'Let's Get State Into High Gear,' Says Swainson

ONE COLOR

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson asked the State Legislature today to take urgent and immediate steps to lift Michigan's economy and lower its high level of unemployment.

In his first message to a joint session, Swainson outlined his proposals to get the state into high gear on the road to economic growth.

He also touched on two other broad fields — aid to education and help for the aging.

The governor said he would give his views on the need for fiscal reform in a special message later.

Swainson's 5,000-word message provided the occasion for the first live television of a legislative session. The program was telecast by the Michigan State University television station.

* * *

The new governor faces the task of getting his legislative program through the same Republican - controlled legislature which blocked many of his predecessor's proposals.

But Swainson reminded the legislators of the six years he served as state senator and lieutenant governor before moving into the Capitol's executive suite.

"This enriching experience, I am confident, will serve me in good stead in the executive office," he said.

Specific recommendations were spelled out in his former colleagues in a number of fields.

But he placed the heaviest emphasis on the economic problems facing the state and urged the legislature to give top priority to Michigan's economic development.

"There is no task of greater urgency facing our state," he said, "than the task of putting our vast resources and capabilities to work toward the achievement of economic strength and well-being."

Calling the lawmakers' attention to the need for more jobs and an expanding economy, Swainson declared:

"We cannot ignore the very close relationship between the health of our state's economy and the capacity of our state government to serve the people.

"Full employment means greater fiscal strength and stability for the functions assigned to state government by our people."

To accomplish the task, Swainson urged passage of an economic growth act. He said that as an integral part of this legislation, a governor's council of economic advisors would be created to work in cooperation with a new joint committee on the economic report.

"Thus we will be able to sharply focus our attention and efforts upon employments, the most advantageous utilization of our many resources, and upon remedies proposed to deal with economic problems as they arise," the governor explained.

The governor said that two major causes of high unemployment in the state were a weak national economy, and automation.

* * *

Thus, he said, "The solution to this problem demands positive action not only here at home, but also by the federal government."

Swainson said the key to successful expansion and diversification in Michigan lies in the interest and initiative of local communities.

Rioters Win in Georgia

LEAVES IN TEARS — Charlayne Hunter, 18, leaves the women's dormitory at the University of Georgia Wednesday night in tears after 2,000 rioters forced Gov. Ernest Vandiver to order the emergency action. Another Negro, Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, also was ejected. Athens, Ga., Police Chief E. E. Hardy said the demonstration was led by people from out of town.

State of Union Good—Eisenhower

Need $$ Millions for County Roads

Oakland County should spend more than $200 million on local roads over the next 20 years, a study showed today.

The amount would mean that the Oakland County Road Commission would be spending six million dollars more a year on maintaining its 2,300 miles of primary and local roads than it does now annually.

* * *

More than four million dollars is spent now in a year. All of the funds come from state gas and weight tax receipts.

The forecast, from a statewide study conducted by the Michigan Good Roads Federation and Michigan Association of Road Commissioners, would probably require an additional source of income, possibly a countywide tax on roads, predicted Hiland M. Thatcher, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission.

"Not all of the revenue problem can be solved at the state level," Thatcher said.

"An increase in locally raised funds will be needed."

* * *

"I don't know if it is possible to pass such a tax," he said, "but it is necessary if we are going to take care of the growing traffic in the county."

* * *

Thatcher said that Oakland County is second among Michigan counties in the amount of gas and tax weight receipts, but ranks ninth in funds received from the county and local level.

The study showed that needs for Oakland County total $201.

But President Points to Dips and Red Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress in a farewell State of the Union message today that America has forged ahead in foreign and economic policy in the last eight years, but still confronts grave problems.

The retiring chief executive cited the continuing Communist menace to Berlin, in Cuba, and elsewhere in the world. And he spoke of intermittent declines in economic activity at home which he said leave "little room for complacency."

"I do not close this message implying that all is well—that all problems are solved, for progress implies both new and continuing problems and, unlike presidential administrations, problems rarely have terminal dates," Eisenhower said.

* * *

"Abroad there is the continuing Communist threat to the freedom of Berlin, an explosive situation in Laos, the problems caused by Communist penetration in Cuba,

Gap in Missiles Denied by Ike

Defends His Programs From Space Advisers' Report to Jack

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower today disputed President-Elect John F. Kennedy's space advisers and said the so-called "missile gap" between Russia and the United States shows every sign of being "fiction."

The President defended his space, missile and defense programs in a farewell State of the Union Message to Congress in which he urged resistance to overspending on defense.

"We must not return to the 'crash-program' psychology of the past when each new feint by the Communists was responded to panic," Eisenhower said. "The 'bomber gap' of several years ago was always a fiction, and the 'missile gap' shows every sign of being the same."

A special Kennedy task force submitted a report Wednesday suggesting that the United States might have to switch missiles for its man-in-space program, possibly causing a delay of at least a year in putting an astronaut in orbit.

The report to the president-elect said the man-in-space program is ailing, the United States trails Russia in missile development and there is an urgent need for a single military space command.

GM Prexy Hits Foreign Products

DETROIT (AP)—The president of the nation's largest manufacturing company says it is high time to scotch forever the myth that anything made abroad is superior in quality to anything made in the United States.

* * *

John F. Gordon of General Motors, in a speech last night at the banquet of the Society of Automotive Engineers, said that by now most European manufacturers, for example, use the same assembly line techniques which often draw fire from critics of American products.

He said those who find fault with American goods "can be conveniently blind to identical faults in the products of our foreign competitors."

Gordon said the engineering profession faces two important challenges—one of foreign competition and the other at home from "a group of lay evangelists whose doctrine is, to put it bluntly, that the American way is a sinful way."

* * *

This latter group, Gordon said, "would have us believe that the United States is sacrificing social benefits for material indulgence, that our production of consumer goods like automobiles is using too much energy and too many resources that should be allocated to public goods like schools, hospitals and missiles.

* * *

"They do not seem to understand, for example, that it is the production of consumer goods and services which makes possible the tax revenues necessary to create social goods . . .

"Even if it is true that spending for some things is more worth while than spending for others, who is smart enough to set up a scale of values? If fins are foolish, are cocktails any less so? . . . Who is to be the judge? The individual consumer? Or the bureaucratic state?"

* * *

Gordon said to meet the technical challenge from abroad the United States must maintain its lead in quality, design and innovation and productivity must be increased.

Gordon said "the challenge to our industrial superiority that is coming from abroad cannot be met by moving American operations out of the country, and in General Motors we have no intention of doing so."

Suspend 2 Negroes for Students' Safety

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Negro attorneys were given no decision today in federal court as they contested the suspension of two members of their race from the University of Georgia. The action came after rioting and violence erupted on the campus a few hours after the first two attended classes.

* * *

The university opened for classes at 8 a.m. without Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, who were removed from the school today by state troopers under a proclamation of Gov. Ernest Vandiver that emergency action was needed to restore order.

Later in the morning, Federal Judge W. A. Bootle voided a Georgia state law cutting off funds to integrated schools and continued an injunction to prevent Vandiver and other state leaders from closing the university.

The sweeping decision restrained the state from taking further action on closure of the institution to provide time for repealing the state law.

It meant that the legislature now in session could not enact a repealer because there was no law to repeal.

* * *

But Judge Bootle declined to rule on the attorneys' appeal for the Negroes.

Bootle overruled a motion to have the suspension order revoked, declaring that regular procedure required a separate suit on that issue.

"I think we should try one thing at a time," Bootle said.

An uproarious crowd of students and townspeople estimated by police at 2,000 swirled late Wednesday evening about the dormitory occupied by Charlayne before university officials and Vandiver acted.

Congregation and Friends Honor Dr., Mrs. Marbach

By MARY ANGLEMIER

Pastor of First Presbyterian Church for 30 years and one of the best loved ministers ever to preach in Pontiac, he was honored with a testimonial dinner by the Men's Club of the church. Some 300 club members and their wives attended to pay tribute to Dr. Marbach whose pastorate will end when he retires Feb. 5.

"It's a privilege to pay tribute to Dr. and Mrs. Marbach," said Probate Judge Donald E. Adams. "In looking through my father's collection of papers, I found one dated Dec. 29, 1930 which gave the call to Dr. Marbach to First Presbyterian Church."

He said Dr. Marbach had his first dinner here at the home of his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Jayno Adams of Silver Lake.

"My first impression of Dr. Marbach, when my wife and I joined the church in 1931, was his dignity and natural sincerity," said William Kalwitz.

He then told of a nurse's impression when the honored pastor visited Pontiac General Hospital.

"Dr. Marbach is the handsomest and most distinguished man in Pontiac," she told my wife. "The good he does for the sick must be tremendous. I work in both St. Joseph Mercy and Pontiac General hospitals and there isn't a minister that comes more often than Dr. Marbach."

Missing Boy, 11, Found by Police

Farmington Twp. Lad Afraid to Go Home After Losing Books

An 11-year-old Farmington Township boy, found in downtown Royal Oak after being missing for nearly 15 hours, told his mother he was afraid to go home after school yesterday because he had lost two encyclopedias.

* * *

Mrs. George Lane of 23817 Eastfield Road said her son Richard, the subject of an all-night search by more than 50 police officers and civilian volunteers, promised her today he would never run away again.

Mrs. Lane, still near tears hours after the boy was recovered by Royal Oak police, said her boy was "cold and wet" when brought home by his father early this morning. "He was crying and scared," his mother said.

* * *

When spotted by police as he was staring in a store window in Royal Oak, Richard told the officer his name and added: 'I'm cold. I'm very hungry."

The boy was reported missing by his parents at 6 p.m. yesterday when he failed to return home from classes at Bond Elementary School in the Farmington School District.

State Senate Skirmish Pits Rival GOP Factions

LANSING (AP)—With the 1961 session barely under way, Republican conservative and liberal elements in the senate crossed swords today for the first power test of the new legislature.

Some of the friendly spirit of Wednesday's opening day session dissolved quickly in a GOP battle over the choice of a chairman for the important Senate Business Committee.

At one point, Sen. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair is reliably reported to have stalked out of a committee meeting with a threat to resign his post as the Republican leader in the Senate.

Beadle, who is classed as a moderate in GOP ranks, was several times frustrated in his moves as GOP majority leader last year by the so-called "veto bloc" of Senate conservatives.

He accepted another two-year term last month in the belief that Republicans would work in closer harmony this year.

* * *

Outcome of a meeting of the five Republican members of the business committee Wednesday was tentative selection of Sen. Charles R. Feenstra, choice of the conservative element, as business committee chairman.

A main function of the committee is screening of most of the governor's appointments to state administrative jobs.

EYE OUSTER

Another move was under way to oust Sen. John P. Smeekens of Coldwater, a conservative, as chairman of the Senate Labor Committee.

* * *

A Democratic contest was averted when Sen. Basil W. Brown decided not to run against Sen. Harold M. Ryan, the incumbent minority leader. Both are from Detroit.

Harmony and good will prevailed generally in the House although Republicans hold a bare 56-54 majority.

Outnumbered Democrats joined Republicans to give Rep. Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, a second two-year term as House speaker. Rep. Wilfred G. Bassett of Jackson was similarly elected speaker pro tem.

* * *

Pears said he expected to announce membership on House committees in a week or 10 days.

He indicated also that he would recommend the Republican majority on committees be enlarged from one to two because of November election victories which broke up a 55-55 standoff in the 1959 and 1960 sessions.

Lawmakers were expected to recess today after hearing Gov. Swainson's "state of the state" message.

have spent their vacations every summer but one since 1925. "It is here, in a little century-old white frame church that our pastor preaches every Sunday through the month of August to villagers and to local Indians without remuneration," he said. His tale was told in poetry.

"I can't remember when I didn't know the Marbachs," Attorney Robert C. Anderson told the group. "Both Dr. and Mrs. Marbach have influenced me all the way along. When I was in the army my favorite pin-up picture was that of Dr. Marbach."

John E. Huntzinger, new president of the club, read letters of tribute from Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press; Howard O. Powers, a church member; and Mrs. Earl VanDyke, president of the Women's Association.

Among other letters were those from City Manager Walter K. Willman, Mayor Philip E. Rowston, Francis Staley, C. T. Forsman, Harold B. Euler, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard, Rabbi Nathan Hershfield, James Burke, the Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, the Rev. Richard C. Stuckmeyer, Donald Chalmer and John W. Hirlinger.

In accepting the portrait of himself and a complete set of fishing tackle including a slicker, Dr. Marbach said the gifts had a Biblical theme.

"Throughout my ministry my aim and object has always been to be a fisher of men," he said. "The fish has been a symbol of the Christian since Jesus told Peter and Andrew 'Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men.'"

Preceding the program, Huntzinger was installed as president of the Men's Club; Gordon B. Cox, vice president; Ford Everett, secretary; and Sam A. Baillo, treasurer.

The Women's Association will honor Mrs. Marbach with a luncheon at Devon Gables on Jan. 20.

PRESIDENTS MEET — President-Elect John F. Kennedy met with former President Herbert Hoover at a reception Wednesday night at Palm Beach, Fla. Standing between the two presidents is Loy Anderson of West Palm Beach. Kennedy asked for advice and Hoover chuckled, saying he would get plenty.

Jack Appoints Four; Keeps One Ike Man

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-Elect John F. Kennedy today filled four top positions in the Interior Department. He also announced that the Eisenhower administration's reclamation bureau chief will remain.

The reclamation commissioner is Floyd E. Dominy, 60. A political independent and a veteran in the bureau, he was named director by President Eisenhower last year.

* * *

Wednesday Kennedy—at 43 the youngest man ever elected president—paid a social call on the oldest living former president, Herbert Hoover, 86.

FOR DEDICATION

Hoover is in Florida for the dedication today of a dike named for him. It is located at Lake Okeechobee at Clewiston, Fla.

The president-elect and his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Britain, called on Hoover at the home of Palm Beach banker H. Loy Anderson, who was host at a reception for the former president.

The incoming president smilingly asked Hoover whether he had any advice "now that we are taking on these new responsibilities."

"Everybody has advice for a new president," Hoover replied wryly. "You'll hear from them all. You've got to decide which advice is the right one."

MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, announced Kennedy's first news conference as president will be held in Washington the evening of Jan. 25 and will be carried nationwide on live television and radio.

Salinger had announced earlier that Kennedy would set precedents by holding news conferences at night from time to time, and permitting the TV and radio networks to broadcast them live.

President Eisenhower's sessions with newsmen have been filmed and recorded for use later the same day on TV and radio.

City to Replace Parking Meters

New Type on Downtown Streets Will Be Able to Take Pennies

The city has begun replacement of the 20-year-old parking meters on downtown streets with new ones that will take pennies as well as nickels.

The change will be advantageous to downtown visitors planning to park only a few minutes, said City Manager Walter K. Willman.

A greater turnover of cars is expected to add to the city's meter revenues, he added.

Replacement got under way yesterday on Huron Street. Roy Hetherington, electrical superintendent, said the switch will take place gradually on other downtown streets over the next three or four months.

Hetherington said most of the replacements will be used meters, reconditioned by the city, while about 50 will be new.

Hetherington said the new meters — the same type that are used in the municipal parking lots — will provide for 12 minutes of parking per penny, up to five pennies for an hour.

There are no plans to change the existing one-hour parking limit.

Hetherington said the major reason for the replacement program was the age of the existing meters and the maintenance troubles they caused.

The replacement program does not affect the municipal parking lots, he said.

Board to Hear Plans for School

Bagley Principal Wants to Start Reorganization in Second Semester

The Pontiac Board of Education will hear a proposed reorganization program for Bagley Elementary School and plans for the mathematics program in junior high schools at tonight's meeting.

* * *

Also on the agenda is a request from Wayne State University for the establishment of a field training unit for visiting teachers.

A study and consideration of partial departmentalization of Bagley and Whitfield schools has been under way for six months.

Plans at Bagley have been developed sufficiently so that John F. Perdue, Bagley principal, wants to implement them in the second semester of the current school year.

* * *

The plans are designed to provide instruction by specialists in certain areas such as science, arithmetic and reading.

Revision of the mathematics program for grades 7-12 began in the 7th grade during the 1958-59 school year. The revised program will reach the 9th grade next September.

Several structural plans and required decisions will be presented tonight.

The field training unit proposed by the Wayne State University School of Social Work would be utilized by WSU, Michigan State University and the University of Michigan.

* * *

"To our knowledge, this is the only program of this type in the area of school social work in the United States or elsewhere," said Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent, today.

as well as the many problems connected with the development of the new nations in Africa. These areas, in particular, call for delicate handling and constant review.

"At home several conspicuous problems remain—promoting higher levels of employment, with special emphasis on areas in which heavy unemployment has persisted; continuing to provide for steady economic growth and preserving a sound currency;

* * *

"Bringing our balance of payments into more reasonable equilibrium and continuing a high level of confidence in our national and international systems;

"Eliminating heavily excessive surpluses of a few farm commodities; and overcoming deficiencies in our health and educational programs."

NOTES OF CONFIDENCE

But there were notes of confidence and hope in a message that looked both backward and forward. And there were good wishes for the man who will succeed Eisenhower eight days from now.

The present chief executive did not mention President-Elect John F. Kennedy by name.

But he said a new president shortly will lay before Congress proposals for shaping the future of a great land, and: "To him, every citizen, whatever his political beliefs, prayerfully extends best wishes for good health and for wisdom and success in coping with the problems that confront our nation."

* * *

The message, in contrast with Eisenhower's usual practice of delivering it in person, merely was sent to Capitol Hill to be read to the Senate and House.

Eisenhower skipped one other personal presentation, in 1956, when he was recovering from a heart attack.

While Eisenhower had a brief offering of good will to Kennedy, he nevertheless held up the record of his own administration as one worthy of building upon.

And, in effect, he challenged some of Kennedy's campaign pronouncements and some of the findings of task forces which have been advising the president-elect.

Fear Abduction of Missing Girl

Stains Found on Bag in South Haven Area Identified as Blood

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — A shy, freckled-faced 15-year-old girl who disappeared on her way to school may have been picked up and abducted by a stranger in a car, state police said today.

Geraldine Williams left her rural South Haven home Wednesday morning for school but failed to board a school bus four miles west of here. Her lunch bag and school books were found near the bus stop.

Lt. Fred O'Donnell of the Paw Paw State Police Post said crimes laboratory experts had established definitely that smears on the lunch bag were blood.

O'Donnell, who is directing the search for the girl, said it was not yet known whether the blood was human or not.

He said "we definitely are working on the opinion that she was picked up in a car."

The girl's parents, Rose and Ward Williams, said Geraldine was 5 feet 1 and weighed 100 pounds.

County Roads Need Many $$ Millions

712,000, which is part of $3.5 billion in road improvement and construction that must be undertaken on county roads throughout Michigan in the next 20 years.

* * *

Without specifying which roads, the study, prepared with the help of Oakland commission engineers, broke down the needs into $4,599,000 for 164 new bridges, $140,853,000 for reconstruction of existing roads, $50,380,000 for maintenance and $5,880,000 for engineering.

"Current annual revenue is about $4.5 million from the state per year, which is less than half the annual income needed over the next 20 years," Thatcher said.

He pointed out the estimated program does not include state highways in Oakland County.

GOP Senators to Shun Top Hats for Jan. 20 Rite

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shunning top hats and striped pants, Senate Republicans have agreed to "come as they please" to the inauguration of President - Elect John F. Kennedy.

This means most of the GOP senators will show up in dark business suits for the Jan. 20 ceremony.

"Everyone was left to his own devices," said GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen after the weekly Republican policy committee luncheon Tuesday.

"I could come either way," he added, "but the decision might be left to higher authority — and you know who that is."

He made clear he was talking about Mrs. Dirksen rather than about President Eisenhower.

Dow to Lease Foundry to Cleveland Concern

MIDLAND (UPI) — In a move to remove itself from competition with other foundries which are its customers for magnesium ingot, Dow Chemical Co. has arranged to lease its mold foundry at Bay City to the Wellman Bronze & Aluminum Co. of Cleveland, Ohio.

The lease becomes effective Feb. 1.

The foundry, which employs about 400 persons, produces magnesium and aluminum castings. Dow officials said it was expected to continue to operate with its present personnel.

Chinese Barter Deals Embarrass Ceylonese

For the past eight years Ceylon has been doing a lot of trading with Communist China, at least on paper.

In 1952 the island started to sell a large quantity of rubber to China on a barter basis. In five years the Ceylonese had piled up a credit of $106,400,000.

Then a delegation went to China to buy what Ceylon needed, including steel, cement, machinery and cotton. But MAO TSE-TUNG said he couldn't spare any of these materials. They were needed at home. However, eventually the debt was paid in sterling.

Disregarding past trade failures, Ceylon entered into another agreement with China — rubber for rice. China got the rubber but when it came time to deliver the rice, China had none to sell.

In still another deal China offered to build a textile mill for Ceylon. Being a bit more cautious this time, a Ceylonese delegation went to Rangoon, Burma, to inspect a mill the Chinese had built there. What they found didn't please them so they bought a mill from the Swiss.

To use up some of its credits and loans China is building a tire plant and steel mill in Ceylon. The island has no ore so that it will have to be shipped in.

So far trade has been a one way street. Ceylon has come out second best in barter deals but the government still leans toward totalitarian countries.

World Markets Flooded With Soviet Petroleum

Communist Russia is staging an aggressive fight to capture the markets of the world, particularly in oil. West Germany is being urged to take three times as much Soviet petroleum as it is now buying and at a price much below western oil.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union also is offering Middle East oil companies Russian tankers for shipping oil all over the world. According to Editorial Research Reports payment for these less expensive ships would be in oil which could then be dumped on an already glutted market thereby depressing the industry further.

Russia delivers oil to such widely separated countries as India and Uruguay for $12 a ton. At the same time Russian satellites have to pay $22 a ton. Ceylon is getting Soviet oil at 25 per cent less than western companies charge. Pakistan and Russia are negotiating an agreement for oil exploitation in Pakistan.

All this offers a serious challenge to western oil with its much higher production costs and privately owned and operated industries.

Practical Use Is Found for Abandoned Mines

Uses have finally been found for dry holes in the ground. U.S. business and industry are using old mines, wells, quarries and caves to provide cheap and safe storage for many things from natural gas to valuable microfilm records.

★ ★ ★

In an abandoned mine 50 miles north of Pittsburgh the Westinghouse Electric Corp. has stored 2,400 tons of paper records and 44,000 rolls of microfilm. At a cost of $5 million a worn out mine in Colorado is being converted into an underground storage tank for natural gas. According to the Wall Street Journal, in the past five years the number of those using underground storage has increased six times to the present total of 673.

★ ★ ★

As part of its national defense system, Sweden has long been going underground. Key industries and utilities are now underground with everything necessary to sustain personnel for long periods. But these do not make use of abandoned workings. The new sites are blasted out of rock.

This business of storage could provide a shot in the arm for owners of worked out or unprofitable mines. In the Upper Peninsula, for instance, old copper and iron ore mines may yet provide jobs and yield profits in the new role of underground warehouses.

ADLAI's wit will be put to a severe test if and when he tries to make the Russian U.N. delegate laugh, smile or even grin.

It'd Take a Bit of Doing, Fidel!

Don't Be Fooled by Filibuster Talk

WASHINGTON — All the talk about changing the rules to stop filibusters in the Senate, or to prevent committees from bottling up legislation in the House, might appear on the surface to be a part of a very weighty problem with deep-seated cleavages that reflect high purposes in the public interest.

LAWRENCE

But, actually, back of the whole thing is a good deal of pressure-group politics and the desire of members of the Senate, for example, to make it appear back home, especially in the more populous states in the North, that they are battling hard for "civil rights."

The Senate has just voted—as it has done again and again in the past—to send the proposals for changing the rules on filibustering back to a committee for study.

This means that, when it comes up at the end of the present session, the new idea is to require only a 60 per cent instead of 66⅔ per cent vote to cut off debate.

The reason for all the furor about changes in the filibustering rules is that there is an artificial pressure to get more "civil rights" legislation.

The theory is that only the Southerners are blocking it. But there are Western senators, many of them Republicans, who recognize the danger in enacting legislation that takes away from the states more and more of their rights.

The hullaballoo about filibustering is, on its face, rather hypocritical. It is made to appear, for example, that only the conservatives are interested in maintaining the rules that allow filibusters.

Actually, many of the so-called "liberals" have used the filibustering privilege far more than their opponents. They would probably be very much distressed if unlimited debate were really abandoned and gag rule were imposed. The very essence of true liberalism is that free speech must be allowed to run its course.

In the House of Representatives, the situation is somewhat different. The powerful rules committee, for example, can for all practical purposes keep legislation from getting to the floor of the House, but a substantial majority can always discharge the committee from consideration of the bill and force it on to the floor for action.

This has been done from time to time. But in the House, as in the Senate, there is an effort being made to show the pressure groups that the champions of "civil rights" and big "welfare" spending are active and aggressive in their behalf.

The spectacular attack on Rep. William Colmer of Mississippi, Democrat, who has been threatened with a "purge"—the loss of his committee post—because he supported independent presidential electors, has not been approved by most of the members of the House.

REPRESENT CONSTITUENTS

Indeed, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, who is to be chairman of the House Committee on Labor, bolted the Democratic ticket in 1956 and voted for President Eisenhower's re-election. Again and again, members have said they should not be punished on the floor of the House of Representatives for trying to reflect the views of their constituents.

The House can enlarge a committee and "pack" it with members favorable to the desires of the majority. That's what is now being proposed in the House of Representatives in order to override the chairman of the rules committee, Howard W. Smith of Virginia.

By "packing" the committees of the House with a majority who favor the point of view desired by a particular bloc, the objective in cutting the power of the committee chairman is, to a certain extent, achieved.

The Country Parson

Dr. William Brady Says:

Throw Away Roughage? Don't Be a Mollycoddle

"Two or three carrots, a handful of spinach and several other vegetables, run through an extractor, will make a 6-oz. glass of juice. Five days a week I get this at the health department of the market. I'm told it is a rich source of vitamins and minerals. The clerk says that what remains in the extractor has no food value whatsoever." (R. J.)

DR. BRADY

Drinking the juice instead of eating the carrots, spinach and other vegetables is comparable to taking some beef broth instead of roast beef or beef steak. In order to get all the nourishment of beef, you MUST eat it.

Likewise, in order to get all the nourishment of carrots, spinach and other vegetables you must eat the stuff!

Besides, aiding intestinal digestion, cellulose, which constitutes most of the material left in the extractor or juicer after fruits or vegetables are so treated, is the natural bulk which is required for normal bowel function.

★ ★ ★

The flesh, pith or pulp of orange, for instance discarded when juice is expressed or strained out, contains valuable nutritional factors such as bio-flavonoide, protopectine, vitamin A and vitamin C. Orange peel, for instance, contains about 3 times as much vitamin C as orange juice.

It is not just my notion but the observation of recognized nutrition authorities that the skins or peels of apples, pears, tomatoes, carrots, turnips, oranges, grapes, radishes, parsnips, peaches and potatoes should be eaten, for they contain valuable nutritional materials.

It is necessary, of course, that all such fruit or vegetables should be carefully washed with soap and water and brush or sponge or with one of the modern detergents (Soap is the best detergent, I think), and then rinsed with running water.

This not only removes possible residue of poisonous insecticide and microscopic eggs of parasites but also disease germs with which the fruit or vegetable has been contaminated by human handlers, or by flies.

When you feed the baby his daily ration of fruit or vegetable juice, don't cheat the little guy. Feed him freshly squeezed juice—not tired stuff that has stood over night losing vitamin strength by oxidation. And for goodness sake don't strain it.

As soon as a child gets all his temporary teeth (20 at the age of 2½ years), if he prefers, by all means let him eat any of the fruits or vegetables above mentioned, skins and all.

At breakfast don't be a molly-coddle. Insist on having your fruit served whole.

• Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Trucker, Trainman Voice Discontent

Vernon W. Eddy does not understand the facts.

The railroads are only trying to get back what originally belonged to them, but was taken by the trucking industry with the help of the state and federal governments.

If it weren't for the overloaded trucks being allowed to travel 18 to 20 m.p.h. over their speed restriction the state would not need so much tax money to keep up their roads.

Has Mr. Eddy ever read in The Pontiac Press how much school taxes the GTW Railroad pays to Pontiac or to every school district it passes through?

I would like to see proof that M24 between Pontiac and Oxford was made into a four lane divided highway for any other reason except to accommodate the trucking industry. I am having to help pay for this road, although it is taking my job away from me.

I am not condemning Mr. Eddy for wanting to make a living at his profession. I also want to make a living in mine.

I have been a truck driver myself and I believe 90 per cent are very courteous and helpful on the road, but trucks should not be permitted to violate the speed laws.

J. W. Haynes

Waterford

A traditional code of courtesy and helpfulness is practiced today by men who are realistic about their jobs — the members of the trucking industry. Courtesy on the highway can be a matter of life or death. Here's a brand of "chivalry" to which plenty of motorists testify.

This "chivalry" is slowly disappearing. They are slowly being driven from the roads by the railroads. We must stop this before every one is completely out of work. Write your congressman. Congressman Broomfield has promised to help us. Let him know how many it has affected. It's fight for our jobs. We're proud to be road jockeys.

Hate for Father Brands Young Girl

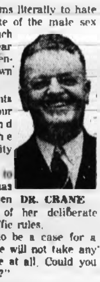
Betsy's intense hatred of men led her to break laws and flaunt her disregard for campus regulations. She was actually vicious and very abnormal in her outlook, yet we finally probed till we found the core of her dilemma. It dated back 11 years. Scrapbook this case and send for the non-profit booklet.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE G - 476: Betsy B., aged 19, is a problem coed.

"Dr. Crane," her advisor began, "she has a chronic hostility to all authority.

"And she seems literally to hate men. Her dislike of the male sex has become such a mania, I fear she'll have a mental break down soon.



DR. CRANE

"She affronts the laws of our campus and laughs in the faces of our city policemen.

"Her right to drive a car has thus been taken away because of her deliberate violation of traffic rules.

"She seems to be a case for a psychiatrist. She will not take any advice from me at all. Could you please see her?"

FREUD'S RULE

Dr. Sigmund Freud advocated the rule that for every psychological effect, there must be some basic cause.

Often, however, that cause may not be apparent on the surface. Sometimes it requires lengthy psychoanalysis to get to the core of such a person's strange behavior.

In Betsy's case, I found very soon that her anger at men was not due to any mistreatment she had received on a date.

Indeed, she abhorred boys even in grade school and refused to date them during high school.

She was vengeful in her attitude toward all men, as if she were goaded onward by an inner sadistic devil.

So I verbally probed until I found that she hated her father most of all.

BETSY'S SECRET HATE

Betsy had been a brilliant "only" child who had been reared by a governess.

★ ★ ★

Her parents were socialites and not fond of each other. They often quarreled in front of Betsy, so the child lacked a sense of emotional security.

One day she found a stray alley cat, which she immediately adopted. On it she showered the love and affection she was not permitted to lavish on her parents.

And its purring evidence of fondness for Betsy was doubly appreciated by this love-starved child.

But her cat ultimately had a litter of 7 kittens, which Betsy regarded almost as little brothers and sisters.

One night, however, before the kittens had their eyes open, Betsy's daddy drowned them in a tub of water.

Betsy found them next morning — cold and lifeless. Although Betsy was then only 8 years of age, a tremendous hatred of her father developed.

BRANDED BY HATE

Actually, Betsy's mind was branded by this instant hatred.

And for the next 11 years, she tried to strike back at all males.

Since laws and authority are usually linked with a child's father, she deliberately flaunted her violation of police regulations and took vicious delight in breaking campus regulations.

Even in our interview, she was openly defiant and hostile. But I finally showed her how she had let herself be a slave to a hatred of her father, and then had unfairly extended that hate to all the other innocent males she had met.

She finally began to cry, for the first time since childhood, and then accepted my suggestions for remaking her life.

Send for my booklet "How to Prevent Nervous Breakdowns," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Reduce Charge Against Woman

To Be Arraigned for Manslaughter in Fatal Shooting of Man

A Pontiac woman will be arraigned in Circuit Court Jan. 6 on a charge of manslaughter in a fatal shooting at a Christmas night party in her home.

Judge Cecil McCallum ordered the charge against Mary S. Kennedy, 61, 442 Harvey St., reduced from first-degree murder to manslaughter following her examination in Municipal Court.

She was released on $1,000 bond pending the arraignment.

Miss Kennedy admitted shooting Oscar E. McCloud, 59, of 147 W. South Blvd., in the neck with a 25-caliber pistol, police said. He died at Pontiac General Hospital Dec. 27.

She told officers McCloud threatened to shoot other persons in her home just before she shot him. When police arrived they found a 45-caliber automatic under McCloud's body.

I would rather believe the tales told by those who have fled. They can't all be liars.

Maybe Samuel Shapiro knows those things and doesn't tell them or else he didn't find them in his conducted tour. In either case, he will be allowed to come back and tell his students what a bad country we have, and how admirable all our enemies are. He is supposed to love the freedom of the press above all things, so if he can praise a country that he admits has none at all, he shows very plainly what camp he is in.

Decorating Homes Debated Further

The idea of decorating homes for Christmas sounds fine. We live in Waterford Township, and in our section four families decorated homes. We know of two other families besides us who had lights stolen from trees and homes. We replaced a dozen lights, and had two dozen more taken.

Does someone know how to stop this without hurting anyone? Homes that are decorated look nice and we would like to continue, but one more year like this and we are finished.

The effect is spoiled when one or two fail to put up lights. People say, "What happened to that street? We used to enjoy it so much and it is a big disappointment."

People came from miles around. Why not bring back the old spirit and decorate Ardmore like old times?

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. How often do we give vitamins to our 11-year-old cat? Mrs. W. Iasell, Chicago.

A. If your cat is to enjoy his old age, it is essential that he receive vitamins daily. Vitamins will keep his teeth and eyes healthy, his coat shiny, and his zest for living unimpaired.

* * *

You see, as an animal gets older, his powers of assimilation seem to decline. This means he can be getting a well-balanced diet and yet unable to derive the nourishments.

People are always asking me how it is that cats suddenly require vitamins, when they have managed without them for centuries. The answer is simply that, until recently cats rarely lived beyond 7 or 8 years. There was no old-age problem.

Promises to Speak

Ike Bails GOP Out

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has taken congressional Republicans off a political spot by agreeing to be their principal—and only—speaker at a June party fund-raising dinner.

* * *

Eisenhower's scheduled appearance at an affair honoring all Republican members of Congress probably will mark his first political task after he leaves the White House next week.

* * *

When they shifted their dinner date from May to June to suit the retiring president's convenience and got his agreement to speak, congressional sponsors breathed a sigh of relief.

* * *

They had a star attraction without having to choose between any of the potential 1964 contenders for the party's presidential nomination.

NO SPECIAL INVITATIONS

Although they are welcome to attend if they want to, sponsors said they are not issuing special invitations to retiring Vice President Richard M. Nixon and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a third possible contender, is one of the sponsors of the meeting as chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee.

The dinner is designed to raise funds for the Senate and House campaign committees, which otherwise face a bleak financial outlook in drawing funds from the party's national committee. The parent committee is still $400,000 in debt from the presidential campaign.

Near 50-Year Employe to Head Prudential Co.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The directors of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America have selected a man with nearly half a century in the field to head the $16.5-billion firm.

* * *

Louis R. Menagh Jr., who joined Prudential in 1912 as a $7-a-week clerk, was moved up to the presidency Tuesday from his post as executive vice president.

* * *

Menagh's predecessor, Carrol M. Shanks, was earning $250,000 annually when he retired after 15 years in office. Menagh's salary as executive vice president was $100,000 a year but the company declined to say how much he will earn as president.

Food Supplies Cut by Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York City today faced an immediate 50 per cent cut in food supplies in the tugboat crewman strike.

The three-day-old walkout by 660 tug and ferry crewmen received backing from the powerful Teamsters Union Local whose 125,000 truck drivers refused to cross picket lines to pick up food-stuffs, coal and other commodities from rail heads and terminals.

Railway workers and other freight handlers also cooperated in the embargo on rail freight shipments.

City markets commissioner Anthony Masciarelli warned that boycott actions by sympathetic unions would cut off half of the city's normal deliveries of meat, fresh fruit and vegetables today. He said milk, staples and fuel oil were not affected very much.

Dredging to Drop Levels of Two Great Lakes

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — Completion of deepening navigation channels in the Detroit and St. Clair rivers as part of the St. Lawrence Seaway development will have the effect of dropping the levels of Lake Huron and Lake Michigan about three inches in 1962, an official of the United States Corps of Engineers said Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

But James H. Davis, chief of the corps' Operations Division in the Detroit District, said the effect will be only temporary.

Construction of underwater structures in the Sarnia area, he said, will restrict the flow out of the two lakes to its present rate.

Will Pave State's Gravel Highways by the Summer

IONIA (AP) — The last mile of gravel state highway in Michigan will be paved by summer, the State Highway Department reports.

Commissioner John C. Mackie said in a talk here that the state had more than 800 miles of gravel roads in its highway system in 1957. The department has been gradually eliminating the gravel highways and has only about 50 miles of highways remaining to be placed under contract for paving, he said.

Gravel highways still to be here and Delta counties, M48 in Gogebic County, M35 in Menominee and Delta counties, M48 in Chippewa County and M65 in Alpena and Alcona counties.

"Although these highways carry less travel volumes, they are important to farmers, hunters, lodgers, fishermen, nature lovers and tourists," Mackie said.

Sift Reform Plan for Russian Farms

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Communist Party Central Committee began discussions today of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's plan to eliminate inefficiency and "cheats" from Russia's lagging agricultural program.

★ ★ ★

The plan calls for top-to-bottom reform that would pattern the oft-criticized agriculture ministry along the lines of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev's plan would take managerial duties away from the ministry and have it concentrate on such chores as scientific research, farmer education and development of new seeds and livestock breeds.

Bill on 19th Congressional District Pondered by Law

Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac was seeking a copy of a bill proposed to the legislature yesterday before deciding whether he'd introduce one of his own toward creation of a new congressional district.

Law had compiled figures which would support the addition of the state's 19th district to heavily populated Oakland County, the 18th district.

He said he was unaware that Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, had proposed a bill which would take nine southwestern Oakland County cities out of the 18th district and put them into the new 19th along with the area of Detroit north of McNichols Road from the Grand Trunk Railroad west to Greenfield Road and Highland Park.

Law said if the Montgomery bill, the first of many expected to be submitted on the redistricting, agreed with what he had in mind he would support it and not submit his own bill. If not, he said he would propose a bill.

After analysis of the population figures, Law said "it doesn't look too good for Oakland County with one district in Detroit. I believe it is the 16th, having a population of over 800,000."

Oakland, which comprises all of the 18th district, has a population of 684,000.

Michigan is entitled to one more seat in Congress—it now has 19—because of a gain in the census figures over the past 10 years. The state now has 11 Republicans and seven Democrats.

Montgomery said he expected vigorous opposition to his measure, which would result in keeping 10 of the districts relatively safe for the Republicans, leaving the Democrats solidly enthroned in seven and creating two tossup areas.

If the legislature fails to agree on one of the proposals put forth for absorbing the new district, Michigan's 19th congressman will be elected from the state at large in 1962.

HERO FOR RESEARCH — This 4-year-old pointer named Sam has been named "Research Dog Hero of 1960" by the National Society for Medical Research. Sam is living with a transplanted heart valve. He was operated on by the Stanford University research team of Dr. Norman Shumway (left), Dr. Richard Lower (standing rear) and Dr. Raymond Stofer (kneeling). They are trying to find a new way to replace irreparably diseased heart valves in human patients.

Says Herbert Hoover:

'Must Mend Our Morals'

CLEWISTON, Fla. (UPI)—Former President Hoover appealed to Americans today to mend their morals to preserve the nation's strength.

* * *

In an address prepared for delivery at a ceremony dedicating the Hoover dikes his administration ordered built around Lake Okeechobee here as protection against hurricanes, Hoover touched only briefly on the national scene.

He said the new administration of President-Elect John F. Kennedy "is faced with one of the greatest challenges of our whole history."

But, said the 86-year-old former president, "our country has met and solved equally great crises in the past 185 years."

MEND MORALS

"This nation, founded in strength, will not decline or fall if we remedy the slump in morals with its trail of crime and corruption," Hoover said.

He added that he is convinced that all Americans "earnestly wish for the success of the new administration."

Hoover drove to this South Florida farming town in a motorcade from Palm Beach for a quiet lunch prior to the dedication ceremony atop a section of the dike near Clewiston on which a Hoover Memorial was built.

Dozens of national and state leaders were here, including Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida, U.S. Sens. Spessard Holland and George Smathers, flood control and state cabinet officials.

Hoover said he had declined suggestions that he dwell on national issues in his address, "because I was not elected to that job last November."

Proposed Bill Would Aid 4.5 Million Vets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A total of 4.5 million post-Korean War veterans would be made eligible for the G.I. Bill of Rights by a bill introduced by 31 senators.

An identical bill passed the Senate last year, 57-31, but died in the House Veterans Committee.

The chief sponsor, Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., said the bill was patterned after the World War II and Korean War acts but that the benefits were scaled down.

The measure, introduced Wednesday, would provide educational benefits for veterans who served between Jan. 31, 1955 and July 1, 1963.

De Gaulle Plans Algerian Setup

Will Delegate Many French Functions to Local Officials

PARIS (UPI) — The French government and the Algerian rebels appeared today to be moving toward new peace negotiations despite some tough talking by rebel leaders in Tunis.

* * *

President Charles de Gaulle, armed with the support of the cabinet and his people, was expected to sound out the Algerian "provisional government" indirectly.

Information minister Louis Terrenoire indicated to newsmen Wednesday that any such moves would be conducted in complete secrecy — at least from the French side.

The first step toward loosening Algeria's ties to France will be the breaking up of the powers of the existing French regime in Algiers and delegating many of its functions to local administrations in which the Moslems will be heavily represented.

The French apparently hope they can get the Algerian rebel leaders to approve of these Moslem representatives.

French officials were not discouraged by a rebel statement in Tunis Wednesday night calling De Gaulle's Algerian referendum last weekend a "sinister comedy."

Wagner on Committee

LANSING (UPI) — Paul C. Wagner, Ann Arbor retailer, has been named chairman of the retailers committee for the May 21-27 Michigan Week celebration.

DENVER (UPI) — Workmen finished installing a $28,300 iron spike fence around the Denver mint Wednesday to stop people from trying to reach through ground floor windows into storage bins full of coins.

These Canine Trainers Can Turn Pest Into Pet

Training a dog to obey commands means the difference between a pet—or a pest.

This is the contention of the volunteer leaders of one of the state's most popular educational programs—the 10-year-old Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club.

The fact was evidenced last night at the Waterford Township community center when about 125 people gathered to watch a dog training demonstration which was second to none.

Photos and Story by Reba Heintzelman

The trained canines sat, stayed, heeled, came and jumped in an amazing performance that appeared almost human, showing what can be accomplished with gentle firmness and infinite patience.

There were petite poodles, lumbering golden retrievers, sassy terriers, bull dogs, cocker spaniels and just plain mutts and all behaved like well-mannered "ladies" and "gentlemen."

There are 35 instructors in the training club, and none receives any type of salary. They formed the organization to help people have better pets.

The fee of $10 for the 10-weeks course is all given to the Leader Dogs at Rochester, or to Michigan State College to equip the veterinarian hospital.

The new training course for this year will get under way at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Community Center and those wishing additional information have been asked to call the president of the club, Charles L. Barnes, 401 Orchard Lake Road.

LITTLE DOG — BIG DEAL — The 13-month old Chihuahua is on the verge of going into a large scale training session at the Community Center in Waterford Township. His owner, Mrs. Woodrow Weaver of 3939 Jackson Blvd., White Lake Township has taught the pup one thing — to "stay" and it's alright with this gentleman.

NOT THIS (right) BUT THIS (left) — Sir Oliver Brown has not yet learned that nipping at pantlegs or silk hose is strictly taboo. What 5-weeks old baby would! Tiny teeth need to come through and a good soft leg is a fine thing to chew on. However, "Ollie" in the left picture is beginning to learn the hard lesson of discipline and it is this time in life that "a fella sure needs a friend." The pedigree pup is from the Hawkins Almyr Kennels in Milford.

DOGS LIKE PEOPLE — If a dog has been well-trained he will love his owner more, and the owner will never part with him. This group of dogs and trainers presented a performance last night at the Waterford Township Community Center, to show others the results of long hours of constant work and above all — patience.

FINE PET — Although 7-year-old Kenneth Kremlick does not own "Mike" the wire haired fox terrier, he admires his manners and good sense. Mike can heel, stay, sit and do anything his owner Mrs. Pauline Logadon of 1029 Argyle St., commands.

FOUR FOOT JUMPER — "Heidi" takes the training jump with all the ease of a graceful gazelle as she struts her stuff for prospective dog owner-trainers. The German short-haired pointer is an Oakland County champion having scored 199½ points at a show last week. His owner is Mrs. Reginald Armstrong.

Reviews Achievements, Notes Problems

Williams Utters Emotional Farewell

LANSING (AP) — Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams Wednesday recalled to the legislature the accomplishments of his six terms in office and reminded it of major problems still to be solved.

In an emotional exaugural speech, the first to be delivered by a Michigan governor in 12 years, Williams told lawmakers that wherever he goes "Michigan will always be in my heart."

The address was sent to the House and Senate in printed form as the two chambers met to open the 1961 legislative session. Williams left earlier this week for Washington, D. C., where he will become assistant secretary of state for African affairs in the Kennedy administration.

During his tenure as chief executive, Williams said, Michigan citizens "have insisted on and received absolutely clean and scandal-free government and sound and humane justice."

CITES BRIDGE, ROADS

The former Democratic governor called attention to completion of the Straits of Mackinac bridge and a greatly stepped-up highway building program in recent years.

"More of our children receive a better education," he said. "Health has become more widely and deeply enjoyed. We are curing and returning our mentally ill to society.

"We have drastically reduced the terrible highway toll. Our social services and benefit payments have been made more nearly adequate.

"Michigan's industrial construction rose to third in the nation. "It increased our efforts to diversify and bring new industry into the state as we outgrew our earlier industrial base."

Final solution of Michigan's financial and tax problems is yet to come, Williams noted.

"A modern industrial state will require adequate revenues, which today means consideration of some taxes based on the ability to pay," he declared in what amounted to a call for revision of the state tax structure.

In succession, Williams voiced thanks for "the wonderful support of the people of Michigan" and "the loyal public service of countless persons in and out of state government and for the dedication of rank and file and leadership men and women of my party."

He also paid tribute to opposition Republicans as "the anvil of political competition."

NEW ERA STARTS — Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski brings down the gavel in the Senate at the start of the 71st Michigan Legislature at noon Wednesday in Lansing. The same day, Gov. Williams bowed out after six terms with a printed, emotional farewell, ending an era. Democrat Lesinski is president of the Senate, where Republicans hold a 22-12 edge. Republicans also have taken a 56-54 lead in the House, breaking the 55-55 standoff of previous sessions.

Finally Got Her Wish

LONDON (UPI) — A London businessman dictated the following letter to his wife via a new British typists pool which operates over the telephone: "Now that I have no secretary, I hope you are satisfied."

Lansing Librarian Is 66; Must Retire

LANSING (AP) — State librarian Mrs. Loleta D. Fyan said Wednesday she was retiring from the post she has held since 1941.

Mrs. Fyan, 66, said her retirement was asked in a letter from the State Board for Libraries, of which she is secretary.

She said the letter quoted board policy making annual renewal to the position necessary after the employ reached 65, with the understanding that the appointment could terminate the following year.

Only about four per cent of the total area of Norway is cultivated.

1961 Cars Using 12 Pounds More of Aluminum

DETROIT (AP) — An aluminum company official says 1961 model cars use an average of 12 pounds more aluminum than cars of five years ago.

Robert B. McKee of Pittsburgh, vice president of Aluminum Company of America, said his company estimates 62.8 pounds of aluminum per car in the 1961 models. This compares with 54.39 pounds per car in 1960, he said, and is the eighth consecutive year in which the use of the light metal has increased.

The Buick Special and Oldsmobile F85 have new aluminum V8 engines. The Pontiac Tempest has an optional aluminum V8 and the Rambler Classic has an optional six-cylinder aluminum engine.

About one-third of the American people live in areas without public libraries.

To Expand Parking at Red Shield Store

Demolition of two duplexes on downtown Pike Street property purchased by the Pontiac Salvation Army will enable doubling the parking lot facilities for the Red Shield Store next door, Major Ernest Alder announced today.

★ ★ ★

The duplexes, at 104-106 and 110-112 Pike St., are presently being torn down.

★ ★ ★

Maj. Alder who is in charge of the Salvation Army's Men's Social Service Center and the Red Shield Store, both at 112 Pike St., expects the site will be blacktopped for additional parking space early this spring.

★ ★ ★

The addition, which will double the parking area, is needed to adequately serve customers at the store, said Maj. Alder. Future plans call for construction of a garage to house Salvation Army trucks on the parking lot site.

TO REPORT TO KENNEDY — Professor Wilber Cohen of the University of Michigan talks to newsmen in New York Wednesday after outlining report to President-Elect Kennedy on health insurance for the aged.

Business Changes High, Home Permits Fall Off

The nationwide slump in home construction was echoed in Pontiac last year as home permits fell more than 25 per cent. But commercial alterations doubled in volume and quadrupled in cost.

There were about 100 fewer building permits issued by city inspectors last year, compared with the year before.

Value of construction was off about $3.5 million — approximately the cost of the new Oakland County Courthouse, which was started in 1959 and swelled that year's construction figures.

There were 1,387 permits issued in 1959 with a total value of $9,278,832. City Hall's official figures for 1960 include 1,284 permits and $6,460,739.

But the official 1960 figures are misleading because included in them is the estimated value of the Oakland Theater — $415,000 — destroyed by fire in October.

Minus the Oakland Theater, the value of new construction in Pontiac last year totaled $6,045,739.

Home permits numbered 238 in 1960 with a total value of $1,778,106. Comparable 1959 figures include 326 permits and $2,615,625.

Alterations and repairs to commercial buildings — including the Community National Bank building face-lifting — totaled $1,909,580 in 1960. There were 60 such permits issued. The year before there were 33 such permits with a value of $510,190.

There were no public buildings started in Pontiac last year. The $3,049,700 permit for the courthouse and a permit with the figure $531,231 for the Pontiac Public Library were issued last year.

School construction totaled $423,884 this year, compared to $834,007 the year before. There were no new schools last year, but several additions and some alterations and repairs.

New commercial construction totaled $470,000 last year, highlighted by the $115,000 Cy Owens sales and service building and the $90,000 hall for Fisher Body Local 596 UAW. The number of permits for new commercial buildings was 22.

In 1959, there were 13 commercial permits issued with a total value of $741,100.

There was one permit issued last year for industrial construction — the $320,000 frame assembly plant at GMC Truck & Coach Division. The year before there were four industrial permits, all for $77,500 worth of structural changes in connection with the multi-million dollar Fisher Body Division modernization program.

Three new churches last year added $423,884 to the total value of new construction. There were only minor repairs to two churches in 1959.

There were 597 permits issued for residential alterations and repairs last year, compared with 640 the year before. The 1960 total value was set at $563,783, compared with $612,590 in 1959.

Among the oddities last year was the $495 family fallout shelter the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization had constructed in Pontiac to call attention to the civil defense program.

The Union Jack was adopted as the national flag of England about 1600.

Bill Would Kill School Mixing

Georgia Dem Wants Law to Supercede Supreme Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Herman E. Talmadge introduced a constitutional amendment today which in effect would kill the Supreme Court ruling that Negroes may not be barred from white schools on racial grounds.

★ ★

The Georgia Democrat also offered a bill which would prevent federal courts from enforcing integration of Southern schools.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate, Talmadge linked his proposals with the integration crisis at the University of Georgia and in New Orleans, although he did not cite them specifically.

He also introduced measures to demand that Supreme Court justices have at least five years of substantial judicial experience, force the Supreme Court to accord full hearings to all parties before acting on lower court rulings and require jury trials in all contempt cases arising from disobedience of lower court decisions.

★ ★

Talmadge previously has introduced this legislative package with little success. But he vowed to keep pushing his proposals.

JFK's PT Buddy Now Can Go to Inauguration

CAHOKIA, Ill. (UPI) — Edgar A. Mauer, a member of President-Elect John F. Kennedy's World War II PT boat crew, will attend next week's inauguration, thanks to a community effort in his behalf.

Mauer was invited to the ceremonies but did not plan to attend because of sizable doctor and hospital bills. When town folk found out they pitched in to make the trip possible.

Two clothing firms will provide Mauer and his wife with suitable clothes for the occasion.

Mauer will get a tuxedo and business suit and his wife will receive a ball gown, a cocktail dress, hat, gloves and shoes.

Grand Haven Will Lose Naval Reserve Group

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Moving day comes up next Saturday for the 35-man Naval Reserve Security Group, Division 95, which is leaving Grand Haven after nine years to locate in Muskegon.

Civic protests blocked a similar move in 1959. Officials claim training facilities are better at Muskegon.

CUBAN TALKS — Dr. Charles Santos Buch, assistant pathologist at New York City Hospital, testifies before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee Tuesday. He told the senators newspaper ads promoting a group called the Fair Play for Cuba Committee were paid for by the son of Cuba's Foreign Minister Raul Roa.

GM Man Gets Annual Award

Technical Paper Wins Honor by the Highway Research Board

Kenneth A. Stonex, assistant director of the General Motors Proving Grounds, has been named recipient of the Highway Research Board's annual award for a technical paper of outstanding merit.

The paper, "Roadside Design for Safety," was one of more than 200 submitted to the board at its 39th annual meeting last January in Washington.

His paper details how such roadside features as ditches, slopes, trees, posts and signs were landscaped, redesigned or removed to improve safety for GM Proving Ground drivers.

Results of the Proving Ground experiments point the way to greater highway safety by suggesting design standards for ditches and slopes.

Also related in the paper are reports of guardrail impact tests conducted by Proving Ground engineers and suggestions for design of roadside guardrails to lessen severity of auto crashes.

Stonex joined the GM Proving Ground technical data department in 1934. In 1942 he was named head of the mechanical engineering department and in 1956 was promoted to his present post.

On the Highway Research Board, he is a member of the departments of design and traffic and operations, chairman of the committee on vehicle characteristics and a member of the committee on night visibility, speed characteristics and geometric highway design.

Lawmen Are Invited to Coast Guard School

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Law enforcement officers from Michigan and Indiana have been invited to a three-day Coast Guard school, starting Jan. 16 at Grand Haven, for training on boarding boats to check safety regulations.

The classes seek to coordinate water traffic control and enforcement between the Coast Guard and law agencies.

Iron Age Predicts Steel Orders Due

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel shipments in January should rise 10 per cent over December, Iron Age magazine reports.

The weekly metalworking magazine noted, however, that the definite trend in steel will not be known for one or two months — except that the almost depression levels of December are past.

Iron Age listed these positive factors in a situation where almost all factors have been negative for a long time:

Fireboat Nearly Sinks Itself in Demonstration

Fire officials said an engine block, cracked by recent freezing temperatures, spurted almost as much water into the hull of the boat as the 1,600 gallons a minute that the new vessel pumped through six hose nozzles.

Groups to Tour State Hospital

Legislators and College Women to Study Needs of Sick Children

State legislators and the American Association of University Women will take a close look at Pontiac State Hospital tomorrow.

Dr. Walter H. Obenauf, medical superintendent at the hospital, today disclosed that several legislators and members of the AAUW will visit the hospital Friday morning.

"They are coming here to study the needs of emotionally disturbed children in a state hospital setting," Dr. Obenauf said.

Among them will be Rep. Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, House speaker.

He will be accompanied by members of the House Interim Committee. Approximately 12 legislators are expected to attend the tour.

Heading the AAUW group will be Mrs. Edward F. LaTulip, AAUW state legislative chairman.

Mrs. LaTulip stated that her group and the Michigan Probate Judges Association are vitally interested in "good state hospital facilities for mentally ill children" and have encouraged the legislators to "see conditions for themselves."

The group is scheduled to see the children's psychiatric program and tour Fairlawn School for Emotionally Disturbed Children at the hospital.

The tour will begin at about 10 a.m. A discussion and lunch at the hospital will follow.

The group is scheduled to leave Pontiac shortly before 1 p.m. to conduct a similar tour of the Hawthorne Center in Plymouth.

Reds Want Belgium Out of U.N. Territory

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union demanded today that the United Nations oust Belgium as administrator of the U.N. trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi, next to the Congo's rebellious Kivu Province.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin also called on the U.N. Security Council to condemn Belgium for permitting troops of Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu to cross the territory of Ruanda-Urundi Dec. 31 for an attack on rebel units in Kivu Province.

Zorin asked the council to demand the immediate withdrawal of all Belgian military and civilian personnel from the Congo.

Blaze Kills Woman, 83; Crippled Son Suffering

NILES (UPI) — An elderly woman died and her crippled son was injured critically today in a fire at their frame home on the east side of Niles.

Mrs. Addie Stratton, 83, was dead on arrival at a hospital. She suffocated in the blaze, authorities said.

Her son James Stratton, 43, a cripple since birth, was in critical condition, being treated for smoke inhalation.

What some of the industries seem to want nowadays is a good, talented young man who'll be satisfied to start at the bottom — and stay there . . . In America, the land of opportunity, there is no reason why any bright boy can't grow up, fight his way to the top, and become a rich television repairman. —Earl Wilson.

'Dummy Officers Took $69,985 From Teamsters'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators submitted evidence today purporting to show that four "dummy" officers of New York Teamsters Local 239 siphoned off $69,985 in union funds in 26 months.

★ ★ ★

Bailly witnesses refused to say whether the money went for payoffs to racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo.

★ ★ ★

The evidence came in the third day of hearings by the Senate investigations subcommittee, which is inquiring into charges of underworld control over some New York Teamster local unions.

★ ★ ★

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Teamster President James R. Hoffa would not be called to testify until next week.

See Car Production Rising 48.5 Per Cent

DETROIT (UPI) — Picking up again after the holiday doldrums, car production this week will climb to an estimated 110,200 units this week, Automotive News said today.

That would be an increase of 48.5 per cent over the 74,204 cars turned out last week.

In the same week a year ago when production was running high following the steel strike, the industry turned out 173,713 cars.

Rusk Can't See Any Relations With Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dean Rusk, the secretary of state-designate, said today he sees no prospect now for establishing normal relations with Red China.

He also commented, in an appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that "we are very much disturbed by the events which have occurred" in Cuba.

But he declined further comment on the Cuban situation beyond saying it is "of vital interest" to the United States and to the Western Hemisphere as well.

On the subject of Red China, he noted that the United States has a security treaty with the Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa.

'Untouchables' to Go On Despite FBP Protest

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Broadcasting Co. says it is going ahead with a network television production of "The Untouchables" tonight despite a protest from the director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

ABC, beyond saying the show would be presented between 9:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. (EST), had no comment on the protest by James V. Bennett.

K Likes Cambodia's Plan on Laotian Crisis

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today that Premier Khrushchev "regards favorably" Cambodia's proposal for an international conference on the Laotian crisis.

The U.S. State Department said Wednesday that it was giving "earnest consideration" to Sihanouk's proposal for a 14-nation conference.

Soviet engineers are studying a proposal to build a 200-mile-long dam from the western shore of the Caspian Sea to the Mangyshlak Peninsula on the eastern shore. Its purpose would be to control the rise and fall of the sea's water level.

The citation recognizes "outstanding airmanship" on the part of Capt. Wells for bringing a C124 air transport service plane safely to base after two of its four engines conked out on a flight from Hawaii to California Nov. 9, 1959.

Senate Liberals Unhappy Over Antifilibuster Defeat

"A devastating blow," said Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who contends a rules change is necessary to permit passage of meaningful civil rights legislation.

But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of Southern foes of the move, hailed the outcome as "a great victory for the sanity, dignity and prerogatives of the Senate."

He also called it a rebuke for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Senate's presiding officer until Jan. 20, who sided with proponents of a change on a key parliamentary question.

The controversy, which has tied up the Senate since it convened Jan. 3, was shunted off to the Senate Rules Committee Wednesday by a 50-46 vote.

Democratic senators divided 32 for and 31 against the sidetracking move. The line-up of Republicans was 18 for and 15 against.

The Senate motion to refer the dispute to its rules committee for hearings was made by Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. He had the support of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader.

Mansfield said he favored making it easier to choke off filibusters but didn't want the Senate to bog down in a rules fight and be unable to act promptly on President-Elect John F. Kennedy's legislative program after Jan. 20.

Dirksen said he regards the present rule as a weapon Republicans might find handy in opposing some of Kennedy's legislative recommendations.

Had Mansfield's motion failed, the scrap could have gone on for weeks.

Pontiac Motor's First Week in '61 Can't Match 1960

There were 7,735 passenger cars produced by Pontiac Motor Division during the week ending Jan. 7, according to figures of the Automobile Manufacutrers Association.

The number of Tempests manufactured during the first week of production this year was up over last week of 1960, 2,851 to 1,509. Pontiac production dropped from 5,323 in the week ending Dec. 31 to 4,884.

Total Pontiac production last week showed a slight increase over the previous week, 7,735 as against 6,832.

Eye on 'Fire-Chasing' Firms Is Advocated

DETROIT (AP) — A federal inquiry into monitoring of fire department calls by private fire-loss adjusters and contractors was recommended Wednesday to the State Department of Insurance and the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission.

★ ★ ★

The recommendation came from a special committee named by the two state agencies last April to study complaints that some firms have been "fire chasing," using high pressure selling tactics and causing unnecessary delay in claim settlements.

The committee's investigation centered in the Detroit area.

One of the principal complaints was that homeowners are approached by as many as a dozen salesmen from various adjustment and contracting firms, who arrive sometimes before the fire department or during the fire.

The unusual variety of soil, climatic, and water conditions makes it possible to raise 269 different crops in California.

Seventh Member Named

Select Officers of Orion Rec Unit

ORION TOWNSHIP — Temporary officers were elected and a seventh member was named last night to a joint committe which will plan recreational facilities to serve both the township and village of Lake Orion.

Named acting chairman of the

* * *

new committee at its organizational meeting in the Township Hall was Edward Knickerbocker. George C. Collingwood was elected acting secretary. Both men are township trustees.

John Blake, a teacher in the Pontiac School System who now lives in the township, was appointed as the seventh member of the committee, which also includes three township and three village officials.

* * *

Lake Orion Councilman Dr. Richard A. McNeil said Blake was chosen for the committee because he has had experience with the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation.

It is likely that the committee, formed after a dispute over the village-owned park between township and Lake Orion residents, eventually will be developed into a joint recreation department.

Dr. McNeil described the work of the committee as a "long-range project." He said the committee would "try to develop its recreational planning on as large a scale as possible" in order to serve the needs of both municipalities.

"The next meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Feb. 21 in the township hall," reported Collingwood. "We plan to talk to people in the area who have shown interest in a recreational program."

* * *

Dr. McNeil said he hoped that some of the township residents who objected so violently to the closing of Lake Orion's park to all but village residents last summer would continue their interest in recreational planning.

Village officials closed the park to outsiders following an accident there in which a Pontiac boy was seriously injured.

The Lake Orion council said it merely was enforcing an ordinance already on the books in limiting the use of the park to village residents.

Township residents, who had been accustomed to using the park's facilities in the past, heatedly protested the council's action, but their objections were silenced when told that the village and council would work together on establishing joint facilities.

Area Jaycees to Give Award

WALLED LAKE — The area's outstanding young man of the year will be honored by the Walled Lake Junior Chamber of Commerce at a dinner Jan. 19.

He will be presented with a distinguished service award which serves a two-fold purpose, according to William Floto, president of the organization.

"First, it is a means by which the Walled Lake Jaycees show appreciation for the accomplishments of this young man.

In addition, it demonstrates to the community the unlimited possibilities of a young man to make life a little better for his fellowman," explained Floto.

Three other awards will be presented at the banquet, which will be held at the Rotunda Inn at 7 p.m.

* * *

They are the key man, an award given to the Jaycee who has done the most outstanding job for the chapter during the past year, the spoke award and the sparkplug award.

The spoke award is given to the new member who has contributed the most to the organization and the sparkplug award is presented to an older member.

The Jaycees are still seeking the names of candidates for the top award from residents of the community. Application blanks can be obtained at Taylor's Chevrolet, Harold's Apparel and The Party Shop.

Applications must be returned by Saturday.

Southfield Girl, 17, Heads Youth Work

SOUTHFIELD — A 17-year-old Southfield girl has become the youngest person ever named to head a state board or committee for the annual Michigan Week observance.

Diane Perrone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Perrone of 25801 McAllister St., will serve as chairman of the new Youth Activities Board which was created this year to formulate and carry forward a statewide program for youth organizations.

The Youth Activities Board will embrace all youth organizations in the state. It will coordinate work with other boards which cover organization, program, cultural activities, school-college activities and public relations.

Diane, a senior at Our Lady of Mercy High School in Detroit, is secretary of the Detroit Catholic Youth Organization. She also is active in school and church activities as coeditor of the OLM News Print, the high school monthly, and in the St. Michaels Youth Club.

* * *

She plans to major in journalism at Marquette University after graduating from high school.

The Youth Activities Board, which Diane heads, will include representatives from all youth organizations in the state.

* * *

In addition to this board activity, Diane will serve in the dual role as state chairman of Our Youth Day, which will be observed on Saturday of Michigan Week.

The new board was organized and developed with the aid of the Youth Advisory Council of the Michigan Youth Commission.

The teen-ager was to make her first report today at a meeting of the Michigan Week executive council at the Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

Born in Providence, Rhode Island, Diane came to Michigan with her parents at the age of two, first living in Berkley and then her present Southfield home.

Diane has a sister, Christine, 12, and her father's building business, the De - Chris Construction Co. is named after the two girls.

Builder Plunges to Death

The body of Charles A. Laurenceille of 1807 Cedar Hill St., was found in a pile of Christmas trees near an alley on the Woodward side of the building.

The victim's son, Michael, 25, of 1323 Alicia St., Royal Oak, told officers that his father had recently suffered a nervous breakdown and had been hospitalized.

* * *

The younger Laurenceille also stated that his father had been discouraged about his business which had been slow and that he was pessimistic about the future.

A former practicing attorney, the elder Laurenceille owned a building company at 1500 N. Woodward Ave., Royal Oak. His firm had been building homes in the Royal Oak and Rochester areas for 15 years.

* * *

To Present Play at Troy School

'7-League Boots' Will Be Offered by WSU Children's Theater

TROY — "The Seven - League Boots," a dramatization of the famous fairy tale, "Hop-o'-my-Thumb," will be presented by the Wayne State University Children's Theater at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Jan. 20 at Troy High School.

This is the first performance this year of the WSU Children's Theatre which tours the Detroit area annually with stage versions of well - known selections from children's literature.

"The Seven-League Boots" tells the suspenseful story of how Hop-o'-my-Thumb, with the aid of the magic seven-league boots, saves two little girls from a terrible, man-eating ogre.

The production, which is about an hour in length, appeals to youngsters of all ages, according to its producers. They add that it is interesting to junior and senior high school students from a technical standpoint.

Representatives of the Troy High PTSA will be at each of the grade schools in Troy Tuesday morning to sell tickets to the children. Price is 50 cents each for both youngsters and adults.

Children and adults in neighboring school districts also are invited to attend the play. They may make reservations for tickets by contacting Mrs. John Sheward of 50 Wendleton St. or Mrs. Donald Lance of 3179 Rochester Road.

Lake Orion Ordinance Halt Public Bake Sales

LAKE ORION — Charity bake sales formerly conducted in village business places will not be permitted here in the future, Lake Orion Council President Irvine J. Unger said today.

However, Unger emphasized that the council is not attempting to stop bake sales held by fraternal and church groups on their own property.

The crackdown is aimed only at organizations which sell cakes, pies and other delicacies in stores and offices not licensed to sell food.

Harold C. Waltman, 35 Cayuga St., owner of Waltman's Bakery at 38 S. Broadway St., brought the matter to the attention of councilmen when he appeared before them to complain of the "unfair competition" resulting from the charity sales.

Oakland County Health Department inspector Oscar Boyea informed the council that the bake sales were in violation of a health and food ordinance recently adopted by the council.

Boyea said the village would be allowing the ordinance to be violated if the bake sales were held in business places.

After hearing Boyea's opinion, the council decided it would demand stricter enforcement of the ordinances as far as the charitable bake sales were concerned.

The council had accepted the bid of a local gasoline dealer, but it was rescinded when the dealer discovered he had made an error in the price he estimated in the bid.

Appoints a Director for Civil Defense

SOUTHFIELD — The office of civil defense director, a fulltime position which has been vacant for two years, is now being filled by Robert P. Stark of 16341 Addison St.

The appointment was made by Mayor Donald L. Swanson following an order from the Michigan Office of Civil Defense, which stated that the city must have a full-time director in order to be eligible for state supported civil defense programs.

Since the retirement of Southfield's last full-time director, civil defense has been under the jurisdiction of the police department.

Warns School Program Cut Leans on Vote

WALLED LAKE—A drastic curtailment of the present educational program in the Walled Lake school district would result if voters reject a millage proposal Jan. 30, Supt. Clifford H. Smart warned today.

The school system is seeking a renewal of a four-mill operation tax that expires this year. Voters approved the tax levy in 1957 for a four-year period.

The Walled Lake Board of Education points out that approval of the proposition will not increase the present tax rate of $14.12 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

In urging approval of the proposal, the school board stated that the four mills represents more than 28 per cent of the local school taxes.

The defeat of the proposal would mean a loss to the school district of more than a quarter million dollars.

The election has been scheduled prior to the time the school board is required to prepare and adopt a budget for the 1961-62 school year.

An agreement which gave the township authority to take over the departments was signed by village officials Dec. 27, Mrs. Stephen said.

* * *

Delay Awarding Building Contract for Lapeer Jail

LAPEER—A decision on awarding a contract for construction of a new Lapeer County Jail will be delayed until Jan. 18, it was announced today by County Clerk Lyle Stewart.

The County Board of Supervisors, which is meeting here this week, were expected to award the contract yesterday.

However, Stewart said the delay was requested by contractors bidding for the work who asked more time so additional cost cutting measures could be included in the jail plans.

For her wedding the bride chose a princess style gown of brocade taffeta. The veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a white orchid and streamers of ivy centered on a white Bible.

Sharon Lounsbury of Royal Oak was maid of honor for her sister. Carol Tuckey, the bride's cousin, served as flower girl.

Mystery Still Unsolved as Berkley Youth Dies

* * *

The victim, John W. Walker of 2388 Berkley St. was rushing his passenger Robert Baker, 18, of 30065 Fairlane St., Southfield, to the hospital when he crashed into a telephone pole in Redford Township. Baker died at the scene.

The mystery is why Baker was being sped to the hospital. An autopsy showed there was no evidence Baker might have been in pain.

Walker never regained consciousness and police were unable to question him.

* * *

He told police that Walker dashed into a Farmington driveway where he was eating and frantically asked the way to the nearest hospital.

Buell said he would lead the way to Redford Receiving Hospital.

"The passenger in Walker's car was all bent over and making noises," Buell said.

* * *

Buell said he was traveling about 60 miles an hour when he heard a crash behind him. Walker's car crashed into the pole at Grand River Avenue and Olympia Street.

No one has been able to explain why Walker so desperately had to get his companion to a hospital.

Michigan Farms Down in Number, Up in Size

LANSING (UPI)—State and national reports indicate the number of farms in Michigan is decreasing but some agriculture officials say the statistics can be deceiving.

A recent publication of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at Michigan State University called attention to the fact the average size of Michigan farms has increased at every census since 1935 until it is now 132.2 acres.

In a similar manner the number of farms has declined at every census in the past 25 years. During the past five years the decrease in number was more than 27,000 farms, the Michigan Economic Record said.

Some of this loss can be accounted for by consolidation of farms and another part of it probably is due to the recent changes in the definition of what constitutes a farm, according to state and national agriculture officials.

"Years and years ago we used to call a farm any two acres on which a certain amount of salable products was raised," said Joe E. Wells, administrative assistant to State Agriculture Director G. S. McIntyre. "Now the definition has been changed."

NOW 3 ACRES AND $150

In 1954 the definition was raised to include three acres which brought in $150 or more from the sale of agricultural products, said William J. Crampton, Ingham County agriculture stabilization and conservation agent.

This year when the census was taken the definition of a farm was any 10 acres or more from which the sale of agricultural products totals $50 or more a year, or an area less than 10 acres which brings in more than $250 in sales annually, Crampton said.

Farming in Michigan is the state's No. 2 industry despite the drop in the number of farms counted in the census. It is second only to the manufacturing industry, Wells said.

For her wedding the bride chose a princess style gown of slipper satin featuring a fitted bodice, bateau neckline and long, tapered sleeves. The neckline was appliqued with Alencon lace, and the bouffant skirt had appliques of the same lace on each panel.

Serving as best man was Michael Boyd. Ushers were Donald Sweeney, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Wilson.

Detroit's Department Stores Gained in '60

DETROIT (AP) — Despite a Christmas-season drop, department store sales in the Detroit area during 1960 gained slightly from 1959, the Detroit branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reports.

Bank officials said the percentage gain in 1960 was "very slight —at the most 2 per cent" in the face of sales during the final four weeks before Christmas that were 3 per cent below a year earlier.

* * *

The bank said increased department store sales in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties paralleled a 2 per cent national rise in all types of retail sales for the year.

Only 1 Commissioner Attends All Meetings

Of Pontiac's seven city commissioners, only Wesley J. Wood had a perfect attendance record at all commission meetings last year.

* * *

Actually no one, including Wood, has a perfect record, since the full commission, by tradition, regularly misses one meeting a year during the week of the American Municipal Association annual meeting. It was November last year.

Wood, the District 6 representative, was present at the 51 other regular weekly meetings plus five others that were scheduled specially.

Commissioners William F. Taylor Jr. of District 3 and Winford E. Bottom of District 4, who were elected in April, attended 36 of the 37 meetings from then until the end of the year. They missed the November meeting.

* * *

Mayor Philip E. Rowston of District 2, Mayor protem John A. Dugan of District 5 and Commissioner Robert A. Landry of District 7 served the full year and attended 35 meetings each. Commissioner Milton R. Henry of District 1, who also served the full year, had the worst attendance record. He was at 47 meetings.

Floyd P. Miles, defeated in April for re-election from District 4, attended the first 30 meetings of the year. Former mayor William W. Donaldson, who resigned from the commission Feb. 23 to become Pontiac postmaster, attended the first seven.

According to the record kept by City Clerk Asia R. Evans, the commission was in session a total of 791 hours during 1960.

* * *

There were 18 new ordinances or ordinance amendments adopted. Commission actions were reflected in 1,027 entries in the official journal.

2 Miss Opening of Legislature but Are Busy

LANSING (UPI) — Two members of the State House of Representatives missed the opening session of the legislature Wednesday because they were performing other governmental duties.

Rep. William C. Sterling, D-Monroe, was in Washington for a session of the Commission on Aging, to which he was appointed by former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Rep. Joseph A. Gillis Jr., D-Detroit, notified the House he was called to active duty with the Air Force at Norfolk, Va. Gillis is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve.

Pick Chairmen for Centennial

Five Are Named Within Participation Division (Mostly for Fun)

Chairmen of five major committees have been named within the participation division of the Pontiac centennial organization.

The appointees were announced today by divisional chairman William L. Belaney, promotional director of GMTC Federal Employees Credit Union, and Mrs. Clyde Dearing, women's civic leader.

Divisional activities being planned are aimed at the widest public participation, said Belaney.

"In a sense, ours is the fun division since most of our plans involve good-natured nonsense," he said.

The chairmen:

* * *

Andrew Carruth, Lincoln Motor Division employe, Brothers of the Brush committee; Mrs. Raymond N. Rapaport, women's civic leader, Centennial Belles committee; Dr. H. A. Miller, optometrist, men's hats and ties committee.

Also Henry E. Gotham, manager of the Pontiac Retail Store promenade and caravan committee, and Richard L. Wolfe, president of Dick Wolfe Distributing Co., kangaroo court committee.

* * *

Still to be filled is the chairmanship of the ladies' sunbonnets and dresses committee.

Weather Bureau Peers at Past Statistics

Fair Inauguration Weather Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a better than even chance that it won't rain or snow on Jan. 20, Inauguration day. And the chances are even better that the temperature will be above freezing.

That should be a bit comforting if you are one of the thousands who has dealt out from $3 to $25 for a grandstand seat to watch President John F. Kennedy's inaugural parade.

There is one parade unit that is rather hoping for a heavy snow. That's from the state of Maine, and it has 10 northwoods huskies ready to pull a sled down Pennsylvania Avenue.

STATISTICS CITED

If there's no snow, they'll have to put wheels on the sled, and that might spoil the effect.

The Weather Bureau says it's still too early to forecast the weather accurately for Jan. 20, but the weathermen checked into the past records and came up with these statistics:

There's a chance of 3 out of 5 that there will be no rain or snow, and an 8 out of 10 chance for above-freezing temperatures.

Inauguration day was changed from March 4 to Jan. 20 in 1937, for Franklin D. Roosevelt's second inaugural. It rained heavily. But since then there have been five Jan. 20 inaugurations with no precipitation.

* * *

The early presidents had good luck. George Washington's first in New York was a fair day, and so was his second in Philadelphia. The first Washington inauguration —Thomas Jefferson's—on March 4, 1801, also was on a beautiful day.

MARCH WAS CHANCY

But over the years March 4 turned out to be a pretty chancy day weatherwise. In 1945 James G. Polk took his oath under an umbrella in a downpour. There have been many other wet ones.

The echoing, drafty National Guard Armory here is being transformed into a ballroom fit for a president. But the inaugural ball is so big it will be in three sections and three locations. The Kennedys and the Lyndon B. Johnsons will visit all three.

The walls of the armory are being covered with pale gray cloth called Egyptian rep. Gold eagles with 40-foot wingspreads will look down from each end of the huge auditorium. The balcony will be faced with white satin and studded with the 50 state seals.

* * *

The presidential box will be topped by a gold satin canopy. In the middle of the floor will rise a 40-foot circular bandstand decked in satin, golden ropes and a gold eagle.

* * *

Altogether 19,000 will attend the inaugural ball, paying $25 per ticket or $320 a box. The other sections will be at the Mayflower Hotel and at the Sheraton Park Hotel.

Eisenhower's Full State of the Union Message

* * *

To the Congress of the United States:

Once again it is my constitutional duty to assess the state of the Union.

On each such previous occasion during these past eight years I have outlined a forward course designed to achieve our mutual objective—a better America in a world of peace. This time my function is different.

The American people, in free election, have selected new leadership which soon will be entrusted with the management of our government. A new president shortly will lay before you his proposals to shape the future of our great land. To him, every citizen, whatever his political beliefs, prayerfully extends best wishes for good health and for wisdom and success in coping with the problems that confront our nation.

* * *

For my part, I should like, first, to express to you of the Congress my appreciation of your devotion to the common good and your friendship over these difficult years. I will carry with me pleasant memories of this association in endeavors profoundly significant to all our people.

We have been through a lengthy period in which the control over the executive and legislative branches of government has been divided between our two great political parties.

Differences, of course, we have had, particularly in domestic affairs. But in a united determination to keep this nation strong and free and to utilize our vast resources for the advancement of all mankind, we have carried America to unprecedented heights.

Thanks All America

For this cooperative achievement I thank the American people and those in the Congress of both parties who have supported programs in the interest of our country.

* * *

I should also like to give special thanks for the devoted service of my associates in the executive branch and the hundreds of thousands of career employes who have implemented our diverse government programs.

My second purpose is to review briefly the record of these past eight years in the hope that, out of the sum of these experiences, lessons will emerge that are useful to our nation. Supporting this review are detailed reports from the several agencies and departments, all of which are now or will shortly be available to the Congress.

Throughout the world the years since 1953 have been a period of profound change. The human problems in the world grow more acute hour by hour; yet new gains in science and technology continually extend the promise of a better life.

* * *

People yearn to be free, to govern themselves; yet a third of the people of the world have no freedom, do not govern themselves. The world recognizes the catastrophic nature of nuclear war; yet it sees the wondrous potential of nuclear space.

During the period, the United States has forged ahead under a constructive foreign policy. The continuing goal is peace, liberty, and well-being — for others as well as ourselves. The aspirations of all peoples are one — peace with justice in freedom.

Peace can only be attained collectively as peoples everywhere unite in their determination that liberty and well-being come to all mankind.

Hits Communism

Yet while we have worked to advance national aspirations for freedom, a divisive force has been at work to divert that aspiration into dangerous channels.

The Communist movement throughout the world exploits the natural striving of all to be free and attempts to subjugate men rather than free them. These activities have caused and are continuing to cause grave troubles in the world.

Here at home these have been times for careful adjustment of our economy from the artifical impetus of a hot war to constructive growth in a precarious peace. While building a new economic vitality without inflation, we have also increased public expenditures to keep abreast of the needs of a growing population and its attendant new problems, as well as our added international responsibilities.

* * *

We have worked toward these ends in a context of shared responsibility — conscious of the need for maximum scope to private effort and for state and local, as well as federal, governmental action.

Success in designing and executing national purposes, domestically and abroad, can only come from a steadfast resolution that integrity in the operation of government and in our relations with each other be fully maintained.

Only in this way could our spiritual goals be fully advanced.

Foreign Policy

On January 20, 1953, when I took office, the United States was at war. Since the signing of the Korean armistice in 1953, Americans have lived in peace in highly troubled times.

During the 1956 Suez crisis, the United States government strongly supported United Nations action—resulting in the ending of the hostilities in Egypt.

Again in 1958, peace was preserved in the Middle East despite new discord. Our government responded to the request of the friendly Lebanese government for military help, and promptly withdrew American forces as soon as the situation was stabilized.

In 1958 our support of the Republic of China during the all-out bombardment of Quemoy restrained the Communist Chinese from attempting to invade the offshore islands.

Notes Red Losses

Although, unhappily, Communist penetration of Cuba is real and poses a serious threat, Communist-dominated regimes have been deposed in Guatemala and Iran. The occupation of Austria has ended and the Trieste question has been settled.

Despite constant threats to its integrity, West Berlin has remained free.

Important advances have been made in building mutual security arrangements—which lie at the heart of our hopes for future peace and security in the world.

* * *

The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization has been established; the NATO alliance has been militarily strengthened; the Organization of American States has been further developed as an instrument of inter-American cooperation; the Anzus Treaty has strengthened ties with Australia and New Zealand, and a mutual security treaty with Japan has been signed.

In addition, the CENTO Pact has been concluded, and while we are not officially a member of this alliance we have participated closely in its deliberations.

The "Atoms for Peace" proposal to the United Nations led to the creation of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Our policy has been to push for enforceable programs of inspection against surprise attack, suspension of nuclear testing, arms reduction, and peaceful use of outer space.

Cites U.N. Support

The United Nations has been vigorously supported in all of its actions, including the condemnations of the wholesale murder of the people of Tibet by the Chinese Communists and the brutal Soviet repression of the people of Hungary, as well as the more recent U.N. actions in the Congo.

The United States took the initiative in negotiating the significant treaty to guarantee the peaceful use of vast Antarctica.

The United States Information Agency has been transformed into a greatly improved medium for expanding our policies and actions to audiences overseas, answering the lies of Communist propaganda, and projecting a clearer image of American life and culture.

Cultural, technological and educational exchanges with the Soviet Union have been encouraged, and a comprehensive agreement was made which authorized, among other things, the distribution of our Russian language magazine Amerika and the highly successful American Exhibition in Moscow.

This country has continued to withhold recognition of Communist China and to oppose vigorously the admission of this belligerent and unrepentant nation into the United Nations. Red China has yet to demonstrate that it deserves to be considered a "peace-loving" nation.

With Communist imperialism held in check, constructive actions were undertaken to strengthen the economies of free world nations. The United States government has given sturdy support to the economic and technical assistance activities of the U.N.

Organizations Backed

This country stimulated a doubling of the capital of the World Bank and a 50 per cent capital increase in the International Monetary Fund.

The Development Loan Fund and the International Development Association were established. The United States also took the lead in creating the Inter-American Development Bank.

Vice President Nixon, secretaries of state Dulles and Herter and I travelled extensively through the world for the purpose of strengthening the cause of peace, freedom, and international understanding.

So rewarding were these visits that their very success became a significant factor in causing the Soviet Union to wreck the planned summit conference of 1960.

* * *

These vital programs must go on. New tactics will have to be developed, of course, to meet new situations, but the underlying principles should be constant.

Our great moral and material commitments to collective security, deterrence of force, international law, negotiations that lead to self-enforcing agreements, and the economic interdependence of free nations should remain the cornerstone of a foreign policy that will ultimately bring permanent peace with justice in freedom to all mankind.

The continuing need of all free nations today is for each to recognize clearly the essentiality of an unbreakable bond among themselves based upon a complete dedication to the principles of collective security, effective cooperation and peace with justice.

* * *

Tremendous advances in strategic weapons systems have been made in the past eight years.

Not until 1953 were expenditures on long-range ballistic missile programs even as much as a million dollars a year; Today we spend 10 times as much each day on these programs as was spent in all of 1952.

No guided ballistic missiles were operational at the beginning of 1953. Today many types give our armed forces unprecedented effectiveness. The explosive power of our weapons systems for all purposes is almost inconceivable.

* * *

Today the United States has operational Atlas missiles which can strike a target 5,000 miles away in a half-hour. The Plaris weapons system became operational last fall and the Titan is scheduled to become so this year.

Next year, more than a year ahead of schedule, a vastly improved ICBM, the solid propellant Minuteman, is expected to be ready.

Squadrons of accurate intermediate range ballistic missiles are now operational. The Thor and Jupiter IRBMs based in forward areas can hit targets 1,500 miles away in 18 minutes.

Aircraft which fly at speeds faster than sound were still in a development stage eight years ago. Today American fighting planes go twice the speed of sound.

Says Planes Mighty

And either our B58 medium range jet bomber or our B52 long range jet bomber can carry more explosive power than was used by all combatants in World War II—Allies and Axis combined.

Eight years ago we had no nuclear-powered ships. Today 49 nuclear warships have been authorized. Of these, 14 have been commissioned, including three of the revolutionary Polaris submarines.

Our nuclear submarines have cruised under the North Pole and circumnavigated the earth while submerged. Sea warfare has been revolutionized, and the United States is far and away the leader.

* * *

Our tactical air units overseas and our aircraft carriers are alert; Army units, guarding the frontiers of freedom in Europe and the Far East, are in the highest state of readiness in peacetime history; our Marines, a third of whom are deployed in the Far East, are constantly prepared for action; our reserve establishment has maintained high standards of proficiency, and the Ready Reserve now numbers over 2½ million citizen-soldiers.

The Department of Defense, a young and still-evolving organization, has twice been improved and the line of command has been shortened in order to meet the demands of modern warfare. These major reorganizations have provided a more effective structure for unified planning and direction of the vast defense establishment.

Gradual improvements in its structure and procedures are to be expected.

United States civil defense and nonmilitary defense capacity has been greatly strengthened and these activities have been consolidated in one federal agency.

* * *

The defense forces of our allies now number five million men, several thousand combatant ships, and over 25,000 aircraft. Programs to strengthened these allies have been consistently supported by the administration.

U.S. military assistance goes almost exclusively to friendly nations on the rim of the Communist world. This American contribution to nations who have the will to defend their freedom, but insufficient means, should be vigorously continued.

Combined with our allies, the free world now has a far stronger shield than we could provide alone.

* * *

Since 1953, our defense policy has been based on the assumption that the international situation would require heavy defense expenditures for an indefinite period to come, probably for years.

In this protracted struggle, good management dictates that we resist overspending as resolutely as we oppose underspending.

Every dollar uselessly spent on military mechanisms decreases our total strength and therefore, our security. We must not return to the "crash-program" psychology of the past when each new feint by the Communists was responded to in panic.

Calls 'Gaps' Fiction

The "bomber gap" of several years ago was always a fiction, and the "missile gap" shows every sign of being the same.

The nation can ill afford to abandon a national policy which provides for a fully adequate and steady level of effort, designed for the long pull; a fast adjustment to new scientific and technological advances; a balanced force of such strength as to deter general war, to effectively meet local situations and to retaliate to attack and destroy the attacker; and a strengthened system of free world collective security.

The expanding American economy passed the half-trillion dollar mark in gross national product early in 1960. The nation's output of goods and services is now nearly 25 per cent higher than in 1952.

In 1959, the average American family had an income of $6,520, 15 per cent higher in dollars of constant buying power than in 1952, and the real wages of American factory workers have risen 20 per cent during the past eight years. These facts reflect the rising standard of individual and family well-being enjoyed by Americans.

Our nation benefits also from a remarkable improvement in general industrial peace through strengthened processes of free collective bargaining. Time lost since 1952 because of strikes has been half that lost in the eight years prior to that date.

* * *

Legislation now requires that union members have the opportunity for full participation in the affairs of their unions.

The administration supported the Landrum-Griffin Act, which I believe is greatly helpful to the vast bulk of American labor and its leaders, and also is a major step in getting racketeers and gangsters out of labor-management affairs.

The economic security of working men and women has been strengthened by an extension of unemployment insurance coverage to 2.5 million ex-servicemen, 2.4 million federal employes, and 1.2 million employes of small businesses, and by a strengthening of the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act. States have ben encouraged to improve their unemployment compensation benefits, so that today average weekly benefits are 40 per cent higher than in 1953.

* * *

Determined efforts have improved workers safety standards. Enforceable safety standards have been established for longshoremen and ship repair workers; federal safety councils have been increased from 14 to over 100; safety awards have been initiated, and a national construction safety program has ben developed.

A major factor in strengthening our competitive enterprise system, and promoting economic growth, has been the vigorous enforcement of antitrust laws over the last eight years and a continuing effort to reduce artificial restraints on competition and trade and enhance our economic liberties.

This purpose was also significantly advanced in 1953 when, as one of the first acts of this administration, restrictive wage and price controls were ended.

An additional measure to strengthen the American system of competitive enterprise was the creation of the Small Business Administration in 1953 to assist existing small businesses and encourage new ones.

Lists Business Aid

This agency has approved over $1 billion in loans, initiated a new program to provide long-term capital for small businesses, aided in setting aside $3½ billion in government contracts for award to small business concerns, and brought to the attention of individual businessmen, through programs of information and education, new developments in management and production techniques.

Since 1952, important tax revisions have been made to encourage small businesses.

Major improvements in the nation's transportation system have been made:

—After long years of debate, the dream of a great St. Lawrence Seaway, opening the heartland of America to ocean commerce, has been fulfilled.

—The largest public construction program in history — the 41,000 mile national system of interstate and defense highways — has been pushed rapidly forward. Twenty-five per cent of this system is now open to traffic.

Cites Other Moves

Efforts to help every American build a better life have included also a vigorous program for expanding our trade with other nations. A 4-year renewal of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act was passed in 1958, and a continuing and rewarding effort has been made to persuade other countries to remove restrictions against our exports.

A new export expansion program was launched in 1960, inaugurating improvement of export credit insurance and broadening research and information programs to awaken Americans to business opportunities overseas.

These actions and generally prosperous conditions abroad have helped push America's export trade to a level of $20 billion in 1960.

* * *

Although intermittent declines in economic activity persist as a problem in our enterprise system, recent downturns have been moderate and of short duration.

There is, however, little room for complacency. Currently our economy is operating at high levels, but unemployment rates are higher than any of us would like, and chronic pockets of high unemployment persist.

Clearly, continued sound and broadly shared economic growth remains a major national objective toward which we must strive through joint private and public efforts.

Asks United Effort

If government continues to work to assure every American the fullest opportunity to develop and utilize his ability and talent, it will be performing one of its most vital functions, that of advancing the welfare and protecting the dignity, rights, and freedom of all Americans.

Government Finance

In January 1953, the consumer's dollar was worth only 52 cents in terms of food, clothing, shelter and other items it would buy compared to 1939. Today, the inflationary spiral which has raised the cost of living by 36 per cent between 1946 and 1952 has all but ceased and the value of the dollar virtually stabilized.

In 1953 we had the largest tax cut in history, amounting to $7.4 billion annually, of which over 62 per cent went to individuals mostly in the small income brackets.

This administration has directed constant efforts toward fiscal responsibility. Balanced budgets have been sought when the economy was advancing, and a rigorous evaluation of spending programs has been maintained at all times.

* * *

Resort to deficit financing in prosperous times could easily erode international confidence in the dollar and contribute to inflation at home. In this belief, I shall submit a balanced budget for fiscal 1962 to the Congress next week.

There has been a firm policy of reducing government competition with private enterprises. This has resulted in the discontinuance of some 2,000 commercial industrial installations in addition the curtailment of approximately 550 industrial installations operated directly by government agencies.

Also an aggressive surplus disposal program has been carried on to identify and dispose of unneeded government-owned real property. This has resulted in the addition of a substantial number of valuable properties to local tax rolls, and a significant monetary return to the government.

Points to Dispersal

Ernest and persistent attempts have been made to strengthen the position of state and local governments and thereby to stop the dangerous drift toward centralization of governmental power in Washington.

Significant strides have been made in increasing the effectiveness of government. Important new agencies have been established, such as the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, the Federal Aviation Agency, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The Council of Economic Advisers was reconstituted.

The operation of our postal system has been modernized to get better and more efficient service. Modernized handling of local mail now brings next-day delivery to 168 million people in our population centers, expanded carrier service now accommodates 9.3 million families in the growing suburbs, and 1.4 million families have been added to the rural delivery service. Common sense dictates that the postal service should be on a self-financing basis.

* * *

The concept of a trained and dedicated government career service has been strengthened by the provision of life and health insurance benefits, a vastly improved retirement system, a new merit promotion program, and the first effective incentive awards program.

With no sacrifice in efficiency, federal civilian employment since 1953 has been reduced by over a quarter of a million persons.

I am deeply gratified that it was under the urging of this administration that Alaska and Hawaii became our 49th and 50th states.

The problems of low-income farm families received systematic attention for the first time in the rural development program. This program has gone forward in 39 states, yielding higher incomes and a better living for rural people most in need.

Electricity Spreads

The Rural Electrification Administration has helped meet the growing demand for power and telephones in agricultural areas. Ninety-seven per cent of all farms now have central station electric power. Dependence upon federal financing should no longer be necessary.

Agriculture

Despite the difficulties of administering congressional programs which apply outmoded prescriptions and which aggravate rather than solve problems, the past eight years brought notable advances in agriculture.

Farm ownership is at a record high with fewer farmers in a tenant and sharecropper status than at any time in our nation's history.

* * *

The "Food-for-Peace" program has demonstrated how surplus of American food and fiber can be effectively used to feed and clothe the needy abroad.

Aided by this humanitarian program, total agricultural exports have grown from $2.8 billion in 1953 to an average of about $4 billion annually for the past three years.

For 1960, exports are estimated at $4.5 billion, the highest volume on record. Under the Food-for-Peace Program, the largest wheat transaction in history was consummated with India in 1960.

The farm credit administration has been made an independent agency more responsive to the farmer's needs.

The search for new uses for our farm abundance and to develop new crops for current needs has made major progress. Agricultural research appropriations have increased by 171 per cent since 1953.

Farmers are being saved approximately $80 million a year by the repeal in 1956 of federal taxes on gasoline used in tractors and other machinery.

* * *

Since 1953, appropriations have been doubled for county agents, home agents and the extension service.

Eligibility for social security benefits has been extended to farmers and their families.

Yet in certain aspects our agricultural surplus situation is increasingly grave. For example, our wheat stocks now total 1.3 billion bushels. If we did not harvest one bushel of wheat in this coming year, we would still have all we could eat, all we could sell abroad, all we could give away, and still have a substantial carryover.

Extraordinary costs are involved just in management and disposal of this burdensome surplus. Obviously important adjustments must still come.

Congress must enact additional legislation to permit wheat and other farm commodities to move into regular marketing channels in an orderly manner and at the same time afford the needed price protection to the farmer. Only then will agriculture again be free, sound, and profitable.

Natural Resources

New emphasis has been placed on the care of our national parks. A 10-year development program of our national park system—Mission 66—was initiated and 633,000 acres of park land have been added since 1953.

Appropriations for fish and wildlife operations have more than doubled. Thirty-five new refuges, containing 11,342,000 acres, have been added to the national wildlife management system.

Our nation's forests have been improved at the most rapid rate in history.

The largest sustained effort in water resources development in our history has taken place. In the field of reclamation alone, over 50 new projects, or project units, have been authorized since 1953—including the billion-dollar Colorado River storage project.

When all these projects have been completed they will have a storage capacity of nearly 43 million acre-feet—an increase of 50 per cent over the Bureau of Reclamation's storage capacity in mid-1953.

In addition, since 1953 over 150 new navigation-flood-control and multiple-purpose projects of the Corps of Engineers have been started, costing nearly $6 billion.

Soil and water conservation has been advanced as never before. One hundred forty-one projects are now being constructed under the watershed protection program.

Tells Hydro Gains

Hydroelectric power has been impressively developed through a policy which recognizes that the job to be done requires comprehensive development by federal, state, and local governments and private enterprise. Teamwork is essential to achieve this objective.

The Federal Columbia River Power System has grown from two multipurpose dams with a 2.6 million kilowatt capacity to 17 multipurpose projects completed or under construction with an ultimate installed capacity of 8.1 million kilowatts.

After years of negotiations, a Columbia River storage development agreement with Canada now opens the way for early realization of unparalleled power, flood control and resource conservation benefits for the Pacific Northwest. A treaty implementing this agreement will shortly be submitted to the Senate.

* * *

A forsighted and highly successful program for meeting urgent water needs is being carried out by converting salt water to fresh water.

A 75 per cent reduction in the cost of this process has already been realized.

Continuous resource development is essential for our expanding economy. We must continue vigorous, combined federal, state and private programs, at the same time preserving to the maximum extent possible our natural scenic heritage for future generations.

Education, Science

The National Defense Education Act of 1958 is already a milestone in the history of American education. It provides broad opportunities for the intellectual development of all children by strengthening courses of study in science, mathematics, and foreign languages, by developing new graduate programs to train additional teachers, and by providing loans for young people who need financial help to go to college.

The administration proposed on numerous occasions a broad new five-year program of federal aid to help overcome the classroom shortage in public elementary and secondary schools.

Recommendations were also made to give assistance to colleges and universities for the construction of academic and residential buildings to meet future enrollment increases.

* * *

The administration greatly expanded federal loans for building dormitories for students, teachers, and nurses training, a program assisting in the construction of approximately 200,000 living accommodations during the past eight years.

There has been a vigorous acceleration of health, resource and education programs designed to advance the role of the American Indian in our society. Last fall, for example, 91 per cent of the Indian children between the ages of 6 and 18 on reservations were enrolled in school. This is a rise of 12 per cent since 1953.

In the field of science and technology, startling strides have been made by the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In little more than two years, NASA has successfully launched meteorological satellites, such as Tiros I and Tiros II, that promise to revolutionize methods of weather forecasting; demonstrated the feasibility of satellites for global communications by the successful launching of Echo I; produced an enormous amount of valuable scientific data, such as the discovery of the Van Allen radiation belt; successfully launched deep-space probes that maintained communication over the greatest range man has ever tracked; and made real progress toward the goal of manned space flights.

Says U.S. Ahead

These achievements unquestionably make us pre-eminent today in space exploration for the betterment of mankind. I believe the present organizational arrangements in this area, with the revisions proposed last year, are completely adequate for the tasks ahead.

Americans can look forward to new achievements in space exploration.

The near future will hold such wonders as the orbital flight of an astronaut, the landing of instruments on the moon, the launching of the powerful giant Saturn rocket vehicles, and the reconnaissance of Mars and Venus by unmanned vehicles.

The application of atomic energy to industry, agriculture and medicine has progressed from hope and experiment to reality. American industry and agriculture are making increasing use of radioisotopes to improve manufacturing, and crop-raising.

* * *

Atomic energy has improved the ability of the healing professions to combat disease, and holds promise for an eventual increase in man's life span.

Education, science, technology and balanced programs of every kind — these are the roadways to progress. With appropriate federal support, the states and localities can assure opportunities for achieving excellence at all levels of the educational system. And with the federal government continuing to give wholehearted support to basic scientific research and technology, we can expect to maintain our position of leadership in the world.

Civil Rights

The first consequential federal civil rights legislation in 85 years was enacted by Congress on recommendation of the administration in 1957 and 1960.

A new Civil Rights Division in the Department of Justice was already moved to enforce constitutional rights in such areas as voting and the elimination of Jim Crow laws.

Greater equality of job opportunity in federal employment and employment with federal contractors has been effectively provided through the President's Committees on Government Contracts and Government Employment Practices.

* * *

The Civil Rights Commission has undertaken important surveys in the fields of housing, voting and education.

Segregation has been abolished in the armed forces, in veterans' hospitals, in all federal employment, and throughout the District of Columbia — administratively accomplished progress in this field that is unmatched in America's recent history.

This pioneering work in civil rights must go on. Not only because discrimination is morally wrong, but also because its impact is more than national—it is worldwide.

Health and Welfare

Federal medical research expenditures have increased more than fourfold since 1954.

A vast variety of the approaches known to medical science has been explored to find better methods of treatment and prevention of major diseases, particularly heart diseases, cancer, and mental illness.

The control of air and water pollution has been greatly strengthened.

Americans now have greater protection against harmful, unclean, or misrepresented foods, drugs, or cosmetics through a strengthened food and drug administration and by new legislation which requires that food additives be proved safe for human consumption before use.

A newly established Federal Radiation Council, along with the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, analyzes and coordinates information regarding radiological activities which affect the public health.

Medical manpower has been increased by federal grants for teaching and research.

Good Heavens! I Didn't Mean That Red Box

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A man asked a passer-by where to pay the overtime parking ticket he had received.

"In the little red box," was the reply.

And that, said Asst. Fire Chief Tommy Scovill, is why all of Little Rock's downtown firefighting equipment went screaming into the business district Wednesday. The motorist got a fire box instead of the parking fine box.

LAD STEALS THE SHOW — The stage was the new Throgs Neck Bridge, a $92 million span connecting Long Island and the Bronx. The players were thousands who waited afoot and in cars for the official ribbon-cutting ceremony opening the structure. But they were all upstaged by this boy who somehow made his way to the bridge and apparently without any opposition from police or officials, rode his bicycle across the span, waving to helmeted workers on the way. The boy just wheeled away without anyone finding out his identity.

Name Roadside Park After Highway Employe

LANSING (UPI) — A roadside park in the Upper Peninsula has been named in honor of Harry S. Bengry, who is retiring Saturday after almost 42 years with the State Highway Department.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said the designation was placed at a roadside park on U.S. 41 about six miles north of Trenary in the Upper Peninsula. It is 30 miles from Bengry's birthplace at Ishpeming.

Rhode Island, smallest of the states, also has the longest name which is "State of Rhode Island and the Providence Plantations."

Trade Stamp Savers Can Get a Plane (?)

NEW YORK (AP) — America's growing army of trading stamp savers received some new incentive today in the form of a redemption catalog listing a compact car, airplane and sailboat.

These are among 1,500 items offered savers of triple "S" Blue Stamps by the Stop and Save Trading Stamp Corp. of South Hackensack, N.J. The stamps are distributed through 4,000 retail outlets on the Eastern seaboard at the rate of 10 for each $1 of merchandise purchased.

The airplane carries a price tag of 3,000 books of stamps or 3.6 million individual stamps. At the going rate merchandise worth $360,000 would have to be purchased to acquire the necessary number of stamps.

★ ★ ★

The company emphasized that these "big ticket" items are designed for group savings where a number of people pool stamp savings.

The compact car carries a "price tag" of 700 books of stamps and the sailboat 33 books.

The company estimated the average shopper can save a full book of stamps in four to six weeks. At that rate it would take an individual 300 years to save enough stamps for the plane.

Dem Committee Paying Some; Kennedy, Others Shell Out Cash

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-Elect John F. Kennedy's headquarters estimated Wednesday it is costing the debt-ridden Democratic National Committee more than $250,000 to finance the preinaugural business activities of Kennedy and his staff.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, said in response to news conference questions that he couldn't speak for the president-elect on the matter, but that some members of his staff favor enactment of legislation authorizing the government to meet this expense in the future.

Salinger said that in addition to bills being picked up by the national committee, Kennedy — a wealthy man — is paying some of the expenses out of his own pocket. Salinger had no information on the amount.

The press secretary repeated that many other individuals also have been paying all or part of their own expenses.

He added that these include the majority of prospective appointees who have traveled to confer with Kennedy regarding positions in the new administration.

* * *

Also, Salinger said, members of Kennedy-appointed study committees as various matters generally are paying their own bills. He indicated, however, that the national committee, — which came out of the presidential campaign owing between two and three million dollars—is picking up the tab for some of these members.

* * *

"In the period between the (Nov. 8) election and the (Jan. 20) inauguration," Salinger said, "it has cost the Democratic National Committee somewhere in excess of a quarter of a million dollars."

He went on to say there is no provision for the government to meet any of this preinaugural expense.

About one of 20 persons employed in the U.S. has some kind of a job related in the transportation industry.

MAN OF SCIENCE — Jerome B. Wiesner, a native of Detroit and currently an instructor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he is a scientists, has been named by President-Elect Kennedy to be a special assistant for science in the new administration. The 45-year-old University of Michigan graduate headed an eight-man space task force which reported to Kennedy Wednesday that the United States must step up its space efforts.

Jack Taps Scientist From Detroit

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jerome B. Wiesner, President-Elect John F. Kennedy's special assistant for science, is a native of Detroit and a graduate of the University of Michigan.

He is now a professor of communication engineering and electronics research director at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Wiesner, 45, headed an eight-man space task force which reported to Kennedy Wednesday that the United States must step up its space efforts.

Kennedy's headquarters here announced Wiesner's appointment as special assistant to the incoming president when it made public the task force report.

Wiesner had wartime experience in radar work and participated in development of nuclear weapons at the Los Alamos laboratory and the Pacific test range.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A study committee report sharply critical of the Eisenhower administration's space program calls on the Kennedy regime to recognize America's prestige is at stake in the race with the Soviet Union.

The report, made public by President-elect John F. Kennedy Wednesday night without comment, says the odds are heavily against the United States beating the Soviet Union in the contest to put a manned space ship into orbit around the earth.

The report, prepared by Kennedy, urges determined effort and the spending of more money on the space exploration program generally, and particularly on development of more powerful rocket thrust for launching of spacecraft.

The study committee asserted there is "overriding necessity to provide more efficient and effective leadership" for the U.S. space effort.

The Kennedy committee's report said: "Space exploration and exploits have captured the imagination of the peoples of the world. During the next few years the prestige of the United States will in part be determined by the leadership we demonstrate in space activities."

The committe was headed by Prof. Jerome B. Wiesner, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology scientist. In making the group's report public, Kennedy announced appointment of Wiesner as his special assistant for science in the new administration.

"Because of the lag in the development of large boosters, it is very unlikely that we shall be first in placing a man into orbit around the earth," the report said.

"While the successful orbiting of a man about the earth is not an end unto itself, it will provide a necessary stepping stone toward the establishment of a space station and for the eventual manned exploration of the moon and the planets.

"The ultimate goal of this kind of endeavor would, of course, be an actual landing of man on the moon or a planet. It is not possible to accomplish such a mission with any vehicles that are presently under development."

The U.S. Project Mercury has as its officially stated goals a short, manned space flight in April or May and a manned craft orbiting the earth late this year. But the project reportedly is considerably behind schedule.

The Soviets have announced no target date. But Soviet Premier Khrushchev said last September they were ready to fire a man into space.

20 Years of Toll House Cookies

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It has been said that there is no true American cookie; that all our cookie recipes have come from the old World. We would take exception to that and nominate the Toll House cookie as an honest-to-goodness American cookie.

This is the 20th Anniversary of the Toll House cookie. From what we have seen of the tastes of children, it is by far the favorite cookie Mom can make.

Colonial cooks made a simple drop butter cookie called Butter Drop-Dos. Roadside inns like the Toll House in Whitman, Mass. served these cookies to their patrons.

In 1941 these cookies were still on the menu of the Toll house, but with an innovation. Some clever cook had conceived the idea of chopping up sweet chocolate and adding it to the batter. Surprisingly enough, the chocolate didn't melt. Visitors liked this idea and tried it themselves at home.

The only drawback was the somewhat strenuous chore of chopping up the chocolate. But soon an enterprising food company put out little morsels of semi-sweet chocolate.

Toll House cookies have never lost their popularity. Women have gone on from this first recipe to use chocolate morsels in many ways. They are as much a staple on the shelf as vanilla or cocoa.

Let's all make a sweeping curtsey to the inventor of the Toll House cookie and to the companies that provide us with the chocolate.

Toll House Cookies

½ cup butter or shortening
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon water
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped nuts
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels

Cream together butter and sugars. Stir in egg; add vanilla and water. Sift together flour, baking soda and salt. Stir into sugar mixture. Add nuts and semi-sweet chocolate morsels; mix well. Drop by half teaspoonfuls on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Approximately 50 cookies.

COOKIE LOLLIPOPS: Follow directions for preparing Toll House Cookies. Increase water to 1½ teaspoons. Reduce flour to ¾ cup and add 1 cup rolled oats with flour mixture; substitute ½ cup seedless raisins for chopped nuts. Color handles of 5-inch wooden spoons by dipping into water which has been tinted with red, yellow, green or blue food coloring.

Place spoons 4 inches apart on greased cookie sheet. Drop cookie mixture by tablespoons onto bowls of spoons. Bake for approximately 12 minutes. Remove gently while warm with wide spatula. Cool before serving. Approximately 1½.

★ ★ ★

HOLIDAY TREATS: Follow directions for preparing Toll House Cookies. Substitute 1 teaspoon grated orange or lemon rind for vanilla; add 1 jar (4 ounces) mixed candied fruit with semi-sweet morsels. Bake, as above.

★ ★ ★

CHOCOLATE COCONUT CHEWS: Follow directions for Toll House Cookies. Substitute ⅓ cup flaked coconut for nuts. Spread batter in greased 9x13-inch pan. Bake as above. Cool. Cut into 1½-inch squares.

★ ★ ★

CHOCOLATE CRISS CROSSES: Follow directions for Toll House Cookies. Add ½ cup peanut butter with egg; omit nuts. Form into 1-inch balls; place on ungreased baking sheet. Press with back of a fork to make criss-crosses. Bake as above.

Short-cut Fudgy

2 6-ounce packages or 1 12-ounce (1½ cups) package (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
½ cup sweetened condensed milk
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat. Combine milk, water and vanilla. Stir into chocolate until smooth; do not beat. Spread in a greased 9x5x1¼-inch pan made with heavy-duty aluminum foil, or drop by teaspoonfuls on heavy-duty aluminum foil. Chill until firm. Approximately 1¼ pounds.

Meringue Surprises

2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels

Combine egg whites, vanilla and water, salt; beat until stiff but not dry. Beat in sugar gradually until stiff and satiny. Fold in semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a very slow oven (300 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Approximately 3½ dozen.

Peaches and Cheese

Add bubbly cheese - broiled peaches to a platter of hamburgers or meat loaf. Fill centers of drained canned cling peach halves with sweet pickle relish. Sprinkle shredded cheese over relish and broil until cheese melts and browns.

To loosen fat spattered in the oven, pour about one-half cup of ammonia into a saucer and allow to stand in a cold closed oven overnight. Next morning wipe thoroughly with an ammonia-dampened cloth and again with clear warm

Beef on Rye Bread Put Under Broiler

This sandwich variation is perfect for quickie lunches or Sunday night suppers. You often have the ingredients on hand, so you can prepare this dish on the spur of the moment. Other breads can be easily substituted.

Beef Rye Sandwich Specialty

1 pound ground beef
½ cup grated American cheese
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon finely sliced green onions or chopped onion
8 to 9 slices rye bread

Mix ground beef, cheese, salt, pepper and onion. Toast rye bread slices on both sides. Spread meat mixture ¼ inch thick, evenly, on toasted bread. Broil about 3 inches from the heat until browned, 5 to 7 minutes. 5 to 7 sandwiches.

Gourmet Peas Are Unique

Gourmet cookery needn't mean hours spent in the kitchen . . . nor a strain on the food budget. A creative hand, a spirit of adventure and a chart of herbs and spices are the main requirements for lifting familiar vegetables from the usual "buttered or creamed" level to gourmet status. Pluck a package of frozen peas from the freezer and you are well on your way to a bit of creative cookery which will establish your reputation as a gourmet cook!

Peas have long been the favorite vegetable of good cooks 'round the world . . . partly because they lend themselves so admirably to imaginative treatment and combine so pleasantly with other foods. One such taste treat is a combination of vine-fresh flavored peas and cucumber in a delicately flavored tarragon sour cream sauce. Its delicious flavor, so pleasing to the palate, belies the speed and ease which it is made!

Peas in Sour Cream Sauce

1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas
2 large cucumbers, pared and thinly sliced (about 1½ cups)
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon tarragon leaves
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ cup salad dressing
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine peas, cucumber, water, tarragon leaves and salt in heavy saucepan. Cover tightly; cook over low heat until peas are tender, 5 to 8 minutes. Drain. Combine sour cream, salad dressing and lemon juice. Warm over very low heat, stirring constantly. Stir peas and cucumbers into sauce. Serve immediately.

Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Bargains in Pork Ease January Budget Blues

January is a good month for pork. Supplies are slightly smaller than in January 1960 and prices are higher than those a year ago. But you may well find yourself paying the lowest prices of the winter for pork in January.

If you choose pork picnic it will yield two servings per pound for about 15 to 20 cents per person reports the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. The picnic may look like a small ham, but it isn't. Pork picnic comes from the front leg and shoulder while ham comes from the back leg.

Retailers report that wholesale beef prices are up considerably on all cuts except ribs. You will notice little change on overall beef prices, but it may pay to check these cuts which stores feature. Standing rib roasts, chuck roasts and ground beef are included this week.

Although wholesale lamb prices are up slightly, you'd never guess this by checking retail prices. Leg of lamb is 20 to 25 cents per serving; shoulder 15 to 28 cents per serving.

Fryers and more fryers will continue to be the story for some weeks to come. Some retailers say fryers are slightly down in price this week. You'll find a price variation of about 10 cents per pound between markets.

There's good news in the produce department again. Increasing supplies of green peppers, fresh tomatoes and tangerines mean you'll find these foods for less money than a week ago in many stores. There are also heavy supplies of cabbage and lettuce.

The hot house tomato season is about over, but there is an exceptionally heavy crop of vine ripe tomatoes in Florida. Florida reports the heaviest crop and finest quality in years for both the vine ripe and repack tomatoes.

CA APPLES

Many fresh Michigan apples are now marked "CA" on the three and four pound bag. Growers report 600,000 more bushels of apples were placed in controlled atmosphere storage last fall. This will insure fresh McIntosh Jonathan and Red Delicious apples until late spring. You'll rate CA apples excellent in quality and retail prices are unchanged.

To keep that fresh flavor and crisp texture, apples should be placed in the home refrigerator, or some other cool place. Bananas imports remain heavy. Shoppers may find a wide price and quality variation, however quality is generally good.

There is a good supply of fresh mushrooms from Michigan and Pennsylvania. Cost is about 50 cents per pound. You can expect two cups of cooked mushrooms from one pound of fresh mushrooms.

Retailers are praising the quality and sizing of Michigan potatoes. Have you looked at this thrifty vegetable buy at about 4 or 5 cents a pound?

Roll Up Pancake With Lobster

If rolled pancakes come to mind only in connection with dessert in a French restaurant, you're losing yourself out of a good menu bet.

Of course you can make them. Even a standard pancake mix will produce pancakes for rolling if you add more milk than is called for on the package. But we suggest that you try making your own from this recipe.

South African Rolled Pancakes

1 (4-oz.) South African rock lobster tails
2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1¼ cups milk
½ cup cream
1½ tablespoons chives, finely snipped
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of white pepper

Drop frozen South African rock lobster tails into boiling, salted water. When water reboils, lower heat and parboil no longer than 2 minutes. Drain immediately and drench with cold water. (Rock lobster should not be thoroughly done—it finishes cooking in the sauce.) Cut away thin underside membrane and gently pull meat from shell. Cut meat into bite-size chunks.

Melt butter in saucepan, stir in flour, add milk and cream gradually, stirring constantly to make a smooth cream sauce. Add chives, mustard, salt, pepper and rock lobster meat. Heat together thoroughly.

Pancakes

2 eggs
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1⅓ cups milk
2 tablespoons shortening, melted

Beat eggs, sugar and salt together with rotary beater. Sift flour and baking powder together. Gradually add flour, milk and melted shortening to eggs. Beat thoroughly until batter is smooth. Pour just enough batter to cover bottom of heated, buttered 8-inch griddle. Cook on both sides until browned. Fill with rock lobster mixture and roll. Yield: 12 thin pancakes; 6 servings.

Cranberries, Apricots Go Together

Today's homemakers could teach the Indians a few more cranberry tricks. Here's one that teams cranberries with apricots for a dessert, a recipe for which the Indians would gladly have swapped Manhattan Island.

Pour the syrup from a No. 2½ size can of apricots into a sauce pan and add one pound of washed cranberries. Cover and simmer until the berries burst. Next step is to add the apricots, but set aside a half apricot for each serving to be used as a garnish.

Puree the cranberry - apricot mixture by pressing through a sieve or collander, or whirling in an electric blender. Add just enough water to the pureed mixture to bring measure to 4½ cups.

Pour 2 cups of this mixture into a sauce pan and bring to boil; then add 2 packages of lemon - flavored gelatin and stir until dissolved. Then add the remaining puree. Allow to cool; stir well to blend gelatin throughout the mixture and pour into molds.

Educator Picks Flaws in Russian School System

By MARGARET BROWN

In keeping with their 1961 theme, "Understanding Unfamiliar Cultures," members of Alpha Omicron Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma Society, heard a talk "Big Reforms in Soviet Education" at a guest night dinner Wednesday in Devon Gables.

The chapter's own Mrs. Huber L. Lear of Detroit, who last summer was among 57 educators of the Comparative Educational Society participating in a field study and seminar planned and directed by the Trade Union of Educational and Scientific Workers of the U.S.S.R., addressed the group.

★ ★ ★

The expressive Mrs. Lear aroused keen audience interest with her observations that were in sharp contrast to the prevailing American conception of the Soviet educational system.

★ ★ ★

The "big reform," she discovered, did not involve any increase in the "volume of knowledge," but rather, a program combining regular class work and polytechnical education (or industrial arts and sciences) in which the factories would cooperate. The new ruling also made eight years of schooling compulsory.

NOT PERFECT

In many areas, she reported, the visiting educators were astonished to find teacher shortages, crowded class rooms, lack of materials and teaching aids and poor equipment.

In the case of failing students, she said, "We got the feeling failure was a reflection on the teacher, rather than the pupil."

An intense "love of labor" is evident in the Soviet Union, she added, citing the adage "Every good Communist has callouses on his hands." College students, the Soviets hope, will be so imbued with the Communist doctrine that they will work all day, study all night, and not be tired the next morning. Many of the school's maintenance tasks are done by students who are graded for their proficiency in this janitorial capacity, she added.

Russian children begin first grade studies at the age of seven, she said. Although many youngsters' schooling actually begins at three months when their mothers must leave them in the state's nursery schools to join the huge Soviet work force.

The aim of the Soviet Ministry of Education, according to Mrs. Lear, is to have 85 per cent of the country's students attend boarding schools through the 11th grade. Russian educators prefer that the children not return to their parents. "They find the Communist doctrine is more easily taught away from the home atmosphere."

Mrs. Lear said that during one seminar — when the visiting teachers told of the equality that exists in America —they honestly thought that the group of Soviets ". . . believed that we were spies sent by our government."

MUST LIVE IT

Mrs. Lear expressed her joy that the University of Georgia had opened its formerly segregated doors to two Negro students this week. "If we really believe in equal opportunity, we've got to live it," she stressed. "Bigotry in America is meat and drink to the Communists!"

Commenting on the strict censorship of American literature in Russia, she said, "Anything that places Americans in a degrading or demoralizing position is readily available — and the tragedy is, the people believe this!" The caliber of American novels placed in the Soviets' hands is typified by such works as "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy" and "Elmer Gantry."

The chapter's executive board members were hostesses for the meeting, Mrs. Arthur W. VanRiper of Royal Oak, president, announced the annual recruitment tea April 20 at Ferndale High School.

Family Service Series Starts

Community Pays for Misery It Harbors

Misery and unhappy living can be expensive. If it goes untended, the community can end up paying part of the cost through its tax dollars and support of more jails, mental hospitals, institutions for delinquents. Prevention of the emotional upheaval of families should be in our day and age, a grave concern for each individual of our society.

★ ★ ★

Betty and Bill met when they were young. Bill went off to war and Betty promised to be faithful and wait for him. She waited, but also ran around with other men.

Her home was not happy; an indifferent mother and she had an alcoholic and abusive father, who consequently accused her of being "no good". She went out nights because she was "lonely" and wanted to run from the turmoil at home.

When Bill came home, she hid all this from him, but after they were married, he heard other fellows talking about his wife. The roof blew off. Bill swore he would make her remember her past and he would walk all over her for the rest of her life.

Their family grew to four children as Bill worked his way through college and Betty "slaved," keeping a house going, being a mother, keeping expenses down and generally being a good wife. Betty hoped that Bill would see that she did love him, and hoped that he would forgive her.

Is marriage a fifty-fifty proposition? Actually, it's not such an even equation. There is need for flexibility on the part of each spouse.

Flexibility is needed in order for each one to accept not only the strengths but also the weaknesses in each other and help build up self-confidence in the other.

This cannot be accomplished by trying to reform your partner or by carrying over into the marriage unhappy past experiences that will affect your reaction to some similar experience in the marriage.

One needs to be able to absorb the occasional bad temper and to know that people respond more favorably to positive attention rather than criticism and nagging.

Couples need to share feeling frankly, whether they be of affection, perplexity or irritation. Deceit and pretense will not help a marriage to survive.

A successful marriage often has been described as a pair of scissors so joined together that they often move in opposite directions but punish anything that comes between them.

Some of these ideas can be seen in Bill's and Betty's marriage. When this couple first was referred to the agency, Bill was drinking and running around. Betty was crying all the time and could not control the children. She was nagging Bill.

Bill and Betty had brought into the marriage their own past experiences and feelings. These were cloudy to them, not too easily recognizable.

They needed the objective help of a trained caseworker to sort out their feelings, to see those they could still use and mobilize and those that needed to be discarded in making a good sound marriage, not only for themselves but for their children.

So much of what we have said applies to this couple; willingness to forgive, ability to accept both good and bad in each other, the knowledge that people respond more to a pat on the back than to nagging and ridicule.

If this couple had not sought help, the children (who were beginning to show signs of emotional upset by warning temper tantrums and lying) would have grown into emotionally unstable adults.

Bill and Betty through the interviews were helped to see that what basically was hindering their adjustments, and how they could be more mature adults in marriage.

Thus, a marriage was saved and the children given a stable base (a happy home) in which they could grow toward mature adulthood.

The next article will discuss the importance of child development in family life. Don't miss it.

★ ★ ★

(Editor's note: The prevention of social and emotional breakdown is the concern of Family Service of Oakland County, a member agency of the Pontiac Area United Fund. This is the first of six articles in which the agency will direct the spotlight on causes of unhappy living. The material and case history in the articles is disguised to protect the families served.)

Abby Says: Take Mom's Advice

Be on Time and Be on the Job

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am confused about one thing although I am 16 and have been dating quite a while. When your date comes to pick you up, aren't you supposed to be ready?

I always am and my mother says that is correct. My girlfriends say if you make your date wait a while (say about 15 or 20 minutes) it will show him you aren't over anxious and he will appreciate you more. I'd like your opinion.

ON TIME

DEAR ON TIME: Your mother is right. I once knew a young lady who made a habit of keeping her date waiting in the parlor because she wanted him to "appreciate her more." He learned to "appreciate" the company of her younger sister so much that he asked her out and eventually married her.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My wife came home the other day with a purchase that provoked an argument. She bought several pairs of men's briefs with an elastic panel in front that looks something like a lady's panty girdle. When I protested she said, "Don't be silly, if it's all right for women to hold themselves in that way, why shouldn't men? Most men get pearshaped after 40 anyway."

PAUNCHY

DEAR PAUNCHY: I'm on the side that holds 'em in in front.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is so embarrassing I can't talk to anyone about it, so I'm writing you. My husband is 47 and for the past year he has been hoarding the most objectionable pictures of half-dressed and naked women. He carries a billfold full of them and I've found several bunches hidden under the mattress and in his workshop. He promised he'd quit it, but he continues.

I think there is something wrong with his mind. Should I call a doctor? Or will the condition cure itself in time? I am afraid to live with him.

MOTHER OF SIX

DEAR MOTHER: Your husband is sick. Ask your family physician and arrange for the treatment your husband needs. This condition is not uncommon and it doesn't "cure" itself.

DEAR ABBY: This might help the little lady who signed herself "TROUBLED CONSCIOUS": Six years ago I was troubled because I found out my husband was lying to cover up for his buddy. But this didn't bother me half as much as when I found out his buddy was lying to cover up for him.

ALSO TROUBLED

DEAR ABBY: When I met Rita, exactly one year ago, I knew I had finally found the girl I wanted to marry. She works were I work, is quiet, refined, and beautiful in a natural way.

Rita is 26 and a widow. I am 28 and also eligible. I love her and she says she loves me. When I asked her to marry me she said yes, and gave me her CHEEK to kiss.

Abby, this woman has never let me kiss her on the lips! She says that when a woman gives her lips she should be willing to give herself completely to a man, and she is waiting for marriage.

She insists she is not cold, but kissing is part of love-making and she doesn't believe in starting something she doesn't intend to finish. Would I be crazy to marry her?

T. J.—

DEAR T. J.: You'd be crazy not to.

Worry Over Clothes Marks a Gal's Age

By RUTH MILLETT

It is normal to want to look attractive but the person who is extremely concerned with clothing and appearance may well have neurotic tendencies, according to a recent study at one of the large universities.

Well, maybe so. But with a woman, preoccupation with clothes and looks seems to be more a matter of age than of emotional maladjustment.

Little girls are often as unconcerned about how they look as boys of the same age. But once girls reach the teen age, their looks become so important that a too-short haircut or a hairdo that droops, or having to wear a dress that isn't quite right is a major catastrophe.

Then they grow up, marry, settle down and lose their preoccupation with a mirror. During the young, adult years a woman doesn't have time to be overly concerned with her looks. She doesn't demand perfection of her face or her clothes.

Then come the years of the first gray hairs, the first wrinkles, the first signs of middle age—and once again a woman begins to be preoccupied with her own appearance.

She begins to shop more carefully and to set more store by clothes. She begins to spend more time before her mirror, trying out new make-up tricks, new hairdos, new styles—all in a determined effort to "do something" about herself.

At this age she is inclined to be extravagant about clothes, and an easy mark for anything the beauty salons and cosmetic counters are pushing. It's a "I might as well try it, what have I to lose?" state of mind.

But when the middle years pass a woman once again settles down to putting her own looks in proper perspective. She still wants to look as nice as possible—but her looks aren't all-important.

Bank Staff Entertains Clubwomen

Lose 20 Pounds in 8 Weeks

You Can Do It if You Try

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Eight weeks is such a very short time out of woman's life, but it can make such an amazing difference in the way she looks! In eight weeks you can lose 20 pounds beautifully and safely.

You can greatly improve your posture, your skin and your hair, and take inches from oversize measurements. Eight weeks is long enough to see what a terrimic impact a daily beauty routine can have, but is short enough not to be discouraging.

I started my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon because I feel that many women put off self-improvement because they do not know how to go about it, and even more important, because they do not know what results to expect in a given length of time. Vagueness is Cheartening.

* * *

Each year thousands of women join Marathon to see how much they improve their appearance in eight weeks time, and every year I received wonderful and exciting letters about their results, and how their lives have been influenced for the good.

* * *

My Marathon booklet tells you how to analyze your figure, gives you a calorie chart, exercises for the most prevalent feminine figure faults, and brings you a lot more information you will need in order to become your most attractive self in just eight weeks.

Most women are affected by their appearance, some drastically. If a woman feels that she does not look attractive she may become self-conscious. This is reflected in personality and even in posture. It certainly affects her happiness.

On the other hand, when a woman knows that she is at her best it gives her self-confidence which perks up her personality, outlook and happiness.

Believing that figure and personality improvement just naturally go hand in hand, I added a personality development chart to my Marathon booklet a few years ago. You can check yourself with this each day to see how much improvement you can make in personality as well as your figure in eight weeks, if you wish to do so.

If you would like to join my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Gym Night Held by Fashionettes

Fashionette Club members observed a "gym night" Tuesday evening in Adah Shelly Library.

Mrs. Martinus Hanson earned the trophy for the greatest weight loss. Last week's reducing honors were shared by Mrs. Wava Forker and Mrs. James King.

Newly elected president Mrs. Frank Reichert has named as committee chairmen: Mrs. Daniel Navarro, telephone; Mrs. Edwin Bennett, kitchen; Mrs. John Reichert, sympathy and relief; Mrs. Edna Mertz, hospitality; and Mrs. Virgil Lewis, contest.

Next week the club will bowl after the business and weighing-in session.

Social Happenings Around Birmingham

By MARY ELLEN MEAD

With an eye to brightening post-holiday doldrums, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. (Mike) Maxwell of Mohegan Drive will be hosts Jan. 28 for cocktails and supper at Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Among those invited are Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Philip F. DeBeaubien, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Lyon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert VanderKloot, the Edwin O'Learys, of Grosse Pointe; Mr. and Mrs. Emory Dearborn and the Harry Hoyts Jr.

Others include Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brainblett, Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. William Saefkow, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Collins Jr., the Howard Maedels, the Elmer Gormsens and Mr. and Mrs. Ben D. Mills.

The Mills, incidentally, are looking ahead to February when they'll leave their Vaughan Road home to take off for Arizona for a week. It's to be business for Ben, fun for Helen. Later, during spring vacation from Brookside, they plan to go back for three weeks with Ben Jr., and Bobby.

* * *

In the meantime, Helen continues to keep tab on Camp Oakland, her favorite charity, and will be among those attending a luncheon and board of directors meeting at the camp on Jan. 21.

Others present will be Judge Arthur Moore, Carl O. Barton, Gerry Martin, Robert Chambers, Mrs. John St. Clair and Walter Gehrke.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin B. Sickles (Gloria Morrison, of Detroit), of Hickory Hollow Drive, announce the birth of a daughter, Heather Anne, on Jan. 2. Heather doesn't know it yet, but come summer she'll be the center of a family reunion. She and her brother Brian, and her sister Loren Brook, will help entertain their cousins Ricky and Frank Sutton, who intend to spend the summer in Birmingham.

The boys are coming north with their parents, the Frederick I. Suttons, Jr., of Kinston, N.C., (she is the former Helen Morrison) and are hoping by that time "Aunt Gloria" will have been able to rent a house for them, preferably, they agree, "a cottage on a nearby lake."

* * *

The two ladies flew home via jet, the gentlemen preferring a more leisurely, sight-seeing tour by automobile.

They lived in a man's world for four days, pulling in at truck stops for some of their meals, driving the 23-mile racing strip at Daytona, "doing" Marineo Land in St. Augustine and the ruby mines in Kentucky and stopping off at Lookout Mountain in Tennessee to see Confederama, part of the nation's current program commemorating the Civil War. Bradley reports the whole deal was "real cool."

Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Simpson of Henley Drive are thinking of vacationing, too.

They plan to leave Feb. 7 by plane to spend two weeks in Florida and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Girl Scout Leaders to Assemble

Members of the Waterford Girl Scout Leaders Association will have a chance to learn folk dances and scout songs for use in troop meetings when they meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the Community Center in Waterford Township.

All area girl scout troop leaders as well as other interested adults have been invited to attend. The object of the organization is to acquaint leaders, assistant leaders and committee members with scout activities and provide an opportunity for exchanging ideas.

* * *

Plans for the annual March Rally and the Spring Camporolla will also be discussed.

The U.S. Supreme Court returned only 110 opinions in 1948 which was the least number since 1923.

'He' Orders the Dinner for 'Her'

By The Emily Post Institute

QUESTION: When dining in a restaurant, does the man order for the women? There were three couples dining and each person gave his (or her) own order to the waiter and one of the women questioned it. Is it permissible for a woman to give her order direct to the waiter?

ANSWER: Ordinarily a man asks his woman guest what she would like, and then gives the order for both of them to the waiter. If there are a number of guests at a table d'hote restaurant where each diner chooses several dishes and it would be difficult for the host to remember which each of his guests wishes, he asks the waiter to take the individual orders.

QUESTION: I was divorced several years ago and have since remarried. My daughter from my first marriage is about to become engaged and I would like to know how the engagement announcement should read?

ANSWER: The announcement would read. "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, announce the engagement of her daughter, Mary Brown, to .... etc. Miss Brown is also the daughter of Mr. George Brown of Richmond, Virginia."

QUESTION: One of my girl friends is going to be married soon for the second time. At the age of 18 she eloped. This marriage lasted only a year and a half. Because of the suddenness of her first marriage, no showers were given for her. I would like to know if it would be proper to give a shower for her at this time or are showers given for a first bride only?

ANSWER: As no showers were given for her at the time of her first marriage, it will be quite all right to invite her closest friends to a shower for her at this time.

* * *

QUESTION: For the past two years I have received a slip for my birthday from a friend in another state. Both slips are beautiful but they are a whole-size too small for me. In my notes of thanks to her I never mentioned anything about the slips being too small.

I had hoped that she would write and ask me if the size was right, but she did not so I didn't feel as though I should mention anything about it. Will you please tell me what would be the proper thing to do to avoid this happening again.

ANSWER: The next time you write to your friend, you might bemoan the fact that you are putting on weight at such a rate that you can't wear her beautiful slips any more, and have to pocket your pride and acknowledge that instead of being a girlish 12, you are now a plump 14.

Have You Tried This?

Make a Batch of Fudge Without Any Beating

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today's recipe comes from a Holly resident, Minnie E. Gordon. We had sent her some information about a cookbook she requested; in return she sent us this interesting fudge recipe.

Thank you, Miss Gordon.

FUDGE
By Minnie E. Gordon

2 cups granulated sugar
1½ cups water
6 tablespoons cocoa
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts

Boil sugar, water and cocoa until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Cream butter or margarine with flour. Pour boiling mixture over creamed mixture. Blend. Add vanilla and nuts. Pour quickly into buttered 8-inch pan. Let cool and cut into squares.

You may substitute chunky peanut butter (about ¼ cup) for the nuts.

Sirbaugh-McReynolds

Honeymoon in Michigan

MRS. GARY O. SIRBAUGH

A mantilla-type veil of French silk illusion, bordered with Belgian lace, complemented the gown of white chiffon velvet chosen by Paulette Lynne McReynolds for her Saturday marriage to Gary O. Sirbaugh of Midland.

The Rev. George Kennedy, recently of the Belgian Congo mission fields, performed the ceremony in the First Baptist Church before a background of potted palms and candelabra. Altar flowers were white gladioli and pompons.

Receiving some 300 guests in the church parlors were the Clyde McReynolds of Devonshire Road, Bloomfield Highlands and the H. O. Sirbaughs of South Francis Street, parents of the newlyweds.

Designed along classic lines, the bride's gown featured a wide cummerbund of seed pearl scrolls repeated along the scoop neckline. The bouffant skirt fullness, falling from a bustle back, swept into a chapel train. She held a sheaf of calla lilies tied with a silk cord.

Pamela Huntley was her cousin's honor maid. Bridesmaids were Judy Yeager and Susan Hearn and Glorida Stoykovich of Royal Oak, former college classmates of the bride. They wore bodices of plum velvet with skirts of matching peau satin and carried orchid pompons combined with purple heather. Their headbands were of rhinestones.

* * *

Leaving for a Northern Michigan honeymoon, the new Mrs. Sirbaugh was wearing a brown wool sheath dress with mink trim and matching accessories.

The couple will live in Midland and the bride is enrolled at Tri-County College in Bay City. She attended Taylor University and Michigan State University Oakland.

Mrs. McReynolds appeared in a sheath dress of plum velvet and satin with three-quarter length sleeves and jewelry neckline. Her flowers were pink Carol Amling roses. Garnet roses accented Mrs. Sirbaugh's powder blue silk crepe sheath dress worn with white accessories.

The first State Forestry Commission was created in California in 1885, followed shortly by Colorado, Ohio and New York.

Rock 'n' Roll Rocks 'Em Into Dreamland

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Most teen-agers in the country profess to be ardent music lovers.

But it all depends on how you define music.

The music that teen-agers love best is still rock 'n' roll. No other sound even comes close.

In a nationwide survey of teen-aged musical tastes, we learned that 90 per cent of the girls considered themselves music lovers. The boys were a bit more modest—only 86 per cent made that claim.

Both boys and girls picked rock 'n' roll as their favorites, followed by jazz, pops, ballads, classics and show tunes.

* * *

The survey bore out the contentions of the recording industry that teen-age girls are the pace setters for their age group in musical matters.

BUY RECORDS

The girls give rock 'n' roll its biggest boost (48 per cent choosing it as their favorite music compared with 37 per cent of the boys), and the girls buy the most records, own the most records and are more likely to play a musical instrument than the boys.

* * *

The boys, as might be suspected, are more addicted to jazz than girls (33 per cent to 28 per cent), but it was surprising to find that boys are a bit more apt to listen to classical music than the girls (17 per cent to 14 per cent).

* * *

Nearly half of the youngsters interviewed (54 per cent of the girls and 42 per cent of the boys) said they were record collectors. Of these, 44 per cent of the girls and 25 per cent of the boys had a collection of 100 records or less. Among real avid collectors—those with 100 or more records—the boys held the edge, 17 per cent to 10 per cent.

RADIO FAVORITE

Radio remains by a wide margin the favorite listening post for teen-aged music fans. Again, girls set the pace and called the tune, with 66 per cent voting for radio as their favorite musical media, compared with 59 per cent of the boys.

Boys are slightly more inclined than girls to listen to their musical favorites on hi-fi (16 per cent to 12 per cent).

* * *

But the biggest musical battle between the sexes was fought over the question of whether the old songs were better than the new songs. In each case, however, the youngsters were talking about rock 'n' roll.

* * *

Two-thirds of the girls said they liked the new rock 'n' roll numbers better. Only 36 per cent voted for the oldies.

With the boys, it was just the opposite: 41 per cent yearned for the good old days of rock 'n' roll and only 27 per cent were willing to go along with the new models.

In case you're wondering what's the difference between the new and the old rock 'n' roll, the distinction seems to lie in the songs that were popular before Elvis Presley went into the Army and the songs that have made the grade since his honorable discharge.

LIKES THE NEW

"I like the new songs because I prefer to be up-to-date," argued 17-year-old Linda Tobin of South Bend, Ind.

Speaking for the male contingent, 16-year-old John Hedges of Fairibault, Minn., attacked the new music as "stereotyped" and defended the oldies on grounds that "they have been tested by time."

* * *

Quite a few of the teen-agers interviewed were refrshingly frank about asssssing their own musical talent. Of the 35 per cent who said they played some kind of musical instrument, 7 per cent of both boys and girls admitted they played "poorly."

* * *

Among girl musicians, 30 per cent said they played "fairly well" and 41 per cent said "quite well." Again, the boys were a bit more modest: 59 per cent figured they played "fairly well" and only 32 per cent answered "quite well."

But the boys had more hopes for improvement—47 per cent said they planned to continue their lessons, while 78 per cent of the girls said they probably would drop out sooner or later.

* * *

The piano is still far and away the most popularly played musical instrument among teen-agers taking lessons, followed by clarinet and guitar and then by bongo drums, a relative newcomer into the musical lists.

* * *

The survey showed that boys have just about given up the violin, although it remains popular with musically inclined girls. There were no girl drummers or trombonists in the survey sample, and not a single budding Fritz Kreisler among the boys.

Quite a few of the youngsters interviewed claimed to be lovers of both classical music and rock 'n' roll. This may seem like a contradiction in terms, but they had their reasons.

* * *

"I like rock 'n' roll to dance to, and the classics to listen to," explained 14-year-old Janet Cone of Goshen, Conn.

Bonnie Swersey, a 16-year-old New Yorker, had an even more interesting answer: "I love rock 'n' roll. I love the classics. Both put me in dreamland."

Perhaps the most intriguing answer of all came from a Chicago lad who shall remain nameless:

* * *

"I don't have much of an ear for music, but I love rock 'n' roll."

Business' Net Results Not So Bad

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street is finding plenty of good news among the bad these days as the profit reports roll in.

The big drop in profit margins that depressed the stock market some six months ago seems to have been halted. Fourth-quarter earnings mostly held at third-quarter levels, and many companies say they expect the first three months of 1961 to show the same leveling trend.

* * *

Corporations announcing profit gains in 1960 over 1959 outnumber by a slim margin those reporting declines.

* * *

And in the reports Wall Street is finding still further proof of how uneven the business slowdown has been—many industries trudging steadily upward as others lagged. And also showing up is further evidence of a greater role for service industries, which mostly are advancing while the manufacturing ones often are ailing.

Among the first 118 nonfinancial corporations to report on their fiscal 1960 earnings, 64 show gains over the previous year and 54 report declines.

BANKS UP

The banks and other financial institutions mostly report record or near record earnings. The railroads, however, are trailing badly. The utilities are expected to show modest gains when their full year reports are in. The one giant to report so far, American Telephone & Telegraph, shows an increase of 9.5 per cent in the 12 months ending Nov. 30.

* * *

The reports are getting special scrutiny today, not only by the stock market but also by government agencies trying to gauge their tax collections, and by business planners looking for any clue as to 1961 prospects.

* * *

With AT&T counted in, the 118 early birds show a combined gain of 5.1 per cent for their fiscal years—in most cases ending before the calendar year. But the phone company's profits of $1.24 billion was more than double that of the other 117 combined. It was also higher than General Motor's $1.19-billion profit in 1955, which until now has stood as the record for American business.

The other 117—without AT&T—mostly manufacturing or processing but with some retail and service companies included, report combined 1960 fiscal earnings of $432,880,000 after taxes, a decline of 5.6 per cent from the earnings of the same companies in the previous year. Big declines by some of the 54 laggards outweighed the gains by the 63 advancing.

With railroads yet to be heard from for 1960, the Association of American Railroads estimates their profits in the first 11 months at $393 million down 18.8 per cent from the same period in 1959 and 25.5 per cent from the first 11 months of 1958.

Wall Street is taking comfort from the many corporations who have braked the slide in profit margins, which was sharp in the spring and early summer. Many firms have been able to cut costs, such as inventory carrying charges. Others have pushed the more popular products or services in their diversified activities.

* * *

And in spite of some dire predictions about the months ahead, more business executives are saying that they expect a pickup in new orders soon, with output gains to follow, and also better profits.

But they admit that in the current three months, profits may be level with the end of 1960 but still look bad against the many records set early in that year.

* * *

Total cash dividends in 1960 kept ahead of 1959. In some cases companies with declining earnings maintained the old dividend rates, believing a profit turn was in sight. But the increase in total dividend payments last year was less than in the previous year.

Adding it up, if business is slow today than many felt, the net results are still pretty encouraging.

Health Now $25 Billion Business in United States

NEW YORK (UPI)—Keeping Americans alive and well is a $25 billion business.

That is the amount spent annually by the public in the form of fees or charges, health insurance premiums, voluntary contributions and tax money for health projects.

It breaks down to $137 a year for every man, woman and child in the United States, according to the first issue of medicine at work as a separate publication from the journal of the American Medical Association.

Four million people devote either all or part of their earning hours to the health of individuals in this country, the booklet said.

That is one out of every 16 persons who work and does not include volunteers.

* * *

The key individual in the multi-billion dollar operation is the physician but he is not alone in this field of health.

There are fewer than 250,000 physicians in the United States, and little more than half of them are in full-time private practice.

There also are nurses and writers, pharmacists and research workers, dentists and suppliers, sanitation engineers and social workers, therapists and medicine makers.

And their numbers are growing by leaps and bounds. Since the turn of the century, the publication noted, the number of those employed in some phase of health has increased at a rate five times faster than the population growth as a whole.

* * *

As in years past, however, the doctor of medicine, although far outnumbered by others in the health field, still plays the dominant role.

Polio Cases Reach All-Time Low Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Foundation said Wednesday the incidence of poliomyelitis — infantile paralysis—was at an all-time low in the United States last year.

There were 1,3 polio cases per 100,000 Americans last year, the foundation said, compared with an attack rate of 4.9 cases per 100,000 in 1959. The rate in the peak epidemic year of 1952 was 37.2 per 100,000.

The foundation said provisional figures of the U.S. Public Health Service show a steep over-all decline in the incidence of polio in the six years that the Salk polio vaccine has been available.

Cases last year totaled 3,277, the fewest since 1938, when 1,705 were reported. However in 1938 when the population was smaller, a higher percentage of the population was stricken by polio than in 1960.

Feels 'Catholic,' 'Protestant' Have Lost Meaning

LONDON (UPI) — Dr Geoffrey Fisher, the archbishop of Canterbury, says the words "Catholic" and "Protestant" are completely out of date and "mean nothing at all."

* * *

"They are capable of an infinite variety of meanings," he said. "They are almost always used now purely for propaganda purposes. That is why so much trouble is caused by them."

The archbishop, who is the primate of the Church of England, made the remarks during the commissioning of a clergyman.

"I've heard a good deal about these two words just recently as a result of my visit to the Pope," he said.

* * *

"I hope that by going to visit the Pope I have enabled everybody to see that the words 'Catholic' and 'Protestant' as ordinarily used are completely out of date."

Squall Sank Ship on Which 42 Died

ALGECIRAS, Spain (UPI) — A vicious Mediterranean squall that struck with little warning up parently caused the sinking of a tiny ship carrying families of Jewish emigres to Israel Wednesday.

* * *

The captain and two crewmen were the only known survivors out of 40 Jewish men, women and children and five crewmen aboard the ship "Pisces" when it foundered off the Moroccan coast Wednesday.

* * *

The three survivors were picked up by a fishing boat after clinging to a life preserver for hours and taken ashore to Alhucemas, Morocco.

Backs Kennedy Plan for Aged

White House Confab Approves of Benefits Tied to Social Security

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The medical care program advocated by President-Elect John F. Kennedy emerged today as a clear winner from the White House Conference on the Aged.

★ ★ ★

The outline of Kennedy's proposal to provide health benefits for persons over 65 by raising Social Security payroll taxes was to become part of the conference record at its closing session this morning.

Opponents of the Kennedy plan, spearheaded by the American Medical Association (AMA), failed to block endorsement of the Social Security principle.

However, they did push through a policy statement contending that adoption of such financing methods would result in "poor quality health care."

Supporters of the Kennedy program, led by organized labor and some welfare groups, immediately set their sights on early congressional legislation in this field.

They called an afternoon meeting to consider strategy for the fight in Congress over Kennedy's demand for swift action on medical care legislation.

Despite the sharp split on this issue, both sides agreed on the need for expansion of voluntary health insurance programs for the elderly.

Files $1.5 Million Suit Against Union in Strike

YPSILANTI (UPI) — Dura Corp. has filed a $1.5 million damage suit in Federal Court against Local 620 of the Allied Industrial Workers Union for a strike at the company's Ypsilanti plant.

The company charged the strike was called by the local before use of grievance procedures set forth in the contract.

Lions' Prexy War Gets Hot

SPORTS

Stockholders Being Catered by Both Sides

Directors See Kerbawy as Key Figure in Plot of Dissident Group

People with a handful of stock are being called two and three times daily by warriors on both sides.

Latest to be dragged into the scrap is W. Nick Kerbawy, the man who has the million dollar contract to be general manager of the Detroit Pistons for the next 20 years. Kerbawy was in the Lions' front office for many years before Fred Zollner lured him away.

It was reported that Kerbawy and Buddy Parker were in on the move to oust Edwin J. Anderson as president and general manager of the Lions.

The report was that D. Lyle Fife, chief opponent of Anderson, had a three-way slate consisting of himself as president, Kerbawy as general manager and Parker as head coach. Parker was coach of the Lions before he quit just before the 1957 season began.

Fife was first president of the Lions under the new ownership regime in 1948, and was a director until a year ago. He has declared himself a bitter foe of the Anderson administration and is openly leading the dissident faction in the stockholders' fight. That fight will be settled at the Feb. 23 stockholders' meeting.

In in published report today, one of the Lion directors described Kerbawy as the key man in the plot to overthrow the current administration. In another part of the report, Pete Rozelle, commissioners of the National Football League, got into the act.

"Unofficial word" filtered back from the runnerup bowl in Miami that Rozelle had said Kerbawy would not be acceptable in the NFL now; that clubowners would not approve him.

★ ★ ★

Rozelle denied he had even discussed Kerbawy with anyone.

Asked last night about the report that he was in on the plot to dump Anderson, Kerbawy said:

"I hope only that I'm a key man in the Detroit Pistons' organization. I have no part, either officially or unofficially, in any business concerning the Detroit Lions.

"I left the Lions on friendly terms, and I still am on friendly terms with the directors and with Mr. Anderson. As for me being unacceptable, it appears this entire thing is being manufactured by local interests trying to protect themselves."

Kerbawy denied that he has talked with Fife or with anyone else regarding the proxy fight.

Kerbawy replied this way: "I worked hard, as did everyone. And we won, and we made money. I did the job I was asked to do, and I did it to the best of my ability."

★ ★ ★

Today's story quoted a director as saying that Kerbawy was in regular communication with Parker; also that Kerbawy and Parker disliked each other intensely when both were with the Lions.

★ ★ ★

"Part of it is true," said Kerbawy. "As a matter of fact, I talked with Buddy just a couple of weeks ago. As for disliking each other, that's false. We've been great friends for years. We had disagreements, like all coaches and general managers have."

Wings Tie Hawks 2-2 at Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The third-place Chicago Black Hawks had their victory string stopped at seven games Wednesday night but managed a 2-2 tie with the fourth-place Detroit Red Wings.

★ ★ ★

It was the only game scheduled in the National Hockey League.

At 16:47 of the third period, Bobby Hull, defending NHL scoring champion, took a long shot rebound and drove the disk behind Detroit goalie Hank Bassen. It was his 20th of the season and locked the game.

Chicago, trying to stretch its longest victory streak in history, grabbed the lead early in the opening period when Stan Mikita tallied his 13th goal, and 10th in the last eight games, while the Wings' Alex Delvecchio was in the penalty box.

★ ★ ★

Detroit avoided being shutout by the Hawks' Glenn Hall for the fourth consecutive time when Norm Ullman rammed screen shot into the Chicago cage at 9:42 of the second to tie the score. Allan Johnson scored five minutes later to give the Wings their first lead over Chicago in the team' first four meetings.

★ ★ ★

Stan Has Doubts He'll Be Active Player in 1962

HOUSTON (AP)— Stan Musial has expressed doubt he will be an active player in 1962, but Solly Hemus disagrees.

★ ★ ★

Hemus, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, said Wednesday he believes the Cardinal star will remain active as long as he can help the club in any manner.

Musial, one of baseball's greatest hitters, made his remarks at Houston's major league dinner Tuesday night. The 40-year-old veteran said he would like to play in the $15 million domed stadium Houston plans for its 1962 debut in the National League. "But I doubt I will be an active player in 1962."

LOOK OUT BELOW — Jack Twyman (31) Cincinnati Royals forward, is about to descend on George Lee (12) of the Detroit Pistons as Lee is about to shoot. The foul occurred in the game between the Royals and the Pistons in Detroit last night. Detroit won, 126-122.

Pistons' Losing Streak Ends Against 'Cousins'

By The Associated Press

If the Cincinnati Royals harbor any playoff intentions, they'd better do something about that jinx that is stalking them when they play in Detroit.

The Pistons beat Cincinnati for the 18th straight time over the past four years in the Motor City Wednesday night, 126-122, snapping a six-game losing streak in the National Basketball Association.

The New York Knicks won their fourth in the last five games with a 109-104 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers while a red-hot shooting performance by Dolph Schayes in the second half helped carry Syracuse to a 133-128 victory over St. Louis in the only other scheduled games.

Bailey Howell, rapidly becoming one of the NBA's top performers, broke a 119-119 tie for Detroit with two minutes to go with a pair of foul shots and Cincy was dead. The Royals 24-6 spin in the second period broke down an early 40-23 Detroit lead, and they tied at 77 - all before being stopped.

Gene Shue's 32 points led the winners while Oscar Robertson got 29 for Cincinnati and Jack Twyman had 23, 19 in the third period.

The Knicks also nailed down their victory in the final minutes. Richie Guerin and Dick Garmaker led a 9-2 tear that broke a 94-94 tie. Guerin had four points in the spree and wound up with 29 overall. Elgin Baylor's 39 points led all scorers. He got 22 in the second half. Garmaker wound up with 14, 10 in the final period.

Schayes phenomenal second half job—23 of 35 points—helped bring the Nats from an 8-point deficit. He hit all 17 of his foul tries. Dave Gambee's basket with 5:45 to play put Syracuse ahead to stay after Cliff Hagan's 19-point first half helped St. Louis to a 68-61 halftime lead. Clyde Lovellette led the Hawks with 31 points. Hagan wound up with 26.

Palmer Leads 138 in San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Golf star Arnold Palmer launched a comeback today as 138 professionals and 13 amateurs opened play in the $20,000 San Diego Open.

★ ★ ★

Much against his will, Palmer retired from the Los Angeles Open after only two rounds, after failing to qualify for the final two, thanks to his 12 strokes on one hole and a 77 for the second round.

★ ★ ★

His composure, and very likely his game, restored, Palmer resumed a campaign to match all the laurels he won in 1960, which included the National Open, the Masters and more than $80,000.

★ ★ ★

The field is possibly the best in the history of San Diego's winter fixture. Twenty-eight of the 30 top money winners of 1960 are entered.

BOWLING BEAUTY

NO. 4—FOUR STEP DELIVERY

By Dee Purcello
AMF Staff of Champions

I recommend four steps because they coincide and act as a counter-balance for the basic segments of the delivery — the pushaway, downswing, back swing and release.

To find your starting point on the approach, place the heels a couple of inches from the foul line with your back to the pins. Take four natural walking steps back to the rear of the approach. Add another half-step to allow for slide.

Do a brisk about-face and you have your starting point. Make a mental note of where you are standing in relation to the dots on the lanes. This north-south position will never vary regardless of where you bowl, no matter what pins you are shooting for.

It may change east-west depending on which side of the head pin

No. 10—Baseball's Unforgettable Games

Babe Herman's Historical Gallop Turned a Double Into Double Play

By JOE REICHLER
and BEN OLAN

Babe Herman is still written about occasionally as the man who hit a triple into a triple play. Even today there are stories written and cartoons drawn depicting three Dodger base runners piled up at third base. They excoriate the Babe for running with his head down and galloping onward as though nobody else was there.

★ ★ ★

If you ask the excoriaters exactly what happened, very few know the facts. They prove that the Babe Herman story is one of the baser base-running libels. Herman did not hit a triple into a triple play. He merely doubled into a double play!

It happened on August 15, 1926, on a sizzling Sunday in the first game of a doubleheader at Ebbets Field between the Boston Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers.

Young Henry Wertz, a rookie, was matching the great Dazzy Vance, pitch for pitch. Through five innings the game was scoreless. In the sixth the Braves broke through for a run. The Dodgers counted once in the seventh, then filled the bases with one out

UP STEPS BABE

Hank DeBerry was on third, Vance on second, and Chick Fewster on first. Up stepped Babe Herman to face George Mogridge, who had replaced Wertz.

★ ★ ★

The Babe lashed a line drive off the right field wall. DeBerry scored easily. The ball bounced off the wall all the way to the Boston second baseman. Vance, thinking the ball might be caught, held up at second. When he saw the ball carom off the wall, he started for third.

Fewster raced halfway from first to second and also waited. The Babe was not waiting, however. He was flying as he rounded first.

Vance rounded third. Fewster turned second and came on. Right behind him was the Babe.

He meant it for Herman, but it was Vance who heard him and decided to obey.

The Dazzler, halfway between third and home, rumbled back and fell on the bag. Fewster, who had reached third, knew he couldn't pass Vance without being out so he remained on third, undecided. And how about Herman?

Coming down like the wind, he zoomed into third with the most beautiful slide you ever saw. Instead of finding no one there, as he figured, Herman slid smack into Fewster who was pinned between the Babe and the Dazzler and all three wound up hugging the bag.

The disgusted Fewster finally untangled himself and started toward the dugout, thinking he was out. Meanwhile, outfielder Jimmy Welsh had pounced on the ball and fired it to Doc Gautreau, the Braves' second baseman, who relayed it to catcher Oscar Siemer.

The latter threw it to Eddie Taylor at third base. Taylor tagged Vance and Herman and looked expectantly at umpire Ernie Quigley. While Quigley was trying to figure it out, Gautreau snatched the ball from Taylor, caught up with Fewster, and tagged him.

When the air finally cleared, it was ruled that Vance was safe at third because he was originally entitled to that bag; Herman was out for passing Fewster on the base lines; and Fewster was out when he strolled off third and was tagged by Gautreau.

The double play ended the inning, but De Berry's run, made possible by Herman's double, proved to be the tie-breaking run as the Dodgers went on to win 4-1. The Dodgers also won the nightcap, 11-3, with Herman driving in three more runs.

Asked to comment about the traffic jam after the game, Uncle Wilbert Robinson, the Dodgers' beleaguered manager, commented acidly:

"That's the first time those guys got together on anything all season."

NCAA Hits High School Recruiters

Scouts Seeking Prep Talent on No-Cash Basis

New Legislation Comes on Heels of Penalties to North Carolina

PITTSBURGH (AP) — On the heels of the North Carolina probation case the National Collegiate Athletic Association has put recruiters of high school athletes on a no-cash basis.

★ ★ ★

Legislation adopted at the business session of the 55th annual NCAA convention Wednesday stipulated that colleges may not pay the expenses of athletic talent scouts. It was also ruled that a recruiter on the payroll and claim him as a staff member.

★ ★ ★

The legislation was drafted in advance of the disciplinary action Tuesday that placed North Carolina on probation for a year and barred the school's seventh-ranked basketball team from the national championships.

But it was recalled by convention delegates that one of the charges against North Carolina involved unitemized expense accounts turned in by semi-official recruiter Harry Gotkin, who scouted high school basketball players in the New York area.

Wednesday's convention climax was one of the longest ever but the NCAA gathering was expected to wind up quickly today with a routine morning meeting of the council.

Recruiting rules were also tightened by the adoption of a measure which requires persons paying for the transportation of an athlete on a visit to a college campus to accompany the athlete. The NCAA feels boosters won't encourage so many campus visits if they have to make the trips themselves.

Other legislation adopted included:

1. Complete member-college support of a previously announced break with the Amateur Athletic Union over what the NCAA feels is inconsistency in rule enforcement by the AAU.

★ ★ ★

2. Approval of four bowl games for 1961. There are new—Aviation Bowl (Dayton, Ohio), Presidential Trophy Bowl (Washington, D.C.) and the Mercy Bowl (Los Angeles). The Gotham Bowl in New York, unplayed in 1960, was recertified.

★ ★ ★

3. A statement of fundamental policy which put into the NCAA constitution that eligibility, financial aid, recruiting and admissions are a definite part of the association's business.

★ ★ ★

4. A rule limiting college athletes to competition within five calendar years.

5. A stipulation that high school football and basketball all-star games must be approved by the state's high school federation, or if interstate, by the National Federation of High Schools.

6. Provisional approval of Chicago as the 1962 convention site.

Sophomore Keeps Duke 5 Rolling

By The Associated Press

Hey, man, this Heyman's still at it—acting like the sophomore of all college basketball as he and the Duke Blue Devils drive toward the regular season championship in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Just earning a starting spot on Duke's veteran team might have been honor enough, but young Art Heyman's doing much more. Like Wednesday night when the eighth-ranked Blue Devils came from 11 points behind with 2:45 left and finally edged upstart Virginia 92-90 in overtime.

It was Heyman's field goal with 35 seconds left in regulation time that climaxed an 11-0 burst and finally got Duke even after Virginia (2-11) had built an 81-70 lead. In overtime, it was the 6-foot-5 sophomore's soft push shot that won it with 12 seconds remaining.

Comebacks, spectacular shots and upsets marked the college program in general. St. Joseph's spilled fifth-ranked St. John's 74-71 behind Vince Kempton and Jack Egan in the windup of a Philadelphia Palestra doubleheader that opened with New York University's 70-67 upset of Temple. Army, holding Villanova scoreless for the first nine minutes and to 11 points in the first half, shocked the touted Wildcats 64-49, and Dayton's Flyers scored nine points in the last minute, held Duquesne scoreless, and beat the Dukes 60-56.

Georgia Tech's Roger Kaiser, who had warmed up Saturday with 38 points against Kentucky, rescued the Engineers with a 40-foot field goal in the last second of regulation time against arch-rival Georgia. Then Tech, with Kaiser winding up with 23 points—eight in overtime—rolled to an 89-80 triumph, its ninth straight over the Bulldogs.

★ ★ ★

Maryland (8-3) got 16 points from Bruce Kelleher in a 55-47 victory over Georgetown, and Air Force squared its record at 5-5, downing Centenary 61-59. Florida (7-5) dominated the boards and rallied to spill Miami of Florida to its fourth loss in 12 games, 81-73, and Toledo (9-1) won its fourth straight Mid-American conference test, 68-66 over Bowling Green.

★ ★ ★

Providence (9-2) beat neighborhood rival Rhode Island 68-66 on a jump shot by 6-foot-10 Jim Hadnot with 26 seconds left in overtime. Hadnot had 25 points as he got the Friars' winning basket for the fifth time this season.

County Prep All-Star Not Affected by Rule

The legislation adopted yesterday by the NCAA in reference to high school basketball and football all-star games will have no affect on the Oakland County All-Star Football game which will be played at Wisner Stadium next August.

The rule stipulates that all prep all-star games must have the approval of the state high school federation. In Michigan all-star games are not permitted.

However, because the Oakland County game is composed of graduated players, the game does not come under the federation's jurisdiction.

★ ★ ★

High school athletic director Charles Forsythe said, "The rule will not affect our Michigan status. We have no jurisdiction in the Oakland County game."

Lakeland Scores 100, Umphrey's 31 Wasted

Joe Umphrey hit 31 points but his Lytell & Colegrove team took a 100-63 bombing from Lakeland Pharmacy in Waterford Class A basketball Wednesday. Jerry Veeder hit 23 for the victors. Tom Thumb won a forfeit over Johnson & Anderson.

★ ★ ★

Three "B" games tonight at Isaac Crary will match Drayton Drug and Greek Merchants at 6:45, Kuhn's and George's Super Service at 8 and R& R Motors and J & A at 9:15.

Several Key Prep Games Friday

By CHUCK ABAIR

Pontiac Northern goes after its 13th straight Inter-Lakes victory, Milford tries to stay alive in the Wayne-Oakland race and Orton-ville attempts to keep rolling against stubborn Oxford in some of the key games on another big prep basketball night around this area Friday night.

The Huskies, currently tied for 1st place with Farmington, go to Berkley as the Falcons host Walled Lake Waterford travels to South-field in a battle for the cellar. The winless quintets have compiled a total of 12 defeats—eight belonging to the Bluejays.

Milford is the only W-O team besides unbeaten Holly with a winning record. The lone Redskin loop loss was at the Bronco court. They meet again Feb. 10. Coach Denny Boyle's charges visit Clarkston tomorrow as Holly entertains improving Clarence-ville.

Northville is at West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Hills goes to Brighton completing the slate.

Despite opposite records, Orton-ville is not looking for an easy time at Oxford. The Wildcats gave Lake Orion a busy time a week ago and are hungry for that elusive initial triumph. Imlay City goes to Millington in another big South Central contest.

The Suburban Catholic and Oakland B races are shaping up to be duels to the wire now that all the teams in both loops have at least one defeat.

Second place St. Frederick has another big one at the Northern gym against St. Rita, currently 3rd after upsetting Royal Oak St. Mary. ROSM will be out to bounce back at home against cellar-dwelling St. Clement.

* * *

St. Michael has dropped two in a row and needs a win to get back at 500. Neil Kiernan and St. James meet the Shamrocks at Madison Jr. High. Orchard Lake St. Mary goes to St. Benedict. The Eaglets seem to be coming around now after a slow start.

Avondale has a chance to move into a tie for the "B" lead with Idle Pittsfield. The Yellowjack-ets take a three-game win streak in Clawson. Lake Orion visits Troy and Madison is at Oak Park.

Mt. Clemens hosts tough Port Huron trying to protect its slim one-half game edge over Ferndale in the Eastern Michigan. The un-beaten Dales are at Hazel Park and Royal Oak Kimball visits East Detroit. Birmingham Seaholm has a night off.

Rochester may have a busy time trying to keep pace with Roseville in the Tri-County as Lapeer plays at the Falcon court. Spartans Dick Schwerin and Tom Connors are averaging above 21 a game despite a 1-5 over-all record. Roseville is at home against L'Anse Creuse.

The top two Southern Thumb teams square off as unbeaten New Haven visits Capac. Anchor Bay vs. Brown City, Armada is at Dryden and Almont makes its 7th stab at a victory against Memphis.

There will be several other in-teresting games. Romeo is guest of North Branch, Pontiac Emmanuel plays at home again with Grosse Pointe University School the op-ponent, Waterford Our Lady of Lakes is at Birmingham, Brother Rice and Utica meets Center Line.

ON TO CLARKSTON — The Milford cage team which needs to keep winning to give Holly any trouble in the Wayne-Oakland race, invades Clarkston tomorrow night. Two of the Redskins seeing plenty of action will be Ernie Priestly, left, and Ernie Miller.

Peters Scores 29 for Alma

Calvin Lone Unbeaten State Quintet

By The Associated Press

The Knights whipped Hope college's previously unbeaten Dutchmen, 98-79, last night to register their eighth straight victory.

Both squads went into the contest with flawless conference records of four victories. Hope had been defeated in non-league play.

Calvin shot to an early nine-point lead and stretched it steadily with Bill Wolterstorff's 35 points spearheading the effort.

* * *

Aquinas notched its ninth triumph in 10 starts with a 80-60 rout of Olivet, which has lost all 7 games so far. Ray Bower netted 25 points and Jim Kanary 20 to pace the winning effort. Mike Foster led Olivet with 21.

Dave Peters of Rochester led Alma to an 82-67 victory over Central Michigan with a 29-point effort. High for the visitors was Ken Van Dyke with 21. The win was Alma's second in 10 games. Central now is 1-9.

Ferris Institute traveled to Angola, Ind., to register its ninth victory in 11 contests — an 85-75 triumph over Tri-State College. Mike Bonnet poured in 29 points for the Big Rapids squad to take game honors.

* * *

Ron Brault's 24 points pushed St. Norbert to a 95-69 victory over Michigan Tech at DePere, Wis. Bill Nowery led the losers with 13. Michigan Tech now is 2-6 and St. Norbert is 3-7.

Hillsdale crushed Giffen, a junior college at Van Wert, Ohio, 97-54 for its second win in 11 games. Cliff Turner was high for the Dales with 21 points.

PNH Tankers Win 4th; Heavy Swim Card Friday

Pontiac Northern enjoyed its best swimming night of the season time-wise as the Huskies defeated Suburban League member Utica, 63-42.

* * *

It was the 4th win in six starts for PNH and sets the stage for next Wednesday's meet at home against a strong Fitzgerald team, also a league member.

Fitzgerald had too much depth for Warren last night. The Spartans took five firsts of 11 events and won, 58-47, by out-pointing Warren in second places.

Northern's Fred Kern set a varsity record in the 100 freestyle with a :58.0 time and Chuck Gross did it in the 200 individual medley in 2:33.9.

* * *

Keith Brochman of Fitzgerald also set a varsity record in the 100 freestyle with a time of :58 as did double winner Jack Plasnik in the 200 individual medley in 2:27.8.

A big schedule is on tap for Friday with unbeaten Birming-ham traveling to Ann Arbor for a big meet and Royal Kimball, lower only to Birmingham, visiting Southfield.

Pontiac Central travels to Flint Northern for a dual meet in the Saginaw Valley Conference. The Chiefs are 4-2 for the season, both losses in SVC meets to Arthur Hill and Bay City. They have beaten Flint Central and Flint Southwestern in the league.

Another meet has Ferndale playing host to Hazel Park.

By BILL CORNWELL

Perhaps the outstanding feature of Art Van Ryzin-coached basketball teams at Pontiac Central during the past four or five years has been the presence in the lineup of at least one excellent outside gunner.

Strong outcourt shooting has been the key to Central's hardwood success in recent years, despite the fact that Van Ryzin also has popped up with phenomenal rebounding.

Two seasons ago when the Chiefs won the Saginaw Valley Conference championship, lanky John Bandy was the sharp-eyed shooter who swished buckets from all over the floor.

Last season when the Chiefs repeated as Saginaw Valley champs, the boy who pumped the ball through the nets from outside was Booker Hurner, now a member of the U. of D. freshman quintet.

* * *

Van Ryzin has another outside weapon this season. His name is Clarence Douglas and a look at the 1960-61 scorebook reveals that his ability or inability to hit the basket has much to do with Central's success or failure.

Despite their great backboard work, the Chiefs will need Douglas' sharp eye for the remainder of the season if they hope to win their 3rd straight SVC title and 4th in the last five years.

Douglas will be a marked man by Flint Northern here Friday evening when the winless Vikings of Jack Marlette invade the PCH gymnasium to meet the Chiefs in a crucial Valley contest.

* * *

A check of the book shows that Douglas' two poorest scoring nights resulted in PCH defeats. After bagging 23 points in Central's opening victory at Edsel Ford, Douglas netted eight against Grosse Pointe and only four at Arthur Hill. The Chiefs lost both of them.

Since then the improving Chiefs have won four straight decisions and Douglas' point output has accompanied the streak. He scored 26 against Flint Central, 17 at Pontiac Northern, 16 at Royal Oak Dondero and 21 at Bay City Central.

Flint Northern will be the first of three consecutive home games and all are vitally important to the PCH cagers. Unbeaten Saginaw High follows the Vikings into town on Jan. 20 and Arthur Hill pays a visit on Jan. 27. Victory in all three is a "must" for Van Ryzin and his warriors.

Although Northern has yet to taste victory in six tries, the Chiefs cannot afford to ignore tomorrow's invasion. If the Chiefs spend too much time thinking about Saginaw's trip here the following week, they may be rudely surprised by the Vikings.

PCH, Flint Central and Arthur Hill are currently tied for 2nd place in the SVC standings with 2-1 records. Saginaw leads the league with a 3-0 mark. Northern and Bay City, both 0-3, share the cellar.

Another very important Valley game is scheduled Friday at Ballenger Fieldhouse in Flint where the rampaging Central Indians play host to the high-flying Saginaw outfit. Arthur Hill entertains weak Bay City in the other SVC contest.

A PCH triumph, an expected easy win for the Hillites and an upset of the Trojans by Flint Central would throw the topsy-turvy Valley race into a four-way deadlock for 1st place.

The Chiefs enter tomorrow's battle with an over-all 5-2 record. The main attraction begins about 8 p.m. with the junior varsity contest starting at 6:30.

Prep Front

By BILL CORNWELL

"Whistleitis" is a malady which attacks basketball officials at varying intervals during the course of each and every season. Sometimes it seems to be contagious, yet other times it strikes without any advance warning.

The disease has struck Oakland County area officials at least three different times this season and the coaches of the six teams involved would probably be willing to testify that the "tooters" crippled their players—especially the losing coaches.

Clarkston, Clarenceville, Pontiac Northern, West Bloomfield, Rochester and Avondale — these are the schools most affected by "whistleitis" so far this season.

Last Saturday's Rochester-Avondale game was the latest example of the whistle-blowing affliction. Rochester was the biggest victim since the Falcons were charged with 35 personal fouls and four of their cagers fouled out.

Avondale lost two via the foul route and the Yellow Jackets were guilty of 19 personals, making a toetal of 54 in the contest.

There were 49 fouls called in the Northern - West Bloomfield game, 29 against PNH. Four Huskies went to the sidelines with five personals and two Keego cagers took the same exit.

These facts and figures look anemic when compared to the Clarkston-Clarenceville contest. In that 32-minute farce, the officials blew their whistles 71 times, which averages more than twice a minute, with Clarenceville drawing 43 of those infractions.

* * *

Seven Clarenceville boys fouled out and the Trojans played the final minute and 15 seconds with only four players on the floor. The Wolves lost one cager on personals.

Basketball officiating is a risky business at best and it's all too easy to criticize the men in striped shirts who are conscientously trying their best to govern fairly an extremely fast sport.

There is much more bodily contact in the sport now than there was 20 or even 10 years ago, which means that the referee's judgment must be quicker than ever before. Obviously, it's impossible for them to judge correctly all the time.

However, the examples listed earlier strike us as misuse and abuse of the whistle-blowing right.

It's always been our belief that if there is to be a choice between an over-officiated or under-officiated game, the latter is better — for both players and fans.

We have a feeling that where there is excess tooting, officials are determined to prove their complete control of the situation. They carry a sort of "you won't get away with a thing attitude.

This is good up to a point, but a little more discretion on their part still might help. Bodily contact, particularly under the basket but all over the court as well, is certainly here to stay.

Because of this, we think that referees must consider the circumstances under which contact was made. If officials cannot overlook harmless contact, the boys won't be able to play the game freely and coaches will never have an easy moment.

* * *

ODDS AND ENDS

Waterford wrestling coach Jim Tolfa recently was complimented by Steve Szabo, Pontiac Central's mat mentor. "Tolfa is doing an excellent job with the Skippers and the team shows great improvement," Szabo said.

* * *

Invitations will soon be mailed to 18 area high schools for the 10th annual Pontiac Press Prep Invitational golf tournament, which is scheduled Monday, May 22, at Pontiac Country Club. Walled Lake is the defending champion.

Lounge 5 Hits Century Again

League-leading 300 Lounge hit the century mark for the 2nd time this season in Class A city basketball action by racing to 11-54 triumph over Van Dikes last night at Pontiac Central.

Big Bob McManus tallied 17 points to spearhead a well-balanced offense as the Lounge cagers won their 5th decision in six games to take a one-game lead over runnerup Newman A.M.E. Willie Lindsay made 19 points for Van Dikes.

Buckner Finance remained unbeaten in the Class B loop with an 85-66 victory over Perry Park. It was Buckner's 6th win. Jerry Paul led the winners with 21 points and Ken Buckley also had 21 for Perry Park.

In class D action, the Elks tied Tuck's Trotters for 1st place at 5-0 by trouncing the All-Stars, 69-43. Henry Brown scored 19 points for the Elks while Don Wilson notched a dozen for the Stars.

Dryden Ski Area Opens New Dormitory

Skiing Is Good Early in Day, Areas Report

New Chair Lift Ready for Use at Mt. Holly Next Week

The unpredictable weather is making it difficult for area ski places to come up with a forecast beyond 24 hours.

All areas report making snow during the night or early in the morning. Conditions are generally good early in the day, but the remainder of the day and early evening depend on the weather.

Mild afternoons have been the biggest headache.

Dryden Ski Area is opening its dormitory this weekend. It will be the first time this winter that the facility is used. A group from Bloomfield, Mich., will be housed in the building.

Races are tentatively scheduled this weekend at Alpine Valley. The weather and snow conditions will determine if the downhill events will be held.

* * *

The new chair lift at Mt. Holly is expected to be in operation early next week. Sand bags weighing 200 pounds each will be placed on each seat this weekend as a testing service.

Mort Graddis, Mt. Holly manager, said it is the "only chair lift close to a metropolitan area in Michigan."

Thanks to the snow machines, skiing conditions were described as good to excellent today at most Michigan ski resorts.

Pontiac Area Conditions

MT. CHRISTIE—All slopes and facilities open; 6-8 inches of base, 2 inches powder; skiing very good.

GRAMPIAN—Five slopes open; 10-20 inches of base with 2-4 inches powder; skiing very good.

DRYDEN—All slopes open; 14-18 inches of base covered by 2 inches powder; skiing very good.

HOLLY—Three slopes open; 6-10 inches base, 1 inch of powder; skiing good.

To Learn Future

Cuban Players Anxious

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban baseball players are awaiting — some anxiously—clarification of their status as members of United States major and minor league clubs.

The rupture of U.S.-Cuban relations last week threw a cloud over the future participation of Cubans in organized baseball in the States. But baseball authorities here are confident the United States State Department will give the green light to Cuban players.

* * *

Felipe Guerra, Cuban sports director, already has announced there will be no restrictions imposed on Cuban players requesting exit permits to play abroad.

But Washington's official attitude about issuing baseball visas still is not known. In the past Cubans entered the United States under special permits renewable annually.

* * *

It has been a practice for a club to which the player or players belonged to make visa requests on their behalf via the State Department. It is not known here if any club thus far has made the usual visa request for Cubans.

Bobby Maduro, Cuban baseball executive, is among those optimistic that no obstacles will be placed before local players going to the United States.

"I know personally our boys are proud of their contribution to American baseball and are anxious to return there to further their careers," he said. "This is not a political matter. Baseball is an international sport and should be kept apart of any other considerations not related to its development."

American clubs have a good sized investment in Cuban talent. Nearly 200 Cuban players are ticketed for action in the major and minor leagues this season. Between 14 and 19 of them carry big league credentials for spring training, at least.

Honolulu Gets Franchise

HONOLULU (AP) — Baseball's 2,300-mile home run from the mainland to this island state became official Wednesday night.

Nick Morgan Jr. of Salt Lake City has signed a contract with the Honolulu Stadium Corp., guaranteeing the operation here of a Pacific Coast League franchise to begin this season.

Ex-Hockey Coach Dies

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Leo Lamoureux, 43, former coach of the Indianapolis International Hockey League team, died at a hospital here Wednesday night.

A veteran player and coach, he began his career with the Montreal Canadiens in 1941 as a defenseman. He was a member of the Canadiens from 1943 to 1947 and later played at Springfield, Mass., and Buffalo, N.Y. He was a native of Espanola, Ont.

State of Union Address

facilities has been stepped up and extended to include nursing homes, diagnostic and treatment centers and rehabilitation facilities.

The vocational rehabilitation program has been significantly expanded. About 90,000 handicapped people now are being rehabilitated annually so they are again able to earn their own living with self-respect and dignity.

New legislation provides for better medical care for the needy aged, including those older persons, who, while otherwise self-sufficient, need help in meeting their health care costs. The administration recommended a major expansion of this effort.

The coverage of the Social Security Act has been broadened since 1953 to make 11 million additional people eligible for retirement, disability or survivor benefits for themselves or their dependents, and the social security benefits have been substantially improved.

The states, aided by federal grants, now assist some 6 million needy people through the programs of old age assistance, aid to depepdent children, aid to the blind, and aid to the totally and permanently disabled.

Urban Development

More houses have been built during the past eight years—over nine million—than during any previous eight years in history.

An historic new approach — urban renewal — now replaces piecemeal thrusts at slum pockets and urban blight. Communities engaged in urban renewal have doubled and renewal projects have more than tripled since 1953.

An estimated 68 projects in 50 cities will be completed by the end of the current fiscal year; another 577 projects will be under way, and planning for 310 more will be in process. A total of $2 billion in federal grants will ultimately be required to finance these 955 projects.

* * *

New programs have been initiated to provide more and better housing for elderly people. Approximately 25,000 units especially designed for the elderly have been built, started, or approved in the past three years.

For the first time, because of federal help and encouragement, 90 metropolitan areas and urban regions and 1140 smaller towns throughout the country are making comprehensive development plans for their future growth and development.

American communities have been helped to plan water and sanitation systems and schools through planning advances for 1600 public works projects with a construction cost of nearly $2 billon.

Mortgage insurance on individual homes has been greatly expanded. During the past eight years, the Federal Housing Administration alone insured over 2-½ million home mortgages valued at $27 billion, and in addition, insured more than 10 million property improvement loans.

The federal government must continue to provide leadership in order to make our cities and communities better places in which to live, work, and raise families, but without usurping rightful local authority, replacing individual responsibility, or stifling private initiative.

Immigration

Over 32,000 victims of Communist tyranny in Hungary were brought to our shores, and at this time our country is working to assist refugees from tyranny in Cuba.

Since 1953, the waiting period for naturalization applicants has been reduced from 18 months to 45 days.

The administration also has made legislative recommendations to liberalize existing restrictions upon immigration while still safeguarding the national interest.

It is imperative that our immigration policy be in the finest American tradition of providing a haven for oppressed peoples and fully in accord with our obligation as a leader of the free world.

Veterans

In discharging the nation's obligation to our veterans, during the past eight years there have been:

The readjustment of World War II veterans was completed, and the five million Korean conflict veterans were assisted in achieving successful readjustment to civilian life;

Increases in compensation benefits for all eligible veterans with service connected disabilities;

Higher nonservice connected pension benefits for needy veterans;

Greatly improved benefits to survivors of veterans dying in or as a result of service;

Authorization, by presidential directive, of an increase in the number of beds available for sick and disabled veterans;

Development of a 12-year, $900-million construction program to modernize and improve our veterans hospitals;

New modern techniques brought into the administration of veterans affairs to provide the highest quality service possible to those who have defended us.

Conclusion

In concluding my final message to the Congress, it is fitting to look back to my first — to the aims and ideals I set forth on Feb. 2, 1953: to use America's influence in world affairs to advance the cause of peace and justice, to conduct the affairs of the executive branch with integrity and efficiency, to encourage creative intiative in our economy, and to work toward the attainment of the well-being and equality of opportunity of all citizens.

Equally, we have honored our commitment to pursue and attain specific objectives.

Among them, as stated eight years ago: strengthening of the mutual security program; development of world trade and commerce; ending of hostilities in Korea; creation of a powerful deterrent force; practicing fiscal responsibility; checking the menace of inflation; reducing the tax burden; providing an effective internal security program; developing and conserving our natural resources; reducing governmental interference in the affairs of the farmer; strengthening and improving services by the department of labor, and the vigilant guarding of civil and social rights.

I do not close this message implying that all is well—that all problems are solved. For progress implies both new and continuing problems and, unlike presidential administrations, problems rarely have terminal dates.

Abroad, there is the continuing Communist threat to the freedom of Berlin, an explosive situation in Laos, the problems caused by Communist penetration of Cuba, as well as the many problems connected with the development of the new nations in Africa. These areas, in particular, call for delicate handling and constant review.

At home, several conspicuous problems remain: promoting higher levels of employment, with special emphasis on areas in which heavy unemployment has persisted; continuing to provide for steady economic growth and preserving a sound currency; bringing our balance of payments into more reasonable equilibrium and continuing a high level of confidence in our national and international systems; eliminating heavily excessive surpluses of a few farm commodities; and overcoming deficiencies in our health and educational programs.

Our goal always has been to add to the spiritual, moral, and material strength of our nation. I believe we have done this. But it is a process that must never end.

Let us pray that leaders of both the near and distant future will be able to keep the nation strong and at peace, that they will advance the well-being of all our people, that they will lead us on to still higher moral standards, and that, in achieving these goals, they will maintain a reasonable balance between private and governmental responsibility.

Meeting to Sift Bond for Drain

Sylvan Lake Council Decides to Ask Public for Reaction

The Sylvan Lake City Council at its monthly meeting last night scheduled a public meeting for Jan. 25 to discuss a proposed $26,000 storm drain bond issue.

The proposed storm drain would primarily serve residents of Woodlawn Subdivision.

It is necessary that the drain be constructed before streets in the subdivision can be blacktopped, according to City Manager Marshall H. Woodburn.

The bond issue would be floated over a three-year period if approved.

"We want to see how the residents involved feel about this," Woodburn said.

"If we were to wait until after blacktopping to construct the drain, it would be much more costly."

The proposed drain would run down Garland Street to Lakeview and down Lakeview to a point where it would empty into Sylvan Lake.

Streets directly effected by the drain would be Lakeland and Woodland, with relief also going to property owners on Sherwood and Pleasant streets.

Tentative time for the meeting has been set at 8 p.m. at the Sylvan City Hall.

The city is now in the second year of a three-year blacktopping program on all unpaved streets.

Demand Thinning for Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Weakness again was noted in the grain futures market today as trading became a little more one-sided on further profit taking.

Rye was off two cents a bushel in spots during the first few minutes of transactions on the board of trade and all old crop soybeans were down a cent or more. Other grains eased fractions.

Brokers said there appeared to be thinner demand and at least slightly more confidence in short selling.

Market Nudges Toward Upside

NEW YORK (AP)—Stubborn reinvestment demand prevailed over profit taking to give the stock market an irregular edge to the upside early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

* * *

As it has every day this week, the market weatherd selling by traders on profits realized in the turn-of-year rally, countering this with strong buying.

The market was mixed at the start and, as mid day approached, nudged to the upside on balance.

Steels resumed their uptrend with gains running to a point or more. Autos were narrowly higher. Oils, airlines, utilities, rails and building materials helped support the average.

* * *

Electrical equipments continued under sharp selling pressure. Coppers also gave ground. Electronics and chemicals were mixed.

* * *

Confidence in an eventual business upturn this year and of anti-recession measures to be taken by the Kennedy administration were still cited as reasons for the improvement of some of the badly battered market wheelhorses.

* * *

Gains of about a point were scored by U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, and Republic Steel. Lukens added about 2.

Chrysler advanced close to a point. Ford and Studebaker-Packard were fractionally higher, General Motors about unchanged.

* * *

General Electric was adversely affected by street estimates of lower earnings and, as trading progressed, a block of 8,000 shares was unloaded at 67, down 1⅞. Westinghouse Electric declined sympathetically, losing more than a point.

* * *

Johnson & Johnson spurted another 3 points or more in the wake of its latest new product news. Texaco, up a point, remained a strong feature in a mixed oil group.

MSUO Faculty Panel Looks Ahead

Profs Agree JFK Faces Rough Seas

By MAX SIMON

President-Elect Kennedy faces a rough voyage in guiding the ship of state through foreign policy problems, a panel of four Michigan State University Oakland faculty members agreed Wednesday night.

"He'll be sitting down to a poker game in which his opponents hold all the aces—and he'll deserve applause if he can get up with his pants still in place," said Dr. Sheldon Appleton, assistant professor of area studies.

Other speakers were Dr. Samuel Shapiro, assistant professor of history; Dr. Melvin Cherno, assistant professor of history; and David Wilder, university librarian.

* * *

Viewing problems facing the new administration in the Far East, Appleton stated:

"Within the next four years, Communist China will be seated in the United Nations. It could happen next year. The bigger fuss we make about this the more harm we do ourselves."

He stated that the question of American "recognition" of the Chinese Communists has faded in importance.

"They possibly don't even want our recognition, and could go so far as to reject it were we to take such action," he said.

WILL BE MALIGNED

Appleton predicted that Kennedy—and especially Adlai E. Stevenson—would be called "traitors" and "appeasers" when the Chinese Reds are seated in the international assembly. "They'll be picked on plenty," he stated.

Militarily, he said, the United States faced defeat in case war broke out in Laos or Quemoy and Matsu.

"I feel that the Communists want us to hold on to the two offshore islands," he said. "It gives them the chance to create a crisis whenever they choose."

Appleton warned that U.S. relations with Japan could worsen if the Japanese economy continues to deteriorate.

* * *

"The major problem is one of public relations," he said. "There is a considerable amount of misunderstanding about our position. There has been too little selling of the American way of life, of what we stand for."

Cherno said the colonial powers of Europe were unhappy with the American support for those peoples striving for national independence, and with our support of the regimes of Tito and Franco.

Berlin remained a problem that the Russians could turn into a crisis at any time, he stated.

HARD TO STAY NEUTRAL

He said it would be difficult for the United States to remain neutral in conflicts such as those between Algeria and France. "We will have to decide whose friendship is more important," Cherno said.

* * *

In Africa, Wilder said, America must assume a position of leadership.

"We must advertise our democracy — and we can't look good when our schools close their doors to students because of their color," he stated.

The Arab-Israeli conflict will be another thorny issue for Kennedy, he said.

"In the long run, he may have to decide which is more important—the Jewish vote in this country or the oil reserves in the Persian Gulf area," Wilder said.

RAPS IKE'S POLICIES

Shapiro voiced sharp criticism of the Eisenhower administration for deteriorating relations with Latin American countries. He charged that the present administration has given "medals, munitions, and moral support to every dictatorship in this hemisphere."

Shapiro said high tariffs and import quota policies have forced even friendly nations like Argentina, Chile and Brazil to seek Soviet markets.

"You can't stop a social revolution by sending down aircraft carriers," he said. "U.S. military assistance to the Batista dictatorship failed to prevent Castro from seizing power," Shapiro said.

* * *

"Our policy toward Cuba has led to its domination by a Communist oriented government. A drastic change in our attitude toward Latin America is necessary to prevent other Castro-like revolutions," he warned.

The program was part of MSUO's week-long International Festival.

Belgium Fears Loss of Markets

Failure to End Strikes Leaves Door Open to Foreign Competitors

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Failure of efforts to end the 24-day-old nationwide strike crisis raised fears today that Belgium's crippled industry will lose some of its markets to foreign competitors.

* * *

An abortive conference of majority and opposition party chairmen and vows by Socialist union leader Andre Renard to continue the strikes offset developments on the parliamentary level.

Economic quarters warned that the continued industrial tieup would invite Belgium's strong industrial competitors — including Germany and Britain—to seize Belgian markets and attract foreign investors.

* * *

At Charleroi strikers threw stones through the windshield of a doctor's car. Elsewhere there were scattered instances of driving accidents caused by road blocks and tires punctured by nails strewn by strikers.

Woman Being Held in 'Stabbing for Love'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A 28-year-old woman was held today in the fatal stabbing of a woman described by police as her rival for the affections of a man.

* * *

The victim, Loretta Robinson, 23, also known as Loretta Jackson, was stabbed Wednesday at the home of Lewis Wallace Jr., 22. Geraldine Bailey, 28, surrendered at the home about three hours later.

* * *

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ETHEL G. Polmas, who passed away 2 years ago today, January 12.
Twas hard to say
Thy will be done,
So great with parting pain;
But faith and hope
Have given me strength,
That we shall meet again.
Sadly missed by her husband.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear wife and mother, Mrs. William Farrell who passed away January 12, 1953.

Laos Using U.S. Planes on Rebels

VIENTIANE, Laos—Delayed by censorship—(AP) — American-supplied planes flown by Laotian pilots strafed and bombed pro-Communist rebel forces Wednesday.

British, French and other European diplomats in the Laotian capital expressed grave concern the raid—first reported in the six-year-old civil war—would trigger a retaliatory action by the Soviet Union or Communist China.

"What are we—or the Laotians—supposed to do?" asked a top American official. "Let the Russians keep pouring their guns and ammunition in? And once the Communists are ready, is the Laotian government supposed to lie down and let the Communist walk over them?"

"Now that the first bomb has been dropped," a British diplomat commented, "no town or village in Laos will be safe from air attack."

★ ★ ★

The Laotian pilots made their raid in four observation planes armed with rockets, machine guns and presumably with two 100-pound bombs each. The United States had delivered the planes to pro-Western Premier Boun Oum's forces Tuesday as part of the U.S. military support program for Laos. They were the first armed planes the Laotian government had received.

★ ★ ★

Boun Oum's government had warned the Soviet government Monday that unless it halted its airlift of arms and ammunition to Capt. Kong Le's pro-Communist rebels in central Laos, it would take "appropriate steps." This was considered here as a hint the planes' weapons would be used.

Katanga Drops U.N. Truce

Warplanes Sent on Strafing Run Against Lumumba Troops

Tshombe's defense ministry announced it had broken off a truce arranged by the United Nations and "resumed its freedom of military action on the whole of the Katanga territory."

★ ★ ★

The announcement was made in Elisabethville, capital of Katanga which Tshombe has tried to set up as an independent state.

★ ★ ★

The defense ministry said Katanganese fliers struck at troops loyal to jailed former Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba at Manono, 300 miles north of Elisabethville.

All Right, Where Are Those Dogs?

Licenses Reveal Life of City

By PETE LOCHBILER

The 1960 figures on city licenses and permits tell more of a story than the $41,411 collected over the counter in the City Clerk's office. For instance:

Are we getting tired of dogs as pets in Pontiac? Or are we getting cagey about forking over $2 for a dog license?

There were only 2,237 dog licenses issued last year, compared with 2,350 the year before. What happened to those 113 dogs?

Things began bouncing in 1960.

To the 53 categories of city licenses was added a 54th — trampoline centers. Three of them were licensed for the first time.

The big splurge in new gasoline stations of a few years ago apparently is over. The number of licensed gasoline pumps in operation dropped from 523 in 1959 to 365 last year.

Ladies, did you find it a little hard to find a corner scale to keep track of the calories? The number of licensed weighing and vending machines dipped from 1,854 to 1,464.

It was not a year for pinball fans. Pinball machines and other mechanical amusements began to slump, accounting for 283 licenses, five less than the year before.

Billiard sharks fared worse. The number of licensed pool halls and billiard parlors dipped from 32 to 26.

It was easier to find a taxi cab. The number of licensed cabs jumped from 63 to 76 and the number of cabbies from 232 to 288. The bus strike was a factor.

We had a little more fun in the way of carnivals and festivals. There were six festivals last year, only five the year before.

If there was a shorter wait for a haircut, gentlemen, perhaps it was because there were more barber chairs. Licenses for 155 of them were sold last year, compared with 146 the year before.

Commercial parking lots, facing competition from the municipal lots, decreased from 58 two years ago to 54 last year.

ERA PASSES

There were three licensed downtown theaters, the same as in 1959, but there won't be an application for one of them this year. The Oakland Theater, long a landmark, is with us no more as a result of October's fire.

A final entry tells of a passing era.

Jitneys, a popular feature 20 or so years ago, have all but disappeared. Two of them were licensed in 1959. Last year, there was only one left.

Replacing 30 Adult Prisoners With Youths at Camp Pontiac

Operation Switchover began at Camp Pontiac today with the replacement of 30 adult prisoners by 30 young offenders transferred here from Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson.

The prison camp situated in the Pontiac Lake State Park Recreation Area, White Lake Township, is being converted to a youth corrections camp.

Up until now it has served to house some 120 adult male prisoners employed in maintaining state parks and recreation areas in Oakland County.

These men are being transferred to a new state prison camp near Ludington in Mason County, where they will continue in a program similar to that which has been conducted here through the cooperation of state conservation and correction departments.

The switchover at Camp Pontiac is expected to be completed by sometime in February, according to Seymour Gilman, head of the corrections department's prison camp program.

At that time Camp Pontiac will be used exclusively to detain reformatory-age male youths between the ages of 16 and 20 inclusive. The maximum number of inmates will be held at 100, said Gilman.

The youths will be employed in the maintenance of state parks and recreation areas locally. They are coming here from the state prison at Jackson and from the state reformatory at Ionia.

Purpose of the changeover is to further divorce younger prisoners from the influence of hardened criminals at Jackson. Those coming to Camp Pontiac will be considered good security risks by authorities. Others will continue to be detained at Ionia.

★ ★ ★

The present switch is also necessitated by an increasing number of young offenders in the state, according to Gilman.

NEED MORE ROOM

"We need more room for the 16-20-year age group as 10 per cent of commitments are running under 21 years old and 20 per cent under 19," he said.

★ ★ ★

Youths coming to Camp Pontiac will have between 6 and 18 months of their sentences left to serve, and they will include no serious offenders, he added.

According to the new program, the youths will do the same type of conservation work the older men have been performing in the area.

The purpose remains the same—to provide prisoners with constructive labor that will enable them to learn such trades as carpentry, forestry, masonry and machine work.

In addition, the youth will undergo more intensive counseling at the camp and will have the advantage of furthering their formal education.

GOP District Caucuses County Parley Warmup

Primary order of business for the caucuses is to select delegates to the state convention in Detroit Feb. 3-4. Oakland will have 149 delegates, making it the largest at the state convention.

All of the county's six districts meet tonight in Republican caucuses with the exception of District 6 which will convene Saturday night in Madison Heights.

The caucuses, aimed at shortening the amount of business at the county convention, were started for the first time before last year's primary election.

District 1 Republicans will gather at the Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

The Birmingham Community House will be the scene of the District 3 caucus.

There is expected to be talk about County Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr.'s future — he's considering running for state chairman —and possibly some preconvention maneuvering by candidates for Oakland's four spots on the GOP State Central Committee.

Gordon T. Getsinger, Mrs. Betty Finegan, both of Bloomfield Township will seek reelection along with James F. Preish of Royal Oak.

Seven Years Later – Marilyn, Joe Date Again

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Marilyn Monroe and ex-husband Joe DiMaggio made it public that they're seeing each other again when they dined at Le Pavillon, then went to the closing of "The Hostage" at the Eugene O'Neill Theatre, sitting in row B where everybody could see them. (Marilyn personally phoned the box office for the tickets.) Numerous apple-eyed spectators wandered down to gape at them. Afterward they hustled out a side door; joined Joe's close friend, "Gentleman Georgie" Solotaire, who was Cupid's little helper in their 10-month-long 1954 marriage, and shot away in Joe's silver Thunderbird. All MM will say about seeing Joe again is "No comment." They used to dine at "The Pav" and go auto-riding in the pre-Arthur Miller days when romanticists referred to them as "The King of Diamonds and the Queen of Hearts." They broke up while MM was filming "The Seven-Year Itch" and—by coincidence—Sunday, Jan. 15, will be the seventh anniversary of their wedding day. (Cupid, take it from there.)

I reminded Ingrid Bergman—here with her husband Lars Schmidt for a 5-weeks CBS TV chose — that according to the columnists' chatter a year ago, she should be expecting a baby now (when of course she isn't). "You see how right they are—that should teach you!" she laughed. She'd like to see her daughter Pia while in the U.S.—but her daughter's in Switzerland skiing. (However, they will get together here or in San Francisco.)

Princess Astrid and Commoner Wed in Norway

OSLO, Norway (UPI)—Norway's Princess Astrid married a divorced commoner today despite some resentment among Norwegian subjects and Lutheran churchmen.

The attractive princess, who will be 29 years old next month, was wed to Johan Martin Ferner, a 34-year-old clothing merchant in Asker Church.

The ceremony was performed by Trondheim Bishop Arne Fjellbu.

'Let's Get State Into High Gear,' Says Swainson

ONE COLOR

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. Swainson asked the State Legislature today to take urgent and immediate steps to lift Michigan's economy and lower its high level of unemployment.

In his first message prepared for delivery to a joint session, Swainson outlined his proposals to get the state into high gear on the road to economic growth.

He also touched on two other broad fields — aid to education and help for the aging.

The governor said he would give his views on the need for fiscal reform in a special message later.

Swainson's 5,000-word message provided the occasion for the first live television of a legislative session. The program was telecast by the Michigan State University television station.

* * *

The 35-year-old Swainson took over the reins as Michigan's chief executive after an unprecedented 12 years of leadership under another Democrat — G. Mennen Williams, who left to become assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

But Swainson reminded the legislators of the six years he served as state senator and lieutenant governor before moving into the Capitol's executive suite.

"This enriching experience, I am confident, will serve me in good stead in the executive office," he said.

Specific recommendations were spelled out to his former colleagues in a number of fields.

But he placed the heaviest emphasis on the economic problems facing the state and urged the legislature to give top priority to Michigan's economic development.

"There is no task of greater urgency facing our state," he said, "than the task of putting our vast resources and capabilities to work toward the achievement of economic strength and well-being."

Calling the lawmakers' attention to the need for more jobs and an expanding economy, Swainson declared:

"We cannot ignore the very close relationship between the health of our state's economy and the capacity of our state government to serve the people.

"Full employment means greater fiscal strength and stability for the functions assigned to state government by our people."

To accomplish the task, Swainson urged passage of an economic growth act. He said that as an integral part of this legislation, a governor's council of economic advisors would be created to work in cooperation with a new joint committee on the economic report.

"Thus we will be able to sharply focus our attention and efforts upon employments, the most advantageous utilization of our many resources, and upon remedies proposed to deal with economic problems as they arise," the governor explained.

The governor said that two major causes of high unemployment in the state were a weak national economy, and automation.

* * *

Thus, he said, "The solution to this problem demands positive action not only here at home, but also by the federal government."

Swainson said the key to successful expansion and diversification in Michigan lies in the interest and initiative of local communities.

State of Union Good, Woes Remain—Ike

President Sees Foreign Policy, Economic Gains

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress in a farewell State of the Union message today that America has forged ahead in foreign and economic policy in the last eight years, but still confronts grave problems.

The retiring chief executive cited the continuing Communist menace to Berlin, in Cuba, and elsewhere in the world. And he spoke of intermittent declines in economic activity at home which he said leave "little room for complacency."

"I do not close this message implying that all is well—that all problems are solved, for progress implies both new and continuing problems and, unlike presidential administrations, problems rarely have terminal dates," Eisenhower said.

* * *

"Abroad there is the continuing Communist threat to the freedom of Berlin, an explosive situation in Laos, the problems caused by Communist penetration in Cuba, as well as the many problems connected with the development of the new nations in Africa. These areas, in particular, call for delicate handling and constant review.

"At home several conspicuous problems remain—promoting higher levels of employment, with special emphasis on areas in which heavy unemployment has persisted; continuing to provide for steady economic growth and preserving a sound currency;

"Bringing our balance of payments into more reasonable equilibrium and continuing a high level

Need $$ Millions for County Roads

Oakland County should spend more than $200 million on local roads over the next 20 years, a study showed today.

The amount would mean that the Oakland County Road Commission would be spending six million dollars more a year on maintaining its 2,300 miles of primary and local roads than it does now annually.

* * *

More than four million dollars is spent now in a year. All of the funds come from state gas and weight tax receipts.

The forecast, from a statewide study conducted by the Michigan Good Roads Federation and Michigan Association of Road Commissions, would probably require an additional source of income, possibly a countywide tax on roads, predicted Hiland M. Thatcher, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission.

"Not all of the revenue problem can be solved at the state level," Thatcher said.

"An increase in locally raised funds will be needed."

* * *

"I don't know if it is possible to pass such a tax," he said, "but it is necessary if we are going to take care of the growing traffic in the county."

* * *

Thatcher said that Oakland County is second among Michigan counties in the amount of gas and tax weight receipts, but ranks ninth in funds received from the county and local level.

The study showed that needs for Oakland County total $201,712,000, which is part of $3.5 billion in road improvement and construction that must be undertaken on county roads throughout Michigan in the next 20 years.

* * *

Without specifying which roads, the study, prepared with the help of Oakland commission engineers, broke down the needs into $4,599,-

Missing Boy, 11, Found by Police

Farmington Twp. Lad Afraid to Go Home After Losing Books

An 11-year-old Farmington Township boy, found in downtown Royal Oak after being missing for nearly 15 hours, told his mother he was afraid to go home after school yesterday because he had lost two encyclopedias.

* * *

Mrs. George Lane of 29517 Eastfield Road said her son Richard, the subject of an all-night search by more than 30 police officers and civilian volunteers, promised her today he would never run away again.

Mrs. Lane, still near tears hours after the boy was recovered by Royal Oak police, said her boy was "cold and wet" when brought home by his father early this morning. "He was crying and scared," his mother said.

When spotted by police as he was staring in a store window in Royal Oak, Richard told the officer his name and added: 'I'm cold. I'm very hungry.'

* * *

The boy was reported missing by his parents at 6 p.m. yesterday when he failed to return home from classes at Bond Elementary School in the Farmington School District.

Rioters Win in Georgia

AP Photofax

LEAVES IN TEARS — Charlayne Hunter, 18, leaves the women's dormitory at the University of Georgia Wednesday night in tears after 2,000 rioters forced Gov. Ernest Vandiver to order the emergency action. Another Negro, Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, also was ejected. Athens, Ga., Police Chief E. E. Hardy said the demonstration was led by people from out of town.

Suspend 2 Negroes for Students' Safety

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Negro attorneys hurried to Macon today to contest in federal court the suspension of two members of their race from the University of Georgia. The action came after rioting and violence erupted on the campus a few hours after the two first attended classes.

The university opened for classes at 8 a.m. without Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, who were removed from the school early today by state troopers under a proclamation of Gov. Ernest Vandiver that emergency action was needed to restore order.

An uproarious crowd of students and townspeople estimated by police at 2,000 swirled late Wednesday evening about the dormitory occupied by Charlayne before university officials and Vandiver acted.

The young Negroes, visibly shaken, reached their homes in a patrol car in the predawn hours. Both declined comment.

Holmes drank a cup of coffee with Miss Hunter at her home and then proceeded to his own residence.

* * *

Joseph Williams, university dean of students, announced their suspension "in the interest of their personal safety and in the interest of the safety and welfare of the more than 7,000 students at the university."

"They will be withdrawn until such time as the members of my staff and I determine that it is safe and practical for them to return to school," Williams said.

MACON, Ga. (AP) — A federal judge today voided a Georgia state law cutting off funds to integrated schools and continued an injunction to prevent Gov. Ernest Vandiver and other state leaders from closing the University of Georgia.

Dormitory Girls Like Charlayne

Greet Negro Student, Wish Hubbub Would Quiet Down

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Many, perhaps most, of the white coeds in the dormitory where Negro student Charlayne Hunter was assigned at the University of Georgia accepted the fact that she was there to stay.

* * *

That was before Miss Hunter and another Negro student, Hamilton Holmes, were suspended Wednesday night for their own safety after white students rioted outside Myers Hall, one of the larger dormitories for girls on the university campus.

* * *

A few of the coeds went so far as to take her supper to her Wednesday night. Miss Hunter stayed close to her room hoping to avoid incidents.

"I think she's nice," said one white coed who asked that her name not be used.

* * *

"She has so much poise, and I think that she is going to fit in all right. I just wish that all of this trouble would get over and we could get back to regular routine."

GM Prexy Hits Foreign Products

DETROIT (AP)—The president of the nation's largest manufacturing company says it is high time to scotch forever the myth that anything made abroad is superior in quality to anything made in the United States.

John F. Gordon of General Motors, in a speech last night at the banquet of the Society of Automotive Engineers, said that by now most European manufacturers, for example, use the same assembly line techniques which often draw fire from critics of American products.

He said those who find fault with American goods "can be conveniently blind to identical faults in the products of our foreign competitors."

Gordon said the engineering profession faces two important challenges—one of foreign competition and the other at home from "a group of lay evangelists whose doctrine is, to put it bluntly, that the American way is a sinful way."

This latter group, Gordon said, "would have us believe that the United States is sacrificing social benefits for material indulgence, that our production of consumer goods like automobiles is using too much energy and too many resources that should be allocated to public goods like schools, hospitals and missiles.

* * *

"They do not seem to understand, for example, that it is the production of consumer goods and services which makes possible the tax revenues necessary to create social goods . . .

"Even if it is true that spending for some things is more worthwhile than spending for others, who is smart enough to set up a scale of values? If fins are foolish, are cocktails any less so? . . . Who is to be the judge? The individual consumer? Or the bureaucratic state?"

Gordon said to meet the technical challenge from abroad the United States must maintain its lead in quality, design and innovation and productivity must be increased.

Gordon said "the challenge to our industrial superiority that is coming from abroad cannot be met by moving American operations out of the country, and in General Motors we have no intention of doing so."

Congregation and Friends Honor Dr., Mrs. Marbach

By MARY ANGLEMIER

Pastor of First Presbyterian Church for 30 years and one of the best loved ministers ever to preach in Pontiac, he was honored with a testimonial dinner by the Men's Club of the church. Some 300 club members and their wives attended to pay tribute to Dr. Marbach whose pastorate will end when he retires Feb. 5.

"It's a privilege to pay tribute to Dr. and Mrs. Marbach," said Probate Judge Donald E. Adams. "In looking through my father's collection of papers, I found one dated Dec. 29, 1930 which gave the call to Dr. Marbach to First Presbyterian Church."

He said Dr. Marbach had his first dinner here at the home of his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Jayno Adams of Silver Lake.

"My first impression of Dr. Marbach, when my wife and I joined the church in 1931, was his dignity

State Senate Skirmish Pits Rival GOP Factions

LANSING (AP)—With the 1961 session barely under way, Republican conservative and liberal elements in the senate crossed swords today for the first power test of the new legislature.

Some of the friendly spirit of Wednesday's opening day session dissolved quickly in a GOP battle over the choice of a chairman for the important Senate Business Committee.

At one point, Sen. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair is reliably reported to have stalked out of a committee meeting with a threat to resign his post as the Republican leader in the Senate.

Beadle, who is classed as a moderate in GOP ranks, was several times frustrated in his moves as GOP majority leader last year by the so-called "veto bloc" of Senate conservatives.

He accepted another two-year term last month in the belief that Republicans would work in closer harmony this year.

* * *

Outcome of a meeting of the five Republican members of the business committee Wednesday was tentative selection of Sen. Charles R. Feenstra, choice of the conservative element, as business committee chairman.

A main function of the committee is screening of most of the governor's appointments to state administrative jobs.

EYE OUSTER

Another move was under way to oust Sen. John P. Smeekens of Coldwater, a conservative, as chairman of the Senate Labor Committee.

* * *

A Democratic contest was averted when Sen. Basil W. Brown decided not to run against Sen. Harold M. Ryan, the incumbent minority leader. Both are from Detroit.

Harmony and good will prevailed generally in the House although Republicans hold a bare 56-54 majority.

Outnumbered Democrats joined Republicans to give Rep. Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, a second two-year term as House speaker. Rep. Wilfred G. Bassett of Jackson was similarly elected speaker pro tem.

* * *

Pears said he expected to announce membership on House committees in a week or 10 days.

He indicated also that he would recommend the Republican majority on committees be enlarged from one to two because of November election victories which broke up a 55-55 standoff in the 1959 and 1960 sessions.

Lawmakers were expected to recess today after hearing Gov. Swainson's "state of the state" message.

Congregation Lauds Dr., Mrs. Marbach

* * *

He then told of a nurse's impression when the honored pastor visited Pontiac General Hospital.

"Dr. Marbach is the handsomest and most distinguished man in Pontiac," she told my wife. "The good he does for the sick must be tremendous. I work in both St. Joseph Mercy and Pontiac General hospitals and there isn't a minister that comes more often than Dr. Marbach."

Caius Gordon spoke of the small town of Omena on the shore of Traverse Bay where the Marbachs have spent their vacations every summer but one since 1925. "It is here, in a little century-old white frame church that our pastor preaches every Sunday through the month of August to villagers and to local Indians without remuneration," he said. His tale was told in poetry.

* * *

"I can't remember when I didn't know the Marbachs," Attorney Robert C. Anderson told the group. "Both Dr. and Mrs. Marbach have influenced me all the way along. When I was in the army my favorite pin-up picture was that of Dr. Marbach."

* * *

Among other letters were those from City Manager Walter K. Willman, Mayor Philip E. Rowston, Francis Staley, C. T. Forsman, Harold B. Euler, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard, Rabbi Nathan Hershfield, James Burke, the Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, the Rev. Richard C. Stuckmeyer, Donald Chalmer and John W. Hirlinger.

In accepting the portrait of himself and a complete set of fishing tackle including a slicker, Dr. Marbach said the gifts had a Biblical theme.

"Throughout my ministry my aim and object has always been to be a fisher of men," he said. "The fish has been a symbol of the Christian since Jesus told Peter and Andrew 'Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men.'"

* * *

Preceding the program, Huntzinger was installed as president of the Men's Club; Gordon B. Cox, vice president; Ford Everett, secretary; and Sam A. Ballo, treasurer.

* * *

The Women's Association will honor Mrs. Marbach with a luncheon at Devon Gables on Jan. 20.

* * *

PRESIDENTS MEET — President-Elect John F. Kennedy met with former President Herbert Hoover at a reception Wednesday night at Palm Beach, Fla. Standing between the two presidents is Loy Anderson of West Palm Beach. Kennedy asked for advice and Hoover chuckled, saying he would get plenty.

Jack Appoints Four; Keeps One Ike Man

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-Elect John F. Kennedy today filled four top positions in the Interior Department. He also announced that the Eisenhower administration's reclamation bureau chief will remain.

The reclamation commissioner is Floyd E. Dominy, 60. A political independent and a veteran in the bureau, he was named director by President Eisenhower last year.

* * *

Wednesday Kennedy—at 43 the youngest man ever elected president—paid a social call on the oldest living former president, Herbert Hoover, 86.

FOR DEDICATION

The president-elect and his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Britain, called on Hoover at the home of Palm Beach banker H. Loy Anderson, who was host at a reception for the former president.

The incoming president smilingly asked Hoover whether he had any advice "now that we are taking on these new responsibilities."

MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, announced Kennedy's first news conference as president will be held in Washington the evening of Jan. 25 and will be carried nationwide on live television and radio.

Salinger had announced earlier that Kennedy would set precedents by holding news conferences at night from time to time, and permitting the TV and radio networks to broadcast them live.

* * *

Board to Hear Plans for School

Bagley Principal Wants to Start Reorganization in Second Semester

The Pontiac Board of Education will hear a proposed reorganization program for Bagley Elementary School and plans for the mathematics program in junior high schools at tonight's meeting.

* * *

Also on the agenda is a request from Wayne State University for the establishment of a field training unit for visiting teachers.

A study and consideration of partial departmentalization of Bagley and Whitfield schools has been under way for six months.

Plans at Bagley have been developed sufficiently so that John F. Perdue, Bagley principal, wants to implement them in the second semester of the current school year.

* * *

The plans are designed to provide instruction by specialists in certain areas such as science, arithmetic and reading.

Revision of the mathematics program for grades 7-12 began in the 7th grade during the 1958-59 school year. The revised program will reach the 9th grade next September.

Several structural plans and required decisions will be presented tonight.

The field training unit proposed by the Wayne State University School of Social Work would be utilized by WSU, Michigan State University and the University of Michigan.

* * *

"To our knowledge, this is the only program of this type in the area of school social work in the United States or elsewhere," said Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent, today.

Swiss on Way to Cuba

NEW YORK (AP) — Gastones Jaccard, former Swiss ambassador to Belgium, arrived today from Zurich on his way to Havana to take over supervision of United States interests in Cuba.

He will fly to Havana later.

2 City Men Renamed to Fair Commission

Two Pontiac area men have been reappointed to the Michigan State Fair Commission.

* * *

Name to three-year terms yesterday by Gov. Swainson were Eldon C. Rosegart, 3007 Lansdowne Road, Waterford Township and Harry F. Garling, 2220 E. Clarkston Road, Orion Township.

Rosegart has been commission chairman the past two years.

Director of the Pontiac Northern High School band, Rosegart is a member of the Waterford Township Board of Education and president of the Pontiac Federation of Teachers.

* * *

Garling, a member of the commission since 1952, is secretary-treasurer of the Monitor Mutual Insurance Co. in Pontiac. He was president of the commission in 1955-56.

National Firm Buys American Title Co.

The American Title Company of Michigan, a Detroit title insurance agency with a branch office in Pontiac, has been acquired by the American Title Insurance Co., a national insurance firm.

The Pontiac branch, at 61 Oakland Ave., is managed by Rheo C. Marchand, a local attorney.

In announcing the acquisition, Jay R. Schwartz, president, said that ATCO of Michigan will be operated as a wholly-owned subsidiary with personnel of both the Detroit and Pontiac offices remaining unchanged.

ATCO of Michigan has been exclusive representative in Michigan for American Title.

City to Replace Parking Meters

New Type on Downtown Streets Will Be Able to Take Pennies

The city has begun replacement of the 20-year-old parking meters on downtown streets with new ones that will take pennies as well as nickels.

* * *

The change will be advantageous to downtown visitors planning to park only a few minutes, said City Manager Walter K. Willman.

A greater turnover of cars is expected to add to the city's meter revenues, he added.

Replacement got under way yesterday on Huron Street. Roy Hetherington, electrical superintendent, said the switch will take place gradually on other downtown streets over the next three or four months.

* * *

Hetherington said most of the replacements will be used meters, reconditioned by the city, while about 50 will be new.

Hetherington said the new meters — the same type that are used in the municipal parking lots — will provide for 12 minutes of parking per penny, up to five pennies for an hour.

* * *

There are no plans to change the existing one-hour parking limit.

Hetherington said the major reason for the replacement program was the age of the existing meters and the maintenance troubles they caused.

The replacement program does not affect the municipal parking lots, he said.

Ike Calls Missile Gap a Fiction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower today disputed President-Elect John F. Kennedy's space advisers and said the so-called "missile gap" between Russia and the United States shows every sign of being "fiction."

* * *

The President defended his space, missile and defense programs in a farewell State of the Union Message to Congress in which he urged resistance to overspending on defense.

"We must not return to the 'crash-program' psychology of the past when each new feint by the Communists was responded to panic," Eisenhower said. "The 'bomber gap' of several years ago was always a fiction, and the 'missile gap' shows every sign of being the same."

A special Kennedy task force submitted a report Wednesday suggesting that the United States might have to switch missiles for its man-in-space program, possibly causing a delay of at least a year in putting an astronaut in orbit.

* * *

The report to the president-elect said the man-in-space program is ailing, the United States trails Russia in missile development and there is an urgent need for a single military space command.

County Roads Need Many $$ Millions

000 for 164 new bridges, $140,853,000 for reconstruction of existing roads, $50,380,000 for maintenance, and $5,880,000 for engineering.

* * *

"Current annual revenue is about $4.5 million from the state per year, which is less than half the annual income needed over the next 20 years," Thatcher said.

He pointed out the estimated program does not include state highways in Oakland County.

The Day in Birmingham

Congregationalists Found New Church After Split

BIRMINGHAM—A new church has been established here by members of Congregational Church who strongly opposed its recent merger with the United Church of Christ.

* * *

The new congregational church will be known as the Pilgrim Congregational Church of Birmingham.

The new church members are temporarily holding Sunday services at Showcase, Inc. The first was held Sunday and was attended by 64 adults. Fourteen children attended Sunday school.

* * *

The officers are James K. Flack, chairman; Howard W. Rieman, treasurer; and Mrs. Harlan R. Bird, secretary.

* * *

Sunday, the minister will be Dr. Robert Frehse, executive secretary of the Detroit Round Table of the National Council of Christians and Jews. Service and Sunday school will begin at 11 a.m.

On Jan. 22, the service will be conducted by Dr. George Bohman, chairman of the executive committee of the National Association of Congregational Christian Churches of the United States. He also is head of the speech department at Wayne State University.

Members of the Pilgrim Congregational Church have indicated their intention to join the newly established association of the Congregational Christian Churches.

Birmingham chapter 220, Order of the Eastern Star, will honor past matrons and past patrons with a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Masonic Temple. At 8 p.m. the past matrons and patrons will exemplify the degrees.

Norman A. Herberts

Service for Norman A. Herberts, 62, of 950 Larchlea Drive, will be 1 p.m. Saturday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Acacia Park Cemetery, Southfield.

He was an associate of the E. Alachten Insurance Agency of Detroit.

He was a member of the F&AM, 474, Detroit; Moslem Temple, Mystic Shrine, Detroit; and the Birmingham Hi-12 Club.

Herberts was a former president of the Detroit Life Underwriters Association and a member of the Top Star Club of Pacific Mutual for 25 years.

of confidence in our national and international systems:

"Eliminating heavily excessive surpluses of a few farm commodities; and overcoming deficiencies in our health and educational programs."

NOTES OF CONFIDENCE

But there were notes of confidence and hope in a message that looked both backward and forward. And there were good wishes for the man who will succeed Eisenhower eight days from now.

But he said a new president shortly will lay before Congress proposals for shaping the future of a great land, and: "To him, every citizen, whatever his political beliefs, prayerfully extends best wishes for good health and for wisdom and success in coping with the problems that confront our nation."

* * *

The message, in contrast with Eisenhower's usual practice of delivering it in person, merely was sent to Capitol Hill to be read to the Senate and House.

Eisenhower skipped one other personal presentation, in 1956, when he was recovering from a heart attack.

While Esenhower had a brief offering of good will to Kennedy, he nevertheless held up the record of his own administration as one worthy of building upon.

And, in effect, he challenged some of Kennedy's campaign pronouncements and some of the findings of task forces which have been advising the president-elect.

'Invasion' Ousted by Building Plans in Cuban Paper

HAVANA (AP)—Predictions of a "Yankee invasion" were dropped from the front page of the semiofficial paper Revolucion today and replaced by an announcement of plans to build 20,000 government homes for workers.

* * *

This report was given banner-headline prominence, although the newspaper continued to drum up enthusiasm for Friday night's grand march to the presidential palace as a show of support for Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government against any threat of "Yankee aggression."

Vatican Announces Expulsion in Haiti

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican today excommunicated all persons responsible for the expulsion of Roman Catholic churchmen from the Caribbean republic of Haiti.

* * *

The excommunication — the church's highest penalty, which bars those affected from the sacraments and all communion with the faithful—was announced in a statement from the Sacred Consistorial Congregation.

It was published today in the Vatican City newspaper Osservatore Romano.

* * *

The statement did not name the persons affected, but it was assumed they included Haitian President Francois Duvalier.

GOP Senators to Shun Top Hats for Jan. 20 Rite

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shunning top hats and striped pants, Senate Republicans have agreed to "come as they please" to the inauguration of President - Elect John F. Kennedy.

This means most of the GOP senators will show up in dark business suits for the Jan. 20 ceremony.

"Everyone was left to his own devices," said GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen after the weekly Republican policy committee luncheon Tuesday.

"I could come either way," he added, "but the decision might be left to higher authority — and you know who that is."

He made clear he was talking about Mrs. Dirksen rather than about President Eisenhower.

* * *

Food Supplies Cut by Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York City today faced an immediate 50 per cent cut in food supplies as the tugboat crews man strike.

* * *

The three-day-old walkout by 660 tug and ferry crewmen received backing from the powerful Teamsters Union Local whose 125,000 truck drivers refused to cross picket lines to pick up foodstuffs, coal and other commodities from rail heads and terminals.

Railway workers and other freight handlers also cooperated in the embargo on rail freight shipments.

* * *

City markets commissioner Anthony Mascavelli warned that food actions by sympathetic unions would cut off half of the city's normal deliveries of meat, fresh fruit and vegetables today. He said milk, staples and fuel oil were not affected very much.

Dredging to Drop Levels of Two Great Lakes

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — Completion of deepening navigation channels in the Detroit and St. Clair rivers as part of the St. Lawrence Seaway development will have the effect of dropping the levels of Lake Huron and Lake Michigan about three inches in 1962, an official of the United States Corps of Engineers said Wednesday.

* * *

But James H. Davis, chief of the corps' Operations Division in the Detroit District, said the effect will be only temporary.

Construction of underwater structures in the Sarnia area, he said, will restrict the flow out of the two lakes to its present rate.

Bill on 19th Congressional District Pondered by Law

Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac was seeking a copy of a bill proposed to the legislature yesterday before deciding whether he'd introduce one of his own toward creation of a new congressional district.

Law had compiled figures which would support the addition of the state's 19th district to heavily populated Oakland County, the 18th district.

He said he was unaware that Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, had proposed a bill which would take nine southeastern Oakland County cities out of the 18th district and put them into the new 19th along with the area of Detroit north of Mc Nichols Road from the Grand Trunk Railroad west to Greenfield Road and Highland Park.

Law said if Mr. Montgomery's bill, the first of many expected to be submitted on the redistricting issue, agreed with what he had in mind he would support it and run against Mr. Montgomery. If not, he said, he would propose a bill.

After analysis of the population figures, Law said "it doesn't look too good for Oakland County, with one district in Detroit. I believe it is the 16th, having a population of 880,000."

Oakland, which comprises all of the 18th district, has a population of 684,000.

Michigan is entitled to one more seat in Congress—it now has 19—because of a gain in the census figures over the past 10 years. The state now has 11 Republicans and seven Democrats.

Montgomery said he expected vigorous opposition to his measure, which would result in keeping 10 of the districts relatively safe for the Republicans, leaving the Democrats solidly entrenched in seven and creating two tossup areas.

If the legislature fails to agree on one of the proposals put forth for absorbing the new district, Michigan's 19th congressman will be elected from the state at large in 1962.

Will Pave State's Gravel Highways by the Summer

IONIA (AP) — The last mile of gravel state highway in Michigan will be paved by summer, the State Highway Department reports.

Commissioner John C. Mackie said in a talk here that the state had more than 800 miles of graveled roads in its highway system in 1957. The department has been gradually eliminating the gravel highways and has only about 30 miles of highways remaining to be paved under contract for paving, he said.

Gravel highways still to be in Ionia and Delta counties, M-66 in Gogebic County, M-35 in Menominee and Delta counties, M-48 in Chippewa County and M-65 in Alpena and Alcona counties.

Sift Reform Plan for Russian Farms

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Communist Party Central Committee began discussions today of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's plan to eliminate inefficiency and "cobwebs" from Russia's lagging agricultural program.

* * *

The plan calls for top-to-bottom reform that would pattern the office of agriculture ministry along the lines of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

* * *

Khrushchev's plan would take managerial duties away from the ministry and have it concentrate on such chores as scientific research, farmer education and development of new seeds and livestock breeds.

These Canine Trainers Can Turn Pest Into Pet

Training a dog to obey commands means the difference between a pet—or a pest.

This is the contention of the volunteer leaders of one of the state's most popular educational programs—the 10-year-old Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club.

The fact was evidenced last night at the Waterford Township community center when about 125 people gathered to watch a dog training demonstration which was second to none.

Photos and Story by Reba Heintzelman

The trained canines sat, stayed, heeled, came and jumped in an amazing performance that appeared almost human, showing what can be accomplished with gentle firmness and infinite patience.

There were petite poodles, lumbering golden retrievers, sassy terriers, bull dogs, cocker spaniels and just plain mutts and all behaved like well-mannered "ladies" and "gentlemen."

There are 35 instructors in the training club, and none receives any type of salary. They formed the organization to help people have better pets.

The fee of $10 for the 10-weeks course is all given to the Leader Dogs at Rochester, or to Michigan State College to equip the veterinarian hospital.

The new training course for this year will get under way at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Community Center and those wishing additional information have been asked to call the president of the club, Charles L. Barnes, 401 Orchard Lake Road.

LITTLE DOG — BIG DEAL — The 13-month old Chihuahua is on the verge of going into a large scale training session at the Community Center in Waterford Township. His owner, Mrs. Woodrow Weaver of 3939 Jackson Blvd., White Lake Township has taught the pup one thing — to "stay" and it's alright with this gentleman.

NOT THIS (right) BUT THIS (left) — Sir Oliver Brown has not yet learned that napping at pantlegs or silk hose is strictly taboo. What 5-weeks old baby would! Tiny teeth need to come through and a good soft leg is a fine thing to chew on. However, "Ollie" in the left picture is beginning to learn the hard lesson of discipline and it is this time in life that "a fella sure needs a friend." The pedigree pup is from the Hawkins Almyr Kennels in Milford.

DOGS LIKE PEOPLE — If a dog has been well-trained he will love his owner more, and the owner will never part with him. This group of dogs and trainers presented a performance last night at the Waterford Township Community Center, to show others the results of long hours of constant work and above all — patience.

FINE PET — Although 7-year-old Kenneth Kremlick does not own "Mike" the wire haired fox terrier, he admires his manners and good sense. Mike can heel, stay, sit and do anything his owner Mrs. Pauline Logsdon of 1028 Argyle St., commands.

FOURFOOT JUMPER — "Heidi" takes the training jump with all the ease of a graceful gazelle as she struts her stuff for prospective dog owner-trainers. The German short-haired pointer is an Oakland County champion having scored 196½ points at a show last week. His owner is Mrs. Reginald Armstrong.

Name Civil Defense Director for State

LANSING (AP)—Walter Nunimaker, 45, of Wakefield was named director of the Michigan Office of Civil Defense Wednesday succeeding Ralph M. Sheehan, for an indefinite term.

Sheehan resigned from the post recently in protest over the appointment of two other officials within the agency while he was recuperating at home from a heart attack.

Nunimaker has been civil defense director for Gogebic County and president of the Upper Peninsula Civil Defense Directors Association.

To Him Who Waits

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — Dr. Leon Slavin tried time and again to bag a ruffed grouse but returned empty handed from his hunting trips. But while eating breakfast at home he heard a crash and found that a grouse had smashed the window, turned over a lamp and landed in the fire place.

Says U.S. Near Big Depression

Meany Asks Congress for Bigger U.S. Outlay in 8-Point Proposal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany said Wednesday the nation is on the brink of the "gravest economic crisis" since the depression of the 1930s and called for an eight-point anti-recession offensive.

In a letter to congressional leaders Meany termed current unemployment and production rates "alarming" and said, "The long run outlook is even grimmer."

When the population increase of the next 10 years is combined with layoffs caused by automation, "the job problem assumes almost terrifying dimensions," he wrote.

The labor leader called for $300 million in federal grants to states and communities to cover 15 per cent of the cost of public works projects. He said this would generate up to $2 billion in public works construction.

Meany also proposed emergency supplementary unemployment benefits of about $205 million a month, an immediate 10 per cent increase in social security benefits, amounting to $100 million a month, and tax relief for small businesses.

He urged Congress to grant the President authority to cut personal income taxes by $10 a week when ever unemployment exceeded 7 million.

GSA Purchases Vehicles Costing $10 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Services Administration has announced purchase of motor vehicles costing more than $10 million from five manufacturers for government use.

Ford Motor Co. got the biggest dollar contract—$3,372,938 to supply 1,873 light trucks and 334 sedans.

American Motors received a $16,896 contract to provide 12 sedans, seven of them to be Rambler Americans.

County Drain Structure Is Up to Commissioner

LANSING (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said Wednesday structures which carry trunkline highways over county drains are subject to the jurisdiction of the county drain commissioners.

In an opinion requested by State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, Adams said the highway commissioner does not have the authority to prepare plans award contracts or supervise the construction of such a structure.

The vocational rehabilitation program has been significantly expanded. About 90,000 handicapped people now are being rehabilitated annually so they are again able to earn their own living with self-respect and dignity.

New legislation provides for better medical care for the needy aged, including those older persons, who, while otherwise self-sufficient, need help in meeting their health care costs. The administration recommended a major expansion of this effort.

The coverage of the Social Security Act has been broadened since 1953 to make 11 million additional people eligible for retirement, disability or survivor benefits for themselves or their dependents, and the social security benefits have been substantially improved.

The states, aided by federal grants, now assist some 6 million needy people through the programs of old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, and aid to the totally and permanently disabled.

Urban Development

More houses have been built during the past eight years—over nine million—than during any previous eight years in history.

An historic new approach — urban renewal — now replaces piecemeal thrusts at slum pockets and urban blight. Communities engaged in urban renewal have doubled and renewal projects have more than tripled since 1953.

An estimated 68 projects in 50 cities will be completed by the end of the current fiscal year; another 577 projects will be under way, and planning for 310 more will be in process. A total of $2 billion in federal grants will ultimately be required to finance these 955 projects.

* * *

New programs have been initiated to provide more and better housing for elderly people. Approximately 25,000 units especially designed for the elderly have been built, started, or approved in the past three years.

For the first time, because of federal help and encouragement, 90 metropolitan areas and urban regions and 1140 smaller towns throughout the country are making comprehensive development plans for their future growth and development.

American communities have been helped to plan water and sanitation systems and schools through planning advances for 1600 public works projects with a construction cost of nearly $2 billion.

Mortgage insurance on individual homes has been greatly expanded. During the past eight years, the Federal Housing Administration alone insured over 2½ million home mortgages valued at $27 billion, and in addition, insured more than 10 million property improvement loans.

The federal government must continue to provide leadership in order to make our cities and communities better places in which to live, work, and raise families, but without usurping rightful local authority, replacing individual responsibility, or stifling private initiative.

Immigration

Over 32,000 victims of Communist tyranny in Hungary were brought to our shores, and at this time our country is working to assist refugees from tyranny in Cuba.

Since 1953, the waiting period for naturalization applicants has been reduced from 18 months to 45 days.

The administration also has made legislative recommendations to liberalize existing restrictions upon immigration while still safeguarding the national interest.

It is imperative that our immigration policy be in the finest American tradition of providing a haven for oppressed peoples and fully in accord with our obligation as a leader of the free world.

Veterans

In discharging the nation's obligation to our veterans, during the past eight years there have been:

The readjustment of World War II veterans was completed, and the five million Korean conflict veterans were assisted in achieving successful readjustment to civilian life;

Increases in compensation benefits for all eligible veterans with service connected disabilities.

Higher nonservice connected pension benefits for needy veterans.

Greatly improved benefits to survivors of veterans dying in or as a result of service.

Authorization, by presidential directive, of an increase in the number of beds available for sick and disabled veterans;

Development of a 12-year, $900-million construction program to modernize and improve our veterans hospitals;

New modern techniques brought into the administration of veterans affairs to provide the highest quality service possible to those who have defended us.

Conclusion

In concluding my final message to the Congress, it is fitting to look back to my first — to the aims and ideals I set forth on Feb. 2, 1953: to use America's influence in world affairs to advance the cause of peace and justice, to conduct the affairs of the executive branch with integrity and efficiency, to encourage creative intiative in our economy, and to work toward the attainment of the well-being and equality of opportunity of all citizens.

Equally, we have honored our commitment to pursue and attain specific objectives.

Among them, as stated eight years ago: strengthening of the mutual security program; development of world trade and commerce; ending of hostilities in Korea; creation of a powerful deterrent force; practicing fiscal responsibility; checking the menace of inflation; reducing the tax burden; providing an effective internal security program; developing and conserving our natural resources; reducing governmental interference in the affairs of the farmer; strengthening and improving services by the department of labor, and the vigilant guarding of civil and social rights.

I do not close this message implying that all is well—that all problems are solved. For progress implies both new and continuing problems and, unlike presidential administrations, problems rarely have terminal dates.

Abroad, there is the continuing Communist threat to the freedom of Berlin, an explosive situation in Laos, the problems caused by Communist penetration of Cuba, as well as the many problems connected with the development of the new nations in Africa. These areas, in particular, call for delicate handling and constant review.

At home, several conspicuous problems remain: promoting higher levels of employment, with special emphasis on areas in which heavy unemployment has persisted, continuing to provide for steady economic growth and preserving a sound currency; bringing our balance of payments into more reasonable equilibrium and continuing a high level of confidence in our national and international systems; eliminating heavily excessive surpluses of a few farm commodities; and overcoming deficiencies in our health and educational programs.

Our goal always has been to add to the spiritual, moral, and material strength of our nation. I believe we have done this. But it is a process that must never end.

Let us pray that leaders of both the near and distant future will be able to keep the nation strong and at peace, that they will advance the well-being of all our people, that they will lead us on to still higher moral standards, and that, in achieving these goals, they will maintain a reasonable balance between private and governmental responsibility.

Groups to Tour State Hospital

Legislators and College Women to Study Needs of Sick Children

State legislators and the American Association of University Women will take a close look at Pontiac State Hospital tomorrow.

Dr. Walter H. Obenauf, medical superintendent at the hospital, today disclosed that several legislators and members of the AAUW will visit the hospital Friday morning.

"They are coming here to study the needs of emotionally disturbed children in a state hospital setting," Dr. Obenauf said.

He will be accompanied by members of the House Interim Committee. Approximately 12 legislators are expected to attend the tour.

Heading the AAUW group will be Mrs. Edward F. LaTulip, AAUW state legislative chairman.

SEE FOR SELVES

Mrs. LaTulip stated that her group and the Michigan Probate Judges Association are vitally interested in "good state hospital facilities for mentally ill children" and have encouraged the legislators to "see conditions for themselves."

The group is scheduled to see the children's psychiatric program and tour Fairlawn School for Emotionally Disturbed Children at the hospital.

The tour will begin at about 10 a.m. A discussion and lunch at the hospital will follow.

The group is scheduled to leave Pontiac shortly before 1 p.m. to conduct a similar tour of the Hawthorne Center in Plymouth.

Meeting to Sift Bond for Drain

Sylvan Lake Council Decides to Ask Public for Reaction

The Sylvan Lake City Council at its monthly meeting last night scheduled a public meeting for Jan 26 to discuss a proposed $26,000 storm drain bond issue.

The proposed storm drain would primarily serve residents of Woodlawn Subdivision.

It is necessary that the drain be constructed before streets in the subdivision can be blacktopped, according to City Manager Marshall H. Woodburn.

The bond issue would be floated over a three-year period if approved.

"We want to see how the residents involved feel about this," Woodburn said.

"If we were to wait until after blacktopping to construct the drain, it would be much more costly."

The proposed drain would run down Garland Street to Lakeview and down Lakeview to a point where it would empty into Sylvan Lake.

Streets directly effected by the drain would be Lakeland and Woodland, with relief also going to property owners on Sherwood and Pleasant streets.

Tentative time for the meeting has been set at 8 p.m. at the Sylvan City Hall.

The city is now in the second year of a three-year blacktopping program on all unpaved streets.

County Planners Keep Their Chairman

Members of the Oakland County Planning Commission yesterday named Bloomfield Hills architect J. Robert F. Swanson chairman for the 10th straight year.

They also named Donald A. Kalmbach, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. building engineer from Birmingham, vice chairman of the commission to succeed the late Vincent S. Madison who died last May.

Ralph A. Main, Birmingham civil engineer and county surveyor, was re-elected to his fourth term as secretary of the commission.

Swanson is the second chairman of the commission since it was formed in 1949. He spent the first two years as a charter member and was first elected chairman in 1951.

Waterford Youth Accidentally Shoots His Foot

James Koenig, 17, of 2162 Crescent Lake Road, had been studying in his room when he decided to load and unload his father's 30-30 caliber gun.

During the procedure the gun accidentally discharged, shattering the boy's foot. His parents, the Donald R. Koenigs, had gone to the store and returned home to find their son in the bedroom.

MSUO Faculty Panel Looks Ahead

By MAX SIMON

President-Elect Kennedy faces a rough voyage in guiding the ship of state through foreign policy problems, a panel of four Michigan State University Oakland faculty members agreed Wednesday night.

"He'll be sitting down to a poker game in which his opponents hold all the aces—and he'll deserve applause if he can get up with his pants still in place," said Dr. Sheldon Appleton, assistant professor of area studies.

Other speakers were Dr. Samuel Shapiro, assistant professor of history; Dr. Melvin Cherno, assistant professor of history; and David Wilder, university librarian.

* * *

Viewing problems facing the new administration in the Far East, Appleton stated:

"Within the next four years, Communist China will be seated in the United Nations. It could happen next year. The bigger fuss we make about this the more harm we do ourselves."

He stated that the question of American "recognition" of the Chinese Communists has faded in importance.

"They possibly don't even want our recognition, and could go so far as to reject it were we to take such action," he said.

WILL BE MALIGNED

Appleton predicted that Kennedy—and especially Adlai E. Stevenson—would be called "traitors" and "appeasers" when the Chinese Reds are seated in the international assembly. "They'll be picked on plenty," he stated.

Militarily, he said, the United States faced defeat in case war broke out in Laos or Quemoy and Matsu.

"I feel that the Communists want us to hold on to the two offshore islands," he said. "It gives them the chance to create a crisis whenever they choose."

Appleton warned that U.S. relations with Japan could worsen if the Japanese economy continues to deteriorate.

* * *

"The major problem is one of public relations," he said. "There is a considerable amount of misunderstanding about our position. There has been too little selling of the American way of life, of what we stand for."

Cherno said the colonial powers of Europe were unhappy with the American support for those peoples striving for national independence, and with our support of the regimes of Tito and France.

Berlin remained a problem that the Russians could turn into a crisis at any time, he stated.

HARD TO STAY NEUTRAL

He said it would be difficult for the United States to remain neutral in conflicts such as those between Algeria and France. "We will have to decide whose friendship is more important," Cherno said.

* * *

In Africa, Wilder said, America must assume a position of leadership.

"We must advertise our democracy — and we can't look good when our schools close their doors to students because of their color," he stated.

The Arab-Israeli conflict will be another thorny issue for Kennedy, he said.

"In the long run, he may have to decide which is more important—the Jewish vote in this country or the oil reserves in the Persian Gulf area," Wilder said.

RAPS IKE'S POLICIES

Shapiro voiced sharp criticism of the Eisenhower administration for deteriorating relations with Latin-American countries. He charged that the present administration has given "medals, munitions, and moral support to every dictatorship in this hemisphere."

Shapiro said high tariffs and import quota policies have forced even friendly nations like Argentina, Chile and Brazil to seek Soviet markets.

"You can't stop a social revolution by sending down aircraft carriers," he said. "U.S. military assistance to the Batista dictatorship failed to prevent Castro from seizing power," Shapiro said.

* * *

"Our policy toward Cuba has led to its domination by a Communist-oriented government. A drastic change in our attitude toward Latin America is necessary to prevent other Castro-like revolutions," he warned.

The program was part of MSUO's week-long International Festival.

Robbed and Slugged, Woman Tells Police

The woman, Ann Gray, 141 Wall St., told officers the robbery occurred at 6:35 p.m. at Jessie Street north of Elm Street.

Seven Years Later—Marilyn, Joe Date Again

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Marilyn Monroe and ex-husband Joe DiMaggio made it public that they're seeing each other again when they dined at Le Pavilion, then went to the closing of "The Hostage" at the Eugene O'Neill Theatre, sitting in row B where everybody could see them. (Marilyn personally phoned the box office for the tickets.) Numerous apple-eyed spectators wandered down to gape at them. Afterward they hustled out a side door; joined Joe's close friend, "Gentleman Georgie" Solotaire, who was Cupid's little helper in their 10-month-long 1954 marriage, and shot away in Joe's silver Thunderbird. All MM will say about seeing Joe again is "No comment." They used to dine at "The Pav" and go auto-riding in the pre-Arthur Miller days when romanticists referred to them as "The King of Diamonds and the Queen of Hearts." They broke up while MM was filming "The Seven-Year Itch" and—by coincidence—Sunday, Jan. 15, will be the seventh anniversary of their wedding day. (Cupid, take it from there.)

I reminded Ingrid Bergman—here with her husband Lars Schmidt for a 5-weeks CBS TV chose — that according to the columnists' chatter a year ago, she should be expecting a baby now (when of course she isn't). "You see how right they are—that should teach you!" she laughed. She'd like to see her daughter Pia while in the U.S.—but her daughter's in Switzerland skiing. (However, they will get together here or in San Francisco.)

Playwright Strikes Back; Makes Computer Villain

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Man bites Univac and I guess that's news in these automated days.

Remember when CBS-TV showed off an electronic computer that wrote TV plays?

Last night, a living, breathing playwright struck back. Bernard Slade's "Steel Hour" comedy, "The Mating Machine," told us that electronic computers are really untrustworthy, incompetent bunglers, especially in the field of matchmaking.

But if Mr. Slade set out to uphold the honor of nonautomated scripts, I'd say the machine still is ahead. The story had a defective computer bringing together theoretically mismatched couples only to have these wrongos hit it off and get married.

If ever TV gave us an assembly line product, this was it. Is there anyone out there who watched the show and didn't know, within minutes after the opening, just how it would end? What I didn't expect was the dull stretch between first and last scenes.

There was one scene in which the handsome, bashful bachelor, played by John Ericson, asked his handsome, aggressive roommate, played by George Grizzard, for something funny to say to his date in case the conversation lagged.

Gag writers, of course, have this formula about "chicken fat," "chicken flicker" and "Brooklyn" always being laugh-producing words. Mr. Slade demonstrated not only that he knows this formula but just about every other comedy cliche in the book. And he used them all to paddle his pathetic little tale across the finish line.

Also in the cast were Diana Lynn, Geraldine Brooks and Margaret Hamilton. Instead of checking the Univac, they should have examined the script. It was pure chicken fat.

Last night's NBC-TV hour consisted of films from Hope's visit to the Panama Canal Zone, Guantanamo Bay, Puerto Rico and other American military bases in the Caribbean. I'm all for these visits and I hope Hope hops around on them for many, many more years, but they don't really provide a first-rate TV special. And I think that in trying to come up with a service club-type show that can be used on TV, Hope is thinning out material for both audiences.

His troupe included Andy Williams, Anita Bryant, Janis Paige and Zsa Zsa Gabor, who wore a gown that might have been designed by a photographer from "Playboy" magazine. The brightest spots on the show were the calypso songs by Hope and Williams and Hope's shenanigans during the one comedy sketch.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: A series of 40 full-hour specials is planned for NBC-TV's Sunday night schedule next season, with DuPont picking up the tab. "Show of the Month" and "The June Allyson Show," now on CBS-TV, will be dropped.

Ralph Taeger and James Coburn antagonists on the ill-fated "Klondike" series, will costar in "Acapulco," the series that replaces "Klondike" beginning Monday, Feb. 27. Taeger and Coburn will portray beachcomber pals in the Mexican resort town.

"Hong Kong," originally mounted as ABC-TV's challenge to "Wagon Train's" rating superiority, is looking for relief. On Wednesday, Jan. 25, a "Hong Kong" episode will pre-empt "Naked City" for a test of the show's audience appeal in the later (10 p.m.) time slot.

All Right, Where Are Those Dogs?

By PETE LOCHBILER

The little things in life are reflected in a fat sheaf of records on file at City Hall.

The 1960 figures on city licenses and permits tell more of a story than the $41,411 collected over the counter in the City Clerk's office. For instance:

Are we getting tired of dogs as pets in Pontiac? Or are we getting cagey about forking over $2 for a dog license?

There were only 2,237 dog licenses issued last year, compared with 2,350 the year before. What happened to those 113 dogs?

Things began bouncing in 1960.

To the 53 catregories of city licenses was added a 54th — trampoline centers. Three of them were licensed for the first time.

FEWER SCALES

Ladies, did you find it a little hard to find a corner scale to keep track of the calories? The number of licensed weighing and vending machines dipped from 1,854 to 1,464.

It was not a year for pinball fans. Pinball machines and other merchanical amusements began to slump, accounting for 293 licenses, five less than the year before.

Billiard sharks fared worse. The number of licensed pool halls and billiard parlors dipped from 32 to 26.

It was easier to find a taxi cab. The number of licensed cabs jumped from 63 to 76 and the number of cabbies from 232 to 288. The bus strike was a factor.

★ ★ ★

We had a little more fun in the way of carnivals and festivals. There were six festivals last year, only five the year before.

If there was a shorter wait for a haircut, gentlemen, perhaps it was because there were more barber chairs. Licenses for 155 of them were sold last year, compared with 140 the year before.

Commercial parking lots, facing competition from the municipal lots, decreased from 58 two years ago to 54 last year.

ERA PASSES

There were three licensed downtown theaters, the same as in 1959, but there won't be an application for one of them this year. The Oakland Theater, long a landmark, is with us no more as a result of October's fire.

Jitneys, a popular feature 20 or so years ago, have all but disappeared. Two of them were licensed in 1959. Last year, there was only one left.

Consumer Sure of the Economy

Claim 1960's Loss of Confidence Has Been Ended Despite Slump

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Consumer confidence in the economy has not changed in recent months, the University of Michigan Survey Research Center reported Wednesday.

The sharp loss of confidence which occurred during the first half of 1960 has been stopped, Prof. George Katona and Associate Prof. Eva Mueller pointed out.

Consumers are uneasy about business, but they have not become alarmed about the current recession.

Results of the center's latest survey "are consistent with the notion that the present recession will remain unusually mild," Katona and Mueller said.

It shows a pronounced rise in intentions to buy new automobiles, stemming in part with more widespread satisfaction with stable prices. Similar satisfaction is evident in attitudes toward major household goods and clothing.

Awareness of the recession has become more widespread in recent months, the survey showed, and more than half of those interviewed report there is unemployment in their community.

"Knowing of adverse economic developments, most people anticipate no further change for the worse, but they see little reason for early improvement," the U. of M. researchers commented.

To Stay in Politics Is Staebler's Plan

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Michigan Democratic State Chairman Neil Staebler said Wednesday he plans to stay in politics, "either the practice or teaching of it."

Staebler refused either to confirm or deny a report that he has been offered a teaching job at Harvard University.

Asked if he would like to teach political science, Staebler said, "Yes, but a specialized area of it — practical politics."
