Firemen Battle Huge Dock Blaze

AP Wirephoto

9 Die in Fire

Pier Blast Rocks New York Area

NEW YORK (AP)—A fire on a Brooklyn pier set off an explosion yesterday that shook the city for miles around. Nine died in the disaster and 247 suffered injuries.

Flames still flickered in the red-hot ruins of the pier today. Fire officials will launch a full-scale probe of the 10-million-dollar blaze.

A dock worker said the fire started about 3:15 p.m. in a pile of foam rubber on the big pier, longest marine terminal in the city. Minute by minute the flames ate toward a mountain of explosive cargo — paint, lacquer, rubber cement, chemicals and fuels.

Firemen, dock workers, schoolboys and other spectators rushed to the scene—unaware of the immediate peril.

Suddenly a sheet of flame shot skyward. The blast ripped off the pier shed's metal and glass roof and showered the area with a deadly hail of fragments.

The shock radiated 35 miles from the explosion. Windows were shattered five miles away.

WHITE HOT STEEL

Chunks of white-hot steel weighing as much as 50 pounds arched over the waterfront.

The dock workers and three other men were also killed. One was decapitated.

Screaming ambulances raced away with the score of injured, many of them spectators. Hospitals were soon jammed.

The pier—long as six football fields—juts into New York Harbor. The towers of lower Manhattan's financial district stand a short way across the water.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said he would start a "thorough and scientific investigation immediately."

FBI INVESTIGATE

He said the FBI, police and other agencies are "investigating the possibility of sabotage."

The blast lifted Cavanagh off

Holly Resident Gives Forecast: A Cold Winter

Just a few days ago, The Man About Town said that Peter Jacobs of Holly would forecast the coming winter to anyone that sent him a stamped envelope.

Our Joe Haas dropped in on Peter and discovered he already had a fistful of stamped envelopes, and he returned with the forecast. Here it is:

"There is a natural sign of coming winter in this part of Michigan. Note the breast bone of a duck, goose or turkey and if it is white, a mild wigter follows. If it is dark, prepare yourself for the worst."

Well, sir. The Press was temporarily out of ducks, geese and turkeys, so emissaries were dispatched in all directions. Shortly one of our Jasons returned with the Golden Fleece.

The bone is dark.

Therefore, according to the erudite, well-grounded Northwest Oakland County citizen, we're in for a cold, shivery winter.

Peter, how could you?

Urges Guards for Diphtheria Immunity of Children Should Be Checked, Letter Advised

Some 70,000 letters have been sent through the school children in Oakland County to their parents and guardians advising them to check the diphtheria immunity of the children, Dr. John D. Monroe, health director said today.

"We're stressing the responsibility of the parents to see that their children are immunized," Dr. Monroe said. "There is danger in putting it off."

Several immunization clinics have been added to the health department schedule as further preventive measures against the recent diphtheria outbreak in Detroit.

"Only one case has been reported this year in the county," Dr. Monroe said. "In general our school immunity levels are high, but we must be apprehensive about the dangers of the disease and the Detroit outbreak."

* * *

The county health department will immunize those who have been unable to make arrangements through their family doctors, Dr. Monroe said.

Clinics will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. Tuesdays and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Thursdays at the North Oakland office, 1070 N. Telegraph Rd. A clinic from 1 to 3 p.m. Wednesday will be open at the City Hall on Parke street, in Pontiac. The South Oakland Health Center, 2401 E. Fourth St., Royal Oak will have clinics from 1 to 3 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

* * *

"Right after the first of the year," Dr. Monroe said, "we will go into the schools where the immunity level is low. We have already arranged a clinic in Carver School in the Royal Oak district.

"Our spot checks of the schools in the county show we are in pretty good shape immunity-wise," Dr. Monroe added, "but we do urge parents to check their children's immunity status right away."

Hungarian Reds Fire on Women Honoring Dead

One Hit as Thousands Defy Soviet Guns to Lay Wreaths on Tomb

BUDAPEST (AP)—Russian soldiers opened fire in Heroes' Square today when thousands of women pressed forward to lay wreaths on the tomb of Hungary's unknown soldier.

A woman was hit by one of the several shots fired and was taken to a hospital. Her condition was described as not serious.

Eyewitnesses said the shooting broke out when the women "became unruly" while trying to force themselves past Russian soldiers to lay flowers on the tomb — exactly one month after the Russian military crackdown on the Hungarian revolution.

A Russian officer brandished a pistol, eyewitnesses said, and the women began to scatter, running in all directions. Several shots were fired. The injured woman was hit in the leg. She was placed in an ambulance and driven away.

The women ignored Russian soldiers who tried to push them back. They placed red, white and green bouquets on the large white stone honoring the Hungarian dead of World War I.

It was clear to all who watched that the women were honoring not the dead of 1914-1918, but the thousands who fell before the Russians in the rebellion of October-November this year, particularly on the black Sunday of Nov. 4.

The demonstration, announced only by leaflets handed out on Budapest streets yesterday, started at 11 a.m.

Singly, in groups, and finally in hundreds, the women converged on the square with their bouquets.

PASS ROADBLOCK

The women passed the Soviet Embassy on former Stalin street, heavily guarded by tanks and troops. About 300 feet from the square they ran into the first Russian roadblock manned by armored cars and troops.

Russian soldiers, in some cases shoved the women back. But the women shouted defiantly "We are not leaving."

The women, pushing past the roadblock, gathered at the corners of the square. They pressed up to within a few feet of the muzzles of Russian guns and begin to sing Hungary's national anthem.

Their high voices carried over the square and the old song was picked up by women on the opposite side, nearly 1,000 feet away.

'NO LONGER SLAVES'

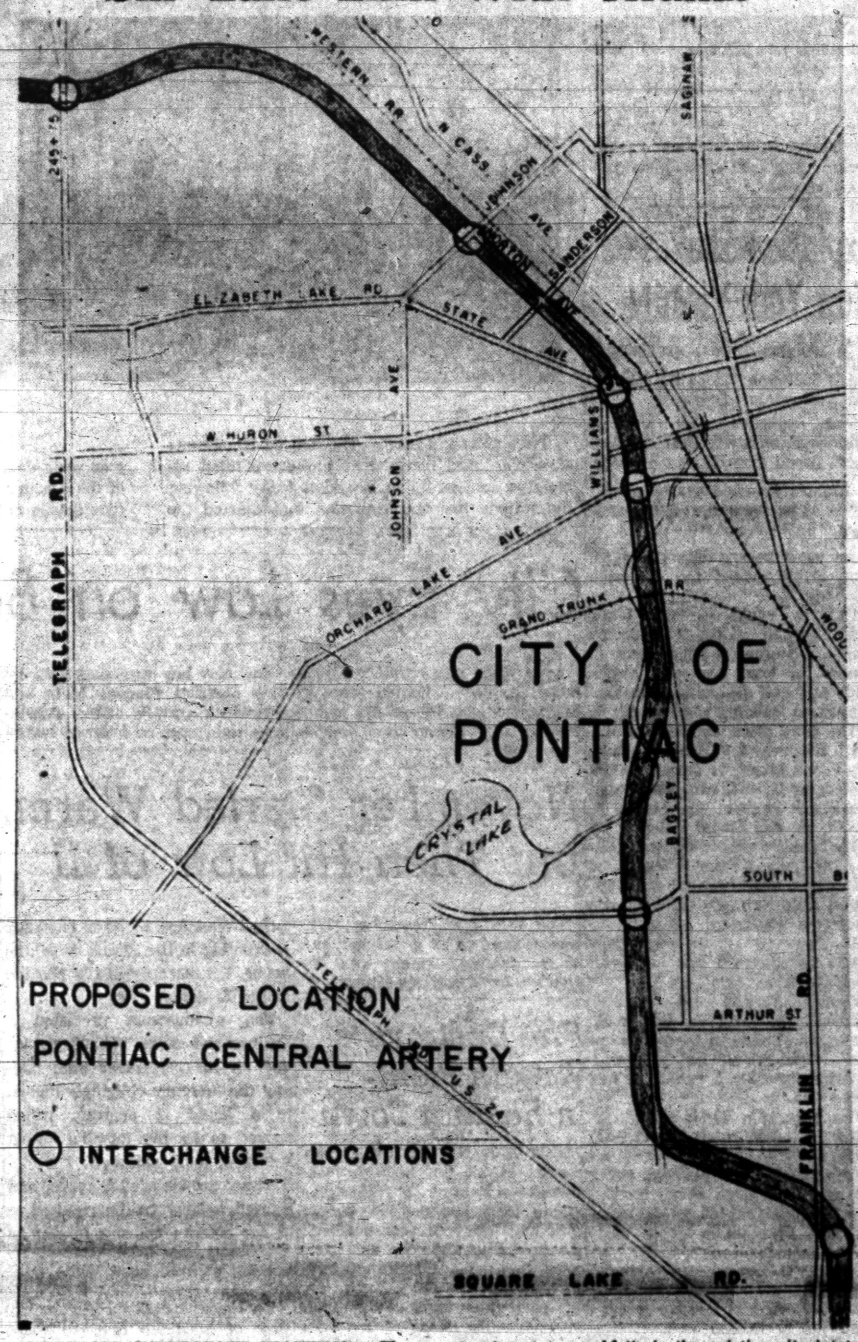

Later, a group began reciting a Hungarian poem by Sandor Petoefi, written at the time of the 1848 revolution. It ends with the solemn oath: "We shall no longer be slaves."

The women raised two fingers of the right hand to swear the oath, which they shouted into the faces of the Russian soldiers.

Six-Lane Link With Thumb

PROPOSED INTERSTATE HIGHWAY — The Oakland County Planning Commission yesterday revealed this proposed six-lane expressway which would pass through Pontiac and link the Detroit area with Bay City by means of interstate expressways. Ten grade separations and a one-way street system would tie in the existing city intersecting streets with the expressway and the downtown area. If approved by Pontiac, the project might be placed on the State Highway Dept.'s 1958 program, according to George N. Skrubb, director of the county planning group.

Would Connect With Interstate Highway Chain

$20 Million Project Would Cost Pontiac $1 Million

A six-lane expressway slated to pass through Pontiac and provide a link in the Detroit to Bay City interstate chain of highways, has been proposed by the Oakland County Planning Commission.

The $20 million project, with the federal government carrying 90 per cent of the cost, would bisect the city in a north-south direction and pass within a quarter mile of the downtown section.

The proposed route would begin east of the intersection of Franklin and Square Lake roads, move northerly crossing Franklin and then along the west of Wrenn and Bagley streets.

It would then begin a northwesterly direction along Norton Avenue until it jogs westerly to intersect with Telegraph road 400 feet south of Pontiac Lake road.

The road, to be known as the Pontiac Central Artery, would be more than 4.5 miles long and 350 feet wide.

If the plan is approved by the city of Pontiac by June, the project might be placed on the State Highway Dept.'s 1958 program, according to George N. Skrubb, director of the county planning group.

The route would serve as a link between the Southfield interstate highway to the south and the proposed relocation of US 10 to the north, thus tying in Detroit with Bay City and points further north.

Because of its limited access, the federal government would pay $18,000,000, and Pontiac and the state would split the remaining $2,000,000 cost.

The route would require 10 highway grade separations and three railroad grade separations as it passes through the city.

As outlined by Skrubb, over 85

Search On for Two Livingston Area Boys

HOWELL (AP) — Police hunted today for two Livingston County farm youths who disappeared mysteriously Saturday night. One carried at least $400 with him.

The two are William Phelan Jr., 19, owner of a herd of prize cattle and operator of a dairy near Gregory, and Robert Simmons, 20, who also lived near Gregory. The two are close friends.

Elton Kunzelman, Simmons' stepfather, told police the youths planned to attend a movie Saturday night. Police traced their movements until 10 o'clock that night. They can learn nothing of what the youths did after that.

The missing pair were described by parents and friends as highly responsible youths who were "just not the type" to disappear voluntarily.

Phelan had cashed two checks totaling $397 at the Stockbridge State Bank Saturday night. The teller said he had additional money in his wallet.

Area Accidents Claim 2 Lives

Resident of Rochester, Southfield Man Die in Two Collisions

A Rochester auto dealer and a Southfield man lost their lives in separate auto accidents in southern Oakland County yesterday.

The victims were Charles W. Talley, 55, owner of Talley Motor Sales in Rochester, and Raymond F. Poquette, 47, of 21901 Fraser Rd.

Talley, a former Pontiac resident, was killed when he crashed headon into a truck after passing another car on Stephenson Highway north of Twelve Mile in Madison Heights, according to police.

Truck driver Walter T. Lane, 25, of 11425 Cheyenne St., Detroit was treated at Beaumont Hospital for minor injuries.

Poquette died last night after a two-car collision at 10 Mile and Lahser roads in Southfield Township.

Southfield police reported the man was fatally injured when he was thrown from his car and pinned between the vehicle and a telephone pole.

Charles R. Kerinen, 19, of 25650 Code St., Southfield Township was also thrown from his car in the impact. He was treated for minor injuries at Beaumont Hospital.

10 Hungarian Refugees Greeted at Area Church

By PETE LOCHBILER

Fresh from their strife-torn homeland, they wept openly as the church bell rang out in freedom.

For the first time, they met plain, simple American people on their own footing. They were welcomed with kindness, sincerity and openness.

There was hope for the future and remembrance of past horrors.

Arrived in Michigan only Sunday, the group included:

A mother, father, and their three children; a young engaged couple; and three youths who had joined the October rebellion against Communism.

* * *

At the Five Points Community Church, 3411 E. Walton Blvd., they lunched on a potluck meal prepared by Pontiac Township housewives.

They had been invited by Rev. Gordon C. Lindsay, who wants to encourage families here to sponsor refugees as they begin new lives in their new country.

One touched the fender of an American automobile in wonder. Several eagerly examined an American cigarette lighter.

Eyes widened. In sign language they expressed enthusiasm, for—with one exception—they could not speak English.

The past came back sharply as they stood listening to a phonograph record. The two women cried. The men, stiffly at attention, stared almost unseeing into space.

It was the national anthem of the country they had fled, fearing for their lives under new Russian tyranny.

They were afraid to tell their last names for fear of Soviet retaliation against relatives back home.

* * *

The mother's story was typical. She told it with the aid of a translator, Rev. John Paul Nagy, a Detroit churchman who was born in Hungary.

Her eyes red-rimmed from much crying and her face careworn, she identified herself as Margaret, 45, whose husband, Endre, also 45, was an automobile mechanic in the city of Sopron, near the Austrian border.

They and their daughters, Mary Ann, and Enka, 12, and only son, Endre Jr., 11, headed through a woods one morning toward the border and freedom.

An armed Russian soldier, on patrol for escaping refugees, stopped them, as hundreds of other refugees had been stopped.

He pointed his rifle at them, the mother said, and was about to shoot when she bravely, almost by instinct, stood in front of her children and called out, begging for their lives.

She asked the Russian if he remembered his own mother, if he would shoot her down in cold blood. The soldier lowered his gun, she said, and fifteen minutes later the family was safe in Austria.

With a sigh, the father touched the little ribbon on his lapel. It was red, green and white, the colors of the Hungarian flag.

"I only thank God all my children escaped," he said simply.

He had this message:

"Tell everyone never to believe the Communists. They will

GM's Monthly Total Hits 299,296 Autos for November

Production of 1957 Pontiacs climbed to a total of 33,417 units during November, General Motors said yesterday in announcing that total corporation auto output for the month was 299,296.

The GMC Truck & Coach Division produced 7,748 units for the month, the firm said.

Top producer among GM divisions was Chevrolet where 160,987 cars came from the production lines. Oldsmobile's output was 37,586, while Buick turned out 42,648 units and Cadillac, 8,690.

Chevrolet built 30,013 trucks during November.

Of the total production for the month, 283,328 cars were built in U. S. plants and 15,968 in Canadian GM factories.

Expressway Eyed to Cut Through City

per cent of the right of way needed to construct the expressway is undeveloped. There are at present 154 structures on needed property, with a 1955 valuation of less than one million dollars.

This excludes the section of the arterial that passes through the Pontiac city golf course and edges the eastern boundary of the State Hospital grounds and then turns westerly through the grounds until it connects with Telegraph.

A capacity of 80,000 vehicles per day could travel on the proposed route under the present six-lane plan. Provisions for two additional lanes would boost the capacity to 105,000 vehicles.

Within the city of Pontiac, motorists could enter and leave the highway at 12 ramp connections similar to those of the Detroit Expressways.

A one-way street system would be installed in conjunction with the off-on ramp connections with such city streets as Cass, Johnson, State and Williams.

"This would result in an increase in vehicular capacity and a reduction in congestion," Skrubb pointed out.

"Easier access to the downtown area by means of the one-way streets would enhance the value of the business district," he added. "The outlying areas to the northwest and south would have better access to the industrial and business areas in Pontiac.

In addition, Skrubb pointed out, the proposed expressway would channel traffic within a quarter of a mile of Pontiac's downtown business section.

"Pontiac is already developing parking facilities between the proposed route and the business district," he said.

"Cars leaving the expressway would have to travel at most two blocks to find parking, and their owners would have to walk at most another two blocks to be at the stores."

Based on recent traffic studies of the Detroit area, about 89,000 cars per day are expected to travel a north-south artery by 1980. The 1956 flow along Woodward avenue and Telegraph road is calculated at 43,000 cars daily, of which Skrubb said a third had origins or destinations in Pontiac.

Explosion Shakes New York Vicinity

his feet and spun him around. He escaped uninjured.

Flames scorched nearby piers. Five ships were towed to safety.

An eyewitness, William Langusker, 51, described the explosion this way:

"All we could see was black smoke, when suddenly it turned into an inferno. A solid sheet of flames at least two city blocks wide and half as high as the Empire State Building roared up."

The dead were John Balut, 13; Ciro Balzano, 56; Benny Cuccio, 40; Frank Lopez, 9; James J. McCullough, 43; William Thompson, 13; Frank Romeo, 45; James A. Smith, 69; and Biaggi Valenza, 47.

McCullough was from Maywood, N.J., the others from Brooklyn.

Black smoke churned and billowed 3,000 feet into the blue sky after the explosion.

The shower of flaming fragments set fire to a truck and car several blocks away.

Plaster cracked and fell and windows shattered in uncounted homes and stores in the neighborhood. The worst damage was within a three-block radius of the pier.

Fifty-two factory workers were cut by flying glass at an instrument plant about 500 yards from the pier. Forty others were hurt a food factory nearby.

Vincent O'Connor, city commissioner of marine and aviation, made a preliminary damage estimate of 10 million dollars. The final total may be even higher.

MacArthur Nephew Given Japan Post

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today picked Douglas MacArthur II, now State Department counselor, to be ambassador to Japan.

MacArthur, a nephew of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, will succeed John M. Allison in Tokyo. Allison will return to the United States for reassignment.

Both MacArthur and Allison are career diplomats with long service.

The President, acting at his vacation headquarters here, gave MacArthur a recess appointment. A formal nomination will be submitted to the Senate when Congress reconvenes in January.

THE AFTERMATH — The twisted framework of a pier shed hangs over the debris-filled remainder of Pier 35 in Brooklyn today following the furious fire and explosion that blasted the pier yesterday. City Eyes Law on Bottled Gas

A proposed city ordinance regulating the use of bottled gases in Pontiac will be introduced to the Pontiac City Commission tonight.

The new law was suggested by Fire Marshal Charles Metz and prescribes certain safety regulations that must be followed before permits are issued allowing the use of these petroleum gases such as propane and propene.

Tonight's meeting is scheduled for 8 in the City Commission chambers of the City Hall.

Commissioners will also hear a second proposed ordinance outlining certain public nuisances and prescribing methods of abatement.

City Attorney William A. Ewart will bring in two suggested amendments to Commission Rules which were asked for as the result of action last week.

An attempt was made to reconsider a defeated ordinance prohibiting the sale of new or used auto parts on Sunday. This was blocked when a reading of the self-imposed rules showed that only commissioners voting in the affirmative may move for reconsideration.

Ewart will suggest changing the rules so that any commissioner or those voting on the prevailing side may make the motion.

Two land transactions between the city and the State Conservation Dept. will be acted on tonight.

Holding a place on the nine point agenda will be a resolution of public necessity for the 1957 street blacktopping program.

The commission will also consider extension of a lease with the Michigan Animal Rescue League, Inc. The present lease expires Friday.

November Started Warm, but Then Hit Low of 11

The month of November, 1956, was ushered in by a summer high of 68 degrees which was the month's highest temperature.

On November 11, after teasingly fluctuating in the 50 and 60 degree range, the mercury finally plunged to the 32 degree line.

The weatherman predicted a "shiver and shake" Thanksgiving; and on the November 22nd holiday the mercury obligingly dipped to a frigid 11 degrees, which proved to be the month's lowest recorded temperature.

Heavy snowfall, slick roads, and snarled holiday traffic resulted in 38 car crashes and one fatality in the county, the fatal accident occurring on U.S. 10 at White Lake Rd.

On November 23 the Automobile Club of Michigan reported roads throughout the state ranging from slippery to snow covered as bulldozers and snow plows began the wearisome task of clearing clogged roads, allowing business and transportation to operate normally.

The season's heaviest snow, a four inch layer of white carpeting, blanketed Michigan highways on November 25. On November 26, Oakland County road officials reported most county roads ". . . still in a generally slippery condition."

From November 26-30 the weather remained cold with occasional snow.

November's average high temperature was 46.8. The average low temperature was 31.8. Mean temperature for November was 39.1. In 1955 the month's average temperature was 36.2.

Fire Destroys Wreath Plant in Eastern Town

NEW ALBANY, Pa. (AP)—A roaring fire in this tiny highway community destroyed a Christmas wreath plant and the 100-year-old town hall today. It sent hundreds of wreaths up in smoke and paralyzed the industrial life of most of New Albany's 500 citizens.

The flames leveled the main manufacturing plant of the Rynveldt Wreath Co., the firm's large storage barn and the steepled two-story town hall. All were wooden structures.

"She just blowed up and burned the plant down," said Henry Dustman, Rynveldt plant manadamage at $400,000.

Thirty-five persons in the building — most of them women — fled to the street, just off U.S. Route 220 in the heart of New Albany's two-block business district. Harry Kingsley, a paint room worker, attempted vainly to smother the flames, and then ran, screaming the alarm.

Outside, flames punctuated by several minor explosions from paint drums were sending sparks into the air on a high wind. New Albany firemen found their new fire house ablaze and saved it from more than roof damage. A number of other rooftops were scorched.

Paul R. Moore Admits Breakin in Nighttime

Police Capture Two of Six Escaped Boys

BRIGHTON (AP) — Two of six teenagers who escaped from Boys Vocational School in Lansing were captured last night after a wild 18-mile police chase on U.S. 16.

The two fugitives, driving a stolen car, cut around a road block set up by Novi police, alerted by pursuing troopers. Novi police fired on the car but missed.

The pair was captured when the 16-year-old driver failed to make a curve two miles west of Farmington.

Police became suspicious when the driver pulled over on the shoulder of the road and turned off the car lights after passing a state highway patrol car three miles east of Brighton.

Polling Students for Food Gripes

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Food—institutional versus mom's home-cooking—was the topic on the University of Michigan campus today. Student representatives were after grass roots opinion on the reasons behind Sunday's hunger march.

A quick switch in the menu last night brought roast beef and the trimmings to the male student dining table. Spaghetti had been originally scheduled.

Many of the students are freshmen who by university regulations live in dormitories. Only last year, most had been in high school on a daily diet of home cooking.

REPORT ON GRIPES

Today representatives will report to the Inter-House Council on student gripes. Yesterday and today the same representatives met with students to set down their opinions of the food.

Last night's dinner seemed to bring some appeasement of the collective student appetite and taste—at least temporarily.

Gilbert P. Lutz, assistant business manager for the residence halls, said early yesterday that the dinner menu would be:

Spaghetti with meatballs, buttered wax beans, cabbage salad with sour cream dressing, regular and garlic bread, chocolate pudding with topping, coffee, tea or milk.

* * *

When dinner came, there was no spaghetti. Instead the "chow line" found:

Greet 10 Refugees at Local Church

They are Miklos, 26, an officer in the free-Hungarian army and his comrade, Lajos, 21.

They defended a barracks, captured in the first uprising and then beleaguered when fresh Soviet troops poured into the little country.

* * *

Of 300 who fought with them, Miklos said, only six lived to tell the tale.

They said many Russian soldiers who had been stationed in Hungary for some time were sympathetic to the rebels' cause. They believed a number of them had fled with the refugees.

The third youth, Janos, 24, fled his small village where he had torn down pictures of Stalin in defiance of the Russians.

He had passed through another village where 75 peasants were being buried after execution for their sympathy with freedom.

He half-carried a fellow countryman, wounded in the feet, twelve miles to the border and safety.

"I wanted to attend the university, yes," he said. "But they wouldn't let me. I was not a Communist. In Hungary, only party members are given such privileges."

The refugees told of the best food shipped from the country for Russian consumption.

About 200 attended the luncheon. Pontiac Mayor William W. Donaldson spoke briefly.

He called for a special Hungarian relief collection in all area churches this Sunday.

Nagy, as a member of an emergency organization to give relief to the thousands of Hungarian refugees arriving in this country, asked for help of any kind. He is pastor of the Free Hungarian Reformed Church.

The refugees returned to Detroit, where they will continue a special orientation program.

The Day in Birmingham

City OKs Twining Plan but Stalls on Alleyway

BIRMINGHAM — Multiple family zoning was approved last night for the Twining Property on Adams, but other property-use plans for elsewhere in the city, fared not as well in commissioners' hands last night.

The Twining property, edged by multiple zoning on the south and east, was zoned to conform to its present use, as a two-family residence and nursery school, and its owner assented to the commission decision.

"Too expensive" was the commission's term for the Maple-Bates, Henrietta alley, suggested in plan and sketch, but rejection was postponed until the city planner can talk to owners of the business properties involved.

The highly-valued downtown land may require condemnation and court awards before such an alley could be built, commissioners learned.

Parking needs for the First Church of Christ Scientist were termed a "hardship case," at the commission meeting, since the church's plan for an addition has hit the block of a turn-down by zoning board of appeals.

Additional land is required by city ordinance for parking area, and although the church has secured verbal agreement with nearby property owners, written approval is needed before zoning is possible.

Pending annexation of the land occupied by B-W Controller Corp., now in Troy, this city has approved the corporation's tapping into the city sewer lines at a specified fee.

Water from Birmingham must wait until the annexation is a reality, however, since the water authority handling Detroit water disallowed the proposed tap into Birmingham water by the B-W corporation.

Blacktopping of an alley at the Boileau Clinic was approved, but commissioners specified that it be done at the owner's risk, and that leveling be checked by the city engineers to avoid flooding.

* * *

Arthur E. Janke was reappointed to the Building Code of Appeals for a five year term. Appointees to the Zoning Board of Appeals, named recently, are George Miller and Roy LeMoyne.

"America can progress only by producing more items of necessity, because comfort is the real basis of wealth," says Robert T. DeVore, who will talk at a Soroptimist Club guest-night dinner tonight at Devon Gables.

He will display samples of recent achievements in scientific research and industrial technology. He is midwest manager of DuPont's extension division and is a former Washington, D. C. newspaper and magazine correspondent.

Mrs. Helen Reye will introduce the speaker to the assembled members and guests following the 6 p.m. dinner.

U.S. Has Edge, Says LeMay

But Russian Air Power Poses Threat to Future, SAC Leader Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay says that despite Soviet progress in airpower, his Strategic Air Command still has the edge.

But LeMay, who commands this country's long-range, nuclear-armed striking force, told a Georgetown University audience last night:

* * *

The SAC chief said that five years ago he would have said a war with Russia could have been won without serious damage to the United States.

He said he still believes such a war could be won by the United States, "but this nation would suffer serious losses."

And, he cautioned, unless the combat capacity and readiness of American airpower continues to improve, "we will be still more vulnerable to still greater damage by the Soviet long-range air arm five years hence."

* * *

"Just so long as this nation's capacity to win war is clearly recognized by the potential aggressor, there will be no war," LeMay asserted. "But once the potential aggressor doubts this capacity, the peace of the world is in jeopardy."

Borgnine Files Suit, Third Against Studio

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Ernest Borgnine, Academy Award winning actor, has accused Hecht-Lancaster Productions of understating the profits of the film "Marty" by more than $262,000.

Under terms of the original "Marty" contract, Borgnine said in a suit filed yesterday, he was to receive $5,000 plus 2½ per cent of the net profits for five years.

In the suit, the third legal action he has filed against his employers in recent weeks, Borgnine alleges that he has been defrauded by what he terms improper deductions made from producer's profits.

Riesel Testifies to Acid Blinding

Defendant Leo Telvi, One of 3 Accused, Will Take Stand Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The defense opens today in the trial of three men on charges that they conspired to aid an acid hurler after he blinded labor columnist Victor Riesel.

At least one of the defendants, Leo Telvi, is expected to take the stand in his own defense. Telvi's slain brother Abe is allegedly the man who threw the acid at Riesel.

* * *

Also on trial are Gondolfo Miranti and Domenico Bando. Four others, including labor racketeer (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, are to be tried later on charges of plotting the attack.

* * *

Riesel, the government's last witness, yesterday told the story of the attack and said it came just as he was about to give his attacker a quarter, thinking the man was a panhandler.

* * *

The columnist said the man was lounging under a theater marquee as Riesel left Lindy's restaurant early on the morning of April 5. Riesel said, he assumed he was going to ask for a tip for watching his car, or just a handout. The man never said anything but "Hey," the columnist testified.

Then, Riesel continued, he felt "the deluge—it was more than a splash—it was a complete sudden burst of liquid—hit my face."

He said that at first he didn't realize what had happened, "then came the sharpest, most painful burning I ever felt."

* * *

He said he cried out: "I am hit. I am hit by acid. I will not be able to read!"

* * *

Riesel was asked to remove his dark glasses. Acid burn scars were plain around his eyes.

"I am totally blind," he testified.

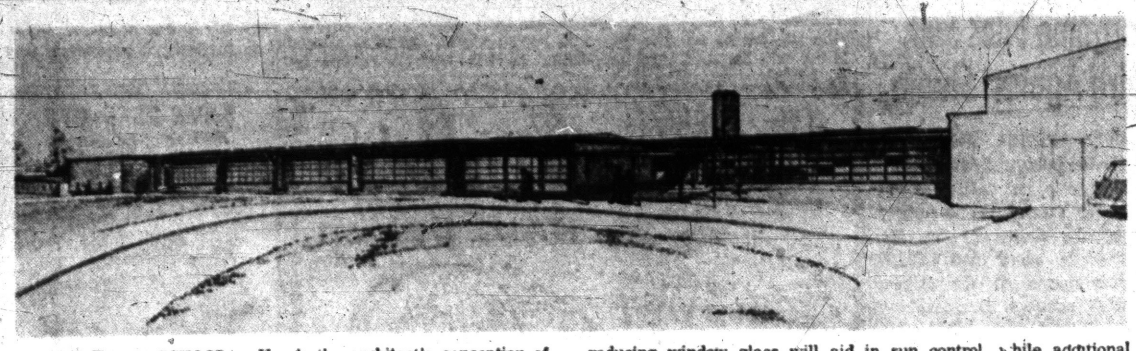

The defense asked Riesel on cross-examination if he had ever been suubpoenaed to testify before a grand jury—apparently referring to government charges that Riesel was attacked because he was a prospective witness.

U.S. Atty. Paul Williams objected, contending that "the government is only proving the maiming of this man at this time." Judge William B. Herlands upheld the objection.

4 Marijuana Cigarettes Get Seller 15-Year Term

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Convicted of selling four marijuana cigarettes to a juvenile, Batiste Leroy Hames Jr., 36, a lunchroom operator, must serve 15 years in a federal prison.

U.S. Judge Ben Harrison sentenced Hames under the new Narcotics Control Act, which increases penalties for violation of narcotics laws. The law provides the death penalty for the sale of heroin to juveniles.

NEW $466,000 SCHOOL — Here's the architect's conception of the new Herrington Hills Elementary School, which will open for 360 pupils next fall. The one-story, brick and glass structure will have two kindergartens, eight classrooms, administrative offices, and a multi-purpose room for gymnasium, cafeteria, auditorium, band practice, and adult activities. An overhanging roof and glare-reducing window glass will aid in sun control, while additional natural lighting will be provided by a skylight. The school, a mate to the Kennett road school to be ready next fall, will be on Bay Street near Dufrain Street. Architects are H. E. Beyster & Associates, of Detroit.

Lincoln to Run for Judge's Post

Williams' Former Law Partner Will Oppose Governor's Appointees

DETROIT (AP) — Not included in Gov. Williams' four Wayne County Circuit judgeship appointments, councilman James H. Lincoln, Williams' former law partner, will run for one of them in open election.

Lincoln announced yesterday that he would be a candidate. He said his move did not come in opposition to the Democratic Party.

Some of the terms will come up for election this spring.

Neil Staebler, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, said, "I like Jim Lincoln and I would support him for any executive office except when he opposes Gov. Williams' nominees.

Lincoln said, "I am sure the Democratic party wants as many candidates for these judgeships as possible. Once the party sponsors closed primaries, it will cease to be the Democratic party."

Lincoln, who unsuccessfully opposed Detroit Mayor Albert Cobo, was thought of by many observers as a strong possibility as a candidate for mayor this fall.

"I was surprised when Lincoln expressed his interest in the judgeship," Staebler said. "I thought he had pointed his career toward higher municipal office."

Lincoln said, "I've always wanted to be a judge and I feel this is the time. I am confident I'll be elected because I won't be outcampaigned."

Patient Sues Hospital

SILVER CITY, N.M. (AP)—Pedro Lardizabal has filed suit in district court for $21,775 damages against a hospital and an unknown nurse. He claims that after an appendectomy the nurse placed hot water bottles on his body while he was unconscious and he was burned severely.

That's What Figures Say

Kids Don't Like Scientists

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do you think there's something wicked about scientists?

No? Well, some of our kids do. More than one high school kid out of 10, in fact.

Do you think scientists would throw you to the wolves if it was in their own self-interest?

More than one out of four high schools students seems to think so.

This is a problem that has been getting attention from the top levels of government lately. Since, according to the best available figures:

The Soviet Union produced 120,000 specialists in this field today. This country has 760,000, more or less.

Who's winning the long-term race? Just look at the figures.

And you might recall that this is the age when wars, if there have to be wars, are won on drafting boards rather than on battlefields.

So: The Russians coax or club their kids into knowing how to design new weapons.

A trade organization called the Aircraft Industries of America soon will make public a survey suggesting — if you will permit a note of grim humor — that our young'uns are growing up with more interest in the slide trombone than in the slide rules.

This survey, conducted by Purdue University, covered 15,000 high schoolers. Its main conclusions:

"Forty-five per cent believe their school background is too poor to permit them to choose science as a career.

"Thirty-five per cent believe that it is necessary to be a genius to become a good scientist.

"Thirty per cent believe that one cannot raise a normal family and be a scientist at the same time.

"Twenty-eight per cent do not believe scientists have time to enjoy life.

"Twenty-seven per cent think that scientists are willing to sacrifice the welfare of others to further their own interests.

"Twenty-five per cent think scientists as a group are more than a little 'odd.'

"Fourteen per cent think there is something 'evil' about scientists.

"Nine per cent believe that you cannot be a scientist and be honest."

College Student Makes His Mark at the Age of 60

DENVER (AP) — Thomas Lyle Blunt is doing all right despite his lack of a high school education and the fact he was hospitalized 2½ years with tuberculosis.

Blunt is a junior majoring in psychology at the University of Denver. He entered the school in 1951 as a freshman. Since then he has been hospitalized half the time with tuberculosis.

Born in Lyon County, Iowa, Blunt attended elementary schools in Iowa, Missouri and Oklahoma. He passed up high school "because times were hard" and worked instead on farms and at an Omaha, Neb., packing plant. He also spent 32 years in the Army.

Blunt's college grades have been "uniformly high." Now he has been named to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honor fraternity.

U.S. Kids Accused of Dirtiest Mouths in the World

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "American children have the dirtiest mouths in the world," according to Dr. Maury Massler, head of the children's dentistry department of the University of Illinois College of Dentistry.

* * *

This is paradoxial as American mothers spend so much time keeping their children's bodies and clothes clean, Massler told the Southwestern Dental Assembly.

He said the average child in his city has 12 cavities by the time he is 12, whereas the average child in southern Italy has less than one at the same age.

He said .06 per cent of American children at age 12 have mouths without fillings, while 98 per cent of the children in southern Italy reach 12 without needing fillings.

* * *

He said there are two main reasons children of other nations have fewer cavities: "They end each meal with fruit, nature's toothbrush, or in the case of Mohammedan children, they wash out their mouths with water; second, only American children are allowed to eat sweets between meals."

Last of Sitting Bull Band

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (AP) — Mrs. Julia Lethbridge, 90, believed to be the last surviving member of the Sitting Bull band of Indians who fled to Canada after the Custer massacre at Little Big Horn, Mont., in 1876, is dead. Word reached here that Mrs. Lethbridge died Nov. 12 at Fort Qu'appelle, Sask.

The earth is 93 million miles from the sun.

Where the Homeless Can Breathe Free

When the President this week named Tracy S. Voorhees, a former undersecretary of the Army, to coordinate government and private assistance to Hungarian refugees arriving in this country he was acting in keeping with a basic concept of America.

From the small band of Pilgrims who set sail from Plymouth, England, early in September of 1620 through the swelling tides of immigrants in the 1800s, men and women turned by millions to the New World.

They came to these shores to escape oppression and poverty, seeking freedom and a better, fuller life.

Between 1820 and 1930 some 38,000,000 Europeans came to America, in the greatest movement of population in all history.

When the Statue of Liberty raised her everlasting light on Bedloe's Island in New York Harbor, in 1886, lines from "The New Colossus" of Poet Emma Lazarus were selected for the inscription on its base. In part, they read:

Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free . . .
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me,
I lift my lamp beside the golden door!"

The U. S. Immigration Act of 1924 closed our doors to all but those admissible under a strict quota system. In the present emergency the President has directed 21,500 refugees to be admitted, and there is possibility this number will be increased.

Nearly 100,000 refugees have come into Austria in the past month, according to Associated Press news reports. Two dozen nations have said they would take refugees in varying numbers.

Britain, France and Canada are taking all comers, and the United States first offered to accept 5,000, then boosted the number to 21,500.

Any city in America to which any of these displaced people turn to make a new start in life should do all possible to help them.

They possess qualities reminiscent of the pioneers who built this nation. We will be all the stronger for their coming.

Goodwill Toward Men, Even in the Pentagon

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army Chief of Staff, recently threw a decided chill into the the warmth of Christmas in the Pentagon. He issued a directive 'discouraging' exchange of Christmas cards among Army personnel in the Washington area, "since greetings can be exchanged personally."

★ ★ ★

Hm . . . let's see . . . just seems to us we remember one other well known personality who was a little sour on Christmas . . . Fellow by the name of Scrooge.

He got along in satisfying misery until a shady character by name of Marley started haunting him nights. Marley, with an understandable insight into the hereafter, was a great salesman and Scrooge finally saw the error of his ways and took the pledge, or some such vow.

★ ★ ★

Now we don't know Gen. Taylor personally and are not inferring that he is an exact replica of one Mr. Scrooge. But we will bet the contents of our stocking come Christmas morning that a goodly number of greeting card makers (and sellers) will be haunting him from now on.

★ ★ ★

As for our personal course:

On Christmas we try and forget we have any enemies, if we do; And we want our friends to know we wish for them the best of everything.

And if we have the price of a three-cent stamp, Art Summerfield better deliver our greetings . . . even to the Pentagon!

"Not shifting to Russia, Tito insists." — Headline. Tito's a smart cookie. He deftly balances the East against the West, and profitably works both sides of the street.

"Rock-'n'-Roll Dance Degenerates Into Riot."—Headline. In the opinion of many, that was very little degeneration.

Still Sets Pace in Sale of U. S. Savings Bonds

This column aspires to be Oakland County's top booster—and it always is easy to find boosting material. This reminds me that the official figures, just released, show that we continue to top the big ones among Michigan's 83 counties in the purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds.

During the first ten months of 1956, our state subscribed for 95.6 per cent of its quota. In the same period, the four counties with the largest population subscribed for their quotas as follows: Wayne, 94.4 per cent; Oakland, 104.2 per cent; Kent, 87.5 per cent; Genesee, 96.9 per cent.

From Walled Lake a phone call comes from

who says Pontiac's Christmas parade Saturday was more in the real spirit of the Yuletide than any she ever has seen—which included those in such cities as Detroit and New York.

Including some growers in the Pontiac area, the

"Come to Think of It---It's Our Lifeline, Too"

David Lawrence Says:

Will Nations Yield to Moral Force?

WASHINGTON — The moral forces of the world now face the biggest challenge that has ever confronted them.

It was moral force that persuaded the British and French to agree to withdraw their troops from the Suez area. Moral force argues that it is not necessary to exert military force to secure justice for the aggrieved. Will this view prove to be correct?

The United Nations now is the main custodian of the moral force of the world. The United States, as one of its principal champions, has the ball now. What will the United States do with it?

The British and French now say, in effect, to the world: "Well, we tried negotiation with Nasser but it got us nowhere. We went in to teach Nasser a lesson. Now we are pulling our troops out unconditionally. What does the United Nations propose to do from now on to get compliance with its resolutions?

WAIT AND SEE

"We shall wait and see — and don't be surprised if some day we find ourselves compelled by events to send our troops back to the Middle East and you Americans find that you have to accompany us on such a mission. It's up to you now to take the lead."

What a strong position such a course of self-denial now gives the British and French in the world situation of today! They have shown good judgment in yielding to the pressures of moral force. They have imposed no conditions on their withdrawal of troops from Egypt.

They have put it up to the United Nations in general and the United States in particular to find some way of making Dictator Nasser behave. They have, by example, challenged the Soviet Union to withdraw its armed forces from other countries where they are not wanted.

Unfortunately, history is on the side of the realistic British and French. They themselves dilly-dallied in vain with Hitler in the 1930's. Their spokesmen argued eloquently against rash steps that might lead to war.

* * *

They debated in the League of Nations about imposing "sanctions" against Dictator Mussolini upon his invasion of Ethiopia, but no agreement was reached. And, in the end, military force had to be used when Hitler violated the territorial integrity of Poland which Britain had guaranteed to defend.

GUARANTEE RIGHT

Today Britain as a member of the United Nations is joined with America and France and other members in guaranteeing the right of Hungary and other so-called "satellites" of the Soviet Union to live in independence. The Atlantic Charter of 1942 pledged the right of self-government to the nations of eastern Europe. Mr. Dulles last Sunday reminded Moscow of his signature on that pledge.

The issue is in a sense the same today that it was in 1939. Will the United Nations falter as did the League? It will be argued that the League failed primarily because America was not a member, and hence there was no way of telling in advance whether the military force of the United States would be thrown into the balance on the side of the victims of aggression. This gave Hitler an advantage he was quick to seize. It may even have unwittingly encouraged his acts of aggression.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have just told the world that the chances of peace in the Middle East are good. They may be good if the world can be assured soon that the United States has a resolute policy of moral force and is not going to flounder.

* * *

The temptation is to steer in the middle, trying to decide whether to risk antagonizing Nasser or to placate him and the Arabs, and whether to be firm or stand by weakly while the Soviet Union refuses to let even the observers of the United Nations get into Hungary for an inspection visit. One thing the United States cannot afford to do—to cringe before the perpetrators of injustice just because they are big and powerful.

Moral force requires courage. It means that a government or an alliance or an organization like the United Nations must be prepared to carry through with its resolutions even if it involves military force as a last resort.

Nobody can say yet whether moral force will succeed, but if the U.N. allows itself to be pushed around and shows no teeth now, then the outbreak of World War III through some explosive incident may be confidently predicted, as inevitable in the next few years.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Deaf Person Should Try Hearing Aid, Lip Reading

Connecticut reader writes:

"I was astounded to read in your pamphlet "Deafness and Head Noises" that you can always detect the totally deaf in a social gathering, as they always look cheerful and happy whereas others look tired, bored or unhappy. How you as a doctor could make such a statement . . ." (M. O.)

Hastily referring to the pamphlet I find, to my embarrassment, that you have the goods on me. There's just one little quibble, if I may—I didn't say "always." I said you can detect such persons:

"Whereas the guests in general look tired, bored and unhappy, you will see here and there one with a smiling, cheerful countenance and you may know he is quite deaf."

I said so because I have detected 'em that way, but more especially because, believe it or not, I have some sympathy for deaf persons.

Now, dear lady, please carry on. You say:

"In the first place, very few totally deaf mingle with the hearing world. I have lost most of my hearing—I hear nothing without an aid, so I know what the silent world is and have known for about 11 years.

'LIKE A TOMB'

"Next to being both deaf and blind, we totally deaf are completely cut off from the world around us. My husband and I feel almost as if we weren't even living together. I feel I hardly know my own family. It's truly like living in a glass tomb."

(Signed) M. O.

And while we are arguing about it, may I say it seems odd that you do not use your hearing aid all the time.

I'm totally deaf in one ear. Better than ordinary hearing in the good ear, usually. Right now the good ear is fuzzy, so people's voices are thick and harsh and music is unpleasant, but this, I hope, is a temporary trouble.

I can enjoy a social gathering that is not boisterous, but if the affair gets noisy I can't hear anything clearly, and what discord I do hear hurts. And so I'm a hermit.

STUDY LIP READING

I hope you have not neglected study of lip reading, Ma'am. This should help to span the chasm which you complain has come between you and your family.

On written request, accompanied with stamped, self-addressed envelope, any reader may have a copy of the pamphlet on Deafness and Head Noises.

Information concerning lip reading, hearing aids, etc., is generally provided by the Hard of Hearing Society or the League for the Hard of Hearing in your city.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Christmas Parade Given Praise by Darrell Beach

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I want to say that on Saturday I witnessed about the nicest Christmas parade that Pontiac has ever had. The floats were beautiful and the true meaning of the Christmas season was depicted in a lovely way.

When I saw the parade, I realized that hours and hours of planning, of building and of practicing were necessary to make it a success.

A prodigious thank you is in store to anyone who had a part in the the parade. I, for one, say thank you no matter what part you played.

Has No Sympathy for Thief Victim

I see a thief down in Kentucky stole $274,000 in cash from a residence. Anyone who keeps that amount of money around a house deserves just what happened. I can't say I'm glad for that would be unkind, but along with a lot of other people, I'm not going to sit up nights weeping about it.

Practical Pauper

Hopes That Board Has Seen Letters

I hope the Board of Education members have noticed a couple of letters that have appeared in your column lately regarding high school football in Pontiac.

I, too, have been wondering why we can't produce a winning team occasionally. The past couple of years we have had one of the fastest teams in the state and not too light, either. But still the same results.

I often wondered if the boys didn't care to play. But after watching a few of the practice sessions, I came to the conclusion it wasn't the boys. They have what it takes, I'm sure.

Just Another Sports Fan

Celebrities Once Longed for Fame in Other Fields

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't worry too much if your teenage children can't decide what they want to be — or appear set on some goal you believe impossible.

Surveys of famous people show that few actually followed the career of their first choice. Most abandoned a youthful dream, and won renown or wealth later in a widely different field.

Think how different the world would be if everybody stuck to his first dream.

Adolf Hitler might be a noted landscape painter. Harry S. Truman would be known as a medal of honor winner instead of the most vocal former occupant of the White House.

Dwight D. Eisenhower, had he gone to Annapolis, as he originally intended, might be running a battleship instead of the U.S. government. Winston Churchill's novels might be selling almost as well as those of Mickey Spillane.

The truth is that the man who decides early in life what he wants to be — and sticks to that decision — is likely to be less well known than the one who changes his mind.

Since 1953 Ed Murrow has interviewed some 281 celebrities on his CBS-TV network show, "Person to Person." One of the questions he asks most often — and the one celebrities seem most intrigued with — is, "What did you originally want to be?"

Some of the answers are highly surprising. If they had achieved their first dreams instead of jettisoning them:

Joe Louis wouldn't owe Uncle Sam more than any boxer in history. He'd be blowing trumpet in a top jazz band, just like his hero, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong.

Vaughn Monroe and Gloria Swanson would be opera singers and actress Janet Leigh would be teaching music therapy.

Archbishop Cushing of Boston would be a politician, Mayor Robert B. Wagner of New York would be a concert violinist, and Liberace would be an undertaker (the profession his father hoped he'd follow.)

Columnist Drew Pearson would have been a diplomat.

One of the oddest dreams of all: Marilyn Monroe said she wanted to be a cover girl on "The Ladies' Home Journal"!

What does all this prove? Merely that it pays to know when to let go of a dream—and get a better one.

Meanwhile, most of us, if asked what we'd like to be that we once wanted and now aren't, would probably answer today—

"Solvent!"

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Pets Are Very Helpful to Children

Pets render a valuable service to children. They help the youngsters develop "empathy" and this is ideal calisthenics for their imagination. Dogs also serve in lieu of brothers or sisters when you have an "only" child.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-338: Sandy, aged 10, is our fox terrier who raced through the house to waken the family in the middle of the night when our big collie died.

* * *

Sandy was a young dog then. She is now rather old, for the average life span of a modern dog is only about 12 years.

And she is smart. We have a bay window in the front room. Sandy likes to jump upon that broad windowsill and watch people out doors.

But Mrs. Crane has vetoed the idea, so Sandy knows she is violating the rules.

On many occasions, however, I have watched her clever ruse by which to outwit Mrs. Crane.

For when my wife goes upstairs, Sandy will gleefully head for that front window. Then she'll jump upon the windowsill.

But the moment she hears Mrs. Crane start downstairs, Sandy leaps down and heads out into the dining room.

FOXY FOX TERRIERS

As Mrs. Crane enters the living room, Sandy will languidly stroll out of the corner where her box is located.

Then Sandy will stretch and yawn, to intimate that she has just awakened from a snooze in her her den.

* * *

Yet this is simply an act: She is indulging in trickery. So her behavior indicates that she knows right from wrong, and will stoop to deceit to cover up her own guilt.

Indeed, she does the same thing with me. For example, she is not supposed to sleep on the davenport or the upholstered furniture.

But when I am upstairs typing these Case Records, and while Mrs. Crane may be at the grocery store shopping, Sandy will jump upon the davenport.

As soon as I walk downstairs, I see her coming out of the dining room, yawning and stretching.

But if I lay my hand on the davenport or chairs I usually find a warm spot where she has been curled up asleep. So I know she is indulging in more trickery.

INTELLIGENCE OF ANIMALS

Some of my psychological colleagues have conducted very detailed experiments to test the intelligence of animals.

Dr. Harold K. Fink, of New York City, is one of these distinguished researchers who have found varying levels of I. Q. among our common domestic animals.

* * *

And what may seem surprising is the high rating of the hog: Pigs are regarded as near the top in I. Q. among four-footed creatures.

Here at home we have always had dogs or cats as pets. And in my childhood, I had pigeons and opossums, squirrels, rabbits, owls and many injured birds which we tried to feed and cure.

Some dogs, like the collie, seem to have an inherent gallantry. And male dogs will often defer to females on many occasions.

Our female bench-leg beagle is often very belligerent and rules other larger dogs by her growls. But she is very tolerant of young children.

If you parents of an "only" child wish to help socialize that youngster and banish some of his timidity at sleeping in his own bedroom give your youngster a dog as a pal.

Dogs are excellent companions for children and help them develop more "empathy," which is the art of projecting one's self into the position of another. Kindly, sympathetic folks have a high "empathy" score.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Detroit Air Passengers Total Over 1 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detroit has joined the list of eight cities that originated more than a million air passengers in the year ending last June 30.

A total of 1,105,224 passengers emplaned at Detroit during the 12-month period, the civil aeronautics board reported.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES — 1
The Marathon

The Ancient Greeks had many kinds of races in their Olympic Games. Some of these are run in the modern Olympics.

One great race, the marathon, was included when the modern Olympics started in 1896. It is a little more than 26 miles long.

The marathon gets its name from the heroic feat of Pheidippides in 490 B. C. Word reached Athens, a Greek city state, that King Darius of Persia was on his way to enslave Greece. Pheidippides, a champion Olympic runner, was sent to get help from Sparta, another Greek city.

To reach Sparta he climbed mountains and swam rivers for two days and nights without stopping to rest. Then he returned with word the Spartans would come. Meanwhile, however, the Persians landed. The Athenian army, with Pheidippides, defeated them at Marathon. Pheidippides ran the 22 miles from Marathon to Athens to report the victory. On the outskirts of the city he died, gasping "Rejoice, we conquer."

Call Ceremony Off for Safety Reasons

ESCANABA (AP) — The Rev. Sidney Jones of Bethany Lutheran Church has sent back to the manufacturer 500 candles which were to have been used at a candle-lighting service.

The colorful pre-Christmas ceremony was called off last night because Fire Chief Nels Bergeon and City Manager A. V. Arnson advised that state fire laws frown on the mass use of candles in public places.

Ushers had been scheduled to light the candles at the altar and pass them down the aisles to each member of the congregation.

"We, as Christians, are under an obligation to observe the law," the Rev. Mr. Jones commented in calling off the ceremony.

Aalabama has had four capitals. In 1817 it was at St. Stephens; in 1820 it was Cahaba; and in 1826 at Tuscaloosa. It was permanently established at Montgomery in 1846.

'China Papers' Run Into Snags

High Officials Reluctant to Give Full Clearance to Chronicle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department's program of publishing a special eight-volume series of top secret "China papers" is running into snags and clearance difficulties.

Officials said yesterday that problems of obtaining official clearance on the confidential material involved are "becoming more serious" as the project proceeds.

The unreleased papers from 1943 to 1949, when China fell to the Communists, still are undergoing close scrutiny by the Defense Department for military information that may be still valuable. The State Department itself is reluctant to release information that may be needlessly offensive to the Chinese Nationalist government or other wartime allies.

Clearance from both U.S. government agencies and foreign governments is involved in some cases.

* * *

Because of the delay, officials said it appears doubtful that the entire series will be completed next year as originally planned.

Normally historical records on U.S. foreign relations are released 15 years behind the current year. If the special China series is completed next year, some of the documents would be only eight years old.

The Senate appropriations committee in the spring of 1953 asked a speed-up in the publication of the foreign relations volumes. Republicans were hopeful that the record would answer former secretary of state Dean Acheson's white paper which contended that China's fall to communism was beyond the power of the U.S. government to prevent. The issue was a prominent one in the 1952 presidential campaign.

* * *

The 1942 account contained no sensational new material that did disclose a number of sharply worded references, on dealings with China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, reflecting anxiety that China might drop out of the war.

MSU Student Teacher Center Opens

Michigan State University's seventh resident center for student teachers got under way in Pontiac yesterday when 26 teaching novices arrived from MSU to visit.

The 26 will get their teaching experience in Pontiac beginning Jan. 7. Schools participating for the 11-week term include Pontiac High School, Madison Junior High, Washington Junior High, Eastern Junior High, Bethune, Webster, Mark Twain and Wisner.

A welcoming program at Madison in the morning initiated the visitors into the Pontiac School system. During the afternoon the MSU visitors toured their new schools. They returned to East Lansing late yesterday afternoon.

Included on the welcoming program were Dr. Ted Ward, coordinator of the MSU teaching program in Pontiac; Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools; J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of personnel; Dr. Russell Curtis, coordinator of secondary education; Gerald White, elementary coordinator and Dr. W. Vernon Hicks, coordinator of student teaching at MSU.

* * *

During their 11-week stay in Pontiac, the student teachers will teach four out of five days of class with aid from cooperating teachers from the Pontiac schools system. On the fifth day of the week they will meet with county, city and campus consultants in seminar sessions.

The group will also do community study work to become better acquainted with the community during their stay in Pontiac.

"Michigan State University pioneered this resident center movement," Dr. Ward said. "We believe it an improvement over the scattering of small groups to cities near the campus. This puts groups of approximately 25 out to a center per term.

"The experiences they will gain in this 'live-in' situation will give them better practical teaching knowledge. The situation is not at all unlike the first teaching experience the new teachers will run across," he added.

Other resident centers in the state are located in Grand Rapids, Birmingham, Battle Creek, the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor area, the Niles-Buchanan-Dowagiac area and Jackson.

Syria Hears U.S. Policy Explained

No More Aggression in Mideast Countries to Be Tolerated

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Reliable Syrian sources say the United States has told Syria it will tolerate no more aggression in the Middle East.

American Ambassador James Moose was reported to have given that word to Premier Sabri Assali in a 90-minute interview, with the declaration covering moves against Syria or any other nation in the Middle East area.

* * *

The U.S. Embassy declined to comment on the report of the meeting. Assali told reporters Moose "explained to me the new United States policy toward the Middle East."

He said the ambassador also outlined America's "eagerness that all Middle Eastern countries should maintain their freedom and independence."

Soldiers carrying tommyguns remained on guard at public buildings in Damascus and hotels and other major buildings were still sandbagged. Volunteers of the "popular resistance organization" continued drilling on the city's outskirts.

* * *

Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel declared the Soviet Union is pouring jet fighters and bombers into Syria and said the Israeli air force must be strengthened.

Speaking at a defense bond rally in Tel Aviv, Ben-Gurion said, "We cannot be satisfied with the former strength of the Israeli air force when we hear about the flow of Soviet planes to Syria."

* * *

He said Russia had deliberately exaggerated the quantities of arms being shipped "to add to Israel's and the Western world's headaches—and because when the Syrian replenishing is completed, the Russians will again start supplying Egypt."

Abandon Hope for 17

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Officials said they had virtually abandoned hope of 17 persons missing since a boat capsized Sunday. The boat was loaded with people fleeing from the Portuguese town of Diu to Indian territory.

In the ten years following World war II the children under 18 in the United States reached a record total of 55 2-3 million.

Union Officials Sued for Misappropriation

CHICAGO (AP)—A recovery suit filed yesterday in federal court charges that two officials of the Laundry Workers International Union misappropriated $1,600,000 of the union's health and welfare funds.

The suit names Eugene C. James and John T. Toomey, both of Chicago. James resigned Nov. 17 as international secretary-treasurer, but retains his post as secretary-treasurer of Chicago Local 46. Toomey, one of four international trustees of the health and welfare fund, also is executive secretary of the Chicago Laundry Owners Assn.

Three members of San Francisco Local 26 said they filed the suit in behalf of the union's 65,000 members. The plaintiffs are Isola Booth, Mattie Miles and Jessie Posey.

Among the items of "waste and diversion" listed in the suit was $421,507 in commissions paid to insurance firms to whom Saperstein gave the union contract.

Well, Pop, Did My Best to Get You Out of It!

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A hungry 14-month-old son nearly got his father out of jury duty — but not quite.

William S. Pickett Jr. showed up in criminal court for jury duty, but didn't know where he was to serve because his son chewed the corner off his summons.

Judge Frank A. Ropke drafted Pickett for the grand jury anyway. He needed 12 men, only 11 showed up and Pickett was standing by.

Harold Arlen, the song writer of "Over the Rainbow," carries music score sheets in his pockets to make song notes like a newspaper reporter carries copy paper.

Plan Surgery for Heart Victim

Chances of Normal Life for Girl, 4, Put in Hands of Mayo Specialists

SACO, Maine (INS)—Four-year-old Louise Anderson left Saco yesterday for Rochester, Minn., and a Christmas present through which it is hoped she can be transformed from an invalid into a healthy, normal little girl.

Louise is going to the Mayo Clinic for a rare heart operation—performed only about 100 times in the top medical centers of the world—to close an abnormal opening between the two ventricles of her heart.

Heart specialists who have examined Louise figure her chances of survival at three out of four—at best only four out of five.

Louise, one of three children of Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson who live in a two-room north Saco cottage, was born with the "hole" in her heart. The "hole" keeps her blood circulating only in the heart and chest area instead of passing through her entire body. This puts a great strain on the heart and increases pressure on the lungs.

Anderson's fellow workers in a shoe factory started a collection to send Louise to the clinic. Other townspeople joined in and then the Crippled Children's Fund, which conducts the annual Easter Seal drive, became interested in her case.

Louise had an early "Christmas party" Sunday with her parents and brothers, Danny and Joseph. Relatives came from all parts of the state, even from the greater Boston area. The party was complete with presents and a tree.

Planning Celebration for Michigan Week

DETROIT (AP) — K. T. Keller, former president and board chairman of Chrysler Corp., will serve as chairman of the 1957 Michigan Week, set for May 19-25.

The event is dedicated to spotlighting Michigan as one of the nation's most productive and attractive states.

Gen. Gruenther Asks for Aid to Hungary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president designate of the American Red Cross, has appealed for support of a five-million-dollar disaster fund to assist the Hungarian people.

The money will be used to aid those still in the Soviet-suppressed nation as well as refugees who have fled to the West.

Detroiters Give Up Farm for New YWCA Branch

DETROIT (AP)—In 1907, 31-year-old Raymond Stuckey married Charlotte Smith, a neighbor girl, and took her to live in the farm home he was born in near Detroit.

Now 80, Raymond and his wife are giving up part of the farm and the home that Raymond's father built in 1897, so that the Young Women's Christian Assn. can build a $500,000 northwest branch.

The city has grown out to encompass the Stuckey homestead, and repeated offers for the valuable land have been turned down in years past.

But Mrs. Stuckey is a life member of the YWCA and her daughter-in-law and two granddaughters are active in the organization. Besides, the Stuckeys believe the YWCA branch will be "an asset to the neighborhood."

Stuckeys' family has owned the land since 1963. He and his father dug sand from a nearby creek to mix mortar and they cut down white oak and cherry trees to build the 14-room home.

The YWCA will get only four acres of the land and the house. The Stuckeys will hang onto six acres.

* * *

Stuckey and his wife will move to a seven room brick home on land once owned by Stuckey's grandfather. The YWCA will start construction of their new branch next summer to replace a current two-room office.

History With Hunting

HASTINGS (AP)—Mike Johnson, 16-year-old Hastings High School student, takes his deer hunting with a dash of history. Using an antique muzzle-loading rifle, he downed a 130-pound buck with the ancient firearm on the final day of the recent deer season.

2 Missionaries at Port Said Get Vegetables

PORT SAID (AP)—Two American missionaries who declined to be evacuated when war hit Port Said are enjoying their first fresh vegetables since the British-French invasion.

They are Laura Christine Spurlin, whose father lives in Santa Cruz, Calif., and Ethel Young, whose father lives in Portland, Ore.

After nearly four weeks, they finally were able to get some squash which came to Port Said from the Nile Delta area by sailboat. Since the allied landings Nov. 5-6 the two women had been living on a shrinking store of canned and dry food, including a supply of cracked wheat which they had been intending to give someone for their chickens.

"In the early days of November," Miss Spurlin said, "the American Consul told us twice we should be evacuated or he wouldn't be responsible for us. But we preferred to stay."

Their decision resulted from concern for the teachers and some 300 Egyptian Coptic (Christian) pupils in their peniel Mission's Day School.

"We decided what happens to them happens to us," Miss Spurlin said. "We thought perhaps we could serve them through all this."

Reservations will not be necessary for the smorgasbord dinner being served by members of Guild Six from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Isgrigg.

Proceeds will be used to provide Christmas baskets for the needy. Mrs. Butler will be assisted by Mrs. Cecil Reynard and Mrs. Henry Wallace.

Plastic Bags Useful

No doubt you will find a myriad of uses for plastic bags at Christmas time. To clean them, just rinse them out and dry them between dish towels as you do a nylon fabric. Turn them inside out and repeat the rolling between the towels.

Have a Safe Christmas by Taking Precautions

NEW YORK (INS) — Lilting Christmas carols can turn to songs of sadness over the holiday season unless precautions are taken to guard against home accidents, safety experts warn.

The period between Christmas and New Year's is one of the most perilous for mishaps in the home, according to records of insurance companies and safety reduction groups.

If the past is any indication, the experts expect that this season will see the usual quota of falls by persons putting up Christmas decorations, and cuts from broken toys and tree ornaments.

Caution and common sense can prevent many accidents but if an accident does occur the family's next best defense is to have at hand an efficient first aid kit and a first aid book, such as the one issued by the American Red Cross.

An adequate first aid kit should have castor oil drops to alleviate the pain of burns to the eyes and to promote healing. Tincture of iodine for cuts may burn your skin if the alcohol in it has partly evaporated, so many folks prefer the newer antiseptic ointments in handy metal tubes.

Other necessities are aromatic spirits of ammonia for use as a restorative, sulfathiazole ointment to limit infection in cuts, adhesive tape, adhesive dressings, gauze bandages, sterile gauze squares, absorbent cotton, safety pins and a pair of scissors.

From an aircraft one mile high, the ocean's horizon would noramlly extend for about 95 miles distance.

Ease That Christmastime Tension

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is a fine idea to have a few tricks in your first aid kit as you rush through these weeks just before Christmas. Of course, one of the best tricks is not to rush, if you can swing it.

* * *

Nevertheless, this period of more shopping than usual and of preparing for guests and festivities is a tiring experience if you let it be.

Why not see to it that you lie down for at least two 15 minute rest periods during the day? You probably will get more done with greater ease if you allow yourself that half hour.

Then, too, there are several exercises which are very relaxing. Take these before going to sleep at night in order to get the kinks out of your spine and your nerves.

* * *

1. Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Let your head and trunk and arms drop forward. Stay in this position while you bob your trunk up and down as though you had a spring in your spine. Do this in a rag doll manner.

From this position, bob your trunk up and down as though you had a spring in your spine. It's good for getting the kinks out of your spine and nerves.

2. Stand tall. Raise your arms sideward, shoulder height, palms facing forward and pull back with the arms. As you do so lower your head backward. Return arms to sides and raise your head. Do this slowly. It is like a good stretch.

* * *

3. Roll your head in a complete circle, first in one direction and then in the other. Do this in a slow, lazy manner.

4. Stand erect. Let your arms hang limply at your sides while you make circles with your shoulders. Circle forward for a while and then backward.

Also, don't neglect your beauty routines just because you are busier than usual. If you do you will arrive at the height of the Christmas season (when you will want to look your prettiest) with a few new lines and a dry skin. Even a few weeks can make this difference.

Green Hair in Style News

LOS ANGELES (INS)—The lady with green hair will be right in style this year and next.

That's the word from the Coiffure Guild of Los Angeles and Hollywood, which recently held its 21st annual hair styling show.

Green hair, as well as pink, were among the tints on display.

Silver and gold streaks and sprinkles remain popular, and for evening wear the glamor-girl can dust her eyelids with matching glitter specks.

Graduation Guest Asks About Duties

Girl to Accompany Her Beau's Family to Exercises

By EMILY POST

A young woman writes me as follows: "A man I know is graduating from Naval Officers' Candidate School soon and I have been invited to the exercises. I am making the trip with his parents who are driving down.

"I would like to know if I am obligated to them in any way, and if so, how? Do I offer to pay for anything en route or in the hotel? Also, would a graduation present be in order?

"I have known this young man only about five months but I have been dating him rather steadily since we met. I would very much appreciate your help in this matter."

Answer: If they asked you to go with them you do not pay for anything. Nothing is expected of you further than making yourself as agreeable as possible and thanking them warmly when you leave.

A graduation present is not a fix obligation, but it would be quite proper to give him one if you would like to.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I work in an office with 15 others. It is the custom here for the employes to send Christmas cards to each other which, in my opinion, is senseless.

"After all, we do see each ther the day before Christmas and wish the season's greetings personally so why send a printed message in addition. I think Christmas cards should be sent only to those whom we cannot wish a personal greeting. I would like to know if you agree with me."

Answer: Even though I do agree with you, Christmas cards are very pretty and many people like to receive them and make a collection of them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how to address a wedding invitations to a married couple when the wife is a doctor and the husband is not."

Answer: Mr. John and Dr. Mary Brown.

Young Artist Needs Job to Survive

Juichi Kamikawa Spends Most Time in Coffee Shop

BY JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Juichi Kamikawa, young Japanese-American artist has won considerable attention in the capital and has sold many of his paintings. Nevertheless he contends that artists in this country are still having a hard time.

* * *

"They have to have an eight-hour job—working or teaching—in order to survive," Juichi told me over a cup of coffee in the new gathering place for art lovers — a combination gallery and Italian-type cafe expressoshop—which he is now managing.

"Artists who spend many years of study to gain a professional status should be able to get professional prices for their work, just as do members of other professions like doctors and lawyers."

Juichi at long last has his own gallery. But, because of his long hours at the coffee shop—it is the only place in the capital that remains open until 3 o'clock in the morning — he is only able to be there on late Saturdays and Sundays.

* * *

The artist's parents, members of a well-known Hiroshima family, came to the United States in 1890 and settled in Fresno, Calif., where Juichi was born, the youngest of seven children.

COLLEGE STUDENT

For a year before the outbreak of World War II Juichi, whose flair for painting was evidenced at an early age, attended Fresno State Teachers College.

Then, with his family and other Japanese, he was interned at an Arkansas relocation center.

After the war Juichi came here to join a sister, Hiro, then working for the Department of the Interior, and to get himself a job.

In recent years he has been able to study at the Corcoran School. His paintings are expressionistic with heads of saints acclaimed by critics as among the best.

Juichi says he is equally interested in many other themes, horses, birds, fish, landscape and still life.

Holiday Dresses Airy, Graceful

NEW YORK (NEA) — Airy, floaty dresses with a graceful, ladylike look are very much a part of the holiday festivities this year.

The floaty look usually comes from panels, attached at a high waistline in such a way that they drift easily when the wearer moves. They're most often used in combination with a slender wrapped bodice and a skirt that's several layers of chiffon.

This year, lots of girls will be wearing nylon chiffon to parties because, while it's soft and airy, it's also strong. Nylon chiffon is shown both in prints and in solid colors for the holiday season.

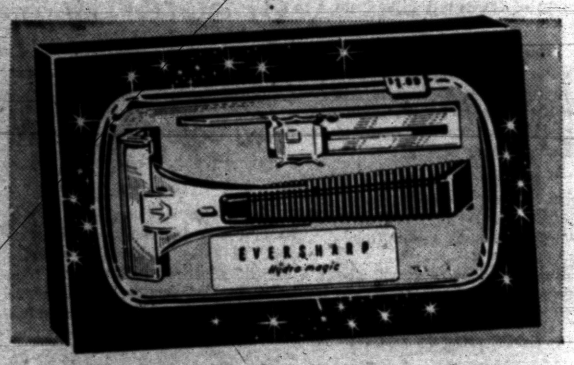

Sun Harms Hair

If you're planning on a winter vacation in a warm, sunny climate, remember that although salt water does not harm the hair, too much sun does. Cover your hair when you sit in the sun to prevent its drying out.

Opportunity Appears to Be Inborn

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The longer I live the more convinced I am that opportunity is a built-in commodity and has nothing to do with one's environment or any other external factor.

Some people find opportunity in the most barren places and others fail to find it in the middle of a growing, bustling city.

I think, for example, of two women I know who are in temporary Christmas jobs, in department stores.

Both went into it because they wanted extra money for Christmas. Both began the first week in November and both are in their early 50's. But that's where the similarity ends.

* * *

The first one, whom I'll call Mrs. A., decided to take just any old job. The personnel director asked if she had any preference, but she said no, because — what difference did it make?—she was only temporary.

She landed in the cosmetics department where she does an adequate job, but no more.

PENSION PLAN

"Why knock myself out?" she told me. "It isn't as if they'd keep me. They have some kind of pension plan and I'm over 50."

* * *

Then she went on about the lack of opportunity for the older person.

Mrs. B., on the other hand, came equipped with her own built-in opportunity.

When she was asked which department she'd like, she said the Christmas wreaths and decorations.

The store has no regular flower shop, but at Christmas it does stock plants and wreaths. She has a real green thumb and loves all growing things.

WONDERFUL JOB

From the beginning, she was wonderful at it. She helped customers plan their decorations for mantels, front doors and windows.

She told them how to care for the poinsettias they bought and made suggestions for plants to be given as gifts.

Business boomed in Mrs. B.'s department. Then last week the head of the department asked her if she would like to stay on after Christmas.

It seems the management had been thinking for some time of setting up a permanent flower shop, but were never sure enough of the potential. Now, with Mrs. B.'s record, they knew they could make a go of it.

* * *

Mrs. A., on hearing of this, will no doubt mumble that some people have all the luck. But the truth is, some people have a sense of opportunity and others do not.

AN OPEN MIND

There are many things that go into this. One of them, it seems to me, is an open mind which, fortunately, can be cultivated.

If you'd like to try, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my pamphlet, "Pointers Toward an Open Mind."

Fruit Peel Candied Is Delicious

BY JANET ODELL

When we went to do a home section recently, the lady of the house was candying orange and grapefruit peel. It smelled wonderful, and the sample we had was delicious. Mrs. D. J. Alison of Birmingham graciously shared her recipe with us. Do try it.

Mrs. Alison is an artist and works in several fields. Cooking, painting and sculpture are ways in which she gives expression to her talents. In addition to being a creative homemaker, Mrs. Alison is a devoted grandmother.

CANDIED FRUIT PEEL
By Mrs. D. J. Alison

Pull out the inside white skin of orange and grapefruit peel. Cut into strips. Put in cold salted water, bring to a boil. Repeat this several times, each time with fresh water. Drain well.

Make a syrup of 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water. Add cooked peel and boil until peel is transparent. Cool in syrup.

Remove from syrup and roll in granulated sugar. When dry, dip in a chocolate coating if desired.

Melt 4 ounces bitter chocolate, 2 tablespoons butter and a one-inch square of paraffin slowly over hot water. Add 5 drops vanilla. Dip candied peel and cool on waxed paper.

Actor Discovers Thrills in Battles With Leopard

By JOAN HANAUER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Steve Forrest finds that making movies includes such delights as foreign travel and such dangers as fighting a partially trained leopard that bites.

* * *

His fight with the leopard, which he almost lost, occurred while Forrest was shooting "The Living Idol" on location in the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico.

It seems the Mayan Indians who inhabit those jungles had an exotic religion which mixed belief in serpent and jaguar gods with the theory of reincarnation. The plot of the picture also gets involved with these.

"It was necessary to have the hero fight a jaguar," Forrest related, "except that jaguars are impossible to train. So we used a leopard. He was pretty wild, too. Leopards are one of the most vicious and treacherous beasts in the jungle. This one was only partially trained.

"The trainer was a mass of scars from this and other animals," Steve continued. "He always had bloody spots on his hands.

"During the first days of shooting the leopard got loose and jumped up on Liliane Montevecchi. He sprang at her from behind and the trainer yelled at her to stand there while he distracted the animal."

Steve naturally had a stand-in to fight the beast. The only trouble was the stand-in was short while Steve is tall, the stand-in had dark, lank hair while Steve's is crisply curly and blonde.

"I wasn't very enthusiastic about it at first," Steve said, explaining that camera closeups throughout the fight decided the producer that his leading man would have to fight the leopard in person.

"Then I found it exciting. I can understand why auto racers and impossible mountain climbers do it. You get a rather suspicious stimulation from something like this and get the feeling you want to do it again and again and again.

"It turned out I got my wish. There was trouble with the lighting and I had to do the fight scene three times.

"The second time he put his paw over my face and, thinking of the camera, I moved my guard to brush him away. He crunched down on my shoulder and I was black and blue for a week.

"The third time he took a large chunk out of my upper thigh. I've really got the scars to prove I fought this one.

"The only reason you could really call the leopard trained was that he never stuck his claws out. This all thrilled my wife to tears. She was about ready to quit me."

* * *

Asked if he kept any animal pets at home Forrest grinned and said: "No, two children are savage enough."

Teen Picture of Parents Often Proves Unflattering

Youngsters List Numerous Complaints About Behavior of Mothers, Dads

By RUTH MILLETT

How do you look to your teenage son or daughter? If you want to know, you might take a look at these candid comments made by teenagers to this column. Do any of them strike home?

* * *

"If parents would take more interest in the activities of their teenagers, they might be pleasantly surprised. If parents would ask, 'Did you have fun?' instead of demanding, 'Where have you been?' the minute a teenager comes home, we kids would volunteer a lot more information."

"If a teenager goes out and gets a job working after school and on Saturdays, it looks as though he ought to have a right to spend his money the way he wants to.

"I earn my own money but my father is always accusing me of 'throwing it around' whenever I save up to buy something I want. That takes most of the fun out of working and I don't really think it is fair."

"My parents expect me to be polite to their friends, but they aren't always polite to mine. Dad gets mad if he answers the telephone and it is for me. He is often downright rude to the person calling and I feel so embarrassed I could die."

"When I have friends at my house my mother always comes in and sits down and stays with us until they leave. I always get out of the room when she is trying to talk to her friends, and it seems to me she ought to do the same thing for me. But I would hurt her feelings if I told her this."

* * *

"My parents are always criticizing my friends. So I have quit telling them anything I think they won't like.

"And I almost hate to have my friends come to my house because I know when they are gone Mom or Dad will start in on their manners, or their clothes, or something."

These are a few teenage complaints culled from a number of leters. Perhaps it is good for us now and then to see ourselves as our teenagers see us . . . even though it isn't always a flattering picture."

Walk Off Calories

If you want good circulation as well as a trim figure, work some exercise into your daily routine. You might adopt two or three simple exercises to your figure needs and add a daily walk to burn up some of those calories.

Make your own formal wrap: lace and chiffon caught with silk roses is for pretty femininity; for a more tailored type, try satin or velvet.

Pretty sheerness of lace and chiffon combined in a cape-stole caught with huge silk roses or satin-faced with a contrasting color creates a new holiday wrap. Elegant velvet or handsome brocade are causing excitement as evening stoles, too.

Pianist Seymour Lipkin Delights Lovers of Music

Waterford Civic Group Hears Concert by Noted Young Artist Monday

By JANE WINDELER

Seymour Lipkin, 28, who was dubbed "foremost young pianist in the United States" when he won the Rachmaninoff Fund Award, more than lived up to his reputation with his appearance in the Isaac Crary Junior High School auditorium.

His program opened with Bach's Prelude and Fugue in C—The Well-Tempered Clavichord—playing it as Bach must have played it himself, without emotion and making the piano sound exactly like a clavichord.

The allegro, allegretto and allegro comodo movements of Beethoven's Sonata in E Major, Opus 14, 1, were artfully intrepreted from the most delicate ripples to the energetic chords.

Smug Behavior of Husband Places Marriage in Jeopardy

(This is the second of seven articles presenting case histories of "Marriage on the Rocks" — from the files of the Family Service Association of America — together with advice and opinion of experts on what can be done to prevent a marriage from breaking up. All names used in these real case histories are fictitious.)

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer

The Van Jones marriage had everything in its favor — well-educated husband and wife, nice home, good income, well-bred children, no sickness in the family.

* * *

But the family minister was on the phone, calling the local Family Service Association to see what could be done to save the Van Jones marriage. The wife had gone to the Rev. Mr. Hart and told him she wanted a divorce.

The Rev. Mr. Hart was able to arrange interviews. The case worker, a professionally trained woman with 17 years experience listening to and helping families in trouble, met with the husband first. He told her:

"I've lost the feelings of closeness I had with my wife. I don't know how it happened or when it started, but I know I can't go on like this — without the feeling of love.

"There is no hostility between us; we've just grown apart."

EARLY TROUBLES

Under quiet, gentle questioning, Van Jones said there had been some money difficulties early in the 10-year-old marriage. His wife wanted a nice home and good clothes and she didn't seem to budget for them too well.

* * *

When he took over the finances, everything was fine. Since he did well financially, there were no further money problems.

When Mrs. Van Jones came in for her interview, she confirmed the picture of her husband as a good provider, business success, attentive father. He was "on the way up" at work, but between his job and his after-dinner newspaper, he didn't seem to have much time for her.

Then she blurted out the story of "the other man."

* * *

From the torrent of words spilling out, the case worker jotted down these notes on her pad:

"Wife in church choir . . . always interested in singing . . . believed she had a good voice . . . choir practice twice a week evenings . . . says she well in love with choir director . . . no question of sexual intimacy . . . it was a spiritual feeling based on mutual love of art, music, opera . . .

"Other man so well-dressed, polished, cultured . . . the way he pays attention to her . . . contrast with husband . . . husband knows of affair . . . saw her escorted home after practice . . . never showed any anger or even mentioned it . . . what an explosion could be brewing."

After a few more interviews in which the Van Joneses were encouraged to talk about themselves, their marriage, even their childhood, the case worker felt she knew how they could tackle the problem. Here is how the case worker reasoned:

First of all, the wife really didn't want a divorce; the fact that she went to her minister rather than a lawyer showed this.

What she really wanted was a husband who was more positive and caring, a man to take an interest in her the way he did when they were first married. Remember the budget incident?

Instead of commenting on how she looked or what she cooked, the husband kept his nose buried in the paper. He even appeared disinterested when she undertook outside activities.

* * *

ONE WHO CARED

What the wife wanted more than anything else was a husband who cared—it isn't very flattering to be ignored.

* * *

The case worker helped the husband realize his own passivity, inertia and, yes, smugness. He began to show an interest in his appearance (he really could afford to wear new suits) and took his wife to the theater. He found out he liked that.

And he began to call for her after choir practice, noticed her clothes.

Soon the wife found she didn't feel the need to be out of the house so much. She began to find the "spiritual values" she thought important in her husband.

Psychologically, Mrs. Van Jones was like any other woman. For all her intellectual accomplishments, she still wanted some one who thought she was important, a strong, masculine man she could depend on.

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

Chapter 34

When Ralph Tolley landed on my left foot I cried out with a painful groan that was not wholly hypocritical. I sat down on the floor and grabbed my ankle. Poor Mr. Tolley was almost tearful. He kept mumbling how sorry he was.

"No," I said. "My fault."

"Shall I call a doctor?"

"No! No . . . this often happens to me. I'll be all right, except that in about half an hour my ankle will swell like a balloon."

"I'd rather call a doctor."

"No! But there's something you can do. You can help me home."

"Of course, certainly."

"Then I'll come back and help you."

"No!" I said irritably. "Didn't you hear me? I'll be all right for a while. You get the cab, hold it, stay with it. I'll follow you down in a minute."

"All right . . ."

"And listen, I'd appreciate it if you wouldn't mention this to a soul. If Mr. Bell heard about my weak ankles . . . well, it would mean a dishonorable discharge for me . . . abject poverty."

"I won't tell a soul."

"And hurry . . . don't stop to talk to anybody!"

"Of course not."

* * *

He hurried away. I got to my feet and went to the door of the studio. I waited until I heard an elevator's doors open and close, then I grabbed my coat and headed cautiously for the reception room. Caution was unnecessary; the room was empty.

Twenty minutes later . . . thirty-five minutes to four . . . I was limping into our apartment, Mr. Tolley's hand under my elbow. I let him escort me into the bedroom. I sat on the edge of my bed.

"Would you mind," I said, "my slippers . . . they're in that closet there."

"Not at all," Ralph said.

He opened the closet door, stooped into it to look for the slippers which were under my bed. Swiftly, silently, as treacherous as a lady coyote fighting for her mate, I was behind Ralph.

With a diabolical thrust I sent him tumbling into the closet. I slammed shut the door. I locked it.

Inside the closet there was a great thrashing about.

"Mr. Tolley," I called, "listen to me. I'll let you out as soon as I can."

He began pounding at the door, yelling at me.

"All right!" I shouted. "If you're going to be unreasonable. . . ."

It was seventeen minutes to the hour of four when I returned to the dancing school building. I was my elevator's only passenger. I leaned back against the rear wall and tried to think of an explanation for my absence if Leone demanded one of me. But I couldn't seem to concentrate. I was only thinking of Steve . . . he had seventeen minutes left to prove he wasn't a murderer. How was he doing . . . where was he? Suddenly I realized that the elevator boy was speaking to me.

I said, "I beg your pardon?"

"He got another one."

"Who! Who got another what?"

"I just this minute heard it on the radio in the basement. A news flash. The Waltzer has struck again!"

"What?"

"Yep. Again. Murdered her and hid the body."

"Who . . . whom did he murder now?"

"Hester Frost!" I covered my face with my hands. "Oh, no, not Hester!"

"Yep. You know her?"

I nodded. "Hester and I were very close. How did it happen?"

"He lured her into a rendezvous on Third Avenue. Some guy named Wendell Kipp seen them together. He tried to intervene, but the Waltzer dragged Hester up on a roof. That's the last she was ever seen."

"Poor Hester."

"The police," the boy said, "are searching for the body."

"And when they find it," I said, "it will no doubt be mutilated."

"Yep," the boy said. "Mutilated beyond recognition."

* * *

The elevator door slid open. Leone Webb was at her desk. She was turned to her typewriter on its wheeled table. There was a chance that she was too involved to notice me. I was careful not to disturb her. I made it. I got through the reception room, into Studio K.

This would be the safest place for Hester Frost to be when the news of her horrible end hit the school.

It was twelve minutes to four. Steve had had more than two hours to work on the tapes, to try to find in them the solution to Anita's murder. He had been interested only in the Stubby recording and then only in certain portions of it. There had been something on that tape that had given him a clue, that had given him hope. I forced my mind back, trying to remember every word of dialogue, every inflection of those two voices.

Come on, Stubby, let's talk . . . don't wanna talk . . . dinner at Margiotti's . . . you hated Walter . . . you killed Walter . . . you did the world a favor . . .

Steve had spoken to me then. The volume had been too loud, he'd said, it was blurring. But he hadn't wanted me to play that part over again; it was the end of it he wanted especially to hear. I paced back and forth along the mirrored walls trying to remember exactly how the record had ended.

Anita's voice had been a wheedling whisper. That was smart, Stubby . . . Last August it was . . . and the police still think it was an accident . . . Stubby's voice had broken through hers, his speech drunker, drowsier than before. Tired . . . so tired . . . gold medal . . . Then Anita again, pleading. Wait, Stubby, don't fold up now . . . And in loud disgust: . . . oh, damn you, Stubby . . .

* * *

That was the end of Stubby, there wasn't any more because the phone had rung and Anita had answered it. She had said, Hello . . . the same to you . . . who is it . . . just a second . . . The recording had stopped there.

It was eight minuutes to four, and I knew that I wasn't going to be the one who had ferreted out the secret in that tape. If Steve hadn't succeeded in doing it . . .

I stopped my pacing and I was staring at the floor in the center of the room . . . at a small piece of black paper that lay there.

It hadn't been there a few moments ago; on this smooth glistening floor it was as conspicuous as a muddy dinosaur footprint. I took a step toward it and saw what it was. It was a silhouette of me, a cut-out of my unclassical but serviceable profile. I was intrigued, I was irresistibly drawn to this minor work of art and, as I stepped closer, I saw the heavy darning needle sticking through it. I was about to bend over and pick it up when I jerked back. I stepped quickly away, back to the mirrored wall.

I had remembered another piece of black paper like this one. I had found it in Anita Farrell's dead hand. It had been a silhouette of her . . .

Dr. Sheppard Asks for Reconsideration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard of Cleveland has asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its Nov. 13 refusal to review his trial and life sentence for killing his wife.

Sheppard, an osteopath, was convicted of slaying his 30-year-old pregnant wife, Marilyn, in their Bay Village, Ohio, home on July 4, 1954.

Sheppard's attorneys in asking a Supreme Court hearing contended that Sheppard was denied a fair trial because of adverse publicity. They said Sheppard had "a trial by newspapers."

The petition asking reconsideration of the November denial of a hearing said "the policy and precedent that results" from the denial would soon be reflected in trials all over the land, "especially in cases involving sex, sensation and crimes."

Integrated School Asks for U.S. Help

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—The Anderson County School Board asked the federal government today for help in enforcing racial integration at Clinton High School.

Otherwise, the board said, "it might become necessary to close" the school.

* * *

The board acted in an extraordinary 7:30 a.m. session.

Ten Negro pupils remaining of the dozen admitted under federal court orders this year have stayed away from school since last Tuesday. They demanded the board give them assurance of their personal safety.

* * *

They left school after rock and egg throwing incidents last Monday and Tuesday climaxed a series of acts of harassment by white pupils which had developed in recent weeks.

Bob Considine Says:

Medics Make Study of Olympic Exertions

MELBOURNE (INS) — Tom Courtney, the Fordham boy who won the Olympic 800-meter race, did not have strength enough after the race to untie the laces of his shoes.

* * *

One of the runners in the 1,500-meter race, in which the first six men broke the Olympic record, had to be carried off on a stretcher. Two guards with their arms under his armpits walked the Finn who finished third in the 26-mile 385-yard marathon back to his dressing room.

Is this good or bad? Medical groups are finally beginning to regard such mass demonstrations of excessive exercise as the Olympics with a new clinical eye.

There exist today such organizations as the International Federation for Sports Medicine (FIMS), the British Medical Sports Association, the American College of Sports Medicine, and the Western Council of Sports Medicine.

* * *

Their purpose, as summed up by the International Federation, is "to contribute toward the progress of medical sciences by the study of medico-athletic problems, to take all necessary steps for insuring that its conclusions are applied in all athletic and gymnastic activities."

BANNISTER'S HEART

The Journal of the American Medical Association was full of sports news in a recent issue. There was an X-ray of Roger Bannister's heart ("in diastole it is large and strong, like that of a racing greyhound") and some items about Emil Zatopek we never knew before. To wit:

"Zatopek," writes Thomas K. Cureton, Ph.D., Urbana, Ill., "has a lean, medium build, 149.5 lb., with mesomorphic legs somewhat longer than usual and rather small (almost ectomorphic) chest and arms, and obviously carries an extremely small amount of dead weight . . .

"The seven-year (1945-1952) laboratory record from Prague made available to me shows his steady improvement in circulatory-respiratory capacity, which reached a climax at Helsinki.

"It is remarkable that he did not interrupt his training for military service. In the winter he ran in heavy boots in the forest or on some road. He trained both winter and summer."

* * *

Cureton speaks of Zatopek's "victory of the will" and how it was achieved. According to Prague sources, Zatopek practiced breath-holding to train his will as he walked to work, counting poplar trees along the side of the road.

PRESSURE IN HEAD

"He struggled with breath-holding day after day, until he felt pressure in his head, weight on his chest, felt himself choking and felt like he was losing consciousness—then he fainted and dropped to the ground. Thus Zatopek trained his will.

"Any runner who beat him had to beat such a will, not only a style of running or a body type. In 1951 and 1952 he trained by breathing oxygen mixtures and cultivated the relaxed upper-body style that enabled him to breathe the best."

This pioneering, according to Bannister and John Landy, made it possible for them to break the four-minute mile.

The same issue (Nov. 17) of the AMA Journal contains the best summary of the history of the Olympics and the anatomy of the Olympic ideal I've ever read?

* * *

It's by Dr. Allan J. Ryan of Meriden, Conn., whose entrance into medicine deprived journalism of a fine reporter. He sheds light on a little known phase of the rebirth of the Olympics in 1896:

"Pierre de Courbetin of France (founder of the modern Olympics) was not an athlete himself and had no particular interest in the effect of athletics on the development of the physique. He conceived the idea of the games as a revolution in education that would employ sport as a medium.

"As a young man he had pondered the question as to why the small island of England could produce leaders who could and did dominate such a large area of the world, producing such tremendous wealth and influence for the mother country.

"He thought that he found the answer in the English public school system . . . and the great emphasis on athletics as part of the curriculum.

* * *

"If only," he thought, "every country in the world could have the incentive to train its youth in the keen struggle of international athletic competition, the same success might result in the development of their characters."

So that's why we're here.

They'll Confer at Augusta Headquarters

President Calls Meeting of Top Aides to Discuss Future Military Spending

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower has called Secretary of Defense Wilson and other administration officials to a Friday meeting here to discuss the level of military spending for the new fiscal year.

At the same time, Eisenhower's vacation headquarters announced:

1. Indefinite postponement of the Washington meetings the President had scheduled with Congressional leaders for Dec. 13-14. The sessions had been called for discussion of the administration's legislative program for 1957, to be outlined in Eisenhower's State of the Union message going to Congress early next month.

* * *

The meetings are being postponed, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said, because several administration officials who normally would attend will be in Paris at that time for a conference of the NATO Ministerial Council.

2. Present indications are the President will stay on here, combining work and golf, for longer than the two weeks he had planned originally. He arrived from Washington a week ago today.

* * *

Eisenhower's first scheduled Washington engagement at this time is the start of talks with India's Prime Minister Nehru Dec. 16. The two men probably will move outside of Washington for continuance of the talks after meeting there first.

Asked whether the President is likely to remain in Augusta until he returns to the White House to meet Nehru, Hagerty said, "there is nothing else scheduled before that, but that does not necessarily mean we would stay down here all that time. On the other hand, it could."

* * *

Accompanying Wilson to Augusta Friday will be Budget Director Percival Brundage; Wilfred J. McNeil, assistant secretary of defense; and Eisenhower's chief aide, Sherman Adams.

The conference, Hagerty said, will deal with the Defense Department budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

As for the postponed plans for Eisenhower to confer with congressional leaders on the administration's legislative program, Hagerty said the sessions in any case will not be held now until after the President's talks with Nehru, ending Dec. 20.

The original plan was for the President to meet with Republican congressional leaders Dec. 13 for a discussion of the administration's domestic program. He had called Democratic and GOP leaders to a Dec. 14 conference on the foreign policy aspects of the 1957 program.

In announcing the postponement, Hagerty noted that such key administration officials as Wilson, Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will be attending the Paris NATO meeting in mid-December.

Budapest Women Handle Machine Guns

(This is the second of six articles telling in terrifying detail the full, chronological story of how the people of Budapest rose against their Russian oppressors in the great rebellion that began Oct. 23 and started one of the most appalling bloodbaths in history.)

By KATHARINE CLARK
INS Staff Writer

The first night of the Budapest fight for freedom ended with the sounds of sporadic small arms and machine gun fire and the heavy rumble of 80 to 100 Soviet tanks moving into the city from the West. The revolution had only started. The worst part of the bloodbath was to come.

Martial law was imposed at dawn, Wednesday, Oct. 24, and radio Budapest announced:

"Soviet troops are here under the Warsaw pact (The Russian-inspired counter to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization). They have been asked to put their lives at stake for the peaceful Hungarian people and to protect them from counter-revolutionaries . . . workers of Budapest, accept these Soviet troops as your friends."

The "workers of Budapest," and the students and teenagers, answered this appeal with sniper fire at the Russian tanks and deeds of heroism matched in their scope only by the size of the odds against them.

Ignoring not only the appeal but threats of death for refusal to surrender, the people of the revolution gathered at noon in front of the parliament building on the Pest side of the Danube. They carried petitions for Imre Nagy—installed as Premier at dawn in an attempt to end the anti-government demonstrations — demanding the withdrawal of all Soviet troops.

The Soviet tanks had moved into position in front of the parliament building, and the Hungarian Security police (AVH) were massed there.

As the crowd milled about and moved in closer, the tanks suddenly erupted with gunfire that raked the unarmed masses, killing scores whose startled and horrified expressions were frozen forever on their faces.

One Hungarian girl of about 13 ran up to a Russian tank with gasoline soaked rags in one hand and a makeshift torch in the other, stuffed burning rags into the tank opening to drive the crew out. Her clothes caught fire and she burned to death.

As increasing numbers of Soviet tanks and troops entered the city, and Red jets swooped overhead, resistance to the Russians sprang up everywhere. The only organization was on a block-by-block basis. Generally, the group of freedom fighters in one block didn't know what was going on in the next.

Alexander Czudi, 23, quit his Hungarian army tank unit and joined a small group of patriots. When they ran short of ammunition to fight the Russian tanks, they used stones, or Molotov cocktails, even crowbars.

One of his band leaped up on the back of a Russian tank that was unable to maneuver in a narrow street and threw a crowbar in the tank tracks, putting the tank out of action. As the tank crew members tried to escape, Czudi's group picked them off with carbines, one by one.

Around Budapest, crowds converged on Soviet bookstores, broke windows, hurled the Communist propaganda tracts into the street to make bonfires. Other fires doted the city as panicky Soviet tank men and troops began to fire widily into homes and other buildings.

In the midst of this error and bloodshed, there were unbelievably touching little human dramas. There was one Hungarian boy no more than 10 years old crying uncontrollably on a street corner because his uncle had snatched the boy's machine gun—the young of Budapest called them "guitars." The uncle wanted to fight. But so did the boy.

More and more arms fell to the patriots as they fought their way into the Karoly barracks and the Killian barracks—the "Alamo" of the revolution—and the arms depot at Fot in the suburbs. But there were many more freedom-fighters than guns or grenades.

Boys of 10 or 11 were assigned the job of tying land mines to strings and swinging them back and forth across the street until they caught a Russian tank.

Veronika, 23, a wisp of a woman — she still has relatives in Hungary and doesn't want her last name used—handled a machine gun, like many other young women, while entrenched in the Budapest radio building taken over by the patriots. She fired down into the streets at Russian tanks until her ammunition ran out.

In one residential area near the heart of Budapest, Emil, the young apprentice machine operator who had listened in wonder to the older men's talks of the Polish revolt the day before, had joined a group of patriots in his block.

At the beginning, such groups had about one weapon or grenade for every five persons. Hungarian soldiers gave them more weapons. Women came out into the bullet-riddled streets to give them bread. The freedom-fighters were frightened and they admitted it. But around them they saw their friends and neighbors being massacred, and they fought.

In the center of Budapest, late in the afternoon of Wednesday, one group of patriots, unarmed, marched with outstretched arms into a concentration of Soviet machine gun fire. The carnage was complete.

And to Budapest's freedom-fighters came heartening reports from the outlying towns and villages of Hungary, telling how the revolution had spread. From block to block went the word-of-mouth tales of Magyarovar, a small town near the Austrian border.

There Karl Nogrady, a young worker, fought alongside 30 Hungarian soldiers and civilians against Soviet forces. Courier-borne messages from Nogrady described the continuing battle:

"There are more women injured than men . . . the men are spread out to keep the Russians from cutting us off from Budapest, so the women are fighting in the town more than the men . . . there are many, many injured from hand grenades . . ."

There would be many more injured — and dead — in the once peaceful little town of Magyarovar, as there would be in Budapest.

(Next: Victory—almost.)

'Penned In Like Rats'

Adrian Recalls Rail Crash That Killed at Least 80

ADRIAN (AP)—One of the nation's worst railroad wrecks, in which at least 80 persons were killed here 55 years ago, was recalled in this Lenawee County community last week.

On Nov. 28, 1901, two Wabash railroad trains traveling 50 miles an hour smashed head-on near Seneca, 12 miles southwest of Adrian. A car on one train caught fire and literally burned its passengers alive.

Exact death toll was never known. Three coaches on one train were filled with Italian immigrants on their way to work in Colorado mines. Some were never accounted for.

A misreading of orders was blamed for the tragedy. The engineer of one train forgot that he was to sidetrack at Seneca to let the other train go by.

The brakeman recalled that he was outside, on the lookout for the switch, and the train was within five or six car-lengths of it when "I could see at once the train was not slowing up."

* * *

He ran inside and pulled the emergency valve but "we were going at such speed the train could not be stopped in time."

A farm woman who ran to the crash scene said, "People were trying to get at the windows and falling back into the flames. You could hear the shrieks of the wounded and dying even above the noise of escaping steam."

A newspaper account of the wreck said, "The awfulness of the catastrophe defies the descriptive abilities of the most finished newspaperman.

"Passengers were penned in like rats and left to burn to death, if not killed outright after being jammed and wounded in a most fearful manner. It was one of the most terrible nights that could ever be dreamed of."

Romania Signs Russian Accord

Joint Pact Reaffirms Close Ties, Continuance of Mutual Aid

MOSCOW (AP) — Romania's Communist government says it is in almost complete accord with the policies laid down by its big neighbor, the Soviet Union. Soviet soldiers can remain on Romanian soil, and Moscow will give Romania economic help.

A 10½-page joint communique signed by Premier Bulganin and Romanian Premier Chivu Stoica last night read like a reiteration of known Kremlin policies on Communist and international affairs.

* * *

It calls for a loan to Romania of 450,000 tons of wheat and 60,000 tons of fodder grain to offset a poor harvest, and credit and equipment to expand Romania's chemical and oil industries. The bill for certain other Soviet goods already sold to Romania was deferred from 1957 to 1959.

The Romanians agreed to provide Russia "such materials as are necessary for its national economy" in exchange for Soviet iron ore, coke, pipe and technical assistance.

* * *

Presumably this payment will be made in oil. Romania, situated between the Soviet Ukraine and Yugoslavia, produces nearly 11 million tons of oil a year.

The agreement also calls for continued stationing of Soviet troops in Romania, subject only to final negotiations by the two nations and other members of the Eastern European Warsaw Pact.

* * *

On international issues, Romania went down the line in support of Kremlin policies. The communique expressed agreement that Russia was doing its "duty to the working people of Hungary" — another of Romania's neighbors — in using Soviet troops to fight what it termed "an attempt to destroy the Socialist system and create in Hungary a hotbed of fascism threatened peace in Europe."

Honey-Stealing Bear Bagged by Hunter

STODDARD, N.H. (AP) — A 300-pound bear that used to startle Stoddard residents with his escapades has been shot and killed.

He was bagged by Zigmond Starzynski, a Gardner, Mass., hunter.

Residents said they had seen the bear playfully romping after birds and stealing honey from trees where there were bees.

82-Year-Old Comic Kolb Plays Self in New Movie

By BOB THOMAS

* * *

The 82-year-old actor is again doing a movie and playing himself, of all people. In 1912, he gave Lon Chaney his first big break and he's reliving the sequence in the Chaney biography, "The Man of a Thousand Faces."

Kolb came to lunch looking amazingly spry for his years. He said that he still keeps up his calisthenics, but that he's not as limber as had been reported. One columnist wrote that he was able to lift a leg behind his neck.

* * *

"Maybe I could get it up there," he snorted, "but how the dickens would I get down?"

You'd recognize Kolb as the irascible general, boss or father of dozens of movies and television films. His most recent engagement was as Charlie Farrell's explosive boss in "My Little Margie." He made 82 of the TV half-hours.

He can be (or pose) as crusty as the characters he has performed and he's full of stories of directors, producers and actors he has clashed with. Apparently his long partnership with the late Max Dill was a stormy one.

"We never mixed socially," he said. "Our relationship was the same as it was on the stage. When I said yes, he said no."

* * *

Kolb was born on a farm 28 miles from Cleveland and grew up in the Ohio city. Dill lived on the same street. The pair combined their talents in the theater, first as Dutch comics. They gave up the stage in 1931, returning briefly in 1947 and then splitting up. Dill died in 1948.

After they broke up Kolb came to Hollywood to try his luck as a movie actor.

"Now this town is about through with me," he said. "That's all right with me. I'll go back to San Francisco, where I can really live."

His recipe for staying hale and hearty?

"I've given up everything that doesn't agree with me. Except drinking, and it agrees with me."

'Kiss' to Husband Had Narcotic Effect

BOSTON (AP) — A superior court judge has sentenced Mrs. Joan Witherspoon, 25, to a year in jail after she admitted its was more than a kiss that she gave her imprisoned husband.

Mrs. Witherspoon pleaded guilty to a charge she passed narcotics to her husband, Calvin, 27.

The husband was serving nine months on narcotics charges.

Union Accused in Dues Probe

Flint Group Used Funds for Political Purposes, Senator Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sources said today a federal grand jury is investigating charges that Flint, Mich. labor groups unlawfully used dues funds in the 1956 election campaign.

The investigation involves allegations, aired publicly by Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb), that the Greater Flint Industrial Council-CIO last September caused some $25,000 of United Auto Workers members' dues to be diverted into a fund for "partisan political purposes" in violation of election laws.

* * *

The law forbids labor unions or corporations to contribute directly to political campaigns.

Senate sources, declining to be quoted by name, said the grand jury has been convened in Bay City, Mich., to consider evidence gathered by the FBI. The Justice Department reserved comment.

Curtis outlined these and other allegations:

1. That the Greater Flint Industrial Council had "caused local unions to take money from their general fund, made up from dues, and have it transferred for partisan political purposes to affect the outcome of the current election."

2. That Local 599 of the UAW in Flint, in response to a request from its executive board, voted Sept. 9 to provide money for political purposes and that minutes of the local's meeting would show "it was discussed that what was being done was in violation of law."

3. That the local approved a plan to pay 100 or more "election workers" at a rate of $20 a day, plus $5 a day in expenses for three days, and that its total "political" expenditures had been estimated at around $25,000.

Laughing-Death Herb

The phrase "sardonic laughter" is derived from the name of the near the small port of Oqair on ranean. An herb growing there was once believed to make anyone who ate it laugh himself to death.

Well-known Newscaster, WJBK-TV, Detroit

Jac LeGoff asks:

"COULD ALL BUSINESS BE SMALL BUSINESS?"

KEITH ELLIOTT, Standard Oil Dealer, Indianapolis, Indiana: "Not for my money! I wouldn't even have a business of my own like this without a big, well-established company to rely on for regular delivery of the products my customers want, when they want them. I'd be in some fix trying to find an oil well, produce and refine crude oil, then get the gasoline to my service station, and—well, you get the idea."

ARTHUR ULRICH, Standard Oil Dealer, Clare, Mich.: "Hardly. Take this new all-weather motor oil for example. Years of research in one of Standard's big labs where they have hundreds of scientists went into the development of this single product. The small businessman like me just isn't any way equipped for that sort of work. Still, my customers and I benefit from it. Seems like a good system to me."

AUGIE CLAEYS, Standard Oil Dealer, Moline, Ill.: "Well, I haven't got the time or the money to try to drill a producing oil well. You know it costs big money, sometimes as much as a million dollars, to drill a well, and then it may turn out bone-dry. Only big companies can take risks like that over and over again to keep my tanks full whenever my customers want gasoline."

J. F. WORKMAN, Standard Oil Dealer, Wichita, Kan.: "Did you ever think about credit? I honor hundreds of Standard Oil credit cards here every month. Of course, these folks are good pay, but I couldn't afford to tie up either the money or the time in bookkeeping and billing that Standard takes care of for me. It's something like product research. A big company is set up to do a bang-up job on them, though it would be impossible for me."

What makes a business a good citizen?

Supplying the needs and wants of its customers to the very best of its abilities.

Thousands of Standard Oil Dealers in 15 Midwest and Rocky Mountain states devote their business lives to good and honest service. In turn, our dealers look to Standard Oil for production and refining, transportation, research, sales and merchandising help, and, above all, product quality. Because America has a free and highly competitive economy, both dealers and the company work hard and constantly to do their respective jobs better.

Book Designed for Innocents From Abroad

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Until reasonably recently, most foreigners who came to America expected to tread upon walks of gilt, rent out a movie-set penthouse overlooking Manhattan, be greeted by cowboys or gun molls, and dine on hot dogs and extra dry martinis.

This was the impression spread o'er the oceans by the movies, in collaboration with such as Mickey Spillane and his friends.

Several months ago I lamented here that the foreigners who actually did come to these shores for a friendly visit not only were cheated out of their dreams of penthouses and golden thoroughfares . . . they also found themselves completely at a loss to understand, or be understood by their "hosts."

Unlike Americans who travel regularly to overseas cities, equipped with hundreds of travel guides and helpful hints, I said, the visitors to the U.S. had no published material to brief them on what to expect in this country.

* * *

Added to this unfortunate oversight on the part of publishers, there was the problem that we Americans have had no particular need, or interest, for learning any other tongue besides English.

NO PLACE TO GO

The result: Thousands of bewildered and disappointed souls arriving in the U.S.A., naive and uncomfortable, all dressed up for a good time and no place to go to be welcomed and understood.

* * *

It seemed that although America was enormously interested in travel, it was all only a self-interest. As the biggest-spending gadabouts on earth, somehow we never considered that this tourist business could work two ways: That we should be not only interested guests in other lands, but warm hosts in our own.

Well, at last a book has come out to help the innocents abroad in making their first trip past the Statue of Liberty. Written by Myra Waldo, backed by Pan American World Airways, published in five languages, and titled "New Horizons U.S.A.," it is a guide to travel here — giving virtually all the facts a foreigner would like to know short of where to obtain opium on a Sunday.

It breaks us down into sections, states, then cities, listing history, geography, accomodations, restaurants, prices, shopping tips, nationalities of citizens, climate, etc., for each.

In the beginning of "New Horizons U.S.A." is a section devoted to describing the country as a whole, just as guides to foreign lands do, and it's fascinating to head such advice to visitors as "it is futile to resist the ingrained American habit of eating vegetables and potatoes with meat or poultry," and "don't expect to find skillful service wherever you go; it is rare to find a truly skilled waiter in the European tradition."

However, desipte these frank warnings to tourists, the fat little book will generally enthrall and excite visitors, I imagine.

It may even encouage Americans to stay home and see their own states first — a wise old theory that in recent years has been disregarded by many millions of us who have seen Paris before dropping in on Denver.

I know that in my own case, after browsing through "New Horizons U.S.A." for an afternoon, I would like to take — not a trip around the world, but a trip across the country.

I don't care if the waiters are sometimes careless and you've got to eat vegetables with your capon, it reads like a mighty fine place to live!

THE ANIMALS' CHRISTMAS — By Walt Scott

French Bitterly Resent U. S. Suez Stand

PARIS (INS) — A new kind of anti-American feeling is sweeping France today.

Well-informed diplomats consider this cold, unemotional wave of sentiment as a bigger threat to the Western Alliance than the raucous communist "U.S. Go Home" propaganda of cold war days.

The reason for the concern is that resentment against the U.S. is gaining ground among elements of the French population who, hitherto, had wholeheartedly backed American inspired undertakings such as the North Atlantic Alliance and other measures designed to stem the march of Soviet imperialism.

They constitute a substantial portion of anti - Communist Frenchmen, including both rightist and leftist politicians, diplomats, civil servants, businessmen and just plain citizens.

Outstanding figures on the French scene, with records of unqualified support of NATO and of the common ideals of Western democracies, are today turning against the United States in an avowed effort to defend what they consider France's vital interests.

TEMPERS FLARE

Many of them are openly infuriated at American support of countries who have accused France and Britain of imperialism.

Frenchmen are not unanimous about the wisdom of the British and French military expedition to the Suez Canal Zone.

But almost all, with the exception of the Communists, consider that France and Britain are being unjustly treated when they are accused of having touched off the conflict with Egypt when they sent aircraft on missions against Egyptian aviation bases.

This view, these Frenchmen feel, is not only unfair but also naive.

They resent that the United Nations Assembly, with American support, adopted the position that Israel, France and Britain launched an aggression against "innocent" Egypt.

They contend that this attitude does not take into account the proclaimed intentions of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser to exert his domination over the Arab world.

Even those who disagreed with Premier Guy Moliet about the need for a military showdown with Nasser were critical of evident Egyptian attempts to take advantage of France's difficulties in North Africa and hamstring any French efforts to reach an agreement with the people of Algeria.

They feel the United States was remiss in its duty as an Atlantic ally when the American delegation to the United Nations acted in a way to bolster the shaken prestige of the Egyptian leader.

The predominant sentiment in these circles is that Israel went to war in self-defense.

Canines Guard Selfridge Base

German Shepherds Get Training for Patrol Duty With Air Force

MOUNT CLEMENS (INS)—Nine new "guards" with four legs and sharp teeth have gone on duty at Selfridge Air Force Base.

Six other dogs are scheduled to take up guard duty at Wurtsmith Air Base near Oscoda, Mich.

* * *

Cost of training the dogs, who can spot a moving object 45 yards away on a pitch-black night, was $1,200.

Trainers, who will stay with the animals until they complete their tour of duty, will go along on guard patrols until the dogs are completely familiar with the base.

The shepherds later will patrol alone, if necessary.

No Teachers Needed Now in Michigan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan has an estimated 54,500 teachers employed in public elementary and secondary schools and has no need of additional teachers at this time, the National Education Assn. (NEA) said Monday.

The estimated average salary of classroom teachers in Michigan was listed by the NEA as $4,900, topped only by the $5,550 average in New York and California.

Nationwide, the NEA said, an estimated 1,258,136 teachers are employed in public elementary and secondary schools but an additional 47,760 are needed to reduce oversized classes.

Of the total now employed, the NEA said, about 80,000 are on an emergency or substandard basis —that is, do not hold standard certificates.

The NEA said the number of teachers employed on emergency or substandard certificates only partly indicates the real shortage. A substantial part of the shortage is concealed by enlarging classes.

Group Orders Union to Produce Records

HONOLULU (AP)—Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and some affiliated organizations are under subpoena to produce today their financial records for the last four years.

The U. S. Senate subcommittee on internal security headed by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) opens the fourth day of its hearing into communism in the Hawaiian Islands.

Union leaders yesterday continued to refuse to answer committee questions under protection of the 5th Amendment. At the same time, 6,000 ILWU members staged a 24-hour work stoppage protesting hearings which Bridges has said are aimed at breaking the union.

The '57 Chevrolet can give lessons on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

Its road savvy isn't surprising once you learn what's underneath—new developments in steering, springs and suspension. Chevy plants itself wide and low to the road, and with its pounds in the right places. That's why it sticks so surely and solidly around corners and curves.

Chevrolet's new V8 power (up to 245 h.p.*) springs from what people who know have called the best performing passenger car engine ever built. And that makes the going even better! Come in and try it.

Many people have wondered why the Lions-Bears game Sunday did not surpass the all-time attendance record at Briggs Stadium.

The largest crowd ever to watch a pro contest in Detroit was in 1954 when 58,431 fans saw the Lions whip the 49ers, 48-7.

Two other crowds went just over the 58,000 mark in 1953.

Lion officials have a simple explanation as to why the crowds have not exceeded 58,000 in any one game this year considering the great demand for tickets.

Up to this season, 7,000 bleacher seats and all standing room tickets were always made available the day of the game, in fact just a few hours before game time.

"Many fans would drive long distances and then jam the ticket windows for these tickets, and when the bleacher seats were gone, they would be content in taking standing room tickets rather than leave," said one Lion official.

Now, however, all of the bleacher seats are sold early in the week, leaving only standing room space to be purchased at the windows.

"Because of this, many people, knowing that only standing room tickets were available, would not bother driving any distance to get in," he said, "and they were content in staying home and listening to the game."

"Judging from the number of requests for tickets for Sunday's game, we would have had at least 70,000," he added.

BEARS HAVE ALWAYS BEEN TOUGH

The 42-10 drubbing the Bears took from the Lions was as surprising as it was convincing.

It is interesting to note that no other team in the National Football League, except the Cleveland Browns, holds an advantage over the Bears in the all-time series of games.

The Browns have beaten the Bears five of six games played in the regular season schedules since 1950.

The Bears have been consistent powers in the NFL, but yet they have not won the Western Division title since 1946. During this 10-year period, George Halas had to settle for 2nd place six times.

Another distinctive record the Chicago pros hold is the fact that since 1930 only twice has a divisional champion gone unbeaten in regular season play, and each time it was the Bears.

In 1942 the Bears won the divisional title with a 11-0 record and in 1934 they posted a 13-0 mark.

So through the relatively modern history of the pro circuit, beating the Bears has always been an accomplishment, but drubbing them as the Lions did is somewhat a rarity.

Tigers Get Finigan in Big Deal

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have climaxed two years of trying by landing infielder Jim Finigan from the Kansas City Athletics.

Finigan and three other players were acquired from the A's last night by the Tigers who traded off three pitchers and reserve first baseman Wayne Belardi in the first major deal since the club changed hands at the end of the season.

In the Kansas City package with Finigan were first baseman Eddie Robinson and pitchers Ed Blake and Bill Harrington. Harrington immediately was assigned to the Tigers' Charleston, W. Va., farm. Blake, one-time Cincinnati righthander, had been drafted by the A's earlier in the day from Toronto where last year he had the best earned run average in the International League.

Kansas City, which tossed $20,000 to $30,000 cash into the deal, received Ned Garver, sidelined almost all last season with a sore arm; Virgil Trucks, 38-year-old veteran hurler who has talked seriously of retiring; Gene Host, 23-year-old lefthander who had a 13-15 mark with Charleston in 1956, and Belardi.

Johnny McHale, Tigers' new personnel director, said "We think it is a good deal for us. Finigan can play third or second. Robinson always has hit lots of home runs in Briggs Stadium. Blake's no kid, but he looks like he can help our bullpen."

Kansas City, too, appeared happy. "We figure Host can be the big payoff in the deal," said Publicist Gordon Smith. "Garver can help a lot if his arm is sound—and doctors say it is. We need pitching. We are getting a promising young pitcher, plus two older ones who won't hurt us and can help us."

The Tigers tried all last winter to land Finigan. He probably will take over third base at least at the start, while the club experiments with Ray Boone at first base.

The Tigers still are in the market for another infielder and pitchers. McHale talked late last night with Cleveland officials and will meet with the Chicago White Sox today.

* * *

"Finigan is the key man," declared Spike Briggs in discussing the trade. "They (the personnel department) wanted Robinson. I was fighting it, but I guess he is as good as we could get."

* * *

Briggs was blunt in saying he didn't think the trade had cost the Tigers much. "We gave up a guy with a sore arm (Garver) and a pitcher who was quitting (Trucks). Host never showed us much. Belardi played a little first base."

* * *

Finigan was the American League's all star third baseman in 1954 when he hit .302. He slumped at the plate last season, winding up with .216. He can play second, short or third.

Robinson hit only .204 last year, going to the A's during the season after starting out with the Yankees. While with the Yanks he spelled danger in capital letters to Tigers pitchers in the Detroit ball park with his fondness for the right field seats.

Swim Teams Swing Into Action Today

Oakland County prep swimming teams get under way for an active season on several fronts today, while Birmingham Maples, easy winners of their opener a week ago against Highland Park, go to Grosse Pointe for the second tune-up, preceding opening of the Eastern Michigan campaign. Hazel Park's squad is at Royal Oak tonight in the opener for both.

Saginaw Valley teams also get under way, with Bay City Central entertaining Handy today. Arthur Hill comes to Pontiac Friday at 4 p.m. and Flint Central is at Bay City same day. Flint Northern will have its first swim meet in the school's history, also on Friday at Saginaw and goes back to Saginaw Arthur Hill's relays on Saturday.

Political Asylum in Australia

Hungarian Athletes Will Seek Freedom

MELBOURNE (AP) — From huddles of Hungarians in the Olympic village and throughout Melbourne, the word came out today that 15 athletes would ask for political asylum in Australia and upwards of 30 others would never return to their Russian-crushed homeland.

* * *

Two officials with the Hungarian Olympic team, who made a reporter swear he would never tell their names, said at least one third of the squad of more than 150 men and women would "somehow, somewhere leave the team" and not return to Budapest.

* * *

"Between 10 and 15 will leave the Hungarian team within the next few days," one official said. "Between 30 and 45 will stop in Europe.

"We expect some of the Czechoslovakians, East Germans and Poles also to leave their teams. There may be a few Romanians, but not many. No one expects the Bulgarians to remain.

Officials said they personally planned to return to Budapest "because we must return." But they said Hungary's once-great sports empire, which included the world's best soccer players and many of the best swimmers, divers, runners, throwers and fencers, was forever shattered.

"There is a list," one official said. "On it early this morning were 10 names of our people who would stay in Australia. The list will grow, we are sure, as those who are doubtful decide in their minds not to return home."

During the afternoon it was learned swimmer Valeria Gyenge, Hungary's fastest freestyler, would go to Canada Dec. 19 and marry Janos Garay, who fled from Hungary last month as Russian tanks pourned in. Garay now is a refugee in Toronto.

Soviets Cut America's Lead

MELBOURNE (AP) — Mrs. Pat Keller McCormick, trying for an unprecedented Olympic "double double" won the women's springboard diving today for America's only gold medal as Uncle Sam's precious point total melted under the pressure of Russian shooting victories.

Mrs. McCormick, 26, Lakewood Calif. housewife whose husband is the team's coach had taken a commanding lead in the first three dives of the finals. In 1952 at Helsinki, Mrs. McCormick won both the springboard and platform titles. The platform competition will be held later in the week.

Murray Rose, 17, Australian blond, smashed the Olympic record in winning the men's 400-meter freestyle race in 4:27.3 with plenty to spare on Japan's Takeshi Yamanaka, 17, a high school student. America's only finalist, George Breen of Buffalo, N. Y. finished third.

With the exception of the women's diving Breen was Uncle Sam's only point getter for the day with four for third place. However, his specialty is the 1,500-meter race in which he again will meet the handsome Australian.

America has a chance to pick up points in women's swimming tomorrow where a 1-2-3 sweep is a distinct possibility in the 100-meter butterfly event. Shelley Mann of Arlington, Va. beat the listed world's record for the best time in the trials. Nancy Jane Ramey of Mercer Island, Wash. and Mary Jane Sears of Chevy Chase, Md. could take second and third.

Carin Cone 16, Ridgewood Park N. J. high school junior, and Maureen Murphy, 17, high school girl from Portland, Ore. are America's hopes in the finals of the 100-meter backstroke.

The men's platform diving will start and there will be trials in the men's 1,500-meter free style event in which Breen is the chief U. S. hope.

Uncle Sam has three men in the 100-meter backstroke semi-finals but none in the 200-meter breaststroke in which Bob Hughes of Los Angeles failed to make the grade. The U. S. entrants in the backstroke are Yoshinobu Oyakawa of Honolulu, Al Wiggins of Pittsburgh, and Frank McKinney, 18, Indianapolis high school senior, qualified in today's trials. Australia's John Monckton broke the Olymic record in the trials with a 1:03.4 timing.

Betty Brey of Chevy Chase, Md., Nancy Simons of Belvedere, Calif., Kathryn Knapp of Chevy Chase and Marley Shriver of Glendale, Calif., made up the U. S. 400-meter relay team that qualified for Thursday's finals.

Vitalii Romanenko, 30, Kiev bookkeeper, gave Russia a gold medal in the running deer shooting event, just as important, in the unofficial point standings as the basketball championship.

Russia also mopped up in the small bore rifle competition, shooting from three positions with Anatolii Bogdonov of Russia the gold medal winner by the closest possible margin over Otto Horinek of Czechoslovakia.

As expected, the Russian men gymnasts were battling for top position although Japan was giving them a rough struggle after the completion of the compulsory exercises. The U. S. squad was down the list.

Hungary took the team sabre gold medal in fencing by defeating Poland 9-4 in the finals while Russia defeated France 8-7 to take the bronze medal and four points. The United States team reached the semi-final pool but failed there and never reached the final four-team pool.

Bill Lillard in Spotlight at All-Star Pin Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—Defending champion Bill Lillard is getting a big share of the spotlight with the 224 bowlers competing for places in the match game finals in the 16th annual All Star Bowling tournament.

The Chicago bowler, seeded into the finals, continued his blistering pace last night in his special match with Steve Nagy, 1954-55 titleholder. Averaging 213 a game, Lillard led Nagy, 3,834 to 3,529 in the first 18 games of their 24-game match. He beat the Detroit kegler for the third straight time, 1,196 to 1,190. His average is the best in the field.

Nagy also is seeded into the finals.

Dick Weber, 26, star from St. Louis, led the men's bracket with 3,738 in 18 games. But Lillard was 96 pins ahead of Weber with a count of 3,834 in his special match with Nagy.

Attractive Jere Price, a platinum blonde from Fort Worth, Tex., and Arlene Eck, a mother of two from St. Paul, Minn., were tied for the women's lead with 2,341 for their 12 games. Marge Merrick of Detroit, a perrenial contender, was in third place with 2,328.

Kell's Future Is Indefinite

Third Baseman's Plans Up to Baltimore Pilot Paul Richards

Kell confirmed that several possiblities for next year were discussed. One was the open manager's job with Baltimore's Pacific Coast League affiliate at Vancouver. Another was the interest of several other major league clubs in acquiring the 1956 all star third baseman.

Speaking of tentative plans to retire after 14 seasons in the American League, Kell said:

"If Paul definitely says he wants me to play next year—in Baltimore, then I guess I'd play."

Beliveau Retains NHL Scoring Lead

MONTREAL (AP) — Defending champion Jean Beliveau netted a goal and seven assists last week to move well ahead of Detroit's Ted Lindsay in the race for the scoring lead in the National Hockey League.

The Montreal ace has 33 points to 26 for Lindsay and 25 for Detroit's Gordie Howe, according to statistics released today.

Record Holders, Gold Medalists Meet in Finale

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Nineteen world record holders, plus a dozen Olympic gold medalists, will compete here tomorrow night in a United States vs. the British Commonwealth track and field meet.

The 23-event program, which includes all field events and most track races in addition to several relays, will be the last Australian appearance of the U. S. Olympic squad. After the meet, the Yanks fly home, where they will disband.

Zora Folley Hangs On for Win Over Bethea

NEW YORK (AP) — If Zora Folley can sustain his attack over a full 10-rounds without tiring, the young man from Phoenix, Ariz. can become a factor in the heavyweight class.

Folley, making his first New York start, wilted badly in the late stages last night and just managed to grab a majority decision over willing Wayne Bethea of New York's Bronx.

Cliff LaRose, Michigan State guard; was the Detroit Catholic Youth Organization's light heavyweight boxing champion in 1953.

DeWitt Accepts Tough Job

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—William O. (Bill) DeWitt, one of the most capable executives in baseball, stepped into one of the game's most challenging jobs today as administrator of the major leagues' $500,000 giveaway program to aid the minors.

A flurry of major league actions dominated the opening session of the minor league convention. An eight-player trade between Detroit and Kansas City highlighted off-the-floor activity. And the majors snapped up nine minor league players for a total outlay of $100,000 in the lightest draft since World War II.

The Brooklyn Dodgers—to the surprise of no one — extended Manager Walter Alston's contract for another year, reportedly giving him a $4,000 pay hike to $36,000. And the Cleveland Indians signed fiery Eddie Stanky, former St. Louis Cardinals manager, as a coach.

Plans for Spartan Banquet Announced

DETROIT (AP)—Plans for the 1956 Michigan State football bust, to be held in Detroit (Sheraton Cadillac Hotel) were announced today.

Sportscaster Mel Allen will be toastmaster and Dr. Durwood Varner, MSU vice president, will represent president John A. Hannah, now on a world tour.

The 1956 winners of the F. Ward (Potsy) Ross and Fred W. Danziger trophies will be announced at the dinner. The Ross trophy goes to the team member who best combines academic and athletic ability. The Danziger trophy is awarded to the Detroit area player making the most outstanding contribution to the team.

No. School Dominates All-PCC Honor Teams

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A season of upsets reflects itself in the 1956 Associated Press All-Pacific Coast Conference football team. No school dominates the list.

Champion Oregon State, UCLA, Stanford and Washington placed two each on the team. Southern California, Oregon and Washington State got single spots.

52 Points in Debut

It's True — Wilt's Good

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Those fabulous stories about Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain are true. He proved it last night.

* * *

The seven-foot sophomore from Philadelphia scored 52 points and grabbed 31 rebounds, shattering two school records in leading Kansas to an 87-69 victory over a good Northwestern basketball team.

* * *

It was the Stilt's first college varsity game. About 15,000 fans turned out to watch the debut. Coach Dick Harp gave them an eyeful by letting Wilt play all but 32 seconds.

* * *

Other coaches who did their best to recruit Chamberlain would moan louder if they had seen him ram the ball through the hoop 20 times in 29 attempts — a 69 per cent record.

* * *

Big Lion Leon Hart Now Has Fourth Son

DETROIT (AP) — If Leon Hart, the bruising 255-pound fullback for the Detroit Lions, doesn't look out, he's going to be outweighed in sons.

Mrs. Lois Hart, his wife, bore him his fourth son last night — an 11 pound, 2 ounce baby. The other Hart children are Leon Jr., 6; Billy, 4; and Marty, 2.

Both mother and baby are reported doing fine at Detroit's Florence Crittenden hospital.

Pontiac Cage Forces Open at Home Tonight

Pontiac High School, still carrying a flicker of optimism, from last year's fine 13-6 season, sends its basketball forces into the season opener tonight against Detroit Catholic Central on the local court.

Coach Bill Foley, who also enjoyed an enviable 14-3 mark last season, isn't conceding anything to Pontiac despite the loss of his entire starting five.

"We have a hard working ball club and we may not match Pontiac's height, but all it takes is to have a couple boys to have a hot night and we could make it tough," he said.

The wheel in Catholic Central's attack is center Tom Kramer, a 6-2 senior, who can hit with an outside push shot and who also can put up an occasional hook.

The guard positions are where Foley figures to have his strength. Jerry Teahan, a 5-9 senior who lettered last year and Tom King who stands 5-10 hold down the guard slots.

Pontiac, however, will also carry much of its strength at guard with Larry Peet and Dave Diehm.

The two little playmakers are regular holdovers from last season, except that Peet missed the final few games of the campaign with a fractured ankle.

Coach Foley fears what the vengeful Pontiac quintet may have on its mind. "I guess Pontiac hasn't forgotten that tournament game, and I've warned my squad that the Chiefs will be out to settle that score," he added.

"Alexander has to get all the experience he can get, especially with our Valley opener at Arthur Hill on Friday," said Van Ryzin, "so he might as well get a taste of the battle front right off the bat."

For Hudson Ray, 6-5 junior center, the big job for the season will be to sweep the boards clean, as well as to give the Chiefs pivotal strength.

Skipper Cagers Start Tonight

Curtain-Raiser Slated With Clarkston Wolves in Waterford Gym

Waterford's head basketball coach Don Beedle hopes to get an idea of how strong his 1956-57 edition is going to be tonight when the Skippers start their new season against Clarkston High.

Clarkston, handicapped by a lack of height, will be the underdog for this encounter on the Waterford High court.

Beedle has hopes for a better season than last year, although 6-4 forward Chuck Gillis is Waterford's only returning regular. Gillis scored 218 points as a center last season and is the key figure in Skipper plans.

Letter winners Clayton Roth and Ron Seets, along with Jim Devine and John Herrington from the JVs, are expected to complete Waterford's starting lineup.

The Wolves, coached by Dom Mauti, began their season last Friday with a 67-57 victory over Ortonville. Leroy Parks, who collected 20 points in that game, is the boy Waterford must stop tonight.

Robinson's Illness Delays Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Gene Fullmer and Marv Jensen, a discouraged challenger and an agitated manager, had a date with the New York State Athletic Commission today — the two latest victims of Sugar Ray Robinson and his pre-fight maladies.

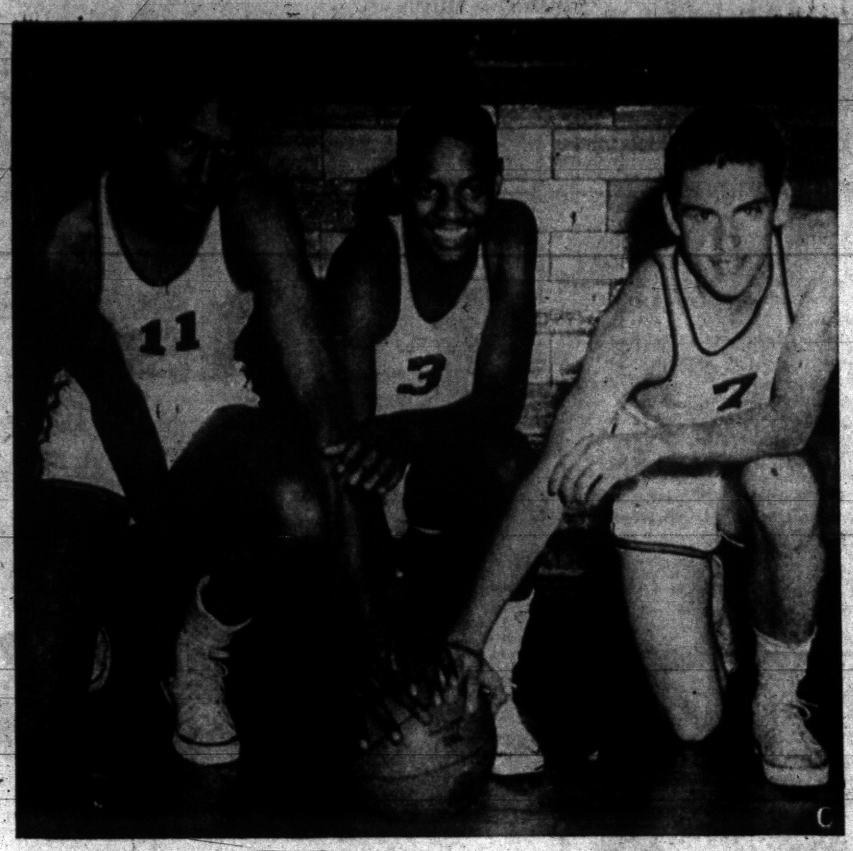

The Sugar Dandy, a great fighter once he makes it to the ring, came down with a severe cold yesterday, forcing postponement of his Dec. 12 middleweight title defense against the rugged, young Fullmer at Madison Square Garden.

Orioles Name Milkes New San Antonio GM

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (INS) — The Baltimore Orioles have assigned one of baseball's young idea men, Marvin Milkes, as new general manager of the San Antonio Missions of the Texas League.

Milkes, 33, was for the past seven years general manager of the Fresno club of the California League, where he won recognition as one of the leading proponents of baseball promotion on the local

Banquet Will Honor Jefferson Gridders

Members of the Jefferson Junior High School championship league football team will be honored tonight at a banquet in the school. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. with the Rema club providing the meal.

Allen Noble, former PHS athletic star, is toastmaster and chief speaker will be another oldtime Chief sports figure, Harvey Johns of the General Motors Truck and Coach company.

Several awards will be made to the most valuable lineman and back, and to members of the title-winning eleven that defeated Washington for the championship.

Arizin, Johnston Tie

NEW YORK (AP)—Philadelphia's Paul Arizin went on a scoring rampage last week to tie teammate Neil Johnston for the National Basketball Assn. point-production lead with 431 each.

Arizin, the 1952 scoring champion, found the range for 116 points in four games while Johnston, a three-time winner, clicked for 95. The co-leaders have accounted for 49 per cent — 862 of 1,749 points — of the Warriors' scoring total. Figures released by league revealed today.

Vikings Host Union on Prep Front

Walled Lake High School's basketball team, triumphant over Cranbrook last Friday in its 1956-57 season opener, goes after victory No. 2 tonight against invading Redford Union.

Redford's visit to the Viking court, along with the Waterford-Clarkston meeting at Waterford, highlights tonight's limited prep activity in the Oakland County area.

Walled Lake, pre-season favorite for the Inter-Lakes Conference title under new head coach Bill Ullenbruch, defeated Cranbrook by a 49-38 margin in the opener without the services of center Larry Hughes and the injured Larry Dion.

Bloomfield Hills, which played basketball last season for the 1st time since 1947, opens its season against visiting Oak Park and Cranbrook makes its 2nd start against Kennedy Collegiate at Windsor.

Tribute to Kramer

No. 87 May Be Retired

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan football coach Bennie Oosterbaan said last night that Ron Kramer's number 87 should be retired from combat along with Tommy Harmon's "old 98," Oosterbaan's own 47, and the 11 worn by a succession of brothers named Wistert.

"Kramer," said Oosterbaan at the University of Michigan 36th annual football bust, "is blessed with great ability and not only that, he makes use of that ability.

If the action is taken by Michigan's board in control of intercollegiate athletics, Kramer's number would be the fourth so honored.

Some 800 Michigan alumni watched and listened last night while Oosterbaan and other school spokesmen talked about a football season that could have ended in the Rose Bowl, but didn't.

Sooners No. 1 College 11

The Associated Press

Oklahoma's high-powered Sooners, winners of 40 straight games after chalking up 10 triumphs this season, have been acclaimed the Nation's No. 1 college football team for the second successive year.

In the final poll conducted by The Associated Press, 187 sports writers and broadcasters gave the Sooners a total of 1,715 votes compared with 1,618 for the second-place Tennessee Volunteers, who are headed for the Sugar Bowl after an unblemished record in 10 games.

The Sooners, who retired the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C. Memorial Trophy, were placed first on 104 ballots. Tennessee received 48 first-place votes. The others were scattered among seven teams, topped by Iowa's 15 and Miami's 12.

Iowa's Rose Bowl bound Hawkeyes, who had their best season since 1922 with an 8-1 record finished third. They compiled 1,270 points on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Georgia Tech, who'll meet Pitt in the Gator bowl, was right behind Iowa in fifth place with 1,211 votes. The Engineers were followed by Texas A&M with 1,070; Miami, 867; Michigan, 599; Syracuse, 406; Michigan State, 309; and Oregon State, 299.

Tech, Falcons, 'Y' Intramural Winners

GM Tech, Falcons and YMCA were victorious in opening games of the men's YMCA Intramural Basketball League last night at the 'Y' gymnasium.

Tech edged Seminary 27-25, when Ken Wright bucketed a jump shot with just seconds to go. Seminary held a 14-11 lead at halftime.

Dick Mineweaser scored 18 points to pace the YMCA to a 41-17 winn over the Gators and Gordon Montross tallied 23 points as the Falcons walloped Seaman's 59-18.

Cincinnati—The 1956 Redlegs had 221 home runs to tie an all-time major league mark set by the New York Giants in 1947.

Optimistic Outlook

Good Swim Teams for 'Y'

"We will have two good swimming teams here this winter," Art Mann, Pontiac YMCA coach, pointed out today. "With most of last year's experieneed preps and juniors coming back, I look for another fine year." The Pontiac association will not compete in the intermediate division, Mann says.

More than 30 candidates have been working out in the "Y" pool for two weeks, 18 of whom are preps. Mann figures Jim Veizy will again be his top prep performer. He is an orthodox breaststroke swimmer, good freestyler and swam on the medley relay team. Robert Roberts, 12, 10-year-old "Skip" Irvin, diver Dick Richards, Tom McKinnon and Robbie Powers are other promising boys.

The junior squad, however, is "really loaded," Mann says. Many 1955-56 stars are back, led by Mike Harrington (butterfly), member of the championship medley relay team. Tom Eley, freestyler and medley team member, plus rest of the team, Ed Kummert (2nd backstroke in state meet) and Bruce Norvell (2nd in state orthodox breaststroke) are on hand, and John Blaney, new man, could be the No. 1 backstroker, says Mann. Bill Borum is the only diver.

2 U.S. Wrestlers Bow From Olympics

MELBOURNE (AP) — Two U. S. wrestlers were eliminated in the second round of the Olympic Greco-Roman competition today. Two others were defeated but remained in the tournament.

Alan Rice of New York, a featherweight who was a Big Ten freestyle champion at Minnesota, and Jay Evans, a Los Angeles lightweight and two-time NCAA champion, were ousted with their second defeats under the penalty point system.

Trio Listed as Dead Back in Community

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Three Grand Rapids men have been reinstated officially as members of the community after they once were presumed dead in World War II.

John L. Hayward, Wilbur J. Sheldon and Clyde Everett until recently were included among names of war dead on the city's temporary memorial.

* * *

The three had been prisoners of war, but not reported as such by their captors. Hayward and Sheldon were released by Russian troops. Everett escaped a German camp and spent six months behind enemy lines.

Determines Date of Animal's Death

EAST LANSING (AP) — A sliver of wood lodged in the shoulder blade of a prehistoric mastodon has enabled scientists to date the death of the ancient ancestor of the modern elephant.

The skeleton of the mastodon was uncovered nearly two years ago in a marl pit northeast of Springport, Jackson County.

The sliver of wood, analyzed as hemlock, was sent to the University of Michigan where a new radioactive carbon technique was used to determine its age.

John W. Hope, technician at the Michigan State University museum, told the Michigan Archaeological Society Sunday that the carbon count showed the mastodon died 12,200 years ago, plus or minus an error of up to 700 years.

He said the mastodon apparently floundered to its death in a swamp that later became a marl pit.

Hope said the age of the beast is close to the era when the last glaciers covered Michigan, about 12,000 to 14,000 years ago.

Ferrysburg to Vote on Changing Status

FERRYSBURG (AP) — Residents of this 99-year-old Ottawa County village will decide at the polls today whether Ferrysburg should become a city.

The proposal is to incorporate as a fifth class city and include 2.2 square miles within the boundaries. A second proposal will be to choose nine charter commissioners from among 18 candidates.

The Board of Supervisors authorized the election in October after rejecting the first request last July on a 14-14 vote. There were 215 signers on the second petition for an election on incorporation.

Market Prices Move Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices moved ahead in fairly active early trading but some profit-taking was evident.

Pivotal stocks gained fractions to around a point. Some gains exceeded this and there was also a scattering of losses.

Because of the strong rise of the past two sessions, brokers said, some profit-taking was in the cards.

Gulf Oil continued its rise with about 2 points and Royal Dutch with more than a point. Texas Co. was a 1-point gainer. High-priced Superior Oil of California added 50 points.

Super Luxury Dream Car

New Prestige Cadillac in Limited Production

DETROIT (AP) — Cadillac Motors' new five-passenger Eldorado Brougham, described as a "Super Luxury" sedan, now is in limited production. It will be shown at the National Automobile Show in New York Dec. 8-16 and will be presented by dealers in key cities after Feb. 1.

The new prestige model has pillarless four-door styling, an overall height of 55.5 inches and a roof of brushed stainless steel, air suspension, four headlamp system and a tubular center x-frame.

The air spring system, first to be used on a passenger car, provides individual suspension at each wheel. The air is supplied to the spring units through leveling valves, so that the car remains level with varying loads and road conditions.

The Brougham is built on a 126-inch wheelbase and is 216 inches long. It is powered with a 325 horsepower engine with twin four-barrel carburetors. The engine has 10 to 1 compression ratio.

Refinements in the Brougham include a power operated seat positioning unit that automatically sets the seat at the desired position, a device that unlocks, raises, then lowers and locks the trunk with controls located in the glove compartment and a new method of starting the engine. The switch is turned on and the engine is started by placing the transmission selector lever in either "neutral" or "park" positions.

The Brougham has a special heating system with both front and rear compartments outlets and a front-mounted air conditioner that provides 100 per cent cool fresh air.

Trade quarters have regarded the Brougham as General Motors' "answer" to the Ford Motor Co's Continental Mark II, also a limited production luxury model. Its price has not yet been announced, but some sources are guessing it will be considerably above $10,000.

The Brougham twice has been shown at General Motors' Motorama, but styling and engineering changes have been made following each of these showings. Its tires are 8.40 by 15 with a one-inch white side-wall; the car has tail fins that house the tail lights; the front fenders and cross-over panel above the grille are all in one piece and the hood is hinged at the front.

Produced by Bendix, the new electronic fuel injection system differs from other systems in a control device that electrically actuates the injector nozzles. Claims by its makers include one that it has fewer moving parts than mechanical systems.

The new model will be powered with a V-8 engine that develops 255 horsepower with a standard four barrel carburetor or 288 horsepower with the injection system. A 108-inch wheelbase, and less than 200 inch overall length will be standard. Models will include a four-door hardtop sedan.

Accuse Detroiter of Being Red

Ex-FBI Man Testifies as Saul Grossman Invokes 5th Amendment

CHICAGO (AP) — A Detroiter was identified as a Communist by a former FBI undercover agent yesterday before a house subcommittee on unAmerican activities.

Saul Grossman, asked by a congressional committee to admit or deny the charge, said only:

* * *

Grossman, executive secretary of the Michigan Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, invoked the fifth amendment and declined to discuss the testimony of the former agent, Stephen J. Schemanske, 43, of (7001 Oakman St.), Dearborn, Mich.

Schemanske did not give his occupation on the witness stand. Afterward he told reporters he was an investigator for Ford.

Schemanske was called to the stand after Grossman appeared under protest before a subcommittee of the House Committee on un-American activities in a packed courtroom of the U. S. courthouse.

For 15 years, from 1938 to 1943, Schemanske related, he was a member of the Young Communist League. He said he was a member of the Communist party from 1943 to 1953 as a loyal American working for the FBI who had testified for the government against six leading Communists in Michigan.

He said he knew Grossman to be a Communist, and stood up and pointed him out in the courtroom.

* * *

Thereupon Richard Arens, committee representative, asked Grossman to rise, look Schemanske in the face and say if he was lying.

Grossman did and referred to him as a labor spy and perjurer. He declined to say whether he knew Schemanske as a Communist party member. Schemanske testified Grossman was elected a member of the party's foreign language commission in Hamtramck, Mich., in 1943.

Grossman, who had been ordered to bring all records of the Michigan group pertaining to efforts to change or influence immigration laws, answered a few questions pertaining to the papers he brought.

Security for You

Ministers Have to File by April 15th

Most ministers who haven't already chosen to be covered by the Social Security system have only until April 15 to do so. After that, they lose their right to coverage forever.

This results from a change Congress made in the Social Security law in 1954.

Under it, ministers for the first time could be covered by the law and accumulate retirement, death and disability benefits. But, it was up to each minister to decide whether he wanted to be covered, unlike most other persons who have no choice.

However, Congress told the ministers they must use their option between Jan. 1, 1955, and April 15, 1957. The only ministers not now faced with the April 15 deadline are those who have become ministers since Jan. 1, 1955. Their deadline is two years from the April 15 which follows the date they become ministers.

Although the general term "minister" is used in talking about coverage for clergymen, the term also means members of all religious orders performing services required by the order or Christian Science practitioners.

If you're a minister and you haven't yet chosen Social Security coverage, it's a simple matter to do so.

* * *

Your first move should be to get a Social Security number at the nearest Social Security office. You can find the address of this office in your phone book or through your post office.

Of course, if you already have a number which you used before going into the ministry, that number should be used.

* * *

You should also pick up a special application (Form 2031) at the Social Security office which must be used by all ministers to formally signify their desire to be covered by Social Security.

FILE NOW

This form must be filled out and filed with the nearest district office of the Internal Revenue Service. Failure to file this form until after next April automatically rules you out of Social Security coverage.

* * *

The coverage you'll get will be as a self-employed person even though you may be working for a salary from your congregation.

As a self-employed person, you'll be expected to file by April 15 a report of your earnings to the Internal Revenue Service along with your regular income tax form. You'll also be expected to pay the Social Security tax on your earnings up to $4,200 a year.

* * *

By paying your tax by April 15, you'll get coverage for the year 1956. The tax will be three per cent of your earnings. The tax increases to 3⅝ for the year 1957.

Once you elect coverage, you'll have to file a tax return on each April 15 and pay the Social Security tax in each year you earn $400 or more.

Your church or institution doesn't become in any way involved or obligated in this arrangement. But, there's nothing to stop your church to adding the cost of the tax to your salary. Many churches have done this.

(You may write to Ray Henry in care of this newspaper about your own Social Security or retirement problem. Please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.)

ANGEL WINGS TO GLITTER — Scattering sparkly particles on angel wings for the many youngsters that will share in the Cass City pageant, these committee women are among the many residents of the city that are working to make the pageant the success it was back in 1954. The Nativity enactment on the recreational park hillside will be Dec. 16 at 8 p. m., with 200 in its cast.

Seek 150,000 Viewers Again

Cass City to Re-Enact Nativity

CASS CITY — About 150,000 attended the 1954 Christmas pageant of the Nativity at Cass City, and that community's Chamber of Commerce is predicting an equal crowd for this year's performance.

The pageant will be enacted on a snow-swept hillside overlooking the recreational park here, and will feature a cast of 200. It will be at 8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16.

Replicas of the original costumes will be used along with authentic outfits brought back from the Holy Land.

First pageant was in 1954, when the little town of Cass City was dubbed the "Christmas Town" of Michigan.

The pageant was not held in 1955, but has been brought back this year by the many requests received during the two years.

With the pageant highlighting the Christmas season, the little town is veiled in the Christmas spirit with hardly a home undecorated. Decorations run from the comic and children's fairyland to the deeper religious themes.

A new organization has been formed, known as the Cass City Area Pageant Assn., with A. A. Krueger as chairman, and a board of directors named by civic organizations and area churches.

To Search for New Site

Suspend Dump Operation for Month at Waterford

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — After listening to irate protests from nearly 40 residents in the neighborhood of the proposed new Waterford Township dump at Pontiac Lake and Hospital roads, the township board last night agreed to suspend dumping there for a month while the residents search for another dump site.

Pontiac attorney Robert G. Isgrigg, who represented the protesting group, told the board residents opposed the dump because of five "objectionable features."

The dump would reduce valuation of neighborhood homes, create traffic and health hazards, be a menace to neighborhood children, and apparently would be in operation for five years, he said.

"There are areas in the township that would be far more suitable and less harmful," Isgrigg said. He mentioned a site near Hatchery Road.

Township supervisor Lloyd L. Anderson told the group he has been trying for three years to obtain the Hatchery Road site, but emphasized he would need permission from its owner.

"This is a township problem," Anderson said. "We know it isn't nice. But a land fill would be very expensive. We'd need special millage to finance a sanitary fill operation.

"We know this dump will cause a hardship while it is in operation, but in the end it will be an improvement for the whole neighborhood."

Answering a resident who asked if seepage from the dump might contaminate neighborhood wells, Anderson said:

"I don't think you have to worry about that. It would be taken care of by filtration through the sand. If I thought there would be any problem like that, I wouldn't be proposing this for a minute."

He told the delegation of 40 residents the township has no property of its own suitable for dump use.

When the board agreed to a month's delay in making a final decision, Anderson set Jan. 2 as the date for a meeting to discuss residents' progress in finding an alternate site.

He said he will notify the owner of the proposed dump to stop operations there during the interval.

About 94 per cent of the total area of Indiana is farmland and 80 per cent of it is improved.

New Ice Rinks Added by City

12 Skating Locations to Be Ready by Dec. 12 If Weather Permits

Weather permitting, the city will have 12 ice rinks ready for skating by Dec. 15, according to William Aho, parks supervisor for the Parks and Recreation Dept.

New outdoor rinks have been added this year at Madison Junior High, First and Arlene streets, and at Wisner Stadium, just north of the stadium and west of Oakland.

* * *

Last year's rink at Jefferson Junior High will not be operated this year, Aho said, because of its limited use last year. He suggested residents of this area use the rink at Rotary Park.

Rinks will be available at the following locations in the city: Washington Junior High, Crofoot School, Oriole Field (Paddock at Auburn), Rotary Park, Northside Community Club, Wilson, Owen, Wever Schools, Optimist Playground, and Lincoln Junior High School.

All 12 rinks will have lights permitting night skating, Aho said. Benches will be placed at the rinks for the convenience of the skaters, he added.

The conditions of rinks for weekend skating may be found in each Friday's Pontiac Press after Dec. 15.

Tourist Group Sets Thursday for Its Meeting

The thirty-first annual meeting of the Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity Association will be held at Devon Gables Thursday.

On this occasion, what it claims to be the state's second largest industry, the tourist business, will be discussed, and plans made to further increase it in 1957.

The eight countries represented by this association have a tourist business estimated at $200 millions this year, making it an industry exceeded only by manufacturing in its area.

Following registration at ten o'clock, a panel discussion on Michigan's future highways will be led by George M. Foster, chief deputy of the Michigan Highway Commission, and William Brake, Master of the Michigan State Grange.

At the luncheon the guests will be welcomed by Delos Hamlin, Chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. Don Greenway of Michigan State University will talk on the expanded program of tourist and extension work.

A tour of the Cranbrook grounds will be followed by the annual business meeting, and fellowship hour with Pontiac Motor Division as host.

A highlight of the annual banquet at seven o'clock will be the Pontiac McDowell Male Chorus. Harry Rogan, manager of travel service for the Automobile Club of Michigan is to be the speaker.

Disclose U.S. Probe of GM Dealer Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — An antitrust investigation was under way of General Motors' dealer advertising fund which was discontinued by GM last Friday.

The investigation was disclosed yesterday by Attorney General Herbert Brownell. He would not say whether the termination of the fund would end the investigation, by the Justice Department's antitrust division.

* * *

In a formal statement, the Department of Justice said that GM was the largest single advertiser in the United States, spending about $70 million annually.

In addition, the Department said GM "allegedly" required its dealers to contribute $90 million to the advertising fund. It added:

"The Department of Justice welcomes the announcement by GM of its abolition of the dealer advertising fund. This step should help to eliminate some of the sources of friction between dealer and manufacturer."

School Buses Collide

PARIS, Tenn. (AP) — Twenty-five schoolchildren were injured yesterday when a loaded school bus slammed into another on a highway. Most of the pupils suffered minor injuries. Four pupils and one driver were hospitalized. Police Chief Lawrence King said one bus rammed into the rear of the other, which had stopped to pick up a student.

Sylvan Lake City Affairs

To Ponder Costs of Widening Highway

How to finance Sylvan Lake's share of state's widening and improvement of Orchard Lake avenue will be discussed at tomorrow night's special meeting of the City Council.

The Michigan State Highway Dept. notified the city that its share of the $350,000 project will be $67,000, or 13 per cent of the total cost.

The project is to widen the road from its present 22 feet to 46, and to add curb, gutter and drainage.

City Manager Ernest L. Ethier mentioned that two means of financing the project might be by assessing a portion of the total, or by a bond issue.

* * *

He added that the decision on how to finance it would not be reached at Wednesday's meeting, but would call for additional sessions.

He retired as a farmer to live at Stephenson in Menominee County.

Sinatra's Deal May Be Illegal

Entertainers Expected to Carry Their Case to Supreme Court

BY JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—The scariest period in the recent corporate lives of big TV stars has been caused by the Internal Revenue Dept. which has just ruled against the rash of "personal corporations" set up by virtually every top TV star, and dozens of minor ones.

* * *

The feds have ruled the efforts of the TV entertainers constitute straight earned income and not incorporated profits, which means their huge salaries will be taxed at the 91 per cent level instead of the 53 per cent corporate savings.

The entertainers will fight it to the Supreme Court naturally, but if that august body decides to rule against them or perhaps not make any ruling at all there will be weeping and despair where once there was some small suggestion of security.

Part of this new tax scare has caused complications in all new TV contracts, including the recent acquisition by ABC network of Frank Sinatra's TV future, which all the networks understandably had sought.

* * *

Sinatra's agreement was trumpeted by the network's publicity department as something fabulous, by implication bigger even than Jackie Gleason's fabled (and fabled is the word for it) "$11,000,000" contract, which turned out to be $7,800,000 once the mysteries of finance were solved, not that $7,800,000 is an inconsequential sum by any yardstick.

26 FILMED SHOWS

Sinatra's new contract boils down to approximately this: It's for 26 filmed TV shows a year starring Sinatra in songs, dance and funny sayings, a few dramas possibly, and any other facets of his recently pliable personality . . .

* * *

The cash accuring to Sinatra for each half hour TV film is approximately $60,000 to $65,000, with which sum Sinatra must completely produce and film each show.

It turned out to be a complex deal, involving stock in Sinatra's personal corporation (Kent, Inc.) and the possible purchase by ABC of 40 per cent of same for something like $3,000,000 . . .

Should the tax people rule against purchase of Sinatra's corporation on a capital gains level (26 per cent) or even on a corporate level (53 per cent), the deal as we get it will shift into another field of finance, involving a "loan" of the $3,000,000 to be used to finance future Sinatra movies.

Why the Special Shoes for Hemingway's Feet?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Ava Gardner just had a friend in Italy buy some special shoes to give to Ernest Hemingway (whose "The Sun Also Rises" she'll star in).

"Is there something unusual about Hemingway's feet?" I asked the man who made the purchase for Ava.

"There sure is something unusual," he replied. "They're unusually big!"

Arlene Dahl sat beside Rossano Brazzi and Earl Blackwell at Fernanda Montel's closing at the St. Regis and boasted shamelessly of her husband Fernando Lamas' showing in the Ethel Merman show, "Happy Hunting." After watching him, she said, "I had to reappraise him and say, 'Is that really my husband—or is that some matinee idol?'" (Some prophets say he'll be both.)

Joe Cook, whose "Why I Won't Tell The One About the Four Hawaiians" is part of another era, is a devoted TV viewer from his wheel chair at Clinton Hollow, N.Y.

His wife, Alice Bolden, the gorgeous leading lady of "Fine and Dandy" back in the 30s, is his faithful nurse. Joe, visited the other day by his straight man, Dave Chasen, now Hollywood's celebrated restaurateur, said he especially watches George Goebel who, in a way, is the Joe Cook of today.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . . . .

Skitch Henderson fractured a toe "scrimmaging" with the Chicago Bears on the Steve Allen TV'er . . . Grace Kelly's favorite photog, Howell Conant, has been asked to take the first pix of the baby . . . Freddie Bartholomew, the ex-kid star, is agency supervisor for the Zane Grey TV show . . . Kathy Carlyle of Philadelphia is off to H'wood to make "African Lost World."

KATHY CARLYLE

Pres. Eisenhower's message to Congress will ask a pay boost for the armed forces . . . Harry Richman's seeking clearances from Clara Bow and Dick Merrill so he can write his bio . . . Songwriter Frank Loesser is a virus victim.

Curtail Liberty of Cubans in Revolt-Smitten Sectors

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Congress today approved a presidential decree suspending constitutional guarantees in four provinces in eastern Cuba where revolution and sabotage have occurred intermittently since Friday.

President Fulgencio Batista earlier signed the decree suspending for 45 days the guarantees of free speech and assmbly in the provinces of Oriente, Pinar del Rio, Las Villas and Camaguey. Congress approved the action 132-23. The decree covers all of Cuba except the provinces of Havana and Matanzas.

* * *

Santiago, a port on Cuba's southeast coast in Oriente province, has been the scene of the chief fighting. A small rebel invasion force was reported trapped in a sonte quarry in that area last night as Cuban army units struck to wipe out the last remnants of the uprising.

A band of revolutionaries reportedly landed on Cuba's south coast about 40 miles east of Santiago Sunday night. Cuban troops engaged them yesterday and unconfirmed reports said the rebels had been driven into the quarry.

* * *

Rebel civilians opened the fighting with attacks on Santiago police stations. The aim of the movement was to unseat the Batista government. The government said the revolt was put down in a few hours with 12 persons killed and more than 50 wounded. Rooftop sniping and isolated firing continued over the weekend, climaxed by the reported seaborne landing.

The army named Fidel Catro Ruz, 30-year-old former Havana student, as the chief plotter behind the uprising. Castro has been in exile in Mexico, but Adj. Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Abila said the rebel landing force was led by the ex-student. Later President Batista said he doubted Castro was in the country.

There also had been rumors that Castro had died in a government aerial attack but Batista said he definitely had not been killed.

Miguel de Leon Rojas, Santiago's representative in Congress, said the rebels involved in the uprising were well supplied with arms but did not know how to use them. He said the rebel force was made up of about 500 young men.

Steel Company Asks to Keep Locks Open

CLEVELAND (AP)—A request that the Sault Ste. Marie locks be kept open until Jan. 1 instead of the scheduled Dec. 12 closing, was issued yesterday by the Lake Carriers Assn.

The association made the request to the U. S. Army engineers who operate the locks.

Spokesmen said that the request was made on behalf of the Pittsburgh Steamship Division of U. S. Steel. A spokesman for the division said its boats would run "as late as possible this year, depending on weather conditions."

* * *

Pittsburgh Steamship, which operates 57 boats, the largest Great Lakes fleet, was not the only company which plans to keep running as long as the locks and icing conditions permit. Like the others, it hauls iron ore from northern mines to steel mills.

Strikes in the steel industry and in the ore carrying boats themselves cost many carrying days this season. A spokesman for Pittsburgh Steamship said that in all 70 days were lost.

2nd Heart Attack Puts Ezio Pinza on Danger List

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — Singing star Ezio Pinza was felled yesterday by his second heart attack in three months.

The name of the 64-year-old basso was placed on the danger list at Greenwich Hospital shortly after he was admitted, but a hospital spokesman said this procedure was routine in such cases. His wife spent the night at the hospital.

* * *

Pinza, a Metropolitan Opera star before going on Broadway in "South Pacific" and "Fanny," said only last month he was ending his 37-year singing career and planned to take up acting.

Last August he suffered a heart attack at his summer home in Cervia, Italy, not far from his boyhood home in Ravenna.

* * *

It forced him to cancel his contract to appear in the play "A Very Special Baby."

Yesterday's attack caught him just before lunch in the dining room of his home in nearby Stamford, where he lives with his wife and three children, aged 5, 13, and 15.

Southfield's City Charter Downed by 43 Ballots

New Plan Fails in 60 Pct. Vote

Swem, Adams Retain Voters' Nods Although Offices Aren't Created

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — A total of 43 votes was the margin that downed this community's second attempt to approve a city charter yesterday.

With 60 per cent of the township's registered voters casting ballots for candidates for city offices, a lesser percentage cast votes for or against the charter.

Of the area's 14,505 eligible to vote, 8,786 voted for candidates, and 8,253 on the charter.

A total of 4,105 were in favor of the charter, which would have provided home rule in a ward system, and 4,148 voted against it.

His tally in Ward 1 was almost double that of any other candidate's. Next down was G. Hugh Dehany, with 721 in Ward 5.

More than $1200 has been allocated for new book purchases by the Board of Education and each teacher from the Highland, Brooks and Milford Baker school has been allowed a $3 purchase, according to Arthur Burklund, Elementary school coordinator.

Four different book companies will have representatives showing the very latest literature for the different grade levels which will be used in the class home rooms.

This has become an annual project with the school system and Burklund said, "Teachers are enthusiastic with the idea of being able to choose books for the grade-level that they are teaching."

Waterford Sale by Goodfellows Collects $2,200

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Saturday's Goodfellow sale brought in over $2,200 in the dawn-to-dark drive of 50 workers, according to Township Fire Capt. Clayton Soncrainte.

Running out of papers, the Goodfellows had to return to the Pontiac Press for 500 more, bringing their sales to a grand total of 6,800. They earned well over the $2,000 goal.

Soncrainte said today his group wished to thank all those who purchased papers, and everyone who cooperated in making the sale a success, including The Pontiac Press, which published a special edition for members to sell.

Goodfellows, who sold papers all day to earn funds for their baskets, toys, and fuel tickets for needy families, are headed by Elmer Farigboner. Vice president is Vern Price and treasurer is Mrs. Earl Springer.
