

On-Target Astronauts Walk Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two American astronauts made a bullseye landing on the moon today, raising their nation's flag and exploring its black, powdery surface for about four hours.

Before returning safely to their lunar ferry Intrepid, they set up five scientific instruments powered by the first nuclear generator on the moon. It was man's second quest for knowledge on that alien soil.

The moon walk was spooled for earthlings when a camera transmitting the first color television pictures from the moon failed after 45 minutes.

Experts at the Manned Spacecraft Center here said it appeared the camera was accidentally pointed at the sun burning the sensitive image tube.

Charles (Pete) Conrad Jr. climbed back into the cabin at 10:28 a.m. EST after being on the surface 3 hours 44 minutes.

Alan L. Bean, his companion on this voyage of discovery, had reentered at 10:15 a.m. after an even three hours outside.

"We won't have any trouble sleeping tonight," Conrad reported.

Those third and fourth humans to tread the moon were in good humor and wise-cracked often as they explored the cratered world around them. Conrad's cackling became a familiar sound.

PERFECT LANDING

They steered their lunar ferry Intrepid to a perfect landing just 20 feet from the edge of their target crater at 1:54:29 a.m. Just 600 feet away rests an unmanned Surveyor spacecraft that soft-landed on the slope of the crater 2 1/2 years ago.

They hope to walk to the Surveyor and retrieve parts of it during a second outside excursion scheduled to start at 12:32 a.m. tomorrow. They also hope to have the television camera repaired in time for the second walk. Experts on the ground were working on a solution.

The nuclear generator worked perfectly, and the instruments began sending data to earth as soon as the unit was turned on.

After collecting a few rock samples, raising the flag and deploying the nuclear-powered instruments, Conrad and Bean climbed back into Intrepid's cabin to rest for the second excursion tomorrow.

Before returning to the cabin they brushed off layers of the dark powder that clung to them. They said it was thicker than that found by the Apollo 11 astronauts in July.

Related Stories, Pictures, Page A-7

The moon walkers originally were to have stayed outside about 3 1/2 hours. With their oxygen supply holding well, Mission Control told them to remain out an extra half an hour and instructed them to collect samples from the rim of a nearby crater.

Conrad and Bean reported the dust in the Ocean of Storms was thicker and blacker than that in the Sea of Tranquility where the first moon explorers landed in July.

Commander Conrad's first words as he placed his 13-inch boot in the soil were: "That may have been a small one for Neil, but that's a long one for me."

He referred jokingly to Neil Armstrong's first words last July when he became the first man to step on the moon. "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind."

The third member of the expedition, Edward F. Gordon Jr., orbited some 65 miles overhead, awaiting the return of his companions tomorrow after they complete 3 1/2 hours on the surface.

STRANGE MOUND

They were overjoyed at the landing spot, as they wandered at a variety of geological formations surrounding them.

The commander noted a strange-looking mound, and commented excitedly: "I've got to photograph this thing. I can't imagine what it is. There's this big mound sticking up about 300 feet at the foot of a shallow crater on the right-hand edge of the head crater. This is fantastic."

He later reported it looked like a small volcanic formation.

Twice they used a hammer to solve minor problems.

When Bean had trouble driving a tube into the ground to collect a soil sample from beneath the surface, he pounded it with a hammer.

Later, a hammer was used to remove a canister containing the radioactive element, Plutonium-238, from a protective cask.

If the canister had not come free, one of the major goals of the flight would have failed. Without the nuclear generator, the five scientific instruments would not work.

Senate War Critics
Decry Pullout Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several war critics on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee say the Nixon administration is on a withdrawal course from Vietnam, but the rate is too slow.

The senators, who gave their views after a closed meeting yesterday with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, had a similar session scheduled today with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Albert Gore, D-Tenn., agreed after talking with Rogers that the withdrawal course is irreversible. They complained, however, the policy may involve leaving up to 250,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam for an indefinite period.

WON'D GO FURTHER

Committee Chairman Fulbright said Rogers rejected repeated demands by members for further details on President Nixon's withdrawal plans and the secret timetable for turning the war over to the South Vietnamese.

Fulbright said the committee would

Sen. Williams
Will Vote No on Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., dealt a blow today to administration hopes for confirmation of the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., by lining up with the opposition.

With a Senate vote due Friday, Haynsworth supporters had been buoyed by earlier developments.

Williams told the Senate that "one can discern a pattern which indicates that Judge Haynsworth is insensitive to the expected requirements of judicial ethics, especially the rule that requires judges to separate from active business connections and to avoid even the appearance of impropriety."

Supporters of Haynsworth's nomination had been hoping that Williams would vote for confirmation, and some had said privately that if he decided against them, it would be a severe—and possibly fatal—blow.

Announcements yesterday by two freshman senators brightened the outlook for the Haynsworth backers.

The Senate's newest member, Republican Ralph T. Smith of Illinois, said he had changed his mind and will support Haynsworth. Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said he too will vote for confirmation.

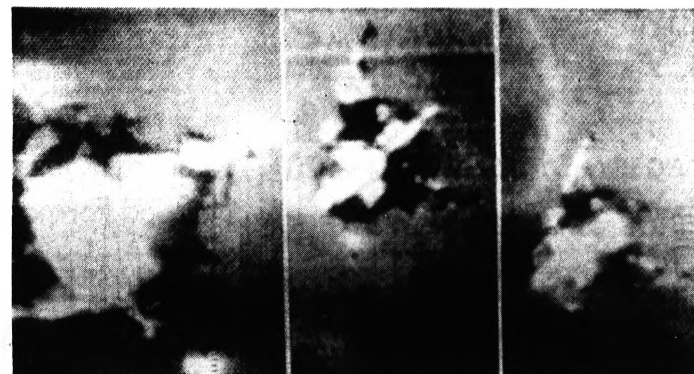

This came on the heels of word Monday from Sens. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., and William B. Spong, D-Va., that they would vote for Haynsworth.

MORE EXPECTED

Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said "the way things are going" he expects more announcements backing Haynsworth before Friday's 1 p.m. vote.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield outlined agreement on the timing of the vote after Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader of the opposition, withdrew a proposal for a showdown Thursday.

Williams' decision to vote against confirmation balanced an Associated Press survey with 41 senators supporting the nomination and 41 against. The other 18 remain publicly uncommitted.

Draft Lottery Plan
Gets Senate's OK

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The Senate gave final congressional approval today to President Nixon's draft lottery bill.

The measure was rushed to the floor and passed by voice vote after a perfunctory debate. It had already been passed by the House and now will go to Nixon for his signature.

The measure will pave the way for selection of 19-year-olds first, exposing each eligible man to the draft for only one year. At present, a man can be exposed to the draft for as long as six years.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee promised senators seeking broader draft reforms that his committee would begin hearings before Feb. 15 on more comprehensive proposals. But he could not promise such a bill would pass.

DEMAND A BARRIER

Demands by some senators, notably Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., for broader changes in draft law than simply removing the ban on a lottery, had threatened to block action on any change at all.

Kennedy agreed several days ago not to press for amendments on the floor provided that leaders would give assurance that hearings would be held next year on more extensive draft reform.

Today the debate was brief, the attendance sparse, and the only opposition vote cast by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Democratic leader.

Mansfield said he considers the draft system inequitable, and does not think the shift to random selection an adequate remedy.

ONLY ONE POINT

The initial reform step dealt with only one point in the current draft law: a three-year-old provision barring random selection of men for induction.

With repeal of that ban, the administration can shift to a lottery based system, probably on Feb. 1. As part of that change, the period of prime draft liability for young Americans is to be reduced to a single year: the year following a youth's 19th birthday, or the year after the expiration of his college deferment.

The lottery procedure would be used to establish the order of induction during that year.

The system will operate through a national drawing of the dates of the year.

Induction will then proceed on the basis of scrambled birthdays, with the sequence set by the lottery.

'Money Racket
Corrupts Viets'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A billion-dollar currency manipulation racket with Indian moneychangers at the top and GI deserters at the bottom has corrupted some South Vietnamese officials, congressional investigators have been told.

The investigations committee, headed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., also heard testimony yesterday that millions of dollars from the illegal operation end up in U.S. banks.

Robert Parker, an official at the U.S. embassy in Saigon, said the Indians "constitute a syndicate in the most criminal and sinister sense of the word."

"The presence of this well-known group of Indian currency violators, operating openly, weakens the morale of more dedicated Vietnamese law enforcement officials, makes corruption seem easy and encourages others to share in the black market profits themselves," Parker said.

GIs TAKE PART

He said many GIs have dealt with the money dealers who give up to 240 South Vietnamese piasters for a dollar instead of the legal rate of 118 to 1.

American deserters often sell their citizenship and contacts in the U.S. military to the syndicate, Parker indicated.

Church Tax Status at Stake

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawyer's battle with New York tax collectors over a speck of backyard land on Staten Island was transformed today in the Supreme Court into an ominous economic threat to organized religion.

Fredrick Walz, caused the high court to consider seriously for the first time whether the Constitution forbids states to exempt churches and synagogues from real estate taxes.

There's a lot riding on the outcome besides constitutional theory.

Some $79.5 billion in religious property could be opened to taxation — $726-million worth in New York state alone — if Walz wins.

HELP FROM ACLU

Walz had help from the American Civil Liberties Union and Edward J. Ennis, an ACLU lawyer from New York City who represented Walz at today's hearing.

Arrayed against Walz were New York city and state, 36 other states, the National Council of Churches, the United States Catholic Conference and other major religious organizations.

J. Lee Rankin, corporation counsel of New York City and U.S. solicitor general from 1956 to 1961, asked the court to throw out Walz' claim that the First Amendment forbids an exemption from real estate taxes for buildings that are used entirely for religious purposes.

Walz began asserting this claim from the time he bought a 22-by-29-foot parcel in June 1967.

ASSESSED AT $100

The property, assessed at $100, has some trees and bushes but no buildings and no access to any street.

In a summons served on the city's tax commission, Walz registered his basic complaint: that by paying a $524-a-year property tax he was being forced to indirectly support the churches and synagogues that are exempt from taxes.

The issue, obviously, is considerably more sophisticated.

The Supreme Court, on several occasions, has declared that "no tax in any amount, large or small, can be levied to support any religious activities or institutions, whatever they may be called, or whatever form they may adopt to teach or practice religion."

NEUTRALITY REQUIRED

But, at the same time, the court has said the First Amendment "requires the state to be a neutral in its relations with groups of religious believers and nonbelievers; it does not require the state to be their adversary."

The first statement is taken as support of Walz' position: the second is taken by defenders of tax exemptions as authority and justification for continuing exemptions.

Season's First Snowstorm Finds Service Crews Ready

Snow blew into Pontiac and Oakland County today and activated an army of men and equipment designed to control its effects.

The County Road Commission's total fleet of 122 salt trucks and graders took to the roads at 7 a.m. today and plans were in the making to activate snowplows should the storm continue and hamper the homebound rush-hour traffic.

David Hasse, the commission's maintenance director, said adequate salt is on hand.

In the city of Pontiac, the Department of Public Works and Services had 692 tons of salt at the works' yard at Western and the railroad. Seven salt trucks and 25 vehicles to push, load and haul snow were ready to travel should the storm continue.

Pravda Claims U.S. Fans Mideast Fire

By United Press International

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda today joined the Egyptian National Assembly in assailing the United States for stirring up trouble in the Middle East.

In a commentary, Pravda writer Yevgeni Primakov said so-called Western imperial forces had failed in their recent attempt to isolate Lebanon from the rest of the Arab world by causing internal friction in the country.

"This failure means a serious blow at the present U.S.-Israeli tactics of defeating the Arab countries one by one," Primakov said.

He said Western diplomacy and imperialist intelligence services were unable this time to cause a civil war in Lebanon as they did in 1958 because the "national awareness of the entire Lebanese people has grown."

U.S. BLAMED

The Egyptian National Assembly last night said the United States was responsible for the failure to reach a political settlement to the Middle East crisis.

As the assembly was issuing its statement, a Cairo military spokesman announced that Egyptian commandos Monday night attacked the headquarters of the Israeli military governor at El Arish in Northern Sinai and set nearby fuel dumps afire.

Israel earlier in the day had reported an attack on the outpost Monday night but blamed it on Arab guerrillas. A Tel Aviv spokesman said four soldiers and the visiting wife of one of the men were wounded in the raid.

The Egyptian assembly statement said, "America is responsible for pushing the Mideast toward a war whose possibilities and effects on world peace and security nobody can foresee."

The El Arish raid, was the second by Egyptian commandos in two days. Sunday airborne frogmen attacked ships in the Israeli port of Elath, claiming to have sunk three of them. Israel said two vessels were damaged.

Aide to Nixon: No Recession

PARIS (AP)—Paul W. McCracken, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, said yesterday there was no evidence of a recession shaping up in the United States.

There is a relaxation of pressure on the economy, as witnessed by the decline in growth of industrial production since July, and sluggish demand for retail sales running at the late-spring level, and a tendency to accumulate inventories, he said.

McCracken spoke at the opening of a two-day meeting of the Economic Policy Committee of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

In answer to questions, McCracken said that an unemployment rate of 7 per cent was "unacceptable" but declined to give an "acceptable" figure.

We are out to "cool off the economy," he said. "We aren't unmindful that there is a risk of some adverse effect on unemployment."

McCracken said he expected a further improvement in the U.S. current account balance surplus next year.

A cooling-off of the U.S. economy should not hurt other nations because they are all fighting inflation and pursuing the same policy, he said.

Battle Creek Slaying Victim Is Described as a 'Nice Girl'

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)—In an announcement eerily reminiscent of seven similar tragedies 75 miles to the east, officials said today that Diana Lynn Black, a "nice little girl" found frozen in a field, died of strangulation.

The body of the 14-year-old ninth grader was found Tuesday, one of her

Kennedy Rites Not Sad Format

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (U)—A funeral Mass with a theme of spiritual joy will be offered tomorrow for Joseph P. Kennedy in the small clapboard church where the Kennedys have worshipped for years.

The 81-year-old former ambassador, father of President John F. Kennedy and patriarch of one of the nation's most famous political families, died yesterday at his Cape Cod home.

He had been in poor health since suffering a stroke eight years ago. Last Saturday he had another stroke. He grew progressively weaker, slipping into a coma Monday.

Members of the family attended a special Mass offered last night by the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh at St. Francis Xavier church in Hyannis. Father Cavanaugh is a long-time friend of the Kennedys.

CARDINAL CELEBRANT

Tomorrow's 9 a.m. funeral Mass will be offered in the same church. Kennedy's close friend, Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, will be the celebrant. He will be assisted by the Rev. Joseph Maguire, a member of the cardinal's staff, and the Rev. Joseph Fitzgerald, a nephew of Mrs. Kennedy.

Only the family and close friends will attend. There will be no wake.

The white funeral Mass will be a departure from Roman Catholic tradition. The Mass is called white because the clergy will wear white vestments instead of purple or black.

Supervisors Eye Night Meetings

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors may conduct up to four night meetings next year, to enable more taxpayers to attend the sessions.

Two of the possible night meetings would be hearings on the tentative budget and on the final budget.

Such a recommendation will be made to the full board tomorrow by the committee on committees, which met yesterday.

FORM UNDETERMINED

Whether the bureau will take the form of a separate office or result in increased responsibilities for switchboard operators and information receptionists remains to be determined.

A recommendation was postponed until present employees could be interviewed regarding their duties.

The committee recommended to the public works committee, and the board establishment of another special committee on roads, this one to be devoted to the widening and improvement of Telegraph.

A committee seeking improvement on M59, M150, I-275 construction and a change in the road funding formula already exists.

O'BRIEN QUILTS

Carl W. O'Brien, D-Pontiac, submitted his resignation yesterday from the latter committee, saying it was not able to make an impression on the State Highway Commission.

"We can't even talk to them," he said. He suggested getting state legislators from the area involved in the problem.

Paul Kasper, R-Bloomfield Township, said nearly 300 citizens had shown up at an afternoon meeting to protest traffic conditions on Telegraph. "The legislators will have to reckon with the voters if they don't recognize Telegraph's problem," he warned.

NO OTHER MARKS

There were no other marks on her body, he said, and there was "no evidence she had been sexually molested in the usual way." He did not elaborate.

The autopsy showed she had been dead "in excess of 48 hours," Dr. Jacobson said.

She was wearing a brown suede jacket, a white blouse and a brown skirt when she left home Nov. 11. She was wearing the same clothes when she was found. Besides her stocking, one shoe had also been removed from the body.

Diana Lynn was one of seven children living with her mother and stepfather, a gas station owner who said she had no particular boyfriends and didn't go out much.

Although there were several similarities to the Washington County killings, authorities declined to link Diana Lynn's death to them. No suspects were in custody, they said.

Brown said he reported his stepdaughter missing the evening of Nov. 11.

Philippines Deny U.S. 'Payment'

MANILA (AP)—The Philippines government denied today that it had received $45 million in allowances and equipment from the United States for sending a noncombat construction group to South Vietnam.

Undisclosed amounts of funds were received, however, for "national security and intelligence," the presidential palace said.

In secret congressional testimony made in Washington yesterday, Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the United States sent the Philippines a "handsome fee" for sending the 2,000-man group to the war zone.

U.S., Soviets Shatter Precedent

Joint Party at Arms Talks

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—The U.S. and the Soviet Union are giving a precedent-shattering joint party today during the one-day recess in the strategic arms limitation talks.

The reception being given by Ambassadors Val Peterson and A. E. Kovalev is the first in Helsinki—and diplomats believe the first anywhere—to be given jointly by Soviet and American ambassadors.

The idea—understood to have been proposed by Peterson and willingly seconded by his Soviet counterpart—was to stage a get-acquainted social for the disarmament delegations, their staffs and leaders of the Finnish government hosting the conference.

About 200 guests were invited to the reception at a restaurant-nightclub neutrally located between the U.S. and Soviet embassies.

SPLIT COST

The two ambassadors drew up the invitation list—and agreed to split the cost 50-50.

The joint reception underscored the air of cordiality which has surrounded the negotiations since they first met Monday.

Conference sources said there have been no procedural disputes so far like the long argument in Paris last year over the shape of the table for the Vietnam peace talks.

A toss of the coin, for example, gave Soviet negotiator Vladimir S. Semenov first place in delegations lineup at the ceremonial opening. The Russians readily agreed in turn to hold the first business session yesterday at the U.S.

Embassy, and the Americans agreed to hold the next session tomorrow at the Soviet Embassy.

Whether this show of cooperation means the two superpowers will make any progress in the main aim of the talks—to slow down the nuclear arms race—remains to be seen.

The shortness of the first negotiating session—only 45 minutes of business time since the 90-minute meeting was spent in translations—indicated neither side presented its position in detail.

The one-day layover presumably gave the envoys time to report home and get instructions.

Lahser Panel Will Discuss Curriculum

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—The Parents and Friends Organization of Lahser will host "Curriculum at Lahser" Dec. 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

The program will feature a panel of the people most responsible for curriculum and instruction at the high school: Robert E. Boston, assistant superintendent of schools for the Bloomfield District; Elbert C. Pack, principal; George E. Cavin, assistant principal; and William R. Waum, counselor.

BIRMINGHAM—Parking meter revenue was down in the city during October compared to the same month a year ago, according to a report released by Police Chief D. L. Brustle.

Chief Brustle said the average revenue for October, 1969 was $2.88 a meter compared to $3.05 for the same month last year.

The chief said the meter income shows a slight decrease (six per cent) mainly because long-term parking are using the city's parking garages. The change has been reflected in all surveys since the opening of Deck No. 1, he noted.

The police official added that gross income from the automobile parking system for the first quarter did increase 15 1/2 per cent, indicating parking garages made up more than the decrease in meter revenue.

The Birmingham Parks and Recreation Board has recommended the City Commission delay action concerning construction of an additional ball diamond in Poppleton Park until results are available on new residency restrictions imposed for 1970.

"It is the feeling of the board that existing diamonds will prove sufficient for all of the ballplayers who will be eligible to play in 1970," said Marjorie M. Walker, parks board chairman.

State PTA Leader Attacks Parochialism

LANSING (U)—Proclaiming parochialism "a death sentence to the public school system," the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers is marshalling forces to work toward its defeat in the House of Representatives.

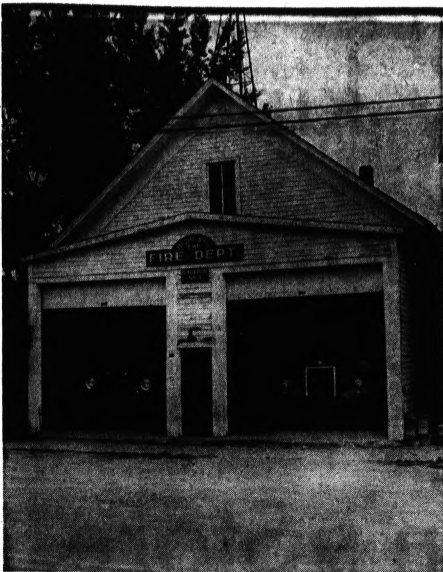

Mrs. Jane Tate, Congress president, yesterday called the nearly 300,000 PTA members across the state to a Lansing meeting Dec. 23, when the Legislature is to reconvene after a two-week recess.

PTA members, she said, must "oppose parochialism before it slides through the House as it did the Senate."

The upper chamber approved a $1 billion-plus state school aid bill, including $25 million for the state aid to nonpublic schools late last week.

At the same time, the Senate approved a measure repealing the current property tax credit against the income tax.

Scene Continues To Change

Highland Fire Hall Near End of Era

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP—The turning of a shovelful of wet, cold dirt today signaled the end of an era for the old fire hall which is steeped in township history.

The scene was a snow-covered groundbreaking ceremony for the new $150,000 fire hall to be completed by early spring.

The weathered old fire hall on Lake Court has a civic record better than that of most men. The building was constructed in 1890 as a hall for yearly town meetings.

The clerk and township supervisor conducted business off high stools in the front office. A library was set up in the back room.

TEMPORARY SCHOOLROOM

In 1933-34 — the Depression years — the library part became a temporary schoolroom for youngsters whose school on M59 was being remodeled. In other years it doubled as a dance hall and theater.

In 1942, the fire department was formed. The building was reconditioned to house the fire engine in the front room, next to a table and five chairs used by township officers for business.

Township offices were formally moved from the building in 1952 when current facilities were constructed on John Street.

When the township offices moved, the building was remodeled to house only the fire station.

Next spring, the building may again be remodeled to house a youth center, according to township supervisor Chester Burton.

The new fire hall to be built on Livingston is being constructed by Gordon B. Hall and Sons Inc. of Southfield.

The contract award was the first project of the recently created building authority.

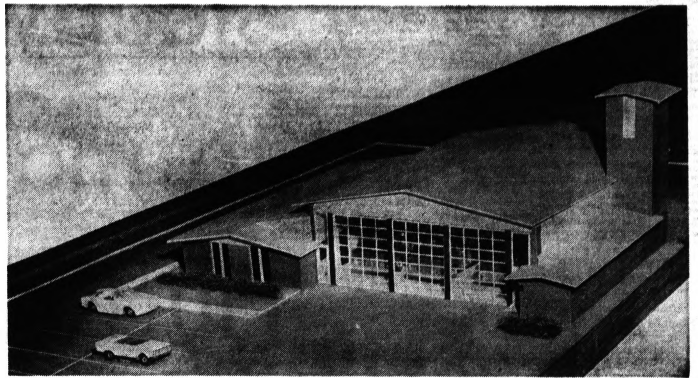

The building will house six vehicles, a hose-drying tower and an emergency disaster headquarters.

Plans include an easily removable roof so a second-floor dormitory can be added at a later date. The township is also installing special equipment to insure a water supply and radio dispatches during any possible emergency.

There is another township fire hall housing three vehicles on Duck Lake Road. The fire chief, since 1961, is Roland Casserly.

Construction and maintenance of the new fire hall will be paid from a 1-mill tax approved by township residents two years ago.

Milliken Backs Crime Panel Plan

LANSING (UPI) — Organized crime is closing in on Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken said yesterday, and it poses a "very serious threat to this state."

In his weekly news conference Milliken endorsed a report made by his commission studying criminal investigating procedures which recommended creation of a special agency whose sole purpose would be the investigation of a organized crime in Michigan.

"It is very clear the commission believes that organized crime is a very serious threat to this state," Milliken said. "I have no reason to disagree."

He said state officials should be "very alert to this problem" of gangsters filtering into legitimate businesses.

NOT CHANGED

But the governor said his support for the proposed agency does not change his position that the one-man grand jury system should be phased out.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Philip Pratt, chairman of the governor's commission, said the one-man grand jury has not operated effectively in the past in organized crime areas.

Milliken also discussed his proposed school reform package and said he is not worried that an upcoming reconsideration vote in the Senate will affect his school aid bill.

"I'm confident we're in a sound position," he said. "I believe the votes will hold."

AID APPROVED

The Senate last week approved the governor's billion-dollar school aid bill, including $25 million for Parochialism, on a 22-15 vote, but will reconsider the vote when it reconvenes on Dec. 2.

The Senate will also reconsider its 20-17 vote approving the governor's measure to repeal the statewide property tax credit, now given to taxpayers on Michigan income tax forms.

Milliken also discussed Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticisms of the broadcast news media and said he does "not entirely agree."

"I agree with the vice president that the news media has awesome responsibilities," Milliken said. "But I would rather have censorship of the government by the press than censorship of the press by the government."

Teacher Union Official Critical

Birmingham School Board Rapped

By NED ADAMSON

BIRMINGHAM — A Birmingham Education Association (BEA) official criticized the board of education, last night "for failure to enter into meaningful contract negotiations" with the BEA, the bargaining agent for more than 900 teachers in the Birmingham School District.

Appearing at last night's regular board meeting, along with an estimated 400 to 500 teachers in a show of strength, BEA President, John Sala said the school board is conducting a hypocritical educational program.

"People move to Birmingham because of the reputation of the school district. Yet, there has been a 42 per cent turnover on the teaching staff in the past two years, and our scale is now second from the bottom in the 27 school districts in Oakland County," Sala remarked in a prepared statement.

He continued: "No school district which wants to remain excellent can deprive its teachers of a salary that will enable them to live and work in dignity. We are asking you to reconsider your stand in negotiations and intensify talks.

The time has come to give the teachers a contract."

In response to Sala's statement, Richard Halsted, board vice president, said the basic objective of the board of education is to provide the best possible contract within the finances available.

Noting that the board and BEA reached agreement on a tentative agreement shortly before school started in September, which was subsequently rejected by BEA membership, Halsted said every effort is being made by board negotiators to come up with a settlement.

"We recognize the importance of maintaining a competent teaching staff, but we can pay for only what we can afford," Halsted said.

'IMPROVED STATUS'

Halsted noted that since 1965 when state legislation was passed requiring boards of education to negotiate with teacher unions, school teachers have improved their economic status.

He then charged that teachers have not improved their educational programs commensurate with their increased compensation.

"The board meeting is not the proper place to talk about an employee's situation. And newspapers are not the place to negotiate. Public attacks and counterattacks do not result in meaningful negotiations," he said.

The next bargaining session is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

'NEGOTIATIONS GOING POORLY'

Negotiations are going very poorly, according to Pat Lane, BEA negotiator. "The BEA has tried to clear many items but the board seems to be dragging its feet. It appears the administration's negotiating team is trying to exhaust the BEA team physically and mentally," she said.

She noted that complete agreement has been reached on only four articles. There is no agreement on the major issues — salary, agency shop, grievance procedure and arbitration, academic freedom, discipline, teacher evaluation and progress," Mrs. Lane explained.

An administration spokesman said there are still eight noneconomic issues remaining to be settled. He said agreement had been reached on academic freedom, promotions procedure, teacher evaluation and various other minor clauses.

Administration negotiation team officials have consistently stated that the BEA demands would create a deficit financing situation.

In the tentative settlement that was rejected by the BEA, the teacher's original salary package demand totaling $1,593,000 was reduced to $885,000, according to Joseph Griffin, chief board negotiator.

The demand by the new negotiation team compared favorably to the original demand reverting negotiations to the same level where they began in April, according to Griffin.

2 Legislators to Talk on Education Reform

AVON TOWNSHIP — Two state legislators will speak at a public meeting on educational reform tomorrow at 8 p.m. sponsored by the Avon-Rochester Democratic Club.

Senate Democratic leader Sander M. Levin of Berkeley and Rep. Roy L. Spencer, R-Attica, a member of the House Education Committee, will appear in the vocal music room of Rochester Senior High School, Walton Boulevard and Livernois Road.

"The Education Crisis — Is the Governor's Package an Answer?" will be their topic, with each man addressing himself to the subject of the Sept. 30 report of the Governor's Commission on Education Reform. A question-and-answer session involving the audience will follow.

Such topics as aid to nonpublic schools, establishment of regional school districts, reorganization of the State Board of Education, and financing proposals such as increased state income tax, with ceilings on local property taxes for education, will be aired.

Forgram chairman for the meeting is Mrs. George E. Lennox, 379 W. Maryknoll.

Immigrant Is Mute to Murder Charges

HUNTINGTON WOODS (UPI) — A 74-year-old Armenian immigrant, charged in the stabbing deaths of his daughter-in-law and grandchild, stood mute yesterday at his arraignment on murder charges in this Detroit suburb.

A plea of innocent was entered for Karabel Vapurcuyan by Judge Roy H. Christensen of Huntington Woods Municipal Court at the arraignment in William Beaumont Hospital where Vapurcuyan was a police prisoner.

He was accused in the stabbing deaths of Mrs. Kianakos Vapurcuyan, 40, and her daughter, Anni, 2, Monday. Their bodies were discovered by a neighbor in the vestibule of their fashionable home and Vapurcuyan was arrested after a neighbor saw him wandering in the neighborhood with a cut right hand.

The elderly man came to this country three years ago and had been living with his son and daughter-in-law.

Police Still Probing Fatal Auto Crash

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Township police are still investigating a fatal accident which occurred on Farmington Road near Oakland at 5:30 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Ruth King, 54, of 21799 Powers was dead on arrival at Botsford Hospital according to a police spokesman.

He reported that Mrs. King attempted to pass a stopped car waiting to turn left but her car apparently began sliding across the center line and into oncoming traffic. Her car was hit by one driven northward by Gordon Hunter, 42, of 22000 Craftsbury.

News in Brief Around Area

WALLED LAKE — Techniques to help school-age and pre-school children acquire good speech habits will be discussed at a public meeting sponsored by the Wallied Lake Schools speech department tomorrow.

A movie on normal speech and language development and discussion will be offered at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at Clifford Smart Junior High School.

Pianist Will Perform at Center Tomorrow

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Russian-born American concert-pianist, Josef Raleff, will present a lecture-recital at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Farmington Community Center, 24750 Farmington.

Raleff's appearance is part of the New Frontiers in the Performing Arts Series, arranged by the Farmington Arts Council with the cooperation of Oakland Community College.

Police and Birmingham Are Still $500 Apart

BIRMINGHAM — Only minor progress was reported in yesterday's bargaining talks between city commission negotiators and the Birmingham Police Officers Association (BPA).

The city reportedly raised its offer $100 to $10,300 at maximum seniority. The BPA is asking a maximum of $10,800.

No further talks are scheduled before the weekend.

Spokesmen for the BPA said yesterday a mass resignation and walkout by policemen is imminent if a contract is not settled by the end of the week.

Junior Miss Fete Set

WALLED LAKE — The annual Junior Miss contest is 8 p.m. Saturday at Western High School auditorium. Seven Western Senior High students are competing in the pageant sponsored by Wallied Lake Area Jaycees.

Drug Center Supported

DETROIT (AP) — A movement to utilize the federally owned former Detroit Marine Hospital as a narcotics treatment and rehabilitation center has support of Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, chairman of a Senate subcommittee on alcoholism and narcotics.

Hughes visited the facility yesterday with Circuit Judge John B. Swainson, a former governor, and a leader of a campaign to have the hospital converted to use as a treatment and rehabilitation center.

Company Hits Contract Award

LANSING (AP) — Holloway Construction Co. of Wixom has objected to the award by the state highway department of a $13 million contract in Flint to a rival construction Co. in Wixom.

Walter Toebe & Co. of Wixom was declared the low bidder, at $13,140,414 for the construction of an interchange linking Interstate 475 and M78 freeways in Flint.

The project includes 1.5 miles of paving, construction of drainage structures and construction of nine bridges and a pump-house.

Holloway submitted a lower bid of $12,920,022. The bid was declared ineligible, however, because the firm failed to include a letter of intent to perform the project from an electrical subcontractor.

LOWER BID

The Holloway bid was some $220,000 lower than the bid submitted by Toebe & Co.

An attorney for Holloway wrote the State Administrative Board and Henrik Stafseth, Highway Department Director, demanding it be awarded the contract and asking for a hearing before the award is finalized.

C. J. Rogers Co., Inc. of Detroit also submitted a lower bid than Toebe, Inc., of $13,103,062. This bid was rejected because a unit price was left out.

Stafseth said the highway department had not yet heard any challenge of the bid award from the Detroit contractor.

SHE'S PRO-AMERICA—Mrs. Joseph Charter of 84 Lyford in Pontiac prepares to distribute American flags to area Girl Scout leaders yesterday at the Oakland County Sportmen's Club. Mrs. Charter is chairman of the Americanism committee for the Chief Pontiac Post No. 377, American Legion Women's Auxiliary.

State Council to Beef Up Aid to Consumers

LANSING (AP) — If a Harvard-trained woman lawyer and a relatively new state agency are successful, Michigan consumers will be armed with the savvy of old-time horse traders when they try to sort out space-age advertising claims.

Diane McKaig, newly appointed executive director of the Michigan Consumers Council, Tuesday outlined what the 3-year-old state agency hopes to do to help the consumer get a more productive bang for his spending buck.

Miss McKaig, until her appointment, directed the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department's consumer services office and formerly served as an attorney in the U.S. Labor Department.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, an ex officio member of the nine-member council, said expanded activities of the council led him to "anticipate more mobilization and more meaningful enforcement" of state consumer laws.

LONELY VIGIL

"There was a time when this was a rather lonely vigil," Kelley said. "There were those who thought we were sent in from Moscow to destroy the capitalist system."

A combination of "education, legislation and tough law enforcement," Kelley said, could easily minimize the number of fraudulent consumer practices such as home improvement racks.

One of the council's major staff projects, Miss McKaig said will be to publicize available product data, legal standards and marketing practices gleaned from state agencies, university researchers or industry.

That would be done in a council bulletin, published periodically, she said.

$69,000 BUDGET

The council this year received a budget appropriation of $69,000. The relatively small sum is considerably larger than the $5,000, $8,000 and $12,000 appropriated for it the first three years. It will enable hiring four to six additional staff members, Miss McKaig said.

Secretary of State James M. Hoge and Commerce Department director Richard Whitmer also serve on the council, which is to have nine members when fully established.

A legislative committee, headed by Rep. Marvin Stemplen, D-Livonia, is studying a proposed Uniform Consumer Credit Code that would simplify Michigan's retail credit laws and put them substantially into accord with those of other states adopting the code.

The council, according to chairman Leo Katz, a Michigan State University professor, soon will make detailed recommendations on that controversial proposal.

In a related project, staff researcher Andrew Eiler catalogued all Michigan laws on consumer matters ranging from fortune telling (illegal in Michigan) to bird seed and turpentine. The catalogue gives statute numbers and the name of the agency responsible for overseeing the specific product or market function.

Gains Claimed on State Aid for Poor Children

LANSING (AP)—Pressing his fight to make sure schools with poor white students share in special state funds, Rep. Joseph Swallow from the Michigan Board of Education.

After a meeting with Asst. Atty. Gen. Eugene Krasicky, Swallow said late Tuesday he had assurances the board soon would rewrite its definition of "underprivileged children."

This means poor, nonmigrant whites would be considered underprivileged by the same standard as Negroes, Spanish-speaking groups and migrant whites.

Swallow, R-Alpena, said an agreement also was being completed today in which the board would give "fair consideration" in the future to including additional factors as a measure of cultural and economic deprivation.

OTHER FACTORS

These would be sparse population, housing, and number of retired persons living on fixed incomes in a geographical area. Krasicky represented the board in discussions with Swallow, who is negotiating concessions as the price for withholding court action.

The House bowed to Swallow last week and the Senate is his next target as he seeks a re-definition of board-adopted rules on what constitutes cultural and economic deprivation.

The Legislature passed the law specifying aid to schools in areas with cultural and economic deprivation, but definitions were left to the State Board of Education.

SAME CHANCE

Swallow says the law is all right if the definitions are straightened out so that poor white areas of northern Michigan have the same chance for funds as black areas of southern Michigan.

The State Board of Education can change the definitions on its own but a redistribution of the points or changes in the law would have to come from the Legislature.

Swallow filed suit last month after the $4.7 million provided by the Legislature fell short of funding some schools which sought funds. One school shut out was the Mio-AuSable school in Oscoda County of northern Michigan. Swallow claimed all the schools which got money had a high proportion of blacks, and that the reason was the definition of "underprivileged children."

As one of five guidelines for determining eligibility for the funds, this category can provide up to 25 of the maximum 75 points a school can claim. Any school which cannot claim points in this category is at a disadvantage if there is not enough money for everyone. The schools with the most points get funded first.

AN INJUNCTION

Earlier this month, Circuit Judge Jack Warren granted an injunction against the scheduled distribution of funds Dec. 1. But then Swallow began working for concessions.

He agreed to hold back enough additional money was provided to fund all schools while the additional funds, presumably the money could go out AuSable. The figure was $1.5 million. He also insisted on changes in the definitions for a cultural and economic deprivation club.

Just before adjourning last Thursday for a two-week recess of the Legislature, the House hurriedly agreed to the additional money.

Swallow apparently now has his concessions on definitions.

UP TO THE SENATE

Now it is up to the Senate, which does not come back until Dec. 2—a day after the funds are to be sent out.

Swallow says he has not yet had the injunction signed. So if

Accents the Positives

While in no way minimizing the gravity of social and economic problems, one of the Country's outstanding industrialists, whose company has been a leader in training and providing opportunities for the hard-core unemployed, declares that we are not sufficiently accenting the social positive.

He notes that 96,459,483 men DID NOT commit a criminal offense in 1968; in the same year 4,896,720 college students DID NOT participate in a campus demonstration; 201,469,710 citizens DID NOT use illegal drugs.

An essential approach, he suggests, to the many problems admittedly confronting the Country is that of a historic perspective—an awareness of the direction we are traveling and the gains which have been made. For example, a great deal is heard about 25.5 million people living below the poverty line as defined by the government—$3,533 for a nonfarm family of four. This is 13 per cent of the population, but in considering this figure it should be recalled that in 1961 the figure was not 13 but 22 per cent. The trend is more important than a negative statistic.

These figures represent what this business executive calls the "invisible majority." Speaking as one of them, he observes, "In our bones we feel the current of the time that is leading us ever closer to the fulfillment of our American future."

Bus-Fare Change Pays Off

At last count, some two-dozen major cities had adopted the exact-change plan in their public transportation systems.

Under this plan, a bus or rapid transit rider must deposit the exact fare in coins or a ticket he has purchased in advance, or else receive change for a bill in script, which he can later redeem at designated locations.

After some initial grumbling, the method has been generally accepted by riders and has been found to increase efficiency of operations by relieving drivers of the distracting business of change-making. But the major purpose behind the idea-detering robberies—has been even more dramatically realized.

Most cities report impressive decreases in the number of attacks on drivers, who no longer have to carry large amounts of money to make change. In Cleveland, for example, where scores of robberies and one or two killings of bus drivers used to be registered every year, the problem has been reduced virtually to zero.

This raises some interesting thoughts. One wonders what has happened to those hoodlums who once made a specialty of preying on bus drivers. Undoubtedly they have gone into other lines of crime, but it is at least possible that some would be criminal beginners have been forced to start simply because, in this instance at least, crime is no longer practical.

Criminals, they say, are not born but made. And one neglected factor in their making is that society has never undertaken, nor been willing to pay for, a really comprehensive and scientific exploration of the field of crime deterrence.

News Bias Not Limited to TV

WASHINGTON—The morning after Vice President Spiro Agnew's attack on the electronic media, Washington's only morning paper took him to task for the inaccuracy of his remarks, although it admitted that "a case can be made against television news coverage."

On the same day, in its feature section, it ran a head, "Agnew Upstages Alaska." The jump on the story was headed "Agnew Versus Alaska."

That was the only connection between the two heads, the lead, and the story. NOT ONLY TV I cite this to show that editorializing in news coverage is not limited to the television networks.

The vice president, of course, has good reason to know this, and at some point he may be moved to take on those newspapers which believe that every inch of newsprint should reflect their editorial policies.

Notwithstanding the uproar that has followed Agnew's speech, the fact remains that he merely scratched the surface.

Those who watch the major network news shows have been complaining for many months over the inordinate time given to rioters, demonstrators, "civil rights" activists, and others in the same category, while important and even sensational news in other areas is neglected or ignored.

LITTLE GAME

It is not only in the news, however, that the networks play this little game. Television can make a writer, an entertainer, a public figure. Night after night, the network talk shows, with their multimillions of viewers, feature authors of current books, show business people, and others who, it is presumed, have something to say. But a conservative has as little chance to get on one of these programs as Johnny Carson would to crawl through the eye of a needle.

The same procedure is visible across the whole spectrum of network television, day after day, night after night.

Is there one major television network commentator who reflects the views of the "silent majority"? Is there one major network interview program whose panel balances those of differing ideologies?

William F. Buckley can be seen in Washington, true, but he has been dropped by the network that handled him and is now relegated to a UHF station.

This is what Vice President Agnew was talking about, though he limited himself to the news side of network television coverage.

Silent Majority Quiet About Boom for Agnew

Sen. Goldwater's jet, the cat out of the bag, Spiro T. Agnew, he revealed, may be drafted for president — if he "keeps on expressing the sentiment of the vast, overwhelming majority of the American people."

This premature disclosure has caused some consternation in the thousands upon thousands of Spiro T. Agnew for President fan clubs now springing up across the nation.

It is in these clubs at every crossroads that the Silent Majority has been meeting in silence nightly to silently view old film clips and silently listen to recorded speeches of the beloved vice president.

But they had hoped to keep their draft-Spiro plans quiet until they had healed a serious schism in their ranks.

CRITICAL QUESTION

For, unfortunately, these millions of silent fans are bitterly divided on the critical question of the whole campaign: Who will be Agnew's running mate?

One faction of the Silent Majority is backing Prof. Emeritus L. Emeritus. Prof. Emeritus is not only an impudent snob, says his backers quietly, but he is author of the best-selling "Sex Is Good for You" — and is thus a certified parasite of passion.

The choice of a genuine effete intellectual is essential, they logically contend, to balance the ticket.

VIEW DISPUTED

This traditional view of the vice president's role is disputed by more up-to-date thinkers in the movement. They are supporting Stanislaus (Big Mouth) Ury, a 52-year-old boiler-maker's apprentice. A spokesman for this faction made its position clear to reporters through sign language.

"Ticket balancing is old hat," he stated, his fingers moving rapidly. "The function of a vice president has changed radically, thanks to Mr. Nixon."

"It was Nixon who broke with tradition as vice president to become engaged in a petty kitchen argument with Mr. Khrushchev and to get spat on in Venezuela. By contrast, Mr. Eisenhower appeared to be the most cool-headed, wise and statesmanlike president in decades."

"We say Mr. Ury is the ideal candidate for a modern vice president," continued the spokesman with pride. "In fact, he's the one man in the country who can make Agnew look good."

So as soon as the Spiro T. Agnew for President fan clubs can solve the critical problem of finding a running mate who'll either balance the ticket or make Agnew look good, we can expect a noisy boom from the silent majority.

Or, at least, as noisy a boom as the Silent Majority ever makes.

Japanese View Okinawa Talks as Vital

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

No one hopes more fervently than Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato that the United States is out of the war in Vietnam before the end of 1972.

He is meeting with President Nixon in Washington with a date for the return to Japan of the strategic island of Okinawa the most pressing item on his agenda. "And that date must depend in large part on events in Vietnam."

In Japan the talks are regarded as the most important between the two powers since the end of World War II, and the pressures on Sato are so great that before leaving Tokyo he declared: "I have staked my political life on the reversion of Okinawa to Japan."

NO EXAGGERATION

It was scarcely an exaggeration.

No other emotional issue stirs the Japanese so much as Okinawa and its population of one million. Closely linked with it in the Japanese mind is the mutual security treaty linking the United States and Japan which expires in June 1970.

It will extend itself automatically subject to 12 months cancellation unless either side acts to stop it.

Both the United States and the Japanese government want it extended.

THREE FACES

In its relations with the United States, Japan wears three faces. One is that of Sato and his Liberal-Democratic majority party, pro-American and anxious for renewal of the security treaty.

Sato declares, "We cannot survive in this world with a defenseless neutrality."

Another is the violent left-wing minority demanding both the return of Okinawa, an end to the security treaty and the departure of some 25,000 American servicemen who maintain in Japan six major air bases, two naval installations and about two dozen lesser facilities.

STUDENTS, LABOR

This opposition is made up of a minority of Japan's two million university students and some labor unions.

The third face is that presented to the United States in economic relations.

The United States is Japan's best customer and the United States sells more to Japan than to any other nation except Canada.

Still to be settled by President Nixon and the Japanese premier are the conditions under which the United States could continue the use of its multimillion dollar bases on Okinawa. Also to be settled is the fate of American business interests there.

Daily Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Wednesday, Nov. 19, the 323rd day of 1969 with 42 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1863, President Lincoln delivered the Gettysburg Address at the Civil War battlefield.

In 1876, William Marcy Tweed, political "boss" of Tammany Hall in New York, was convicted of defrauding the city of about $6 million and was given a 12-year prison term.

Also in 1874, the National Women's Christian Temperance Union was organized in Cleveland.

In 1918, the U.S. Senate rejected the Treaty of Versailles drawn up by the Paris peace conference at the end of World War II.

A thought for the day: President Woodrow Wilson said, "There must be, not a balance of power, but a community of power; not organized rivalries, but an organized common peace."

Praises Leaders' Efforts Toward Peace, Justice

I commend the President and Vice President for their courageous defense of their efforts to secure peace without surrender.

This team of leaders is trying to heal national wounds, temper gone-wild emotions, regain some sanity and expose the character assassins and reveal the big image-makers.

Shoots From Car; Kills Tame Duck

Saturday morning a man driving a white Chevrolet Nova with a black vinyl top, stopped on Indianwood in Lake Orion and shot twice from his car, killing a tame duck swimming on a private pond.

The ducks were raised by neighbor children and couldn't even fly. The children saw him shoot their pet.

I wish to warn hunters to be on the lookout for this man who carries a 20-gauge shotgun. A "sportsman" like this might shoot you in the back and steal your game.

'U.S. Should Withdraw From Vietnam'

Isn't it a shame that President Nixon can always tell the people of the United States how many American troops he is pulling out of Vietnam. Has he ever told how many thousands are being sent to Vietnam every day? These troops that are being withdrawn are some that have served their time and are due home anyway. Our sons are still going to Vietnam for troop replacements.

I think it's time our President pulled all our troops out of Vietnam. This is a war that can't be won and I think all politicians know it. If the United States would keep its nose in its own affairs, we wouldn't be where we are today.

'Parents Must Enforce Restrictions'

If "Concerned" feels that his youngster should not drive at night, let him take it on himself to put the restriction in force.

Driver Training is good but not enough. It is up to parents to see that youngsters get experience. The State can't do these things for us.

Youth must be taught that a car is for transportation — not joy riding. It is an instrument of death in the wrong hands.

SOMEONE WHO CARES

Believes Moratorium Marchers Sincere

The thousands who march in moratoriums are, I believe, generally sincere, humane people who want to end the war as soon as possible. President Nixon has the same feeling and has expressed it clearly.

If the marchers who are dedicated to saving the lives of others would give the same time, money, publicity and energy to keeping our own people from killing each other on the highways, their efforts would have a chance of obtaining much more fruitful results.

(Q) We on the north end of Pontiac are wondering what's causing the interference on our television sets, and what, if anything can be done to correct it? We all had good reception until recently, and now it's so bad at times we can't even watch it. It's on all stations and affects four different homes that we know of.

MRS. JERRY WHEELER
MRS. JERRY RILEY
MRS. LEROY STONER

(A) You are on Detroit Edison lines, so call their repair service, 335-6191, and report television interference. They will investigate the area to try and find the trouble.

(Q) Is there anything housewives can do to protect themselves from aggressive magazine salesmen that appear on our doorsteps and if the door isn't locked have their foot in immediately? I've had two bad experiences.

D. R. S.

(A) Report it to your local police immediately so they can send someone out while the salesmen is still in the neighborhood.

(Q) Assuming the figures printed in The Press are correct, it will cost $811 per window to replace 117 windows at Pontiac State Hospital. Either those are mighty large windows, or winter labor is terribly expensive. Can we have an explanation?

CONCERNED CITIZEN

(A) Mr. Bar, business manager for the hospital, says the replacement involves taking out frame and brickwork, replacing entire windows, inside and out, so the cost includes not only new windows, but brick masons, plasterers, etc. As for size, the windows will be smaller, partly because the standard window is now much smaller than those used almost a century ago, when much of the inside lighting came from windows, and partly because smaller windows will mean reduction of heat loss.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 had history, uncertainty and danger. Apollo 12 had pure exuberance and excitement. So much that you almost forgot about the danger.

Across 240,000 miles of space you could almost picture Pete Conrad jumping up and down with joy as the lunar lander Intrepid bore down on the Ocean of Storms exactly the way it was supposed to.

"There it is!" he shouted. "Son of a gun. Right down the middle of the road."

And Alan Bean, standing beside him reading out the computer's figures, joined in: "Out-standing!"

EXCITEMENT MOUNTS
Down, down, came the Intrepid. And the excitement mounted. Conrad like a kid seeing his first circus elephant.

"Hey, it's right down the center of the crater!" he yelled. The moon's horizon was coming up in the Intrepid's little windows.

'RIDE IT IN'
"Forty-two," Bean said, calling out the degree of the ship's bearing. "Look out there."

Conrad again: "I can't believe it! Amazing! Fantastic!" "Forty-two degrees," Bean said again. "Ride it in. Forty-two. We're passing 3,500 feet."

It seemed superfluous, but Mission Control had to say it: "Intrepid, Houston. You're going for landing."

"I just want to land to the right a little."

"Forty degrees, Pete, 40 degrees," said Bean.

"That's so fantastic, I can't believe it," Conrad said.

"We're at 2,000 feet," Bean again.

FINAL MINUTE

Then the dramatic final minutes, with Bean narrating: "Thirty-eight, 38 degrees, 36 degrees. You're 1,200 feet, Pete. Thousand feet coming down at 80. You're looking good. Got 16 per cent fuel. Looks good out there, Babe, looks good."

Down, down came the Intrepid: 500, down to 400 feet... 330. Bean counted them off. "Four-seventy-one," he said. "You are all right. 426."

It was the signal for Conrad to take over from the computers, his hand on two airplane-style controls.

"I got it, he said."

"Four hundred. You're at 366, Pete, 366. Okay."

"I gotta get over here to the right."

'LOTS OF GAS'

"You're at 330 feet," Bean said. "Got lots of gas."

On Apollo 11, in July, there was not lots of gas.

"Hey, look at that crater!" Bean shouted. "Right where it's supposed to be. Hey, you're beautiful. Ten per cent, 257 feet coming down at 5 (feet per second), 250, coming down at 5. Hey, you're really maneuvering around. Come on down, Pete. Okay. Ten per cent fuel, 200 feet, coming down at 3. You can come on down."

Down, down came the Intrepid: "Start the clock," said Bean. "42 feet coming down at 2... 40 coming down at 2... Looking good. Watch the dust... 31... 30 feet... coming down Pete. You got plenty gas. Plenty gas. Hang in there."

"Thirty seconds," said Mission Control.

'GOT IT MADE'

"Coming down at 2!" Bean was shouting again. "We've got it made. Come on in there, 24 feet. Contact lights!"

Two more men from earth came on.

Now it was Conrad's turn again to yell.

"Man, oh man, Houston! I tell you, I think we're in a place that's a lot dustier than Nell's."

"Roger, Pete," Mission Control was like an indulgent, smiling mother.

"Holy, cow!" said Bean. "It's hours."

From overhead, the voice of

"Hello, Intrepid. Hello, Intrepid."

"How are you," Conrad asked.

"Fine, Intrepid."

"Thank you, sir," Conrad said. "We'll see you in 32 hours."

He told Mission Control: "And that's how it went. Ge-

"This ground looks neat out here. We're not going to have any trouble going back there."

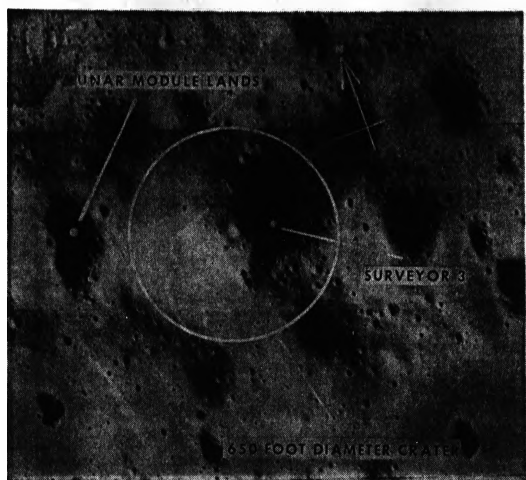

And later:

"Man, I can't wait to get out-side. Look at that... It's a nice place to land," Conrad said.

"Look at those boulders out there on the horizon, Pete," said Bean. "Gee, man."

And that's how it went. Ge-

'Film Shows Bolt Climbing Exhaust'

More Evidence That Lightning Hit Craft

RENO, Nev. (AP) — A color movie made by the curator of the University of Nevada planetarium shows a bolt of lightning climbing up the gassy exhaust of the Apollo 12 moon rocket at 41.04 seconds after liftoff last Friday, the curator says.

Shortly after, Cape Kennedy observers reported seeing a flash and astronaut Charles Conrad Jr. said the command ship may have been hit by lightning. The spacecraft's primary power was knocked out but was soon restored.

Space agency scientists said they thought the trouble was caused by static electricity.

One frame in film made by curator Richard Norton with a camera on the ground 1,000 feet from the launch site showed a streak which Norton said was lightning traveling up the tail of ionized gases roaring out of the ascending spacecraft.

Norton said he thought he saw two flashes but that the second must have occurred while his film was between frames.

Norton, working with a Japanese camera company and with NASA permission, filmed the liftoff with a wide-angle fish-eye lens on a 35-mm camera.

The film was processed by a Los Angeles laboratory and an enlargement of the lightning frame was sent to NASA.

'All-Night Moon Vigil' Kept

Spacemen's Wives Celebrate

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "We made it again," sighed Sue Bean. "Unbelievable," exclaimed Barbara Gordon. "There they are," said Jane Conrad, pointing to the moon.

With cheers, hugs, sighs, applause and champagne, the Apollo 12 wives celebrated to day America's second successful moon landing.

The families, huddling with friends and relatives and astronauts and astronauts' wives, watched television and listened as Charles (Pete) Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean guided their moonship Intrepid to the lunar surface.

"An all-night moon vigil," was the way Sue Bean described it, although she chose later to try for a nap between the landing and the moon walk.

BELONGS TO PETE, AL

"This night belongs to Pete and Al," said a wistful Barbara Gordon.

Separated from his colleagues, Richard F. Gordon Jr. piloted the command ship Yankee Clipper in moon orbit, alone and poised for a rescue attempt should one become necessary.

As the crew prepared for the descent, ground communicator Gerry Carr told the astronauts their wives were resting for the long night ahead.

"I just talked to Barbara and

Lone Astronaut Finds Solace

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "I can really move in here pretty good when I've got all this room," said Richard F. Gordon Jr., consoling himself as his Apollo 12 crewmates made history on the moon.

It was about his only consolation aboard the Yankee Clipper, sailing through a sea of space, waiting for Charles Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean to return to him from the moon.

"Quite a sight, isn't it," he said as he watched Intrepid slip away, drifting further and further back like a leaf in a stream.

In the Clipper, a mother spaceship built for three, he sailed alone high above the moon, ready to rescue the moon explorers if necessary.

Gordon will have no way to leave the moon, but he could get all this room," said Richard F. Gordon Jr., consoling himself as he was stranded in the wrong orbit after blastoff.

Conrad and Bean remembered Gordon as Intrepid slipped away toward the moon's surface after undocking.

"Yankee Clipper," Bean radioed, "I'll turn on my tracking lights for a minute. See if you see it."

"I've got it, Al. I've got your lights," Gordon said. The lights are used in redocking.

CONGRATULATIONS

Shortly after Conrad and Bean touched down on the moon, Gordon sent congratulations to the third and fourth men to land on an alien world and Conrad replied.

"Thank you, sir! We'll see you in 32 hours!"

Apollo 13 commander James A. Lovell Jr. and his crewmates, Thomas K. Mattingly II and Fred W. Haise Jr., sat at Mission Control as the Apollo 12 landed on the moon.

The Apollo 13 moon flight is scheduled for next March. It is the Apollo 13 crew will survey from moon orbit after they leave the lunar surface.

She's been resting up," Carr told Gordon. "They're taking naps and everything, getting all set for spending the night up there."

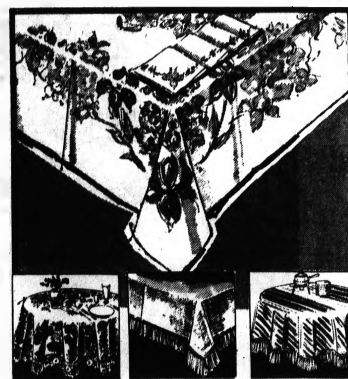

"And Barbara said to tell you that she thinks you're just great."

"Well!" Gordon laughingly replied. "Tell her thank you. After 16 years, it's about time."

"Mama's going to let us stay up," exclaimed an excited Larry Gordon, 11, one of the six Gordon children. "And we don't have to go to school Wednesday."

Peter Conrad, 14, and a companion were mapping plans to land at Fra Mauro, a crater named after an Italian astronomer, at Mission Control as the Apollo 12 landed on the moon.

The Apollo 13 moon flight is scheduled for next March. It is the Apollo 13 crew will survey from moon orbit after they leave the lunar surface.

Jumbo-Size Turkey Is Most Economical

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

With Thanksgiving just a week away, it is time to start planning menus and making shopping lists. Then figure out how much of the food preparation you can do ahead of time. You want some time to relax on the holiday.

While some families prefer something other than turkey for Thanksgiving dinner, the majority of homemakers will be choosing the typical bird.

Obviously the size of your guest list determines how much turkey you'll buy. But larger turkeys are more economical.

A 10- to 14-pound turkey has a fully developed bony structure. Any weight added after that is all meat. The least expensive turkey per serving is the 16- to 24-pound one. The most expensive is the 6 to 8 pound fryer-roaster.

If 24 pounds sounds like too much turkey, buy one that big and have the butcher saw it in half. Use half now and freeze the other half for Christmas dinner.

The National Turkey Federation says to allow  $\frac{3}{4}$  to one pound per serving when buying ready-to-cook birds under 12 pounds. For larger birds, you allow  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  pound per serving. Uncooked boneless turkey roasts should be estimated at  $\frac{1}{4}$  pound per serving.

Buying a larger bird than you really need means plenty of leftover turkey for eating after the holiday.

Most cooks like to prepare the special kind of dressing their families prefer. But you'll find plenty of ready-stuffed turkeys on the market.

Don't try stuffing your own and freezing it. And don't stuff the bird ahead of the time you want to roast it. These are rules important for you to observe if you don't want to jeopardize your family's health.

Some turkeys nowadays are deep basted; this means a special mixture is added inside the bird so that it remains tender and juicy. No external basting is needed.

Keep the turkey frozen until next week. Here are two safe ways of thawing:

- In the refrigerator, in original wrap, on a tray requires one to three days. Unwrapped, covered lightly, 18 to 48 hours.
- Remove giblets as soon as possible, wrap loosely and store separately.

- In cold running water in the original wrap. Small birds with thaw in three to four hours; large birds in six to seven hours.

It is not advisable to thaw turkey at room temperature. But if you do, roast it immediately after it is thawed.

You may unwrap the bird and thaw it in the oven at 140-150 degrees for one hour before you start regular roasting.

Experts tell us that the slower the defrosting, the less weight loss in cooking and the juicier the turkey.

Turkeys Carry USDA Mark of Inspection

When selecting "the" turkey for your Thanksgiving dinner and for other times, too, look for USDA's grade shield and inspection circle. The inspection mark assures you that the bird is wholesome, while the grade sign indicates quality. Grade A is the top quality.

Grade B and C birds are not as attractive as those marked "A", but they often wear inviting price tags which are attractive when pennies do count. And, they are just as nutritious.

Since the big bird was bought to save pennies, care and storage of leftovers after the meal are very important. Slices or pieces of cooked turkey covered with broth or gravy can be stored up to six months in a home freezer at 0 degrees Fahrenheit.

If the poultry is not covered with broth or gravy, store frozen only one month.

Chopped Nuts Give Rolls Fancy Touch

Filbert cinnamon crescents are made with 1 (8-ounce) package of refrigerator crescent rolls. Separate dough into triangles. Brush each with melted butter and sprinkle with a mixture of  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup of chopped toasted filberts,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup of firmly packed brown sugar and  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon of cinnamon.

Roll up triangles, starting from wide edge, and place on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven 13 to 15 minutes.

Sprinkle with confectioners sugar or brush with a confectioners sugar glaze, made by mixing sugar to spreading consistency with milk and a few drops of flavoring extract. Makes 6 servings.

When you make an oxtail stew, count on cooking the meat about three hours.

SWEET POTATOE PIE—An old Southern favorite, sweet potato pie becomes a delicious surprise when you unveil it at the dessert course. Bottled lemon juice and chopped pecans give an extra perkiness to the flavor, and whipped cream or ice cream add the perfect finishing touch.

THANKSGIVING DINNER—On tables all over the land, turkey is king on Thanksgiving Day. Economical to buy and easy to prepare, the typical American bird never loses its popularity. Long slow cooking renders the skin a golden brown and when the head of the household slices through it, tender juicy white and dark meat are revealed. It's a far cry from the first Thanksgiving with its wild turkeys.

Vegetable or Dessert

Serve Sweet Potatoes

Sweet potatoes are an important part of holiday feasts. They may be part of the main course or the dessert. Here are three ways to include them in your Thanksgiving menu.

COCONUT-CURRY SWEET POTATOES

Two 15-oz. cans sweet potatoes with crushed pineapple in syrup
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup raisins
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon curry powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup toasted coconut

Combine sweet potatoes with raisins and curry powder in medium saucepan. Cover; heat through. Pour into serving dish; sprinkle with coconut. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Moist, mellow-sweet Louisiana yams are topped by a tangy orange sauce and crunchy pecans. The result is so luscious your family may insist you make it all year long.

PRALINE YAM CASSEROLE

4 medium Louisiana yams, cooked, peeled and quartered or 2 cans (16 ounces each) Louisiana yams, drained
2 eggs
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar

$\frac{1}{2}$  cup butter or margarine, melted
1 teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup pecan halves
Orange Sauce*

When you make an oxtail stew, count on cooking the meat about three hours.

Mash yams in large bowl. Beat in eggs,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup of the sugar, 2 tablespoons melted butter and salt. Turn into 1-quart casserole. Arrange pecan halves in pattern over top; sprinkle with remaining  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sugar and drizzle with remaining melted butter. Bake, uncovered, in 375 (degree) oven for 30 minutes. Serve with warm orange sauce. Makes 6 servings.

LEMONY SWEET POTATO PIE

Pastry for one-crust, 9-inch pie
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon nutmeg
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon ginger
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup bottled lemon juice
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

$\frac{1}{2}$  cups sieved cooked sweet potatoes (about one 1 lb. 2 oz. can, or two large fresh sweet potatoes, cooked)
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup chopped pecans
Whipped cream or ice cream

Remove from heat and stir in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon Grand Marnier and 3 dashes Angostura bitters. Makes 1 cup sauce.

SWEET POTATOE PIE

Sweet potato pie originated in the South and is a cousin to the New England squash pie. It's very similar in texture, flavor and appearance to the popular pumpkin pie.

The use of canned sweet potatoes and convenient bottled lemon juice helps cut your preparation time. You can also purchase pecans already chopped and use a package pie crust mix.

Sweet potatoes are especially plentiful this time of year, however, so you may wish to use the fresh variety. The recipe gives you an alternative.

Now, turkey turns on with a new-way dressing, flavored with cola. You start with a regular bread crumb stuffing but when you add chopped dates, then proceed to pour on the cola—you wind up with the stuff-in-dreams are made on, to steal Shakespeare's stuff!

COLA DATE STUFFING

18-oz. package of bread crumbs (plain or seasoned)
 $\frac{1}{4}$  lb. butter or margarine
1 cup cola
1 egg, beaten
1 cup chopped dates

In a bowl, add beaten eggs to bread crumbs and mix well. Heat cola and melt margarine in it. Add this mixture to bread crumb mixture and dates and blend thoroughly.

Confetti Look

Prepare pastry; line pie pan and flute edge. Combine eggs, brown sugar, milk, cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger and salt. Mix well. Add bottled lemon juice and melted butter or margarine. With electric mixer or rotary beater, blend in sieved sweet potatoes and pecans.

Four into pastry shell and bake in a 375 degree oven about 50 to 60 minutes or until knife inserted near center of pie comes out clean. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

With coconut-Curry Sweet Potatoes for an interesting flavor variation. Use canned sweet potatoes with crushed pineapple as the base and let your imagination take over. This mildly flavored curry dish is sure to please everyone. However, if you're a seasoned curry-lover, perhaps you'd like to add a bit more spice.

Cola Beverage Lifts Dressing

In the country, Thanksgiving is served forth on a glossy pine harvest table; in the city, perhaps served on a lustrous table for the moon. But that bird is always the traditional focus point. Only, let's tell it like it is—sometimes, the stuffing can be stuffy!

Now, turkey turns on with a new-way dressing, flavored with cola. You start with a regular bread crumb stuffing but when you add chopped dates, then proceed to pour on the cola—you wind up with the stuff-in-dreams are made on, to steal Shakespeare's stuff!

COLA DATE STUFFING

18-oz. package of bread crumbs (plain or seasoned)
 $\frac{1}{4}$  lb. butter or margarine
1 cup cola
1 egg, beaten
1 cup chopped dates

In a bowl, add beaten eggs to bread crumbs and mix well. Heat cola and melt margarine in it. Add this mixture to bread crumb mixture and dates and blend thoroughly.

Confetti Look

Prepare pastry; line pie pan and flute edge. Combine eggs, brown sugar, milk, cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger and salt. Mix well. Add bottled lemon juice and melted butter or margarine. With electric mixer or rotary beater, blend in sieved sweet potatoes and pecans.

Four into pastry shell and bake in a 375 degree oven about 50 to 60 minutes or until knife inserted near center of pie comes out clean. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

With coconut-Curry Sweet Potatoes for an interesting flavor variation. Use canned sweet potatoes with crushed pineapple as the base and let your imagination take over. This mildly flavored curry dish is sure to please everyone. However, if you're a seasoned curry-lover, perhaps you'd like to add a bit more spice.

Plan of Work Will Ease Holiday Cooking Chores

This year plan to make easy work of the feast you serve to the family gathered 'round your festive board. Streamline the turkey preparation and prepare all the delicious and traditional accompaniments days ahead.

The big bird itself is probably the only part of the feast that needs cooking the day it is to be served, since nothing equals a freshly roasted turkey.

The traditional vegetables... small white onions, turnips, squash and even a green vegetable can be prepared a day ahead and refrigerated. Cover them neatly with aluminum foil and reheat them in the oven after the turkey is out roasting for the 30 minutes recommended before carving.

"FOIL TENT" METHOD OF ROASTING TURKEY

First thing, rinse neck and giblets, place in saucepan with seasonings and water. Let simmer 2 hours or longer. You'll use this broth in stuffing and gravy, add the giblets chopped, to the gravy.

Next, rinse turkey quickly in cool water and pat dry. Don't bother to stuff. Instead, rub inside with salt and place several slices of onion, a stalk of celery with leaves and a sprig of parsley in cavity.

GRAVY

Four drippings into pint or quart measuring cup. Skim off fat. Add broth made from browned-on juices stick to pan liner, pour some of broth into pan, return in oven a few minutes to dissolve, then pour into saucepan.

For each cup of broth, allow 1 tablespoon flour. Mix with a small amount of cool broth, then add to broth in saucepan. Stir and cook until consistency of heavy cream, unwhipped.

Taste, add additional seasonings if needed, simmer a few minutes, and serve. Add giblets, if desired.

STUFFING

Bake it separately in a foil-lined casserole or foil cups for last hour of roasting. Baste with a few spoonfuls of drippings from turkey. Prepare from packaged herb seasoned stuffing croutons, and follow instructions. Add extra touches of oysters, chestnuts or browned sausage meat.

ROASTING

Line a shallow roasting pan with heavy duty aluminum-foil and place turkey on a rack in the pan. Brush all over with soft butter or margarine. Roast in a 325-degree oven according to the timetable.

Cooking time is based on chilled poultry or poultry that has just been thawed.

U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Home & Garden Bulletin No. 118

1,500 Tons of Bombs Are Dropped on Foe

SAIGON (AP) — Fifty B-52s during the night. South Vietnamese infantrymen a mile southeast of the camp also came under fire. There were no immediate reports on casualties. Twenty miles farther south, North Vietnamese artillerymen shelled the Special Forces camp at Nhon Co, but again there was no word on casualties. The U.S. Command also announced that the last of 43 Army Reserve and National Guard units called to active duty in May 1968 will leave Vietnam Thursday.

The heaviest concentration was laid around Bu Prang, where 40 of the bombers pounded enemy positions on three sides of the camp. Some of the bombs hit only two miles from the camp perimeter.

The B-52 raids followed three days of fighter-bomber strikes against North Vietnamese gun shelling Bu Prang from inside Cambodia and against enemy infantry battling with South Vietnamese soldiers around the camps. The U.S. Command said 243 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed near Bu Prang Monday, most of them by bombs, rockets and napalm from American planes.

Despite the heavy air attacks, North Vietnamese troops continued their shelling of Bu Prang. However, there were no reports of new ground fighting.

UNDER FIRE

Several rounds of recoilless rifle shells and rocket grenades fell inside the camp compound.

Trooper, Teen Save 4 in Fire

Woman, 3 Children Rescued in U. P.

MUNISING (UPI) — A State Police trooper and a teen-age youth were credited with saving the lives of a woman and her three small children when their home was destroyed by an explosion and fire yesterday.

Local firemen said State Trooper Herb Ketzler and high school student Arthur Bowers saved Mrs. James Perry, her three-year-old daughter and six and eight-year-old sons.

Ketzler helped Mrs. Perry and two of her children from the burning home and Bowers ran into the building for the third child who was found pinned beneath an iron radiator. Mrs. Perry and her children were hospitalized with severe burns and cuts and bruises.

Witnesses said the explosion rocked the nearby business district and rattled windows throughout the Upper Michigan community. Flames immediately swept through the two-story, nine-room frame house and caused extensive damage to two adjacent homes, one of them owned by Ketzler.

1-Day Housing Protest Draws Millions

Strike Brings Italy to Standstill

ROME (AP) — An estimated 12 million to 15 million workers stayed away from their jobs across Italy today in a 24-hour general strike for more low-cost housing.

Italy's third general strike in less than 10 months brought buses, streetcars, commerce and industry to a virtual standstill. It was estimated the strike would cost employers $80 million in lost wages and the nation twice that in lost production.

A bright sunny day sent many families to the countryside for picnics, to the mountains or to the beaches.

The big three labor unions and water services were called for mass demonstrations.

On the day of the Apollo 12 moon landing, there were no newspapers. Television brought one before-noon picture report on the landing. The state radio network operated only one channel, mostly with recordings.

ON THE ALERT

Police were on the alert for disorders, and the unions set up a special volunteer corps in an effort to keep the demonstrations peaceful.

IN SHANTYTOWNS

In Rome, 60,000 people live in shantytowns while 30,000 apartments remain empty because of high rents. A worker spends up to 45 per cent of his monthly wage to rent a decent apartment.

The government's rule in housing has diminished over the years. It built one out of six new apartments in 1961 and only one in 1962. More than 400,000 marriages were reported last year.

Premier Mariano Rumor's Cabinet, in a last-minute effort to forestall the strikes, announced bills to authorize $1.5 billion in credits for low-rent housing over the next three years. Unions called the legislation "a weak and fragmentary attempt to confront a reality which requires an entirely new policy."

The general strike is the climax of an autumn of labor unrest, with disorders in Turin, Milan, Naples and a score of other cities. Marxist groups have led raids on factories and offices, and there have been repeated bombings at the Fiat auto plant in Turin and elsewhere.

The two previous general strikes this year—over pensions and regional salary differences—eventually led the government to raise pensions and set a timetable for abolishing salary differences.

State Weighs 2 Women's Bias Claims

LANSING (AP) — Two women employees of a Traverse City firm have claimed discrimination because they were not allowed to take examinations for jobs involving lifting 35 pounds or more.

The State Civil Rights Commission, meeting Tuesday at Lansing, heard a report from Burwood Products Co. of Traverse City. They said they were denied the chance to take promotional examinations for better jobs because they involved the lifting of 35 pounds or more.

The commission is expected to make a decision on the case at its next meeting.

The complaints were filed by Mrs. Marion Becker and Mrs. Helen Marquette, employees of Burwood Products Co. of Traverse City. They said they were denied the chance to take promotional examinations for better jobs because they involved the lifting of 35 pounds or more.

NY's Beautiful People Set Afire by Canadian P.M.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Now that Canada's glamorous, romantic Prime Minister Trudeau has invaded New York's Beautiful People set, several female hearts are melting over his handsomeness, humor, gallantry, position — and the fact that he's single.

It's going to become a status thing for a girl to get a date with him.

"He's very dear," said Anne Jackson, wife of Eli Wallach, speaking strictly as a wife. "Eli and I had a long chat with him at a party that was full of writers and artists."

This unusual party, held in a series of artists' lofts, saw the dancing P.M. dancing with and seemingly being enchanted by, and with, pretty writer Gloria Steinem who once wrote that the perfect match for Jackie Kennedy would have been Trudeau.

He's going to be the great prize capture of the Swinging '70s. He could even make girls forget Joe Namath's very forward passes.

Katharine Hepburn ("The American Garbo," secretive, non-party-going, privacy-loving) stands to make $17,000 a week and peg — probably $20,000 — in "Coco" which should be a record. Give credit to Producer Fred Brissson who, after 15 years' obsession with an idea, has this show playing previews at the Mark Hellinger. He had a thousand obstacles but he persevered, and he's made a little Broadway history already after two nights' shows.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Julienne Marie (Mrs. James Earl Jones), Meredith MacRae and Julie Gregg flew in from L.A. to audition for the Broadway musical, "Elmer Gantry." Rita Moreno is still top contender . . . David and Eleanore Merrick were fitted for matching pant-suit outfits.

The Jack Carters' divorce action gets started after Jan. 1 . . . Actress Ina Balin starts work soon on a singing career.

Restaurateur John Bruno, who speaks before gourmet societies, calls his speech, "The Art of Keeping People From Seeing About Wine and Whining About Beef" . . . Bardot's former beau, Sacha Distel, will be screen-tested in Hollywood next year . . . Greta Thyssen's trying to sell her novel about Hollywood actresses; when she wrote it years ago it was considered too racy — now it may be too mild.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Robert Clements of Crawfordsville, Ind., complains of a small-town restaurant: "Everything was skimpy. In fact, the hamburgers were so thin they had only one side."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A psychiatrist is the next man you start talking to after you start talking to yourself." — Fred Allen.

EARL'S PEARLS: Joe Mauro tells Copa audiences that his wife is like most other wives today: "Miniskirt, maxicoat and mighty mouth."

Fannie Flagg, unmarried, says she's been looking for a man who can support her the rest of her life: "Then my psychiatrist explained I wasn't looking for a man — I was looking for a girl." — That's earl, brother.

Both Sides Attack Film-Rating System

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Is the movie-rating system working? The question was raised last week when a leading film industry figure attacked the rating system as a failure. Walter Reade Jr., film distributor and theater chain owner, told the National Association of Theater Owners Convention in Washington that the ratings should be repealed.

England has classified films for 40 years.

Now the Code and Rating Administration of the Producers Association reviews scripts and finished films and hands down its decision in four categories: G—Suggested for general audiences.

M—Suggested for mature audiences—parental discretion advised.

R—Restricted—persons under 16-18 in some cities—not admitted unless accompanied by parent or adult guardian.

X—Persons under 16-18 not admitted.

BIGGEST FUSS

Understandably, it is X rating that has caused the biggest fuss. Valenti admits that he originally intended the X to be a "leper colony" for films of no artistic quality whatsoever. But it hasn't worked out that way.

Two of the most successful and critically acclaimed films of 1968—"Midnight Cowboy" and "Medium Cool"—ended up in the X class.

Another well-remembered film, "Last Summer," escaped the X only after its director, Frank Perry, agreed to cut an obscene word and part of a rape scene.

Said Perry: "There should be a difference between a 'schlock' X' handed out to films for the pornography trade and an 'artistic' X' for films that are trying to say something."

BANNED BY PRESS
At least 36 U.S. newspapers now are banning ads and reviews of X-rated films, porno or artistic.

There can be no doubt that industry leaders are concerned about the growing newspaper ban. They may well redouble their efforts to avoid the X rating. This will mean cuts, but in most cases the removal of salacious material from serious-minded films detracts little from their effectiveness.

For example, "The Killing of Sister George." The excising of a minute of lesbian love-making could have meant an R for the film. But the producer would not cut.

It is possible that changes will be made in the rating system before its second year has ended. The American Civil Liberties Union has attacked the system on the grounds that it is prior censorship—forcing producers to alter their films to avoid an X. So far the rating system hasn't been tested in the courts.

The trade magazine Film Bulletin has advocated abandoning of the X on the grounds that it usurps parental authority.

The Bulletin editorialized:

"The code was ostensibly set up as a guide for parents. The X rating supercedes that intention."

The industry's dilemma is a real one. Slackening of the X rating could well be an invitation to government censorship, yet a court test of its validity might knock it down, and with it the rest of the code.

The X films represent 6 per cent of 441 films reviewed for rating in the system's first year of operation: G—32 per cent, M—39 per cent, R—23 per cent. But that 6 per cent—23 movies—likely to continue for a long time.

Officer Reinstated; Cleared in Beating

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit policeman recently acquitted of beating a Negro youth at the city's Veterans' Memorial last year has been reinstated on the police force.

Patrolman Leo T. Haidys Jr., 35, began work Monday in the Vernor Precinct where he had served prior to his suspension last November. He was tried on an assault charge stemming from the Nov. 1, 1968 beating of James Evans, 20. He was acquitted Oct. 16.

Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen made the reinstatement.

C. of C. Could Carry PAPC Load—Irwin

The functions of the Pontiac Area Planning Council (PAPC) 1 1/2 years ago and could best be carried out by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, it was suggested last night by District 2 City Commissioner Robert C. Irwin.

He made the suggestion after a report to the commission by David Doherty, PAPC director, on last Thursday's PAPC meeting. The PAPC decided last week to become an independent group severing commission and school board control.

Irwin said "Why not use the chamber? It's an organization with a wide base of representation."

District 4 Commissioner F. Jack Douglas took exception to this: "I disagree wholeheartedly, the chamber does not have a broad spectrum of representation," he said.

BUSINESSMEN'S GROUP
Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the chamber was strictly a businessmen's group.

Both Taylor and Douglas Inc. praised the latest P.A.P.C. decision to designate itself into an urban coalition and begin to defer profit sharing plans separate from control of the throughout the country. At present City Commission and school there are over 77,000 covering six million employees.

Yule Card Plea: Seal 'Em

With the recent installation of new high-speed equipment at the Pontiac Post Office, postal officials request that area residents seal their Christmas cards this year and remember to place a return address on the envelope.

The Post Office expects to have the Mark II-Edger, Stacker, Facer and Canceller in operation this week, said Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson.

He added that the machine operates at high speed and the contents of unsealed envelopes may be removed in the process.

For the first time at Christmas, this year there is no difference in postal rates between first and third class mail, Donaldson said, "You are paying six cents, the first class mail rate, why not send them first class?"

Elderly Ask Commission for Facility

The City Commission was asked by a delegation of senior citizens for an activities center at last night's meeting.

A delegation from the Sunset City public housing projects, including purchase of two new projects with some 400 units for the elderly under construction on the east side. The bids were asked by a delegation of senior citizens for an activities center at last night's meeting. The City Commission was asked by a delegation of senior citizens for an activities center at last night's meeting.

PLANS UNDER WAY

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. and District 4 commissioner F. Jack Douglas revealed plans are under way to provide a major facility for the elderly.

Douglas said area unions are helping with plans aimed at construction of a new, large center which would not only be for the use of senior citizens but also for young people.

Mayor Taylor also said a drop-in center would be opening soon at the former Masonic Temple at Lafayette.

This center has been the object of negotiations between the city, county and Oakland County Commission of Economic Opportunity (OCEO) for almost a year but it is nearing fruition, he said.

"We don't want to act hurriedly and slap something together and then find we don't want it in a few years," Douglas added.

Bids Opened on $8 Million in Notes

The City Commission last just received yesterday and night received bids on more than $8 million in short-term notes and all the bids were under the 6 per cent ceiling set on municipal bonds by state law.

There had been doubt the bids would come below this figure. The City Commission last just received yesterday and night received bids on more than $8 million in short-term notes and all the bids were under the 6 per cent ceiling set on municipal bonds by state law.

SALE APPROVED

Approval was given on sale of $2,563,000 in six-month notes to the low bidder at 5.38 per cent, Chase Manhattan Bank. These notes finance part of the city's downtown urban renewal project.

Whether or not sale of such a large amount of municipal notes, at below 6 per cent is significant in indicating tight money and high rates are easing is doubtful, according to city manager Joseph A. Warren.

He pointed out short-term notes generally sell at a lower rate and that the price fluctuates from day to day.

In other business last night, the commission ratified a contract with the Pontiac Police Officers Association. The contract covers this year and expires in January. Negotiations have begun on a 1970 contract it was reported. Salary portions of the present contract were settled last May.

The commission also: Changed the license fee for operation of an auction house. The fee was set at $1,200 yearly at last week's meeting. An ordinance regulating operations of auctions had been approved the previous week.

Approved assessment rolls for six sanitary sewer projects with benefiting property owners to pay in 10 installments: Auburn from Eastway to 100 feet east of the railroad; Cameron from Perry to 250 feet south of Perry; Emerson from Perry to 550 feet south of Perry; Kettering from Perry to 390 feet south of Perry; Perry from Giddings to Cameron; and Perry on southeast side from Giddings to 325 feet northeast and northwest side of Gateway Creek to north of Pontiac Road.

3 Who Fled Jail Back in Custody

BATTLE CREEK (AP)— All three prisoners who escaped from the Calhoun County Jail in Marshall Sunday have been recaptured.

Police in Battle Creek arrested Richard Case and Larry Lonchar, both 17, Tuesday after a brief chase on foot.

The third escapee, Florian Ungurian, 44, was arrested earlier.

Scribe Drums Up Old Way to Keep in Touch

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every now and then I come across a newspaper or magazine feature about one of America's "dying arts" — old skills that are being driven in to oblivion by onrushing technology.

Buttonhooking, for example, is a dying art. I doubt you could find one person in ten thousand who could operate a buttonhook with any appreciable degree of dexterity. And I could name a dozen others in a trice.

Naming things in a trice, incidentally, is itself a dying art.

WEST

There aren't more than a score of really first rate trice namers left. And most of them are past their prime.

Ordinarily, a reference to a dying art causes me no more than a twinge of nostalgia. But the other day I read about one that gave me genuine concern.

THINK ABOUT IT

Before I broach it, let us examine the conditions underlying this onset of anxiety. Consider, if you will:

- Telephone service, particularly in big cities, is becoming increasingly inefficient, with circuits tied up when you need them and that sort of thing.

- Mail service, as even postoffice partisans will admit, leaves much to be desired and in the opinion of some observers is on the brink of chaos.

- Telegraph service seems to be shrinking and relies mainly on telephone and mail service for delivery.

When you consider these things you will perhaps share the feeling of disquiet that I experienced when I learned from the National Geographic Society that sending messages by tom-tom is now a dying art.

"Once the mainstay of primitive communication, village drums around the world have grown old and worn," the Geographic reports. "Young tribesmen from Africa to Alaska show little interest in pursuing the complex art."

Man, that is bad news for sure!

I mean the way things are going with our other modes of communication, we need to have those tom-toms available as a back-up system.

"In old India," the Geographic says, "relays of drummers could send a message 300 miles in just 17 minutes." Which would be a big improvement over telephone, telegraph and postal service.

I tried to make a 300-mile telephone call a few evenings ago and it took me 57 minutes just to get past the busy signals on the area code.

As a precautionary measure, we should use federal subsidies to underwrite tom-tom training. And just to be on the safe side, we had better make certain the Indian smoke signaling doesn't become a dead art either.

State GI Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Department of Defense Tuesday listed one Michigan man among the 21 servicemen most recently reported killed in Vietnam. He is Army Spec. 5 Dennis P. Lindsey, husband of Joanne D. Lindsey of Mount Clemens.

The Interstate Highway System was started in 1956 and now totals 28,900 miles, presently two-thirds complete.

UNDERGROUND AGENTS

Down-under at a Consumers Power regulator station, underground agents are at work. Agents of progress. They help to make sure we meet your needs for natural gas, day in and day out.

To meet Michigan's needs, Consumers Power has to increase its supply of natural gas 12% every year. Each year we lay hundreds of miles of pipelines to reach 30 to 40 thousand new customers. We add new compressor capacity to push gas through the new lines. We are providing more underground storage to take care of new peak demands in winter.

In the next five years, Consumers Power expects to invest nearly $300 million in expanding and improving its natural gas system. Making progress — to serve you better.

Blotting Is Secret of Spill Removal Without Staining

You buy a rug, have a party to show it off, and then a guest spills coffee on the new carpet. The secret to getting up the spilled liquid before it soaks your prize is to blot as quickly as possible with paper towels which absorb up to seven times their weight in liquids.

Place towels over the spot, and blot hard, pressing down with your fingers. Never rub or you might spread the stain. Change towels from time to time until no more moisture is absorbed.

Then lay a half-inch thickness of dry towels on the spot, weighted down with heavy books, for at least eight hours. Afterwards, lightly brush up the carpet with a clothes brush. You won't believe there was ever an accident!

MRS. R. P. LITTLE

Don't Use Soap

To keep the filter cloth you use in your coffee maker sweet, always wash it in clear, cool water right after using. Never use soap or any other cleaner on the filters.

Judy Profit Wed to Raymond Little

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Paul Little (Judy Ilene Profit) are Waltz Hall followed a honeymoon in northern Michigan following their marriage Saturday.

Batter Is Thin, Dough Is Thick

What's the difference between a batter and a dough? Both are combinations of flour and liquid, usually combined with other ingredients.

A batter is of such consistency that it may be stirred with a spoon and is thin enough to pour or drop from a spoon as pancakes. On the other hand, a dough is thick enough to knead or roll as in making yeast bread and rolls.

Key to Fashion

Hold Spool Ends

To keep those balls of unused crochet thread from unwinding and becoming tangled, fasten the thread end to the ball with a bobby pin. This keeps it in place where it can't come loose.

Shapes and sophistication are the keys to the fashionable male's fall suit. Jackets are longer, and shoulders are squared. Lapels are broad, flared or peaked. Suit shaping heads toward the waist-slimming mood.

The bride groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Little of Lake Orion.

Add Little Color

To turn a plain button into a fancy one, use plain white four-hole buttons and sew them on garments with a thread of a color to match the garment, making a flower effect.

Grandmother Wants to Work at Home

By ANNE TAYLOR
AP News Feature

Dear Miss Taylor:
I am a 57-year-old grandmother helping to raise my daughter's two small children. I cannot work outside the home. Can you suggest any opportunities for working gainfully within the home? How do I obtain this type of work?

Mrs. C. T. Poland, Ohio

Dear Mrs. C.T.:

One possibility that comes to mind is to become a day-care mother if your health is good. It might be possible for you to care for one or two more children while the parents are at work.

You might wish to consider handling even more children, although in all probability you will then be required to obtain a license by the welfare department. Some newspapers do not accept advertising by unlicensed homes.

The work can be rewarding, if your home is suitable and you are able to handle the physical strain. I am unable to say what fee might be obtainable in your area.

The National Better Business Bureau, Inc., 330 Park Avenue, N.Y., N.Y. 10017, has available a booklet on "Homework."

Schemes" that might provide you with other ideas.

HOW MUCH

Dear Miss Taylor:
We are considering buying a house. Could you give us a rule-of-thumb by which we can estimate the house we can afford?

Mrs. B.T., San Bernardino, Calif.

Yes, I can, but it's not all that simple. Budgeting for a home is a highly individualistic matter. You would be wise to consult with a bank's mortgage officer, preferably the one to whom you will go when ready to purchase.

These are the rules of thumb: The price of the house should not exceed from two to two and one-half times the gross annual income, and the average monthly cost of shelter should not exceed a week's take-home earnings.

I hope you use these generalities only as guides, for their validity is subject to suspicion. I seem to recall that the same rules were in effect two decades ago, when there were far fewer deductions from salaries.

You will discover also that the two rules can contradict each other. That is, you might qualify under one rule and be ruled out under the other.

A lot also depends, of course, on responsibilities. A couple with several school-age children obviously cannot afford to put as much money into a house as can a couple whose children are grown.

A highly skilled young man with expectations of steady salary increases can take more of a chance than can a man whose income is rigidly fixed, and I think your mortgage officer would agree.

LOSING BATTLE

Dear Miss Taylor:

Do you have any help for an elderly single woman on a modest annuity? I need to plan for small gifts for my still growing family of grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and for occasional trips. I'd appreciate suggestions. I seem to leave something out when planning my budget.

Mrs. L. K., Prairie Du Chien, Wis.

Dear Mrs. L.K.:

I'm sorry to say that what appears to be left out of your budgets is that old coward, inflation. It usually strikes hardest at the most defenseless, that is, those on fixed incomes.

I recognize that the gifts you give are small, but I suggest that your children will understand perfectly if they are further reduced in size, so long as they remain large in sentiment.

Popovers Popular

The popular wet look for the school set includes popover warm-up jackets for the boys. Available in both plain and striped slick-finish fabrics, the popovers have knitted cuffs, collars and bottoms.

Patch Patterns

When you have to patch a plaid or striped garment, apply the patch on the outside instead of inside as you generally do. Overcast in place with tiny handy stitches.

A slip-on towel rack attached to the side of the wash basin makes a handy place for the small one in the family to reach.

OU Actors Present Triple Bill

The Studio Company of English middle class, and in Oakland University's Academy "The Happy Journey," a classic of Dramatic Art will present a of our time, mother is portrayed triple bill of one-act plays in as the backbone of the American Meadow Brook Theatre and on an nation.

A drama about the weakness of age in the face of youthful "The Bald Soprano" by Eugene Ionesco, strength, "White Lies," is a "The Happy Journey" by companion Piece to "Black Thornton Wilder and "White Comedy" which drew such rave notices as one of the Meadow "The Bald Soprano" is a sat. Brook Theatre's season of the ordinariness of the openers.

Dates for the evening performances of these plays in Meadow Brook Theatre are Dec. 3, 4, 5, 6. This is during the week the John Fernald Company commutes to the Detroit Institute of Arts. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

The following week, beginning Dec. 8, the Studio Company will tour to area public and private schools.

A few open dates for evening performances still remain, and any school, club or church can make arrangements for a production of the triple bill on their local stage by contacting the Studio Company office, 282 Hannah Hall, Oakland University, Rochester.

SHAKESPEARE
The rest of the Studio Company plays to be staged both in Meadow Brook Theatre and on tour this season are Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" in February, Shakespeare's "As You Like It" in March and Royall Tyler's "The Contrast" (A Revolutionary War music comedy full of the "Spirit of '76") in May.

The Meadow Brook performances are Wednesday through Saturday nights the first week of the month with the tours booked in the two weeks that follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Webster of Mark Street will be honored at a family dinner party Sunday in Topinka's, Detroit marking the couple's 50th wedding anniversary. The couple, married in Terre Haute, Ind., on Nov. 26, 1919, has one son, Edward H. and four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Put Fruit Gelatin in Orange Shells

Cut slice off top of large oranges; remove all pulp and juice. Prepare fruit-flavored gelatin and stir in diced walnuts, orange segments, grapes, hanger, berries etc. Spoon into orange shells. Chill oranges in upright position until gelatin is firm.

Slice and serve on a salad plate. Orange halves may be filled in similar manner and cut into wedges.

Closest to Pole

British Gems Go Underground

The Crown Jewels of England not wired for modern lighting from the largest rough diamond have gone underground — and techniques. But the finest known to man — the Cullinan that's where tourists will go to equipment is used to light the rough weighing 3,106 carats or see them.

For the last 100 years or so, diamond blazes with its utmost Nine major gems, plus many the fabulous jewels have been power — and the breathtaking smaller ones, were cut from this stone including the 317.40-carat square-cut Cullinan II. Visitors will see Cullinan II, the second largest cut diamond in the world, blazing in the imperial state crown. Besides this, the splendid crown — used for the British sovereign's coronation — contains over 3,000 smaller precious gems.

The famous Koh-i-noor — "Mountain of Light" — also is on display. The mysterious old installation is to give visitors a slow single file in an aisle diamond, perhaps the oldest better opportunity to view the most amazing jewels they see is set in another of the great royal Cullinan I, the largest cut diamond in the world. The Allogother, the dazzling array magnificent diamond is set in of crowns, swords, sceptres, the head of the British royal robes, maces, rings and sceptre, and its prismatic fire bracelets looks as though it makes the golden sceptre look came from some giant treasure chest found in never-like a jeweled torch.

The big diamond was cut never land.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is surprising how many or heard mentioned. I think it is very practical. He said, "No one should do their marketing when they are hungry. Go on a full stomach if possible. Otherwise, you are likely to buy all sorts of things you do not need and had not intended to purchase." I think this makes sense.

"Well, they should do that too, but I mean 'slink slim'."

The conversation changed and I did not have an opportunity to find out just what he had in mind and am left to my own interpretation. He told me that he is going to write a column about slink slim, and if he does, which I doubt, I will relay it to you.

When I think of "slink slim" I get a vision of a woman with her tummy pulled in and her hips tucked under, knees relaxed, gliding gracefully into the room. Of course, it helps if she has the ideal number of pounds! I have more ideas about THINK slum than slink slim. I believe that thinking thin, or slim is an NO. This is very amusing important part of any reducing effort.

This attitude affects one in subtle unconscious ways. It keeps the goal ahead alive in your mind. It makes you straighten your spine and pull your tummy in. Almost without realizing it, you cut down on your food intake. It adds glamour to your reducing trek. THINK SLIM!

The friend who talked about "slink slim" suggested another idea which I had not thought of

Plan Reception for Webbs

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Lewis (Elizabeth) Robinson, Webb of Orton Street will both of Pleasant View, and celebrate their golden wedding Leonard Jr. of Orton Street, anniversary at a reception in hosting the celebration. The Church of God on Saturday.

Their children, Mrs. Mary Mr. and Mrs. Webb were Frances Scruggs and Mrs. married Nov. 26, 1919 in Cuttersville, Ga. They have five grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Furniture Trend

Judging from new merchandise being displayed at the fall casual market in Chicago and other cities, the emphasis in furniture will continue to be comfort, classic styling and durability.

Serve Small Glass

Have you ever tried to drink milk from a quart jar? That's how milk in an ordinary size glass seems to a small child. A comfort, classic styling and smaller glass would be better. Child-size.

Yogurt Mixed With Salad

Brighten meals with this colorful and beautiful salad. Children love it.

Mix together 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/2 pint pineapple Swiss-style yogurt. Add 1/4 cup raisins and 1/4 cup chopped, toasted California walnuts. Toss with 2 cups grated carrots. Serve well chilled in lettuce cups. Garnish each serving with a walnut half or large pieces.

Ever add chopped or coarsely grated raw apple to muffin or waffle batter?

Long Hair Falls to Wigmakers

JAKARTA, (UPI) — The day disappear except for the women of Java, Indonesia's most populous island, wear their hair reaching to their knees. They believe that long hair adds to their feminine charms, whether their hair streams down their back or is tied in the traditional konde (an artificial knot). But new fashions and budget problems at home are causing more and more women to lose their long locks.

Java hair goes into the growing local wig industry or is exported to Hong Kong, Indonesia's first in the market after Communist China. Hong Kong's wig industry purchases 40 per cent of its hair from China, 36 per cent from Indonesia.

Older women resist the trend. "I would feel naked if I cut my hair," a woman with several teenage daughters said.

Yule Candle Holders Begin as Glass Jars

Over bridge, after bridge, paint cans and brushes after bridge one finally arrives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion L. Shoots on Cass Lake. When Mrs. Shoots isn't busy keeping track of her family during summer boat beach days she is deep in art work. Any kind will do.

Presently, her project is machine-covered glass jars that mysteriously transform into attractive candleholders.

Inspired by Christmas ideas presented at an area WNGA meeting last year, she remembers seeing the idea described in a national magazine in 1967. She made just one candleholder last Christmas as a gift for her sister.

So this year, you guessed it, a sister-in-law put her order for one in early.

"I knew I would be making one or two, at least, so I decided to make some for the bazaar."

The Cass Lakeside Women's Auxiliary Annually sponsors a fall bazaar.

This Saturday, Mrs. Shoots' candleholders will be added to the tables of baked goods, Christmas decorations, needlework and white elephant items that will be on sale in the Lakeside Community Building. Hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

WORKING AREA
With less than a week to finish her articles, the Shoots' kitchen table is piled high with

"It's best to design them as you go along," says Mrs. Marion Shoots of her techniques for making candleholders. At left, back-ground, are jars that have been glued together for a holder before paper mache was added. Mrs. Shoots is adding string decorations to another candleholder prior to painting it.

Lady Bird Happy in Retirement

"I feel free," Lady Bird Johnson says, swinging her arms in a wide gesture of delight, "but I have mountains of things to do."

"Lady Bird Johnson's New Life" is a feature story in the October-November issue of MODERN MATURITY, the bimonthly publication of the American Association of Retired Persons.

That does not mean that the former First Lady wants her new life to be only a pastoral aftermath to busy years in the limelight.

Shortly before leaving Washington, she had told her niece, Diana MacArthur: "I don't consider being First Lady as the peak of my life. I prefer to think of it as a prelude to new activity."

And so, at 56, Lady Bird looks not backward, but forward. According to Mrs. MacArthur, she hopes to serve on educational boards, beautification committees and university boards of trustees.

"Wouldn't she make a great college president?" Mrs. MacArthur added. "I feel she'd accept it if she received the right offer."

BACK TO BROADCASTING

Also on Mrs. Johnson's agenda is the reactivating of her career as broadcaster, which languished during the White House years; the writing of her memoirs and, of course, full participation in working on the history of her husband's career. This involves, among other things, the LBJ Library and the ordering of 20 million Presidential papers.

But in starting out in her new life, Mrs. Johnson has taken a different route. "For the first few months," Lady Bird had the same person.

"There are the two Mrs. Johnsons," he says, "so different you'd never believe they were the same person."

RUNS THE HOME

Capable Mary Davis, who has been with the family many years, presides over the green and yellow ranch kitchen, but it is Mrs. Johnson herself who not only counts her husband's calories (she keeps him on the rigid diet), but who orders White House on Dec. 7, 1963, "of carpets, arrangements for new curbside furniture, the redoing of furniture. She entertains comparatively little."

Usually the guests are people with whom the Johnsons are working — scholars connected with the LBJ Library; ardent recreationists like Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Rockefeller, Mrs. Albert Lasker, and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Riordan of Washington. Old political friends, however, are notably absent.

The new life, of course, includes some old ingredients, being mother and grandmother, for instance.

"Mrs. Johnson's a real loving grandmother," Pastor Norman Truesdell says. "She'll play with Lucinda, change her, carry her."

As for Luci's son, Lyn, Mrs. Johnson admits to being pleased that even though he has enjoyed the limelight, he is unspoiled. Luci appears to be an old-fashioned mother, who disciplines her son very firmly. "She doesn't even hesitate to spank him when he needs it," according to a close family friend.

The friendliness of the home-folks has done much to heal old wounds. So has the relaxed life of the new life.

I'm Not Resting, Just Being Nostalgic

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

I'm always intrigued with the stories some people tell of their return to the old home town or to some favorite scene of their childhood.

The way they tell it, there is some kind of law guaranteeing a return to the diminished.

The old church steeple isn't after them.

remember it. Cherry Street hill isn't very steep now and the big lake they've described to their children is really nothing more than a farm pond.

I am here to insist that, upon returning to the scenes of one's childhood adventures, one does not always find that everything has grown smaller. Sometimes something has grown larger.

The discovery was made after

I promised my three youngest children a picnic at a state park — property once owned by their great-grandmother. On our drive through the country, I beat you, we beat you!"

regaled them with tales of how

I had played in the woods, "I climbed down a steep hill to the river, where I collected shells to be used as doll dishes."

"Don't be disappointed," I warned them. "Remembered, I was a small child when I played here and the woods are probably not so dense and the hill,

I am sure, isn't the way I think need to rest after coming down

it was.

I was right. The hill wasn't a hill — it was a mountain.

"Let's go down!" they cried.

"I don't feel much like hiking after all," I hedged. "Why don't we just hunt for acorns or something?" But by this time you ask me, most of them have a sadistic streak. Mine kept calling from the top of the cliff,

"Are you resting AGAIN, mother?"

*****

"I'm looking for bitterweberries!" I answered. Or, "Now

I'm looking for pine cones!"

*****

I said, "It's getting hazy!"

He glanced up at the cloudless sky and yelled, "We are going to win because "I only let you win because I'm your mother," I panted.

"And where do you think you're

*****

"Back up to the top! Are you rested enough?"

"I'm not resting," I wheezed.

"I'm being nostalgic. I hardly need to rest after coming down

it was.

Couple in Troy Will Celebrate 50th Anniversary

An open house hosted by their children, Sunday, will mark the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Savage of Troy. Married in Wisconsin Nov. 25, 1919, the couple have resided most of their married life in Oakland County.

Their children are Mrs. Roy (Ella Mae) Reedy of Herndon, Va.; Mrs. Sam (Ruth) Dome of Royal Oak and sons Robert and Gerald, both of Troy. There are 16 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren.

The party is scheduled from 1 to 5 p.m. at the honorees' Cherry Street home.

The platypus, an animal with resemblance both to birds and mammals, is unknown to exist outside of Australia.

High on the list of priority of women everywhere this fall will be an all-wool Argyle. Their best friend, the giant diamond pattern, is a long, lean sweater, jacket in America. Belted and pocketed and cut with a V, it sports a low slung belt and its own six foot muffler. Paired here with a solid swingy skirt, this "woolmark" sweater is styled in shape retention American wool by Frank Smith for Evan Picone.

Candlelight Weddings Chosen by Two Brides

St. Stephens Missionary Baptist Church was the setting for the Saturday candlelight wedding of Sharon Dene Gordon and William James Kennebrew Jr. A reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur Stewart on Court Street, followed the rites.

Two matrons of honor, Mrs. Jerome Craft and Mrs. Milton Evans, assisted the bride. King Gross was best man.

Gowned in velvet with crystal and broad accents, the bride carried a bouquet of carnations and baby's breath.

Hinkel-Lipsev

Lynne Florence Hinkel chose a gown of satin with rose point lace accents for her Saturday wedding to 2nd Lt. Richard Dale Lipsey Jr., USA.

The couple was married in a candlelight ceremony in St. Paul's United Methodist Church. A reception in the church parlors followed the rites.

Author's Legacy

Carl Sandburg's home, Canemara, at Flat Rock, N.C., was taken over by the National Park Service on July 1. The author-poet and his wife lived there from 1945 until his death in 1967.

Tuck-Away Gifts Solve Problems of 'Unexpected's'

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

It seems to happen every year. We mean that moment of sudden despair when the doorbell chimes, in walks a friend bearing gifts — and you realize with a sinking sensation that you haven't a thing for her! It's even worse when the caller is a relative!

This year, resolve to avoid embarrassment... and to spare your friend or relative hurt feelings... by wrapping and tucking away a few small gifts that would be appropriate for a person of any age and size. Impossible? Not at all!

Such small remembrances as bath accessories... pretty shower caps, bath caddies, long-handled back brushes, after-shave powder and lotion... are suitable for any age from sub-teens to great-grandmas, and are always welcome. Any woman loves a gift that makes her feel feminine... and glamorous bath-time accessories have that faculty!

Although I have been sewing for years, there are certain things I don't know and your column has answered many of my questions in the past. I would like to make a lace dress with organza collars and cuffs. Can you please tell me how to make them so that they won't turn up on the edges?

Dear Mrs. I. F.:

First, may I tell you and all of my readers, that with the thousands of letters I receive from you, it's heart warming to realize that everyone seems to share in the same problems.

This question has come up many times and I must admit, I can't give you the answer you are looking for, so I must ask our readers to come to the rescue. If any of you have come up with a tried and true remedy to the curled up edges of organza, please sit down and do us all a favor by an immediate answer.

I have tried many solutions and so far the one that has worked best for me is to spray the organza collar with spray fabric finish or the spray starch and then immediately press it. This at least works temporarily but I too need a permanent answer.

My problem is a big gap in the armholes of all my sleeveless dresses and blouses. I find that a dart that starts at the armhole and points down to the bust helps to solve this problem. However, none of the patterns I buy have this type of dart in the armhole. I am sure that other full-busted women have the same problem. Is there a solution for this?

Dear Mrs. G. K.:

Yes, there are many women that do have this problem. It will usually happen when there isn't enough dart shaping in the pattern for your particular type of figure. I have looked through the pattern books and have found some new patterns with this type of dart.

I would suggest you find a pattern with the dart in this position and use the pattern with your other pattern simply as a guide for the dart shaping. Most of the time you will find that this dart eliminates the usual dart that appears at the underarm or under the bust. However, you might also find it as an additional shaping.

Naturally, the more shaping that is required for any part of our bodies requires more darts, once you find a pattern that fits, superimpose the darts to other patterns.

You might also check the position of the darts in relation to your own figure. Often the bulge in the armhole you have described is formed because the darts in your garment are too high and should be lowered. Without seeing you, I can only suggest remedies to your fitting problems.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. J. D. Holley, Chula Vista, Calif., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following suggestion.

"I have found the stretch lace seam binding makes an excellent casing for elastic. Most patterns call for about the same width elastic and the stretch lace has just about the right amount of give to work well with elastic. It is durable, much faster to apply than usual bias tape. This works great when applying elastic to the lower edge of the new long, full sleeves for girls' dresses."

Masculine 'Isms' Help to Sire Dominican Plight

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Although they sound like something out of an Italian opera, "Don Juanismo" and "machismo" belong in the murky world of "isms" plaguing this much-troubled country.

They are leading factors, sociologists say, in the Dominican Republic's yearly birth rate: 3.8-plus per cent, among the highest in the world.

Don Juan, symbol of insatiable pursuit of the female; machismo from macho, or maleness. The population figures reflect them.

This tiny Caribbean island republic of almost four million in an area of 18,711 square miles — the size of New Hampshire and Vermont — dramatizes the varied socio-economic and political problems of overpopulation as do few countries in the Western Hemisphere.

A THIRD UNEMPLOYED

More than 300,000 Dominicans, or nearly a third of the labor force, are unemployed because of slow economic growth. Six out of 10 Dominicans born in 1962-64 were illegitimate.

Two terms ago, the high school in San Juan de la Maguana was enlarged to 24 classrooms to accommodate 975 students. The enrollment for the 1969-70 session reached 2,605.

Just to keep abreast of the student population growth, U.S. educators say, the Dominican Republic will have to produce two new classrooms and two new teachers daily from now until the year 2000 when the population is expected to exceed 12 million.

Supervising a field at Azua where experimental farm procedures are being introduced by Israeli technicians, Arie Ben-Yehuda said: "The main crop here is children. The peasant families average slightly over nine persons each."

FORM OF SECURITY

The poor regard children as a form of social security.

"Who's going to look after me if not my children when I can no longer work?" asked an unmarried maid in the Hotel Embajador. She has five children.

Bienvenido Rigaud, cab driver, sums up: "A man with a very large family is considered a real man."

"The reasons cited vary," says Maria Olga Garcia, who has doctorates in social science and medicine. "Some even believe it's necessary to raise Dominicans to prevent an eventual takeover by the more numerous Haitians."

HAITI WORSE OFF

Neighboring Haiti, a third the size of the Dominican Republic, has half a million more people and an even more anemic economy.

"Our basic problems," says Miss Garcia, an official of the Dominican Association for Family Welfare, "are education and income. There isn't much we can do until the poor are made aware that the dimension of their families is related to their wellbeing."

"Actually, there's a shortage of trained humans in good physical health. A man needs an income to improve himself. The problem then is not only of quantitative but of qualitative growth."

Apparent at nearly all social levels, she says, are more difficult to combat. She describes them as "a distortion of virility calling for the conquest and domination of a woman to prove he's a man."

WOMEN SHARE FAULT

But she adds: "Men alone are not to blame. There are females who in their way practice Don Juanismo and machismo."

Unemployment, housing shortages and a steady farm-to-city migration are building up urban problems and fueling extremist political agitation.

Political scientists say unemployment explains the youthful character of many radical political organizations. The mass of impoverished young men and women joining the ranks of unemployed is said to be a key recruiting source for leftist factions.

Various Dominican organizations, including the Roman Catholic Church, are using leaflets, talks and newspaper articles to point up the problems caused by "irresponsible parenthood." The family welfare association has 15 clinics providing counsel, education and contraceptives.

Although firm on its stand against contraceptive devices, the Church is emphasizing education in family responsibility among the masses.

A cheap, inflatable, disposable greenhouse which is supported only by a fan driven stream of air will be used for crops which need only a short period of greenhouse growing conditions during the crop year.

Mrs. Gandhi's Independence Embroils Party in Power Struggle

By MYRON BELKIND
NEW DELHI (AP) — Forty-six months ago, the leaders of India's Congress party battled for days until they agreed on a candidate who they were sure would toe their line as the next prime minister of India.

Their choice was Indira Gandhi, the frail daughter of Jawaharlal Nehru. The hope was that she would use her family reputation and popular appeal to lead the party to greater victories in the years ahead.

They felt she would be easy to control, since she had no political power base of her own and virtually no administrative experience.

Now the leaders have reason to be disappointed. For Mrs. Gandhi has exerted an independence they did not expect or want.

PARTY IS SPLIT

The result is a split in the party, with Mrs. Gandhi still in power and the party leaders struggling to stay alive politically.

Technically, the old guard leadership expelled Mrs. Gandhi from the last week. In effect, however, they removed themselves from most of the membership, which supports absolute majority in Parliament, as her opponents in the Congress party came as a surprise.

The expulsion order proved meaningless when about 75 percent of the Congress members in Parliament gave her a vote of confidence in defiance of the leaders.

Despite her show of strength, Mrs. Gandhi still faces difficult times. She will likely lose her support of the latter.

But she is expected to remain in power with the help of independent and Communists, although she is not eager to rely on the support of the latter.

News Analysis

Factional disputes and major crises are not new to it. Even Nehru had his problems with the party bosses, as his daughter frequently recalls in public.

But the leaders never made an attempt to unseat Nehru—he always seemed willing to work out a compromise for the sake of unity.

Mrs. Gandhi, has not enjoyed her father's security, and she has always felt that the bosses would like to dump her if possible.

NOMINEE REJECTED

This feeling grew last summer, when the Old Guard leadership rejected her nominee for Mrs. Gandhi.

president of India and nominated instead one of her longtime foes, Sanjiva Reddy.

Mrs. Gandhi retaliated by backing her own candidate, Y. G. G. He won, but his victory deepened division in the party.

Even before the dispute over the presidential race, the Congress leaders had feuds with described in the local press as

In April, Congress President Slobodanovic Nijalingappa publicly criticized the administration of government-run industries, which happens to be a pet project of the prime minister. Afterwards, their relationship cooled progressively.

For lack of labels, Mrs. Gandhi's supporters are frequently described in the local press as leftist, progressive and Socialist-oriented, while the leaders are portrayed as conservative, right-wing and reactionary.

In fact, the differences between the two camps are far from clear. Some of the party leaders are perhaps more socialistic than Mrs. Gandhi. Some of her supporters are more conservative than the Old Guard leaders.

$820,000 OK'd in Injury Case

BOSTON (UPI) — A Brookline man Monday was awarded $820,000 for injuries, including the loss of a hand, suffered in an automobile accident last year. It was believed to be the nation's largest out-of-court settlement for a personal injury claim.

John Buckman, 22, received the settlement for injuries suffered March 15, 1968, in a truck auto collision near New Haven, Conn.

The defendants were the Wilson Freight Co. of Ohio and Chester Berger of New Jersey, driver of a Wilson truck which struck a car in which Buckman was riding.

Buckman, on Army leave at the time of the accident, suffered the loss of one hand, partial loss of the other, severe facial injuries and burns.

Buckman, who had been hitchhiking, was riding in a car driven by Walter M. Jackson of Hartford, Conn. Jackson was killed in the crash which sent the car hurtling 300 feet along the Connecticut Turnpike before it burst into flames.

Edward M. Swartz, Buckman's attorney, said it was the largest out-of-court settlement for a single personal injury in the nation's history.

Junior Miss Pageant Near at Northern

The Pontiac area Junior Miss Pageant will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday at Pontiac Northern High School auditorium.

The contest, sponsored by the Pontiac area Jaycees, is open to senior high school girls. Girls will be judged on scholastic ability and mental alertness, poise and personality, physical fitness and creative talent.

Winner of the contest will participate in the Michigan Junior Miss Pageant in January, also sponsored by the Pontiac area Jaycees.

Some $250 in scholarships will be given to the focal winner and approximately $100 in scholarships will be awarded the first runner-up.

JUDGES LISTED

Judges at Saturday's presentation include Miss Helen Bulla, principal of Waterford Township High School; Mrs. Mary Davis, assistant manager of Hudson's Pontiac Beauty Salon; and Lewis Wint, past national director of the United States Jaycees and owner of Wint's Funeral Home, Clarkston.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets will be available at the door.

The largest remaining stand of virgin white pine in Michigan is in Bartwick Pines State Park. Two of the giant pines are estimated to be more than 300 years old.

Okinawa's Upcoming Return to Japanese Fans Controversy

TOKYO (AP) — Those who oppose it see possible disaster for Asia. Advocates predict a new era in Japan-U.S. relations. Whatever anyone says, Okinawa is expected to be back under Japanese rule by 1972.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato is staking his political career and the life of his conservative, pro-American government on the outcome of this week's talks with President Nixon on the future of the former Japanese prefecture.

to the restrictions governing American bases in the Japanese main islands. This means Japan will have to give prior approval if they are used for combat operations.

N-ARMS STOCKPILE

Still unresolved is what to do about the U.S. nuclear weapons stockpile on Okinawa. Sato neither American nor Japanese executive, appealed to the bases be there after reversion. Not all Okinawans are united in wishing to see their long-neglected land returned to Japan.

But the leftists' demands go beyond Sato's. They want to see a group of businessmen, headed by Jugo Thoma, a former conservative Okinawa chief

FINANCIAL LIABILITY

There are doubts, too, within Sato's own administration. Pre-war Okinawa was Japan's poorest

The Nixon administration has now an annual billion-dollar deficit placed a price on giving it up.

South Korea and Formosa wa's future status should be anxiously follow developments. They regard the American Okinawa bases as critical to their own defense, and fear that any restrictions on their use would threaten their survival in case of attack. Japan's problem: how to acknowledge their interests without putting it into writing?

Sato plans to dissolve parliament in December and call a general election in January—six months before he is required to do so—to get what he hopes will be national endorsement for his Okinawa policy. He says this aims at shoring up the Japan-America relationship against forces who would tear down the entire any U.S. agreement on Okinawa.

Okinawa was seized by the United States in World War II and developed after the 1949 Communist conquest of China into vast and powerful military bases supporting wars in Korea and Vietnam.

Its unique value is that it can be used for missions anywhere in Asia without permission or hindrance from Tokyo or the island-chain's million docile inhabitants. The United States has now conceded this utopian situation cannot continue once Okinawa becomes part of Japan, and agrees to subject the bases

Auto Trip a Broadening Experience

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — They say travel is broadening, and I'll add my weight to that statement.

What I'd really like to do, though, is subtract all the weight I gained on a recent automobile trip to the South.

We went through 10 states and 28 flavors of ice cream. The car got good mileage but I can't say the same for its occupants. While we could go nearly 200 miles on a three-course breakfast, we only got about 75 miles to the cup of coffee.

But the many stops for snacks were just practice to get us in shape for the real eating that got us out of shape.

It isn't only the army that travels on its stomach. When my husband said, "Fill 'er up," he wasn't talking to the service station attendant about the car—he was talking to the waitress about me.

Although the interstate highways are a boon to those in a hurry, to me their greatest drawback is the fact that there are no eating establishments on them—not even a frozen custard stand. We're not concerned with getting there faster—we just want to get there fatter—so we stick mainly to the more interesting roads that provide something to see as well as something to eat.

There were times, of course, when we were forced to make up in quantity what the vendors lacked in quality. But we've discovered that the number of local cars parked outside an eating house is indicative of the kind of meals being dispensed inside.

Still, it's risky business and we drove miles out of our way to munch lunch at a place we remembered with fondness from a previous trip. Surprisingly, they were still putting out fine fare.

Once we got below the Mason-Dixon line, we heeded the admonition: "When in the South, do as the Southerners do." And what the Southerners do is eat huge helpings of fried chicken and gravy, baskets of buttered biscuits, and sticky slabs of pecan pie. As patriotic Instant Southerners we did the same.

We're back home again, with wallets thinner and waists thicker. Now it's time to go to work—to fatten the former and reduce the latter.

MSU Official Is Honored

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. Emanuel Hackel, chairman of the Michigan State University Department of Natural Science, has been cited for "meritorious and outstanding achievement for work in blood groups and blood banking."

The American Association of Blood Banks honored him with the Emily Cooley Award, granted to a member who gives "sustained service of a high order."

Hackel, who previously received the merit award of the Michigan Association of Blood Banks, is noted for research on the RH and other blood factors.

Sentence Set in Abortion

A former Southfield man was sentenced yesterday to one to four years in the state prison at Jackson for conspiring to perform an abortion.

Samuel Bricker, 54, now of Detroit, immediately posted a $1,500 bond and was released by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem while the case is appealed.

Bricker was convicted by a jury Oct. 13 following a three-day trial. During the trial, another conspirator, Eugene McDonald, testified that he had picked up a Birmingham woman and taken her to Bricker's Southfield apartment where the illegal operation was to be performed.

POLICE WOMAN

The woman was a Michigan State police trooper who had posed as the mother of five children who had been contacted about an abortion.

When McDonald agreed to turn state evidence the charge against him was dismissed.

They, along with a third man, who has yet to stand trial, were arrested by state police Oct. 2, 1967 when they raided the apartment on a signal from the policewoman.

Series Starts on Problems of Adolescence

County religious leaders gathered at the Oakland County Courthouse today to hear an address by Dr. Armin Grams of the Merrill-Palmer Institute, Detroit, opening a four-part lecture series on problems of adolescence.

Grams spoke on the subject of "Interacting with Adolescents Within a Group Structure," focusing primarily upon youth group situations in the church or synagogue.

The seminar, sponsored by Religious Assistance and Protective Service, Inc., will deal with young adults in group settings. Religious Assistance and Protective Service, Inc., is a county-wide organization established to work toward prevention of delinquency and neglect by encouraging a healthy moral fiber in the community.

Both were taken to William Grosse Hospital, Royal Oak, where Mattson was treated and released. Padgett is being held for further observation.

Ford Has New Way to Fast-Dry Paint

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. Tuesday demonstrated a new "dry-in-a-second" paint process using a 250,000-volt electron gun instead of heat as the drying agent.

The process, called Electrocoat, is said to produce finishes on flat metal surfaces such as aluminum siding as good and durable as the conventional heat-drying process in far less time. And it produces more durable finishes on plastic products.

Ray Hulce, Electrocure operations manager at Ford, said the company was installing an Electrocoat painting line at its Saline, Mich., plastics plant to go into production next June, turning out 10 million interior plastic items for 1971 Ford cars.

He said these items would include instrument panels and instrument shrouds, glove compartment doors, steering wheel covers and ash-tray covers.

Although the electron gun operates at 250,300 electronvolts, Hulce said a conventional power source of 440 volts would be sufficient to supply the power.

Chief Advantage

But Hulce said the chief advantage of the new process was in finishing strip metals in coils at higher speeds more economically and with far less space required.

The heart of the new system is the electron beam gun, which sprays out high-energy electrons, turning the metal surfaces as they pass a given point. In one second, the electrons polymerize the paint coating and turn it into a dry finish. Special paints must be used, but many are available and some already are in use.

Thrift Reported at Milford School

The principal of Milford High School in Highland Township yesterday reported the weekend theft of a $179 stereo speaker set and a $110 snap-on tool set.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies could find no signs of forced entry into the building, 2380 N. Milford Road.

CHARLES S. PORRITT

Ex-Political Leader in State Dies

A former state political leader, Charles S. Porritt, a Grosse Pointe Park resident, died yesterday in a Detroit hospital of injuries suffered Saturday in an automobile accident. He was 65 and a native of Pontiac.

Service will be 1 p.m. Friday at Matthews Funeral Home, Grosse Pointe with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery, Pontiac.

Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth, two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Peterson and Mrs. Michael Hegarty both of Grosse Pointe; two sisters, Mrs. Geston V. Poole and Mrs. Joyce Dempsey, both of Waterford Township; a brother; and two grandchildren.

Democratic state chairman from 1939 to 1943, Porritt was allied politically with former Gov. Murray D. VanWagoner.

HEADED DIVISION

In the 1950s he served as head of the State Highway's land and legal division and as a member of the State Public Utilities Commission.

Porritt received his literary and prelaw training at Albion College. He started his law studies at Northwestern University in 1922, then transferred to Detroit City Law School from which he was graduated.

He began his practice of law in Pontiac in 1932.

A member of Christ Episcopal Church in Grosse Pointe, Porritt was a member of Michigan State Bar Association and Michigan Engineering Society. He also held membership in The Exchange Club, Elks Lodge and Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity.

11 Auto Firms Sued by N.Y. on Pollution

NEW YORK (AP) — The state of New York has filed a multi-million-dollar damage suit against 11 automobile manufacturers it said are purposely foot-dragging in developing air pollution control devices.

Att. Gen. Louis L. Lefkowitz filed the suit Monday in federal court after last week's U.S. Court of Appeals decision gave individual states the go-ahead to proceed on their own against the manufacturers.

In addition to triple damages the state asked that the 11 firms be required to install antipollution devices on vehicles "with all deliberate speed."

The 11 firms were accused of conspiring since 1953 to eliminate competition in the research, development, manufacture and installation of pollution safeguards in their vehicles.

The firms named are General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, American Motors, Checker Motor, Diamond T. Motor Co., International Harvester, Studebaker, White Motor, Kaiser Jeep and Mack Trucks.

Rogers Hopeful on China Ties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers says he sees "a prospect that our relations in the future might be improved" with Communist China.

Rogers said Tuesday night there is no real evidence leaders in Peking are ready to respond to new U.S. initiatives, but "they at least were not reacting negatively."

Appearing on a CBS special report on relations among the U.S., China, Russia and the United States, Rogers said the Nixon administration hoped to improve communications and trade relations with China.

"We would hope that as time goes on that we could improve our communications with Communist China," he said. "We would like to have more travel between the two nations. We would like to have better communications and trade relations to some degree at least."

Farmington Teen Hurt in Accident

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — John Martelli, 13, of Farmington is in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy hospital after being in a two-car accident 12:50 p.m. yesterday at Middlebelt and W. Maple.

Martelli was a passenger in an auto with his mother, Mrs. Joyce Martelli, 39, of 22805 Brookdale.

Mrs. Martelli told police she turned to look for her loose cat in the back seat and when she looked up she was already in the intersection. Her car collided with one driven by Mrs. Joyce Mellin, 35, of 6919 Wild Ridge, Birmingham.

Auto Makers Face a 3rd Pollution Suit

DETROIT (AP) — The Wayne County Prosecutor's office may step into the legal battle shaping up over the alleged conspiracy of major auto makers to impede development of air pollution control devices for cars.

A prosecutor's office spokesman said Tuesday the Wayne County Board of Supervisors last month requested a study of the evidence in a suit filed by federal authorities in California. Results of the report are not expected to be revealed for another month.

Last month a federal court in California upheld an out-of-court settlement of an antitrust suit filed by the U.S. Justice Department against the auto firms. Without admitting they had attempted to slow research on antipollution devices, the auto makers in effect promised not to engage in the alleged activities in the future.

A similar suit filed in New York state Monday accuses the firms of conspiring since 1953 to eliminate competition in the research, development, manufacture and installation of pollution safeguards in their vehicles.

Ground Breaking Set for New County Jail

Dec. 9 is the tentative date for ground breaking on Oakland County's new $9-million jail.

The Building Authority yesterday okayed negotiations for the sale of bonds and awarded contracts which have been extended since the original bid-letting last May.

Joseph Joachim, head of the county's department of facilities and operations, said total contracts now amount to $7.6 million, up $300,000 from the original bids. He said the escalation of bid prices, which still leaves Sorenson-Gross of Flint the low bidder, had been necessary in order to extend the bid deadlines.

FAILURE TO SELL

Failure to sell the bonds in two previous bid advertisements was blamed for the delay.

The difference between $7.6 million and the $9 million bonding price is made up in architectural costs, engineering, landscaping and furnishing fees, Joachim said.

Building Authority members expressed satisfaction with the bond sale, calling it fair to the county, the taxpayers and the authority.

Bonds were sold at 6 percent interest to Michigan Bank. Negotiations call for the deposit of a $2.5 million jail checking account in the bank plus the purchase of $11.7 million in certificates of deposit.

REDUCED COST

Much of the money will come from the bond sale proceeds, officials noted, however the transaction is expected to cost the county $70,000 in reduced interest over the two years of the agreement.

Father-Son Driving Link Discovered

EAST LANSING (UPI) — A strong link between the driving records of fathers and their sons has been discovered by two researchers at Michigan State University and the University of Michigan.

David Klein, MSG sociologist, reports fathers with numerous traffic convictions tend to have sons who have numerous convictions and fathers with no convictions tend to have sons with no convictions.

"Traffic behavior of the young driver appears to be influenced more strongly by the family, specifically the father, than by driver education or by the corrective and deterrent efforts of the police and the court system," Klein said.

Klein, along with William L. Carlson of the Highway Safety Research Institute at the University of Michigan, used a special computer to analyze the records of driving convictions, accidents, police contacts and academic achievements of 8,100 male drivers ages 18 to 29 and their fathers.

"We found that the student with numerous traffic convictions is usually delinquent in other areas of his life," Klein said. "For example, his daily academic performance is not only poorer than that of the conviction-free peers but poorer than his own capabilities would permit."

Law Enforcers Elect Officers

The Oakland County Law Enforcement Association recently elected new officers for 1970.

Elected president was Robert Phillips of the Oakland County Medical Examiners Office. Ted Bly of the parole department was elected first vice president and David Putnam of the Waterford Township Police Department was named second vice president.

Also elected were Bob Parsons, secretary; Ronald Avritt, treasurer; and Lou Marsh, sergeant-at-arms.

Elected directors were Lee BeGole, Carl Carter, Leon Dohet, John Graham, Merlin Holmquist, Harry Jones, James Keller, Clayton Randolph, Herman Schwarze, Bernard Suter, Howard Whaley and Donald Woodward.

Wedding Plans Told by Singer's Bride-to-Be, 17

HADDONFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Tiny Tim's 17-year-old bride-to-be, won't say anything about her wedding dress except that her gown will be long and white with a "very long" veil.

Victoria Budinger and the long-haired singer will be married Dec. 18 on the Johnny Carson show in a Victorian wedding with the entire wedding party dressed in turn-of-the-century clothing.

"Tiny Tim will wear a long black frock coat with velvet collar and cuffs, a waistcoat of a hue yet to be decided, a white shirt and full bow tie.

"And we'll all have caps to wear outdoors. Black for Tiny and white for me," Vicki said. "And Tiny will have a walking stick. He loves to use one. It gives him a feeling."

Foreign Press Eyes Protests

'Point Up Strengths, Weaknesses of U.S.'

LONDON (AP) — Recent Vietnam protest demonstrations in the United States point up both the strengths and the weaknesses in the American democratic system, editors of foreign newspapers say.

Momento Sera of Rome commented that Americans should realize "that despite everything, the very size and at times the violence of their demonstrations are nothing but evidence of the immense liberty which the citizen of the United States still enjoys."

The Times of London said: "There are no indications that demonstrations will cease with the latest one, or that the tradition of violence in American life will not find ugly outlets in the future."

BLIND DEFTANCE?

"The danger," said the Times, "is that demonstrations about particular national issues will become a practice of blind defiance to authority, as if American democratic institutions did not exist, or there were no elections to provide the opportunity for changing policy—as if autocracy, indeed, prevailed."

The Yugoslav daily Borba said the demonstrations indicated that President Nixon "now will have to make a quick decision because he does not hold all the ropes in his hands."

The Daily Telegraph in London said: "Our impression, gained from afar certainly, is that President Nixon is winning through on his policy of an orderly withdrawal from Vietnam instead of a rout. No yellowish triumph, in other words. Let us hope that proves to be correct."

The Paris financial newspaper Les Echos saw a striking contrast between America's ability to put men on the moon "and the glum mood that the obvious failure of the Vietnam adventure has stirred up in the whole country."

Les Echos said it hoped "that the day will come when it will be as easy to resolve a conflict as to walk on the moon."

Tuberculosis in Wayne County Dips

DETROIT (AP)—The tuberculosis situation in Wayne County, pinpointed in a report for 1968 as one of the worst trouble spots for the disease in this country, is improving.

A report prepared by the Detroit office of Respiratory Disease Control cites Detroit and its adjacent suburbs as trouble spots during 1968, the year covered by the report.

Dr. George Pickett, director of the Detroit - Wayne County Health Department, said a 1969 report now being prepared will show improvement in tuberculosis in the county.

"Remarkable progress has been made," Pickett said. "There has been a drop from 900 to 250 patients in beds, increased outpatient coverage and a 30 per cent reduction in new cases."

"The mortality rate will show a decline for the first time in some time and one entire hospital, Maybury Sanatorium, has been closed," he said.

Milliken Backs News Media

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William G. Milliken said yesterday he would rather have the news media censor government than the government censor news media.

Milliken made the remark at his news conference when asked whether he agreed with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticisms recently of news accounts of a recent speech on television by President Nixon.

The governor said there have been instances in which he has been disappointed not only by what news accounts have said, but also by what has been left out of stories.

However, Milliken said he thinks news media are functioning responsibly. "I am not affected" of the media's criticism, examination and analysis is "in the public good."

School Visit Tests Parent

By JEAN SAILE

'Tis the season to be jolly — and I don't mean Christmas.

This is the season of teacher conferences, school open houses and the resulting forced smiles, and a devastating look (for some) at junior's imperfections.

It's that time of year when you watch parents torn between two fist-clenching alternatives — that of passing the teacher in the mouth or going home to paste junior in the mouth.

Fortunately for the teacher it's most always junior who takes the count.

THEY FAIRLY TROT

There are parents — those who are veterans at these events, perhaps — who fairly trot from class to class — an expectant smile on their faces. But the type is avoided by hanging slow movers who breathe a sigh at every waiting line.

Any respite has got to be good, they figure.

For these people, the ritual is a self-inflicted penance — a type of masochism endured for the sake of parenthood — and their courage knows no bounds.

Cowards stay home, but the brave limp forth, and their family problems become your problems.

A DUD?

You learn junior is a dud just like Uncle Charlie.

You find junior hides his homework, cuts up in class, skips school and is "working below his capabilities."

Sometimes you hear that Uncle Charlie is working on his second million—but more likely he's a first-class bum, and the parents are scared to death they're raising a carbon copy.

You get introduced to courses called "genetics" — it used to be science when you went. You stare at a math problem encompassing one whole blackboard, and you turn numb.

DISSECTING LARVA

You hear about a student whose assignment is dissecting the larva of a fruit fly for purposes of extracting a chromosome from the salivary glands — or at least you think you heard that's what he's going to do.

And you attempt to pin this characterization on the kid who hangs out in front of your television set at night.

And gradually—whether your particular student is good or bad—you develop an inferiority complex.

You're a lousy parent if he's a lousy student, and if he's sharp you gotta believe he's smarter than you were at that age.

These events are an unsettling experience. As a veteran I still get shocked, but I smile, and I bluff a lot.

Leg Work For Young Dancers

Led By Instructor Jenny Mullen

Teeny-Boppers Transformed: Swans

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

Parents take a breather. You haven't failed.

That long-limbed teenage daughter of yours — the one that wiggles and screams to the Motown beat and goes into an unshakable trance when electric rock groups play — can be quite the swan.

Like most feminine teens, the members of the Jefferson Junior High School Dance Club are a giggly brood of young women.

Put them near a radio and they start vibrating and snapping fingers.

Put them in stretchy leotards and a master class for modern dance and the mood changes.

Granted — an occasional giggle escapes out of frustration — but there is a certain saving grace that surfaces as they gently "turn, drop and step" under the watchful eye of their instructor.

Of course, the instructor just happens to be Jenny Mullen, who studied at Juilliard School of Music and is a member of the Jose Limon Dance Company. This accounts for the straight backs and somber concentration.

COPE SCHOLARSHIPS

The girls, who are under the direction of Mrs. Lea Harris, a counselor at Jefferson, participated in the weekend lecture-demonstrations under scholarships provided by OCC's Continuing Opportunities Program for Education (COPE).

While the girls, all ninth graders, are no strangers when it comes to the pirouette, the strenuous professional code Miss Mullen introduced left them wide-eyed and somewhat short of breath.

Looking a little less inspired, or maybe just tired, an optimistic Sharon Nichols of 481 Alton noted: "You can't beat it for physical fitness."

"And it's a great refresher course on all the graceful mannerisms a girl should have," commented Pat Reynolds of 551 Nebraska.

NOT FOR ME?

Norah Snoddy of 262 Earlmore wasn't convinced.

The lanky beauty with dark hair tied in back with a red ribbon, looked down at her hot pink mod watch and let out an exhausted sigh at the end of the hour-and-a-half session.

"She's beautiful (Miss Mullen) but dancing isn't for me... I don't want muscles that big," she mused.

Anderson in 'Hamlet'

Mad Dane a Dame?

NEW YORK (AP) — Dame Judith Anderson will tour the United States next year playing Hamlet, a long-time ambition because "the minds of men are more exciting than the minds of women."

"I'll be taking fencing lessons, and running down the beach to get my breathing apparatus in working order," Dame Judith, 71, said Tuesday.

The 26-week tour will begin next fall. It will play primarily to campus audiences, with a stop at Carnegie Hall here.

"The majority of great parts are written for men: The minds of men are more exciting than the minds of women. They have greater scope of power, imagination, kindness and brutality. All the emotions seem to be keyed high for the male roles. "I don't think of Hamlet as either male or female," she said.

WANTED TO DO IT

"It encompasses every emotional note on the scale... I've always wanted to do it for a great number of years, but something always happened."

His Spirit Jacked Up by Good Samaritan

By TIM McNULTY

As the State Police car passed by it turned a little bluer. Though it wasn't until the pavement began curving that I stopped hurling epithets at life in general and my flat tire in particular.

"Here I am on the I-75 median," I thought to myself, "stranded in the rain, my little Rambler auto jack won't hold in the gravel, I'm late for an appointment and the rear end of the car is laying on the axle."

"Oh Happy Day"

NEED SOME HELP?

A car pulled up behind me — somebody just wanting to launt, no doubt.

"Hi there. Need some help?"

There's nothing worse than a cheery face when you're sitting on a wet median. I told him to go chase rabbits.

"No, I'm serious," he said, "I'm an auto jack salesman from St. Joseph, Michigan."

THE REAL THING

"Yes," I said, "and I'm Margaret Mead, here to study the sex life of the Clarkston Huguenots."

But he really was a jack salesman from St. Joe and he lugged out three different kinds of jacks from his trunk and got me on my way.

How dumb and fortunate can one person be, anyway?

McNULTY

BOOK ENDS?—There's pruning and then there's pruning. The saw that cut loose on these giants almost reduced them to toothpicks. The sight greets motorists driving on Old Orchard Trail in the City of Orchard Lake. The trees form a natural entrance way to a dirt driveway. Then again, maybe they're salt shakers.

Reading Report in Waterford

"The most important subject in school is reading," says acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen of Waterford Township.

A report on how Waterford school officials emphasize reading is scheduled to be given at the board of education meeting tomorrow.

The oral report will tell of the school district's special reading programs and their problems and promises.

"Overall, our students are slightly above the national norm," Pagen says.

In other items, the board is expected to hear reports on the school millage election Tuesday and the teacher recruitment program to put students back on full-day schedules.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at the school district offices, 6020 Pontiac Lake at Airport Road.

Income Tax Vote in Cadillac Feb. 10

CADILLAC (AP) — City commissioners have set Feb. 10 for a referendum on whether Cadillac should impose a city income tax.

Cadillac voters rejected an earlier attempt to impose the one per cent tax upon residents and one half of one per cent tax on non residents.

Commissioners fixed the referendum date during a regular commission meeting Monday night. They had said earlier that without income tax revenues they would be forced to hike property taxes or cut services.

British Warned of Peril of Chronic Bronchitis

LONDON (UPI) — Chronic bronchitis kills 30,000 people a year in Britain — the highest mortality from the disease in the world — and yet it is largely preventable, according to a British expert.

Prof. J. G. Scadding, in a new booklet "How Not to Get Bronchitis" published by the Family Doctor — an affiliate of the British Medical Association — said any man who continues smoking after contracting the malady is committing "slow suicide."

And he warned against the cult of sleeping with the windows open in this damp, chilly climate.

Prof. Scadding, a specialist at the Institute of Diseases of the Chest, Brompton Hospital, urged Britons to take evasive action against contracting or succumbing to the disease, which costs the nation about 30 million working days every year.

"MILDEST STAGE"

"In simple terms, every smoker with morning cough has it," he said "and that is the mildest stage of the disease. It has been estimated that a man aged 35 who smokes cigarettes doubles his chance of dying before the age of 65, as compared with a nonsmoker."

The ideal recipe is not to smoke, to live in an area of low air pollution and to be a member of the upper class, Dr. Scadding said.

He pointed out that the most dangerous part of the cigarette is the last few puffs. Britons traditionally leave the smallest butts in Europe.

The only safe cigarette is the one not smoked, he said, adding that there were good reasons for thinking pipes and cigars are considerably less harmful.

DANGEROUS

It is also dangerous, he said, to sleep with the window open at all seasons, especially in unheated rooms. He said it is important to close windows when it is foggy.

"Your home including your bedroom should be comfortably warm but avoid heating that gives rise to smoke or fumes," Scadding advised.

Scadding said the difference between town and country areas in relation to chronic bronchitis cannot be attributed entirely to differences in air pollution levels. Other factors must be considered including differences between the smoking habits of town and country dwellers, the frequency of the common respiratory infections and other aspects of environment, such as overcrowding.

"In particular, you should take special care and if possible avoid going out when there is fog about and in very cold, damp weather," Scadding said.

"Avoid crowds as much as possible, since what may be a simple cold to others may lead to a serious attack of bronchitis for you. And when you travel by train use nonsmoking compartments. Exercise within the limits of what you can do without distress will be good for you since it will help you to maintain a high level of general health."

Speed, Drinking Add Up to Trouble

"Watch your speed and your drinking!"

Those two things, according to Pontiac Police Lt. Clayton Randolph, are the two most significant causes of traffic fatalities in the month of December — the worst month of the year traffic-wise.

Randolph said the top causes of accidents are, (in order), speeding, failure to yield, improper turns, following too closely and disregarding traffic signals.

"These causes are especially true during the holiday month of December," Lt. Randolph emphasized.

IN FOUR DIRECTIONS

"It is most important to be a defensive driver. You have to be on guard at all times, ready to take evasive steps with your automobile at a moment's notice."

"You have to drive in four directions: in back of you, in front and on both sides," Randolph said.

Another major cause of December accidents, Randolph pointed out, is the improper handling of a car in skids.

"When your car goes into a skid, you should keep the wheels turned in the opposite direction, let up on the accelerator and DON'T slam on the brakes! If you must use your brakes at all, fan the brakes. Just step on the brakes gently several times," Randolph said.

"Three things are the most important things to remember," Randolph said. "Don't speed, drive defensively and watch out for the drinking driver — especially yourself!"

Edison Income Up 8 Per Cent

DETROIT (UPI) — Directors of common stock amounted to of Detroit Edison Co. Monday $1.94.

For the previous year ended Oct. 31, net income before preferred stock dividends was $60,659,627, and after preferred dividends, net income per common share was $1.92.

The dividends are payable Jan. 15 to shareholders of record at the close of business Dec. 19.

The company said its gross revenues were $476,127,206 in the year ended Oct. 31, an increase of 8.4 per cent over the previous year.

Net income for the year ended Oct. 31, before preferred stock dividend requirements, was $61,357,218. After preferred dividends, net income per share

Charlotte Ford in Two Movies

DETROIT (AP) — Charlotte Ford, daughter of Henry Ford II, has become an actress of sorts.

The automobile heiress revealed Tuesday she has landed two small parts in future movies: "The Owl and the Pussycat," starring Barbara Streisand, and "The Love Story" starring Al McGraw. She said she has a walk-on part in the Streisand movie, playing a bookstore clerk.

Famous British Horses Put on Block

LONDON (AP) — Britain's most famous ceremonial horses—those majestic steeds that carry the queen's breast-plated bodyguards—may be winding up as steaks in European restaurants.

A disclosure yesterday that the Household Cavalry is selling its old horses to slaughterhouses aroused the fury of man and beast.

British animal lovers, the horses, ridden by troops and gold-trimmed trumpeters in plumed helmets, are feature attractions in the changing of the guard, coronations and all state processions.

***

"It's bleeding cannibalism, that's what it is," protested a Londoner watching the cavalry clank down the mall outside Buckingham Palace.

A Defense Ministry spokesman confirmed reports that some discharged Household Cavalry horses were being sold abroad from the fray and a

One army man said the old and unwanted horses were killed because they were accustomed to the hustle and bustle and tourist cameras of London and would not be happy in retirement on farms.

"If I were not a gentleman, my reply to that would be a four-letter word," said Capt. Robbie Robinson of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals—RSPCA.

'Early Bird' Prize in Pontiac Keg Open

The early bird will catch the worm in the 13th Annual Pontiac Open bowling championship will begin qualifying Sunday at nine area establishments. With the many new added features for winning prizes, along with the top guarantees starting at $1,000, the early bird special will be a portable television set. The TV will go to the bowler who attempts to qualify in this the first weekend and who finished the highest among the top 10 finishers in the tournament.

This means that if a bowler enters the first week of qualifying and ultimately becomes the winner of the $1,000 first prize, he will earn the TV as well. If someone wins the Pontiac Open championship hits his target score of 600 but in qualifying in the second or third week, then the next highest winner in the finals, if he did his qualifying the first week (this Sunday, Nov. 23) will then earn the TV.

The purpose for the "early bird" special is hopefully to balance out the entries and alleviate the last weekend rush which usually account for more than 50 per cent of the total bowlers.

So, if the bowlers hit the target score of 600 including handicap this weekend, and should be lucky enough to be among the top 10 winners, they may earn himself a portable TV to go along with the prize he earns.

All bowlers who reach the finals are assured of a prize, but along the way there are dozens of possibilities to pick up a share of added prize money.

There's $10 plus trophy for the high qualifier in each house; there's $10 for the high game and high actual series in each house; there's $25 for any triplicate in the tournament; there's $50 and trophy for the top Mix 'n' Match doubles (man and woman's total); there's $50 and trophies for the top Mix 'n' Match Team (five member team, men or women); there's $50 and $25 for the top scores in the semifinals; there's $175 and possibly more in the Actual's Invitationals plus trophies; and there's a top prize of $200 to the top woman bowler regardless of position except among the top five.

This along with the top five guarantee of $1000 and trophy; $600 and trophy; $400, $300 and $200 and the remainder of the purse will earn as many as 300 bowlers some share of the prize.

The "early bird" special is only in effect for this first weekend.

Entries should be submitted to any of the qualifying houses and bowlers should call for squad times to the house.

The tournament this year could break the record of 1,400 entries set in 1967.

Houses participating in qualifying are Airway Lanes, Cooley Lanes, Collier Lanes, Firebird Lanes (Huron Bowl), Howe's Lanes, Billy G. Bowl (Maple Lanes), North Hill Lanes, 300 Bowl and West Side Lanes.

Buckeyes 'Infiltrate' Michigan

20 From Ohio on Wolverines' Football Roster

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—If Michigan should just happen to upset Ohio State Saturday, blame it on the state of Ohio.

Twenty Michigan football players came from the Buckeye state and 16 of them are regulars or near-regulars with the Wolverines. Ohio State, meanwhile, does not have a single player from the state of Michigan.

"Yes, we've got quite a few from down there," smiled U-M coach Bo Schembechler, himself from Barborton, Ohio. He served eight years under OSU coach Woody Hayes as a player and assistant before becoming head coach at Miami of Ohio in 1963.

He took over the football reins at Michigan in December last year.

OHIO CAPTAIN

Michigan's captain is tight end Jim Mandich of Solon, Ohio. The 6-foot-3, 222-pound senior is one of the team's prime All-American candidates.

Leading pass receiver in the Big Ten most of the year, Mandich has hauled in 36 passes for 585 yards and four touchdowns. But that's not only where his talent lies.

"I like blocking just as much as catching," he said one day after practice. "It's just as big a challenge as getting open and catching a pass, and even more so because there is a man-for-man challenge there."

He is a crutching blocker and has won coaches' praise on numerous occasions for throwing key blocks.

"Tight end is an ideal position for me," said the 21-year-old economics major. "It affords an opportunity to catch the ball but there is some aspect of the entire game at the position."

But Michigan is expected to concentrate on running against Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 team. The Buckeyes' entire defensive backfield was chosen for combined "Back of the Week" honors by the Associated Press as a result of their performance in squelching Mike Phipps crushed Purdue 42-14.

U-M's top rusher is lateblooming tailback sensation Billy Taylor. The sophomore speedster from Barborton, Ohio, has amassed 673 yards in the last four games since replacing Glenn Doughty.

Besides Mandich, two other Wolverines are considered All-American candidates — and they are both from Ohio.

Safety Tom Curtis of Sandusky has already intercepted six passes this year and 23 in his career, second best in National Collegiate Athletic Association history. He was All-Big Ten last year and is considered a good pro prospect.

The other is junior offensive tackle Dan Dierdorf of Canton. The 6-4, 255-pounder has been a standout all season for an offensive line that has led the nation's sixth best rushing team.

"Something would be wrong with a player who couldn't score behind the blocks of Dierdorf or Mandich," said fullback Garvie Crow a week after he scored four touchdowns.

Other Ohio natives playing for Michigan are: middle guard Al Francis of Euclid; quarterbacks Bill Berutti of Franklin and Jim Betts of Cleveland; offensive tackle Werner Hall of Sandusky; Jack Harpner of Cincinnati; and Bob Ritley of Garfield Heights.

Also from Ohio are guards Ed Baldwin of Hamilton, Frank Titus of Cleveland and Joe Lukz of Niles; linebackers Marty Huff of Toledo and Ed Moore of Youngstown; split end Mike Oldman of Cincinnati; defensive tackle Dick McCoy of Alliance; defensive backs Tom Dardeau and Brian Healy of Sandusky; and punter Mark Werner of Cincinnati.

Hayes has a coaching record of 158 wins, 52 losses and seven ties in 27 seasons. Schembechler is 46-17-3 in seven years heading into Saturday's showdown for the Big Ten title.

COACHING STAFFS

The two coaching staffs should know each other's thinking.

Ohio State aide Dave McClain served under Schembechler for four years at Miami.

Former Ohio State players Gary Moeller and Jim Young are on the Michigan staff.

"It'll be like looking in a mirror when we go up there," says Buckeye scout Ken Sarkisian, who has worked with both men.

Pistons Fail to Click in Overtime Game

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Pistons overcame an 18-point deficit Tuesday night to force their National Basketball Association match with the Los Angeles Lakers into overtime.

But, as has happened so often this season, the Piston rally ran off of steam just when it was needed most. The Lakers had lost Jerry West on fouls, but Elgin Baylor pumped in six straight points in the extra session and allowed LA to claim a 125-114 victory.

It was the 10th defeat in 16 outings for the Pistons this season.

As though another defeat wasn't bad enough, Detroit got additional bad news when star guard Dave Bing came up limping after a second-quarter fall. He left the game and an x-ray examination of his foot was planned for today.

BELLAMY HAD 33

Walt Bellamy was high scorer for the Pistons with 33 points and Howie Komives threw in another 23. Baylor led the Lakers with 32.

Other National Basketball Association teams also worked overtime. Boston shading Phoenix 120-119 and Baltimore edging San Diego 142-138. Elsewhere, New York trounced Cincinnati 112-94, San Francisco whipped Milwaukee 127-110 and Chicago walloped Philadelphia 127-111.

The amazing Knicks pulled away from a 35-all tie in the second quarter and breezed past Cincinnati for their 13th straight win and an 18-1 record.

Even the foul trouble of Willis Reed and Dave DeBusschere failed to stop the Knicks, who got 22 points from Dick Barnett, 19 from Walt Frazier and 15 from Charlie Russell.

Moody Named Golfer of Year

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — The former Army sergeant who rose from golfing obscurity to fame in one leap, Orville Moody, was named Player of the Year Tuesday by the Professional Golfers' Association.

Moody, 35, was the surprise winner of the U.S. Open in June, 20 months after joining the pro tour.

A native of Chickasha, Okla., he won the World Series of Golf, finished in a tie for seventh in the PGA Championship and was second in the Greater Greensboro Open.

For the first time in 15 years, two pros were awarded the Professional of the Year title. The title went to Wally Mundt, St. Paul, Minn., and A. Hubert Smith Jr., Tullahoma, Tenn.

Chandler Harper, 1950 PGA Champion from Portsmouth, Va., was inducted into the PGA Hall of Fame. Harper, a former U.S. Ryder Cup team member, joined 24 surviving members of the Hall. His best year was 1950, when he won the El Paso Open, was runner-up at the Tucson Open, the Tournament of Champions and the World Championship.

The Horton Smith award for outstanding contributions to the field of golf professional education was presented to trick shot artist Pat Hahn. The awards were made at the annual President's banquet.

OSU Coach Was His Tutor

Bo Carries 'Little Woody' Tag

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Around the Ohio State coaches office, they call Bo Schembechler "Little Woody."

It's with good reason.

Schembechler, who sends his Michigan football team against Ohio State before 101,001 in Ann Arbor Saturday, has adopted many of the philosophies of Woody Hayes, his former coach.

"He's as mean or meaner even than Woody," a longtime associate of both maintains.

CARBON COPY

Schembechler, 33 and 17 years younger than the man he played for at Miami of Ohio and coached under for six years at Ohio State, is a near carbon-copy of Hayes.

After a bitter defeat, both frequently delay visiting with writers. They then say a little or nothing.

Unbeaten Teams Fill Top Spots of Class C All-State Choices

GARY ASSARIAN
On Second Team

By The Associated Press
Six of the 11 players named to this year's Associated Press Class C All-State high school football team have the distinction of coming from undefeated squads.

The team was selected last week by AP member sports writers from throughout Michigan.

Country Days big-tackleman Gary Assarian at 225 pounds, was picked to the second team while Farmington Our Lady, Royal Oak St. James and Pontiac Catholic placed players on the honorable mention list.

End Dave Berlein of Catholic joins Barry Walsh, FOIS back and quarterback Dan McGrath along with St. James back John Davey on the honorable mention list.

Named were: ends Gary Meier of Saginaw St. Stephen and Dave Wood of Battle Creek St. Philip; tackles Pepper Colvin of Berrien Springs and Kirby Goodwin of Frankenuith; guards Kevin Rarden of Flint St. Michael and Mike Ashley of DeWitt; center Rick Franz of Saginaw St. Stephen; quarterback Mark Niesen of Manistee Catholic Central; and running backs Ralph Munger of Frankenuith, John Wollet of Hudson, and John Brown of St. Ignace.

Frankenuith, St. Michael, DeWitt and Hudson all finished the season with 9-0 records while Manistee Catholic ended up 8-0-1.

Meier is a transfer student from Kalamazoo. He caught 31 passes for 870 yards and 13 touchdowns. He is a fine blocker on end sweeps and as a defensive halfback snared three pass interceptions. The 5-foot-10, 170-pound junior is a 60-minute player.

LONG REACH

Wood stands 6-5 and that no doubt has helped him catch 28 passes for 512 yards this season. The 185-pound senior scored five TDs and is considered a top-notch blocker. He played halfback on defense, intercepting five passes and averaging eight solo tackles a game. Wood also does St. Philip's punting, averaging 35 yards a try.

Berrien Springs finished with a meek 2-6 record but 62, 215-pound Colvin can't be blamed. He was in on 89 tackles, including 27 solos; recovered three fumbles, intercepted two passes and blocked three more, and he blocked two punts. Most of his team's offensive yardage went through his position.

LESSON FOR LEW

San Francisco's Nate Thurmond gave Milwaukee's Lew Alcindor a basketball lesson, outscoring him 26-21 and outbounding the towering rookie from UCLA 19-15. Alcindor made only one of 10 shots in the first half and scored most of his points after the outcome was settled.

Bob Love scored 31 of his 38 points in the fourth quarter as the Bulls, who trailed by 18 in the first period, swept past the 76ers. Chet Walker, an ex-76er, paced the Bulls with 32.

Hillsdale Back Top Scorer in State

By The Associated Press
Michigan college football scoring championship virtually sewn up by Hillsdale's Dick Kraatz, former Bloomfield Hills loper, has the 1969 season against St. Norbert in a tie with Alma tailback Chris Kraatz.

Kraatz went into Saturday's game with 15 touchdowns each. He finished his season with 16 touchdowns, two more TDs as the Chargers took a 38-6 win.

That gives him 17 for the season for 102 points.

Only the University of Michigan and Michigan State have games remaining and the best scorer on either team is U-M's fullback Garvie Crow who has 66 points on 11 touchdowns.

Hillsdale's soccer-style kicker Chester Marcol led kicking specialists in the state, finishing with 69 points on nine field goals and 42 extra points.

Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association champ Albion was the only team to finish the season unbeaten. The Britons were 8-0, while Olivet finished 7-1, and on the bottom of the state's 17 teams.

World Soccer Record Sought by Brazilian

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — the greatest blessing a man the major topic of conversation could ever expect to receive in this Brazilian city does not come from God," said Pele, christened Edson Arantes do Nascimento, but Pele and his quest to become the first man in professional soccer history to score 1,000 goals.

"We all know the Americans will make it to the moon again, but do you really know if Pele will score tomorrow," asked Rio cabbie Tuesday.

The answer will come tonight when Pele and his Santos team will play the Vasco da Gama club before an expected crowd of 150,000 in Maracana, the world's largest stadium.

The 29-year-old Pele's 999 goals have come in a 12-year career that has made him a living legend to soccer fans throughout the world.

"I sincerely believe that my 1,000th goal will be a great feat in my life in sports and one of the greatest blessings a man could ever expect to receive in this Brazilian city does not come from God," said Pele, christened Edson Arantes do Nascimento, but Pele and his quest to become the first man in professional soccer history to score 1,000 goals.

"If he doesn't, Franca said, 'I'll look pretty bad because I've already ordered a beautiful commemorative plaque.'"

"I telephoned Pele and told him, 'You have the duty to score that goal. That's an order.' He thought that was funny and told me I could relax."

WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING — Saturday's California confrontation on the gridiron will feature a showdown between the Jones boys. Greg, left, UCLA's biggest ground gainer, is only a few yards away from setting a school record. Jimmy, right, Southern Cal's quarterback, has engineered a half-dozen fourth-quarter come-from-behind victories.

Feel Big Ten Outdated

Critics Hit Rose Bowl Rule

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten's controversial no-repeat rule for the Rose Bowl may be lifted after this year. At least it is going to be re-examined under a promising new light.

Not since the rule — prohibiting a team from making two successive Pasadena trips for the New Year's Day football classic — was adopted in 1962, has it been attacked so consistently and sharply as this season.

MUCH CRITICISM

The criticism not only has been within the conference but also without, extending from coaches of independents to a reported growing restlessness in some Pacific Eight circles.

It has ballooned because unbeaten and No. 1 ranked Ohio State, if it maintains this status after its finishing game with Michigan Saturday, will not be able to display itself since it went to the Rose Bowl last season as the Big Ten champion.

That means a second place team — Michigan or Purdue — will go this time.

Coach Ara Parseghian of Cotton Bowl-bound Notre Dame constantly in the later stages of this season has expressed his opinion — for what it is worth — that it is a shame Ohio State, as No. 1, is prevented from going to the Rose Bowl.

"The Big Ten should at least make an exception if the team is No. 1 or if it is undisputed conference champion," he said. Needless to say, the West Coast likes the idea, too.

It has come to the point where the no-repeat rule for the first time will be put on the agenda for the annual winter meetings of athletic directors and faculty representatives in Chicago starting Dec. 11.

"I sense that there is a basic feeling throughout the conference for re-examination of the rule — more so than at any other time," Commissioner Bill Reed told The Associated Press. "It has taken a situation like this — having such a barn-burning team as Ohio State — to catalyze thinking."

Reed said that although there may be feeling to lift the no-repeat rule, he detected "no upsurge in the conference" to permit the Big Ten runner-up to accept another bowl bid if the champion went to the Rose Bowl.

A majority vote ostensibly by faculty representatives could knock out the rule. Discussions will be held in the winter meetings and the voting probably will be held over until the spring sessions in March.

"At any rate it would be a policy change and thus become an institutional matter putting it

Small Colleges Get Bids

Jones Boys to Run for the Roses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It will be a matter of "keeping up with the Joneses" for the nation's television viewers Saturday when UCLA and the University of Southern California throw was 55 yards to his favor target, Sam Dikerson.

At stake will be the Rose Bowl engagement as the representative of the Pacific-8 Conference.

Lions Second to Minnesota on Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Lions are last in the National Football League in total offense although they have won four of their last five games so it must be that defense that is doing the job.

The Lions rank second to the Minnesota Vikings in total defense, ranking fifth against the rush and fourth against the pass. They also have dumped the enemy quarterback 34 times for 252 yards.

Dallas continues to lead the way in total offense and rushing while San Francisco has averaged the most yardage with the pass. Minnesota's muscle men are first in both total defense and pass defense and rank second to Dallas in rushing defense.

The Cowboys and Los Angeles Rams each have smeared the passer 38 times but Dallas has made its 38 add up to 318 yards in losses against the Rams' 201. In the pass blocking department, Baltimore and St. Louis have let their quarterback get dumped only 11 times each.

Pacers Rally, Edge Rockets

By The Associated Press
The clock showed two seconds left. The score was tied 106-105 and the Indiana Pacers were flirting with a loss to the Denver Rockets, one of the losingest teams in the American Basketball Association. Enter Roger Brown.

Brown hit a field goal from the corner to make it 107-105. Then the Pacers, the defending ABA champions, scored the insurance points after the Rockets were tagged for a technical foul for taking a time out when they had none left, and won it 109-105 Tuesday night.

In the only other ABA game, Pittsburgh snapped a five-game losing streak with a 113-107 victory over Miami.

Two Lions' QBs at Bottom of List

Joe Schmidt better not look at all, we have a whole unit of National Football League hard-working players who have statistics before he announces great pride in what we are about his starting quarterback completing."

Luci praised defensive coach Jimmy Davis, a former great defensive back from the Lions' championship days of the 1950s.

Schmidt is expected to name Landry as his choice to open against the Packers in Green Bay since the second-year QB from Massachusetts has guided Detroit to four wins in his five starts since Munson injured his hand.

However, both Lions' quarterbacks are tied for the 16th and last spot among NFL passers, league statistics released today revealed.

Munson has completed 42 of 92 passes, 52.2 per cent for 533 yards and four touchdowns while Landry has clicked on 56 of 111 50.5 per cent for 652 yards and the same amount of points.

MANN HAS IS
Errol Mann's club record-equaling 14th and 15th field goals plus his two extra points in the Lions' 20-0 shutout of the St. Louis Cardinals put him fifth among league scorers with 64 points. He is only three points out of third but Fred Cox of Minnesota has 67 to top the field.

Detroit became the only NFL team to post two shutouts with the blanking and boosted the defense to No. 2 standing in the league.

"One thing we have that is so important is our feeling for one another," commented middle linebacker Mike Luci. "The camaraderie, the pride, the friendship. You just want to be around these guys."

"We have some outstanding defensive players, but most of

Oakland's Aerial Team Leads AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland's Daryle Lamonia-Fred Biletnikoff aerial combination has clicked for 11 touchdowns in 10 games this season, as many as any American Football League pass-catch tandem scored all last year.

Biletnikoff continues to pace AFL receivers with 44 catches in all while Lamonia, third behind New York's Joe Namath and Cincinnati's Greg Cook in the passing standings, remains No. 1 in completions, 171, yardage, 2,440 and scoring losses, 27.

Lance Alworth of San Diego, with 42 receptions, and Al Denson of Denver, with 41, are right behind Biletnikoff in the receiving derby.

Baseball Team to Quit Buffalo for Lackawanna

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bisons of the International Baseball League said yesterday they will play their home games next season in suburban Lackawanna.

The Bisons played their home dates last season in Hyde Park Stadium, Niagara Falls, and War Memorial Stadium, Buffalo.

Mayor Mark F. Balen of Lackawanna said his city will spend $500,000 to increase its stadium's seating capacity to 8,500 with 3,000 extra bleacher seats in the outfield.

Gen. Mgr. Don V. Labruzzo said his club has agreed to a five-year lease. He added that he hopes to reach a compromise with Niagara Falls officials on the stadium lease there which still has a year to run.

Bridge Tricks From Jacobys

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

The history of any bridge player's exploits on the table. Part of Helen Sobel's character will be full of squares for ma may be seen in today's double glaze, end plays to make hand, which was one of her cherished contracts, brilliant favorites. It occurred in a match-point game back in 1935. When young Helen was just making her impact on the bridge scene.

Most everyone in the game managed to reach five clubs with the North-South cards. Everyone made five except Helen, who scored a little 20-point overtrick. See if you can figure out how she did it.

It really wasn't difficult for her. She just played the five of spades from dummy at trick one. East took this queen and looked around for new words to conquer. Needless to say, he fired back the jack of diamonds and Operation Overtrick was in full swing.

Junior Editors Quiz on JELLIES

HOW TO PRESERVE JELLY WHEN YOU GET IN A JAM

QUESTION: What is the difference between jellies, jams and preserves?

ANSWER: Jellies, jams and preserves are all made from fruits and their juices. The thing which makes them different from other preserved foods is that they have large amounts of sugar added — for concentrated sugar tends to preserve food from spoilage.

Jelly uses the juice of hot cooked fruit which has dripped through a jelly bag and to which sugar is added. It is then boiled until it coagulates, or jells (1). When the mix drips off a spoon as at bottom of upper left, it is beginning to jell. Some fruits, strawberries, peaches, cherries, require the substance pectin to be added to make the mixture jell.

Jams are made by using crushed fruits which are cooked with sugar until thick; the seeds have been removed (2). Preserves are fruits which remain whole or in pieces, cooked in a heavy sweet syrup until tender (3). They often seem much like jams, but the seeds have not been removed. Conserves are similar but raisins and or nuts are added.

We don't give you actual recipes because different cooks make these goodies in different ways, and your mother is probably an expert. Get her to let you in on some of her secrets.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Crash Kills Man

MIDLAND (AP) — Jacob Nagel, 38, of Midland was killed Tuesday night when his car went off a road in Midland Township and plunged into a ditch. Authorities said Nagel apparently lost control while passing another car.

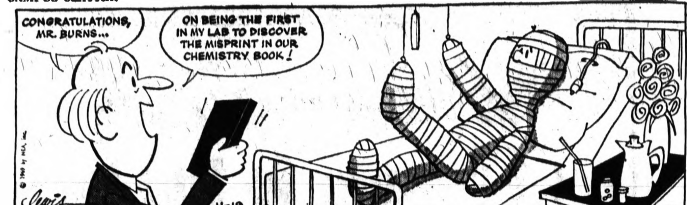

The construction industry may some day use sand and gravel apparently deposited during the Ice Age along the continental shelf in the Atlantic Ocean.

U. N. Facing Problems on DDT Distribution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., was the U.N. International Children's Fund distributes 12 million pounds of DDT, the insecticide whose use is being restricted in the United States.

How long the fund can keep that up on the same scale is problematical, because there is a growing movement here for purifying the environment, and DDT is criticized in another report, from U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

shows that in 1968-69 it spent an average of $2.7 million on DDT, it shipped from 11.5 million to 13.8 million pounds in each of the three years.

A UNICEF spokesman says it has followed World Health Organization advice on malaria and sent DDT to any country that asked for it. In the western hemisphere these include Argentina, Bolivia, Colombia, Ecuador and several countries in Central America and the Caribbean area.

Thant's report estimates that 100 million pounds of DDT is being spread around annually, which would make the UNICEF contribution one pound out of every eight.

It says DDT interferes with photosynthesis, the process by which sunlight causes plants to make oxygen.

FLOATING ALGAE

"The maintenance of both atmospheric oxygen and the productivity of marine environments depends upon photosynthesis by marine plants, mostly the floating algae of microscopic size," the report explains.

"Minute amounts of such pesticides as DDT have been found to inhibit photosynthesis in these algae by 75 per cent."

"Nevertheless, we have dumped an estimated billion pounds of DDT into our environment and are adding an estimated 100 million pounds per year," Thant's report says previous "have known effects upon fish, wildlife and human health, which have been of serious consequence in many areas. Such damage to the environment should be avoided."

The report on which the U.S. government acted this month in banning many uses of DDT says its use "should be limited to the prevention or control of human disease and other essential uses for which no alternative is available."

Compulsory Polish Work Program for Students Has Its Pitfalls

By MARTIN ZUCKER
WARSAW (AP) — "Chiefly we played cards, lay in the sun and drank huge amounts of vodka." That was the answer from a Polish student asked recently about his activities during the compulsory manual labor program for students introduced in Poland last summer.

The youth said he and his friends, despite their illness, were still able to earn more than the average Polish worker because they belied their foreman with alcohol and he credited them with their quotas and overtime.

This example emerges from among several articles in the Polish party-controlled press which have pointed out shortcomings in the new and unprecedented program.

ANNOUNCED IN 1968 The "students to work" idea was announced at the Communist party's quadrennial congress in November 1968. It came several months after the outbreak of student demonstrations across the country.

A congress resolution decreed that "in order to shape proper attitudes" among the students in line with Communist ideology, paid physical work would be obligatory during the first three summer vacations.

The party newspaper Trybuna Ludu later explained that such work would acquaint students with the "reality of peasants and workers' life" and help "consolidate" the student community.

About 40,000 students were thus selected to work on state farms, in factories, on conservation projects and in university cleaning details.

An interuniversity research team found that students received notification not earlier than eight days before their departure and 5 per cent one day before. The team reported that 45 per cent of the students were surprised by notification.

Managers, the team discovered, were informed they would receive student help only a month before and in many cases this was why good living conditions were not available and enterprises unprepared.

The periodical indicated that One account said 22 coeds university authorities and youth were turned down by two states groups treated the program as a burden and tried to shift responsibility.

On the third, where they were accepted, they felt superior and reported being treated "spitefully."

"Doesn't badly organized work bring more educational harm than advantages?" the national weekly journal Polityka asked.

TREATED AS BURDEN The periodical indicated that "All possible ways of relieving students of this obligation have been sought," the newspaper said, added that some of them had "characteristics of hysteria."

In September, one daily newspaper said there were numerous cases of students dodging work by producing medical certificates. For example, at the Warsaw Medical Academy, about 30 per cent found ways out.

On the basis of the findings of the research team, steps will be taken next year to make the program run smoother. Among them is a compulsory medical examination designed to prevent "hasty excuses from work" and help determine what kind of work a student can do.

FRESH PUMPKIN MUFFINS — Fresh pumpkin muffins were sampled by food editors at breakfast hosted by the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. A delight to the eye and palate, serve the muffins warm as an accompaniment with corned beef hash to satisfy ravenous breakfast appetites. Fresh orange juice precedes the entrée.

Golden Muffins Full of Flavor

To illustrate how even fresh vegetables can be used to take the monotony out of the first meal of the day, pumpkin muffins are on the menu. These delightful muffins can be enjoyed often during the autumn and winter months. Don't limit their appearance to breakfast.

FRESH PUMPKIN MUFFINS

2 cups sifted flour
¾ cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
¾ cup milk
1 cup mashed cooked fresh pumpkin
¼ cup salad oil

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and cinnamon into a bowl. Beat egg; mix in milk, pumpkin and salad oil. Make a well in center of flour mixture; pour in milk mixture all at once. Stir quickly until flour is just moistened.

Fill greased muffin cups ¾ full. Bake in 425 degree oven 25 minutes or until done. Run spatula around each muffin to loosen; serve immediately. Makes about 15 2½ inch muffins.

Cooking Directions for Pumpkin:

Halve or quarter fresh pumpkin; remove seeds and stringy portions. Cut into small pieces. Cut off rind. Cook, covered, in small amount lightly salted boiling water 25-30 minutes; drain. Mash well.

Place mashed pumpkin in strainer. Let drain about 30 minutes to remove excess liquid. One 5-pound pumpkin yields about 4½ cups mashed cooked pumpkin.

Colorful Trio Is Full of Flavor as Salad Choice

This Italian style salad is perfect when served with Lasagna, stuffed eggplant or any type of meat or chicken. The zesty flavor is due to the soft and mixture is thick (about 1½ cups).
Cool slightly and put through a sieve, if desired. Serve cold. Store covered in refrigerator. Makes about 1½ cups catsup.

SPICY PEACH BUTTER

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach slices
½ cup brown sugar, packed
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon ground cloves
Drain peaches. Combine peaches, sugar, vinegar, cinnamon and cloves in saucepan; bring to boil. Simmer for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; put mixture through coarse sieve, if desired. Store covered in refrigerator. Makes 1½ cups.

Pretzels - Pickles

Roll Stuffing in Fish

Looking for something warm to pick. Stand rolls upright and light to serve these cool side by side in a greased 8 inch autumn evenings? Here's one square baking pan. Brush with answer — with an unusual twist, butter.
too — fish rolls with pretzel stuffing.

FISH ROLLS WITH PRETZEL STUFFING

6 flounder fillets
salt and pepper
2 cups coarsely crushed pretzels
1 large dill pickle, chopped
2 tablespoons drained capers
3 hardcooked eggs, chopped
¼ cup tomato juice
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
Sprinkle flounder fillets with salt and pepper. Combine remaining ingredients, except butter, and blend well.
Spread mixture thinly on fillets. Roll up and fasten with a stick pans.

Cheese Helps

Having trouble getting your family to enjoy vegetables? Serve them with a cheese sauce seasoned with Worcestershire sauce and dry mustard for tang. This sauce is delicious over broccoli, cauliflower, snap beans and green cabbage.

A regular cornmeal muffin mixture can be baked in cornlets. Roll up and fasten with a stick pans.

Turn Peaches Into Spicy New Treats

Canned peaches are in plentiful supply. Why not use some of this economical fruit to make spicy peach treats to serve with meat?

So many of the dishes we associate particularly with the fall and winter months — stews, casseroles, cooked slowly with low heat — seem to need the lift offered by a spicy relish or fruit butter. Two such recipes are worthy of a permanent place in your recipe file.

PEACH CATSUP

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach slices
1 large onion
½ cup vinegar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash Tabasco sauce

Drain syrup from peaches and boil down to about ½ cup. Add peaches, onion cut fine and remaining ingredients. Boil until onion and peaches are very soft and mixture is thick (about 1½ cups).
Cool slightly and put through a sieve, if desired. Serve cold. Store covered in refrigerator. Makes about 1½ cups catsup.

SPICY PEACH BUTTER

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach slices
½ cup brown sugar, packed
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon ground cloves
Drain peaches. Combine peaches, sugar, vinegar, cinnamon and cloves in saucepan; bring to boil. Simmer for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; put mixture through coarse sieve, if desired. Store covered in refrigerator. Makes 1½ cups.

State College Enrollment Is Up

LANSING (UPI) — Enrollment in Michigan's 91 institutions of higher learning is up 8.6 per cent this fall, with most of the increase coming in the 29 public community colleges, a Department of Education survey shows.

The survey, presented to the State Board of Education at its meeting here last night, shows a total of 374,113 persons enrolled in institutions of higher learning in Michigan.

More than half of this total — 206,273 students — are in the 11 four-year colleges and universities. Michigan State, with 44,274 students, has the highest enrollment, followed by the University of Michigan, which has 38,328 students enrolled.

MSU, however, saw a slight drop in its total enrollment by 3 per cent as compared to last year, the survey said. It was the only one of the 11 institutions to show a decrease.

The report showed an enrollment of 114,923 in the public community colleges around the state, a jump of 20.7 per cent from last year.

At the same time, the report showed enrollment in the 31 private colleges, universities and trade schools is 51,017, the same as last year. The total number of freshmen in the private schools is 12,009, a drop of 3.5 per cent from last year. The total number of freshmen in the various institutions totals 87,588, an increase of 4.3 per cent from last year. Of this total 43,063 are in the community colleges and the other 32,916 are in the four-year public colleges and universities.

The largest of the community colleges is Macomb County Community College, which has a total enrollment of 15,102, an increase of 20.1 per cent from last year.

Oakland Community College's enrollment is up 28.4 per cent to 12,854 and Henry Ford Community College has a 2.4 per cent enrollment increase to 11,982. The three were the only community colleges with enrollments in five figures.

The University of Detroit remains by far the largest private college in the state, with an enrollment of 9,319, up 4.9 per cent from last year.

Wage-Hike Story Released Early

A story released Monday by United Press International (UPI) in Detroit about wage increases for United Auto Workers (UAW) was released a week early.

The wage increase, ranging from nine to 18 cents per hour, depending on classification, is part of the agreement in the 1967 contracts, UAW officials pointed out.

Some 750,000 workers nationwide will receive the raise Monday.

Okinawa Talks Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Prime Minister Sato of Japan met today to discuss the return of Okinawa to Japan. The United States has occupied Okinawa since the end of World War II. The talks today on the return of Okinawa to Japan, are expected since near the end of World War II. The relationship between their two nations for the coming decade.

Military honors including a 16-gun salute were on the program for the arrival of the Japanese leader and his wife at the White House for the most carefully prepared historical drama in U.S.-Japan relations since the 1951 peace treaty.

The negotiations involve the return of Okinawa to Japanese jurisdiction in 1972, the possibility of future use of the U.S. base on the island for nuclear weapons, the American and Japanese roles in Asia and trade problems.

Sato has staked his government's future on the outcome of the talks. At the outset of his five-year rule, the 68-year-old

NO WEAPONS STORE
Japan wants the Ryukyu Islands chain and its one million inhabitants returned without U.S. nuclear weapons stored on the island.

Arrangements have been worked out in principle on the nuclear issue, according to informed sources, but the two leaders are meeting privately to decide how the recommendations will be carried out before making an announcement Friday.

President Nixon is expected to emphasize his concept of the U.S. role in Asia and the Western Pacific. Aides said Nixon wants to make certain in the new defense relationship of the 1970s that Japan will do its part in contributing to peace and stability for the Far East.

Nixon also is to review the broad trade picture since Japan has a trade advantage of more than $1.5 billion this year over the United States.

Sources also said Nixon would try to persuade Japan to voluntarily restrain its flow of woolen and man-made fiber textiles into the United States.

School Tax Wins in Highland Park

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — Voters of this Detroit suburb approved Tuesday continuation of a 4-mill school levy and an added 2.9 mills. This translates into $6.90 in taxes on each $1,000 of assessed valuation of property.

The 2.9-mill addition passed 1,933 to 1,375; the renewal, 2,022 to 1,400.

Middle Guardrail Reduces Deaths, Injuries on I-75

LANSING (AP) — Deaths and injuries have been sharply reduced since a middle guardrail was installed at three of the narrowest sections of I-75 in the Monroe and Wayne counties, reports the State Highway Department.

The safety measure was ordered after six persons were killed in April, 1968, near Monroe, when a car crossed the median strip.

Max Hoffman, representing the highway department, told the State Safety Commission Tuesday a study was made of accidents two years before and two years after completion of installation of the guardrails in May 1967.

There were seven fatal accidents and 108 injuries in the period before the guardrails were installed. After the installation three fatal accidents and 81 injuries were reported.

Notre Dame Protest Brings Court Order

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Demonstrators were ordered today not to interfere with university policy in name operations of the University of Notre Dame placement bureau.

The order was issued at the request of the university Tuesday night after a demonstration during on-campus interviews by the Central Intelligence Agency and Dow Chemical Co.

The CIA representative left the campus, but Dow had more interviews planned today.

The university suspended an undisclosed number of students after about 15 persons blocked doors to rooms where representatives of the federal agency and the private firm were interviewing job applicants.

About 150 demonstrators gathered at the bureau in the administration building. Notre Dame has about 6,200 undergraduates.

The Rev. James L. Diehl, dean of students, said it was not university policy in name operations of the University of Notre Dame placement bureau.

Dean Diehl imposed the university's 15-minute period of "mediation to cease and desist" when the demonstrators forced the CIA and Dow to cancel Tuesday afternoon appointments.

The 15-minute ruling established Feb. 17 by the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, calls for students who fail to cease disruptive demonstrations after the 15-minute "mediation" is announced to turn in their university identification cards and face suspension. Persons who do not submit ID cards are presumed non-students and according to the ruling liable to arrest on charges of trespassing.

SUBJECT OF TALKS—Map locates Okinawa in the Ryukyu Islands chain in the Pacific Ocean and points of interest on the island, including the Yonaguni and Kadena American air bases. Prime Minister Sato and President Nixon began talks today in Washington on possible return of the island chain and Okinawa to Japan from American occupation.

Gen. Pak Plays One Final Trump--Then, It's Freedom at Last

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 14th article in a series on the USS Pueblo written by an Associated Press news team.)

"To the Government of Democratic People's Republic of Korea," the document began, "The Government of the United States of America, acknowledging the validity of the confessions of the crew of the USS Pueblo and of the documents of evidence produced by the representatives of the Government of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to the effect that the ship, which was seized by the self-defense acts measures of the naval vessels of the Korean People's Army in the territorial waters of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea on Jan. 23, 1968, had illegally intruded into the territorial waters of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea on many occasions and conducted espionage activities of spying out important military and state secrets of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, and that the ship and its crew were responsible and solemnly apologize for the grave acts of espionage committed by the U.S. ship against the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, and gives firm assurance that no U.S. ships will intrude again in future into the territorial waters of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea."

"Meanwhile the Government of the United States of America earnestly requests the Government of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to deal leniently with the former crew members of the USS Pueblo confiscated by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, taking into consideration the fact that these crew members have confessed honestly to their crimes and petitioned the Government of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea for leniency."

ple's Republic of Korea for leniency.

"Simultaneously with the signing of this document, the undersigned acknowledges receipt of 82 former crew members of the Pueblo and one corpse."

'VIOLATED TERMS'

"On behalf of the Government of the United States of America," Gilbert H. Woodward, "Major General, United States Army."

That seemed to have been that. But at the moment of release, Pak said America's pronouncement had violated the agreement terms.

"I am withdrawing my agreement," he said.

There was no violation, Woodward said. It was his understanding that if one country said something beforehand, the other could make any answering statement it wanted.

"It was a violation," said Pak, "and I'm going to release the men at 11:30 instead of 11 a.m."

PAK'S LAST KICK

It was, Woodward thought, Pak's last kick in the butt.

For two and a half hours the men of the Pueblo waited in their buses. The North Koreans played them a tape of one of Bucher's statements. An officer said North and South Korea should be reunited just as they were going to be reunited with their families. They were told how to cross over the line: no talking, no running, no looking back, no gestures. If any one violated the rules, they would be taken back to North Korea.

At the bridge of No Return, they took Bucher off the bus. If he went to an ambulance where Hodges' body lay in a plain wooden box. The North Koreans removed the lid and the windings from the body and asked Bucher to identify it.

"That's Hodges," he said.

Photographers took pictures. Then they put the coffin back in the ambulance and drove it across the bridge. Hodges was the first one home.

ACROSS THE BRIDGE

Bucher was ordered to stand at attention at a podium surrounded by doves at the end of the bridge. Out stride Gen. Pak who harangued the American for 30 minutes while he shivered in the cold. Then an interpreter gave him a 30-second translation.

Finally shortly before noon on Dec. 23, 11 months to the day and almost the hour after it had all begun, the men began to walk across. Bucher going first.

At 30-second intervals the men left the buses. North Koreans lined both sides of the walkway and some stood at the far end of the bridge. McLintock thought of giving a finger salute but didn't.

Schumacher thought only of the rules he was to follow. As he passed the last guard he broke into a run, ran up to an American MP and kissed him.

WATCH STOPPED

"At last," he said to himself.

A few days before, Ginther's watch had stopped at 12:36 and he decided not to rewind it because he thought that was when they would be released. He crossed the bridge of No Return at noon.

Murphy was the last to come over and then it was ended.

Whatever else he had done, Lloyd Bucher had brought his men back.

They were not yet home, but they were out.

The Navy quickly issued them clothing. In Seoul they paused long enough for the skipper to hold a press conference—a real one this time—at which he began to fill in the blanks. He praised his crew.

"Those guys were simply tremendous." He denied any intrusions and defended his actions.

"I never doubted in my mind that the United States government ever considered that I had disobeyed willfully, intentionally or unintentionally the instructions I had received."

Then they boarded two C-141 Starlifters to begin the long voyage back over the Pacific they had crossed in their ship more than a year before, then obscure sailors, but now

"As far as the U.S. Navy and the nation are concerned now, these men acted honorably," said Rear Adm. Edwin M. Rosenberg, in charge of getting the men home. And Lloyd Bucher, he said, was a "hero among heroes."

In the holiday mood of the nation, none spoke otherwise.

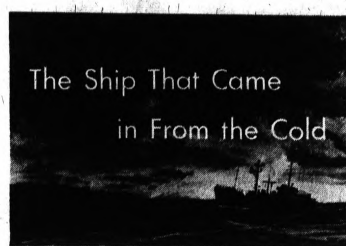

On Christmas Eve, the planes landed at the Miramar Naval Air Station at Coronado, Calif., just across the bay from San Diego. They were back in port. A band struck up "The Lonely Bull." Families and friends hurried to greet them. Tears embraced. A glance to see that it was really true. Another hug.

CARRY OUT CASKET

Then an honor guard of sailors carried out the casket of Duane Hodges. Trumpeters played "The Navy Hymn." An honor guard fired three rounds into the air. Bucher, after embracing Hodges' mother, bowed his head. Then a gray hearse drove Hodges' body away from his shipmates. They saluted.

Time had changed them and the lives they had left behind. There was so much to catch up on. So Nixon was elected? Who won the World Series? What kind of year had it been back home?

Ralph Reed, who at 132 was 68 pounds underweight, just wanted to eat. But he figured he'd been too fat anyway and planned to stop at 165. Was it

The Ship That Came in From the Cold

true he'd eaten eight eggs for breakfast after his arrival?

"No, that was just a rumor. I actually had nine."

SEES DAUGHTER

Karnes, who scarcely had two cups of coffee a year, now couldn't drink enough.

For the first time Murphy saw his new nine-month-old daughter. Hammond, Chicca, Hagen, and four others met their new babies. Murphy also got a telegram from the three fishermen he'd saved two years before.

But the 11 months had left their scars. Arnold still had not regained feeling in two fingers of his left hand. Navy doctors told Law his eye damage would be permanent due to malnutrition. And the skipper?

"When I first met him, I thought he was a guy totally in control," said Schumacher. "He completely filled a chair. Now he was 30 pounds underweight. He was withdrawn and confused: why would he pick up a copy of Newsweek and find himself on the cover?"

MOOD CHANGES

His crew, under orders not to talk of the Pueblo or their confinement, were open in praise of their leader. "If it hadn't been for the leadership of the commanding officer, things could have been a lot worse than they were," said Lacy.

"We were able to survive and come out fairly well, I think," said Steve Harris, "and I want to say this is due to the fine leadership of the commanding officer. I observed a man who bore the burden of all the other crewmen. He inspired all of us to respect and follow him, which I'm sure all of us would like to do in the future."

But as the holiday season passed and the Navy announced it would hold a court inquiry, something Bucher knew all along was standard procedure when a ship is lost, other and blunter questions were being asked.

"These men are being hailed as 'heroes,'" said Richard Russell, head of the Senate Armed Services Committee. "They are heroes in the sense that they survived the imprisonment, but they did sign a great many statements that did not reflect any great heroism in my mind. It is a very sad and tragic affair."

CASHIER BUCHER?

Herman Wouk, author of the seagoing bestseller, "The Caine Mutiny," wrote: "By the codes I learned as a wartime naval officer, Bucher should perhaps be cashiered. The willingness of fighting men to die, even against hopeless odds, has been the test of a nation's ability to survive since Thermopylae... and the demands of honor, that a captured warrior refuse even on pain of death to testify falsely against his own country, are clear."

"But do the demands of honor hold where honor, as we define it, is not understood and does not exist?"

Congress began an investigation under Otis Pike who wondered aloud how the nation could expect to be able to master the instant response to a missile attack in light of the communications foulups of the Pueblo incident. When the North Koreans shot down an EC21 spy plane in April, it only heightened such concern. It was asked, anew, if ELINT was worth the hazard.

After the Pueblo seizure, McNamara said: "I doubt that we will learn anything that would prevent a recurrence of this kind of incident." He recalled that his daughter had been robbed one night directly in front of his Washington home.

"I didn't learn anything from that that would prevent a recurrence. As a matter of fact, it happened two months later to the woman next door. I suspect it is a risk we are going to have to continue to accept if we want the intelligence that it provides us."

Water Baby: He's Really in the Swim

Superbaby Christian Simecek is a regular at the YMCA pool. A regular swimmer, that is. At 18 months of age, He's the son of the John Simecks of 181 Charles Lane. Christian's mother (right, in upper photo) accompanies her water baby on trips to the Y. Note the boy's swim form: straight up on his toes for the dive, arms outstretched, fingers spread—go.

Look to your right. He pumps with the right leg and arm, stroke back with the left side. The perfect swim coordination. At 18 months?

Roberto Rossellini Leaving Italy

ROME (AP) — Roberto Rossellini, Italy's senior movie director, has decided to move to the problems of Italy recovering from the ravages of fascism. Rossellini resigned as head of Rome's experimental film center and informed the minister of tourism and entertainment: "In Italy, you can't do anything serious." Later he turned to television with controversial depictions of "Louis XIV" as an arrogant, distasteful French monarch and "The Acts of the Apostles," which came under attack for its alleged anti-Jewish tone. His departure may dash plans for a film with Anna Magnani on the life of Catherine de Medici, the scheming 16th century queen of France. It would have been their first film together in 20 years since "Rome, Open City." The director was once a popular figure, especially during his marriage to Swedish actress Ingrid Bergman. Now many Italian critics regard him as the advanced money for two films Rossellini was preparing—one on the life of Socrates, the other Rossellini. "The fact is I cannot on the 17th century French philosopher find work in Italy, and since you need to work in order to survive, I shall work abroad."

Rossellini, 63, made his mark with such realistic postwar films as "Rome, Open City" and "Paisan" detailing some of the problems of Italy recovering from the ravages of fascism. Although directors like Federico Fellini and Michelangelo Antonioni have replaced Rossellini as the leading Italian movie-makers, he presided over and influenced the country's main training ground for new talent. Rome's experimental film center has produced such directors as Marco Bellocchio and Marco Ferreri. ## Russia Wary of China

Military District Created

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet armed forces have reorganized the military command structure along much of the country's southern border, apparently in intensify vigilance on the sensitive frontier with Red China. "This new structure would bring in more command and control elements," he said.

The Soviet-Chinese border has been the scene of frequent clashes for several years. Talks have been under way in Peking since Oct. 20 to settle border questions but there has been no report on how the talks are progressing.

Provincial newspapers arriving by mail in Moscow reveal the creation of the central Asian military district bordering China's Sinkiang Province. The reorganization was never announced. It was noticed only because the head of the new district, Col. Gen. Nikolai Lyashchenko, was known to have headed the Turkistan military district as recently as one year ago.

Lyashchenko has now been replaced in the Turkistan district and has taken over the central Asian district which previously did not exist.

POSSIBLE ADVANTAGE One Western military expert in Moscow said a possible advantage to the reorganization would be an increase in military capability in the area.

Death Notices

A city employee is in fair condition this morning at Pontiac General Hospital, after having been shot by an off-duty police officer. He is accused of assaulting Robert Powell Jr., 37, of 105 Henry Clay was arrested on a charge of aggravated assault.

2-to-5 Years Meled in Traffic Death

A two-to-five-year prison sentence was ordered yesterday for a Waterford Township man responsible for the traffic death of a West Bloomfield Township teen-ager last March.

James D. Grindstaff, 22, of 5229 Southward, pleaded guilty last month to attempted involuntary manslaughter in the death of Douglas R. Dooley, 17, of 1715 Mercedes.

Grindstaff was sentenced by Oakland County Circuit Judge Philip Pratt.

Grindstaff's car crossed the center line on Telegraph near the county service center and crashed head-on with Dooley's car, according to state police.

Dooley's mother Gladys was injured in the March 4 accident.

Powell, a heavy equipment operator for the city, will face charges on Gov. William Milliken's education-reform bill, which were in favor of it, some were against it.

A public opinion poll on the 15 reform bill was conducted last weekend by an independent group of about 20 Pontiac citizens supporting the bill.

Support was offered by 1,184 people, 528 said they were against the bill and 768 were undecided.

The results of the poll have been sent to Gov. Milliken. Rep. Loren Anderson (R-Waterford Township), Rep. Arthur J. Law (D-Pontiac) and Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Waterford Township).

Boy Found Dead

Dennis B. Dowdy, 10, of 10 S. Shirley was found dead yesterday at 2:35 p.m. by his 12-year-old brother, Dennis, according to police. Window curtains on the left chest, below the heart, and passed through the upper shoulder, according to police.

The cash allotment program to meet emergency clothing needs of school children was not coming out of the Children's (ADC) fund, but from the county Board of Social Services.

A recommendation that the Department. At last report only 400 of the 3,000 due were on hand.

The finance committee meeting in a 2 1/2-hour session, covered topics ranging from a proposed management study on county government to a review of the county insurance program.

Murphy was instructed to seek help in arriving at specifications for the study. The committee has instructed Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county board of auditors, to seek the help of Citizens' Research, a nonprofit agency, in developing the study.

STUDY UNIT SUGGESTED

Howard Huttenlocher, the county's insurance agent of record, will be invited to appear before the committee Dec. 2 to review insurance on county property. It was suggested that a subcommittee to study insurance be set up, but no action was taken.

In other business, a $2,400 appropriation for study of a central kitchen for the Sanatorium, Children's Village and the Mental Retardation Center was defeated. Objections were made on the basis that the study had not been let out for bids.

Correction of the air conditioning and heating systems for the Board of Supervisors wing of the Courthouse plus new carpeting in the committee clerk's offices at a cost of $7,500 were recommended by the committee.

The committee also urged spending $20,000 to recondition Pontiac City Jail to house the county's women prisoners.

While no lease agreement has been worked out with the city, county officials are confident that one will be. The $20,000 was to include a suggested $5,000 annual rental fee, to be used up through the county's $6 a day charge for keeping city prisoners.

Other county departments, such as the Planning Commission, the Road Commission, Parks and Recreation, Public Works and the Drain Commission now will be able to use the Sheriff's Department's new helicopter. It will cost them $35 per hour, however, at rates set by the committee yesterday.

The appropriation of $40,000 for architects' fees for the design of a 4-H Youth Activities Center in Springfield Township failed for lack of majority vote. Supervisor Fred Houghten, R-Avon Township, objected in that the board has not yet approved the capital improvement program.

Sen. Hart Is Proud of Wife's Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., admits his wife's arrest in an antiwar demonstration at the Pentagon may hurt his career, but he's proud of her.

"This episode will probably be politically damaging because a lot of people will be offended by it," Hart said yesterday. "But she's an intelligent woman and I've always encouraged her and the children to be true to themselves."

Mrs. Hart was among 100 persons arrested for conducting a "mass for peace" in the Defense Department at the beginning of the weekend moratorium activities.

Hart, who is up for reelection next year, said he knew "popular notion" confined political wives to the "tea party circuit."

"Janie isn't that kind of person and I'm proud of it," Hart said of his wife, the former Jane C. Briggs, 48, an auto heiress.

Mrs. Hart is free on $250 bond. Trial is scheduled for Jan. 18, though it is unlikely she will appear in person. Twelve demonstrators will go on trial and their sentences will stand for the group.

On-Target Astronauts Walk Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two American astronauts made a bullseye landing on the moon today, raising their nation's flag and exploring its black, powdery surface for about four hours.

Before returning safely to their lunar ferry Intrepid, they deployed a set of five scientific instruments powered by the first nuclear generator on the moon.

It was man's second quest for knowledge on that alien soil.

The moon walk was spoiled for earthlings when a camera relaying the first color television pictures from the surface failed after 45 minutes.

Charles (Pete) Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean, the third and fourth humans to tread the moon, were in good humor and wisecracked often as they conducted a detailed exploration of the moon's surface. Conrad's cackling laugh became a familiar sound.

PERFECT LANDING

They steered their lunar ferry Intrepid to a perfect landing just 20 feet from the edge of their target crater at 1:54:29 a.m. Just 600 feet away rests an unmanned Surveyor spacecraft that soft-landed on the slope of the crater 2½ years ago.

They hope to walk to the Surveyor and retrieve parts of it during a second outside excursion scheduled to start at 12:32 a.m. tomorrow. They also hope to have the television camera repaired in time for the second walk. Experts on the ground were working on a solution.

The nuclear generator worked perfectly, and the instruments began sending data to earth as soon as the unit was turned on.

After collecting a few rock samples, raising the flag and deploying the nuclear-powered instruments, Conrad and Bean climbed back into Intrepid's cabin to rest for the second excursion tomorrow.

BRUSH OFF POWDER

Before returning to the cabin they brushed off layers of the dark powder that clung to them. They said it was thicker than that found by the Apollo 11 astronauts in July.

The moon walkers originally were to have stayed outside about 3½ hours.

With their oxygen supply holding well, Mission Control told them to remain out an extra half an hour and instructed them to collect samples from the rim of a nearby crater.

Related Stories, Pictures, Page A-7

Conrad and Bean reported the dust in the Ocean of Storms was thicker and blacker than that in the Sea of Tranquility where the first moon explorers landed in July.

Commander Conrad's first words as he placed his 13-inch boot in the soil were: "That may have been a small one for Neil, but that's a long one for me."

He referred jokingly to Neil Armstrong's first words last July when he became the first man to step on the moon. "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind."

The third member of the expedition, Richard F. Gordon Jr., orbited some 65 miles overhead, awaiting the return of his companions tomorrow after they complete 3½ hours on the surface.

STRANGE MOUND

They were overjoyed at the landing spot, as they wondered at a variety of geological formations surrounding them.

The commander noted a strange-looking mound, and commented excitedly: "I've got to photograph this thing. I can't imagine what it is. There's this big mound sticking up about 300 feet at the foot of a shallow crater on the right-hand edge of the head crater. This is fantastic."

He later reported it looked like a small volcanic formation.

Twice they used a hammer to solve minor problems.

When Bean had trouble driving a tube into the ground to collect a soil sample from beneath the surface, he pounded it with a hammer.

Later, he had difficulty removing a canister containing the radioactive element, Plutonium-238, from a protective cask.

"It seems swollen in there and friction is holding it in," Bean reported. "I don't want to pull too hard because it's a very delicate mechanism. Come out of there you rascal."

"I've got a better idea," Conrad said. "I'll get the hammer."

That did the trick.

If the canister had not come free, one of the major goals of the flight would have failed. Without the nuclear generator, the five scientific instruments would not work.

Senate War Critics Decry Pullout Pace

2 More Senators Voice Support for Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several war critics on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee say the Nixon administration is on a withdrawal course from Vietnam, but the rate is too slow.

The senators, who gave their views after a closed meeting yesterday with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, had a similar session scheduled today with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Albert Gore, D-Tenn., agreed after talking with Rogers that the withdrawal course is irreversible. They complained, however, the policy may involve leaving up to 250,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam for an indefinite period.

WOULDN'T GO FURTHER

Committee Chairman Fulbright said Rogers rejected repeated demands by members for further details on President Nixon's withdrawal plans and the secret timetable for turning the war over to the South Vietnamese.

Fulbright said the committee would decide after today's meeting with Laird whether to push ahead with public hearings on Vietnam.

Rogers told the committee the United States has had "numerous diplomatic contacts" with North Vietnam, some since the September death of Ho Chi Minh, but that "it would be wrong to suggest that they have indicated any progress."

While he hopes for a positive response to Nixon's speech, the secretary added, "we see no immediate prospect for success in the negotiations."

Gore, expressing encouragement about the secret contacts, said the division between the committee and the administration is "on how to end the war. We have at least come that far."

Church said he sees "some encouragement from the fact that the general direction of our policy is now out of Vietnam," but added he fears the administration plans to keep up to 250,000 men in Vietnam "for an indefinite number of years."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces, facing a Senate vote Friday on the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., have been buoyed by what one Republican leader calls "the way things are going."

Announcements yesterday by two freshmen senators brightened the outlook for the Haynsworth backers.

The Senate's newest member, Republican Ralph T. Smith of Illinois, said he had changed his mind and will support Haynsworth. Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said he too will vote for confirmation.

This came on the heels of word Monday from Sens. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., and William B. Spong, D-Va., that they would vote for Haynsworth.

MORE EXPECTED

Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said "the way things are going" he expects more announcements backing Haynsworth before Friday's 1 p.m. vote.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield obtained agreement on the timing of the vote after Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader of the opposition, withdrew a proposal for a showdown Thursday.

Smith's decision to vote for confirmation tipped the balance in an Associated Press survey to 41 senators supporting the nomination compared to 40 against. The other 19 remain publicly uncommitted.

Smith, who was appointed to the Senate to succeed the late GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, said last month that a "shadow had been cast" on Haynsworth's record as chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals and he could not vote for confirmation.

But Smith said yesterday that after careful study he is convinced conflict-of-interest charges against the South Carolina jurist were "based on half-truths and misrepresentations."

Bipartisan Talks on Ed Reform Near

From Our News Wires

LANSING — House and Senate leaders plan to open bipartisan discussions tomorrow in an effort to move at least part of Gov. William Milliken's education reform package through the Legislature before Christmas.

Milliken worked on details of the sessions yesterday with Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis; Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin, D-Berkley; House Speaker William Ryan, D-Detroit; and House Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe.

A second meeting was set for today, after leaders had a chance to "touch base" with colleagues and get a go-ahead on the bargaining plans.

Talk of negotiations — called for by some lawmakers since the current education-oriented legislative session convened Oct. 6 — began in earnest last week after the Senate approved two bills from Milliken's requests.

SCHOOL-AID BILL

One allocates more than $1 billion in state school aid for 1970-71, including $25 million for private and parochial schools. A second repeals the current property tax credit against the state income tax and could bring in an estimated $116 million.

Before the Legislature adjourned for a two-week deer-hunting break last week, the Senate also passed three bills removing various items from the state sales and use tax exemption rolls.

Ryan said it was impossible to predict the percentage of education reform measures that would pass, but, he added, "it will be a very high proportion."

Levin held "some hope that we can come up with some changes in the basic education structure" during the current session.

'REFORM STILL TO COME'

"Thus far, we have not voted on basic education reform," he said, repeating his contention that the school aid bill and tax measures to pay for it do not constitute reform.

Ryan said that while negotiations will be closed to newsmen, press briefings will be held following each negotiating session.

Each session will be attended by the four legislative leaders, the governor and five or six people from each party from each chamber of the Legislature. No legislator would be barred.

'Money Racket Corrupts Viets'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A billion-dollar currency manipulation racket with Indian moneychangers at the top and GI deserters at the boom has corrupted some South Vietnamese officials, congressional investigators have been told.

The investigations committee, headed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., also heard testimony yesterday that millions of dollars from the illegal operation end up in U.S. banks.

Robert Parker, an official at the U.S. embassy in Saigon, said the Indians "constitute a syndicate in the most criminal and sinister sense of the word."

The presence of this well-known group of Indian currency violators, operating openly, weakens the morale of more dedicated Vietnamese law enforcement officials, makes corruption seem easy and encourages others to share in the black market profits themselves," Parker said.

GIs TAKE PART

He said many GIs have dealt with the money dealers who give up to 250 South Vietnamese piasters for a dollar instead of the legal rate of 118-to-1.

American deserters often sell their citizenship and contacts in the U.S. military to the syndicate, Parker indicated.

THE EXACT SENTIMENTS—A four-letter word seems most appropriate after a two-day-long drizzle turned into a slushy snowstorm this morning in the Pontiac area. A total of one inch is expected through tonight.

Wintry Weather Blows Into Town

Wintry weather blew in this morning on 12-to-22-mile-an-hour northerly winds. The weathermen projects falling temperatures and around one inch of snow by late today.

Snow flurries and colder with a low of 15 to 20 is tonight's forecast. Partly cloudy and cold with a chance of snow flurries and a high of 25 to 30 is the prediction for tomorrow.

CONTINUED COLD

Mostly cloudy and continued cold with

Related Story, Page A-2

Probability of precipitation are 80 per cent today, 50 per cent tonight, 30 per cent tomorrow.

Temperatures fell from 32 degrees at midnight in downtown Pontiac to 32 at 8 a.m. By 12:30 p.m. the mercury had dropped to 28.

Church Tax Status at Stake

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawyer's battle with New York tax collectors over a speck of backyard land on Staten Island was transformed today in the Supreme Court into an ominous economic threat to organized religion.

Frederick Walz, caused the high court to consider seriously for the first time whether the Constitution forbids states to exempt churches and synagogues from real estate taxes.

There's a lot riding on the outcome besides constitutional theory.

Some $79.5 billion in religious property could be opened to taxation — $726 million-worth in New York state alone — if Walz wins.

HELP FROM ACLU

Walz had help from the American Civil Liberties Union and Edward J. Ems, an ACLU lawyer from New York City who represented Walz at today's hearing.

Arrayed against Walz were New York city and state, 38 other states, the National Council of Churches, the United States Catholic Conference and other major religious organizations.

J. Lee Rankin, corporation counsel of New York City and U.S. solicitor general from 1958 to 1961, asked the court to throw out Walz' claim that the First Amendment forbids an exemption from real estate taxes for buildings that are used entirely for religious purposes.

Walz began asserting this claim from the time he bought a 22-by-29-foot parcel in June 1967.

ASSESSED AT $100

The property, assessed at $100, has some trees and bushes but no buildings and no access to any street.

In a summons served on the city's tax commission, Walz registered his basic complaint: that by paying a $5.24-a-year property tax he was being forced to indirectly support the churches and synagogues that are exempt from taxes.

'NEUTRALITY REQUIRED'

But, at the same time, the court has said the First Amendment "required the state to be a neutral in its relations with groups of religious believers and nonbelievers; it does not require the state to be their adversary."

The first statement is taken as support of Walz' position: the second is taken by defenders of tax exemptions as authority and justification for continuing exemptions.

Season's First Snowstorm Finds Service Crews Ready

Snow blew into Pontiac and Oakland County today and activated an army of men and equipment designed to control its effect.

The County Road Commission's total fleet of 122 salt trucks and graders took to the roads at 7 a.m. today and plans were in the making to activate snowplows should the storm continue and hamper the homeward-bound rush hour traffic.

David Hasse, the commission's maintenance director, said adequate salt is on hand.

In the city of Pontiac, the Department of Public Works and Services had 692 tons of salt at the works' yard at Wessen and the railroad. Seven salt trucks and 25 vehicles to push, load and haul snow were ready to travel should the storm continue.

Pravda Claims U.S. Fans Mideast Fire

By United Press International

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda today joined the Egyptian National Assembly in assailing the United States for stirring up trouble in the Middle East.

In a commentary, Pravda writer Yevgeni Primakov said so-called Western imperial forces had failed in their recent attempt to isolate Lebanon from the rest of the Arab world by causing internal friction in the country.

"This failure means a serious blow at the present U.S.A.-Israeli tactics of defeating the Arab countries one by one," Primakov said.

He said Western diplomacy and imperialist intelligence services were useless this time to cause a civil war in Lebanon as the did in 1958 because the "national awareness of the entire Lebanese people has grown."

'If Only I Had Driven Her,' Says Dead Girl's Stepfather

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)— "I should have driven her to school that day, but I didn't."

Partially blaming himself, Preston Brown described the last time he saw his stepdaughter alive. It was the morning of Nov. 11 and 14-year-old Diana Lynn Black was late for school and left before he could give her a ride.

Her body was found yesterday morning in a field less than a quarter mile from Lakeview High School where she was a freshman. She had been strangled and one of her nylon stockings was knotted around her neck.

Results of an autopsy on the body were expected to be released today.

Police would not say whether the young girl had been sexually mistreated, but Kurt P. Letring, assistant Calhoun County prosecutor, said sexual molestation is strongly suspected.

She was wearing a brown suede jacket, a white blouse and a brown skirt when she left home Nov. 11. She was wearing the same clothes when she was found. Besides her stocking, one shoe had also been removed from the body.

Diana Lynn was one of seven children living with her mother and stepfather, a gas station owner who said she had no particular boyfriends and didn't go out much.

"She was a nice little girl, no more trouble than any other 14-year-old would be," he said yesterday after identifying the body of his stepdaughter.

"I was drinking coffee and talking with her last Tuesday (Nov. 11) and she was late for school so she left. I know I should have driven her that day, but I didn't," he said.

Her body was discovered in the rain-soaked weeds of a low gully by a junior high school student on his way to school.

The body was hidden in an area overgrown with brush away from a series of cross-cross paths used by students walking to classes. A pocket book and school books lay near her body.

Kennedy Rites Not Sad Format

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)— A funeral Mass with a theme of spiritual joy will be offered tomorrow for Joseph P. Kennedy in the small clapboard church where the Kennedys have worshipped for years.

The 81-year-old former ambassador, father of President John F. Kennedy and patriarch of one of the nation's most famous political families, died yesterday at his Cape Cod home.

He had been in poor health since suffering a stroke eight years ago. Last Saturday he had another stroke. He grew progressively weaker, slipping into a coma Monday.

Members of the family attended a special Mass offered last night by the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh at St. Francis Xavier church in Hyannis. Father Cavanaugh is a long-time friend of the Kennedys.

CARDINAL CELEBRANT

Tomorrow's 9 a.m. funeral Mass will be offered in the same church. Kennedy's close friend, Cardinal Cushing of Boston, will be the celebrant. He will be assisted by the Rev. Joseph Maguire, a member of the cardinal's staff, and the Rev. Joseph Fitzgerald, a nephew of Mrs. Kennedy.

Only the family and close friends will attend. There will be no wake.

The white funeral Mass will be a departure from Roman Catholic tradition. The Mass is called white because the clergy will wear white vestments instead of purple or black.

Supervisors Eye Night Meetings

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors may conduct up to four night meetings next year, to enable more taxpayers to attend the sessions.

Two of the possible night meetings would be hearings on the tentative budget and on the final budget.

Such a recommendation will be made to the full board tomorrow by the committee on committees, which met yesterday.

Also due for consideration is the establishment of a central information bureau for county residents seeking governmental help, but unaware of where to go.

FORM UNDETERMINED

Whether the bureau will take the form of a separate office or result in increased responsibilities for switchboard operators and information recordists remains to be determined.

A recommendation was postponed until present employees could be interviewed regarding their duties.

The committee recommended to the public works committee and the full board establishment of another special committee on roads, this one to be devoted to the widening and improvement of Telegraph.

A committee seeking improvement on M59, M150, I-75 construction and a change in the road funding formula already exists.

O'BRIEN QUILTS

Carl W. O'Brien, D-Pontiac, submitted his resignation yesterday from the latter committee, saying it was not able to make an impression on the State Highway Commission.

"We can't even talk to them," he said. He suggested getting state legislators from the area involved in the problem.

Paul Kasper, R-Bloomfield Township, said nearly 300 citizens had shown up at an afternoon meeting to protest traffic conditions on Telegraph. "The legislators will have to reckon with the voters if they don't recognize Telegraph's problem," he warned.

U.S. Blamed

The Egyptian National Assembly last night said the United States was responsible for the failure to reach a political settlement to the Middle East crisis.

As the assembly was issuing its statement, a Cairo military spokesman announced that Egyptian commandos Monday night attacked the headquarters of the Israeli military governor at El Arish in Northern Sinai and set nearby fuel dumps afire.

Israel earlier in the day had reported an attack on the outpost Monday night but blamed it on Arab guerrillas. A Tel Aviv spokesman said four soldiers and the visiting wife of one of the men were wounded in the raid.

The Egyptian assembly statement said, "America is responsible for pushing the Mideast toward a war whose possibilities and effects on world peace and security nobody can foresee."

The El Arish raid, was the second by Egyptian commandos in two days. Sunday airborne frogmen attacked ships in the Israeli port of Elath, claiming to have sunk three of them. Israel said two vessels were damaged.

Aide to Nixon: No Recession

PARIS (AP)— Paul W. McCracken, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisors, said yesterday there was no evidence of a recession shaping up in the United States.

There is a relaxation of pressure on the economy, as witnessed by the decline in growth of industrial production since July, and sluggish demand for retail sales running at the late-spring level, and a tendency to accumulate inventories, he said.

McCracken spoke at the opening of a two-day meeting of the Economic Policy Committee of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

In answer to questions, McCracken said that an unemployment rate of 7 per cent was "unacceptable" but declined to give an "acceptable" figure.

"We are out to 'cool off the economy,'" he said. "We aren't unmindful that there is a risk of some adverse effect on unemployment."

McCracken said he expected a further improvement in the U.S. current account balance surplus next year.

A cooling-off of the U.S. economy should not hurt other nations because they are all fighting inflation and pursuing the same policy, he said.

Philippines Deny U.S. 'Payment'

MANILA (AP)— The Philippines government denied today that it had received $45 million in allowances and equipment from the United States for sending a noncombat construction group to South Vietnam.

Undisclosed amounts of funds were received, however, for "national security and intelligence," the presidential palace said.

In secret congressional testimony made in Washington on yesterday, Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the United States sent the Philippines a "handsome fee" for sending the 2,000-man Group to the war zone.

Lahser Panel Will Discuss Curriculum

BLOOMFIELD HILLS— The Parents and Friends Organization of Lahser will host "Curriculum at Lahser" Dec. 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

The program will feature a panel of the people most responsible for curriculum and instruction at the high school: Robert E. Boston, assistant superintendent of schools for the Bloomfield District; Elbert C. Pack, principal; George E. Cavin, assistant principal; and William R. Waun, counselor.

BIRMINGHAM— Parking meter revenue was down in the city during October compared to the same month a year ago, according to a report released by Police Chief D. L. Bruestle.

Chief Bruestle said the average revenue for October, 1969 was $2.88 a meter compared to $3.05 for the same month last year.

The chief said the meter income shows a slight decrease (six per cent) mainly because long-term parkers are using the city's parking garages. The change has been reflected in all surveys since the opening of Dec. No. 1, he noted.

The police official added that gross income from the automobile parking system for the first quarter did increase 157 per cent, indicating parking garages made up more than the decrease in meter revenue.

The Birmingham Parks and Recreation Board has recommended the City Commission delay action concerning construction of an additional ball diamond in Poppleton Park until results are available on new residency restrictions imposed for 1971.

"It is the feeling of the board that existing diamonds will prove sufficient for all of the ballplayers who will be eligible to play in 1970," said Marjorie M. Walker, parks board chairman.

State PTA Leader Attacks Parochial

LANSING (AP)— Proclaiming parochialism "a death sentence on the public school system," the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers is marshaling forces to work toward its defeat in the House of Representatives.

Mrs. Jane Tate, Congress president, yesterday called the nearly 300,000 PTA members across the state for a Lansing meeting Dec. 23, when the Legislature is to reconvene after a two-week recess.

PTA members, she said, must "oppose parochialism before it slides through the House as it did the Senate."

The upper chamber approved a $1 billion-plus state school aid bill, including $25 million for the state aid to nonpublic schools late last week.

At the same time, the Senate approved a measure repealing the current property tax credit against the income tax.

U.S., Soviets Shatter Precedent

Joint Party at Arms Talks

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)— The U.S. and the Soviet ambassadors are giving a precedent-shattering joint party today during the one-day recess in the strategic arms limitation talks.

The reception being given by Ambassadors Val Peterson and A. E. Kovalev is the first in Helsinki—and diplomats believe the first anywhere—to be given jointly by Soviet and American ambassadors.

The idea—understood to have been proposed by Peterson and willingly seconded by his Soviet counterpart—was to stage a get-acquainted social for the disarmament delegations, their staffs and leaders of the Finnish government hosting the conference.

About 200 guests were invited to the reception at a restaurant-nightclub neutrally located between the U.S. and Soviet embassies.

SPLIT COST

The two ambassadors drew up the invitation list—and agreed to split the cost 50-50.

The joint reception underscored the air of cordiality which has surrounded the negotiations since they first met Monday.

Conference sources said there have been no procedural disputes so far like the long argument in Paris last year over the shape of the table for the Vietnam peace talks.

A loss of the coin, for example, gave Soviet negotiator Vladimir S. Semenov first place in the speaking lineup at the ceremonial opening. The Russians readily agreed in turn to hold the first business session yesterday at the U.S. Embassy, and the Americans agreed to hold the next session tomorrow at the Soviet Embassy.

Whether this show of cooperation means the two superpowers will make any progress in the main aim of the talks—to slow down the nuclear arms race—remains to be seen.

The shortness of the first negotiating session—only 45 minutes of business time since the half the 90-minute meeting was spent in translations—indicated neither side presented its position in detail.

The one-day layover presumably gave the envoys time to report home and get instructions.

Senate Continues To Change

Milliken Backs Crime Panel Plan

LANSING (UPI) — Organized crime is closing in on Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken said yesterday, and it poses a "very serious threat to this state."

In his weekly news conference Milliken endorsed a report made by his commission studying criminal investigating procedures which recommended creation of a special agency whose sole purpose would be the investigation of a organized crime in Michigan.

"It is very clear the commission believes that organized crime is a very serious threat to this state," Milliken said. "I have no reason to disagree."

He said state officials should be "very alert to this problem" of gangsters filtering into legitimate businesses.

NOT CHANGED

But the governor said his support for the proposed agency does not change his position that the one-man grand jury system should be phased out.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Philip Pratt, chairman of the governor's commission, said the one-man grand jury has not operated effectively in the past in organized crime areas.

Milliken also discussed his proposed school reform package and said he is not worried that an upcoming reconsideration vote in the Senate will affect his school aid bills.

"I'm confident we're in a sound position," he said. "I believe the votes will hold."

AID APPROVED

The Senate last week approved the governor's billion-dollar school aid bill, including $25 million for Parochial aid, on a 22-15 vote, but will reconsider the vote when it reconvenes on Dec. 2.

The Senate will also reconsider its 20-17 vote approving the governors measure to repeal the statewide property tax credit now given to taxpayers on Michigan income tax forms.

Milliken also discussed Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of the broadcast news media and said he does "not entirely agree."

"I agree with the vice president that the news media has a awesome responsibilities," Milliken said. "But I would rather have censorship of the government by the press than censorship of the press by the government."

Highland Fire Hall Near End of Era

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP—The turning of a shovel of wet, cold dirt today signaled the end of an era for the old fire hall, which is steeped in township history.

The scene was a snow-covered groundbreaking ceremony for the new $150,000 fire hall to be completed by early spring.

The weathered old fire hall on Lake Court has a civic record better than that of most men. The building was constructed in 1890 as a hall for yearly town meetings.

The clerk and township supervisor conducted business off high stools in the front office. A library was set up in the back room.

TEMPORARY SCHOOLROOM

In 1933-34 — the Depression years — the library part became a temporary schoolroom for youngsters whose school on M59 was being remodeled. In other years it doubled as a dance hall and theater.

In 1942, the fire department was formed. The building was reconditioned to house the fire engine in the front room, next to a table and five chairs used by township officers for business.

Township offices were formally moved from the building in 1952 when current facilities were constructed on John Street.

When the township offices moved, the building was remodeled to house only the fire station.

Next spring, the building may again be remodeled to house a youth center, according to township supervisor Chester Burton.

The new fire hall to be built on Livingston is being constructed by Gordon B. Hall and Sons Inc. of Southfield.

The contract award was the first project of the recently created building authority.

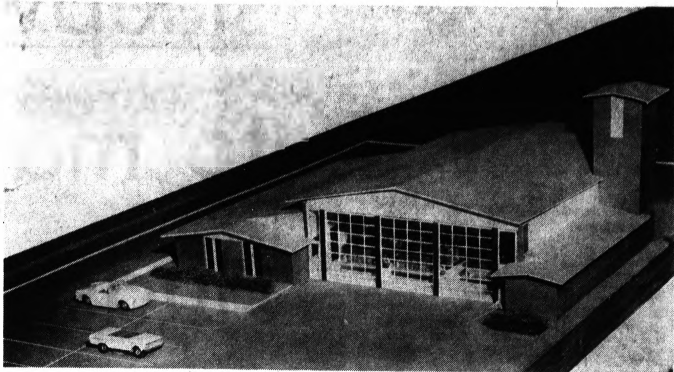

The building will house six vehicles, a hose-drying tower and an emergency disaster headquarters.

Plans include an easily removable roof so a second-floor dormitory can be added at a later date. The township is also installing special equipment to insure a water supply and radio dispatches during any possible emergency.

There is another township fire hall housing three vehicles on Duck Lake Road. The fire chief, since 1961, is Roland Casserly.

Construction and maintenance of the new fire hall will be paid from a 1-mill tax approved by township residents two years ago.

Teacher Union Official Critical

Birmingham School Board Rapped

By NED ADAMSON

BIRMINGHAM — A Birmingham Education Association (BEA) official criticized the board of education last night "for failure to enter into meaningful contract negotiations" with the BEA, the bargaining agent for more than 900 teachers in the Birmingham School District.

Appearing at last night's regular board meeting, along with an estimated 400 to 500 teachers in a show of strength, BEA President, John Sala said the school board is conducting a hypocritical educational program.

"People move to Birmingham because of the reputation of the school district. Yet, there has been a 42 per cent turnover on the teaching staff in the past two years, and our scale is now second from the bottom in the 27 school districts in Oakland County," Sala remarked in a prepared statement.

He continued: "No school district which wants to remain excellent can deprive its teachers of a salary that will enable them to live and work in dignity. We are asking you to reconsider your stand in negotiations and intensify talks."

The time has come to give the teachers a contract."

In response to Sala's statement, Fred Halstead, acting board president, said the basic objective of the board of education is to provide the best possible contract within the finances available.

Noting that the board and BEA reached agreement on a tentative agreement shortly before school started in September, which was subsequently rejected by BEA membership, Halstead said every effort is being made by board negotiators to come up with a settlement.

"We recognize the importance of maintaining a competent teaching staff, but we can pay for only what we can afford," Halstead said.

'IMPROVED STATUS'

Halstead noted that since 1955 when state legislation was passed requiring boards of education to negotiate with teacher unions, school teachers have improved their economic status.

He then charged that teachers have not improved their educational programs commensurate with their increased compensation.

"The board meeting is not the proper place to talk about an employee's situation. And newspapers are not the place to negotiate. Public attacks and counterattacks do not result in meaningful negotiations," he said.

The next bargaining session is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

'NEGOTIATIONS GOING POORLY'

Negotiations are going very poorly, according to Pat Lane, BEA negotiator. "The BEA has tried to clear many items but the board seems to be dragging its feet. It appears the administration's negotiating team is trying to exhaust the BEA team physically and mentally," she said.

She noted that complete agreement has been reached on only four articles. There is no agreement on the major issues — salary, agency shop, grievance procedure and arbitration, academic freedom, discipline, teacher evaluation and progress," Mrs. Lane explained.

An administration spokesman said there are still eight noneconomic issues remaining to be settled. He said agreement had been reached on academic freedom, promotions procedure, teacher evaluation and various other minor clauses.

Administration negotiation team officials have consistently stated that the BEA demands would create a deficit financing situation.

In the tentative settlement that was rejected by the BEA, the teacher's original salary package demand totaling $1,593,000 was reduced to $585,000, according to Joseph Griffin, chief board negotiator.

The demand by the new negotiation team compared favorably to the original demand reverting negotiations to the same level where they began in April, according to Griffin.

2 Legislators to Talk on Education Reform

AVON TOWNSHIP — Two state legislators will speak at a public meeting on educational reform tomorrow at 8 p.m. sponsored by the Avon-Rochester Democratic Club.

Senate Democratic leader Sander M. Levin of Berkeley and Rep. Roy L. Spencer, R-Attica, a member of the House Education Committee, will appear in the vocal music room of Rochester Senior High School, Walton Boulevard and Livernois Road.

Immigrant Is Mute to Murder Charges

HUNTINGTON WOODS (UPI) — A 74-year-old Armenian immigrant, charged in the stabbing deaths of his daughter-in-law and grandchild, stood mute yesterday at his arraignment on murder charges in this Detroit suburb.

A plea of innocent was entered for Karabet Vapurciyan by Judge Roy H. Christensen of Huntington Woods Municipal Court at the arraignment in William Beaumont Hospital, where Vapurciyan was a police prisoner.

He was accused in the stabbing deaths of Mrs. Kiarakos Vapurciyan, 40, and her daughter, Anni, 2, Monday. Their bodies were discovered by a neighbor in the vestibule of their fashionable home and Vapurciyan was arrested after a neighbor saw him wandering in the neighborhood with a cut right hand.

The elderly man came to this country three years ago and had been living with his son and daughter-in-law.

Governor's Package an Answer?" will be their topic, with each man addressing himself to the subject of the Sept. 30 report of the Governor's Commission on Education Reform. A question-and-answer session involving the audience will follow.

Such topics as aid to nonpublic schools, establishment of regional school districts, reorganization of the State Board of Education, and financing proposals such as increased state income tax, with ceilings on local property taxes for education, will be aired.

Program chairman for the meeting is Mrs. George E. Lennox, 379 W. Maryland.

Police Still Probing Fatal Auto Crash

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Township police are still investigating a fatal accident which occurred on Farmington Road near Oakland at 5:30 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Ruth King, 54, of 21799 Powers was dead on arrival at Botsford Hospital according to a police spokesman.

News in Brief Around Area

WALLED LAKE — Techniques to help school-age and pre-school children acquire good speech habits will be discussed at a public meeting sponsored by the Wallied Lake Schools speech department tomorrow.

A movie on normal speech and language development and discussion will be offered at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at Clifford Smart Junior High School.

Pianist Will Perform at Center Tomorrow

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Russian-born American concert-pianist, Josef Raleff, will present a lecture-recital at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Farmington Community Center, 34750 Farmington.

Raleff's appearance is part of the New Frontiers in the Performing Arts Series, arranged by the Farmington Arts Council with the cooperation of Oakland Community College.

Police and Birmingham Are Still $500 Apart

BIRMINGHAM — Only minor progress was reported in yesterday's bargaining talks between city commission negotiators and the Birmingham Police Officers Association (BPA).

The city reportedly raised its offer $100 to $10,300 at maximum seniority. The BPA is asking a maximum of $10,800.

No further talks are scheduled before the weekend.

Spokesmen for the BPA said yesterday a mass resignation and walkout by policemen is imminent if a contract is not settled by the end of the week.

Junior Miss Fete Set

Drug Center Supported

DETROIT (AP) — A movement to utilize the federally owned former Detroit Marine Hospital as a narcotics treatment and rehabilitation center has won support of Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Mich., chairman of a Senate subcommittee on alcoholism and narcotics.

Hughes visited the facility yesterday with Circuit Judge John B. Swainson, a former governor, and a leader of a campaign to have the hospital converted to use as a treatment and rehabilitation center.

Company Hits Contract Award

LANSING (AP) — Holloway Construction Co. of Wixom has objected to the award by the state highway department of a $13 million contract in Flint to a rival construction Co. in Wixom.

Walter Toebe & Co. of Wixom was declared the low bidder, at $13,140,414 for the construction of an interchange linking Interstate 475 and M78 freeways in Flint.

The project includes 1.5 miles of paving, construction of drainage structures and construction of nine bridges and a pump house.

Holloway submitted a lower bid of $12,920,028. The bid was declared ineligible, however, because the firm failed to include a letter of intent to perform the project from an electrical subcontractor.

LOWER BID

The Holloway bid was some $220,000 lower than the bid submitted by Toebe & Co.

An attorney for Holloway wrote the State Administrative Board and Henrik Stafeth, Highway Department Director, demanding it be awarded the contract and asking for a hearing before the award is finalized.

C. J. Rogers Co., Inc., of Detroit also submitted a lower bid than Toebe, Inc., of $13,103,982. This bid was rejected because a unit price was left out.

Stafeth said the highway department had not yet heard any challenge of the bid award from the Detroit contractor.

Adjective Is Important to Most Women

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it is proper for a gentleman to say a woman is handsome. My daughter thinks it's an insult, and that when a man says that, it means the lady looks mannish. What is your opinion? — Ben

Dear Ben: I think there are more desirable compliments, perhaps, but I do not consider it an insult. A certain type of woman, stately in build, who dresses in rather tailored clothes, may quite aptly be described as handsome, without any implication that she is masculine. However, in most cases, women prefer to be referred to as "attractive," "pretty," "chic," "cute," etc., all of which have a more feminine flavor.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband will complete requirements for an academic (non-medical) doctorate at the end of the current semester. I am concerned about the correct form of address to use when I am speaking about him.

I wish to avoid any possible confusion with the medical profession, but still I wish to show the respect I feel is justified by earning such a degree. Correct form of signature and mention of the degree for him is also not clear. Any suggestions you can make will be most helpful. — Mrs. J. M.

Dear Mrs. M.: In social situations, young men who have just earned their degrees are rarely called "Dr." They continue to use Mr. until they reach a position — head of a department, for example — where their field is known and their eminence recognized. At purely academic gatherings, all in members present often call each other "Dr."

His social cards and letterheads do not include the letters of his degree: business stationery may, if he wishes. He does not include it in his signature.

Socialites Prefer Pelts on Animals, Not People

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A group of socially prominent Bay Area women has announced a boycott of fur coats made from the pelts of wild foxes, leopards, cheetahs and other animals facing extinction.

Leopard, sealskin and other exotic furs will no longer be purchased by Mrs. John Fell Stevenson and a group of the Bay Area's fashion set, they declared Tuesday.

The daughter-in-law of the late Adlai Stevenson said at a news conference boycotters would continue wearing less exotic mink, rabbit and other domestically cultivated species.

Another member of the Bay Area group, Mrs. William Hamm, said support would be welcome from Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, whom Mrs. Hamm described as a world fashion leader.

"I doubt that she would be interested," Mrs. Hamm said, however. "She buys six or seven or eight fur coats a season."

Mrs. Stevenson commented: "It cannot be said there is more warmth in a cheetah coat than in a wool one. And, is it that much more enticing to look at?"

The boycott, sponsored by the Friends of the Earth conservation group, has secured written pledges of 35 women, including the wives of author Barnaby Conrad and William M. Roth, former U.S. trade negotiator.

Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Hamm, wife of a prominent businessman, said many of the world's fur-bearing animals are being wiped out due to a worldwide demand for their skins.

Signers of the boycott pledge have agreed not to purchase the skin, pelts or feathers of animals or birds endangered by extinction, particularly by poachers in African game reserves motivated by attractive prices on the high-fashion market.

"I for one," Mrs. Stevenson said, "want my children to see these animals in their natural habitat, not only on peoples' walls, floors and backs."

Slate Confab for Consumers Next Month

"Consumerism — A Cry in the Wilderness" is the theme of a consumer conference sponsored by the Urban League Guild of Pontiac to be held Dec. 6, at Jefferson Junior High School.

Devoted to informing and educating the consumer, especially those on fixed incomes, this conference will focus on actions the consumer can take to help himself.

The opening session 9:30 a.m. will feature four speakers. Mrs. Esther Shapiro, Michigan Credit Union League, will lead off and talk about problems of the consumer.

She will be followed by Mrs. Elizabeth Mathis, Citizens Research Advisory Council, speaking on consumer education; Albert Abraham, Credit Counseling Centers, Inc., on consumer credit; and Edward Gold, Oakland County Legal Aid Society, on consumer protection.

The afternoon portion of the program will be devoted to workshops on consumer education, consumer credit, and consumer protection. The closing session which follows will consider plans for action both by the individual and an organized group.

Mrs. Grace Carrothers, chairman of the Urban League Guild, announces that the conference is open to all interested persons. Reservations may be made by letter or phone call to the Urban League Guild, 132 Franklin Blvd., Pontiac, 48063.

The cost of the conference to each person is $1.50, the price of the buffet luncheon. Reservations should be made as soon as possible. Checks or money orders in the correct amount should be made payable to the Urban League Guild.

Schedule Doesn't Include Rest of Week, Wife Moans

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If you can't answer this, please don't tell me to talk to my minister or doctor because I couldn't face them with this problem.

Putting it bluntly, ever since we have been married (it's going on nine years) my husband will have relations with me only on Saturday night. If I am in the mood on Monday, I can just forget it. Also, if I am dead tired or not in the mood on Saturday, that doesn't make any difference to him.

Outside of this one fault, he is a good husband and a better than average father to our four children, so maybe I shouldn't complain. But I want to know if this is normal in a man, or is there something wrong with him?

SATURDAY NIGHT WIFE

DEAR WIFE: One of the things that is "wrong" with your husband is his bull-headedness. Also, if he puts marital relations on a time schedule, he doesn't know the first thing about how to please a woman — or himself for that matter. And if he isn't willing to learn, shame on him. My condolences.

DEAR ABBY: I own and operate a small but up-to-date neighborhood grocery store and here is my problem. We deliver, but there is one customer who comes into the store at least twice a day to buy one or maybe two items. Then she helps herself to the largest shopping bag we have. These bags cost ME five cents each.

The delivery boy tells me that this lady has more shopping bags in her house than we have in our store.

This isn't going to make or break me, but it is very irritating. Is there some way I can put a stop to this without appearing petty?

NEW JERSEY GROCER

DEAR GROCER: No. But since it will neither make nor break you, I advise you to charge it off to the cost of doing business and forget it. An ulcer is far more irritating and infinitely more expensive.

DEAR ABBY: I have a husband who saves, collects, and stores all kinds of things — large and small. Where does he store them? Right in the living room, bedroom, and hallways. We literally live in a warehouse.

Everywhere you look, things are packed and piled in boxes. You wonder if we just moved in and haven't unpacked yet, or we are moving out.

If I put up a shelf for my things, right away HE loads it down with his. I once moved some of his boxes down in the basement with the help of a friend and the roof came off. That can't happen again because there's no more room down there.

I think it's like a disease with him. No woman can cure him either. I am his third wife. Now I know why the others left him.

There is no place to sit. He has the couch all covered with stuff, and same for the dining room chairs. He could live his whole life sitting on a kitchen chair.

He has an oil drum in the living room and a drill press in the bedroom. Don't ask me why he's saving them.

As it is, I practically live in the car and try to get my work done in this warehouse.

If there is another wife who has solved this problem outside of divorce, I wish she would write in. Thank you, too, Abby, for listening.

Very truly yours,

GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: You don't say how long you have lived with this pack rat, but from your letter I would say your squirrely husband is about to strike out for the third time.

DEAR ABBY: Stamped across this letter is the word "CENSORED" which requires some sort of explanation from me.

I am not an inmate of a MENTAL institution. I am an inmate of a PENAL institution. I am serving an 18-year sentence for GRAND LARCENY. I do not say that proudly, but I just wanted you to know that I am not guilty of rape or murder or any other violent crime.

My problem is that I have entered a short story in a creative writer's contest, and if I should win I'll be expected to appear to accept the prize. Obviously that will not be possible. What do you suggest?

TIME ON MY HANDS

DEAR TIME: I suggest that you meet that problem when — and if it becomes a reality.

Russian Youths Worry About Job Futures

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. — Ask an editor of one of the oldest youth newspapers in the Soviet Union what problems beset the young people and the answer is:

Choice of jobs.

The Soviet has no drug problem with its youth, no alcoholism, he insists, and no generation gap as you hear of it in the Western world.

And because the young are worried about their futures, the daily paper, Komsomol Smena, now in its 50th year of publication, recently started a front page column called, "Hello, Working Generation" offering advice and a clearing house for jobs with special mention of technical and trade opportunities.

It was Vitale Mikhailov, 32, an engineer turned editor and father of a three and one-half year old daughter, speaking in the offices of the publication.

The woman editor in chief, Alla Belyakova, was on vacation.

Mikhailov invited some of his department heads, including three women, to sit in on our conversation.

When I mentioned that youth worldwide seemed to get the same hangups he understood the slang, even through the interpreter. He just as persistently explained why job futures are the special problem with the Soviet young.

"This year," he said, "76,811 young people in Leningrad wanted to go on to higher Education universities. Only 25,000 made it."

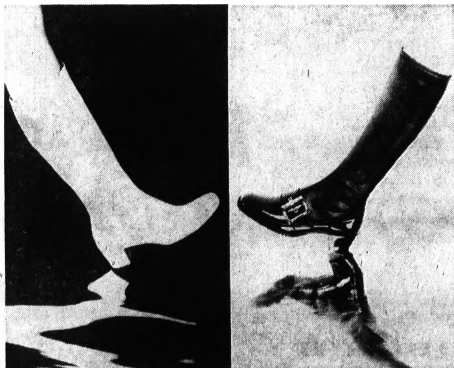

WESTERN IDEAS

Mikhailov, a member of the Communist party, (not every Russian is by any means; you have to be invited in), conceded that a lot of Western world ways were getting into the Soviet system. Guitar and pop music, for instance.

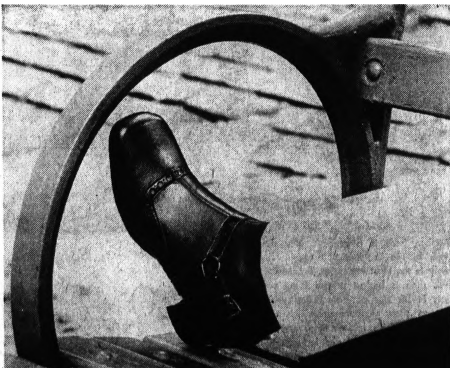

And miniskirts. They're not as abbreviated in the U.S.S.R. as in, say, New York, but he wishes "our young people didn't follow the West but the West follow us."

The apres-ski boot par excellence . . . with lots of sole. In fact, "Chalet Moc" by Eskiloo has all the soleful news afoot that any fashion minded fireside sport could want to keep warm all winter, and dry, too!

These are boots to kick up your heels in . . . tall, posh and practical Eskiloo. "Promenade" (left) is sleek and smooth and lined with Orlon fleece for cozy comfort. Uncolored . . . the shape's the thing! City-slick when it rains, here's a boot that shines even if crisp-and-clear's the prediction. "Sunset" (right) hugs the leg like a second skin with its stretch Royalon uppers in a matte program finish. Shiny patent vamps and chunky heels create a spat look on chic extension soles.

Here's the perfect little boot for fall and winter pants fashions. It is from the B. F. Gpodrich 1969-70 collection of waterproof Boot-nos and comes in two shades of brown. The golden brown shown here has antiquing to highlight its attractive shape and modeling. And because it is in Vynarich it is waterproof. It may be worn with or without its buckled stirrup.

Masculins 'Isms' Help to Sire Dominican Plight

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) Although they sound like something out of an Italian opera, "Don Juanismo" and "machismo" belong to the murky world of "isms" plaguing this much-troubled country.

They are leading factors, sociologists say, in the Dominican Republic's yearly birth rate: 3.8-plus per cent, among the highest in the world.

Don Juan, symbol of insatiable pursuit of the female; machismo from macho, or maleness. The population figures reflect them.

This tiny Caribbean island republic of almost four million in an area of 18,711 square miles—the size of New Hampshire and Vermont—dramatizes the varied socio-economic and political problems of overpopulation as do few countries in the Western Hemisphere.

A THIRD UNEMPLOYED

More than 300,000 Dominicans, or nearly a third of the labor force, are unemployed because of slow economic growth. Six out of 10 Dominicans born in 1962-64 were illegitimate.

Two terms ago, the high school in San Juan de la Maguana was enlarged to 24 classrooms to accommodate 975 students. The enrollment for the 1969-70 session reached 2,405.

Just to keep abreast of the student population growth, U.S. educators say, the Dominican Republic will have to produce two new classrooms and two new teachers daily from now until the year 2000 when the population is expected to exceed 12 million.

Supervising a field at Azua where experimental farm procedures are being introduced by Israeli technicians, Arie Ben-Yehuda said: "The main crop here is children. The peasant families average slightly over nine persons each."

FORM OF SECURITY

The poor regard children as a form of social security.

"Who's going to look after me if not my children when I can no longer work?" asked an unmarried maid in the Hotel Embajador. She has five children.

Blvenido Rigaud, cab driver, sums up: "A man with a very large family is considered a real man."

"The reasons cited vary," says Marta Olga Garcia, who has doctorates in social science and medicine. "Some even believe it's necessary to raise Dominicans to prevent an eventual takeover by the more numerous Haitians."

HAITI WORSE OFF

Neighboring Haiti, a third the size of the Dominican Republic, has half a million more people and an even more anemic economy.

"Our basic problems," says Miss Garcia, an official of the Dominican Association for Family Welfare, "are education and income. There isn't much we can do until the poor are made aware that the dimension of their families is related to their wellbeing."

"Actually, there's a shortage of trained humans in good physical health: A man needs an income to improve himself. The problem thus is not only of quantitative but of qualitative growth."

Apparent at nearly all social levels, Don Juanismo and machismo, she says, are more difficult to combat. She describes them as "a distortion of virility calling for the conquest and domination of a woman to prove he's a man."

WOMEN SHARE FAULT

But she adds: "Men alone are not to blame. There are females who in their way practice Don Juanismo and machismo."

Unemployment, housing shortages and a steady farm-to-city migration are building up urban problems and fueling extremist political agitation.

Political scientists say unemployment explains the youthful character of many radical political organizations. The mass of impoverished young men and women joining the ranks of unemployed is said to be a key recruiting source for leftist factions.

Various Dominican organizations, including the Roman Catholic Church, are using leaflets, talks and newspaper articles to point up the problems caused by "irresponsible parenthood." The family welfare association has 15 clinics providing counsel, education and contraceptives.

Although firm on its stand against contraceptive devices, the Church is emphasizing education in family responsibility among the masses.

A cheap, inflatable, disposable greenhouse which is supported only by a fan driven stream of air will be used for crops which need only a short period of greenhouse growing conditions during the crop year.

2 Youths Injured

in Accident on I-75

TROY—Two Royal Oak youths were injured in an early morning accident on southbound I-75 after the driver lost control of the car on wet pavement.

James A. Matton, 16, of 1530 E. Lincoln and his passenger, David Padgett, 15, of 1102 Osawa were just south of the Big Beaver exit when their car skidded across the slick pavement and rolled over the guard rail down an embankment.

Both were taken to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where Matton was treated and released. Padgett is being held for further observation.

Ford Has New Way to Fast-Dry Paint

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. Tuesday demonstrated a new "dry-in-a-second" paint process using a 250,000-volt electron gun instead of heat as the drying agent.

The process, called Electrocoat, is said to produce finishes on flat metal surfaces as good and durable as by the conventional heat-drying process in far less time. It also produces more durable finishes on plastic products.

Ray Hulce, Electrocoat operations manager at Ford, said the company was installing an Electrocoat painting line at its Saline, Mich., plastics plant to go into production next June, turning out 10 million exterior plastic items for 1971 Ford cars.

He said these items would include instrument panels and instrument shrouds, glove compartment doors, steering columns, shrouds and ash-tray covers.

CHIEF ADVANTAGE—But Hulce said the chief advantage of the new process was in finishing strip metals in coils at higher speeds more economically and with far less space required.

The heart of the new system is the electron beam gun, which sprays out high-energy electrons on the metal surfaces as they pass a given point. In one second, the electrons polymerize the paint coating and turn it into a dry finish. Special paints must be used, but many are available and some already are in use.

Hulce said Ford held a patent on the process, though the individual parts which go to make

CHARLES S. PORRITT

Ex-Political Leader in State Dies

A former state political leader, Charles S. Porritt, died yesterday in a Detroit hospital of injuries suffered Saturday in an automobile accident. He was 65 and a native of Pontiac.

Service will be 1 p.m. Friday at Matthews Funeral Home, Grosse Pointe with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery, Pontiac.

Democratic state chairman

He began his practice of law in Pontiac in 1932.

A member of Christ Episcopal Church in Grosse Pointe, Porritt was a member of Michigan State Bar Association and Michigan Engineering Society. He also held membership in The Exchange Club, Masonic Lodge and Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity.

HEADED DIVISION

In the 1930s he served as head of the State Highway's land and legal division and as a member of the State Public Utilities Commission.

Porritt received his literary and prelaw training at Albion College. He started his law studies at Northwestern University in 1928, then transferred to Detroit City Law School from which he was graduated.

Rogers Hopeful on China Ties

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers says he sees "a prospect that our relations in the future might be improved" with Communist China.

Rogers said Tuesday night there is no real evidence leaders in Peking are ready to respond to new U.S. initiatives, but "they at least were not reacting negatively."

Reporting on a CBS special report on relations among Red China, Russia and the United States, Rogers said the Nixon administration hoped to improve communications and trade relations with China.

"We would hope that as time goes on that we could improve our communications with Communist China," he said. "We would like to have more travel between the two nations. We would like to have better communications and trade relations to some degree at least."

Farmington Teen Hurt in Accident

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—John Martell, 13, of Farmington is in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy hospital after being in a two-car accident 12:50 p.m. yesterday at Middlebelt and W. Maple.

John was a passenger in an auto with his mother, Mrs. Joyce Martell, 39, of 22805 Brookdale.

Mrs. Martell told police she turned to look for her loose cat in the back seat and when she looked up she was already in the intersection. Her car collided with one driven by Mrs. Joyce Melina, 35, of 6919 Wild Ridge, Birmingham.

Auto Makers Face a 3rd Pollution Suit

DETROIT (AP)—The Wayne County Prosecutor's office may step into the legal battle shaping up over the alleged conspiracy of major auto makers to impede development of air pollution control devices for cars.

A prosecutor's office spokesman said Tuesday the Wayne County Board of Supervisors last month requested a study of the evidence in a suit filed by federal authorities in California. Results of the report are not expected to be revealed for another month.

Last month a federal court in California upheld an out-of-court settlement of an antitrust suit filed by the U.S. Justice Department against the auto firms. Without admitting they had attempted to slow research on anti-pollution devices, the auto makers in effect promised not to engage in the alleged activities in the future.

A similar suit filed in New York state Monday accuses the firms of conspiring since 1953 to eliminate competition in the research, development, manufacture and installation of pollution safeguards on their vehicles.

Vehicle Firms Sued by NY for Pollution

NEW YORK (AP)—The state of New York has filed a multi-million-dollar damage suit against 11 automobile manufacturers it said are purposely foot-dragging in developing air pollution control devices.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz filed the suit Monday in federal court after last week, U.S. Court of Appeals decision gave individual states the go-ahead to proceed on their own against the manufacturers.

In addition to triple damages the state asked that the 11 firms be required to install anti-pollution devices on vehicles "with all deliberate speed."

The 11 firms were accused of conspiring since 1953 to eliminate competition in the research, development, manufacture and installation of pollution safeguards on their vehicles.

The firms named are General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, American Motors, Checker Motor, Diamond T. Motor Co., International Harvester, Kaiser, White Motor, Kaiser Jeep and Mack Trucks.

Ground Breaking Set for New County Jail

Dec. 9 is the tentative date for ground breaking on Oakland County's new $9-million jail.

The Building Authority yesterday okayed negotiations for the sale of bonds and awarded contracts which have been extended since the original bid-letting last May.

Joseph Joachim, head of the county's department of facilities and operations, said total contracts now amount to $7.6 million, up $300,000 from the original bids. He said the escalation of bid prices, which still leaves Sorenson-Groes of Flint the low bidder, had been necessary in order to extend the bid deadlines.

FAILURE TO SELL

Failure to sell the bonds in two previous bid advertisements was blamed for the delay.

The difference between $7.6 million and the $9 million bonding price is made up in architectural costs, engineering, landscaping and furnishing fees, Joachim said.

Building Authority members expressed satisfaction with the bond sale, calling it fair to the county, the taxpayers and the authority.

Bonds were sold at 6 per cent interest to Michigan Bank. Negotiations call for the deposit of a $2.5 million jail checking account in the bank plus the purchase of $11.7 million in certificates of deposit.

REDUCED COST

Much of the money will come from the bond sale proceeds, officials noted, however the transaction is expected to cost the county $70,000 in reduced interest over the two years of the agreement.

NY Graffiti Expert Is Due in Pontiac

Artist James Crum, designer of many of the wall paintings on city buildings in New York, will present slides and films on this project tomorrow at 8:30 p.m., at Oakland Community College's Community Services Auditorium, 150 East Wide Track.

His appearance is sponsored by the Pontiac Area Community Arts Council, the Michigan State Council for the Arts and OCC.

Crum is affiliated with City Walls, Inc., a group of artists doing its part to brighten the New York environment by painting murals on blank city walls.

There is no admission charge for tomorrow night's showing.

Sentence Set in Abortion

A former Southfield man was sentenced yesterday to one to four years in the state prison at Jackson for conspiring to perform an abortion.

Samuel Bricker, 54, now of Detroit, immediately posted a $750 bond and was released by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem when the case is appealed.

Bricker was convicted by a jury Oct. 13 following a three-day trial.

During the trial, another conspirator, Hugh S. McDonald, 73, of Dearborn, testified that he had picked up a Birmingham woman and taken her to Bricker's Southfield apartment where the illegal operation was to be performed.

POLICE WOMAN

The woman was a Michigan State police trooper who had posed as the mother of five children who had been contacted about an abortion.

When McDonald agreed to turn state evidence the charge against him was dismissed.

They, along with a third man, who has yet to stand trial, were arrested by state police Oct. 2, 1967 when they raided the apartment on a signal from the policewoman.

Series Starts on Problems of Adolescence

County religious leaders gathered at the Oakland County Courthouse today to hear an address by Dr. Armin G. Geertz, of the Merrill-Talmer Institute, Detroit, opening a four-part lecture series on problems of adolescence.

Grams spoke on the subject of "Interacting with Adolescents Within a Group Structure," focusing primarily upon youth group situations in the church or synagogue.

The seminar, sponsored by Religious Assistance and Protective Service, Inc., will deal with young adults in group settings.

Religious Assistance and Protective Service, Inc., is a county-wide organization established to help ward prevention of delinquency and neglect by encouraging a healthy moral fiber in the community.

NEXT LECTURE

All lectures will be held in the courthouse from 10 a.m. to noon. The next lecture will be Jan. 21 and Dr. Ralph D. Robinson, director of Hawthorne Center, Northville, will be the guest speaker.

School Visit Tests Parent

By JEAN SAILE

"Tis the season to be jolly — and I don't mean Christmas. This is the season of teacher conferences, school open houses and the resulting forced smiles, and a devastating look (for some) at junior's imperfections.

It's that time of year when you watch parents torn between two fist-clenching alternatives — that of pasting the teacher in the mouth or going home to paste junior in the mouth.

Fortunately for the teacher it's most always junior who takes the count.

THEY FAIRLY TROT

There are parents — those who are veterans at these events, perhaps — who fairly trot from class to class — an expectant smile on their faces. But the type is avoided by handgrip slow movers who breathe a sigh at every waiting line.

Any respite has got to be good, they figure. For these people, the ritual is a self-inflicted penance — a type of masochism endured for the sake of parenthood — and their courage knows no bounds.

Cowards stay home, but the brave limp forth, and their family problems become your problems.

Charlie. You find junior hides his homework, cuts up in class, skips school and is "working below his capabilities."

Sometimes you hear that Uncle Charlie is working on his second million — but more likely he's a first-class bum, and the parents are scared to death they're raising a carbon copy.

You get introduced to courses called "genetics" — it used to be science when you went. You stare at a math problem encompassing one whole blackboard, and you turn numb.

DISSECTING LARVA

You hear about a student whose assignment is dissecting the larva of a fruit fly for purposes of extracting a chromosome from the salivary glands — or at least you think you heard that's what he's going to do.

And you attempt to pin this characterization on the kid who hangs out in front of your television set at night.

And gradually — whether your particular student is good or bad — you develop an interlocking complex.

You're a lousy parent if he's a lousy student, and if he's sharp you gotta believe he's smarter than you were at that age.

These events are an unsettling experience. As a veteran I still get shocked, but I smile, and I bluff a lot.

Teeny-Boppers Transformed: Swans

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

Parents take a breather. You haven't failed. That long-limbed teen-age daughter of yours — the one that wiggles and screams to the Motown beat and goes into an unshakable trance when electric rock groups play — can be quite the swan.

Like most feminine teens, the members of the Jefferson Junior High School Dance Club, are a giggly brood of young women.

Put them near a radio and they start vibrating and snapping fingers.

Put them in stretchy leotards and a master class for modern dance and the mood changes.

Granted — an occasional single escapes out of frustration — but there is a certain saving grace that surfaces as they gently "turn, drop and step" under the watchful eye of their instructor.

Of course, the instructor just happens to be Jenny Mullen who studied at Juillard School of Music and is a member of the Jose Lomita Dance Company. This accounts for the straight backs and somber concentration.

COPE SCHOLARSHIPS

The girls, who are under the direction of Mrs. Lea Harris, a counselor at Jefferson, participated in the weekend lecture-demonstrations under

'NOT FOR ME'

Norah Snoddy of 262 Earle more wasn't convinced. The lanky beauty with dark hair tied in back with a red ribbon, looked down at her hot pink mod watch and let out an exhausted sigh at the end of the hour-and-a-half session.

"She's beautiful (Miss Mullen) but dancing isn't for me. . . I don't want muscles that big," she mused.

Reading Report in Waterford

"The most important subject in school is reading," says acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen of Waterford Township.

A report on how Waterford school officials emphasize reading is scheduled to be given at the board of education meeting tomorrow.

The oral report will tell of the school district's special reading programs and their problems and promise.

"Over-all, our students are slightly above the national norm," Pagen says.

In other items, the board is expected to hear reports on the school millage election Tuesday and the teacher recruitment program to put students back on full-day schedules.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at the school district offices, 6020 Pontiac Lake at Airport Road.

Income Tax Vote in Cadillac Feb. 10

CADILLAC (AP) — City commissioners have set Feb. 10 for a referendum on whether Cadillac should impose a city income tax.

Cadillac voters rejected an earlier attempt to impose the one per cent tax upon residents and one half of one per cent tax on non residents.

Commissioners fixed the referendum date during a regular commission meeting Monday night. They had said earlier that without income tax revenues they would be forced to hike property taxes or cut services.

Anderson in 'Hamlet'

Mad Dane a Dame?

NEW YORK (AP) — Dame Judith Anderson will tour the United States next year playing Hamlet, a long-time ambition because "the minds of men are more exciting than the minds of women."

"I'll be taking fencing lessons, and running down the beach to get my breathing apparatus in working order," Dame Judith, 71, said Tuesday.

The 26-week tour will begin next fall. It will play primarily to campus audiences, with a stop at Carnegie Hall here.

Dame Judith will wear black slacks in the title role of Shakespeare's best-known drama. "I want my costume to fade into the background," she said.

EXPLAINS AMBITION

Tiny, red-haired and blue-eyed, she tried to explain her ambition to play the troubled Danish youth.

"There is no play at the moment that interests me," she said. "I don't want to waste my remaining years waiting for something that I have respect for."

"The majority of great parts are written for men. The minds of men are more exciting than the minds of women. They have greater scope of power, imagination, kindness and brutality. All the emotions seem to be keyed high for the male roles. "I don't think of Hamlet as either male or female," she said.

WANTED TO DO IT

"It encompasses every emotional note on the scale. . . I've always wanted to do it for a great number of years, but something always happened."

His Spirit Jacked Up by Good Samaritan

By TIM McNULTY

As the State Police car passed by it turned a little bluer. Though it wasn't until the pavement began curling that I stopped hurling epithets at life in general and my flat tire in particular.

McNULTY

"Here I am on the 1-75 median," I thought to myself, "stranded in the rain, my little Rambler auto jack won't hold in the gravel, I'm late for an appointment and the rear end of the car is laying on the axle."

"Oh Happy Day!"

NEED SOME HELP?

A car pulled up behind me — somebody just wanting to taunt, no doubt.

"Hi there. Need some help?"

There's nothing worse than a cheery face when you're sitting on a wet median. I told him to go chase rabbits.

"No, I'm serious," he said, "I'm an auto jack salesman from St. Joseph, Michigan."

THE REAL THING

"Yes," I said, "and I'm Margaret Mead, here to study the sex life of the Clarkson Hugenots."

But he really was a jack salesman from St. Joe and he lagged out three different kinds of jacks from his trunk and got me on my way.

Moody Named Golfer of Year

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — The former Army sergeant who rose from golfing obscurity to fame in one leap, Orville Moody, was named Player of the Year Tuesday by the Professional Golfers' Association.
Moody, 35, was the surprise winner of the U.S. Open in June, 20 months after joining the pro tour.
A native of Chickasha, Okla., he won the World Series of Golf, finished in the top seventh in the PGA Championship and was second in the Greater Greensboro Open.
For the first time in 16 years, two pros were awarded the Professional of the Year title. The title went to Wally Mundt, St. Paul, Minn., and A. Hubert Smith Jr., Tulsa, Okla.
Chandler Harper, 1950 PGA Champion from Portsmouth, Va., was inducted into the PGA Hall of Fame. Harper, a former U.S. Ryder Cup team member, joined 24 surviving members of the Hall. His best year was 1952, when he won the El Paso Open, the Tournament of Champions and the World Championship.
The Horton Smith award for outstanding contributions to the field of golf professional education was presented to trick shot artist Paul Hahner.
The awards were made at the annual President's banquet.

Qualifying Starts Sunday

'Early Bird' Prize in Pontiac Key Open

The early bird will catch the worm in the 13th annual Pontiac Open bowling championship will begin qualifying Sunday at nine area establishments.
With the many new added features for winning prizes, along with the top guarantees starting at $1,000, the early bird special will be a portable television set.
The TV will go to the bowler who attempts to qualify in this the first weekend and who finished the highest among the top 10 finishers in the tournament.
This means that if a bowler enters the first week of qualifying and ultimately becomes the winner of the $1,000 first prize, he will earn the TV as well.
If whoever wins the Pontiac Open championship hits his target score of 800 but in qualifying in the second or third week, then the next highest winner in the finals, if he did his qualifying the first week (Sunday, Nov. 23) will then earn the TV.
The purpose for the "early bird" special is hopefully to balance out the entries and alleviate the last weekend rush which usually account for more than 50 per cent of the total bowlers.
So, if the bowlers hit the target score of 800 including handicap this weekend, and should be lucky enough to be among the top 10 winners, then he may earn himself a portable TV to go along with the prize he earns.
All bowlers who reach the finals are assured of a prize, but along the way there are dozens of possibilities to pick up a share of added prize money.
There's $10 plus trophy for the high qualifier in each house; there's $10 for the top game and high actual series in each house; there's $25 for any triplicate in the tournament; there's $50 and trophy for the top Mix 'n' Match doubles (man and woman's total); there's $50 and trophies for the top Mix 'n' Match Team (five member team, man or woman's); there's $50 and $25 for the top scores in the semifinals; there's $175 and possibly more in the Actual's Invitational plus trophies; and there's a top prize of $200 to the top woman bowler regardless of position except among the top five.
This along with the top five guarantee of $1000 and trophy; $600 and trophy; $400, $300 and $200 and the remainder of the purse will earn as many as 300 bowlers some share of the purse.
The "early bird" special is only in effect for this the first weekend.
Entries should be submitted to any of the qualifying houses and bowlers should call for squad times to the house.
The tournament this year could break the record of 1,400 entries set in 1967.

Buckeyes 'Infiltrate' Michigan

2 From Ohio on Wolverines' Football Roster

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — If Michigan should just happen to upset Ohio State Saturday, blame it on the state of Ohio.
Twenty Michigan football players come from the Buckeye state and 16 of them are regulars or near-regulars with the Wolverines. Ohio State, meanwhile, does not have a single player from the state of Michigan.
"Yes, we've got quite a few from down there," smiled U-M coach Bo Schembechler, himself from Barborton, Ohio. He served eight years under OSU coach Woody Hayes as a player and assistant before becoming head coach at Miami of Ohio in 1963.
He took over the football reins at Michigan in December last year.

OHIO CAPTAIN
Michigan's captain is tight end Jim Mandich of Solon, Ohio. The 6-foot-3, 222-pound senior is one of the team's prime All-American candidates.
Leading pass receiver in the Big Ten most of the year, Mandich has hauled in 36 passes for 565 yards and four touchdowns. But that's not only where his talent lies.
"I like blocking just as much as catching," he smiled one day after practice. "It's just as big a challenge as getting open and catching a pass, and even more so because there is a man-for-man challenge there."
He is a crunching blocker and has won coaches' praise on numerous occasions for throwing key blocks.
"Tight end is an ideal position for me," said the 21-year-old economics major. "It affords an opportunity to catch the ball but there is some aspect of the entire game at the position."
But Michigan is expected to concentrate on running against Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 team. The Buckeyes entire defensive backfield was chosen for combined "Back of the Week" honors by The Associated Press as a result of their performance in squelching Mike Phipps passing attack Saturday as the Buckeyes crushed Purdue 42-14.
U-M's top rusher is lateblooming tailback sensation Billy Taylor. The sophomore speedster from Barborton, Ohio, has amassed 673 yards in the last four games since replacing Glenn Doughty.
Besides Mandich, two other Wolverines are considered All-American candidates — and they are both from Ohio.
Safety Tom Curtis of Sandusky has already intercepted six passes this year and 23 in his career, second best in National Collegiate Athletic Association history. He was All-Big Ten last year and is considered a good pro prospect.
The other is junior offensive tackle Dan Dierdorf of Canton. The 6-4, 255-pounder has been a standout all season for an offensive line that has led the nation's sixth best rushing team.
"Something would be wrong with a player who couldn't score behind the blocking of Dierdorf or Mandich," said fullback Garvie Crow a week after he scored four touchdowns.
Other Ohio natives playing for Michigan are: middle guard Al Francis of Euclid; quarterback Bill Berutti of Franklin and Jim Betts of Cleveland; offensive tackles Werner Hall of Sandusky, Jack Harpring of Cincinnati, and Bob Rittley of Garfield Heights.
Also from Ohio are: guards Ed Baldwin of Hamilton, Frank Titas of Cleveland and Joe Lukz of Niles; linebackers Marty Huff of Toledo and Ed Moore of Youngstown; split end Mike Oldman of Cincinnati; defensive tackle Dick McCoy of Alliance; defensive backs Tom Darden and Brian Healy of Sandusky; and punter Mark Werner of Cincinnati.

Roberto Rossellini Leaving Italy

ROME (AP) — Roberto Rossellini, Italy's senior movie director, has decided to move to France.

Rossellini resigned as head of Rome's experimental film center and informed the minister of tourism and entertainment: "In Italy, you can't do anything serious."

Rossellini, 63, made his mark with such realistic postwar films as "Rome, Open City" and "Paisan" detailing some of the problems of Italy recovering from the ravages of fascism.

Later he turned to television with controversial depictions of "Louis XIV" as an arrogant, disdainful French monarch and of "The Acts of the Apostles," which came under attack for its alleged anti-Jewish tone.

CRITICIZES TELEVISION

Rossellini told a reporter: "The situation reminds me of that dist-a-problem radio show where the answer is invariably 'Wait, wait, you must be patient.'"

"Television is sick, deeply sick and we must all be sure it doesn't become a chronic and irreparable illness."

The state-run network said this week it had already advanced money for two films. Rossellini was preparing—one on the life of Socrates, the other on the 17th century French philosopher Blaise Pascal.

But Rossellini says his decision to leave Italy is irrevocable. Although directors like Federico Fellini and Michelangelo Antonioni have replaced Rossellini as the leading Italian movie-makers, he presided over and influenced the country's main training ground for new talent. Rome's experimental film center has produced such directors as Marco Bellocchio and Marco Ferreri.

His departure may dash plans for a film with Anna Magnani on the life of Catherine de Medici, the scheming 16th century queen of France. It would have been their first film together in 20 years since "Rome, Open City."

The director was once a popular figure, especially during his marriage to Swedish actress Ingrid Bergman. Now many Italian critics regard him as the symbol of a bygone period.

"This matters little," says Rossellini. "The fact is I cannot find work in Italy, and since you need to work in order to survive, I shall work abroad."

Russia Wary of China

Military District Created

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet armed forces have reorganized bringing in more command and the military command structure along much of the country's southern border, apparently to intensify vigilance on the sensitive frontier with Red China.

Provincial newspapers arriving by mail in Moscow reveal the creation of the central Asian military district bordering China's Sinkiang Province.

"This new structure would bring in more command and control elements," he said.

The Soviet-Chinese border has been the scene of frequent clashes for several years. Talks have been under way in Peking since Oct. 20 to settle border questions but there has been no report on how the talks are progressing.

The reorganization was never announced. It was noticed only because the head of the new district, Col. Gen. Nikolai Lyashchenko, was known to have headed the Turkestan military district as recently as one year ago.

Lyashchenko has now been replaced in the Turkestan district and has taken over the central Asian district which previously did not exist.

POSSIBLE ADVANTAGE
One Western military expert in Moscow said a possible advantage to the reorganization would be an increase in military capability in the area.

Trade Fairly Active

Mart Falls into Mixed Pattern

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market fell into a mixed pattern in fairly active trading early today.

At 10:30 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 0.83 to 8424.

Advances and declines were about on a par on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Big Board ticker tape trailed by one minute in reporting floor transactions soon after the opening.

OPENING BLOCKS

Other opening blocks included 31,800 shares of Texaco, unchanged at 29 1/4; 8,700 shares of American Telephone off 1/4 to 53 3/4; 7,800 shares of Jersey Standard, up 1/4 to 64 1/4; and 5,400 shares of Ford Motor, off 1/4 to 42 1/4.

Declines Exceeded Advances

Among early issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange but some averages rose Tuesday.

Most of the strength was concentrated in the blue chips while the glamor stocks were weak.

AMC Workers Back on Jobs

Tentative Agreement Reached in Wisconsin

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — American Motors employees were to begin returning to work after the N. U. A. auto maker and the U. A. O. international union reached a tentative agreement Tuesday night on a one-year contract—ending the longest strike in the firm's history.

In a joint statement, negotiators for UAW Local 72, representing about 6,000 workers in Kenosha, and AMC announced the new pact, which is to run from Oct. 15, 1970.

The settlement was announced "pending final review of final contract language and the settlement of outstanding grievances."

Negotiations continued late into the night, but a spokesman said complete agreement probably would be reached early today.

TO REPORT TODAY

The statement said workers at the Milwaukee parts plant were to report at their normal times today. Start-up plans for the Milwaukee body and Kenosha plants had not been determined.

Union members were to vote on ratification after production resumed, the statement said. Although the union made no effort to move to call off picket lines, many plant gates were closed at various times Tuesday night.

But at some gates, workers still marched.

The union struck AMC plants in Milwaukee and Kenosha Oct. 16 and in Racine, Wis., Oct. 17.

The other locals already have ratified both local and national agreements.

Local 72 last week rejected a settlement offer. The major hang-up at that time was the union's right to vote overtime for its members. The company had offered more relief time in exchange for the union's relinquishing that right.

NO DETAILS

A compromise reportedly was reached on that issue during Tuesday's negotiations, but no details were released.

The strike cost American Motors millions of dollars in potential sales just weeks after the models hit the streets. During the five-week strike, the firm announced it would be the Kaiser Jeep Corp. of Toledo, Ohio.

The talks which brought the agreement began at 10 a.m. Tuesday. They had recessed early Sunday.

Black Revolt Linked to Banking Stability

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK — The interweaving of economic relations it may seem, there is a direct link between the black revolt in the United States and the stability of the international banking system.

The relationship goes something like this: The United States has a chronic balance of payments deficit, meaning that it spends more abroad than foreigners standard of living but it improves their condition.

This imbalance is potentially disruptive to world trade, lowers confidence in the United States' ability to handle its foreign debt, and it breeds doubts about the value of the dollar.

The most direct way of correcting this imbalance is to restrict the money supply.

Presumably it is for this reason that U.S. officials at a meeting of central bankers in Basel, Switzerland, reportedly informed their counterparts that the payments problem is likely to persist for some time.

The Nixon administration seemingly is facing a dilemma, caught between the need to retrain the economy to stability and the fear that stronger anti-inflation measures might set off a more serious unrest.

Already the attempt by the administration to slow the rate of inflation has pushed unemployment to 3.9 percent of a rate of 3.3 percent at the beginning of the year.

Compared with rates of 5.5 percent early in 1964, the present rate seems relatively low. But this statistic can be deceptively comforting and hide more unsettling news.

For example, the teen-age jobless rate in September was more than three times the average, at 19.2 percent of all teenagers actively looking for work. And the rate for nonwhites was 6.8 percent compared with 3.6 percent for whites.

There are further revealing breakdowns. The jobless rate of black workers in September was 4.6 percent, or double that of white workers. It takes only ordinary perception to know that nonwhites occupy many of these blue collar jobs.

The unemployment picture, therefore, is already very sensitive. And as is the imbalance of the payments situation. In fact, the latter will probably reach a record total this year.

In the first three quarters of the year foreigners have acquired $8 billion in transactions with the United States, meaning they have acquired that much in claims against the U.S. supply of gold. The highest previous one-year total was $3.9 billion in 1960.

TICKLISH SITUATION

This is a ticklish situation, it means that the value of the dollar, on which so much of world trade depends, can be challenged. Gold, especially the foundation of U.S. currency. Foreign central banks can upset this foundation by redeeming their dollars for gold.

The way to get those dollars back is to slow the American economy. But equally delicate is that unemployment situation. To slow the economy too sharply would throw many nonwhites out into the streets.

It appears, therefore, that regardless of the balance of payments problem, the administration may not be able to deal a mortal blow to inflation.
