and jewels. Along the Bowery, bums shiver and wonder where they'll get an overcoat. In expensive restaurants the gin and tonic gives way to the vodka martini.

At night a tawny moon glides across the Hudson and East rivers, and makes the small sturdy tugs look like little water bugs carrying lanterns in search of something lost in the dark.

COCKTAIL TIME
"Cocktails between 5 and 7 p.m.," say 10,000 invitations, as the new season gets into full swing.

But life itself is just one big cocktail party in the big town now. Everyone from Park Avenue Cinderellas to Greenwich Village beatniks shares a feeling of exultant intoxication, for no one is quite sober in Manhattan in October. Who'd want to be?

Shotguns Fire in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Nine persons were wounded, none seriously, by shotgun blasts Wednesday night.

Police were questioning three men today in connection with the shootings. They were not identified.

Ma. Clifford Warren said "This is possibly a retaliatory fight involving street gangs. Those wounded were young men in their late teens and early 20s."

"There were about 10 or 15 of us sitting on the front porch," said Charles Kelly, 22, one of those wounded.

Witnesses said a green sedan stopped in front of the house and the men in the car fired five or six shots at the group on the porch, then drove off.

A short time later, a car similar to the one involved in the first shooting sped by the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Higgins. A shotgun blast was fired from the car, slightly wounding the Higginses as they sat on their front porch.

A saved-off barrel from a shotgun was found in the street near the Higgins home.

Wedding Will Have Worldwide Flavor

By ROGER SRIGLEY
AVON TOWNSHIP — A European cake, a college president as minister and students from 14 nations will all be part of a wedding, here Sunday — a wedding as unique as the couple exchanging vows.

Sue Wilson, a 29-year-old girl from Winnipeg, Man., and Ivan Uys from Pretoria, South Africa, are to be married at 2:30 p.m. on the shore of Michigan Christian College's Lake Norcentra.

Sue, a trim 5 feet 9, has completed her missionary studies at the school and is now working for President Otis Gatewood, who will conduct the ceremony.

Ivan is scheduled to graduate

BUSY PREPARING

"We expect about 300 at the wedding," Sue said, busying herself with preparations. Her mother and sister have traveled the 1,100 miles from home to participate and help her get ready.

"We'll have people from Thailand, Philippines, England and Jamaica," Sue said, calling off names of students who will be coming to the affair.

"Another thing that's somewhat novel is the choir, which will be made up of members of the faculty, staff and students," Sue added.

When she arrived here in 1962, Sue had her mind set on missionary work in Russia. "Then I met Ivan," she said, "and we finally agreed to return to Pretoria."

NEW TASK AHEAD

In August, the two plan to leave for their new task. They will be working for a while with singer Tex Williams, who heads a congregation in Pietermaritzburg, South Africa.

"Then we'll start up our own church elsewhere in the country," Sue said. "We eventually plan to go to Madagascar, off the east coast of Africa, where there are no Church of Christ missions."

Ivan, 22, is anxious to introduce his bride-to-be to his parents. His father, C. J. Uys, is a sergeant in the South African Air Force.

"Right now I'm somewhat scared," he said.

MUCH TO TELL

The prospective bridegroom will have much to tell his parents when he brings his bride "home."

They'll probably have a laugh when he tells them how he went into a men's clothing store and ordered "flannels," thinking he was asking for dress pants.

"That's what they're called in Pretoria," he said.

Ivan speaks English and Afrikaans, a form of South African Dutch. "I'm already learning the language," Sue said.

SPORTS BACKGROUND

In addition to his schooling Ivan has a background of cricket rugby playing and sales work.

"I fully intended to go to Russia, and we had quite a few debates about that," Sue said.

The mission student was valedictorian of her high school. "My class prophecy was that I would be a missionary in Africa," she said, "but I told the other students they were very wrong."

When she cuts the combined round and square-tiered wedding cake Sunday, she'll be even closer to proving that the prediction of her fellow students was more true than even they realized.

Sue said.

PLAN FUTURE — Sue Wilson and Ivan Uys study the globe as they map out the course of their lives together. The two are to be married on the campus of Michigan Christian College in Avon Township Sunday. In August, they leave for Ivan's home in Pretoria, South Africa. They will take up missionary work there.

Lights-Out Demonstration Marks Bribery Trial Start

Former Royal Oak Township police lieutenant Annal Ruffin, 41, today interrupted his bribery and extortion trial in Circuit Court to enter a surprise plea of guilty to the bribery charge, a misdemeanor. He was placed on two years' probation and given a suspended sentence of 90 days in jail and $100 fine.

Testimony of a Royal Oak Township numbers racket operator and a light-out demonstration by state police marked the opening yesterday of the extortion and bribery trial of a former Royal Oak Township police lieutenant, Annal Ruffin.

The numbers operator told the jury in Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer's courtroom that he had been paying Ruffin $25 a month for two years.

Ruffin, 41, is accused of taking bribes to permit gambling in the township.

State Police Trooper John

Aird's testimony was interrupted and the courtroom plunged into darkness for a demonstration of how violet light revealed a special fluorescent powder on two crucial prosecution exhibits.

ADMITTS EVIDENCE

The exhibits, a pair of white coveralls and $25 in currency, were admitted into evidence by Judge Beer over the objections of defense attorney Milton R. Henry of Pontiac that they had been obtained in an illegal search and seizure.

Aird testified that he found the $25 in the pants cuff of the coveralls, which he said he took from Ruffin when the ex-policeman was arrested a year ago in a home he was building in the township.

Aird said he had dusted the bills with the special powder earlier that day before giving them to the numbers operator, whom he also outfitted with a miniature tape recorder.

Ruffin was arrested after meeting the racketeer in the unfinished home and gave a signal to Aird and a state police detective.

Mother of 10 Killed in Shelby Twp. Collision

SHELBY TOWNSHIP—Charged with negligent homicide in a two-car collision which killed a mother of 10, Castro Pettway, 24, of Detroit stood mute yesterday and was released on $1,000 bond.

He appeared before Justice Francis A. Castellucci, Mount Clemens, an Oct. 14 Circuit Court examination date was set.

Mrs. Bethel Capps, 37, of 11695 21 Mile Road was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, after the accident Tuesday night.

The crash occurred when Pettway drove out of a parking lot on Van Dyke between Southfield and Smalley streets.

Pettway and his passengers, Edward Sharp, 37, and Donald Williams, 31, all of Detroit, were not injured.

Left without a mother were six daughters; Alma, Sharon, Kathy and Tammy, all at home, Glenda F. Painter of Tennessee and Mrs. Brenda Parson of Rochester; and four sons, James, Herbert, Edward and Kevin, all at home.

Also surviving is Mrs. Capps' husband, Dale.

Pair Speaks Vows

In Auburn Heights

AUBURN HEIGHTS — United First Presbyterian Church was the setting for the recent candlelight wedding of Darlene McLaughlin and James C. Douglas.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLaughlin, 885 Slocum. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Herman Douglas, 2910 Brimfield, and the late Mr. Douglas.

Wearing a waist-length gown of silk organza, featuring a bouffant silk embroidered skirt, the bride carried a white carnation and ivory bouquet centered with a pink rose corsage.

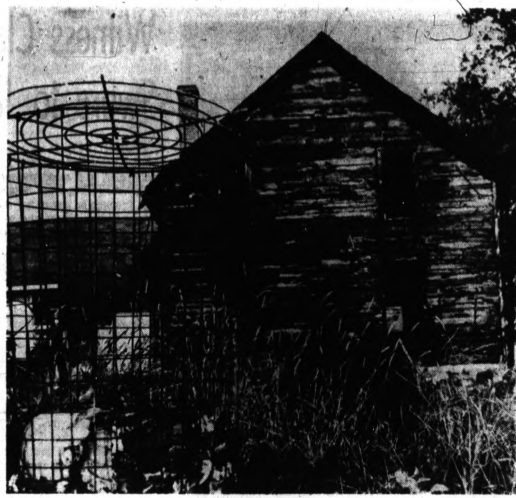

Her veil of French illusion was attached to a pearl and crystal tiara.

Mrs. Dale McLaughlin of Pontiac was matron of honor for her sister-in-law.

Best man was John Frisch of Utica. The guests were seated by Dan Butler and Glen Uhl of Waterford Township, brothers-in-law of the bridegroom.

After a reception at the bridegroom's home, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to northern Michigan.

ONE SPARK — Before yesterday's fire at the Walter Schmidt farm, 14400 30-Mile Road, Washington Township, a two-story building stood between this trash burner and the house. Fanned by a stiff breeze, a spark from burning papers spread to the dry storage building. It was quickly consumed, and Schmidt's once white-frame home was severely damaged before the fire was contained.

Fire Razes Shed, Burns House

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP — "It was gone in just a few minutes," he thought aloud, surveying the remains.

Walter Schmidt, 14400 30 Mile Road, gained a new fear of fire yesterday. He lost a two-story wood and storage shed in flames which also caused extensive damage to his large home.

"He almost lost his house," Romeo Fire Chief Walter Werth said today. The chief estimated damage at about $10,000.

Mrs. Schmidt alerted the fire department shortly after 8 a.m.

BUILDING GONE

When the men arrived, the storage building was gone and the rear of the house was in flames.

Schmidt said the fire started when a spark from the trash burner was carried by a heavy breeze some 30 feet to the shed. "By golly, that dry wood went up in minutes," the dairy farmer exclaimed.

The fire jumped the 15-foot span between the shed and the house.

NEW SHOTGUN

"I never thought to grab my new shotgun," Schmidt said. "I don't have any clothes left," his wife added, wandering into the charred kitchen.

The Schmidts were able to get some of their furniture and other belongings out of the house before the fire, heat and smoke destroyed them.

They still have part of their house to live in. No one was injured, and the house and contents were partially insured.

The service, which starts at 10:30 a.m., is open to members of all denominations. The church is located just north of Wattles Road.

Troy Church to Dedicate New Organ at Service

TROY—The First Presbyterian Church, 4230 Livernois, will dedicate its new organ, Communion liness and memorial shrubbery at world wide communion services Sunday.

The service, which starts at 10:30 a.m., is open to members of all denominations. The church is located just north of Wattles Road.

Now begins the job of cleaning, salvaging and rebuilding the rear of the house.

All because of one spark and a breeze.

Spread of Tax to Be Advised

Oakland County Corporation Counsel Robert Allen said today he will advise the County Board time of Supervisors to spread taxes in a dozen communities in spite of an incomplete study of assessments will be due in these communities by the State Tax Commission.

Otherwise, tax collections in the affected communities could be delayed as much as 90 days and might force three school districts to borrow operating funds for the period.

Allen was to issue his legal opinion to proceed at a meeting of the board's tax committee this afternoon.

It will then be up to the board of supervisors to decide whether to proceed at a meeting Monday.

ADVERSE DECISION

An adverse decision would prevent levying school taxes in the three school districts of Southfield Oak Park and Birmingham.

These districts include sections of Troy, Bloomfield Hills, Lathrup Village, Beverly Hills, Birmingham Farms, Franklin, Bloomfield Township, Royal Oak Township and West Bloomfield Township as well as Southfield, Oak Park and Birmingham.

Allen said he was basing his opinion on sections of federal and state laws that permit a levy of taxes to meet bond issue obligations.

Because the three school districts have bond issues that must be paid back in part at this time, the taxes can be levied, he said.

If the board of supervisors concurs with Allen's opinion, taxes will be due in these communities by the regular Jan. 19 deadline.

In the event the State Tax Commission revises assessments in these communities, some taxpayers would get refunds while others would have to pay more.

Fund Drive to Aid Troy Amputee, 9

TROY—A group of residents here is organizing a citywide fund drive for 9-year-old Michael McKenzie of 853 DeEtta, whose right leg was amputated last week.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Henry McKenzie, is recovering from the recent birth of her ninth child.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie earlier rejected their neighbors' offers of monetary assistance, but after much urging they agreed to accept it.

Michael was suffering from cancer in his ankle. He is presently in Children's Hospital, Detroit.

"Our hearts all go out to Michael," said Mrs. John T. Jordan, of 865 DeEtta.

"This is the only thing we can do to help him."

The drive is slated to begin at 7 p.m. Monday, with volunteers visiting only those houses where the porch lights are lighted.

Hospital Unit Tells Doubling of Patient Cost

LANSING — The average daily cost per patient in Michigan hospitals has more than doubled in the last 10 years, reports the Michigan Hospital Association.

The average cost of $19.22 in 1952 rose to $40.33 a day in 1962, said the association in its annual report based on answers to questionnaires sent to the state's 254 hospitals.

Patient care expenditures rose about 6 per cent in 1962, compared to 1961, as $510.1 million was spent. More than two-thirds of patient care costs went for hospital personnel.

The association also reported that on any given day, 47 per cent of all patients in Michigan hospitals were in psychiatric institutions, even though only four-fifths per cent of all admissions during 1962 were to psychiatric hospitals.

Witness Claims Christine Swore to Jail Ex-Lover

LONDON (UPI) — A witness testified today that call girl Christine Keeler, in a mood she never displayed to ex-War Minister John Profumo or any of her other famous friends, swore she would "get" a discarded Jamaican lover who had tried to see her again.

A capacity crowd in Dingy Marybone Magistrate's Court heard further revelations of the other side of the double life of the girl who started the Profumo scandal with tea on the state's laws of Lord Astor's estate.

The witness, bearded West Indian Clarence Camachio, said he was present the night of April 17-18 when Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon, a jazz singer, grappled with her at the door of her home.

"I'm going to get him," he quoted the 21-year-old redhead as saying later. "I'm not going to let him get away with this."

CONSPIRACY
Miss Keeler and three codefendants are being given a hearing in Magistrate's Court on charges of conspiracy and perjury in framing Gordon into a three-year jail term.

His sentence was quashed by the court of criminal appeal.

you saw any blood on her at any time?"
"Certainly no blood at all," Camachio replied.

Press Enthusiastic

Greeks Warm for Jackie

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — The Greek press greeted Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy with warm enthusiasm today and the public respected her wish for a restful vacation in privacy.

There were some reports she might leave her rented seaside villa today to meet King Paul at the royal palace.

One Greek newspaper, reporting the arrival of the President's wife yesterday for a two-week vacation, called her "more beautiful than on her first visit here two years ago."

All of Athens' morning newspapers carried front-page photos of Mrs. Kennedy smiling at Chrysanthemis Papacostis, the 12-year-old Greek girl who had a heart operation in the United States through the First Lady's intercession.

PRaise SUIT
Two Greek women reporters praised Mrs. Kennedy's black suit and simple long, straight hairdo.

The President's wife went straight to the villa overlooking the Aegean Sea 45 miles from Athens. She spent the evening resting from the long jet flight from New York, during which she requested oxygen because she was tired, according to a spokesman.

Greeks respected her desire for privacy while recovering from the death of her third child Aug. 7, less than two days after his birth.

Local residents did not hang around the villa, and the only visible fans were a vacationing British couple who waited in vain for three hours in a car on the road near the villa for a glimpse of Mrs. Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy was met at the airport by her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, who spent part of the evening with her at the villa and then met with Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis to plan the cruise aboard his yacht Christina.

An average family today has as much life insurance as 25 years ago and at least four times as much in personal savings, according to government estimates.

For 1964...Comet announces a car that's every bit as hot as it looks...

Comet Caliente

This is the beginning of a new kind of Comet. Hot, husky, handsome—top series in Comet's robust new lineup. Engines range up to a 4-barrel Cyclone 289 cu. in. V-8 in all 1964 Comets.

"Caliente" means hot...

In Spanish. And this new Comet speaks the language. Notice its bold lines and new, wider, road-gripping stance. It looks hot. And it is! Take your pick from four engines: two V-8's including a big new optional Cyclone 289 cu. in. V-8, most responsive in the compact-price field. Two lively, thrifty "6's" round out the line. And with this hot new engine choice comes a far wider choice of Comets.

Now Comet offers 3 series...

each bold and racy: the top-of-the-line Caliente, and the economical Comet 202 and 404 series. Ten models in all...convertibles, sedans, hardtops, wagons, bucket-seaters. Big choice of transmissions, too. Comet has four of the best—both manual and automatic—including a smooth, silent new Multi-Drive Merc-O-Matic like nothing this side of the costliest luxury cars.

Elegance at a compact price

The prime example of Comet elegance is Comet's finest series, the Caliente. It's in a class by itself...with the warm look of walnut on its dash, steering wheel and door panels...lavish biscuit-pattern upholstery...and unusual spaciousness for a compact-price car.

Power steering... power brakes...

AM-FM radio...air conditioning...every luxury option is available. You can even get...but not there's only one way to learn all about the new Comet. Ask your Mercury dealer.

Negro Held in Latest B'ham Blast

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A young Negro was charged with arson today in the investigation of a gas explosion which destroyed a meat market in a Negro residential area of bomb-jittery Birmingham.

Police Capt. J. W. Garrison said two detectives are investigating the possibility of racial undertones in Wednesday night's explosion.

The Negro, Johnny Lewis Ruffin, 20, was placed under police custody less than two hours after an explosion rocked the single story brick store, operated by white owners.

QUESTIONED AT HOSPITAL

Garrison said Ruffin was questioned at University Hospital, where he was treated for burns of the left arm, side and thigh. Ruffin said he received the burns from a gasoline stove where he worked.

Ruffin was picked up by a cab about a block away from the store explosion, Garrison said. The store is ringed by Negro low-income homes in northwest Birmingham.

Police sped to the scene when the explosion report was received and ringed off the area from traffic. There was no rioting or disturbances, and Negroes in the neighborhood stood quietly in front of their homes.

The store is located about 16 blocks away from the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church, which was bombed on Sept. 15, killing four Negro girls.

The "action" is provided by the type of engines that have made Mercury the new performance champion of the medium-price field—demonstrated in open competition including the latest Pikes Peak Climb. A 390 cu. in. V-8 is standard, a 427 V-8 optional.

'64 Mercurys are also available with Breezeaway Design

Mercury delivers more than the usual in all these ways: more performance, with the most responsive engines in its field. More leg room, head room, and entry room. More usable trunk space—17.1 cu. ft., enough for 9 suitcases and 2 golf bags! And a far greater styling choice: racy Marauder styling (above) or Breezeaway Design (left), with the only rear window that opens for refreshing ventilation, and stays clearer in rain or snow. Politicians, Locusts Always Return

Not-Running's the Thing to Do This Year

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Every fourth year of the Gregorian calendar, in the season corresponding roughly to the autumnal equinox, the earth becomes alive with not-runners.
There is a tendency on the part of little old ladies in sunbonnets to get not-runners confused with 17-year locusts. Actually, they are not at all similar.
The 17-year locust appears every 17th year whereas not-runners appear in odd-numbered years that immediately precede a presidential election year. But that is not the main difference.
The 17-year locust is a member of the Cicadidae family whereas the not-runner is a variety of politician. That is the main difference.
Specifically, not-runners may be defined as politicians who stay in the public eye by not-running for president.
Everywhere they go, they are asked if they are running for president and on each occasion they reply that they are not running at this time.
Some politicians I could name

Union Motion Nixed in Schools Dispute

A motion filed by United Skilled Maintenance Trades Employees (USMTE) to rehear its dispute with the Pontiac school board was denied this week.
Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams also declined to take new evidence in the case. He had originally dismissed the union's complaint in July.
The union's complaint in July stated that the school board failed to bargain in good faith. The USMTE sought a declaratory judgment and mandatory injunction in connection with a 1962 wage dispute.
Judge Clark ruled that the court had no jurisdiction over the subject matter in July.

of not-running so that we will know what to expect in the coming months.
In the early part of the year, not-runners are more or less stationary. That is, they not-run only in one place. A member of Congress not-runs in Washington and a governor not-runs in his home state.
But along about October, the not-running pace quickens. The most active not-runners — that is, those not-running the hardest — begin to move about and soon are not-running all over the country.
The not-running season reaches its peak when someone asks Harold Stassen if he is running.
Momentum built up by the not-runners carries over into January, but there it begins to taper off. At that time, many of the leading not-runners open campaign headquarters and thus lose their amateur standing.
Not-running is further impeded by the spring presidential primaries. It is difficult for a politician to run in a primary on one leg while not-running elsewhere on the other.
On rare occasions, a skilled not-runner can continue not-running right up to the national nominating convention. But by that time he is usually regarded as an also-ran.

PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICHES — Peanut butter goes with everything — just everything. Youngsters will eat bread or crackers with peanut butter for lunch or snacks. Give them some new combinations.

What Is Home Without Peanut Butter

An artistic array of peanut butter sandwiches paints a happy picture for lunchtime. Each creation has a flavor or texture that compliments the peanut butter. In one, slices of red-skinned apple add a special crunch. Bacon, brown sugar, cheese and shredded carrots are among the other choice accents to intrigue the appetite.

Peanut butter, a gold mine of nutrition, is a mainstay of most shelves. It is a lunchbox favorite either between slices of bread or as an ingredient in cookies.

Snack time finds the peanut butter spread on saltines, graham crackers or topped with marshmallows. A few minutes under the broiler toasts the marshmallows to a golden hue.

GRILLED PEANUT BUTTER 'N' APPLE SANDWICH — For each sandwich spread 1 slice of bread with 2 tablespoons peanut butter. Top with 4 or 5 fresh apple slices. Cover with the second slice of bread. Spread the outside of the bread with softened butter or margarine and place in a hot skillet. When toasted and brown on one side, turn to brown the other side.

PEANUT BUTTER 'N' CARROT SANDWICH — For each sandwich spread one slice of bread with 2 tablespoons of peanut butter. Blend together 1/4 cup shredded carrots, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise and 1 teaspoon of milk. Top peanut butter with carrot mixture. Cover with second slice of bread.

PEANUT BUTTER, BACON, 'N' SWEET SANDWICH — For each sandwich spread 1 slice of bread with 2 tablespoons of peanut butter. Crumble 2 slices of crispy cooked bacon and blend with 2 tablespoons brown sugar. Top peanut butter with bacon mixture. Cover with second slice of bread. Spread the outside of the bread with softened butter or margarine and place in a hot skillet. When toasted and brown on one side, turn to brown the other side.

PEANUT BUTTER 'N' MARSHMALLOW SANDWICH — For each sandwich spread 1 slice of bread with 2 tablespoons of peanut butter. Cut 3 marshmallows into halves and arrange on top of peanut butter. Put under the broiler until the marshmallows are toasted.

PEANUT BUTTER 'N' CHEESE SANDWICH — For each sandwich spread 1 slice of bread with 2 tablespoons peanut butter. Top peanut butter with 1 slice Swiss cheese. Add lettuce. Cover with second slice of bread.

PEANUT BUTTER 'N' ONION SANDWICH — For each sandwich spread 1 slice of bread with 2 tablespoons peanut butter. Top peanut butter with 2 tablespoons crumbled French fried onion rings. Put under the broiler until the onions are toasted.

PEANUT BUTTER BLT CLUB SANDWICH — (Bacon, Lettuce, and Tomato) For each sandwich, toast 3 slices of bread. Spread 1 slice of toast with 2 tablespoons peanut butter. Top with 3 strips of crispy fried bacon. Cover with second slice of toast. Spread second slice of toast with 2 tablespoons of peanut butter. Top with sliced tomato and lettuce. Cover with remaining piece of toast.

"Gee, I've never been this proud of toast before!
How long has white bread been round?"

Schafer's

Round n' good toast puts a new face on the breakfast table! Loves butter, jam and honey, not to mention syrup and cinnamon. Round slices look different to begin with — and cut into happy half-moons and wedges. Baking it in closed double pans locks in freshness and flavor. Round n' good's fine for sandwiches, too — fits all your favorite fillings and makes great French Toast. Pick up a loaf at your grocer's and put variety on your table. Serve Schafer's.

Three Recipes for Three Meals

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
You're still reading recipes and I'm still eating in Chicago.

Developed as a high-protein salad for warm Autumn days, Salmagundi Salad is made with three kinds of pickles. Salmagundi means a mixture. This salad is a good mixture.

Salmagundi Salad
8 hard-cooked eggs
1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/4 cup well-drained pickle relish
1 cup cooked peas
1/4 pound pasteurized process American cheese, cut into 1/4 inch cubes (about 1/4 cup)
1/4 cup toasted sliced almonds
1/4 cup well-drained dill pickles, chopped
1/4 cup well-drained sweet mixed pickle
3 tablespoons sweet mixed pickle juice
2 teaspoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 head of lettuce, washed, drained and chilled
Pimiento strips, if desired

SALMAGUNDI SALAD

Cut eggs in half lengthwise and remove egg yolks. Mash and sieve yolks and blend in 3 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing and pickle relish; mix well. Fill whites with egg yolk mixture. Cover and chill. Combine peas, cheese, almonds and pickles. Mix together pickle juice, sugar, salt, mustard and remaining mayonnaise or salad dressing. Add to pickle-cheese mixture; toss lightly to coat ingredients. Chill.

Cut lettuce head into 8 wedges. Holding wedges together, stand them up on end in salad bowl or arrange on chop plate spoke-fashion. Fill center and between

ple. From one of the companies comes this tasty ham loaf recipe.

Party Pine 'N' Ham Loaf
1 pound raw ham, ground
1/4 pound pork steak, ground
1/4 pound bulk pork sausage
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1 (1 1/2-ounce) can crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 1/2 teaspoons dill weed
1 1/2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
Pineapple Glaze

Have butcher grind meat. Mix meats with beaten eggs, milk, undrained pineapple, onion, seasonings and crumbs. Blend thoroughly. Shape into 8-inch round loaf on lightly greased shallow baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour.

Brush with Pineapple Glaze. Continue baking another 15 minutes brushing on glaze every 5 minutes. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Pineapple Glaze
Drain syrup from 1 (8 1/2-ounce) can pineapple slices. Combine with 2-3 cup brown sugar (packed), 2 teaspoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon catsup and 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard. Use for glazing ham loaf.

Arrange pineapple slices on loaf 5 minutes before taking from oven, securing with toothpicks, if needed. Garnish with maraschino cherries.

October 4 has been the date of a Roman festival honoring Ceres, the patroness of fruit and agriculture since 191 B.C. Through the ages the serving of a harvest cake on this day has been preserved in many countries.

The following recipe is an adaptation of an English harvest cake, one laden with raisins and fresh apple.

If you just can't get out of bed in time to make this for breakfast tomorrow morning, plan it for Sunday.

Raisin Harvest Coffee Cake
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup butter
2 cups finely chopped peeled cooking apples
1 1/4 cups dark seedless raisins
2 large eggs
1 tablespoon milk
Sugar for top

Resift flour with baking powder, salt and sugar into mixing bowl. Add butter and rub in with hands until mixture is like fine bread crumbs. Stir in apple and raisins. Add well beaten eggs and milk; beat thoroughly. Batter will be very stiff.

Spread evenly in well greased 9-inch square pan. Sprinkle gen-

Broiled Sandwich Is Good Supper Dish

Line baking dish with buttered toast. Cover with drained cooked broccoli, cooked chicken slices and canned pineapple slices.

Pour canned cheese or cream mushroom soup, thinned slightly with milk, over all and broil until hot through. This delicious meal in one needs only salad and beverage for accompaniment.

Economy Is Watchword

Are you always on the look-out for economical main dishes? Here's a list from the American Meat Institute to clip and refer to in planning your weekly menus.

• Broiled or pan-broiled hamburger patties.
• Franks wrapped with bacon and baked or broiled.
• Braised pork shoulder steaks.

• Beef tongue.
• Beef, veal or lamb stew with vegetables.
• Casserole of ground beef, macaroni and tomatoes.
• Pork sausage patties, baked or pan-fried.

PARTY PINE 'N' HAM LOAF

Halve Grapes for Pudding

That perennial favorite, rice pudding, goes mighty glamorous in the case of "Tokay Rice Pudding." Enhancing this dessert are ruby-hued Tokay grape halves, crushed pineapple, diced orange and grated lemon rind. Flame Tokay grapes provide crisp texture and a refreshing tart-sweet flavor in countless desserts and fruit salads. And a few Tokays tucked into lunch boxes insure pleasant noon-time eating.

Tokay Rice Pudding
3 cups Tokay grapes
1 can (8 1/2 oz.) crushed pineapple
2 cups cooked rice
1 cup diced fresh orange
1 cup whipping cream
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/4 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon salt
Halve and seed Tokays. Drain pineapple well. Combine grapes, pineapple, rice and orange. Whip cream with sugar and vanilla until stiff. Fold into fruit mixture. Stir in lemon rind and salt. Chill well. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Circles of Cookie Dough Fold Into Turnovers

Make turnovers out of sugar cookie dough! Roll dough 1/4-inch thick and cut out with a floured 4-inch cookie cutter or into 4-inch squares.

Place a generous teaspoon of thick jam on one side of center; moisten edge; fold over so edges meet and press together with fork tines. Place on greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven about 10 minutes.

Serve lemon juice on fruits, vegetables, and salads for a low-calorie dressing.

Ice Cream Is Eye Opener

Here's a novel idea—breakfast in a parfait glass! It's a delectable fruit, cereal and ice cream combination all in one, for easy serving and pleasant eating. Try Breakfast Parfaits on your family—kids love them!

Since it takes a little time to make this creation look balanced and attractive, you'll want to save it for special occasions like Sunday or company breakfasts, rather than trying to do it for the family on a hurry-up weekday morning.

Breakfast Parfaits are simple to do, however, and the variations are endless. Use your imagination and whatever fruits you have on hand—fresh, canned or frozen.

For delicious parfaits, alternate fresh sliced peaches, fresh raspberries, and a bite-size breakfast cereal with stirred, softened ice cream in parfait glasses. Make 'em even more luscious by adding extra ice cream.

For a change, use fresh blueberries, strawberries, boysenberries or cherries, all in season and delightfully refreshing.

Breakfast Parfaits

1 quart vanilla ice cream
6 cups dry breakfast cereal
½ cup sliced fresh peaches
½ cup fresh raspberries

Allow ice cream to soften in refrigerator. In mixing bowl break up ice cream with wooden spoon, then stir until uniformly softened. ("Stirred" ice cream will hold nicely in freezer, if necessary, while fruit is prepared.) Alternate layers of cereal, fruit and softened ice cream in glasses. Serve immediately.

Ground Liver and Bacon Go in Sandwich

When school is out for summer vacation, the children are home almost every day for lunch. As guardian of the health of your growing youngsters and teenagers, it's your responsibility to prepare a well-balanced noon meal.

In case you're running low on original ideas for speedy, yet nutritious lunches, here's a suggestion offered by home economist Reba Staggs.

Prepare Liver and Bacon Spread to keep on hand in the refrigerator. For serving, simply spread between slices of bread, including a lettuce leaf if you wish.

The sandwich spread is sure to win approval of nearly everyone. What a tasty manner of serving the most nutritious of meats!

Liver and Bacon Spread
4 slices bacon
1 pound thinly sliced beef or pork liver
½ cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon pickle relish
½ cup mayonnaise

Cut bacon into small pieces and cook until crisp. Remove bacon. Cook liver slowly in bacon drippings, turning occasionally, about 5 minutes. Put liver through food chopper.

Combine bacon, liver, celery, onion, salt, pickle relish and mayonnaise. Mix well. Yield: 2 cups.

Skillet Barbecued Franks Are Spicy

Not too spicy a sauce, with frankfurters, so the whole family will enjoy this main dish.

Barbecued Frankfurters

1 pound (8 to 10) frankfurters
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 small onion, cut in thin strips
1 small green pepper, cut in thin strips
½ cup catchup
½ cup water
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon paprika

Make 3 or 4 diagonal cuts in each frankfurter, but not all the way through. Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet over low heat; add onion and green pepper; cook until wilted. Add catchup, water, vinegar, Worcestershire and paprika; mix well.

Add frankfurters, spooning sauce over them. Cover and simmer (do not boil) for about 10 minutes or until frankfurters are hot through. Makes 4 servings.

"COLD-START" FRENCH FRIES — In a revolutionary method of cooking French fried potatoes cold vegetable oil is poured over a layer of raw potatoes. Fifteen to twenty minutes later you turn off the heat, remove potatoes with slotted spoon and drain on paper towels.

Nectarine Sauce Is for Summer Pancakes

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Summer's nectarine has a lot to offer.

Smooth skin (no peeling necessary) and delightful flavor are two of the best attributes of this relative of the peach.

Undoubtedly you serve nectarines to eat out of hand, but there are also other delicious ways to treat this fruit.

Nectarines make refreshing salads. Toss them with cottage cheese or cream cheese and salad greens. Or add them to other summer fruits.

Poach whole or halved nectarines in a vanilla-flavored sugar syrup for a French-style compote. Or concoct Nectarine Melba—scoops of vanilla ice cream topped with halved poached nectarines and raspberry sauce.

Brush nectarine halves with melted butter and sprinkle their cavities with sugar; broil until heated through and serve with bacon and scrambled eggs for breakfast. Or let these broiled nectarines accompany baked ham or pork chops for dinner.

Fold sliced or diced nectarines into gelatin desserts—plain, Spanish, Bavarian or snow-melting variety.

And consider trying this recipe for Tender Pancakes with Nectarine Sauce. It was liked so much at our house that four of us ate up what is designed for six! We served this dish for a summer evening company snack, but it's also perfect brunch fare.

TENDER PANCAKES WITH NECTARINE SAUCE

6 nectarines
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup and 1 tablespoon water
Pinch of salt
½ lemon, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons butter
Tender Pancakes
Slice nectarines. In a sauce-

Molded Cheese Salad Served on Fruit Slices

Molded cheese salad with a bite that brings out the flavor of melon and fruit.

Rainbow Ring-Around Salad

1 envelope plain gelatin
2 cups milk
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon grated onion
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
6 3-oz. packages cream cheese
4 ounces Roquefort or Blue cheese
12 cantaloupe slices
Fresh fruit
Soak gelatin in ¼ cup milk and dissolve in remaining milk, which has been heated to the boiling point. Add salt, grated onion and Worcestershire sauce; chill until slightly thickened.

Blend softened cheeses thoroughly and fold gelatin mixture into cheese. Mix well and pour into oiled paper soufflé cups. Chill until firm.

Arrange cantaloupe slices on tray and top each with a pineapple slice; unmold Roquefort salad and place in center of fruit salads. Serve a selection of other fruits with the salad. Makes 12 servings.

pan over low heat, stir together the sugar, ¼ cup water and salt until sugar dissolves; bring to a boil. Add lemon; simmer 5 to 10 minutes.

Mix cornstarch and 1 tablespoon water; stir into hot mixture. Cook, stirring gently, until slightly thickened and clear. Remove from heat. Stir in butter and nectarines.

Reheat gently just before pancakes are finished. Spoon some of sauce over each pancake; fold in half. Accompany pancakes with remaining sauce.

TENDER PANCAKES

1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 eggs
¼ cup milk
½ cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons butter, melted and cooled
¼ cup finely chopped blanched almonds
Butter for frying

Sift together the flour, salt and sugar. Beat eggs with milk and cream just to combine; gradually stir into flour mixture keeping smooth. Stir in butter and almonds.

Generously brush a 6-inch skillet with butter and heat; hold skillet off heat and pour in 2 tablespoons butter; swirl off heat so mixture covers pan. Brown rapidly on both sides; turn out. Generously brushing skillet each time, continue making pancakes; keep them warm until batch is finished. Makes about 18 pancakes.

Canned Corn Makes Good New Salad

Warm weather calls for a change of pace. The change carries over to mealtime, too! Crisp, chilled salads are center front. One of the most appealing is a salad bouquet of vegetables. It's a perfect accompaniment to a lazy-daisy meal.

Easy-to-Patio Corn Salad meets all the requirements. It's crunchy with cucumber and refreshingly different—guaranteed to spark the special goodness of outdoor eating.

The corn in the salad is the year 'round favorite, vacuum-packed canned corn.

Patio Corn Salad

Two 12-oz. cans vacuum-pack golden whole kernel corn, well drained
¼ cup diced unpared cucumber
¼ cup diced onion
2 small tomatoes, coarsely chopped and drained
¼ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon celery seed

Lightly mix drained canned corn with cucumber, onion and tomato in medium-sized bowl. Blend sour cream with mayonnaise or salad dressing and remaining ingredients. Add to first mixture, tossing gently to just coat vegetables. Chill thoroughly. To serve, spoon into iceberg lettuce cups. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Start French Fries in Cold Vegetable Oil

Old myths and fancies flew out the window at the Newspaper Food Editors Conference in Chicago.

Food editors learned that it's not at all necessary to preheat oil or fat to cook the very finest French fried potatoes; not necessary to have the oil reach very high temperatures; nor to measure the oil temperature. Special utensils are not required either.

The new way — called "Cold-Start" — French fries the potatoes in the pure vegetable oil heats in a large skillet. Both fresh potatoes and the frozen French fried kind cook beautifully this way — dry and meaty inside, golden crisp outside.

Here are the directions:

• Pare potatoes and cut as for French fries into strips approximately ¼-inch wide. Dry well.

• Put potato strips in single layer in large skillet.

• Pour in just enough pure vegetable oil to cover them, and stir.

• Turn heat to medium high or if electric skillet, set at 350 to 370 degrees.

• Stir occasionally to keep potatoes separated.

• Cook 15 to 20 minutes depending upon brownness desired.

12 minutes.)

• Turn off heat. Remove potatoes with slotted spoon; drain on paper towels; salt and serve.

If you need a second batch the oil will not be too hot to give good results. Just put the potatoes in and turn on the heat again.

Almonds, sauteed in bottled lemon juice and dipped in sugar, are wonderful when sprin-

Good on Plain Cake

For a hot lemon sauce, combine ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch and a dash of salt. Gradually add 1 cup hot water and cook until thick and clear. Add 2 tablespoons butter and 1½ tablespoons bottled lemon juice. Blend thoroughly. Makes 1½ cups.

Fat Stays White

Ever use bacon drippings instead of other fat in cornbread? When you cook the bacon be sure to do so over very low heat so the drippings will stay white. Refrigerate the bacon fat, covered, until baking time.

Hungarian Veal Is Simmered

Whether it's a meat entree, casserole, pastry or salad, Hungary has for centuries been a land of elegant dishes. Unique flavor combinations, a blending of spices and frequent use of sour cream make their cooking acclaimed at home and abroad.

One national dish, Veal Paprikash, deserves attention at a special meal. Meat expert Reba Staggs, reminds you that veal cubes, as well as steaks and chops, require slow braising.

Veal Paprikash

1/2 pound fresh pork sausage
2 pounds boneless veal, cut in 1-inch cubes
3 tablespoons flour
1-3 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1/4 cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream
3 cups cooked noodles
1 tablespoon butter or margarine.
1 brown poppy seeds

Brown sausage lightly. Remove from frying pan. Dredge veal with flour. Sprinkle any remaining flour over meat. Brown in sausage drippings. Pour off drippings.
Add sausage, onion, green pepper, salt, paprika and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1 1/2 hours, or until done. Add sour cream and heat through.
Mix together hot noodles, butter or margarine and poppy seeds. Serve meat over noodles 6 servings.

Raisin Meringue Kisses

Grace Table at Tea

These light lovely beauties are attractive on the tea table. Beat 1/2 cup whites until frothy; add 1/2 cup sugar gradually, beating until stiff. Fold in 1 cup chopped raisins and 1/2 teaspoon almond extract. Bake on foil covered baking sheet in slow oven (250 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Cool before taking from foil. Makes 18 kisses.

SURPRISE PANCAKES — No ordinary pancakes, these. Beginning in a mix box they emerge a dramatic adventure in new taste because a subtle blend of herbs and spices has been added.

Aromatic Bitters Give Pancakes New Taste

As a menu possibility, pancakes are too often overlooked. They have infinite varieties and uses and the smart homemaker does well to have them in the back of her planning mind at all times. When nothing else seems to suit, try pancakes.

But please, not just pancakes. They may well all start with the same mix, but you are the wise one who can transform convenience foods into powerfully dramatic presentations.

Take these particular pancakes, for instance. They have rare flavor, a continental lightness that seems to recall an art of pancake-making long forgotten. Each forkful is eaten with deep appreciation, and wonder is expressed that pancakes can taste like this.

Why can't we have these often? Like tomorrow. Or when the kids come over Saturday. Or after church Sunday.

No reason. You've got the mix and the bitters. Once you get to know what remarkable flavor variations you can accomplish with this single blend of herbs and spices, you'll never be without it.

It is this flavoring and seasoning agent that makes an extraordinary pancake mix an extraordinary

Chill Dough in Juice Can Then Bake

Make up these refrigerator cookies and bake them as needed.

Brown Sugar Cookies

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
1/2 cup medium-fine chopped walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter and brown sugar; beat in egg thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients, then walnuts.

Pack firmly into empty frozen fruit-juice concentrate (6-ounce size) cans; cover tightly with foil or plastic wrapping; dough will almost fill 3 cans. Chill several hours or overnight.

Remove bottom of can; use bottom to force out dough. Slice 1/2-inch to 3/4-inch thick. Place, several inches apart, on lightly greased cookie sheets; bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven for 8 to 12 minutes.

Do not overbake; cookies should be a pale brown color.

Strips of Pepper Fried for Variety

Ever try this way of cooking green peppers?

Fried Peppers

1 pound long thin tapered light-colored green peppers
2 to 4 tablespoons olive oil
1 clove garlic, peeled and halved
Salt and pepper

Halve peppers lengthwise and remove seeds and membranes. Cut into strips that are about 3/4-inch wide; if peppers are very long, they may be halved crosswise.

In a large skillet, heat olive oil with garlic; cover and cook, turning often, until peppers are as soft and brown as you like. Remove garlic. Add salt and pepper to taste. Makes 4 servings.

Pour Off the Fat

Some cooks always pour off the fat as it collects in the skillet during the frying of bacon in the belief that this procedure helps make the bacon extra crisp; other cooks do not agree with this proposition. Try this way and judge for yourself.

Make With Pineapple

Combine equal amounts of canned pineapple juice and freshly brewed tea. Keep hot. Dash with brandy. Serve with orange peel and cinnamon stick swirls. This fashionably different drink has a zesty pleasing flavor.

If your yeast bread is heavy, it may be that the water you used for dissolving the yeast was too hot.

Drink Breakfast If You're Dieting

Dieting does not mean starvation. As a nutritious yet slimming way to start your day.

Any fresh fruit may be added as flavoring for your egg-nog.

Energy Egg Nog
1 cup skim milk
1 whole egg
1 tablespoon honey (or 1/4 cup of crushed fresh fruit)
Place all ingredients in blender and blend with an egg beater.

Does Double Duty

Kitchen thrift: If you use waxed paper on which to sift dry ingredients when you are baking, fold up the paper when you are through and put it in your sifter so it will be ready for the same job another time. However, if spices were in the dry ingredient mixture, you had better discard the paper.

Don't forget that salads may be served as a first course!

Tell When Extra Guest Is Coming

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Last Sunday my husband and I and our daughter were invited to dinner at my son and daughter-in-law's house. That day my husband's older brother arrived unexpectedly from out of town to spend a few days with us. I understand my daughter-in-law thought this was a terrible thing to do and that I had no right to bring him along.

I would not dream of bringing a stranger to someone else's house for dinner, but considering that he is a relative and we were going to the house of a member of my family, I see nothing wrong in what I did. Will you please give me your opinion on this?

A: Even though you were going to the house of a member of your family, you should have called your daughter-in-law first to ask whether it was all right to bring Uncle John along.

It could be very embarrassing and distressing to a hostess who has prepared just enough food for her guests, to have an extra one arrive unannounced at the last moment.

Q: Our company is planning to send out formal invitations to a large dinner they are giving in several months. However, they want to keep it informal as far as dress is concerned. How is this indicated on the invitations?

A: Include the words, "Informal Dress" in the lower right hand corner of the invitations opposite the R.S.V.P.

Q: May wedding invitations be engraved on colored paper? I would like to have mine made up on pale blue paper. Would this be in good taste?

A: Pale blue, or any other color for that matter, is not in good taste for wedding invitations. The conventional color is white or cream.

The Emily Post Institute entitled, "Table Rules of Importance" describes how to eat spaghetti as well as other difficult foods. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of the Pontiac Press.

Presenting Charles A. Wilson, minister of music, with a plaque for his 25 years as organist and choirmaster at First Congregational Church is Mrs. Carl Leonard, one of the church choir soloists. The presentation was made at a dinner honoring Mr. Wilson Wednesday. Watching is Mrs. E. C. Russell, chairman of the music board sponsoring the occasion. Mr. Wilson played a recital on the new Casavant organ following the dinner.

Dinner Honors Church Organist

More than 350 friends and music lovers attended the parish dinner honoring Charles A. Wilson at First Congregational Church Wednesday evening. A recital and dedication of the new Casavant organ followed.

The festive event marked Mr. Wilson's 25 years of service as organist and choirmaster. The new organ dedicated to him will be known as the Charles A. Wilson organ.

Mrs. E. C. Russell, chairman of the music board, introduced Robert Reynolds, toastmaster.

ONLY MEMBER

In his remarks, Mr. Reynolds spoke of Mrs. Dora C. Dawson as the only member of the music board still in the church who had been responsible for hiring Mr. Wilson. It seems the committee visited a church in Detroit, heard the organist play and decided he was the one.

"A new choir member, Linda Sutton, is the fourth generation to sing at First Congregational," said Mr. Reynolds.

"Her great-grandfather, the late John Allhouse, former superintendent of mails at Pontiac Post Office; her mother, Mrs. George Sutton; and her father, Max, a current soloist, have preceded her."

Club to Hold Dance

The Widow and Widowers Club will meet Tuesday evening from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Italian-American Club on North Tilden Street. Round and square dancing are featured at the weekly meetings.

WCTU Will Meet

The Dora B. Whitney Union of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. E. R. McKee on Waldo Street.

Mrs. Max Kerns met with her workers to discuss plans for the ten-day campaign to begin Oct. 15.

Lake Angelus women expect to raise $3,045 of the women's campaign goal of $9,761 according to Mrs. Kerns. The 1963 goal is based on the amount raised last year.

Mrs. William Brace, 1963's women's campaign chairman, and Virginia Loveland of the women's division staff attended the meeting at the home of Mrs. Kerns and reviewed procedures and materials for the group.

Other directors of the Lake Angelus campaign are: Mrs. Merle Yockey, Mrs. Philip Hartrick, Mrs. Robert Lake, Mrs. Walter Hines, Mrs. Louis Golden, Mrs. Alton Deuster, Mrs. W. H. Wilnot, and Mrs. Alan S. Gray.

Waterford solicitors can attend training sessions at either 10 a.m. or 1 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 8 at the C.A.I. Building. Pontiac women will meet at the Community Service Building on Franklin Boulevard at either 10 a.m. or 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 9.

Mrs. Brace will be assisted in Pontiac by Mrs. William Freyermuth and in Waterford by Mrs. Clark Eastley. Mrs. Robert C. Anderson, speaker bureau chairman, will instruct volunteers and present a skit. Solicitation materials will be available at all sessions.

A Kaleidoscope of Ideas Greet Food Editors at Chicago Parley

Executive Women's Editor
CHICAGO—New wrappings for old familiar products... Mr. Peanut and his party book... the future Earl of Sandwich... a magician... Bergen Evans... a new food plant and two new cookbooks. Is it any wonder that my thoughts resemble a kaleidoscope?

We're just over the halfway point of the Food Editors Conference. Most of us have gotten our second wind, thanks in part to a 9 o'clock start on Wednesday instead of the usual 8 o'clock.

At the Swiss and Co. breakfast Tuesday who should be in the group but Mary Meyer. The first Mary did the demonstrating at the Press Cooking School in 1962 and the second Mary was the assistant last January. Both have since joined the home economics staff of Swift.

Luncheon with the Borden people is like having a family party. This company is part of the conference every year and always has an impressive list of new products to announce.

The most interesting one this year is their canned egg nog which needs no refrigeration. With it, egg nog will no longer be limited to the holiday season.

COOL IDEA

The revolutionary way of preparing French-fried potatoes with cold oil should be in the Market Basket Section of the Press this week; we saw it demonstrated here and had a chance to taste the results, which are good.

Instead of giving out treats to Halloween beggars, we editors got our own "trick or treat" bags full of goodies.

After a fast-moving session to introduce Planters' Peanut's new party book, Standard Brands, our host, gave us a Halloween party.

Next year, John Edward Hollister Montagu, Viscount Hinchinbrooke, who will one day be the 11th Earl of Sandwich, will help Seven-Up officials open their pavilion at the New York World's Fair.

On Tuesday he was at our conference to participate in a preview of the sandwiches to be served at the fair.

A student at Trinity College, Cambridge University, Lord Hinchinbrooke is a very tall, slender young man who makes his own sandwiches for snacks. For a meal he likes partridge with radishes and salad on brown bread.

REAL MAGIC

How long is it since you've been fascinated by a magician? The Great Christopher, who caused J. Edgar Hoover to say after a performance, "I don't know whether to take you into custody or hire you," presented a magic show centered around food in general and General Mills' New Betty Crocker Cooky Cookbook in particular.

Even the menu was magic. The lobster cocktail was fun (dry ice in the water under it). The main course was Phantom Birds (Chicken Kiev) on a bed of wild rice. Salad was black magic grape and orange. Hocus pocus hums have to be seen to be believed; you'll have the recipe next week. Silk scarf parfaits and horseshoe cookies completed the dinner. More fun.

After a brunch Wednesday with the Morton Salt Co. and a look at their sculptures, we saw displays of four other companies. Most interesting was the one set up by Chemurgy Division of Central Soya.

You can't imagine how many food products contain soy products. The one I tried was a frozen dessert that contains no dairy products, but tastes like ice cream.

Pet Milk Co. introduced its new Imperial Raspberry Pie at the luncheon. This is a whipped cream-topped fresh fruit pie that needs only to be defrosted.

TEEN FOOD FAIDS

Three doctors discussed teen-agers and their food problems at a stimulating session hosted by the R. T. French Co. Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Bergen Evans, nationally known TV and radio personality, in a humorous talk, noted that American parents are not alone in their bewilderment at the speech and actions of teenagers.

"The really sophisticated, way-out young Russians, in order to drive comrades father and mother utterly wild, use American terminology. They address each other as 'zhentlemen' and refer lightly to the Kremlin as the White House."

Dr. L. W. Combs, director of the Student Health Center at Purdue University, stated, "Our American youth in too many instances is overfed, overprotected and physically lazy... We need to return to a sensible attitude about diets."

And Dr. J. L. Bordenave, Geneva, Ill., said the most difficult problem of all is trying to reach the adolescent. Their immature judgment refuses to recognize the possible dangers of illnesses in later life as a result of their food fads.

PLEASANT KITCHENS

All the food editors sighed with envy as we were guided through the test kitchens of the new Kraft Foods plant. They look like such pleasant places in which to work.

To complete the day, Pillsbury entertained at dinner and "launched" its new Pillsbury Family Cookbook. Copies were delivered to our hotel rooms while we were eating, and I've done no more than look at the cover. Telling you about all the new cookbooks we have gotten this week will be an article in itself after I return.

Six different menus were served at dinner. What you ate depended on what color tag you drew as you entered the room. All the menus were taken from the new cookbooks. I had spinach soup, stuffed beef tenderloin, squash salad and cherry cheese cake.

The speaker of the evening was Emily Kimbrough, author and lecturer. Stunned in a chaise longue gown, the witty Miss Kimbrough entertained us with tales of her experiences, most of them funny.

But she was most serious as she said that she believes it is of utmost importance that we try to understand and appreciate the food customs of other countries.

Life-Saving Watch

With the start of the swimming season comes a new life-saving device: a cigarette pack-sized "wrist watch" that sprouts a balloon capable of supporting a 200-pound man.

YMCA Offers Class in Judo for Women

The Pontiac Young Men's Christian Association is offering a 10-week class in self-defense for women, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A former U.S. Air Force and YMCA instructor who holds the Judo Brown Belt will show how the average woman can escape from an attacker and how to disable him.

Students will be exposed to simulated attacks from both front and rear in order to practice the release and counter-attacks. Plenty of mat space is available for practice.

Classes are offered without obligation and will include demonstrations, with practical work and exercise.

Area Women Training for United Fund Drive

The first of five United Fund training sessions for the Pontiac area women's campaign was held today (Thursday) for Lake Angelus solicitors.

The group will work on projects for the Oakland County Children's Center and the Pontiac General Hospital. Members will also bring toys and clothing for Christmas mailing to the Kentucky Frontier Nursing Service, national philanthropy of the sorority.

Yankee Fiesta Held for Colombians

Visiting Colombians were hosted at a North American-style fiesta last night at the home of County Drain Commissioner and Mrs. Daniel W. Barry in Waterford Township.

Mrs. Barry arranged a Mexican buffet. Latin music was provided by a string and trumpet trio.

The Colombians joined in singing Spanish tunes that carried them 6,000 miles back to their homeland for the evening.

Delegates, who are official guests of Oakland County during their 10-day visit, include Gov. Gustavo Balseazar of the Valle de Cauca Department (state); Cesar Delgado, municipal council president of Cali; Jorge Herrera, a prominent businessman in Cali; Herman Borrero, Cali's public utilities director; and Pedro Caycedo, urban planning director of Cali.

OTHER GUESTS

Guests at the Barry's included Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shuttle of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen of Rochester, Dr. and Mrs. William Sims of Mount Clemens; and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Remick of Detroit.

Among the guests from Waterford Township were Mr. and Mrs. Felix Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Berryman, Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Schuler, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballard; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thornton.

Other guests of the evening were Assistant County Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Cy Owen and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hanson of Pontiac; and Anton Guyer, clerk of committees for the County Board of Supervisors.

STUDY GOVERNMENT

The Colombians, who are here to study methods of local government and economic development that might be applied to improving living conditions in their country, are scheduled to leave Sunday.

They will spend a couple of days in Washington, D. C., meeting with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and State Department officials before returning to Colombia.

Their visit here is in exchange for a recent tour by a county delegation in Colombia as a part of Alliance for Progress programs.

You Can Reestablish Credit Rating

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

DEAR Miss Feeley: We want to know what we can do, if anything, to bring our credit back in good standing. Over five years ago we had to go into debtor's court or lose everything because of lack of work.

Even the judge who handled our case said it was the only thing we could do. Up to the time we went under, our credit was A-1 — not even a late payment on our record.

Now my husband has a good job. We are getting by all right, but we want to clean up our record at the credit bureau. What can we do about it?

Mrs. F. D., Birmingham, Ala.

Dear Mrs. D.: You're probably doing something about it already without realizing it. If you're paying rent or a mortgage payment promptly, this alone is one step toward re-establishing your credit.

If you pay any small household account, such as the milk bill or drug bill, by the week or the month, this too is proof that you can be trusted.

Even regular cash purchases at a community store is an indication of a certain stability, a regularity in your manner of living.

Getting into those financial troubles five years ago was undoubtedly a gradual process. So building up a good credit rating again will be a slow process, too. There isn't a quick, dramatic, overnight way of doing it.

Establishing a checking account and savings account, ar making use of credit union services, are other ways of rebuilding your reputation for reliability.

Naturally you will avoid any show of extravagance in your daily living — for human nature being what it is, your community will judge you by what they see.

When you can offer any proof, even though it's small, that you are to be trusted again, ask for further credit from local merchants.

Be absolutely honest with them. Tell them what happened in the past.

As you are able to take on more financial responsibility and handle it properly, your rating at the Credit Bureau will automatically take care of itself.

Dear Miss Feeley: I have some U.S. Treasury Bonds, at 2 1/2 per cent. Can I exchange these for E bonds, as the percentage isn't very much?

Mrs. E. M. K., Chicago

Dear Mrs. K.: No, these U.S. Treasury Bonds cannot be exchanged for Savings Bonds E series. They are marketable bonds you own, and they will have to be sold at the market price.

You might ask your broker or banker about the advisability of selling them to buy E bonds.

Dear Miss Feeley: My wife and I have been paying $182.68 yearly into a medical and hospitalization insurance policy. Recently, however, a balance of more than $1,300 has become available to me from a retirement plan through the job I have just left.

My new employment offers its own retirement plan, including health insurance benefits, so we figured it would be wise to place the $1,300 into some "out of sight, out of mind" deposit or investment that would earn some interest — then drop this medical and hospitalization fund.

We would add $182.68 yearly to the $1,300. If we never needed to draw substantially on the money, we would find ourselves with a "secret savings" account later in life. Our present insurance of fers financial return only if we need certain medical or hospital services.

Two questions, then:

1. Do you consider our plan wise? I am 31, my wife 28, our daughter 3, our son 2.

2. What sort of investment for the $1,300? We're weak souls who, darn it, like to spend money. Therefore, we want the $1,300 out of temptation's reach — yet readily available if needed for medical or hospital emergency.

B. K., Wrightsville, Pa.

Dear B. K.: I'll go along with that plan quick enough. And just to give you an idea of how that "out of sight, out of mind" money can grow if you tuck it away in a savings account, here are some figures:

In 15 years, say at 4 per cent, compounded quarterly, you'll have $2,340 from the $1,300. And if you forget about it until retirement age, you'll have $4,827.

If you add to this "secret savings" the $182.68 yearly, in 15 years the total will be $5,977.

Now — if you can really keep all this intact, at age 65 you'll have accumulated $17,877. Your money is still earning at the rate of 4 per cent a year, of course. But the growing rate of your investment has increased to 8 per cent.

One way of stifling the temptation to raid the "secret account" is to set up another savings account, no matter how small. Then when you and your conscience fight it out, fight over this second account. Even if you win, the damage won't be fatal.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press).

Luncheon Ends Season

The Pine Lake Niners' Lady Golfers closed the 1963 season with a luncheon Tuesday in Pine Lake Country Club.

Continuing in office for a second year will be Mrs. Vernon C. Abbott, chairman; Mrs. James Clarke, co-chairman; Mrs. Clifford H. Jones,

Guard Against Careless Fires

CHICAGO (UP) — Take these precautions to keep homes safe from fires, says the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

—When cleaning the yard, never burn leaves on a windy day. If you do burn trash or leaves, always burn them in a covered metal container set away from any building or fence.

—Keep a garden hose hooked up for emergency use and have the hose equipped with threaded faucets.

—For a two-story house, keep a ladder in a handy place in case it is needed for rescue.

—Keep a back-pack pump or garden spraying equipment filled with water and in a place where you can get to it quickly.

—Post the number of the nearest fire department near the telephone.

Sunken Tub New Trend for Homes

One of the newest trends in home bathing, following the popularity of the two-bathroom home popularized in the past 15 years, is an opulent sunken tile tub.

Most homes today have at least two bathrooms, so leading architects and designers have come up with the "plunge" or "Roman sunken tub" to give new character and grace to custom-built homes.

Ceramic tile, because it is waterproof, slipproof, easy to clean and comes in small sizes that readily adapt to curved or free-form tub shapes, is generally specified for these new type bathtubs.

The "plunge" tub, while it sounds spectacular, actually can be fitted into a five-foot by seven-foot bathroom. Or it can take on the grandeur of Rome by being built in oval and free-form and surfaced with brilliant harmonious natural earth colors of ceramic tile.

As with other bathtubs, it is possible to install a shower over-tub feature, combining these two bathing methods. Either way, the tiled tub is a modern, practical convenience that carries the home to livability beyond today's "two bathroom" standard.

Appeal to Children

Simple Comics Excel

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE Q-402: Jim Unwin, about 35, is the talented newspaper cartoonist who draws the Sandy comic strip. "Dr. Crane," he began as we had luncheon together recently, "I have a little boy, so I use him to test my comic strips."

"For example, he isn't yet able to read very much so he must depend almost solely on the eye-action which I employ."

"If my pictures show visible action, he follows Sandy from day to day."

"But if I were to rely on long, wordy 'balloons' to carry the plot, he would turn away."

"Dr. Crane, don't you think at least half of the comics in every newspaper should appeal to children of grammar school age?"

COMIC STRIP PSYCHOLOGY

Yes, Jim Unwin is quite right!

But many people use their own adult yardstick for selecting comics for children, failing to realize that youngsters rely largely on visible action rather than wordy balloons.

Furthermore, the mere fact that a comic strip deals with a child doesn't mean it is a child comic!

For many superb comic strips today that are supposedly child comics, are actually adult comics!

For example, if you are familiar with "Dennis the Menace" or "Peanuts," you will realize that they have a strong appeal to adults.

But to the children they are largely duds, for the humor and adult language put into the mouths of those children are over the heads of preteen-agers.

Let me illustrate the literal attitude of children.

Dr. H. H. Goddard, the pioneer American psychologist who first translated the famous Binet Intelligence Test into English, gives a true story from Ohio.

A little girl, aged 6, entered school for the first time. The room was crowded.

NEVER AGAIN

That night when this little girl reached home, she flung herself on the couch, in tears, and said "she was never going to school again."

"Why do you say that?" inquired her mother.

"Because teacher is a fiber. She tells fibs," sobbed the child.

Shower Held for Bride-to-Be

Kay McMorris of Woodlark Street was honored at a recent bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Thomas McGuire on Lakewood Drive. Mrs. Margaret Schedlbower was cohostess.

Among some 20 guests were the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Donald McMorris, and Mrs. John Schedlbower of West End Street, mother of the future bridegroom, Gerald Schedlbower.

The Oct. 12 wedding will be in St. Benedict Church.

At last the mother wormed the facts out of her.

"When I got there," confessed the girl, "the teacher told me to sit on a chair for the present."

"And I sat there all day but she never gave me the present."

Despite this literal viewpoint of children, several strips supposedly directed to children are still going right over their heads.

Adults may laugh at such clever dialogue put into the child's mouth, but the young readers see nothing funny about those comic strips.

At least half of the comic strips should appeal to grammar schoolers if we are to win their early affection for the printed news page.

For in just 10 years those 12-year-olds will be married and prospects for the circulation department of the local newspaper.

They'll subscribe far easier if they fell in love with the comic pages while back in grade school.

Write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long, 3 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and postage costs when you send for one of his booklets.

Valachi Gives U.S. Peek at Crime Secrets, Murders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a tourist guide, Joseph Valachi has led the nation on a dark tour of the underworld for an insider's peek at its secrets and murders. But can he be believed?

Yes, says Sen. John L. McClellan, who is chairman of the investigating subcommittee hearing Valachi's rasping tale of vengeance.

"He's a dirty liar," says John C. Montana, a delegate to the notorious gangland convention at Apalachin, N.Y.

Besides its shock value, has Valachi's testimony turned up anything new? Is it helping the fight against organized crime? "I think there are more important things to claim the attention of Congress," says Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., who has criticized the subcommittee before.

A Justice Department spokesman doesn't feel that way.

Much of the 48-year-old mobster's testimony "could be used in court if strongly corroborated," he said.

"There is very little new to us," said a New York police official, who added: "His testimony serves to make some things clear. But this does not mean that it is of such a nature that we can go to court and prosecute a case."

These are some of the wide ranging views on the merits of the testimony of the dope peddler and convicted killer who has grabbed headlines and drawn housewives to their television sets from the ironing.

HOUSEHOLD WORD

In three days of testimony, Valachi has made his name a household word across the land with his widely publicized testimony that "this is my doom" for informing on the inner workings of a secret criminal society he calls La Cosa Nostra—"our thing" or "our family" in Italian.

Outsiders know it as the Mafia, the syndicate, or the Black Hand. Never before in their investigations of organized crime has any congressional group presented a witness who claimed to speak as an insider of such an organization.

The old Senate Crime Investigating Committee headed by the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., charged in 1961 that crime was nationally syndicated big business. So did the old Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

But their assertions were without benefit of any insider's testimony. Some infamous hoodlums, including New York racketeer Frank Costello, have been brought before congressional committees. But they owned up to little more than their names.

Valachi, on the other hand, has talked and talked. A reporter checked separately with the two Democrats and two Republicans on the subcommittee who have been most active in the hearing. All said they believed Valachi, and that at least for the most part he knew the facts.

The four are McClellan and Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Carl T. Curtis, R-N.H.

"My reaction is, Valachi is not a phony," said Curtis.

McClellan said he regarded Valachi's testimony as an essentially "not especially new," but nevertheless important.

BELIEVES GANGSTER

Said McIntyre, "I have to give him credence. If I were a judge, I'd be waiting for testimony from the other side, but this testimony has probative value."

Mundt said he started out "with deep skepticism concerning Val-achi, but more and more I am convinced of the authenticity of his story, because of its verification by the police of New York and Connecticut."

Montana, whom Valachi has named as a former lieutenant in La Cosa Nostra, says he thinks Valachi is insane.

"I never saw him in my life," Montana told a reporter in Buffalo, N.Y. "I don't know who he is. I don't even know what he looks like except for the newspapers."

New York police say they are not knocking Valachi's testimony or questioning its validity.

"From the standpoint of intelligence, it has been valuable because it confirms a number of things we've suspected about mob connections and operations," said an assistant in the office of Frank D. O'Connor, Queens County district attorney.

An oldtime police captain, however, figures a lot of what Valachi is saying is coming off the top of his head.

The Justice Department has encouraged the crime hearings. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has testified he hopes they will generate sympathy for his appeals for legalized wire tapping by the police, and for new powers to compel the testimony of bawky witnesses in racketeering cases.

Progress Takes Navy Lightships Off the Seas

ABOARD COAST GUARD CUTTER FIREBUSH — More than a century of hurricanes, wars and ship collisions couldn't do it.

But progress—in the shape of four-legged steel towers—shortly will force Ambrose Lightship, the world's brightest, and her sister lightships into port forever.

When Lt. Comdr. Phillip D. Griel, captain of the buoy-tender Firebush, ordered two five-ton lighted survey buoys plunked into the water near Ambrose and her southwesterly neighbor, Scotland Lightship, he was turning a last page in the log of the lobster-red ships that mark the entrance to New York harbor.

Floating lighthouses first warned of obstructions in America in 1820. Since then lightships with names such as Five Fathom, Stone Horse, Flying Pan Shoals and even Cornfield and Hen and Chickens have had a history as brave and colorful as the Coast Guard itself.

They rounded the Horn to get to Pacific stations, tangled with submarines, served as warships, and battled nature at its worst. Sometimes they lost.

Less colorful but no less spectacular are the approximately 17-story combination light and radio towers, with crew quarters and a helicopter port half-way up, that already occupy the stations of Buzzard's Bay and Brenton Reef lightships, off New England, and Savannah, Ga. Light ship.

They will replace all remaining 19 lightships with the possible exception of three off the West Coast. Firebush's survey buoys mark the probable sites of Ambrose and Scotland towers to be begun next June.

Officially called "off-shore light stations," they are based on engineering know-how gained in constructing all-metal lights in hurricane-swept Florida, the Coast Guard said.

TYPICAL SHIP
Ambrose, a typical lightship, is numbered WAL-613 and tugs at her almost three-ton mushroom anchor 18 miles out of New

BACKGROUND OF THE NEW SPECIAL REPORT

York at 40 degrees, 14 minutes and 19 seconds north latitude and 75 degrees, 48 minutes and 8 seconds west longitude, in 78 feet of water.

Manned by a crew of 16 who are aboard 14 days and ashore seven, LS Ambrose is 128 feet long and 540 tons, can make 10.7 knots on her 610-horsepower diesel engine and was built in 1950.

Ambrose's signal is three bright white flashes within 7.5 seconds, followed by a dark period of 4.9 seconds, from her 700,000 candlepower lantern visible 15 miles. During low visibility, the candlepower can be stepped up to 2,500,000. There's a 15,000-candlepower lantern for emergency purposes.

Her fog signal is a two-tone "B-O" blast every 15 seconds for three seconds.

Ambrose took her name when the Ambrose deepwater ship channel was dredged into New York in 1908.

Of a fleet that went from wood to iron to steel and from sail to steam to diesel, only 19 of almost 60 are left.

Three years ago, an earlier Ambrose was run down by the freighter Green Bay in a dawn fog on June 24, 1960. It sank within minutes.

All hands were saved thanks to quick alarm by Boatswain's Mate Bobby Pierce of Franklin, Va.

Not as fortunate were most of the 11 crewmen of LS Nantuxet, off Massachusetts, on a socked-in May morning in 1954 when she was cut in two by the British liner Olympic. Four were lost and three died of injuries.

That lightship station, the farthest "outside" and the first sight of home for many returning Americans, sent history's first radio distress call in the pre-SOS days.

FIRST SOS

On December 10, 1905, the wireless operator rapped out "H-E-L-P" when a gale-caused leak overwhelmed LS Nantuxet's pumps. She sank under tow of the cutter Azalea just after her 14 men were taken aboard.

LS Vineyard, off Cuttyhunk, Martha's Vineyard, Mass., went down with all 13 men in the September 1944 hurricane, which also claimed the cutters Bedloe and Jackson with every man aboard.

A 1913 hurricane took one of the few freshwater light ships, which disappeared off Buffalo in Lake Erie. Only one inland lightship is on station today, LS Huron, off Port Huron, Mich.

Sitting ducks for submarines because of their bright lights and stationary positions, lightships attained a respectable 500 in two recorded close encounters.

SUBMARINE

LS Diamond, off Cape Hatteras, N. C., bravely fired off a wireless message on Aug. 4, 1918, when a prowling U-boat sank two nearby freighters. The sub came alongside, ordered the crew into a lifeboat, then sank the lightship.

LS Blunt's, near San Francisco, went completely unharmed in World War II when a Japanese sub sank the tanker Enido, whose crew the lightship rescued.

In the practical world, where even an experimental, crewless lightship, the electronic EKP-90, proved to be a bust, few will mourn the passing of the venerable able lightship, with its monotonous and often hazardous duty.

But like sailors everywhere, lightship men who go to the new towers will always remember their first ships. They'll recall that lightships, like other Coast Guard units, more than lived up to the unofficial motto:

"The regulations only say you have to go out. There's nothing about coming back."

Accident Takes Life of British Test Pilot

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, 20 feet over a runway Wednesday, killing test pilot John Richardson Green, 31.

The plane was hovering after a 30-minute flight when it suddenly cartwheeled and landed upside down.

The SC-1, which first flew in 1967, was dropped two years ago as a possible combat project in favor of the Hawker P-117.

Number of State Births Down Sharply From '61

LANSING (U)—The number of births in Michigan in 1962 dropped sharply from 1961, the Michigan Hospital Association reports.

Births in 1962 numbered 183,278 while in 1961 there were 192,230 and in 1960 there were 194,928 births. The number of births has been steadily declining in the state since 1955, the association said.

Finances Are Bringing King Saud, Premier Faisal to Grips

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A showdown that could be final is approaching in Saudi Arabia between ailing King Saud and his brother, Crown Prince Faisal, premier and virtual ruler of the country.

It will come sometime next month when the king's austerer younger brother presents a new budget—slashing allowances of the royal family by 10 per cent.

Saudis close to the government say the winner almost certainly will be Faisal, an economy-minded prince who once before cut royal spending to ease a financial crisis. They expect it will be the last round of a long, quiet battle for power.

BACK IN CAPITAL

The 61-year-old king returned to Riyadh, his capital, last month from a luxurious medical stay in Europe. Suffering from a stomach ulcer, high blood pressure and general debility, he relinquished the government reins last year, and even announced plans for moving the Yemeni revolution was threatening to spread to Saudi Arabia.

The country was suffering from extreme jitters, and the king was among the most extreme sufferers. To many, revolution seemed around the corner.

As he had done before, Faisal took over. Moving with caution, he restored confidence in the oil-rich kingdom. He promised reforms, began eliminating slavery and even announced plans for moving the royal guards from the palaces to the country's southwest borders to guard against Yemeni or Egyptian raids.

Faisal also replaced King Saud's notoriously dissolute sons in places of power with his own more sober-minded offspring.

MOVED TO BORDERS

When Saud's European cure was nearing an end late in the summer, Faisal began cleaning out the remaining havens of the king's power. Despite the monarch's "vigorous protests," he moved the royal guards from the palaces to the country's southwest borders to guard against Yemeni or Egyptian raids.

"Never fear for your life or your throne," he is reported to have told the king. "We will protect you. Let your guards protect the country."

It is known that Faisal never has wanted the throne for himself—that he has on more than one occasion saved it for his brother. But the suspicious king, surrounded by his sons and sons-in-law, has never quite believed that Faisal did not covet it.

His only hope of ousting Faisal is to bribe desert tribes believed loyal to the premier. The cut in royal allowances would lessen the chances of that.

BIG DEBTS

Saudis here say the crown prince is pulling in the purse strings because of huge bank debts the princes have piled up over the years. They are believed to total about $4 million.

Faisal's government has undertaken to repay the hard-pressed banks and will recover the money by cutting the allowances, now estimated at $60 million a year for the approximately 1,000 members of the royal family.

King Saud may return again to Europe for another cure although Faisal is understood to want him to be treated at home.

"The king himself is a good man and he could have been one of the greatest of Saudi kings," said a Saudi close to the crown prince. "His sons are his source of weakness. Prince Faisal does not like to see them playing around Europe when the king is being treated, causing bad publicity for our country."

Cost Comes High

Schools, charities and highways account for two-thirds of government spending at state and local levels.

U.S. Base, Haiti Periled by Flora

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora, wildest storm out of the tropical Atlantic in two years, thrashed with 140-mile-an-hour fury today toward Haiti and the U.S. Navy Base at Guantanamo Bay in eastern Cuba.

Strong westerly winds aloft promised, however, to keep the hurricane away from Florida. Its course already has curved from west-northwest, in Florida's direction, to northwest.

But forecasters warned that the poor Negro nation of Haiti probably was in for heavy loss of life and great property destruction.

And Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster of the National Hurricane Center at Miami, said it was "not impossible" that Flora would roar directly across Guantanamo Bay in Cuba's eastern Oriente Province, across the narrow windward passage from Haiti.

By Negro Leagues

Bowling Alley Bias Claimed

Local complaints of racial segregation materialized this week in an area where they are normally least suspected — sports.

The "lack of openings available to Negro bowling teams" at Pontiac area bowling alleys came under fire this week in the City Commission meeting chamber at City Hall.

Ernest Seay of 270 Howard McNeill appealed to the city for some help in his attempt to "get area bowling alleys to accept our leagues."

Seay represents 270 Negro bowling teams in two leagues: The Pontiac Community Bowling League and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Pontiac Local 100 Bowling League.

While strides have been made through negotiation in the area of fair employment locally, and housing integration has progressed with few major incidents, Seay said the same was not true in the area of bowling.

"We have been trying for 10 years to get area alleys to accept our leagues," Seay noted.

He said that over the 10-year period conditions had ranged from "Negroes being forced to bowl at odd hours to the present situation where we have only one alley for use."

"This year we sent letters to 16 bowling alleys in the Pontiac area asking for openings to handle our teams. Only one replied."

"The Pontiac Human Relations Committee was helpful in providing personal contact with local bowling alley owners through the Bowling Proprietors Association of Oakland County," Seay said.

"However, the answer was the same everywhere. There were no openings for our league at alleys where we know openings existed. Commissioner Milton R. Henry commented on Seay's remarks."

"We ought to do something to try and straighten this out... even if it comes to placing restrictions on their licenses," Henry said.

Bowling proprietors operate under licenses issued by the city each year.

Commenting on integration, Henry said, "Pontiac is one of the better cities in the nation. Housing integration has gone ahead with very few incidents."

Commissioner William H. Taylor said he'd had problems getting openings for his league too, in the past, and asked Seay if he'd inquired outside the immediate area.

Seay said his leagues had to bowl in Rochester last year and in Detroit two years ago for lack of Pontiac area openings.

Mayor Robert A. Landry promised the matter would be taken under consideration by the commission.

Junior Editors Quiz on SPRING WATER

QUESTION: What makes spring water rise to the earth's surface?

ANSWER: There is much water under the earth's dry surface. Melting snow, rain, brooks and lakes provide moisture which seeps through the ground. This ground water goes down until stopped by a layer of rock which it can not penetrate.

The upper limit of this ground water is called the "water table." Wells, sunk below the water table, bring water to the surface for us to use.

Often there are mountains or slopes which strike down through the level ground. Water coming from rain or snow will work its way down through such slopes. As the water comes down, it may find a crack or fault which leads up toward the surface.

The water will then bubble out of the crack, forming a spring. If the water has traveled down quite an incline, the force of gravity will give it pressure. This will make it come out through the spring to form a small brook. Many rivers have running springs at their source.

Water coming directly from the earth is usually free from impurities, is cool and delightful to drink. Deep down in the earth, the rocks are hotter. Water which gets far down is often heated and may come out in the form of hot springs.

FOR YOU TO DO: The girl in our picture is drinking from a mountain spring which she knows to be pure. But there is much polluted water—don't drink from every stream and puddle you see!

Recorded Texts Help Blind Study

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—More than 50 blind college and trade school students are using tape textbooks from a Minnesota library.

The tape library, under development for four years, is sponsored by the Minnesota State Services For The Blind and the Hamm Foundation, a St. Paul philanthropic organization.

The project's first university graduate was Andrea Goudie, Minneapolis. Her textbooks during most of her University of Minnesota career were hundreds of reels of magnetic recording tape.

The program was undertaken four years ago when several blind students who had been using recorders suggested that textbooks be read into tape. They thought his would be easier to handle than disc recordings and live readers often weren't around when wanted.

So volunteer readers began putting textbooks into tape.

When Miss Goudie wanted to study biology or history, for instance, she would borrow a tape textbook from the library and play it on her recorder.

She took notes from the textbooks on her braille writer as she went along. When she wanted to take notes, she stopped the recorder and transcribed the passage in braille.

If she wanted to repeat a passage, she reversed the recorder to the beginning of the section and replayed it.

To help students locate passages, the page number of the text has been read onto the tape at the beginning and middle of each page.

The textbooks have been prepared by 95 volunteers, selected carefully. Voices must be clear and agreeable. Monotone will put a student to sleep.

The volunteers must read rapidly. Blind students, who have developed strong powers of concentration and comprehension, prefer reading speeds of about 200 words a minute.

Usage of Timber

About one third of all the timber removed from forests of the U.S. has been used by man. The rest has been destroyed by fire or tree insects and diseases.

Fans 15 for New Series Mark

Koufax' 'Off-Key' Melody a Yankee Lullaby

NEW YORK (AP)—I thought I made quite a few bad pitches I got away with."

With those self-critical words, Dodger dandy Sandy Koufax wrapped up one of the most striking World Series performances in the history of the 60-year-old baseball classic.

His rhythm admittedly off key, Koufax hummed his array of fast balls, changes and curves past the New York Yankees in the Series opener Wednesday and struck out a record 15 batters en route to a 2-0 Los Angeles victory.

"To tell the truth," said Koufax after surpassing the 14 strikeouts posted by former Dodger Carl Erskine against the Yankees exactly 10 years before, "I didn't feel as good as I would have liked. I've had better stuff."

ALL THE WAY

So, how did Koufax beat the Yankees? Let's count the ways: Strikeout No. 1—Tony Kubek, leading off for the Yankees set the tone for the off-key Koufax, striking out to start the game.

Strikeouts 2-5—He started off doing a good job, and continued through the next four batters—Bobby Richardson, Tom Tresh, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris.

Strikeouts 6-9—Joe Pepitone went down swinging in the second, then Kubek, Richardson and Tresh in order in the fourth.

"Koufax kept saying," said Manager Walt Alton, "that he wasn't loose yet. I thought he was working a little too fast, but I didn't want to say anything, he was going so good."

Strikeout 10—That was Mantle leading off the fifth, then Maris popped foul. But Howard sliced a single to right for the first hit and Pepitone and Cleo Boyer followed with singles, leading the bases.

Strikeout 11—Hector Lopez, pinch hitter for Yankee starter Whitey Ford, ending the bases-loaded threat.

"I threw mostly fast balls in side to Lopez," revealed Koufax.

Strikeout 12—Howard leading off the seventh as Koufax began to regain his rhythm after a wild sixth inning in which he walked Richardson and Tresh, then straightened himself away by getting Mantle and Maris to pop up.

"I thought I felt more tired during the middle innings than any time during the season, probably because of the cold," said Koufax.

Pitching coach Joe Becker had a more technical reason. "I told him he was trying to force him to sell," said Becker. "I noticed his coordination wasn't good in the middle."

Carl Erskine Applauds Feat

Former Record Setter Calls It 'Great Deed'

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Erskine walked into the Los Angeles Dodger dressing room, squeezed through a mass of reporters, draped an arm around Sandy Koufax and said:

"A great deed."

Only minutes before Koufax had struck out his 15th batter in a 5-2 opening game World Series victory over the New York Yankees. Strikeout No. 15 broke the record set by former Dodger Carl Erskine against the Yankees exactly 10 years ago—to the day.

"I'm proud of you," Erskine told Koufax, then told reporters he remembered when Koufax first joined the Dodgers.

"He was wild as anything, but everyone knew he'd be great. He threw hard as hell."

Erskine, now 36 and in his 12th season as a coach in the Anderson College baseball team, said Koufax "apologized" to him for breaking the record.

Did Erskine expect Koufax to break the record? He didn't answer, but turned the question back on reporters, who chattered "Yes."

Erskine nodded.

Then he listed three reasons why he felt Koufax deserved to break the record: "One, he was a teammate of mine. Two, he's a Dodger."

"Three, he's probably the greatest strikeout artist in baseball history."

sixth inning and he was overstriding."

Strikeout 13 and 14—Pinch hitter Phil Linz and Richardson, who went down for the second out of it. But after all, this team is going to get some runs. That's a next batter (Maris, for if he got the next pitch for a homer and the tough line-up."

Koufax then walked Mantle and tying run to the plate. I said, "It was a fast ball inside," said Alton hustled out to the mound, even if Maris hits one out of here, I told him (Koufax) I didn't hurt."

Maris grounded out.

Then came No. 15. "I didn't think about the 'strikeout record,'" Koufax said. "But when I came off after the eighth, I saw they had flashed the note on the scoreboard that I had tied Carl's record. But then Harry Bright's up, (with two out) and a man on in the last of the (ninth) and I'm aware I have to get him out.

"If I strike him out, nothing can happen. If he hits it, anything can."

The count moved to 2-2. Koufax went into his move, came around with the smooth, picturesque motion—fired.

At the plate, Bright swung—missed.

The crowd stood in a standing ovation.

Casey Sure Mrs. Stengel Saw It

Yes, Baseballs Do Curve

By CASEY STENGEL

Special to The Pontiac Press

Special to tell me that she couldn't see those baseballs curve from where she was sitting in the grandstand, but I'll tell you that I can see that ball that Mr. Sandy Koufax throws curve from way up here in the press box. And I'll bet Edna could see it curve way on the television.

He throws a curve that breaks about a yard and a half, and the Yankees for the first four, five innings couldn't get their natural swing at the ball. They were chopping like wood choppers.

He throws that big curve at two, three speeds, and you got to look out for it because it's so good, and then, zzzip, that amazing fast ball is right by you.

As the game got late, Mr. Koufax lost a little something off the curve, it was maybe breaking one a foot or two. But he seemed to get faster, and he went to that pitch more, especially after the shadows covered the batting box. When that happens the ball comes out of the sunlight and into the dark.

That is the story of the first game, although I got to say something about Roseboro, who hit the big home run off Whitey Ford in the second inning, when Ford made a mistake and pitching him high and inside.

You will notice that after that they pitched him low and away and got him out. He stands a long way from the plate and he should not be pitched up and in, which the Yankees learned quick.

He hit his home run off my Mets on the same pitch Ford threw, and you could see Whitey shrink down as soon as Roseboro hit it.

MOOSE DOES WELL

Tommy Davis got three hits who we wanted to sign when I was with the Yankees only his mother got him to sign with Brooklyn. Moose Skowron is no surprise since he always hits good in the World Series. And that young second baseman, Traceski, made an amazing play and saved a run in the fifth inning, at a very important time.

I also have to mention Howard, the big baseball player in right field for the Dodgers, who hit that ball off Ford in the second inning that traveled four hundred and sixty-something feet. Except for a few of Mantle's, it is the longest ball I ever saw hit in this ball park. And I used to manage ment out there by the flag pole, although the ball he hit looked like it was going right through a good play for the Yankees. But the next time Howard came up, like I was playing the monument.

Except for the play the second time I saw him, I would have played him behind the home-base man made, there wasn't good catcher.

What Do Rivals Say in Pre-Game Talk?

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Photographers grouped the two left-handers, Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers and Whitey Ford of the Yankees, for the standard World Series opening game picture.

The two pitchers took advantage of the occasion to chat awhile.

Let's eavesdrop:

Sandy: What are you going to do when the Series is over, Whitey?

Whitey: I don't know, Sandy. I thought maybe you could get me a job out in Hollywood. I was thinking I'd go great on television, like you and the other Dodger.

TV STARS

Sandy: I'll talk to Don Drysdale. He's the best television man on our club. He was a sheriff on an outlaw, a bootlegger and a district attorney all in one week during our last home stand.

Whitey: I'm more of the clean-cut type. I doubt if I'd want to play a murderer. But I hear Perry Mason is slipping, lost a case the other day, and he might need a new private eye. I'd like that.

Sandy: I'll put in a good word for you with my agent.

Whitey: See if you can line up a little work for the wife and kids. I hear Drysdale has the whole family working. It saves him building a swimming pool—the wife and kids get a sunbathe under those klieg lights.

Sandy: You might get some work in those war shows. Warren Spahn plays all the Nazi soldiers, but there are plenty of good parts on the other side.

Whitey: My New York agent should go over big in one of those shows. They always have a guy from Brooklyn in them. By the way, what ever happened to you Brooklyn accent?

Sandy: My agent made me give it up. He said it was ruining my chances for parts in Westerns. It didn't help, though. They didn't want any left-handed gun slingers.

Whitey: That lets me out, too. It's a shame. I'm pretty fast.

Sandy: Not as fast as you used to be, Whitey.

Whitey: That's why I'm interested in developing a new line of work. I'm tired of shoving my self all winter, and those TV commercials are about all the work you can get in New York any more.

Sixth-Ranked Navy Invades Ann Arbor

Spartans Travel West to Meet USC Squad Friday Night

By The Associated Press

After making good showings in their openers, Michigan and Michigan State face tough assignments this weekend.

Michigan, after scoring a 27-16 victory over Southern Methodist, has been spending many hours this week trying to patch up a leaky pass defense.

The Wolverines face sixth-ranked Navy at Ann Arbor in their final non-conference game of the season. Michigan State journeys out west to meet Southern California Friday night.

Neither team has an easy job, but MSU seems to have drawn the tougher opponent.

The Trojans, Rose Bowl winners on New Year's Day and defending national champions, were knocked off their lofty perch last week by Oklahoma. The Spartans couldn't have picked a worse time to meet the still proud Trojans.

Michigan, meanwhile, faces a Navy team Saturday that has rolled to two one-sided victories over lesser opponents and would like nothing better than a triumph over Michigan to prove it deserves its lofty ranking.

BIG TEN GAMES

Two Big Ten conference games are scheduled this Saturday with Northwestern at Illinois and Ohio State at Indiana.

In other games involving Big Ten schools, Iowa is at Washington, Army is at Minnesota and Notre Dame is at Purdue. Wisconsin is idle.

Michigan coach Bump Elliott has moved junior halfback Dick Rinduff into a starting spot in the backfield. Rinduff scored the Wolverines' first touchdown last Saturday.

Frosty Evashevski will probably be the starting quarterback. Bob Timberlake is expected to be ready to go, but Evashevski has won the starting spot on the team by virtue of his performance in the opener.

SMU completed 15 of 27 passes last Saturday, which is why the Wolverines have spent so much time on that phase of the defense this week. Navy quarterback Roger Staubach has already completed 29 of 39 this season. Steve Juday will again be at the helm when Michigan State takes on Southern Cal.

"We know they are great," said Spartan coach Duffy Daugherty. "It will take a tremendous performance to beat them. I'm just hopeful we can stay close to them."

Grudge Spurs Titans

DETROIT — The arch-rivalry, between Boston College and the University of Detroit takes on added meaning Friday night when the two teams collide at Titan Stadium.

The series with B.C. has been one of the most hectic and thrilling in the football history at U.

His ex-assistant John Idzik is now handling the Titan fortunes and all the elements of a grudge match are in the making.

Last year, in his debut at MIDDLE AERIALIST—Navy's sharp shooting passer, Roger Staubach, leading the nation in total offense, will give Michigan's Wolverines a big test Saturday at Ann Arbor.

Armada Has Rocket Test; Imlay to Open Loop Play

New Haven's Rockets will be a team which has scored only 13 points in three games.

Imlay City will travel to Millington Friday night to open the South Central League schedule. The other two members of the loop are in action Saturday afternoon against non-conference foes.

Deckerville, the league's newcomer with two wins and a tie in three starts, will travel to Freehold for a 2 p.m. game Saturday.

North Branch, with a 1-2 record, will journey to Jackson St. Mary.

And to stop New Haven, the Tigers will have to slow the thrust of the Rockets' Dwight Lee and John Mack, one of the most talented running combinations in the area.

Memphis has the second best defensive club in the league (12 points in three games), and against Capac, the Yellowjackets will be meeting a team that hasn't crossed the goal line in three outings.

NEAR UPSET

Brown City almost pulled the upset of the season against New Haven last week. The Green Devils also have one of the league's top defensive crews, so it could be a rough evening for Almont.

Boston College, Miller handed Detroit a 27-0 drubbing and there are still players on the Titan squad who remember Miller as their coach and then as their opposing coach.

Both teams have identical records, Boston College losing to Syracuse and defeating Wichita while the Titans were falling to Bowling Green and winning over Northern Michigan.

Top attack weapon of the B.C. squad which ranked 18th nationally last year, is senior quarterback Jack Concannon who is being touted for All-American honors. Concannon has been hitting his receivers with great regularity and is dangerous threat with the touchdown pass.

Detroit's attack is radically different this year with coach Idzik stressing the running attack built around two juniors, fullback Fred Beier and halfback Dennis Assenmacher.

Idzik utilizes the passing of sophomore Tom Zienick to keep the defense from stacking up the front line so the running backs will have room to move.

PNH Can't Afford to Underrate Berkley

Northern Seeks 4th Victory

If Pontiac Northern coach Bob Dingman was worried about the unbeaten Huskies not taking Friday opponent Berkley too lightly, those fears should be eased thanks to Walled Lake.

The latter, also unbeaten and expected to contend with PNH for the Inter-Lakes League championship, journeyed confidently into the Bears' den last Friday night and just managed to escape with a 7-0 win.

Now it is Northern's turn to sample the Berkley hospitality which apparently will be anything but generous. Much attention will be on the game as it will be the first real opportunity to compare PNH and Walled Lake.

Currently, the two teams are tied for the 10th spot in the weekly AP state Class A high school football poll. They have identical 3-0 marks and are driving toward a showdown Oct. 18th.

The Huskies do not appear to have any serious problems at this stage of the season. One chink in the armor — penalties — was improved last week.

The first two games saw rule infractions repeatedly detected against PNH; but the Waterford game last week had only five violations setting the Northern eleven back.

SOLID ATTACK

Dingman has developed a varied offense in his first year with the Huskies. Mike Samulow has the speed, Steve Daniels shows power, Jim Kimmel handles the passing and team captain Don Weyer provides leadership and a blend of the others' talents to complete the backfield.

Kicking specialist Dean Souden and Tom Nichols are capable receivers and spearhead a line that has size and determination, although lacking speed.

Samulow and Souden have accounted for 30 and 24 points, respectively, with their efforts. Kimmel has connected on four touchdown passes and plunged for another six-pointer.

Berkley's offense has had its problems. The Bears tallied all 19 of their points in the Livonia Franklin game, failing to generate any punch against tough Ferndale and Walled Lake.

Coach Irv Wilson must find the right combination this week in practice if Berkley is to even its over-all record at 2-2 and 1-1 in the I-L race Friday.

Mephisto Visits Army

The Great Mephisto "And Val" will battle Ricki "Crusher" Cortez in the top wrestling bout Saturday night at the Pontiac National Guard Armory.

A six-man elimination match will open the five-bout card at 8:30 p.m.

Toughest Foe Is Pontiac Central Woe Friday Night

Pontiac Central goes on the road Friday* to play what could be the Chiefs' toughest football opponent of the season.

PCH will tangle with high scoring Flint Central in Atwood Stadium at 8 p.m. The Indians have stormed past three foes with ease.

Coach Paul Dellerba has seen the Chiefs improve with each game. Although winless in three starts, the Orange and Black has impressed with stronger line play and improved offense.

The defensive secondary showed a definite weakness against passes in the last setback and it can expect little letup from Flint Central.

The Indians have a good passer in quarterback Tiny Lassister. Charles Hovey supplies the speed in the Tribe backfield.

Flint Central, coached by Bob Leach, has been somewhat of a surprise. The Indians were mentioned in the pre-season ratings as possible darkhorses for the Saginaw Valley Conference championship.

ROLLING ALONG They wasted no time becoming contenders by blasting Port Huron, 45-0, in a nonleague opener, and then ripping what Saginaw had been the surprise in the Valley up to that time with a 7-6 conquest of Arthur Hill and a 26-13 decision over favored Midland.

Arthur Hill downed PCH 34-0 and the Chemics tripped the Chiefs, 25-7.

Dellerba is not expected to make any major changes in the lineup.

Jim Gators may have earned a starting berth at halfback off his running against Midland. Jim Crump, a 200-pounder who had been doing the linebacking, switched to offensive fullback and was impressive in the first half against the Chemics.

The Chiefs are stronger at quarterback than last year. When Bob Wiggins was injured against Arthur Hill and sidelined for an indefinite period, sophomore Jerry Murphy stepped in and proved against Midland that he could handle the ball adequately and passed well under pressure.

The Chemics couldn't run through PCH's center and it is doubtful if the Indians will be able to accomplish much in that sector.

But Flint Central, now the third ranked Class A team in the state, has potent passing and good outside speed. The Chiefs have been weak defending against these threats.

Long Ace at Highland

Jim Gillette, of 1192 Bielby, led the 225-yard No. 10 at Highland Hills Golf Course recently.

Gillette used a 2-iron for his hole-in-one and went on to card a 72 over the 18-hole course.

Playing with Gillette were Chuck Hudson, of Pontiac, Bill Abare, of Clarkston, and Ray Gates, of White Lake Township.

Prep Field Goal Record in Doubt After 50-Yarder

FLINT (UPI) — The controversy over Michigan's longest high school field goal gained momentum today after Flint Holy Redeemer's Rob Lamielle kicked one 50 yards last Sunday in a 29-6 victory over host Bay City St. James.

One "champ" was dethroned and another was crowned.

A recheck of records revealed that Battle Creek Central's Jim York, who was credited Wednesday with a record 56-yard boot about 10 years ago, had kicked only a 38-yarder.

However, Lamielle's long one was surpassed by Cheboygan Catholic's Joe Poirer, Nov. 1, 1957, in a 19-0 victory over Alcona. It was reported to have traveled at least 53 yards from the point of the kick to the goalposts.

Michigan First in N-War Plans

'Has Model System for Others to Follow'

EAST LANSING (UPI)—A White House official said yesterday Michigan is far ahead of other states in developing plans to keep the government operating in time of a nuclear attack.

Edward A. McDermott, director of the President's Office of Emergency Planning, said Michigan has developed a model system for other states to follow.

McDermott praised the state in remarks prepared for a meeting of the Michigan Emergency Planning Board at the Kellogg Center of Michigan State University.

The conference brought together specialists in various fields of business and commerce to thrash out the problem of how to keep an economy going after an attack.

POINTS IN PROGRAM

McDermott said a program should be developed to:

1. Allocate and control production, distribution and use of essential resources such as food, medical supplies, petroleum, electric power and other vital material.

2. Manage and provide essential transportation and communication services.
3. Stabilize the economy and control and maintain the money and credit systems.
4. Administer a consumer rationing system.

McDermott said the meeting was the first of similar conferences which will be held soon in other Midwest states. He said resources planning committees have been organized in 28 states around the country.

Senate Okays '64 Debates

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate approved a resolution yesterday to allow another series of "great debates" during the 1964 presidential election.

The resolution, which was sent back to the House, would suspend the "equal time" provision of federal broadcasting law to allow debates similar to the Nixon-Kennedy discussions in 1960.

The resolution applies only to major party candidates for president and vice-president.

Cuba Mail Shows Marks of Censorship

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mail received in Miami this week from Cuba bore the first reported-out evidence that Fidel Castro's government is censoring letters.

A letter posted in Matanzas Province reached its Miami addressee with a hand-ruled, handwritten notation, "inspected according to Resolution No. 58," a censor's initials, and a later Havana postmark. The envelope bore signs of having been opened.

Matanzas Province has been the scene of numerous armed clashes between Castro troops and rebels harbored by an active counter-revolutionary underground organization.

Ambassador Confirmed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nomination of W. True Davis Jr., of St. Joseph, Mo., to be the new U.S. Ambassador to Switzerland was confirmed by the Senate yesterday.

Leopoldville Cuts Traffic

With Brazzaville Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The former Belgian Congo ordered all traffic cut yesterday with the former French Congo which lies across the Congo River.

Interior Minister Joseph Maboiti said the action was a "security measure." The Leopoldville government has not recognized the provisional Brazzaville government that ousted President Fulbert Youlou Aug. 13.

HISTORICAL HAT — Rother McCoy, 84, sports an overseas cap that chronicles his military career. A delegate to the 65th National Encampment of United Spanish War Veterans in Lansing, he shows medals from campaigns in the Philippines, Cuba and World War I.

Veterans of '98 End Convention
LANSING (UPI) — With a sense of nostalgia, 258 Spanish-American war veterans will part up their uniforms, medals and campaign hats today and will fold up their tents and quietly steal away from the site of their five-day 65th National Encampment.
The veterans of '98, many of whom saw action in two wars, now average 86, but still have two major battles planned for the next year.
They plan to push for the erection of a war monument to Spanish-American campaign veterans in the nation's capital. They claim they are the only veterans "not represented there."
"We plan to fight for it and we plan to get it even if we have to go all the way to the White House," past Commander-in-Chief Morris G. Oesterreich of Milwaukee, Wis., said.
DISPROVE TRADITION
The other battle of the 20,000 surviving Spanish-American war veterans is to disprove the tradition that "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."
Many of the 258 delegates and about 1,000 members of associated groups are already planning to attend next year's encampment in Louisville, Ky.
The patriotic remnants of America's last 100 per cent volunteer army claim, "We are going to carry on until the last member is gone. We are kind of a stubborn bunch, you know."
Yesterday the veterans elected William C. Samzenbacher, 86, of Toledo, Ohio, to the coveted post of junior vice commander-in-chief. This post is the first step toward the commander-in-chief's chair.

'Quickie Divorce Mill'
Operates in Alabama
GENEVA, Ala. (AP) — Geneva County's old "quickie divorce mill" apparently is operating again at full capacity.
The Alabama Bar Association reported yesterday that more than 2,500 divorces have been filed in the county during the past year despite strong bar association rulings against the easy divorces.

Brazil's Goulart Warns Foes

Vows Crackdown on Reform Opponents

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — President Joao Goulart warned last night he would crack down on anyone trying to block his reform programs.
"The Brazilian president's words were interpreted as a warning to outspoken Guanabara State Gov. Carlos Lacerda who in a recent newspaper interview said Brazil was not ready for agrarian reform — one phase of Goulart's program.
Although making no direct reference to Lacerda in a television radio speech, Goulart said the government "would not permit free action by those who intend to halt the realization of structural reforms."
Goulart also attacked Lacerda's prediction that the government would fall before the end of the year.
"The government will not let the federative family suffer threats or be destroyed by the irresponsible and unpatriotic action of those who don't make themselves worthy of the mandate of the people," Goulart said.

Goulart also attacked Lacerda's prediction that the government would fall before the end of the year.
"The government will not let the federative family suffer threats or be destroyed by the irresponsible and unpatriotic action of those who don't make themselves worthy of the mandate of the people," Goulart said.
"The government of the republic will assure the national integrity at any cost."
Shortly before the broadcast, Brazil's military forces were put on the alert against possible trouble.
Goulart in effect admitted that his ambitious three-year economic development plan had failed so far but blamed this on the failure of legislatures to pass land banking and tax structure laws.
Just before Goulart started speaking, his 7-year-old son, Joao Vicente, rushed in front of the cameras and cried out: "Daddy, mommy pinched me."
The president appeared to lose his composure temporarily as he looked around for someone to take the child away.

OU Names Director of Special Programs
Dr. Russell E. Elliott, director of public relations for the YMCA of Metropolitan Detroit, has been appointed director of professional development programs in the division of continuing education, Oakland University, Associate Dean Lowell Eklund announced.
In the newly created post, Elliott will be responsible for developing conferences, seminars, evening courses and other business and industrial programs.

'Lilies of the Field'

New Movie Reaches the Heart
By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Once in a rare while a movie comes along with a gentle humanity that communicates directly to the heart. "Lilies of the Field" is such a film.
A young Negro construction worker, drifting through the Southwest in his station wagon, stops for water at a ranch house inhabited by five immigrant nuns.
The mother superior believes his visit is providential, that he has been sent to help them build a chapel in which the local citizens could worship. He does—against all odds and his own better judgment—then drifts on.
It is a simple tale that might have emerged a trifle, except for the loving care that obviously went into its making. Working on makes the movie. It is as warm as a 644.00 budget, near Tucson, Ariz., the producer-director in "Marty" and may well win evokes from James Poe's script a beautiful parable that enriches the human spirit.
Yet it never wallows in sentiment. The mother nun, well played by Vienna Lilla Skala, never loses her toughness. Her unwilling charge, Sidney Poitier, remains a realist to the end.
REMAINS BAPTIST
There is no dogma, no preaching, no conversion. The visitor remains a Baptist.
Nor is it a race-problem picture. Poitier's color seldom is a factor in the dialogue. During a fiesta scene with Mexican-Americans who are helping build the church, he is called a gringo. He grins and reflects: "I don't know whether that's a step up or a step down from something else I've been called."
Poitier's performance is what makes the movie. It is as warm as a 644.00 budget, near Tucson, Ariz., the producer-director in "Marty" and may well win evokes from James Poe's script a beautiful parable that enriches the human spirit.
"Lilies of the Field" is a triumph for Ralph Nelson, a television veteran whose only previous film was "Requiem for a Heavyweight."
"NEW KIND OF LOVE"
"A New Kind of Love" is dedicated to the proposition that any stars can play comedy. This is false.
The new Paramount film casts Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward in a Parisian tale of confused identity. The comedy is forced and largely unfunny.
Mr. and Mrs. Newman seem ill-fitted for this sort of thing. Yet both are expert performers and perhaps should not be faulted. Not even Cary Grant and Doris Day have brought much gaiety to the soggy script.

2 U. of M. Men to Join Navy Antarctic Project

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Two University of Michigan men will be going along on the Navy Operation Deep Freeze '64 to the antarctic next year. They'll be taking movies and still pictures.

The two, invited by the Navy, are Mack Woodruff, producer, and John Alley, cameraman. They'll make their pictures for the university geology department.

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The normally staid U.S. Weather Bureau here enthused over the brightness and position of the moon last night sent the following note on its teletype wire:

"Hey everyone . . . look at that moon . . . to the east . . . wowie!"

"Whatever our respective preferences in regard to Negroes and white persons attending separate schools," the educators said, "we must squarely face that fact that the practice is too expensive to maintain."

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis told the Ecumenical Council today

The American prelate, one of the council's liberal group, said that all of the reforms under consideration—such as those in the liturgy and organization of the church—depend on getting

He said unfortunately preaching today is often done in a "desultory manner," as if it were incidental to the liturgy.

Augustine Cardinal Bea, head of the secretariat for Christian unity, followed Cardinal Ritter with a plea for more accurate study of biblical texts, which are being cited by council speakers as well as in the document now under debate on the nature of the church.

Bea, former head of the Pontifical Biblical Institute and one of the world's most noted Catholic biblical scholars, strongly im-

CHAS. KUHN

The comic strip is divided into two panels. In the first panel, the three little pigs are gathered around a large, round object, possibly a piece of food or a pot. One pig is looking at it with a surprised expression, while the other two are looking on. The text in the panel reads: "PASTER RECOVERING CONSCIOUSNESS?" and "NEITHER!". In the second panel, the three little pigs are shown in a state of panic, running away from a large, dark, shadowy figure that looms over them. The text in the panel reads: "PASTER RECOVERING CONSCIOUSNESS?" and "NEITHER!".

Coordinate Textbook, Class

BY THE READING
LABORATORY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise
Association

We've just passed the halfway point in our 30 articles, so let's take a brief backward look to see what we've covered.

By now, you should be developing a point of view for each course—trying to find the purpose behind each course.

You've studied the instructor—what are his biases, what is he trying to accomplish. You're trying to bring your outside knowledge into each course and are in the process of developing a course vocabulary.

By now, you've found the proper environment, just the right little cubbyhole where you can study best, and you're budgeting your time—studying in spurts to help your memory.

You've overworked the textbook, using the table of contents and unit summaries, or whatever other aids were available.

You overview each unit as you come to it, and finally, you apply the "survey and reserve" method to each textbook chapter.

In connection with the "survey and reserve" method, we have discussed maps and graphs, memorization and the best ways to become an active reader.

NO PROBLEM

If your teacher just follows the textbook, you've no problem. If you fall asleep in class, you can always find all you need to know in the textbook that night.

But most teachers just use the text as a general guide; their class lectures may concentrate on points that are only briefly mentioned in the book, if at all.

In a case like this, a little planning can save you a lot of work. The night before you should do: The night before the class, survey the next textbook chapter a couple of times.

Use the old print, the summary, the maps and the graphs. Don't dig into it too deeply—just get a general idea of what's in the chapter and some idea of how detailed the chapter is.

In class, the next day, you need to take notes only on what is not in the textbook. There's no point in reworking the textbook in class.

A good overview the night before (it takes only 10 minutes) will save a lot of unnecessary scribbling during class and will give you a chance to really listen to the teacher for a change.

TEXT BACKGROUND

Ideally then, your text will provide the background that will let you take an intelligent part in class discussions. If your teacher marks for class participation, work up questions on the text the night before and bring them up in class.

Make sure they're good questions; those that are only time-wasters will pull your mark down.

Briefly then: If your teacher

If he uses the text for background, overview the chapter the night before class and take lecture notes only on what is not in the text.

(NEXT: How to take notes in class.)

Students Go to Protest

'No Vote on College

BAY CITY (AP)—Some 300 Delta College students left today in a convoy of 65 cars to protest personally to James P. O'Neill, of the State Board of Education, on his vote against permitting establishment of a privately financed, degree-granting college as an adjunct to their junior-level state institution.

O'Neill, a Livonia Republican, arranged to meet the students at Livonia's Civic Center Club.

Man Admits Theft Attempt

Richard K. Allen, 30, of 7 Short, yesterday pleaded guilty in Circuit Court to attempted larceny from a building in an Aug. 11 incident at Simms Brothers, Inc., 98 N. Saginaw.

Though originally charged with breaking and entering, Allen was permitted to plead to the lesser charge before Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem. Ziem sent sentencing for Oct. 28.

Police said Allen was caught as he ran from the building.

Man Charged in 5-Shot Fray

A Pontiac man gave himself up to Pontiac Police yesterday morning, about nine hours after he fled the scene of a shooting.

Willie Clay, 40, of 34 Iowa walked into the police station and said he was the man detectives were seeking in the shooting of John Wilkerson Jr., 29, of Detroit.

Wilkerson was shot five times in a home at 33 Iowa at 1 a.m. yesterday. He is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital.

Clay was charged with assault with intent to murder and was arraigned before Municipal Court Judge Cecil McCallum.

Clay pleaded innocent and a pretrial hearing was scheduled for next Wednesday. He was released on $500 bond.

Witnesses told police that Wilkerson was shot when he asked Clay to leave the house.

Man Pleads Guilty to Lesser Charge

A Pontiac man charged with gambling and possession of gambling equipment pleaded guilty yesterday to the lesser charge of being disorderly and engaging in an illegal occupation.

Arthur Sabourin, 404 N. East Blvd., entered the plea before Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem, who scheduled sentencing for Oct. 28.

Sabourin was arrested last March for allegedly conducting a dice game behind Scrib's Bar and Restaurant, 130 S. Telegraph.

Discuss Visit of Aides

RECEIVING Hospital massaged the heart of a 17-year-old girl back into action last night after she had stopped. She had been stabbed in the back in a fight outside a roller skating rink.

The girl, Joan Buckley of Detroit, was in serious condition when she was one of four persons injured in the fight which broke out when a group of roller skaters left the rink.

The meeting to receive a fill-in on the recent visit here of secretary of defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and the report they presented to President Kennedy.

Grateful in His Will

He Left Most to Uncle Sam

Earl E. Sutton, who died Aug.

30 of a heart attack, was grateful to the United States government.

In his will, which was filed yesterday in Oakland County Probate Court, he left the bulk of his modest estate to the federal government.

"It has been my privilege for some years to receive from the United States Government a pension as a World War I veteran,"

Sutton left all of it to the federal government except an antiquique amount estimated at more than 100 years old which he left to the Oakland County Historical Society.

Military Ousts the President of Honduras

Report Heavy Fighting Between Rebels and Civil Guardmen

From Our News Wires
TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — The armed forces today deposed President Ramon Villeda Morales and seized power. Heavy fighting followed and there were reports of "many" dead and wounded.

An army communique from the third military zone said Villeda Morales was overthrown to put a halt to "restlessness and anarchy" in the country and halt "flagrant violations of the constitution and obvious Communist infiltration."

It was the second military coup against a constitutional government in Latin America in eight days. The Dominican regime of President Juan Bosch was toppled last week.

Villeda Morales was deposed just 10 days short of completing six-year mandate. General elections for his successor were scheduled for a week from next Sunday.

CLASHES REPORTED

Sharp clashes were reported between revolting troops and civil guardmen defending Villeda Morales. Shooting was frequent in the streets many hours after the 2:30 a.m. (Pontiac) time, coup.

The army said the coup "responded to the popular clamor" and was "a gesture of authentic patriotism." The military decided to act the communique said, "to rescue the country and restore tranquility in the Honduran family."

The armed forces guaranteed "full respect" for the "lives and rights" of all citizens. They called on the people for "frank and sincere moral cooperation in these crucial moments in the history of our beloved Honduras."

U.S. Defense Department officials indicated that U.S. Navy or other military units would not take part in any unless U.S. nationals or property required protection.

NO ORDERS

Authorities said the Navy, which has powerful warships in the Caribbean at all times, has received no orders to move in the Honduras situation.

There had been some indications Wednesday the U.S. government, irked at a military overthrow of the elected government of President Juan Bosch in the Dominican Republic only last week, was prepared to adopt extraordinary measures to prevent a similar occurrence in Honduras.

Reports to the State Department as of 10:30 a.m. said Villeda Morales was still in the presidential palace.

LA Pitches Veteran Against NY Rookie

NEW YORK (UPI)—Given a terrific lift by the sensational record strikeout pitching of Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers sent World Series veteran Johnny Podres against first-time starter Al Downing today in an effort to make it two straight victories over the New York Yankees.

After yesterday's stunning 5-2 triumph in which the golden-armed Koufax set a series strikeout record of 15, the odds makers reduced the series to even money.

They established the Yankees as 7-5 favorites to win the second game, however, which would send the teams winging to Los Angeles all even at one victory each.

McNamara, Taylor:
Viet War Going Well

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's military advisers have told him the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam is going well enough that it may be possible to withdraw most of the American forces there in two years, the White House reports.

In a statement issued only hours after the return from Viet Nam of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, there was no indication of any dramatic change of American policy toward the South Viet Nam government.

The two officials said the political situation in South Viet Nam remains "deeply serious."

But they predicted that by the end of this year the U.S. training program for Vietnamese would have reached the point where 1,000 military personnel assigned to South Viet Nam can be withdrawn.

The White House said last night's declaration was approved by Kennedy on the basis of recommendations of McNamara and Taylor, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

CHIEF OBJECTIVE

It said that South Viet Nam's security remains "a major interest of the United States and of other free nations" and that putting down the Viet Cong insurgency is the chief objective of U.S. policy there.

Johnny will enter today's game with a 3-1 mark in Series competition, including his never-to-be-forgotten 24 victory over the Yankees that gave the Dodgers the 1955 Series and the only championship they ever won while in Brooklyn.

IMPRESSIVE RECORD

A 22-year-old medium-sized left-hander, Downing has more impressive season credentials than Podres. Brought up to the Yankees from their Richmond farm club in the International League on June 2, Downing won 13 games and lost only five.

But — and right now it is the big "but" of the Series — Downing is a rookie in all but the purest technical sense. Not since Frank Shea in 1947 have the Yankees called upon so inexperienced a pitcher to carry such a heavy load.

City Gets Plan for $2.5-Million Building Zone

Planners Pass Along
Okay for Change at Telegraph Road Site

Pontiac planning commissioners last night recommended rezoning a seven-acre site on Telegraph Road for a proposed $2.5-million apartment house development.

The site lies on the East side of Telegraph between Edna and Hazel.

A Residential-3 zoning, which allows multifamily dwelling units, was requested for the property by J. Phillip Levant of Henros Building Co., Detroit.

The land is currently zoned Residential-1, which limits its use to single family homes.

The recommendation will go to city commissioners for acceptance or rejection next Tuesday night.

One highlight of the proposed development is a central court-recreation area with swimming pool, tennis courts and putting green for golfing tenants.

Levant said preliminary plans called for about 230 one- and two-bedroom apartment units.

WILL EXPAND

"Initially, we will probably build about 100 units and then expand as demand for more units dictates," Levant explained.

The ultimate development would consist of eight buildings, 2½ stories high, grouped around central courts.

Estimated range of rental is $90 to $125 monthly on a lease basis. Parking space for one car per unit would be provided and the entire development would be privately owned and financed.

The same firm developed Clarkston Gardens, a 200-home subdivision near Clarkston.

If the City Commission accepts the planning commission recommendation, a public hearing and final action on the rezoning would be slated in several weeks.

High Winds, Tornado Cause Extensive Damage in State

From Our News Wires
Strong winds caused extensive damage over the southern half of Michigan's Lower Peninsula last night as a quick-forming band of thunderstorms raced across it.

Damage ran into thousands of dollars and state police reported a small tornado struck near Reed City, 60 miles north of Grand Rapids. No injuries were reported, however.

The most damage appeared to have been along the Lake Michigan shore.

Extensive damage was reported to the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad ferry dock at Ludington, where the Ludington-Milwaukee ferry, Badger, was blown from her mooring and out into Lake Michigan.

DAMAGE TERMINAL

Damage was estimated at $15,000 to $18,000 on the Chesapeake & Ohio Lake Michigan Car Ferry terminal at Ludington where two ships were torn from their moorings, a passenger ramp was demolished and one empty freight car was dumped into Pere Marquette Lake. No injuries were reported.

Brian Draper, a Scottsville High School student, reported his automobile was blown off U.S. 10 between Scottsville and Ludington. Although the car rolled over several times, Draper was unhurt.

The reported tornado outside Reed City wrecked a 55-foot house trailer owned by J. V. Sorvari of Detroit and ripped the roof off a barn on the Keith Young farm.

After cutting a swath for a mile through a rural area, the twister lifted, tearing the tops out of a grove of trees as it did so.

The storm struck the Detroit and Pontiac area about 10:00 p.m. It had abated somewhat by that time and heavy winds and rains were all that struck the Wayne County area.

Good Days Ahead, Says Weatherman

Fair through Friday is the weatherman's forecast for the Pontiac area.

Temperatures will continue warm, the high reaching near 76 tomorrow. The low is expected to fall to near 48 tonight.

Saturday's outlook is partly cloudy and mild, with a chance of a few showers.

During the night 2 of an inch in rain fell in the downtown area. Fifty-three was the low temperature preceding 8 a.m.

By 1 p.m. the thermometer had registered 59.

Rusk, Gromyko Produce Little Accord in Talks

Agreement to Outlaw Nuclear Arms From
'Orbiting Satellites

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko have indicated a possibility of agreement to ban nuclear weapons from orbiting space satellites.

But their talks so far have produced no specific accord on that or any other issue.

Rusk and Gromyko met for a three-hour discussion over dinner last night at the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

U.S. sources commented on the "cordial atmosphere" of the parley, the first exclusively U.S.-Soviet high level meeting since the signing of the limited test-ban treaty two months ago.

They said Gromyko appears interested in some further limited disarmament accord, though just what remains unclear.

It was tentatively agreed that Gromyko would go to Washington sometime next week for further talks, including a meeting with President Kennedy.

'AGREEMENT POSSIBLE'

Gromyko told newsmen that "agreement is quite possible" on outlawing orbiting nuclear weapons. He said "the question is promising" because "in substance I think our views coincide."

Rusk agreed before seeing Gromyko that "our policy is pretty much the same" on this issue. After the meeting he said no conclusions were reached but "we were very much interested in the possibilities of other steps we might be able to take, particularly in the disarmament field."

In the U.S. view, there is no military need to orbit nuclear weapons because they can be fired more efficiently from ground bases. There could be difficulties in policing a formal agreement in space weapons, however.

State Unit OKs Appellate Plan

A legislative subcommittee headed by State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, yesterday approved a recommendation that Michigan's new appellate court be split into nine single-judge districts.

Consideration of the boundaries for the districts is set for next week.

Tentative plans call for Oakland County to be coupled with Livingston and Shiawassee counties to form one of three districts in the suburban division.

Moon Probe Detailed by Navy Doctor

The first moon astronauts may land at night, Dr. Norman L. Barr, former Navy scientist and physician, told members of the Oakland County Medical Society last night.

Dr. Barr, who aided in the selection and training of the Mercury astronauts, discussed the U.S. moon shot at the medical society meeting at the Kingsley Inn and outlined the major medical problems.

Any landing on the moon will probably be made at dusk or at night, he said, because the extreme cold temperatures might prove easier to control than the hot.

Temperatures on the moon range from minus 250 to plus 212 degrees, he added.

PROBE MOON'S SURFACE

Dr. Barr said three principle activities will be conducted during the first visit to the moon. A chemical and physical analysis will be made of the surface, but most important will be an analysis of the subsurface.

Moon astronauts may drill to a distance of five feet to examine the subsurface. Their foremost concern will be to find water.

Several factors, Dr. Barr explained, will make exploring the moon difficult. Besides the extreme temperatures, the astronauts will be exposed to meteorites. These could puncture their space suits and kill them in just a few seconds.

The lack of gravity and the rugged terrain will make moon walking difficult.

MOON HOLDS SURPRISE

Landing on the moon may also hold a surprise for the first visitors, Dr. Barr said.

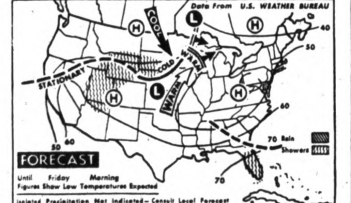

A dust that covers the moon's surface may be four inches or 40 inches thick. "We won't know until we get there," he quipped.

Now in private practice in Royal Oak and a research consultant each for several government and private agencies, Dr. Barr entered the space program in 1947 while working in the Navy.

FRENZY OVER GRAIN—This tumultuous scene is the floor of the world's largest grain exchange in Chicago yesterday. Russia's need for wheat has greatly stimulated sales, and prices have risen as much as 24 cents a bushel in the last month.

Dirksen for Wheat Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today he is inclined to support gold-on-the-barrel deal to sell wheat to Russia if some fringe benefits are involved.

This statement in an interview indicated that President Kennedy might be able to rally the king of GOP leadership support associates said he wants before he decides on any deal with the Soviets.

So far, neither the White House nor the Kremlin has given any word that Russia has offered to buy American wheat. In Winnipeg, Leonid Matveev, head of the Soviet grain board and chief negotiator in Russia's $500 million purchase of Canadian wheat, said

Pigeons May Carry Disease

New York Eyes Bird Purge

NEW YORK (UPI)—A death sentence may be sought for the city's estimated 5 million pigeons. They are believed to carry an often-fatal form of meningitis.

The department of health disclosed yesterday it was considering a request to the State Legislature for permission to carry out a mass extermination of the birds.

Studies carried out by the health department show that 36 per cent of pigeon droppings found in the city contain the microbe of cryptococcal meningitis.

The microbe is a fungus which is inhaled when the droppings dry and become dust, causing a respiratory infection. "Many thousands of people have become infected," according to the health department.

The department said that

Model of Determination Mother of 8 a Freshman at OU

By GARY THORNE

Nancy Timbrook, Oakland University freshman, is a model of determination with a straight-A school record.

Credited by a former teacher with the ability to "climb a glass hill on roller skates," Nancy has enrolled at OU with the avowed desire to become a school teacher.

Two scholarship grants—one from the university and another from the Lamphere High School Parent-Teacher-Student Association—are betting that she makes it.

At first glance, this might not appear unique.

But Nancy has eight little reasons to distinguish her from the other pretty coeds on the Rochester campus.

Nancy's youngest reason, Lisa, is 21 months old, while the 28-year-old mother's seven other children range up to Donald Jr., 13.

Combining determination with straight A's, the OU freshman graduated from Lamphere High School, Madison Heights, last June. She completed her last two years of high school after a 14-year lapse.

She dropped out of high school as a 16-year-old sophomore to raise her children. Thus, Nancy gets up extra early in the morning to do her studying.

She welcomes OU's year-round program as ideal for her because she can graduate in two and-a-half years and begin teaching.

Art Show to Demonstrate Beauty in Everyday Life

BIRMINGHAM — The significance of art in everyday life will be illustrated in an exhibition opening Sunday at the Bloomfield Art Association.

The collection of interiors designed to show how art can be used in today's home is entitled "Living with Art."

Some of the artists whose work will be shown are Walter Minder, Glen Michaels, Baltazar Korab, Francis de Erdely, Ruth Taylor, Al Pepczynski and Salli Moran.

Outstanding interior designers in the area have planned a number of interiors around these pieces of fine art.

Among those scheduled to exhibit are Ruth Adler Schneer, nationally known fabric designer and interior planner; Pipsan Searles Swanson, AID, internationally prominent designer; and Hugh Acton, designer and manufacturer of his own contemporary furniture.

Others are Roger Bracey, AID, and Lewis J. Sappington, AID, Birmingham interior designers; James Allison, AID, design coordinator for America House; and Dean Corey, manager of interiors for Triangle Furniture Co.

ARCHITECTS

Landscape Architects Johnson, Johnson and Roy, N.S.L.A., also will be represented.

Open from 2 p.m. daily except Mondays, the exhibition will continue through Oct. 27.

Karen McHalpine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. McHalpine, 6125 Gilbert Lake Road, Bloomfield Township, is among four members of the 1963 homecoming court at Olivet College.

One of the coeds will be chosen to reign over homecoming activities on the campus this week-end.

Valachi Story Will Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph Valachi is billed for another day and a half in the limelight—longer if he can sing well enough about the narcotics racket.

In a switch of plans, Sen. John L. McClellan, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Investigations subcommittee, put off until Tuesday the questioning of Valachi about the big money narcotics rackets in which members of the secret criminal society known as La Cosa Nostra were involved.

CONVICTED KILLER

Testimony of Valachi, a convicted killer and dog peddler, ran longer than expected Wednesday as he told of murder 30 years ago in which the reigning Cosa Nostra "boss of bosses" was cut down in a double cross by rivals.

This was one murder, Valachi said, in which he was not a participant. He has described some he helped to stage—but invariably was somewhere else when the shooting started.

Mcclellan told reporters he is trying to expedite the hearings. Present prospects, he said, are that Valachi can wind up "in a day or a day and a half" as the investigation's star witness.

Space N-Ban Pact Possible in Talks

spread of atomic weapons to nations that don't have them.

CRITICIZES POLARIS

But Gromyko was reported to have linked this proposal with criticism of the U.S.-backed plan for a multi-nation Polaris surface fleet under NATO. The United States denies that the plan is designed to hand over nuclear weapons to West Germany.

In addition to bringing up the previous Soviet proposal for a nonaggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw military groups, Gromyko has suggested cutting back forces in East and West Germany, creation of an atom-free zone in Central Europe and reducing military budgets. The West has rejected similar proposals in the past.

U.S. sources termed last night's talk exploratory.

Rusk had planned to press Gromyko again for removal of Russian troops from Cuba. Because the disarmament issues took up so much time, it was stated, Rusk put the Cuba question and strictly U.S.-Soviet matters aside for discussion when Gromyko goes to Washington.

Rusk was to see Kennedy this morning during a half-day trip to Washington for the visit of Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie. The secretary was to return to New York for an evening session with Gromyko and Britain's Foreign Secretary Lord Home. This is to be the second day of the current three-way parleys. Home is returning to London.

Waterford Registration to Close on Monday

Monday will be the final day for Waterford Township residents to register to vote in the Nov. 5 special election on the proposed incorporation of the township as a city.

The clerk's office will be open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. that day to take registrations.

Enchantress Back in Swing

Giddy NY Dresses Up for Fall

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—No one is quite sober in Manhattan in October.

Everyone drinks the wine of new possibility.

Anything can happen; everything does.

New York City advertises herself as a summer festival, but she is even more of a fall fiesta.

Her fugitive children troop back from their summer hide-aways, mosquito-scarred and full of tales of country adventure. But they really don't start living again until they cross the Bronx line, or enter the Lincoln Tunnel and leave New Jersey behind. Any time spent anywhere but here doesn't count.

SIREN CITY
Now in October the cocoon time is over, and Manhattan again becomes a siren city, the American enchantress.

The word is "big." Everybody has big plans, big dreams, big hopes—the big angle. Every bus, every train, every plane unloads hard-eyed or starry-eyed hopefuls who come here to seek the big chance, to beat the big city down to their size.

A cool wind sweeps away the heat and blows the dirt from new skyscraper holes into your eyes. The subways are packed again with human sardines.

The season of safety is over for the pedestrian. He must hop to it now to make it from sidewalk to sidewalk. A blue haze of gasoline fumes rises from traffic-clogged streets. Truck drivers and cabbies curse each other with boisterous geniality—for who can harbor hate in October?

BOOM, BOOM, BOOM

The hammering sound of new buildings going up and old buildings coming down echoes all day. Crews of workmen seem to rip up every pavement as they lay new utility lines or repair deep potholes.

"What are they all doing?" asks a curious stranger.

"The mayor's just digging for gold," replies a bus driver.

Out in Flushing Meadows Bob Moses and his merry elves are clothing the skeleton of the giant World's Fair in a mad race against time to get the biggest show in history ready by next April. Will they do it? "Yes-sir-ee," our Bob blusters.

Flying footballs replace the thump of baseballs in gloves on city playgrounds. The pigeons outside the Central Park Zoo get fewer handouts, and the polar bears gambol gaily in their chilling pool. Old ladies wait for sunny afternoons to lean pump arms on pillows in tenement windows and stare down with timeless curiosity on the antics of mankind.

QUICKER WALK

Everybody walks a little quicker to match the faster rhythm that pulses through the town. Got to get a move on if they're going to close that big deal and earn enough money for a big Christmas.

A fresh glitter comes to tawdry Broadway. Old shows close. New shows open—and some close. But in Tin Pan Alley the pianos go on tinkling forever.

On Fifth Avenue, the fabulous store windows drip with furs and jewels. Along the Bowers, bums shiver and wonder where they'll get an overcoat. In expensive restaurants the gin and tonic gives way to the vodka martini. At night a tawny moon glides Wall Street's business temples with enchantment, and shimmers on the Hudson and East rivers, and makes the small sturdy bugs look like little water bugs carrying lanterns in search of something lost in the dark.

COCKTAIL TIME

"Cocktails between 5 and 7 p.m.," say 10,000 invitations, as the new season gets into full swing.

But life itself is just one big cocktail party in the big town now. Everyone from Park Avenue Cinders to Greenwich Village beatniks shares a feeling of exultant intoxication, for no one is quite sober in Manhattan in October. Who'd want to be?

Shotguns Fire in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Nine persons were wounded, none seriously, by shotgun blasts Wednesday night.

Police were questioning three men today in connection with the shootings. They were not identified.

Maj. Clifford Warren said "This is possibly a retaliatory light involving street gangs. Those wounded were young men in their late teens and early 20s."

"There were about 10 or 15 of us sitting on the front porch," said Charles Kelly, 22, one of those wounded.

Witnesses said a green sedan stopped in front of the house and the men in the car fired five or six shots at the group on the porch, then drove off.

A short time later, a car similar to the one involved in the first shooting sped by the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Higgins. A shotgun blast was fired from the car, slightly wounding the Higginses as they sat on their front porch.

A sawed-off barrel from a shotgun was found in the street near the Higgins home.

Kennedy Will Weekend at Camp David Retreat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy intends to spend the weekend at Camp David, Md. The White House said yesterday the chief executive expected to fly to the secluded camp in the Catoctin Mountains Saturday afternoon and return to Washington Monday morning.

ROYAL OAK — Assistant Police Chief Herman Potts will take over as chief Oct. 15, City Manager Bruce W. Love has announced. Potts, 52, succeeds Ray J. Hayward, who retired after 38 years on the force.

Hospital Unit Tells Doubling of Patient Cost

LANSING — The average daily cost per patient in Michigan hospitals has more than doubled in the last 10 years, reports the Michigan Hospital Association.

The average cost of $19.22 in 1952 rose to $40.33 a day in 1962, said the association in its annual report based on answers to questionnaires sent to the state's 254 hospitals.

Patient care expenditures rose about 6 per cent in 1962, compared to 1961, as $510.1 million was spent. More than two-thirds of patient care costs went for hospital personnel.

The association also reported that on any given day, 47 per cent of all patients in Michigan hospitals were in psychiatric institutions, even though only four-tenths per cent of all admissions during 1962 were to psychiatric hospitals.

Cows Won't Produce Without Their Serenade

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (UPI) — Dairywomen in the Bay of Islands area complained today that their cows don't produce so well on Sunday mornings because of the lack of music on a local radio station.

On weekdays, the station begins playing records at 6 a.m. On Sundays, the music starts two hours later.

Second president of the National Geographic Society was Alexander Graham Bell.

Witness Claims Christine Swore to Jail Ex-Lover

LONDON (UPI) — A witness testified today that call girl Christine Keeler, in a mood she never displayed to ex-War Minister John Profumo or any of her other famous friends, swore she would "get" a discarded Jamaican lover who had tried to see her again.

A capacity crowd in Dingy Marybone Magistrate's Court heard further revelations of the other side of the double life of the girl who started the Profumo scandal with tea on the stately lawns of Lord Astor's estate.

The witness, bearded West Indian Clarence Camachio, said he was present the night of April 17-18 when Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon, a jazz singer, grappled with her at the door of her home.

"I'm going to get him," he quoted the 21-year-old redhead as saying later. "I'm not going to let him get away with this."

CONSPIRACY
Miss Keeler and three codefendants are being given a hearing in Magistrate's Court on charges of conspiracy and perjury in framing Gordon into a three-year jail term.

His sentence was quashed by the court of criminal appeal.

you saw any blood on her at any time?"
"Certainly no blood at all," Camachio replied.

It seems that boll weevils don't really like cotton. Instead, say USDA scientists, they have a weakness for water that can be extracted from cotton plants.

Press Enthusiastic

Greeks Warm for Jackie

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — The Greek press greeted Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy with warm enthusiasm today and the public respected her wish for a restful vacation in privacy.

There were some reports she might leave her rented seaside villa today to meet King Paul at the royal palace.

One Greek newspaper, reporting the arrival of the President's wife yesterday for a two-week vacation, called her "more beautiful than on her first visit here two years ago."

All of Athens' morning newspapers carried front-page photos of Mrs. Kennedy smiling at Chrysanthemis Papacostas, the 12-year-old Greek girl who had a heart operation in the United States through the First Lady's intercession.

PRAISE SUIT
Two Greek women reporters praised Mrs. Kennedy's black suit and simple long, straight hairdo.

The President's wife went straight to the villa overlooking the Aegean Sea 15 miles from Athens. She spent the evening resting from the long jet flight from New York, during which she requested oxygen because she was tired, according to a spokesman.

Greeks respected her desire for privacy while recovering from the death of her third child Aug. 7, less than two days after his birth.

Local residents did not hang around the villa, and the only visible fans were a vacationing British couple who waited in vain for three hours in a car on the road near the villa for a glimpse of Mrs. Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy was met at the airport by her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, who spent part of the evening with her at the villa and then met with Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis to plan the cruise aboard his yacht Christina.

An average family today has twice as much life insurance as 25 years ago and at least four times as much in personal savings, according to government estimates.

For 1964... Comet announces a car that's every bit as hot as it looks...

Comet Caliente

This is the beginning of a new kind of Comet. Hot, husky, handsome—top series in Comet's robust new lineup. Engines range up to a 4-barrel Cyclone 289 cu. in. V-8 in all 1964 Comets.

four engines: two V-8's including a big new optional Cyclone 289 cu. in. V-8, most responsive in the compact-price field. Two lively, thrifty "6's" round out the line. And with this hot new engine choice comes a far wider choice of Comets.

Now Comet offers 3 series... each bold and racy: the top-of-the-line Caliente, and the economical Comet 202 and 404 series. Ten models in all... convertibles, sedans, hardtops, wagons, bucket-seaters. Big choice of transmissions, too. Comet has four of the best—both manual and automatic—including a smooth, silent new Multi-Drive Merc-O-Matic like nothing this side of the costliest luxury cars.

"Caliente" means hot... in Spanish. And this new Comet speaks the language. Notice its bold lines and new, wider, road-gripping stance. It looks hot. And it is take your pick from

Elegance at a compact price
The prime example of Comet elegance is Comet's finest series, the Caliente. It's in a class by itself... with the warm look of walnut on its dash, steering wheel and door panels...lavish biscuit-pattern upholstery...and unusual spaciousness for a compact-price car.

Power steering... power brakes...
AM-FM radio...air conditioning...even luxury option is available. You can even get... but not! There's only one way to learn all about the new Comet. Ask your Mercury dealer.

Negro Held in Latest B'ham Blast

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A young Negro was charged with arson today in the investigation of a gas explosion which destroyed a meat market in a Negro residential area of bomb-jittery Birmingham.

Police Capt. J. W. Garrison said two detectives are investigating the possibility of racial undertones in Wednesday night's explosion. The Negro, Johnny Lewis Ruffin, 20, was placed under police custody less than two hours after an explosion rocked the single story brick store, operated by white owners.

QUESTIONED AT HOSPITAL

Garrison said Ruffin was questioned at University Hospital, where he was treated for burns of the left arm, side and thigh. Ruffin said he received the burns from a gasoline stove where he worked.

Ruffin was picked up by a cab about a block away from the store explosion, Garrison said. The store is run by Negro low-income homes in northwest Birmingham.

Police sped to the scene when the explosion report was received and ringed off the area from traffic. There was no rioting or disturbances, and Negroes in the neighborhood stood quietly in front of their homes.

The store is located about 16 blocks away from the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church, which was bombed on Sept. 15, killing four Negro girls.

Is Sukarno After U.S. Ouster?

By PHIL NEWSOM

In Hot and dusty Jakarta this week, the price of rice had doubled over that of two months ago. In two years the cost of living had tripled and a month's pay for the average Indonesian could be expected to last less than two weeks.

None of this seemed likely to be of great concern to Indonesian President Sukarno who long ago proved himself a man of nine lives as far as Indonesians were concerned, and who early proved to himself that in a world dedicated to peace, the role of a swash-buckler has many advantages.

But both the price of rice and Sukarno himself are of concern to the United States.

There is a mounting suspicion that Sukarno intends to eliminate not only Dutch and British influence from Southeast Asia, but U.S. influence as well.

As a ruler of a newly independent nation, Sukarno has enjoyed the best of three worlds. In Indonesia, he has been named president for life.

The Soviet Union built his military machine, and the United States sustained him economically.

"Without United States help, the Indonesian economy would not last five minutes," remarked a British diplomat a few days ago.

In his mind were the fire-blackened ruins of the British Embassy and the British women and children flown from Indonesia when Sukarno loosed rioters against British installations in Jakarta as part of his confirmation against formerly British-held Malaysia.

In his mind also were the British business houses taken over by Sukarno on the claim it was to prevent their seizure by labor unions.

ANOTHER TAKE-OVER

To the British, it had the unpleasant ring of events leading up to Indonesian take-over of West New Guinea from the Dutch.

Sukarno never has been a man to permit logic to interfere with rhetoric.

And so it was not especially surprising that he denounced independent Malaysia as a British neo-colonial plot to surround 100 million Indonesians with some 10 million Malaysians.

It followed also then that Sukarno should be described as a "blessing in disguise" his action in cutting off trade relations with Malaysia, which normally takes about 27 per cent of all Indonesian exports.

In the end, he said, it would make the Indonesian economy stronger.

UNHAPPY FUTURE

With Indonesian-trained guerrillas menacing its new borders in North Borneo and Sarawak, the immediate future of Malaysia is not a particularly happy one.

But there also are signs that Sukarno may be running out of his string of luck.

Both Britain and Australia are pledged to come to Malaysia's defense in the event of Indonesian attack.

The British are making comparisons to Munich and the events leading up to World War II, and wondering ably how long an aggressor can be appeased.

The United States has suspended a $300 million program of aid to Indonesia, and the Soviet Union reportedly is concerned over a possible extension of Red Chinese influence in Southeast Asia as a result of Sukarno's actions.

As for Indonesians and their rice shortage, the prospects are for worse things to come. Because Sukarno now must find the money to pay for imports.

PNH Can't Afford to Underrate Berkley

Northern Seeks 4th Victory

If Pontiac Northern coach Bob Dingman was worried about the unbeaten Huskies not taking Friday opponent Berkley too lightly, those fears should be eased thanks to Walled Lake.

The latter, also unbeaten and expected to contend with PNH for the Inter-Lakes League championship, journeyed confidently into the Bears' den last Friday night and just managed to escape with a 7-0 win.

Now it is Northern's turn to sample the Berkley hospitality which apparently will be anything but generous. Much attention will be on the game as it will be the first real opportunity to compare PNH and Walled Lake.

Currently, the two teams are tied for the 10th spot in the weekly AP state Class A high school football poll. They have identical 3-4 marks and are driving toward a showdown Oct. 18th.

The Huskies do not appear to have any serious problems at this stage of the season. One chink in the armor — penalties — was improved last week.

The first two games saw rules infractions repeatedly detected against PNH; but the Waterford game last week had only five violations setting the Northern eleven back.

SOLID ATTACK

Dingman has developed a varied offense in his first year with the Huskies. Mike Samulow has the speed, Steve Daniels shows power, Jim Kimmel handles the passing and team captain Don Weyer provides leadership and a blend of the others' talents to complete the backfield.

Kicking specialist Dean Souden and Tom Nichols are capable receivers and spearhead a line that has size and determination, although lacking speed.

Samulow and Souden have accounted for 30 and 24 points, respectively, with their efforts. Kimmel has connected on four touchdown passes and plunged for another six-pointer.

Berkley's offense has had its problems. The Bears tallied all 19 of their points in the Livonia Franklin game, failing to generate any punch against tough Ferndale and Walled Lake.

Coach Irv Wilson must find the right combination this week in practice if Berkley is to even its overall record at 2-2 and 1-1 in the I-L race Friday.

Mephisto Visits Armory

The Great Mephisto "And Val-et" will battle Rick "Crusher" Cortez in the top wrestling bout Saturday night at the Pontiac National Guard Armory.

A six-man elimination match will open the five-bout card at 8:30 p.m.

Toughest Foe Is Pontiac Central Woe Friday Night

Pontiac Central goes on the road Friday to play what could be the Chiefs toughest football opponent of the season.

PCH will tangle with high scoring Flint Central in Atwood Stadium at 8 p.m. The Indians have stormed past three foes with ease.

Coach Paul Dellerba has seen the Chiefs improve with each game. Although winless in three starts, the Orange and Black has impressed with stronger line play and improved offense.

The defensive secondary showed a definite weakness against passes in the last setback and it can expect little letup from Flint Central.

The Indians have a good passer in quarterback Tiny Lassiter. Charles Hoy supplies the speed in the Tribe backfield.

Flint Central, coached by Bob Leach, has been somewhat of a surprise. The Indians were mentioned in the pre-season ratings.

ROLLING ALONG

They wasted no time becoming contenders by blasting Port Huron, 45-0, in a nonleague opener, and then ripping what was supposed to be a good Bay City Handy team, 44-9. They kept right on rolling over Saginaw last week, 34-6.

Saginaw had been the surprise in the Valley up to that time with a 7-4 conquest of Arthur Hill and a 26-13 decision over favored Midland.

Arthur Hill downed PCH 34-0 and the Chemics tripped the Chiefs, 25-7.

Dellerba is not expected to make any major changes in the lineup.

Jim Gators may have earned a starting berth at halfback off his running against Midland. Jim Crump, a 200-pounder who had been doing the linebacking, switched to offensive fullback and was impressive in the first half against the Chemics.

The Chiefs are stronger at quarterback than last year. When Bob Wiggins was injured against Arthur Hill and sidelined for an indefinite period, sophomore Jerry Murphy stepped in.

He proved against Midland that he could handle the ball adequately and passed well under pressure.

The Chemics couldn't run through PCH's center and it is doubtful if the Indians will be able to accomplish much in that sector.

But Flint Central, now the third ranked Class A team in the state, has potent passing and good outside speed. The Chiefs have been weak defending against these thrusts.

Long Ace at Highland

Jim Gillette, of 1192 Bielby, scored the 225-yard No. 10 at Highland Hills Golf Course recently.

Gillette used a 2-iron for his hole-in-one and went on to card a 72 over the 18-hole course.

Playing with Gillette were Chuck Hudson, of Pontiac; Bill Abare, of Clarkston; and Ray Gates, of White Lake Township.

Prep Field Goal Record in Doubt After 50-Yarder

FLINT UPD — The controversy over Michigan's longest high school field goal gained momentum today after Flint Holy Redeemer's Rob Lamielle kicked one 50 yards last Sunday in a 29-6 victory over host Bay City St. James.

One "chump" was dethroned and another was crowned.

A recheck of records revealed that Battle Creek Central's Jim Yore, who was credited Wednesday with a record 56-yard boot about 10 years ago, had kicked only a 38-yarder.

However, Lamielle's long one was surpassed by Cheboygan Catholic's Joe Poirer, Nov. 1, 1957, in a 10-0 victory over Alcona. It was reported to have traveled at least 53 yards from the point of the kick to the goalposts.
