History's Greatest Charity:

Father, Forgive Them; for They Know Not What They Do

Says Eastman Cold From Start

Straley Got Bad 1st Impression

By MAX E. SIMON

Suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley saw storm clouds on the horizon when he met George D. Eastman.

The two men came face-to-face for the first time in December of 1957. Eastman was in the city as a consultant of the Public Administration Service of Chicago, which was investigating Police Department problems.

"He didn't even bother to stand up as he shook hands with me," Straley told the Civil Service Commission last night.

"This left a very bad impression of the the man with me."

The Commission is holding a hearing into removal charges against Straley, suspended Feb. 9 by City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Willman filed charges against Straley that were drawn up by Eastman, whom he hired as public safety director to implement the PAS report.

The PAS report was highly critical of Straley's administration.

The chief denied he had not cooperated with Samuel G. Chapman, a PAS investigator who authored the controversial report.

COMPLETE FREEDOM

Chapman was given an office, introduced to everyone in the department, and had complete freedom to roam about the station, Straley said.

"Three or four times a week I'd look in on him and ask: 'How're you getting along, Sam?' and 'Is there anything I can do to help you?' "

Straley admitted he failed to keep one appointment with Chapman, but said it was because of a meeting of police chiefs he couldn't leave in Detroit.

"I telephoned back," Straley said. "I wasn't aware he was disturbed until I heard his testimany at this hearing."

Chapman, the first prosecution witness, charged that Straley often failed to keep appointments. "That was absolutely not true," the chief snapped.

One thing "bothering" him, the chief said, was that the city's contract with PAS called for two men to survey the department.

"Chapman was only 28 and a police officer for four years," Straley said. "I waited for a second man of mature age and great experience in law enforcement work to arrive.

"A second man — his name, I think, was Charles James — finally arrived and I was greatly relieved. But the next day he received a telegram from Chicago headquarters ordering him to Hawaii."

Then, one day in December of 1957, Straley said he saw Chapman talking to a second man (Eastman) in the PAS investigator's office.

INTRODUCED HIMSELF

"I didn't bother to ask about it, but I did wonder if this was the second man," Straley said.

"Since they didn't see me that day, the next morning I went in and introduced myself."

A few days later Eastman interviewed Straley in the chief's office for 25 minutes, Straley said.

"He was lacking in any sense of cordiality and the interview was conducted in a cool, un-

Father of Two, Special Deputy Are Victims

Accident Occurred at Eagle Lake Crossing Last Night

A father of two and a special deputy of the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. were killed instantly yesterday evening when their car was struck by a passenger train near Davisburg.

Pontiac State Police identified the victims as Eugene L. Kirchmeyer, 41, of 661 Broadway St., Davisburg, and Donald J. Cummings, 20, of 4721 Maycrest St., Waterford Township.

The smashup occurred at a Grand Trunk Western Railway crossing on Eagle road, about one mile north of Davisburg road in Rose Township about 6:30 p.m.

Troopers today were still attempting to determine who was driving the auto. There were no witnesses.

The crossing was marked, but there were no blinkers or bell signals, police said.

The engineer of the train, Milo Beird, 63, of Vernon, told troopers the train was moving west at about 50 m.p.h.

"Suddenly the car just drove out onto the tracks in front of me," he said. The impact threw the auto 150 feet down the tracks, rolled it over an embankment and down into a ravine.

BOUGHT CAR WEEK AGO

Officers said it would appear that Cummings had been driving. Kirchmeyer owned the 1959 model car, however. He bought it only a week ago.

Kirchmeyer, a member of the Oakland County Sheriff's Posse for several years, had just moved to Davisburg. His wife June, a beautician, had recently bought a beauty shop there.

He was a foreman for the Automatic Sprinkler System Co. of Detroit.

Cummings, an unemployed truck driver, had a son, 2, and a daughter who will be a year old next month. His wife is expecting a baby in several weeks.

This marked the fourth train-car collision in Oakland County this month. In the three previous accidents only one person died.

Last year, four persons were killed in railroad crossing smashups. The total so far this year now stands at three.

Snowstorm Sneaks Into Michigan

An early spring snowstorm caught the state off guard last night, with roads in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula generally snow-covered and slippery this morning.

The Pontiac area had some snow following a heavy rain but traffic was not materially impeded, police said.

The weather forecast calls for colder temperatures in Pontiac tonight with the low tonight between 26 and 32 degrees.

The mercury is expected to reach a high today between 36 and 42.

Tomorrow's weather is expected to be cool and fair with a high of 40-46.

Muskegon was all but paralyzed by the snow. Sections of the port city were without power for several hours as the wet snow downed utility lines and stalled traffic.

Unofficially, about eight inches of snow fell in the area, including Grand Rapids and Rockford.

The storm was described by some old-timers in Muskegon as one of the worst March storms in memory.

A Consumers Power Co. spokesman estimated that 2,000 homes in the Grand Rapids area were without power last night.

Telephone lines were knocked down in many areas, including Paw Paw and Jackson.

Winds of up to 45 miles an hour buffeted the state. Other hard-hit cities were Saginaw and Romeo, which had five inches of snow on the ground.

The Flint area had a mixture of rain, sleet and snow overnight with wind gusts up to 30 m.p.h.

In Grand Rapids officials said rising temperatures today would clear away most of the snow.

The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 29. The thermometer read 40 at 2 p.m.

Spring Snow, Cold Smother Plains, Midwest

By The Associated Press

Cold weather again moved into the plains and the Midwest.

The early spring snow carpet gave the northern areas a Christmaslike scene, two days before Easter.

Northeasterly winds of 20 to 30 m. p. h. whipped the snow into drifts as the storm lashed areas in Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan Thursday and today.

Driving conditions were hazardous.

Nearly a foot of snow was on the ground in La Crosse, Wis. The extensive storm area, centered early this morning in Indiana, was expected to move to the middle Atlantic coastal region by tonight.

Four westbound Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad trains, with 450 passengers, were halted in the western Nebraska-northeast Colorado snow-covered region while communications were restored.

A railroad spokesman said the tracks have been cleared of snow and the trains were halted as a safety precaution.

The blizzard was the third this month for parts of the West and Midwest and was termed one of the worst in five years in eastern Colorado and southern Wyoming.

It left parts of Nebraska under as much as 20 to 25 inches of snow.

Vote Could Be Test for Straley

Civil Service Issue May Try Popularity of Suspended Chief

By PETE LOCHBILER

The April 6 vote on Civil Service could turn out to be a test of the popularity of suspended Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

This unexpected turn of events loomed today as the hearing on Straley's suspension threatened to drag on into the month of April.

As the time element became crucial, city commissioners were advised that the issue to repeal Civil Service must go to the voters, whether the Straley hearing is finished or not.

"I know of no legal machinery which would authorize the City Commission to take the issue off the ballot at this late date," said City Attorney William A. Ewart.

Ewart has seen protracting the hearing past April 6 as a possible tactic on the part of Straley's defense.

But Straley's counsel, Clarence L. Smith, continued to deny this, promising again last night that the hearing would be over before then.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston declared that the possibility of removing the issue from the ballot had been brought up among city commissioners in the past few days.

"However, it has not been given any serious consideration by us, and it's my opinion that we couldn't do it," Rowston said.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans agreed that the issue has to stay on the ballot.

"The ballots have already been printed—the Civil Service repeal question is local proposition number one. Some absentee voters have already cast their ballots."

The city's worries are based on two possibilities:

1. The Straley hearing won't be over by the time voters go to the polls April 6.

2. Despite this, voters will repeal civil service.

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A foray by a big Soviet fishing fleet into waters off Alaska's Bristol Bay touched off protests up and down the north Pacific Coast today.

The presence of the Soviet flotilla in a region where they have never appeared before was viewed as an extension of the economic cold war.

The objections, however vociferous, may be futile because the upwards of 50 trawlers and auxiliary vessels are clustered in international waters where ships of all nations have free access.

But the fact the Soviets aren't violating any international law didn't diminish the chorus of concern.

At Vancouver, B. C. the independent United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union called on the Canadian government to ask the U.S.S.R. to hold back its trawlers.

One thing that makes presence of the Soviets particularly galling to Alaskans is the fact that Bristol Bay, once America's greatest red salmon fishery, has been ordered closed to U. S. fishermen this year because of declining runs.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland News will raise its price to 10 cents a copy starting Monday, the newspaper said today. The boost matches the three-cent hike the Cleveland Press announced yesterday.

Weekly home deliveries will be upped from 42 cents to 50 cents.

The newspaper cited rising costs in labor and newsprint for the price increase.

Report Allies Favor U.S. Plan for Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain, France and West Germany were reported generally favorable today to a U.S. master plan for negotiations with the Soviet Union on the future of Germany.

The aim of the plan is to achieve the unification of West Germany and Communist East Germany in stages over a period of years.

This would begin with creation of a loose federation and end with the conclusion of a German peace treaty.

Limitations on forces in Central Europe and an end to the division of Berlin also are envisioned as the plan progressed.

10TH YEAR FOR NATO

West German representatives will join the talks Wednesday in advance of broader discussions among foreign ministers of all the North Atlantic Treaty powers meeting Thursday for a NATO 10th anniversary session.

The preliminary discussions are pointed toward an East-West foreign ministers meeting in Geneva May 11 and a later summit conference, as proposed to the Soviet Union by the Western powers Thursday.

It is an open question whether the U. S. S. R. would be interested in any part of the U. S. plan or in any other which the Western powers might suggest.

Some officials say there is at least a slight possibility Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may be seriously interested in negotiating an acceptable German settlement.

Others say that whether or not Khrushchev is interested, the Western powers must go into the negotiations with the Soviets prepared to put on the table a set of reasonable proposals which would dramatically demonstrate the willingness of the Western powers to make agreements with the Soviet Union on fair terms.

The detailed program which has now been worked out would begin the merger process by increasing direct contacts between East and West Germany in all sorts of practical ways in such fields as commerce and travel.

A temporary all-German group, possibly to be known as a council, would be created by representatives from the traditional 15 German laender (states) of which 10 are in West Germany with its population of 52 million and 5 in East Germany with its population of 17 million.

The new all-German group would have only limited powers and functions. Its main task would be to pull the two sides of Germany progressively closer together and to ease the shock of social, political and economic adjustment created by changing the conditions which have existed in Germany since the end of World War II.

Meanwhile in further international negotiations, the Soviet Union and the Western powers would work out detailed arrangements for the limitation and eventual reduction and withdrawal of foreign forces on German territory. In addition there would be limitations on native military power in Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia—and possibly Hungary.

An all-German government would be brought into being by free elections throughout Germany after a period of several years.

Circus Lion Roams Loose; 'Possum Battles Policemen

The latter was inadvertently served up to about 2,000 persons attending a dress rehearsal Thursday night of the Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey Circus at Madison Square Garden.

Putting on an impromptu, and terrifying, act for about 10 minutes was Ponto, heavily maned, 800-pound lion, said to be one of the largest of his species in captivity.

He was finally recaptured in the lobby. No one was injured.

Ponto broke through a door of his cage and started roaming around the big arena while a tiger and lion act was in progress.

Temporarily king of all he surveyed, he leaped over the arena rail into a section of seats—which luckily happened to be sparsely populated.

Hans Naumann, the lion's trainer, dashed after Ponto with whip, chair and pistol. Ponto headed for the lobby. It immediately emptied.

Apparently the huge beast was following the scent to other animals in the basement menagerie. He vainly tried to tear down the locked door to the basement.

Frustrated, he tried to climb onto a telephone booth in the lobby. Men with an aerialist's net cornered him there.

Police got a call about a "ferocious wild animal" in a backyard.

Patrolman H. Carpenter and other officers arrived to find the trouble multiplying. Mama possum was giving birth. She showed her teeth.

Officers chased her into a garage and managed to scoop her into a garbage can, babies and all. The officers put the lid on the can and patrolman K. Thuleen and Carpenter started off to the zoo.

Then mama possum flipped the lid and crashed out, seeking revenge. Thuleen stopped the car. They finally got mama back in the can.

When they got to the zoo, the officers turned the can and its contents over to workers and gratefully returned to coping with crime.

Passports Bring Back Memories

Mrs. Vincent S. Dennen can't help but reminisce a bit each time she helps an applicant fill out a form for a passport to Europe.

For Ann, as she is better known to fellow workers in the Oakland County Clerk's Office, met and married her husband in Germany while she was a corporal stationed there in the WACs and he was in the Army.

But now the closest Ann gets to Europe is in the memories which come when she sits down to help hundreds of county residents a year make out passport applications.

This is the busiest time of the year, Mrs. Dennen points out, as high school and college students, especially, prepare for jaunts to Europe during the summer.

"We've had more than 170 applications since the first of the year," Ann said. She is aided in this task by three other clerks, Mrs. Gordon Morrison, Miss Elaine Martin and Miss Pearl Foster.

Since this is their rush period, they have some suggestions to those who plan to make application. They are:

1. You have to be an American citizen to apply. If you were born in this country you must have a certified (with a seal) copy of your birth certificate. If you are a naturalized citizen, you must present your naturalization papers.

2. Bring along $11. Nine dollars goes to the Federal Passport Agency of the Department of State and the other $2 stays with the county clerk for executing the application. The $9 should be either a postal money order or personal check. The $2 can be cash, money order or check, Ann says.

3. Have two 2½ by 2½-inch pictures of yourself on a light background. The photo will be attached to the application. Pictures must be taken within six months prior to application.

4. You must have a witness or identification papers with you. This can either be in the form of a driver's license, your naturalization papers if you are a naturalized citizen or a person who has known you for at least two years.

5. You must be 12 years or older to apply personally.

6. Allow two to three weeks to receive your passport from Washington. It is requested you apply a month ahead, however.

EXPIRES AFTER 5 YEARS

7. A previously issued passport expires after two years unless renewed. Renewal can be made after two years by mailing your old passport, a renewal application and $5 to the Passport Agency, Department of State, Washington, D.C.

8. Know your immediate family history for you will be asked questions on your mother and father, for instance.

"Please emphasize also," Ann asked, "that some people are wrong in believing the only place you can make application is at the Federal Building in Detroit."

Most popular places to be visited are Germany, France and England, the four clerks will tell you.

If you plan to visit those countries which require visas, they will tell you how to apply for them through foreign consultants. Altogether it will take from 10 to 15 minutes to apply for your passport at the clerk's office on the first floor of the courthouse.

The office is open five days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. If you can, avoid applying on Monday, the office's busiest day, Ann suggests.

Most applications can't be taken because the applicants do not have a proper birth certificate, she emphasizes.

You can get out of the United States without a passport, but you won't get back in. Passports must be shown at points of entry of all countries visited.

"Without one you won't get very far," Ann says.

Mrs. Dennen, who lives at 3403 Ardreth St., Drayton Plains, recalls questioning one woman applicant who was going to Moscow.

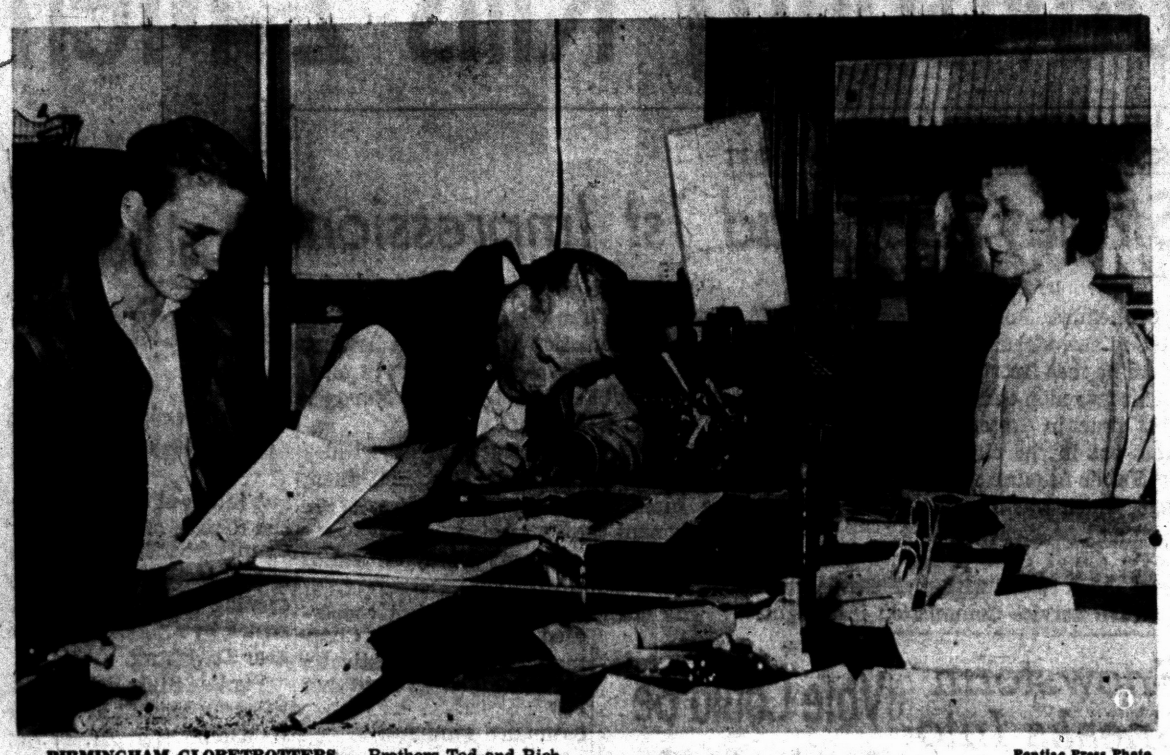

'NOT COMING BACK'

"'I'm not coming back,'" Ann quoted the woman as saying.

Ann told former Clerk Lynn D. Allen and he called the FBI. She hasn't been heard from since.

Ann feels at times that besides issuing passports she and her assistants serve as unpaid travel agents.

"I get questions about where you get international driver's licenses, what countries to visit, the better eating places, and sometimes what the weather is like in Florence," she said.

Motorists Warned to Stop Flirting With Theft of Cars

BIRMINGHAM — Police Lt. Robert Schaule today warned motorists that by leaving car keys in the ignition or the ignition switch in an unlocked position, they are inviting a violation ticket as well as the theft of their cars.

A Birmingham ordinance states that no person driving or in charge of a motor vehicle shall permit it to be parked unattended without first setting the brakes, stopping the engine and locking the ignition or some other part of the vehicle to prevent its being started or operated by an unauthorized person.

Local police have been ordered to issue tickets whenever violations of this ordinance are found.

Schaule said the car theft rate has risen steadily during the past three years. Most car thefts are committed by juveniles, and in many cases the keys had been left in the ignition.

"There is a double impact when a youngster takes a car, Schaule said. Besides the moral and legal wrong, there is the personal danger.

"The person taking the car may know only a few basic things about driving. The knowledge of his crime may also turn a good driver into a traffic hazard.

"Property damage, personal injury or death can easily be the cost of some motorist walking away from an improperly parked car.

"I am personally asking Birmingham drivers to take this extra minute to park their cars as it should be done. They may keep some youngster out of jail, save themselves some money or most important of all, save a life."

Civil Service Vote May Test Straley

leave the city open to charges that the Civil Service Commission no longer had jurisdiction over Straley.

If the Civil Service Commission decided to uphold Straley's suspension after voters repealed Civil Service, it is possible that the decision would be thrown out in Circuit Court.

Ewart charged that pro-Straley forces were delaying the hearing in hopes this would happen.

If the Straley hearing is not through by April 6, it might mean that the city, which called for Civil Service repeal in the first place, would have to reverse itself.

The city might have to ask voters to vote against repeal in order to protect the time and money invested in the long hearing that began Feb. 18.

Straley forces, on the other hand, might seize upon the election as an opportunity for the general public to express its feelings about Straley.

They might adopt such a slogan, as, "A vote against Civil Service is a vote to keep Straley in office.

Smith, Straley's counsel, said a week ago that his case would be through by Tuesday, the last day of the month.

But noting how slow the hearing is moving, Civil Service commissioners last night scheduled sessions through Wednesday.

And Smith said that he might have a couple of expert witnesses promised again that the hearing would be over before April 6.

To Seek Help Takes Courage

By ANNE, AN UNWED MOTHER
As Told to Sidney Fields

When I learned I was going to have a baby, its father was 10,000 miles away. We were not married.

My name is Anne: I am 20. My father owns a hardware store in the suburb of a big city. My brother, the oldest, is the favorite. He went to college, I didn't. Not enough money. I got a job as a secretary.

FIELDS

My younger sister is very pretty. They say I'm attractive, but nobody ever called me pretty. When my sister was graduated from high school and won a college scholarship, everybody raved about her. I felt like an exile and found excuses to be away from home.

One boy I knew, Jim, seemed to have a quality I never noticed in other boys. He was a good listener, and I had to talk. Jim seemed to understand what was wrong at home.

We went out more and more, and I hoped he'd say something about being engaged. He didn't. On the day he told me he was going to be drafted, I felt sick. It would be horrible to be thrown back with my family again.

A short time after Jim left for service, I discovered I was pregnant. I was terrified, and alone, very alone. Where could I go?

In desperation I went to a doctor in a nearby town, and asked him to perform an abortion.

"No," he said. He tried to be kind. "You'll be more miserable than you ever were if I did that."

I almost snarled at him: "I don't need advice. I need help. I need someone who really cares. Isn't there anyone? Anyone?"

He phoned a minister in the same town, and told him I would come right over. I didn't want to go, but what else could I do?

The minister asked me to sit down. "We can't undo wrong," he said, "but we can do everything right from now on. I'm going to send you to someone who can help you—Mrs. Richard Gould. She works for the Youth Consultation Service."

Mrs. Gould was a tall, pretty, grey-haired woman, and her eyes seemed to say: "There's nothing to fear."

She told me that for 40 years the Youth Consultation Service had been helping girls in troubled hours.

"It takes courage," she said, "to decide you have a problem so big you can't settle it yourself."

She had the voice of sweet charity, but never mentioned the word.

"How can I tell my parents? I know I must, but I can't do it. I can't disappear. They'd call the police."

"The first to worry about is yourself," Mrs. Gould said. "You can't stay at home, or go to the local hospital. But you can be safe and reasonably secure in our shelter."

"Is the shelter like a reformatory?" I was afraid again.

"Come and see," she said.

A few days later she took me to the shelter. Youth Consultation Service is sponsored by the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, but the girls they help are of every creed. In one room of the shelter some were reading, others sewing, some watching TV, and others lying down.

"No babies?" I asked Mrs. Gould.

"In the nursery." She took me there. Four babies, all lovely, happy, contented.

"You have a chance to care for and know your baby," Mrs. Gould said. "You go to a hospital to have it, then return here. We have a clinic here, and doctors come once a week to see the girls."

I tried to tell my parents several times, but the words choked in my throat. When I finally did, they looked as if I had hit them with an ax. I talked quickly about Youth Consultation Service and we went to see Mrs. Gould.

The first question my mother asked Mrs. Gould was: "What did we do that was wrong?"

"What's important now is what we can do together that will be right for Anne," Mrs. Gould said. "One thing—you can love your daughter. Very hard. She needs it."

I went into the shelter and became part of the life there. My prayers meant more than ever. Now I prayed with my heart.

But there was a new torment. As the baby became more and more real to me, I began to hurt in a way I hadn't hurt before. Mrs. Gould said the decision was mine to make and whatever good plan I chose for the baby and myself, she would help.

She explained it from all sides: A baby needs roots. I couldn't keep it with my family. If I left home how would I care for the child? I could work and board it out. But would the child grow more fond of the foster mother than of me?

It was a long, bitter decision to reach. Finally I told Mrs. Gould I wanted my baby to be adopted; that it was best for the baby, my family and me.

When I finally signed the adoption papers, I never knew such inside pain.

I had continued to write Jim, but I didn't know whether to tell him or not. Mrs. Gould said Jim had done wrong, too, that fathers should carry part of the responsibility, and are held responsible when possible, but Jim wasn't part of the ordeal.

He might feel he had to marry me, or he might be angry and ask: "What right did you have to give my son away?" What good purpose would it serve in telling him?

Eventually Jim went out of my life. I met other boys and looked upon them with more understanding. I know my parents and my brother and sister love me, and I love them more deeply than ever.

From time to time I see Mrs. Gould. In one letter she wrote:

"If you feel you have made a good decision, the hurt will be less in time. And you can say now: 'With God's help I have experienced yesterday. Good or bad, I am living today, and I am not afraid of tomorrow.'"

Report Allies Favor U.S. German Plan

complete German sovereignty would then be negotiated and signed with that government.

Officials said such problems as East Germany's membership in the Warsaw Pact and West Germany's in the NATO Pact could be dealt with at advanced stages of the program.

Both regimes would maintain their present alliances until all sides could see how the business of unification was progressing. Eventually, however, the pact ties would be broken and it would be up to the government of reunified Germany to make its own decisions on the kind of association it wanted with other nations.

U.S., Red Bulgaria Resume Relations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Communist Bulgaria—at the initiative of Bulgaria—have agreed to resume diplomatic relations.

The United States broke off relations in 1950 after Bulgaria accused Donald R. Heath, then U.S. ambassador, of espionage and demanded his recall.

Officials said Bulgaria had approached the United States several times about resuming relations. Each time the effort failed because the Sofia government refused to withdraw the charges against Heath.

Father Contests Stepdad's Custody

Wants His 2 Girls Back

A hearing will be held April 7 on a petition of a Pontiac father who is trying to win back his two daughters from the man their mother married three weeks before she died.

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland yesterday ordered Clarence D. Bergeron, 48, of 2772 Leach St., Avon Township, to appear in court April 7 with Mary Patricia, 11, and Karen Ann, 8, daughters of Frank Callender.

Callender, 36, of 1242 Meadowlawn Dr., was granted a habeas corpus petition to have his two daughters returned to him. They now live with Bergeron.

Callender said in his petition that he and his wife were divorced in 1958, with the mother winning custody of the girls. Callender said his wife married Bergeron on Feb. 14, 1959 and died March 2.

He now wants the girls back. He says he has made arrangements for them to live with a sister, Mrs. Carrie Gubanche of Brown City.

Bergeron, however, is putting up a fight to keep custody of the two little blonde girls, because, he says, the mother asked him to raise the girls before she died.

Callender said his wife continued to visit him after they were divorced and that he did not know she had remarried until she died.

Straley said he was shocked to learn later that Chapman had not spoken with the head of either the Traffic or Violations Bureaus before writing his report.

He said abolishment of the Traffic Bureau was a "backward step in law enforcement, unprogressive and uncalled for."

He also was critical of Eastman for reducing the activities of police reserve officers.

INSULTED BY ORDERS

He said he was insulted by the safety director's order to always keep the office informed of his whereabouts.

"I was always in contact with the station. If he'd known me, he'd have known that," Straley told the Commission.

Most of the evening was devoted to a defense of his records system, with Straley explaining in painstaking detail the improvements he installed during his reign as chief.

One by one the chief went through department forms explaining each detail to the Commission.

He also criticized Eastman's records system.

"I still don't know what they mean by a centralized records system," Straley declared. "All that was done was to move bureaus, desks and file cabinets around."

The chief accused "rabble-rousers" of stirring up trouble when he ordered officers to list details of their work on a daily activities form.

"I ordered my commanding officers to quiet the men down," he said.

FORM DISCONTINUED

The form has been discontinued by Eastman.

"It was — and is — worthwhile," Straley maintained.

"When I came to Pontiac, some officers were doing nothing," Straley said.

"Is it possible you earned their enmity by putting them to work?" Straley's attorney, Clarence L. Smith, asked.

"That is very, very true," the chief answered.

Straley also charged that Eastman is using a petty cash fund to buy "cookies and coffee for members of his staff."

He also said police funds were being used to send officers about the area "to dig up dirt on me."

"These officers are specially detailed to check my background to see if they can find anything which can be used against me in this hearing," Straley said.

Straley will be back on the stand when the hearing resumes at 7:30 p. m. Monday. Sessions have also been scheduled next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Kennedy Hurls Blast at Teamsters' Power

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Kennedy says James R. Hoffa's teamsters union is "the most powerful institution next to the government in the United States."

Kennedy, Senate Rackets Committee chief counsel, also told an Overseas Press Club luncheon yesterday that the power wielded by the teamsters union gives it an "economic stranglehold" over many American communities.

Kennedy said men with criminal records were exerting influence in teamsters affairs in Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Nashville, Philadelphia and New York. He did not elaborate.

"The AFL-CIO has done what it can do," he added, "but nothing much more is left for it to do. We must have legislation to deal with these problems."

Irate Britons March for Ban on H-Bomb

ALDERMASTON, England (AP) — More than 4,000 men and women assembled outside Britain's main nuclear arsenal here today and began a 50-mile march to London, carrying banners demanding a ban on the hydrogen bomb.

"Let us go on marching until we have brought an end to this nuclear insanity," shouted black-robed Canon John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Kids! Here's Where to Find Easter Eggs

In the crook of branches, at the base of trees, underneath bushes, within gopher holes—these, kiddies, are likely places to search during the city wide Easter egg hunt tomorrow.

The tip is straight from the Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department, which is planning to hide more eggs for more children age 11 or younger than ever before.

About 4,000 youngsters are expected to begin searching for nearly 5,000 eggs when the hunt starts at 2 p.m. at four city parks—Murphy, Jaycee, Oakland and Beaudette.

There'll be more prizes, too—350 of them—and small gifts for each child that participates.

Some eggs are likely to be hidden in other places than the four mentioned above, said Leonard T. Buzz, recreation supervisor.

"But none of the eggs will be more than two feet off the ground, and all of them will be at least partially visible."

Assisting again this year are the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Northside Kiwanis Club and the Community Organizations of Pontiac.

Jaycees will help out at Murphy and Jaycee parks, Kiwanis members at Oakland Park and the community group at Beaudette Park.

Left at the Church

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI)—William Shields, 24, left his bride-to-be and half a dozen policemen waiting at the altar yesterday. Shields was sentenced to three years for theft but received special permission to be married first. He was taken to church where the handcuffs were removed for the ceremony. Shields ducked out a back door.

Good Sale of Sixes Behind Plant Layoff

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors will lay off approximately 192 employes in its foundry, reducing over-all employment in plants to a little over 5,000 workers.

It marks the second layoff in the foundry this month and makes a total of more than 400 workers who have been idled in the engine and foundry plants in March.

The main reason for production curtailment in the plants was reported to be the rising demand for Chevrolet cars with six-cylinder engines. The town of Tonawanda facilities make only eight-cylinder engines.

Beauty Shop Blaze Causes $2,150 Damage

A fire at Gloria's Beauty Shop, 544 E. Beverly St., was battled for more than an hour by firemen this morning before being brought under control.

Damages were estimated at more than $2,150.

Firemen said the blaze spread from the beauty shop to a shoe store owned by Peter Berdica in the same building, causing slight damage.

Sixteen firemen went out on the call. The alarm was turned in at 7:32 a.m.

Jaycees Back Sewage Bonds

President Cites City Need for Expansion by Home Building

The $3,300,000 sewage treatment plant bond issue has been endorsed by the Board of Directors of the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Clyde Haskill, jaycee president, urged property owners to approve the bonds at the April 6 election.

"If Pontiac is to continue to expand, we must have enlarged treatment facilities," said Haskill.

Home building is stymied and some areas are without proper treatment.

"Our present plant is woefully inadequate to meet the present needs, let alone the future's.

"Some basement flooding has already occurred this year, and there'll be lots more in the coming weeks.

"As a modern, up-to-date city, Pontiac should have a modern, up-to-date treatment system."

Proposed enlargement of the treatment system would increase the city's treatment capacity from 13,000,000-14,000,000 gallons a day to 20,000,000.

It would include some improvements at the existing plant; new facilities at a new plant site and connections between the two.

Another driver's license was granted to Walter Reid of Auckland, at 98, New Zealand's oldest motorist, after he successfully passed his latest driving test.

'Emotional Disturbance' Ends Fast for Rocker

LONDON (AP) — Rock 'n' roll singing idol Terry Dene didn't live up to the British army's expectations. He has been discharged as "unfit for service."

Two days after being inducted last January, the 19-year-old singer was in a military hospital with "a severe emotional disturbance." Eleven days after that, he was placed in a civilian mental home. He was discharged Thursday after an examination by a team of army doctors.

Hal Boyle Says:

First Oscar Winner Found Fame at Odd Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Fame touches people at the oddest moments.

Even now Janet Gaynor, Hollywood's first cademy Award winner, gets a chuckle remembering how she first realized she had reached stardom—on a trip to the powder room.

It was in 1927 that she and Charles Farrell, another screen newcomer, teamed to make the unforgettable "Seventh Heaven."

"Success sometimes comes so unexpectedly," Miss Gaynor mused. "No one even noticed me when I walked into the theater for the premier of that film.

"But when I got up at the intermission to go to the ladies' room, the crowd would hardly let me through. I went into that theater an unknown, and came out a star.

"It all happened in a single hour."

Janet went on to the heights. For three years in a row she was the nation's top star at the box-office.

In 1938, weary of the screen grind, she retired. The next year she married Gilbert Adrian, the designer, and settled happily into a relative obscurity from which she emerged three years ago when she resumed her career.

Janet, a Philadelphia - born honey-blonde with quick brown eyes, stood only five feet and weighed 100 pounds when she first went to Hollywood in 1926—with no stage experience. She now weighs 105 pounds and is three fourths of an inch taller.

"I can't understand it myself—where that extra three quarters of an inch came from," she said, smiling.

She doesn't in any sense regard the two decades away from the screen as a lost period.

"You don't really ever lose anything — you gain something," she said. "They were wonderful happy years. I always loved to act, and still do, but strangely enough I didn't miss it one bit when I wasn't doing it.

"Miss the glamor? No, indeed. I had an even more glamorous life after I retired. The only reason I quit was because I wanted to live another kind of life for a while. It was as simple as that."

Janet loves to recall the days when she and a big-eared young fellow named Clark Gable were $7.50 a day extras.

"Clark was very popular. He was the only one who had a car—an old second-hand model without a top. After work we'd all pile into his car, and he'd drop us off one by one.

"We never had a date. To me he was just a nice young man with a car. And to him, I'm afraid, I was just a nuisance. But when we meet now and then we like to talk of those old times."

That was the heyday of feminine stars — Garbo, Crawford, Shearer.

"They had as leading men many of the present day male stars—Gable, Cary Grant, Jimmy Stewart and Gary Cooper," said Janet.

She was getting $300 a week when she made "Seventh Heaven." Later she got $150,000 a picture, top money in those low-tax years, worth more in real take-home pay, perhaps, than $1,000,000 today.

"There was always a certain snobbism about high salaries, even above the value of the money itself," said Janet. "The way you were treated depended on how much they paid you, and that made the money more important."

This is Janet Gaynor's philosophy today:

"I never want to stick at any one point in life, and think that it is everything. You have to learn not to hold on to the past or look too hard to the future, but live each day.

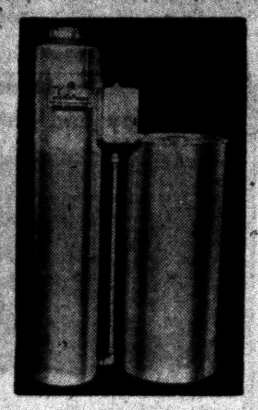

"The essence of life is change, and we can hope the change means growth."

More than 33 billion cans of food and beverages are expected to be consumed in the United States during 1958, about 190 cans per person, compared with a per capita consumption of 35 cans in 1900.

1848 Legislators 'Cursed' the Choice

'Hard Sell' Made Lansing Capital

LANSING (AP)—If the legislators at Lansing today seem confused, it shouldn't be surprising.

The same confusion was going on more than 100 years ago, when the first lawmakers arrived at the capitol city—and even earlier.

The first legislative meeting was held in Lansing in 1848, however.

And the location of the capitol city resulted from an early bit of confusion and bickering among the lawmakers.

The 1846 Legislature, meeting in Detroit, was charged with agreeing on a new state capitol location somewhere in the interior and out of way of invaders if there ever were another War of 1812.

Marshall, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Jackson and Dewitt all had their backers. There also was a strong bloc of down-state adherents determined to keep the capitol in Detroit.

The out-state legislators, even as today, banded against the Detroiters under the name of "Northern Rangers." But the rebels couldn't agree among themselves as ballot after ballot was taken.

Lawmakers were given maps of the lower peninsula with a new proposed capitol site marked with a red star — "easy to reach from any place in Michigan."

Seymour offered free land for the capitol to the state. He also had the foresight to stake out a plot of his own that became some of the choicest real estate in downtown Lansing.

The selling job described the water power potential, the mill sites, the fertility of the soil, the giant forests of white oak, beech and ironwood.

There was no mention of the malaria-breeding tamarack swamps, that the only buildings were a cluster of cabins and shacks, and that the only roads were Indian trails from Mason and Detroit.

Legislators gradually swung toward the new dark horse entry and voted for Lansing Township as the seat of government providing a capitol could be set up by Christmas Day, 1847.

Downstate legislators voted $100,000 for the new capitol. But backers of the new site cut it down to $10,000 — the seeming contradiction because the more expensive capitol building couldn't possibly be built in time.

The start of a capitol city was hurriedly chopped out of the wilderness. A two-story building with a belfry was ready in time for the first Lansing legislature in January 1848.

Legislators arrived "cursing the fate that had ever landed them in such an out-of-the-way corner of Michigan's almost limitless woods," reported Birt Darling, Lansing historian.

Sidewalks were planks laid on a foundation of mud and roots. Night sessions were a genuine hazard since lawmakers had to find their way with only the help of tin lanterns.

Exhaust Fumes Put 72 in Utah Hospital

KANAB, Utah (AP) — Carbon monoxide poisoning hospitalized 31 Santa Barbara, Calif., high school students and 41 adult advisers for four hours Thursday in this southwestern Utah community.

Trying to Decide Fate of 11-Year-Old Killer

MACON, Ga. (AP)—Bibb County officials are trying to decide what to do about the case of a boy charged with murder in the frying pan slaying of an infant with whom he was baby sitting.

Coroner Lester H. Chapman Thursday swore out a murder warrant against Andrew Howard Jr., 11, following an inquest into the death of Mary Jane Howard, 2.

The boy gave no reason for the attack upon his distant kin, Chapman said. He estimated the child was struck 12 to 15 times with a cast iron skillet.

Secret Office Expenses Bad for Congressmen

Latest reports from Washington indicate that the disbursement clerk, backed by speaker SAM RAYBURN, has hung the "hands off" sign on what should be public records.

Allowance money to the tune of $1,800 for each House member to rent and operate offices back home is top secret. Why?

Reporters are informed by Harry Livingston, clerk in charge of these records, that he does not have the time or personnel to handle all the requests to see them. Livingston claims to be acting independently, but on the other hand Rayburn refuses comment on the matter.

Recently the spotlight has been focused on some Congressmen hiring relatives at some pretty fat fees. On top of this they are considering more money for operating their Washington offices.

All this furor is just whetting the taxpayers' appetite. As usual a few from any group misusing the privilege tend to discredit the entire body. Most Congressmen have no intention of duping their constituents back home.

Why not lift the entire cloak of secrecy and let the Senators and Congressmen give an itemized accounting of Government funds used for office expenses? In some instances they have been shown to newsmen. A simple method would be a report to their local newspaper of office expense.

Miner's Bird Sanctuary Delights Nature Lovers

Truly a sight unmatched anywhere is the spring migration of the Canadian geese which can be viewed at the JACK MINER Bird Sanctuary during the next three weeks. The sanctuary is located at Kingsville, Ontario, just a short drive from Detroit.

Since Jack Miner's death, his three sons welcome visitors every day except Sunday. They point out that the best time to be there is late afternoon until dark to see the afternoon and evening flight.

For nature lovers this uncommercialized bird sanctuary is an exciting experience. It is possible to see the geese wearing aluminum bands placed on their legs by the MINER family. This tends to prove JACK MINER's long advocated theory that the birds come back year after year to this game preserve of safety.

New Drug Amendment Gives More Protection

With the signing of the new Federal Food and Drug Act, manufacturers will have to prove that chemical additives to foods and drugs are safe before they will be permitted to put them on the market.

Heretofore additives have been put on the market and stayed there unless the Food and Drug Administration (F&DA) proved them unsafe and obtained an injunction against their use. A provision of the new amendment authorizes F&DA to establish tolerances on food and drug additives. That is, chemicals can be used only in safe amounts under the condition of their consumption.

Under a new provision growers of Florida and Texas oranges, which are green when ripe, will be permitted to use Citrus Red No. 2 in place of the long used Red 32, a coal tar product, found to be unsafe for animals and banned by court order. While the fight was going on the industry developed the safe Red No. 2, also a coal tar dye, which proved satisfactory to F&DA.

We now have the strongest food and drug protection in our history and we can still have our orange oranges.

THE day may yet come when people will have to work for what they're worth instead of wages and salaries that considerably exceed that amount.

The Man About Town

Hub of Michigan

An Oakland County Town Was Biggest Rail Point

Easter Sunday: What too many people think is Decoration Day.

Oakland County once had the biggest railroad center in Michigan outside of Detroit—and it wasn't Pontiac. Long before Pontiac became a railroad junction town, Holly had two railroads, and was the only point in Michigan where two railroads crossed.

In 1855 the railroad was extended from Pontiac to Holly, and it became the connecting point for the stage coaches north and west, carrying thousands of early settlers.

The Flint and Holly railroad and the Holly, Wayne and Monroe railroad, built soon after, crossed the other line there, and for a few years Holly was the railroad hub of Michigan.

The stage lines for a time handled from 200 to 500 passengers per day in connecting with these lines at Holly, but were later put out of business as the railroads were extended.

Every Pontiac city booster will agree with that eminent civic authority,

Dr. Abram Leon Sachar,

President of Brandies University, who divides the town shirkers into four classes: The defeatists, the escapists, the burnt-outists and the critics.

of Drayton Plains, contains exactly a dozen different advertisements, each for applications to grow hair on bald heads, some of them guaranteeing to do it in seven days.

In my latest talk with State Highway Commissioner

John C. Mackie,

he said that the future plans call for more roadside parks, each with many tables, and fewer individual tables.

That there's a big difference in a half century is proved by the ads in a copy of The Pontiac Press of March 20, 1909, handed me by

All the Ingredients

David Lawrence Warns:

Summit Could Be Just Ego Farce

WASHINGTON — The news dispatches are full of comments from all over the world about the proposed "summit" conference — yet the big mystery seems somehow to go unsolved.

For what is still unexplained is Khrushchev's real reason for wanting such a meeting.

LAWRENCE

Everybody knows that at a week's conference at the "summit" — virtually under klieg lights, and with scores of aides, stenographers and language interpreters around — there isn't much chance for intimate conversation by the heads of the four governments concerned.

Everybody knows also that, if the Soviet government really has something to say about a proposal it wants to accept or reject, there is no need for a "summit" conference to be held just to get it on the record.

This can be done any time through foreign ministers' conferences or through an exchange of written notes at the various foreign offices. The press will always give the widest publicity to any important pronouncement.

What, then, is the motivation behind Khrushchev's passion for a "summit" conference? This very question has puzzled high officials in the Western governments and they have talked about it recently among themselves.

Perhaps it is oversimplification to say that Khrushchev's egoism and desire for the limelight in the role of big boss of the Soviet Union may have been the basic influence behind the pressure for a "summit" meeting.

Those newsmen who have been in Moscow say Khrushchev is effusive, ostentatious and vigorous, and does a lot of talking — most of it tough. He has been stimulated by the achievement of the "Sputniks," and it should not be forgotten that he was originally a poor miner and now has worked his way to the top spot in his country.

This kind of change from one environment to another sometimes produces a feeling of inferiority. Psychologists say it also gives rise to feelings of superiority-delusions of grandeur.

The Soviet dictator undoubtedly wants a big show. He wants it presumably because he thinks it will boost the prestige of communism throughout the world in general and his own standing with his own countrymen in particular.

Actually, a "summit" conference is about the last place in the world for any negotiation of the give-and-take variety to be carried on. If the head of any government wants to make a concession, he would hardly like to do so in the limelight.

Plainly, Khrushchev has no intention of making any public surrender on positions he has taken.

Also, with the many vital questions at stake, a week is a brief time in which to accomplish anything.

On this point the following extract from Mr. Eisenhower's latest press conference is enlightening:

"Q. Mr. President, what do you think of the idea of a series of 'summit' conferences where the world leaders could get off in some secluded spot and discuss informally the problems of the world?

"A. Well, it is rather difficult to visualize such a thing. If you meet with a group of world leaders, it is rather hard to keep the spotlight off of it. And if you are going to talk, doing this informally, it would be with batteries of interpreters and recorders and all that sort of thing. It would almost inevitably change, I think, into something rather formal."

So what is the purpose, after all, of "something rather formal?" Several newspapers in Britain regard the "summit" as enveloped with an aura of miracles, and they resent Eisenhower's tendency to be realistic.

Indeed, the peoples of the free world are being urged to believe that a "summit" conference is a meeting where magic can bring about a sudden transition from the tensions of a "cold war" to the easy and comfortable existence of a world without tension.

All this, moreover, is to be done in a single week's meeting as millions of words are poured out endeavoring to prove that neither side is being defeated and that each side is winning.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Takes Courage to Oppose Big Cholesterol Bugaboo

"Your attitude towards cholesterol and alcohol are, in my opinion, most commendable," writes a St. Paul physician. The doctor closes with his assurance that he stands solidly behind me and his best wishes for my continued success, etc.

This is extraordinary—not that a real doctor agrees with me. I find indirectly that a good many real doctors agree with some of my teachings and even tell their patients that I'm right more than half the time. The extraordinary part is that the doctor is not afraid to say what he thinks.

For the past 10 years, more or less, the Journal of the American Medical Association, unquestionably the most widely read and one of the finest medical magazines in the world, has published a great many articles about cholesterol and its relation to this and that malady.

I may have missed some of these contributions in the three months I was out of the country, but I believe it is fair to say that the tenor of these essays or studies is on the whole indefinite, inconclusive or non-committal. That is to say, our present scientific knowledge does not warrant dietary restrictions designed to exclude or reduce to a minimum such important foods as eggs, milk, butter, meat, cheese, shortening.

If I had softening of the arteries —atheroma, fatty degeneration of artery wall, sometimes improperly called atherosclerosis—or if I had coronary or other heart disease, I'd continue to eat eggs, meat, butter, milk, cheese, etc., every day.

Even if it were rational to believe that the deposit of chlosterol in the artery wall is the cause or a cause of athero-sclerosis I'd continue my regular diet, because it is preposterous to imagine dietary restrictions of any kind can reverse atheromatous or fatty degeneration.

I quote from Duncan's Diseases of Metabolism:

"Cholesterol is found . . . as a constituent of probably every cell; it is also present in the bile. It is particularly abundant in brain and nerve tissue . . . in health the amount of cholesterol in the blood varies from 47 to 162 milligrams per 100 cc."

These physiological facts should interest every poor soul who has periodic tests to determine the cholesterol content of his blood.

Now if any reputable physician thinks I am wrong about this it is his or her duty, wouldn't you say, to tell me of the public the facts?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"Drab surroundings don't make life dull—but dull living will make your surroundings drab."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Sees Newspaper as a University

Jack Malone wields a double educational influence. As editor of a flourishing Pennsylvania newspaper, he thus serves as "Prexy" of a "University in Print" with 75,000 daily "students." But he also teaches a Bible Class on Sunday thereby expanding his constructive role. He typifies editors, who are far more important to our free land than campus college Prexies.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I also teach a Bible Class," he told me with a smile, as he took me to luncheon the last time I was lecturing in Beaver.

DR. CRANE

"And I find that some of your newspaper cases are very helpful in class so I use them frequently.

"It seems to me that current problems of a moral nature maintain the interest as much as ancient cases."

NEWSPAPER PREXY

Newspaper editors wield a tremendous amount of good in the various churches and civic or men's service clubs to which they belong.

But I find editors are usually somewhat shy about accepting those deserved compliments that should go their way.

So I am using Jack Malone as an example of a newspaper "Prexy" who exerts a vast amount of good even beyond his editorial duties.

For example, he operates a modern newspaper with an estimated 75,000 daily readers. And they follow that newspaper six days per week for 52 weeks in the year.

He thus is "Prexy" of a leading "University in Print" that has more students than Penn State and the University of Pennsylvania, combined!

In fact, the newspaper affects children long before they reach college age or adulthood, for they start reading the comics by the age of 7 or 8.

In high school, their teachers often assign editorials and other newspaper features, such as this "Worry Clinic" column, as collateral reading.

So the daily newspaper actually starts educating us from the age of 8 till we graduate from this earth at the average age of about 70.

That means it is our mainstay of information, education and print entertainment for 62 years, and almost a monopoly of such helpful data after the average person quits school forever at the age of 18.

EDUCATIONAL BY-PRODUCTS

When a talented editor like Jack Malone then does oral teaching in a Sunday School class or a Journalism School, he commands far more respect than the average professor.

For he compares with the Prexy of the State University or the largest private college in your area.

In 1922-23, I organized the five Great Lakes States for our Northwestern University Alumni Drive. We were then raising funds for our big Chicago Campus.

And many distinguished alumni including judges, doctors, engineers, dentists and clergymen, expressed regret they never had a chance to enjoy even one class under President Walter Dill Scott, head of the university.

You editors thus wield a greater influence than the rest of us educators, for people subconsciously recognize that you are "Prexy" of a vast print university, even if they haven't seen that fact outlined before, as I have done here today.

So I salute Jack Malone, as typical of the editorial group which directs America's greatest educational agency, the daily newspaper; properly called the "University in Print" of our free land.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

'There's Still Something That Union Can't Organize'

Almost everyone has forgotten the common laborers, the hardest working bunch of them all, the only ones left who, when possible, earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. The only exception is the union, which couldn't forget. If it weren't for the common laborer, where would the unions be?

Fortunately there's one thing left that unions can't organize — the soul of man. Unions make it harder and harder for the average citizen to cope with present day situations. They're growing greater than past empires and even government agencies are helpless to put an end to corruption within unions.

The Fifth Amendment is a barricade, preventing progress in justice. Why not enact new laws or revise old ones to meet present needs. If something isn't done you'll eventually see this country dominated by unionism. With so few voting these days, it's no wonder corruption can exist in any form of enterprise.

'Hopé City Hasn't Been Duped Again'

I hope the City of Pontiac hasn't been sold a bill of goods, especially since similar P. A. S. reports in other cities have been thrown out as impractical. Mr. Willman admitted he knew nothing of Police Department functions, but he accepted Mr. Eastman's charges and suspended Straley.

Willman brought Eastman and Straley together only once which seems that Willman may have had pressure put on him to oust Straley or he had already made up his mind as to Straley's future.

The City of Pontiac has made mistakes before, such as with Mr. Flath at Pontiac General Hospital. I hope we're not making another mistake and the taxpayers aren't being misled in the present hassle.

'Let's Revise Rule on Prison Record'

The Army and Navy should revise their rules and accept convicts who have an interest in enlisting. A few years of military life would be stimulating influence and help restore the individual to complete acceptance.

'Let GOP Share Blame in State'

One listens to the see-saw down at Lansing 'til you wonder what has happened to our State. If our representatives could forget their personal interests and those of their pet party and try to work together to solve the State's problems in the interest of the people, a workable solution would be found.

I've been affiliated with GOP all my life, but I don't go along with the claim that Gov. Williams and the Democrats have made laws that have driven industry out of Michigan.

Our Legislature has been in the hands of the GOP for 100 out of 106 years. The GOP slept while Rome burned. If they had been faithful sentinels they would have detected the smoke. GOP should share the blame.

'Unions Should Be Willing to Help'

We could solve part of our State financial problem by borrowing several million dollars from the unions, for they would probably be glad to loan it without interest since they control the State anyway and it would be just like financing their own business.

If Holden J. doesn't like what goes on in the U. S., why doesn't he go back to Russia where he belongs? We aren't under Roosevelt, Truman and Dean Acheson. We have Ike and Dulles, men with backbone and guts and on second thought, he can take Reuther and the Communists with him.

Farmington Couple Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

MRS. KENNETH A. KAESTNER

FARMINGTON — A candlelight service last evening at the Bushnell Congregational Church here was the occasion for the marriage of Marilyn Margaret Nelson and Kenneth A. Kaestner.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Forsyth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nelson of 28925 Millbrook Dr. and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Chetwood of 15 Spokane Villa, Pontiac.

Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was secured by a cap of daisies and seed pearls.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Parvin C. Wright of Modesto Calif. assisted her as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Ginny Nelson, the bride's sister, Margaret Smith of Lansing and Barbara Borgen of Pontiac.

The duties of best man were performed by Maurice Stack of Pontiac. Ushers were David Gradison of Indianapolis, Lloyd Harper of Pontiac and Nathan Simmons of Ann Arbor.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in New York City. They will reside at 86 Murphy St., in Pontiac upon their return.

Would Send Surplus to Starving Haitians

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) and two other members of the House Agriculture Committee have called for quick shipment of government-owned surplus foods to Haiti where Cooley said newspaper reports indicate widespread starvation.

"If we can rush some food in there, we certainly should do it," said Rep. Paul Dague (R-Pa). Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex) agreed.

Cooley raised the reports of starvation in Haiti during a House Agriculture Subcommittee hearing on grain storage. He asked Walter Berger, an Agriculture Department official testifying at the hearing, if the United States could furnish food and pay transportation costs.

Berger said the administration had legal authority to supply the food and pay shipping expenses.

Evidence Convicts Man of Detroit Bank Robbery

DETROIT (UP)—A jury found Simon Lee Till, 33, guilty yesterday in the $890 holdup of a Detroit bank.

Till denied the charge, but the jurors decided the weight of evidence was against him. Two tellers identified him, and he made the mistake of writing a threatening note on the stub of an old paycheck.

He was ordered held without bail pending sentencing.

Will Ask Voters in Orion to OK More Trustees

ORION TOWNSHIP — Voters in the township will be asked to approve election of two additional trustees to serve on the township board in the April 6 election.

The proposition is on the ballot because the township reached the requirement of 3,000 registered voters or 5,000 residents during the past two years, Ferris Clark, township supervisor, said today.

This population requirement must be met before the two additional trustees may be elected to the board, Clark said. The other prerequisite is that the voters must approve the trustee increase before new members can be elected, he added.

There are four times as many night traffic fatalities as in the day.

Union Lake Firemen Slate Bowling Tourney

UNION LAKE — The fifth annual bowling tournament of the Union Lake firemen will be held Saturday at Cooley Lanes from 10 a.m. to closing time. Jack Switzer is the chairman. All funds will go for the maintenance of the fire department and to buy new materials. There will be many prizes with a console Hi-Fi record player as grand prize. The public is invited.

Farmington Eyes Detroit Supply

Ballot to Have Water Query

FARMINGTON — An advisory proposition on the April 6 ballot will ask voters to decide whether the City of Farmington should join with Farmington Township to secure a Detroit water supply at a total cost to the city of approximately $250,000.

For some time now, the City Council and Township Board have discussed the advisability of forming a joint water authority.

According to Mrs. Trena Quinn, city clerk, council members believe the expenditure of such a large sum of money for a future development should be decided by the voters.

She pointed out that the city is not now in need of an additional water supply, but that "the need for another source of supply is indicated for the future."

Jaycees to Hold Easter Egg Hunt

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Area Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its first Easter Egg Hunt tomorrow beginning at 11 a.m.

The hunt, under the chairmanship of Robert Green, will be held in a field behind Frank Pizzeria at 528 N. Pontiac Trail. There will be two divisions, one for area children four to seven years old; the other for those seven to 10 years old.

A total of 50 prizes will be given to the winners of the hunt and 25 dozen eggs will be brightly colored and hidden in the field.

Area Hospital Plans Series of Lectures to Begin Tuesday

Prenatal classes for prospective parents are scheduled for 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on five successive Thursdays beginning April 2.

The first class will be on anatomy, the second (April 9) on reproduction, the third (April 16) on nutrition, the fourth (May 7) on baby bath and the final date (May 14) on labor.

Also on the last day parents will be given a conducted tour of the hospital.

The courses are free and any person wishing to attend is asked to register with Mrs. Frances Jewell, director of nurses.

Crary added that the lectures and exercises will be repeated again, starting sometime in June or July.

APARTMENT GARDEN — Mrs. Robert McCormick of 290 Liberty St. has a unique way of bringing nature into her apartment. Here is a bird bath which she has converted into a small but interesting garden. Among the variety of plants are ivy, philodendron and prayer plant.

Outline Spring Outdoor Chores Now--Be Prepared

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

The horticultural career of British writer-gardener Frances Perry is alleged to have started when, at the age of 3, she tumbled head-first into a tub of liquid manure.

In America, however, we do things differently. In the first place, most of us encounter manure these days about as often as a team of oxen.

In the second place, most of us fall headlong into gardening shortly after we have acquired our first property deed and mortgage, suddenly finding ourselves confronted with a demanding area usually designated as a lawn.

From there we go on to trees and shrubs and, ultimately, to undertaking the culture of flower beds or borders and, sometimes, a vegetable plot.

In early spring, too, that seems to be the order in which one's work is directed. At least that's the way I take up my chores: patching up threadbare areas in the lawn; setting in any new shrubs, and finally, when the soil is beginning to warm up for keeps, removing winter blankets of mulch and working on the garden beds.

And, although there is difference in size, in diet and need for sunshine, plants are plants.

I don't know whether it is comforting or disturbing to think of a lawn as a mass planting of grass — a grass garden — but I do think it is a more helpful concept for the person assigned to lawn-keeping than the old "magic carpet of green" idea.

In the early spring most of us find thin spots here and there in the lawn, and some of us, alas, will find areas which need complete replanting.

USE IRON RAKE

Where the grass has become sparse, the best procedure is to go over the spot thoroughly with an iron rake, loosening the soil and adding a fertilizing top dressing composed of top soil and peat moss or humus. Resow the area with grass seed of good quality, tamp down the soil so the seed is in contact with the earth, and then make certain the soil is kept moist until the seeds have germinated and put out sturdy roots.

In some areas, the grass is too far gone for mere refurbishing. In this case, it is best to dig over the area, opening up the soil to air, adding fertilizer and humus. Rake the soil smooth, allow it to settle, and then sow the seed, raking it lightly into the ground. Tamp it down and then if spring rains fail, sprinkle the soil lightly and often to provide necessary moisture.

It should not be cut until it has made a growth of two or more inches.

For all established spring lawns, a thorough rolling is a good treatment. The roller should be adjusted to a weight of not more than 300 pounds. It should be used when the turf is workable and springy — not soggy.

The purpose of the rolling is to press back into contact with the soil roots of plants which have been heaved by winter's succession of freezing and thawing.

Army Awards Contracts for Work in Michigan

DETROIT (AP)—Contracts totaling $310,212 have been awarded by the U.S. Army Engineers Detroit District for work at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base at Marquette and special artillery sites in the Detroit area.

C. A. Hooper Co. of Madison, Wis., was awarded a $277,772 contract to construct a central heating plant addition at Sawyer. The Transformer Inspection Co., of Royal Oak, Mich., got a $32,440 contract for switch installation work at the artillery sites.

Farm and Garden News

Avoid Drowning Valuable New 'Pets' for Summer

Home owners may be innocently drowning tens of thousands of valuable new pets before summer.

These pets are transplanted trees, evergreen and shrubs expected to thrive in waterlogged soils. Fall and winter plantings in waterlogged sites may be dead before growth starts unless soggy conditions are promptly corrected.

Roots must breathe and the tree will drown if soil is saturated. There is a two-way destructive action in waterlogged growing areas. Air cannot occupy pore space taken up by water and shortage of oxygen results in harmful decomposition or organic matter. This forms gases harmful to plant life.

There's a simple test for drainage and any home owner can see the results within a day. All he need do is dig the usual pit for the tree at hand. Filled with water, the pit should drain completely within 24 hours or less.

If the pit resembles a man-made lake, the only answer to assuring the transplant's survival is to provide adequate drainage by installing agricultural drain tile. Such tile must be laid from the planting area to the nearest free outlet. This may be a storm sewer, side of hill, ravine or open ditch where the water can flow out freely.

Good drainage helps the "climate" of the soil for growth. Drained soils in April may be from three to 10 degrees warmer than undrained soils. The temperature difference may mean survival or death of a large transplanted tree, one with a four-inch trunk diameter or more. And spring root growth may be two to three weeks earlier.

Size of Seeds Is One Index for Growers

Planning a garden for the first time? Then brush up on seed lore.

A plant which is delicate and thrives only in perfect weather and soil conditions, generally has many tiny seeds. This compensates for the fact that the seeds have a poorer chance of survival. Hardier plants have larger and fewer seeds.

The average seed is about the size of a rice kernel. Most seeds are dull in color, although some are red, purple, blue, and yellow. Shapes include round, oval, elongated and flat.

Alert Policemen Are Not Fooled by Labels

Tanker Blamed in Sea Collision

Liner's Owners Claim Valchem Made Radical Change in Course

NEW YORK (AP)—The owners of the cruise liner Santa Rosa say the tanker Valchem was to blame for the collision that killed four tanker sailors and brought a shattering climax to a Caribbean holiday for 247 passengers.

A "radical course alteration" was made by the tanker, the Santa Rosa owners say. There was no immediate comment from the operators of the Valchem.

Conflict over whether there was fog at the time of the crash highlighted the preliminaries to a Coast Guard investigation starting Monday.

Spokesmen for the Grace Line, owner of the Santa Rosa, said the collision off Atlantic City, N.J., at 3 a.m. Thursday occurred in only patchy haze. They said the Valchem had been sighted both visually and by radar.

But a Santa Rosa lookout, a number of passengers and several injured crewmen of the tanker said there was thick fog in the collision area 22 miles off the coast.

Seventeen of the crew of the Valchem were injured, in addition to one known dead and three missing and presumed dead. The Santa Rosa brought the injured here and they were taken to the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital on Staten Island.

None of the 247 passengers and 265 crewmen on the Santa Rosa was injured when the 25-million-dollar liner knifed into the tanker.

Passengers praised the conduct of the Santa Rosa's crew when the damaged liner docked here Thursday night, more than 12 hours late. They said there was no panic among the passengers and they went to their lifeboat stations calmly in response to a general alarm.

Passengers and crew thanked their lucky stars that the tanker was not loaded with highly inflammable fuel oil when hit.

Flood Threat Eases in Saginaw Valley

LANSING (UPI) — The flood threat in the Saginaw River valley is not as serious as had been feared, the state Water Resources Commission says.

"The cooling trend has reduced the threat," said Dale Granger, state hydraulic engineer. "Unless there is a severe rain, we do not anticipate a serious problem."

The Cass River was at least a mile wide at the M13 crossing south of Saginaw earlier in the week, but Granger said this was a "common spring occurence.

Just What Has Small Car Got? 'Snob Appeal!'

EAST LANSING (AP) — The popularity of small foreign cars is due mostly to "snob appeal," the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters was told today.

The some 700 delegates attending a two-day spring meeting of the academy at Michigan State University heard talks on topics that varied widely from strictly academic matters.

Prof. Aarre K. Lahti, of the University of Michigan, told the group people buy foreign cars because they are cheaper, different and strange and have snob appeal.

"The United States needs a truly low-cost, convenient and foolproof shopping and commuting car," Lahti said, "not the small foreign car or the small duplicate of the family car."

He predicted that electrically-powered cars will make significant inroads on the future small car market.

Dr. Wilbert J. McKeachie, also of the University of Michigan, told the group teachers can help students by stressing that there is tangible attainment in academic achievement.

New Detroit School Denied Accreditation

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's newest public high school has been denied accreditation because its present facilities "do not meet the minimum requirements for membership in the North Central Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools."

Samuel M. Brownell, Detroit school superintendent, was notified by the association of its action in a letter yesterday.

The association said it was denying accreditation to Osborn High School this year because of inadequate facilities.

Osborn has been in use less than three years. It never was finished because building funds ran out.

Brownell had said earlier that "overcrowded classrooms, lack of complete facilities and other substandard conditions" could lead to denial of accreditation for eight or more of Detroit's 18 public high schools.

There were 1,828,660 full-time students on American college and university campuses this fall, an increase of 4.1 per cent over 1957, according to a survey.

In 85th Birthday Interview

Poet Robert Frost Picks Kennedy for President

By W. G. ROGERS
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—"The next president of the United States will be from Boston."

That was poet Robert Frost's response on his 85th birthday yesterday to a question whether New England wasn't becoming decadent. He spoke before a crowded press conference.

Pinned down, he said, "Yes, Kennedy" — Democratic Senator John F. Kennedy. He said he was surprised to find less enthusiasm for him, particularly among Catholics, than he expected.

Did he personally hope Kennedy would win?

"Anything from Boston is all right with me," said Frost, whose home is in Cambridge, Mass.

And, he added, "the next Secretary of State will be from Boston, too." He was referring to Dulles' assistant, Christian A. Herter, the acting secretary.

White-haired, crinkle-eyes, pursing his lips to find the right accent for the right words which always manage to come from this dean of American poets, he was at his most genial and his wittiest in handling the questions of his very respectful audience.

He admitted to being a little deaf, but gave no sign that it bothered him. When the questioners ran out of questions, he ran on in an inimitable dialogue that sometimes had them chuckling and sometimes laughing.

He reminisced about friends, such as Justice Felix Frankfurter whom he first met casually in a Cambridge book shop where they got into a talk that lasted till long after the shop was locked up; about Amherst, the college with which he has been most closely associated; about the need for felicity but the danger of facility in writing poetry; about the services rendered him over the years by his publisher, Henry Holt, in whose office the conference was held; about his position as consultant in poetry at the Library of Congress.

All these celebrations — dinner last night in Washington, dinner here tonight — did not bore him?

"No, they don't bore me. They make me feel too old. But I do like to be made of," he acknowledged with one of his broad grins. "We take what we get whether we deserve it or not."

"I was down under for a long time," he recalled, in his leisurely, gruff speech. "I was 38 before I even submitted a first book of poems to a publisher. But you keep on at it. You sneak up on it. You want to win but you don't want to be caught looking as if you want to win.

"Everybody wants to win. The tennis player wants to. The Russians want to. We want to win. My chief wish for this country is to win at every turn."

Elvis' Mercedes Rolled Over by Singer's Father

FRANKFURT (AP) — Pfc. Elvis Presley's car was wrecked yesterday, but he wasn't in it.

Presley's father, Vernon, and his secretary Elizabeth Stefaniac, were treated for bruises and allowed to go home. Vernon Presley was driving Miss Stefaniac home from a shopping trip to Frankfurt when the accident occurred, according to a spokesman for the U. S. 3rd Armored Division.

He said the car—a Mercedes 300 sedan—went out of control when Presley senior tried to apply the brakes, rolled over several times and came to rest in the opposite lane of the Frankfurt-Kassel superhighway.

Elvis was at Friedburg, about 15 miles away, where he drives a jeep for the U. S. Army.

More ads in color appear in daily newspapers every year. 970 newspapers in the United States and Canada — with a combined circulation of over 46,000,000 copies daily — now offer advertisers run-of-paper color.

'Shot Divorcee, Then Panicked'

Detroit Tavern Owner Admits to 'Accident,' Leaving Body in Snow

DETROIT (AP) — Police say a married bar owner has admitted he accidentally shot an attractive redhaired divorcee on a date last night and left her lying on a snow-covered lawn. The woman died today.

Harry Grandahl, 28, was quoted by officers as saying he had dated Mrs. Bonnie McMahen, 22, for the past 18 months.

Detective Sgts. Robert Grindle and Robert Slattke said Grandahl gave this account of the shooting, which occurred after he met the woman at an eastside bar:

"About midnight she said she had to go home. I borrowed a car from a friend and we drove to her home and parked in front. Then we went on talking.

"I was carrying my revolver in my belt. She discovered it was there and grabbed it. She said 'I'm going to shoot you.' I told her to go ahead and she laughed and gave the gun back to me."

Grandahl said he put the gun away, but she grabbed again. He said he threw it into the back of the car and she got it again.

"She had cocked the trigger while she was waving the gun, so I tried to uncock it. Then it went off. She yelled and fell over on me. She didn't say a word."

Grandahl said he panicked and threw her into the snow. Police held him for questioning.

Couple Plagued With Red Tape

Hope to End Separation

DETROIT (AP) — Anton Rohrmeier and the bride he has seen only three times since their marriage last June counted today on being reunited for good.

Rohrmeier, 48, arranged to meet his wife, Antonia, 25, across the Detroit River in Windsor, Ont., and end the long separation caused by government red tape.

They last saw each other six weeks ago.

Mrs. Rohrmeier had been in Montreal since her marriage because of a complex situation arising from her Hungarian birth, adopted German citizenship and failure to fill out the proper forms for admittance to the United States.

Rohrmeier said "I almost gave up hope" of getting Antonia into this country but then he called on Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) who slashed through the red tape and got Mrs. Rohrmeier admitted on a permanent visa.

Rohrmeier, a factory worker, came to this country from Munich, Germany, in 1935. His wife left her native Hungary in 1945 and took German citizenship. She arrived in Canada about five years ago. The two met at a dance in Montreal.

The American Cancer Society is sponsoring research experiments (principally in Chicago) with anticancer treatments which might rob cancer cells of their power to divide.

Headlines Blaze Story of Hope

Pontiac Press Photos

Representing the joyous spirit of Easter in a free nation are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eldred of West Iroquois road. A scene like this will be typical as thousands in Pontiac start off to church Sunday morning.

By MARGARET BROWN

Headlines, like searing brands blazing news of tragedies and portent of war across the pages of our newspapers today, are giving way to proclaim to a still hopeful world the greatest "human interest" story ever reported — the message of Easter.

In these hours, men who are living in a greatly advanced scientific age of uncertainty and fear are turning in faith to the One who turned this Good Friday's sorrow of death into a jubilant victory over the grave. That day, too, was a time of great political and religious upheaval.

Young and old again are looking to a Great Deliverer and trusting in His peaceful doctrines for a triumph over this world's turbulence.

How grateful Americans must be, that in spite of world-wide disturbances each of us still is perfectly free to commemorate this holiday, and every special day of every group throughout the nation, because of the principles of religious freedom upon which our country is founded.

Certainly Easter with its glorious message of hope and triumph is a most meaningful holiday for this generation.

Mamie to Fool Weather With 2 Easter Outfits

NEW YORK (AP)—Whatever the weather on Easter Sunday, Mamie Eisenhower has suitable outfits.

If it is cool, the first lady will wear a mauve wool dress-and-jacket costume designed by Mollie Parnis, and a hat made entirely of violets designed by Sally Victor.

If the day is warm Mrs. Eisenhower will wear a dress-and-jacket outfit of black and white geometric silk print and a little white hat trimmed with a roll of the same print.

Descriptions of the alternate Easter apparel were released Thursday by Mrs. Parnis and Mrs. Victor.

Four pages today in Women's Section

Looking like the spirit of spring, Leslie Spaysky of South Edith street is all set to greet the Easter Bunny and go egg hunting Sunday.

Why Is Easter Set According to Moon?

By WILLIAM R. TEAGUE
United Press International

Easter is March 29th this year for most Christians. Last year it was April 6th. Next year it will be April 17th. It varies between March 22 and April 25, a leeway of 34 days. The only thing certain is that it will be on Sunday.

Why so irregular? That is a question that goes far into history. A problem that has bothered churchmen for centuries.

Early pagans celebrated their version of the holiday March 21 and called it the festival of spring. Hebrews observed Passover about the same time of year. This was rejoicing at the passing over of death, which spared their first born.

The holiday came during the first month of the Hebrew calendar, which was based on the phases of the moon. The passover feast was the 14th of Nisan, a month which corresponds to March.

MOONLIGHT FOR TRAVELERS

Christians also fixed Easter by the full moon. One reason was to help religious pilgrims travel over the desert at night. The light of the full moon made it easier to reach the Holy City, Jerusalem.

But Christians did not want Easter on the same day as Passover. They wanted their holy day on Sunday because Christ rose on a Sunday. Passover can fall any day of the week.

Early calendars were poor. The first had 12 months, 360 days, and was so inaccurate that some years they had to add an extra month. Even the Caesarian sun calendar of 365¼ days was not accurate.

POPE FOUND ERROR

Pope Gregory the 13th discovered in 1582 the estimates of the Roman technician Sosigenes were off. The calendar was 10 days in error and had put Easter three days ahead of the full moon.

Churchmen thus had to rely on the moon. A year can have 13 full moons. Easter was fixed in the year 325 so it would come on Sunday after the first full moon which follows the spring equinox—time of equal day and night all over the earth.

This is March 21, when the world north of the equator kisses winter goodbye. When there's a full moon just before March 21, Easter comes late in April. The date depends on the date of the full moon.

The system was adopted by order of Constantine the Great. In the year 667 the Roman Catholic Church corrected its arithmetic, and since then the system has been observed by all Christians except Greek Orthodox Catholics. They put Easter on the first Sunday after the full moon following Passover. This year it will be May 3rd.

URGE FIXED DATE

There is a movement for a fixed Easter. British Parliament has passed a statute that could make Easter the Sunday after the second Saturday in April. But chances are the world will continue to mix Easter according to the full moon.

Roman Catholic clergy say they feel it is a religious matter because it is a holy day. As such, any change would have to be made by a high church council ordered by Pope John 23rd.

Be More Colorful

There's a whole range of brilliant color for daytime wear this spring: blues, violets, purple and geranium pinks. When you shop, try on a suit or dress in one of these new and fresh colors.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Wilkinson of Gateway drive are an example of the young marrieds in the Pontiac area who will join with their families and relatives to celebrate Easter and the coming of spring.

The Spaysky youngsters, Patricia, 11, Pamela, 13, and Mike, 9, are busy on preparations for the Easter holiday. Their parents are the Darwin Spayskys of Edith street.

Husband's Opinion Counts — Abby

Skipping Strong Foundation Could Undermine Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having a little difference of opinion and we'd like you to settle it. Last night we started across the street to the home of an elderly couple to watch our favorite TV program, as our set was broken. I had on my nightgown and a housecoat over it and my house slippers.

ABBY

These people are old friends of ours and to get all dressed up I would have had to put on my foundation garment and it wouldn't pay.

"My husband threw a fit and said if I was going that way he wasn't going. I told him to go ahead and I'd stay home. He went and I stayed home. Do you see anything wrong in the way I was dressed to go sit in the dark with old friends for one hour? MRS. G.

DEAR MRS. G.: Far more important than the opinion of your old friends is the opinion of your husband. In marriage a good sturdy foundation is essential and a wise wife won't mind struggling into one to please her husband.

"DEAR ABBY: My son goes to college and when he comes home he helps himself to my neckties. He knots them differently than I do and when he gets through wearing a tie it is a threadbare rag. He has plenty of ties of his own and I wouldn't care if he bought a few more and charged them to me, but he says he 'likes my taste.' Any suggestions?"

THE POOR DAD

DEAR DAD: What you need is stronger family ties. And buy enough for both of you.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law is a real dope. For 10 years she's been married to my brother and all these years she worried about my Mom and Pop. She'd buy Mom and Pop clothes when her own clothes would look like heck. I was ashamed for her to visit me when my friends were there.

"Before she'd buy a home of her own she said she wanted Mom and Pop to have a little place of their own, so she got the five grown kids together (me included) and made everybody kick in and she went ahead and made the down payment. Now we can't back out if we wanted to. Why should an in-law be so concerned about the old folks? They're not her parents. I don't worry about what my husband's people have to do without. I think she just does this to show the rest of us up. Do you think she's right in the head?"

SHOWN UP

DEAR SHOWN: Not only is she right in the head — she is right in the heart. More families should have "dopes" like your sister-in-law.

"DEAR ABBY: We are in a big mess. My boyfriend and I ran away and got married secretly by a Justice of the Peace. When we told our folks, they said we should keep our mouths shut until they can give us a big church wedding. The church wedding is planned for June 7th. I forgot to tell you we got married in the first place because it was a 'have to' case but nobody knows this, Abby, not even our parents. I can't see myself waiting until June because I'll be six months along then. Please tell me how to tell my mother." IN A MESS

DEAR IN: Tell your mother that you have a date with the stork—and waiting until June is for the birds.

Boredom a Result of Going Steady

By RUTH MILLETT

If you want to view real boredom drop in on a teenage dance.

Whatever else "going steady" has done for teenagers it has turned them into a bored generation. Watching them at play is so dull it is downright depressing.

When a party comes along there's no question about whom a girl will go with. That's all settled. As surely as though she were married, she'll go with her steady date.

And when she gets to the party, she'll dance with him all evening. That's understood. And since dancing with one boy every dance gets kind of tiresome, there'll be a lot of standing around and aimless sitting out of dances.

You won't see any flirting. Teenagers today have a strict code. Flirting with someone else's steady just isn't done.

Even conversation drags. After all, if you've been going steady with the same boy for months and talking to him on the telephone every evening, what is there to say when you get to a party?

If any boys without dates turn up they stand around like lost souls. There are no stag lines anymore—which means there's really no place at a party for stags.

If it's a formal dance are the girls thrilled with their pretty, fluffy dresses? Not much. They've been wearing formals so long the thrill has long since worn off.

Are the boys excited over having dates with pretty girls? Why should they be? Most of them started dating when they were so young their parents had to chauffer them on their dates.

So it's all cut and dried and strictly routine. And it's boring.

Just look at the faces at a teenage party and you'll be convinced that the steady dating that offers teenagers security is responsible for a malady that shouldn't afflict the young.

You'll Have to Call Your Hostess

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently some friends of ours came over to pay us a visit. When they were leaving, the wife said to me, 'How about you and John coming over to our house a week from this coming Saturday?' I said we had no plans and that we would love to come. She said, 'I'll call you before then to verify it.'

"I haven't heard a word from her since and as the date is supposedly for tomorrow, I don't know what to do. As she said she would call and hasn't, am I to assume that the visit is off, or should we go anyway?

"My husband thinks I should call her but I don't think it would be the right thing to do as her plans may have changed and my calling may place her in an embarrassing position. Will you please tell me what to do in this situation?"

ANSWER: Your husband is right. Under the circumstances there is nothing else for you to do but call her and ask if she is still expecting you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Friends of ours lost a daughter about six months ago. Very shortly they will have their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. They had planned to have a large party but due to their bereavement are not going to.

"We wondered if there is anything we could do about their anniversary even though they are not entertaining as they had planned. Should we send a gift, a message of good wishes or is it best to do nothing?"

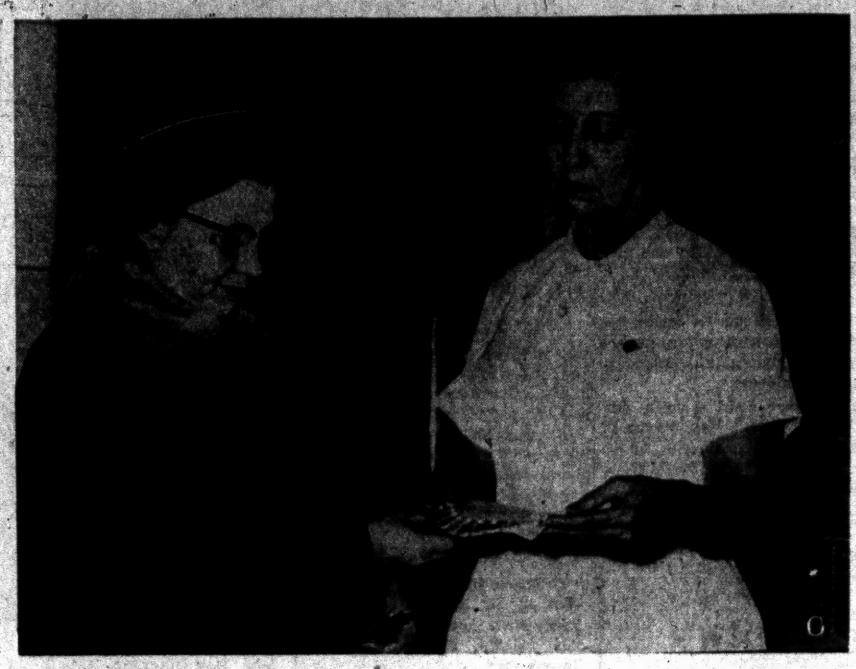

Answer: To send flowers would be the most lovely possible way to show your thoughts of them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to keep gloves on while eating refreshments at a wedding reception?"

Answer: Momentarily while drinking the health of the bride and groom and eating no more than a thin sandwich and a small cake, they may be left on, but when eating any amount of food, they should be removed.

Color Has Gone Right to the Head and Older Women Are Tickled Pink

Color has really gone to the head with a spash, especially now with older women grasping at rainbow hair colors for a pick-me-up. They have adopted fanciful colors for special occasions without worrying about the neighbors, mother-in-law or husbands.

The trend began with hair streaks, went on to colored hair wigs, wig hats and now a whole head of temporary color. You can choose a merry apricot, a riot of red, a mad gold, green or mauve or a shade called "tickled pink."

Few women take these rainbow hues seriously. But those who do use them enjoy the fun and conversation they create.

At a recent hair show, cream color rinses were explained as a means of "matching hair to costume or contrasting it without plunging into permanent color." There was a pink shade suggested for former blondes, now white-haired.

These fair-skinned beauties are supposed to be especially complemented by the pearly shimmer of pink on white hair. Mauve, apricot and blue could help ring in the costume changes for this type, also, the experts say.

Another matron was dressed in a shirtwaist dress belted in gold. She wore green shoes, carried a green chiffon handkerchief, and had colored her salt-and-pepper hair a silvery-smoky green.

Some suggestions made by color experts include advice for former brownettes whose hair now has a mixed gray tone. A medium skin tone, they point out, will make all hair colors compatible to this type.

White hair will pick up the pure color, darker hair will show less of it.

If hair has gone white all around the face, while the rest of the hair is grey, a shaded effect may be achieved with these rinses. The color around the face will be soft, but darker hair at sides and back will become a darker blue or green or red.

One suggestion is that it can be fun experimenting with these hair rinses by using them as toners, merely by diluting them with water. That way you can get your hint of pink, mauve or gold and have fun with the idea, without committing yourself completely to it.

Cook bacon until crisp, drain and crumble over a dish of succotash if you want something extra good.

Ten Inches Too Much

Exercise Will Pare Down Hips

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. Please tell me what is wrong with my figure. My bust measures 32 inches, waist 25 and hips 42."

A. For a good figure there should not be much more than two inches difference between the hip and bust measurements. There are 10 between your measurements. Judging by your waist measurement, which is in proportion I imagine that you have an unusually large accumulation of fat on your hips. This type usually can be reduced most successfully by hip-slipping exercises.

Q. "I need a professional and honest opinion. I feel that I am overweight and should lose from 10 to 15 pounds. My friends and family say that I am just right. I am 5 feet, 4½ inches tall and weigh 135 pounds. I have an average-sized frame. My bust measures 35 inches, waist 25 and hips 37. What do you say? P. S. I also have a 'sweet tooth.' "

A. Your family and friends are correct. Your weight is ideal for your height and build. Your measurements also are within the range for a lovely figure. You might take hip-slimming exercises for absolute perfection.

Q. Is there any exercise which will make the face thinner? Please let me know through your column."

A. No. Only loss of weight will have this effect.

Q. "Your columns about cosmetic surgery are very interesting. Will the nose grow back to its original shape in time? I have heard that this is true. Also, since our features are supposed to show our characteristics, wouldn't changing the nose have some effect on one's character?"

A. First, the nose will not resume its former shape. Lines, facial contour (whether drawn downward by negative emotions and thoughts or up because of happy optimistic ones) and expression are the factors which reveal the sort of person you are. The shape of the nose does not indicate what we are like in personality and character.

For a good figure there should not be much more than two inches difference between the bust and hip measurements.

Q. "When I was 13 I started putting stuff in my brassiere to make me look as if I had a bust. Now I am 16 and my bust has not developed. Do you think this could have prevented my development? I am very unhappy over this, and would appreciate your opinion and advice."

A. If you wore a brassiere tight enough, it might have broken down the tissues some. However, it would not prevent the development. Why not discuss this with your physician?

If any of my readers wish to have my tested hip-reducing exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Everybody Happy With Dry Law

(Oklahomans will vote April 7 on whether to repeal their state's prohibition law. If they do, there will be only one "dry" state left in the nation — Mississippi. The following dispatch tells how the liquor situation is handled there, to the satisfaction of practically everybody.)

By LEWIS LORD

JACKSON, Miss (UPI) — A strong movement in Oklahoma to legalize liquor may leave Mississippi as the only prohibition state in the U.S. but few Mississippians including the drinkers — mind it at all.

A unique system of handling the liquor problem here has something to please everybody: The drys have their law. The wets have their liquor. The state has its taxes. And citizens disatisfied with their bootleggers can ask for and get a raid by the National Guard.

It boils down to a system of local option — the law is virtually meaningless where lots of folks like to have their liquor and it's enforced where dry sentiment prevails.

In the last referendum, in 1952, the vote was 3-1 in favor of keeping prohibition on the books and there has been no serious effort to disturb it since.

Every county sheriff takes an oath to enforce all state laws, including prohibition.

Just the same, any type of Federal-stamped liquor can be purchased across the counter at "beverage" stores in Mississippi River towns like Natchez and Vicksburg, in the cotton-rich Delta counties and along the resort-studded Gulf Coast.

If public sentiment permits, air-conditioned bars — they're called "lounges" in Mississippi — can be found. The words "whisky" and "liquor" are never used in advertisements but radio commercials have invited tourists to call certain stores and "your favorite hotel room."

Some Protestant groups led by the Baptist, are unwavering in their support of prohibition. Where these groups are strongest public opinion is against legalizing of liquor and frequent are such arguments as "you cannot compromise with sin."

Even in the so-called "dry" counties, though, a thirsty man usually can obtain bonded whisky. Service may be crude — a bootlegger emerging from a woodshed at the sound of an auto horn — but the product is there.

Most liquor sales in dry counties are in the form of secretly-manufactured moonshine — an untaxed industry that Federal officials say possibly matches Mississippi's 12-million-dollar-a-year trade in taxed liquor.

Mississippi knows as well as any other state that liquor represents a prime source of revenue, and the fact that whisky is illegal doesn't stop the state from taxing it.

Officials are able to determine which bootleggers obtain 95 per cent of the Federal-stamped liquor coming into the state and a so-called "black market" wholesale tax is placed on every case.

The state nets more than two million dollars a year from the 10 per cent wholesale levy and a new 8 per cent retail tax. Cities in wet counties follow suit by applying a monthly "fine," usually about $100, against the lawbreakers.

Payment of liquor taxes allows —but does not guarantee—the bootlegger the privilege of selling his product. Recently the National Guard raided a number of honky tonks and seized $50,000 worth of state-taxed liquor.

Gov. J. P. Coleman, who ordered the raid, said local citizens had complained. The bootleggers complained, too, saying they at least should get a tax refund.

State Tax Collector William Winter, ruling against them, said raids "are just one of the hazards of that particular occupation."

Lanny, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlen Younger of 4260 Elizabeth Lake Rd., placed first scholastically in the class with a 19.29 average. Ranking second in the class for grades was Beverly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hull of 1109 Bangor St. She had a 18.98 average.

Lanny has been awarded a four-year scholarship to the University of Michigan where he plans to study electrical engineering. He is a member of the Hi-Y Club, Dramatics Club, Student Council (president in his junior year), Bowling club and Varsity Debate Squad.

Legislature Will Argue Whether Williams Can Order Agency Mergers

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan's House of Representatives is headed for a showdown next week on whether the governor can reorganize government through executive order.

The specific item scheduled for attention Wednesday is whether the state Board of Alcoholism will be abolished and placed under the Health Department.

The argument is in the way the merger would be performed. Democrats want to have Gov. G. Mennen Williams' way tried and then, if necessary, a court test could be held to determine validity of executive reorganization.

The House has approved six of seven bills calling for reorganization. The bills will take the place of Williams' seven reorganization proposals.

A House resolution will be considered to disapprove of the governor's way of putting the board under the Health Department.

Also up for consideration will be two other bills, one for creation of a nine-member state Council of Health and the other putting the Board of Alcoholism with the Health Department.

The difference between the alcoholism bill and the resolution is that they are opposites.

The Legislature last year approved the executive method of revamping state government. The six bills, including one to put collection of motor fuel taxes within the Revenue rather than the State Department, were to take the place of Williams' plans.

They suffered no noticeable physical damage or impairment of body metabolism. They maintained a "persistent and sustained interest in food and sex."

Their tentative conclusion: prolonged insomnia may sometimes be a critical factor in bringing on attacks of schizophrenia, the most common type of mental illness.

Instill Optimism, Enthusiasm, Pride

'Sell Michigan' Goals Set

DETROIT — The "Sell Michigan" program, being developed by the volunteer Industrial Ambassadors organization, was publicly disclosed last night in a speech here to the Society of Industrial Realtors.

Merritt D. Hill of Bloomfield Township, chairman of the Ambassadors' Tractor and Implement Division in Birminghm, emphasized the non-political nature of the program and spelled out its three basic objectives:

1. Sell Michigan to our own industrial organizations, as well as to the businessmen and other citizens of Michigan.

2. Sell those outside the state on the idea that Michigan is an outstanding place to locate industry, as well as an outstanding area in which to live.

3. Improve the current impressions of Michigan apparently held by people in other states.

"We can't wait for everything to be as we would like to have it before we start out to do a selling job. There will never be a time when everything is 'all right,'" he declared.

The step-by-step over-all program by which the sales job can be done begins with an "indoctrination" period when several small group meetings with Industrial Ambassadors and businessmen would be held throughout the state. These meetings will have as their purpose "instilling optimism, enthusiasm and pride."

Hill emphasized that "no one can do a job unless he knows what the job is and until he has been properly indoctrinated and trained to do it."

Hill said that volunteer assistance from Michigan industries will be sought in such fields as public relations, advertising and sales promotion, publicity and sales training.

Raw material, facts and figures, available through various sources, will be processed and prepared into usable form to provide the Ambassadors with information about the state's advantages.

The Ambassadors' efforts aim at enlisting the support of all organizations which are set up to promote Michigan, including all chambers of commerce.

Disc Data and Chatter

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

SAUNDERS

Among new Columbia pop releases are "All Alone By the Telephone" (CL-1300) by Polly Bergen with the orchestra of Luther Henderson; "Reunion In Rhythm" (CL1277) by Frankie Laine with Michel Legrand; "I'll Be Seeing You" (CL-1262) a Jo Stafford-Paul Weston disc; and "Play For Keeps" (CL-1258) by Jerri Adams with Ray Ellis and his Orchestra.

Never let a good thing go is the rule pointed out by "Still More Sing Along With Mitch" (CL-1283), a follow of a follow of the original Mitch Miller LP that sold so well. For some real good big band dance arrangements by a fine big band try "Les Elgart On Tour" (CL-1291).

FIVE ACES: More Pontiac area pennies are being spent on "Come Softly To Me" (The Fleetwoods) than any other single disc this week, according to record retailers.

A full lap behind is "Venus" from a fourth place finish last week. "Pink Shoe Laces" (Dodie Stevens) pops up in third place. Fourth spot goes to "Since I Don't Have You" (The Skyliners) and a flip of the coin gives us an inside straight with "It's Just A Matter Of Time" (Brook Benton) the last choice.

THE JAZZ NEST: Since big record companies are built on sales and appeal to the pop fan, the case for jazz on "big" labels is poor. The "pure" flavor of jazz is lost to the "commercial" flavor.

This is not always true, but the exceptions are few. Dave Brubeck's latest Columbia LP "Newport 1958" (CL-1249) with the quartet playing a tribute to Duke Ellington is a good example.

I have never been a Brubeck fan, to say the least, but it is evident that this is a far cry from the first Brubeck sides. His work has become increasingly commercial and stale since he signed with Columbia.

"Erroll Garner Encores In Hi Fi' (CL-1141) is another example. I've always been a Garner fan, but only the early Garner Columbias compare favorably with what he did before his entry into the "big time."

Capitol keeps pouring out LPs by Pee Wee Hunt that are a disgrace to Dixie. The latest, "Blues Ala Dixie" (T-1144) is a waste of time.

The last Teagarden LP for Capitol was too uncommercial, so now we have "Shades of Night" (T-1143) in which big "T" fights a losing battle against an orchestra full of strings, oboes, etc.

Inter-County Supervisors Pledge Water Pipeline Aid

A bogged down Lake Huron pipeline, proposed to bring a new water source to Oakland and Macomb counties, has been promised a helping hand from the Supervisors Inter-County Commitee.

In a resolution adopted by the committee at its monthly meeting yesterday, the SICC agreed to see if it couldn't aid in further development of the $150,000,000 pipeline, a project of the unsuccessful Southeastern Michigan Water Authority.

An attempt might be made to convince the four other counties in the SICC—Wayne, St. Clair, Washtenaw, and Monroe—that it is time that the project branch into a big, six-county project on a metropolitan basis, instead of the current plans for only two counties.

This was the suggestion made several years ago by the National Sanitation Foundation in a lengthy survey of southeastern Michigan's water future.

BORN IN 1956

The authority was an idea born originally of the Inter-County Committee back in 1956 to search for an additional water supply, as the six-county area faced a year-by-year dwindling supply of ground water.

Now the SICC is prepared to take the authority back into its fold in an attempt to see why plans have not preceded further and faster than they have.

Kelley said under original plans, the authority had hoped by now to have all participating communities under contract, construction surveys completed and bids ready to be taken.

Today, there are but six smaller areas under contract, a disappointed Kelley said.

Consulting engineers for the authority, Kelley said, are awaiting his word on which areas wish to tie into the pipline.

They say after this is known that within 90 days a final layout and design of the pipeline could be in hand and construction bids taken.

Kelley, however, has but the six areas, mostly in Macomb County, to show for his efforts.

Larger and needed hoped for participants, like Pontiac and Detroit, are on the outside looking in.

OWN PROBLEMS

Detroit is having its own water problems with Wayne County. Both are tied up in a court tussle and the authority has been forced to keep a hands-off policy until this is settled.

The authority would like to have Detroit join up to make the multi-million dollar project feasible and economical.

It's conceivable, according to Delos Hamlin, chairman of the SICC, that present authority plans might be scrapped if found unworkable and new ones made.

Too, Hamlin added, it's possible Kelley's stymied plans will be kept intact, and will have to be broadened to add the four counties which didn't join the project in the first place.

"Those other counties didn't feel the water situation critical enough then to get in," Kelley explained.

He said he hoped the SICC's offer to help might produce the "ultimate of having the entire area work together in the project."

Hamlin, who said he would spearhead revitalizing the study of water needs, said a meeting would possibly be called in April of the six counties to see what the next step will be.

This came about after Sparkman arrested James White, 25, of 20791 Parkside St., Royal Oak Township, on suspicion of burglarizing the Big Star Cleaners, 8627 W. Eight Mile Rd. in Detroit.

In White's hotel room, Sparkman said he found his three pairs of slacks, a sport jacket and two suits which had been taken from the cleaners.

Unable to furnish $2,000 bond yesterday, White was being held.

Adopts Faith of Eddie Fisher, Todd

Liz Converted to Judaism

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor has been converted to Judaism, the faith of her late husband, Mike Todd, and of Eddie Fisher, the handsome singer she is expected to marry.

Although the English - born beauty, formerly a Protestant, apparently had been considering the step for more than two years, her decision caught Hollywood by surprise.

The 27-year-old actress apparently first decided to embrace Judaism at the time she married Mike Todd Feb. 2, 1957. Todd, born Avram Goldboggen, was the son of a rabbi.

As part of the ceremony she had to pass an examination on the religion and take an oath to uphold its standards.

The actual conversion was completed by a simple prayer rite conducted in Hebrew, with Rabbi Nussbaum reading the prayer and Miss Taylor responding.

State Tenure Group Hears Street Case

DETROIT (AP)—Attorneys for demoted Ferndale School Principal Scott W. Street told the State Tenure Commission last night that the Board of Education acted illegally in demoting Street in the middle of a school term.

Attorneys for the Ferndale board countered in a commission hearing at Wayne State University that Street was an administrator and did not come under protection of the tenure law.

Street was demoted from principal of Best Elementary School to a visiting teacher Feb. 16. He is seeking reinstatement.

The commission instructed both sides to prepare briefs of their cases and submit them by April 9. It said it would study the briefs and then reach a decision.

S-P Reports Net Profit for Last Quarter of 1958

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Studebaker-Packard President Harold E. Churchill says his firm took in a net profit of $3,680,574 for the final three months of 1958 despite a $13,390,937 loss for the year.

In the annual report distributed yesterday, Churchill said the 1958 loss compared with an $11,135,108 loss in 1957.

He said the 1958 fourth quarter reflected demand for the firm's new smaller Lark cars, and added that the period was the first three month period in which a profit had been reported since the final quarter of 1953.

Jail Population Changes in Film

'Anatomy of a Murder' Hires New 'Prisoners' and 'Deputies'

MARQUETTE (UPI)—When the movie "Anatomy of a Murder" hits the nation's theaters, there will be a quick change in the screen population of the Marquette County Jail.

Three "prisoners" and two "deputies" who quit in a pay dispute after one day's shooting of the picture, are remaining in the picture for the scenes they shot.

But in other sequences, there will be new "prisoners" and new "deputies."

Jim Merrick, public relations man for "Anatomy" announced that, contrary to published reports, the sequences shot Tuesday involving the five extras who quit, would not be remade.

The five extras quit after producer Otto Preminger and production manager Henry Weinberger announced that they would not boost the $10-a-day wage paid to nonspeaking extras in the movie.

The men had demanded higher pay after discovering that extras in Hollywood were paid $20 a day. They reportedly learned that from the wife of one of the Hollywood members of the movie company.

Merrick, however, said $10 a day was the standard wage paid outside Hollywood.

Filming at the Marquette County courthouse and jail was expected to take about four weeks.

Several weeks more would be required to film other scenes at the railroad station, a local bar, motel, beauty parlor, trailer court and the home of Associate State Justice John Voelker at Ishpeming.

N.Y. Has No Pending Seaway Work Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—The state Power Authority says it has no pending claims from contractors for extra payments on the St. Lawrence power project.

Ontario Premier Leslie Frost said in Toronto today that the Ontario Hydroelectric Commission, Canadian counterpart of the state authority, had 19 million dollars worth of claims. Frost said the authority had even more.

An authority spokesman said yesterday that last Feb. 9 it announced that changed conditions and unexpected obstacles in building the 635 million dollar project had resulted in several cases of contractors filing for extras.

The largest, the spokesman said, was a 27 million dollar claim for extreme difficulty in excavating hardpacked glacial fill. This claim was settled for $4,860,000, the February announcement said.

Hollywood Headlines

Joan Crawford, Kaufman May Team Up for Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — The partnership of Joseph Kaufman and Joan Crawford had promised to flourish like the green bay tree until Joan married Al Steele and was no longer interested in a steady job and Joe joined the Cinerama group. Joan starred in "Sudden Fear," a hit, in association with Kaufman.

Now Joe is back in Hollywood after a year in London, Australia and other countries. He brought with him a new project, the rights to "Night Boat to Paris," a suspense novel by Richard Jessup.

While in New York en route here, Kaufman talked to Joan about starring in "Night Boat" and she's very interested. It would be produced in the south of France and London. He also discussed "The Promised Land" with her, a movie they had planned to make several years ago.

Monday the roll will be called for "The Private's Affair"—alias "The Love Maniac"—and among those reporting to director David Weisbart will be Barry Coe whom 20th Century-Fox is building to stardom, Sal Mineo who is so popular with the teenagers, and Gary Crosby who is finishing "Holiday for Lovers" on the same lot.

There's never been any jealousy between Clint Walker and Ty Hardin, who replaced Clint on the "Cheyenne" TV series when Clint was on suspension. Clint said he was sorry for Ty, because Ty was unhappy and didn't want "Cheyenne." Now Clint's back in the saddle, Ty has another series, and the boys are happy.

Further evidence of their friendship is the news that Andra Martin, Ty's pretty brunette wife, is playing opposite Clint in his motion picture "Yellowstone Kelly." Andra will play an Indian girl, and because she has blue eyes, Warner's makeup head, Gordon Bau, took her to an eye specialist to have brown contact lenses made for her.

I am very glad that Jack Warner will receive the Thalberg award. That's an honor every producer in the business cherishes, and Jack certainly deserves recognition for his fight for the industry plus "Auntie Mame" and other top pictures.

Bag and baggage, and three children, Elizabeth Taylor has taken off for Las Vegas. Eddie Fisher, who accompanied her, opens at the Tropicana early next month.

Steve Allen flew out to spend a few days to see his two sons, and took them to the Club Seville to hear Terry Gibbs' orchestra. At a nearby table, same place, Steve Crane was with daughter Cheryl.

Mary and Sonny Whitney are so enchanted with the island of Maui that they have sent for Mary's children and they'll spend some time there. This is the island that Kay and Clark Gable loved so much.

Tomorrow the Samuel Goldwyns leave for Honolulu for three weeks, Sailing on the Lurline. Sam leaves feeling very happy because the completed "Porgy and Bess" was shown him, and he liked what he saw, as did Ira Gershwin.

Recovered from his recent nose surgery, Louis Prima hosted a "return home" party for Keely Smith, who returned via jet from New York. He presented her with a sable stole.

Completely well after her long bout with mononucleosis, Joan Fontaine is now riding with the West Hills Hunt Club. She joins Jose Ferrer and Tim Durant in Colorado next week for a jump meet being held there.

First Liner to Pass Through April 20

Seaway Ready for Shipping Rush

MONTREAL (UPI) — Shipping officials said today that they expected the amount of shipping between the Great Lakes and foreign ports to be doubled next month with the opening of the 500 million dollar St. Lawrence Seaway.

The first ship is scheduled to pass through the inland water route on April 20. The seaway will be opened officially on June 26 by Queen Elizabeth in a ceremony at the St. Lambert lock.

The British freighter Rossetti, pushing slowly through the ice-clogged St. Lawrence River, was expected to reach here tomorrow. The Rossetti was a day ahead of the German freighter Volumnia and the British Manchester Mariner.

Seaway officials said the honor of being the first ship through the seaway would be conferred on a "first come, first served" basis.

Most shipping lines were beefing up their fleets with additional or larger ships. The Zim Israel American Line, an Israeli-owned company, planned to substitute four 7,000-ton vessels this year for the four 2,500-tonners used last year. It said the number of voyages would be increased from 10 to 12.

The new channel has a depth of 27 feet and a width of 200 feet. The depth might have an important effect on the dollars and cents assessment of the seaway's value during its first season of operation.

Large modern freighters, fully loaded in Europe, would have to unload some of their cargo at Montreal to be light enough to get through the channel. This would involve a loss of valuable time. Ships going the other way would have to take on more cargo at Montreal to be fully loaded and ensure a maximum profit voyage to foreign ports.

That problem possibly could be solved by the adoption of vessels similar to North American upper lakes tankers. They carry 20,000 tons of cargo and are still able to withstand the pounding of an Atlantic crossing.

Last year, more than 400 voyages from foreign ports were logged on the lakes with 30 foreign lines in service. Like the Zim Line, most companies who use the shallow draft seaway in the past planned to increase their operations. Some new firms also were expected to send ships through the

Red Violence, Fear Stalk Baghdad's Dusty Streets

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

BAGHDAD, Iraq — This is a city of dust, violence and fear. An Iraqi armored car stands at the walled entrance to the United States Embassy.

Iraqi soldiers lounge on either side of the gate, their rifles at the ready. An Iraqi civilian, a representative of the Iraq government examines passports of all visitors and carefully notes their names.

The government says it is a necessary precaution for the safety of the Embassy.

Several miles away, and on the opposite side of the Tigris, is an even more heavily guarded building.

It houses the studio of Baghdad Radio, center of the propaganda war being waged with Cairo. It also houses the office of the chief censor, the office which all news correspondents must visit at one time or another.

VISITORS SEARCHED

A bulging card case in a hip pocket brings on a tense moment, and the visitor produces the case quickly to prove it is nothing lethal.

There is little laughter and much fear in this police state. And the mood of depression is heightened by the dust.

It hangs in a yellow pall over the city, clogging the throat and irritating the eyes. It drifts in with the wind from the surrounding desert, and even the green of the palms and hedges fades beneath it.

This is a state divided. On the one side are those Arab Nationalists who, if they could, would be followers of Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Arrayed with them, by necessity, are devout Moslem groups who have no liking for communism and now have no liking for the direction taken by the regime of Maj. Gen. Abdel Karim Kassem.

Against them are the Communists and the "front" organizations who have surrounded Kassem.

In the Middle East it is said that whoever controls Baghdad, also controls Iraq. Baghdad's streets are controlled by the Reds.

Communist monitors control the movements of the mobs. At their word, a mob's whole fury can be directed against a single victim. Or, at their word, the mobs silently disappear as if they never were.

There are few anti-American or anti-Western signs in Baghdad today. The fury mostly is directed against Egypt. But Iraqi propaganda now links Nasser with the West, and at night, when the youthful home guards take over the streets, it is better to be inside.

That Was Telling Her

Chrisley Has Bat Working for Tigers

Much-Traveled Outfielder Hits Another Homer

Bengals Hand Pierce 5-2 Setback as Rocky Bridges Also Homers

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Neil Chrisley, a fellow who has murdered Minor League pitching and wilted before the big-timers, is making it awfully difficult for the Detroit Tigers to cut him loose.

The much-traveled outfielder probably will not find regular employment with the Tigers, simply because the club has a set outfield and reserves like Gus Zernial, Larry Doby and Johnny Groth.

But Chrisley's long ball power will force manager Bill Norman to take some time in making his decision. The 26-year-old left-handed swinger from Calhoun Falls, S.C., belted his second home run in two days yesterday as the Tigers nipped the Chicago White Sox 5-2.

They pinned the defeat on Billy Pierce, who gave up all five Detroit runs in the seven innings he worked.

Chrisley was thrown in almost as an afterthought when the Tigers worked the winter deal that brought Eddie Yost and Rocky Bridges from Washington. The lean outfielder first came to the Tigers' attention one spring day last year at Tinker Field in Orlando, Fla., when he belted three straight home runs in a Grapefruit League game against Detroit.

Jack Tighe, then the manager, made the comment "he'd be a nice guy to have around."

Chrisley is around now. How long he stays is another matter. He has had only four hits in 22 at-bats but two of them have been home runs.

He was used sparingly at Washington last season and batted .215. The year before he led the American Assn. with a .343 batting mark, hit 15 home runs and drove in 75.

Chrisley hit his home run in the first inning off Pierce. The White Sox scored twice off Frank Lary in the second on one hit, a Tiger error and a foul-up that resulted when first baseman Gail Harris took his foot off the bag too soon.

The Tigers rallied for four runs in the seventh, getting long-ball power from an unexpected source. Rocky Bridges, who has hit only 11 home runs in a major league career dating back to 1951, cracked a three-run homer to cap the rally.

Frank Bolling doubled home one run before Bridges connected. The rally made a winner out of Ray Narleski, who had his best spring showing by giving up just one hit over four innings in relief of Lary.

The Tigers had an off day from the Grapefruit League wars today, but Norman ordered an early workout. The annual golf outing was scheduled for the afternoon.

Beanball Incident Starts Controversy

Giants-Indians in Rhubarb

By The Associated Press

Stu Miller, a curveballer with a three-pitch repertoire called "slow, slower and slower still," was the center of a beanball controversy today after toppling Cleveland's Vic Power in an exhibition game.

A Miller pitch hit Power on the head and knocked him unconscious momentarily in the ninth inning of San Francisco's 7-5 victory over the Indians yesterday. Hot words between the managers and a wrestling match between San Francisco's Andre Rodgers and Cleveland's Jim Bolger came in the wake of the incident, which drew these varying comments:

From Miller: "I never threw at anybody in my life. He ducked into the ball."

From Power: "He threw at me and he knows it."

"We've been playing spring training games with Cleveland since 1934," said Rigney. "We never had any trouble with the Indians and we are not going to have any trouble with them now. None of our pitchers has ever deliberately thrown at them."

Rodgers, agile San Francisco shortstop, was involved when, following the incident, Bolger slammed into him at second base while breaking up a double-play attempt.

While they wrestled, both benches emptied but no punches were thrown. Bolger had gone in as a pinch runner for Power, who was not injured but was taken out just the same. Power was not wearing a protective helmet, as required by most clubs.

Rodgers earlier slammed two home runs—his fifth and sixth—and Eddie Bressoud and Jackie Brandt hit one apiece to power the Gaints' victory in the feature of Thursday's eight-game exhibition program.

In other games, Boston nipped the Chicago Cubs, 4-3 in 11 innings at Scottsdale, Ariz., and in Florida, Cincinnati edged Los Angeles 2-1, Philadelphia downed Washington 5-2 at Clearwater, St. Louis whipped Milwaukee 6-3 at Bradenton, New York defeated Pittsburgh 7-2 at St. Petersburg, Detroit whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-2 at Tampa and Baltimore topped Kansas City 4-3 in 10 innings at Miami.

Bill Renna's four hits and one-hit pitching for five innings by Ted Wills enabled Boston to snap a five-game losing streak while Cincinnati got its second complete game in two days as Brooks Lawrence followed up Orlando Pena's Wednesday performance with a route-going seven hitter against the Dodgers.

Robin Roberts became the first Phillie to go nine, beating the Senators on a seven hitter although he allowed homers to Jim Lemon and Norm Zauchin.

Dick Ricketts, former Duquesne All - America basketball player, combined with Vinegar Bend Mizell on a seven-hitter for the Cardinals aganst Milwaukee, which lost rookie outfielder Ed Haas with a broken ankle.

Mickey Mantle's 430-foot homer touched off a Yankee outburst after the Pirates' George Witt had stoped the champs without a hit for 5 2-3 innings.

Al Pilarcik's single scored Bob Boyd with the 10th inning run that beat Kansas City—but the Orioles weren't happy. Left-hander Billy O'Dell injured his back in a pregame warmup and will be flown to Baltimore for an examination.

No decision was given on the fights.

Lakers Even Playoffs in Stormy NBA Game

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The stormy National Basketball Assn. playoff between the Minneapolis Lakers and the St. Louis Hawks was deadlocked again today and new verbal jabs flew from both camps.

The Lakers survived a third period blowup to gain a 108-98 victory here last night and knot the Western Division final playoff at two games apiece in the best-4-of-7 series.

Elgin Baylor's 32 points and defensive job on a superb but tiring Cliff Hagan in the fourth quarter put Minneapolis over the top after the Lakers lost a 19-point lead. Hagan scored 38 points but was held to 3 in the final quarter.

"What I said earlier this week still goes," said Hawk coach Ed MacAuley. "The Lakers played the same way last night that they did Sunday, pushing and shoving."

MacAuley and owner Ben Kerner of the Hawks charged Monday that the Lakers were using roughhouse tactics. The Lakers denied it then and they did the same today.

"These guys are on the spot," said Laker coach Johnny Kundla. "The pressure is on them and they are tightening up."

The Laker-Hawk series resumes tomorrow night at St. Louis. Boston and Syracuse, also 2-2 in the Eastern Division, play their fifth game Saturday in Boston. They were idle last night.

Behind Baylor and Dick Garmaker the Lakers burst into a 51-32 lead in the second period and appeared to have easy sailing.

But with St. Louis still down by 59-45 at halftime Hagan's fancy drive-ins got the Hawks steaming in the third period.

The 6-foot-4 former Kentucky star pitched in 18 points over that 12 minute stretch and pushed St. Louis into an 80-78 margin at the three-quarter turn.

Baylor, Larry Foust and Bob Leonard rallied the Lakers, however. With the iron man Hagan tiring and Bob Pettit sitting out five minutes of the fourth quarter with five fouls, St. Louis didn't have enough to answer the Lakers final comeback.

Pettit, lacking his usual sharpness, finished with 21 points and Garmaker had 22.

Better Games Remote

ABC Scores Holding Up

ST. LOUIS (AP)—With all the fabulous scores that have been shot in other divisions of the 56th American Bowling Congress tournament, can the 1,316 total that leads the doubles stand up?

When Bob and Glenn Gersch of Chicago assembled their relatively humble total on Feb. 21, experts predicted it wouldn't last more than a week. Since then, more than 10,000 bowlers have taken a shot at the two-man title and failed.

A 1,316 tally is pretty fair shooting — an average of 219 per game. But compared to the scores that won past doubles titles, it seems like slim pickings.

Last year it took a 1,414 total for Jim Vrenick and Bill Tucker of St. Louis to nab the two-man crown. The last time a set as low as the Gersch boys' won the doubles was 1,316 in 1931.

The possibility that anyone will knock Ed Lubanski of Detroit out of the singles or all-events leads seems remote. He rolled 764 in the singles and 2,116 in the all-events. Likewise, there does not seem to be any teams remaining with the potential to outpin the record, 3,243 assembled by Lubanski's Pfeiffers in the open team event.

Betting Is the Same

Las Vegas Wants Fight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and British boxer Brian London today were assured the "use of the hall" on May 1 — if and when other obstacles to the controversial title bout can be overcome.

George H. Albright, director of the new 7,200 seat Convention Hall said both Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, and promoter Cecil Rhodes agreed they would accept May 1 as a suitable date for the fight.

Albright said he expected D'Amato and Rhodes to arrive here tomorrow at the latest to discuss the rescheduling of the fight for May 1, now that a Los Angeles group has given up its reservation for that date.

Pleads "Temporary Insanity"

Piersall Ignores Ribs He Gets About Illness

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jimmy Piersall, who recovered from mental illness and resumed a major league baseball career, still gets a good riding from opposing players.

But now there's a difference, Piersall told the Phoenix Press Club forum last night—he can take it.

"They imitate sirens coming for me," said the Cleveland outfielder recently acquired from Boston, "call me the goony bird and keep telling me the white coats are coming.

"Just today we had a hassle and Bill Rigney, San Francisco manager came out. 'Get back in your cage,' I told him. 'You've got a lot of guts,' he said."

Piersall said Yankee catcher Yogi Berra once called for knockdown pitches against Jackie Jensen and Frank Malzone. Each grounded out on the next pitch.

"When I got up," Piersall said, "I told Yogi, 'I got a bat. If you call for a knockdown on me, I'll hit you right on the top of the head and plead temporary insanity.'

"Yogi said, 'Go ahead and take a good cut. We don't knock down lousy .200 hitters.' "

When Piersall was going through a post-recovery isolation period, he found golf an excellent therapy.

"They don't care about you on a golf course," he said, "as long as you don't lose too many balls they have to hunt for."

"He likes fans," Piersall replied. "He just doesn't like sportswriters. He uses them to key himself up . . . I'm supposed to throw golf clubs or bats—keep nothing bottled up inside me—but everyone knows about me. It costs Williams $500."

Boston, Montreal (2-0) in Playoffs

Bruins Hand Toronto Second Defeat, 4-2, in Cup Semifinals

By The Associated Press

Little Marcel Bonin, strictly a junior partner until recently, has hung his shingle right under that of Dickie Moore and Jean Beliveau as a member of the Montreal Canadiens' top point making line.

He scored two goals last night to again trigger the Canadiens to a 5-1 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks in the Stanley cup semifinal hockey payoffs.

The victory boosted Montreal to a 2-0 lead over Chicago, the same as Boston holds over Toronto in the other best-of-7 series. The Bruins used another little man, Guy Gendron, to defeat the Leafs 4-2 at Boston.

Bonin has scored four goals in two games as the third member of a line that was 1-2 in regular season National Hockey League scoring. Moore won the title with 96 points (a new league record) and Beliveau was second with 92. Both have scored a goal and have four assists, in the two games.

"It's too bad the game ended, I was just getting going in the third period," he said after last night's game.

He scored the first and fifth goals. His two linemates each added one and Boom Boom Geoffrion got the other while helping the trio on a power play.

Chicago coach Rudy Pilous scheduled a workout in Chicago today. The teams play the next two games in the Windy City, Saturday and Tuesday.

"We didn't skate from the outset. That's the whole story," he said, explaining the loss.

The diminutive Gendron, picked up last winter in the league draft from the New York Rangers, broke a 2-2 tie in the final four minutes with a 10-foot shot.

"I was so surprised when I found the puck on my stick I shot before I forgot to," he said. "I wasn't going to fool around. I saw a clear alley and fired."

Four minutes later, Boston's Doug Mohns and Toronto's Bob Pulford touched off a five minute free swinging brawl that finally punctuated a game marked by 21 penalties.

Last Test of Efforts, May 22-27, at Munich

Olympics Aim of Matthaei for 23 Years

Michigan has the best chance it ever had of being chosen as the site for the 1964 Olympics. This chance in large measure is due to the efforts of a man who wouldn't be discouraged.

Whether Michigan is picked won't be known until May 27, but until he learns the decision of the Olympic Committee, before whom he appears at Munich, Germany, Frederick C. Matthaei, outstanding Detroit businessman, philanthropist, and sportsman has plenty of other projects to keep him busy.

Matthaei's hopes were buoyed recently when the U. S. Congress passed a resolution extending an invitation to the International Olympic Committee to hold the Olympic games in Detroit.

As if working to bring the Olympics to Michigan isn't enough, Matthaei has recently been nominated for the post of regent of the University of Michigan, a university he has been serving actively since he received his degree in 1914.

Matthaei's interest in civic affairs comes from a strong faith in the state of Michigan and a sincere desire to work toward any goal which will strengthen the state or its educational system.

His efforts toward strengthening Michigan educational institutions and spearheading the drive to bring the Olympics to Michigan mirror this feeling.

FRED MATTHAEI

His efforts to bring Olympics to Detroit began as an idea in 1936 with the formation of the Detroit Olympic Committee. Matthaei was elected chairman, a post he still holds.

Through the years, Matthaei and the committee have tirelessly worked through the tedious steps in a climb toward bringing this world famous event to Michigan. At last, their efforts may be rewarded.

The last test of their groundwork will be given May 22-27 when the International Olympic Committee holds its final site selection meeting in Munich. Presenting the case for Detroit to the 64 delegates from most of the nations of the world will be Matthaei and Detroit attorney Richard E. Cross.

Bringing the Olympics to Detroit would mean a lot of things to a lot of businesses. But Matthaei is not solely concerned with this. His main concern is to bring the Olympic games to Michigan for what it will do for future generations.

Most important will be the enduring sports facilities available for future generations of Detroit young people.

'Never Trade With Lane' -- Casey

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — "You can put this down, and I mean it," said Casey Stengel one warm evening. "I'll never trade with that Frank Lane as long as I have anything to do with the New York Yankees."

Despite the warmth, it was obvious the Yankee manager has a chilly opinion of the Cleveland general manager.

"Why out at the Colorado Springs meetings a year ago December he's got all my players, even Yogi Berra.

"He's always calling. Must work for the telephone company. Know what I do when he calls? Why, if he gets me I tell him, 'See Mr. Weiss' (Yankee general manager George Weiss). And when he calls Weiss what do you think Weiss says? Why he says, 'See Casey.' We got a system.

"That's why we keep winning. We don't trade with the trader.

"The other day he comes out here at Miller Huggins Field, stands behind our batting cage and talks to all my players and my writers. He lives here in St. Pete, you know. If he's so smart why does he have the Indians training in Tucson, Ariz.?

"Well, he comes out, see, and I'm in the outfield, then I'm back inside getting my rash treated.

"No, he didn't give it to me. Well, he thinks I'm ducking him. He's a smart man. He wants one of my third basemen."

Lane has been after Andy Carey for some time, especially since the Yankees finished paying him that bonus of about $35,000 he got when he signed. Lane also would like to have Bobby Richardson who could play shortstop and bolster the weak side of the Cleveland infield. He's been after Richardson for more than two years.

"Nope," said Casey, "I'll never trade with him."

Suppose he mentions Rocky Colavito, his right fielder and one of the rising stars of the American League?

"If he mentions that boy," said Stengel, backing off a bit, "he's got himself a deal. I'll even throw in one of my six first basemen, maybe two."

Easter Relays Will Feature Shot Putters

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., (AP) World record holder Parry O'Brien and the other three members of the exclusive "60-foot" shot putters' society headline the annual Easter Relays tomorrow.

Entered against O'Brien are Dallas Long, sensational freshman of the University of Southern California; Dave Davis of the Southern Cal varsity, and Bill Nieder, ex-Kansas star now in the Army.

All have put the shot 60 feet or better.

Threatened is O'Brien's world mark of 63 feet 3 inches, and most certain to fall is his meet record of 59 fet 9⅝ inches set in 1956.

LOOKS AHEAD — Richard Compton, Pontiac fighter who this week won the Michigan AAU Welterweight title, will enter the Toledo-Chicago AAU eliminations with the hope of representing the city in the Pan-American games to be held in Chicago in August. On the left is trainer John Ferro and on the right Cressy Larson, executive director of the Pontiac Boys' Club.

Dartmouth's defending champions took the lead after the first of four events on the three-day program.

The Indians scored 91.8 points to edge ahead of two Western powerhouses, Denver and Colorado. Colorado had 90.2 points and Denver 88.9. Denver, four-times champion before Dartmouth last year, lost ace Mauritz Sonberg when he hooked one gate on the 65-gate course.

Utah was fourth with 87.4 points and Middlebury's Eastern collegiate champions were fifth with 85.0.

Trailing in order were Western (Colo.) State 79.4, Michigan Tech 75.9, Nevada 75.7, Idaho 65.1 and Stanford 41.6.

Trying for Tomanek

Yanks Still After Hurler

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees, rebuffed in efforts to get a relief pitcher, are reported to be dickering with Kansas City for Dick Tomanek.

Tomanek, a left-hander, is the No. 1 relief pitcher on the Athletics' staff.

Joe McGuff, baseball writer for the Kansas City Star, reported yesterday that owner Arnold Johnson and Gen. Mgr. Parke Carroll of the A's met Wednesday with Yankee Gen. Mgr. George Weiss and Manager Casey Stengel.

In a story filed from West Palm Beach, Fla., the Athletics' spring camp, McGuff said the Yankees had failed to land Dick Hyde or Pete Ramos from Washington, and would like to have the 27-year-old Tomanek.

If Tomanek goes to the Yankees, he will become the seventh former Athletic pitcher on the New York roster. The others are Art Ditmar, Rhyne Duren, Bobby Shantz, Murry Dickson, Virgil Trucks and Duke Maas.

"There are reports they, the Yankees, have offered outfielder Hank Bauer and perhaps either pitchers Zack Monroe or John Gabler for Tomanek," McGuff reported. "There are also rumors the Yanks are offering both those pitchers and infielder Frits Brickell instead of Bauer in a deal."

Monroe Gabler and Brickell probably would interest the Athletics more than Bauer plus a pitcher. The A's outfield is set with Roger Maris, Bill Tuttle and Bob Cerv.

And only last week, Carroll said the A's had failed in negotiations with several American League clubs for additional pitching strength. Carroll said he might try to make a trade with Milwaukee of the National League if he could get waivers on players the Braves might want.

During the first half of 1958, Tomanek pitched 57 2-3 innings for Cleveland, winning 2 and losing 3. He had an earned run average of 5.62. He worked 72 1-3 innings for Kansas City, winning 5, losing 5, and cutting his ERA to 3.61.

Michigan's Class A high schools on the far western side of the state have had their competitive athletic programs hampered for several years by the necessity of much long-distance travel.

Now a new conference has been formed, composed of five schools dotted along the Lake Michigan shoreline, and it takes very little knowledge of this state's geography to realize that they're still going to do some lengthy "road work."

The newly-organized league consists of Benton Harbor, Grand Haven, Muskegon Heights, Muskegon and — way up north — Traverse City. From Benton Harbor through Grand Haven to Muskegon is a sizable stretch in itself. But that haul to Traverse puts on the finishing touch.

It's 81 miles from Benton Harbor to Grand Haven and seven more brings the traveler into Muskegon. From there to Traverse City is another 147 miles and it's a 227-mile trip from Benton Harbor to Traverse.

Holland High School attended the organizational meeting and would have been welcomed as a 6th member. But the Dutchmen declined to enter. They probably took a peek at the road map and the thought of those long trips scared them away.

The conference takes the place of the Southwestern Michigan circuit, which disbanded last year, but league competition is not expected to begin until 1961. Football will have to wait until the 1962 season.

Traverse City, through no fault of its own, always has had travel problems. Traverse presently belongs to the Arrowhead loop, which also requires long treks.

Midland, Bay City Handy and Alpena complete the Arrowhead membership, but the loop will disband at the end of the current school year because Handy and Midland are joining the Saginaw Valley circuit.

With Traverse gaining a fresh affiliation, poor Alpena is left all alone. Maybe Alpena and nearby Berkley can get together again. The Oakland County Bears and Alpena held a home-and-home football series in 1955 and 1956 and this is a good time for Berkley to assist its lonely neighbor.

ODDS AND ENDS

Bob Rixom, a senior at Denison University in Granville, Ohio, is a member of the school's varsity lacrosse team. A goalie, he is the son of Mrs. Ernest M. Rixom, 2338 Dorchester, Birmingham.

Tom Purdy is expected to relinquish his basketball coaching duties this year at Hazel Park . . . Avondale High athletic director Frank Crowell will be president of the Oakland B League during the 1959-60 school year.

All-Star Cagers Clash Saturday

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—All-star basketball squads representing the North and South got in their first workouts Thursday night in preparation for Saturday's game in Reynolds Coliseum here.

Coach Everett Case's South team went through a practice session first. Then Joe Lapchick, coach of the North squad, sent his boys through a workout.

The South roster lists Ralph Crosswaite of Western Kentucky, Bucky McDonald of George Washington, Rex Frederick of Auburn, Jim Henry of Vanderbilt, North Carolina State's John Richter and Bob MacGillivray and All America Bailey Howell of Mississippi State.

On the North squad are Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame, Leo Byrd of Marshall, Cal Ramsey of NYU, Al Seiden of St. John's, M. C. Burton of Michigan, Hal Danzig of Bucknell, Hank Stein of Xavier (Ohio) and Jon Cincebox of Syracuse.

Three Softball Loops Planned

Waterford Recreation to Organize Summer Program March 30

The first organizational meeting is scheduled next Monday night at 7:30 at the Community Center on Williams Lake road. All interested persons are invited to attend this important meeting.

Comprising the 1959 Waterford softball program will be the American League for advanced players, the National League for less skilled teams and the Blooper League for men over 30 years old.

Complete uniforms will be required for teams competing in the American loop. Shirts will qualify as team uniforms in the National circuit while no special uniform is required for clubs in the Blooper division.

Team entry fees for American and National squads will be $30 while the Blooper entry fee is $20.

A restricted number of non-residents will be eligible to compete in the Waterford Township softball program this year. For additional information, call the Waterford Township Recreation Department, OR 3-9152.

Title Shot to Winner

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A possible shot at Davey Moore's featherweight championship here next summer is in prospect for the winner of tonight's nationally-televised 10-rounder between Paul Jorgensen of Port Arthur, Tex., and Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I.

Yankee sluggers hit more than 100 home runs in 1958, the 35th time they have turned the trick.

Michigan Golfer Eliminated in Senior's Meet

Twice in the week-long tourney the 75-year-old Diddel has shot his age or better in winning three matches from opponents who towered over him.

In the quarter-final round yesterday, Diddel, who is 5 feet 7, defeated 6 foot 4 Harvey Olson of Grosse Point, Mich., by a score of 3 and 1. Earlier he beat 6 foot 4 Roy Moore and 6 foot 2 Walcott Brown.

Favored U. of M. Gets Points in Opening Events

Michigan State Junior Wins Metric Mile in NCAA Championships

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Michigan's loaded squad was off winging today to a possible record score in the NCAA swimming and diving championships.

After getting a couple of unexpected points in the opening 1,500 meter freestyle championship yesterday, Michigan coach Gus Stager felt confident his water wallopers would cop their third straight NCAA team title.

Other coaches, after taking another glimpse at the depth and talent of Stager's aquatic aces, predicted the Wolverines would break the record of 96½ points set by Yale, under Bob Kiphuth, in 1953. Some said 105 was likely.

Michigan grabbed five points in the 1,500 when John Urbanscok, a 22-year-old Hungarian refugee finished a surprising second to Michigan State's Billy Steuart, the defending champion. Stager had hoped for three points in this event.

Steuart, a husky junior from South Africa, won the metric mile in 18:26.2. Urbanscok racing in another heat, was second in the field of 28 with 18:30.8. Gene Lenz of California State Poly was third in 18:38.9. Fastest times determined the placings.

Then another Hungarian, 20-year-old Joe Gerlach of Michigan upset the dope by taking the semifinal lead in the one-meter dive over Ohio State's co-favorites, Sam Hall and Ron O'Brien. After seven dives — with the final four to be made tonight — Gerlach had 272.90 points. Hall had 265.50 and O'Brien 260.80. Dick Kimball, Michigan's 1957 champ, was fourth with 235.30. Eight qualified for the final.

In addition to the diving final, seven other championships will be reeled off tonight in Teagle Hall's 25-yard pool at Cornell University, starting at 8 p.m. The six finalists in each of these races will be determined by the qualifying races. These started at 12:30 p.m.

The competition includes the 200-yard butterfly, 50-yard freestyle, 200-yard backstroke, 200-yard freestyle, 100-yard breaststroke, 200-yard individual medley and 400-yard freestyle relay.

Tony Tashnick, Michigan's record-breaking butterfly stroker and winner of the 100 and 200 last year, is expected to lead the Michigan wave of points tonight.

Stager is counting heavily on him in both the butterfly and medley.

The three-day meet winds up Saturday night when the final seven championships will be contested.

Italians, Danes Lead Six-Day Bike Races

NEW YORK (AP) — A six-way deadlock for the distance lead was broken Thursday night as the Italian team of Fernando Terruzzi and Leandro Faggin and the Danish-German squad of Knud Lynge and Gunther Ziegler paced the 11-team field in the 99th hour of the international six-day bike races.

Spring point totals, however, gave the favored Italian pair a 517 to 369 margin over the Danish-German duo. Five other teams trailed by only one lap after a hectic two hours of jamming.

The field was reduced to 11 teams when Italy's Guiseppe Ogna paired with Andre Boher of Spain after both riders lost their partners.

Bow and Arrow Indoor Tourney Has 300 Entries

Upwards of 300 of the nation's finest archers—about a third of them women—will compete Saturday and Sunday at the State Fair Grounds Coliseum in the largest and richest indoor bow and arrow tournament ever held.

Entries for the Ben Pearson Open have far exceeded expectations and have been received from 17 states ranging from New York to California. The bowmen will be shooting for $7,000 in awards.

Three sessions of individual shooting are set for 10:00 a. m., 1:00 p. m. and 4:00 p. m. each day. At 8:00 p. m. each evening the Coliseum range of an estimated 60 targets will be taken over for team competition with the foursome posting the highest two-day actual score winning $1,000 in cash.

Inglis Opposes Racing Changes

Proposed Plan Would Have 'Serious Defects,' Says Commissioner

LANSING (UPI)—Racing commissioner James Inglis yesterday told a Senate state affairs committee that a proposed change in the state's racing laws had "several serious defects."

He said the plan, which has been approved by the House, would put "new heavy burdens on the race track patrons in the form of increased take-out from the betting pools and the possible increases in prices of admission, program, parking, food and drink."

Inglis told the committee the bill had no assurance that any more tax revenue would go to the state although proponents of the bill, including Rep. Lloyd Gibbs (R-Portland), said it would increase state revenue by about $500,000.

Inglis said higher admission prices would cause more people to bet away from the track, rather than legally at the track and this would mean loss of revenue for the state.

Jerry Harrell of Pontiac, scored a series of victories to win the light heavyweight boxing title with the 540th Engineering Group of the U. S. Army in Heilbronn, Germany.

Harrell, 19-year-old son of Mrs. Guy Harrell of Crocus Rd., has also boxed with the U. S. Army team in exhibitions in France and Switzerland.

Harrell scored TKO victories over Bernie McClelland of the 2nd Armed Cavalry Regiment and Paul Wilson from the same unit. He also defeated Lester Scott on a kayo in Augsburg, Germany, with a crowd of 6,500 watching regional eliminations.

Harrell entered the Army in 1957 and will be discharged this summer. The exhibition fights in which he participated were staged for the benefit of European orphanages.

State Matman Title Threat

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Oklahoma State's strong wrestling team had a good start today in defense of its National Collegiate Championship.

The Cowboys, who won this meet 20 of the 28 times it has been held, advanced 7 of their 10 wrestlers into this afternoon's quarterfinal round.

Iowa State, runnerup to the Aggies last year, Oklahoma and host Iowa placed five each.

They are Oklahoma State's Dick Beattie, 157 pounds, and Duane Murty, 167; Iowa State's Ron Gray, 147, and Les Anderson, 130; and Oklahoma's Paul Aubrey, 137.

The Aggies' big winner, however, was 250-pound Ted Ellis, who pinned two opponents last night in the total elapsed time of 8 minutes and 36 seconds.

Michigan State's Tim Woodin also quickly dispatched two 191-pounders. He needed just 2:38 to put away Bruce Campbell of Oklahoma in the fastest fall of the night.

Jockey Stops Horse With Victory Ahead

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP) — Jockey Billy Carroll was suspended for five days for misjudging the finish line while riding Miss Uppity in Thursday's Petite Star Handicap at Tanforan.

Miss Uppity was beaten by a nose.

"I tried so hard to catch that filly in front of me that when I did get up I thought the race was over," Carroll said.

'The Babe and I'

By MRS. BABE RUTH with Bill Slocum

(Condensed from "The Babe and I" Copyright, 1958, by Mrs. Babe Ruht and published by Prentice Hall, Inc.)

Sometime near midnight on Aug. 10, 1934, the Yankee train stopped in Pittsburg to change engines.

Babe walked along the platform talking with Joe Williams, a brilliant sports columnist then and a brilliant sports columnist now for the New York World Telegram and Sun.

In the course of their conversation, Babe said, "This is my last season, Keed. I'm quitting when this one's over."

Bill was Babe's ghost-writer and a friend of such intimate degree that Babe called him "Bill" rather than "Keed" or "Doc."

The Babe said, casually, "I told one of the writers about quitting at the end of the season, Bill."

Slocum went slightly ill. He knew Babe had contemplated quitting but it was knowledge picked up in the confidence of friendship.

Now Bill had the dreary feeling he had been nicely scooped.

"Who did you tell that to, Babe?" Slocum asked.

Slocum recognized the description of Williams. That afternoon Williams' column told the story that set the entire baseball world to buzzing and wondering— "Where does the Babe go now?"

THE LEGS GO FIRST

For at least two years the Babe had been pondering the answer to that question. By the end of the 1932 season Babe knew he had come pretty close to the end of the trail as a player.

In 1932 his legs were gone. He could still hit them a mile — and did. And his remarkable arm was as deadly as ever. But he was covering a dime in the outfield and knew it.

He always had a bad knee. It was the result of a cartilege tear incurred when he was with the Red Sox. The knee required surgery in 1940.

In 1932, he would come back to the hotel or his home after a ball game in agony.

I often had to call a masseur to relieve the pain. And an electric pad on the right knee was standard practice every evening.

When 1934 came around, Babe found himself in an intolerable situation. He was unhappy in the field because he knew he was doing badly; he was miserable on the bench in the presence of Joe McCarthy, a man he loathed and who loathed him.

The antipathy is mutual; Joe McCarthy and the Babe.

He was unhappy away from the park because he was so exhausted and wracked with pain he could barely eat.

The mutual loathing between McCarthy and the Babe can be explained succinctly: McCarthy was manager of the New York Yankees and Babe felt the job should be his. Babe made no secret of this feeling.

SUCCESS SUCCEEDS AGAIN

Joe's tactics for keeping his job were sound. He said nothing about Babe, he was an iron disciplinarian who never gave Babe a single order or even suggestion, and he was a winning manager.

Babe felt, as did many experts, that anybody managing the players McCarthy had would be a winner. McCarthy had never played a single inning in the Big Leagues.

To Babe, McCarthy was a "busher." He was called "Marse," a reference to his slave-driving techniques. Babe's fellow players shared his dislike for McCarthy.

Babe was furious whenever the phrase "How can Ruth manage a ball club if he can't manage himself?" got back to him. He felt the charge no longer valid. He had quieted down considerably since his rollicking youth.

And he was dead certain that his off-the-field conduct was at the very least equal to McCarthy's.

Some people said he couldn't remember names, so how could he remember pitchers' rotations, line-ups and such?

At this, Babe would shake his head in dismay as to the connection between remembering names and running a ball club.

"They say I never threw to the wrong base in my life. I've missed signs (signals), but show me a ball player who has missed fewer. And I've never been out of position in my life.

"If I don't manage the Yankees it's because Ed Barrow don't like me. When he paid me peanuts in Boston he didn't like me because I was a fresh kid.

Now he don't like me because he has to give me a lot of dough. And that means the other guys get a lot more than Barrow likes to pay."

NOT THE RIGHT WAY?

Oh, in those early years of the Thirties, the Babe wanted to manage so much.

And if he didn't go about getting a manager's job the right way, then it was because he demanded what he thought was his right, rather than begging for it.

When McCarthy was hired in 1931 to replace Babe's good friend Bob Shawkey, Babe felt he should have gotten the job. He told Barrow that, he told Ruppert that and he told anybody who would listen.

Finally, in 1932 the Yankees made him an offer, to manage the Newark team in the International League. It was a bitter blow. The Babe told me:

"They say I need the experience. Hell, a lot of Big League managers never went down to the minors for experience."

He turned the offer down.

The Babe was paid $35,000 for the 1934 season. The Yankees obeyed baseball law to the letter and sent him a registered letter containing their 1935 offer prior to Jan. 1 of that year. The contract called for one dollar.

The Babe was through.

He tried to get back on the Yankees. He cried when he failed. From the end of the 1934 season until the day he died Babe Ruth, figuratively, sat by the telephone waiting for a call everybody but he knew could never come.

Merchants See 10 Pct. Quarterly Gain

Pre-Easter Sales Spurt Happy News

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A final pre-Easter sales spurt is cheering most merchants across the land. With the cost of living holding fairly steady and with the total of personal income topping the record set two years ago, customers are in more of a spending mood. Retail sales are well above last year's.

Merchants report sales spurted by about 14 per cent last week on a national average. In this final week the volume apparently is going even higher.

The early Easter concentrated the shopping spree into the last two weeks. Prior to that many merchants were complaining that poor weather was keeping customers away and that many persons just couldn't be made to think about spring clothes.

A better break in the weather in many regions, and the realization that Easter is about upon us, has turned the trick for the merchants.

They now hope to top last year's mark for the first quarter of the year by perhaps 10 per cent.

The Department of Commerce reports that in the first two months of 1959 retail sales were running 7 per cent above a year ago and early reports indicating a good March for merchants.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reveals one reason for this. Its consumer price index was practically unchanged in January and February.

But the Commerce Department points up an even more potent reason. It says total purchasing power has climbed to a record high of 364 billion dollars at an annual rate.

The department also has good news about the economy as a whole, as well as the consumer portion of it. The output of goods and services is now at a record high, nicely above the previous peak set in the summer of 1957.

The total is currently estimated at an annual rate of 464 billion dollars. This compares with 453 billion dollars in the final three months of 1958. Some economists are predicting this gross national product will reach an annual rate of 475 billion dollars by the end of June, and then after a dip during the summer perhaps climb as high as 480 billion dollars by the end of the year.

Consumers don't get their hands on all of this volume of goods and services. Some of it goes to industry itself.

But out of the money they do get, consumers are now spending at annual rate of about 300 billion dollars a year, the Commerce Department says.

Competition for this 300 billion is keen. And merchants often ruefully complain that an increasing share of it is going for services.

But for these two weeks anyway the merchants are happy.

Reports from around the country show that retail sales gains were nationwide, although not uniform.

Boston and New York report that good weather last Saturday brought out hordes of shoppers. Philadelphia sales were up about 15 per cent, Cleveland's up about 8 per cent, Detroit's 12 per cent above last year, and Pittsburgh's ahead but spotty.

Atlanta stores report Easter buying running 15 per cent higher, Dallas about 10 per cent, and Chicago in the same category.

In the West good to booming sales were reported in San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Seattle and Los Angeles.

Grand Rapids Merger Studied

Committee Chairman Is Named to Push Plans for Single City

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—East Grand Rapids Mayor Robert W. Richardson has been named chairman of a committee studying a proposed merger of Grand Rapids and five suburban communities into a single city.

He was elected Wednesday at an organizational meeting of the newly designated study group. It includes officials of Grand Rapids, East Grand Rapids and Wyoming along with Paris, Walker and Grand Rapids townships.

The committee grew from a Grand Rapids City Commission resolution seeking formation of a new city if at least three of five adjoining communities would elect to annex to Grand Rapids. A vote is seen possible by September.

The committee yesterday separated problems into five broad areas of study. They include education and school districts; public water and sewer service; fire and police protection and public health; taxation, zoning and planning; and form of government.

The only time an Army football team went through a season without winning or tying a game was in 1890, its first year. But the team played only one game, losing to Navy 24 to 0.

Another Firm Cuts Coffee Price 2 Cents

NEW YORK (AP) — More coffee price cuts were made today, spreading the latest round of decreases.

Standard Brands, Inc., reduced the wholesale price of nationally advertised, vacuum packed Chase & Sanborn brand two cents a pound. This matched the drop yesterday by the Maxwell House Division of General Foods Corp.

The latest slashes bring the total in the past 23 months to 30 cents. Although some major roasters decline to give their wholesale quotations, trade sources figured the new level at about 72 cents a pound.

Pickets Battle at Paper Plant

Fight Salaried Workers and Police as They Try to Enter Building

MECHANICVILLE, N. Y. (AP) —A force of 200 striking paper workers battled salaried employes and police in front of a struck West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. plant Thursday night.

Three officials were shoved, kicked and slugged, the company said.

The free-for-all broke out as 14 policemen attempted to escort 16 salaried workers into the plant.

Moments before, Mayor Thomas Nolan pleaded with the strikers to break up the demonstration.

The United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union struck Jan. 20 in a dispute over the wording of contract clauses governing seniority, grievances and management rights. Wages are not an issue.

The plant, in this Hudson River city 22 miles north of Albany, suspended operations. A total of 940 hourly workers were idled.

The company resumed paper-making last Friday. It divided 250 salaried workers into three shifts to operate machines.

This action touched off a demonstration last Friday night. It did not reach the magnitude of Thursday night's 3½-hour melee.

When the police escort and salaried workers moved toward the main gate, the pickets met them head-on and fighting began in the middle of the street, newsmen said.

No Plastered Solons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The Ohio House of Representatives passed a bill banning posters of all types, including political posters, on trees along highways after Rep. Martin Galvin argued: "I don't think any legislator would like to be seen plastered—on a tree or otherwise."

Michigan Police Detective Disputes Thompson Alibi

FLINT—Jack D. Thompson's claim he was home in bed the night his fellow Flint Teamsters business agent, Frank H. Kierdorf, suffered fatal burns was disputed yesterday by a State Police detective.

Det. Ralph S. Baney, testifying at Thompson's arson trial before Genesee Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth, said Thompson's alibi that he was home Aug. 3 didn't check out.

Thompson, a 42-year-old veteran of 13 years as business agent with Flint Local 332, is charged with arson in the burning of a suburban Flint dry cleaning pickup station Aug. 3. Kierdorf suffered his burns that night.

Baney, who directed the State Police investigation in Flint of the baffling Kierdorf mystery, related what Thompson supposedly told him and others when he gave a statement about his activities before and after the fire.

'ACE IN THE HOLE'

Baney quoted Thompson as saying: "I don't want to talk about it (the fire). Any talking I do will be in court. I have an alibi, but it always pays to keep an ace in the hole. I'll furnish an alibi when it's needed."

Besides Baney, three fingerprint experts testified yesterday as Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke moved toward the close of his case. It might conclude today with the defense taking over Tuesday.

All three fingerprint experts said some prints found on Kierdorf's station wagon the day after the fire belonged to Thompson and had been put there shortly before.

Lawrence P. Stackable, supervisor of the State Police Identification Bureau, said the prints "were very fresh and showed no signs of evaporation." He said they were not more than 24 hours old.

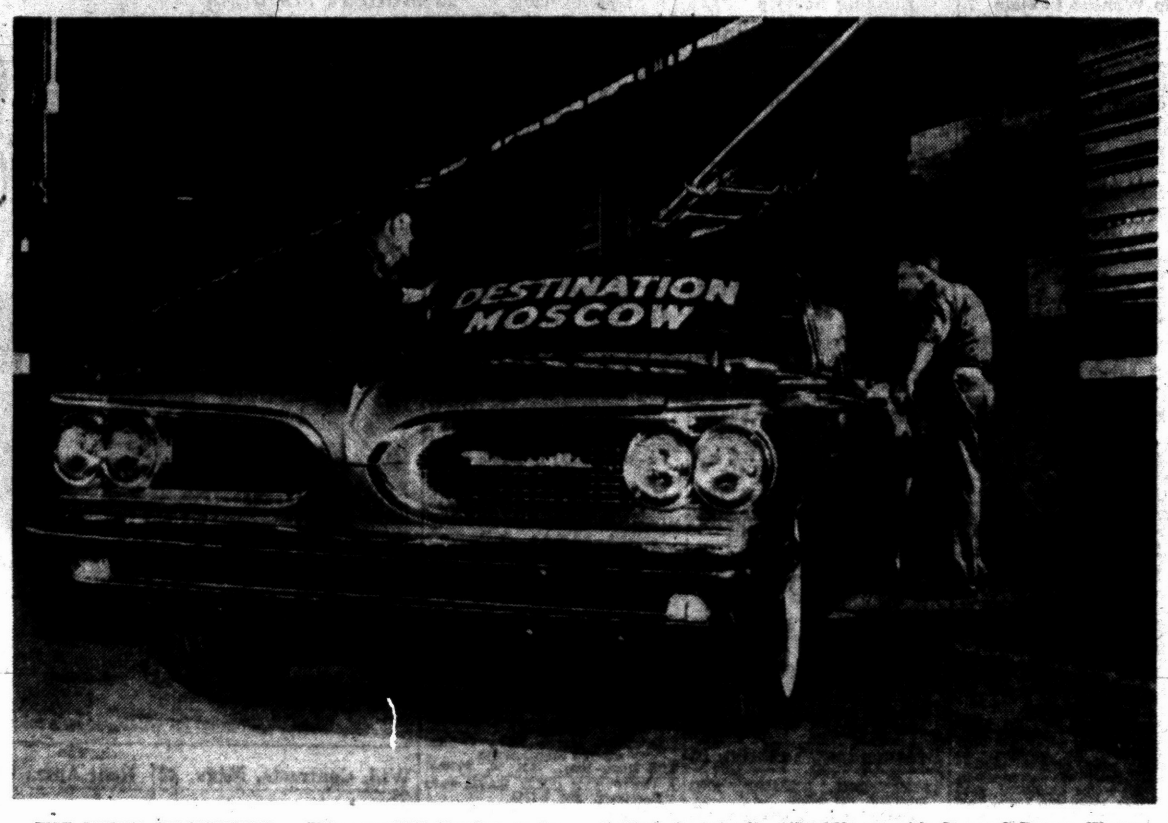

Thompson is believed to have put the prints on the car's window while he transported the burned Kierdorf from the fire to his home.

Kierdorf later was rushed to Pontiac's St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Thompson's black Cadillac, police believe.

Anchorage Sets Big Welcome for Michigan 59ers

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Alaska's largest city prepared a rousing welcome today for a group of modern pioneers from Michigan who braved snowstorms and sub-zero cold on their road trek to homesteads in the 49th state.

They are expected to remain in Anchorage a few days before starting on the first leg of their long journey to homesteads on the Kenai Peninsula, about 100 miles southwest of here.

Production of Autos Declines This Week

DETROIT (AP) — Passenger car production in U. S. factories this week will drop to a four-week low of 125,084 units, Automotive News said.

Last week assemblies numbered 135,467 units. In the comparable 1958 week they totaled 93,844.

The trade paper said the indicated decline would result from inventory readjustments, loss of operations due to Good Friday observance and Ford plant realignment on the West Coast.

Truck output this week will be 25,504 units compared with 25,912 last week and 17,638 in the like 1958 week.

Automotive News said Canadian vehicle production this week will be 6,396 cars and 1,438 trucks against 8,137 cars and 1,609 trucks last week. In the comparable 1958 week Dominion factories built 8,959 cars and trucks.

Judge Anderson was put in charge March 3 after a Supreme Court investigation found conditions "detrimental to sound administration" in the juvenile division.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF EMMA E. Donley who passed away 5 yrs. ago today March 27.
Her memory is as dear today
As in the hours she passed away
Sadly missed by C. C. Donley & Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF T-SERgeant, Leonard A. Lynam, who passed away 1 yr. ago today, March 27, 1958.
His smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land.
Never to part again.

Self-Made Disaster Found in Debut of Music Theater

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Music theater, a half hour manufacture which made its debut last night on NBC-EV, was a dreary little disaster, a minor essay in imbecility that went a-swamp in its own tosh.

The announced aim of Music Theater is to grind out minikin musical drama by grafting standard tunes to original stories.

Last night's effort, an aimless sweeping called "A Nice Place to Hide," paired Geneviève and Jackie Cooper as a French exchange student and wayfarer who found each other, lost each other and refound each other, a plot whose lack of originality was overshadowed only by its lack of substance.

However, her playing lacks nuance and her carefully embalmed French accent does become rather wearing. Cooper looked suitably embarrassed about his part and I can't say I blame him.

"A trip to Paradise" last night's CBS-TV Playhouse 90 offering, was a neat little package.

It was perhaps a little too neat, equipped as it was with pat ending and tidy moral, but it was still a pretty rewarding excursion into the world of a teenager fumbling his way toward maturity.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Dorothy Collins, Julius La Rosa, the Four Lads, Teresa Brewer, Tony Bennett and Rowan and Martin will spell NBC-TV's Perry Como for the summer starting June 13 . . . the first edition of CBS-TV's new series of daytime specials, Woman, kicks off on May 19.

Says Man Admits Deadly Beating

Smith said Troyer told him he met Mrs. Douglas while looking for an apartment in the Mount Clemens apartment where she did odd jobs for the owner.

Troyer, his wife and two children recently were burned out of their Roseville home.

Smith quoted the unemployed handyman as saying he became enraged when Mrs. Douglas told him no children were allowed in the apartment and struck her.

When the woman said she would call police, Troyer continued to beat her. She died of the attack, Smith said.

Troyer earlier stood mute at his examination on a common law murder charge and now is held in the Mount Clemens jail, pending arraignment in Circuit Court.

'English Room' Renamed for Sean O'Kelly's Visit

All very appropriate, you'd say. What the management of the hotel isn't saying is that it usually is called the English Room.

Emceeing Easter TV Show Takes Nerve

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Last year about this time, my husband and I indulged in a big fat handshake. Not with each other. Our hands were shaking on their own — at the prospect of doing our first television show together on Easter Sunday.

But emceeing an Easter show is different. Potentially devastating, at least in New Work. The good people go to cathedrals in the morning to celerate the joyous resurrection of Christ.

In the afternoon, the accent switches from church to chic, from reverence to ridiculum, and the strangest people emerge from under the rocks and concrete.

There had been a long precedent of Easter-afternoon TV shows laden with commercialism and shallow conversation. Most were conducted by a man and woman, in light-hearted and headed mood.

The lady, a notorious panelist of the TV moment, smiles to her wisdom teeth, proclaims, "Oh it's such a beautiful day and we are here on Fifth Avenue, the most famous fashion boulevard in the world, and don't you wish you were all with us . . . How do you like my hat, Doug?"

Doug usually is a refugee from a daytime quiz show, and his reply is "Lovely. Did you grow it yourself, heh heh?"

To which Jane (or Maggie or Eloise) pouts "shame on you." And then explains it came from Mr. John.

After panning Fifth Avenue, from St. Patrick's Cathedral — "Ooh, lok at the funny bunny" — to the Plaza — "There must be simply thousands and thousands of tulips!" — the first guest would appear.

Doug's job was to interview Broadway producers, florists, Easter egg bakers and the ever-popular Mr. John. Occasionally he also would expose a policeman to the microphone to capture the Irish rating.

Well, as I said, in view of the challenge our hands were shaking. So were our heads, each time the producer procured a new "celebrity guest" for the hour and one-half extravagnza.

Only when he reported that in the last half-hour of the show we would have a panel discussion with a priest, a minister and a rabbi did we feel easier.

Easter finally arrived. Art and I had made vows to each other: keep it restrained and in good taste.

It didn't quite work out. The "celebrities" ran overtime, allowing only six minutes for the panel of churchmen. It pelted rain, contributing to the show's restraint but detracting from its beauty.

And the first guest, a star who shall be nameless and fameless here, opened her interview with: "Don't you want to know where this delicious hat came from?"

My husband, bless his better judgment, said "No, not really."

She told him anyway, of course. But it was a great try against insurmountable odds, and the television industry, if on the ball, should have awarded him an emmy for phenomenal Easter effort!

Little Fall From Horse Won't Scare Audrey

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Audrey's told me she's going to ride that horse again before she leaves Mexico!"

Mel Ferrer rather hopes that Audrey Hepburn does once more mount the horse from which she fell and broke her back. "You see," he said, "it's a good horse. It's a beautiful little Arabian stud that got out of Cuba just ahead of Batista.

WILSON

"On the phone, right after the accident, Audrey said to me, 'Don't get angry at the horse! It wasn't the horse's fault.'"

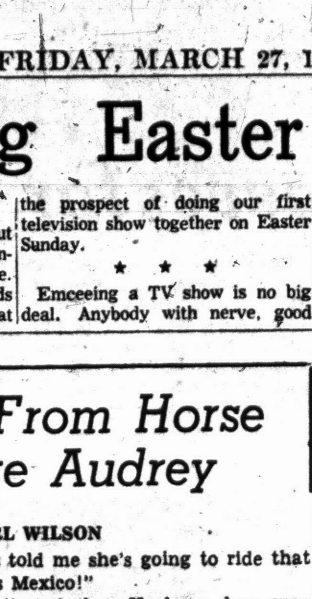

Ferrer laughed. "As though I were going to come down there and cuss out the horse!"

"Audrey," he said—over a glass of milk—"had an accident on a horse when she was 11. She broke her collarbone.

"When we were living in Rome, making 'War and Peace,' I got her to ride again and she got completely over her fear.

"Then this! She was riding bareback — had nothing to hold onto but the mane. Somebody rode out and stopped the horse suddenly — and she hit the ground." He described her slow recovery. She rides lying down on mattresses in a station wagon over rough fields (not roads) to the set of "The Unforgiven" and continues lying down when not working. She finds it hard to sit.

AUDREY & MEL

"She's never been depressed," he said. "She says she isn't frightened of the horse and hasn't got some lurking fear. She learned that lesson from her childhood accident and that's why she wants to ride the horse again."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Joe E. Lewis says his doctor limited him to one drink a day: "And right now I'm up to Feb. 27, 1969." . . . That's earl, brother.

Must Get Out of U.S. Soon

April 15 Deadline Set for Former President of Venezuela in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Former Venezuelan President Marcos Perez Jimenez, living in exile in a Miami Beach mansion, must leave the country by April 15, the government has declared.

He can go to any country of his choice as far as the United States is concerned.

Whether he will was open to question. His lawyers have filed application with the Immigration Service for delay. A ruling is not expected for 90 days.

The order issued March 13 by Joseph Savoretti, district director of the Immigration Service, applies also to Perez Jimenez' wife and four children.

Savoretti's order cannot be appealed but Perez Jimenez can ask for reconsideration or additional time.

Since shortly after his arrival March 28 at West Palm Beach, Perez Jimenez and his family have lived in plush surroundings on Miami Beach.

He has been paying off-duty Miami Beach policemen $420 a month to guard his fenced home.

Perez Jimenez was overthrown by a military junta a year ago, 10 years after he led another military group in seizing control of the South American country.

In 1952, he became president with dictatorial powers.

Urge Health Service Radiation Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service should take over an expanded radiation control program, a group of scientists recommends. The cost: 50 million dollars annually by 1965.

The suggestions came Thursday from the special National Advisory Committee on Radiation, scientific advisers to the surgeon general.

The group said it did not intend to be critical of the Atomic Energy Commission, which now has the primary responsibility for protecting the nation from radiation hazards. But it said there are serious weaknesses in the present radiation control setup.

The committee urged legislation to give the health service top responsibility in the field, with authority to develop a comprehensive program of control for all sources of radiation.

Loss of Life Heavy in Tibet

Maharaja of Sikkim Thinks Dalai Lama Escaped Reds

TOKYO (AP) — Maharaja Kumar of Sikkim said today that loss of life in the Tibetan revolt has been very heavy but as far as he knows the Dalai Lama escaped from the Chinese Communists.

The young maharaja, son of the ruler of the tiny Himalayan state between India and Tibet, arrived in Tokyo for a Buddhist cultural conference. He said he got his information from official sources just before he left Gangtok, capital of Sikkim.

The Sikkim prince said the Dalai Lama, Tibet's 23-year-old spiritual and political ruler, escaped from his summer palace before the Chinese Reds captured it on Tuesday.

He reported that Red forces began firing on the palace at 1 a.m. Tuesday and kept up a violent barrage until it capitulated.

"No one knows if the Dalai Lama was hit when the Chinese captured the palace," the prince said. "We hope and pray for him. Even if he falls into Chinese hands, we pray no harm will come to him."

An unconfirmed report in India Thursday said the Dalai Lama had fled from Lhasa, and there were rumors he was heading south toward Sikkim or the Indian province of Assam.

In contrast with reports in India that fighting in Lhasa had subsided over the weekend, the maharaja said fighting in and around the capital "was particularly violent" on Tuesday.

On Formosa, meanwhile, Nationalist China's Parliament unanimously adopted a resolution urging Chiang Kai-shek's government (1) to provide the Tibetan rebels with arms and supplies, (2) to send high officers and senior Tibetan-born officials to Tibet to help the rebels, (3) to send Nationalist troops if necessary, and (4) to report to the United Nations on the Tibetan situation.

Million Dollar Grant

FLINT (AP)—The Flint Board of Education has received a $1,003,200 grant from philanthropist Charles S. Mott to pay for construction of a new Flint college library. The library will be used by students at Flint Junior College and the Flint branch of the University of Michigan.

Dependable Thor Again Pleases in ICBM Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force's versatile Thor has logged another apparently successful trip over intermediate range on its 26th flight test.

The 65-foot rocket, which seems to perform equally well as a war weapon and booster for space vehicles, roared aloft Thursday night on what appeared to be a perfect start.

The latest shoot was part of the Thor's advanced research and development series aimed at improving reliability — that is, bettering the odds for hitting the target on every launching.

Thor squadrons already are entrenched in the United Kingdom under Royal Air Force control as part of the NATO defenses.

The Thor now is considered 65 per cent reliable, but the Air Force hopes to increase it to 80 or 90 per cent by the end of the year.

Fall From 8 Floors Up Brings Only Leg Injury

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Marvin R. Harbor, 35, a painter, escaped with a leg injury Thursday when he fell from the roof of an eight-story building.

Harbor slipped and dangled by his fingertips for several minutes before losing his grip on the roof edge. As he fell he struck a cluster of electric wires two stories below. They bounced him onto the roof of an adjoining six-story building.

Flood of Money Cancels Their Fund Campaign

Contributors quickly responded with $804. The school board gave another $100 and said it would pick up the tab for gas and oil. Mrs. Kenneth Pollack offered her station wagon to the six debaters and their coach, Kenneth E. Mosier.

Mosier called off the funds drive Thursday. "We don't want to be piggish," he said.

Finds It's Tough Enough to Think of Three Names

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The triplets were named Janet A. Jo-anne B. and Jean C.—the A, B and C standing for nothing more than the order in which they were born.

"Thinking up first names was enough," said Earl B. Weatherby, the father, speaking for himself and wife.

Working Already to Elect Friends

Unions Roll Up Sleeves for '60 Vote

By RAY CROMLEY
Last in Series

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Organized labor this month begins its drive to help its friends win the congressional races of 1960.

Labor is in a hurry because it wants to move in early on the 1960 Democratic primaries in the South, some of which come in the early spring of next year.

The AFL-CIO's political arm, the Committee on Political Education, or COPE, is already organizing:

A series of 20 intensive regional conferences — averaging 300 "students" each. They'll train union leaders in the rugged techniques of precinct work. The first of these opened in Huntington, W. Va., March 11.

A push to step up "substantially" the number of local COPEs, now around 400.

An attempt to get local unions active in this year's elections for city and county councils and state legislatures "so they'll get the training and experience they'll need for 1960."

A nationwide registration drive aimed at registering as voters about 1,600,000 more union members in the next several years.

A push to get more of labor's 60,000 part and full-time paid union officials active in politics. One top COPE officer complains that too many of these paid union men are "pork chop officials, interested only in getting higher wages for union members."

In addition, about a dozen international unions have committees of their own for pushing political aims — the Machinists, the Mine Workers, the Auto Workers, the railway unions, to name a few. Local Teamster unions have organizations all their own. These groups have their own programs for 1959 and 1960.

The United Auto Workers, for one, have a series of "political education" conferences under way.

Main aim of COPE is a strong precinct organization. Top Republicans have termed COPE's precinct manual the best handbook they've ever seen.

"When we get that precinct organization," says a COPE official, "we'll have the power or influence to get candidates to see our way on voting. Or, in turn, we can make it harder for a reluctant man to win a primary or general election.

"We can also use that precinct strength — union votes — to induce the major parties to put up more sympathetic candidates, even in the South. They'll know that if they don't come along, they'll have a race on their hands."

COPE right now is conducting a thoroughgoing self-analysis of why union-supported men lost to such union-opposed men as Sen. Barry Goldwater in Arizona. Tentative answer: "The man we backed wasn't good enough. He'd have lost anywhere.

"COPE in the future is going to be more selective in the men we back, not throw our money away on sure losers."

"Except," says another COPE man, "when we want to convince a candidate he'll have an easier time if he bends a little our way."

How strong then are COPE and the dozen or so other major union political associations?

Organized labor gave financial support to 191 congressional candidates in 1958, 187 Democrats and four Republicans. Some 129 of these union-supported men won and 62 lost. No one can say how many would have won had there been no labor support.

Nationally and locally organized labor raised and spent about 10 million dollars in the 1958 campaign. This includes direct donations, education funds spent for activities the two major parties would report as political spending, and unreported spending and "services" by local unions in support of candidates.

One high COPE official estimates union political activity swings 10 to 15 per cent of the union vote.

If this figure is correct, it could be decisive in quite a few elections. A quarter of Congress was elected in 1958 with majorities of less than five per cent of the votes.

Suppose a union should swing 10 per cent of its members in a particular election. Suppose, too, union men and women accounted for a fifth of the voters in that Congressional district. That 10 per cent swing of the union vote would be enough to cancel out many margins of victory.
