Break Numbers Racket Believed to Be One of Michigan's Largest

FLINT (AP) — State Police smashed a reputed $1,500,000-a-year numbers syndicate in a 15-hour series of raids ending early today.

Sgt. Fred Davids, head of the State Police Racket Squad, said the ring, known as the "League of Nations" syndicate, was one of the largest gambling operations in Michigan.

Eight men were arrested, including a group seized at a syndicate "board of directors" meeting.

The state troopers' action was their heaviest assault on organized gaming in the city since Genesee County Prosecutor Chester R. Schwesinger publicly lambasted police for what he said was their failure to crack down on gamblers.

Davids said the raids, carried out yesterday and last night up to the hour of 3 a.m. today, capped a job of stalking the ring over a period of 10 months.

He said the syndicate preyed on factory workers.

Schwesinger said the city was indebted to the State Police as a result of their work.

"The entire community owes the State Police a debt of graditude for cleaning up an unhealthy situation," the prosecutor said.

The eight arrested included the wife of one of the alleged operators. She and all the others were charged with conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

One incident of the raids was the awakening of Municipal Judge John W. Baker at 3 a.m. to sign a search warrant permitting officers to enter one suspected gambling house near the Buick plant.

The house was unoccupied. The

Sleet Unlikely, Says Prediction

Snow Flurries Forecast for Area Later Today; Freeze Due Tonight

Reports that sleet would hit the Pontiac area later today were dismissed by W. W. Oak, chief of the Detroit Weather Bureau, as highly unlikely.

He said freezing rain may glaze highways briefly when rain changes to snow flurries late this afternoon, but widespread freezing rain and sleet are not in sight.

Earlier, a special bulletin issued by the Chicago Weather Bureau indicated that "snow and probably freezing rain or sleet" would move into lower Michigan today.

The snow flurries are expected to precede colder weather, with a low of 28 degrees tonight and a high of 39 Thursday.

Highway Official Says Project on Woodward Has Been Delayed

LANSING (UP)—Deputy Highway Commissioner George M. Foster said today he hopes to meet "soon" with Ferndale officials to discuss plans for construction of a three-level grade separation at Woodward Ave. and Eight-Mile Rd. on the Wayne-Oakland County Line.

The intersection is one of the busiest in the state. More than 200,000 cars cross the intersection every 24 hours.

Foster said the project, originally scheduled to start early in 1954, "has been delayed some." The Highway Department official said last summer that contracts for the project, expected to cost upwards of $3,000,000, would be let by Dec. 31.

"This project is one of the most important we are working on and every effort is being made to get it started as soon as possible," Foster said, "I cannot give a definite date when construction will start or when bids on the project will be taken," he added.

He said he hopes to meet with Ferndale officials soon to discuss final details for the grade separation. However, he would not say whether the conference would be held before Jan. 1 or afterwards.

Foster said a plan, supported by Ferndale officials, to keep Eight-Mile Rd. depressed until it reaches Hilton street east of Woodward has been dropped.

"It would be too costly," Foster said. He estimated it would cost an additional $875,000 to keep the road depressed an additional 500 to 600 feet beyond Woodward.

Administration Has Slight Wire Edge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House reported today that "the point of view of the administration is slightly "ahead" in telegrams received as a result of Sen. McCarthy's write-or-wire-the-President appeal, and the Wisconsin senator's view "is ahead" in letters.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, giving this sum-up, said there are about 25,000 telegrams and 25,000 letters in all. They resulted from McCarthy's appeal of last Thursday that citizens let President Eisenhower know if they agree with McCarthy that the United States should ban aid to countries trading with Red China.

Hagerty, making his first statement on the controversy—he has been away with Eisenhower at the Bermuda conference—said he was not going to give any breakdown or any figures "and that's the last I'm going to say on the subject."

Addressing U. N.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER

President Urges Atomic Energy Peacetime Plan

Says Big Nations Have H-Bomb; Cooperation Stressed by Ike

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — President Eisenhower's bold new proposal for an international atomic energy pool put squarely up to Russia today a fateful decision on cooperation with the West.

Andrei Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, said "it is necessary to study" the President's proposal.

U. N. diplomats declared that a favorable Soviet response could greatly advance prospects for eventual control of the atom—while a rejection would further harden the East-West deadlock on this issue.

Eisenhower, fresh from the Bermuda conference, got the backing there of Prime Minister Churchill and Prime Minister Laniel for his action.

He told the U.N. General Assembly late yesterday the United States was ready to join immediately in secret talks on setting up an international atomic energy agency to which qualified nations would contribute atomic material for peaceful purposes.

But he said Russia would have to be one of the participating nations. He did not name other nations, but it was learned he considers Britain, which produces atomic materials, and Australia, South Africa, Canada and Belgium, which produce uranium, the raw source material, also should be included.

The revolutionary nature of the President's proposal—the thing that made many U. N. delegates think it just might prove acceptable to Russia—was that it would not require prior agreement on an acceptable system of international inspection of atomic plants in all countries because it avoids for the moment the whole question of elimination of atomic arms.

Instead, it calls for creation of a practical operating body under the banner of the U. N. which would engage in strictly peaceful use of atomic materials for the maximum benefit of the greatest possible number of nations. For example, the agency could establish a plant to furnish atomic power in some area without adequate power resources.

The apparent belief of American officials is that if the free nations and Russia could cooperate in such an undertaking, learning to work together in so complicated and delicate a field, they might gain mutual confidence which would eventually lead to a workable system of international atomic energy control and abolition of atomic weapons. Seven years of negotiation on this issue in the United Nations have produced no results.

Eisenhower made his proposal after a somber warning that the alternative to effective international action on the atom will be the probable destruction of civilization in an atomic war. He said it was not enough for nations to erect defenses, which can never be adequate, against atomic attack and to amass terrible power of retaliation against the attacker.

"To pause there," he said in words of grimmest warning, "would be to confirm the hopeless

'Mystery Man' Testifies in Trial

DETROIT (AP)—Berry Cody, a 56-year old Detroit laundry worker, testified today as the government's "mystery witness" in the conspiracy trial of six Michigan Communists.

Cody, vice president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America Local 391 (CIO), said he was active in Michigan Communist Party affairs at present.

He said he became an undercover agent for the FBI in 1944 and that he had attended a Communist Party meeting in Detroit last night at which there was speculation on who the "mystery witness" might be.

The six defendants appeared stunned when Cody walked into the courtroom of Federal Judge Frank A. Picard shortly after the trial resumed today.

All but Philip Schatz, appeared to studiously avoid looking at Cody.

Fred W. Kaess, U. S. district attorney, previously said the appearance of the "mystery witness" would come as a surprise to the defendants.

Cody did not identify those present at the meeting last night.

Government attorneys said such testimony was not admissable in the trial since it covered a period outside the conspiracy charges against the six defendants.

Cody, however, testified that his party unit, the McGraw unit, was reduced to a membership of five in 1949 for "security."

Cody said that since 1949 party units have met in different places, none known to members until immediately before the meetings.

Oakland Circuit Court Changes Motion Day

Motion day in Oakland County Circuit Court will be changed from Friday to Monday beginning Dec. 28, according to a decision Tuesday by the three circuit judges.

Judges George B. Hartrick, Frank L. Doty and H. Russel Holland acted on a recommendation from the Oakland County Bar Asso. Sentences and arraignments are handled by the presiding judge on motion day.

U.S. Now Has H-Bombs of Million-Ton TNT Force

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U. S. atomic stockpile now possesses a family of hydrogen superbombs—the feeblest member of which packs more violence than 1,000,000 tons of TNT.

That, a high atomic source said today, is "the plain English" of one revelation-filled sentence in President Eisenhower's address to the United Nations General Assembly Tuesday afternoon.

The sentence:

"Atomic bombs today are more than 25 times as powerful as the weapons with which the atomic age dawned, while hydrogen weapons are in the ranges of millions of tons of TNT equivalent."

In subsequent paragraphs the President gave the world, for the first time, an order-of-magnitude statement on the size of America's atomic arsenal, revealed that this country has enough nuclear might to lay waste an entire aggressor nation, and confirmed that all branches of the U. S. Military can now wage atomic war.

He also implied that Russia may have exploded more than one test H-bomb, and he conceded frankly that there is no "absolute" defense against atomic aggression.

But with that one 33-word sentence he disclosed more hard information about U. S. atomic weapons development than had come from any other source since the war.

Scientific circles here had believed that it would be difficult if not impossible to build an A-bomb equivalent to more than 200,000 tons of TNT.

But Mr. Eisenhower's statement means that the big A-bomb of 1953 packs the blast effect of more than 500,000 tons of TNT going off all at once.

4 Fires Strike in Pontiac Area

2 Businesses, 2 Homes Hit in Past 24 Hours; Families Homeless

Four fires, striking the Pontiac area within the last 24 hours, have razed two business firms and left two families homeless.

Flames swept the two-story L and S Sales Co., 3345 Auburn Rd., Avon Township, early today, causing an estimated $10,000 damage.

Rochester Fire Chief George Ross said the blaze may have started in a refrigerator on the main floor. Contents on the first and second floors of the appliance firm were destroyed.

At 10 p.m. yesterday, an oil heater explosion at the Lafayette Ramin home in Romeo routed the family from their five-room dwelling.

In Oakwood, Judy Bailey, 14, tried to light oil freshly poured into a hot space heater at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Bailey of 2855 Baldwin Rd., yesterday afternoon. The resulting explosion sent her and seven other children fleeing from the house. The parents were not at home.

Another exploding oil stove was blamed for the fire which gutted the Tourn-a-Grip glass fishing pole factory on Crooks road, Troy Township at 5:45 p.m. yesterday. Owner Clyde Kolb estimated damage at $20,000.

New York Papers Resume Publication

NEW YORK (AP)—The city's biggest newspapers resumed publication today, bringing news and ads to millions of readers after the worst strike in the history of New York journalism.

AFL photo-engravers and the publishers agreed yesterday, the 11th day of the strike, to a fact-finding board proposed by federal mediators.

Hours later, New York's three struck morning papers—the Times, Daily News and Daily Mirror—had today's edition on the streets. The Herald Tribune, the city's lone major daily which was not struck, carried its first ads in nine days in an 88-page paper.

Wilson Orders Manpower Cuts

Overrides Protests to Trim Army, Navy and Marines 10 Pct.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has overridden service protests and ordered the Army, Navy and Marine Corps to take manpower cuts of about 10 per cent in fiscal 1955, it was learned today.

The services, the Army foremost among them, had argued against the reductions, but Wilson was said to have stood firm.

His decision will mean a saving of $1,000,000 or more in military pay for the 12-month fiscal period beginning next July 1. Informed sources said many millions more in secondary costs —such as for supplies, etc. — will be saved by the action.

The Air Force will not be required to reduce its strength.

Overall, the Wilson decision will mean that the United States will have about 3,200,000 officers and men in uniform by June 30, 1955, the end of fiscal 1955.

It also will mean, informed sources said, that between June 30, 1954, and June 30, 1955, the Army will be forced to drop approximately 140,000 persons, the Marines about 23,000, and the Navy about 77,000 — a grand total of about 240,000.

Method Is Sought to Protect Children

In requesting the legal opinion, Commissioner Ronald C. Hallenbeck cited a recent accident at a gravel-removal operation on Monterey avenue.

Hallenbeck said he thought banks of such excavations, when left unguarded, should be graded smooth to discourage children from digging tunnels. City Manager Walter K. Willman said conditions on Monterey have improved since the accident.

President Pledges U.S. Support for World-Wide Atomic Peace Efforts

Madame President, Mr. Secretary General and delegates:

When Secretary General Hammarskjold's invitation to address this General Assembly reached me in Bermuda, I was just beginning a series of conferences with the prime ministers and foreign ministers of Great Britain and France on some of the problems that beset our world.

During the remainder of the Bermuda conference, I had constantly in mind that ahead of me lay a great honor. That honor is mine today as I stand here, privileged to address the General Assembly of the United Nations.

At the same time that I appreciate the distinction of addressing you, I also have a sense of exhilaration as I look upon this assembly.

Never before in history has so much hope for so many people been gathered together in a single organization. Your deliberations and decisions during these sombre years have already realized some of this hope.

But the great tests and the great accomplishments still lie ahead. And in the confident expectation of these accomplishments, I would use the office which, for the time being I hold, to assure you that the government of the United States will remain steadfast in its support of this body.

This we shall do in the conviction you will provide faith which can bring to this world lasting peace for all nations, and happiness and well being for all men.

Clearly it would not be fitting for me to take this occasion to present to you a unilateral American report on Bermuda. Nevertheless, I assure you that in our deliberations we sought to invoke those same great concepts of universal peace and human dignity which are so cleanly etched in your charter.

Neither would it be a measure of this great opportunity merely to recite, however hopefully, pious platitudes.

I therefore decided that this occasion warranted my saying to you some of the things that have been on the minds and hearts of my closest legislative and executive associates and on mine for a great many months — thoughts I had originally planned to say primarily to the American people.

I know that the American people share my deep belief that if a danger exists in the world, it is a danger shared by all—and equally, that if a hope exists in the mind of one nation, that hope should be shared by all.

Finally, if there is to be advanced any proposal designed to ease by even the smallest measure the tensions of today's world, what more appropriate audience could there be than the members of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

I feel impelled to speak today in a language that in a sense is new—one, which I, who have spent so much of life in the military profession, would have preferred never to use.

New Language for Atomic Age

That new language is the language of atomic warfare.

The atomic age has moved forward at such a pace that every citizen of the world should have some comprehension, at least in comparative terms, of the extent of this development, of the utmost significance to all of us.

Clearly, if the peoples of the world are to conduct an intelligent search for peace, they must be armed with the significant facts of today's existence.

My recital of atomic danger and power is necessarily stated in United States terms, for these are the only incontrovertible facts that I know. I need hardly point out to this assembly, however, that this subject is global, not merely national in character.

On July 16, 1945, the United States set off the world's first atomic test explosion.

Since that day in 1945, the United States of America has conducted 43 atomic test explosions.

Atomic bombs today are more than 25 times as powerful as the weapons with which the atomic age dawned, while hydrogen weapons are in the ranges of millions of tons of TNT equivalent.

Today, the United States' stockpile of atomic weapons, which, of course, increases daily, exceeds by many times the explosive equivalent of the total of all bombs and all shells that came from every plane and every gun in every theater of war through all the years of World War II.

In size and variety the development of atomic weapons has been no less remarkable. This development has been such that atomic weapons have virtually achieved conventional status within our armed services. In the United States services, the Army, the Navy, the Air Force, and the Marine Corps are all capable today of putting this weapon to military use.

Atomic Secrets Not Ours Alone

But the dread secret and the fearful engines of atomic might are not ours alone.

In the first place, the secret is possessed by our friends and allies, Great Britain and Canada, whose scientific genius made a tremendous contribution to our original discoveries and the designs of atomic bombs.

The secret is also known by the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union has informed us that, over recent years, it has

Ike's Atom Pool Plan Opposed by Kersten

Kersten, head of a House committee which concluded a two-day hearing here on the Russian annexation of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, yesterday, said testimony at the hearings indicated it would be "naive" to trust the Soviet Union and that the President's proposal should be "thoroughly" looked at in Congress.

A telegram was sent to Andrei Vishinsky, Russian delegate to the United Nations, inviting him again to appear at a special session of the committee sometime after Jan. 1, Kersten said.

Vishinsky ignored a similar invitation expressed in a letter last month.

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—If your Thanksgiving turkey lasted on and on, through repeated icebox raids even after the holiday meal, you might tip your hat to Henry Johns.

As City Sealer of Weights and Measures, he made sure you got 16 ounces to the pound when you bought your bird, not ice or wrapping.

An employe of the city for the past 18 years, Johns has been checking the butcher's thumb on the scales for the past seven years locally, with many of the residents unaware of the protection he gives them.

All food establishments, restaurants, drug stores come under his eye for sanitation inspections, and Johns also checks local milk for butterfat content and proper pasteurization.

"All in all, Birmingham merchants are quite reliable in both weight and sanitation," according to Johns, who also checks the personnel in food establishments for food handlers licenses.

"However, the rapid turnover in personnel does present a health problem these days," he adds.

Outlining a few rules which shoppers should employ when making food purchases, Johns stated the scale must be in plain view of the purchaser, and be on zero before the package is weighed.

"Once the goods are purchased, the consumer must take care to keep them in as good condition as the merchant did, or efforts at protection are wasted," the inspector cautioned.

Pontiac High School auditorium was filled to near capacity last night when Robert Davis, traveler-lecturer presented his color movie, The travelog was the second in the entertainment series sponsored by the Pontiac Kiwanis Club.

The color travel film took the audience on a tour of a progressive modern republic, with functional, structurally - beautiful buildings, green parks and gardens, temperate climate, and a people progressive enough to harness the steam and pipe the hot water from their natural springs for electric power and heating.

The Pontiac High Girls Ensemble presented several vocal numbers. Mr. Davis was introduced by Glenn Griffin of the Kiwanis Club.

State Police Smash Flint Gambling Ring

raiders, however, found suspected gambling equipment.

Seized at the "Board of Directors" meeting at another house, and elsewhere, were the seven men and a woman.

This was the home of Thomas Stamos, described by Sgt. Davids as banker for the syndicate. Stamos was arrested with the others.

Davids said his men tried to break up the ring Oct. 16 but were stymied in the effort because of a "tip" to the underworld.

He said an elaborate system was followed in preparations for the raids.

Circuit Court to Hear Silver-Plating Suspect

BIRMINGHAM—Demanding examination when arraigned on a charge of larceny by conversion before Justice of the Peace J. J. Gafill yesterday, Robert L. Bruening, 35, of Los Angeles was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court to appear Dec. 16.

Bruening was extradited from California last week to face charges in connection with a silver-plating service he allegedly ran. Birmingham Police have asked residents with complaints against the Old English, Sheffield or Industrial Silver Plating Companies to call them.

He replaces James A. Beresford who was named mayor following the resignation Oct. 13 of Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr.

President Urges World Atom Pool

finality of a belief that two atomic colossi are doomed to eye each other indefinitely across a trembling world."

The speech had been months in preparation. The President had long wanted to report to the American people on the dangers of the atomic age and supply some new information on the power of atomic and hydrogen bombs. This information he summed up in a single sentence:

"Atomic bombs today are more than 25 times as powerful as the weapons with which the atomic age dawned (July 16, 1945), while hydrogen weapons are in the ranges of millions of tons of TNT equivalent."

To this he added the comparison that the U. S. stockpile of atomic weapons, which is increasing daily, already "exceeds by many times the explosive equivalent" of all bombs and shells dropped or fired all over the world in World War II.

Eisenhower then related the atomic problem to other differences with the Soviets. He recalled the long series of conferences and attempts at negotiation to settle such concrete problems as German unification, Austrian independence and Korean peace.

"We never have, and never will, propose or suggest that the Soviet union surrender what is rightfully hers."

In the same vein of deeply sincere purpose, he recalled that the United Nations Assembly called only last Nov. 18 for secret talks on control of atomic and conventional weapons. He announced that the United States is "instantly prepared" to join these talks and will carry into them "a new conception."

He did not say the U.S. government would drop its goal of an effective system of international inspection of atomic energy facilities. It was learned the Americans plan to deal with this only in connection with the much broader undertaking of complete international supervision of all atomic operations in the world. The idea of inspection is to prevent the sneak manufacture of atomic weapons once such weapons have been abolished.

Eisenhower said he would submit to Congress, "with every expectation of approval," any international atomic energy plan worked out by the major powers.

Judge Abroad Ignores Orders

U.S. Jurist in Germany Refuses Latest Try to Get Him Home

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The top U.S. judge in Germany announced today that the State Department has made another try at kicking him off his bench. The judge said he'd ignore the latest government move.

Chief Justice William Clark of the U.S. Court of Appeals said Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith had sent him a cable today suspending him from his post for "insubordination" and ordering him home at once.

The State Department last month ordered Clark to come home by Dec. 7 for consultation and told him he would not be reappointed when his regular term ends Jan. 8. The department said he was "surplus" no longer needed on the three-man court.

The former Princeton, N. J., jurist ignored the order to return home and said he would resist the discharge on the ground that a judge can be dismissed only for cause. He asserted his court still had a heavy load of appeals to hear.

Clark contended he was being fired because he has been highly critical of various actions of the U.S. High Commission.

Accusing the State Department of "arbitrary and illegal" action, Clark said today he would "continue to perform my judicial functions."

Only 14 More Days

Once again the time has come to remind readers that they are in danger of becoming last minute Christmas shoppers.

If you aren't one of those forehanded persons who completes his happy task within a week after Thanksgiving, be advised that it's already later than you think. Including today, there are only 14 more shopping days until our greatest of all festivals.

Right now stocks in the stores are varied and complete. Sales forces are fresh and eager to serve. But before we know it the annual rush of late starters will be on, stores will become crowded, stocks depleted and tempers begin to fray.

Don't be an eleventh hour shopper. Give yourself and sales forces a break by getting busy on those gift lists now. It will help make the Yuletide happier for everybody.

10 Athletes Reinstated

The PRESS is not among those who may be cheering the decision by which athletic eligibility has been restored to 10 Michigan high school students.

These youths last Summer lost their eligibility for one year for accepting minor merchandise awards in violation of the Michigan High School Athletic Association awards rule. This created so much controversy that before long politicians were assailing the suspensions and demanding not only reinstatement of the athletes but modification of the rule.

This pressure finally had its effect. A new awards rule has been written to supplant that suspended by the Legislative Rules Committee. As soon as the new rule had been approved by the Attorney General and Governor WILLIAMS, the students were reinstated by State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. CLAIR L. TAYLOR.

We have no quarrel with the new rule. But it seems to us that there are two things radically wrong with the whole procedure. The first is that the controversy ever was allowed to get into politics. The second, and far more serious wrong in our view, is that the new rule was used to reduce a penalty imposed under the old rule.

In other words, the State of Michigan has shown its high school youths that if they have enough parental and political pressures behind them, regulations can be changed for their special benefit.

That, we submit, is a sure way to teach disrespect for all law.

Technology and Food

During the last 20 years while world population has increased 25 per cent, world food production has gained only five per cent.

In the United States during the same period population has increased 18 per cent and food production 50 per cent.

Why?

The answer, according to the DuPont Company, is the rural revolution brought about by more widespread scientific use of agricultural chemicals and greatly improved farm machinery. A few statistics show how startling have been the results achieved.

Beef production is up 33 per cent over 1910. Pork production per pig has gained 30 per cent in 10 years. Egg production per hen is 71 per cent above the 1910 average. Milk production per cow has increased 88 per cent since 1910.

Another reason for the increase in farm production is traceable to the great strides being made in the use of fertilizers and chemical weapons against insect pests and weeds. Use of a new insecticide in California boosted alfalfa by 600 per cent in one year.

Control of a single pest, the horn fly, has increased milk production per cow by 15 per cent in one area, and raised beef production at the rate of a half pound per head per day.

On the basis of their experience DuPont experts are satisfied of one comforting fact. It is that scientists now possess the knowledge necessary to eventual solution of man's oldest and most basic problem — the production of enough food for all.

The next problem is for civilization to find ways of making this knowledge and the means of applying it available everywhere.

"FROM atoms to super-stars, everything is in constant and more or less violent motion," says a physicist. That's another great trouble with the universe — it's nervous.

"THE military services are objecting strenuously to the proposal to cut their personnel 10 per cent." — News item. This is about as surprising as a cat's objecting to a shower bath.

Ike's U. N. Speech Was Master Stroke: Casting Atom Responsibility on Kremlin

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—As a piece of psychological strategy in the "cold war," President Eisenhower's historic speech before the United Nations General Assembly is one of the craftiest and most penetrating documents flung at the Soviet government since the battle of words began.

For the address brushes away with one fell swoop any ground for further accusations, inside or outside Russia, about "war mongering" or military threat to Soviet Russia by the Western powers.

It puts squarely up to the Kremlin the responsibility for helping to achieve or blocking a solution of the problem of international control of atomic energy.

Whether the proposals by the President accomplish anything in the way of a practical agreement or merely remain as a challenge to the Soviet government, it was a master stroke to have assembled in the speech the challenging proposals it contained.

It was no ordinary pronouncement. It bears the earmarks of painstaking care given to every word over months and months of time.

In a sense, it appears as the consummation of a strategy evolved gradually by the National Security Council, of which the President is the head.

At first glance, it might seem that the old proposals which provided for inspection and a system of periodic disclosure of atomic weapons have been abandoned or at least put to one side for the time being.

But a careful reading of the speech will reveal that there could be no "ratios of contributions" or "procedures" with respect to the allocation of uranium and fissionable materials without Soviet Russia's disclosure to the suggested international atomic energy agency of the basis for the distribution and, of course, some means of inspection to verify the accuracy of any figures used.

It will be difficult anyway to persuade Congress to change existing law to make such contributions but, on the other hand, it may be a long time before the Soviet Union gives concrete approval, and hence the proposal may continue to be simply a matter of academic controversy.

Entirely apart from the skillful proposal that peaceful uses of atomic energy be given top priority in international negotiation over control of atomic weapons—something that will bring world-wide approval and take the initiative from the Soviet propaganda machine—there were in the President's speech some chosen words of warning to the Kremlin which are also of sensational importance.

Three statements especially will be duly noted behind the Iron Curtain. The first is this:

"Today, the United States' stockpile of atomic weapons, which, of course, increases daily, exceeds by many times the explosive equivalent of the total of all bombs and all shells that came from every plane and every gun in every theater of war through all the years of World War II."

That's a manner of describing the power of the United States from a quantitative basis. It cannot fail to impress the Soviets as to what has been done in secret since 1945 by America with billions of dollars of expenditure. It is really the first public disclosure of the power of our atomic stockpile.

The next statement of significance, designed as a reply to any "surprise aggression," contains this fateful warning unparalleled in history:

"Should such an atomic attack be launched against the United States, our reaction would be swift and resolute. But for me to say that the defense capabilities of the United States are such that they could inflict terrible losses upon an aggressor—for me to say that the retaliation capabilities of the United States are so great that such an aggressor's land would be laid waste—all this, while fact, is not the true expression of the purpose and the hope of the United States."

This is a masterpiece of inverted statement which appears not as a threat but nevertheless states as a "fact" that Soviet Russia would be laid waste if her government ever attempted a "surprise aggression."

The third statement of upmost significance was also phrased in an inverted style of expression, but it nevertheless gives a pointed warning:

"We will never say that the peoples of Russia are an enemy with whom we have no desire ever to deal or mingle in friendly and fruitful relationship."

It will be noted that the emphasis is on the "peoples of Russia," and this can be interpreted as a warning that the present government in Moscow will be dealt with only as it truly reflects the wishes of the people of the Soviet Union — a distinction of tremendous importance.

It could pave the way some day for a severance of relations with the present government if it shows itself to be a barrier to the assumed desire of the people of Soviet Russia to remain at peace with the West.

Unquestionably the main object of the Bermuda conference was to arrange for future meetings with the government of Soviet Russia and to go over the wording of the most important statement that the Western allies have issued since the close of World War II.

Future Lies in Worker, Not in Position He Holds

Milo is dilly dallying. He needs to realize there is no future in any job, for the future lies only in the worker who holds the job! But pick your positions so they will leave a wholesome byproduct. Don't betray your fellowmen for even a huge salary check.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-363: Milo J., aged 22, has graduated from college, but is out of work.

"Dr. Crane, Milo has turned down several good jobs," his Dad informed me, "because he says there is no future in them.

"So he sits around home, mooching cigarets from his sister who has a good secretarial position.

"But he just drifts along, seemingly expecting some miracle to happen which will give him a break."

One of the first axioms in Vocational Guidance is this: "There is no future in any job, for the future is always in the worker who holds the job."

True enough, vocational guidance counsellors can often help place a man in a position where his interests, past education and physical qualities fit more perfectly than if he just accepted the first position he met.

But even if he does not have the benefit of such expert guidance advisors, and even if he accepts the first job, he will still become a success if he keeps his eyes open and resolutely forges forward.

The great men of America have started at all sorts of original tasks. Some did farm work. Others acted as messenger boys. But so what!

You'll get to the top if there is a future in you. But don't expect any job to have a future in itself. Jobs are just rungs on the ladder of success.

And ou know very well that the rungs of a ladder never advance or go anywhere. They are stationary. But a smart man can climb upward by temporarily standing on those rungs as he moves onward.

"But I am a shy introvert," you might protest, "so wouldn't it be better for me to take an engineering job or one where I didn't have to meet people?"

Yes, at the outset you would be happier in such work. But an extreme introvert like Silas Marner can soon change, if he wishes to do so and will try diligently.

Some of the star salesmen were introvertive children, so shy they couldn't speak to a stranger. But by resolutely memorizing a canned sales talk and by shedding barrels of "cold sweat" they soon altered their personality.

As a rule, shy introverts are steered into jobs where they deal with tools or chemicals or musical instruments, instead of people.

And sociable, talkative extroverts are directed into sales work, teaching, and other tasks under the heading "human relations."

But there is nothing fixed and inexorable about the matter. A talkative salesman can become a successful inventor or chemist or engineer, if he insists.

And a shy, introvertive personality can become a jolly YMCA secretary or salesman or organizer if he will study and practice the proper forumla.

When you select a job, however, look for its by-products. Don't focus entirely on salary.

For some positions pay a big initial salary because the products degrade people or waste their money or cheat the wives and children, or promote ill health and a higher incidence of cancer, heart trouble, etc.

In this category belongs jobs in the liquor field, the tobacco field and various organized gambling rackets.

Instead, pick a job that gives you the inflated feeling of having lifted mankind upward at least a notch or two, by the sale or manufacture of wholesome merchandise. Send for my Vocational Guidance Kit, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Baering Down

The long shadow of the 1954 elections has patterned the gimmick disposal of the office-locked politicians.

Last November the Democratic legislative jets broke the Republican sound-off barrier.

We already discern the shape of things to be postponed. Truman fixed Korea so it is a debacle built for two. No matter what Ike claims, there isn't enough Korea peace for export.

The farm problem is a question of rotated crops. All the GOP has to do is stuff the south's cotton harvest into the Northern farmers' ears.

Republican economy lowbridged the power program and shortened the outdoor movie season.

The Democrats are figuring on parity for succotash indivisible and triumphant. They also promise to put the liver pill ads back on the barns.

When Durkin shook the dust of the roll-top desks from his feet he hurt the prestige of the administration. The last time the hidden bawl trick was pulled was on Rabbit Maranville.

There were so many boots in 1953 the Democrats can pull the trigger with both eyes closed and still get a sharpshooter's medal.

On the other gauntlet the GOP will play the Commie-in-government business to the hilt like a sword-swallower with a butter knife.

Gout, Says Dr Brady, Is Term Used When Doctor Fails to Diagnose Case

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Some of the big shots in the profession are apparently more determined than ever that certain credulous patients shall have gout, now that I have crawled away out on a limb and declared irrevocably that there is no such ailment.

Now hold your horses, old timer, if you have or have had any sort of painful or disabling affliction which the leading doctor of your community or maybe an eminent specialist far away called "gout."

I have no intention or desire to deny that there is or was something the matter with you or that it is painful as you would have me think.

I merely assert—without fear of contradition—that there is no scientific medical evidence that excess of, accumulation of or retention of uric acid or a salt there of has anything to do with acute or chronic inflammation or disability of one or more joints.

The term arthritis, by the way, means joint inflammation, and inflammation means heat, redness, pain and swelling (calor, rubor, dolor, tumor).

In most instances of chronic rheumatic or joint degeneration there is no heat, no redness, maybe no swelling, just pain.

So when you raise you nose in the air and say you have arthritis and not the rheumatiz you merely show your ignorance or gullibility.

Clinics may "affirm" whatever they think you patients will believe about "gouty arthritis."

Numerous persons have "affirmed" that they have seen flying saucers. What do you think?

The concept of "gout" was based on unscientific theory or assumption in the first place.

Since precise scientific measurement of the amount of uric acid in the blood became practicable we have learned two things.

First that the blood of a healthy person contains a certain amount of uric acid—(average from 2 to 5 mg. per 100 cc)—and this level is as likely to remain unchanged as it is to increase in the course of this or that ailment purporting to be gout.

Second, that tophi, deposits of chalk-like lumps of uric acid salt (mono-sodium-urate) in the soft tissues are found in persons who have never had any ailment that could be called gout, as frequently as in persons who have had such an ailment.

So it comes down to this, old timers. You have gout when your doctor is stumped for a real explanation for what ails you.

That's all. Now it's your turn. Go ahead and tell me off—just as do a lot of old fogies who lay back their long ears and "affirm" that, by gravy, they know they take "cold" if they get their feet wet or get caught in a draft or change of weather.

Past a certain physiological age the mind sets like plaster of Paris and after that the old party is unteachable.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Lions Coach a Father

Bob Considine Says:

Churchill Finds Friend Ike No Dotted-Line Pushover

BERMUDA (INS)—Eddie Folliard, the Pulitzer Prize winner, might have said it all when he remarked, "About 180 of the finest minds of the Western world are gathered here in Bermuda, plus 200 of the world's outstanding political analysts and diplomatic observers, and several hundred honeymoon couples—and the latter are the only people who know exactly why they're here."

One who must be bewildered by Bermuda events is Sir Winston.

Not being a member of the privy council I'm not pirvy to what is going on in Prime Minister Churchill's mind, but I'll bet he pines for F.D.R.

There is no question about his admiration and respect for Eisenhower, but dealing with Ike and dealing with the war-time President must be jarring to the most persuasive statesman of modern times.

History records that Churchill was able to get F.D.R.'s signature on almost any kind of agreement. Ike is a "team" man who has little appetite for signing for that team.

Where Roosevelt acted in behalf of the United States, and no ifs, ands, or buts, Eisenhower says, in effect, "That sounds pretty good to me, but I'll have to take it up with the Cabinet, Congress, Supreme Court, director of the budget, and Mamie, first, then form a commission to study our studies."

So there is a deal of uncertainty about the Bermuda conference, aside from the aforesaid honeymooners.

Most of the stories that have come out of here were ingenious marvels of interpretive prose. Hardly two stories have been alike, and it seems to me the public needs an explanation.

Let us take the wording of the communique of last Sunday afternoon which told of the first definite achievement of the conference, the agreement on the wording of the reply to Russia on the Soviet Union's suggestion for a Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Berlin next year. There was only one sentence. It read:

"The three foreign ministers have concluded their discussions on the reply to the Soviet note and are consulting Dr. Adenauer."

Millions of words burgeoned forth from that sentence as a horde of reporters raced to their typewriters and the radio and TV men yacked endlessly.

It could not be presented to the public in its naked simplicity. Its portent had to be dealt with, and the longer a man had been around big power politics the more he could write about or talk up.

Some read into that sentence a rebirth of the kind of unity which had enabled the unprepared Western Allies to rise and strike down Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo.

Others read into it a grievous blow to Churchill, who would much prefer a Big Four talk involving heads of state, not their understudies—the foreign ministers.

Still others saw in it a defeat for Eisenhower, who has repeatedly said the United States wants no part of a conference with Russia until the Reds show some material sign of good faith and a hunger for peace.

The French journalists said it was a great day for Laniel (who was flat on his back with a fever when the communique was issued) because he had been treated a bit shabbily in Bermuda and now here was France speaking from the same plane as the United States and Britain. And there must have been other interpretations.

At an event like this you pays your money and you takes your cherce. Because the reporters were told as little as possible before turning out their daily stint, their stories were composed of truths, part truths and hole-ridden logic.

But the only dishonest stuff I encountering were stories quoting Eisenhower-Churchill arguments, including facial expressions.

End Arguments on Segregation

Supreme Court May Take Several Months to Reach Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court hears today the last of the legal arguments it requested for guidance in the momentous decision whether segregation of whites and Negroes in public schools violates the Constitution.

The justices probably will take several months to reach their conclusions, write their decision on the main issue and—if it is against segregation—on whether and how the federal judiciary may provide for a period of transition.

Attorneys already had spoken their final words in cases involving Virginia, South Carolina and Kansas. The Court turned today to cases from the District of Columbia and Delaware.

The Eisenhower administration joined up yesterday with those urging the high court to outlaw segregation, but Virginia, South Carolina and Kansas contended the question of dual school systems was for the legislatures—not the courts—to decide.

Seventeen states and the District of Columbia require some form of racial segregation in public schools. Three other states permit it.

Asst. Atty. Gen. J. Lee Rankin, who spoke for the Eisenhower administration, told the nine justices yesterday they have the "power and duty" to rule that segregation violates the 14th Amendment.

J. Lindsay Almond Jr., Virginia's attorney general, countered that the court was being asked by opponents of segregation "to go farther than the Congress ever intended this court should go."

And T. Justin Moore, who also spoke for Virginia, told the court the segregation issue calls for judicial restraint "if any issue ever has."

"In my humble judgment, there isn't anything you could do that would be worse than an adverse degree," Moore added.

Thurgood Marshall, Negro attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said the question is "whether or not the wishes of these states shall prevail or whether our Constitution shall prevail."

Dies in Car Accident

CADILLAC (AP)—Robert Peacock Sr., 44, of Thompsonville was killed Tuesday when a car driven by his 23-year-old son went out of control and crashed into a ditch near Mesick on M155, 25 miles west of here. He died of a broken neck. His son was held pending an investigation.

PLENTY OF PROFIT—Sue White, 18, of Big Springs, Tex., is mighty happy, and she has every reason to be. She sold "Lone Star," a 1050-pound grand champion steer for $20,100 at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, Ill. It took her one year to raise the Hereford calf, which she bought for $189. In addition, she won $345 in prizes and a $1000 award from the American Hereford Association.

Man Is Looking to Congressmen for Citizenship

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—Samuel V. Goekjian, 25, was born in Greece, is a citizen of Lebanon, and is the subject of a bill in the U.S. Senate.

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) introduced a bill last February to give Goekjian the permission he so dearly desires to set up permanent residence in America. That step taken, he can apply for U.S. citizenship and then, after five years, becoming a practicing lawyer.

Although born in Greece, both his parents were Armenians. He spent nine years in Ethiopia, went to high school on the island of Cyprus, then went back to Ethiopia. A few years later he got to the United States on a student visa and now lives in Cleveland.

This year he graduated magna cum laude from Syracuse University. Phi Beta Kappa tapped him there, he was president of the men's student government, president of the debating society and a leader in other student activities.

He won a scholarship to Harvard Law School, too, but it won't do him much good unless he is allowed to stay.

"I have a twin brother, Gregory, who is now a senior at Syracuse," Goekjian said. "Congressman Frances Bolton has introduced a bill to give permanent residence to both me and my brother. I hope the two bills can be combined when they are acted upon."

Driver of School Bus Gets Special Safety Training

CHICAGO (UP) — School bus drivers in various parts of the country are being given special safety training, according to the American Municipal Association.

In Allegheny county, Pa., the county board set up a two-day school for bus drivers. About 50 were enrolled in the course, which included lectures on bus maintenance, what to do in case of accident, pupil safety and highway law enforcement.

Lecturers included police officers, a representative of the Pennsylvania Safety Council and other authorities in the field of traffic safety. After attending the classes, drivers were given actual road tests.

A school bus drivers' training school also was conducted in Sioux Falls, S. D. It was one of several that have been conducted throughout the state as part of a driver-education program designed to curb the mounting accident and death toll on state highways.

The Sioux Falls two-day training session included classes as well as a written test and a driving test.

The American Municipal Association said response to the training program has been encouraging.

Blind Flying Expected of Town Postmaster

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—Postmaster O. W. Neely received a letter from a man in California trying to locate a friend. The Californian took a page to say, amon gother things, that letters had been returned, etc.

Neely says he can't be of much help. Nowhere in the letter did the writer mention a name.

Grand Rapids Officials Shift Their Positions

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—George R. Cook has been named city attorney to replace Fred Searl Jan. 1 when Searl becomes Kent County circuit judge.

Cook is currently deputy attorney under Searl. The city commission named him to the post yesterday to fill the vacancy created by the election of Searl.

Hal Boyle Says:

Hero With Human Faults

NEW YORK (AP)—A hero is as necessary to a human being as oxygen.

Today, a man is known not so much by the company he keeps as by the heroes he holds.

There is a two-way relationship between any man and his hero. The hero helps him, and the man through belief adds a lustre to the hero's fame.

When you are young, almost any old hero will do. But as you grow older, you choose your heroes more carefully. Usually, they are people who have risen above problems that are a kind of Mt. Everest in your own life.

The nice thing about heroes is they never outgrow you. You outgrow and discard them.

For example, if you like football, you start with Frank Merriwell and his triumphs at Yale and go on to Coach Frank Leahy and his present problems at Notre Dame. Frank Merriwell always won the game, but to make a first down is Frank Leahy's only announced goal. Our goals, like our heroes, grow smaller as we grow older.

Every man has to have a military hero. My first one was Alexander the Great who most people think died from trying to drink a gallon of wine in his early 30s while despairing there were more worlds for him to conquer. I admired him not for his despair or his victories but because I had never met a man in his 30s who could afford a gallon of wine.

When I read later that Alexander the Great had died of brain fever, I lost interest in him. He became too remote.

It was the same way with Stonewall Jackson. He died at 39. After my 40th birthday, even reading of Stonewall Jackson disturbed me. I couldn't forgive him his youth, his early death with a beard. He made me feel too old.

At present, I have only three real military heroes. They are Robert E. Lee, Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley and Ernie Pyle. Of the three, I think Gen. Bradley and Ernie Pyle have survived the most rugged test. It is hard for a man to be a hero in his lifetime.

But as we grow older, I suppose that is the kind of heroes we look for — those who have helped us by their example in our lifetime. This is why an old man admires from the vantage point of his years the father whom he as a boy took for granted. Our heroes grow closer to us as we mature, because as we grow older we pick heroes closer to our needs.

But he should have a human hero, one with human faults, one not so high that the fog of his perfection obscures him. A hero without faults is not a hero. He is unbelievable.

Some heroes stay with you all your life, changeless and changeful as the climate. I suppose if I had to name the heroes who have worn best with me, they would be the literary heroes of my youth — William Shakespeare, Thomas Hary and Emily Dickinson. Yet one must also have an unknown hero. To me, it is the person who wrote the lines, that of all lines written, I would most like to have my name beneath.

They are the lines, spoken on some night of splendor by every child who speaks the English tongue and looks up at a sky and says:

"Starlight, star bright, first star I have seen tonight. I wish I may, I wish I might have this wish I wish this night."

* * *

You have to have a hero to be a human being — but it's more comfortable to have a human hero. Then you can even admire the flashbacks on his clay feet.

So Much Easier to Hold

Cold Sale Gets Hot

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—William J. Hoffert, a service station operator, told police today that while he was making a 25-cent gasoline sale a thief stole $1,000 from the station office.

Space Ship Suit Nifty

Job Real Tough to Locate Acts

Booking Agent Goes to Europe Often to Scout New TV Talent

NEW YORK — Of all the entertainment shows on television today, none presents such a stiff weekly challenge to its casting department as the "Big Top" circus program, which will present a special hour-long Christmas show on Friday, Dec. 25, at 3:00 p.m. EST.

Because the show does not repeat any act oftener than every six months, it frequently becomes a desperate struggle for Leo Grund, booking agent for the program, to come up with six top circus acts each week.

"I know 90 per cent of all the circus acts appearing in America and where they are playing at any given time," says Grund, who has been in the circus game most of his life.

"But even so, I never have an easy time balancing the show. During the peak of the season, there are between 25 and 30 circuses traveling all over the United States, and sometimes it's almost impossible to find six different acts close enough to Philadelphia to come in for the 'Big Top' show.

"Some weeks, for instance, the eastern seaboard will be alive with tumblers. Then, two weeks later, I can't locate one within 1,000 miles. Booking 312 circus acts every year is a full-time job."

Grund keeps an extensive file on circus acts, but he rarely books one which he has not seen personally. He has a fantastic memory for the specialties of every performer.

When Grund first began casting for the "Big Top" show, he met with considerable resistance from some circus people who were reluctant to display their talents on television.

Some felt that TV appearances would lessen the mystery and drama of their circus appearances. Others were concerned about their acts being copied.

But today, most circus performers are willing to concede that their appearances on the "Big Top" show have enhanced their in-person box-office appeal when they come to town with a circus.

They also appreciate the fan mail which they always get following an appearance on the show.

Grund is always on the lookout for new acts which will thrill the public with their novelty and daring. He doesn't find many here in the United States.

So, once a year, he makes a trek to Europe to scout new talent. He feels lucky when he comes back with one or two acts with something new to offer. And when he does find a sensational new act, it's sure to turn up soon on the "Big Top." All the best ones do.

Denver Thieves Easy to Track

Clothing, guns and jewelry, including 120 watches, were reported stolen. Harold Kal, operator of a war surplus store, yesterday pointed out to police a three-block trail of footprints in Denver's new snow, along which was distributed a good share of the loot.

At the end of the trail was a stalled car, registered to Richard Duran, 21. Police said more loot was in the car. Duran and his three brothers, Daniel, 19, Ambrose, 25, and Anthony, 33, were arrested and held for investigation.

Singer Sandy Solo Bests Both Handicap, Prejudice

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—Sandy Solo, an up-and-comer, is one boy who's found out that a handicap can be a double trouble.

If you've seen Solo on George Jessel's televised "Comeback Story" or in person, you know he's armless.

Both his arms were amputated after his plane was shot down over Palawan Island in the Pacific. That was tough enough—he'd been studying to be a sculptor.

But, after he settled on singing as his new career, he found that managers of nightclubs and theaters were afraid to book him. They were apparently fearful that patrons would be upset at seeing his hooks.

This attitude, fortunately, is disappearing and more and more you're seeing and hearing this good-looking youngster with the smooth style.

Sandy had to teach himself how to sing in public. He couldn't use the gestures other singers use—they look awkward with hooks.

He keeps one hand—or, rather, hook—in his pocket, since that looks most natural. When he sings now, nobody pays any attention to anything but his singing.

Sandy records for Derby, a small label. But that offers certain advantages to a beginner.

"With big companies," Sandy says, "you can get lost in the shuffle. Here I get the pick of the songs."

It's almost definite that Sandy will be featured on Derby's first EP release. Jessel will narrate the "Comeback Story," and Solo will do four songs.

Take a listen to him. See if you don't agree that he sounds more like the late Buddy Clark than any singer around. And that's not bad.

THE POPULAR SIDE: The new hit song, "Oh Mein Papa," comes from a current German musical. Essex's Dave Miller heard it and got trumpeter Eddie Calvert to record it. Then came English lyrics and Eddie Fisher.

Capitol's jack - of-all-languages, Yogi Yorgesson, is out with two new ones. As Yogi, he does "Ya, Ya, Ya," a Scandinavian Whiffenpoof Song, and, as Harry Kari, he does a Japanese "The Night Before Christmas."

ON THE CLASSICS: There's a pleasure in someone doing something exceeding well. Dario Soria brings this pleasure to critical listeners with his new Angel records.

Fine instrumental music and light drama in the manner of the Old Vic company, are recorded with silken smoothness by British technicians.

The same quality records come in two packages, one a simple cardboard envelope and the other —well worth the slight additional charge for convenience—the best filing and protecting device since

POP ALBUMS—Joni James' first album, "Let There Be Love" (MGM), is a soft collection of ballads; Les Elgart's "Sophisticated Swing" (Columbia) shows real originality.

Jackie Gleason must be running out of moods—his latest, on Capitol, is "Music to Make You Misty," nice music plus a lovely redhead on the album jacket.

CLASSICAL—Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 in E-Flat Major (Eroica) is recorded by the Philharmonia Orchestra of London, led by Herbert von Karajan (Angel); the same group does equally well with Sibelius' Symphony No. 5 in E-Flat Major (Finlandia) on the same label.

Mozart's Quartets Dedicated to Haydn (A and C Major) are played on historic Stradivari by the Budapest String Quartet (Columbia).

Devote One Day to Campaigning

Posters, Handbills Urge Residents to Vote 'Yes' Dec. 16 on School Fund

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

"We Want a New School Day" started in the classroom and spread across the Rochester Community School District Tuesday, via paint brush and poster.

Staging a special day, with permission from the village fathers and their board of education, the students of the Rochester High School planned and financed their contribution toward the $1,800,000 school building bond issue slated for vote on Dec. 16.

Seniors ran off 25,000 handbills in their print shop taking turns at the manually operated press. These will be taken up in donated planes later this week and dropped over the entire district.

Other seniors grabbed armloads of the bills as they came off the press and started a house-to-house campaign. Down on Rochester's Main Street they placed them beneath the windshield wipers of the parked autos.

The junior class came prepared with paint brushes and pails. Theirs was the whitewashing job.

Up and down the streets and sidewalks they painted reminders, "Vote Yes, Dec. 16."

Sophomores brought hammers and nails and constructed a float depicting the crowded school situation that exists in the Rochester school district.

Freshmen did their share of the job painting posters and signs to drape on the school buses and across the main streets of the town.

The underclassmen, seventh and eighth graders, diligently worked on more posters to be distributed throughout the district and performed the running jobs for their upperclassmen.

Roger Forbush, president of the Student Council, said it was one of the finest projects he had ever witnessed in operation.

"Everyone wanted to do something. They are all beginning to realize how necessary a new school is. After all, they are the ones who are crammed into the classrooms and have to go home for study periods because their isn't room in school. We want a chance for a good educational opportunity and we are sure the voters of our district will give it to us this time," said Forbush.

The Dec. 16 bond issue, if approved, will give the district a new high school, additions to the elementary schools of Goodison and Hamlin, and a new elementary school in the northeast section of Rochester.

It also will provide money to purchase additional land at the Avon School and an elementary site in the Snell, Kline, Brush and Mt. Vernon area.

Two pervious bond issues voted on this past summer were defeated. Rochester has had no school building program in 25 years and now has half-day sessions in first grades and in many high school classes.

TWO HEADS ARE BETTER THAN ONE—A full-faced view of how these boys feel about the school building bond issue Rochester will decide on Dec. 16 is depicted by Richard Howell and Vernon Hill. Both eighth graders in the Rochester Community Schools, they chose "We Want a New School Day," staged Tuesday in Rochester to emphasize the importance of a "yes" vote. Richard said this was also a good excuse "not to wash my face today."

Pontiac Press Photos

SENIORS WIELD BRUSHES—Cooperation was the order of the day in the Rochester High School Tuesday when nearly 800 students participated in their "We Want a New School Day." Preparing a sign that will be draped on a school bus are, left to right: Earle Cook, Allen Firestone and Bob Barnes. The high school gymnasium was an art shop for the day-long project.

WOMEN AT WORK—Checking registration to make sure everyone who is eligible will get to the polls when Rochester votes on its school building bond issue Dec. 16 are, left to right, Mrs. Keith Crissman and Mrs. Frederick Nash of Rochester. Mrs. Crissman had charge of the registration survey and Mrs. Nash developed a plan for a house-by-house and block-by-block information campaign on the bond issue.

President Proposes International Atomic Energy Pool for Advancement of World Peace

devoted extensive resources to atomic weapons. During this period, the Soviet Union has exploded a series of atomic devices including at least one involving thermo-nuclear reactions.

If at one time the United States possessed what might have been called a monopoly of atomic power, that monopoly ceased to exist some years ago. Therefore, although our earlier start has permitted us to accumulate what is today a great quantitative advantage, the atomic realities of today comprehend two facts of even greater significance.

First, the knowledge now possessed by four nations will eventually be shared by others.

Second, even a vast superiority in numbers of weapons, and a consequent capability of devastating retaliation, is no preventative, of itself, against the fearful material damage and toll of human lives that would be inflicted by surprise aggression.

The free world, at least dimly aware of the facts, has naturally embarked on a large program of warning and defense systems. That program will be accelerated and expanded.

But let no one think that the expenditure of vast sums for weapons and systems of defense can guarantee absolute safety for the cities and citizens of any nation. The awful arithmetic of the atomic bomb does not permit of such an easy solution. Even against the most powerful defense, an aggressor in possession of the effective minimum number of atomic bombs for a surprise attack could probably place a sufficient number of his bombs on the chosen targets to cause hideous damage.

Should such an atomic attack be launched against the United States, our reactions would be swift and resolute. But for me to say that the defense capabilities of the United States are such that they could inflict terrible losses upon an aggressor — for me to say that the retaliation capabilities of the United States are so great that such an aggressor's land would be laid waste — all this while fact, is not the true expression of the purpose and the hope of the United States.

To pause there would be to confirm the hopeless finality of a belief that two atomic colossi are doomed malevolently to eye each other indefinitely across a trembling world.

To stop there would be to accept helplessly the probability of civilization destroyed — the annihilation of the irreplaceable heritage of mankind handed down to us from generation to generation — and the condemnation of mankind to begin all over again the age-old struggle upward from savagery toward decency, justice, and right.

Surely no sane member of the human race could discover victory in such desolation. Could anyone wish his name to be coupled by history with such human degradation and destruction.

Occasional pages of history do record the faces of the "great destroyers" but the whole book of history reveals mankind's never-ending quest for peace and mankind's God-given capacity to build.

It is with the book of history, and not with isolated pages, that the United States will ever wish to be identified. My country wants to be constructive, not destructive. It wants agreements, not wars, among nations. It wants itself to live in freedom and in the confidence that the people of every other nation enjoy equally the right of choosing their own way of life.

So my country's purpose is to help us move out of this dark chamber of horrors into the light, to find a way by which the minds of men, the hopes of men, the souls of men everywhere, can move forward toward peace and happiness and well being.

In this quest, I know that we must not lack patience.

I know that many steps will have to be taken over many months before the world can look at itself one day and truly realize that a new climate of mutually peaceful confidence is abroad in the world.

But I know, above all else, that we must start to take these steps — now.

The United States and its allies, Great Britain and France, have over the past months tried to take some of these steps. Let no one say that we shun the conference table.

On the record has long stood the request of the United States, Great Britain, and France, to negotiate with the Soviet Union the problem of a divided Germany.

On that record has long stood the request of the same three nations to negotiate an Austrian State treaty.

On the same record still stands the request of the United Nations to negotiate the problems of Korea.

Soviet Will Join in Big 4 Parley

Most recently, we have received from the Soviet Union what is in effect an expression of willingness to hold a four power meeting. Along with our allies, Great Britain and France, we were pleased to see that this note did not contain the unacceptable pre-conditions previously put forward by the Soviets.

As you already know from our joint Bermuda communique, the United States, Great Britain and France have agreed promptly to meet with the Soviet Union.

The government of the United States approaches this conference with hopeful sincerity.

We will bend every effort of our minds to the single purpose of emerging from that conference with tangible results toward peace—the only true way of lessening international tension.

We never have, and never will, propose or suggest that the Soviet Union surrender what is rightfully hers.

We will never say that the peoples of Russia are an enemy with whom we have no desire ever to deal or mingle in friendly and fruitful relationship.

On the contrary, we hope that this conference may initiate a relationship with the Soviet Union which will eventually bring about a free intermingling of the peoples of the East and the West—the one sure, human way of developing the the understanding required for confident and peaceful relations.

Instead of the discontent which is now settling upon Eastern Germany, occupied Austria, and the countries of Eastern Europe, we seek a harmonious family of free European nations, with none a threat to the other, and least of all a threat to the peoples of Russia.

Beyond the turmoil and strife and misery of Asia, we seek the peaceful opportunity for these peoples to develop their natural resources and to elevate their lot.

There are not idle words or shallow visions. Behind them lies a story of nations lately come to independence, not as a result of war, but through free grant or peaceful negotiation. There is a record of assistance gladly given by nations of the West to needy peoples and to those suffering the temporary effects of famine, drought, and natural disaster.

These are deeds of peace. They speak more loudly than promises or protestations of peaceful intent.

But I do not wish to rest either upon the reiteration of past proposals or the restatement of past deeds. The gravity of the time is such that every new avenue of peace, no matter how dimly discernible should be explored.

There is at least one new avenue of peace which has not yet been explored—an avenue now laid out by the General Assembly of the United Nations.

In its resolution of Nov. 18, 1953, this General Assembly suggested —and I quote:

"That the disarmament commission study the desirability of establishing a sub-committee consisting of representatives of the powers principally involved, which should seek, in private, an acceptable solution—and report on such a solution to the General Assembly and to the Security Council not later than 1 Sept. 1954."

The United States, heeding the suggestion of the General Assembly of the United Nations, is instantly prepared to meet privately with such other countries as may be "principally involved", to seek "an acceptable solution" to the atomic armaments race which overshadows not only the peace, but the very life of the world.

Arms Reduction Is Not Enough

The United States would seek more than the mere reduction or elimination of atomic materials available for military purposes.

It is not enough just to take this weapon out of the hands of the soldiers. It must be put into the hands of those who will know how to strip its military casing and adapt it to the arts of peace.

The United States knows that if the fearful trend of atomic military buildup can be reversed, this greatest of destructive forces can be developed into a great boon, for the benefit of all mankind.

The United States knows that peaceful power from atomic energy, is no dream of the future. That capability, already proved is here — now — today.

Who can doubt, if the entire body of the world's scientists and engineers had adequate amounts of fissionable material with which to test and develop their ideas, that this capability would rapidly be transformed into universal, efficient and economic usage.

To hasten the day when fear of the atom will begin to disappear from the minds of the people and the governments of the East and West, there are certain steps that can be taken now.

I therefore make the following proposal:

The governments principally involved, to the extent permitted by elementary prudence, to begin now and continue to make joint contributions from their stockpiles of normal uranium and fissionable materials to an international atomic energy agency. We would expect that such an agency would be set up under the aegis of the United Nations.

The ratios of contributions, the procedures and other details would properly be within the scope of the "private conversations" I have referred to earlier.

The United States is prepared to undertake these explorations in good faith. Any partner of the United States acting in the same good faith will find the United States a not unreasonable or ungenerous associate.

Undoubtedly initial and early contributions to this plan would be small in quantity. However, the proposal has the great virtue that it can be undertaken without irritations and mutual suspicions incident to any attempt to set up a completely acceptable system of world-wide inspection and control.

The atomic energy agency could be made responsible for the impounding, storage and protection of the contributed fissionable and other materials.

The ingenuity of our scientists will provide special safe conditions under which such a bank of fissionable material could be made essentially immune to surprise seizure.

The more important responsibility of this atomic energy agency would be to devise methods whereby this fissionable material would be allocated to serve the peaceful pursuits of mankind. Experts would be mobilized to apply atomic energy to the needs of agriculture, medicine, and other peaceful activities. A special purpose would be to provide abundant electrical energy in the power-starved areas of the world thus the contributing powers would be dedicating some of their strength to serve the needs rather than the fears of the world.

Would Propose Plan to Congress

The United States would be more than willing—it would be proud to take up with others "principally involved" the development of plans whereby such peaceful use of atomic energy would be expedited.

Of those "principally involved" the Soviet Union must, of course, be one.

I would be prepared to submit to the U.S. Congress, and with every expectation of approval, any such plan that would:

First — encourage world-wide investigation into the most effective peacetime uses of fissionable material;

Second—begin to diminish the potential destructive power of the world's atomic stockpiles:

Third—allow all peoples of all nations to see that, in this enlightened age, the great powers of the Earth, both of the East and of the West, are interested in human aspirations first and foremost rather than in building up the armaments of war.

Fourth—open up a new channel for peaceful discussion and initate at least a new approach to the many difficult problems that must be solved in both private and public conferences if the world is to shake off the inertia imposed by fear and make positive progress toward peace.

Against the dark background of the atomic bomb, the United States does not wish merely to present strength, but also the desire and hope for peace.

The coming months will be fraught with fateful decisions. In this assembly; in the capitals and military headquarters of the world; in the hearts of men everywhere, be they governors or governed, may they be the decisions which will lead this world out of fear and into peace.

To the making of these fateful decisions, the United States pledges before you—and therefore before the world—its determination to help solve the fearful atomic dilemma — to devote its entire heart and mind to find the way by which the miraculous inventiveness of man shall not be dedicated to his death, but consecrated to his life.

Production Assn. Holds 20th Year Celebration in Waterford

The association was founded "to furnish sound short-term credit to farmers' during the depression years. It started with a $35 pool — $5 from each of the seven original directors.

Today, the organization's capital and surplus stand at more than $161,000.

Like others of its kind across the country, the Pontiac association operates under federal charter and is subject to audit and examination by an agency of the federal government, according to Fred J. Beckman, secretary-treasurer.

Unlike credit unions, which they resemble in other ways, the associations pay taxes — both state and federal.

The Pontiac groups area of activity embraces Oakland, Macomb, Lapeer, Livingston and Genesee counties and has a membership of 800

About 50,000 people are employed in the Swiss watch industry.

Waterford Gets System Data

Supervisor Will Receive Report on Its Financial Feasibility Saturday

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The Township Board will get the verdict on its proposed sewage disposal system when Supervisor Lloyd Anderson meets Saturday with Pontiac financial expert Louis H. Schimmel.

Schimmel, who has had the matter under study for nearly two months, will report on the financial feasibility of the project.

Tentative plans, as mapped by a Pontiac engineering firm after a two-month survey, call for a sewage treatment plan, with mains to be laid initially in the eastern and southeastern sections of the township.

The Township Board decided to call in Schimmel after hearing the engineers' report at its Oct. 7 meeting.

Anderson said the project has been under Board consideration for some time "because population growth in the township is causing a serious sewage problem."

By 1960, a population of 60,000 is expected in the township.

The eatsern and southestern sections were named for initial sewer construction because of population density in the areas.

The Board will hold its regular meeting at 7 p.m. Friday at the town hall.

The new meeting schedule calls for Board meetings on the first and third Saturdays of the month at 9 a.m. and the second and fourth Fridays at 7 p.m.

Romeo Family Homeless as Fire Sweeps Dwelling

ROMEO — A family was left homeless after a fire swept their home on Sisson street late last night.

Lafayette Ramin, a truck driver, had just returned home from work and was repairing a two-burner oil stove when it began to smoke. The stove exploded.

Mrs. Ramin was burned about the arms and face when she rushed into a burning bedroom to rescue her 4-month-old baby, Ethel Marie, who was also burned about the head and arms.

The other children, Beverly, 6, Ronnie, 4, and Lafayette Jr., 2, were sent out of the burning home immediately following the explosion at 10 p.m. and were uninjured.

Volunteers from the Romeo Fire Department fought the blaze more than two hours but were unable to save the home.

Ramin was cut about the arms breaking windows to get the children out and also suffered burns on his hands.

There was only one door in the five-room frame house.

The Ramins have another son, Dennis, 18 months old, who had left minutes before with relatives with whom he had been staying.

The house, which the Ramins rent, was a complete loss. Fire Chief Walter Werth was unable to estimate the extent of the loss.

Study Club Will Meet at Walled Lake Home

WALLED LAKE — Study Club will meet at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the Pontiac trail home of Mrs. Florence White.

Program topic will be "Beverages and their Origin," and will be presented by Rebecca Beck.

Roll call subject will be "Gadgets," with each member responding to her name with a short dissertation on a different gadget.

Christ Lutheran Women Collecting Gifts for Aged

Waterford Group OKs Board's Right to Name Volunteer Fire Chiefs

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Power to appoint the volunteer fire chief will be handed over to the Waterford Township Board by the Fire Fighters Assn., next April.

The decision was made at a joint meeting of the township Board and the association's executive board at the township hall last night.

The proposal was initiated by Supervisor Lloyd Anderson "so the chief could be our liaison man between the volunteer fire department and the township board."

Currently, the volunteers select a chief from their own ranks.

The township will continue to supply the chief expense money and the position will continue to be a part-time one.

The change will not take place until April because the firemen's group has to amend its bylaws to legalize the move and three readings of a proposed amendment must be made before a vote can be taken.

Anderson said "there is no doubt that Chief Rudy Boss will be appointed by the township" to fill the post he currently holds. Boss has been elected chief by the volunteers for the past three years.

In other business last night, the Fire Fighters Assn. elected officers for 1954.

Others were: Edward Smith, secretary-treasurer; Bud Goff, assistant secretary-treasurer; Kenneth Sutton, recording secretary; Robert Poorman, assistant recording secretary; Donald Kerr, James Donaldson and Howard McCullum, trustees; Bernard Torr and Russell See, guards, and Lloyd Gidley and Charles Callahan, guides.

In March, the group will elect two assistant chiefs, two captains, and two lieutenants to serve under the township appointed chiefs.

Waterford Post Office on Christmas Schedule

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Post Office service will be extended on Saturdays for the next two weeks, Mrs. Leona Ames, township postmaster, has announced.

Under the special Christmas schedule, windows will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Green School PTA will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at the school.

Children of the second, third, fourth and fifth grades will take part in the annual Christmas program to be presented at the meeting.

The second and third grade choir and a sextet of fourth and fifth graders will participate.

Parents will also have an opportunity to visit a transportation exhibit prepared by fourth and fifth grade children.

Refreshments will be served following the program.

Drayton Church Boards Ponder $26,750 Budget

DRAYTON PLAINS — A record budget of $26,750 was presented to the combined boards of elders and trustees of the Community United Presbyterian Church Monday.

Submitting the budget was Loyal McMillin, congregational chairman, who said $18,800 is for current expenses and $7,950 for benevolences.

To be presented to the congregation at the annual meeting Jan. 6, the budget does not include anticipated $20,000 building fund contributions.

Man Hit by Two Cars Gets Only Minor Hurts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John Coulman was hit twice in quick succession last night by hit-run drivers—without suffering serious injury.

Crossing Mission street, he was struck by a northbound car which knocked him into the path of a southbound auto. Neither driver stopped.

Jess Barker Cited for Moving in Home

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Jess Barker has been ordered to appear in court Friday to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt for moving into the Sherman Oaks home of his estranged wife, actress Susan Hayward, who is in Mexico on movie location.

Miss Hayward obtained a restraining order Sept. 8 that prevented Barker from entering her home. Her mother signed an affidavit yesterday that Barker moved in Monday, kept his 8-year-old twin sons up beyond their bedtime and insisted that the housekeeper cook for him.

Miss Hayward has sued for divorce, alleging cruelty. Barker, denying her charge, is asking for half the community property, which he values at more than $300,000.

Barker told a reporter he went to the house upon learning that one of his sons, Timothy, was ill, and found that the boys lacked proper supervision.

THE YEAR OF THE SALESMAN

. . . Chevrolet's General Sales Manager predicts 1954 will be Chevrolet's Third Best Year. But . . .

1954 should be the First Best Year for Chevrolet Salesmen.

WHY?

★ The American people want to ride high for the low dollar and Chevrolet is their answer.

★ Chevrolet dealers will handle a higher percentage of used cars traded in on new cars. Therefore, salesmen will sell more vehicles, make more money.

The Jack Habel Chevrolet Company expects to sell more new and used cars and trucks in 1954 than ever before in our 34 years.

To be ready, we are selecting a few salesmen today to be trained for tomorrow. We believe in a small, Quality Sales Force to do a big Quantity Sales Job.

Barber's Short Cut

SELMER, Tenn. (UP) — Jerry Howell, a veteran of 71 years of barbering, started his career in 1882 because of a boast. "My mother was a country barber for years," Howell explained. "One day I told her I thought I could cut a head of hair just as good as she could. Ma was a woman of few words. She just handed me the scissors, and I was started on my profession."

Obsolete Statutes Indicate Penal Code Study Needed

LANSING (UP)—If you've been thinking of trying to incite Indians to violate any peace treaties, this is to let you know it is against the law in Michigan.

Or if you're planning to engage in a duel with anyone, be careful because that's against the law too.

If caught doing either of the above things, attorneys and judges will have no trouble finding a statute that has been violated.

At least that's what was uncovered in a study by Jessa J. McNeil, a member of Michigan's Corrections Commission, and Gus Harrison, acting director of the Corrections Department.

McNeil pointed out the two obsolete laws just to show that Michigan's Penal Code could stand to be brought up to date.

"Although amendments have been made to some sections of the Michigan Penal Code, it is apparent there is need for competent study of the code in total and the penalty provisions for some of the crimes," McNeil said.

A report of the study made by McNeil and Harrison was sent today to other members of the six-man Corrections Commission for their study.

McNeil hopes the commission, at its next meeting, will urge establishment of a special committee to revise the penal code. He believes the commission should ask Gov. G. Mennen Williams to make a request in his message to the Legislature for establishment of a special legislative committee to do the job.

Geology Survey Shows Glaciers Are Receding

A U. S. Geological Survey staff, which yearly makes profiles of the park's principal glaciers, reported the park's largest glacier — Sperry — now covers only 300 acres. In 1900 the ice mass covered 840 acres.

However, M. E. Beatty, chief park naturalist, said the present year was favorable to glaciers. Early spring snow lasted through the summer despite a warmer than usual July. Annual precipitation at the glacier exceeds 100 inches.

Naomi Circle Plans Yule Party Tuesday

Mrs. Charles Esralian and Mrs. James Harrison presented the program Friday when Naomi Circle of Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church met with Mrs. Lyle Venner of East Mansfield avenue.

Mrs. Gilbert Kluesner led devotions, and plans were completed for the women's Christmas party to be held Tuesday at the church.

Men's Night Staged Tuesday

Songs Depict Big Town

By DONNA ANDERSON

New York, New York, that wonderful town!

A part of the big city moved into Pontiac Tuesday evening when Tuesday Musicale opened the doors of Webster School for its Men's Night performance, "A New York Holiday."

Narrated in verse by Mrs. T. E. Wiersema, the program featured Tuesday Musicale Chorus and soloists, who took their sightseers across town from Carnegie Hall to the United Nations.

The show opened with a whimsical street scene in Central Park while the concert lovers found their seats for the performance of Schumann's "Holiday Song" and "The Trysting Place" by Brahms.

Then, Mrs. Jack Wignall painted a Harlem street scene with the plaintive solo from "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child." Completing the sequence were Mrs. Clyde Marshbanks and Robert Gaff backed by the chorus in a Robert Shaw arrangement of "Set Down Servant."

And on to Broadway — where the chorus was appearing again in excerpts from some of the Rodgers and Hammerstein favorites. From "Carousel" the chorus sang "If I Loved You," followed by "Hello Young Lovers" from "The King and I" with the solo by Mrs. LaVerne Cox and a trio composed by Dorothy Marra, Mrs. Glenn Yuille and Mrs. J. O. Radenbaugh.

Next stop was the TV station where the travelers heard the Victor Lindquists and the Robert Gaffs in the highlight of the evening, Gershwin's "Love Walked In" and Rodgers and Hart's famous "Blue Moon."

Then the show really got funny. Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer and her "gee-tar" accompanied the Chattanooga Charmers, Mrs. John B. Nicholls Jr. and Mrs. Charles Buck, in "Hey, Around the Corner."

The TV show ended with "September Song" by Kurt Weill and "Only Make Believe" from "Showboat" sung by Mr. and Mrs. Lindquist.

Last stop was the United Nations portrayed in music with an old English melody, "Christmas Is Coming" and "Mattinata" with Mrs. B. B. Kimball, Mrs. Donald B. Hogue and Mrs. Gordon Woolcock.

The clever "Orchestra Song" of Austrian origin closed the U.N. visit, with Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Marshbanks, Mrs. Wignall and Mrs. Woolcock taking part.

Sightseers on the "New York Holiday" said goodbye to the city with the strains of Irving Berlin's "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" done in an authentic setting complete with the Statue of Liberty and colorful pageantry of visitors from other countries.

Hang Clothes the Right Way

Hanging can be as disastrous for clothes as for humans.

To add to the life span of garments, take care in arranging them on clothes hangers. Improperly hung clothes will quickly stretch out of shape.

When hanging skirts, be certain that the zippers are zipped and that the waist buttons are buttoned.

Blouses should also be hung up if they are to keep their shape.

Sweaters and loosely woven or crocheted blouses and skirts should never be hung, the specialists warned, because they will lose their shape.

Pucker-Free Seams to Come

GASTONIA, N. C. (INS) — "Pucker-free" seams will be the next boon for shapely feminine legs swathed in nylon.

Spokesmen for a yarn company at Gastonia have announced the development of a new method of dyeing the special nylon yard used to sew the seam of hose.

The new process, which lessens the tendency of seaming yarn to shrink, causing puckers, is already being used in limited commercial production.

4 New Citizens Are Introduced to Church Circle

Janice Antona presented four new citizens to Circle Four, Christian Women's Fellowship, Tuesday evening when the group met with Mrs. John Radenbaugh on Elizabeth Lake road.

Mrs. Hugerette Gee of France, Mrs. Lena Sachs of Switzerland, Mrs. Mary Lalk of Ukraine and Greta Bladh of Sweden were the new citizens. Each spoke on her native country, showing handwork and pictures of the native land.

Plans were made for Christmas baskets, and Mrs. William Tompkins had charge of the study program, which includes a study of the customs of other countries to aid new citizens in the United States.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. John Graham and Mrs. Roscoe Hodge.

Let's Wash Our Hands

n conclusion of this series on care of the hands, I want to bring your attention to the simple task of washing them. Even this is important, especially in winter. First the hands should be soaked in warm soapy water, to open the pores, and loosen the dirt. Then scrub them with a good brush, especially around the nails. Rinse in tepid water and dry thoroughly. Apply hand cream.

If your hands are rough or chapped, wash them at night with hot water, hot enough to bring the blood to the surface. Rinse and dry. Now massage your hands with lanolin or any oily night cream and leave on over night. This treatment will usually improve the appearance of the hands in one night.

Men Wear Corsets, Dye Hair, Tell Whoppers

Lying About Age Not Only Female Trait

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP)—The 39-year-old women of this country are the most misunderstood group since women drivers.

They are immediately assumed to be past 40 the minute they mention their age. They get the arched eyebrows, the knowing smile, the condescending chuckle from men.

The census bureau announced that the average American housewife is 39.5 years old, and everybody laughed. If the figure had come out 38 or 41, no one would give it a second thought.

It's time somebody stood up for the women, not only on general principles but on cold, hard facts. The fellow who has the widest grin when a woman says she's 39 probably just finished subtracting a few years from his own age.

We are living in a society with a growing number of old people and a growing desire to stay young.

"Men have to stay young for economic reasons," said a psychologist who specializes in problems of older people. "They have to earn a living in an economic atmosphere where youth is emphasized.

"Men wear corsets and dye their hair and lie about their age.

"Women may take off a few years for reasons of vanity, but they are no more guilty of this than men."

Dr. Martin Gumpert, a physician who specializes in geriatrics, agreed with the psychologist that men are guilty of clinging to youth too, "largely for economic reasons."

He thinks we're getting a little better about this old age complex, thanks partly to such impressive "mature" personalities as Clark Gable and Marlene Dietrich.

"The more mature man definitely has gained in prestige in recent years," Dr. Gumpert said. "I feel we will change even more about our attitude toward age."

One psychologist who was polled on this age question really gave the men reason to pause before they laugh at a woman's claim of 39 summers.

"It is true that women are inclined to bolster up their egos by taking a few years off," said Dr. Marcus Zetkin, psychologist who heads the Family Counseling Institute of New York.

"But it is more understandable for a woman to want to prolong her most vital, child-bearing years in her own mind. When men lie about age, the reasons are more serious.

Many men have a lag between their chonological age and their emotional age. They have never let go of their mother's apron strings."

If you find out a man is fudging on his age, and the reasons are not economic, then watch out, Dr. Zetkin warned. As a husband he may expect a lot of mothering.

Little Miss Chubby is slenderized with dress that has elasticized waist-back, flat pleats, fullness in shoulders. This is important step in developing good clothes sense.

Decanters Are Formed Into Tables

Collector Uses His Rare Containers in Practical Ways

NEW YORK (INS)—Take eight cylindrically shaped ebony wood blocks, four baroque crystal decanters and two slabs of 3-inch-thick glass; and what do you have?

According to Dan Goldstein of New York, you have a handsome two-tier cocktail table.

Goldstein is a director of advertising and his hobby is finding functional uses within his home for his rare and valuable collection of whisky decanters.

Instead of allowing them to collect dust on a collector's shelf, Goldstein has fashioned handsome lamps from cut-glass decanters and turned hand-blown pocket flasks into intriguing bud vases.

His newest creation is the two-tier table.

Materials needed for the table include four well-balanced bottles. The decanters used by Goldstein were baroque in shape, about 6 inches long and 2¼ inches wide at the base.

Eight ebony blocks were cut to order as follows: Four cylinders were 2¼ inches in diameter. These were used as the legs for the first tier.

The other four blocks were cut to fit securely in the mouths of the decanters, serving as bottle stops and a flat surface on which to place the second tier.

The glass rectangles were 3 inches thick and measured 4 feet by 2½ feet.

The 8-inch-high ebony blocks were adhered to the corners on one sheet of glass with a transparent glass cement.

Next, ebony blocks were inserted into the mouth of each decanter, extending one-half inch out of the mouth.

The decanters were adhered to the corners of the first tier at a diagonal angle; and the same glass cement was used to fasten the second tier to the protruding ebony blocks.

Dry Slipcovers Before Replacing

Don't put washed slipcovers back on chairs while still damp. Specialists disagree with the notion that this saves ironing and insures a better fit.

They point out that slow drying may cause stains along hems or bindings and stains from the upholstery fabric underneath. The experts suggest careful ironing so that the cover does not stretch out of shape as a better method.

Heed Dress Labels

Knit dresses are high style this year, with elaborate trimmings for "dress-up" occasions.

Read the manufacturer's label carefully before laundering these garments. It's safe to wash in lukewarm mild soapsuds if it's wool, and hotter suds if it's cotton or nylon. Some even can go into the washing machine, provided you put the dress into a mesh bag first. Use low heat to dry knit dresses in your clothes dryer.

39 Garments Cost Only $55

MARIETTA, Ga. (INS) — A Cobb County high school student has a solution for a woman who "never has a thing to wear" because she can't afford it.

Maxine Roberts sat down to her sewing machine and turned out 39 garments at a total cost of $55.

It was one of the projects promoted in her homemaking class at school. Maxine shrugged:

"I knew that for every dress I bought, I could make two for the same price."

The student was not the only one to benefit by her industry. Maxine has two little sisters who insist on growing out of their clothes.

Maxine decided to do something about it. She threaded her needle and replenished the wardrobe of the five-year-old youngster with seven dresses and four slips.

For the baby sister she made eight dresses, four slips and a navy blue spring coat.

Table Decoration

Arrange six wine glasses in either a circle ot a straight line on a plateau mirror atop your dining or coffee table.

Fill the glasses with candy, fruit or nuts. Then string Christmas greens as festoons between the glasses. Candles and candlesticks can be used to flank the arrangement.

Women Spark U. S. Crusade for Auto Safety

American women, as individuals and in club groups, are sparking the nation's crusade for safer streets and highways whether they hail from large cities, small towns or rural areas.

This is the opinion recently voiced by safety experts of the National Safety Council after reviewing the 1953 entries in the Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety.

Most of the women who have submitted entries this year are housewives and mothers who were spurred on to improve traffic conditions by eliminating hazards which endangered the lives of their children and families.

Others were inspired by dangers which threatened the welfare of their communities, counties and states.

A housewife and mother in Utah succeeded in reorganizing and improving the police force of her hometown.

Her noteworthy contributions to the traffic and pedestrian situation in her town arose out of personal indignation over disregard for the welfare of her children and those of her neighbors.

In Evanston, Ill., a woman organized all PTA safety chairmen in a citywide safety program which proved a major factor in her community's record of no traffic fatalities in 1952.

In chalking up this record, she drafted every school child in her community to participate in making Evanston a safer city.

Setting Can Add Style to Diamond

Fortunately, diamonds are not only a girl's best friend, but they are always in style. The only thing that ever dates the beauty of diamonds is the setting.

That's why the check which Santa leaves in your stocking this year may be especially well spent if you use it to remodel a pin, ring or other pieces of outmoded jewelry which are valuable because of the diamonds they contain.

Take, for example, the one standard piece of jewelry nearly every married woman owns—her engagement ring.

How many times have you correctly observed that Mrs. Smith must have been married about 20 years by the style of the setting of her engagement ring.

Then there's Mrs. Brown, who always seems to be wearing a new piece of jewelry her husband must have just given her.

A new and modern setting for a solitaire will do wonders stylewise as well as safeguarding against the insecurity of a worn setting.

Teenagers' Party OK, but Decorating Should Be Simple

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me: "My mother passed away two weeks ago. With the Christmas season only a few weeks off, I would like to know just how far we can go in observing this season in the traditional fashion without being criticized.

"As far as I am concerned the day will be a sad one, but I have two teenaged children who have been eagerly looking forward to the Christmas holiday.

"We always have gone to great lengths in decorating our house both inside and out and the children always have had one big party during the holiday season to which they invited all their friends. Is any of this possible under the circumstances?"

Answer: Spoiling Christmas for the children would surely be something that their grandmother would never have wanted, and I think a party for their young friends would not be criticized.

Naturally, you would not give a party for yourself. Decorations both indoors and out should be simple.

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine had her son visiting her recently. He lives in a distant city but was brought up in this town and has many friends here.

Several of his friends planned a party in his honor during his visit. When he learned his mother was not invited to this party, he refused to go. Was he wrong, or were they wrong in not inviting her?

Answer: If only young people were invited to the party, it was not rude to omit his mother. But if some people of his mother's age were invited, it was then very unfriendly not to have included her. But even in this case, he certainly was wrong to have stayed away from a party in his honor.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I have been invited to my nephew's wedding. His future in-laws are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary at the same time.

They are strangers to us, and I would like to know if we are expected to take the anniversary couple a present in addition to the wedding present sent to the bride?

Answer: If they were very old friends, yes; but since they are strangers, no present is expected.

Small Tree Festive

Here's a suggestion for spreading Christmas cheer throughout the room with a small tree. Set a tree 12 or 18 inches high in a shallow bowl wrapped in aliminum foil on a plateau mirror atop a sideboard or table. Flank it with a pair of tall white candles in silver holders. A large decorative mirror enhances the setting.

Friendship Club Marks Season

Mrs. John Soini was greeted as a new member of the Friendship Club when the group met recently with Alma Ollila on Brunswick avenue.

Christmas decorations set the theme for the meeting as the group exchanged gifts. Members agreed to donate for Christmas gifts for patients at Pontiac State Hospital.

Keep Using Cotton Throughout Year

The old idea to put away easy-washable cottons when summer's over in favor of more formal but less practical fabrics is a thing of the past. If it's washable, it's a year-round fabric!

Housekeeping ought to be as simple in winter as in the summer, and women are catching on to that fact.

Fabric designers and decorators are promoting the same idea by giving us richer, deeper colors for the cold months. But they're sticking to the same washable fabrics we lived with all summer.

Garlands Are Gay

Garlands of Christmas greens around the borders of your wall mirrors—over the mantel, in the hall, or anywhere in the house—provide a simple yet effective holiday decorative scheme.

Floopy Hats Smart for Winter Resorts

NEW YORK (INS) — The pretty-pretty garden hat, soft and wide brimmed and often laden with flowers, may be the smartest accessory in the chic resorts this winter.

Lilly Dache, noted hat designer, explains:

"While the tiny hat will remain standard for women in their daily busy city lives, I believe women everywhere will love the look of a big floppy shadowy summer hat with cottons and summer silks."

Fragrant Wedding

You'll be an even more fascinating bride if you walk in an aura of fragrance. Place a sachet tablet with your veil, hang a sachet bag on the hanger with your gown. A subtle scent will cling to your wedding costume.

Joanne Wirth to Be Honored

Mrs. Lewis Wrenn will open her home on Niagara avenue Saturday for the first of a series of parties honoring bride-elect Joanne Wirth.

Joanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Massey of Birmingham, will speak her vows with Edward Ellison Jan. 9 in St. James Church, Ferndale. Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Squire Douglas of Ferndale.

Blue Star Mothers Send Cards, Gifts

Mrs. Wilbert Fitzthomas reported on Christmas cards and gifts sent to servicemen in Korea and in this country when Blue Star Mothers Chapter Four met at the YMCA Tuesday evening.

A check was sent to a serviceman and his family, and plans were made to pack Christmas baskets. Officers were elected, and installation is scheduled for Jan. 2.

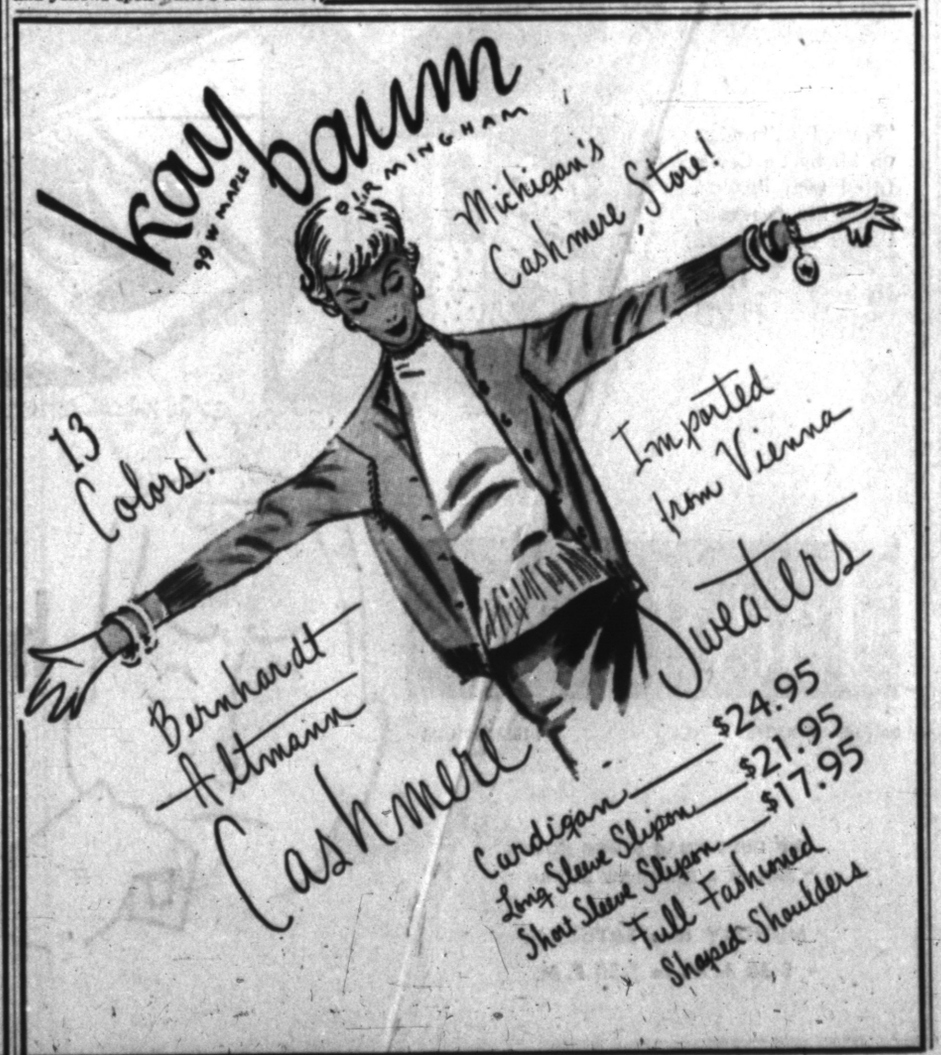

White a Winter Color

White is no longer a summer-only color. This winter, as never before, it's tops in smartness. But it must be kept completely fresh to look really beautiful. Regular use of bluing with hot wash water, made possible by the proper temperature setting on the automatic gas water heater, is insurance against letting ugly gray and yellows spoil white's freshness.

In similar gowns of yellow, orchid and purple were bridesmaids Jean Partin, Mildred Cardinal and the bride's sister, Geraldine Sheffield.

Donna and Brenda Sheffield, nieces of the bride, were flower girls in orchid and pink dresses. All the attendants carried bouquets of carnations tinted to match their gowns.

Flannelette Gets High-Style Look

Once flannelette was the stuff they made grandpa's nightshirt of.

Now this humble cotton fabric, improved with a closer weave in gay prints and carrying the sanforized label to insure it washes without shrinking out of fit, is proving a veritable Cinderella of cottons this winter.

Career girls choose it for inexpensive office dresses in a print that looks like cotton jersey but has none of its bagginess. Gay mother and daughter dresses are styled in stripes and peasant prints.

For TV viewing there are lumberjack plaids for the teenager, and smaller houndstooth plaids made into culottes for mother's lounging. Four to fourteener's wear it in dressier fashions, complete with grosgrain trim, with overjackets, and even a simple jewel here and there.

Thin Cookie Is Praised by Teacher

Miss Uhrhammer Has Choice Recipe for Yule Dainty

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Today's recipe comes from a young home economics teacher, Miss Marilyn Uhrhammer. It is one of her mother's choice recipes that Miss Uhrhammer is using for her own Christmas baking.

Coming from Chicago less than a year ago, Miss Uhrhammer teaches sewing at the high school. She is a member of Pan-Hellenic and likes to entertain her friends.

BELGIUM COOKIES
By Miss Marilyn Uhrhammer

1 cup sugar
1 cup butter or margarine
1 egg
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup nuts

Cream butter or margarine and sugar thoroughly. Add unbeaten egg yolk, then sifted flour and cinnamon. Put into a large pan or cookie sheet and work into as thin a layer as possible. This dough is like pie crust and must be patted into the pan.

Cover dough with unbeaten egg white, then sprinkle with chopped nuts. Bake one-half hour at 300 degrees. Cut into squares while hot.

Silverware Has Legend as Gift

A Christmas gift of silverware such as extra spoons to match your favorite silver pattern is a blessing beyond any doubt, but legend has it that there is very special significance in such a gift.

Tyrolean Christmas legend tells the story of the silver spoon and its mystical power to bring prosperity.

Before church services each member of the family chooses a spoon and rests it against the bowl. After church they rush home to see which spoon has moved into the bowl of milk.

If the spoon is moved, Mary is supposed to have passed by and the spoon placed in the bowl is the one she used to feed the infant Jesus.

The member of the family whose spoon has been so used is blessed by good luck for the coming year.

Southern Holiday Clothes for Summer

NEW YORK (INS) — The woman who shops correctly for a southern holiday wardrobe has done her next summer's shopping as well, says designer Mollie Parnis.

Children Are Entertained

Edith Kalbundie, recreational director of the Oakland County Children's Home, was guest speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the Women of the Moose as the group observed its social service chapter night.

A group of children from the home were guests. They were presented with gifts and entertained during the evening by Mrs. Lyle Streeter and her social service committee.

New members initiated in honor of Mrs. Melvin Smith were Mrs. William Schatz, Mrs. Frank Woolever, Mrs. Elbert Peterson; Mrs. Norman Hipple, Mrs. Paul Chancey and Mrs. Tillie Sanchez.

Mrs. Howard McCandless, senior regent, announced that Pontiac Chapter 360 has been chosen as a hostess chapter for the annual mid-winter conference in this district.

Participating chapters will be Port Huron, Royal Oak, Mount Clemens, Holly and Lincoln Park, and the meeting will be held January 31 in the Moose Temple.

Plans were completed for the annual children's Christmas party which will be held Dec. 19.

Cover silverware with sour cream and let stand for awhile. Then wash, rinse and polish with a soft cloth. This will make the silverware look like new.

Silk Suits Are A Must

NEW YORK (INS)—The silk suit has become a standard "must" in the American wardrobe for both men and women within the past two years. The International Silk Association reports that sales of nub-textured silk suitings has soared to unprecedented heights since they were introduced by top designers in 1952, and more than ever are in demand for 1954.

Such designers as Ben Zuckerman, Jane Derby, Monte Sano and Brigance have given the silk suit and dress-and-coat costume first place in their collection, outstripping wools in numbers. Most of the wools are mixed with silk to add a silky surface that is much in demand.

New Fashion Sneaks In Quietly

Belts Are Disappearing Like Buffalo

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP)— The belt, like the buffalo, seems to be disappearing from the American scene.

This is one of those fashion trends that sneaked in while everybody was looking the other way. In this case, we were all so busy leveling our gazes about 14 inches from the floor to check hemlines we forgot to focus properly on waistlines.

Now there are murmurs of spring along Seventh avenue where most of milady's dresses are born. Even with an air to the ground one rarely hears designers mention hemlines. But princess dresses, semi-fitted sheaths and empire waists are common gossip.

The advance guard arrives any day now in the form of cruise or resort clothes. These are for the people lucky enough to take a midwinter vacation in the South, or those far-sighted enough to buy next summer's clothes this winter.

To save a panic in the belt business, they really aren't doomed to extinction — not so long as separates and full-skirted dresses continue their present popularity.

Vera Maxwell, an outstanding designer who sticks to what she thinks is attractive and lets her customers fall where they may, explained the beltless look this way:

"A semi-fitted princess line covers a multitude of sins in a woman's figure," said Miss Maxwell. "Most women have thought that if they didn't have a good figure they should cinch it in with a belt. That's wrong.

BILLIE FAY-BEASLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kittl of Summitt avenue are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Billie Fay Beasley, to E. W. Emery, son of Mrs. Dorothy Emery of Birmingham. A Dec. 31 wedding is planned.

"I've always had both semi-fitted and snugly fitted princess dresses and coats. But I intend to go on making full skirts, too, and belts are part of that style.

"A semi-fitted sheath dress," Miss Maxwell added as a warning note, "should be made of heavy fabric to look well."

Oleg Cassini, a designer who made his fame in Hollywood, solves that fabric problem by lining lightweight silk princess dresses with pellon, that amazing non-woven material that is being used for stiffening in everything from petticoats to lapels.

"The princess line makes the figure look sexy," said Cassini. "It builds out the bustline."

He builds it out even further with a new designing trick he calls the balcony look. This is a variation of the empire line, which puts the seam under the bustline instead of at the waist.

Cassini curves his balcony dresses snugly past the waistline (without belts) and then adds a front cuff of material just over the bustline. Sometimes the cuff is shirred to make it even more padded.

There is plenty of room for choice in this new beltless look. Fashion is giving women as much leeway as their figures can stand.

Italian Designer Says: Let Hubby Help Pick Clothes

NEW YORK (UP)—Never mind all these complicated rules for picking becoming clothes. There's an easier way, advises Italian designer Micole Fontana.

"Go and buy dresses with your husband," Miss Fontana said, and leaned back on the brocade couch as if she were all through with the subject.

She and her two sisters, Zoe and Giovanna, run a very high-priced shop in Rome where they make clothes for women in half a dozen countries.

"You American women are so lucky, anyway," Miss Fontana finally continued. "I see husbands come in with their wives to buy clothes here and they are so sweet to them. They act so proud of their wives.

"When an Italian man pays court to a woman there is no other equal. But when they marry you—they forget you."

She thinks we're not making the most of this consideration men show us, at least, not when it comes to buying clothes.

"Your husband may not know so much about fashion," she said, "but he knows what is not right for you. If he goes with you that means he is interested in you.

"So you should listen to his opinion. He is more objective. He doesn't just pick a dress—he picks a dress that looks best on you."

Just in case a woman is single, or her husband flatly refuses to set foot in the dress department, Miss Fontana agreed to drop a few more hints. She just completed a four-month trip around the United States, showing her clothes and meeting American customers.

"If you have a pale complexion, or if you are a shy personality, wear pastel colors, not bright colors," she advised. "You will disappear in a vivid color. But if your coloring and your personality are vivid, then you wear bright colors."

"I do not like stiff petticoats under daytime dresses that you wear walking on the streets," she continued. "It is too exaggerated.

"The princess line is very becoming to all women. I don't know what my sisters and I will decide on for our spring designs, but I like the dress without the belt."

Miss Fontana ranks American and Italian women close together when it comes to picking clothes. Both like simple, well-cut clothes for daytime wear, she said.

"The French girl has more of the coquette," she added. "Her clothes generally are less simple."

Keep Them Occupied With Household Junk

Encourage Children to Join Do-It-Yourself Trend

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) — The do-it-yourself trend is a fine thing, says Mrs. Adelaide Field, but the kids should be encouraged to get in on it, too.

Do-it-yourselfing, Mrs. Field claims, is wonderful for children—just as it is for grownups.

What's more, she declares, children can "do-it-themselves" without spending money the way adults do—since children can use everyday household odds and ends like milk containers, bottle caps, soap boxes, buttons and paper bags.

Mrs. Field, a trim attractive young matron from Boston, is an expert on children and other abilities. She's the editor of "Child Life," oldest juvenile magazine being published in the U.S. She's also the mother of three children—Debbie, 11, Martha, 9, and young Martry, 6.

"Children should be encouraged to make things and do things," Mrs. Field explained. "Children love to make things, but today the emphasis is all on passive entertainment through television and radio. Children must have a normal outlet for their creative urges, and it's much wiser to keep a child occupied by making something than by letting him substitute watching TV for play activity."

Mrs. Field has backed up her theory in public and private life. As an editor, she started a "do-it" in her magazine which has brought letters of praise from parents—and children—all over the nation.

At home, she keeps a large paper carton stuffed with things most housewives throw away—empty milk containers, aluminum wrappers from cigarettes, damaged clothespins, mismatched buttons, empty boxes of all kinds—from bandaid to cigar—bottle caps, paper bags and bits of string.

"He cut a square in front of the bag and pasted in his cellophane for a visor, put the straws on top for radio antenna and stuck the foil on his stomach for his radio controls. The bag went over his head and there was his helmet," Mrs. Field explained.

All children can use their creative ability and imagination to make useful gadgets or playthings from household junk, Mrs. Field believes. Some of the items she has seen made, and recommends for children, include bottle-cap coasters and foot-scrapers.

Even if the results defy description and mess up the house, Mrs. Field says, parents should encourage children to do-it-themselves.

Jacoby on Canasta—Samba

Time to Clear Up Rules on Those Nice Red Threes

By OSWALD JACOBY

The red threes still seem to puzzle many canasta players, and that goes double for the samba players.

These cards add both spice and trouble to the various games of the canasta family.

Let's see if we can review all of the rules that apply to red threes.

To begin with, if a red three is turned up by the dealer, it must be covered by another card. The turn-up card that is offered to the first player must be a normal natural card. It cannot be a red three, a black three, or a wild card.

If a red three is turned up and covered, the pack is then "born" frozen.

If you are dealt a red three as part of your original hand, you must put it down on the table at the very beginning of your turn to play.

You then draw a card from the stockpile as a substitute for the red three.

If you have more than one red three at the start, or if the substitute is a red three, you continue to draw until you have 11 cards which do not include a red three.

This process of getting 11 cards at the beginning is not considered part of the play. After you have gone through this preliminary you decide whether to draw from the stock pile or take the discard pile.

In Argentina, where the game of canasta first became very popular, the dealer would give 11 cards to each player but would then pause before turning up a card to start the play.

Each player had the chance to put down his red threes and get substitute cards before anything happened.

Only then did the dealer turn up a card and permit the first player to make his play.

When the game was transplanted to this country, the practice was changed. In the American version, each player waited for his turn to play before he put down any red three that was dealt to him.

Nevertheless, the basic principle is the same: Replacing a red three that was dealt to you does not count as a play but is only a preliminary.

If you get a red three later on in the course of a hand, you are required to put it down on the table immediately.

You draw another card from the stock pile to replace it unless the red three came to you from the discard pile (this can happen only if the dealer turned up a red three, for it is against the rules to discard a red three at any time) or unless there are no cards left in the stock pile.

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

We feature the delivered price of the Buick pictured here to make a point about the big trade-in allowances we're giving today.

The price you pay for the car itself—the local delivered price—is the first thing to look for when you're bargain-hunting.

It's this figure less what you get on your trade-in that determines your real cost—the dollar difference you pay.

That means—keep your eye on the dollar difference. The more car it buys, the better deal you make.

So with our low delivered price and the high trade-in allowances we're giving right now—we think we have a whale of a buy for you.

And when you check into things, we believe you'll discover this:

You get more room and power for your money in this Buick than in any other car on the market.

You get hundreds of pounds more automobile here—more strength in the brawnier frame, more durability in the heavier chassis, more safety in the thicker structural members—than in a long list of cars at this Buick's price or higher.

You also get a lot more in a Buick that the specifications don't show—more fun, more thrill, more comfort, more pride and pleasure.

But why waste another day—with time growing shorter, winter coming closer, and your present car getting older? If you're looking for a real automobile at a real buy in a real deal—come look at Buick right now.

Safer on Flagpole

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (UP) — A steeplejack painted the Statue of Justice atop the Cascade County Courthouse—then fell from a five feet step ladder. Tim Lynch of Youngstown, Ohio, fell on a piece of glass, cutting a leg deeply. He went back to painting the courthouse flagpole, explaining: "— keeps my leg from getting stiff."

Schools Create Words

GREENVILLE, S. C. (UP)—"Cafetorium" and "gymntorium" are words coined by the boom in school construction.

"Cafetorium?" That's a cafeteria that can be used as the school auditorium between meals.

Driving Blind

HAMILTON CITY, Calif. (UP)—John Benson, 32, of Hamilton City, Calif., had a perfect excuse when arrested for driving into another car. He is blind. Confused officers found Benson was completely blind in one eye, had 11/200 vision in the other, was receiving total blind aid from the state, and was being supplied with a "reader" by the federal government so he could attend college.

Triple Check Is Boner

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Indiana pulled a $646.51 boner when it mailed a veteran's bonus to Denver Riley, Indianapolis. In the envelope were three checks totaling $913.51 — two of which were made out to other veterans. Riley turned them over to their rightful owners and cashed his own check—worth $267.

Birth Record Search Finds Two Daughters

Government Payrolls Grow in Montevideo

MONTEVIDEO (AP)—Official figures show that 145,691 Uruguayans are on the government payroll in this country of less than 2½ million inhabitants. Economists, said the figures fail to take into account a great number of part-time state employes.

Moreover, there are 60,000 living off old age pensions as former industrial and commercial employes, and 16,000 old age pensioners from the public services.

The newspaper La Manana said half a million Uruguayans now depend for their living on direct government funds.

SANTA and the FLYING PUP

By LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Willie the pup decides to go along with Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little, who say they are Dreamlins — little creatures who take care of children. They are going to see Santa Claus to ask him help in rescuing their queen who has been captured by Gremlins.

Chapter Six

WILLIE PROTECTS SANTA

Willie and the Dreamlins peered through the snow and darkness. Far away they saw lights.

"That must be Santa's house!" cried Mr. Very Little.

The three of them hurried forward but in a moment there was a call for help. Both the dreamlins were stuck. They were so tiny they disappeared in the snow with every step they tried to take.

"I am large and you are small," said Willie. "I will carry you."

The Dreamlins thought this a good idea. Gladly they climbed on Willie's back. Willie gamboled through the snow. Soon they were at Santa's house.

Willie looked and he could see a humped over, dreadful, black figure stalking through the night straight for Santa's house.

"Santa must be in terrible danger," shivered Mr. Very Little. "What ever will we do?"

Willie thought the best thing to do would be to go back home. But it was too late now. He growled fiercely to hide his terror and threw himself forward. Surprised, the Dreamlins lost their hold on Willie's back and went flying head first into a snow bank.

Willie fastened his teeth around the man's ankle. He roared, Willie growled, the Dreamlins, digging themselves out of the snow bank, screamed.

"Help!" roared the man. "It's a wolf!"

Willie believed that Santa could now take care of himself so he released his grip. Then, to encourage Santa, he began to run madly around in circles barking furiously all the time.

"Stop it! Stop it!" shouted Santa. To Willie's amazement, Santa went over and put his arm around the man. "Are you hurt?" he asked kindly.

"Hurt?" sputtered the man. "I've been eaten alive! For 600 years I have worked for you faithfully and I can't think why you would have a wolf around to attack me."

"It's not a wolf," said Santa. "It is only a puppy. Come in the house now and we'll see what this is all about."

As soon as they were in the house Willie saw that what he thought was a big, wicked man was really a very small, very old, hunched-over dwarf.

"This is Patrick Tweedleknees," said Santa severely to Willie. "He is the oldest worker in Santa Land. Now perhaps you will tell me who you are and why you have attacked this friend of mine."

"Don't let him speak!" cried Patrick Tweedleknees. "Throw him out. I hate dogs!"

Truth to tell, Willie didn't think he could speak, anyway, how could he tell Santa that he merely had been trying to save his life? He stared up at Santa and his eyes filled with shame and sadness and love.

Instantly Willie's sadness vanished. He thought that here surely was the kindest, dearest creature anywhere in the world.

While Patrick Tweedleknees sputtered in disgust Willie licked Santa's boots.

"I am Willie," he said, surprised himself that he could talk. "I came here with two Dreamlins who need your help but they must be stuck outside in a snow drift."

Santa laughed. He and Willie went outside and rescued Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little from the snow. Then they all went back indoors and the two Dreamlins told Santa their story and why they had come.

"How can I help you?" asked Santa sadly. "Christmas is very nearly here. I dare not leave my workshops."

"But if our queen is not rescued the Dreamlins will perish," said Mr. Not Much gently. "Who then will protect the children of the world from the wicked Gremlins?"

Couple Go to Hippodrome, Tottering Marriage Saved

By BILLY ROSE

Last week end, at Fox and Sutherland's General Store in Mt. Kisco, a man walked up to me and said, "If you're Billy Rose, I'd like to shake your hand."

BILLY ROSE

"Help yourself," I said, "but what's the occasion?"

"Ever since 1935," said the stranger, "I've been wanting to thank you for straightening out my marriage."

"Come again" I said.

"You had nothing to do with it directly," said the man, "but chances are my wife would have left me that year if you hadn't produced 'Jumbo' at the Hippodrome."

"How about letting me buy you a soda," I said. "I'd like to hear something nice about myself for a change."

The stranger—let's call him Allen Taylor—introduced himself and said he lived about a mile away from me on Byram Lake Road. . .

As he told the story, a few years before my circus show opened at the Hippodrome, he fell in love with a girl who was clerking in the department store for which he worked. His take-home pay at the time as a buyer's assistant was $45 a week.

Nevertheless, on the theory that two can live as impecuniously as one, they got married.

For the first couple of years, the marriage was a lot of fun. The pair lived in a three-room walk-up a block from the East River, and because they could seldom afford to entertain, they spent a good deal of time together alone, and as the saying goes, loved every minute of it.

The following year, Taylor was promoted to chief buyer at a substantial raise, proceeded to give a good account of himself, and was subsequently offered the vice-presidency of a Fifth Avenue Store.

In 1934, when this store merged with an important competitor, he was made president and given a block of stock.

By this time, the Taylors were living in a duplex on Central Park South and having people in for dinner almost every night. In short, living what some people call "the good life" and others "the rat race."

Their marriage, however, as is often the case, had thinned out as their bank roll had thickened. The high-pressure executive who was always talking business had become pretty much a bore to his wife.

The bridge-playing, Martini-drinking wife had become even more of a bore to her husband. The couple hadn't actually discussed divorce, but they knew it was only a mater of time.

A few days after "Jumbo" opened, Mrs. Taylor phoned her husband one Saturday and said she'd like to see the show, providing, of course, her lord and master wasn't too busy. Allen said he had no particular plans for the evening and would be glad to take her.

As luck would have it, his ticket broker had sold out his down-front seats, and so Taylor stopped at the Hippodrome on his way home to see if he could get a pair at the box office.

When the treasurer told him there was nothing left but seats in the top gallery, the executive started to walk away, then changed his mind and asked for a pair in the last row.

"This'll bring it to a head," he said to himself. "When Mrs. High-and-Mighty finds herself on the top shelf tonight, I'm a cinch to hear from her lawyer."

Well, it didn't work out that way at all. That night, when he led the dressed-to-kill Mrs. Taylor up the interminable stairs to the rafters, she giggled and held on to his hand as if they were on their first date. And when the house lights went out, she leaned over and kissed him as if they were alone in the theater.

"Isn't this wonderful up here?" she said. "Like old times."

All around the couple, candy butchers in clown suits were hawking frankfurters, popcorn, pinwheels, and pennants.

"Buy me a weenie," said Mrs. Taylor. "Instead of putting on the dog, it'd be fun to eat one —with mustard."

When "Jumbo" was over, the pair went to Bill's Gay Nineties, got pleasantly tight, and then went back to their duplex and shut off the phone. . .

"Well, that's about it," Taylor concluded. "We moved out of the duplex a few weeks later and bought the house on Byram Lake Road.

"And for the past 18 years we've never spent a night away from each other. Incidentally, you ought to stop in and see us some time — there's something in a frame over the mantel you'd get a kick out of."

"What's that?" I said.

"The blue-and-white Jumbo pennant we bought in the gallery that night," said Mr. Taylor.

Here's the Score Card

- FABRICS Overall Rating EXCELLENT
- TRIMMING Overall Rating GOOD
- TAILORING Rated EXCELLENT

Thorough cold-water shrinkage. Excellent matching of plaids and stripes. Good off-pressing and under-pressing. Well cut trousers with crotch not pieced.

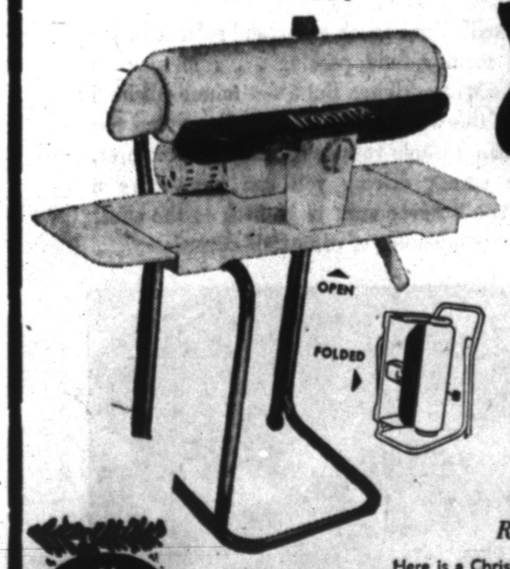

There's more to a suit of clothes than meets the eye. In the case of Botany "Brand 500" clothing, tailored by Daroff, it's reassuring to know that the quality you see on the surface extends right down through the fabrics, the interior construction, and the linings. A nationally known, independent research organization, after extensive tests, recently rated Botany "Brand 500" clothing tops in its price field and one of the best buys in men's clothing at any price! As noted in the score card above, famous Botany woolens come off with top honors. They're woven right in Botany's own woolen mills at Passaic, N. J. The high figures for fineness and count indicate tightly twisted fibers, closely woven. 2x2 ply shows that double threads are used in both warp and weft of the fabrics. 14½ to 15 oz. per running yard of cloth is evidence of full bodied heft. They're facts that prove the rich beauty you see and feel in the fabrics of Botany "Brand 500" suits and coats for men at Osmun's.

Fisher Body Plans Honors for 25-Year Employes

Fisher Body plant here will honor 96 employes, who have completed 25 years of service with the company, at a dinner at Rotunda Inn on Dec. 17.

There are 93 men and 3 women in the group. Each employe will be presented with an engraved watch. Last year a group of 89 employes was honored in similar fashion.

In 1951 watches were presented to 65 employes and in 1950 when the first award ceremony was held 144 men and women received watches.

The 96 employes who are to be honored are a part of a total of 1,136 men and women who this year join Fisher Body's Master Craftsmen group in a series of ceremonies to take place during December in Fisher's 19 plant cities.

This group of 25-year men and women represents a total of 28,400 years of service.

This is Fisher Body Division's fourth such celebration. Service records at the first ceremony in 1950 ranged in length from 25 to 42 years and 1,813 employes received awards.

In 1951, 857 became eligible and last year, 1,073 more joined the group.

With this year's awards, the Master Craftsmen group now has a membership of 4,879 men and women representing 128,378 years of service with the Fisher Body Division of General Motors.

The Fisher Body Company was organized in July 1908. In 1919 General Motors acquired an interest in the company and in 1926 Fisher Body became a GM Division. Body by Fisher is now 45 years old.

Ancient Custom Saves Cognac Bottle for Baby

COGNAC, France (UP)—Here in the home of cognac brandy the newborn baby's first bottle is a bottle of cognac, but he won't ever get to touch it.

An age-old custom of the region provides that the baby's father put aside a bottle of his choicest cognac for the child's communion. The cognac is labeled with the youngster's name, then held for the family celebration years later.

Tourists who visit the cellars of cognac makers and see such names as "Yvonne" and "Jean" on bottles are told that these are not brands of cognac. These are the bottles of the two youngsters in the family.

NEW 1954 MERCURY

With New 161-Horsepower Overhead Valve V-8 Engine

Co-op

NEW STYLING, NEW INTERIORS! Mercury is completely new in design, front and rear—looks wider, longer, lower than ever. Stunning new colors, many new fabrics never before available.

Entirely new performance that makes any driving easy!

DRIVING ease is something everybody wants—and something some people think they're getting in modern cars today. But you don't know what easy driving is until you drive this new 1954 Mercury!

The 161 horsepower of the great new V-8 engine is part of the story—but only part. New principles of engine design give you the easiest, smoothest, safest response you've ever experienced in an automobile—and with greater economy, too. You use only a small part of that boundless energy under normal driving conditions—so you've a tremendous reserve of power instantly available for climbing hills, cruising highways, threading through traffic, anywhere.

Mercury's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension is something no other car in Mercury's price class is offering today. We can tell you how much easier it makes Mercury handle, how much easier and safer it makes cornering, turning, and parking . . . how much pleasure it adds to driving. But a few minutes behind the wheel of this wonderful 1954 Mercury can tell you far more than a whole volume of words and pictures.

For the easiest driving you can buy—drive a Mercury! You'll never want to go back to the effort of driving any other car of comparable price!

ALL-NEW V-161 FOR EASIER HANDLING! Here's the finest engine ever used in a popular-priced car. Its 161 horsepower gives Mercury more power per cubic-inch displacement than any car in its class for easier, safer acceleration . . . and even greater economy.

MAKE DRIVING AS EASY AS YOU WISH—5 OPTIONAL POWER FEATURES! 1) 4-way adjustable Power Seat, 2) Power Steering, 3) Power Brakes, 4) No-shift Merc-O-Matic Drive or gas-saving Touch-O-Matic Overdrive, and 5) Electric Power Window Lifts.

FIRST TRANSPARENT-TOP PRODUCTION CAR—The Mercury Sun Valley is the dream car of tomorrow come true today. Green-tinted plexiglas roof lets you enjoy overhead visibility with the comfort, the wind and weather protection of a regular coupe. The cost? Much less than you would expect. Here's the car that will cause more comment, more excitement, than any other on the road in 1954!

Don't miss the big television hit, "TOAST OF THE TOWN" with Ed Sullivan. Sunday evening, 8:00-9:00, WJBK, Channel 2.

THE LITTLE TREE THAT TALKED — By WALT SCOTT

Triple Amputee Tot Takes First Steps

BOSTON (AP)—Doctors and nurses at Carney Hospital cheered yesterday when 19-month-old Constance di Stasi walked a few steps for the first time in her life.

The child has an artificial left leg, an artificial right foot and an artificial right hand.

Her limbs were amputated 11 months ago to save her life after it was discovered she suffered from a rare condition which affected blood circulation and caused gangrene.

Doctors said she is one of the few triple amputees of her age and perhaps the youngest child to be fitted with artificial limbs.

Methodist Bishops Back Atom Pool Plan

ST. SIMONS ISLAND, Ga. (AP) — The nation's Methodist bishops have lined up solidly behind President Eisenhower's proposal to pool the world's atomic energy resources.

The Council of Bishops, with 53 of the church's 76 leaders in attendance, yesterday interrupted its deliberations to hear Eisenhower's speech to the United Nations General Assembly. The bishops unanimously passed a resolution by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Washington that they inform the president of their support of his atomic proposal.

The council also agreed that a world-wide spiritual revival is penetrating the Iron Curtain. The bishops heard encouraging reports from Bishop Arthur J. Moore of Atlanta, who rsecently visited Yugoslavia, and Bishop Frederich Wunderlich of Germany.

Bishop John Branscomb of Jacksonville, Fla., said the council took under advisement a proposal for a major missionary effort in Korea to restore facilities wrecked by the war.

Hello, Modernity!

Scots Warring Over 'Insult' to Their Burns

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — An Englishman brought Scotland to the verge of a bloodless civil war today.

He has translated Bobbie Burns' poems into English—good, American-style English with none of the "wha's and "hae's" which make the Scots bard tricky reading.

The culprit is William Kean Seymour, 66-year-old retired bank manager, who has never been to Scotland.

He says he thinks the poems read better his way.

Seymour's improvements have set off a storm of controversy in Scotland's newspapers. So far, the battle is roughly even, with half the Scots agin him, and the other half supporting him.

* * *

A typical Seymour line comes from his translation of Burns' famous poem "Address to a Haggis," traditional greeting to the weird Scots dish at annual "Burns Night" suppers.

Burns wrote:

"Fair fa' your honest sonsie face, great chieftain o' the puddin' race."

In Seymour style, it reads:

"Good luck to your plump honest face, etc."

Typical protests in today's letter - to - the - editor columns range from the "I am outraged" of Aberdeen's Frederick Moss to the "De'il tak' me if I ever heard the like o' this menseless blellum o' an Englishman" from Glasgow's Douglas Cargen.

But Seymour has supporters like Mrs. Isobel Webster, who asked: "What if the Bible had been left in Hebrew?"

Abolish Cover Charges

BUDAPEST (UP) — In accordance with the new Hungarian policy, promising a higher standard of living, entrance fees in most Budapest restaurants were abolished. Restaurants with music requested such fees only since they were nationalized in 1948-49. Such fees were never collected before the war.

A Christmas Gift your whole family can play without knowing a note!

ONE FINGER of your left hand presses one numbered button to produce a rich, resonant chord.

the Hammond CHORD ORGAN

You'll be astonished at how easily you can play the Hammond Chord Organ. In half an hour, you'll coax "Silent Night" from the keyboard and it will sound as if you'd been practicing for weeks.

We know, because we've heard scores of people do it. People who have never had time to learn music. People who were sure they couldn't play because they'd tried other instruments and found them too difficult. Young and old, this is what they say: "It's so easy to play the Chord Organ."

Come in and play it yourself. No obligation, just a dramatic demonstration of what wonderful organ music you can play in half an hour. (In private, if you prefer.) $985. Easy Terms.

Photographic Yule Is Fun

Christmas in the world of photography is a world of plenty . . . plenty of choice items, costing plenty of money, giving plenty of satisfaction!

This is a new world too, with more color and realistic three dimensions to make it different from previous predominantly black-and-white, two dimensional picture taking.

Like few other fields, the photo market offers a tremendous range for the gift seeker to choose from — from practical items costing pennies up to thousands of dollars for equipment.

You can start some one off who has never touched a camera before with inexpensive outfits for indoor flash as well as dependable sunshine, and be assured of adequate results . . . or find a brand new gadget for the guy who has everything.

Then again, this horn of photographic plenty can be a disadvantage . . . out of so many things, you can get the wrong sizes, materials or equipment, so some caution, and a knowledge of a camera fan's present size of camera and extent of accessories and personal preferences is required.

For those who want to splurge a little and explore a new world in photography, undoubtedly this year's star attraction is the enlarged realm of stereo or three dimension photography. There are several new stereo cameras, remarkably simple to operate, and all the accessories that go with them to bring the captured color images to real, just-looking-through-a-window-life. It is a field of pictures that has to be seen . . . to be wanted . . . stereo is like a contagious disease — it spreads rapidly by direct contact.

Stereo cameras cost from $100 to $175, with some brand new ones announced in the $40 range. A roll of 20 exposure stereo color film ($4.75, includes processing and mounting) and a hand viewer (from $10 to $20) are the three minimum items to start you off.

One of the biggest booms in recent years has brought "bottled sunshine" to the average amateur photographers in the shape of inexpensive flash equipment for inexpensive cameras. Ranging from $5 to around $15, plus 13 cents for each bulb, mothers and fathers could capture babies and families in the living room or parlor with hitherto impossible ease.

Color, too, has come down to the amateur level. Inexpensive cameras can shoot color film and get fairly good results. Color transparencies have zoomed in popularity and slide projectors for transparencies have zoomed right along as an appropriate and not too purse-straining a gift. They range from around $30 to under $100 for the luxury line.

Then there's the thrilling domain of home movies which needs little previous photographic experience as long as one can read and follow simple directions.

The four minimum items necessary, and the minimum prices (which range sharply upwards) are: camera . . . around $30; color film . . . around $3; projector . . . around $60; screen . . . around $10. All 8mm equipment is less expensive than 16mm size.

Cases of all sorts are mighty handy accessories for every type of camera fan. There are camera cases and gadget bags; filter and light meter cases, negative file cases, slide and stereo slide drawer files; cases for lighting and accessory equipment; cases for pictures (they call 'em albums) and . . . a movie titler case which reads: "A Merry Photographic Christmas to You All."

Terry Moore Going to Korea to See Soldier

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A GI cowboy who rides the biggest range in Texas is the secret reason Terry Moore will spend Christmas in Korea.

The voluptuous actress disclosed today that thousands of lonely soldiers will see much of her over the holidays. But, she adds, "There's one I want to see real privately."

To prove how serious her romance is, she asked that the name of this wealthy soldier, whose family owns a huge ranch, not be disclosed.

"We were in love a year ago," she said. "We had to break up, though, because his family doesn't like publicity—except for their race horses."

Pontiac Issues 74th Taxicab License

The recent issuance of the city's 74th taxicab license means the number of cabs operating in Pontiac has nearly tripled during the past 10 years.

According to City Clerk Ada R. Evans, only 25 cabs were available to help meet local tranportation needs in 1943.

To obtain a permit, cabs and drivers must be approved by the Police Department and city manager's office, she explained. License fee is $20 per year, while a parking space costs $100 yearly.

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (UP)—Construction will start soon on a new $1,000,000 chemistry building at Mount Holyoke college. The new structure will replace Shattuck hall, which was built in 1892.

O-JIB-WA BITTERS GREATLY IMPROVED MY HEALTH

"I certainly want to give credit where credit is due, and therefore want to publicly praise O-JIB-WA BITTERS. The improvement it has made in my health in the past three months is remarkable. Before using your great medicine, I had arthritis in my shoulders, arms and fingers and the pain across my hands was awful. My stomach was way off too. Sometimes sharp pains about tore me apart. I was scared to eat, thinking about the after effects. I am 81 years old and haven't been able to work for three years and continued to get worse. Everything I took failed to help me until I learned about O-JIB-WA BITTERS from a friend who found it good, and urged me to try it. I got some right away but didn't get much results from the first bottle. By the time I had taken half of the second bottle though, I had improved greatly. In three months all the pains were gone except for my hip, but that bothers me from an injury. My stomach also is better and oh boy! I can sure eat good again, with no after effects. When my friends and relatives saw me, they remarked how good I looked and how well I was getting around. I firmly believe that if any person suffering from arthritis or stomach trouble as I did would give O-JIB-WA BITTERS enough time to help them, they would be as pleased with the results as I am. I think that O-JIB-WA BITTERS is the best medicine made."

eyes of the talent seekers who viewed each opening night. They overlooked her for the newcomers. Finally she decided to try her fortune in Hollywood.

She toured the studios. No luck. She was about to head east when she discovered a letter she had mislaid. It was a note of introduction from 20th Century-Fox's New York talent scout to William Gordon of the studio's casting department. Gordon gave her a starlet's contract.

"My experience at Fox was not a happy one," she commented on the set of her second big picture, "The Wood Hawk." "I had bits in three pictures. And I mean bits. You have to look fast to even see me.

"I didn't even work during my last six months there. Every week I hired a taxi, drove to the studio, picked up my check and drove home. They said they would hire me for another year at the same salary. I said no thanks."

Donna took off for Las Vegas, Nev., where she was seen by Max Arnow, Columbia's talent head. He had wanted to sign her before, but hadn't been able to locate her. He invited her to test for "From Here to Eternity," but she lost out to another Donna named Reed.

Then came "The Caine Mutiny" and May Wynn. Our girl tried out for it and won. But her own name had to go.

"Stanley Kramer, the producer, said there hadn't been a May on the screen since the days of May McEvoy and Mae Murray," she remarked. "He also said May Wynn was good because it couldn't be mispronounced.

"He was right. I receive fan mail addressed to May, Mae or Mai and Wynn, Wyn or Winn. It always gets to me."

Some areas on the Gulf and Pacific coasts of North America get more than 100 inches of rainfall a year while many parts of the American Desert get less than 10.

Name Change Brings Luck to May Wynn

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cinderella stories are getting scarce in the movie world, but here's one of a New York girl who changed her luck when she changed her name.

Her real name is Donna Lee Hickey, which has a nice lilt to it. But you know how movie studios are. She was signed to play the feminine lead of May Wynn, the night club singer, in "The Caine Mutiny." Nothing would do but that she change her professional name to May Wynn.

Donna is now stuck with May, but she doesn't seem to mind. "You can call me anything you want, as long as you want me to sing on that dotted line," she told Columbia bosses.

As Donna Lee Hickey, she had only middling success in the show world. The daughter of a vaudevillian, she matriculated at the New York Copacabana when she was 17. Talent scouts passed her up because she was too young for movies.

Pension Stays, Vows Frick

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick declared today that the ballplayer's pension plan "will be abandoned over my dead body."

He made this vow despite the stunning affront in Atlanta last Wednesday when player representatives Ralph Kiner and Allie Reynolds refused to meet with him because he wouldn't allow them to bring their lawyer along.

His statement set the stage for today's joint meeting of major league club owners. They planned to discuss the possibility of either ending the pension plan entirely or turning it over to the players. They will also vote on a number of other player demands.

Hardly anybody feels the owners will dissolve the multimillion-dollar pension plan even though they are bitter at what they term "defamation of our character." Some, however, like Presidents Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Tom Yawkey of the Boston Red Sox have expressed willingness to let the players run the plan themselves.

The owners will consider specifically a resolution passed at the Sept. 29 meeting of the major leagues Executive Council recommending that a committee be set up to study and report on procedure for ending the pension plan.

Pension plan problems were discussed yesterday by the owners in separate league meetings. No decisions were announced.

There were plenty of other developments yesterday. After several days of swapping nothing but hot air, the clubs finally completed a man-sized player trade. The Washington Senators dealt slugging outfielder Jackie Jensen to the Red Sox for southpaw Maurie McDermott and outfielder Tom Umphlett. In a lesser transaction, the Philadelphia Athletics sold veteran second baseman Cass Michaels to the Chicago White Sox for a reported $15,000.

Prospects for more player trades weren't too bright today since several of the managers had left or were on the verge of leaving town. Debate on the pension plan however, continued hot and heavy.

Frick insisted that Kiner and Reynolds had given their assent to the resolution which is aimed at terminating the pension plan and that the players' attorney, J. Norman Lewis, was in the room when it happened.

Frick conceded that the players might not have understood the resolution, which was worded with enough legal phrases to baffle the layman.

Falcons, Wolves Milford and WL All Successful

Troy Starts With Win; DeKane, Murdock and Stone Top Scorers

By JACK SAYLOR

Rochester, Clarkston, Walled Lake and Milford all marked up their second victories of the infant prep basketball season Tuesday night, while Lake Orion dropped its first game in three starts.

Troy opened with a win, while Oxford and Farmington evened their records at 1-1.

Big Arlan Stone again set the pace for Rochester as the Falcons tripped Utica, 46-36. Stone tossed in 22 points, and Don Robertson added 13.

Clarkston started fast and displayed scoring balance in handing Waterford its second loss in a row, 48-34. Dick Johnston and Lanny Leak each hit 11 points, while Ron Schebor and Gordon Cascaddan had nine apiece.

Troy's frisky Colts put on a second half spurt to walk away from Orion, 68-47. Southpaw jump shot artist, Mike DeKane, and Jimmy Murdock, a swift little guard, each marked up 20 points. Joe Mendoza's 13 were high for the Dragons.

Milford also pulled away in the fourth quarter in whipping Fenton, 51-35. Jim Davidson and Bob Stallsmith registered 16 and 13 points, respectively for the Redskins.

Walled Lake saw a comfortable lead all but vanish as Redford Union crept to within a point in the last 30 seconds, but the Vikings held on for a 33-31 victory. WL scored only three free throws in the final period. Don Williams led the scoring with 19 points.

Oxford pulled away from a halftime tie with an eight-point advantage in the third period. Lead stood up for a 39-31 triumph over Ortonville. Jim Van Wagoner and Bill Jarrett each tallied 11 points for Oxford.

Farmington scored its first victory at Wayne's expense, 33-29.

In other games, Van Dyke bowed to Mt. Clemens, 38-36, Ferndale downed St. James, 50-33, Brighton tripped South Lyon, 34-26, Imlay City drubbed Capac, 56-18, and Warren did the same to Clawson, 62-42.

Eaglets Crush Shamrock Five in First Start

Height, Speed, Shooting Ability Bring St. Mary 65-35 Victory

Orchard Lake St. Mary Tuesday night opened defense of its 1953-54 Suburban Catholic League basketball championship with a resounding, 65-35 triumph over St. Michael.

The height, speed and shooting ability that carried the Eaglets to the title last year was very much in evidence in the Orchard Lake quintet Tuesday.

Poles jumped into a 13-7 lead at the 1st-quarter mark and extended the advantage to 31-12 by intermission. Guard Al Przecha and forward Eugene Stasialowicz sparked the winners with 16 points apiece to almost equal the St. Michael team output.

Shamrocks will be idle until after the 1st of the year, while St. Mary meets St. Rita at Hazel Park on Friday.

Faloney's Chances Still Uncertain

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Bernie Faloney's knee is responding to treatment but doctors say they won't know for another week or 10 days whether the star Maryland quarterback will play in the Orange Bowl.

Faloney, injured Nov. 21 in Maryland's victory over Alabama as the Terrapins were completing their undefeated season, will begin exercises to strengthen the injured knee and will continue heat treatments.

Michigan State's right halfback, Bert Zagers, made his first college pass a scoring one. He tossed a forward for the clinching touchdown in a 14-6 win over Michigan.

This Time as Manager

Vander Meer Hopes Return to Piedmont League Will Start Him Back to Majors

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Old Johnny (Double No Hit) Vander Meer is coming back to the Class B Piedmont League he left 17 years ago for the major leagues.

Grinning like a rookie, he said: "I'm tickled to death to get the chance in Richmond."

Vander Meer, now 39, hopes that when he leaves the Piedmont League this time, he'll go back to the majors—as a manager.

The guy who pitched two successive no-hit, no-run games for Cincinnati back in 1938 explained exactly what he expects of a ball club.

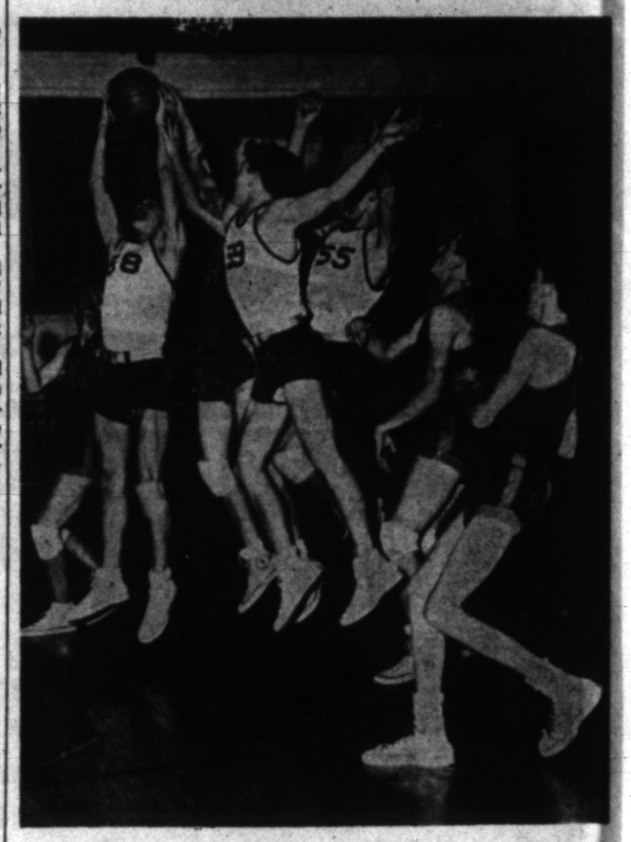

"I expect to have a hustling ball club that won't let down the fans," he said. "I'm not a fellow who will put up with players who aren't in shape."

Vander Meer said he realized he was coming into a hot spot in taking over the Mustangs, the last-place club in 1953. He knows the fans here are disappointed over failure of the city to gain a berth in the Class AAA International League, and he's heard of the verbal fights former managers have had with owner Eddie Mooers.

"I've known Mr. Mooers from the time I played in the Piedmont," he said. "I've been playing ball for some 24 years and never have had any trouble with my manager or club owner.

Vander Meer managed Burlington, Iowa, in the Class B league last year. The team finished last in the eight-team circuit. Vander Meer did some pitching, mostly in relief, and had a 5-4 record.

He'll pitch for Richmond too.

AERIAL SCRAMBLE—Orchard Lake St. Mary's Eugene Stasialowicz (58) leaps high into the air to pull down a rebound from the grasping fingers of four other players. Action took place during Tuesday night's St. Mary-St. Michael basketball opener at Orchard Lake. Other players are Bob Anderson (11), St. Michael; Marty Keller (5), St. Michael; Casey Karczewski (59) St. Mary; and Jim Choike (55) St. Mary. Two unidentified Shamrock players are at right. St. Mary won, 65-35.

'Heap of Money' Is Needed to Lure Patton Into Pros

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Mel Patton says it would take a heap of money to lure him into Australian professional footracing.

Patton, who holds world records of 9.3 seconds in the 100 yard dash and 20.2 in the 220, is comfortably ensconced as track coach at City College here.

Another great runner, Herb McKenley of Jamaica, arrived in Melbourne Monday to cut himself in on the popular Australian sport, and he said he understood that Patton would have been interested if he had been invited.

But Patton, Olympic 200 meter champion in 1948, said in an interview yesterday he is definitely not going to Australia under the terms and conditions he has heard about recently.

Professional running attracts large crowds in Australia, and racers can win as much as $25,000 at a crack by backing themselves with the bookies, Melbourne dispatches say.

Patton said he discussed the matter with McKenley last June and added: "For the amount of money he was talking about then, I might reconsider." But unless his terms were met, the money deposited in his bank and his transportation and expenses paid, "I definitely will not go to Australia."

Patton did not disclose the amount of money being talked about last June.

Lattner Honored

Irish Star Attributes Success to Teammates

By BOB HOOBING

NEW YORK (AP)—John J. Lattner, a pretty fair halfback for Notre Dame, has done football a service not only with his playing ability but with a simple statement that the sport "isn't the most important thing in life."

The two-time All America demonstrated again that a football player can also be an intelligent citizen as he accepted the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college player of the year in New York.

Sure, the good-looking, 21-year-old Chicagoan likes to run, block and tackle. But he doesn't think football is all life has to offer. And he is sincere in attributing his success in the game to his coaches and to his teammates.

"Without a GOOD team behind him there is no such thing as a so-called star," Lattner said in accepting the award at the annual banquet at the Downtown Athletic Club. "It's not false modesty but common sense. I wouldn't have been able to do what I did this year without those teammates and the coaches who made it possible."

Lattner, who never knew anything but two-way play even in the days of two platoons, paid special tribute to the inspirational guidance of his mother as praise was heaped upon him as the best performer in the year that football returned to limited substitutions.

* * *

The impressive affair was a testing one for the 190-pounder who had sparked his team when it most needed him during the season. But in appearance and in speaking it was the same durable John Lattner whom Coach Frank Leahy had called his "bread and butter" ball carrier.

Stanford Leads Major Colleges in Aerial Game

Averaged 179.5 Yards Per Game for Nation's Best Figures

NEW YORK (AP)—Stanford, which narrowly missed getting into the Rose Bowl, got some measure of consolation by finishing the 1953 football season as the nation's passing leader among major colleges.

The West Coast school, which won six games, tied one and lost three, gained 179.5 yards per game through the air, final NCAA statistics showed today.

Indians, thanks mainly to Bob Garrett, nation's individual pacesetter, completed 130 passes for 19 touchdowns for a 56.5 average. Only Utah with 57.8 per cent, Mississippi State 57.1 and Cincinnati's 57.0 finished with a higher percentage.

Defensively, Richmond gave the South its 5th consecutive pass defense crown. The Virginia college allowed 40.3 yards per game on passes and was the only team in the country unscored upon through the air.

Richmond's claim to defensive honors was well-rounded. It also led in fewest completions, 34, least yardage and touchdowns. The Spiders with 32.7 per cent were second to Cincinnati's 31.9 in completion average.

College of Pacific was runner-up to Stanford on passing offense with 171.6 yards a game. Dartmouth was 3rd with 165.9 followed by California 161.2 and Columbia 151.9.

Kansas State set an all-time mark for major colleges by averaging 23.5 yards for each of its 26 completions, six of which went for touchdowns. The old record was 23.3 yards by Clemson in 1950.

Pennsylvania, traditionally a running team, relied more on aerials than anyone else, throwing 24.7 times a game. Maryland a defensive power, was thrown against most often, 215 times.

Auburn was best at intercepting, grabbing 20 of 27 enemy heavies for 15.7 per cent while Louisiana State came up with 25 and 401 yards on interception runbacks.

No Change for Spartan's Munn

MSC Prexy Squelches Report Biggie Would Leave Grid Post

EAST LANSING, (AP) — Michigan State College president Dr. John A. Hannah has denied reports that head football coach Biggie Munn will head the Spartan athletic department next year.

A Detroit radio sportscaster announced Monday night that Munn would become MSC athletic director by July 1, 1954, replacing Ralph Young, present director.

Dr. Hannah spiked the report yesterday.

"There has been absolutely no conversation and no discussions of a successor and there will not be for several months," he said.

Young, who will be 65 in December, 1954, is not scheduled to retire until July 30, 1955, Dr. Hannah added.

Reported succession by Munn was made by Bob Reynolds, sports director of radio station WJR, Detroit. Reynolds also said that when Munn moved up, Hugh "Duff" Daugherty would become head football coach. He is now line coach.

Bone to Enter Texas, Ardmore Open Tourneys

Latest Pontiac product to enter professional golf is Gene Bone, former Pontiac High School basketball and links star now stationed with the U. S. Air Force at Shepherd Base in Texas.

Bone, who turned pro last summer, plans to enter the Texas Open in February and the Ardmore, Okla., Open next spring. He placed 8th in the service "world-wide" tourney in Florida recently.

Gene is a reserve guard on the Shepherd basketball team that was runnerup last year in the all-service tournament in Madison Square Garden.

NIT Dates Are Set

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Invitation Basketball Tournament, oldest of the postseason tourneys, will be held in Madison Square Garden March 6, 8, 9, 11 and 13.

Lesson Cures Flaw for Haas, Brings Title

New Orleans Pro Wins La Gorce Test After Correcting 'Fade'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Fred Haas Jr. said today a lesson he took in New Orleans last Sunday enabled him to win the La Gorce Pro-Member Tournament and pick up $500.

Haas, a professional who plays out of New Orleans, said a lesson by Sidney Danjean "cured a fade in my shots by switching me from defensive to offensive golf."

Haas had 34-35 yesterday over the par 71 La Gorce course, which measures 6,844 yards. He fourputted the par 5 11th hole from 30 feet to take a 7 but finished 1 stroke ahead of his nearest rivla.

International Sailfish Test On in Florida

Canal Zone, West Palm Beach Clubs Tied For Angling Honors

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Eighty-four anglers go out again today to compete in the International Light Tackle Sailfish tournament.

They registered 20 sails in opening competition yesterday, with the Panama Canal Zone Rod and Reel Club and the West Palm Beach Fishing Club tied for honors at 140 points each.

The Atlantic Tuna Club of New Jersey was 3rd with 136 points and 4th with 120 points was the Ocean City Marlin Club.

Reginald Foster, Ocean City, N.J., and Howard Knight, Palm Beach, tied for individual honors with two sails each. Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugger, registered a light sail after playing it for 10 minutes.

Anglers will be idle tomorrow and wind up the tournament Friday. Tuna Club of Avalon, Calif., is defending champion.

Menil Mavraides, Notre Dame guard, kicked 14 consecutive points after touchdown in 1953 to set a modern school record. He then missed his next three in a row.

Otto Still Top Passer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Otto Graham, Cleveland Browns' passer who's been described by every circle from "peerless" to "master" to "unparalleled," continues to lead the National Football League aerial statistics department.

Figures released by Commissioner Bert Bell's office show Graham is on the way to the best season of his pro career by completing 65 per cent of the 234 passes he has attempted in 11 games.

Only Sammy Baugh's mark with the Washington Redskins in 1945 (70.3 per cent) betters Graham's efforts to date. Otto has gained an average of 10.6 yards on each completed pass. He's his receivers 152 times for 2,481 yards and 19 touchdowns. Defenders against Graham have been able to pick off only seven throws lowest number in the league.

Norm Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams has moved into 2nd place with 142 completions out of 260 tries for 2,198 yards, 17 touchdowns and an 8.45 yards gained average.

In the running department, Joe Perry, San Francisco 49ers "masked marvel" who's been playing with a mask because of a face injury, is still the best ground gainer. Perry has rushed 910 yards on 175 carries for a 5.2 average while Deacon Dan Towler of Los Angeles has picked up 795 yards on 142 attempts for a 5.6 average for the Rams.

Veteran Pete Pihos got stuck in the mud at Washington on Sunday and caught only two passes for the Philadelphia Eagles. But he held the lead in that department with 58 receptions to 56 for Elbie Nickel, Pittsburgh Steeler end Pihos leads in yardage gained with 969.

AAU Reinstates Speedway King in Good Graces

Ruttman, 24-year-old driver from Linwood, Calif., was suspended by the AAA last August for "participating in an unsanctioned event" in Gardena, Calif.

The contest board, which is the ruling body of the AAA, reinstated Ruttman at its annual meeting, saying he had served a just penalty.

Ruttman, then 23, was the youngest driver to win the 500-mile classic. A short while later, he was seriously injured while racing in Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Ruttman said he raced in Gardena to see if he was still able to drive. He is eligible to drive in next year's 500-mile race.

Even if N. Y. Yankees Start to Slip, Writer Can See No Worse Than a Second-Place Finish for Them

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—There are three things that can happen to Casey Stengel and his Yankee machine next season.

2. It can gradually start to disintegrate, narrowly get by or be barely beaten.

3. As a result of age and a lack of incentive caused by too many victories, duplicate the One-Hoss Shay and suddenly go to pieces.

We would offer the mild prediction that No. 1 or No. 2 will happen. We look for the main contention to come from the Red Sox who have a young club that will be well seasoned in 1954.

In addition to Mel Parnell and Maurice McDermott, much depends on how the rest of the pitching staff works out. There are fine possibilities on hand if they only come through. Infield and outfield are fine on defense, but both could stand more hitting.

Yankees are due to slip a trifle, but will they slip far enough to meet Red Sox, Indians or White Sox moving up? After all Eddie Lopat, Vic Raschi, and Allie Reynolds are far from being limber-armed kids. They have been on the trail a long time.

Reynolds and Raschi will be 35 next season. Lopat will be 36. Whitey Ford is young. Others are of doubtful quality as pennant winners.

But how long will Cleveland's Big Three hang together? They are fine pitchers—Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn—but they haven't won a flag yet.

White Sox need more than they've had for the past two years. Good ball players have always been hard to get. They are harder than ever now, with the draft taking away some 10,000 kids who are plucked just at the wrong time for a baseball career.

The Yankees still have Yogi Berra, top catcher in the American League. With Jerry Coleman back and Billy Martin greatly improved, they have a good infield, plus a good outfield—especially if Mickey Mantle returns ready to play.

* * *

If new slugging strength develops at first base, they will be harder than ever to stop. I think the No. 1 or 2 slot will be the order of the Yankees' finish this coming season.

Christiansen's 11 Interceptions Lead Detroiters

Team Has Picked Off 33 Enemy Aerials for 55 Yards, 2 TD's

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP) — Halfback Jack Christiansen of the Detroit Lions has scored only six points this season. But he's one of the most valuable players on the team.

Lions, driving for another National Football League championship, don't pay Christiansen to score points. His job: Stop the opposition from scoring.

Christiansen, a former sprint champion at Colorado A & M, is the leader in the Lions' effective pass defense — perhaps the best in the league. Christiansen has picked off 11 enemy passes, just one shy of the team record and three off the league standard.

Working with Christiansen in the Lions' defensive backfield are Yale Lary (four interceptions), Jim David (four), LaVerne Torgeson (three), J. R. Smith (two) and Joe Schmidt (two). This is the unit which has held the opposition to 11 touchdown passes while the Lions have made 16.

Pro football essentially is a passing game and much of the time the pressure is all on the defensive backs. For instance, 46 per cent of the plays worked by Detroit's opponents this season were passes.

That means about half the time the Lions were faced with the task of trying to stop such passing artists as Norm Van Brocklin, Y. A. Tittle and George Blanda.

Each of these passers present a different problem. Blanda, for instance, throws most of his passes under 25 yards. Van Brocklin, on the other hand, likes to pitch them over 25 yards—but is very capable of throwing shorter ones.

Tittle not only can pass long or short but is an effective runner as well.

To combat these passers, the Lions' defensive backfield must operate as a unit. Christiansen has intercepted the most passes, 11, but it's certainly not a 1-man show.

Schmidt, for instance, is a linebacker but on many occasions quickly diagnoses plays and helps out the secondary.

As a team, the Lions have intercepted 33 passes, running them back for 555 yards and two touchdowns. This is one reason —probably the biggest — why they're within one game of clinching a spot in the championship game.

Improved Spirit Coincides With Browns' Better Record

CLEVELAND (AP)—Otto Graham said in training camp last summer, "our spirit is better this year."

In the spirit department, the Cleveland Browns usually manage to do pretty well, even when they are taking their lumps. And last year the Browns had a rough season.

For a team coached by Paul Brown, that is. They not only last the championship game in Detroit, but dropped four of their 13 league games. This year's improvement may be due in part, as one player recently hinted, to the fact Brown got rid of "a couple of grumblers."

With the possible exception of a few weeks last year, the Browns always have had it in the clutch. The 1950 team made a specialty of that. And five times that season, Lou Groza supplied them with the necessary field goals to win.

Presumably ther is a direct connection between the Browns' spitir and the one thing everyone will tell you about Paul Brown: "He has an intensive desire to win."

Although he still calls his players "kids," he has a reputation for treating them like men. He uses adult subterly rather than juvenile expletives. He has been known to priase or needle one player, when everyone within hearing distance knows the words are meant for another.

It's Time Out!

'Excuse my curiosity, but just what are you fellows fishing for?"

Tartars' Sports Will Be Studied

DETROIT (UP) — Clarence B. Hilberry, president of Wayne University appointed a committee Tuesday to study the school's "entire program of intercollegiate athletics."

Hilberry did not mention football specigically. But it has been a long-known fact that there has been unhappiness on the campus over unsuccessful Titan gridiron teams, especially since the sport gets the biggest share of the athletic budget.

The school president said the purpose of the study was to develp a proper "balance" among speculation that he indicated putting more emphasis on another sport, such as basketball, instead of football.

Wolverines Set Scoring Record, Rout Valparaiso

Michigan Squad Dumps Indiana Five, 100-62, for 2nd Win

ANN ARBOR (AP) — For the 3rd time in 1953, Michigan's Wolverines broke their own basketball scoring record. Last night they beat Valparaiso (Ind.) University 100-62.

Fast - breaking Wolverines opened with a quick 6-0 lead and kept on widening the margin. At the half Michigan led 53-35 and even a 4th quarter flood of reserves didn't hold it under 100.

It broke the previous high score record set against Purdue in March of 1953 by one point. Wolverines won that one 99-81.

Earlier Michigan's high had been recorded in a loss, also in 1953, against Indiana 91-88.

Last night's win was the 2nd straight for the Wolverines and also their 1st home game. Michigan guard Jim Barron led the scoring with 22 points and Wolverine center — 6-foot-8 Harvey Williams—was right behind with 20.

High man for Valparaiso was another 6-foot-8 center, Don Bilke with 13.

Some 3,000 Michigan fans, not used to high scores until coach Bill Perigo began teaching Michigan teams the fast break, went wild as the last tally was made in the closing second to hit the 100 mark.

KALAMAZOO (UP) — Sophomore guard Dick Shenenberger will be lost to the Western Michigan College basketball team for six weeks because of a broken bone in his left hand he suffered in a week end game, it was reported today.

Duck Season Produces Strange Tales; Hen Pheasant Lands in Decoy Spread

By JAMES O. CROWE
Associated Press Outdoor Writer

The just-ended duck season has its quota of strange tales, but the one about the hen pheasant that landed in a decoy spread laid out primarily for ducks probably tops them all.

It is related by Bill Fletcher of Detroit, chairman of the migratory bird committee of the Detroit Sportsmen's Congress.

On a sneak-shooting expedition, Bill and his partner spotted a strange bird settling down among his blocks. They made the sneak in their camouflaged boat up to the decoys. Instead of the usual explosion of a duck from the decoys, they found the hen pheasant floundering.

Bill and his partner released the bird on shore.

He says that while hunting deer in Ogemaw county, he saw another hunter down a spikehorn only to find it had a 1952 tag in its ear.

The hunter affixed his own 1953 tag to the antlers.

The speculation is that someone shot the buck when it was a fawn last year during the three day any deer season. the fawn apparently lay still long enough to get the 1952 tag slipped through his ear, revived and then took off.

He found that 37 states now permit year-around fishing for most panfish. There is no creel limit on most panfish in 21 states, he said.

Of the states still restricting panfishing, most do so to protect trout, Van Mater found.

A total of 23 states have year-around seasons on bass and 19 have dropped their size limit on bass.

Only one exception to the trend is where rectictions continue in an effort to prevent over-fishing.

Gordie Charles reports from Traverse City that the fall rainbow fishing season which just ended was very successful, especially in the last month.

5 Ex-Oakland County Preps on Olivet Team

Three Pontiac athletes, one from Keego Harbor and one from Farmington are included on the Olivet basketball roster this winter.

Officers Nab 427 Game Law Violators

MARQUETTE — Field officers reported making a total of 427 arrests in the Upper Peninsula during deer season, the conservation department reports.

Forty-seven deer, killed illegally, were recovered from the woods, along with one bull moose.

At the Straits of Mackinac, a preliminary count showed that 10,444 deer were taken south on state ferries through the end of the hunting season. This figure is expected to change only slightly in final figures. Also, 321 bear, 22 coyotes, four wolves, 36 bobcats, and 11 foxes have been brought south.

Montana Pilot Is Fined Hunting From Airplane

COLUMBUS, Mont. (AP)—A Montana pilot was convicted and fined $50 in a justice court for hunting deer with an airplane.

Pilot Robert Downs of Molt appealed to the Stillwater County District Court. There a jury convicted Downs and recommended a $500 fine. Testimony included claims that Downs flew along coulees, flushing deer for other hunters. A Montana wildlife official said it was the first such court case in the state.

Herd Reduction Supporters Put Blame on Mild Weather

By JACK PATTERSON

With the 1953 deer kill totaling up to only about half of last year's, opponents of the conservation commission's "thin 'em out" policy can be expected to raise a cry of "I told you so." With figures to support their dire foreboding, anti-doe shooters will have some new ammunition to support their charges that a deliberate thinning out of does is a quick step to the ruination of deer hunting in Michigan.

PATTERSON

Supporters of herd reduction, on the other hand, will be quick to point out that unseasonable weather for the greater part of the season probably had as much to do with limiting the kill as any other single factor.

Actually, there is something to be said in favor of either view, since both factors had a bearing on the reduced kill. There were fewer deer this year in most areas of the state, largely because of last year's doe season. And there is little question but what the kill would have been greater had the weather been colder.

So there is no basic conflict between the two views, though there is in the attitude of the viewers.

Important question is whether the reduced kill this year is an indication that Michigan deer hunting is going to pot. Facts wouldn't seem to support that conclusion, if by deer hunting one means going out and bagging a respectable buck.

Principally as a result of thinning out last year's oversize herd, as nearly as it can be judged from available information, bucks taken this year were in better condition than last year's and almost uniformly bigger and heavier than their age counterparts a year ago.

This would indicate that the conservation commission's plan—which incidentally, is not an arbitrary attempt to provide fewer targets for Michigan hunters, but an effort to provide bigger and better, if necessarily fewer bucks — is working. It would seem shortsighted in view of this apparent quality increase to drop the program now because the '53 kill was off.

As far as the weather as a factor in limiting the deer kill is concerned, there is little the hunter can do about it as such. But there seems to be a trend to warmer fall weather and there is increasing feeling that the deer season might well be shoved back to Dec. 1 if this sort of thing is going to continue, as appears likely from long term weather guesstimates.

Would suit us all right, but could be expected to run into a lot of opposition from tourist associations, merchants' associations (such a deal might cut unwelcomely into the Christmas shopping season) and other outfits whose members, not unreasonably, like to eat as well as hunt deer.

So just as a guess, sunburn lotion, swimming trunks and all that sort of thing will continue to be part of the well equipped Michigan deer hunter's impedimenta for the foreseeable future.

State Publishes Fishing Bulletins

Three New Pamphlets Are Now Available to Anglers

LANSING — Now that hunting seasons have, for the most part, passed from the 1953 scene, sportsmen will have chance to turn to angling for a pleasant change of pace.

And for those fishermen who like to read about their sport, three new bulletins were recently made available through the conservation department's fish division at Lansing.

One, called "Fishing in 12 Michigan Lakes Under Experimental Regulations," contains background research results that helped bring about changes in panfish regulations so that fishermen may now angle longer and take more panfish than before. Price of this pamphlet is 50 cents.

Another concerns "Production and Harvest of Bait Fishes in Michigan," and is a detailed report of a study made on bait-type minnows. Price, 25 cents.

Third booklet is a long, exhaustive study of a type of burrowing mayfly and of its importance to lakes in southern Michigan.

Later Start for Deer Season Asked in State

By MORT NEFF

A recent meeting between Gov. G. Mennen Williams and representatives of southern Michigan Sportsmen's Clubs brought forth some interesting suggestions for changes in our fish and game regulations — changes that were designed to better fit today's conditions. "Maybe Michigan's climate is getting warmer as time goes by," said one representative. "At least, for the last couple of years a good many warm days early in the deer season have caused serious meat spoilage for the hunter whose venison is left hanging in camp. So how about a deer season that starts with Thanksgiving weekend and runs the normal two weeks from that time?"

NEFF

It's true — a lot of venison did spoil this year, and somewhat less in 1952. So here's an idea that might appeal to lots of hunters!

Ambitious Robinhoods have an angle on pheasant hunting in metropolitan suburbs now closed to hunting in southeastern Michigan. Admittedly the ringnecks are doing considerable garden damage in these areas, and there is little or no control factor in their population.

Archers want the privilege of shooting them with slow-trajectory, short-range "dum-dum" arrows for a period of one week each fall.

Bowmen also asked the governor to expand the bow-fishing regulations for carp and garpike to include Great Lakes waters.

* * *

In the good old days wild turkeys gobbled their way through Michigan woods furnishing good sport and better meat for the hunter. Now there's a suggestion on the Governor's desk urging our Conservation Department's game division to reestablish the wild turkey. A few sportsmen's clubs are more than mildly interested: they're planning to start a wild turkey farm of their own, planting the resulting stock in suitable areas.

Three Regions Register Drop in Kill of Birds

Mild Weather Plagued Duck, Goose Hunters This Year

LANSING — Pte. Mouillee, Fennville, and Swan Creek waterfowl areas all registered sharp drops in total birds killed this year, the conservation department reports, indicative of the mild weather that has plagued duck and goose hunters this fall.

Though recent censuses showed no lack of waterfowl in the more northern areas, at the three popular southern points hunting success slumped from 25 to 50 percent.

At Pte. Mouillee, more than 7,700 hunting permits were issued during the season, slightly fewer than last year. Hunters shot a total of 5,817 ducks and coots; last year hunters shot 9,969 birds of all types at the area.

However, hunters who shot black ducks, mallards, and blue-winged teal kept pace with 1952, big slump in take appearing in coots and diving ducks.

Swan Creek reports a slight decrease in hunting pressure this year, with 8,471 permits being issued. But hunters using the popular southwestern goose concentration point spent more than 25,000 hours in recreation, and also took home 695 geese.

Of interest here is the report that hunters fired more than 57,000 shells in taking their 695 birds.

At Fennville, about 1,000 fewer hunting permits were given out this year than the 10,700 given last year. Hunters bagged 156 geese compared to 351 last year, 59 ducks compared to 29 last year and 269 pheasants compared to 181 last year.

Two Deer Slain at Rose Lake Area This Year

LANSING — Hunters killed two deer at Rose Lake wildlife experiment station this year, 12 miles from Lansing, the conservation department reports.

A few days later his friend R. Meissner, also from Lansing, was hunting at the station and bagged an eight-point buck that weighed 111 pounds. Like Watson's deer, Meissner's was 1½ years old.

Good Luck Turns Bad

LAKESIDE, Ariz. (AP) — After tramping the countryside for several days in search of deer, Larry Hudson found a buck grazing in his back yard when he returned home. Hudson shot the buck then rushed into the house for a knife. When he returned to dress the buck some body had stolen it.

Conference Called on Insect Control

LANSING (AP) — The high command in next year's war against forest insect pests will hold a strategy conference next week.

For the 4th year, the experts will seek ways to control bugs and insects which become nuisances in state forests.

While the forest tent caterpillar has been the big target for several years, the state conservation department said it also has its guns trained on such pests as the pine sawfly, European pine shootmoth, spittlebug and the jackpine budworm.

Experts will attend the meeting from the University of Michigan, Michigan State College, Department of Agriculture, Federal Bureau of Entomology and the Conservation Department.

Irish Loom as '54 Powerhouse

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Notre Dame followers, never conceding that Maryland outranks the Irish as the 1953 mythical national football champion, can get solace by looking ahead to next year.

Many experts predict the 1954 Irish will be even more terrific and well equipped to extend the unbeaten streak that now stretches through 12 games, including the final two of 1952.

Missing from the backfield will be John Lattner, twice All-America, and Neil Worden—two of the finest backs in Notre Dame history.

Three regular linemen return, end Paul Matz, tackle Frank Varrichione and guard Ray Lemek. Quarterback Ralph Guglielmi and left halfback Joe Heap have another year to go.

In all, Leahy will lose only eight players out of his first three teams. True, six of them are regulars, but the backlog of replacements is outstanding.

Despite backfield versatility, which should keynote the Irish next fall, main problem could be in replacing Worden at fullback. John Gaffney, a prize 1952 freshman from Chicago was injured most of this season and his status is doubtful.

There is a flashy freshman fullback, Frank Pina, coming up. He was an all-stater at Mt. Carmel in Chicago, coached by Terry Brennan, now Irish freshman coach.

Sophomore Don Schaefer, 185, of Pittsburgh, has been pegged as "another Lattner." Listed originally as a quarterback Schaefer can play all backfield positions.

Speedy Dick Keller of Toledo and Dick Hendricks of Danville, Ill., are other halfbacks with quality. Also in this sophomore group is Dick Washington, 195-pound Negro from Vanderbilt, Pa. He may see plenty of action if he stays eligible scholastically.

LATTNER SCORES AGAIN—Johnny Lattner, Notre Dame's All-America halfback, holds the Heisman Trophy, awarded annually to the outstanding college football player of the year in the Downtown Athletic Club in New York Tuesday. Trophy was presented officially to Lattner at the organization's dinner last night.

Even Contest at Cleveland

Castellani, Turner Tilt Tonight Rated Tossup; Bout Goes on TV

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rocky Castellani and Gil Turner will step into the ring at even odds tonight for published ring ratings.

Before deciding the odds were even yesterday, bettors had made slight favorite of Turner, who is ranked No. 4 contender behind another Philadelphian, Joe Giardelli.

The 10-round bout will be televised over CBS.

It's scheduled for 10 p.m. EST.

Turner, 23, has won 41 and lost 3. So far this year he has won 8 and lost 1—on points to Giardello April 7.

Jensen Pleased to Join Boston Red Sox in Trade

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Outfielder Jack Jensen, who in 1954 will play for his 3rd American League team in four years, is "glad it's Boston. It could be a pennant contender."

Washington, his home team the past two years, finished 5th last season. Jensen jumped from University of California football and baseball stardom to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League to the New York Yanks.

He was traded to the Red Sox yesterday.

Ebert Leads Buckeyes to Win Over Billikens

ST. LOUIS (INS) — Ohio State's abidextrious center, Paul Ebert, scored 26 points tonight to lead the Buckeyes to 84-83 basketball victory over St. Louis University in St. Louis.

Ohio State held a steady lead over the Billikens for most of the game and it wasn't until the final five minutes that the home team found its bearings but its rally fell short.

It was Ohio State's second win of the year against no defeats. Forwards Dick Boushka led the St. Louis offense with 20 points.

Big Ten Reflects TV Dissatisfaction

CHICAGO (AP) — Dissatisfaction with the present television policy of the NCAA is expected to be reflected in opening sessions today of the Big Ten's annual winter meeting.

The conference's TV committee supported a program of regional or sectional screenings last year without success. A similar proposal is thought to be under consideration this year.

Rangers Would Be Lost Without Hergesheimer

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers haven't had much to talk about this National Hockey League season. But what's been said has centered around Wally Hergesheimer, their 26-year-old right winger.

"I don't know what we'd have done without him," manager-coach Frank Boucher said today. "Almost all of his goals have come when we needed them the most."

Rangers are home to the Detroit Red Wings in one of tonight's league games. The Montreal Canadiens are at Toronto in the other.

Hergy, who has 10 goals (4th highest total in the NHL), has been a life-saver for the 5th-place Rangers—particularly during the past week.

Last Wednesday, his goal with eight minutes left to play gave the Rangers a tie with Chicago. Saturday, he scored the lone marker as the New Yorkers lost to the Black Hawks 2-1. And Sunday, his climactic tally with 28 seconds remaining deadlocked Toronto 3-3.

"He reminds me a lot of Aurel Joliat (a star with Montreal two decades ago)," Boucher declared. "He's dangerous from outside and inside and for a little guy, he's pretty good on defense."

Hergeisheimer, himself, attributes most of his success to advice from his brother Phil, who played with Chicago and Boston some 10 years ago.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

CASE — First Step Timing

Move With Push-Away — Top bowlers, like golfers, practice relentlessly to perfect timing and hold it. In golf you have timing when the clubhead and entire left side move around in a smooth pivot (body turn).

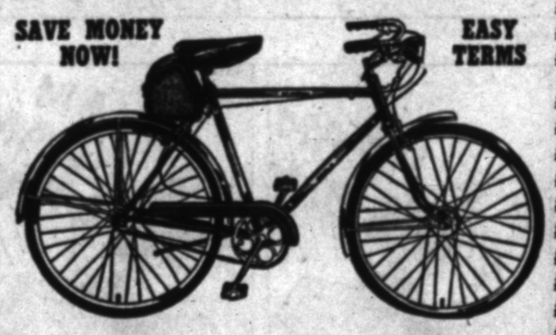

In bowling, the first step must be minutely coordinated with the push-away of the ball. Regardless of whether you hold the ball chest high, waist high, or below the waist to begin with, you get timing only if you let your body go forward with the push-away.

As sketch of star Joe Norris shows, the upper half of the body moves as the ball is pushed out and first step is taken. Like the body turn in golf, the forward action of shoulders, arms and foot is stimultaneous — one motion. Take this tip from Norris: "Be natural. Don't follow a prescribed plan. Work into your own particular form and timing."

Remember that some of our top bowlers look rather awkward, as accepted style goes, but practice has given them a grooved swing and power.

Nixon Knows When, How to Smooth Rough Waters

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

Vice President Richard M. Nixon has been the man "on the spot" practically ever since he first set foot in his airplane on his globe-circling fact-finding tour.

His trials are not over.

At the moment, he finds himself in the midst of a potentially explosive situation over the question whether the United States will or will not enter into a military pact with Pakistan at the southern border of the Soviet Russian empire.

Next, he enters an equally troublous situation in Iran where relations just now are being restored with Britain and where rioting and unrest provide daily proof that the fight between Britain and Iran over nationalization of Iran's oil industry still is not settled.

It is a credit to Nixon's ability to drop the right word in the right place that at no point in his long tour has his departure been followed either by a blast from government or newspapers, particularly in those sensitive Far Eastern lands where even the best of Western intentions are viewed with suspicion.

Among the situations facing the Vice President have been:

The Philippines, where he arrived in the midst of a bitter presidential election campaign in which a charge of U. S. interference was an issue but in which he managed to stay on friendly terms both with incumbent Elpidio Quirino and eventual winner Ramon Magsaysay.

Formosa, where the Nationalist Chinese government of President Chiang Kai-shek was openly suspicious that the U. S. intended to cut its aid to the Nationalists and perhaps give in to British urging that the U. S. recognize Red China.

Korea, where the United States and the Communists were locked in debate over the Korean political conference and President Syngman Rhee threatened to bolt at any moment.

Japan, where the Japanese still were to be convinced they should heed U. S. urgings to rearm against communism.

And finally, India and Pakistan.

For weeks India has been upset over reports that the United States intended to sign a military pact with Pakistan, perhaps including a deal for military bases such as the recent agreement with Spain.

Now Nixon is in Karachi, Pakistan, where he will discuss American aid with Pakistan Premier Mohammed Ali.

Against the background of their talks will be not only India's attitude but also Russia's recent blustering note in which she said American bases in Pakistan would be a threat to Russian security.

Dispatches from Karachi indicate that United States use of Pakistan bases is not even being considered, except in the possible event of war.

However, it is possible that the United States eventually will agree to supply some arms to the Pakistan army which is rich in manpower but poor in equipment. Meanwhile, the United States undoubtedly will try to make Pakistan see the advantages of a Middle East defense pact which might have its beginnings in a pact between Pakistan and Turkey.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Miss Julia Miller, 87, wh olists her occupation as "retired farmer," is nearing the goal of her 25-year study by mail for a degree from the Stat eUniversity of Iowa.

Cancer Report Rocks Tobacco

The decline of the tobaccos ran to between 1 and 4 points in active trading.

The fall coincided with publication of reports before a science symposium that cigarette smoking can cause cancer of the lung.

Railroads were higher. Coppers were lower. Other divisions were steady or narrowly mixed.

GM Puts Bonds on Market

$300 Million Issue Expected to Be Quick Sellout

General Motors put 300 million dollars in bonds on the market for public sale today. Underwriters predicted an immediate sellout.

The bonds are 3¼ per cent 25-year debentures priced at 100½ and paying 3.22 per cent interest. They mature in 1979.

This was the first time General Motors had financed itself by publicly. The proceeds are intended for capital expenditures and working capital.

The bonds were offered through a nationwide underwriters syndicate of 298 members headed by Morgan Stanley & Co.

Heavy subscribers included pension funds, commercial and savings banks, and educational and able institutions, the underwriters said.

Also participating were foreign investors, particularly in Holland and Switzerland.

Since 1949 General Motors has had no debt securities outstanding. In 1949 the company retired a note issue of 125 millions.

GMC Truck Sets Coach Record

30,000th Diesel Rolls Off Production Line at Local Division

The GMC Truck & Coach Division has produced its 30,000th Diesel-powered GM coach, which comprise more than one-third of all coaches in common carrier service, it was announced today by Philip J. Monaghan, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the division.

The 30,000 figure, highest production total of any manufacturer in the coach business, includes both city and inter-city models. The GM Diesels first went into production in 1938 when 132 came off the assembly line, and have steadily increased in volume until current production is at an annual rate of nearly 3,000 units.

Although GM Coach manufactures some gasoline - powered units, of relatively small passenger capacity, production of the GM Diesels makes up from 90 to 95 per cent of its volume, Monaghan said.

GM Diesels now are in the service of 671 operators, including such companies as Greyhound Corporation, which alone has 5,500 GM units, the National Trailways, and the transit systems of virtually every major city in the United States. More than 2,200 have been shipped to overseas operators in Mexico, Cuba, South America and the West Indies.

New Findings May Be Doom of Housefly

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new scientific attack on the housefly, aimed to hit him in the intestines, was reported today to the Entomological Society of America.

First steps in the offensive are to find out how the fly converts his food into energy and cell-building material. When the facts about housefly digestion are determined, insect fighters will know more precisely about where and how to do the hitting.

Dr. Bernard Greenberg of the University of Kansas reported the pepsin discovery. Up to now it has been taken for granted, Dr. Greenberg said, that insects do not have pepsin.

The new finding means that there is less difference between flies and the higher animals than previously realized. It means also that the housefly may be vulnerable to new and different forms of chemical attack.

Another similar finding was reported by Dr. W. Chefurka, of the Canadian government experiment station at London, Ontario. Dr. Chefurka said he had determined the steps by which houseflies break down carbohydrates. This involves a whole series of chemical changes, one or more of which may constitute an invitation for some other scientist to utilize some simple substance as a lethal weapon against the pest.

These and related researches have been brought about by the realization that DDT and other new compounds are not going to exterminate the housefly. Flies have become increasingly resistant to these chemicals.

In another report to the society, Dr. George C. Decker of the Illinois Natural History Survey said the battle against insects is far from won.

Despite the new chemicals, Dr. Decker asserted, the total weight of insects produced each year exceeds the weight of all other animal life produced in the same time.

Dr. Decker said insects did more to reduce the yield of corn in central and southern Illinois this year than did drouth. The dying of lawns and pastures sometimes has been attributed to drouth when the real cause was insect damage, he asserted.
