Township Rocks When Paint Unit Erupts in Flame

Steel Plant Workmen Reported 'Satisfactory' in St. Joseph Hospital

By AL LOWMAN

Four men were burned early today when an explosion touched off a fire at the Dynamic Manufacturers Inc. plant at 4755 Rochester Rd., Troy Township.

Listed in satisfactory condition with burns at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital were:

Jack McAdory, 25, 451 Telegraph Rd.; William Krogmann, 22, of Mt. Clemens; Franklin Marshall, 21, of Romeo, and Archie Taylor, 24, of Royal Oak.

McAdory also suffered a possible broken foot and Krogmann a possible broken right leg.

The men were working in the steel fabricating plant's paint department when the blast, described as a dull-thudding explosion, shook the area.

Firemen, plant officials and workmen were unable to tell what sparked the blaze, which was put out shortly after noon. The fire was out of control more than four hours.

The fire was confined to the paint department, a separate corrugated steel building located in the rear of the block-square plant.

Flames shot through the roof and windows as inky black columns of smoke billowed hundreds of feet skyward. The smoke pillar was visible for at least seven miles.

Plant personnel Manager James Walz said only the four men were working in the paint building when the blast took place at about 7:45.

Double Storm Trouble

HURRICANES STRIKE — Map locates hurricanes Hilda and Ione as the twin storms lash at the widely separated coasts of Mexico and North Carolina today. Hilda pounced on the oil port of Tampico and winds estimated at more than 100 m. p. h. raked the already flooded city. Ione is nearing the Cape Hatteras area of the North Carolina coast and is heading north-northwest toward southeastern Virginia.

Storm Sweeps Up Seaboard, Headed by Rain

Warnings Are Posted From Wilmington, N.C. to Rhode Island

HATTERAS, N. C. (AP) — Hurricane Ione whipped inland over North Carolina today, and, sweeping northward, sent an apprehensive chill up the North Atlantic seaboard.

North Carolina beaches and inland towns took poundings from terrific winds and high tides. Rain deluged areas miles ahead of the storm.

Ione's gusts were clocked at 107 miles an hour as she swept pass the Marine Air Station at Cherry Point, N. C.

"This is the strongest and largest hurricane to pass northward through the Middle Atlantic states in recent years, and except for slower movement, may be compared with Hurricane Hazel of last October," the Weather Bureau said.

"No great loss of intensity is expected during today and tonight. The indicated movement will bring the center to near the Washington area around midnight and into central Pennsylvania Tuesday morning."

* * *

The bureau added that winds will increase this afternoon and evening over Virginia and Maryland, and will reach hurricane force over Chesapeake Bay and Eastern Shore areas tonight with gales up to 50 to 60 miles an hour over central and western Maryland and Virginia.

WEST OF HATTERAS

The bureau located the storm this morning 75 miles west of Cape Hatteras. It said the storm had been moving erratically as it moved over land but showed mostly north-northwest motion at about 12 miles an hour. Highest winds in squalls near the center were estimated at more than 100 miles an hour. The movement is expected to be generally in a northerly direction at 15 miles an hour for the next 12 to 18 hours, although it might turn slightly north-northeast.

The Weather Bureau called Ione a "dangerous storm" and warned all coastal residents to remain alert for later advices.

Hurricane warnings were ordered displayed north of Wilmington, N. C., to Block Island, R. I., including Chesapeake and Delaware bays and Long Island Sound.

* * *

"Heavy rains will attend this storm and amounts up to three or four inches may be expected generally, with local amounts of five to eight inches possibly in eastern sections of Maryland and Pennsylvania," the bureau said. "This will result in dangerous flooding in small streams and all precautions should be taken."

The Weather Bureau reported that Havelock, N. C., a residential area housing many families of men stationed at the Cherry Point base, was cut off from the west by high water and that the residents of Aurora were being evacuated by amphibious planes.

* * *

Telephone lines were down to dozens of eastern North Carolina communities. New Bern lost its power.

Crops — mostly peanuts, cotton, tobacco and corn — were in for heavy damage.

Two big portable gasoline generators supplied power at two hospitals at Washington, N. C. The Civil Air Patrol dispatched about 30 generators to other towns for possible emergency use.

Reports picked up by amateur radio operators said New Bern and Belhaven were isolated by high water.

Turnpike Board Hires Two Aides

VanWagoner Is Named Consultant; Murl Aten Secretary-Treasurer

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Turnpike Authority confirmed former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner as consulting engineer and hired former State Auditor General Murl K. Aten as fulltime secretary-treasurer at its monthly meeting today.

Van Wagoner, a former state highway commissioner, was hired on a part-time basis at a fee of $1,000 monthly.

Aten, a Jackson attorney, was given a month-to-month contract at a salary of $10,000 a year.

George N. Higgins, Authority chairman, said Van Wagoner would be used chiefly in a public relations role to help crystallize public thinking on turnpikes.

"The public must decide soon whether to go ahead or to forget the whole thing," Higgins said.

Higgins also voiced strong opposition to a proposal by the City of Dearborn that the route of the proposed Rockwood-Saginaw turnpike through Dearborn be changed.

Higgins said he had covered the suggested alternate route on foot and "could not recommend that the commission approve it."

He said the alternate route would require demolition of 340 Dearborn homes, some of them worth $25,000 to $30,000 whereas no homes lie in the path of the route that was originally proposed.

The original route follows the Rouge River Valley.

'Wolf-Whistle' Trial Opens; Viewers Frisked for Guns

SUMNER, Miss. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies searched spectators for weapons today as they entered the courtroom for the sensational "wolf-whistle" trial where two white men are accused of murdering a 14-year-old Chicago Negro.

Sheriff H. C. Strider said he has received more than 150 threatening letters "telling me I wouldn't live through this trial."

"They're not scaring me," he declared.

No plea for a death sentence is expected.

Dist. Atty. Gerald Chatham said he would not question prospective jurors on their opinions of death as a penalty for murder.

That apparently means the state will not ask for a death sentence for Roy Bryant, 24, and his 35-year-old half-brother, J. W. Milam.

The minimum penalty for murder is life imprisonment.

Bryant and Milam are accused of murdering Emmett Till, a husky negro lad who allegedly sounded a wolf whistle at Mrs. Bryant, wife of the grocery operator in nearby Money.

Heat Breaks Record 3rd Day

Relief Is Promised for Tonight With Showers; Cool Air on Way

For the third straight day, a new all-time record temperature for this date was set in Pontiac today.

The mercury hit an even 90 degrees shortly before noon. The previous high for Sept. 19 was 88, set in 1948.

Saturday's high in Pontiac was 90. The previous high for that date was 91, set in 1927.

Sunday's high mark here was 94. The previous high for that date of 92.0, set in 1935.

The heat wave brought lawn sprinkling bans to Birmingham and Berkley, but relief was promised in the forecast of cooler weather tonight and Tuesday, when scattered showers are expected to precede the arrival of a mass of cool air from Canada.

Today the weatherman says it will be partly cloudy and hot with scattered showers or possible thundershowers developing this afternoon or evening. The showers will bring some relief from the intense heat today.

Today's high in Pontiac is expected to be about 94 degrees, tonight the mercury may drop as low as 64.

The prediction for tomorrow will be partly cloudy and cooler with an expected high of 84 degrees.

Downtown today's low before 8 a.m. was 61. The thermometer registered 92 at 2 p.m.

Paris Subways Running

GM President Plans European Inspection

DETROIT (INS) — General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice said today he plans to make his annual business trip to Europe during October and will visit GM installations in France, Germany and England.

The GM executive will inspect progress of the $200 million expansion program for GM operations in Europe. He revealed the expansion during his European trip last year.

The bulk of this program is shared by the three countries the GM president will visit this year, although four other nations are also affected.

Curtice will confer with government officials, European business leaders, GM executives, car dealers and newsmen. He plans to visit both the Paris and London automobile shows.

Rebels Refuse to Confer With Peron; Warn Capital

MONTEVIDEO (INS) — Unconfirmed reports reaching Montevideo said today Juan D. Peron has taken refuge in the Paraguayan Embassy in Buenos Aires.

The reports were relayed by amateur radia transmitters in Buenos Aires and Cordoba, a rebel-held city in the interior of Argentina.

Earlier, the Argentine state radio reported President Peron's offer to resign.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—President Juan D. Peron offered to negotiate with the Argentine rebels, but they refused to talk unless he submits his unconditional resignation.

The Argentine state radio repeatedly announced that Army Minister Gen. Franklin Lucero, on Peron's orders, had invited the revolutionary command to start conversations.

A later broadcast from the rebel fleet in the River Plate said the insurgent command rejected the invitation.

The broadcast from Buenos Aires said the decision to seek negotiations was taken because of insurgent threats to bombard Buenos Aires and the city of Eva Peron.

Rebel naval forces had announced the bombardment of Mar del Plata, a seaside resort town 400 miles southwest of Buenos Aires, and a threat to shell Eva Peron, the capital of Buenos Aires province, only 35 miles away.

Claim and counterclaim from each side continued to cloud the exact situation of the revolt, which began Friday.

The broadcast seeking negotiations, first heard here at noon, was repeated regularly every few seconds after that. With the announced purpose of averting bloodshed, it asked that fighting cease at the present lines.

There was no immediate reaction from the rebel fleet in the River Plate.

The rebel station at Puerto Belgrano declared that Mar del Plata had surrendered to rebel forces through the Uruguayan consul.

Hurricane Hilda Slams Tampico

100 M.P.H. Winds Rake Flooded Oil Port; Gusts Swirl Toward Texas

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Hilda, swirling the winds in her center 125 miles an hour, pounced on the already flooded oil port of Tampico, Mexico, today.

The Weather Bureau here said the center was certain to have passed inland. Communications were out. Squalls and hurricane force winds—75 m.p.h. or more—went up the coast toward Texas.

Last reports from Tampico said winds estimated at more than 100 miles an hour were raking the city. Even fiercer gusts hit some of the surrounding area. Small buildings toppled, along with trees and signs.

Rains that had fallen since yesterday increased in intensity. Observers said the barometer dropped crazily. Electric power was out.

Rain was falling in extreme south Texas. The lower Rio Grande Valley, still damp from rains dumped two weeks ago by tropical storm Gladys, braced for more hard rains, high tides and possible floods.

Hilda picked up speed suddenly last night. At midnight she was believed located about 70 miles east of Tampico, moving westnorthwest at 8-10 miles an hour.

Straits Bridge—Michigan's Biggest Tourist Attraction

(This is the last of a series of stories on the Mackinac Straits bridge.)

By JOE HAAS

Will the new Mackinac Straits bridge make Michigan the greatest tourist state in the nation?

* * *

The various resort and tourist associations, not only in our own state but throughout an area that has four-fifths of the population of the U. S. A., are concluding that it will do that very thing.

It now is in third place, led only by Florida and California, and these associations already are working out a five-year plan to take care of the throngs that will come our way.

Even when it is only partially built, over two years from completion, and there yet is little to give one an idea of its magnitude, the bridge is proving to be Michigan's biggest 1955 tourist attraction.

All surveys show that more people are coming here this year to see the construction work on the bridge than for any other single attraction. A check on the auto license plates at its approaches shows cars from most every state and province. A pair from Mexico was noted.

REMOVES BARRIER

The whole story is told in the words of Gordon Ferris of Phoenix, Ariz., interviewed in his car while watching the antics of an enormous derrick at the south approach. He said:

"Spread a map of the United States on the table before you, and Michigan with its Great Lakes stands out with a welcoming hand of joy above everything else. Its two magnificent peninsulas and their never ending attractions have a beckoning welcome not enjoyed by any other state. The bridge, in itself worth coming to your state to see, removes the only barrier you have had to the ideal vacation land."

The bridge poses a problem to the towns at its approaches and to the area for many miles around. Will it enhance or hinder the motel and other business enterprises there?

* * *

Around these approaches is now one of the biggest concentrations of motels in the nation. They all have been doing a good business ever since they were built, used by tourists as a stop over just before or just after crossing the Straits.

This year's occupancy was the largest ever, without doubt largely on account of the bridge construction. What will it be like after the bridge is opened?

3,500 MOTEL ROOMS

The motels in Mackinaw City probably have a better hold on the future than those in St. Ignace. The south approach to the bridge leads directly from the main highway from the south, which is only a couple of blocks from where most of the motels and other business places now are located.

But the north approach is almost two miles off the beaten path, and far away from the present concentration around the ferry landings.

Leading northeast from St. Ignace, toward the Soo, there now are 350 motel projects within the first few miles, with an average of ten units each, or 3,500 units. These still will be on the main highway leading in that direction, but much further from the bridge approach than the 500 units on the south side.

For a time, new motels were being built in the Straits vicinity at the rate of 500 units per year. But construction largely stopped when the bridge was assured. It now is being resumed on a limited scale, but is due for a boom.

FERRY EXODUS

Over 1,000 men now are employed on the actual bridge construction. This is in addition to 200 others working on the blue prints and plans, and 46 engineers always on the job.

Plans for the disposal of the five auto ferries when the bridge is completed already are under way. The biggest and newest, the diesel driven "Vacationland," is sought by a number of interests, and may become a carrier for new cars from Detroit to other Great Lakes ports.

The others, some already quite old, will find some allied use, or may be converted into freight carriers. None are scheduled for the dump.

The discontinuance of the ferries and opening of the bridge is not expected to bring any local employment problem. The bridge operation will require practically as many men as now are employed on the ferries and their loading and unloading. With a great many it simply will require a transfer of jobs, with no necessity for moving from their present homes.

* * *

Regarding the aerodynamic stability of the Mackinac bridge, David B. Steinman who designed it and is the chief consulting engineer, says, "It will be practically indestructible and with proper maintenance will last for all time. There will be nothing about it that will not be as enduring as the pyramids."

Dr. Adams Wins at Orchard Lake

Club Championship, Pro-Member Tourney Held Over Weekend

Dr. Fritz Adams annexed the club championship Saturday to begin two full days of golfing events for members of Orchard Lake Country Club.

Shooting sub-par golf for the final round, Dr. Adams ousted two-time club champ George Webb, 7 and 5. The new champion was 2 under par at the decisive 13th hole of the afternoon 18, after posting a 75 on the morning test. Pete Whitelaw, 1954 champion, was elimated in the first round of the match play.

Sunday's events saw the competitive course record tied, when Knollwood assistant pro Joe Thacker posted a 7 under par 65 in a pro-member best-ball-of-foursome event. His partners were Algie Hendrix, Bob Watts and Charley Hood.

Other low scoring pros were Jim Barfield, Jimmy Johnson and Larry Tomasine with 69, and Wally Burkemo and Bob Gajda with 70.

Orchard Lake pro Tommy Shannon set the competitive record of 65 which as tied. A total of 26 pros took part, playing with three Orchard Lake members on each team.

4 Burned in Blast at Troy Twp. Plant structure kept the flames alive, he said.

Firemen, using chemicals and water were driven from the building several times by the intense heat and occasional small blasts as stored thinner and paint barrels exploded.

While more than 50 firemen from Troy Township, National Twist Drill in Rochester, Clawson and Avondale battled to control the blaze, hundreds of passersby lined Rochester road.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, State and Troy Township Police directed traffic around the area, jammed with firefighting equipment.

Although damage estimates could not be made immediately, officials theorized that the loss would "be in the thousands of dollars."

Operations at the plant, which employs about 300 men, were halted and employes not assisting in battling the fire were sent home.

Mrs. Mildred Eneis, who lives across the street from the plant, said she heard the explosion, saying: "It sounded like a dull thud but I didn't pay much attention to it until I saw a cloud of smoke."

"My first thought was for my son, William, who works on one of the presses there. I ran across the street and they told me the trouble was in the paint building," she related.

This was the second such explosion and fire at the plant in the past three years. In 1953, an employe burned to death when an explosion and fire raged through the same deaprtment.

Install Scouting Officer as Virgil Honor Member

Glenn Lackey, assistant commissioner of Pontiac District Boy Scouts, was installed as a Vigil Honor member of the Boy Scout Order of the Arrow during the annual fall conclave of the Clinton Valley Council, held last weekend at Camp Agawam.

Only a few hundred Scouts and leaders in the country have received this top recognition of the order, a national society of Boy Scout honor campers, according to Scout officials.

At the same conclave nearly 50 Scouts and leaders were initiated as new members into the Order of the Arrow.

John Poponea of Pontiac was conclave chairman.

Clarkston Village was named in honor of the Clark Brothers, who were among its first business men.

Two Commerce Township youngsters, alone in their home, escaped injury Sunday morning after they set fire to the house, according to Commerce Township Fire Chief Ray V. Prie.

Jimmy Hackney, 4, and his eight-year-old sister, Judy, escaped uninjured from a flaming room at their mother's pre-fab frame home at 152 Robin St. Price said the young boy apparently was playing with matches when someting in the room ignited. The fire caused $2,500 damages.

Neighbors heard the youngsters cry for help but both were safely out of the house when aid arrived.

Mrs. Stockford's daughter, Nancy, 18, was to arrive at the Hackney home at 7:30 Sunday morning to baby-sit with the two children when they awoke. The fire was discovered at 7:20.

Motor Scooter Mishap Injures Pontiac Man, 20

A 20-year-old Pontiac factory worker suffered a fractured collarbone early this morning when his motor scooter ran off a road in Lake Orion Township.

Delbert W. Graham of 1033 Boston St. was treated and released at Pontiac General Hospital after the accident. He told Oakland County sheriff deputies that while he was traveling on Clarkston Road he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car causing him to go off the road.

THE REV. L. A. LOVEGREN

All smiles as he crosses the bridge into freedom from Communist China today is the Rev. Levi A. Lovegren, of Cherry Grove, Ore. The American Baptist missionary was released after almost 5 years captivity on charges he was a spy.

Missionary Free on His Birthday

Wife Welcomes Baptist Cleric; 2 Catholic Priests Also Leave Red China

HONG KONG (AP) — An American Baptist missionary held prisoner by the Chinese Communists almost five years crossed the border to freedom on his 67th birthday today. He was reunited here with his wife. It was her 65th birthday.

* * *

The Rev. Levi A. Lovegren of Cherry Grove, Ore., was the seventh American civilian freed by the Chinese Reds since Friday. The Communists promised during recent negotiations with the United States at Geneva to release American civilians still in China.

Shouts of "happy birthday" greeted the Rev. Mr. Lovegren as he came across the bridge between Hong Kong and Communist China. His wife Ida and a daughter Mildred were waiting in the police station on the road to the city.

Entering the station, the graying missionary stopped and stared silently at the two women. Then they rushed into one anothers arms. As the family left the police station, 70 newsmen sang "Happy Birthday to You."

Three American Roman Catholic priests — Fathers Frederick A. Gordon of Somerset, Ohio; Joseph E. Hyde of Lowell, Mass., and the Rev. James G. Joyce — arrived on the train from Red Canton yesterday. They had been held under house arrest more than two years by the Chinese Reds.

Pontiac Man Hurt in Collision Sunday

A 19-year-old Pontiac factory worker, who reportedly fell asleep at the wheel of his car, was in good condition this morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital as the result of a two-car accident Sunday morning in Pontiac Township.

Douglas R. Higgins of 693 Northway Dr., received scalp lacerations according to hospital authorities. The driver of the second car, Joseph P. Zwicker, 23, of 18 Cherry Ct., told Oakland County sheriff deputies that he saw Higgins' car coming over on his side of the road when he was struck by the car. He was not injured.

A passenger, Dorothy Skerkowski, 20, of 48 Bloomfield Terrace, was treated for forehead abrasions and released from the hospital. It was not known which car she was a passenger in.

Higgins told deputies he could not remember what happened but he must have fallen asleep.

Detroit Father Kills 2 Daughters, Himself

DETROIT (INS)—A Detroit bank messenger under treatment for mental illness murdered his two daughters in their beds early today, then killed himself with two blasts from a 12-gauge shotgun.

Police said Lawrence Womack, 52, killed the girls—Carol, 20, and Linda, 17—while they slept in adjoining twin beds.

The shots aroused Womacks wife, Cleo, 49. She rushed into the hall and met her husband as he was leaving the girls' room.

She said he slugged her, apparently with the butt of the shotgun, and said:

"It's got to be this way."

Womack then went to the basement and shot himself twice.

Womack's 11-year-old son, Larry Jr., cowered under a bed after the shots had aroused him.

That's the question police are asking today. They're holding the young man—a hitching post in the form of just such a statue, until his owner claims him. A startled Mrs. C. E. Trathen, 1033 Humphrey, discovered the statue on her front lawn this morning, and police have been unable to ascertain ownership as yet.

Railroad Fan Club Puffs Around Michigan

478 Join Trip in Ancient Train

Battle Creek Locomotive Shop Inspection Called Off by Intense Heat

By JOE HAAS

With 478 cash customers, 161 of whom boarded the train at Oakland County stations, the annual trip of the Michigan Railroad Fan Club took place Sunday.

* * *

JOE HAAS

It was from Detroit to Battle Creek and return over the Grand Trunk, and with a variety of equipment that ranged from pioneer days to the air conditioned coaches.

There was the old-fashioned car with the pot-bellied stove, hard seats and narrow windows, and the standard equipment of its time. Then along came the open gondola cars, one of which was equipped with benches, and the other was exclusively for standees.

A baggage car of ancient vintage was converted into a diner with a long counter at which sandwiches, coffee and soft drinks were served at pre-inflation prices.

OLD LOCOMOTIVE

At the front was a coal burning locomotive with a whistle that resounded across the countryside and a smokestack that threw cinders over everything — with an extra salvo for the snooty diesels that it chased into the side tracks.

Tailing up the procession was the old red caboose, with no modernization, and a ride in its second story was the ambition of all the youngsters aboard.

Sprinkled between were the air conditioned (when it worked) beauties whom the outside temperature made extra popular.

Focal point was the locomotive shops at Battle Creek, but the day was so hot that the excursionists largely preferred to stay away from an inspection of anything that created more heat, and the three-hour stay in that city was spent otherwise.

RIGHT THROUGH LANSING

A highlight for those aboard was when the fan special breezed through Lansing in both directions at full speed, showing that our capital city isn't even a flag stop on some occasions.

On the train were 102 children, most of whom were enjoying their first such experience. They were allowed an unrestrained run of the train, and even crawled over the locomotive and into its cab at some of the stops.

They went at half-fare for those under 12, and there were plenty "large for his age." One of them who weighs 185 confided in me that he was making the varsity team in his high school.

Family parties took along their luncheon and many a drumstick and chicken sandwich was consumed in air-conditioned comfort —a picnic without ants.

There was square dancing in the gondola, and even the three women who required the services of a doctor, one for a skinned ankle and the other two for eye cinders, all agreed it was a grand event, and said they would be on hand next year.

The popular conception that this club is composed only of retired railroad men is erroneous. Its membership includes hundreds who never pulled a throttle, punched a ticket or unintelligibly called a station.

World's Dairy Show Oct. 8-15

3rd International Event at Chicago Lists Contests Golden Spurs Rodeo

CHICAGO — Dairy cattle royalty in 22 states and Canada are being primped by hopeful owners in preparation for the third annual International Dairy Show which is slated to be held in the Amphitheater of the Chicago Stock Yards Oct. 8-15.

* * *

Giving the show an international flavor, cattle owned by Argentine dairymen will also tred the tanbark of the big arena, according to W.A. Wentworth, show president. These are high-bred cattle sold by U. S. breeders for export to South America.

The eight-day exposition extols the virtues of the dairy cow as nature's greatest food factory. In addition to providing a week of judging for bovine aristocrats, the affair puts the spotlight on nature's most nearly perfect food, milk, and all the foods that come from milk-butter, countless varieties of cheeses and the multitude of flavors of ice, cream. The show will get under way on Saturday, Oct. 8, after a two-hour parade on downtown State Street.

A $25,000 Golden Dairy Recipe contest will highlight activities in a dream kitchen where champions from among 20,000 contestants will demonstrate their kitchen art with dairy foods. The contest's top winner receives a trip to Europe.

4-H Club Miss Will View Flight to Fashion Tonight

The 4-H Club Modern Miss will be shown brand new sew-it-yourself fashions tonight at 8 in the Oakland County's Simplicity pattern "Flight into Fashion" show.

The event taking place in the 4-H Fairgrounds, will take the well-dressed miss around the clock, all in clothes she can make herself.

The "long line" will be the look most seen in the show . . . with long-torso separates, overblouses, suits and even date separates and dance dresses.

Of main interest will be the new convertible fashions featuring pedal pushers of printed corduroy topped with a solid red corduroy overskirt; and a velveteen sheath that takes a jacket to make a suit and a simple net skirt to tie on for dancing.

Commentator for the show will be Mrs. Russell Pickering, leader of the Bloomfield 4-H Club. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Glen Johnson, Mrs. Eula Abbey, Mrs. Alfred Smithling, Mrs. Agnes DeNice, and Mrs. Frieda Bennett, Home Demonstration Agent.

Twenty 4-H Club girls from Oakland County will be models for the show.

Under construction at the Straits of Mackinac is a great bridge uniting the Lower and Upper Peninsulas of Michigan.

It will be one of the world's longest bridges, with a center span of three-quarters of a mile and an over-all length of almost five miles. Completion is scheduled for the autumn of 1957.

The bridge will speed tourist and truck traffic across the Straits and make Outstate Michigan an even better place to work or play.

Outstate Michigan has many advantages as an industrial location . . . skilled manpower, central location, unequalled supply of fresh water, a favorable climate. It's the place to build your new manufacturing plant.

Kremlin Makes Start at Easing Censorship

United States Senators who have visited the Kremlin this summer have found the Russians most interested in relaxation of U.S. restrictions on trade with the USSR.

On their part Premier Bulganin and Party Chief Khrushchev promised that the Foreign Ministry's censorship of outgoing news dispatches would be progressively relaxed.

For some weeks after the Geneva conference in July, events seemed to foreshadow this promise. American correspondents in Moscow reported they were having less trouble with the official censor than at any time in the recent past.

Late in August the Kremlin took the unprecedented step of allowing direct broadcasts to the United States without prior submission of scripts for censorship. At the same time certain newspaper correspondents were allowed to telephone their dispatches to other European capitals without official scrutiny.

★ ★ ★

All this led to the feeling that the whole censorship apparatus as applied to outgoing dispatches would soon be dismantled. But, alas, within a week broadcasting without censorship came to an abrupt end. All Western correspondents were again required to hand in their reports for examination before transmission.

★ ★ ★

Regarding this situation Khrushchev is said to have told the Senator that he felt a good beginning had been made and they must realize that "everything cannot be done overnight."

A statement by Sen. Estes Kefauver helps explain how important this issue is. In his opinion, freeing Moscow correspondents of present restrictions would do more to ease tensions between East and West than any other single step that could be taken to that end.

Investigation Reveals 62 Fake Cancer Cures

An investigation recently completed by Duke University has shown that there now exists at least 62 fake cancer cures in the United States.

None of these, according to an announcement of Dr. Charles E. Horton at the university, has any medicinal value. They were made up of such ingredients as distilled water, rhododendron paste, vinegar, fig leaves, arsenic, zinc, lead and fat.

★ ★ ★

Strangely enough the report points out that not all of the quacks peddling these fake remedies are dishonest. Some of them actually believe in the efficacy of their nostrums. A reason for this is that their "cures" have been effective on patients whose trouble was wrongly diagnosed as cancer.

★ ★ ★

But for every "honest" faker, the report points out, there are two wholly unscrupulous charlatans. For example, some California quacks have been using a machine called an ocillocast. It is dishonestly reputed to have the ability to diagnose a patient's case from his signature.

The only sure safeguards against this disease are early diagnosis by a reputable physician and treatment by X-ray, radium or surgery.

Wild Ducks Plentiful

There is good news for hunters from the great duck breeding areas of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

According to Ducks Unlimited, an international organization for the protection of these wild fowl, conditions of wind, water and weather have been most favorable this year for them.

In Manitoba there has been a notable increase in mallard population. The same can be said of canvasbacks, pintails and blue winged teal in Saskatchewan.

All this means that by the time the hunting season is in full swing, there should be plenty of migrating ducks to test sportsmen's skill.

Saginaw's S-Men

Our neighboring City of Saginaw is conducting an interesting experiment with the aim of promoting greater traffic safety.

Basis of the plan is the organization of a task force of 100 responsible citizens whose names will not be revealed. They are charged with combating the menace of dangerous drivers by reporting traffic violations by postcard with the license number, location, time and nature of the violation.

★ ★ ★

The Greater Saginaw Safety Council to which these postcards will be addressed, will carry on from there by sending warning notices to the offending motorists. The plan is based on a similar program launched in Fort Worth, Tex., where the vigilantes are known as T-Men.

It will be interesting to watch Saginaw and see how the experiment works.

A Large Number of Entries Eliminated in First Game

Waiter: In a restaurant, often the customer.

With 3,273 entries that arrived on time and were in correct order, the MAT 1955 Football Contest closed Saturday noon. This is a larger number than in any previous year.

But the 2,646 good sports who had picked Kentucky to win its game with Louisiana in the opening game Saturday night, and the 64 who predicted it would be a tie game, were eliminated in the first round. Remaining are the 563 excellent forecasters who picked Louisiana.

For Louisiana defeated the highly regarded opponents from the Blue Grass state by a 19-7 score, in a contest that upset the predictions of the so called experts throughout the nation.

MAT wishes to thank all participants in the contest which took place at a time when the hot American League baseball pennant race has the stage, and when, in the words of a note accompanying one entry, "It is mighty difficult to think of football when my thermometer is registering 96."

Next in the roster of the 14 games in the contest is the Colgate-Dartmouth clash of Saturday, on which the 563 divide their predictions: Dartmouth, 279; Colgate, 264; tie game, 20.

"Ever See Such a Cagey One as That Adenauer?"

David Lawrence Says:

Dems Hold Hearing in Supreme Court in Effort to Discredit Security Program

WASHINGTON — Something different has been added by a congressional committee—a palpable effort to aid a propaganda movement by staging a show in the old chamber of the Supreme Court of the United States. The movement is part of the Democratic Party's campaign to discredit the security program of the Eisenhower Administration.

Ostensibly it was all in celebration of Constitution Day. The eleven witnesses sat on the bench of the court while the senators joined the spectators in front of them. Yet the proceedings were officially recorded as a Senate subcommittee hearing.

This bit of theatrical procedure will be construed by many as a subtle attempt to influence the Supreme Court itself. Some of the eleven speakers talked indirectly to the Supreme Court and criticized past decisions.

But much of the propaganda was directed against committees of Congress and the Department of Justice for efforts being made under powers granted by existing law to checkmate the infiltration by Communists and their dupes into the churches, the press, the theater, labor unions, schools, colleges and the government itself.

CHURCHMAN SPEAKS

One of the speakers—a prominent Protestant churchman—made a pointed attack on the position of the Catholic Church with respect to some legislative questions. It is a mystery why, if the churches of America were to be represented, only one man—a radical—was selected to speak. There was no spokesman for those Catholic or Jewish churches or for those Protestant churches and clergymen who do not share the radical views of Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, chairman of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States.

* * *

Dr. Blake charged that it was not "within the competence of the state to determine what is or is not American." So he objected to the name of the House Committee on un-American Activities. Actually the Congress by-laws, upheld by the Supreme Court has proclaimed that criminals convicted of certain crimes shall lose their rights as American citizens. The Supreme Court has never overruled that penalty.

It is not customary for the committees of one house to permit attacks on committees of the other house, but no senator present last Saturday objected to Dr. Blake's attack on the House Committee on un-American Activities.

Dr. Blake's main thesis was that "many citizens" were being punished for their views and that the House committee has been "confused as to the difference between disloyalty to our country and the holding of opinions which happen to be politically unpopular or publicly embarrassing." That's a parallel point made in the brief filed before the Supreme Court last week by the Communist Party itself.

CONGRESSIONAL ORDER

The real reason for the laws passed by Congress requiring the Communist Party and affiliated organizations to register with the attorney general is because Congress has declared the Communist movement to be a criminal conspiracy tied up with a foreign government that maintains and finances an espionage apparatus to try to infiltrate American institutions. Dr. Blake, however, denounced the "extraordinary power of the attorney general" with respect to listing subversive organizations publicly as if it were an abuse by the executive branch. He omitted to mention that this function was specifically prescribed by Congress.

Dr. Blake went on to argue also the highly controversial question of government aid for private schools and hinted that some kind of religious instruction might be given in public schools. He said "Some decisions of the Supreme Court have come closer to the churches' ideal in this regard than others" and he warned that "it will be a continuing concern of the churches."

Nobody present asked why if church schools complied with the curriculum established by state governments for public schools and if, in addition, those schools taught religion on their own time why some of the taxes paid by the parents of those children should not be used to help pay some of the cost of the basic education of their children.

Dr. Blake had the floor all to himself on this subject and no other view was presented on the other side of this controversial question on the same occasion. And there is a lot to be said on the other side.

Many Folks Aren't Fooled by Trick Specialists Today

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Going through the heavy mail that comes from newspaper readers of high and low calibre, people with and people without degrees, people in all parts of North America, I note with satisfaction that a good many people believe what I say about trick specialism and the phony "clinic" evils in medicine today.

* * *

I mean to say that four out of five physicians who hold themselves out to the public as specialists are general practioners with no particular ability but with a lot of gall. I call them trick specialists.

The poor souls who are most susceptible to the pretensions of these trick specialists imagine that a doctor who calls himself a specialist must have had better training, be more skilled and more competent than an "ordinary" doctor, that is, a doctor who does not call himself or herself a specialist.

It is pathetic the way some of these simple customers go for the specialist label. They really think the law demands higher qualifications for specialists than for general or family doctors. The truth is that so far as the law is concerned, when a doctor gets a license to practice medicine and surgery, he or she may engage in general practice or devote himself or herself mainly or exclusively to any branch or field of medicine, surgery, obstetric—although actually most doctors who decide to limit practice to a specialty do pursue some months or years of postgraduate study in the chosen field before they announce "practice limited to" whatever the specialty may be.

BECOMES BUSINESS

At least that's the way it was when practice was a profession. Now that the AMA has converted it into a business it is hard to tell the real specialists from the trick specialists.

* * *

The Code (Principles) of Medical Ethics, or the watered down version after numerous revisions by the AMA pointedly ignores the custom of announcing "practice limited to (name of specialty)"—and that's the way the trick specialists like it.

The reputable physicians in the community know what specialists are genuine and which are tricksters. When a general practioner or family physician encounters some rare or difficult case he or she may call a specialist into consultation or refer the patient to the specialist for opinion and advice.

The family physician knows that a real specialist will not try to supplant him as the patient's doctor.

Trick specialists, which, as I have already indicated, greatly outnumber real specialists today, are in unfair competition with the general practitioners of the community for whatever business they can lure away from the honest doctors—the patronage of simple-minded people.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Asks High School Courses on Reds and Dictatorships

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I, as a citizen of the United States, do not believe in giving the Commies an 'inch' of a chance. Because then they will want more and even more until they make one great plunge toward world-wide control. The Communists have gone too far to stop now!

We cannot be friends with Russia until it demobilizes its present dictatorial form of government.

I conclude in asking why not have as a part of high school studies the philosophy of communism and dictatorship? Later on we will have that much fewer people to make agreements with those who are trying to gain control of the world.

Stop them before your homes, your freedoms, your loved ones are no more.

New Car Output Proves Theory of Obsolescence

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

The bringing out of new models by the automobile industry gives a clue to the economic philosophy behind our expanding national economy and the high standard of living.

This progressive industry makes potent use of the concept of obsolescence.

Through invention and research, the automobile manufacturers give owners of serviceable vehicles a motive for replacing them with something better. Improvement is the competitive norm.

Competition in the battle for first place between Chevrolet and Ford has been widely publicized, yet Ford Motor Company has in also been in contest with Chrysler.

The comeback of Chrysler, measured by the rise in ratio of sales to the total of the industry from upwards of 12 per cent in 1954 to between 17 per cent and 18 per cent in 1955, has been at the expense of taking percentage points from Ford, which had had such a meteoric rise since World War II. Chrysler did not lift itself this year at the expense of General Motors or the independents.

SHIFT TO THE MIDDLE

Another related phenomenon, has been the relative shift of demand from the lowest-price class to the next one, consisting, among others, of Buick Specials, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Dodge and Mercury.

Henry Ford once told me that he deemed annual model changes economically wasteful, but the industry today, including his own company, takes a different view.

Accordingly, the accent is increasingly on selling, including the related arts of advertising and merchandising. One executive in the automotive Big Three recently told me, there will be unprecendented wooing of dealers by automobile manufacturers in the next two years.

NEW MODELS—SELLING TOOLS

In this framework, new and improved models are regarded as important selling tools. The widely publicized improvements in engineering, design and appearance tend to make owners dissatisfied with older cars capable of many additional tens of thousands of miles of service. The new models are, nevertheless, deemed economically prudent in light of their ability to generate a larger sales demand than would otherwise be expressed.

In bookkeeping terms, the model improvement makes possible the added volume, which otherwise would be still-born. And it is the added volume in a rigid cost, or high-break-even-point national economy, that contributes so spectacularly to net profits.

Incidentally, the philosophy of big production inevitably becomes important in terms of "social justice." The elite — the classes—cannot consume the product of the vast assembly lines, which in the nature of things must depend on the masses. In failing to think through the logic of technology, Karl Marx made the greatest blooper in the history of human thought.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Hard-to-Get-Along-With Office Bear May Be Meek as Housecat at Home

Milton is a brilliant engineer but can't get along with his immediate employes. He is a "projector" and a veritable "bearcat" at the office. Sometimes this means a meek "housecat" at home. There is a close connection between our home personality and our office personality, so use the tests outlined below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-343: Milton M., aged 43, is a factory superintendent.

"But, Dr. Crane, he can't keep any girls for longer than a few months," the personnel director informed me.

"For he yells at them and bawls them out even when they are not at fault.

"In fact, he is a typical 'projector' who blames everybody else for his own mistakes.

"His last three secretaries have been nervous wrecks. We had to transfer them from his office on the advise of our plant physician.

"But Milton is a brilliant engineer, so what would you advise us to do next?"

SPLIT PERSONALITY

There is an axiom in psychology that the "bearcat" at the office is frequently a meek "housecat" at home.

* * *

He may have a nagging, shrewish wife who bosses him around as Maggie does Jiggs in the funny papers.

So when he gets out from under her domination, he throws his weight around by being a harsh, caustic-tongued employer.

This tendency to project our ire is familiar to almost everybody. It is well expressed in the story about the Army sergeant who bawled out the corporal who then jumped all over the private who, in turn, kicked the mule.

Wives are well aware that their husbands pass the buck to them on every possible occasion and blame them even for the children's mistakes.

* * *

Everybody is born with the motto tattooed on his chest:

"I Want To Feel Important."

Nobody can indulge in self depreciation very long, so we soon

SANDWICH METHOD

If an employer is afraid he cannot handle his job properly, he may be hypercritical as a means of showing off and trying to browbeat his inferiors into admitting his higher rank.

Many a husband who is secretly afraid he is losing his wife's love and sweetheart adoration, then hangs on to the purse strings and at least coerces her into begging him for money.

Such a husband often becomes generous as soon as his wife feigns more ardor and restores his wounded sex ego to normal.

In Milton's case, I recommended that some of his former secretaries fill out the "Test for Bosses," mentioned below, but refrain from signing their names.

FRIENDLY TALK

Then I suggested that the personnel director ask one of Milton's superiors, such as the head of the firm, to have a friendly conference with him.

He should use the "sandwich" method of administering correction. Build up Milton's ego with an honest statement of praise concerning his brilliant engineering mind.

Then smile and lead into the meaty layer of the sandwich with a casual "I wonder if it wouldn't be better if you'd try to be more tactful with some of the girls in your office."

Then show him the actual ratings by his former employes. But in order to take the sting out of this, then end with another generous compliment for some of Milton's virtues.

The greatest cause of trouble between management and labor is failure to employ proper psychology.

So send for my "Tests for Employers & Employes," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

They are widely used in industry, but fit everybody who employs even a single worker.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

20 Subpoenaed in Abortion Quiz

Man and Wife Facing Court Hearing in Death of Chain Store Heiress

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Twenty persons have been subpoenaed by the state to appear at today's hearing for Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz on charges they performed the unsuccessful abortion that caused the death of Food Fair Stores heiress Mrs. Doris Ostreicher.

If Magistrate Elias Myers finds there is sufficient evidence to justify keeping the Schwartzes in custody, they will be held for grand jury action. Prior to today's hearing they were free in $5,000 bail each.

* * *

In addition to being charged with performing the abortion, the Schwartzes are accused also of conspiring with Mrs. Ostreicher's mother Mrs. Gertrude Silver to perform the abortion, and with perjuring themselves at a medical examiner's hearing in which the cause of death was announced.

* * *

The state alleges that Mrs. Ostreicher, a 22-year-old bride of two months, went with her mother to the Schwartz apartment in North Philadelphia on the night of Aug. 24 and that the abortion attempt took place there. Mrs. Ostreicher died in the apartment that night.

Mrs. Silver is undergoing treatment in the Philadelphia Psychiatric Hospital.

3 Prominent Sardinians Are Slain in Ambush

NUORO, Sardinia (AP) — Three prominent citizens of bandit-ridden central Sardinia were killed last night in an ambush.

Authorities, faced with the fear-imposed silence which greets all inquiries into banditry here, said they had no clues to the crime. The dead were the director of the civic market, the director of a transportation firm and the secretary of the nearby town of Oliena.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

OUR FRIENDS, THE BEES—1

They Make Honey for Us

For breakfast, do you like honey on hot cakes or waffles? Then you should like bees, even while being careful that they don't sting you.

More is known about the honey bee than about almost any other insect. That is because it is so important to men and because men have been studying it for many years.

Bees not only make and store honey that beekeepers take away from them for your use and mine, but they pollinate fruit blossoms and flowers. If it weren't for bees a great number of plants could not set seed or fruit.

As you probably know, bees live in hives. In one hive there may be as many as 80,000 of them. Most are workers, or stunted female bees. There are a few drones, or males, who do no work. And just one queen bee who is the mother of all the rest!

For a bee collection, start off by pasting this picture on light cardboard and coloring it as you like. Of course the butter should be yellow. The honey in the yellow comb at the bottom may be either yellow or brown.

Ike Names Persons to Auditorium Group

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower today named seven members to a commission to study proposals for construction of a civic auditorium for the nation's capital, Washington.

These appointments were announced at the President's vacation headquarters here:

Mrs. Virginia Bacon, George I. Williams, Robert V. Fleming and Frank R. Jelleff, all of Washington.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Howrey of Jamestown, R. I., who has served as chairman of a group studying the possibility of a federally sponsored auditorium for the capital; Hollywood actor George Murphy; and James I. Knight of Miami and general manager of the Miami Herald Publishing Co.

Ex-Ford Worker Now Leads Red Delegation to U.N.

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A Russian who once worked in a Ford plant will head the Soviet delegation for most of the U.N. Assembly session opening tomorrow.

* * *

He is Vasily V. Kuznetsov, 53, first deputy foreign minister of the Soviet Union. In the '30s he worked in Michigan as an exchange student, learning about steel at Ford's River Rouge plant. He was ambassador to Red China when designated to succeed the late Andrei Vishinsky as first deputy foreign minister.

* * *

Kuznetsov will take over leadership of the U.N. delegation when Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov goes home, probably early next month. Molotov must be in Moscow for official visits from French and Burmese officials, and must prepare for the foreign 'ministers' conference starting Oct. 27 at Geneva.

* * *

The Soviet delegation to the U.N. is perhaps the strongest Moscow ever sent here. For the first time there is a delegate from the Baltic area — Yuozas Y. Matulis, a chemist who is president of the Lithuanian Academy of Sciences.

Jacob A. Malik, who spent four years here as U.N. delegate, is among the five top delegates.

Presidential Papers Shown

Roosevelt's War Message Sparks Archives' Exhibit

WASHINGTON (INS) — Franklin D. Roosevelt's original draft of the Pearl Harbor message began: "Yesterday, Dec. 7, 1941, a day which will live in world history . . ."

In his own hand, F.D.R. struck out the words "world history" and penciled in "infamy."

* * *

This was but one intimate glimpse of U. S. presidents contained in an exhibit at the Federal Archives Building. The exhibit takes its theme from the second article of the Constitution, which provides for presidential elections and sets forth the executive's powers.

A long series of cases hold pictures of the presidents with a significant or historical document signed by each.

There is a page from James Monroe's message to Congress in which the fifth President laid down the Monroe Doctrine, warning European powers that the Western Hemisphere was no longer open to foreign intervention.

Several wartime pardons are written out in Abraham Lincoln's scrawl. On one the martyred President ordered: "Let him fight instead of being shot."

William McKinley is represented by his proclamation of a naval blockade of Cuba; Andrew Johnson by his order removing Edwin M. Stanton as Secretary of War, which brought impeachment proceedings.

TWO PROCLAMATIONS

The exhibit contains at least two proclamations of war — Woodrow Wilson's with imperial Germany and James K. Polk's formally declaring a state of war with Mexico.

There are at least two weak spots. Presidents William H. Harrison and James A. Garfield died after such brief terms in office that the archives was hard put to find any significant documents bearing their signatures.

President Eisenhower is represented by his first executive order—that establishing the President's Advisory Commission on Governmental Organization.

Other documents closely related to the presidential exhibit include the original Articles of Confederation, forerunner of the Constitution.

The archives was made the permanent home of the original Declaration and Constitution several years ago.

The presidential exhibit is a sort of special bonus for history lovers who flock too see these priceless documents in their huge bronze cases. The special exhibit will be displayed for about six months.

11 Nations Slam Brakes on Inflation Threat

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The happiest thing about the threat of inflation—now popping out like measels in spots all over the globe—is that this time so many are aware of it before it gets out of hand.

The threat was very much on the minds of the financial leaders in Istanbul for the meeting of the boards of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

* * *

Almost everyone is talking about the danger of a new inflation, hanging on the coattails of prosperity and threatening to trip it up. And at least 11 nations have already done something about it.

Creeping advances of prices, wild buying sprees in some lands by consumers with pockets filled by steadily increasing wages, and the problems of a public seemingly eager to live beyond its means—all hold the warning that a new inflation—the down-grading of the purchasing power of your money—could be in the making, if not watched.

* * *

Financial leaders at the Istanbul meeting's stressed that a serious inflation could quickly wipe out the progress made in recent years, especially in Western Europe.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York notes that since the first of the year the central banks of 10 nations, in addition to the United States, have raised their discount rates. This is a classic financial measure for tightening the supply of money, putting a brake on real or incipient inflation.

* * *

The other nations did it for two basic reasons, the bank notes. Some, like Britain, Sweden and Turkey, were aiming at "countering inflationary strains and attendant balance-of-payments difficulties." Others, like Belgium, Canada and West Germany are mainly warning "commercial banks and business to show restraint in their lending and spending activities."

The United States falls into this latter group. Like the other, it has no acute inflationary pressures so far and the stability of the dollar in foreign exchange is still AAA. Uncle Sam, noting the many advances in the price of industrial goods and the growth of consumer debts, is just playing it careful.

* * *

Countries, in addition to those named, who have joined in this attempt to halt incipient inflation or prevent its starting are Norway, Austria, New Zealand and Japan. The New York bank regards Japan's hike in the discount rate as being primarily technical—getting it in line with commercial banking and putting it in position to use the discount rate as an anti-inflationary tool when needed.

RETURNING—This 28-foot statue of Christopher Columbus will soon stand in Columbus, Ohio. Seen encased at Genoa, Italy, the explorer's birthplace, the 38-ton statue, by Edoardo Alfieri, is a gift of Genoa to the Ohio City. It will be unveiled in Columbus on Oct. 12, the day Columbus first sighted the New World in 1492.

Climaxing a brilliant season of stock car victories, Chevrolet walked away with the big one—the NASCAR* 500-mile race at Darlington, S. Carolina. Chevy outran everything from the "big cars" on down, to win both first and second—and seven out of the top ten places! More proof-in-action of qualities that mean safer driving for you!

What the world series is to baseball, the Darlington 500-mile is to stock car racing. It's the number one event of its kind. The toughest competitive test of cars and drivers.

And Chevrolet won this year's "500" hands down. Not only won, but swept the first two places, finishing ahead of a raft of high-priced, high-powered cars. The closest car in Chevrolet's field finished way back in fifth place!

What's the answer? Simply that it takes more than raw horsepower to be a winner on the stock car tracks. It takes whiplash acceleration, superior cornering ability and handling ease, rock-solid stability—the same qualities that mean safer driving on the highway. And Chevrolet's got them like nobody else!

Doesn't that sound like a good reason for you to come in and drive a new Chevrolet right away? When you do, we'll show how easy we're making it to own the winner these days!

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1955 PONTIAC, MICHIGAN. ELEVEN

Williams Draws Up 14-Point Highway Safety Plan

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today handed the Legislature a 14-pronged weapon for chasing death from Michigan highways and urged the lawmakers to accept it at a special session this fall.

In a 17-page blueprint for traffic safety, the governor called upon Michigan to "show at least as much ingeeuity in controlling the automobile as we showed in de-

The document, labeled "Fourteen Steps Toward Traffic Safety," closely followed recommendations released earlier by Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Its principal points are:

Driver licensing by Civil Service employes instead of sheriffs and local police, the addition of 200 state police for highway patrol, compulsory inspection of autos every six months, grants to schools for driver education and to counties for sheriff's road patrols and a crackdown on bad drivers.

Williams will present the plan to the Legislature during a special session tenattively scheduled for Oct. 25-28. At that time, he also will ask the lawmakers to adopt an emergency program for housing mentally retarded children and ask them to raise teachers' salaries $200 a year.

MEETING TODAY

The governor is scheduled to meet with a group of sheriffs today in an effort to sell them on the idea of relinquishing their drivers licensing rights. Many are bitterly opposed to the plan.

"The adoption of this program would put Michigan once more in the forefront of the war on traffic accidents—the fourth leading cause of death in America," Williams said.

The governor, reminding taxpayers of an 18-million-dollar general fund surplus, said there is no way to save lives without spending money.

He said he is perfectly willing to receive ideas other than those in his own plan—"and if they really are better, we'll go along with them. The program is not frozen."

Williams called for:

1. A uniform driver licensing program staffed by 500 Civil Service employes.

2. A three - phase "driver improvement program." Habitual violators would get warning letters and would be called in for re-examination. If necessary their licenses would be revoked. This program would require an additional 117 employes.

INSPECTION

3. Compulsory inspection of all licensed vehicles every six months at private garagess licensed by the state.

4. Annual grants of $25 a student to Michigan high schools for driver education. Williams asked 1½ million dollars for this purpose in fiscal year 1956-57.

5. An additional 200 state police and 33 more patrol cars, which will cost $1,107,628 in the next fiscal year.

6. Grants to counties for additional sheriffs' road patrols on a matching basis. The governor asked $425,000 for such grants this year and $850,000 next year.

DRUNKOMETER' TESTS

7. Legalization of "drunkometer" tests already supported by some Republican legislative leaders.

* * *

8. Addition of 98 clerks to the state's central file of traffic violations. Only about one-third of an estimated two million tickets issued each year for moving violations are now filed by the state, Williams said.

9. Establishment of a Traffic Safety Department at Michigan State University which would offer course in traffic safety.

10. Money to finance use of National Guardsmen for highway duty on 10 holiday weekends each year.

11. Radar speed control equipment to be furnished by the state to local officers.

12. An additional eight persons on the staff of the State Safety Commission to handle safety research and publicize highway safe-

13. Establishment of a traffic safety study commission to consider a maximum speed law and control of roadside vending.

14. Physical examination of all school bus drivers in addition to the present chauffeur's license requirements.

Apostrophe Use Causes Hassle

Hells or Hell's Canyon Spelling Sparks Dispute Over New Dam Site

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—The nation's deepest canyon is also its most controversial. There's even disagreement on how to spell its name.

"We always spell it Hell's Canyon," says Sam Fretwell of Parma, Idaho. He's chairman of the Idaho-Oregon-Washington Hell's Canyon Assn., a group that wants to see a federal dam constructed in the Deep Snake River gorge bordering Idaho and Oregon.

* * *

But Gilbert Stanton, public relations director for Idaho Power Co., says, "It's Hells Canyon as far as we're concerned."

The utility and Fretwell's group have been fighting for months over more than just the use of an apostrophe.

The Federal Power Commission last Aug. 4 licensed Idaho Power to build three private dams in the canyon area.

The dams would flood the site of the proposed federal dam. Public power forces have fought the utility's plan through more than a year of FPC hearings. They threaten to take it to court unless the FPC changes its mind.

The canyon dips more than 8,000 feet below the peaks of the Wallowa Mountains of Oregon and the Seven Devils Range of Idaho, on opposite sides of the mighty Columbia River tributary.

It's usually spelled Hells Canyon by both the FPC and the U.S. Interior Department.

It occurs both ways in the Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature and in brochures of the Chamber of Commerce in Weiser, Idaho, the city nearest the canyon.

Early travelers who looked with awe on the jagged cliffs probably gave the gorge its name.

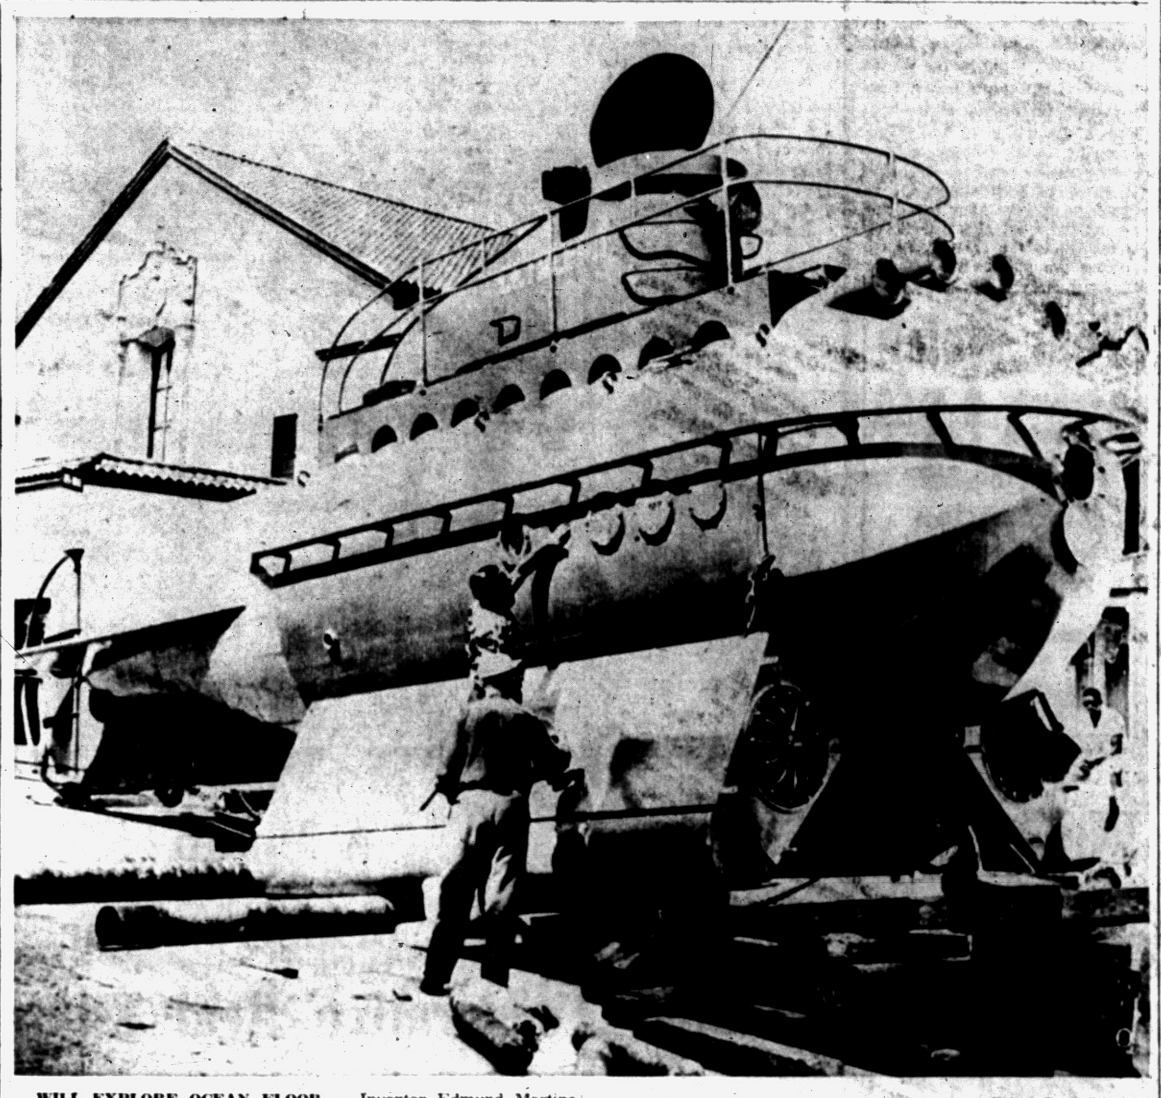

Sister N. Alfred Elsensohn, historian at St. Gertrude's convent in Cottonwood, Idaho, writes of a man named Haller who tried to navigate the canyon in 1891 but cracked up on the rocks.

"From a profane expression used in Haller's later recountal of these difficulties," she writes, "Hell's Canyon derived its name."

Many believe "Hell's Canyon" was once correct but has lost its apostrophe in popular usage. This has happened to Harpers Ferry, W.Va., and many other towns.

Chiang Puts Commies on Spot

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (INS)—Nationalist China is planning to challenge Russia and Communist China to agree to a U.N.-sponsored open plebiscite on the Chinese mainland.

* * *

The Chinese people would be asked to choose between Communist rule and that of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists. Both governments will have to abide by the majority will.

Nationalist China's veteran U.N. delegate, Ambassador Tingfu F. Tsiang, said consultations between his governemnt and those of other top U.N. members were under way to lay down this challenge to Peiping and Moscow in the U.N. assembly.

Tsiang said such a plebiscite would have to be approved by the U.N. assembly, which convenes tomorrow afternoon, and be organized on agreed pledges by the Communists and free world to attempt no interference with the U.N.-supervised poll. He added:

"My government and my people would be more than happy to abide scrupulously by the outcome of such a plebiscite on the China mainland."

PEOPLE WOULD CHOOSE

The Chinese U.N. diplomat was confident that a vast majority of the Chinese voters, free from police pressure and Communist coercion, would choose any form of government other than one dominated by Chinese or Moscow Communists.

In emphasizing his reasons for this conviction by the Formosa Chinese, the ambassador said:

"All Chinese on the mainland are aware that the Peiping Reds are creatures of Moscow and that they have in effect imported the Kremlin. This is important to keep in mind, as the Chinese people naturally resent this imposition of a foreign standard in government.

"Secondly, keep in mind that 14,000 Communist soldiers captured in Korea by the U.N. refused to go home to the China mainland. They came to us, and are happy they elected to defy their Red bosses to live in free China.

"Thirdly, we celebrated our national holiday Oct. 10. Last year we found the Nationalist flags flow nvoluntarily by the public outnumbered the Communist banners in Hong Kong and Singapore nine to one. These two cities are testing points of the Chinese mind for us.

* * *

"Starvation and the edge of starvation has ben brought on in major areas of mainland China by the terribly chaotic agricultural and transport situation. Harvests and foodstuffs rotted for failure to distribute and stock them properly. There is no incentive for farmers because what they produce is confiscated by the state.

* * *

"Stavation and miserable living standards breed revolt. Some day in some obscure village or coastal point the flag of revolt will be unfurled. Riots will break out in villages and cities. Then we will strike from free China and give substance to the mainland warriors for liberation."

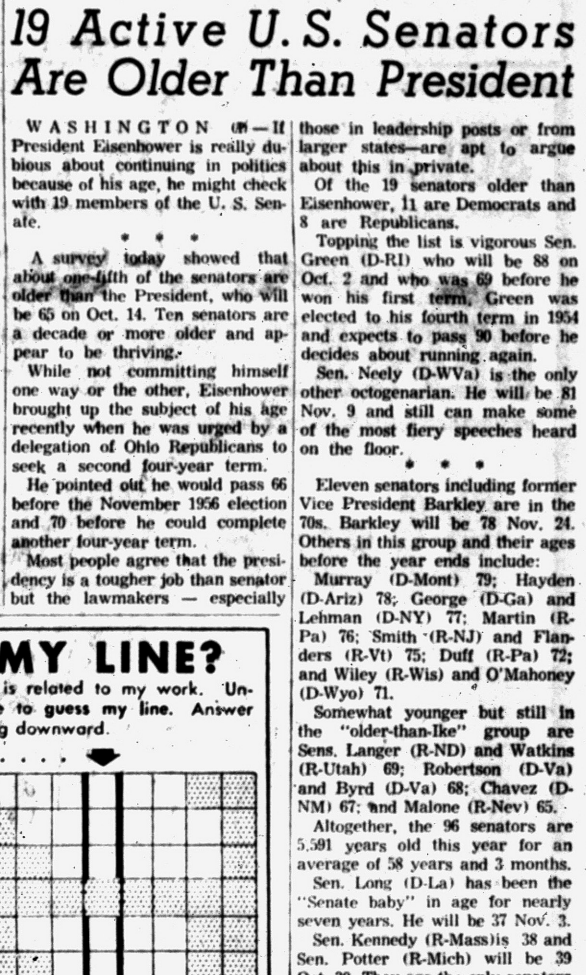

City 'Pooch Party' Is Set for Saturday

Pontiac's annual "Pooch Party" for youngsters and their dogs will be staged at 2 p.m. Saturday at Oakland Park, it was announced today by the Parks and Recreation Dept.

Entry blanks for the event are available at schools and the Parks department office at City Hall.

Prizes will be awarded in four classifications — grooming, tricks, best informed owner and best owner-pet combination.

There will be two divisions, one for youngsters 7 to 11 years old, and one for those 11 to 17, according to Leonard T. Buzz, activities supervisor for the department. The Pontiac Kennel Club will assist.

19 Active U.S. Senators Are Older Than President

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Eisenhower is really dubious about continuing in politics because of his age, he might check with 19 members of the U. S. Senate.

* * *

A survey today showed that about one-fifth of the senators are older than the President, who will be 65 on Oct. 14. Ten senators are a decade or more older and appear to be thriving.

While not committing himself one way or the other, Eisenhower brought up the subject of his age recently when he was urged by a delegation of Ohio Republicans to seek a second four-year term.

He pointed out he would pass 66 before the November 1956 election and 70 before he could complete another four-year term.

Most people agree that the presidency is a tougher job than senator but the lawmakers — especially those in leadership posts or from larger states—are apt to argue about this in private.

Of the 19 senators older than Eisenhower, 11 are Democrats and 8 are Republicans.

Topping the list is vigorous Sen. Green (D-RI) who will be 88 on Oct. 2 and who was 69 before he won his first term. Green was elected to his fourth term in 1954 and expects to pass 90 before he decides about running again.

Sen. Neely (D-WVa) is the only other octogenarian. He will be 81 Nov. 9 and still can make some of the most fiery speeches heard on the floor.

* * *

Eleven senators including former Vice President Barkley are in the 70s. Barkley will be 78 Nov. 24. Others in this group and their ages before the year ends include:

Murray (D-Mont) 79; Hayden (D-Ariz) 78; George (D-Ga) and Lehman (D-NY) 77; Martin (R-Pa) 76; Smith (R-NJ) and Flanders (R-Vt) 75; Duff (R-Pa) 72; and Wiley (R-Wis) and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) 71.

Somewhat younger but still in the "older-than-Ike" group are Sens. Langer (R-ND) and Watkins (R-Utah) 69; Robertson (D-Va) and Byrd (D-Va) 68; Chavez (D-NM) 67; and Malone (R-Nev) 65.

Altogether, the 96 senators are 5,591 years old this year for an average of 58 years and 3 months.

Sen. Long (D-La) has been the "Senate baby" in age for nearly seven years. He will be 37 Nov. 3.

Sen. Kennedy (R-Mass) is 38 and Sen. Potter (R-Mich) will be 39 Oct. 30. They are the only senators under 40, although 22 are under 50.

Vice President Nixon, who was a California senator before elected to his present post, is 23 years younger than Eisenhower. He was 42 on Jan. 9.

Daylight Time Ruckus Rolls Around Again

NEW YORK (AP)—One of old Ben Franklin's ideas is winning new popularity with a lot of folks—and causing extra grief for a lot of others.

It's daylight saving time.

Several states and some of the big cities have decided they want even more of it than before. In general, they've continued it from the last Sunday in September to the last Sunday in October.

Now there are growing howls of anguish from some quarters where the hour hand of the clock is king, notably railroads and television networks.

* * *

"It's causing us one helluva lot of trouble!" moaned one harassed TV official.

"What a headache!" wailed a railroad industry spokesman.

At first glance it wouldn't seem that such a relatively small change in the existing situation would make much difference.

Not so, though, for the television networks, railroads and possibly a few other industries.

Sources in the two major fields say the daylight saving extension, even though in a proportionately small geographic section, is creating a hodgepodge time situation with endess difficulties and confusion for them.

* * *

The trouble appears to stem from the fact that a very small dog will be wagging a gigantic tail.

In this case, the little dog is the Northeast where the added daylight has found most of its favor. The rest of the country is the tail.

Last fall, most of New England extended the daylight time period.

This year that area will be joined by New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and the entire state of Vermont, along with a number of Pennsylyania cities including Philadelphia and several cities in Illinois including Chicago. Numerous Ohio cities are following suit.

This puts about 40 million people, or about one-fourth of the nation's population, in the extra daylight area.

* * *

Normally there is a three-hour time spread between the East and West. This remains the case in daylight saving months as far as New York and California are concerned, because both set their clocks forward an hour.

This year for the first time, though, New York sticks with the fast time until Oct. 30, while California quits Sept. 24. During the period between those dates the two coasts will be four hours apart.

* * *

Thus it is plain to see what is causing TV network officials to lose their sunny disposition.

Programs timed for the largest audiences on the East Coast at night will hit the West while folks are still out in the yard relaxing from work.

And West Coast programs at the best hours there will find New Yorkers catching their 40 winks.

As for railroads, there is just enough of a checkerboard pattern on the forthcoming time situation to make things tough.

Railroads usually run on standard time, but generally their operations are geared to peak requirements in areas served. Local time is a big factor in this.

* * *

Many railroads also publish their time tables with local times, which will mean two publishing jobs this fall instead of one. Too, there is the matter of train connections between daylight and nondaylight areas.

Executives of two TV networks figure the odd situation is going to cost staggering amounts of money.

Radio networks foresee no problem because it is easy to record programs and air them at the usual time in each locality.

Airlines expect no difficulties, and little or no effect on market activities was seen except possibly on the West Coast. The brokerage house men will have to get to work an hour earlier in California.

Ben Franklin is generally credited as the first man to propose daylight saving but the idea never took hold until early in the present century when an Englishman got the ball rolling. Even so, Germany was the first to adopt it, in 1916.

Many countries now use the plan and some places keep it going the year-round: British Honduras, The Dominican Republic, El Salvador, the Gold Coast colony of Africa — and Bedford, Ohio.

DALLAS (AP)—A group of federal convicts believe they know how to prevent what they say is one cause of juvenile delinquency. They're so enthusiastic they're anteing up from their meager earnings of $10 a month or less to prove their point.

* * *

Their special project is Bruce Williams, 10, by no means a juvenile delinquent.

But what chance did he have?

His father was dead, his mother ill. He lived in a poverty-stricken part of Dallas noted for its violence and crime.

The convicts are in Seagoville Federal Correctional Institution, a "minimum security" prison near here. The idea came from the Personal Development Group, a club of about 60 prisoners.

J. W. Peterson, a Dallas businessman who works with the club, said the idea grew out of a discussion of child delinquency. Many of the men themselves had been juvenile delinquents.

The group concluded, Peterson said, that juvenile delinquency has roots in the absence of some of the little extra pleasures in a child's life.

They kicked around the idea of contributing a little money into a fund for some child who didn't have much.

Warden Luster P. Gollaher suggested they work through a recognized agency. They picked the Salvation Army.

* * *

Army Maj. Kenneth Moss recommended Bruce, then 9, a well-mannered child who attended church but needed some financial help.

* * *

So happy was Bruce with the YMCA membership the money got him, as well as new shoes and clothes, that he wanted to meet his new sponsors.

So Bruce and his mother, now recovered, spent his 10th birthday at the prison. He was showered with presents, many made by the convicts.

Hal Boyle Says:

Woman in '06 Love Tragedy Returns Home

NEW YORK (AP)—"This is a most unattractive section now," said the little grandmotherly old lady, shaking her head as she peered out the car window. "Isn't it terrible?"

The lady was Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. She was looking at the site of the old Madison Square Garden atop which in 1906 her husband, Harry K. Thaw, shot to death her former lover, Stanford White, in New York's most celebrated murder case.

She seemed depressed at the way the neighborhood has run down since, as she terms it now, "the tragedy" took place.

But after 49 years "the tragedy" has turned out to be a form of social security for Miss Nesbit. She's back in the broiled quail league again. A movie studio has paid her upward of $50,000 for a film based on her life called "The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing."

"If you think I'm going to invest that money, you're crazy," remarked Miss Nesbit spiritedly. "I never invest in anything but a good meal."

* * *

Food seemed more on her mind than sentiment as Miss Nesbit, now a Los Angeles sculptress, and I took a ride down Memory Lane in a rented limousine. At 70 this faded beauty of a faded past looks like a greying retired schoolmarm. But few schoolmarms have her bounce — and none, I suppose, quite has her memories.

Passing her old home on Park avenue, the first floor of which now is a dress shop, she said:

"No, Thaw didn't live there with me. He resided in the bastille then — in durance vile. Boy, the breakfasts I used to have in that house — broiled quail eggs, trout, fired oysters."

* * *

We drove by the former location of Sherry's restaurant, and she said:

"Oh, the wonderful terrapin they served. The t-e-r-r-a-p-i-n" — she spelled it out, as if no one in the present generation could remember it— "is a member of the turtle family, only it tastes better."

The swiftly changing Manhattan scene bewildered her. Most of the landmarks of her champagne youth were gone.

"Everything is so different," she kept saying. "It's so changed. Why have they torn down so many beautiful old buildings?"

* * *

Then she was back on food again.

"I ate so much in the old days I still wonder why I didn't get fat," she said. "Lillian Russell was bowing out of the picture as I walked in. Styles were changing. Boy, was she upholstered! Hip, hip, watermelon!

"No, I never met Diamond Jim Brady. Stanford White was too snobbish to speak to Brady. He thought he was a frightful character."

Miss Nesbit, who still insists that White, a famous architect who designed the Washington Arch, is the only man she ever really loved, described him as "the most wonderful man I ever knew.

"He had one weakness — a love of youth. He would tremble all over when he came near me. Youth —it was his weakness. But all great men have a weakness."

As to Thaw, whose acquittal on grounds of insanity she helped to win by her testimony, she said:

* * *

"The poor thing. I guess he couldn't help what he did, although now I believe it was premeditated. Why else was he carrying a pistol? He was a mighty peculiar person, and he deteriorated. It would have been better if he had never been born. Too much money spoiled him young."

Thaw inherited an estimated 40 million dollars, reckoned a fortune in those days.

The low point of the tour came for Miss Nesbit as we drove along truck-crowded west 24th street where White's studio once stood, where once at gay parties she swung to the ceiling on a red velvet swing.

"I can't even remember where it was," she murmured. "It's gone. What's the matter with people? They tear everything down. They are getting wackier and wackier."

A moment later she mused:

"Luxury really doesn't mean anything. You become surfeited with it. It owns you and you have no freedom. I wouldn't trade my life in my studio with my two cats for anything. Health is the important thing. A healthy person doesn't let anything bother him."

* * *

The journey back ended at Luchow's restaurant, still looking much as it did when she dined there with Stanford White half a century ago. Miss Nesbit ordered and drank a seidel of the same German brand beer she had once shared with him.

"Only one now," she said, "I'm on a diet."

Then, dismissing with a smile all the memories of her journey back into the past, she said:

"You know what I really want to see most in New York? A nice big broiled Maine lobster."

Communist Reply for Holt Affront Is Unsatisfactory

MOSCOW (AP) — The U. S. Embassy said today it has received an unsatisfactory reply to its protest against treatment of Rep. Joseph Holt (R-Calif) during his visit to Moscow last month.

* * *

Holt said he was held at pistol point by a Russian officer for more than an hour on Aug. 31 although accompanied by an Embassy official and had all proper credentials on a sightseeing tour of the Soviet capital's suburbs.

An Embassy spokesman declined to disclose the contents of the Soviet reply to the protest delivered Sept. 1, but said: "We consider this reply unsatisfactory."

* * *

U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen delivered the original protest personally and Secretary John Guthrie had called at the Foreign Ministry five times seeking a reply.

Germany's Prisoners of War in Russia Are New Pawns in East-West Struggle

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

German prisoners of war in Russia, many of them undoubtedly broken in body and mind, now are a pawn in the East-West political war.

In exchange for a written agreement to establish diplomatic relations, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer obtained from the Soviets an agreement—unwritten and unacknowledged in the censored Soviet press—to release the German prisoners.

Then the East German Communist puppet regime members made their journey to Moscow. If the prisoners are released the East German Reds, with Soviet aid, will claim the "credit."

Russia says it has 9,626 Germans, all "war criminals," to be released. Adenauer says he has proof that the Soviets hold at least 100,000.

In the argument over the whole question — which naturally has great emotional tugs among families and friends of the prisoners inside Germany—it is sometimes forgotten that an enormous number of "slave labor" people are held in the Soviet Union.

* * *

Estimates have been conservative in saying there are 20,000,000 slave laborers, Russian and foreign nationals, in the Soviet Union.

38 MILLION DYING

Otto Larsen, a Norwegian fisherman who died a few weeks ago in a Swedish hospital of internal injuries which he had said he suffered in nearly a decade in Soviet slave camps, estimate there are 38,000,000 slowly dying in Soviet prison camps.

Larsen wrote a book of his experiences. Advance copies of this posthumous document entitled "Nightmare of the Innocents" have been read by some British leaders prior to publication this week by the Andrew Melrose publishing house.

The London Evening News quotes former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee as saying that two things impressed him after reading "Nightmare of the Innocents:"

* * *

The intense fear that animates the Soviet regime and the extraordinary stupidity, both of which he points out are common to most despotisms.

BEYOND BELIEF

Noted barrister Sir Norman Birkett finds Larsen's revelations of "man's inhumanity to man almost beyond belief." Earl Russell, the famous philosopher better known as Bertrand Russell, declares himself "impressed by the unadorned truthfulness of the narrative."

* * *

Larsen was a Communist by conviction. He joined the Russian forces in the war when the Nazis overran Norway. He left his fishing village within the Arctic Circle to be trained in spy and Guerilla warfare, in Russia, then returned to work underground against the hated Nazis.

After the war ended he went back to Russia voluntarily. He wanted to claim a fishing boat belonging to his brother which was in Soviet hands.

This demand for payment on a miniature "lend - lease" arrangement of body and soul was disastrous. His book relates how the Soviets clapped him in jail, without trial, on a charge of anti-Soviet espionage and he began the long nightmare journey from one prison slave-camp to another.

Consolidation has reduced the number of Oakland County's school districts to less than one-tenth of the number of 25 years ago.

Fishermen's Holiday Results in Confusion

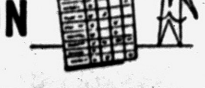

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UP) — Luther Steele took his boy Lloyd, 11, fishing and they had plenty of luck—all of it bad.

On arrival yesterday at Hales Bar, 15 miles from home, they found they'd left their fishing tackle box at home. They found their boat half full of water and then while the father was trying to bail it out the boy accidentally shot himself in the foot with a .22 rifle.

Driver Shifts to Water

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Police said these things happened to a 24-year-old driver: He drove into a bridge railing. Excited, he shifted into reverse and backed into a 10-foot ditch. More excited he jumped from the car and fell face downward into a puddle of water.

Isolation--Nehru's Answer to Goa

NOVA GOA, Portuguese India (AP)—Against Mrs. Lucila Pinto and the thousands like her in Goa, India's Prime Minister Nehru has loosed a new weapon — isolation.

* * *

It may achieve the merger of Portugal's three colonies here into the Republic of India far more rapidly than the campaign of "nonviolent" Indian demonstrators whose clashes with Portuguese frontier guards last month left more than a score dead.

For Mrs. Pinto, rocking alone on the veranda of her simple Velcao village home facing the sea, Nehru's new weapon means loss of contact with her sons and daughter in neighboring Bombay.

Formerly Mrs. Pinto — and that is not her real name — heard from her absentee family frequently. The letters contained remittances from the wage-earning relatives in Bombay.

EXCHANGED VISITS

Frequently, Mrs. Pinto and her children exchanged visits. An easy overnight steamer journey or an adventuresome 24 hour trip by train took her to see children and grandchildren — or brought them to see her.

Today the train travels only a few miles to a point near the frontier with India. No longer may Goans in Goa visit those in India.

She still receives occasional letters but they now bear the imprint "Via Karachi," for handling via the new Portuguese air service linking Goa to the outside world through neighboring Pakistan. But no more remittances. Nehru's weapon has halted all such transfers of funds.

* * *

For Mrs. Pinto this new Indian policy—a policy of complete political, financial, and personal isolation for Goa and its 600,000 people—means loneliness and even possible hardship.

For younger Goans it means even more. The Indian consulate general is closed, and they cannot get permits to seek fortune in India.

SEAL THE BORDER

Nehru told his own Congress party he was "sealing the border" of Goa to bring Portugal — which refuses to discuss merger of its colonies with India — "to its senses."

Indian strategists hope Mrs. Pinto's discontent — and that of the thousands of Goan parents like her—will bring active steps from Goa's own people for union with India.

They hope that a few months—or a few years—of economic belt-tightening will cause Portugal's three colonies, Goa, Diu, and Damao, to fall into the hands of India.

* * *

A solution of the problem of family remittances which once flowed into Goa from Goans working in India is difficult. Such payments were private family matters. Thus far the Portuguese government in Goa has not found a workable substitute for the income from India on which many families here subsisted.

Taken From Death's Door

Aged Prospectors Saved

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—A couple of perky oldsters who defied the wilderness for a week on a can of beans, a bit of jelly and a small packet of powdered milk are recovering from exhaustion and hunger in a Vancouver hospital.

* * *

Charles Allger, 85, of Tacoma, Wash., and Charles Dickens, 70, of San Diego, Calif., became lost while prospecting for uranium in the growth-tangled foothills of Mt. St.Helens. They had been given up for dead.

Three woodsmen found them. They were brought back to civilization yesterday by a stretcher party which hacked four miles through the forest growth and waded waist deep in icy water.

Attendants said the two men were in "pretty good" condition. When the stretcher party reached them, Allger refused at first to ride. He tried a few staggering steps, however, and gave in.

"We couldn't have made it through another night," Dickens said.

He and Allger were grimy, bearded and brush-whipped when found Saturday night by R. S. Berry of Vancouver and Al Robbins and his son Morton of Woodland.

"When I saw their red hats I knew my prayers had been answered," Dickens said.

* * *

Allger was sitting motionless on a rock. Dickens, who had injured his leg, was lying under a fir tree. Al Robbins thought they were dead. "Then," he said, "I saw one of Allger's fingers move."

Berry hurried out to seek aid. The Robbinses stayed with the two exhausted men, giving them what food they carried and tending fires to keep them warm through the night.

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — Remember the Avery 40? If you grew up in the midwest wheat belt you may know this was one of the old steam-operated threshing machines, now displaced by combines.

More than 4,000 Americans who remember the steam-power harvesters hae joined the National Threshers Assn., organized 10 years ago by a handful of old steam operators in nearby Alverton.

They had 30 of the old machines at their latest annual meeting. Focal point of the meeting was firing up one of the venerable machines for a short demonstration of old-time steam threshing—the way it was done 50 years ago.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drugstores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Sponge Cake Recipe Is Foolproof

Mrs. Gordon Says Men Very Fond of Light Dessert

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In these days of calorie watching any dessert that has a minimum number of calories is welcome. Mrs. Lloyd Gordon gives us her family recipe for Sponge Cake; she says it is foolproof. A two-inch wedge contains 110 calories.

Individuals on a fatfree diet will also appreciate this recipe. It makes a very large cake which is "light as a feather."

A comparative newcomer to the Pontiac area, Mrs. Gordon is enjoying suburban living. Her two leisure-time interests are Bridge and copper work.

NEVER-FAIL SPONGE CAKE
By Mrs. Lloyd Gordon

8 eggs, separated
¾ cup cold water
1¼ cups granulated sugar
1⅛ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon flavoring
1 teaspoon cream of tartar

Beat egg yolks with cold water for 5 minutes. Add sugar and beat 4 more minutes. Sift flour and salt together and add to egg mixture. Add flavoring.

Beat egg whites frothy, add cream of tartar, beat until stiff. Fold carefully into the first mixture. Bake in an unngreased large tube pan 60 minutes at 325 degrees. Turn upside down and let stand until cold.

One tablespoon of cornstarch may be substituted for a like amount of flour. Makes 1 large cake.

Yarn can be kept moth free by winding it around a moth ball.

Taken for Granted? You Shouldn't Worry!

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

You get in a nervous twit when he starts coming over without calling you first. When he blithely announces, "I'll see you Saturday night," without going through the motions of asking you for the date.

When he rigs up double dates without consulting you beforehand. When his conversation includes comments that you consider too critical for comfort. He's taking you for granted. And you don't think you like it.

* * *

It works the other way, too. You're powerfully hurt if he doesn't show up every Saturday night. You're very put out if there's a dance that he doesn't take you to.

And you're miffed if he refuses to go with you to a show you want to take in. You're absolutely sunk if the party you plan falls on the same night that he has to meet his father at the airport.

And your conversation takes a nagging tone about the sport shirt you loathe, the way he notices every other girl around, and all his interests and activities that deprive you of his time.

You're taking him for granted. You're a bit scared when you realize it. Afraid he won't like it.

IT'S A COMPLIMENT

But two people who establish a pattern of spending their time together do take each other for granted in big and little ways. It's a compliment. A definite mark of confidence.

* * *

In a close relationship each one gets to expecting certain things of the other. Their experiences together have proven the design of the pattern.

After a series of Saturday night dates he counts on her to be ready and waiting next Saturday whether he says anything about it or not.

If he's gone with her before to all the parties she's been invited to, she naturally counts on him to keep cooperating. It's a way of trusting each other.

So why are these girls disturbed? They write:

"Dear Miss Woodward: The boys in our town take us for granted! We're all right when there's nothing else to do. They come to our houses to dance and we have lots of fun. But when it comes to asking girls out, they always ask girls from other towns!"

Answer: The boys know that they'll have fun when they come over to your houses. They know they're welcome; they count on you for the big part of their social life.

When they want to see girls from out of town they have to make dates to take them out. They don't know them well enough to barge over to their houses as they do your. Which is a mark of confidence in you.

And they enjoy the fun you provide. They prefer it to taking you out. They can take out-of-town girls to the movies. It's only with you girls that they feel completely at ease and comfortable—really old friends.

And isn't that a compliment?

Big Success Follows Small Ones

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Success is a habit like anything else, but this is a fact we too seldom consider.

* * *

We sit and dream of some day becoming a big success—writing a national best seller or coming up with a tremendous and world-shattering invention.

But we forget that, before these big successes are possible, we have to pile up a lot of little successes.

I thought of this the other day when I read a letter from Mrs. J. J.

* * *

She is a young mother with three children in grade school. You can tell she was feeling very low when she wrote the letter:

"Here's another September," she writes, "there's so much I wanted to do this year: The work for the woman's club, the dress designing I keep meaning to get to, the new recipes I intend to dream up and the beautiful party decorations and table settings.

ANOTHER FIASCO?

"But I'm as sure as I sit here that my plans will be another fiasco. I'll bite off more than I can chew and never accomplish a thing. Every fall I make these resolutions and every summer finds me exhausted from just doing the housework, period.

"Have you any suggestions? How can I train myself not to go off on tangents? How can I make myself really accomplish some of these things?"

She has already, it seems to me, taken the first step and a big one. She has come to terms with herself and realized that a firmer will is essential.

Next, she must eliminate all the things that are really not of prime interest to her. If she really likes dress designing, for example, she must concentrate on it and forget about the fancy recipes and the fancy table settings.

Nobody can do everything equally well. Attempting to do them all will end in failure all around.

ONE FIELD ONLY

By concentrating on one field, she can develop it. She can supply it to the organization for which she does volunteer work; she can collect articles about it; and spend her free time developing it.

* * *

This way, she builds up a lot of little successes which are along the same line and which will therefore add up.

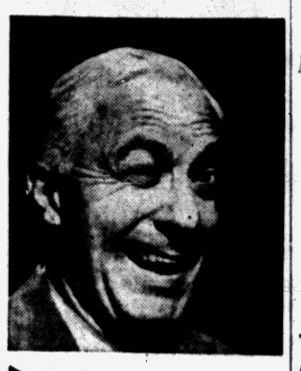

* * *

If you are in this predicament, and do not honestly know which is your main interest, my Housewives Career Guide might be of help to you.

It is a questionnaire designed to help the housewife cease her jack-of-all-trades approach and find her own talent specialty.

Send me six cents in postage, and your name and address, Care the Pontiac Press, and I will send you one.

"Smart gal, my Susie!"

▶ A lot of wives complain about housework, but not my Susie. She uses her head instead of her muscles. For example, some women spend a whole day just scrubbing and waxing wood floors. My Susie cleans and waxes them in one easy operation with Bruce Cleaning Wax. It takes only half the time and a lot less work. Yet our beautiful wood floors are the envy of her friends. My hat's off to Susie and her Bruce Cleaning Wax for making a tough job so easy. And I can't help but feel proud of both of them.

Sex Equality Blamed for Divorce Upturn

LONDON (UP)—A leading marriage counselor today blamed the growing equality of sexes for Britain's booming divorce rate, now about four times the 1939 level.

"It has really shaken the stability of marriage and family life," said Joseph Brayshaw, general secretary of the British Marriage Guidance Council in the magazine Family Doctor.

"Women now do almost every job that men do.

"The plain truth is that the modern marriage partnership is much richer. It involves much greater tolerance. And in aiming higher in marriage today, we are suffering more casualties."

Signed Constitution

Do You Have a Picture of Thomas Fitzsimons?

WASHINGTON (INS)—Can anyone say what Thomas Fitzsimons looked like?

A nationwide search launched for a picture of the only one of the 39 signers of the U.S. Constitution whose likeness has not been preserved for posterity.

Fitzsimons, a prominent Philadelphian, played an active role in the founding of the young republic.

In fact, historians know all about who he was and what he did, but they have little idea of what he looked like. If there ever was a portrait of him, it either has been lost or is still unidentified.

About all that is known of Fitzsimons' appearance is a description of him by one historian as "a man of commanding figure, agreeable manners, though somewhat stately and reserved."

DAR PROJECT

The search for the portrait is a part of the activities for Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23, sponsored by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

* * *

In its headquarters at Washington, the DAR has placed on exhibit a new $10,000 collection of letters by the 39 signers of the Constitution, with available pictures and some personal effects.

Included are Benjamin Franklin's rectangular spectacles, a segment of the coach used by George Washington at Germantown during the Revolutionary War, and household items from Mount Vernon.

Fitzsimons, an Irish-born immigrant, was a friend of Washington, Franklin, Robert Morris, George Clymer and other Revolutionary figures.

WAS ARMY OFFICER

He was an officer in Washington's army the night of the crossing — and the fabled toss of a silver dollar—over the ice-caked Delaware River.

* * *

As a member of the shipping concern of George Meade and Co., Fitzsimons was named to the Navy board in 1777 and was designated a representative to the assembly in 1786. In December of that year he became a delegate to the constitutional convention.

He helped to finance the Revolution and later contributed his talents to setting up the fiscal affairs of the new nation.

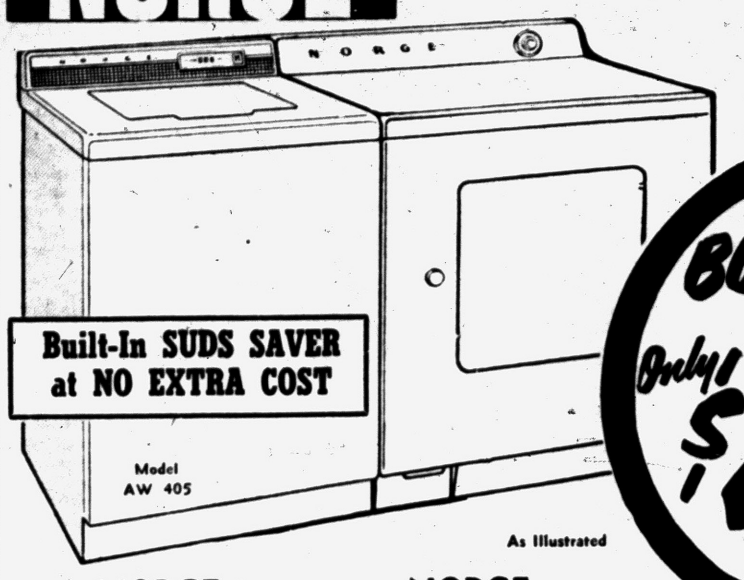

A devout Roman Catholic, he took Washington to a solemn mass at St. Mary's in Philadelphia, in 1778. As a member of the committee of correspondence in 1774, he was the first Roman Catholic to attain municipal office in the city.

Fitzsimons also was active in civic life as a founder and president of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, member of the Board of the Pennsylvania Hospital, subscriber to the old Catholic Chapel in Willings Alley, an incorporator of St. Mary's and a founder of St. Augustine's.

Michigan GOP Will Woo Labor

Leaders Agree Worker Vote Is Essential to Win Gubernatorial Chair

MACKINAC ISLAND (INS)—Republicans met over the weekend at Mackinac Island and concluded that their party must attract support from organized labor if they have any hopes of winning the state election.

During the conference, GOP leaders admitted the Republican party is the minority party.

The campaign managers set out to reverse this by organizing special labor committees in each of Michigan's 18 congressional districts.

These committees will carry a message to the men in the factories and shops that nearly all of labor's advances were made under legislation sponsored by Republicans.

LABOR—LECTURE

The highlight of the two-day confeernce was a lecture on labor by George Dean, president of the Michigan Federation of Labor.

He told the party leaders that they continually give workers the impression that the GOP is unfriendly to labor, while their legislators at the same time are helping the unions.

Speaking to a record crowd of 786 Republican workers, Dean emphasized that Republicans enacted the first workmen's compensation laws, and that the party sponsored many advances in disability and unemployment insurance.

In the final session of the conference, Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said the nation is better prepared for defense today than at any time in history.

He said defense expenditures have been reduced because "Secretary of Defense Wilson hates waste."

The conferees adopted resolutions urging a speed limit on two and three-lane highways; at least 200 additional state troopers to patrol the roads; compulsory driver education in public schools; more severe penalties for driving after a license has been revoked and legalized drunkometer tests.

Screen on Dash Allows Truckers to See in Fog

CLEVELAND—Soon a new device called the Fog-o-Scope will help truck drivers find their way safely through dense fog. It consists of an electronic tube in a square box. It will let a driver see, glowing from a dashboard screen, the shapes of obstacles that loom ahead.

Because it is sensitive to the invisible infrared rays which warm objects emit, the device picks up radiation from a person or a moving car, whether illuminated or not, as much as a half mile away, and show it on the screen.

The invention also detects cold objects, such as road signs or stalled vehicles, by means of the infrared rays they reflect from the truck's headlights.

Gambling Fine Is Fine but Other Wasn't Kind

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The seven men arrested when the cops broke up their game in the rear of a barbershop weren't surprised when they were charged with playing cards in public.

The blinds at the shop were drawn, however, and a second charge stopped them cold. It was an ancient provision of the city code against "obstructing the view into a barbershop on Sunday."

Happy Highway-Hopping Frogs Leave Hidey-Holes

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Hundreds of happy frogs hopped along the highway after they were washed out of their hidey-holes by a heavy rain.

Motorists driving on the highway noticed the hopping frogs and at first thought it was raining frogs. But Dr. T. E. Musselman, a naturalist, said they were field frogs just jumping for the sheer joy of jumping in welcoming moisture after a long dry spell.

Japs Maintain Fish Remember U.S. Nets

TOKYO (AP) — The fishermen in Tokyo bay think the fish have memories and they're put out at United States lowered anti-submarine nets at the entrance of Tokyo Bay during the Korean war. The fishermen said the nets kept fish from entering the bay.

Recently the nets were removed and eager Japanese fishermen cast their lines. No bites. Now the fishermen are demand compensation from the Japan Procurement Agency, the go-between for U. S. armed forces and the Japanese government.

They claim the fish are staying away because they remember the net was there.

NEW YORK—Purchases of life-insurance coverage on children under age 15 reached a record $5,000,000,000 in 1954 and amounted to 16 per cent of all purchase of ordinary and industrial life insurance during the year.

Short-Changes Judge, Gets Suspended Term

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A man arrested on a charge of drunkeness told Police Judge James McWorter he had only $1.50 in his pocket and the bus fare to his home town was exactly $1.15.

* * *

Judge McWorter gave the man a suspended 20-day jail sentence on the provision that he use the $1.15 for the next bus back. A newspaper reporter later checked the fare: it's $1.38.

Hollywood Headlines

How Can Marilyn Resist Signing for 'Bus Stop'?

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I am more sure than ever that Marilyn Monroe has already signed to return to 20th for "Bus Stop," and I'll tell you why.

I happen to know that Josh Logan, eminent figure of both stage and screen, has been signed to direct "Bus Stop," and that's the one play Marilyn wants to do. Josh reports to 20th and producer Buddy Adler in a very few days, and the picture goes in December, so Marilyn can't hold out much longer.

What with a director of the eminence of Logan, and writer George Axelrod scripting, and Montgomery Clift being paged—well, I doubt that Marilyn can resist that combination.

Brave, indeed, are Esther Williams and Ben Gage to pull up stakes in Hollywood and go traveling with their three children. Ben told me they've sold everything they own here and expect to leave in December for New York.

From New York they go to Europe where Esther will put on her own Aquacade, and together they'll produce a picture called "Power of Attorney." Ben bought it from Liam O'Brien.

"We're calling our new company the Esther Williams Enterprises," said Ben, "and we'll scout New York, Hollywood and Europe for the male lead in our picture. Also, we'll sign swimmers in Europe for Esther's Aquacade."

Husbands and wives of a mind to argue might listen to this and profit thereby. Saturday was Betty and Bud Abbotts 37th wedding anniversary and, of course, they celebrated. A team of that long standing should have a celebration.

Their cake was in the form of a tape recorder, and when the guests asked what it meant the Abbotts explained,

Betty said that whenever they get into an argument she or Bud turn on the tape recorder and then play it back, and it sounds so silly they start laughing—and that's the end of the argument.

SNAPS: Sometime ago, Tab Hunter wrote a magazine article in which he said that Linda Darnell was his favorite star. Well, a few nights ago he, Ann Miller and Linda had dinner at Sportsman's Lodge.

Here's some news for Alec Guinness. When he starts work on "The Swan," he'll be told he has to learn to play a bass fiddle.

Kay Marx, Groucho's ex, who underwent surgery on her knee, goes back into St. John's for a second operation.

Loretta Young greeted her friends and business associates at Helen Ferguson's home at tea and cocktails—her first social event since her three months' illness. She looks better for her rest, and very pretty.

Professor Frank Baxter, of TV fame, had an interview with Mortimer Snerd and says: "He's the best adjusted person I've ever met. He has no frustrations, nor is he likely to have any!"

Jackie Cooper's bride, Barbara, surprised him with a birthday party on his 33rd. Ye gods and little fishes, does time march on! Eva Marie Saint dropped in to wish Jackie a happy, happy.

That's all today.

Sen. Kerr Cites Farm Recession

Dem Solon Says GOP Can't Run Successfully on Prosperity Platform

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) says he doesn't believe the Republicans can run successfully in 1956 on a "prosperity" platform so long as the nation's farmers are operating in what he calls a recession.

"Even Secretary of Agriculture Benson now recognizes there is a farm recession," Kerr said in an interview before leaving today for Oklahoma.

* * *

Benson has said he is not satisfied with farm prices and that specific recommendations for supplementing the present farm program will be submitted to Congress.

But he added yesterday: "I think we are going to see some improvement in farm prices as we get a better balance between production and consumption in this country."

* * *

He said in an NBC television interview that public opinion polls indicate "most farmers feel their income this year will be as good if not a little better than last year."

* * *

Vice President Nixon said in a speech at the National Plowing Contest in Wabash, Ind., Saturday that "there is no farm depression in the United States."

* * *

"Our agriculture economy is basically sound," he added, "but farmers are undeniably caught in a squeeze. The prices of the things they sell have gone down faster than the prices of the things they buy."

Spring Byington Offers Mother-in-Law Advice

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Spring Byington interviewed me about mothers-in-law.

I was supposed to ask her how she plays a mother-in-law on TV in "December Bride"—but she outfoxed me and asked me how my mother-in-law manages to be so popular.

"She's big-hearted," I said. "She's never taken a drink, which is strange considering that she comes from East St. Louis.

SPRING BYINGTON

"But once when she won a bottle of Scotch at a bingo, she trotted home with it so I could have a blast as a nightcap."

Miss Byington was amazed . . . for so many mothers-in-law would have belted the booze down themselves.

"And at bingo!" she exclaimed. "I wonder if I should gamble just harmlessly-like on TV?"

I asked her about her own secrets of mother-in-law success. She has two married daughters in California.

"Well, I never drop in unexpectedly. I always call first and ask.

★ ★ ★ ★

"Then I try to keep my lip buttoned. I shut up and let them talk over their problems. If I feel I must speak, I write a letter, even if we're only two or three blocks away."

"I guess there are some husbands who could choke me for being so light about it all," Miss Byington continued.

"For as I fly over the country, I look down on Pittsburgh, Erie, Wichita, Kansas City, and the rest, and I realize that 9/10 of those homes do have a mother-in-law problem!"

Miss Byington, here from Hollywood, mentioned that some years ago, she took a big side of beef to a daughter and son-in-law. They pretended to be happy. But she realized later that they'd been on a budget, were living within it, and that she had "ruined their achievement."

"One of my daughters lives in Los Angeles and one in Santa Barbara," Miss Byington added. "The one in Santa Barbara's safer!"

Stevenson's Bid Splits Dixiecrats

Surveys See Southern Dems Disagreeing on Opposing Candidate

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's expected bid for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination seems likely to arouse some strong convention opposition from the South.

A summary of views of Southern governors, compiled by The Associated Press from questions directed to them and from their recent public statements, indicates no unanimity of opinion on a candidate to oppose him for the nomination.

Suggestions on this score by Dixie governors willing to express a public view ranged widely. Among those named were Governors Allan Shivers of Texas, Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado and Frank Lausche of Ohio, former Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, former President Truman and Senators Russell (D-Ga) and Byrd (D-Va).

The Southern governors generally agreed that if he runs, President Eisenhower is likely to have more Southern opposition than in 1952 when he carried Virginia, Florida, Tennessee and Texas. With one exception, Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina, they said there was little likelihood of a third party movement such as that of 1948.

* * *

Asked whether Stevenson or Gov. Averell Harriman of New York would make the stronger Democratic candidate in his state, Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama said he regards Stevenson as stronger with the voters.

Match From Air Rifle Ignites Girl's Dress

An eight-year-old Pontiac girl was in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital after a freak accident this week that ignited the child's clothing and caused second degree burns.

Loretta Krafton, daughter of Mrs. Morene Krafton of 195 Whittemore St., was struck by a flaming match fired from an air rifle. The match immediately caught the girl's dress on fire according to police.

Pontiac Police confiscated three air rifles belonging to a neighbor.

Sheriff James Sacra said the bodies were nearly 6,000 feet from the mine entrance.

The two disappeared Thursday afternoon. Two companions waiting at the shaft entrance went for help.

Bob Considine Says:

'Foreign Press Report' Is Network Natural

NEW YORK (INS)—Friend of mine named Harry Sperber, a multi-lingual old sportswriter who wound up helping to conduct the Nuremburg war criminal trials, now has a Saturday evening TV show in New York devoted to the trying task of making his listeners understand foreigners through the foreigners' press.

It came about this way:

In Philadelphia a white-haired businessman once asked him, "Do they have snow in Europe?" In Lowell, Mass., a lady wanted to know whether they had bathtubs in France. A New York City police captain asked him if the Berlin police had radio cars. At the height of the recent travel season, a lady asked a friend of Sperber's in the Holland travel information office if she should take along a small ice box full of food, "so I won't go hundry over there."

Sperber shows and reads newspapers from France, Japan, England, Indonesia, Germany, Burma, Yugoslavia, Argentina, Russia, Pakistan, Poland, Israel, Ireland, Italy, Greece and Lord knows where else in the realm of journalism. It all comes through the eyes of foreign editors, though some of it sounds familiar: Paris, recently had a murder; Finland a flying saucer hoax.

While the Russian delegation was smiling doggedly at Geneva, the Russian papers continued to sink editorial knives in our ribs, Sperber was able to report. He found surprising vigor in the West German press during the same summit meeting:

"What makes the Big Four think they can play God and toss the fate of other nations back and forth between themselves?" asked one paper editorially.

Sperber has mined other facets of foreign thought as expressed in papers intended only for consumption overseas:

"Ogonyck," Russia's big picture magazine, runs full page ads that sound ominously capitalistic. One, paid for by a bank, reads, "Save your money and buy all this." The ad features pictures of a piano, refrigerator, camera, TV set and furniture. Another ad plugged a new-type vacuum cleaner; a third "Sovietski Champagnski."

"Burmean," a paper printed in Rangoon, recently carried an ad for a Japan-made sewing machine with the word "German" imprinted upon it and a picture of a former German politician adorning the layout. Picture of Adolph Hitler. Sperber reasons that the advertiser figured he'd impress potential Burmese buyers with the word "German," which to them means thoroughness, and with a picture of a "strong man" many do not know is dead.

MICKEY MOUSE

Tito's favorite newspaper, "Politika," carries one comic strip: Mickey Mouse. The Istanbul Express, as Terry Moore will attest, daily runs cheesecake pictures that would give Minsky the shudders. The world' dullest papers, Sperber points out to his audience, are "Pravda" and its counterparts through the Soviet satellites. Their front pages are crammed with endlessly repeated plugs for superperformances by super-workers. "At super-low wages," he adds.

Radio magazines in France, Belgium, Holland and Spain never mention Gleason, Berle, Godfrey, Hope or other top-rate U. S. stars. Liberace and Mario Lanza are our tops there, followed by Louis Armstrong and Stan Kenton. John Foster Dulles is the No. 1 target of the Big Three Commy satirical magazines, "Krokodil," of Mowcow, "Szpilki" of Warsaw and "Ludas Matyi" of Budapest. In the Belgian paper "La Senette," Jimmy Stewart's old film, "The Monte Stratton Story," was called "Un Homme Change Son Destin." (A Man Changes His Destiny.)

Gossip columns are almost unknown abroad. Friend and foe alike in foreign journalism take swipes at our "lack of culture," "materialism" and "Keep smiling" philosophy—and then the reader is invited to turn to the amusement section, crammed with advertisements for American-made movies.

It's a pity Sperber's "Foreign Press Report" isn't a network show. It's one of the best current history lessons on the air.

Silvery 'Thing' Floats Over Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — One of those "things" was seen high in the air over Grand Haven Saturday — this time for five hours.

The tiny silvery object hung in the sky while hundreds gawked at it.

But when Memorial Airpark Manager William Layne took a plane up to have a closer look, he said he went up 10,000 feet and the "thing" looked as small there as it did on the ground.

The only theory given for the object was that it might be one of the huge Air Force plastic balloons released from Denver to record weather data.

Grade Schoolers Learn Foreign Languages Now

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—Now they're teaching grade school children foreign languages.

As an experiment, 32 boys and girls of the 3rd, 4th and 5th grades were enrolled in a six-week course in Spanish and French at the Pennsylvania State University.

The project not only gave the children an introduction to a foreign language, but provided faculty members with first hand information on developing effective teaching methods.

Teaching aids, such as doll houses, toy animals, or puppets are used effectively in teaching languages to children.

Dr. Franklin B. Krauss, head of the department of Romance Languages, points out that children can become acquainted with a foreign language in the same way they first learn their native tongue before they know anything about nouns and verbs and dangling participles.

Grows Bunched Apples

PULASKI, Va. (AP)—J. K. Wright says one of his apple trees is producing fruit in bunches—like grapes. About 25 small apples are in each bunch. They are breaking the limbs and he'd like to know how to stop it.

Army Noncoms De-cussed

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo., (AP)—Maj. Gen. Frank O. Bowman, commanding officer at Ft. Wood, has warned officers and noncoms not to use profanity around the 17-18½-year-old youths who start reporting here Oct. 4 as part of a "Treat them like your own sosn," he told them.

Tribe Falters, Yankees Swarming In for Kill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yankees have the Cleveland Indians on the floor and, like the Bronx Bombers of old, they are moving in for the kill.

For years the Yankees have had a reputation for taking a mile once they were given an inch. And that's the way Casey Stengel's 1955 edition has been performing the past week.

Just a week ago, the Yanks' chances for their sixth pennant in seven years under the guidance of Stengel looked slim. They trailed the Indians by 1½ games and apparently had the worst of the schedule.

* * *

Today they are roaring along two games in front—three on the all-important losing side—and the schedule favors them, with the Tribe in the most disastrous tailspin of the year. The Yanks have seven to play to only five for Cleveland. Both teams finish on the road.

* * *

The Yankees moved two games out in front yesterday as they thumped the Red Sox 3-2 for their fifth straight victory, including three over Boston. The Indians continued their slide downward as they bowed to the Detroit Tigers 10-3, for the third time. The setback was the Indians fourth straight.

Now the Yankees need only a combination of five victories or Cleveland defeats to meet the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League in the world Series scheduled to start Sept. 28.

The Chicago White Sox all but slid out of the picture, losing 8-1 to sixth-place Kansas City. Any combination of two Yankee victories or Chicago defeats would put out the Sox.

* * *

With New York at Washington tonight for the first of three games against the Senators before moving on to Boston for the final four, and Cleveland and Chicago idle, here's how the pennant race looks:

	W	L	Pct.	GB
New York	91	56	.619
Cleveland	90	59	.604	2
Chicago	87	62	.584	5

The Indians move into Chicago Tuesday for a two-game set and wind up with three more against the pesky Tigers in Detroit.

Bob Grim was the big man in the Yanks' triumph over the Red Sox as Stengel continued to get top-flight pitching. Grim, a 20-game winner as a freshman last year but plagued with a sore arm most of this season, replaced Fireball Bob Turley in the third with the score tied 2-2, two runners on base and nobody out. He promptly shut the door in the faces of the Red Sox, pitching hitless ball the remainder of the way. Only two got on base, Billy Klaus via Billy Martin's error and Ted Williams, who walked.

* * *

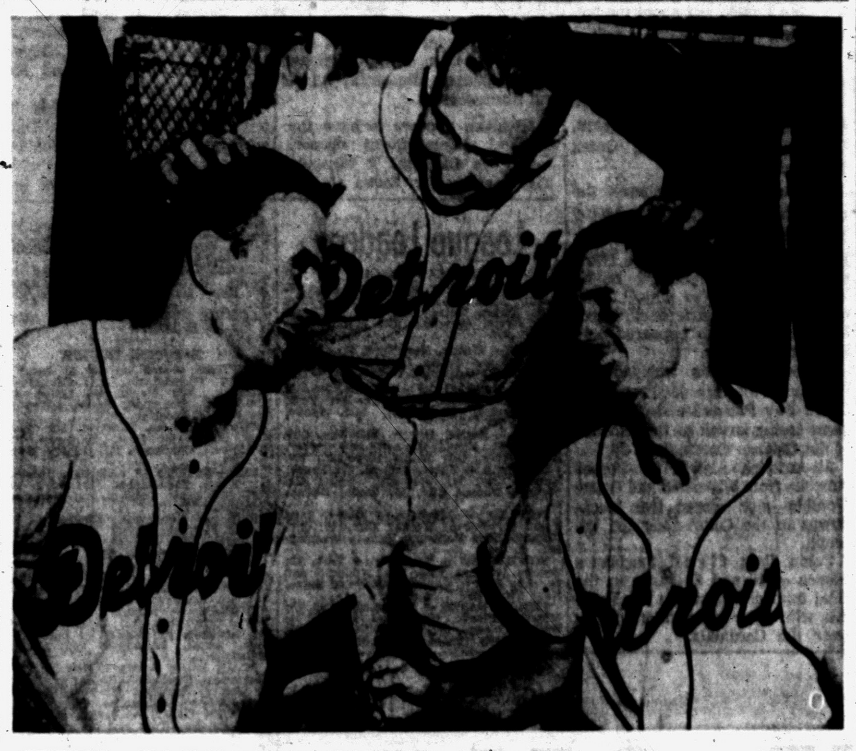

The Yanks gave Turley a two-run lead off Willard Nixon in the first but Jackie Jensen tied it up with a two-run homer in the third before Grim came in. The winning run, scored off Nixon, came in the fifth. Two singles and a walk loaded the bases. As Ted Lepcio tossed out Gil McDougald, Gerry Coleman raced home with what proved to be the deciding run.

Gus Zernial's bases-loaded home run off Chicago's Dick Donovan spiked the White Sox early in the game and they never were able to do anything with the offerings of Art Ditmar.

In the only other American League game, the Baltimore Orioles pulled out of the cellar into a seventh-place tie with the Senators as they beat Washington 9-0 behind Jim Wilson.

* * *

The Milwaukee Braves clinched second place in the National League with an 11-inning 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. The New York Giants dropped a 7-5 decision to the Dodgers while the Philadelphia Phillies split with the Pittsburgh Pirates, losing the first 5-2 and winning the nightcap 2-1.

Tough Blow for Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—The American League pennant hopes of the Cleveland Indians all but flew out of the giant Municipal Ctadium Sunday afternoon when Detroit's Tigers hung a 10-3 licking on Al Lopez' warriors to complete a sweep of the three game series.

Cleveland's loss, combined with the Yankees 3-2 decision over the Boston Red Sox, left the Tribe two full games behind the front-running New Yorkers as the frantic flag chase enters its final week.

Cleveland is still officially in the running, but the Bengas dealt a crippling blow over the weekend. The Indians have five remaining games, two with Chicago and three more at Detroit, and must figure on winning all of them while hoping for the Bronx Bombers to drop at least two of their remaining seven contests.

Yesterday's setback at the hand of the Tigers was the worst of the series. The Tigers rapped starter and loser Mike Garcia and his three successors for 11 hits, including a home run by Al Kaline.

Ironically enough, Indians were tamed yesterday by a Tiger rookie pitcher, 20-year-old Bob Miller. Miller was beaten by the Yanks last week and there was a bit of a stir then that Harris would use an untested youngster in a key game.

Harris, however, made good on his promise to start Miller against the Indians too.

The young lefthander held the Indians to six hits before retiring after seven innings. Indians failed to knock him out of the box, however. The 90-degree heat just tired him out. Only time the Indians could score against him was in the 7th when pinch hitter Hank Folles homered, following a walk to Larry Doby.

Tigers' blazing bats pounded Garcia and Ray Narleski during a six-run 6th inning as every one in the Detroit starting lineup except Ray Boone hit safely.

Al Kaline increased his league-leading average to .340 with his homer in the 1st that gave the Tigers a 1-0 lead and two singles.

Tigers picked up two more runs in the 7th against Art Houtteman. They got their final run off rookie Hank Aguirre in the 9th.

Despite Full Injury List, Lions Set for Grid Opener

DETROIT (AP)—Despite a long injury list and 30 minutes of sluggish football in yesterday's exhibition game, coach Buddy Parker says his Detroit Lions will be "ready" for the start of the regular professional season in Green Bay next Sunday.

"I was satisfied with our showing," said Parker after his Lions rallied in the muggy heat of Briggs Stadium to beat the improved New York Giants, 27-17, before 34,487.

The Lions gave an erratic performance in running their exhibition record to 4-2 and six players were injured in the process. They were Dorn Dibble, Jim Salsbury, Bob Hoernschemeyer, Harley Sewell, Dick Stanfel and Jim Ricca.

These half dozen players joined Doak Walker and Dave Middleton on the injury list. Walker and Middleton were injured earlier but Walker was well enough to kick three extra points against the Giants.

It was 89 degrees at kickoff time, but the Lions were ice cold. They failed to get inside New York's 15 and trailed, 10-3, at intermission.

Detroit's only scoring gesture was Jim Martin's 22-yard field goal.

However, the Lions were a new, revitalized club at the start of the 2nd half. They took the kickoff and, in 10 crisp plays, drove 80 yards for a tying touchdown. Lew Carpenter dived the final yard over left guard.

Parker termed this drive "our best of the season."

Exactly six minutes later, the Lions scored again. This one was set up by a recovered fumble on New York's 41. Bill Stits, in his new role as offensive halfback, raced six years over left tackle for the tally, making it 17-10.

Stits, a defensive halfback in his rookie season last fall, added his 2nd touchdown with only nine seconds left in the game, driving across from the one on 4th down.

Leading College Teams Readied for Showdown

UCLA, Maryland Set for Saturday Collision After Weekend Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA and Maryland clash in College Park, Md., Saturday in the college football campaign's first battle of the top teams.

Each has one game under its belt.

UCLA, rated the No. 1 team in the Associated Press preseason poll, defeated Texas A&M 21-0 last week, thanks mostly to the efforts of Ronnie (Fort) Knox, who tossed three touchdown passes.

* * *

Maryland, ranked fifth, had a rough time eking out a 13-12 victory over Missouri in its opener Saturday. The Terps were unimpressive fighting off the Tigers after notching both their touchdowns in the first half.

Pitt, apparently moving into the national spotlight again under new Coach Johnny Michelosen, polished off California 27-7 although it was a struggle for three periods. Pitt plays Syracuse Saturday in the TV Game of the Week.

* * *

Oklahoma, perennial champion of the Big Seven, will make its first start against North Carolina.

If any other Big Seven schools were thinking of challenging the Sooners, they've probably dropped any such ideas. Five of them played nonconference foes and lost.

Nebraska was upset 6-0 by the University of Hawaii.

In addition to Missouri and Nebraska, Kansas was licked by Texas Christian 47-14; Wyoming shattered Kansas State 38-20, and Denver overcame Iowa State 19-7.

Michigan, potential ruler of the Big Ten, begins operations Saturday against Missouri, while Ohio State, which figures to provide the Wolverines' main opposition, takes on Nebraska.

* * *

Notre Dame plays Southern Methodist, while Army and Navy, both ranked in the top 10, play Furman and William and Mary. Miami, which suffered a 14-6 defeat by Georgia Tech in the NCAA TV Game of the Week, has an open date. Georgia Tech goes against Florida.

Grimm Denies He'll Be in Front Office

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Manager Charlie Grimm of the Milwaukee Braves says he knows nothing about persistent reports he'll be in the Chicago Cubs' front office next year.

* * *

"As far as I know there's nothing to it," Grimm said in the clubhouse after the Braves edged St. Louis 2-1 in 11 innings yesterday to clinch second place in the National League.

"They're only rumors," he added. "Sure I've seen them, but I wouldn't even take the trouble to deny them. I haven't been approached by anyone in the Chicago organization and my contract here still has a year to run.

Head Knocking Over at State, Duffy Declares

EAST LANSING (AP)—"That will be all the head knocking the varsity will get until the Indiana game next Saturday," Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty said Saturday after his charges had run through a game-length scrimmage.

Daugherty said there would be no more heavy contact work because "I just can't take a chance on any injury."

But the coach indicated he was pretty well satisfied with the results of the scrimmage in which the varsity slammed the reserves around 48-7. However, he admitted there was a big drop between his 1st and 2nd strings.

Bengals Happy Over Victories

But Detroit Players, Back Home, Are Not Gloating Over Wins

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers were a smiling crew when they arrived in Detroit late las night—but they weren't gloating over their stunning three-game sweep of the Cleveland Indians.

"We just played good ball all the way," said coach Jack Tighe. "It was as though we were the ones trying to win the pannant."

Bob Miller, the young southpaw who was credited with yesterday's third game victory, said he merely became tired when he was lifted after seven innings.

"I just ran out of gas," Miller said smilingly.

There was no crowd to greet the players. But all wore looks of satisfaction as they stepped off the train from Cleveland.

Dub Will Stick With Argonauts

Former Lion Indicates Desire for NFL Return but Will Stay Put

TORONTO (AP)—Quarterback Tom Dublinski says he intends to stay with the Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union despite repeated offers from the Detroit Lions.

Dublinski said he made his decision Saturday and will stick by it. Officials of the National Football League Lions have been after Dublinski ever since he jumped them this season to join Argonauts.

"I'm not going to kid myself that I wouldn't like to be playing back there in the National League," he said. "But people have been so wonderful to us up here and Harry Sonshine (Argo team manager) has done so much for me that I think the only fair decision is to stay."

Undefeated Year Predicted by Grange for Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—"Oklahoma will go undefeated this year," predicts Red Grange, a man to whom people listen when he speaks of football.

A three-time All-America for Illinois in the mid-20s, Grange said in an interview here yesterday that Bud Wilkinson's Sooners would have little trouble in extending their winning streak to 29 games. The Sooners, who open against North Carolina next Saturday, currently are riding a 19-game streak.

"The last time I was in Oklahoma, Bud was undefeated and when I came back this year, he's still going great," said Grange. Oklahoma was ranked No. 2 nationally in a pre-season poll by The Associated Press.

The famed "Galloping Ghost," now a sports announcer, was here for an appearance at a Quarterback Club luncheon today.

Grange arrived from Miami, Fla., where he said, people are picking Oklahoma to play in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day against either Maryland or Duke, "probably Maryland, an old enemy of Oklahoma."

Wolverines Get Life as Branoff Returns to Form

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Michigan football attack has been given a lift with the return to form of powerful Tony Branoff.

Branoff, playing with his left ankle still wrapped in protective tape, slammed his way to a pair of touchdowns Saturday to lead the Wolverine 1st stringers to a 47-6 scrimmage victory over the scrubs.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan said it would be the last major scrimmage before the Wolverines take on Missouri Saturday.

Missouri turned in a surprising performance in its opening game Saturday, holding powerful Maryland to a slim 13-12 victory.

New Speed Record Set in 250 Mile Stock Race

LANGHORNE, Pa. (AP) — Tim Flock of Atlanta led from the 80th mile yesterday to win the 250-mile National Circuit Championship late model stock car race, establishing a record speed average of 77.88 miles an hour.

Flock drove his 1955 Chrysler over Langhorne Speedway in an official time of 3:12.35, a one-mile dirt track record for the distance.

Stengel Appreciative

Casey Smiles Kindly on Victories by Tigers

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's nice to see Detroit do so wonderful."

Casey Stengel relaxed in his stocking feet, for his usual monologue with the press after a New York Yankee home game.

His streaking Yankees had just opened up a two-game lead in the American League race by sweeping three from Boston while Cleveland was losing three to Detroit. But Old Case wasn't claiming any pennant.

"This is going right down to the wire," he said. "You just gotta keep winning and they're getting harder to win every day. Don't forget Detroit put me on the skids on one of our Western trips.

"I'm only worried if my center fielder (Mickey Mantle) gets well. My second string is doing great for me. Howard (Elston Howard) saved a game for me Saturday and Cerv (Bob Cerv) was very good on his base running.

"If Mantle and Skowron (Bill Skowron) would get well, we'd be dangerous the rest of the year." He didn't even smile when he said it.

Mantle pulled a muscle and Skowron broke a toe Friday night. Both missed the weekend games. Skowron claims he can play tonight at Washington and probably will get a chance. Mantle probably won't be ready before the final series in Boston next weekend, although he took limited batting practice Sunday.

Don Larsen will pitch for the Yanks tonight and Whitey Ford will work Tuesday at Washington. Casey wouldn't announce his Wednesday pitcher, explaining he'd go all out every day. Ford was in the bullpen in the ninth yesterday, ready to come in if Grim faltered.

Magic Number for Hot Yanks Is Simply 5

NEW YORK (AP)—Five is the magic number for the New York Yankees.

Any combination of five Yankee victories and Cleveland defeats will give New York its sixth American League pennant in seven years. The Yankees have seven games to play, three at Washington and four at Boston. The Indians have five, two at Chicago and three at Detroit.

For the Chicago White Sox to win the pennant, they would need to win all five of their games while the Yanks dropped all of their games.

Disqualifications Give Tempo Win

President's Cup Regatta False Start Eliminates Two Leading Craft

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tempo VII emerged the winner of the President's Cup Regatta after a mixed-up final heat that saw both apparent leaders disqualified.

Tempo, the Guy Lombardo boat driven by Danny Foster, was third across the finish line in the 15-mile race yesterday—a mile behind the Dossin brothers' Miss Pepsi and 50 yards behind George Simon's Miss United States.

* * *

But officials ruled that both Chuck Thompson, driving Miss Pepsi, and Simon, piloting Miss United States, had jumped the starter's gun.

* * *

That gave the President's Cup to Foster, who himself got off to a poor start when he missed a buoy on the first lap and had to back track. Miss Pepsi had been regarded as a near-sure winner in the 24-year-old regatta because of the points she piled up in winning two heats Saturday.

Trailing Tempo at the finish were Miss Thriftway, the Seattle boat driven by Bill Muncey, and Gale V, driven by Lee Schoenith, son of owner Joseph Schoenith of Detroit.

Top Ranked 11s of College Level to Vie for Title

UCLA, Michigan Set to Begin Comparisons for Mythical Crown

NEW YOR K(INS)—College football fans won't have long to wait—no longer than this weekend—to start comparing the merits of the leading candidate for 1955 national championship honors.

UCLA and Michigan, rated one-two in pre-season estimates by International News Service's panel of experts, play Maryland and Missouri, respetively, on Saturday.

Those engagements took on added significance over the past weekend when highly-touted Maryland was fortunate to scrape through to a 13-12 victory over underdog Mizzou. Only a pair of missed extra points prevented the Tigers from exacting stunning revenge for last Thanksgiving Day's 74-13 humiliation by the Terrapins before a nationwide TV audience.

UCLA triumphed about as expected, 21-0, in its Friday night game with Texas A & M, much-publicized transfer tailback Ronnie Knox throwing three touchdown passes.

With only four of the INS panel's pre-season "top ten" seeing action in the weekend dress rehearsals, the experts not only left UCLA at the head of the class but made only one shuffle in this week's rankings.

Maryland dropped from 4th to 7th place. Southern California, flexing its mucles with a 50-12 rout of Washington State, moved into 4th place.

The rankings: 1. UCLA; 2. MICHIGAN; 3. Oklahoma; 4. Southern California; 5. Southern Methodist; 6. Ohio State; 7. Maryland; 8. Georgia Tech; 9. Auburn; 10. Navy.

* * *

The INS panel is composed of famous coaches Andy Kerr and Bernie Bierman and grid writer and editor Francis J. Powers, all now talent scouts for the Shrine Harry Wismer, INS reporter-columnist Bob Considine and INS sports

Aside from UCLA, Maryland and southern California, only top-tenner to see action was Georgia Tech. As anticipated, the Yellow Jackets were hard pressed by powerful Miami, finally cashing in on a couple of breaks for a 14-6 triumph.

Katlin Wins Again at M59 Race Track

Veteran pilot Mickey Katlin notched another victory Sunday afternoon in the hardtop and old model show at the Pontiac Speedway by capturing the 25-lap feature race. Bill Kourt took 2nd and Johnny Wallace finished 3rd.

Dick Cummings won the semi, followed by Chuck Allen and Jim Brown. Wallace was victor in the pursuit with Katlin and Gerry Lafnear taking 2nd and 3rd places respectively. Katlin triumphed in the dash while heat winners were Bob Gatton, B. Bater, Elmer Ferstle, Marvin Main and Joe Dyle.

Hurricane Ione Packing Real Punch, Making Both Moore, Marciano Worry

NEW YORK (AP)—Hurricane Ione, a gal with a real big punch, had heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore more worried about her than each other today as they idled away the hours.

Trained to a razor-sharp edge, the fighters ended their long preparations for Tuesday's title bout in Yankee Stadium with short boxing sessions Sunday. Now they had nothing to do but peer at the skies and wonder if Ione was going to throw a wet blanket over their plans.

If it should blow up Tuesday and force a postponement, the fight will be held on Wednesday. Thursday is the postponement date after that.

Naturally, neither wants the delay. The 38-year-old lightheavyweight champion has been waiting a long time for his shot. He campaigned more than a year for the chance and taunted Rocky almost daily for "ducking him." The ancient gladiator considers himself a cinch to become the oldest heavyweight king in history and doesn't want to wait an hour more than necessary for the crowning.

* * *

The undefeated Brockton Blaster is just as anxious to get at his cocky challenger. Rocky admits that Archie's barbs have sunk deep and while he won't make any prediction, his followers say that he is burning to destroy Moore in the early rounds.

* * *

Judging by his last three workouts, the 31-year-old heavyweight ruler may do just that. Never a "gym fighter," Rocky has been spectacular with both the power, speed and precision of his punching.

Marciano's workouts have been the typical "wars" he puts on in his regular fights. The only differences are that the 16-ounce gloves and heavy headguards nullify his power.

Moore, asserting that he only wants to keep his "edge honed," went through easy-paced, two-round drills in the past week. Rocky boxed four rounds in each session until the final two days.

"I've been fighting too long to waste any of my strength in training," said Archie. "I know what I can do and it's just a matter of keeping my sharpness."

Cleveland's 'Vanishing Indians' Owe Sad Plight to Wrath of Unforgetting, Revenge-Mad Tigers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's vanishing Indians, balancing on the brink of elimination today, owed their plight to the wrath of an unforgetting, revenge-mad Detroit Tiger team they used as a stepping stone to record-breaking success last year.

* * *

Unknown to anyone but their close followers, the Tigers have been nourishing a secret grudge, an overwhelming ambition to "get even" with the Indians. It was not until after yesterday's game, during which the Tigers inflicted the third straight defeat upon the demoralized Indians and virtually wrecked their chances for a second straight pennant that Detroit Manager Bucky Harris brought it to light.

* * *

"I wasn't with Detroit last year," said Harris, "but Schoolboy Rowe, one of my coaches, told me that the boys were burned up at Cleveland for knocking them out of fourth place in the final week of the season last year.

"It was not so much that Cleveland beat them three straight," Bucky added, "but that they used their three ace pitchers—Lemon, Wynn and Garcia—against them after they already had been assured of the flag. The Indians, of course, were determined to set the American League record of 111 victories, which they did.

"The boys never forgot it. It gave them additional incentive to go all out even though it meant little to them. I could see it in the dugout.

"'Go get your 111 victories now, you blankety blanks!' our guys kept taunting the Cleveland players."

* * *

Yesterday's 10-3 loss, the third straight at the hands of the revengeful Tigers, all but nailed the lid to the coffin. Trailing the pennant-bound New York Yankees by two games, three on the important losing side, with only five games remaining, it appeared only a miracle could save their championship.

* * *

Any combination of five New York victories and Cleveland defeats would sew up the flag for the Yankees who have seven more to play.

Surprisingly, the Cleveland players didn't appear as distressed by yesterday's defeat as they were over the two previous losses to Detroit. It was an anti-climax, as though they had come face to face with the inevitable and were resigned to their fate.

"After all," one Cleveland player remarked, "it's only money."

It was intended as a joke but it fell flat. Nobody was in the mood for wise cracks. The players dressed silently, said nothing, and strode out of the clubhouse without a nod or a greeting. They acted as if they wanted to get off by themselves and get their minds off anything to do with baseball.

Al Lopez, the ever-patient manager, held his routine post-game conference with the reporters, but did more listening than talking. After all, what is there to say when your team blows a two-game lead in four days with just five games remaining?

* * *

"All I can say is we haven't given up," he said. "I know some people will accuse us of choking up in the cutch. Those kind of people just don't know what they're talking about. In all my years in baseball, I've never seen any player choke up. We just hit a slump and we couldn't have picked a worse time, that's all.

"Until now all we had to do was win and not worry about the other guys. Now we're in a position where we have to win and pray—pray that the Yankees lose at last three game. Otherwise we're sunk."

Eagles on Top After Exhibition Season Finishes

Beat LA Rams 35-21 to Climax Successful Six Game Sweep

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League wound up its exhibition season over the weekend with the Philadelphia Eagles just about the hottest team in the 12-club circuit.

The Eagles whipped the Los Angeles Rams 35-21 Saturday for their sixth straight victory. Before the Rams, they beat Baltimore, Detroit, Chicago's Bears, Green Bay and Pittsburgh.

Adrian Burk, who shares the quarterback spot with Bobby Thomason, pitched three scoring passes to veteran end Pete Pihos and another to halfback Bobby Walston. The Rams played without their No. 1 quarterback, Norm Van Brocklin, who appeared only in punting roles.

Baltimore's Colts whipped the Pittsburgh Steelers 44-17 and the Green Bay Packers ended a four-game losing streak at the expense of the Chicago Cardinals 37-28.

All-America Alan (The Horse) Ameche from Wisconsin and Royce Womble each scored two touchdowns in the Colts' one-sided triumph.

Tobin Rote fired touchdown passes of 76 and 72 yards in the final quarter to provide the Packers with their margin of victory over the Cardinals.

Big Ten Race Gets Into Action Saturday

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten launches its 1955 football campaign Saturday with nine games, one of them of conference caliber and the others with outside opponents.

The championship race starts with Michigan State meeting Indiana at Bloomington, Ind. Both teams are improved and 16 sports scribes, who made a flying tour of conference camps, picked the Spartans No. 6 and the Hoosiers No. 7 in the title struggle.

Their 1st choice was Michigan, followed in order by Purdue, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan State, Indiana, Minnesota, Illinois and Northwestern.

Michigan appears to have the toughest intersectional opener, taking on the split T Missouri Tigers of the Big Seven at Ann Arbor, Mich. Missouri came close to upsetting highly regarded Maryland Saturday, losing by one point, 13-12.

Two Pacific Coast Conference teams are on the Big Ten menu. Illinois travels to Berkeley to tangle with California and Washington invades Minnesota.

California was walloped 27-7 by Pitt and fumbling Washington had to go all out to down Idaho 14-7.

Rounding out the opening schedule, Kansas State is at Iowa, Miami of Ohio at Northwestern, Nebraska at Ohio State, College of the Pacific at Purdue and Marquette at Wisconsin.

Terry Brennan starts his 2nd term as head coach of Notre Dame when the Irish entertain Southern Methodist, one of the prides of the tough Southwest Conference in a nationally televised engagement.

Most of the Big Ten's other opponents already have a game under their belts, but were not impressive. Wyoming defeated Kansas State 38-20. Hawaii spilled Nebraska 6-0. Stanford tripped College of The Pacific 33-14.

The Big Ten, for the most part, climaxed fall drills Saturday with intrasquad games.

Len Dawson, Purdue's passing sensation, suffered a jammed right thumb and will be required to wear a cast. Coach Stu Holcomb said he may miss the Boilermakers' opener.

Ohio State's All-America halfback Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, strained a ligament on the inside of his right knee. He may be sidelined for at least three days.

Tony Branoff, whose injured ankle has caused concern at Michigan, taped it up and ran wild. He scored twice, on a 35-yard reverse and a 5-yard smash, to power the "Blues" 'over the "Whites" 47-6.

Ward Wins Amateur

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Handsome Harvie Ward lingered in the clubhouse shadows for one last glimpse of the James River course where he gained his "greatest victory in golf."

Dusk had replaced the hot afternoon sunshine. The last of the gallery was thinning rapidly. Just an hour earlier, Ward had mauled William Hyndman III of Philadelphia, 9 and 8, for the U.S. Amateur Championship.

* * *

Ward, who now has won every major amateur title, was rumbling something about one of the old masters of golf, Byron Nelson.

"Byron helped me improve my game so much," said Ward, who had failed in eight previous attempts to prove himself king of American amateurs. "Byron showed me the importance of holding onto the club with the left hand when playing iron shots."

Ward, 29, figured his first nine holes in the 36-hole finals were "the best nine-hole round I've played in real competition. I played a great round against Jim McHale in the quarter-finals of the 1952 British Amateur, but it was not as good as this one."

* * *

Ward was out in four-under-par 31 in his showdown with Hyndman over the 6,713-yard, par 70 James River layout. Hyndman was out in 36 and 5 down at the morning turn. Ward had him 8 down by lunch time. In the afternoon, Ward threw 10 straight pars at Hyndman to close it out.

* * *

Ward said again, as he's said so many times in the past, that "I'll never turn pro."

* * *

"I won't even be a real active amateur," Ward added. "I won't be a tournament player. My work as an automobile salesman will come first now.

"Sure, I'd like to win the Open and the Masters, but because of my work, I probably won't get a chance to point for them. In fact, I can't say now that I'll even play in them."

Ward made it clear he would "never point for another tournament as I pointed for this one. This was the tournament I most wanted to win."

Gil Mains Returns to Detroit Lions

DETROIT (AP)—Coach Buddy Parker of the Detroit Lions said today that tackle Gil Mains will get a chance to play in Sunday's opening professional football game against Green Bay.

"We'll give him a shot at his old job—left tackle," Parker said.

Mains rejoined the Lions Saturday after jumping to the Canadian Football League. "They don't play my kind of ball there," he stated.

The returning Mains joined tackle Jim Martin as another returnee from the Toronto Argonauts. The Lions went to court to get Martin back in the fold.

Shamrocks Win, Rams Tie in Openers

By BILL CORNWELL

That old extra point produced victory for St. Michael and a tie for St. Frederick in their 1955 season openers Saturday and Sunday at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

Coach Bob Mineweaser's Shamrocks nosed Avondale under the lights Saturday night, 7-6, on the strength of a perfect placekick by halfback Dan Dropps after a 2nd-quarter touchdown. Mikes then held tenaciously to the advantage, staving off a resurgent Avondale squad in the last half.

Dick Doyon's successful attempt from placement with less than two minutes to play enabled the Rams to pull out a 13-13 deadlock yesterday afternoon in their tussle with Holy Cross of Marine City. Booting under intense pressure, the star end calmly split the uprights for the all-important conversion.

After a scoreless 1st quarter in which neither team seriously threatened, Mikes mustered a 73-yard drive to strike pay-dirt halfway through the 2nd period. Sparked by fullback Ron Elmy, who starred both offensively and defensively, Shamrocks covered the distance in 10 plays.

Elmy, who bore the brunt of the attack, climaxed the drive with a sweep around right end from 11 yards out. Then Dropps converted the eventual winning point.

Shamrocks crossed the goal line again before the half ended, but an offside penalty nullified the tally. End Duane Priebe scooped up an errant Avondale pitchout and romped to the 12-yard line. Three plays later Dropps circled right end to score on a nine-yard jaunt, only to have an infraction spoil his effort.

Avondale came to life in the 3rd quarter. After forcing Mikes to punt, Yellow Jackets marched 47 yards to score with halfback Sven Blomberg dashing six yards. The push required only six plays and included runs of 23 and 15 yards by Ray Boyl and Dick Gronski respectively. Conversion try failed. The Yellow Jackets made two unsuccessful bids to score in the 4th quarter.

A bad case of "fumbleitis" hampered St. Fred's efforts against Holy Cross in a game which marked the debut of Gene Wright as head coach of the Rams. Visitors recovered three fumbles, one ruining a scoring bid for Rams and another setting up Marine City's 2nd touchdown.

After drawing 1st blood, Rams were forced to come from behind for the stalemate. St. Fred's 1st touchdown was set up by Dick Doyon, who blocked his 2nd punt of the contest, giving Rams possession on the Holy Cross 17 yard line, near the end of the 2nd period. St. Fred's scored in three plays with fullback Wally Quarles bucking over from the one. Doyon's kick was wide.

Holy Cross, boasting a fine tailback in Jim Springborn, started its 1st touchdown drive late in the 3rd quarter and scored on the 1st play of the final period. The drive, following a Ram punt, spanned 30 yards in six plays with fullback Lou Stephenson punching across from the two Springborn's pass to Bob Senger added the extra point and Holy Cross led, 7-6.

After the ensuing kickoff, Marine City recovered a costly Ram bobble on the latter's 33. It took six plays for Holy Cross to score again, Springborn going the last 21 yards around right end. A pass for extra marker failed.

St. Frederick fought to gain a tie with less than two minutes remaining. Rams took the kickoff and marched 60 yards to score, aided by an interference ruling on a pass from Larry Morrow to Steve Rosina which was broken up. Quarles, the workhorse with six carries, smashed over from the one. Doyon's "blue chip" conversion followed.

Score by quarters:

Avondale	0	0	6	0—6
St. Mike	0	7	0	0—7
Holy Cross	0	0	0	13—13
St. Fred	0	0	0	7—13

SCORE, A MISS — Two extremes in football action are shown in the accompanying pictures, of St. Michael vs. Avondale (top, and St. Fredericks vs. Marine City HC, above). No. 40, St. Mike's Ron Elmy scores a TD for the Shamrocks in the 2nd period. He was pursued by Avondale's Ted Hyten. Holy Cross' quarterback, Larry Schweihofer lets a pass get away from him in the 1st period of the tilt with Rams, Sunday. Tom Israel, (65) and Jim Duren (40) of the Rams watch the ball bounce out of Larry's arms. Mikes won (7-6), but Rams wound up in a tie (13-13), in the city parochial openers, Saturday and Sunday.

Red Wings Edge Edmonton Flyers

Post 3-2 Exhibition Win at Soo as Howe, Dineen, Lindsay Star

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Detroit Red Wings weathered their 1st exhibition test last night, edging the Edmonton Flyers 3-2.

Veterans Ted Lindsay, Gordie Howe and Bill Dineen helped the Red Wings to a 3-0 margin before Edmonton tallied two goals in the final two minutes of play.

Edmonton tallies were registered by John McCormack, former Chicago center, and Don Poile.

Jack Adams, Red Wings general manager, singled out Dineen and two newcomers, Ed Sanford and Jerry Toppazzini for priase among the Wings.

But Adams reserved most of his accolades for Gillies Boisvert, Edmonton rookie goalie who kicked out 26 shots in the 1st two periods.

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Traffic Judge, Duke's Lea and Jet Action have been added to the list of American possibilities for the Washington, D. C., International turf race at Laurel Nov. 11.

Philly Tourney Taken by Kroll

Extra Hole Putt Wins $4,000 First Money in Duel With Doug Ford

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ted Kroll, who says he's lost four playoffs in the past three years, won a big one yesterday when he sank a 30-foot putt on the first extra hole of a sudden death match with PGA champion Doug Ford to take $4,000 first money in the Daily News Open Golf Tournament.

Kroll was four strokes behind Ford, the leader, as yesterday's final round started but shot a one-under-par 67 while Ford scrambled for a 71 that left them knotted at 273 each for the 72 holes.

Kroll, from Bethesda, Md., and Ford, who pays out of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., took a 10-minute break and then teed off for the short sudden death match. Kroll's drive was 230 yards and Ford's was 215 yards. Their second shots left Kroll 10 feet closer and after Ford's 40-putt was 3 feet short of the cup, Kroll ended the match.

Ask U.S. Army to Quit Europe

Soviets Request Comes After Her Promised Concession to Finland

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union is wasting no time in renewing its call for American troops to quit Europe in the wake of Russia's promise to return the Porkkala naval base to Finland.

* * *

Hard on the heels of Russia's concession to her Baltic neighbor, the Communist party newspaper Pravda commented:

"There can be no doubt that the abolition by other powers of military bases on foreign territory would be an important contribution to the further relaxation of international tension and would help to create the necessary conditions for ending the arms drive."

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was expected to take the same tack before the United Nations Assembly, opening tomorrow in New York, as well as in the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Geneva next month.

In another phase of the complicated diplomatic maneuvers under way in the Soviet capital, the government announced a sweeping amnesty reducing or canceling sentences of Soviet citizens convicted of collaborating with the Germans during World War II. This was viewed here as a necessary prelude to the expected official announcement of amnesty for German war prisoners still held by the Soviets. Their return was promised West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer during his visit.

The amnesty decree by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet also said Soviet citizens who were exiled or deported on collaboration charges, or who fled abroad and served in "anti-Soviet organizations," could return home and be cleared of guilt if they came back repentant "to an honest life of labor and (to) become useful members of the socialist society."

This appeal to the exiles and refugees appeared to be part of the Communist world's big campaign to coax such citizens home from abroad.

Group Says Air Force Budget Cuts Are Risky

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Assn., a private group that often acts as an unofficial mouthpiece for that service, says any Air Force budget cuts likely would be "dangerous ventures into calculated risk of national security.'

Gill Robb Wilson, association president, said yesterday there are no apparent areas in which cuts could be made without seriously affecting the current buildup to 137 combat-ready wings.

Wheat Futures Hit by Selling

CHICAGO (AP) — Ample rains in much of the southwestern winter wheat belt over the weekend, with a forecast of more to come, created selling pressure in wheat futures today.

* * *

Other grains turned lower with the bread cereal in quite active dealings. Weakness in soybean oil and meal, plus good receipts of cash beans, upset soybeans. Feed grains eased barely but quickly recovered.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to ⅞ lower, September $1.98⅛; corn ⅛ to ⅝ higher, September $1.29⅜; oats ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, September 58½; rye unchanged to ¼ lower, September $1.00; soybeans ¾ to 2 cents lower, September $2.22½; lard 3 cents lower to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $10.02.

UAW Walks Out on Canada GM

Strike Affects 17,000 Workers in Five Plants Throughout Ontario

TORONTO (AP) — Seventeen thousand workers in five General Motors plants in Ontario went on strike today after their union rejected a company package offering them a layoff pay plan.

The United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) said the best offer in the marathon negotiations preceding the strike left GM workers far behind employes of the company's chief Canadian competitors.

The company described its 10-point proposal for a three-year contract the most progressive and far-reaching in Canadian labor-management history.

The strike call halted the 10,000-man Oshawa plant, the Frigidaire plant in the Scarborough suburb of Toronto, the London Diesel Locomotive plant, the Windsor Engine plant and the parts and foundry operations of the company in St. Catharines.

'STRIKE IS ON'

Negotiations ended late last night and George Burt, Canadian director of the UAW, walked from a union meeting at 12:30 a.m. to say: "The strike is on."

The 17.6-cents-an-hour package the company offered included an allowance of five cents an hour for the layoff pay plan and an across-the-board pay increase of five cents hourly.

The average hourly wage for production workers now is $1.64 and for nonproduction workers about $1.46.

Compression Ratio Hiked by New Power Pack Kit

DETROIT (AP)—For an extra $30 to $75 you can buy an extra eight to 20 horsepower for your new car engine.

The trick is done with an optional item called the power pack kit. Half a dozen car makers have been promoting the package with their 1955 lines of V-8 engine cars. They report growing demand for the kit. They expect an even greater popularity for it in the 1956 models.

* * *

Generally the package consists of multiple barrel carburetor and a cylinder head with shallower combustion chambers. The carburetor maintains a steadier flow of fuel and the shallower combustion chambers increase the compression ratio.

The device is a factory installed unit. It's one of the options you have to decide upon at the time you buy the car. It has enabled several car makers to get their power plants into the 200 horsepower bracket without investing millions in redesigning their engines.

* * *

Engines of higher power output and increased compression ratio will be features of the forthcoming new model cars. Ford's new Lincoln, first of the 1956 models to be presented, are typical. They develop 285 horsepower and 9-to-1 compression ratio.

So far as has been indicated Lincoln is the only producer to boast a completely redesigned engine for 1956. It is virtually certain, however, that other producers in the higher priced lines will match or top Lincoln's horsepower output.

ONE OF OUR VERY BEST values is this especially appealing bungalow. The 25' living room includes dining area. Modern kitchen, 2 ample bedrooms, tile bath plus screened porch. Basement, automatic gas water heater. Owner has bought larger home and is offering this at a low $7,600. You couldn't rent as cute and cosy a home for less than $75. But you can buy for $60.

BRICK CONSTRUCTION—is hard to find at any price but we have a bungalow at $8,850 with $1,850 down. Hardwood floors, plastered painted walls, 12x22 living room are scarce in this price range, too. Full basement. Wired for electric stove. Slatted attic. Really it is value plus. See it soon.

$1,500 DOWN—and moderate payments will buy this sharp 2-bedroom bungalow with stairway to expansion attic. Painted walls, oak floors. Half-basement has wonderful new heating plant and complete laundry facilities. Garage with overhead door. ½ acre site in good suburban area. School bus at door. Full price $7,950.

SYLVAN CITY—overlooking the sandy beach with boat and bathing privileges just in front of your home to be. Immaculate in every detail is this 2-bedroom 1 story with attached garage. Tastefully decorated. Shaded yard. Completely furnished if you wish. At only $11,200 with terms.

A BETTER BRICK HOME for the discrim inating family that likes living room, full dining room, 1 bedroom and tile bath on first floor. 2 lovely bedrooms with walk-in closets and another bath up. Grand basement, partitioned for play. Hot water heat, oil fired (Timken) stool in basement. 2-car garage. The landscaping is exceptional. The lot is extra large. Easy terms.

Report Teeners Rate High With Employers

NEW YORK — Despite public concern over today's teenagers, recent high school graduates working for New York City firms rate fairly high with 255 employers reporting on their work habits, social attitudes and basic skills in a survey recently made public.

* * *

The companies graded their young employes generally higher in personal attributes as integrity, ability to get along with others, desire to develope and progress, fairness, courtesy and neatness than in the basic skills of reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar and spelling.

Participating companies were asked to grade the graduates on the basis of poor, fair, good and excellent.

The survey report showed that 76 per cent of the 255 employers believed development of better work habits merited increased attention of the schools, while 69 per cent would like to have more attention paid to basic skills and 33 per cent to social attitudes.

The General Motors Proving Grounds near Milford now comprises 3,756 acres, equivalent to nearly six sections of land, or about one-sixth of a whole township.

Bell Asked Deaf Classes Begin in United States

Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, persuaded Clarke School for the Deaf at Northampton, Massachusetts, to start the first training course for oral teachers of the deaf in the United States in 1889.

Since then, more than 500 have gone from there to every State and 20 foreign countries to teach deaf children to talk. They have brought comfort to parents in Argentina, Canada, Australia, Japan, Turkey, India, South Africa and Norway, the National Geographic Society says.

'Dial M' Genius Is Doing Series

'Cozy Story of Terror, With Twist at End' Is Director's Aim

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A rich man is returning from Florida to New York in his car. He collides with a bulldozer, smashes a prison truck, kills two guards.

The man is completely paralyzed except for a finger on his left hand. He is presumed dead and taken to the morgue, his body resting on his left hand.

* * *

This chilling situation is meat for the macabre mind of Alfred Hitchcock and it's one of the dramas that will introduce the famed director to TV audiences. He'll begin the Alfred Hitchcock series on CBS in October.

* * *

The calm Mr. Hitchcock was supervising the filmings of the drama at Republic Studios. The bulldozer was being wheeled into position, an auto was being jacked up to look like a wreck and Joseph Cotton stood by ready to assume his role as the paralyzed driver.

* * *

"This is the kind of story we'll present," the director remarked. "A nice, cozy story of terror with a little twist at the end."

* * *

Hitchcock, who has presented nice little murders in films like "Dial M for Murder," "Rear Window" and "To Catch a Thief," is directing three to six of the 39 films. The others will be done in the Hitchcock manner, but by others.

* * *

He is using the same methods he uses for features — making drawings of each shot before filming begins. But there's a big difference. The TV shows are shot in three days.

* * *

"I hope Paramount and Warner's don't hear about this," he said. "They'll say, 'Hmmm, a 30-minute show in three days. Then why not a 90-minute show for us in nine days?'

"There's a lot of difference, of course. You have to cut a lot of corners in TV. The emphasis is not so much on quality."

Well-Lighted New Automobile Uses 22.8 Bulbs

CLEVELAND — New automobiles are better lighted than ever before. The average 1955 model passenger car uses 22.8 lightbulbs. The typical American home employs only about 19 general lighting lamps.

The increase of electric light sources on automobiles has been a slow but steady one.

Although the changeover from acetylene to electric headlamps was underway as early as 1910, the number of bulbs per car by 1925 had reached only 5.5. This figure reached 13.5 in 1940, 16.3 in 1946, and 18 in 1950.

Among light bulbs used in today's well-lighted car: back-up lights, parking brake indicator, clock, glove compartment, ignition switch, map, dome, under hood, trunk, hand spot, ash tray and compass lamp.

Female Birds Work as Males Supervise

PANAMA — The oropendola, or "giant oriole," weaves nests in the form of narrow bags 2 to 3 feet long of straw and weeds and suspends them from the ends of tree branches more than 75 feet from the ground.

Each is built and occupied by a single female. Except for selecting the site, the males take no part in building the nest.

The female takes a rest period of an hour or two at noon during the construction work. The male's function appears to be that of sitting on nearby branches and singing—perhaps to encourage the female in her labors.
