Spending in Troy Schools Called Improper by State

By JEAN SAILE

Improper expenditures totaling $857,700 from the Troy School District's 1965 and 1966 building and site fund have been charged in a report by the State Department of Treasury Local Audit Division against the Troy Board of Education, The Pontiac Press learned today.

The report includes the opinion that at least one more school could have been built with different use of the bonding money.

The alleged improper spending is outlined in a report from the division dated July 15. It was reportedly introduced to Troy Board of Education members during an executive session last night.

No action was taken, though the board later moved to relieve Walter R. Naftaly of Oak Park as auditor and to approve an immediate audit of all books, but no new auditor was hired, according to school district sources.

FIRING REQUESTED

Harold Janes, dissident member of the board who admitted he had a copy of the report but declined to show it for publication, said he had asked the board for immediate firing of Dr. Rex B. Smith, superindentent, and Ronald Sitter, business manager of the school district. He said the board refused to go along.

The report, based on Janes' initial charges last January and his request for a state investigation, finds that "$678,145.27 of improper expenditures are not within the terms of the 1965 building and site bond proposal."

It further states the balance of the 1965 building and site funds was $108,501.31, on April 1968, while the accounts payable from the fund totaled $287,656.

The report continues, "The acceptance of gifts and parties paid by the school architect (who was Harry Harmon of Port Huron) was discussed with the business manager.

"He readily admitted that the architect had taken the superintendent, assistant superintendent, board members and himself and wives on a charter bus to Canada for dinner approximately a year and a half ago."

DINNER WITH ARCHITECT

The report states, "Minutes (of the board of education) show no official action by the Board of Education to acquire sites purchased from the 1965 and 1966 building and site funds. The only reference to these transactions (totaling over $2,500,000) in the minutes was a 'listing'

Waterford Man Becomes a Hero —by Accident

By MEL NEWMAN

The accident occurred about 11:05 a.m. when James Hill, 45, of Detroit fell to the bottom of a narrow 32-foot hole at a construction site of the School of Performing Arts classroom-office building on the Oakland University campus.

While futile attempts were being made from the top of the hole to pull Hill free, Green was being sought by a labor union official coincidentally at the scene and who fortunately knew of Green's abilities.

The official knew that Green, an employe of the Cunningham-Limp Construction Co. on a job at the Pontiac Motor Division, was experienced in subterranean work.

ROBERT GREEN

He found the 43-year-old father of seven operating a forklift, advised him of the situation, then asked for help.

Green's response was in the form of a question:

"If the guy's down in the hole, what are we doing here?"

The rescue operation wasn't easy.

First of all, Hill had become partially buried under a cave-in of clay when he fell from a drag book he was riding into the cable shaft which was being constructed for an elevator.

He had volunteered to go down when a drill was stopped by rock at the 32-foot level, 28 feet short of the intended depth.

Secondly, Green is a 190-pound six-footer, and the hole was only two feet in diameter.

Thirdly, gas was present in the hole and threatened to overcome both men.

"I could taste the gas — you can't smell it — and I got a little dizzy the first time I went down. After a couple of glasses of water, I went down again and was able to hook him to a rope.

"If you have some experience in going into these diggings, it's not too dangerous."

GOP Predicting Support-GI Cut in Viet by June

By The Associated Press

A key Republican congressman traveling with Richard M. Nixon says a 90,000-man U.S. troop reduction in Vietnam is likely by June — but says it won't be the kind of "sop to the doves" Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey offers.

"Hanoi mustn't mistake it," Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said yesterday. "The American people mustn't misread it. And it's time a flailing Humphrey left it alone."

Nixon endorsed Laird's statement and said he could see no objection to a reduction that did not involve U.S. ready-force strength in Vietnam.

A cut in U.S. combat strength, Nixon said, "before there is clear indication that the enemy is ready to negotiate," would hamper peace talks.

Laird said the troop reduction will be the result of "ordinary and methodical military planning." He said South Vietnam has increased its own draft calls and need for U.S. support troops has eased.

Humphrey, meanwhile, pressed his challenge to Nixon for national televisioned debate and said if Nixon has a plan for ending the Vietnam war he should make it known.

Humphrey also said his hecklers include anarchists and many "I don't know what." He said they are out to destroy his Democratic campaign and the country.

GOP vice presidential candidate, Spiro T. Agnew, said in Hawaii he would not apologize for calling a reporter "the fat Jap" in a friendly joking manner. He said he was truly sorry if any Japanese-Americans interpreted the remark as a slur.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key U.S. military leaders say true neutralization of the demilitarized zone is the absolute minimum condition for a total halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Along with this, say high-ranking officers, must be an agreement that neither side would fire across the buffer zone nor mass troops and supplies near the six-mile-wide DMZ separating the two Vietnams.

★ ★ ★

"If we stopped bombing without that, I don't believe we could hold the area," one top general said in an interview.

"They could mass their artillery on the other side and shell the hell out of us."

HANOI CONDITION

So far, Hanoi has insisted on an unconditional halt in U.S. bombing, which for nearly five months has been restricted by President Johnson to the lower 25 per cent of North Vietnam.

Administration spokesmen have never been very specific about the reciprocity expected from Hanoi before the bombing can be ended.

But top-ranking American military leaders are specific in private conversation about what conditions would make a bombing halt acceptable to them.

One senior officer said he would not be totally opposed to a bombing cessation if it involved what he called "a clear cut quid for our quo," and represented a definite step toward ending the war.

TANGIBLE RESULTS

It is quite clear that U.S. military leaders want actions that show tangible and measurable results.

Therefore, they do not put much stress on winning agreement from North Vietnam to halt or curtail infiltration in general. They know it would take months to verify whether North Vietnam was welching on an agreement to end infiltration.

★ ★ ★

But they believe it would be very easy to detect North Vietnamese violations of agreements to neutralize the DMZ.

★ ★ ★

The six-mile wide buffer zone was established under the 1954 Geneva accords which split Vietnam between the Communist North and the non-Communist South.

★ ★ ★

But for several years the DMZ has been demilitarized in name only.

Draft Files Burned; 14 Held

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Fourteen persons, including five Roman Catholic priests, were arrested after the destruction of thousands of draft records seized from a Selective Service office yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The 14 sang, prayed and waited for arrest while the flames ate at the piles of paper they carted in burlap sacks from the office building to a park across the street.

★ ★ ★

"Some property has no right to exist," the protesters said in a news release prepared in advance of their action.

The protesters, who referred to themselves as the "Milwaukee Fourteen," said they were "one with the history of mercy and protest."

4 BOARDS INVADED

The action was designed to prevent induction for an estimated 27,000 draft eligibles. Records from four draft boards were taken.

★ ★ ★

Col. Bently Courtenay, Wisconsin Selective Service director, said inductions will probably not be prevented or delayed by the action.

★ ★ ★

"A draft board can reconstruct records which have been destroyed," he said. "But it takes an enormous amount of work, and the cost to the taxpayers is terrific."

He said there was no way to estimate the total damage.

The 14 were held in bond ranging from $25,000 to $30,000. All were charged with arson, burglary and criminal damage to property.

★ ★ ★

An additional charge of theft was lodged against two of the 14 for allegedly snatching a key to the draft board office from a cleaning woman. The raid was staged just after the office closed for the day.

★ ★ ★

Police Sgt. Fred Stein said the demonstrators, most of them Catholic pacifists, "overpowered a cleaning woman, took away her keys, opened the door, came out with the records and burned them."

★ ★ ★

One man jumped out of a panel truck parked by the park and doused the bags with an inflammable liquid, which the protesters said was "homemade napalm."

STARTED SINGING

"It went right up," said eyewitness Larry Hartheim, 18, of Milwaukee. "They just stood there and started singing."

★ ★ ★

But burned papers were piled like fallen leaves at the base of a flagpole in a park dedicated to "the memory of those who served" in World War I.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

'PROPERTY NOT SACRED'

"We destroy Selective Service system files because men need to be reminded that property is not sacred," the 14 said in their statement. "If anything tangible is sacred it is the gift of life and flesh, flesh which is daily burned, made homeless, butchered without tears or clamors from most Americans."

Flash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said today the government has no intention of lowering the U.S. troop level in South Vietnam "either by next June or at any time in the foreseeable future."

In 2nd Kidnap-Rape Incident

Lapeer County to File Charges

The Lapeer County prosecutor's office indicated today that warrants will be issued shortly against at least two and possibly all of four youths charged yesterday in Oakland County with kidnap and rape.

★ ★ ★

Charges in Lapeer would involve another alleged rape-abduction incident which began earlier Sunday and was followed by the offense against the Pontiac victims.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson said yesterday that charges in Lapeer County against Percy J. Greenwood, 21, of Pontiac; Raymond M. Spring, 24, of Orion Township; James L. Davidson, 18, of Oxford; and James R. Perna, 18, of Oxford, were forthcoming, according to information he had received.

Bronson said his office is working closely with its Lapeer counterpart.

The Pontiac couple was abducted near Hurd Road and Baldwin in Lapeer County by two of the defendants, according to Oakland County sheriff's detectives.

Officers said three victims of the alleged prior assaults were set free at the time with a warning to keep quiet.

SERIES OF ATTACKS

The Pontiac couple was then driven to Oxford, where the two remaining defendants joined the group, deputies said. A series of attacks allegedly followed at various secluded areas near Oxford.

Spring and Greenwood were arrested in the male victim's car at M24 and Silver Bell in Orion Township Sunday and the male was set free, deputies said.

Rainfall Scatters Mexican Rioters

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Heavy rain last night dispersed rioting students whose battling with the police kept parts of Mexico City in turmoil for more than 24 hours and left at least 15 persons dead.

Four other deaths were reported last night during hit-and-run clashes involving students, other dissidents, police and soldiers. But these deaths could not be confirmed.

Throughout the day yesterday, sirens wailed and shots could be heard as police sought out snipers who, after a bloody night of fighting around vocational schools in the northwest part of the city, holed up in apartment houses in the area.

The fighting Monday night reached a peak not seen in the Mexican capital since the revolutionary days of the 1920s. It slacked off yesterday and officials went ahead with preparations for the Olympic Games, scheduled to open in Mexico City on Oct. 12.

FIRING INCREASES

Firing increased shortly before night fell, and a magazine reporter on the scene said two students were killed at a vocational school in the downtown Ciudadela section.

Students at another vocational school near the National Palace had a shootout with police and, when newsmen arrived, had just finished painting the outlines of two bodies on the floor of the school. They said they had marked the place where two of their comrades had been killed in the exchange of gunfire.

* * *

Two trucks burned in the street outside, as did trucks and buses in various parts of the city where rioters had captured them.

At another vocational school in the Tlatelolco area, the scene of heavy fighting Saturday and Monday nights, three buses were burned and police in possession of the school drove back 2,500 students by firing into the air and shooting tear gas into the crowds.

Bids Awarded for 51 Hangars

Bids were awarded yesterday for 51 new hangars at Oakland-Pontiac Airport. Construction is expected to start soon on the $339,350 project.

This was below cost-expectations of about $400,000 for the job. Winning bidder for hangar construction was Ful-Fab Inc., of Canton, Ohio, $280,370, and for site preparation Lynd Asphalt of 1945 Barrett, Troy, $58,980.

* * *

Airport officials said construction could start within days and be completed by next spring. The hangars will be located at the northeastern part of the field in an area that is slated to eventually have a complex of 400 hangars and other facilities for smaller craft.

The Airport Committee has been authorized by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors to sell bonds on the hangar project. The bonds are to be paid off from rentals of the hangars.

Option Markups by Ford Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least one of the Big Three auto makers has marked up prices on optional equipment by as much as 293.3 per cent, according to a report released by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

That was the markup on the wholesale price charged to dealers on a V8 engine by Ford Motor Co. in 1966, Nelson quoted the report as saying.

* * *

Markups on other equipment ranged from 16.8 per cent for the standard vehicle with no extras to the 293.3 per cent for the engine, the report showed.

Nelson, calling the figures "astounding," said the report was prepared by auto industry critic Ralph Nadar and supplied to Nelson and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., last July. Both Nelson and Morse head small business subcommittees which have looked into auto pricing practices.

COST ANALYSIS

Nelson described the data as a unit-cost analysis done by computer in July 1966, at an unidentified Ford plant.

No data was available for General Motors or Chrysler, but Nelson indicated it probably would be similar.

Debate Hope Falters as Equal-Time Bill Bogs Down in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee called up the equal-time bill today amid faltering hopes that congressional action can be completed in time for television debates between the presidential candidates.

Even if the measure finally is shaken loose from committee chances for debates this year appear slim unless Republican Richard M. Nixon recants repeated declarations he will not take part in a debate involving third-party candidate George C. Wallace.

* * *

The bill still must be debated on the floor by a House that is finding it increasingly difficult to get enough members together to do business.

A similar measure suspending equal time requirements was passed in 1960, making possible the historic debates between Nixon and John F. Kennedy. That bill, however, passed the Congress in plenty of time for the first of the four debates.

* * *

Nixon has said he is willing to debate Humphrey but not in a three-way bout with Wallace. Humphrey has indicated he would go along with the three-way format.

Overtime Cut Irks Policemen in Waterford

Waterford Township policemen, who picketed for more pay three months, ago, are grumbling again, this time about a cutback in overtime.

The result has been that sometimes only one or two police officers have been able to cover the township's 36 square miles and protect its approximately 60,000 residents, according to one officer.

* * *

Police Chief William Stokes explains that the recent contract settlement has necessitated that officers work on overtime only in emergency cases.

In a low-complaint period, an officer would not now be called in on overtime to replace an officer who was sick, the chief explained.

* * *

Stokes indicated that he and auditors are studying new financial needs of the police department and that it is possible he may have to ask the township board for more money.

Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson reports a total of $14,264 has been spent on overtime when $10,000 has been budgeted for 1968.

The $14,264 figures includes a total of $5,200 from Jan. 1 to July 3 in back overtime which the police officers won in the 1968 contract, which was settled a few months ago.

City Man Pleads Guilty in 2nd Case

MOORE

It was the second major offense to which Moore had entered a guilty plea in less than a week. He is being held in the Oakland County jail.

Last Thursday he pleaded guilty to raping a young Pontiac woman.

Moore of 499 W. Huron will be sentenced on the kidnap case Oct. 22 by Judge William R. Beasley, and the following day in the rape case by Judge William J. Beer. Both offenses carry up to a maximum life sentence in prison.

IN LAPEER COUNTY

Moore was arrested in Lapeer County following a manhunt sparked by the disappearance of the Pontiac woman April 29. She later told police that during the 10 hours she was held captive, she was raped three times.

* * *

of bills to be paid from the building and site funds submitted to the board for approval."

It continues, "If approved, it was apparently done in executive session."

The report also noted actual negotiations for the acquisition of properties in Sections 19 and 20 — $135,809 above the amount estimated — were carried out by the school superintendent.

Indication that the land deals were turned over to the State Department of Licensing and Regulations for a check of possible violation was included in the report.

Janes, contacted by The Pontiac Press, said, "It's about time this was made public. I have suffered — my family has suffered abuse, criticism and ridicule. I was threatened by board members last night not to release (the report). I still feel the public has a right to know."

A. L. Westol, audit division director, confirmed that the report had been turned over to the State Department of Education. He referred reporters to the state superintendent's office.

A spokesman for the state superintendent's office said the report had not been discussed by the State Board of Education.

Foes of Fortas Have Votes for Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Senate count showed today opponents of Abe Fortas definitely have the votes to keep a filibuster — threatened for today — going against his nomination as chief justice.

The new poll by the Associated Press gave opponents 35 votes, one more than necessary to prevent a move to choke off debate.

Head of State Hospital Objects to Security Order

Medical Supt. Dr. Donald W. Martin of Pontiac State Hospital said today he disagrees with the state attorney general's order that all state mental hospitals tighten security measures.

* * *

"It is not a prison. If patients are the type that should be locked up, they should be kept in a prison facility.

Martin added he feels others who run state hospitals think the same way.

* * *

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley told Director William H. Anderson of the State Mental Health Department in a letter yesterday that mental hospitals must improve security measures to prevent the escape of patients committed for mental examinations by the criminal courts.

Kelley's directive follows a report that five of 12 criminal defendants escaped from Pontiac State Hospital last year. Kelley said two of the escapees are still at large.

* * *

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson reported to Kelley that criminal defendants are placed in unlocked admitting wards with all incoming patients.

At the time Martin was making his statement, a criminal defendant escaped from the hospital by walking off the grounds.

A hospital spokesman reports that John Dennard, 30, of Pontiac was talking to a doctor at 9:20 a.m. in an admitting ward and five minutes later was missing from the grounds.

Police were called into the search for Dennard, a forensic patient from Ionia Hospital for Criminally Insane who is charged with armed robbery.

PROCEDURES 'INADEQUATE'

Bronson had advised Kelley that security procedures at Pontiac State Hospital were inadequate for handling accused felons.

Kelley said the superintendent of an institution "carries a statutory liability for failure to maintain custody as required by court orders."

Requirements of the court orders must be obeyed despite any conflict with the philosophy of modern psychiatric therapy, according to Kelley.

"The requirements of the court orders under which defendants in criminal cases are committed to the Mental Health Department must be carried out for the protection of the public as well as in obedience to the authority of the court," Kelley said in the letter.

* * *

Under a new state law, a person accused of a crime who is found incompetent to stand trial may be committed to the custody of the center for forensic psychiatry or any other facility designated by the mental health department for such a diagnostic report and evaluation.

Appearance by Muskie Limited to OU Speech

The appearance of U.S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine in Oakland County tomorrow will be limited to a speech at Oakland University, it was announced today.

Earlier tenative plans had called for several stops in Pontiac and the Troy area by the Democratic vice presidential candidate.

* * *

The time of Muskie's speech at the university is scheduled for 1:15 p.m. The program is open to the public. Hosting the campus event will be the New Young Democrats and the Oakland Students for Humphrey-Muskie.

The victim of the 9:10 p.m. accident was identified by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department as George Juncan, 76, of 53665 Shelby.

Juncan was southbound on I-75 when his auto left the road and hit the unattended dump truck, according to sheriff's deputies. They said they found no skid marks to indicate that Juncan had tried to stop.

* * *

The truck driver apparently had left the vehicle while he went to get help to fix a flat tire, deputies said. The driver has not been identified, though the truck is registered to a Lloyd Stevens of Flint, according to deputies.

No safety lights, flares or reflectors were displayed on the truck, they said.

Ford's Pitch to South Curve to Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's high command has made it clear it wants no part of House Republican leader Gerald R. Fords' pitch to southern congressional candidates: Support George C. Wallace over Nixon, if they must, to ensure their own election.

"That's news to our campaign," said Nixon's press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, when informed of the Ford position. "If there is such a strategy, it has no bearing on our campaign or our attitude, which is that we are supporting all Republican candidates."

* * *

Ford and his Republican Congressional Campaign Committee—all House members pledged to Nixon's presidential candidacy—have embarked on a series of meetings with GOP congressional candidates across the country. The tour has Nixon's backing.

The committee met Monday with Kentucky and North Carolina candidates at Greensboro, N.C. The candidates were told they weren't expected to support Nixon over Wallace, the American Independent Party nominee, if it would endanger their own campaigns.

NEWS CONFAB TODAY

Ford was en route back to Washington and couldn't be reached for comment on the reaction of Nixon's advisers. He has a news conference scheduled for today.

Democrats, too, have had their problems cementing the allegiance of traditional party members to the candidacy of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. Seven key Georgia Democrats bolted into the GOP ranks last week, and that state's governor, Lester Maddox, has endorsed Wallace. The governor of Mississippi, John Bell Williams, also supports Wallace. John McKeithen of Louisiana has announced he won't support Humphrey.

* * *

In Arkansas, a state that has voted Democratic in every presidential election for nearly a century, party leaders are treating the Humphrey campaign as though it didn't exist.

There also continues to be widespread reluctance by supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to fall into line behind Humphrey.

NO DEM PARALLEL

Still no Democratic official who counts himself among Humphrey's supporters has suggested publicly that it's okay for Democratic candidates to back Wallace in their own self-interest.

The aim of the Republican committee tour is twofold: to cut the Democrats' 30-seat margin in the House, for the benefit of Nixon should he be elected President, and to bolster Republican ranks in the House in the event no presidential candidate wins a majority of electoral votes, and the choice falls to that body.

* * *

"We want all candidates to support the national ticket," Ford said Monday. "But if they can't because of local sentiment, we'll understand."

Klein said the congressional campaigners "have their own campaign organization. We would not attempt to direct anyone of Gerry Ford's stature."

Commerce Twp. Road Projects Start This Week

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Improvement of Newton Road has begun, and improvements are scheduled to begin on Canal and Oakside roads tomorrow, according to the Oakland County Road Commission.

A contract was awarded to the Groleau Brothers Inc. Union Lake, for the grading, drainage and aggregate surfacing of Newton between Oakley Park and Commerce Roads.

* * *

No detour has been provided. Newton will be closed to traffic until Dec. 1, however access for local traffic has been provided. Completion date for the project has been set for next June 1.

WORK DETAILED

The Canal and Oakside projects, also awarded to the Groleau Brothers, Inc., include some ditching, additional gravel surfacing and bituminous surfacing.

Construction will not involve traffic rerouting. It is expected to be completed around Nov. 15.

Township Supervisor Robert H. Long said that he and many township residents have long been concerned with improving township roads.

Oxford to Crack Down on Rowdy Youth

By JEAN SAILE

OXFORD — Visibly shaken by the weekend kidnap-rape involving a 19-year-old Pontiac girl and her escort in which two Oxford area youths were arrested, Village Council members last night vowed a crackdown on troublemakers.

Immediate action will be taken to close the village park on Washington at sunset each day and to remove benches from the area.

Said Village Manager Robert Smalley, "We've been getting complaints from merchants and citizens on the rowdyism that we've been running into."

Councilman Edward J. Bossardet Jr. said he felt the problem was evident not so much in the nighttime as in the day.

WHAT CAN WE DO?

Sidewalks have reportedly been blocked to passersby, and instances of rowdyism have proven a nuisance.

"What can we do about it?" was the question councilmen asked Village Attorney Nicholas Treinen.

'We Can Fine The Parents For Letting Their Dogs Run Loose, But We Can't Do Anything About Their Kids'

—Councilman Jay Allen

"Can we enforce the curfew law?" "Can we make the parents responsible?" "Would a teen center help?" were some of the questions.

Treinen replied he was not sure of curfew enforcement because of recent Supreme Court decisions on the rights of minors. He said he doubted parents could be fined for rowdyism.

* * *

Responding to the teen center idea, Smalley noted that the town's youth problem has accelerated since no restaurants or bowling alleys are now open after 10 p.m. But the council did not pursue the idea.

"We've got to bring those kids into the police station and call their parents from here," the council agreed.

* * *

Councilman Jay Allen noted however, "Most of those wandering around — we'd have an awful time finding their parents."

He continued, "We can fine them (the parents) for letting their dogs run loose, but we can't do anything about their kids."

FEWER THAN 10

Bossardet noted that the trouble revolves around less than 10 individuals.

"Why can't we ticket them for loitering?" he asked.

Treinen remarked that a ticket cannot be given unless a police officer catches the individual in an unlawful act or upon complaint of a citizen. He said one officer covers the village at night.

"Maybe it means stricter law enforcement . . . even two or three men a night," said Councilman Robert McMeans.

HOME DISCIPLINE

Village President Edmund Unger summed it up, "So many problems are problems because there is no discipline in the homes. We expect the police to do something instead."

In other business last night, the council accepted the bid of Kessler's Auto Sales for a new police car. The cost with trade-in will be $1,995.

* * *

A vote to allow painting of the zip code on the village water tower, now under renovation, was approved over the dissenting vote of Councilman Joseph Phipps.

The Homer Hight property at 160 S. Washington was rezoned from commercial to light industry to allow Church Lumber Co. of Utica to build roof trusses and component home parts in a new business.

UNION ELECTION

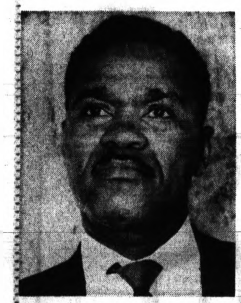

Smalley and Allen were named to a preliminary committee for employe negotiations. Metropolitan Council 23, AFL-CIO, has petitioned to conduct an election for eight police and three public works departments employes on Oct. 2. The union seeks the right of sole bargaining agent for the employes.

An attempt to take options on six pieces of property designated for off-street parking will be made. "We must go through with it for the good of the community," said Smalley.

* * *

"Just today we had an inquiry about land suitable for a shopping mall," he reported.

NEW SUPERVISOR — Douglas Anderson of Royal Oak Township has taken his seat on the 87-man Oakland County Board of Supervisors. Anderson, 50, was elected supervisor of the 13,000-population township Aug. 19. He won a special election called by Gov. Romney. The township was without a supervisor or representation on the county board for over a year because of a disagreement between the township trustees. Anderson is a biochemist research assistant at Wayne State University and is a vice chairman of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity.

Cost Problems Hit Water Plan in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — Despite cost problems, the completion date for this city's long-awaited communitywide water system is still planned for fall 1969, according to Royce L. Downey, city manager.

The city Council recently reviewed original bids, some of which exceeded engineering estimates of $1.95 million by as much as 15 per cent, and approved bids for three of the five sections of the proposed system.

* * *

Section five, for drilling and construction of wells on some two acres on Pontiac Trail and Quinif, was awarded to the Layne-Northern Co. on its low bid of $169,997.

A combined bid for construction of sections one and three of the system, at $581,331, was awarded to Mike Harabedian Inc.

IN EVERY STREET

The Harabedian firm will put water mains on every street in the city, Downey said.

Bids for sections two and four, the filling of weak soil adjacent to Walled Lake, were rejected and new ones will be sought.

* * *

Council has set Oct. 15 for the receipt of new bids. If bids again are far above estimated costs, the city will be forced to apply to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for permission to sell additional revenue bonds, Downey said.

Veteran Fireman Boris Nicoloff Checks Paper Work

W. Bloomfield Fire Chief Finds Work Challenging

By DIANNE DUROCHER

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Is there any adult who can't recall looking into the animated face of a young boy and hearing the words, "Gee, when I grow up, I wanna be a fireman."

Boris Nicoloff, township fire chief, a 27-year veteran of the Detroit Fire Department, smiled and said he honestly could not remember ever uttering the phrase.

* * *

Why did Nicoloff become a fireman?

"During the depression years, I found myself in need of a job. After attending what is now Wayne State University, I secured a job with the Detroit Fire Department. It was that simple," he said.

REWARDING CHALLENGE

Running his hand through his steel-gray hair, he added, "I found that being a fireman was a challenge, sometimes dangerous but more times rewarding."

Nicoloff sadly recalled the most tragic fire he had ever witnessed in his career as a Detroit fireman.

"In 1945 a machine - packing factory located at the corner of Warren and Grand River caught fire. It was during the war years and most of the employees were women. Smoke curled from the windows of the two-story building reaching toward the sky. The women were screaming and jumping from the building in an effort to escape, injuring themselves in the process. A memory like that is best forgotten," he said emotionally.

* * *

Nicoloff who is in his early 50s retired as a captain from the Detroit Fire Department in 1965. He spent some time in Marathan, Fla., then he and his wife, Love, returned to Michigan and moved into a home at 497 Beverly Island in West Bloomfield Township.

RETURNED TO WORK

He decided to return to work and three months ago accepted his present $10,500-a-year position.

"I was very happy to secure my job here. I retired at an early age, and it will give me an opportunity to experience all the ramifications involved in running a fire department, the chief said.

* * *

Casting a downward glance, he added, "I've had a sufficient amount of fire-fighting experience and now I am turning to administration."

Pontiac Twp. Gives Easement Answers

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Officials expect that the acquiring of easements needed in the replacing of 1,200 feet of sewer line in Bloomfield Orchards Subdivision should move ahead more quickly now that some problems have been aired.

Some 35 residents of the area were present at the recent Township Board meeting to get reassurance on replacement of landscaping, sidewalks and pavement, following work in easement areas.

* * *

"We're taking pictures of every piece of property involved," Supervisor Roy Wahl said, "and we will restore each to its present condition."

A contract for $78,000 for replacement of the sewer has been awarded to D & L Construction Co. of Dearborn, but work has been delayed pending the easements.

NEW 10-INCH LINE

The old 8-inch sewer line, built some six years ago, collapsed last spring. It will be replaced with a 10-inch line, Wahl said.

The breakdown has meant spending some $25,000 this summer to keep the line open, Wahl estimated. Special equipment had to be purchased for standby duty.

Wahl said consultants are working on a method of financing the reconstruction. Whether it is to be paid for on a special assessment basis or from the water and sewer fund or some other method is yet to be determined, he noted.

LIBRARY PACT RENEWED

In other business the township renewed its contract with the Pontiac City Library. For $2,800 a year, residents of the township will be permitted to avail themselves of library facilities.

* * *

The board signed a water agreement with Oakland Community College whereby for the sum of $9,500 Detroit water will be piped to new buildings on the Featherstone Road campus. The agreement is contingent upon further action by the college's attorney.

A new front entrance for the Township Hall is being studied by the buildings and grounds committee.

Doctors Attend Cancer Retreat

For the 15th consecutive year, the University of Michigan's Cancer Research Institute will sponsor a cancer retreat at a woodland lodge in Oakland County.

Nearly 30 university physicians and scientists will spend Friday through Sunday at the Haven Hill Lodge in the Highland Recreation Area near Milford.

"The meetings this year will be conducted in the same leisurely and contemplative way that has become a tradition for these scientific sessions," Dr. Jere Bauer, U-M associate professor of internal medicine, said.

Four guest speakers will address the scientific sessions and discuss their research in informal groups.

* * *

The four are Dr. James D. Ebert, director of the department of embryology at Carnegie Institute of Washington, talking on "Cellular Diffentiation and Viral Susceptibility"; Dr. Robert A. Good, American Legion Memorial heart research professor of pediatrics and microbiology at the University of Minnesota, talking on "Relationship of Immunologic Function to Malignant Disease"; Dr. Kivie Moldave, chairman of the department of biochemistry at the University of Pittsburgh, talking on protein synthesis, and Dr. Sidney Weinhouse, director of the Fels Research Institute at Temple University, talking on "Cellular Respiration and Changes in Rat Liver Cancer."

Planning Panel Will Be Appointed in Highland Twp.

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — A long-discussed Highland Township Planning Commission will be named tonight at a special meeting of the Township Board at 8 p.m.

* * *

A list of nine prospective members was compiled at a closed meeting last week. An alternate list of names was also prepared in the event of refusals.

One member of the commission is required by law to be on the Township Board and another is required to be on the zoning board of appeals.

* * *

The township previously has operated with a zoning board of appeals but no planning commission. The appointment of the new commission is expected to help planning for future community growth.

Sales Up $2 Million for Rochester Firm

ROCHESTER — An increase in net sales of more than $2 million for the past fiscal year has been reported by Carlton M. Higbie Jr., president of Higbie Manufacturing Co., Water Street.

Net earnings rose $163,000 to $1.7 million during the same period, ending July.31.

* * *

Jewelry to Open at Oakland Mall

TROY — The 13th and newest Meyer Treasure Chest jewelry store will open tomorrow in the new Oakland Mall, at I-75 and 14 Mile.

A similar effect has been carried into the interior, using the same combination of materials in the cases that display diamonds, watches, jewelry, giftware, silverware, clocks and radios.

"We adopted the most desirable features of jewelry store layout and design, based on the industry's newest and most scientific studies and concepts."

Man Charged in Traffic Death

NOVI — A 24-year-old Novi man was charged with manslaughter yesterday in connection with the traffic death of a White Lake Township girl last week.

Arraigned yesterday before Justice Emery Jacques, Gerald E. Weaver of 42479 13 Mile demanded examination. He was released on $1,000 bond.

* * *

Examination has been set for Oct. 3 at 1:30 p.m. before Justice Jacques.

Prior to his arrest, Weaver was under observation at Pontiac General Hospital, where he was taken Sept. 17 after an automobile accident resulting in the death of 20-year-old Marcella E. Hatfield of 9215 Funston, police said.

Novi Police Chief Lee Begole said an investigation determined that Weaver was the driver of the car when it crossed over the dividing line and collided with another vehicle.

Bloomfield Twp. Man Gets Burroughs Post

Burroughs Corp. has announced the appointment of Eugene A. Paulsen as produce manager, electronic data processing, for the firm's U.S. Business Machines Group.

PAULSEN

Paulsen of 5548 Priory, Bloomfield Township, will be responsible for all aspects of product management within the group relating to his assigned product area.

He was formerly branch manager for the firm's Detroit Central Branch.

Troy School Board Picketed

TROY — About 25 cooks, custodians, maintenance personnel and bus drivers of the Troy School District marched outside in protest last night as the board of education met in Troy High School.

They were demonstrating to show board members their dissatisfaction with negotiations in progress since last May for better wages and more fringe benefits, according to a spokesman. Their contract was up for renewal July 1.

* * *

"We live, work and pay taxes in Troy, and feel that the Troy board should give us fair wages," said Mrs. Francis Badger, a bus driver.

"We meet with negotiators on Oct. 3, and they'd better wake up or we'll close shop," said Art Matson, a custodian at the high school.

NOT UNION ACTION

The demonstrators, members of the American Federation of State, County, and municipal Employes local 202, said they were not acting in behalf of their union. Their action did not interfere with custodial work last night at the high school. The local has 85 members.

* * *

Board members did not comment on the demonstration.

Three bids were opened last night for a $225,000 tax anticipation loan. Detroit Bank and Trust was awarded the loan on its low interest bid of 3.625 per cent.

The loan will finance operating expenses until the December tax distribution.

MEMBER APPOINTED

The board also appointed board member James McFarland to replace Robert Dolmage on its transportation committee.

In other business, the board approved appointment of a high school girls' physical education instructor, and requests from teachers to attend two conferences.

Preschool Story Hours

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The first story hour for preschool children at the Township Library will be tomorrow at 10:30 a.m.

The sessions will run through Nov. 14, and will last a half hour. Registration may be made at the library. The enrollment will be limited to 25 children.

U.S. Base Halts Viet Red Attack

SAIGON (AP) — A crack enemy force swarmed out of the jungle today in a furious attempt to overrun a U.S. Special Forces camp near the Cambodian border and kept fighting after losing 55 men in the first assault.

The enemy pounded the camp at Katum with rockets and mortars and then charged a few hours before dawn. The 400 South Vietnamese defenders and their 10 to 12 U.S. Green Beret advisers repulsed the attack and moved out on the offensive at daylight.

* * *

The allied garrison reported finding 49 enemy bodies and capturing six enemy soldiers, apparently wounded men unable to withdraw. But later reports said the enemy stayed to fight somemore.

In the first assault, five of the defenders were reported killed and an unknown number wounded at the heavily bunkered camp three miles from the Cambodian border and 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

WEAPONS CAPTURED

The defenders reported 39 enemy weapons captured, including at least four flamethrowers. It was not known whether the enemy got close enough to use the flamethrowers against the camp.

U.S. headquarters said the attackers were in fresh uniforms and evidently had been newly equipped.

* * *

The camp is a watch post along heavily jungled border area through which enemy troops infiltrate toward the provincial capital of Tay Ninh, 15 miles to the south, and toward Saigon.

Since Monday night, U.S. B52 bombers have dropped some 1,750 tons of bombs and infiltration routes in northern Tay Ninh Province, usually a sign that allied intelligence has detected enemy movement in the area.

92 REDS KILLED

Across the country, in the northern coastal lowlands four miles south of Tam Ky, troops of the U.S. American Division reported 92 enemy soldiers killed in a five-hour battle. One American was killed and 33 wounded.

* * *

U.S. headquarters also reported lesser actions on the northern frontier, where the U.S. Marines continued to probe the south central sector of the demilitarized zone and adjacent territory to the south.

Crime Unit Meets

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, has announced a meeting of the Michigan Women's action Committee Against Crime Oct. 16 at Rackham Memorial Building in Detroit. Speakers will include Detective Sgt. Charles Weirman, a state police expert on juvenile crime, and Dr. Thomas Sullivan of Detroit's Lafayette Clinic, an expert on drug use and abuse.

Wallace to Visit Michigan, 6 Other States Next Week

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Michigan and six other states in the North and Midwest are on George Wallace's campaign schedule next week as he continues his third-party bid for the Presidency.

A tentative schedule released by aides today has Wallace visiting Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey from Sept. 30 to Oct 5.

The former Alabama governor starts the week with a parade through downtown Chicago next Monday. Later that afternoon, he will tour Cicero, Ill., and then speak at Cicero's City Hall at 5 p.m.

Tuesday, Wallace plans a motorcade through Michigan including stops in Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Flint. Another motorcade is scheduled through Ohio on Oct. 1. That trip includes visits to Akron, Canton, Alliance and Youngstown.

The following day, Wallace speaks in Indianapolis at noon and then moves to Pittsburgh, Pa., for a fund-raising dinner and rally that night.

On Oct. 4, Wallace will hold a fund-raising dinner and rally in Buffalo, N.Y.

The next day, the former governor speaks in Jersey City, N.J., during the morning before moving into Newark at noon and then has an appearance scheduled in Cleveland, Ohio, in the late afternoon. He is to return to Montgomery that night.

Citizens Honor County Supervisor

In January, the Oakland County Board of Supervisors will lose one of this County's most dedicated public servants, DAVID LEVINSON.

With this in mind, LEVINSON'S many friends, relatives and fellow public officials will gather to honor him tonight at the Raleigh House in Southfield. It is a well directed effort for a most deserving man.

LEVINSON

The dinner is titled "35 Years of Public Service," which recognizes Levinson's 35 years as a member of the Board of Supervisors. Appointed to the board in 1932, Levinson served in a position for which there has been little pay and not much glory.

He served in the fast disappearing tradition of a man with a full-time occupation spending many of his free hours in the cause of county government.

Levinson, 72, served as chairman of the board in 1941-42 and is probably best known for his reign over the past eight years as chairman of the supervisors' ways and means committee—the most powerful unit in county government.

A Birmingham resident for 70 years, LEVINSON has long been a leader in inter-governmental cooperation and one of the central figures in bringing about more closely coordinated governmental efforts by the six counties in southeastern Michigan.

When the County board was reapportioned earlier this year, reducing its membership from 87 to 27, LEVINSON announced he would not seek election to the new board.

We join with his many friends in paying tribute to this dedicated supervisor from Birmingham and wish him well in his retirement from governmental service.

Pesticides Used to Protect Agricultural Crops

In recent years, there has been much talk about pesticides. Most of the excitement has concerned the harmful effects of these chemicals on our water supply and aquatic life.

These flurries of concern often have the effect of labeling pesticides in general as bad. Actually, the reverse is true.

When we are ill, we consult a doctor and willingly take whatever he prescribes to halt our illness in its tracks. Whatever reservations we hold about modern pills quickly vanish before the compelling urge to find a way to get well.

In the field of agriculture, pesticides are used to protect the health of crops. Use of such chemicals has been so efficient, that it is hard for many of us to imagine what the world was like before they were perfected.

The Irish famine of 1845-1849 is a classic case. It was caused by potato blight, which overnight caused green fields to turn black and potatoes to rot. The rot destroyed Ireland's basic food supply. More than a million people died from hunger. Today, while the blight is still a problem, it is controllable by application of a modern fungicide and DDT.

U.S. agriculture has developed the most advanced food production industry in history, thanks in large part to pesticides.

In many ways, the chemicals that protect agricultural crops are no different than the drugs that protect our health. The catch is in how we use them.

★ ★ ★

Usually, when pesticides come in for criticism, it is because they have been used carelessly. We should keep in mind that it is usually not the chemical that is bad, but the manner in which man has used it without regard for other natural resources.

Historians Threaten Protest of Ericson Stamp

The Italian Historical Society has threatened to stage a motorcade protest to the White House if the Post Office Department goes through with its plan to issue a LEIF ERICSON commemorative stamp on Oct. 9, three days before COLUMBUS Day.

★ ★ ★

No archaeological discovery, national claim or historical rumor could ever change the fact that, whether or not he was actually the first man from the Old World to reach our shores, it is to Columbus and Columbus alone that we owe the opening up of America to exploration.

★ ★ ★

Political Wordsmiths Appraised

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The mad, mad rush in pursuit of votes now accelerated by jet propulsion imposes upon presidential candidates the need for an incredible quantity of things to say.

MOLEY

In a Senate committee report published in 1961, there is recorded the speeches, press conferences and statements of John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 campaign. The Kennedy volume has 975 pages of small, compact typography. Nixon's output fills 1,119 pages. The joint debates fill another volume of 615 pages.

★ ★ ★

For a comparison, I turned to an old copy of "The First Battle" by William Jennings Bryan published after his campaign for president in 1896. In larger print and with considerable space for post-campaign comment, that volume has only 629 pages. And Bryan was a considerable wordsmith in his own right.

But under modern conditions, there are more issues, more speeches and more statements and press conferences. And so, from sheer necessity, candidates for the presidency now assemble a group of qualified people who gather facts and ideas suitable for the candidate's utterances on the issues.

These people are a quite different species than the political professionals who are also in the campaign. Since the early 1930s the proportion of professors and professional economists in these groups has been rather heavy. There are also some professional writers among them.

GHOST WRITERS

The common expressions "ghosts" or speech writers are hardly appropriate to describe them. Their function should be to give information and ideas which the candidate may need. Often they supply him with some language which he can fit into what he says. Their function certainly should not be to write the speeches which the candidate delivers.

There should be a chief of staff who is close to the candidate at all times. The contributions of the staff members should go directly to him. He will select what he needs and discuss speech content with the candidate. Then he and the candidate should collaborate in composing the speech.

★ ★ ★

It is too early yet to appraise Nixon and Humphrey's idea men. From what I have learned there seem to be too many of them. And they are not yet well-organized.

Nixon wrote his acceptance speech entirely alone and unaided. No one else saw the speech before it was delivered except his remarkable secretary over the years, Rose Mary Wood.

Perhaps that is why it was so effective.

But This Is No Myth!

David Lawrence Says:

Thant's Neutrality Questioned

WASHINGTON—Maybe the United Nations should have a new secretary general, or perhaps the United Nations itself should decide whether Secretary General U Thant was acting in a "neutral" capacity when he suggested that the General Assembly be asked to pass a resolution demanding the stoppage of the bombing of North Vietnam by the United States.

LAWRENCE

Nowhere in Thant's recommendation did he say anything about requiring reciprocal action by the North Vietnamese in their mortar attacks on the people of South Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

While George Ball U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, told newsmen that he did not think the secretary general's discussion of Vietnam was "in any way helpful in furthering the serious and sensitive negotiations now in progress in Paris," there is no sign that the United Nations itself will do anything about it.

This leaves U Thant free to make further comments which are not regarded by the United States and other countries as by any means "neutral."

Ball said that the secretary general's statement on bombing was issued without any advance consultation with the United States, and added that he did not know whether there was any previous talk by U Thant with North Vietnam.

It is evident, however, that the episode has produced a very unfavorable impression not merely among the countries which lean toward the Vietnam war, but even in some of the countries which have up to this time not participated in such discussions at all.

What has followed is a general uneasiness over the fact that the secretary general of the United Nations would publicly argue questions of vital importance without specific authority from the United Nations.

The United States, of course, is not contesting U Thant's legal right to express any opinion he desires. The U.N. charter says that the secretary general "may bring to the attention of the Security Council any matter which in his opinion may threaten the maintenance of international peace and security."

★ ★ ★

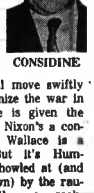

But nowhere in the charter is any authority given him to project the issue to the General Assembly.

Bob Considine Asks:

Why Are the Most Boos Reserved for Humphrey?

NEW YORK—Hubert Humphrey gets booed more than Dick Nixon. George Wallace is razzed and picketed less than either. How does one account for that?

CONSIDINE

Humphrey has hinted — guardedly, so as not to elicit another roar from the White House — that he will move swiftly to de-Americanize the war in Vietnam if he is given the seat of power. Nixon's a confirmed hawk, Wallace is a superhawk. But it's Humphrey who is howled at (and sometimes down) by the raucous wing of the peace-seekers.

★ ★ ★

One explanation, offered by a protest-minded priest I talked to during a demonstration in Chicago's Grant Park, was that the demonstrators — particularly the pros — felt that the Democrats were the likeliest targets because (A) they were in power and (B) in all probability would continue in power after the election. Thus they ignored the Republicans at Miami Beach.

But how does that jibe with the fact that (according to the polls, at least) Humphrey is running a depressing third as of now and still takes the brunt of the booing?

FIERCE BOOING

It is fierce, fist-shaking booing, as if he were about to be elected on a ticket of increasing the commitment in Vietnam.

It is the other two men in the race who would be inclined to do so. However, they go along relatively unhampered by the angry peaceniks and the soberer brethren.

Humphrey was booed in Boston even though Sen. Ted Kennedy, surely hallowed there, stood next to him. On the same day, Wallace drew 10,000 delirious followers in the South.

New York's Americana Hotel, where Nixon spoke that night at a $1,000-a-plate dinner, was picketed by a small group that had nothing to do with peace in Vietnam.

OVERLOOK SOMETHING

The group was concerned with the California grape-pickers' plight. Nixon has given up his California residency. He didn't even see the pickets.

It seems to me that Humphrey's antiwar mobs overlook a valuable facet of the man's candidacy. There will not be any peace in Vietnam unless the Russians bring pressure to bear on Hanoi. Before that happens, there must be a successful summit meeting, or understanding between the president and the Soviet Union's chief of state.

It would now appear, in view of what has happened in Czechoslovakia, that President Johnson will be denied his earnestly hoped-for chance to sit down with Kosygin and try to crown his career with a shut-down in Vietnam.

That job probably will fall in time to his successor.

I cannot conceive of the Russians sitting down with George Wallace, or vice versa. That's the ultimate in impossible interviews.

'Our Economic System Made Us a Great Nation'

The United States is the greatest country on earth. Americans who feel pride in their country have every right to it. There has never been an equal to the United States whether in wealth, freedom or government by the people. Capitalism is the cornerstone on which its people have had the opportunity to earn wealth and prosperity. That any man can go as far as his ability and drive will take him is a reality in spite of certain groups' contentions to the contrary.

★ ★ ★

Capitalism in its basic form is the only moral workable economy free and rational men can follow. One man trades his work or the products of his work for something of equal value. Each man is rewarded only for his ability and achievements, not for his failures. In recent years, more and more people, unaware of what actually brought this country all it has, have backed programs to shackle capitalism and to bring into reality the welfare premise of moral bankruptcy: from each according to his ability, to each according to his need.

★ ★ ★

Run from this corruption of values and follow the original theme of free enterprise (capitalism): to each the opportunity to make it according to his ability.

Questions Purpose of Gun Registration Law

If the purpose of Federal gun registration now is not confiscation later, and is to keep criminals from obtaining guns, why did the U.S. Supreme Court decide in one case that a person who illegally owns a firearm because he is a convicted criminal cannot be forced to register it or be prosecuted for having it in his possession since this would violate his rights under the Fifth Amendment?

★ ★ ★

Why would a criminal be so foolish as to register his gun even if the Court had decided he had to? I don't see how allowing the criminal to have an unregistered gun, while the law-abiding citizen registers his, can in any way reduce crime.

'Charges of Hairdressers Are Outrageous'

It's time women wake up to the outrageous price for getting your hair set. My beauty shop just went from $4 to $5 for a set, and $3 to $4 for a haircut. This is nearly $300 per year with a haircut every two months and no extras such as conditioners, tints, etc. This is ridiculous and as long as we keep paying it without retaliation, the owners are going to keep raising the prices. This is our second price increase in 14 months. I am going to start doing my own hair.

Opinions

Peoria Journal Star

Every citizen has a right to his own opinions, a right to express them, and a right to participate in the political process by voting and to any additional extent that his fellow citizens accord him.

This is not to say that every citizen's opinions are of equal weight outside the voting booth, or that he has any automatic right to participate beyond that point regardless of the consent of his fellow citizens or a reasonable number of them.

Dr. Spock's views on the Presidential candidates are about as important as Mayor Daley's views on child care would be, for example.

Shirley MacLaine's presence before the TV cameras at a national Presidential election airing her views on foreign policy had about as much business there as Dean Rusk would have dancing the cancan in a Hollywood musical.

★ ★ ★

Yet, everybody with a platform from which to speak and an audience to hear them — whether the audience "came" to be amused by somebody billed as a comedian or entertained by someone with a legitimate reputation as a musician — seems to think their political, military, and foreign policy opinions ought to be aired.

★ ★ ★

As we said, everybody is entitled to them, but everyone is not entitled to join in campaigning and make use of audiences who came for another purpose.

That is obtaining attention (and sometimes money) under false pretenses.

We ought to have a moratorium on this stuff.

Contrast

New York Daily News

The Chrysler Corp. announced a 3.9 per cent rise in prices of its 1969 cars, and Arthur M. Okun screamed.

Okun is President Johnson's chief economic adviser, and he called the boost "manifestly excessive . . . clearly not in the national interest." LBJ echoed Okun.

This is in interesting contrast to the bawls which did NOT come from the White House last year over the 6 per cent-a-year-for-three-years increase in wages and fringe benefits wrung by Walter P. Reuther's United Auto Workers from the automobile industry.

While Okun and his boss LBJ hypocritically (a) curse businesses that raise prices and (b) lay off unions that do likewise, the dollar's buying power continues to shrink. Inflation marches on — but faster.

★ ★ ★

We think this is one of the most serious situations facing the American people. Of the three major presidential candidates, only Republican Richard M. Nixon, to our best information, has as yet begun to tackle the problem in his campaign speeches and advertising.

★ ★ ★

Nixon makes sense, too, with his promises to work, if elected, to cut unnecessary federal spending, stage real attacks on federal deficits, and reduce taxes so as to boost every employe's take-home pay.

When do we hear from Messrs. H. H. Humphrey and G. C. Wallace on this vital subject?

Chamber Chief Tells Kiwanis

'Get Involved in City'

"Be concerned," E. Eugene Russell, president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, urged Downtown Kiwanis Club members yesterday.

He suggested that it was time for more businessmen to take time away from their golf games and think more about the civic problems of the fast-growing Oakland County area.

* * *

Businessmen will have to work hard to keep apace of and become a part of the vast building which will be done in the Pontiac area in the next 30 years, according to Russell. Business and service requirements are expected to more than double in the next 20 years, he added.

Businessmen must be knowledgeable of civic and government affairs so they can meet the upcoming challenges with foresight and imagination, he explained.

E. EUGENE RUSSELL

CROSS-SECTION

The Chamber is composed of a cross-section of community businesses, but the support of many more area businesses is needed to allow it to assume a more leading role in the community's business affairs, he said.

A stronger Chamber also would have the facilities to research community problems and make the information available to the business community, Russell pointed out. He added that this would make the job of becoming knowledgeable about civic affairs considerably easier for the businessman.

* * *

Russell also discussed problems of major concern in Pontiac today. He talked of housing, law and order, plans for urban redevelopment and the great strides being taken by Harambee for redevelopment in the Negro areas of Pontiac.

He claimed more public support of the downtown plan for urban redevelopment is needed. He urged citizens to write their support of the plan to Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

STADIUM SUPPORT

More support of the proposal for a metropolitan sports stadium to house the Tigers and the Lions also was urged by Russell. He claimed that the amount of public support backing city programs was a factor considered in choosing the site.

The Chamber president also challenged businessmen to "examine Pontiac's horse-and-buggy charter and see if it shouldn't be updated."

Nixon Says Troop Cutbacks in Viet Would Hurt Peace Talks

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon says peace talks will be hampered if the United States cuts its combat strength in Vietnam "before there is clear indication the enemy is ready to negotiate."

"As far as the fighting forces are concerned, the requirements there remain the same," the GOP nominee said Tuesday. "We have to keep our forces there at an adequate level."

But Nixon had no quarrel with a prediction by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., who is traveling with him, that by June 1969 "We are likely to have fewer U.S. troops in Vietnam—by some 90,000—than we have today, unless the military situation deteriorates."

Nixon said Laird was talking about a technical development and could see no objection to any such reduction so long as it did not cut into the ready force strength. He said that as he read Laird's statement it would not do that.

FEWER TROOPS

What Laird said, Nixon told reporters, was that the United States could maintain military capability with fewer of its own troops. He said briefings he had received from the President and the Defense Department gave no indication of a "major cutback being planned because of any change in the requirements of war."

Laird's statement, read at a news conference, seemed to go along with the controversial contention of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey earlier that U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam could start late this year or early next year.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson indirectly rebuked Humphrey by saying that no man could predict when any American troops could be withdrawn.

Nixon avoided any assessment of Humphrey's previous remarks.

But Laird said Humphrey was implying that the troop returns would come only if he were elected president. He said it would happen no matter who was president, and politicians should not "mislead" the country about it.

"This strength reduction is not the kind of thing the vice president has been offering as an HHH peace bonus for the American people, though apparently he would have us believe so," Laird said.

★ ★ ★

A Pentagon spokesman said the Defense Department did not know of any plan developed in the department or submitted to it "which would reduce the troop ceiling in South Vietnam beneath the previously announced figure of 549,000."

Soviet Copter Ship in Mediterranean

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of Naval Operations, says the Soviet Union's first helicopter carrier is operating in the Mediterranean and is "visible evidence of Russia's announced intention to become a modern major offensive seapower."

The new 650-foot ship, named Moskva, arrived in the Mediterranean via the Dardanelles Straits over the weekend escorted by two destroyers.

★ ★ ★

Navy men view her arrival as a significant step in a Soviet naval buildup in an area once dominated solely by the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

'REAL SIGNIFICANCE'

The admiral said in an interview:

"I think the real significance of the Moskva's deployment is not so much in the fact that she gives the Soviet navy a new capability, but rather that she is a manifestation of the continuing effort on the part of the Soviets to deploy a modern force into all of the oceans of the world."

The admiral didn't say so, but there has been speculation the Moskva's deployment was timed to give Egypt moral support during a period of new tension with Israel.

The Soviet Union has more than quadrupled its fleet of military ships in the Mediterranean since the two Mideast countries went to war in June 1967. She has about 40 vessels in the area, compared with 55 to 60 for the United States.

INTELLIGENCE DATA

U.S. intelligence credits the Moskva with the ability to haul as many as three dozen helicopters, but no jet fighters.

Moorer, answering questions about the ship's military significance, said the Moskva gives the Soviets "a mobile helicopter platform which we must assume is capable of landing Russian naval infantrymen from the sea as well as conducting antisubmarine warfare from the air."

Postal Strike

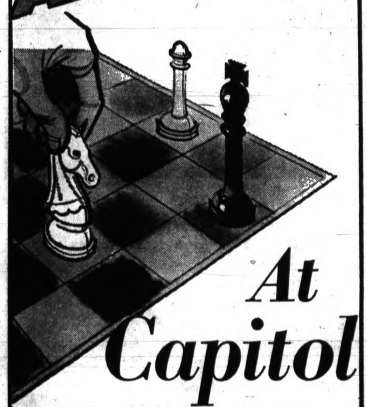

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Bankers and businessman reported losses today due to a weeklong postal strike. The postal workers are seeking better wages and protesting against the arrest of their leaders.

General-Liability Insurance Purchase Is Authorized

Pontiac city commissioners last night authorized purchase of general liability insurance to cover possible losses of persons who may be injured on city-owned property or in any city operation.

* * *

Director of Law Sherwin M. Birnkrant, recommending immediate acquisition of such insurance, said a recent survey showed that 72 per cent of the Michigan cities with comparable populations have such coverage while less than 8 per cent have none.

The commission, following the recommendation, authorized an attempt to obtain a binder for immediate coverage from the company now carrying the city's fire insurance and to seek a proposal for a three-year insurance contract.

In other business, the commission:

* * *

- Approved assignment of a police counselor to Eastern Junior High School, with the Pontiac school district paying half the cost.
- Confirmed special assessment costs for construction of sanitary sewers in Dearborn, Fairview to West Kennett; Dewey, Kennett to Dearborn; and West Kennett, Dearborn to Hollywood.
- Denied a request of Franklin Williams of 393 Irwin for a license to operate a billiard hall at 332 S. East Boulevard.

The police counselor at the junior high school will be a regular officer who will work with the students.

There are similar counselors at the city's two high schools.

In denying the pool hall license, commissioners cited a police department report which said that a majority of residents in the area were opposed to the proposed pool hall and that an existing parking problem in that area would be intensified by location of a pool hall there.

City Affairs

Low Bid Accepted on R20 Loan Notes

City commissioners last night accepted the lowest of eight bids in the sale of $2.61 million worth of preliminary loan notes for the city's R20 Urban Renewal project.

Morgan Guarantee Trust Co. of New York quoted an average interest rate on the money of 2.94 per cent annually.

The next lowest bidder, Bank of America, NT&S Associates, quoted an interest rate of 3.03 per cent. Highest bidder was Chase Manhattan Bank, the nation's largest, with a bid of 3.2 per cent.

The commission also approved the lower of two bids for $2 million worth of hospital building revenue bonds.

AVERAGE RATE

Bank of the Commonwealth, the lower, submitted an average interest rate of 4.8105 annually.

First of Michigan Corp. the other bidder quoted an average interest rate of 4.835 per cent.

The hospital building authority accepted the lower bid. Actual sale of these bonds will take place in October, Edward R. Gallagher, director of finance, said.

* * *

The bond money will be utilized to reimburse hospital funds for construction work involved in the new emergency and outpatient facilities, new intern quarters and parking lot expansion and improvement.

New Trick for Dog: Sniffing Out 'Pot'

CLOVERDALE, B.C. (AP) — An old dog with a new trick has joined the battle against illegal drug traffic into Canada, Royal Canadian Mounted Police said.

On his first day on the job after intensive training, Dirk, a 6-year-old German shepherd, sniffed out a marijuana cache in a car from the United States at the border in this town 25 miles south of Vancouver.

Tornadolike Winds Rake Port Huron

PORT HURON (UPI) — A storm front moving through Southern Michigan yesterday afternoon spawned what was believed to have been a small tornado that touched down in Port Huron Township and the northern section of the city, causing property damage but no injuries.

Trees and power lines were knocked down as the high winds moved in a northeasterly direction through the two communities.

* * *

Several persons reported tornadiclike funnels, the St. Clair County Sheriff's Department reported. But U.S. Weather Bureau spokesmen could not confirm a tornado funnel in the area.

Electric power on the north side of the city was disrupted for several hours and children were kept in school until work crews could remove live wires that dangled dangerously.

Some 3,000 products are made from petroleum.

Voter Sign-Up Hours Set

Pontiac City Clerk Olga Barkeley, noting that the last day to register for the November election is Oct. 4, said that registrations will be taken at City Hall next week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday.

Registrations also will be taken this Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Barkeley said temporary registration booths are also set up at Kmart Department Store in the Glenwood Plaza; the Yankee Department Store, 792 N. Perry; the Pontiac Mall; and the Miracle Mile Shopping Center. Hours at these locations are from noon to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

GLENWOOD PLAZA CORNER NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

Supreme Court Will Weigh Government Wiretapping

Only last May, U.S. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold said it has caused so many headaches there were times he felt like turning the government's files in such cases over to the Treasury Department to be "mascerated, shredded and burned" with old paper money.

★ ★ ★

Griswold obviously curbed the desire, and so the Supreme Court, at the start of its new term next month, will consider the status of what lawyer Edward Bennett Williams calls the government's "warehouse of stolen privacy."

★ ★ ★

The question is whether and how much this "warehouse" should be opened to convicted rapists, extortionists and other criminal defendants to insure justice.

GREEN LIGHT

At least since 1940, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt sent a confidential memorandum to Atty. Gen. Robert H. Jackson, federal agents have had a green light to bug to gather national security information.

And until the summer of 1965 when President Johnson ordered a halt, they have been eavesdropping far beyond the field of national security. Almost to a man, law-enforcement officials consider wiretapping and eavesdropping indispensable in fighting crime.

★ ★ ★

As the new term opens it already is settled that:

● Convictions based on evidence obtained by illegal eavesdropping cannot stand.

● The government has an obligation to disclose that a criminal defendant has been bugged if the bugging contributed to the prosecution.

● The government doesn't have the right to determine on it own whether the bugging was essential to the prosecution's case.

COURT'S CHOICES

The justices' new job boils down to deciding how this determination is to be made: by a judge in secret or at a hearing after defense lawyers have looked at the government's files.

Two cases up for argument present the problems squarely, inside and outside the field of national security.

★ ★ ★

One concerns the conviction of John W. Butenko, an American engineer, and Igor Ivanov, a Russian chauffeur, of conspiring to spy for the Soviet Union.

The other involves the conviction of Willie I. Alderman of Las Vegas and Felix (Milwaukee Phil) Alderisio of Chicago of conspiring to threaten the life of a Denver lawyer.

INTRIGUING FOOTNOTE

Williams, in appealing Ivanov's conviction to the court last December, offered this intriguing footnote:

"No question is raised concerning illegal electronic surveillance on the assumption that the solicitor general will, if there was any, disclose its presence."

This led to government disclosure that conversations of both Ivano and Butenko had been bugged. The government acknowledged also that Alderisio had been bugged in Chicago.

The Supreme Court held a hearing on the two cases in May but called for a second round of argument in the coming term.

TWO ARGUMENTS

The Justice Department advances two major considerations in trying to win a ruling that the trial judge — not the defendant or his lawyer — should see the wiretap logs and bugging data first and in secret.

One consideration begins with the proposition that the government often must use electronic surveillance to gather information in spy cases and that the government should have the right to decide when it is reasonable to bug.

The very nature of security operations often makes it impossible for the government to make public disclosures, Griswold maintains.

He reminds the Court that it said in a different context in 1963 that "while the Constitution protects against invasion of individual rights, it is not a suicide pact" for the government.

2ND CONSIDERATION

The second consideration is that the defendants were not bugged delivering monologues. They were talking to other people — people whose reputations could be injured, the solicitor general says, if the conversations were made public.

Lawyer Charles Danzig of Newark, in a brief for Butenko, says, "It seems paradoxical that the government, after invading the rights of these very persons, now asserts itself as protector of their interests."

★ ★ ★

However, he says, there are ways to protect so-called third parties: the judge could use his contempt power to keep their names secret, or he could close part of the hearing.

★ ★ ★

Williams, the attorney for Alderman and Alderisio as well as for Ivanov, says national security should not be used as a talisman to suspend the right to a fair and full hearing.

NO EXEMPTIONS

The Fourth Amendment, which protects citizens against unreasonable searches and seizures, "carries with it no exemptions for spy-catchers and subversive-hunters," he says in a brief for Ivanov.

Williams argues that only through cross-examination of witnesses and examination of bugging logs and summaries can a defendant rebut government evidence.

★ ★ ★

The court can choose between these two positions. Or it could fashion a compromise, particularly in security cases.

Williams suggests, for example, the government could ask the judge to issue an order to prohibit the defendant's lawyer from disclosing what is turned over to him.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific scouring carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Coffee Perking Young GOP Try

NEW YORK (UPI) — The coffee cup is being used as a political weapon in the current election campaign by an organization of youthful Republicans.

★ ★ ★

Teen-age Republicans, with membership of about 100,000, has embarked on a nationwide coffee program to win friends and influence votes.

★ ★ ★

"Coffee booths on street corners, commuter stations, shopping plazas and a host of traffic locations provide an inexpensive and highly effective way for teen-agers to get their ideas across to voters," says Barbie Wells, National Director of Teen Age Republican Clubs (TARS).

The craftsmen who engineer and build Cadillacs are accustomed to creating the finest cars, but they take special pride in these brilliant 1969 models.

A single glance at this automotive masterpiece reveals its striking poise and beauty. It is dramatically new, yet unmistakably Cadillac. For 1969, Cadillac's traditional dignity is complemented by youthful new styling that is unique in the luxury field.

New concepts in comfort and convenience.
The 1969 Cadillac is completely new inside, with major innovations in design, convenience and decor. A newly contoured "control center" instrument panel makes controls even more accessible, and virtually surrounds passengers with luxurious protection and convenience. And they'll ride refreshed on a unique Dual Comfort front seat, available on most models, that has one adjustment for the driver, and a separate one for front-seat passengers.

A smoother, more responsive engine.
Cadillac's great 472 V-8 engine—the largest V-8 ever to power a production passenger car—is smoother, quieter and even more responsive. Never before has power been employed so efficiently in the operation of an automobile and its power-operated equipment.

Other mechanical refinements include new safety features and an exclusive "closed" engine cooling system. (It doesn't have to be opened to check the coolant level.) Front disc brakes are provided.

Your judgment is invited.
There are eleven different models of the 1969 Cadillac, more than is offered by any other luxury car manufacturer. Each is truly a masterpiece from the master craftsmen. Your authorized Cadillac dealer welcomes your personal inspection of this once-in-a-lifetime motor car. Drive one at your earliest opportunity.

THE NEW 1969 CADILLACS WILL BE ON DISPLAY TOMORROW AT YOUR AUTHORIZED CADILLAC DEALER'S.

Most of Kennedy Team on Sidelines for Humphrey Struggle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the political pros who made campaigning a work of art for the late Kennedy brothers are watching from the sidelines as Hubert H. Humphrey struggles for the presidency.

About the most that can be said for the Kennedy team as a whole is that its members, still mourning their assassinated leaders, will vote against Richard M. Nixon on Nov. 5.

* * *

Beyond that, there has been no rennaissance of the high powered, free-spending organization that put John F. Kennedy into the White House and led Robert F. Kennedy to victory in five Democratic presidential primaries.

There are some notable exceptions.

The surviving Kennedy brother, Edward, has endorsed Humphrey, introduced him in Boston, and spoken warmly of his domestic accomplishments, while omitting any mention of the war in Vietnam, the issue that divides them.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, who wrote the book on presidential campaigning for John Kennedy, worked for Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964, and ran Robert F. Kennedy's 1968 campaign, is hewing to his chosen line of work. He's running Humphrey's campaign.

* * *

O'Brien said on board Robert Kennedy's funeral train he would work for the vice president "because it's of paramount importance to me and to the country that the Democratic Party retain the White House."

So, until election day, the red-haired former postmaster general has deferred a lucrative return to private life and is chairman of the Democric National Committee, as well as Humphrey's campaign manager.

LENDS EXPERTISE

Little Jerry Bruno, the peripatetic advance man for both Kennedys, is lending his expertise to a Humphrey organization. Bruno joined Humphrey a few weeks after Robert Kennedy was slain. Asked at the Chicago convention why he had done so, Bruno replied: "Nixon."

More typical of the Kennedy men is Theodore C. Sorensen, adviser and speech writer to both Kennedys. He told a group of college students Friday that he will vote for Humphrey as the candidate "least likely to sink us all."

Each voter, Sorensen said, has "an obligation to his children and to all the children in the country to vote against the least worthy candidate."

Acknowledging later that his endorsement was less than ringing, Sorensen said he would continue to endorse Humphrey — at about the same decibel level.

IMPLICATION

An insider at the Democratic National Committee reported, however, that O'Brien has been in touch with Sorensen. And several knowledgeable Democrats implied that if Humphrey decides to move away from the Johnson administration and advocate steps toward de-escalating the war in Vietnam, Sorensen will be ready to help him do so.

Robert Kennedy's press secretary, Frank Mankiewicz, will allow the Humphrey campaign to continue without his active assistance.

* * *

"Frankly, we're tired," the former Los Angeles lawyer said. "If people ask me how I'm going to vote, I'll say, 'For Humphrey.' If that's working for him, then I'm working for him."

Historian Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. was quoted in a newspaper column as styling himself a "political dropout" this year.

ON PLATFORM

Kenneth P. O'Donnell, appointments secretary to President Kennedy and adviser to Sen. Kennedy, sported a Humphrey button and sat on the platform when Humphrey spoke Thursday in Boston.

"I'll work for him up here, and I endorse him wholeheartedly," O'Donnell said. "I'll more than likely be running for governor in Massachusetts in 1970," he added, "so I'm mainly working for O'Donnell. But I'll speak for the vice president, too."

* * *

Richard N. Goodwin was a speech writer for John Kennedy. This year he worked for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Robert Kennedy, and McCarthy again. He was vacationing this week and could not be reached.

Stephen E. Smith, Kennedy brother-in-law who looks after the family millions, said last week he will "help in any way" toward Humphrey's election. But he rejected "because of personal reasons," an O'Brien plea that he be chief fund-raiser for the vice president. Smith said he is still trying to raise money to liquidate Robert Kennedy's campaign debts.

DOING NOTHING

William VandenHeuvel, a New York attorney who ran Robert Kennedy's unsuccessful Oregon primary campaign, is doing nothing for Humphrey.

"Nobody's asked me," he said. "And I don't see how I'd fit into their organization in New York. I'll vote for him. All of us like Hubert, and all of us think the Democratic party will be better off if he wins.

"But all of us are frankly appalled by the organization of his campaign. They just don't seem to know what they want, or how to organize to get it."

Former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, tending to his own financial and business interests in Paris, is honorary chairman of Humphrey's campaign among Americans in Europe.

But Patrick J. Lucey, widely credited with achieving Robert Kennedy's smashing Nebraska primary victory last spring, told the Democratic National Committee he did not want to be associated with the Humphrey campaign and would withhold his support — which carries considerable weight in Wisconsin.

Insect Boom Bugs Autos in N. Florida

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — North Floridians admit the orange and black love bugs are romantic — always traveling in pairs and separated only by death.

But when they swarm by the thousands, clogging auto radiators and smearing windshields to badly it takes ammonia to clean them off . . .

"It's no romance for us," says Mel Oveson, a 24-year-old car wash attendant. "This is the worst batch of love bugs I've seen. We use ammonia to get them off."

"They're love bugs, you know, and you can't separate them. Oh, of course, they're romantic. But thank goodness, they'll be gone in two weeks."

THEY'RE BENEFICIAL

The half-inch-long insects are known to scientists as Plecia nearctica or new world flies. And experts say they actually are beneficial scavengers because they feed on decaying plant material.

They live for about a week, a male always paired off with a female. Once they separate, the male promptly dies. The female survives long enough to lay her eggs.

* * *

"They're only pests because of their great numbers," said Dr. L. A. Hetrick, professor of entomology at the University of Florida here. "They don't bite or sting."

He said the love bug population has grown to overwhelming proportions only in the last three years. They appear in swarms twice annually and the current invasion should end in October.

"We have no explanation for the rapid increase in the insect population," said Dr. Hetrick, "but we have the problem under study."

Calendar Busy With Pre-Bridal List of Activities

Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ryan, Lowell Court, will be married in Holy Name Church, Birmingham, to John Michael Behan of Petosky. A wedding supper and reception at Bloomfield Open Hunt will follow the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

On Tuesday, Kathy's cousin, Mrs. Philip Monoghan, had a spinster dinner. This evening, the bridegroom-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Behan, will be guests of honor at a dinner party planned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ruen at their home on North Cranbrook Road.

The rehearsal dinner, at Bloomfield Open Hunt, will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Behan.

Kathy is a Marian High School grad, and attended Marymount College in Arlington, Va., and the University of Detroit.

Mike is just back from two years in Vietnam, now stationed in Denver, Colo., where the couple plans to live.

HOUSE GUESTS

Mrs. Cyril B. Lewis recently had as house guests her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Johnson, of Pinehurst, N.C. The Johnsons were on the last leg of a Canadian jaunt.

Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Johnson, daughters of the George Fergusons, spent their girlhood in this area.

What brings the Lyle A. Devlins back to Michigan after 18 years? "A transfer," said Mrs. Devlin. Her husband, with Gulf Oil Corp., will be headquartered in Novi, which explains their settling here, on Turner Road, instead of in Grosse Pointe, their former home.

The first 10 of those 18 years were spent in Pittsburgh. For the last eight, home has been Houston, Tex.

Mrs. Devlin remembers Michigan as a nice place to visit in the summer. "I haven't seen a winter in eight years; I'm sure I have something in store," she said.

Daughter Connie is still in Texas, a student at San Antonio's Trinity University. Younger daughter Dela is attending Andover High School.

When you're feeling elegant, be unforgettable about it in this magnificent shaft of shining gold sequins designed to make you one brilliant stroke of shimmering light from top to toe. Attend the Wedding--- This Is Family Affair

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son is being married soon. Two years ago, his father and I were divorced, and his father is now married to the woman he has been playing around with for the last five years.

ABBY

Under the circumstances I feel that my husband's new wife does not belong at our son's wedding.

My son and his fiancee feel that now that father finally married this little homewrecker, she should attend the wedding.

I am considering asking them to make a choice. If they want me at the wedding, father's wife can stay home. If they want her, I'll stay home. What is your opinion?

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: If it's common knowledge, and not just your opinion that father's wife is a "homewrecker," she doesn't belong at your son's wedding. Don't punish the young couple, however, by giving them a choice. Go and be a lady.

If father's wife insists on going, too, it is she who may have difficulty holding her head high.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl, and my best girl friend is worrying me to death. She is also 14, but she is very developed (physically) for a girl her age. She looks like about 18.

She told me that for the last three months a 19-year-old boy has been coming over to her house to see her in the evening while her parents are at work. Her parents don't even know this guy exists. She tells me that all she wears when he comes over is a BIKINI bathing suit, and there is no place to swim within five miles of her place, so you know as well as I that this can mean big trouble.

I keep telling her to be careful, but she says nothing has happened so far, and nothing will.

What can I do to prevent trouble? I can't tell her mother because her mother will probably tell her how she found out, and my girl friend will never speak to me again. Sign me,

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Tell YOUR mother. She'll know what to do.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for two years and have no children. Because I have no children, my friends, relatives, and neighbors think I am the perfect baby-sitter. I love children, and I don't mind baby-sitting in an emergency and I never charge for my services.

Is there a nice way to tell these people to find somebody else? I am sick and tired of being used. One girl actually drops her child off at my house without even asking me first. Many times my own plans have been ruined because parents don't come back to get their child when they say they will. Thank you.

M. R. H.

DEAR M. R. H.: No one can "use you" without your cooperation. And if you are "used" once by inconsiderate, nervy acquaintances, shame on them. But if it happens twice, shame on YOU!

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO AL: There is no sense in locking the barn after the horse has been stolen. Go after the horse, you fool!

$5,000 is a lot of money and the Women's Auxiliary of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital spent long hours earning it. Most of it was raised from items sold in the hospital gift shop. Harry H. Rochester AAUW to Hear Talk

The annual membership meeting of Rochester branch, American Association of University Women will be held Thursday at Rochester Central Junior High School beginning at 7:45 p.m. Area women holding baccalaureate degrees may attend.

Mrs. George Mosher Jr. of Birmingham will address the gathering on the subject "Partners of the Alliance: Michigan and Belize (British Honduras)."

* * *

Mrs. Mosher represented the AAUW, by appointment of Gov. Romney, in the Michigan-Belize Partners for the Alliance in 1966 and is presently serving as Secretary of that organization.

Last spring, she was Michigan's official representative at the third Inter-American Conference in Lima, Peru.

The topic to be studied in depth this year is "Society's Reflection in the Arts." Displays highlighting the projects of the branch are planned for the benefit of visitors interested in membership.

Secret of a Dieter's 'Won't' Power

By BETTY CANARY

It's not every day we discover we're doing without the right thing. Therefore, it was with distinct pleasure that I read the warning saying licorice could be bad for my health.

I didn't have the same reaction when a thoughtful editor sent me a news release warning against excessive coffee drinking. I read it, of course. The woman in the article had experienced lethargy, headaches and insomnia for years. Taking away her coffee pot cured her.

I actually wept over that story. However, after several cups of coffee, I began to feel better about the whole thing.

* * *

Then came the announcement that Chinese food should be avoided. As cholesterol warnings serve to set some to choosing the fattiest meat in the showcase, and cigarette warnings make some nonsmokers react by buying a pack of filtered longs — just because they are supposedly safer than nonfiltered regulars — so did the warnings about Chinese food affect me.

I have never been one to eat eggroll to excess, but this report only served to set me dreaming of duck Mandarin and succulent pork with soy sauce. There I would be—in the middle of a conversation about deciduous trees or the decimal system—and suddenly the vision of a heaping plate of chow-mein would float before my eyes. I, who had not been inside a Chinese restaurant for years, found myself slyly plotting to outwit the doctors. "Bamboo shoots," I would mutter, mouth watering. "Bean sprouts! I have to have bean sprouts!"

AT LAST

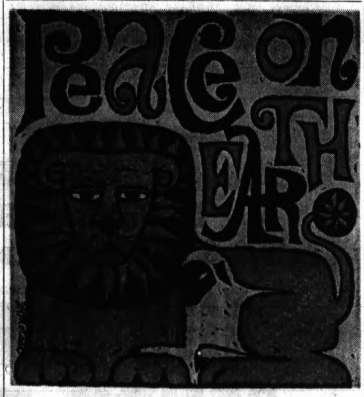

Now I have found someting I can give up gracefully because I do not like it at all. In fact, I abhor it. Oh, truly it is a sweet feeling, this being able to warn others of something I dislike and have had no difficulty in giving up. I'll tell the story about the three doctors at the University of Michigan who cured their patient and lowered his blood pressure when they took away from him the licorice candy bars he had eaten at the rate of two or three per day.

* * *

I'll tell about the Europeans who no longer suffer from muscular weakness and paralysis because they were wise enough to give up their daily ration of un boisson de coco, an alcoholic beverage dontaining licorice.

* * *

It would be worth a trip to Europe just to have somebody offer, "Unboisson de coco?" so I could shudder and answer, "Non! Non!" So far all I've been able to manage has been "Licorice whips? I never touch 'em!"

This Salty Pair's Bent for Pickling Turns a Profit

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)— Mrs. Mary W. McGirt and Mrs. Mary Averill have been peeling platters of artichokes on weekends for the past 15 years. The two Marys, who pickle the artichokes by a secret recipe, claim their occupation is "more fun than bridge."

* * *

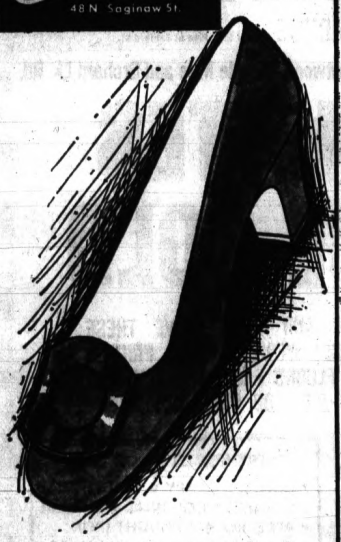

After years of turning out jars of the special pickles as gifts for friends and sale items for the Trinity Episcopal Church Christmas Bazaar, the women are finally making the pickles to sell to the public.

BRINE BATH

All the cleaning, slicing and pickling is done by hand and the sliced artichoke is soaked in brine overnight. It takes all weekend to make one batch and if guests stop by during the process, they are recruited for the tedious job of slicing and peeling the artichoke root.

If you want to save a box of chocolate candy that you receive on a hot summer day, wrap it appropriately and place in home freezer. You can then use it at any later date within about six months.

COMBS-LEFFEW

Holly Women Out of Funds

A "flea market" sponsored by Holly branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will be held Saturday at "Stillacres" on Perryville Road, just north of the Holly ski slopes.

Funds from the sale of antiques, clothing and miscellaneous items will be allocated to the group's two Michigan State University scholarships for Holly area students.

The market will open at 10:30 a.m. Refreshments available.

MISS HOELZEL-SEIPP

Graduate Given a Grant

Liselotte Hoelzel-Seipp, of Bloomfield Hills, has been awarded the 1968-69 Zonta Fellowship for Graduate Women at Wayne State University.

The award, made possible by a grant to the Wayne State Fund by the Detroit Chapter of Zonta International, a classified service organization, amounts to $2,500 in cash stipends to be distributed over the three quarters of the academic year beginning with the fall quarter.

An aditional $500 is granted for purchase of equipment, books and travel to academic meetings.

Miss Hoelzel-Seipp received a teaching certificate in nursing from the University of Heidelberg (Germany) in 1963 and her B.S. degree in nursing from Wayne State's College of Nursing in 1968. She currently is doing graduate work at Wayne State.

Polly's Pointers

She Cuts Food Bill

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I was on vacation when the question arose concerning my grocery bill being approximately $22 a week, excluding milk. I will answer some of those questions as the plan works well for me. I have had courses in nutrition and diet therapy and feel my family gets a well-balanced diet.

* * *

I do not buy canned baby food. I prepare it at home, in my electric blender, from foods already prepared for our table. I buy no "convenience" foods, no frozen or prepared meals. The only exception is cake mixes which are bought when on sale.

When several sizes or a product, such as laundry detergents, etc., are available, I figure to the ounce to see which is really cheaper. The larger, economy-size is not always the better buy.

* * *

I seldom buy snack foods, such as soda pop and potato chips. The children eat fruit, fresh vegetable nibblers, peanut butter crackers and so on when they want a snack. Ice cream is always plentiful, bought when there is a special price. I buy a few frozen vegetables and fruits. I freeze them myself, buying at the end of the fresh fruit or vegetable season. I also make my own jams and jellies.

* * *

I keep a large soup jar in the freezer. Instead of discarding little bits of meat or vegetables that could be used, I put them in this jar and add water from cooking fresh vegetables. When I get two or three jars full, I buy a soup bone or more soup meat and add barley to make a huge pot of vegetable soup. — MARILYN

Retarded Need Volunteer Help

Not every child is returning to school this fall. For the retarded, September does not mean the chatter and excitement of returning to the classroom. Fortunately, there are many programs now available in Oakland County for these youngsters, but volunteers are urgently needed to supplement the professional staffs.

Do you have the patience to work with these children? Progress is slow but so rewarding to watch.

If you have the time and devotion to give, contact the Oakland County Volunteer Bureau in Birmingham.

An open house, hosted by their children and spouses will be held Sunday in First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland on West Huron Street, in honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Brown of Oliver Street. The pair, married in Highland Park Sept. 25, 1918, has resided in Pontiac 49 years. Their children are Rev. Merle Brown Jr. of Barberton, Ohio; Capt. James A. Brown, USAF, McGuire Air Force Base, N.J.; and Mrs. Walter Jensen (Julie) of Oliver Street. There are 10 grandchildren. Guests will be received from 2 to 5 p.m.

Flower Talk

Tulips Brought a Fortune

When tulips were first introduced to Holland, the mania for these flowers was so great the following list of items were given in barter for a single bulb:

4,000 pounds of wheat, 8,000 pounds of rye, four fat oxen, three fat swine, twelve fat sheep, two hogsheads of wine, 1,000 gallons of beer, two tons of butter, one thousand pounds of cheese, a complete bed, a suit of clothes and a silver beaker—all this being worth at the time around $1,200.

Flowers today are most reasonable in their prices, even the flowers that were at one time considered out of reach, through cultivation, hothouses and other means of production all are available.

Cancer-Control Effort Starts

"Cancer-Control — A Family Goal" is the new approach to public education being tried by the Michigan Cancer Foundation this fall.

A series of new films is being developed including "Total Cancer Control," shown by Dr. Frank Jakes, executive vice president of the foundation at a recent meeting of the North Oakland Unit Board of Trustees. The foundation is a Pontiac Area United Fund Agency.

Other films in the series will include "Cancer-Facts and Fiction," "Toward Controlling Cancer in Men," "Toward Controlling Cancer in Women" and "Living with Cancer."

Each film, complete with slides and recorded narrative, is accompanied by informational literature and a discussion guide to stimulate audience participation.

CANCER CONTROL — Mrs. Thomas Seavey Sr., unit chairman of volunteer activities; Frank Jakes (middle), executive vice president of the Michigan Cancer Foundation; and John Madole of the North Oakland County Unit Board of Trustees plan a cancer-control program designed to educate the public. A series of new films explaining the facts of cancer and what is done to control the disease is being developed by the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

AVAILABLE TO GROUPS

The series is available to all clubs and organizations this fall.

Volunteer speakers and program coordinators are needed throughout the county, according to Mrs. Leo Halfpenny, public education chairman.

Anyone interested in volunteering to participate in the Michigan Cancer Foundation's total cancer control program may contact the North Oakland Unit office at 64 Lawrence.

Dodd Says Soviets Supporting Nigeria

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet government is the "prime supporter" of the Nigerian civil war and "has been promised port facilities in Lagos" by the Nigerians in exchange for military aid, according to Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

"This would bring the Red navy into the Atlantic Ocean with a vengeance," Dodd said in a statement yesterday.

AF: F111A Safe but Grounded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite another crash — its ninth — the Air Force still says it's satisfied with the safety record of the $5-million F111A fighter-bomber.

Even so, the Air Force has ordered the planes grounded.

* * *

The Air Force assessment of the safety record of the sophisticated swing-wing jet comes after the latest mishap affecting the controversial plane — a crackup of a test plane in Nevada.

Despite the plane's record, Air Force officials point out that, of the nine crashes the Air Force version of the jet has had, only one pilot has died on the ground. And that was due to pilot error, the Air Force maintains.

Two other pilots were lost at sea, and four are listed as missing with F111As that went down on combat missions somewhere in Southeast Asia.

Partly Funded by Treasury

HHH: Boost Social Security

SEAL BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey advocated today an average 50 per cent increase in Social Security benefits—with part of the hike to be financed, for the first time, by the Federal Treasury rather than payroll taxes.

He also proposed that benefits be made "inflationproof" through "a built in system of automatic increases, tied to consumer prices, to keep pace with rising living costs."

* * *

Speaking at Leisure World, a retirement community with 11,000 residents, the Democratic presidential candidate outlined proposals for the biggest-ever expansion of the Social Security Program.

The vice president's welcome to southern California Tuesday night was warmer than when he came here two weeks ago. Several hundred greeted him at the airport. No hostile demonstrators were in sight. And the reception committee included a bevy of prominent, if somewhat divided, Democratic figures who were notably absent during his previous visit.

YORTY GREETING

Among those greeting Humphrey were Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, California Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco and former Olympics Decathlon champion Rafer Johnson, who was a close friend of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

* * *

During his television appearance, Humphrey spoke optimistically about his campaign "I took up jogging some time ago, but now I'm running." And about prospects for successful Vietnam peace negotiations before inauguration day "It's not just pie in the sky or a vain hope."

And again the Democrat challenged his Republican opponent, Richard M. Nixon to meet him on national television for a face-to-face debate.

BOOST MINIMUM

The cornerstone of Humphrey's ambitious Social Security program was a suggestion that benefits be increased an average of 50 per cent across the board over a four-year period. He said that would boost the present monthly minimum from $55 to $100 for an individual and from $82.50 to $150 for a couple.

Some people would face higher payroll taxes under the Humphrey plan, however, because he proposed that the earnings subject to taxes be increased along with maximum benefits.

TV Tones Down on Violence in New Season

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The bad guys will still take their falls this season on television, but they'll go down much quicker. The rogue who was brought down by nothing less than a hail of bullets will fall when he's winged, and the burly toughs will go out with one punch. It's the way the networks decided to tone down the violence but keep the action.)

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The high point of one episode in a police series this season comes when the man in blue revives a drowning victim by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. In another, it comes when he resolves a family argument.

★ ★ ★

In a new western, the rough, tough hero saves the day — and winds up the episode — by snatching a little girl from under the hooves of a rampaging wild stallion.

"Sure, we're cutting down on some of the action this season," admitted a producer. "Less shooting, shorter fights. But if you think we're rewritting some of our scripts, you should know about the way they are reworking the story lines in the kid's cartoon shows."

The subject under discussion was, of course, violence — or the removal of violence — from this season's batch of television programs. It is done on orders from network heads who reacted after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the tidal wave of criticism directed at television entertainment shows.

NEW STORY LINES

"It seems to me," said one veteran actor who has been dropped by a hail of bullets in many a western shoot-out," that we're just winging the heavies this year, not killing them."

Andrew Duggan, who has played many a villainous role over a decade or so in the Holywood back lots, is playing a good guy in a new CBS western, "Lancer."

"I sure notice a new approach," he said. "We're shooting at them, but we aren't killing them. I keep finding myself taking a shot at somebody, and when he starts to scurry away holding his arm or limping away with a grazed leg, I stand up and shout, 'Get off my land! And don't ever come back.!'

'IT'S OUT — O-U-T'

"Now, I've been in plenty of these westerns, including the pilot of 'Wagon Train.' And it used to be that the writers kept busy figuring out new ways to have a gunfight. I remember one scene when the hero was to knock my guns out of my hands by shooting me in both elbows. Well, that sort of thing is out, O-U-T."

Mike Connors, whose "Mannix" returns for a second season, says frankly that he thinks that there has been an overreaction to the general promise to use violence only where essential to the movement of the plot.

"It's a bugaboo," he said. "Where is the line between unnecessary violence and necessary violence — particularly in an action show?

"Now, wanton violence is one thing — pistol-whipping, knife cuts and long, long fights. But in one case we had a fight in which two blows were struck and the man was out. That's fewer than in real fights."

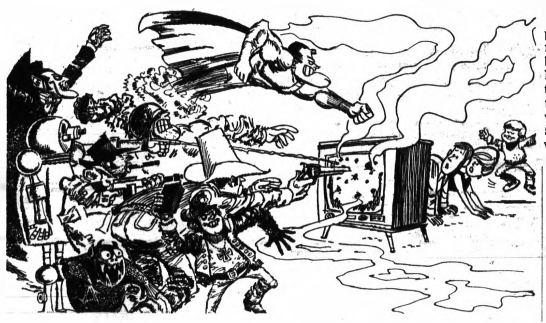

The real change will appear in the new, bland crop of cartoon shows designed to amuse the little viewers on weekend mornings.

It is one thing to be charged with overdoing the action in shows for the older viewer. But no one wants to be accused of setting a bad example for children or damaging tender minds. The new batch of cartoons will consist, their makers insist fervently, of good, clean fun and happy imagery.

The general feeling is expressed by a producer, anonymous as usual when uttering heresy: "This, too, will pass. Every few years we seem to go through some contortions like this. Viewers tune in their televisions sets for the action. And action is just another name for violence."

after 50 years... 2 of Oakland County's finest names in Jewelry are merging into one store!

Under the terms of this arrangement, the name of Pauli Jewelry will be terminated. Connolly's Jewelers, Inc. have acquired all of Pauli's inventory, accounts, layaways, and repairs. In the future, there will be only one store, the present Connolly's Jewelers, who will honor all of Pauli Jewelry guarantees. Any repairs or layaways remaining after the sale can be picked up at Connolly's, 65 North Saginaw, address. It is Connolly's fervent hope that they may be allowed to serve all of the Pauli customers in the future.

The merger of these two stores will enable Connolly's Jewelers to offer an even wider variety of fine jewelry and expand many franchised lines. Therefore, to facilitate this consolidation, to avoid duplication and overlapping, we will offer most of Pauli's stock at substantial reductions and–

Britain's Coldly Scientific Drinking Driver Test Is a Success

LONDON (AP) — It used to be a matter of walking a chalked line or picking up pennies in front of a cop. Now it's all coldly scientific — decided in some police laboratory where a tiny blob of blood is analyzed for its alcohol content. If it shows more than 80 milligrams for each 100 milliliters of blood, you won't be needing your car for quite a time.

Road casualties fell as much as 20 to 30 per cent when the new drink-and-driving law came in last October. Now they have settled as a 9 per cent drop for the first seven months of the year. Only the four-day summer bank holiday gave favorable statistics a momentary reversal.

There's no exact guide as to how many of these accidents arose, directly or indirectly, from use of alcohol. But the motorist certainly has to think twice now before he drinks and drives.

QUICK TO POUNCE

The slightest traffic infringement on a busy city street, the inadvertent crossing of a warning line in some winding country lane may bring up a policeman. If the driver's breath strikes the officer as richly alcoholic, out comes his plastic bag.

"Just blow in here, sir, please."

Refusal to do so means a fine of 50 pounds — $120 — even if it's later proved in court that you were sober. Compliance can mean much more if you've been drinking.

Conviction brings a fine of 100 pounds, four months' in prison, in some cases, both. That's for a first offense. In all cases disqualification from driving for a year is automatic. The fact that a man needs to drive to earn a living is not considered.

PHYSICAL CONTROL

You don't have to be actually driving. It's enough that you are seated at the wheel, at any rate in charge of it.

"It is a tough law," Barbara Castle, then minister of transport, said when she introduced it a year ago. "But then, it is a tough problem.

"Drink plays a part in nearly 30,000 accidents a year. This is a shattering number. Just think what that means in terms of human misery."

The instrument picked for roadside breath testing is the German - developed "Alcotest P80," similar to one used by the West German, Austrian and Swedish traffic authorities.

The motorist slowly blows through a tube. Chemical crystals change color if alcohol is present. The bag makes sure he blows enough air to make a proper test. If the crystals change color beyond the 80 milligram — 100 milliliter mark on the tube, the driver is taken to the police station for further tests of blood and urine.

A biochemist and two hospital technicians, writing in the review Nature, concluded that "As a screen test for disease, it would be rejected out of hand by the medical profession because of the exceptionally high false positive levels."

Malcolm Haydon-Baillie, an ear, nose and throat specialist, says that since breathalyzers work by measuring the acetic acid on one's breath, they might give a positive reading for someone who had sprinkled too much vinegar on his fish and chips.

The Home Office answer is that the breath bag is only a screening device and does not itself secure a conviction. "As to its alleged inaccuracy," a spokesman said, "there is in any case a margin for error allowed."

Latest Home Office figures show nearly 57 per cent of drivers tested had a positive alcholic reaction — they turned the cyrstals green. In the first six months only 44 per cent gave a positive reading. One official view is that the police may be getting more efficient.

"The police seem to be applying the breathalyzer fairly," said Harry Loftus, spokesman for the 3.8-million member Automobile Association. "We feared at the start that motorists might be stopped at random and required to take the test. But we've had no reports of this being done."

The licensed victuallers' Central Protection Society, which looks after the interests of pub owners, says bar sales are back to normal now after the initial shock a year ago, though some isolated country taverns are still hardhit.

NEAR PANIC

When the tests began, there was near panic on both sides of the saloon bars. Drivers hardly dared drink at all, and pub owners saw their take slump 50 to 70 per cent.

Country taverns, beyond walking distance for most of their customers, suffered worst. Conversely the "local" at the street corner in the city had something of a comeback.

It took months for business to pick up again at the country pubs. Even now it isn't what it used to be.

West Germany has been using what it calls the blow-bag for seven years. Any driver who gets in trouble is invited to take the test. The blood alcohol limit is set at 70mg-100ml. over that mark he is taken to a doctor for a blood test. He goes free if his alcohol reading is less than 130mg-100ml and he has not caused an accident. Beyond that, he's considered unfit to drive.

FRENCH CONVINCED

The French have been using the breathalyzer since 1965. Police say they are convinced of its usefulness and accuracy. As in Britain, it is used only as a screening device. The final test is the blood test.

Most Fairy Tales Snow-White, but Some Are Really Grim

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Beware the fairy tale, my son. Goldilocks is far from the sweet innocent she appears to be. And Jack's beanstalk caper is just a cover for far darker deeds. At least this is the theory of one psychiatrist, who fears the effect some fairy tales will have on children).

By JOHN FITZGERALD
Associated Press Writer

MELBOURNE, Australia — There's more to the story of "Little Red Riding Hood" than just a basket of goodies for grandma.

According to a psychiatrist here, supported by many kindergarten teachers in Victoria State, "Little Red Riding Hood is a sexually tempted young girl, with the warning of her mother not to stray from the straight and narrow path ringing in her ears. The big bad wolf does not need much interpretation."

* * *

As a result, the old fairy tale has been unofficially "banned" by some kindergarten teachers, as has "Jack and the Beanstalk." "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" just nuzzles in, but only at a few of the more daring kindergartens.

The mere mention of Grimm's fairy tales and the state's kindergarten teachers recoil in alarm. Definitely not for the younger ears, they chorus. Much too horrifying and frightening.

DEEPER MEANINGS

By way of explanation, the director of a psychiatric clinic, Dr. Francis A. Macnab, said: "Fairy tales closely reflect the deeper meanings of life. They reveal what goes on in your inner mind or soul."

Macnab, who has been studying the psychiatric effect of fairy tales for the past 10 years, conducts two-hour seminars at the Cairnmillar Institute in Melbourne each week. The object matter is solely about fairy tales.

* * *

Macnag is not connected with the state-run kindergarten system. However, many graduates of the state teacher-training colleges attend his lectures and support his theories.

* * *

Macnab, a Scotsman graduate from Aberdeen University, said the basic story in fairy tales often is enlarged. He said there are 354 versions of "Cinderella."

"There is a similarity in the basic theme of goood overcoming evil," he said. "But it is interesting that a spiritual love opeates rather than sexual passion." Little Red Riding Hood, he added, is the exception to this rule.

In supporting Macnab, the principal of the state-run Kindergarten Teachers' College, Heather Lyon, said some fairy stories including Grimm's were far too sadistic for young children.

* * *

First he disobeyed his mother by swapping the cow for beans instead of money. Then he stole the giant's bird which laid the golden eggs.

VANDALISM EXAMPLE

Not content, Jack murders the giant. And for good measure, Jack indulges in some vandalism. He cuts down the beanstalk.

The giant, meanwhile, introduces tiny minds to cannibalism:

* * *

"Fee fi fo fum,
I smell the blood of an Englishman,
Be he alive or be he dead,
I'll grind his bones to make my bread."

GOLDILOCKS A THIEF

Miss Lyon said most children heard about Jack and Goldilocks and their pals well before starting kindergarten.

* * *

"At kindergarten age, 3½ to 5, children have difficulty in distinguishing reality from fiction," said Miss Lyon. "There are plenty of other good stories available."

Nursery rhymes are in a different class.

STRESS ON RHYTHM

The kindergarten teachers see cildren being more interested in the jingle and the rhythm than the words and meaning of nursery rhymes.

Therefore, it's okay to have three blind mice and a farmer's wife chopping off their tails with a carving knife.

* * *

The fly is the eyewitness and the fish is there to provide the trimmings:

"Who caught his blood?
I, said the fish,
With my little dish,
I caught his blood."

GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION

Some critics say that television emphasizes violence too much and that it corrupts the mind and actions of children at a most impressionable age.

'69 Chevelle SS 396 Sport Coupe

The energetic SS's.

We've improved the interior, too. Quieted the ride. Made the Astro Ventilation ventilate better.

Standard V8 is 210 hp. SS engines available up to 325 hp.

You can also order special sport striping; power disc brakes; wide oval, road-hugging tires.

Go on, you other sportsters. Gnash your gears and look tough. Maybe it will help.

Many models now equipped with quiet Astro Ventilation. All engines now cushion-mounted for silent running.

For 1969, your Chevrolet dealer wishes the competition a lot of luck. They'll need it. Come see.

'69 Caprice Coupe

Caprice. Match this, you other 69's!

Putting you first, keeps us first.

There is no joy in the land of our competitors today.

But let us ask you this.

Should we have made the 1969 Caprice shorter instead of the longest Chevrolet ever built?

Should we have adorned it with flashy nicknacks to make it look less expensive?

Should we have put a body like that under just any old roof, instead of the one-of-a-kind roof you see above?

Just because competition doesn't, should we not have offered you the new washers that clean your headlights, the liquid tire chain that you can apply to your rear wheels at the touch of a button from the driver's seat?

Should we not have included a new 327-cubic-inch engine—the biggest standard V8 in its field—and let you order a smooth 3-speed automatic transmission to go with it?

Should we have skipped the improvements in the Astro Ventilation system and the quietness of the ride and not made available the new variable-ratio power steering?

War Poet Tradition Continued in Vietnam

(EDITOR'S NOTE — From Virgil to Rupert Brooke, war has always produced its poets. The war in Vietnam is no exception. To pass the time, to express their innermost thoughts, the fighting men on both sides, the GI and the North Vietnamese, frequently turn to poetry).

By JURATE KASICKAS

SAIGON (AP) — Sometimes there is no other way of saying it except in poetry, when the moment is to be grasped and the emotion frozen for time.

★ ★ ★

When Virgil sang "of arms and the man" he became one of the first of the long line of war poets. The fighting man in Vietnam, both the U.S. serviceman, and his opponent, the North Vietnamese soldier, is keeping up the tradition, as examples printed in American service publications and diaries found on the bodies of enemy dead attest.

★ ★ ★

For one GI at the U.S. air base at Da Nang, the rising sun meant the end of a perilous night. He celebrated it in this poem:

"The sun just came up and the first golden spears
The wounded are moaning, the dead make no sound,
The story of last night is soaking the ground."

A North Vietnamese soldier, expressing the war-weariness of all soldiers, writes:

The flame tree flowers in defiance of the winds and
The flame of war.
Youth must be like the flowers

"I know a year's a long, long time
To spend away from you.
But the saddest part of the whole affair
Is that you'll suffer, too . . .
The task of raising two small boys is always hard enough
But to play the part of both mom and dad
Just makes it twice as tough."

Another American "boondocks bard" hits on the recurrent theme of the reality of war and death for the soldier:

"Today at dawn a round came in.
I lost a buddy, I lost a friend.
I asked myself the reason why
There is need for a man to die."

Across the lines among the North Vietnamese forces, an enemy soldier writes:

"When I had to lay a mine, how my hand trembled,
And then I watched the blasting human flesh, the splattering rain of blood.
Whose blood was it?
The blood of people like ourselves.
My people's blood, mother . . ."

Still another enemy trooper, like all soldiers from time immemorial, thought upon the time when the war would end, and penned these lines:

"When the war has ended and the road is open again
The same stars will course through the heavens.
Then will I weep for the white bones heaped together
In desolate graves."

Another GI wrote the following "ambush prayer:"

"Now I lay me down to wait,
The night is cold, the hour is late
Bullets rip through the night
Men dying is a hell of a sight
The war is not over, only the fight
We will be out again tomorrow night."

A counterpart among the North Vietnamese, writing to a sweetheart back home, combines a love lyric with anti-American fervor:

"Your twisted hair looks like the meadows
In my mother's native land . . .
But comes a time when the mother country is torn by storms, bombs and hate.
I am the mountain standing against the Americans;
You are the river pushing them to the sea.
Do you agree with me that the mountain and river are immortal?"

And a GI, summing up his feelings about the war, wrote:

"In this land of many people
I know they won't forget,
The friends who came and fought
And that freedom will come yet."

'BOONDOCK BARDS' — Most soldier poets stationed in Vietnam write just for something to do, but Air Force Sgt. Daniel Eling (left) of Muskegon, Mich., is among those few who take their writing seriously. Here, he compares notes with a fellow poet, Air Force Sgt. Morey Galbraith of Delta, Ohio. They both work as security police at the Dong Ha base.

GOP Class Set

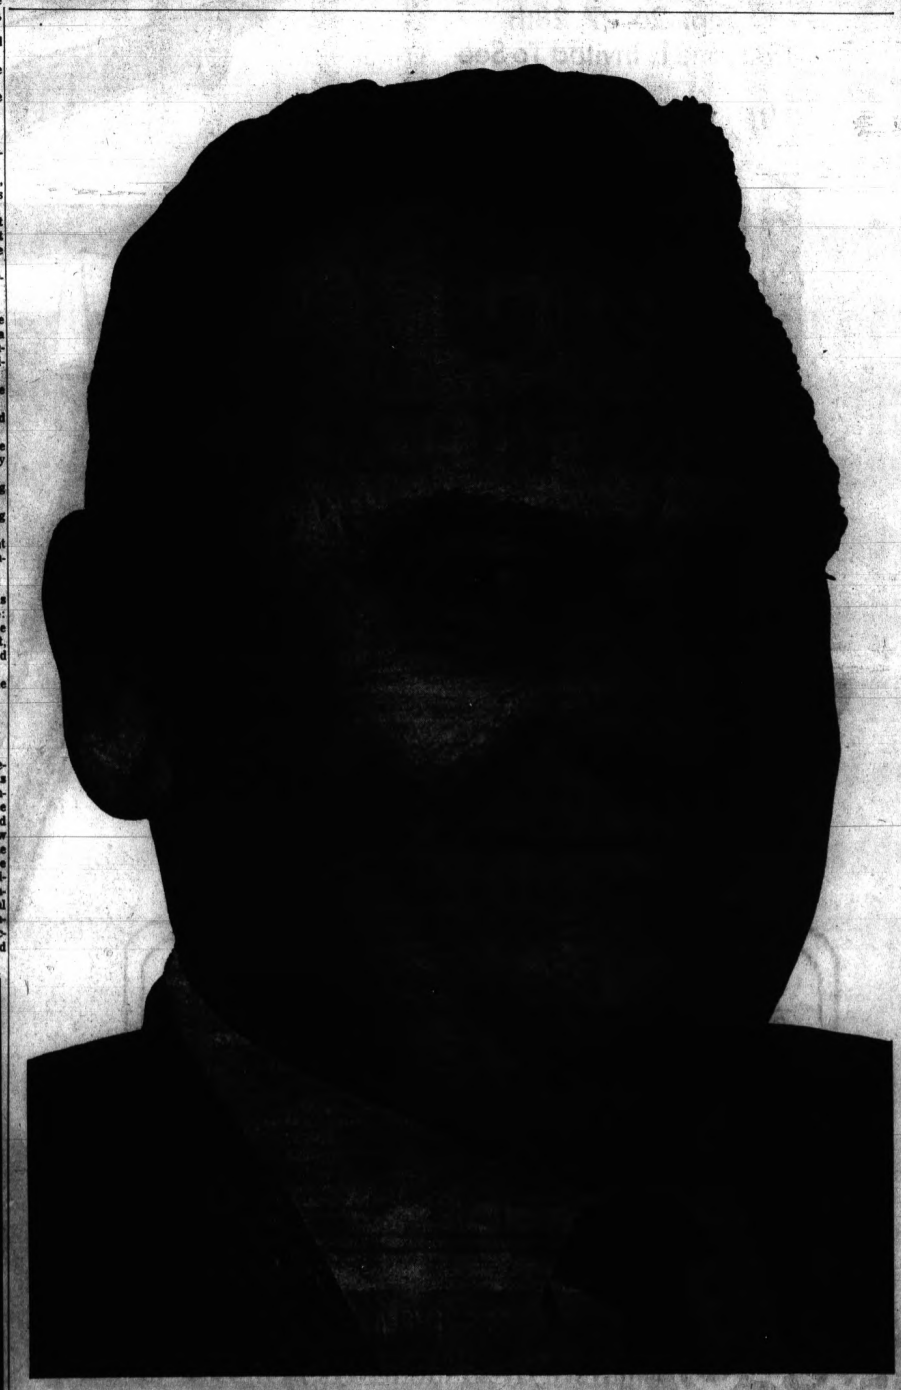

LANSING (AP) — A nine-man team of political experts will conduct a campaign training seminar for members of the newly formed Michigan United Citizens for Nixon-Agnew Thursday at Michigan State University. The team will be headed by Ray Humphries, Director of Education and training for the Republican National committee. Republican campaign workers from every section of the state are expected to attend the seminar.

AP Photo

If one of our 35 models for '69 isn't what you want, maybe what you want isn't a car.

GM

Do you really think you look good in the green sport coat, or does it just sound nice when the salesman says so?

He may be saying it because he doesn't have anything else to show you — and he wants to make a sale. Instead, he'll make an enemy.

We've avoided all that. It was quite simple, really. All we had to do was make sure that our selection was always big enough. So when you come in, our salesmen don't have to say you look good in the first coat you try on. Unless it's true, of course.

Tigers Reach Victory Milestone in Triumph Over Birds

Bengals Down Baltimore, 5-3 for 102nd Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Detroit Tigers may have appeared a bit lackluster since clinching the American League pennant. But Manager Mayo Smith had no trouble getting up for Tuesday night's game against Baltimore.

"I wanted to win this one in the worst way," Smith said after the Tigers defeated the Orioles 5-3 with a three-run fourth inning rally featuring Bill Freehan's two-run homer.

★ ★ ★

By winning, Detroit set a club record of 102 victories for a season. But that had nothing to do with Smith's zealous desires. He wasn't even aware of the record.

★ ★ ★

"I wanted to win," Smith finally explained to puzzled reporters, "because now no other club can beat us in the season series. The Orioles can tie us now, but they can't beat us."

HOLD ADVANTAGE

Going into tonight's final game against Baltimore, the Tigers hold a 9-8 advantage. The runner-up Orioles are the only club to hold an edge over 31-game Detroit winner Dennis McLain, beating him three of five decisions to account for half of his six defeats.

★ ★ ★

Now that the pride versus Orioles matter has been put aside, Smith can direct his efforts toward getting his club ready for next Wednesday's World Series opener against the National League's St. Louis Cardinals.

"Our guys haven't played too well in the past two games," Smith said. "We can't go along like this and then all of a sudden say we're going to 'turn it on' next Wednesday. It's not that easy.

"That doesn't mean I'm sorry we clinched it early. I'd just as soon clinch it in July, if we could. It's only natural for some of the players to have a little letdown, but we can't let it continue.

NOT IMPRESSIVE

Mickey Lolich pitched six innings and brought his record to 17-9, but his next-to-last tuneup for the Cardinals wasn't impressive.

The left-hander allowed six hits, walked three and hit a batsman. One of the three runs he yielded was unearned, but the Orioles stranded eight other runners.

★ ★ ★

Earl Wilson, still in a battle with Lolich for the second Series starting assignment behind McLain, will pitch against Baltimore tonight. Then both contenders will share the mound in Sunday's final regular season game before Smith makes up his mind.

★ ★ ★

Smith said Wilson's hitting prowess, a .235 average with seven homers, would be more effective in Tiger Stadium, but that wouldn't have any bearing on which pitcher starts the second game in St. Louis.

"I'm not thinking about Wilson's bat too much," Smith said. "I need his arm."

Mets' Hodges Hospitalized; Complained of Chest Pain

ATLANTA (AP) — Manager Gil Hodges of the New York Mets was listed in satisfactory condition today at a hospital where he was taken after complaining of chest pains during Tuesday night's game between the Mets and the Atlanta Braves.

Spokesman said Hodges would remain in the hospital at least four days for examination. After X-rays and a cardiogram had been performed, the cause of the pain had not been determined.

"There was no evidence of a coronary nor of a blood clot, but some kind of changes were taking place," said the radiologist who examined the 44-year-old Hodges. Dr. Linton Bishop, a heart specialist, was called in.

Lou Niss, traveling secretary for the Mets, said Hodges complained of the pains during the game, but did not want to go to the hospital.

SECOND INNING

He began feeling ill in the second inning and told pitching coach Rube Walker in the dugout. "I'm not feeling well and I think I'll go inside for a while. You take over."

He told Walker he had chest pains.

Hodges stretched out on a table in the dressing room while club trainer Gus Mauch looked him over. Mauch had suffered a coronary while serving with the New York Yankees in 1960.

The trainer summoned the Braves' physician, Dr. Harry Rogers, who examined Hodges. Mauch and Rogers persuaded Hodges to go to the hospital when the pains did not subside.

Hodges has no history of heart trouble.

Walker, a former teammate of Hodges with the Dodgers, will handle the Mets in Hodges absence.

Hodges, a former All-Star first baseman with the Brooklyn Dodgers, managed the Washington Senators for five years, piloting them to a sixth-place finish last season before returning to New York to manage the Mets.

The soft-spoken former slugger has led the Mets to 71 victories this season, more than they ever achieved in six previous years as a National League expansion club.

Hodges began his major league career in 1943 with Brooklyn and wound up his playing days in 1963 with the Mets. He hit 370 home runs during his 17-year career and had a lifetime batting average of .270.

Tigers Cut Off Ticket Orders

DETROIT (AP) — Enough! Enough!

That was the cry late Tuesday from officials of the Detroit Tigers who are attempting to deal with the problem of distributing World Series tickets.

Publicity Director Hal Middlesworth said Tuesday the club is not accepting any more applications for tickets. He said there are an estimated 500,000 applications already on hand.

The limited number of tickets for the third and fourth series game and fifth if necessary will be sold to those whose applications are drawn from the pile.

All other checks will be returned to applicants, Middlesworth emphasized that the $1 handling and mailing fee included with the applications will be returned also. In other words, if you didn't get series tickets all you lost was the price of the stamps.

The World Series, between the Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals, will begin Oct. 2 in St. Louis. The first game in Detroit will be played Oct. 5.

Ex-Wings Assist Seals in Tuneup Win Over Detroit

OSHAWA, Ont. (UPI) — The Oakland Seals made use of former Red Wings players Tuesday night to score a 3-1 National Hockey League exhibition victory over Detroit in this Canadian city.

Bert Marshall opened the scoring in the first period, pushing the puck past Roger Crozier and getting assists from Gary Jarrett and Bryan Watson. All three Oakland players were once Red Wings.

★ ★ ★

Oakland added a second goal in the opening period on a shot by Billy Hicke and the third came in the middle period by Gerry Odrowski.

The lone Wings' goal was in the final period when Garry Unger, the team's leading scorer in exhibition play, shot the puck past the Oakland goalie.

Both team benches emptied in the final minute of play as Gary Bergman and his former teammate Watson began mixing it up. Watson sustained a deep gash in his jaw during the battle.

Detroit, now 1-3 in exhibition play so far this year, moves to Toronto tonight to take on the Maple Leafs before returning to Detroit for a Thursday night encounter with the Leafs.

Play Walled Lake Friday

Skippers Hope for Dry Field

Late last October on almost a quagmire playing surface, the WTHS gridmen put an end to one embarrassing dry spell at the hands of Walled Lake when quarterback Brad Potter climaxed a 99-yard scoring drive with a two-inch plunge into the end zone.

That touchdown ended a five-year point drought for the Skippers in the annual Inter-Lakes League rivalry; but it didn't terminate two more important and frustrating objectives.

The visiting Vikings rallied (as in their other three I-L outings) to win, 7-6, and extend their league record to 22 consecutive triumphs and nine straight grid championships.

Also, it was Walled Lake's 12th win in a row over the Skippers. WTHS' 26-18 conquest in 1955 also was the last time Waterford has tallied more than one touchdown against the Vikings' defense.

FAVORITE

"They look like the team to beat," Skipper coach John Moffat proclaimed this morning to the surprise of no one.

"Our mental attitude is very good," he confirmed, "but we're hurting with sickness. Potter and (Steve) Goit haven't been in school all week because of the flu."

The two are key members of an experienced Waterford backfield that appears, when healthy, capable of scoring several touchdowns against most defenses.

However, the Skippers' defense hasn't been that effective, causing them to come from behind in each of the first two victories.

STINGY

Walled Lake, meanwhile, has a veteran defensive unit that has yielded just one touchdown in its two opening wins.

★ ★ ★

"We feel we have a pretty good secondary," coach Leo Folsom noted. To date, only five passes have been completed against it (one was nullified by a penalty) and the Vikings have intercepted eight (one nullified).

"We're working to stop their running game," Folsom added. "Our attitude is real good; we have a lot of tradition to uphold, you know. Physically we haven't been in any better shape."

★ ★ ★

Two members of that defensive secondary, Greg Wendell and Bill Welsh, were also on the receiving end of three scoring aerials from senior passer Rob Swiatek in the first two wins.

EXPECTS AERIALS

"We have a feeling they'll definitely try to throw, based on our performance in the first two games," Waterford's Moffat calculated.

The WTHS' rivals hit 14 completions for two touchdowns and 165 yards in their two starts.

The only other I-L member with victories in its first two starts is Livonia Stevenson who will visit Pontiac Northern Friday night. This game should determine if there will be any other contenders beside WTHS and the Vikings.

UNBEATEN

Northern has won once and tied once. The Huskies were upset by Stevenson in their meeting last fall. They haven't generated a potent offense yet.

The PNH eleven pulled out its win at Trenton last week with two fourth-quarter scores against what was a tiring foe in its opening game.

TO TIP OFF — Dave Bing, 6-3 guard of the Detroit Pistons who led the NBA in scoring last season, will start for the Pistons Thursday night in the opening exhibition game against the Baltimore Bullets at Clarkston High School.

Pistons Ready to Play Bullets

MARYSVILLE (AP) — The Detroit Pistons packed up their basketballs, said goodbye to the gym at Marysville High School today and prepared for their first public appearance of the 1968-69 season set for Thursday at Clarkston High School.

Coach Donnis Butcher plans to make at least one player cut from the squad before Thursday's game. The club now lists eight veterans, four draft choices and two rookie free agents.

The NBA club is physically sound except for veteran forward Dave DeBusschere who is still nursing a tender ankle injured last month in a charity game. Doctors say it may be another 10 days before DeBusschere can perform unhampered.

Of major concern to Butcher is the center spot where three players are battling for the No. 1 job. The most experienced of the trio is Jim Fox—with only a single season on the job in the NBA. The other two, Otto Moore and Rich Niemann, are both rookies.

★ ★ ★

"My mind is wide open on our center situation," said Butcher. "We'll be going against some of the best centers in the league during the exhibitions and this should give us a great chance to see just how our three pivotmen shape up."

Southpaw Relief Ace Eases White Sox Pains

By the Associated Press

When late inning headaches arrive for the Chicago White Sox, relief is just a Wilbur Wood away. And for Wilbur Wood, relief is just five days away.

The aching Sox called on Wood to soothe them with another scoreless inning Tuesday night in a record-setting 85th mound appearance, and Chicago went on to a 5-1 victory in 12 innings over Oakland.

* * *

The inning the eighth — left the left-handed bullpen artist needing only 3 1-3 innings to qualify for the American League earned run championship.

* * *

But Wood, with his 1.93 ERA and 12-11 record for 153 2-3 innings probably can't wait for the season to end Sunday so he can get a bit of relief himself. Those 85 appearances have put him in the game about every other day as he broke the mark set by Ted Abernathy of the Chicago Cubs in 1965.

The rest of the league could probably use some relief, too, with only the last eight places in the standings left to be decided.

TIE FOR THIRD

Boston dropped into a tie for third place with Cleveland after getting clobbered by Washington 10-2 while the Indians split with the New York Yankees, losing 5-1 before winning 5-2.

Minnesota pulled within two games of sixth-place Oakland with a 5-3 victory over California in 10 innings.

Wood relieved Gary Peters in the eighth after the A's had scored in the fourth inning on a double steal by Sal Bando and Danny Cater, and the Sox tied it in the seventh on Duane Josephson's triple and a hit by Bill Melton.

Hoyt Wilhelm took over in the ninth as Manager Al Lopez rearranged his batting order to get Tom McCraw in the ninth spot so McCraw could bat in the 10th inning instead of the pitcher.

TIE BREAKER

Ken Berry singled in the tie-breaking run in the 12th, Carlos May singled in another and Buddy Bradford drove in the final two with a hit.

Ken McMullen led Washington's onslaught as he reached base five times on three singles, an error and a walk and scored.

The victory kept alive Washington's slim hopes of catching the White Sox and getting out of the league cellar. They trail Chicago by 2½ Games.

* * *

Mel Stottlemyre won his 21st game with a four-hitter for the Yankees in the opener, but Mike Paul stopped the Yankees on five hits until two were out in the ninth of the nightcap and Vicente Romo came in to get the last out.

* * *

Rod Carew's two-run single with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th kept Minnesota on Oakland's heels. George Brunet of the Angels had a no-hitter until Bob Allison's two-run homer in the seventh, and the Twins tied with an unearned run in the eighth.

Wieck, Birmingham (vice president); Mathael, president; Don Pohl, Detroit (vice president); Clarence Johnson, Royal Oak (treasurer). The MAUU announced that more than 268 events have been sanctioned in the state the past year.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Carter

It may come as a surprise to you to learn how much actual playing time there is in a pro football game . . . A national sports service has released figures that surprised us — they show there are only about 15 minutes of actual playing time in a game! . . . For the remainder of the more than two hours of a football game, there are huddles, timeouts, penalties being discussed or walked off, players smpiling after a tackle, ends coming back after going out for a pass, etc. . . For only 15 minutes or so, is the ball actually in play.

* * *

Here's quite an oddity about Notre Dame football . . . Did you know Notre Dame once went 23 consecutive seasons without losing a home game! . . . The Irish lost a home game Oct. 21, 1905 to Wabash, 5-0, and then never lost another home game till Nov. 17, 1928 when Carnegie Tech beat them 22-7 . . . That loss to Carnegie Tech, by the way, turned out to be the ONLY home game Knute Rockne ever lost in his entire coaching career!

Do you know which athlete in history holds the record for winning the most gold medals for first place finishes in the Olympics? . . . An American set the record back in 1900-1908 . . . He was Ray Ewry who won eight gold medals, and no one has ever been able to top that, before or since.

I bet you didn't know that Carter Tire is offering FREE a pair of snow tires for your car during our World Series Baseball Contest. Watch for the entry blank in next Monday's ad . . . It's your last chance.

Two County Golfers Fail in Seniors Bid

Special to The Press

ATLANTA, Ga. — Edwin C. Dayton of Plymouth was the lone survivor among five golfers from Michigan as a field of 32 players started match play today in the 14th U.S. Senior Amateur golf championship at Atlanta Country Club.

* * *

It took a score of 157 or better to earn one of the 32 berths in the match play phase of the tournament. Dayton was in with a 156, Medalist in the qualifying part of the event was John C. Tullio of Aurora, O., with a 146.

* * *

Michigan golfers failing to make the match play lineup were William E. Holt, Jr., of Bloomfield Hills; George Haggarty of Grosse Pointe Farms; Randall R. Ahern of Royal Oak; and Leo T. Daigle of Lake Orion.

Holt had a 159, Daigle a 160, Ahern a 162, while Haggarty, after an 81 in the first round Monday, failed to turn in a card yesterday.

VIKING DEFENDERS — This Walled Lake foursome is likely to be busy Friday evening when the Vikings entertain the Skippers of Waterford Township in an Inter-Lakes League contest. The four (from left), Pat Pillo, Dan Stapula, Bill Welsh and Greg Wendell, will be patrolling the Vikings defensive backfield and they'll have to contend with a potent Waterford passing attack. Welsh also turned in a sharp performance on offense last week, catching three touchdown passes in the Vikings 44-6 win over Berkley.

Willie Mays Keeps Pressure on Pitchers

By the Associated Press

The Say Hey kid isn't a kid anymore, but you'll sure have a hard time convincing the Houston Astros.

Wondrous Willie Mays, all 37 years of him, cracked his 22nd homer of the season and a two-run bunt to spark a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over the Astros Tuesday night that clinched second place for the Giants.

A two-run bunt?

Yep. Willie, more noted for his long hitting feats, came up with that little oddity to cap a four-run rally in the eighth inning.

LITTLE DRIBBLER

Astro third baseman Doug Rader took so much time fielding the slithering little dribbler down the baseline that not only did Dave Marshall score from third but also Jim Davenport from second.

Mays, whose solo blast in the first was the 586th of his career, also had a single in four trips and stole one base.

* * *

Meanwhile, Pittsburgh's Steve Blass recorded his third consecutive shutout, and ninth straight victory and eighth straight complete game—and in the process helped teammate Matty Alou grab a share of the National League batting lead—as the Pirates subdued Cincinnati 2-0.

In other NL games, World Series-bound St. Louis was a 2-1 victim of Philadelphia, Atlanta socked the New York Mets 7-4 and the Chicago Cubs edged Los Angeles 3-2.

Blass, who hasn't been beaten since Aug. 10, aided Alou in his battle with the Reds' Pete Rose the hard way.

He struck out six Reds—fanning Rose three times.

RAISED AVERAGE

Alou, meanwhile, had two hits in four trips, including a run-scoring double, to climb into a tie with Rose for the batting lead at .334.

Deron Johnson lashed a two-run homer and Tommie Aaron had three hits and scored two runs as the Braves squelched Met rookie Jerry Koosman's hopes for 20 victories.

* * *

However, the Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins survived an eight-hit Los Angeles attack to win his 19th. Adolfo Phillips doubled, homered and scored twice to back him up.

Gary Sutherland's run-scoring double with two out in the eighth let the Phillies sidetrack St. Louis. Rookie Jerry Johnson, who scattered eight hits, picked up the victory, while Ray Washburn, making his first appearance since hurling a no-hitter last week, was tagged with the loss.

Ailing Champion Takes Time Off

TOKYO (AP) — World junior welterweight boxing champion Paul Fuji was released from a hospital today but his physician said the champion has been advised to rest for about two months before he goes into action.

Fuji was rushed to the Jikei University Hospital Sept. 11 after suffering a stabbing pain at the base of his spine following a session of roadwork in preparation for his title defense against Nicoline Lochey of Argentina in Tokyo Nov. 14.

Halfback Lowe Joining Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs of the American football League signed nine-year pro running back Paul Lowe Tuesday to shore up a backfield plagued by injuries.

Lowe, 31, released by the San Diego Chargers last week, played little during the 1967 season after he was injured in the second game. Twice he gained more than 1,000 yards in one season, and in 1965 was the AFL's Player of the Year.

Walled Lake's Defense Is Strong

The Huskies' defense has been strong ever since the poor first-period showing in their opener with North Farmington. It should receive a good test from Spartan signal caller Jerry Detter.

The Farmington-Lathrup contest will mark the debut of the Southfield entry in the league. Neither has registered a win this season and would appear to be building for 1969.

Each has only managed one touchdown so far, and an extra point or safety could decide this meeting.

TRIBE'S SPEEDSTER — Cleveland Indians' outfielder Jose Cardenal makes seeond on a rolling slide in recording his 38th stolen base of the season in the fourth inning of the first game of a twin bill against the New York Yankees in New York last night. Watching the play is umpire Bill Kunkel as the throw from catcher Frank Fernandez gets by second baseman Horace Clark (left). Shortstop Tom Tresh backs up the play. Yankees won this one, 5-1, but the Tribe bounced back to take the nightcap, 5-2.

'M' Readying for Visit to Duke

★ ★ ★

The practice included general work on offensive and defensive plays to be used against the Blue Devils. Coach Bump Elliott said he is putting special emphasis on kicking and passing.

Missed and dropped passes were a major factor in Michigan's 21-7 loss to California last week.

★ ★ ★

Elliott said he will seek an extra year of eligibility for two players injured in the California game and one hurt in preseason practice. Defensive end John Kramer suffered a torn knee cartilege and halfback Dave Farabee broke an arm in the California game. Both are seniors. Sophomore halfback Kirby Sams suffered a concussion in early practice and is still under observation. All three are expected to miss the rest of the season.

★ ★ ★

Big Ten rules allow a coach to request an extra year of eligibility for a player who is injured before or during his first game of the season.

★ ★ ★

However both Farabee and Kramer are seniors and if they would receive a red shirt they could not graduate this spring since graduation automatically terminates a player's eligibility.

Elliott said full workouts are planned for Wednesday and Thursday.

Kings' GM Snaps at Turtlenecks

BARRIE, Ont. (AP) — Larry Regan, general manager of the Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League, fined four players for improper dress at dinner Tuesday night.

Forwards Brian Campbell and Bob Wall, goalie Wayne Rutledge and defenseman Jim Murray were fined $25 each when they showed up at dinner wearing turtleneck sweaters instead of the regulation shirts and ties.

'Odd Man In' Helps PCH Gain Triumph

It was "odd man in" for Pontiac Central's harriers Tuesday in a triangular Saginaw Valley Conference meet at Flint's Mott Golf Course.

PCH runners placed 1-3-5-7-9 for their 25 points, and also blocked off the 10th and 12th spots from their rivals. Jon Costello led the way with a 10:42 to win by 42 seconds.

Ken Long of the Chiefs was third, while Wendell Luckadoo, Mike Martin and Mike Grandberry were the other scorers. The PCH reserves also won.

Mott's Runners Blank Churchill

Waterford Mott runners took the top five places yesterday in handing Livonia Churchill a 15-43 setback in cross-country.

★ ★ ★

Saints' McCall No. 5

New Face Among NFL Runners

NEW YORK (AP) — Don McCall of the New Orleans Saints, widely unknown in National Football League circles until last Sunday, has popped into the limelight with 127 rushing yards against Washington.

As a result of that one day's burst, the former Southern California runner has moved up to fifth place in the individual rushing statistics in the second week of the season.

Oddly enough, the four men in front of McCall all played for losing teams last week. Tom Woodeshick ran 15 times for 129 yards against New York but the Philadelphia Eagles lost the ballgame. Woodeshick's 177 yards for two games puts him in first place. Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, Gale Sayers of Chicago and Donny Anderson of Green Bay also outrank McCall.

INJURED BACK

It was a remarkable comback for McCall, who suffered four cracked vertebrae in a preseason game with Minnesota. At USC he played behind Mike Garrett as a junior but led the team in rushing in the 1967 Rose Bowl. He was drafted by the Saints on the strength of his Rose Bowl play.

Bill Brown of the Minnesota Vikings continues to show the way in scoring with two more touchdowns against Green Bay and a total of five for 30 points for the year.

Raiders Among Loop Leaders

Dixon Paces Runners; Lamonica Top Passer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hewritt Dixon and Daryle Lamonica are two good reasons why the Oakland Raiders are favored to retain the title in the American Football League.

Dixon already has carried the ball 33 times for 194 yards and Lamonica tops the passers with five touchdowns and no interceptions to show for two games. Each leads his individual department.

Haven Moses, Buffalo's talented rookie from San Diego State, is one of the few bright spots in the Bills muddled situation. Moses leads the league's pass receivers with 13 catches for 156 yards.

The kickers have taken over the scoring race with Jan Stenerud of Kansas City showing the way. Stenerud had made good on 10 of 11 field goal attempts and has seven straight extra points. Jim Turner of the New York Jets is next with 25 points.

U. S. Southpaw Perfect Pitcher in Softball Tilt

Richard struck out 15 batters and did not allow a ball out of the infield in seven innings.

Canada defeated Japan 2-0 to remain unbeaten, along with the U.S. team as the tournament entered its fourth day.

Canada has won four, the U.S. squad three. They are the only undefeated teams left in the 10-team field.

In other games Tuesday, Mexico defeated New Zealand 1-0, the Philippines beat South Africa 1-0, the Bahamas won 3-1 over Japan, Puerto Rico downed the Bahamas 2-0 and defeated South Africa 5-0.

Brundage Hits Racism Charge

CHICAGO (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, says racial charges against him are a "complete distortion of facts."

* * *

Brundage made the statement Tuesday after 21 Negro athletes said an assistant coach of the U.S. Olympic team training for the Games at South Lake Tahoe, Calif., signed a petition calling for Brundage's removal as head of the IOC.

* * *

Brundage, who will celebrate his 81st birthday Saturday before leaving for Mexico City, site of the Olympic games Oct. 12-27, allegedly made the racial statements on a national television program.

The Negro group, including assistant coach Stan Wright charged that Brundage "dared us to participate in protest and then threatened us with a quick trip home."

Brundage said the questioned remarks apparently stemmed from a question and answer session following a Sept. 17 speech before the National Press Club in Washington.

'NO DARES'

Brundage said "There seems to be a complete distortion of facts in the matter. There were no dares nor threats.

"The fundamental basis of the Olympic movement is no discrimination of any kind—racial, religious or political. Every competitor is judged on his own merits.

* * *

"The Olympic Games, however, must not be used as a tool or weapon in any controversy and they are not a forum for protest or demonstrations of any kind.

"I made a general statement that demonstrations are not permitted at the Games, that the word boycott is not used in Olympic circles and that demonstrators of any nationality would be sent home. This is a permanent Olympic policy."

Brundage's explanation followed a telephone conversation with Wright and came in the midst of riots in Mexico City between Mexican military forces and students during which at least 15 persons were killed.

* * *

"I told Wright I never used that kind of language attributed to me in the petition," said Brundage, "and that there certainly was no challenge intended of any race or nationality." Brundage also said he had a telephone conversation with Gen. Jose Jesus Clark Flores, IOC vice president and former Mexican Olympic chairman.

Brundage said Flores told him the worst is over in the riots and that the general attitude among the average citizen is that the country is proud to be host to the Olympic Games.

Cage Pairing Revealed

MONTERREY, Mex. (AP) — Uruguay and North Korea will meet Sept. 28 in the first game of the pre-Olympic Basketball Tournament.

Eleven Boxers Named to U.S. Games' Team

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Coach Robert Gault confirmed Tuesday that the 11 fighters who won elimination bouts both in Toledo, Ohio, and Albuquerque, will be going to Mexico City as the U.S. Olympics boxing team.

The team:

112—David Vasquez, New York.

125—Al Robinson, U.S. Navy, Oakland.

132—Ronnie Harris, Canton, Ohio.

147—Armando Muniz, Artesia, Calif.

158—John Baldwin, AAU, Detroit.

178—Arthur Redden, U.S. Marines, Wilmington, Del.

Heavyweight—George Foreman, Houston.

Improvement Target of MSU Mentor

EAST LANSING (AP) — This was a week for correcting first game mistakes as Michigan State prepared for Saturday's football meeting with Baylor.

Coach Duffy Daugherty always has said a team should improve 50 per cent between its first and second games.

This has to be especially true for the Spartans this year, since MSU is being forced to play so many sophomores in key positions.

* * *

Despite the 14-10 opening game defeat of Syracuse, Daugherty said he saw many glaring mistakes—mostly mechanical errors that could be corrected.

The Baylor Bears from Waco, Tex., put on a strong showing before bowing 40-36 to Indiana in their opener. The Baylor passing was particularly effective, leading to emphasis on pass defense in the Spartan camp.

* * *

"They have a happy blend of passing and rushing," Daugherty said of the Baylor attack.

MSU worked partly indoors and partly outside Tuesday. Rain early in the day prompted coaches to schedule the first part of the practice in Jenison Fieldhouse. The MSU squad then went outside to work on a wet field—just in case it also rains Saturday.

Court Slows Tour Players in Golf Hassle

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The American Professional Golfers organization's drive to start its own tourney circuit is temporarily into the rough as the result of a federal court restraining order.

* * *

The APG signed up scores of PGA members and even hired away the PGA's tourney director, Jack Tuthill, as its own.

One of the PGA's prime complaints is apparently directed at Tuthill. Wright's order specifically prohibits the rebel group from "employing documents, mailing lists and confidential information transferred from the PGA to the APG by a former PGA employe."

The judge's order however, mentions no persons by name.

Other stipulations prevent the APG from "entering into any agreement with a sponsor of a 1968 PGA golf tournament" or "soliciting any prospective tournament player to participate in or conduct a 1968 qualifying school."

Northern Back Leads Scoring

Holton's 36 Markers Tops Collegians

By The Associated Press

With the 1968 football season completely underway Lonnie Holton, Northern Michigan's Little All American running back, continues to lead college scorers in the state. He has piled up 36 points on six touchdowns.

Close behind at 31 points is Eastern Michigan's triple-threat quarterback Arnold Fontes. Fontes has scored three touchdowns, kicked 10 extra points and one field goal in two games.

Gene Grady of Northern Michigan is next with 26 points on one touchdown, 17 extra points and one field goal.

Windsor's Bad Ice Halts Hockey Game

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — A Central Professional Hockey League exhibition game Tuesday night between the Oklahoma City Blazers and the Fort Worth Wings was halted after 8:36 of the second period because of poor ice.

There was no score when the game was called after an injury to Fort Worth defenseman Irv Spencer, who slipped on a cement patch in the Fort Worth end of the ice while being checked by Oklahoma City's Bud Debrody. Spencer suffered possible torn left knee ligaments.

In the first period, Oklahoma City's Barry Wilkins also slipped on a bare spot and suffered a groin injury.

Oxford Posts Win

GLENWOOD PLAZA CORNER NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

Along the Outdoor Trail

with DON VOGEL—Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

AP Wirephoto

BEST YET — The best run of chinook salmon in the Muskegon River took place last Saturday morning. All were jacks and many went over 10 pounds. George Szendre (left) of Muskegon and Ron Polichta of Ravenna show four they landed in less than 10 minutes. The salmon are currently stacked up below the Newaygo dam putting on a spectacular display as they attempt to get above the barrier. Some are making it.

Coho Anglerette Left Home

Reward for Success

"He wouldn't take me along," said Mrs. John Hanson.

The men returned north last weekend . . . the wives stayed home . . . and caught four coho.

"It was quite a thrill," said Mrs. Hanson of 2440 Garland. "What surprised me was that the smaller of the two I caught put up quite a battle.

"I thought it was bigger than the first one." The five coho ranged from eight to 14 pounds.

The Hansons and Parentis, of Oxford, boated from Frankfort five miles north to Platte Bay. "The lake was kind of rough on the way back to Frankfort," said Mrs. Hanson.

LARGEST CATCH

But she didn't mind too much. The cohos were the largest fish she had caught. "I caught a northern pike once several years ago."

Platte Bay continues to offer fair coho fishing. At Manistee, Frankfort, Onekama and Empire anglers have to go out five to 10 miles and fish near bottom in 100 feet of water to score. And the results are inconsistent.

The crush of humanity was so great on Bear Creek that the Conservation Department closed the stream to fishing. It was left open this year because of numerous complaints from local residents that "the salmon are going to waste."

It was closed last year because fishermen became so numerous the cohos were barred from migrating upstream. All egg taking this year will be at the weirs on the Platte and Little Manistee Rivers.

Steelhead fishing remains good at the mouth of the Whitney Drain. Pike are beginning to hit on most inland lakes with Huff, Oxbow, Orchard and Commerce among the better area waters.

Grouse hunting has improved in Northern Michigan, but few hunters are out. Woodcock are providing good shooting in Benzie, Kalkaska, Presque Isle counties.

Rabbits and squirrels join the legal list in Northern Michigan next Monday and sharptail season opens the same day in the U.P.

Canine Trials This Weekend

A total of 272 dogs are expected to compete at the Sportsmen's Dog Training Club's all-breed A.K.C. licensed obedience trial Sunday in the Community Arts Building at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

Many of the dogs will compete in more than one class, and the total entries are 350 in the 8 classes.

This unusually large entry has necessitated the addition of a sixth judge, and Rudy Bergstrom of Rockford, Ill., has consented to share in the judging duties.

The first six dogs will go into their respective rings promptly at 8 A.M., and judging will continue throughout the day.

Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club's trial will be Saturday in the same place.

Million-Dollar Park Expansion

Straits Area Facility Will Be Improved

ST. IGNACE (AP) — Final plans for expanding Straits State Park into a million-dollar facility with 510 campsites was laid before an Upper Peninsula gathering here Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

The plans call for adding another 75 state-owned acres across I-75 from the present 120-acre park with access to the new area to be provided by an overpass across I-75 just north of the Mackinac Bridge.

★ ★ ★

Glenn Gregg of the Conservation Department's parks division said he anticipated completion will require five years and that 510 campsites will place the St. Ignace park among the three largest in the state's 72-park system.

★ ★ ★

The only private land now to be included is five acres along St. Ignace's Church Street, which leads into the park from U.S. 2.

BUFFER ZONE

Conservation spokesmen said the private acreage is needed to provide a buffer zone around the park entrance.

More ambitious plans for expansion previously brought serious objections because of the amount of private land which would have been incorporated in the park.

★ ★ ★

Most serious objection Tuesday night came from a private campgrounds operator who charged expansion will amount to unfair competition with him and six other operators in the area.

House Hearings Set on Boat Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Merchant Marine Committee said today it will hold hearings next month in Detroit and Toledo, Ohio, in its continuing study of ways to reduce recreational boating inconveniences.

★ ★ ★

The Detroit session is scheduled for Oct. 9 and, in Toledo, Oct. 11.

★ ★ ★

The committee, which has already held hearings here, plans to visit other regions but no firm dates have been set.

Squirrels Dying in South

Balance of Nature Taking Toll

MAGGIE VALLEY, N.C. (UPI) — The delicate balance of nature has been upset in the southern Appalachian Mountains and thousands or squirrels are dying daily in four states because of it.

Late spring frosts earlier in the year and an August drought drastically reduced the supply of acorns, the main staple food for squirrels at this time of the year.

Tens of thousands of the bushy-tailed animals are roaming the mountains of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee in search of food.

Thousands are dying, many from starvation. Others are killed when they leave their natural habitat in search of food and are struck by cars as they cross highways.

SHORT-CIRCUITED

"We have never seen so many killed on the highways as there have been this year," Tennessee authorities report.

★ ★ ★

"This is the greatest migration of squirrels I can ever remember or ever heard of," says T. N. Massie of Sylva, N. C., chairman of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission.

"Thousands of them are starving to death and being killed every day on the highways," Massie said.

Frank Barick of Raleigh, chief of the game division of the North Carolina commission, said, "The squirrels are desperately moving out of the mountains in search of food. Chances are the squirrel crop is going to be low next year because of mass famine."

RAIDING CROPS

They have been raiding corn fields, orchards and truck patches in a desperate search for something to eat, but they have done no substantial damage to any farmer's corp.

★ ★ ★

The story of hunger in the lush, green Appalachian Mountains was first revealed last week at a meeting of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission at Maggie Valley.

Reports began coming in Tuesday night which indicated how widespread the situation was.

Although it's the worst he's ever seen, Barick said Tuesday night that it was not a "catastrophic" situation.

"This happens every five or ten years," he said. "Some years, like this year, it's worse than others."

★ ★ ★

"Squirrels normally have a high annual mortality rate. Seventy or 80 per cent of the squirrels born in any year are not living by the following year," Barick said.

★ ★ ★

"We are seeing a concentration of mortality in a relatively short period of time," he said.

"However, squirrels are also prolific. Twenty to 30 per cent is sufficient to bring back a full population."

Michigan DU Annual Dinner Set in Detroit

The 11th annual stag dinner of Michigan Ducks Unlimited will be Oct. 8 at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit.

Tickets are $20 a person and are available from Ducks Unlimited, 2167 Van Antwerp, Grosse Pointe Woods, 48236. Jack M. Cudlip is chairman of the Michigan DU section.

An auction of waterfowl and upland game pictures by artists David Hagerbaumer, Les Kouba, David Lockhart, William Tyner, Jim Killen and Chet Reneseen will be part of the program.

A duck hunting film is scheduled. Activity will start at 6 p.m. Proceeds will be used for duck habitat improvement and restoration.

Fun Match Scheduled

There will be a dog fun match for miniature schnauzers Sunday in the Activities Building at Northland Center. Entries will be accepted after 11 a.m. and judging starts at 1 p.m.

West Places Sights on Guns, Miniskirts

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Just about everyone from J. Edgar Hoover to Stokely Carmichael has a theory as to what has caused the increase of crime and violence in this country.

WEST

Communism, television, permissive parents and racial discrimination are among the factors that have been cited.

Personally, however, I'm reserving judgment until I see the results of a survey being conducted by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence.

The commission is collecting information on gun sales dating back to 1920. When the data is assembled, it plans to make a chart showing how gun sales have risen and fallen over the years.

WHAT TO WATCH FOR

The chart will then be studied by sociologists to determine if there is any correlation between gun sales and various social, economic or political trends.

Without trying to anticipate the results or draw any premature conclusion, I thought it might be helpful if I pointed out a couple of things the sociologists should watch for.

* * *

I feel certain the chart will show a sharp rise in gun sales during the 1920s and another during the 1960s. The sociologists will find that during these two periods there also was a sharp rise in hemlines.

Could there be a cause-and-effect relationship here? Is there something about women wearing short skirts that causes men to go out and buy guns?

QUESTIONS TO PROBE

Certainly these are questions the commission will want to ponder when it gets around to evaluating the study.

It also is quite likely that the chart will show an upward curve in gun sales dating from about the time that the auto industry began making cars without running boards.

* * *

The connection there is more readily apparent than the possible tie-in between skirt lengths and gun sales.

Anyone who watches old movies on television is undoubtedly aware of the part that running boards once played in crime prevention.

'FOLLOW THAT CAR'

Any time a crime was committed, a cop would run into the street, leap upon the running board of a passing auto and shout "follow that car!"

Sometimes the cops would do that even though the suspects were fleeing on foot.

Once running boards disappeared, potential criminals knew it would be far easier for them to escape. So they began buying guns with which to commit robberies and other felonies.

* * *

The theories advanced by Hoover, Carmichael and others may prove correct. But until the commission absolves miniskirts and streamlined cars, I'm keeping an open mind.

Police Will Pay for Breaking Door

CHICAGO (AP) — The Police Department said Tuesday it will pay Alice Bielinski, 62, for breaking down her door.

* * *

Three policemen broke into the wrong back door last week in a gambling raid on an apartment near Mrs. Bielinski's. She was shopping at the time.

Ex-Con Enjoys New Life After 64 Years in Prison

Next Wednesday he is moving to a new home in Oregon where he'll help gather 1,600 eggs daily from 4,500 hens on a friend's farm.

In November he will cast his first vote for president of the United States.

On Dec. 20 he will celebrate his fifth year of freedom after 64 years in prision.

And next Jan. 5 he will be 90 years old.

You'd never believe it if you watched him at his latest hobby, bowling. The spry 89-year-old man made a strike the first time he ever rolled a ball. A good average amateur bowler scores around 150. Honeck has hit 122-and you couldn't say he was exactly average.

For killing a schoolteacher in a quarrel, Richard Honeck entered the Joliet, Ill., penitentiary when Victoria was queen of England and William McKinley was President of the United States.

Behind bars he became a forgotten man — until 1963. Mrs. Clara Orth, his niece, who was born two years after Honeck went to prison in 1899, read a story about how he had no mail or visitors for nearly 60 years.

"As soon as I saw his picture in the paper, I was certain I had to see Richard," she said.

"He had such a close family resemblance, and I couldn't bear the thought of my uncle being all alone and forgotten in his final years."

She went to Illinois and persuaded the governor to parole him. She brought him West and Honeck has lived with her in a trailer ever since.

But Honeck didn't retire to a rocking chair. He mows and rakes the lawn. He takes walks. For a man who went to prison before there was an airplane and came out into a world of the atomic age, there has to be a lot of catching up.

ALWAYS ON GO

He's always on the go. So he missed seeing a recent caller — Ross V. Randolph, director of the Department of Public Safety for the state of Illinois. In the area for a speech, Randolph said he wanted to find out if Honeck had resumed the smoking habit he gave up in 1910. Honeck hasn't.

* * *

"We decided to move in our trailer up to Sutherlin, Ore., because my son got a job up there and a friend owns that big chicken farm," Mrs. Orth explained.

Jobless Checks Cut Until Man Cuts Hair

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — When Stephen C. Spangler didn't cut off his long hair and beard, the State Department of Employment cut off his unemployment checks.

The 27-year-old Sausalito resident has asked Superior Court to award him the checks terminated last December when he let his hair grow.

The department decided the extra hair made him unattractive to employers of manufacturers representatives, the last job classification he had. That made him ineligible for compensation, the department ruled and the State Unemployment Insurance Board agreed.

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A 23-year-old man is under treatment for leprosy at the Charleston Naval Hospital.

Navy neurologist Lt. Anthony L. Robbins said the man, who was not identified, came to him complaining of a tingling sensation in his hand. He said other specialists have confirmed his diagnosis of leprosy after complete examinations.

Unarmed War Foe Is Viet Combat Hero

FIRE BASE BUELL, Vietnam (AP) — The heavy enemy mortar barrage lifted and a North Vietnamese assault wave engulfed part of the Americans' defense perimeter. A reserve platoon was ordered to charge through the hail of machine-gun and rifle bullets, to pick their way through the exploding rocket rounds to the breach that had to be sealed at all costs.

One of the men was Spec. 4 David G. Chedester of Walla Walla, Wash., a man who hates the Vietnam war, all wars, as fervently as any protester or demonstrator in the United States.

★ ★ ★

A Seventh-day Adventist, Chedester is a conscientious objector. More, he is an unarmed medic who prowls the battlefield helping the wounded. The job is probably the most dangerous in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

The reinforcements sealed the breach with little difficulty, but the fire was so intense they could not take the lost bunkers ahead of them. The cries of the wounded could be heard: "Medic. Hey, medic."

The 6-foot-4 medic crawled forward more exposed than any man should be if he hoped to live. He reached the first wounded man and hauled him back. Six more times he made the terrible trip into the no man's land where an occasional enemy rocketer could be seen firing. Each time he brought back a wounded GI.

★ ★ ★

"Doc" Chedester, a man without hatred but filled with compassion, will receive the Army's second highest award for battlefield valor for his feats that night several weeks ago. Besides the Distinguished Service Cross, Chedester has won the Bronze Star and is to be recommended for another medal by the 25th Division's 3rd Battalion, 22nd Infantry, for his latest heroism under fire two weeks ago.

BRAVEST MAN

Except for his refusal to carry a gun, the lanky medic might have ridden into Vietnam as the stereotyped hero of an old Western movie. He neither drinks nor smokes and is called the bravest man in a battalion which has its share of combat heroes. He talks with a drawl and is modest to the point of painfulness.

The long face has hard lines around the eyes. The hands don't stay still; that and a nervous and at times almost meaningless laugh show he has seen war at its worst.

Many who become heroes are blessed with steel nerves and the belief they are invulnerable. Not Chedester.

He talks of his deep fear during attacks and his unconscious reluctance to expose himself to fire. But when the call for a medic comes he volunteers every time. "I always say a little prayer before going. I tell God it is up to Him to help me and to protect me so I can do my best. Then I start running."

Says 1st. Lt. Richard Booth of Anaconda, Mont., who has made several mad dashes through heavy fire with Chedester to rescue wounded: "Some men aren't afraid, but Chedester is really scared. But he's got a thing. He just can't stand knowing someone out there is hurt and needs help. It overpowers fear and everything else in the guy and he goes. Everytime he goes."

In his seven months as a combat medic, Chedester has never been wounded. "No real reason, except the good Lord must be watching over me. I figure if you're straight with Him, he'll be straight with you."

After six months combat duty, medics normally are offered the change to go to the rear. Chedester turned down the chance. "The doctors want me to go, but I think I can talk them out of it. I think I'm needed more up there. And anyway, I wouldn't make a very good clerk."

For Hospitals

Disposable Rooms Eyed

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A Pittsburgh hospital purchasing agent predicts that "disposable" hospital rooms will protect the patient from catching something worse than he had when admitted.

George Pettingill of West Penn Hospital predicted the new rooms, a by-product of the nation's space program, will be in use within five years.

The rooms would be placed within regular hospital rooms and inflated until they reach walls, ceiling, and floor to form a disease-resistant lining for the room.

After a patient is sent home, the furniture from the room would be removed into sterilizers for thorough and prompt purification and the "room" itself would be burned.

Missing Digit Almost Causes a Calamity

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Most people complain that there are too many numbers in their lives these days, but in my case one digit too few caused several complications.

Last week our daughter was spending the night out of town, attending a farewell party given in her honor before she took off for a school year away from home.

One of her friends was due to fly in from Maine the next morning to say goodby, and we had strict orders to pick the girl up at the airport when she called to say she had arrived.

The friend called all right, so early in the morning that I wasn't quite sure who she — or — was. It seems she had flown in the previous evening, was staying with her sister and wanted Gay to call her when she got home.

I wrote down the telephone number and crawled sleepily back into bed.

WRONG NUMBER

When Gay returned I gave her the message. But there was a problem. The number I had scrawled had only six digits instead of the required seven.

It didn't take the services of a computer for us to realize that there were thousands of possible combinations, since we didn't know just where the missing number might belong in the series.

Gay was so annoyed with me that if she hadn't been planning to leave home anyway, I think she would have decided to at that moment. Her friend had made a long trip for the express purpose of seeing her, and there wasn't much time left for them to be together.

Faced with my departing daughter's reproachful looks I generously offered her the privilege of calling Priscilla's home in Maine to find out the phone number, or at least the name of the sister's husband. She tried, but there was no answer.

IRATE START

Gamely I started in dialing, inserting "0" between every digit in turn. Most weren't working numbers, but I did manage to get a few people off to an irate start on the day.

When my index finger gave out Gay took over, but she, overentusiastic with her trigger finger, made contact with so many people with far-distant area codes that the search began to get expensive.

Then she called a couple of her out-of-town schoolmates, hoping they might have some clue as to the sister's identity or whereabouts. They didn't.

Every other possibility exhausted, she put in another call to Maine. This time she got Priscilla's mother — and the right telephone number. The culprit was the first digit.

★ ★ ★

"I figured you'd lost my number or something," said Priscilla. "I've been trying to call you back for an hour, but your line has been busy."

Leftist's Hopes Dim in Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — The Soviet intervention in Czechoslovakia has dampened Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike's hopes of returning to power as prime minister of this island nation.

Mrs. Bandaranaike condemned the intervention, but Ceylon's Communist party, with which she has been allied, was silent. Her political enemies, led by the current prime minister, Dudley Senanayake, charged that any Bandaranaike government might "invite" the Russians into Ceylon if she came back to power if company with her Communist friends.

She became prime minister in 1960 but lost the job in 1965 on a vote to nationalize the press.

Elections have been expected in March 1970, but Senanayake, profiting from attacks on Mrs. Bandaranaike and a reviving economy, may call for polling as early as next April. This is his prerogative under Ceylon's system.

Six Geese Help GIs Protect Key Saigon Approach

SAIGON (AP) — Like the "Geese of the Capitol" who once saved Rome from an invading army, honkers are protecting one of Saigon's key approaches from intrusions by the Vietcong.

"We call the our early warning system," explained Platoon Sgt. Mario Palabrico Jr. of Hawaii. His unit of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade is posted at the Y-Bridge, Saigon's main highway link to the south.

* * *

Palabrico is responsible for the "Honk Report" — an effectiveness test of the six white geese who act as sentries beneath the busy bridge.

"It's simple," said Palabrico. "We walk toward the cages and see how close we can get before the geese start honking. The test is made five times a day." Palabrico's written report must show not only the distance, but whether the geese emit a low honk, medium honk or high honk.

* * *

In the Honk Report for Sept. 20-21, the three geese in cage No. 2 honked at soldiers 15 feet away, but those in cage No. 1 made no sound.

Palabrico and the chief goose custodian, Sgt. Laurie A. Baughman of Wagener, S.C., claim that cage No. 1 is too close to the troops and the geese have become accustomed to the Americans.

* * *

The Y-Bridge saw major fighting in the second enemy offensive last May, when Vietcong troops tried to push their way into the city. Since then the bridge has been garrisoned by U.S. troops.

Charlie and Delta companies of the 3rd Battalion, 7th Infantry, don't remember when the geese arrived or who brought them. Rumor has it that some historian got the idea from the story of Rome's "Geese of the Capitol," who saved the city nearly 2,500 years ago in the reign of Emperor Fruio Camilo.

AROUSED GUARDS

According to legend, the geese — placed around Rome in honor of the god Jupiter — were disturbed by the nocturnal advance of the army of the Gauls. Their honking aroused the guards who repulsed the invaders.

The cages at the Y-Bridge are covered in the daytime so the geese can sleep, then be alert for sentry duty at night, said Sgt. Baughman.

While the mimeographed daily Honk Report has turned somebody's brainstorm into a serious military experiment, the bridge guards still don't know if it will work.

"Maybe we'll never find out," said the GI. "In that case, we'll have one helluva meal."

AP Wirephoto

'GEESE OF THE CAPITOL'—Sgt. Christopher Uzzi (left) and Sgt. Laurie A. Baughman, both members of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade, stroll down a Saigon street with geese used as an "early warning system" for men guarding the Y-Bridge, which is Saigon's main highway link to the south. Soldiers claim that the idea probably came from some historian who remembered the story of Rome's "Geese of the Capitol," who saved the city some 2,500 years ago.

Your free sample of new Biz is on its way. Biz soaks out stains and dirt no other pre-soaker can. Test it yourself and see...

"Biz is better"

Housewives all over America conducted tests in their own homes. Given unidentified samples of Biz and the other pre-soaker by an independent testing organization, housewives used both on their own laundry problems.

The results are conclusive:

Biz is overwhelmingly preferred! Housewives volunteered these preferences. For tough stain removal, Biz was preferred by almost 2 to 1. For whiter clothes, by almost 3 to 1.

Biz is the most effective pre-soaker you can buy! Biz soaks out stains and dirt no other pre-soaker can. Biz has Bio-Enzim—a combination of stain and dirt removal ingredients, including enzymes that break down stains and dirt biologically so you can easily wash them away.

Test Biz for yourself. Put your free Biz sample to work on your toughest laundry problems. Soaking in Biz before washing will get out tough stains like chocolate pudding, mushroom gravy, licorice, grass, grape juice, cherry pie filling, wine, tea, blueberry—and many, many more. Yet Biz is safe for all washable fabrics and colors—even delicate lingerie. Take the Biz challenge and go soak your clothes in Biz. You'll see for yourself. Biz is better! Biz soaks out stains and dirt no detergent, no bleach, or no other pre-soaker can remove!

One-Dish Meals Suit Fall Season, Extend Meat

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

A few leaves flutter down and there's a chill in the night air. Football games take precedence on Friday night and Saturday afternoon. The calendar says autumn is here.

Foods change with the seasons. What is appealing on a summer day with the thermometer showing 90 is not what we want now.

But time is always the enemy. Modern cooks resent having to spend too many hours "slaving over a hot stove." The present generation doesn't have any idea of what that really means, but it serves the purpose.

Fortunately, good meals don't have to take all day. One handsome appetizing main dish, a salad and dessert, if you like, will keep the family happy. Some of these dishes can wait for laggards and still be good.

There's always tuna fish and noodles and spaghetti and meat sauce. But why not try something different?

★ ★ ★

Ground beef is a standby for most cooks. In this first recipe, you can complete the entire dish which is a full course in an hour. Served from the skillet, it is a time and dish saver.

Meatball Carousel

1½ pounds ground meat for meatloaf
¾ cup chopped onion
½ cup dry bread crumbs
One 5½-oz. can evaporated milk
1 egg, beaten
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup flour
2 cups water
2 beef bouillon cubes
One 16-oz. can diagonal-cut green beans, drained
One 7-oz. can vacuum-packed golden whole kernel corn, drained

Combine first 7 ingredients; shape into 12 to 14 meatballs. Brown meatballs in small amount of vegetable shortening; remove from pan and drain on paper toweling.

MAKE SAUCE

Drain excess grease from skillet. Scrape skillet to loosen meat crumbs; stir in flour. Add water and bouillon cubes; bring to boiling, stirring constantly until smooth. Add meatballs; cover and simmer 35 minutes. Push meatballs away from sides of pan; spoon green beans around outside edge and corn into center of skillet. Cover and simmered an additional 10 minutes or until vegetables are heated through. Serve in skillet. Yield: 6 servings.

MEATBALL CAROUSEL

MARKET BASKET

Mexican food seems to become more popular all the time. Many a sophisticated dish has come out of Mexico and the following one is no exception.

Chicken Azteca

1 broiler-fryer (2½ to 3 pounds), cut up
½ cup flour
¼ cup pure vegetable oil
1 cup uncooked regular rice
1 green peper, chopped
⅛ cup sliced stuffed green olives
2 cans (8 ounces each) OR 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits
1 can (10½-ounces) condensed chicken broth
1 package (1¼ to 1¾ ounces) chili seasoning mix

Dust chicken lightly with flour; in skillet brown in oil. In 2-quart casserole combine rice, green pepper and olives; arrange chicken on top. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over chicken.

Bake, covered, at 350 degrees for about 1 hour or until rice is tender. Toss lightly before serving to fluff rice. Makes 4 servings.

NOTE: If desired, brown chicken in 2-quart top-of-the-stove casserole or large, deep (2-quare capacity) skillet with an oven-proof handle; remove. Discard fat in skillet and stir in rice, green pepper and olives. Top with chicken and proceed with preparation and baking as recipe directs.

CHICKEN AZTECA

Have you ever considered using frozen French fries in an oven dinner? They crisp and brown while skewers of ham and banana cubes are heated with a fruit glaze.

BAKE-A-DINNER

1 loaf (1-pound) unsliced rye bread
Butter
1 pound cooked ham, cut in 1-inch cubes
2 bananas, cut in 1-inch slices
Skewers
1 package (1-pound) frozen French fries

Glaze

⅔ cup grapefruit juice
¼ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard

Slice off ends of loaf, leaving center section about 6 inches long. Cut in half lengthwise; butter cut surfaces. Place bread, crust side out, at either end of a 10x6x2-inch baking dish.

Thread alternating pieces of ham and banana on long skewers. Cut slits in top of bread and fit skewers in them. Arrange frozen potatoes in dish between bread halves. Make Glaze: Combine all ingredients in small saucepan; boil 5 minutes. Brush ham and banana generously with glaze. Heat at 400 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown.

Corned Beef and Noodle Casserole

Canned corned beef is definitely a convenience food. When added to a casserole of noodles, mushrooms, peas and cottage cheese, it's part of a hearty one-dish meal.

1 package (8 ounces) medium noodles
¾ cup chopped onion
1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup cottage cheese, sieved
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 package (10-oz.) frozen peas, cooked and drained
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 can (12 ounces) corned beef, chilled
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook noodles according to package directions. Drain. Saute onion and mushrooms in butter until onion is yellowed. Combine with sieved cottage cheese, sour cream, peas, pimiento and Worcestershire sauce. Toss with noodles.

★ ★ ★

Cut chilled corned beef into cubes; fold into noodle mixture. Turn into a shallow 2½-quart casserole. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake in a 350 degree oven 30 minutes or until mixture is heated through. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CORNED BEEF AND NOODLE CASSEROLE

Yogurt Has No Magic; Just Good to Eat

Ever wonder about yogurt? How much truth is behind the miracle tales related by health faddists?

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service, yogurt is a very healthful food which can stand on its own true merit without an "magical" properties. Yogurt is a close relative of buttermilk, sour cream and cottage cheese . . . all being made by adding culture to a basic dairy product.

But it was not until the turn of the century that the bacillus which turns milk into yogurt was isolated and the commercial production of yogurt made possible.

SERVE ANY TIME

The manner in which yogurt is consumed varies. Some like to use it to top their morning meal, others heap it high on luncheon fruit plates. As a dessert item, flavored yogurt is mighty popular.

★ ★ ★

Consomme served with a dollop of plain yogurt is an inviting way to start dinner. For calorie counters, yogurt makes a tasty dip for crisp carrot, green pepper, celery and cauliflower.

Prepared puddings made with yogurt as half the required liquid certainly are flavor-enchanting.

In cooking, yogurt is unique, for it loses its own characteristic flavor, yet helps to intensify others. As a marinade it is perfect. Right now is a perfect time to introduce yogurt in your household when September dairy products are especially plentiful.

Try these family-pleasing yogurt dishes:

YOGURT FRUIT SALAD MOLD

Dissolve 1 package peach flavored gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Stir in ½ cup cold water or syrup drained from canned peaches. Slowly blend into 1 cup plain yogurt.

Chill mixture until slightly thickened. Fold in 1 cup of canned peach chunks. Pour mixture into a fancy shaped 3-cup mold. Chill until firm.

YOGURT-BEEF KABOBS

To every pint of yogurt add 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon ginger and a pinch of pepper. Add 1½ pounds boneless beef steak cut into 2-inch cubes. Marinate 1 hour.

Thread meat on skewers alternately with tomato wedges, mushroom caps and small white onions. Sprinkle with ginger. Broil 'til done, as desired, basting occasionally with melted butter and marinate. Serves 4.

SUBTLY SPICED YOGURT

To every pint of yogurt add ¼ cup lemon juice, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons ground coriander, ½ teaspoon dried ground chili peppers and ¼ teaspoon anise.

Place chicken pieces in marinade, cover and refrigerate overnight. Drain well. Brush with oil and roast in a 375 oven until tender.

YOGURT DRESSINGS

For subtle flair to fresh fruit salads and crispy fresh greens, spark yogurt with lemon or lime juice. Blend with large curd cottage cheese as desired. Serve a dollop atop your salad creations, and sprinkle with chopped mint for added interest.

Veal Stew Has a Creamy Sauce

Veal is as expensive as steak, sometimes more so. But one pound used in a creamy stew will serve four. The budget can probably stand that.

VEAL STEW WITH CREAMY GRAVY

3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 pound boneless veal, cut into strips
3 tablespoons butter
2 cups water
4 medium potatoes, peeled and cut into eights
4 carrots, peeled and cut into 1-inch pieces
1 cup sliced onions
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup instant nonfat dry milk
1 tablespoon flour
½ cup water
½ cup Parmesan cheese

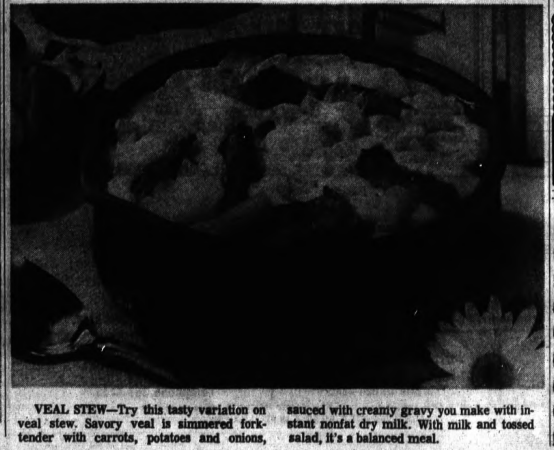

Combine flour and salt; coat meat with mixture. In a large covered skillet melt butter; brown meat on all sides. Add water; cover and simmer 45 minutes-1 hour or until meat is almost tender.

ADD VEGETABLES

Add potatoes, carrots and onions; sprinkle with salt. Cook 30-45 minutes or until vegetables are tender.

In a small bowl combine nonfat dry milk and flour; gradually stir in water until smooth. Gradually add to skillet. Cook, stirring constantly, until liquid is thickened; cook 2 additional minutes; stir in Parmesan cheese. Makes 4 servings.

CHICKEN AZTECA

VEAL STEW—Try this tasty variation on veal stew. Savory veal is simmered fork-tender with carrots, potatoes and onions, sauced with creamy gravy you make with instant nonfat dry milk. With milk and tossed salad, it's a balanced meal.

Ireland's Problem: It's a Land of Too Little People

DUBLIN (AP) — Ireland is prosperous as never before — but its biggest single export is people.

The government has launched an ambitious program to bring in new industries, but there's no immediate prospect of creating enough jobs to keep the youth at home.

"Sad as it is to see the young go," said one Irish philosopher, "in some ways it has been Godsent in that we have been able to export our unemployed."

Ireland's people trouble began with the potato famine of 1846-47. Hundreds of thousands died when the potato crop failed. Equal numbers fled the country — mostly to the United States.

EXODUS CONTINUES

The exodus continues at a rate of 10,000 to 20,000 young men and women every year. The population was nine million before the famine. It is now 2.9 million.

The Irish find depopulation feeds on itself — the more people leave, the less manpower is available to produce the necessary goods and services and the less attraction there is for others to stay.

★ ★ ★

"We all look forward to the day when nobody will be compelled to leave Ireland through economic necessity," says Joseph Cardinal Conway, the Roman Catholic primate. "But the fact is that thousands are compelled to emigrate annually and, even if we put our best foot forward now, the situation would continue for some years to come."

"Our Connemara lakes and mountains are superb scenic attractions for visitors, but you cannot live on scenery," said Mayo cattle trader John Dunphy. "The fresh air here increases the appetite but you just cannot eat the view."

IRISH BEST-FED

Yet a recent report by the World Health Organization showed the Irish as the best-fed people in the world, with a higher caloric intake than even the United States.

The emigrants fall broadly into two types — young skilled workers and younger unskilled ones.

Many teen-age boys and girls go to England, where bureaus have been opened to help them find homes and jobs. A million Irish-born people live in Britain.

The social services in England provide an attraction — immediate relief as soon as an Irishman steps off the boat plus free medical care. Some go as a form of protest against dull village life. And girls find more freedom in England.

Official records list 29,033 emigrants to the United States since 1962 and 6,538 to Canada.

The number going to Canada increased from 452 in 1962 to 2,181 in 1967. In the same period emigration to the United States dropped from 5,354 to 2,665 last year.

Many young Irishmen look to Canada because of the U.S. draft. Canada has no draft, and besides offers free passage to would-be settlers.

SOME INEVITABLE

Octogenarian Archbishop Joseph Walsy says: "All of us admit that some emigration is at present inevitable, but is it necessary to have the mass emigration that has been going on?

"In the past 10 years, quite a number of young people have qualified in medicine, science and engineering, but how many of them are now working in Ireland? Too many young Irish people are using their talents not to build up their own country but to help to bring prosperity to other lands."

The Industrial Development Authority says it has been encouraged by the movement of foreign firms into Ireland. More than 270 have set up shop in the past nine years. A spokesman says the record might have been better except for tourist-bait advertisements based on leprechauns and malt whisky.

Day, Week Set

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has proclaimed Sept. 29 as Gold Star Mothers Day and Oct. 7-13 as Michigan International Speedway week.

"Our development program calls for an expansion of the tourist trade," said John Murray of the Tourist Board. "We won't do that by abandoning the little people. Anyway, the world wants to believe in them."

Tunes You Can Whistle Make Score With Top Pop Composer

(EDITOR'S NOTE — A good song has to be able to be whistled. Melody is the thing. It might take hours to write one bar. Sound like a square who is sore because he never gets near the rating charts? It's Burt Bacharach who currently has four hits up near the top.)

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK — Burt Bacharach has this thing about melody.

"Down under all the electronic gadgets," argues Bacharach, "and those 24-track tapes which don't get me wrong, I love—at the root of it all, there still has to be a song that can be whistled."

But if that sentiment suggests a dated square, you just aren't tuned in on the frentic pop music world where closely watched rating charts settle all arguments about what is or isn't groovy.

FOUR NUMBERS HIGH

Four Bacharach numbers are currently up high, and in the nine years since he first hit hot with "Magic Moments," his success sequence has included "Walk on By," "Alfie," "Wives and Lovers," "What's New, Pussycat?," and "What the World Needs Now."

The composer isn't sure just how many numbers he and his lyricist-partner, Hal David, have turned out. Their mood ranges wide but the numbers all rely on highly hummable content, in contrast to the atonal rhythmic emphasis that much of the competition features.

Now the creative duo are busy on their first Broadway musical, "Promises, Promises." The show, adapted by Neil Simon from the film "The Apartment," is scheduled for November debut.

"I hope it all won't sound like we've changed gears just because we're on Broadway," Bacharach says of the 16 songs. The score has been in preparation for a year and, according to its sire, "feels good."

STRONG FOR MELODY

He has been a strong believer in melody ever since one of his teachers, the noted French composer Darius Milhaud, cured him of a certain youthful reluctance.

★ ★ ★

"I was ashamed to show him the second movement of an exercise," Bacharach recalls, "because it had a very melodic air. Milhaud said 'never be ashamed of something that people can whistle.' "

★ ★ ★

The advice, plus a certain amount of inertia, channeled his energies away from serious composition when studies ended, an army stint was completed and chance got him a job as accompanist for Vic Damone.

"I got a taste of a wholly different kind of life. I liked the orange juice and all that went with it. I wanted to live in very comfortable surroundings and I wasn't going to get it writing serious music. I just didn't want to do it enough."

NO ROOM FOR CHANCE

In the years since, however, Bacharach has succeeded only by enforcing a stern discipline of his own devising. For in this business of turning out hit songs, there's no room for chance.

"What it comes to is a realization," he says, "that you can write what you think is a wonderful song and have it die because something is wrong with the recording that was supposed to make it sell. If that isn't right you can just about forget the song.

"I go through three times the agony over that part of the job," he says.

He sees no coincidence in how the popularity of his songs has gone up since he started doing his own orchestrations six years ago.

HE KEEPS TAB

For "Promises, Promises," Bacharach hasn't time to do the arrangements, but he's keeping close tabs on that operation.

Involvement in the show also means that he won't be conducting for Marlene Dietrich when the fabulous Teuton comes to Broadway this fall for a limited engagement, an assignment he's been handling for the past decade amid other activities.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

"She scared the hell out of me at first—she's really like that legend," says Bacharach. "Afterwards she never did anything but listen to me—if she was rushing a song and things like that."

AWAY FROM FAMILY

Broadway also means that he's been temporarily separated from his wife, Angie Dickinson, and their 2-year-old daughter, Lea Nikki.

As change-of-pace activities, Bacharach recently has been dividing his attention between a restaurant he bought in the suburban environs of Westbury, Long Island, and on development of a racing stable.

★ ★ ★

"It would be more sensible to buy cows in Georgia, I guess," he says of the latter interest. "But horse racing is a great release for me."

The Bacharach track silks are two tones of blue, graced with a pair of eighth notes.

Bush Babies to Be Studied

Since not much is known about bush babies, the National Geographic Society is supporting an expedition to study them in depth.

Bush babies sleep all day and roam all night in the forests of Africa. Expedition scientists will use infrared scoped and lights to observe and photograph their activities. The tearful, haunting cries that gave bush babies their name will be registered on tape recorders.

The investigation will be headed by Dr. Gerald Anthony Doyle, senior lecturer in the Psychology Department of the University of the Witwatersrand. Dr. Doyle earned his doctorate at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio.

SIZE VARIES

Bush babies range from mouse-size to cat-size. They have long, bushy tails and large ears that can be wiggled individually.

The bush baby has fleshy pads on toes and fingers that serve as suctioncups.

Extremely nimble, the bush baby gallops through the trees, moving fore and hind feet together.

The bush baby cannot move its big, soulful eyes in their sockets. To look at something to one side of its field of vision, it must turn its head. The neck can swivel almost 180 degrees.

Dr. Doyle said observations and experiments are progressing on three established families of bush babies living under seminatural conditions.

★ ★ ★

The investigation is part of a general program of research on prosimians, the suborder of primates that includes three shrews, lemurs, and tarsiers as well as bush babies. The research may help explain how behavior patterns in primates, including man, have developed through the eons.

Ship Annual Says U.S. Pullout Would Bare SE Asia Coast

LONDON (UPI)—The latest edition of the authoritative Jane's Fighting Ships contends the entire coast of Southeast Asia would be open to infiltration or conquest when and if the United States pulls out of Vietnam. It said this area could be the scene of a Russian-Chinese communist showdown.

Jane's, which draws its information from unofficial as well as official sources, said the Soviet Navy had turned the Mediterranean into an "uneasy lake" but said the presence of the Russians in all the oceans of the world appeared more defensive than aggressive.

In a report on naval strength, it said the Russians now have 325 conventionally powered submarines to 116 for the United States and 300 submarine chasers and patrol boats against 25 in the U.S. Navy, but added that the United States still leads in all major categories.

Jane's said America's allies apparently do not fully realize what a service the U.S. Navy, Marine Corps, naval airmen, troops and amphibious forces have been rendering in and off Vietnam.

LITTLE SUPPORT

"It has been a discouraging, puzzling and enervating war and the U.S.A. has had little material support from most other nations," the British annual said.

"There is a growing feeling among senior U.S. officers that never again ought the U.S.A. to venture into any foreign mainland conflict, and that once the war is over, U.S. forces will never set foot in Asia.

"If and when the U.S.A. pulls out, the whole Pacific seaboard from Siberia to Sumatra would be wide open to infiltration or to conquest by the largest and most interested environment power or powers. The final showdown might be between Communist China and the U.S.S.R."

★ ★ ★

Jane's said the rapid buildup of the Soviet Navy into a vast fighting force second only to that of the United States has changed the character of the Mediterranean from an international ocean passageway for the Far East into an uneasy lake.

DEFENSE STRATEGY

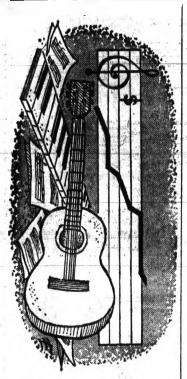

But it said those who are alarmed by the sight of the Soviet Navy powerfully involved in all the oceans of the world may be wrong in assuming its dispositions are "provoking or aggressive." Close study of the Russian fleet indicates, in fact, that the Soviet marine strategy may be more "defensive or containing."

And its newest ships, the publication said, appear to be designed to reply to an attack rather than initiate one.

Jane's said it would be a good idea for the allies to cover Russian ships in the same way, but only the United States has the capability of doing so.

Jane's said the three big naval events of the year were the capture of the American intelligence ship Pueblo by North Korea, the sinking of the Israeli destroyer Elath by an Egyptian missile motor boat, and the continued shutdown of the Suez Canal.

Music Strikes Responsive Chord in U.S.

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

Every year the number of amateur music-makers in the United States keeps growing — and it's the youngsters who have been pushing the statistics to a new high note.

That situation is reflected in the annual report of the American Music Conference on "Amateur Instrumental Music in the United States — 1967."

On the other hand, the 1967 retail sales of the music industry, including new instruments, sheet music, instrument accessories and instructional aids, tapered off a little from the steady climb that brought a record high in 1966.

The youth movement in this field has been going on for about two decades.

ONE IN 7.2 PLAY

In 1950 it was estimated that one in every 7.2 Americans — young and old — played or studied a musical instrument. In 1967 the ratio was one in 4.6.

The Conference's estimates

show that in 1950 there were 20 million amateur instrumentalists in the country, of whom 17 million were adults (over 21) and only 3 million were students (ages 4 to 21).

In contrast, the total at the end of 1967 was 43.9 million, and the proportion of youngsters was much higher — 17.1 million in the 4-to-21 bracket and 26.8 million adults.

Of course the youth population has been growing rapidly, but the number of music students has grown faster. The report says that between 1950 and 1967 the number of student musicians increased more than 470 per cent, while the population in the 4-to-21 bracket went up less than 80 per cent.

INCREASE GROWS

The growth figures show that the musicians increased a million a year in the 1950s. 1.6 million a year in the early 1960s and 2.3 million a year in the past three years.

The retail sales figures of the music industry reached an all-time high of $954 million in 1966 and last year came down to $924 million. Within that figure the sale of approximately 3 million new instruments brought a total of about $756 million.

★ ★ ★

The Conference report says that "the decline in sales was attributed primarily to the public's hesitancy to commit itself to major household purchases (thus influencing sales of pianos and organs), the draft and its uncertainties for many young people, an unusual record since 1963 of guitar sales (resulting in a large buildup of good used instruments) and tighter school budgets (resulting in schools postponing even normal purchases of band and orchestral instruments)."

People in the News

By The Associated Press

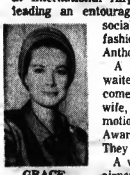

Fred Anderson, candidate for Congress, has climbed Colorado's 14,148-foot Mt. Democrat and proclaimed, "I'm the first Republican to be supported by the highest Democrat in the nation."

Anderson, 40, a state senator seeking to unseat Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., said his only disappointment after reaching the summit of the peak east of Leadville was "not finding any voters there."

Anderson, farmer and cattle feeder, made the two-mile-long climb from Kite Lake to the top of Mt. Democrat with Jim Disney, Colorado artist who has scaled 44 of the state's 53 peaks higher than 14,000 feet.

Rainier, Grace in Texas for Fashion Gala

GRACE

RAINIER

A crowd of about 650 waited in the rain to welcome the prince and his wife, the former actress and motion picture Academy Award winner Grace Kelly. They arrived separately.

A welcoming party at the airport included 65 members of the Chamber of Commerce red carpet committee, Gov. John Connally and several HemisFair officials.

After private tours of the San Antonio area today and trips to the Alamo and HemisFair tomorrow, the royal pair will be guests of honor tomorrow night at the fashion show and dinner.

Actor's Son 'Conscientious Objector'

Christian Hayden is a "dogmatic, routine and ordinary" conscientious objector, Judge Warren Ferguson said yesterday in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles. He found the 19-year-old son of actor Sterling Hayden innocent of failing to report for induction.

"No reasonable person whoever read his file could come to any other conclusion," said Ferguson. "He believes in the Supreme Being and because of this belief in a Supreme Being is opposed to killing and violence. Why the draft board failed to see this is beyond my comprehension."

Young Hayden was indicted by a federal grand jury in April on charges he failed to report for induction in March. Ferguson returned the verdict after a one-day nonjury trial as a group demonstrated outside against the draft.

Sterling Hayden won the Silver Star for heroism as a Marine captain in World War II. Asked as he left the courtroom if he was proud of his son, he replied, "Damn well right! It pleases me so much for cases pending, too."

Doctor, 90, Treats World War I Vets

Mombert, 90, a more-or-less retired physician from Santa Barbara, Calif., is the man assigned the task of treating major and minor ailments of the veterans whose average age is 74. This week Mombert is serving in his traditional role as national surgeon for the veterans' convention, a post he has held for five years.

"Considering their ages," Mombert said, "these World War I veterans are a pretty healthy lot."

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I have recently sold two holdings and put the money into Lane Wood Inc. which I'm told will double in a year. Do you think this was a good investment? — H.B.

A — Yes, I do feel that Lane Wood is a good investment on a long-term basis. However, your friend appears to have been overenthusiastic. Because of the many unforeseen situations that can disrupt the market, I would, in the future, be wary of anyone who states positively that a stock will double in price in a given length of time. Lane Wood, a Dallas-based company, derives 80 per cent of earnings from sales of mobile homes and 20 per cent from oil and other holdings. Earning in the last fiscal year, ended April 30, were $1.02 a share, and a comfortable increase is estimated for this year.

There is a sizable — over 20 per cent — dilution factor from conversion of debt and preferred issues. A recently proposed secondary offering should not be difficult for the market to absorb. Proceeds may be used to acquire additional firms in the mobile home industry.

* * *

Q — I am self-employed, in my early 40s, have three boys to educate and am eligible for a retirement plan under the Keogh Act. We have been able to put money away systematically toward retirement but may have to dip into it for college tuitions. Would you advise my taking advantage of Keogh plan? — L.S.

A — I would hesitate to advise your using the Self-Employed Pension Act for the very reason you have given: the possible need for these funds to meet future expenses. Monies invested under this act are frozen until age 59½, except in cases of severe disability or death. However, if you are in a higher tax bracket, the advantages of income tax deferment may outweigh this consideration.

I strongly suggest a thorough study of your individual situation with the assistance of your attorney or tax accountant, either of whom may point out fiscal advantages of which you are unaware.

Woman Fined in Drug Case

A former Pontiac teacher was fined $100 yesterday in connection with growing marijuana in a flower box at her home in Waterford Township.

* * *

The fine was imposed on Mrs. Alice Henry, 40, of 3518 Lexington, by Waterford Township Justice Kenneth H. Hampstead.

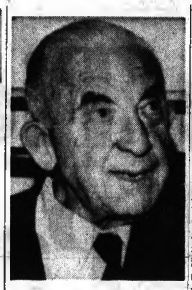

* * *

Charged with possession of narcotics, she was allowed to plead guilty earlier this month to a lesser offense of possessing a hypnotic drug.

Mrs. Henry, who had taught at Will Rogers Elementary School for the last seven years, announced the day she entered her guilty plea that she was leaving the area.

* * *

Mrs. Henry has contended that she didn't know the plants were marijuana. Police were tipped off by a neighbor.

ALASKA WRITE-IN — Veteran Alaska Sen. Ernest Gruening, defeated in a bid for the Democratic senatorial nomination last month, declared yesterday he will seek reelection as a write-in candidate and said he will challenge in court a state law forbidding write-in efforts by contenders defeated in primaries.

May Name 6 Judges Today

Romney Interviews 12 Hopefuls

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney interviewed 12 judicial candidates Tuesday but did not announce his decision on whether to give as many as six of them a major boost in the Nov. 5 election.

The governor was not available for comment after the series of closed-door meetings in his office. Aides said he had not decided whether to use his new power to appoint six of the judicial candidates to the offices they seek.

Romney scheduled a press conference for today and could announce a decision there.

If Romney appointed six judicial candidates to fill the vacancies, their terms would last only until the end of the year. But the appointees would be entitled to politically valuable "incumbent" designations on the November ballot.

Such designations often are enough to ensure election in a nonpartisan judicial race.

Included in the six races under consideration are those for positions on circuit courts in Wayne and Ingham counties, probate courts in Genesee, Wayne and Livingston counties, and Detroit Recorder's Court.

* * *

In Ingham County, Prosecutor Donald Reisig likely would be the choice over former State Sen. Paul Younger. In the Wayne County circuit race, Traffic Judge Richard Maher was thought to be favored over Thomas Brennan, a member of the State Board of Education.

Former Inkster Municipal Judge Robert Lee Evans was thought more likely to be named to the Recorder's Court vacancy than his November opponent, Common Pleas Judge Henry Szymanski, and in the Wayne County probate race, Common Pleas Judge Joseph Pernick was favored over Philip Gillis.

* * *

Romney's preferences were not known in the Genesee County probate race — pitting Flint Municipal Judge Thomas Yeotis against William O. Kelly—or the Livingston probate race between Donald Rink and Reed Fletcher.

Romney's power to appoint persons to judicial vacancies was approved by voters last Aug. 6, and took effect only last Friday.

Romney is also considering making appointments to two vacant Wayne County Circuit Court seats which are not being contested in the November election, and to Probate Court vacancies in Eaton and Ogemaw counties, where in each case only one candidate has filed.

Appeals Court Cited as More Accessible

Michigan's Court of Appeals is doing the job it was designed to do in providing easy access to the public in appealing lower court decisions, according to John F. Foley, a candidate for a new seat on the state appellate court.

Foley, speaking before a meeting of the Oakland County Bar Association at the Pontiac Elks Club today, said the best evidence of its greater accessibility is the increased number of appeals being handled.

* * *

'In 1963," he said, "426 appeals were filed in the State Supreme Court. In 1965, the first year of the Court of Appeals, 1,275 appeals were filed. The number rose to 1,795 in 1967 and will exceed 2,000 this year."

Foley is familiar with the work of the court since he serves as a commissioner on the Appeals Court. He is on a leave of absence while running for the judicial position.

PRINTED RECORDS

"A chief factor that has made an appeal more available to all was the elimination of the former requirement of many printed copies of briefs and records," Foley said.

"Printing costs alone used to average over $1,000 for each appeal," added Foley, a Birmingham resident, living at 523 Mohegan.

* * *

"This cost was ended in the Court of Appeals by the present requirement of only four typewritten copies of briefs and mere taansfer of the lower court records."

The court has made increasing use of the short "per curium" opinion which is quickly released, Foley added.

JOHN F. FOLEY

"In May and June of this year, of the 120 cases argued, 50 were decided by these one-and-two-page decisions which were released within a few weeks of argument."

* * *

In addition to making the right of appeal more available in civil cases, Foley said, "the criminal appeal volume has risen greatly. This is due mainly to the new right of appeal in criminal cases and the appointment of free counsel to assist in appeals of older convictions when the prisoner is indigent.

* * *

"The court will be able to continue to provide accessible justice through the increase of three permanent judges and additional availability of six trial court judges to help in appellate work," said Foley.

He is seeking a seat in District 2, which takes in most of Southeastern Michigan, including Oakland County.

Stab Victim Listed Serious; Woman Held

A Pontiac man is reported in serious condition in Pontiac General Hospital after being stabbed early today, and a 37-year-old woman is in custody for investigation of attempted murder.

* * *

Police said officers were called to 51 Pine about 12:15 a.m. and found a man identified as Albert Cappell, 40, lying in a pool of blood on the floor.

* * *

The victim had been stabbed in the abdomen, police said.

Arrested at the scene was Marjorie Prichard, who gave her address as 51 Pine, according to investigators.

* * *

Police said Cappell's address is also listed as 51 Pine.

A warrant against Miss Prichard will probably be sought later today, police said.

A new tire has been developed that cannot blow out or go flat. It is made of a special synthetic foam rubber with high resiliency and heat resistance that is used in place of air to fill the tire.

ADC Protests Bring Call for Welfare Study

LANSING (UPI) — Recent demonstrations by welfare mothers for increased payments and higher clothing allowances for their children has brought forth a call for a "reexamination of the state's welfare structure" by the Michigan Social Work Council.

In a letter to Gov. George Romney and legislative leaders, the group said the examination of the welfare system is needed to "find better ways to deal with the consequences of poverty in a society where there is abundance."

The group, at its meeting here last week, passed the resolution urging the government leaders to undertake such a study of the welfare program. The Michigan group is part of the National Association of Social Workers.

"The past two weeks have seen numerous confrontations between Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) mothers and County boards of supervisors over the inadequacy of welfare grants in several counties throughout the state," the statement said.

* * *

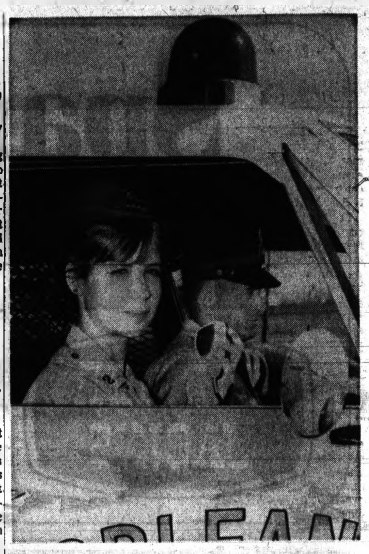

"This situation has grown more acute each year by the failure of the Michigan Legislature to make adequate resources available to the State Department of Social Services to meet the needs of recipients," it added.

Voodoo Sub for Alcohol?

QUEBEC (AP) — Voodoo virtually eliminates the need for reliance on tobacco, alcohol and drugs among Haitians, an international drug conference was told Tuesday.

A Haitian delegate, Dr. Emerson Douyon, told a meeting in suburban Beauport that voodoo rites and trances satisfy the psychological needs of individuals who might otherwise turn to drugs and alcohol.

"Use of drugs and voodoo trances represent two culturally different means of arriving at the same end—escape from self and reality through transcendence," Douyon said.

OBJECT OF PROTEST — Carol Goman and other New Orleans patrolwomen have created a furor after being assigned to squad cars with male police officers. The wives of the policemen are protesting the assignments, contending that their reasons are not of a jealous nature but that they are concerned for the safety of their husbands. Police Supt. Joseph Giarusso said he could see no reason for the fuss. Accompanying Patrolwoman Goman is officer John Brady.

Boston Police Sent to Halt Teen Strife

BOSTON (AP) — Six hundred policemen were ordered into school districts today to curb continuing teen-age disorders marked by arson, stoning of firemen and violence directed at neighborhood storekeepers.

The unrest, sparked by the school department's refusal to permit Negro students to wear African garb at English High School, caused the school committee to request that National Guard troops be alerted to stand by.

* * *

However, Mayor Kevin H. White, cautioning against overreacting, said he did not think troops were required, and Police Commissioner Edmund S. McNamara concurred.

"We have enough men on the street handling the situation to keep the schools under surveillance and prevent vandalism, McNamara said.

'ORGANIZED PLAN'

School Supt. William H. Ohrenberger charged "irresponsible adults and misguided youths" were participating in "an obviously organized plan to harass a selected number of public schools."

School Committee chairman Thomas S. Eisenstadt said adults, some from outside the city, were inciting the teenagers. "It is order versus anarchy," he said, promising to "meet force with force (and) use all possible means to bring this to an end." He said he would not hesitate to recommend expulsion of any participating students.

* * *

The disorders began Monday when the school department overruled headmaster Joseph Malone's agreement to permit African native costumes in English High, and to allow Negro students to form an all-black student union.

The disruption spread to other schools Tuesday. Students demonstrated, and a number of false fire alarms were sounded at schools. Firemen fought a grass fire behind one building and a fire in lavatory at another.

CLOG DRIVEWAY

At the grass fire students clogged a driveway, preventing fire trucks from reaching the scene. When the trucks got through, firemen and police were targets for stones thrown from the crowd.

In the Brighton High School area, a gang of youths of high school age invaded a drugstore, struck a clerk on the head, and made off with $60 from his cash register.

A nearby supermarket also was invaded, windows broken, and money and food grabbed by the rampaging gangs.

Episcopal Bishop in Colorado Ousted

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Colorado, said to be too fli to face a church trial on charges of breaching his ordination voews, was ordered Tuesday to surrender his ecclesiastical authority and leave the diocese.

* * *

The decree was handed down by the nine-bishop court before the Rt. Rev. Joseph S. Minnis, 64, ever actually came trial. It followed testimony from the bishop's physician that Minnis suffers from a serious, aggravated heart condition, and to appear at the trial "would place the bishop's life in peril."

* * *

The order gives Bishop Minnis until Oct. 15 to leave the diocese —in this case the state of Colorado—and permits him to return only with prior permission of the presiding bishop.

No Hurricanes Hit U.S.—Yet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Not a single major storm has come howling out of the tropics to attack American shores this year, but "don't write off the hurricane season yet," says director Robert H. Simpson of Miami's National Hurricane Center.

"It takes only a week," Simpson said, "for a vast change in atmosphere conditions that could yield a whole rash of storms, or develop one giant hurricane. We don't predict that, but it's possible."

For U.S. residents, Simpson said, it has been a tame season for two reasons.

The first is that the upper atmosphere of the tropics has been abnormally cold. The air column of a hurricane, rising like a giant smokestack to great heights, cannot develop and hold together without a concentration of heat all the way up.

The second restricting factor is that surface winds have been blowing from the east and upper winds from the west, making it impossible for an air column to grow.

WINDS IN WINTER

Simpson said the winds blow like this in the wintertime, "and that's why we don't have hurricanes then," but such a situation develops only periodically in the storm season.

While it has been a dull season from a public standpoint, Simpson said, it has been a humdinger for the forecasters. Of the 15 hurricanes that have formed in the eastern Pacific this year, virtually all of them were tracked for thousands of miles by Miami weathermen.

"They're up to the letter 'O' in the alphabet over in the Pacific," Simpson said, "and they got virtually all of them from us. We probably cracked the record for the number of organized disturbances we have tracked."

Detected originally by satellite cameras over central Africa, the disturbances crossed the Atlantic, moved through the Caribbean, then leap-frogged Central America into the Pacific.

DEVELOP IN PACIFIC

Unable to develop in the Atlantic, they found the proper conditions in the Pacific, although none grew into major storms.

The height of the hurricane season was reached around Labor Day, Simpson said. A "secondary maximum period" then began which will last until about Oct. 10. Most October hurricanses develop in the southwest Caribbean as the Atlantic grows quite.

* * *

Miami forecasters have given names to only four Atlantic storms this year. The first, Abby, drove thousands from their homes in western Cuba and moved across Florida, but her winds never exceeded 75 miles an hour and damage was minor.

Cundy formed in the Gulf of Mexico and brought heavy rains to Texas. Brenda, Dolly and Edna never crossed a coastline.

Lost Plane Hunted in Pacific

HONOLULU (AP) — Ten planes and a Coast Guard Cutter searched Tuesday for a single - engine aircraft with six aboard, four from Michigan. The plane disappeared about noon Monday on a 200-mile flight from Honolulu to Hilo.

The pilot made a radio check at 10:11 a.m. and was not heard from again.

* * *

Van Vossen, an Air Force pilot, was here on 30 days leave. He was visiting a childhood friend, Everett Hooks, 24, a seminary intern at the Christian Reformed Church of Hawaii.

The Rev. Milton Hugen, pastor of the church, said it was after Sunday night's vesper service that the young adult group first discussed a sightseeing trip to Hawaii island.

* * *

Industrialist Says Public Must Pay for Clean Water

CHICAGO (UPI) — "There ain't no such thing as a free drink of water," Reynold C. MacDonald, president of Interlake Steel Corp., told the 41st annual Water Pollution Control Federation Conference yesterday.

"One way or another," he said, "everybody who uses or depends on a given body of water must be called on to share part of the cost of keeping it clean. Industry can't do it alone, and shouldn't be expected to."

* * *

"You've heard the old saying — and I quote — 'There ain't no such thing as a free lunch.' Well, applied to our discussions today, 'There ain't no such thing as a free drink of water'," he said during an afternoon speech.

MacDonald said industry would require "substantial tax incentives" at the federal and state levels to finance accelerated pollution control programs.

'PUBLIC WILL PAY'

"These incentives are also vital because, without them, we would be forced to use funds earmarked to sustain revenue-producing industrial growth and expansion," he said.

But ultimately, he said, "The public will really pay the bill for clean water."

* * *

"The sooner the public is told," MacDonald said, "the sooner we'll be on our way to acceptance of those things which will have to be done to accomplish the objectives" of pollution programs.

Wayne County Jail 'Filth' Hit

DETROIT (AP) — "The filth in the Wayne County jail almost defies description," says a report issued Tuesday by a committee of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

The report, covering a period from September 1967 to May, says "mattresses are urine - soaked with many of them in a rotted state, wash basins and commodes are stopped up, heavily stained with fecal matter, old food and the wear and tear of constant use without cleaning."

* * *

Some 121 changes in administration, policies, job descriptions and duties at the jail were recommended.

The report essentially covers a period in the administration of former Sheriff Peter Buback, who resigned. The current sheriff, Roman Gribbs, took over administration of the jail June 1.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE
OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN
OAKLAND COUNTY SEWAGE DISPOSAL BONDS—EVERGREEN SYSTEM—BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP
Trunk Arms—Stage One

Sealed bids for the purchase of Oakland County Sewage Disposal Bonds — Evergreen System — Bloomfield Township Trunk Arms—Stage One to be issued by the County of Oakland, Michigan, of the par value of $8,550,000, will be received by the undersigned at the office of the Board of Public Works of said County, No. 596 South Telegraph Road in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, until 11:00 o'clock A.M., Eastern Daylight Time, on Tuesday, the 15th day of October, 1968, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated October 1, 1968, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of $5,000 each, will be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 upwards and will bear interest at an average net interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of 1/8th or 1/20th of 1%, or both. The interest rate on any one bond shall be at one rate only and shall be evidenced by one coupon only for each coupon period. All bonds maturing in the same year shall bear the same rate of interest and no bond shall bear interest at a rate which is less than 50% of the rate of interest borne by any other of this issue. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially on May 1 in each year as follows:

1971—$ 75,000	1979—$120,000	1987—$175,000
1972— 85,000	1980— 130,000	1988— 180,000
1973— 95,000	1981— 140,000	1989— 190,000
1974— 105,000	1982— 150,000	1990— 200,000
1975— 115,000	1983— 160,000	1991— 210,000
1976— 125,000	1984— 170,000	1992— 220,000
1977— 105,000	1985— 180,000	1993— 215,000
1978— 110,000	1986— 165,000	1994— 215,000

Bonds maturing after May 1, 1991 shall be subject to redemption as a whole at the option of the County prior to maturity in the inverse order of their date on or after May 1, 1990. Bonds called for redemption shall be redeemed at the par value thereof and accrued interest plus a premium, if any, to be computed on a percentage of the face amount thereof in accordance with the following schedule:

3% if called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1990, but prior to May 1, 1992.

2% if called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1992, but prior to May 1, 1994.

1% if called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1994, but prior to May 1, 1996.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds called for redemption by publication at least once not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper of publication circulated in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds. Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem the same.

Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank and/or trust company which qualifies as a paying agent under Federal or State laws, and which shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds. Such purchaser shall have the right to name a similarly qualified co-paying agent. The designation of the paying agent and co-paying agent shall be subject to the approval by the County of Oakland.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of defraying the cost of acquiring and constructing the Bloomfield Township Trunk Arms—Stage One in the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System. They are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 185 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1957, as amended, and the principal of and interest on the bonds are amounts to be paid to the county under a certain Agreement dated March 1, 1967, and Amendment to Agreement dated August 1, 1968, between the County of Oakland and the Township of Bloomfield, whereby said Township agrees to pay to the said County the capital cost of the Bloomfield Township Trunk Arms—Stage One in the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System in installments beginning April 1, 1971, in the same amounts as the principal maturities and the semi-annual maturities of the interest on the bonds of this issue.

The aggregate amount to be paid is $3,000,000, plus interest on each annual amount to be paid by the Township or Bloomfield, interest payable on the bonds on May 1 and November 1, 1969, and May 1, 1970 is capitalized.

The said bonds will be payable, as to both principal and interest, from the amounts collected from the said Township of Bloomfield under the above mentioned Agreement and Amendment to Agreement. The full faith and credit of each municipality making of the required payments to the county, and, in addition, by affirmative vote of three-fifths thereof, the full faith, benefit of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Oakland has been pledged to the payment of the bonds, principal and interest, when due.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost for each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from November 1, 1968 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the County. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $90,000 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable unconditionally to the order of the County of Oakland must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. Non-interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail. The check submitted by the successful bidder will be retained uncashed and applied to the last maturities of the bonds, or in the inverse order of the bonds, shall be made at the closing hereof in connection with the payment for the bonds delivered.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the approving opinion of Dickinson, Wright, McKean & Cudlip, Attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the issue, a copy of which will be printed on the bonds. There will also be furnished the usual closing papers, including the no-litigation certificate, dated as of the date of the delivery of the bonds, and a certificate that the bonds are eligible for investment by savings banks organized under the laws of the State of Michigan, New York, N.Y., and of Chicago, Ill.

Envelopes containing the bids should be addressed to "Proposals for Oakland County Sewage Disposal Bonds — Evergreen System — Bloomfield Township Trunk Arms—Stage One."

11 Protesters of ADC Sit In All Night Here

A group of 11 pickets — eight adults and three children — spent the night at the county Social Service Center, protesting against treatment of mothers getting Aid to Dependent Children (ADC), according to Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the Board of Auditors.

* * *

The women, none of whom were reportedly on ADC, were insisting the county Social Service Board fulfill a list of demands handed them by the protesters Monday.

* * *

The board had given in to some of the demands, including promising that all children would be adequately clothed out of county supplies and that all women would be provided a list of services available to them.

The protesters also are demanding more money, but payments are in control of the state, it was pointed out. The county can only administer emergency aid, the protesters were told.

* * *

Being unsatisfied, the group called a sit-in yesterday. Murphy told them they could stay in the waiting room of the Social Services office where water and rest rooms are available. Other connecting rooms were locked, Murphy said.

Card of Thanks 1

I WISH TO EXPRESS MY deepest appreciation to neighbors, friends, and relatives, for their flowers, sympathy and kindness shown to me, in the loss of my beloved husband. Special thanks to Reverant Father Wysocki of St. Michaels Parish, General Motors Truck and Coach, Elks Lodge No. 810 and the Donelson-John Funeral Home. Marie Retzlaff.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of my dear husband, Phil R. Orencia, who passed away, Sept. 25, 1961
Only a memory of bygone days.
And a sigh for a face unseen.
A constant feeling that God alone,
Knows best what should have been.
Sadly missed by wife Dolores and daughters Elibeo and Frank, Mrs. Phil Orencia.

Note on Wall Offered as Will

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A note to a belly dancer scribbled on a bedroom wall was offered Tuesday as a legal last will and testament.

An 18-inch square section of the plaster wall was sawed out under the supervision of Register of Wills John E. Walsh and submitted to Probate Court.

The note, signed by Hermann Schmidt, 49, who died Sept. 15, said in part:

"Genevieve: You take care of all my belongings. This give's you authority. Love, Hermann, 8-14-1968."

Attorney Leio T. Connor said he believes this entitles Genevieve—Genevieve Deckr, 42, a belly dancer and Schmidt's fiancee—to Schmidt's $12,000 estate and plans to file it for this purpose.

Demand Heavy for '68 Model Cars

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. joined the crowd Tuesday in announcing heavy demand for the last of its 1968 models. General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors announced the sales trend earlier, apparently a reaction to rumors of higher prices for the 1969 models.

With the Ford figures, industry sales totals for 1968 models topped the six million mark.

* * *

Ford said its sales for the Sept. 11-20 period totaled 47,876 new cars, compared to 26,645 for the same period a year ago and 35,284 for the preceeding 10-day sales period. There were nine selling days in the mid-September period this year compared to eight in 1967. The daily sales rate for Ford was still higher, 5,319 compared to 4,410.

The dramatic increase in 1968 sales compared to 1967 was attributed in large measure by Ford officials to a strike which was in progress during September 1967.

SALES UP 678,0000

With the Ford figures, sales by the four major automakers totaled 6,022,299 compared to 5,344,033 in 1967.

Ford's total car sales for 1968 reached 1,617,410 compared to 1,474,654 a year ago, but still lagged far behind the giant General Motors. GM reported year-to-date sales of 3,114,624 compared to 2,786,164 for the same period in 1967.

The only 1969 car sales included in the industry totals were for Chrysler, which introduced its new models last week and had two days for sales of the new models during the period. GM and Ford will offer their new models Thursday and American Motors will start selling its new models on Saturday.

Bonds maturing on or after May 1, 1981 shall be subject to redemption as a whole at the option of the County prior to maturity, on any interest payment date on or after May 1, 1980. Bonds called for redemption shall be redeemed at the par value thereof and accrued interest plus a premium on each bond so redeemed as a percentage of the principal thereof in accordance with the following schedule:

2% If called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1980, but prior to May 1, 1984

1% If called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1984, but prior to May 1, 1987

0% If called to be redeemed on or after May 1, 1987, but prior to maturity.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds called for redemption by publication at least once not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds. Bonds so called for redemption shall cease to bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem the bonds.

Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank and/or trust company which qualifies as a paying agent under Federal or Michigan law and which shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds. Such purchaser shall have the right to name a similarly qualified co-paying agent. The designation of the paying agent and co-paying agent shall be subject to the approval by the County of Oakland.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of defraying part of the cost of acquiring and constructing the 13 Mile Road Arm in Farmington Sewage Disposal System to serve the Townships of Farmington and West Bloomfield in the County of Oakland. They are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 185 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1957, as amended. In anticipation of the payment of the aggregate amounts to be paid to the county under a certain Agreement dated March 1, 1967, and entered into (Agreement dated August 1, 1968, between the County of Oakland and the Township of Farmington and the Township of West Bloomfield, whereby each of said townships agrees to pay to the said county its share of the capital cost of the 13 Mile Road Arm in the Farmington Sewage Disposal System in annual installments in the same amounts as the principal maturities of the semi-annual maturities of the interest on bonds of this issue aggregate the amount of said $2,450,000.00 of interest at of which amount is to be paid by the Township of Farmington and the Township of West Bloomfield, interest payable on the bonds on May 1, 1969, and November 1, 1969, and May 1, 1970 is capitalized.

The said bonds will be payable, as to both principal and interest, from the amounts collected from the said Townships pursuant to the above mentioned Agreement and amendment to Agreement. The full faith and credit of each of the said townships is pledged for the making of the required payments to the county and, in addition, by affirmative vote of three-fifths (3/5ths) of the members elect of the Board of Supervisors, the full faith and credit of the County of Oakland has been pledged to the payment of the bonds, principal and interest, when due.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from November 1, 1968 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the County. No proposal for purchase of less than all of the bonds and at a price less than their par value will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $25,000.00, drawn upon a solvent incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the County of Oakland must accompany each bid but no interest on the check shall be paid to the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. The check will be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail. The good faith checks of successful bidders will be immediately cashed and payment for the bonds at the purchase price of the bonds shall be made at the closing in Federal Reserve funds.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Dickinson, Wright, McKean, Cudlip, Attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the issue of the bonds. The bonds will be sold subject to the approval of the County. There will be furnished the successful bidder, without cost, the usual closing papers, including a non-litigation certificate, dated as of the date of delivery. The bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan, New York, or Chicago, Illinois, at the option of the purchaser.

Onassis Is Not Marrying Callas, Jackie or Anybody

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—We think we can tell you with comparative assurance that Aristotle Onassis, the Golden Greek, is not likely to be marrying Jackie Kennedy, Maria Callas, or anybody else, although it would make a better story if we could say he did have such plans tucked up his steamship line.

"Aris" had a drink or two with Maria just before she flew back to Paris . . . the night before he'd had dinner with Jackie. The journalistic idea that he and Maria had been married once seemed to have been dissipated. Onassis, a simple billionaire, feels he isn't good enough for the ladies mentioned . . . "Not worthy of them."

WILSON

Onassis sat quietly with Cary Grant, Dyan Cannon, Johnny Meyer and others at El Morocco the other morning when all this came up for discussion.

His friends are a little offended that columnists keep harping on his friendship with Jackie, trying to make a romance out of it; their family friendship goes back several years. Onassis furthermore says to his friends that he doesn't expect to marry again for the simple enough reason: he's already been married.

* * *

When Richard Nixon went on closed-circuit TV at the $1,000-a-plate dinner from the Americana, he said: "I don't know why everybody's picking on Humphrey. He hasn't done anything."

Anybody here remember it? It was taken when she was 17—like 21 years ago—say about 1947 . . . "A quick snap by a photographer" that became a photographic epic.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Dick Cavett's wife, the former Carrie Nye, inherited a million dollars from her mother. (Now if the network gets nasty with Dick, he can buy it) . . . Andy Warhol, at The Mood with Ultra Violet, said he'll market cosmetics "for girls with beautiful thoughts" . . . Gig Young rushed to L.A. where his estranged wife is seriously ill . . . Fran Warren opened at the Riverboat — but her dtr. Judy, 13, stole the show with a vocal solo. (Clyde McCoy, the "Sugar Blues" man, heads the band.)

The new rock group at Cheetah — the Magnificent Fruit Pigeons — will wear only loin cloths . . . The cost of "Paint Your Wagon" will be a reported $23-million — or more . . . Rocky Graziano did a show at Sing Sing, and figures it went over well: "At least nobody walked out" . . . Corbett Monica bought a 98-family apartment house in Chicago.

Actor David Hartman, who was featured in "Hello, Dolly!" will lecture at Marble Collegiate Church on "What Condition Is Your Condition In?" . . . Near Caesars Palace in Las Vegas is an orange juice stand that calls itself "Squeezer's Palace" . . . Peter Yarrow (of Peter, Paul & Mary) is romancing Sen. McCarthy's niece Mary Beth.

EARL'S PEARLS: Happiness is getting a bill you've already paid, so you can sit down and write a nasty letter.

A Look at TV

'That's Life' Is Different

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — ABC-TV last night introduced an hour series with a willingness to be different: "That's Life," a book musical about a young couple, their romance and marriage. The setting is New York, and the star is Robert Morse.

The concept, the very idea, of a weekly book musical — with new and old songs — seems like a back-breaker. But there are key creative people with the series who used to be associated with "The Honeymooners" productions of the Jackie Gleason Show, so the background for success is there.

* * *

The question is whether "That's Life" can handle the competition of NBC-TV's Tuesday night movies.

The pleasant thing to report is that, despite several lapses and an overlong early monologue by guest star George Burns — who otherwise was a fairly amusing narrator — the series showed that it will risk imagination.

It is the only way to go because the commercial odds are almost all against it at this point, so it must gamble all the way in hopes of finding and creating its own audience.

NICE COUPLE

The debut concerned the meeting of Morse and his female costar, E. J. Peaker. Their singing voices are the stage kind, which normally don't pull in the provinces. But they are a nice couple.

And while Burns was only of slight help, Tony Randall was super in a dream sequence as "Rodney Wonderful," who is Miss Peaker's theoretical ideal; and the Turtles, a pop group, were wonderfully entertaining in a discotheque scene, especially a fat, bushy-haired bespectacled member of the group. The guest stars will decide the fate of this series.

* * *

Another new ABC-TV series Tuesday night also indicated a willingness to take a fresh approach.

It is called "The Mod Squad," and the 90-minute introduction of this weekly hour set the stage for future episodes: Three troubled youngsters who have split from their families go to work for the police — in a strained relationship — as undercover personnel who can get into places in the new youth-oriented society where regular cops can't infiltrate.

If the adult audience is not so quick to turn off a youth-oriented show, it may well find a good touch between the lines of plot and police work.

DORIS DAY FAMILIAR

CBS-TV last night offered the new half-hour Doris Day situation comedy, in which she is a widow with two young sons on a ranch. In the debut, there was a mix-up in a birthday dinner for Miss Day in a restaurant.

Miss Day is Miss Day, and that's what CBS-TV is counting on for ratings. And that's all there is to say about that.

Competing Airlines Rally to Battle Airport Congestion Problem

WASHINGTON—Even in their wildest dreams the Wright Brothers never could have visualized the number of people who would one day travel by air.

Octave Chanute, a friend of the Wrights and a prominent engineer and glider pioneer, predicted a limited future for the airplane. "The machines," wrote Chanute, "will eventually be fast, they will be used in sport, but they are not to be thought of as commercial carries."

* * *

In 1967 the 2,188 aircraft owned by scheduled United States airlines flew more than 132 million passengers, the National Geographic Society says.

Air transportation accounted for more intercity passenger miles than the railroads and bus lines combined, and was used by 88.5 per cent of the passengers who traveled to other countries.

Growth of private aviation surpasses public air transportation. More than 112,000 private aircraft filled the airways in 1967.

Airlines view the growing popularity of air travel with mixed emotions. Traffic increases have jammed the airspace over major airports. In bad weather, planes are stacked for hours in holding patterns miles from their destinations.

* * *

On the ground, takeoff delays have become common in peak periods. Not long ago an early afternoon flight waited three hours on the runway at Newark, N.J. for takeoff clearance.

Trans World Airlines' president, Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., spearheaded the airline drive to deal with the congestion problem. Calling for industry-wide discussions, Tillinghast said, "The airlines, the government and the public face a crisis in air transportation unequalled, save for strikes, in our nation's history. In our opinion no airline acting alone can hope to solve even a small fraction of this problem."

The airlines showed their concern by rallying behind Tillinghast. After many meetings, approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, the carriers agreed to set up an industry clearinghouse for scheduling and a committee with power to make changes in schedules. The committee will identify instances in which scheduled adjustments can alleviate congestion problems.

Forty-four per cent of the 18-20 year olds now attending college have their own cars.

Sticky Buns Are Enriched With Cup of Wheat Germ

There was a time when some foods were the exclusive property of certain countries or even certain communities in the United States — but not any more. It's a smaller world.

For example, here's a recipe for wheat germ sticky buns, which were first made, we are told, in the Pennsylvania Dutch country, and were long localized favorites of that area. These buns, just sweet enough and each topped with pecan halves, can be enjoyed at breakfast, lunch or dinner, or particularly when friends drop in for coffee.

★ ★ ★

They are good for you, too, wheat germ contributing its good bonus of protein, iron, B vitamins and other essential nutrients. Incidentally, youngsters will love the buns as after school snacks.

WHEAT GERM STICKY BUNS
(New CoolRise Method)

5-6 cups unsifted flour
2 pkgs. active dry yeast
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup softened butter or margarine
1½ cups hot tap water
2 eggs
1 cup wheat germ
1½ cups light corn syrup
1 cup pecan halves

★ ★ ★

¼ cup softened butter or margarine
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon cinnamon
¾ cup raisins
½ cup chopped pecans

Measure flour onto waxed paper. Combine 2 cups flour, undissolved yeast, sugar and salt in large bowl. Stir well to blend. Add butter. Add hot tap water to ingredients in bowl.

Beat with electric mixer at medium speed for 2 minutes. Scrape bowl occasionally. Add eggs and 1 cup more flour. Beat with electric mixer at high speed for 1 minute or until thick and elastic. Scrape bowl occasionally.

Stir in wheat germ with wooden spoon. Then gradually stir in just enough of remaining flour to make a soft dough which leaves sides of bowl. Turn out onto floured board.

Knead 5-10 minutes or until dough is smooth and elastic. Cover with plastic wrap then a towel. Let rest 20 minutes on board.

Prepare pans while dough rests on board. Pour corn syrup into 2 lightly greased 9x13-inch pans or 3 lightly greased 8-inch round pans. Use ¾ cup syrup for each large pan or ½ cup syrup for each round pan. Arrange pecan halves on top of syrup. Combine brown sugar and cinnamon.

Punch down dough at end of 20 minute rest. Divide into 2 equal portions. Roll each portion into a 10x16-inch rectangle on lightly buttered board. Spread evenly with 2 tablespoons butter.

Sprinkle with half of the sugar mixture, raisins and chopped pecans. Roll up tightly beginning with 16-inch side. Seal lengthwise edge. Cut into sixteen 1-inch pieces. Place cut-side down in prepared pans.

Bake at 375 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until done. Use a lower oven rack for best results. Turn out of pans onto cooling racks. Yield: 32 rolls.

Pie's Made Without Any Baking at All

When the temperature outside seems to go up and up with no relief in sight and the day turns out to be a scorcher, have a pie for dessert.

There's no trick to it when it's done the cool, "easy as pie" way. After the ingredients are put together, let the refrigerator do the work.

CHOCOLATE PEPPERMINT PIE

½ cup creamed butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs, beaten well
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted cup sweet German chocolate, melted
½ pint whipping cream
½ cup crushed peppermint stick candy.

Cream butter and sugar together until light; blend in eggs, vanilla and both kinds of chocolate, melted. Mix thoroughly. Put mixture into a graham cracker crust and put in refrigerator overnight.

Try This Recipe for Bite-Sized Baked Potatoes

Oven Potatoes

1½ pounds (5 medium) potatoes
3 tablespoons butter
Salt

Peel potatoes, rinse in cold water and dry with paper toweling. Quarter lengthwise; cut each quarter into 2 lengthwise wedges.

★ ★ ★

Turn oven to 425 degrees; put butter in a square cake pan (9 by 9 by 2 inches) in the oven to melt but not brown. Add potatoes to pan and turn to coat with butter; arrange potatoes in one layer.

★ ★ ★

Bake at 425 degrees for about 30 minutes — until partly browned on underside; turn potatoes and continue baking until quite soft inside and crispy on the outside — 20 to 30 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Do you know how to tell a hard-cooked egg from an uncooked egg? Spin the eggs on their sides. The hard-cooked egg will spin like a top. The uncooked egg with wobble and not spin.

Crisp Relish Good With Cold Meat

ONION AND CUCUMBER RELISH

1-3 cup distilled white vinegar
1-3 cup cold water
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 cucumber, 7 or 8 inches long
1 medium-large (½ pound) Spanish or Bermuda sweet onion

In a small bowl or container stir together the vinegar, water, sugar and salt. Pare cucumber thinly; run the sharp tines of a fork lengthwise down cucumber to score; slice very thin.

★ ★ ★

Peel onion and slice extremely thin; separate into rings. Add cucumber and onion to marinade; cover. Chill at least a couple of hours before serving, leaving vegetables in marinade and using a pierced or slotted serving spoon. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

When it comes to good habits, are they ever too young?

Actually the right exercise and good food are two habits that can help your family stay fit... no matter what their age. And a part of good food habits should be Fleischmann's*... the premium margarine doctors name most. Fleischmann's is made from 100% corn oil. And the medical fact is that no oil is better for you than corn oil in a low saturated fat diet.

Of course, another reason families like Fleischmann's is its rich taste and spreadability. Fleischmann's—in Stick or convenient tub form—always spreads on easy, right out of the refrigerator. And its delicious flavor has made it the best liked premium margarine in America. Fleischmann's Margarine... Stick or Soft. Good habits can't start early enough.

GRAND SHOWING THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

GRAND PRIX

Here's the automobile that the others are still dreaming about. And they will be for a long time. Only Pontiac can build Grand Prix. With standards like 400-cubic inch V-8, hidden radio antenna, Carpathian Elm Burl Grain paneling and the newest, and most luxurious driver's compartment ever. See for yourself why '69 Grand Prix is the ultimate Break Away car. Then, why not Break Away!

In 1969 Grand Prix becomes the all-new luxury performance car. It's the kind of automobile that reflects its owner's success and fine taste. Grand Prix distinction is attained by a newly styled exterior (with the longest hood of any American made car) and a most unique cockpit-styled interior. It has to be seen to be appreciated. And once seen, you'll agree that it's unmatched in the personal luxury car field.

BONNEVILLE

The 1969 Bonneville is luxurious in every respect. The standard engine this year — a 428 cubic-inch, 4-BBL. V-8. With a new 125-inch wheelbase, it's the longest of all Pontiacs. And all this makes Bonneville the most luxurious Pontiac, with all the performance and handling of a great Wide-Tracker.

TEMPEST

Stop looking for that money-saving, good-looking, top performing economy car. No one else has it but us. That's right, only Pontiac has Tempest for 1969 has all the great economy features you'd ever want. Overhead Cam Six. Synchronized 3-speed manual transmission. Regular fuel engine. And to make it a real Pontiac Break Away — an economy car that flags. Ask your Pontiac dealer to balance your budget with a Break Away deal on Tempest. Right now!

Opening lead—♥K

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

There are any number of logical ways to bid the North-South cards to a diamond slam. Some pairs may get to seven diamonds but most will stop at the proper contract of six. Not that seven diamonds won't make. South wins the heart lead in dummy, cashes dummy's king of spades, plays the ace of diamonds and a small diamond to his jack.

JACOBY

He will note the fall of the ten spot and will ruff his nine of spades with dummy's eight of trumps. He will return to his hand by ruffing a heart, draw the last trump and make his grand slam after the club finesse succeeds.

* * *

We watched one South player bid his hand like there would be no tomorrow. He jumped to four no-trump before finding out about suit possibilities and stopped at six no-trump when North showed only one king.

His play was even more desperado-like but no one can quarrel with success. South took all the tricks.

He won the heart lead and cashed the king of spades. Then he returned to his hand with a diamond and played out his ace of spades.

* * *

West showed out and our hero could count 11 tricks only. There was a conservative way to go after 12. He could run off all his diamonds and the high spades. This would produce a three card ending. Then he could consider the possibility of throwing East in with the nine of spades to get him to lead a club or he could take the club finesse and hope.

Conservation had no appeal. He paused for a second and led the queen of clubs. West's king lost to dummy's ace and now South had 12 top tricks. He ran off all the diamonds and high spades and finally finessed against West's ten of clubs to make the overtrick. He was the only player in his group to be in six no-trump, so the overtrick meant nothing.

♥♣CARD Sense♦♠

Q—The bidding has been:

What do you do now?

A—Bid six hearts. Your partner is telling you to bid the slam if you can handle the second club lead.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three hearts your partner bids three spades over your two spades. You rebid three spades and he bids four hearts. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

For Thursday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology helps him know."

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Tie up loose ends connected with investment savings project. Gain co-operation of family members. Take nothing for granted. One who is supposed to deliver message may forget.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Intensified relations indicated. You commit yourself. Could be costly if careless. Study ARIES message. Permit logic equal time with emotions. Accent on financial transactions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Home, marriage, partnerships are accented. Today you solidify plans. Bring forth sense of responsibility. Keep promises, be sure others also fulfill their obligations — then you will.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): One who was associate or co-worker becomes a foe. Overcome tendency to be impatient. Accent on health and work. Obtain greater sense of balance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Check reins of budget. Wishful thinking could lead to extravagance. Remember resolutions concerning money and savings. Member of opposite sex may be misinformed. Know facts — act accordingly.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Could be action day. Read tape tells astro. Be ready to pounce on opportunity. Postpone lunch — confide secretly to normal party, plans for future. You can enhance security.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Key to success is versatility. You may have to change basic plans. Be ready with alternate methods. Accent on short journeys, dealings with relatives. Pay hand to unique messages.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You are able to break away from some restrictions. But don't tell now. Should friend deceive you, there are responsibilities, obligations. Live up to them. Money matter is favorable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Cycle moves up. But you are pressed to make career decision. Remember promise made to youngster, other kind words. Favorable move appears to involve change, possible travel.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You succeed through soft-sell approach. Key is to be subtle. Don't attempt to force issues. Accent on behind-the-scene activities. Work quietly, efficiently. You gain major point.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Friend who makes financial demand may be out of line. Hold firm. You can be fair without permitting yourself to be deceived. Know this — respond accordingly.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Accent on how you handle those with opposing views. You should make some concessions. Otherwise money and energy are wasted. Some hopes, wishes are due to be fulfilled.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a natural executive. At times, you find it difficult to make adjustments. Combining confidence with flexibility. Then you make most of abilities. If single, marriage may be upcoming.

Word 'Posh' Had a Shady Beginning

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands (AP) — The word "posh" has come to mean the ultimate in luxury and comfort. Where did it come from?

Ed McArdle, owner of one of the U.S. Virgin Island's most "posh" island resorts — the Water Isle Colony Club — in St. Thomas harbor, sheds some light on the background of this little word that says so much.

Several hundred years ago, when Britishers sailed to India regularly, the wealthier travelers specified "Port Outbound — Starboard Homebound" as the designation for their staterooms. These accommodations were the shadier side of the boat and were considered the most desirable in an ocean-going voyage. The abbreviation for the request was P.O.S.H.

Kiss Costs Sailor

When Captain Kemble, of Boston, returned in 1656, after a three-year voyage, and kissed his wife "publicquely" on Sunday, he was made to sit in the stocks for two hours for his "lewd and unseemly behavior."

PONTIAC ANNOUNCES THE GREAT BREAK AWAY!

'69 Wide-Track Pontiac Grand Prix.

FOUR COLORS SPECTACOLOR

Pontiac Motor Divisio

Break away with the newest...

If you've never driven a car like this before, that's because there's never been a car like this Pontiac Grand Prix before. So new, it's got its own 118" wheelbase. So new, it's got its own aircraft-type interior. A new steering wheel with a "soft" material rim. With a Wide-Track on big tires. With a new hidden radio antenna we're daring everybody to find.

Better known as Firebird 400. A brand-new Firebird with typical Wide-Track handling and a range of available V-8 choices that'll make your head spin (including the fabulous 400 Ram Air option). Brand-new styling, too. Lean, clean, ready looks. Plus 13 exciting new colors . . . new 7-inch safety rim wheels . . . new anti-theft ignition, steering and transmission lock.

And also known as The Great One. Our GTO, the one that started it all. Make-Believe World Provides Tests for Missile Systems

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Using a make-believe world for deadly serious intentions, a team of missile guidance experts here regularly "attack" Hoover Dam, Baltimore's Friendship International Airport and Philadelphia's harbor.

They also zero in on a Vietnamese airstrip, roads and mountains such as those in Southeast Asia, oil storage areas, a power plant, railroad and bridges.

The object of their warlike attentions is 20 square miles of terrain compressed onto a 40-foot-square platform inside the Guidance Development Center at Martin Marietta Corp.'s Orlando Division. Built on a scale of 600:1, the three-dimensional terrain model is constructed with detail that would make a model railroad buff drool.

Toward the "targets" on this model are launched optical guidance systems being developed to steer U.S. aircraft to ground missiles toward targets in Vietnam or other potential flight-test any kind of optical or radio frequency guidance device. We can do in a matter of hours what would take several weeks of expensive flight-testing in the field to accomplish," Smith said.

When technicians want to test the performance of a missile-guidance unit, they connect it to a mechanism at one end of the building. Following signals from the guidance device, the mechanism moves up and down, sideways and swivels.

The 40-foot-square terrain platform, with its "targets," tilts to simulate the missile's angle of approach. And simultaneously, it moves on tracks toward the guidance unit to represent the missile closing in.

"Not only does this save money and time in flight-testing various guidance devices, but it also makes it possible for us to try out a lot of ideas that we couldn't afford to have carried through to the flight-test phase," Smith said.

A wall at one end of the guidance lab is removed, the terrain model rolled outside and the missile steering unit aimed accordingly when engineers want to test how well an optical guidance device "sees" under natural conditions such as moonlight. Lighting can also be altered inside the building and weather conditions such as wind cranked into the control computer.

"The facility can greatly accelerate the development of advanced launch-and-leave tactical missiles," a Martin Co. spokesman said. One such missile is the Navy-developed Walleye, a 1,100-pound glide bomb with a television camera on its nose and now in use in Vietnam.

After Walleye is released from an aircraft, the pilot can quickly leave the area, yet still follow the missile's path by monitoring a television screen inside the cockpit.

A steering stick inside the aircraft cockpit permits the pilot to radio signals to the descending bomb that move tail fins and adjust its flight path en route.

The terrain model does not show any specific area of the world, but is a conglomeration of a number of targets of military significance. Hoover Dam represents a typical hydroelectric plant, Friendship Airport a typical municipal runway and Philadelphia's port area a typical harbor with oil-storage plants and freight yard.

When technicians want to learn how a particular missile guidance unit operates under operational conditions, they hook a cockpit like console into the system which a pilot can use to control the "attack" and watch his missile's flight on a television screen like those in aircraft cockpits.

TB Victim Outlives Forecast

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) — Sixty-two years ago Baltimore shoe salesman William Thaxton was told he had no more than six months to live.

Although he was supposed to die in 1906, Thaxton has outlived his eight brothers and sisters.

After hearing the news that bleak day in 1906, Thaxton just went home and waited for the end. But then he read an article that a small town in the New Mexico Territory named Albuquerque had a climate beneficial for TB sufferers.

On an impulse, he and his wife moved to the small community of 8,000. It was the right decision.

Arriving in the New Mexico Territory, Thaxton carved a new life for himself, going into the real estate business, starting his own mortgage company, and even serving as a state senator.

Finally, at the age of 90, he decided it was time to slow down so he gave up his post on the board of directors of one of Albuquerque's largest banks. Now, 62 years after he was told he would die, Thaxton said he would go back to thinking about the possibility of dying—some time.

"I'm waiting for my time," he said.

Easy Installation of Ceramic Tile

Discovery of long-lasting mortars got tile off the hook and made it a structural component on vertical surfaces.

★ ★ ★

Now there are several types of bonding materials that permit installation of ceramic tile almost any place, including under water.

Old Indian 'Apartments' Tourist Lure

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — The oldest apartment house in the nation doesn't attract many tenants today, but its appeal to tourists is something else again.

In the year 1200 A.D., the 800-room five-story building was home to more than 1,000 prehistoric Indians. During the summers, it now attracts each day almost that many people who wander through the ruins, cameras clicking.

The fact that the ancient city lies at the bottom of a shallow canyon in the middle of New Mexico's remote area eliminates all but the hardy traveller.

Chaco Canyon and its ancient dwellings are off the beaten track, 80 miles southeast of the nearest community — Farmington, N. M.

The Indians who lived there more than 700 years ago were called Anasazi — the ancient ones — by the nearby Navajo Indians. Their civilization flourished from the year 1 A.D. to about 1200. Even to the Navajos, who are old-timers in this neck of the Southwest, that's a long time ago.

The Indians first lived in pit homes built half in and half out of the ground. Then came simple surface houses and relatively advanced tools.

Their cermonial halls, called kivas, probably were the inspiration for later Southwestern Indian architecture. The kivas were 70 feet in diameter and had walls 20 feet high.

It was with the apartment building that the Anasazi architecture reached its apex. The building was made of stones, carefully cut and wedged like a jigsaw puzzle and sealed with mud.

The inhabitants were driven away when the water level sank so low in the area of Chaco Canyon that the crops died.

Some Get No Rest While the City Sleeps

By MEL NEWMAN

A city sleeps, as does a person.

And the vital functions, like those in a human body, continue during sleep.

Though business and socializing come to a virtual standstill, the necessities remain. There must be self-protection, there must be means for communication, there must be a continuing availability of services.

Some policemen sleep, like most other people, at night, but others are on the job. The difference is more than in specific segments of the day. Darkness shades more forbodingly the element of danger.

FITFUL SLEEP

Firemen sleep at night, even while on duty, but it is fitful—made so by previous slumber that exploded with the shriek of the alarm.

Sirens may mean crimes or fires. They may also mean sickness or injury, and in the hospitals' emergency wards, doctors and nurses wait for the inevitable arrival of victims.

★ ★ ★

Emergency or not, people need communications, and the wires and poles of the telephone system can't work alone.

Operators are on duty at night, and special work crews are ready to reverse the damage that may be done by weather or man.

TRANSPORTATION NECESSARY

Transportation is as necessary at night as in daylight—sometimes more so.

The cabbies and bus drivers are on the job, maybe a little more wary of their apparent customers than their counterparts were hours before.

Truck drivers pull their loads from one sleeping town to the next. Trains cross their paths and leave their mournful mark on the night with a distant whistle.

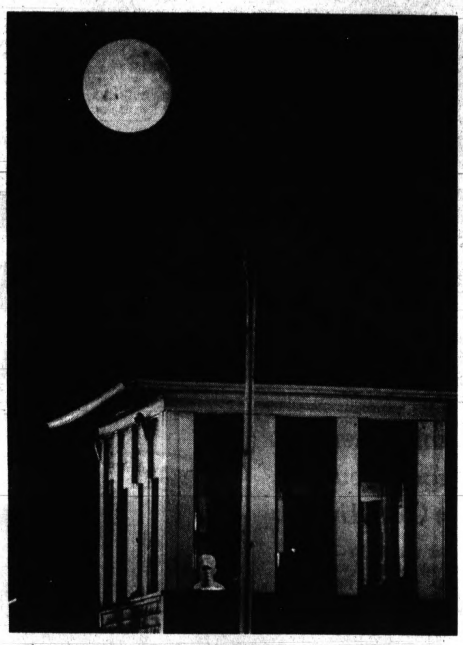

There are more night people—the restaurateurs, the entertainers, others.

Foreign Press Sees U. S. Shifting to Right, on Edge of Epoch

LONDON (AP) — A West German television commentator fears America is shifting dangerously to the right politically. An English correspondent sees the United States on the brink of a new epoch.

"The trend in the United States is directed to the right at present," commented Heinz Pol from Washington for the Frankfurter Rundshau. "That cannot even be hidden by the protest movement of the students and the colored people. If many indications are not wrong, the trend to the right even bears extreme traits and widely surpasses the term 'conservatism.'"

Pol said "The truth is that the United States is, politically, on a very dangerous road." He found the presidential campaign of George C. Wallace "daily winning thousands of new adherents, who fall into enthusiastic frenzy when their 'savior' talks of cleaning out the Communist-anarchistic stable called Washington. These are tunes which by some might be recalled from the times of Hitler and Mussolini."

James Cameron, a British correspondent for the Evening News who is touring the United States, reported that despite the troubles faced by the United States, "America will transcend her crisis because the Americans are the most resilient of people, the most varied and resourceful, as well as the strongest."

He continued: "I am beginning to believe in a new American epoch which may be more introverted and probably safer.

"Whatever the results of the election it seems to me certain that the U.S. tendency henceforth will be to accept fatigue, to opt out, to reject the pattern of world leadership . . . .

"Of course this will not imply the isolation of the '20s. But most of the evidence is that the American voter has gone understandably sour on the banner of international power.

"Already in the United States the forces for change are growing . . . .

"The young Americans are truly great. I trust them," he concluded.

And an Irish correspondent, after a visit to the United States, had some kind words for the New York police.

Brian Barrett, of the Irish Independent, observed that "the literature of America has generally not been kind" to the policeman.

"If the fictional and often libelous notion of the New York cop is overplayed and overpainted, he is still a tough individual compared with any policeman in the world. He has to be, because he has a tough and dangerous job. And he is picked and trained and tuned for it. He has to deal with more violence and viciousness than probably any other policeman in the world," Barrett wrote.

Anticancer Agent Found in Clam Liver

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 4-year-old mystery of where the clam's anticancer ingredients are mainly concentrated has been solved. They're mainly in its liver, which will be doubly astonishing for people who didn't know the clam had a liver or has anticancer activity.

Science was astonished in 1964 by the discovery of the latter. Extracts made of whole animals slowed the growth of tumors in mice. Since then, the scientific effort has been to find the anatomical part of the clam which was responsible.

Scientists at the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md., and the Northeast Marine Laboratory, Narragansett, R.I., cut the livers out of thousands of them and made clam-liver extract. This they injected into mice which had been previously injected with the cells of a mouse blood cancer or leukemia.

Any mouse injected with those malignant cells is sure to die of leukemia. But the mice which got clam-liver extract survived up to 14 days longer than the mice which got only the cancer cells, which proved both the existence and power of clam anticancer activity.

DRUGS MORE ACTIVE

Dr. C. P. Li and his associates made plain they were not pushing clam-liver extract as a possible treatment of human leukemia. Marked as is its anticancer activity is, it can't match the activity of currently used drugs.

With one of them, methotrexate they prolonged the lives of leukemic mice by as much as 110 per cent, and the best they could with clam-liver extract was 40 per cent. And the extract was poisonous, as the drugs are, in high dosages.

★ ★ ★

However, the anticancer activity of the clam was "a biological phenomenon," they said in their report to the International Science Journal, "nature," and science should now seek out its origins and "the chemical nature of its active principle."

"It might lead to useful implications," they added.

They spoke with the scientist's bent for understatement. There are some 15,000 species of bivalve or two-shelled mollusks in the world, including oysters, which in the loose sense can be called clams since clam refers to the tightness with which the shells close.

★ ★ ★

Any one might yield an "active principle" which could be highly "useful" in fighting human cancers. The scientists worked with the common "hard" clam which goes into clam chowders. Incidentally the weight of its liver is 0.02 per cent of that of the whole animal when shucked of its shell.

Fight Mildew With Chemicals

If mildewed wood siding is your pet peeve, look into mildew-resistant paints. Special chemicals in these paints help retard the growth of mildew.

Be sure to prepare the surface properly by washing down the mildewed places before repainting. Rinse with water. When the surface is dry, you'll be ready to paint.

Ustinov a Mitty Who Realizes Daydreams

By HAL BOYLE

"What'll he try next?" is the question perenially asked about this seriocomic genius who is acclaimed as "the Renaissance man of the theater.

BOYLE

As usual he is trying to do more than one thing at a time. Having completed his 25th film, "Hot Millions," in which he plays an eccentric embezzler, Peter is putting the finishing touches on his 20th play, "The Passion According to Pontius Pilate," in which Jesus returns in modern dress. He is also preparing to direct an opera in Hamburg, Germany.

"I really enjoy doing nothing best," he said. "Just thinking what I might do next is a marvelous feeling."

LITTLE UNDONE

There is little in the entertainment world that Ustinov hasn't done. The plump 47-year-old performer, who has shaved off his trademark beard, began as a cabaret performer in his native London at 18. He has won two Hollywood Oscars and two television Emmys for his acting, directed six movies, five of which he also produced. He has written novels and travel articles and even wielded the baton over the orchestra that provided music for his latest films.

★ ★ ★

Afterward, he said, one of the musicians paid him this compliment:

"We've played under worse."

What kind of a man is Peter? He's a human chameleon. His mind skips between Puck and Plato, his moods range from the belly laugh to the dry inner tear, voiced but unshed. His royal sword is the cap and bells. He is a kind of court jester at the throne of mankind.

★ ★ ★

The five bloods that flow through his veins — Russian, French, Jewish, Ethiopian and Italian — blend in a torrent that cries out his one big message: a plea for more tolerance.

'TOLERANCE STRENGTH'

"Tolerance isn't a sign of weakness—it's one of strength," he remarked, attacking a luncheon plate of corned beef and cabbage with the relish he brings to all his endeavors.

★ ★ ★

"Life to me is an adventure during which one learns the meaning of tolerance. It is a phase in some greater education. One learns not only by obedience, but by quarrel, by revolution as well as acceptance.

★ ★ ★

"Without the rebel the establishment couldn't exist. Neither could God if it weren't for the devil. If there were no devil, God would have to create him.

"Life only began when an angel fell."

COMPUTER IS FOE

"To me the individual is sacrosant," he said. "The enemy is the computer.

"This is the era of the specialist at the expense of everything else. If children start specializing at the age of 8, then we'll deserve whatever happens to us.

★ ★ ★

"I'm afraid that, despite all our talk about them, liberty and freedom are being lost minute by minute and that the possibilities of them are getting smaller and smaller."

Here are things Peter likes:

"The sea— people— solitude— vineyards— Mark Twain— contemporary classical music — Turkish foods, you can eat a lot of them without gaining weight —beer and wine drunk where they are grown — just before twilight, when the earth smells best to me — the sounds of a bassoon, the nostalgic whirring of a distant lawn mower on a summer day, the straining hawsers of a boat in harbor — the feel of cashmere — and doubt, because it is the most important ingredient in life."

★ ★ ★

These are his dislikes:

"Political double-talk—organic foods, such as brains, liver, kidneys—root beer—the barking of strange dogs—airplane pilots who mumble their announcements — the odor of sanctity — and people who accept the world that they are given instead of trying to create their own world inside it."

Quality Products Last Longer

Painting your home? Buy quality products.

The quality of the materials is an important factor in its durability. It makes sense to buy the best paint possible since it will lengthen the time between re-paintings, and in the long run, it will be a savings to you.

Drug Addiction Adds to Young Alcoholics' Problems

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Dual and triple addictions to various kinds of chemical drugs is compounding the problem of alcoholism in the United States.

Combined addictions are being seen chiefly in alcoholics under the age of 30 and include the major tranquilizers and stimulants, but not narcotics.

This trend to mulitple addictions will accelerate as more mood-changing drugs are developed, says Dr. Vernelle Fox, medical director of the Georgian Clinic and Rehabilitation Center in Atlanta, One of the nation's major alcoholism treatment centers.

Drugs being abused by young alcoholics include the tranquilizers, such as meprobamate (Miltown, Equanil), chlordiazepoxide (Librium) and diazepam (Valium), the stimulants such as amphetamines and the sedatives.

Withdrawal troubles from these various drugs occur at different intervals so that an individual may pass through one set of symptoms after another over a period of one to two weeks depending on how many drugs he has been using.

Dr. Fox is bringing together data on the problem of multiple addictions. She says she has evidence that Librium, and related drugs are addictive, contrary to medical investigations which have failed so far to prove physical dependence stemming from these chemicals.

Meprobamate has already been declared an addictive by the Food and Drug Administration.

Ohio Election May Prove Politics Make Strange Bedfellows

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The theory that politics makes strange bedfellows possibly may need go no further than Ohio on election day to prove its validity.

If present trends hold, Ohio could cast its 26 presidential electoral votes for Republican Richard M. Nixon and elect Democrat John J. Gilligan to the U.S. Senate.

Top Republican leaders predict Nixon will carry the state in a landslide over Hubert H. Humphrey.

Democrats concede Humphrey trails now by 6 to 8 per cent, but State Chairman Eugene (Pete) O'Grady sees Humphrey coming on strong in October for a narrow victory.

NECK-AND-NECK RACE

Gilligan is running a neck-and-neck race with Republican William B. Saxbe, the state attorney general, for the seat now held by Democrat Frank J. Lausche. Experts feel their fight won't be settled until the campaign's final stages.

O'Grady predicts Humphrey will carry Ohio "in much the same manner as John F. Kennedy carried the United States" by a razor-thin margin over Nixon in 1960.

The state chairman says Humphrey's "campaign and his education program — which he must do — will begin to come across by mid-October." He feels Nixon's image as a "new man" will begin to crack as the campaign moves into its final weeks.

★ ★ ★

There is wide disagreement on the impact George C. Wallace's third-party campaign will have, although both major parties feel his support will wane as the campaign heats up.

SUPPORT TO DROP

O'Grady estimates Wallace's support, now about 28 per cent of the electorate, will drop to 10 per cent on Nov. 5 with Wallace drawing the bulk of the votes away from Nixon.

But Republicans and labor leaders say Wallace will draw heavily from blue collar workers, which will hurt Humphrey in a big labor state such as Ohio.

A spokesman for the AFL-CIO says 25 per cent of the organization's 650,000 members in Ohio favor Wallace.

★ ★ ★

Leaders of both parties contend Wallace voters will move back to their party's nominee in the Senate congressional races. The labor leader said they would be "single shooters," voting only for president.

UPSET AMBITIONS

Saxbe, counting largely on the coattails of Nixon, has relied heavily on the powerful state GOP organiaztion.

★ ★ ★

Gilligan, a fan of the Kennedy clan, has run his own campaign from the start, refusing to endorse the vice president until he was the nominee of the Chicago convention.

His stand on the presidential race, like many other subjects, has put Gilligan in hot water, both with party and labor leaders.

PUBLICIZED ROW

His most publicized row came when it was reported he would lack financial support because of his refusal to fight for Humphrey at a party caucus. Since then money has trickled in, with more expected after an endorsement by the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education.

★ ★ ★

Saxbe's money has been channeled through state headquarters. His staff said their financial woes came from the fact a lot of Ohio money has been siphoned off for Nixon, since party leaders consider Saxbe an easy winner.

★ ★ ★

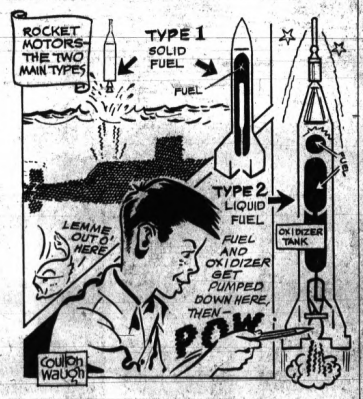

In the congressional delegation, Republicans may lose one of the 19 seats they currently hold, out of 24. That would be in the 22nd district, where incumbent Frances P. Bolton faces Charles A. Vanik.

Both Democrats and Republicans point to Mrs. Bolton's age as the primary factor in her contest with Vanik, who currently represents the 21st district. She is 83.

Eliminate Excess

Harmful salts can be prevented from building up in the roots of plants by keeping all plants in porous red clay pots which eliminate excess salts and moisture each time you water.

Junior Editors Quiz on ROCKET ENGINES

QUESTION: How do rocket engines work and why are there different stages?

ANSWER: Rockets work by the same principle as jet engines: fuel is burned inside a combustion chamber with an open end, out of which exhaust gases rush. The force pressing to the rear escapes, which frees the force in front, so that it pushes the jet or rocket ahead.

Jets need outer air, but rockets carry their own oxygen supply. Our picture shows the two types of rocket fuel used, solid or liquid. In type (2), the fuel and an oxidizer are carried in separate tanks, but bumped together when needed and ignited.

Rockets of this type, when used for putting satellites into orbit or exploring space, are built with several sections or stages, each complete with its own motor. These are necessary to keep boosting the rocket through enormous distances.

The first stage, at the base of the rocket, blasts it off from earth; then this part falls off. The second stage fires its motors and pushes the rocket still further. The third stage may release a satellite, or perhaps a device to coast on and land on the moon.

Speedy Stuff Is Sought

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — "Velocities greater than that of light," said Albert Einstein, "have no possibility of existence."

All the textbooks since Einstein say the same. But not all physicists.

Suggestions that faster-than-light particles might exist have been made now and then. Recently, Prof. Gerald Feinberg of Columbia University figured out what the properties of such objects would be.

This suggested how such particles — called tachyons from a Greek word meaning swift — might be looked for, and Drs. Torsten Alvager and Michael N. Kreisler of Princeton University set up an experiment for the search.

The experimenters now report that no tachyons have been found so far. But the search goes on.

The prohibition of objects moving faster than light goes back to an experiment in the last century, the so-called Michelson-Morley experiment, which showed that — contrary to experience with all other motions — the speed of light remained the same whether one was moving with it or against it.

It's That Fall Festive Time Again... And

That's right . . . it's harvest time, time to reap the harvest! Time to rake in the savings! We'll tell you right off the bat — we're overloaded with carpet. Sure, we've sold a lot of carpet so far this year . . . there's no doubt about that. But our third quarter has been slower than expected. We order a lot of rolls, a lot of quality carpeting. And, let's face it . . . we're going into the final quarter before long. Of course, we know this is the time of year you ladies think about indoor living again . . . upcoming holidays, Sunday afternoon family affairs and inside entertaining. So what do we do at Karen's? You guessed it! We offer our fine carpeting at lower, money saving prices with unexcelled, immediate installation. Come on in and see the exciting fibers, and colors and of course, the new low prices we're offering for fall! Here are just two of our many Fall bargains!

Karen's CARPETS

Who's our toughest competition? We are!

In the beginning life was simple at Karen's. We were the underdogs (or undermooses). Oakland County homeowners didn't know what to expect from us. We tried to figure out exactly what our customers wanted, needed and would buy. Then we began to click . . . we offered the finest carpets we could buy, we kept our overhead down and our prices followed suit. Month by month, season by season we have grown. We have a bigger, more modern store now and our customership and traffic count has increased many fold. Our inventory is at an all time high. Fall of 1967 was an exceptional season . . . we sold and installed many thousands of yard of quality carpeting. Fall of 1968 will be even greater. Each season we continue to face this problem with an optimistic competitive attitude.

Troy School Spending Improper, Says State

By JEAN SAILE

Improper expenditures from the Troy School District's 1965 and 1966 building and site fund have been charged in a report by the State Department of Treasury Local Audit Division against the Troy Board of Education, The Pontiac Press learned today.

The report includes the opinion that at least one more school could have been built with different use of the bonding money.

The alleged improper spending is outlined in a report from the division dated July 15. It was reportedly introduced to Troy Board of Education members during an executive session last night.

No action was taken, though the board later moved to relieve Walter R. Naftaly of Oak Park as auditor and to approve an immediate audit of all books, but no new auditor was hired, according to school district sources.

FIRING REQUESTED

Harold Janes, dissident member of the board who admitted he had a copy of the report but declined to show it for publication, said he had asked the board for immediate firing of Dr. Rex B. Smith, superinentedent, and Ronald Sitter, business manager of the school district. He said the board refused to go along.

The report, based on Janes' intial charges last January and his request for a state investigation, finds that "$678,145.27 of improper expenditures are not within the terms of the 1965 building and site bond proposal."

It furhter states the balance of the 1965 building and site funds was $106,501.31, on April, 1968, while the accounts payable from the fund totalled $287,056.

The report continues, "The acceptance of gifts and parties paid by the school architect (who was Harry Harmon of Port Huron) was discussed with the business manager.

"He readily admitted that the architect had taken the superintendent, assistant superintendent, board members and himself and wives on a charter bus to Canada for dinner approximately a year and a half ago."

DINNER WITH ARCHITECT

The report states, "Minutes (of the board of education) show no official action by the Board of Education to acquire sites purchased from the 1965 and 1966 building and site funds. The only reference to these transactions (totaling over $2,500,000) in the minutes was a 'listing'

Waterford Man Becomes a Hero —by Accident

By MEL NEWMAN

The accident occurred about 11:05 a.m. when James Hill, 45, of Detroit fell to the bottom of a narrow 32-foot hole at a construction site on the Oakland University campus.

While futile attempts were being made from the top of the hole to pull Hill free, Green was being sought by a labor union official coincidentally at the scene and who fortunately knew of Green's abilities.

The official knew that Green, an employe of the Cunningham-Limp Construction Co. on a job at the Pontiac Motor Division, was experienced in subterranean work.

ROBERT GREEN

He found the 43-year-old father of seven operating a forklift, advised him of the situation, then asked for help.

Green's response was in the form of a question:

"If the guy's down in the hole, what are we doing here?"

The rescue operation wasn't easy.

First of all, Hill had become partially buried under a cave-in of clay when he fell from a drag hook he was riding into the cable shaft which was being constructed for an elevator shaft.

He had volunteered to go down when a drill was stopped by rock at the 32-foot level, 28 feet short of the intended depth.

Secondly, Green is a 190-pound six-footer, and the hole was only two feet in diameter.

Thirdly, gas was present in the hole and threatened to overcome both men.

"I could taste the gas — you can't smell it — and I got a little dizzy the first time I went down. After a couple of glasses of water, I went down again and was able to hook him to a rope.

"If you have some experience in going into these diggings, it's not oo dangerous."

Maybe not, but Hill, an employe of Stuart Foundation Co. of East Detroit, most likely owes his life to Green's efforts.

STOLEN DRAFT RECORDS — Antiwar demonstrators doused bags of draft records with gasoline yesterday after they were taken from a Milwaukee Selective Service Office. The protesters took the bags from the office shortly after it closed. At least 14 persons were arrested, including five in clerical garb.

GOP Predicting Support-GI Cut in Viet by June

By The Associated Press

A key Republican congressman traveling with Richard M. Nixon says a 90,000-man U.S. troop reduction in Vietnam is likely by June — but says it won't be the kind of "sop to the doves" Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey offers.

"Hanoi mustn't mistake it," Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said yesterday. "The American people mustn't misread it. And it's time a flailing Humphrey left it alone."

Nixon endorsed Laird's statement and said he could see no objection to a reduction that did not involve U.S. ready-force strength in Vietnam.

Related Stories, Pages A-2, A-3, A-5, A-12, B-5

CONDITIONS CITED

Laird said the troop reduction will be the result of "ordinary and methodical military planning." He said South Vietnam has increased its own draft calls and need for U.S. support troops has eased.

Humphrey, meanwhile, pressed his challenge to Nixon for national televisioned debate and said if Nixon has a plan for ending the Vietnam war he should make it known.

Humphrey also said his hecklers include anarchists and many "I don't know what." He said they are out to destroy his Democratic campaign and the country.

GOP vice presidential candidate, Spiro T. Agnew, said in Hawaii he would not apologize for calling a reporter "the fat Jap" in a friendly joking manner. He said he was truly sorry if any Japanese-Americans interpreted the remark as a slur.

★ ★ ★

Third-party candidate George C. Wallace was taking time out from campaigning. Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox said he will speak on Wallace's behalf in the next few weeks and added: "I hope I don't hurt him."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key U.S. military leaders say true neutralization of the demilitarized zone is the absolute minimum condition for a total halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Along with this, say high-ranking officers, must be an agreement that neither side would fire across the buffer zone nor mass troops and supplies near the six-mile-wide DMZ separating the two Vietnams.

★ ★ ★

"If we stopped bombing without that, I don't believe we could hold the area," one top general said in an interview.

"They could mass their artillery on the other side and shell the hell out of us."

HANOI CONDITION

So far, Hanoi has insisted on an unconditional halt in U.S. bombing, which for nearly five months has been restricted by President Johnson to the lower 25 per cent of North Vietnam.

Administration spokesmen have never been very specific about the reciprocity expected from Hanoi before the bombing can be ended.

But top-ranking American military leaders are specific in private conversation about what conditions would make a bombing halt acceptable to them.

One senior officer said he would not be it involved what he called "a clear cut quid for our quo," and represented a definite step toward ending the war.

TANGIBLE RESULTS

It is quite clear that U.S. military leaders want actions that show tangible totally opposed to a bombing cessation if and measurable results.

Therefore, they do not put much stress on winning agreement from North Vietnam to halt or curtail infiltration in general. They know it would take months to verify whether North Vietnam was welching on an agreement to end infiltration.

★ ★ ★

But they believe it would be very easy to detect North Vietnamese violations of agreements to neutralize the DMZ.

★ ★ ★

The six-mile wide buffer zone was established under the 1954 Geneva accords which split Vietnam between the Communist North and the non-Communist South.

★ ★ ★

But for several years the DMZ has been demilitarized in name only.

Draft Files Burned; 14 Held

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Fourteen persons, including five Roman Catholic priests, were arrested after the destruction of thousands of draft records seized from a Selective Service office yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The 14 sang, prayed and waited for arrest while the flames ate at the piles of paper they carted in burlap sacks from the office building to a park across the street.

★ ★ ★

"Some property has no right to exist," the protesters said in a news release prepared in advance of their action.

The protesters, who referred to themselves as the "Milwaukee Fourteen," said they were "one with the history of mercy and protest."

4 BOARDS INVADED

The action was designed to prevent induction for an estimated 27,000 draft eligibles. Records from four draft boards were taken.

★ ★ ★

Col. Bently Courtenay, Wisconsin Selective Service director, said inductions will probably not be prevented or delayed by the action.

★ ★ ★

"A draft board can reconstruct records which have been destroyed," he said, "But it takes an enormous amount of work, and the cost to the taxpayers is terrific."

He said there was no way to estimate the total damage.

The 14 were held in bond ranging from $25,000 to $30,000. All were charged with arson, burglary and criminal damage to property.

An additional charge of theft was lodged against two of the 14 for allegedly snatching a key to the draft board office from a cleaning woman. The raid was staged just after the office closed for the day.

★ ★ ★

Police Sgt. Fred Stein said the demonstrators, most of them Catholic pacifists, "overpowered a cleaning woman, took away her keys, opened the door, came out with the records and burned them."

★ ★ ★

One man jumped out of a panel truck parked by the park and doused the bags with an inflammable liquid, which the protesters said was "homemade napalm."

STARTED SINGING

★ ★ ★

But burned papers were piled like fallen leaves at the base of a flagpole in a park dedicated to "the memory of those who served" in World War I.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

'PROPERTY NOT SACRED'

"We destroy Selective Service system files because men need to be reminded that proprty is not sacred," the 14 said in their statement. "If anything tangible is sacred it is the gift of life and flesh, flesh which is daily burned, made homeless, butchered without tears or clamors from most Americans."

Sunny-Side Sky Tops Weather Fare

Precipitation for the period will total about one-quarter-inch in showers near the end of the week.

The low reading prior to 8 a.m. today in downtown Pontiac was 53. The 12:30 p.m. recording was 66.

In 2nd Kidnap-Rape Incident

Lapeer County to File Charges

The Lapeer County prosecutor's office indicated today that warrants will be issued shortly against at least two and possibly all of four youths charged yesterday in Oakland County with kidnap and rape.

★ ★ ★

Charges in Lapeer would involve another alleged rape-abduction incident which began earlier Sunday and was followed by the offense against the Pontiac victims.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson said yesterday that charges in Lapeer County against Percy J. Grenwood, 21, of Pontiac; Raymond M. Spring, 24, of Orion Township; James L. Davidson, 18, of Oxford; and James R. Perna, 18, of Oxford, were forthcoming, according to information he had received.

Bronson said his office is working closely with its Lapeer counterpart.

The Pontiac couple was abducted near Hurd Road and Baldwin in Lapeer County by two of the defendants, according to Oakland County sheriff's detectives.

Officers said three victims of the alleged prior assaults were set free at the time with a warning to keep quiet.

SERIES OF ATTACKS

The Pontiac couple was then driven to Oxford, where the two remaining defendants joined the group, deputies said. A series of attacks allegedly followed at various secluded areas near Oxford.

Spring and Greenwood were arrested in the male victim's car at M24 and Silver Bell in Orion Township Sunday and the male was set free, deputies said.

★ ★ ★

Rainfall Scatters Mexican Rioters

Four other deaths were reported last night during hit-and-run clashes involving students, other dissidents, police and soldiers. But these deaths could not be confirmed.

The fighting Monday night reached a peak not seen in the Mexican capital since the revolutionary days of the 1920s. It slacked off yesterday and officials went ahead with preparations for the Olympic Games, scheduled to open in Mexico City on Oct. 12.

Throughout the day yesterday, sirens wailed and shots could be heard as police sought out snipers who, after a bloody night of fighting around vocational schools in the northwest part of the city, holed up in apartment houses in the area.

FIRING INCREASES

Firing increased shortly before night fell, and a magazine reporter on the scene said two students were killed at a vocational school in the downtown Ciudadela section.

Students at another vocational school near the National Palace had a shootout with police and, when newsmen arrived, had just finished painting the outlines of two bodies on the floor of the school. They said they had marked the place where two of their comrades had been killed in the exchange of gunfire.

Two trucks burned in the street outside, as did trucks and buses in various parts of the city where rioters had captured them.

At another vocational school in the Tlatelolco area, the scene of heavy fighting Saturday and Monday nights, three buses were burned and police in possession of the school drove back 2,500 students by firing into the air and shooting tear gas into the crowds.

Bids Awarded for 51 Hangars

Bids were awarded yesterday for 51 new hangars at Oakland-Pontiac Airport. Construction is expected to start soon on the $339,350 project.

This was below cost-expectations of about $400,000 for the job. Winning bidder for hangar construction was Ful-Fab Inc., of Canton, Ohio, $280,370, and for site preparation Lynd Ashpalt of 1945 Barrett, Troy, $58,980.

Airport officials said construction could start within days and be completed by next spring. The hangars will be located at the northeastern part of the field in an area that is slated to eventually have a complex of 400 hangars and other facilities for smaller craft.

The Airport Committee has been authorized by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors to sell bonds on the hangar project. The bonds are to be paid off from rentals of the hangars.

Option Markups by Ford Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least one of the Big Three auto makers has marked up prices on optional equipment by as much as 293.3 per cent, according to a report released by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

That was the markup on the wholesale price charged to dealers on a V8 engine by Ford Motor Co. in 1966, Nelson quoted the report as saying.

Markups on other equipment ranged from 16.8 per cent for the standard vehicle with no extras to the 293.3 per cent for the engine, the report showed.

Nelson, calling the figures "astounding," said the report was prepared by auto industry critic Ralph Nadar and supplied to Nelson and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., last July. Both Nelson and Morse head small business subcommittees which have looked into auto pricing practices.

COST ANALYSIS

Nelson described the data as a unit-cost analysis done by computer in July 1966, at an unidentified Ford plant.

No data was available for General Motors or Chrysler, but Nelson indicated it probably would be similar.

Debate Hope Falters as Equal-Time Bill Bogs Down in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee called up the equal-time bill today amid faltering hopes that congressional action can be completed in time for television debates between the presidential candidates.

Even if the measure finally is shaken loose from committee chances for debates this year appear slim unless Republican Richard M. Nixon recants repeated declarations he will not take part in a debate involving third-party candidate George C. Wallace.

The bill still must be debated on the floor by a House that is finding it increasingly difficult to get enough members together to do business.

A similar measure suspending equal time requirements was passed in 1960, making possible the historic debates between Nixon and John F. Kennedy. That bill, however, passed the Congress in plenty of time for the first of the four debates.

★ ★ ★

Nixon has said he is willing to debate Humphrey but not in a three-way bout with Wallace. Humphrey has indicated he would go along with the three-way format.

Overtime Cut Irks Policemen in Waterford

Waterford Township policemen, who picketed for more pay three months ago, are grumbling again, this time about a cutback in overtime.

The result has been that sometimes only one or two police officers have been able to cover the township's 36 square miles and protect its approximately 60,000 residents, according to one officer.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief William Stokes explains that the recent contract settlement has necessitated that officers work on overtime only in emergency cases.

In a low-complaint period, an officer would not now be called in on overtime to replace an officer who was sick, the chief explained.

Stokes indicated that he and auditors are studying new financial needs of the police department and that it is possible he may have to ask the township board for more money.

Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson reports a total of $14,264 has been spent on overtime when $10,000 has been budgeted for 1968.

The $14,264 figures includes a total of $5,200 from Jan. 1 to July 3 in back overtime which the police officers won in the 1968 contract, which was settled a few months ago.

City Man Pleads Guilty in 2nd Case

MOORE

It was the second major offense to which Moore had entered a guilty plea in less than a week. He is being held in the Oakland County jail.

Last Thursday he pleaded guilty to raping a young Pontiac woman.

Moore of 499 W. Huron will be sentenced on the kidnap case Oct. 22 by Judge William R. Beasley, and the following day in the rape case by Judge William J. Beer. Both offenses carry up to a maximum life sentence in prison.

IN LAPEER COUNTY

Moore was arrested in Lapeer County following a manhunt sparked by the disappearance of the Pontiac woman April 29. She later told police that during the 10 hours she was held captive, she was raped three times.

of bills to be paid from the building and site funds submitted to the board for approval."

It continues, "If approved, it was apparently done in executive session."

The report also noted actual negotiations for the acquisition of properties in Sections 19 and 20 — $135,809 above the amount estimated — were carried out by the school superintendent.

Indication that the land deals were turned over to the State Department of Licensing and Regulations for a check of possible violation was included in the report.

Janes, contacted by The Pontiac Press, said, "It's about time this was made public. I have suffered — my family has suffered abuse, criticism and ridicule. I was threatened by board members last night not to release (the report). I still feel the public has a right to know."

A. L. Westol, audit division director, confirmed that the report had been turned over to the State Department of Education. He referred reporters to the state superintendent's office.

A spokesman for the state superintendent's office said the report had not been discussed to the State Board of Education.

Fortas Foes Have Filibuster Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Senate count showed today opponents of Abe Fortas definitely have the votes to keep a filibuster — threatened for today — going against his nomination as chief justice.

The new poll by the Associated Press gave opponents 35 votes, one more than necessary to prevent a move to choke off debate.

Head of State Hospital Objects to Security Order

Medical Supt. Dr. Donald W. Martin of Pontiac State Hospital said today he disagrees with the state attorney general's order that all state mental hospitals tighten security measures

"It is not a prison. If patients are the type that should be locked up, they should be kept in a prison facility.

Martin added he feels others who run state hospitals think the same way.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley told Director William H. Anderson of the State Mental Health Department in a letter yesterday that mental hospitals must improve security measures to prevent the escape of patients committed for mental examinations by the criminal courts.

Kelley's directive follows a report that five of 12 criminal defendants escaped from Pontiac State Hospital last year. Kelley said two of the escapees are still at large.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson had advised Kelley that security procedures at Pontiac State Hospital were inadequate for handling accused felons.

Kelley said the superintendent of an institution "carries a statutory liability for failure to maintain custody as required by court orders."

Requirements of the court orders must be obeyed despite any conflict with the philosophy of modern psychiatric therapy, according to Kelley.

"The requirements of the court orders under which defendants in criminal cases are committed to the Mental Health Department must be carried out for the protection of the public as well as in obedience to the authority of the court," Kelley said in the letter.

★ ★ ★

Under a new state law, a person accused of a crime who is found incompetent to stand trial may be committed to the custody of the center for forensic psychiatry or any other facility designated by the mental health department for such a diagnostic report and evaluation.

Appearance by Muskie Limited to OU Speech

The appearance of U.S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine in Oakland County tomorrow will be limited to a speech at Oakland University, it was announced today.

★ ★ ★

The time of Muskie's speech at the university is scheduled for 1:15 p.m. The program is open to the public. Hosting the campus event will be the New Young Democrats and the Oakland Students for Humphrey-Muskie.

I-75 Crash Kills Macomb Man, 76

An elderly Macomb County man was killed last night when his car struck a truck parked on the shoulder of I-75 near Baldwin in Orion Township.

The victim of the 9:10 p.m. accident was identified by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department as George Juncan, 76, of 53665 Shelby.

Juncan was southbound on I-75 when his auto left the road and hit the unattended dump truck, according to sheriff's deputies. They said they found no skid marks to indicate that Juncan had tried to stop.

★ ★ ★

The truck driver apparently had left the vehicle while he went to get help to fix a flat tire, deputies said. The driver has not been identified, though the truck is registered to a Lloyd Stevens of Flint, according to deputies.

No safety lights, flares or reflectors were displayed on the truck, they said.

'U.S. Won't Halt Talks'

PARIS (AP) — The United States has no intention of breaking off the peace talks with North Vietnam, U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said today. He added that Hanoi also has given no indication of wanting to stop talking.

The chief U.S. delegate to the 20-week-old discussions met again today with North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy for the conference's 23rd session.

Lawyer Seeks Election as U-M Regent

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Robert E. Nederlander, of 4616 Private Lake, has announced his candidacy for University of Michigan Regent.

He is a partner in the law firm of Fenton, Nederlander, Tracy and Dodge; vice president and director of Nederlander Theatrical Corp.; president and director of Mayflower Life Insurance Co., of Michigan; and a member of the American, Michigan and Detroit Bar Associations.

Nederlander is also director of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, life member of NAACP, and member of U. of M. Club of Detroit, and "M" Club.

He says, "I see the university as the best hope for breaking the endless chain of poverty and dependency that shackles too many of our state's citizens, by providing an education for those whose only disqualification would have been poverty."

TIME IS PLEDGED

"If elected a regent, I will devote all the time it takes to become thoroughly knowledgeable with all the problems confronting regents. I will work toward solutions that will make one of the nation's outstanding universities ever greater."

TV Tones Down on Violence in New Season

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The bad guys will still take their falls this season on television, but they'll go down much quicker. The rogue who was brought down by nothing less than a hail of bullets will fall when he's winged, and the burly toughs will go out with one punch. It's the way the networks decided to tone down the violence but keep the action.)

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The high point of one episode in a police series this season comes when the man in blue revives a drowning victim by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. In another, it comes when he resolves a family argument.

* * *

In a new western, the rough, tough hero saves the day — and winds up the episode — by snatching a little girl from under the hooves of a rampaging wild stallion.

* * *

"Sure, we're cutting down on some of the action this season," admitted a producer. "Less shooting, shorter fights. But if you think we're rewritting some of our scripts, you should know about the way they are reworking the story lines in the kid's cartoon shows."

The subject under discussion was, of course, violence — or the removal of violence — from this season's batch of television programs. It is done on orders from network heads who reacted after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the tidal wave of criticism directed at television entertainment shows.

NEW STORY LINES

"It seems to me," said one veteran actor who has been dropped by a hail of bullets in many a western shoot-out," that we're just winging the heavies this year, not killing them."

* * *

Andrew Duggan, who has played many a villainous role over a decade or so in the Hollywood back lots, is playing a good guy in a new CBS western, "Lancer."

"I sure notice a new approach," he said. "We're shooting at them, but we aren't killing them. I keep finding myself taking a shot at somebody, and when he starts to scurry away holding his arm or limping away with a grazed leg, I stand up and shout, 'Get off my land! And don't ever come back.!'

IT'S OUT — O-U-T

"Now, I've been in plenty of these westerns, including the pilot of 'Wagon Train.' And it used to be that the writers kept busy figuring out new ways to have a gunfight. I remember one scene when the hero was to knock my guns out of my hands by shooting me in both elbows. Well, that sort of thing is out, O-U-T."

Mike Connors, whose "Mannix" returns for a second season, says frankly that he thinks that there has been an overreaction to the general promise to use violence only where essential to the movement of the plot.

"It's a bugaboo," he said. "Where is the line between unnecessary violence and necessary violence — particularly in an action show?

"Now, wanton violence is one thing — pistol-whipping, knife cuts and long, long fights. But in one case we had a fight in which two blows were struck and the man was out. That's fewer than in real fights."

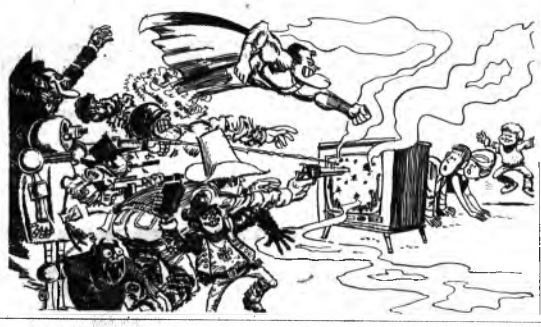

The real change will appear in the new, bland crop of cartoon shows designed to amuse the little viewers on weekend mornings.

It is one thing to be charged with overdoing the action in shows for the older viewer. But no one wants to be accused of setting a bad example for children or damaging tender minds. The new batch of cartoons will consist, their makers insist fervently, of good, clean fun and happy imagery.

* * *

The general feeling is expressed by a producer, anonymous as usual when uttering heresy: "This, too, will pass. Every few years we seem to go through some contortions like this. Viewers tune in their televisions sets for the action. And action is just another name for violence."

Southpaw Relief Ace Eases White Sox Pains

By the Associated Press

When late inning headaches arrive for the Chicago White Sox, relief is just a Wilbur Wood away. And for Wilbur Wood, relief is just five days away.

The aching Sox called on Wood to soothe them with another scoreless inning Tuesday night in a record-setting 85th mound appearance, and Chicago went on to a 5-1 victory in 12 innings over Oakland.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

But Wood, with his 1.93 ERA and 12-11 record for 153 2-3 innings probably can't wait for the season to end Sunday so he can get a bit of relief himself. Those 85 appearances have put him in the game about every other day as he broke the mark set by Ted Abernathy of the Chicago Cubs in 1965.

The rest of the league could probably use some relief, too, with only the last eight places in the standings left to be decided.

TIE FOR THIRD

Boston dropped into a tie for third place with Cleveland after getting clobbered by Washington 10-2 while the Indians split with the New York Yankees, losing 5-1 before winning 5-2.

Minnesota pulled within two games of sixth-place Oakland with a 5-3 victory over California in 10 innings.

Wood relieved Gary Peters in the eighth after the A's had scored in the fourth inning on a double steal by Sal Bando and Danny Cater, and the Sox tied it in the seventh on Duane Josephson's triple and a hit by Bill Melton.

Hoyt Wilhelm took over in the ninth as Manager Al Lopez rearranged his batting order to get Tom McCraw in the ninth spot so McCraw could bat in the 10th inning instead of the pitcher.

TIE BREAKER

Ken Berry singled in the tie-breaking run in the 12th, Carlos May singled in another and Buddy Bradford drove in the final two with a hit.

Ken McMullen led Washington's onslaught as he reached base five times on three singles, an error and a walk and scored

The victory kept alive Washington's slim hopes of catching the White Sox and getting out of the league cellar. They trail Chicago by 2½ Games.

Mel Stottlemyre won his 21st game with a four-hitter for the Yankees in the opener, but Mike Paul stopped the Yankees on five hits until two were out in the ninth of the nightcap and Vicente Romo came in to get the last out.

Rod Carew's two-run single with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th kept Minnesota on Oakland's heels. George Brunet of the Angels had a no-hitter until Bob Allison's two-run homer in the seventh, and the Twins tied with an unearned run in the eighth.

It may come as a surprise to you to learn how much actual playing time there is in a pro football game . . . A national sports service has released figures that surprised us — they show there are only about 15 minutes of actual playing time in a game! . . . For the remainder of the more than two hours of a football game, there are huddles, timeouts, penalties being discussed or walked off, players unpiling after a tackle, ends coming back after going out for a pass, etc. . . For only 15 minutes or so, is the ball actually in play.

Here's quite an oddity about Notre Dame football . . . Did you know Notre Dame once went 23 consecutive seasons without losing a home game! . . . The Irish lost a home game Oct. 21, 1905 to Wabash, 5-0, and then never lost another home game till Nov. 17, 1928 when Carnegie Tech beat them 27-7 . . . That loss to Carnegie Tech, by the way, turned out to be the ONLY home game Knute Rockne ever lost in his entire coaching career!

Two County Golfers Fail in Seniors Bid

Special to The Press

ATLANTA, Ga. — Edwin C. Dayton of Plymouth was the lone survivor among five golfers from Michigan as a field of 32 players started match play today in the 14th U.S. Senior Amateur golf championship at Atlanta Country Club.

★ ★ ★

It took a score of 157 or better to earn one of the 32 berths in the match play phase of the tournament. Dayton was in with a 156. Medalist in the qualifying part of the event was John C. Tullio of Aurora, O., with a 146.

★ ★ ★

Michigan golfers failing to make the match play lineup were William E. Holt, Jr., of Bloomfield Hills; George Haggarty of Grosse Pointe Farms; Randall R. Ahern of Royal Oak; and Leo T. Daigle of Lake Orion.

Holt had a 159, Daigle a 160, Ahern a 162, while Haggarty, after an 81 in the first round Monday, failed to turn in a card yesterday.

Willie Mays Keeps Pressure on Pitchers

By the Associated Press

The Say Hey kid isn't a kid anymore, but you'll sure have a hard time convincing the Houston Astros.

Wondrous Willie Mays, all 37 years of him, cracked his 22nd homer of the season and a two-run bunt to spark a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over the Astros Tuesday night that clinched second place for the Giants.

A two-run bunt?

Yep. Willie, more noted for his long hitting feats, came up with that little oddity to cap a four-run rally in the eighth inning.

LITTLE DRIBBLER

Astro third baseman Doug Rader took so much time fielding the slithering little dribbler down the baseline that not only did Dave Marshall score from third but also Jim Davenport from second.

Mays, whose solo blast in the first was the 586th of his career, also had a single in four trips and stole one base.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Pittsburgh's Steve Blass recorded his third consecutive shutout, and ninth straight victory and eighth straight complete game—and in the process helped teammate Matty Alou grab a share of the National League batting lead—as the Pirates subdued Cincinnati 2-0.

In other NL games, World Series-bound St. Louis was a 2-1 victim of Philadelphia, Atlanta socked the New York Mets 7-4 and the Chicago Cubs edged Los Angeles 3-2.

Blass, who hasn't been beaten since Aug. 10, aided Alou in his battle with the Reds' Pete Rose the hard way.

He struck out six Reds—fanning Rose three times.

RAISED AVERAGE

Alou, meanwhile, had two hits in four trips, including a run-scoring double, to climb into a tie with Rose for the batting lead at .334.

Deron Johnson lashed a two-run homer and Tommie Aaron had three hits and scored two runs as the Braves squelched Met rookie Jerry Koosman's hopes for 20 victories.

However, the Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins survived an eight-hit Los Angeles attack to win his 19th. Adolfo Phillips doubled, homered and scored twice to back him up.

Gary Sutherland's run-scoring double with two out in the eighth let the Phillies sidetrack St. Louis. Rookie Jerry Johnson, who scattered eight hits, picked up the victory, while Ray Washburn, making his first appearance since hurling a no-hitter last week, was tagged with the loss.

Halfback Lowe Joining Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs of the American football League signed nine-year pro running back Paul Lowe Tuesday to shore up a backfield plagued by injuries.

★ ★ ★

Lowe, 31, released by the San Diego Chargers last week, played little during the 1967 season after he was injured in the second game. Twice he gained more than 1,000 yards in one season, and in 1965 was the AFL's Player of the Year.

Celtics Drop Rookie

Walled Lake's Defense Is Strong

The Huskies' defense has been strong ever since the poor first-period showing in their opener with North Farmington. It should receive a good test from Spartan signal caller Jerry Detter.

The Farmington-Lathrup contest will mark the debut of the Southfield entry in the league. Neither has registered a win this season and would appear to be building for 1969.

★ ★ ★

Each has only managed one touchdown so far, and an extra point or safety could decide this meeting.

SHERBROOKE, Que. (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League won their fourth straight exhibition game Tuesday night, blanking the Cleveland Barons of the American League 7-0. Henri Richard and Yvan Cournoyer each scored a pair of goals.

Highlanders Show Unity

With the team's top five runners crossing the finish line at the same time, Highland Lakes rolled to an easy victory in a quadrangular cross-country meet yesterday at Schoolcraft.

The Highlanders totaled 15 points, followed by Schoolcraft (63), Orchard Ridge (75) and Monroe Community College (81).

Sharing the top spot were Roger Cleaver, John Nadolni, Brian Schultz, Harold Boone and Julian Gloomis. The win upped the Highlanders record to 7-0.

Clarkston JVs Win

Fred Anderson, candidate for Congress, has climbed Colorado's 14,148-foot Mt. Democrat and proclaimed, "I'm the first Republican to be supported by the highest Democrat in the nation."

Anderson, 40, a state senator seeking to unseat Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., said his only disappointment after reaching the summit of the peak east of Leadville was "not finding any voters there."

Anderson, farmer and cattle feeder, made the two-mile-long climb from Rifle Lake to the top of Mt. Democrat with Jim Disney, Colorado artist who has scaled 44 of the state's 53 peaks higher than 14,000 feet.

Rainier, Grace in Texas for Fashion Gala

GRACE

RAINIER

A crowd of about 650 waited in the rain to welcome the prince and his wife, the former actress and motion picture Academy Award winner Grace Kelly. They arrived separately.

A welcoming party at the airport included 65 members of the Chamber of Commerce red carpet committee, Gov. John Connally and several HemisFair officials.

After private tours of the San Antonio area today and trips to the Alamo and HemisFair tomorrow, the royal pair will be guests of honor tomorrow night at the fashion show and dinner.

Actor's Son 'Conscientious Objector'

Christian Hayden is a "dogmatic, routine and ordinary" conscientious objector, Judge Warren Ferguson said yesterday in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles. He found the 19-year-old son of actor Sterling Hayden innocent of failing to report for induction.

"No reasonable person whoever read his file could come to any other conclusion," said Ferguson, "He believes in the Supreme Being and because of this belief in a Supreme Being is opposed to killing and violence. Why the draft board failed to see this is beyond my comprehension."

Young Hayden was indicted by a federal grand jury in April on charges he failed to report for induction in March. Ferguson returned the verdict after a one-day nonjury trial as a group demonstrated outside against the draft.

Sterling Hayden won the Silver Star for heroism as a Marine captain in World War II. Asked as he left the courtroom if he was proud of his son, he replied. "Damn well right! It pleases me so much for cases pending, too."

Doctor, 90, Treats World War I Vets

Mombert, 90, a more-or-less retired physician from Santa Barbara, Calif., is the man assigned the task of treating major and minor ailments of the veterans whose average age is 74. This week Mombert is serving in his traditional role as national surgeon for the veterans' convention, a post he has held for five years.

"Considering their ages," Mombert said, "these World War I veterans are a pretty healthy lot."

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I have recently sold two holdings and put the money into Lane Wood Inc. which I'm told will double in a year. Do you think this was a good investment? — H.B.

A — Yes, I do feel that Lane Wood is a good investment on a long-term basis. However, your friend appears to have been overenthusiastic. Because of the many unforeseen situations that can disrupt the market, I would, in the future, be wary of anyone who states positively that a stock will double in price in a given length of time. Lane Wood, a Dallas-based company, derives 80 per cent of earnings from sales of mobile homes and 20 per cent from oil and other holdings. Earning in the last fiscal year, ended April 30, were $1.02 a share, and a comfortable increase is estimated for this year.

There is a sizable — over 20 per cent — dilution factor from conversion of debt and preferred issues. A recently proposed secondary offering should not be difficult for the market to absorb. Proceeds may be used to acquire additional firms in the mobile home industry.

Q — I am self-employed, in my early 40s, have three boys to educate and am eligible for a retirement plan under the Keogh Act. We have been able to put money away systematically toward retirement but may have to dip into it for college tuitions. Would you advise my taking advantage of Keogh plan? — L.S.

A — I would hesitate to advise your using the Self-Employed Pension Act for the very reason you have given: the possible need for these funds to meet future expenses. Monies invested under this act are frozen until age 59½, except in cases of severe disability or death. However, if you are in a higher tax bracket, the advantages of income tax deferment may outweigh this consideration.

I strongly suggest a thorough study of your individual situation with the assistance of your attorney or tax accountant, either of whom may point out fiscal advantages of which you are unaware.

Woman Fined in Drug Case

A former Pontiac teacher was fined $100 yesterday in connection with growing marijuana in a flower box at her home in Waterford Township.

* * *

The fine was imposed on Mrs. Alice Henry, 40, of 3518 Lexington, by Waterford Township Justice Kenneth H. Hampstead.

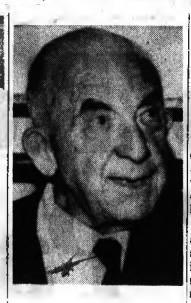

* * *

Charged with possession of narcotics, she was allowed to plead guilty earlier this month to a lesser offense of possessing a hypnotic drug.

Mrs. Henry, who had taught at Will Rogers Elementary School for the last seven years, announced the day she entered her guilty plea that she was leaving the area.

* * *

Mrs. Henry has contended that she didn't know the plants were marijuana. Police were tipped off by a neighbor.

ALASKA WRITE-IN — Veteran Alaska Sen. May Name 6 Judges Today

Romney Interviews 12 Hopefuls

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney interviewed 12 judicial candidates Tuesday but did not announce his decision on whether to give as many as six of them a major boost in the Nov. 5 election.

The governor was not available for comment after the series of closed-door meetings in his office. Aides said he had not decided whether to use his new power to appoint six of the judicial candidates to the offices they seek.

Romney scheduled a press conference for today and could announce a decision there.

If Romney appointed six judicial candidates to fill the vacancies, their terms would last only until the end of the year. But the appointees would be entitled to politically valuable "incumbent" designations on the November ballot.

Such designations often are enough to ensure election in a nonpartisan judicial race.

Included in the six races under consideration are those for positions on circuit courts in Wayne and Ingham counties, probate courts in Genesee, Wayne and Livingston counties, and Detroit Recorder's Court.

* * *

In Ingham County, Prosecutor Donald Reisig likely would be the choice over former State Sen. Paul Younger. In the Wayne County circuit race, Traffic Judge Richard Maher was thought to be favored over Thomas Brennan, a member of the State Board of Education.

Former Inkster Municipal Judge Robert Lee Evans was thought more likely to be named to the Recorder's Court vacancy than his November opponent, Common Pleas Judge Henry Szymanski, and in the Wayne County probate race, Common Pleas Judge Joseph Pernick was favored over Philip Gillis.

* * *

Romney's preferences were not known in the Genesee County probate race — pitting Flint Municipal Judge Thomas Yeotis against William O. Kelly—or the Livingston probate race between Donald Rink and Reed Fletcher.

Romney's power to appoint persons to judicial vacancies was approved by voters last Aug. 6, and took effect only last Friday.

Romney is also considering making appointments to two vacant Wayne County Circuit Court seats which are not being contested in the November election, and to Probate Court vacancies in Eaton and Ogemaw counties, where in each case only one candidate has filed.

Appeals Court Cited as More Accessible

Michigan's Court of Appeals is doing the job it was designed to do in providing easy access to the public in appealing lower court decisions, according to John F. Foley, a candidate for a new seat on the state appellate court.

Foley, speaking before a meeting of the Oakland County Bar Association at the Pontiac Elks Club today, said the best evidence of its greater accessibility is the increased number of appeals being handled.

* * *

'In 1963," he said, "426 appeals were filed in the State Supreme Court. In 1965, the first year of the Court of Appeals, 1,275 appeals were filed. The number rose to 1,795 in 1967 and will exceed 2,000 this year."

Foley is familiar with the work of the court since he serves as a commissioner on the Appeals Court. He is on a leave of absence while running for the judicial position.

PRINTED RECORDS

"A chief factor that has made an appeal more available to all was the elimination of the former requirement of many printed copies of briefs and records," Foley said.

"Printing costs alone used to average over $1,000 for each appeal," added Foley, a Birmingham resident, living at 523 Mohegan.

* * *

"This cost was ended in the Court of Appeals by the present requirement of only four typewritten copies of briefs and mere taansfer of the lower court records."

The court has made increasing use of the short "per curium" opinion which is quickly released, Foley added.

JOHN F. FOLEY

"In May and June of this year, of the 120 cases argued, 50 were decided by these one-and-two-page decisions which were released within a few weeks of argument."

* * *

In addition to making the right of appeal more available in civil cases, Foley said, "the criminal appeal volume has risen greatly. This is due mainly to the new right of appeal in criminal cases and the appointment of free counsel to assist in appeals of older convictions when the prisoner is indigent.

* * *

"The court will be able to continue to provide accessible justice through the increase of three permanent judges and additional availability of six trial court judges to help in appellate work," said Foley.

He is seeking a seat in District 2, which takes in most of Southeastern Michigan, including Oakland County.

Stab Victim Listed Serious; Woman Held

A Pontiac man is reported in serious condition in Pontiac General Hospital after being stabbed early today, and a 37-year-old woman is in custody for investigation of attempted murder.

* * *

Police said officers were called to 51 Pine about 12:15 a.m. and found a man identified as Albert Cappell, 40, lying in a pool of blood on the floor.

* * *

Arrested at the scene was Marjorie Prichard, who gave her address as 51 Pine, according to investigators.

* * *

Police said Cappell's address is also listed as 51 Pine.

A warrant against Miss Prichard will probably be sought later today, police said.

A new tire has been developed that cannot blow out or go flat. It is made of a special synthetic foam rubber with high resiliency and heat resistance that is used in place of air to fill the tire.

ADC Protests Bring Call for Welfare Study

LANSING (UPI) — Recent demonstrations by welfare mothers for increased payments and higher clothing allowances for their children has brought forth a call for a "reexamination of the state's welfare structure" by the Michigan Social Work Council.

In a letter to Gov. George Romney and legislative leaders, the group said the examination of the welfare system is needed to "find better ways to deal with the consequences of poverty in a society where there is abundance."

The group, at its meeting here last week, passed the resolution urging the government leaders to undertake such a study of the welfare program. The Michigan group is part of the National Association of Social Workers.

"The past two weeks have seen numerous confrontations between Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) mothers and County boards of supervisors over the inadequacy of welfare grants in several counties throughout the state," the statement said.

* * *

"This situation has grown more acute each year by the failure of the Michigan Legislature to make adequate resources available to the State Department of Social Services to meet the needs of recipients," it added.

Voodoo Sub for Alcohol?

QUEBEC (AP) — Voodoo virtually eliminates the need for reliance on tobacco, alcohol and drugs among Haitians, an international drug conference was told Tuesday.

A Haitian delegate, Dr. Emerson Douyon, told a meeting in suburban Beauport that voodoo rites and trances satisfy the psychological needs of individuals who might otherwise turn to drugs and alcohol.

"Use of drugs and voodoo trances represent two culturally difference means of arriving at the same end—escape from self and reality through transcedence," Douyon said.

No Hurricanes Hit U.S.—Yet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Not a single major storm has come howling out of the tropics to attack American shores this year, but don't write off the hurricane season yet," says director Robert H. Simpson of Miami's National Hurricane Center.

"It takes only a week," Simpson said, "for a vast change in atmosphere conditions that could yield a whole rash of storms, or develop one giant hurricane. We don't predict that, but it's possible."

For U.S. residents, Simpson said, it has been a tame season for two reasons.

The first is that the upper atmosphere of the tropics has been abnormally cold. The air column of a hurricane, rising like a giant smokestack to great heights, cannot develop and hold together without a concentration of heat all the way up.

The second restricting factor is that surface winds have been blowing from the east and upper winds from the west, making it impossible for an air column to grow.

WINDS IN WINTER

Simpson said the winds blow like this in the wintertime, "and that's why we don't have hurricanes then," but such a situation develops only periodically in the storm season.

While it has been a dull season from a public standpoint, Simpson said, it has been a humdinger for the forecasters. Of the 15 hurricanes that have formed in the eastern Pacific this year, virtually all of them were tracked for thousands of miles by Miami weathermen.

"They're up to the letter 'O' in the alphabet over in the Pacific," Simpson said, "and they got virtually all of them from us. We probably cracked the record for the number of organized disturbances we have tracked."

Detected originally by satellite cameras over central Africa, the disturbances crossed the Atlantic, moved through the Caribbean, then leap-frogged Central America into the Pacific.

DEVELOP IN PACIFIC

Unable to develop in the Atlantic, they found the proper conditions in the Pacific, although none grew into major storms.

The height of the hurricane season was reached around Labor Day, Simpson said. A "secondary maximum period" then began which will last until about Oct. 10. Most October hurricanes develop in the southwest Caribbean as the Atlantic grows quite.

Miami forecasters have given names to only four Atlantic storms this year. The first, Abby, drove thousands from their homes in western Cuba and moved across Florida, but her winds never exceeded 75 miles an hour and damage was minor.

Candy formed in the Gulf of Mexico and brought heavy rains to Texas. Brenda, Dolly and Edna never crossed a coastline.

Lost Plane Hunted in Pacific

HONOLULU (AP) — Ten planes and a Coast Guard Cutter searched Tuesday for a single-engine aircraft with six aboard, four from Michigan. The plane disappeared about noon Monday on a 200-mile flight from Honolulu to Hilo.

The pilot made a radio check at 10:17 a.m. and was not heard from again.

Van Vossen, an Air Force pilot, was here on 30 days leave. He was visiting a childhood friend, Everett Hoeks, 24, a seminary intern at the Christian Reformed Church of Hawaii.

The Rev. Milton Hugen, pastor of the church, said it was after Sunday night's vesper service that the young adult group first discussed a sightseeing trip to Hawaii island.

OBJECT OF PROTEST — Carol Goman and other New Orleans patrolwomen have created a furor after being assigned to squad cars with male police officers. The wives of the policemen are protesting the assignments, contending that their reasons are not of a jealous nature but that they are concerned for the safety of their husbands. Police Supt. Joseph Giarusso said he could see no reason for the fuss. Accompanying Patrolwoman Goman is officer John Brady.

Boston Police Sent to Halt Teen Strife

BOSTON (AP) — Six hundred policemen were ordered into school districts today to curb continuing teen-age disorders marked by arson, stoning of firemen and violence directed at neighborhood storekeepers.

The unrest, sparked by the school department's refusal to permit Negro students to wear African garb at English High School, caused the school committee to request that National Guard troops be alerted to stand by.

However, Mayor Kevin H. White, cautioning against overreacting, said he did not think troops were required, and Police Commissioner Edmund S. McNamara concurred.

"We have enough men on the street handling the situation to keep the schools under surveillance and prevent vandalism, McNamara said.

'ORGANIZED PLAN'

School Supt. William H. Ohrenberger charged "irresponsible adults and misguided youths" were participating in "an obviously organized plan to harass a selected number of public schools."

School Committee chairman Thomas S. Eisenstadt said adults, some from outside the city, were inciting the teenagers. "It is order versus anarchy," he said, promising to "meet force with force (and) use all possible means to bring this to an end." He said he would not hesitate to recommend expulsion of any participating students.

The disorders began Monday when the school department overruled headmaster Joseph Malone's agreement to permit African native costumes in English High, and to allow Negro students to form an all-black student union.

The disruption spread to other schools Tuesday. Students demonstrated, and a number of false fire alarms were sounded at schools. Firemen fought a grass fire behind one building and a fire in lavatory at another.

CLOG DRIVEWAY

At the grass fire students clogged a driveway, preventing fire trucks from reaching the scene. When the trucks got through, firemen and police were targets for stones thrown from the crowd.

In the Brighton High School area, a gang of youths of high school age invaded a drugstore, struck a clerk on the head, and made off with $60 from his cash register.

Epsicopal Bishop in Colorado Ousted

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Colorado, said to be too ill to face a church trial on charges of breaching his ordination voews, was ordered Tuesday to surrender his ecclesiastical authority and leave the diocese.

* * *

The decree was handed down by the nine-bishop court before the Rt. Rev. Joseph S. Minnis, 64, ever actually came trial. It followed testimony from the bishop's physician that Minnis suffers from a serious, aggravated heart condition, and to appear at the trial "would place the bishop's life in peril."

The order gives Bishop Minnis until Oct. 15 to leave the diocese —in this case the state of Colorado—and permits him to return only with prior permission of the presiding bishop.

Industrialist Says Public Must Pay for Clean Water

CHICAGO (UPI) — "There ain't no such thing as a free drink of water," Reynold C. MacDonald, president of Interlake Steel Corp., told the 41st annual Water Pollution Control Federation Conference yesterday.

"One way or another," he said, "everybody who uses or depends on a given body of water must be called on to share part of the cost of keeping it clean. Industry can't do it alone, and shouldn't be expected to."

"You've heard the old saying — and I quote — 'There ain't no such thing as a free lunch.' Well, applied to our discussions today, 'There ain't no such thing as a free drink of water'," he said during an afternoon speech.

MacDonald said industry would require "substantial tax incentives" at the federal and state levels to finance accelerated pollution control programs.

'PUBLIC WILL PAY'

"These incentives are also vital because, without them, we would be forced to use funds earmarked to sustain revenue-producing industrial growth and expansion," he said.

"The sooner the public is told," MacDonald said, "the sooner we'll be on our way to acceptance of those things which will have to be done to accomplish the objectives" of pollution programs.
