GOP Picnic May Launch Senators' Political Climbs

By JIM DYGERT

The 1963 Oakland County GOP picnic and ox roast may be the launching pad for drives to higher political office for three Republican state senators who plan to attend Sept. 7.

They are Stanley G. Thayer of Ann Arbor, William G. Milliken of Traverse City and John W. Fitzgerald of Grand Ledge.

All three, along with Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, are leaders of Senate "moderates" who overthrew the rule of the conservative "robo bloc" this year and gained statewide recognition for negotiating passage of legislation in Gov. George Romney's program.

They are scheduled to join Romney, Roberts and Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield on the speakers' platform at the ox roast, which is expected to draw up to 10,000 picnickers to the John F. Ivory farm on Colley Lake Road.

Appearing at the event would give Thayer, Milliken and Fitzgerald a start toward the public recognition they will need if they follow through on their reported aspirations for state and national office.

Thayer has been mentioned as a possible lieutenant governor nominee in 1964, when candidates that post will be chosen by party conventions under the new state constitution. So has Milliken.

Both also figure prominently in the speculation for the GOP's gubernatorial nomination if the governor should happen to be drafted to resolve a deadlock for the party's presidential candidate.

Fitzgerald, who had reportedly been interested in a seat on the new state appellate court created by the new constitution, has said he may instead challenge the re-election bid next year of Democratic U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart.

Roberts, too, is interested in another post, but on a less ambitious scale. He is deciding whether to seek one of the nine appellate court seats or run for Congress.

Virginia County to Provide Free Private Schools

Governor Announces
Biracial Organization
to Aid Negroes

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. today announced with the approval of the Department of Justice and white and Negro leaders the organization of a biracial group to provide private free schools in Prince Edward County this year.

Harrison's announcement at a crowded news conference was given an immediate pledge of support by the Rev. L. Francis Griffin, president of the Virginia

The plan to provide schooling for some 1,700 Negro pupils has been largely without classroom training since the county closed public schools four years ago as well as white children who may desire to attend the free schools—was outlined by the governor as follows:

A biracial board of trustees of three white and Negro educators will lease from Prince Edward County several of the presently unused public school buildings, will sign up faculty and administrative personnel, and will operate on finances obtained privately.

A number of foundations and individuals have already indicated their willingness to contribute.

Sitting in with Harrison beside Griffin were several key figures in the long-drawn-out Prince Edward school dispute, who finally joined in the cooperative effort to put an end to the school's plight of the county's Negro children.

Prince Edward's white children have been attending classes offered by a private white school foundation.

The figures included J. Seegar Grady, counsel for the Prince Edward Board of Supervisors which closed the schools by declining to appropriate local funds in 1959; Henry Marsh, a young NAACP attorney of Richmond; and William Wendt Heugel, of the Department of Justice, who played perhaps the key role in working out the agreement.

Harrison's formal disclosure of the plan followed several months of discussions and negotiations among federal, state and local representatives, including both Negro and white leaders in Prince Edward County.

Rest Recommended for Jackie Kennedy

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy, holding the President's hand and managing a smile, went home from the hospital today. Her doctor promptly suggested that she curtail all of her official activities until after the first of the year.

The long convalescent period was similar to one Dr. John W. Walsh had advised for Mrs. Kennedy after the birth of her first son, also by Caesarean section, in 1960.

Mrs. Kennedy had made a very satisfactory recovery, said White House press secretary Pierre Salinger in a statement shortly after Mrs. Kennedy left the hospital at Otis Air Force Base and flew by helicopter with the President to the Squaw Island summer home near Hyannis Port where she will stay now probably into mid-September.

Salinger said Dr. Walsh had advised, despite Mrs. Kennedy's satisfactory recovery, that "in order to insure her complete rehabilitation and continuing good health it will be necessary for her to curtail all of her activities and undertake an official schedule until after the first of the year."

Salinger said it meant that Mrs. Kennedy would not take part in two state dinners currently on the White House schedule—one for the king and queen of Afghanistan, Sept. 5, and the other for Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia on Oct. 1.

The President came to the hospital this morning, went briefly into his wife's hospital room, and then took her by the hand for the short, but slow-paced trip to a waiting automobile that took them to a nearby helicopter pad.

Mrs. Kennedy had been in the hospital since the emergency Caesarean section of her son, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, last Wednesday.

Ways, Means Votes Tax Cut

Treasury Bill Passes
in House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee voted today for an income tax rate slash estimated by the Treasury to average 1 1/2 percent for most taxpayers.

The Treasury's latest proposal on individual tax rates, ranging from 14 to 70 percent, was accepted for inclusion in a bill the House is expected to act on by early September.

The present range of rates is 20 to 91 percent.

The committee recessed before taking up the corporate rate question. The Treasury has recommended a reduction from 52 to 48 percent in this field.

Also approved today was the timing suggested by the administration—two-thirds of the individual rate reduction to go into effect Jan. 1, 1964 and the remainder a year later.

The committee defeated by one vote—13-12—a Republican motion that would have made the second part of the cut depend on holding the public debt to a specified limit.

This effort is expected to be renewed on the floor of the House.

Before today's committee action, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member on the committee, was openly skeptical about President Kennedy's plans to balance the budget.

Life Sentence Awaits Slayer of Store Official

Verdict on Hodges Is Second Degree; Jury
Deliberates 1 Hour

(Special To The Press)

KALAMAZOO—A Circuit Court jury of nine women and three men found Adoise White guilty of first-degree murder yesterday in the March 16 slaying of Kroger store co-manager Robert A. Greene.

After the verdict, Oakland County Circuit Judge William Beer held that White's accomplice, Charles E. Hodges, was guilty of second-degree murder.

First-degree murder carries a mandatory life sentence. Life in prison is the maximum for second-degree murder. Judge Beer will sentence the two Aug. 23.

Defense attorney Milton R. Henry called the trial "a farce," and said he will appeal White's conviction.

The jury's verdict, announced after an hour's deliberation, followed a dramatic courtroom scene in which White left his seat, walked to the judge's bench and cried: "Let me talk to the jury!"

White, 22, of 79 1/2 Wall then approached the jury with arms raised, saying, "I didn't do it! A sheriff's deputy grabbed the defendant and took him back to his seat."

TELL THE TRUTH
Relatives and friends of White began calling out, "Please, Johnny, tell them the truth." Their words apparently were directed at Pontiac police detective Sgt. John Williams, who investigated the robbery-murder.

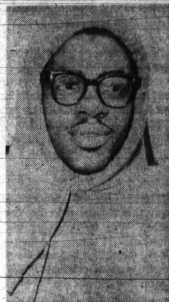

Williams testified in the trial that White was not beaten by police. White had claimed he confessed March 19 because police beat him.

Before the jury began deliberations, Judge Beer ruled out the possibility of a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity. He found the evidence insufficient to support Henry's insanity defense.

Hodges, also, 22, of 74 Prospect, became a prosecution witness after entering a surprise guilty plea on the trial's first day, Aug. 6. He testified that White, his uncle, was the one who stabbed Greene to death after forcing him to open a safe from which $1,500 was taken.

White, at the time a stock boy at the market at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads, claimed he was at a party the night of the murder and learned of the crime from Hodges the next day.

Both men admitted the crime in March 19 television news interviews. Judge Beer changed the trial location from Pontiac to Kalamazoo on the grounds that the television confessions precluded the drawing of an impartial jury.

Next Few Days to Be Pleasant With High 70's

Pleasant weather is in store for Pontiac area residents for the next few days with high temperatures in the upper 70's and the low near 57.

The mercury plunged 24 degrees from 76 at 6 a.m. yesterday to 52 at 6 a.m. today.

Precipitation with showers during the weekend will total about one half inch. Rainfall yesterday measured near .25 of an inch.

Today's northwesterly winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour will diminish gradually tonight and tomorrow.

At 2 p.m., the mercury reading was 65.

Chief Confirms Records Gone

Told Arrests of Police
Trial Board Member

Pontiac Police Chief Joseph Koren confirmed today that two arrest records of a Police Trial Board member are missing from police department files.

Koren told The Pontiac Press that information on the arrests of Victor L. Smothers, 44, of 135 Cornell, disappeared shortly after the City Commission appointee took office in September 1961.

While the original records of Smothers' arrest have vanished, copies made by a police officer, are still available and in the possession of Koren.

A security clampdown was initiated by Koren when he learned of the disappeared records.

Records indicate Smothers pleaded guilty Feb. 6, 1959 to a simple larceny charge, and entered the same plea to a larceny charge Dec. 16, 1940.

A former Pontiac Police Reserve Member, Smothers was nominated for the trial board by District 4 Commissioner Winford E. Bottom, and appointed Sept. 11, 1961.

He was also appointed to the Pontiac Civic Improvement Committee on the nomination of Commissioner Bottom.

'New Wing for Courthouse Is Must'

No doubt about it, a new wing at the County Courthouse is needed now and will be needed desperately by 1965," according to Dr. Louis L. Friedland, who is the county's space utilization consultant.

"Finally, we must not for a moment forget that militant communism remains committed to the destruction of our society," Taylor summarized the joint chiefs' doubts this way:

RAISES DOUBTS
"It is the judgment of the Joint Chiefs that, if adequate safeguards are established, the risk inherent in this treaty can be accepted in order to seek the important gains which may be achieved through a stabilization carry some weight with the County Board of Supervisors.

As the county's governing body, it has sought Dr. Friedland's advice on space needs here on numerous occasions over the past 10 years.

Most recently, the board has paid him $1,300 for an overall study of the county's space requirements. His subsequent report is in the hands of the board's chairman, Delos Hamlin, and has yet to be released.

AGREE ON NEED
The County Board of Auditors and several supervisors on the ways and means and buildings and grounds committees already have agreed on the need for another courthouse wing.

But Ways and Means Chairman David Levinson has said there is no money available for the wing's construction.

Robert Lilly, auditor's secretary-member, estimated the proposed two-story wing would cost $1.5 million.

This would equal the price the county paid for the west wing which was recently added to the courthouse to contain administrative offices formerly downtown at 1 Lafayette.

It would provide more space for growing Circuit Court operations. At present, there is space for 100 circuit courts; the county will have seven Circuit Court judgeships when two appointments are made to the bench in September.

The board of supervisors has agreed to house the seventh judge and his staff temporarily in the new courthouse auditorium now nearing completion.

According to Friedland, if no other funds are available to construct a north wing, the establishment of a building authority will be necessary.

The authority would serve as the county's landlord, financing the cost of construction and leasing the new facilities to the county.

Friedland said that under the proper arrangement, the county would purchase the new facilities through leasing terms, probably over 10 years.

"The day-of-pay-as-you-go financing of new county construction cannot hope to keep up with the increasing population's needs," claimed Friedland.

Many older supervisors who are used to this method of paying have labeled leasing of space as "defiant spending" against the county's final ownership property.

Labor Dispute Back in Court

A 14-month-old labor dispute between the Pontiac School Board and the United Skilled Maintenance Trades Employees (USMT) is back on the Circuit Court docket as a result of a motion for a rehearing filed in behalf of the union.

The original complaint which asked that a declaratory judgment be issued compelling the school board to further negotiate a 1962 wage dispute, was dismissed last month by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams.

He said at that time that the court had no jurisdiction over the matter, since "the plaintiffs have not exhausted their administrative rights."

According to Judge Adams, the union failed to notify the Michigan Labor-Mediation Board, which was called into the dispute, that the school board had allegedly refused to bargain in good faith.

The dispute erupted over a wage dispute in June 1962 nor write.

Electric Eyes Sort Cherries

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Electronic eyes are being used to sort cherries.

Two "eyes" are used, one for each side of the cherry, in a new method on trial in the industry. They sort 3,500 cherries a minute.

The equipment also is being tried in other cherry states. Canners are determining whether it's more economical to buy the devices—at $8,000 each—or rent them.

Bar Permit Suspended, Age Checker Hampered

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The license of a suburban tavern to sell 3.2 beer has been suspended for 90 days by Colorado Secretary of State Byron Anderson because its waitress was given the responsibility of checking identity cards to determine if patrons were 18 years old or over.

The waitress testified at a hearing Tuesday she can neither read nor write.

Disputes Growing

Paris-Bonn Pact Collapsing?

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (AP)—The six-month-old French-German alliance is taking a heavy beating.

Many Frenchmen are asking seriously if much of it is left at all.

The treaty was signed at the Elysee Palace here on June 22 by President Charles de Gaulle of France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. It was sealed by a kiss between Europe's two "grand old men."

Its aim was to end centuries of bloodshed between the two nations that had been pinpointed by history as the "traditional enemies" of Western Europe. In place of fighting each other in wars to work together in future as close allies.

But the ink was hardly dry on their signatures when de Gaulle began to find the treaty was not everything he had hoped for.

Adenauer made no secret of the fact that he did not support de Gaulle's veto against Great Britain's admission into the European Common Market.

Then the West Germans refused to bow to de Gaulle's demands that they should bring their farm prices down to the level of those in France to make possible an agreement on a joint agricultural policy for the Common Market.

The farm-price dispute still simmers between the two allies.

West Germany plumped enthusiastically for President Kennedy's plan for an integrated multinational nuclear force inside the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). De Gaulle flatly rejected it.

When Kennedy visited West Germany and West Berlin in June, he received an overwhelmingly spontaneous ovation from the German people that made de Gaulle's visit to Bonn soon afterward something of a letdown.

Then the Germans refused to cooperate with the French in production of a European tank. Instead, they agreed to a joint tank development program with the United States.

Last weekend, Adenauer punched still another hole in what was to have been his solid policy front with de Gaulle. He decided to sign the Moscow nuclear test-ban pact, although de Gaulle has refused to do so and had urged him not to.

The French press, which never was wholehearted in backing the French-German alliance, spotted the new letdown.

The right wing Aurore warned that France now is "isolated in the heart of Europe." The liberal Combat said in a front-page headline "Germany's Adherence to the Moscow Treaty Completes the Isolation of France."

The conservative Le Figaro noted glumly that, whenever it is a question of choosing between the United States and France, the West Germans will not hesitate to side with Washington.

"What is to become of the Franco-German treaty of cooperation?" Le Figaro asked.

It certainly is not the same treaty it was billed to be when it was signed Jan. 22, Le Figaro added.

Meets an Emergency With Red Cross Aid

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Julia Farrell, aged 10½, had heard that the Red Cross first aid station at McMillen Park was for emergencies. So she headed straight for it when she met with an emergency of her own.

Mrs. Walter Ehrman, in charge of volunteers for the station, took the "accident" immediately. As Julia sat covered with an army blanket Mrs. Ehrman sewed up the big rip in the youngster's bright red shorts.

New Lutheran Minister Hopes to Build Orion Twp. Church

ORION TOWNSHIP — A tall, smiling man wearing the black suit of a Lutheran minister is determined to build a church here. But first he must build up a congregation.

Rev. James L. Wallace moved to 3846 Hi-Yield last week, coming from a parsonage on New York's Staten Island he served as assistant pastor at the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Rev. Wallace brought his wife Jenny and their 4-year-old daughter Judy with him.

When he arrived, he found a rented parsonage, a field and a lot of homes.

The 34-year-old minister has moved into his new house and now has his eye on the front doors of area homes, and the four-acre field on Lapeer road, here, about one mile south of Clarkston Road.

"The first step in organizing the congregation will be a house-to-house survey," he said. Rev. Wallace said this will be followed by meetings of interested persons, discussion groups and the formation of a planning committee to prepare for the first worship service.

The minister plans to begin his doorbell ringing Saturday. Probably one of the first things he will explain is that he was assigned to this area by the board of American missions of the Lutheran Church in America.

If the man or woman Rev. Wallace is speaking with asks him about his background, he will say he graduated from Wittenberg University in 1958 and Hamma Divinity School in 1961. Both institutions are in Springfield, Ohio.

After that he pursued two years of postgraduate research at Union Theological Seminary, New York City, in the field of psychiatry and religion.

SPONSORED BY U. S. His studies there were sponsored by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Before entering the ministry, Rev. Wallace served in the U.S. Navy and worked as a social worker in a children's center. For the past two years he has been at the Staten Island church.

Now he's on his own. He no longer has the little parish on Staten Island. But he does have his family and a rented parsonage. He also has a field he can look at, and he can picture it occupied by a new Lutheran church, filled to the brim with parishioners.

Saturday he starts changing that dream into reality.

FLINT HOTEL FIRE Has 3rd Victim

FLINT (UPI)—The fire, which swept through the Adams Hotel Sunday claimed its third victim last night when Mrs. Alice Everett, 84, died at Hurley Hospital.

The woman had been pulled from the burning building by fireman Jack Johnson, 22. He remained in serious condition at Hurley with first-degree burns on his head and back.

Johnson also pulled out Fred Whitby, 83. Whitby died Sunday night.

The third victim was Charles F. Torrey, 88, Torrey, blind since birth, had spent some six hours in his hotel room while the building's walls collapsed around him.

When he was found in his room, the water from the hoses of the firemen had reached a height of 18 inches.

One man was still unaccounted for in the blaze which destroyed the 60-year-old structure. He was John Walters of Detroit. The fire marshal's office said it was believed that Walters was not in the hotel at the time of the fire.

OXFORD—The Village Council last night adopted a mutual aid agreement with the Addison Township Fire Department.

Although the village's department and Addison Township's have assisted each other, no formal contract had been adopted, Village President Allen E. Valentine said today.

The council also voted to place radio alerting units in the homes of volunteer firemen in both completed over a three-year period.

Site Hunt Stalls Oxford Project

Sewage Plant Faces Topography Problem

OXFORD — The Village Council "will probably have to apply for another extension" of its deadline for submission of a sewage plan to the Housing and Home Finance Agency, Village President Allen E. Valentine said today.

If approved as expected, this will be the village's third extension.

Main reason for the delay is difficulty in finding an adequate site for the treatment plant. Chief problem is Topography.

Presently the council is considering the purchase of the Steward Drainer farm, east of town and adjacent to the Oxford Township Cemetery.

On Sept. 11, representatives of the village's engineers, Johnson & Anderson, Inc., of Waterford Township, will meet to examine the site with village councilmen, county officials and a representative of the State Health Department.

If the site is acceptable for the spray irrigation treatment plant, planning of the $825,000 system can continue, said Valentine.

Financing of the project will be either through the county, or by the village in the form of general obligation and revenue bonds.

There is still a possibility of federal aid for the project, but the village shouldn't count on it, according to Valentine.

Area Family Caught on Disabled Craft

WOOD CREEK FARMS — The Wilfred J. McGuire and their two children, 30203 Overdale, spent a harrowing four hours afloat on wind-tossed Lake Huron last night.

Their stricken 52-foot ketch, the Mary Malden, was towed into Port Huron by a U. S. Coast Guard lifeboat about 1:30 this morning. It had lost its propeller.

McGuire, his wife and their two sons, Larry, 14, and James, 13, were unharmed although they complained of seasickness.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Lyon Twp. Schools in Space Deadlock

LYON TOWNSHIP — Presented with another alternative plan, board of education members here remain deadlocked over possible solutions to their classroom space problems.

Principal Gerald Hartman, working with an architect from O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach of Birmingham, devised additions and changes which would allow the high school to handle its anticipated enrollment for the next five years.

The plan, however, would not take junior high students out of the elementary buildings nor eliminate the use of the annex on West Liberty.

Board members continued to disagree about whether the seventh-room annex should be considered usable or kept in reserve for possible overflow from other buildings.

In the meantime, they awarded a contract for the remodeling of the heating plant at the building to meet fire code regulations.

Successful bidder was Hargrave Brothers, Inc., of Wayne, with a low bid of $2,407.

The board also decided that use of the two classrooms and playground in the kindergarten building on West Liberty did not warrant a $4,000 expenditure for repairs.

The work would be necessary to conform to the fire code if the building were to be used.

The school district has borrowed $125,000 against anticipated state aid from the National Bank of Detroit at a 2.23 per cent interest rate.

Combine Most Wheat, Oats

Weather Conditions Cited in Macomb

In Macomb County, almost all the wheat and oats are combined, William J. Collins, county dairy agent, stated today.

Due to weather conditions, the oats were ready for combining the same time as wheat, Collins said.

The wheat yields have been reported as above average with little evidence of shrivelled kernels. The oat yields are about average but with quality above average.

The oats are plump and well-filled.

The corn is in need of another rain. The last general rain in mid-July saved what might have been a near crop failure. Most corn responded well and is all tassled, but not as tall as last year.

Second cutting hay was very short with many dairymen using it as pasture or for green chop. There will be very little third cutting, according to Collins.

Most pastures are dry, weedy and not much more than an exercise lot.

All beans are in blossom — with many fields starting to set seed at this time, the agent said.

ORION TOWNSHIP — A seven-member planning commission will be appointed here in about 60 days as a result of action taken by the Township Board last night.

The board unanimously approved establishment of the commission, members of which will be appointed by Township Supervisor John Lessiter, subject to approval of the board.

Should township electors desire an election on the question of a planning commission, they may attain one by petitioning within the 60-day period.

The five-member zoning board will continue to serve the township.

AVON TOWNSHIP — White, gladioli and ferns graced the altar of Immanuel Congregational Church, Oxford, for the recent wedding of Karen Eva Koonce and Victor Evan Quigley.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Koonce, 1890 June and the Henry L. Quigleys, 1010 Lake, Oxford Township.

A sequins etched the scoop neckline of the floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and net chosen by the bride for her wedding.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations with ivy accents.

Airline Travel High for Year

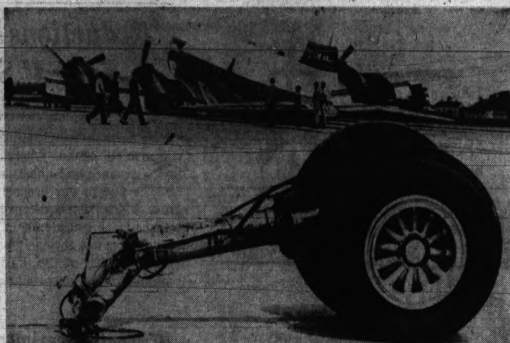

Highest number of passengers for any month this year, 45, departed from Pontiac Municipal Airport during July, reports North Central Airlines.

But this was still under the 49 outbound passengers the same month last year. The inbound passengers, total, 33, was sharply under last year's 61.

June patronage totaled 39 persons departing and 30 incoming.

Cargo lists show outbound flights carried 1,652 pounds of air mail, 1,573 pounds of air freight and 296 pounds of air express. This amounted to about 500 more pounds of mail and 700 pounds of freight than in June.

Inbound flights brought 5,537 pounds of air freight and 437 pounds of mail. This is an improvement over June when 4,426 pounds of air freight were unloaded.

BELLY LANDING—The landing gear of a Delta Air Lines DC-6 collapsed on landing at Indianapolis Municipal Airport yesterday. The four-engine plane skidded to a stop without injury to 20 passengers or five crewmen.

On Oct. 18, teachers from Macomb and Oakland counties will attend small group meetings in their respective areas. Teaching methods and techniques will be discussed at the group meetings.

Dr. King will talk at the Oct. 17 Cobo Hall meeting. He will discuss "A World in Transition." Agronsky will discuss "World Crisis and the United States."

Building Permits in Waterford Hit $780,528 in July

Waterford Township's building department issued 136 building permits during July at an estimated valuation of $780,528.

This compares to a valuation of $683,121 on 140 permits issued during July 1962.

During the past month, 32 permits for houses were issued at a valuation of $565,770, in contrast to 33 housing permits during July last year at a valuation of $528,310.

Valuation of building permits issued the first seven months of this year is $4,590,372 compared to $4,463,439 for the comparable period a year ago.

Did City Hall Hassle Cool 'Renewal' Bids?

Civic leaders and urban renewal authorities last week experienced keen disappointment over indifference to the program as indicated by lack of bidders for project land available for development.

Only one bid was received, and even its validity was questionable, as not in conformity with renewal specifications for the area.

A local official said that there had been at least a half-dozen developers interested and eager to bid on the land, but at the last minute had changed their minds. They indicated another approach to acquisition of the land might be taken.

It would probably be idle to speculate on what deterrent effect the turmoil currently enveloping City Hall may have had on potential investors in Pontiac's future.

But it is an incontrovertible fact that one of the enticements for investment capital is the promise of orderly and responsible government of the area where funds are to be committed.

Does the elected governing body of Pontiac offer such promise?

In a recent statement, Mayor ROBERT A. LANDRY said: "The redevelopment program for Pontiac is right on schedule. . . . But more than this, we are pledged to accelerate it. . . ."

"Any interference by anybody in local policy matters must be measured in years of delay for the much-needed redevelopment of the new City of Pontiac."

If the investor apathy we have just seen is a measure of the progress reported by the mayor, it would seem that "interference" in local policy is not only sadly needed but long overdue.

Estes Kefauver

In the sudden and untimely death of Sen. ESTES KEFAUVER of Tennessee, his state and the Nation lose a conscientious legislator dedicated to the weal of the people of America.

He had served on Capitol Hill since 1939 and was serving his third term in the Senate.

The Senator first claimed the national spotlight with his conduct of Senate investigations into national crime and underworld ramifications.

He was an unsuccessful bidder for the Democratic Presidential nomination in both 1952 and 1956. Since then his political prominence had somewhat declined.

Of unimpeachable character, Sen. Kefauver lent stature to the Upper House, and his loss leaves a void not easily filled.

We express our sorrow over the passing of a good American with the merited approbation that he well fulfilled his mortal destiny.

Think Your Car Burns Too Much Gasoline?

Motorists who wheel up to gasoline pumps and jauntily tell attendants to "fill 'er up" might ponder a few statistics related to today's jet airliners.

One of them consumes 18,000 gallons of fuel each 8-hour day. A typical jet flying from New York to Miami, a 145-minute trip, will burn about 5,000 gallons.

A like quantity of gasoline would last an average passenger car about seven years.

Currently, commercial jets use more than 3-billion gallons of fuel annually. By 1970, the yearly consumption is expected to hit 4.5-billion gallons.

Which reminds us to have our carburetor checked — seems as though we're using an awful lot of gas lately.

N-Treaty Debate Just a Preview

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—World disarmament won't be one step nearer when the Senate finally votes its expected approval of a limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

A test ban — important as an opening to better relations with Russia — is a minor episode compared with disarmament.

Under this treaty, the United States and Russia will retain their full supply of nuclear bombs, enough to devastate the earth.

They will go on testing underground to develop more weapons. The treaty simply bans tests in the atmosphere, outer space and in the oceans.

President Kennedy said, Monday, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, said this treaty will continue underground tests. One was fired Monday.

The present debate over the wisdom of the test treaty is an insight into the debate ahead if this country ever considers a disarmament treaty.

Disarmament seems unlikely in this generation, at least, no matter how much clamor smaller nations make about it.

The United States, despite its expressed concern over the years about disarmament, would probably be the last to agree to it. There are several reasons.

One of the most obvious is the failure of the United States and Russia this time to ban underground tests.

WANT INSPECTION This country feels confident it can detect tests above ground but not under. To prevent cheating, it wants an inspection system.

That would mean putting American inspectors in Russia and Russian inspectors in American territory, or international inspectors in both.

The Russians complain inspection is spying. They wouldn't agree. Without inspectors, the United States wouldn't agree to ban underground tests.

If the United States and Russia agreed to disarmament — even more difficult inspection problem — the Senate would hardly approve without a check.

The check would have to be constant. Then there's the problem of nuclear weapons. Disarmament without abolishing nuclear weapons wouldn't mean much.

But the United States and Russia have nuclear weapons coming out of their ears. Would the Senate ever feel sure Russia was not hiding some?

MORE MEN

There's another problem: numbers. The Russians and Red China have far more manpower than the West and could put more armies in the field.

But nuclear weapons can destroy more territory and kill more people than all the armies. American nuclear weapons balance off Communist armies.

But if nuclear weapons were abolished by this country, the odds would be reversed any time the Communists wanted to break a disarmament treaty and rebuild their armies.

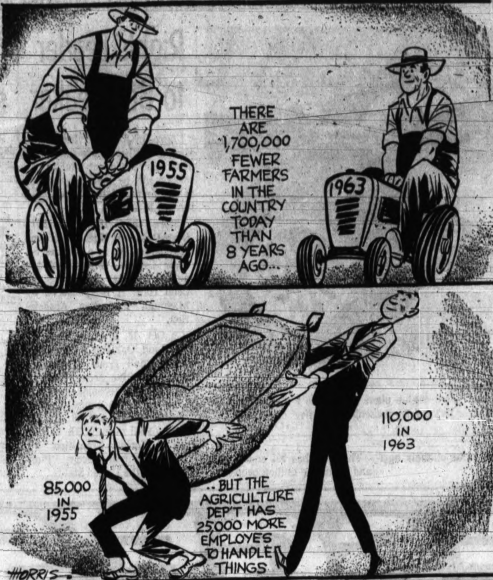

The tendency since the war, in considering disarmament, has been to think in terms of the United States and Russia.

Russia's relations with Red China have become wretched. The time might come when Russia would trust the United States enough to disarm.

But could it trust the Red Chinese? And would it dare to disarm unless the Chinese did, too?

But the Chinese insist that war with the West is inevitable, that capitalism won't surrender peacefully, and therefore the West must be overwhelmed.

Appears To Be Another Farm Surplus

Treaty 'Victory' Masks Real Loss

WASHINGTON—Because of a superficial acceptance of the emotional cry that world peace is a step nearer by reason of the treaty limiting nuclear tests, Nikita Khrushchev and his Communist government are getting applause in many parts of the world, including this country.

The dispatches from abroad give the impression that some kind of major step has been taken in LAWRENCE the cause of humanity. Many Americans also have been led to believe this, since President Kennedy has called the treaty a "victory for mankind."

But the real news is to be found in the fragmentary disclosures of what goes on inside the totalitarian government in Moscow. A dispatch last Saturday night escaped general attention.

But it contains the key to what's going on behind the Iron Curtain and tells more about the danger of war than do the hackneyed phrases of the treaty on nuclear testing.

The dispatch says: "The Soviet Union took the first concrete step toward a planned reform of information media today by setting up a state committee for the press with a little-known Communist official at its head."

"The plan to tighten control over Russian newspapers and publishing houses has been in the works for several months. It was formally announced during the ideology conference of the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee in June."

"The announcement of the new state committee was made in two paragraphs in the government newspaper, 'Izvestia,' edited by Premier Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei."

"The June central committee meeting on ideology described the Russian press, radio, television and cinema as the assault forces of the ideological front."

"Under the reform plans, Moscow's 30 national and local newspapers were expected to be cut down sharply with the liquidation of specialized newspapers."

"But the 'Izvestia' announcement gave no indication whether this plan would be carried out."

"It so happens that state committee of the press would concern itself with raising the ideological content of Soviet newspapers and inculcating Russian leaders with Marxist-Leninist philosophy."

"The reform plan, however, was expected to be carried out by the process of concentrated control of all communications media throughout the Soviet Union."

Thus, a nation of 200 million people, as well as the peoples in the other Communist-held countries in Eastern Europe, will not only continue to be deprived of much of the news of the world but will be given heavy doses of Communist ideology every day in a massive "brainwashing" of the public.

With only one political party permitted to have names on the ballot and with elections more or less perfunctory affairs, the dictatorship which holds sway in Moscow can at any moment persuade the people that the West is planning a war, that it is aggressive and may launch a surprise attack, and that hence the duty of the Soviets is to strike the "first blow."

Bob Considine Says:

Reporter Must Draw Line on VIP's Right to Privacy

NEW YORK—Sometimes a fellow in the reporting business comes down with the melancholy feeling that he is part vulture.

In an effort to shake off the ouch he tends to look among his peers and superiors and say to himself, "Well, at least you know where to draw the line on this question of intruding (or prying) upon a public figure's right to privacy."

A good public figure's right, that is.

Throughout his whole grueling ordeal last week President Kennedy was trailed (and sometimes preceded) by half a hundred reporters, cameramen and wireless people regularly assigned around the White House.

To this group was added the media people from other areas through which his saddened path lay, and a number of foreign newsmen and broadcasters.

I am scarcely alone in this, but there were many times during the President's ordeal when I felt it was an obscenity to be around him. There can be something basically morbid about a news sense.

At its lowest forms it decomposes into unfounded gossip and whispered scandal. But in its highest flights it is surely associated with the public weal.

Most of the great reforms and many of the projects that set this nation aside from all others sprang from diligent-reporting, vigorous editorializing and the miracle of communications.

There must be a point, in reporting and picture taking, when a fellow simply backs away and saves his words or his film for another day.

That seemed particularly apparent the other day when most of us hung doggedly outside the pale green barracks-type building at Otis Air Force Base, Mass., waiting for the President to emerge.

He had flown to Mrs. Kennedy's bedside after seeing their son die in a monstrous 15-ton iron lung in Boston.

We had no right to be there, but we stayed and stayed until Pierre Salinger came out and said we'd better hurry to the press bus and whip off to Hyannis because he was giving an important "briefing" over there in exactly five minutes.

It was a plot to clear the area so the President could come out and get into his car without the flash of bulbs and the flashing strokes of a pencil jotting down the key words of a character sketch.

But most of us were happy to accept Pierre's deception.

Nobody wanted to leave on his own for fear of what "they" might say—"they" being an office that doesn't like to be scooped and "they" being a public that "has a right to know."

Once again the White House has knuckled under to the unions' intransigence on the railroads. The President's announcement that he will seek legislation referring the 4-year-old dispute over featherbedding to the Interstate Commerce Commission would postpone indefinitely—and perhaps forever—the elimination of uneconomic train jobs that push the carriers a half-billion dollars closer to bankruptcy every year.

The ICC has no special competence in this field. Its members cannot be expected to appraise the complex issues of work rules and manning practices with anything like the expertise of the able Presidential commission that submitted its recommendations for speeding up manpower waste nearly 18 months ago. President Kennedy made that report an exercise of futility by walking away from it on the very day it was presented. He knew the unions would reject it.

Since then the railroads have said "yes" and the brotherhoods have said "no" both to the peace plan put forward by a Presidential emergency board under the railway labor act. Faced with the choice between a national rail strike and the necessity for forcing a slowdown through legislation, President Kennedy retreats into another time-wasting study.

Residents Show Interest in City Matters

I marvel at the interesting things on the front page of The Press. What appeared to be a routine appointment last week's commission meeting has turned out to be another move by the Big Six to gain a stronger control of Pontiac's Police Department.

I heard Commissioner Kirby praise the reputation and character of John F. Leonard. I cannot recall meeting that newly-appointed member of the Police Trial Board has a record of 19 traffic offenses—it is the last 9 years! Nor do I remember any mention of the fact that Leonard was Commissioner Kirby's campaign manager. Perhaps Kirby felt that the one offset the other.

I oppose the appointment of perpetual violators to positions where they judge the enforcers of that law. One can be sure that John F. Leonard has no intention of enlarging his record during his term in office!

Those who for years have lived on Washington Street (near Central High) remember when it was one of the quietest streets. Politically naive, perhaps, we cannot state categorically as you did: "Police Chief Joseph Koren is an experienced and capable official." Nor can we make the sudden jump, as you did in the same editorial: "The J's (Jeers)—illegal hot-rodder races on city streets."

We on Washington Street expect an enterprising merchant to be selling checked flags for residents who are just as terrified of contemptuous, scowling youth as "experienced and capable" officials.

Congratulations on your recent coverage of the sports-car races at Waterford Hill. I am a member of the Oakland County Sportsman's Road Race Club, which sponsors the events at Waterford.

It would be unfortunate if such activities are not allowed to continue. The income from these races is put to work for the betterment of the community.

There are people who would end all this. They complain of the noise from the cars. This noise is no worse than the noise from motorboats on nearby lakes.

Once again the White House has knuckled under to the unions' intransigence on the railroads. The President's announcement that he will seek legislation referring the 4-year-old dispute over featherbedding to the Interstate Commerce Commission would postpone indefinitely—and perhaps forever—the elimination of uneconomic train jobs that push the carriers a half-billion dollars closer to bankruptcy every year.

The ICC has no special competence in this field. Its members cannot be expected to appraise the complex issues of work rules and manning practices with anything like the expertise of the able Presidential commission that submitted its recommendations for speeding up manpower waste nearly 18 months ago. President Kennedy made that report an exercise of futility by walking away from it on the very day it was presented. He knew the unions would reject it.

Since then the railroads have said "yes" and the brotherhoods have said "no" both to the peace plan put forward by a Presidential emergency board under the railway labor act. Faced with the choice between a national rail strike and the necessity for forcing a slowdown through legislation, President Kennedy retreats into another time-wasting study.

The world may easily guess what great joy it meant for the people of Japan, the first nation to suffer from the atomic bombs during the war and the only country that actually had to bear the sacrifice of these monster tests. The pact, as seen, is surprisingly flexible as the escape clauses show. To make it functional, the cooperation of the world is requested. It is wished especially, that other nations interested in the development of these weapons would follow the spirit of the Moscow Conference which without doubt the right direction for tomorrow's world.

Federal Crime Busters Have Gangland 'On the Run'

(Editor's Note — The disclosure that a convicted gangland executioner is "on the run" has focused new attention on the Justice Department's Criminal Division, which is directing the war against the underworld. In the following dispatch, the head of the division discusses its progress.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As long as the good guys are giving the bad guys their jumps in the war against organized crime.

"There's no doubt about it," said Assistant Atty. Gen. Herbert J. Miller Jr. "The mobs are hurting."

As head of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, 38-year-old Jack Miller is the federal government's field general in the fight to smash the power of nationwide crime syndicates.

He knows better than others that the fight is very far from won, and he is not indulging in premature victory celebrations. But he also knows that the feds are going after big-time criminals these days with unprecedented vigor and determination. And he says it's paying off.

"We've got them on the run," Miller said in an interview with United Press International. "If we can keep the pressure on for another five or six years, we may break the back of this monster."

FORMER LAWYER

Miller is an amiable, quiet-spoken Republican lawyer from Minneapolis. He was in private law practice with a distinguished Washington firm when Atty. Gen.

Robert F. Kennedy asked him in early 1961 to take charge of the Criminal Division.

At that time, Miller knew no more about organized crime than the average citizen. He'd read fantastic stories about his multi-million-dollar annual take from gambling, narcotics and other rackets, and about the mysterious "Mafia" which was supposed to coordinate the whole enterprise.

But he was inclined, as many citizens still are, to treat it as a myth.

"But it's not a myth," he said with the dogged emphasis of a man who is telling the truth but expects to be disbelieved.

"The lurid stories in the press don't exaggerate — if anything they underestimate — the scope of the underworld operation, the degree to which it seeks to bribe and corrupt law enforcement officers and public officials, the ruthlessness with which it employs murder and other forms of violence to protect its vast sources of income and silence witnesses."

Even the "myth" about the Mafia has turned out to be true, he said.

The revelations of Joseph Valachi, imprisoned gangland executioner who decided to talk, have given federal officials a wealth of inside information about the sinister organization whose very existence was previously questioned by some investigators.

Valachi not only confirmed its existence: He told just how it operates, and named more than 100 of its top figures.

Valachi's long song was a "terrific break" for the Criminal Division's new intelligence unit, Miller said.

The intelligence unit was organized two years ago to bring together in one place all of the information about crime and criminals available to the 26 different federal agencies which have law enforcement responsibilities.

The government had never before had such a "CIA for crime," and Miller has found it "extremely helpful".

The unit now has dossiers on the activities of about 1,200 major racketeering figures, he said.

NEW FEDERAL LAWS

Also of major importance in the stepped-up fight against crime, Miller said, is the new legislation enacted by Congress in 1961 which makes it a federal crime to send gambling information or paraphernalia across state lines, or to travel in interstate commerce in support of racketeering.

These laws have given the Federal Bureau of Investigation a legal license to go after big-time gambling, which long has been the number-one source of income for the crime syndicates.

"The FBI is now going after organized crime the way it went after the Communist party," said Miller.

The result has been a sharp drop in gambling activity, he said. In many areas, would-be betters are having "real trouble finding a bookie."

Miller also paid tribute to the Treasury Department's Bureau of Narcotics, which has smashed two major narcotics rings and several smaller operations during the past two years.

"The Narcotics Bureau is really racking them up, and this hits at the syndicates' second biggest source of income," Miller said.

FIGHT ORGANIZERS

Coordinating the whole attack, and waging a special fight of its own against corrupt public officials who have been bribed by the underworld, is the organized crime section of the Justice Department, headed by William Hunsley.

This GHQ for the war against crime has been strengthened with a lot of new manpower. It had 17 attorneys when Kennedy became attorney general, and now has more than 60.

Among them are many bright, tough-minded young racket-busters who have demonstrated their ability in D.A.'s offices across the country. Its stepped-up activity is reflected in statistics showing an increase of 700 per cent in prosecutions, and a 400 per cent increase in convictions, since 1960.

Also cooperating in the fight against big-time crime are such agencies as the Internal Revenue Service, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, the Customs Bureau, the Secret Service, postal inspectors and the Bureau of Labor-Management Reports.

In the past, relations between the various federal law enforcement agencies were marked by mutual suspicion and rivalry, and at times it was hard to tell whether they devoted more energy to fighting racketeers or to fighting one another.

Miller said that is not true today.

"We're all working together on the same team now," he said. "All of the agencies are cooperating, and we're beginning to make real headway."

Japan is the world's foremost ship exporter. Its shipbuilding for other countries in 1962 reached 1,017,876 gross tons, worth $230 million dollars.

In the fall of 1961, in the United States, there were 37.8 degree-credit students per 100 persons aged 18-21, as compared with only 14.2 in 1939.

Nearly a Mile of Passages

Hospital Served by Tunnels

By GARY THORNE
A unique and vital system of tunnels is concealed by the sprawling, multistory buildings that make up Pontiac State Hospital.

Resembling eerie passages of some ancient castle, the tunnels actually play an essential role in daily operation of the hospital.

Nearly a mile (4,400 feet) of tunnels crisscross underneath the 85-year-old institution, according to Gerald A. Bax, hospital business executive.

Bax described the tunnels, which are made of poured concrete, as "utility" and "service" tunnels.

The 3,200-foot-long utility tunnels are used exclusively by hospital employees. Located 13 feet below ground, the utility tunnels run parallel to the service passageways.

They house the various electrical lines, water pipes and air ducts. Bax said the unique tunnels make this equipment easily accessible for repairs.

He pointed out that the utility tunnels, in addition to running under the main buildings, also run under the seven outlying cottages and the chapel.

DATE TO 1877

Bax visualized that it must have taken a huge crew to hand dig the tunnels back in 1877, when the original Eastern Insane Asylum was built.

He said the service tunnels which follow the corridors of the first floor, run under the main hospital building.

Roughly 1,200 feet long, those ways serve a variety of functions.

When built in 1877, the tunnels featured a miniature railroad track. This was the hospital's main means of distributing food to the wards.

Wooden carts, containing buckets and trays of food, were pushed through the tunnels to dumbwaiters where the food was raised to the various wards.

Although the tracks were removed in 1940, heated carts are still pushed to the dumbwaiters and then raised to the wards.

TRACKS REMOVED

The tracks, according to Bax, were torn up in 1940 when a central kitchen and dining hall was built. However, he said, some food still must go to the individual wards where some patients are unable to go to the dining area.

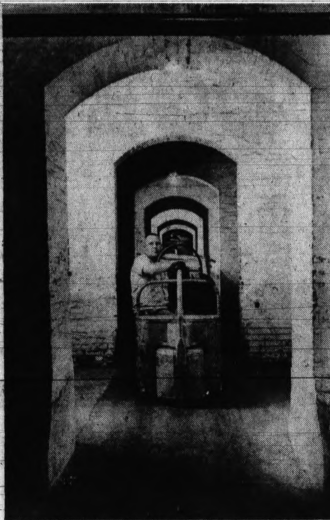

In addition, the tunnels are used to transport laundry to the wards from the laundry building. Patients also use the tunnels to move from building to building, especially during bad weather.

Patients using the tunnels are closely supervised, Bax said, and normally only groups go through. He said all doors into the tunnels are locked.

Bax said the tunnels would serve as fallout shelters in the event of an enemy attack. He said water, survival food and other civil defense supplies are stored there.

The tunnels serve one other essential purpose, according to Bax. He said they form the foundation for the building.

"There weren't any steel girders back in those days," he added.

HOSPITAL TUNNELS — Raleigh Whitman, 36 Belmont, a Pontiac State Hospital employee, pulls a train of laundry carts through a narrow section of tunnels at the hospital. The laundry train, like the heated food carts, can move from one section of the hospital to another through the ancient tunnels. This relieves congestion in the hospital corridors and gives employees like Whitman a quiet ride more than 13-feet below ground level.

Proposal Would Cut Five County Races

By JIM DYGERT

Adoption of a proposal to give county officers an extra two years on their terms would subtract five contests from the 1994 political wars in Oakland County. But it could add some life to one or two others.

For those Oakland County officials who have ambitions for higher posts, it would be a handy time for them to run. They could do so safely, knowing they'd still have their old jobs if they lost.

Extending the terms of county officials has been recommended by a legislative committee drafting proposals for scheduling elections under the new state constitution. The idea is to begin the new four-year county terms in a nonpresidential year cycle.

Five Republican Oakland County officials who were re-elected last fall would get a campaign breather in 1984.

News Analysis

But, escaping a 1964 campaign may not be what three of them have in mind.

OTHER INTERESTS

Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy, Prosecutor George F. Taylor, and Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry are known to be considering other campaigns such as for Congress.

Taylor also has expressed interest in running for Circuit Court or the new state appellate court created by the constitution.

Taylor could be less hesitant to take on a formidable opponent like State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, who may run for appellate court.

The same would be true of all three if running for Congress were to mean opposing Republican incumbent William S. Broomfield in the August primary.

Broomfield has yet to say whether he will seek re-election in the new 19th District or for appellate court.

Teacher Gets Hung Up by Pair in Phone Booth

CUDLEIGH, England (UPI) — Schoolteacher Jack Denyer, asking the Town Council to put a stop to petting by teen-agers in the village telephone booths, said yesterday he came upon a couple one night who refused to listen to his advice.

"I spoke to the girl and told her to stop. She told me to go away and said she was enjoying herself," the 53-year-old Denyer said.

the reduced-in-size 18th. The GOP strength is about 60 per cent in each, but many think the 19th will stay Republican longer.

Broomfield's 18th, now county-wide, will be reduced to the county's southeast corner bounded by 26-Mile Road (South Boulevard) and Inkster Road when the redistricting takes effect Sept. 6. The rest of the county will be in the 19th with Livingston County.

Murphy, the only county official to say publicly he's looking for advancement, has also been the only person to say he will run in the 19th regardless of Broomfield's choice.

OTHER POSSIBILITIES

Other Republican possibilities — including Roberts; Taylor; Barry; GOP State Central Committee member James Dickerson of Birmingham; Royal Oak Mayor William Hayward; John A. (Jack) Gibbs of Royal Oak, executive assistant to the GOP state chairman, and possibly Huntington Woods Mayor David R. Calhoun — have been waiting for Broomfield's selection before making their own.

Having their terms extended could produce more willingness in Taylor and Barry to give it a try, Broomfield or no Broomfield. This is especially true for Barry, whose drain commissioner post may become extinct when the county adopts home rule under the new constitution as it hopes to.

It might mean nothing to Murphy, however. The clerk-register has said the right county post at the right salary could change his mind about running.

That would be over-all supervision of county business in a job leading to a county manager's position.

Murphy may be close to such a job. Influential members of the County Board of Supervisors are reportedly planning to give it to him in the form of the County Board of Auditors chairmanship.

Ask Tuition for Guards

DETROIT (U) — The Detroit House of Correction Commission decided yesterday to ask Common Council for money to help custodial guards through sociology courses at Wayne State University. The commission says it will ask the city to pay half the $40 tuition with the individual guards paying the rest.

Training Plan Improves Skills

Troy Firm's Program Leads Detroit Area

A federal program designed to upgrade worker skills and train new employees has begun this week at the AMT Corp. of Troy.

Set up under the Manpower Development and Training Act, (MDTA), the AMT program is the first of its kind in the entire Detroit metropolitan area.

In all, some 62 persons will receive on-the-job training at the company's 125 E. Maple plant. Forty-seven already employed by AMT will receive training to upgrade their skill capacity. Fifteen will be taken from the ranks of the unemployed.

The latter will be chosen by the company from candidates screened by the Michigan Employment and Security Commission.

Under MDTA, the federal government pays for the cost of training, including resultant clerical costs, less the amount gained by the company through the use of the trainees in the production of commercial goods.

Paul Kram, AMT's director of engineering, termed the company's pioneer entrance into the program "a springboard for expansion."

"Basically, from our viewpoint it's a question of solidifying our work force as a base for growth," he said.

Road Toll Hits 1,025

EAST LANSING (U) — Traffic accidents have killed 1,025 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll at this date last year was 906.

Wayne Prof Tells Reasons Why Many Move to Suburbs

The great outdoors, racial homogeneity and social status seeking are the reasons behind the move to the suburbs, according to Wayne University Professor Mel J. Ravitz.

Ravitz, a Detroit city councilman, spoke yesterday at a suburban living and development of the urban community at Oakland University.

He addressed the second-day session of the five-day Institute on Intergroup Relations.

Explaining the rapid growth of suburbia since World War II, he said suburbia contains many treasured American values. These include cleanliness, openness, light, airiness, grassiness and general spaciousness.

The Detroit councilman said two other values, racial homogeneity and social status seeking, have prompted Americans to move to the suburbs.

He said Detroit's population in 1960 contained 29 per cent Negro residents, while the surrounding suburbs had only 2.5 per cent, which was concentrated in about six suburbs.

SOUGHT REFUGE

Dr. Ravitz pointed out that as Negro residents increased and moved out of overcrowded, inferior areas, many whites sought refuge in the suburbs.

Suburban living also attracts status seekers, according to the Wayne State University often has the newest-designed houses with the fanciest-sounding subdivision names.

He pointed out that even to-day a Grosse Pointe address is deemed a social asset, and a Bloomfield Hills address is currently the rage.

"In America," he added, "it seems, one's social standing can in part at least be measured by the distance one lives from his place of work."

Dr. Ravitz said most suburbs are not well-planned. In fact, he said, several suburbs are already in need of some form of urban renewal treatment.

He said it appeared that land developers sought to squeeze as many housing units as possible onto the land.

MORE PRONOUNCED

Noting the racially homogeneity of suburbs, Dr. Ravitz said segregation becomes more pronounced as disadvantaged Negroes from the South move north into the core city, and while middle-class residents move into the suburbs.

Not only is the suburb apt to be racially and class segregated, but it is also apt to be religiously segregated as well. There are whole suburbs where one religious faith predominates, he said.

The Detroit official advised suburbanites that "their own solvency" rests on a fair proportionate return from a state-collected income tax.

He mentioned that a thorough state fiscal reform would ease the burdens of both urban and suburban residents.

And what of the future? Dr. Ravitz predicted some form of metropolitan government to relate the suburbs to the central city. He expected to see more and more inter-city structures.

Detroit Official Expects Bitter Civil Rights Battle

Detroit Councilman Mel J. Ravitz, co-sponsor of a controversial open occupancy ordinance, expects a bitter legal and political struggle over civil rights provisions in Michigan's new constitution.

Ravitz, a professor at Wayne State University, spoke yesterday at an Institute on Intergroup Relations at Oakland University.

The institute is sponsored by the OU Division of Continuing Education and the Michigan region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

STRONG LAW

Ravitz pointed to a recent opinion by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, saying if Kelley's interpretation stood, Michigan could have one of the strongest civil rights laws in the United States.

Kelley said that Michigan's civil rights commission, which will be created under the new constitution, will have the power to halt discrimination in the sale or renting of private housing.

The attorney general further stated that the grant of power in the constitution carries with it by implication the authority to do all things necessary and appropriate to accomplish the purpose intended by the people.

Ravitz said the new civil rights commission would be a self-executing agency and the legislature would be required by the new constitution to support it with funds.

He said the commission would be the key to the success of civil rights provisions in the constitution, and these, in effect, would give open occupancy in the entire state.

Algerian Quits Assembly Post

Charges Ben Bella Is Headed for Fascism

ALGIERS (UPI) — Algerian elder statesman Ferhat Abbas resigned today as president of the new nation's National Assembly and charged that Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's regime was "swinging in the direction of fascism."

"We are not yet a police state," the 64-year-old former druggist and veteran revolutionary said in his letter of resignation, "but if great care is not taken we will very soon become one."

Abbas, a leading revolutionary here for 20 years and a symbol of Algeria's fight for independence, was the latest and most important of the founders of this nation to turn against Ben Bella.

He was the head of Algeria's first provisional government, set up in the independence days, and a long-time leader of the National Liberation Front (FLN).

Abbas' letter was accompanied by an 11-page document entitled, "Why I do not agree with the constitution project established by the government and the national liberation front political bureau."

Abbas criticized the recently-drafted constitution which provides for only one political party. "Such a system will turn the representatives of the people into mere robots, opportunists and couriers," Abbas said. Abbas' resignation removed the last powerful critic of Ben Bella from a place of prominence in the government of Algeria, which gained independence from France 13 months ago.

Privately Financed School Plan Devised for Negro Children

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A privately financed program to provide free education for Prince Edward County's Negro children, who have had no schools since 1960, has been worked out by government officials and Negro leaders Tuesday.

Prince Edward closed all public schools in 1959 after a federal court ordered that they be integrated. The schools have been closed ever since. White children attend private schools.

There were indications that a biracial board of trustees would operate the program with funds provided by one or more foundations and possibly from individual contributors.

Vets Plan Convention

DETROIT (U)—The annual national convention of the Veterans of World War I will be held in Cobo Hall Sept. 22-25. The convention is expected to attract 13,000 members.

Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. was expected to announce details of the plan at a news conference today.

Arrangements for educating the children were completed after conferences among federal, state and county officials and Negro leaders Tuesday.

Prince Edward closed all public schools in 1959 after a federal court ordered that they be integrated. The schools have been closed ever since. White children attend private schools.

There were indications that a biracial board of trustees would operate the program with funds provided by one or more foundations and possibly from individual contributors.

First purpose of the program, beginning this fall, would be remedial training for the hundreds of Negro children who have had no formal education in four years.

Tuesday's conferences stemmed from Monday's ruling by the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals. The court reversed a District Court order that would have required re-opening of the schools and barred use of tuition grants and tax credits for private segregated schools.

PLAN APPEAL

The appellate court said the federal courts should take no further action until the Virginia Supreme Court rules on issues involving state law. These issues may be decided in October.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs said they would appeal the Circuit Court decision to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Nonetheless, it appeared that Prince Edward would have no public schools for a fifth straight year. This was believed to have been a major factor in Tuesday's conferences.

Harrison met with former Gov. Colgate W. Darden, William Vandenberg, special assistant to U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and lawyers for the county school board and board of supervisors.

Attending the other session were the Rev. L. Francis Griffin, state NAACP president; W. Lester Banks, state NAACP executive secretary; and the Rev. Healy M. Lee of Richmond, executive secretary of the Virginia Council of Human Relations.

The Department of the Interior was the seventh division of the executive department of the United States. It dates back to its establishment by an act of Congress in 1848.

Tennessee Man Guilty of 2nd-Degree Murder

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — James Bolton, 56, a convicted murderer originally from Tennessee, was found guilty of second-degree murder yesterday in a one-day jury trial before acting Superior Judge Stuart Hofius.

Bolton, Brushy Point, Tenn., was arrested April 19 for the shotgun slaying of Archie Moten, 44, during an argument over ownership of a pistol. He claimed self defense, saying the victim pulled a knife on him.

Republican Fights Dems on State Education Board

LANSING (U) — James O'Neill, the new Republican member of the State Board of Education, scored a few points but lost more than he won yesterday when he attempted to carry on a feud with Democratic board members started by Gov. George Romney.

Romney and the board had some angry exchanges when the former all-Democratic group refused to give the governor the contents of an unfavorable report on Eastern Michigan University. The board finally relented on the issue. O'Neill, from Livonia, is the only Republican member of the board. Democrats on the board are Mrs. Cornelia Robinson of Kalamazoo, Frank Hartman of Flint and Lynn Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction.

The board meeting was mainly concerned with the Eastern Michigan issue but also went far afield. O'Neill lost when he proposed a progress report on board activity be made to the public by Nov. 1. He asked that it include a report on progress at Eastern Michigan, in Ypsilanti, recently censured by the Northern Central Association (NCA), accrediting body for the school.

The NCA report criticized the administration at Eastern Michigan and said goals of the school were uncertain. The board also voted to replace Dr. Eugene Elliott, University President.

"Are you trying to keep on Dr. Elliott?" asked Hartman.

"Not at all," O'Neill replied. "I'm just trying to bring out all the facts."

MAJORITY OPPOSED

The majority of the board was opposed to a proposal by O'Neill to submit to the university faculty council "a list of inadequacies" found at the school.

Bartlett said some of the allegations against the school came from faculty members themselves.

"I see no point in worrying about the past," said Mrs. Robinson. "Let's go on to the future."

O'Neill said he thought the board also should issue a statement as to its policies on governing the four universities and other schools under its control.

Board members said such a policy already exists.

The board did agree that the Council of State College Presidents should draw up policy statements for all the schools in the state. The Governor's Committee on Higher Education also is working on a similar project, board members said.

The national school lunch program served 2.5 billion lunches last year to 15 million children in 65,000 schools.

JFK's 'Inflated' Foreign Aid Request Getting Knife

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

the current fiscal year.

WASHINGTON — An unusually violent revolt against foreign aid spending, now raging behind closed doors, presages an unprecedented slash of up to $2 billion by the House Appropriations Committee, in the President's $4,525,325,000 request.

RUTH MONTGOMERY would almost have the amount JFK claims is "essential" to operate the Agency for International Development (AID) during Subcommittee Chairman Otto Passman, a long-time critic of foreign aid, told this columnist: "Anything over $3.5 billion would be a complete and colossal waste."

The administration's request is even more inflated than in any previous year since I've been handling this appropriation bill."

Passman is by no means alone in his determination to make history's most drastic cut in foreign aid funds.

Rep. William E. Minshall (R-Ohio), a member of the subcommittee, said: "I've never before seen such determination to trim this agency down to size? Members are finally becoming appalled by the tremendous waste and extravagance in the program, and they're also getting the word from back home."

Minshall, appointed to a special task force to investigate the administration's request for $1.5 billion for India's Bokaro steel plant, predicted that the committee will deny funds for that "socialistic" purpose, and also for Red-oriented Indonesia.

"Frankly, the committee sees no gains against communism despite the billions of dollars we've spent to share up the free world, and some of these areas are showing signs of going under to the Reds," Minshall said.

"We're finally getting fed up with this colossal expenditure, and so are the voters back home. I think we'll appropriate less than $3 billion this year."

Last year, President Kennedy requested just under $5 billion for foreign aid. Congress authorized the spending of $4.7 billion, but the House Appropriations Committee reduced that amount to $3.6 billion, and Congress ultimately settled on $3.9 billion.

HOUSE TO VOTE
The House expects to vote next week on this year's authorization bill, which cuts JFK's request over $400,000, to $4,087 billion.

Since the Senate traditionally restores some of the House cuts, the appropriations committee will probably be lacking a figure somewhere between that and the presidential request of $4,525 billion.

Chairman Passman, the Louisiana Democrat who has long been the terror of foreign aid officials, said of JFK's request: "It's far in excess of anything needed. We've found that $7 billion worth of unexpected foreign aid is already in the pipeline, and there's over a half-billion dollars of un-obligated funds which they couldn't even use last year.

"They have created an uncontrolled and uncontrollable monstrosity. It is begging to be brought under control, and that's just what we intend to do."

"Our balance of payments position is worsening all the time, our gold is vanishing and our national debt is increasing, while they expect us to finance the world."

Passman pointed out that the dollar, worth 100 per cent in 1940, now has a purchasing power of only 44 cents.

"If we continue this colossal foreign giveaway program," he added grimly, "the dollar will be worth a quarter in another five years. What better gift could we give the Communists, than the repudiation of our own dollar?"

Detroit Industrialist Buys Whittier Hotel

DETROIT (UPI)—A Detroit industrialist yesterday announced the purchase of the Whittier Hotel for a reported $3 million. Ivar Quarnstrom also announced a $1.5 million renovation for the riverfront hotel which will begin immediately.

Quarnstrom, 68, bought the hotel from the Stahl Real Estate Co. of New York.

Total N-Ban Backed

TOKYO (AP)—North Korean Premier Kim Il-sun has told Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai that he "fully supports" Pe-king's proposal for a total ban on nuclear tests, Pyongyang radio reported today in a radio broadcast heard in Tokyo.

Malted Milk Heir, William Sidley, Succumbs at 50

CHICAGO (UPI)—William Horlick Sidley, 50, heir to the Horlick Malted Milk fortune, was found dead yesterday in the apartment of his secretary.

His secretary, Mrs. Elaine Mauterer, 43, named in a divorce suit filed by Sidley's wife, said she found Sidley on the floor of her home early yesterday. An empty bottle of sleeping pills was nearby.

Mrs. Sidley said her husband had securities and property valued at $2 million which he inherited from his mother, Mrs. Mabella Horlick Sidley, who died in 1938.

Mrs. Sidley and her husband reached agreement on a property settlement last April. Their divorce suit was pending.

FROZEN CRAB SALAD—Liquid tabasco pepper seasons this elegant salad of crab, celery, red or green pepper, onion and carrot frozen in a rich mixture of cream cheese, mayonnaise and whipped cream.

Frozen Crab Mixture

Liquid Pepper Flavors Salad

What more elegant dish to set before special luncheon guests than this Frozen Tabasco Crab Salad! It's ideal for a cooling entree on a hot summer's noon, and while its composition is really quite quick and simple, the result will give guests the impression you've spent hours in its preparation.

Tender crab meat, is blended with chopped celery, onion, and red or green pepper, and shredded carrot in a rich mixture of cream cheese, mayonnaise and whipped cream. The only seasoning needed to enhance the delicacy of these good foods is a bit of salt and the pungent spice of Tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning.

P. S. This is the special salad treat to serve on those days when you feel like turning your back on the calorie charts—just this once!

Frozen Tabasco Crab Salad
2 packages (3 ounces each) cream cheese
1 cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon Tabasco
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 cups crab meat
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped pepper
½ cup shredded carrot
1 tablespoon chopped onion
Soften cream cheese; blend with mayonnaise, Tabasco and salt. Fold in heavy cream. Blend in crab, celery, pepper, carrot and onion.

Pour into two freezer trays; freeze until solid, about 6 to 8 hours. Remove from freezer; let stand at room temperature about 15 minutes before slicing. Serve on lettuce leaves. Yield: 8 servings.

Seasonings Cover
Pork Roast at Night

This fine way to season pork comes from a Florida cook.

Minnie's Roast Pork
5-pound pork loin
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon oregano
1 or 2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons lime juice
Have chops on roast slit about one-third of the way down. Place roast in a dish. Mix together the salt, pepper, oregano and garlic; with a small spatula rub mixture over pork including slit sections. Sprinkle lime juice over seasoned meat.

Cover tightly and refrigerate overnight. Roast on a rack in a roasting pan in a slow (325 degrees) oven until meat thermometer registers 185 degrees, 35 to 40 minutes per pound.

Tuna Fruit Salad
Delicate tuna in vegetable oil goes into memorable Monterey Salad. Blend together ¼ cup real mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon ginger, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, and 3 tablespoons finely cut chutney. Add dressing to 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil, 1 cup diced celery, 1 peeled and sliced avocado, and 2 oranges cut into sections. Toss lightly to blend and serve on salad greens.

You can substitute strips of cooked corned beef for the ham traditionally called for in a chef's salad.

For dinner on the patio or in the backyard, feature piping hot Herb Corn Bread or Pineapple Patio Dessert. Macaroons make special treats for anything from a lemonade stand to a boating excursion!

Herb Corn Bread
One 10-oz. pkg. corn bread mix
1 egg, unbeaten
½ cup milk

Mix corn bread in bag with egg and milk according to package directions. Bake in special pan contained in package in preheated hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 20 minutes.

Open corner folds of pan. Cut into 6 pieces; split each horizontally. Brush hot corn bread with Herb Butter made by combining ½ cup melted butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon oregano, ¼ teaspoon marjoram and a dash of garlic powder. Makes 6 servings.

Pineapple Patio Dessert
One 10½-oz. pkg. coffee cake mix
1 egg, unbeaten
½ cup milk

Pineapple Sauce
One 13½-oz. can pineapple tidbits ½ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cut-up maraschino cherries

Mix coffee cake in bag with egg and milk according to package directions.

Squeeze bag to empty batter into special pan contained in package. (Do not grease pan.) Sprinkle topping contained in smaller bag evenly over batter. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) about 25 minutes.

For sauce, drain tidbits, reserving liquid. Combine reserved liquid, orange juice and cornstarch in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Stir in tidbits and cherries; heat thoroughly.

Open corner folds of coffee cake pan; cut into 6 pieces. Spoon topping over warm pieces. Sprinkle with coconut. Makes 8 servings.

Macaroons

1 cup butter or margarine, soft
1 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups Life cereal
2 cups oats, quick or old-fashioned, uncooked
½ cup flaked or shredded coconut
¾ cup chopped nuts

Beat butter until creamy; beat in sugars gradually. Add egg and vanilla; beat until fluffy. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add to creamed mixture; mix well. Stir in remaining ingredients.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 6 dozen cookies.

Marinate Leftover Beef for Hearty Salad

Where does leftover beef go in the summertime? Why, into the most refreshing kind of a main dish... a meat salad, of course!

Meat salads keep both you and your kitchen cool and calm while providing your family with a completely satisfying entree. The meat supplies the high-quality protein so necessary every day, whether the weather outside is 19 degrees or 90 degrees.

When the temperature soars, you'll enjoy this particularly appealing and hearty salad prepared from cooked beef. It's all made without the aid of your range.

If you haven't the cooked potatoes and green beans in your refrigerator, you can simply use canned items.

Reba Staggs, meat authority offers a few tips on meat care. Refrigerate leftover meats promptly, and store them tightly covered. They should be used within 3 days.

Hearty Beef Salad
2 cups diced cooked beef
½ cup French dressing
¼ cup diced cooked potatoes
¼ cup cooked green beans
¼ cup coarsely grated carrots
¼ cup chopped sweet pickle
2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
4 to 6 lettuce cups
Pour French dressing over beef cubes and chill 1 hour or longer. Chill remaining ingredients. Combine beef-French dressing mixture, carrots, potatoes, green beans, pickles and hard-cooked eggs. Add mayonnaise or salad dressing and mix lightly. Serve in lettuce cups. 4 to 6 servings.

Fill Avocados

Menu-planning can be smooth sailing when you fill California avocado half-shells with slices of cubes of other fresh summer fruits. Serve with a variety of dressings: French, mayonnaise, sour cream.

Ever add a little molasses to hard sauce for steamed pudding?

If It Is Passed

Here's What Tax Bill Would Do for You

(Editor's Note—The tax bill now being shaped by the House Ways and Means Committee is of broad-and-better interest to every American who pays taxes. Although a long road to enactment lies ahead, the measure has advanced far enough to examine its dollars and cents meaning to you.)

WASHINGTON (U)—The tax bill is moving well enough along in Congress to have a look now at what it would do for you—or to you.

But before getting to the fine points, the big picture should be made crystal clear: as things stand now, the measure would cut your tax payments.

True, the tax bill has a long way to go before it reaches President Kennedy's desk. The House Ways and Means Committee has lots of work still to do on the measure. Then it has to clear the House Rules Committee, face the full House and travel over to the Senate for another round of hearings and floor action. There it may run into a filibuster on civil rights.

This being understood, let's have a look at the tax bill as it stands now and see what it means to you if the measure in its present form wins approval.

CUT FOR ALL
If you pay any taxes at all, you'll be paying less. You would have to have a most peculiarly constructed income not to get some benefit from an across the board slash of tax rates, even though the package also includes some tax-raising features.

The Treasury puts the average rate cut, for taxpayers with taxable incomes through $50,000, at 15 1/2 per cent. This picture is painted with a broad brush and applies to the rate changes when they would be complete. Jan. 1, 1965. Take it as a rough guide if you like—but no more than that.

Some guidelines can be plotted, subject to possible change. Among them are these, all applying to the complete revision planned for 1965 and subsequent years:

—If your income is either very high or very low, you would do better proportionately in the reductions than the man in the middle.

The Treasury says a typical taxpayer, if there is such a creature, married and with two children, earning $4,000, would save $100, about 11 per cent of his present tax bill.

His counterpart in the $10,000 class would save $302, or 16.9 per cent.

SHARP RISE

For taxable incomes above $100,000, the savings would rise sharply. The new top rate would be 70 per cent from $100,000 up. The present top goes to 91 per cent at $200,000.

—If you have been in the habit of itemizing your deductions and claiming the amount paid in state gasoline taxes, a bit of your benefits would be nibbled away. Local gasoline, liquor and tobacco taxes would no longer be deductible, although income taxes still would be.

—And if you dent old trusty fender, you would not be able to claim the whole repair bill as a casualty loss, only the amount over $100 for each mishap to car or other property.

—If you have considerable income from dividends, one change the Treasury wants made would nick your over-all tax gain. This would be repeal of the 4 per cent tax credit, a considerable offset to the tax benefit of many higher-income taxpayers. There may be a compromise that would minimize the effect on smaller dividend recipients.

—But if you are thinking of selling some stocks, real estate, or other property you have held at least two years and on which there will be a profit, you're in luck. You would only have to include 40 per cent, instead of 50 per cent, of such capital gains in your taxable income. And if you're in a high bracket, your top capital gains tax would be only 21 per cent, instead of 25.

—One or two cautions: if you are in the business of building or buying real estate, taking maximum depreciation and selling in a few years to take the most advantage of capital gains—you face stiffened rules. And if in the future you inherit property on which gains have accumulated, you would encounter somewhat tighter tax treatment.

—If you are an author who sells a book to the movies, or an actor who lands in a hit after a series of lean years, or for some other reason your income shoots up more than a third, catapulting you into a higher tax bracket—you would have relief. The new law would provide a way of taxing the extra income as though it were spread out over five years.

—On fringe benefits, the changes would have an uneven effect. If you get sick and your employer continues your pay, you would get a special deduction for only after a month, instead of the present rule of a week.

—But if you have moving expenses in connection with a job, you may get a better break. The rules would be liberalized in some details.

—If your employer buys a big group life insurance policy for you, you might be taxed on part of the value of the premium as income. But you don't have to worry about this unless the employer's contribution alone buys more than $30,000 coverage for you.

—If you are an executive benefiting from a stock option plan, look for a tightening of the regulations. An important change would require you to hold option stock for at least three years if you want to enjoy the benefits of capital gains tax.

—If you are 65 or older, the new law would give you at least two specific benefits. Your purchases of medicines would be fully deductible, without regard to the present 1 per cent of income floor. And if you sold your home, you would get capital gains tax consideration on any increase in value, even if you did not buy a new house. There would be no tax on gains if the house sold for no more than $20,000, and there would be a reduced tax if it brought more.

Polaris Succeeds in 22nd Test Firing

CAPE CANAVERAL (U)—The advanced long-range Polaris missile was fired from here last night, the 22nd in the AS series and the 13th success in its research and development program.

The AS is designed to have a maximum range of 2,875 miles, but the most recent flight traveled 1,800 miles due to its heavy burden of on-board instrumentation.

It was the ninth straight success for the solid fuel missile, which will have its first under water firing in October from the nuclear submarine Andrew Jackson.

'Old Feller' Buried Today

NORTH HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Funeral service was to be held today for Clem Bevans, 83, who gained fame with his motion picture portrayals of the wily "Old Feller". He died Sunday.

Born in Cosville, Ohio, Bevans began his theatrical career at 16 and came to Hollywood shortly after the advent of talkies. He always portrayed old men, even when he was a young man.

He was the spry old man, peering over steel-rimmed spectacles with quizzical eyes, in hundreds of motion pictures and later on television.

By Team Effort

Exec's Life Is Saved

FRANKFORT (UPI)—The life of a retired food company executive was saved yesterday by a team effort of Michigan State Police and Dr. Ellsworth Klahr.

The condition of Buell Bedford, 57, Dunkirk, N.Y., was "much improved" today, according to Dr. Klahr, following the emergency shipments of the drug, paragonen, from Grand Rapids and Detroit.

"The patient was suffering from a liver ailment and he would surely have died without that drug," Klahr said.

Bedford is retired from Kraft Food Co. and has a summer cottage on Crystal Lake in Benzie County. He became sick last week and was taken to Paul Oliver Hospital here.

LIVER MALFUNCTION
Klahr later diagnosed Bedford's trouble and said it was a malfunction of the liver which wouldn't clot the blood of the patient.

Klahr put out a call for the drug and two grams were found in a Grand Rapids hospital. The drug was administered, but it didn't appear to be enough so additional calls went out.

Time passed and it was discovered that a drug company in Detroit had additional quantities.

A plane rushed the drug to Clark, where a state police car picked it up and relayed it to Oliver Hospital. The drug was given to Bedford and he began to improve rapidly.

"It was a team effort that saved the life of Bedford," Klahr said.

Bone Obstruction Fatal

SWINDON, England (UPI)—Mrs. Olive Baldwin, 64, died 10 days after a chicken bone became lodged in her throat because X rays failed to discover it, the coroner said yesterday.

Ford Plans Addition to Rawsonville Plant

DEARBORN (AP)—Ford Motor Co. said yesterday it will construct a 54,000-square-foot addition to its Rawsonville manufacturing plant near Ypsilanti.

The Rawsonville plant, now occupying 829,729 square feet of floor space, employs more than 3,700 people in the production of carburetors, instrument clusters and gages, small electric motors and other parts.

WELL-GROOMED SCOUTS — Ron Edwards, 15, left, of 2825 Otsego, Waterford Township, began each day's activities at the World Boy Scout Jamboree in Greece by shaving. His companions are John M. Bolt of Perth, Scotland, and James C. Arke of Chicago. Ron, a member of Troop 5, is one of nine Michigan scouts who attended the jamboree each day Sunday. He will return Aug. 22 after visiting Venice, Geneva and London.

Waterford Jaycee Project

Seek Planning Data in Survey

Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce members will launch a massive information-gathering campaign tomorrow aimed at providing data for future township planning.

The Community Attitude Survey, comprised of 35 questions, seeks opinions and criticism from the citizenry in addition to basic information on housing, buying habits, recreational activities and employment, among others.

Information obtained from the questionnaires will be evaluated by the township's planning consulting firm, Parkins, Rogers & Associates.

Results of the evaluation, due by mid-September, will be utilized by the township planning department and the consulting firm in a two-year community planning study now in progress.

The $65,000 study, which began seven months ago, is being conducted under the "701" Urban Planning Assistance Program, financed mainly by federal funds.

Township Planning Director Robert C. Dieball has divided the township into 31 census areas for the survey.

Jaycees, working alone and in teams, will drop off questionnaires at every fifth residence in the township this week. The survey forms will be picked up Aug. 22 and then be referred to the planning consultants.

Each census taker will wear an identification badge and cars used in the survey will be designated by signs.

Survey forms need not be signed. They will be identified only by a census area code, according to Dieball.

Dieball said the census of nearly 3,000 of the township's 14,000 residents should provide an adequate sampling of information and desires of the people to aid in future planning.

"The '701' Program encourages citizen participation," Dieball said.

The Jaycees provided a similar community service last November when they canvassed the township, observing for potential recreation areas, areas blighted, or tending that way and intersections that posed traffic problems.

Information gathered in that effort was utilized in preparing some questions in the present survey.

Symposium Reveals Findings

Home Planet Mighty Strange

LOS ANGELES — Mother Earth has some mysterious tidbits.

Daily land tides lift the ground as much as half a yard, but they are not as high in Asia as elsewhere.

The position of the geographic North Pole may be drifting south at the rate of three feet in 10 years. The earth's rotation seems to vary a few thousandths of a second a day, fast in some years, slow in others.

Today's continents might once have been a big ball of land that drifted apart, but scientists are not sure whether continents are still footloose.

BEGUN IN 1957

These insights into man's home planet were described this week at a symposium summarizing results of studies begun or expanded during the International Geophysical Year in 1957-58 and since continued. The IGY was a cooperative effort among scientists in 66 nations to learn more about the earth, oceans, sun and space.

The IGY meeting, held at UCLA, was sponsored by the National Academy of Sciences.

Eighty observing stations throughout the world now are measuring the earth tides which are caused by gravitational pull of the moon and the sun, said Dr. Paul Melchior, of the Royal Observatory of Belgium in Brussels. Each station uses gravimeters and horizontal pendulums set in deep rocks, usually within mines.

One tide occurs twice a day, another once a day. You don't feel the roller-coaster effect because each wave lifts so much of the earth at a time.

REGIONAL DIFFERENCES

There are curious regional differences. The tidal waves are smaller on the Asian continent than they are in Europe or America. Differences in composition of the earth's upper mantle, the region below the thin crust, may be the explanation, Dr. Melchior said.

There are systematic changes in the daily tide, perhaps due to oscillations or swirlings in the earth's core of molten metal, he added.

IGY analysis of latitude observations made since 1900 indicated the geographic North Pole may have wandered about 20 feet south since then, down the meridian of 60 degrees west longitude, said Dr. William Markowitz of the U.S. Naval Observatory in Washington, D.C.

Atomic clocks now permit far superior measurements of tiny changes in the speed of the earth's rotation. These observations indicate that the changes build up slowly.

They show that the moon is gradually braking the earth's speed, making each day a trifle longer.

Adventures Await Girl Scouts at Camp Sherwood

"Canoeing" is for only the older leaders. It involves balancing on opposite ends of a canoe and making it hop across the water. Younger girl scouts gather around the lake at Camp Sherwood and watch with envy as the older girls demonstrate their skill and coordination.

after given a small kitten to play with. This is a sure cure for nearly all the girls.

"Burned just right" says Barbara Wolff of Rochester as she examines a grilled cheese sandwich. Cooking out of doors is but one of the many adventures awaiting at Camp Sherwood.

Mulligan stew, girl scout style, simmers on an outdoor grill awaiting the hungry adventurers. Activities at Camp Sherwood include hiking, games, singing and camping out overnight for the older and more experienced girls.

Is It Okay to Entertain on Ship?

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My fiancé and I are going to be married in October at 11 o'clock in the morning. We plan to go to Europe on our honeymoon.

The boat sails at four in the afternoon. Instead of having the usual reception following the ceremony, we thought it would be nice to have our friends and relatives come to the boat to see us off and have wedding cake and champagne on board ship.

Will you please tell me if this would be in order?

A: It would be quite proper, but unless you have taken something corresponding in size to the ship's "Royal" suite, you will not be able to crowd more than a dozen people into even a large first-class stateroom.

And don't forget to bring your own ice champagne with you as none can be had from the ship's bar until it leaves port.

Q: I have just bought my wedding dress. It is very beautiful and, I think, quite different. I do not want anyone to see it before the day of the wedding.

However, I'm sure that some of my relatives and friends will ask to see it. Would it be rude to refuse to show it to them and how can I do this most tactfully?

A: Be perfectly frank and say that you don't want anyone to see it until the wedding. This is not at all unusual and no one should take offense.

Area Students Tour Europe With Choral

Cheryl Montgomery, daughter of the Thomas Montgomerys of Cameron Street, is one of 70 high school seniors and June graduates completing a European tour with the Michigan Youth Choral. She is the only Pontiac student.

Others in the area participating in the concert tour are Linda Weston, Claudia Kesler, Marilyn Mitchell and Jere Stone of Birmingham; Bonnie Mitchell and John Slinker of Union Lake; Michael Pandure of Oxford; and Pamela Capaldi, John Elliot and Sharon Hohnke of Rochester.

Under leadership of Lester McCoy of Ann Arbor, the group began its tour with two weeks in England. Thirteen concerts were sung to capacity crowds in addition to television appearances on the British Broadcasting Company.

After arriving in Finland July 14, the group spent a week in Helsinki. Concerts were given at the Linnanmaki Amusement Park, as well as a special concert for the president of Finland. Cheryl was congratulated by the president for her solo.

Between July 22-30, the Choral toured Southern Finland by bus, singing in towns along the Russian border.

During the last two weeks of their tour, the Choral will sing in Sweden and Denmark. Concerts are scheduled in Stockholm and Odense, Denmark.

The group will fly home from Amsterdam, Holland, on Aug. 15, and will hold a homecoming concert in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, on Sept. 1.

Fellas Will Clap for These: New Gowns Dip, Drop, Cling

NEW YORK, (UPI)—Peek-a-boo gowns — touched off by an eye-catching triangular "window" exposing the tummy — were displayed by designer James Galanos yesterday in his fall and winter collection.

In addition to the expanse of bare midriff in clinging evening dresses, the collection featured low-cut fronts and exposed backs and shoulders.

The dresses to cheer girl watchers were made of cloque, wool and velvet.

The West Coast designer, member of the Coty Hall of Fashion Fame, also advanced a Russian sable jump suit for the woman who has everything.

Fringe, top and bottom, also figured in the collection. The top fringe was in the form of evening hats made of ostrich feathers and other downy stuff. The fringe at bottom — ostrich again — circled hems of a series of evening tunic dresses.

Suits in the collection had two-third length coats with a tunic or tiered back — sometimes loose, sometimes belted. These topped skirts and blouses in muted colors, including a lot of black and brown.

Galanos also introduced the suit coat over subtly shaped dresses body — accenting slightly in front and falling straight in back.

He favored the modified chemise for day dresses and showed it most often in black. Another dress shape, shirt coat dresses, man-tailored and with sashes to gently mark a dropped waistline.

The Galanos tunic — back coats continued into dinner and evening costumes.

Shown over black wool dresses — long — sleeved — these were made of brocade, striped velvet, milk wool; fleece and cloque.

For evening or at-home clothes, Galanos offered long wool dinner skirts with hand-knit tops. He leaned to black and made the skirts slim.

Also advanced for evening was the full-length dinner shirt with fly or button front. This silhouette came in black and muted shades of brown and blue.

Paullette-Jedele Vows Spoken

Janet Marie Jedele pledged vows recently to Robert Royal Paullette in the First Presbyterian Church, Niles. Rev. John MacLachlan officiated at the candlelight vows.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Jedele of Niles and the Royal E. Paullettes of Birmingham. The bride appeared in a sheath of silk peau with detachable — chapel — train and carried a colonial bouquet of daisies.

She was attended by honor maid Ann Mould of Niles and bridesmaids Kathleen Fike, Ann Arbor; Betty Paullette, sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. David Hartsig of Detroit. Junior bridesmaid was Gail Culp of Niles.

The bridegroom asked his uncle Chandler Robbins of Cape Cod, Mass., to serve as best man. Seating the guests were Richard Reynolds, Timothy Burton of Flint, Thomas Jedele, the bride's brother, and Ray Borota of Dearborn.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column recently from a woman who thought that the practice of parakeets flying over the dinner table at meal time was unsanitary. And you agreed with her!

Abby, I thought you were supposed to be a pretty hep gal. Haven't you ever heard of Parakeet Diapers? They are made of washable jersey and come in three sizes, small, medium and large.

ABBY

They will not hamper birds in flight and are designed with a comfortable halter neck so the birds can't lose them. This is no gag, and I don't sell them. But I've bought them.

FRED IN ALBANY

DEAR ABBY: Now I've heard everything! I don't sell them either, but I'll bet a lot of readers would like to know who does.

DEAR ABBY: This may not seem very important to you, but I want to know how to follow through on something that has bothered me for a long time.

I am considered a good-looking young man, but my ears stand out, away from my head, to a very noticeable degree.

I have read that some movie actors have been operated on to have this defect corrected. Is it dangerous? Is it expensive? And where can I get an operation of this kind?

DUMBO

DEAR DUMBO: Surgery is always "dangerous" unless performed by an expert. I don't know how "expensive" it is, but you can get all the information you want by asking your family doctor to refer you to a plastic surgeon.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has always been quite well-to-do. Our daughter wanted to marry a 27-year-old man of whom we did not approve.

She was too young to marry without our consent, and we forbade her to do so. The day she became of age they went to City Hall and were married.

We told her we never wanted to see her again. We got our wish. It has been nine years since we have seen her.

And we have never seen our two grandchildren. We never realized that in making such a threat we would be the ones to pay.

Please print this for parents who might be tempted to keep apart two people who really love each other.

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: Are you saying that parents should set aside their better judgment when an under-age daughter announces she wants to marry?

True, you shouldn't have said you never wanted to see her again. That was your mistake. Not forbidding your daughter to marry a man of whom you disapproved. Quit punishing yourself. Make an effort to see your daughter. One of these days she'll realize that she is being foolish, too.

Following a wedding trip to Cape Cod and northern Michigan, the couple will make its home in Ferndale. Both are alumni of the University of Michigan, and he is now attending Wayne State University's College of Medicine.

MRS. ROBERT R. PAULLETTE

Wed recently in the First Presbyterian Church, Niles, were Janet Marie Jedele and Robert Royal Paullette. Parents of the couple are the Paul W. Jedeles of Niles and the Royal E. Paullettes of Birmingham.

Why Don't Teen-Agers Tell the Truth?

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I am writing about something that just happened between me and my 13-
glass in the sink.
When I asked her why she hadn't washed it and put it away, she said, "I thought I might use it again to drink some more milk." Mrs. Lawrence, she was lying.
She just didn't want to wash the glass but left it for me to do. When she lies like this, she gets such a fresh look on her face.

ANSWER: Suppose she'd told you the truth? Suppose she'd said, "I didn't wash that glass because I didn't want to?"
How would you have received that?

Come on, let's not fool around here. We both know how you'd have received it. You'd have attacked it.

You'd either have blown-up and accused her of laziness or impudence or have delivered a complaining lecture on your own superior tidiness. You think she didn't know that? Well, you got the lie.

I wish to goodness that parents could take the truth from children.
I wish that we were all capable of listening to a youngster sap, "I didn't do it because I didn't want to."

But we're not. It upsets us. It makes us so angry that they have to concoct fabrications that will make them appear as conscientious, thoughtful and generally virtuous as we believe ourselves to be.

Do you always want to do everything you're supposed to do?

If so, you're entitled to indignation at a child who doesn't want to do what he's supposed to do.

I'm not. I often don't want to do what I'm supposed to do.
In fact, I often refuse to do it.
So when a child tells me he doesn't want to do what I've expected him to do, I say,
"OK."

I pick up the dirty glass in the sink and wash it myself.
Sometimes, I say, "Why didn't you want to do that?" But usually I don't have to ask the question.

If you think I'm setting myself up here as an example of noble motherhood, you are mistaken.
I pull boners constantly.

But I do work hard at knowing what I want to do and what I don't. When I don't want to cook dinner, I know why.

When I don't want to deliver the living room over to a bunch of youngsters, I know why, too.
My reasons for not wanting to do these things are OK, as far as I am concerned.

I am therefore capable of crediting the young with equally good reasons for not wanting to do what I expect them to do. So we don't get into these hassles.
I'm afraid it's as simple as that.

Pair Weds in Port Huron

A reception in The Village Inn, Point Edward, Ont., followed the recent vows of Margaret Ann Potts and John William Ledlie in St. Joseph Catholic Church, Port Huron. Rev. Jude T. Ellinghausen performed the nuptial ceremony.

Margaret Ann Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Potts, Port Huron, and John William Ledlie, son of Mrs. William Ledlie, Hospital Road, and the late Mr. Ledlie, were wed recently in St. Joseph Catholic Church, Port Huron.

MRS. JOHN WILLIAM LEDLIE

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Potts, Port Huron. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William Ledlie, Hospital Road, and the late Mr. Ledlie.

An heirloom handkerchief of Battenburg lace provided the "traditional" "something old" for the bride, gowned in bouffant white silk organza and rose point pattern French lace.

ROSE HEADPIECE
Her veil of silk illusion fell from a rose headpiece and a white cattleya orchid centered her bouquet of Stephanotis and Ivy.

With Mrs. James Rhadigan of Fenlon, her sister's matron of honor, were bridesmaids Denise Smith, Union Lake; Mrs. William Howitt, Windsor; and Diane Downing, Port Huron.

White shasta daisies complemented their dresses of aquamarine organza over taffeta sheaths.

Best man was Robert Stewart, Birmingham. James Rhadigan, Jack Angott, and Curtis Diver, were ushers.

Poison Caution

Never put poisonous substances in harmless-looking bottles. For example, caustic in a soda pop bottle is an invitation to tragedy—followed by heartbreak.

In Ohio Rites

Miss Lefler Marries

Elder Albert E. Brendel officiated for the marriage of Mary Ellen Lefler to Norman Dale Wilson Sunday in the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, Mount Vernon, Ohio.

The James C. Leflers of Mount Vernon and the Paul E. Wilsons of Palmer Street, parents of the couple, joined them at the reception in Linden Hall of Mount Vernon Academy.

Sequined Chantilly lace accented the bride's bouffant gown of white nylon organza over taffeta, fashioned with chapel sweep. A seed pearl tiara held her illusion veil. She carried a white orchid and gladioli buds.

With maid of honor Brenda Jones, Takoma Park, Md., were bridesmaids Sherrie Beutel, Columbus, Ohio, and Verlaene Wilson. They wore wood violet organza and carried cressets of purple chrysanthemums and lavender asters.

Gayle Wilson, Berrien Springs, was best man. Seating guests were John Vader, Allen Park, with James Lefler, Gary Hiltner and David Wilson.

The couple will honeymoon at Niagara Falls and live in

Pontiac Residents Take Summer Trips

Several members of the local chapter of the Order of Alpha (American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association) are attending the 41st annual national convention in San Diego this week. Delegates are Socrates V. Sekles, Ottawa Drive, and John W. Loizon of Birmingham.

American and Canadian citizens of Greek descent are members of Alpha, with 421 chapters in 49 states and provinces.

The August Johnsons of Franklin Road have returned from a three-week planned tour of Alaska and northwestern Canada.

Mrs. Donald M. Antilla of West Ann Arbor Avenue is presently touring the French and Italian Riviera. She will cruise in the Mediterranean before returning to the States.

Taking turns at the wheel on a 7,000-mile trip to California and back in two weeks, were Charlene Egges, Marston Street, Mrs. Richard Navarre, Lark Street, and Mrs. Jerry Romeos of Ascot Street.

They visited former Pontiac residents USN Chief Warrant Officer and Mrs. Leon Byrd at San Diego, the Stuart and Robert Navarre families and Mrs. Michael Boyd (Judith Williams) en route.

Former Pontiac residents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kantz and family from California were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Howell of Judson Street and Mrs. Howell's sister, Mrs. H. G. Wissinger of North Sanford Street.

The Kantz' are going to England for a year where Mr. Kantz will study at the Royal School of Church music.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Randolph, Thorpe Street, are vacationing in the Bahamas with their son Robert.

Birmingham residents Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Goen are aboard the SS Tadoussac on a Saguenay St. Lawrence River cruise from Montreal.

School Notes Tell Activities of Residents

Victor M. Lindquist of Chipewa Road, director of secondary education, City of Pontiac School District, attended a recent two-week conference at Teachers College, Columbia University.

The conference "Curriculum for Youth, 1963" was attended by 40 educators from 25 states and Chile.

Loyola University has awarded a teaching assistantship to Audrey Gierman of Union Lake.

A recent alumna of the university, she will teach and study mathematics on the Chicago campus.

She was also the recipient of a General Motors scholarship for her undergraduate work at Loyola, where she studied under an honors program.

Theodore Dobski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Dobski of Tilden Avenue, has been honored as the best pledge of the University of Detroit chapter of Sigma Pi, national social fraternity.

He is a junior in the College of Commerce and Finance, majoring in business administration.

Hot Days Call for Ice Cream

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

In today's article we have three unusual ice cream recipes for you. Two of them use ingredients not often associated with dessert and the other makes an ice cream topping that will keep for two weeks.

Tea, as everyone knows, is a beverage. Tea is sometimes used as the base for fruit punch. In the following recipe it's an important ingredient in sherbet.

Serve Minted Tea Sherbet on the hottest day for the coolest eating.

Minted Tea Sherbet

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
2½ cups strong tea*
1 cup sugar
2 sprigs fresh mint

*Can fresh or unfrozen unsweetened lemon juice.

2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

*Allow about 4 regular size tea bags to 2½ cups water and prepare according to package directions.

Turn temperature control of refrigerator to coldest setting. Sprinkle gelatin over cold water to soften.

Thoroughly combine tea and sugar; boil for 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Add sprigs of mint and let steep for 2 minutes. Remove mint. Stir softened gelatin into hot syrup. Chill. Stir in lemon juice.

Fold beaten egg whites into the chilled mixture and pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm. Turn into chilled bowl. Beat until smooth with an electric mixer or rotary beater.

Quickly return mixture to tray; freeze until firm, stirring once. Return temperature control to normal setting. Makes 6 servings.

Angostura Ice Cream

3 eggs
½ cup sugar
1 pint milk
1 pint cream
2 tablespoons Angostura aromatic bitters

Beat eggs, adding sugar gradually. Heat milk and cream to boiling point and gradually add to eggs, stirring well. Put in saucepan and heat slowly, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Do not allow to boil.

If any lumps or scum appear, strain. Let cool. Add Angostura aromatic bitters and stir well.

Pour into 2 ice trays and freeze until mixture is frozen 1-inch from sides of tray. Turn into chilled bowl and quickly beat with electric beater until smooth but not melted.

Return immediately to ice trays and freeze until firm enough to spoon out. Yield: About 8 servings.

Fresh fruit, that perfect summer dessert, tastes even better when it comes to the table capped with Fluffy Ice Cream Topping.

This slightly tangy, smooth-textured sauce can be a bonus for cake or puddings, too; but it is particularly good on fruits.

Fluffy Ice Cream Topping
1 pint vanilla ice cream

¼ cup instant vanilla pudding mix

¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind

4-5 drops yellow food coloring (optional)

Assorted fresh fruits

Whip ice cream until creamy; gradually add pudding mix, beating constantly until well combined. Mix in lemon rind and food coloring, if desired. Place in service dish and chill until ready to serve, or place in a tightly covered container and store in refrigerator. Topping will keep at least two weeks.

Serve over assorted fresh fruits, or a combination of fresh, canned and/or frozen fruits. Makes approximately 2 cups.

Have Sweetbreads Cooked for Speedy Grilled Dish

Quick broiler meals on lazy days, when you feel like spending as little time as possible in the kitchen, can be full of surprises.

Take the unique grill combination of Canadian-style bacon, pineapple and sweetbreads. It's on the table in a jiffy and yet

Sophisticated Salad Made With Wine

Nectarine Fruit Mold

1 package (3 ounces) peach-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup white wine
¼ cup seedless grapes

2 nectarines
Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; stir in wine. Pour into a 3-cup ring mold; drop grapes as evenly as possible into bottom of mold—they sink. Slice nectarines thin without peeling; drop around into gelatin as evenly as possible. Cover and chill.

Unmold. If you choose flame-colored nectarines, this makes a very pretty mold. Makes 6 servings.

Will Cook Faster

Split Rock Cornish game hens before broiling on the outdoor grill. Make them compact by skewering the leg to the body and folding back the wing tip under the wing.

Marinate Beef Patties Briefly

As popular as hamburgers, are no one likes to eat them week in and week out cooked in the selfsame fashion. Ward off any complaints with this marvelous recipe for barbecued hamburgers.

Barbecued Hamburgers

1 tablespoon corn oil
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 cup ketchup
¼ cup dark corn syrup
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

1½ teaspoons mustard - with horseradish

1 teaspoon vinegar

¼ teaspoon crushed dried rosemary

¼ teaspoon crushed dried thyme

¼ teaspoon crushed dried oregano

¼ teaspoon crushed dried savory

4 uncooked hamburger patties (1 pound ground beef)

Heat corn oil in heavy saucepan. Add onion; cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until tender but not brown. Stir in remaining ingredients. Simmer, uncovered, 10 to 15 minutes. Cool.

Place hamburger patties in refrigerator dish. Pour 3 tablespoons sauce over each patty, moistening it completely, including the bottom. Cover dish; let marinate in refrigerator 2 to 3 hours. Remove patties.

Broil to desired degree of doneness turning once, basting occasionally with remaining sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Walnut Bread Goes Well in Lunches

Youngsters will enjoy eating outdoors, and so should you!

Different Walnut Bread

2 cups sifted flour

2 teaspoons baking powder

¼ teaspoon baking soda

¼ teaspoon salt

¼ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed

1 egg

1 cup milk

¼ cup grated walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and brown sugar. Beat egg until thick and lemon colored; add milk and beat to combine; add sifted dry ingredients and grated walnuts. Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened.

Turn into a greased loaf pan (8½ by 4½ by 2½ inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—about 40 minutes. Loosen loaf from sides of pan with a spatula.

Turn out on wire rack; turn right side up; cool. May be sliced ½-inch thick when cool, thinner after wrapping tightly and storing overnight.

Spice Peach Halves to Garnish Chicken

If you are planning a luncheon party, "Chicken Salad with Pickled Peaches" deserves the starring role on the menu. The delectable canned cling peaches are chilled overnight in a mixture of their own syrup, sugar, vinegar, spices and lemon.

Chicken Salad with Pickled Peaches

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach halves

¼ cup sugar

¼ cup vinegar

1 stick (3-inch) cinnamon

1 teaspoon whole cloves

¼ teaspoon curry powder

¼ lemon, thinly sliced

4 servings chicken salad

Salad greens

Drain peaches, reserving syrup. Boil together 10 minutes peach syrup, sugar, vinegar, spices and lemon. Add peach halves and simmer 5 minutes.

Chill several hours or overnight.

Serve chicken salad on greens garnished luncheon plates. Cut peach halves in two and garnish each salad with 3 or 4 pieces of spiced peach. Makes 4 servings.

LAST TRIP HOME—A casket bearing the body of Sen. Estes Kefauver is carried by military escorts from a plane to a hearse en route to funeral service yesterday at Madisonville, Tenn. The casket was brought from Washington. Kefauver died last week after a heart attack.

Kefauver Buried in Home Town

MADISONVILLE, Tenn. (U.P.)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, a Tennessee Democrat who made his mark in the U.S. Senate and created a memorable campaign picture as the man in the cookin' cap, was buried Tuesday at the family home in east Tennessee.

As the mahogany casket was lowered, a downpour swept over the crowd of mourners, among them Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Kefauver, 60, died last week after a heart attack.

His widow, Nancy, forced a smile occasionally during the simple service on the porch of the century-old home. Their son and three daughters sat with her.

An Air Force honor guard bore the coffin, draped with the flag, to the grave.

Many of Kefauver's colleagues in the Senate, where he crusaded against crime and monopoly, were present along with the Tennessee congressional delegation and Gov. Frank S. Clement.

Business establishments of his home town, population 1,800, were closed in tribute. A state trooper estimated the crowd in town at 5,000 to 10,000.

Kefauver sought the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952 and 1956, losing both times to Stevenson. He was Stevenson's running mate in 1956.

Navy Silent on Red Ships off Cape Cod

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Navy maintained silence today on reports that 50 Russian fishing trawlers had been sighted three or four miles off Cape Cod, Mass.

When told of the report, a Navy spokesman would say only: "The seas are free." He pointed out that no objection can be raised to the presence of the vessels unless there is grounds for complaint.

One Navy officer, commenting on past activities of the Soviet trawlers, said it is known that some of them carry more elaborate electronic gear than could conceivably be used for fishing purposes.

The gear might be used for monitoring communications, or the flight on missiles off Cape Canaveral, Fla., he said.

But whether the Soviets have gained information through use of trawlers or whether the nature of these activities is known to the United States government, the Navy isn't saying.

GMC Local 594 Backs Earlier Retirement Age

Rank and file members of GMC Truck & Coach Local 594, UAW, have given qualified support to legislative and contractual proposals for earlier retirement age, sponsored by Flint UAW local unions.

Given backing by Local 594 were:

• The "Sixty Now" movement which advocates a revision of Social Security provisions permitting retirement at age 60.

• A resolution calling for an industrywide option of retirement after 25 years at half pay, 30 years at two-thirds pay, or at age 60 with a minimum of double benefits.

The president of Local 594, Andy Wilson, said this indication of support did not mean that the union was shutting the door on other early-retirement movements. Nor did it mean that the union would make retirement its major bargaining issue, he added.

It would be wrong to ignore people currently working in the plant, Wilson said.

Local 594 became the second UAW local in Pontiac to support the Flint early-retirement proposals.

UNANIMOUS SUPPORT

The membership of Fisher Body Local 596 gave unanimous support to the plans at the union's Aug. 4 membership meeting.

The largest Pontiac UAW local, Pontiac Motor Division Local 653, has yet to vote on the measures.

However, president of the local, John May, indicated they would be presented to the membership at next month's meeting.

He said the union's executive board had approved the measures, but not as the sole demand by the UAW upon General Motors and other automakers in the 1964 contract negotiations.

May mentioned prepaid hospitalization for retirees as another bargaining point being considered by the executive board.

To date, the Flint proposals have gained the support of unions representing more than 65,000 workers.

Cites 'Cleopatra' as Stimulating

Sees Hope for Movie Industry

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene.

Things are looking up for the film industry, says that well-informed business man, Bob Hope. He thinks "Cleopatra" has helped.

"It's amazing how much better the picture business is looking," he commented on "A Global Affair" set. "I've got more good deals offered to me recently than I've had in the past five years."

"You know what I think has helped bring the change? 'Cleopatra'." No kidding, I think that picture got people interested in movies again."

Hope's trouble is he can't spring loose for another movie until next year. He's all wrapped up in his weekly television show, plus his many other enterprises.

Everything seems to be clicking for Bob. His newest book, "I Owe Russia $1,200," has been hugging the top of the bestseller list, and that delights him almost as much as an Oscar would.

Livonia Gets Advance

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Community Facilities Administration announced yesterday approval of an advance of $24,673 to Livonia, Mich., for planning a storm sewer extension to cost as estimated $1,009,040.

How's this for a change of pace? Carroll Baker went from playing a saint in "The Greatest Story Ever Told" to a nymphomaniac screen star in "The Carpetbaggers." She stepped out of a seduction scene in the latter to report: "Next I play a Quaker in 'The Long Flight' and I don't even get kissed."

GOOD READING

"The Cleopatra Papers" by Jack Brodsky and Nathan Weiss makes fascinating reading, although the reader is not so sure that former press agents should be revealing all those secrets. At any rate, it is a penetrating close-up of the double drama of "Cleopatra"—the Taylor-Burton-Fish her footfall in Rome and the corporate convulsions in New York.

The most quoted analysis of the former is quoted from director-writer Joseph Mankiewicz: Taylor and Burton are "two actors who don't know how to get offstage because there's no script-writer there to show them how."

Between the Devil and the Deep Blue Sea

Congo Faces Franc Devaluation or National Bankruptcy

By ROBIN P. MANNOCK
LEOPOLDVILLE, — The Congo (Zaire) President Cyrille Adoula was in a financial jam when he went to Europe for economic talks. Now he has returned to find himself still between the devil and the deep blue sea.

The devil is the specter of national bankruptcy from runaway inflation and massive government overexpanding. The alternative is a devaluation of the Congo franc. This is being urged on Adoula by international experts.

A long-standing problem became urgent three weeks ago. The United States, the Congo's main source of aid, suspended two important items of aid in July in an attempt to force through reforms.

These items were money to finance the import of consumer goods to fill yawning gaps on the shelves of Congo shops and money for public works projects. Last year these accounted for nearly half the $73 million the United States poured into the Congo.

Experts say the current exchange rate of 65 Congo francs to the dollar is unrealistic. Some advocate a devaluation of up to 50 per cent for some imports. They say the present rate penalizes exporters, favors importers and encourages smuggling.

This is costing the Congo millions of dollars a year. Diamonds, coffee, tea, rubber, cotton and palm oil are being shipped across wide-open frontiers while customs men are bribed to look the other way.

SMUGGLE OUT

Some importers have been smuggling out goods bought cheaply abroad with foreign exchange from the Congo's paper-thin reserves and selling them in neighboring countries where they fetch high prices in hard currency.

There has also been brisk illicit trafficking in surplus food donated by the United States to feed hungry Congolese. American officials here tear their hair at the sight of this food in Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo.

This smuggling was one of the reasons for the cuts in aid, although shipments of food are still arriving.

DEVALUATION

Most experts are agreed that a devaluation, accompanied by other reforms, must come quickly if this drain on the Congo's economic strength is to be halted before the country bleeds to death.

Despite three troubled years, projections of many expert committees are buoyant. In some cases it reaches the levels of the days when the Congo was a Belgian colony.

But government overspending

is likely to hit 17 billion Congo francs (about $200 million) this year, according to some experts. And internal prices have risen 300 per cent since 1960.

Informal sources here say

Adoula spoke privately in favor of a devaluation on a visit to Brussels, but that the subject was not mentioned during his negotiations with the Belgian government.

These talks dealt exclusively with the Congo's preindependence debts, the Congo's portfolio of securities which have been frozen in Brussels. Belgian claims for losses in life and property here since independence and future Belgian technical assistance.

Informal sources said Belgium agreed to assume responsibility for almost half of the Congo's debt of 46 billion francs ($920 billion).

These sources said Belgium would take over the bulk of the foreign debt of 34 billion francs while the Congo would take charge of the rest.

Belgium also was reported to have agreed to hand over the Congo's portfolio of securities.

The size of this portfolio is unknown, but it includes one-quarter of the shares of Katanga's giant union Minière copper and cobalt complex and the former Belgian colony's holdings in other companies operating here.

An agreement also was reached on payment for the 2,100 Belgian teachers, doctors and technical advisers in the Congo. The sources said Belgium will pay two-thirds of their salaries.

Belgium may provide some of the short-term loans Adoula will need to bolster the Congo franc in the event of a devaluation.

The United States has told Adoula it will not help unless Belgium, which has vast investments here, is willing to help back the Congo franc, the best available sources say.

One expert estimated at least $50 million would have been necessary to prop up the Congo franc if devaluation had taken place July 15, the original D-day.

One of the most favored plans, which the United States is reported to support, would involve a pegged exchange rate for exports and some essential imports but complete freedom for the rate on other imports.

Such an operation has never been attempted before in Africa, and nobody knows how the Congolese would react.

States Providing Health Care

By ROBERT R. GOLDENSTEIN
CHICAGO (AP) — While President Kennedy's proposal to place health care for the aged under Social Security still is awaiting a showdown, most states have agreed to provide health care for elderly residents who can't afford to pay their medical bills.

A survey by the American Medical Association shows that more than two-thirds of the states have adopted Kerr-Mills programs to aid near-indigents and that all states now are using Kerr-Mills funds for the medical needs of their recipients of old age assistance.

Thirteen states have acted affirmatively on Kerr-Mills bills since June 1, 1962.

The survey also showed a number of states with Kerr-Mills programs in operation have made the benefits available to persons with higher incomes or have expanded the benefits offered.

The Kerr-Mills law became effective Oct. 1, 1960. It is a federal-state fund matching program designed for medically needy persons who have reached their 65th birthday.

AMA SUPPORTS

The American Medical Association supports the Kerr-Mills program. It contends the legislation can supply assistance to all indigent or near-indigent persons who need it, if the states implement the federal legislation.

The Kennedy administration contends the Kerr-Mills program does not offer sufficient benefits and wants to make medical assistance available to all persons who retire and receive social security payments.

The AMA survey covered 54 jurisdictions — the 50 states, the District of Columbia and the territories of Guam and Puerto Rico. It showed:

Old age assistance programs under Kerr-Mills are in effect in all 54 jurisdictions. This provision authorizes the federal government to match state funds used exclusively for payments for medical services up to a combined total of $12 a month above the previous $65 monthly maximum.

A total of 43 jurisdictions have enacted legislation to provide medical assistance for the aged for near indigent persons not on old age assistance rolls.

These programs are in effect in 34 jurisdictions, five other jurisdictions have adopted programs effective at later dates and three others have approved programs without appropriating funds.

The 12 states which have not adopted them are Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Indiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Ohio, Rhode Island, Texas and Wisconsin.

Coffee Differs the World Over

Hot, Sweet, Bitter; It's From Same Berry

WASHINGTON — The deep-roasted coffee berry looks the same world over, but anything can happen before it reaches the cup. Egyptians like their coffee served two ways — sweet and sweetener. American cowboys demand coffee "hot, black and strong enough to walk," but German ladies at a Kaffeeklatsch prefer a brew so weak they can see the bottoms of their cups.

Originally, coffee was eaten, not drunk, the National Geographic Society says. Wandering Ethiopian tribesmen ate wild coffee berries, from the trees or ground mixed with fat.

The practice continues in many African villages. Ugandans make a savory drink from coffee and bananas.

Arabs were the first to cultivate coffee trees, possibly as early as A.D. 575. They drank a concoction made by boiling coffee leaves and berries.

It made a rather bitter but stimulating drink — so stimulating that Moslem religious authorities tried to ban it.

The imams were scandalized by the coffee houses that flourished in the holy city of Mecca. The houses were closed, but spokesmen sprang up, and the prohibition was lifted.

Coffee drinking remains an important custom in Arabia, and no business deal is complete without a cup. The drink is flavored with cardamom, clove, cinnamon, or anise.

Coffee became more palatable and popular when the beans were roasted and pulverized. The beverage was so important in Turkey that if a Turk failed to keep his wife supplied with coffee, she had grounds for divorce.

15 Motorists From Area Off Roads

Fifteen area motorists recently had their drivers' licenses either suspended or revoked by the Michigan Department of State.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to convictions of drunk driving were:

Bruce A. Crager, 53 Enclid; Anthony Wisniewski, 149 W. Fairmount; Fred L. Sirdan, 99 Shadwell, Lake Orion; and William Steimach, 1726 W. Maple, Troy.

Ordered off the roads because of unsatisfactory driving records were:

John W. Bunnell, 5491 Elizabeth Lake; Donald H. Audet, 1431 Courtland, Rochester; Harry T. Bannister, 1655 Hammond, Bloomfield Hills; Herman W. Blanks, 2844 Brandywine, Farmington; Thomas M. Blesinski, 1162 Pine Crest, Union Lake; and Robert J. Leski, 4065 Driftwood, Millard.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to unsatisfactory financial judgments against them were:

Emory Cox, 141 South Boulevard; Hazon F. Nelson, 21231 St. Francis, Farmington; and Richard G. Putnam, 1021 Char-est, Waterford Township.

Arthur J. Wass Jr., 84 Bloomfield Terrace; and William D. Ramage Jr., 20900 Orchard Lake Farmington, were ordered off the road for driving with suspended licenses.

Junior Editors Quiz on MYTHS

QUESTION: Was there a real "Man Without a Country"?

ANSWER: The man without a country was Philip Nolan, a young army officer. But Nolan was not a real person; he was a character in a famous short story by Edward Everett Hale, written in 1863.

According to Hale's story, Nolan had been implicated in treasonable activities, and during his trial had remarked bitterly that he wished he would never hear of the United States again. The judge decided to let this be his punishment. With the buttons stripped from his uniform as a sign of disgrace, Nolan was put on a navy ship whose captain had orders never to let him hear about his native land. He ate alone under guard. For many years Nolan went from ship to ship, a man without a country.

Finally there was a naval battle in which his ship joined. A gun crew was destroyed, but Nolan with great bravery worked the gun and helped win the battle.

Later on, when he lay dying, this deed was remembered and the captain told him about America and its progress. An American flag was draped around a portrait of Washington in Nolan's cabin. He had rejoined his country, in spirit at least.

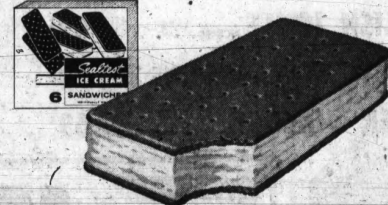

FOR YOU TO DO: Edward Everett Hale was a well known writer in his day, as well as an editor and a clergyman. "The Man Without a Country" was his most famous story. See if you can find Hale's works in a library and read the story.

Warren Spahn Still Hurling New Records

Sets Strikeout Mark for Left-handers By Fanning 5 Dodgers

By The Associated Press
Hark-nosed old Warren Spahn simply cranked up his 33-year-old arm and threw a third strike past Bob Miller of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Hardly unusual. Old Spahn had only done that sort of thing 2,381 times before.

But this was the one that put him in the record book. It broke Ruben Waddell's 58-year-old record of 2,381 strikeouts by a left-hander and brought the Milwaukee Braves' old pitcher back into the record books still holding him.
"You always think about records being set with a big, dramatic act," Spahn said Tuesday night. "But in the seventh, Miller just stood there and took the third strike and that's all there was to it."

"A fellow dreams of things like that. You know, striking out the big hitters, have him take a vicious cut at it and miss. Instead, I get the pitcher on a called strike. But I'll take it."

FIVE WHIFFS

Spahn finished with five strikeouts in the 4-3 victory over the Dodgers for a career total of 2,383. The victory was his third without loss this season against Los Angeles, his 14th over-all and 51st of his career.

The Dodgers, however, main League lead when the second-place San Francisco Giants were stopped 4-0 on two hits by Cincinnati's Jim Maloney.

St. Louis closed to within five games of the leaders and one of the Giants by beating Houston 4-2 in the only other NL game played. Pittsburgh at New York was rained out and Philadelphia and Chicago were not scheduled.

Spahn's victory, in his first start since he was sidelined with arm trouble July 28, was particularly gratifying. It came at the expense of the only club which has ever beaten him. He went into the game with a career record of 21-34 against the Dodgers, and had to work hard to pull it out.

The Dodgers pulled into a 3-3 tie with a run in the ninth, but Don Messersmith's sacrifice fly threw in Hank Aaron with the tie-breaker for the Braves in the eighth. Maloney, a 6-foot-2 right-hander, allowed only singles to Felipe Alou and Harvey Kuenn, struck out seven Giants and walked only one in posting his 13th victory of the season for Cincinnati. He got all the backing he needed on two-run homers by Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson.

Ken Boyer rapped out a three-run double in the first inning against Houston and the Cardinals made behind the eight-hit pitching of Ernie Broglio stand up the rest of the way.

Desperate Giants Turn to Willie for Shortstop

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Willie Mays played shortstop for the San Francisco Giants in the eighth inning of a 4-3 loss to the Cincinnati Reds last night.
It was the first time in Willie's career that he had ever played any position other than center field. He had no chances in the inning.

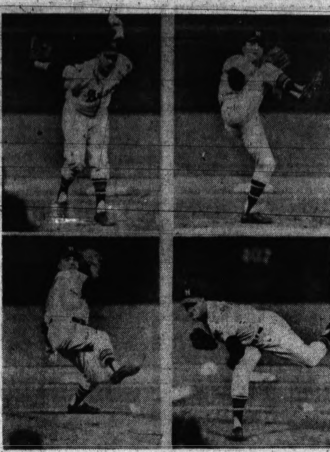

Joe Pagan, the Giants' regular shortstop, is in the hospital. So after manager Al Dink used a pinch-hitter for replacement Ernie Bowman in the top of the eighth, he had no recourse other than to use Willie.

Mays limbers up before each game at shortstop to sharpen his reflexes. But as far as playing shortstop again in a game, "probably never again," Willie grinned, shaking his head.

Two-Way Deadlock in Silver Lake Golf

Mrs. Keith Cruickshank and Mrs. Floyd Fourn took 38s for low net numbers in the first flight of the Women's Silver Lake Golf League yesterday.
In the second flight, Mrs. Edith Fefel had a net 33, in the third flight there was a three-way tie of 37 for Mrs. Edwin Lally, Mrs. Marilyn Turner and Mrs. Paul Spavin.

Mrs. Dan Sipef and Mrs. Fefel tied for low putts with 15.

WHAT BATTERS SEE — Pitcher Warren Spahn of Milwaukee shows the form he used last night against the Los Angeles Dodgers to surpass Ruben Waddell's strikeout record by two while winning 4-3. Spahn now has fanned 2,383 batters.

3 Tank Titlists at AAU Meet

Women's Champions Return to Nationals

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Three double winners from last year's meet returned today as the National AAU swimming and diving championships opened with a single event, the 1,500 meter freestyle.

The defending champions are Donna Devarona, Santa Clara Calif., who won the 200 individual medley and 100 backstroke; Sharon Finerman, Los Angeles, defending in the 400 individual medley and 200 butterfly, and the Vesper Swim Club of Philadelphia, which won the freestyle and 400 medley relay in 1962.

Heats and finals will be held Thursday in the 100 meter freestyle, the 200 meter breaststroke, three-meter diving, the 200-meter backstroke and the 400-meter individual medley relay.
Friday, the 100-meter butterfly, 400-meter freestyle, 100-meter breaststroke, the 200-meter individual medley and the 400-meter freestyle events will be held.

The meet at the Olympic-size Municipal Pool ends Saturday with 10-meter platform diving, 200-meter butterfly, 100-meter backstroke, 200-meter freestyle and the 400-meter medley relay.

Tigers, Phillies Triumph in Boys' Club Leagues

Bill Hegwood's three-run homer and Wally Logan's defensive work led the Twins to a 6-3 triumph over the Tigers in Pontiac Boys Club American League play yesterday.

Another contest saw the Phillies qualify to meet the Braves in the National League championship round with an 11-8 victory over the Colts.

New Mentor Ready to Go

PNH Grid Coach Set

Pontiac Northern will enter its fifth season of varsity football this fall under the direction of a new head coach, Bob Dingman.

The 32-year-old native of Saginaw, becomes the second head coach in Northern grid history, succeeding Ed Heikkinen, who left the post after recording a 18-16 mark.

Advocating sound conditioning and a strong desire in a ball player, Dingman can take pride in the fact that he will have four former proteges playing on college grid teams in the state this fall.

His top pupil, Joe O'Donnell, will captain the University of Michigan in the '63 season.

"Take O'Donnell for example," says Dingman. "He never had a great deal of ability when he started playing ball at Milan, but his tremendous desire to improve himself made him a great ball player."

"A football player has to give a little extra push," Dingman adds, "and when he plays the game with the right spirit he becomes a good ball player."

Other collegians that prepped under Dingman include Michigan's Bill Laskey, slated to start at end for the Wolverines this fall, Western Michigan's Ron Schneider, and Jim Harkema, who quarterbacked Kalamazoo College to the MIAA crown last season.

TRAP PLAYS

On the technical side of the game, Dingman favors the Winged-T offense with plenty of trap plays.

"We will have to wait and see just how our material fits the offense," says Dingman, "but from viewing the films of last season's games it appears that most of Northern's success came on trapping."

A 1953 Michigan graduate Dingman played varsity football at Ann Arbor under former head coach Bennie Oosterbaan.

His collegiate activity on the gridiron climaxed a brilliant athletic career that started at Saginaw's Arthur Hill High School where he played varsity football, basketball and track.

Under football coach Bill Kelly, now head man at Central Michigan University, Dingman made all-state honors at end for the Lumberjacks in 1947.

He also starred for Kelly on the basketball court, playing center for the powerful SVC champions in the late 40's.

Dingman's college participation was hampered by a nagging knee injury that hampered his progress as a regular for the maize and blue.

His coaching activities began in 1955 at Milan high school where he compiled a 15-11 record at the Class B level. After a dismal first season, he piloted the Milan squad to two second place finishes in the Huron League.

Moving to Owosso high in 1958, Dingman was faced with a tough opponent.

Owosso had never had outstanding football teams. Their three seasons into Saginaw Valley Conference play ended with little success in 1951.

Following a slow start in 1958, Dingman led Owosso to a 16-9 record against a tough schedule that included many SVC and Six-A conference opponents.

Dingman left coaching in 1962 to assume the position of superintendent of schools at Central Lake, Mich. But his love of athletics prompted his decision to rejoin the coaching ranks.

The victory would be the runner-up White Sox within 8 1/2 games of the league-leading New York Yankees who were rained out at Boston and two games in front of the Minnesota Twins who were trounced 6-1 by the four-place Baltimore Orioles. The Los Angeles Angels snapped a seven-game losing streak by edging the Senators 4-3 and the Kansas City Athletics beat the Detroit Tigers, 4-2.

DeBusschere paid off a chunk of his $70,000 bonus with a pair of home runs against the Indians at Chicago. He was only in trouble in the third inning when the Indians loaded the bases on singles by Tito Francona, John Romano and Al Luplow. He got Max Alvis to end the inning and sent the Indians down with two hits the rest of the way.

The Sox got to starter-leader Jim (Mudcat) Grant, 8-1, for all of their runs. Singles by Mike Hersherberger and Nellie Fox and a sacrifice fly by rookie Pete Ward scored the first run in the first inning. An error by shortstop Larry Brown and doubles by Fox and Ward produced the other two runs in the fifth.

Last State Title Fight During 1951

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's been a long time between world championship fights in Michigan — even if that Aug. 13 affair in Saginaw gains universal recognition.

Muskegon's Kenny Lane is scheduled to meet Los Angeles' Paulie Armstrong then in what Michigan's Athletic Board in control will consider a world lightweight title bout.

The last time two fighters met in Michigan with the world crown in the balance was on March 7, 1951, when Ezzard Charles successfully defended his heavyweight crown against Jersey Joe Walcott in 15 rounds at Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

A careful study of each world champion's lifetime record in Nat Fleischer's Ring Record book reveals some interesting facts. For instance, did you know...

That John L. Sullivan, the father of modern boxing fought his last bout in Michigan? Sullivan knocked out Jack McCormack in two rounds at Grand Rapids in 1905.

That of the four world champions born in Michigan, three are rated among the all-time top 10 in their divisions by Fleischer? Kid Lavigne (Bay City), Ad Wolgast (Cadillac), Stanley Ketchel (Grand Rapids) and Sugar Ray (Robinson) are the "year some foursome."

Wickersham fanned on a square jab attempt, and Charles was caught in a rundown between third and home. Bill Freehan fired to Bubba Phillips and Phillips fired back to home but Bunning dropped the ball like it was a hot potato and Charles knocked him out.

Wickersham then squeezed in Cimoli from third on the next pitch.

U.S. OPEN CHAMPION

MEDIUM IRON EASIER TO CONTROL

After you have drilled in automatically. Keep it that way. Don't start looking for the various motions we have told you to take place, or you will lose that necessary rhythm of your swing.

The right elbow tucked in close to the side. You will find that this simple fundamental is the difference between many bad and good shots.

The stance is not as wide as that with the driver. The knees are bent so that you are in a somewhat sitting-down position.

The backswing is basically the same as the pattern outlined previously. About the only variation is the fact that the club will not be swung as far back as it was in the case of the driver.

Take the club back slowly and low to the ground. I suggest this deliberation so you can see for yourself how far the club travels before it starts on the upswing.

There is very little motion of the body or hips. About halfway back, however, the weight begins to shift to the right side.

The left knee is flexed, the right hip is turning out to the right. The head is down and over the ball.

At the top of the swing the hands are high, but the club does not reach the horizontal position as with a wood. The swing is more upright.

Sloppy Defense Costs Bengals 4-2 Defeat

5: Hitter by Bunning Wasted as Fielders Error Three Times

From Our News Wires
KANSAS CITY — The Kansas City Athletics tried hard last night to take ninth place away from the Detroit Tigers.

But the Tigers resisted every effort made by their seventh-place American League opponents.

The A's had only a nine-percent age point advantage to throw away for at least an eighth-place tie with the Bengals. The Tigers sloped them with a ready combination of sloppy fielding and untimely hitting and lost, 4-2.

Kansas City tried hard. The A's picked up only five hits and one earned run off losing pitcher Jim Bunning. But the Athletics couldn't give back the three runs earned runs given up by Detroit.

The Tigers made sure of the loss, and dropped 18 points behind the A's, by leaving 11 runners on base. There was a man, or two, or three, on base in every inning.

Norm Cash threw the Tigers back into undisputed possession of ninth place.

With the score tied 2-2 in the eighth, Cash fielded Wayne Causey's bunt and threw it past third baseman Bubba Phillips into left field. Two runs scored and the Kansas City Athletics had the victory.

Norman wasn't the only varmint, though, as the Tigers committed three miscues.

PITCHERS BATTLE
It was quite a pitchers' duel for five innings between Bunning and the A's Dave Rader. Then the Athletics wacked two runs home in the fifth to take a 2-0 lead. Bunning held things along himself.

Many Jimenez opened the inning with a single, Ed Charles forced Jimenez and then went to third on Gino Cimoli's double. Doc Edwards was intentionally passed so Bunning could dispose of easy-mark Wickersham.

Wickersham fanned on a square jab attempt, and Charles was caught in a rundown between third and home. Bill Freehan fired to Bubba Phillips and Phillips fired back to home but Bunning dropped the ball like it was a hot potato and Charles knocked him out.

Wickersham then squeezed in Cimoli from third on the next pitch.

U.S. Officer Killed in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—An American Army captain has been killed in a South Vietnamese military operation against Communist guerrillas, it was reported today.

A U.S. Army spokesman said the captain was shot in the head by Communist small arms fire yesterday while accompanying government troops on an operation near the town of Quang Ngai, north of Saigon. Another U.S. captain was injured.

The officers' names were withheld.

It was the 46th American fatality in action against the Viet Cong Communist rebels since 1961 when the United States started helping the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem in his struggle against Communist penetration.

Thirty more Americans have died in what U.S. officials call "combat-associated accidents."

There are about 12,000 Americans stationed in South Viet Nam, ostensibly for training and aiding South Vietnamese forces. The continuing struggle against the Viet Cong has been overshadowed recently by the government's political-religious crisis stemming from its dispute with the country's Buddhists.

Tension in the dispute was heightened by a third Buddhist suicide yesterday in protest against the government's religious policies.

U.S. officials expressed concern that the suicide might spur further antigovernment demonstrations that could get out of hand and invite Communist exploitation.

Yesterday's suicide victim was Thich Thanh Tue, 17, a priest who drenched his robes with gasoline, set himself afire and burned to death outside a pagoda near Hue, a city 400 miles north of Saigon.

3RD IMMOLATION

It was the third such self-immolation by Buddhist clergymen since June, when members of the religion began protesting alleged persecution by Diem's government. The president and many of his high officials are Roman Catholic.

A Buddhist association spokesman said the young priest left notes indicating his act was a protest against the government.

A controversy arose between the government and Buddhist leaders over the funeral and burial site for the priest. The Buddhists sought to hold the funeral at the pagoda in Hue, but the government said it should be held in the Phuoc Duyen Padoga, three miles outside Hue, where the body was found.

South Viet Nam's vice president, Nguyen Ngoc Tho, told newsmen yesterday the government is "sparing no effort to reach an understanding with the Buddhist leaders."

Tho said bitter criticism of Buddhist leaders expressed by Diem's sister-in-law, Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, did not reflect official government policy.

Escaped Hungarians

Assured Right to Visit

NEW YORK (AP)—A New York travel agent said Tuesday the Hungarian government has assured him that Hungarians who escaped during the 1956 uprising may visit Hungary and leave again.

Gabriel Reiner, president of the Cosmos Travel Bureau, said he had received this assurance from Budapest. Up to now, there has been no right of return for some 175,000 who fled Hungary after the revolt.

Caught in Flogging; Quit

DETROIT (UPI)—Two suburban women schoolteachers, accused of flogging the son of one of them, have resigned their jobs in the Southgate Community School System.

The resignations of Mrs. Catherine Trebing, 33, and Mrs. Edith Bates, 37, were unanimously accepted by the Southgate Board of Education.

Mrs. Trebing is accused of beating her 13-year-old son James after the youth stayed away from home too long.

Police said Mrs. Bates learned of the situation in a phone call and asked Mrs. Trebing to bring the boy over to her house so she could have a "whack" at him too. The boy had been staying at Mrs. Bates' home while his mother was away, but left to stay with friends.

The beatings took place after Mrs. Trebing returned home. Neighbors of Mrs. Bates stopped the second beating when Mrs. Bates was flogging James with a length of clothesline. They said they had submitted their resignations "in order to avoid further embarrassment to the fine Southgate School System."

Belancourt Shuffles Venezuela Cabinet

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—President Romulo Belancourt announced last night he has reorganized his cabinet, replacing six ministers who went to run for office in the coming election. The new ministers are: interior, Manuel Mantilla; agriculture, Miguel Rodriguez Viquez; development, Hugo Perez de la Sola; justice, Enrique Monsalve Casado; labor, J. Aranguren Zamora; and oil, Arturo Hernandez Grisanti.

Britain, Bonn to Eye Futures

By United Press International. LONDON (UPI)—Britain and West Germany moved into a new stage of Western allied strategy today with talks on international issues related to the future of Berlin and Germany.

West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder was flying in from Bonn for a day of confidential discussions on the East-West nuclear treaty and other recent developments.

Schröder was meeting with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Foreign Secretary Lord Home and other top British officials.

Diplomatic observers saw the talks as a possible new chapter in the future of the critical Berlin and German questions as a result of the nuclear test ban treaty signed in Moscow last week.

The emphasis of the talks was on what steps should be taken to achieve greater understanding between the Western and Communist blocs in the light of the nuclear pact.

Schröder received from Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Bonn last weekend a full briefing on the treaty which bans nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water.

After initial hesitation, the Bonn government has announced it will adhere to the treaty which was negotiated by Britain, the United States and Russia.

West Germany hesitated about signing the treaty because it feared such a move might enhance the international stature of the East German regime, which signed the accord in Moscow. It was reported in Bonn that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer also was reluctant to ruffle French President Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle has rejected the treaty. It was understood in Bonn that de Gaulle hoped that Adenauer also would refrain from signing. The two elder European statesmen signed an historic friendship treaty earlier this year.

Bonn decided to join the treaty after receiving U.S. assurances the pact would not mean recognition of East Germany. The decision strained Franco-German relations, already aggravated by Bonn's agreement to joint development of army tanks with the United States.

Schröder and British officials were expected to include French policies in their discussions.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE ABACUS

QUESTION: How does one work an abacus?

ANSWER: An abacus is a very ancient arrangement of buttons strung on wires which are stretched within a frame-work. These were used in Greek and Roman days to solve simple arithmetic problems, and an abacus is still part of a Chinese merchant's office equipment today. There are several forms of the abacus.

In the one we illustrate, the counter representing 5, on the extreme right, has been pushed up. Below the crossbar one of the counters representing units of 1 has also been pushed up, so the abacus is reading 6. Suppose you want to add 2 to this. Then you push up two more of the digit buttons with your thumb, as in (2). Now you read the abacus; there is a 5 on top and three digit buttons, making 8, and this is the answer.

Of course, most problems are much more complicated, but this will give you the principle. To subtract, you set the first number up on the abacus, and then push buttons away from the cross bar for the amount to be subtracted. Reading the abacus after this is done gives the solution to the problem.

FOR YOU TO DO: Cut the picture out, try to find someone who has an abacus and work out some problems for yourself—you'll find it very fascinating. You may find it puzzling at first, but as you get acquainted with the values of the different rows, it will seem quite simple.

GOP Picnic May Launch Senators' Political Climbs

By JIM DYGERT
The 1963 Oakland County GOP picnic and ox roast may be the launching pad for drives to higher political office for three Republican state senators who plan to attend Sept. 7.

They are Stanley G. Thayer of Ann Arbor, William G. Milliken of Traverse City and John W. Fitzgerald of Grand Ledge.

All three, along with Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, are leaders of Senate "moderates" who overthrew the rule of the conservative "veto bloc" this year and gained statewide recognition for negotiating passage of legislation in Gov. George Romney's program.

They are scheduled to join Romney, Roberts and Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield on the speakers' platform at the ox roast, which is expected to draw up to 10,000 picnickers to the John F. Ivey farm on Colley Lake Road.

Appearing at the event would give Thayer, Milliken and Fitzgerald a start toward the public recognition they will need if they follow through on their reported aspirations for state and national office.

Thayer has been mentioned as a possible lieutenant governor nominee in 1964, when candidates for that post will be chosen by party conventions under the new state constitution. So has Milliken.

Both also figure prominently in the speculation for the GOP's gubernatorial nomination if the governor should happen to be drafted to resolve a deadlock for the party's presidential candidate.

Fitzgerald, who had reported being interested in a seat on the new state appellate court created by the new constitution, has said he may instead challenge the re-election bid next year of Democratic U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart.

Roberts, too, is interested in another post, but on a less ambitious scale. He is deciding whether to seek one of the nine appellate court seats to run for Congress.

Virginia County to Provide Free Private Schools

Governor Announces
Bifacial Organization
to Aid Negroes

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. today announced with the approval of the Department of Justice and white and Negro leaders the organization of a bifacial group to provide private free schools in Prince Edward County this year.

Harrison's announcement at a crowded news conference was given an immediate pledge of support by the Rev. L. Francis Griffin, president of the Virginia

National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, who sat beside the governor at the conference.

The plan to provide schooling for some 1,700 Negro pupils who have been largely without classroom training since the county closed public schools four years ago—as well as white children who may desire to attend the free schools—was outlined by the governor as follows:

A bifacial board of trustees of three white and Negro educators will lease from Prince Edward County several of the presently unused public school buildings, will sign up faculty and administrative personnel, and will operate on finances obtained privately.

A number of foundations and individuals have already indicated their willingness to contribute.

Sitting with Harrison besides Griffin were several key figures in the long-drawn-out Prince Edward school dispute, who finally joined in the cooperative effort to put an end to the school's plight of the county's Negro children.

Prince Edward's white children have been attending classes offered by a private white school foundation.

The figures included J. Segar Gravit, counsel for the Prince Edward Board of Supervisors which closed the schools by declining to appropriate local funds in 1959; Henry Marsh, a young NAACP attorney of Richmond; and William Vanden Heuvel, of the Department of Justice, who played perhaps the key role in working out the agreement.

Harrison's formal disclosure of the plan followed several months of discussions and negotiations among federal, state and local representatives including both Negro and white leaders in Prince Edward County.

Chief Confirms Records Gone

Told Arrests of Police Trial Board Member

Pontiac Police Chief Joseph Koren confirmed today that two arrest records of a Police Trial Board member are missing from police department files.

Koren told The Pontiac Press that information on the arrests of Victor L. Smothers, 44, of 195 Cornell, disappeared shortly after the City Commission appointed took office in September 1961.

While the original records of Smothers' arrest have vanished, copies, made by a police officer, are still available and in the possession of Koren.

With Underground Tests
New N-Arms Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, testified today that underground testing will permit a "wide range" of nuclear weapons development, including warheads for antismissile defense.

As the third witness at Senate hearings, Seaborg strongly backed earlier testimony from Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that ratification of the limited test ban treaty would be "in the best interests of the United States."

The treaty would prohibit nuclear testing in the atmosphere, in outer space, and under water, but it would not bar continued testing underground.

One of the questions some senators have raised is whether the treaty would seriously handicap U.S. development of missile defenses.

Seaborg said "It appears technically feasible to test underground up to several hundred kilotons and perhaps, with more experience and greater ingenuity, to even higher levels."

"This would permit a wide range of development including complete development and proof-test of warheads for battlefield, air defense, antismissile, and anti-submarine use."

"Included could be more sophisticated weapons for both tactical and ABM (antiballistic missile) purposes and reduced fallout weapons for battlefield use at (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

MISSILE WITH MESSAGE—A West German youth hurls a stone across the Berlin Wall last night as crowds gathered in protest on the second anniversary of the structure. Nearly 1,500 gathered at the barrier until dispersed by club-swinging police.

W. Berlin Mobs Run Wild in Protests Against Wall

From Our News Wires
BERLIN — West Berlin mobs ran wild for four hours last night and early today along the Communist wall, protesting its existence on the second anniversary of its erection.

The mobs dispersed shortly after midnight. About 3,000 young hoodlums took part in the riotous outbreak, which included attacks on a U.S. Army staff car and a Communist diplomatic limousine, the manhandling of two Western news photographers and fights with club-wielding West Berlin police.

An undetermined number of rioters were injured. The mobs shouted such slogans as "Down with the wall!" and "The wall must go," but they made no serious effort to break through police lines and tear it down.

Maj.-Gen. James H. Pohl, U.S. commandant in Berlin, and Brig. Gen. Frederick O. Hartel, the garrison commander, observed the disorders at Checkpoint Charlie, the U.S. point of entry into Red-held East Berlin.

Another focus of mob activity was Moritz Square, about 50 feet from the wall, where the U.S. Army sedan was attacked. The car carried a military police patrol, whose members were not molested.

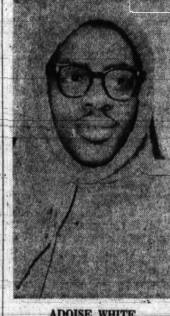

Police had to intervene to save the occupants of the Communist diplomatic car, which was attacked at Checkpoint Charlie.

'New Court House Wing Is a Must'

"No doubt about it, a new wing at the County Courthouse is needed now and will be needed desperately by 1965," according to Dr. Louis L. Friedland, who is the county's space utilization consultant.

The reason for this need, he said, is that the county is now operating on a much larger scope than when it was only a local branch of state government serving a mostly rural area.

County government is becoming metropolitan government, with a multitude of responsibilities that encompasses the entire community, says Friedland.

ADOISO WHITE

CHARLES E. HODGES

Verdict on Hodges Is Second Degree; Jury Deliberates 1 Hour

(Special to The Press)
KALAMAZOO — A Circuit Court jury of nine women and three men found Adoiso White guilty of first-degree murder yesterday in the March 16 slaying of Kroger store manager Robert A. Greene.

After the verdict, Oakland County Circuit Judge William Beer held that White's accomplice, Charles E. Hodges, was guilty of second-degree murder.

First-degree murder carries a mandatory life sentence. Life in prison is the maximum for second-degree murder. Judge Beer will sentence the two Aug. 23.

Defense attorney Milton R. Henry called the trial "a farce," and said he will appeal White's conviction.

The jury's verdict, announced after an hour's deliberation, followed a dramatic courtroom scene in which White left his seat, walked to the judge's bench and cried, "Let me talk to the jury."

White, 22, of 79 1/2 Wall then approached the jury with arms raised, saying, "I didn't do it." A sheriff's deputy grabbed the defendant and took him back to his seat.

Williams testified in the trial that White had been beaten by police. White had claimed he confessed March 19 because police beat him.

Before the jury began deliberations, Judge Beer ruled out the possibility of a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity. He found Henry's insanity defense.

Hodges, also 22, of 74 Prospect, became a prosecution witness after entering a surprise guilty plea on the trial's first day, Aug. 6. He testified that White, his uncle, was the one who stabbed Greene to death after forcing him to open a safe from which $1,500 was taken.

White, at the time a stock boy at the market at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads, claimed he was at a party the night of the murder and learned of the crime from Hodges the next day.

1964 Imperial Is All New

By JOHN J. CROWLEY
City Editor, The Pontiac Press
SAN FRANCISCO — Chrysler Corp. revealed today that the Imperial will be completely restyled in 1964.

Reflecting the influence of styling chief Elwood P. Engel, the 1964 Imperial features clean, elegant design.

It carries a flat roof, and wide, level rear deck. Side windows slant inward, and new rubber insulators cushion body and frame.

The company hopes the new look will double 1963's sale of 15,000 Imperials.

This is a small portion of Chrysler sales, but in the words of one executive, is aimed at providing a personalized property.

We are adding a new name to our Shopping Center

we are almost six years old and now we find we are, not only the No. 1 Shopping Center for the Pontiac area, but also serve a great percentage of the population of Birmingham and Bloomfield. For this reason and to better define our location we are adding the name Bloomfield to our center. From this day forward our official name will be . . .

BLOOMFIELD MIRACLE MILE Shopping Center

where one-stop shopping reaches its zenith! And remember, anything wanted and bought by a resident of the Pontiac and Bloomfield area was probably bought at "Bloomfield Miracle Mile" . . . because there is something for everyone, everywhere, every day at Bloomfield Miracle Mile.

Out With the Old

Seek Truck Savings

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — That old family argument over when the time to stop paying repair bills on the old car and start making a monthly payment on a new one is echoed to-day in offices of corporations that have their own fleet of trucks.

And they are growing in. An estimated 7.3 million trucks are now operated by manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, most owned outright but many leased. Northwestern University's Transportation Center says 18,000 companies have fleets of 10 or more trucks.

The Chinese claim Soviet agreement to the treaty is another divergence from Marxism-Leninism.

Industry sources say the average age of commercial and industrial trucks that are company owned is now 6.8 years, compared with 4.4 years in 1941.

The leasing company Rediff figures this out to a loss of $31,000 a year per million miles of use.

Both makers and lessors of trucks, and common carriers as well, stress savings they see if obsolete equipment is ditched.

James W. Millard, manager of General Motors' Transportation Productivity Research Department, estimates industry might save $15 billion annually, if it modernized its transportation and material handling equipment.

But the Chinese claim the treaty blocks other Communists' plans from improving their defenses while enabling the U.S. to universalize to build up their nuclear arsenal with underground experiments.

Speculators were the most active buyers all around. However, brokers reported some export business with wheat and soybeans overnight.

Grain Prices
to Firmer Trend

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices resumed their firmer trend with numerous contracts advancing major fractions or more in early dealings on the board of trade.

Wheat moved up as much as a cent from the first several minutes, says Daniel A. Benson of Western Mass., president of the National Farmers Union.

New York, former B&M president, George F. Glacy of Brooklyn, B&M vice president for 11 years, said this to happen. We were not in a position to explain our position to the jury. This is what is unjust about a grand jury indictment.

Mersey said: "It was very unusual in this to happen. We were not in a position to explain our position to the jury. This is what is unjust about a grand jury indictment."

McGinnis, head of Highway Trailers Inc., of New York, was not available for comment.

The indictment charged Benson, McGinnis and Glacy with violating antitrust laws forbidding common carriers from doing business with companies in which they have a substantial interest, unless it is conducted through competitive bidding.

A second count charged all defendants with violating federal law forbidding embezzlement or misapplication of common carrier funds.

The jury alleged the defendants sold, without competitive bidding, eight passenger and two passenger-baggage cars to International for $250,000 in August 1958.

The next day, the indictment charged Benson, McGinnis and Glacy with conspiring to sell the cars for $250,000.

Both aftercracks were discovered by employees reporting to MOD's and Baldwin. —AP/Work today.

Predict China to Blast Russ

May Use Test Ban for Basis of Attack

MOSCOW (UPI) — Diplomatic observers today predicted that Red China would use the new U.S. underground nuclear test as a springboard for a flurry of attacks on Russia.

The Peking regime, deeply embroiled in an ideological quarrel with the Kremlin, has denounced the Russian as for signing a partial test-ban treaty with the United States and Britain.

Diplomatic observers said the American low-yield test in Nevada Monday provided the Red Chinese with ammunition in its dispute with Moscow.

The Peking regime charges that the treaty, which bans tests in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water, is a "subterfuge" that legalized underground testing.

The diplomats assumed the Chinese would point out to other Communist bloc nations and the nonaligned powers that the United States exploded its underground device only a week after the nuclear accord was signed in Moscow.

The Soviets have defended the treaty as a first step toward disarmament and proof of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's doctrine of peaceful coexistence with the West.

But the Chinese claim the treaty blocks other Communists' plans from improving their defenses while enabling the U.S. to universalize to build up their nuclear arsenal with underground experiments.

Stock Mart Zigzags Downward

NEW YORK (AP) — Amid renewed fear of a possible railroad strike, the stock market declined irregularly early today. Trading was moderately active.

Losses of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered gains.

The trend among rails was slightly lower. All big three motor truck fractional losses. Steels, drugs, electronics and nonferrous metals were among fractional losers.

Word that efforts to settle the wage dispute had reached a stalemate cast a pall over the market. At the same time, the list had three days of advance behind it and a technical reaction was more of less expected.

Smith-Douglass, which soared 4 7/8 yesterday to a 1963 high of 48 on a big delayed opening block of 5,000 shares and later widened its loss to 5. Traders sold the stock on overnight news that Standard Oil (New Jersey) had denied a rumor that it would take over the fertilizer concern.

Other volatile issues also fell back. IBM and Polaroid lost 2 apiece, Xerox more than a point. Coca Cola 1.

Johns-Manville and U.S. Gypsum gained fractions. However, an estimate by Johns-Manville that construction expenditures across the nation will climb to $85 billion this year from $82 billion last year.

Sears Roebuck rose more than a point.

Prices were mostly lower on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds were irregular.
