

It's Farm Day in City

TAKE SOME HOME — That's what Dr. William H. Marbach, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, has in mind as he stops at a farmer's mart on W. Huron street, admiring this delectable display of fresh vegetables and fruit. The scene is typical of others throughout the downtown area today. The occasion is the annual Farm Day, when farmers bring their crops to the city for sale on the streets.

570 in MSUO's Freshmen Class

Oakland Leads Way With 438 Students; Macomb Has 105

A total of 570 students has enrolled in fall term classes at Michigan State University Oakland, the university's registrar's office announced today.

Another 334 are enrolled in non-credit, continuing education courses offered in the evening for university alumni, parents, and interested persons in the community.

Of the 570 matriculated students in the charter class—all freshmen—495 are full-time and 75 are part-time. Records show that 60 per cent of the student body is male and 40 per cent female.

The single students total 504 and the married students 66. There are 52 veterans.

A geographical breakdown showed that seven states are represented, and nine counties in Michigan, among the freshmen on campus.

There are two students from Alaska, and one each from Kentucky, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York and Texas.

Most of the students—438—are from Oakland County. Second highest number of students from a county are the 105 freshmen from Macomb.

Seven students are from Wayne, five from Lapeer, and one each from Allegan, Delta, St. Clair, Tuscola, and Muskegon counties.

The registrar's office reported that freshmen selected their college programs in the following proportions: 13 per cent in business administration; 24 per cent in

Industry Offers Compromise Steel Settlement

Would Trade 8-Cent Pay Package for Tight Control at Mill

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David J. McDonald, president of the striking United Steelworkers, today summoned the Union's International Executive Board to a meeting here tomorrow.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Steel negotiators, meeting in an unusual Saturday session, explored an industry suggestion that an hourly pay package be given to striking Steelworkers in exchange for tighter management control in the mills.

The meeting got off to a late start when the United Steelworkers Union's negotiating team, headed by President David J. McDonald, showed up 20 minutes late.

Reliable sources in the industry say McDonald has been told he can have an annual eight-cent hourly pay package increase in a contract which contains language permitting management more control over working schedules, seniority arrangements and other working conditions.

The reported eight-cent package apparently would be split up in welfare and pension benefits the first year of a two-year agreement and then be applied to a pay increase in the second year.

The company suggestion, apparently not submitted yet as a formal proposal, came during a new round of negotiations that opened in Pittsburgh Thursday after President Eisenhower rapped knuckled on both sides.

Road Officials to Hold Open House Oct. 5-9

Stop and think a minute. Where would you be without roads?

Most motorists are inclined to take the miles upon miles of superhighways and little back country roads too much for granted.

Roads are somewhat like our utilities — water, gas, electricity and the like — you never really appreciate them until you have to go without them.

In order that the Road Commission can better show Oakland taxpayers how their money is spent, open houses have been planned for next week, Monday through Friday, at the Commission's spacious and modern headquarters, 2420 Pontiac Lake Rd.

Today 10 million Americans depend on roads for their living. One out of every seven persons employed in the United States works in highway transportation industries — all dependent upon adequate, modern road systems.

In Oakland County alone there are 2,484 miles of state trunklines, primary, and local roads. This constitutes more mileage than any other Michigan county has.

And it costs money — your money — to keep these miles in drivable shape. For instance, it cost the Oakland County Road Commission last year approximately $310 a mile to maintain 1,623 miles of local or less traveled roads.

The 671 miles of primary, or the more traveled roads, costs about $1,985 per mile for upkeep. Altogether, $2,243,005 was spent last year to keep Mr. and Mrs. Motorist moving along smoothly and safely over these roads.

The open houses, with tours through the building and garages from 8 a.m. until 5, are part of Michigan's first "Highway Week," Oct. 4-10.

It is being sponsored by the Michigan Good Roads Federation and Michigan Highway Users Conference. Its purpose is to focus public attention on the highway problem.

STERN JUDGE RULES — With reporters waiting to enter federal courtroom in Chicago yesterday, Judge Walter J. La Buy enters carrying his momentous decision in the Du Pont-General Motors stock case. Judge La Buy ruled that Du Pont can end its close financial tie with GM without disposing of its nearly 3 1/2 million dollars worth of stock in GM. However, he also ruled that Du Pont may not vote any of the 63 million shares.

Midwest Weather Wild: Ten Die, Seven Injured

Tempestuous weather stung the nation during the night.

Authorities counted at least 10 persons dead and seven injured in rain-drenched, wind-lashed portions of Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri and in snow-clogged Colorado.

New rains measuring up to four inches hammered Oklahoma today, where more than 3,000 persons have been driven from their homes.

Four auto deaths were blamed on the deluge, now in its third day.

But Judge Rules Firm Stripped of Voting Rights

Also Protects Smaller Shareholders by Many Policy Restrictions

From Our News Wires
CHICAGO — Federal attorneys said today they may appeal the court ruling permitting the Du Pont industrial empire to keep its 63 million shares of General Motors stock.

Federal Judge Walter J. La Buy yesterday stripped Du Pont of all voting rights in GM business, but overruled a government demand that Du Pont dispose of its 3 billion-dollar worth of stock in the giant auto firm.

The government lawyers said they would have to study La Buy's ruling before deciding whether to appeal it to the Supreme Court. Some court observers predicted such an appeal would be made.

La Buy's action ended a 10-year court battle. In 1957, the Supreme Court sent the case back to La Buy's court for disposal after overruling his 1953 decision that Du Pont's GM holdings were not monopolistic.

The High Court had ruled that the influence of the one industrial giant upon the other constituted a "tendency toward monopoly."

La Buy's plan was a compromise leaning toward the Du Pont argument. The government had asked the 20 million shares of the stock be sold on the open market during the next 10 years and the other 43 million shares be divided among Du Pont shareholders.

Du Pont asked to be allowed to retain ownership and continue to draw dividends, but turn its votes over to individual Du Pont stockholders.

La Buy rejected the government's stand as "unnecessarily hard and punitive" and said more than 230,000 innocent stockholders would be hurt if Du Pont was forced to sell its GM stock on the open market.

First reaction in financial circles was unanimous that the ruling was favorable to both sides.

La Buy's decision came late Friday after domestic stock exchanges closed for the weekend.

The order, besides shifting Du Pont's voting rights in its GM stock to individual Du Pont stockholders.

New Pontiacs Await Delivery to Dealers Throughout Nation

READY FOR HIGHWAY — Forming herringbone patterns, new Pontiac automobiles in the Pontiac Motor Division storage lot are ready for transportation to dealers throughout the nation. The storage lot is at the north end of the plant (a portion of which is seen at the lower right). It is bordered by Highwood avenue (upper left) and two employee parking lots. These cars and thousands of others like them remain in the lot only briefly before being shipped out, mostly by big haulaway trucks. This photo is another in a series of aerial views around the Pontiac area being published by The Press.

tention on the value of modern highways, roads and streets; the need for continuing improvement of the system; and the economic and safety benefits a better overall system will provide.

Robert O. Felt, chairman of the Road Commission, urges "everybody in the county visit the offices to see what part our Commission and staff play in providing the best possible highways and roads possible."

For many it will be the first opportunity to browse through the $700,000 building, opened May 16, 1957.

Although many Oakland taxpayers haven't visited the building, just west of Telegraph road in the Service Center, yet they have not been altogether void of contacts with the commission.

Robert W. Osgood, veteran traffic engineer and forester for the Commission, will vouch for this. Osgood is the man who's responsible for the safety of the traveling public over local roads — no small task when one considers the nearly 2,500 miles he must check.

Every traffic signal, sign, no parking areas, and speed zones are the results of Osgood's work. Preliminary to speed zone installation, thorough radar checks are conducted along with sheriff's deputies and the state police.

So don't go running to your phone to call Osgood and demand a lower speed limit in front of your home. Osgood gets plenty such calls. And he gets his share of complaints.

"Most people feel their road is the only road in the county and we should drop everything to do work there," he complained.

NOT ENOUGH MONEY

Felt says the same thing about requests for grading or paving roads. He stresses that "there is not enough money" to do all jobs. The Commission's entire source of operating capital comes from the state gas and weight tax revenues. The state reimburses the county for its care of 189 miles of state trunk lines each year. Supplementing these monies are township and some individual contributions on a matching basis.

Serving as commissioners along with Felt are Sol D. Lomerson and Lee O. Brooks. Willis M. Brewer is coordinator of all road projects and personnel director, while Paul Van Roekel is highway engineer.

The upkeep of every inch of road in Oakland County rests with them. It is carried out by a staff of 375 employees.

Their job is not an 8-hour one. Roads are being used 24 hours, seven days a week. Maintenance emergency crews must be ready to roll out in their orange trucks any time to make sure these roads will remain open and passable.

Winter storms pose one of the biggest headaches.

Another headache, according to Osgood, is that people feel that traffic signals "are the solution to everything."

"It isn't true, as some claim, that the commission waits until someone is killed before we install a light," he said.

There are 269 lights, flashers and direction signals placed throughout the county. There are 59 on state trunklines, 111 in cities, and 99 on county roads, all of which commission crews must maintain.

Visitors to the office this week will see a device, devised by Floyd Harp, electrician for the Commission, which controls the cycle signals are set at based on six different speed limits.

In the same radio room, manned most of the time by Elmer Hess, radio dispatcher, people will see a large board full of red and green lights. At a glance Hess can tell which of the Commission's many vehicles are on the road or in the garage. All are equipped with radios.

Visitors will also have a chance to view the engineering, accounting, purchasing and executive departments.

Cross Man Threatened With Death

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI)—The wife of an non-striking Cross Manufacturing Co. employee told officials yesterday she stood face-to-face with a man who threatened the life of her husband.

Mrs. Joseph Rein, 59, St. Clair Shores, told police she was awakened early yesterday by the screech of tires in front of her home.

She said she opened her front door to a man who said, "tell Joe that if I come around here again, he won't wake up." Mrs. Rein's husband, Joseph, 62, is a janitor at the Fraser plant which was struck Aug. 4 by the United Auto Workers Local 155.

She was one of several witnesses to testify in Macomb County Circuit Court of alleged acts of violence and threats by union members. The company is seeking a contempt of court citation against the local.

Judge Alton E. Noe yesterday dismissed a contempt citation against one union member but refused to dismiss similar charges against 10 other members of the local and the local itself.

He recessed the hearing until Tuesday.

Car Out Today Five Inches Longer Ford for 1960 All New Design

Question Three in Plane Theft 2 Men and Girl Force Cuban Airliner to Land in Miami

MIAMI (UPI)—Immigration authorities today questioned two Cuban men and a 16-year-old girl who commandeered a Cuban plane carrying 36 passengers last night and forced the pilot to land at Miami International Airport.

Dade County police said Esteban Betancourt, 47, his daughter Gloria, 16, and Oswaldo Hernandez, 28, used live hand grenades and a 45-caliber pistol to take over the prop-jet Viscount airliner while it was en route from Havana to Santiago de Cuba.

An airport source said the plane, a Cubana Airlines flight, had left Miami earlier Friday.

A completely re-designed 1960 Ford, originally planned for a later year, was introduced today, with "greater passenger space and comfort and improved roadability and handling ease and performance."

Changes which are immediately noticed are the extension of the hood out to the edge of the car, eliminating fenders, and a greater length. The 1960 Ford is five inches longer than last year.

Sculptured sidelines lead to a subdued "swallowtail" effect in the rear deck.

J. O. Wright, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, said "after the car originally planned for 1960 was well under way, the advanced styling office showed us some designs even further advanced than our planned 1960 model."

"One of these captured everyone's imagination immediately, and we began to explore the possibility of advancing it to the 1960 models.

"When the engineers pointed out that a complete new car also would enable them to design additional quality features into the vehicle, company management gave the go-ahead."

"One of the most important features of the new Ford," Wright said, "is that it has been 'comfort-engineered.' There is substantially more hip room, shoulder room, leg room and head room in the 1960 Ford than there was in the 1959 model."

DOG-LEG OUT

New, swept-back windshield pillars have eliminated the troublesome "dog-leg" found in cars with the full-wrap windshield.

So the new model Ford has 17 per cent more windshield area than last year's Ford, provides better visibility out over the hood, and has a windshield wiper pattern one-third greater than in 1959.

Adding to the convenience of the new Ford line are such features as a trunk opening that is only 27 inches from the ground, a foot-operated parking brake with the release knob located on the instrument panel, and two-stage door checks.

The 1960 Ford line includes 15 models that offer a total of six different roof lines. At the low end of the line is the Fairlane series, which includes a two- and four-door sedan and a business Tudor. In the Fairlane 500 series are two models, a two- and four-door sedan. The Galaxie series includes a two- and four-door sedan, plus a four-door hardtop called the Town Victoria.

The Starliner, a new two-door hardtop entry in the Ford line, is one of two special models. The action-styled Starliner features a unique "fast-back" roof that sweeps gracefully back to blend with the elegant rear deck. The other special model is the Sunliner, Ford's soft-top convertible.

Better stability and improved handling have been accomplished partly through a wider tread, but mostly through the widening of the rear spring base. Two full inches have been added to the front tread width and nearly four inches to the rear tread.

All standard Ford engines — both "six" and V-8 — are designed to operate on regular grade gasoline.

The Ford engine line-up for 1960 includes the economical 145-horsepower six; the 185-horsepower V-8; the 235-horsepower V-8 with two-barrel carburetor, and the 300-horsepower V-8 with four-barrel carburetor.

Ford suggested list prices for 1960 model cars will average about the same as those for 1959 models.

The Day in Birmingham Building Permit Values Up Over Last September

BIRMINGHAM — Building permits issued in Birmingham during September show a better than 33 per cent increase in value over proposed construction costs reported for the same month last year.

Building Inspector Andrew F. Butt will deliver his monthly report at the weekly meeting of the City Commission 8 p.m. Monday in the Community Building.

It was disclosed that 83 permits were issued last month; 39 for new structures, 22 for alterations and one for wreckage. Forty-six building permits were issued in September, 1958.

The valuation of last month's proposed construction totals $97,860, compared to $394,110 for September last year.

Evaluated construction costs for the first nine months this year add up to $2,923,114, based on 349 building permits issued. The figure was $3,063,721 for the first nine months in 1958, based on 346 permits.

The City Commission will also hear reports on a downtown flag display proposal, group polio and dread disease insurance for city employees and the situation resulting from a 12-town drain allocation meeting held Wednesday in Royal Oak.

A car loaded with eight teenagers went out of control and struck a curb at Latham and Northlawn in Birmingham early this morning, injuring three of the youngsters.

Police arrested the 15-year-old driver for operating the car without a license. Because he is a juvenile, his name was withheld by police.

Treated and released from William Beaumont Hospital were Sue Cork 14, of 1187 Southlawn; Melinda McCain, 14, of 788 Puritan, and Sue Peters, 15, of 1010 S. Glenhurst.

"The Russian School," a color sound film made by the Teacher's Union of Russia, will be shown free of charge to the public 8 p.m. Oct. 15 at the City and County School in Bloomfield Hills.

The 70-minute film was presented by the Teachers Union of Russia to the representatives of the Comparative Education Society which spent the summer of 1958 in Russia on an educational field study tour.

George Roper, director of City and Country School, was one of the delegates on the Russian tour. This is the first presentation of the film in this area.

Chinese Spout Double-Talk

Receive Ike-Nikita Note Warmly, Call for Fight Against U. S.

TOKYO (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev neared the climax of his Red China visit today as his Chinese hosts waxed hot and cold over his proposals for easing the cold war.

A few hours after the Soviet Premier's fourth meeting with 65-year-old Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung, the official Peoples Daily carried a lead editorial saying the Communist world "accorded warm response and support" to the communique the Soviet Premier jointly issued with President Eisenhower after his historic 13-day visit to the United States.

That document stressed the renunciation of force in settling international quarrels.

The United States has sought without success to have Peiping say it will abandon force as a means of acquiring the island of Formosa, now ruled by Mao's arch enemy, Chiang Kai-shek.

Should the Chinese Communists do so, it would be a significant move in improving their relations with Washington.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said soon after Khrushchev arrived to Peiping Wednesday he welcomed the communique.

But Friday's Peoples Daily gave equal space to the reprint of an article by Foreign Minister Chen Yi which called on "all peoples in the world to wage a long and unrelenting fight against American imperialism."

The article was written for the Soviet newspaper Izvestia in honor of Red China's 10th anniversary celebration Oct. 1.

It gave little or no encouragement to hopes Peiping was prepared to soften its attitude toward the United States.

Hare will make the request at the commission's Oct. 23 meeting.

10,000 Due for Gas Heat in State Soon
JACKSON (UPI)—Consumers Power Co. today announced it will take immediate steps to connect 10,000 gas space heating applicants.

A similar announcement made in July covered an additional 30,000 applicants.

The latest report followed the dissolution of a court order which had delayed the effectiveness of a Federal Power Commission ruling allowing Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. to discontinue service to another company and supply consumers with some of the gas involved in the court action.

Consumers officials said there is a waiting list of more than 110,000 gas space heating applicants.

A. H. Aymond Jr., executive vice president, said the additional installations would be distributed through the 29-county area served by Consumers, including Bay City, Flint, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Pontiac, Saginaw, Royal Oak, Alma, Marshall, Midland, and suburban Detroit communities.

In Quiz Probe Next Week May Turn Up TV Deceit
WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional investigation of TV quiz shows next week will turn up chicanery and deceit "even beyond what we had originally suspected," Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) predicts.

Harris is chairman of the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight. It will hold four days of hearings starting next Tuesday on alleged rigging of TV quiz shows.

Harris said in a statement Friday night, "The subcommittee is interested solely in where commercial deceit has been practiced on a national scale by means of deliberate and willful holding out to the public as honest contests, performances which were rigged in advance."

The subcommittee has subpoenaed winners in some of the quiz shows who have told previously of contestants being coached and getting answers in advance. Most of the quiz shows have long since disappeared from the TV screen.

Stern Judge La Buy Relaxes After His Du Pont-GM Ruling

By RUSSELL LANE

CHICAGO (AP)—Judge Walter J. La Buy, who prescribed plans Friday governing the future of Du Pont's 63 million shares of General Motors stock, is a dignified judge and a frustrated golfer.

IS CONSERVATIVE
"I love the game, but I haven't had time to improve at it," he says.

The 70-year-old U.S. district judge's name is accented on the last word and Buy is pronounced as "guy." And he is quite a guy.

He's been called conservative, reserved and serious. And he's sometimes almost awesomely stern on the bench. Reminded of his meek, he smiled.

"It applies to me. I'm a dignified judge with a heavy load of work," he says. "It doesn't allow much time for diversion. I enjoy hunting and fishing for relaxation."

"And I intend to relax a bit now, although only on weekends," Judge La Buy, whose working time has been occupied by vaying degrees by the Du Pont case for 10 years, has said many times a judge must be mindful of the law's effect on individual lives.

During the long Du Pont anti-trust litigation, he once read from the bench a letter he had received from a 90-year-old woman who said she was following the case with interest because her sole income came from General Motors shares.

Judge La Buy has graying hair with a strong tendency to curl. He is an impeccable dresser. He and his wife live in a gold coast apartment on Chicago's Lake Shore drive. Their two daughters are married.

BORN ON FARM
Born on a Wisconsin farm, he acquired his interest in law early from an uncle who was for 65 years a justice of the peace. He took his law degree at De Paul University in Chicago, and entered practice in 1912.

He took a fling at Chicago Democratic politics in 1930 and was elected a member of the Cook County Board of Commissioners.

In 1933 he won his first of two terms in the Cook County Circuit Court, and President Franklin D. Roosevelt named him to the U.S. District Court bench in 1944.

The Du Pont case, one of the most important ever tried in the Chicago federal jurisdiction, represents the high point of Judge La Buy's career.

His most recent other headline winner was his ruling directing the deportation to Italy of Paul (The Walter) Ricca, one of the few leftovers of the old "Scarface Al" Capone gang that reigned during the prohibition era in Chicago.

Why Were 3 Officers Ordered From Turkey Before Hearings?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force was under pressure from a congressman today to explain why three high-ranking officers were transferred from a U.S. air base in Turkey following alleged Turkish mistreatment of American airmen.

The officers were reported to have resented State Department apathy about the brutality charges.

Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio) asked Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas for a full report on the matter.

Bow referred to reports from Rome that Air Force Col. Robert N. Wilkinson, Lt. Col. Charles N. Moss and Army Lt. Col. Hal D. Stewart had been victims of a "purge" at the U.S. base in Izmir, Turkey. Moss is in the medical corps.

The Defense Department last night confirmed the three had been transferred. But the department said no information was available here as to why they were being transferred, or where.

A State Department spokesman later said that any reports implying that the U.S. military personnel were being transferred from Turkey to keep them from testifying at the hearings of the service men in Izmir "are false."

Campaign Gets Warm in London
LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservatives and the opposition Labor Party began 11th-hour drives today to win over an estimated six million still-undecided voters before the Oct. 8 general election.

With only five days left to election day, both parties were in the midst of a neck-and-neck race for control of Britain's next government. A close photo-finish was in prospect.

Macmillan canceled two campaign speeches and unexpectedly called a news conference this afternoon to "set the record straight" on Labor promises and make an appeal for the undecided votes.

Macmillan and his aides were reported deeply disturbed over grass-roots soundings by Conservative Party workers as well as newspaper polls that showed 18 to 19 per cent of the nation's 35 million voters still haven't made up their minds whether to vote Conservative or Labor.

However, he was unhurt by the impact of his fall and after coming up for air glumly swam 200 yards to shore where he was dragged in by two policemen.

Credit Ireland for Tibet Debate

India, Malaya Qualms Are Ignored in Call for Nation's Freedom

By PIERRE J. HUSS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — It is to Ireland's everlasting credit that it has taken the bull by the horns and has formally brought before the U.N. Assembly the terrible anti-religious rampage and bloody massacres staged in Tibet by the armed forces of Red China.

The Irish delegation, headed by Minister for External Affairs Frank Aiken and square-jawed Ambassador Frederick Bolland, brushed aside the qualms of India and with Malaya sponsored a resolution demanding the "restoration" of Tibetan civil and religious liberties.

The motion decries the "recent events in Tibet as a result of which the people of Tibet have been deprived of their liberties in violation of fundamental human rights and of the guarantees afforded them."

The consequence is that both the free and the Iron Curtain worlds in coming weeks will have orally paraded before them the trials and tribulations suffered by a people hidden behind the crags of the mighty Himalayas. Almost nothing can be done to rescue the three million inhabitants from the grip of the Communist dragon.

But the public airing in the U.N. assembly of the crimes committed by this supposedly responsible regime in Peiping will damage the prestige of Red China to a grave extent in Bhuddist countries such as Ceylon, Malaya, Burma, Laos, Thailand, Cambodia, Free Vietnam and finally Japan.

To those in the Western world who like to believe that Red China can be reformed simply by seating the Peiping regime in U.N., the lesson will be that soft words and friendly diplomacy merely whet the appetite of the Red dragon for devouring its neighbors. Laos and India have found this out.

U. A. R. Warns China
CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI) — The United Arab Republic threatened last night to close the Chinese Communist consulate in Damascus if investigation proves it is in contact with Syrian Communists. The government also delayed the departure of a new ambassador to Peiping in a deepening rift with Red China.

Bags Big Lion Near Gallup, New Mexico

GALLUP, N. M. (AP)—Plenty of hunters in the Southwest have bagged lions—but not like the one Stan McKee of Gallup brought down.

McKee was hunting just north-east of town among the sandstone cliffs when he lined his sights up with the critter—a 400 pound African version. He shot three times.

It turned out G. H. Graham of Gallup had owned the lion since it was a kitten. But kiddy got too big and ate too much, so Graham turned it loose.

Foil Gem Theft on Detroit Street
Police, FBI Follow, Nab Would-Be Crooks After Tip From Salesman

DETROIT (UPI)—Three men identified by police as nationally known jewel thieves were held today after being trapped in the act of making off with $30,000 in gems.

Those arrested on charges of grand larceny were John Mazzeo, 42, Detroit, William Berkowitz, 45, and Abraham Katz, 49, both of Miami, Fla.

Police and FBI agents picked up the trail last Tuesday after Frank V. Gentile, 32, of Cleveland, Ohio, a jewelry salesman, reported he was being followed.

Gentile, following police orders, made his regular business calls in his automobile with his case of jewelry locked in his trunk. The would-be thieves followed him, and police followed the thieves. The trail led all over Detroit while authorities waited for the men to make a move.

Yesterday, Gentile parked his car in front of a restaurant, called on a customer and then went to eat. A car driven by Mazzeo pulled up behind Gentile's car. Berkowitz got out and using a set of duplicate keys, started Gentile's car and drove off. Then police and FBI men moved in, stopped both cars and arrested all three men.

The jewel thieves didn't even get a look at their loot.

East Germans Hoist New Flag—in Defiance?
BERLIN (AP)—Communist East Germany Friday announced the first raising of its new national flag.

Until now, both East and West Germany have used the same flag—horizontal stripes of black, red and gold. On the Communist side, a red flag is usually flown nearby.

The new Communist flag has an emblem in the middle of the red stripe, a hammer and compass in obvious adaptation of the Soviet hammer and sickle. It is similar to the emblem that Hungarian rebels cut out of their Communist flag during the 1956 revolt.

A law adopting the new flag was approved Thursday by the East German Parliament.

It appeared to be a new assertion of individuality by the Communist regime, which has been trying hard to get foreign recognition.
