Loss of Two Top Men to Test County GOP

By GEORGE TRUMBULL JR.

Now that Michigan has lured away the cream of the crop of Oakland County's Republican Committee, the question is whether the organization will go sour.

Reputed to be the prototype of GOP county committees in the state for the past several years, the volunteer-abundant group faces its acid test in 1962 after the departure this year of the No. 1 and No. 2 men.

Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr., the power behind the committee, has resigned to devote more time to his Royal Oak real estate business. His right-hand man, John A. Gibbs, is already exercising his talents at organization with State Chairman George M. Van Pelt.

With them at the helm of the pre-emptive machine, Michigan's second largest county of 400,000 has maintained the edge, although slight, for the Republican presidential nominee. This despite being nearly swallowed up by a population explosion coming from industrial and labor-strong neighboring counties.

A nothing in politics until 1953 when his wife urged him to stop complaining and do something about national and state conditions. Elliott, 44, hopes to assist in drafting a new state constitution. He's a nominee from Oakland's 5th legislative district.

Elliott, who took his wife's advice and was elected precinct delegate in 1952, and Gibbs, 29, his executive director since Elliott became chairman in 1957, are credited with rescuing Oakland County from further inroads by their Democratic counterparts.

Elliott climbed from his post as 1956 county campaign director.

Rain to Continue Through Thursday

The skies were overly generous in sending unpredictable rain during the night and morning. Occasional showers likely through Thursday is today's forecast.

Temperatures will drop to a low of 64 tonight and rise to 80 tomorrow.

For the next five days temperatures will average near a normal high of 80 and normal low of 60. Saturday will be somewhat cooler with only minor day to day changes otherwise.

Precipitation will total about one half inch in occasional showers Thursday and Saturday.

Rainfall from 10:15 yesterday until the same time today registered 2.0 of an inch.

Sixty-one was the lowest reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 67 at 2 p.m.

AMC, Union Negotiating in Secret Session

Report Reuther, Auto VP in Intensified Talks on Profit-Sharing Plan

From Our News Wire

DETROIT — American Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers clamped on the secrecy lid today in new contract negotiations.

Company and union spokesmen said UAW President Walter P. Reuther and AMC Vice President Edward L. Cushman were meeting at an undisclosed location today for what Reuther said would be intensified negotiations on the company's profit-sharing proposal made July 28.

Meanwhile, the UAW filed a charge of unfair labor practices against General Motors because the company has refused repeatedly to furnish the union with "secret" information on prices and profits.

The union filed the charge with the National Labor Relations Board after GM ignored a third request by the UAW for the data.

The union also notified Ford Motor Co. it considered Tuesday's contract offer "totally unacceptable" and said it will urge the Ford-UAW national council to reject it.

The UAW said its 13-man Ford National Council, representing Ford workers throughout the nation, would meet in Detroit Aug. 29—two days before the contract expires—to take action.

Malcolm Deane, Ford vice president in charge of industrial relations, said the union "took quite a bit of time at our two-hour meeting this morning to tell us it was a lousy proposal and they didn't know how we had the audacity to put it before them."

He said the union described the Ford offer as "hopelessly inadequate."

GM, Ford and Chrysler have offered a minimum 21-cent hourly increase in wages over the next three years and fringe benefits improvements which the union said would only cost the companies an hour.

The companies said some of the fringe benefit costs would be absorbed by the Cape during the actual launch.

Mercury Test Nearly 'A-OK'

4,000 - Pound Capsule Passes Final Exam; Unmanned Flight Set

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—America's 4,000-pound Mercury space capsule was pronounced in near perfect working condition today by scientists who hope to send it on an unmanned orbital flight this week.

The capsule has been given a final going over and will be launched in the noon of an Atlas booster in a key preliminary test for a manned flight late this year or early in 1962.

This week's flight will be a check-out of the Atlas launching vehicle and the ability to bring the capsule out of orbit and down to a predetermined landing spot in the Atlantic Ocean.

It was to make one circle of the earth, but U.S. space plans call for the astronaut to make an orbital flight of three trips in the manned shot.

Several failures in the booster on previous Mercury tests and the extreme difficulty of directing an unmanned spacecraft have caused considerable tension among scientists in charge of the test.

Numerous conferences have been held on the project. American astronaut Alan Shepard, Virgil Grissom and John Glenn will have stations at the Cape during the actual launch.

Commissioners awarded the contract with stipulations that local labor be hired and wages and fringe benefits conform to the current local union scale. The company agreed.

Final contract agreements are expected to be signed by Mayor Philip E. Rowston at the Sept. 5 commission meeting.

Demolition will begin that week and the two-year clearance project will be under way.

To be torn down in the first project are some 219 homes and similar structures and another 82 minor buildings such as garages and sheds.

Almost all are residential structures, with the exception of a few gas stations and small stores.

A contract for commercial clearance is slated for letting sometime this fall.

SE NOW VACATED

According to R. Martin Sumner, a city engineer working closely with residential clearance, the area to be cleared is bounded on the east by Saginaw, north by Pike, east by Parkhurst and Paddock, and the south by Osborn Street.

"About 50 structures are already vacated and ready for demolition," Sumner said. Another group of 80 have been acquired but are not vacated yet.

Some 150 structures remain to be acquired. Land will be cleared as the structures are bought and vacated, Sumner explained.

Work is estimated to be completed in 18 to 24 months. Late spring about a half dozen homes were demolished by the Department of Public Works in an effort to bolster employment.

The commercial phase of clearance, slated to begin before Christmas, will call for demolition of buildings along Saginaw Street from Weston to Pike streets.

Rocket Put Into Orbit MP's Protect

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States fired a satellite launch platform into orbit today but it failed to send a piggyback payload on a projected million-mile round-trip into space.

It was indicated—but not immediately certain—that the two units did not separate. Nevertheless, scientists expected signals from the space craft to yield some measure of valuable data.

The purpose of the flight was to test techniques for launching future vehicles to the moon, Mars and Venus.

A powerful Atlas-Agena rocket blasted off at 5:04 a.m. The Agena second stage spun into a "parking orbit" from which the 625-pound payload, Ranger I, was to have been flung into space.

The Agena, with power shut off, was designed to follow its orbit for 14 minutes until it reached a point before beginning to build up speed to 23,800 miles an hour and kick Ranger loose. Ranger was intended to go into a highly elliptical orbit with a high point of 30,000 miles. The Agena was to continue on a path about 100 miles up.

NEAR EARTH INSTEAD

But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced 3 1/2 hours after the launching that the Agena rocket stage and the space craft are in a near earth orbit rather than the highly eccentric orbit planned for the flight.

The Agena and Ranger were following an orbit path from 100 to 200 miles above the earth. Each pass around the globe takes 90 minutes.

An official said there was every indication the two did not separate. But he said there is an outside possibility they are in separate orbits, close together. Radio data are being studied to determine what went wrong.

WANT INSTRUMENT INFO

An official expressed hope of learning at least how the instrument packages functioned.

"The instruments are designed to gather data from out in space," he said. "However, even in the near-earth orbit we should gain something."

James D. Burke, Project Ranger manager for NASA's jet propulsion laboratory, reported a loss of radio contact with the vehicle after the Agena fired the second time high over the South Atlantic.

There was some thought at the time that the entire payload might have plunged into the ocean. However, a tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., picked up signals more than two hours after launching as Ranger crossed the coast on its first east-to-west orbit.

If the cigar-shaped satellite had been achieved, Goldstone was not to have received radio reports from Ranger until four hours later.

Another rocket and a second payload, Ranger II, are available for a new effort tentatively set for this fall.

Echo Schedule

Echo I will send it way across our skies again tonight at 9:30, coming out of the south and proceeding southeast at 53 degrees.

7 Exits Remain Open; Only One to Non-Germans

5 More Crossing Points Sealed; GIs and Tanks Guard Border

BERLIN (AP)—The three Western Allies pushed tanks and infantry up to the sector border dividing Berlin today in the face of new Communist restrictions on traffic between the East and West parts of the city.

"The commandants are taking the necessary action to insure the security and integrity of the sector border," said a spokesman for the U.S. British and French commanders.

Patton tanks from the U.S. Army appeared at the Friedrichshagen crossing point, which the East German Communists now insist must be used by all foreigners going into East Berlin.

For the first time since the Reds set up barricades 10 days ago to halt the flow of refugees, the East German regime was willing Americans and other Westerners where they could and could not enter East Berlin. Western officials condemned the restrictions as illegal interference.

The East German regime again had shut five more gates to the city. Two weeks ago 80 were open. Now there are seven. The Western Allies responded within a few hours, sending forces right up to the sector borders.

Other Stories, Pictures on Pages 5, 34

Within minutes the Communists brought up reinforcements on their side of the wall of barbed wire and concrete they have erected to strangle free movement in the city.

West German border police said they saw armed personnel carried with Communist people's police—who are armed as infantry—move up to positions along the Allied troops.

Later today the Communists announced that most of the factory militia who have been patrolling the barricades were being withdrawn and returned to their work benches. About 5,000 militiamen were reviewed by East German boss Walter Ulbricht and Paul Verner, Communist party chief for East Berlin.

Mayor Willy Brandt's West Berlin government announced it was firing its own countermeasures, and he would not allow "undesirable" persons from East Berlin to cross into West Berlin.

The government also denounced an "attribution" a proposal from East Berlin Mayor Friedrich Ebert to let up to two Communist travel agencies in West Berlin where West Berliners could get permits to visit the Eastern zone.

Fired Frank Lane Blasts Back at A's Owner

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Lane, fired as general manager of the Kansas City Club, fired back at owner Charles O. Finley today with a salvo of accusations including a charge that Finley had contemplated moving the franchise to Dallas-Fort Worth.

In announcing Lane's firing Tuesday, Finley accused the 65-year-old baseball official of lying and spreading harmful rumors about the all over the country.

Lane not only denied these charges but in a telephone interview from Kansas City termed Finley a "liar," a "know-nothing," and "egotistical" and a "person harmful to the best interests of the baseball public in Kansas City."

Hurd Division to Leave Almont

Lock Firm's Service Branch Going South; Rest May Follow

ALMONT (UPI) — Hurd Lock Co. Service Division Manager Julius Cleveland today confirmed that operations will be moved from Almont to Greenville, Tenn. The local plant employs 200.

Peter Popp, president of United Auto Workers Local 831 which represents the Hurd workers here, said the union offered to take 40-cent hourly wage cuts to keep the service division in Almont.

But he said the company gave no assurance that the wage cut would keep the service division here as the other was withdrawn.

Only the service division of Hurd's Almont operation is affected. Popp said Hurd has indicated the remainder of the local operation will also be moved to Greenville if the service division moves.

Hurd Lock is a subsidiary of Avus Industrial Corp. of Detroit.

News Editorial Lashes Out at Irresponsible Union Action Courthouse

DETROIT (AP) — Picketing by five Miami pressmen, which has halted publication of the Detroit Free Press since Saturday, is "a current demonstration of why some newspapers have died," the Detroit News said in an editorial today.

The five "old time" pressmen, Miami pressmen who have come north to advertise in Detroiters chairman the year later, plucking Gibbs away from the county Young Republicans. Together they helped inch the GOP vote from a marginal 50.6 per cent average that year to 54 per cent last year when Michigan was going for the Democratic presidential nominee for the first time since 1944.

SIGNIFICANT GAIN

Not a large gain, but significant considering the population trends which appear to favor the Democrats.

County GOP workers like to point to 1960 when they swept 24 out of 27 contests.

Republican votes for the White House in 1960, 54.6 per cent in 1962, to 62.5 in 1960, to 57 per cent last year, in the Wayne County comparable figures were 43.7, 47 and 53.6 per cent.

Oakland, however, stayed with former Vice President Nixon—although Pontiac, the county seat, favored President Kennedy by holding 54.5 per cent of the vote, in the Eisenhower years of 1960 and 1962 the margins were 61 and 63.5 per cent, respectively.

"Art's been able to awaken many people to the fact that they have more than just vote in order for us to keep our place here," said Elliott's predecessor Chad M. Ritchie.

Elliott, his fellow Republican, is a lawyer who has been in politics since his late father's death. He has allowed him to take the non-paying job. He is backed up by a full-time, five-member staff which works out of headquarters in Birmingham.

"GOOD ORGANIZATION"

"I approach politics from the standpoint of submerging personal ambitions for the development of good party organization," Elliott explained.

The crewcut, slightly graying Elliott, a little man with a smiling face, last January turned down a sure chance for the state chairmanship.

March of Elliott's and Gibbs' genius for organizing, embracing a well-balanced diet of research, education, press relations, development, special events, finance and field organization, went with Gibbs to his new job in Lansing in the form of a plan of reorganization.

"They've made it stylish to work for the party," said Charles A. Perry, county committee chairman who has led the Elliott-Gibbs story to news media.

Part of the success is due to the two men taking advantage of the fund-raising and promotional talents of men and women of industry and charitable organizations who live in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area.

Elliott initiated morning get-togethers over coffee so the heretofore just-youthful GOP housewife could meet candidates and learn what the party stands for.

The leaders have made the workers feel a part of the committee by publishing 25,000 shareholders reports which received nationwide circulation.

ADD TO COMMITTEE

They've put meaning to the grass roots by adding 74 associate members to the governing executive committee, "as proof we're trying to run anything on our own," Elliott said.

"You can run an organization like the bus-Tannum Hall-type with the iron fist or you can let the people run it," said one of Elliott's township lieutenants.

Republicans Lose Top Duo

This is the beauty of Art's argument," he said. "The chance they have is to be the party of the select few."

"As a result he has rallied around the Goldwaters, Nixons and Rockefeller."

This makes it easier to raise money. In the first seven months of this year, a record high $57,351 has come into the till.

And Elliott really believes in the old axiom "never underestimate the power of a woman." He puts them to work through a council of 21 women's clubs.

"If I had one single thing I couldn't do without in this organization it's the women volunteers," Elliott said.

And the work has only begun.

"We're up to 40 per cent organized," he said.

Court Martial Resumes Today

Dismissal Arguments Heard in Closed-Door Session Before Trial

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — A court martial resumes today after a closed-door hearing of defense arguments in charges against an Air Force colonel in connection with the Texas Tower disaster of last Jan. 15.

Col. William M. Banks, 46, is charged with neglect of duty. Shortly after his court martial began before eight senior officers at Stewart Air Force Base Tuesday, the panel sent into closed session to hear defense motions.

Twenty-eight Air Force men and civilians died when the three-legged radar warning tower or miles off the New Jersey coast collapsed in a severe storm.

Banks, who had responsibility for the tower as acting commander of the Boston Air Defense Sector, is charged with failing to keep himself advised of the storm threats, to keep in touch with the officer in direct charge of the tower, and to hold himself in readiness for any action necessary to rescue the men on the tower.

Banks, who has a record of heroism as a combat pilot in World War II, has already been cleared of charges of involuntary manslaughter and culpable negligence.

Drain Problem on Woodward Forestalled

A drainage problem on Woodward Avenue near St. Joseph Mercy Hospital was forestalled at least temporarily last night by city commissioners.

They authorized City Manager Walter E. Williams to proceed with plans for construction of an estimated $7,500 storm drain to replace a present open drainage ditch.

Affected will be the hospital grounds, land across Woodward Avenue from the hospital where construction of a clinic and credit union branch is under way, and the area where it is proposed East Boulevard will connect with Woodward.

The area has always had poor storm drainage," Williams told commissioners last night. "Now with the new construction the problem of storm water will become worse unless something is done."

To Seek Cost Estimates on Job Analysis Study

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission has authorized the city manager to obtain cost estimates on a proposed job analysis and salary plan study for municipal employees, according to City Manager Robert Kenning.

Commissioners will be contacted immediately to learn accurate cost estimates for the work involved during the five-month survey, Kenning said.

Approval of the program was given by the City Commission providing that the major share of the cost of the study be performed by city personnel.

Kenning presented an outline of the proposed study to the commission Monday.

Should the commission accept the recommendation of the city manager's office and the cost is within reason, the study would probably be conducted during the period between Oct. 1 and Feb. 1, 1962.

The study would cover approximately 70 jobs and 170 positions, the assistant city manager explained.

"The last job analysis was in 1958," Kenning said. "It should be revised annually."

As a background for the study, the following information would be furnished to the commission by the city:

Organization charts showing all units of the city involved in the study; a list of principal functions and activities for each unit of organization; personnel lists showing job titles and the number of employees in each job; and the present salary schedule for all jobs in the city.

The final report submitted by the consultant would include recommended job descriptions and specifications, allocations of positions to jobs, salary plan employee benefit findings and a recommended administrative procedure for maintaining the job plan.

Mrs. Frank Bridges

A Request Made for Mrs. Frank (Celia) Bridges, 74, of 1272 Rutledge St., will be said 9 a.m. Friday at St. Columban Church. Burial will be in Mount Hope Cemetery, Pontiac.

Mrs. Bridges died yesterday in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, following a long illness.

She had been a Birmingham resident 25 years, coming from Cleveland, Ohio.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Charles C. Kenworthy of Hollywood, Calif., a son, Perry Ryan of Birmingham, nine grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

A Rosary will be said at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Manley Bay Funeral Home.

West Guards Closing Berlin Border Gates cut West Berlin's rail links with the West.

Quentin, manager of the East German railroads, charged that hooligans, inspired by the West Berlin government and trade union leaders, were committing other acts of sabotage on the Communist-run elevated system which operates in East and West Berlin.

Arndt said continued sabotage could lead to "serious disturbances." By this, he said, he meant a possible halt in rail traffic.

PICKETS CUT PASSENGERS

West Berlin trade unionists have been picketing the elevated stations in West Berlin, and claim they have heavily reduced the number of passengers—and Communist revenue. They have raised such placards as "Don't buy your own bread wire."

A statement by the Western military commandants on the new restrictions said the three Western commandants "take a most serious view of the efforts of the East German authorities in warning citizens of West Berlin to keep at a distance of 528 feet from the border area, a border which the Communists themselves have violated on numerous occasions in the last few days. The commandants are taking the necessary action to insure the security and integrity of the sector border."

The British sent a Royal Corps of Green Jackets—King's Royal Rifle Corps—to the Brandenburg Gate. The company deployed in the bushes on the Western side of the gate, which has been shut to traffic for 10 days.

The French sent men to their sector border in the northern part of the city.

The Communists reduced from 30 to 12 the crossing points along 25 miles of border between East and West Berlin on Aug. 13 and today the openings were limited to four for West Berliners, 13,000 of whom work regularly in East Berlin. Two more openings are possible for West Germans.

Foreigners, including soldiers and diplomats of the Western Allies, were told to use the one crossing between the edges of the sector border was to reduce the gates from 12 to 7.

Charges Russia Trying to Block Bizerte Solution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Britain today accused the Soviet Union of deliberately trying to block a solution of the French-Tunisian dispute by inflaming passions in the U.N. debate.

The charge was made before a special session of the U.N. General Assembly by British Delegate Colin T. Crowe who declared the main goal of the discussions here should be to create a climate favorable to direct negotiations between France and Tunisia.

Crowe asserted that the Soviet Union had not only not recognized a solution of the problem, but Soviet attacks on the Western powers "must be regarded as an attempt to worsen the atmosphere in which this debate takes place."

"It is only too clear," the British delegate said, "that some members of the United Nations do not sincerely wish to see a successful negotiation between the two parties. The speech of the Soviet delegate (Monday) constitutes all too vividly an illustration of my point."

FRANCE COUNTRIES

Crowe urged that France and Tunisia appoint representatives as possible to work out a solution to their differences. He said it was his understanding that France does not contest the principle of the eventual withdrawal of its troops from the naval base at Bizerte.

The British delegate, however, was critical of a 21-nation resolution calling for negotiations specifically on the issue of the French evacuation of the Tunisian base. He said the proposal included phrases which "are not in our opinion likely to contribute to a solution."

He did not state specifically how he would vote on the resolution.

Britain and African nations still allied with France were working behind the scenes to water down the resolution submitted by 31 states. The object was to win support of the United States and other friends of France, by removing implied censure of French actions in Tunisia. The resolution's sponsors said they didn't need that support.

Tunisia and her supporters were confident they could muster well over the two-thirds vote required to adopt the resolution, which calls on France to withdraw her troops from territory seized during the July fighting around the Bizerte naval base and to join Tunisia immediately in negotiations for a complete withdrawal of French troops from Tunisian soil.

Emergency measures had been ordered to remove the town's 3,000 residents if the situation became worse.

Authorities said the rain in the Gander and Bonavista areas had removed, at least temporarily, the possibility that the residents would have to leave their homes.

Two ships stood by as a precaution to remove residents if the fire threatened again.

Rain Big Help in Gander Fire

Airport Open as Forest Flames Ease Up and Smoke Lessens

GANDER, Nfld. (UPI) — Rain eased a fire threat to Gander Airport today.

Full operations resumed this morning at the airport which had been forced to close when the raging flames licked the edges of one runway and shrouded the area in dense smoke Tuesday.

A light rain began falling during the night and the wind changed directions, easing the threat to both the airport and the town of Gander.

Emergency measures had been ordered to remove the town's 3,000 residents if the situation became worse.

Authorities said the rain in the Gander and Bonavista areas had removed, at least temporarily, the possibility that the residents would have to leave their homes.

Two ships stood by as a precaution to remove residents if the fire threatened again.

To Be Arraigned for Armed Robbery

Accused of the $150 holdup of a Pontiac bar, William A. Steele, 26, was ordered bound over to Circuit Court following examination today on an armed robbery charge by Municipal Judge Cecil McCullum.

Steele, an ex-convict, will be arraigned Monday. Unable to furnish bond of $10,000, he is being held in the Oakland County Jail.

He is accused of a holdup at the Hiram Bier, 913 Boulevard Ave., last Thursday. Steele, who told officers he was living at 6 Shirley, was arrested Friday during the search of a relative's home.

Ease Pension for Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to make it easier for Congressmen to get out of the pension plan.

House Rep. Earl B. Stever, R-Hawaii, introduced a bill today to ease the pension plan. A voice vote Tuesday sent the bill to the Senate a bill reducing both the age and length-of-service requirements for the congressional pension system.

Big 3 Contracts Almost Identical

DETROIT (U)—Here is a breakdown of major points the Big Three automakers offered the United Auto Workers union for a contract settlement Tuesday. All three offers were virtually identical:

WAGES—A general wage increase of 2 1/2 per cent of the employee's base wage or six cents in each year, whichever is greater, in each of the three years of the new contract.

COST-OF-LIVING—Twelve cents an hour of the current allowance would be put into the base wage of hourly rate employees. The allowance would be adjusted annually instead of quarterly, with only two adjustments during the life of the contract and a maximum change allowed each time of three cents an hour. This would limit the increase or decrease to a total of six cents during the agreement.

UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS—If, because of layoff, an employee works less than 36 hours in any week, he would receive one-half of his straight time pay per hour for the difference between the hours he works in a week and 36 hours, when he is ineligible for other benefits.

NEW BENEFITS—The maximum weekly supplemental unemployment benefit would be increased from $30 to $35. This is an allowance paid by the company to laid-off workers over and above what the worker gets from government unemployment pay.

RELOCATION ALLOWANCE—A moving allowance would be paid to employees transferred. Chrysler and Ford specified a minimum of 50 miles. GM and Ford listed a maximum of $30.

PENSIONS—For employees who retire on or after Jan. 1, 1962, the monthly benefit rate would be $2.60 for each year of credited service accrued after Dec. 31, 1961, and $2.50 for each year of service before Jan. 1, 1962. In addition, benefits for those retiring between the ages of 60 and 65 and for disability were increased 20 cents per month per year of service.

MEDICAL INSURANCE—In hospital benefits under Blue Cross and Blue Shield, or comparable plans, would be increased from 120 days to 365 days with the companies paying one-half of the increased cost. Hospitalization insurance would be continued to laid-off employees and their families for periods of up to nine months at no cost to the employee.

Gas Fatal to Infant, Overcomes 2 Others

ECORSE (U)—An infant was asphyxiated Tuesday and two other babies were overcome by gas escaping from a refrigerator. The victim was Dawn Roche, 18 months, of River Rouge. Overcome but revived were Donald and Ronald Pankotik, twin 3-month-old sons of Mrs. Joan Pankotik of Ecorse. The Roche girl was left in Mrs. Pankotik's care by her mother, Mrs. Bonnie Roche. President Kennedy has said that the key to physical vigor among the nation's youth rests with the individual family.

Judge Turns Down State in Claim to Filled-In Land

MOUNT CLEMENS (U)—Two state suits claiming interest in filled-in land along Lake St. Clair have been turned down by Macomb County Circuit Court Judge Howard R. Carroll.

The state claimed interest in the 100-acre site of the former Great Lakes submerged land law. The law was passed in 1953 by department of mechanical engineering to purchase equipment.

House Proposes Committee Study of Jet Noise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Rules Committee today recommended a congressional study of jet aircraft noise and its "nuisance and hazards" to persons and property on the ground.

The study, as proposed by the House by the rules group, would be made by either the House Commerce Committee or a subcommittee.

The proposal will come up in the House shortly and is assured of approval.

The committee acted after a number of House members, including several from the New York City area, complained that the roar of jet transports entering and leaving airport areas was unrelenting and in some cases resulting in property damage.

Feel All-European Common Market Will Put U.S. Exports at Disadvantage

Butter's Note: Membership in the common market by the six European countries will not only give them a common market, but it will also give them a common tariff. This will be a disadvantage to the U.S. because our goods will be competing with goods from a common market.

By SAM DAWSON (AP) Business News Analyst NEW YORK — An all-European Common Market "will in the end be disadvantageous to the United States exports." That is the view of the United States Citizens Committee on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, headed by former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and former Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton.

Some U.S.-manufactured products without doubt will be their European markets divide or disappear and competition here at home increased.

But in the long run, U.S. world trade in general should benefit. That is the opinion of William F. Butler, executive vice president of Chase Manhattan Bank of New York.

President Kennedy stresses his gratification that the United Kingdom wants to join the European trading bloc, but adds: "The enlargement of the European common market will necessarily result in some changes in the pattern of trade."

Britain's move to join the current situation Common Market will accentuate the increasing use of U.S. firms to invest overseas in new plants and equipment. That is the prediction of Department of Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges. He thinks total U.S. investment overseas will reach $4.5 billion this year, a gain of 20 per cent over 1960, and Europe should get about $1.5 billion of the total.

BIRMINGHAM MAN IS Named Chairman of 53-Member Committee

Appointment of the 53-member Transportation and Communication Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States for 1961-1962 with Walter F. Carey, president of Automobile Carriers, Inc., Birmingham, as chairman was announced by Richard Wagner, national Chamber president and chairman of the executive committee, Champlin Oil and Refining Company, Chicago.

The committee divides its time to study and recommendations of major issues affecting the transportation and communication industry and to legislation before Congress.

It recommends Chamber policies on aviation, motor transport, pipeline, railroads, merchant shipping, barge lines, highways, mass transit, postal services, telephone, telegraph, radio and television broadcasting.

The committee is composed of top executives from each form of transportation and industry, besides representatives from communications, local transit and parking.

Carey announced that the committee's first meeting will be held in Detroit Sept. 6 and 7.

Supervisors OK Center for Emergency Operation

President Kennedy's plea for increased civil defense preparedness yesterday which has stirred plans for an emergency operations center for Oakland County government.

The board of supervisors voted 7-1 to go ahead with the plan which have bounced from one committee to another, with little action, for more than two years.

The ways and means committee, of which has blocked several previous attempts to proceed, was asked to search for $13,340 so final plans could be finalized.

The county would eventually spend $240,000 for the $222,000 shelter on a 50-50 matching basis with the federal government.

Approval came Tuesday after Oak Park Supervisor Charles E. Curdon, chairman of the civil defense committee, said "the time has come for this board to make a decision to either proceed with these plans or to terminate the project."

He reminded supervisors of the President's July 26 urging of construction of family fallout shelters and emergency operations centers to maintain communications in case of enemy attack.

Voting against proceeding with the construction were Supervisors Sydney Frid (Northville), John Leaster (Orion Township), John B. Ogood (Royal Oak), and A. Taylor Menzies (Grosse Pointe).

It is planned to be built somewhere in the County Service Center.

Curdon said his committee had been successful in setting up a model fallout shelter for a family of six located in the basement of the South Oakland Office Building in Royal Oak.

Bill on FCC Rules Now Goes to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed today a compromise bill streamlining procedures of the Federal Communications Commission. Its sponsors contend also it will reduce opportunity for improper pressure on the agency that passes on broadcast licenses.

The vote sent the measure to the Senate for final legislative action.

The bill is a compromise between earlier proposals by both chambers. It resembles in general outline proposals President Kennedy made for reorganizing FCC, but which the House voted June 15.

The Kennedy proposals were criticized by some as conferring too much power on the commission chairman.

President Nominates 3 State Postmasters

Accidents Killed 940

EAST LANSING (AP)—Traffic accidents have killed 940 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The total for the same day a year ago was 924.

They think the bigger European bloc now forming will mean greater efficiency, lower prices, cut-throat competition here and in world markets.

Many labor leaders have joined in protesting that jobs here are being eliminated and may diminish still more as our competitors build up their muscles.

But there's a hard core of disbelievers among bankers and especially manufacturers with foreign operations that can be expanded—who think the promised European economic growth will mean more money over there to pay the goods and services we can offer.

They hold that U.S. industry can, and will, improve its productivity and hence get a better control over prices, that it can step up its selling drives and bring them in line with foreign needs. This America could increase its world markets, despite the present fact of increasing European competition and the more distant but looming threat of a Red bloc challenge.

Couple Leaving for European Podology Date

Planning a business-pleasure trip to Europe this week are Dr. and Mrs. Hubert H. Curson of 969 James K Blvd.

Dr. Curson, a podiatrist with a clinic at 151 Huron St., will attend the second International Congress of Podology in Paris Sept. 9-12.

He said he will be representing foot specialists in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana at the meeting sponsored by the Federation of Medical Chiropodists to review modern medical and surgical techniques in the field.

Accompanying the doctor Saturday will be his wife. They plan to spend a few days in England before going on to Paris.

Following the congress, they will tour the Continent, returning to Pontiac to about a month, said Dr. Curson.

JFK Sends Dean Back to Seek Nuclear Test Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy dispatched Ambassador Arthur Dean to Geneva today to make another attempt to reach agreement with Russia on a nuclear test ban treaty safeguarded by adequate inspection.

Dean was scheduled to leave New York City by plane to resume the nearly 3-year-old negotiations Thursday. Kennedy has called this a "decisive meeting."

In Late 40s He Was No. 1 Red Spy in U.S.

Voice Yelling Insults None Other Than Fat Eisler

By HENRIETTA LEITE
NEW YORK (AP)—The plump, owl-faced man who used to be "Konny" Adenauer across the barricades in Berlin has lost none of his gift for sarcasm.

It was the same man who once condescendingly declared while in the United States that "all Americans are not like that damned fool Tom Clark"—the attorney general who later became an associate justice of the Supreme Court—and who said of American justice: "It stinks like 10,000 skunks."

J.A. JA

When he taunted the West German chancellor Tuesday at Potsdam Platz, shouting "Ja, this is the way it is, dear Konny," from the other side of the new concrete wall and the barbed wire, it was reminiscent of an earlier defiance—when he jumped high bail and strolled away on a Polish liner in New York harbor to escape two U. S. prison terms.

The man in the horn-rimmed spectacles, a dozen years older and the survivor of many ups and downs in the interim, was unmistakably Konrad Adenauer, once called the "No. 1 Communist spy" in the United States.

Today, although Eisler is frequently heard from in East Germany, his real role in the Com-munist regime is more of a mys-tery than his cloak-and-dagger role in this country during and after World War II.

It's equally a mystery why a Plitz-man of his skills in revolution, But as far as Eisler is con-

One of the refugees was Eisler, traveling with his pretty Polish fiancée, 15 years his junior. After Mexico, only to learn that the numerous pleas, investigations and denials of any Communist connections, the pair got visitors' visas.

They were married in Norwalk, Conn., the next year and set up housekeeping in a quiet suburban section of New York City.

Neighbors, immigration officials and practically everyone else were surprised in 1946 when the Communist mastermind "Hans Berger," described by ex-Communist Louis Budenz as the spy who gave all the orders but "never" shows his face, "turned out to be Eisler."

Called before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, he refused to answer the committee's questions and was cited for contempt of Congress.

PRISON SENTENCE

He got a year in jail on that charge, and soon was on trial again for making false statements on a request for a permit to leave this country. That case ended with another prison sentence of one to three years.

Eisler appealed both convictions to the Supreme Court, and was released after a brief group put up his bail of $23,500.

On May 7, 1949, Eisler paid 25 cents to inspect the Polish liner Batavia, then hid until several hours after she had sailed.

Taken off the ship in Southampton, Eisler was released by the British several weeks later and finally went home to his native Germany—the Eastern sector of it.

Eisler was born in Leipzig, but grew up in Vienna, where his father was a professor. Gerhardt joined the Communist party in 1918, as soon as he got out of the Austrian army, and a few years later was sent by the party to Germany.

There he worked with his sister, who was known as Ruth Fischer and was a powerful figure until she was expelled for her deviation in 1923. It was this sister whose testimony helped the United States to convict Eisler.

After a fling in China, where he went as a journalist but allegedly worked as a secret Communist agent, Eisler returned to Germany.

Eisler's arrival here in 1941, according to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, only one of many visits paid to the United States—all the other under aliases with forged papers.

Saleswoman Found Slain

Realtor, 40, Strangled, Hidden in Car Trunk; Question Ex-Convict

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Authorities questioned two men today in the slaying of Louise Temple, whose body was found jammed in the trunk of her car.

Detective Joseph Ryan said the attractive real estate saleswoman, 40, had been strangled when she had been in her mid-40s, had been missing since Friday when she had been seen last.

MRS. TEMPLE, shown an ex-convict, was identified as Charles Temple, about 36, of Syracuse. The district attorney's staff was questioning him. The identity of the other person being questioned was not disclosed.

IN HOSPITAL LOT

Police said the body, discovered Tuesday apparently had been in the car since Friday. The auto was parked late in the night, in the Memorial Hospital lot, near Syracuse University.

Ryan said there was a possibility the woman also had been burned. The body was badly blistered and blackened from the waist up. The body was fully clothed but her pink dress was pulled back over her hips.

Joseph Coyne, Mrs. Temple's employer and a close friend, told the district attorney, however, that she had worn a blue dress Friday and had no idea where she would have changed into a pink dress. Mrs. Temple lived near Auburn, southwest of Syracuse.

Improved Atlas Ends Golden Ram Project

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An Atlas in frontmost in 1951 le thundered over the ocean from this base Tuesday, marking completion of a program to incorporate changes and improvements in the ballistic weapon.

An Air Force spokesman said it was an operational training launch, ending the Golden Ram project.

Dean Rusk Is Certainly No John Foster Dulles

By JAMES MARIANO
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—There are no vivid colors in the picture of Dean Rusk after watching him reading him, and listening to him for seven months as secretary of state.

He has averaged one news conference a month in the State Department since taking office in January. The seventh was Tuesday. It was pretty dull, like those which went before.

This doesn't mean he is person-ally dull. But in dealing with press and public he has no shine. He is a friendly, genial man, dominant character, like Secretaries of State John Foster Dulles and Dean Acheson.

Gigi and Family Go Away After Wedding Fiasco

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Georgine Gorman, 18, and her family today planned a short vacation "to get away from things and think for a little while."

The pretty debutante was to have been married a week ago to Robert M. Oliver III but left a note and disappeared after the wedding rehearsal.

She drove her father's sports car to Columbia, S.C., where he picked her up and brought her home.

"I'm terribly embarrassed but I'm most concerned about what's happened to my mother," said Mrs. Harold Dale Gorman.

"She is only 18 and she didn't know what she was doing," said Gigi's mother.

Gigi's mother said 40 wedding gifts are being returned and wedding plans are off.

East Germans Want Economic Freedom

Almost everyone understands in general the reasons why millions of East Germans have escaped to the West over the years.

The National Association of Manufacturers has come up with a concise analysis which should produce an important lesson for all Americans.

The crux of the complaints from the East Germans is concern over their loss of economic freedom.

The individual in East Germany cannot act for himself. The state runs the show. The government tells you where you will work and what you will do.

There is no such thing as future security since private investing does not exist. Everything is kept in state banks or bonds and can be confiscated at any time.

All this underlines the importance of economic freedom. We have it today, yet each year we are leaning more and more toward government controls.

Great Britain tried a socialist reform movement which did not pan out. As a matter of fact it irritated a number of British citizens to the point of moving to other parts of the world.

They were looking for a better economic future just like the East Germans.

The NAM points out and rightly so the importance of both political and economic freedom.

Doctors Blame Parents for Juvenile Criminals

Parental indifference or lack of interest and control stand as the basic reason for our current juvenile criminals, say a majority of the doctors who were surveyed on this subject.

An editorial in The Nashville Banner outlines the situations graphically and we append it herewith:

"The majority opinion of the doctors who were surveyed on the cause of juvenile delinquency was on target. Eighty-eight per cent of the doctors stated that the root of the evil. Millions of words have been written and spoken on this subject. There have been hand-wringing speeches deploring the increase of juvenile delinquency, but seldom — if ever — do we get the answer.

"The most heinous of crimes too often are committed by 'crazy, mixed-up kids.' They may be, but how did they get that way?

"Too frequently one reads newspaper stories about vandalism, muggings, sex attacks and even murders committed by gangs of roving juveniles. The members of these rat packs are out all hours of the night committing their devilry.

their youngsters or they just don't care. But whatever the case, this does not relieve them of the responsibility for their children's acts of violence.

"Thus, if the rise of juvenile crime is to be curbed, the job will have to be done by the parents. Parental supervision includes knowledge of where your child is, with whom he is associating and the use of disciplinary measures when they are needed."

The Man About Town

Dogs and Roosters

Seem to Be Getting Scarcer; and Reason

Vacation: A period from which many of us now are rearing up.

"What has become of the barking dog and crowing rooster?" is a question often asked in Pontiac and vicinity. They seem to have passed out.

In a way, they really have passed out. But the primary reason for the absence of their noise is that they have been pushed out into the country, victims of the marvelous growth of this area.

Hardly anybody in the city now keeps chickens, and most everywhere the roosters have become so addicted to human ways that they no longer crow at sunrise — like humans, they would rather sleep in.

As for the dogs, it is a fact that they do not bark as much as in the days of yore. They are better fed — on a balanced diet; also better bred.

The old mongrel dog also has passed out because he was a child's pet, and was fed on what should have gone into the garbage can, and suffered from various canine diseases.

Now his master must think enough of him to pay a license on him, so feeds him better, and looks after his general well being, in his appreciation as to being man's best friend.

He is rarely bothered by a barking dog in the night, you can be sure that he's lonely, (and his family knows why), or that he is suffering from the pangs of hunger or otherwise.

The pick-a-light and cat chasing dog also is passing out. He often shows a better sense than many humans. Forget that honeycombed and moss grown expression, "Going to the dogs."

Recently moving from Detroit to a house near the new 75 Expressway at Clarkson.

Mrs. Rosalind Piersall writes me that she has transplanted an eight-foot walnut tree that grew from a nut which a squirrel buried in her lawn about 15 years ago.

"Why don't you plug for more gourd growing," writes

Hyman Osterman of Pontiac Lake, who raises them in all manner of shapes. He asserts that it's a circus to see the numerous varieties in one patch. They make good containers for most anything, when ripe and scooped out. Mr. Osterman got his start in gourd raising when a seed got mixed with some pumpkin seed.

Please remember that qualification for our Verbal Orchids means 90 years of age or older, and gold-wedding anniversaries or more.

Thank you.

One of the top men employed in the dirt moving work for the new 75 Expressway, which skirts Pontiac on the east.

Arthur Gallison, tells me that several Indian stone arrowheads and a few stone tomahawks have been found.

Speaking of Indian arrowheads, one was recently found by Gregory Fallman of Waterford, embedded in an oak tree, six inches inside the bark, as he was cutting up the tree with a power saw after felling it. The saw then needed sharpening.

West Failing in Berlin Diplomacy

IN EUROPE — Western diplomacy is floundering. It hasn't come up with a solution as to the policy it should pursue.

But the simple fact is that more than 17 million human beings in East Germany have been imprisoned in a huge concentration camp by order of the Soviet government.

They cannot see their relatives or friends who happen to live even just across the streets of the same city. They are sent to jail for looking at a bulletin board giving news of the world.

Meanwhile, the great organization known as the United Nations is floundering, too. It is supposed to be interested in violations of human rights. It is supposed to be concerned when there is a threat to world peace.

The United Nations has special meetings when there is a crisis, but it is doing nothing about the Berlin problem.

It is strangely silent as the many erstwhile champions of freedom and human liberty hesitate to use the forum to expose to the world the hypocrites of Soviet communism.

There is no question about the violation of human rights. Vice President Lyndon Johnson went to Berlin to tell the people there of America's moral support.

When an electric sign was erected in West Berlin a few days ago to carry in big letters the news of the world, persons in East Berlin who tried to read it from a distance were arrested for "demonstrating."

East Berlin police have started, moreover, to move families out of houses which look out on West Berlin streets.

These instances are but a few of the many evidences of cruelty and inhumanity imposed on the East German people. If they had been "freedom riders," they might have gotten sympathy in certain parts of the world. If they had been Tunisians in North Africa, they would have been applauded for exercising their right to self-determination.

There is beginning to develop in different parts of Europe an impression now that the Western governments fear the Moscow government's power and influence and that they feel it is risky even to debate the Berlin problem in the United Nations, where the Communists have lined up a sizable bloc in the last few years.

Unlike the former, the latter are rarely hit or red; they cannot be reproduced by use of histamine; they cannot be prevented or relieved by antihistamine and they do not respond to products that possess the properties of adrenaline and epinephrine.

Partly because of these factors, we've been slow to get our teeth into the problems raised by tuberculin-type allergies.

Recently, however, things have been looking brighter. We begin now to connect certain manifestapears than the right of 17 million human beings to decide for themselves by whom and how they shall be governed.

One wonders why the Western governments are shying away from the basic issue. By so doing, they may lose the prestige they have always enjoyed as champions of human liberty and freedom.

Heard to the thunder of his voice and the rumbling that comes from his mouth—Job 31:24.

Blessed be the God's voice; for it is true, and falsehoods have to cease before it.—Thomas Carlyle.

'Americans Have Reason to Fear Bureaucracy'

The American people have given up more and more of their responsibilities to "Washington," so there has grown up a vast bureaucracy to handle these responsibilities.

This bureaucracy is cold and impersonal, not subject to elections by the people and containing within its very structure the necessity of growing and becoming more powerful.

It is bureaucracy of which the American people are afraid and we have every reason for that fear.

Reprint of Letter Sent to Kennedy

The following is an open letter sent to President Kennedy.

At your press conference you praised Sen. Fulbright for warning secretary of defense about the military engaging in politics.

I read in The Pontiac Press in connection with your request for $8.5 billion of our money... that you asked for a money reversal as a demonstration that this action is still united in its determination to meet its responsibilities and halt communism and capitalism by every available means."

First, I identify communism as our most dangerous enemy, as it really is. Then, please instruct your secretary of defense to fight it by every available means."

Since these are the men most competent to lead us in war, I am sure they are completely competent to use in their criticism of the enemy at a public forum.

We also suggest that you reinstate General Walker to his command, since he obviously is well-qualified with all aspects of the enemy at home and abroad.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Dream Is Often a Sex Symbolism

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE 3-473: Lois L., aged 20, is a vivacious college coed.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "what do you psychologists think about the interpretation of dreams?"

"Are they just crazy episodes that flash across the mind at night or do they really mean something?"

"For example, I have often dreamed that I was shipwrecked on an island in the South Pacific."

"As I wander along the shore, a bunch of savages start chasing me. In terror, I run as fast as I can. But they constantly draw nearer."

"Then they start hurling spears at me which always miss. Finally they hit me in the back with his spear."

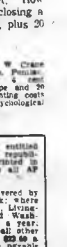

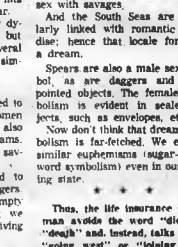

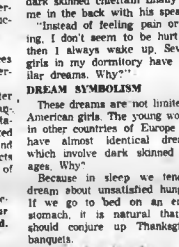

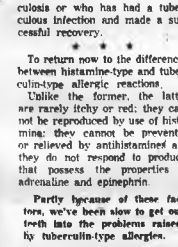

"Instead of feeling pain or dying, I don't seem to be hurt but I always wake up. Several girls in my dormitory have similar dreams. Why?"

These dreams are not limited to American girls. The young women in other countries of Europe also have almost identical dreams, which involve dark skinned savages.

Now don't think that dream symbolism is far-fetched. We employ similar euphemisms (sugar-coated word symbolism) even in our waking state.

Thus, the life insurance salesman avoids the word "die" or "death" and, instead, talks about "going west" or "joining our fathers in the hereafter."

And the dead body is not men-

Filibuster Buster Clears Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed change in Senate rules to make it easier to end filibusters was cleared for Senate consideration today by the Rules Committee "without recommendations."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, of Montana, promptly served notice on the Senate floor he would bring the matter up for action later.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., who often heads Southern senators opposed to such moves, attacked the proposal as an effort "to gag and muzzle" senators from the South and less populous states.

Present rules say that debate can be shut off only if two-thirds of the senators present and voting so decide. This means 67 votes if all are present.

The new proposal would let three-fifths of the senators voting cut off debate, or 60 of the 100 members if all of them voted.

Handle insecticides with care. Most of them can poison people and animals if they are handled carelessly.

Con-Con Aspirants Listen to Opinions of Groups

Five of seven Republican constitutional convention candidates listened in Pontiac last night to what special interest groups want them to write into the new constitution.

In a turnout type of election, representatives of the League of Women Voters, Michigan Farm Bureau, Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Oakland Citizens League outlined to the Republican hopefuls their con-con platforms.

Only 50 citizens turned out at Pontiac Northern High School for the first of two such open hearings.

The second of the hearings, staged by the Republican Committee of Oakland County, will be held next Tuesday in Royal Oak.

"We desire a brief, basic document in simple language that everybody can understand," said Mrs. Robert Forch, of Dearborn, second vice president of the State League of Women Voters.

She said apportionment of the legislature would probably be "the key" issue before the convention when it opens Oct. 3.

URGES CANDIDATES

Larry R. Ewing, regional director for the Michigan Farm Bureau, which opposed calling a convention, urged the candidates to preserve local governments while reshaping the constitution.

"We feel the constitution is not quite as rusty, musty, and dusty as some people make it out," Ewing said.

Michigan needs to provide more opportunities for higher education for all, with more independent community colleges, said Paul J. Harris, of Royal Oak, spokesman for the FTA.

County home rule, legislative apportionment patterned after the federal government, and submission of the apportionment plan to the voters in a separate package were favored by the Citizens League of Women Voters.

The Oakland County AFL-CIO

Council turned down an invitation to state the union's positions, said Wilbur G. Durkee, executive secretary of the county party.

Several other organizations, refused invitations while others did not appear at last night's hearing.

Sightseeing Conductors Balk at E. Berlin Tour

BERLIN — Commercial sightseeing buses today halted service to East Berlin.

Operators complained they didn't know where they stood from one day to the next, and were always being told to try different entrances to the walled Communist part of the city.

Okays Softer Bill on Campaign Costs

WASHINGTON — The Senate Rules Committee approved a bill today to require fuller disclosure of the cost of financing election campaigns for federal offices.

The measure is a watered-down version of a bill passed by the Senate last year but shelved by the House.

Besides requiring more detailed reporting of campaign contributions and expenditures, it would raise present spending ceilings for candidates for president and Congress.

Among all the peoples of Southeast Asia, only the citizens of Thailand have escaped colonial domination. They have kept their independence for seven centuries.

SPEAKS TO CHILDREN—President Kennedy stands on an orchestra platform on the south lawn of the White House Tuesday to speak briefly to handicapped children invited to hear a concert by the Transylvania Symphony Orchestra from where devoted teachers are studying with interested young men and opening up the whole wide horizon of serious music.

'NATIONAL ASSET' — "This is a great national cultural asset, and therefore it is a great source of satisfaction to me, representing as I do today my wife, to welcome all of you here at the White House."

Mrs. Kennedy, who is sponsoring the concert, is vacationing on Cape Cod.

Kennedy said he couldn't leave his desk long enough to stay for the 75-minute program but he promised he would leave his office door open so that he could hear the music.

The children, many of whose crutches lay on the grass during the concert, seemed to enjoy the highbrow music too.

East Berlin Radio Hurls Barbs at Texas GIs

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communist radio kept up its attack on the reinforcement of the U.S. garrison barb directed at the Lone Star at Berlin Tuesday, with a special State.

"All West Berlin husbands are keeping their women indoors because the Texas boys have arrived in town," the Communist radio said.

The troops that were moved here Sunday to strengthen the Allied force in Berlin are commanded by Col. Glover S. Johns Jr. of Austin, Tex.

Kennedy Greets Handicapped Youths

WASHINGTON (AP) — An orchestra of youngsters struck up "Hail to the Chief" and President Kennedy strode across the White House lawn to meet his guests. Some of them couldn't see him, and others couldn't rise to greet him. But they were delighted as he moved along a line of wheelchairs smiling and shaking hands. The occasion Tuesday was the first of a series of "Concerts for Young People by Young People" at the White House.

The special guests were children who are blind, crippled or have heart trouble.

VARIED PROGRAM

They heard a varied program from Wagner, Beethoven and Prokofiev to Aaron Copland and Sousa, played by the 85-piece Transylvania Symphony Orchestra from Brevard, N. C., made up of musicians aged 12 to 18. Kennedy complimented their sprightly playing of "Hail to the Chief," saying he thought they played it "better than the Marine Corps Band, and we are grateful to them."

The President mounted the bandstand to shake hands with the conductor, James Christian Pfahls. Kennedy said "as an American I have the greatest possible pride in the work that is being done in the thousands of schools stretching

Hits Lack of Penalties on State Road Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office said in a report to Congress today that road contractors in Michigan and Wisconsin are not being charged adequate penalties for failure to complete jobs on schedule.

Reporting on an examination of federal aid highway building in the two states from July 1, 1957, to Jan. 1, 1960, the GAO said contractors in Michigan are seldom charged any damages for delays. In Wisconsin, the GAO said, the penalties, particularly on contracts under $500,000, are inadequate to compensate for costs.

Eight species of penguins make their homes in the Antarctic. Other birds which frequent Antarctica are the albatross, petrel, whale bird, skua, tern, and gull.

MRS. RALPH ANDERSON — Service for former Pontiac resident Mrs. Ralph (Fern) Anderson, 55, of Las Vegas, Nev., was held today at the Bunker Brothers Mortuary in Las Vegas with burial there.

Mrs. Anderson was a member of the Metropolitan Club Auxiliary before moving from Pontiac about 10 years ago.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. Doyle Huntman of Las Vegas; her mother, Mrs. Roger Ferguson in Florida; two grandchildren; and two brothers.

Mrs. Anderson died Saturday in a hospital in Las Vegas after a long illness.

illness of two months. He was 71. A self-employed carpenter, he belonged to St. Paul Methodist Church and Millington Lodge No. 470 F.R.A.M.

Mr. Pelland leaves three sisters. Funeral service will be announced later by the Pursey Funeral Home.

FLOYD W. THOMAS — Floyd W. Thomas, 51, of 822 Daffodil Drive, died yesterday at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after a brief illness.

He was a truck driver for Speedway Petroleum Co. and a member of Fraternal Order of Eagles, Waterford Aerie No. 2867.

Surviving besides his wife Hazel are his mother, Mrs. Daniel Thomas of Redford; three sons, William J. of Garden City, Daniel E. of Detroit and Robert T. in Texas; four daughters, Mrs. Shirley McDonald of Wayne, Mrs. Mary Wood of Milan, Donna and Kathleen Thomas, both at home.

Mr. Thomas' body is at the Pursey Funeral Home.

MRS. JOSEPH BORKOWSKI — AVON TOWNSHIP — Service for Mrs. Joseph (Vincent) Borkowski, 85, of 6481 Sheldon Road, will be at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, Rochester. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Borkowski died early today at her home following a short illness.

The Rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the William R. Potere Funeral Home, Rochester.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Mary Rawa of Hazel Park, and Victoria, Helen and Jenny, all at home; four sons, Joseph, Stanley, Edward and Chester, all home; three grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

MRS. HARRY EOFF — ELBA TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Harry (Lila) Eoff, 68, of 463 Davidson Road, died early today at Lapeer County General Hospital after a short illness. Her body is at Muir Brothers Funeral Home, Lapeer.

Mrs. Eoff was a former Dryden resident.

MRS. CASEY HODGES — LAKE ORION — Service for Mrs. Casey (Florence G.) Hodges, 51, of 60 Conklin St., will be at 2 p.m. Friday at Flumerfelt Funeral Home. Burial will be in Attica Cemetery, Attica.

A freight train coming from Belgrade ran into a parked, Belgrade-bound passenger train. A faulty switch was blamed.

Continue Search for 3rd Gunman

LAKE DELTON, Wis. (AP) — Police and volunteers, bolstered by the dramatic capture of one gunman, searched through the night for the last member of a trio sought for the fatal shooting of one police officer and wounding of another.

The fugitive was taken Tuesday when an officer showed a shotgun barrel into his mouth.

The hunt, now three days old, was maintained in the thick woodlands of central Wisconsin by about 100 men. Police, National Guardsmen, Army reservists and private citizens searched the countryside, and manned roadblocks.

Sought was William Welter, 23, of Chicago.

Bishop Dies of Cancer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Theodore Nott Barth, 63, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Tennessee since 1953, died Thursday of cancer. He was without a letter of explanation. He died of cancer since its onset was diagnosed in 1957, when he was wounded in France in 1917, and he had never been awarded the medal.

Circle Drive Residents Going Around in ...

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Residents of Circle Drive have pleaded with the city council to change the name of their street.

There also is an East Circle Drive and a West Circle Drive and this brought the following headlines:

Somebody on West Circle ordered groceries. They were delivered to a Circle family. It took a long argument with the store owner before the order was canceled.

A resident of East Circle forgot to pay his water bill. The city shut off the water at a home on Circle.

Someone on East Circle ordered his paper stopped. A Circle homeowner went a week without the news.

$1 Billion Asked in Aid to Latins

Dillon Tells Congress Amount Is Minimum U.S. Should Spend

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon told Congress today that $1 billion is the minimum the United States should obligate for Latin America this year if President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress is to get off to a good start.

Dillon appeared in a closed session of the Senate Appropriations Committee in support of a $4-billion-plus foreign aid program.

He termed the program essential to the security of this country and the free world and one the nation can afford.

He made his plea for the actual money a few hours ahead of the start of Senate-House conference sessions to iron out differences over the authorization bill which sets ceilings for the program.

In a prepared statement, Dillon made no reference to the controversy over Kennedy's request for Treasury borrowing authority to finance a 5-year program of economic development loans abroad.

Dillon concentrated instead on an explanation of U.S. commitments to Latin America at the recent inter-American meeting at Punta del Este, Uruguay, and the effect of the foreign aid program on the U.S. budget and this country's balance of payments problems.

NEW RESTRICTIONS—The map locates the remaining gates open between East and West Berlin. The cross is placed at Friedrichstrasse, which may be used only by diplomats, Western forces and foreigners. The Communists have restricted West Berliners with permits to gates marked 1, 2, 3, 4. Points A and B are set up by East Germans for residents of West Germany who have permits. The move severs five arteries in the divided city.

Confabs Over Berlin Go On at All Levels

WASHINGTON UP — A U.S. spokesman charged today that the new Red restrictions in Berlin reflect a Communist design to imprison 17 million people behind the barbed wire and concrete curtains in East Berlin and East Germany.

The official, State Department Press Officer Lincoln White, added that "the implications of this latest Communist move are under study by the Allied powers."

He declined to say, pending the Allied review, what steps might be taken.

President Kennedy was known to be following the Berlin developments closely. Aides said latest reports were being speedily furnished to the White House.

Ten-Year-Old Answers JFK's Call for Men

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Harvey Lowman, not quite 10, walked into the Navy induction office and told a startled recruiter: "I heard the President ask for men, and I'm ready."

Chief Boatwain's Mate Guy W. Bennett, head recruiter, gave Harvey an armful of Navy pamphlets and promised to advise the President that Harvey was ready.

"I want to enlist for as long as you need me and I'll go anywhere they need me," Harvey said. Bennett promised to keep Harvey in mind, adding: "You're never too young to be patriotic."

AEC Tightens Export of A-Material to Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission clamped tighter regulations today on the export of radioisotopes and other atomic material to Cuba.

Under the new order, only radioisotopes usable in medicine, pharmaceutical preparations and for medical diagnosis or therapy can be shipped to Cuba.

Says Stahr

Berlin Crisis Is in Hand

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr. said today that the tense Berlin situation appears to be "under control" at the moment.

Stahr told a news conference that American forces in Berlin and West Germany either are equipped or will soon have "the best you've got" in automatic weapons.

The Army secretary talked with newsmen at Patrick Air Force Base before departing for Orlando, Fla., and an inspection of the weapons system of the Pershing missile, the Army's new field artillery piece of the missile age.

Stahr witnessed a successful firing of the Pershing at nearby Cape Canaveral Tuesday night. He again praised the Pershing as "a great weapon with a high degree of reliability."

Hoffa Wants Meany Debate

AFL-CIO Chief Won't Accept, Asserts Union Spokesman

WASHINGTON UP — Teamster President James R. Hoffa, stung by the defection of four Cincinnati locals, has challenged AFL-CIO President George Meany to a debate.

"I suggest," Hoffa said in a telegram to Meany Tuesday, "we debate the disadvantages of the members of the AFL-CIO as against the advantages of membership in the International Brotherhood of Teamsters."

Meany had no comment on the invitation to the debate Sunday in Cincinnati, but a spokesman said, "Naturally Mr. Meany will not accept" Hoffa's invitation.

Four Teamster locals in Cincinnati, with about 4,000 members, have voted to quit the Teamsters under the leadership of James T. Larkin.

After conferring with Larkin Monday, Meany said the AFL-CIO heartily welcomed the action and said he hoped when the National Labor Relations Board calls an election the union members vote "overwhelmingly to free themselves from the gangster domination of the Teamsters international union."

Hoffa said Meany's remarks were unwarranted and an attempt to "raid the membership" of the Teamsters.

U.S. Asks Russians to OK N-Ban Watch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States called on Russia today to reconsider, "for the sake of humanity," its stand against nuclear test inspection.

"If it reflects the test ban treaty, the Soviet Union will take on itself an awful burden of responsibility for the future of mankind," this government said in a 34-page statement meant for world distribution.

The State Department said it would distribute 25,000 copies of the United Nations and through U.S. embassies around the world.

Volunteer Fireman Cited by President

PERRY (AP) — John A. Southwell, the volunteer fireman who saved this Shawnee County village from a possible disaster, has been commended by President Kennedy for heroism.

Southwell, a Lansing auto plant worker and the father of four, shut off a valve on a 21,000-gallon propane gas tank last June 3, stopping a fire that threatened for five hours to explode the tank. He had to climb on top of the tank to do it.

A letter signed by Ralph Dungan, special assistant to the President, said Southwell's deed had been brought to the President's attention.

Decisions of State Put Gray in the President's Hair

By BOB CONRADINE
WASHINGTON — Toward the end of his second term, President Eisenhower told a friend that he wanted to stay in good physical condition for one central reason. Good physical shape engendered good mental shape.
A president must be tuned to make at least two major decisions every day. He estimated, and those decisions were a tremendous strain on his mind and constitution.
"Why would anybody want to be President?" he said to himself last Jan. 20 as he watched his successor being sworn in.
There are tell-tale lines in President Kennedy's face today, and new gray in his hair, that bespeak the weight of the office. His back is a bother to him, too, but.

There is a crisis or an issue everywhere he goes, one that calls for a decision which only he can make, one that involves the taking of calculated risks which only he can take.
Lincoln said that when he could no longer support the burden of his office he found some comfort in dropping to his knees. He would stand alone at a White House window through a sleepless night, searching his mind for answers to what was often unanswerable. His successor, Johnson, found relief in the bottle.
Poor Harding, who didn't have a thousandth part of the awesome responsibilities of presidents since FDR, spent respite from decision making in the company of his hard-living friend Ed McLean and other cronies.
He would get down on the floor of the computing room of the Washington Post and join in the printers' crap games late at night, and sometimes be taken home by Maury Fitzgerald, then a strong copy boy.
The decisions take so much strain so heavily President Truman and he alone had to rule that the atomic bomb would fall on Hiroshima. He wrestled for days with the problem, knowing that it would kill tens of thousands of innocent Japanese. He knew that of the physicists who created the bomb had implored Gen. Marshall not to employ it. One, a very distinguished man of atomic science, had seriously proposed that if it were dropped he desired to be strapped to it and blown to a billion bits — as penance for having helped bring it into the world.

The President ruled that it be dropped. The best estimate was that Allied forces, mostly American, would suffer nearly 1 million casualties in the planned October 1945 invasion of the Japanese homeland.
A further projection by the best military minds was that the Japanese people would fight just as desperately and just as courageously for their homeland as Japanese troops fought to defend a wrecking cave on some forgotten island in the Pacific.
Therefore, the total casualties of that invasion would run into staggering millions.
HST weighed that against the hope that one or two such bombs, killing perhaps 200,000 human beings, would prevent the other holocaust. Hiroshima and Nagasaki.
President Eisenhower's "open sides" plan, which he dropped in the laps of Bulganin, Khrushchev and Zhukov at Geneva in 1955, was a proposal so sweeping that it knocked the wind out of the Russian delegation.
It was not (as was reported at the time) a spur of the moment proposition. He had had a committee of some of the best minds in the land working on it for weeks, but it was he who had to give or deny approval. He gave it after much soul-searching.
President Kennedy had to make the final decision in respect to the extent of U.S. participation in the Cuban invasion plan he inherited from the previous Administration.

Convicts Get Rowdy at Alabama Prison

MONTOOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Twenty-one convicts at Kilby Prison wrecked beds and toilets in their cells Tuesday night, complaining of food and "the fact that they just wanted out of segregation."
State Prison Director Frank Lee said guards broke up the disturbance in the segregation unit at Kilby where unruly convicts are kept apart from other prisoners for disciplinary action.
Lee said the 21 men were transferred to isolation cells without lights, bedding or any other equipment after the outbreak.
Amalthea, one of Jupiter's 12 satellites, is slowly spinning closer to the planet. Astronomers estimate the two bodies will collide in 10 or 80 million years.

Right-Wing Opposition Explodes Bombs in Paris

PARIS (AP)—Fourteen plastic bombs exploded across Paris early today in a new expression of right-wing opposition to President Charles de Gaulle's liberal Algerian policies.
No one was injured by the blasts, but property damage was heavy from the putty-like plastic on the outside of buildings housing Gaullist politicians, writers and other liberal personalities.

Water Death Toll High; Use Care on Labor Day

EAST LANSING (AP) — There has been a shocking increase in Michigan water accidents and deaths, state police reported today.

Water accidents and deaths are up 40 per cent and swimming and wading fatalities up 80 per cent over last year, police said.

Provisional totals to mid-August showed 153 persons drowned and 175 injured in 372 water accidents. This compared with 110 deaths and 152 injured in 287 accidents during the same period last year.

The biggest increase in drownings was in swimming and wading accidents—80 compared to 52, an 80 per cent increase.

There were 11 more deaths among persons who fell into water from bridges, banks and piers and six more boat passenger drownings during the period.

Other drownings included 18 boat operators, seven persons falling through the ice, five drowned trying to rescue others and two skin or scuba diver fatalities.

Police gave a few words of caution in an effort to prevent the toll from growing higher over the Labor Day weekend and the remainder of the vacation season. These included:

—Don't swim alone.
—Don't operate boats in a negligent or reckless manner.

—Wear life jackets—this for both water skiers and boat passengers.

Presents Like With Bible Translated Into Ethiopian

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A beautiful bound Bible autographed by Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia was presented to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Tuesday by Berhanou Dinku, Ethiopian ambassador to the United States.

Could Cut Danger From X Rays 67 Pct.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A radiation expert says exposure to X-rays could be reduced 67 per cent without hampering the quality of medical treatment.

Dr. D. W. Moeller, chief of radiological health training at the Taft Sanitary Engineering Center in Cincinnati, addressed an institute on X-ray protection at Caltech Tuesday and advocated use of a cone to limit the size of X-ray beams on an aluminum sheet in front of the machines to filter weak rays otherwise absorbed by the patient.

Astronomers Talking of 'Shooting' a Comet

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Astronomers are eager to try some celestial sharpshooting and hit a comet.

They want to shoot a space clear through a comet's huge glowing head. That would answer many mysteries about comets which are thought to be dirty snowballs trailing tails millions of miles long.

Encke's comet has a gaseous head about 60,000 miles wide. But the core is believed to be only a mile-wide hunk of frozen gases and dirt, like "a dirty snowbank in Chicago," said Dr. Gerard Kuiper of the University of Arizona.

In fact, world astronomers meeting here suggest a good target is Encke's comet, due to visit three years hence.

It will be a neat trick, for the closest Encke's comet comes to earth will be 23 million miles, July 12, 1964. And since comets wheel along about 50,000 miles an hour, the probe needs a good and accurate headstart to make the rendezvous.

ENDORSE THE SHOT

Comet and meteor specialists from 33 countries in the International Astronomical Union have endorsed the comet shot as a valuable scientific goal, acting on resolutions proposed by Czechoslovakia.

Report Turnover Rose in State Civil Service

LANSING (AP) — Turnover of state employees increased last year to 11.3 per cent of the work force of some 30,000, an increase of eight-tenths of one per cent, the Civil Service Commission reported today.

There were 2,000 resignations, 301 persons were fired and 571 employees died or retired.

The over-all turnover figure indicates Michigan has a stable work force and tends to refute the fiction entertained by some people that civil service does not provide methods of removing or disciplining incompetent or undesirable employees, said Franklin K. Dewald, state personnel director.

Blames Cardinal for Hindering Aid to Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., says Francis Cardinal Spellman "has to take his share of responsibility that we haven't passed" education bills for public or private schools.

"I don't intend to let this issue shift it to my back," he added.

Morse's remarks came Tuesday in a Senate speech replying to New York prelate's statement issued Monday.

In it, Cardinal Spellman said there was no truth in a charge Morse made Aug. 14 that top-ranking Roman Catholic clergy are opposed to improving public schools. He also described Morse as "an old friend (who) has turned against us."

Lshpeming, Munising Protest Utility Hike

LANSING (AP) — The cities of Lshpeming and Munising have gone to court to protest a uniform electric rate order authorized by the State Public Service Commission for the Upper Peninsula Power Co.

The commission ordered the uniform rate schedule after the utility absorbed several smaller companies with differing rates. The new rates are in some cases higher and in some lower for various Upper Peninsula localities.

Lshpeming and Munising, hit with higher rates, asked in a bill of complaint in Ingham County Circuit Court for a review of the commission order and a temporary injunction to block the new rates from going into effect. A Sept. 11 hearing date has been set.

Voters Turn Down School Consolidation

GRANT (AP) — Voters in Grant and Newaygo school districts have rejected proposed consolidation into a single unit.

The systems cover parts of Kent, Newaygo and Muskegon counties. In special election Monday on a staggered proposal, the consolidation question was defeated 348 to 96 in the Grant district and 450 to 234 in Newaygo.

ROCK HOUSE — The twin sandstone cones of this early Christian cave house give it the look of a church. The look, however, is not too far from wrong as the 9th Century dwelling offered a place to hide from persecutors in Govenne Valley, Turkey. Many still stand.

Dixie Senators Win a Skirmish

Postpone Extension of Civil Rights Commission, Won't Be Able to Kill It

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The South won the battle Tuesday in the U.S. Senate. A group of Dixie senators forced Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., abandoned at least temporarily his attempt to attach a two-year extension of the Rights Commission to an appropriations bill.

Faced with threats of a talkathon and other parliamentary maneuvering by Southern Democrats, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., abandoned at least temporarily his attempt to attach a two-year extension of the Rights Commission to an appropriations bill.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., concurred in Mansfield's strategic withdrawal. The leaders pointed out that 21 other riders had been offered to the money bill, many by Southerners. A showdown would have been delayed indefinitely.

Mansfield told Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., a civil rights supporter, that another effort would be made later to extend the life of the commission, now due to expire Nov. 8. The commission investigates charges of voting rights abuses.

Privately the southerners were reconciled to the fact that the commission probably would be extended later over their opposition. The main issue in Tuesday's skirmish was a number of more far-reaching rights proposals offered by Northerners.

Negro in Brooklyn for Racial Violence

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Negro preaching racial violence in the Coney Island section of Brooklyn today best a white patrolman who attempted to stop his tirade, police said.

The attack on off-duty patrolman Joel Frankel, 35, occurred in a racially mixed neighborhood.

Frankel subdued his attacker, identified as Wade Robinson, 27, Brooklyn, and arrested him on a felonious assault charge.

According to police, Robinson was declaring that he was going to bring Negroes into the area and teach a lesson to white residents.

State Police Auction to Have Lots of Variety

EAST LANSING (AP) — Do you want some snow shoes... a high chair... three gold dental fillings... an eight-ton hydraulic jack... a power lawnmower... an 80-rod roll of barbed wire?

All these items along with a 12-foot duck boat, a ton of rolled sheet metal, a package of bubble bath and a monopoly set will be offered to the highest bidder tomorrow.

These are some of the odder attractions state police will sell at their annual public auction at East Lansing headquarters.

Also included is a nail clipper, a crucifix, candy and cigarettes.

Luca, Marquette Areas Win Okay for Grants

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Economic Development Department said today it has approved economic development programs for Luca and Marquette counties under the new federal Area Redevelopment Act.

Final approval by the ARA will clear the way for local units to obtain loans and grants for projects that will contribute to their economic development.

The department said programs for the cities of Detroit and Warren also have received state approval and are awaiting federal action.

Appeal for 49 Lives

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The pre-tors of Bogota's eight universities have appealed to Cuban President, Oswaldo Dorticos to save the lives of 47 students and two priests who went on trial on charges of counter-revolutionary activities.

Store Up Preserves and Relishes for Winter Use

Thinking ahead to next winter's in these processes by commercial means isn't as incongruous as it may seem. With fruits and vegetables abundant, it's an economical and handy idea to put some aside in the form of preserves to accompany your main dishes in the months ahead.

It's a well known fact that sugar plays a major part in every form of cookery, but it comes as quite a revelation to some that sugar is as dominant an ingredient in the process of pickling and preserving as it is in sweetening. To see homemaker who hasn't as yet used her hand at home canning seems incredible that millions of pounds of sugar are used annually in these processes by commercial industry alone.

In industrial as well as home use, sugar is the traditional standby in pickling and preserving foods. Due to some of its unique properties, it acts not only as a sweetener, but its use is widespread because of its ability to curb the growth of bacteria, guard against discoloration and preserve the flavor and texture of many foods, without imparting an "off-taste." No wonder then, we find it included in recipes for preserving anything from fruits and berries to sweet and even dill pickles.

Illustrating our point are a number of recipes for pickles, pepper relish and spiced fruits. Requiring a minimum of cooking, they're easy to prepare even for the homemaker who has never before known the pride of filling the larder for next winter with her own specially preserved delicacies.

Pepper Relish

12-24 peppers
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup lime juice
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup apple juice
1/2 cup grape juice
1/2 cup cherry juice
1/2 cup strawberry juice
1/2 cup raspberry juice
1/2 cup blueberry juice
1/2 cup blackberry juice
1/2 cup elderberry juice
1/2 cup huckleberry juice
1/2 cup currant juice
1/2 cup gooseberry juice
1/2 cup loganberry juice
1/2 cup mulberry juice
1/2 cup nectarine juice
1/2 cup peach juice
1/2 cup plum juice
1/2 cup apricot juice
1/2 cup cherry juice
1/2 cup strawberry juice
1/2 cup raspberry juice
1/2 cup blueberry juice
1/2 cup blackberry juice
1/2 cup elderberry juice
1/2 cup huckleberry juice
1/2 cup currant juice
1/2 cup gooseberry juice
1/2 cup loganberry juice
1/2 cup mulberry juice
1/2 cup nectarine juice
1/2 cup peach juice
1/2 cup plum juice
1/2 cup apricot juice

Split peppers and clean, remove seeds. Chop peppers, onions and cabbage coarsely; cover with boiling water and let stand for about 5 minutes. Drain.

Cover again with boiling water into bite-size pieces; soak—rinse overnight in brine—made by dissolving 1/2 cup salt in one quart of water.

Cook rind in fresh water until tender. Drain.

Combine remaining ingredients and boil about 10 minutes; add vegetables and cook for about 10 minutes.

Yield: 2 pints.

Pickled Watermelon Rind

1/2 pound watermelon rind or 1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup lime juice
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup apple juice
1/2 cup grape juice
1/2 cup cherry juice
1/2 cup strawberry juice
1/2 cup raspberry juice
1/2 cup blueberry juice
1/2 cup blackberry juice
1/2 cup elderberry juice
1/2 cup huckleberry juice
1/2 cup currant juice
1/2 cup gooseberry juice
1/2 cup loganberry juice
1/2 cup mulberry juice
1/2 cup nectarine juice
1/2 cup peach juice
1/2 cup plum juice
1/2 cup apricot juice

Pare rind and remove all pink portion of watermelon. Cut rind into bite-size pieces; soak—rinse overnight in brine—made by dissolving 1/2 cup salt in one quart of water.

Cook rind in fresh water until tender. Drain.

Combine remaining ingredients and boil about 10 minutes; add vegetables and cook for about 10 minutes.

Yield: 2 pints.

Spiced Plums

1/2 pound plums
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup water

1/2 cup loganberry juice
1/2 cup mulberry juice
1/2 cup nectarine juice
1/2 cup peach juice
1/2 cup plum juice
1/2 cup apricot juice

Pack in hot sterilized jars; cover with boiling syrup. Yield: 3 pints.

4 cups sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup lime juice
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup apple juice

Peanut Products Please Poppets

You may have to be a little bit anekly, but there are ways to make youngsters like salads. Put in some peanut butter or salted peanuts. That's a suggestion from home economists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Suppose, for example, you find delight in a peach salad. (Incidentally, the Department of Agriculture says that canned freestone peaches are very plentiful just now.) But Junior turns up his nose at peach salad when it's topped with any of the customary dressings or adornments. Next time, top the peach halves with a PEANUT BUTTER SALAD DRESSING:

Dilute 1/2 cup of peanut butter with enough lemon juice to make a smooth paste. Add 1/2 cup of evaporated milk, a long drop of honey, and a dash of salt. Blend and chill before using on top of the peach salad.

If you enjoy cottage cheese as a topping for fruit salads, but have trouble selling your enthusiasm to the small fry, mix salad greens with the cottage cheese. If they like this combination as a salad topping, you might even try a PEANUT-COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD.

Combine 1 part salad greens with 2 parts cottage cheese, 2 parts cooked oat cereal, 2 parts milk. Add 1 slightly beaten egg and 1 tablespoon of fat for each cup of peanuts. Season with chopped onion, Worcestershire sauce, poultry seasoning, salt and pepper. Pour into a greased baking dish and brown in oven at 350 degrees.

Cook Fresh Cherries for Salad Mold

Including a fruit-flavored mold salad is traditional on a Scandinavian-type buffet.

Cherry Mold
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup more dark cherries (pitted)
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup lemon juice
Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water. Cook pitted cherries, sugar and 1/4 cup water together gently until cherries are soft but retain their shape—about 10 minutes.

Braze Juice: Measure: add water if necessary to make 1 1/2 cups. Add softened gelatin and lemon juice to hot cherry juice, stir until dissolved. Chill until partly set; fold in cherries. Turn into 1-quart mold. Chill until firm.

Turn out; garnish with water cream and whole fresh cherries. Makes 6 servings.

Blanching Corn Seals in Flavor

FAST LANSING—Vegetables need a dip in hot water on their way to the freezer, and corn is the only one with no exception. Anita Dean, food and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University, says scalding destroys the oxidizing enzymes which otherwise cause off-flavors and unnatural colors in vegetables. These undesirable changes take place within a few weeks. Scalding also reduces the number of bacteria and makes the product easier to pack.

Blanching should proceed quickly and accurately, timing is essential. Begin counting time from the instant the vegetable is immersed in boiling water, even though the water drops below boiling temperature when the food is added. Vegetables should be heated to the center, then cooled quickly in cold running water or ice water.

Herb Bread Sticks Smell Heavenly While Baking

Only the simplest ingredients go into the making of Herb Bread Sticks: and yet it is amazing what mouth-tempters they turn out to be. Delightful to look at, tantalizing to smell and utterly irresistible to eat, it's hard to believe that they cost so little to make. But they are inexpensive and well worth the little effort needed to make them.

The recipe below makes 24 fragrant, tasty sticks. It can easily be doubled, and the extra batch frozen for later use. Do, however, heat the frozen ones to thaw them so the family and the neighbors can enjoy the heavenly aroma.

Herb Bread Sticks
1/4 cup very warm water
1 package (or 1/2 cup) active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm milk
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 cup warm oil
1/2 cup warm butter
1/2 cup warm margarine
1/2 cup warm shortening
1/2 cup warm flour

Measure very warm water into large bowl. Sprinkle or crumble yeast into water. Add oil, milk, sugar, salt and margarine. Add and stir in 2 teaspoons caraway seeds, poultry seasoning and flour.

Turn dough out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover;

TEN GLORIOUS WAYS WITH HONEY: From top, clockwise: Honey Milk Shake, Honey-Orange Sauce, Hot Buttered Biscuits and Honey, Tart Honey Salad Dressing, Crepes Suzette and Honey, Grapefruit Broiled with Honey and Cream

Honey, a Natural Sweet, Improves Many Foods

What do they say in the South about a very hot buttered biscuit when they want an endearing cut? Eat it with a fork like a tomato! Why, "Honey," of course. Pancake, U-n-m-m-m, good! That's because honey's about as sweet as you can get. Sweet to hear, sweet to eat. Honey, in fact, is the only unprocessed, ready-to-eat sweet we have. It is also the most ancient.

For those who prefer to eat the unrefined foods, honey's a natural substitute for sugar. The flavor of many dishes is improved with honey. Honey is versatile in that it can be used as is for toppings and spreads as well as a sweetener for pies, cakes, cookies and a myriad of other things.

Here are 10 recipes that contain honey and require no cooking. We have chosen to call them:

Ten glorious Ways with Honey:

1. Tart Honey Salad Dressing: Combine 1/2 cup honey, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup chili sauce, 1/2 cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, and then add slowly 1 cup salad oil. Beat until well blended. About 2 cups.

2. Honey-Orange Sauce: Blend well 1/2 cup honey, 1/2 cup orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind and a few grains of salt. About 1/2 cup. (Excellent for gingerbread.)

3. Honey and Cream Cheese Filling: Mix 3 tablespoons of honey with a 4-ounce package of cream cheese. Add a generous handful of chopped pecans. For about five small sandwiches.

4. Lemon-Cream Frosting: Cream until light 1/4 cup butter and add alternately 2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar and 3 tablespoons of honey. Blend in 1/4 teaspoon each of salt and vanilla and 2 tablespoons of lime juice and beat until fluffy. About 2 cups.

5. Honey-Wine Sauce: Mix equal portions of honey and cherry wine (this juice may be substituted) for a delicious vanilla ice cream sundae.

6. Use honey for a sweetener in a rich vanilla milk shake—add a dust of nutmeg.

7. Sweeten a lime punch with honey—top with a mint leaf and lime wheel.

8. Scoop out the center of half a grapefruit. Fill the hole with honey and orange juice. Serve with a perky green cherry.

9. Use a tablespoon of honey in the batter of pancakes, waffles or crepes suzette. Serve with butter and more honey.

10. Pour a generous amount of oil; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down, turn out on floured board, and cut into 2 equal portions.

Roll each half into roll 12 inches long; cut each into 12 even pieces. Roll each piece on board with palms of hands to form rope about one inch thick and 12 inches long. Place sticks on greased baking sheet. Brush sticks with melted margarine; sprinkle with remaining caraway seeds. Cover. Let rise in a warm place about 1 hour. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes, or until golden brown. Makes 2 dozen.

Pop Up Scrambled Eggs With Instant Onion
Hardly instant minced onion and cream cheese give new meaning and taste interest to scrambled eggs.

Beat 4 eggs, add one-third cup milk, 1 tablespoon instant minced onion and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Turn into skillet with 1 tablespoon melted butter and cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until almost set. Add a 3-ounce package cream cheese cut in cubes, and finish cooking. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Heed Hot Tips on Charcoal

When you choose to cook outdoors, which charcoal do you use? asks the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawrey.

Charcoal is available mainly in two different forms. Lump charcoal comes in odd-sized pieces. Charcoal Briquettes are made from lump charcoal that has been ground, mixed with a binder and pressed into uniform-sized blocks. Charcoal Briquettes cost more than regular charcoal, but they have advantages. They take a shorter time to reach the grey-coal roasting stage. They produce an even heat and do not burn out as quickly.

How do you build the fire in your grill? Experts recommend use of some gravel or sand in the bottom of the grill. This provides insulation, protects the metal of the grill, and absorbs fat drippings.

Two pounds of briquettes should be enough for one use, and will last about two hours. First, heap the briquettes in a pile. Soak them with charcoal lighter fluid before starting the fire. Never use kerosene, gasoline or fuel oil! These are dangerous to use and also leave an oily taste and odor on the food.

It takes about twenty minutes for a charcoal fire to reach the grey-coal stage for roasting. Use a good quality charcoal there will be no flame. When the charcoal is hot, stand aside for 3 days, about two-thirds covered with grey. Then spread the coals about three inches apart. It is time to start cooking!

Medley of Red Salads Strikes Colorful Note

There are three new ways to add cranberry sauce to Chicken-Barbecue menus. One's a ruby red Frozen Cranberry Cube relish that's made in an ice cube tray. Another is a party-pink frozen Cranberry Cream Cube that can be made the same way. And there's a gelatin salad that can be chilled in an 8 by 8" cake pan and jelled to cut into squares at serving time.

Plan to serve one of these frozen cranberry cubes or cranberry salad squares on your next Barbecue Chicken Menu. Takes only minutes to get them into the refrigerator to freeze or chill.

Frozen Cranberry Squares
1 lb. can Jellied Cranberry Sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Beat jellied cranberry sauce with rotary beater until smooth and saucy. Stir in lemon juice. Pour into ice cube tray. Place ice cube insert as if to make ice cubes. Freeze until firm. Remove just before serving. Serve frozen cubes on lettuce leaves. Makes 6 servings.

Frozen Cranberry Cream Cubes
1 lb. can Whole Cranberry Sauce
1/2 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon extra-strong horseradish
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Combine ingredients. Pour into ice cube tray. Insert ice cube divider. Freeze until firm. Remove just before serving. Serve cubes of Frozen Cranberry Cream on lettuce leaves. Serves 6 to 8.

Here's a low calorie cranberry salad recipe for cool summertime eating.
Cranberry Salad
1 package cherry flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1/2 lb. can Jellied Cranberry Sauce
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup lemon juice
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Let chill until partially thickened. Beat cranberry sauce, buttermilk, and lemon juice into gelatin mixture. Pour into a 1 quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

Try these easy-to-make cranberry dressings on summertime salads.
Cranberry Dressing
1 cup Jellied Cranberry Sauce
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup lemon juice
Beat cranberry sauce until smooth. Stir in A-1 sauce, lemon juice and mayonnaise. Chill thoroughly and serve on lettuce wedges.

Cranberry Fruit Salad Dressing
1/2 cup whole cranberry sauce
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup Jellied Cranberry Sauce
1/2 cup lemon juice
Combine ingredients. Chill and serve with fruit or meat salads.

Turkey on Menu Fine in Summer

Expecting company this weekend? Whether it's one or a dozen, you'll win acclaim if you serve turkey. This traditional favorite is a wise choice at most country dinners.

Try "Turkey Kezartina" an unusual dressing for roast turkey. For 2 cups of dressing: Combine 1 cup washed rice, 1/2 cup each seedless raisins and shelled pistachio nuts, and 2 tablespoons butter. Chop and add the turkey liver, and season with salt and pepper. Weighs available you should have no problem with leftovers. But just liberally over hot cooked turkey in case you do have some, you bet!

can use them up in this delicious open-face turkey-ham sandwich. Use either toast or bread.

For each sandwich shred lettuce on both sides of bread, put shivering slivers of cooked turkey and ham on one lettuce bed, and place tomato slices on the other. Serve with Thousand Island, French or your favorite cheese-flavored dressing.

This One's Quick

To make a good spaghetti sauce in no time, combine an 8-ounce can Spanish style tomato sauce, 1 tablespoon each, instant minced onion and parsley flakes, 1 bay leaf. With the wide selection of leaf and 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder available you should have no problem with leftovers. But just liberally over hot cooked spaghetti up right per cent of the earth's num cleaner!

Aluminum Is Still Best for Cooking Pans

There are several old wives' tales about aluminum being unhealthy that are still repeated by people who do not stop to think about the facts.

Every trained home economist and food expert knows these stories are not true. But the reasons why are facts that are taken from a report made by the Kettering Laboratory, College of Medicine, University of Cincinnati, in 1957:

"Aluminum is the most widely distributed metallic element, making up eight per cent of the earth's crust. Aluminum occurs in all rocks and soil, in vegetation and many waters."

"Aluminum is highly suited for cooking, processing and storing foods. It conducts heat evenly and quickly, bringing liquids rapidly to a boil. It is lightweight and can be cleaned with steam. It is unusually resistant to fatty acids, which gives it an advantage in handling meats, fats and oils. It causes no discoloration or change in the flavor of the food."

"The stain which sometimes forms on the inside of aluminum cooking pots does not affect food and can be removed easily by boiling a slightly acid substance in the pot, or by using a suitable cleaner: talcum powder or an alum-

Mass Graves Unearthed to Reveal POW Corpses

WARSAW (AP) — Mass graves discovered in 1954 near Zagan and Swietoslow in Western Poland contained the bodies of inmates of Nazi prisoner-of-war camps, an investigation report published Tuesday said.

It said the tens of thousands of victims died of "famine, cold, inhuman living conditions and treatment." They were identified as British, French, Italians, Yugoslavs, Poles and Russians.

Cheboygan Hospital Gets $136,867 Federal Grant

LANSING (U-P) — Gov. Swainson today presented a check for $136,867 to Cheboygan Memorial Hospital. It is the first payment on a $481,000 federal grant to assist in construction of a $929,000 hospital addition.

The community has pledged $65,000 for the structure, which will contain 44 beds. It is one-third completed and will be attached to the present 31-bed hospital.

Japanese to Call on Ike

TOKYO (U-P) — Former Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, who headed the Japanese government when former President Dwight Eisenhower was in power, is expected to call on President Eisenhower today on a tour of Europe, chiefly on matters relating to the United States. He was reported planning to visit Eisenhower on his way home from Europe.

Long Days of Summer Fun Are Fast Drawing to a Close

Playing house and all dressed up in mother's hats, high heels, beads and bows are daughters of the David R. Covans of Henderson Street. Scott, 4, their son, with striped tie and derby is the father. Sandy, as the mother, trips along in heels with mammoth black patent leather purse and gloves, pushing the family heir in the wicker doll buggy once owned by her grandmother. In center on the steps is Susie, 11, who maneuvered the outfits. Sally, 9, at right, holds her youngest dressed in organdie and ribbons. The youngsters' father is in Santa Barbara, Calif., where he is in engineering work at the missile base. The children will leave next Wednesday with their mother to join him.

Just Say Briefly: I'm Sorry

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: How can a man manage a handicap which is not evident without emphasizing it or showing himself up as unmannered? The story is this: I had infantile paralysis in childhood which makes it impossible for me to lift either arm high enough to help a woman on with her coat.

There are many occasions in which I have to either be ill-mannered or go into explanation which rather embarrasses me. My friends know or can be told, but I mean in the other situations calling for my help.

A: When really necessary, the best thing to do is to say briefly, "Sorry I can't help you; I have a bad arm."

Q: I've been ill and out of the hospital only several days. This is the first writing I've been able to do. Comes my problem: I received over a hundred cards, messages and gifts during my illness.

Those gifts which were brought to me, I said thank you for at the time. But what about all the cards and messages, even gifts, which remain unacknowledged? Must each and every one of these be answered personally?

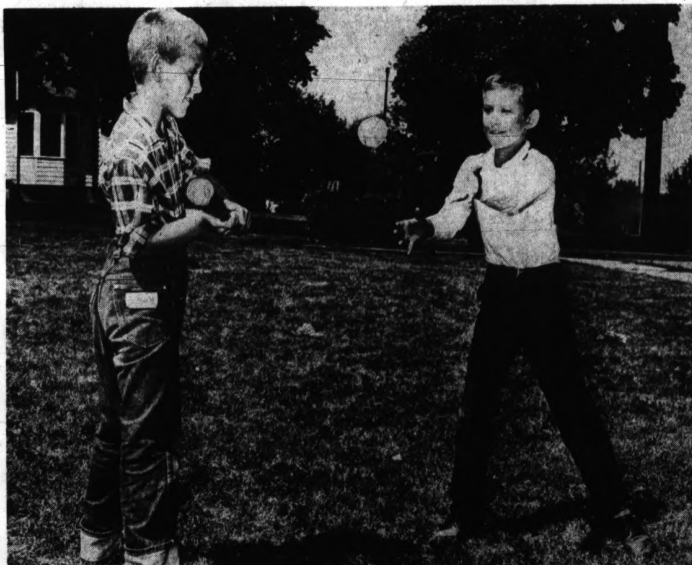

A: One of the special pleasures of receiving get-well cards is that they do not require thank-you notes. On the other hand, someone must write for you (if you yourself are unable to do so) for all of the flowers, candy and other gifts sent you.

Q: When sending a wedding invitation to an engaged couple and only the man is known to the bride and groom, how is the invitation correctly addressed? Could the invitation be addressed to him alone with her name included on the inside envelope?

A: Separate invitations in their inside envelopes, one addressed to Miss Smith and the other to Mr. Jones and both enclosed in one outside envelope, addressed to him, will be best.

You Seem to Know a Lot

Tip Her Off, Dear Friend

BY ANITA VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: How do you do about telling an intelligent young woman that, if she doesn't keep her house cleaner, she is going to lose her husband?

I do not refer to the ordinary daily accumulation of dust, but I have seen a collection of odd shoes under the bed, and soiled laundry, stuffed into every dresser drawer. Her pots and pans are stored (dirty) in her oven until she "gets around" to them.

Her husband holds a responsible position with a first-rate firm, but if it became known that he lives in a dirty home it would discredit him with his associates.

DEAR FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: If you are indeed a "dear friend"—tip her off. If you aren't that friendly, let it go at that. By the way, how did you happen to look under beds, in dresser drawers and in the oven while visiting a friend?

DEAR ABBY: When a couple gets married, and they want to have a double-ring ceremony, in the girl supposed to buy her fiancé's wedding band? Or should he buy both hers and his?

DEAR WONDERING
The girl usually buys her fiancé's wedding band.

and, when I need a baby sitter for a few hours, I always ask a little girl in the neighborhood who is only 13. I find her far more reliable than the "sitters" between 15 and 18. She doesn't have boys on the brain yet. Sincerely,

MRS. J. K.

Women of 1961 List All Their Worries

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Who said women has been emancipated?

Judging from the bulk of 10,000 female letter writers, women circa 1961 are in a sorry state.

They're victims of mental frustration, physical drudgery and general misunderstanding in an age which had promised them mental stimulation, machines to take over the chores, counselors to solve any marital confusions, and a thousand experts to tell them how to bring up a family.

LIBERATION? "Liberation," wrote a young housewife from Fort Lauderdale, Fla. "Show me some."

"I have to be up at 6 a.m.

every school day to start making lunches for my four children," she continued, "and from that point on, with all the gadgets in the world, I don't have half an hour free until I fall into bed at 10 at night."

This was the gist of one of the 10,000 letters which arrived when a women's magazine asked its readers how they felt about their marriage, children and themselves.

One thousand women said they were quite satisfied with their lives and had no major problems. But for every woman content, there were nine malcontents, according to the survey.

They didn't have the worries of which they often are accused—double chins, bulging

THE WORRY LIST

Their worries concerned child rearing, loneliness, the failure of the mechanical age to free them, the feeling they were not getting the most out of life culturally, and the poor fit between the modern environment in which they grew up and the old-fashioned pattern of home-making and child-rearing they had chosen to follow.

One Santa Ana, Calif., housewife, good-naturedly wrote that "in one week, the vacuum cleaner caught fire, the clothes washer broke down, the electric mixer would work only at top speed, the oven door wouldn't stay shut and the dishwasher sprang a leak. I wonder if it wouldn't be easier to be poverty stricken and live in a cave!"

Many women showed lack of training for motherhood. The result: "Some . . . exist in a continual state of brinkmanship, which they survive only by laughing at themselves."

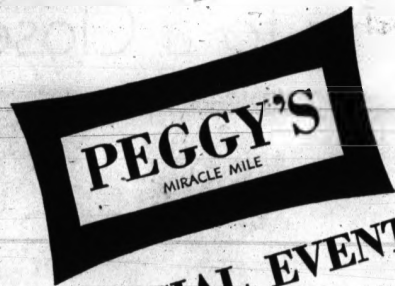

A Longview, Tex., housewife wrote of her "daydream" in which she stood in "the doorway at morning, all freshly starched housedress and ruffled apron, waving fond farewell to my darlings as they left for school. In practice, morning is utter chaos . . . as the smoke clears, there I am leaning against the doorway in a dirty housecoat . . . slowly collapsing into an unstarched, unperfumed heap."

Wed at Grace Lutheran in Double-Ring Nuptials

Rev. Richard C. Stuckmeyer officiated at the double-ring nuptials of Carol Sue Murphy and Stuart Dale Chappell Saturday afternoon at the Grace Lutheran Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Murphy of Dover Road, and the late Mr. Murphy. Parents of the bridegroom are the Arthur Dale Chappells of Okemos.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and net over satin with a shoulder-length brilliant silk illusion veil secured by a caplet of Alencon lace and pearls. She carried a hand cascade of white Amazon lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. David Crawford of Drayton Plains was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Ruth Ann Brace of Roseville, and Vicki Sue McLaughlin of Mahanok Road.

All the attendants were dressed alike in aqua and white dresses with matching broadheads. Each carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and aqua carnations. Brother of the bridegroom, Michael (Chappell) performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Paul Emory of Lansing and Lynn James of Hail.

Fete Miss Bell at Shower

Gifts of plasticware were opened by bride-elect Marilyn Kay Bell at a shower given Thursday evening by Mrs. Dan Sanders at the home of Mrs. Anderson Bee on Sirling Avenue.

Participating in an evening of games were Mrs. Lester Bell of Liberty Street and Mrs. Orley Beatty, mother and grand-mother of the honoree, also Mrs. Anna May Simpson, mother of Miss Bell's fiancé, Thomas Simpson.

Out-of-town guests present among the 25 guests were Mrs. Sylvester C. Aquano of Judah Lake, Mrs. Robert Cover and daughter Nancy of Drayton Plains and Mrs. Robert McCormack and Mrs. Gary Barnhart of Waterford Township.

The Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church has been reserved for the Sept. 3 wedding.

Temple Women Hold Meeting

First board meeting of the year for the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob was held Tuesday morning at the temple. All board members were present.

Mrs. Marvin Talon, first vice president, conducted the meeting, also reporting on the state board meeting held in June. The group discussed policy matters for the forthcoming year and several leadership institutes slated for Sept. 30 and Oct. 8 in Lansing.

A third, an all-day organization leadership institute, will be open to all organizations, Oct. 28 at MSUO.

Father Performs Ceremony

Clergyman Takes Wife

Janice Kay Lowe exchanged wedding vows with Rev. Larry Timmerman Saturday evening in the Church of God.

MRS. LARRY TIMMERMAN

White Chantilly lace over satin styled with long tapered sleeves and silk illusion, veiling a complement of the bride's ensemble. A white orchid and stephanotis rested on her white lace Bible.

Shirley Lowe, her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaid Saunders Jennings of Ferndale appeared in pink silk organza over tulle. The bride, and Martha Timmerman wore blue silk organza. All carried carnations to match their dresses.

FLOWER GIRL

Pamela Jean Bragg of Commerce was flower girl for her cousin.

On the esquire side were Delbert Rose of Monroe, best man; with groomsmen Gary King, Kenneth Eberhart of Greenville, R. C. and Jerry Timmerman, Rev. John Jones of Tecumseh and Marvin Bayne of Cash Island.

After receiving some 300 guests in Roosevelt Temple the newlyweds left for a southern honeymoon. They will live on Ottawa Drive. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lee College, Cleveland, Tenn.

Magenta accessories accented Mrs. Lowe's dress of beige lace over matching satin and the mother of the bridegroom chose peach lace over satin and olive green accessories.

Mrs. Mary Lowe of Chandler Street and F. L. Lowe of Milford, Rev. Floyd Timmerman of Ottawa Drive, who performed the wedding ceremony, and Mrs. Timmerman, are the bridegroom's parents.

Ceremony Held in Birmingham

Joan Cartwright Weds

First Methodist Church of Birmingham was the scene Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Joan Louise Cartwright and John P. Hinkley Jr. Dr. Harry Martin performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of some 250 friends and relatives.

The newlyweds' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cartwright of Brookwood, Birmingham, and Mrs. Frederick Bloodhart of Van Nuys (Calif.), and John P. Hinkley of Bradford Drive, Birmingham.

Given in marriage by her father, Joan wore a white silk princess-designed gown featuring a sweetheart neckline. A train of seed pearls secured her full-length Brussels lace veil. She carried a matching Brussels lace fan with phloxes, nymphaeas and lily-of-the-valley.

IS HONOR ATTENDANT

Serving as honor attendant was Ruth Ann Graham of Birmingham. Bridesmaids were Kathleen Gill, cousin of the bride; Melanie Powell, both of Lansing; and Mary Ann Vasilov of Birmingham.

They appeared in her blue silk organza sheath dresses with flared back panel and bodice and skirt trimmed with black bands and bows. Their matching veiled crowns were spangled with crystals. They carried bouquets of semi-cascade alium lilies and stephanotis and ivory.

William Bigler of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, was best man and ushers were James Scribner of Birmingham, Don Gezon and Richard Cartwright, brother of the bride, of Grand Rapids.

The bride's mother appeared in powder-blue silk organza dress with lace bodice. Mrs. Bloodhart selected a silk gold sheath with matching accessories. Both mothers had corsages of amazon lilies and stephanotis.

Following a reception at Pine Lake Country Club, the newlyweds left on a tour of Northern Michigan. They will live in Spartan Village in East Lansing, where the bridegroom will be a senior at Michigan State University.

Ice Cream Social Set for Tonight

The community and the congregation of Christ Lutheran Church have been invited to an ice cream social from 6 to 9 this evening at the church on Airport and Williams Lake roads.

A free will offering will be taken at the affair, sponsored by the Augusta Lutheran Church Women.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"How would you suggest I press a beaded crepe dress?"

First, lay a double thickness of blankets or any smooth type padding on your ironing board. Over this, lay a piece of an old sheet.

Lay your dress over this, beaded side down. Press on the wrong side with a steam iron. The beads will sink into the padding, making the fabric smoother to press.

SKIRTS STILL SHORT

"Dear Eunice,

"Can you give us any advance information about the length of skirts for fall? I would like to get started making my clothes this summer."

The forecast for fall fashions seems to be about the same as they are this season. The skirts are still on the short side. The average woman should not go to extremes on length, but should choose a length that is becoming to her. I think about 2 inches below the knees is about average.

Women in the business world usually go to more extremes in fashion. However, nothing can make a garment look more dowdy than a skirt that is too long.

ADVANTAGE TO BODICE

"Dear Eunice,

"Why are some patterns cut with a separate facing, while other patterns have the bodice front and facing cut in one piece?"

There is often an advantage to having the facing cut in one. If your fabric is extra heavy, it eliminates the thickness from the seams, or if it is very sheer fabric, it eliminates the unattractive seams in front.

To cut the facing all in one with the front bodice, pin the seamline of the bodice front (a), over the seamline of the facing (b). The fold-line where the facing will turn back is where these two seams cross each other.

When cutting your interfacing, cut it from the fold-line out to the edge of the facing. This will be catch-stitched into place by hand at the fold-line.

If your fabric stretches easily, it is always better to have a separate facing because the machine stitching will keep the cut edges from stretching.

If the answer to your current questions is not answered in time for the garments you are now making, save them for future reference.

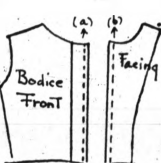

SEWING GLOSSARY: GUSSET: A piece of fabric cut in various shapes, and inserted in underarm area. This gives greater freedom in garments without set in sleeves.

Evening gowns and summer clothes can be much more attractive with spaghetti straps. If you want Eunice Farmer's instructions for making them, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 4. Address Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press.

Quiz Serious. Answers Comforting

Airlines' Hydraulic Brakes Misbehaving

Editor's Note: Recent incidents at Denver International Airport focused attention on this air safety problem. The following questions and answers are the result of a situation which has many laymen in serious.

By ROBERT T. NEHLING
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Q. Does failure of an airline's hydraulic system create serious danger?

A. Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) experts, the airlines and pilots themselves regard such malfunctions as more of a nuisance than a real menace. Hydraulic failures can affect the operation of the landing gear, brakes, wing flaps and controls.

But every commercial plane has at least one and usually two alternate means of operating such components in the event the main hydraulic system fails. And government regulations require that every aircraft still can be flown safely even if all main and alternate or auxiliary systems failed. This is more than you can say for your automobile. Failure of hydraulic brakes, for example, would leave you with no brakes at all.

Q. If there's no real danger, then why do pilots make emergency landings when they experience hydraulic failures?

A. Both FAA and pilots smile wryly at this phrase: "emergency landings." They prefer to call them "precautionary landings" and they have a point. When a pilot has any indication that he is losing hydraulic fluid in any of various systems using such fluid, it is common sense to land as soon as possible rather than chancing a complete loss of fluid and throwing the burden on an auxiliary or alternate supply.

Q. Why do jets seem to have more trouble than piston-engine planes?

A. The hydraulic systems on jets are about 10 times more complicated than those on older planes. In addition to greater complexity, they also are subjected to fan-luor temperature changes which create problems.

A jet can take off with the ground thermometer reading 100 degrees and in a few minutes be cruising at 35,000 feet in outside temperatures of 25 degrees below zero. It should be pointed out, that virtually every type of commercial airliner ever built has experienced hydraulic difficulties at one time or another.

The older prop-driven planes have less troubles today than the jets because their systems have benefited from years of improvement and refinement, plus the fact that they don't take the beating experienced by the high-flying jets.

Q. But don't get the idea that hydraulic failures happen only to jets; they even happen to the venerable DC-3, a plane designed 25 years ago and which has about the simplest system imaginable.

Q. How can you say such failures present no danger when only last month, a DC-3 crashed at Denver killing 16 people, after the pilot had radioed his hydraulic system had failed?

A. That accident happened to be the first on record in which fatalities resulted in a landing involving hydraulic failure. For that one crash, there are several hundred cases of successful landings.

And for that matter, the Denver accident (which still is under investigation) apparently involved a number of factors, of which hydraulic trouble was only one, going up on the pilot after he touched down.

Q. Why does the DC-3 seem to have more hydraulic failures than other planes?

A. It doesn't. Because of the Denver crash, DC-3 incidents have received wider publicity and attention, just as the Boeing 707 received similar publicity about two years ago when it encountered an embarrasing number of hydraulic pump malfunctions.

According to FAA records, 148 hydraulic difficulties (about 70 from January 1960, through mid-August, 1961 in more than 200,000 flight hours) have not been numerous enough to warrant apprehension.

Boeing have them, too, and so do things to indicate that the plane's words, you have to see such a system to believe it—and grasp the complexity. It pumps fluid to the brakes, flaps, landing gear and controls at a pressure of 3,000 pounds per square inch. No amount of testing is going to prevent something from going wrong occasionally in a system with so many parts subjected to so much strain. Considering the number of jets operating daily, the incidents of hydraulic failures are comparatively low.

Q. Why should any hydraulic trouble develop in a system supposedly subjected to rigid tests before the government certified the plane as safe?

A. The FAA has a diagram of a DC-3 hydraulic system covering 3 by 10 feet and it would take approximately eight hours to count the individual parts. In other

Brazilian Official Ends His Visit to Red China

TOKYO (UPI)—Vice President Juan Belchior Goulart of Brazil officially ended his visit to Red China today.

The Pueblo Indians flourished for centuries and reached a high state of culture before most of them mysteriously vanished 700 years ago.

National Guard, State Police Plan for Labor Day

LANSING (AP)—State police and national guardsmen will join forces again in an attempt to reduce the highway death toll on the Labor Day weekend.

Usually, the Labor Day toll is the highest for any holiday weekend but Christmas and the Fourth of July.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said 106 members of the Michigan National Guard will ride in state police patrol cars during the peak travel hours of the three-day weekend. Patrol shifts for state police will be lengthened to 10 hours.

State police planes will take to the air for traffic observation and control.

Four-Day Armada Fair Due to Draw Thousands

ARMADA — Coronation of a king and queen, close to 1,000 4-H agricultural exhibits and free grandstand shows will be features of the 89th annual Armada Fair which opens its four-day run tomorrow.

With the weatherman's cooperation attendance at the fair is expected to top last year's total of 25,000, Ervin Klusendorf, fair secretary, said today.

NANCY C. RAYMOND

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Raymond Jr. of 573 E. Flint St., Lake Orion, announce the engagement of their daughter Nancy Carol to Charles E. Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Blazny of 691 Brown Road, Orion Township. No date has been set for the wedding.

Demands Exam on a Felonious Driving Charge

Charged with felonious driving, Richard Danley, 17, of 2891 Ford Road, Milford Township, demanded examination yesterday at a preliminary hearing in justice court.

The youth is accused of causing an accident June 28 that crippled one of his passengers, Linda Collins, 15, of 3170 W. Maple Road, Milford Township.

She suffered a broken spine and fractured ribs when a car driven by Danley crashed into a fence alongside Hickory Ridge Road. Sheriff's deputies said he was speeding at the time.

Commerce Township Justice of the Peace John C. Welck scheduled an examination for 1:30 p.m. Aug. 31 in his court. Danley was released on $200 bond pending his appearance.

1956 Clarkston Grads Plan Reunion Sunday

CLARKSTON — The Clarkston High School graduating class of 1956 will have its annual reunion at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the American Legion Hall, Post 377, in Drayton Plains.

The reunion will be a picnic for members and their families and each group has been asked to bring their own basket lunch, and items for swimming.

For further information, members can call Mrs. Robert C. Jones of 6853 Wealthy Drive, Clarkston.

Marries Ohio Girl

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Baskets of white flowers and candles labrador with pink candles graced the altar of the Commerce Methodist Church recently for the wedding of Connie Lynn Hillier and Edward J. Holmes.

Officiating at the Saturday ceremony was Rev. Floyd Porter.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Hillier of Columbus, Ohio. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs.

Edward A. Holmes of 722 Andrews Road.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white silk organza over tulle, fashioned with a bateau neckline and long tapered sleeves.

Embroidered alençon lace formed a panel on the princess style bodice and full skirt, which featured a bustle back and chapel train.

The bride wore a mantilla veil of illusion with a border of imported lace and seed pearls, and she carried a white Bible topped with sweetheart roses and ivory streamers.

A blue sapphire pendant on a silver chain, a gift from the bridegroom, was the bride's only jewelry.

Linda Hamilton of Columbus, Ohio, was the maid of honor. The three bridesmaids were Sarah Petay of Port Huron, Mrs. Gary Perkins of Union Lake, and Mrs. Jack Boldt of Walled Lake.

Best man was Robert Atkins of Union Lake. The 200 guests were seated by Michael Hillier, brother of the bride. Gary Perkins, Jack Boldt, Willis Dolsen of Wayne, and Jon Dolsen of Jackson.

The newweds left on a honeymoon trip to Northern Michigan and Wisconsin following a reception in the parlor of the church. They will reside in Commerce Township.

Urges Bakers to Hold Prices

Freeman Warns Public Will Not Take It Kindly if Bread Costs More

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has urged the American Bakers Association to reconsider its proposed increase in the price of bread.

Freeman warned the Association Tuesday against "possible public reaction."

E. E. Kelley Jr., ABA president, said last week at Chicago that "it will be little short of a miracle if bread prices are not increased in the near future."

Kelley cited the cause as an increase in the support price on 1962 crop wheat.

Freeman recently hiked the support price of wheat from $1.79 to $2 a bushel, effective for the 1962 crop.

Freeman wrote Kelly "the price of bread has increased steadily over the past 10 years, rising from 14.3 cents a loaf in 1950 to 20.3 cents a loaf in 1960."

"During the same period, the farmer has had his share of a 15 per cent," he added.

"It would appear that the bakers' association has taken every opportunity to increase the price of bread through the past decade, while none of the loss the farmer has suffered has been passed on to the consumer in lower prices."

Section of Berkley Lacks Power for Hour

BERKLEY — About a fourth of this city was without electricity for about an hour early this morning. A break in the main electrical circuit at 2:47 a.m. also plunged the police and fire stations into darkness.

Many frantic calls were received from residents mostly concerned about their freezers.

Police restored power to their cars and electricity for the station with their own portable power units in a matter of minutes.

Invite Exhibitors for Art Show

Village Friends Plan 2nd Annual Display at Community Center

CLARKSTON — The second annual outdoor art exhibit sponsored by the Village Friends of Art will be held 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Labor Day, Sept. 4 on the paved area of the Community Center, at 59 N. Main St.

Area artists, members and nonmembers of the Village Friends Association have been invited to exhibit. In lieu of an exhibitor's fee, each artist has been asked to donate a piece of art which will be auctioned at 6 p.m. at the close of the show.

Unlike last year's show, each artist will be responsible for providing his own display racks, setting up, maintaining and closing his own booth.

Any artist wishing to exhibit may contact Mrs. Henry J. Storer, 61 E. Washington St., or Mr. Henry M. Rankin, 13 S. Holcomb St., prior to next Monday.

In case of bad weather, the art show will be moved into the lower level of the power house and the top floor of the Community Center which adjoins the paved area.

OKs $1.5-Million Asked by Rochester

LANSHING (AP)—The Municipal Finance Commission has approved a $1.5-million bond issue by the Rochester Community School District.

The issue, second in a series of an authorized $3.1 million in bonds, is for construction and furnishing of a new junior high school and elementary school and additions to other buildings.

Other tax anticipation notes and bonds approved yesterday included:

Bloomfield Hills School District No. 2, $800,000, tax anticipation notes; and Oxford School District No. 7, $100,000, tax anticipation notes.

Carriage Ride From Church Miss Urban Married

LAKE ORION — Mr. and Mrs. Julius DeVere Myers rode in a horse-drawn carriage from St. Joseph Catholic Church to a wedding breakfast at Alban's Country cousin, after their marriage Saturday morning.

Rev. R. Vincent Myrick celebrated their nuptial high mass.

The bride is the former Val-Joan Marie Urban, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albin L. Urban, 1141 Chateaufort. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Adelaide Welsh, Breckinridge.

For her wedding the bride chose a ballerina length gown of silk mist tulle featuring long sleeves and appliques of Alençon lace around the scoop neckline and down the sides of the full circle skirt.

A crown of leaves with crystal drops held her bouffant veil of silk illusion. Her simple, tear-drop crystal earrings were a gift from the bridegroom.

She carried a cascade arrangement of roses, stephanotis and lily.

SEATED THE GUESTS

Serving as best man was Benedict Urban of Flint while Frank Memmus of Ithaca and Allen Zimmerman of Ann Arbor seated the guests.

Flower girl was Vivian Urban, daughter of Royal Oak, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents after which the newweds left on their honeymoon trip to Northern Michigan. Upon their return they will reside in Ithaca.

Northern Cherry Crop Half of Normal Year

CHEBOYGAN (UPI)—A bud-killing spring frost resulted in reducing the 100-acre northern orchards crop to half its normal size.

Lawrence Oswald, manager of the state's largest red cherry orchard, said the crop was 150 tons compared with last year's output of 375.

The officers will discuss the up-to-the-second status of the nation's defense and will answer questions from the audience on the subject from an amplified phone pick-up.

State Treasury Income $35.8 Million Last Week

LANSHING (AP)—State Treasury income during the past week was $35.8 million.

Spending during the same period was $11.5 million, the treasurer's office reports.

The balance in state funds now stands at $33.3 million.

The government of Communist China has abolished the old-time riches on the ground that a nation degrades itself by pulling another.

Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls. Carnations and tea roses with flowered streamers were attached to the white prayer book she carried.

Carol Reindel, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor, and Alice M. Chettleburgh, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid.

Serving as best man was Dennis Solomon of Detroit. The guests were seated by Robert R. Chettleburgh and Gerald Reindel, brothers of the newweds.

Following a luncheon reception for 110 guests, the newweds left on a honeymoon trip through southeastern Canada. They will reside in Belleville.

Buchanan Rite Unites Couple in Matrimony

KEEGO HARBOR — Dorothy M. DeWitt became the bride of J. William Walter in a recent ceremony performed by Rev. Robert V. Gouvers at the Presbyterian Church in Buchanan.

The bride, formerly of 3186 Prydan St., is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. Oman of Farwell.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walter of Indiana.

For her wedding the bride wore a dress of azure blue silk organza over tulle. She carried a bouquet of blue Colorado carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hart of South Bend, Ind., served as best man and matron of honor.

A reception was held in Keego Harbor on the return of the newweds from a honeymoon trip to Indiana. The couple is residing in Waterford Township.

Firm Asks Okay to Deliver Parts in Detroit Area

LANSHING (AP)—A Detroit trucking firm is asking the State Public Service Commission for temporary authority to carry parts to Ford and Chrysler plants in the Detroit area.

The commission had ruled the Central Transport Co. was acting without proper authority when it was trucking outside set limits by tacking one order on another.

The firm appealed to the court to stay effectiveness of a stop order and asked for temporary authority for the hauling. The hearing opened Tuesday and is continuing today.

The firm was given authority to haul auto parts from an area 50 miles around Grand Rapids, Detroit, Highland Park and Dearborn. The commission said the firm was improperly extending the area to include plants in Mount Clemens, Wixom and Livonia.

Average Governor Aged 49, Married

CHICAGO (UPI) — The average age of state governors is 49. The average governor is married and has two or more children, according to the Council of State Governments.

The Council's survey noted that almost two-thirds of the 50 governors were born in the state they now govern, that 32 are attorneys, and that other occupations include farming, banking, teaching and publishing.

Almost all the governors are church members and more than half of them served in World War II.

President Harding was the first to ride to his inaugural in an automobile rather than in a carriage.

BUSY IN EAST BERLIN—Youthful East Berliner erects concrete wall that was to be topped by barbed wire at a sector border in the divided city. People's police stand guard in background as another worker mixes cement.

city. People's police stand guard in background as another worker mixes cement.

'Great Wall of Berlin' Erected Under Staring Eyes of West

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berliners used to pass the cool summer evenings feeding the pigeons. But these days they just stand along the border and stare at the antics of the Communists.

All along the 35-mile barricaded border that twists through the divided city, West Berliners gather during the evening and watch the Communists work like beavers.

Workers' militia units are putting up more fences, more concrete blocks, sealing additional doors and windows — and they are doing it under the watchful eyes of armed guards.

Soon the city will be virtually split down the middle with a five-foot high "Chinese wall" the Communists have erected. On top of the wall are steel rods and barbed wire. In front of the wall — on the west side — are tangled masses of rusty barbed wire.

In the French sector, the Communists are building a doorway called a "shopper" who had complained that he had no door after the East Germans bricked-off the front of his shop. The shop is in the East sector, but it opened onto the West sector.

Such things confuse visitors, but West Berliners are used to them. CHURCH GATE CLOSED There is one stretch of border that runs down the middle of a street. In another, a church is in the East sector, but the entrance faces the West. The Reds closed the iron gate entrance way.

On the east side of the concrete and barbed wire, elderly East Berliners sit in parks trying to "know the tanks, the armed guards and the workers' militia.

At points where the border is "undefended" against the West, the Communists have brought up bulldozers to dig foundations for the wall and cranes to lift the big slabs of concrete into place.

Many of the East German People's Police and workers militia are visibly embarrassed by the stares of the West Germans.

"You've never experienced anything like this have you?"

shouted one East German in apparent frustration in the West German.

Another got so angry at a West German cameraman that he picked up a bucket and hurled water at him. The water fell short, but the West Berliners simply kept staring at the Communists' action. The President noted that he had asked Congress on May 25 "to refrain from adding unnecessary expenditures or new programs to the budget."

He said economic and employment aid measures already approved plus the military build-up indicated a large budget deficit this fiscal year on top of the $4 billion deficit for the previous 12 months.

The President said expansion of national production in the second quarter of this year "reflects both the strength of the regenerative forces in our economy and the impact of our present programs."

"It also suggests that the pace of recovery—and the rate of absorption of the unemployed—may exceed earlier expectations," he wrote.

"But," the President said, "barring unforeseeable national security developments which might force a deferral of this action, I intend to embody the principle of standby authority for capital improvement projects in my legislative program for 1962, along with such other measures as would be needed to protect our economy against unacceptably high levels of unemployment."

"I have no intention of learning to live with prolonged and severe unemployment, with all that it means in human suffering and economic waste."

He has been assigned to the Oakland County area and will report to Don Rightenbarg, Detroit division manager.

Ault, a native of Pennsylvania, was educated in Detroit schools and is 29 years old.

His previous business experience includes several years of technical work at the machine plant of Chrysler Corp. in Detroit and the selling of automotive products and retail clothing.

DETROIT (AP) — An ex-convict was questioned today in the shotgun slaying of Robert M. Warren of Redford Township, a Flint school teacher who drove a taxi during the summer to put his son through college.

Police arrested what they called "a prime suspect" early today after they received a tip that the suspect was the owner of the 16-gauge, single-barrel shotgun used in the slaying.

The man renting the apartment where the arrest was made and two girls, aged 18 and 19, were held as police witnesses.

He explained he considers it a field in which World War III already is being fought.

Walsh made a record ocean descent last July when he and Jacques Picard, Swiss scientist, went down a record 35,800 feet off Guam in the Navy's bathyscaphe Trieste.

Most motorists tie up traffic too long when getting their car into a parking space, the spokesman said, and then some of them park improperly with either the front or rear of their cars out in the street.

Parking is really quite an art for motorists. With a little practice, proper parking can be made almost effortless and devoid of scratched bumpers or fenders or lost temper.

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—A University of Illinois professor says middle age begins at 26.

Thomas H. Cureton Jr., says that's the age at which the powers of the body start to decline if a person allows himself to go on living as usual.

Dr. Cureton Jr., an instructor of physical education for men, said the youthful period is over at 13 for boys and 17 for girls, followed by adulthood which is a leveling off period.

He recommends that persons develop fitness programs to fill the demands of their life and enjoyment.

Eyes Projects to Aid Jobless

JFK to Ask Authority for Public Works Jobs if Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says he will ask standby authority next year to launch public works projects if necessary to combat unemployment.

He stated his intention in a letter to Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who has been pushing for a half-billion program along this line. The letter, dated Aug. 7, was made public today by Clark.

The President noted that he had asked Congress on May 25 "to refrain from adding unnecessary expenditures or new programs to the budget."

He said economic and employment aid measures already approved plus the military build-up indicated a large budget deficit this fiscal year on top of the $4 billion deficit for the previous 12 months.

The President said expansion of national production in the second quarter of this year "reflects both the strength of the regenerative forces in our economy and the impact of our present programs."

"It also suggests that the pace of recovery—and the rate of absorption of the unemployed—may exceed earlier expectations," he wrote.

"But," the President said, "barring unforeseeable national security developments which might force a deferral of this action, I intend to embody the principle of standby authority for capital improvement projects in my legislative program for 1962, along with such other measures as would be needed to protect our economy against unacceptably high levels of unemployment."

"I have no intention of learning to live with prolonged and severe unemployment, with all that it means in human suffering and economic waste."

He has been assigned to the Oakland County area and will report to Don Rightenbarg, Detroit division manager.

Ault, a native of Pennsylvania, was educated in Detroit schools and is 29 years old.

His previous business experience includes several years of technical work at the machine plant of Chrysler Corp. in Detroit and the selling of automotive products and retail clothing.

DETROIT (AP) — An ex-convict was questioned today in the gun slaying of Robert M. Warren of Redford Township, a Flint school teacher who drove a taxi during the summer to put his son through college.

Police arrested what they called "a prime suspect" early today after they received a tip that the suspect was the owner of the 16-gauge, single-barrel shotgun used in the slaying.

The man renting the apartment where the arrest was made and two girls, aged 18 and 19, were held as police witnesses.

He explained he considers it a field in which World War III already is being fought.

'Joe Special' Express Is Birthday Surprise

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — For years Joe Stiglmeier has been described by his office colleagues in the city's purchasing department as "a guy who scoots around like an express train."

On his 67th birthday, the staff presented him with a birthday cake shaped like an express train and labeled, "Joe Special."

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — It's a mistake to use just one lamp in a study desk, reports Nagy Mueller, extension home improvement specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Contrast between the dark room and the lighted desk will cause eye strain and fatigue, as well as reduce studying efficiency.

Got His Interview Despite Troubles

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A visitor at City Hall leaped over the desk of a secretary to tell why he wanted an interview with City Manager Porter W. Homer.

At that point the rest of his pants split. Mrs. Vlasta Potter, 30-year-old city employee, rummaged through her desk and came up with a sewing kit.

The embarrassed visitor retired to more modest quarters while Mrs. Potter repaired the damage. Then the man had his interview.

Mrs. Kim of Ann Arbor Killed on Expressway

FLINT (AP) — Mrs. Jung Kap Kim, 28, of Ann Arbor, was killed Tuesday on U.S. 23 expressway in Mundy Township, 8 miles south of here.

Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Kim struck another auto as she tried to pass and the two cars went off the expressway. Sun Hywo Kim, 38, her husband, suffered severe head cuts.

The driver of the other auto, Margaret Savage, 51, of Grand Blanc, also was injured.

Down-to-Earth Show a Success for ABC

By RICK DU BROW

"HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The network officials responsible for presenting a generally warped picture of this nation night in and night out on TV would do well to study ABC's grass-roots documentary series, "Focus on America."

It does not deal with pomaded private eyes who wear narrow lapels and tight pants. It is concerned with ordinary people, of whom there are quite a few.

Tuesday night's offering, "Education Tailor-Made," hosted by Sam Levenson, told of the special schools available to gifted and retarded children in a big city — and had meaning for many parents.

Like the other shows in the series, it first was aired by the local station that produced it and then was presented on a nationwide hookup.

It seems logical that networks short of good material—which is always — could add many worthwhile hours of viewing by relying on their affiliate stations similarly in the future.

In past weeks, "Focus on America" has told the stories of the development of San Francisco Bay; a cattle roundup on North America's biggest ranch; treatment of cancer of the breast in a University of Chicago hospital; the St. Louis Police Department; and the archaeological remnants of Arizona's three ancient Indian cultures.

Tuesday night's program was unusually timely. It was set in New York City—where education officials presently are the center of a furor involving alleged misadministration, bribery and corruption—and ended with a guest appearance by Superintendent of Schools John J. Theobald.

Theobald, apparently in good graces when this show was filmed, was revealed in the upsurge to have used vocational students to build him a house.

The half-hour show therefore got off to an almost-humorous start when a narrator said the education problem was "a story too common everywhere" — a story of "payoff and carelessness."

Cholera Threatens Colony of Hong Kong

HONG KONG (UPI)—A cholera epidemic which was reported to have taken at least 30,000 lives in southern areas of Communist China today threatened this crowded British crown colony.

Health officials here and in the neighboring Portuguese colony of Macao took steps to prevent the spread of the dread disease that takes thousands of lives annually in Asia.

Latest figures released by Hong Kong health authorities said there had been 41 confirmed cases of cholera reported in the colony with at least 14 suspected cases.

Four deaths were reported. Two persons were critically ill and 323 others were in quarantine.

State Publinx Tourney Will Begin Tomorrow

By BILL COENWELL

The Michigan Publinx Golf Association's annual State Match Play Championship begins Thursday and runs through Sunday at Pontiac Country Club.

Approximately 150 golfers are expected to participate in tomorrow's 18-hole qualifying rounds at Frank Glynn's popular course on Elizabeth Lake Road.

The low 83 shooters will join defending champion Doug Wilson of Ypsilanti in the championship flight for match play running Friday through Sunday.

Wilson won the state match play title last year by defeating Jim Briegel of Ann Arbor in the finals at Loch Alpine Golf Club.

This marks the third time that Pontiac C.C. is host to the state tournament.

The 1961 tourney was held at P.C.C. and Mike Andonian won his 3rd consecutive crown that year with a 5-4 victory over Paul Bada, his most potent local rival.

Bada must be regarded as a strong title threat in the 1961 event in view of his recent triumph in the men's City Medal Play tournament at Pontiac Municipal. It was Bada's 3rd city championship.

Andonian, enjoying one of his better years on the links, also is a title threat—as usual, Andonian will be shooting for his 4th state publinx crown, something no one else has ever accomplished.

Michigan State University golfer

Gene Hunt, winner of the 1959 crown at Rochester, is now ineligible to compete in this event due to his private club affiliation.

Those who fail to qualify for the championship flight will fall into lower flights of 22 players each.

A consolation best-ball event for all those who lose in the first round of match play will be conducted Saturday morning. Anyone winning his 1st match automatically receives an award.

Post entries will be accepted at P.C.C. Thursday morning, the MPGA tournament committee has announced.

U.S. Swimmers Win to Square Series

RHEENEN, Netherlands (AP)—The U.S. women's swimming team evened its series with the Dutch girls Tuesday night with a narrow 44-43 victory in bleak weather.

Last weekend at Zwoile, the Netherlands' women defeated the U.S. girls 80-73.

Going into the final event, the 400-meter relay, each team had won three events. But Robyn Johnson of Arlington, Va., Chris Von Salta of Santa Clara, Calif., Donna de Varona of Lafayette, Ind., and Carolyn Wood of Portland, Ore., splashed to an easy 4:21.4 victory to give the United States the meet.

Best Ball Time at Indianwood

Indianwood Country Club's annual Invitational Best Ball golf tournament starts a four-day stand Thursday.

Eighteen-hole qualifying rounds for flights will be completed tomorrow, then match play starts Friday and runs through Sunday.

Single matches are scheduled Friday and Saturday, followed by the semifinals and finals on Sunday. All matches are set for 10 holes.

Only half of the defending champion team will be eligible for the tourney. Andy Purdo and Leo Deigle won last year's event, but Deigle is now head pro at Indianwood and no longer eligible.

This year Purdo is teamed with Birmingham's Buzz Lewis. Among the leading teams in the event are Owen Davis and Bob Erdelon, Jim Haverly and Don Nancarrow, and Fred Henkel and George Wilson.

Bowling Series Closes Friday; P.L.P. Five Leads

The second part of a six-game series between two groups of local bowling grandstands will be held Friday at 8:30 p.m. at Huron Bowl. A team known as the P.L.P. of P. ledgers hold a 47-pin lead after posting a 295 total at Lakeside Lanes paced by Bob Lowry Jr. with 592, Dick Carmichael 575 and Paul George 574. Carl Beckrich hit 547 and Bob Gotting 517. The leaders had a 1955 game featuring a 255 by Lowry and 235 by Carmichael. Joe Foster topped all series sparking the opposition with 608 including 223 and 202 games. Jack Chambers rolled 203 and 212 in 601. Bill Richards 202 in 542, Frank Spadatore 518 and Tom, Angello 497.

San Diego Sailor 'Commands' Regatta

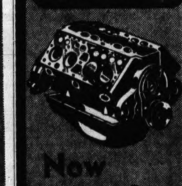

BAY CITY UP—Albert A. Frost, Jr., defending International 110 champion, of San Diego, Calif., tightened his grip on first place yesterday in the second day of the 110 world championship regatta on Saginaw Bay. Frost sailed to first place Monday and finished third yesterday to rack up a total of 58 1/2 points. His nearest competition, Bartlett H. O'Connor of Quaker Hill, Conn., only 1 1/4 point behind Monday, slipped to 2 1/4 points behind yesterday by finishing fourth. Tuesday's first place honors fell to Dayton Carr, a promising young Wilmette, Ill., 110 skipper disqualified Monday for a port tack foul after his Tiki crashed into an East Coast boat.

American 'Seeds' Reach 3rd Round of Net Tourney

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—All 12 American seeded players in the U.S. Girls' Grass Court Tennis Tournament advanced in straight sets to the third round Tuesday at Philadelphia Cricket Club. Mary Habicht, Sao Paulo, Brazil, was the only foreign seeded player to advance. She eliminated Sheryl English, St. Louis, 7-5, 6-2. Among the foreign casualties were Vicki Berner, Vancouver, Canada, and Anja Lepoutre and Elise Spruty, both of the Netherlands.

Miss Berner, Canadian Junior champion, was defeated by Christine Safford, Lansdowne, Pa., 6-3, 15-13. The 28-game second set was one of the longest in the tournament's 44-year-old history. Miss Safford then advanced to the third round with a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Patti Doane, Prairie Village, Kan. Miss Lepoutre was defeated by Stephanie Defina, a Hollywood Fla., southpaw, 6-6, 6-3.

Predicts Fight Difficulty

MONTREAL (UPI)—Canadian and American boxing officials predicted today that promoter Bill Fugazy will run into trouble if he attempts to stage a heavyweight elimination bout between suspended Sonny Liston and ex-champion Ingemar Johansson in Canada.

Fugazy announced yesterday that Johansson had agreed to fight Liston, who is under suspension by the National Boxing Association, early in December at either Toronto or Montreal.

However, Gerry Gossett, secretary of the Montreal athletic commission, pointed out his group was a member of the NBA.

Cubs May Continue Coaching System

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Elvin Tappe, head coach of the Chicago Cubs, said today he expects owner Phil Wrigley will continue next year to use a board of coaches to run the club with a slight modification in the system adopted at the start of this season.

"We'll probably still have retaining coaches (from the Cubs to minor league affiliates)," said

Tappe, "but the head man would be the head coach the whole year said his organization would and have no control over such a because it is not a title fight."

However, he agreed that the Montronal commission would not sanction the fight.

Angels Grew Wings

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the pre-expansion days before 1960, a doubling Thomas once asked elder statesman Branch Rickey, "where will you be able to get players of major-league calibre for expansion?"

Branch replied: "You'll be able to shake them out of the trees."

And that, it seems, is what the surprisingly strong Los Angeles Angels have been doing in their first season; because a quick fingering of the aches shows only one player remaining with the club from among the original 26 who were foisted upon it last December.

The Los Angeles baseball representatives of slugging compote Gene Autry are making a gaudy fight for stardom in their maiden pennant race. Before today's competition they had won 23 and lost 17, for a .536 mark.

After their slightly delayed admission to the American League in December, experts freely predicted that the Angels would have to sprout real wings to win more than 40 games. And general manager Fred Haney admitted recently, "There were times last winter when I wondered how in hell we were going to put a team on the field by opening day of the season."

It was apparent to Haney and manager Bill Rigney that the Angels had obtained 120 at a cost of $75,000 each but that they didn't have a team. Since then they made a flock of changes that fashioned a surprisingly good club. The nine survivors from among the original 26 are pitchers Ken

Detroit Fighter's Condition Serious After Collapse

CHICAGO (AP)—Michael E. Conner, a Detroit lightweight boxer who fights under the name of Baby Watusi, remains in serious condition, apparently unable to speak or hear.

Conner, 23, was taken to a hospital Monday night suffering from what doctors diagnosed as a brain concussion. He collapsed shortly after losing a four-round decision to Johnny White of Chicago in Vogue Arena.

Joseph Triner, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, said Conner was knocked down once during the fight but appeared to have absorbed "nothing out of the ordinary" in the way of punches.

CIO Wins City Baseball Playoff

CIO Local 594, third place team during the regular season, completed its strong showing in the playoffs last night by defeating Pontiac Merchants 6-5 to win the Class A crown.

The Union team needed a two-run rally in the last of the sixth to down the regular season champions. All six CIO runs were unearned.

Auburn Heights Boys Club won the state Class F recreation championship at Jackson, but other area teams were not so fortunate.

Felix Brooks was the hero for CIO.

Harlow Takes 'D' Trap Title

'Grand Old Man' Happy After National Victory in Vandalia Shoot

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Fred Harlow of Newark, Ohio, won the least of trap shootings national championships Tuesday and he was the happiest man in the world about it.

Harlow, the "grand old man" of the play target sport, cracked 198 of 200 to take the Class D title from a huge field.

He is 82 years old and, back in 1908 at Columbus, Ohio, he won the biggest prize in trap shooting—the Grand American Handicap.

As he stepped from the firing line after breaking the last 125 in a row he was embraced by a host of feminine shooters and the veteran said:

"I'm happier about this than I was when I won the Grand more than half a century ago."

Four other class titles were decided as a field of 80 fired in a 200 target 15-yard event.

P. J. Smith of Lakewood, Colo., won the professional title with 200 tonight. Frank Gammell of Peebles, Ohio, broke 197 to lead Class C, and the Class B championship went to Albert C. Bostwick of Westbury, N. Y., with 199. Class A wound up in a perfect score tie between Andrew C. Long of Shamokin, Pa., and J. Robert Boyd of Lemars, Iowa.

Five men tied for Class Double A with perfect scores of 200. In that group were Day Deimars of Waikakea, Wis., Dayton Dorn of Waukegan, Ill., Ira E. Eyer of Springfield, Neb., and E. Eyer Sr. of Marlborough, W. Va. Ralph T. Blevins of Bell Air, Md., and Gus W. Wesley of La Grange, Ill. Reinders, a chemistry professor at the University of Wisconsin, cracked 100 straight in the shoot-off to take Class AA honors. He was one target ahead of Eyer and Wesley.

Sally's Course Record 74 Paces Orchard Lake Event

Mrs. W. L. Mosher Jr., 1961 women's golf champion at the Orchard Lake Country Club, chose the wrong day to meet Mrs. Ted Werner of Forest Lake in match play.

Mrs. Werner, formerly Sally Sharp, handed Mrs. Mosher a 7-6 defeat, then went on to shoot a course record 74 Tuesday at Orchard Lake C. C. in the first round of the annual Women's Amateur Association match play championship.

Sally, gunning for her second "triple crown" of women's golf, was three below women's par of 36 in the match.

After firing a 78 to capture medal honors in Monday's qualifying round, Sally bowed back yesterday with six birdies, six pars, five bogies and an eagle duce to set a new course mark for women at O.L.C.C.

Mrs. Werner is playing some of the greatest golf of her career right now and Tuesday's dazzling round establishes her as the favorite to dethrone Mrs. John Hume Jr. of Essex, the defending champion.

Sally won the "triple crown" in 1958 and owns two notches on her 2nd "triple" this year. She won the Michigan Amateur title in July at Knollwood and the WDGA 54-hole medal play title in June at Detroit Golf Club.

Mrs. Hume almost was an upset victim yesterday. After gaining a 2-1 lead at the turn, Mrs. Hume lost her advantage to Mrs. J. G. Israel of Knollwood. The rallying TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Like a glit stepping from slippery rock to slippery rock across a running stream, flame-haired Mary Lowell of Hayward, Calif., moved from champion to champion today in her ambitious attempt to add the U.S.A. Women's Amateur title to the national junior golf crown she won last week in Seattle.

She shocked the galleries, the other players and perhaps herself Tuesday by eliminating Joanne Gunderson of Seattle, the defending queen of American golf, 1-up on the 18th hole.

Today she met Judy Moenster of Seattle, national collegiate champion, in the third round of match play. A second round of afternoon carries the survivors to the quarter-finals Thursday.

PGA to Hear Bolt About Suspension

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Tommy Bolt was scheduled to appear before the Professional Golfers Association's committee today to determine whether his current suspension would be lifted.

If the suspension is lifted, Bolt will be eligible to play in the $50,000 American Golf Classic starting here Wednesday at the Firestone Country Club.

The suspension was handed down after the PGA championship tournament in Chicago three weeks ago. It was alleged Bolt used off-color language in the presence of club members at Olympia Fields.

September Bow Hunting School Planned by The Press

Noted Experts
Set to Appear at Four Sessions

OCS is Cooperating to Bring Instruction to Area Archers

Sportsmen wanting to learn about the art of bow hunting can get instruction from experts next month.

The Pontiac Press, in cooperation with the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, will sponsor an archery training school. Four sessions will be held at the indoor range building on the OCS grounds in Waterford beginning Sept. 5.

The instructional program is open to all persons who would like to become acquainted with bow hunting.

There will be a $1 fee per session for adults and a 50 cent charge for boys and girls under 15 years of age. These younger teenagers must be accompanied by adult.

Advance enrollment in the program can be made by filling out the form on this page and returning it to The Press sports editor.
No money need be sent with the form.

Registrations will be taken at the door each night and the money can be paid at that time.

The object of the training program is to teach the fundamentals of bow and arrow hunting so that those attending can go into the field with proper equipment and enough knowledge to raise their chances of success.

Persons attending are urged to bring their own equipment as none will be available for use at the range house.

The opening session will deal with conservation laws pertaining to bow hunting and personal instruction on the range. Herman Hendrick, district supervisor for the Conservation Department, will discuss laws.

Ken Hoffman, president of the Michigan Bow Hunters, will direct a panel on bow hunting at the Sept. 12 session. Included will be talks and pictures on deer, bear and bobcat hunting. Rabbit hunting and carp shoots will be the topic of this program.

Shooting techniques by qualified instructors, including Dave Keaggy, new state champion, will be presented Sept. 19. Shooting practice and personal instruction periods are scheduled to be followed by a film depicting champion archers in action.

Fred Bear, who operates an archery firm in Grayling and is nationally known for his hunting ability, will be scheduled to appear at the last session on Sept. 27.

Bear will display archery equipment and proper clothing for deer hunting, go into stalking methods and demonstrate the killing power of a bow. He also plans to show films on several big game hunts.

Each session starts at 7 p.m. and will run for about two hours.

There will be displays each night and information available for those who do not have equipment and wish to obtain bows, arrows, and other archery items.

Trap Shoot Scheduled

The Auburn Heights Sportsmen's Club will hold a trap shoot Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The shoot is open to the public with prizes being awarded to winners in each event.

NOT RECOMMENDED—Elephant hunting with a bow is not recommended for the average archer. Howard Hill, internationally known expert, kneels beside a big bull he killed in Africa.

Deer are the targets in Michigan for most bow hunters. Those wanting to learn more about the art of hunting with archery equipment will get the opportunity next month at The Pontiac Press Bow Hunting School.

Birmingham Shooter Wins

Larry Smith of Birmingham won high overall honors in the Michigan State Shoot championships last weekend at the Detroit Gun Club.

Smith broke 345 clay pigeons to edge New Orleans' Detroit by two. He also topped first place in the 410 gauge division of the shoot.

Junior Hunter Program Set

A Junior Hunter Safety Program, open to boys and girls 12-15 years old, will be held Sept. 23 at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

The program is being arranged by the J. L. Hudson Co. and OCS in cooperation with Sportsmen's Service Bureau, State Conservation Department, National Rifle Association and Michigan Wildlife Conservation Clubs.

Registration opens Saturday in the sporting goods departments of Hudson's, Detroit, Eastland, Northland and Lincoln Park stores and is limited to 400 teenagers.

Objectives of the all-day session are to teach teenagers proper handling of firearms, laws, care of game and shooting in competition.

All firemen will be supplied by those in charge of the program.

Not One a Mourner

It seems that a leading mortuary of a southwestern city recently reported crows were disrupting life at a local cemetery. The birds were so noisy at graveside services that mourners complained and some persons, having difficulty in distinguishing crows from vultures, caused officials to resent the interruption. A crow trap has been set in the area.

Trap Shoot Scheduled

The Auburn Heights Sportsmen's Club will hold a trap shoot Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The shoot is open to the public with prizes being awarded to winners in each event.

Lunkers in Oakland County Lakes

Where Are Rainbows?

There are some big rainbows lurking in the depths of several Oakland County lakes.

At least that's the report made by many area anglers who claim they have seen the trout pass under fish shanties in the winter or have hooked and lost one.

No doubt there are some lunkers about 10 pounds in a few of the county's 31 lakes listed as containing trout. But these fish are extremely difficult to catch.

This can be shown by the fact that no rainbow caught in the county this summer has been brought back as a trophy.

The 31-pounder leading the rainbow division of The Pontiac Press Big Fish Contest. One reported catch had a dressed weight of over three pounds, but it was not eligible because it had been cleaned before weighing.

John Adams of Clarkson took the leading rainbow opening day from Schoolhouse Lake.

The Conservation Department has been stocking 19 Oakland lakes with rainbows the last few years. These fish have spread into connecting waters bringing the total to 31.

TAKEN LIMITS

Area fishermen have taken limit catches in many of the lakes. Maceady, Elizabeth, Orchard, Sugden, Deer and Alderman have been good producers.

The best catches are being made at night while still fishing in 20 to 30 feet of water with perch minnows, night-crawlers and even kernels of corn. A lantern is a big help.

The best time is from sunset to sunrise. The trout feed on or near the bottom.

Most of the trout have been averaging about 10 inches. Some up to 20 inches are being creel-baited and they are exceptions.

Bluegill fishing in deep water with crickets has been spotty. Green, Golden, Elizabeth, Silver and the Straits chain are good bets.

BASS SLOW

Bass catches have slowed considerably. Some good catches are reported from Pine and Middle Straits Lakes. Some smallmouths are being taken from Cass and Maceady.

Limit catches of catfish can be taken from many area lakes. The best time is after dark in about 30 feet with small minnows fished from the bottom.

Pike activity, slowed by the warm weather, should pick up again early in September.

Other leaders in The Press contest are a 1-pound 2-ounce bluegill caught on Lake Angelus by Frank Dennis of Pontiac; a 13-pound 14-ounce northern pike taken from Deer Lake by Jack Viscatis; Drayton Woods and Dennis Shearer's 6-pound, 4-ounce largemouth black bass caught while fishing Union Lake.

The contest is open to all Oakland County residents. The fish must be caught in the county from waters other than those owned by organizations or businesses or used for commercial purposes.

The entries must be brought to The Press sports department for weighing and certification. No entries will be accepted after 7 a.m. on Sept. 13.

Winners at PKC Show

Dogs Take to Fields for Brittany Trial

The Brittany Spaniel Club of Michigan will hold a fun field trial Sunday in the Highland recreation area.

The trial is open to all Michigan owned Brittany spaniels. Post entries will be accepted. Pheasants and quail will be planted in the field off Grubb Road.

As this will not be a shooting dog stake, no guns will be allowed.

The pure stake for dogs up to 15 months old gets under way at 9 a.m. The derby for dogs up to 24 months will follow. The last event will be the open all-age.

The top four dogs in each event will be awarded trophies or ribbons.

The German Shorthaired Club of Michigan has scheduled a slow-trap shoot and corn roast Sunday at the Detroit Sportsmen's Congress grounds at 22 Mile and Dequindre Roads.

The program will open at 10 a.m. Activities will be moved indoors to the rifle ranges in the event of poor weather.

Bruce's Bridge, the Doberman puncher that took best-in-show honors at the Pontiac Kennel Club show last Saturday, won top honors at the Genesee show in Flint on Sunday.

This gives the 2-year-old champion five victories for her owners, R. B. Hoover and Hazel C. Sarapa of Holland, Mich.

Pontiac obedience dogs turned in top performances in the local show.

Pauline Leighton won Native A and high overall honors in obedience with Miki, a wire hair terrier. The winning score was 199 1/2.

Bert Mosher and his Brittany spaniel Mandy gained 127 points in winning Open A and placing third overall. Mrs. Mary Jane Page directed her Labrador retriever, Charles Barmer, to Pontiac's best score of 149 1/2 points and first place in Novice B.

A German shorthair owned by Hank Burkhardt of Waterford and a golden retriever owned by Charles Barmer of Pontiac, scored best of winners in the bench competition.

Barnes' granddaughter, Christine Griffin, won first place in the novice 12-15 age class of junior showmanship competition in the PKC show. Pat Armstrong, Pontiac, was second in the open 13-16 year old group.

Keaggy's Win.

Archery Crowns

Have Keaggy and his 16-year-old son, Dave Jr., brought two state championships back to Oakland County last weekend.

Competing in the Michigan State Field Archery championships at Big Rapids, Dave won the amateur freestyle division with 144 points. He won shattered several records while competing the intermediate boys' crown. They live in Drayton Plains.

Not to be outdone by his son, Dave Sr. set new records in the field, hunters and big game rounds.

Young Dave, national junior target champion, posted the fourth highest score in the championship. His 1,330 total was topped only by his father and men's non-amateur freestyle king Frank Delboy of Detroit and Carl Holmdorf of Richmond, the instinctive champ.

He set all new records for intermediate boys.

Clro Robertson of Hamtramck won the women's championship.

State Is Crossroad for Migrating Ducks

By DON VOGEL
Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer
Michigan duck hunters are being realized because the state is at the northern end of the Mississippi Flyway.

The U.S. Department of the Interior has given the Mississippi Flyway states two options — 30 days and two ducks daily or 20 days and three ducks. The Atlantic, Pacific and Central flyways all have the same bag options, but with more days to hunt.

Michigan with its thousands of inland lakes and surrounded by the inviting waters of the Great Lakes is the cross roads where many ducks turn to head south on their favorite flyway. It is true that only a small number of ducks pass through Michigan on their way to states west of the Mississippi River in the Central Flyway.

But thousands of scup and late season black ducks stop over on the way to wintering grounds along the Atlantic seaboard. The Atlantic Flyway has options of 30 or 40 days depending on which bag limit is desired.

The majority of waterfowl stopping over in Michigan continue south on the Mississippi route.

MANY LINGER ON STATE WATERS

Assume that New York's waterfowl season opens Oct. 13, the same as Michigan. Large flights of scup (broadbills and bluebills) will pass through Michigan from Oct. 25 to Nov. 5. Many will stay around until the open water freezes over.

State gunners will get a good crack at these flocks, so there can't be any complaint. But what about the big Canadian red-leg blacks, last of the big flights to head south.

Most of these blacks and thousands of green head mallards will converge on Michigan after this state's Nov. 11 closing date. The mallards will head for Arkansas and other points along the Mississippi but over 75 per cent of the blacks east and fly toward Long Island and Chesapeake Bay.

Assuming again that the New York game men decide on the longer season with a shorter daily bag limit, this would give Eastern gunners along the Atlantic 20 more days of ample time to get good hunting on these blacks.

PRESSURE FROM UPPER PENINSULA

It is true that Michigan could open its season later in the fall. Many shooters would favor such a move because it would mean good hunting not only on scup, but late flights of blacks, mallards and green-wing teal. And don't forget the hard to drop golden-eye or whistler. Plenty of "chase" blacks and mallards would still be waiting around to be chased south by the booming of shotguns the first couple of days.

Michigan does not have a later opening because of pressure from sportsmen in the Upper Peninsula. There, upon Michigan waterfowlers claim, and the weather backs them up, that inland waters freeze over much earlier than in the lower peninsula.

Because of this condition, they say, "local" ducks would pull out before the season commenced and there would be no open-water resting sites to keep later flights from continuing into the lower peninsula.

This isn't a criticism of Michigan's shortened season, along with other states in the Mississippi Flyway, including Arkansas where duck hunting has strong commercial ties.

It is an attempt to point out that Michigan hunters miss some good shooting on ducks that must dodge shots in other flyways at a later date. And one of the reasons why this state does not have a later season to take advantage of these flights.

Ducks staying in the Mississippi flight zone are targets all the way because seasons in southern states open later than the one in this state to take advantage of these flights.

Muskrat in Booth

Shakes Phone User

A woman in Ohio recently experienced one of "life's darkest moments." When she opened the door of a telephone booth, she was met by a fighting-mad young muskrat.

Slamming the door shut, she went into a nearby office and reported the situation. Help came in response to a call and a game management agent captured the half-grown muskrat which was later released to a nearby river.

Taking Giant Strides

LANSING (UPI) — The saying designed to be state parks but lack of funds halted the development.

DONATED LAND

The Cheboygan state was designated to become a state park in 1929 when the federal government donated some land to the state but it wasn't until late last year that the commission gave formal recognition to the area as a state park.

Progress has been very slow but it would appear the way may have been worth while.

Approval by the 1960 and 1961 began the crawl toward the realization of a "vision" of former parks division chief P. J. Hoffmaster.

The late parks chief, whose name will be given the new Ottawa-Muskegon area park, foresaw the need for 400,000 acres of land in the system.

In 1936, present parks chief Arthur C. Elmer summed up Hoffmaster's hopes by saying the 400,000-acre goal will be a "reasonably ultimate state park system."

Next month construction will begin on 19 projects to improve existing parks and recreation areas and negotiations are in progress to purchase about 1,000 acres of land to expand the system.

The improvements and land acquisitions were made possible by a $2 million bond sale approved by the Conservation Commission earlier this month.

TWO NEW PARKS

Some $200,000 of this amount will go for the purchase of lands, including the establishment of two new parks. The P. J. Hoffmaster state park, starting with 206 acres, will serve the Ottawa-Muskegon counties area, and 175 acres are being bought to establish Potoskey State Park on Little Traverse Bay in Emmet County.

The rest of the $200,000 will allow expansion of Cheboygan, De Tour, Indian Lake, Berrien and D. H. Day state parks and Pontiac, Grand Lake, Island Lake and Brighton recreation areas.

Several of these expansion projects have been in the department's plans for years, park division records show.

Cheboygan and De Tour state parks, for example, formerly were state forest campgrounds originally

'Life,' Not Death Spade's Sentence

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Spade Cooley, who parlayed six cents and an old fiddle into fame and fortune as the "king of Western swing," was sentenced to life in prison Tuesday for the brutal murder of his wife.

The unexpected climax of the case followed a dramatic meeting between opposing attorneys and Superior Court Judge William L. Bradshaw while Cooley was preparing to show he was insane April 3 when he beat and stomped his wife, Ella Mae, 37, to death.

A POKER NICKNAME
The jury which Saturday found Cooley guilty of first-degree murder was to rule first on the insanity plea and then set the penalty if Cooley, born Donnell Clyde 50 years ago in a storm cellar near Pack Saddle Creek, Okla., was judged sane.

The nickname Spade came after the entertainer once drew five spade flushes in a poker game.

After the conference in Judge Bradshaw's chambers, Cooley's attorney, P. Basil Lambros, conferred for more than an hour with his client, who then waived his right to a sanity trial and also waived his right to have the jury set the sentence.

Persons serving life sentences in California normally are eligible for parole after seven years. Melody Cooley, 14, Spade's daughter, told of watching Cooley drag her mother, partially nude, by the hair from a shower. She said she had seen her father then beat Ella Mae, a former vocalist with the Cooley band, slam her head against the floor, stomp her, and burn her with cigarettes.

Cooley said he hit his wife after she had told him she was joining a free love cult and told him of the initiation rites. "I must have hurt her terribly," Spade said. "I have a hazy recollection it was an animal, not Ella Mae."

The fabulous DeBeers diamond mine in Kimberley, Africa, which yielded 14,500,000 carats of gems before closing in 1914, may be reopened soon. It was with this mine that Cecil Rhodes formed the DeBeers Mining Co. in 1889 and eventually gained control of all the diamond mines in Kimberley.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Pinworms, one of the most common intestinal parasites, are often found in the stool. They are not dangerous, but they can cause discomfort. If you suspect you have pinworms, consult your doctor. The good news is that they are easy to treat. The bad news is that they can come back if not treated properly. Friskies P-W Vermox is a safe, effective treatment for pinworms. It's the only medicine that kills the worms and their eggs. So you can be sure they're gone for good. Friskies P-W Vermox is available in 100 and 200 mg. tablets. Rocket Fired Into Orbit, but Fails to Kick Payload

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States fired a satellite launch platform into orbit today but it failed to send a piggy-back payload on a projected million-mile round-trip into space.

It was indicated—but not immediately certain—that the two units did not separate.

Nevertheless, scientists expected signals from the space craft to yield some measure of valuable data. The purpose of the flight was to test techniques for launching future vehicles to the moon, Mars and Venus.

A powerful Atlas-Agena rocket blasted off at 5:04 a.m. The Agena second stage spun into a "parking orbit" from which the 675-pound payload, Ranger I, was to have been flung into space.

WAS TO KICK LOOSE

The Agena, with power shut off, was designed to follow its orbit for 14 minutes until it reached a proper point before re-lighting to build up speed to 23,000 miles an hour. Ranger I, however, was intended to go into a highly elliptical orbit with a high point of 500,000 miles. The Agena was to continue on a path about 100 miles up.

But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced 3 1/2 hours after the launching that the Agena rocket stage and the space craft are in a near earth orbit rather than the highly eccentric orbit planned for the flight.

Exact orbit details were not known. It is possible, an official said, that the two vehicles are in separate orbits, close together.

NASA said radio data are being studied to determine what went wrong.

"Primary mission of the flight was to test operation of the Agena space craft," an announcement said. "Since data are being received, it is likely that this objective will be achieved in part."

WANT INSTRUMENT INFO

An official expressed hope of learning at least how the instrument packages functioned.

"The instruments are designed to gather data from far out in space," he said. "However, even if there was some thought at the time that the entire payload might have plunged into the ocean. However, a tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., picked signals from the more than two hours after launch."

Carl Sandburg

Has Heart Full of Dreams at 84

(Editor's Note: What is the greatest joy of life to him is to write? For Carl Sandburg, it's the opportunity to write what he feels, to write a new world around him, to write his life about in the heart of his life. — "The Time of My Life.")

By CARL SANDBURG
Written for AP

When a man is in his 84th year and has not lost his health, feeling often that he has more years in ing as Ranger crossed the coast on its east-to-west orbit.

If the cigar-shaped orbit had been achieved, Goldstone was not to have received radio reports from Ranger until hours later. Another rocket and a second payload, Ranger II, are available for a new effort tentatively set for this fall.

Mercury Test Nearly 'A-OK'

4,000-Pound Capsule Passes Final Exam; Unmanned Flight Set

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—America's 4,000-pound Mercury space capsule was pronounced in near perfect working condition today by scientists who hope to send it on an unmanned orbital flight this week.

The capsule has been given a final going over and will be launched in the noon of an Atlas booster in a key preliminary test for a manned flight in the next few days.

This week's flight will be a checkout of the Atlas launching vehicle and the ability to bring the capsule out of orbit and down to a pre-determined landing spot on the Atlantic Ocean.

It was in one circle of the earth, but U.S. space plans call for the astronaut to make an orbital flight of three trips in the manned shot.

Several failures in the booster on previous Mercury tests and the extreme difficulty of directing an unmanned spacecraft have caused some understandable uneasiness among officials in charge of the test.

Numerous conferences have been held on the project. American astronauts Alan Shepard, Virgil Grissom and John Glenn will have stations at the Cape during the actual launching.

AN COSMOS MISSILE

By theory and in practice, American missiles have proved they can command a whirling satellite to come home and expect it to land where directed. But they do not expect 100 per cent accuracy until there is a man aboard to steer the vehicle.

Only one of 25 Discoverer satellites have been able to do the "only home" job successfully.

blank, some of them coming in rather surreal fragments.

Since then, there has come in instant communication around the world, two world wars, deliberately and coldly planned, extinction of millions of lives, outrages based on racial hatred and cruelties on a vast and unprecedented scale.

GREAT GAINS

In this same period of the last 60 years, science and invention have made greater and brighter gains in transportation and communication than in the preceding five to six thousand years.

With the tremendous population increases, there are more nations and people making news from day to day.

The news constitutes human drama fascinating to any man thoughtfully watching it.

I find, however, as the years go by I am more and more deeply interested in the simplest of mysteries touching the unknown and the unknowable.

All my life I have enjoyed watching corn grow, with something of wonder about how the stalk slowly rises from the ground and eventuates into the ripening ear with its brown silk.

Now I find myself having added wonder about what happens and why it happens underground when the seed of corn is planted.

I hope to get around to writing a story of my adult life and the many years when I was lucky to be having a time of my life.

The early portion of flight appeared normal as the huge missile lifted into the morning sky.

The Soviet Union is believed to have used the same space launch platform technique last Feb. 12 in firing a probe toward Venus. It missed Venus and became a satellite of the sun.

Army Chief Happy Over the Pershing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The 15th successful launching of the Army's Pershing field artillery missile drew the enthusiastic praise Tuesday night of Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr., who watched the firing.

Stahr, ending his first visit to the Cape, lauded today after a 10 a.m. (Pondiac time) news conference for Orlando, Fla. The Pershing Company, which builds the Pershing missile, will put on a demonstration of the missile's operating system for Stahr.

"The launching was truly a great experience," Stahr said. "It once again demonstrates the high reliability of this weapon system."

The two-stage solid fuel missile rose steeply into the sky and hit its intended impact area several hundred miles down range in the Atlantic.

Instruments aboard the Pershing sent data to ground stations before the missile exploded on impact. The Pershing is still in the research and development stage.

Reuther Courts Smaller AMC for 1st Contract

Would Use Settlement to Push Auto Big 3 for Better Figures

DETROIT (U)—American Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers clamped on the secrecy lid today in new contract negotiations.

DETROIT (U)—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, is snubbing the Big Three car makers and courting little American Motors Corp. in the home stretch of labor contract negotiations in the auto industry.

His strategy appeared today to be to persuade American Motors to improve on its profit-sharing offer, make a quick settlement with AMC and then use it to pry out from General Motors, Ford and Chrysler something better than they offered Tuesday.

Reuther called the Big Three offers — identical except in minor detail — "wasteful lunacy."

GM, Ford and Chrysler offered a minimum 21-cent hourly increase in wages over the next three years and fringe benefit improvements which the union said would only cost the companies a cent an hour.

The companies said the fringe benefit costs would be substantial.

AVERAGE $116 PLUS

Auto workers now average $2.80 an hour plus fringe benefits of between 35 and 40 cents.

Present contracts at the Big Three expire eight days hence. The AMC contract runs out a week later.

The Big Three rejected Reuther's profit-sharing proposal in 1958 negotiations. Reuther did not accept it this year, instead he made solution for hourly workers and a shorter work week his goals.

AMC surprised the union last month with a proposal to give workers a 10 per cent pay raise before taxes after deducting 10 per cent of the company's net worth for stockholders. AMC offered a seven-cent hourly wage increase annually over the next three years. But it asked the union to scrap cost-of-living increases and annual improvement factor wage increases of 2 1/2 per cent.

The Big Three offered to renew the 2 1/2 per cent annual improvement factor and the cost-of-living escalator in present contracts. But they proposed limiting cost-of-living increases over the next three years to a total of six cents.

In the past three years UAW members have accumulated cost-of-living increases totaling seven cents.

Leave County GOP

THE MAINSTAYS—Now that John A. Gibbs (left), former executive secretary of the "model" Republican organization of Oakland County, has resigned to work for the state party, and County Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. has tendered his resignation, the party faithful are wondering about the future of the county party.

Loss of Two Top Men to Test County GOP

By GEORGE TRUMBULL JR.

Now that Michigan has lured away the cream of the crop of Oakland County's Republican Committee, the question is whether the organization will go sour.

Reputed to be the prototype of GOP county committees in the state for the past several years, the volunteer-abundant group faces its acid test in 1962 after the departure this year of the No. 1 and No. 2 men.

Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr., the power behind the committee, has resigned to devote more time to his Royal Oak real estate business. His right-hand man, John A. Gibbs, is already exercising his duties at organization with State Chairman George M. Van Deusen.

With them at the helm of the pre-credit-coupon machine, Michigan's second largest county of 250,000 has maintained the edge, although slight, for the Republican presidential nominee.

This despite being nearly swallowed up by a population explosion of 100,000 in the last decade and labor-strong neighboring counties.

A nothing in politics until 1952 when his wife urged him to stop complaining and do something about national and state conditions.

Elliott, 44, hopes to assist in drafting a new state constitution. He's a nominee from Oakland's 5th Legislative District.

Elliott, who took his wife's advice and was elected precinct leader in 1952, and Gibbs, 29, his labor be hired and wages and fringe benefits conform to the current local union scale. The company agreed.

Final contract agreements are expected to be signed by Mayor Philip E. Rowan at the Sept. 5 commission meeting.

Demolition will begin that week and the two-year clearance project will be under way.

To be torn down is the first project are some 219 homes and similar structures and other 22 minor buildings such as garages and sheds.

Almost all are residential structures, with the exception of a few gas stations and small stores.

A contract for commercial clearing is slated for letting sometime this fall.

Kennedy Keeps Close Watch; Nehru Believes Reds in Right

From The News Wire

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy was reported today to be keeping a close watch on reports of new East Berlin travel restrictions.

Aides declined immediate comment reading a story of official dispatches and consultations with the Western allies.

Other Stories, Pictures on Pages 5, 34

Within minutes the Communists brought up reinforcements on their side of the wall of barbed wire and concrete they have erected to strangle free movement in the city.

West German border police said they saw armed personnel carrying packs with Communist people's police—who are armed as infantry move up to positions facing the Allied troops.

The Communists threatened to end West Berlin's rail links with the West.

Otto Arndt, manager of the East German railroads, charged that hooligans, inspired by the West Berlin government and trade unions, were tearing up seats and committing other acts of sabotage on the Communist-run elevated system which operates in East and West Berlin.

Arndt said continued sabotage could lead to "serious disturbances." By this, he said, he meant a possible halt in rail traffic.

PICKETS AT FASHIONERS

West Berlin trade unionists have been picketing the elevated stations in West Berlin, and claim they have greatly reduced the number of passengers—and Communist revenue. They have carried such placards as "Don't buy your own barbed wire."

A statement by the Western military commanders on the new restrictions said the three Western governments "take a most serious view of the effrontery of the East German authorities in warning citizens of West Berlin to keep at a distance of 328 feet from the sector border, a border which the Communists themselves have violated."

Wreckers Moving In to Start First Project in Urban Clearance

Pontiac's urban renewal clearance will begin early next month. Wrecking operation began moving into Pontiac today after the City Commission awarded the first demolition contract to Dore Wrecking Co. of Kewadin, at last night's commission meeting.

Awarding of the first of several contracts for major clearance was held up a week while commissioners studied the contract to see if it provided for the hiring of local labor at prevailing wages and fringe benefits.

Dore's low bid of $48,887 for the contract was about $1,000 under the lowest of six other bids.

Commissioners awarded the contract with stipulations that local labor be hired and wages and fringe benefits conform to the current local union scale. The company agreed.

Final contract agreements are expected to be signed by Mayor Philip E. Rowan at the Sept. 5 commission meeting.

Demolition will begin that week and the two-year clearance project will be under way.

By GEORGE TRUMBULL JR.

Now that Michigan has lured away the cream of the crop of Oakland County's Republican Committee, the question is whether the organization will go sour.

Reputed to be the prototype of GOP county committees in the state for the past several years, the volunteer-abundant group faces its acid test in 1962 after the departure this year of the No. 1 and No. 2 men.

Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr., the power behind the committee, has resigned to devote more time to his Royal Oak real estate business. His right-hand man, John A. Gibbs, is already exercising his duties at organization with State Chairman George M. Van Deusen.

With them at the helm of the pre-credit-coupon machine, Michigan's second largest county of 250,000 has maintained the edge, although slight, for the Republican presidential nominee.

This despite being nearly swallowed up by a population explosion of 100,000 in the last decade and labor-strong neighboring counties.

A nothing in politics until 1952 when his wife urged him to stop complaining and do something about national and state conditions.

Elliott, 44, hopes to assist in drafting a new state constitution. He's a nominee from Oakland's 5th Legislative District.

Elliott, who took his wife's advice and was elected precinct leader in 1952, and Gibbs, 29, his labor be hired and wages and fringe benefits conform to the current local union scale. The company agreed.

Final contract agreements are expected to be signed by Mayor Philip E. Rowan at the Sept. 5 commission meeting.

Demolition will begin that week and the two-year clearance project will be under way.

To be torn down is the first project are some 219 homes and similar structures and other 22 minor buildings such as garages and sheds.

Almost all are residential structures, with the exception of a few gas stations and small stores.

A contract for commercial clearing is slated for letting sometime this fall.

NOW VACATED

E. Germans Shut 5 Exits -- Only 7 of 80 Still Open

BERLIN (U)—The three Western Allies pushed tanks and infantry up to the sector border dividing Berlin today in the face of new Communist restrictions on traffic between the East and West parts of the city.

"The commandants are taking the necessary action to insure the security and integrity of the sector border," said a spokesman for the U.S., British and French commanders.

Patton tanks from the U.S. Army appeared at the Friedrichshagen crossing point, which the East German Communists now insist must be used by all foreigners going into East Berlin.

For the first time since the Reds set up barricades 18 days ago to halt the flow of refugees, the East German regime was telling Americans and other Westerners where they could and where they could not go.

Western officials condemned the restrictions as "illegal effrontery."

The East German regime overnight had shut five more gates in East Berlin. Two weeks ago 80 were open. Now there are seven.

The Western Allies responded within a few hours, sending forces right up to the sector borders.

Kennedy Keeps Close Watch; Nehru Believes Reds in Right

From The News Wire

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy was reported today to be keeping a close watch on reports of new East Berlin travel restrictions.

Within minutes the Communists brought up reinforcements on their side of the wall of barbed wire and concrete they have erected to strangle free movement in the city.

West German border police said they saw armed personnel carrying packs with Communist people's police—who are armed as infantry move up to positions facing the Allied troops.

The Communists threatened to end West Berlin's rail links with the West.

Otto Arndt, manager of the East German railroads, charged that hooligans, inspired by the West Berlin government and trade unions, were tearing up seats and committing other acts of sabotage on the Communist-run elevated system which operates in East and West Berlin.

Arndt said continued sabotage could lead to "serious disturbances." By this, he said, he meant a possible halt in rail traffic.

PICKETS AT FASHIONERS

West Berlin trade unionists have been picketing the elevated stations in West Berlin, and claim they have greatly reduced the number of passengers—and Communist revenue. They have carried such placards as "Don't buy your own barbed wire."

A statement by the Western military commanders on the new restrictions said the three Western governments "take a most serious view of the effrontery of the East German authorities in warning citizens of West Berlin to keep at a distance of 328 feet from the sector border, a border which the Communists themselves have violated."

Contract Given for Demolition

Wreckers Moving In to Start First Project in Urban Clearance

Pontiac's urban renewal clearance will begin early next month. Wrecking operation began moving into Pontiac today after the City Commission awarded the first demolition contract to Dore Wrecking Co. of Kewadin, at last night's commission meeting.

Awarding of the first of several contracts for major clearance was held up a week while commissioners studied the contract to see if it provided for the hiring of local labor at prevailing wages and fringe benefits.

Dore's low bid of $48,887 for the contract was about $1,000 under the lowest of six other bids.

Commissioners awarded the contract with stipulations that local labor be hired and wages and fringe benefits conform to the current local union scale. The company agreed.

Final contract agreements are expected to be signed by Mayor Philip E. Rowan at the Sept. 5 commission meeting.

Demolition will begin that week and the two-year clearance project will be under way.

2,000 Men Fight Fire at Gander

Smoking Forest Blaze Creeps Close to Town; Airport Closed

GANDER, Nfld. (UPI)—Rain caused a forest fire threat to Gander Airport today.

GANDER, Nfld. (UPI)—Nearly 2,000 men were battling a raging forest fire today that licked the edges of a runway at Gander International Airport, forcing the airfield to close.

The fire fighters hoped to save the town of Gander, which has a population of 6,000, but emergency measures were ordered to remove the residents if the situation became worse.

A giant U. S. Cargomaster plane risked the smoke-shrouded airfield Tuesday night to bring in a pump truck needed to fight the blaze. The Cargomaster, which was on a return trip from Europe to Montreal Air Force Base, N.J., had been ordered by the Air Force to Harlingen Air Force Base, south of El Paso, to pick up the truck.

The Gander blaze was one of a series of fires that have been ravaging Newfoundland's vast woodlands. Forestry officials reported the Tuesday night that the worst now was raging at Carmanville, in the Bonaville National Park, where residents already have been removed.

Did Goya Portrait Thief Hide Inside for Hours?

LONDON (AP)—Detectives believe that the thief who stole the $302,000 Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington hid with it for more than 12 hours in Britain's National Gallery, then walked out with it under a topcoat or in a briefcase.

The 19th century masterpiece, center of a British-American collection, was taken from the gallery's security guards at 7:40 p.m. A guard noticed it was gone at 10:48 p.m. and reported it. It was thought it had been moved to another part of the building since the fragile panel on which it was painted was due for repair.

The thief hid himself inside the gallery just before closing time. From his hiding place he timed the movements of the five night security guards. Then he nipped out when the room was empty, grabbed the painting and scurried back to his hiding place. When the gallery filled with visitors in the morning, he calmly walked out with his loot.

The painting weighed 25 1/2 lbs. and was small enough to go into an overcoat pocket or under a voluminous topcoat.

Guards were placed on airfields and ports amid speculation that the theft was the work of the gang believed responsible for a rash of art thefts in France. Only 10 days ago eight Cézanne paintings valued at $2 million were stolen from the museum at Aix-en-Provence.

The Cézannes were covered by insurance but the Goya was not. A British Treasury spokesman explained that government property is not insured, "whether it is a battleship, buildings or pictures."

Another meeting is expected to be held next month for community leaders to continue their discussion on the economic development of Oakland County.

Members of the county Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a move by its miscellaneous committee to call the second in a series of "manpower conferences," the first of which was held last September at Michigan State University.

At last year's conference, Max M. Horton, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, presented a report on expected manpower conditions in Oakland County and the state during the next 10 years.

"About 30 structures are already vacated and ready for demolition," Sumner said. Another group of 10 have been acquired but are not vacant yet.

Some 165 structures remain to be acquired. Land will be cleared as the structures are bought and vacated, Sumner explained.

Work is estimated to be completed in 18 to 24 months. Last spring about a half dozen homes were demolished by the Department of Public Works in an effort to bolster employment.

The commercial phase of clearance, slated to begin before Christmas, will call for demolition of buildings along the business street from Wessons to Pike streets.

Approve Bids on Courthouse

Construction on Wing Should Start Soon; $1,422,850 Outlay

Construction was expected to begin soon on the first wing to the new courthouse after the board of supervisors yesterday unanimously approved a $1,422,850 contract to build the three-story structure.

Supervisors voted 7-0 to award the $501,650 general construction contract to the Bundy Construction Co. of Pontiac; the $141,143 electrical contract to the Soma Electric Co. of Detroit; and the $379,057 mechanical contract to James and Brown of Pontiac.

Although the three contracts exceeded the engineer's estimate of $1,300,000 by $122,850, Birmingham Supervisor David Lovison, chairman of the ways and means committee, said there "was more than enough" in the county building fund.

He indicated the $300,000 that was to build the nearby supervisors' auditorium would be allocated to the difference.

Supervisors didn't question the availability of the funds.

When the bids were submitted Aug. 10 they totaled $1,601,000, or about $180,000 above the engineer's estimate.

However, the original low bidder, Barton-Malow Co. of Detroit, who submitted a bid on general construction of $500,000, later withdrew the bid "having learned that it had made an honest mistake in the neighborhood of $50,000," Lovison said.

The 283-by-54-foot wing will house the county offices now quartered in the County Office Building at 1 Lafayette St.

By Friday of this week county employees should be all moved into the new six-story courthouse tower to which the administrative wing will be attached.

Although contractors will be moving equipment in any day, official groundbreaking for the unit will be Sept. 9 when the courthouse tower unit will be dedicated.

The Day in Birmingham

To Seek Cost Estimates on Job Analysis Study

BIRMINGHAM—The City Commission has authorized the city manager to obtain cost estimates on a proposed job analysis and salary plan study for municipal employees, according to Asst. City Manager Robert Kenning.

A study will be conducted immediately to learn accurate cost estimates for the work involved during the five-month survey, Kenning said.

Approval of the program was given by the City Commission, providing that the major share of the field work would be performed by city personnel.

Kenning presented an outline of the proposed study to the commission Monday afternoon.

Should the commission accept the recommendations of the city manager's office and the cost in which reason, the study would probably be conducted during the period between Oct. 1 and Feb. 28, 1962.

The study would cover approximately 70 jobs and 170 positions, the assistant city manager explained.

"The last job analysis was in 1948," Kenning said. "It should be revised annually."

As a background for the study, the following information would be furnished to the consultant by the city:

Organization charts showing all units of the city involved in the study; a list of principal functions; a list of activities for each unit of organization; personnel listing showing job titles and the number of employees in each job; and the present salary schedule for all jobs in the city.

The final report submitted by the consultant would include recommended job descriptions and specifications; a list of positions to be added, deleted or changed; job titles and the number of employees in each job; and a recommended administrative procedure for maintaining the job plan.

A Requisition Form for Mrs. Frank (Celia) Bridges, 74, of 1272 Ruffin St., will be said 9 a.m. Friday at St. Columban Church. Burial services will be held at Mount Hope Cemetery, Pontiac.

Mrs. Bridges, died yesterday in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, following a long illness. She had been a long housewife for 25 years, coming from Cleveland, Ohio.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Charles C. Kennedy of Hollywood, Calif.; a son, Perry Ryan of Birmingham; nine grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

A funeral will be said at 9:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Manly Baskley Funeral Home.

Says Gamblers Evading Taxes

Internal Revenue Chief Claims Bookmaking Law Defeats Itself

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., of the Senate Government subcommittee said today it appears that professional gamblers may be evading a tax liability of as much as $5 billion a year.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mortimer M. Caplin, internal revenue commissioner, told Senate investigators today there is wide-scale tax evasion by professional gamblers.

He said the law imposing special federal taxes on bookmakers and other gamblers contains "some what self-defeating provisions," the internal Revenue Service (IRS) has never had enough men and manpower to enforce it properly and sentences imposed by the federal courts for gambling stamp violations are generally mild. He said the law was not strictly enforced.

Caplin testified in the second day of hearings by the Senate subcommittee into the activities of organized crime from coast to coast. The special emphasis of the hearings is on the question of whether new federal laws are needed to combat the underworld.

The subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., planned later in the day to turn its scrutiny on bookmaking and race track activities in Boston, with Angelo Rossetti, operator of the Sports Day Weekly, as key witness.

Caplin testified Congress passed the special gambling tax laws with the idea they would produce $400 million a year in revenue. They called for a 10 per cent levy on the gross income of gamblers plus a $50-a-year stamp tax which would provide a public record that they were in the gambling business.

He said the IRS opposed the measure at first. It was enacted on grounds it would plunge the agency into an essentially police function.

lated on numerous occasions in the last few days. The commanders are taking the necessary action to insure the security and integrity of the sector border."

The British sent a company of Green Berets—King's Royal Rifle Corps to the Brandenburg Gate. The company deployed in the bushes on the Western side of the gate, which has been shut to traffic for 10 days.

The French sent men to their sector border in the northern part of the city.

The Communists reduced from 80 to 12 the crossing points along 25 miles of border between East and West Berlin on Aug. 13 and 14.

The openings were limited to 40 feet for West Berbers, 13,000 of whom work regularly in East Berlin. Two more openings were set aside for West Germans.

Foreigners, including soldiers and diplomats of the Western Allies, were told to use the one opening at Friedrichstrasse. The net effect was to reduce the gate from 12 to 7.

Misses Cuspidors, Wants 'Em Back
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Something was missing when the Connecticut general assembly opened its biennial session recently—the cuspidors. Democratic House Minority Leader William T. Shea asked for their return whereabouts and commented: "They have been missed in the past and even if they are returned, I'm afraid they will be missed again."

East Germans Want Economic Freedom

Almost everyone understands in general the reasons why millions of East Germans have escaped to the West over the years.

The National Association of Manufacturers has come up with a concise analysis which should provide an important lesson for all Americans.

The crux of the complaints from the East Germans is concern over their loss of economic freedom. Police terror which once existed has practically abated since 1955. And, of course, religion, while not encouraged, is tolerated.

So it boils down to property and work which has been gobbled up by the bureaucratic state which has caused the East Germans to seek a haven elsewhere.

The individual in East Germany cannot act for himself. The state runs the show. The government tells you where you will work and what you will do. Sure there are plenty of jobs, but the catch is that labor is used so inefficiently that the wages for the work will not buy the common necessities.

There is no such thing as future security since private investing does not exist. Everything is kept in state banks or bonds and can be confiscated at any time.

All this underlines the importance of economic freedom. We have it today, yet each year we are leaning more and more toward government controls.

Great Britain tried a socialist reform movement which did not pan out. As a matter of fact it irritated a number of British citizens to the point of moving to other parts of the world.

They were looking for a better economic future just like the East Germans.

The NAM points out and rightly so the importance of both political and economic freedom. The East Germans and British learned it the hard way.

Doctors Blame Parents for Juvenile Criminals

Parental indifference or lack of interest and control stand as the basic reason for our current juvenile criminals, say a majority of the doctors who were just surveyed on this subject.

An editorial in The Nashville Banner outlines the situations graphically and we append it herewith:

"The majority opinion of the doctors who were surveyed on the cause of juvenile delinquency was on target. Eighty-eight per cent of the 5,500 physicians said they believed lack of parental supervision was the principal underlying cause for teen-age crime.

"Also blamed was the decreased emphasis on spiritual values of life which, of course, ties in closely with what most of the doctors stated was the root of the evil. Millions of words have been written and spoken on this subject. There have been hand-wringing speeches deploring the increase of juvenile delinquency, but seldom — if ever — do we get the answer.

"The most heinous of crimes too often are committed by 'crazy, mixed-up kids.' They may be, but how did they get that way?

"Too frequently one reads newspaper stories about vandalism, muggings, sex attacks and even murders committed by gangs of roving juveniles. The members of these rat packs are out all hours of the night committing their devilry.

"In these instances, there is no parental supervision. The parents have either lost all control of their youngsters or they just don't care. But whatever the case, this does not relieve them of the responsibility for their children's acts of violence. Since these parents are accessories before and after the fact, they, too, should be hauled into court and punished for creating a menace to society.

"Thus, if the rise of juvenile crime is to be curbed, the job will have to be done by the parents. Parental supervision includes knowledge of where your child is, with whom he is associating and the use of disciplinary measures when they are needed."

The Man About Town

Seem to Be Getting Scarcer; and Reason

Vacation: A period from which many of us now are resting up.

"What has become of the barking dog and crowing rooster?" is a question often asked in Pontiac and vicinity. They seem to have passed out.

In a way, they really have passed out. But the primary reason for the absence of their noise is that they have been pushed out into the country, victims of the marvelous growth of this area. Hardly anybody in the city now keeps chickens, and most everywhere the roosters have become so addicted to human ways that they no longer crow at sunrise — like humans, they would rather sleep in.

As for the dogs, it is a fact that they do not bark as much as in the days of yore. They are better fed — on a balanced diet; also better bred.

The mongrel dog also has passed out. He often was an animal just tolerated because he was a child's pet, and was fed on what should have gone into the garbage can, and suffered from various canine diseases.

Now his master must think enough of him to pay a license on him, so feeds him better, and looks after his general well-being, in his appreciation as to being man's best friend.

If you're pestered by a barking dog in the night, you can be sure that he's lonely, (and his family knows why), or that he is suffering from the pangs of hunger or thirst.

The pick-a-light and cat chasing dog also is passing out. He often shows a better sense than many humans. Forget that he's homebred and moss grown expression, "Going to the dogs."

West Failing in Berlin Diplomacy

IN EUROPE — Western diplomacy is floundering. It hasn't come up with a solution as to the policy it should pursue. But the simple fact is that more than 17 million human beings in East Germany have been imprisoned in a huge concentration camp by order of the Soviet government. They cannot see their relatives or friends who happen to live even just across the streets of the same city. They are sent to jail for looking at a bulletin board giving news of the world.

Meanwhile, the great organization known as the United Nations is floundering, too. It is supposed to be interested in violations of human rights. It is supposed to be concerned when there is a threat to world peace. The United Nations has special meetings when there is a crisis, but it is doing nothing about the Berlin problem.

It is strangely silent as the many erstwhile champions of freedom and human liberty bestate to use the forum to expose to the world the hypocrites of Soviet communism.

There is no question about the violation of human rights. Vice President Lyndon Johnson went to Berlin to tell the people there of America's moral support.

When an electric sign was erected in West Berlin a few days ago to carry in big letters the news of the world, persons in East Berlin who tried to read it from a distance were arrested for "demonstrating."

East Berlin police have started, moreover, to move families out of houses which look out on West Berlin streets.

These instances are but a few of the many evidences of cruelty and inhumanity imposed on the East German people. If they had been "freedom riders," they might have gotten sympathy in certain parts of the world. If they had been "Muslims in North Africa," they would have been applauded for exercising their right to self-determination.

There is beginning to develop in different parts of Europe an impression now that the Western governments fear the Moscow government's power and influence and that they feel it risky even to debate the Berlin problem in the United Nations, where the Communists have lined up a sizable bloc in the last few years.

Brave words are uttered in the press about the sympathy of the United States government for the East German people, but there are no signs that the Western governments are ready to make an issue of the flagrant violation of human rights in East Germany.

The Country Parson

To return now to the differences between histamine-type and tuberculin-type allergic reactions. Unlike the former, the latter are rarely itchy or red. They can be reproduced by use of histamine; they cannot be prevented or relieved by antihistamines and they do not respond to products that possess the properties of adrenaline and epinephrine.

Partly because of these factors, we've been slow to get our teeth into the problems raised by tuberculin-type allergies.

Recently, however, things have been looking brighter. We begin now to connect certain manifestation of the tuberculin-type allergy with the name of the fact that the reaction resembles that produced when test tuberculin is placed on, or injected into, the skin of a person who either has active tuberculosis or who has had a tuberculous infection and made a successful recovery.

It is not clear on the meaning of this label.

Voice of the People: 'Americans Have Reason to Fear Bureaucracy'

The American people have given up more and more of their responsibilities to "Washington," so there has grown up a vast bureaucracy to handle these responsibilities.

This bureaucracy is cold and impersonal, not subject to election by the people and outside of its very structure the necessity of growing and becoming more powerful.

It is bureaucracy of which the American people are afraid and we have every reason for that fear.

Hoping for Beach at Hawthorne Park

When will they make a swimming beach at Hawthorne Park? They have swimming pools at other schools, but buses don't go that way.

Younger children don't always have a way to go to state parks. Do you think a beach will be started this year, so we can look forward to it next year?

Reprint of Letter Sent to Kennedy

The following is an open letter sent to President Kennedy: You praised Sen. Fulbright for warning secretary of defense about the military engaging in politics.

I read in The Pontiac Press in connection with your request for 424 signatures of our citizens, that you asked for a "House reversal as a demonstration that this nation is still united in its responsibilities and interest in the world."

First, I identify communism as our most dangerous enemy. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn. On this day in history: In 1783, American naval hero Oliver Hazard Perry was born.

In 1879, followers of Mary Baker Eddy obtained a charter in Lynn, Mass., giving them permission to organize as "The Church of Christ, Scientist."

In 1941, Japan declared war on Germany in World War I. In 1897, two Italian workmen who lived in Boston — Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti — were executed after being convicted of shooting, robbing and killing two payroll guards in South Braintree, Mass.

A thought for today: English publisher and economist John Stuart Mill said: "Success discloses faults and infirmities which failure conceals."

Case Records of a Psychologist: Dream Is Often a Sex Symbolism out water, will likewise dream about pools of cool water. But that cool pool can't go bed without adequate food or water. So what is their basic appetite that is most likely to be unsatisfied?

Romantic hunger: They may have dated a good-looking guy who kisses their goodnight following a romantic drive in a movie or dance.

So their erotic hunger is aroused but unsatisfied. As a result, such a girl will probably evolve a romantic dream.

Because of her moral training, however, she will not deal with sexual matters in the raw, but will employ dream symbols and thus mask situations that otherwise would be offensive to her conscience.

WHY SAVAGERY? Since basic passion is regarded as primitive and fierce, the usual girl has subconsciously identified sex with savagery.

And the South Seas are popularly linked with romantic passion, hence that locale for such a dream.

Spears are also a male sex symbol, as are daggers and other pointed objects. The female sex symbol is evident in sealed objects, such as envelopes, etc.

Now don't think that dream symbolism is derelict. We employ similar euphemisms (sugar-coated word symbols) even in our waking state.

Thus, the life insurance salesman usually says the "old lady" "died" and, instead, talks about "going west" or "joining our forebears" or "passing on."

And the dead body is not mentioned as the "corpse" or "cadaver" but as the "deceased," or the "departed loved one."

Obviously, not all dreams are sexual. Some reveal fears or chronic dread, as of a "bear-cat" boss or loss of a job or death of a sick child, etc.

But it is surprising how many dreams of unmarried folk do revolve around sexual episodes, usually disguised in symbolism.

So send for the booklet, "How to Interpret Dreams," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Tokyo Leader Seeking Reorientation of Schools

TOKYO (UPI)—A tough talking minister of education has launched Japan's first serious attempt to take "revolution" off the list of the "Three R's" as taught to Japanese school children.

Minister Masuo Araki has pitted his political future against leftist control of 80 per cent of Japan's elementary school teachers by trying to buck the half-million-member Japan Teachers Union.

The JTU ranks with the railroad workers as one of Japan's most powerful unions. Araki has gone it alone in the politically dangerous job of attacking the union.

But his tough stand has helped force the powerful JTU to fall back from open support of the Communist party, and has awakened the conservative public to the threat of leftist control over children's minds.

'DAILY BRAINWASH'
Araki accused union leaders of perverting education into a "daily brainwashing of their pupils as future bearers of revolution in Japan."

He backed up his statements with evidence: He noted the union's protection of a grade school teacher's job after he had students write the following "penmanship" lesson during last summer's anti-American riots:

"All the Japanese people are very angry at the reactionary Kishi (ex-Premier Nobusuke Kishi) government which is trying to make Japan a colony of U.S. imperialism."

Japanese teachers were prominent among the thousands of anti-American demonstrators who brought down the Kishi government.

The union sponsored an "educational" conference recently which closed with speeches congratulating the union on its anti-American activities.

The union has regularly and loudly thrown its political support behind both the Japanese Communist party and the leftist Socialist party. Its central committee resolved that Japan should cut its ties with the United States.

Its official code of ethics claims that leftist teachers have been "deprived of freedom under the pretext of political neutrality."

Conscience Wins, Sends Tax Money

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A conscience-stricken taxpayer sent $2,000 in $100 bills to the Iowa office of the Federal Internal Revenue Service in Des Moines.

The accompanying letter said, in part:

"For years I have been angry with the way the government has wasted our tax dollars, but I am ashamed that I took this means of protesting."

"Another copy of this letter will be sent to you in the future just in the event that some joker gets his hands on the enclosed $100 bills and forgets to tell the government about it."

About five million acres in New Mexico are occupied by Indians.

The union's criticism of government textbooks has even sought out hidden meanings in the picturing of a white instead of a red flag in a children's book.

The government merely defended itself against attacks until Araki took over the Ministry of Education and went on the offensive.

If criticism does not force him out of his job, he is expected to try to replace the JTU with a more docile group.

The group he has in mind is the Japan Federation of Teachers in barns in the Fair Haven area. Organizations which Araki calls "fair and politically neutral." The federation includes barely 1 per cent of all Japanese teachers, and it has a long way to go before it can seriously challenge the huge in Araki and its 1,000 full-time organizers and workers.

2 Missing Boys, Sought by Police, Hitchhike Home

ROYAL OAK (AP)—Two boys missing since Saturday hitchhiked to their Royal Oak homes Monday night after sleeping in barns for two nights.

James Dennis, 15, of 208 N. Alameda, said, he left home because of an argument with his father and persuaded William Lester, 14, of 111 Pingree, to accompany him.

James said they spent their two nights away from home sleeping in barns in the Fair Haven area. Organizations which Araki calls "fair and politically neutral." The federation includes barely 1 per cent of all Japanese teachers, and it has a long way to go before it can seriously challenge the huge in Araki and its 1,000 full-time organizers and workers.

Police entered the search when the Lester boy's wallet was found in an abandoned boat in Anchor Bay. The boy said he must have lost it while playing in the boat.

Try Rehearsing on Your Vacation for Retirement

By RAL BOYLE
SPARTA, N.J. (AP)—Every vacation as you grow older is a rehearsal for retirement.

How to retire gracefully and enjoyably is one of the major problems more and more people face as living longer becomes a most human victory as well as an individual triumph.

What do most people really want to do to perform, yesterday, today or tomorrow?

How does one learn the art of letting go?

During a recent week, when the world and its purposes seemed to be balanced precariously on a fulcrum called Berlin, I took a vacation from the crises that have been our mortal bread and dream for 15 years—ever since the end of World War II.

The idea occurred to me that giving up isn't a necessary virtue and that trying to live a long and planned life is a kind of pleasurable duty.

COOL OUT THERE

Here I am in a 150-year-old farmhouse about 50 miles from Manhattan, and it might as well be a thousand or ten thousand miles away from the doubtful reality of human fear, I thought. It is hot in the city, but it is cool here. I search the yard to pick from the tomb of dead trees the kindling lumber of bright flame to illustrate the yearning that marches in every fireplace. Morning and night I go out and find the wood—the home of momentary warmth a match makes a castle of—and light a lonesome majesty against the dark we all must know.

It is only a week's vacation for me, but I am haunted by a desire to appreciate all the life that throbs this way before me. Today I can reach up and touch the sturdy low ceilings, and feel a distance in my reach I cannot summon. Years and years before I was born, a minister now dead married here the local couple, before this fireplace.

I go among this place and pick up for a new fire the rotting remnants of trees that saw these weddings—and survived most of them—and I wonder what happened to the hooeymoons of the people and the reach to the sun of all the separate trees. What a wealth of death life let!

Night chills the dark. Sun warms the day. Light promises with promise the eternal human possibility.

Sugs stir. Worms crawl. Birds bite and sing. Bees, stinging, seek honey. Chipmunks dart across the road like animal quicksilver. Rabbits move and pause and come back—homebody prisoners of a circle of return.

I sit on the porch in an old-fashioned rocking chair weathered to a worminess by earlier men. I complain about being bitten.

"Here," says the hostess, and hands me an insect gun.

This is too much progress for me on a summer's day. I am not interested in mass assassination. Instead I take an old-fashioned fly swatter.

Rocking back and forth, biding my time, I knock off two daylight mosquitoes and seven houseflies without a miss, a local record for an out-of-town fellow my age.

The dusk comes down with a softness—unlike thunder. Frogs har-r-r-rump from the swamp, the cricket bows a rusty violin, the katydids renew their endless traiffoothood: "katy did, katy didn't."

It is time to go in, shivering a little, and light the evening fire. Every vacation is a rehearsal to retirement, one more stepping stone to eternity. Yet it's nice to be back on the job.

A CLOSE CALL—Wrecked box cars rest on the front lawn's edge of this North Minneapolis home after 35 Soo Line freight cars left the rails and piled up. Mrs. Clarence Forester, occupant of the home, views the wreckage. No one was injured. Power in the area was disrupted when tumbling cars knocked down high line poles.

New Russian Weapon: Forged Western Plans

By M. C. THALER
LONDON (UPI)—Russia's master "forgery factory" has been working overtime.

It is producing to order so-called top secret Allied political documents and military blueprints and is increasingly becoming the third arm of Moscow's powerful propaganda machine. The other two are the Kremlin-directed press and radio.

With the aid of highly skilled experts—some of them believed to have been salvaged from Hitler's Third Reich—the Communists have been producing documentary "evidence" of alleged Western plans.

The latest performance was the "disclosure" by Moscow this past weekend of so-called secret documents of the West's Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) on mapping an atom death zone in Iran, Afghanistan and Pakistan.

Among recent efforts has been an alleged secret British "cabinet document" instructing the infiltration of anti-Communists into African trade unions.

The paper was widely circulated and broadcast by Russia in an obvious effort to whip up anti-Western feelings in Africa. The British government strongly denied the authenticity of the paper and demanded that Russia withdraw the charge. Moscow ignored the request.

Another example of Russian ingenuity was provided by the release through the Soviet embassy in London of a letter from "an American airman stationed in Britain," threatening to explode an atom bomb off the British coast.

It coincided conveniently with a Communist campaign against alert flights by U.S. bombers.

It appears that Moscow has already laid the groundwork for some more "revelations" about Allied plans to save even wider atom death belts in Europe and Asia.

In releasing the alleged CENTO plans for the destruction of vast areas bordering the southern frontiers of Russia, Moscow announced it had knowledge that similar plans also existed for NATO and SEATO.

The move is, in the view of Soviet affairs experts, a clumsy attempt to intimidate the smaller nations in the West-sponsored defense alliances and to alarm neu-

Ten-Year-Old Answers JFK's Call for Men

VENTURA, Calif. (U)—Harvey Lowman, not quite 10, walked into the Navy induction office and told a startled recruiter: "I heard the President ask for men, and I'm ready."

Chief Postmaster's Male Guy W. Bennett, head recruiter, gave Harvey an armful of Navy pamphlets and promised to advise the President that Harvey was ready.

"I want to enlist for as long as you need me and I'll go anywhere they need me," Harvey said. Bennett promised to keep Harvey in mind, adding: "You're never too young to be patriotic."

Volunteer Fireman Cited by President

PERRY (U)—John A. Southwell, the volunteer fireman who saved this Shawnee County village from a possible disaster, has been commended by President Kennedy for heroism.

Southwell, a Lansing auto plant worker and the father of four, shut off a valve on a 21,000-gallon propane gas tank last June 3, stopping a fire that threatened for five hours to explode the tank. He laid to climb on top of the tank to do it. A letter signed by Ralph Dungan, special assistant to the President, said Southwell's deed had been brought to the President's attention.

Wed at Grace Lutheran in Double-Ring Nuptials

Rev. Richard C. Stockmeyer officiated at the double-ring nuptials of Carol Sue Murphy and Stuart Dale Chappell Saturday afternoon at the Grace Lutheran Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Murphy of Dover Road, and the late Mr. Murphy. Parents of the bridegroom are the Arthur Dale Chappells of Okemos.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and net over satin with a shoulder length bouffant silk illusion veil, secured by a caplet of Alencon lace and pearls. She carried a hand cascade of white Amazon lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. David Crawford of Drayton Plains was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Ruth Ann Brace of Roseville, and Vicki Sue McLaughlin of Mohawk Road.

All the attendants were gowned alike in aqua and white dresses with matching headbands. Each carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and aqua carnations. Brother of the bridegroom, Michael Chappell performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Paul Emery of Lansing and Lynn James of Holt.

Fete Miss Bell at Shower

Gifts of glassware were opened by bride-elect Marilyn Kay Bell at a shower given Thursday evening by Mrs. Dan Sanders at the home of Mrs. Anderson Bee on Sterling Avenue.

Participating in an evening of games were Mrs. Lester Bell of Liberty Street and Mrs. Orley Bruff, mother and grandmother of the bride, also Miss Anne May Simpson, mother of Miss Bell's fiancé, Thomas Simpson.

Out-of-town guests present among the 26 guests were Mrs. Sylvester C. Aquino of Judah Lake, Mrs. Robert Over and daughter Nancy of Drayton Plains and Mrs. Robert McCormack and Mrs. Gary Barnhart of Waterford Township. The Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church has been reserved for the Sept. 9 wedding.

Temple Women Hold Meeting

First board meeting of the year for the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob was held Tuesday morning at the temple. All board members were present.

Mrs. Marvin Talbot, first vice president, conducted the meeting, also reporting on the state board meeting held in June. The group discussed policy matters for the forthcoming year and several leadership institutes slated for Sept. 30 and Oct. 8 in Lansing. A third, an all-day organization leadership institute, will be open to all organizations, Oct. 28 at MSUO.

Father Performs Ceremony

Clergyman Takes Wife

Janice Kay Lowe exchanged wedding vows with Rev. Larry Timmerman Saturday evening in the Church of God.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Lowe of Chandler Street and F. L. Lowe of Milford. Rev. Floyd Timmerman of Ottawa Drive, who performed the candle-light ceremony, and Mrs. Timmerman, are the bridegroom's parents.

MARY ELIZABETH DELLINGER
Rev. and Mrs. Martin L. J. Dellinger of California Street announce the engagement of their daughter Mary Elizabeth to James W. Stephens of Lake Street. The bride-elect, who is an art teacher, was graduated in June from the Philander Smith College, Little Rock, Ark. Her fiancé, an alumnus of Eastern Michigan University, teaches in Detroit.

Reunion Staged at State Park

The Warflow second-generation picnic was held Sunday at Ortonville State Park for the 14th anniversary reunion.

Out-of-town relative present for the occasion were the William Warflows of Pompano, Fla., and the John Warflows of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Serving as cochairman for this year's event were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Chapdelaine. Some 85 attending enjoyed a cooperative lunch and games. Four generations were represented in Mrs. William Mansfield, Mrs. Leonard Biella, Mrs. Tom Chapdelaine and her daughter Terry Lynn.

During the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Al Houser were chosen cochairmen for next year's affair to be held at Hawthorne Park.

The American Stock Exchange originally was known as the Curb Exchange because member brokers did their trading on the curb of the sidewalk.

Joan Cartwright Weds

First Methodist Church of Birmingham was the scene Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Joan Louise Cartwright and John P. Hinchley Jr. Dr. Harry Martin performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of some 230 friends and relatives.

The newlyweds parents are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cartwright of Brookwood, Birmingham, and Mrs. Frederick Brookhead of Van Noye Club, and John F. Hinchley of Broadford Drive, Birmingham.

Given in marriage by her father, Joan wore a white silk princess-designed gown featuring a sweetheart neckline. A tulle of seed pearls secured her full-length Brussels lace veil. She carried a matching Brussels lace fan with phalaenopsis orchids and lily-of-the-valley.

IS HONOR ATTENDANT

Serving as honor attendant was Ruth Ann Graham of Birmingham. Bridesmaids were Kathleen Gill, cousin of the bride; Melana Forsyth, both of Lansing; and Mary Ann Varlow of Birmingham.

They appeared in ice blue silk organza sheath dresses with flared back panel and bodice and skirt trimmed with bias bands and bows. Their matching veiled crowns were sparkled with crystals. They carried bouquets of semi-cascade alium lilies and stephanotis and ivy.

William Hight of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, was best man and ushers were James Scribner of Birmingham, Don Gessow and Ronald Cartwright, brother of the bride, of Grand Rapids.

The bride's mother appeared in powder-blue silk organza dress with lace bodice. Mrs. Brookhead selected a silk gold sheath with matching accessories. Both mothers had coronas of amazon lilies and stephanotis.

Following a reception at Pine Lake Country Club, the newlyweds left on a tour of Northern Michigan. They will live in Spartan Village in East Lansing, where the bridegroom will be a senior at Michigan State University.

Ice Cream Social Set for Tonight

The community and the congregation of Christ Lutheran Church have been invited to an ice cream social from 6 to 9 this evening at the church on Airport and Williams Lake roads.

A free will offering will be taken at the affair, sponsored by the Augustana Lutheran Church Women.

Jackie Discussing Winter Wardrobe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has called in her No. 1 designer, Oleg Cassini, to discuss her fall and winter wardrobe.

Cassini saw Mrs. Kennedy last weekend at the presidential summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass., where he discussed preliminary sketches.

"Mrs. Kennedy is taking advantage of her time up at the Cape to plan her fall and winter wardrobe," the First Lady's press secretary, Pamela Turnure said Tuesday.

Worry, but Don't Frown

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If you have to worry, just worry. Don't frown! You CAN worry without frowning.

So often we go through tough times, but in the end they turn out all right. If we cry and frown habitually during such times, we are left with lines and puffs after all is well. If things do not turn out all right, we still are better off without the lines and puffs.

Folks so often damage not only their looks but their health with useless worry. Of course, worry is a beautiful and natural part of every intelligent, normal individual's life.

It is a part of not being satisfied with things as they are and moving on to better things. It is a part of self-preservation. It is a part of your love and concern for others. It is a part of our preparation for the future.

SOME WORRY ESSENTIAL

A certain amount of constructive worry is essential to happy existence and to success. I am not talking about that sort of worry but the kind that gets on your back and stays there while you fret and fume and get indigestion and stiff joints and do nothing about getting it off your back.

Most of the time, what we worry about isn't worth the price we pay in loss of health, loss of a youthful outlook, and added lines.

It seems to me that in difficult situations one simply must get "cutoffs" in order to survive. The only way an intelligent person can get cutoffs is to do all he can to solve the problem, or to worry about things which are not really important.

There are only so many weeks and months and years allotted to us and to those we love — and we do not know how many.

We do know that every day is spanking new to do with what we wish; and that it is all we can count on.

If you would like to have my lead, "Watchwords of Science for Youth after Forty," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 61. Addressed Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Would you believe it, she's worrying! Josephine Lowman advises that if you must worry, don't frown — you'll be left with lines if you do.

Rankine-Martin Vows Weds Columbiaville Girl

A reception in the Kingsley Inn followed the marriage of Justice Estelle Rankine to Robert J. Martin Saturday morning in St. Michael Church. Rev. James Hayes performed the ceremony before an altar setting of white and yellow gladioli.

White roses and stephanotis rendered the white prayer book held by the daughter of the David Rankines of Columbiaville during the vows. The ballerina-length wedding gown of white Chantilly lace over satin featured wrist-point sleeves and a bouffant tiered skirt. Fingertip illusion veiling was attached to a crown of seed pearls.

Honor maid Ruth Ann Martin, sister of the bridegroom, appeared in pale yellow chiffon over satin and carried yellow sweet heart roses and white carnations. Carolyn and Susan Rankine, serving their sister as bridesmaids, wore white lace dresses and floral headbands.

The bridegroom, son of the Romeo Martins of Cadillac Street had Richard P. Martin of Houghton Lake for his best man. The bride's brother Robert L. Rankine of Columbiaville seated the guests with Charles Boehm.

Leaving for a Northern Michigan honeymoon, the new Mrs. Martin was wearing a light peach suit, dark green feather hat and brown accessories. The couple will live in Pontiac.

Yellow gladiolus complemented Mrs. Rankine's dark brown jacketed sheath dress and a pure silk beige dress for the mother of the bridegroom.

West All-Stars Defeat Eastern Cagers, 68-52

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—The Western National Basketball Association All-Stars defeated the Eastern All-Stars Tuesday 68-52, in the third annual Maurice Stokes Benefit Fund Game. It was the third successive victory for the West.

Paul Seymour of the St. Louis Hawks coached the Western squad and Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics coached the Eastern team.

Leading scorers for the West were Jack Twyman of the Cincinnati Royals, with 14 points, and John Kerr of the Syracuse Nationals, with 13. Wilt Chamberlain scored nine.

"Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics, led the Eastern scorers with 16 points, and Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals was second with 10. Kerr was voted the most valuable player.

Mexican Doubles Team Still in USLTA Field

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Mexican Davis Cuppers Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox today are the last major foreign team in competition in the 51st USLTA National Doubles Tennis Championships.

The English duo of Mike Sangster and Roger Taylor was eliminated Tuesday by the eighth-ranked American team of Jack Frost, Monterey, Calif., and Whitney Reed, Alameda, Calif., 9-7, 6-2, 6-3.

AMHERST, Mass. (AP)—Gerhard Schwedes, captain of Syracuse's national champion football team two years ago, quit the Boston Patriots of the American Football League Tuesday to enter business in New York.

Detroit Fighter's Condition Serious After Collapse

CHICAGO (AP)—Michael E. Conner, a Detroit lightweight boxer who fights under the name of Baby Watusi, remains in serious condition, apparently unable to speak or hear.

Conner, 23, was taken to a hospital Monday night suffering from what doctors diagnosed as a brain concussion. He collapsed shortly after losing a four-round decision to Johnny White of Chicago in Vogue Arena.

Joseph Triner, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, said Conner was knocked down once during the fight but appeared to have absorbed "nothing out of the ordinary" in the way of punches.

SWEEPING TAG—Cleveland shortstop Woodie Held leaped to tag Detroit's Mike Roarkie at second base in the second inning Tuesday night. Held, holding the ball, took the throw from pitcher Jim Grant. The throw was wide, pulling Held off the bag, but he managed to tag the Tiger catcher.

Auburn Heights Boys Club State Champ

CIO Local 594, third place team during the regular season, completed last strong showing in the playoffs last night by defeating Pontiac Merchants 6-5 to win the Class A crown.

The Union team needed a two-run rally in the last of the sixth to down the regular season champions. All six CIO runs were unearned.

Auburn Heights Boys Club was the state Class F recreation championship at Jackson, but other area teams were no so fortunate.

Felix Brooks was hero for CIO.

Harlow Takes 'D' Trap Title

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Fred Harlow of Newark, Ohio, won the least of trap shootings national championships Tuesday and he was the happiest man in the world about it.

Harlow, the "grand old man" of the clay target sports, cracked 136 of 200 to take the Class D title from a huge field.

He is 82 years old and, back in 1908 at Columbus, Ohio, he won the biggest prize in trap shooting—the Grand American Handicap.

As he stepped from the firing line after breaking the last 125 in a row he was embraced by a host of feminine shooters and the veteran said:

"I'm happier about this than I was when I won the Grand more than half a century ago."

Four other class titles were decided as a field of 840 fired in a 200 target 15-yard event.

P. J. Smith of Lakewood, Colo., won the professional title with 200 straight; Frank Gammell of Peoria, Ohio, broke 197 to lead Class C, and the Class B championship went to Albert C. Bostwick at Westbury, N. Y., with 198. Class A wound up in a perfect score tie between Andrew C. Long of Shamokin, Pa. and J. Robert Boyd of Lemars, Iowa.

Five men tied for Class Double A with perfect scores of 200. In that group were Vic Reinanders of Waukegan, Wis., Dayton Don of Big Springs, Neb., Ira E. Eyer Sr. of Martinsburg, W. Va., Ralph T. Blewins of Bel Air, Md., and Gus W. Wesley of La Grange, Ill.

Reinanders, a chemistry professor at the University of Wisconsin, cracked 100 straight in the shoot-off to take Class AA honors. He was one target ahead of Eyer and Wesley.

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Fred Harlow of Newark, Ohio, won the least of trap shootings national championships Tuesday and he was the happiest man in the world about it.

Harlow, the "grand old man" of the clay target sports, cracked 136 of 200 to take the Class D title from a huge field.

He is 82 years old and, back in 1908 at Columbus, Ohio, he won the biggest prize in trap shooting—the Grand American Handicap.

As he stepped from the firing line after breaking the last 125 in a row he was embraced by a host of feminine shooters and the veteran said:

"I'm happier about this than I was when I won the Grand more than half a century ago."

Four other class titles were decided as a field of 840 fired in a 200 target 15-yard event.

P. J. Smith of Lakewood, Colo., won the professional title with 200 straight; Frank Gammell of Peoria, Ohio, broke 197 to lead Class C, and the Class B championship went to Albert C. Bostwick at Westbury, N. Y., with 198. Class A wound up in a perfect score tie between Andrew C. Long of Shamokin, Pa. and J. Robert Boyd of Lemars, Iowa.

Five men tied for Class Double A with perfect scores of 200. In that group were Vic Reinanders of Waukegan, Wis., Dayton Don of Big Springs, Neb., Ira E. Eyer Sr. of Martinsburg, W. Va., Ralph T. Blewins of Bel Air, Md., and Gus W. Wesley of La Grange, Ill.

Reinanders, a chemistry professor at the University of Wisconsin, cracked 100 straight in the shoot-off to take Class AA honors. He was one target ahead of Eyer and Wesley.

Auburn Heights Boys Club State Champ

CIO Local 594, third place team during the regular season, completed last strong showing in the playoffs last night by defeating Pontiac Merchants 6-5 to win the Class A crown.

The Union team needed a two-run rally in the last of the sixth to down the regular season champions. All six CIO runs were unearned.

Auburn Heights Boys Club was the state Class F recreation championship at Jackson, but other area teams were no so fortunate.

Felix Brooks was hero for CIO.
