100 Ships Are Idled by Maritime Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Maritime Union struck 73 ship companies today and said it had already idled about 100 ships. The strike over wages could eventually tie up 70 per cent of the American merchant fleet.

The union cleared two cruise ships scheduled to sail from here today "in order to ease the hardship to the public," a spokesman said.

But the union spokesman said it had notified its unlicensed seamen members to refuse to sign on any of the 100 American flagships now in ports on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts.

The union struck the operators at 12:01 a.m. but has told its men not to establish picket lines for the time being. No peace talks were scheduled, the union said.

Johnson Signs Tax Bill; Hike Is Effective July 14

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless you have a rock-bottom income you will begin paying higher income taxes July 14 to help pay for the Vietnam war and to keep the Great Society moving.

On that date the withholding rate on your pay check will increase 10 per cent, under the income tax bill President Johnson signed into law yesterday.

If you get paid July 13 you won't feel the bite until the next pay day.

Signing of the bill, which includes a mandatory $6-billion cut in federal spending, came without fanfare one week after Congress completed action.

With only Mrs. Johnson, grandson Lyn and a few aides looking on, Johnson signed it on the White House lawn.

Although Johnson opposed the spending cuts, he hinted in his statement he will try to pinpoint reductions to save Great Society programs.

"In carrying out these Congressional mandates," Johnson said, "I will do my best to fulfill our most urgent priorities and to continue the essential operations of government. We must not falter in our efforts to root out injustices and unrest from the land."

Under the new law, higher taxes can be collected after 15 days from its enactment.

RETROACTIVE

This means that pay checks received after July 14 must reflect the increased taxes even if the money is earned before that date.

Since the tax for individuals is retroactive to last April 1, the amount withheld from weekly pay checks through next December will fall short of the amount due. The difference must be paid when income tax returns are filed by next April 15.

Sen. McCarthy Will Visit State This Weekend

By The Associated Press
Sen. Eugene McCarthy will bring his presidential campaign to Lansing this weekend when he speaks to Michigan delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., will represent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey at the delegates' meeting tomorrow at Michigan State University.

McCarthy is scheduled to arrive in Lansing at 8:30 p.m. tonight and address an airport rally before retiring to the Jack Tar Hotel, aides said.

Meanwhile in New York several hundred McCarthy supporters stormed out of a Democratic State Committee meeting yesterday because they were not given half the 65 at-large national convention delegates.

PLEADED TO DELEGATES

Paul O'Dwyer who won the Democratic senatorial nomination in the primary as a backer of the Minnesota senator, pleaded with the committee: "I beg you, I implore you, to give fair treatment to the youngsters who worked for McCarthy."

McCarthy had won 61 of 123 delegates elected in the June 18 primary.

In other political news, George Wallace says he now is assured of being on the ballot as a presidential candidate in 26 states — and claims he's just getting his second wind.

IN MASSACHUSETTS

Campaigning in Massachusetts yesterday, the former Alabama governor predicted that by November he'll be on the ballot in every state with the possible exception of Ohio.

Humphrey, who has a strong lead in delegate support in the contest for the Democratic nomination, said today, "Civil order and civil justice" will have top priorities if he becomes president.

"It must be clear that violence, crime, looting, burning cannot be condoned and must be stopped," he said in a speech prepared for the Iowa Democratic convention. "It must be equally clear that the conditions that breed crime and violence have to be sought out—and then rooted out."

Psychiatrist Interviews Out

City Uses New Police Tests

In an effort to improve testing procedures for police department applicants, the city has introduced a new battery of IQ and personality tests.

Nicholas Santiani, city personnel director, said the tests already have replaced a 120-question written test and services of psychiatrists previously used by the city.

Several applicants have been given the new tests but results have not been checked yet, Santiani said.

The battery of tests includes some which have been used before and certain new tests designed by a team of doctors of psychology from Psychological Resources, 700 E. Maple, Birmingham.

BROAD IN SCOPE

The tests are expected to measure IQ, adaptability of the individual to police work, and behavioral traits as well as spotting personality aberrations or ingrained prejudices.

Psychologists suggesting the tests said they will tend to give a more equal opportunity to Negroes and to eliminate from consideration applicants who have undesirable personality traits, Santiani said.

He said they would give the city a better chance of weeding out over-prejudiced persons and to eliminate "cultural deprivation" without giving up any accurate measurement of IQ or adaptability to police work.

The written test used previously was an accurate measure of IQ but did little to spot ingrained prejudice, he said. It was also criticized because of a heavy reliance on verbalization, which may have put Negroes at a disadvantage.

INTERVIEWS REPLACED

Replaced in the process is a step in the hiring procedure of policemen, an interview with a psychiatrist who was supposed to judge a person's personality attitude and adaptability.

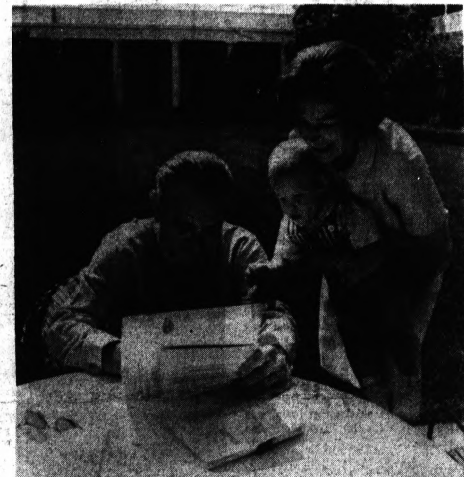

All tests require the applicants to put answers on forms which will be graded by psychologists without them seeing the applicant.

Santiani said the battery of tests — which takes about four hours to complete — will tell the city much more about the individual than was learned under the previous testing procedure.

Boy Killed, Woman Injured in Area Shooting Mishaps

One child was killed and a woman wounded in apparently accidental shootings in Oakland County yesterday. Both were the result of having loaded firearms in houses, according to investigating officers.

Dead is Chris Duguay, 8, of 5665 Berkeley, Waterford Township, apparently accidentally shot in the head by a 9-year-old playmate.

Wounded is Mrs. William Kunse, 22, of 6767 Snowapple, Independence Township, who was shot in the back yesterday evening by a small pistol that fell on the floor.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Duguay, was found dead at about 8:30 p.m. in the home of neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Buel Travis, 5681 S. Aylesbury, Waterford Township police said a 9-year-old neighborhood boy was being questioned in the death.

PLAYING WITH PISTOL

Police said the two boys had been seen playing near the house about 1 p.m. that day. The dead boy was discovered later when the Traveses arrived home.

The two children had apparently gotten into the house and were playing with a loaded pistol they found, police surmise.

The investigation was continuing today and the 9-year-old was released in the custody of his parents.

The boy's body is at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.

Mrs. Kunse was in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital today with a bullet wound in the back. Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said the woman was shot about 8 p.m. by a 22-caliber pistol which was kept on a night stand. The gun apparently fell to the floor and discharged.

Deputies said the woman was alone in the house at the time, but was able to call the sheriff's office which dispatched an ambulance.

U.S. Horse Wins Irish Sweepstakes Derby

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Lester Pig-gott steered American-owned Ribero to victory today in the seventh running of the Irish Sweepstakes Derby. The odds-on favorite Sir Ivor finished second.

The French horse Val d'Aoste was third in the race over a turf course of 1 1/4 miles and one carrying the hopes of millions of people who had bought Irish sweepstakes tickets.

Laos Ups Ante for Bomb Halt

PARIS (UPI) — Laos today barged in on the deadlocked Vietnam peace talks demanding that Hanoi withdraw its troops from the neutral Southeast Asian kingdom before any cessation of U.S. bombings of North Vietnam.

The Laotian demand appeared to up the ante for the bombing cessation which North Vietnam has consistently demanded as a precondition to meaningful negotiations.

This was the interpretation given by most diplomatic observers to Laotian Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's call for the United States not to halt its bombing raids before North Vietnam pulled its 40,000 troops out of its neutral nation.

Souvanna said that once a ceasefire was agreed on, there should be a general conference of "all interested parties" in Southeast Asia to hammer out a permanent political solution to the conflict. He raised the possibility of Communist China taking part in such "general" talks.

Wind Rips Store, Many Trapped

MUSKEGON (AP) — A severe storm hit Muskegon County about 11:30 a.m. today, blowing down one wall of a huge discount store in nearby Norton Township, and trapping many persons inside, police said.

Power was out in several sections of the county after wind and heavy rain blew down trees and wires.

The Weather Bureau issued a severe thunderstorm warning at 11 a.m. and several boats out on Lake Michigan were trapped on the lake when the storm hit.

No further details were available on the wall collapse in Norton Township, which is in the southwest end of Muskegon County.

However, a Muskegon police officer said he believed the front wall of the store had been blown in, and several persons were trapped inside.

A Muskegon County sheriff's deputy said at least four ambulances had been sent to the shopping center. When asked if anyone had been injured, he said, "Apparently quite a few."

At Grand Haven in nearby Ottawa County, a pitch black descended over the city as the storm hit, tearing down utility poles, electric wires and trees. Several tents and house trailers were tipped over at Grand Haven State Park.

Storm Watch Is On in Lower Michigan

The Weather Bureau issued a severe thunderstorm watch until 10:30 p.m. for most of Lower Michigan and a small portion of extreme northern Indiana. The bureau said, "the threat of a few thunderstorms with hail and damaging winds will exist in this area."

According to the weather bureau tomorrow will be partly sunny with a chance of afternoon or evening thunderstorms. Cloudy and a little cooler with a chance of showers is the outlook for Monday.

Fifty-seven was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 77 by 2 p.m.

Drowning Teen Rescued From Clinton Drain

A Pontiac youth narrowly missed death yesterday while swimming in the Clinton River Drain.

A passing motorist reportedly saved the boy's life when he tossed a strand of rope to the boy as he went by after disappearing at the end of a 150-foot tunnel under Paddock.

The youth, Robert E. Cole, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cole, 3014 Hovey, said today he was certain he would die before he caught the rope.

Robert said, "I think I swallowed half the water in the canal."

USING INNER TUBE

He said he had attempted to cross the canal using an inner tube. However when he got in the center, he was caught by the swift water in the ditch, swollen by recent rains.

He said the force of the current kept him from swimming in either direction from the center. He went underwater as he was swept away, witnesses said.

He passed under Paddock, near East Huron, and was pulled out on the north side.

"I couldn't hold on to the inner tube any longer, my arms were tired," he said.

Pontiac Police patrolman Joseph Fisher, investigating the incident, said a passing motorist tossed the rope that saved the youth, but then left without giving his name. "He deserves some thanks," Fisher said.

The motorist was Charles McClusky of 40 Michigan, Pontiac, according to the youth. He is a relative of a friend of the boy who was saved, Kathy Farnsworth, 13, of 85 Fiddis.

The girl saw McClusky driving past just as the incident occurred and a crowd had gathered at the other end of the tunnel hoping to assist the youth.

Robert was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. He is apparently alright today, according to his parents.

Mansfield Offers Choice: Fortas or Warren

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — In a tactic Republicans say is aimed at neutralizing Southern Democrats, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has given his colleagues two choices for chief justice of the United States: Abc Fortas or Earl Warren.

Mansfield said yesterday that if a filibuster develops over President Johnson's appointments of Fortas to be chief justice and Homer Thornberry to be an associate justice he assumes and hopes Warren will stay on.

Mansfield took steps to bolster the two-choice position by declaring there would be no delay in adjournment to argue the nominations nor would there be a special session after the political conventions.

And he also said that if Republicans stage a filibuster, as Michigan's Sen. Robert Griffin has indicated they will, a move to shut debate will be made quickly.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, one of 19 Republicans who have signed a petition opposing the nominations, said Mansfield's tactics were "aimed at Southern Democrats."

Warren's June 13 letter to the President said he would retire "effective at your pleasure." Johnson replied that he accepted the retirement "effective at such time as a successor is qualified."

Focal point of Republican opposition is the petition being circulated by Sen. Griffin. It takes the position that Johnson, since he is leaving the White House, has no right to make court appointments that will exert great influence for years.

'BLATANTLY POLITICAL'

"A blatant political maneuver" and "the worst kind of hypocrisy" said Sen. Daniel Brewster, D-Md.

Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, charged the Republicans with political motivation "so blatant and transparent they should be disregarded in total."

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., took issue with the Republican description of Johnson as a "lame duck." He said three senators have announced plans to retire next year and asked if they should be barred from voting.

Mansfield also rejected the "lame duck" label. He said there was no such thing and that if there were, any president who got elected to a second term would be one.

World's Newest Heart Patients Said Doing Well

By United Press International
The heart of an apprentice butcher today kept a young seamstress alive in Valparaiso, Chile, and the heart of a motorcycle buff did the same for a French-Canadian father of five in Montreal.

Maria Elena Penaloza, 24, in Valparaiso received the heart of Gabriel Valiz, 20, about two hours after Gaetan Paris, 49, was given the heart of Yvon Bastien, 23. Paris was the world's 22nd heart transplant patient and Miss Penaloza the 23rd.

Houston's two heart transplant patients — Everett C. Thomas, 47, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Louis Fierro, 54, of Elmont, N.Y. — will leave St. Luke's Hospital for the first time to see a baseball game tomorrow between the Houston Astros and the New York Mets.

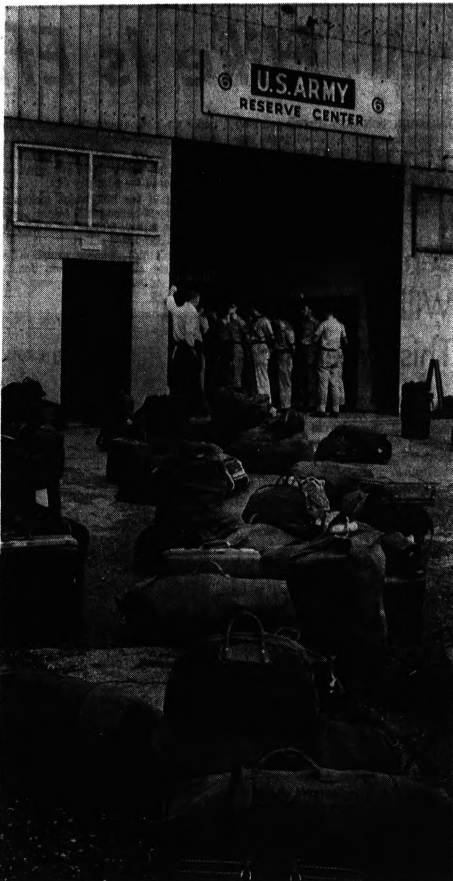

Only two other previous heart transplant patients survive — one in France and one in South Africa.

EXCELLENT CHANCE

Paris, Canada's second heart transplant patient, has an excellent chance of complete recovery, his doctors said today.

A 9 p.m. bulletin said Paris' blood pressure, heartbeat and brain, kidney and lung functions were about what they would have been if he had not suffered three major heart attacks in the past five years.

Miss Penaloza, whose own heart had ballooned to four times normal size and was choking off blood to her brain, was given only days to live before the operation.

SUMMER CAMP — Pontiac area army reservists are leaving for their annual summer camp duty today. The members of the second brigade will be joined by two groups from Flint and will then go by plane to Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. where they will assist regular army troops in training new recruits. Some of the 190 men in the brigade left early this morning while the rest leave this afternoon.

The personnel director said tests alone have not been in the past or will not be in the future the sole criteria in determining whether the city will hire a police applicant.

'TESTS ASSIST'

"The tests assist in the selection," he said.

Santianni said he became concerned with previous testing procedures last year after it became apparent that about 70 per cent of all applicants failed the written test.

This year the trend remained the same and he began consultations with psychologists to get a scientific opinion of the test itself.

He said he had intended to suggest the change to city officials at an opportunity, and the opportune time came up recently.

GENERAL APPROVAL

City commissioners were advised of the planned changes at an informal meeting this week and gave general approval to them.

The new tests involved are:

- The Otis Quick Scoring Mental Ability Test, 80 questions, designed to measure IQ.
- The Culture Fair test, 46 questions, designed to measure IQ, multiple choice with calling for identifying logical progression of figures with little verbalization.
- A test of 30 questions designed to measure prejudice.
- California Psychological Inventory,

480 questions, which give a profile of a person's personality.

• Minnesota Multiphasic personality Inventory, 566 questions, identifies personality traits.

Santianni said the new tests can be taken one part at a time at the convenience of the applicants instead of calling a group together on a certain testing day.

He said test instructions have been tape-recorded and an individual applicant is able to take the test alone.

Santianni said this was done to eliminate the necessity of having a prompter give instructions to a testing class. He said studies have shown that often the prompter has an effect on the applicants taking a test.

Until Lake Waters Recede

Boating Curb Is Urged

With the Pontiac area lakes at or near flooding stage, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department has called on boaters to curb activities until the water recedes. Rains this week have brought hazardous situations for both boaters and home owners on any of the lakes, says Lt. Don Kratt, head of the Sheriff's Department water safety division.

"Right now, wakes from the boats would cause serious flooding for many of the homes on a few lakes," said Kratt. Specifically mentioned by Kratt were Sylvan, Cass and Cedar Island lakes.

"Boaters should also be aware that they are responsible for any damage caused by their wakes," says Kratt.

'STAY OFF'

"We just hope the boaters—those who live on the lake and those who will journey to the lake—will stay off the water at least until it goes down."

"We've notified the state of the situation, and we'll close some of the access areas this weekend," Kratt said.

A big danger for boaters, Kratt said, were the docks which are floating free in the water.

5 Nature Classes Slated at Cranbrook for Youths

Five new classes for almost every age level are scheduled to begin in July at Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Youngsters 8-9 years of age may participate in "Learning About Birds," which will meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 10-11 a.m., July 8-31.

Mrs. Sue Riemer of the institute staff will instruct the class, which will include identification of local birds and their songs and habits of nesting and feeding. The fee is $10.

"Natural History for Juniors" (10-12 years of age) is scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays July 9-Aug. 1 from 1-3 p.m.

The course will include laboratory and field work and collecting and identifying minerals, plants and animals, and will be concluded with an overnight camping-fishing-canoing trip. The fee is $25.

GLACIAL GEOLOGY

"Introduction to Glacial Geology" will be offered for junior high students, meeting Tuesdays and Thursdays July 9-Aug. 1 from 9-11 a.m.

Instructed by Robert Blodgett of the institute staff, the class will make a study of surface features and glacial deposits of the Cranbrook area. The fee is $20.

Selected principles of ecology, with emphasis on animal communities in the local area and on the implications for man, will be the subject in "Animal Ecology," for high school students.

Dr. Philip T. Clamette, institute associate zoologist, will present field and laboratory work combined with reading and discussion. The fee is $25.

FLOWERING PLANTS

Dr. James R. Wells, institute associate botanist, will conduct a class entitled "Identification of Flowering Plants" for adults.

The course will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays July 9-Aug. 1 from 9 a.m.-noon. The fee is $25.

BIRMINGHAM — Fred A. Maxwell, 365 Bryn Mawr, has been appointed director, Canada-Mediterranean-African operations at Parke-Davis & Co.'s international division headquarters in Detroit.

Announcement of the promotion was made by C. D. Smith, executive vice president.

In his new position, Maxwell is responsible for the pharmaceutical firm's operations in Africa, Spain, Lebanon, Canada, Cyprus, Greece, Israel, Malta, Bermuda and Portugal.

He succeeds E. F. Bratzel, who was named director, Latin American operations.

Ned S. Hubbell: Can He 'Sell' Better Roads?

PR Man Is Hired to 'Sell' Road Levy

By ED BLUNDEN

"I'm not coming in here claiming I'm some kind of expert at winning elections," said Ned S. Hubbell of Port Huron whose public relations firm has been retained by the Oakland County Road Commission.

Hubbell, a community relations consultant, will advise the road commission how to conduct its campaign to get a 1-mill property tax levy approved by county voters in the Aug. 6 election.

The commission hopes to raise about $3.5 million yearly for the next five years to carry on accelerated road improvement projects countywide.

Hubbell says the county has been caught in a two-way squeeze, rapidly deteriorating roads with more and more people traveling them and increased costs meaning less money to spend.

Paul VanRoelke, highway engineer, explained that in spite of an income of about $9.5 million in recent years from state-collected gas and weight taxes, after operating costs only about $1.5 million has been left for improvements. However, with the passing of the millage vote, about $5 million would be available yearly allowing for a large number of projects including several widening and reconstruction projects in most county communities.

VanRoelke said the road commission does not have anyone on its staff with knowledge and experience in community relations. That's why Hubbell and his associates were hired, he said.

"Hubbell is a soft-spoken, 'soft-sell' type of executive with a firm background in public relations as applied to both government and schools. Spectacular, of medium height and weight, he has an earnest and scholarly manner."

He holds a master's degree in education from Wayne State University and was a community relations director for the Port Huron School District before setting up his present consulting firm. Hubbell, 41, is married and has three children.

"What attracted the road commission to Hubbell was the state of public relations in those trying to convince the road commission that they must County. Hubbell's firm handles that county's account."

"The situation there is the progressive community with a best in the state and that's healthy road system."

where we looked," VanRoelke said.

Hubbell confesses the only millage campaign he was associated with was defeated in the election. In 1960 in St. Clair County the road commission asked residents to approve a millage levy but they balked.

Since then the road commission, county board of supervisors, community governments and residents have been brought together to provide the kind of funding and program that has greatly improved the road situation in St. Clair, VanRoelke explained. Hubbell deserves much of the credit for this, he said.

"We certainly have the need here in Oakland County to promote better community relations," said VanRoelke. Hubbell's firm has only been retained until the election, but the road commission is considering a permanent staff member to handle its dealing with the public, VanRoelke said.

In regards to his losing election in St. Clair County, Hubbell said, "Strangely enough it was in the outlying areas where roads were worse than voting went against the millage."

"I learned a lot in that campaign. I guess you could say I'm an expert on what not to do," he said.

"I see the problem here as one of presenting honestly the need for better roads in all the communities. The people should and must be informed of all the facets of the situation."

KNOW ALTERNATIVES "They should know the alternatives — what they face in the future without sufficient funds to relieve their congested and disintegrating road system."

He said the county presently is trying to get along with a road system meant for 40 years ago.

To present a true picture to each community a staff from the road commission, plus the education from Wayne State citizens committee — Citizens for Adequate Roads (CAR) — will be appearing before many public groups as possible in the coming weeks to present the case for the 1-mill levy.

Hubbell will be appearing also. But his main job will be to coordinate the efforts of all those trying to convince the road commission that they must County. Hubbell's firm handles that county's account."

North Oakland's Tactical Unit

Police Preparing for the Worst

By MEL NEWMAN

The North Oakland County Police Tactical Unit will "be prepared," its newly elected coordinator, Lt. Martin McLaughlin of the Bloomfield Township Police Department, has promised.

And, he added, it will be prepared for any number of problem situations, man-made or natural.

McLaughlin was named to his post early this month by the chiefs of participating departments after the Pontiac Police Department severed connections with the unit.

He described the outfit, composed of 55 men from 19 forces, as "a useful tool for communities which may need help for any number of reasons."

REASONS CITED

Some of the reasons he pointed out were tornadoes, floods, airline crashes and mob violence of any sort.

Of the latter—the specter of potential civil violence that has lurked since last summer's outbreaks—McLaughlin commented, "we hope never to have to use this unit in such a situation."

But, while much of the force's training, conducted twice weekly at varying locations in the county, is concerned with handling other types of problems, the unit's supervisors and participants are also preparing for "the unfortunate."

Since the unit was formed in February, the men have received instruction from FBI, state and local law enforcement personnel in phases ranging from mob psychology to laws and statutes.

FOR MASS DISORDER

They are outfitted with tools and weaponry geared to handle mass disorder, including tear gas and chemical Mace as well as conventional arms.

The men are put through their paces on close-order drill to enhance the unitized image and are trained in combat techniques.

McLaughlin emphasized the use of the force in natural disaster situations and pointed out that the men receive first-aid and evacuation instruction.

The unit was fashioned roughly after its counterpart in South Oakland County (formed seven years ago) when chiefs from the 20 North Oakland departments met early this year in Pontiac and implemented their plans.

All 20 departments contributed manpower and/or materials, but Pontiac withdrew two weeks ago.

Law Helps Get Funds for Kidney Victims

LANSING (AP) — A total of $300,000 was appropriated by the Legislature Thursday for instruction in the use of kidney machines.

Rep. Joyce Symons, D-Allen Park, whose brother suffered from a kidney ailment, had fought for a $500,000 appropriation to buy machines and pay for treatment of anyone suffering from a kidney disease.

The Senate, however, wanted to limit the funds to $200,000.

The compromise version was reached by a House-Senate conference committee. The funds

PROGRAM OK'd

The compromise version authorizes the director of public health to establish a program for instruction in the use of dialysis equipment and for treatment of patients.

Rep. Arthur Law, D-Pontiac, was instrumental in guiding the bill through committee and in arranging the compromise, Rep. Symons said.

"He did a tremendous job as a conferee in getting more funds

"Law also aided in getting the committee to include funding for actual treatment of patients, rather than just the establishment of treatment centers and research in preventive measures," Rep. Symons pointed out.

IN THE CLASSROOM

Senate Finance Chairman, Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, said the instruction probably would be in the form of classroom instruction rather than individual lessons.

In this manner, Zollar said, a greater number of persons could be trained to operate dialysis equipment.

NO BROAD POLICY

"It isn't our intent to get into a broad policy of treatment of everybody who may or may not have a kidney ailment," Zollar said.

The public health director also was ordered to advise the Legislature in January as to the progress of the program.

'Court' Appointments Affront Nation

In his "lame-duck" appointments to fill vacancies on the U.S. Supreme Court, President Johnson has ignominiously exercised the power of his office.

The Nation's highest tribunal, envisioned by the makers of the Constitution as a nonpartisan body safeguarding the high ideals of American democracy, has by JOHNSON's act seen its prestige tarred with the brush of political expediency.

Regardless of the qualifications of Associate Justice Abe Fortas to assume the chief justiceship of the Court and those of Federal Judge Homer Thornberry to fill Fortas' place on the Supreme bench, the appointments at this time are open to strongest criticism.

Coming within six months of the President's announced retirement from office, the resignation of Chief Justice EARL WARREN smacks of a political maneuver of the lowest order.

By every test of respect for the integrity of the Supreme Court and obligation to the American people WARREN, one of the weakest chief justices ever to hold that office, should have deferred his retirement until the inauguration of the next President.

The joint action of WARREN and JOHNSON thus forecloses the new Chief Executive in this case from exercise of his prerogative of filling vacancies on the Supreme Court and national judiciary.

Lines of Senate opposition to the White House appointments have been drawn, with promise of a battle over their confirmation.

We urge the Senate to meet its national responsibility and reject the Administration's blatant affront to the American people as evidenced by the egregious impropriety of the Supreme Court appointments.

Gun Registration Should Be Kept on Local Level

From the vortex of hysteria swirling around the issue of national gun-control legislation, aimed at restriction on sale of firearms, there emerges a sound proposal from the White House.

The proposal calls for registration of all firearms by their present and future owners. After all, it is possession in the wrong hands rather than the sale of lethal weapons that makes them an ever-present threat to society.

While amending the President's registration proposal that would center records of gun possession in a Federal agency. We think that registration would be more effective if it were implemented on State and local levels.

By thus localizing official supervision over lawful or unlawful possession of firearms, authorities would be enabled to act with greater celerity when such action was indicated than would an arm of central government far removed from the scene.

Maryland in New Approach to Chronic Drunkenness

The broadest law of its kind in the Nation goes into effect in Maryland on Monday, when habitual drunks and alcoholics will have to be treated as sick persons and not arrested or jailed. The law, based on a model code of the American Medical Association, may at least temporarily put a heavy burden on hospitals. Arrests for drunkenness in the state have been running at a rate of about 30,000 a year.

The Maryland General Assembly, unfortunately but not untypically, struck all funding provisions from the law. "Even if we had all the money we need this year," said the Rev. HARRY E. SHELLEY, coordinator of Baltimore City's alcoholism program, "we still couldn't implement this act completely because of the shortage of qualified personnel."

Next year, according to a Maryland Budget Bureau analyst, the Assembly will be asked to pay for the alcoholic treatment program with general funds.

Other states and municipalities are moving in the direction Maryland has taken. But the U.S. Supreme Court in a 5-4 decision of June 7 ruled that jailing chronic alcoholics for public drunkenness was not "cruel and unusual punishment" and hence not unconstitutional.

U.S. Blamed for Czech Reforms

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The Russians have finally "discovered" that American imperialists are behind Czechoslovakia's unprecedented experiment in liberalism.

An editorial in Krasnyaya Zvezda, mouthpiece of Moscow's marshals and generals, asserts the United States is seeking "to exploit for its own dirty purposes" the "internal processes" in Czechoslovakia.

It was inevitable that the Russians and their frightened puppets in Poland and East Germany should blame the Americans for the reforms currently under way in Prague.

But the tone of the Krasnyaya Zvezda editorial shocked even East European diplomats familiar with Communist double-talk. They interpreted it as a Soviet threat to employ armed force against Czechoslovakia.

USE PRETEXT
"If and when the Russians and their allies decide to invade Czechoslovakia they will use the danger of American subversion as the pretext," one diplomat said.

Anticipating Moscow's charge of American complicity, Yugoslavia's leading newspaper Politika warned the Russians not to turn the clock back. The West, especially the United States, can no longer be blamed for the ferment in Czechoslovakia, Rumania and elsewhere in East Europe, Politika's editor said. "The time has come for the Communists to credit or blame themselves for everything good or bad that happens in their countries."

But the Russians and their puppets must find a scapegoat for their troubles in East Europe. The essentially anti-Soviet upsurge in Czechoslovakia is too bitter a pill for them to swallow.

What's happening in Czechoslovakia may be the biggest crisis that the Brezhnev-Kosygin regime in Moscow has had to face since it came to power in 1964.

ON WAY OUT
Premier Kosygin, who seems to be opposed to the use of force against Czechoslovakia, is even reported in some diplomatic circles to be on the way out.

The latest crisis in the Kremlin has actually been brewing since last June when Israel defeated the Arabs. Brezhnev and Kosygin were blamed for the failure of Soviet policy in the Middle East.

But in June the Kremlin's "collective leaders" were still working as a united team. With the support of the Red army they were strong enough to best back the challenge of their opposition led by former Police Chief Alexander Shlepin.

Now Moscow's marshals and generals are believed to be backing the opposition. The military and Communist party hard-liners in Russia, Poland and East Germany fear that Czechoslovakia's eventual defection would result in the total disintegration of the Warsaw Pact military alliance.

REPORTED RIFT
More ominous for Czechoslovakia is the reported rift between the dovish Kosygin and Communist chief Brezhnev who is among those, in and out of Russia, who want to deal harshly with Czechoslovakia.

We are thus witnessing only the first act in the unfolding East European drama.

So far, the new Czechoslovakia leader, Alexander Dubcek, has played his cards cannily. He assured the Russians of his eternal friendship. He agreed to take part in Warsaw Pact military maneuvers. But he bluntly rejected Moscow's proposal to station 12,000 Russian and Polish troops in Czechoslovakia.

Dubcek is playing for time. But time may not be on his side unless the NATO allies warn Moscow not to embark on military adventures in East Europe.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

Three years before David died he made Solomon, his son, co-regent and upon David's death Solomon became king of a united Israel. He was a gifted yet humble man. At Gethsemane the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream, and said, "Ask what I shall give thee." Feeling uncertain of his high position Solomon answered, "Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad."

His judgment in the dispute as to which of the two women was rightful mother of the child and the many stories of his wisdom attest to the fulfillment of his dream. He built great temples, developed mining and smelting operations and became a world trader with a great fleet of ships. His 40-year reign was in a stable and prosperous kingdom.

His prayer in First Kings 8: 23-25 gives evidence of the piety and constancy of his faith:

"Lord God of Israel there is no God like thee, in heaven above or on earth beneath, who keepeth covenant and mercy with thy servants that walk before thee with all their heart..."

Confident Living:

Let Faith Replace Your Fears

By NORMAN VINCENT
PEALE

Scarcely have I seen a man so immensely relieved — you might even say released. He was actually bursting with joy. "A tremendous thing has happened to me!" he exulted. "I have at last gotten over my old fear of what might happen!" DR. PEALE And it's wonderful, believe me.

We were seated together on an airplane and he was so caught up that his story fairly gushed out. But happy was this man was no oddball. He was a personable fellow in his 30s who, it seemed, had suffered all his life from anxiety and worry. Indeed he had been fearful out of all proportion to reason. And often for no apparent reason he would be seized with a feeling that something dreadful was about to happen.

Finally he sought professional counseling about this condition. Only then did he come to understand its origin.

It seems he had a superstitious, overprotective mother who was herself a victim of anxieties. She had a bad habit of overdramatizing fearful possibilities. Whether this was because she craved sympathy, or unconsciously wanted to dominate, or whatever the psychodynamics of it were, the strain on her son's sense of security was great indeed.

She constantly made vague allusions about the boy's father who apparently was an irresponsible double-dealer whose relations with women were barely on the up and up. He did not know this, for people avoided speaking of it in front of him, but he got an uncomfortable impression that there was something wrong with his father.

The mother often remarked gloomily, "Your father will come to no good end. You just wait and see." So the boy lived in fear of something happening to his father and that fear added to his insecurity.

Probably as a result of fear and tension the mother developed a heart condition. This too she magnified and dramatized, telling her children solemnly, "You must be prepared for something to happen to me at any time. I may look healthy but I'm not really. And perhaps some night the doctor will come and you will know that something serious had happened. Or if you are away, be prepared for the telephone call that your mother has died. I am telling you this that you may be prepared."

So years later when the boy had grown up and was a salesman on the road, he would lie in bed in his hotel room only half asleep, unconsciously waiting for that tragic telephone message that his mother had gone.

This anxiety and insecurity eventually took its toll on the man's physical vitality. Suspecting that he might himself be developing a heart condition he went to a doctor who advised him to get counseling. He consulted a psychologically trained minister, who received his training at the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry.

Gradually he gained insight and came to realize that his fears were basically phantoms which his mother's own acute self-pity anxiety complex had lodged within his mind. The minister helped him to develop dynamic faith. Finally the old fears lifted from his mind and he felt liberated. And it was not difficult to appreciate the relief and happiness that resulted.

Chronic anxiety often stems from fears contracted in childhood through the power of suggestibility. Another big cause is the guilt people develop. Counseling can bring the sufferer to see the connection between his fears and his guilt — and thereby motivate him to a moral housecleaning.

It has been said that self-knowledge is the beginning of wisdom. Often it is also the beginning of a cure. But for actual healing of fear more is needed. Old fears must be replaced with something positive — else they recur or new fears take their place.

That is where spiritual therapy comes in with its strengthening of faith. A significant fact is that where real faith is present fear evaporates.

McCarthy Compounds Offense

Two months ago, in a column commenting upon Sen. Eugene McCarthy's proposal that before any

'We Must Help Selves to Achieve Safer Town'

Our police force may be the hardest-working, most diligent possible, but in order to achieve better safety in our town, we most definitely are going to have to help ourselves attain it.

We tend to be much too careless in our everyday actions.

A few months ago, I was robbed, kidnaped and raped. It could have been prevented if I had been more careful.

There are never going to be enough policemen to watch out for us every minute of the day. So please, "think ahead" and save yourself my hideous nightmare.

1. Lock your car doors at all times.
2. When you start to return to your car, have your keys ready and in your hand.
3. As you're working, watch the people around you for suspicious men lurking near your car.

4. If you think someone is following you, go into a well-lighted public place.

5. When you enter your car, lock your doors first before doing anything else.

6. Above all, use common sense and take the extra time to be careful!

It's your life—a life that is not just your own, but your family's as well.

CAREFUL TOO LATE

Defend Waterford Police Pay Hike Bid

It is a terrible shame that our Waterford Police officers have to demonstrate in silent protest to get a decent raise.

The people on the township board and the residents of the township should realize that they need the raise not only to keep the officers they have now but to attract competent young men into the profession.

Our police department needs men badly and the people of the township ought to demand the supervisor to take action until we get them.

The township is 36 square miles in area and there are only a few men to take the 10,000 or more yearly complaints. Have you ever said "There's never a cop around when you want one"? Now you know why.

MRS. G. L. SMITH
WIFE OF A POLICEMAN

Why is it necessary for the Waterford Police to picket in trying to get a pay raise? Apparently, the money is being used in the wrong places as usual.

Last election, the taxpayers really cleaned house on an unsatisfactory board, supervisor, etc. Looks like we're going to have to do the same thing again.

I'm not a policeman's wife, just a real tired taxpayer, tired of seeing our money spent on the wrong things.

Question and Answer

Is there any place to get a smallpox vaccination other than a doctor's office? Since the Health Department discontinued that service, I'm sure many people would like to know.

MRS. C.

REPLY

The County Health Department tells us they still have a clinic which administers smallpox vaccinations to children, but they know of no place but a doctor's office for adults.

coldly received by ex-President Adams and President Washington.

Congress, however, taking note of the grave situation which was created when private citizens take into their hands negotiations with foreign powers, passed what has always been known as the "Logan Act."

CITED AS WARNING

This law, which is still on the books, makes it a high misdemeanor for a private citizen to interfere in a controversy between the United States and a foreign country.

It is quite obvious that our government will not invoke the Logan Act if McCarthy carries out his plan. The President is too wise to provide his critic with a martyr's halo.

But this harebrained proposal should go far to convince the more adult supporters of McCarthy that they are not dealing merely with a shallow and overambitious but sincere friend of peace.

City Teacher Takes Leave to Join Lab

A Pontiac teacher has taken a leave of absence to help other teachers improve their teaching by self-examination and self-development.

Mrs. Annamarie Hayes, a Teacher Corps team leader at Bethune Elementary School this past school year, is an inservice education specialist with the Michigan - Ohio Regional Educational Laboratory (MOREL) in Detroit.

MOREL is an independent, nonprofit corporation engaged in educational development by linking educational research with teaching practice and establishing classroom programs from basic research.

It is one of 20 such laboratories in the United States established under Title 4 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Mrs. Hayes, 208 Luther, had been assistant director of Project Head Start and elementary teacher in Pontiac. She has a master's degree in educational supervision and administration from Michigan State University.

OCC Board to Pick 2 Provosts, Officers

Two acting provosts are expected to be appointed at the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees special meeting Monday.

They will fill in for Dr. Stanley Hergenroeder at Highland Lakes campus in Waterford Township and Dr. Richard E. Wilson at Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township.

Hergenroeder was appointed acting president of the college and Wilson has left for another position.

Newly elected trustee Douglas Collins will be installed, and new officers of the board will be elected.

The meeting is scheduled to begin 8:30 p.m. at the Bee Executive Office, 2480 Opydye, Bloomfield Hills.

15 Governors Will Tackle Midwest's Ills

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Governors from 15 Midwestern states will tackle state-urban problems, meat inspection and health at their 7th annual meeting Sunday through next Wednesday.

South Dakota Gov. Nils A. Boe is chairman of the conference.

The governors will talk about meat inspection and "environmental health and comprehensive health planning" Monday.

Robert Schneider, director of the Illinois Agriculture Department, will lead discussions on the first topic. Gov. Roger D. Branigan of Indiana will moderate the health programs meeting.

TUESDAY TALKS

"Collective bargaining in the public sector" and "telecommunications" will be discussed Tuesday with Carl Gelsler, special assistant to Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles, moderating the first topic.

Guest participants on bargaining include Arvid Anderson, chairman of the Office of Collective Bargaining, New York City; Robert Helsby, chairman of the New York State Personnel Board, and Frank K. DeWald, Michigan's state personnel director.

Dr. Clayton Yentler, executive assistant to Nebraska Gov. Nebraska T. Tiemann, will moderate the telecommunications discussion.

Child's-Eye View of Being Governor

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — If I said another girl. "I would raise the taxes for more physical education teachers."

More pay for teachers was a common promise. So was a shorter school year.

"I wouldn't run for president," said a boy, "because I wouldn't want to handle the war."

NO DOG POUND

"I'd raise salaries for people to have what they want and let them have vacations when somebody gets hurt at home," vowed a girl, adding, "I think that we do not need dogcatchers or dog pounds around here anymore."

"If special people came to talk to me about taxes I would say, 'no, some people don't have that kind of money,'" one girl said.

LETTOVERS

"I would not let factories dump their leftovers in rivers and lakes to become polluted," said a girl in the class.

"I would make more laws,"

Those aren't election-year campaign promises. They're responses Catherine Peacock got when she asked the 9- and 10-year-olds in her fourth grade class at Lansing's Stoner School to write essays on, "If I were governor."

Miss Peacock sent the essays to Lansing State Journal columnist Jim Hough, who forwarded them to Gov. George Romney.

Another, an optimist, wrote: "I would help make laws and be in charge at the capitol. I hope that I wouldn't have any problems."

'Car Insurance Firms Biased Against Poor'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Low-income minority groups living in New York City slum areas are deliberately discriminated against when they try to buy auto insurance, a Senate subcommittee was told Friday.

And the discrimination extends to those living near slum areas, added Jerome Kay, head of the New York Commission on Human Rights.

"I know from personal experience that if you live next to a ghetto area the insurance companies will give you a hard time," he said.

Kay spoke before the anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee, headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. The panel is probing auto insurance industry rate practices and procedures.

Kay said, "The constant refusal of agencies and companies to accept... ghetto and nonwhite business forces the applicant to seek insurance from a high-risk company or under New York's assigned risk plan.

"This form of discrimination is very subtle, sophisticated and accepted," he added. "It permits all those practicing it to deny involvement in it and awareness of it."

A recent commission study of 3,688 assigned risk applicants—the bulk of them from low-income persons — showed that more than 70 per cent of them were Negroes and Puerto Ricans, Kay said.

Of the total figure, 1,790 were "clean risks," and "Puerto Ricans and Negroes represent more than twice as many 'clean risks' as whites," Kay added.

Quakers Plan Service Work in Pontiac

A summer community service project centered in southeastern Pontiac was announced today by the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers).

Twenty high school students recruited from a dozen states will spend seven weeks working with elementary and junior high age children in educational and recreational programs starting Monday.

This will be done in close cooperation with the Pontiac Community Schools summer program at McConnell, Frost, Wilson and Eastern community schools.

Levi Tanksley of Philadelphia, Pa., is leader of the project.

This project is one of 20 state-wide community service projects, who are unfairly discriminated work, and study projects for college or high school students against by offering only rates comparable to those in the private market. The state or federal government would be able to base their charges on true and unbiased statistics on driving experience. This would bring a competitive note into the insurance industry."

Half a Leg Gone, Vet Seeks Detective Job

ST. LOUIS (AP) — When Hubert Bankhead walks before the St. Louis police board next week he hopes to convince them that just because a guy lost part of his leg in Vietnam is no reason he can't once again be a police detective.

The board will be faced with an unusual request. But Bankhead, 28, is an unusual man.

The first day he got his artificial leg he strapped it on and walked out of Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, Colo. "I just made up my mind to do it," he said.

Bankhead is one of seven children raised on a farm near Wyatt, Mo. He graduated in 1961 with a degree in mathematics from Missouri University.

CALLED BACK

After a stint as an Army officer, he joined the St. Louis Police Department.

He was promoted to detective in his first year but was called back into military service in 1965 because of his special training in code analysis.

As commander of a Special Forces team he performed classified missions in Vietnam he cannot discuss. Then he became a pilot, flew 27 photo-reconnaissance missions and was shot down four times. The last time was over North Vietnam with a copilot and two civilians aboard.

Landing just south of the demilitarized zone, Bankhead suffered a crushed right leg. It was during the Tet offensive and the men had to wait 36 hours in the jungle before being picked up by a helicopter. The right leg had to be amputated below the knee.

ALREADY RUNNING

Bankhead has had his new leg for about three weeks. He said it takes six months for the average amputee to learn how to use a new limb. But the former high school athlete and holder of the black belt in judo and karate, has already run with his. He uses a cane to help strengthen the good leg.

Bankhead's police work earned him several citations. If he can't be reinstated as a detective, he feels he could be effective in community relations, juvenile work or as an instructor. But he does not want a desk job.

"I know I can do it," he said softly. "I hope they see it that way. I hope they take me as a pilot, flew 27 photo-reconnaissance missions and was shot down four times. The last time was over North Vietnam with a copilot and two civilians aboard."

WANTS JOB BACK—Hubert Bankhead lost part of his right leg in a Vietnam crash but thinks he can still fulfill the duties of a St. Louis police detective, a job he held before college and a stint as an Army Special Forces officer and pilot. Bankhead is asking the police board for reinstatement and says: "I have my standards. I hate to fall short."

Great Lakes Levels Boosted

DETROIT (UPI)—Recent rains have swollen many of the state's creeks and rivers and added additional depth to the lakes surrounding the state, the U.S. Lake Survey reported yesterday.

The greatest rise was in Lake Superior, eight inches above the level recorded last month and four inches above the level at this time a year ago. The rapid rise also left Superior only nine inches below its all-time high which was recorded in 1876.

The levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron also were up, though not as dramatic a rise as in Superior. Huron and Michigan were up two inches from last month, with another one-inch rise expected in the coming month.

Lake St. Clair was the lone exception to the general rise, dropping four inches from its level of last month with another drop of one inch expected in the coming month.

Within Argentina's one million square miles are fertile pampas, lofty mountains, flat plains, deserts, forests and waterfall higher than Niagara.

House Ends Intern Program

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House members have decided they can do without further advice of the bright college boys and girls they hire as summer interns.

Funds for the $75 weekly pay of the youngsters were stricken by the House on recommendation of its appropriations committee, which said times are too tough to allow the $27,000 outlay.

Outnumbered supporters of the intern program said the real reason the interns were cut off was because some of them last year got involved in a petition battle for and against the Vietnam war.

"This is being done to punish a group whose conduct did not please some members of this body who are not in touch with reality," charged Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., among those on the losing end of a 66 to 14 vote.

political activism of some of them.

The anti-intern provision provided the only, real debate of the $247.5-million annual legislative appropriations bill, which was passed on a 360 to 22 roll call and sent to the Senate.

Yellow Oleo Sells Well in Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — It was one year and 34 million pounds of oleomargarine ago that butter reigned supreme in Wisconsin, America's self-proclaimed dairyland.

Monday will mark the year's anniversary of the legalization of yellow oleo and its entry into Wisconsin supermarkets as a challenge to the traditional state product.

What has been the effect of oleo on Wisconsin's most prized dairy spread?

A representative for the Wisconsin Creameries Association admits butter sales have dropped, but he adds that the higher grades of the product have suffered least.

'EX-SMUGGLERS'

Many of the persons now buying oleo, he thinks, were those who smuggled it into the state before the 72-year-old ban was lifted, while "real Wisconsin butter buyers" have remained loyal.

At any rate, Wisconsin housewives, after one year, are carrying much more oleo out of their local grocery stores than butter.

Secretary of Revenue James Morgan, whose department is responsible for issuing tax stamps for the margarine, places the poundage sold so far in Wisconsin at 33,900,000.

At an average of 35 cents per pound, Wisconsin has paid nearly $12 million for the long-outlawed yellow oleo.

Because Wisconsin butter is shipped to many states by rail, many producers without being taxed, there apparently is no oleo, too," one said.

Accurate measure of a drop in butter sales. But officials of both the Department of Agriculture and a leading Wisconsin grocery chain estimate the drop about one-fourth the previous years' sales.

Butter today in Madison grocery stores sells for an average of about 81 cents. Oleo averages between 22 and 40 cents per pound.

Housewives, who have never sympathized with opposition to the budget item, have welcomed oleo as an old friend.

"It's about time," Mrs. Warren P. Knowles said as her governor husband ceremoniously scrawled his name on the repeal measure in yellow ink last year.

USED WIDELY

Housewives now make wide use of oleo without the necessity of hauling back cases from oleo outlets that flourished along the Illinois border.

One store owner there confided last year he did sell 6,000 pounds of the imitation product in one day. Oleo still sells a bit cheaper in Illinois because of the 5% cent per pound tax imposed by Wisconsin.

For the housewife, the price is the difference between the two competing products. Most believe they can tell the difference in taste, but few are willing to pay the extra 50 cents party primary, with oleo the cheaper product won immediate acceptance.

"If you had seven kids, you'd issue. As chairman of the senate agriculture committee, Leverich was able for years to keep bills only one year, have every right to endorse Gov. Knowles' slogan for the state: "We like it here."

Bridal Ensemble of White Crepe From Germany

For her wedding Friday evening to Kenneth Wright Kelsey, Sally Quevenne Little wore a full length silk crepe sheath designed in Heidelberg, Germany, which she chose while teaching there at U.S. Army Overseas Dependent Schools.

The Empire silhouette was defined with a wide belt of embroidered lace centered with a crepe panel. A matching lace bodice and wrist length sleeves highlighted her attire.

To complete her look, the bride chose a triple rose headpiece securing a veil of illusion edged with satin. She held a cascade of white roses, Stephanotis and ivy.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Mary Little. Their parents are the Albert E. Littles of Lathrup Village. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dale Numelin of Saginaw and Janet Kelsey.

Best man honors for the son of the Mark C. Kelseys of Madelia, Minn., were performed by Dr. Michael Gross of W. Lafayette, Ind.

Ushers for the double ring exchange in St. Thomas More Church were Seaman recruit William Little, USN, Lawrence Dodd of Ludington, Philip Murphy of Madelia and Frederick Shultz of Minneapolis, Minn.

Following a reception at the Birmingham Athletic Club, the newlyweds departed for a honeymoon trip to New York.

Feathery Fashions Tickle the Purse

NEW YORK (AP) — Feathers may be for the birds, but they are also for those with nest eggs plump enough for the likes high fashion designers Donald Brooks and Pauline Trigere.

Although they do not flock together, the feathers of ostriches, cocks, pheasants and storks are due to flutter everywhere in a woman's wardrobe that may tickle her fancy.

This lesson in ornithology was part of a week-long series of fall collection previews, American Designer Series, which ended Friday.

The bird bit was a natural for Brooks. In doing the costumes for a Gertrude Lawrence movie, he had been researching the glamour archives of the late 30's when it was the duty of vamps to bat their eyes among a flock of ostriches.

Cock feather, beige, speckled or white ostrich fronds, sometimes glistening with jeweled drops were used as sleeves, skirts, ruffs, cuffs and borders.

Some had bodices of matching velvet. Others glowed with iridescent sequins.

Instead of fur, Pauline Trigere preferred to line coats with marabou. The bristling boas by the mile bounced around other costumes.

LEATHER

Just as Brooks used feathers as fabric, Trigere treated leather as if it were woven by the yard. From it she fashioned bodices for gray flannel skirts which matched glove-like leather boots. Leather sleeves, leather for formal wear were more uses.

Fashion tricks which America's French-imported designer suggested included the use of two pairs of stockings, a sheer layer over an opaque base.

She advocated a red coat for the woman who can only afford one or better still a reversible with secret pockets for back accounts—for secret Trigere expenditures perhaps.

AP Wirephoto

The Old Gentleman Next Door Needs Some Kindness and Attention

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are a couple with four school-age children. Our problem is an old retired gentleman who lives next door. He just won't leave us alone.

When the boys want to work out in the yard with their father, this old man comes out and talks to them. If they're planting flowers, he is right there, telling them how to do it. If I happen to be outside sitting with friends, he comes out and joins us.

My daughters cannot even sun themselves without this old man coming out to sit with them.

Abby, I hate to seem mean, but who needs an old man following you around and inviting himself over every time you go outside?

My husband doesn't have the nerve to say anything to him, but if you tell me I should do it, I will.

DEAR PESTERED: The poor old gentleman is lonely, and he could also be getting a bit childish in his declining years, so be kind to him. Tell him, gently, that you and your family need a little more privacy. He may forget from time to time, but be patient, and remind him. One day, you, too, may be old and lonely.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in the army and we are stationed 1,800 miles from home. My mother has offered to send the money for me to fly home several times as she wants to see me and her new grandson.

My husband wouldn't hear of it. He says he does not want me going home unless he can go with me.

Now my mother is going into the hospital for major surgery and she wants me home to be with her for a couple of weeks. My husband is up in arms and won't allow it. (We used up our leave last Christmas and he can't go with me, so that's that.)

I think my husband is selfish and unreasonable. I am just about ready to go anyway, but I hate to do it. What is your advice?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: I think your husband is not only selfish and unreasonable, but he's also immature, tyrannical and short-sighted, and sadly insecure. If you can't make him realize that he is wrong in forbidding you to go to your mother in her hour of need, ask him to talk to an impartial party. The chaplain where he is stationed would be my Number One suggestion.

P.S. Don't go without your husband's blessings, unless you decide you don't want to come back.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to add my two cents' worth about tipping. When I go to a hotel, for example, and see a "bellboy," who is a good 20 years older than I am, I feel like a heel for letting him carry my luggage.

Then when I have to tip him a buck for doing a job that I am more physically fit to do than he is, I feel like a schnook. So what's the answer?

DEAR HEEL AND SCHNOOK: You'd feel like a bigger "heel" carrying your own luggage. Furthermore, don't judge anyone's physical fitness by his age. Most of those "old bellboys" are probably in better shape than you are.

CONFIDENTIAL TO RAMELDA: It's the same old story, you can wear out a mother, abuse her, neglect her, impose upon her and hurt her, and win her back with only four words, "Mom, I love you."

Julie Hamilton Begins Her Reign

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — Julie Anne Hamilton, Cedar Springs' Red Flannel Princess, gained a new crown Friday night and became the National Cherry Queen at the annual pageant.

Miss Hamilton, 18, a willowy blonde who stands 5-foot-7, graduated from high school this spring and plans a career as a business school executive secretary.

First runnerup in the pageant in the heart of Michigan's cherry producing area was Miss Lapeer County, Sharon Denise Kiehler.

Sharon also won the bathing suit competition. Second runnerup was Miss Boyne City, Gail Myer, 18.

Margaret Schroeder, representing Jackson, was selected by the other girls as Miss Congeniality.

October Vows Slated

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Edens of Lawley Street announce the engagement of their daughter, April, to Charles Duke Cummins. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Clendenen of Pontiac Road.

The bride elect and fiancé are planning to wed in October.

Aug. 23 vows are planned by Michigan State University seniors, Nancy Reiss and Daniel Patrick Stevenson. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Reiss of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. James Stevenson of Perkins Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Condon of Winkelman Drive announce the engagement and December vows of their daughter, Connie Jean, to Richard Alan Ward, son of the Milton Wards of Grand Blanc. The bride elect and her fiancé are seniors at Western Michigan University.

Seafood Feasts to Increase With Better Storage

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If Lionel Farber's research project in successful, fresh, crab and shrimp lovers will be able to feast on the seafood delicacies at any time.

Farber, a research biochemist at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center, is studying better storage methods through the use of heat and other methods to determine whether the shellfish can then be stored under refrigeration without deteriorating.

The storage life of frozen shrimp and crab is limited and they become unpalatable after a few months.

Additionally, "A more efficient and less costly method of preserving shellfish would mean that a greater amount of fish protein could be used than now is possible," he says.

Newlyweds to Live in Texas

Pfc. Robert Alan Long and his bride, the former Diana Lynne Nealer, will make their home in El Paso, Tex., while he completes his tour of duty with the Army.

Prior to their departure, the daughter of the Patrick Nealers of Milford and son of the David Longs of Fenton were feted at the Masonic Temple in Milford. They spoke vows in St. Mary's Catholic Church.

For the prenoon ceremony, the bride chose a lace over satin gown with a matching satin train which flowed from the shoulder line. Her silk illusion veil was secured with a small crown and she carried a white orchid encircled with roses.

Susan Fisher was maid of honor followed by bridesmaids Judy Kritzer, Mrs. Wayne Green and flower girl Cindy Nealer.

Best man was Mark Watson with Wayne Green and Larry Rose as ushers.

Colors Brighten Once-Dull Days

Fashion has stormed the rainwear industry — showers bring forth raincoats in an array of color and pattern unheard of in the old "slicker" days.

Orange and hot pink, bright greens and yellows sing out in clear notes under gray skies while fabric designs sprout plaids, polka dots and flower power. It all sets a girl to sing in the rain...

A Foreign Land Called 'Despair'

By BETTY CANARY

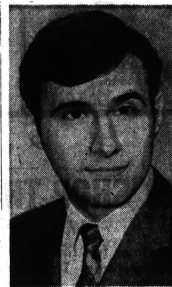

It has been suggested we keep our vacation money inside the United States this summer. See America First, but where to go?

I took my children on a two-day trek to a foreign country only a few miles from where we live. We could all read the street signs but we didn't really speak the language. We were aliens — outsiders — and the natives looked at us with suspicion and hostility.

My five have never experienced this and while I hope they never have to subsist on a steady diet of it, this taste was an eye-opener.

I'd been to the area before — but only on guided tours — accompanied by welfare workers or young people serving with government and church agencies. This time there weren't any interviews. My children say they would never want to live there. In fact, they don't even like to visit.

During recent commencement exercises, Edward Louis Haroutunian received the degree of Juris Doctor from Wayne State University Law School. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Haroutunian of Bloomfield Hills completed undergraduate studies at the University of Michigan.

They don't know the term "moral outrage." They didn't fool around with abstract ideas or discuss "approaching the cultural problems head-on." Amazingly, they seemed to know the residents here are referred to as "they" and "these people."

Kids don't kid around and keep the question as an undercurrent of polite conversation. They come right out with it. "Why don't THEY do something?" kids ask. "What's the matter with THESE PEOPLE?"

Perhaps first graders do not understand "despair" and "hopelessness" if you try to explain. They do know simple arithmetic.

Darlene K. Garchow was recently awarded a BS degree in Education during commencement exercises at Eastern Michigan University. Darlene, who is presently enrolled at University of Michigan's graduate school, is the daughter of the Frederick Garchows of First Avenue.

HECK-SARTO

Northville's First Presbyterian Church was the setting today for vows exchanged by Andrea Jo Sarto, daughter of the Jerome O. Sartos of West-aces, and Robert Joseph Heck, son of the Raymond Hecks of Birmingham. A white organza sheath over taffeta was chosen by the bride who asked her sister, Mary Ann, to be maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Elma Sarto and Susan Perkowski. Louis Tremonti stood as best man with ushers, Paul Holody, James Kleinsorae, Arthur Kopa and Harold Scharis. The couple will honeymoon in the Canadian Rockies and the West Coast.

BAKER-BAILEY

Imported lace edged the illusion veil and sheath-styled peau de sole gown of Sandra G. Bailey as she repeated vows this morning in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church with William B. Baker. Their parents are Mrs. John A. Walker of Rochester, Gerold C. Bailey of Orchard Lake and the Richard Bakers of Muskegon. Mary J. Garland stood as maid of honor with bridesmaids, Karen Spanaki and Mrs. William Leacock. On the esquire side were Lawrence Boesko as best man with ushers, Daniel Kline and Frank Effler IV. Prior to leaving on a honeymoon to Denver, Colo., the couple was feted at a reception in Airway Lanes.

On Land or Sea

The skin diver's watch is the latest trend in men's watches, according to recent indications. The Waltham Watch Company of Chicago, one of the nation's leading producers of jeweled-movement watches, says that many of the skin diver's watches have been sold to people who are not skin divers. The company attributes diver watches' increased sales out of water to their durability and highly masculine, athletic styling.

BASEBALL DISCUSSION — Chicago White Sox manager Eddie Stanky and umpire Bill Valentine exchange opinions concerning Chisox pitching during a game against the Tigers in Detroit last night. Valentine called on Stanky after Detroit's Willie Horton was hit for the second time in the game by Chisox pitcher Joe Horlen. Umpire Jim Honochick looks on at right. The Tigers went to win the game, 5-4. A scheduled second game was called because of rain.

All Qualifying for Gold Cup Officially Ends

DETROIT (AP) — Continued rough waters Friday forced cancellation of all qualifying runs for Sunday's 60th annual Gold Cup hydroplane race and boat owners and drivers decided all 15 boats could take part.

Slight westerly winds which tossed up whitecaps on the Detroit River course ended the qualifying runs Friday morning after only one craft had ventured out. Coast Guard officials said the rough water was expected to continue through Saturday.

Nine boats qualified earlier in the week at an average of 108.932 miles an hour with six craft, including defending champion Miss Bardahl, still waiting their chance to run on the rough waters.

Boat owners and drivers met for over an hour before coming up with the decision to let all boats run Sunday. The only qualification applied to a new boat, Want A Sponsor, which has not run a race this year. It must run one lap at over 100 m.p.h. Sunday to win a place in the meet, the committee said.

Rules for the Gold Cup race provide that there must be 25 hours set aside for qualifying runs for the meet. Less than 18 hours of time trials had been run before the rash of rain, windy weather developed. The rule was waived at Friday's meeting.

If all 15 boats make it to the starting line Sunday, there will be three sets of elimination heats with five boats in each.

Weather forecasts indicated that skies would be overcast but that the winds would shift to more favorable conditions for Sunday, race officials said.

City's Bill Tipton in Olympic Trials

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The nation's finest track and field athletes, excluding a few hardship case absences, take another long stride this weekend toward the Olympic Games in Mexico City in October.

The two-day U.S. Olympic Trials for men got under way in late afternoon and wind up Sunday in Los Angeles' Inland Empire Stadium. Competition in the track events begins at 7 p.m. EDT, each day.

TIPTON ENTERED

Pontiac's Bill Tipton is one of three Eastern Michigan University students entered in the trials. Tipton and Jerry Cerulla of Wyandotte are running the 110-meter high hurdles while teammate Bill Barrett of Berkley will be bidding for a spot in the pole vault competition.

The trials are vital but not the final word in the makeup of the team which will go to Mexico City Oct. 12-27.

The first three finishers here automatically will be invited to participate in the final high altitude trials in September at South Lake Tahoe, Calif.

Head U.S. Coach Payton Jordan, from Stanford, said from six to 10 athletes in the various events will be invited to Lake Tahoe. Included will be a number who are unable because of illness or injuries to compete this weekend.

The hardship cases include such brilliant performers as Jim Ryun, Richmond Flowers and Willie Davenport, who are nursing ailments of one sort or another.

Southfield's Bob Scheuer Sends Green to Sidelines

Special to The Pontiac Press

CHARLEVOIX — Don Stevens of Birmingham, 1960 champion and two former runner-ups, Jim Funston and Steve Uzelac, comprise the veteran contingent while Bob Scheuer and Gary Balliet, a pair of 18-year-olds are Oakland County's remaining threats in the 57th Michigan Amateur Championship as play entered the third round of match play here today.

Stevens is one of three former champions left in the tournament. The others are Glenn Johnson, five-time champion from Grosse Ile, and Don's younger brother, Melvin, both known as Bud, three time winner.

However, there will be only two left after third round matches this morning, since Don Stevens and Johnson meet.

The Stevens brothers and Johnson are old rivals. Last year Bud knocked off Johnson in the third round. Then Bud downed brother Don, 2 up in the quarter-finals, only to be ousted on the 21st hole in the semifinals by John Grace, University of Houston golfer from Detroit.

Don boosted his stock in this rain-drenched tournament yesterday when he ousted defending champion Bill Newcomb of Ann Arbor, 2-1 in the second round.

Meanwhile Bud, who hails from Livonia, ousted Dick Robertson, 52-year-old Pontiac golfer, after Robertson knocked off his close friend, Ray Palmer of Grosse Ile, the 1967 USGA senior champion, 2-1 with a one-over par pace.

Bud also sidelined the biggest golfer in the tournament, 6-foot-6, 305-pound Dave Harris of Troy, 4-2, with a one-under-par attack.

Uzelac, runner-up in 1964 to Doug Hankey, actually had to play 35 holes to take his two opponents yesterday, despite the fact first round matches were cut to 13 holes because No. 2 through 6 were unplayable because of the night's rain.

The 47-year-old Funston, runner-up for the title in 1947, may be headed for the comeback of the year if he pulls through here.

He nipped Jim St. Germain of Meadowbrook, the 21-year-old Eastern Michigan golfer, 1 up in the afternoon after an easy 2-1 victory over Dick Przybyl in the morning.

GREEN STUNNED

Scheuer, who helped Southfield high sweep state high school honors, including the Pontiac Press tournament, accounted for the biggest upset of the day when he ousted Peter Green of Orchard Lake on the first extra hole in the morning round.

BREAK COMBINATION

Pontiac's father-and-son combination was broken up when Tom Balliet, 43-year-old Pontiac Motor general foreman, was ousted by James Smith, his previous Bald Mountain teammate, 2-1, in the morning. In turn, Smith bowed to Lansing's Schubei when the latter unleashed a three-under-par attack.

Meanwhile 18-year-old Gary, who just graduated from Ayonville High, advanced to the third round by downing Rocky Pozza, University of Michigan golfer, 3-2.

Earlier Gary had to go an extra hole to oust Glenn Kien, rolling in a 17-foot birdie putt for a sensational finish. As luck would have it, Gary plays Uzelac in the third round.

Weather Keeps Anglers Guessing in Michigan

By United Press International

Fishing is at a near standstill in Michigan and prospects for this weekend aren't good.

Strong winds and rain have whipped up high, muddy waters on lakes in the southern part of the state while lake warnings keep fishermen off the Great Lakes.

But a survey by the Automobile Club of Michigan has turned up at least two areas where fishing is reported excellent.

Pike and crappies are being hooked "using any bait and any method" in the Thunder Bay River near Alpena. Excellent fishing is reported in the Upper Peninsula near Hessel, where herring catches average 80 per man off the docks in Hessel Bay, the Auto Club said.

COHO STOP

Coho salmon fishing came to a halt on Lake Michigan because of the poor weather. Most coho still are concentrated in an area between South Haven and Muskegon, one to four miles offshore, and fishermen said last weekend's catches averaged six pounds with some over eight and a half pounds.

Good catches of bass and pike have been taken at Fletcher's Pond near Alpena by a few brave fishermen. Good catches of perch and trout and fair catches of smallmouth bass have been caught in the East Jordan area, with the best perch and smallmouth fishing in Lake Charlevoix, and brook and brown trout in the Jordan River. Hardy anglers have been rewarded with nice catches of lake trout in West Grand Traverse Bay and bass and whitefish in the south end of Lake Leelanau near Traverse City.

The Michigan Department of Conservation at Inlay City reports perch catches spotty at Port Sanilac and Lexington in Sanilac County. Good-sized perch are being taken at Harbor Beach in Huron County. Fair to good catches of smallmouth bass are reported along the east shore of Huron County with best results at Eagle Bay.

Good catches of largemouth are reported in Napeequing and Long Lakes in Lapeer County. Only a few walleyes are being taken at Port Huron and Marysville in the St. Clair River.

The Conservation Department said pike fishing is good in the Black River in Sanilac County, below the dam in the Cass River in Tuscola County and in Napeequing Lake in Lapeer County.

Fishing is restricted on Saginaw Bay but some good catches of perch have been caught off Sand Point. Fair bass and perch catches have been taken offshore in Grindstone Harbor.

Fishing is at a standstill in the Au Sable River, at Houghton Lake, and in the Jackson, Three Rivers, Cheboygan and Manistee areas, the Auto Club said.

Grid Principals Mum After Huddling Here

By The Associated Press

Representatives of players and owners of National Football League teams have refused to comment on their secret meeting Friday to discuss complaints and a possible strike by the some 640 league players.

An Associated Press newsmen and an area newspaper photographer both were asked to leave the Pine Lake Country Club, where the meeting was held.

Vince Lombardi, general manager of the Green Bay Packers, and Detroit Lions guard John Gordy, president of the NFL Players Association, refused to comment on the talks. Gordy said he might make a statement after meeting owners representatives early today.

"I thought this was supposed to be a well-kept secret," Lombardi said when a newsmen arrived at the club.

Plans and location of the meeting reportedly had been kept secret in the belief that negotiations would be smoother without publicity.

The NFL Players Association seeks a minimum salary similar to that of the major baseball leagues. NFL players now get an allowance of $10 a day when in training or playing an exhibition game. They seek $500 each for all exhibition games.

In addition, the Association asks that each club contribute $100,000 to the pension plan and pay a $15,000 minimum salary.

Managements of the 16 clubs have contended the demands are excessive, not commensurate with what the clubs now take. The Players Association has asked to be shown which team profit margins cannot support payment of the proposed contributions.

PLAYERS POLLED

The Associated Press learned Thursday that all NFL players had been polled by telephone and interviewed as to whether they would be willing to strike if their demands were not met.

Contacted in Denver, Pete Rozelle, football commissioner, expressed skepticism about the strike threat, calling owners and players alike "responsible people who will get together."

Rozelle said he had known of the player canvassing, but said he had not been contacted on the matter.

William Clay Ford, owner of the Lions, had called the meeting only regular and the strike reports "strictly a rumor."

The committee appointed by the NFL owners to negotiate with the players consists of Lombardi, Wellington Mara Jr., president of the New York Giants; Rankin Smith, president of the Atlanta Falcons; Jim Finks, Minnesota Vikings general manager, and George Hallas Jr., president and general manager of the Chicago Bears.

Philadelphia Eagles quarterback King Hill is vice president of the Players Association.

Soviet Tennis Ace Ousts Pro Gonzales

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Russian tennis is on the march and old Pancho Gonzales, one of the world's highest-paid professional stars, is out of Wimbledon.

Alexander Metreveli, 23-year-old No. 1 of the Soviet Union, upset the veteran from Los Angeles, Friday 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5 in the third round.

Because of a backlog caused by rain, Gonzales had to play his second singles match in two days.

Firebirds to Get Grid Drills Going Sunday at Wisner

With Mt. Clemens out of the Midwest Football League, the Pontiac Firebirds now "inherit" the defending champion's role for 1968 and the opening of football practice for the F-Birds begins Sunday at Wisner Stadium practice field.

Head coach Tom Tracy expects some 60 candidates for the opening of drills at 2 p.m. with a strong nucleus of the team which finished second with a 10-2 record last year.

STRONGER LEAGUE

The Midwest Football League is expected to be much stronger with the addition of well organized franchises in Fort Wayne, Ind., Lackawanna, N.Y., and Hamtramck.

The Firebirds are expected to have an intra-squad scrimmage possibly Saturday July 13 and they will play their first exhibition game Saturday July 20 against the Flint Wildcats at Wisner.

The annual benefit game in Rochester for Crittenford Hospital is slated for July 27 under sponsorship of the Rochester Rotary Club.

Tickets for these games and season tickets are now available at Osmon's, Grill's Grill and VFW Post No. 1370 on S. Saginaw in the city.

Minnesota on Treadmill in Pursuit of Bengals

Surging Twins Halt Baltimore

California Takes Pair; Oakland Whips Yanks

BALTIMORE (P) — The Minnesota Twins must feel as though they're on a treadmill to nowhere.

The Twins whipped Baltimore 5-3 Friday night for their 10th victory in 12 starts, but wound up where they started — eight games behind Detroit's American League leaders.

"We've won 10 of 12 and gained three games," said Minnesota Manager Cal Ermer.

"The Tigers haven't had a losing streak yet, so we've got to hang tight until they do."

Detroit has a sound club, but I think they'll have a bad spell like every other team has had. At least, I hope so."

Californians Angels took a pair from the Washington Senators, taking the nightcap in 11 innings, 1-0, after Jim Fregosi's three-run homer triggered a 4-3 verdict in the opener.

Elsewhere, Oakland trimmed New York 3-2, Minnesota dropped Baltimore 5-2 and Detroit edged Chicago 5-4 in the first game of a double-header. The second game was postponed by rain as was Cleveland's game at Boston.

Chuck Hinton of the Angels opened the 11th with a walk and Angels' skipper Bill Rigney, trying to advance the runner to second, twice gave bunt signs to Don Mincher. No luck, but Mincher did work Dorold Knowles for a walk.

Now with runners at first and second, Rigney gave the bunt sign to Rich Reichardt, who responded with a couple of foul balls. Ready to surrender, Rigney let Reichardt swing away and the Angel slugger lined a double to left center, scoring Hinton.

"No more bunts," swore Rigney. "We aren't going to bunt anymore as long as it turns out this way."

Fregosi's homer in the third and a run-scoring single by Mincher in the eighth gave the Angels just enough cushion to stand off Mike Epstein's three-run puke in the first game.

Jack Aker shut off a Yankee rally in the seventh and then escaped another jam in the ninth, saving Oakland's victory over New York.

The Athletics bunched singles by Rick Monday, John Donaldson, Sal Bando and Reggie Jackson for two runs in the sixth against Stan Baumstein, who added another run on Monday's sacrifice fly in the eighth.

Harmen Killebrew snapped a 16-game skid with his first home run since June 9, helping Minnesota whip Baltimore. Killebrew's 13th of the season was a two-run shot.

Jim Kaat got ninth-inning help from Al Worthington to nail down his fifth victory.

Wins Sail Honor

HAMILTON, Bermuda (P) — Ted Hood of Marblehead, Mass., and his 52-foot yawl Robin took over-all and Class C honors in the Newport to Bermuda yacht race with an elapsed time of three days, 20 hours, 14 minutes and three seconds for a corrected time of 3:06:41.9.

Beban Sparks West Victory

Heisman Trophy Winner Quiets Critics

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Beban, king of last fall's college football heroes but snubbed in the first round of the pro draft, has quieted some of the critics who questioned his passing Smith of Oregon which gave the arm.

The Heisman Trophy winner from UCLA displayed a deadly passing touch Friday night and in the end zone for another led the West to a 34-20 victory over the East in the eighth annual Coaches All-America football game.

Beban hit on 15 of 20 passes for 222 yards and two touchdowns, and his second scoring strike cracked a 20-20 tie in the game watched by a crowd of 21,120 in 90-degree weather.

The 14-jump, 45-yard Bloomfield Open team-course that will include fences 4-3 to 5-foot in height on the opening round, and higher if a jumpoff is needed.

Top Jumpers in Finals

EASTERN STAR—Fullback Larry Csonka (39) of Syracuse, who'll join the Miami Dolphins of the American Football league this fall, plunged through the West line to score for the East in the second quarter of last night's Coaches All-America Game in Atlanta, Ga. Csonka fumbled on the play but the bobble came after he crossed the goal line so the score counted. The big fullback scored another six-pointer in the fourth quarter and earned the game's Most Valuable Player award. West won 34-20.

Minnesota's John Williams recovered a teammate's fumble in the end zone for another touchdown for the West, and over the East in the eighth annual Coaches All-America football game.

Beban hit on 15 of 20 passes for 222 yards and two touchdowns, and his second scoring strike cracked a 20-20 tie in the game watched by a crowd of 21,120 in 90-degree weather.

Larry Csonka, bulky Syracuse fullback, and quarterback Greg Landry of Massachusetts were the standouts for the East. Csonka rushed 26 times — a record for the game — and

 This is about one that got away.

Coming up in August at Birmingham Country Club is the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf championship, and it's almost certain that one of the observers will be Mrs. H. G. Hiegie of Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Hiegie played in 11 of these national events, the last time in 1949. The most memorable of the 11 for her would have to be the 1929 tournament played at Oakland Hills Country Club in Birmingham. She almost won that one. With four holes to go, Mrs. Hiegie was four up on defending champion Glenna Clifton in their quarter-final match.

CAME CLOSE
 The champion, now Mrs. Bare, was nearly eliminated on the 14th hole. "My putt stopped on the lip of the cup," recalled Mrs. Hiegie. "Glenna was just turning to congratulate me but the putt stopped."

Yet the outlook still was good, in fact, great, for Mrs. Hiegie as she started the 15th.

But on the 15th, Glenna, who won the national crown five times in the years 1922-1930, hit the green in two, two-putted for a par. "The short game was always my forte," said Mrs. Hiegie, but that part of her game collapsed. "I was on in three for two putts." That cut the lead to 3-down with three holes to go.

GAMBLE PAYS OFF
 On the par-4, 16th, a treacherous lake hole, Glenna, a long hitter, went for the green on her second shot and made it over the water. Two more putts and a par. Mrs. Hiegie played around the lake making a five and losing another hole.

"On the 17th, I was over the trap to the right of the green and the green was fast," said Mrs. Hiegie, who celebrated her 67th birthday Tuesday. "I didn't get close enough with a chip. . . . Glenna made her par and it was I up with one to go."

BEHIND TREE
 "Glenna's tee shot was to the right and behind a tree on the 18th. She just chipped out into the fairway and put her third shot just off the green. She chipped onto the green and made the putt for a par."

"I was close to the green in two, but my third shot went over the green." A bogey followed and the watch was even.

ALL OVER
 In the sudden-death playoff, Miss Collett hit the green in two and made was fast," said Mrs. Hiegie, who celebrated her 67th birthday Tuesday. "I didn't get close enough with a chip. . . . Glenna made her par and it was I up with one to go."

Mrs. Hiegie's role this year will be strictly that of an observer. No doubt her thoughts may stray a bit as she watches to that match 39 years back at Oakland Hills, just a short distance from Birmingham CC.

While this big one got away, there were a few big ones that didn't. As a member of the Women's District Golf Association, Mrs. Hiegie won five times and the medal play championship on four occasions.

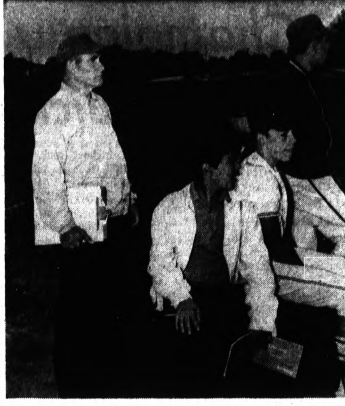

HOWE SCORES
 Detroit Red Wings' Gordie Howe scores on grass as well as ice.

Gordie and his three partners turned in a best-ball 69 earlier in the week at Spring Lake, an 18-hole tournament in Michigan Celebrity Golf Club sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Playing with Gordie were Gary Meeker, John O'Hare and Dick Bennett. Low actual scores in the tournament were Wayne Walker of the Detroit Lions and Dave DeBussche of the Pistons with 75s.

This is for the hole-in-one shooters. No. 8 at Silver Lake, a 120-yarder, has been mastered four times this season. Golfers bagged five aces on the hole last year.

Burrini Wins Decision
 SASSARI, Sardinia (AP)—Italy's Salvatore Burrini, European bantamweight boxing champion, outpointed Billy Brown of The Philippines in 10-round non-title bout Thursday night.

Archer Sweet on Putter

CLEVELAND (AP) — George Archer, in his fifth year on the professional golf circuit, has his sights set on a pretty lofty goal. "I'd like to be the best putter on the tour," Archer says. "A fellow like that can make the most money."

The fast-talking Californian already is rated one of the best putters around and showed some of his magic Friday by shooting a sizzling six-under par 65.

TALLEST PRO
 That gave Archer, at 6-foot-6, the tallest touring pro, a 36-hole total of 135 and a one-stroke lead over Tommy Aaron in the $110,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

"I think Bob Charles is the best putter around, but some people think I'm better. I don't agree but this was the best I putted in quite awhile."

"In last week's Canadian Open. I was pulling all my putts and I decided my elbows were too far away from my body. So I made an adjustment."

A barrage of six birdies with the help of his accurate putter had Archer in good positions for a run at the $22,000 first prize.

He already owns two tournament victories—at Pensacola and New Orleans—and is the third ranking money-winner with $86,638.

The chilly weather has not affected Archer. Tommy Aaron, Robert de Vicenzo, Dave Stockton, Don Janusz, Rives McCre, Gardner Dickinson, Bob Dickson, Wayne Yates, Dave Marr, Fred Martin, Bob Cole, Dan Douglass, Bruce Frank, Colin Leverage, Mason Rudolph, Brian Rumpf, Charles Siffert, Julius Boros, Tony Jacklin, Horacio Sotomayor, Bill Parker, R.P. Sikke, Bob Murphy, Frank Boynton, Hale Irwin, Jerry Steadman, Neil Magie, Bob McCallister, Deane Beman, Dave Hill.

'Chicago Gangs Urge Juveniles to Commit Crimes'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a Chicago street gang receiving antipoverty funds encourage juveniles to commit crimes because punishment is less than for adults, a Senate hearing has been told.

"They can literally get away with murder," Robert M. Karton, an assistant Cook County, Ill., state's attorney told the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee Friday.

Gun Turn-In Appeals Get Scant Reply

NEW YORK (AP) — Appeals for American gun owners to cast a vote against violence by surrendering their weapons have yielded meager returns, an Associated Press survey indicated today.

The public response has been particularly unenthusiastic in cities with a recent history of racial violence.

Indications that a proposed federal gun registration law faces hard sledding in Congress have prompted some cities and counties to action on their own. But so far, such instances of gun control at the local level are few and far between.

The Board of City Directors of Pasadena, Calif., home town of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, accused of assassinating Robert F. Kennedy, turned down a proposal to require registration of guns. A resolution calling for investigation of possible gun control ordinances lost on a tie vote, 3 to 3.

NO SECOND

In San Antonio, Tex., a city councilman asked for an ordinance prohibiting the sale of, hand guns to the insane, mentally incompetent, narcotics addicts or convicted felons. The proposal failed for lack of a second after the city attorney expressed doubt that such a law would stand up in court.

However, looking ahead to the Republican national convention in August, the Miami Beach, Fla., City Council adopted an ordinance requiring police permits for gun purchases and registration of all guns and providing jail terms for possession of unlicensed arms.

In Chicago, a city gun registration law became effective May 15 and city residents turned 1,211 guns to police, who planned to melt the weapons into scrap iron. But another 60 persons were soon arrested for ignoring the ordinance.

Los Angeles has a city ordinance against carrying a concealed weapon without a police permit. Few permits are issued, but Police Inspector Otto Woods estimated "there are probably in excess of 2-million weapons in the city."

PROPOSED LAW

Los Angeles county officials are discussing a proposed county ordinance which would prohibit ownership of guns not registered with police.

Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco issued a plea for city residents to give their guns to the police. A total of 690 weapons have been surrendered, including one rocket launcher, and Alioto said "we're expecting lots more."

Benny Bufano, a San Francisco sculptor, proposed melting down the surrendered guns and making a statue of St. Francis out of the metal, with heads of John F. Kennedy, Robert F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and Abraham Lincoln decorating the saint's robe. The mayor approved the idea and said the would ask the city to provide a site for the statue.

Mayor Thomas J. D'Alessandro III of Baltimore asked citizens to turn in their firearms as a "positive step toward meeting the problem of violence in American society." A police spokesman said the appeal has had "nearly negative" results.

Claims Meeting

LANSING (AP) — The secretary of State's office has called a two-day conference of administrators of accident claims funds and unsatisfied judgment programs, legislators and top officials of private insurance companies. The meetings, in Lansing July 8-9, will cover the subject of reciprocity between Michigan, other states and Canadian provinces which have accident claims fund laws.

He said that a 16-year-old member of the Rangers confessed killing a Disciple in the street outside Fry's church and later tried to recant the confession.

Karton said the youth claimed an older boy actually committed the murder but told him that, being so young, he would not receive a harsh penalty.

"Is there evidence that older criminals induce youngsters to commit serious crimes," Karton was asked.

"I think that is the conclusion one would have to draw," Karton said.

The Illinois law provides that adults convicted of murder be sentenced to a minimum of 14 years in prison. The maximum penalty is death in the electric chair.

County Builders Get Federal Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — T.N.D. Blackstone Rangers and Devil's Builders of Pleasant Ridge have Disciples, the two gangs in the been awarded a contract to controversial project, to take construct the new Grand River advantage of an Illinois law by Station post office. The cost using juveniles to commit of the project is estimated at $232,316.

Juveniles, Karton said, are turned over to the Illinois Youth Commission and can be released anytime the commission considers them rehabilitated.

In other testimony Friday, a First Presbyterian Church youth worker said that although gang members he helped were "some of the most violent kids in the whole country," they had a potential for good and he never aided them in crime.

HELP ESSENTIAL

Cooperation of the Blackstone Rangers was essential for any one trying to find solutions to urban problems in their area of operations, said Charles LaPaglia.

But under questioning by senators, who produced witnesses and affidavits in attempting to refute many of his statements, mer Ranger "LaPaglia" who is guilty and who is innocent, sat next to him and repeated denied these allegations: "That guns were stored in the church and that he knew it, that he knew Rangers bought guns while staying at a Michigan summer camp or that they later stored them in the church; that he knew marijuana was kept, sold or smoked in the church or that he ever smoked it himself or recognized its smell; that sex acts were performed in the church; that gang members were beaten up there as punishment for breaking rules; that he was involved in gang extortion or that he knew anything of the relaying of an execution order from a jailed gang leader."

earlier testimony accusing him of intimate knowledge of the gang's criminal activities. "Does he know what marijuana smells like?" demanded Sen. McClellan.

"HE KNOWS"

Rose looked directly at LaPaglia, smiled broadly, and replied: "He knows. He knows." Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., referring to sharp conflicts in testimony presented by witnesses, commented: "The only thing I am sure of is that somebody is going to get a sharp rap for perjury before this thing is over. Somebody is lying through their teeth."

"And we are going to continue to grind this grist down this miserable mill until we find out who is guilty and who is innocent."

Competition Scarce for Supervisor Posts

They're not exactly beating down the doors of the county courthouse to get in.

As of Friday afternoon only 44 persons (20 Democrats, 24 Republicans) had filed petitions for the 27 positions of supervisor on the reapportioned County Board of Supervisors, according to Mabel Child, election clerk. The deadline is 4 p.m., Tuesday.

The primary is Aug. 6 and winners in each party will appear on the Nov. 5 ballot. The old membership was 87.

but this will be trimmed to 27, to file petitions or at least post a $100 bond. It would take a minimum of 54 candidates to assure a two-party race in each district, so yesterday the field was many candidates short.

MERRILL G. MILLER

LITTLE COMPETITION

In District 2L, the northeast third of Pontiac (25,000 people), no one has filed in either party.

In 15 of the districts, only one party is represented by filing candidates. In fact in just 12 of the districts has a two-party race shaped up thus far.

District 3, the northeast section of Southfield, including Lathrup Village, appears to be the most politically conscious, with three persons in each party vying for the post.

The board has been ordered changed by court decisions to the one-man, one-vote principle. Formerly none of the supervisors were directly elected, but were appointees or held the position ex-officio because they had been elected supervisors of their various townships.

Mrs. Childs said she is aware that many more persons have taken out petitions but so far they have not filed and time is running short.

She has another message for candidates for district judge. She warns they face the same 4 p.m., Tuesday, deadline, but they must file in the office of the director of elections in the Treasury Building in Lansing.

Airplane-Freeway Mishap Fatal to 4

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A light, single-engine plane, its left wing afire, scraped the tops of two autos on a heavily traveled freeway, then crashed into a culvert last night. Four passengers perished.

Authorities said the four-seat Beechcraft-Bonanza, trying to make an emergency landing at Nellis Air Force Base, caught fire, lost altitude, slammed into high-tension power lines, then grazed the tops of two autos on Interstate 15 before crashing upside down. The plane was demolished.

The passengers in the autos hit by the plane were not injured. One driver said the plane was aflame when it scraped his car. The accident occurred 30 miles north of Las Vegas.

OCC Loses 9th Top Aide Within Year

If you're a school administrator and looking for a job, why not try Oakland Community College?

Merrill G. Miller announced yesterday that he is leaving. He is the ninth high-level college administrator to leave within one year.

Yesterday was officially the last day at OCC for six of them. None have been replaced.

Miller, administrative assistant to former Executive Vice President Dr. Ervin L. Harlacher, will be assistant to the president at the new Monmouth (N.J.) Community College.

Harlacher is the president of Monmouth. Thomas H. Auch, former director of business and finance at OCC, also left yesterday to be dean of administrative services at Monmouth.

Miller, 6024 Brook Lane, Birmingham, joined OCC in 1965 as a counselor and later became administrative assistant. He is a former counselor at Birmingham's Seaholm High School.

'Private Eye' Found Guilty

OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — Actor William Hopper, who portrayed investigator Paul Drake in the Perry Mason television series, must spend five days in Oxnard City Jail for drunken driving.

Hopper, 52-year-old son of the late Hedda Hopper, paid a $250 fine after pleading guilty to the charge Friday.

Because of an earlier conviction of drunken driving, Hopper's operators license was revoked.

GIFT FOR CHILDREN — Helen Carter, president of Girls' Club of Ford Tractor Division, Birmingham, presents a $500 check to James W. Marshall, principal of Children's Village School. The club's gift will be used in the arts and crafts program of the school, which is operated for wards of the county juvenile court.

Waterford Will Hear Sewer Plan Status

R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, will report to the Waterford Township Board Monday night on the current status of plans for the Clinton-Oakland sewer interceptor.

Estimates on the cost of the proposed six-township project have recently been revised upward from the $16.9-million 1965 estimate.

It is expected that he will ask the board to consider increasing its share of the cost to help cover the extra expense.

A proposed parks and recreation system ordinance also will be before the board. The ordinance would establish a seven-man board to operate a parks and recreation department. The Township Board said the governor will remain in Lansing through Monday to deal with many bills "upon which action is due early next week."

SPLIT RESPONSIBILITIES

Operation and financing of the department since 1964 have been split between the Waterford Board of Education and the Township Board.

The board of education has already approved the new arrangement.

Bids will be opened on the township's workmen's com-day.

Ferndale Man Is Found Dead

Pontiac State Police yesterday reported the death of a Ferndale man at an 1-75 rest area in Springfield Township. Dead is Ewan E. Swanson. Police said the apparent cause of death was a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

The Ainu people of Japan, whose unique language and non-Mongoloid features set them apart from other Japanese, are believed to be descendants of early Caucasoid-type people who once inhabited northern Asia.

"There was a cowboy in the old West named Deadeye Dick, who was a buddy of Bat Masterson. When he went into saloons he ordered two drinks — one for himself and one for his horse."

"That's the kind of story that should have become part of American folklore. It didn't."

"Deadeye Dick was a Negro cowboy," comments Wardell Gaynor, associate producer of "Black History: Lost, Stolen, or Strayed," which will be presented as the first broadcast in the seven-part CBS News series "Of Black America," Tuesday at 10 p.m. on channel 2.

Bill Cosby, actor, comedian, and award-winning star of "I Spy," will be the guide on the broadcast. CBS news reporter George Foster, anchor man for the "Of Black America" series, will also appear.

"Black History: Lost, Stolen, or Strayed" will show some of that heritage, highlighting significant Negro contributions which have been overlooked.

Opening lead—♦6

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

The suit preference signal is one of the most abused, misunderstood and generally kicked around plays in bridge. Basically when you want your partner to lead a high-ranking suit, you play a low-card play, while a low-card play asks for the lead of a low-ranking suit.

JACOBY

Since from time immemorial the you also play a high card to East wanted to know if West show strength in a suit and low card to show weakness and ask for the lead of some other suit, there is plenty of opportunity for confusion.

South won the opening lead with dummy's ace of diamonds. He could have made 11 tricks at this point by ruffing a second diamond leading a trump to dummy's 10, cashing in a trump ace, returning to his own hand with the king of clubs, cashing his king of trumps and running dummy's clubs.

West would ruff the fifth club but South would have had time to get rid of three of his four hearts.

South didn't come up with this play but he managed to make six when the defense fell apart.

South simply played ace and 10 of spades and covered with his jack. West took his queen and had to decide what to lead. East had played the nine of diamonds to trick one and proceeded to discard the jack of diamonds on that second spade.

West decided he was asking for a second diamond and obliged whereupon South ruffed, drew trumps and made the rest of the tricks.

East wanted to know if West couldn't recognize a suit preference signal. West wanted to ask for the lead of some other suit, there is plenty of opportunity for confusion.

199 With Record Apply for Permit to Carry Weapon

LANSING (AP) — Michigan State Police report that 199 persons with criminal records applied during May for permits to carry concealed weapons. The department said 2,683 persons applied during the month for permits to carry hidden guns. State law forbids persons from carrying a concealed weapon without a permit, and felons must have been out of prison for 8 years before being eligible for a permit. Persons are fingerprinted when they make application for a concealed weapons permit.

Parkers in New Guinea

Mr. and Mrs. Gary K. Parker, members of St. Stephen Lutheran Church, Waterford Township, left here the end of March and arrived in New Guinea on April 6 to serve as teaching missionaries. Their headquarters are in Wabag.

Here are excerpts from a letter received by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Parker of 4576 Meigs, Waterford Township:

"The country, very mountainous, is 7,200 feet above sea level. The weather is ideal—70 degrees or better—during the day and near 50 degrees at night.

"Flower and vegetation are so green. It rains easily, about five inches a week and no storms.

"The natives are really a friendly lot—and their laughter is delightful. The hills are full of life and music.

Just about any time of day one can hear a distant drum or people singing. We love these people.

"The food is the best. We can get any kind of meat and vegetables and fruit is plentiful. The frozen meat is flown in every Tuesday from Port Moresby. The water is clean and pure.

HIGH SCHOOL

"This year boys and girls will attend their first year of high school. Until now education was only available through the eighth grade.

"The Australian Government has leased 38 acres to the Lutheran Synod for 99 years to be used and developed for education. The present school—one room—is about one mile up the hill from where the compound of homes is located.

"I am teaching health, music and English to sixth and seventh graders. The school has another teacher, Terry Lehmann. Others in the missionary group are Lehmann's wife, Sharon, and the Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Schaan. Many of the classes are taught out of doors.

TEACHES WOMEN

"Mrs. Parker is teaching the women's literary class. Mrs. Schaan and Mrs. Lehmann are teaching the women to write. Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Schaan have started a sewing class. So far the women have made gathered skirts. Their next project is a three-armhole dress. The women need yard goods and thread.

"Our home was built by natives and missionaries. We have three bedrooms. There is a steel roof over the kitchen and dining room.

"We have a four-wheel English jeep and a 250 Honda at the Maritaka Mission Station that can be used when needed but the roads are not too good. "Don't worry about us. We are surely in the hands of Him who made us."

A member of St. Joseph Lutheran Church, Waterford Township, Parker is a graduate of Concordia Lutheran Teacher's College. Mrs. Parker holds a degree in Home Economics.

120 Children at St. Stephen

Baptist, Episcopal Churches in VBS

Some 60 children of Macedonia Missionary Baptist Church in Pontiac are enjoying a new experience of an exchange between a Baptist church and an Episcopal church in the Troy-Birmingham area.

The National Guard, always interested in the development of the nation's youth, are transporting the children back and forth this week to Vacation Bible School at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. James Fleming is in charge of the Pontiac children. Mrs. Robert M. Siewert is assisting the Rev. Carl Sayers of the host church with another 60 children.

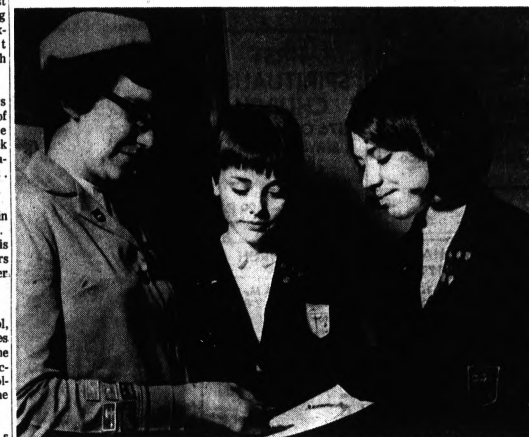

OPENS WITH WORSHIP

The Vacation Bible School, which started Monday, includes worship, Bible lessons from the Old Testament, handicrafts, recreation, a naper bag lunch followed by Bible lessons from the New Testament.

The choir sings hymns together and the day closes with a friendship circle and final blessing.

A joint service is scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday at Macedonia Church. The service will cover what has been learned during the Vacation School.

Families of the two churches will join for a picnic at Stoney Creek Metropolitan Park, 4300 Main Park, Washington at 10 a.m. on July 6.

Choose Moderator

The Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, pastor of First Congregational Church, was elected Wednesday to a one-year term as moderator of the National Association of Congregational Christian Churches.

REV. MALCOLM K. BURTON

He was chosen at the association's 14th annual meeting at Lincoln, Neb.

The Rev. Mr. Burton moved up from assistant moderator to succeed William F. Stauffer of Los Angeles, Calif.

The Pontiac pastor has been active in the association since it was formed in 1955 in a split with the United Church of Christ.

The denomination whose annual meeting began Monday and closed yesterday counts approximately 300 churches as members.

Mrs. Burton also attended the week-long session.

Boys, Girls Leave for Camp Grindley

Ten Mexican-American children are leaving today for Camp Sarah Grindley near Gregory where they will spend nearly two weeks.

The children will participate in swimming, boating, crafts, overnight camping, games, devotions and hikes. For many of these children this will be their first camping experience.

The boys and girls were given the opportunity to attend the camp through a group of Presbyterian churches that help support the missionary activities of Spanish American Outreach and its director, Tom Chavez Jr.

Transportation will be provided by various church members.

Attend Assembly

Leave for Sweden

Rev. and Mrs. Jack H. C. Clark have been named delegates by the Pontiac Area Council of Churches to the World Council of Churches General Assembly in Uppsala, Sweden July 4-20.

Rev. Mr. Clark is the pastor of the North Oakland Christian Church while Mrs. Clark is on the faculty of the Mason Junior High School in Waterford Township.

Rev. and Mrs. Clark left Wednesday evening on a chartered flight with about 150 students headed for Europe with the Youth for Understanding exchange program.

The Clarks will act as counselors and sponsors and will make home calls in the Stockholm, Sweden area.

Their children, Jack and Jill, students at Washington Junior High, will accompany them on a trip through Europe including visits to Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Lichtenstein, France, Holland and England.

VISIT ENGLAND
During their visit to England, the Clarks will attend the Lambeth Conference of the Bishops of the Episcopal Church from all over the world.

The Pontiac pastor will publish a report of the two conferences in PACC, the monthly publication of the

REV. JACK H. C. CLARK

Pontiac Area Council of Churches, and the "Church Newsletter," the monthly publication of the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches. The Rev. Mr. Clark will fly back from London Aug. 1 and will be in his pulpit Aug. 4.

Mrs. Clark and the children will work in the Youth for Understanding office in Amsterdam in early August, then accompany some 200 foreign students to America, on the ocean liner "Aurelia" arriving in the United States on Aug. 18.

Reelected to Board, Serves Synagogue

Sherwin Birnkant Pontiac director of law, was reelected vice president of the board of governors of the Metropolitan Detroit Federation of Reform Synagogues.

Birnkant, an active member in Temple Beth Jacob just completed two years as president of this congregation.

His grandfather, the late Jacob Kovinsky, who was a founder of the Temple, also served as president of the congregation.

Robert, Called First Hippie, Is Still the Nonconformist

By EARL WILSON
BEVERLY HILLS — Robert Mitchum may have been the first Hollywood Hippie and there are some people who think he still is one.
"I got fired at Lockheed for throwing a clamp at a foreman because I didn't like his attitude," Mitchum said the other day, reminiscing of World War II days when he worked beside Marilyn Monroe's husband James Dougherty, before Marilyn or Mitchum had ever been in a film.
"Then I went to work in a shoe store and got fired for yelling 'Beaver.' I got fired twice a day that year.
"I knocked on the door at the Hopalong Cassidy studios and asked if they wanted any hands in the acting department.
"I had a mean look and long hair down to my cleavage. They told me not to shave or cut my hair.
"I could always get a job with Hopalong. But the first part I had at RKO was in drag. I played a lady. Dams good, too, Judy!"
Even today Mitchum has that rebellious carelessness and incurability — but it's admired because he's respected as an actor and, in fact, his salary's now at its highest. But Mitchum the person is more discussed than his pictures — "Five Card Stud" and "Secret Ceremony" are current and "The Good Guys and the Bad Guys" is coming up.
Bob's a bit of a problem to radio interviewers because much has to be "blipped" out. He doesn't edit his speech.
He claims to be unimpressed with the regard shown him as an actor and as sort of a legend.
"I've been fakin' it all the way," he says. "Up to now. Right now! I worked as a radio writer once. Faked that, too."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Shaven-headed Yul Brynner said at Kippy's that he still thinks of himself as having black hair: "The last time I saw it, before 'King and I,' it was black. It may be grey now — but as long as I don't let it grow out, I think of myself as a man with black hair."
An interviewer asked Peter Falk (now in "Anzio"), "What do you think you can do better than Sidney Poitier?" and the stubby actor answered, "Short roles" . . . Judy Geeson (of Hammerhead) rejected nude posing for Playboy — but offered them her baby pictures, in the buff.
WISH I'D SAID THAT: The Las Vegas Fremont Hotel thinks the city should have a flag of its own, and Nasser Aflak suggests one showing an empty pocket, on a field of pawn shops.
REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Those who never retrain their opinions love themselves more than they love the truth."
EARL'S PEARLS: "Lost things at our house are promptly found if we stop looking for them and start looking for something else." — E. L. Morris, Proctor, Okla.
Bobby Morse claims his ABC-TV series, "That's Life," will try something new: "We're going to show our reruns first."
... That's earl, brother.

16 Collaborate on Work of 'Art'

Kids Turn Tables on Picasso
NEW YORK (AP) — Anyone who's tried to figure out the meaning of a painting by Pablo Picasso can now secretly chuckle.
The tables have been turned by a group of 4-year-olds.
The 16 youngsters, offspring of New York University faculty members, have collaborated on a gift of a piece of artwork to the Spanish master.
They've spent about a fourth of their young lives, while attending the University Plaza Cooperative Nursery School, putting together a multicolored creation of painted wood and paper, topped by a small pennant.
No one knows with certainty what the children had in mind. At one time it was all pink. But when the monotone was discarded, it was done with abandon.
Older hands reinforced the work of "art" with nails to insure its survival during transportation to Picasso's home in southern France.
Carl Nesjar, a sculptor who plans to deliver the children's work personally to Picasso, said Thursday: "He'll love it. He has a feeling for things of this kind."

GMC Sees Mobile Apartment

'Land Liner' Visits Pontiac

A mobile home that is miles without stopping for fuel "Land Liner" here to show it to see the innovations I've furnished like a luxurious apartment and permits its owner to travel some 1,500 miles at a time, says its creator, Howard Stoll of engineers and GM stylists.

Apartment on Wheels

Innovations Spark Mobile Home's Interior

It's hard not to be impressed by Stoll's handwork.

STARTS AS HOBBY

The businessman built the 35-foot, home-on-wheels in 2 1/2 years at an investment of some $50,000. It started out as a hobby, but Stoll may build similar vehicles commercially if enough demand exists.

"I've been offered fabulous sums for the vehicle," he admitted, "but I want to keep this prototype to iron out some wrinkles and see if I can improve it even further."

The 35-foot liner has a plastic body mounted on a pusher-type GMC bus chassis. It is called a "pusher" chassis because the V-6 diesel engine is mounted in the rear.

From the outside, the vehicle looks like a city-type bus without windows. Inside, it sparkles with hundreds of imaginative innovations.

LUXURIOUS CONVENIENCES

It has floor, wall and ceiling carpeting; ultra-modern electronic devices for communications and lighting; full-size refrigerator, washer and dryer; a modern waste disposal system; and other equipment for luxurious everyday living.

"Occupants could live in the liner for a couple of weeks without ever stepping outside," said Stoll. "Furthermore, they could travel 1,500 miles at the same time."

He said a 160-gallon fuel tank eliminated fuel stops for that distance, and pointed out that another 180-gallon tank provided an ample supply of water.

"There are some other things I want to add," Stoll admitted. "I suppose it's only human nature to overlook a few items. But everybody tells me I haven't missed many bets."

Engineers and stylists who saw the Land Liner will vouch for that.

PLENTY OF ROOM — The Village Green offers spacious front lawns, unlimited guest parking, two lakes and a picnic area in a rural setting only five miles from the center of Pontiac. All streets, service drives and parking areas are paved with asphalt.

Low Cost of Units A Reality

Low-cost ($10,000 and under), high density, fixed-site modular housing for urban areas is a reality, according to the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association of Chicago.

Speaking at the Fifth Annual Suppliers Show, E. L. Wilson, Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association, managing director, said, "The mobile home industry is on the threshold of providing urban Americans with manufactured housing at a cost of less than $10,000."

Directed at the low income household the mobile home industry could provide 720 square-foot modular homes, completely furnished, for high-rise structures at less than $10,000. Conventional home building costs approximately $14 per square foot, unfurnished.

Mobile home manufacturers have already built and erected modular units as townhouses and the high-rise is just two years off, according to Wilson.

ONE OUT OF THREE

"Our industry probably built one out of every three single family housing starts in 1967," he said. "In 1968, it was one of every four. Total factory shipments of mobile homes should reach a third of a million households annually in 1970."

"Our manufacturers realize the need for urban housing at a nominal cost and have produced modular units this year at reasonable prices. The number will greatly increase in '69. (The average mobile home is 12-foot wide x 60-foot long and retails for $5,700.)"

"The high-rise concept for large cities is practical, since four multiple dwelling units can be placed on an acre," said Richard K. Beiter, MHMA Director of Land Development.

"The main facilities, electricity, plumbing, heating and elevators, are built into a central core made of conventional construction. However, the modular units are transported by truck to the high-rise, lifted in place, and bolted to the conventional construction."

"The structure can be replaced with new modulars whenever a family wishes to change decor and appliances. Eventually, when this becomes standard in major metropolitan areas, a businessman can ship his modular home to another community and place it in a similar high-rise rather than bothering with purchasing a conventional home and selling the old one."

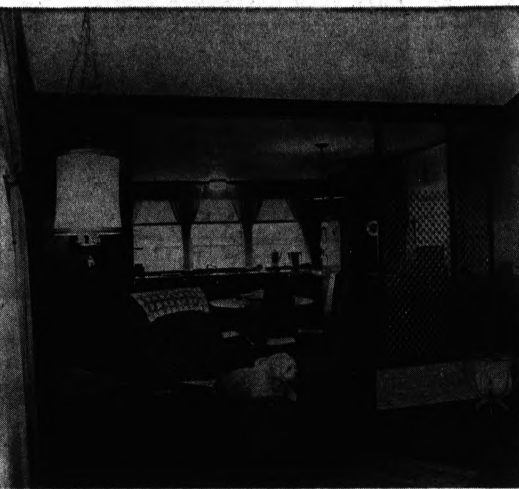

CAN BE SPLIT

"Also, these 12-foot x 56-foot units can be divided in half to form two efficiency apartments for young marrieds or single persons who desire reasonably priced housing. These apartments would be completely furnished too."

"The mobile home industry has been working closely with the federal government in providing this low-cost housing. Currently financing is similar to that of an automobile and available to most income groups. Down payments range from 20-30 per cent of retail price."

The modular concept allows families previously unable to purchase their own home to do so and gives many families home furnishings (appliances, drapes, carpeting, etc.) previously unavailable in conventional housing.

The mobile home industry now accounts for 75 per cent of all single family housing starts valued at less than $12,500.

EASY LIVING—It's no dog's life at Village Green. The view from any window includes large trees saved during construction.

In addition many new trees have been planted including maples, pines, spruce and birch.

DINING AREA — The formal dining area of the mobile home model at Countryside Living Home Sales is lighted by a hanging fixture of walnut and brass. The black and white tablecloth and chair detail repeats the black and white of the draperies. A wrought iron railing separates the living room foyer from the area.

MEDITERRANEAN MOOD — Noted interior decorator Harry VanZucker uses simulated dark oak paneling and royal blue carpeting to set the background for the Mediterranean influenced interior of the mobile home model at Countryside Living Home

Sales, 1004 Oakland. Black chairs in a textured fabric complete the black and white sofa grouping. The red table lamp on the corner cloverleaf table introduces the room's accent color.

Electric Homes Merit ID

NEMA Approves Gold Seal

An all new Gold Seal, approved by the National Electrical Manufacturers Association (NEMA), as a means for specifically identifying the "Total-Electric" mobile home is available to members of the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association. In order to qualify for the Seal, the manufacturer must build the home to conform with three special minimum "Total-

Electric" requirements as follows: (1) The mobile home must use electricity as its total energy source. (2) The mobile home must be built to comply with the requirements of the USA Standard A119.1 and the National Electrical Code, and (3) The mobile home must be insulated such that its total heat loss will not exceed 184 watts per square foot per degree design temperature differential.

This new MHMA-TCA Total-Electrical Seal was developed jointly by the MHMA Standards Committee and the Residential Electric Heating and Air Conditioning Committee (REHAC) of the Edison Electric Institute (EEI).

"The 'Total-Electric' Seal does not conflict in any way with the present Standards Seal," said George Matthews, director of the MHMA standards division, "that is used on mobile homes heated by other than electricity. It does, however, provide important recognition to the industry, because it places the 'Total-Electric' mobile home in the same general category as the Gold Medal Home established by NEMA and is widely recognized by many of the nation's electric power suppliers."

"These power suppliers now recognize that mobile home communities represent far greater electric power consumption per acre than other forms of single family housing. Many mobile home park developers have discovered that the power suppliers can be an important source of assistance in obtaining favorable zoning for new parks."

"This new symbol of electrical excellence will provide purchasers of mobile homes with the same type of assurance that has long been available to buyers of other types of residences," said John J. Biggs, national director of the Gold Medal Home Program of NEMA. "It opens up a whole new field in which the electrical industry and the mobile home industry can cooperate in promotional activities, to mutual advantage. We know of many electric utilities who are just waiting to see mobile homes bearing this seal available in their service areas to plan special promotions."

LUXURY LIVING—The mobile home site is important. The modern mobile home development is beautiful, spacious. It features landscaping, paved roads, street lighting, laundry facilities, playground areas, swimming pool and recreational buildings. There are 22,000 mobile home parks in the United States. Mobile home developments being built today have only 7 to 9 homes per acre, thus allowing ample space for privacy.

Homes Financed as Easily as Autos

Today, most mobile homes are financed on the same principle used for the financing of automobiles — the finance charges are figured on the balance due for the number of months required for repayment. This sum is added to the unpaid balance on the mobile home, selling price and divided by the number of months you require for repayment.

For example, if you choose a mobile home that costs $8,000, your monthly payment, after

Good Dealers Act Soufully

The good mobile home dealer will price his mobile homes fairly — and will stand behind each one with pride.

He will take time to point out good park locations, within his marketing area; many times he will insist that he be the one to install the mobile home within the mobile home park you select.

He will guarantee that the mobile home he delivers to you functions well — and he will most probably point out the standards seal of the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association on these units he carries.

Shipments of Mobile Homes Up

The soaring demand for low-income housing sent April Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association shipments to 26,900. For the first four months, the homes, up 30 per cent over last year, according to James Redman (Redman Industries), president of the Chicago-based 240,300 homes. Thus far, manufacturers have shipped 80,940 homes compared to 64,420 last year. The association was predicting a 20 per cent gain for the year, but prospects now look even brighter.

Co-Op Seeks Solution to Small Farmer Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The efforts of the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association to develop a profitable marketing enterprise for vegetable crops is an extreme example of what is ailing a segment of this nation's agriculture.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John A. Baker, who has worked closely with the cooperative in negotiating an $852,000 government loan, calls the group's plight "a microcosm of a nationwide problem."

Baker refers to the low-income farmer, not to the large, commercial producer who, despite the squeeze on profits through soaring costs and weak prices for products, has been operating successfully.

The cooperative—called by its acronym, "Swafca"—was created early last year through a $400,000 grant by the Office of Economic Opportunity over the objections of Alabama state and county officials.

BLACK BELT

The cooperative began in 10 counties of the state's Black Belt, an area rich in Southern tradition and lore, and included about 800 family members, mostly Negro.

Today, the co-op says, membership is almost 2,000 families. The average size farming operation is 44 acres, and total average family cash income is less than $1,000 a year.

The area has been a center of civil rights activism. Its Negro farmers have little education, money or social resources.

In other regions, the historical answer has been for small, inefficient farmers to leave the land, to migrate to cities and compete for jobs in strange and often hostile environments.

This "solution" has not been restricted to the South, Negroes or today. The migration of people from the land because of diminishing opportunity has grown year after year, with each major change in technology, with every shift from traditional methods of production.

But not all poor people have left the land. Rural poverty exists in each state and involves virtually every caste, economic and ethnic.

In the cooperative's area, a farmer can't produce traditional crops with traditional methods, says Baker—not on half an acre, or 20, or 44.

American living on this kind of acreage," he said. "So these people have decided to strike two blows for freedom—as they call it. First, they want to shift from traditional crops to vegetables, and, second, set up a business enterprise of their own. Their aspirations are just soaring."

FEW STRINGS

The co-op's leadership believed the government should loan $852,000 with few strings attached, and the formal, lawyer-type clauses of the government seemed alien and representative of the white man's system.

The Farmers Home Administration had insisted that the Alabama co-op agree to all the legalese as a routine formality before the loan was made. The co-op leaders balked. So did FHA.

But, after a 19-hour negotiating marathon, Baker and co-op officials came to a tentative agreement. The main hitch, as it turned out, was that the Alabama folk wanted the loan contract spelled out in simple English. They wanted to know exactly what they as a group could do as well as could not do.

They also wanted to show that a mostly Negro cooperative, composed of poor, small farmers, could operate a business.

PRIDE, PRESTIGE

"This factor of pride and status and prestige is as important to them as getting out of eco-nommic bondage," Baker explained in an interview.

But, he said, while the Department of Agriculture was doing all it could to help the co-op grow and thrive, the government's money had to be protected.

"We're also doing everything we can to see that they succeed," Baker said. "You're not going to help a bit by setting up something that's going to fail from the start."

The Farmer Home Administration at Alabama state and county levels was bypassed, Baker said, and a high-level FHA representative from Washington tabbed to help the co-op with management problems.

SLEEP SITE—The bedrooms of mobile homes are attractive and practical. Chests and vanities are often built in or especially designed to offer maximum storage space in limited areas. Closets are roomy and plentiful; mirrors add to the illusion of spaciousness. Paneled walls are easily cleaned. Accessories and carpeting are smartly styled. Most mobile homes have two bedrooms—even three are not uncommon! The average mobile home costs $5,700, completely furnished . . . and luxury homes are available for $10,000.

Dynamic Association

MHMA Sparkles With Variety

Membership in the Mobile Manufacturers Association represents more than 150 plants manufacturing mobile homes and more than 260 firms which supply materials to the manufacturers. The association is headquartered in downtown Chicago, and is one of the nation's most dynamic and well-managed trade associations.

Through its standards division, MHMA and the Trailer Coach Association (West Coast) have established a standards program covering the equipment and installation of plumbing, heating and electrical systems in mobile homes. All members of MHMA and TCA must manufacture in accordance with these standards and certify to this fact by affixing the MHMA-TCA A1191 standards seal near the door of each unit. Further, it is important to note that the electrical section of the A1191 standard is also contained in the National Electrical Code.

Factory inspections are made by MHMA standards engineers on a continuing and unannounced basis to insure that these standards are being complied with.

A body and frame design and construction standard has been approved by the association membership, the culmination of over three years work by its members. Full compliance with this standard becomes mandatory as of Jan. 1, 1968.

NATIONALLY ACTIVE

MHMA's Land Development Division is active on a nationwide basis informing and assisting local zoners, finance companies, representatives, and architects in an effort to create new mobile home parks and to up-grade present ones.

Public relations and national advertising campaigns promoting mobile home living form an important part of MHMA's daily activities. The Association has special committees comprised of membership representatives who explore and implement research, marketing, legislation, and educational activities pertaining to the industry.

Working with local dealers, more than 30 retail mobile home shows are staged every year. MHMA publishes a variety of magazines and brochures. Annual national exhibitions are presented at which time manufacturers and suppliers to the industry exhibit their products.

MHMA, through the effort of its finance division, has produced longer financing terms for mobile home buyers and seeks to interest the financial community in backing park development.

MHMA SERVES DEALERS, OPERATORS
MHMA's dealer and park division serves the needs of dealers and park operators and cooperates with them through their state mobile home association.

The Membership relations division works with manufacturer members to seek ways in which MHMA can be of greater benefit to them and to inform them of activities which MHMA

Science Tries to Trick Bugs

By Science Service

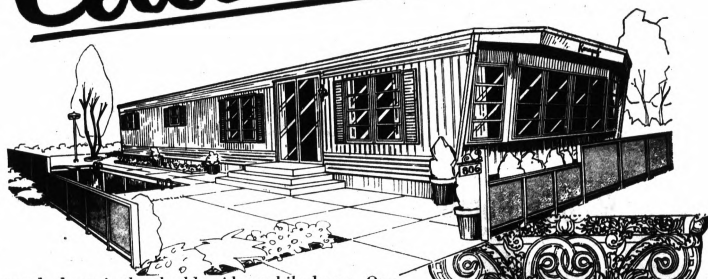

Many insects survive periods of winters or droughts by going into a resting phase called diapause.

Scientists with the U.S. Department of Agriculture now are working on ways to trick destructive insects into out of diapause at the wrong times.

Insects have been forced into out of diapause by exposure at night to measured amounts of blue light. In many insects winter diapause is controlled by the length of the day.

If similar results are obtained in the field, crop pests might be forced out of diapause during a time of fatally cold weather or short food supply, or during a time they cannot reproduce because of a lack of suitable host plants.

Report Says Homes Answer Problems

Fixed low-cost high density housing in urban areas for middle and low income families is one of the nation's major problems, but the mobile home industry's "New Housing Systems Concepts" may solve the problem and create a totally new market.

The MHMA publication, "New Housing Systems Concepts," is a brief of the recent meeting of MHMA, TCA, mobile home manufacturers, government agencies and the U.S. Office of Science and Technology where great promise is held for the industry in urban housing.

The publication is available for $6 and 50 cents handling charge from the Publications Division, MHMA, 20 N. Wacker, Chicago, Ill. 60606.

The report opens new market potential for the industry in the metropolitan areas. Use of mobile homes as town and row houses, garden and walk-up apartments and vertically stacked apartments offers an untapped market in the city dweller.

QUALITIES COMBINED

The report in its broadest sense is a new system of human habitation combining a number of qualities inherent in the mobile home industry:

• A factory constructed, completely furnished dwelling unit fully equipped including appliances, etc.

• A national standard for electrical, plumbing, heating and construction which is a precondition to modular and sectional housing systems.

• Public pride of ownership and personal ownership, and apartment living without additional chores which are the responsibility of the management.

• The industry gives the public freedom of choice of design, quality, cost and interior layout each year and the product can be moved to various locations.

The publication has a number of project designs which are realistic and close to present-day problems. Some drawings are contributed by MHMA member-manufacturers to demonstrate actual projects now on the drawing board and under construction.

Cities are crying for low-cost housing and the demand for sectional manufactured housing could reach 750,000 units in 1972, but the MHMA market research firm of Elrick & Lavidge does not believe this potential can be reached within the present framework of mobile home parks.

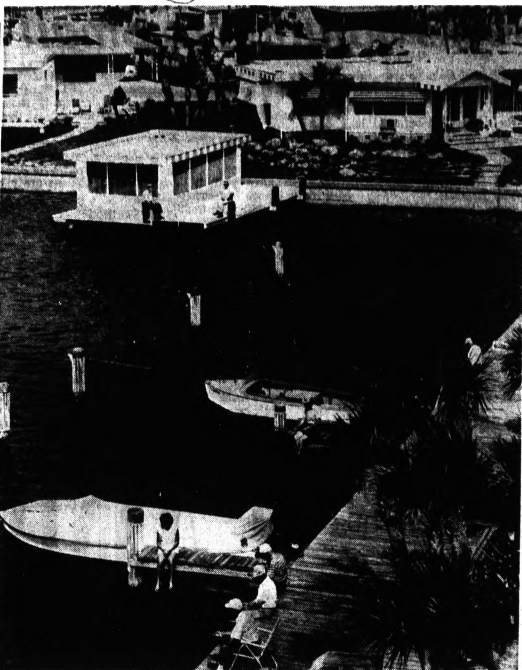

LAND LACKING

Cities lack sufficient land to place mobile homes in a horizontal manner, but sectional housing can be adapted to vertical building needs, according to the report.

No Generation Gap With Mobile Living

A mobile home park can offer comfortable living to a wide variety of persons — retired or semi-retired; middle-aged people whose families are grown, and therefore no longer need a large home; young householders without children; young house-holders with small children.

Mobile home community living has many advantages that appeal to each generation, and there are different types of mobile home parks to fit the needs of each of their age groups.

SECOND HOME — The mobile home is often the second home. A winter vacation in warm sunshine and summer at the lakes region is possible when your home can follow your travel whims. Today, many mobile homes are expandable, so that greater width (or length) is possible once the mobile home is set in place. There are nearly 22,000 mobile home parks, and their average size is 75 spaces.

'Sluggish' Year Ends With Sales Record

The nation's mobile home manufacturers produced a record 240,980 new homes in 1967, up 11 per cent over '66, according to Edward L. Wilson, managing director of the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association.

"Despite a 'sluggish' year for single family housing starts, our industry reached an all-time high in low-cost housing production," said Wilson.

The year end figure was 23,680 more homes than 1966's record year of 217,300. December showed the largest single monthly gain — up 39 percent over last year — and the last quarter was 28.3 percent greater than '66.

At the retail level, mobile home dealers shared the manufacturers' prosperity with a nine percent gain for the year.

INSTITUTIONS RECEPTIVE

"A faster return (average seven years) and a low repossession rate on mobile homes has made the nation's financial institutions even more receptive to our product," said Wilson. "Young marrieds and retirees continue to absorb our production at a record pace."

"These two markets account for almost 70 per cent of all purchases and will continue to grow at a faster rate than the nation's average."

"Mobile homes are the nation's top housing buy! Where else can a person buy a 720 square foot home, completely furnished, for only $5,700?

"With the continued growth of these two markets in the next decade, the mobile home industry will double its production by 1972, reaching 400,000 homes annually."

CITIES USE HOMES

Production could go even higher predicts Wilson as large cities with urban redevelopment projects turn to mobile homes as interim housing for displaced families.

For an example, Chicago is utilizing 26 mobile homes to house families displaced while their flats are being rehabilitated. This keeps the families in the neighborhood until work is completed.

The industry is also moving into the area of fixed-site housing at a far greater savings than any other form of housing.

Two-story townhouses have been erected in two cities and manufacturers report major metropolitan areas are ready to go ahead with similar projects.

ADDITIONAL DEMAND

MHMA estimates the demand for this new form of "instant" urban housing will be an additional 350,000 by 1972.

According to Wilson, the mobile home industry will most certainly match 1967's increase again this year and possibly surpass it.

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — You couldn't blame Fred Snyder, city administrator here, if he feels that residents of this community must be satisfied with things as they are.

He put up seven suggestion boxes in banks, filling stations and stores in the community and asked residents to write their gripes. Three weeks later, he opened the seven boxes and found nothing but a cigar wrapper.

Dusky Sparrow Threatened

Rare Bird Summer Study Topic

KENNEDY SPACE CENTER, Fla. — A tiny bird, found only in the marsh area here, is going to wind up as the subject of a master's degree thesis.

For some of the visitors to this center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the dusky seaside sparrow is the attraction, not the giant Saturn V space vehicle.

Found nowhere else in the world, the bird — a fairly large member of the sparrow family — is threatened with extinction.

Because of this, Brian Sharp, a University of Wisconsin graduate student, is spending the summer here making as accurate a census of the dusky as possible.

Sharp is combing, by foot and boat, about 10 square miles of the Space Center's 88,000 acres in search of the rare species.

The dusky, which eats mostly small crustaceans, grasshoppers and caterpillars, has a white underside with black streaks. His wings and back are a dark grayish brown, appearing black from a distance.

Sharp chose to study the dusky after a seminar on rare birds in general when he found "we know nothing about what we can do for most of them."

Dikes and flooding to control mosquitoes in the space center property converted into Merritt Island National Wildlife Refuge, will alter the little bird's habitat.

MASTER'S DEGREE
Sharp, a native of Washington, received his bachelor's degree at Wesleyan University in Connecticut and has completed his course work towards a master's degree in wildlife ecology at Wisconsin.

The work he is doing could be extremely important for the dusky. The managers of the refuge and mosquito control unit stated they will seek ways to

July Is an Ideal Month for Star Gazing

By National Geographic Society
WASHINGTON — Observers who escape city lights during July will see — prominent in the night sky over their heads — the bright band of stars known as the Milky Way.

The Milky Way, the galaxy to which the sun and its planets belong, measures about 90,000 light-years across, the National Geographic Society says. Its shape resembles two fried eggs placed back to back. The yolks represent the center core of stars. The sun and its planets are far from the center, in one of the Milky Way's spiral arms.

In the summer, an observer on earth looks toward the center of the Milky Way, located about 27,000 light-years away in the area of the constellation Sagittarius. The great star clouds in the galaxy are beautiful objects when viewed through a lower-power, wide-field telescope, or binoculars.

On a clear, moonless July night, a famous globular star cluster known as M13 may be just seen with the naked eye, some 30,000 light-years away, in the constellation of Hercules. Another cluster, M92, also appears in Hercules during July.

COMET HUNTER
The two clusters get their numerical names from Charles Messier, an 18th century comet hunter. Messier observed many objects that he first thought were comets but found they did not move and therefore could not be comets.

Messier made a list of the objects — M1, M2, M3, etc. — so that he and other comet hunters would not waste time looking at them. Later astronomers with better telescopes found the Messier objects were galaxies, star clusters, and nebulae — and among the most interesting objects in the skies.

Several minor meteor showers occur in July. They can be best seen after midnight when the moon is absent from the sky.

The Delta Aquarids, a well-

Furniture Fit on Request

If purchasers request it, most manufacturers of mobile homes will eliminate the furniture in the purchase of a home with the exception of the stove and refrigerator.

Some, however, particularly those geared to mass production will not change the number of pieces offered.

Each manufacturer has his own policy and purchasers should check before finalizing the agreement.

Uranus — Just south of the moon on July 2. On same date, Pacific coast observers can see occultation — a screening-off of Uranus by the moon. Will be in Virgo.

Neptune — Visible five degrees north of moon on July 6, in constellation Libra.

Moon — July 3, first quarter;

July 8, perigee, or closets point to the earth (224,560 miles); July 9, full moon; July 17, last quarter; July 20, apogee, or farthest point from earth (251,690 miles); July 25, new moon.

The foregoing sky material was prepared by David L. Moore of National Geographic's Cartographic Division.

GARDENER'S DELIGHT — Manicured lawns and well-tended gardens are points of pride for today's mobile home owner. Many mobile homes are expandable, thus affording ease of movement with the utmost square footage in living space after the home has been placed on its site. The average mobile park has 75 spaces, and rental fees range from $30 to $60. There are 22,000 mobile parks in the United States.

'Noise Cure' Starts at Home for Victims of Jetliner Roar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Conceding they can't offer a "noise doctors" at Los Angeles International Airport are looking for ways to treat their patients where they hurt worst — at home.

In a first-of-a-kind test program, airport officials have budgeted $300,000 to insulate 25 nearby houses against noise generated by jetliners landing and taking off at a rate of 1,700 a day.

Plans call for soundproofing roofs, walls, doors, windows and floors in an effort to meet rising resentment which has resulted in lawsuits totaling more than $300 million since the jet age opened six years ago.

"We can't deny that a noise problem exists," Robert C. Davidson, deputy general manager of city airports, told an inter-shut, which calls for forced air circulation. "Both we and the community around the airport will have to make some adjustments, and we're doing our best to find ways that will enable all of us to coexist peacefully."

THEY'RE TESTING

"I'm not saying that we're going to sound-treat all the thousands of homes around the airport and in the approach patterns, even if this proves feasible. What we are doing is testing what could be done, either by the residents individually or through funding by some government agency."

Davidson said the worst noise comes from two sources: planes landing and taking off, and planes being "revved up" on the ground during maintenance, usually at night.

To meet the latter nuisance, the airport is building a three-sided, roofless "hush house" 40 feet high and 210 feet wide made of four-inch thick glass fiber panels.

In this $170,000 structure, Davidson hopes, jet engines can be run at full blast without disturbing most airport neighbors.

SHOULD WORK

Architect Norman Pedersen, who is building the "hush house" as well as sound-treating the test homes, says it should cut noise by half at a distance of 2,000 feet.

Davidson says, "We feel that some of the nearest land around the airport may eventually have to be rezoned for some less noise-sensitive use than residential. But in the meantime we're seeing what we can do to be good neighbors to those whose homes are in existence."

Pedersen says the roof is the major problem for homes under the path of landings and take offs. He is replacing shingles with clay and cement tiles up to an inch thick and applying fiber bats, gypsum board and polyurethane foam between joists in attics.

Other sound-stopping materials include: • New wallboard, hung on vibration-damping spring clips over existing interior walls. • Double windows, sealed

• Floors, strengthened to stop vibration and sound-absorbing ducts, installed in crawl space air vents. • New doors, layered with felt in the core. • Noise dampers in fireplace flues, plus masonry caps on chimneys to stop sound from overhead aircraft.

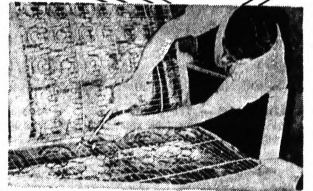

RESULTS WATCH

"Busy airports around the world will be watching the results of this research," says Davidson. "Aircraft companies are making great strides in reducing engine noise while increasing the power of the engines needed for tomorrow's bigger aircraft."

"But nobody expects them to eliminate noise completely. Our project is to enable us all to live with it."

Blacksmith Averts Extinction

OWOSSO (AP) — Not long ago, clubs plus the move to suburbia the village blacksmith, like "the spreading chestnut tree" under which he stood in Longfellow's poem, faced almost certain extinction.

But during the past few years, the upsurge of riding and pleasure horses, brought about by the interest of 4-H and riding

'Public Park' Environment

Mobile homes vary in width and length and need professional mobile home movers to be transported.

New communities average a minimum of 3,200 square feet per homesite.

Landscaping, summer houses and manicured lawns enhance the beauty of the "public park" within the mobile home community.

All he has to do is pull into his customer's yard, open the back, pull out the forge and set up his anvil and he's in business.

He carries about 300 shoes with him. They range over 25 different types, including the new plastic shoes, and from 3-ounce weight to 18-ounce shoes.

WORKS BY APPOINTMENT

However, one of the biggest changes in the art of blacksmithing as Bruce does it is that he works by appointment. He has regular customers with whom he makes appointments.

Eventually, his work will mostly be done by contract. And he hopes to specialize.

But for now he works with just a few horses or on farms where he may do 60 or 70 a night. If the job is a large one and he's far from home — he ranges as far as a hundred or more miles from home — he may stay over two or three days.

His workweek is six days, one of which he tries to spend at home, either working with his own or neighbor's horses. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Haak, are leaders of the Easy Riders 4-H Horse Club and his younger brother, Tim, is junior leader and an award-winning horseman.

Bruce and his family own about a dozen quarter horses and Appaloosas. He graduated in 1965 from Owosso High School and was himself one of the first members of the Easy Riders. This led to his choice of careers.

It's a hard life now, but every job is a chance to learn something new in a sort of modern day apprenticeship. But it pays well and later on, he can cut down on the hours.

Except that there are all those horses to be shod there are six to seven million horses in the country today, with Michigan ranked third in horse ownership. And only a few blacksmiths.

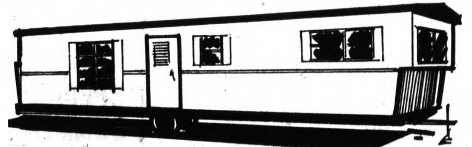

He almost has to make an appointment with himself to take care of his own.

GOLDEN AGE — Though the facade may make a mobile home look small, this retired couple find the inside spacious enough to entertain their many guests, yet initial as well as operating costs remain within the retirees' budget.

If You Didn't Order Mail, Don't Pay!

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Next time you get a parcel of unordered, unwanted merchandise in the mail, forget it. The Federal Trade Commission FTC says you are under no obligation either to return it or to pay for it, unless you actually use the merchandise or want to buy it. The only exception would be in the case of membership in a book or record club, for example, where members sometimes get unordered items because they had failed to advise the club what they did not want. Such clubs usually have a written agreement with members either to return or pay for such items. The FTC outlined the rights and duties of consumers and the obligations of businessmen, acting primarily on the basis of consumer complaints. It noted the practice of sending unordered merchandise is widespread and increasing.

Ads Portray Slum Conditions in Effort to Overcome Bias

NEW YORK (UPI) — The equal employment opportunities Negro kid beckons to a large to Negroes.

It is a television advertisement designed to help white Americans overcome racial prejudice by showing the plight of slum dwellers. The series also aims at getting jobs for Negroes.

An advertisement in a national magazine shows a Negro boy under the headline, "Tomorrow's self-made needs a break today." It seeks to bring Businessmen, the President's Council on Youth Opportunity, the National Urban Coalition, Urban America Inc. and Religion in American Life Inc. a coalition of 33 national religious groups.

Market Soars in Biggest Year

Mobile home manufacturers are totaling gains marking the biggest year in their history. Not only do they dominate their traditional market—low-cost, single-family housing, they are also invading the second-home market.

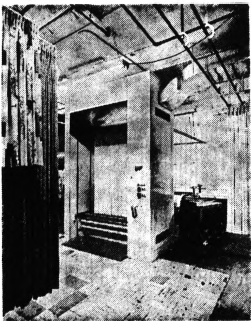

Oldsters Like the Mobility

Twenty-five per cent of the mobile-home market is filled by families in the senior citizen category. This group is expected to expand by 15 per cent by 1975. Inexpensive housing appeals to retirees and mobile homes fill the need ideally.

They're Pulling Together

Trailer Fans Are Joining the Herd

By JIM CROSSLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Trailer, elephant-hunt style, is a colorful development in the recreation world.

First impulse is to picture a travel-trailer owner striking out into the wilderness hunting a solitary glade from which to watch the scarlet sunsets. For increasing numbers trailering is just the opposite.

A couple of words have caught on for this kind of fun. A "caravan" is a whole group of travelers taking a trip at the same time, like so many covered wagons. A "rally," adopted from other branches of motoring, means "let's all make the scene at the same time.

When they get to a rally it's a regular gypsy camp-out. There are old friends and new ones to swap yarns with, planned activities for young and old, the excitement and stimulation of getting a mob together who are all under the spell of the same hobby.

AIRSTREAM CLUBS

The mere purchase of some brands of trailers plunges the new owner into the middle of it. Airstream, for instance, has under its wing 89 permanent clubs in the United States. Its Wally Byam Caravans, named for the late president of the company, are famous. On motoring, means "let's all travelers took 20 trailers around the world on a caravan that lasted 16 months.

This summer there are three major Wally Byam caravans: 60 days and 5,091 miles to Alaska and back, a western Canadian from July 7 to Aug. 18 and an eastern Canadian July 9 to Aug. 30.

Owners Busy

A mobile-home park owner maintains streets, provides sewer, water and electric service, keeps the grounds maintained plus other miscellaneous services.

Top Designer's Think Tank Is in a Sylvan Setting

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (NEA) — In the barn, which is down a garden path from the swimming pool, are mock-ups of tractors and models of airplane seats.

In the workshop, off on another lovely trail, are sketches of razors and lifting machinery.

In the office, with a view of the greenery through window walls, are experimental telephones and cameras.

This is the headquarters of Henry Dreyfuss, probably America's leading industrial designer.

MORE RELAXING

At the lunch hour, he walks up a gentle hill to his home and eats lunch by the pool with its two rubber swans gliding gently around at the whim of the wind and a filtering mechanism.

"I have an office in New York, too," he says, "and staffs in both places. But I find this more relaxing."

"In New York, at 5:30 everybody runs to catch a train to go home. But here they tend to stay much later, to talk and exchange ideas. They don't have to worry about making a train."

It is here, then, that he does most of his work — designing new telephones for the Bell System, farm equipment for John Deere, airplane interiors for American Airlines, machinery for AMF, razors for American Safety Razor, cameras for Polaroid, sewing machines for Singer, type faces for Teletype, everything from a magnifying glass to a building — exterior and interior — in New York.

FIVE FACTORS

In designing, he concerns himself with five factors: safety, ease of maintenance, cost of manufacture, sales appeal and lets the lady operate it without appearance. These sometimes manifest themselves in strange ways.

For example, how can safety become a factor in designing a telephone dial? Dreyfuss says people have to worry about women's carry-

There will probably be only a half-hour to do it on the Los Angeles-New York run — the first and last half-hours of the 1½-hour flight will be too steep for serving.

At the moment, Dreyfuss leans to having the meals built into the backs of the seats.

Building in Colorado Resembles a Bowl

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. — building resembled a king-size lions' cage at the zoo. F. S. Clough, managing director of the institute, a trade association of reinforcing steel fabricators, terms the structure "a vibrant testimonial to the beauty possible only through reinforced concrete."

The Concrete Reinforcing Steel Institute of Chicago says the structure "defies geometric description."

Designed by Charles Deaton of Denver, the bowl-like building's graceful lines create what architect Deaton calls a "strictly nonrepresentational form."

Deaton first molded the model in clay. A knife and sculptor's wire loop then gouged out entry window "portholes" and three terraces in its two stories.

From clay it became a plastic model and preliminary architectural drawing.

These led to structural studies that decided the amount, position, size and strength of the steel bars that support the eight-inch thick concrete shell.

Before the reinforcing steel was covered with wire mesh and sprayed with concrete, the club atmosphere.

Pro Landscaping Proves Popular

New mobile-home parks are landscaped by professionals.

In former wood tracts, many of the existing trees are preserved to add to the luxury of the park, giving it a country and sprayed with concrete, the club atmosphere.

Almost two-fifths of the mobile-home residents live in an apartment before moving into their first mobile home.

Fear of Death in Aged Eyed

By Science Service

Fear of dying in aged persons facing imminent death may be an abnormal reaction, caused by gross organic or psychological impairment, according to a study of 80 geriatric patients at Cushing Hospital in Framingham, Mass.

Acceptance of death is more often the attitude of reasonably well-adjusted patients, while death anxiety is often associated with some organic and psychiatric deterioration, report Dr. Avery D. Weisman, psychiatrist at the Harvard Medical School, and Dr. Robert Kastenbaum, director of psychological research at Cushing.

Their evidence suggests that, like infancy and adolescence, the period preceding death may be a development phase, "a harmonious transition from a style of living to a style of dying." But this takes place when the individual has a proper environment, which he often does not have in hospitals.

LOTS OF ROOM—There's spacious comfort in today's mobile homes. The use of the 10 or 12-foot "double-wides" or the expandable principle achieves greater living areas. The latter provides for greater length or width to be telescoped into the home while it is in transit and then expanded once the home has been placed in the park. Beautiful furnishings in a contemporary or period mood complete the package. The average mobile home costs $5,700 and more than 75 per cent of the homes are financed. Double-wides and expandables cost from $8,000 to $12,000.

Watery World Holds Surprises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — might rise as much as 600 feet, in 6,000 years ago the obliterating great centers of oceans rose about 45 feet. This civilization. It has been estimated that during a warm-

Oysters grow fatter if you supplement their natural diet with finely-ground corn meal. The sea otter dines while floating on its back, with a rock balanced on its chest. It bangs mussels and other shell fish on the rock. This breaks open the shells, permitting the otter to get at the snacks within.

The ocean is blue, when it is, for the same reason the sky is blue when it is. It's a matter of scattering of sunlight by tiny particles. But some seas are black or various shades of green, brown, or brownish-red — for various reasons.

If you're thinking of going after submerged treasure, be advised of a traditional belief — every sunken ship with gold aboard is guarded by an old shark.

TOO COSTLY

Not all the gold in the ocean is buried in the hulks of Spanish galleons. There is a lot of it suspended naturally in seawater. Unhappily, it would cost more to extract it than it would be worth.

It has been estimated that $150 million worth of gold from Spanish treasure ships has never been salvaged. But there is other treasure than gold lying on the bottom.

When the Andrea Doria sank in 240 feet of water off the U.S. coast in 1956, she carried down with her a number of priceless paintings by Rembrandt. They may still be undamaged.

What are the seven seas? In ancient times they were the Mediterranean, the Red, the East African, the West African, and the China seas, plus the Persian Gulf and the Indian Ocean.

POPULAR DIVISION

The popular division now is Arctic, North Atlantic, South Atlantic, North Pacific, South Pacific, Indian, and Antarctic oceans. Actually, all such limits are arbitrary. There is only one global sea.

What country leads the world in harvesting fish from the sea? The answer may surprise you. It is Peru, followed by Japan, Red China, Russia and Norway. The United States is sixth.

What if all the ice in the world were to melt? Sea levels

Save a cool 25% with electric central air conditioning.

If you're like most people, you'd like to have central air conditioning but you think it might cost you too much. Right?

Wrong.

Not if you get electric central air conditioning. It costs a cool 25% per cent less than gas. And that's only a good beginning.

If your home has a forced warm air furnace in good operating condition, you're halfway to having air conditioning. It doesn't make any difference what kind of forced air system it is—gas, oil or electric. All you do is have an electric cooling coil, condenser and controls added. And, presto, your heating system becomes a cooling system.

You can cool a 1,200-square-foot house for as low as $24 a season. That's another cool 10 per cent estimated savings over gas.

The man to call is your Air Conditioning Contractor in the Yellow Pages. He'll give you a cost-to-install estimate (which you'll find encouragingly low), and tell you what financing he can arrange.

Ask about electric central air conditioning. It's well within your reach.

Chicken Pox, Too

Swiss Visitor at Tatroes

BY JODY HEADLEE

Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
Chicken pox and Swiss visitor Heinz Gull arrived at the Don O. Tatroe household at the same time.

"Thank goodness," said Mrs. Tatroe with feeling, "when Mark broke out, Heinz remembered having had the disease when he was a child." Heinz nodded his gratitude as he poured milk on his breakfast cereal.

Taking part in the Experiment in International Living program, Heinz will expand the customary three-month stay of the program and spend a year in the United States studying business and production methods.

He is affiliated with a small factory in Dubendorf, Switzerland (near Zurich) which manufactures electrical transformers.

HOUSING DIFFERENT?

Moving from the informal dinette into the adjoining birch paneled family room, Heinz relaxed on the wing back sofa.

"How does housing in the United States differ from that in Switzerland?" we asked.

"Oh," said Heinz "there are many more one-family houses here than at home."

"In my country, a modest one-family house with three bedrooms and two baths sells for about $30,000 to $50,000. And only a man in a high position such as a director or president of a company can afford to buy one."

WORK SAVERS?

"We have duplexes and apartments for the workers and rest of the people to live in."

"What about the work-saving appliances that are customarily found in our kitchens and laundries?" we asked.

"We have them in most homes," said Heinz. "Not in the same type models that you do. But we have cooking stoves, refrigerators and washers to help with the work."

"What do you think of our country?" we ventured.

"I'm impressed," he said. "The very vastness is almost overwhelming. You see, Switzerland is smaller than the state of Michigan."

NO SLUMS

"And I like the open-mindedness of the people. They speak what they think. But I do notice the big difference between the rich and poor here. In Switzerland, we have no slums."

Leaving the comfortable family room, Mrs. Tatroe lead the way into the formal living room.

"My husband," she said, "has always been impressed with the trim lines of the Danish Modern furniture so it was natural that we would choose it when we furnished our home."

The warm grain of the teakwood complements the rich Copenhagen blue of the carpeting and the stark white walls and draperies in the room.

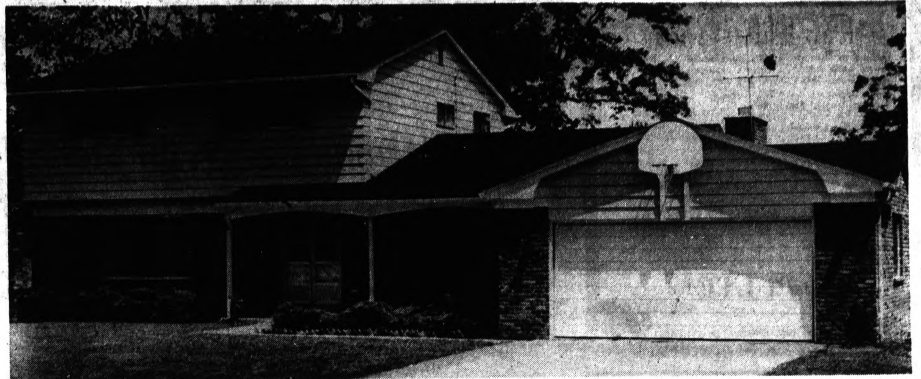

A wall-hung unit of the imported teak houses records, the stereo and serves as a display area for momentoes collected by the Tatroes. Magliani and Picasso works grace the walls.

Lavender and blue claim the color scene in 17-year-old Debbie's bedroom. Debbie will soon discover the joys and woes of traveling.

TO THE PHILIPPINES

She leaves for the Philippines July 3 as a participant in the Youth for Understanding program. She will be back in time for school in September.

The Tatroes also have three sons Kevin 14, Philip 8 and Mark 7.

FROM NORMANDY—Typical of houses which have their origin in French Normandy, this one features an imposing tower, made of rugged stone. Other Norman touches are the stucco, half timbers, steep roof pitches and the over-all asymmetrical appearance.

French Norman Plan With Stone Tower

Architectural details of swing 20 degrees forward to staircase of arresting proportions. The front entrance is carved out of the stone tower, so that houses, a tower such as this as one approaches it, there is actually a silo. Here, an expectancy of something interesting inside. This expectancy is certainly fulfilled as the front door is opened.

FLOOR PLANS—This interesting floor plan places a new angle on living. Good traffic circulation has been preserved despite unusual character of foyer and angled placement of rooms. Dramatic fireplace is visible from front door in tower entrance.

A HOME

IS STILL THE BEST INVESTMENT a Family Can Make

THE TIME TO BUY IS NOW —

HERE ARE 8 GOOD REASONS WHY

- 1 The price of land is going up . . . up . . . up. Just the other day a group of distinguished economists predicted real estate will go up 20% in the next three years.
- 2 The steady rise in population, in virtually every section of the nation, exerts a steady upward pressure on land prices.
- 3 Today, right now, you can find real bargains in new homes. See Kampsen Realty, and you'll find the selection was never better.
- 4 Interest rates may go even higher. The actual difference between present and past interest rates is only a small factor in the cost of your home. For example: A one-half percent increase in interest rates is only $6 per month on a 25-year, $20,000 loan. Remember, your interest is deductible on your income tax.
- 5 Real estate is your best hedge against inflation. "No investment on earth is so safe, so sure, so certain to enrich its owner as real estate."
- 6 If you shop at Kampsen's, you'll find architects and builders are now figuring with sharper pencils, because of the momentary lull in demand. You can save important money by acting now.
- 7 The family who buys now will be ahead of the family that continues to collect rent receipts. Each monthly payment builds equity. At the same time, the home can be increasing in value.
- 8 The best security in the whole world, for you, your wife and children, is the security of owning land.

Decorating Game Dangerous for Inexperienced Player

The name of the game is decorating. It is dangerous for those who don't know how to play, says expert David Eugene Bell.

It can be an expensive game. It can be a heart and home breaker. It drives people to doctors and psychiatrists. And it can break the bank, he explains.

"Some women are clever and can do attractive and happy decorating jobs, but most women shouldn't attempt it."

Bell has been called in to patch up lots of homes and marriages that have become rocky because a housewife has evolved a decorating plan that threw her husband into a panic. Often she is stuck with merchandise bought through friends or wholesalers.

"The entire family should be considered when a decorating plan is made. But many women clip pictures of many ideas and then try unsuccessfully to put them into decorating perspective."

Bell is in his seventh year as director of the interior design department of Bloomingdale's, a New York store with suburban outlets.

The store, like many in the United States, gives decorating advice to customers — small — "What color shall I paint a tiny bathroom?" or large — "I want to redecorate a 14-room house." A small fee is charged for a room plan and color schemes, and if purchases are ultimately made for the purpose, the fee is refunded.

Each year, there is rising awareness of a decorator's function, Bell has observed, and he says women are becoming more knowledgeable about styles, periods, woods, colors, because they read avidly about such things in newspapers and magazines.

Small room redecoration is one example of this new awareness, he points out.

At one time, homemakers treated small rooms like step rooms but now they call in decorators. Some homemakers still decorate by here-and-there use of busy pattern or dark colors in small rooms. "Actually, the reverse is more often true, he says.

FAMOUS PEOPLE

Bell proved it in a current store show of "signature rooms" designed around famous people. One small room is an actor's hideaway for Kier Dullea.

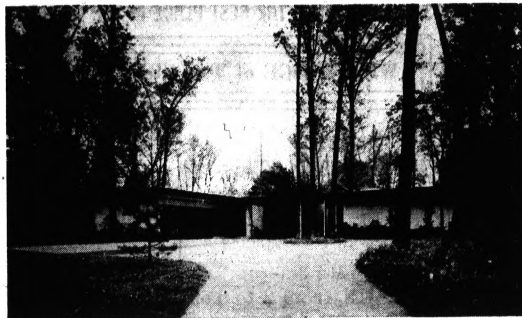

It is covered in black and gold pony print Nautahvie. In addition to walls and floors of the print, a rosewood daybed and aluminum base swivel chair are similarly covered.

A small living room designed as an island retreat room for Dina Merrill has beige vinyl on walls, a Moorish tile pattern on the floor, floral cotton fabric on rattan furniture.

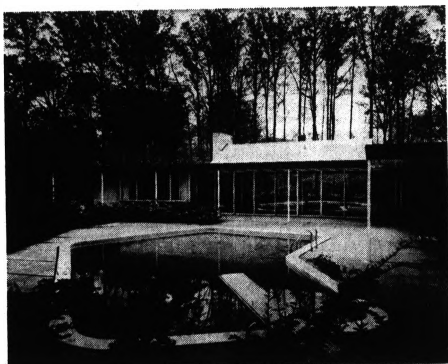

A wrought iron gate at the window permits a view of a painted tropical scene that looks pretty believable.

2-Sink Lavatory Added Luxury

The two-sink lavatory is frequently an added luxury for the master bathroom. The usual side-by-side arrangement, however, sometimes takes up so much wall that available space is distorted. Putting the basins back-to-back in a peninsular arrangement, topped by a mirror-divider, may be a much happier use of the space. Easily maintained counters can help to coordinate the peninsular with other decor.

ENCHANTING CONTEMPORARY as appealing as its setting. On a quiet court in Bloomfield Hills and custom built for the owner. The spacious entrance hall leads right and left to a large studio ceilinged living room with glass window walls at front and rear, huge fireplace and paneled wall with built-in wet bar separating it from the dining room and attractive kitchen with center island. A library, master suite and three additional bedrooms are in separate wings. Exceptional closets, cupboards and counters built-in with use of warm paneling throughout. $140,000.

French Norman Plan With Stone Tower

(Continued from Page D-2) family room and the living room, has sliding glass doors to the master bedroom, one to the a long rear porch.

LIVING ROOM

Directly beyond the main and secondary foyers is a large and impressive living room.

An unusually designed, sizable fireplace is at the far end of the room and is an immediate focal point of interest. In fact, it can be seen as soon as the front door is opened.

To the left of the foyer is the kitchen, with the family room on a line with it. Their combined length is more than 25'.

The family room has a laundry niche with an enclosing folding partition.

A refreshment bar is just opposite. The stairway to the full basement is within a service vestibule, which also has access to the rear porch and a two-car garage.

DINING ROOM

The dining room, ideally located between the kitchen-

The second floor contains two bedrooms — one nearly 18' long — and a bathroom. The walk-in closet of one room has rear access to a large storage area under the roof.

The angled plan allows the house to be swung a bit in either direction on the lot, an adaptability that can be utilized for orientation, the retention of trees or other geographical reasons.

Although the full width of the house and garage is more than 89', and there is an over-all impression of size, the livability square footage is modest — 1705 on the first floor, 583 on the second.

In addition to the angled plan and the tower, the use of stone, half timber and stucco gives Design Z-46 a strong, rugged look.

Paneling Walls Is Popular Handyman Job

Three out of four home owners plan some kind of remodeling project in 1968.

The total value of the home improvement projects anticipated by home owners surveyed by the Bureau of Building Marketing Research is $23 billion—an average expenditure of $380.

The most popular do-it-yourself job, according to the survey is wall paneling.

Almost 93 per cent of those who plan to panel walls indicated they would do the job themselves — a reflection of the increased popularity of materials such as prefinished hardboard paneling.

Prefinished hardboard panels, available in woodgrain, colors and special finishes, can be installed simply over furring with colored nails or special adhesive.

And they can be trimmed out with a "professional look" by using matching or color-coordinated wood, metal or vinyl moldings.

To Solve City Problems

Realtors Launch Make America Better Drive

Realtors of America today, part of the 85,000-member National Association of Realtors, announced a vigorous, seven-point objective program called Make America Better, designed to agitate blue print for help solve the major problems of our cities and towns.

Washington, D.C. Listing the Lyn E. Davis, Dallas, president of the seven objectives, he spelled out details of 50 points by which NAREB proposes to implement the objectives with the cooperation of citizen groups throughout the nation.

"The board of directors of our Association decided that the problem of the betterment of housing for low-income families cannot be solved except as a part of other problems which are deeply involved in the social unrest in our cities can be concurrently solved," Davis declared.

He emphasized that NAREB is particularly suited to act as the catalyst for such a program because of its grass roots organization of 1,550 boards of realtors throughout the nation, with state organizations in all 50 states.

Basically, the plan outlines a comprehensive attack on the three areas in which improvements are desperately needed, Davis added. These areas are jobs, education, and housing.

PROGRAM BASE

"At the base of the program is the fact that we can't convince investors to build or rehabilitate housing on a large scale for the use of families which they suspect may destroy it or make it unfit to live in, in a fraction of the time it takes to amortize the investment. Nor can the government afford to do so either," he said.

"So the program involves using our organization to spearhead in some instances — and to work more actively with other leadership in other instances — activities which are designed to do these things, people and improve the environment."

"Encourage both large and small-scale rehabilitation and construction."

"Help families learn to care for their homes — whether as tenants or owners."

"Work for better solutions to curb the rising juvenile delinquency involving more crimes, which both reflects — and causes — serious disruption in the family."

"Try to find means of getting more youngsters off the streets at earlier ages and into jobs for which they are adapted."

"Work for more practicable local building codes and construction methods aimed at reducing costs."

CRIME PREVENTION

"Take an active part in crime prevention work and in support of law and order."

The seven objectives of the Make America Better drive, which stems from testimony developed and presented to the President's Commission on Civil Disorders by Alexander Summer, Tennessee, N.J., past president of NAREB, are:

- Encourage both large and small-scale rehabilitation and construction, with emphasis on housing, and including incentive programs.
- Help provide for education and training of families in normal living habits in order to avoid excessive property destruction that inhibits both private and public investment.
- Seek changes in restrictive practices that unduly increase costs of residential construction and inhibit employment therein.
- Recommend education and training of children at earlier ages to provide employment capabilities and incentives, with comprehensive attack on the three areas in which improvements are desperately needed.
- Take steps to obtain changes in attitudes toward law violation, law enforcement, and juvenile delinquency.
- Further programs to assist property owners in marketing housing on a non-discriminatory basis, while preserving their freedom of contract.
- Assist with local organization and coordination of effort in each metropolitan area or community.

Davis explained that NAREB is sponsoring a series of full-page advertisements in nationally-circulated publications — calling attention to individuals and organizations already undertaking projects to help design to do these things, people and improve the environment. "We hope this will inspire others to undertake similar endeavors," Davis said.

The NAREB leader pointed out that many of the desired improvements based on legislative action — federal, state, and local — are included in a 20-page booklet explaining the Make America Better Program in detail, which already has been mailed to presidents and secretaries of Better Program, National Association of Realtors, 1300 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. Single copies are free upon request to the Make America C. 20036.

Resurrection City Costly to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's expenses in helping set up, police and finally demolish Resurrection City are expected to approach a quarter of a million dollars.

Major items in an estimate released Friday by the Interior Department were about $145,000 in police costs, much of it in overtime and holiday pay, and $36,000 to restore the turf ruined by the shantytown of the Poor People's Campaign.

The figures totaled more than $231,000, including $14,000 for extra police and clean-up connected with "Solidarity Day," the demonstration June 19 that brought an estimated 50,000 persons to the Lincoln Memorial to show support for the campaign. While Resurrection City has disappeared, the campaign goes on. Police arrested 77 persons, including 30 Quakers — Friday for demonstrating on the Capitol steps.

2 WITH CHILDREN

Two women with children in their arms were among the nearly dressed Quakers. The party also included Ross Anderson, 68, of Des Moines, Iowa, a retired teacher.

After holding a half-hour religious service on the Capitol grounds, the Quakers went to the broad steps to be arrested.

Among those taken into custody were Hosea Williams, one of the chief lieutenants of the Rev.

Ralph David Abernathy, leader of the campaign.

Williams was arrested Monday when police evicted the last occupants of the Resurrection City but he was free on bond while awaiting trial.

The 77 arrested Friday were charged with disorderly conduct. Some were also charged with unlawful assembly, the same charge on which Abernathy was convicted Tuesday and sentenced to 20 days in jail.

The board also censured Superintendent of Public Instruction Polley earlier this week with O'Neil for use of state station-

Man Found Innocent in Dress Theft Case

Oakland Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams yesterday afternoon found Maxwell Gordon of Southfield not guilty of receiving and concealing stolen property.

The Oakland County Prosecutor's office had attempted to prove that Gordon had been involved in thefts of high-priced dresses from a Miami, Fla., department store.

The thefts allegedly had been perpetrated by a ring of clothing thieves who pilfered Florida and Georgia stores of high-priced goods and transported them to Michigan for sale.

The ring allegedly made use of privately-owned jet airplanes and Railway Express to ship the stolen goods north, in what was described by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson as a highly sophisticated operation.

AFTER CHASE
 State police arrested Gordon Feb. 6 in the back yard of a friend's home in Oak Park. Officers testified that when Gordon was arrested, after a high speed chase through Detroit and Oak Park, they also found a package allegedly containing stolen dresses in an incinerator at the house.

The prosecution claimed that package was transported by Railway Express to Detroit Metropolitan airport, where a man picked it up and took it to an Oak Park pool room.

State police officers testified that Gordon was seen at the pool room. They said they tried to arrest him but he eluded police by driving away at high speeds.

He was traced a few hours after to the Oak Park house where he was arrested. Assistant Prosecutor John Davey told the court the evidence was circumstantial, but it definitely linked Gordon to the stolen goods.

'COULDN'T PROVE IT'
 Defense attorney Robert Sterling argued that Gordon should not be found guilty of the charge because the prosecution could not prove that the defendant was ever at any time in possession of the stolen merchandise.
 Judge Adams said the evidence did not prove "beyond a reasonable doubt" that Gordon ever was in possession of the stolen merchandise.

Hare Improving in D.C. Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare is improving following a mild heart attack a week ago, doctors report. Hare has been moved from the intensive care ward to a private room at George Washington University Medical Center.

Physicians said that Hare probably will be confined to the hospital for at least two weeks before being permitted to return home to convalesce.

3 Legislators From the Area Join Panels

LANSING (AP)—House Speaker Robert Waldron has named members to committees charged with examining the feasibility of establishing the state as a self-insured body and studying the state employee retirement program.

Named to the Insurance Study Committee were Reps. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford Township; Edgar Geerlings, R-Muskegon, and John Bennett, D-Redford.

The House members, along with three members of the Senate Commerce Committee, will also review the performance and fidelity bonds purchased by state departments.

Appointed to the Retirement Study Committee were Reps. James Heinze, R-Battle Creek; Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake; Charles J. Davis, R-Onondaga; Richard Young, D-DeARBON Heights; and Arthur Law, D-Pontiac.

Five Senate members also will be appointed to the committee.

Youth Is Killed in 'Gun Game'

DETROIT (AP)—An apparent game of Russian roulette Friday resulted in the death of 19-year-old Richard Sobek Jr. of Detroit.

Police said the shooting occurred at the home of Sobek's friend, Paul Kolodziej, 18. They said Sobek urged Kolodziej, Peter Mitchell, 17, and Janet Kolodziej, 16, to join him in a game of Russian roulette.

Officers said the friends refused and that Sobek then loaded one bullet into a 32-caliber revolver spun the chamber, put it to his head and fired.

Sobek died three hours later in a Detroit hospital. Police said that earlier this year Kolodziej witnessed the fatal shooting of another friend, following an argument at a drive-in restaurant.

Kelley Asks Romney Veto of Conflict-of-Interest Bills

LANSING (UPI)—Atty. Gen. a state officer to enter into the public's confidence in the honesty and integrity of government.

"I firmly believe that the people of this state need more, not less, protection against favoritism, against deals for 'insiders,' and against public officers and employees who have divided loyalties between their own personal pecuniary gain and the interests of the public," Kelley said in a letter to Romney.

"The public needs and deserves more assurance, not less, that public officials will act with integrity and undivided allegiance to their public duties," he said.

Romney, who demanded a strong conflict of interest legislation in 1966 as his price for signing a pay raise bill for legislators, has until 2:30 p.m. Wednesday to sign or veto the bills. If he does neither, they become law without his signature.

He asked Kelley for his opinion of the bills, which Kelley gave at length, citing both constitutional grounds and questions of public policy.

Kelley said "nothing could be further from the truth" than claims of backers that the bills were an important step toward protecting the public against conflicts of interest.

"In fact," Kelley said, "these bills strip the public of most of the protection it now has without substituting therefor any new or additional protection."

The first of the bills, which Kelley challenged on constitutional grounds, tries to control conflicts of interest by state officers.

Kelley said this violated the constitutional ban on such conflicts by limiting the scope of the bill to officers established in the constitution, thereby excluding school board members, members of powerful state commissions, and other top administrators.

He said that instead of further implementing the constitutional prohibition this bill "virtually guts" it.

He also objected to language that would make a conflict of interest legal unless it in fact induces improper action, allows the public's confidence in the honesty and integrity of government.

The second bill applies to state employees other than legislators, who would police their own activities. Kelley cited six public policy problems raised by both bills, faulting sections in each that would:

- Allow only the governmental unit to go to court to seek cancellation of a contract where a conflict exists, rather than taxpayers as is now the rule.

- Allow a contract to be set aside if a conflict exists only if the officers of the corporation had "actual knowledge" that it existed.

- Require the public entity to meet the full financial requirements of the contract even if it were set aside because it involved a conflict, in violation of common law principles.

- Validate all contracts prior to Sept. 1 regardless if a conflict existed.

- Allow officers and employees to hold an interest in contracts with the government if it was awarded on a sealed bid basis.

- Repeat all other conflict of interest laws now on the books.

Of the provision allowing state officers and employees to contract with governmental units on a sealed-bid basis, Kelley said, "nothing would be more conducive to the destruction of

Junior Editors Quiz on DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE

Section from a chocolate cake with a tricky coconutty frosting QUESTION: What is the difference between chocolate cake and devil's food cake?
ANSWER: Devil's food cake actually is a kind of chocolate cake. But it is richer. It is devilishly good in taste—spicy, light, fluffy and moist.
 There are many recipes for devil's food cake. One is 2 cups cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup butter, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 eggs, 2 squares melted chocolate, 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk.
 It is in the use of richer materials, especially butter and eggs, that the difference lies between devil's food and the plainer chocolate cakes.
 These plainer mixes, however, are also very popular. Special delicacy may be given to them by the use of Swiss chocolate.
 Nowadays one can get carefully blended devil's food cake and chocolate cake mixes at supermarkets. It is only necessary to add certain simple things like water, butter and eggs and bake—in ten presto, you have a masterpiece!
 (You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if you question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

ENLISTEES JOIN STATE UNIT—Thirty-one area enlistees—27 men and four girls—boarded a bus yesterday which took them to Detroit where they will be inducted today into a special "Michigan Company" of the Army. The unit, which will consist of 200 state enlistees, will be sworn into service at Tiger Stadium. The area people were hosted at a coffee and doughnut hour by the Oakland County Department of Veteran Affairs.

Johnson Signs Tax Bill; Hike Is Effective July 14

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless you have a rock-bottom income you will begin paying higher income taxes July 14 to help pay for the Vietnam war and to keep the Great Society moving.

On that date the withholding rate on your pay check will increase 10 per cent, under the income tax bill President Johnson signed into law yesterday.

If you get paid July 13 you won't feel the bite until the next pay day.

Signing of the bill, which includes a mandatory $6-billion cut in federal spending, came without fanfare one week after Congress completed action.

With only Mrs. Johnson, grandson Lyn and a few aides looking on, Johnson signed it on the White House lawn.

Although Johnson opposed the spending cuts, he hinted in his statement he will try to pinpoint reductions to save Great Society programs.

"In carrying out these Congressional mandates," Johnson said, "I will do my best to fulfill our most urgent priorities and to continue the essential operations of government. We must not falter in our efforts to root out injustices and unrest from the land."

Under the new law, higher taxes can be collected after 15 days from its enactment.

RETROACTIVE

This means that pay checks received after July 14 must reflect the increased taxes even if the money is earned before that date.

Since the tax for individuals is retroactive to last April 1, the amount withheld from weekly paychecks through next December will fall short of the amount due. The difference must be paid when income tax returns are filed by next April 15.

Sen. McCarthy Will Visit State This Weekend

By The Associated Press
Sen. Eugene McCarthy will bring his presidential campaign to Lansing this weekend when he speaks to Michigan delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., will represent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey at the delegates' meeting tomorrow at Michigan State University.

McCarthy is scheduled to arrive in Lansing at 8:30 p.m. tonight and address an airport rally before retiring to the Jack Tar Hotel, aides said.

Meanwhile in New York several hundred McCarthy supporters stormed out of a Democratic State Committee meeting yesterday because they were not given half the 65 at-large national convention delegates.

PLEADED TO DELEGATES

Paul O'Dwyer who won the Democratic senatorial nomination in the primary as a backer of the Minnesota senator, pleaded with the committee:

"I beg you, I implore you, to give fair treatment to the youngsters who worked for McCarthy."

McCarthy had won 61 of 123 delegates elected in the June 18 primary.

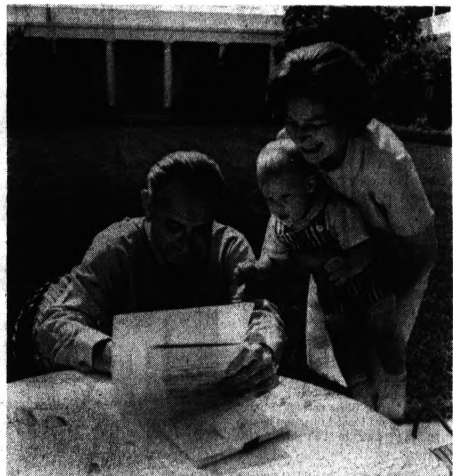

In other political news, George Wallace says he now is assured of being on the ballot as a presidential candidate in 26 states — and claims he's just getting his second wind.

IN MASSACHUSETTS

Campaigning in Massachusetts yesterday, the former Alabama governor predicted that by November he'll be on the ballot in every state with the possible exception of Ohio.

Humphrey, who has a strong lead in delegate support in the contest for the Democratic nomination, said today, "Civil order and civil justice" will have top priorities of he becomes president.

"It must be clear that violence, crime, looting, burning cannot be condoned and must be stopped," he said in a speech prepared for the Iowa Democratic convention. "It must be equally clear that the conditions that breed crime and violence have to be sought out—and then rooted out."

WITHOUT FANFARE — President Johnson signs the 10 per cent income tax surcharge bill yesterday on the White House lawn, with Mrs. Johnson and her grandson, Patrick Lyndon Nugent, looking on. The simple signing ceremony was in marked contrast to the raging controversy over the tax hike during the past year.

Boy Killed, Woman Injured in Area Shooting Mishaps

One child was killed and a woman wounded in apparently accidental shootings in Oakland County yesterday. Both were the result of having loaded firearms in houses, according to investigating officers.

Dead is Chris Duguay, 8, of 5665 Berkley, Waterford Township, apparently accidentally shot in the head by a 9-year-old playmate.

Wounded is Mrs. William Kunse, 22, of 6767 Snowapple, Independence Township, who was shot in the back yesterday evening by a small pistol that fell on the floor.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Duguay, was found dead at about 8:30 p.m. in the back of his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Bueal Travis, 5681 S. Aylesbury, Waterford Township police said a 9-year-old neighborhood boy was being questioned in the death.

PLAYING WITH PISTOL

Police said the two boys had been seen playing near the house about 1 p.m. that day. The dead boy was discovered later when the Traveses arrived home.

The two children had apparently gotten into the house and were playing with a loaded pistol they found, police surmise.

The investigation was continuing today and the 9-year-old was released in the custody of his parents.

Mrs. Kunse was in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital today with a bullet wound in the back. Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said the woman was shot about 8 p.m. by a 22-calibre pistol which was kept on a night stand. The gun apparently fell to the floor and discharged.

Deputies said the woman was alone in the house at the time, but was able to call the sheriff's office which dispatched an ambulance.

U.S. Horse Wins Irish Sweepstakes Derby

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Lester Piggett steered American-owned Ribero to victory today in the seventh running of the Irish Sweepstakes Derby. The odds-on favorite Sir Ivor finished second.

The French horse Val D'Aoste was third in the race over a turf course of 1 1/4 miles and one carrying the hopes of millions of people who had bought Irish sweepstakes tickets.

Laos Ups Ante for Bomb Halt

PARIS (UPI) — Laos today barged in on the deadlocked Vietnam peace talks demanding that Hanoi withdraw its troops from the neutral Southeast Asian kingdom before any cessation of U.S. bombings of North Vietnam.

The Laotian demand appeared to up the ante for the bombing cessation which North Vietnam has consistently demanded as a precondition to meaningful negotiations.

This was the interpretation given by most diplomatic observers to Laotian Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's call for the United States not to halt its bombing raids before North Vietnam pulled its 40,000 troops out of its neutral nation.

Souvanna said that once a ceasefire was agreed on, there should be a general conference of "all interested parties" in Southeast Asia to hammer out a permanent political solution to the conflict. He raised the possibility of Communist China taking part in such "general" talks.

INFILTRATION ROUTE

Laos, which borders both North and South Vietnam, is used by Hanoi as a route for infiltration of Communist troops and material into the south. A part of the Ho Chi Minh trail runs through Laotian territory.

The price made his request yesterday in an interview with a group of newsmen. It thrust the Laotian problem into the midst of the protracted talks, now in their sixth week.

Until now, the talks between the American and North Vietnamese negotiators have centered strictly on debate over the bombing halt demanded by Hanoi before real negotiations could get under way. The United States insisted that such a halt should be followed by some sign of "reciprocity" or indication that the Communists were willing to scale down their war effort.

Maritime Strike Threatens Tie-Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Maritime Union struck at 12:01 a.m. today in a wage dispute that could tie up 70 per cent of the American merchant fleet.

The union has told its men not to establish picket lines for the time being.

Early efforts of the walkout appeared to be minimal, but American flag-ships now in port cannot sail without the unlicensed seamen represented by the union.

About 100 ships are in ports at this time on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts. Eventually, the strike could affect 407 freighters, 158 tankers and 11 passenger-freighter ships.

WAGE REOPENER

The union struck on the basis of a wage-reopener clause in the four-year contract it signed in 1965. The shippers, however, contend that the union has already exercised its allotted wage reopeners.

Officials of the 55,000-member union met with shippers at NMU headquarters last night for secret talks, but they broke off after 2 1/2 hours.

Joseph Curran, president of the union, said vessels carrying military cargoes to the Vietnam war theater would not be struck.

Psychiatrist Interviews Out

City Uses New Police Tests

In an effort to improve testing procedures for police department applicants, the city has introduced a new battery of IQ and personality tests.

Nicholas Santivan, city personnel director, said the tests already have replaced a 120-question written test and services of psychiatrists previously used by the city.

Several applicants have been given the new tests but results have not been checked yet, Santivan said.

The battery of tests includes some which have been used before and certain new tests designed by a team of doctors of psychology from Psychological Resources, 700 E. Maple, Birmingham.

BROAD IN SCOPE

The tests are expected to measure IQ, adaptability of the individual to police work, and behavioral traits as well as spotting personality aberrations or ingrained prejudices.

Psychologists suggesting the tests said they will tend to give a more equal opportunity to Negroes and to eliminate from consideration applicants who have undesirable personality traits, Santivan said.

He said they would give the city a better chance of weeding out over-prejudiced persons and to eliminate "cultural deprivation" without giving up any accurate measurement of IQ on adaptability to police work.

The written test used previously was an accurate measure of IQ but did little to spot ingrained prejudice, he said. It was also criticized because of a heavy reliance on verbalization, which may have put Negroes at a disadvantage.

INTERVIEWS REPLACED

Replaced in the process is a step in the hiring procedure of policemen, an interview with a psychiatrist who's personality attitude and adaptability.

All tests require the applicants to put answers on forms which will be graded by psychologists without them seeing the applicant.

Santivan said the battery of tests — which takes about four hours to complete — will tell the city much more about the individual than was learned under the previous testing procedure.

Bridal Ensemble of White Crepe From Germany

Feathery Fashions Tickle the Purse

NEW YORK (AP) — Feathers may be for the birds, but they are also for those with nest eggs plump enough for the likes high fashion designers Donald Brooks and Pauline Trigere.

Although they do not flock together, the feathers of ostriches, cocks, pheasants and storks are due to flutter everywhere in a woman's wardrobe that may tickle her fancy.

This lesson in ornithology was part of a week-long series of fall collection previews, American Designer Series, which ended Friday.

The bird bit was a natural for Brooks. In doing the costumes for a Gertrude Lawrence movie, he had been researching the glamour archives of the late '30's when it was the duty of vamps to bat their eyes among a flock of ostriches.

Cock feather, beige, speckled or white ostrich fronds, sometimes glistening with jeweled drops were used as sleeves, skirts, ruffs, cuffs and borders.

Some had bodices of matching velvet. Others glowed with iridescent sequins.

Instead of fur, Pauline Trigere preferred to line coats with marbou. The bristling boas by the mile bounced around other costumes.

LEATHER

Just as Brooks used feathers as fabric, Trigere treated leather as if it were woven by the yard. From it she fashioned bodices for gray flannel skirts which matched glove-like leather boots.

Leather sleeves, leather for formal wear were more uses.

Fashion tricks which America's French-imported designer suggested included the use of two pairs of stockings, a sheer layer over an opaque base.

She advocated a red coat for the woman who can only afford one or better still a reversible with secret pockets for back accounts—for secret Trigere expenditures perhaps.

Summer Brings Open Sandals Into Full View

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: With the advertisements for summer clothes, I am again reminded of the annual affront to good grooming — sandals on dirty, deformed female feet!

Certainly sandals may be appropriate on the patio, at the beach, or at the pool, but it seems to me that they do not belong on city streets, or even at the supermarket.

Pale feet, dirty feet, or deformed feet (callouses, corns, protruding joints) certainly are not sights any careful women would want to display in public, yet any summer day you see them almost anywhere you go. — M. Michaels

Dear Mrs. Michaels: Other than the fact that I feel just as strongly about dirty, deformed male feet, I'm with you one hundred percent. One of the prime requisites of good taste is to be inoffensive to others, and a display of the sights you describe, in the places you mention, is thoroughly objectionable.

Any person, male or female, who is not the lucky possessor of well-formed, unblemished feet, will look far more attractive in loafers or toe-covering "flats."

To make your wedding day perfect from start to finish, my booklet "Your Guide to Formal Wedding Procedure" is just what you need.

To get a copy, send 25 cents in coin to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

The Old Gentleman Next Door Needs Some Kindness and Attention

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are a couple with four school-age children. Our problem is an old retired gentleman who lives next door. He just won't leave us alone.

When the boys want to work out in the yard with their father, this old man comes out and talks to them. If they're planting flowers, he is right there, telling them how to do it. If I happen to be outside sitting with friends, he comes out and joins us.

My daughters cannot even sun themselves without this old man coming out to sit with them. Abby, I hate to seem mean, but who needs an old man following you around and inviting himself over every time you go outside?

My husband doesn't have the nerve to say anything to him, but if you tell me I should do it, I will.

DEAR PESTERED: The poor old gentleman is lonely, and he could also be getting a bit childish in his declining years, so be kind to him. Tell him, gently, that you and your family need a little more privacy. He may forget from time to time, but be patient, and remind him. One day, you, too, may be old and lonely.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in the army and we are stationed 1,800 miles from home. My mother has offered to send the money for me to fly home several times as she wants to see me and her new grandson.

My husband wouldn't hear of it. He says he does not want me going home unless he can go with me. Now my mother is going into the hospital for major surgery and she wants me home to be with her for a couple of weeks. My husband is up in arms and won't allow it. (We used up our leave last Christmas and he can't go with me, so that's that.)

I think my husband is selfish and unreasonable. I am just about ready to go anyway, but I hate to do it. What is your advice?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: I think your husband is not only selfish and unreasonable, but he's also immature, tyrannical and short-sighted, and sadly insecure. If you can't make him realize that he is wrong in forbidding you to go to your mother in her hour of need, ask him to talk to an impartial party. The chaplain where he is stationed would be my Number One suggestion.

P.S. Don't go without your husband's blessings, unless you decide you don't want to come back.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to add my two cents' worth about tipping: When I go to a hotel, for example, and see a "bellboy," who is a good 20 years older than I am, I feel like a heel for letting him carry my luggage.

Then when I have to tip him a buck for doing a job that I am more physically fit to do than he is, I feel like a schmuck. So what's the answer?

DEAR HEEL AND SCHNOOK: You'd feel like a bigger "heel" carrying your own luggage. Furthermore, don't judge anyone's physical fitness by his age. Most of those "old bellboys" are probably in better shape than you are.

CONFIDENTIAL, TO RAMELDA: It's the same old story, you can wear out a mother, abuse her, neglect her, impose upon her and hurt her, and win her back with only four words, "Mom, I love you."

Everybody has a problem What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed

For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," send $1.00 to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — Julie Anne Hamilton, Cedar Springs' Red Flannel Princess, gained a new crown Friday night and became the National Cherry Queen at the annual pageant.

Miss Hamilton, 18, a willowy blonde who stands 5-foot-7, graduated from high school this spring and plans a career as a business school executive secretary.

First runnerup in the pageant in the heart of Michigan's cherry producing area was Miss Lapeer County, Sharon Denise Kiehler.

Sharon also won the bathing suit competition. Second runnerup was Miss Boyne City, Gail Myer, 18.

Margaret Schroeder, representing Jackson, was selected by the other girls as Miss Congeniality.

October Vows Slated

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Edens of Lawley Street announce the engagement of their daughter, April, to Charles Duke Cummins. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Clendenen of Pontiac Road.

The bride elect and fiancé are planning to wed in October.

Pontiac Press Photos

Naomi Olson of Walled Lake, is assisted by Jackie Wetzel of Meadowlawn Street as they join Kyle Evans of Crooks Road, Aeon Township in a toast to their future careers as recent enlistees in the Women's Army Corps. That new episode is soon to unfold as the excited trio will join other recruits for swagging-in ceremonies Sunday in Tiger Stadium.

Lt. Col. Thomas Dinnis congratulates Jackie Wetzel of Meadowlawn Street for a job well done following presentation of the Certificate of Appreciation awarded Jackie for her help in recruiting others. With Lt. Col. Dinnis, Commander of Army Recruiting for the state of Michigan, is 1st Lt. Pat Crowley, WAC selection officer in Michigan.

Miss Simpson Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Simpson of Pontiac Lake Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann Marie, to David Vernal Smith. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernal Smith of St. Louis.

The couple, students at Michigan State University, are planning to wed Aug. 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Condon of Winkleman Drive announce the engagement and December vows of their daughter, Connie Jean, to Richard Alan Ward, son of the Milton Wards of Grand Blanc. The bride elect and her fiancé are seniors at Western Michigan University.

Boys, Girls Leave for Camp Grindley

Ten Mexican-American children are leaving today for Camp Sarah Grindley near Gregory where they will spend nearly two weeks.

The children will participate in swimming, boating, crafts, overnight camping, games, devotions and hikes. For many of these children this will be their first camping experience.

The boys and girls were given the opportunity to attend the camp through a group of Presbyterian churches that help support the missionary activities of Spanish American Outreach and its director, Tom Chavez Jr.

Transportation will be provided by various church members.

Convention Scheduled for July 11

Edward Thornton, presiding minister of the west congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced today that Witnesses from this area will attend a four-day district convention in Detroit July 11 to 14.

The gathering will be held at Olympia Stadium. The convention's theme will be "Good News for All Nations."

The program will include Bible discourses and dramatizations of Scriptural accounts that are filled with meaning for persons living in these critical times," Thornton said.

According to Thornton, the Detroit assembly is one of a series of 57 being held by Jehovah's Witnesses this summer throughout the United States, Canada, Bermuda and the British Isles.

MOBILE LIVING

IS HAPPY LIVING

KITCHEN CONVENIENCE—Homemakers laud the built-in brand name appliances, roomy cupboards, ample lighting, and convenient work areas characteristic of the kitchens in today's mobile homes. Average cost of a mobile home is $5,700 — entirely furnished!

They're Pulling Together

By JIM CROSSLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Trailer, elephant-herd style, is a colorful development in the recreation world.

First impulse is to picture a travel-trailer owner striking out into the wilderness hunting a solitary glade from which to watch the scarlet sunsets. For increasing numbers trawling is just the opposite.

A couple of words have caught on for this kind of fun. A "caravan" is a whole group of travelers taking a trip at the same time, like so many covered wagons. A "rally," adopted from other branches of the company, are famous. On motoring, means "let's all the most sensational, 1951 make the scene at the same time. When they get to a rally it's a regular gypsy camp-out. There are old friends and new ones to swap yarns with, planned activities for young and old, the excitement and stimulation of getting a mob together who are all under the spell of the same hobby.

AIRSTREAM CLUBS
The mere purchase of some brands of trailers plunges the new owner into the middle of it. Airstream, for instance, has under its wing 89 permanent clubs in the United States. Its Wally Byam Caravans, named for the late president of the company, are famous. On the most sensational, 1951

Top Designer's Think Tank Is in a Sylvan Setting

MORE RELAXING
At the lunch hour, he walks up a gentle hill to his home and eats lunch by the pool with its two rubber swans gliding gently around at the whim of the wind and a filtering mechanism. "I have an office in New York, too," he says, "and stays in both places. But I find this more relaxing." In New York, at 5:30 everybody runs to catch a train to go home. But here they tend to stay much later, to talk and exchange ideas. They don't have to worry about making a train.

It is here, then, that he does most of his work — designing new telephones for the Bell System, farm equipment for John Deere, airplane interiors for American Airlines, machinery for AMP, razors for American Safety Razor.

There will probably be only a half-hour to do it on the Los Angeles-New York run — the first and last half-hours of the 1½-hour flight will be too steep for serving. At the moment, Dreyfuss leans to having the meals built into the backs of the seats.
