Pearson Guilty of 2nd-Degree Murder

ALAN ROSS PEARSON

JEFFREY TALBOT

Sentencing Set Feb. 10 in Fatal Area Stabbing

Youth, 17, Could Get Any Number of Years in Prison---Up to Life

Seventeen-year-old Alan Ross Pearson Jr. today was found guilty of second degree murder in the fatal stabbing of a Waterford Township youth last summer.

He was convicted by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury of killing Jeffrey Talbot, 17, of 2045 Watkins Lake.

Pearson, of 1127 Alhi, Waterford Township had been charged with first-degree murder. He will be sentenced Feb. 10 at 9 a.m. by Judge James S. Thorburn.

Pearson could be sentenced to any number of years in prison, up to a maximum of life.

The jury of seven men and five women returned the verdict at 11:15 a.m., a little more than two hours after resuming deliberations this morning.

The jury was sent home for the day yesterday when they were unable to reach a decision after nearly three hours.

As he left the courtroom, Pearson told newsmen, "I have butterflies in my stomach.

"It was what I had expected," said Pearson. "I had hoped for manslaughter but it just didn't work out that way."

He said that he had told the deputy sheriff with him that the jury would bring in the second-degree conviction.

RETURNED TO JAIL

Pearson was returned to the Oakland County Jail to await sentencing.

During the interim, the probation department will prepare a pre-sentencing report for Thorburn.

The case went to the jury at 1:30 p.m. yesterday after closing arguments by Ass't. Prosecutor Bernard P. Paige and defense counsel Clarence Smith.

Thorburn instructed the jury on the law, pointing out they could return one of four verdicts: guilty of first or second degree murder, or manslaughter, or innocent.

Late yesterday afternoon the jury returned to the courtroom to inquire about the distinction between second-degree murder and manslaughter.

Pearson contended he acted in self-defense during the June 27 incident.

During three days of testimony, conflicting statements were presented. Prosecution witnesses testified Pearson jumped from a car to confront young Talbot just prior to the fatal fight near Talbot's house.

The defense, meantime, has offered testimony claiming Pearson was pulled from the car in which he and a companion arrived at the scene.

The fight, according to trial testimony, resulted from hard feelings between Pearson and Talbot over a girl both had dated.

Fifteen in Nursery Catch Tuberculosis

DETROIT (AP) — Approximately 15 children are hospitalized for tuberculosis contracted in a suburban nursery epidemic of the disease.

★ ★ ★

Discovery of the epidemic and its tracing to a nursery teacher as the TB source took place just before and after last Christmas time.

Detroit and Wayne County health authorities disclosed details yesterday.

The hospitalized children, including both boys and girls, are reported in good condition. Doctors say they may recover fully.

With the situation described as in hand, the nursery is being permitted to continue its operations.

CREDIT DOCTORS

The vigilance of two unnamed family doctors was credited in large part with discovery of the epidemic and its being brought to a halt.

Dr. John J. Hanlon, Detroit and Wayne County health director, and Mrs. Marie Gaylord, operator of the preschool Hansel & Gretel Day Nursery in Garden City, disclosed the epidemic.

Mrs. Gaylord said she and her staff and health authorities "worked together" in running down the case.

Shortly before Christmas Day, a family doctor found a lesion on a small girl's leg. He reported to health authorities.

ANOTHER GIRL

A few days later, another girl was found apparently infected with TB. Her doctor also reported to health officials.

Investigation brought out that both girls had attended Hansel & Gretel Nursery.

All 57 nursery children received tests for TB. Most responded in the "negative" no infection.

Ultimately, the source was found. It was a woman teacher at the nursery.

BELIEVED CURED

She once had had TB and thought herself cured.

The teacher, like the children, is under medical care.

The children were taken to Maybury Sanatorium in Detroit, an institution for victims of tuberculosis.

"All are in generally good condition," Dr. Hanlon said. "We think they'll come along all right. I'm very optimistic."

Dr. Hanlon identified the nursery outbreak as an epidemic. He called it a "very, very localized epidemic."

"It's a phenomenon that seems to be occurring with increasing frequency in the country," he said.

Elect Woman India Premier

Awesome Burdens Face Nehru Daughter

MRS. INDIRA GANDHI

NEW DEUHI, India (AP)—Mrs. Indira Gandhi, daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru, was elected today to be India's next prime minister, the first woman in modern times to head the government of a major nation.

India's ruling Congress party automatically elevated Mrs. Gandhi to prime minister by electing her leader of its majority faction in Parliament.

Thus on the shoulders of 48-year-old widow fell the immense problems of India with which her father had wrestled for 17 years until his death in 1964 and which his successor, Lal Bahadur Shastri, had attacked vigorously until a heart attack killed him Jan. 11.

Mrs. Gandhi went to her victory wearing a red rosebud pinned to her shawl, just as her father wore a red rose daily throughout the tumultuous years after independence in 1947.

Mrs. Gandhi polled 355 votes to 169 for her only challenger, right-wing leader Morarji Desai.

CHEERING ERUPTS

Cheering erupted in Parliament's central hall when a party official, G.S. Pathak, announced the results of the secret ballot.

As the Nehru family once again took command in India, Mrs. Gandhi moved quickly to heal any damage done to party unity by the hectic political maneuvering that followed Shastri's death.

"I want your blessing," she told Desai as balloting began.

The stern, 69-year-old Desai replied: "Who am I to give you blessing? We need everybody's blessing."

Victory for Mrs. Gandhi, who learned politics at her father's side, not only resumed the Nehru era after Shastri's 19-month

Iran Envoy Is Asked to Leave Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iranian Ambassador Ali Fotouhi was declared persona non grata by the Lebanese government today and asked to leave the country.

The reason for the expulsion appeared to be the government's displeasure at attacking President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Draft Officials in Washington

To View Manpower, College Deferments

WASHINGTON (AP) — College deferments and manpower problems top the agenda for a meeting here today of Midwestern and Eastern state draft directors with national Seleetive Service officials.

★ ★ ★

"The purpose of the meeting is to discuss potential additional sources of manpower to replenish the pool of men classified as 1-A and available for induction," a Selective Service spokesman said. He added:

"The possibility of a return to consideration of class standing and testing for alleged deferment will surely be discussed."

Under present selective service policies, the 2.2 million students holding college deferments only are required to be doing satisfactory work as full-time students at a properly accredited college or university.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said no decision had been reached in the proposed reinstatement of the Korean war system of college deferments, ordered abolished by President John F. Kennedy in 1962.

CLASS STANDING

That system required local draft boards to take into consideration a student's class standing and his score on the Selective Service college qualification test.

Under those rules, a freshman had to be in the upper three-fourths of his class to be considered doing satisfactory work, a sophomore in the upper two-thirds and a junior in the upper half.

★ ★ ★

$35,000 Blaze Hits Home

A fire of undetermined origin yesterday caused an estimated $35,000 damage to a West Bloomfield Township home.

★ ★ ★

Firemen from six area departments extinguished the blaze in the Dr. George Kantzler home, 5786 Bloomfield Glens.

The fire was confined to the family room, furnace room and part of another room, although there also was extensive smoke damage in other areas.

Damage from the fire, which apparently started near an interior incinerator, was estimated at $30,000 to the house and $5,000 to the contents.

Mrs. Kantzler and three children, who were home when the fire started shortly before 1 p.m., were uninjured.

Cong Begins Truce After Savage Raid on Refugees

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The clock brought the Viet Cong tonight into their self-proclaimed four-day truce for the lunar new year after they had staged a series of attacks, the bloodiest at a camp for 2,000 Vietnamese refugees.

★ ★ ★

American armed forces remained on full alert. It was still unclear whether the Communist truce offer—advertised as effective at 11 p.m. — covered U.S. and other allied troops.

Thirty-three persons were killed and 54 wounded as the guerrillas swept down before dawn on the sleeping camp on the outskirts of Tam Ky, a provincial capital 350 miles northeast of Saigon. Many of the victims were women and children.

U.S. advisers said the raiders set fire to thatched huts, executed whole families on the spot, mangled the bodies and kidnaped nine men. They left behind leaflets denouncing U.S. operations as a "dirty war of aggression against the people of Viet Nam."

As to the Viet Cong cease-fire, one intelligence source said hard information had been received that American GIs would not be included.

However, a U.S. military spokesman said earlier in the night the sounds of battle apparently were diminishing, according to reports from the field. These reports were some hours in transit.

As in the case of the Christmas truce, the Saigon government and its American and other allies have ordered a cease-fire of their own. But it is to run for only 78 hours instead of the 96 hours set by the Viet Cong.

The allied cease-fire is to go into effect at 12 noon Thursday and end at 6 p.m. Sunday. This was a reversal of the Yuletide situation, when the Viet Cong proclaimed a 12-hour truce and the allied side held off for 30 hours.

The U.S. spokesman said American military operations already under way will continue until noon Thursday and these possibly will include air raids in South Viet Nam. If American troops run into trouble, air strikes certainly will be called in, he said.

"We're not going to relax just because some guy said he's going to cease firing, especially when the other guy has proved unreliable in the past," he said.

The lunar new year, called Tet, is the most sacred holiday on the Vietnamese calendar—a festive binge that has led annually to a lull in the war.

Noting intelligence reports that Americans would find no safety during the Communist cease-fire and the fact that the Communist offer did not mention U.S. or other allied troops, the spokesman said:

"We've said we'd stop shooting at noon tomorrow. That's what we'll do. We'll just have to see what will happen then."

U.S. Is Taking Stock of Viet Peace Efforts

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The United States is surveying foreign governments which have joined in the Vietnamese peace offensive to see what, if anything, they have heard from North Viet Nam and whether they expect a response.

The survey is being made this week in preparation for an assessment by President Johnson and his top advisers of the resultant prospects of the worldwide diplomatic campaign which the President launched three weeks ago.

A key issue in the policy review will be whether and when the United States should resume bombing North Viet Nam.

On this question it is understood that opinion among the President's advisers is divided, with military leaders advocating an early return to air strikes against targets in the north and some civilian authorities favoring indefinite continuation of the pause in the bombing.

★ ★ ★

The policy review presumably will be held next week, barring some radical change in the situation.

SURVEY RESULTS

By that time the results of the survey should all be in.

The truce in fighting which is scheduled for the Vietnamese lunar New Year holiday—tomorrow through Sunday, Saigon time—will also be over.

It should then be quickly known whether the Communists are prepared to respond to President Johnson's recent call for a reduction in hostilities or whether they will follow the holiday lull with widespread offensive operations in South Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, one of Johnson's chief emissaries to foreign governments during the peace offensive, are due here tonight or tomorrow from the Far East.

Rusk and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who returned to Washington earlier, conferred with Soviet Premier Alexai N. Kosygin when they were in India last week for the funeral of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

The Soviet Union holds a key position in U.S. hopes for and eventual settlement in Viet Nam.

Despite Moscow attacks on American policy, administration officials believe that the Soviet government would like to see the war ended before it gets bigger and more dangerous. They also believe Soviet influence is increasing in Hanoi as Soviet military and economic aid increase.

Aussie Leader Plans to Retire

Treasury Minister Is Expected Successor

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies, the senior government chief in the British Commonwealth, announced today he is retiring after 16 years in office.

MENZIES

Menzies, 71, did not disclose whether he also intends to give up his seat in Parliament.

Treasury Minister Harold Holt is expected to succeed him as head of the Liberal-Country party coalition.

Son of a country storekeeper and grandson of a Scottish miner, Menzies gave up a lucrative law practice to enter state politics in 1928.

When he entered the federal Parliament the next year, Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons selected him as attorney general. When Lyons died in 1939, Menzies succeeded him and led Australia into World War II at Britain's side.

He resigned in 1941 when he lost the support of two independents who had helped to keep him in power. A month later the United Australia party lost an election to Labor and Menzies became leader of the opposition.

Menzies started his current record term in office in 1949 when his newly organized Liberal party beat out Labor and checked its plans to nationalize industry.

School Board to Meet, Work on Bond Proposal

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The board of education has scheduled a special meeting Tuesday night to begin work on drafting a bond issue proposal.

School trustees recently were warned that funds will be needed soon for classrooms to house a skyrocketing enrollment.

"If we do it right, we're going to have to think in terms of at least $8 million," Schools Supt. Eugene Johnson said.

Architects have indicated the needed amount could well go to $10 million.

Board members are considering a bond proposition for the June school ballot.

PIN IT DOWN

"It is time for us to get down to business, pull it together and pin it down," Johnson said.

The session will be held at 8 p.m. in the new school district administration building at 4175 Andover, across from the high school.

Michigan State University consultants told the board in October that it should step up the current building program, financed by a $7.6-million bond issue approved in June 1964.

With enrollment jumping from 6,700 to 7,617 this year, the district might well reach its peak of 12,000 to 15,000 students within the next five years, the experts warned.

PLIGHT EMPHASIZED

Plight of the district was emphasized again in December by architects at Tarapata-MacMahon Associates.

Charles MacMahon of the Bloomfield Township firm noted funds from the 1964 bond issue just aren't going far enough because of increased construction costs.

He also noted the needs in terms of student capacity are "tremendously higher" than anticipated.

BIRMINGHAM—Modern math will be explained to parents at the Berkshire Junior High PTA meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the school.

Programmed instruction as it relates to modern math will be discussed.

Motel Holdup Suspect Held

A traveling salesman escaped from a holdup man in a Bloomfield Township motel early this morning and summoned police, who apprehended a suspect minutes later.

Bloomfield Township police said they would seek an armed robbery warrant against Roland D. Lewis, 20, of 461 Going.

Sylvan Lake Patroman David DeGroot stopped Lewis as the suspect was walking north on Telegraph minutes after the holdup at the Holiday Inn, 1801 S. Telegraph.

Harry Filler of Gateway, Ohio, who was staying at the motel, told police he was awakened by a knock on the door of his room about 4 a.m.

Assuming that the man at the door was a porter, Filler said he let him in.

STOLE WALLET

The holdup man, armed with a 25-caliber pistol stole Filler's empty wallet, according to police.

Filler said he was able to escape and run to the motel office while the robber was rummaging through bedclothes looking for cash.

The gun and wallet were found behind a house near the motel.

De Gaulle Regime Shaken

French Admit Arab Scandal Collusion

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's government today admitted "complicity" of French secret agents in the kidnaping and probably assassination of Moroccan opposition leader Mehdi Ben Barka.

A communique issued after today's regular cabinet session called the Oct. 29 abduction "a criminal enterprise mounted from the start from abroad and which had the benefit of certain complicity by agents of the special services or of French police officers."

The kidnaping brought a new crisis in France's relations with the Arab nations. The scandal also shook de Gaulle's new government and threatened the political future of some of his cabinet ministers and closest advisers.

The cabinet announced it was replacing the head of the nation's secret service, Gen. Paul Jacquiert, and putting the organization under the control of the army ministry.

Previously the secret service, known as the SDECE (Society de Documentation Exterieure et Contre-Espionage), reported directly to Premier Georges Pompidou but was semiautonomous.

HITS NEW PITCH

De Gaulle's move came as the clamor for a government clean-up of the three-month-old case and the Monday night death of key witness Georges Figon rose to a new pitch.

Two Paris police officers and a long-time counter-espionage agent already were behind bars for complicity in the affair.

French sources said the Ben Barka incident was mounted by Moroccan government officials to get rid of a dangerous rival. Morocco has repeatedly denied the French claims, but the affair has severely strained relations between the two nations.

★ ★ ★

The scandal centered on Figon' alleged suicide. He was a former criminal believed to be a key figure in the kidnapping. The French press accepted with reserve the official report that Figon shot himself just before police forced their way into his apartment to arrest him.

PROMINENT REMINDERS

Several newspapers carried prominent reminders of the highly suspect "suicide" of Alexander Stavitsky, a swindler, in the mid-1930s which wrecked the careers of several members of parliament and the cabinet and brought down the government of Premier Camille Chautemps.

The press was asking very bluntly why police had not been able to find Figon, who had been sought for more than two months, when he frequently met journalists and was even photographed in front of police headquarters.

Some newspapers emphasized statements by leading witnesses implicating top police officials in the kidnap plot.

De Gaulle ordered authorities to press the investigation of the Ben Barka kidnaping and met yesterday with a leading judge and Premier Georges Pompidou. Observers believed they discussed the growing proportions of the Ben Barka scandal.

★ ★ ★

Figon's death came at a critical point in the slow-moving kidnap investigation. Figon had declared in press interviews that he had been present while Ben Barka was tortured by a Moroccan government official at a country villa outside Paris.

Identity of Tot Still Unknown

Likely to Be Buried as 'Little Boy Blue'

MONROE (UPI) — Unless someone can identify him, a 3-year-old boy will be buried in this southern Michigan town later this week known only as "little boy blue."

★ ★ ★

The boy, clad in a blue quilted ski jacket, red shirt, black corduroy pants and blue socks, was found by a rabbit hunter in an outhouse on an abandoned farm near here.

An autopsy revealed the lad had been beaten to death.

Authorities said their best clue collapsed today. A label inside the boy's shirt was found to be that of a brand carried by three discount chains with stores throughout the nation.

Detective Sgt. Patrick Lyons of the Michigan State Police said laboratory tests on the boy's clothing failed to disclose anything of help in the investigation.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation assigned an agent to help local authorities in the investigation.

No one has claimed the boy. His description: brown hair, 35 inches tall, 25 pounds with that sturdy, well-fed look.

POLICE THEORY

Police theorize no one has claimed the boy because those who know him may be his murderer, or murderers. They believe either the parents slew the boy or they are dead themselves.

Shortly after the body was discovered last Saturday by a hunter, police sent out a nationwide alert for an identification of the lad.

A color photograph of the boy's clothing and its description have been distributed to other law enforcement agencies, so far to no avail.

Savings Bond Interest Rates to Be 4¼ Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government soon will hike interest rates on U. S. savings bonds to the maximum allowable 4¼ per cent but will not ask congressional approval to go beyond that, sources indicated today.

The government now pays 3¾ per cent interest on the $49 billion outstanding in series "E" and "H" bonds.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler announced yesterday that President Johnson had ordered the interest boost at "the earliest possible date."

Fowler said the higher rates will help maintain the bond sales.

★ ★ ★

Under law, the government cannot raise the interest rate beyond 4¼ per cent without congressional approval.

NO INDICATION

In a New York speech, Fowler gave no indication of how large an increase is being considered.

He said only that the nation was again at a point "where rates available on a variety of alternative forms of savings have moved beyond the rate paid on U. S. savings bonds."

But federal officials here, while unwilling to spell out details of what the White House has ordered, indicated that an interest rate rise to 4¼ per cent is in the offing.

★ ★ ★

They noted that ordinary commercial savings accounts and payments to building and loan associations now yield at least 4¼ per cent.

Area Welder 'in the Chips' for Cooking

A West Bloomfield Township welder who knows his way around a kitchen has won a trip to Las Vegas for himself and his wife.

Regional winner in the Men's National Cooking Championship sponsored by the Potato Chip Institute International, Walter Sadoway and his wife will leave Jan. 30 for two weeks at the Flamingo Hotel.

While there, Sadoway of 6612 Alderley and three other regional winners will compete for national honors in a cook-off.

The national champ will receive $1,000, with the other winners receiving $750, $400 and $200 for their efforts.

★ ★ ★

Sadoway, an estimator for Progressive Welder and Machine Co. of Pontiac, entered the contest last September with his recipe for potato chip pancakes. He was named state champion two weeks ago.

Some 179,000 recipes were reportedly entered in the contest, which called for a main dish prepared from potato chips.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Death Claims Popular Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Kathleen Norris, one of America's most popular women writers, has died at 85 after writing nearly 100 novels for "people with simple needs and motives."

★ ★ ★

"I have no knowledge of the dark forces which fascinate modern writers," said Mrs. Norris, reminiscing about her prolific writings recently.

The novelist was suffering from a circulatory ailment and fell into a coma a week ago. She died Tuesday at the Pacific Heights home of her son, Dr. Frank Norris, with her family gathered around her.

Her first novel, "Mother," was published in 1911. President Theodore Roosevelt was so moved by it that he climbed three flights of stairs to the Norris apartment just to shake the author's hand.

From that year until her last novel, "Through a Glass Darkly," she produced nearly two books a year, 58 magazine serials and uncounted newspaper and magazine articles.

NOVELS POURED OUT

A critic once wrote that her novels "poured from her typewriter as sawdust pours from a sawmill."

State Doctors Polled on Merger

LANSING (AP) — A House committee is asking the state's 10,000 medical doctors and 2,000 osteopaths for their opinion on the amalgamation of the two professions.

★ ★ ★

The state affairs committee, which now is considering a Senate-approved bill to establish an osteopathic authority, is mailing a questionnaire to the medical men. It asks:

"—Do you believe amalgamation of allopathy (a system of medicine that makes use of all remedies found to be of value) and osteopathy would be in the best interest of the people of the state?

STATE SUPPORT EYED

—"Should the state give support to an osteopathic school?

—"Do you believe both MDs and DOs, on the basis of individual qualifications, should be considered eligible for staff consideration by the governing boards of public-supported hospitals?"

The answers to the questionnaire, said Chairman John Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, will be taken into account when the committee makes up its mind on the bill which is designed to make it easier for a proposed osteopathic college in Pontiac to get federal funds.

★ ★ ★

The Senate passed the measure, sponsored by Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, last October.

The 10-member authority, appointed by the governor, would legally be able to construct or acquire a college, operate, manage and staff it and set tuitions.

Teen Says He Killed Parents

Gives No Motive for Pennsylvania Deaths

WHITEHALL, Wis. (AP) — A 15-year-old boy, jailed after a minor traffic accident Tuesday night, blurted out to authorities he had killed his parents.

Slender, dark-haired Jerry Lee Sanderson of Slippery Rock, Pa., gave no motive, Sheriff Eugene Bijold said.

The body of his father, Henry Sanderson, 54, was found Tuesday outside the family's burned farmhouse. Another body, believed to be that of the boy's mother, Dorothy, 44, was found in the rubble.

Bijold said the youth admitted shooting his parents to officers while he was being questioned after his car had skidded into a snowbank along a western Wisconsin highway.

FORMAL CHARGES

Bijold said the Sanderson youth was being held for Butler County, Pa., authorities, who planned to fly here today with a warrant containing formal charges.

The teen-ager was the only prisoner in the small, brick jail in this rural community 850 miles from Slippery Rock.

The body of the elder Sanderson, a dairy farmer, was found in a shallow, snow-filled ditch a few yards from the family's home on the outskirts of Slippery Rock, about 50 miles north of Pittsburgh. He had been shot four times, twice in the head, Butler County Coroner Clinton Atwell said.

Bijold quoted the boy as saying he had killed his parents with a single-shot 22-caliber rifle. A rifle of that type was found in the trunk of the car the youth was driving, the sheriff said.

The boy was one of two children of the Sandersons. His sister, Sandra Joyce, is a student nurse at a hospital in New Castle, Pa.

Authorities said the youth attended Slippery Rock High School and was manager of its football team.

Cityhood Backer Raps 'Secret Tactics' of Foes

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Joseph T. Brennan Jr., chairman of the committee studying the proposed incorporation of Farmington Township, has lashed out at what he calls the "clandestine" tactics of opponents of the move.

Brennan drafted and delivered at the committee's Monday night meeting a statement of his views on the lawsuit directed at him and members of the Farmington Township Board.

He also criticized activities of Mrs. Bernard By, a Wood Creek Farms resident who said she was "very surprised" to be included in Brennan's references to the lawsuit.

The suit, filed Friday by attorney Wendell Brown in behalf of Raymond Felix, 28039 Brandywine, seeks an Oakland County Circuit Court injunction which would prohibit township officials from campaigning for incorporation or using public funds for support or study of the matter.

★ ★ ★

Petitions signed by more than 400 township residents seeking an incorporation election were filed with the Oakland County clerk in November.

AS CONSULTANT

The Township Board subsequently appointed the 12-member study committee and hired Donald Oakes of Grand Rapids as a consultant on the proposed conversion to city status.

Brennan, who also is the township attorney, said the suit alleges he paid the $500 fee held in escrow by the county in connection with the incorporation petitions and that he had been reimbursed by the township.

"As a matter of fact, I have been reimbursed," Brennan said. "There is no secret about it and the only reason my check was used in the first instance was (that) the petitions were filed on a Monday morning before the Township Hall opened for business.

★ ★ ★

"We will meet Mr. Brown's lawsuit in court, but suffice it to say that the attorney general has ruled that public funds may properly be used to educate the electorate with respect to matters of public concern."

QUESTIONS MOTIVES

Beyond the lawsuit, Brennan questioned the motives of persons he said were attempting to prevent the public from obtaining all facts on incorporation.

He said township officials had hoped points both against and in favor of incorporation would be aired at the committee's public meetings.

"Specifically, it has come to my attention that Mrs. Peggy By, a constant critic of the township administration, has been contacting citizens of Wood Creek village who signed the incorporation petition," he said.

★ ★ ★

"These contacts at the least constituted deliberate harassment and at the worst an attempt to intimidate these people in the exercise of their legal rights."

Mrs. By, 2933 Millbrook, today denied any connection with the lawsuit and said she knew nothing of it until Monday night.

She said she had contacted some of the signers of the petition and had determined that just four of those living in Wood Creek Farms were registered voters.

Mrs. By noted there had been "some confusion as to who the circulator was" and that she discovered it was Brennan.

Signers were contacted, she said, because "I definitely feel that the people in the village who did sign the petitions have every right to come to the (study committee) meetings to present their views."

SEEKING RULING

Village President Norman Kreider is seeking an opinion from Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley on whether village votes in an incorporation election would be counted separately or as part of the tally for the entire township.

Mrs. By said she was awaiting Kelley's opinion before making a decision on possible further action by a citizens' committee.

"But I wondered how they could tie us in without a majority vote from the village," she said.

★ ★ ★

The show-cause hearing on the lawsuit is to be held Monday before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Members of Avondale's Stone Elementary School PTA will hear about the role of the public school as a center for community activities at their 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Truce Is Called in Sewer Case

Legal War Delayed on Alleged Pollution

LAKE ORION — A six-month truce has been called in the legal war over the alleged pollution of Paint Creek.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore yesterday granted a six-month postponement of two lawsuits resulting from the State Water Resources Commission's contention that the creek is being polluted by the village.

The postponement will give village officials time to seek federal aid in planning and construction of a proposed $1.4-million sewer system.

The commission over a year ago ordered the village to halt pollution of the creek. Subsequently the village council entered into a contract with the County Department of Public Works (DPW) for construction of a sewer system designed by Hubbell, Roth & Clark, Bloomfield Hills consulting engineers.

★ ★ ★

The project was halted, however, by a suit brought against the village by the Lake Orion Homeowners Association, which alleged that the cost of the proposed system was unreasonable.

SECOND SUIT

A second suit was entered against the village by the Water Resources Commission, demanding that the pollution, reportedly caused by sanitary sewers being hooked up to storm drains, be halted.

Several preliminary hearings have been held on the matter in the past year, including two this week.

Attorneys for both sides agreed on a motion for postponement, which the judge granted yesterday. Judge Moore also upheld the state's contention that the creek is polluted, which apparently had never been legally established.

★ ★ ★

DPW officials say the contract between the county and the village is still good, although it will be subject to review because of rising construction costs.

★ ★ ★

It will be held in abeyance, however, until completion of litigation.

There are several avenues open to the village for federal aid on the project, including the 1965 Omnibus Housing Act and the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

For Holly Schools

Business Training Program Approved

HOLLY — Students in the Holly School System next fall will be able to get practical business experience while earning high school credits.

The board of education has authorized establishment of a pilot cooperative business training program, recommended by the Four District Education Study Committee.

Board members Monday night also approved plans for an adult education and recreation program and the final drawings for an addition to Davisburg Elementary School.

The business training progam, which probably will be coordinated by a Holly High School business teacher, should be ready for next fall, according to Schools Supt. Russell D. Haddon.

★ ★ ★

Initiation of the program was one of three proposals made by the study committee, composed of representatives of the Holly, Fenton, Lake Fenton and Linden school districts.

COORDINATOR

The group also suggested that a curriculum coordinator be appointed on a full- or half-time basis for the Holly School System and that the four districts hire a director for a cooperative vocational education program.

Holly School trustees will consider the other two recommendations at a special board meeting in the future.

They approved the recommendation by the Advisory Council to Holly Area Schools to establish an adult education and recreation prgoram.

★ ★ ★

Haddon said the schools will offer adult education courses "hopefully, late in February."

NEXT SUMMER

The recreation program for students is to be planned for next summer.

Plans for the Davisburg Elementary School addition include construction of a library, art room, small theater, three offices and workrooms and enlargement of the teachers' lounge and storage room.

★ ★ ★

The school board also approved the purchase of a 30-station portable language laboratory. Of the $2,550 cost, $1,479 will be reimbursed through National Defense Education Act funds.

PTA Talk Scheduled by Exchange Student

AVON TOWNSHIP — Mary Ann Hackett, who spent the 1965 school year in Sweden under the American Field Service Student Exchange Program, will be guest speaker at the Elmwood School PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Mary Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hackett, 1380 Ruby.

Court Hearing on Project Is Postponed

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A court hearing slated for Monday involving development of the proposed Lake Arrowhead Subdivision has been postponed until Feb. 7 to give the township engineer time to inspect the area

The hearing was moved up after developers of the subdivision asked that they be allowed to resume selling sand from the site.

The township engineer is to review the situation and check the site to see that it is being brought up to grade.

The matter was taken to court when the Township Board issued a stop order on complaints from residents who claimed the area was being used for gravel mining rather than development of a subdivision.

★ ★ ★

The developers were ordered to develop the subdivision as planned originally in 1957. They are now in the process of leveling the site.

Petitioners Ask Delay

Novi Cityhood Vote Won't Be March 8

NOVI — The proposal to incorporate Novi as a city will not be on the March 8 ballot.

Circulators of incorporation petitions have asked village councilmen to wait until April to set a date for a cityhood vote.

The petitions bearing signatures of 126 registered voters were filed Nov. 8.

During the December absence of Village President Joseph Crupi, the council split two-to-two on whether the issue should be included on the March 8 ballot or a special election scheduled.

Petition circulators said they preferred a special election to avoid confusion. Three village councilmen are to be elected in March.

CHARTER GROUP

Not only will the incorporation question be on a special ballot — voters also will elect a nine-member charter commission that would take office if the proposal were adopted.

At their Monday night meeting, councilmen also discussed types of development for the property adjacent to the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad track.

They referred back to the planning commission two requests to rezone parcels of property there for heavy manufacturing.

★ ★ ★

James Erwin was seeking reclassification for 40 acres at 12 Mile and Taft and Arthur Heslip for slightly more than eight acres at Nine Mile and the railroad tracks.

SMALL FARMS

The property now is zoned for small farms.

The planning commission had recommended that Erwin's request be granted and Heslip's denied.

The council will ask the planning commission to consider the best use for the entire area bounded by the railroad tracks, Novi Road and Nine Mile.

In other action, councilmen were notified that the State Municipal Finance Commission has authorized the village to sell $345,000 in special assessment bonds to provide sewer service to some 350 homes in Willowbrook Subdivision.

Engineers at Johnson and Anderson, Inc., Waterford Township, will be instructed to prepare specifications so that bids on the sewer line installation can be taken next month.

'Prerequisite for U. S. Aid'

School Site Acquisition Policy Offered

TROY — If the board of education gives its approval, all future school site purchases will be governed by a written policy.

Although the policy will cover all future acquisitions it was drawn up specifically to obtain federal funds to aid in the purchase of three sites.

Schools Supt. Rex B. Smith explained that, under the Open Space Land Program, the federal government will reimburse a school district up to 50 per cent if it can guarantee that part of the land it buys will remain open space forever.

In the case of school property, the playground constitutes open space.

On the application for federal aid, school officials must designate how many acres will be needed for the building, parking lots, etc., and how many for current and future playground purposes.

FORMAL POLICY

Smith said a formal site acquisition policy is necessary in the preparation of the application.

Up to now, the district has followed general rules but has never adopted anything formally.

The sites for which Smith hopes the district will be partially reimbursed will contain two elementary schools, to be located between Adams and Coolidge and Big Beaver and Square Lake, and one junior high north of Big Beaver between Coolidge and Crooks.

★ ★ ★

The proposed policy sets forth the standards to be followed in determining location and size of the sites, city use of the sites and development of sites.

NEAR THE CENTER

Elementary school sites are to be located, whenever possible, at or near the center of a section or half-section, away from heavily traveled roads and within convenient walking distance of the homes. Adequate street and path access to the sites are to be encouraged.

A total of 31 or 32 elementary schools is foreseen as the ultimate need in the district.

The policy also states that elementary school sites are to follow, where possible, standards recommended by the National Council on Schoolhouse Construction which recommends a "minimum site of 10 acres plus an additional acre for each 100 pupils of projected ultimate maximum enrollment."

Smith said about three acres of an elementary site should be designated for buildings, parking lots, service drives and landscaping, with the rest reserved for playgrounds.

SIZE OF SITES

In planning the size of the sites, Smith recommends an ultimate maximum of 540 to 600 elementary pupils per school, 18 to 20 classrooms, unless the site adjoins a public park. In this case, the facilities in the park could reduce the acreage to six.

Smith also hopes to encourage city use of school sites for recreation programs by outright sale of two to five acres to the city whenever appropriate and legal, exchange of property, lease of appropriate acreage to the city and some written agreement which states which agency is responsible for supervision, liability and care of facilities.

It is also suggested that the playground area of each elementary site be divided into several areas for different activities.

★ ★ ★

The junior and senior high sites are to be located at or near the center of each school area so most of the students can walk less than 1½ miles to school and not be dependent on bus transportation for school activities.

ULTIMATE NEED

Smith sees a total of eight junior high schools and four senior high schools as the ultimate need.

A junior high site is to contain 20 acres plus one acre for each 100 pupils of projected enrollment. The senior high site is to contain a minimum of 30 acres plus an additional acre for each 100 pupils of projected enrollment.

Five acres of a junior high site and 10 of the senior high site should be designated for buildings, parking lots, service drives and landscaping with the rest for playgrounds.

★ ★ ★

The policy suggests that the junior high schools contain 750 students per building, which would require about 28 acres of land. If the school adjoins a public park, acreage could be reduced to 18 acres.

The senior high school should contain 1,500 to 1,800 students in grades 10 through 12 in each building, requiring 45 to 48 acres of land.

DR. PHILIP HILAIRE

2-Day Program Set for Area Teachers

MILFORD — Teachers in the Huron Valley School District will spend tomorrow and Friday completing student records and attending in-service training programs.

★ ★ ★

Students will not attend classes either day.

Dr. Philip Hilaire, Oakland County Schools reading consultant, heads the list of speakers for the elementary teachers' program.

Hilaire tomorrow morning will discuss the four methods currently being used to teach reading.

★ ★ ★

Also scheduled to speak are Irene Wisner and Mrs. Marjorie Bourns, Huron Valley elementary teachers who have been on leave for six weeks to participate in a remedial reading project at the Oakland Schools office.

★ ★ ★

Secondary schoolteachers will use the two days to complete student records for the first semester.

'Keep Fighting Until Peace Sealed'

Step Up War, Planners Urge

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — High-level U.S. planners in Viet Nam say the United States and South Viet Nam must step up the war, not de-escalate it, if the Communists are to be brought to the conference table and a favorable peace worked out, highty reliable sources reported today.

Top-level thinking is that in the unlikely event Hanoi and the Viet Cong ask for an armistice, allied pressure should be stepped up rather than eased. The bombings against North Viet Nam should be resumed and intensified, it is argued. Fighting should not end before the conclusion of peace talks.

★ ★ ★

These views, which appear at variance with President Johnson's current peace offensive, have been transmitted to Washington. What response has been made, if any, is not known.

The messages to Washington stressed that any peace could easily be lost unless the peace agreement contains ironclad guarantees that can and would be enforced. Otherwise, the American planners say, a Communist take-over is clearly possible.

INCLUDE SUGGESTION

Other warnings to Washington include a suggestion that no peace treaty be sought that would force North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to admit defeat, even by implication.

This, top planners feel, could result in Ho's overthrow by a more aggressive, more Peking-oriented faction which would renew the war.

It is understood that some planners have urged the Johnson administration to draw up a politically realistic list of objectives expected from any peace conference.

Another suggestion was to set a tight time limit for peace talks so they would not drag on endlessly while the Communists continued to put on pressure in the countryside where they now have a better grip than the South Vietnamese government.

ULTIMATE RESPONSIBILITY

Some top U.S. planners in Viet Nam also warn against entrusting ultimate supervision of the peace to the International Control Commission which was given the job by the 1954 and 1962 Geneva conferences. The South Vietnamese army should have ultimate responsibility, these officials feel.

It is doubtful that the suggestions set forth by these U.S. officials would be acceptable to the Communist side under any conditions short of impending defeat in the field or severe internal stresses.

★ ★ ★

The feeling here is that unless Peking, Hanoi and the Viet Cong realize that the United States and its allies not only have the power to win but are willing to use that power come what may peace will be long delayed.

The U.S. mission also is believed to have warned Washington that peace negotiations now would require the recognition of several unpleasant realities — the extent of Communist control in the conntryside, the lack of any pro-government or even anti-Communist political party to match the Viet Cong's smoothly functioning National Liberation Front, and the difficulty of the allies in countering the Communists' mobile warfare tactics which so far has given them most of the initiative on the battlefields.

Dirksen Steering Middle Course on Viet

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen is maintaining a flexible Republican position on Viet Nam despite conflicting pressures from party colleagues.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, is using his role as chief party spokesman on foreign policy issues to steer a middle course between Republicans who want to intensify the war and those who urge diminished military efforts in the hope this course eventually may bring negotiations.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson gave Dirksen a pat on the back Tuesday for pursuing, as White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers called it, "a policy of reason in South Viet Nam." The President said this was in the tradition of the loyal opposition.

But there is obviously much more to the Dirksen operation than meets the casual eye.

HOLDING OPERATION

What is under way may be strictly a holding operation to keep the Republicans clear of political commitments that could backfire against them — either as "warmongers" or "appeasers" — depending on the turn of events in Southeast Asia.

Dirksen's reasoning is that, if the President doesn't know what's going to happen there, the Republicans know even less and ought not to go out on a limb.

★ ★ ★

This is the same kind of reasoning motivating the current silence of such sometime Democratic critics of the Johnson course in Viet Nam as Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

The pause in Republican criticism, however, may turn out to be only that.

SOME ALTERNATIVES

Dirksen has left himself and the Republicans some alternatives. He has been testing some of them tentatively, since Congress reconvened, to learn the country's reaction.

He tossed Republican and Democratic conservatives, generally a push-the-war group, a political morsel by quoting the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur's slogan that "there is no substitute for victory." He said the Viet Cong must lay down their arms before there could be meaningful negotiations.

★ ★ ★

He softened this latter formula in Monday night's GOP leadership broadcast, but stuck to the "no substitute for victory."

On the other hand, he endorsed the continuation of peace efforts, injecting a political stinger by asking who could object "when the blood of young men is involved." If peace efforts fail, he said, the war must be intensified "as sound military judgment dictates."

State Delays Taking Bids on 12 Road Jobs

LANSING (AP) — Bid-taking on 12 primary road projects will be postponed until September because federal matching funds are not immediately available, reports the Highway Department.

The projects, estimated to cost $9.58 million, were scheduled to be let between March and August.

There are more than 44,000 telephones in the Pentagon.

Our area loses a brilliant and foremost citizen in the unexpected death of JAMES E. GOODMAN.

★ ★ ★

One of the automotive world's ranking executives and an exceptional personality, Mr. Goodman was a standout wherever you put him — but always in a quiet, kindly way. This was a definite part of the charm with which he was blessed — a wonderful characteristic but an achievement of which he was hardly aware.

GOODMAN

★ ★ ★

With the competition today the most intense in history, it is a tremendous recognition of personal ability to recall that Mr. GOODMAN began along the assembly line and literally "worked his way to the top." No individual in America exemplifies the glorious road of the American system and achievement any more than this stalwart citizen.

★ ★ ★

Tremendous competence is proven in a simple recognition of his record, but beyond that Mr. GOODMAN was blessed with a personality in a million. He made friends everywhere—without trying. In a popularity contest on any level, he would have finished in the top echelon.

★ ★ ★

And so, at the unhappy time of only 61 years, a whole host of staunch and admiring friends bow silently before the bier of this lovable man as he journeys towards the Great Beyond, confident and unafraid. The summons of the Grim Reaper is inescapable, but as he passes from mortal sight across the Final Horizon, unnumbered heads will be bowed and silent here below.

Goodbye, BUD.

State Seeks Solution to Deer Hunters' Woes

The State Conservation Commission has called for a review of Conservation Department deer management policies.

In taking this action, the commission may have stalled legislative action designed to take control of the deer herd out of the hands of the experts.

Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, has introduced a measure calling for a one-year moratorium on antlerless deer hunting in the Upper Peninsula. This bill is expected to be amended to cover the entire state and increase the moratorium to two years.

Sen. MACK's measure is the result of loud grumblings by a majority of Michigan's 600,000 deer hunters against the taking of antlerless deer.

★ ★ ★

The Conservation Department estimates that 108,000 deer were killed during the 1965 firearms season. Hunters are telling legislators at public hearings and in letters that these figures are wrong.

These hunters, who represent a lot of votes, want antlerless deer hunting stopped. They don't care whether the Conservation Department calls a halt or the legislature.

The sentiment among lawmakers is that the hunters should get their wish. If the department doesn't do something, they will look favorably upon Sen. MACK's bill.

★ ★ ★

One thing conservationists have found to be a major detriment to effective operation of conservation departments in various states is interference by politicians.

Programs in Iowa and Ohio are controlled by politicians with the result that conservation in these states is going in circles.

A decline in the pheasant population in South Dakota triggered action from lawmakers that led to the firing or quitting of that state's top conservation men.

★ ★ ★

Members of Michigan's Conservation Commission realize that once legislators take control of one phase of conservation work—in this case the deer herd—it can lead to interference in other areas such as pheasants, parks and fishing.

The end result would be a politically run conservation department. The legislature's main responsibility now is to set seasons and bag limits, license fees and appropriate money for department operations.

Management is left up to the Conservation Department under guidelines set up by the commission.

That's the way it should be, and the commission is attempting to come up with a solution that will keep the hunters and lawmakers happy without hampering the conservation effort.

GOP War Cries Suddenly Muted

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders who once advocated a naval quarantine of North Viet Nam have muted their cries for stern new war measures since President Johnson began his publicized peace offensive.

The Republican prescription outlined Monday night by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen did not mention the GOP policy declaration of five weeks ago which recommended heightened war in the air and at sea.

Instead, Dirksen charted a course apparently identical to that Johnson is following:

Continue the quest for peace, continue to fight the war—harder, if need be.

"Let it be intensified, if necessary, as sound military judgment dictates," Dirksen said.

Johnson, in a speech that hinted at the coming peace drive, said Dec. 9 he was determined "that every prospect for peace be exhausted before other hard steps are taken."

A week ago, in his State of the Union address, Johnson said he could not forecast the future in Viet Nam. "We may have to face long, hard combat or a long, hard conference, or even both at once," he said.

Dirksen, assigned to handle foreign affairs in a Republican appraisal of the State of the Union, did not suggest any cut off in the bombing lull which has withheld air assaults on North Vietnamese targets since Christmas Eve.

His speech-making partner, House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford, said Sunday that only the President can decide how long the bombing suspension should be continued.

Neither Republican talked of the position taken Dec. 13 by the Republican Coordinating Committee, a council of party chieftains on which both Dirksen and Ford serve.

The committee said President Johnson should use against North Viet Nam the kind of naval quarantine President John F. Kennedy instituted against Cuba during the 1962 missile crisis.

The cautious Republican words of recent days may stem from two concerns.

One is a shared hope that the quest for settlement can succeed. "Who can object to any honorable effort to secure peace where young blood is involved?" asked Dirksen.

The other looms next November: an election in which the war in Viet Nam seems certain to be a major issue. Dirksen already has said it will be one.

"The people make the issues and the issues make the parties," he said Dec. 7. "It won't be the Republican party that will make it an issue. It will be the people."

—A Woman Scorned!

David Lawrence Says:

GOP Wasn't Given Equal Time

WASHINGTON — The three television networks didn't give the Republican spokesmen "equal time" for their "State of the Union" message.

LAWRENCE

The President was granted an hour, and the Republicans only a half-hour. Mr. Johnson had prime time — 9 p.m. — on all three networks simultaneously. The Columbia Broadcasting system gave the Republican presentation from 10:30 to 11:00 p.m., while the National Broadcasting Co. and the American Broadcasting Co. showed it from 11:30 p.m. to midnight. This period is usually called "the late show."

The time for delivery of the President's "State of the Union" message was well publicized in advance, not only in news reports but in announcements on the air and in print.

There was, on the other hand, considerable fumbling about giving advance notice to the public as to when the Republican program would be heard.

★ ★ ★

Many millions of viewers and listeners had, therefore, gone to bed when "the other side" of the argument was broadcast.

QUARTER OF AN HOUR

Also, only a quarter of an hour was made available to the Senate Republican leader, Everett Dirksen, and another quarter of an hour to the House Republican leader, Gerald Ford.

So the two Republican spokesmen had to condense their remarks. They tried to do too much in too little time, and their comments, therefore, were not as comprehensive as they would have been had there been more broadcast time.

While the two brief speeches had in them some good arguments, the effort as a whole was not as effective as it might have been if a different concept of an opposition party's duty and responsibility had been recognized by the party strategists.

★ ★ ★

It isn't the obligation of a minority party to present alternatives in specific form or to construct a rival program. The chief need is to tell the people what's actually going on so that they may learn what is the true state of the union.

REAL DEFICIT

The Republican presentation might well have included, for instance, figures from the speech made in the Senate on Monday by Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, who declared that President Johnson is hiding the true deficit in next year's national budget until after this year's congressional elections, and added that the real deficit would be $9.2 billion instead of the $1.8 billion predicted by Mr. Johnson.

One of the biggest scandals of all — the manner in which national elections are controlled today — got only a little attention. Ford said:

"Ways must be found to eliminate vote fraud, curb the cost of political campaigns, and expand the right to vote."

★ ★ ★

Plenty of evidence of the political use of federal funds intended to fight poverty or to help education has been uncovered. The Republicans might have portrayed the nature of the irregularities prevalent, but they didn't. Rep. Ford did touch briefly on one of these aspects as follows:

"We must liberate the war on poverty from waste, controversy, and the bad odor of political bossism."

★ ★ ★

But such vague statements on abuses — without giving some concrete examples — could hardly have made much impression, and certainly not on people half-asleep during broadcasts made near midnight.

His schedule would kill a horse. Just shaking hands and posing for pictures with the workers could be a full-time job.

'There's No Duplication of Services to the Poor'

Since the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity has been criticized by the public and former members, I, as a member, would like to make a few statements on its behalf.

★ ★ ★

There may have been some mistakes made by the commission, as any other organization will make, but I sincerely believe there is no duplication of services to the poor. It is not the purpose of the commission to give handouts to the poor but to help them to help themselves, train them for better paying jobs, etc. Issues to be brought up at the commission meetings are mailed a week in advance for study. I have spoken for and against some things being discussed at meetings. I represent the Latin American community and sometimes it seems my people are not getting jobs, but before one of them is hired I want to be sure he is qualified.

★ ★ ★

I believe the commission, which has Democrats, Republicans, Independents, whites, Negroes, a Latin American, poor, well-to-do, executives and labor, does the best it can. I believe the staff and Mr. James McNeeley are doing a good job and if we can get the cooperation from the public we can have a Great Society.

U.S. tourists who snap at their wives in Singapore, businessmen who botch up a big deal in Brussels — take heart. The government has just proved you're not to blame. A study by the Federal Aviation Authority proves what jet-age travelers have known all along. Any flight that takes us through more than four time zones short-circuits our internal clocks for three to seven days.

★ ★ ★

The study sent scientist-subjects jetting to Tokyo, Rome and Santiago, Chile. Each was wired like an astronaut and the results fed into a computer.

The tests so far confirm that we all have thermostats that shut down just after the hour we normally retire (stay up all night and you feel chilly about 2 a.m.). Another clock pumps adrenal secretions into our systems before we normally wake up. When these metabolic clocks start going off over a Parisian lunch or at the theater in London, the traveler ends up seriously discombobulated.

More serious than discomfort is the havoc raised with mental processes. After the flights, none of the Ph.D.'s who flew for the FAA could add up simple columns of figures that had been child's play for them a day earlier. Their reactions were less than a third as sharp as normal. The findings to date are hardly comforting to companies that make a practice of jetting a vice president in from the home office to make a vital decision on the spot.

If the problem increases in proportion to speed, think of the passengers on the supersonic jet transports due in the 1970s. Perhaps we need a pill.

An Incentive!

The Indianapolis Star

We have to tip our hat to William E. Constable, 35-year-old Bloomington man who has been selected as a member of Phi Beta Kappa, America's oldest scholastic society.

Five years ago Constable, a full-time employe at a Bloomington limestone quarry, decided that his life was only a "vegetable" existence. So he enrolled in Indiana University to broaden his horizons. During his 5-year university career be managed to support his wife and three children. He also compiled a cumulative grade average of 3.95 out of a possible "A" average of 4.

He has received the Ford P. Hall prize in government, an I. U. Foundation grant and a Merit scholarship. This year he was among I. U. students awarded "Little 500" scholarships.

★ ★ ★

Constable's attitude shows how a man can mature in his outlook. He says he had never intended to go to college and that his main thought in high school was "to do as little as possible and get out." Now he says he looks back on hours spent in front of a television set as a "vegetable existence."

We hope Constable's example stirs others who perhaps think they are too old to start, to abandon vegetable existences for the world of living men.

Nurse 'Pocahontas' a Charmer to Wounded Yanks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Some of the men shot while in the jungles and paddies of the Viet Nam war wind up in a U.S. hospital bed being treated by a real American — a real early American.

"I ought to be treating American soldiers," says Anne Yazzi, 22. "I am an American, the first American. I am a Navajo Indian."

★ ★ ★

The petite, copper-skinned nurse is at the Third Field Hospital, which gets some of the toughest wound cases from the war theater.

Her ward 13, which is regarded as lucky, deals with thoracic surgery. These are wounds of the chest, which require a lot of care.

"Pocahontas? She's number one." That's what every man in his cot voted — for Anne.

About 5 foot 3, Anne brings a GI what he needs when he's feeling low. . . a beaming smile, dimples and bright, white teeth, and above all good ears, instead of a clacking tongue. To get her to talk about herself is like digging cobalt with a toothpick.

★ ★ ★

But, about her patients, she'll rattle on.

She's one of 25 Army nurses in the hospital on the edge of Saigon. They do eight hour shifts, mostly. But by and large they are caught in the escalation of war, and its peaks and valleys.

ALL OR NOTHING

"Some days we just get almost more than we can handle," she says. "It's sometimes all or nothing but we do the best we can."

Do Army nurses get cynical and unemotional about wounded men after a time?

"Oh, no," says Anne. "They are not just cases. We get to know each other so well. When they leave, they write back and we write them."

Second Lt. Yazzi has been in the Nurse Corps two years. A native of Shiprock, N.M., she became a registered nurse in Albuquerque and decided it was the Army for her.

PAPER WORK

"It's hard work," she said, "There's too much paper work, keeping up the charts, but we manage to get it done. Sometimes its eight to ten hours without stopping when it comes in spurts."

She's Army enough to say what they all do. . . "I'd just like to be back home."

Nurses get favorite patients largely because some men are there longer than others and attachments develop. Anne's is James Myers, 21, of Newark, N.J., a big, skinny paratrooper from the 173rd Airborne Brigade. He was shot by a sniper Dec. 19 and has been fighting infections. But he has it licked now. Myers thinks Lt. Anne is pure gold.

There's a second vote for that from Maj. John Krouse, 37, a native of Ephrata, Pa. whose wife lives now in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

The major is a thoracic surgeon who says he couldn't possibly learn in civilian practice what a surgeon must learn and quickly in dealing with wounded soldiers.

"There are things almost unexplainable," he said.

★ ★ ★

"We had one boy here who has a story to tell that nobody ever will believe. He was a chopper pilot and got hit. The bullet went through his flak vest. Through one shoulder, chipped his spinal column, up through the neck on the other side and then into his mouth under his tongue. He spat the bullet out. He was all right finally, though he had some pain. Now, who would believe that?"

The Nurse Corps? They're troops, as far as he is concerned. And in war, when somebody is called a "good troop," that's the highest accolade of all.

Say Man Plotted to Kill Ex-Wife, Lawyer

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — When his wife filed suit for divorce, Charles W. Hinman said he was broke, but his wife contended he was worth $1.5 million.

"I had a little property once, before my wife left me," Hinman said, "but when she left me, I disposed of it promptly."

★ ★ ★

Later, he was sent to jail for 15 days for failure to pay child support, and there, police said, he plotted the murder of his ex-wife and the lawyer who represented her in the divorce case.

That lawyer was Murray Chotiner, a former campaign manager for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

IN COURT TODAY

Hinman, 59, an attorney, goes into court today for arraignment proceedings on a charge of solicitation to commit murder. Hinman denied the allegations, but admitted that he dislikes Chotiner.

Chotiner, who has law offices in Beverly Hills, was reported on his way home from a honeymoon trip to the Orient.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Dist. Atty. Richard W. Hecht said Hinman had asked an unidentified cellmate last month to kill his ex-wife, Marcia, 27, who lives in Beaumont, Calif.

Hecht also said Hinman allegedly offered magazine salesman Leonard Amabile $500 to shoot Chotiner, and that Amabile then told authorities of the alleged offer.

$260 AFTERWARD

Hecht said Hinman gave Amabile $240, promising to pay $260 when Chotiner was killed.

Amabile, Hecht said, called Chotiner's office to warn him of the plot, but was told that the attorney was in the Orient. Chotiner was married Christmas Day to Amelia Nemeth Mueller in Phoenix, Ariz., friends said.

★ ★ ★

Hecht said Amabile next called Mrs. Hinman, who called Chotiner's associate, George Magit, who called police.

Hecht said sheriff's deputies asked Amabile to go along with the alleged plot, and that his last two conversations with Hinman — last Friday and Monday — were tape-recorded. The plan, Hecht said, was for Amabile to kill Chotiner at his home in nearby Newport Beach.

DUE TO RETURN

Monday, Hecht said, Amabile told Hinman he was unable to find Chotiner. Then Hinman was arrested because Chotiner and his bride were scheduled to return soon.

"We didn't want to take a chance on anything happening once the Chotiners returned," Hecht explained.

Hinman was arrested in his home at Malibu by sheriff's deputies. The arrest warrant charged him with five counts of solicitation of a person for the purpose of murder.

Hinman and his wife were involved in a long divorce fight, and she was awarded an interlocutory decree. The case is on appeal by Hinman.

Say China Holds U.S. Woman, 38

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese-language newspaper Kung Sheung said today an American woman missing from Hong Kong since Jan. 11 is being held prisoner by Red Chinese authorities.

A spokesman for Hong Kong authorities said they had received no information from the Chinese about Mrs. Beverly Reilly, 38, estranged wife of a University of Detroit professor, Robert Reilly.

★ ★ ★

Kung Sheung said a Chinese businessman who recently crossed into Hong Kong reported Mrs. Reilly is being held in the town of Shum Chun, just inside Chinese territory.

Mrs. Reilly disappeared eight days ago from a Chinese boarding house where she was staying less than three miles from the Red Chinese border.

TALKED OF CROSSING

Residents in the area told Hong Kong police she had talked about crossing into Red China and had ridden about the countryside on a bicycle during her three-week stay there.

U.S. Consulate officials had warned her it was against U.S. law for an American citizen to travel in Red China. Mrs. Reilly is a native of Omaha, Neb., but has been living in California in recent years.

Reilly, informed in Detroit of the developments, said, "I'm totally surprised." He added he was separated legally from Mrs. Reilly 10 years ago and hasn't seen her for six years.

Sources close to border police officials said Hong Kong authorities investigating Mrs. Reilly's disappearance had learned she purchased a map of the Lakmachow border area and asked residents of that area to help her study it.

★ ★ ★

Lokmachow is a few miles west of Lowu Bridge, the only legal Hong Kong-Communist China border crossing post, and is an area where the Shum Chun border river widens but has shallow stretches that can be waded in comparative safety.

Sky's Limit for Saleswoman

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Just for fun, Colleen Harrington jumps out of speeding airplanes.

And to earn a living, she sells cars.

The dark-haired Miss Harrington, 22, a former Livonia resident, adopted both her unusual pursuits last year.

She began parachuting from planes as a hobby last May. Since then, she has jumped 55 times as a sky diver.

SALESWOMAN

Miss Harrington began working as a saleswoman for a Ford dealership in Ann Arbor last month.

She received training for the job when "I went to the Ford Marketing Institute for a month," she said. "I was the first girl who ever went through it."

★ ★ ★

Colleen does her sky diving with a group of jumpers based in Tecumseh called "The Shooting Angels." She also is a member of the Parachute Club of America.

"It's the people you meet that make it such fun," she said. "There's a great feeling of spirit and camaraderie."

ON WEEKENDS

On weekends she trades her smart office attire for some 65 pounds of gear that includes the 28-foot parachutes, a crash helmet, goggles, a special jump suit, boots and other items.

All this equipment is fairly expensive, but Colleen bought most of it and says she can "bum the rest."

★ ★ ★

The initial three-hour lesson which includes a first jump and equipment rental, runs to $30. Colleen now pays only the standard rate of $7 per jump. Jump rates vary, though, depending on altitude.

She has developed a rather calm attitude about this business of stepping blithely into space.

'QUITE ROUTINE'

The first jump is "really quite routine and safe, although being a first it's terribly exciting," Colleen said.

"The jump master assists you," she said. "You make a poised exit, and as you leave the plane he pulls on a static line."

★ ★ ★

Colleen returned to Michigan about a year ago from San Francisco where she had gone after graduation from high school. She did secretarial work there.

"I loved San Francisco," she said, "but I'm not that crazy about office work. I like to get out and meet people and I guess this is what attracted me to sales.

★ ★ ★

"After all, if you can become a good salesman, there's no limit in what you can do."

MICHAEL MARESCA

Scientist Wounds 3, Kills Self

UPTON, N. Y. (UPI) — A nuclear engineer, shirtless and covered with lipstick-like warpaint, gunned down three fellow scientists, shot at a fourth and fatally wounded himself yesterday at the Atomic Energy Commission's Brookhaven national laboratory.

Police said Michael Maresca, 34, had been regarded as "very quiet and a friendly person," but only a day earlier had complained he was "being followed and spied upon."

A doctor at the lab advised him to see a psychiatrist.

The three co-workers wounded by Maresca's shotgun blasts were reported in satisfactory condition.

After firing a stray shot at a fourth scientist, Maresca ran to his car, and killed himself by firing with the barrel of the gun in his mouth.

FATHER OF THREE

Police said Maresca, a father of three, was interested in space work and had applied for the National Space Agency's astronaut program.

Officers said there was no indication the incident involved a security violation at the atomic research facilityl, but the FBI immediately began an investigation.

Maresca carried the automatic shotgun, was shirtless and had lipstick daubed grotesquely about his forehead and chest when he arrived in subfreezing weather at the research facility on Long Island, about 65 miles east of New York.

He first entered a large lab where James Powell, 33, a nuclear engineer, sat by a desk. Without a word, police said, Maresca fired a blast, striking Powell in the chest.

RAN TO OFFICE

Maresca then ran to an office where he shot Martin Zucker, a physicist, in the hip and hand.

Then, in another laboratory, Leif Hjarne, a visiting physicist from Sweden, was shot in the back. Police said Maresca shot at Russell Bietz, a chemist, through another lab door but missed him.

All of the men were considered Maresca's friends, officers said. Last Saturday, the Marescas spent a social evening with Powell and his wife.

"It is believed by all concerned," a police statement said "that the subject became dearanged and mentally unbalanced. Tehy feel that security is not involved.

SAD ILLUSIONS

"Since the subject applied for the space program, he had been having illusions of people following him around and spying on him."

When a supervisor learned of Maresca's complaints on Monday, he sent the man to the lab doctor, Dr. Robert A. Love.

Love said he advised Maresca to seek psychiatric help, but the scientist appeared in good humor and did not mention that he believed he was being followed.

Turn His Life Into a Living 'Hal'

Remarks That Make the Boss 'Boyle'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that the boss gets tired of hearing:

"No matter how we figure it, chief, it looks like we're in for another red-ink year."

BOYLE

"You may be company president, Mr. Smithers, but please remember that as chairman of the board I have the final say."

"I don't mind laughing at his jokes. The trouble is I never can tell them from his inspirational speeches."

"The union grievance committee wants to see you, sir. I believe it's the same old complaint—no towels in the men's room."

BOLD FRONT

"I see that our competitors are putting up a new $15-million plant. As a stockholder, Smithers, I'd like to know what we are putting up besides a bold front."

"Sh-h-h-h. Here comes Old Grouchy himself. I'll tell you later."

★ ★ ★

"You may rule the roost at the office, but don't try your bullying tactics on me, Horace Smithers. I'm your wife, not your hired slave."

"A delegation from the sixth floor wants to see you, sir. It's something about the water cooler—broke again."

JUST PUTTERS

"On the golf course he putts. At the office he just putters."

"After looking over your X rays, Mr. Smithers, I think what's wrong with you is that your ulcer is getting an ulcer."

"Pretend you didn't see him, Alice. We can ride in the next elevator."

"They say his father-in-law was a self-made man."

TRAVEL FOLDERS

"Wonder why our assistant treasurer has been looking at all those Brazil travel folders lately. Isn't that the place where all the absconders run to?"

"Oh, I wouldn't say he's exactly mean—he just suffers from a lovability gap."

"One thing about him, he never runs out of ideas—as long as you've got any."

"I'd send him a get-well card, but the last time I did, he did."

BLOOD PRESSURE

"The only thing higher than his tax bracket is his blood pressure."

"Instead of passing out a bonus at the Christmas party last year, he just passed out."

★ ★ ★

"The mayor is waiting to see you, sir. I think he wants the firm to make a big contribution to the local charity campaign—just to get it off to a good start."

"He's having a blue Monday since his wife caught him out Saturday night with his girl Friday."

THIRD MARTINI

"After picking out his tie in the morning, the biggest decision he makes the rest of the day is whether to have his third martini before or after lunch."

"He could be replaced with a computer but they don't make a machine that simple."

★ ★ ★

"The janitor is waiting to see you, sir. He says you haven't paid him the money you lost to him last week at gin rummy—and besides that, he says his 25-year pin has turned green."

Rule Out Murder in Death 4 Years After Shooting

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — A man imprisoned for shooting a woman who died 4½ years later can't be charged with murder, says Asst. Dist. Atty. Warren Shafer.

"After a year and a day, homicide is out of the question," he said.

★ ★ ★

Juan F. Fernandez was convicted of assault with a deadly weapon after his common-law wife, Carmen Madrid Alvarez, was shot in the neck in 1961. Until Tuesday when she died, she lay in Kern County General Hospital paralyzed from her broken neck down.

Hernandez had pleaded guilty to the assault charge and is in San Quentin State Prison.

CLOGGED RIVER — Ice in the Illinois River puts up some stern resistance to this towboat loaded with coal heading for Chicago. An ice flow in Peoria Lake has caused tows in this area to slow down considerably. This tow spent more than six hours biting through the ice.

Exam Set in Slaying

MARSHALL (AP) — Frank Grandfors, 24, of Battle Creek is scheduled for examination today on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting Tuesday of Robert Augustine, 24, also of Battle Creek. State Police said Augustine was shot at the home of Granfors' estranged wife.

Nigeria Parties Back Regime; Executions Reported

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigeria's political parties are rallying to the new military government but up to 50 officers have been reported executed in a power struggle within the army.

Reliable sources who reported the executions said among the dead was a lieutenant colonel who had tried to assassinate the country's new leader, Maj. Gen. Aguiyi Ironsi.

★ ★ ★

There were other reports that some officers were shot on the Lagos golf course. A British resident reported stumbling over an officer's body in long grass at the side of a tree.

The country's feuding political parties promised to support Ironsi's military regime. Among them was the Northern People's Congress party which with 12 Cabinet ministers dominated the government of Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa.

Tafawa Balewa was kidnaped by military rebels who tried to stage a coup Saturday. The body of Finance Minister Festus Okotie Eboh, who was kidnaped with him, was found with five others in a shallow grave 30 miles outside Lagos, a government source reported. There still was no word on the fate of Tafawa Balewa.

The Northern People's Congress leader, Zanna Bukar Dipcharima, called on all Nigerians to rally round the new military regime.

Snow Clogging New Mexico

By The Associated Press

Snow hobbled traffic in the mountains of New Mexico today and arctic air covered wide areas of the union.

More snow fell from the Ohio Valley to the Great Lakes as a new cold wave blustered toward Montana from northwestern Canada.

Temperatures stayed below 20 above in most of the northern Plains, the Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi Valley.

Cloudcroft, in southeastern New Mexico, reported 11 inches of snow. Three inches of snow fell during Tuesday night's rush hours and slowed traffic in Albuquerque. Snow measured 8 inches in mountain areas.

Snow covered other sections of New Mexico, with 3 inches at Las Vegas in the north; 5½ inches at Santa Rosa in the east; 1 inch at Carlsbad in the southeast and 3 inches at Belen in the central section.

The snow spanning the Ohio Valley dumped an inch of new snow in Grand Rapids and Muskegon, Mich., Tuesday. Light snow flurried as far west as Illinois.

Police in Montana east of the continental divide posted cold-wave and hazardous driving warnings as an icy air mass blew down from Canada. Forecasters predicted -20 readings in the northern Rockies and the northern Montana plains.

Temperatures in Wisconsin rose into the teens from -15 early Tuesday in Green Bay, but snow that has blanketed the state for days stayed on the ground. The depth measured 17 inches at Park Falls in the northwest and six inches at Madison in the south.

The Deep South was cloud-covered and rainy with above-freezing temperatures.

Beginning to sound like another broken sales record? It is!

You bet it is. For the sixth straight year, Pontiac is outselling all but two makes, and already some 244,000 buyers have given the '66 Pontiacs and Tempests their own personal car-of-the-year award. And we're on our way to surpassing last year's record sales of over 800,000 cars. Another great thing about it all is that so many Pontiac owners are trading in their present cars to help us get where we are. And that says quite a lot. But enough about us. Let's talk about you. Have you tried a Wide-Track tiger lately?

The event is sponsored by the Waterford Education Association.

Gould, who also will visit Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan State University and Flint next week, is president of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession (WCOTP).

Unanimously elected at the organization's first meeting in 1952 in Copenhagen, Denmark, Gould has served in his present capacity ever since.

PIN-WORMS
A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Bids Are Received on Loan Note Sale

Bids were received last night by the City Commission on the sale of $1.1 million in temporary loan notes for the city's R44 urban renewal project.

Four bids were submitted, with interest rates ranging from 2.98 to 3.20 per cent.

Pontiac State Bank was the apparent low bidder. A resolution to approve the sale is to be presented at next week's commission meeting.

The loan notes were the fifth in the series of borrowings to finance R44 operations.

In other business, a letter was received from the Michigan State Highway Department in connection with the proposed M59 relocation project.

FREEWAY WORK

Bids for the freeway work are to be received Feb. 9.,

In their letter, state officials asked the city to certify that right-of-way for an M59 run-off lane is available at the future M59—East Boulevard interchange.

Also last night, the commission approved making a request to the state to permit the city to demolish three substandard houses in the city.

The houses are at 1149 Stanley, 191 W. Wilson and 818 Inglewood. The buildings are state-owned.

LEASE FOR SPACE

The commission approved a lease for office and lobby desk space at Pontiac Municipal Airport for Northern Flying Service at a total annual rent of $1,854.

Two urban renewal contracts were ordered paid last night.

The first was to DeAngelis Co. for $11,580 for tree planting in both projects.

★ ★ ★

The second contract ordered paid was for $13,445 to Stanley B. Jones for site improvements in both urban renewal projects.

City Affairs

Police, Fire Pay Hike Due

Despite continuing wage negotiations, the city will implement new pay schedules for police and firemen, effective with the Feb. 11 pay day, according to city officials.

The new pay rates were adopted last fall by the City Commission from a study by the Michigan Municipal League.

Nearly all of the city's 750 employes received pay hikes through the MML pay plan. Most employes received the new pay, retroactive to Aug. 8, last month.

However, the new rates had not been implemented for police and firemen because their professional groups rejected the new pay schedules.

Members of both the Pontiac Firefighters Association (PFA) and the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA) voted to turn down the city's pay plan.

Instead, the PPOA and the PFA have commenced negotiations with the city for longevity pay and an added $49 per year over the hike in the new pay schedules.

2 Assistant Prosecutors Resign Posts

Two Oakland County assistant prosecutors today announced they have resigned to enter private practice.

They are Bernard P. Paige, 2425 Avondale, Sylvan Lake, and William R. VanderKloot, 30015 Cheviot Hill, Franklin.

Both 28, the pair joined the prosecutor's staff when S. Jerome Bronson took office Jan. 1, 1965.

VanderKloot will become associated with attorneys James Hartrick and Louis Fairbrother with offices at 801 S. Adams, Birmingham, beginning Jan. 31.

★ ★ ★

Paige will leave his present position Monday to go with the Southfield legal firm of Lemberg and Gage in the Northland Towers.

Senate Committee Reports Out Bill to Refinance 'Big Mac'

LANSING (AP)—Rebuffed in Washington, the Senate took steps Tuesday to refinance the $100 million Mackinac Bridge and reduce tolls.

The Senate Highway Committee reported out unanimously a bill, passed by the House last fall, that would refinance $99.8 million of the bonds still outstanding against the structure. Lower bond interest rates required by the bill would, theoretically, reduce tolls by $1.40 immediately.

The chairman of the committee, however, cast doubts on the future of the bill, describing the recommendation for its passage more an expedient move than a real indication of its future on the floor of the Senate.

A delegation of five state senators was told in Washington Monday there was no present possibility of including the bridge in the interstate highway system.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Einar Erlandsen, D-Escanaba, last fall, would refinance the bridge with bonds backed by the full faith and credit of the state at a maximum average interest rate of 3¼ per cent.

Such an interest rate would be sufficiently lower than that on present revenue bonds to allow the state to reduce the one-way passenger car tolls from $3.75 to $2.35 immediately.

That was according to an analysis of the bill made when it was introduced last September. Economic developments since, however, made the sale of bonds at that rate less likely.

Save Money in Account for Home

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: When a girl receives gifts of money at her engagement party, is she expected to share this with her fiance, or is it intended solely for her own personal use?

A: This money is generally put into a special account in both their names and used to buy furnishings for their future house.

Q: I would like very much to have a friend, her husband and my fiance as my guests at dinner and the theater.

The theater tickets are no problem as I can get those in advance, but I do not know how to go about arranging to pay for the dinner without causing embarrassment to the men. Will you please tell me how this can be avoided?

A: If you have neither a credit card nor a charge account at the restaurant so that all you need do is sign the check, give a large enough sum of money to cover the bill to your fiance beforehand and ask him to be banker for you.

Let Husband Listen

Read Scriptures to Him

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have been married seven months and our only quarrels have been over my husband's refusal to take my part against his parents when they are in the wrong.

We live in a one-room apartment with a pull-down bed. The church we attend is on the corner of our block. My husband's parents attend the early morning Mass there every Sunday.

ABBY

We attend a later Mass, but his parents have started coming to our apartment right after early morning Mass.

I work six days a week and Sunday morning is the only morning I can sleep a little bit later, but with my in-laws calling on us before 7:30 a.m., it is impossible. Also I look terrible when I first get up and I'm embarrassed to receive guests that way.

Last Sunday my in-laws woke me up again. I ran into the bathroom and locked the door. My mother-in-law demanded that I come right out and apologize for my "childish" behavior.

My husband didn't take my part against his mother and I think he should have. Another time his father opened some mail, addressed to me, and my husband didn't say a word.

When I complain about his folks he says, "Remember Exodus XX, 12, the Fifth Commandment: Honor thy father any thy mother." Thanking you in advance for any advice you can give me, I am. Very truly yours, IN-LAW TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: Your in-laws are rude and inconsiderate and your husband should set them straight.

And since your husband quotes Scriptures, ask him to read Genesis II, 24: "And therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife."

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of the business executive (or professional man) who has pictures of his wife and family prominently displayed on his desk.

No one else is interested, and if he has forgotten what his family looks like, he should take a better look at them when he gets home. I never know what to say when I am confronted with a "gallery" of pictures.

I suppose one is expected to say something complimentary, but I find myself fighting the urge to speak the truth.

EXECUTIVE (RETIRED)

DEAR EXECUTIVE: The reasons for "family galleries" on office desks are many and varied.

Some are there because the man himself likes to look at them. Others are there because the man's wife has put them there. Some are there because the man is proud of his family and wants to crow a little.

And some are there for "protection." (I'm told that occasionally a woman needs to be reminded that her doctor, dentist or lawyer is a family man.)

Problems? Write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, for a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Eye Care Topic of Club Speaker

Members of the Pontiac Women's Club gathered Monday afternoon in the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building.

Dr. Lynn Allen spoke on "Recent Advances on Eye Care."

Stitching done in spurts on a sewing machine becomes uneven. Maintain a steady, even pace.

Hair Style for Him

Proper hair styling can do as much for a man's looks as for a woman's. The male head, with proper hair cutting and shaping, can be made to look shortened, lengthened or widened, according to need. A slanting forehead can be made to look straight; or a thick neck made to appear slim with a properly-cut neckline.

'Look at Me, Mama, I've Got Two Hands'

For many little girls drying dishes is a chore to get out of.

For 5-year-old Linda Whitecotton any kitchen task is a delight if it requires the use of both hands. She had only one until last year.

★ ★ ★

The little blonde beauty of Baltimore, Md., was born a congenital amputee. She had no right hand, only useless knuckle-like bumps at the wrist. She does have a good left hand and, as a toddler, learned to use it with double-duty dexterity.

FRUSTRATING

But because both hands are needed for so many things like dressing dolls or drying dishes, the simplest activity often became a frustrating trial for Linda.

"She'd work so hard to make one hand do the work of two, it was sometimes hartbreaking to watch," says her mother, Joan Whitecotton.

★ ★ ★

Because Robert Whitecotton, her father, was in military service when Linda was an infant, the family moved about the country.

Whenever they sought help for Linda, they found themselves involved in a continuous debate about the advisability of providing her with an artificial hand.

"We couldn't get any agreement as to whether she should be fitted with a prosthetic device early or when she was older; or whether she should have a hook, which would be efficient, or a cosmetic hand which would look natural but might not work as well," Whitecotton recalls.

It was not until the family settled in Baltimore in 1964 that the parents learned of the March of Dimes program to help children with birth defects.

A friend advised the father to contact the Baltimore County Chapter of the voluntary health organization, which arranged for Linda to be seen immediately at the Birth Defects Center at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

WORKABLE HAND

Within a short time, Linda was wearing a remarkably workable hand, gloved with lifelike, flesh-toned plastic.

By moving her shoulder muscles under straps which activate the hand, the determined little girl can make her "new" fingers pick up, hold and release objects of almost any size.

Naturally right-handed, she has learned to use the artificial device efficiently in feeding herself, coloring, and even for holding slippery wet dishes as she happily applies the towel.

★ ★ ★

"She figured out for herself how to expand the space between thumb and forefinger to grasp larger objects. I was sure she had broken a hinge," her father says, "but she knew what she was doing all along."

Proud of each new accomplishment, Linda is not at all reluctant to demonstrate her special hand to kindergarten classmates at Baltimore's Greenfield School.

"You often hear that children are cruel, but we've found that adults are more thoughtless in their reactions to Linda's handicap," her mother says. "Her playmates and her brothers and sister are straightforward in their curiosity, and Linda reacts just as matter-of-factly.

★ ★ ★

"But many adults notice the artificial hand with obvious shock, then try to make up for it with excessive and misplaced sympathy."

Good grip now . . . Linda Whitecotton, 5, of Baltimore, Md., uses her lifelike artificial right hand to help her mother, Mrs. Robert Whitecotton, do dishes.

What's Wrong With Adequate Needs?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant
in Money Management

There's a four-letter word we all use which we ought to take a good look at.

The word is "Best." It's not a dirty word, but it sure does a lot of damage. Every one of us who buys a washing machine, a package of cereal, a sponge, a new car, is firmly told that "only the Best is good enough for Your Family." And only This Product, please note, is the Best.

MARY FEELEY

The implication is that unless the merchandise is so many inches or feet or yards tall and wide, and contains thus and so, it couldn't possibly serve your purposes. Even the veteran consumer is confused when there's just so much money to spend.

The moral obligation is to buy the Best. But what in heaven's name is Best? Best for what?

I'd like to see the word "suitable" take the place of Best. But no copywriter, of course, will go along with me. Four-letter words look a lot better in print than eight-letter words. What worries me is that the healthy mental process of making a decision is getting lost in the deluge of superlatives.

The young marrieds, for example, want to spend their money wisely and start housekeeping on a firm basis. They've been educated to the phrase that the Best is always the Best. And so it is, if they can just translate it properly.

It isn't necessarily the biggest or the most expensive or the handsomest. It's the buy that is going to prove most suitable to their income and way of life.

The sad story is that many families get into serious debt because they feel they have to buy the Best — and the installment payments go on forever. What's really Best is what you can comfortably afford.

I was talking to Guin Hall about this the other day — she's deputy commissioner of the New York State Department of Commerce Women's Program. Miss Hall is constantly besieged with such questions as "What's the Best washing machine to buy? What's the Best kitchen range? What's the Best cereal to feed my family?"

Being vitally interested in consumer education, Miss Hall spends a lot of time telling women that there's no "all-purpose" product available. Each consumer must decide what she really needs, what she can pay for, what she has space to accommodate where appliances are concerned.

There are standards to go by, certainly, in every merchandising field. For this reason, the responsible manufacturer or dispenser honestly hopes you will read the information he gives you — the label on the can or the hang-tag on the product.

It costs him a certain amount of money to provide this information — and he challenges your intelligence and judgment in making your decision.

Let's all adopt a resolution for the new year. Let's recover our individual right of selection. We have more choice in what we buy than do any other people in the world.

We should value this privilege and not just succumb to high-flown phrases that try to tell us what we ought to be able to figure out for ourselves.

Plump Child Less Active

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— Chubby youngsters take in less calories than their slimmer counterparts, according to a University of California study.

But they show it more, says Dr. Ruth L. Huenemann, because they get less exercise, and use up less of what they eat.

The associate professor of public health on the Berkeley campus based her findings on a four-year study of 950 students at Berkeley High School.

She noted obese girls had an average intake of 1,600 calories per day, while slimmer girls averaged 2,100. For boys, the total was 2,400 for heavy youngsters, and 3,000 for lean ones.

She also learned that among girls, there is more obesity in the low economic groups— those living in census tracts with mean annual income less than $5,000 per household.

The morning portion of this meeting will be devoted to the third session of the book study conducted by Rev. Mr. Walter Neds of the Christ Church clergy staff.

She Turns Red if All Is 'Rosy'

DIMMITT, Tex. (AP) — Mary Baldwin is allergic to roses. She doesn't have to come in contact with them to be affected by the allergy. Just passing down the hall in front of an open door where there's a rose bouquet makes her face swell and turn red.

Matters are a little difficult, since Mary is director of nursing service at Plains Memorial Hospital, where flowers, and especially roses, are pretty much the order of the day.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

A new pattern I am making has a panel in the center of the skirt which is cut on the bias. After carefully stitching the seams, the center panel hangs lower at the center and seems to draw up at each seam. I tried not to stretch either seam when I stitched it.

Mrs. M. L. L.

Dear Mrs. M. L. L.:

This is one time when we must forget "trying not to stretch" the seams because of the bias construction. Instead of stitching this type of skirt from the hemline up to the waist, stitch from the waist down to the hem. It will be necessary to pull the bias edge slightly as you pin your seams together before stitching. This will make the center panel slightly longer, however, it can be cut off when hemming.

It is always a good idea to let any bias section hang a few days before construction. Then, it won't stretch anymore. Once it has stretched, you never try to EASE this section into a shorter one. Don't be discouraged, often you will have to re-do this seam to achieve perfection.

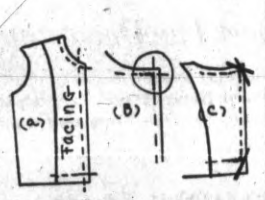

Dear Eunice:

How in the world do you stitch a nice corner? The neck edge and the corner at the hem of my jackets always look thick and rounded.

Mrs. E. C. C.

Dear Mrs. E. C. C.:

The difficulty is try to pivot your stitching at the corner. Your eye is not always accurate enough to form a perfect right angle needed for a square corner.

- Stitch on the seamline and continue to the outer cut edge of fabric. Next, stitch your cross seam from the cut edge and continue on seamline. This will form a perfect corner.
- With a very short length machine stitch, reinforce this stitched corner 1 inch from corner (over previous stitching). Take one or two very small stitched diagonally across corner, and continue 1 inch further on the cross-seam.
- Clip the extra fabric from both sides of corner by cutting diagonally very close to stitching to remove excess fabric.
- Press all seams open carefully on your Tailor Trix board. Turn garment right side out and carefully work the corner out, using a large needle in the seam. Do not use a sharp object to turn corners and do not pull on one thread as it will pull a hole in the corner.

Moving? Spare Muscle Before Big Day's Bustle

If you're getting ready for a move, there are many details to be looked after and many things to do before moving day, but, according to an expert, there are a few things you don't have to do.

★ ★ ★

According to B. Leroy Burnham, president of Burnham Van Service, interstate movers, it's not necessary to group your furniture for the movers. Save your back muscles and leave the furniture where it is. You can speed up the move, however, by clearing tops of chests, dressers, tables, and davenports.

Nor is it necessary to tie any furniture with rope, or to wrap or cover your furniture. Vans are equipped with pads and, in fact, movers cannot be responsible for furniture that has been wrapped.

Another thing to avoid is the overloading of furniture drawers. They should be left loaded pretty much as they are, except that some light items might be added to fill them. Furniture, Burnham says, is not made to be moved with drawers heavily loaded.

Don't worry about your piano. Experienced movers have the equipment to give it the proper handling it needs. If hoisting is necessary, the mover will make the arrangements.

'Mom' and 'Dad' OK From Kids, Not From Mates

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

You know them. They're nice people in their early 40s, the parents of three children, the eldest 14. Between them and this eldest child, there's an age difference of some 27 years in which much life has been lived that bears no likeness to the child's life.

* * *

Yet these two married adults do not call each other "Alice" or "Harry" — the names by which their identities were established for each other during courtship and early marriage, when lovers experience the full poignancy of their unique meaning for each other. They call each other by the names used by their children.

They call each other "mom" and "dad."

If Harry, 43, has eaten all he wants of 41-year-old Alice's chocolate mocha cake, he says, "No more for me, thanks, Mom." If Alice wants to look at the recipes in the newspaper Harry is reading, she says, "Could I see the women's page, dad?"

Neither Alice nor Harry see anything odd about this adoption of their children's views of each other, any more than the thousands of other married lovers in this land see anything odd about making each other into their parents.

I see it as very odd. Were I Alice, I should respond to Harry's insistence on confusing me with his mother by retreating into a separate bedroom until my difference from her was made clear.

Although I think it is a pleasant thing on the whole to share our homes with children, I also think there is one thing we cannot share with them — our adult relationship to their father. I see this custom of adopting the name by which his children identify him as insulting to his private meaning to us.

Is this custom part of this country's revolting notion that we must die as persons as soon as we become parents? I don't know. However, it is my view that Alice can't think of Harry as "dad" without forfeiting some awareness of herself as a desirable woman.

I don't see how Harry can call Alice "mom" day after day, year after year, without coming to see her as someone who bears no resemblance to the girl whose touch could heat his blood in those tender, tumultuous days where delight in her affirmed and re-affirmed joy in his sexual choice.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This is the eighth article in which I bring you my Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan. Those of you who are working toward a loss of 15 to 20 pounds in eight weeks are now well-launched on that program. Yesterday I urged you to give your complexion, as well as your figure, special attention to see how much you can improve it in eight weeks' time.

Today let's think of your hair. I don't have to sell you on the idea that your hair can make all the difference in the world in the way you look. Every woman knows this. It acts as a frame for your face and your hairdo can minimize defects and glamorize lovely features or do just the opposite.

The hair, like the complexion, will benefit by my Beauty Improvement Plan but it, too, would profit by some special care. The condition of the hair is important to good looks and to successful permanents and hair styling.

If your hair and scalp are very dry, you should give yourself hot oil shampoos, or use one of the splendid conditioners on the market. There are many good ones. If you wish to try some hot oil treatments do it this way. Part the hair all over the head progressively and rub warm olive oil along the parts. When you have covered the entire scalp wrap a damp hot bath towel around your head. Leave it on until it begins to cool and then heat the towel again and repeat several times.

Daily massage is equally important to the oily and the dry scalp because it tends to normalize the action of the little oil glands in the scalp. Why not treat your head to a daily or nightly massage for eight weeks? When you massage your scalp do it in the following manner.

Fate Now in Hands of Justices

Both Sides Rest Voting Rights Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fate of the 1965 Voting Rights Act is now in the hands of the Supreme Court for a decision Chief Justice Earl Warren says "has profound implications in the life of our nation."

An early ruling may be in the offing. Warren concluded two days of argument on the law's constitutionality Tuesday with praise for both sides for having "done what they can to accelerate an early judgment."

Twenty states joined the U. S. government in defending the law as an appropriate and constitutional means of assuring Southern Negroes of the right to vote. Six Southern states united to attack the measure as "arbitrary in nature" and unconstitutional punishment for the states.

The last word went to South Carolina Atty. Gen. Daniel R. McLeod who questioned the "tender solicitude" of states that sided with the Justice Department.

"California, Massachusetts and New York come before this court and say illiterates in South Carolina should be permitted to vote," McLeod said, and yet they bar illiterates in their own states with literacy tests.

In a New York literacy test, he went on, questions such as these were posed:

"In what state was Jane Addams born? How old will the U. S. flag be in 1977? Who was president of the Constitutional Convention? What kind of suit was he wearing?"

Laughter swept the courtroom, dispelling the solemnity that had marked the hearing, and Justice Byron R. White asked rhetorically with a smile: "How many people passed that test?"

DIXIE REPLY

"Possibly tests of this sort may have weeded out a few well-educated persons in my state," McLeod replied.

The suspension of literacy tests where less than 50 per cent of the voting age population registered or voted in the 1964 presidential election is a key provision of the voting rights law and a prime target of the southern states' attack.

★ ★ ★

They were referred to by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and by former U.S. Solicitor General Archibald Cox Tuesday as "engines of discrimination."

"The mere presence of such tests," Katzenbach said, "gives light to the inference that they could be engines of discrimination."

The two main points of the attorney general's argument were that Congress has the authority under the 15th amendment to assure that voting rights are not abridged by discrimination and that the law is an appropriate exercise of that authority.

The problem Congress faced in framing the law was the abuse of literacy tests, Katzenbach said, and their suspension was directed at areas that "had a history of white supremacy in voting."

Justice Hugo L. Black agreed that the discriminatory use of the tests "is known to everyone in the country."

Cox, appearing as assistant attorney general of Massachusetts, one of the 20 states that supported the federal government, brushed aside the Southern argument that the law is arbitrary. Congress, he said, may legislate selectively.

DIRECT MOVE

South Carolina brought the suit directly to the Supreme Court — an unusual procedure in that cases generally climb the ladder to the Supreme Court through lower courts.

Virginia, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi joined South Carolina. They and North Carolina are the states chiefly affected by the law.

Nuptial Boom Costly to State

LANSING (AP)—A marriage boom is proving costly to Monroe County and other sections of Michigan near the Ohio border, complains Rep. Raymond Kehres, D-Monroe.

Kehres introduced a bill Tuesday to tack on an extra $10 charge to the $3 marriage license when both parties involved are from outside the state.

★ ★ ★

The Monroe representative explained that Michigan law permits a young lady to wed at 18 without the consent of a parent or guardian.

This is causing an influx of marriage-minded couples from Ohio, where the age limit without consent is 21.

72 PER CENT

Kehres said the Monroe County Clerk reported that of 3,132 marriage licenses issued last year, 2,284 or more than 72 per cent were for couples from outside the state.

The clerk's office has needed additional help at additional cost, he said.

★ ★ ★

The bill, Kehres said, would make the boom self-supporting in his section of the state where the license volume "has assumed the proportions of a marriage mill."

★ ★ ★

He predicted that few out-of-staters "will allow a $10 bill to alter the course of love and marriage."

Wind-formed pebble ripples up to one foot high have been discovered in ice-free areas on the barren continent of Antarctica.

Killing Victim Is Identified; Arrest Mate

DETROIT (UPI)—A 4-month-old murder mystery came to a climax today as police finally identified the body of the victim and charged her husband, a civilian employe of the Detroit Police Department, with murder.

Authorities said an anonymous letter sent to the Detroit police on Monday told them to question Walter Konczewski, 37, about the body of a woman found in a lovers lane near Brighton on Labor Day.

The woman had been shot five times in the head and chest.

The letter said Konczewski's wife, Virginia, 40, had not been seen for four months.

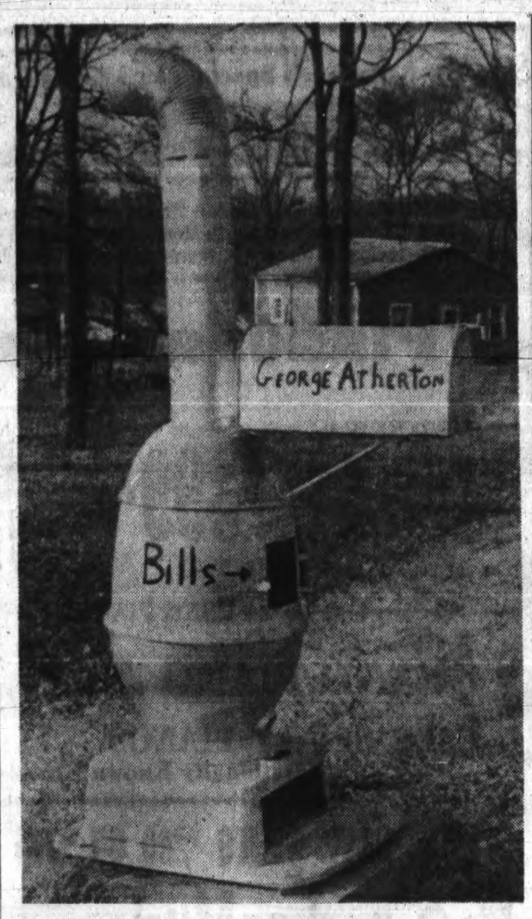

Konczewski was arrested at his home late yesterday and arraigned early today before Municipal Judge Stanley Berriman of Howell on open murder charges.

He waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court.

Copter Used to Find Stolen Sheep in Sicily

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Sicilian police recovered a flock of 70 rustled sheep by using helicopters.

The stolen sheep were sighted in an isolated valley far from the nearest roads. Police said they had been hidden there, awaiting a chance to drive them to market.

FIRED UP OVER BILLS — George Atherton, who lives on U.S. 231 just outside of Hartford, Ky., found this unique use for a worn-out potbellied stove. It's a solution, but only a temporary one, to the problem that confronts most people.

Deep Well Water Resembles Red Wine

The 300-meter-deep well that supplies this village has red water, colored by minerals in the rock.

France Seen as Key to Euromart Crisis

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — France's five Common Market partners fear many more months of serious crisis lie ahead for the European Economic Community unless President Charles de Gaulle's government is willing to make some concessions.

Delegates privately expressed concern over the future of European unity after a two-day meeting that ended in disagreement on a French proposal that most of them viewed as more of an ultimatum.

★ ★ ★

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville made an offer of limited cooperation with the other five members, provided they agree:

—That each member retain a veto on major questions.

—That steps be taken to trim the powers of Euromart's Executive Commission, which de Gaulle fears may turn into a supergovernment.

AGREE TO MEET

The ministers agreed to meet again Jan. 28-29 for another try, but it was felt success or failure depends largely on how much latitude de Gaulle will allow Couve de Murville.

Premier Pierre Werner of Luxembourg will report Thursday to the European Parliament in Strasbourg on the ministers' failure to solve the six-month-old crisis resulting from France's boycott of the community's meetings.

The report is certain to bring unfavorable reaction in the Strasbourg assembly, most of whose members have always pushed for an integrated Europe.

Permanent representatives of the other five Common Market members — West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg — worked today on the report Werner will present in Strasbourg. French representative Jean-Marc Boegner was recalled to Paris last July when France began its boycott.

★ ★ ★

A number of delegates from other countries complained that de Gaulle wants to set up a timetable for action on things he wants without taking into consideration the wishes of the other partners. Couve de Murville proposed a list of deadlines for settling the Common Market farm policy and agreement on the makeup of a new executive commission to be enlarged from 9 to 14 members.

★ ★ ★

France has made clear it wants to replace the members of the present executive commission with others who have no political influence. The chief French target is the chairman of the present commission, Walter Hallstein of West Germany.

Dry S. Africa Gets Rain

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Rain fell on South Africa today, only hours after a national day of prayer for the end of one of the worst droughts in history.

★ ★ ★

The rain was welcome but farmers said it was not enough to rescue withering crops. The rain began last night and was still falling in southwest Africa today.

The Weather Bureau forecast isolated showers for the Transvaal, Orange Free State and Natal.

But even more rain is still urgently needed at the peak of the hottest summer on record.

★ ★ ★

Churches were so crowded for the national prayer day yesterday that thousands, unable to get in, listened to the services outside on loudspeakers.

PRAY TOGETHER

In at least one Johannesburg church, colored and white worshipers prayed together. South Africa practices strict racial segregation.

★ ★ ★

Then last night, rain fell in parts of the Orange Free State, with a heavy downpour in the Reitz District where some farmers were optimistic it would help save the greater part of their malie crop.

Defense Lawyer Will Keep Mossler Trial From Growing Dull

AP Photofax

COURTROOM CONFERENCE — Candace Mossler, 39, on trial with her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, for the murder of her husband, talks with attorney F. J. O'Brien of Rochester, Minn., during a recess in yesterday's proceedings of attempting to seat a jury. O'Brien is attending the trial but is not one of Mrs. Mossler's attorneys.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It seems certain that the Mossler murder trial will drag along for weeks. But it is equally sure — with Percy Foreman on stage — that it will never be allowed to grow dull.

Before selection of juror No. 1, the big, gray-haired Houston attorney already has exhibited his showmanship.

★ ★ ★

He heads the defense for Melvin Lane Powers, 29, who was named with his blonde aunt, Candace Mossler, 39, in a joint indictment charging first-degree murder of her wealthy 69-year-old husband, Jacques, in 1964.

The state tentatively presented a 12-man jury to the defense, which interrogated them all day Tuesday.

15 EXCUSED

State Atty. Richard Gerstein excused 15 veniremen who said they could not conscientiously render the death penalty for any person, regardless of the crime.

Tendering the 12 men to the defense does not necessarily mean that they are acceptable to the state, which still retains 19 more peremptory challenges. Mrs. Mossler and Powers each have 10. Circuit Judge George E. Schulz ruled that the jurors — when they are eventually selected — may go home at nights during the expected long and bitter trial.

Foreman, 64, has represented more than 700 clients charged with capital crimes and has lost only one to the electric chair.

His first remark, as he began the interrogation of prospective jurors for the Mossler trial, was typical of his approach.

DISLIKE TEXANS?

"Are there any of you all" he drawled, "who just plain don't like Texans? In some parts, they don't."

In the courtroom, Foreman changes moods in an instant, gentle and friendly one minute, tough and angry the next.

★ ★ ★

Foreman, one of eight children of a county sheriff, was born in a log cabin near Livingston, Tex. He stands 6-4, weighs 250 and once considered becoming a professional wrestler. He turned to law, he said, because he knew an attorney "who never seemed to do any work."

In his opening remarks, Foreman dropped hints of lurid testimony to come.

Evidence might be offered, he said, "reflecting on the character of the defendants and indicating adultery, fornication and incestuous relationships." But this, he said, could mean "anything but murder."

Vehicle Title Record

LANSING (AP) — A new record was set by the 2,160,240 vehicle titles issued last year, the secretary of state's office reports. The previous high was 2,012,673 titles processed in 1964, the first time the state went over the 2 million mark.

Drought Adds to Rhodesia Ills

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Disaster not included in Britain's boycott plans is sweeping rebel Rhodesia.

When a little more than two months ago, Britain embargoed oil shipments, cut off credits and imposed other economic sanctions against the all-white government of Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith, it believed that these alone would be sufficient to bring the government down.

NEWSOM

The objective was to force Rhodesia back to the "constitutional path," which in British eyes meant eventual Rhodesian rule by the country's four million blacks as opposed to 250,000 whites.

What Britain did not take into account was a drought sweeping across not only Rhodesia but South Africa as well. It has placed Britain in a strange position.

★ ★ ★

From Middle Rhodesia southward through Matabeleland, grazing lands are bare through lack of rainfall.

WATERED AREAS

In an attempt to save something, the government is trying to move 200,000 head of cattle from the parched southland to the better watered areas northward.

But even to the north, the maize fields have withered and farmers have been supplied with sorghum seed to replace the lost maize.

Thousands of families, it is feared, will face starvation.

★ ★ ★

Faced with an uplanned catastrophe threatening Rhodesian blacks and whites alike, Britain solved her dilemma in manner not calculated to please Rhodesia's black African neighbors determined to bring down Smith's white supremacy government by whatever means.

Together with Canada and Australia, Britain will supply emergency grain to stricken Central African areas — including Rhodesia. Explained a British official:

"Starvation has no place in our sanctions scheme."

Before a British Commonwealth meeting in Lagos, Nigeria, last week, Prime Minister Harold Wilson emphasized that Britain remains firm in its determination to bring down the Smith regime and even will increase the severity of its sanctions.

★ ★ ★

The stiff upper lip continued to prevail among white Rhodesians confident of Smith's ability to bring them through. But there was, in fact, evidence that the sanctions already were hurting.

ON FOOT

The cut in gasoline supplies was putting many a Rhodesian on foot.

After a huge Christmas rush of customer buying, many shops in Salisbury, the capital, were laying off white workers.

And, while many of the effects of the British boycott had been anticipated by the Salisbury government, there also was evidence that the planning had not gone far enough.

The Smith government imposed and then withdrew a tax on coal shipments to neighboring Zambia when it became apparent that Zambia could get the coal elsewhere.

The hope that others besides the United States and Britain would keep oil flowing through the pipeline across Rhodesia also has come to naught.

Foreign Youths Take Down-to-Earth Leadership Courses in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chin Suk Yang of Korea, Muhamed Mamser of Jordan, Dickson Zulu of Zambia and Guillermo Rodriguez of Peru built roads, dug irrigation ditches and hauled fish nets in New Mexico last fall.

They got up early each morning, worked hard all day in the rugged Gila Mountain wilderness, then swapped yarns and folk songs around a camp fire at night.

In all, 24 young men from 16 nations took part in the three-month course to prepare them as leaders of the national youth corps.

They learned basic education techniques, but, most important of all, developed the self-confidence to lead others.

The international youth leadership training course was conducted by Sports International and Youth Development, a private, nonprofit service organization, and financed by the Federal Agency for International Development.

A second course will start in mid-February in Puerto Rico. This time 30 young men from 20 nations will take part.

★ ★ ★

This could be described as a sort of Peace Corps in reverse. Many of the key men running it saw duty with the U.S. Peace Corps, either as staff members or as volunteers.

Dr. David Dichter, former Peace Corps Washington staffer and sports buff, began the organization in 1962 as Sports International. Its first projects were exchanges of athletes and coaches in many sports, involving many nations.

TWO THEMES

Dichter said the course emphasizes learning by doing and stresses two themes: That a leader can do hard physical work and still retain his dignity, and that there is no substitute for ungrudging effort if national growth is to take place.

The plan calls for the young men to return to their homes and help organize national youth service corps or work projects capable of involving thousands of young men. Dichter said many already had such plans when they left.

★ ★ ★

Starting last September, the 24 young men spent 10 weeks at Camp Thunderbird in southwestern New Mexico. The program was conducted by Western New Mexico University, with special instructors including forest rangers, soil conservation experts, forestry experts, adult literacy authorities, biologists and a variety of other experts.

Mixed in with lectures on such subjects as soil erosion, irrigation, bridge building, construction and maintenance of recreation facilities, water safety and community development were "do-it-ourselves" projects.

SIMILAR PROBLEMS

Dichter said during the experience of living and working together, the young men from different countries found they shared many of the same problems in their homelands.

The reaction back home is possibly best expressed by the letter from the director of the Zambia youth service to the fall course director in New Mexico. It said, in part:

"It is only a pity that . . . we cannot send more to you. Will you please let me know if this course is also open to girls . . . I should also like to know how many youths you are prepared to take from each country and how many times in a year."

'Rich to Get Richer'

Warns of Squeeze on Private Colleges

EAST LANSING (AP) — Among the nation's private liberal arts colleges, the rich will become richer and the poor will become poorer, an assistant dean of one private school predicted Tuesday.

Charles D. O'Connell, director of admissions at the University of Chicago, told a seminar on college admissions that the number of students a private school can attract determines how much it can offer.

★ ★ ★

And, he said, "adolescent snobbery" is a major influence on how many students a school can attract.

The harder a school is to enter, the more students want to enter, he said.

TOP STUDENTS

Thus, O'Connell said, many colleges which end up taking middle-range students start out each year by declaring they will take only top students in hopes of attracting top students.

★ ★ ★

Ten or 15 years ago, he said, private schools taught about 60 per cent of the students. The figure now is around 35 per cent, he said, and the old established state universities are raising standards.

In addition, O'Connell said, "a new, relentless snobbery is arising and the state universities are talking of the day when they can concentrate on good graduate students."

He said the state universities go to the legislature to obtain funds, build facilities and then tell their admissions officers, "go find students that will do us proud."

HIRE FACULTY

Private schools, he said, tell their admissions officers, "get more students and with the increased money we'll hire faculty and make this university in two or three years what you're advertising it to be now."

In the next decade, some private colleges will be squeezed out, some will be squeezed down to a last refuge for the upper class student who "needs maturing" and some may become part of the state systems, O'Connell predicted.

Meanwhile, he said, the 75 to 100 best private schools will probably double in enrollment and become extremely selective.

The middle-range schools are "to strong to fail and too weak to move up," he said.

TESTING URGED

Another University of Chicago man, Prof. James Davis, suggested testing and counseling for college upperclassmen similar to that given to high school upperclassmen who plan to go on to college.

Davis said students base decisions on graduate school and careers to some degree on how well they think they are doing as undergraduates.

★ ★ ★

But, he said, "the better school you can get your child in, the worse grades he will have."

He added that a C student at a top quality school would be better than a B-plus student at a lesser school, but might tend to think he was doing poorly.

Congressional Confusion Not Confined to One Nation

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—During a recent trip to the Far East, Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., attended a committee meeting in the Japanese Diet (parliament).

WEST

"Although I understood not a word, the session seemed not unlike a session of a committee of the U.S. House of Representatives," he reported upon his return.

McClory and I must have something in common. Not understanding what was going on would have made me feel right at home, too.

The second session of the 89th Congress is barely a week old and already my comprehension has been strongly challenged.

The office of Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., set the pace before the session opened by putting out a news release reporting that his staff had given him a "surprise" birthday party.

What made the affair so novel was the fact that the press release describing it reached the House press gallery three days before the party was held.

★ ★ ★

It was the first time I had ever run across a postdated surprise. Apparently the staff wanted to make sure that Monagan wasn't surprised retroactively.

I was still puzzling over that when I came upon a news release from Rep. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., which mystified me further. It said:

"U. S. Rep. Charles E. Bennett, who holds the all-time record in Congress for roll call votes, said Sunday he would introduce legislation designed to prohibit demonstrations which impair United States military operations."

It took me several hours to figure out what Bennett's attendance record has to do with the bill. But finally the connection became clear.

★ ★ ★

If they ever have a roll call on his bill, Bennett more than likely will be there to vote for it.

ADDED BAFFLEMENT

It was, however, another Florida Democrat, Rep. Robert F. L. Sikes, who left me completely baffled. He issued a news release with a heading that read: "Time to get those recreation projects started."

"In most instances, federal funds can be made available to help in the programs," he wrote.

Then directly below that item, he penned a few more paragraphs calling for the curtailment of domestic programs for the duration of the Viet Nam war.

★ ★ ★

"I am convinced the nation doesn't expect both guns and butter and doesn't want it," he wrote.

★ ★ ★

I can only assume that those recreation projects he wants to start with federal funds are classified as margarine.

Negro Vows Fight for Seat

ATLANTA (UPI) — Negro Rep.-elect Julian Bond, a critic of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, vowed yesterday to take his case to the people in a special election to fill the seat denied him by the Georgia Legislature.

Gov. Carl E. Sanders set the election for Feb. 23, five days after the legislature completes its business.

Bond criticized Sanders for calling the election "for this late date," but said he would be a candidate from Atlanta's 136th District, a predominantly Negro area.

Bond was one of eight Negroes elected to the legislature under a reapportionment shakeup that shifted many seats from rural to urban areas. But the House refused to seat Bond after his views on Viet Nam and his apparent support of draft evaders were publicized.

In a statement issued by his lawyer, Charles Morgan of the American Civil Liberties Union, Bond said that the floor leaders should call for adjournment of the General Assembly until someone is elected to represent the district.

Find Glucose Nerve Factor

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Experimental diabetic rats found to have an excess of glucose and other substances in their spinal cords could clear up the puzzling cause of nerve complications in approximately four per cent of diabetic patients.

★ ★ ★

What is new is the discovery that glucose is converted to fructose by way of sorbitol, a sugar alcohol, a team of Harvard Medical School researchers have reported.

Cell membranes appear to be relatively impermeable to sorbitol and fructose, so the investigators believe the accumulation of these substances may be due to overproduction from glucose and presumably inefficient utilization.

A possible result of the accumulation of sorbitol and fructose in diabetic nerves and cords could be a harmful osmotic effect brought on by their inability to escape from the intracellular prison.

★ ★ ★

Drs. Kenneth H. Gabbay, Lorenzo O. Merola and Richard A. Field of the Massachusetts General Hospital and Harvard Medical School and Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston, reported the findings.

Breakaway Road Signs Studied as Safety Measure

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—A motorist sped along a Texas freeway early one rainy morning recently, chatting with a companion.

Suddenly a truck forced the car spinning out of control. The car smashed at high speed into a freeway sign.

Instant death? Serious injury? Irreparable damage?

None of these, thanks to a "breakaway" sign designed to save lives and money. Both driver and passenger escaped injury and damage to the auto was not great.

A year earlier a similar mishap occurred at the same spot, before the experimental sign had replaced a conventional highway marker. The driver was killed.

The incidents reflect the potential of the safety device, undergoing extensive study at Texas A&M's Transportation Institute.

The research program produced a design for breakaway sign supports last year and the Texas Highway Department then began experimental usage.

The original sign, said State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer, was built with rigid supports, each connected to a concrete foundation. Highway crews modified the sign by installing slip joints and hinges.

Greer said the slip joints parted upon impact and the sign sailed away without causing damage.

The breakaway sign grew from an investigation begun in 1963 at Texas A&M.

"We found out so much, it was decided to go into it further," said A. C. Taylor of Fort Worth, regional engineer for the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. The bureau awarded the Transportation Institute a $367,000 grant to finance a "second phase" of the project.

★ ★ ★

"Twelve states have pledged financial assistance to the project," said Taylor, who admits he may be motivated partly by personal tragedy in pushing for the program.

A son, a college graduate student, was critically injured when his car smashed into an unprotected overpass pier on the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike.

40 PER CENT

The bureau says single-vehicle collisions with fixed objects cause an estimated 40 per cent of all fatal accidents on rural roads, while damage usually exceeds $400 per accident.

The federal agency, outlining the Texas A&M project, said the study "is directed toward providing a means for absorbing most of the energy dissipated in a collision."

Essentially, Taylor explained, the breakaway sign upon impact "slides out as the support breaks loose under the sign itself. The sign flies high into the air, giving the car time to pass underneath."

The price tag for broad usage of such signs is undetermined. But, said Taylor: "Cost is not involved when it's lives you save."

Pollution Control Exemption Viewed

LANSING (AP) — The House had before it today a bill to exempt water pollution control devices from property taxes.

Such an exemption —intended to encourage industry to take steps to prevent or abate pollution — is an announced goal of Gov. George Romney and the Democratic majority in the Legislature.

Rep. James Farnsworth, R-Otsego, introduced a bill Tuesday which says all pollution control devices are exempt. Rep. Thomas Ford, R-Grand Rapids, has prepared a measure that would peg the amount of the exemption on the time the control devices were installed.

Ford II Rents Chateau in France for June

LE MANS, France (AP) — Henry Ford II has rented a 60-room 15th Century chateau near here for the month of June, it was learned Tuesday. He plans to use the Chateau De Bonnetable as a headquarters when he visits here for the 24-hour sports car race at Le Mans.

WINTER CONDIMENTS — Frozen fruits are available throughout the year to provide the basis for the illustrated condiments. Starting at the top left and proceeding clockwise, they are: Ginger-Peach Conserve Spiced Melon Balls, Strawberry - Rhubarb Medley, Spiced Peach Slices and Minted Grapefruit Sections.

Frozen Fruit Condiments Brighten Winter Meals

An excellent way to enhance the natural flavor of plain roast meats and poultry — or bland, creamy entrees such as chicken a la king — is with flavorful fruit condiments. Both the fresh-fruit flavors and bright colors give a lively lift to what otherwise might be uninspired menus.

Following are five economical, easy-to-prepare condiment possibilities. All of them can be enjoyed in January as well as June since they are based on non-seasonal frozen fruits.

Ginger-Peach Conserve

1 package (12 ounces) frozen sliced peaches, defrosted
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
2 tablespoons finely chopped crystallized ginger
¼ cup maraschino cherries

Drain juice from peaches into small bowl containing sugar and cinnamon. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour mixture over peaches. Add walnuts, ginger and cherries. Mix well. Chill until ready to serve.

Makes about 2½ cups.

Spiced Melon Balls

2 packages (12 ounces each) frozen melon balls, defrosted
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
¼ cup cider vinegar
5 to 6 whole cloves
1 cinnamon stick

Drain juice from melon balls. In a saucepan, combine melon juice, brown sugar, vinegar, cloves and cinnamon. Simmer for 5 minutes. Pour hot syrup over melon balls. Let stand until cool; then chill until ready to serve.

Makes about 3 cups.

Strawberry-Rhubarb Medley

1 package (1 pound) frozen whole strawberries, defrosted
1 package (1 pound) frozen rhubarb, defrosted
Cornstarch
½ cup slivered blanched almonds
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Drain juice from strawberries and rhubarb. Measure juice and for every cup of juice use 1½ tablespoons cornstarch. Gradually stir juice into cornstarch.

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thick. Stir in almonds and lemon rind. Cool slightly. Carefully fold in strawberries and rhubarb. Chill until ready to serve.

Makes about 3 cups.

Spiced Peach Slices

2 packages (12 ounces each) frozen sliced peaches, defrosted
2 cinnamon sticks
1 tablespoon whole cloves
¼ cup cider vinegar
½ cup seedless raisins

Drain juice from peaches. In a saucepan, combine peach juice and remaining ingredients. Simmer for 5 minutes. Pour hot syrup over sliced peaches. Let stand until cool; chill until ready to serve.

Makes about 3 cups.

Minted Grapefruit Sections

2 cans (13½ ounces each) frozen grapefruit sections, defrosted
⅛ teaspoon mint extract or 2 teaspoons crumbled dried mint or 2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint
Green vegetable coloring

To grapefruit sections, add mint and enough green coloring to tint a delicate mint green. Chill until ready to serve.

Variation: Substitute 2 cans (13½ ounces each) frozen pineapple chunks for the grapefruit sections. Or, use 1 can of each grapefruit sections and pineapple chunks.

Makes about 3½ cups.

Coat Lunch Meat With Zesty Mixture

Made with everyday shelf staples, this main dish can be prepared in scant seconds with little or no strain on a busy homemaker. The Deviled Slices are made with canned luncheon meat. Each slice is spread with mustard, dipped in cracker crumbs and fried.

★ ★ ★

The outside gets crispy and good while the mustard flavor permeates the meat as it fries. Once the slices have browned and are heated through, they can be removed to a hot platter and the sauce made — right in the same pan.

★ ★ ★

Serve the slices up with frozen French fries heated till piping hot, crisp relishes and a fruit salad or coleslaw; that's all you'll need to feed a hungry crowd, and it's a menu that will please young and old alike.

Deviled Slices

2 12-ounce cans luncheon meat
3 tablespoons prepared mustard
⅓ cup cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons butter
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce with mushrooms
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash Tabasco

Cut each can of luncheon meat into 4 slices. Spread each slice with mustard and dip in cracker crumbs. Fry in butter until brown. Remove from pan to heated platter.

★ ★ ★

Combine remaining ingredients with drippings in pan; heat. Pour over meat slices. Serve with frozen French fried potatoes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

DEVILED SLICES — With a can of luncheon meat on the shelf, you will never be caught unprepared for company. Dip slices of the meat in prepared mustard, then in cracker crumbs. Brown in a skillet and serve with tomato sauce.

Traditional Dressing Gets a New Taste

Your favorite lettuce salad will be delicious with Sour Cream Thousand Island Dressing, and it is so easy to make.

★ ★ ★

Combine 1 cup of dairy fresh sour cream with 3 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle and a dash of salt. Mix well and chill thoroughly before serving over head lettuce or your favorite tossed salad.

Nice for company: cauliflowerets (cooked) served with brown butter sauce and slivered toasted almonds.

Add grated cheddar cheese and dry mustard to white sauce; serve with a cooked green vegetable.

Spoon Bread Is Mealtime Treat

Hot from the oven, this is great with leftover turkey.

Oldtime Spoon Bread

¾ cup waterground cornmeal
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
3 tablespoons butter, melted
2 large eggs
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons baking powder

Into a medium mixing bowl, turn the cornmeal and salt. Stirring constantly, gradually add the boiling water, keeping smooth; stir in the butter.

In a small bowl, beat eggs until thick and pale colored; add milk and beat to combine; add to cornmeal mixture with baking powder. With a rotary beater, beat to combine.

Turn into generously greased heatproof glass baking dish (8 by 8 by 2 inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until firm — 30 minutes.

Try New Idea for Sandwich

Creamy Mushroom Sandwiches are small open-face sandwiches, served warm. To prepare, top buttered toast triangles with a rich mushroom and cream mixture, then garnish with a bright sprinkling of sieved hard-cooked egg yolk.

Creamy Mushroom Sandwiches

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 pound fresh mushrooms, finely chopped
2 tablespoons enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup light cream
12 slices bread, trimmed
Butter or margarine
1 hard-cooked egg yolk, sieved

In large skillet over medium heat melt butter or margarine. Add mushrooms, stirring occasionally, and cook 4 to 5 minutes or until tender. Blend in flour, salt and lemon rind. Gradually add cream and cook, stirring occasionally, until thickened. Cover and keep warm over low heat.

Toast bread on both sides. Spread one side with butter or margarine, then with mushroom mixture. Sprinkle tops with sieved egg yolk. Cut each slice into 4 pieces. Serve hot.

If mushroom mixture should cool, place sandwiches under broiler 1 to 2 minutes, or until heated through. Makes 48.

Garnish with a sprinkle of paprika and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

NEW METHOD — Orange peel and raisins flavor basic white bread to make this intriguing Orange Raisin Bread. Dough prepared the "CoolRise" way can be prepared the night before, refrigerated, and baked fresh for breakfast.

Bread Rises in Refrigerator

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This revolutionary method of bread baking really works. The loaves we made with the recipe are the equal of any made by conventional methods.)

Not since the introduction of active dry yeast 20 years ago has there been such an important advance in bread-baking as the revolutionary new method just announced by Robin Hood Flour and Fleischmann's Yeast.

The new method, called "CoolRise," was developed in the Robin Hood Flour Test Kitchens and has been throughly tested and researched in the test kitchens and laboratories of International Milling Company, Inc., and Standard Brands Inc.

Based on the principle of controlled rising in the refrigerator, the "CoolRise" Method allows the homemaker to mix, knead and shape the dough in 45 minutes, then leave it unattended in the refrigerator until she wishes to bake it — any time within the next 24 hours.

Since all preparation of the dough is complete, there is nothing left to do but pop it in the oven! This means that dough prepared in the morning may be baked at noon, at night, or even the following morning for oven-fresh bread and rolls at every meal.

The "CoolRise" Method streamlines preparation of the dough itself by eliminating the scalding of milk, and calling for a brief beating step to facilitate mixing and stimulate gluten formation. (Gluten is the protein-like substance which forms the supporting framework of a loaf of bread.)

Needless to say, refrigerator rising does away with the problem of a warm, draft-free place to set the dough, and eliminates the two or three risings and punch-downs.

Home economists tell us that this exciting new method is every bit as easy as it sounds, and versatile as well.

Cheeses, nuts and herbs may be added to the dough; whole wheat and rye flours, cornmeal and oatmeal may be used in place of some of the white flour to make any variety of bread or rolls.

Basic white bread is flavored with a hint of orange peel and filled with raisins to become intriguing Orange Raisin Bread. Toasted or plain, this flavorful yeast bread is truly a breakfast treat.

ORANGE RAISIN BREAD

5½ to 6½ cups flour (regular or instant)
1¾ cups warm milk (105-115 degrees F.)
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
1¾ cups warm mil 105-115 degrees F.)
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt
3 tablespoons margarine
2 cups raisins
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
Cooking oil

Spoon or pour flour into dry measuring cup. Level off and pour measured flour onto wax paper.

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add warm milk, sugar, salt and margarine. Stir in 2 cups flour. Beat with rotary beater until smooth (about 1 minute). Add 1 cup flour.

Beat vigorously with a wooden spoon until smooth (about 150 strokes). Stir in raisins and grated orange peel. Add enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 5-10 minutes. Cover with plastic wrap, then a towel; let rest on board for 20 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Punch down; divide dough in half. With a rolling pin, roll each portion into an 8x12-inch rectangle. Beginning with upper 8-inch edge, roll dough toward you. Seal with thumbs or heel of hand after each complete turn. Seal final seam and edges well.

Place in greased 8½ by 4½ by 2⅝-inch loaf pans. Brush with cooking oil. Cover pans loosely with oiled wax paper, then with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 2 to 24 hours.

When ready to bake, remove from refrigerator. Carefully uncover dough; let stand for 10 minutes at room temperature. Using a greased toothpick or metal skewer puncture any surface bubbles which may have formed on the dough.

★ ★ ★

Bake at 400 degrees F. for 30-40 minutes, or until done. If desired, brush with melted margarine. Makes 2 loaves.

(If you use self-rising flour, omit salt.)

Swiss Cheese Adds Distinctive Flavor

Wisconsin Swiss cheese has a mild, nut-like sweet flavor, a hard firm texture, and is better known as "the creamy cheese that's full of holes."

Some people think the holes are man-made. Actually they form themselves through natural chemical changes which take place during aging. The cheese maker places the curd in a wooden wheel in a warm cellar and two or more months later the cheese is formed, holes and all.

Big eyes, ½ to 1 inch in diameter and 1 to 3 inches apart, are a guide to high quality.

It takes many months and the loving care of a skillful cheese maker to produce properly aged and marvelously tangy Swiss cheese.

If you're looking for something special for dinner, let Swiss Rice Bake be the answer. It yields not only good flavor and nutrition but lots of attractive color as well.

Swiss Rice Bake

2 cups shredded Swiss cheese
1 cup uncooked rice
1 cup milk
½ stick (¼ cup) butter or margarine
4½ ounce jar sliced mushrooms drained
1 cup dicked cooked chicken or ham
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dill weed
¼ teaspoon leaf marjoram
3 eggs, well beaten

Cook rice according to package directions. Heat milk and butter in a saucepan. Combine all ingredients. Pour into a shallow 1½ quart baking dish which has been rubbed with butter.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 45 minutes or until a table knife inserted into center of rice comes out clean. Remove from oven. Serve immediately.

To Center Yolks

When hard cooking eggs, for garnishing purposes, home economists recommend that they be stirred often during the first six to 10 minutes of cooking time. The stirring motion sets the yolks in the center of the whites.

Coolidge Dam, Near Globe, Ariz., was dedicated on March 4, 1930. President Calvin Coolidge, for whom it was named, was guest of honor.

Delicious Apples Star in Two Salads

Once in a long while you find a recipe that is a multi-purpose boon, such as this Creamy Apple-Cucumber Mold, filled with fresh Apple-Ham Salad. It's easily-prepared ahead of mealtime, decoratively appetizing to the eye, uses left-over ham, and the flavorful, best-in-market Golden Delicious apples.

It's a meal in itself accompanied, perhaps, with a crusty bread or steaming soup — and may be served with flair for a Sunday night supper, buffet party, or simply to your family as a change from the usual dinner menu.

The cucumber mold, festooned with a top layer of apples, is creamy in texture, with the second layer carrying a medley of fresh cucumber, diced apple, onion and parsley. The flavor is excellent and unusual; the color is a light appetizing seafoam green.

This delicate apple-cucumber combination forms the background for an excellent ham-apple salad, punctuated with black olives, and spiced with chives and mustard.

Creamy Apple-Cucumber Mold

1 3 oz. pkg. lemon-lime flavored gelatin
1 3 oz. pkg. lime gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1½ cup cold water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt.
Dash pepper
2 Golden Delicious apples
2 medium cucumbers (to make 1½ cups)
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon grated onion
2 cups sour cream
Salad greens

Dissolve gelatin in hot water, stir in cold water, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Chill until syrupy. Core and slice one apple; arrange decoratively in bottom of an 8-cup ring mold.

Spoon about ½ cup of gelatin over apple slices and let set until almost firm. Core, peel and dice remaining apple; peel and chop cucumbers to make 1½ cups.

Combine diced apples, cucumber, parsley, grated onion, and sour cream with syrupy gelatin and pour over apple layer in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Fill center of ring mold with Apple-Ham Salad.

Apple-Ham Salad

2-3 Golden Delicious apples
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ cups cooked, cubed ham
½ cup black olives, chopped
1 tablespoon chopped chives
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Peel, core, and dice apples into large bowl. Add all other ingredients and mix well. Season to taste with salt and pepper and fill center of apple-cucumber mold.

APPLE-CUCUMBER MOLD — Wedges of Golden Delicious apples show through the clear gelatin of this apple cucumber mold. In hte center more apple and cubes of ham are blended into a tasty salad.

COFFEE-MILK DRINK — When a bunch of teen-agers assemble after the game or an evening of winter sports, serve them pizza and a hot milk drink. Cappuccino A-Go-Go is more sophisticated than hot chocolate.

Hot Beverages Can Please All Groups

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When the children tumble into the house, snow-covered and pink with cold, there is nothing so welcome as a warming drink.

Cocoa with marshmallows is standard. Why not surprise the youngsters with a hot fruit drink? They'll think it great fun to use cinnamon sticks as stirrers.

Hot Molasses Spiced Cider

4 slices lemon, cut in halves
12 whole cloves
2 quarts of cider or apple juice
½ cup unsulphured molasses
2 cinnamon sticks, 2 inches long
Juice of 2 lemons

Stud lemon slices with cloves. Combine cider, molasses, cinnamon and lemon slices in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes.

Remove cinnamon sticks. Add lemon juice. Serve hot in mugs. Yield: 8 servings.

If the children who need warming up are in the teen-age period, you can serve them a coffee-flavored milk brew.

Not only is it economically made with skim milk, but it contributes protein, vitamins and calcium. Furthermore, it tastes good.

CAPPUCCINO A-GO-GO

1⅓ cups instant nonfat dry milk crystals
2 tablespoons instant coffee powder
1 cup ice water
½ cup sugar
2¾ cups boiling water
Cinnamon

Stir instant crystals into ice water; stir in coffee powder. Whip until stiff peaks form (4 to 6 minutes). Gradually beat in sugar. Gradually stir in boiling water. Serve topped with cinnamon. Makes six servings.

Adults may be served a hot cognac punch.

HOT COGNAC PUNCH

In a tall glass dissolve 1 or 2 lumps of sugar in a little hot water, to which 3 drops of lemon juice have been added. Add 2 jiggers of Cognac brandy and fill balance of glass with boiling water.

Add a slice of lemon, stir well and trim with a sprinkling of nutmeg.

Poland has a hard-to- pronounce insect called a chrzaszz.

Broil Sandwiches Made With Turkey

Hot turkey sandwiches without gravy are quickly made. Layer sliced white and dark meat on rye bread. Spread turkey with mayonnaise, spoon on either canned apple sauce or drained canned apple slices and top with strips of raw bacon.

Place in broiler until bacon is crisp and sandwich is heated through. Garnish with ripe olives.

Use Orange Juice as Liquid in Quick Date Bread

Almost everyone counts on those convenient cans of frozen fruit juice concentrate to provide a breakfast beverage or between-meal refresher. But, many people still do not realize the tang and fresh excitement they can contribute to a tremendous variety of familiar foods.

In many recipes, the concentrated juice enables otherwise impossible, concentrated fresh-fruit flavor without the addition of unwanted liquid.

For example, it can be: combined with brown sugar and spices to provide a glaze for meats and vegetables; heated with butter and maple syrup for a pancake and waffle topping; blended with confectioners' sugar to make an icing for cakes and sweet breads.

Frequently, when a recipe calls for a liquid such as milk or water, frozen fruit juice can be substituted for all or part of the liquid.

A typical example is the following Orange-Date Bread, a versatile bread which keeps well for weeks when protected by a foil or plastic wrap. Sliced thinly and spread lightly with butter or cream cheese, it provides an excellent breakfast, luncheon or tea-time bread.

Orange-Date Bread

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
4 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
Water
3 tablespoons corn oil or melted butter
2 eggs
1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans
¾ cup pitted, chopped dates

Sift flour with baking powder, baking soda, salt and sugar. To orange juice concentrate, add enough water to make ¾ cup. Add juice, corn oil or butter, eggs, nuts and dates to dry ingredients. Stir until all dry particles are moistened and well blended.

Pour mixture into a well-greased and floured 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 to 1¼ hours, or until top is well browned. Unmold and cool on a rack. Cool thoroughly before slicing.

This bread will keep for weeks if wrapped tightly with foil or plastic wrap between servings. Makes 1 9x5x3-inch loaf.

Ground Beef Adds Protein to Casserole

Turn to your pantry shelf for two convenience foods to put in a casserole that will delight your teen-agers.

Reach into refrigerator or freezer, says Reba Staggs, meat expert, for the ground beef for the flavorful and stick-to-the-ribs quality that makes this casserole so tasty.

Once assembled, it will take only a half an hour in the oven to bake to completion. A hearty meat and macaroni dish it's especially good to serve after outdoor activities.

Jiffy Beef and Macaroni Bake

2 pounds ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
¼ teaspoon leaf oregano
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup
2 cans (16 ounces each) macaroni and cheese
⅓ cup grated American cheese
Finely chopped parsley

Brown ground beef and onion lightly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine ground beef, onion, oregano, garlic salt, salt, tomato soup and macaroni and cheese.

Pour into a 2-quart baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 minutes. Sprinkle with grated cheese and chopped parsley and continue baking 10 minutes. 8 to 10 servings.

ORANGE-DATE BREAD — Two ways to enjoy the convenient, fresh-fruit flavor of frozen orange juice concentrate are illustrated here: as a breakfast or between-meal beverage and as an ingredient for Orange-Date Bread.

New Egg Custard Mix Is Used to Create Famous Dessert

As a traditional dessert, custard has no peer. Yet in these rushed and hectic times it is indeed the patient homemaker who goes through the long and uncertain process of making baked custard from scratch.

Egg custard mix, a new convenience product, has taken all the time and uncertainty out of baked custard without losing the unique, tender, velvety-smooth texture of a carefully prepared baked custard. And all this without baking!

So easy to make on top of the range, just blend the mix with milk and bring quickly to a boil — takes as little as 6 minutes. Then pour into custard cups or other dessert dishes to cool and set.

Since the custard doesn't have to be baked, your best china dishes or even glassware can be used. The tops can be garnished with a sprinkling of spice or a slice of fruit just before serving.

This same mix can be used to create Floating Island, a dessert that was admired and frequently served in the home of Thomas Jefferson. Topped with delicately browned meringues, this modern version can be ready to serve in about 1 hour.

Just prepare the mix as directed on the package with increased milk and egg yolks. Chill it while the meringues are prepared.

A glass compote and glass dessert dishes add a flattering note to a candlelight dinner that reflects the heritage of this famous dessert.

Floating Island

1 package (2¾ oz.) egg custard mix
2 tablespoons sugar
3 cups milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar

Combine custard mix, 2 tablespoons sugar, and 1 cup of the milk in saucepan. Blend in yolks. Add remaining milk. Bring mixture quickly to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla.

Place wax paper directly over custard and allow to cool for about 30 minutes. Stir and pour into serving dish. Chill.

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Continue beating until mixture will form soft round peaks.

Drop from tablespoon (or use pastry tube) onto ungreased baking sheet, making 6 peaked mounds. Broil until lightly browned. Stir custard.

Place meringues on top of chilled custard. Makes 6 servings.

Hot Chocolate

When guests gather at your home for your next party, why not have a punch bowl of hot chocolate milk. This is so easy on the hostess! Just heat dairy chocolate milk, pour into a punch bowl and float dollops of whipped cream on top. Add a dash of nutmeg or shave on chocolate for a garnish.

Warm Dressing

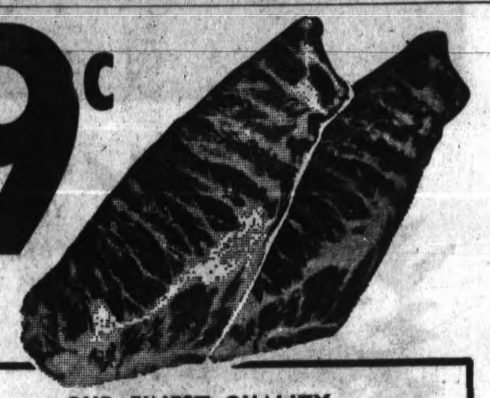

In snappy weather, heat mayonnase gently with chopped hard-cooked egg and onion, ripe olive wedges and lemon juice and salt to taste. Serve warm over a generous wedge of crisp western iceberg lettuce.

FLOATING ISLAND—Delicately browned meringues top this soft custard dessert, made quickly and easily with egg custard mix.

Be Sure You Can Use All the Meat in a Side of Beef

How to buy beef for the freezer is not an easy decision advises Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Michigan State University Consumer Marketing Agent. If the family owns a home freezer the alternative choices include buying a half or quarter of beef, or buring selected retail cuts.

* * *

When making the decision to buy beef for the freezer the family needs to consider whether it can use all cuts in a side or quarter; can get the quality it likes; has adequate freezer space; have the meat cut, trimmed and packaged to meet its needs; and wants to invest a sizeable amount of money at one time for beef.

An alternative to buying a beef side or quarter is to buy selected retail or wholesale cuts (round, chuck, loin and rib) when featured in grocery stores. This method assures the family of getting cuts it prefers.

They may be more economical, especially if the family does not use the less familiar cuts such as brisket, flank, short ribs, and plate.

If the family is considering buying a side of beef, these facts will be helfpful:

- The price of a beef side is based on total carcass weight. Take-home-weigh of meat cuts averages 25 per cent less than carcass weight due to cutting loss. Remember, a side of beef yields about one-fourth steaks, one-fourths roasts, one-fourth ground beef and stew meat, and one-fourth waste.
- Cutting wrapping and freezing costs about six cents per pound. Is this included in the advertising price?
- Determine how the family wants the beef cut and packaged. For example, steaks might be cut 1-inch thick, roasts 3½ to 4 pounds each and ground beef in one pound packages.
- Specify the quality of beef the family wants, and be sure you get it. Proper frozen storage maintains, but does not improve, the quality of meat.
- Fully understand the terms of sale, including all costs. If purchased on time, know the total cost, including carrying charges.
- Deal with a reputable meat supplier.

How does one compare prices of a side of beef with retail cuts?

Michigan State University's Consumer Marketing Program has developed a leaflet titled, "Buying Beef for the Freezer," which shows how to make these comparisons.

Consumers wishing a free copy of this may get it by writing Mrs. Lawyer at the Cooperative Extension Service, 155 N. Saginaw Street, Pontiac.

This publication also includes information on which quarter to buy, cuts of beef in each quarter buy, cuts of beef in each quarter, storage costs, storage life, yield of various cuts by weight and percentage, and how to judge beef quality.

How to buy beef for the freezer is not an easy decision, but futher knowledge and guides can help.

Some good cooks like to use two-thirds flour and one-third cornmeal for griddle cakes.

Death Claims Woman at 89

Was Member of Two Early Area Families

Mrs. Frank L. (Adele) Willits, a member of two of Oakland County's oldest families, died yesterday in White Plains, N.Y. after a brief illness. She was 89.

A memorial service will be 2:30 p.m. Friday in All Saints Episcopal Church. Cremation was in White Plains today.

The family suggests memorial tributes be made to All Saints Church.

Mrs. Willits traces her lineage on her mother's side to the Davis family, that founded Davisburg in Springfield Township in 1857.

★ ★ ★

WATER SUPERINTENDENT

Born in Davisburg, Mrs. Willits was brought to Pontiac as a child when her father, Harvey G. Monroe, became Pontiac's first water superintendent and built the city's first water works.

The first home in which Monroe quartered his family was the living area on the second floor of the city's old fire department at Pike and Perry.

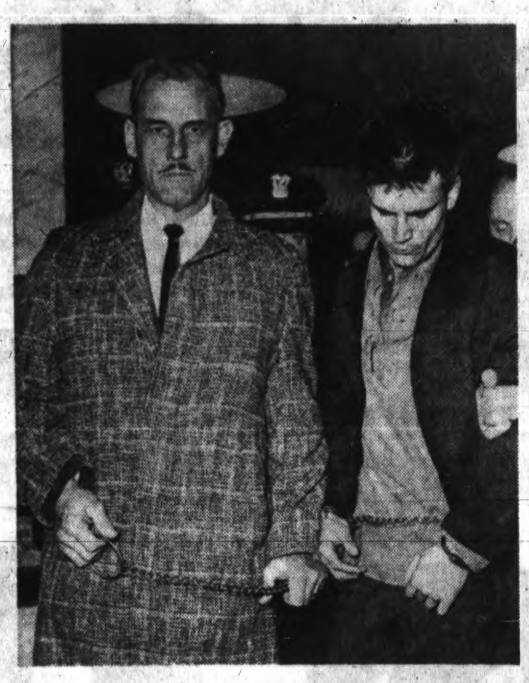

Mrs. Willits, a well-known contralto soloist, was a charter member of Tuesday Musicale of Pontiac and a member of the Daughters of American Revolution.

She was soloist for many years in choirs of All Saints Episcopal, First Baptist and First Presbyterian churches.

SURVIVORS

Surviving are two daughters, Marion C. of White Plains and Mrs. Jean A. Hoffman of Morristown, N.J., and two sons, Frederick H. of North East, Pa., and George W. of Clarendon Hills, Ill.

Also surviving are three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

BACK TO IDAHO — Manacled William H. Butler (right) of Jersey City, N.J., is led from Chicago police headquarters yesterday by Sheriff Paul Bright of Ada County, Idaho. Butler, 22, was being returned to Boise, Idaho, to face charges in connection with the slaying of Barbara Jean Dixon, 20, of Evanston, Ill., a student at Boise Junior College. Butler surrendered to Chicago police Sunday in a bus station. Police said he first admitted strangling Miss Dixon but later said he was innocent.

Draft Nixes Boy Who Won Delay

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Norma Riedel fought the U. S. Army and won a Christmas at home for her draftee son.

Now the Army reports that the youth, Robert Schnabel, 19, has been rejected for military service.

Schnabel had been ordered to report for induction last Dec. 23. Mrs. Riedel sent telegrams to President Johnson and 5th Army headquarters in Chicago demanding to know if "our war position was so crucial that we have to draft our sons during Holy Week."

Mrs. Riedel won. Schnabel and all others in his situation were granted reprieve until Dec. 28.

MOTHER'S PRAYER

"This is the answer to a mother's prayer," Mrs. Riedel had said. She said that she wanted her son to serve. "It's his duty. But I don't want him on the road with a bunch of strangers on Christmas Eve."

On Dec. 28, Schnabel reported for his expected induction. But during preliminary processing some doubt developed about the vision in his right eye. Further tests would be necessary, Schnabel was told.

Mrs. Riedel said her son wears contact lenses to correct defective vision but has passed physicals.

Schnabel later was told he could not wear contact lenses during basic training, but that perhaps he could be fitted with eyeglasses.

UNACCEPTABLE FOR NOW

On Jan. 10, the Army decided that Schnabel was "unacceptable at this time." The wording of the notice did not make it clear whether the rejection is permanent, Mrs. Riedel said.

The Colorado Selective Service is about to review the cases of more than 19,000 young men rejected for physical disabilities. State Director Col. Howard E. Reed said some of these may be reclassified and inducted.

Schnabel says he is ready to report. He has returned to his job with a printing firm.

Say Britain Is Going to Buy U. S.-Built Jets

LONDON (UPI)—Britain has virtually decided to buy American-built F111 swept-wing fighter-bombers for $500 million, authoritative sources said today.

The United States gave Britain an option for the plane until the end of last year, but extended it to March 1 to allow the British government more time to make up its mind.

City Commission Irate

Sen. O'Brien Called for 'Interference'

State Sen. Carl W. O'Brien, D-Pontiac, was verbally blasted last night by the City Commission for interfering in city affairs.

A poodle salon, inappropriate zoning and an irate citizen ignited the commission's criticism of the state legislator.

O'Brien was rapped for making irresponsible statements, poor judgement and not knowing the facts in urging residents to protest the poodle salon's location.

Emil F. Jaworski, 691 Stanley, touched off the commission outburst. A week ago, he presented a petition to prevent the Richway Poodle Salon from locating at 696 Stanley.

A report on the petition, signed by 27 residents in the neighborhood, was made last night.

PROTESTS LOCALE

Citing alleged deficiencies in the building, Jaworski strongly protested location of the poodle salon in a residential neighborhood.

He further claimed the salon would be a detriment to the neighborhood, questioning how successful the city's housing code enforcement could be with residents forced "to put up with abuses."

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, while granting the neighborhood was residential in character, said it was unfortunate but the property in question was zoned commercial and the commission could do nothing.

Hudson added that the zoning had been in effect since 1938. He pointed out that, even if the area was rezoned, the poodle business could continue as a non-conforming use.

LEAVES CHAMBERS

Visibly unhappy, Jaworski stormed from the commission chambers.

Hudson then led off the attack on O'Brien's alleged interference in the matter.

He read a telegram from the state senator that suggested residents of the neighborhood attend the commission meeting and "raise cain."

★ ★ ★

Hudson called it poor judgement and irresponsible, "especially so since his (O'Brien's) facts are so far from the truth."

Other commissioners concurred with Hudson's comments. Commissioner Robert C. Irwin said there apparently was political motivation in O'Brien's interest in local affairs.

Shadows of Death Removed 9 Times

MUSKEGON (AP)—Heart patient Marvin Jorgensen, who survived nine "deaths" last month in a case without precedent in Muskegon County medical records, was reported well on the road to recovery today.

His well-being was attributed to "part miracle, part medical heroics."

★ ★ ★

Jorgensen, 51, a grocer, "died" first in his physician's office Dec. 8. He was revived there and snatched from death again eight times when his heart stopped beating while under hospital care.

He was guest of honor Monday at a meeting of the Mercy Hospital medical staff and Dr. Robert A. Fles, his own physician.

PATIENT TALKS

Several times in the struggle to keep him alive, according to staff members, the patient was heard to say: "Doctor, why did you bring me back. . . Why did you wake me up to die again. . It was so beautiful where I was."

Jorgensen says he has no recollection of the dialogue but is thankful to be alive and grateful for the medical knowledge and effort that saved him.

★ ★ ★

Nurse Eleanor Dykstra of the hospital's coronary unit said he said it upon first reaching the hospital after Dr. Fles had revived him with external cardiac massage and several times after. "Those who heard it will never forget it," she said.

Medical techniques used in reviving Jorgensen included closed chest cardiac massage, mouth - to - mouth resuscitation, defibrillators, electronic monitors and drugs.

WIRED 'PADDLES'

Defibrillators are electrically wired "paddles" through which shock is applied to the patient's chest. They are designed to reverse heart fibrillations which are wriggling movements of the heart muscle that replace normal contractions because of some irregularity or malfunction.

The condition is fatal unless quickly reversed because the irregular twitchings pump no blood. Without blood flow, the oxygen-starved brain dies.

The defibrillators were used eight times in the hospital. Jorgensen was released after 4½ weeks, about a half-week longer than is normal for coronary patients.

His repeated brushes with death, attendants said, have not dimmed his sense of humor. On one occasion he said to his physician: "It just occurs to me that I died nine times, but I'm still here. Do you think that makes me a reject?"

MARVIN JORGENSEN

Waterford JCs Name Candidate for State Leader

The Waterford Township Jaycees last night officially announced the candidacy of member Ronald Rogers of 2159 St. Joseph, West Bloomfield Township, for Michigan president.

★ ★ ★

The organization also bestowed on Jack Cooper the highest award offered to former members by naming him Jaycee international senator.

★ ★ ★

It entitles him lifelong Jaycee privileges.

Cooper lives at 5990 Middle Lake, Independence Township.

Board Clears Teacher Who Wrote Play

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A teacher, who wrote a play which became so controversial in her community that she says her life was threatened, will keep her state teaching credentials.

The California Credentials Committee agreed unanimously Tuesday that it had no legal grounds to fire Geri Turner Davis, 31, of San Diego, author of the prize-winning one-act drama, "A Cat Called Jesus."

★ ★ ★

But Dr. Everett Calvert, committee chairman, said the play's language is "cheap and vulgar. We do not condone the play."

The blonde English teacher at Mission Day High School was cleared of charges of unprofessional conduct after a two-hour hearing in which the play, she had once packed away and forgotten, was read aloud page by page.

★ ★ ★

The hearing was called after some San Diego residents complained that the title was blasphemous and the play too racy.

Road Tragedy Strikes Family for Third Time

CANTON, N.Y. (AP) — A father, whose two eldest sons were killed in separate highway accidents in the last eight months, was killed Tuesday night when his automobile struck a tree.

State police said Harry A. Woodside, 49, of Heuvelton, was alone in his car when it went off Route 68 near this northern New York village during a snowstorm.

One out of every 153 cars was stolen last year, a rate 16 per cent over the previous year's figures, the National Automobile Theft Bureau reports.

Firecrackers Said Cause of Noise at Negro Church

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Sheriff Alwayn Cronvich of adjoining Jefferson Parish said today the explosion in a Gretna Negro church Tuesday night was due to a couple of potent firecrackers — not a bomb.

The Jefferson Parish bomb squad, which investigated, identified the explosive as a pair of loud but relatively harmless "silver stars" — a firecracker roughly similar to the juvenile favorite known as the "cherry bomb."

★ ★ ★

Officers said apparently the firecrackers were pitched into the church vestibule through the front entrance. The loud "bang" startled the choir members practicing at the rear of the church — the Mount Zion Baptist church.

Send for Father to Fend Off Ants

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Spitz had some built-in insurance when they gave a giant "ant farm" to their son, Nelson, on his seventh birthday.

Nelson somehow managed to turn loose the entire colony in the Spitz home.

★ ★ ★

It wasn't quite as dire a problem to his mother as it would have been to some mothers. She merely called her husband's office.

Spitz is president of an exterminating company, and he rushed a crew out to his own home.

Firemen Smoked Out at Own Fire Station

HIGGINS, Tex. (UPI) — Sirens screamed and volunteer firemen sprinted to the firehouse to grab their helmets and jump in the fire truck. But black, acrid smoke stopped them.

Wind had filled the fire station with smoke from an electrical fire in a power plant behind the station. The volunteers finally groped through the smoke, got their equipment and put out the fire.

Tangled Lines Foil Burglars

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP) — Would-be bank burglars got their fishing lines tangled and came up with no catch.

Rawlins police found a plastic sack with four fishing lines rigged on the corners at the night depository of the Rawlins National Bank.

Officers theorized the thieves tried to catch money dropped in the night depository in the plastic sack and retrieve it with the fishing lines.

But officers said the depository is so constructed that when the fishing lines were pulled up, the lines were severed.

Boy Joins Sister Following Example

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Regis Mooney family in nearby Gates, N.Y., got two breaks within less than an hour. Marianne, 7, fell from a clothespole on which she was swinging and broke her left arm.

Half an hour later, 5-year-old Michael, suffered a fracture of his left arm on the same pole as he was showing the baby sitter exactly how his sister's accident occurred.

A successful vaccine against anaplasmosis, a cattle blood disease, has been developed by research workers.

Three Stick Together as GIs

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI) — James, Robert and Ronald Gish of Sebree, Ky., all reported for the Army the same day. But they figured it might be a long time before they saw each other.

When they began basic training, James got sent to the first platoon of Company B of the 1st Battalion of the 6th Infantry Regiment of the 1st Armored Division. After a while, Robert appeared in the same platoon. Then Ronald.

★ ★ ★

"We've never made any attempt to stay together," said James, the platoon squad leader. "It just turned out that way."

James is 21 and Robert and Ronald are 19-year-old twins.

Story of a Deserter

N. Viet Youth Fought Hard, Believed Leaders, Till Bombs Hit

(EDITOR'S NOTE — While the world waited to see if the men in Hanoi would take a step toward peace talks, other men of North Viet Nam made more personal decisions about ending at least their role in the war. This is the story of one of them, reconstructed by NEA correspondent Tom Tiede from information obtained by military interrogators.)

By TOM TIEDE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (NEA)—Each day the boy crouches in the dirt, his arms over his knees, his face jumping in defense of the insects.

He folds his fingers. He closes his eyes.

And he remembers how it was when the bombs fell on his home.

Skinny, almond-eyed Ta Long lived in a North Vietnamese village called Nam Cao.

* * *

It was neither a pretty nor a happy place. Years of war creased the faces of his neighbors and signs of want were everywhere.

NEVER PEACE

It had been this way always, it seemed to the boy; in his lifetime there had never been peace. But he felt better times would come. He was told the war was being won and he believed it.

Although only 19 when he joined the Communist army, he had eight years of schooling and was thus enlisted as a sergeant.

It was an honor, he felt. After all, what better career in these times than combat leadership?.

* * *

They gave him a uniform, a salary (about 50 cents a month) and training. They gave him food, shelter and a submachine gun.

TIME FOR SLEEP

He worked long and, when finished, had time only for sleep. But he did not mind for the war was being won and better times were ahead.

Ta Long, the sergeant, had been of this mind and this rank nearly two years by the time U.S. planes began to sweep over his homeland. It surprised him, but he said nothing. Anyway, he was told that no harm was being done.

He believed, of course. Americans. Aggressors. Murderers and cowards. If the planes ever came to the sergeant's village, he would spit at them and laugh.

DROP BOMBS

They came.

They came and they roared and they whined . . . and they dropped bombs on the unlaughing. Bridges and installations were the targets, but civilians occupied both.

Women wailed, children screamed, and the sergeant watched his pride and his people perish.

The planes came often after that.

* * *

Sometimes many, sometimes few, but always the same. One would hear them first, then see them, and finally feel the vibrations of their deadly droppings. There was only one defense—run.

THEY RAN

And run they did; from every house, every shop, to the trails and roads leading to the safety of the mountains. They would say after each bombing, no harm has been done, the war was still being won.

But the sergeant saw differently. There was the lack of food, the rationing of clothing, the government classes, the political speeches, the daily discipline of living.

The bombings were more numerous, the suffering more horrible. And the good times, more distant than ever.

It was too much—too much war, too much sacrifice, too much lying. So Ta Long surrendered not long ago to the side of the bombs.

NOW A DESERTER

He is now a deserter and a prisoner of war.

He is broken in mind and manner, confused and not caring. He is alone, defeated and discouraged.

* * *

Each day he sits crouched in the dirt, remembering the planes and the people in the mountains, and the good times that never came.

There is a sheep station at Thylungra in Queensland, Australia, covering 1,285,120 acres, or 2,008 square miles.

GLENWOOD PLAZA CORNER NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The International Olympic Committee must be either naive, indifferent or infested with political schemes in its policies and methods of awarding a city the World Games.

The 1963 Detroit presentation for the 1968 games was called the greatest ever, but Mexico City was named the site.

The IOC was certainly naive to discount the tremendous offering from the Motor City; it was indifferent to the problems which athletes would encounter up in the Mexican clouds and its members must have wallowed in Tequila and Caviar on the Mexican dining budget prior to the bidding.

Now, when the bidding for the 1972 games comes up late in April when the IOC convenes in Rome, U.S. Olympic committeemen don't give Detroit a ghost of a chance, even though they and many of the IOC members know what a superior host this country would be.

The economic conditions are unmatched by the bidding cities and the goodwill the U.S. wants so much to generate among the free nations of the world, would appear to be sufficient cause to bring the games here.

But no, the IOC is more concerned with tradition and in a sense an athletic cold war.

ALWAYS TRADITION

The tradition they say is to put the games back on the European continent at least once every decade. They overlook the fact that Europe has held the games 12 of 17 times.

Currently, there are only two cities competing against Detroit, as the entry deadline tomorrow draws near.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, The Netherlands withdrew Amsterdam as a bid, nothing was heard from Moscow or Montreal, and Vienna decided not to bid.

Failure to get financial backing from the government eliminated Amsterdam and Vienna, leaving Munich and Madrid as leading European contenders.

It would seem that Detroit's chances should be much better than most people realize in view of the remaining contenders, if the IOC would forget its traditional sympathies and analyze more as to what each city has to offer.

The U.S. delegation could have played a little dirty politics by pointing to the negative side of Mexico City's bid at Baden-Baden, Germany, instead it chose to show Detroit's merits.

★ ★ ★

If the IOC has so much concern over tradition and if it gives points for sentiment then it should realize that no city would keep trying for 40 years unless it earnestly wanted to be host to the world's athletes and do it in a meritorious way.

HUMAN RESPECT

Likewise, if the IOC wants to add a bit of human respect to its traditional thinking, one would think they would reward the untiring 40-year efforts of a man named Fred Matthaei.

But, Detroit isn't bidding on a traditional, emotional or sentimental basis. The Detroit bid is on merit, something that apparently means nothing to the IOC.

★ ★ ★

If the games in Mexico City should run into problems while being held, and the chances are very possible when dealing with men and altitude, it might take the good Samaritan spirit of the U.S. in 1972 to restore prestige which could be lost.

Slight League Changes in Prep Cage Card

OLSM Gains in Northwest Catholic Loop

WOLL Adds Victory; Country Day Trims Cranbrook

Orchard Lake St. Mary received balanced senior scoring in whipping Detroit St. Francis de Sales last night, 83-61, and the Eaglets padded their Northwest Suburban parochial League lead.

In other games, Waterford Our Lady helped its Macomb League standing by whipping Marine City Holy Cross, 77-70; Country Day of Birmingham shocked Cranbrook, 71-62 and South Lyon walloped Pinckney 84-38.

Also on the card, St. Fred's triumphed over Emmanuel, 81-54, Royal Oak St. Mary topped Lamphere, 72-63, and New Baltimore St. Mary lost to Warren Mott, 54-46.

OLSM made its record read 8-1 for a full game advantage over Highland Park St. Benedict which is 7-2.

The Eaglets and Monarchs were tied at 11-11, but buckets by Joe Wojtys, John Stepien and Connie Krogulecki made it 17-11 after the first quarter and OLSM never lost the lead.

It was 42-28 at halftime.

BALANCE

Stepien and Krogulecki, in a nip-and-tuck team scoring race, hit 21 and 19, while Wojtys hit his career high of 19 and George Sawicki added 15.

Orchard Lake held the rebounding edge 62-23 and hit 34 of 72 shots for 48 percent to make up for its poor floor game which saw the Eaglets throw the ball away 30 times.

Randy Wise led the WOLL triumph with 22 points but Dennis McCulloch added 18, Carl Matzelle 16 and Doug Springer 15, as the Lakers kept within reach of St. Mike and St. Fred in the league race.

Tom Sirbaugh pulled in 25 rebounds for WOLL.

St. Fred started slowly at Emmanuel, but broke loose for 21 points in the second period and a 29-17 halftime lead. The Rams added 52 points in the closing half.

Tony Bellasario hit 14 field goals to lead all marksmen with 282 points. St. Fred is 10-2 and the Lancers are winless.

RARE MEETING

Country Day, pushing its record to 6-0 for the season, held a 32-19 halftime lead on Cranbrook in one of the rare varsity meetings between the two schools.

South Lyon had an easy time of it against Pinckney, taking a 17-3 first quarter lead and 37-14 at halftime.

A 35-point third period pulled it far out of reach (sparked by Jim Tate's 11 points). Tate finished with 19 but Mark Doepker had 21 and Eric Liddell had 16. Best for Pinckney was Jim Douglas with 7.

Bears' Halas Pulls Quick Play in Court

CHICAGO (AP) — George Halas can pull off a quick opener in the courtroom as well as the football field.

The 70-year-old owner-coach of the Chicago Bears proved it Tuesday with a sudden end to his breach of contract suit against George Allen, freeing Allen to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Halas' action took everyone off the hook including himself, Allen, the Rams and Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League.

Circuit Judge Cornelius Harrington upheld the validity of the three-year contract which Allen signed as an assistant coach last year. He said Allen breached his contract by not obtaining written permission to negotiate with the Rams and by verbally agreeing to take the Ram job.

FAST ACTION

Halas needed no more of an opening. He acted quickly and surprisingly.

"Your honor, I wish to make a statement," said Halas as he walked towards the judge. Halas' attorney, Charles Short, told his client, "No, no. Sit down. Forget it."

But Halas brushed Short aside. Allen's attorney, Albert Jenner, objected, saying if Halas wanted to make a statement he'd have to be under oath. Halas was sworn in.

★ ★ ★

As soon as Halas opened his mouth saying, "Your honor, my name is George Halas, and I am most pleased with your decision upholding the validity of the contract . . .," Jenner objected.

As Jenner kept shouting "Objection, objection, objection," Halas kept talking. "Your important ruling will uphold the integrity between National Football League clubs and preserve the sanctity of contracts . . ."

"Objection, objection, objection," repeated Jenner.

BOMBS AWAY

"Validity was the issue here and will prevent the breakdown of organized football and all sports," continued Halas. "George Allen was a minor issue. Validity was the issue."

Halas then tossed the bomb and scored. He turned to Allen and told his aide he was dropping the suit and Allen was free to take the Rams' head coaching job.

★ ★ ★

"It was a great victory for us," said Jenner, "but Halas didn't prove a thing and only saved face."

Halas made his point to his own satisfaction. Allen was happy because he was free to leave his $19,000 job with the Bears to take the Ram job at a reported $40,000 a year.

POINTS COMING UP — Guard Conrad Krogulecki (10) of Orchard Lake St. Mary heads for a layup after stealing the ball from St. Francis de Sales in first quarter action last night on the OLSM floor. Mike Stella (23) was too late to stop Krogulecki, who wound up with 19 points as the OLSM squad won, 83-61.

Bloomfield Hills and Holly helped their status in the Wayne-Oakland basketball race last night with a pair of victories, while Utica stayed unbeaten atop the Bi-County circuit.

In other games, Hazel Park of the Southeast Michigan Association rallied to defeat Mt. Clemens, 64-61, of the Eastern Michigan Circuit; this week's top-rated quintet, East Detroit, routed Port Huron Northern, 95-57; and Ferndale lost to Hamtramck 58-55.

Bloomfield Hills' 57-55 win over Brighton and Holly's 61-50 victory over Clarenceville changed the W-O standings slightly. Hills, now 4-3, was in a third place tie with Brighton.

Last night's 27-point outburst by Dave Robillard led the scoring. Key late free throws and field goals, however, in the final seconds earned the Barons' the victory.

Brighton led most of the way in the game and 37-28 at halftime. With 31 seconds left, Brighton's Pat Gilbert made it 55-54 and with seven seconds remaining Paul Augusten hit to make it 56-55.

LAST TRY

After a time out, Brighton brought the ball in hoping for the last shot but with five seconds left Bob Calhoun intercepted a pass, was fouled and made one free throw to cap it.

Clarenceville led Holly 18-10 and 27-25 in the first two periods, but the Holly shooters found the range with 15 of 37 in the second half from the floor and after a 43-39 lead, never lost it in the final stanza.

Mark Phalen with 15 and Greg Averyhardt with 14 led the winners who moved from the press to a man-to-man defense to stop the Clarenceville fast break in the second half.

UTICA NOW 7-0

Utica's record stood at 7-0 as result of a second half surge. It was 27-27 at halftime, but the Chieftains outscored Center Line, 17-4, in the third quarter and never faltered.

Hazel Park hit 50 per cent of its shots and held a 34-26 halftime lead, but Mt. Clemens doubled the third quarter output 24 to 12 and had a 50-46 lead after three quarters.

East Detroit won its eighth straight with an unbelievable 15 out of 16 from the floor in the first quarter for a 31-18 advantage that kept growing.

Joe Foss Voids Trade

AFL's Leader Cites Wrongs by 2 Officials

NAMED PREXY — Detroit businessman Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills, yesterday was elected president of the American Football League. The Bills have won the AFL championship the last two years.

HOUSTON, Tex., (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League voided Wednesday the disputed trade that sent San Diego's All-League defensive linemen, Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison, to Houston in a five player deal.

★ ★ ★

He declined comment beyond the official statement and refused to say that any of the parties had been fined.

The trade, announced last Saturday at the AFL's All-Star game, sent Ladd and Faison to Houston for linebacker Johnny Baker, defensive end Gary Cutsinger and defensive back Pete Jacquess.

★ ★ ★

Later, Foss announced that he was withholding immediate approval pending investigation of charges by Sid Gillman, San Diego coach and general manager, that Houston was guilty of tampering.

Gillman apparently had taken offense at a statement by Adams that he would be willing to give quarterback George Blanda, receiver Charley Hennigan, linebacker Doug Cline and $100,000 in cash for Ladd alone.

★ ★ ★

Ladd and Faison expressed dissatisfaction earlier in the season with the coaching of Gillman. They announced they were playing out their options with the idea of becoming free agents.

In pro football, a player may end his contract with a team but he remains the team's property until a year after he has announced intention to terminate.

"I have conducted hearings and taken evidence from the personnel involved in the transaction, including the players. I have concluded that statements by Houston owner K. S. Adams prior to the trade constitute tampering with players Ladd and Faison.

"I have concluded that this is detrimental to the interests of the American Football League. There is no evidence that the players were contacted by any official or representatives of the clubs prior to the trade.

"The evidence is conclusive that the players knew of the published statements and one of them, Ladd, was quoted as saying, 'If the man is willing to give up four players, he must be willing to give up a lot of money.' The effect was to interfere with the ability of San Diego to sign these players.

"It was the duty of General Manager Gillman to file a protest. He compounded the wrong by trading the players to the offending club and then announcing that he had no bargaining position.

"I am instructing him to confine all future complaints involving league matters to official communications to the commissioner."

Weatherman Holds Key in Crosby Golf Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Pro golf's elite warmed up for their assault on three tough courses in the $104,500 Bing Crosby golf tournament today and hoped the weatherman is wrong.

For his five-day forecast said showers are possible over the weekend when the golfers wind up the 72-hole tournament which opens on Thursday.

Under the crooner's National Pro-Amateur format, each pro plays with an amateur partner with prizes for the individual low pros and the pro-am teams.

When Australia's Bruce Crampton won last year with a 284 to become the first foreign champion in the Crosby, the pro-am title was shared by the teams of George Bayer-Morgan Barofsky and George Archer-Nelson Cullenward with best ball totals of 260.

Barofsky and Cullenward hail from the San Francisco Bay area.

ENTERTAINERS

The amateurs are picked from the world of entertainment, business, professions and other sports. They include such figures as Dean Martin, Phil Harris, James Garner, Tom Harmon, Paul Hornung, Sandy Koufax, Leonard Firestone, Charlie (Peanuts) Shulz, Alvin Dark and Duffy Daughterty.

The field numbers 137 pros and 137 amateurs. The quest for places this year was so tough that only 11 spots were open to pros from the qualifying round. All others had qualified automatically under various PGA formulas.

An $11,000 purse awaits the winner among the individual pros after Sunday's final round and the pro on the winning pro-amateur team collects $4,000. It isn't impossible for one golfer to haul down both big prizes.

Oxford Scores Third Victory

Oxford won its third game in nine starts last night by whipping Warren Woods, 65-42.

The game was tied in the opening minutes only and after going ahead 5-4, the Wildcats never lost the lead.

It was 27-13 at halftime and Oxford put the finishing touches on the Warren team with a 25 point final period.

Roger Miller, Dick Valentine and Rick Fox hit double figures for Oxford with 16, 15 and 13 respectively.

Pistons Trim Celts' Lead

Detroit Posts 116-115 Victory

Cincinnati Romps; St. Louis Wins

By The Associated Press

Big Mel didn't make a foul shot count, and the Boston Celtics saw their lead in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division dwindle to one percentage point.

The Celtics, who led the Detroit Pistons 71-51 at halftime Tuesday night, found themselves behind 116-114 at the final buzzer. But Boston's 7-foot Mel Counts was fouled at the buzzer and got two shots.

★ ★ ★

Counts, who replaced Bill Russell when Russell fouled out with 9:12 left, sank the first shot but missed the second which would have sent the game into overtime and given the Celtics a chance to hold a half-game lead of the Cincinnati Royals.

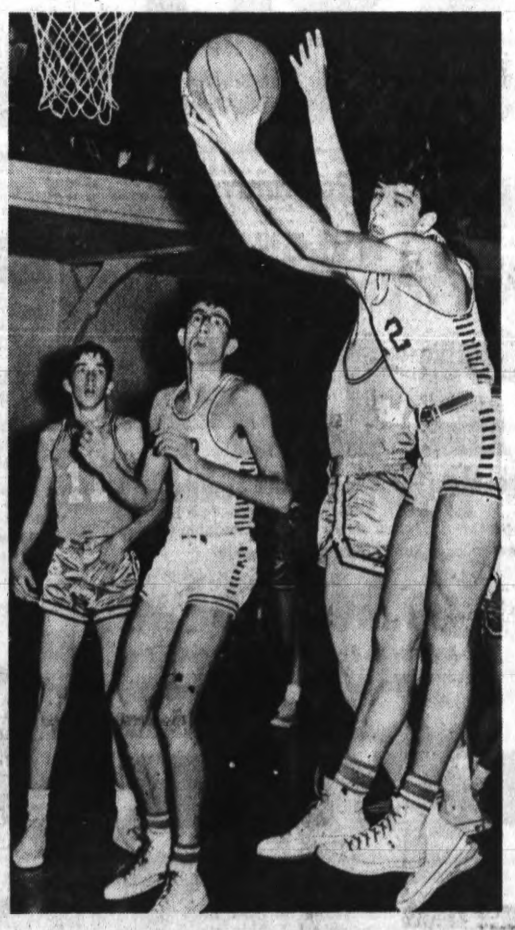

The Royals beat Los Angeles 119-108 at home, St. Louis came back to edge New York 109-107 at St. Louis, Mo., and Philadelphia trounced Baltimore 128-117 in a game that followed the Boston-Detroit contest at Philadelphia.

ONE-TWO PUNCH — Guard John Stepien (with ball) of Orchard Lake St. Mary and teammate Joe Wojtys provided a solid one-two punch on the backboards and in the scoring column in pacing OLSM to victory over St. Francis de Sales last night. Stepien collected 21 points and Wojtys added 19. Battling Stepien for this rebound is the losers' Len McCulloch. No. 11 at left is Tom Mulcahy.

2nd Half Lapses Cost Cage Teams

The winless bottom teams in the American and National leagues of the city men's recreation basketball program each blew halftime leads in defeat last night.

The Champs were up, 23-20, at the intermission against UAW 653, but lost 54-47, as Ray Sturdivant hit all 10 of his points, Bill Spain 8 of his 10 and Charlie Johnson 9 of his 19 in the winner's rally. Jim Mathis had 15 for the Champs.

Tasty Bakery held a 19-16 lead after one half. McDonald's Drive-In — which moved into a tie for second place in the AL—outscored the Bakers 23-14 in the final quarter for a 63-55 victory

Bob Horvath had 22 points in the first three periods for McDonald's, and John Shuffun hit eight of his 13 in the closing period. Bob Quinn (24) and Sam Sheehy (15) topped the losers.

Tonight, the city AL-NL intraleague play continues at Pontiac Northern, and the International League plays at Lincoln JHS. Waterford Township's Class A League has activity at Pierce JHS.

Land on All-America

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Michigan players landed spots on Scholastic Magazine's 95-player high school All-America football team for 1965.

Don McGhee, a guard from Northwestern High of Flint, is the biggest member of the squad at 278 pounds.

Dennis Wirgowski of Bay City was one of 14 ends picked.

Dodgers Nip Spartans for AP Award

DARRTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Pitching, speed and determination again will be the ingredients of the Los Angeles Dodgers, says Walter Alston, manager of the world champion baseball team.

"The team won't be any different," Alston said, "except maybe for the return of Tommy Davis to give us more hitting power. How much he'll be able to play, I just don't know at this time."

Davis is recovering from a broken leg.

The Dodgers, who won the National League pennant last year with a 13-game winning streak at the end of the season and then went on to whip Minnesota in the World Series, were named the Team of the Year for 1965 Tuesday in the annual Associated Press poll.

"I'm very happy for the award and proud that the boys were chosen," said Alston, who spends the winters with his daughter and grandchildren in Darrtown, 25 miles north of Cincinnati.

SPARTANS LOSE

The Dodgers beat out Michigan State's football team, which went undefeated in 10 regular season games to win the Big Ten title before being upset by UCLA in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

The 303 sports writers and sportcasters voting in the poll gave the Dodgers 102 first-place votes and 499 points. Michigan State collected 55 first-place ballots and 287 points.

★ ★ ★

Third place went to the UCLA basketball team, which won its second straight NCAA crown last spring. The Bruins got 251 points. In fourth place were the Boston Celtics, pro basketball champions, with 221.

Alston attributed his team success last year to "good pitching and speed. But what makes me more proud is that the team worked together as a unit. I thought we had a good team spirit, good determination. We didn't give up when we got behind."

STAR PITCHER

"All I can ask is that we have those same things this year."

About Sandy Koufax, his star pitcher who led both leagues with a 26-8 record, Alston said: "I don't know how any pitcher can do better than he did. I'm just hoping he does as well."

The Dodgers had led the league most of the year, but on Sept. 15 found themselves in third place, 4½ games behind first-place San Francisco. They then went on a 13-game winning streak and captured the pennant the day before the season ended.

Team Slices Loss Margin

COVERT, Mich. (AP) — The last time Covert and Gobles, Mich., met in a high school basketball game Covert won 77-29.

★ ★ ★

This year Gobles coach Blaine Rex decided "I wasn't going to get beat again by 50 points. I thought if we controlled the ball we could beat them."

Rex used this strategy against Covert Tuesday night. His team lost 28-9.

Stadium Study Group Selected

DETROIT (UPI) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh Tuesday named a 19-man committee to begin study of a possible new sports stadium for the city.

Cavanagh said steps would be taken toward construction, if the committee's reports are favorable, regardless of whether the 1972 Olympic games were held in Detroit.

He said the committee would evaluate the physical and economic feasability of a new sports stadium within the city limits.

Named as committee chairman was Ralph McElvenny, president of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., Detroit Tiger owner. John E. Fetzer and Lion owner William Clay Ford were chosen as special advisers.

The proposed site of the stadium would be the state fairgrounds.

Poor Start Hurts PCH Wrestlers

Pontiac Central dropped its first five matches and then had a rally fall short in dropping a 22-21 wrestling decision to Port Huron yesterday.

After the bad start, the Chiefs came on to win five of the next seven events, the last four in a row. The loss left PCH with a 4-3 season record.

★ ★ ★

In other bouts, Kettering knocked off Detroit Catholic Central, 29-19, and Hazel Park pinned a 27-14 setback on Warren Fitzgerald.

Pontiac Northern's swimmers have a chance to climb back above the .500 mark tonight as they entertain Madison after dropping a 58-42 decision at Dearborn Edsel Ford.

The Huskies success last night was limited to first places by Steve Yedlin in the 100 and 200-yard freestyle events, a first for Dave Pennybacker in the 400 freestyle and Carl Hiller's first in the 100 breaststroke.

The Huskies now are 3-3 in dual meets, after winning the Vehicle City Relays and their first two dual meets.

Final Leg Near in Monte Carlo's 35th Auto Rally

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The final leg of the 35th Monte Carlo rally gets under way tonight when the remaining 60 cars start out on a 381-mile course through the mountains.

The 60 will be chosen from the 85 teams which finished the first two-thirds of the rally without penalty points.

★ ★ ★

So far the rally has involved a race to this Mediterranean principality from points all over Europe and then a tortuous 894-mile test over icy, snow-drifted roads from here to the Alpine city of Chambery and back.

When the rally began there were 192 contestants. Most dropped out after falling behind in time. There were breakdowns and accidents. Two Spaniards were killed Sunday. Officials presumed the driver had fallen asleep at the wheel.

The rally winds up tonight with a finish here. The results will be announced Thursday.

Backs Golf Tourney

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The $12,500 St. Louis Women's Open golf tournament has found new financial backing and will be held June 3-5 despite poor attendance last year. A savings and loan association has agreed to underwrite the $12,500 in prizes.

Pontiac Kennel Club Show at CAI Building Sunday

Bluegills Due to Start Biting

"There's one veteran fisherman who goes out to the Holly millpond every day," said Conservation Officer Harold Stoll.

"He's been catching only one or two big bluegills each time. But he told me that what he has taken haven't been feeding. Their stomachs are empty.

"This means that one of these days — possibly when we get some warmer weather — the bluegills are going to break loose."

Stoll reports fishing pressure and catches light in northwestern Oakland County.

Little is heard about fishing on Walled Lake, but Conservation Officer Robert Green reports catches of bluegills and pike have been good at the lake and he checked one angler Monday morning with four "jumbo perch."

"One surprising thing about the lake," said Green, "is that the local pressure is light, but fishermen from other parts of the state try it regularly."

Other good bluegills lakes have been Pontiac, Cass, Elizabeth, Pettibone and Stringy.

PERCH ACTIVE

Good catches of perch are being made at Union Lake and on Lake St. Clair. Pike spearing is picking up on St. Clair.

Spear and tip-up fishermen have been doing fair on pike at Stony Creek, Pontiac and Upper Straits lakes. Chubs have been the best tip-up bait. Orion also has been yielding good catches of northerns.

Night fishermen are having excellent success on crappies at Kent Lake. Small minnows and silver spoons are favored.

Trout fishing has been slow on most lakes, but the catches have been good at Cooley—opened for the first time this winter—and Union.

Rabbit hunting on farms and at the Holly recreation area has been very good. Success has been fair in the Lake Orion area and around Highland.

Hounds are almost a "must" at this time of year.

Press Trophy Is Top Goal of 655 Dogs

No Obedience Trial Scheduled; Judging to Start at 9 A.M.

The location is different, but the stars will be the same for the Pontiac Kennel Club's annual winter show.

A total of 655 dogs will star in Sunday's show which will be at the CAI Building on Williams Lake Road in Waterford Township instead of at the Pontiac Retail Store as in the past.

Goal of the canines will be The Pontiac Press Best-in-Show trophy.

Judging will get under way at 9 a.m. and the best-in-show winner will be determined about 5:30 p.m. This is an unbenched show which means the dogs can be removed from the building as soon as they are eliminated from competition.

The total entry is 35 below last winter's show. This is because there will be no obedience trial in conjunction with the bench show.

JUDGES LISTED

Judges for the show, licensed by the American Kennel Club, are as follows:

A. J. Brueneman Jr., Cincinnati; W. F. Gilroy, Pittstown, Pa.; Charles F. Hamilton, Omaha, Neb.; and Thomas S. Lee, Southampton, Long Island, N.Y. Brueneman will judge best-in-show.

Don Lawicki is chairman of the show committee. He is being assisted by Burt Johnston, Harry Porter, E. A. Kraft and Wilfred Wickstrom. The chief ring stewart will be Lyle Williams.

The individual breeds will be judged first with the winners advancing to group judging. Each breed is placed in one of six groups — sporting, working, nonworking, terrier, toy and hound.

The winners of each group then are judged with one being selected the show's top dog.

YARDING TIME — Deer in the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Peninsula are in their winter yarding areas because of deep snow. However, many deer, such as these two, are able to range out of yarding areas in search of food. As the snow gets deeper, the range will be curtailed.

Snowmobiles Stopped in Recreation Areas

The boom in snowmobile sales is causing a problem at state recreation areas in Oakland County.

A snowmobile is nothing more than a motorscooter with skis in front and a revolving tread in the back that is used for travel across the snow.

Owners of these snow vehicles won't be able to use them on the hills and dales of the recreation areas.

"There were a lot of snowmobiles out last weekend," said Al Masini, district parks supervisor of the Conservation Department. "Our parks and recreation personnel told the owners they couldn't be used off the roads and parking areas."

Masini said the law prohibits the use of mechanized vehicles in recreation areas and parks except on designated roads and parking areas.

He also pointed out that some of the snowmobiles out last weekend knocked down trees and "chewed up the soil where the treads went through the snow."

★ ★ ★

"This causes an erosion problem in the spring," he said. "Damaging or destroying foliage in these areas is prohibited by law.

"Actually, we don't have enough snow down here for running around in a snowmobile. They are designed for two to six feet of snow like found in Northern Michigan.

★ ★ ★

"I can appreciate the fact that these people purchased the vehicles and want to use them. But the law says we can't permit it on the recreation areas."

Pheasant Decline in Thumb Studied

The Conservation Department has launched a special study in an effort to determine if pesticides have played a role in the pheasant decline in southern Michigan's Thumb.

Within the next few weeks, research men will shoot 36 birds in six townships where pheasant numbers have shown a decided drop during recent years.

Sites for collecting these birds are located in Huron, Tuscola and Bay counties.

Body tissues from the birds will be tested by a gas chromatograph at the department's Rose Lake wildlife research center near East Lansing to find if there are pesticide residues in the pheasant and, if so, at what levels.

To provide a control factor in this winter's research project, the department also plans to take some pheasants from Ottawa County where the birds' populations recently have held their own or even increased.

By putting body tissues from these birds through the same tests used on those from the Thumb, the department will be able to compare results from an area where pheasant numbers remain good with a region where they are slumping.

Underscoring this will be an attempt to learn whether there is any connection between pesticides and pheasant populations.

If the tests indicate a relationship, researchers plan to move to other studies to better pinpoint effects of pesticides on pheasants and other wildlife.

One project would be to collect eggs this spring from the Ottawa and Thumb areas to check for pesticides and the development of unhatched birds. Main purpose would be to see if it is possible for hens to transmit actual pesticides, or their effects, to eggs.

Imlay City Law Officer Named to Regional Post

Herman H. Haedicke, Imlay City district law supervisor of the Conservation Department, has been promoted to regional law supervisor for the southern Lower Peninsula.

He will fill a vacancy created by the retirement of Robert A. Thompson, a 38-year veteran of the department.

Haedicke, appointed to the Lansing regional post, effective Jan. 23, according to Civil Service rules and procedures, has been with the department since 1946.

He started as a conservation officer in Muskegon County and handled law enforcement activities for that area until being named assistant district supervisor at Gladwin in 1954.

Two years later, he was moved up to his present position at Imlay City.

Outdoor Organization Elects Two From Area

Charles E. Wilson Jr. of Birmingham has been elected second vice president and Karl D. Bailey of Bloomfield Hills has been named to the executive board of the Michigan Polar-Equator Club.

The club is composed of 50 Michigan outdoorsmen who have hunted and fished in various parts of the world. The organization has approved a contribution to the Eastern Michigan Nature Association. Harold F. Walter of Lansing is president.

Wally Tabor Movies at Walled Lake HS

Two Wally Tabor color films, Trans Canada Safari and Tanganyika Trophies, will be shown tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Walled Lake High School.

Ebb Warren will narrate the program which is being sponsored by the Multi-Lakes Conservation Association. The high school is located on South Commerce Road. Tickets will be available at the door.

Deer Hearing Set for Baldwin Area

The Senate Conservation Committee will hold a hearing Saturday at Baldwin High School on antlerless deer hunting.

Sen. Carl O'Brien (D-Pontiac), chairman of the committee, said the hearing will start at 1 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Earlier hearings were conducted in Pontiac and Flint by the committee after legislators received complaints from hunters about the lower hunter success ratio in the 1965 season than in 1964.

Dog Obedience Program Slated Tonight at CAI

A dog obedience training demonstration is scheduled for tonight at the CAI Building in Waterford Township.

Members of the Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club will put their dogs through various training routines starting at 8 o'clock. Classes begin next Wednesday.

Interested dog owners planning to attend the demonstration are requested to leave their dogs home. Additional information is available from the Waterford recreation department.

The first formal training session at Bloomfield Hills High School gets under way Monday.

Automated Post Offices Are Planned Across U.S.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Postal workers say they have gotten the bugs out of the $20-million mechanized post office in Providence, and now Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien says similar equipment will be installed in post offices across the nation.

"I think mechanization has proven to be good," says Postmaster Harry Kizirian of Providence. "We've learned a lot from it. Mechanization is the answer to speedier mail service."

O'Brien announced Tuesday in Washington that mechanization equipment will be installed in 109 city post offices that handle 60 per cent of the nation's annual 74 billion-piece flow of mail.

He said the program would cost $65 million by June 30 and is aimed at next-day delivery of mail across the nation.

CLOSED CIRCUIT TV

The new equipment includes closed-circuit television and optical machines that electronically read zip codes.

At first some of the automated equipment installed in Providence back in 1960 began chewing up assorted letters and packages and spewing them out at odd places. Mail was frequently delivered in damaged form.

Kizirian says the mechanical flaws in the modern building built in the shape of a vast quonset hut have been ironed out.

The Providence Post Office has been expanded to include general mail distribution to 65 satellite offices in Rhode Island and 42 offices in southeastern Massachusetts. Kizirian said, the post office could handle even more mail.

With the new equipment, he said, his office processes an average of 1.8 million pieces of mail a day, compared to one million before automation.

Recorded background music and an end to much of the drudgery of hand mail sorting has brought about a marked change in employe working conditions.

Kizirian said there has been no cutback in personnel at the satellite offices and there has been an increase of about 250 permanent employes at the central office.

He said mail volume had increased and some additional chores have been added, such as mail unloading at railroad yards.

EMPLOYES

"Without mechanization we might have had to add twice as many people," he said, "even triple."

The Providence Post Office has come in for criticism, principally because of the cost of its construction and operation.

★ ★ ★

Last March, former Postmaster General John A. Gronouski called the office "a disastrous experiment" that had "little relation to reality" and proved that mechanization would not solve the nation's postal problems.

Testimony before a House subcommittee on post office appropriation in 1964 indicated that the facility was costing $1,776,000 more a year to operate after mechanization than before.

MAIL SORTING

Kizirian said he did not know if this was still true.

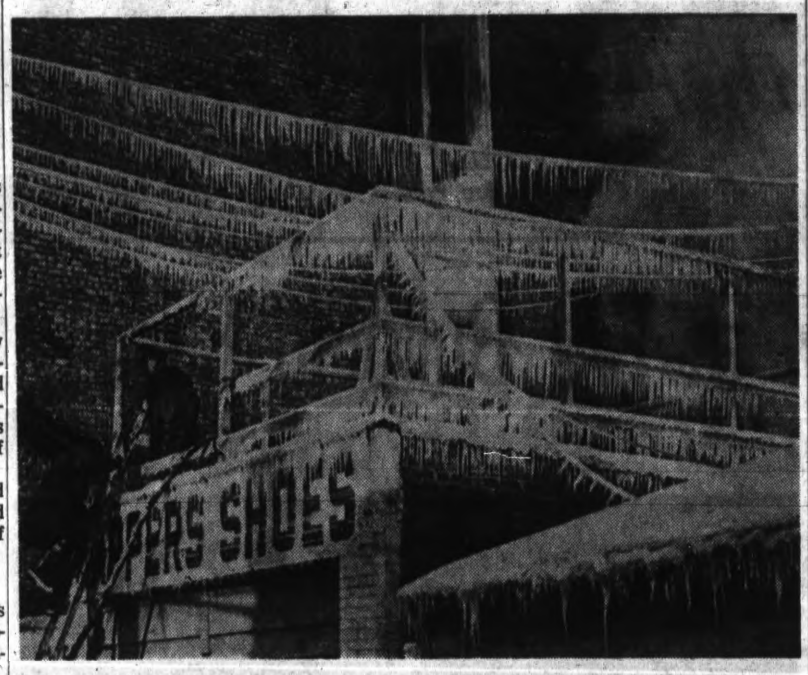

The subcommittee was told that in spite of an expenditure of $2,128,000 for "push-button mail sorting equipment" the number of hours spent by clerks in sorting mail had dropped less than one per cent.

★ ★ ★

O'Brien announced that the mechanization program would be "followed up with a systematic effort to modernize the entire postal complex within the coming few years."

Part of this program, he said, would be a series of studies of such mail problems as transportation and the effects of monotony and fatigue on postal efficiency.

"To hesitate," in modernization, O'Brien said, "is to invite a breakdown in our vital communications network and to bring chaos to the chief artery of the nation's commerce."

Roger Miller's Musical Hour Could Zip Texan Higher Yet

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — It's called "The Roger Miller Special," and well it should.

Not only does he star on the television show, which follows Bob Hope's Viet Nam special on NBC tonight; all but one of the numbers in the half-hour song session were written by Roger Miller.

THOMAS

This feat of prodigy is taken as a matter of course by the soft-accented Texan whose talents have brought him fantastic rewards.

"Might be something like $500,000—I dunno," he muses. "I never see the money; I just sign over the checks.

"You know, it's a funny thing. When you're poor, you're always thinkin' of the things you'll do when you get a lot of money. I'll be dad-gummed if I can remember any of 'em now. I got credit cards by the pocketful and I don't know what to do with 'em."

The Miller saga begins back in the small towns of Texas and Oklahoma, where he played country and Western music for modest fees. "The dates were high schools, mostly," he recalls. "We'd get a lot of hoots and yells with our music. I didn't hear applause until I was 22 years old."

By that time, Roger had moved on to Nashville, the Valhalla of country and Western music. After seven years, he was earning $25,000 a year, but he was dissatisfied.

"I was spook to them, a court jester," he says, speaking of the C&W establishment. "Even though I was earning good money, I wanted to be phenomenal. And after seven years in Nashville, I wasn't."

Roger was ready to move on. But before he did, he made an album of his wry ballads for Smash records. He came to Hollywood and attended a couple of dramatic classes with the aim of becoming an actor. But his Smash record proved just that. His musical career finally took fire, culminating with "King of the Road," a 2-million-seller which 114 other artists have also recorded.

Now Roger lives in a Woodland Hills estate formerly owned by Clint Walker and has a wife—his second—and an 11-week-old son, his first. One-nighters and nightclub dates keep him king of the road much of the year, but he hopes to cut down on the traveling. Tonight's special might do the trick. It is virtually a pilot for a proposed half-hour series.

Plan Platform to View Ft. Knox Gold Supply

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state plans, with Army permission, to build and operate a museum at the Ft. Knox military reservation.

The museum would cost $250,000 and provide a viewing platform for tourists to see the gold depository.

TALMADGE

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., is on the lookout for some barn-burners.

State Insurance Commissioner James Bentley put Talmadge's farm under surveillance after the senator wrote that there had been threats to burn some of his farm buildings.

The farm is in portions of two countries about 20 miles south of Atlanta.

Bentley said Talmadge told him the threats probably came from some disgruntled individual.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

When the people in the White House want to borrow a chef, they know where to go—across the street.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson wanted someone special to cook a state dinner Jan. 26 in honor of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court.

So she summoned chef William Dallas, who for five years has cooked culinary delights for presidential guests at Blair House, the chief executive's resident for special visitors.

The White House lost its regular chef following a cookery dispute and hasn't named a successor yet.

Dallas once served as a cook in the Navy.

Playwright Hospitalized in Britain

American playwright Arthur Miller was reported today to be "as well as can be expected" at Brighton General Hospital, Brighton, England, where he was taken last night.

Hospital authorities said he is suffering from hepatitis and would be there for about two weeks. They said he was "very cheerful and had a good night's sleep."

Miller and his wife were in Brighton for the pre-London run of his play "Incident at Vichy."

2 Aerospace Oddities to Be Flight-Tested

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Within a few weeks, a couple of the strangest vehicles yet conceived by man will begin darting across the skies above this desert test center.

Carried under the wing of one of the B52 bombers that haul the X15 aloft for its record-breaking flights, a "flying bathtub" called the M2F2 will be dropped from 45,000 feet to glide back to base — without wings.

★ ★ ★

The M2F2 and a similar craft — the HL10, which was rolled out of the Northrop Corp. plant in Hawthorne, Calif., only Tuesday — are test versions of a new concept of vehicles which can fly either in space or in the atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

They will be able to spy from any height up to orbital altitude on any part of the world. They will shuttle between earth to large satellites, carrying men and supplies in either direction.

LIKE A BRICK

And they don't look like they could fly any better than a brick.

A plywood version, the M2F1, has already glided safely to base after being towed to a height of more than two miles, and the aluminum M2F2 has made short hops with the B52 to demonstrate it is aerodynamically sound.

★ ★ ★

Officials predict the first manned drop test of the M2F2 will come within a few weeks, and the HL10 is expected to be flown later this year after a long series of wind-tunnel tests.

Each craft looks like a half snub-nosed cone, with fins at the broad end for stability and control. The pilot sits in the plastic-skinned nose.

NO WINGS

The M2s have a rounded bottom, the HL10 a flat bottom.

Neither has wings. They get their "lift," or gliding ability, from their shape. One will plow through the air like a round-hulled boat, the other will skim like a hydroplane.

★ ★ ★

The upcoming flight tests will determine which of these "lifting bodies" maneuvers better — without generating too much heat from air friction. Wings would create too much drag and might be torn off by the 17,500 m.p.h. speed of orbital vehicles reentering the atmosphere.

If they are successful, future versions will be equipped with rockets to boost them into orbit or they may be mounted atop large boosters, officials say.

The gold production of South Africa for 1965 was expected to exceed 30 million fine ounces.

By JACOBY & SON

The Jacobys continue their discussion of hands from the International team trials.

Oswald: "What do you think of the luck element in the trials?"

JACOBY

Jim: "It was certainly prestent. Last week I mentioned the hand in the final match in which the location of the king of spades deter-mined two of the three places on the team. On the other hand, luck tends to equalize and I doubt anyone can credit luck for making the team or charge luck for not making it. Everyone had plenty of chances to pick up International Match Points."

Oswald: "Nevertheless it's still disheartening when you really have bad luck. Here is a hand on which the normal bidding is shown in the box. South wound up as declarer at four spades. There was nothing to the play. South would win the heart opening in dummy and lead the queen of spades. The best defense would be to duck but most defenders would rise with the ace. In any event the trumps would be drawn sooner or later and a successful club finesse would produce a small slam."

Jim: "I see why you are driving at luck. Two South players decided to open one spade. This is poor tactics in general because you are starting an attack without enough ammunition. I am sure each South player was quite unhappy when his partner forced him into a slam contract but the finesse worked at six just as well as at four, and these lucky slam bidders were rewarded with 12 IMPs each."

Oswald: "That's just the point. The opening spade bid was unsound. The final slam contract was also unsound. There was no play for it without the club finesse and the hand would really have collapsed if suits had broken badly for declarer.

♥+CARD Sense♦+

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
			1 ♣
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ 2 ♥ A K 8 7 ♦ K Q 10 4 ♣ A Q J 8
What do you do?

A—This is a toss-up. Four hearts is conservative. Four no-trump aggressive but potentially successful.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid four no-trump and your partner bids five diamonds to show one ace. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

In 1930 there were some 40 people per square mile of the earth's surface. Today there are 63; by 2000, there will be 142.

Cuba Said Drafting Clergymen to Duty

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba has begun drafting Protestant clergymen into the armed forces, say exiled churchmen.

"Methodist, Baptist and Episcopalian ministers and seminarians are stationed in a camp at Esmeralda, Camaguey province," said the Rev. Germinal Rivas, secretary of the Movement for Christian Action in Exile.

★ ★ ★

"Our informants in Cuba said there were many of them, but we don't know how many. We understand they are doing agricultural work along with other draftees."

Subzero Standing OK, but Not the Bending

CAMDEN, N.Y. (AP) — While three volunteer fire companies fought a barn fire in subzero temperatures, veteran chief Ernest Doty of Camden was asked:

"How do you stand it?"

★ ★ ★

"After you get pretty well wet, standing is no problem," Doty said. "It's the bending that gives you the trouble."

Prices Irregularly Lower

Stock Mart Advance Stumbles

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advance stumbled on profit taking today and prices worked irregularly lower early this afternoon.

After three straight sessions of new highs in all the popular averages, the market continued to advance this morning but the drive lost steam gradually. By afternoon, averages were heading lower.

The list softened despite a continuation of determined leadership by General Motors, the "biggest" stock on the board. GM was more than a point higher in early dealings in a follow-through to its 1⅞-point spurt of yesterday. As the market turned mixed, then lower, even GM trimmed its price and it showed only a fractional gain as the session wore on.

Rising interest rates, the possibility of a rail strike March 31 and technical market factors were cited as reasons for the turnabout.

AP AVERAGE

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .5 at 369.2 with industrials off .6, rails off 1.0 and utilities up .5.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had been up as much as 2.01 at the end of the first hour, was down .78 to 993.42 at noon.

The drive to the "magic" goal of "Dow 1,000" was bound to be interrupted by profit taking from time to time, analysts said, because the closer the 1,000 level approached the more nervous would be those who held stocks with big paper profits. A "blowoff" at the top of a long uptrend is always a probability, they noted.

An irregularly higher trend prevailed on the American Stock Exchange although O'Okiep Copper dropped 7, Molybdenum 1, Kilembe Copper nearly 1, Banff Oil, Syntex and National Video fractions.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged in light dealings.

Funeral Service Set for Mark Twain Kin

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Funeral service will be held Thursday for Nina Clemens Gabrilowitsch, granddaughter of famed author Mark Twain and daughter of a former conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Known to her friends as a "fine person" and a gifted artist who didn't "apply herself," Miss Gabrilowitsch's body was found in a motel room.

★ ★ ★

The last direct descendant of Samuel Clemens was 55. The coroner's office, which reported the death Tuesday, was attempting to determine the cause of death.

Teacher Shortage Continues to Grow

By LESLIE J. NASON

Teacher shortages brought on by national compulsory education have increased consistently in the past few years.

The higher salaries paid by industry — particularly to science and mathematics majors — have drained off a high percentage of talented people whose original goal was teaching.

Increased prerequisites of education courses have added another year to the college training of teachers. This has eliminated many worthy candidates for the profession because of the added time and expense.

DR. NASON

But perhaps the development which has had the most serious effect in discouraging young people from entering the field of teaching has been the increasing difficulty of the teacher's work.

Classes not only have increased in size, but they have become more complex and difficult to handle. More or less automatic promotions have produced classrooms in which the range in reading ability is as much as six or seven years, and the mathematical range is as great or greater.

In such a situation, teaching is just too nerve-wracking except for those highly trained professionals who plan to make teaching a lifework.

★ ★ ★

Teaching is no longer attractive to the large numbers of young women who in the past were ready and anxious to spend two or three years at this type of work — provided preparation could be done in a reasonable length of time and the energy and nervous demands of the job were not overwhelming.

NEW PROGRAMS

Teachers shortages are aggravated by new programs in education which are sprouting up on every hand. Each calls for still more teachers. In addition to full-time professional teachers, part-time teachers, teacher assistants and non-teaching helpers are being used.

Fortunately, these programs call for a smaller class size and more careful grouping in regard to the needs and abilities of the pupils.

Therefore, instead of demanding teachers skilled not only in the teaching of reading and writing but in science, new mathematics and, in some schools, foreign language, music and art, these smaller groups can be handled by teaching assistants proficient in but one or two areas.

★ ★ ★

The training required of teacher assistants for these smaller groups will be short enough in duration to make this job opportunity attractive to a whole new group of applicants.

LOAD LIGHTENED

The master teacher in such a situation has the load lightened by the removal of groups needing so much special attention as to detract from the time given to the class as a whole.

Thus, in addition to providing compensatory education where needed, the new programs can take enough pressure from the regular teachers to make teaching attractive.

Melina Mercouri, Director to Marry

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Marriage banns were published Tuesday for Greek actress Melina Mercouri and French movie director Jules Dassin, who are living here.

★ ★ ★

Although there was no immediate indication of when the couple would be married, under Swiss law a half-year is needed by the Civil Registry to complete necessary formalities.

★ ★ ★

Dassin, who directed Miss Mercouri, his constant companion for years, in such films as "Never on Sunday" and "Topkapi," was divorced from his first wife, violinist Beatrice Launer, in 1961. Dassin said at the time of the divorce that he intended to marry Miss Mercouri.

Rhodesian Meets With Top Britons

LONDON (UPI) — Rhodesia's chief justice conferred today with top British officials, reportedly over the peace terms to be extended to rebel Premier Ian Smith's regime.

★ ★ ★

Sir Hugh Beadle flew in unannounced from Salisbury yesterday and planned to stay three or four days for talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Commonwealth Relations Secretary Arthur Bottomley.

It was reported he also hoped to meet with opposition Conservative leader Edward Heath before leaving, and it was thought the two might meet today.

Meanwhile, a military mission dispatched by Wilson was due to arrive in Zambia today in connection with soon-to-be announced new sanctions expected to be imposed on Rhodesia to crush the illegal regime.

★ ★ ★

Zambia borders on Rhodesia, and there was speculation that the mission's task was to pave the way for British troops to enter Rhodesia if and when the Smith regime topples.

PEACE TALKS

Beadle, Wilson and Bottomley conferred late yesterday and government spokesmen denied that Beadle had planned to try to convince the British government that it should enter peace talks with Smith.

Beadle has been living in Government House in Salisbury with Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs, who Smith "fired" after Gibbs said Smith and his cabinet were in office illegally.

Britain regards Gibbs as the only legal authority in Rhodesia and says he cannot be discharged by Smith.

★ ★ ★

It was Beadle who flew to London just before Rhodesia's Nov. 11 unilateral declaration of independence in an attempt to bring Smith and Wilson together.

★ ★ ★

Beadle reportedly planned to give Wilson a firsthand report on the effect in Rhodesia of sanctions imposed so far, the toughest of which was an oil embargo.

Fizz Leads to Fizzle

DENVER (UPI) — A wedding night bottle of champagne ruined marriage for Myrna and Arthur Dussart.

"She drank too much champagne and got real sick," Dussart said. "The next day at noon she just left. I'm afraid I could never trust her again."

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF FRANK DeRousse, who passed away 1 year ago today, Jan. 19, 1965.
You wished no one a last farewell,
Not even to say goodbye;
You had gone before we knew it,
And only God knows why.
—Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear father, LeRoy J. Tindall who passed away January 19,1965.
A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
Dear father since you went away,
The ones you loved so true;
Try hard to carry on the way,
We know you'd want us to.
Sadly missed by daughters Marilyn, Ida, Eileen and families.

Junior Editors Quiz on FIRE

QUESTION: How did early men make fire?

ANSWER: The use of fire was one of early man's greatest discoveries, enabling him to cook food, live in a cold climate and drive off dangerous wild animals.

Fire was probably found first in nature, such as in lightning striking a tree and making it burn. Men discovered fire could be produced by the friction resulting from the rubbing of two dry bits of wood together.

Although possible, this was difficult, and early man was supposed to have carefully preserved fire, once made; he might carry a smouldering stick along as he traveled.

In ancient Rome, a perpetual fire was kept burning in a special temple, under the charge of young girls called vestal virgins.

Our illustration shows the method of firemaking used by the American Indians. The Indian took a wooden spindle (1) put its end in a notched board (2) with the string of a bow (3) wrapped around the spindle.

Strokes of the bow revolved the spindle in one of the notches, causing tinder placed there to smoulder. The Indian would then lift this and blow it into flame (4).

With the Iron Age, it was found that steel struck against flint would throw sparks which could be directed into tinder to set it afire. When matches came in, these ancient firemaking methods went out.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Boy Scouts know all about the Indian method of firemaking. Learn how to control fire as well as make it, for if fire can be a warm friend, it can also become a terrible enemy. A good rule is, don't play with it!

Virus Linked to Infants' Ills

By Science Service

NEW YORK — A vicious but versatile virus ordinarily associated with stomach upset has been found to double as a cause of pneumonia in premature infants.

The virus, ECHO 22, was recently discovered infecting 24 out of 49 premature babies who developed pneumonia in two recent outbreaks at Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn.

Until now, ECHO 22 was believed to be a cause only of diarrhea and other gastrointestinal upsets, said Dr. Summer Berkovich, assistant professor of pediatrics at the State University of New York Downstate Medical Center here.

The runny noses of some of the babies were what gave the virus away.

Several nurses had listed the symptom routinely in their daily records. Dr. Berkovich noticed the recurrence of runny noses in these reports and decided to check out the possibility of a virus.

QUITE A TASK

This is quite a task in the case of ECHO 22, since the virus multiplies slowly and poorly in most commonly used tissue cultures.

The source of the virus infections is very difficult to determine, the doctor said. They may be carried by hospital personnel.

Another possibility is that some babies are actually born infected and then serve as a "reservoir of disease" within the premature nursery.

Plutocrat Gunman Gets $39,000 in Dubloons

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police here are on the lookout for a gunman who traveled in style. He walked into a rare coin shop here and held up the owner of the shop, Sidney Smith. He got away with gold and Spanish doubloons worth more than $39,000.

The thief then drove off in a Cadillac car.

Special Dates Are Set

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed February as Heart Education Month, Jan. 30-Feb. 5 as Independent Grocers Week and Feb. 6-12 as Children's Dental Health Week in Michigan.

Rights Violence Pits Have-Nots, Haves---Brooke

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke says he views civil rights violence as "a battle of the have-nots against the haves."

Brooke, who holds one of the highest elective offices of any Negro in the country, is seeking the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate seat now held by Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.

Brooke told the New England Daily Newspaper Association Tuesday that civil rights demonstrations "appear to have more than racial overtones."

"In the rioting in Los Angeles," he said, "the bitterness of the Negroes could have been directed against the Negro businessman as well as the white businessman because the battle was the have-nots against the haves."

Prof's Hanoi Talk Rapped

Yale Chief Says Lynd Damaged His Causes

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Staughton Lynd's speech in Hanoi was "a disservice to the cause of freedom of dissent, freedom of travel, and conscientious pacifism," Yale President Kingman Brewster Jr. said today.

"I think Mr. Lynd's disparagement of his country's leadership and policies, while in Hanoi, damaged the causes he purports to serve," Brewster said.

Lynd, 36, an assistant professor of history, spent 10 days in North Viet Nam with two other Americans: Thomas Hayden, a founder of the Students for a Democratic Society, and Herbert Aptheker, a Communist party theoretician.

Brewster, in a statement to the Yale Daily News, the student newspaper, said he felt "quite differently about the trip than about the talk which Mr. Lynd is reported to have made in Hanoi.

CONSCIENTIOUS

"I could view the trip for fact-finding in the cause of peace as a conscientious effort, even though it seemed to me naive and misguided," he said.

"The legality (of the trip) seemed to me the responsibility of those charged with the interpretation and enforcement of the laws and regulations.

★ ★ ★

"However," Brewster said, "Hanoi radio reported, and Mr. Lynd reportedly confirmed, that while in Hanoi, he publicly asserted that the Johnson administration lies to the American people and that United States policy is immoral, illegal and antidemocratic."

Asked about the Radio Hanoi broadcast last week, Lynd said he did not say that the administration lied to the American people.

ENTITLED TO OPINIONS

"He is entitled to these opinions," Brewster said, "but the use of his presence in Hanoi to give this aid and comfort to a government engaged in hostilities with American forces seems to me inconsistent with the purpose of fact-finding in the name of peace."

Brewster and other top Yale officials will appear in Pittsburgh this weekend at the national alumni meeting. Brewster, according to campus sources, was trying with his statement to dissociate the university administration from Lynd's ideas and actions.

Prominent Pair Performs for Discotheque Patrons

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Jackie Kennedy and Mike Nichols, the "showman of the year," according to Cue magazine, were frolicking and frivoling at Arthur very early on a recent morning—they did the Watusi and the Frug to such songs as "When You Know I'm Down" and "A Little Bit of Soap" —and got bumped and jostled like other people.

A woman who walked over the No. 1 table, the VIP spot, and asked for an autograph, got no autograph, but a smiling and pleasant "No."

WILSON

Jackie was stunningly attractive in a pale yellow and white dress, with a yellow satin belt, and she carried a small gold mesh handbag. She seemed to be unaccompanied by Secret Service men. They stayed about 90 minutes . . . and Jackie stood waiting, like other girls, while her date waited at the cloakroom for his coat.

Americans have bad table manners by Japanese standards—says clever, attractive Japanese comedienne Yoko Sieno. "Americans don't make noisy when they eat but they should," says Yoko. "Should go shllip, shlppppp, shlppppp, very loud, when they eat soup, so chef will feel happy and know they like dinner," she says. Yoko told a party at the Old Shanghai the other night that her husband, an American Air Force major, Warren J. Whitman, has learned to "make noisy," and all chefs like him.

Hope Diamond, the stripper, and Joey Faye, the comic, went to Union, N.J., and testified about the artistic nature of burlesque, and now Union's going to have it at the Flagship—with Hope Diamond starring.

Die Is Cast in London

High-Stake Gambling Casinos Facing Crackdown

LONDON (UPI) — Las Vegas and Reno get more gamblers. The French Riviera has more glamour. But the capital of the high-stake gambling of the world is London.

★ ★ ★

It has been that way since a peer of the realm dropped $272,000 in a chemin-de-fer game only a few weeks after a bill legalizing gambling became law three years ago.

Nowhere in the West is there such consistent play at roulette or chemmy with 100 sterling ($280), 500 sterling ($1,400) or 1,000 sterling ($2,800) chips:

Night after night. For the British were always the high-stake bettors of Europe. Now that there is no reason to go abroad to indulge their gaming instincts, they have been thronging the local casinos.

And thereby they may have planted the seeds of the end of the great gambling spree. Distance made glamorous the tales that used to drift back about big-betting Britons from the gaming casinos of Monte Carlo, Cannes, Beaulieu.

BEGINNING TO WORRY

With the action on its own doorstep, the British government is beginning to worry about "the no-limit gaming clubs which revive the lurid vices of the 18th century and proliferate in every city and resort."

The quotation is from an angry editorial in the Sunday Times which urged a tax on gambling (there isn't one now) and the losing of most of the casinos in favor of a limited number of public-owned establishments.

The bell began to toll in earnest for wide-open gambling when George Thomas, joint parliamentary secretary at the home office, told a meeting, "The time has come when we need to revise the betting and gaming act."

★ ★ ★

He said it was being frankly admitted in government circles that backers of the original bill had not anticipated the excesses now taking place.

'LIVING HELL'

"There are families," he said, "whose lives are being made a hell because of gambling. The time has come to strike a note of warning to the nation. Unless a halt is called, we will be on the way to decadence from which it will be very difficult to recover."

This was especially worrying to the operators of the big London casinos, several of them housed in great mansions at great expense. Some of the wiser among them have always advocated a tax on their earnings.

They felt such a tax would forestall a public outcry and at the same time force passage of a law permitting them to sue for bad debts.

★ ★ ★

Since gambling in Britain is on the honor system, the casinos are holding a total of millions of dollars in bad checks from players who decided to cut their losses by stopping payment.

MAY SUFFER

The big casinos now fear they may suffer in a campaign more properly aimed at the smaller, badly managed, occasionally crooked places. They say they are willing to abide by any home office restriction — even a $84,000 annual license fee, a special police gambling squad and government inspectors to supervise the clubs.

They claim gambling is a tourist draw (one club runs chartered plane flights for American gamblers), to which the Sunday Times replied:

"The argument that we gain valuable tourist traffic by a wide-open gambling system is worthier of the State of Nevada than of a nation rich in cultural life, historical relics and scenic beauty."

★ ★ ★

In the midst of the gambling reform scare, a bank teller was charged with embezzling $112,000 most of which he lost at roulette in London casinos. It could not have come at worse time for the club operators.

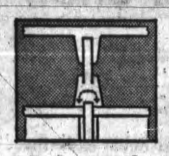

A new antibiotic called anthelvencin has been found effective in ridding pigs of parasitic worms.

New Prime Minister

Woman to Lead India

Majority Party Picks Daughter of Ex-Premier

Becomes First of Sex in Modern Times to Head Major Nation

MRS. INDIRA GANDHI

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Mrs. Indira Gandhi, daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru, was elected today to be India's next prime minister, the first woman in modern times to head the government of a major nation.

India's ruling Congress party automatically elevated Mrs. Gandhi to prime minister by electing her leader of its majority faction in Parliament.

Thus on the shoulders of 48-year-old widow fell the immense problems of India with which her father had wrestled for 17 years until his death in 1964 and which his successor, Lal Bahadur Shastri, had attacked vigorously until a heart attack killed him Jan. 11.

Mrs. Gandhi went to her victory wearing a red rosebud pinned to her shawl, just as her father wore a red rose daily throughout the tumultuous years after independence in 1947.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gandhi polled 355 votes to 169 for her only challenger, right-wing leader Morarji Desai.

CHEERING ERUPTS

Cheering erupted in Parliament's central hall when a party official, G.S. Pathak, announced the results of the secret ballot.

Pearson Guilty in Slaying of Area Youth, 17

Waterford Township Boy Convicted of 2nd-Degree Murder

JEFFREY TALBOT

ALAN ROSS PEARSON

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury found Allan Ross Pearson Jr. guilty of second degree murder shortly before noon today.

A jury of seven men and five women were in their second day of deliberation this morning in the murder trial of Alan Ross Pearson Jr., 17, of Waterford Township.

Pearson was charged with the June 27 slaying of Jeffrey Talbot, 17, of 2045 Watkins Lake, Waterford Township.

The Oakland County Circuit Court case went to the jury yesterday afternoon after closing arguments by the prosecution and defense.

Judge James S. Thorburn instructed the jury on the law, pointing out they could return one of four verdicts: guilty of first or second degree murder, or manslaughter, or innocent.

★ ★ ★

Late yesterday afternoon the jury returned to the courtroom to inquire about the distinction between second-degree murder and manslaughter.

SELF-DEFENSE

Pearson of 1127 Alhi and defense attorney Clarence Smith have contended he acted in self-defense.

During three days of testimoney, conflicting statements were presented. Prosecution witnesses testified Pearson jumped from a car to confront young Talbot just prior to the fatal fight near Talbot's house.

The defense, meantime, has offered testimony claiming Pearson was pulled from the car in which he and a companion arrived at the scene.

The fight, according to trial testimony, resulted from hard feelings between Pearson and Talbot over a girl both had dated.

15 Children Catch TB at Nursery

DETROIT (AP) — Approximately 15 children are hospitalized for tuberculosis contracted in a suburban nursery epidemic of the disease.

Discovery of the epidemic and its tracing to a nursery teacher as the TB source took place just before and after last Christmas time.

Detroit and Wayne County health authorities disclosed details yesterday.

The hospitalized children, including both boys and girls, are reported in good condition. Doctors say they may recover fully.

With the situation described as in hand, the nursery is being permitted to continue its operations.

CREDIT DOCTORS

The vigilance of two unnamed family doctors was credited in large part with discovery of the epidemic and its being brought to a halt.

Dr. John J. Hanlon, Detroit and Wayne County health director, and Mrs. Marie Gaylord, operator of the preschool Hansel & Gretel Day Nursery in Garden City, disclosed the epidemic.

Mrs. Gaylord said she and her staff and health authorities "worked together" in running down the case.

Shortly before Christmas Day, a family doctor found a lesion on a small girl's leg. He reported to health authorities.

ANOTHER GIRL

A few days later, another girl was found apparently infected with TB. Her doctor also reported to health officials.

Investigation brought out that both girls had attended Hansel & Gretel Nursery.

All 57 nursery children received tests for TB. Most responded in the "negative" no infection.

Ultimately, the source was found. It was a woman teacher at the nursery.

BELIEVED CURED

She once had had TB and thought herself cured.

The teacher, like the children, is under medical care.

The children were taken to Maybury Sanitarium in Detroit, an institution for victims of tuberculosis.

"All are in generally good condition," Dr. Hanlon said.

Draft Officials in Washington

To View Manpower, College Deferments

WASHINGTON (AP) — College deferments and manpower problems top the agenda for a meeting here today of Midwestern and Eastern state draft directors with national Selective Service officials.

"The purpose of the meeting is to discuss potential additional sources of manpower to replenish the pool of men classified as 1-A and available for induction," a Selective Service spokesman said. He added:

"The possibility of a return to consideration of class standing and testing for alleged deferment will surely be discussed."

Under present selective service policies, the 2.2 million students holding college deferments only are required to be doing satisfactory work as full-time students at a properly accredited college or university.

The spokesman said no decision had been reached in the proposed reinstatement of the Korean war system of college deferments, ordered abolished by President John F. Kennedy in 1962.

CLASS STANDING

That system required local draft boards to take into consideration a student's class standing and his score on the Selective Service college qualification test.

Under those rules, a freshman had to be in the upper three-fourths of his class to be considered doing satisfactory work, a sophomore in the upper two-thirds and a junior in the upper half.

Expected to attend or be represented at today's meeting are the state selective service directors of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Vermont, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, Ohio, Virginia, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and the District of Columbia.

U.S. Surveying Viet Peace Bid

Foreign Government Reports Are Awaited

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The United States is surveying foreign governments which have joined in the Vietnamese peace offensive to see what, if anything, they have heard from North Viet Nam and whether they expect a response.

The survey is being made this week in preparation for an assessment by President Johnson and his top advisers of the resultant prospects of the worldwide diplomatic campaign which the President launched three weeks ago.

A key issue in the policy review will be whether and when the United States should resume bombing North Viet Nam.

On this question it is understood that opinion among the President's advisers is divided, with military leaders advocating an early return to air strikes against targets in the north and some civilian authorities favoring indefinite continuation of the pause in the bombing.

★ ★ ★

The policy review presumably will be held next week, barring some radical change in the situation.

SURVEY RESULTS

By that time the results of the survey should all be in.

The truce in fighting which is scheduled for the Vietnamese lunar New Year holiday—tomorrow through Sunday, Saigon time—will also be over.

It should then be quickly known whether the Communists are prepared to respond to

Waterford JCs Pick Young Man of Year

John E. Dowsett, 34-year-old director of court services of Oakland County Juvenile Court, walked off with top honors last night at the Waterford Township Jaycees' 12th annual Bosses' Night banquet.

Dowsett of 3757 Embarcadero was named the organization's outstanding young man of 1965 before an audience of more than 60 persons at Fortino's Steak House.

Ted McCullough, 33, of 3569 Brookdale was named boss-of-the-year.

Featured speaker for the event was Rev. Joseph Kubik, a faculty member of St. Mary's College, Orchard Lake.

Dowsett and McCullough were selected by a panel of three judges on the basis of leadership, contribution to the community and business progress.

★ ★ ★

The judges were Dr. Don O. Tatroe, superintendent of Waterford Township Schools; Dr. John Naz of Pontiac General Hospital and Rev. F. J. Delaney of Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church.

3 CHILDREN

Dowsett, father of three children, has held his current position for approximately one year. He was hired as a juvenile court probation officer in 1956.

He works directly under James W. Hunt, director of children's services.

Dowsett is a member of the Michigan Juvenile Court Officers' Association, National Council of Crime and Delinquency, Michigan Welfare League, Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, church men's club, Our Lady of the Lakes Christian Community Development Board and Knights of Columbus.

★ ★ ★

McCullough, still active in the Jaycee chapter and a past president, is the owner of McCullough Realty, 5460 M59. He is District 10 vice president in charge of 10 Jaycee chapters.

The award is given annually to the man who has done the most for the Jaycees in the past year.

Area Home Hit by $35,000 Fire

A fire of undetermined origin yesterday caused an estimated $35,000 damage to a West Bloomfield Township home.

★ ★ ★

Firemen from six area departments extinguished the blaze in the Dr. George Kantzler home, 5786 Bloomfield Glens.

The fire was confined to the family room, furnace room and part of another room, although there also was extensive smoke damage in other areas.

Damage from the fire, which apparently started near an interior incinerator, was estimated at $30,000 to the house and $5,000 to the contents.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kantzler and three children, who were home when the fire started shortly before 1 p.m., were uninjured.

★ ★ ★

West Bloomfield Township firemen were assisted by those from Bloomfield Township, Farmington, Franklin, Walled Lake and Commerce Township.

Savings Bond Interest Rates to Be 4¼ Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government soon will hike interest rates on U. S. savings bonds to the maximum allowable 4¼ per cent but will not ask congressional approval to go beyond that, sources indicated today.

The government now pays 3¾ per cent interest on the $49 billion outstanding in series "E" and "H" bonds.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler announced yesterday that President Johnson had ordered the interest boost at "the earliest possible date."

Fowler said the higher rates will help maintain the bond sales.

★ ★ ★

Under law, the government cannot raise the interest rate beyond 4¼ per cent without congressional approval.

NO INDICATION

In a New York speech, Fowler gave no indication of how large an increase is being considered.

He said only that the nation was again at a point "where rates available on a variety of alternative forms of savings have moved beyond the rate paid on U. S. savings bonds."

But federal officials here, while unwilling to spell out details of what the White House has ordered, indicated that an interest rate rise to 4¼ per cent is in the offing.

★ ★ ★

They noted that ordinary commercial savings accounts and payments to building and loan associations now yield at least 4¼ per cent.

River Ice Cracks, 3 Children Drown

EATON RAPIDS (AP) — Two small sisters and their brother drowned when thin ice gave way beneath them on the Grand River yesterday.

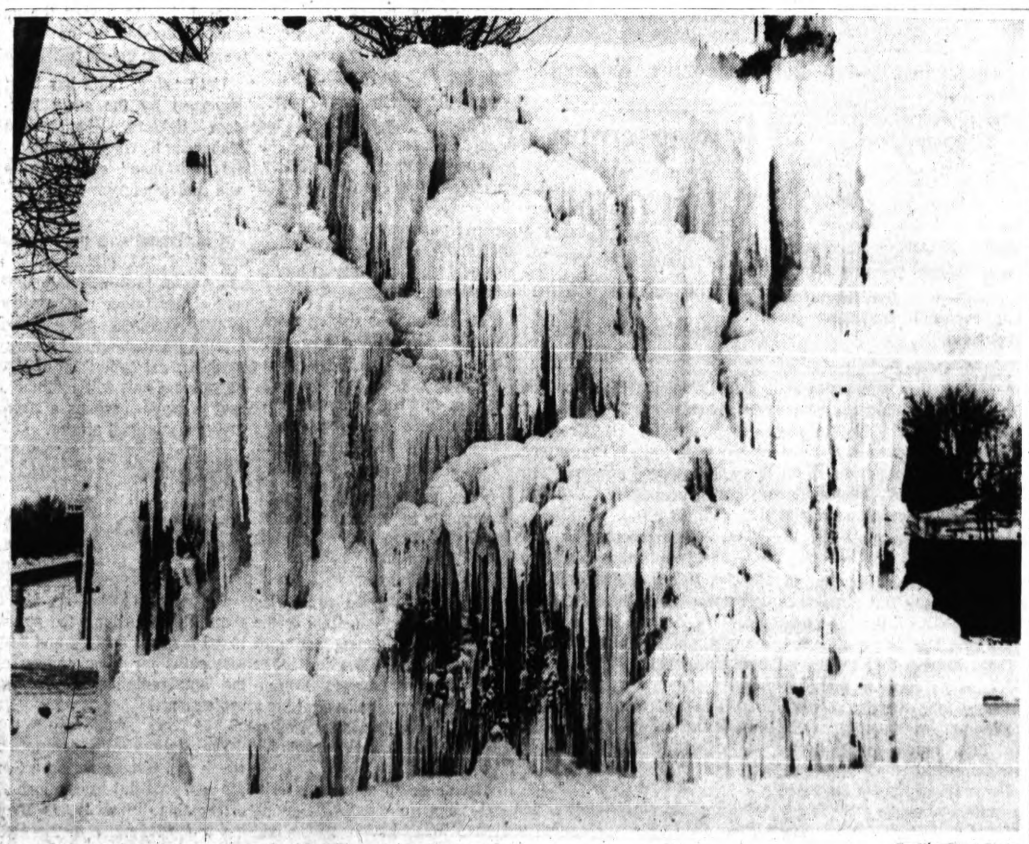

Two other children fell in the river but reached shore safely.

Drowned were Mark Wheeler, 6, and his sisters, Kim, 7, and Julie, 4.

They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wheeler of Eaton Rapids.

Randy Eddie, 6, and his brother, Douglas, 4, were playing on the thin river ice with the Wheeler children.

Eaton County sheriff's men said the bodies of Kim and Mark were recovered but a search continued for the body of Julie.

ICE PALACE — Underneath this shimmering tower of ice, according to its maker, lie an upside-down garbage can and 25 Christmas trees. Ernest A. May, a Pontiac Motor Division employe, fashioned the mountain of icicles with round-the-clock use of a garden hose at his residence at 740 Parkwood. The garbage can served as base for the structure, and trees were piled on as the ice grew.

Viet Cong Kill 33 in Savage Raid on Refugee Camp

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong paid a bloody visit to a refugee camp for 2,000 Vietnamese early today in the final hours before their four-day truce for the Lunar New Year.

Thirty-three persons were killed and 54 wounded, many of them women and children, as the guerrillas swept down on the sleeping settlement on the outskirts of the provincial capital of Tam Ky, 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

They set fire to thatched huts, executed whole families on the spot, mangled the bodies of victims, kidnaped nine men and left behind leaflets denouncing America's "dirty war of aggression against the people of Viet Nam," U.S. advisers reported.

The savage attack came 22 hours before the cease-fire promised by the Viet Cong was to go into effect at 11 p.m. — 10 a.m. EST. A 3¼-day allied truce begins at noon Thursday — 11 p.m. EST Wednesday.

500 GUERRILLAS

The U.S. 1st Infantry Division tangled for more than an hour with a battalion of Viet Cong, about 500 guerrillas, in the afternoon in jungles 22 miles northwest of Saigon. The Communists broke off the action after American air support was called in.

By midafternoon the U.S. planes had flown 49 sorties against the Communists. The infantrymen were engaged during a sweep dubbed Operation Buckskin. Their casualties were described as light. Communist losses were not immediately estimated.

As the Viet Cong descended on the refugee settlement at Tam Ky from surrounding ricefields, they simultaneously launched a mortar and recoilless rifle attack on the Quang Tin Province headquarters, 300 yards north of the refugee camp. Parts of the camp may have been caught in the crossfire, but a government spokesman denied any fire was directed at the camp.

A mortar fell through the roof of a billet housing men of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, but none of the Americans was injured and there was only negligible damage to the rest of the complex. Two Vietnamese guards were wounded.

REFUGEE CAMP

U.S. advisers who entered the Tu Hiep refugee camp after the 40-minute siege said it had been turned into a chamber of horrors. Women wept over the bodies of their children. A three-room school that had been built only three months ago was blown to bits.

★ ★ ★

Many of the refugees had crowded into the camp from the village of Hiep Duc, 20 miles to the west, after it was overrun by the Communists last November.

Tot, 3, to Be Buried as 'Little Boy Blue'

MONROE (UPI) — Unless someone can identify him, a 3-year-old boy will be buried in this southern Michigan town later this week known only as "little boy blue."

★ ★ ★

The boy, clad in a blue quilted ski jacket, red shirt, black corduroy pants and blue socks, was found by a rabbit hunter in an outhouse on an abandoned farm near here.

An autopsy revealed the lad had been beaten to death.

Their only clue, authorities said, is a label inside the boy's shirt "Matt Peters Jr." They don't know whether the brand is a national one or what kind of distribution it has.

★ ★ ★

No one has claimed the boy. His description: brown hair, 35 inches tall, 25 pounds with that sturdy, well-fed look.

POLICE THEORY

Police theorize no one has claimed the boy because those who know him may be his murderer, or murderers. They believe either the parents slew the boy or they are dead themselves.

Shortly after the body was discovered last Saturday by a hunter, police sent out a nationwide alert for an identification of the lad.

A color photograph of the boy's clothing and its description have been distributed to other law enforcement agencies, so far to no avail.

★ ★ ★

Monroe County Sheriff Charles G. Harrington said of the mystery child, "he was neat, but his clothes were dirty. He didn't look like he came from a first class family. The clothes were fairly good but dirty."

WELL CARED FOR

When the boy was found, the jacket was zippered and the hood was on the boy's head — an indication, authorities said, the boy had been well cared for and well-trained. Also it was an indication, they said, the lad was not struggling at the time of his death, if those were the clothes he wore.

By the middle of this week only two divorced fathers had come to take a look at the boy on the possibility he may have been a son. He wasn't. He remained unidentified.

Meantime, the little body was being held in a freezer at Mercy Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Monroe county officials will bury the body in a few days unless a loved one shows to give "little boy blue" a proper burial.

Corner to Get Safety Devices

Bloomfield Township today won from state officials the promise that two temporary safety devices will be installed at the high-accident intersection of Maple and Telegraph.

★ ★ ★

Township Supervisor Homer Case and Rep. William R. Hampton, R-Birmingham, met this morning with Gov. Romney and Harold Cooper, director of the State Highway Department's traffic division.

Cooper will order installed within 90 days left-turn signals and yellow flashing "prepare-to-stop" signals on Telegraph.

The meeting in the governor's office was arranged by Hampton following the deaths of two teen-agers in separate accidents at the intersection the last two days of 1965.

★ ★ ★

The green-arrow lights for north- and southbound traffic on Telegraph will have delays of eight to 12 minutes, Case said.

The "prepare-to-stop" signs will be installed 1,000 feet from the intersection, warning both north- and southbound motorists.

★ ★ ★

Cooper said he also would ask the Oakland County Road Commission to install overhead signs on Maple to indicate through and left-turn-only lanes.

De Gaulle Regime Shaken

French Admit Arab Scandal Collusion

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's government today admitted "complicity" of French secret agents in the kidnaping and probably assassination of Moroccan opposition leader Mehdi Ben Barka.

A communique issued after today's regular cabinet session called the Oct. 29 abduction "a criminal enterprise mounted from the start from abroad and which had the benefit of certain complicity by agents of the special services or of French police officers."

The kidnaping brought a new crisis in France's relations with the Arab nations. The scandal also shook de Gaulle's new government and threatened the political future of some of his cabinet ministers and closest advisers.

The cabinet announced it was replacing the head of the nation's secret service, Gen. Paul Jacquiert, and putting the organization under the control of the army ministry.

Previously the secret service, known as the SDECE (Society de Documentation Exterieure et Contre-Espionage), reported directly to Premier Georges Pompidou but was semiautonomous.

HITS NEW PITCH

De Gaulle's move came as the clamor for a government clean-up of the three-month-old case and the Monday night death of key witness Georges Figon rose to a new pitch.

Two Paris police officers and a long-time counter-espionage agent already were behind bars for complicity in the affair.

French sources said the Ben Barka incident was mounted by Moroccan government officials to get rid of a dangerous rival. Morocco has repeatedly denied the French claims, but the affair has severely strained relations between the two nations.

★ ★ ★

The scandal centered on Figon' alleged suicide. He was a former criminal believed to be a key figure in the kidnapping. The French press accepted with reserve the official report that Figon shot himself just before police forced their way into his apartment to arrest him.

PROMINENT REMINDERS

Several newspapers carried prominent reminders of the highly suspect "suicide" of Alexander Stavitsky, a swindler, in the mid-1930s which wrecked the careers of several members of parliament and the cabinet and brought down the government of Premier Camille Chautemps.

The press was asking very bluntly why police had not been able to find Figon, who had been sought for more than two months, when he frequently met journalists and was even photographed in front of police headquarters.

Some newspapers emphasized statements by leading witnesses implicating top police officials in the kidnap plot.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle ordered authorities to press the investigation of the Ben Barka kidnaping and met yesterday with a leading judge and Premier Georges Pompidou. Observers believed they discussed the growing proportions of the Ben Barka scandal.

★ ★ ★

Figon's death came at a critical point in the slow-moving kidnap investigation. Figon had declared in press interviews that he had been present while Ben Barka was tortured by a Moroccan government official at a country villa outside Paris.

U.S. Surveys Nations on Peace Blitz

President Johnson's recent call for a reduction in hostilities or whether they will follow the holiday lull with widespread offensive operations in South Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, one of Johnson's chief emissaries to foreign governments during the peace offensive, are due here tonight or tomorrow from the Far East.

Rusk and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who returned to Washington earlier, conferred with Soviet Premier Alexai N. Kosygin when they were in India last week for the funeral of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

The Soviet Union holds a key position in U.S. hopes for and eventual settlement in Viet Nam.

Despite Moscow attacks on American policy, administration officials believe that the Soviet government would like to see the war ended before it gets bigger and more dangerous. They also believe Soviet influence is increasing in Hanoi as Soviet military and economic aid increase.

This is a major reason advanced by some U.S. authorities for continuing the bombing pause and the peace offensive.

They contend that the Soviet Union needs time to make its influence felt whereas an early resumption of bombing could lead to a much deeper Soviet involvement in North Viet Nam.

The main argument advanced by military leaders for early renewal of bombing North Viet Nam targets is that it is necessary to limit Hanoi's ability to send troops and arms into South Viet Nam to fight American and South Vietnamese forces.

Aussie Leader Plans to Retire

Treasury Minister Is Expected Successor

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies, the senior government chief in the British Commonwealth, announced today he is retiring after 16 years in office.

MENZIES

Menzies, 71, did not disclose whether he also intends to give up his seat in Parliament.

Treasury Minister Harold Holt is expected to succeed him as head of the Liberal-Country party coalition.

Son of a country storekeeper and grandson of a Scottish miner, Menzies gave up a lucrative law practice to enter state politics in 1928.

★ ★ ★

When he entered the federal Parliament the next year, Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons selected him as attorney general. When Lyons died in 1939, Menzies succeeded him and led Australia into World War II at Britain's side.

He resigned in 1941 when he lost the support of two independents who had helped to keep him in power. A month later the United Australia party lost an election to Labor and Menzies became leader of the opposition.

Menzies started his current record term in office in 1949 when his newly organized Liberal party beat out Labor and checked its plans to nationalize industry.

heal any damage done to party unity by the hectic political maneuvering that followed Shastri's death.

"I want your blessing," she told Desai as balloting began.

The stern, 69-year-old Desai replied: "Who am I to give you blessing? We need everybody's blessing."

Victory for Mrs. Gandhi, who learned politics at her father's side, not only resumed the Nehru era after Shastri's 19-month interval, it also passed the nation's leadership to the second generation of Indian politicians.

Until today, India has been governed by the early freedom fighters who waged Mohandas K. Gandhi's "peaceful resistance" campaign to win independence from Britain.

Mrs. Gandhi was part of that movement but played only a minor role. However, the survivors of her father's generation, notably Congress party President Kumaraswami Kamaraj, crushed most opposition to Mrs. Gandhi and thus will continue to have a say — perhaps a strong say — in national affairs.

School Board to Meet, Work on Bond Proposal

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The board of education has scheduled a special meeting Tuesday night to begin work on drafting a bond issue proposal.

School trustees recently were warned that funds will be needed soon for classrooms to house a skyrocketing enrollment.

"If we do it right, we're going to have to think in terms of at least $8 million," Schools Supt. Eugene Johnson said.

Architects have indicated the needed amount could well go to $10 million.

★ ★ ★

Board members are considering a bond proposition for the June school ballot.

PIN IT DOWN

"It is time for us to get down to business, pull it together and pin it down," Johnson said.

The session will be held at 8 p.m. in the new school district administration building at 4175 Andover, across from the high school.

Michigan State University consultants told the board in October that it should step up the current building program, financed by a $7.6-million bond issue approved in June 1964.

With enrollment jumping from 6,700 to 7,617 this year, the district might well reach its peak of 12,000 to 15,000 students within the next five years, the experts warned.

PLIGHT EMPHASIZED

Plight of the district was emphasized again in December by architects at Tarapata-MacMahon Associates.

Charles MacMahon of the Bloomfield Township firm noted funds from the 1964 bond issue just aren't going far enough because of increased construction costs.

He also noted the needs in terms of student capacity are "tremendously higher" than anticipated.

BIRMINGHAM—Modern math will be explained to parents at the Berkshire Junior High PTA meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the school.

The program, conducted by Thomas Horan, mathematics department chairman, will feature a film entitled "Math for Tomorrow" produced by the National Education Association.

★ ★ ★

Programmed instruction as it relates to modern math will be discussed.

Area Welder 'in the Chips' for Cooking

A West Bloomfield Township welder who knows his way around a kitchen has won a trip to Las Vegas for himself and his wife.

Regional winner in the Men's National Cooking Championship sponsored by the Potato Chip Institute International, Walter Sadoway and his wife will leave Jan. 30 for two weeks at the Flamingo Hotel.

While there, Sadoway of 6612 Alderley and three other regional winners will compete for national honors in a cook-off.

The national champ will receive $1,000, with the other winners receiving $750, $400 and $200 for their efforts.

★ ★ ★

Sadoway, an estimator for Progressive Welder and Machine Co. of Pontiac, entered the contest last September with his recipe for potato chip pancakes. He was named state champion two weeks ago.

Some 179,000 recipes were reportedly entered in the contest, which called for a main dish prepared from potato chips.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Death Claims Popular Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Kathleen Norris, one of America's most popular women writers, has died at 85 after writing nearly 100 novels for "people with simple needs and motives."

★ ★ ★

"I have no knowledge of the dark forces which fascinate modern writers," said Mrs. Norris, reminiscing about her prolific writings recently.

The novelist was suffering from a circulatory ailment and fell into a coma a week ago. She died Tuesday at the Pacific Heights home of her son, Dr. Frank Norris, with her family gathered around her.

★ ★ ★

From that year until her last novel, "Through a Glass Darkly," she produced nearly two books a year, 58 magazine serials and uncounted newspaper and magazine articles.

NOVELS POURED OUT

A critic once wrote that her novels "poured from her typewriter as sawdust pours from a sawmill."

The critics respected her craftsmanship but regarded her as an "incorrigible romanticist" and refused to take her seriously.

"But then," she was often heard saying, "I never took them very seriously either."

State Doctors Polled on Merger

LANSING (AP) — A House committee is asking the state's 10,000 medical doctors and 2,000 osteopaths for their opinion on the amalgamation of the two professions.

★ ★ ★

The state affairs committee, which now is considering a Senate-approved bill to establish an osteopathic authority, is mailing a questionnaire to the medical men. It asks:

"—Do you believe amalgamation of allopathy (a system of medicine that makes use of all remedies found to be of value) and osteopathy would be in the best interest of the people of the state?

STATE SUPPORT EYED

—"Should the state give support to an osteopathic school?

—"Do you believe both MDs and DOs, on the basis of individual qualifications, should be considered eligible for staff consideration by the governing boards of public-supported hospitals?"

The answers to the questionnaire, said Chairman John Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, will be taken into account when the committee makes up its mind on the bill which is designed to make it easier for a proposed osteopathic college in Pontiac to get federal funds.

★ ★ ★

The Senate passed the measure, sponsored by Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, last October.

The 10-member authority, appointed by the governor, would legally be able to construct or acquire a college, operate, manage and staff it and set tuitions.

With the competition today the most intense in history, it is a tremendous recognition of personal ability to recall that Mr. GOODMAN began along the assembly line and literally "worked his way to the top." No individual in America exemplifies the glorious road of the American system and achievement any more than this stalwart citizen.

Tremendous competence is proven in a simple recognition of his record, but beyond that Mr. GOODMAN was blessed with a personality in a million. He made friends everywhere—without trying. In a popularity contest on any level, he would have finished in the top eschelon.

And so, at the unhappy time of only 61 years, a whole host of staunch and admiring friends bow silently before the bier of this lovable man as he journeys towards the Great Beyond, confident and unafraid. State Seeks Solution to Deer Hunters' Woes

The State Conservation Commission has called for a review of Conservation Department deer management policies.

In taking this action, the commission may have stalled legislative action designed to take control of the deer herd out of the hands of the experts.

Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, has introduced a measure calling for a one-year moratorium on antlerless deer hunting in the Upper Peninsula. This bill is expected to be amended to cover the entire state and increase the moratorium to two years.

Sen. MACK'S measure is the result of loud grumblings by a majority of Michigan's 600,000 deer hunters against the taking of antlerless deer.

★ ★ ★

The Conservation Department estimates that 108,000 deer were killed during the 1965 firearms season. Hunters are telling legislators at public hearings and in letters that these figures are wrong.

These hunters, who represent a lot of votes, want antlerless deer hunting stopped. They don't care whether the Conservation Department calls a halt or the legislature.

The sentiment among lawmakers is that the hunters should get their wish. If the department doesn't do something, they will look favorably upon Sen. MACK'S bill.

★ ★ ★

One thing conservationists have found to be a major detriment to effective operation of conservation departments in various states is interference by politicians.

Programs in Iowa and Ohio are controlled by politicians with the result that conservation in these states is going in circles.

A decline in the pheasant population in South Dakota triggered action from lawmakers that led to the firing or quitting of that state's top conservation men.

★ ★ ★

Members of Michigan's Conservation Commission realize that once legislators take control of one phase of conservation work—in this case the deer herd—it can lead to interference in other areas such as pheasants, parks and fishing.

The end result would be a politically run conservation department. The legislature's main responsibility now is to set seasons and bag limits, license fees and appropriate money for department operations.

Management is left up to the Conservation Department under guidelines set up by the commission.

That's the way it should be, and the commission is attempting to come up with a solution that will keep the hunters and lawmakers happy without hampering the conservation effort.

GOP War Cries Suddenly Muted

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders who once advocated a naval quarantine of North Viet Nam have muted their cries for stern new war measures since President Johnson began his publicized peace offensive.

The Republican prescription outlined Monday night by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen did not mention the GOP policy declaration of five weeks ago which recommended heightened war in the air and at sea.

Instead, Dirksen charted a course apparently identical to that Johnson is following:

Continue the quest for peace, continue to fight the war—harder, if need be.

"Let it be intensified, if necessary, as sound military judgment dictates," Dirksen said.

Johnson, in a speech that hinted at the coming peace drive, said Dec. 9 he was determined "that every prospect for peace be exhausted before other hard steps are taken."

A week ago, in his State of the Union address, Johnson said he could not forecast the future in Viet Nam. "We may have to face long, hard combat or a long, hard conference, or even both at once," he said.

Dirksen, assigned to handle foreign affairs in a Republican appraisal of the State of the Union, did not suggest any cut off in the bombing lull which has withheld air assaults on North Vietnamese targets since Christmas Eve.

His speech-making partner, House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford, said Sunday that only the President can decide how long the bombing suspension should be continued.

Neither Republican talked of the position taken Dec. 13 by the Republican Coordinating Committee, a council of party chieftains on which both Dirksen and Ford serve.

The committee said President Johnson should use against North Viet Nam the kind of naval quarantine President John F. Kennedy instituted against Cuba during the 1962 missile crisis.

The cautious Republican words of recent days may stem from two concerns.

One is a shared hope that the quest for settlement can succeed. "Who can object to any honorable effort to secure peace where young blood is involved?" asked Dirksen.

The other looms next November: an election in which the war in Viet Nam seems certain to be a major issue. Dirksen already has said it will be one.

"The people make the issues and the issues make the parties," he said Dec. 7. "It won't be the Republican party that will make it an issue. It will be the people."

—A Woman Scorned!

David Lawrence Says:

GOP Wasn't Given Equal Time

WASHINGTON — The three television networks didn't give the Republican spokesmen "equal time" for their "State of the Union" message.

LAWRENCE

The President was granted an hour, and the Republicans only a half-hour. Mr. Johnson had prime time — 9 p.m. — on all three networks simultaneously. The Columbia Broadcasting system gave the Republican presentation from 10:30 to 11:00 p.m., while the National Broadcasting Co. and the American Broadcasting Co. showed it from 11:30 p.m. to midnight. This period is usually called "the late show."

The time for delivery of the President's "State of the Union" message was well publicized in advance, not only in news reports but in announcements on the air and in print.

There was, on the other hand, considerable fumbling about giving advance notice to the public as to when the Republican program would be heard.

★ ★ ★

Many millions of viewers and listeners had, therefore, gone to bed when "the other side" of the argument was broadcast.

QUARTER OF AN HOUR

Also, only a quarter of an hour was made available to the Senate Republican leader, Everett Dirksen, and another quarter of an hour to the House Republican leader, Gerald Ford.

So the two Republican spokesmen had to condense their remarks. They tried to do too much in too little time, and their comments, therefore, were not as comprehensive as they would have been had there been more broadcast time.

While the two brief speeches had in them some good arguments, the effort as a whole was not as effective as it might have been if a different concept of an opposition party's duty and responsibility had been recognized by the party strategists.

★ ★ ★

It isn't the obligation of a minority party to present alternatives in specific form or to construct a rival program. The chief need is to tell the people what's actually going on so that they may learn what is the true state of the union.

REAL DEFICIT

The Republican presentation might well have included, for instance, figures from the speech made in the Senate on Monday by Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, who declared that President Johnson is hiding the true deficit in next year's national budget until after this year's congressional elections, and added that the real deficit would be $9.2 billion instead of the $1.8 billion predicted by Mr. Johnson.

One of the biggest scandals of all — the manner in which national elections are controlled today — got only a little attention. Ford said:

"Ways must be found to eliminate vote fraud, curb the cost of political campaigns, and expand the right to vote."

★ ★ ★

Plenty of evidence of the political use of federal funds intended to fight poverty or to help education has been uncovered. The Republicans might have portrayed the nature of the irregularities prevalent, but they didn't. Rep. Ford did touch briefly on one of these aspects as follows:

"We must liberate the war on poverty from waste, controversy, and the bad odor of political bossism."

★ ★ ★

But such vague statements on abuses — without giving some concrete examples — could hardly have made much impression, and certainly not on people half-asleep during broadcasts made near midnight.

'There's No Duplication of Services to the Poor'

Since the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity has been criticized by the public and former members, I, as a member, would like to make a few statements on its behalf.

★ ★ ★

There may have been some mistakes made by the commission, as any other organization will make, but I sincerely believe there is no duplication of services to the poor. It is not the purpose of the commission to give handouts to the poor but to help them to help themselves, train them for better paying jobs, etc. Issues to be brought up at the commission meetings are mailed a week in advance for study. I have spoken for and against some things being discussed at meetings. I represent the Latin American community and sometimes it seems my people are not getting jobs, but before one of them is hired I want to be sure he is qualified.

★ ★ ★

I believe the commission, which has Democrats, Republicans, Independents, whites, Negroes, a Latin American, poor, well-to-do, executives and labor, does the best it can. I believe the staff and Mr. James McNeeley are doing a good job and if we can get the cooperation from the public we can have a Great Society.

Hunters Come Close to Reader's Home

Some hunter shot our English Beagle and didn't have the decency to help or try to find the owner. Hunters come so close to our house that they broke a window in our car. That shot could have hit a child or an adult. I'm afraid to go outside or send my children out to play. These hunters should go to Viet Nam.

'Uninsured Driver Law Causes Confusion'

We are confused by the new law regarding uninsured motorists. In our insurance policy we pay $6 for protection against uninsured drivers. We were told that if we drop this we would have to sign a statement that the State was not liable. How can you win? It seems it would have been simple to tell uninsured motorists to get insurance or no license would be issued. Why should they not accept their responsibility like everyone else?

Jet-Age Blues

Life Magazine

U.S. tourists who snap at their wives in Singapore, businessmen who botch up a big deal in Brussels — take heart. The government has just proved you're not to blame. A study by the Federal Aviation Authority proves what jet-age travelers have known all along. Any flight that takes us through more than four time zones short-circuits our internal clocks for three to seven days.

★ ★ ★

The study sent scientist-subjects jetting to Tokyo, Rome and Santiago, Chile. Each was wired like an astronaut and the results fed into a computer.

The tests so far confirm that we all have thermostats that shut down just after the hour we normally retire (stay up all night and you feel chilly about 2 a.m.). Another clock pumps adrenal secretions into our systems before we normally wake up. When these metabolic clocks start going off over a Parisian lunch or at the theater in London, the traveler ends up seriously discombobulated.

More serious than discomfort is the havoc raised with mental processes. After the flights, none of the Ph.D.'s who flew for the FAA could add up simple columns of figures that had been child's play for them a day earlier. Their reactions were less than a third as sharp as normal. The findings to date are hardly comforting to companies that make a practice of jetting a vice president in from the home office to make a vital decision on the spot.

If the problem increases in proportion to speed, think of the passengers on the supersonic jet transports due in the 1970s. Perhaps we need a pill.

An Incentive!

The Indianapolis Star

We have to tip our hat to William E. Constable, 35-year-old Bloomington man who has been selected as a member of Phi Beta Kappa, America's oldest scholastic society.

Five years ago Constable, a full-time employe at a Bloomington limestone quarry, decided that his life was only a "vegetable" existence. So he enrolled in Indiana University to broaden his horizons. During his 5-year university career be managed to support his wife and three children. He also compiled a cumulative grade average of 3.95 out of a possible "A" average of 4.

He has received the Ford P. Hall prize in government, an I. U. Foundation grant and a Merit scholarship. This year he was among I. U. students awarded "Little 500" scholarships.

★ ★ ★

Constable's attitude shows how a man can mature in his outlook. He says he had never intended to go to college and that his main thought in high school was "to do as little as possible and get out." Now he says he looks back on hours spent in front of a television set as a "vegetable existence."

We hope Constable's example stirs others who perhaps think they are too old to start, to abandon vegetable existences for the world of living men.

Sky's Limit for Saleswoman

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Just for fun, Colleen Harrington jumps out of speeding airplanes.

And to earn a living, she sells cars.

The dark-haired Miss Harrington, 22, a former Livonia resident, adopted both her unusual pursuits last year.

She began parachuting from planes as a hobby last May. Since then, she has jumped 55 times as a sky diver.

SALESWOMAN

Miss Harrington began working as a saleswoman for a Ford dealership in Ann Arbor last month.

She received training for the job when "I went to the Ford Marketing Institute for a month," she said. "I was the first girl who ever went through it."

★ ★ ★

Colleen does her sky diving with a group of jumpers based in Tecumseh called "The Shooting Angels." She also is a member of the Parachute Club of America.

"It's the people you meet that make it such fun," she said. "There's a great feeling of spirit and camaraderie."

ON WEEKENDS

On weekends she trades her smart office attire for some 65 pounds of gear that includes the 28-foot parachutes, a crash helmet, goggles, a special jump suit, boots and other items.

All this equipment is fairly expensive, but Colleen bought most of it and says she can "burn the rest."

★ ★ ★

The initial three-hour lesson which includes a first jump and equipment rental, runs to $30. Colleen now pays only the standard rate of $7 per jump. Jump rates vary, though, depending on altitude.

She has developed a rather calm attitude about this business of stepping blithely into space.

'QUITE ROUTINE'

The first jump is "really quite routine and safe, although being a first it's terribly exciting," Colleen said.

"The jump master assists you," she said. "You make a poised exit, and as you leave the plane he pulls on a static line."

★ ★ ★

Colleen returned to Michigan about a year ago from San Francisco where she had gone after graduation from high school. She did secretarial work there.

"I loved San Francisco," she said, "but I'm not that crazy about office work. I like to get out and meet people and I guess this is what attracted me to sales.

'Rich to Get Richer'

Warns of Squeeze on Private Colleges

EAST LANSING (AP) — Among the nation's private liberal arts colleges, the rich will become richer and the poor will become poorer, an assistant dean of one private school predicted Tuesday.

Charles D. O'Connell, director of admissions at the University of Chicago, told a seminar on college admissions that the number of students a private school can attract determines how much it can offer.

★ ★ ★

And, he said, "adolescent snobbery" is a major influence on how many students a school can attract.

The harder a school is to enter, the more students want to enter, he said.

TOP STUDENTS

Thus, O'Connell said, many colleges which end up taking middle-range students start out each year by declaring they will take only top students in hopes of attracting top students.

★ ★ ★

Ten or 15 years ago, he said, private schools taught about 60 per cent of the students. The figure now is around 35 per cent, he said, and the old established state universities are raising standards.

In addition, O'Connell said, "a new, relentless snobbery is arising and the state universities are talking of the day when they can concentrate on good graduate students."

He said the state universities go to the legislature to obtain funds, build facilities and then tell their admissions officers, "go find students that will do us proud."

HIRE FACULTY

Private schools, he said, tell their admissions officers, "get more students and with the increased money we'll hire faculty and make this university in two or three years what you're advertising it to be now."

In the next decade, some private colleges will be squeezed out, some will be squeezed down to a last refuge for the upper class student who "needs maturing" and some may become part of the state systems, O'Connell predicted.

Meanwhile, he said, the 75 to 100 best private schools will probably double in enrollment and become extremely selective.

The middle-range schools are "to strong to fail and too weak to move up," he said.

TESTING URGED

Another University of Chicago man, Prof. James Davis, suggested testing and counseling for college upperclassmen similar to that given to high school upperclassmen who plan to go on to college.

Davis said students base decisions on graduate school and careers to some degree on how well they think they are doing as undergraduates.

★ ★ ★

But, he said, "the better school you can get your child in, the worse grades he will have."

He added that a C student at a top quality school would be better than a B-plus student at a lesser school, but might tend to think he was doing poorly.

Congressional Confusion Not Confined to One Nation

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—During a recent trip to the Far East, Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., attended a committee meeting in the Japanese Diet (parliament).

"Although I understood not a word, the session seemed not unlike a session of a committee of the U.S. - WEST House of Representatives," he reported upon his return.

McClory and I must have something in common. Not understanding what was going on would have made me feel right at home, too.

The second session of the 89th Congress is barely a week old and already my comprehension has been strongly challenged.

The office of Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., set the pace before the session opened by putting out a news release reporting that his staff had given him a "surprise" birthday party.

What made the affair so novel was the fact that the press release describing it reached the House press gallery three days before the party was held.

★ ★ ★

It was the first time I had ever run across a postdated surprise. Apparently the staff wanted to make sure that Monagan wasn't surprised retroactively.

I was still puzzling over that when I came upon a news release from Rep. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., which mystified me further. It said:

"U. S. Rep. Charles E. Bennett, who holds the all-time record in Congress for roll call votes, said Sunday he would introduce legislation designed to prohibit demonstrations which impair United States military operations."

It took me several hours to figure out what Bennett's attendance record has to do with the bill. But finally the connection became clear.

★ ★ ★

If they ever have a roll call on his bill, Bennett more than likely will be there to vote for it.

ADDED BAFFLEMENT

It was, however, another Florida Democrat, Rep. Robert F. L. Sikes, who left me completely baffled. He issued a news release with a heading that read: "Time to get those recreation projects started."

"In most instances, federal funds can be made available to help in the programs," he wrote.

Then directly below that item, he penned a few more paragraphs calling for the curtailment of domestic programs for the duration of the Viet Nam war.

★ ★ ★

"I am convinced the nation doesn't expect both guns and butter and doesn't want it," he wrote.

★ ★ ★

I can only assume that those recreation projects he wants to start with federal funds are classified as margarine.

Negro Vows Fight for Seat

ATLANTA (UPI) — Negro Rep.-elect Julian Bond, a critic of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, vowed yesterday to take his case to the people in a special election to fill the seat denied him by the Georgia Legislature.

Gov. Carl E. Sanders set the election for Feb. 23, five days after the legislature completes its business.

Bond criticized Sanders for calling the election "for this late date," but said he would be a candidate from Atlanta's 136th District, a predominantly Negro area.

Bond was one of eight Negroes elected to the legislature under a reapportionment shakeup that shifted many seats from rural to urban areas. But the House refused to seat Bond after his views on Viet Nam and his apparent support of draft evaders were publicized.

In a statement issued by his lawyer, Charles Morgan of the American Civil Liberties Union, Bond said that the floor leaders should call for adjournment of the General Assembly until someone is elected to represent the district.

Tangled Lines Foil Burglars

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP) — Would-be bank burglars got their fishing lines tangled and came up with no catch.

Rawlins police found a plastic sack with four fishing lines rigged on the corners at the night depository of the Rawlins National Bank.

★ ★ ★

Officers theorized the thieves tried to catch money dropped in the night depository in the plastic sack and retrieve it with the fishing lines.

But officers said the depository is so constructed that when the fishing lines were pulled up, the lines were severed.

Send for Father to Fend Off Ants

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Spitz had some built-in insurance when they gave a giant "ant farm" to their son, Nelson, on his seventh birthday.

Nelson somehow managed to turn loose the entire colony in the Spitz home.

★ ★ ★

It wasn't quite as dire a problem to his mother as it would have been to some mothers. She merely called her husband's office.

Spitz is president of an exterminating company, and he rushed a crew out to his own home.

Texas Fraternity Pledges Form Cleanup Squad

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity at the University of Texas has made its contribution to the United Fund here.

A group of 16 pledges gave the Fund's headquarters a complete cleanup, washing and polishing windows, clearing leaves from roof gutters and generally tidying up.

"It's just a part of our constructive pledge program," Mike Gilmore, leader of the cleanup squad, explained.

"It is the desire of our fraternity to raise the image of fraternities in general — not as groups having parties all the time but as groups who can do constructive work in the community."

Police Hold Girl After Holdup at Portage Station

PORTAGE (AP) — A girl armed with a gun held up a Portage service station today and forced the attendant to accompany her in her car, releasing him a short time later, police said.

A Kalamazoo County sheriff's deputy said Judie Arlene Morris, 20, of Texas Township was held for investigation.

Attendant George Hoffman, 18, of Plainwell told police the woman forced him to turn over $72 and ordered him to ride with her in her car. She released him about five miles west of Portage on I-94, police said.

★ ★ ★

Hoffman noted her car license number and called police.

Dog Puts Its Stamp on New Post Office

EDGERTON, Wyo. (UPI) — Mrs. George Deroe left her dog "Pickitt," a rat terrier, in her car when she parked near the new Edgerton Post Office to mail some letters. The terrier somehow shifted gears to reverse and leaned on the steering wheel.

The new post office has its first dent.

Firemen Smoked Out at Own Fire Station

HIGGINS, Tex. (UPI) — Sirens screamed and volunteer firemen sprinted to the firehouse to grab their helmets and jump in the fire truck. But black, acrid smoke stopped them.

Wind had filled the fire station with smoke from an electrical fire in a power plant behind the station. The volunteers finally groped through the smoke, got their equipment and put out the fire.

BACK TO IDAHO — Manacled William H. Butler (right) of Jersey City, N.J., is led from Chicago police headquarters yesterday by Sheriff Paul Bright of Ada County, Idaho. Butler, 22, was being returned to Boise, Idaho, to face charges in connection with the slaying of Barbara Jean Dixon, 20, of Evanston, Ill., a student at Boise Junior College. Butler surrendered to Chicago police Sunday in a bus station. Police said he first admitted strangling Miss Dixon but later said he was innocent.

Firecrackers Said Cause of Noise at Negro Church

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Sheriff Alwayn Cronvich of adjoining Jefferson Parish said today the explosion in a Gretna Negro church Tuesday night was due to a couple of potent firecrackers — not a bomb.

The Jefferson Parish bomb squad, which investigated, identified the explosive as a pair of loud but relatively harmless "silver stars" — a firecracker roughly similar to the juvenile favorite known as the "cherry bomb."

★ ★ ★

Officers said apparently the firecrackers were pitched into the church vestibule through the front entrance. The loud "bang" startled the choir members practicing at the rear of the church — the Mount Zion Baptist church.

Boy Joins Sister Following Example

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Regis Mooney family in nearby Gates, N.Y., got two breaks within less than an hour. Marianne, 7, fell from a clothespole on which she was swinging and broke her left arm.

Half an hour later, 5-year-old Michael, suffered a fracture of his left arm on the same pole as he was showing the baby sitter exactly how his sister's accident occurred.

A successful vaccine against anaplasmosis, a cattle blood disease, has been developed by research workers.

Draft Nixes Boy Who Won Delay

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Norma Riedel fought the U. S. Army and won a Christmas at home for her draftee son.

Now the Army reports that the youth, Robert Schnabel, 19, has been rejected for military service.

Schnabel had been ordered to report for induction last Dec. 23. Mrs. Riedel sent telegrams to President Johnson and 5th Army headquarters in Chicago demanding to know if "our war position was so crucial that we have to draft our sons during Holy Week."

Mrs. Riedel won. Schnabel and all others in his situation were granted reprieve until Dec. 28.

MOTHER'S PRAYER

"This is the answer to a mother's prayer," Mrs. Riedel had said. She said that she wanted her son to serve. "It's his duty. But I don't want him on the road with a bunch of strangers on Christmas Eve."

On Dec. 28, Schnabel reported for his expected induction. But during preliminary processing some doubt developed about the vision in his right eye. Further tests would be necessary, Schnabel was told.

Mrs. Riedel said her son wears contact lenses to correct defective vision but has passed physicals.

Schnabel later was told he could not wear contact lenses during basic training, but that perhaps he could be fitted with eyeglasses.

UNACCEPTABLE FOR NOW

On Jan. 10, the Army decided that Schnabel was "unacceptable at this time." The wording of the notice did not make it clear whether the rejection is permanent, Mrs. Riedel said.

The Colorado Selective Service is about to review the cases of more than 19,000 young men rejected for physical disabilities. State Director Col. Howard E. Reed said some of these may be reclassified and inducted.

Schnabel says he is ready to report. He has returned to his job with a printing firm.

Say Britain Is Going to Buy U. S.-Built Jets

LONDON (UPI)—Britain has virtually decided to buy American-built F111 swept-wing fighter-bombers for $500 million, authoritative sources said today.

The United States gave Britain an option for the plane until the end of last year, but extended it to March 1 to allow the British government more time to make up its mind.

City Commission Irate

Sen. O'Brien Called for 'Interference'

State Sen. Carl W. O'Brien, D-Pontiac, was verbally blasted last night by the City Commission for interfering in city affairs.

A poodle salon, inappropriate zoning and an irate citizen ignited the commission's criticism of the state legislator.

O'Brien was rapped for making irresponsible statements, poor judgement and not knowing the facts in urging residents to protest the poodle salon's location.

Emil F. Jaworski, 691 Stanley, touched off the commission outburst. A week ago, he presented a petition to prevent the Richway Poodle Salon from locating at 696 Stanley.

A report on the petition, signed by 27 residents in the neighborhood, was made last night.

PROTESTS LOCALE

Citing alleged deficiencies in the building, Jaworski strongly protested location of the poodle salon in a residential neighborhood.

He further claimed the salon would be a detriment to the neighborhood, questioning how successful the city's housing code enforcement could be with residents forced "to put up with abuses."

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, while granting the neighborhood was residential in character, said it was unfortunate but the property in question was zoned commercial and the commission could do nothing.

Hudson added that the zoning had been in effect since 1938. He pointed out that, even if the area was rezoned, the poodle business could continue as a nonconforming use.

LEAVES CHAMBERS

Visibly unhappy, Jaworski stormed from the commission chambers.

Hudson then led off the attack on O'Brien's alleged interference in the matter.

He read a telegram from the state senator that suggested residents of the neighborhood attend the commission meeting and "raise cain."

★ ★ ★

Hudson called it poor judgement and irresponsible, "especially so since his (O'Brien's) facts are so far from the truth."

Other commissioners concurred with Hudson's comments. Commissioner Robert C. Irwin said there apparently was political motivation in O'Brien's interest in local affairs.

Shadows of Death Removed 9 Times

MUSKEGON (AP)—Heart patient Marvin Jorgensen, who survived nine "deaths" last month in a case without precedent in Muskegon County medical records, was reported well on the road to recovery today.

His well-being was attributed to "part miracle, part medical heroics."

★ ★ ★

Jorgensen, 51, a grocer, "died" first in his physician's office Dec. 8. He was revived there and snatched from death again eight times when his heart stopped beating while under hospital care.

He was guest of honor Monday at a meeting of the Mercy Hospital medical staff and Dr. Robert A. Fles, his own physician.

PATIENT TALKS

Several times in the struggle to keep him alive, according to staff members, the patient was heard to say: "Doctor, why did you bring me back. . . Why did you wake me up to die again. . It was so beautiful where I was."

Jorgensen says he has no recollection of the dialogue but is thankful to be alive and grateful for the medical knowledge and effort that saved him.

★ ★ ★

Nurse Eleanor Dykstra of the hospital's coronary unit said he said it upon first reaching the hospital after Dr. Fles had revived him with external cardiac massage and several times after. "Those who heard it will never forget it," she said.

Medical techniques used in reviving Jorgensen included closed chest cardiac massage, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, defibrillators, electronic monitors and drugs.

WIRED 'PADDLES'

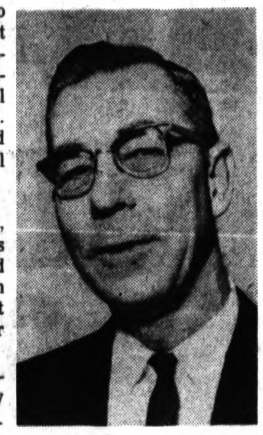

Defibrillators are electrically wired "paddles" through which shock is applied to the patient's chest. They are designed to reverse heart fibrillations which are wriggling movements of the heart muscle that replace normal contractions because of some irregularity or malfunction.

The condition is fatal unless quickly reversed because the irregular twitchings pump no blood. Without blood flow, the oxygen-starved brain dies.

★ ★ ★

The defibrillators were used eight times in the hospital. Jorgensen was released after 4½ weeks, about a half-week longer than is normal for coronary patients.

His repeated brushes with death, attendants said, have not dimmed his sense of humor. On one occasion he said to his physician: "It just occurs to me that I died nine times, but I'm still here. Do you think that makes me a reject?"

Three Stick Together as GIs

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI) — James, Robert and Ronald Gish of Sebree, Ky., all reported for the Army the same day. But they figured it might be a long time before they saw each other.

When they began basic training, James got sent to the first platoon of Company B of the 1st Battalion of the 6th Infantry Regiment of the 1st Armored Division. After a while, Robert appeared in the same platoon. Then Ronald.

★ ★ ★

"We've never made any attempt to stay together," said James, the platoon squad leader. "It just turned out that way."

James is 21 and Robert and Ronald are 19-year-old twins.

Board Clears Teacher Who Wrote Play

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A teacher, who wrote a play which became so controversial in her community that she says her life was threatened, will keep her state teaching credentials.

The California Credentials Committee agreed unanimously Tuesday that it had no legal grounds to fire Geri Turner Davis, 31, of San Diego, author of the prize-winning one-act drama, "A Cat Called Jesus."

★ ★ ★

But Dr. Everett Calvert, committee chairman, said the play's language is "cheap and vulgar. We do not condone the play."

The blonde English teacher at Mission Day High School was cleared of charges of unprofessional conduct after a two-hour hearing in which the play, she had once packed away and forgotten, was read aloud page by page.

★ ★ ★

The hearing was called after some San Diego residents complained that the title was blasphemous and the play too racy.

Road Tragedy Strikes Family for Third Time

CANTON, N.Y. (AP) — A father, whose two eldest sons were killed in separate highway accidents in the last eight months, was killed Tuesday night when his automobile struck a tree.

State police said Harry A. Woodside, 49, of Heuvelton, was alone in his car when it went off Route 68 near this northern New York village during a snowstorm.

One out of every 153 cars was stolen last year, a rate 16 per cent over the previous year's figures, the National Automobile Theft Bureau reports.

Slight League Changes in Prep Cage Card

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The International Olympic Committee must be either naive, indifferent or infested with political schemes in its policies and methods of awarding a city the World Games.

The 1963 Detroit presentation for the 1968 games was called the greatest ever, but Mexico City was named the site.

The IOC was certainly naive to discount the tremendous offering from the Motor City; it was indifferent to the problems which athletes would encounter up in the Mexican clouds and its members must have wallowed in Tequila and Caviar on the Mexican dining budget prior to the bidding.

Now, when the bidding for the 1972 games comes up late in April when the IOC convenes in Rome, U.S. Olympic committeemen don't give Detroit a ghost of a chance, even though they and many of the IOC members know what a superior host this country would be.

The economic conditions are unmatched by the bidding cities and the goodwill the U.S. wants so much to generate among the free nations of the world, would appear to be sufficient cause to bring the games here.

But no, the IOC is more concerned with tradition and in a sense an athletic cold war.

ALWAYS TRADITION

The tradition they say is to put the games back on the European continent at least once every decade. They overlook the fact that Europe has held the games 12 of 17 times.

Currently, there are only two cities competing against Detroit, as the entry deadline tomorrow draws near.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, The Netherlands withdrew Amsterdam as a bid, nothing was heard from Moscow or Montreal, and Vienna decided not to bid.

Failure to get financial backing from the government eliminated Amsterdam and Vienna, leaving Munich and Madrid as leading European contenders.

It would seem that Detroit's chances should be much better than most people realize in view of the remaining contenders, if the IOC would forget its traditional sympathies and analyze more as to what each city has to offer.

The U.S. delegation could have played a little dirty politics by pointing to the negative side of Mexico City's bid at Baden-Baden, Germany, instead it chose to show Detroit's merits.

★ ★ ★

If the IOC has so much concern over tradition and if it gives points for sentiment then it should realize that no city would keep trying for 40 years unless it earnestly wanted to be host to the world's athletes and do it in a meritorious way.

HUMAN RESPECT

Likewise, if the IOC wants to add a bit of human respect to its traditional thinking, one would think they would reward the untiring 40-year efforts of a man named Fred Matthaei.

But, Detroit isn't bidding on a traditional, emotional or sentimental basis. The Detroit bid is on merit, something that apparently means nothing to the IOC.

★ ★ ★

If the games in Mexico City should run into problems while being held, and the chances are very possible when dealing with men and altitude, it might take the good Samaritan spirit of the U.S. in 1972 to restore prestige which could be lost.

OLSM Gains in Northwest Catholic Loop

WOLL Adds Victory; Country Day Trims Cranbrook

Orchard Lake St. Mary received balanced senior scoring in whipping Detroit St. Francis de Sales last night, 83-61, and the Eaglets padded their Northwest Suburban parochial League lead.

In other games, Waterford Our Lady helped its Macomb League standing by whipping Marine City Holy Cross, 77-70; Country Day of Birmingham shocked Cranbrook, 71-62 and South Lyon walloped Pinckney 84-38.

Also on the card, St. Fred's triumphed over Emmanuel, 81-54, Royal Oak St. Mary topped Lamphere, 72-63, and New Baltimore St. Mary lost to Warren Mott, 54-46.

OLSM made its record read 8-1 for a full game advantage over Highland Park St. Benedict which is 7-2.

The Eaglets and Monarchs were tied at 11-11, but buckets by Joe Wojtys, John Stepien and Connie Krogulecki made it 17-11 after the first quarter and OLSM never lost the lead.

It was 42-28 at halftime.

BALANCE

Stepien and Krogulecki, in a nip-and-tuck team scoring race, hit 21 and 19, while Wojtys hit his career high of 19 and George Sawicki added 15.

Orchard Lake held the rebounding edge 62-23 and hit 34 of 72 shots for 48 percent to make up for its poor floor game which saw the Eaglets throw the ball away 30 times.

Randy Wise led the WOLL triumph with 22 points but Dennis McCulloch added 18, Carl Matzelle 16 and Doug Springer 15, as the Lakers kept within reach of St. Mike and St. Fred in the league race.

Tom Sirbaugh pulled in 25 rebounds for WOLL.

St. Fred started slowly at Emmanuel, but broke loose for 21 points in the second period and a 29-17 halftime lead. The Rams added 52 points in the closing half.

Tony Bellasario hit 14 field goals to lead all marksmen with 282 points. St. Fred is 10-2 and the Lancers are winless.

RARE MEETING

Country Day, pushing its record to 6-0 for the season, held a 32-19 halftime lead on Cranbrook in one of the rare varsity meetings between the two schools.

South Lyon had an easy time of it against Pinckney, taking a 17-3 first quarter lead and 37-14 at halftime.

A 35-point third period pulled it far out of reach (sparked by Jim Tate's 11 points). Tate finished with 19 but Mark Doepker had 21 and Eric Liddell had 16. Best for Pinckney was Jim Douglas with 7.

Bears' Halas Pulls Quick Play in Court

CHICAGO (AP) — George Halas can pull off a quick opener in the courtroom as well as the football field.

The 70-year-old owner-coach of the Chicago Bears proved it Tuesday with a sudden end to his breach of contract suit against George Allen, freeing Allen to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

★ ★ ★

Halas' action took everyone off the hook including himself, Allen, the Rams and Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League.

Circuit Judge Cornelius Harrington upheld the validity of the three-year contract which Allen signed as an assistant coach last year. He said Allen breached his contract by not obtaining written permission to negotiate with the Rams and by verbally agreeing to take the Ram job.

FAST ACTION

Halas needed no more of an opening. He acted quickly and surprisingly.

"Your honor, I wish to make a statement," said Halas as he walked towards the judge. Halas' attorney, Charles Short, told his client, "No, no. Sit down. Forget it."

But Halas brushed Short aside. Allen's attorney, Albert Jenner, objected, saying if Halas wanted to make a statement he'd have to be under oath. Halas was sworn in.

★ ★ ★

As soon as Halas opened his mouth saying, "Your honor, my name is George Halas, and I am most pleased with your decision upholding the validity of the contract . . . ," Jenner objected.

As Jenner kept shouting "Objection, objection, objection," Halas kept talking. "Your important ruling will uphold the integrity between National Football League clubs and preserve the sanctity of contracts . . ."

"Objection, objection, objection," repeated Jenner.

BOMBS AWAY

"Validity was the issue here and will prevent the breakdown of organized football and all sports," continued Halas. "George Allen was a minor issue. Validity was the issue."

Halas then tossed the bomb and scored. He turned to Allen and told his aide he was dropping the suit and Allen was free to take the Rams' head coaching job.

★ ★ ★

"It was a great victory for us," said Jenner, "but Halas didn't prove a thing and only saved face."

Halas made his point to his own satisfaction. Allen was happy because he was free to leave his $19,000 job with the Bears to take the Ram job at a reported $40,000 a year.

POINTS COMING UP — Guard Conrad Krogulecki (10) of Orchard Lake St. Mary heads for a layup after stealing the ball from St. Francis de Sales in first quarter action last night on the OLSM floor. Mike Stella (23) was too late to stop Krogulecki, who wound up with 19 points as the OLSM squad won, 83-61.

Bloomfield Hills and Holly helped their status in the Wayne-Oakland basketball race last night with a pair of victories, while Utica stayed unbeaten atop the Bi-County circuit.

In other games, Hazel Park of the Southeast Michigan Association rallied to defeat Mt. Clemens, 64-61, of the Eastern Michigan Circuit; this week's top-rated quintet, East Detroit, routed Port Huron Northern, 95-57; and Ferndale lost to Hamtramck 58-55.

Bloomfield Hills' 57-55 win over Brighton and Holly's 61-50 victory over Clarenceville changed the W-O standings slightly. Hills, now 4-3, was in a third place tie with Brighton.

Last night's 27-point outburst by Dave Robillard led the scoring. Key late free throws and field goals, however, in the final seconds earned the Barons' the victory.

Brighton led most of the way in the game and 37-28 at halftime. With 31 seconds left, Brighton's Pat Gilbert made it 55-54 and with seven seconds remaining Paul Augusten hit to make it 56-55.

LAST TRY

After a time out, Brighton brought the ball in hoping for the last shot but with five seconds left Bob Calhoun intercepted a pass, was fouled and made one free throw to cap it.

Clarenceville led Holly 18-10 and 27-25 in the first two periods, but the Holly shooters found the range with 15 of 37 in the second half from the floor and after a 43-39 lead, never lost it in the final stanza.

Mark Phalen with 15 and Greg Averyhardt with 14 led the winners who moved from the press to a man-to-man defense to stop the Clarenceville fast break in the second half.

UTICA NOW 7-0

Utica's record stood at 7-0 as result of a second half surge. It was 27-27 at halftime, but the Chieftains outscored Center Line, 17-4, in the third quarter and never faltered.

Hazel Park hit 50 per cent of its shots and held a 34-26 halftime lead, but Mt. Clemens doubled the third quarter output 24 to 12 and had a 50-46 lead after three quarters.

East Detroit won its eighth straight with an unbelievable 15 out of 16 from the floor in the first quarter for a 31-18 advantage that kept growing.

Foss Studying Trade

NAMED PREXY — Detroit businessman Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills, yesterday was elected president of the American Football League. The Bills have won the AFL championship the last two years.

AFL Owners May Add 2 Teams in '67

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss was expected to hand down his final image-changing decision for the American Football League today by ruling on the disputed trade involving San Diego's Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison.

Foss has been investigating the case since withholding approval of the five player trade between the Chargers and the Houston Oilers. He has the power to void the deal and/or hand out fines up to $2,000 by himself — up to $25,000 with the approval of the league's owners.

★ ★ ★

Foss grappled with his decision following a 15-hour session of meetings Tuesday that resulted in these developments:

—The owners voted to expand by two teams instead of the expected one, for the 1967 season while Foss listed the cities still in the running as Portland, Ore., Los Angeles and Anaheim, Calif., Chicago, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and New Orleans.

ON CARPET

—Boston linebacker Nick Buoniconti was called on the carpet for making statements detrimental to the league and because, according to Foss, "the popoft system in this league is no longer fashionable."

—The new Miami Dolphins continued to fill out their roster in the expansion draft by selecting eight additional players, including Kansas City receiver Frank Jackson and Oakland guard Ken Rice.

★ ★ ★

—Coach Bones Taylor was fired by the Oilers and was expected to be replaced by Wally Lemm, a former Houston coach who recently resigned a similar post with St. Louis of the National League.

Weatherman Holds Key in Crosby Golf Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Pro golf's elite warmed up for their assault on three tough courses in the $104,500 Bing Crosby golf tournament today and hoped the weatherman is wrong.

For his five-day forecast said showers are possible over the weekend when the golfers wind up the 72-hole tournament which opens on Thursday.

Under the crooner's National Pro-Amateur format, each pro plays with an amateur partner with prizes for the individual low pros and the pro-am teams.

When Australia's Bruce Crampton won last year with a 284 to become the first foreign champion in the Crosby, the pro-am title was shared by the teams of George Bayer-Morgan Barofsky and George Archer-Nelson Cullenward with best ball totals of 260.

Barofsky and Cullenward hail from the San Francisco Bay area.

ENTERTAINERS

The amateurs are picked from the world of entertainment, business, professions and other sports. They include such figures as Dean Martin, Phil Harris, James Garner, Tom Harmon, Paul Hornung, Sandy Koufax, Leonard Firestone, Charlie (Peanuts) Shulz, Alvin Dark and Duffy Daughterty.

Early arrivals including Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Tony Lema shot practice rounds in brilliant sunshine on Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Most will try to check each of the three courses in play—Pebble Beach, Monterey Peninsula Country Club and Cypress Point. Each course presents differing problems and each is rugged.

The field numbers 137 pros and 137 amateurs. The quest for places this year was so tough that only 11 spots were open to pros from the qualifying round. All others had qualified automatically under various PGA formulas.

An $11,000 purse awaits the winner among the individual pros after Sunday's final round and the pro on the winning pro-amateur team collects $4,000. It isn't impossible for one golfer to haul down both big prizes.

Tickets Available for Ring Tourney

Tickets are now on sale for the Golden Gloves regional matches scheduled for Jan. 29 and Feb. 5 at Pontiac Central High School.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Chief Pontiac Club of the American Legion in Clarkston. Tickets are available at the club and at several other locations in the area.

In Pontiac, Fortino's Steak House on Wide Track Drive is serving as ticket headquarters. The tickets may also be obtained at VFW Post 1380, S. Saginaw Street; Tony's Barbershop and Timberlane Bar, Perry Street; Chili Bowl and Angel's Coney Island, Oakland Avenue; and Frayer's Furniture, W. Huron.

3 Ski Meets on TV

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three ski meets, offering $30,000 in prizes and leading up to the 1966 world professional championships, will be televised by Sports Network Inc. The meets will be at Stratton, Vt., Jan. 26-27; Windham, N.Y., Feb. 9-10; and Sugarbush, Vt., March 2-3.

League Plans Dinner to Fete Wings' Ex-GM

NEW YORK (AP) — A dinner honoring Jack Adams, winner of the Lester Patrick Trophy, will be here Monday Feb. 7, it was announced Tuesday by the National Hockey League.

Detroit Posts 116-115 Victory

Cincinnati Romps; St. Louis Wins

By The Associated Press

Big Mel didn't make a foul shot count, and the Boston Celtics saw their lead in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division dwindle to one percentage point.

The Celtics, who led the Detroit Pistons 71-51 at halftime Tuesday night, found themselves behind 116-114 at the final buzzer. But Boston's 7-foot Mel Counts was fouled at the buzzer and got two shots.

★ ★ ★

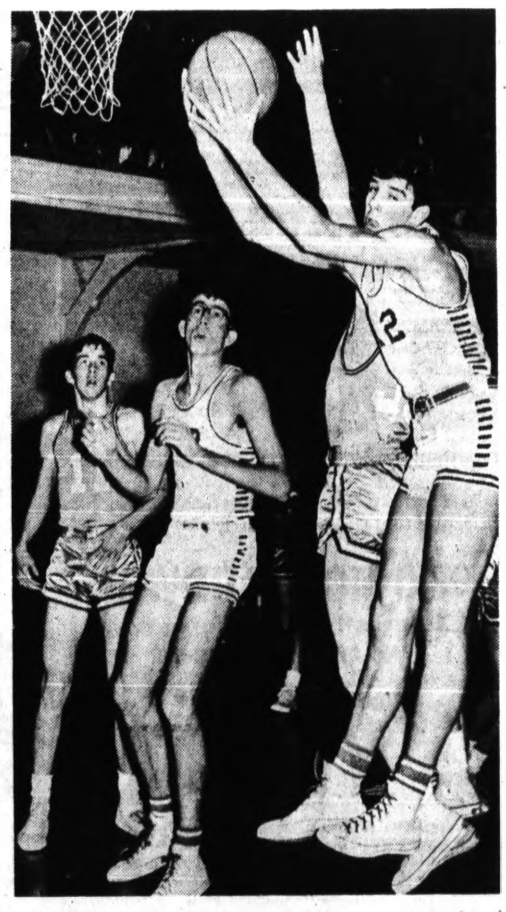

Counts, who replaced Bill Russell when Russell fouled out with 9:12 left, sank the first shot but missed the second which would have sent the game into overtime and given the Celtics a chance to hold a half-game lead of the Cincinnati Royals.

The Royals beat Los Angeles 119-108 at home, St. Louis came back to edge New York 109-107 at St. Louis, Mo., and Philadelphia trounced Baltimore 128-117 in a game that followed the Boston-Detroit contest at Philadelphia.

ONE-TWO PUNCH — Guard John Stepien (with ball) of Orchard Lake St. Mary and teammate Joe Wojtys provided a solid one-two punch on the backboards and in the scoring column in pacing OLSM to victory over St. Francis de Sales last night. Stepien collected 21 points and Wojtys added 19. Battling Stepien for this rebound is the losers' Len McCulloch. No. 11 at left is Tom Mulcahy.

Oxford Scores Third Victory

Oxford won its third game in nine starts last night by whipping Warren Woods, 65-42.

It was 27-13 at halftime and Oxford put the finishing touches on the Warren team with a 25 point final period.

Roger Miller, Dick Valentine and Rick Fox hit double figures for Oxford with 16, 15 and 13 respectively.

2nd Half Lapses Cost Cage Teams

The winless bottom teams in the American and National leagues of the city men's recreation basketball program each blew halftime leads in defeat last night.

★ ★ ★

The Champs were up, 23-20, at the intermission against UAW 653, but lost 54-47, as Ray Sturdivant hit all 10 of his points, Bill Spain 8 of his 10 and Charlie Johnson 9 of his 19 in the winner's rally. Jim Mathis had 15 for the Champs.

Tasty Bakery held a 19-16 lead after one half. McDonald's Drive-In — which moved into a tie for second place in the AL—outscored the Bakers 23-14 in the final quarter for a 63-55 victory

Bob Horvath had 22 points in the first three periods for McDonald's, and John Shuffun hit eight of his 13 in the closing period. Bob Quinn (24) and Sam Sheehy (15) topped the losers.

Tonight, the city AL-NL intraleague play continues at Pontiac Northern, and the International League plays at Lincoln JHS. Waterford Township's Class A League has activity at Pierce JHS.

Land on All-America

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Michigan players landed spots on Scholastic Magazine's 95-player high school All-America football team for 1965.

Don McGhee, a guard from Northwestern High of Flint, is the biggest member of the squad at 278 pounds.

Dennis Wirgowski of Bay City was one of 14 ends picked.

Dodgers Nip Spartans for AP Award

DARRTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Pitching, speed and determination again will be the ingredients of the Los Angeles Dodgers, says Walter Alston, manager of the world champion baseball team.

"The team won't be any different," Alston said, "except maybe for the return of Tommy Davis to give us more hitting power. How much he'll be able to play, I just don't know at this time."

★ ★ ★

Davis is recovering from a broken leg.

The Dodgers, who won the National League pennant last year with a 13-game winning streak at the end of the season and then went on to whip Minnesota in the World Series, were named the Team of the Year for 1965 Tuesday in the annual Associated Press poll.

"I'm very happy for the award and proud that the boys were chosen," said Alston, who spends the winters with his daughter and grandchildren in Darrtown, 25 miles north of Cincinnati.

SPARTANS LOSE

The Dodgers beat out Michigan State's football team, which went undefeated in 10 regular season games to win the Big Ten title before being upset by UCLA in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

The 303 sports writers and sportcasters voting in the poll gave the Dodgers 102 first-place votes and 499 points. Michigan State collected 55 first-place ballots and 287 points.

★ ★ ★

Third place went to the UCLA basketball team, which won its second straight NCAA crown last spring. The Bruins got 251 points. In fourth place were the Boston Celtics, pro basketball champions, with 221.

Alston attributed his team success last year to "good pitching and speed. But what makes me more proud is that the team worked together as a unit. I thought we had a good team spirit, good determination. We didn't give up when we got behind."

STAR PITCHER

"All I can ask is that we have those same things this year."

About Sandy Koufax, his star pitcher who led both leagues with a 26-8 record, Alston said: "I don't know how any pitcher can do better than he did. I'm just hoping he does as well."

The Dodgers had led the league most of the year, but on Sept. 15 found themselves in third place, 4½ games behind first-place San Francisco. They then went on a 13-game winning streak and captured the pennant the day before the season ended.

Team Slices Loss Margin

COVERT, Mich. (AP) — The last time Covert and Gobles, Mich., met in a high school basketball game Covert won 77-29.

★ ★ ★

This year Gobles coach Blaine Rex decided "I wasn't going to get beat again by 50 points. I thought if we controlled the ball we could beat them."

Rex used this strategy against Covert Tuesday night. His team lost 28-9.

Stadium Study Group Selected

DETROIT (UPI) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh Tuesday named a 19-man committee to begin study of a possible new sports stadium for the city.

Cavanagh said steps would be taken toward construction, if the committee's reports are favorable, regardless of whether the 1972 Olympic games were held in Detroit.

He said the committee would evaluate the physical and economic feasability of a new sports stadium within the city limits.

Named as committee chairman was Ralph McElvenny, president of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., Detroit Tiger owner John E. Fetzer and Lion owner William Clay Ford were chosen as special advisers.

The proposed site of the stadium would be the state fairgrounds.

Poor Start Hurts PCH Wrestlers

Pontiac Central dropped its first five matches and then had a rally fall short in dropping a 22-21 wrestling decision to Port Huron yesterday.

After the bad start, the Chiefs came on to win five of the next seven events, the last four in a row. The loss left PCH with a 4-3 season record.

★ ★ ★

In other bouts, Kettering knocked off Detroit Catholic Central, 29-19, and Hazel Park pinned a 27-14 setback on Warren Fitzgerald.

Pontiac Northern's swimmers have a chance to climb back above the .500 mark tonight as they entertain Madison after dropping a 58-42 decision at Dearborn Edsel Ford.

The Huskies success last night was limited to first places by Steve Yedlin in the 100 and 200-yard freestyle events, a first for Dave Pennybacker in the 400 freestyle and Carl Hiller's first in the 100 breaststroke.

★ ★ ★

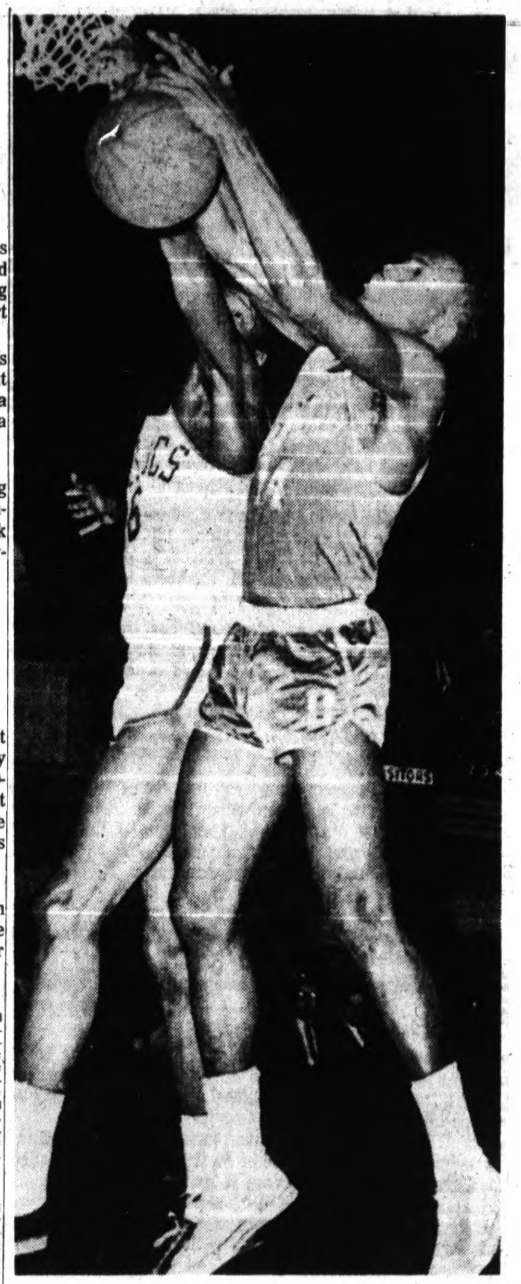

The Huskies now are 3-3 in dual meets, after winning the Vehicle City Relays and their first two dual meets.

Final Leg Near in Monte Carlo's 35th Auto Rally

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The final leg of the 35th Monte Carlo rally gets under way tonight when the remaining 60 cars start out on a 381-mile course through the mountains.

The 60 will be chosen from the 85 teams which finished the first two-thirds of the rally without penalty points.

★ ★ ★

So far the rally has involved a race to this Mediterranean principality from points all over Europe and then a tortuous 894-mile test over icy, snow-drifted roads from here to the Alpine city of Chambery and back.

When the rally began there were 192 contestants. Most dropped out after falling behind in time. There were breakdowns and accidents. Two Spaniards were killed Sunday. Officials presumed the driver had fallen asleep at the wheel.

The rally winds up tonight with a finish here. The results will be announced Thursday.

Backs Golf Tourney

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The $12,500 St. Louis Women's Open golf tournament has found new financial backing and will be held June 3-5 despite poor attendance last year. A savings and loan association has agreed to underwrite the $12,500 in prizes.
