Father of 10 Dies in Crash

Other Mishaps Claim 4 Lives on Weekend

James Goodman Killed as Car Hits Abutment Near Commerce

A 35-year-old father of 10 children was killed in an auto accident here early Sunday morning and a 42-year-old Garden City man died in a dive from a raft at Union Lake last night.

Two other county residents were killed and a Plymouth man died in an accident in Farmington Township.

The auto victim, James E. Goodman, of 5411 U. S. 23, Brighton, was killed when his car struck a bridge abutment on Commerce road about three miles east of Milford. His wife, June, 29, is in Pontiac General Hospital in good condition.

Oakland County Deputy Sheriff Homer Kelly and Marion Bauman said Goodman attempted to pass a car driven by his brother, Paul, 30, of Inkster. They were en route home at 2:30 a.m. after a wedding party for Paul.

Kelly said the two-lane road narrows down at the bridge so that only one car can safely pass. He said Goodman's car struck the abutment on the driver's side and careened into a shallow ditch beyond.

Waldo Scott, of 28939 Kruatar, Garden City, died after a dive from a low raft last night about 7:30. A companion, Richard Carrow, 26, of 20115 Parkville, Livonia,

Launch Probe of Plane Crash Where 28 Died

KLM Liner Plunges Into River Shannon Shortly After Takeoff

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland (AP)—The Dutch and Irish governments launched an investigation today into rescuers' delay in reaching the KLM Royal Dutch airliner which plunged into the River Shannon yesterday. The disaster claimed 28 lives—11 of them American.

Of the 28 persons who survived the crash of the New York-bound Super Constellation, 15 were Americans. It was the second crash of a KLM airliner in 13 days. A New York-to-Amsterdam Skymaster went down in the North Sea Aug. 23. All 21 aboard, including 12 Americans were killed.

Richard O'Sullivan, chief air accident inspector for the Irish government, and C.A.F. Falkenhagen, SHANNON, Ireland (UP)—Among the Americans surviving the crash of a Dutch airliner Sunday were Dr. and Mrs. James Lammy of Berkley, Mich.

Lammy and his wife, Edna, had boarded the plane at Shannon. represented the Dutch government are directing the inquiry. Seven of the plane's 10 Dutch crew members, including the pilot, 49-year-old Capt. Adrian Viruly, escaped.

The bodies of 25 persons trapped inside the plane were recovered, but two bodies are still missing. An American woman, Mrs. Caroline Platz, of the Bronx, New York, died of injuries in the hospital after being rescued.

Among American survivors were a St. Petersburg, Fla. family—Dr. and Mrs. Charles Farrington, 1534 Amery Way and their two children, Charles, Jr., 12, and Charloita, 16.

Another survivor, Dr. Ernest H. Bettman, of White Plains, N. Y., boarded another KLM plane later yesterday to hurry back to his hospital duties, officials said.

Survivors gave this version of the grim hours after the crash: When the plane hit the water, the cabin was suddenly filled with overpowering gas fumes. Crewmen ordered the women and children out through the emergency exit and into two inflated rubber rafts alongside.

With oilskins for sails and paddles as masts, the two rafts reached the Shannon's soft mud banks.

Crewmen jumped out to test the bank, then ordered the passengers to follow. Slogging through the mire—sometimes waist deep—the bedraggled group made their way in the direction of the airport lights.

Other U. S. survivors were: Mrs. Elizabeth Carlin, 2645 14th Ave., San Francisco, Calif.; Richard F. Hart, 1340 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, Ill.; James and Edna Lammy, Berkley, Mich.; Ceres B. Mayer, address unknown; Albert I. Reinfield, 187 Great Hill Road, South Orange, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Swallow, 5750 Waterbury Circle, Des Moines, Ia.

Today, they were assigned chaperons who will take charge of their daily routine and coach them in preparation for the rigorous rounds of competition, which will come to a climax Saturday night when the field is trimmed to 10 girls for the nationally televised final judging in huge Convention Hall.

The girls come from all walks of life. Among them are debutantes, school teachers, farm girls, college students and radio and television performers.

Their composite measurements are: Height 5 feet 5 1/2 inches; weight, 125 pounds; bust, 35 1/2 inches; waist 23 1/2 inches; hips 35 1/2 inches; age 20. Brown hair and blue eyes predominate.

The tax rate is now scheduled to reach a maximum of four per cent each for employee and employer in 1975. It remains at the present two per cent each until 1960, with step-ups between 1960 and 70. Self-employed persons pay at 1 1/2 times the employee rate.

The first story in the series tomorrow will deal with payment of social security benefits to survivors of wage earners who died before Sept. 1, 1950, who were not insured under provisions of the law in effect at the time of death. Other articles will cover:

1. Increase in monthly checks for people now receiving social security benefits.

Naval Ensign Is Victim of Wanton Attack

State Department Says American Craft Was on Peaceful Mission

WASHINGTON (A P)—Two Russian jet fighters shot down an American Navy plane off Siberia Saturday in what this government termed a "wanton and unprovoked attack" which apparently cost the life of one Navy ensign.

In a rapid-fire exchange of notes last night, a few hours after the incident was announced here, Russia said the American plane opened fire first and Washington rejected that claim as "completely without foundation."

"The U. S. Navy aircraft was on a peaceful patrol mission over the high seas some 40 miles from the Siberian Coast when it was attacked without warning and destroyed by two Soviet aircraft," a State Department protest to the Soviets said. "At no time did the U. S. Navy aircraft open fire on the Soviet aircraft."

However, in a first hand account of the crash, one of nine surviving crewmen, Ordnanceman Ernest L. Pinkovich of Alameda, Calif., said he managed to bring into action the patrol plane's 50 caliber machine gun.

Talking to newsmen in Japan, Pinkovich said: "I fired about 150 rounds. It was mostly in hope of scaring them off because it was a bad position for aiming. But they didn't scare."

In Tokyo, the Navy said the attacking planes were MIG-15 fighters firing 20 mm. cannon.

Nine of the patrol bomber's 10 crewmen were rescued after a night in the waters of the Sea of Japan. The remaining one, Ensign Roger Henry Reid of Alameda, Calif., was feared lost. The Navy in Tokyo said there was nothing to indicate he had been shot. It was presumed he was trapped in the navigator's compartment when the plane was ditched.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) demanded that this government retaliate by breaking off diplomatic relations with Russia, but President Eisenhower was represented as believing such a step would not be in the best interests of the country.

Moscow said the American craft, a two-engine propeller-driven Neptune, had violated Russia's "air space" and had opened fire. Washington said the Russian planes opened fire first, and that at least

Students Set for Opening of Public Schools Sept. 9

School bells for Pontiac school children begin to ring on Sept. 9.

According to J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent of schools, classes begin then for high school students but elementary and kindergarten pupils will only have to register in the morning.

The first full day of classes for the elementary grades begins Sept. 10 and kindergarten will open Sept. 13.

Over 17,000 students are expected for this year's term, representing an increase of 1,000.

"No half-day sessions will be necessary. With the addition of new classrooms at strategic spots, we are hopeful we can carry the student load through without disrupting full-day schedules," said Cox.

Four permanent class rooms have been added at Bagley; two at Whittier; one at Owen and one at Malkin.

Temporary and portable type classrooms have been erected at McConnell, Wisner and Wever Junior High.

Six hundred and forty teachers will staff Pontiac Public School classrooms, said Cox.

Pontiac's Catholic schools, St. Michael's, St. Fredericks, and the new St. Benedicts, are also scheduled to open this week.

Sister Dolores, S. S. J., principal of St. Michael, said today that 700 students are expected for opening day on Sept. 9.

St. Fredericks will greet its elementary students Sept. 9 for preschool announcements and secondary pupils on Sept. 10.

According to the principal, Sister Mary Christine, I.H.M., school officially opens on Sept. 13.

Enrollment figures, she pointed out, will be between 850 and 875, an increase of 50 to 75 over last year.

"Two more rooms have been made available at the school and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

From AP & INS Dispatches
Michigan, despite air and ground road patrols and activated National Guard troops, recorded the highest number of traffic fatalities in the nation during the first 48 hours of the Labor Day holiday weekend.

In addition to the traffic deaths, at least five persons lost their lives at Michigan beaches or in streams and one man was electrocuted.

U. S. Air Show Ends Today

One Killed in Try for New Speed Record at Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The 1954 National Aircraft Show winds up today on a note of tragedy with a program dedicated to the memory of a pilot whose plane exploded in a "ball of fire" as he tried yesterday for a new speed record.

Maj. John L. Armstrong, 32, died in a crash shortly after the Air Force announced that his name had gone into the record books with a new record of 649.302 m.p.h. over a 500-kilometer closed course.

The major, a Californian who lived at Fairborn, Ohio, set that record last Friday. It exceeded the old record of 607.1 m.p.h. set last May by Capt. Anders Westlund of the Swedish Air Force.

He was making of preparing to make—Air Force authorities said they still were not certain which—a try for a new record in the General Electric trophy event when his F86H Sabrejet crashed 10 miles north of the aircraft show at Dayton's Cox Municipal Airport, Vandalia.

Ike Says Free Nations to Form Atomic Pool

DENVER (INS)—President Eisenhower announced dramatically today that the United States and several free world allies will proceed immediately, without Russia, with his plan to put the atom to work for the benefit of mankind.

The historic step implements the President's proposal before the United Nations last December for an international atomic pool to turn the awesome destructive force of the atom into an instrument of world peace.

Mr. Eisenhower coupled the surprise Labor Day announcement with a renewed invitation to Russia and other Communist countries to participate in the project, providing they approach it with "good will."

The Soviet Union has thus far scorned the proposal, though Communist representatives engaged in lengthy conferences with the United States on the plan.

The President made the dramatic disclosure in a radio-television

Press Series Will Explain New Social Security Benefits

(Editor's Note: so that readers of the Pontiac Press may gain understanding of the changes in the social security law, a series of eight articles on specific parts of the law will begin Tuesday in cooperation with the local social security office. An introductory article appears below.)

The sweeping amendments to the Social Security Act, which became law Sept. 1, will affect virtually every family in Oakland County, according to Rex A. C. Atwood, district manager of the Social Security Administration here.

"The protection of old-age and survivors insurance is now extended to every nine out of ten families," Atwood said, "and payments to both future and present beneficiaries have been substantially increased."

"August payments, to be received Sept. 3 by about 15,000 Oakland County residents, will still come under the old law and will total $710,000.

"But the total for September, computed under the new setup, will be about $802,300, an immediate increase of $92,300 or about 13 per cent."

Persons now getting monthly payments will automatically receive the increases without applying for them, Atwood declared.

"These amendments to the law preserve the contributory and self-sustaining principles of the system plus the principle that benefits are related to the level of the worker's earnings," Atwood stated.

"All benefit payments and program administration costs are paid from a special fund composed of social security taxes paid by employees, employers and the self-employed.

The tax rate is now scheduled to reach a maximum of four per cent each for employee and employer in 1975. It remains at the present two per cent each until 1960, with step-ups between 1960 and 70. Self-employed persons pay at 1 1/2 times the employee rate."

The first story in the series tomorrow will deal with payment of social security benefits to survivors of wage earners who died before Sept. 1, 1950, who were not insured under provisions of the law in effect at the time of death. Other articles will cover:

1. Increase in monthly checks for people now receiving social security benefits.

2. How to qualify for the provision in the law which permits figuring benefits by not counting as many as five years of little or no earnings.

3. The new test of retirement to be eligible for monthly benefits after Jan. 1, 1955.

4. Extension of coverage on Jan. 1, 1955 to:

Farm owners or operators; farm workers; domestic employees; professional people, except doctors and lawyers; and state and local government employees.

5. How benefits are figured.

6. How periods of disability may be treated so that benefit losses may be prevented.

7. How much in wages and self-employment income is taxable under the law after Jan. 1, 1955.

Presbyterian Pastor, Wife Get Stained Glass Window

At the morning service of the First Presbyterian Church, yesterday, Dr. and Mrs. William H. Marbach were surprised with a fund for the installing of a stained glass window at the church in their honor.

The south window on the west side of the sanctuary was set aside by the Session of the Church as an honor to the Marbachs, last February, on the occasion of the 130th anniversary of the First Presbyterian Church.

The completion of this window will be the last of six new stained glass windows on the sanctuary floor level and the third new window on the balcony level.

The design for the window will be chosen by Dr. and Mrs. Marbach. The central panel on the main floor is to represent the ideals of the pastor. One of the side panels is to honor the pastor's wife as shepherdess. The other main floor panel and the balcony level panels will feature various aspects of the ministry as selected by Dr. Marbach.

Dr. Marbach came to the First Presbyterian Church in February, 1931. He has officiated at more than 1,000 weddings and many hundreds of funerals and baptisms.

Outside the local congregation, Dr. Marbach has served on many Presbytery and Synod Committees. He is a member of the University of Michigan Presbytery and Corporation and of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.

Mrs. Marbach has been active in the work of the local church, youth organizations and the Women's Association, as well as in the activities of the Detroit Presbyterian Society and the organization of Presbyterian Ministers' wives known as Kenjecky.

The Marbachs have two sons, William of Elmhurst, Ill. and Robert of Evansville, Ind.

As a student, Dr. Marbach traveled in Palestine. In 1937, he sailed on the Queen Mary for a 10 week study pilgrimage in Europe with Dr. Sherwood Eddy's "American Seminar," a group made up of educators, editors, ministers and men in public life who wished to make a study of the situation in Europe.

They visited and were entertained by leaders of the countries in London, Paris, Warsaw, Geneva, Berlin, Vienna, Moscow and Leningrad.

Prior to coming to Pontiac, Dr. Marbach was pastor of the Odell Ave. Presbyterian Church in Marshall, Mo., a chaplain in World War I, pastor of the State St. Presbyterian Church in Jacksonville, Ill. and of the River Forest Presbyterian Church in suburban Chicago.

Free Nation A-Pool Sought by Ike

to participate in the pool. A presidential aide who supplied the names of these countries, which were not listed in Mr. Eisenhower's brief speech, said other free world nations are expected to join up shortly.

The plan creates an international agency which will, in the President's words, "foster the growth and spread of the new atomic technology for peaceful use."

Atomic materials, including raw uranium and the fissionable U-235, will be contributed to the common pool from our own stockpile and those of participating nations.

A staff of experts will be mobilized to apply atomic energy to the needs of agriculture, medicine and other peaceful activities.

The plan was first conceived by President Eisenhower as a new approach to the problem of checking the atomic arms race which threatens to destroy the civilized world.

He did not refer directly to the Soviet Union today, but said: "We hope that no nation will long stand aloof from the work of this agency."

Russian Jets Down U. S. Navy Plane

one of them scored hits which set the Neptune's wing afire and forced her down.

The State Department located the incident as being about 100 miles east of Vladivostok and 44 miles from the Siberian Coast. That would be well outside Russian territory. It said the shooting occurred at 6:18 p. m. local time Saturday—9 p. m. early Saturday morning by Washington time.

The incident was announced first by Asst. Secretary of Defense Fred A. Seaton.

Moscow quickly got on the official record, summoning Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen to the Kremlin to hand him a note which declared that the U. S. plane had opened fire when two Russian craft approached with the aim of "proposing that it should leave immediately the air space of the Soviet Union." The note said the Russian craft "were forced to open fire in return."

The Russians contended there had been previous incursions by American planes into Soviet territory, demanded that steps be taken to prevent any in the future, and urged this government to deal severely with those responsible.

Washington promptly fired back a rejection and a note of its own. "The U. S. government protests this wanton and unprovoked attack on a U. S. Navy aircraft engaged on a peaceful mission over the high seas," one note said.

"The U. S. government protests that measures be taken to subject those responsible to immediate and proper punishment. The U. S. government reserves all rights to claim damages for loss of property and lives and for other circumstances resulting from this illegal attack by Soviet aircraft."

Knowland, the Republican leader in the Senate, sent off a telegram to the President's vacation headquarters at Denver saying:

"Just another note from our State Department to the Kremlin hierarchy will not impress these uncivilized rulers nor the Russian people who were the first victims of Communist tyranny that this new attack upon an American plane confirms Communist arrogance and aggression to a point where the breaking of diplomatic relations is justified."

"I strongly urge that the Soviet ambassador and his staff be sent home."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen he knows of "no change" in the President's view, voiced at a recent news conference, that the nation's best interests would not be served by breaking diplomatic ties with the Soviets.

7th Fleet, which is charged with guarding this island from invasion.

Most informed observers voiced doubt that the Reds would at this point risk provoking U. S. retaliatory action against mainland bases by bombing Formosa, which so far has escaped attack.

In Denver, Colo., President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, told newsmen the President was keeping in close touch with the situation at Quemoy.

Hagerty said there has been no change in orders to the 7th Fleet to protect Formosa. But he declined to say whether those orders are broad enough to call for U. S. protection of Quemoy.

Red China's broadcasts continue threats to invade Formosa.

Life Guard Saves Boy From Drowning

A possible drowning at Cass-Dodge Park Four was averted yesterday when an alert life guard rescued a three-year-old boy whose head was being held underwater by a life jacket that slipped below his waist.

Ronald Luxon of 2225 McLain, Lincoln Park, was pulled unconscious from the water by Dale Girdler of 178 Ogden Rd., according to Waterford Township Police Chief Frank Van Atta.

Artificial respiration by Girdler and the Waterford Township Fire Department revived the boy who was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. The boy was on an outing with his family and friends when the "Mae-West" type preserver slipped down, throwing the boy's feet into the air.

Ironing Board Gives Railroader New Career

CONNEAUT, Ohio (UP) — Several years ago, Grover McNulty, a railroad car foreman, made a miniature ironing board for his daughter to use in the cramped quarters of Good Samaritan Hospital in Cincinnati, O., where she was in training to be a nurse.

The board, but 9 1/4 inches wide and 26 inches long, was fitted with a loop on one end to slip over a doorknob, or hook, and a supporting brace that fastened against the door, or wall, to give it support.

It was so popular that his daughter, Patricia, asked her father to build a dozen for friends. He did this and later, a friend suggested he get the ironing board patented.

A patent was issued in 1951 when it was found that, though two somewhat similar types had been made, none other was like his. It can be folded and carried in a suitcase.

A firm here began turning them out (the Haudi Press Ironing Board) and has had considerable success in marketing them.

McNulty, who is soon to retire from the Nickel Plate Railroad, has experienced as his own salesman with results that are causing him to think "seriously of going on the road as a salesman for my own product after I retire from my railroad job."

Couple Lives in Doll House

Free-Lance Artist, Wife Occupy a 17-by-10-Foot Structure

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — As a little girl, Mrs. Zelka Loomis dreamed of owning a doll house. But she never thought she'd live in one as a grown-up.

She and her husband, Robert, a free lance artist, occupy a 17-by-10-foot structure on the estate of the late Dr. Charles E. Briggs. The house has a nine-foot wing for a kitchen, and the ceilings are six-feet high — in the middle of the room. The bedroom is upstairs under a steeply angled roof.

The bathroom, equipped with a miniature tub, has a four-foot ceiling.

Loomis, who is 6 feet, 2 inches tall, said he has no trouble living in the doll house ... "except I have to shave on my knees."

The house once belonged to the Briggs children, who played in it when they weren't in the adjoining 30 - room mansion, with its swimming pool, greenhouse and ballroom. The mansion has been cut up into apartments since the estate was sold.

Loomis said he remodeled the doll house as a bachelor apartment.

"That was before I met Zelka," he said. "When we got married we found that the doll house could adapt itself to us, or at least we to it."

Mrs. Loomis was born Zelka Skladana in Czechoslovakia. After World War II, when the Russians took over the Czech underground helped her through the newly-welded iron curtain into Austria and thence into Switzerland. She spent eight months there and then went to Italy.

She came to the United States under the Displaced Persons Act. She met her husband soon after arriving and they were married about a year ago.

Mrs. Loomis speaks several languages, and is secretary to the director of a language school.

Her husband doesn't paint at home, because he wouldn't have room to swing a brush. He has a studio in the big house.

Says Mrs. Loomis: "We have a little apartment stove in the kitchen, and although everything is small, we just love it."

"And we certainly save on fuel." Small as it is, the doll house has one convenience usually found only in mansions. It's a real fireplace with a six-foot-square opening that dominates the whole living room.

Civil Service Checks Operate in Two Cities

CHICAGO (UP) — Philadelphia and Detroit have set up safeguards to prevent civil service applicants from putting in "ringers" to take their examinations.

According to the Civil Service Assembly, Philadelphia records the fingerprints of the candidates twice — once before they take the written test and again before their physical examination.

Detroit's police department asks each applicant for information that only he would be apt to know about himself.

French Robbed of Wine by High Evaporation Rate

COGNAC, France (UP) — There's a thief in this tiny town that nobody has ever caught — and nobody ever will. In fact nobody has ever seen him.

The thief of Cognac is evaporation, which robs the producers of their cognac brandy at a rate equivalent to more than 25,000 bottles a day during the process of aging by oxidation.

Nothing can be done about it. For it is this costly process that endows cognac with the flavor, bouquet and color which has made it known throughout the world.

Pontiac Youth Named Ruler

Karen Hoff Receives Scepter, Large Crowd Attends Affair

ROME—One of the most elaborate and colorful coronation ceremonies in the 22 year history of Romeo's Peach Festival was staged last night in the high school auditorium.

Against a background of stars and stripes, Karen Hoff, of Pontiac, was officially crowned queen of the three day celebration, by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The replica of the flag was formed by 67 young ladies of the community. They carried large stars and strips of red and white crepe paper to provide a fitting backdrop for the coronation, which featured a patriotic theme this year.

Local attorney E. A. Jacob acted as master of ceremonies and introduced Ralph Garrison, president of the Peach Festival Assn., who welcomed more than 800 spectators to the highlight of Sunday's program.

After receiving the crown from the governor, Queen Karen was presented with a scepter by the 1933 Queen, Nancy Seeman, of Utica.

Six little girls portraying future queens were then crowned by Gov. Williams. They had entered with their escorts following the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by Mrs. Roy Borland.

The Rev. L. G. Warren of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation and final benediction. Music for the evening program was provided by the Romeo High School band, under the direction of E. C. Ojala.

Other events which marked Sunday's activities included the arrival of 56 out-state pilots at the annual rendezvous of the Dunes Patrol at the Romeo Airport. Over 200 persons attended the breakfast with the flyers.

Donald Wake, of Detroit, won top honors in the boy's rooster race, staged at 1 p.m. Today's activities included the children's parade in the morning, and the giant floral parade this afternoon. The three day celebration is scheduled to close tonight with the Mummer's Parade, on Main street.

The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization estimates that 25 million tons of fish are caught each year throughout the world.

COMMUTING COMMODORE—Frank H. Dexter, Lake Orion's boat commuting apothecary, is retiring this week, after ten years of going to work either by his 18-foot boat, or ice skates in the colder weather. He began his car-less travels during the early years of World War II, when cars and tires became hard to get. He figures he's saved 8,000 miles by his direct, across the lakes travel during the past decade.

Easy Traveling for Orion Man Getting to Work a Cinch With Good Boat, Skates

By HAZEL A. TRUMBULL
LAKE ORION—Frank H. Dexter has "laid down the law." The Lake Orion apothecary, who for more than a decade chose an 18-foot boat and a pair of ice skates as his mode of to-and-from work travel, decided to retire from his mortal and pestle this week.

"Everybody drives an auto to work. I found it was cheaper and more interesting in a boat. You have few traffic problems and there are no 'stop' streets. Instead of arriving at the job a jumble of nerves, you're completely relaxed," related the white-haired pharmacist.

Dexter began his unusual method of getting to work during the early war years when an automobile was hard to get. For the first few years he used only exclusively, but later supplemented them with an outboard motor.

"Boating was much cheaper and certainly more interesting, and being able to go as the crow flies, I have saved almost 8,000 miles in this past decade," he said. Living on a long peninsula at 454 Summit Dr., Dexter would have had to drive at least three miles via the road. To the village dock (where he anchored his boat each day) it was two miles by boat.

When the ice covered the lakes around the islands of Squaw, Bellevue, Victoria, Pine and the Isle of Romance, he donned his skates and skinned his way to work, cutting the trek a half mile by a short cut.

Little children living year-round along his course refused to go to bed until they heard his clear whistle as he passed in the evening.

The state dairy float will be one of the parade's features at 1 p.m. Saturday, under the direction of Robert Andre and Roy Marion. Other amusement for the kiddies will be available.

Mothers Club to Pick New Officers Tuesday

BROWN CITY—The Band Mothers Club will elect new officers at its meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Leone Brooks. Plans also will be considered to operate a refreshment stand at the Farmers Festival Sept. 9-11, a project sponsored by the mothers each year for the benefit of the high school band.

'Last Supper' Is Painted by Davisburg Woman, 84

DAVISBURG — In a country home that sits on a ridge overlooking a green valley lives an 84-year-old woman who has been called "The Grandma Moses of Michigan."

But unlike the celebrated old woman of Eagle Bridge, N. Y., Eve Ferrier took up her first palette and brush at the age of 10.

"It was at Bear Lake near Mantec," she recalls. "An old German professor who came there to find a peaceful setting to paint discovered that I had some talent. He did what he could to develop it, and down at the old Detroit Museum of Art, they finished it off."

Since then Grandma Ferrier estimates she's turned out enough paintings to fill her whole house, and then some.

"I've sold a few," she says, "but most of them I've given away." With the indifferent eye of a critic, Mrs. Ferrier judges her work strictly on its merits. She's as quick to point out flaws as she is to praise a good painting.

Her favorite work is a forest scene she calls "Trapper's Paradise." Of this she says: "I'd like to shake hands with the artist that could beat that. It's too good to sell; I'm going to keep it."

Thirteen years ago Mrs. Ferrier's home was in Bloomfield Hills. But so many people were coming to her studio that she had little time to paint.

So she moved to Davisburg. People still seek her out, but here she has found the peaceful atmosphere she longed for in the city.

As mother of seven and great-grandmother to five, her life has been full. At 84, she has just completed a large painting of "The Last Supper."

"I figured now was the time to do it," she says, "if I was ever to do it. Now it is finished."

Holly Cyclist, 12, Hurt When Turning Into Auto

HOLLY—Mary Jane Spring, 12, of 15111 N. Milford Rd., was admitted to Goodrich General Hospital Saturday with head injuries after she rode her bicycle into the path of an auto.

Driver of the car, Mrs. Bernice Lowe, 49, of 5448 Belford Rd., told state police the child was riding on the left hand side of the road, and apparently didn't see the oncoming car, and made a turn into its path.

Red Withdrawal Fails to Placate Worried ROKs

SEOUL (U)—A Peiping radio report that Red China plans to withdraw seven divisions from North Korea "certainly doesn't bring us any comfort," South Korean Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai said today.

"A Chinese pullout is quite different from the withdrawal of American troops," he said in an interview. "The Chinese can come back at any time at any moment they choose."

The United States is withdrawing four divisions from South Korea this year.

The Peiping announcement indicated that from 42,000 to 48,000 men will be pulled back across the Yalu River. This would roughly parallel the U.S. manpower reduction since Chinese divisions are much smaller.

Army Protects Germ Workers

Claims No Fatalities Have Resulted From Tests With Bacteria

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (U)—Army officials said today there never has been a fatal accident among scientists handling deadly germ materials in any of the Army bacteriological experimental laboratories.

The Army never has disclosed how many scientists and others are engaged in these secret experiments, but officials said it would be correct to say there are "dozens of scientists, at least," at work.

The main laboratory is at Camp Detrick, near Frederick, Md. Another is at Pine Bluff, Ark. Testing facilities are at Dugway, Utah.

The no-fatalities statement was made in connection with a display here of Camp Detrick safety devices. It was set up for the International Congress of Clinical Pathologists which opens Monday in the Shoreham Hotel. Scientists from many nations will attend.

An Army press release said the American Journal of Public Health found in a survey in 1951 that 1,342 persons had been infected with dangerous organisms they were studying in laboratories. It said 39 died.

The Army announcement said none of these cases occurred at Camp Detrick, although deadly bacteriological materials are handled there—probably more kinds than in any other laboratory.

Pentagon officials then said in response to an inquiry as to whether any deaths had occurred since 1951 that there never have been any accidental deaths in the Army bacteriological laboratory program.

The officials said Detrick scientists found ways of performing an especially hazardous laboratory procedure—the opening of vials containing infectious dried cultures. These organisms are sealed under high vacuum and when the containers are opened they literally exploded into the air.

The Detrick scientists developed a safety cabinet similar to those used by workers handling radioactive materials. A scale model is displayed.

Long rubber gloves extend into an airtight cabinet. The worker can place his hands in the gloves and safely manipulate objects inside the cabinet, visible through a glass panel.

The bacteria are filtered out and safely disposed of before reaching the free air. For extra safety an ultraviolet air lock—a germ killer—separates the cabinet's interior from the outside air.

Labor Day

It is fitting on this day set aside for tribute to the Nation's workers that we recall the origin of the observance.

The idea of an annual Labor Day first was proposed by PETER J. McGUIRE of New York in 1882. McGUIRE was the founder of the Carpenters' Union and he helped SAMUEL GOMPERS organize the American Federation of Labor.

Though he had a strong liking for certain socialist doctrines, McGUIRE deserves credit for fighting side by side with GOMPERS to prevent the Socialist Labor Party from taking over the AFL.

Twelve years after the union pioneer first suggested such a holiday, President CLEVELAND in 1894 signed the act of Congress making the first Monday of September Labor Day.

A safe guess is that if the New Yorker could be here to observe the 60th national Labor Day he would include everybody who works in his definition of the word Labor, and that means all of us. He also would find that under our system of political liberty and private capitalism we have forged the world's highest standard of living.

No Labor Day should be allowed to pass without mention of the splendid work the two great labor federations are doing in combatting Communism. With very few exceptions the unions of this country are made up of patriotic members.

Spadework at Manila

Advance indications are that results of the eight nation conference at Manila will be more in the nature of a foundation than a complete defense structure for Southeast Asia.

As far as the United States is concerned, the conference obviously will fall short of what Secretary DULLES hoped. His original goal was a united front of Southeast Asia's free nations including Indochina. But now with Northern Viet Nam lost to the Communist Vietminh he can hope to salvage only what is left of Indochina.

However, Laos, Cambodia and Southern Viet Nam will not sign the treaty nor will Malaya. But all of these states will be considered part of the territory to be defended against Communist aggression. It is unlikely that Formosa and Britain's Crown Colony of Hong Kong will be considered part of that area.

Previous reports that SEATO, to be born at the Manila conference, would be the Asian counterpart of NATO are incorrect. Under the latter an armed attack on one member would be considered an attack against all. The Manila formula is more likely to be on the order of a joint military council pledged to consult and take action when needed.

Thus SEATO, lacking the Asian neutralist nations, India, Burma, Indonesia and Ceylon, would hardly be an Asian NATO. Instead, it could become one in a series of regional arrangements, perhaps the germ of an Asian NATO.

Federal Workers Insured

Although he is years behind private business in this matter, Uncle Sam at last has bought the world's largest group life insurance policy for his 2,000,000 civilian employees.

This step forward in employee relations also benefits members of the Cabinet and Congressmen. It was made possible by an act passed by the 83rd Congress and signed into law by President EISENHOWER. Under it the insurance may be carried by some 250 eligible private companies.

Eight of these companies, licensed to operate in all States, were qualified to administer the policy. But they chose the largest, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. for that task.

Employees will be insured in amounts based on their salaries. Each biweekly pay period 25 cents will be deducted for each $1,000 of insurance. In addition the Government will contribute half that amount toward the total premium.

We can think of no sound argument against this insurance. It should reduce the handicap under which Government has to compete with private business for civilian workers and tend to reduce employee turnover. True, it will increase Government operating cost but that should be far outweighed by benefits to employees.

Football Contest

$300 in U. S. Bonds Goes to Somebody Making Entry

Daffynition
 Football: A game that will help us get our minds off the Detroit Tigers.

This column has been urged to request its readers to submit a shorter name for The Oakland County Pioneer and Veterans Historical Foundation, which holds its annual meeting Wednesday at the Moses Wisner Home, when it is proposed to adopt a briefer title. If you have any such suggestion, either come to the meeting at two o'clock, or communicate with this column before that hour. A previous request brought a number of suggestions, but none were deemed suitable.

Ye football fans—and there appears to be many of you—our annual football contest will be announced tomorrow. Get ready to grab that $300 in U. S. Savings Bonds.

A recent Press editorial regarding New Brunswick brought a quick comment from former city commissioner

J. H. Patrick Glynn, who came from that area. He testifies to the accuracy of the statements made.

Largest Oakland County wheat yield reported is that of

Cyril D. Oliver

of 5244 Greer Road; 43 bushels per acre.

A pumpkin in the garden of Foster Weems of Walled Lake weighs 35 pounds, and under irrigation now is adding weight at the rate of one pound per day.

Recently completing 43 years on the Pontiac Fire Department,

Chief John F. Schroeder has seen the equipment go from some crude contraptions to its present modern condition.

Without doubt now Oakland County's oldest resident is

Mrs. Eliza Beaumont Taylor of Highland, who will celebrate her one hundred and fifth birthday next December.

A former Pontiac pharmacist, now in business for himself in Utica,

Melvin Gell,

is president of the Macomb County Drugists' Association.

It also is a great season for weeds, as Ragson Wheeler of Birmingham reports burdocks ten feet tall in some neighboring yards.

Speaking of animal and bird wisdom, Pontiac Press employees have noticed that sparrows check over the cars parked on adjoining streets, looking for worms and bugs, and even go up under the hoods to see if any have been cooked on the engine.

By watering it every day,

Ensign Whittier

of Auburn Heights grew a stock of corn that was 13 feet high. It was toppled over by a recent wind.

Voice of the People

'Agnostica Is a Very Hopeful Case,' Says Lydia Smith of Drayton Plains

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

"Agnostica" is a very hopeful case because he realizes the Old Testament is the substructure of the New Testament.

Right at the beginning of the Old Testament it is recorded that light "was created on the first day of creation. The light was called 'day' and the darkness, 'night' and the evening and morning were the first day. The sun, moon and stars were created on the fourth day.

It is a known scientific fact that there is another light present in the daytime besides sunlight. It is known as sodium light. Scientists still know very little about it except that it exists.

They make expensive and laborious trips to remote parts of the earth to study zodiacal light during the fleeting, precious moments of an eclipse of the sun.

So, Pal, go on from here, link science and the Bible and believe Jesus when he said, "I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have light of life."

Definitions Are Wrong

Says a 'Truth Seeker'

Being a constant reader of your "Voice of the People," I became interested in the controversy concerning Agnostics, Agnosticism and Gnostics.

The meaning of these words was rather vague until recently a Mr. Snyder gave this definition: "An Agnostic is one who does not know," taken from the French, A-not and Gnostic to know or have knowledge." I checked and found the "A" to be of Greek origin, not French as Mr. Snyder informed us. The following are Webster's American dictionary definitions:

"Gnostic (nos tic) Member of a sect of pre-Christian and early Christian times asserting that adherence to its spiritual doctrines would save men from ruin by material forces."

"Agnostic (ag nos tic) One who while he does not deny the existence of God, believes there is no proof of a Supreme Being. Sometimes confused with Atheist."

"Agnosticism (ag nos ti zism) 1. the doctrine that nothing is known or knowable of the origin of the universe or its creator except the physical manifestations of phenomena, neither accepting or rejecting a Deity with supernatural power.

2. Any doctrine which maintains that matters generally accepted as knowledge are problematical since all are related and trace to a common unknown source."

Agnostica's worthy opponents should stick to English and double check their textbooks and their tutors in particular.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And thou, profane wicked prince of Israel, whose day is come, when iniquity shall have an end.—Ezekiel 21:25.

Were the visage of sin seen at a full light, undressed and unpainted, it were impossible, while it so appeared, that any one soul could be in love with it, but would rather flee from it as hideous and abominable.—Leighton.

"Occasionally I am invited to dance an I do my best to make a nice impression, but something must be wrong."

"I guess you'd rate me as average in looks, wouldn't you, Dr. Crane? And I dress neatly and haven't halitosis or those other things that are supposed to keep a girl from being popular."

"So why don't I have more dates? And I'm not alone in my complaint for most of the other girls are in the same boat with me."

"Are college men just waiting for movie stars? Sometimes I wear glasses, but they make me look more attractive than when I leave them off, for they are very pretty."

"I'm 5' 4" and weigh 110. My friends say I have everything it takes to win boy friends, but still I don't win them. So can you please give us girls at St. Mary some practical pointers?"

Many colleges have dating bureaus where boys and girls can be paired off for dances, movies or attendance at athletic games, often on the blind date manner. And that is usually fun. Many marriages result from such blind dates, for Mary has exposed one of the main troubles with young people.

Men are basically shy! They don't know what to say or how to ask a girl for a date or a dance.

And they are unduly fearful lest they be turned down, which they deem a very humiliating experience.

If boys would serve as house-to-house salesmen of magazines or brushes, they'd soon pick up skill in meeting strangers and carrying on conversation.

But most men, even including college professors, don't know how to carry on easy conversation. They are deficient in this first practical use of the English language.

Tomorrow I'll stress this matter of being adept at gay repartee. But Mary can also help herself by omitting her glasses on her first dates, for they interpose a subconscious barrier and are suggestive of school marm stuff.

Most boys don't associate romance with school teachers, so anything that intimates a self-reliant woman, accustomed to looking after herself and even leading others, subconsciously drives men away.

That's also why efficient secretaries, nurses and other educated women find it harder to win men. Men appreciate a smart wife after marriage but on their first contact they want to feel superior.

Girls, at least act helpless and dumb, though you hold a Phi Beta Kappa key for high grades.

Physician Should Check on Adenoids Whenever Planning to Treat Tonsils

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

When I was an honest doctor (I was so darned honest when I practiced in Pann Yan and Elmira that we nearly starved) the medical textbooks and magazines had a good deal of hokum about the adenoid habitus, facies or expression—a pinched or narrow nasal bridge, small nostrils, long drawn face, narrow dental arch, somewhat retracted upper lip, prominent upper incisors, dark circles under eyes.

This was the typical appearance of the child with adenoids.

It is just as typical of enlarged tonsils, and indeed may be the consequence of long neglected tonsil enlargement even though there is no thickening or enlargement of the lymphoid tissue in the vault of the pharynx up out of direct view behind the soft palate.

This lymphoid tissue is identical with that which composes the faucial or visible tonsils in the throat. Other names for lymphoid tissue are round cell tissue or adenoid tissue, and the small mass of tissue normally situated here is called "adenoids" only when it enlarges enough to obstruct free passage of air from nose to windpipe or enough to obstruct ventilation of the middle ear cavity through the Eustachian tube.

The doctor can determine whether a patient has adenoids only by feeling the mass with finger or by seeing it in a throat mirror. No one can diagnose "adenoids" otherwise.

It is conceivable that one might have normal faucial (visible) tonsils and thickened or enlarged pharyngeal (hidden) tonsil

U. S. Divisions in Korea Will Control Front Lines

By International News Service

Eighth Army commander General Maxwell D. Taylor has stated that American troops remaining in Korea would continue to man the frontlines as at present.

The four star Army commander, in a news conference at his headquarters in Seoul, said 8th Army headquarters would continue to exercise operational control over the entire battle line. He said 8th Army headquarters with him in command would continue to operate in Korea "for the present."

Taylor said the two U. S. Divisions remaining in Korea along with United Nations units forming a third division would constitute a task force which would be under U. S. Army First Corps headquarters.

He said there would be, after the planned withdrawal of four U. S. divisions and one regimental combat team, 23 divisions at the front, the same number as at the time of the armistice signing.

Shipment of men of the 25th Division to Hawaii would be conducted largely in September but was expected to overlap into October.

5—The token force of some 1,000 men carrying the colors of the 2nd Division back to the U. S. would leave Korea some time toward the end of September, but that the exact date is not set.

6—Units now supporting divisions to be withdrawn would also be pulled out.

7—The 5th Regimental Combat Team would be shipped out of Pusan in cadre strength of about 750 men. He said the regiment's artillery which is presently at the front would be readied for shipment separately by the 8th Army.

The general said the announced withdrawal of four American divisions and the 5th Regimental Combat Team—which he termed four and one third divisions—was the second phase in present redeployment plans.

He said the shipment of the 40th and the 45th Divisions back to the States for reversion to National Guard status was the first phase.

Taylor disclosed that 8th Army headquarters would remain in Korea "for a time at least." At a later date part of the headquarters may go to Japan where the 8th Air Force already has transferred its headquarters.

In answer to the question whether he thought the planned American troops reduction would weaken the U. N. ability to protect Korea, Taylor replied: "No, I do not. I agree in the overall wisdom of a strategic redeployment feeling that our military strength will not only be a protection to Korea as redeployed but to other threatened points of the free world."

And at the United Nations in New York, U. S. policy in the Sept. 21st assembly will be based on the creation of a watchdog team for Indochina, blocking Red China from U. N. and promotion of a new "atoms for peace" plan.

The three policy points will be used by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to spearhead the U. S. drive for leadership of the free nations and to counteract the anticipated Soviet offensive to break apart Allied unity and free world security.

Soviet U. N. Delegate Andrei Vishinsky is known to have returned from his long Moscow visit with full instructions to strive in every way to capitalize on the results of the Geneva conference and the killing of EDC, and exploit specifically the differences between the Western powers on Red China.

Expectations are that all Soviet proposals will be pointed primarily at undermining U. S. prestige and leadership in foreign eyes.

Jack Benny Would Rather Enjoy Laughs of Others Than Get Them

By EDDIE CANTOR

The best audience I've seen is another comedian.

I first met Jack Benny in 1919. In those days, he played violin and gave out with some chatter. While his violin was not good, his dialogue was pretty bad.

However, the Benny boy impressed me with his appreciation of finer things. He laughed at my jokes. In a roomful of comedians, Jack is a welcome relief. He'd rather enjoy laughs than get them.

This attitude has paid off. Content to be the butt of jokes, Jack has so firmly established his penny-pinching character, he has only to pause after the word "money" and audiences are hysterical.

Following the wedding of his daughter, Joan, Dennis Day commented: "I think Jack's the only father of the bride who wept and validated parking tickets at the same time."

The Los Angeles papers gave a lot of space to the event. The "Examiner" announced that the elaborate affair had cost $60,000. The Times quoted it at $50,000. I asked Jack if he'd seen the papers. He said, "I read The Times and saved myself ten thousand dollars!"

Recently, I spoke at a dinner in San Diego for the Hadassah Women of America. Jack went with me. I paid for the trip.

When Jack got up to speak, he opened with, "I don't know why you invited me tonight. I couldn't feel more unnecessary. It's like being on a desert island with Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio."

He got another laugh when he introduced me. "I can't get over the youthful appearance of Eddie Cantor," he said. "Just look at him! Not a gray hair in his head—tonight!" I wasn't going to let him get away with that. I jumped up and said, "Gray or black—at least it's all mine!" Jack squelched, "So what? I've got hair at home I haven't even used yet!"

Machine to Aid Heart Research

Delicate Instrument Will Tell Forces of Blood Movement on Body

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP) — A new machine with the tongue-twisting name of ballistocardiograph is being installed by the University of Oregon medical school here to help heart research.

The instrument described as more sensitive than a seismograph, was designed by Dr. Herbert E. Griswold Jr., associate professor of medicine at the medical school, and Don W. Cunningham, assistant professor of engineering design at the University of California.

The machine measures the forces exerted on the body by the blood movement which occurs when the heart contracts. Doctors said the unique feature lies in the fact that it will measure these forces on three planes simultaneously — from head to foot, from front to back and from side to side.

It took several months before Dr. Griswold and his associates found an area relatively free of vibrations to install the machine. They finally decided upon the basement of the administration building. It is so sensitive it will pick up distant footfalls, light breaths of air and ever-present vibrations of buildings.

Dr. Griswold plans to test a series of people with normal hearts and compare the forces on the body caused by the contracting heart with people having abnormal heart conditions. He said he hopes in this way to learn something of the effect on the body of a defective heart and blood vessels.

Hopeful Dalmatian Sad; He Can't Be Mascot

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — "Buster" the Dalmatian dog who tried out as mascot with the fire department sits forlornly in the humane society shelter, a victim of technological unemployment.

It isn't Buster's fault. Firemen said he qualified for the job. He even hopped up onto the seat of the aerial ladder truck when the fire bell rang.

But then firemen looked around them. The environment wasn't right for Buster. Brick and pavement completely surrounded the downtown station. "Not even a place to bury a bone," they said as they bid Buster goodbye.

Of the 26 million tons of fish caught in the world each year, only about 4,600,000 tons come from fresh or brackish water says the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

69 Huge Pianos Taken 750 Miles to Festival Site

LENOX, Mass. (UP) — To provide pianos for the famous musicians, singers and music students attending the Berkshire Festival here this summer, 69 of the massive instruments and an electronic organ were shipped 750 miles from Cincinnati to the festival site at Tanglewood.

Two huge trailer trucks with their heavily padded cargo make the journey in two and a half days. Since drivers, by regulation, may only be on the road 10 hours a day, the trucks had to maintain a 30-mile an hour average despite occasional traffic tie-ups, stops for lunches and unpredictable weather.

Loading the pianos took 16 hours and 300 heavy double pads, collectively long enough to cover a third of an acre.

Raymond Schmidt, 38, a piano-moving expert, supervised a series of complicated maneuvers at the (Baldwin) factory in which the pianos are wrapped and stacked on trucks without marring the finish. They had to be tightly taped against inevitable jarring during the long trek.

Three Travelers Fooled by Gotta-Get-There Club

By LAURA Z. ROSSON
DULUTH, Minnesota (INS) —
"What about trying for Duluth tonight?" one of the boys said over an early breakfast in Williston,
North Dakota.

Casualty I answered, "We'll see," and from that moment we were cooked. It meant I had joined the Gotta-Get-There Club—that gruesome little group which every long-distance motorist joins the very first time he bites off more road map than he can chew.

As long as we'd been driving westward, toward the Pacific, both the boys and I had blackballed our own membership in the silly group, but mysteriously enough, the moment we turned eastward and headed for home, something went berserk in all three of us.

Williston, North Dakota, for instance, is a mere little 603 miles away from Duluth — yet instead of blowing my top at the suggestion, all I said was "We'll see."

A day's mileage, of course, is a relative thing. In and around large cities, 603 miles in one day would be as impossible as 5,003 miles, but any experienced coast-to-coast tourist will swear on a stack of road maps that it's different out West.

Especially when those very road maps describe the route ahead as "a fast road through vast wheat fields and treeless plains."

Anyway, before six that evening, without even pressing, we had covered about 350 of those miles and were having a nice early supper in the Dacotah Hotel at Grand Forks.

"If we did," my younger son said, apropos of nothing, "we'd break all our old records — we never did 600 in any one day."

"It's going to be a swell night,"
my teenager said. "Full moon."
By now, I was pretty keen myself to push on. I went to the front desk to ask about Duluth hotels; the Dacotah's manager,
Keith V. Bacon, knew the Hotel
Duluth's manager, Peter Woods, and called him long distance
then and there.

"Pete," he said, "I want you to fix up some friends of mine with two good rooms tonight — they'll get there around midnight."

And, with a written note from one hotel manager to identify us with another, we drove off into the moonlight without a worry in the world.

But — there were a couple of patches of road-fixing; there were a couple of detours; we did stop for some extra rest as the hours slept up. When we at last dragged into the Hotel Duluth, with 603 miles in our bones, it was 1 a. m.

You guessed it. A new clerk had come on at midnight; Mr.
Woods' card had read "Arriving midnight." At 12:40, the clerk had given the rooms to other people. He'd phone around to some other hotels —

Scents Have Profit Purpose in Perfume

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Those pleasant perfumes in lotions and salves aren't put there simply for fragrance. There's a solid business reason, too, according to chemists.
An aromatic, distinctive odor is important for identification and individuality. Besides, it has a definite sales appeal for the feminine purchaser. Use of perfumes is growing in the drug field, with rose petal and lavender scents the neck-and-neck leaders.

go for most American movies,
but the theater owner who wants a sellout night after night is the man who books a South Sea Island picture with plenty of sarongs, palm trees, beaches, moonlit water and a hurricane or two thrown in for good measure.

Picture-Snapper Finds Himself Nabbed by Ever-Watchful Moscow Policemen

By CHARLES KLENSCH
MOSCOW (INS) — The armed sentry at the gate of the once-elegant mansion in suburban Moscow called the corporal of the guard to take over the American prisoner.

I was the prisoner. Unwittingly I had violated the code for foreigners in photographing the house where Napoleon had stayed while marshalling his final assault on Moscow a century and a half ago.

A Soviet Foreign Ministry protocol department memorandum of Feb. 11, 1954, which lists the type of photographs foreigners may take include:

"Architectural monuments, schools, medical institutions, theatres, museums, parks, stadiums, streets, squares, residential buildings, views and landscapes . . ."

But when I confidently handed the Russian text of the note—which all foreign snap-shooters carry for just emergencies — the sentry turned it over to the "forbidden" listings, which include:

"All views of military equipment and armaments, all military objects, establishments and fuel depots."

When the guard corporal and a squad of jack-booted soldiers appeared and surrounded me it dawned this quaint old house where Napoleon had slept was once again a "military installation."

I explained this politely to the lieutenant who had now joined the corporal, the squad and the sentry. The young lieutenant politely replied he'd have to refer the matter to the officer of guard.

"A stern-faced major with an 'OG' armband appeared next, digested the reports of the subordinates and suggested we talk it over with the Officer of the Day."

Quite a good-sized company had gathered by then. Aside from the military and me, it included Mrs. Klensch, a young lady from the U.S. Embassy and two fellow newsmen—Ken Brodney of United Press and Sid Weiland of Reuters.

We had just come from Dynamo Stadium where we — along with Georgi Malenkov and party chief Nikita Khrushchev and 100,000 other spectators — had attended a sports and mass gymnastics demonstration on the 300th anniversary of Russia's annexation of the Ukraine.

While walking up the Leningrad highway which runs past the stadium, looking for a taxi, we passed the huge old brick mansion with its antique, turreted brick walls.

It seemed a good chance to make a snapshot I'd been promising myself since an Intourist guide pointed it out a few weeks previously.

We were invited to sit and smoke while waiting for the officer of the day's arrival.

Meanwhile they checked our press cards and my copy of the Foreign Ministry photo regulations.

The Officer of the Day came in several minutes later. He was a tall, distinguished Air Force colonel in his late 30s decorated with aircrew wings, half a dozen ribbons and wearing a red 'Officer of the Day' armband and a ceremonial dagger which hung below his dark green blouse at his left hip.

The colonel invited us to "sit down, please" in English and then listened, interjecting an occasional question, while the major filled him in on the incident.

The colonel went out again after the briefing, leaving us in the charge of a major and a couple of junior officers.

Since I had already been detained nearly 45 minutes without any visible progress I asked the major if I might phone the U.S. Embassy. The answer: A firm Soviet "nyet."

The Air Force colonel appeared again about 20 minutes later, pulled all five of our identity cards toward him and, after checking the time of my arrest, began to write a report with his fountain pen.

After writing down the details and copying out data from the identity cards of the others, the colonel instructed one of the officers to take the camera, which I had placed on the desk earlier at his request.

He asked if I had any objection to their borrowing the camera for a moment. I said I didn't object to losing the one shot I had made of the house—if that was against the rules—but hoped it would be possible to save the photographs I had made at the stadium.

They included, I explained, some inspiring shots of Russo-Ukrainian cultural demonstrations at the Dynamo stadium which I would very much regret losing. I suggested they have the film developed, remove any photos they found objectionable and return the rest to me.

I was told this would not be possible. A captain took the camera out of the room, returning with it a few minutes later.

When I took the Leica out of its case for a quick check, the bottom plate fell off the floor, showing it had been operated on by someone unfamiliar with the camera.

Despite this I kept my temper until I found the film canister had been jam-forced back into the camera incorrectly.

After more than an hour of patiently sweating it out while the report of the offending snapshot went up and down the chain of command, I blew up.

It was bad enough, though possibly understandable, that they had pulled out the film and exposed it to the light, but I thought it was pretty 'ni kulturny' to jam up the camera in the process.

The words "not cultured" are rather strong medicine in Russia, which prides itself on what it considers its well-mannered approach to modern living.

While Brodney and Weiland sought to soothe the captain's ruffled feelings, the colonel sent for the Air Force captain who had right-processed the film. The captain contended he had been extremely careful with the camera. Both of us were relieved when the film canister was forced out without, apparently, damaging the mechanism.

The colonel invited all five of us to sign his report.

We declined on grounds our Russian wasn't good enough to know what we were being asked to sign. The colonel shrugged with the same courtesy his staff had shown during the afternoon and said we were free to leave.

He and the other officers stood and shook hands all around and a corporal opened the door of the outside office for us.

An hour and a half after the snapshot was taken, we were back in the free air of Moscow—again looking for a taxi.

That was the extent of our contact with the Soviet Army and Air Force for the time being—except that a soldier ran up to us while we were crossing the street and handed Weiland a pack of Lucky Strikes and two boxes of matches which had been left behind in the office.

The next day I had taken some news copy to the foreign ministry press department and was talking to deputy press chief L. M. Kartsev.

I did not mention the film incident but just as I was getting ready to leave Kartsev grinned and handed me a tissue-wrapped roll of Leica film.

Dumfounded, I unrolled it and found that it was expertly processed and complete except for the photo which had caused the incident. That photo had been neatly clipped from the end of the roll.

Unable to think of anything to say except "thanks," I shook hands with Kartsev and left.

Others told me they could not remember a similar case of having had developed film returned to them.

They recalled that British Ambassador Sir William Hayter back in 1930 was taken into custody briefly and asked not to photograph the same place. Sir William at that time was third secretary of the Embassy.

U.S. Colleges Maintain 111 Training Planes

NEW YORK (UP)—America's colleges and universities operate a fleet of 111 airplanes in a comprehensive aviation education program that utilizes these aircraft in such varied occupations as airline on school farm lands, air mapping and photogrammetry.

These planes log nearly 14,000 hours in the air each year according to planes, official publication of Aircraft Industries Association. The AIA conducted a survey of all states and territories to determine the type and amount of aviation education available through the nation's normal educational facilities. Forty-seven states and the Territory of Hawaii returned answers to the surveys.

The 111 aircraft are owned by schools in 11 states and two schools, the Universities of Mississippi and Illinois, own helicopters. All but six of the remaining aircraft are single-engine utility planes which carry from two to five passengers. The others are twin-engine transports carrying 10 or more passengers.

Sheriff Cures Nostalgia With Burglary Warrant

OKANOGAN, Wash. (UP)—Harry Jensen Ambos, 50, went to jail because he wanted to talk about old times.

"Felt kind of sentimental about a stretch I did in the county jail back in 41," he told Sheriff Gordon Jones.

Jones promptly locked him up. The friendly visitor didn't know the sheriff's office had held a warrant for his arrest on a second-degree burglary charge since 1952.

Polio Cases Run Lower in the 217 Vaccine Areas

NEW YORK (UP)—Polio cases are running 40 per cent below a five-year average in the 217 areas where some 440,000 children were vaccinated against the disease last spring.

The children vaccinated were in the 6, 7 and 8-year-old groups. These groups, along with the 5 and 9-year-olds, usually account for 50 to 60 per cent of all polio cases.

The comparative percentages of these statistics compiled by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis match, more or less, but no one should take the matching as anything more than a hopeful indication that the experimental Salk vaccine may have been effective.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, the foundation's medical director, refused to comment on the grounds he is an interested party; and anyway it is extremely essential to get a completely scientific evaluation of the vaccine's worth as a polio preventive.

That evaluating is being done at the University of Michigan and it will be next spring, at the earliest, before the Michigan scientists can make their report. Meanwhile, too much tossing about of surmises and guesses could make the statistical study more difficult.

Yet it's a fact that in the country as a whole this year's polio season is running only about 1,000 cases under last year's, which was the heaviest yet.

The country as a whole shows a small net down; the 217 field trial areas show a considerable down. The children began their vaccinations in late May. The incidence of polio began declining in June. Of course, this could have been due to "unknown factors" of which there are many in polio epidemiology. Dr. Van Riper said this year's season seemed "more scattered with less impact" than last year's, but he couldn't say what that meant, if anything.

There was no evidence of fewer bulbar cases among this year's victims, he added, and "the morbidity is about the same." None of the scientists involved in the tests reports seeing anything during this year's season to lessen his faith. They still believe the vaccine will prevent polio and eventually wipe out the disease.

Dress Up Dill Pickles With Spices

Mrs. Harry Slater
Gourmet Cook Likes
Quick Easy Pickles

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
Do you want a recipe for a quick easy pickle that you can make any time? Mrs. Harry Slater of Indianwood road has just such a recipe that she shares with us. Since June Mrs. Slater has been laid up with injuries suffered in a fall. What bothers her as much as anything is that she hasn't been able to cook all during that time. She says cooking is the part of homemaking she likes the best.

QUICK EASY PICKLES

By Mrs. Harry Slater

Cut 6 large dill pickles in 1/4-inch slices. Put in pint jars. Dissolve 2 cups of sugar in 1/2 cup tarragon vinegar. Add 2-5 cloves of garlic, (according to taste) cut in halves, and 3 tablespoons pickling spice. Cook 5 minutes. Cool. Pour over pickles. Seal. Store in refrigerator 1 week before using. Makes 2 pints.

Father's Rule Too Strict Says Coed

Advised to Adhere to College Laws on Campus Action

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm almost 18 and going into my second year of college this fall. My father has set the following strict and sticky rules for me to follow when I go out on a date. Friday night I must be in at 11; Saturday at 12. Going out for a ride must last no longer than an hour. Stopping for something to eat after a movie is taboo.

"I think these regulations are too strict. I think I should be allowed to stay out until 1 on Friday and Saturday night, and 11 o'clock during the week. Once classes have started I'll probably not go out during the week at all. Please tell me whether I'm right or wrong in my expectations, and how I can get my father to understand my point of view?"

It's safe, I guess, to assume that you're living at home while you're going to college so your father feels responsible for your hours and doings. If you were away at college, he'd have undoubtedly been perfectly willing to shift that responsibility to the college authorities who have rules of their own.

It would be reasonable therefore to compare your restrictions with those placed on the boarding students in your own college, and on sophomores in other colleges. But make the comparison as fair as possible—if you count on its having influence with your father. Make a list of colleges similar to your own—big city or country, co-ed or all-girls, dorms or sorority houses. Then write to the Dean of each college and ask politely for a copy of the student handbook that gives the rules and regulations on hours and weekend permissions and dating.

Compare the liberty or the restrictions of other college girls with your own. Then present the facts to your father. This bit of research may help you reach some compromises that will seem reasonable all around.

"Dear Miss Woodward: Ever since I've been able to go out, which hasn't been very long, I've wanted to go to a drive-in. Most of the time when a guy asks me to go out, he suggests a show, preferably the drive-in, and my parents won't let me go. My Dad says too much petting goes on. I still ask him every time and try to convince him that I won't pet. But no luck so far. I'm 15 and live less than a quarter of a mile from a drive-in. Please help me convince Dad."

First of all, it might be wise to get this drive-in fixation out of your system. The idea appeals to you enormously—and mostly because your Dad doesn't approve. It might have less appeal for you if you became familiar with the drive-in by going there frequently with your family. With the luster worn off you'd find it just a question of choosing the picture you'd like most to see. Also, the fare might be better elsewhere.

Older Women Should Avoid Flashy Jewelry

Just as the older woman looks for a smart, simple line in choosing her wardrobe, so should her jewelry reflect good taste, too. Many times the right touch of jewelry creates the complete ensemble effect. And a smart bracelet and pair of earrings can add a personal note to a tailored black dress.

Some women do tend to go overboard in the jewelry department. That's why you see a woman wearing rhinestone earrings, a pearl necklace and a gold bracelet together. This makes an otherwise simple outfit or dress look busy and cluttered.

The older woman should avoid any kind of extreme jewelry. Italian hoop earrings, for instance, are not for her.

In addition, long rhinestone earrings and novelty earrings only call attention to facial wrinkles or sagging jaw muscles. Heavy necklaces of gold, silver, copper or fake jewelry should be worn only by tall or large women. Delicate necklaces look well on the dainty, ultra-feminine type of woman.

Chokers are becoming to a woman with a rather long face, but rounded women should not wear them.

Pins and clips are good when they have functional use, but they are correctly worn only when they look as though they belong to your costume. Pearls are flattering to all skin types and all face shapes. Whether it's a pearl choker, earrings or bracelet you're wearing, you can be sure pearls reflect good taste.

Drink Much Water

If you are trying to lose weight, don't be afraid that drinking water will hamper your progress. If you omit salt from your diet, water will not be retained in your tissues and therefore will not affect your weight.

Job Can Come by Chance, Faith

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"Sometimes things work out better when you don't plan too much," a wise young mother wrote me. "For example, I have a part time job which I got when my youngest entered first grade, and which is the envy of all my friends. I thought you might be interested in the odd way in which it all came about."

"I married young," she went on, "and we had our first baby within a year. Then two more came, and it was pretty hectic. I was so busy and Dick worked so hard, and there was never much money. I tried, after a while, to get work I could do at home, while I was tending the babies. But there wasn't a thing."

"For a while I was very blue, but one day I decided that at least I could study something. Even if I couldn't make money, I could keep some kind of outside interest, get some feeling of self-improvement and growth. I had always wanted to learn how to type," she went on, "and Dick had an old typewriter he had gotten in college."

"I went down to the high school, the same one I had attended long ago, and asked the commercial teacher for the best book on touch typing. She was very helpful, and on my way out I met my old Latin teacher. She was glad to see me and asked how things were going. Then she looked me in the eye and said, 'I hope you haven't let your languages go to seed, you used to have quite a flair.'"

"Well I had, of course, but that started me thinking, and when I got home, I decided to study Italian too. We have quite a large Italian population in our town, and a radio station with lots of Italian programs."

"That was three years ago," this young wife continued, "I studied typing and Italian all that time, filling it in whenever I could, listening to the Italian programs while I did the washing, making myself practice with the Italian grocer."

I got quite good, and also very interested—it is a lovely language. At the same time, my typing began to get pretty passable.

Last January when little Bobbie started first grade, I got a wonderful job with a doctor. He needed someone just mornings, someone who could type well and speak Italian, because many of his patients are Italian. It pays well and I love it, and yet I never could have planned it that way.

Office Talk Overheard by Friend

Girl Asks Advice on How to Repair Damage

By EMILY POST

A letter this morning explains: "The other day I overheard a girl in the office telling another girl something about a friend of mine who also works in the same office. What she was telling her was untrue and, furthermore, can be very damaging to her reputation. If I know girls, it won't be long before it will be common gossip throughout the office. Don't you think I should tell my friend what I heard so that she may do something about this before it goes any further? What is the best way to handle a situation of this kind?"

At the time you overheard the conversation was the time to interrupt the girl who made the statement and say that she was making a mistake and what she said was not true. All you can do now is deny that it is true when the conversation gets to you personally.

Dear Mrs. Post: I was married several months ago and received many wedding presents, for all of which I wrote thank you notes personally. We also received quite a number of telegrams which I did not acknowledge as I did not think it necessary. Now I am told that these messages should have been acknowledged too. I feel terribly about this and hope I haven't hurt anyone's feelings. Please ease my conscience by either telling me there was no need to write to those who sent telegrams, or tell me what I possibly can do now.

Answer: You thank them as you see them or include it in a letter when you are writing about something else; but a special note is neither necessary nor expected.

Dear Mrs. Post: When apple sauce is served with the main course, should a teaspoon be provided? We serve it in little glass cups when we have pork and ham.

Answer: A teaspoon is really not correct. It should be eaten with your fork—whether you eat it directly from the cups or whether you put it on your meat plate.

Wives, Include Blue and Red in Hubby's Den

CHICAGO (INS) — Wives who want to furnish a den that will make their husbands happy should try to include two colors in the room—blue and red.

This advice comes from Harry Francis, Colorado Springs, Colo., decorator who has furnished such hideaways in the swank homes of business executives from coast to coast.

Francis, who calls these dens "briefcase offices because an executive usually carries a briefcase home with him," said:

"Invariably my clients choose some shade of blue and some variation of red to be included in their working quarters at home."

Francis said the current favorites among his men clients are a greenish, teal blue and coral. He chose these shades for two armchairs in an office setting he set up at the American Institute of Decorators exhibition in Chicago.

For luxury touches befitting an executive he used a floor of pigskin leather tiles, a modern brass chandelier lamp and a massive wall cabinet for books and a built-in bar.

To remind the executive he is at home, Francis puts a large assortment of green plants in one corner of the room.

Help Hinted for Leaky Basement

By HUBBARD COBB

So much has been said about leaky basements in the past few years that a lot of people who are building homes today are just not going to have a basement.

This is a shame because for what it costs and for the amount of space you get, a basement is still about your best buy. And as for leaking, the average basement is pretty dry most of the time and only is inclined to leak during very wet periods and only at certain points.

The most common spot for a basement to leak is at the seam where the walls join the floor. This is because the floor and walls are poured separately and don't make a very good bond. This spot, fortunately, is one of the easiest to waterproof and requires no special equipment or great expense.

First of all, take a cold chisel and cut out the seam. Try to make the inside of the cut wider than the outside. This will help hold the patch in place. Once the cut has been made, dust it clean and then apply the patch. You can use a waterproof cement for this purpose or tar. If cement is used, the seam should be damp and the cement pressed in so it makes a compact mass. If you want to use tar, then the seam must be bone dry if the tar is to stick properly. Wait for a dry spell and then use a blowtorch to dry out the seam. The tar, either hot or cold, is then poured into the joint.

A good TV mystery would be one where it was impossible to detect the sponsor.

Tag Stubborn Spots

Don't expect your dry cleaner to be a magician. If he does not know what caused a bad spot, he may not be able to get it out. Put a little "spot name" tag on a spoiled garment, specialists suggest.

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (UP)—Mrs. Iva Mead, a social service worker, asked the man of the house for his name. "Piano," he said. "Your first name?" she asked. "Parlor," he said. "Really?" she asked. "Really!" the man replied. So she wrote down—"Mr. Parlor Piano."

"Any children?" she inquired. "Just one," the answer came. "And it's first name, please."
"Well, to save you time, I'll get out the birth certificate," Piano said.

The name on the certificate—'Grand Piano.'

Detroit, Puerto Rican Win Big NSSA Titles

By H. GUY MOATS

Michigan, entertaining state for the National Sheet Shooting Association's 15th annual championships, came through with a terrific finish Sunday at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

Howard Confer, member of the Michigan Wreckers team, grabbed the all-gauge crown from several hot aspirants, including the championships' sensation (and sentimental favorite) high-over-all champion, Col. Salvatore T. Roig of Puerto Rico. Col. Roig also edged a brilliant field of shooters, including the runnerup, handsome young Ben Dilorio of Utica, N. Y. He went 248x350. Dilorio fired 534x530.

Confer, however, had to win his title the hard way. He went 248x350 to tie with Andy Laird, the Stockton, Calif., wheat farmer, then ran 75 straight to win the shootoff.

Michigan's second big achievement was a victory for the Wreckers in the all-gauge five-man team event. They fired 1221x1250. Confer's 248 was tops for the team. Others were W. G. Tomlinson, 246; Chief Crites, new president of the NSSA, 243; Hamp Curry of Caro, 242, and John S. Jenkins, 241. All but Curry are Detroiters.

Confer, 35 years old, is employed by an auto screw machine products firm in Detroit. He has been shooting skeet for only three years.

Sunday's finale also saw Mrs. Carola (Leon) Mandel, Chicago, take the women's high-over-all title with 247x250, while the national junior high-over-all crown went to Charles Prentiss, 18, of Fabens, Tex.

Prentiss had to beat two other fine young marksmen, 245x250, to win. Jay Swarden, 16, of Peoria, Ill., and George Hodges, 17, of Jacksonville, Fla., had tied with the Texan in regular competition.

Former Senator Joseph George, of Sudlersville, Md., won the senior crown with 243x250. He is rated one of the game's greatest veterans.

Industry all-gauge title, a contest for professionals, was won by Fred Missidine of Sea Island, Ga., after a shootoff with Wilbur Cox of Wilmington, Del. They tied first at 248x350 then the Georgian ran 190 straight to win. Cox was also a victim of another shootoff.

Tied with George Heaney of Indianapolis, in the industry high-over-all at 526x550, Cox lost a shootoff when the Hoosier broke 95 straight.

New veterans' champion is S. H. Gripp of Houston, Tex., who downed 236x250.

One of the closely contested title events was the two-man team (high-over-all) championship won by Alex Kerr, the Beverly Hills, Calif., veteran, and Tom Mettler of Bakersfield, Calif.

The California team had to beat a pair from among the hottest shooters in the big meet. Tied at the regular route with Col. Roig, the San Juan, Puerto Rico police chief, and William Fernandez, member of the San Juan team, at 494, Kerr and Mettler won a shootoff on the No. 3 position on a low house bird.

That was the only miss in the 25.

Just as the colonel started to squeeze off the shot, a heavy blast from a nearby field shook the area. It was just part of Herb Parson's shooting demonstration that was going full blast when the shootoff began.

The colonel put down his gun and the referee halted the shootoff briefly. Afterwards both pairs finished the run without a miss.

First Canadians to win a NSSA championship were Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Brien of Montreal, Que., who broke 477 targets for their victory in the husband-wife feature.

Biggest crowd of the week-long event jammed the OCSA area Sunday.

WIN NSSA TITLES—The two most important San Juan, Puerto Rico, national high-over-all championships for the week-long National Sheet Shooting Association's 15th annual meet were national trophy, at left, is the new all-gauge settled Sunday afternoon at OCSA's headquarters at Waterford. Bouncing Bengals Bounced Right Out of 4th Position

CHICAGO (U) — The Detroit Tigers, up and down like a yo-yo in their battle for 4th place finish in the fast closing season, bounced into Chicago today for a Labor Day twin bill with the White Sox. The Tigers had hoisted themselves to 4th place again Saturday with a victory over the Baltimore Orioles in the 2nd game of a three-game series.

But yesterday, Bengals slipped out of 4th again, losing 4-3 to the Orioles at Briggs Stadium. At the same time, the Boston Red Sox were taking two from the Philadelphia Athletics to move into 4th 1½ games to the good.

It was the 23rd one-run loss suffered by the Tigers this year and came at the expense of Billy Hoelt.

Southpaw Billy was called to the mound in the 8th to protect a 3-2 lead the Tigers had mustered on catcher Frank House's three-run homer in the 2nd inning.

But Billy wasn't about to win. He gave up the tying run in the 8th and the winning counter in the 9th. Hoelt followed Ted Gray who followed rookie Bob Miller to the mound in the Detroit pitcher's parade.

Tigers just couldn't handle the slants of former teammate Lou Kretlow.

Other than weakening for a moment when House hammered his 8th homer of the year, Kretlow was stingy with his hits. He gave up but seven and struck out the last two men to face him in the bottom of the 9th, facing just 22 batters in the last seven innings.

George Zuverink and Ned Garver, a pair of righthanders, were scheduled to start in the doubleheader. White Sox plan to send Bob Keegan and Virgil Trucks.

Nats' Do-or-Die Win Over Yanks Cheers Harris

Senators Scrape, Past New Yorkers, 5-4, on Yost's Late Hit

WASHINGTON (U) — Bucky Harris was just about the happiest man in baseball today. He figured he had evened his score with the New York Yankees.

You knew just how Bucky felt when he said before his Washington Senators tangled with the Yankees yesterday:

"We're going to beat them or die trying."

The Senators wound up beating the Yankees 5-4 in a thriller that wasn't decided until two men were out in the ninth inning.

Harris is no friend of the Yankees. He was a Yankee once—he was asked to leave.

He went to New York and managed the Yankees to a pennant in 1947. The next year his team wound up third, two games out of first, and he was fired.

Grandstand second guessers did not think he would be right when he lifted starting pitcher Mickey McDermott after six innings. McDermott had allowed only one hit and was leading 3-1.

The doubts swelled when Bob Porterfield, another ex-Yank who hadn't pitched an inning in relief this season, allowed New York to tie the score 3-3 in the seventh.

But other Senators rose to the challenge. Pete Runnels, who had hit only five home runs in his major league career, slammed a 420-footer over the scoreboard to put Washington ahead 4-3.

Gil McDougald tied it up in a hurry with a leadoff homer in the ninth.

Ed Fitzgerald hit a single to start the Senators' ninth and went to second on a sacrifice. Again, Harris gambled. He pulled out Porterfield in favor of a pinch hitter, who bounced out for the second out.

It took only one more pitch to make Harris happy. Eddie Yost rammed it down the left field line and Fitzgerald romped across with the run that may well have torpedoed the Yankees' pennant hopes.

Bolt Blisters Akron Course

Has 23-Under-Par 265 Card to Win Rubber City Open

AKRON, Ohio (U) — "I'm about to win a lot of tournaments," Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., said today as he headed home with the $2,400 top prize in the $15,000 Rubber City Open.

The boys around the press tent were saying 35-year-old Tommy's performance here was one of the all-time great feats of golf as he won with a 265 score, 23 under par, to defeat his nearest competitor by five strokes.

The big talking point was the Texan's 63-64-127 for the final 36 holes, 17 under the card.

Once he was known as "Terrible Tommy" because of club-throwing habits of early days, but he says he's just "Tame Tommy" now and there are no more flares of temper.

His next stop is the Celebrity event in Washington, Sept. 26, and with no show of bragging Tommy seriously told the press: "I'll win that one, too."

Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., gave the Lone Star state a sweep of the two top spots as he finished second at 270 for $1,800.

Fred Wampler of Indianapolis was third at 271.

Louisiana Motorcyclist Wins 100-Mile Crown

LANGHORNE, Pa. (U) — Everett Brashear, Lake Charles, La., won the 100-mile National Motorcycle championship at the Langhorne Speedway in record time yesterday before a crowd of 25,000 that saw one rider killed and another seriously injured.

Henry Robitaille, 27, Lonsdale, R. I., was killed and Clarence Chandler, 23, Bennington, Vt., seriously injured in a mishap on the third lap of the 25-mile amateur championship.

Tribe's Play Pleases Lopez

CHICAGO (U) — Manager Al Lopez took a look at his abled-bodied Cleveland Indians after they whipped Chicago 8-2 yesterday, glanced at the American League standings and said "We're in good shape."

Lopez was quite satisfied with his Indians who came back after losing two-out-of-three to the Yankees to take a series by the same margin from the White Sox.

The Indians, with only 13 games left, had opened a 4½ game lead over the New York Yankees and launch the stretch drive with a doubleheader at Baltimore today.

Then they return home to meet Philadelphia and Boston before taking on the Yankees in a double-header Sunday.

Although Lopez said he isn't overlooking the second division teams, he did say he'd like nothing better than to beat the Yankees twice.

"Certainly I'd settle for a split with them, since they couldn't gain on us," said the Tribe chief, "but I'd like to beat 'em twice."

"We're in real good shape," he continued. "The pitchers are working in rotation and we'll have George Strickland in there as a regular in a few days."

Strickland, Cleveland's dependable shortstop, has been out for about a month with a broken jaw. Lopez used him for an inning against Washington last week and again in the ninth inning of yesterday's game.

Otherwise, the Indians are solid physically with the possible exception of Al Rosen. Rosen has been playing despite a bad hand which has hampered his hitting.

Vic Wertz, acquired from Baltimore, picked up when Rosen slumped and has been coming through with the long ball.

Wertz clouted one of the longest home runs hit in Comiskey Park this year in the sixth inning of Sunday's game when he slammed one of Harry Dorish's pitches into the upper deck in far right center-field.

"His hitting has been a big help," said Lopez.

The other big guy in yesterday's game was Bobby Avila, Cleveland's fiery second baseman. Avila got himself four singles in five trips to the plate to raise his average to .334 and tie New York's Irv Noren for the league lead.

PHS and St. Frederick's Gridders Practice Today

By BILL MARTIN

Two of Pontiac's three high school football squads were scheduled to continue their pre-season workouts today as the rest of the city observed the holiday.

Practices-as-usual were the orders of the day at Pontiac High and St. Frederick. Coach Bob Minnowasser gave his St. Michael's gridders the weekend off after a rash of minor injuries disrupted the first week's drills.

All three coaches plan to take advantage of the new MHSAA rule this year permitting one scrimmage with outside competition prior to the opening game.

St. Fred's new mentor, Ken Hulander, has arranged a session with Mt. Clemens St. Mary for Thursday afternoon at the Ram's home field. Minnowasser's crew will go to Clarkston for a workout Friday.

PHS's Ed Graybiel has tentatively set next Saturday as the date for a scrimmage against Catholic Central of Detroit, but the plans have not yet been confirmed.

Chiefs held a scrimmage Saturday morning, and Graybiel appeared well-satisfied with the progress his charges have made in a week. Among the new candidates showing up well were backs Freeman Watkins, Red Taylor, Clay Williams, Ken Fustlier, Bob Castiel, Ben Karpowicz and linemen Marvin Smith, Marvin Cagle, Dick Kora, Jack Brown, Bruce Baker, Jim Patterson, Leo Williams, Ron Cutler and Homer Thrower.

St. Michael's Shamrocks held their first scrimmage last Friday. The backfield of Bud Schwartz at full, Mike Clever and Mike Laugier at the halves and Bob Anderson at quarterback worked well as a unit.

Standouts in the line were Mike Lyons, 100-grade guard and junior tackle Jerry Kucera.

Delino Chavez, a senior who played sophomore ball at Pontiac High and then sat out a year of ineligibility after transferring to St. Fred's ripped off some good runs in the Ram's scrimmages last week. Mark Peck, at center, and ends Dick Dayton and Don Younce also turned in fine performances.

Pair of Gales Race Favorites

Windup of Silver Cup Events Sends the Big Boats Into Action

DETROIT (U) — Mechanics gave swift, final attention to powerful engines and clean-lined hulls early today before their charges, answer the starting gun for the Silver Cup race.

The big unlimited class takes over today (1:05 p.m. EST) at the windup of the three-day Silver Cup regatta on the Detroit river. For the past two days, smaller craft have dominated the regatta, the big boys limited to test runs and qualifying trials.

Joe Schoenith's Gale IV and Gale V were as likely choices as any to win the race, consisting of five 12-mile heats.

Schoenith's craft have monopolized the Silver Cup for the last two years.

The Miss U. S., owned by George Simon, also ranked among top entries on the strength of an impressive showing at Seattle in the recent Gold Cup race. Miss U. S. was the runnerup.

Lions Win 3rd Exhibition Victory, Beating Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Football is football to the Detroit Lions, professional champions, whether it be played under the 3-4-3 system or the limited substitution rule. They can play a winning game either way.

Lions had to chuck their normal 3-4-3 tactics to bone up on the college All-Star game in Chicago last month. But they didn't suffer a lick.

They trounced the college boys at their own game and then switched back to the National Football League's 3-4-3 system with ease to build up a perfect 3-for-3 record in pre-season exhibitions.

Their 3rd triumph came this past weekend as they defeated the New York Giants 28-13 at Norman, Okla.

Elsewhere on the exhibition schedule the San Francisco 49ers, boosted as the main threat to the Lions this season, stretched their unbeaten string by defeating the Cleveland Browns 38-21; the Los Angeles Rams smothered the Chicago Cardinals 51-17; the Chicago Bears beat the Washington Redskins 27-7 and the Philadelphia Eagles defeated the Green Bay Packers 24-13.

Quarterback Bobby Layne pitched two touchdown passes in the Lions' victory over the Giants — 35 yards to Dorne Dibble and 14 yards to Leon Hart — for a 14-7 halftime edge.

Lions sewed it up in the 3rd period when Lew Carpenter ran 23 yards for a TD and Jack Christensen intercepted a Charlie Conery pass for a 33-yard scoring run. Bobby Clatterback and Frank Gifford scored the Giants' touchdowns on 1-yard plunges.

TV Fight Fans Get Several Good Bouts

NEW YORK (U) — Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, Conn., and Armand Savoie of Montreal, a couple of willing fighters who have bowled over some champions in the past, collide tonight in a 12-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Dumont will telecast the 9 p.m. bout.

Another Monday night 10-rounder matches Milwaukee's Ted Olla and Jesse Turner, of St. Louis, in a middleweight scrap at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. (ABC-TV 9 p.m., EST).

Grand Rapids Eliminates Pontiac Jets in 21-17 Marathon Battle at State Baseball Tournament

BATTLE CREEK (Special) — Grand Rapids Carvers outstraggled the Pontiac Jets, 21-17, here Sunday in one of the highest scoring Michigan Amateur Baseball Association games on record. The exhausting loss eliminated Pontiac after four rounds of action.

Saturday, in 2nd-round activity, defending state champion Kalamazoo Sutherland won a 3-2 victory over Pontiac on a clean steal of home by Hank Bongers in the bottom of the twelfth — longest game of the meet.

Pontiac kept its title hopes alive in 3rd round play Saturday afternoon by knocking out Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., 12-7, before running into Grand Rapids Sunday.

Sutherland edged Detroit Western Exchange, 4-3, in a 4th round game yesterday and then came back with a 7-run blast in the final inning of a 5th-round game to out host Battle Creek Oilers, 11-7.

Jackson knocked Muskegon out of the running, 15-2, and then slammed the tourney door on Detroit, 9-8.

Just about everything that could happen in a ball game came about in the Carvers-Jets battle that lasted three hours, 35 minutes.

Grand Rapids held a 10-3 2nd-inning lead but Pontiac rolled from behind twice before finally succumbing on a 6-run burst by the Carvers in the top of the final 9th frame.

Pennant Fever Grips Fans as Braves Make Bid

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sportswriter

Pennant fever, a contagious malady that raises hopes higher than temperature, is raging all over the state of Wisconsin again.

From Kenosha to Sturgeon Bay, from Sheboygan to La Crosse, excitement has gripped all Wisconsin.

sinates as the Milwaukee Braves are making another thrilling bid to overtake the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, the National League front runners.

The Braves took a long stride in that direction yesterday, capturing two comeback victories over Cincinnati 11-8 and 9-7 while Brooklyn was salvaging the finale of its three game series from the Giants.

As a result, the Braves today are five games off the pace and only one behind the second place Dodgers with exactly three weeks remaining. New York and Milwaukee have 21 games left to play and Brooklyn has 19. The Braves meet the Giants and Dodgers three more times each.

The Cleveland Indians opened up a 4½ game margin on the runner-up Yankees, drubbing the Chicago White Sox 8-2 while Washington was handing New York its second straight defeat, 5-4. Boston's Red Sox swept past Detroit into fourth place with 12-5 and 7-3 victories over Philadelphia while Baltimore was edging the Tigers 4-3.

Philadelphia's Phillies won their sixth straight, knocking off the Pittsburgh Pirates 12-3. The St. Louis Cardinals snapped a seven-game losing streak, defeating Chicago 6-2.

Knox Claims He Was Paid to Recruit Cal Gridders

LOS ANGELES — Harvey Knox, stepfather of quarterback Ronnie Knox, is quoted by the Los Angeles Examiner today as saying he was paid $400 monthly for 15 months to recruit athletes for the University of California at Berkeley.

The stepfather relates in the copyrighted interview with sportswriter Melvin Duralag that the University's Southern California alumni paid him from March 1953, when his son was still in Santa Monica, Calif. High School, until last June.

"I'm tired of protecting people who claim innocence in the bad deal given my boy at Berkeley," Harvey Knox said in the Examiner story. "I want to blow the lid off this thing once and for all. Second, I feel that my employment by California alumni may have been partly responsible for the bad deal my boy got."

Ronnie was at Berkeley last year. This summer he transferred to the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA) although he will not be eligible for football there until next year.

The newspaper quotes Harvey Knox as saying his duties included scouting football talent, making recommendations to Berkeley Coach Lynn Waldorf and funneling talent to Frank Stormont, Los Angeles insurance man and prominent California alumnus here.

The Examiner quotes Waldorf as saying in a telephone conversation he had had frequent correspondence with Stormont about athletes in Southern California but "to the best of my knowledge the alumni operates completely with the rules of the coast conference."

The co-captains of the 1954 Michigan State football team are Leroy Bolden, from Flint, Mich., and Don Kamuth, of Paducah, Ky.

Jack McGivern Fires 2-Under-Par 214 Over Fenton Course

FENTON (U)—Jack McGivern, 32-year-old Detroit draftsman, won the state public links golf championship Sunday with a 2-under-par 214 score for 54 holes.

McGivern, who won the same title in 1950 at Jackson, edged Flint's Fred Turner, 1953 state amateur champion, by one stroke. McGivern shot 70-71-67 compared to Turner's 71-73-71.

Frank Jarrard of Flint shot 71-75-73-219 for 3rd place and Mike Andonian of Pontiac was 4th with 72-73-75-220.

Flint Genesee Hills captured the team title with a 293 total on the basis of 1st-round scores of 71 by Turner and F. Jarrard, 74 by Don Jarrard and 77 by Jim Seltzer.

Former pro McGivern won the hard way, finishing with a flourish after going the last 33 holes at Shore Acres golf club without a birdie. The slender swinger scored 8 birdies in the last 21 holes.

The 'Sliding-T' Will Dominate Big Seven Play

KANSAS CITY (U)—The sliding-T, commonly known as the split-T, will be the dominating formation in Big Seven Conference football this fall.

Only one of the Big Seven members, Kansas, plans to use the standard T—with variations—in the 1954 campaign.

The quarterback sliding formation, invented by Don Faurot at Missouri and nationally publicized by Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma, will be used for the first time at Nebraska, Iowa State and Colorado this season.

Coaches of the Big Seven held their annual pre-season press conference with sportswriters, broadcasters and TV people here yesterday.

Consensus of the coaches, with Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma making a minority report, is that Oklahoma will win its seventh successive conference title.

Spencer Tracy Will Be Star in 'Man and Sea'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Jack L. Warner, Leland Hayward and Ernest Hemingway, miles and miles apart from each other, got together through cable and long distance telephone and arranged for the production of "Old Man and the Sea," Hemingway's classic. Jack is in France, Leland is at Midway for "Mister Roberts," and Hemingway is in Havana.

Published in 1952 in Life magazine and later in book form, "Old Man and the Sea" has become an American classic.

Spencer Tracy, as I told you a long time ago, said he would drop anything to play the fisherman, and when it goes before the cameras he'll be the star.

Hayward will produce it for Warner Brothers with the same arrangement he has for "Mister Roberts."

Audie Murphy, our most decorated war hero, is trying hard to work out his marital problems with Pamela Archer. He admits he is difficult to live with, and he takes all the blame for their troubles. But Audie loves his wife and their two children, aged 3 years and 6 months.

He's getting ready to start "To Hell and Back" next Friday. He is being given an excellent cast, including Marshall Thompson, who has been in New York on the stage for some time. Because of Audie's excellent war record, the government has given permission to shoot the picture at Ft. Lewis.

The acting talent among John Wayne's children belongs to Pat. John's 14-year-old son, Pat, flew to Honolulu and then on to Midway to join the John Ford company of "Mister Roberts." Pat will be gone seven or eight weeks, and he was accompanied by a tutor.

He'll play the role of a young sailor who is slapped around by Henry Fonda. If you saw the play you will remember.

This is the second John Ford picture in which Pat has had a good part. He was in "The Long Gray Line" with Tyrone Power. According to Ford, young Wayne is a natural born actor, but the interesting thing is Pat has always wanted to become a priest.

U.S. Chefs Prove Nation Has More Than Hot Dogs

WASHINGTON (AP) — American cooking, a group of experts proudly say, now has reached the spot where it equals or surpasses anything produced anywhere else in the world.

"Once they thought of us abroad as a country of hamburgers and frankfurters," said chef Peter R. Berrini of Worcester, Mass. "Now they know better."

The reason for this international cuisine about-face: American chefs, competing in Switzerland, came in second, only a point behind first-place Germany.

This recent triumph is being properly celebrated by 200 of the nation's top chefs, here for the 25th anniversary convention of the American Culinary Federation.

Berrini, a member of the federation's board of directors, said the American showing was a terrific shock to European epicures, who have always felt they had the only proper training grounds for top-flight chefs.

"And the best of it is," Berrini said, "the man who won the most points is a chef from right here in Washington, who was trained right here in this country."

Here he got hold of Clement Maggia, the star of the U. S. team, who produced for the European judges, among other wonders, a cake 6 feet tall.

A picture of this prize-winner was available, and it showed a monstrously big cake, its base edged in American Beauty roses above which was a book entitled "Freedom" with a bald eagle on top of it.

Only one shadow darkens the chefs' happiness. Immigration laws have cut down the supply of talent from abroad, and the native stock, while it has done well when it tried it, hasn't been smitten with the cookstove.

A heated discussion then ensued as to why this was so. After considerable gesturing, and some animated talk with a number of accents, the consensus seemed to be: American boys simply haven't yet learned the joys of being a cook.

"It's so easy now," said Hermann J. Rusch, president of the Society Culinaire Philanthropique of New York. "Not like it was when I was learning in Switzerland. Fifteen, 16 hours a day, and then from 15 to 25 years before you became a chef. Now it's fast, and the pay is good."

Chefs not only like to cook; they also like to eat. And before they broke up to dine on brook trout stuffed with crabs, they all seemed to agree with Rusch.

"If I came back to this world," he said, "I'd like to be a chef, again and again and again."

Dunking Panics Lad, 12

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — Arthur Chapin, 12, decided he'd build a raft and float down the Fox River. He became panicky when the raft began to rock in the wind-swept waves. Not being a good swimmer, he jumped anyway. A playmate on shore yelled. Their screams attracted nearby residents and police were notified. They arrived to find rescue wasn't needed. The water was shallow and Arthur waded ashore.

Coffee Output May Beat Demand in '55

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Agriculture Department says that starting about next summer world coffee production should move ahead of consumption — thus removing what has been considered a prime reason for high coffee prices in recent months.

But the department made no forecast yesterday as to whether the expected easing of the tight coffee supply would lead to a price drop.

Public May Get Ford's Empire

Foundation Is Studying Possibility of Selling Some Stock

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT — The fabulous golden empire of the late Henry Ford created half a century ago with a $28,000 capital investment is in a fair way to become a public-owned domain.

Recurring reports that stock in the family-owned Ford Motor Co., with a 1 1/2 billion dollar asset valuation, is to be offered for public sale were met with a statement by Henry Ford II that the Ford Foundation is studying a possible sale of some of its holdings.

The foundation owns more than three million shares of Ford stock. Paradoxical as it sounds, the move could have more than stock diversification purposes by the foundation. It could have been conceived to make sure control of the vast company remains in Ford family hands.

Ford said Friday it might take a year to complete the foundation's study.

When the elder Henry Ford died suddenly in 1947 the family was faced with a tremendous inheritance tax bill. In the final settlement of the estate more than $7 million dollars in federal and state inheritance taxes were paid.

One suggestion has been that public ownership is being considered now as a precaution against the time when a Ford family death might once again place a heavy inheritance tax strain upon the family. Another such emergency with all the stock still family-held, it is suggested, might force a stock sale at a time when the company is unprepared for it.

It has been suggested in some quarters that having stock on the market might provide additional incentive for profit-making operations.

But the company has been making money — some sources say as much as 15 million dollars monthly. And certainly neither the Ford Motor Co. nor any member of the Ford family currently is in need of money.

Since Henry Ford II took over direction of the company and set up his management team, a golden stream has poured into the pockets of the Ford family and of the Ford Foundation.

Public sale of the stock would mark the end of one of the nation's few remaining large family-owned business enterprises.

The company has been wholly owned by the Ford family since 1919. It was then the elder Ford, quarreling with a dozen of his original stockholders forced them to sell him their holdings by threatening to sell his own stock and start another company.

The original stockholders had collected fantastic dividends — as much as 1,000 per cent on one occasion and several 100 per cent payments.

Stock in the empire now consists of 172,645 shares of class B voting shares; the 3,089,908 class A nonvoting shares owned by the Ford foundation, and another 16,000,000 nonvoting shares that never have been issued.

The voting shares are held by the widow and four children of the late Edsel B. Ford — Henry II, Benson, Josephine and William Ford. Speculation has been the distribution starting with the Ford Foundation holdings would be supplemented perhaps by some of treasury stock of presently unissued shares.

Whether the shares to be publicly offered would be converted into voting stock hasn't been made clear. If they remained nonvoting they would not be eligible for listing on the New York Stock Exchange. They would, however, be acceptable by the American Stock Exchange which already lists several nonvoting stocks including Ford of Canada.

Underwriters in the New York financial district predicted an offering of Ford Motor Co. common stock would get a "terrific reception." They said it was certain to be heavily oversubscribed.

While some financial sources speculated such an offering might be made through a bank, the general feeling was that a big underwriting syndicate would be formed. They added that hundreds of firms would probably join in the underwriting because "such a piece of business would have to be spread around."
