Texas Flood Waters Force Hundreds to Flee

Extortion Try Ends in Arrest at Payoff Scene

Intended Victim Gives Letters to Officers Who Trap Suspect

Charles A. Leithleiter, of 15 Pinegrove Ave., is held in Oakland County Jail, accused by Pontiac Police of using the mails to extort $500 from the wife of a Pontiac physician.

"It was just a crazy stunt" Leithleiter told police, admitting that he picked the woman's name from the telephone book before he wrote threatening letters and was not acquainted with her.

The woman and her husband turned the letters over to police, who set a trap for the would-be extortionist.

Leithleiter, 38, father of three children, was arrested by Detectives Thomas C. Mitchell and Richard G. Evans in a wooded area in the Bald Mountain Recreation Area, Orion Township yesterday morning after he was seen taking an envelope containing $300 from a woman posing as his intended victim.

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley said Leithleiter would be held until Monday when a warrant will be requested from Federal authorities.

Straley said the department had been working on the case for the past 10 days since the woman notified him of a typed letter she received April 17 threatening "to expose her character" to her husband if she did not pay $500.

Upon advice of police, the woman placed an ad in the Press, as asked in the letter, indicating she would comply with his demands.

Straley said the assembly-line worker at Fisher Body Division of General Motors Corp., told him he picked the doctor's name at random from the telephone book about two or three days before he wrote the first letter. He said he "didn't need the money."

A second letter designated how and where the money should be paid. Twelve policemen were concealed in the woods to witness the payoff.

Detective Evans said he found the pad of paper used to write the extortion note while searching Leithleiter's home following the arrest. The imprints of a third handwritten note, Leithleiter delivered yesterday morning, could be seen on the pad. This note requested the rest of the money, $200, to be paid next Friday.

Straley said detectives had investigated about 25 possible suspects since they were notified by the doctor and his wife.

During his confession yesterday afternoon to police, Leithleiter claimed he had never been in trouble or arrested before, Straley said.

Two possible charges may be filed according to George F. Taylor, chief assistant prosecutor of Oakland County. The federal charge, sought by Police, is using U.S. mails to extort money and has a maximum sentence of five years. The state charge, extortion, could mean a maximum of 20 years.

Children Mark Arbor Day Here

Decay in Teeth Is Cut in Half With Fluoride

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.—Tooth decay among school children here has been halved since fluoridation began in 1951.

Health Commissioner Chester A. Hicks told the City Council a study of third and fourth grade youngsters in five parochial schools showed a drop of 1.71 decayed teeth per child to 0.81 per child.

The study, which began with examinations between September, 1951, and February, 1952, of 366 children, showed 626 decayed teeth. In a similar period in 1956-57, among 434 youngsters only 350 decays were reported.

Dr. Hicks said there was so sign of "mottling" of the teeth.

Psychiatrist Backs Down After Plotting Own Death

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit psychiatrist told police last night he hired a gunman to kill him because he was despondent but changed his mind and failed to keep the fatal office call.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor Ralph Garber said the shooting wouldn't have come off as planned anyway. The man Dr. C. L. R. Pearman hired to do the job was an undercover patrolman assigned to the case.

"I was despondent when I arranged the plot," Garber quoted the 56-year-old psychiatrist as saying. "I felt I had nothing to live for. I changed my mind. So I kept away from my office." He did not elaborate.

Police who kept the bizarre appointment yesterday at Dr. Pearman's downtown Detroit office found a note hanging on the door: "Back Monday."

Dr. Pearman, former resident in psychiatry at Wayne County General Hospital, was picked up at a reserve officers party at the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station near Detroit last night.

Garber said he would recommend a warrant charging Pearman with attempted conspiracy to commit murder. Conviction on the charge could mean a five-year prison term.

'FANTASTIC STORY'

Garber said the story was "The most fantastic I've ever heard." He said it began Tuesday when

Briggs Quits Tigers

DETROIT (INS) — The Detroit Tigers today were shopping around for a new general manager to replace Walter O. (Spike) Briggs who suddenly resigned yesterday.

The departure of the 45-year-old Tiger executive brought an end to an era in Detroit where the name of Briggs had been associated with major league baseball for 37 years.

Although the owners of the Tigers have not named a successor to Briggs, Personnel Director John McHale reportedly has the inside track on the job.

"Spike" announced yesterday that he was resigning his posts as general manager, executive vice president and director of the Detroit Baseball Co.

His resignation was the third shake-up in the Tiger top brass in the past few weeks. Last Friday, Fred Knorr, owner of several radio stations, resigned as president because he said he was "neglecting" his radio interests.

Rain, Wind Batter County but No Tornadoes Sighted

Torrential rains and violent winds battered southeastern Michigan last night, but Oakland County escaped except for minor damage.

A tornado alert was sounded at 5:50 p.m. and lasted five and one half hours, but no tornados were sighted in the area.

With winds hitting 43 miles an hour and .64 inches of rain falling, police and sheriff's dept. were kept on alert until 10 p.m.

The Oakland County Red Cross also mobilized its emergency groups in case of need.

The storm was caused by warm air from the Gulf of Mexico which moved across southern Michigan forming a squall line at its front.

One death is reported from the storm in Detroit. An auxiliary fireman, Paul A. Ladach, 51, died of electric shock when he checked a burning car near his home. Ladach saw the blazing vehicle and thinking someone might be trapped inside ran to it and tried to open a door. A live wire which had fallen on the car's roof caused his death.

The west side of Detroit and the downriver area was most heavily battered by the thunderstorm. Fallen wires accounted for most of the damage. Detroit Fire Dept. reports 25 calls during the night on the west side, while in Dearborn street lights and traffic signals were knocked out in the east end of the city.

WIRES DOWN

A few wires were reported down in southern Oakland and Macomb Counties.

The only tornado reported in Michigan was one seen by a Detroit woman in the same area where Ladach was electrocuted. Three black funnels were seen in Indiana and one in Ohio, but none touched the ground or caused damage.

The weatherman says the worst is over, although he predicts considerable cloudiness with showers or thunderstorms and turning cooler late today.

★ ★ ★

The high today will be 76, he reports, with partly cloudy and cooler tonight and tomorrow. Tonight's low will be 44 to 48, with a high tomorrow near 64.

Partly cloudy and warmer Sunday night is the forecast.

Downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 60. At 2 p.m. the temperature was 71.

House Revises Road Fund Split

Surprise Move Diverts $5 Million to Cities and Counties

LANSING (AP) — In a surprise development, the House last night unanimously accepted Gov. Williams' proposal to rewrite the laws controlling highway financing in the state.

As revised and passed to the Senate, the bill containing the governor's recommendations would divert to cities and counties about five million dollars a year that now goes to the state highway treasury.

Rep. Emil A. Peltz (R-Rogers City), House Roads and Bridges Committee chairman and sponsor of the measure, had originally sought a diversion of some 12 million dollars, with eight million to go to counties and four to cities.

Contrary to expectation, the Senate abruptly killed duplicate legislation earlier in the day, catching Peltz and his supporters by surprise.

The governor's plan would set up a formula for distribution of highway revenues of 47.5 per cent to the state, 34.8 per cent to the counties and 17.8 per cent to cities.

Under this formula, the state would collect about $100,700,000, of the estimated 212 million dollars that will go to the motor vehicle highway fund during 1957-58. Counties would pick up $73,500,000 and cities $37,700,000.

The present ratio would allocate $105,500,000 to the state, $70,300,000 to the counties and $36,100,000 to cities.

Williams' plan also would raise the ceiling on the bonding power for highway construction from 390 million dollars to 500 million dollars.

'Baby Twister' in City

What was described as a "baby twister" went on a brief spree just before noon today, lifting an estimated 15 to 20 pieces of lumber from the Pontiac Lumber Company's yard at 831 Oakland Ave., according to a company spokesman.

Several of the two by eight, 16-foot-long boards crashed through the front window of the Father and Son Market, 856 Oakland Ave., while others are reported to have hit two vehicles in the area.

"The baby twister formed behind the Grand Trunk Railway's roundhouse just to the west of the lumber company," said George H. Jeruzal, Pontiac Lumber Company vice president. "Most of the lumber flew over the market and disappeared."

Alden D. Fontana, 713 Kinny Rd., told the Press wind blew a boat into his back yard from several lots away.

Jordan Cases to Go to Military Courts

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan's new government set up military courts today to try cases stemming from the Arab nation's recent political turmoil.

King Hussien's Arab Legion continued a roundup of Communists, left wing leaders and extreme nationalists in an attempt to wipe out the Red influence contributing to Jordan's ferment.

The country remained outwardly calm, with the streets of major cities virtually deserted, in the third day of martial law proclaimed by the young monarch.

(This dispatch, passed through censorship, did not specify whether these extremist elements were to be brought before the military courts. It was reported in other Arab capitals that several hun-

One Record Falls as Chiefs Defend Title

By H. GUY MOATS
Press Staff Writer

MT. PLEASANT—Pontiac High School this morning took a 25 point start in defense of its Central Michigan Relay Title. The Chiefs hung up one new record.

Hudson Ray high jumped to a new record of 6 feet 5 and ⅝ inches. Fred Brooks, of Pontiac was second in this event.

Pontiac also won the two mile relay and placed third in the Class A Central Relay.

Ray's high jump mark was the big feature of the morning's events. It was moved indoors because of a continuous rain. The pole vault and shotput also were moved indoors. All other events were being run outside.

Identities' Mixup Joyous, Tearful to 2 Families

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—A mixup in identities after an automobile accident left a young husband grieving today for a wife he had thought alive and the parents of a girl rejoicing she was not dead as they believed.

More than 36 hours after Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Snyder identified one of the crash deaths as their 17-year-old daughter, Judith, they learned they were mistaken.

The dead girl is Mrs. Norma Jean Barnhart, 18, Judith's companion on a ride that ended when their car left the highway and hit a tree near here early Thursday.

The error in identity was discovered yesterday when classmates of Judith and Mrs. Barnhart went to a funeral home yesterday to pay their respects.

Injuries had disfigured the dead girl's face but her friends recognized a wedding ring and a locket as belonging to Mrs. Barnhart.

Eugene Barnhart, 23, an airman at Selfridge Air Force Base in Mount Clemens, who had been keeping a vigil at the hospital bedside of the injured girl he thought was his wife, was called. He identified the ring and the locket as his wife's.

Torrential Rains Up to 8 Inches Lash Wide Area

Property Damage Set Higher Than $1 Million; 6 Tornadoes Strike

DALLAS (AP)—Flood waters surged out of dozens of rivers and creeks in much of Texas today, flooding lowland and forcing hundreds of persons to evacuate.

Torrential rains up to eight inches lashed a wide area of the state yesterday and a barrage of at least six tornadoes struck in central and east Texas, injuring five persons and causing property damage estimated at more than a million dollars.

The cloudbursts continued today in south and central Texas. Many areas braced for more flooding as virtually every river and creek in north, central and south Texas were expected to reach new crests today and tomorrow.

At Kenedy in the once hard-hit drought area of Karnes County, high winds accompanied a downpour that dumped 1.50 inches of rain within 20 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Police ordered the evacuation of 500 families in the southern part of Dallas in anticipation of a flood on the rampaging Trinity River today. The river was expected to hit a crest of 44 feet, six feet above major flood stage.

TREES SUBMERGED

Trees between 75 and 100 feet high in the once-dry river bottom were half submerged in the swirling, muddy water as the Trinity continued to rise half a foot per hour.

The total evacuation in south Dallas was expected to reach 1,500 to 2,000 families. A 5.10 inch rain drenched the city yesterday.

The Department of Public Safety said the little community of Comanche, 120 miles southwest of Fort Worth, was virtually isolated by flood waters from streams in the area. All roads were reported closed, power was out and telephones were shut off.

At Killeen in central Texas heavy rains last night forced 100 families from their homes. High winds at nearby Fort Hood, Tex., blew the roof of the officers' club, the motor pool building and the stands at the baseball stadium.

Damage from the tornadoes yesterday was heaviest at Tyler where a twister roared across the eastern edge of town. It hit two elementary schools, the junior high school and more than 400 homes. Some 300 children escaped injury.

Covers Activities of 1956

City's Report Goes Into Mails

Annual report of the City of Pontiac to its citizens and taxpayers covering activities of 1956 went into the mails Friday.

"We are proud of this report and hope to win first prize in the Michigan Municipal League's contest for cities in our population group," City Manager Walter K. Willman said. For the past two years the city has taken second award.

★ ★ ★

The report to the people, titled "Your City at Work," rolled off the presses Friday numbering some 19,210. It has 22 pages which contain reports from all city departments for 1956, including comparison with 1955 statistics.

WHERE MONEY COMES FROM

Charts showing "where the city money comes from" and "where city money goes" are graphically portrayed in the finance section.

The report was produced by Mrs. Charles Cook, secretary to Willman, Gus Mathes, planning technician, Henry C. Smith, city planner, and Robert A. Stierer, administrative assistant to Willman.

The back cover of the blue and white 8½-11 inch report conveniently lists city department and agency telephone numbers.

★ ★ ★

The report contains general pictorial coverage, including a two-page spread featuring pictures of outstanding events of "the industrial city in the land of play."

The production of the report cost the city $2,850. Mailing costs were $340.

State Fishermen Answer Call of Opening Day

Trout Lure Thousands to Streams

By JACK PATTERSON

For somewhere in the neighborhood of two hundred thousand Michigan trout fishermen today marks the real beginning of 1957.

PATTERSON

The traditional "last Saturday in April" has finally rolled up on the calendar and the general season for brook, brown and rainbow trout is underway.

Armed with licenses and trout stamps and with no major changes in rules and regulations to worry about, eager openers have pretty much the length and breadth of Michigan's two peninsulas to roam in search of their favorite quarry.

Hardiest of this early breed of anglers will be trying for big spawning rainbows or steelhead as they're often called, in the still snow-bordered streams like the Huron which run into Lake Superior.

Their counterparts in the Lower Peninsula will be working for the same fish in streams that flow into the Great Lakes, enjoying better stream conditions but probably poorer fishing. Sea lampreys in Lakes Huron and Michigan are generally credited for the sharp decline in the number of spawning fish running in streams tributary to those lakes.

Perhaps the most effort is being expended on the big streams for any or all three species of trout. Lower Peninsula streams by and large are lower and clearer than normal for so early in the season, with recent rains causing some local variations.

Streams like the three branches of the Au Sable system the Big and Little Manistee, the Platte, Betsie, Boardman, the Black, Maple and Ocqueoc to name a few, are in for a real working over today.

A good many trout in these streams will be oblivious to tomorrow's sunrise.

The surest fishing of all will be found by wormers working the small, alder - bordered streams that crisscross the northern counties of the Lower Peninsula. Natural habitat of Michigan's one native trout, the eastern brook trout, these small streams are sure producers on opening day. Almost sure anyway.

Surely not the easiest trout fishing in the world, this battle with the shin-tangle is apt to be one of the most productive.

Not all opening trouters will be in the north. Some will be fishing close-to-Pontiac sites like the Bald Mountain pond, or rainbow-stocked lakes such as Orchard, Oxbow, Maceday and Union. As an unpleasant commentary on the way things are done these days it is feared that some fishermen will not be able to fare forth at all today.

This is to be regretted and it is suggested that a hundred years from now it won't matter much whether these unfortunates worked today or not.

If they have a real reason, like maybe the boss stayed in town, well—they may take consolation from this: The trout fishing will be much better a month from today than it is now.

Broomfield Favors $3-4 Billion Reduction

Tells How to Cut Budget

Oakland County Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) took issue yesterday with the $71 billion national budget, and suggested means of paring the controversial sum.

Broomfield said the budget "possibly" could be sliced three or four billion dollars, not by a blanket cut, but by judging each program on its own merits.

"I believe the federal government can be handled on a 60 billion dollar budget "Oakland County's newly-elected representative in Congress said.

He spoke to a luncheon gathering of the Governmental Affairs Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce at the Waldron Hotel.

APATHETIC NATURE

He stressed that the apathetic nature of the American people was one reason why budgets continue to soar. "The people must take a sincere interest in how their federal money is being spent," he remarked.

He cited the example of the doorman at the Congress chambers who draws $16,000 annually for his duties, consisting mostly of introducing visiting dignitaries. "He's a Democrat," Broomfield laughingly said, "but there's a Republican receiving $12,000 and waiting in line for the political picture to change."

He criticized the publication and distribution of 26,000,000 farm bulletins by the Agriculture Department which are often forced upon congressmen whether they desire them or not.

FAVORS CUT

The young GOP speaker said he favored a tax cut this year, but did not favor cutting the federal deficit "at this time."

A billion and a half dollars have been chopped from some 40 appropriation bills, Broomfield reported.

He said there were "certain phases of foreign aid that should be looked into."

HAVE TO BEG

The speaker termed it "ridiculous to have to beg a country to accept four million dollars in aid."

"We must try and get our government on a sensible federal spending program," he told the group.

The Royal Oak resident, home during the Easter congressional recess, reserved his opinion on federal aid for education. He said he was studying all proposals and urged residents to write expressing their opinions on the subject.

Broomfield said he was very much concerned about a $600 million annual deficit in the postal department. He urged "a reasonable increase in postal rates." I can't see how we can charge 1932 rates for 1957 service," he added.

The congressman commented that increasing defense appropriations were due mostly to the "tendency of the different branches of the service to fight each other for supremacy."

Indians Practice Midnight Rites

Fear of Witchcraft Grips Whole Village in Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Tales of midnight witchcraft practices were related today as authorities began investigation of reports of strange and primitive rites at the Indian village of Angoon.

"Revelations" by two young Indian girls, regarded as oracles by a few elders of the Tlingit Tribe at the village, reportedly were the basis for the midnight meetings which began Easter Sunday.

The village is 70 miles southwest of Juneau on Admiralty Island.

Bob Kederick, a reporter for the Juneau Empire, spent two hours at Angoon yesterday after the reports were received here.

"Many residents are frightened by superstitious demonstrations which apparently include the burning of cats and dogs and midnight to dawn rites during which young girls are said to see into the future," Kederick said.

He also quoted a village leader who he said told him that a man had turned into a bird and flown away.

"The atmosphere of superstition and terror that gripped some of the residents is incredible," he said.

★ ★ ★

Kederick said there was no evidence of physical violence to either the girls or residents who were not involved in the rites.

One of the girls, a 16-year-old Indian, told Kederick she started having "revelations" a month ago.

Some of the 375 residents of the fishing village told Kederick the witchcraft demonstrations followed the death of an infant girl about two weeks ago. Authorities attributed the death to virus pneumonia.

★ ★ ★

Kederick quoted one villager: A lot of innocent people are being hurt and families that believe this are just going wild. A lot of people have been accused unjustly of being witches."

U. N. Postpones Debate on Suez

Discussions Put Off to Allow User Nations to View Egyptian Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council today took time out from its Suez Canal debate to let user countries consult on Egypt's new plan for running the waterway.

An all-day Council discussion yesterday showed two members satisfied with the Egyptian declaration, three willing to give it a try and six anxious to replace it with an international agreement.

For it were Iraq and the Soviet Union. For giving it a try were Nationalist China, the Philippines and the United States.

For replacing it were Australia, Britain, Colombia, Cuba, France and Sweden.

One common criticism was that the declaration did not provide for "organized cooperation" between Egypt and the users. Another was that Egypt could revoke it without getting anybody else's permission.

Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain, Council president, noted "a general feeling that the Egyptian declaration cannot be regarded as a final settlement." He said the document still needed study and that his government "may wish to consult with other user governments not represented on the Council."

Saying "this may take a few days," Dixon adjourned the debate to a date to be fixed by agreement of Council members.

The Egyptian declaration pledges the Cairo government to observe the 1888 Constantinople convention for freedom of Suez navigation "within the limits" set therein. Egypt interprets this to mean it can continue to bar Israeli ships under security provisions of the convention.

Dems Outslug Republican Foes in Baseball Game

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ever since William M. Wheeler of Georgia lost his congressional seat to Mrs. Iris Blitch the Democrats have been hard pressed in their annual baseball games against the Republicans.

But last night in their spring practice game here the Democrats may have uncovered Wheeler's successor in Rep. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, who pitched a 5-hitter and socked a triple.

The Democrats won the 5-inning game 14-10, scoring nine runs in the final inning.

GOP players didn't have their full team, though. In fact, two Chamber of Commerce officials filled in to round out the team.

There were other variations from the normal baseball game. Players on both teams often called on little leaguers to run bases for them. And the umpires helped field balls the infielders couldn't reach.

Ike Off to Fairway as Rest Nears End

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower arranged another round of golf today after his vacation headquarters announced he plans to end his vacation-mixed-with-work Monday or Tuesday.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen late yesterday Eisenhower expects to return to Washington early next week, either Monday night or Tuesday night.

The President came to Augusta National Golf Club April 18. Through yesterday, Eisenhower had played 18 holes every day since arriving.

The President conferred with Secretary of State Dulles by telephone again yesterday regarding the Jordan government crisis. It was the third day in a row they had talked over that situation.

Doctor Backs Out After Plotting Death

Pearman, who is single, asked a Detroit night club porter to find him a killer.

"He must be an ex-convict, a Negro, and must know his business," Garber said Pearman told the attendant. Pearman is white.

The porter tipped police who assigned a patrolman to set up a payoff meeting with Pearman. Police covered the meeting with concealed cameras.

Garber said Pearman gave the plainclothes man $50 and promised him $450 more when the job was done.

Pearman asked the patrolman for "one bullet in the heart," Garber said. The prosecutor quoted the doctor as telling the undercover agent: "You could shoot a cannon in my office without being heard."

Pearman said he would ransack his office to make it appear that he had surprised a burglar at work.

Pearman was once married and divorced. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University medical schools.

Wilson Leaves Site of Missile Firing

COCOA, Fla. (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson leaves Patrick Air Force Base today after a busy visit to the closely-guarded Cape Canaveral site where at least one guided missile roared aloft during his stay.

Wilson is scheduled to fly back to Washington tomorrow from his ranch at Sebastian, 50 miles south of Cocoa.

Top officials at Patrick wouldn't confirm that Wilson saw a missile take off, or even say that one was fired. People in the city of Cocoa heard the rocket's roar at 3:14 p.m. (EST) and saw it winging southward, streaking the sky with white smoke.

Maj. Gen. D. N. Yates, commanding the Air Force missile test center, said there was no firing for Wilson's especial benefit.

Turnpike Law Repeal Is Voted by House

LANSING (AP) — The House last night voted 65-24 to repeal the act setting up the Michigan Turnpike authority. The measure would put the more than $100,000 still in the authority's coffers back into the state's general fund.

The measure faces tough opposition in the Senate, which earlier this week passed a bill to give the Turnpike Authority new life. The Senate measure would allow the authority to retain gas taxes collected from vehicles using a proposed 75-mile turnpike skirting Detroit and running north to Clio.

Man Will Face Court on Weapons Charge

W. H. Hudson, 27, of 86 Houston St., was bound over to Circuit Court today charged with carrying a concealed weapon after he allegedly threatened a man with a gun. Hudson waived examination and the higher court arraignment was set for May 6. Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan freed him on a $100 personal bond until then. Hudson was arrested early yesterday morning carrying a loaded .32 caliber revolver.

Girl Hurt as Horse Bolts During Storm

A Detroit girl, Patricia Ann Smith, 18, of 17561 Keller St., is reported in "satisfactory" condition at Pontiac General Hospital with a possible concussion received when the horse she was riding Friday evening threw her against a tree.

★ ★ ★

She was riding at Roy's Ranch, 7571 Walnut Lake Rd., Commerce Township. The horse bolted when frightened by lightning and thunder of an approaching storm.

Youth, 15, Is Injured in Fall on Playground

David Charles Leitner, 15, of 490 Second St., was in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital after he fell from the jungle bars while playing on the grounds of the Le Baron Elementary School, on east Beverly street. A hospital spokesman said the boy was admitted to the hospital for possible internal injuries.

Eisenhower Names New Kremlin Envoy

AUGUSTA, Ga., (AP)—President Eisenhower today picked Llewellyn E. Thompson, NOA ambassador to Austria, to be the new ambassador to Russia.

★ ★ ★

Thompson, whose nomination will go to the Senate next week, succeeds Charles E. Bohlen, who has been reassigned as envoy to the Phillippines.

Eisenhower's vacation headquarters also announced his intention to nominate next week:

Don C. Bliss, now State Department foreign service inspector, to be ambassador to Ethiopia. He replaces Joseph Simonson, who has resigned.

★ ★ ★

Walter P. McConaughy, now State Department director of Chinese affairs, to be ambassador to Burma. He succeeds Joseph C. Satterthwaite, who has been reassigned.

Gunman Nets $19,000 in Night Office Holdup

PAHOKEE, Fla. (AP)—The bookkeeper of a truck farm said a gunman held him up last night and carried away about $19,000 from an open safe.

W. E. Blackwell said he was working alone when a tall, thin man wearing dark glasses entered the Vandegrift-Williams, Inc., office and menaced him with a pistol.

Blackwood said he lay on the floor at the bandit's order while the latter looted the safe and disappeared.

Jordan Cases to Go Into Military Courts

dred persons were arrested in the roundup of leftists.)

One report said former Premier Suleiman Nabulsi, ousted by the King two weeks ago, was under house arrest in Amman.

The new Cabinet met for two hours under Premier Ibrahim Hashem.

Government officials who had been fired during the Nabulsi administration were nearly all given back their jobs.

The streets of Amman, old Jerusalem, Nabuls, Ramallah and Irbid—the chief Jordanian cities—all were virtually deserted under the almost total curfew. Troops, and police patrolled the five cities, forcing everyone except a few officials to stay indoors through most of the day.

King Hussein's hand was strengthened by pledges of loyalty to him and his new government from Sheiks and mayors in the older part of his desert realm.

Paratrooper Floats Into Nudist Colony

LONDON (INS) — Nineteen-year-old Corporal Malcolm Davis of the British army, congratulated himself on how well things were going as his parachute floated down from 15,000 feet.

Suddenly, a strong gust of wind took him off course.

He landed in the middle of a German nudist camp.

Women screamed and ran for cover. But a crowd of naked men ran up, grabbed Davis and locked him in a shed.

He remained there for an hour, until an army officer arrived and explained what had happened.

Davis, in a letter to his parents, wrote:

Pontiac High School Schedules Concert

Pontiac High School will present its 30th annual Spring Concert Monday, at 8:15 p.m., in the boys' gymnasium.

Tickets are available from band members and at the box office the night of the performance.

The program will include marches, waltzes, selections from Broadway musicals and the finale from the symphonic poem "Death and Transfiguration," by Richard Strauss.

★ ★ ★

Drop Leaflets on Reds

TAIPEI (AP) — Air Force headquarters said Chinese Nationalist planes flew over seven provinces of Communist China last night, dropping millions of anti-Red leaflets. All planes returned to Formosa safely before daybreak today, the announcement said.

The Day in Birmingham

Recreation Leader Pushes Plans for New Video Show

BIRMINGHAM — Casting and rehearsals are in their final stages for the new teenage TV show which will start May 4. The weekly show is scheduled for 2:30 and 4:30 p.m., over WWJ.

The show, according to Robert E. Girardin, Birmingham Recreation, Director, will be a joint effort between his department and the Department of Parks and Recreation in Detroit.

Persons with news for this column (from Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township) should address all communications to Correspondent Alice Morgan, 1835 Holland, Birmingham. Or news items may be phoned in to Miss Morgan at MI 6-3537.

The master of ceremonies and all participants will be teenagers.

Girardin said the request for talent had been gratifying. Mrs. Carol Darling, dean of women; Dorothy Allen, assembly committee faculty advisor; and Angelo Angeloci have assisted Birmingham High School students who will be responsible for final selection of talent for the two-hour program.

"This is the first step in the Recreation Board's quest to stimulate teenage activities in Birmingham" Girardin said.

Prof. Lloyd J. Averill Jr., member of the faculty at Kalamazoo College, will preach the 11 a.m. service at First Baptist Church tomorrow.

His appearance here will be one of the highlights of the "Christian Education Sunday" sponsored by the National Council of Churches. Prof. Averill is well known in the fields of religion and education.

Two meetings of the Oakland County Planned Parenthood group will be held at the Birmingham Community House in the morning and evening of May 29.

The group sponsors clinics in Royal Oak, Oakdale and Pontiac.

Students of Michigan State University now teaching in the Birmingham schools will meet May 2 in the first of six Thursday gatherings.

Meetings will be held at the Birmingham Y or will take the form of field trips.

Included among the jaunts will be a visit to one of the local dramatic groups, the Merrill Palmer School in Detroit; a lecture by Ralph and Delores Peabody on their work with the blind and a visit with a well-known personality in the field of art.

★ ★ ★

It was announced this week that Chad N. Ritchie, 1234 Covington Rd., has resigned as head of the Oakland County Republican group, to be replaced by Arthur G. Elliott Jr. of Pleasant Ridge.

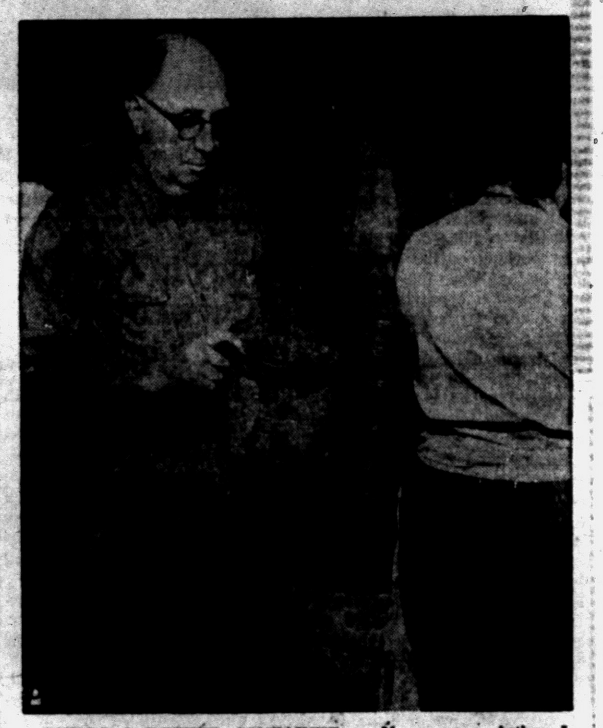

Ritchie, former Birmingham mayor, has accepted a post on the County Republican Executive Committee.

Three-Year-Old Falls From Moving Auto

Three year old Debra Cheryl Newell, of 499 E. Boulevard N., was in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after she fell out of a moving auto yesterday.

Pontiac Police report Gloria Newell, 29, the child's mother, had just turned left from Perry unto East Boulevard about 7 p.m. when the little girl apparently turned the door handle and fell out of the car.

She is being treated for abrasions and contusions.

BUILDS A BETTER CONTAINER — Nurseryman Arthur L. Watson of Grand Rapids, spot checks an asphalt pot of a type he has produced since 1953 in a booming business he founded after a search for stronger containers to hold plants and small trees.

But Pots Are Profitable

Flower Shop Goes to Pot

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—You might say Arthur L. Watson's business has gone to pot—but it's gaining new customers annually throughout the United States.

Watson, a Grand Rapids nurseryman since 1918, decided four years ago he was dissatisfied with the fragility of pots he was buying as containers for plants and small trees.

He designed his own containers in 1953.

Watson perfected the innovation of overlapping a half-inch on top of asphalt paper containers to give the edge greater strength in handling. He designed his own press for cutting paper and used asphalt paper with increased felt content for greater strength.

First he produced the newly designed pots for his own use.

Visiting nurserymen, florists and greenhouse operators took notice and asked for samples. The new business was born. Watson produced about 250,000 paper pots the first year.

★ ★ ★

Production has boomed since then and probably will exceed 2,000,000 this year. Watson's mechanical plant now includes two presses with interchangeable dies; 12 stapling machines, employs up to 20 workers and runs day and night during the rush season.

He estimates his production ranks second in the asphalt pot industry, which numbers three major supplies—his plant and one each in New York and Missouri.

★ ★ ★

There's virtually no waste in Watson's container production.

Some of the scraps become small squares for packing "starter-size" plants in wooden flats. The rest is used for "paving" roadways through Watson's nursery.

Reds to Woo World's Youth With Festival

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Kremlin is preparing a colossal propaganda show—a world festival of youth and students.

The Soviet Government is exerting enormous effort to put on a display of culture, athletics and hospitality to overshadow every other international assemblage ever held.

For a period of 15 days the Moscow Communist leadership is going to turn the Soviet capital over to "tens of thousands" of young people enticed from all corners of the earth to have a howling good time—and, the Russians hope, to go away convinced that Soviet Russia is the greatest friend of youth in the world.

The Soviet Union hopes to wipe out at least to some extent the serious effects of the Hungarian revolt and other developments of 1956 which demonstrated opposition to Communist totalitarianism among youth.

★ ★ ★

The festival will run from July 28 to Aug. 11. Before and after, many of the young guests will be traveling about the Soviet Union—most of them apparently with their expenses paid one way or another by the Kremlin.

STRICTLY COMMUNIST-PLANNED

Planning and conduct of the festival are securely in the hands of Communists, both Soviet and foreign, and fellow travelers around the globe. Particularly close to the festival are organizations associated with the "World Peace Partisans," an arm of support for Soviet foreign policy in the non-Communist world.

★ ★ ★

Here are some indications of the scale of preparations as disclosed in the Soviet Press:

Soviet pigeon fanciers will provide 40,000 white "doves of peace"—in other words pigeons—to be released July 28 at the giant new Lenin Stadium in Moscow.

Soviet seagoing passenger liners have been requisitioned to bring young people from Western Europe by the thousands to Leningrad, Odessa and Murmansk, where citizens have been mobilized in an effort to make these generally dilapidated cities look pretty.

Two million festival posters will be plastered all over Moscow.

SOUVENIRS, ALSO

The handicraft industry and many amateur hobby groups and schools have been put to work to prepare souvenirs.

Twenty temporary restaurants with 500 seats each are being erected next to hotels.

Efforts are being made to attract the greatest athletes of the world in the hopes that a sports show can be put on which will rival the recent Olympics.

There will be special student seminars for discussion of everything from cinematography to atomic energy.

WANT BRITISH, AMERICANS

The Russians will have no difficulty finding young people, both Communists and non-Communists, to come to their youth festival, but they are particularly anxious to get American and British young people and students. So politics is being soft-pedalled.

The U. S. State Department is opposed to American students participating.

There have been five such youth festivals — the last in Warsaw in 1955. This is the first time Moscow has acted as host. So this one must be the biggest.

Nicaragua has financed 107 miles of Inter-American Highway, clear across the nation.

Saudi Arabia has slapped a ban, in Jidda, on importation of "immodest or nude pictures."

South Africa's railroads got a break when competing truck firms were denied licenses.

Frustration, Resentment Form Backdrop for Riot

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

A sudden, ominous stillness hangs over the city.

Taxicabs disappear from the streets. That is the first sign.

Shopkeepers begin running down iron shutters over their shop-windows.

The foreign colony, always in danger of violent attack, begins to put into operation its system of wardens, organized by blocks and jebels (hills).

The riot is about to begin. It can be an awesome spectacle to behold.

This is how violent political riots break out with the suddenness of a flash of lightning in a country like Jordan.

The pattern has been developing ever since the end of the Palestine War between Israel and the Arab states.

One of the most potent factors in the outbreaks of rioting is the insidious, persuasive, sonorous radio tones of Saut al Arab — the Voice of Arabs — Cairo's most effective propaganda weapon.

When the time is politically ripe for mob action, the leaders of mobs can find out any moment, from the radios in their coffee shops, just what the line for the day will be, and they will act accordingly.

GRAPEVINE CONTROL

As the hour approaches, the word goes out by a lightning fast grapevine.

For the equivalent of a few dollars, those politically interested in buying a riot can hire their riot leaders, the key men of the operation.

Street corner orators appear as if from nowhere to harangue the crowds. The key rioters begin throwing a few stones at any convenient symbol of their anger. The riot is on.

Others join in just for the joy of it. They include the young and frustrated Arabs aching for a violent binge, just to relieve their dreadful boredom. Among them are the Palestine War refugees, filled with hatred, their economic destitution leaving them little to live for.

★ ★ ★

In poetic phrases, the orators whip the crowd to a high pitch of emotionalism, made violent by the restraints and conflicts inherent in the clash of an old civilization with a new one.

★ ★ ★

Riot agitators circle the souks (market places) and push the rioters along like sheepdogs herding a flock. The leaders pick the targets of attack and even provide the weapons if that is necessary.

The young, the embittered, the resentful, the emotional people harboring a storm of violent hatred against Israel, whose successes have fed their frustration, all join in. And when the riot is in full swing, it can be a terrible sight.

★ ★ ★

If the political rewards are attractive enough, the riot can be pushed through to a bloody conclusion which can overthrow a government, even dethrone a king.

Tough Life as Secret Agent for FBI

Los Angeles Mother Tells of Red Party Membership

LOS ANGELES (INS) — A Los Angeles area wife and mother has disclosed that she had been a member of the Communist party for 14 years as an undercover agent for the FBI.

★ ★ ★

She is Mrs. Moiselle Clinger, 42, and aircraft company librarian and wife of Virgil Clinger, 56, a liquor salesman. They reside in the Malibu resort area.

Appearing before Judge James R. Duncan at the second day of a hearing by the subversive activities control board, Mrs. Clinger was asked:

"When did you first join the Communist party?"

She replied: "In 1942, as a service to the government."

In answer to another question, Mrs. Clinger said she left the Communist party in January, 1956, "because, after serving the government for 14 years, subject to Communist party discipline, I found it so nerve-wracking that I had reached the saturation point and couldn't go on."

She added:

"Besides, I wanted my girl to have a normal life, and that is not on the agenda of the Communist party. They feel parents belong to a party and not to their children.

"The Communists never knew until today that I was an undercover agent."

Mrs. Clinger then gave detailed testimony designed to support the government's contention that the Communists backed the California Emergency Defense Committee.

She said she belonged to a Santa Monica aircraft unit of the party and identified the unit chairman and party organizers, as well as fund-raisers.

Mrs. Clinger testified she helped prepare a leaflet attacking the Smith act "as persecution to Negroes—we were trying to enlist Negroes in our cause."

Mrs. Clinger was today's first witness at the hearing, undertaken on a petition by Attorney General Herbert Brownell asking the board to direct the CEDC to register as a Communist front organization.

Asks Reassessment of Retarded Children

TORONTO (AP)—Dr. Mildred Peters, associate professor of education at Wayne University, Detroit, said it is necessary to reassess the progress of backward children.

She told the closing session of the Ontario Education Assn. Convention that teachers must realize the "ego development" of these children will be slower in coming and that the "incorporation of controls" will take longer.

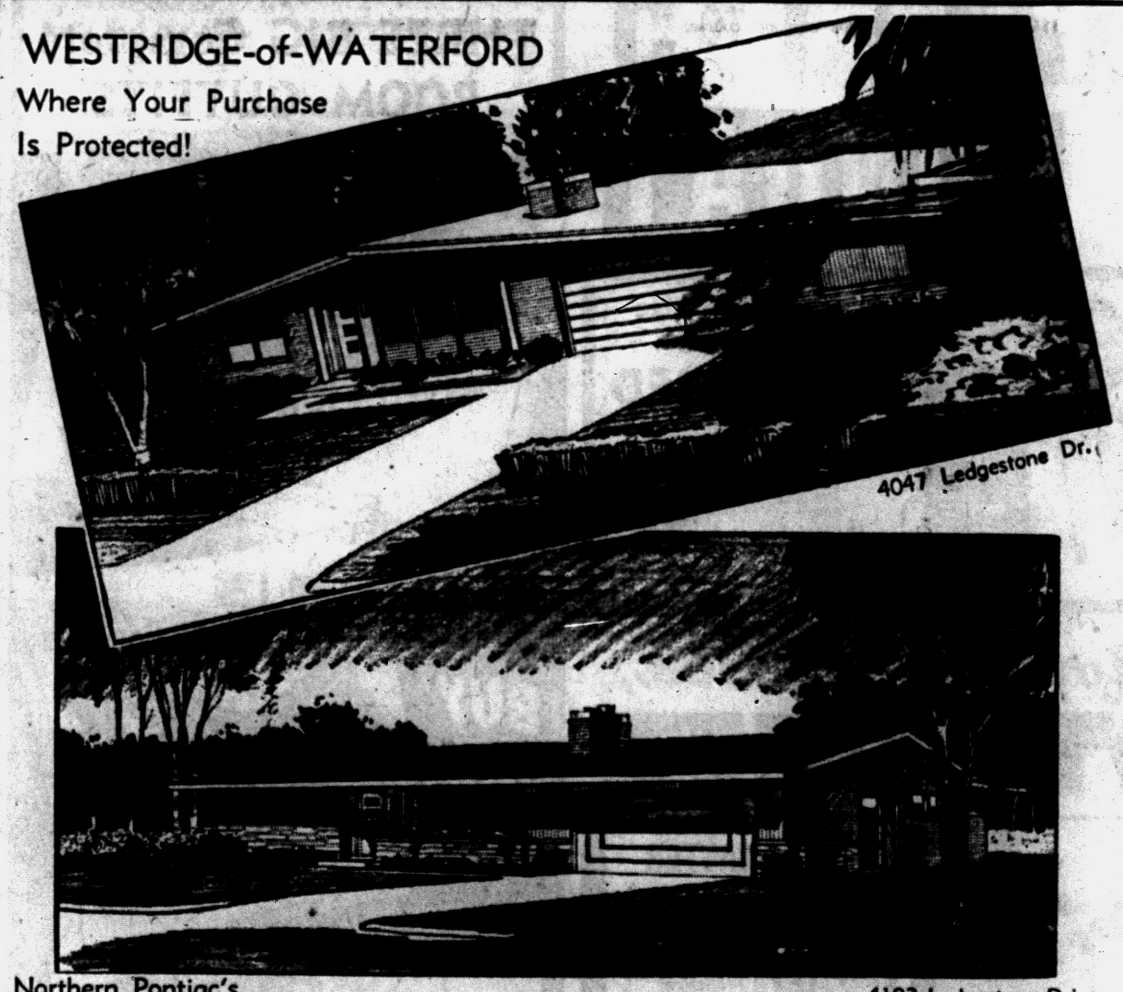

"We need to assess more closely the stage of development of the child and need not be dismayed over what happens to infantile behavior in the school years," she said.

Dr. Peters warned parents and teachers against keeping retarded children in a protective environment too long.

"Isolation with other handicapped children over too long a time does not assist them in a reality development of themselves," she said.

England Offers Offbeat Tours

Ancient Canals, Rivers Flow Through Scenery Unmatched in Britain

LONDON — Tourist-minded Britain has come up with something new and unorthodox in vacations.

The British have suddenly discovered that many of their inland waterways, while antiquated and commercially unprofitable, offer a unique "back-door" look at the country.

★ ★ ★

These waterways run through some of the loviest scenery in Britain, unspoiled by planners and developers, and at the same time provide facilities unmatched anywhere for tourists to have a "rest cure."

British Transport Waterways are now offering cruises on many canals and rivers throughout the country.

Typical of these are five-day cruises on the lovely canal between Oxford and Birmingham. Passengers travel by special motor cruiser by day and are housed at night in first-class hotels for a charge of only $70, including meals.

There are nine of the five-day affairs, the first starting at Oxford on June 3. On the way there are visits to Sulgrave Manor, home of George Washington's ancestors, Shakespeare's Stratford-on-Avon, Leamington Spa and ancient Warwick Castle. The charge covers a ticket for an evening performance at the Shakespeare Memorial Theater at Stratford. The boat, the "Water Rambler," has been fitted out for the cruises with a cocktail bar and sun lounge. Morning coffee and afternoon tea are served on board while tourists lazily move along the canal. Other meals are provided in the hotels.

La Paz, Bolivia, at 12,000 feet above sea level, is probably one of the few world capitals which really doesn't need a fire department. Since fire needs oxygen — and there just isn't enough in the atmosphere at that altitude — it's almost impossible to get a big roaring blaze going.

We got it from a very good source that due to the increasing waistline of a big TV comic, the next gigantic movie will be titled "Around Jackie Gleason in 80 Days" . . . The way some doctors handle their cars on the highways, you'd think they're worrying about a lack of patients.—Earl Wilson.

Homemade Boat Brings 2 Italians to United States

NEW YORK (AP)—Two suntanned Italians sailed into port in a small boat yesterday after a long, lazy voyage from home.

Francho Rocchi, 37, and Vincenzo Iacopucci, 38, left Italy on June 2, 1954, for a carefree cruise in a homemade cutter.

From Italy they sailed their 24-foot boat to France, Spain, Portugal, North Africa, the Canary Islands and on to Brazil. They stopped over for a year in South America and then headed north for a nine-month visit in the Caribbean.

Rocchi, a government clerk, and Iacopucci, an architect, said they will spend a month sightseeing here and then set sail for home by way of Newfoundland and Portugal.

Motorist in Accident Faces Drunk Charge

A 48-year-old father will be arraigned Monday in Municipal Court charged with drunk driving, second offense, after he was involved in an accident last night that sent his wife and three children to Pontiac General Hospital.

Pontiac police said Harry Albert Peterson, of 81 Blaine St. was driving north on Blaine street when his auto collieded at Montcalm street with one driven by Luther B. about 7:45 p.m.

Peterson's wife, Alberta, 38, has possible fractured ribs and his son, Donald, 5, has a possible concussion. Both are in fair condition today.

Two other sons, Glenn, 8, and Robert, 4, were in satisfactory condition.

Police said a case of beer was found in the Peterson auto, and both parents had been drinking.

Mexico Giving Stoves Away to Save Forests

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government is giving away oil stoves to small landowners in some areas in a campaign to preserve the forests.

Forests in many places are being cut for use as firewood, although only dead wood is supposed to be used for that purpose.

Pemex, the government petrole monopoly, donates the stoves. They are distributed by Agrarian Department officials, who explain at the same time the value of trees to agriculture.

YMCA WEEK

J. L. VOORHEES

Juvenile delinquency is an empty phrase in circles of YMCA. The mind of a healthy child is as active as his arms and legs; he's anything but a cripple, physically or mentally; life surges through his veins like electricity. He wants activity. He wants to do things; YMCA provides that outlet.

M. E. SIPLE

This organization while giving that child training is also giving him fundamentals in Christian behavior. He is being integrated into a society grounded in the church and all for which it stands. That philosophy is positive, fills a void in the mind of that child and he is so busy with active, positive thoughts and deeds he has no time nor desire to delve into the mire of negativism.

YMCA makes stalwart men. It creates the drive for positive leadership. It brings pride of accomplishment and honor to the organization, parents, friends and to themselves.

Cabbie, Ardent Van Doren Fan, Misses His Goal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With a joyful shock of recognition, the cab driver faced the male half of his fare at International Airport and jabbered: "Sure I know you. How could I miss? Didn't I watch you regular? And I keep rootin' for you. Now you're ridin' with me."

The good-looking young man and (obviously) his wife couldn't slide in a word. The driver resumed:

"Been thinkin' it must be great to know all those things. Where'd you say you're goin' again? A bookstore? That figures. I know the place. I'm no expert on anything unless maybe this town, inside and out. If you're in the market for sightseein' I'm your man."

In time the taximan drew up at a big department store, scrambled out to open the door, and said in parting: "Good luck—as if you need it."

The passengers, Charles Van Doren, TV quiz whiz, and his bride went inside and asked where in the building to go for the literary luncheon in their honor. The answer came in a hurry—go to the right department store. The cab driver had flopped in his line category.

State School Pupils Double Use of Milk

EAST LANSING (AP)—More than 4,000 schools in Michigan are taking part in the special school milk program.

Children will consume more than 100 million half-pints of milk this year under the program, reports Dale Butz, extension specialist in agricultural economics at Michigan State University.

The milk program is financed with federal funds and administered by the Michigan State Department of Public Instruction.

In addition to the special milk program, school children also receive milk under the school lunch program.

Under the two programs combined, students will drink nearly 150 million half-pints of milk during the current school year.

Does Lawn Stay With Property? Quite a Hassle!

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — A legal weed-pulling match loomed today over the question of whether a man moving out of a city-owned house can take his lawn with him.

In one corner is Albert Bartholomew, a dedicated turf fancier, who in effect says, "When I go, my lawn goes."

In the other corner is the City Council, replying through Town Clerk Francis Busby, "He'll bring it back or we'll sue."

Six weeks ago Bartholomew moved from the city's Parkfield housing development to a private house. So did his lawn.

Bartholomew makes no bones about it. He rolled up the turf and hauled it away in a truck. He also removed the shrubs, roses and other plants which he had nurtured with loving care during his three-year tenancy.

Last night the Council decided to sue if it must.

"The lawn and plants," said Busby, "became the city's property and Mr. Bartholomew had no right to remove them without consent."

Both sides appeared to be firmly dug into their opposing positions, along with the lawn, shrubs, roses and other plants, which are doing nicely in front of Bartholomew's new house.

Eden Due to Leave Hospital on Monday

BOSTON (AP) — Former British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden will be discharged from New England Baptist Hospital next Monday, the daily bulletin said today.

Dr. Richard B. Cattell, who operated on Sir Anthony April 13 for bile duct obstruction, said in the bulletin that the 59-year-old statesman would "spend a week near Boston following which he will travel by air to Ottawa on May 6."

During the visit to Ottawa, the bulletin said, "Sir Anthony and Lady Eden will be the guest of the governor general, Mr. Vincent Massey, who is a personal friend of Sir Anthony."

Sir Anthony came here by air on April 7 from New Zealand where he had been resting after leaving office. With him was his wife, Lady Clarissa.

The operation was his fourth major surgery in four years.

Boy Loses Right Hand When Bomb Explodes

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A homemade bomb built of chemistry set ingredients and a piece of pipe exploded ahead of time here yesterday and 16-year-old Nicholas Franz lost his right hand.

Young Franz and Robert Ripley, 15, had made the bomb to blast fish out of water behind a small dam.

Ripley suffered shrapnel wounds in the forearm and side.

Arrests of Teenagers Increase, Police Report

DETROIT (INS) — The Detroit Police Youth Bureau says arrests of teenagers in the city increased 9.8 per cent last year, compared with a nationwide jump of 17.3 per cent reported by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Youth Bureau Chief Francis E. Davey says 59.3 per cent of the teens arrested last year were repeaters, and blames the high rate on lack of facilities to give juvenile offenders proper treatment.

Membership in OTC Rests With Congress

One of the matters Congress will have to deal with when it reconvenes is President Eisenhower's repeated request that the United States become a member of the Organization for Trade Co-operation (OTC).

Thirty-five of the principal trading countries with 80 per cent of the free world's trade now carry on negotiations through the General Agreement on Tariff and Trade (GATT). OTC is a clearing house where international agreements can be worked out and is intended to regulate GATT.

★ ★ ★

After agreeing to GATT, Congress since has refused to approve U.S. membership in OTC. The President has reminded Congress that if it expects this country to receive the fullest benefits from mutual elimination of trade barriers, it ought to have American representation on OTC.

Since World War II in spite of the reciprocal trade agreements program, U. S. customs duties collected on imports rose from $354 million to $705 million in 1956. In the same period these agreements were whittled down so that the percentage of dutiable imports has risen from 33 to 52 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Total U. S. imports have risen from $5 billion to $12 billion since 1945 while total exports rose from $10 to $19 billion. Today more U. S. jobs depend on production for export than in our production of goods in competition with imports from abroad.

By approving membership in OTC, Congress would help to confirm the seriousness of this country's intentions. It also would improve the bargaining position of American exporters.

Forestry Work Camps

In a report to be published within a few days, a Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee is recommending a nationwide system of forestry camps for rehabilitation of youths in trouble.

Actually 10 states already have adopted forestry programs for rehabilitation of juveniles and five others, including Michigan, are considering such action. The camps would be somewhat similar to the old Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) of depression days.

The aim of CCC was to provide employment as well as vocational training for young men who had no jobs and were in need. By 1940 it had gradually converted to defense work on military reservations and forest protection.

Congress in 1942 voted to liquidate the program having turned down an earlier request that CCC be given permanent status. An assistant director of the corps at that time estimated that enough work had been projected to keep 1,600 camps busy on worthwhile projects for 30 to 50 years.

★ ★ ★

In introducing a similar bill at the 1955 session Senator Kefauver pointed out that more than 100,000 children are confined in common jails each year. His bill would have established "not less than 30 Federal forestry camps" under the control of the U. S. Attorney General. Delinquent youths would have been rehabilitated in a co-ordinated program for "the restoration, improvement, development and utilization of national parks." Senator Watkins of Utah sponsored a similar bill.

★ ★ ★

The Department of Justice is said to favor state control of any youth forestry program. This, to us, would seem advisable. We in Michigan could use such a plan not only to rehabilitate our youths but our State Parks as well.

The editor of a London nudist magazine says the wearing of jewelry by women nudists make them look undressed instead of nude. He could probably cook up a distinction between six and half a dozen.

A larger percentage of Americans were working in February than ever before. And yet nearly everybody says we're enjoying better times than ever.

The People's Business:

Governor's Wit

Newsmen Credit Williams With Dry Type of Humor

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—Newspapermen in their almost daily contacts with Gov. Williams see a facet of his personality that must be little evident to the public generally.

★ ★ ★

It could be called the governor's dry sense of humor. Or a newsman, because of his steady traffic in words, might describe the quality as a gift for slangy expressiveness.

Most of Williams' remarks in this come in "asides" and seldom get into print, although the governor was widely quoted when he said of a lobbyist, "he must have holes in his head."

Not long ago, the governor was asked at a news conference if he wanted to say anything about a discussion by a syndicated columnist of his potentialities for the presidency. The columnist wrote in a flattering vein.

★ ★ ★

Said Williams:

"My wife called it to my attention at breakfast but it didn't cause me to put any more sugar on my cereal."

HIS PREFERENCE

On another occasion a reporter was trying to get a clear cut answer from the governor on his preference between two closely matched alternatives.

★ ★ ★

"Well, I won't dance on the head of a pin with you," Williams banged his reply. Then, he restated a general observation he already had made.

Last week, the day after the Republican budget bills were introduced in the Legislature, the governor called in several department heads to discuss the 1957-58 appropriation outlook of their agencies.

George S. McIntyre, state agriculture director, said there appeared to be a couple of errors in the portion of a bill that set forth the money allotments affecting him.

★ ★ ★

"You mean they gave you more than you asked for?" the governor said with a smile.

REFERENCE TO MAP

The trait showed up again in a reference by Williams to a map of the state on which Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner and one of the governor's favorite political targets, had plotted proposed construction projects.

★ ★ ★

Williams said he favored an integrated program of arterial highway building "instead of bits and snatches wherever the spaghetti fell."

This rather obscure imagery was a condensation of an earlier description of the same map. Williams had said the assortment of short, heavy black lines looked as though somebody had cut up a mess of spaghetti and thrown a handful against the wall.

There is nothing uproarious about the governor's sense of humor as illustrated here. But make no mistake, he has one.

★ ★ ★

And he relishes using it—sometimes it seems like a weapon—in jousts with his favorite sparring partners among the newsmen.

Days of All Faiths:

Sunday Is Christian College Day

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday in many Protestant churches in the United States, is National Christian College Day, an annual observance now 16 years old. The purpose of the day is to develop among church members a concern that American college education be carried on within a specifically Christian frame of reference.

Church leaders believe there is an important difference between teaching in which subject matter is related to the sovereignty of God and teaching which maintains a spiritual neutrality.

The church college, leaders say, is America's best guarantee of a God-centered higher education.

At present there are in the United States more than three million college students. If their number keeps pace with the expected general population growth there will be at least six million, possibly nine million, by 1970. State - supported colleges do not need to worry about these statistics. To church educators, however, they are alarming, for the church college is financially dependent entirely on voluntary gifts.

National Christian College Day is, therefore partially an appeal for financial support of the colleges. Local congregations will not only be encouraged to see the importance of Christianity in higher education and to send their best young people to college where such education is available. They will also be asked to include denominational colleges in their annual budgets.

DAY CROSS WAS FOUND

The Roman Catholic church sets aside two days each year for special devotion to the Cross on which the Lord was crucified. One, Sept. 14, is called the Exaltation of the Cross and will be dealt with on that date. The other, Friday, is known as the Invention of the Cross.

The word "invention" is used here in its original and literal sense, meaning "to come upon" or "to find." Friday in the church calendar commemorates the finding of the True Cross in 326 by the Roman Empress Helena. At the age of 83 she made the journey from Rome to Jerusalem, after seeing a vision of Jesus in which she was told to go and search for the holy relic.

LEGEND ABOUT CROSS

Of course there are many legends about the Cross: One of the most interesting of these says it was made from the wood of a tree which had grown in the Garden of Eden. This was the "tree of life," not the "tree of the knowledge of good and evil." Both are mentioned in Genesis, chapter 2, verse 9.

When Adam and Eve were exiled from the Garden, the story tells, they were allowed with them. They handed it down to their children as a memento of the earthly paradise from which they had come and as a pledge of man's ultimate salvation from the death of sin.

The wood of the tree next appears as a beam built into the Ark by Noah. It is said that it was through the beam's virtue the Ark rode out the great flood and the human race was saved from extinction.

Ages later the same beam became part of the structure of Solomon's Temple. When in 588 B. C. that edifice was destroyed by fire this one piece of its wood was not even charred.

At the time of the Crucifixion a certain carpenter in Jerusalem had already prepared two crosses for the two thieves who were to be executed. But when Jesus was tried and sentenced at night and a third cross was required on extremely short notice, the carpenter was caught with no lumber. Not wishing to lose the order, he went to the pool and pulled out the ancient beam which had been there for six centuries. It was in fine condition, not at all waterlogged, and was easily fashioned into the necessary shape.

So Eden's Tree of Life became the Cross of Calvary — the holy Tree which has become the symbol of eternal life.

Costly Metabolism Tests Foolish

You said metabolism tests are not necessary. I have been to three different doctors and each insisted on a basal metabolism test before he would treat me for thyroid. (H. M.)

DR. BRADY

Answer—I still say the metabolimeter should be left in the physiology laboratory. A doctor who can't find out what he needs to know about his patient's metabolism by ordinary physical examinations and observation doesn't know his business.

The Rube Goldberg machine dazzles gullible customers but, as shown by Barnes in thousands of tests, the basal metabolism test gives no more information to the physician than the basal temperature test does, and costs ten times as much.

"This time I'm writing for your pamphlet, The Menopause. God Bless you! Your common sense suggestions have worked like miracles, and we credit our good health to Dr. Brady. (Mrs. A. J., Jr.)."

Answer—The pamphlet is available on request—please inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. Whether I am here tomorrow or not, I'll have the felicity you game me in twenty words.

"Please comment on the use of paregoric to make infants sleep. With my three babies, some cuddling in the rocking chair does the trick—but then, mine are Brady babies and very healthy . . . (Mrs. R. B.)"

Answer—Doping the baby with paregoric is equivalent to feeding a teen-age child heroin or morphine or laudanum or opium. Paregoric is a very dilute form of opium. Paregoric is camphorated tincture of opium. The thought of mistreating babies like that is sickening.

"Sent for your pamphlet "Wheat to Eat," received it promptly, and had Ol' Doc Brady's wheat gems for breakfast next morning—everybody demanded more . . . (Mrs. J. G. T.)."

Answer—I might comment on the fact that the people who grow wheat seem to have the least knowledge of its nutritive value.

"A skin specialist friend of mine diagnoses it seborrheic dermatitis. Scalp itches, sometimes oily, sometimes dry, small eruptions that are painful, and hair falls out . . . (D. H. S.)"

Answer—I'm stumped by the painful small eruptions. Send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson 24, The Hair and Scalp. You may find some help in it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Use Horse Sense in Reading Bible

Dr. Hal points out the fact that some religious zealots have begun to worship the Bible instead of God. They are thus idolatrous and are mistaking the educational tool with the Almighty whom it was supposed to explain. God prefers us to have a scientific viewpoint, which is why He relished Gideon's tests for God Himself (Judges 6:36-40).

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-366; Dr. Hal is a dentist, aged 42, whose wife belongs to a church that condemns all other religions as of no consequence.

CRANE

"She says all other churches are simply anti-Christ," he began, "and not based on the Bible at all.

"Her religion says we must study and fast and prepare for the next coming of Christ.

"And we are to read the Bible diligently so that we will be ready for the New Age.

"Dr. Crane, as a fellow scientist, what do you think of such doctrines?"

BIBLE VS. GOD

Most of you regular readers of this column probably know by now that I am a lifelong Bible class teacher.

And I had read the Bible from cover to cover eight times before I even finished High School.

Moreover, I have addressed conventions and ministerial meetings of a dozen of the major faiths.

So don't jump to hasty conclusions about the following paragraphs or go off half-cocked and deluge your editor with red hot letters of criticism.

★ ★ ★

The leaders of most of our churches recognize that the Bible is the textbook of ethics by which mankind has slowly evolved from the jungle philosophy of "might makes right" to the new doctrine of the Golden Rule.

But some biased souls lose perspective and confuse "form" with "substance."

In other words, they now worship the Bible instead of God:

The Bible is just an educational tool or instrument by which God tries to lead us toward a higher plane of living so that ultimately we can make earth so heavenly that only a short step will intervene.

The Bible was inspired of God and very consecrated men tried to interpret God to their age and generation, but they saw God through their own eyes.

BIBLE WRITERS

Moses thus may have witnessed a big Egyptian feast, followed next day by many deaths.

So he reasoned that their misery must have come from what they ate. And the meat course was probably roast pork. So Moses may have logically decided to protect his people by vetoing all hog meat thereafter.

★ ★ ★

But Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph during the 400 years prior to Moses apparently ate hog meat with no ill effects.

And nowadays, when government meat inspectors weed out any trichinosis infected hog, we realize what Moses was trying to do in the age before microscopes and modern scientific meat testing made pork safe.

If God wanted to indict ALL pork, why didn't he do it for Abraham and not wait 400 years till Moses?

Moses also announced that "eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth" doctrine, which was a great legal milestone in human civilization.

For prior to that limitation of punishment to fit the crime, the strong man completely annihilated his weaker neighbor who even accidentally knocked out just one tooth.

★ ★ ★

Did God order that "eye for an eye" or was that the thinking of Moses who felt he was interpreting God's wishes?

God is also said to have lost His temper and decided to wipe out the Hebrews after the Golden Calf incident, but Moses is reported to have told God:

"Turn from thy fierce wrath and repent of this evil against thy people." (Exodus 32:12)

Was that simply the statement of Moses or do you think God actually lost his temper?

In reading the Bible you must thus use "horse sense", for the various writers often ascribed things to God which they may sincerely have believed were true of God in their day, but we now may realize they were wrong.

If God is Truth, then God is eternal, so any supposed Divine laws that now we find are definitely outmoded, must not have been God's views, even though attributed to God by Moses or David or Peter or John or St. Paul.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Non-Resident Fee Apply to Children?'

I tried to obtain a book for the first time in months from the West Bloomfield Township Library, and I was informed that, as a resident of Keego, I was a non-resident of West Bloomfield and would have to pay a fee of three dollars. I would like someone to tell me how this rate works with children. If it's the same, think of the number of parents who would tell their children to forget the library, that they didn't need it at that price. It sounds terrible, but there are many who would say it.

When I was in grade school and high school, the library was my second home. I would hate to see others refused this privilege because of money. If I'm wrong about this, someone please correct me.

Supports Humane Animal Slaughter

There is a faction in Congress opposed to the current American methods of slaughtering animals. In the words of Congressman Dawson of Utah, they would like to "bring to an end—as quickly as possible—the status quo—a status quo that is indefensible and a status quo that has been a status too long."

A Congressional tour of packing houses last summer disclosed only one packer in the nation that spared hogs by first rendering them unconscious. If Congress passes humane slaughter legislation at this session, much will have been accomplished to curb misery. The toleration of the poll axe is an evidence of a deeper social ill than mere inefficiency. Across our daunted prosperity and liberty is written an awful slogan: "After all, they're only animals." But are they, really?

Adds Comment About Churches

I have read a couple of letters in the Voice of the People about more young people in church and a general increase in congregations. I say a loud "A, Men" to that and I would like to add that there are more men in church than there have been in the last quarter of a century.

To egomaniac, Carlotta, whose self love is excessive. What makes you so sure of yourself? Do you think you are God's gift to men? Haven't you anything to do but sit and make over yourself? I may not have a 16-inch waist, but I do have a wonderful husband, four lovely sons, a nice home and all the trimmings. What have you got besides your 16-inch waist? Sunday will mark the opening of two membership classes and a teachers training class at Bethany Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

Reita Smith, director of Christian Education, will begin a first series course sponsored by the Board of Education of the American Baptist Convention, dealing with teaching methods. The text, "You Can Teach" by Bearkley will be used. The class will meet during the Church School Hour.

Dr. Joseph Irvine Chapman, pastor, will open a series of discussions with adults interested in joining the church at 10 a.m. in his study.

During this six weeks series of discussions, the meaning of the Christian life, the work and function of the church, and the doctrinal undergirding of the Christian will be subjects for consideration.

★ ★ ★

A second class for prospective church members will be held at 5:45 p.m. under the direction of the pastor, for older children and young people who are interested in uniting with Bethany.

Confident Living

We All Have Our Slumps; the Cure – Quiet Harmony

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

The baseball season is with us again and, like millions of other Americans, I'm hoping to get away from work often enough to see a few games. One of my favorite players is Duke Snider, who led the National League in home runs last year and broke two individual World Series records.

DR. PEALE

Duke is a good friend of mine and the kind of athlete who sets a wonderful example for our young people. I see him from time to time and am always impressed by his sound and sensible point of view.

Last year, for example, at one point in the season, he was batting around .330. But I was listening to a game on the car radio when he struck out. He's not supposed to do that I thought, surprised, and as one of Duke's fans, I was somewhat disturbed.

I happened to see him that same evening and said to him: "Duke, there's something I want to ask you. I can easily imagine how it feels when you hit a home run, but how about when you strike out? How do you feel? Are you depressed? Are you discouraged or frustrated? Do you feel that you're going into a slump?"

★ ★ ★

"No," he answered, "I don't. I get comfort from the law of averages."

"What do you mean by comfort from the law of averages?" I asked, mystified.

"Well," he said, "I come to bat during the season about 600 times. I've been batting around .330 and that's my usual average. Now, according to this average, I'll probably strike out during the season about 90 times. So, if in any game I strike out two times, that sort of comforts me, because then I only have to strike out 88 more times!"

"But what about when you go into a slump, which I suppose all ball players do now and then?" I inquired.

CAUSED BY TENSION

He had a sensible answer for that question also. "A slump is a mental attitude," he said. "Anxiety may cause you to put your foot forward too far. You may grab the bat too tightly. You do something wrong — and the reason is tension, which of course is mental."

"Well, what do you do to get out of it?"

"You try to change your thinking," he replied. "You remind yourself: 'I've got the ability. I know I can do it.' Then you practice quiet thinking."

"How about a bit of prayer?" I asked.

"Sure thing," he acknowledged. "You've got to get yourself in tune; then you just go ahead and hit the ball. Gradually the slump disappears and soon you're hitting again on the basis of the law of averages."

We all have our slumps, whether we're baseball players, businessmen, housewives or students. And the technique for getting out of a slump is much the same for each of us.

Get quiet harmony into your thinking. Then just keep on hitting, keep on praying and keep on believing. Don't say to yourself, "I'm low. I'm in a slump. Everything is going bad." But say instead, "I've got what it takes. God put it into me. I've confidence in myself because my trust is in God. I know that He will help me if I keep hitting away and never give up."

Do this and the law of averages will work for you instead of against you. And, soon enough, you'll be out of your slump.

Worshipers to Hear Talk on 'Beholding'

At 11 a.m. Sunday, Kenneth Brabeau of Detroit will speak to the Unity Church of Oakland County. His topic will be "Beholding."

Sunday School will be at the same hour and all services will be in the church rooms at 71½ N. Saginaw St.

★ ★ ★

The meeting of the Youth of Unity will be at 6 p.m. when the film, "Hemo, the Magnificent" will be shown. Stephani Kus from Detroit Unity will speak on "Canned Success."

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Mrs. Blanche Joki will conduct the class in "Let There Be Light," an interpretation of the Old Testament.

Crusaders' Class to Receive Diplomas

The Alpha Crusaders' Class of 1957 will be graduated from Pontiac Bible College at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Collier Road Community Church.

The Rev. Eldon Mudge of New Hope Bible Church, Waterford will be the evening speaker.

The Baccalaureate service will be at 11:15 a.m. Sunday in the Collier Road Church with Mrs. George Rhanor, addressing the graduates.

Receiving diplomas for their three years of theological studies will be Mrs. Robert D. Myers, Mrs. William B. Myers and Kenneth Remley.

Churches of U.S. Set Week in May to Honor Family

Church families throughout the United States and Canada will take part in a series of special programs between May 5-12, set aside annually as National Family Week.

Under the theme, "God Is Our Hope," programs for local Protestant churches have been prepared by the National Council of Churches, Dr. Frank P. Fidler announced last week.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Fidler is chairman of the National Council's Family Life Department and associate secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the United Church of Canada.

"Most of the deep continuing hopes of the human heart arise and have their fulfillment within family relationships," Dr. Fidler declared. "Home and hope belong together."

★ ★ ★

Many family church services will dramatize the fact that the Christian congregation is a family of families. They will include family nights, discussion programs, outings and retreats. Parallel observances by Jews, Roman Catholics and social agencies will also mark National Family Week.

Program Scheduled

A musical program will be presented by the "Morning Doves" at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in St. James Missionary Baptist Church, 345 Bagley at Rapid street. The pastor, the Rev. V. Luther Lewis states that the public is invited.

Dedication Set Monday Night

Rev. Marvin P. Hester Helped to Organize 1st United Pentecostal

The dedication of the First United Pentecostal Church, 178 Green St. will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday. It was recently purchased chased from the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church who are building on Cass Lake Rd. at M59.

The Rev. C. C. Kirby, district superintendent, will be master of ceremonies. He is the pastor of Christ Church "Apostolic" in Royal Oak.

The Rev. A. T. Morgan, general superintendent, will preach the sermon.

First Pentecostal is affiliated with the United Pentecostal with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo.

ORGANIZED IN STORE

The Pontiac Church was organized in a store building at 90 W. Howard St. by six charter members, Mrs. I. A. DuFond, Mrs. Effie Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Imsky and the present pastor and wife, the Rev. and Mrs .Marvin P. Hester.

Mr. Hester's father, the Rev. M. B. Hester of Dublin, Ga. assisted with the organization. The charter was confirmed on June 16, 1954.

Prior to coming to Pontiac, the pastor did evangelistic work and helped establish a church in Crestview, Fla.

Sunday School was organized on Mothers' Day in 1954 and meets every Sunday at 10 a.m. with the Rev. Glendon Henson, superintendent. Worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Known as the Pentecostal Conquerors, the young people's group meets at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. Gerald Wardell is President.

TO FURNISH KITCHEN

Mrs. Dewey Whittenberg presides over the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The present project of the group is furnishing the kitchen and basement. A sink, cabinets and gas range are already installed.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Duford donated the interior decorating of the church which has just been completed.

The walls of the auditorium have been painted a pale gold and sea green. The nursery is a deep pink.

A year ago the Sunday School attendance on Easter was 81 persons. This year it was 163.

50 Pontiac Men to Attend Retreat This Weekend

Fifty men from the Pontiac area will be getting a touch of monastic life this week-end at St. Paul of the Cross Monastery, Detroit.

This is the first of two annual week-ends scheduled by the Pontiac Retreat League. A second group of Pontiac men will spend a similar period May 24 to May 26.

The retreat movement as a planned period of rest and spiritual refurbishing has grown extremely popular throughout the the nation. It attracts men from all walks of life to the Monasteries and retreat houses each week of the year.

"While not required to follow the daily schedule of the sandal-footed priests, the 48 hour retreat from the stresses of daily life, the occasion does offer opportunity for relaxation and spiritual inventory," stated Father William Westhaven, the director.

Local parish representatives handling arrangements and reservations for both dates are: Merle Berry, St. Michael's parish; George Danic, St. Vincent's; J. B. Parle, St. Benedict's; Joseph Wilhelm, Lady of Refuge, Orchard Lake; Paul Hagan, Lady of Lakes, Drayton Plains; Henry Goodell, Sacred Heart, Auburn Heights, and Ken Wigton, St. Andrew's, Rochester.

Dr. Donald Fraser is president of the Pontiac league.

TURNING THE SOIL — Jonathan Snow, chairman of the building committee (left to right), George Romney, president of the Detroit Stake and Bishop Ralph Johnson of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Pontiac participated in the groundbreaking ceremonies Wednesday for the construction of a new chapel. It will be located at the corner of Woodward avenue and Chesterfield, Bloomfield Hills.

Bishop Ralph M. Johnson Assists at Ceremonies

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, "Mormons" broke ground Wednesday for the construction of a new chapel on a seven acre tract of land at Woodward avenue and Chesterfield, Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

For the past five years members of Latter Day Saints have been raising money for the new building. Bishop Ralph M. Johnson presides at the local church.

The structure will cost an estimated $600,000 when completed. It will serve as a chapel for the Pontiac ward and serve as a meeting place for the Detroit Stake.

In explaining the organization of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, a ward corresponds to a parish and a stake to a diocese.

COMMUNITIES MAKE STAKE

The Detroit Stake is composed of the wards of Pontiac, Detroit, Dearborn, Ann Arbor, Lansing, Flint, Saginaw, Midland, Toledo. It is also comprised of the branches of Windsor, Jackson, Sarnia and Selfridge Field. A branch contains fewer members than the ward.

Missionaries of the church first visited Pontiac in the year 1833.

At that time several converts were made and church services were held in a little schoolhouse here.

The following year, Joseph Smith Oliver Cowdry, Martin Harris and David Whitmer, all prominent figures in the early days of the church, visited Pontiac and established a branch here.

RELATED TO FOUNDER

An interesting feature in the activities of the church in this area is that Stephen Mack, an early Pontiac pioneer, was a brother to Lucy Mack Smith who was the founder of the church here.

Due to the migration of the body of the church to Utah around 1846, little or nothing was done to encourage the growth of the organization in Pontiac until 1930 when a new Branch was organized under the leadership of missionaries.

In 1950 the Pontiac Branch, under the guidance of Dr. Stanley J. Dalley, then Branch president, purchased the present property at West Huron and Genesee from the Grace Lutheran Church.

In the seven years since its purchase, the membership has outgrown this chapel which necessitates the erection of a larger building.

Rev. Donald Andrews Comes to Develop Area

The Rev. Donald Andrews of Linesville, Pa., has been appointed by the Board of American Missions of the United Presbyterian church as the Pastor-missionary to develop a new Community United Presbyterian church in the Jayno Adams school area of Waterford Township.

A sight for the future church has already been secured on the corner of Clintonville and Lake Angelus roads, and a parsonage has been purchased as residence for the new minister and his family, at 3636 Clintonville Rd.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews plan to arrive at their new home April 29th. They have three children.

Mr. Andrews, a native of Cambridge, Ohio, is a graduate of Muskingum College at New Concord, Ohio and Pittsburgh-Zenia Seminary at Pittsburgh.

This will be the second United Presbyterian church started in recent years in Waterford Township, according to the Rev. W. J. Teeuwissen Jr., pastor of the Drayton Plains Presbyterian church.

Between the two churches, now established there is a membership of more than 2,000, Rev. Teeuwissen said.

Appointed to New Post

On April 30, Dr. Donald Timerman of Cleveland will take up duties in his new post as executive secretary of the Allentown (Pa.) Council of Churches. Dr. Timerman has been serving as associate secretary of the Cleveland Church Federation where he was in charge of radio and TV programs and the "Federation News."

Young People Sponsor Rally

Teenagers to Present Special Numbers at Perry Park Baptist

The teen-age young people of the Perry Park Baptist Church are sponsoring a "Truth Trails for Teens" rally at the church Monday through Friday with Evangelist Billy Walker, of Wyandotte, the speaker. Services will begin at 7 p.m.

A student at Wayne University, Mr. Walker was second place winner this year in the Michigan Collegiate Peace Oratorical Contest.

He is youth director of Calvary Baptist Church in Wyandotte and the assistant director of Hiawathaland Youth Camp, held each summer on the conference grounds of the Platt Lake Bible Conference Assn. in the Upper Peninsula.

Evangelist Walker has conducted rallies in Royal Oak, Ferndale, Lansing and Sault Ste. Marie.

Special numbers will be presented by teenagers and no offering will be taken.

Ralph H. Pardee stated that transportation home will be provided for those requiring it and although the young people are especially invited, adults are also welcome.

Church Institute in South

The second Ecumenical Institute in the South will be held the first week in June at Lake Junaluska, N.C., sponsored by the Southern office of the National Council of Churches, Dr. J. McDowell Richards, of Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the advisory committee, said it will bring together upwards of 300 leaders of Protestant denominations in 12 Southern states to discuss "Our Unity in Christ." The institute will open with a public Bible Hymn Festival on Sunday evening, June 2.

New Symphony Will Be Played

'Chippewa' Work Written by Celia Merrill Turner

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra will feature an original composition at its concert Tuesday night in Lincoln Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

The composition is a symphony written by Celia Merrill Turner, associate conductor. Two years ago, she was asked to write such a work and its premiere will be held at this concert.

Mrs. Turner is an accomplished violinist, a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, New York, where she majored in conducting and composition.

Her desire was to create an orchestral work that reflected something of the early background of this area. Her thoughts turned to Indian lore.

★ ★ ★

The Chippewa tribe furnishes the name, themes and story on which she has built the three movements of the symphony, using some authentic Indian music collected by Frances Desnmore of the Bureau of Enthology, or weaving melodies, which she felt would be characteristic, by use of a five-tone scale and opposing rhythms.

The story is of a Chippewa family whose little son becomes lost in the great forest. Mrs. Turner will conduct her symphony.

Other numbers on the program will be directed by Francesco Di Biasi, opening with the overture "Russian and Ludmilla" by Glinka. Then the Chippewa symphony will be heard.

Following intermission, four songs, "O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me?" by Handel, "Batti Batti" (Don Giovanni) by Mozart, "Jewel Song" (Faust) by Gounod, and "Laughing Song" (Die Fledermaus) by Strauss, will be sung by Stella Peralta Baumann, Detroit soprano.

★ ★ ★

The orchestra will close this season's concerts with the overture to the opera "Mignon" by Thomas.

MSU Busy Completing Third Term

Vacation Scatters Students All Over the Country

By RAY FREEBURY

EAST LANSING — Students at MSU are engrossed in their third and final term of the school year. But spring vacation time found students in all parts of the country.

★ ★ ★

Two of MSU's musical groups on tour included the State Singers and the Men's Glee Club. Kenneth Ish of Dover road was with the State Singers, who toured for eight days and gave 22 performances in Michigan and northern Indiana. Ken is a tenor soloist for the 72-voice choir.

Your reporter is a member of the Men's Glee Club which has returned from its annual spring tour after giving 26 performances in 12 days throughout northern Michigan.

The Glee Club sponsored an Inter-Collegiate Music Conference Thursday, Friday and today.

On Friday the United States Army Chorus of Washington, D. C., the Wayne State University Glee Club, LaFayette College Glee Club and the MSU Glee Club presented the "Big Sing." Two hundred and fifty men's voices were heard in the auditorium.

★ ★ ★

There's a lot of social activity on the campus, too. Freshman Jean McKim of Walnut Lake road has recently qualified as an entrant in a college beauty queen contest now being conducted throughout the nation by a leading cosmetic manufacturer. She is one of the two coeds selected from MSU.

WATER SHOW

"Green Splash," women's swimming honorary, has recently presented its annual water show. The theme was a clever "Splashlight on Sports."

Featured in the show were Judy Haga and Sandy Giltner, National AAU synchronized swimming champions.

Pontiac students in the show were Marsha Stapp of Inverness avenue, JoAnn Uligan of Starr avenue, Marion Greenlee of Avondale avenue and Marianne Crozier of Tilden avenue.

Campaigning is on now for the supposed UGLIEST MAN ON CAMPUS. Saturday night, Miss MSU, Kathy Arnold of Battle Creek, will crown the lucky man at the UMOC dance that is being held in Kellogg Center.

Parent's Weekend will be held May 11 and 12. Dormitories will hold open houses and all parents of MSU students are invited to attend and take part in the activities.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society held a fashion show at the Birmingham Community House Thursday. Two of the lovely models were Mrs. Anthony Cefai (left) of Miami road and Mrs. Kenneth VandenBerg of Watkins Lake.

Personal News of Interest

Mr. and Mrs. William Kemp and children will return to their East Hammond Lake road home on Sunday. They have been visiting in Baltimore, Md. for two weeks.

★ ★ ★

It will be a family affair this evening when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bell of Rochester entertain at cocktails at their home and then take their guests to the Cotillion dance at Indianwood Country Club.

Their "guests" will include her brothers and sisters - in - law, Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott of Cleveland drive and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliott of Berwick boulevard, and her brother-in law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Thingstad of Roland road.

★ ★ ★

Attending a dinner and ceremonial in Toledo, Ohio Wednesday evening were Mrs. Albert Kugler of South Roselawn drive, Mrs. Ray Haertter of North Marshall street, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snyder of Rascob street, Mrs. Banjamin Richardson of Lowell street, Mrs. Matt Chelton of Charlotte street and Thelma Anderson of Lowell street.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Carl W. Nelson of Owego drive and Rudolph Larson of South Marshall street are in Rockford, Ill. attending the annual convention of the Illinois conference.

★ ★ ★

Phyllis Ann Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Peters Jr. of Pingree street has been awarded a scholarship to the Detroit Conservatory of Music. Phyllis is a junior at Pontiac High School.

★ ★ ★

Several hundred fraternity and sorority pledges at the University of Michigan will stage their annual "Help Week" during the coming week, to prepare the U. of M.'s Fresh Air Camp for the summer session.

Elinor Dodge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dodge of Birmingham is serving as "Help Week" publicity chairman.

Watch That Neckline

White neckline touches are fine if you don't have to fuss with them endlessly. Since they should be worn only once between launderings, buy several sets at one time.

Or, as an alternative, look for pretty neckline fill-ins in pleated nylon. These wash out like a pair of stockings, need no ironing.

Tricks for Traveler

Learning to look attractive while living from a suitcase takes practice. But one way to do it is to take along a suit, one fairly dressy dress, some shirts and skirts. Add to these three or four small hats picked with the clothes in mind and you'll look well dressed.

3 City Delegates at Music Parley

Pontiac delegates attending the 29th biennial of the National Federation of Music Clubs in Columbus, Ohio, are Mrs. W. H. Sink, Mrs. Ralph Norvell and Mrs. Gordon Woolcott.

★ ★ ★

The conference opened Thursday and will continue through May 3. April 30 is Michigan Day at which time Michigan members will be hostesses at the Achievement Day luncheon.

Meeting Conducted by Marbach Group

Mrs. Gordon Cox entertained members of the Marbach Group of First Presbyterian Church Thursday in her home on Mark avenue. Mrs. Leroy Colbeth and Mrs. William Stoutenberg assisted the hostess.

Welcomed as new members during the afternoon meeting were Mrs. Roderick Taylor and Mrs. Richard Kieft. Plans were made for a pizza party to be held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Galen Hershey on West Iroquois road.

Special Project of Pontiac Soroptimist Club

Child Guidance Clinic to Start Using Playroom

As a fitting observation of Mental Health Week, the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic is putting into operation its playroom which has been taken on as a special project of the Soroptimist Club of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The clinic, which has been in existence for 14 years, has occupied its present home-like quarters on Franklin boulevard for the past four years.

Funds for the basic operation of this clinic are supplied locally by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, Pontiac Area United Fund, the Townships United Fund and the United Foundation of Detroit.

Part of the professional staff is supplied by the state of Michigan through the Department of Mental Health. There are always many needs which are not covered by the available funds, and it is then that groups like the Soroptimist Club take on a special project for the clinic.

★ ★ ★

The clinic is holding open house on Thursday from 2 until 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. This will give the public an opportunity to see the quarters and to talk with staff members.

HELPS PARENTS

The clinic attempts to help parents and others interested in children of our county, to study and treat their emotional needs and to see that they are healthy mentally, just as medical agencies insure their physical health.

★ ★ ★

Parents consult the clinic about all kinds of problems, some minor and some more involved.

In working with children, play is their way of talking to the adult about things which may be bothering them. The equipment and the materials used in this part of the work are therefore very important.

★ ★ ★

According to Mrs. Arnold Hillerman, president of the Soroptimist Club, and Mrs. Carl Schultz, chairman of the project committee, the Soroptimist Club will take a continuing interest in this aspect of the work of the Oakland Child Guildance Clinic.

Pontiac Press Photo

The Oakland Child Guidance Clinic will hold open house Thursday from 2 until 5 p.m. and from 7:30 until 9 p.m. in observance of Mental Health Week. Visitors to the clinic will be shown some of the play equipment which the Soroptimist Club of Pontiac has given. Shown with Madeleine Half (left), director of the clinic, are Soroptimists Mrs. Karl Schultz (center) of Opdyke road and Mrs. Glenn Valance (right) of Myrtle avenue.

Shower Given for Bride-Elect Vivian Sheffield

Bride-elect Vivian Sheffield was honoree at a miscellaneous shower given by Marion and Bonnie Sheffield Wednesday evening in the Sheffield residence on Judson street.

★ ★ ★

Vivian, daughter of Mrs. Vera Sheffield of Judson street, will become the bride of Keith Bearden in a ceremony to be performed May 4 in First Baptist Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Bearden of Peacock street.

★ ★ ★

Reorganized Groups Elect New Officers

Mrs. Robert Dunham was elected president of Sigma Gamma Chapter of Pi Omicron sorority when the group was reorganinzed Thursday evening. Mrs. John Wilson opened her home on Fernberry drive for the meeting.

★ ★ ★

Serving with Mrs. Dunham are Bernice Chappellie, vice president; Mrs. Robert Gaylor, recording secretary; Sandra Wampfler, treasurer, and Joan Kiley, corresponding secretary.

First-degree initiatory work was conducted for Miss Chappellie, Miss Kiley and Miss Wampfler, new members.

Among the plans for the coming year are the adoption of a Korean War orphan.

Tots Need Tests for TB

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

Tuberculosis is a disease that is becoming less frequent in this well-fed nation of ours. However, tuberculosis still exists and we must be careful about it.

★ ★ ★

It is recommended that children be given a tuberculin test when they are about 2 years old and that this test be repeated every four or five years until they are adolescent.

The tuberculin test is one test that can be done without a needle. The medicine is on a piece of adhesive strip like a bandaid. The adhesive strip is placed on the child's skin (usually on the middle of his back so he can't pull it off).

It is left there for hours and must be kept dry during that time. It is then pulled off. Forty-eight hours after it has been removed the test is "read" by the doctor.

★ ★ ★

If there are no remaining red marks where the medicine was held in contact with the skin the test is negative. If there are little red square areas at these spots the test is positive.

NEVER IN CONTACT

A negative tuberculin patch test means that the child has never come in contact with the germ of tuberculosis. You can rest easy.

★ ★ ★

If the test is positive it does not necessarily mean that the child has tuberculosis, but it does call for further investigation.

The first thing needed is an X-ray of the child's chest to see if there is any evidence of the disease in his lungs. Very often this examination does not reveal any disease.

It is a good idea to X-ray a child who has shown a positive tuberculin test every six months for a year or two to make sure nothing does develop.

★ ★ ★

The more important thing to investigate when a child shows up with a positive tuberculin test reading is: Where did he get it?

EXPOSED TO GERM

The positive tuberculin means that sometime in his life the child has come in contact with the germ of tuberculosis. If the contact was brief and not too great the child can cope with it quite satisfactorily.

★ ★ ★

His body kills or wards off the germs and does not permit them to grow and he does not develop the disease.

However, if he continues to be bombarded with the germs the time will soon come when they get the upper hand and the child develops tuberculosis.

We want to know where he got his first batch of germs from so that we can protect him from getting more. A positive tuberculin test in a child calls for investigation of his whole family.

It's surprising how often a positive tuberculin in a child is the first evidence that there is something the matter with one of the adults.

Fredericka Ann Hammond became the bride of John Barclay Mager this morning in St. Hugo of the Hills. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Hammond of Bloomfield Hills. Mr. and Mrs. John M. Mager of Detroit are John's parents.

MRS. JOHN BARCLAY MAGER

Fredericka A. Hammond Married in St. Hugo Rite

A gown of silk taffeta fashioned with a portrait neckline of pearl-studded Alencon lace was worn by Fredericka Ann Hammond for her marriage this morning to John Barclay Mager.

★ ★ ★

The skirt of the gown fell into a chapel sweep. A crown of orange blossoms held her formal - length veil of French illusion, and white orchids and hyacinths formed her crescent-shaped bouquet.

The Rev. Francis T. Stack performed the 11:30 o'clock ceremony at St. Hugo of the Hills in the presence of 360 guests.

Fredericka is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Hammond of Bloomfield Hills. Mr. and Mrs. John M. Mager of Detroit are John's parents.

★ ★ ★

Nanette Hammond served her sister as maid of honor. The bride's other attendants were Frances Jo Cavanaugh, Rosemary Caswell, Mary Hamly, Mary Ann Hammond, Joyce Plante and Kay Wise.

YELLOW AND AQUA

Their princess-style gowns were fashioned alike, with the honor attendant wearing yellow organza and the other attendants gowned in aqua organza. Bands of tiny leaves studded with pearls held their circular veils of matching colors. Each carried an arrangement of yellow Majestic daisies.

★ ★ ★

Deborah Bridge performed the duties of flower girl and Johnny Hammond, cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer.

Louis Vella of Detroit served as best man. Seating the guests were William R. Dando, James K. Hammond, brother of the bride; Jack and William Smith, cousins of the bridegroom; David Boegehold and Jarvis Williams.

When Mrs. Hammond greeted her guests at the luncheon and reception held at Oakland Hills Country Club, she was wearing an aqua silk print dress accented with sequins. Her hat was of aqua rose petals. A yellow cybidium orchid corsage was pinned to her purse.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mager wore a rose beige lace sheath dress with matching hat. Her corsage was of pink cybidium orchids.

Upon returning from Drummond Island, the couple will reside on Crooks road.

Tina Leser Design Features Comfort and Wearability

Tina Leser believes that clothes should be wearable, comfortable and, above all, flattering to the figure. She follows up her beliefs with a design such as this, so easy to make that you will have it in a variety of fabrics and colors.

Soft, tiny pleats are set in across the bustline, banded at the bottom with a taut midriff, on top with a band that ties at the shoulders. The skirt, full and cool, consists of a series of released pleats.

Precise perforations in this designer retail-sized pattern, which includes a step-by-step instruction sheet, guide you to beautiful and professional results.

Choose a sheer cotton—plain or printed, chambray, gingham, linen, shantung or paper taffeta. From this chart select the one size best for you.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist
10	34	24	35	16½
12	35	25	36	16¾
14	36½	26½	37⅝	17
16	38	28	39	17⅛

Plans were completed for the WSCS meetin gto be held at the church on May 9, with members of Esther Circle serving as hostesses.

Morale Goes Up as Weight Goes Down

Diet Boosts Both Health and Beauty

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is so important to lose any overweight you may have, not only because of appearance but also because of health and comfort. It is even important to lose the first extra 10 pounds you may accumulate. Before you know it, that 10 may turn into 20 — and even 10 pounds can ruin an otherwise youthful figure.

★ ★ ★

Today we all know that overweight is a real health hazard. It places a strain on the heart, can raise the blood pressure and lay the foundation for chronic disease.

Too many pounds also are uncomfortable. That roll above the girdle or a protruding abdomen are uncomfortable physically as well as psychologically.

Why not start in right now and banish such handicaps? Here are the menus for the 9-day Reducing Diet for Sunday and Monday.

SUNDAY'S MENUS

Breakfast

Two slices crisp bacon
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast

Courageous Mom Makes Own Job

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The other day, my telephone rang and a very nice feminine voice asked me if I had made any plans for cleaning and storing my blankets.

I was pretty busy and didn't feel like chatting. Besides, I thought, it was a little early to be thinking of storing blankets — at which point, she said:

"I know it's early to be thinking of that, but if you give me the order for it now, you'll get a 10 per cent discount on the entire service."

My ears went up and in a couple of minutes she had me sold. Then, naturally, I began to ask her a few questions.

★ ★ ★

It turned out that she was a housewife, and had a 10-year-old girl who had rheumatic heart disease.

SOLVED 2 PROBLEMS

"She'll be fine before we're through," the woman said, "but she has to stay in for a year, taking it easy. Naturally, I want to be with her and entertain her, but we also need money. So I do this — and I just love it."

She went on to tell me how she had gotten the job.

It seems the particular dry cleaner who did her own blankets did such a good job that she had been raving about him, for several years, and recommending him to all her friends.

"So it seemed logical to make a deal with him if I could," she told me. "After all, it hardly seems like selling, and I know he'll do such a good job that my customers will be happy."

How did she do it?

MADE ONE CALL

She just called him up and asked if she could come in and talk with him. She made an appointment and talked. Like all businessmen, this man was always looking for new business.

They worked things out on a percentage basis and he agreed to give a discount to customers who put their orders in before June 1.

In that way he could plan his summer, help, etc. more efficiently. Also, she had a real sales point to offer.

WORKS PART TIME

"I work four hours a day," she told me, "and my daughter thinks it's quite a lark — she often eavesdrops!. And I make about fifteen dollars profit a week, which is sheer heaven!"

If you're interested in telephone selling, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of this newspaper and I'll send you my pamphlet, Make Money On The Telephone.

Malkim Students Observe Day by Planting Tree

In keeping with Arbor Day, the students of Malkim School conducted a tree planting at the school Friday. Leonard Buzz of the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation and Donald Nagle, city forester, supervised the planting.

★ ★ ★

Students participating in the planting were Danny Dewey, Dale Yarborough, Carl Scarbro, James Lovelace, Jimmy Acord and Bobby Pintamo.

Gloria Johnson and Douglas Hoisington represented the boys and girls of the school.

★ ★ ★

Choral readings by students of the sixth grade class and musical selections by the sixth grade chorus were included in the afternoon program.

Couple Leaves on Long Cruise Following Rite

Community Methodist Church of Franklin was the setting for the Wednesday wedding of Mrs. Jessie Harris of James K boulevard and Burchard B. Bower of West Huron street.

The Rev. R. J. Searls performed the 1 o'clock ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

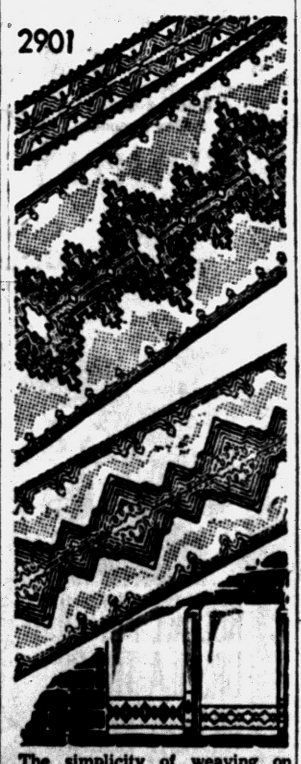

For her wedding the bride chose a navy blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atkinson of Roselawn drive were the couple's attendants.

★ ★ ★

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Gable of Ruth avenue entertained at a reception at the Elks Temple. The couple left on an extended cruise to South America and other points of interest.

Plotted Son's Escape

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Mrs. Naomi Jackson, of Roseville, was convicted Thursday of contributing to the delinquency of minors in an alleged plot to help her 16-year-old son, Roland Kelly, escape from the Macomb County Youth Home April 3. She was accused of influencing five teenagers to promote the escape.

Ernie Has Explanation of His Own Popularity

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD—Tennessee Ernie Ford, the cute, mustached, six-foot, pipe-sucking pea-picking Plato of the country music field, had just 40 minutes to down his lunch—including the vodka martini.

★ ★ ★

"You're the only new guy to crash TV's Top 10 this year—how'd you do it?" I asked him.

"To get into that Top 10"—and he puffed his briar—"you got to be somebody they can watch sittin' there in their pajama tops. You can't be the kind of a guy they got to get up and put their clothes on for."

I've interviewed most of TV's Top 50, but had never heard this idea expressed. I pressed for more.

"Well," he explained, squirming a little in his open-throated shirt as we sat there, "I like to be watched or listened to, not because of my talents—and I know I don't have too much—but because people like to have me around.

Ernie Ford at 38 has become a mighty gigantic fellow around NBC on that philosophy—and while he comes from poor folks down at a wide place in the road in Tennessee, he's not just a "country-style singer" as the hillbillies like to be called nowadays.

Ernie actually attended the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music a few months in 1939 hoping to become a concert singer. He'd done Gilbert & Sullivan operettas in high school, and his father, a "mail man" who played hillbilly fiddle, fancied his young son doing "concert work."

★ ★ ★

"But my folks was having a real rough time. So when I went home for Thanksgiving, I thought I should go to work and buy coal for the winter," he said.

The FORDS

He fooled around radio announcing in Atlanta and later in the neighborhood of Los Angeles, got married.

He began singing with the records—in his Tennessee tongue.

"I wasn't tryin' to cram my state down anybody's throat because I don't think you can. But it seems that a lot of common ordinary conversation where I come from seems very funny to some people."

Ernie, Betty, and Buck, 7, and Brian, going on 4, live next door to Bob Hope, but their decor comes from the local Macy's and is about what the average family would choose if the average family had a two-story ranch house—and was doing real good.

Being a Methodist, Ernie enjoys telling about his grandmother, who still lives in Bristol, Tenn., being invited to go to California by plane to see him.

"I'm a-goin' up only once and it ain't gonna be on a plane," she announced.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Mrs. Lionel Hampton's $20,000 yellow mink coat got nearly as much newspaper comment in Australia as her husband's concerts . . . Gant Gaither's talking to Tab Hunter about a Broadway play . . . Eddie Bracken turned down a featured film role with Alan Ladd to stay with "Shinbone Alley."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: We've heard of the Texas posse that chased an outlaw so far into the hills they had to change Cadillacs three times. That's earl, brother.

Opposed by Business, Not Labor

Welfare Control Hits Snag

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's call for government supervision of employe welfare funds apparently faces more opposition from business than from organized labor.

Business organizations contend that whatever scandals have occurred have been in respect to union-operated and not to manager-operated funds. The latter type, however, compose some 90 per cent of all employe benefit funds.

The National Assn. of Manufacturers favors stiff regulation of union-run welfare-pension funds and union finances, but not for employer-run funds. Organized labor wants both types covered — as AFL-CIO President George Meany reiterated yesterday.

President Eisenhower, in a statement issued yesterday at Augusta, Ga., after conferring with Secretary of Labor Mitchell, urged quick congressional action on long-pending administration proposals to supervise "union health and welfare funds."

But the administration's pending legislation he talked about would apply to both union and nonunion employe funds. So until he says otherwise the President must be presumed to mean that he, like Mitchell, favors a law requiring filing and financial disclosure covering both types of funds.

The NAM's opposition to government supervision of management-operated employe benefit plans was stated in a recent report which spoke of the red tape involved and of possible dangers of disclosing the nature of welfare-pension fund investments. It mentioned also the possibility that unions might try to get a voice in running employe funds now handled entirely by employers.

"We may witness the queer spectacle," the NAM said, "of the federal government putting additional billions of dollars within reach of the same union bosses who have shown so little regard for the funds already entrusted to them."

Employer groups have generally favored employe fund regulation by states rather than the federal government. Insurance companies now regulated by states, have feared becoming involved in federal regulation when and if the federal government undertakes employe fund supervision.

Many welfare plans are handled through insurance firms. But others are handled by banks and trust companies, which reportedly are cool to the idea of state controls.

The legislatures of nearly all the states have been in session this year, but none of them adopted insurance company proposals to supervise employe welfare-pension plans. The states of New York and Washington adopted such laws in 1956.

Organized labor's position as enunciated by the AFL-CIO favors government supervision of welfare funds so long as it applies to management-run as well as union-run funds. Meany said in a statement yesterday:

"We have long favored legislation even more sweeping than the pending administration bill. These health and welfare plans, whether operated by unions, by management, or both jointly, are funds held in trust for the benefit of workers and should be completely safeguarded from any and all corruption and mismanagement."

Mitchell said Eisenhower also favors legislation to require reporting and public disclosure of other union financial data now received but kept secret by the Labor Department. Concerning that, Meany said:

"In this modern age, we see no danger in public disclosure of union financial reports. Even more important, we advocate that every union member should get a report on what is being done with his own money."

Sentence Includes Community Service

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A traffic violator has been sentenced to perform two months' "service to the community."

Otto Ivan Mayfield, 51, was convicted of drunk driving, driving with a revoked license and applying for another license under an assumed name.

★ ★ ★

Municipal Court Judge Martin DeVries sentenced him yesterday to seven days in jail, fined him $263 and put him on probation for three years.

In the first year of probation Mayfield must work two months for a recognized civic organization.

"Push-button nylons" now are available from vending machines on London streets.

Beware of "Wholesale" Distributors!

Dear Friend:
FURNITURE, TO YOU, AT OUR LOWEST SHOWROOM PRICES. BLANK WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS allows you an "S" purchase rating and provides use of our showroom, formerly available to only furniture dealers and decorators.

You buy on "S" basis, our lowest showroom prices. Please present the enclosed card for your proper discount.

Yours truly,

BUT--HERE ARE THE FACTS!

Complaints show that many "wholesale" houses do not sell at a reduced or wholesale price. The so-called "wholesale" price is MORE THAN THE RETAIL PRICE at some stores.

Your special "S" rating might stand for Sucker Rating.

You can avoid being victimized by —

1. Dealing only with reliable establishments.
2. Shopping several stores to determine the proper price.

Masons Enjoy Working With Their Kids for TV

BY CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Theatrical children have been a subject of scowling discussion almost since the first stage-struck moppet lisped his first line of dialogue.

★ ★ ★

The general impression both in and out of "the trade" is that they are obnoxious little ogres whose greedy parents pamper them beyond any hope of redemption.

There is a considerable sum of evidence to support this view, too.

But James and Pamela Mason, who recently indulged in perhaps the best controlled experiment ever conducted in the field of junior-grade histrionics, don't believe the situation need be as bleak as all that — handled correctly, of course.

The Masons and their progeny, precocious Portland, 8, and curly topped Alexander, 19 months, filmed a show for NBC-TV's "Panic" Tuesday in which they are the entire cast.

★ ★ ★

"I shouldn't want to repeat it, I must say," father James admitted afterward. "I mean, it was a great experience, really, but I'm a worrying actor myself. If I have other things to worry about, I really start to sweat.

FLYING COLORS

"Naturally, I started out worrying about the children, but they surprised me by coming through with flying colors. Portland, particularly, is a polished professional."

His wife was even more enthusiastic about her first stab at emoting in the bosom of her family.

"The children were really very easy to work with," she insisted with a deprecating glance at her better half.

James peered into the future a few years and said he saw Portland as "an Ethel Merman type — if she can develop her voice."

"But boy, if she were a leading actress, I pity the other actor. She would steal all their best lines away. She wanted to have one of my best scenes rewritten for her."

★ ★ ★

Portland, who at various times expresses desires to write, produce, direct, star and do just about everything else in the theater except raise the scurtain, scampered in to clarify the situation.

Gowns of First Ladies Aid Fund-Raising Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee is sending a collection of gowns, replicas of those worn by the nation's first ladies, on a cross-country fund-raising campaign.

The gowns, copies of originals on display in the Smithsonian Institution, will get their first showing May 2 at Rutland, Vt. Showings will be made in half of the 48 states in the next six months.

Security for You

Re-Marriage Changes Eligibility for SS

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

From a New York reader: "My first husband died about three years ago and I remarried about a month ago. This marriage has turned out to be very unfortunate and I'm contemplating getting either an annulment or a divorce. I was receiving Social Securety payments from my first husband at the time I remarried. Of course, the payments have stopped due to my remarriage. Is there any way I can get my payments back if I should leave my second husband?"

There are only two ways:

1. An annulment or divorce based on illegal marriage. For example: If your second husband had not been legally divorced from a previous marriage. OR

2. Death of your second husband within the first year of your marriage.

From Rev. S. A. of New York "As a minister, I've had the right to decide whether I wanted to be covered voluntarily by Social Security. Until now, I was uncertain, but a fellow minister convinced me that I should go under the program. How do I apply?"

The deadline for you to apply has passed. You must have requested coverage by April 15.

From F. R. of San Pedro, Calif.: "Can you give me a simple statement of just how disabled a person has to be to draw Social Security disability payments?"

A person must have a disability which is so severe that it prevents him from doing any kind of work.

From Mrs. G.H.A. of Albany, N.Y.: "I will reach 62 next September and plan to retire. If I start drawing Social Security payments on the basis of my own work, how much will my payments be reduced because I take them at 62 rather than wait until I reach 65?"

Your payments at 62 will be 80 per cent of what they'd be if you waited until 65.

From C. D. of Mason City, Iowa: "Ever since the end of World War I, I've been drawing a small monthly payment from the Veterans Administration because of a disability I received during the war. I'm presently receiving $33 monthly. I understand that I could apply for a pension from the VA because I'm 65 and be eligible to receive $78.75 a month rather than my present payment. Is this right?"

You may apply for the $78.75 a month pension, but you'll have to meet three eligibility requirements: 1. You must have served at least 90 days of active duty with some part of it served during the World War I period—unless you were discharged sooner because of a service-connected disability. 2. You must be considered permanently and totally disabled from a disability having nothing to do with your military service. 3. And, you must have a yearly income of less than $1,400 if you have no dependents, or $2,700 yearly if you have dependents.

INTRODUCING MICHEL RAY
On every hand, a theater manager gets numerous requests for more family-type pictures. They demand that the movies get away from sex, crime and hokum. We do everything in our power to get such pictures . . . yet when we do and one comes along, these same people stay away from it.
Well, here's a family-type picture without any ifs, ands or buts. "The Brave One" won an Academy Award for the best story of the year and also won the famous Parents Magazine medal. It is a heart-warming tale of a boy's love and devotion, chock full of suspense, tears, excitement and color that gives full enjoyment. You'll applaud Michael Ray, most remarkable child star since Mickey Rooney. He's wonderful.
I wish I had the talent to write an advertisement that would cause every man, woman and child to see it. It is a wonderful film that will make the entire community feel better and happier for seeing it.

'They Were Out to Get Me, They Did'—Briggs

DETROIT (AP) — The unglamorous divorce of the Briggs name from Detroit baseball was still producing fireworks today, with ex-general manager Walter O. (Spike) Briggs saying he was "dumped" by the new owners in the climax of a plan conceived months ago.

The chairman of the board of directors and the club's president said simply that wasn't quite the case, and let it go at that.

Bitter at bowing out of Tiger baseball after what he called "21 years of frustration," the 45-year-old Briggs said some of the new owners, "used me so they could buy the club and then dumped me when they got things where they wanted them."

Whether Briggs quit or was fired, the fact remains that for the first time since his father, Walter O. Briggs Sr., bought into the Tigers in 1920, the family has no official connection with Detroit baseball.

★ ★ ★

"This is a fine way to go," Briggs said sarcastically. "They wanted my resignation and they got it. They were out to get me and they did. It was a very simple procedure."

After stepping down as president when an 11-man syndicate purchased the club last summer, Briggs took an official title of a director, executive president and general manager.

He lost all of them yesterday in a move that surprised almost no one since the Tiger front office had been in the news almost daily for two weeks.

"I had a letter of resignation prepared—just in case—ever since they bought the club," Briggs said. "These fellows came in to talk with me and they were disturbed about some of the things I've done—or failed to do—and they were pretty upset about the publicity given the front office troubles."

★ ★ ★

Briggs was referring to John E. Fetzer, chairman of the board, and Harvey Hansen, president since last Friday when he took over for Fred Knorr who resigned.

"I could see what they were after and that it might be a long session, so I didn't even let them get a good start," Briggs added. "I told them I asumed they wanted my resignation and they said they did. So I got out the letter, dated it and gave it to them. So now they're happy."

★ ★ ★

Hansen and Fetzer said they made no effort to change Briggs' decision because they felt "his mind was made up."

Briggs had been with the Tigers since 1936. Even when he rose to the presidency after the death of his father in 1952 he never was the boss he wanted to be. Four sisters held equal shares in the club. Later when he tried to buy the ball club they turned him down.

"I never was able to do the thing with this club that I wanted to do," he said. "It's been 21 years of frustration—that's all. I heard a long time ago about the talk that I was given this position just until I could be eased out quietly . . . Those things don't get away from me. So, call it a matter of courtesy if you want —but I never liked the situation, not for one minute. Maybe this is part of 'streamlining' the Tigers."

Some members of the 11-man syndicate privately admitted that much, saying they doubted if Briggs really had been close enough to baseball to be a general manager. They also said he didn't approach the task seriously.

Briggs said he plans to go to Florida soon for a couple of weeks rest. Chances are the job of general manager will be turned over to John J. McHale, the 36-year-old director of player personnel who actually has been the key man in most player negotiations since the new owners took over.

BOWS OUT — Walter O. (Spike) Briggs talks into a microphone to newsmen yesterday following his resignation as executive vice-president of the Detroit Tigers. Briggs resigned in the wake of a front office squabble, but said, "They were out to get me and they did."

Kaline Shakes Slump With 3 Hits

Lary Hurt, but Tigers Win, 5-0

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Detroit Tigers greeted their front office shakeup last night with a sparkling 5-0 triumph over the Cleveland Indians that saw Al Kaline emerge from his tremendous batting slump with a home run and two doubles.

The reversal of form on the part of the Tigers immediately prompted speculation that they might emulate their 1956 performance following the sale of the club.

While rumors flew about the sale during the first half of last season the team slumped deeper and deeper. Came the transaction and the Bengals changed their stripes, whipping through the rest of the campaign at the best clip in the league—.642.

Only yesterday morning, board chairman John Fetzer worried publicly that front office squabbling over general manager Spike Briggs might be affecting the Tiger's ball playing. Briggs bowed out under pressure yesterday afternoon.

The good news last night was intertwined with bad. Frank Lary was struck on his left knee by a drive off the bat of Vic Wertz in the fourth inning and had to be removed.

X-rays were to be taken later today although the pitcher hobbled from the field under his own power.

Duke Maas came in without warming up and held the Indians at bay the rest of the way on three hits to pick up his first major league victory since 1955.

The Tigers also lost the services temporarily of shortstop Harvey Kuenn. He pulled a muscle while scoring Detroit's first run in the third inning. He had walked and Kaline doubled him home.

Kaline doubled again in the 5th and then in the 7th with Frank Bolling on third and Charley Maxwell on first the blond slugger drilled one of Bob Lemon's pitches into the left field seats for his first homer of the season.

For the night, Kaline had three hits in four official times at bat and raised his batting average from a puny .200 to .265.

★ ★ ★

Bill Tuttle, who had been trying to carry the slugging load almost single handed, had an off night, leaving four runners stranded in his first two times at bat and going hitless. But with Kaline in form it didn't matter.

The Tigers meet Cleveland again today with Paul Foytack due against Herb Score. The series winds up with a doubleheader tomorrow.

Wiffi Smith Leads Open

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A shy, easy-swinging 20-year-old golfer from St. Clair, Mich., yesterday took over the lead of the annual Women's Western Open Golf Tournament at the end of 36 holes.

★ ★ ★

Chubby Wiffi Smith, making her first professional tour, moved ahead of such veterans as Louise Suggs, a four-time winner of the tournament, and Patty Berg, who has won it five times.

Wiffi buzzed around the 6,300 yard Montgomery Country Club course in a 70, three under par, to go with a first-round 71, giving her a 141 total.

Miss Berg, the St. Andrews, Ill., golf master, matched Wiffi stroke for stroke, adding a 70 to her opening round 72 for a 142 and a second-place tie with Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif.

A Louisville, Ky., miss, Betty Dodd, grabbed third place with a 1-under-par 72, one stroke more than she needed in the opening round. She had a 143 halfway card.

★ ★ ★

Leader among the amateurs was Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, with a 145. She fired a 72 yesterday to remain in striking distance.

Relay Titles Go to C-D Schools

Dickson Wins 6th Time in 7 Years; Boyne City Upsets Reed City

MT. PLEASANT (AP) — Norman Dickson of Brethren fought off the threat of Beal City and won its sixth Class D title in seven years yesterday in the Central Michigan College Relays.

Beal City was a scant 1½ points behind the Brethren school going into the last event—the 880-yard relay. Norman Dickson took the relay in the record time of 1 minute 36 seconds, bettering the old mark of 1:37 set by the school two years ago.

Four first places gave the Brethren school 58½ points to 55 for runner-up Beal City. Defending champion Pickford was third with 39 3/5.

Norman Dickson held the title from 1951 through 1955 before losing it last year to Pickford.

Other Class D Scores:
Spring Arbor, 31 3/5; Fairview, 26; Wolverine, 20 14/15; Vestaburg, 19; Crystal, 16½; Memphis, 16 13/30; Goodrich, 14.

Other Class C Scores:
Flint Dye, 28; Marlette, 23¾; Lansing Everett, 20; Frankenmuth, 19; Flint Atherton, 18½; Shepherd, 17¾; Whitehall, 16; Unionville, 15; Grosse Ile, 14¾.

House Gives OK to Bill Against Unfair Pro Pact

LANSING (AP)—The House last night passed and referred to the Senate a bill designed to prevent professional baseball organizations from taking unfair advantage of young players.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Ralph H. Young (R-East Lansing), former Michigan State University athletic director, was approved 70 to 15.

It would require probate court approval of any contract signed between a pro baseball club and a player under 21.

Members rejected an amendment by Rep. Edwin Fitzpatrick (D-Detroit) proposing that the contract merely be submitted to the judge, allowing it to become effective without his approval.

Pioneer Loop Champs

Superior Steel emerged as the champion of the four divisions of the Pioneer Bowling League following a four-way rolloff at Dixie Recreation recently.

The victors won out easily to earn the top trophies and individual awards with a 2825 handicap total. Mold-A-Matic was runnerup with 2781, Quality Cleaners had 2699 and Paul's Elictric tallied 2692. All were division winners.

Around the Prep Front

BY CHUCK ABAIR

A break in the weather between the recent nightly thundershowers enabled area schools to get back into action in the various sports yesterday despite muddy conditions in most sectors.

One of the features of the afternoon was an 11-inning baseball battle which saw Walled Lake pull out a 3-2 verdict over Waterford in an Inter-Lakes contest.

Roy Sappington, who batted in the three Viking runs and had two of their five safeties, produced the clincher with a double. Both pitchers, winner Bob Gutham and Chuck Kirken, went all the way. The latter fanned 12 and garnered 4 hits himself. Dave Struble batted across the Skipper runs. The losers blew scoring chances in the late innings in dropping their 3rd straight.

St. Frederick made it two straight in golf with an impressive 601 - 679 trouncing of Rochester at the city golf course. Jack Keller paced the victors with a 77 for medalist, Ed Kast had 78. Larry Beaupre paced the Falcons with an 81.

Cranbrook had a happy day all around with triumphs in track and tennis and today begins loop play in baseball and tennis. Friday, the Crane thinclads walloped Kennedy 90½ to 27½ while the net team was nipping Ferndale, 4-3.

Cranbrook took 12 of a possible 14 1sts and swept two events in the easy track win. Bob Waddel paced the 3rd successive triumph with top finishes in the 100 and 220 and with the 880 relay team for 11½ points. A singles win for Bill McQuilkin and a sweep in doubles gave the Crane net team its 3rd triumph against two setbacks. Tim McCracken led Ferndale.

Elsewhere in track, West Bloomfield and Van Dyke turned in hard-earned victories in triangular meets.

The Lakers edged host Clarenceville 52½ to 51½ with Detroit Lutheran having 33. A 15-point showing by Larry Hollister paced the triumph in the two-team battle which saw both gain five lsts. Hollister won both hurdle races and the broad jump. Jim Healy took the 100 and 220 to spark CHS. West Bloomfield is now 3-2.

At Van Dyke, the home team nipped Berkley 49½ - 48 with Rochester having 39½. A well-balanced unit led by Fred Marts with 12 points overcame greater individual showings. Falcon Dave Peters topped the meet with 13 points winning both jumps and his teammate, Dave Eldred, set a new field record in the shot put with a heave of 52 feet, four inches. Myers of Berkley won both hurdle events.

Today's schedule is as follows:

Baseball and Tennis
University at Cranbrook.
Track
Pontiac, Waterford, Roseville and others in CMC Relays.
Walled Lake in Hastings Relays.
Golf
Ferndale at Berkley.

Rochester Scene of MPGA Tomorrow

Tournament Golf Kicks Off Season

Officials of the Rochester Golf and Country Club are hoping that sunny skies stick around at least through Sunday.

They have a good reason for wishing so.

The first golf tournament of the 1957 season in the Oakland County area, the 18-hole MPGA event, will be played over the Rochester layout tomorrow.

And there's nothing quite like nice weather to get the tourney campaign off to a successful start. Besides a sub-par score, naturally.

Former National Open champion Jack Fleck, Rochester's new professional, will be absent from the tournament. Fleck is busy elsewhere right now, competing in the Kentucky Derby Open at Louisville, Ky.

The Rochester course, formerly known as Brooklands, initiates a long and vigorous tournament trial with Sunday's MPGA test. Before the summer is over, a host of other tourneys will be held in the Pontiac-Detroit area.

The Pro-Am Metro events May 6 and 13 at Tam O'Shanter are the next in line. Plum Hollow is host to the Western Open, the area's No. 1 national golf attraction this year, on June 27-30.

Other highlights in the county area this season are the U.S. Open sectional qualifying trials June 3 at Oakland Hills and Franklin Hills, the Michigan Open Aug. 23-25 at Edgewood and the Michigan PGA Sept. 22 at Birmingham.

Golf courses in Pontiac and vicinity are humming with activity these days as par-busters and duffers alike take advantage of the early sping heat wave. League action has already begun at several links in the neighborhood.

Wednesday and Thursday's heavy rains had little or no adverse effect on area courses. They just made the green soggy for die-hard golfers.

An additional note of interest concerns caddy fees for the 1957 season. Upon recommendation of the Detroit District Golf Association, caddy rates have been raised 25 cents this year for single 18-hole rounds.

★ ★ ★

The new 18-hole rates are $2.50 for captains, $2.25 for Class A caddies and $2.00 for Class B caddies. All other fees will remain the same.

Spartans Win, 4-2 in Big 10 Opener

BLOOMFIELD, Ind. (AP)—Michigan State University opened its Big Ten baseball season yesterday with a 4-2 win over Indiana.

Lefthander Ron Perranoski struck out 16 Indiana batters, missing the Big Ten record by two.

Perranoski filled the bases twice in the early innings but worked his way out of trouble as he went the distance yielding six hits.

Michigan State	001 011 001—4	8	1
Indiana	010 000 100—2	6	0

Perranoski and Luce; Mrafka and James.

HOW'S THIS FOR A START? — Fishing season began today in Michigan, but these happy anglers got off to a flying pre-season start with a fat, legal catch. Charles Wehner (left) of Harbor Beach and William H. Eppenbrock of Detroit nabbed these 97 perch within three hours this week. Ranging from 8 to 14 inches long, the perch were caught in 20 feet of water inside the harbor at Harbor Beach. The two fishermen used casting rods and minnows for their hefty haul.

Three Records Fall Opening Day

Villanova, Texas Spotlight Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Texas and Villanova, each seeking a triple, highlight today's final session of the 63d annual Penn Relays at Franklin Field.

★ ★ ★

The speedy Texans qualified yesterday for both the quarter and half mile relays and will send a fast mile relay team against defending champion Villanova.

Villanova won the distance medley yesterday and apperas an overwhelming favorite to take the sprint medley, and then face the Longhorns in the final event on the long program—the mile.

Texas qualified for the 400 by winning its heat in 41.8, and faces the challenge of North Carolina College (Durham), Indiana, Puerto Rico and defending champion Morgan State. In the half, this same Texas quartet faces North Carolina (Durham), Indiana, Michigan, Morgan State, Puerto Rico, Winston Salem Teachers and Manhattan.

Other titles up for grabs today include the two and four mile relays and the shuttle hurdle relay, high jump, hop, step and jump, pole vault, javelin, shot put, 100 yard dash and 120-yard high hurdles.

★ ★ ★

Three records fell yesterday as six titles were decided. The outstanding individual performer easily was Indiana's Olympic broad jump champion, Greg Bell, who won his specialty with a record leap of 26 feet, 1½ inches, won his heat in the invitation 100-yard dash, and ran on the Hoosier's qualifying quarter and half mile relay teams. Bell broke his own broad jump record of 25-6½.

★ ★ ★

The most exciting race of the opening day was the two-mile run in which Lew Stieglitz of Connecticut just edged defending champion Jim Beatty of North Carolina U. at the tape in the record time of 9:01.7. Beatty held the old mark of 9:09.9 last year.

★ ★ ★

Pittsburgh's Paul Thrash won the 400 meter hurdles in 52.9, Pete Harpel, Harvard, took the hammer throw with a heave of 177 feet, 6½ inches, and Ken Bantum of Manhattan won the discus with a toss of 155 feet, 2½ inches. The third record shattered was by Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem Teachers who won his 120-yard high hurdles heat in 14 seconds flat, bettering the 14.1 clocked by Duke's Joel Shankle in 1955.

Robbins Meets Campbell in North-South Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Hollow-cheeked Hillman Robbins, 138 pounds of golfing "tiger", sought his second successive North and South amateur championship today in the 36-hole finals against Bill Campbell, a two-time winner here, making his fourth finals appearance in eight years.

★ ★ ★

Robbins, 25-year-old former Memphis, Tenn., automobile salesman, is an Air Force second lieutenant stationed at Blytheville, Ark. He won the medal last Monday and hopes to be the first champion to retain his title in 18 years.

★ ★ ★

Campbell, 6-4, 200 pound one-time member of the West Virginia legislature, is a 33-year-old Huntington insurance man.

Robbins and Campbell each gained a semifinal victory over a Walker Cup team hopeful yesterday.

Robbins ousted Dr. Bud Taylor, 38-year old Pomona, Calif., dentist, 4 and 3, with a one-over-par performance that was highlighted by an outgoing 33, three under par, that gave him a four-hole lead on the turn.

CIO Practice Tomorrow

Braves 'Muscle' Way to Top Spot in NL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just before the season started, Manager Fred Haney gave his Milwaukee Braves the once-over and commented: "Frankly, I'd like more power." Great man for jokes, that Haney.

What team leads the National League in home runs? Milwaukee, with 13. Who's the individual league leader in home runs? The Braves' Joe Adcock, with four.

That just about explains how Milwaukee has muscled into first place in the early going of the pennant race, winning seven of eight. In their last two games, the Braves have belted eight home runs and had a bristling barrage of 15 consecutive runs on homers.

The startling statistic, powered along by Adcock's five runs batted in on two homers last night, didn't come to an end until the Braves "relaxed" to score their final two runs on a walk, sacrifice and two singles in a 9-2 breeze past Cincinnati's Redlegs.

Cincinnati, after winning four in a row, didn't have a chance against Warren Spahn, the veteran lefty who now stands 41-14 against the Redlegs lifetime. He's beaten them twice this year in his 3-0 record. The Braves are 4-0 vs. Cincinnati.

★ ★ ★

With the victory, the Braves opened a full-game edge over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were whipped by the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-1. Philadelphia jumped into third at .500 by beating the New York Giants 5-0 on rookie Don Cardwell's four-hitter in his first major league victory.

Rain stopped St. Louis at Chicago after four innings in the other NL game.

In the American, Ted Williams was 0-for-4, but Boston's Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees 6-2 and moved into second place, a game behind the Chicago White Sox, who defeated Kansas City 4-3. Detroit ended a three-game slump, beating Cleveland 5-0. And Baltimore knocked off Washington 4-3.

Adcock's second homer off starter-loser Johnny Klippstein was the first grand-slammer of the season in the NL. It came in the third and built a 5-0 lead for the 36-year-old Spahn, who gave nine hits, one a solo home run by Wally Post, in gaining his fifth victory in the last six starts against the Redlegs. Johnny Logan and Del Crandall hit the other Milwaukee home runs.

Pittsburgh's Bob Purkey, who had been 0-3 lifetime vs. the Dodgers, remained the only pitcher to beat Brooklyn this season, picking up his second victory over the champs with a nine-hitter. The 27-year-old righthander, gaining only his third complete game in 22 starts, lost his shut out on Duke Snider's homer in the eighth.

Frank Thomas, replacing Dale Long at first in a shift that put eight righthanded hitters against losing Dodger southpaw Johnny Podres, hit a two-run homer as the Bucs cut a four-game losing string. Jim Pendleton, subbing for Thomas at third, had three hits—ending an 0-for-23 drought that stretched back to 1954 with the Braves.

Dave Sisler, a righthander who never has lost (4-0) to the Yankees in his brief major league career, beat New York for the second time this year, although giving up homers to Enos Slaughter and Gil McDougald. Jackie Jensen slugged a two-run double and Jim Piersall bagged it with a three-run homer. Tom Sturdivant was the loser.

★ ★ ★

Gripes Heard at Derby Open

Takes 17 on Par-4

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—What to do with golfers with gripes who demonstrate their disgust before the paying public will be a serious subject in Fort Worth next week.

★ ★ ★

The tournament committee of the Professional Golfers Assn. will take up at least seven such cases before play opens in the Texas City's Colonial Open.

The problem came to a boil yesterday when George Bayer of Los Angeles took a 17 on Seneca course's par-4 17th hole. Bayer, one of the game's longest hitters, is capable of covering the 395-yard hole with a driver and a midiron.

★ ★ ★

Harvey Raynor, PGA supervisor called the demonstration a "disgrace" and a "smack at the integrity of golfers who try."

He said the problem rose out of discontent among competitors who felt they had no chance to finish in the money in the $30,000 Kentucky Derby Open tournament.

PGA rules require that all players must continue in any tournament unless released by the sponsors.

After an outbreak of bad scores in the Derby Open, many asked release to travel to Texas where they might prepare for the Colonial Open. They were denied.

Raynor said the PGA tournament committee would take up the problem and the individual cases. While no rules have been violated, he said the powerful committee could take drastic action to discourage future demonstrations, including suspensions and fines, for "unsportsmanlike conduct."

★ ★ ★

In addition to Bayer's 17, two players, Don January and Doug Higgins each had a 10 on one hole. Ernie Vossler took a 46 on Seneca's back nine after recording a 38 on the front.

Bayer took a 90 for the day for a total 236. January and Higgins had 84s, giving January 234 and Higgins 242. Vossler was 237 compared to the cutoff score of 225 for the final round.

Despite the background rhubarb, a redhot showdown for the Derby meet's top money in a $30,000 jackpot continued to boil.

Bill Casper Jr. of Bonita, Calif., was in the driver's seat with a 207—six under par—after yesterday's workmanlike par 71.

His closest challengers were Johnny Pott, a young Bayou belter from Shreveport, La.; Peter Thomson from Melbourne, Australia, and Jack Fleck, former National Open champion from Rochester, Mich., each with 209.

★ ★ ★

Dodgers, Cardinals Seeking Cub's Rush

CHICAGO (AP)—The men who pull the strings for the Brooklyn Dodgers, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals met yesterday but failed to put across a trade.

Buzzy Bavasi of Brooklyn, Frank Lane of St. Louis and John Holland of Chicago went into a trade huddle and came out with nothing.

"It doesn't look like we can make a major deal," said Holland "I mean trading a front-liner for a front-liner."

Dem Hurler Sparks Defeat of Republicans

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ever since William M. Wheeler of Georgia lost his congressional seat to Mrs. Iris Blitch the Democrats have been hard pressed in their annual baseball games against the Republicans.

But last night in their spring practice game here the Democrats may have uncovered Wheeler's successor in Rep. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, who pitched a five-hitter and socked a triple.

GOP players didn't have their full team, though. In fact, two chamber of commerce officials filled in to round out the team.

There were other variations from the normal baseball game. Players on both teams often called on Little Leaguers to run bases for them. And the umpires helped field balls the infielders couldn't reach.

Jewelers Drill Sunday

Shaw's Jewelers baseball team will hold a practice session Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Wisner Field, manager Paul Parks has announced. Anyone interested in working out with the Class A club is invited to attend.

It's Big Day in Michigan —Fishing Season Opens

ALL OUTDOORS, Mich. (INS) — Today was the big day in the lives of about 200,000 Michigan anglers — the first day of the season.

Regardless of the weather or your luck, the opener is the most important day of the year for people who like fishing thrills, like to catch the first fish or just like to loaf on the river bank.

★ ★ ★

Conditions around Michigan were just about perfect today except for a few showers which made streams in the Gladwin County area high and discolored. Streams in Oakland and Lapeer counties, because of the heavy rains of the past few days, were also high and muddy.

Rainbow trout fishermen found the big browns still in the rivers, and runs in most lower peninsula streams were small.

This is a mystery to fisherman who call themselves experts. For example, for the past week or two smelt dippers have been getting grey hair waiting for these little devils to make their spawning runs.

Conditions were perfect around Tawas City late this week but the smelt run just didn't materialze.

Several thousand sleepy eyed fishermen dragged themselves back to Detroit with empty buckets and heavy hearts.

So-called experts who get bigheaded predicting the smelt runs were hiding their red faces. You figure it out! The water in the Whitney Basin and around the famous Singing Bridge was 44 degrees F by actual measure — considered perfect for smelt. It even rained Wednesday night, another starter which is "supposed" to set the female smelt running.

Regardless of how the fishermen did today, smelt, perch and other non-trout species did their best to fight for anglers' attention.

"Trouterama" got underway at 11:30 p.m. last night at Lake County. A giant bonfire was lighted and the sirens blew at the casting house, midnight, to welcome the 1957 fishing season.

All fish in Michigan are legal now except large and small mouth black bass. The bass season opens June 15, ten days earlier than last year.

Rain Threatens Relays

Discus Record at Drake

DES MOINES (AP)—Drake Relays officials, their hopes for a batch of opening day records sunk in a muddy track, looked for better things today in the windup of the two-day meet.

★ ★ ★

The weather bureau offered the encouraging forecast of nothing worse than cloudy skies. That would be a far cry from the morning downpour that churned the cinders into a soggy track for the runners yesterday.

Only one record was produced. Olympic discus champion Al Oerter of Kansas got off a throw of 177 feet, 10 inches to wipe out the old mark of 172-11 by Carl Vereen of Georgia Tech in 1955.

There could be much better things in store recordwise in the 20 finals up for decision today.

A brisk duel loomed in the 100-yard dash with Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian, Ira Murchison of Western Michigan and Orlando Hazley of Oklahoma A&M the headliners.

Morrow, Olympic champion in the 100 meters, loafed through a 10-second heat in the preliminaries, but Murchison ran an 9.5 heat to come within one-tenth of a second of the Drake record. Hazley won his heat in 9.6.

★ ★ ★

Powerful Kansas Picked up two relay titles in the 4-mile and the sprint medley. It was virtually no contest for the Jayhawks in the 4-mile but a soft track held them to a 17:41.9 timing compared with their spectacular 16:57.8 at the Kansas Relays last week.

Two individual champions failed to repeat.

Aubrey Lewis of Notre Dame dethroned Gene O'Connor of Kansas State in the 440-yard hurdles. The race was so close that both were credited with a :53.7 clocking.

Kent Floerke of Kansas, the 1956 winner, didn't even place in the broad jump which was won by Jim Gamble of Prairie View State of Texas at 24 feet, 4 inches.

★ ★ ★

Dean Jones of Iowa, who had hoped to go under the Drake mark of 9:10 in the 2-mile, had to settle for 9:17.4. He won by 70 yards over Len Edelen of Minnesota.

City Marble Tournament Gets Rolling Next Week

The 10th annual City Marble Tournament, sponsored by The Pontiac Press in conjunction with the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, begins next week at elementary schools throughout the city.

Championship finals are scheduled Saturday, May 18, at Wisner Field.

Finalists will be determined in elimination tournaments at the individual schools during the next three weeks. One winner or alternate from each school goes into the final round.

Two changes are planned for this year's tourney.

Since the tourney's inception, competition has been held in two divisions — junior and midget. Only one division will be conducted this time and the competition is open to all boys and girls under 12 years old.

The second change narrows the size of the playing ring from 10 feet in diameter to eight feet.

A single elimination tournament will be held and all rounds except the finals are on a best-of-three basis. A three-out-of-five game series will decide the city champion. Finals start at 9 a.m.

All finalists must register with the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department before Thursday, May 16. Awards will be presented to the winner and runnerup by The Pontiac Press.

Last year's champions, William Davis and John Morton, are ineligible for another crack at the title because of age barriers.

Michigan 9 Hands Buckeye 1st Loss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Michigan combed four Ohio State pitchers for 18 hits, including four home runs, for a 14-4 victory over Ohio State yesterday in the big ten baseball opener for both teams.

The loss was charged to starter Galen Cisco, his first in 16 college decisions. Cisco, who had won five times this season, was knocked out of the box during a seven-run Wolverine 6th inning that cemented the issue.

Steve Boros and Ken Tippery hit for the circuit during Michigan's big 6th frame.

Michigan now has an 11-2 record for the spring, while Ohio State slipped to an 11-2-1 mark. The Buckeyes had won their last seven starts.

Quaker Collects Art of World's Kids

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maybe the trouble with world peace today is that we're going at it wrong. Maybe instead of calling together diplomats, whose years and prejudices bear heavily upon them, we should turn to the children.

Maybe, in short, D. Roy Miller is right in claiming that the way to true international understanding is to grab them while they're young.

★ ★ ★

Since Miller is a Philadelphia Quaker and an artist, his theory has taken an unusual turn.

He has collected children's art from all over the world. He now has 12,000 paintings — "It's unparalleled in children's art"— and eventually he hopes to take it abroad. He thinks the exhibit proves that no matter how they wind up, his children started out bright-eyed and friendly.

Miller has an exhibit at the National Geographic Society, and even a casual observer will admit it's colorful and interesting.

Take the work of J. Pecenkova, a 6-year-old Czech girl. In her "Busy Ant Gathers Winter's Wood While Grasshopper Dances in the Sun," a foresighted ant forehandedly has a wheelbarrow in which to tote his food home.

Or "A Moslem Puppet Looks to Heaven on Judgment Day," by Jamaleddine Lakhoua, 13, of Tunisia. Jamaleddine loves colors, and the desert is brilliantly yellow, the cloak is brightly red, and the puppet's nose is startling long.

And so on. Fishing scenes, theater scenes, jungle scenes, portraits.

"This is the earliest visual language in the world," Miller said. "It goes back to the cave. It's the one modern transmitter that can work without a translator. It has no trouble getting its message across."

Miller, white haired but bright eyed as any child, decided to collect his art by enlisting the aid of leaders of nations.

"To get the best from England," he said, "I wrote to Winston Churchill. Each time I wrote to the heads of the governments, I knew they wouldn't do it, but they would pass it along. I decided I would go in the front door with dignity, and out the front door with dignity."

It worked. He now has art from 106 countries, with China the only major nation still missing. Miller, in a display of adult international understanding, doesn't blame the Chinese. "I haven't reached the right person yet," he said.

★ ★ ★

One unsolved problem: Financing. So far his best bet has been to get some business opening a new building to use his display as a crowd collector — and pick up the tab for expenses. But he still hasn't figured out a way to take his collection around the world.

The children had comments on Miller's project.

Samuel Chukumeka Maduanochie who did a schoolyard scene said: "Thank you for high knowledge of remembering us, the poor children of Nigeria in such a way . . .Thank you, thank you may God Creator bless you more and more."

La Rita Hanton, 11, of Peoria, Ill., drew a country scene that included a red house.

"I think it would be very nice if all the children who have lost their houses in the war will live in my little red house."

Sounds a mite crowded, but otherwise the idea is fine.

Winchell Daughter Asks Divorce Delay

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Walda Winchell, 29, daughter of newspaper columnist Walter Winchell, has asked the court to hold up her final decree of divorce from hotelman Hyatt Robert von Dehn.

★ ★ ★

In a petition filed yesterday by her attorneys, she said she and the 42-year-old hotel chain owner became reconciled last May. She is expecting a baby about Dec. 1, said the petition, which will be given a hearing May 1.

★ ★ ★

Miss Winchell and Von Dehn were married July 29, 1955 and she filed suit for divorce Dec. 1, 1955. It was her second marriage and Von Dehn's third. She obtained an interlocutory decree a year ago today. In California interlocutory decrees do not become final for one year.

Turkey first appeared as a poor man's dish, an alternative to the roast peacocks served to the wealthy, London Historians assert.

6. The Bird Bath

Birds have friends everywhere. There are many sanctuaries for them in the country. Some are big, and in remote places, like the Duck Rock Sanctuary in the Florida Everglades. There, on a small island, as many as 100,000 birds come to roost overnight.

Then there are smaller shelters where visitors can walk about and watch the birds at close range. One is near Oyster Bay, N. Y., not far from the home of Theodore Roosevelt. It is named after the former president of the U. S.

In your own backyard sanctuary and bird motel, you'll want to include a bird bath. You can make one from a shallow plastic, glass, or pottery dish set into the hollowed-out top of a stump. Metal will rust, so don't use it.

In this picture we have Kathy filling the bath. Color the picture, paste it on cardboard, and cut out the parts. Join the top of the figure to the skirt by a brass fastener through the marked holes. Then Kathy can lower the pitcher to the basin. Cut the two slits at the edges of the bath and the one at the pitcher's rim. Slit the tabs on the birds and put them in place, slipping A into the slot and leaving the other tab outside. The single bird goes on top of Kathy's pitcher. Put the two birds into the right hand slot on the bath, and the group of three facing them on the left hand slot. Fold the right hand panel forward and the figure will stand.

Your Neighbor's House

John G. Grahams Like Lake Living

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Because we have known so many couples who finally achieved their dream house only after their children had grown and gone away from home, it is good to find a couple who have given up the big house for a smaller one at this stage.

Former residents of Franklin, the John G. Grahams now live in an attractive red brick lake-front home on Forest Lake. They have plenty of room for themselves, for their son, when he is home from college, and for any guests. But their grounds are compact and the house is easy to care for. They have made less work for themselves, not more.

Their 80x250 lot slopes down to the lake. The Grahams like to canoe and fish and have the ideal location for both sports. On the lake side of the house there is a long covered porch that opens out from the lower level. Metal awnings shield the upper windows from the sun.

At the road side of the lot you can drive into the yard and enter the house. The Grahams' large attached garage has a swinging door for the dog they no longer have—but might have again.

Inside, the hall serves as entranceway, passageway to all parts of the house and storage area. The floor is multi-color slate. One wall (the one behind the fireplace) is made of the pink Chicago brick. Other walls are papered. Stairs go to the lower level.

To the left of the door there is a storage wall with birch doors and drawers. One drawer is lined with Pacific cloth for silver storage. A door hides a small dumb waiter to the basement. A large closet holds all cleaning supplies and utensils, with separate compartments for card tables.

At this end of the hall is the kitchen. It is a compact working area with good counter space and a multitude of storage cupboards. Cupboard fronts are pickled pine with square black knobs.

The linoleum on the floor is spatter printed in green. Counter tops and splash boards are pale quoise, green, beige and brown. the ceiling are papered in turquoise, green, beige and brown. Wall and oven are built in. There are go curtains at the windows over the sink to spoil the view.

The living room at the front of the house has dining space at one end. Here, the floor is the same colored slate as the hallway. Mrs. Graham had the builders construct a pickled pecky cypress cupboard and china storage unit against the kitchen wall. They countersank tile into the space between upper and lower shelves. This, says the homemaker, is perfect for setting hot dishes and as a bar.

A long harvest table, made in Vermont, stands against the east windows. Black Hitchcock chairs with rush seats are modern reproductions but harmonize. Near the front windows there is a Jacobean oak table that holds the coffee service.

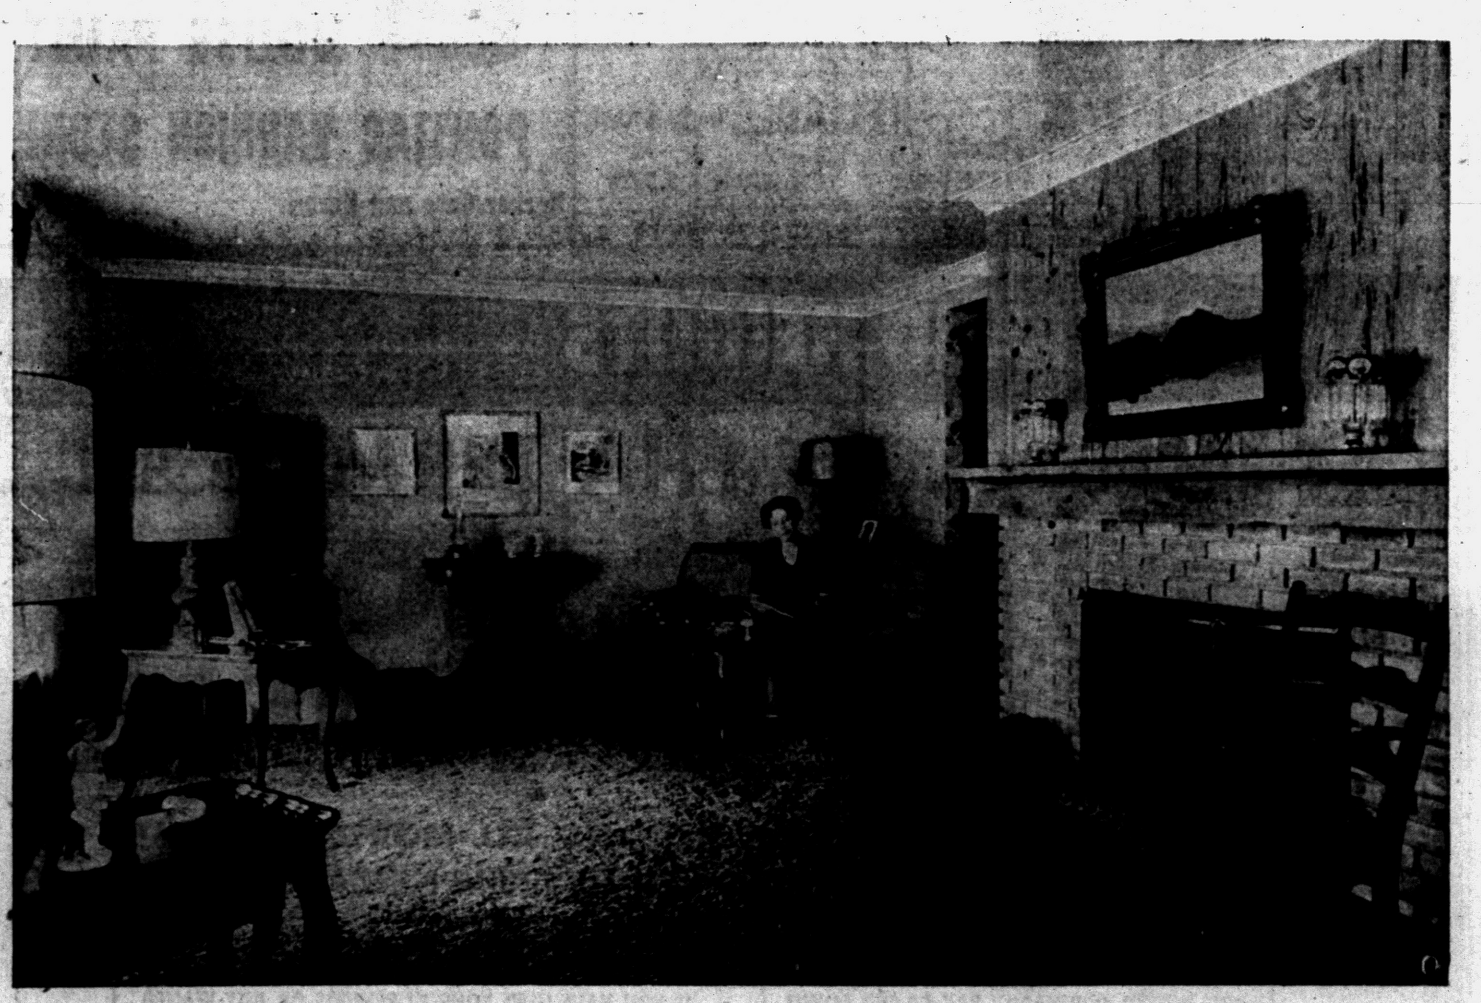

Prominently displayed in this corner is an interesting cordial set. Housed in a black lacquer chest whose finish, says a cabinetmaker, cannot now be duplicated, the set consists of sixteen tiny goblets and four decanters. When Mrs. Graham opened the chest, it was as if bells were ringing; the glasses chimed. This

ON FOREST LAKE — The John Grahams live on Forest Lake, on Club drive. Their red brick home looks small from the road, but it is two-story on the water side. White trim and low shrubbery add to the attractiveness of the house as does the perky weathervane on the garage cupola. Mrs. Graham did most of the planning of this house and Don W. Hunter drew up architectural plans. Al Bazzini was the builder.

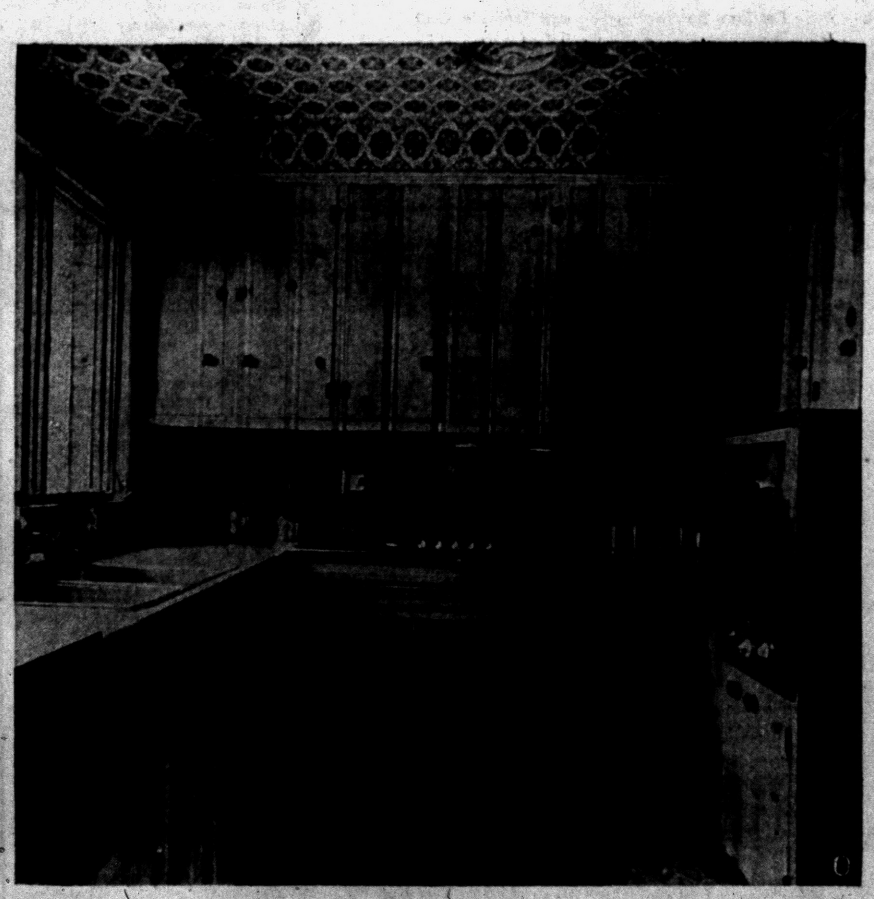

A PLACE TO RELAX — Mrs. John Graham thoroughly enjoys her Forest Lake home. She enjoyed planning it, then furnishing it. The antique table at the far end of the room holds a signed Bacarrat decanter on a silver stand. The pictures, above, while more modern, contribute to the harmony of the grouping. At the far end of the fireplace wall there are built-in book shelves. The picture above the mantel once hung in the Louvre.

INTERESTING HALLWAY — This handsome mirror is on the wall to the right of the front door. In it are reflected the stairs to the basement with their iron railing and the door to the kitchen in the background. One wall is pink brick; the others are papered. Slate is used on the floor in this area.

LIVABLE ROOM — The view is delightful. The furniture is small scaled, colorful and comfortable. Some of it came from the Grahams' former home in Franklin; other pieces were bought just for the new house. Walls are painted driftwood color. Draperies are beige. Pecky cypress is used over the fireplace and for the cupboard in the dining section. The mantel came from a building torn down to make room for Detroit's new Civic Center. On it are a pair of English overlay Bristol candelabra.

ROWS AND ROWS OF CUPBOARDS — In the Grahams' small but compact kitchen there is more than ample cupboard space. Square black knobs make a nice contrast to the lighter pickled pine finish of the cupboards themselves. The upper walls and ceiling are papered in a turquoise, green, beige and brown pattern. Counter tops and splash boards are pale turquoise.

of the Grahams' visits to New Orleans.

In the larger portion of the room the floor is covered with a brown rug with a shaggy texture. Draperies are beige linen casement cloth. Walls are driftwood color which sets the tone of the entire decorating scheme.

At the far end there is a rose beige sofa. With its back to the dining room table a second smaller sofa divides the room. This one has a figured covering of pink, beige and tan. There are two green upholstered armless chairs near the picture window.

The fireplace is pink brick. Open shelves at one end hold knickknacks, while books occupy the larger shelves in the front and china is stored in the cupboard below. The chimney is faced with more pecky cypress.

There's a story connected with the large beam that serves as the mantel. When old buildings were torn down in Detroit to make room for the new Civic Center, this beam was salvaged. Mrs. Graham says it had hand hewn nails in it when they got it.

From the front hall a passageway leads to the bedroom area. At the right is the L-shaped bathroom. Walls here are covered with a no-glare tile in a soft shade of green called "glaucous." Upper walls have beige paper with a green and coral design.

Instead of curtains, tiny green shutters cover the window. On the wall back of the sunken tub and shower there is a large storage cabinet. The vanity is white-topped.

In the guest room the floor is oak with a gray wool shag rug covering part of it. All furniture is birch in a finish that looks like cherry. This was part of the Grahams' go-to-housekeeping furniture. So timeless is its design that it looks modern now.

The blue and white wallpaper has silhouette designs of dozens of items found in early American homes. It's a conversation piece if there ever was one. The curtains are white cafe type with blue ball fringe. One wall is painted blue green while the pickled wood doors of the closet have a greenish cast.

The lamp shades are the chief item of interest in this room outside of the wallpaper. Those on the dressing table are white with a pierced and cut design of lily-of-the-valley. Each bell-shaped flower, each leaf is cut out so that the light shines through.

The bedside lamp has a similar shade with strawberries as the theme. The main difference is that the latter shade has colored berries, flowers and leaves, again all carefully cut to give a third-dimension effect. This is a very old art that is not known or practiced by many people today.

In the Grahams' bedroom the floor is covered with champagne color carpeting. Walls are gold and the closet doors have a gold cast. Both closets are walk-in type with door storage.

Beds have cream leather headboards and heirloom - type spreads in a matching shade. The slipper chair is turquoise. Floor length beige draperies in a French provincial print are full over the large picture window and the smaller one above the beds.

Jack's bedroom is on the lower level. His walls are pickled red cedar. To cover the large lakefront window there are gray-green draperies with a water fowl print in various colors. Above the twin beds is a bell that his mother rings from upstairs to wake him up!

Jack is a gun collector. He goes even so far as to make his own bullets for the antique firearms he has. These are displayed above the pink brick fireplace in the library.

This library has dining space also. Furniture is informal, much of it bamboo, from the Grahams' former summer cabin up north. The acoustical ceiling is green.

In the rest of the basement there is a sand color lavatory, a laundry room with red cedar walls and a big storage-furnace room.

Mrs. Graham says she did most of the planning of the new house and Don W. Hunter A. I. A. of Franklin put her ideas on paper for the builder, Al Bazzini. The Grahams have lived at Forest Lake for a little over two years.

Grays and reds are leading colors for back porches in many sections of the United States. In the New England region, gray and green back porches are popular.

BASEMENT LIBRARY — A combination library-recreation room occupies part of the full basement of the Graham home. Son Jack's bedroom adjoins this room. Walls are red cedar with a grayed finish. The fireplace is made of pink bricks. Furniture in this room — all strictly informal — came from the Grahams' northern cabin, a place they no longer own. The guns belong to Jack Graham.

Sizing Fills Pores and Means Less Painting

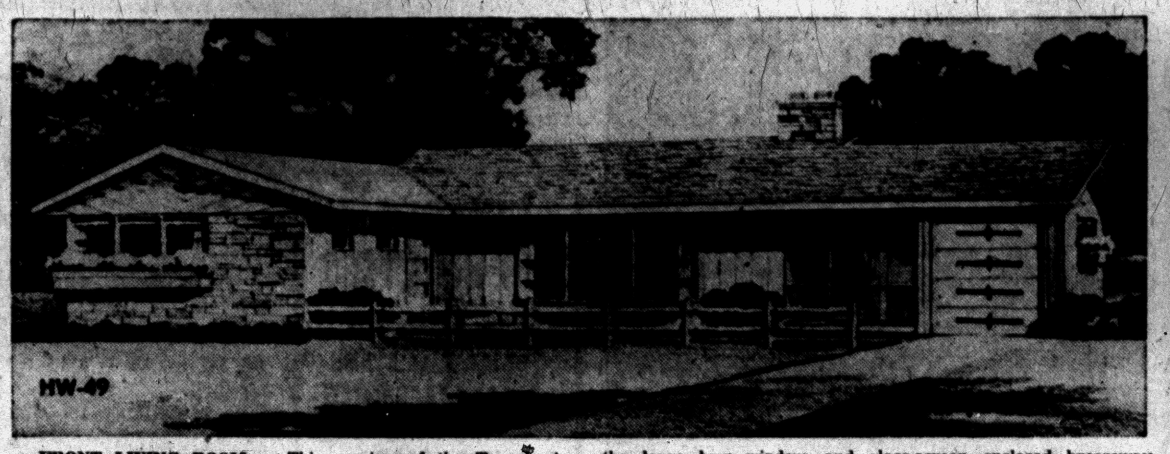

Surfaces which are porous soak up large amounts of ordinary paint. Sizes or sealers fill these pores at the surface, reducing suction. Consequently, these coatings save paint and produce finishes of uniform appearance. The process of using them is called "sizing or sealing."

Many sizes for plaster are essentially water solutions of glue or dextrin. Sometimes thin varnishes and lacquers are used. To combine opacity and sealing, in the same coat, pigmented sealers are used. These sealers allow satisfactory "hiding" with fewer coats.

Budget Priced Ranch Has Turnabout Plan

By ANDREW C. LANG

Now let us present the Turnabout House, which can turn to account the lay of the land that forms your lot!

Is the best view at the front — or at the rear? Wherever it is, that is where the living room in this house goes. The architect, John S. Burrows Jr., has designed alternate plans so that you can choose the layout to fit the location.

See HW-49 Floor Plan Page 21

Design HW-49 in The House of the Week series has more than mere flexibility to recommend it.

A budget-minded home, it yet has many of the features of a high-priced dwelling.

In the living room there is a cathedral ceiling and a Dutch hearth fireplace. There are three bedrooms, 12 closets, an oversize garage with storage facilities, all sliding glass doors leading from the living room to a spacious breezeway.

All this is incorporated in a center hall plan that provides excellent traffic patterns.

Either version of the Turnabout House covers only 1,485 square feet, exclusive of the breezeway and garage. Yet the design is so neatly formulated that there is enough extra space within its confines to allow for do-it-yourself additions if the family handyman (or woman) is so inclined.

In the front living room plan, the kitchen and family room are side by side at the rear. The kitchen has a dramatic stair-rail breakfast bar, while the family room combines formal dining, study and activities in a highly livable area.

This section can be entered from the center hall without going through the living room, just as the living room or the bedrooms can be entered without going through any other rooms. This step-saving pattern is carried out further in the kitchen, where the wall oven, countertop range, dish washer and other appliances are arranged compactly for maximum efficiency.

The center hall is wide enough with its large closets and two bathrooms, to insulate the bedroom wing from the living area, a feature always desirable when children retire earlier than the rest of the family.

Both bathrooms are generous in size. The master bathroom has a stall shower and the family bathroom is of the divided type that is becoming increasingly popular.

Note particularly this unusual feature of the family bathroom: it has access from either the rear bedroom or the center hall.

The third bedroom, situated between the other two, can be used as a den in the event that it is not needed for sleeping. Even then, a studio couch or one of the various convertibles now on the market would make possible its use as an overnight guest room whenever necessary.

The breezeway, with glass or mesh screening, provides a delightful sheltered outdoor living area. With the sliding doors to the living room open, there is an entertainment expanse of more than 30 feet in one direction.

The breezeway barbecue economically uses the same chimney as the living room fireplace. The garage has plenty of room at the rear for storage, a workbench and a closet, and there is a door to the breezeway so that, after parking the car, it is not necessary to go outside again in bad weather.

★ ★ ★

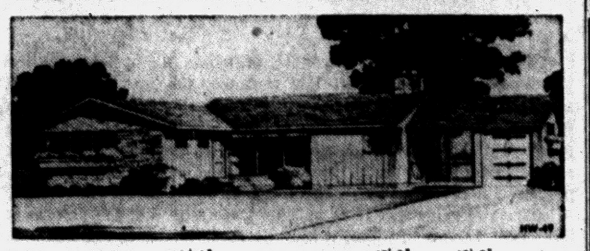

None of the features of Design HW-49 is lost when the alternate plan, with the living room at the back, is used. And in either case, the Turnabout House has a pleasing exterior, modern yet not extreme, combining charm with dignity.

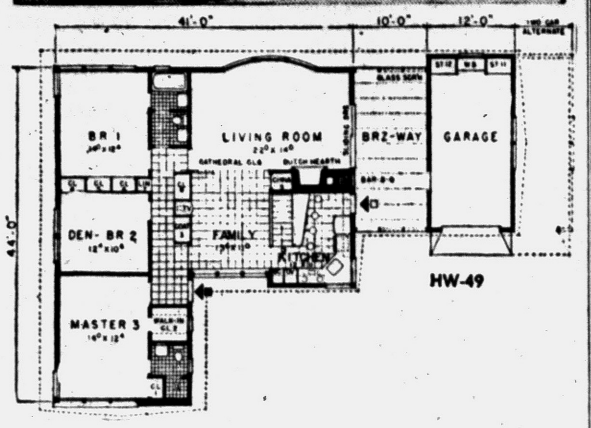

★ ★ ★

Optional Basement

While designed for use with a full basement, this house can be built with a partial basement, over a crawl space or on a concrete slab.

A modern horizontal heating-air conditioning unit will fit in the space now set aside for the stairs to the basement. With a copy of the study plan, you can ask the contractor to estimate the costs of whichever method of construction you choose.

LIVING ROOM IN THE REAR — Here is a view of the back garden living room exterior. In this version of the plan the family room and kitchen are at the front of the house. All other rooms remain the same.

Let Mirror Help You See Your Top Shelves

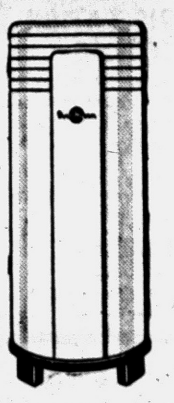

If the top shelves in your kitchen cupboads are hard to see, fix a mirror above them and everything on the shelf comes into view, advises June Cabot, home consultant for the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

You can also create a feeling of more width, Miss Cabot says, if you mirror the space between the cabinets and your work counters; it brightens your work space, too.

NEWS VIEWS

By Realtor Partridge

The way things are going we'll soon be as relaxed as oysters on the half shell. The latest thing to take the strain off our muscles is the Dialaphone. It's a little black box that attaches onto the side of your telephone. Inside the box is a tape punched with the names of the people you call frequently. When you make a call you just turn the dial to the name you want to reach . . . and the Dialaphone does the rest.

This should be a boon to folks whose memories for numbers are shorter than a broken rope. It should also please the ladies with long fingernails. For people who make a career of telephoning, the Dialaphone ought to be the greatest invention since aspirin.

A Kansas City, Mo., man complained that two companions robbed him of $8 while the three of them were riding the patrol wagon to jail. Guess they figured it was their last chance.

Sometimes the "last chance" comes too late. Well, in the field of business opportunities, there'll always be more chances . . . but maybe the BEST chance is ready for you right now! If you're the least bit interested in finding out, come in and talk to us . . . it won't hurt a bit!

Vinegar Undercoat Keeps Paint on Metal

Home owners very often paint the numbers of their houses on garbage cans, so that the right garbage cans are returned to the right houses. When the numbers are painted on galvanized steel cans, the paint often wears off in a few months.

But if the galvanized surface is wiped first with a cloth dampened in a half-and-half mixture of vinegar and water, the paint will cling to the metal better and last three or four times longer.

COFFEE BENCH—The furniture of every era reflects on the people living at that time. For example, the low coffee bench pictured here with television actress Violet Rensing is a design that was used by the early colonists. Their furniture had to be practical and sturdy. Since they had only a few hand tools it was simple and easy to build. This is the type of furniture that improves with use. The more nicks and scratches it has, the better it looks. You can make it as long as you desire and the pattern is laid out in such a way that it may be made higher if you wish. To build this coffee bench all you need do is trace the ufll size pattern on wood, then saw out the parts and finally put them together. The pattern lists the required materials along with easy to read directions. To obtain the full size coffee bench pattern No. 79 send 25c in coin to Steve Ellington, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

Door Panels Add to Decorating Unity

One of the newest ways to give a room more interest and individuality in its decorating scheme is to match picture frames with the panels of panel doors.

Many doors of ponderosa pine come with unusual and distinctive panel in modern and traditional styles. "Stealing" the shapes of these panels and reproducing them in picture frames offers two important advantages in decorating. They are:

1. Color. Both the door and picture frames can be painted the same color, or stained in warm natural wood finishes.

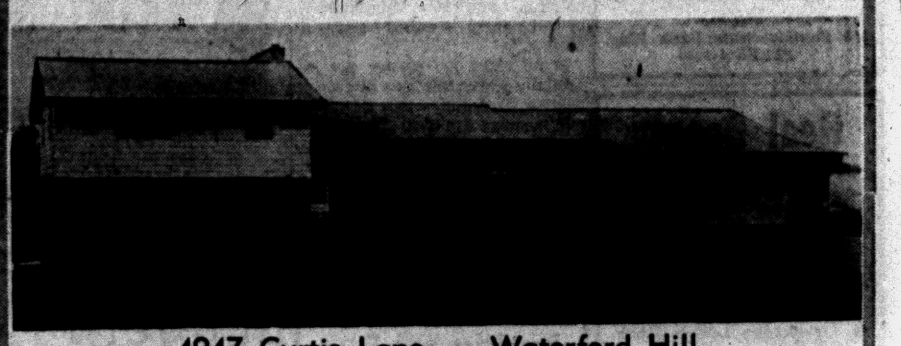

★ ★ ★

2. Unity. Each time the shape and color of a door panel is picked up by a picture frame, that section of the room is related to other parts of the room where the panel shape and color appear.

Don't overlook a periodic inspection of all brickwork around a house, making the repairs before water has a chance to move in and cause damage to inside walls and ceilings.

Look Over Your Boats

The annual sprink overhaul is very important, as you well know. To insure a water-tight hull and deck, all seams should be carefully inspected and caulked where necessary. Be sure to ask for Marine Caulking Compound when making your purchase, since special compounds have been designated for this purpose.

Pine Panel Door Keeps Youngsters Out of Dutch

Keeping a watchful eye on her children without having them underfoot in the kitchen is a problem most mothers have faced. Here's one solution—a panel door of ponderosa pine cut in half to form a Dutch-style entrance to the kitchen. A shelf on top of the lower half makes a serving counter at meal times.

A Duth door also makes an attractive, practical front or rear entrance door. It has the advantage of keeping youngsters inside while the upper half is left open for ventilation. It also permits the housewife to talk to callers without inviting them into the house.

Panel doors of ponderosa pine that can be converted to a Dutch-style door are available as stock doors from building material dealers.

Dutch-style doors also can be used effectively on a child's room, or play room. With the bottom half closed, the youngster can be confined without feeling imprisoned.

Many families use the Dutch door as a novelty entrance to a recreation room, or as an opening onto a patio.

Get the Right Brush

When planning to paint, keep in mind that professional painters say the brush is as important to a good job as the paint or varnish. Paint brushes are made in many types and sizes — all designed to make particular jobs better and easier to do. Your paint dealer will advise you as to the best ones to use for every purpose.

Clear Finish Protects

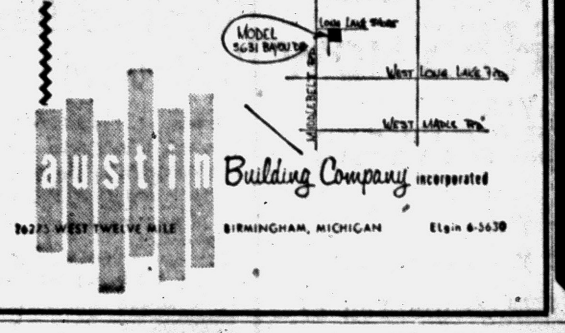

Many new homes have sections composed of redwood or other wood that has beauty of grain the builders want to keep visible. Special varnishes must be used to protect such wood against the weather.

Room Decoration Can Ease or Highten Tension

The way a room is decorated can make a good deal of difference in how a person feels. Decorating basically should east tension, not creat it.

"People have always known," says Miss Adele Whitfield, Kroehler furniture stylist, "that music can produce certain moods. But it took a long time to realize visual sensitivity is as important in mood making.

"We know certain colors are restful, while others are exciting. A room that's done in pale blue, for instance, is a lot more conductive to a good night's rest than a brilliant red."

ated to be restful and yet a cheery place to wake up in the morning.

Some tips for housewives when furnishing are: Choose a soft color scheme and don't "over pattern" your room. Don't try to Avoid furniture that looks about ready to topple and choose sturdy pieces with graceful lines.

HAREM LUXURY — Built-in bunks beat standard equipment all hollow when it comes to space saving. This unit includes bed, under-bed storage for linens, a what-not for precious souvenirs, and wall paneling, all in glowing Douglas fir. Floor-to-ceiling bed posts and a wooden valance add decorative detail. Fir can be finished naturally for modern touch, or painted with Scandinavian motifs to give old-world charm.

Something's Gotta Give

When inserting a wooden dowel into a hole, much of the glue will be squeezed out unless you make some provision for preventing it. You can do this by filing a few ridges into the dowel ahead of time. Also, it's a good idea to make the hole a tiny bit longer than the dowel. In both these cases, you are providing a place for the excess glue.

'Unpolished' Glass Is Introduced

Panels of "unpolished" plate glass—which might be compared with diamonds in the rough—are providing architects and decorators a new material for interior home design.

The panels, transluscent glass that has not been ground or polished like finished plate glass, are particularly suited for room partitions, according to Gordon W. Orbeson, consulting engineer of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, which has decided to market the product for the first time.

In its unpolished state, the glass has an unusual "free-flowing" grained surface pattern that makes it especially suitable for modern decor. It transmits a cool, greenish light.

"Rough plate glass 'blanks' of this kind answer the need of many architects for a transluscent glass in large sizes for partitions, screens and background areas," said Orbeson. "It should prove particularly useful where stair levels, floor construction and other details can be obscurred without reducing natural light from outdoors."

Women Want Take-Out Windows

The official report of the government-sponsored "Women's Congress on Housing" held in Washington reveals that the majority of representatives prefer removable double-hung windows.

Window makers cite these advantages of the wood double-hung type:

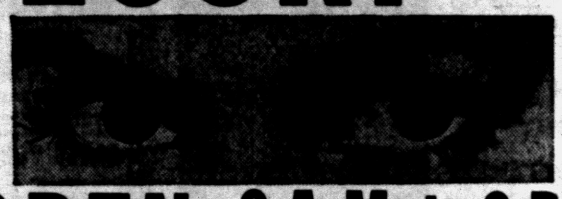

They provide smart residential styling, convey an impression of warmth and charm, are natural insulators, and can be painted to blend with any interior or exterior color scheme. In addition, they provide a maximum of ventilation.

Because they can be removed from the frame and handled indoors, they cut cleaning and painting time to a minimum.

ADAPTED FROM THE SCANDINAVIAN — Introduced in Chicago at the recent Furniture Market by Sligh of Grand Rapids and Armstrong Furniture Co. of Martinsburg, West Virginia was this striking upholstered chair adapted from original Scandinavian design. Exposed wood parts are "enchanted walnut" and foam rubber is used exclusively for cushioning. The chair is available in a variety of textures, patterns and colors. 27½" wide, 32" deep and 33" high.

'Entertainment Wall' Houses Hi-Fi Gear

Many high-fidelity fans are building "entertainment walls" with cabinets of ponderosa pine. The spacious cabinets house all the necessary hi-fi paraphernalia, recored player and speakers, with plenty of storage for records.

A television set also can be included in the "wall." An ideal arrangement for this is to use a kitchen cabinet of ponderosa pine designed to hold a wall oven.

Folding Door Care Is Easy

Dampened Cheese Cloth Plus Clean-Up Wax Does Job Efficiently

Accordion-fold doors and room dividers are fast becoming popular in the American home and many housewives are wondering how best to keep them clean and bright.

★ ★ ★

A clean-up wax originally formulated for kitchen equipment does an excellent job of cleaning polishing and protecting the material, whether it be washable, vinyl-coated nylon or other plastic coated fabrics. Many of these materials are made to resemble leather.

This beats sponging with soapy water, rinsing and drying as a cleaning method and it has the added advantage of leaving a lovely sheen of wax protection against future soiling and finger marks.

To apply clean-up wax you dip a clean, soft cloth (preferably cheese cloth) in cool water; then wring out as dry as possible. Fold it into a thick pad to fit the hand and then work a little of the wax into the cloth. Open the accordion-fold about half way and apply the wax to a small section, working up and down in the groove and rubbing just enough to loosen soil and remove finger marks. While the wax is slightly moist, polish dry with a soft cloth folded into a generous size pad.

★ ★ ★

Instead of holding the buffing pad flat in the palm of the hand, grasp it as you would the back of a scrubbing brush. Work from the bottom of the door up, waxing a small section at a time.

Zone Heating in Big House

The larger and more spread-out a home is, the greater the need for zoning the heating system.

★ ★ ★

This point was repeatedly emphasized in exhibits at the recent International Heating and Air Conditioning Exposition in Chicago.

A single thermostat cannot be expected to control temperature properly in a home where heating requirements differ widely from one section to another, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau points out.

If the thermostat is set to provide sufficient heat for the coldest part of the house, other sections will be overheated and fuel wasted.

★ ★ ★

Zoning sets up as many different heating circuits as there are areas to be heated. Each circuit has its own thermostat, a circulating pump at the boiler to provide heat when needed, and a flow control valve to shut off the supply of hot water to room heat distributors when the thermostat has been satisfied.

With a zoned heating system, the temperature in sleeping areas can be kept lower than in the living area, and a still lower temperature will be maintained in the service section (kitchen and laundry).

Fuel economies more than pay for the cost of extra equipment required to zone a hot water heating system, and the improvement in over-all comfort conditions is marked.

IT'S FOR THE BIRDS — The best way to encourage birds to settle around a home is to build some bird houses and shelters like those shown here with NBC's television starlet Alice Shaw. Each of these articles was designed to provide just the kind of a home that a bird likes. For example, robins will not move into a house, they prefer a shelter that's more open to the weather, so we've provided a couple of those. The martin house was designed so you can add as many floors as you wish. They seem to like the apartment house sort of living. The wren house is small and just right for a family of wrens. The shelter is one that you can put crumbs in. It's mounted on a post in such a way that it turns with the wind. This keeps the open side away from the wind and provides shelter for the birds while they eat. To obtain the full size bird house patterns pictured, and listed below, send your coin, check or currency to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, California.

No. 143 Martin House 50c
No. 144 Wren House 25c
No. 145 Feeding Shelter 50c
No. 146 Robin Shelters 25c

You may save 50 cents by ordering all of the patterns listed above for $1.00. Just ask for bird house assortment No. C-5.

Model Home Will Test New Building Materials

WASHINGTON (INS) — Building materials and techniques not yet in general use will be tsted in an experiment started recently to produce better homes at lower costs. The quarter of a million dollar project is being sponsored by the research institute of the National Association of Home Builders.

★ ★ ★

It is extended to give builders and buyers an idea of what is possible in a medium priced home in the next two to five years rather than as a "dream house" for some far day in the future.

Since the house will be only a prototype using many materials not yet on the market, the NAHB would not put a price tag on it. But a spokesman indicated it would sell for less than $30,000.

The dwelling will be of conventional contemporary rambler design with three bedrooms, two baths, and a two-car garage.

New materials to be tested include pre-formed tempered hardboard for exterior siding, plastic-on-plywood sheets for roofing and buckle - resistant hardwood one-eighth inch thick over concrete for flooring.

A combination heating and cooling system, easy to install, and accessible for servicing, will be used to coordinate major assemblies generally available only in separate units.

Kitchen equipment will include a countertop range, wall oven, dish washer, freezer-refrigerator, disposal unit and a new type of cabinet storage—all color-styled to complement one another.

The bathroom will feature a wall-mounted water closet and a slightly elevated bathtub,—both high on the list of desired improvements wanted by the women's congress on housing last year.

Once the home is completed—with constant builder and manufacturer inspection of progress—it will be sold at current market value. The buyer will have to allow observation of performance and human reaction to the new materials over a period of years.

It is to be constructed by Washington builder Clarke Daniel in Kensington, Md., a northwest suburb of Washington.

From a builder's point of view, the research house has been designed to use modular measure throughout. Construction will be simplified and more standardized by use of materials prepared in multiples of four inches.

Painted Ones Last Longer

According to Kansas State College Extension Service, painted farm buildings last 43.5 per cent longer than unpainted one. What's more, painted structures give a prosperous, cheerful and trim appearance — and increase the value of the property.

Keep Moisture From Brick

Moisture can cause damage to brick structures by invading inner walls. Adequately painted or given a clear, waterproof coating, a brick building will resist rain and remain comfortable and dry. Savings in fuel will also result.

'Egghead' Rates Dictionary Status for 'Highbrow'

EAST LANSING (AP) — The term "egghead" is here to stay as a descriptive part of our language, a college girl from Illinois has declared.

Leta Gray, a sophomore competing from Northern Illinois State College, DeKalb, Ill., in the 83rd annual Interstate Oratorical Association contest at Michigan State University, has done considerable research on the term.

She noted that Webster's collegiate dictionary now defines an egghead as "an intellectual or highbrow."

"Another definition," she said, "might be one who takes more words than necessary to say more than he knows."

More seriously, she termed an egghead one who has cultivated some skill in a specific field of learning but who does not divorce himself from other fields.

"The egghead is the intellectual who can clearly see 'the big picture,'" she said.

Miss Gray, a speech major, said that the term was tossed about loosely until 1952, "when a fellow Illinoian, Adlai Stevenson, become the first fully recognized egghead."

"He fitted the term perfectly because of his intellectual views and his baldneses," she said.

Lawmakers Kill Bill for MSU Construction

LANSING (AP)—A bill to pave the way for a 50 million dollar construction program at Michigan State University has been killed by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The measure, strongly advocated by President John A. Hannah, would have permitted MSU to pledge student fees for retirement and interest on bonds to finance the building projects.

Kill Proposal Increasing Fines for Railroads

LANSING (AP)—The Senate killed a bill to increase from $25 to $100 the fine against railroads for obstructing public streets for more than five minutes.

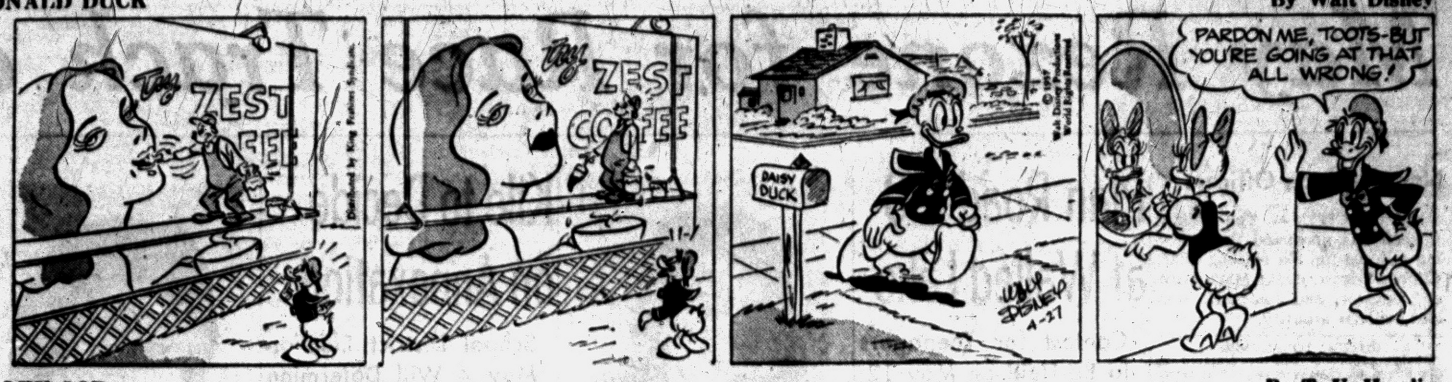

The measure was sent back to committee after Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater) brought in a resolution for a special study of the crossing obstruction problem.

'Cooling-Off' Periods in Divorce Cases OK'd

LANSING (AP) — The Senate reversed itself yesterday and passed 24-7 a bill providing for a 60-day cooling off period in divorce cases.

The change in sentiment came on a motion by Sen. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit) to reconsider a roll call yesterday in which the bill failed to muster the necessary favorable vote.

Lightning Hits Twice; Burns Barn at Thomas

THOMAS — Lightning struck the barn on the Cleve Hunt farm on Brewer road here during Thursday's electrical storm. The barn and contents were burned to the ground.

★ ★ ★

The owner lost a tractor, four tons of baled hay and numerous tools, plus two rubber-tired steel wagons housed in the barn by a neighbor.

The building, valued at $10,000, was covered only by $800 in insurance.

★ ★ ★

The same storm caused about $80 damage to the furnace of Bert Webster, 521 Second St., when lightning struck and damaged the electrical works.

Slate Hearing for Residents

To Hear Public Opinion on Change to Industrial From Agricultural

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A public hearing has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at the Commerce Township Hall to enable township residents to voice opinions on a zoning change request that could lead to the construction of a race track.

The hall is located at 2840 Fisher avenue.

The Zoning Board has received a request to rezone a large parcel of land located near Haggerty Road in the vicinity of the Commerce Drive-In Theater.

A request has been made asking that the property involved be rezoned from A-1 (agricultural) to M-2 (heavy industrial.)

The M-2 classification is needed for a race track because a large grandstand would be erected to provide seats for spectators.

Unofficial sources say that the type of race track under consideration would be used for horse races.

After the public hearing is held, Zoning Board officials will forward the rezoning request to the Oakland County Coordinating Committee for approval. The request is then returned to the Commerce Township Zoning Board for a vote.

If the Zoning board approves the rezoning of the property, the request is then forwarded to the Commerce Township Board for approval or rejection. Should the Township Board approve the request, the zoning change becomes effective, subject to a 30-day period in which township residents may file a petition to bring the issue to a public vote.

Bible Study Courses to Start Sunday Evening

The Christian Education committee of the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, will offer a series of Sunday evening classes for adults beginning tomorrow at 8 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The first in the series is a Bible study, "How to Understand the Book of Revelation," to be taught by the pastor, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard.

Other classes will be offered later. William David is chairman of the Christian Education committee and J. O. Sarto, chairman of the sub committee on adult work.

The Kuples Klub will serve as hosts at the "Spring Parents' Night," of the church school on May 4.

WORK ON DISPLAY

Exhibits of work will be on display at 5 p.m. Dinner is scheduled for 6 p.m. with a program by various departments of the school at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary.

This will be the last in the series of programs on the theme, "Parents Are Teachers, Too."

Worship committee announces a service of rededication of the recently remodelled and refurnished sanctuary at 5 p.m. on Sunday May 5.

The Rev. Barney D. Roepke, former pastor of the Orchard Lake Church and the Rev. Dr. Harold Fredsell, stated clerk of the Prebytery of Detroit, will be guests for the occasion.

Special Service Slated by Pontiac Pastors

The Pontiac Pastors' Association will sponsor a special service Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in the First Baptist Church. Featured at this service will be R. G. LeTourneau of Texas, an industrialist, philanthropist and outstanding Christian business man.

Dr. Thelma James to Speak Thursday

Dr. Thelma Gray James, professor of English and director of the Folklore project at Wayne State University, will speak at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the auditorium of the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Assn.

The afternoon program is sponsored by the Angelus Guild of St. Mary's in the Hills Church. Tea will be served at the close of the meeting.

Dr. James is not only an educator but also a civic leader and a worker among young people of all nationalities. She has served on the Board of Sophie Wright Settlement and for three years was president of the International Institute.

When Detroit celebrated its 250th birthday in 1950, she was chairman of the Nationalities Committee. She has also served on the Board of Directors of the Women's City Club of Detroit.

Making arrangements for the affair are Mrs. Leonard Grinnell, Mrs. Clarence Butler, Mrs. Newton Skillman Jr., Mrs. James Fucon and Mrs. Donald Schultz.

Gets 3 Years to Make Good Wedding Costs

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP)—Park Groff has been given three years to make good on the bad checks he used to pay his daughter's wedding expenses.

Bergen County Judge Arthur J. O'Dea yesterday gave Groff a 364-day suspended jail sentence, fined him $150 and placed him on probation for three years, during which time Groff is to make restitution on three bad checks totaling $1,057.

Groff, 43, of Hawthorne and Lancaster, Pa., pleaded guilty April 2 to uttering false checks and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Last August he gave a restaurant here an $836 check to pay for his daughter's wedding reception, cashed another for $100 and bought a wedding gown with a third for $121. All three checks bounced.

Missionary Sunday Set at Gingellville

The Gingellville Baptist Church will celebrate Missionary Sunday with presentations of the specific stories of missionaries who are supported by the group, at 11 a.m. The 7:30 p.m. service will be a 72-minute new film by Concordia entitled, "The Unfinished Task." The public has been invited to attend.

Supervisor Wants Township Reassessed

Says Favoritism Shown in Assessing

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — "The entire township must be reassessed — there is no equitable tax assessment in Farmington Township," Frank J. Stephenson, supervisor, declared today.

"There are businesses and residences not even on the tax rolls and the little fellow has been paying the shot for years. Conditions have been such that people were afraid to open their mouths.

"There has been a terrible lot of favoritism shown in the way of assessment," he continued, and if anybody wants proof they come into the office and we will show it to them."

Stephenson stated that the tax ratio of some businesses was 165.7 per cent while others were as low as 25 per cent. The average is 50 per cent he said.

"Some of these businesses were being taxed out of the township and they employ large numbers of men," he said. "We can't afford to lose them."

The board will be asked by Stephenson to appoint two new tax assessors to assist William Gallagher, present assessor. Then the entire township must be reassessed and each house measured for square footage.

"We will try, in the next two years, to get everybody on an equitable basis," Stephenson said, "But it will be a long, drawn-out affair.

"If certain people had paid their fair share for years, there would be more money available for schools and public services," he said. "I am sure the board will go along with me in the appointment of assessors."

Half of All Cases Are Curable

Know Facts About Cancer, Boost Chances of Survival

(This is the last of six articles written for INS providing the facts on cancer detection and treatment for a sane, sensible and lifesaving approach to the problems of that disease.)

By DAVID A. WOOD, M.D.
President American Cancer Society

Don't be a cancerphobe. But don't be an ostrich. You can have the facts of cancer in your mind without having them on your mind.

Today one-half of all cancer cases are curable. But only one-third are actually being saved, simply because all the curable cancers are not detected in time.

You can make sure of giving yourself the full fifty-fifty chance. The responsibility is yours, because the doctor cannot detect a hidden early cancer unless you go to him: For a regular yearly checkup, and to explore any warning signal of cancer, as soon as you recognize it.

Just a few years ago only one-quarter of all cancer cases were saved. The new and hopeful look of cancer is due in part to increasing public knowledge of the disease. Under continuous onslaught of the American Cancer Society's educational program, more and more people are getting to the doctor in time.

EARLY DIAGNOSIS

Meanwhile, the general practitioner is learning to diagnose the disease earlier. The surgeon has developed techniques for removing growths from parts of the body hitherto considered inaccessible. And the radiologist has developed more powerful and effective X-rays.

Every year surgeons believe they have reached the ultimate in cancer surgery; every year some surgeon somewhere discovers some new technique for saving life. Operations once considered miracles of the knife are now routine. "Radical surgery" once used reluctantly is now commonplace; renegade cells must not be left behind to spread to new sites.

So in some cases the surgeon returns for a "second look," re-operates after several months to remove any microscopic tumor that may have been left after the original operation.

ANESTHESIA BETTER

Better anesthesia makes more extensive operations possible. Sulfa drugs and antibodies reduce the possibility of infection and hasten post-operative recovery. And improved methods of blood and plasma transfusions help to control shock.

After the cancer is removed, the site is sometimes saturated with cancer-destroying nitrogen mustard or with radioactive substances which are given to arrest the growth of malignant cells left behind.

Radioactive gold, cobalt and iodine, all used in treating cancer, are by-products of the atomic bomb. Some 500 of these "radioactive isotopes" can be produced in atomic ovens; thus far only half a dozen have proved useful in cancer therapy.

METHOD VARIES

They are threaded and sewn through tumor tissue; mixed with plastic in plaques that are plastered over cancers; suspended in fluid to flood cancerous cavities; and injected into the blood stream to be drawn to malignant tissues for which they have a special affinity.

Great progress has been made in destroying cancer with radiant energy; X-rays and radium rays, as well as similar ionizing radiation from isotopes. Rays with hundreds of millions of volts can now penetrate the innermost parts of the body. One method turns the patient in a revolving chair; another supervoltage unit revolves around the patient. Both are designed to bombard deep-seated tumors while sparing normal tissue of the overlying skin.

Surgery and radiation are the only methods of saving life from cancer. No drug has yet been found that cures human cancer.

A few years ago the quest for a drug to cure cancer was considered far-fetched. Today, the American Cancer Society is supporting numerous projects in this vast area of research. Thousands and thousands of compounds are being tested to find one that can poison human cancer cells and leave the normal cells undamaged.

Compounds have been found that kill cancer in animals without killing the animal, or that make them immune to the disease. And a dozen or more compounds, used in the treatment of human cancer, are successfully prolonging the patient's life; sometimes he is restored to health and the cancer disappears—temporarily.

It seems unlikely that any single drug will be the answer to all human cancers. It is more probable that a large series of drugs will be found, each specific for a different kind of cancer.

That is the conviction of many men of science. They believe the great breakthrough to a 100 per cent cure eventually will come in the field of chemotherapy, that cancer will be added to the list of diseases that have been defeated in this century of medical knowhow.

Just Don't Fix Spaghetti for Actress Pat Owens

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It's a great dish, spaghetti. I know — I lived on it once for six weeks."

★ ★ ★

So says Canadian-born, English-trained, American-discovered Patricia Owens, an actress with the prettiest, brownest eyes you ever saw. She's one of Hollywood's brightest star prospects today, but there were times when her career was going nowhere.

"I was living in a London flat with another girl," Patricia recalled. "Neither of us was getting acting jobs and our money was getting pretty low.

"We managed to get by with spaghetti for every dinner. It was very practical; it was cheap and it could be stretched to last from one night to the next.

"I can't face a plate of it now, but perhaps in 10 years I'll start eating it again."

★ ★ ★

Patricia was born in British Columbia. Her English parents returned to England when she was 8 and she went to school there, starting in repertory at an early age. Despite her British schooling, her Canadian accent hung on.

★ ★ ★

"I was always losing acting jobs because they said I sounded too American," she remembered.

Rave reviews in a West End play won her a contract with J. Arthur Rank and she thought she had arrived. But the Rank fortunes were on the skids at the time, and she languished under contract without a picture for a year.

Back on the stage, she again attracted good notices, and soon she became queen of the British B's, potboiler movies that weren't exported to this country.

Her big break came when she did the first dramatic show on the new English commercial TV station. Twentieth Century-Fox officials saw her, tested her, signed her. In quick succession she has been assigned to big roles in "Island in the Sun," "Sayonara" and "Down Payment."

Falls on Live Wires

FLINT (AP) — Calvin Russell, 32, of Davison, a Consumers Power Co. employe, suffered severe burns on the legs Thursday in falling on live wires while climbing down a utility pole. He was reported recovering in Hurley Hospital.

Landslide Blocks Train of Western Maryland

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — Piles of rock and dirt cascaded down on the Western Maryland Railway tracks east of here last night.

★ ★ ★

Railway officials said no one was hurt in the landslide and no trains were in the area. They said all trains have been rerouted over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad between Cherry Run, W. Va. and Cumberland.

★ ★ ★

Officials said they did not expect the 35 feet of debris to be cleared from the tracks for several hours.

Dr. Albert Wiggam Dies After Long Sickness

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam, who as author, lecturer and columnist delivered discourses to the American public for nearly 60 years, is dead at 84.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Wiggam wrote editorials for the Minneapolis Journal before the turn of the century, lectured on the Lyceum and Chautauqua circuits until 1919, and was the author of the currently syndicated newspaper column, "Let's Explore Your Mind." He also wrote many books. Death came yesterday at his home here, after a long illness.

Man's Vision Bests Radar in Driving

DETROIT (AP)—Man's peripheral vision—the ability to see out of the corner of his eye—makes him a better driver than radar, the mechanical eye.

Radar has "tunnel vision," Roy Haeusler, Chrysler Corp.'s chief automotive safety engineer, told a meeting of 400 neuro-surgeons here yesterday. That means radar can see only straight ahead.

Haeusler told the doctors about the results of simulated "radar-controlled" tests Chrysler ran under normal driving conditions.

Radar also was too cautious, he said, giving the driver no leeway.

"What it boils down to," said Haeusler, "is that a radar-equipped electronic brain is unable to predict a potential collision course on anything but a straight line."
