

Panic in East Germany, Says Chancellor Adenauer

Miss Michigan Among 15 Finalists for Miss U.S.A.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — The heroine of an airline crash, a gambling queen who's a stranger to a gambling house, and a "Miss Mississippi" from Louisiana are among 15 semifinalists today for the "Miss U.S.A." title at the annual Miss Universe pageant.

So is Michigan's entry, Patricia Lyn Squires, 19, of Milan. The 15 beauties were chosen Wednesday night from entrants from 42 states and the District of Columbia.

Andonian Enters Fourth Round

Staves Off Tom Tanaka in Public Links Tourney at Royal Oak

Mike Andonian of Pontiac and Joe Molenda of Detroit advanced to the fourth round of match play today in the 36th U.S. Amateur Public Links golf tournament at Rackerham Municipal Golf Course in Royal Oak.

Andonian, a semifinalist in the National Public Links tourney last year, and runner-up Sunday in the Michigan Amateur at Jackson, staved off rallying Tom Tanaka of Honolulu for a 2-1 triumph this morning.

Tanaka won the 15th and 16th holes to cut Andonian's 16th lead in half, but they halved the 17th to end the match.

Molenda, a Detroit Tech golfer, scored a 2-up victory over Bill Wright of Seattle, national public links champion in 1959 at Denver. Andonian and Molenda were the only state players remaining in the field following today's third round. The other hopeful, Jay Law of Harper Woods, was eliminated this morning by John Schlee of Memphis, 2 up.

Sally Sharp of Forest Lake and Mrs. H. G. Marquardt of Gowanville will wage a 36-hole duel tomorrow at Knollwood Country Club for the state championship of the 45th Women's Michigan Amateur Closed golf tournament.

Miss Sharp and Mrs. Marquardt earned their berths in Friday's finals with semifinal match play victories today. Sally went to the 19th hole to defeat Mrs. John Hume Jr. of Essex C.C., 1 up, and Mrs. Marquardt conquered Mrs. F. L. Thompson Jr. of Oakland Hills, 3-2.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor got her first taste of Soviet movie fans Wednesday night when they mobbed her as she left her hotel to visit the headquarters of the Russian International Film Festival.

State-Level Feuding Lashed by Schimmel

Political bickering in Michigan at the state level has obscured its fiscal soundness at the local level, Louis H. Schimmel told a symposium of some 200 investment bankers and dealers yesterday.

A look at progress in Oakland County would help improve unfavorable impressions of the state, the Pontiac municipal finance consultant declared during the initial meeting of a series to discuss Michigan's assets and deficiencies.

DC8 Hydraulic Center of Probe

Jet Crash at Denver Raises Big Question of System's Reliability

Director of the Municipal Advisory Council of Michigan in Detroit and guiding hand of school finances in Pontiac and the state for a quarter century, Schimmel called for "a new and better credit risk" in the country.

The crash raised a major question as to the reliability of the DC8 hydraulic, which operates speed-damping flaps, lowers the landing gear, and provides braking power.

Another United plane, a DC7 with 90 aboard, experienced trouble at Denver's Stapleton Airport Wednesday night. A fire on the nose wheel burst on take-off, reportedly right on the portion of the runway where the jet crashed Tuesday.

Capt. Robert Langdon of Tarzana, Calif., made a successful "tail down" emergency landing, at Los Angeles International Airport. Langdon kept his airliner's nose high while easing the ship along the long runway.

Several passengers said they felt being unloaded that they felt the DC7 "bump into something" on the Stapleton runway as their plane rolled past the spot where the DC8 crashed.

Federal Aviation Administrator Neeb Halaby spent several hours in Denver Wednesday.

He told federal, city and United Airlines officials investigating Tuesday's accident he wanted to know if there was any "correlation" between the Denver crash and the DC8 landing mishap—in which no one was injured—at Miami Wednesday.

Aging Leader Visits Berlin to Lift Morale

Claims Pressure of Red Regime Speeded in Soviet Zone

From Our News Wires
BERLIN — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today that there is "panic" in Communist Germany.

The 55-year-old Adenauer made his keynote at a news conference shortly before returning to Bonn after a one-day morale-boosting visit to this beleaguered city in the heart of Communist-controlled territory.

"There seems to be a panic in the Soviet zone," he said. "Pressure of the regime has been stepped up and many still wish to get to freedom as quickly as possible."

As Adenauer wound up his Berlin visit there were three other developments in the East-West dispute over the city:

—In Washington it was reported that the forthcoming U.S. British, and French notes will reject Soviet Premier Khrushchev's Berlin demands and restate the West's wishes for a long-range solution based on free elections and reunification of Germany.

The United States accused East Germany of violating religious liberty and trying to split the Evangelical Church in Germany. The nation's largest Protestant church — between East and West. The State Department said the Evangelical Church is one of the last institutions operating in both East and West Germany.

Palmer Dogs Rees, Henning in Britain

BIRKDALE, England (U) — Tiny Dal Rees of Wales and tall Harold Henning of South Africa shot 2-over-par 74s today for 142 scores that gave them a stroke lead in the second round of the British Open golf championship.

Right behind them came future Arnold Palmer, 30, of Latrobe, Pa., and defending champion Kel Nagel.

Palmer first appeared to have scored a 72 which would have given him a one-stroke margin over Kel Nagel, Australia's defending champion, who had 68-75-145.

But as Palmer handed in his card for official recognition he was given a penalty stroke and credited with a 73 and the tie with Nagel.

West United

—In London, NATO Secretary General Dirk U. Stikker said the alliance must move all try to prevent a crisis over Berlin. But he said it must be made "abundantly clear" to Khrushchev that the West is "united and stand resolved together," and if he starts anything, "we will be there."

He got a tremendous cheer when he finished talking. And then he walked down the porch steps to shake hands with the nearest him. That really started a stampede. The rope barrier went over. So did the boxwood hedge. So did many of the young men and women in the first rows.

"We want Kennedy," they thundered in cheering, section style. They yelled and applauded and girls danced up and down when Kennedy finally showed up with a smile and a wave for the crowd.

He got a tremendous cheer when he finished talking. And then he walked down the porch steps to shake hands with the nearest him. That really started a stampede. The rope barrier went over. So did the boxwood hedge. So did many of the young men and women in the first rows.

Police and Secret Service, men and AFS officials started rescue operations. Kennedy beat a retreat to the porch and, with a final grin and wave, went back into his office.

ADENAUER IN BERLIN — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer (left) confers with his political rival, Mayor Willy Brandt, Wednesday during Adenauer's first visit to West Berlin in 18 months. Brandt is leading the Socialist party campaign to unseat the Christian Democratic government of Adenauer in the Sept. 17 elections. In light of the present crisis, however, he gave Adenauer a hearty welcome.

West Together on Berlin

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said Wednesday the West will never let the Soviet Union settle the fate of Berlin alone "as if the three great powers had no right there."

The French leader in a television speech warned the Soviets they are creating a crisis over the former German capital that threatens the peace of the world.

DeGaulle charged the Soviets with calling for peace "while formulating requirements which threaten to put it in danger."

"The Soviets are renewing their threat of unilaterally settling the fate of Berlin . . . If Washington, London and Paris do not give up the present status of the town as required by Moscow," he said, then warned: "I declare once more, there is no chance of this being accepted."

He further warned the Soviet Union it must bear the full responsibility for any "grave consequences" of a crisis over Berlin.

At the same time he called for an atmosphere of true cooperation and coexistence in which "a problem like that of Germany would lose much of its bitterness and might, at some moment, be considered objectively by the interested powers."

DeGaulle told his own people that France must speedily purchase modern arms to replace the World War II weapons that most of her forces have.

Starting in September, he said, the length of French draftees' military service will be cut by an unspecified number of weeks, and funds saved will be used to modernize the army.

Called Propaganda

Moscow radio said De Gaulle's remarks on Berlin "only repeated U.S. and West German propaganda, crudely distorting the Soviet position."

The broadcast said the French leader proposed "in prolonging the occupation there, keeping West Berlin as a central provocation in the heart of Europe."

Dick U. Stikker, secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, voiced confidence that the Western powers can limit any aggression by the Communist bloc.

"Since NATO was founded," Stikker told a London news conference, "the Soviet bloc has encroached no farther in the West. Precisely because it has been held in Europe, the threat has now taken other forms."

"The threat with which we are faced has become quite as much political and economic in nature as military," he said. "It is NATO's task now and in the years to come to meet this challenge. I am convinced that we have the military and economic strength and also the morale and the spirit and the resources to endure."

City to Try Out Fast Mail Plan

Idea Pinpoints Hours for Deposit, Such as Bills in Afternoon

Pontiac is among 300 cities tapped by the U.S. Post Office Department for a new program to speed mail deliveries.

Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson said the new operation — Nationwide Improved Mail Service (NIMS) — will begin here this summer.

The object of the program is to get commercial mailers — who send the bulk of first-class mail here — not to send out nonpriority mail such as bills, insurance premium notices and solicitations in the late afternoon.

"With the late evening glut of nonpriority mail removed, priority mail can be handled and dispatched faster at the local office," Donaldson said.

Donaldson said he will organize a Pontiac area "mailers council" of 100 leading business and industrial mailers this summer to help put the program into effect.

Searchers Find New Footprints

May Be Clue to Gunman Who Killed 2 Lawmen, Wounded Others

KREMMLING, Colo. — Fresh footprints along a mountain river bank today spurred the search for a gunman who killed two Colorado law officers and wounded two others.

More than 15 officers, ranchmen and other armed men formed search parties for the killer in West-Central Colorado mountain country. Bloodhounds and planes were used in the search.

LA. Hiram Short, 49, of the Colorado Highway Patrol, and Under Sheriff John Clark, 68, of Eagle County, were killed by the man after officers thought they had cornered him.

He grabbed a pistol from his pocket and shot Short and wounded two others where he was first stopped. Later, at a roadside, Clark was fatally wounded.

The footprints were found today close to the Colorado River, two miles northeast of Bond, Colo., a hamlet 15 miles southwest of Kremmling.

Officers expressed fear that the fugitive killer might harm persons at ranches scattered through the mountainous country, dotted with shrubs, sagebrush and rocky outcroppings.

Sheriff Daney Van Pelt, 55, of Grand County, and Robert Hoover of Grand Junction, a State Game and Fish Department eddy collector, were shot at Denver with serious bullet wounds.

Hoover had stopped to assist a motorist who, apparently, was having car trouble. He became suspicious.

The flyer, described as in his late 20s, was driving a car purchased July 3 at Sioux City, Iowa, by a man giving the name of Delmar Dean Spooner of Storm Lake, Iowa. Officers said Spooner left there July 6.

Crash Probe Eyes Hydraulic of DC8

landed. The Miami jet went off the runway, but stopped safely.

The Denver DC8 swerved when two tires blew out, smashed a panel truck parked near the runway, and burst into flames.

Of the 122 aboard, 16 were burned to death, seven were seriously injured, and the rest escaped unscathed or with minor injuries.

A man in the panel truck was killed.

Halaby told investigators that if the Miami and Denver accidents had "any connection which would indicate a weakness in the DC8, we ought to do something about it."

But Halaby would make no direct statement to newsmen, and neither would any of the more than a dozen federal officials involved in the investigation.

United imposed a complete blackout on any explanations of all seven crew members who escaped or from other company employees. UAL President W. A. Patterson, here from Chicago, refused to answer any queries from newsmen.

UAL has the biggest domestic fleet of 140 jets, 55 domestic Douglas DC8s.

Fire Chief Allie Feldman of Denver snapped back at critics who alleged there was delay in the firefighting equipment reaching the crash scene.

"It didn't make any difference how many pieces of fire equipment we had there, we couldn't have saved those 16 people," Feldman said.

The fire chief said fire equipment was on a standby call, similar to 198 other calls this year. "We started rolling our trucks when the airplane hit the runway," said Fire Capt. Edward Trunk.

Union Asks for Hike of at Least 8½ Cents

DETROIT. — The United Auto Workers Union presented its wage demands to General Motors Corp. today without putting a price tag on them. But GM called them substantial.

The UAW asked GM to revise upwards the wage formula in the auto industry and indicated it would settle for no less than annual increase of 8½ cents an hour.

The present formula calls for an increase of 5½ per cent or six cents an hour and dies wages to the cost of living.

GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton voiced concern over the union demand. He gave no indication GM would be willing to keep in effect the wage formula.

"NO SURPRISE" — The UAW's demand for a substantial increase in direct wages, through changes in the wage formula, comes as no surprise to Seaton.

"Higher direct wages have always been a part of the union's demands in past negotiations."

"The whole subject of direct wage payments plus the 'Wage rise in the auto industry' UAW's proposals on so-called 'fringes' will be dealt with in greater detail by us at a later stage in these negotiations."

"We are sure that both subjects will be most serious part of our collective bargaining talks, until the very end."

"We say this because it is obvious too great an increase in employment costs, whether in the form of wages, fringe benefits, or both, can only push up costs to the point where renewed inflation would again result in rising prices."

In demanding improvement of the wage formula in the auto industry's labor contracts, the union said it is "far out of step with the growth in the nation's economy."

"Wage rises in the auto industry have failed to keep pace with the rate of productivity increase," the union said.

"In dollar terms, auto workers' wages are 81 cents an hour less than if they had been increased since 1940 at the same rate as the productivity."

2 Children Die in Blast and Fire

Mount Morris Tragedy Attributed to Gasoline Spilled by Victim

FLINT. — Two small children died in an explosion and fire in a nearby Mount Morris home. Police said it was caused by gasoline spilled by one of the victims.

Mrs. Evelyn Shore, 27, who is expecting her fifth child in two weeks, rescued three other children from the blazing home. She was hospitalized with burns of the legs, arms and body.

Dead are Barbara Ann Shore, 4, and William Lee Shore, 2½.

Police said William apparently picked up a two-gallon can of gasoline used for cleaning and spilled the contents in a rear bedroom of the Shore's home.

While Mrs. Shore was attempting to wash up the gasoline, a gas hot water heater ignited the fumes. The one-story frame home was destroyed.

Humphrey Back From Berlin

'Reds Not Ready for War'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said today Soviet Premier Khrushchev was plagued by food shortages of staggering proportions and "is not ready to go to war" over Berlin.

Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader, made the statement at a news conference held on his return from a visit to Berlin.

The entire Communist empire today is living on short rations," he said.

State Level Feuding Hit

municipal and school bond issues, said that local governments — especially those in Oakland County — have begun to meet problems of new metropolitan areas in much the same way that the state met its school construction crisis in 1955.

In both cases, federal aid was not necessary, or only to a minor extent.

Schimmel indicated that a community's ability to solve its problems without having to turn to federal aid was a big factor in its credit rating.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works, formed in 1958, has been able to cut across suburban boundaries to complete big, intercommunity sewer projects without any surrender of local autonomy, Schimmel pointed out.

In this respect, Oakland County communities are now solving metropolitan area problems that still challenges metropolitan areas elsewhere, he said.

The communities have been able to do it, not by turning to federal aid, but by putting the financial resources of the county behind bond issues, he noted.

Schimmel is the acknowledged architect of the 1955 program which solved the school room shortage in Michigan.

Still in effect, the program saw a $500-million "insurance fund" created on the state level to back local construction bond issues.

"The taxpayers in Michigan have conclusively demonstrated that school buildings can be financed at the state level with reasonable local effort, without gifts or grants either from the state or federal governments," Schimmel said.

"When credit terms can be reasonably arranged, school districts can win the classroom race; winners are satisfied and all have been accomplished without surrendering to the local building programs."

Traffic Accidents in 1961 Down From Last Year

BIRMINGHAM — Traffic accidents here during the first six months of 1961 show a reduction over the same period of last year, it was reported today by Police Chief Ralph W. Mokey.

A total of 385 accidents were reported from January to June in 1961 while the figure was decreased to 357 during the same time this year, Mokey said.

The six-month totals also show four less persons were injured in accidents this year. There were no fatalities during this period.

Mokey also pointed out that mishaps were reduced to 69 last month as compared with 77 recorded in June 1960. However, the figure for last month was 10 higher than in May.

Right-of-way violations were reported to be the chief source of accidents which contributed to traffic accidents last month.

This type of violation was present in 130 accidents for the first six months in 1960 and 131 accidents so far this year.

Following too closely was present in 121 accidents in 1960 and 88 this year, the police chief said.

Mokey said that all officers have been alerted to take the necessary enforcement action to discourage these violations from being committed before they contribute to further accidents.

Woman Victim of Drowning

Autopsy Shows Cause of Death in Cass Lake Boat Tragedy

Autopsy results showed Mrs. Leona Lampton, 48, of 850 Robinwood Ave., one of two victims in a boating accident on Cass Lake Monday night, died of drowning. The autopsy was requested by Mrs. Lampton's family, who said she might have suffered a heart attack as the boat capsized.

The other drowning victim was Mrs. William Gray, 38, of 231 Chamberlain St.

Neither woman could swim. They were passengers in a small boat when it sank. Four others were rescued.

Both the boat operator, William Hatley, 38, of 190 Mill St., and the boat owner, Richard Schaeffer, 23, of 414 Tilmor Drive, were to be arraigned today in Waterford Township justice court on charges of negligent operation of a boat. The women's deaths raised the county's drowning toll for the year to 13, with four deaths recorded this month. Last month claimed three persons by drowning in area waters. Last year at this time five persons had drowned locally. The final toll in 1960 was 20.

Ypsilanti Legal Tangle Growing Over Xway Crash

YPSILANTI (AP) — Legal involvements in a post-Christmas crash on the Willow Run Expressway near the city dump here are reaching fantastic proportions.

Actually, Ypsilanti city, thus far has appeared in four lawsuits but it is expected that the total will reach 26 before the notices of intent to sue end. Ypsilanti Township and Washtenaw County highway commission are in similar positions, bringing the total to a probably 78 actions against the public.

Then estimate how many more suits could be involved with the occupants of the 13 or 14 cars in the accident suing drivers and owners of those ahead and behind them for personal damages. Losses from wreckage of cars also could add to the total.

Thus far there are 20 persons claiming whiplash injuries. In addition to one fatality. One passenger claims a back injury and another facial cuts.

The first four suits against the city total $82,500 and City Attorney Kenneth Bronson says that if claims continue to be as inflated as the first four, and if juries should find for the plaintiffs, the city might be mortgaged well into the future.

These first suits have been brought in Detroit federal courts and in Wayne County Circuit Court where juries have the reputation of being more generous in damage cases than those in Washington. Thus, need for trips to Detroit helps complicate defense for lawyers of local units of government.

Circumstances of the accident seem as befogged as the highway where it occurred and, with some drivers refusing to talk and other drivers not agreeing on what happened, piecing together the big saw puzzle has required painstaking effort.

From information now available, Mr. Bronson, except for the complication of one mystery car, thinks it happened this way: It was a misty, overcast day and had just stopped raining. The wind had been blowing in a northerly direction and there was an underground fire at the dump.

The contractor, John Kwiatkowski, Milan, had been assigned city equipment for handling a persistent underground combustion and his men were using a bulldozer to cover with dirt the smoking section.

There were no flames, Mr. Bronson points out, but the winds had cut under the bank at the edge of the dumpings and fanned the smoldering section until smoke was coming through the surface pores.

The wind changed and smoke was apparently carried over the nearby expressway where the heaviness of the atmosphere caused it to cling to the ground.

This was the condition when the chain reaction accident took place. Apparently Evelyn Hillsberg, Inkster, traveling in the passing or high speed lane of the westbound highway, drove into the mist, smoke or smog, and stopped. Her car was hit from behind by one driven by Cataldo Casucci, Detroit.

At this time the Hillsberg car was ablaze. Whether it caught fire before or after the Casucci impact is a moot question.

Casucci and his passengers seem to have been out of his car at this point and the car either rolled or was struck and the impact sent it into the opposite, or eastbound lane of the highway.

There it was struck by a car operated by teen-aged Dennis Peake, Detroit, whose car, in turn, was hit by one driven by Joseph Wetzkyowski, Detroit.

In the meantime the site of the original pile up was adding more cars to the chain. One driven by Alvin C. Charlevis, Wyandotte, either hit the Hillsberg car or stopped and was hit in the rear in the passing lane by a car operated by William H. Goodline, Detroit.

With three cars now stopped in the westbound lane, a car driven by Robert Sadler, Oaklawn, Ill., hit the Goodline car with such force that it virtually "exploded."

This is the final impact in the westbound passing lane, the Goodline car burning as a result of the crash.

Next a westbound car driven by Ronald Schonscheck, 21, Lincoln Park, was stopped in the right side of the roadway, possibly opposite the Hillsberg car.

A small foreign car driven by the late George Wilcox, Ypsilanti Township, either hit the Schonscheck car or was struck and pushed into it. The steering wheel punctured the aorta of his heart and he died a few hours later in Beyer Memorial Hospital.

The Wilcox car was apparently hit from behind by an auto driven by Robert J. Burrows, Roseville, and the Burrows car was hit by one operated by Joseph Krystan, Hamtramck.

Next link in the chain was when Paul North, Highland Park, struck the Krystan automobile and the final smash was when Michael Dooley, an Ann Arbor student, hit the North car.

The mystery car, which may or may not have been involved in the early portion of the multiple accident was a brownish, colored 1957 station wagon bearing Illinois license plates. It was seen at the site but was driven away before a record of the driver was obtained.

The bulldozer which was being used at the dump was taken to the highway and assisted in pulling the cars apart so that traffic could be cleared.

State police officers remained in the area and warned other motorists of the mist, smoke, and smog danger but Mr. Bronson noted that drivers failed to heed the warning and traversed the section at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. He feels that drivers involved in the accidents have only themselves to blame.

The tragedy occurred in the small portion of the highway which is within the city limits. However, the city has no jurisdiction over the state-owned highway. Mr. Bronson points out.

He also notes that the dump was there before the highway war. The main portion of the crashes was in Ypsilanti Township and the County Road Commission enters the picture because it maintains the highway for the state.

It is anticipated that trial of the cases will consume two or three years since court calendars in Wayne County are not as current as that maintained in Washtenaw by Judge James R. Breaky. Mr. Bronson expects that regardless of results, there will be numerous appeals to the state supreme court.

Mixed Dance Class Leads to Muddle

CLEVELAND (U) — "Mixed Dancing" is one of the courses offered for the women's physical education requirements at Western Reserve University's Flora Stone Mather College. There's usually a line of coeds waiting to sign up.

"They think the 'mixed' means men and women," says instructor Kathy Karipides. "Then they find out the 'mixed' means forms of dancing, such as square, folk and modern."

There are no men in the class.

The advanced technicians in the field of electronic automation are using a new word "nanosecond," which means a thousandth of a millionth of a second.

'Riders' Change Minds on Deal

Decide Not to Give Up Trip in Exchange for Suspended Sentence

By The Associated Press
Four "Freedom Riders" who earlier agreed to stop their tour of the South in exchange for suspended fines and jail sentences changed their minds and returned to jail at Little Rock, Ark.
One of the four, Rev. John C. Raines, 77, of Setauket, N.Y., said Wednesday night the group discussed the matter and decided that to leave would be giving up something they believed was right.
Raines said he assumed the group would begin serving six-month sentences.

Municipal Judge Quinn Glover convicted the group on breach of peace charges Wednesday but said he would suspend their six-month terms and $500 fines if they would go home.
The four, arrested Monday night when they stopped at Little Rock en route from St. Louis to Shreveport and New Orleans, La., at first agreed to leave but later decided to remain in jail.

APPEALS DECISION
Meanwhile at New Orleans Judge John Minor Wisdom of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals granted a convicted Freedom Rider the right to take her case to his court. It was the first of the Freedom Rider cases to reach this judicial level.

Wisdom signed a certificate of probable cause allowing Elizabeth Wyckoff, 46, New York free lance writer, to appeal to the federal appeals court.
Miss Wyckoff was arrested June 2 at the Trailways bus terminal in Jackson, Miss., for breach of the peace and convicted on June 5. Jackson City Judge James Spencer sentenced her to a $200 fine and a suspended 60-day jail term. She refused to pay the fine and went to the state prison to work it out at the rate of $3 per day.

At Jackson, Spencer convicted two Jackson Negroes for breach of the peace in the city's first lunch counter sit-in. He fined Lavagn Brown, 16, and Jimmie Travis, 18, $200 and sentenced them to four months in jail.
The convictions came as the city learned of the coming of 17 more "freedom riders" from Los Angeles to challenge the state's century-old segregation laws and traditions.
So far, city police have arrested 22 riders on breach of the peace charges.

FIRE IS WORST HAZARD—Smoke billows from the burning wreckage of the DC8 plane which crashed and burned at Stapleton Field. A spokesman for the National Fire Prevention Association said crash-resistant fuel tanks would do much to reduce the seriousness of accidents such as this one. He also recommends more fire-fighting equipment at airports.

Crash-Resistant Fuel Tanks Might Prevent Plane Fires

BOSTON (AP)—A spokesman for the National Fire Protection Association said today proper attention to crash fire hazards in the design of aircraft could do much to reduce the seriousness of accidents such as occurred Tuesday in Denver, Colo.

OFFERED SUGGESTIONS
George H. Tryon, secretary of the NFPA aviation committee, said in a statement that he recommended to a congressional investigating committee in 1946 installation of crash resistant fuel tanks and impact-actuated crash fire prevention systems.

Such systems, he said, would cut off electric power in a crash and spray hot engines with a liquid coolant.

NFPA IS A nonprofit technical and educational clearing house for fire safety information.

Tryon said "top aviation research agencies, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Federal Aviation Agency have worked out the essential details of designs for this equipment but nothing has been done to install the protection in actual commercial aircraft."

"Speed, range and payload have dominated design considerations," Tryon said NFPA has developed guidance material on aircraft craft rescue and fire fighting equipment for airports.

"These recommendations," he continued, "have been available since 1951 but compliance has lagged due to the cost of providing this protection and because of divided responsibility between airport managements, the cities served and aircraft operators in purchasing and manning the apparatus."

"Meanwhile, the crash fire hazard has grown in proportions which make a mockery of manual fire suppression efforts. Improvement must come via aircraft design safeguards."

Tryon said the matter of fuel tankage is particularly critical. "Placing up to 20,000 gallons of jet fuel in containers which would be banned in any city if they were to be transported over the road . . . and then carrying that fuel in a wing of an aircraft which also mounts the engines and landing gear is obviously questionable when any impact occurs which may damage the structure," Tryon said.

WEIGHT PENALTY
"Greater crash resistance can be secured for these fuel tanks, but it would involve a weight penalty which could mean several passenger seats less per plane," Tryon suggested that American aviation's next big effort "should be toward linking this crash fire problem instead of complicating safety further by developing supersonic aircraft which have the same or worse crash fire hazards."

To Study Bridey Murphy Tales

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Are there persons living today who lived another life in another body — perhaps in some bygone century?

An eminent University of Virginia psychiatrist isn't sure, but he says he has found enough evidence in a 10-year study to warrant further investigation.

For additional proof he is leaving Saturday for India and Ceylon, where several children claim to have memories of another life.

The doctor, Ian Stevenson, is professor of neurology and psychiatry and chairman of that department at the university's School of Medicine. He will work under a grant from the Parapsychology Foundation in New York.

SURVIVES DEATH

He says succinctly, "There is some evidence that part of the human organism survives physical death." He says he is not referring to any organic part of the body, but "to what was called the soul in the 19th century."

Speaking of case studies of children who claim to have lived before, Dr. Stevenson says, "apparent memories of this kind are fragmentary, and usually fade as the children get older. Such children usually remember from a dozen to 20 items, and these are usually scenes of strong emotional significance, such as the death of a mother or father."

Dr. Stevenson said he hopes to release a full report within a year on one such case—the one involving a woman in Philadelphia. He said that under hypnosis the woman undergoes a personality change and switches from English to an early form of Swedish dialect. Out of hypnosis, she speaks no Swedish at all and has no apparent connection with such a background.

If this sounds much like the famous case of the Pueblo, Colo., housewife who believed she was Bridey Murphy in 19th century

Ireland, Dr. Stevenson isn't worried. He believes in the evidence produced in that study, but adds it is not one of the best examples.

MORE IN INDIA

Dr. Stevenson said he is going to India for a seven-week visit because cases suggesting a previous existence are more prevalent there than in Europe or America. He said that perhaps the Buddhist and Hindu beliefs in reincarnation provide a favorable climate for stories of this kind.

In his studies, Dr. Stevenson acknowledges the possibility of a fantasy. It is entirely possible, he said, that the person could have learned the information through such normal channels as a newspaper, a family member or an acquaintance.

He admits, "This aspect of parapsychology is not yet recognized by many as a branch of science. There is slender evidence, nothing like proof. But the evidence of survival that we do have, slight though it is, justifies much more investigation."

Before coming to the University of Virginia four years ago, Dr. Stevenson, 42, a native of Montreal, Canada, was an associate professor of psychiatry at the Louisiana State University School of Medicine in New Orleans, and

Pretty Nurse Mad About Him

Calls Yuri Most Kissable

LONDON (AP)—A pretty British dental nurse kissed Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin Wednesday night and pronounced him "the most kissable man in the universe."

"Oh, it was wonderful, just wonderful," said Olivia Bryden, 23. "I'm mad about him. I shall remember it always."

Olivia ambushed the 5-foot-5 Russian as he emerged from the Soviet Embassy on his way to a reception. She clung her arms around his neck and gave him a solid smack on the cheek.

Yuri, a married man whose wife remained in Moscow, looked embarrassed.

So did his Soviet bodyguards. They grabbed the girl and pushed her back into the crowd gathered to see the cosmonaut.

Gagarin—who was kissed on both cheeks and the mouth by Soviet Premier Khrushchev after his space flight—quickly recovered his composure. He smiled.

Father Gives Life to Rescue His Son

LEHI, Utah (AP)—A father gave his own life for his son's Wednesday. He leaped into a sewer trench and, with his body shielded the boy from the full force of a cave-in.

The collapsing dirt pushed 35-year-old contractor Darrel Adams face into the opposite wall of the trench, and a chunk of asphalt pinned his head in that position.

Rescue workers, digging frantically, were too late to save Adams. But beneath the dirt, cradled between his dead father's knees and arms, they found 14-year-old Richard Adams still alive.

The boy was hospitalized overnight for observation.

climbed into the car and rubbed at the lipstick on his cheek with his handkerchief as the car pulled away.

"Yes, I have a boy friend," Olivia told newsmen. "and I don't think he's going to like it very much."

Polio Cases Low So Far but Wait

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service reports "a remarkably low level" of polio cases in the United States so far this year. But it cautions against overoptimism.

There were 237 polio cases in the first half of the year. There were about twice as many in the first half of 1960—469—and more than four times as many in the first half of 1959—1,028.

This is the time of year a distinct increase in cases is expected. Eighteen new cases—eight of them paralytic—were reported from 11 states for the week ended July 1.

Ayub Makes Congressmen Sit Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The tall, stern soldier towering over the speaker's rostrum was winking up a lesson in history and civics before a joint session of Congress. Speeches by foreign dignitaries are old hat to Washington lawmakers, but this was something different. The rain-soaked man with the dark moustache had gone half an hour without a prepared speech.

Now he was warming up to foreign aid — something his country wants plenty of. He was speaking in British-accented English, but used sharp American idioms, just as a congressman would.

"It's not a vote-getter," he told the congressmen. "And we are a long way from you. We need this and we need that. You are getting a bit tired of this story."

The audience laughed. Indeed, many were getting tired of it. But the speaker's eyes flashed and his finger waved at the laughing congressmen.

"I suggest to you that you had better not get tired of it," he snapped.

The laughter stopped, a congressman gasped, and the whir of newsreel cameras suddenly seemed deafening.

"In the event of real trouble there's no other country in Asia you'll even be able to put your foot in," Ayub said. "The only people who will stand by you are the people of Pakistan."

"Provided you are also prepared to stand by them."

Ayub's speech had been scheduled for 20 minutes, but it stretched out to 50 before he finished, after numerous interruptions for applause.

LIKE CHURCHILL

Enraptured congressmen compared Ayub's speech with one by Winston Churchill. They called his blunt, off-the-cuff talk "magnificent," "incredible," "terrific," and "great."

One lawmaker gave it the ultimate praise: "I couldn't have said it better myself."

Ayub told the legislators that "we are pressing against you today as friends . . . but if we don't make the grade and, heaven forbid, we fall under communism, then we will be pressing against you again—but not as friends."

He warned that if the Pakistani public isn't assured a decent living for its people "in, say, 15 or 20 years, we shall be overtaken by communism."

Ayub, who took control of his government by force, has never been elected to anything. But his oratory amazed Congress.

Normally taciturn, Speaker Sam Rayburn assured Ayub later that "no country in the world" deserves U.S. aid more, and told him that he was a "man with iron in his backbone and brains in his head."

Rep. John W. McCormack, House Democratic leader, called it "the most unusual speech I have ever heard delivered in my 33 years here."

House GOP leader Charles A. Halleck said he "wondered" what him (Ayub) to run against in Indiana.

Lightning Has a Deadly Day

LA Fisherman, Nine North Carolina Farm Workers Killed

From Our News Wires
LOS ANGELES — One of this city's lightning storms — so rare that housewives call police when they hear a thunderclap — Wednesday killed a fisherman, injured several other persons slightly and caused widespread minor damage.

A lethal bolt during the morning hours took the life of Robert Michael Lindeburg, 45, Redondo Beach, Calif., while he was fishing in his home town's surf.

Two women standing nearby, Childa Scotton, 31, Redondo Beach, and Dorothy P. Parks of Torrance, Calif., were knocked to the ground and received minor injuries.

At least 13 fires in Southern California forests were touched off by the lightning. None of them was serious.

Southern California has recorded very few lightning storms in its weather history. When they do occur they often evoke unusual human reactions—police report their switchboards almost always are flooded by anxious callers inquiring about jet some homes or petroleum tanks explosions.

Near Clinton, N. C., farm workers were in a field harvesting tobacco when a summer storm typical for that area started. The workers, all nine of them, sought refuge in a nearby barn, as they had done before, leaving the cut leaf under a shelter, planning to return to their tasks after the shower ended.

For eight of them, there was no return.

A bolt of lightning smashed down the barn door, seared across the damp ground and cut them down in an instant, leaving no mark on their bodies.

Several other people in the barn were uninjured. Among the victims was the sharecropper couple operating the simple farmstead, Oscar and Annette Cottle. Another was a 70-year-old woman. The rest were teen-agers.

To Open Bids July 19 on Freeway Sections

LANSING (AP)—The State Highway Department announced it will open bids Wednesday on construction of 7.9 miles of 195 in Berrien County.

Also included in the contract letting will be the final link of the Detroit — Muskegon Freeway near Lansing, about four miles of the Southfield Freeway in Detroit and Dearborn and modernization of about 90 miles of other highways.

Judge Settles Suit by Letting Charity Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Margaret Longenecker told the court she hadn't ordered the slacks and, what's more, they didn't fit her; Millie Kahn, who made the slacks, disagreed on both counts and demanded payment.

When someone suggested that Mrs. Longenecker model the disputed garment in court, Superior Judge Steven S. Weisman threw up his hands, halted proceedings and reached for his checkbook.

"For heaven's sake," he said, "Superior Court is no place for a backyard argument. If you can't settle this, I will."

He handed Mrs. Kahn a check for $13 in payment for the slacks. "I'll donate it to charity," said Mrs. Kahn.

"And I'll donate the slacks to charity," said Mrs. Longenecker. "Next case," said the judge. The case reached Superior Court on appeal from Small Claims Court.

Youth Problem Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says the problem of juvenile delinquency will be beyond solution in 10 years if a nationwide attack on it is not started at once. Testifying before a House Education subcommittee, Kennedy called for a tightly coordinated campaign by federal, state and local authorities.

Whale Travels
Up to London.

Dies in Reeds
LONDON (AP)—A one-ton whale invaded London by speeding 60 miles up the busy Thames River Wednesday but got tangled in reeds and died.

The 14-foot mammal—a rare female specimen of the lesser Portuguese whale—slipped through the heavy river traffic to get 12 miles upstream from London Bridge.

Trying to evade a motor launch as the tide ebbed, she ran aground near Kew. A group of men came to the rescue, found she was injured and hauled her back into the river.

Spouting water, the whale sped away while police in a launch waved off boats and tried to maneuver her toward the open sea.

But the whale got caught in reeds and died after the police launch dragged her free.

Pontiac Twp. Offers Outdoor Fun

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — A new summer recreation program, featuring five swimming classes and supervised outdoor activities, is underway here for children from all sections of the township.

Organized by the Pontiac Township Board of Trustees, the program is open to youngsters from 6 to 14 years old. It is supervised by the Rochester branch of the YMCA.

Games, crafts, softball leagues, basketball, touch football, volleyball and other playground activities are being offered at Will Rogers Elementary School on Dexter Road, just north of Walton Boulevard.

All outdoor events are supervised by student-instructors from Michigan State University. Oakland while swimming at the Pontiac YMCA is directed by certified lifeguards.

Buses provided by the township will transport children to the summer recreation sites free of charge.

Outdoor activities at Will Rogers School will be held Tuesday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. for 6-to-10-year-olds and from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. for 11-to-14 year-olds.

Boys and girls from the Joslyn Road area of the township will have their sessions at the school playground on Tuesdays and Thursdays while those living near Will Rogers and Willis schools will meet on Wednesdays and Fridays.

In order that children from the Joslyn area may participate in the summer-long program, they will be taken to Will Rogers School.

Walled Lake Switches Engineering Consultants

WALLED LAKE — The firm of Johnson & Johnson, Inc., has been named engineering consultant for the city to succeed Civil Engineers, Inc., of Detroit.

The Watford Township engineering firm will be engaged on a fee basis, according to City Manager George A. Shaw. Civil Engineers had been the city's consultant for two years.

by a bus which leaves the Joslyn Fire Station at 9 a.m. for the younger group and 1 p.m. for the older ones.

The bus will return to the fire station immediately following morning and afternoon sessions.

Youngsters from 9 to 14 years old may take part in the swimming program each Saturday. A bus will take them to the Pontiac Y from the Joslyn Fire Station at 10 a.m. and from the Will Rogers School at 5:30 a.m.

Registration blanks for the swimming classes may be obtained at the Will Rogers School or at the Pontiac Township Hall, 2000 Opyke Road.

The recreation program will continue until Aug. 26.

GAL SHOWS 'EM HOW—Although she usually supervises girls' activities in Pontiac Township's new summer recreation program, Sandra Brooks of 2641 Leach Road also can give the boys a few pointers in basketball. Watching the demonstra-

Police Probe Fatal Accident

Shelby Man Killed, Friend Hurt as Auto Rolls Over in Field

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Rameo state police today were investigating an automobile accident which claimed the life of a Shelby Township man and resulted in injury to his companion early this morning near Mount Clemens.

Dead is Daniel F. Young, 21, of 8231 Devon Drive. Robert Warnock, 19, of the same address, was in fair condition today at St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, with cuts and bruises and a possible back injury.

Young died at the hospital at 4:40 a.m. about two hours after he was thrown from his car when it went off the road and crashed about 200 feet into a field. Young was suffering from a shock, internal injuries and a fractured skull when rushed to the hospital at 2:50 a.m.

State police said they have not determined who was driving the car when the accident occurred. The car was owned by Young, but his license had been revoked, police said.

Officers reported that the car was traveling at an apparently high rate of speed on 25-mile Road in Macomb Township.

The driver ran a stop sign at Hayes Road, failed to negotiate a turn just east of the intersection and crashed straight ahead into the field, according to police.

Warnock was not thrown from the car, which rolled over several times after it ran off the road. Warnock told police early today he did not remember who was driving the vehicle when the mishap took place.

FOUR TOWNS—The Men's Club of the Four Towns Methodist Church will host the women of the church at a dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Jones of 4901 Sherbourne Road.

Something for All at Strawberry Festival in Orion

ORION TOWNSHIP — Entertainment for everyone from tiny tots to adults will be featured at the annual Strawberry Festival tomorrow and Saturday at St. Alfred's Episcopal Church.

A merry-go-round, pony rides and cotton candy will be available for children on the church grounds at Indianwood Road and Lapeer Road (M24).

Cloves also will be on hand to add a carnival atmosphere to the festival, which will be presented from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. both tomorrow and Saturday.

Booths for adults featuring hand-made gifts, baked goods, strawberries and ice cream also will be located on the grounds. Lunches and other refreshments will be on sale.

The festival is sponsored by the St. Alfred's Churchwomen of which Mrs. John Weener is president. Mrs. William Gibbons and Mrs. Don Davidson are co-chairmen of the event.

Woman Tells of Jostling at Oak Park

OAK PARK (AP)—A shoving incident occurred Wednesday at the Crystal Swimming pool which a group of white and Negro teenagers are picketing to support demands for its racial integration.

Police said Mrs. Lorraine Tobias, 29, of 538 Westbourne Road, West Bloomfield Township, was shoved and jostled as she tried to pass through a line of about 40 pickets with her two small children.

A 15-year-old picket was ordered to appear with his parents before Oak Park police. An older youth fled when officers tried to arrest him, police said.

Five policemen were on hand to maintain order. They said they were told not to interfere unless there was an offense committed in their presence.

The pool operates as a private club.

Troy May Set New Policy on Costs of Water Mains

TROY — A new policy concerning the cost of water mains installed in special assessment districts here may be set at a public hearing to be held July 31 at Troy City Hall.

The hearing is scheduled specifically to discuss the installation of a 12-inch water main on East Long Lake Road from Rochester Road to 520 feet east of John R. Road.

Property owners along East Long Lake Road have appeared at several City Commission meetings to ask that a main be constructed to ease a critical water shortage in their area.

Mrs. Richard Hollingsworth of 1328 E. Long Lake Road presented a petition signed by 53 per cent of the property owners in the area who want a line installed under a special assessment agreement.

However, commissioners are undecided concerning the percentage of costs that should be paid by the city. Residents who petitioned for water formerly paid the entire cost of a 6-inch line.

But City Manager David E. Firestone pointed out that a line on East Long Lake Road would be a major east-west feeder main. He said he could not recommend a 6- or 8-inch line and explained that the city's master water plan called for a 16-inch main in that area.

The East Long Lake Road line

25-Bed Hospital Fund Is Started at Goodrich

GOODRICH — A drive to raise $250,000 for construction of a new 25-bed hospital here has started with $50,000 obtained in initial gifts, it was announced last night.

Financial reports were made last night at a citizens meeting attended by about 150 residents from the service area of the proposed hospital, including northern Oakland, western Lapeer and southeastern Genesee counties.

eventually will be connected into a huge main on Dequindre which will supply Troy residents with Detroit water. Commissioners approved a 35-year contract to purchase Detroit water at their Monday meeting.

Since residents on East Long Lake Road will be receiving benefits of a larger line, Firestone said their portion of the cost should be greater.

The city manager suggested assessing $4-per-foot for the line and advised that the commission establish a set price for all future special assessment water districts.

Romeo to Take Full Ownership of Cemetery

ROMEO — A contract will be signed within the next month which will give the village full ownership of the Romeo Cemetery, Village Clerk Mrs. Dorothy Curt said yesterday.

Under the arrangement, the village will take over control of the cemetery from the Romeo Cemetery Association. The village will receive all burial fees and in return will assume complete responsibility for the cemetery.

The Village Council has voted unanimously to assume control of the former privately-owned facility. There will be no cost to the village for obtaining the cemetery.

Mrs. Curt said ownership was being transferred because services formerly handled by the association can be taken care of more easily through the village office.

In other action, the council has approved a stricter disorderly persons ordinance and adopted an order which prohibits trucks from passing moving vehicles in Romeo.

The council also voted to repair the roof and install a fire escape at the Village Hall.

CHICAGO (AP)—Benjamin C. Willis, superintendent of Chicago public schools since 1953, today ranks as the nation's third highest paid public official.

The 50-year-old superintendent Wednesday was voted a new four-year contract at a salary of $48,500 a year by the board of education.

His new salary, a raise of $6,000 annually, places Willis behind President Kennedy who draws a $100,000 annual salary and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York who gets $50,000. Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois is paid $30,000 a year and Mayor Richard J. Daley receives a salary of $35,000 a year.

The addition is being built at a cost of about $145,000 to handle

So Much Responsibility

Mother's Job Is Big Task and a Bigger Gamble

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—I'd hate to be a mother.

When your hard-up neighbor down the street wins $336 on a daily double cracker bet, he is hard enough to live with.

In one afternoon he has gone from the poor mouth to the rich mouth.

The morning found him reluctant to recognize his own virtue.

The evening finds him unable to resist the temptation to denounce his government—dispraise his taxes. The money he has won has made him an authority on everything.

I'd hate to be a mother because she is like the gambler who won a daily double. It changes her whole outlook, too.

She gambled on a small investment and her reward was a winner. It is a most humble of maybe 7 pounds or so of crying human propitiation. It is wet at both ends and dry probably only in the middle. And it stays that way month after month.

BOYLE

Life is full of laughter, but for some mystic reason no baby is ever born smiling. They all enter this world struggling in anger and fear and hunger. Too many leave the same way.

I'd hate to be a mother.

EX-AP MAN DIES — Lloyd Stratton, 66, who retired May 1 as corporate secretary of the Associated Press, was found dead at his home Wednesday in Irvington-on-Hudson, N.Y.

DISCUSSES PICASSO

The year before she became a parent she is eager to discuss such intellectual questions as whether the earth would be better if Picasso had got stuck in his blue rather than his pink mood, or if Dr. Albert Schweitzer and Tennessee Williams could shake hands across the distance.

But the day after she becomes a mother she becomes a tigress. The envelope of her attention is sealed to the small thing from inside her that now cuddles warmly to her side.

The frontier of her ears is the sounds it makes; the frontier of her sight is its waving fists and kicking feet.

A hundred thousand or more infants may be born on a single day, but her world is instantly concentrated to the squirming kingdom of newness—this incessant and uncertain individuality—that she has entered into the human race before it can crawl. It becomes her milky empire to feed and comfort and quiet.

I'd hate to be a mother.

YEARNING TO LEARNING

Day after day she reduces herself (by engagement) trying to make this dewy glob into a person. She has to curb its normal, strident, gluttonous, wide-mouthed appetite for self-indulgence into discipline and acceptance of the aims and rights of others. She has to escort it sensibly and sensitively from yearning to learning to earning.

AUTHORESS DIES — Marie de la Roche, author of best-selling novels, died Wednesday in Toronto. She was 82.

It is a hard and always difficult and often lonely and sometimes heart-breaking task.

The reward: If she does a good job—and microbes or war don't ruin her effort—the darn thing goes off on its own, leaving her to start its own family. If she does a bad job, it complains with the breath she gave it to object against the life she conferred.

I'd hate to be a mother. The job has so much responsibility.

Perhaps that is why women make the best mothers. They are much better gamblers than men.

Men bet themselves against now, and not always willingly. But most women are eager to stake themselves against eternity, gambling on a finer issue.

Motherhood is for the birds—or women with feathers of hope in their soul.

Start Census in Cuba to Organize Rationing

HAVANA (AP)—A consumer census has started throughout Cuba to organize rationing of food and cooking oil. Cubans will be allotted 1 pound of each a month.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro said last week the rationing was forced on Cuba by U.S. embargo on land shipments.

GOP Asking, Who's Taking Care of Store?

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Who's taking the store?" Republicans asked today in a statement critical of President Kennedy's travels. The Republican National Committee's publication "Battle Line" said Kennedy has been away from Washington almost one-third of the time his administration has been in power, despite a campaign promise that if elected he would avoid tours and conferences.

Noting a story in the magazine U.S. News & World Report that as of July 6 Kennedy has been away from Washington 32 days, "Battle Line" said: "Kennedy did come to Washington, D.C., but soon took off on a continuing series of busy departures to and arrivals from Palm Beach, Fla., Middleburg, Va., Hyannis Port, Mass., Canada, London, Paris and Vienna—where the summit he rejected in November took place in June."

The publication said Democrats and others who criticized President Eisenhower's rate of travel "are strangely quiet about the much greater rate of travel of President Kennedy."

About one-sixth of Indiana's residents are on farms.

Where, Oh, Where Have Doggies Gone?

Three members of "German nobility" were kidnapped in Oakland County and two Detroit men were out $3,000 as the result.

The unusual case was reported yesterday to sheriff's deputies by Dr. Clark Lemley of Detroit.

Missing from the titled ranks are 5-year-old Lydia Von Fuchselheim, 3-year-old Erna V. Feldtman and Caudles Lender, 7.

The three are prized brown and white German short haired pointers valued at $3,000 by Dr. Lemley. He is the owner of two of the dogs.

They were reported stolen from Dr. Lemley's kennels at 2020 Beaumont Road in Highland Township, over the third.

Texas is larger than either Borneo or New Guinea.

Says Citizens Picked Up Tab for Ayub Khan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says public-spirited citizens picked up the tab for most of the expensive trills at a state dinner given President Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

The lavish party, given by President and Mrs. Kennedy Tuesday night at Mount Vernon, Va., already had occasioned some press criticism when White House News secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen Wednesday: "The only costs were for the food, and those were within the normal state department allocation for the entertainment of state guests."

No estimate of the cost of the historic affair—the first presidential dinner ever held at George Washington's home—was given.

Boy, 13, Gets Up at 6:30 for Job at Studio

Editor's Note: Jerry Mathers, 13-year-old star of TV's "Leave It to Beaver," has been in show business for more than 10 years. He broke into television at age 10, when after his family moved from Sioux City, Iowa, to Chicago, Ill., where they still live. His dad, Norman Mathers, teaches school in nearby Evanston. In his own words, Jerry tells that it's like to be a TV star and seldom be allowed to hang around to watch the other programs.

By JERRY MATHERS
Written for The AP

One of the things I miss most because of my television job is watching television. My mother makes me go to bed at 8:30 on Sunday through Thursday nights because I have to get up at 6:30 in the morning on weekdays to get ready for work.

This means I have to skip a lot of night-time shows.

I only tune in "Leave It to Beaver" once in a while. I already know the script and how each show ends.

I always feed my pets and play with them a little while in the morning, before my mother drives me to the studio. One is a German shepherd named Ron Ton Ton. He's a cousin or something of Rin Tin Tin. I also have a cat who likes raisins.

We leave for the studio about 8 o'clock. Sometimes we take my 10-year-old sister Suzie and my little brother Jimmie, and a couple of neighborhood kids to school on the way.

The guy who puts my makeup on is named Jack. Whenever he sees me, he goes "phew" and holds his nose. That's because I rub after shave lotion on my face in the morning, the way Dad does.

I was 13 in June, but I don't have any whiskers yet.

School is held in a little shack inside the sound stage near the set. On days when other kids are working in the show, I have a lot of company in school. Other days it's just me and the teacher. She's nice but I like it better when other kids are there.

THREE HOURS A DAY

We have to be in school three hours a day, but it lasts almost the whole day because we go back and forth to the set whenever they need us for a scene.

At lunchtime, all the kids eat in a big table at the studio commissary and horse around a lot.

If there's any time left after lunch, I go back to the stage and play basketball with Tony Dow and some of the other kids in the show and the guys in the crew. We have a basket hung up on one of the walls.

We quit work at 5 o'clock, and I go home with my mother. She has to stay at the studio with me all day. Before dinner, I play ball with the kids in the neighborhood or maybe in hot weather go for a swim in somebody's pool. After dinner, I watch TV, build model planes or do some homework.

MUST STUDY LINES

At 8, my mother helps me study my lines for the next day, and then I go to bed. But on Friday and Saturday, I stay up till 9:30. We rehearse on Monday and Tuesday, which means I get home early.

It's sort of lonesome, though. My sister and all the other kids are in school. I just go around with Ron Ton Ton and go straighten up my room. My mother makes me do that every day.

I have to do some work around the yard, too. But I get paid for this. Sometimes when I need more money, I can mooch it from Dad.

One of the things I like to do best is talk about cars with the older kids. I'd like to get a beat-up old Ford and fix it up myself so it would be all ready when

JERRY MATHERS—"I'd like to get a beat-up old Ford and fix it myself."

I'm 16 and old enough to drive, and the guys in the crew and I like fishing, too. At the studio always fish in them when there's some little lakes, where time, they shoot the show sometimes. We catch mudsuckers. We go real fishing with Dad on weekends when he has time. A lot of times, though, I'm scared to leave home. My brother Jimmy sneaks into my room and plays with my model airplanes. When I find one busted, I know he's been there. I keep telling him to cut it out, but he's 6 and doesn't know any better.

Eichmann Denies Part in Ordering Gas for Jews

BY THOMAS A. REEDY
JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann contended today that he did not have as much "a little finger" in a Gestapo order for his own deputy to deliver gas to the chambers where millions of Jews were exterminated.

Under blistering cross-examination for two hours, the ex-SS officer who directed the transport of the Jews to the death camps refused to accept any responsibility times declared. "My mind was a welter of confusion."

Israel Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner slashed at Eichmann with evidence that his deputy, Rolf Guenther, operated in conjunction with the special "Cydon 32" gas developed for the slaughter.

The prosecutor confronted Eichmann with his pretrial interrogation in which he said he discovered what Guenther was doing and that he railed at him: "How am I to explain this to the head of my office. He will send me to hell."

BEHIND HIS BACK
Said Eichmann: "It is clearly obvious that my mind at that time was a welter of confusion."

Then he added that his chief, Gen. Heinrich Mueller, must have assigned Guenther behind his back.

Judge Benjamin Halevy quietly interjected: "Did you report this to the head of your office?"

"This is a blank in my mind," Eichmann replied.

Halevy repeated his question in an even quieter tone.

"This I do not remember," the defendant said.

Hausner kept at it, declaring that this is "a vital matter and I want the truth."

Almost wearily, Eichmann said: "All I can do is try to reconstruct the facts. If the impression that I am trying to extricate myself here, then I am prepared to admit prior knowledge of this passing."

I have acknowledged knowing about so many things, this will not add much more. All right, I am ready to say I had foreknowledge of the gassing. "I do not want a gesture," the prosecutor declared.

Eichmann came back with his familiar defense: "I did not have any connection with this. Nobody told me about it. My office IV-B-4 was not competent in this matter."

Deposed Premier in South Korea Faces Charge

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea's military rulers leveled fresh charges against deposed Premier John M. Chang today, accusing him of taking a $2300 bribe from power companies last January.

Brig. Gen. Chai Myung-shin, chairman of the inspection committee of the military government announced his committee had filed criminal suits against Chang and 16 others, including three of Chang's cabinet ministers and the heads of three government-controlled power companies.

Chai said the 16 were involved in bribes and misappropriations totaling $95,000.

Chai said Chang took a bribe from Yoo Dong-jin, former president of the Seoul Electric Power Co.

Chai also accused a Catholic priest, Father Kim Chul, of taking a $2300 bribe from the power companies. The Korean priest's relation with Chang was not explained but it was understood that he had been an adviser to the premier, a leading Catholic layman.

Suits to Retain Jobs Considered by UAW

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers are considering legal action, based on a recent federal court decision, to insure that workers retain their jobs at companies moving out of Michigan.

The union said Wednesday that "suits are being contemplated in the immediate future" against Lyons, Inc., the Scott Valve Manufacturing Co. and Detroit Gasket & Manufacturing Co.

All three firms are in the process of moving from Detroit. The union said its action would be based on a ruling by U.S. District Judge Fred Kazen last Wednesday that seniority workers had a vested right to their jobs.

LEAVES PARLIAMENT BEHIND—Bank of Canada Gov. James E. Coyne leaves parliament and his "day in court" behind. Mrs. Coyne ran to her husband when he abruptly left the senate banking committee hearing Wednesday after summing up his testimony. The two walked arm-in-arm to Coyne's office in the nearby Bank of Canada building. Behind the couple is the tower of Parliament Hill's West Block.

Gives Account of Death to Jury

Was One of Last to See Mrs. Peebles Alive at Silver Lake Home

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—"I heard three shots—the first and second ones close together."

Mary Catherine Voss, one of the last persons to see Mrs. Louise Peebles, 41, alive, told a packed courtroom Wednesday of the woman's death by gunfire.

Miss Voss testified as a prosecution witness at the trial of Rockford industrialist J. Otto Peebles, 42, who is charged with murder in the slaying of his wife.

Speaking quietly, Miss Voss reviewed events at her Silver Lake home the night of March 18 when Mrs. Peebles met death.

The witness testified that Mrs. Peebles and Roy Staples met in the spring of 1960 and were together several times at the Voss home, as they were on the night Mrs. Peebles was slain. Staples was wounded.

Police say Peebles admitted invading Miss Voss' home and firing a gun at his wife.

Lansing Mayor Wants Bond Plan on Ballot

LANSING (AP)—Lansing Mayor Willard I. Bowerman says he will seek City Council approval of a $5.8-million bonding program to be placed on the Sept. 12 election ballot.

Proceeds from the issue would be used to finance expansion of Lansing's bridge and highway system, sewage disposal facilities and recreation program.

Angry Bees Are Calmed With Tranquilizing Fluid

SAINT-ETIENNE, France (AP)—Forty beehives bounced off a truck near Saint-Etienne Tuesday and a swarm of angry bees formed a menacing cloud over the highway. A professional beekeeper was summoned and sprayed the bees with a tranquilizing fluid. After two hours the bees had returned to their hives, and traffic was back to normal.

Kill Arab Infiltrators

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Two armed Arab infiltrators were killed Tuesday night in clash with an Israeli army patrol east of the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip, the Israeli army announced.

'No Tax' Higgins Leads Liberal Civil Service Policies

LANSING (AP)—When George N. Higgins was chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, a favorite quip was that his middle initial stood for "no tax."

Now Higgins, wealthy Ferndale automobile dealer, is leading the liberal policies of the State Civil Service Commission.

As commission chairman, he advocated a 3 per cent pay hike for state workers—bitterly resented by many economy-minded Republicans.

Higgins also pushed through a new and liberal insurance policy for state employees.

He has gained a reputation as a champion of the underdog on the commission, which sets policy for the state's some 31,000 classified employees.

An example is his continuing fight to gain unemployment compensation or year-around employment for conservation department fire tower workers. They are traditionally laid off just a few days short of the eight months continuous employment necessary for them to qualify for jobless benefits.

This shows something of the contradictory nature of the colorful, long-time state political figure.

Higgins, a life-long Republican, was appointed to the commission

In 1958 by a Democrat he opposed for years—former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

It was claimed that while in the Senate he primarily worked for the "big three" of the automotive industry.

Still he is a close personal friend of AFL-CIO State President August (Gus) Scholle and sells him cars.

During a recent legislative session, Higgins was working behind the scenes in the Senate, trying to swing the confirmation of Scholle to the State Conservation Commission.

Higgins, white-haired but peppery at 61, has suffered three heart attacks—his most recent requiring hospitalization. He still works late most nights. Associates say they can expect telephone calls around the clock from him on business, politics or any other matters that interest him at the moment.

Higgins moved into state politics after serving as a Ferndale city commissioner and member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

He was elected to three terms in the House of Representatives and four in the Senate.

Higgins helped write the present conservative state tax setup. He battled Williams all the way on the issue of taxes, including a corporation profits tax plan and a state income tax which Williams never got.

Higgins was raised under conditions of extreme poverty in the Upper Peninsula.

"About the only meat we ate was the wild game I shot," he recalls.

Higgins migrated to Detroit where the jobs and the money were," he explains, and first worked in a General Motors axle plant.

He decided there was more money to be made in selling cars than making them and admits he operated like a carnival pitchman in his early selling days.

"I used all kinds of gimmicks," he admits. "In prohibition days I'd pay $60 a dozen for bottles of hand that smelled with a good whisky smuggled over from a capsule of sneezing powder.

When his turn to speak came, the opposition senator was doubled up in a convulsion of sneezes. The bill passed.

Although Higgins has won a lot of battles and elections, he also has had his defeats.

He was an unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor in 1946. He announced in 1954 as a Republican candidate for governor, then withdrew, refunding more than $60,000 in campaign contributions.

Probably his biggest political heartbreak was an unsuccessful bid for Congress from Oakland's 18th District in 1956. Higgins lost in the primary to William S. Broomfield.

Higgins has a hobby of putting youngsters through college. Friends think he gets satisfaction from this because of his own lack of formal education. He has financed the college education of more than 200 students through a foundation, his graduates including doctors, lawyers and others with advanced degrees.

He will still, however, stop a prospect on the street and dicker for half an hour or more about the terms of a car sale.

At a recent Senate reunion, friends and former enemies presented Higgins with a diamond stickpin and a citation.

It described him as "a diamond in the rough."

The weasel is so fearless and attack animals many times its confident of its own powers it will size.

This is New

WE'RE NO ORDINARY PROTEIN. WE'RE 100% AS USEFUL AS THE PROTEIN IN MEAT!

...100% AS USEFUL AS THE PROTEIN IN MILK!

WITH The Most Useful Protein — ever in a ready-to-eat cereal

It comes in a box like ordinary cereal, and that's where the resemblance between Life and ordinary cereal ends. For Life gives you special protein and plenty of it. It's useful protein—the same quality of protein as in meat and milk. Delicious bite-sized pieces of shredded oats with sugar crystals locked inside. Tomorrow morning enjoy the great new flavor of Life!

WHAT A DIFFERENCE IN PROTEIN...

Some proteins are "lazy." They just can't build up your body because they don't have the right amount of certain essential protein elements.

Some proteins are "hard working." They build, repair and maintain body tissues. But working, useful proteins aren't stored in the body. You need them every day.

Life gives you "hard working" protein. The useful kind of protein. Even before you add milk, Life's protein is 100% as useful as the protein in meat and milk!

Add Fresh Fruit Kebabs to Cottage Cheese Plate

You'll score with this salad at your next bridge luncheon. Pure cantaloupe and cut into 1-inch cubes. Chill with minced pineapple chunks. Thread cantaloupe cubes, pineapple and large fresh strawberries on skewers with a mini-sprig tucked between each fruit.

On individual salad plates, place several fruit kebabs, a scoop of snowy cottage cheese in lettuce cup and a flaky buttered biscuit. Here's a welcome change from rich, creamy luncheon entrees for calorie-watchers.

Child Cheater

A rubber spatula is invaluable if you like to bake cakes and cookies. Nothing is superior to this little tool when it comes to removing every bit of batter or beaten egg yolk from a bowl, or melted chocolate from a saucepan or other utensil.

Pair of Summer Fruits Make a Luscious Pie

This Blueberry-Cherry Pie deliciously combines the old with the new. Cherries date back to Biblical times and were one of the first fruit trees planted in this country by the settlers; whereas blueberries have been cultivated in this country just in the last fifty years, from the tiny wild swamp huckleberries. Both fruits are brimful of flavorful juices, the blueberries sweet, the cherries tart... a perfect combination when baked together in a crisp rich pie shell.

This pie thickened with quick-cooking tapioca, which needs no pre-cooking, bakes to perfect consistency right in the oven. Because it has no color or flavor of its own, tapioca allows the fruit flavors to blend naturally, and the juices stay glistening and clear.

When the pie is served, the berries will stay within the wedge but a little of the juice, because it is thickened rather than "set," will run appetizingly onto the plate. Delicious by itself, Blueberry-Cherry Pie served with a frosty scoop of vanilla ice cream, or thick rich cream is, absolutely irresistible.

BLUEBERRY CHERRY PIE (Using fresh blueberries and canned cherries)

- 1 tablespoon quick-cooking tapioca
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups fresh blueberries
- 2 cups drained pitted and sour cherries (canned)
- 1 cup lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon butter

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, blueberries, cherries, cherry juice, and lemon juice. Let

Use Leftover Ham in Julienne Strips

A chef-type salad that is always popular. Nice to serve when a special friend is coming over for a noon meal.

- #### Mary's Salad
- 3 cups torn romaine or other lettuce (lightly packed)
 - 1 cup thinly sliced celery
 - 1 cup minced parsley
 - 1 cup sliced cheese strips
 - 1 cup baked ham strips
 - 1 tablespoon olive oil
 - 2 tablespoons garlic-flavored vinegar
 - 1 tablespoon chopped olives
 - 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
- Arrange the romaine, celery, parsley, cheese and ham in a salad bowl; cover tightly and refrigerate. At serving time mix well with the oil, vinegar, olives and cheese. The ham will probably provide enough salt; if not, add salt and pepper to taste. Makes 2 main-course servings.

BLUEBERRY CHERRY PIE—While sweet, luscious blueberries are on the market be sure to enjoy them in this delicious Blueberry Cherry Pie made with quick-cooking tapioca as the thickener.

You'll Welcome More Recipes Using Fresh Peaches

The tree-tops are full of round, juicy peaches for this is going to be one of the big peach years with an expected crop of 40,000,000 bushels of freestone, of which almost three-fourths are registered from "Even the fence post put out peach blossoms this spring," is the way one grower sized up the present abundance.

While Georgia and the Florida peach crop are readily to mind, there are thousands of named varieties of peaches. Elberta, with its numerous variations, has been the leading commercial peach for the last half century, but other varieties are gradually rising in importance. They include Redhaven, Halehaven, Dixie, J. H. Hale, Dixiegem, Golden Jubilee and Burbank. Many new varieties are being registered each year.

Although America has been singing "Everything is Peaches Down in Georgia" for more than forty years, peaches grow happily in most parts of the country. The southern states begin the peach parade about the middle of May and as harvesting spreads northward the peaches continue to come to market in volume through September. In the meantime, millions of peach-eaters are having a delicious time, eating peaches out of hand, in pies, cakes, desserts, salads, ice creams and other delectable concoctions.

Soft-ripe peaches are wonderful in an abundant Fresh Peach Juice Cocktail, while quartered peaches and orange slices join forces in a salad which is chock-full of minerals, vitamins and health-giving nutrients.

Peaches themselves are low in calories — a small peach having about 40 calories. They are a good source of vitamin B. Occasionally you may want to treat yourself and the family to a dessert with the old-fashioned goodness of Peach Dimples.

Salami Is Versatile for Summer Meals

"Easy living" in the summer is much simpler when the meals take little preparation. Cold cuts are one of the highest honored "convenience" foods in summer. They are ready to serve alone or with other foods that require no preparation.

Salami is a cold cut with endless menu possibilities, the American Meat Institute reminds us. Besides being a favorite for the cold cuts platter, salami is a meat that tastes good and adds nutritive value to salads, soups and quick main dishes. For a salad, cut salami into thin strips and toss with shredded raw carrots, pickle relish and diced celery. Blend with mayonnaise or other salad dressing. For soup, stir salami slivers into canned or frozen split pea soup.

A hot main dish is quickly prepared from a can of German-style potato salad into which chunks of salami are stirred. A cold main dish for summer is salad cornucopia, made by folding thin slices of the meat into cone shapes, fastening with toothpicks and filling with cole slaw or cottage cheese.

Keep Summer Desserts Cool

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

If your family is anything like ours, you disappoint everyone if you don't produce dessert at the end of a meal. It shouldn't have to be fancy, but it should be a separate course.

Summer desserts can be light and airy. Forgotten are such delights as apple dumplings, baked rice pudding or date and nut cake with whipped cream. You'll want to specialize in foamy gelatin molds, fruit pies and ice cream—or just fresh fruit.

The other day we received a recipe for a Fruit Freeze that can be made with a wide choice of fruits. Use some of the late strawberries to make it now, then go on to raspberries and peaches. It's an economical dessert because it uses whipped evaporated milk. Once in the freezer tray, it requires no additional stirring.

SUMMERTIME FRUIT FREEZE

1/2 cup evaporated milk (1 small can)
1/2 cup plus 1/4 cup strawberries or 1/2 cup fresh fruit (Raspberries or Peaches)
1/4 cup powdered sugar

Put evaporated milk, frozen fruit and powdered sugar into small bowl of electric mixer (or 1 1/2-quart bowl). Break up fruit with a fork. Let stand a few minutes, just until fruit begins to thaw. Beat with electric mixer at medium speed just until blended. Then beat at high speed 23 minutes, or until thick and creamy.

Freeze in ice tray, about 2-3 hours. Makes about 1 quart.

A dessert that will appeal to more sophisticated tastes is Cold Sherry Souffle. You'll need a round dish to mold it in; a collar of waxed paper fastened around the edge allows the souffle to tower above the dish. This is a sugar-free recipe.

Cold Sherry Souffle

3 tablespoons (or envelope) unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 1/2 cups sherry
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup lady fingers, split

Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve over boiling water. Add sherry and chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until foamy; add lemon juice and beat until stiff. Beat egg yolks until frothy; add Sugar and beat on high speed of mixer until thick and lemon colored (about 5 minutes). Fold beaten egg whites into beaten egg yolks. Fold egg mixture into gelatin mixture.

Fasten a collar of waxed paper around a 7-inch souffle dish. Place lady fingers, split, around edge. Carefully pour in souffle mixture. Chill until firm. If desired, garnish top with low-calorie whipped topping.

Makes 10 servings. Each serving contains 115 CALORIES; 5.5 grams protein; 3 grams fat; 7 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 173 CALORIES.

The following dessert is so simple that the youngsters can help make it. The butterscotch-coffee sauce, made from instant pudding mix, is good on ice cream, cake or fruit. Keep a jar of it in the refrigerator.

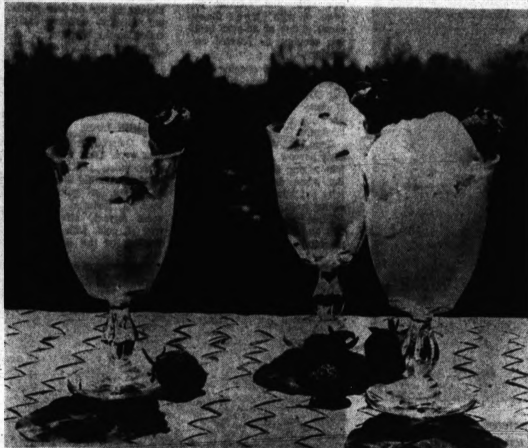

Scotch Parfaits

1 package butterscotch instant pudding mix
1/2 cup dark or light corn syrup
1/2 cup evaporated milk
Vanilla ice cream

Combine pudding, coffee, and cream syrup; mix until smooth. Gradually add the milk, stirring to blend. Allow to stand about 10 minutes to thicken sauce. Pour one or two tablespoons of sauce into each parfait glass. Using an ice cream scoop, or a serving spoon, fill glass with ice cream, leaving air spaces for layering sauce. Pour sauce into glass allowing it to "settle" through the ice cream. Store any remaining sauce in the refrigerator.

Note: One pint of ice cream will make four parfaits.

COOL DESSERT—Here's a cool, pretty, hot weather refresher—SUMMERTIME FRUIT FREEZE. It's made with only three ingredients—frozen fruit, whipped with creamy evaporated milk plus a little sugar. Flavor choices? Strawberry, raspberry or peach—or a parfait of all three.

Good Buys on Beef Cuts, Peaches, Bananas, Lettuce

Beef, especially round and sirloin steaks, is one of the more attractive buys this week, according to the Michigan State University Consumer Marketing Information Agency.

The Agency, which bases its consumer information on a study of the Wayne, Macomb and Oakland county areas, also reports that some economy prices are available on poultry.

Here is an item-by-item breakdown.

Poultry—fryers remain generally unchanged this week. The market is low and some stores are displaying economy prices on all forms. The turkey market also is becoming weak. Several features on stews are available.

Beef—large supplies of heavy-weight cattle last week caused the wholesale prices to drop to the lowest level since July, 1956. Light weight cattle remain steady. Round and sirloin steaks are exceptional buys. Many stores are featuring corned beef at more than thirty prices.

Lamb—most all lamb in the markets is now genuine spring lambs. Old crop lamb is hard to find. Considering the increased prices on grouse springers, the specials available on roasts and chops are excellent values.

Pork—shipments of hogs have increased and prices declined.

This has not yet affected retail supplies which still are light—and prices are high.

Fish—the supply and price of fish are unchanged to a week ago. Eggs and dairy—supplies are generally short as production is declining. Large eggs are in short supply. Prices have increased slightly.

Fruits:

Strawberries—peak volume is past for Michigan berries. Some prices have bounced upward. Some California berries are in the markets and Algonquin berries should be in volume this week.

Peaches—peaches from the south continue to arrive. Quality is excellent and retail attractive in the face of light demand.

Cantaloupe—prices are slightly higher this week.

Apples—volume from California remains fairly heavy, quality is good, but size is smaller than average.

Plums—steady in supply and price.

Bananas—due to competition from other fruits, banana prices are unseasonably low.

Vegetables:

Cabbage—green cabbage supplies are heavy from the south and southwest.

Green beans—homegrown beans have arrived and they should soon be a better value.

Lettuce—Total supplies are heavy as local supplies increase and add to the volume arriving from the west.

Super Delicious Way With Onions

Plain onions taste good with hamburgers, but some eaters say marinated onion rings are even better!

Jon's Onions

2 medium-sized Bermuda onions
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup cider or white wine vinegar
1 teaspoon salt

Peel onions and slice thin; separate into rings. Beat remaining ingredients together. Allow onion rings to stand in marinade, in covered container, for at least 1 hour; mix once or twice. Serve with hamburgers. The marinade may be used as a salad dressing with other additions if desired.

Fall Evening Wear Shapes Up Shimmeringly

Sleek and smart was David Kidd's ensemble designed for Arthur Jablow. The straight coat is of charcoal wool faced in white and gray plaid long hair wool. The accompanying short-sleeved sheath is accented by a charcoal grey kidskin belt.

Ruby over flame-colored silk chiffon was seen by the fashion press when this dramatic evening dress (at left) from Rudolf's fall collection was shown. The bodice, draped over one shoulder, streamed from the other. An exquisite lace and marquise dinner dress by Hannah Troy represented the classic look in an otherwise daring showing.

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Shimmer and Shape" is the most fitting way to describe the new evening clothes for fall and winter.

Fabrics shimmer from their own satin and metallic finishes, or with three-dimensional glitter of all-over beading, sequins, or jeweled embroidery.

The shape for evening is as clingy as the siren dresses of the 1930s when Jean Harlow, Marlene Dietrich and Carole Lombard were in their movie heyday.

Some of the formals are such narrow columns that to take a long step is dangerous. But some designers thoughtfully put slits at the sides or center front.

Three masters of the shimmer and shape trend are manufacturers Samuel Winston.

Rudolf Gowns and Gothe. They were among the seven designers who Wednesday showed their new collections to visiting reporters covering the New York Couture Group's semiannual press week.

Roxanne, one of the first designers to use all-over glitter, put together another lavish collection for Winston.

Fabrics had gold and silver threading mingled, and some of the paillette and some decorations were so dazzling and intricate they looked as though a jeweler had set them.

GOLDEN LOOK

At Gothe, the golden look took over. Long formals with silky skirts and blouse tops were of metallic mesh, metallic lace, or gold-embossed lace. A textured silk shirt-waist formal, street length, was all gold, with gold bugle beading on the collar.

Rudolf also beaded plenty of evening clothes. One costume was enough to start us all saluting. It was a "fireworks" evening outfit in red, white and blue, bugle beaded all over.

Rudolf showed a lot of bias cut fabrics, especially crepes, in evening dresses reminiscent of the 1930s. Fabrics included chiffon, matte jersey, crepe, brocade and more metallics.

The firm of Monte-Sano & Pruzan for years has been known as a coat and suit house. But recently, with the addition of French-born Jacques Tillon as chief designer, the firm has branched into the whole range of women's apparel. Some of '61-fear's short dinner and theater suits are the best dressup clothes for the new season. These are fitted, and done in luxury fabrics.

In daytime suits, the firm returned to the fitted look in jackets. Some suits had straight skirts; others came with full skirts of Dior proportions. Coats included the bulky greatcoat, a standard at this house, narrow, column shapes with double breasted fronts, and wraparounds.

Here, by individual manufacturer, are highlights from other collections shown Wednesday:

DAVIDOW. The firm, also known for its suits, adopted the flared look for fall. Jackets were cut to fit closer to the figure, but skirts moved out from the hip bone on down to hem. Skirts were either gored, had a smooth and unseamed flare, or came with "walking pleats" — stitched down to just above the knee, then swinging free.

ARTHUR JABLOW. Coats came in four silhouettes. These were the minimal, long, narrow and almost tubular; the cape coat with a bias cut to tone down its bulk; the fitted at the waist or princess; and the wrapped coat. This latter looks chic, but is without buttons which means that when a windy blast hits, the wearer has to clutch her wrap around her. Many of the firm's suits were collarless, with fur fullness. Others had scarf collars.

BRANELL. The ensemble took over. Hardly a dress came without its coordinated jacket or coat. The silhouette was without clutter. Fur trims showed on everything from daytime wools to long evening stoles.

HANNAH TROY. Again the ensemble, for both day and evening. Daytime costume jackets were hip top length, skimming over the torso in their fit, and topping gently flared skirts.

JANE DEBBY. This designer's trademark is the bow trim. She parked small bows at the waistline to give a hint of shape to the chemise. One black silk crepe had a row of bows all the way down the back. Tiny bows tied to form "clews" on evening overblouses. Even milk was shaped into bow trimming.

Pair Wed at Chapel in England

The Greenham Common Air Force Base Chapel at Newbury, Berkshire, England, was the setting for the July 1 marriage of Sheila J. Sauzet to 1st Lt. Wayne A. Ostlander. Capt. and Mrs. R. P. Sauzet of Greenham AFB are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of the V. Ostlander, former Pontiac residents, now of Harsco's Island and Longwood, Fla.

Mr. Ostlander attended University of Michigan and is now attached to the Strategic Air Command, stationed at March AFB, Riverside, Calif.

Wear a Big Bow

A big hair bow, mounted on combs, is one solution to the summer hat problem. They come in black patent leather, strawcloth, capeskin and black velvet.

Retired Com. and Mrs. Joseph C. Venter of Branford, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter Mary Louise to James Rodney Briggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Briggs Jr. of Martell Drive. She is a graduate of Vassar College and her fiancé is of Williams College.

Will Meet for Picnic Dinner

Elizabeth Circle of First Christian Church will meet for a picnic dinner at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday on the lawn of the Brady Adams home on Sinclair Road.

Plans will be made for the reception of the new pastor Rev. Jack H. C. Clark, his wife and children Jack and Jill who soon will arrive from Bentonville, Ark. The reception will follow the installation service slated Aug. 13 at the church.

Naomi and Lydia circles will combine their meetings July 18 with a picnic at 5 p. m. on the lawn of the Silver Lake home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cole.

Mrs. John Appleton, Mrs. Lowell Mount, Mrs. Eugene Thompson and Mrs. Colton will leave July 19 to attend the National Christian Women's Fellowship convention at Purdue University, returning July 22.

She Invites Governor, Doesn't Expect Him

LANSING (AP)—A gay time is promised today at the State Board of Mortuary Science. Coffee and cake will be served in the Lansing headquarters at the Mason Building between 3 and 4 p. m.

Gov. Swainson and a group of major state department heads have been invited—but it's doubtful whether they will attend.

Mrs. Thelma Whitlock, secretary of the board that regulates the state's funeral directors and morticians, sent out the invitations.

The party underscores a feud Mrs. Whitlock, a pixie-type woman with an off-beat sense of humor, has been carrying on with top state officials for years.

She has particularly delighted in feuding with governors, their aides and others in authority. Today's party, she said, was to mark the first anniversary of the "temporary occupancy" of the conference room next to the mortuary science headquarters.

Mrs. Whitlock complained to state officials because the room, formerly used by all departments in the Mason Building, was temporarily assigned to the Bureau of Prison Industries.

She said she was assured by state property manager John Gaffner that the arrangement was "only temporary." The room has been occupied for a year now.

SENT INVITATIONS

Invitations said the affair was "in recognition of the apparent permanency of the temporary occupancy."

Those on the invitation list included the governor, state controller, head of the State Corrections Department and head of the administration division.

Although her agency is one of the smallest in state government, Mrs. Whitlock has never hesitated to challenge the executive and administrative machinery.

She had a bitter feud going for a while with Alfred B. Pitt, legal advisor to former Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Mrs. Whitlock protested conditions in the Wayne County morgue while Pitt contended it was not the business of the executive office.

Her most recent go-around was with Frank Blackford, state insurance commissioner. She said Blackford was "very ungentlemanly" over the telephone and demanded a favor for a political friend in the undertaking business.

Blackford denied asking a favor but said he might have been impatient and tense. Copies of her complaints, in both cases, went to the governor.

May Extend Derby Time

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—A 1 p. m. deadline today for the Powder Puff Derby may be extended another 24 hours if bad flying weather continues through southern states, officials said.

The second extension was under consideration because the majority of the 51 entrants who flew from San Diego, Calif., last Saturday were grounded throughout the southern states. Only nine of the planes which took off on the 2,708-mile all-women flying contest had landed at Atlantic City by sundown Wednesday—one of these was disqualified for not following the prescribed route.

The first-place pair, pilot Mrs. Jerry Hall of Oroville, Calif., and her copilot, Mrs. Zoe Dell West of Willows, Calif., said they may file an official protest of the first 24-hour extension.

The extension from 1 p. m. today was granted because planes of fewer than 135 horsepower would have difficulty negotiating the weather.

Mrs. Hall said, however, that thorough planning of the route enabled her and Mrs. West to bring in their 150-horsepower Piper Tri-Pacer. The disqualified plane was piloted by Mrs. Barbara Kiernan of Boston, Mrs. Kiernan and her copilot, Mrs. Barbara Evan, of New York flew from Dallas, Tex., to Atlantic City without making any of the prescribed stops.

They said their reasons for doing so were "too complicated to talk about."

Abby Says: Be Thankful

You've No Reason to Whine

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I own a retail business and have a woman answering the telephone. She is very nice, but she has a habit which annoys me. When she answers the telephone, she says, "Good morning, this is the — Company, ha ha. May I help you, hee hee?"

She ends every sentence with a nervous laugh. Even if it is a plain yes or no, she says, "Yes, ha ha," or "No, tee hee."

She needs to work so I hate to fire her. Is there any way I can call her attention to this a doubleheader.

I don't dare talk to him because I might be interrupting the best part of the game. He claims he still loves me. We have five children under six, but I would like to be talked to once in a while.

DEAR BORED: Don't tell me that a mother of five children under six can't find something relaxing to do for a few hours every evening while her husband is listening to the baseball game.

Take a bubble bath. Read something. Take up needlepoint. Or get interested in baseball, too. But don't whine and plead boredom or your husband might go elsewhere to listen to the game in peace.

DEAR ABBY: I have a teenage daughter who is considered a beauty by everybody. We are middle class people, go to church regularly and try to live right.

My daughter always has had plenty of dates. She has dated some of the finest and wealthiest boys in our city. But she never dates them more than once, although they ask her.

Now for my problem: She enjoys dating only the lowest kind of boys. She has even given me false names so I won't find out how low they are.

Her father (who died when she was a child) always liked to pick up with the cheapest kind of trash. I never told her about this. Could it be inherited? Why should a beautiful 16-year-old girl, with nice clothes and a good home, want to go around with scum?

Puzzled Mother

DEAR PUZZLED: People pick "inferior" companions because they want to feel "superior." It is not inherited. In spite of your daughter's apparent advantages, she still feels a sense of inferiority. Tell her to watch her step. Her reputation is at stake.

Grandma's here from overseas! Mrs. Bertil Odell of Stockholm, Sweden, who holds her 17-month old grandson Michael Roualet is getting acquainted with his sisters and brothers, Caroline, 3, 7-year-old Billy and Denise, 6. Their parents are the W. C. Roualets of Mark Road, Waterford Township.

She's Visiting in Waterford

Grandma Is From Sweden

By MADELEINE DOEREN
Four pair of dark brown eyes sparkle each time the Roualet children take a cookie break, which is about every two hours, now that their grandmother is here from Stockholm, Sweden, to bake for them.

Mrs. Bertil Odell, mother of Mrs. W. C. Roualet of Mark Road in Waterford Township, had never met the son-in-law who arranged for her trip here aboard the liner Gripsholm. Nor did she speak a word of English. She moved from New York with her sister and brother-in-law, the Ivan Lindbergs, formerly of Coleman Street, who accompanied her from Stockholm.

Mrs. Odell and her husband share an apartment with their youngest son Virgil ("Gig") his wife and baby, in Bromma, which is one Swedish mile from Stockholm.

We had heard of Irish brooks and Scotch acres. Now it's a Swedish mile, which is equal to seven of ours.

In Northern Sweden, the sun never quite sets so it is just about light around the clock in the summer. This might explain Mrs. Odell's making all the wardrobe for her four daughters and two sons. Mrs. Roualet owned her first store-bought coat when she was 17.

The first English word in Mrs. Odell's vocabulary was "No." This she says many times a day in defense of the cookie jar. She can now ask for ice cream and greets Mr. Roualet's father, who lives with them, with a cheery "Good morning."

Excusing herself to settle a water battle outside, pretty blonde Mrs. Roualet says her mother "already enjoys hamburgers, hot dogs, rice, and that good tuna dish with mushroom soup and potato chips."

"Americans drink too much coffee and in such large cups," Mrs. Odell says.

JUST FOR HOLIDAYS

One of her favorite television programs is "Hawaiian Eye" and watching the late show pleases her greatly.

Mrs. Odell set us straight on one thing.

Life in Sweden is not one Smorgasbord after another. The array of gourmet dishes is for holidays and special occasions. We extracted a promise from Mrs. Roualet to translate her mother's recipe for breast of veal in dill sauce for us. Swedish pastries, raised coffee cakes are also her specialties.

It was 13 years ago that Mrs. Odell's daughter, Maria (now Mrs. Roualet), left Sweden to carve a career as "The Land of Fromela." After adding business courses to her high school background, she became a bookkeeper at Pontiac Motors Division. She met her future husband while sailing at Pontiac Yacht Club.

Two of the four Roualet children will attend St. Benedict's

School this fall. Billy, age 7, is a second grader and Denise, who is 6, will enter first grade. They call their grandmother "mormor."

Raising red and yellow hibiscus plants and gardenias are Mrs. Odell's hobbies and every Christmas there's a big gingerbread house.

She will share her six-month visit here with her sister Mrs. V. H. Folz of Old Orchard Drive.

'Me Too' Wives Ruin Man's Private Life

By RUTH MILLETT

Sometimes a wife won't let a man have anything of his own. If he takes up golf, his wife decides to take up golf, too. And the four-ones are replaced by a husband and wife two-ome.

If the husband of a "me too" wife starts to talk about his job, his wife lets everyone know that she knows as much about his business as he does.

If he plays poker with the boys a few times, the first thing he knows she has gotten the "crowd" together for the kind of game where the wives keep asking helplessly, "Tell me again, does a straight beat a flush or is it the other way around?"

If he builds himself a workshop, before it is finished she has six jobs lined up for him that he has to do before he can think about making the things he wants to make.

All he has to do to have a plan changed or improved upon is to tell it to his wife.

If he starts off to do some errands, she either says "Wait a minute and I'll go with you" or "Why don't you take the kids along?"

Wives like this seem to feel that once a man marries he isn't supposed to have any life of his own.

Good Sun Shade

Let Children Know What You Expect of Them

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assoc.

Throughout grade and high school Julia's older sister Anne, a conscientious student, got excellent marks. Gratiified by her successes, her parents praised her, had her promotion certificates and diplomas framed and reveled in the compliments of friends and relatives. At college this year Anne has maintained her fine grades—and with them her parents' pride.

But Julia missed her final high school history exam because of a severe digestive upset. As she signed her name at the top of her math test paper, her hands were cold and wet with the sweat of fear that she wouldn't be able to duplicate Anne's graduation summa cum laude.

In this space I have often defined praise of a child's successes—academic, athletic, social—as an indirect demand for more successes.

Now I define praise of one child's successes as an indirect demand for similar successes from his brothers and sisters. It is the indirectness of this demand that I find cruel and cowardly.

Nebs Club Gathers for Picnic, Games

The Nebs Social Club met for a cooperative picnic Tuesday evening in the Oxbow Lake home of Mrs. Arthur Witt Jr.

Following a business meeting, games were played. Lois Wortman of Denver, Colo., was a guest.

Because of members' vacation plans the August meeting has been canceled. Mrs. Donald Menard will be hostess for the Sept. 12 meeting at the home of Mrs. Jasper Wright on Livingstone Street.

Were Julia's parents to say to her, "We want you to graduate from high school as gloriously as Anne did because we want you to reflect the same kind of credit on us as she does," I would have no objection at all. Such an open statement would give Julia a chance to judge the justice of the demand. She could say, "O.K., I'll do my best," or "But I'm not my sister," or "Why do you depend on me to make you feel important?"

But as the demand is never expressed in words, Julia's reply has to be made indirectly. She has to use her resentful stomach and sweating hands to protest her anger at her parents' unspoken requirement that she duplicate her sister's creditable successes.

To praise a child is to announce our standards of performance to him. The more extravagantly and persistently we praise him, the more insistent is our suggestion that he meet these standards. That's fine with me—so long as he knows what we're up to.

Usually he doesn't. Usually he believes himself to be gratified by our praise. Usually it takes him a long painful time to realize that the gratifying praise we have given him has contained no respect at all but adds up to the dreadful statement:

"I like you when you do well. But if you fail, you'll have to look elsewhere for someone to like you."

Kaye Kumpula Married in Elizabeth Lake Church

Naval Airman Freeman R. Barber Jr. and his bride, the former Kaye Marie Kumpula, are honeymooning in Northern Michigan before returning to Brunswick, Maine where the bridegroom is stationed.

The Allen L. Kumpulas of Edgewater Drive, Waterford Township, were hosts at buffet dinner for some 250 guests who attended the Saturday evening marriage of their daughter in Elizabeth Lake Church of Christ. Edwyn Wilson officiated. The bridegroom is the son of the Freeman & Barbours of Bloomington, Calif.

A lace-edged veil of Illusion held by a pearl and crystal tiara complemented the bride's ballerina-length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over tulle. She carried white stephanotis and carnations.

Maid of honor Kay Bendall of Union Lake wore light blue organza over tulle. Bridesmaids, Jane Kumpula and Florence Barber, sisters of the couple, wore dark blue organza. They held bouquets of white roses and blue carnations.

Marine Pfc. Allen L. Kumpula Jr., of Camp Pendleton, Calif. was best man, and John Kumpula another brother of the bride, ushered with Robert Keel of Union Lake.

The bride's cousins Roxanne and Kenneth McCool of Raymond, Iowa, were flower girl and ring-bearer. Vicki Ash and Faye Tway candle-lighters.

Mrs. Kumpula appeared in pale blue lace and the mother-of-the-bridegroom wore powder blue lace. Their carriages were pink roses and stephanotis.

Learn His Plans

Dressing for a date is half the fun of going places. But the worst mistake a girl can make is to overdress. Avoid overdressing by asking your escort what his plans are for the evening. Keep your clothes in line with what you will be doing and where you'll be going.

To Be Attractive

Not Worth the Effort?

(NEA)—The mature woman who "looks her age" is the woman who is self-indulgent. She loves good food and eats far more than she needs each day. She snacks between meals.

She exercises rarely or not at all. Her hair hasn't been styled in some years and though it's gone limp and gray, she has done nothing about it. She buys clothes that are comfortable and that have little to do with the current fashion. She looks and is dated.

HO-HUM

She is vaguely aware of this and, from time to time, mentions to her family that she really should go on a diet or have her hair tinted. Her family has heard this before and doesn't take her seriously.

At a gathering of women, she is sharply critical of women her age who are trim and chic. But she has an uncomfortable feeling that it would be nice to look that way.

Still, it doesn't seem quite worth the effort. And chances are very good that she does not realize that self-indulgence has defeated her opportunity to be attractive.

Captivating Caps

(NEA) — Those rainy day mob caps in clear or colored plastic continue to win fans. There are pretty prints or plastic-encased flowers as well.

Balestra Hanging On to V-Line

ROME (UPI)—Balestra of Rome, today presents winter styles in light silks and chiffons, designed with an eye to America's well-heated homes and offices.

The 33-year-old couturier, a former engineer, has become one of Italy's most outstanding young designers. His collection was expected to be the highlight of the first day devoted entirely to his fashions during the current showings here.

Balestra planned to keep the "swooning V-line" he originated last winter, marked by waist lines cut low at the front and

CASUAL SHOE

This casual shoe was made by Fontana Sisters of Rome, designed with a strap across the top of the foot to hold it in place. The front section was round and roomy so the big toe would fit into which ever shoe you happened to pick up first.

The shoe style promises relief for women who have suffered cramped toes from the extremely pointed styles of recent years.

Sportswear shown on the first day included many sweaters trimmed with fringes or tassels. One white after-ski outfit by Lida di Trepuzzi was decorated with many-colored tassels of plaited leather.

Leather also was used for jump suits (one-piece skinny pants and fitted top), for sheath dresses, coats and for a playsuit made with Jamaica-length shorts and a scoop-neck bodice.

using a nearby vacant residential lot for storing boat trailers and parking cars.

A Sylvan Lake couple, Bernard Baruch and his wife Gloria, 270 Pontiac Drive, have a lawsuit pending in Circuit Court seeking an injunction against this continued use. A hearing is set for Monday.

"It's a sad commentary," said the Baruchs' attorney Harry S. Huber of Rochester, "when the city is charged with enforcing."

The citizens, some of whom couldn't even crowd into the small room where council meetings are held, carried their fight even further by alleging that club members, 80 per cent of whom, they said, weren't even city residents, were creating a public nuisance with late and loud parties.

Councilman Joseph E. Gilson stood up to protest. He said some of the residents of the city of 2,004 were trying to "drive all the commercial business out of the city" by their blast at the 400 members of the club that has been in existence since 1916.

Councilman Edwin F. Clark offered a resolution asking the Liquor Control Commission to investigate whether the club members were entitled to a license. There were some cheers but no action.

Next G. Richard Jarvis, councilman, offered a motion that either City Manager Earl D. Knapp enforce the zoning ordinance or be fired.

Knapp broke his prolonged silence and offered to resign in the face of nagging from councilmen and some citizens.

"Keep your job, Earl," said one man. "Get rid of the council."

Then the Knapp followers called for a vote of confidence for the $7,000-a-year part-time city manager and department of public works director. Wideman made the motion. Then came a second. The vote was 5-2 with Clark and Jarvis dissenting.

"There's so many conflicting things that apparently this has to be resolved in Circuit Court," Wideman said.

Notifies SEC He'll Challenge Chrysler

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Bacaloff, a general contractor from Portland, Ore., has notified the Securities and Exchange Commission that he is challenging the management of the Chrysler Corp.

It was understood that Bacaloff filed the notification because he planned to sponsor newspaper advertising addressed to Chrysler stockholders and critical of management policies.

It was doubtful whether Bacaloff intends to wage a major proxy fight for control of the auto manufacturer.

Bacaloff said he owns 300 shares of Chrysler common stock, purchased in 1959.

Welfare Battle Heads to Court

City of Newburgh to ignore N.Y. Order Not to Institute Strict Rules

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Newburgh vs. New York State welfare battle apparently will be settled in the courts.

Raymond W. Houston, state social welfare commissioner, has ordered Newburgh not to institute proposed 13 strict welfare rules.

Newburgh officials countered with defiance.

Houston said Wednesday night Newburgh officials seemed to indicate they wanted legal action. Defiance by the city may mean eventual court action, he said.

'NOT BOSS'
City Manager Joseph Mitchell, when informed of Houston's ban, said, "Mr. Houston is not the boss of the city of Newburgh, even though he would like to think he is. The regulations are going into effect July 15 as scheduled."

The rules are designed to pare welfare costs in the city and reduce welfare rolls.

Houston said the Newburgh proposals, if carried out, "would set up an illegal program around unfortunate men, women and children; and even if not carried out they constitute psychological warfare against the needy and helpless."

Firemen Help Stork Deliver Bundle in City

Pontiac firemen came to the aid of the stork this morning.

They helped deliver a baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Slesky, 73 Norton St.

Called to the Slesky home at 8:56 a.m., a three-man inhalator unit delivered the baby in the house.

Both the 19-year-old mother, Lydia, and son were reported doing fine later at Pontiac General Hospital where they were taken after the birth.

The boy, as yet unnamed, weighed in at 5 pounds, 9 ounces, proudly reported the firemen.

Ford, Falcon, T-Bird Topping June Sales

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. said today sales of Ford, Falcon and Thunderbird automobiles for the first 10-day period of July were up 6 per cent over the same period in June.

The company reported Ford sales at approximately 3,800 units per day, or more than 160 cars per day more than the first 10-day period of July 1960, and Falcon sales of 11,200 units per day, some 2,500 cars per day more than a year ago.

Thunderbird sales were up some 100 units from the 1-10 July period of 1960, Ford said.

Protects Against Hoodlums

Judo Could Be One Answer

By PHYLIS BAYTELLE

NEW YORK—The boy was 15. A harmless looking kid, slight in build, with the usual New York City pallor that never seems to go away, even in summer. He was well-dressed, though. One of those mama's boys, couldn't hurt a flea.

At least that's the way the three older teenagers saw him, as he loomed out of school toward home. They wouldn't even have to pull their knives to scare this kid—but they pulled them out anyway as they swaggered up to him, just to add a touch of sadism to the robbery bit.

"Hand over your dough," said the biggest of the trio, while the others grinned.

"Okay," replied the kid sensibly, shifting his books to another arm to get at his pocket. It was too easy, the hoodlums didn't like it. "Not tomorrow, man, now!" snarled one of them, chopping the victim across his cheek with a fist.

Suddenly the harmless looking kid became a dervish. He hurled his books in the face of the biggest boy. He kicked the second one where it collapsed him. He flipped the third thug over onto his back and stepped on his hand. All three of them were "done in," in less than a minute.

"I didn't want to do it," the boy explained later to his judo teacher, "but you can't let them take your money and beat you up too."

JUDO FOR BOYS

This experience was quite unusual for one of the students of Jerome Mackey, the quiet-spoken, sensitive concert pianist and judo instructor whose school, "Judo for Boys," now has an enrollment of 1,250 youngsters, age six and up.

"For the most part," says Mackey, "our boys (and about 20 girls) have found that the more they know about fighting, the less likely they are to fight."

"This particular boy was quite willing to give up the money in his pocket to avoid a skirmish, but when they hit him, it became a matter of self-defense, and he took care of them."

Judo, he points out, a "gentleman's sport." At the same time, it is an effective means of building up self-confidence and influencing bullies: A fine deterrent against juvenile delinquency.

A dozen celebrities' sons, including those of Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt, Dina Merrill, Celeste Holm, are learning from this young man (who comes from Oklahoma and looks like Mickey Mantle, which inspires youthful confidence) the science which might be described as:

"The gentle art of flipping a man off balance (tenderly), tossing him through the air (courteously), rendering him helpless or unconscious (temporarily), without losing one's temper or aplomb. In judo, it is considered extremely bad taste to injure anyone seriously."

For instance, you may threaten an adversary into unconsciousness, but it is not cricket if the unconsciousness becomes permanent. And a young girl may throw a man over her head, but if she breaks his neck, she is not being sporting.

"You see, from the time you know the art well, you're the master of any opponent, and you don't have to be aggressive or vicious. Since you can upset any opponent, you don't have to prove your superiority, either to him or to yourself. You can afford to look out for your opponent's welfare, which is a moral principle all judoists learn."

Mackey himself is a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music and a fine, though presently disconcerted pianist. He learned judo from a Japanese when he was 11, began teaching it to New York City children six years ago.

He loves the sport—has only one reservation about it. Many years ago he learned, from a great Korean judoist, some pointers that he will never teach anybody.

For example, "I know different ways of killing a man so that his death could never be traced to me. He might drop dead six days after his last contact with me."

These are things, says the gentle young gentleman, he is trying to forget.

Mike Leads 3 State Golfers Into 3rd Round of U.S. Publinx

Andonian Wins After Scare

By BILL CORNWELL.
A 29-year-old California "tiger" who didn't know when he was licked put Mike Andonian on the ropes Wednesday night. The Pontiac links star escaped and worked his way into the 3rd round of the U.S. Amateur Public Links golf tournament at Rye Brook Municipal course.

Dennis Cook, a slender 6-foot-2 swinger from Pasadena, threw a rare scare into Andonian, but the methodical 35-year-old Pontiac Central math instructor recovered in time to score a 1-up triumph in 20 holes.

Andonian, looking weary after completing his 8th consecutive day of competitive golf, was one of three Michigan golfers left in the 16-man field following double match play rounds yesterday.

Joining Andonian from Michigan for a hopeful two more rounds today were Detroit's John Hernandez and veteran Jay Law of Heron Woods.

The seven other state players who qualified for the opening round of match play were eliminated and two of them, Pontiac's Wally Smith and John Kurach of Detroit, bowed to state rivals. Smith, the Royal Oak patrolman, was ousted by Molenda in the 2nd round, 4-3, after scoring a 2-1 victory in the 1st round over Tom Dixon of Daly City, Calif. Kurach was victimized by Andonian in the morning session, 5-4. Mike lost the first two holes, but rallied for a 2-up lead at the turn, then won the 11th, 12th and 13th and ended the match with a half at No. 14.

Andonian's relatively easy conquest of Kurach hardly prepared him for his dogfight with Cook, an Occidental College student who plans to transfer to UCLA in the fall.

"There are a lot of fine young players in this journey and I met one of them this afternoon," declared Andonian following his narrow win. "I shoot two-under-par golf and still have to fight for my life," he said.

Cook, who was four-under-par himself in his 1st round duel as he walked Kay Walker of Spokane, Wash., 5-3, birdied the 17th hole with a five-foot putt and parred No. 18 as Andonian missed the green for a bogey to overcome a two-hole deficit and force the contest into a sudden-death playoff.

An 18-foot putt for a birdie three on the 2nd extra hole gave Mike the win after he appeared to have Cook beaten on the 1st hole. Cook was trapped at No. 1 but he exploded 1½ feet from the cup and dropped the putt for a par four to draw a half. He found the bunker again at No. 2, but sent his blast from the cup and went 15 feet past the cup and Andonian iced it with his birdie putt.

Molenda, the Detroit Tech golfer, faced a man-sized task in his 3rd round struggle. His opponent was Seattle's Bill Wright, the only U.S.A. sponsored event.

Wright, who won the 1959 championship at Denver, is the only Negro golfer ever to win a U.S.A. sponsored event.

David Brown, a Detroit bus driver, was a 5-4 victim of Wright in the 1st round. Miami's Bill Graham lost to Wright in the 2nd session, 2-1.

Roy Cullenbine, ex-Detroit Tiger outfielder, suffered a 3-2 setback at the hands of Honolulu's Owen Douglas, Jr. in the 1st round. Tom Molenda of Grand Rapids reached the 2nd round, then labored to the 19th hole before dropping a 1-up decision to Leonard Pietrus of Toledo.

An eight-over-par effort in his 2nd round deposited Farmington's Bill Curtis on the sidelines. Champion, three-patched Detroit's former Detroit District caddy cistic 15th hole and lost a 1-up victory to Roy Atkins of Portland, Ore. Atkins came out of a trap and one-putted to win the hole.

Curtis was an easy winner in his 1st match as he trounced Larry Madison of Chicago, 5-3. Ypsilanti's Doug Wilson, defending Michigan Publinx champ, was the 7th state player to fall by the wayside when Hans Turner of Seattle handed him a 3-2 licking in the opening round.

Law advanced by beating Honolulu's Mass Kays, 2-1, and Bob Murray of Xenia, Ohio, 2-1. Molenda whipped Woodrow Gray of Oklahoma City, 4-3, prior to dropping Seattle.

Quaking medalist Richard Sikes, the University of Arkansas golfer who registers from Wichita during the summer, moved along with two lipped victories yesterday. However, Hawaii's David Bettencourt, runnerup in the 36-hole qualifier, was knocked out in the 2nd round.

John Ferrell Jr., the 19-year-old Louisville player who shot a 65 in Monday's first 18-hole qualifying session, also was kayed in the 2nd round.

Wednesday the field was reduced from 64 to 16. At the end of today's action, only four will continue, Friday's semifinal and Sunday's championship battle are both set for 36 holes.

Thomas-Brunel Competition Highlighted

U.S.-Soviet Meet This Weekend

MOSCOW (AP)—Jumbo Jim Elia Wednesday, Russian Coach Gabriel Korobov said the burden was on Thomas and that Brunel would win.

"John has been looking very good," said Elliott, the U.S. team coach. "If he keeps up his present form, I've got a hunch he's going to be hard to beat."

Elliott revealed that he has been working on Thomas' takeoff more than anything else.

"I think John has been worried to much about the bar and not enough about the takeoff," said Elliott. "I have had him working on moving in a little faster, and then approaching the bar straight instead of at the angle he has been using."

Elliott said that he has been coaching high jumpers. In fact, on the basis of how high the jumper can get over his own height, Elliott developed one of the best ever. Little Phil Reavis, 5-8, climbed 6 feet, 10 inches—14 inches over his own height.

"I feel real good," said Thomas. "Before I left home I had ten days of solid practice. I weigh 188 now, which is about my lightest weight while I have been in competition in the last two years."

Thomas, a Boston University junior, said he is determined not to be hurried by Brunel.

"Most of that psychological stuff doesn't mean much," he said. "But I am going to take it very easy and let him wait for me this time. In our other meetings I have done the waiting."

Thomas, a Boston University junior, said he is determined not to be hurried by Brunel.

By United Press International
They start the second half of the major league races today and the odds-makers feel that the New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds will lead all the other teams to the wire.

Even though they're in second place as the second half of the season gets under way, the Yankees officially are quiet as 8-1 favorites for 2 to 1 in man-to-man betting) to win the American League pennant.

The Yankees have been favored from the start but it's an entirely different story with the Reds, who opened the season as 2 to 1 longshots.

With a five-game lead in the National League, Cincinnati now is a 7-9 choice or 8 to 5 if you care to bet the guy in your office. That means the Reds have become an even stronger favorite than the Yankees.

Detroit is the second choice in the A. If you think the first-place Tigers will go on to win the odds-makers are willing to wager 4 to 1 they don't. Baltimore and Cleveland follow at 7 to 1, with Boston, Washington, Los Angeles, Minnesota and Kansas City all at 10 to 1.

In the N. L., the Los Angeles Dodgers are second in line at 3 to 1, Pittsburgh and San Francisco are 6 to 1, Milwaukee 10 to 1, St. Louis 20 to 1, and Chicago and Philadelphia 100 to 1.

The Yankees can take over the lead by beating the White Sox in Chicago tonight because the Tigers don't resume action until they face the Twins in Detroit tomorrow.

Bill Staufford (7-4) will pitch for the Yankees tonight and veteran Early Wynn (7-1) will go for the White Sox. The Yankees have won nine of their last 11. The White Sox, on the other hand, have managed to win only four of their last 14 games.

Detroit manager Bob Scheffing isn't claiming any pennants yet, nor is he conceding to anyone.

"We've got a half season to play," he said, "and we're not conceding anyone out. That includes us, too."

The Tigers' chances will be greatly diminished if Frank Lara's injury proves to be serious.

Lara (13-4), made one pitch in the fourth inning of Tuesday's All-Star game at San Francisco, and then took himself out of the ball game.

"I felt something give in my shoulder, and I just didn't want to take a chance," said the Tiger ace. "I hurt the arm in spring training so I felt it was wise to quit when I did in San Francisco."

The newspaper, in a dispatch written by D. J. R. Bruckner, said the chief of men from the Treasury and Justice Departments are making the inquiries are bookmakers operating on horse tracks and the management and structure of the racing empire of William H. (Big Bill) Johnston.

The Sun-Times said the inquiry is expected to reach "hot places" in Illinois politics and deep ones in the Chicago crime syndicate.

Don Carter of St. Louis is the defending men's titleholder. The 1960 women's champion was Marlene Ladewig of Grand Rapids, in the Chicago crime syndicate.

LEG STRENGTHENED—Cincinnati Reds' 1st baseman Gordie Coleman sat on the edge of a training table Wednesday in the Cincinnati clubhouse and pumped his right leg up and down. Palmer Expects Rain to Help British Open BIRKDALE, England (AP)—Arnold Palmer's prospects of capturing the Claret Jug at the British Open, improved today after hours of heavy rain drenched the parched fairways and greens of the Royal Birkdale links.

"I'm happy to see the course getting a soaking," said the favored pro from Latrobe, Pa. "It needed rain—and I'm sure the playing conditions will be the better for it."

Palmer was poised at 10 after the first round of the championship which carries a first prize of $3,900. That's small reward for the money-spinning American, but more important would be the prestige of the title first won by legendary Willie Park of Scotland 101 years ago.

Palmer was two strokes behind the three first day leaders—deserving the name of "The Big Boy" Australia, Harold Henning of South Africa, and Dai Rees of Wales. Three others were at 60, but Palmer's biggest rival for the title, Gary Player of South Africa, trailed way back at 73.

"I'm quite content with the position I'm in," Palmer said. "A great deal depends on the weather but don't forget that the rain is not going to suit only me. It's going to please everybody in the field."

None of the 108 golfers will rain while they're actually playing. But most agree that the drenching will make the greens hold the ball better.

The reason why it suits Palmer is that he always plays right to the pin with raking irons—scoring the greens the most likely he is to start scattering birds around.

Huge pools of water formed on many of the greens over a 6,644-yard par 36-72 course soon after the first round ended Wednesday.

The 18th green, in front of the clubhouse terrace, had four pools, one a semi-lick in a little dip to the left.

Yanks-Giants Like Overtime

NEW YORK (AP)—Maybe the New York Yankees and San Francisco Giants should receive additional pay for working overtime. They have the best major league records in extra-inning games.

The Yankees, only one percentage point behind Detroit in the American League, have won four overtime games and lost two for a 57-47 mark. The Giants have four victories, only one setback and one tie to lead the National League with 800 figures compiled by the Associated Press disclosed today.

The Cleveland Indians are runners-up to the Yankees with a 53 record, followed by Kansas City 43, Detroit 54, Minnesota 44, Boston and Los Angeles 2-21 each, Chicago 45, Washington 24 and Baltimore 2-5.

The Los Angeles Dodgers are right behind the 52-51 team in the National League. They came team-league-leading Cincinnati 3-2, Milwaukee 4-4, Chicago 3-3-1, St. Louis 2-3-1, Philadelphia 2-1-1 and Pittsburgh 0-1.

Jay Has Best ERA in National League

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Jay, largely responsible for Cincinnati's rise to the top of the National League, is the circuit's earned run leader at the season's halfway mark.

The 25-year-old right-hander, obtained from Milwaukee last winter, has allowed only 39 earned runs in 132 innings for a 2.66 average, figures compiled by The Associated Press showed today.

By United Press International
They start the second half of the major league races today and the odds-makers feel that the New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds will lead all the other teams to the wire.

Even though they're in second place as the second half of the season gets under way, the Yankees officially are quiet as 8-1 favorites for 2 to 1 in man-to-man betting) to win the American League pennant.

The Yankees have been favored from the start but it's an entirely different story with the Reds, who opened the season as 2 to 1 longshots.

With a five-game lead in the National League, Cincinnati now is a 7-9 choice or 8 to 5 if you care to bet the guy in your office. That means the Reds have become an even stronger favorite than the Yankees.

Detroit is the second choice in the A. If you think the first-place Tigers will go on to win the odds-makers are willing to wager 4 to 1 they don't. Baltimore and Cleveland follow at 7 to 1, with Boston, Washington, Los Angeles, Minnesota and Kansas City all at 10 to 1.

In the N. L., the Los Angeles Dodgers are second in line at 3 to 1, Pittsburgh and San Francisco are 6 to 1, Milwaukee 10 to 1, St. Louis 20 to 1, and Chicago and Philadelphia 100 to 1.

The Yankees can take over the lead by beating the White Sox in Chicago tonight because the Tigers don't resume action until they face the Twins in Detroit tomorrow.

Bill Staufford (7-4) will pitch for the Yankees tonight and veteran Early Wynn (7-1) will go for the White Sox. The Yankees have won nine of their last 11. The White Sox, on the other hand, have managed to win only four of their last 14 games.

Detroit manager Bob Scheffing isn't claiming any pennants yet, nor is he conceding to anyone.

"We've got a half season to play," he said, "and we're not conceding anyone out. That includes us, too."

The Tigers' chances will be greatly diminished if Frank Lara's injury proves to be serious.

Lara (13-4), made one pitch in the fourth inning of Tuesday's All-Star game at San Francisco, and then took himself out of the ball game.

"I felt something give in my shoulder, and I just didn't want to take a chance," said the Tiger ace. "I hurt the arm in spring training so I felt it was wise to quit when I did in San Francisco."

The newspaper, in a dispatch written by D. J. R. Bruckner, said the chief of men from the Treasury and Justice Departments are making the inquiries are bookmakers operating on horse tracks and the management and structure of the racing empire of William H. (Big Bill) Johnston.

The Sun-Times said the inquiry is expected to reach "hot places" in Illinois politics and deep ones in the Chicago crime syndicate.

Lary Can't Agree With Lions' Terms

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — State Rep. Yale Lary of Fort Worth, a professional football player for the Detroit Lions, said that he had not signed a 1961 contract, although the start of training is less than three weeks away.

"We haven't been able to agree on terms," Lary said. "I guess that, in a sense, you could call me a holdout."

If the husky lawmaker agrees on terms, and he says he expects to, he will face a conflict between his legislative duties and football unless the Lions agree to delay his reporting date. The current 30-day special session of the Texas legislature doesn't end until Aug. 8.

Talk of 'Evils'

College Heads in Confabs

CHATHAM, Mass. (AP) — The National Association of College Commissioners plunged into the problem of the so-called "evils" of today with expressed hopes that solid recommendations could be made toward combatting the evil.

Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, was due in from the NCAA basketball tournament committee meeting in Denver, and his opinions were awaited by the commissioners.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, retiring Big Ten commissioner, explained the steps his conference had taken to guard its athletes from gamblers, and said he looked forward today to a full exchange of ideas on what should be done about any future bribery attempts.

Wilson said the Big Ten had realized the dangers for a long time, and coaches had been instructed to tell every team member of the potential dangers. Wednesday's session was devoted to more or less minor details pending today's discussion of the scandal problem.

Gen. Bob Neyland, chairman of the NCAA football rules committee, told the group he was concerned over the increase in field goals, and suggested this overspecialization might lead to a rule change.

The commissioners requested the American and National Football Leagues wait until after Jan. 1 each year to hold their draft, and voted to hold their basketball officials' clinic at Washington, D.C., Oct. 23-24.

Merchants Rout Orion, PCH Edges PNH

The Pontiac Merchants pounded out 18 hits for a runaway 14-1 victory over Don's Used Cars of Lake Orion in a Class A-B City League baseball game Wednesday at Winder Field.

John Flier collected four hits and Terry Hoy three to pace the heavy bombardment. Bud Thompson pitched three-hit ball for the Merchants.

Bob Farms and Ray Collins joined forces for a fancy two-hit shutout as Pontiac Central moved out Pontiac Northerners, 1-0, in a Class D contest that went eight innings.

Don Glowatz was the ill-fated losing pitcher, also on a two-hitter. Farms was credited with the win. An error and Jim Persinger's double tallied the deciding run in the bottom of the 8th.

Charles Annen hurled a four-hitter as the Rockets whipped the Dodgers, 7-1, and Mike Dodge hurled Lake Orion to a 4-2 triumph over Bulman's Hardware in other Class D games.

In Class E Junior League action, Al Schubert doubled, tripled and singled to pace the Boys Club to a 12-7 victory over McDonald's; Moose Lodge thumped Auburn Heights Boys Club, 10-3, as Steve Daniels homered; and Jim Garland socked a three-run homer to feature Weinberger's 10-4 rout of West Kiwanis.

Also in Class E, the St. Mike Shamrocks "outscored" the Old Timers, 15-12, in a real slugfest with Doug Inagall's homer for the losers. Weinberger Homers gained a forfeit victory over E.U.B. Church.

Jerry Stanton pitched a nifty one-hitter as the Shamrocks drubbed Arnold Drugs, 17-0, and Baldwin E.U.B. outscored the Herrington Pirates, 10-7, in 'Class F' contests.

Also on the Class F front, the Titans were 10-7 winners over the Vikings and Providence was credited with a forfeit triumph over the Eagles.

The Owen Eagles walloped the Giants, 13-6, and POA No. 1 was handed a 16-3 shellacking by the LeBaron Cubs in Widget division.

Emerson collected four.

Big DRC Race Favors Comet

DETROIT (AP) — The second of Michigan's big races — the $30,000 Sweepstakes — comes up Saturday at Detroit Race Course with American Comet the sentimental favorite and Pied D'Or the expected bettor's choice.

The Comet has been a tickle nag. C. W. (Larry) Smith's horse won the $61,000 Michigan Mile at DRC three weeks ago only to run next to last in its next outing.

American Comet had the same sort of win-one, lose-by-a-lot record during the winter at Santa Anita. Calumet Farm's Pied D'Or was beaten by the Comet in the Michigan Mile but came back last weekend to set a DRC mile record.

Another top entry is Nearctic 1958 Michigan Mile winner.

Water Skiers Set for Meet

Michigan Water Skiers will visit Loon Lake next week for the second and straight year to compete in the 5th annual state tournament.

The tournament, which will be held Friday through Sunday, July 14-16, is expected to draw 75 top skiers from Michigan. The top three winners in each class will earn a right to compete in the Midwest Regionals in Illinois in August.

Next Thursday the skiers will go through practice rounds and be given ratings.

The opening event will start at 8:00 a.m. Friday morning and continue throughout the day. There will be no admission charge to the public with the viewing area located near the Edgewater Beach Motel and Paul Young's Marina.

Many local entries are expected to compete for honors, including defending champions Nancy Messer, slalom champ from Cass Lake and veteran jumping champion Paul Boel of Oxbow Lake.

Tony Mitchell, 1958 men's state jumping champion from Pontiac, is entered.

A new champion is certain in the women's jumping division. The spot is being left open as a defending champion Marilyn Larvick of Pontiac has put away her water skis to await the storm.

A water ski show along with skiing and ski-die exhibition will be held around noon each day during the tournament.

13 Craft Registered for Hydroplane Season

DETROIT — Ten owners have registered 13 craft for the current unlimited hydroplane season which got under way here last month with the annual Detroit Memorial race on the Detroit River.

A somewhat shortened schedule finds only six regattas remaining to determine highpoint and individual driving honors won last year by Bill Muncey, driving Miss Thriftway out of Seattle, Wash.

William Cantrell, of Detroit, and Gale V have the lead in the 1961 unlimited championship standings in view of winning the Detroit Memorial in three straight heats against a starting field of seven.

Action shifts, westward this week with the running of the Diamond Cup at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, July 22-23.

Two additional western events follow, the Seafair Trophy Race at Seattle, Wash., on August 6, and the Gold Cup at Reno, Nev., August 26-27, before the circuit swings back east. Three regattas are scheduled to wind up the calendar in September: The Silver Cup at the Detroit River here the 10th; the President's Cup at Washington, D. C., on the 16th and 17th, and the Governor's Cup at Madison, Ind., on the 30th.

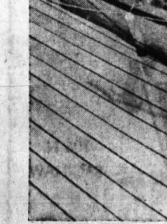

Three owners have registered two boats each for this season's unlimited campaign. Willard E. Rhodes, of Seattle, with Miss Thriftway and Miss Century 21; James G. Thompson, London, Ont.; Miss Superstreak II and III, and J. L. Schoonin, Detroit, Gale V and VII.

Other owners and their craft are: George Simon, Miss U. S. 1; Jack Schaefer, Such Crust; Charles Thompson, Miss Detroit; George Zigas, Thunderbolt and Joseph A. Dewey, Lumberville, all of Detroit; Lawrence Schuyler, Dollar Bill, Lompoc, Calif.; and Neal Cahill, Miss Madison, Madison, Ind. For this reason the skipper should learn to be a "do-it-yourselfer," and include such items as a first-aid manual and first-aid kit among the routine cargo before each voyage.

What appears to be harmless falls, cuts and bruises could develop into serious infection, and should not be overlooked, the safety specialists of Johnson Motors warn. But they add this caution: Don't overheat. Thus the need for the first-aid manual.

A safety kit comprised of bandages, pins, scissors, thermometer, iodine, aspirin, tweezers, cotton, Dramamine (to combat seasickness), rubbing alcohol, aromatic sprays of ammonia and a solution to assuage unburned skin can be assembled in a few minutes.

USLTA Tables Idea of Holding Open Tournaments

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The International Lawn Tennis Association has agreed to experiment with a restricted list of open tournaments, but won't consider the question fully until the next meeting in Paris, July 11, 1967.

That was the major decision of the one-day meeting of 70 delegates from 41 countries Wednesday. The vote for the restricted tournaments was 133-101, and for consideration at the next meeting 166-66. The large vote was due to permitting various official observers to cast ballots.

Prior to the meeting it was known that the United States, England and France favored open tournaments, but that Australia, which previously had supported the idea, now is opposed.

The delegates rejected Russia's request to hold the European championships next year. They awarded the 1962 indoor Scandinavian meet to Oslo, Feb. 4-11, and the South American title event to Argentina for either November or December, 1962.

Keep Good Tool Kit

A tool kit containing pliers, screwdriver, wrench, drive pins, cotter pins, extra spark plugs and a spare propeller, should always be carried in an outboard rig.

Leave your itinerary very loose when cruising with kids. Their whims don't respond to regimentation. Keep an interest in what they are doing. Kids don't care where they've been—they want to know where they are going.

The slightest spark, say Johnson Motors safety specialists, can ignite a boat fire because it takes very little gasoline vapor combined with air — to create a highly explosive mixture. And gasoline readily changes from a liquid to a combustible vapor even in cold weather. The rule is ventilate, ventilate and ventilate.

Since gasoline vapors are heavier than air they flow downward and collect in confined spaces; the bilge of a boat for instance.

Armed with this knowledge the boatman should heed these safety precautions:

- 1—Prevent gasoline from spilling when refueling. Outboard fuel tanks should be filled on the dock rather than in the boat.
- 2—Be wary of using any equipment — from open lights to cigarettes — that could be the source of a gasoline fire.
- Common sense dictates that these precautions are doubly observed when the refueling process is taking place. In this regard, the skipper should be sure that all engines, fans — any equipment remotely capable of creating a spark — are stopped during refueling. Other sources of ignition — electrical wiring, switches and hoses — should be located well above the low areas where these vapors might gather.

300 Boat Drivers Set for Top o' Michigan Race

1961 Marathon Starts Sunday at Indian River

Ray Lenk to Defend Title Over 87 - Mile Inland Water Course

The 1961 Top O' Michigan Outboard Marathon Race will be run this Sunday in Northern Michigan. Approximately 300 drivers are expected to enter, with registrations open until right before race time on noon.

Registration will take place at the Indian River Marina at Indian River, with the race scheduled to start from the Topinabee Hotel, Topinabee, Michigan.

The race is open to all Class A-B-C-D and Class 36 drivers in District 4 and blanks have been sent to all those listed as residing in that area. However, Marathon officials urge all those who have not been contacted and who wish to enter to contact Commodore Bernie Clark at the Indian River Marina, Indian River, Michigan for information or registration blanks.

Considered the largest outboard race in the nation for the past few years, the course covers 87 miles of inland water route in Northern Michigan.

Challenging all others will be Ray Lenk of Detroit who won in 1960 for his second straight win, covering the course in 1 hour and 37 minutes. Record time for the course is held by Eddie Tom of Fort Wayne, Indiana, who set the pace in 1958 at 87 minutes.

Approximately 50,000 spectators are expected to view the race again this year from vantage points along the waterway.

Prizes have been increased to six places in A-B-C-D classes, beginning with $20 for first and ending with $25 for sixth. In Class 36 four prizes will be awarded, with $300 as first prize and $50 as fourth. In addition, trophies will be given for all the above places.

This race is sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association and has Coast Guard approval.

Spectator highlight of the event, in addition to the thrills provided by the racers, will be the appearance of the new Miss Michigan who will be on hand on both Saturday and Sunday to take part in Marathon activities.

Robin Too II Winner in Halifax Ocean Run

HALIFAX (AP) — The spunky little sailboat Robin Too II led a four-boat sweep by the United States Wednesday in the 360-mile biennial Marbledale, Mass., to Halifax ocean race.

The Robin Too II, skippered by Fred E. Hood of Marbledale, was named overall winner of the 3100-mile race with a corrected time of 39 hours, 35 minutes and 30 seconds.

Carelessness Cause Fire No. 1 Boating Hazard

With water everywhere, it would seem fire is of only nominal concern to the skipper of a small boat.

Yet, of the comparatively few boats that run into difficulty during the summer months, statistics show that fire is the most common troublemaker. In 1960 fires and fuel explosions caused $363,500 in damages to boats, the U.S. Coast reports. And most boat fires are gasoline fires, caused principally by carelessness — such as failing to wipe up spilled gasoline, or failing to make metal-to-metal contact (fuel hose nozzle to tank flange) in fueling.

The slightest spark, say Johnson Motors safety specialists, can ignite a boat fire because it takes very little gasoline vapor combined with air — to create a highly explosive mixture. And gasoline readily changes from a liquid to a combustible vapor even in cold weather. The rule is ventilate, ventilate and ventilate.

Since gasoline vapors are heavier than air they flow downward and collect in confined spaces; the bilge of a boat for instance.

Armed with this knowledge the boatman should heed these safety precautions:

- 1—Prevent gasoline from spilling when refueling. Outboard fuel tanks should be filled on the dock rather than in the boat.
- 2—Be wary of using any equipment — from open lights to cigarettes — that could be the source of a gasoline fire.
- Common sense dictates that these precautions are doubly observed when the refueling process is taking place. In this regard, the skipper should be sure that all engines, fans — any equipment remotely capable of creating a spark — are stopped during refueling. Other sources of ignition — electrical wiring, switches and hoses — should be located well above the low areas where these vapors might gather.

Wind Song, 41-foot sloop owned by Don Neal, CMC's engineer, will be entered in the Port Huron-Mackinac race July 22-23.

With a crew of eight, the boat will leave the Bayview Yacht Club near Belle Isle and be in Port Huron ready to leave around 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Members of the crew include Ken Raymond, Jim Kemp, Al Gray, Gene MacCracken, Fred Convin, Van Phillips, Alex Clark and Neal.

The Wind Song will be entered in the cruising class C division. Neal got the boat last year and had it in time for the Chicago-Mackinac race, in which it finished in the middle of the list of entries.

WYLC SAILORS AT DIAMOND LAKE

Two boats from Watkins Lake Yacht Club attended the annual Michigan Regatta sponsored by the Diamond Lake Yacht Club in Cassopolis recently. They were 27 entries entered. Glen Fried took 8th and Fred Brede was 12th.

At Watkins Lake last Sunday, the Thistle fleet was paced by Norm Ledwin with Don Eastmoth and Karl Krietz following.

Among the Snipes, Chuck and Carol Morris placed first, followed by Frank and Joan Fleck crewing Fred Poole's skipper. Ray Franklin was third.

ANOTHER FOR BOVALET

After the July 4th Regatta victory at Pontiac Yacht Club, Andy Rouleau with Harold and Dave Davies as crew took first place last Sunday, the 10th race of the summer series.

Mack Goodwin, with wife Marnie and Peter Gobel placed second while a new fiberglass lightning skippered by Paul Goodie with wife Mary Jo and Walt Johnson took third. Twenty seven participated amid light and shifting winds.

Two Yachts Battle in Tran-Pac Race

EN ROUTE TO HONOLULU (AP) — The battle between the front-running Sirius II and Ticonderoga amounted to a bookie's nightmare as the 41-foot Trans-Pacific Yacht Race moved into the stretch.

Both yachts are expected to cross the Diamond Head finish line Friday.

The 73-foot ketch Ticonderoga of Ann Arbor, Mich., which had been trailing Sirius II by 14 miles, laid on a burst of speed Wednesday and moved two miles ahead of the 52-foot scratch boat.

At roll call, the Class A Ticonderoga had a 24-hour run of 136 miles with 545 miles to the finish, and Sirius II scored a 140-mile run with 547 miles to go.

On the basis of handicaps, the 66-foot cutter Nam Sang of Newport Harbor, Calif. led the fleet and Class A as the 22nd biennial 2,225-mile classic moved toward its ninth day. Nam Sang had 600 miles to go.

Keep Motor Upright

If you own a small motor and remove it from the boat after each outing, Evnrude engineers suggest you hold it upright on the dock for a few moments so water will drain from the lower unit and will not enter the cylinder and crankcase through the exhaust ports.

Give Your Boating Rig Good Mid-Season Check

Midway through the boating season it normally becomes necessary for a systematic checkup of your boating rig in order to insure maximum performance. This includes more than a cursory examination of the boat's hull.

Engineers at Evnrude Motors suggest the spark plugs be removed and inspected, cleaned if necessary and replaced if they appear defective.

This bit of advice is good whether or not you do much running. The battery may need a charge if you operate a motor without a generator. It's embarrassing, and sometimes dangerous, to suddenly discover a dead battery.

Battery terminals should be cleaned and the electrical connections should be checked for frayed or worn insulation.

You should inspect the lubricant in the lower gear case to see that it is free of water or oil. Check the propeller to see that it is not nicked or bent, and have it re-jetted if it appears to need it.

If you have noticed a drop-off in rpm of the engine, or if any persistent trouble develops, it's best to take it to your marine dealer for an inspection.

The mooring hardware should be inspected for loose fasteners and possible corrosion. Look over the steering cables and pulleys to see that they are firmly seated. Replace any frayed cable.

You should also check the accessories. Be sure your anchor line is firm. You may have lost some of your mooring lines, or they may have frayed and lost strength. Give life jackets and buoyant cushions a complete check to see that they have not become damaged or mildewed. Replenish the supplies in your first aid kit.

See that the fire extinguisher is properly charged and easily available. Inspect your tool kit to see that you have lost no tools, and get some new batteries for the flashlight. Better to be safe than sorry.

Reports Hoffa Out to Control AFL-CIO

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A news paper published by District 50 of the United Mine Workers said Wednesday that Teamsters President James R. Hoffa is trying to grab control of the AFL-CIO from George Meany.

The paper, District 50 News, said that Hoffa was trying to re-enter the big labor federation on a "take me back or take the consequences" basis.

It revealed that the Teamsters were expelled from the AFL-CIO less than four years ago and told they could not return unless they had cleaned themselves of corrupt leadership.

"What the weak-kneed AFL-CIO hierarchy will do is anybody's guess," the News said in an editorial.

Pleads Guilty on Assault Count in May Stabbing

Willie J. Harris, 36, of 178 Franklin Road, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a reduced charge of aggravated assault in the stabbing of a 44-year-old man last May.

Municipal Judge Maurice E.

Finnegan ordered Harris to pay, trying to leave following a quarrel, according to Pontiac police.

Garth was stabbed in the abdomen and was hospitalized in serious condition after the incident.

Fog consists of a great swarm of minute drops of water suspended in the air. The droplets are so small it would take seven billion of them to make one teaspoonful of water.

Judge Orders Organist Committed to Hospital

DETROIT (U.S.—Thaddeus Wellbaum, 31, a church organist from Toledo, Ohio, charged with kidnapping a 7-year-old Detroit boy, has been ordered committed to a mental hospital.

U.S. District Judge Theodore Levin ruled Wednesday that Wellbaum was incompetent and could not understand the charge against him.

him. Levin said the ruling was based on testimony by a psychiatrist.

The boy, Gary Sharp, disappeared in Detroit last April and was found crying the next day in the doorway of a downtown Toledo building.

A transistorized vision of the walkie-talkie is small enough to be carried in the pocket and has a range of one mile.

Die 45 Minutes Apart

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—Margaret Lucy, 83, had been suffering from a lingering illness. She died in her home while Dr. William L. Thompson was attending her. Dr. Thompson then turned to comfort her husband of 56 years, Michael Lucy, 81. Lucy suddenly collapsed. He died 45 minutes later, apparently of a heart attack.

Adenauer Fires Panic in E. Germany

Crash Probe Eyes DC8's Hydraulic

DENVER — An intensive close-mouthed federal investigation of a United States Airlines jet crash at Denver which took 17 lives was centered today on the DC8's hydraulic system trouble.

The crash raised a major question as to the reliability of the DC8 hydraulic, which operates speed-damping flaps, lowers the landing gear, and provides braking power.

Smiles and Tears

THEY'RE BOTH HAPPY—Happiness at being chosen among the 15 semifinalists in the Miss U.S.A. contest Wednesday night for the Miss Universe pageant show differently on two of the contestants. Elaine Cusick (left), Miss Massachusetts, of Hyde Park, smiles; Joan Zeller, Miss Rhode Island, of Providence, wipes a tear from her eye. Miss Zeller was a stewardess aboard an airliner which crashed into the East River in New York about 18 months ago when 68 died.

Miss Michigan Among 15 Finalists for Miss U.S.A.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — The heroine of an airline crash, a gambling queen who's a stranger to a gambling house, and a "Miss Mississippi" from Louisiana are among 15 semifinalists today for the "Miss U.S.A." title at the annual Miss Universe pageant.

So is Michigan's entry, Patricia Lyn Squires, 19, of Milan. The 15 beauties were chosen Wednesday night from entrants from 42 states and the District of Columbia.

'West Will Not Let Russ Seal Fate of Berlin'

De Gaulle Warns Reds They Threaten Peace of the World

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said Wednesday the West will never let the Soviet Union settle the fate of Berlin alone "as if the three great powers had no rights there."

The French leader in a television speech warned the Soviets they are creating a crisis over the former German capital that threatens the peace of the world.

De Gaulle charged the Soviets with calling for peace "while formulating requirements which threaten to put it in danger."

"The Soviets are renewing their threat of unilaterally settling the fate of Berlin," he said, "and London and Paris do not give up the present status of the town as required by Moscow," he said, then warned, "I declare once more, there is no chance of this being accepted."

He further warned the Soviet Union it must bear the full responsibility for any "grave consequences" of a crisis over Berlin.

At the same time he called for an atmosphere of true cooperation and coexistence in which "a problem like that of Germany would lose much of its bitterness and might, at some moment, be considered objectively by the interested powers."

De Gaulle told his own people that France must speedily purchase modern arms to replace the World War II weapons that most of her forces have.

Starting in September, he said, the length of French draftees' military service will be cut by an unspecified number of weeks, and funds thus saved will be used to modernize the army.

CAIRED PROPAGANDA
Moscow radio said De Gaulle's remarks on Berlin "only repeated U.S. and Western German propaganda, thus distorting the Soviet position."

The broadcast said the French leader proposed "to prolong the occupation there, keeping West Berlin as a central provocation to the Soviet Union."

Dick W. Sikorski, secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, voiced confidence that the Western powers can limit any aggression by the Communist bloc.

"The threat with which we are faced has become quite as much political and economic in nature as military," he said. "It is NATO's task now and in the years to come to meet this challenge. I am convinced that we have the military and economic strength and also the morale and the spirit and the resources to endure."

Jet Tanks Hit Church

TREVISIO, Italy (AP) — Priceless art masterpieces were destroyed or damaged when a U.S. jet fighter dropped its fuel tanks over an ancient church at nearby Preganziol Wednesday. U.S. officials promptly promised to repair the church and pay damages.

Post to Speed Mail in Pontiac

Pontiac is among 300 cities tapped by the U.S. Post Office Department for a new program to speed mail deliveries.

Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson said the new operation—Nationwide Improved Mail Service (NIMS)—will begin here this summer.

The object of the program is to get commercial mailers who send bulk mail to mail delivery points in the late afternoon.

"With the late evening gift of nonpriority mail removed, priority mail can be handled and dispatched faster at the local office," Donaldson said.

ADENAUER IN BERLIN — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer (left) confers with his political rival, Mayor Willy Brandt, Wednesday during Adenauer's first visit to West Berlin in 18 months. Brandt is leading the Socialist party campaign to unseat the Christian Democrat government of Adenauer in the Sept. 17 elections. In light of the present crisis, however, he gave Adenauer a hearty welcome.

Claims State-Level Bickering Being Paid For on Local Level

Political bickering in Michigan at the state level has obscured its fiscal soundness at the local level, Louis H. Schimmel told a symposium of some 200 investment bankers and dealers yesterday.

A look at progress in Oakland County would help improve unfavorable impressions of the state, the Pontiac municipal finance consultant declared during the initial meeting of a series to discuss Michigan's assets and deficiencies.

Director of the Municipal Advisory Council of Michigan in Detroit and guiding hand of school finances in Pontiac and the state for a quarter century, Schimmel called for "a new and better climate of public opinion about Michigan to attract financial investors here."

While "ridiculous partisanship prevails in Lansing," local officials and citizens have been solving difficult financial problems "in an atmosphere of cooperation," Schimmel said.

But the rest of the nation—including the important investment dealers and bond attorneys in New York City—have been influenced by Lansing difficulties, Schimmel said.

"As a result, cities and schools have paid too high a price already, in the form of higher costs for bonds, for Michigan's poor image," he declared.

Disturbance Could Give Tiro II a Quick Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A weather disturbance in the Atlantic could provide a quick test for the new camera-carrying Tiro III hurricane-hunter satellite.

The 225-pound satellite rocketed into orbit Wednesday to photograph and perhaps discover the cause of tropical storms. Within hours, the Miami Weather Bureau reported a disturbance southeast of Puerto Rico, 400-600 miles east of the Lesser Antilles.

Above-normal shower activity, clouds and moderate winds were reported from the area. Whether officials said over-all conditions were not favorable for hurricane development, but Navy hurricane patrol planes were to make a thorough aerial investigation.

A Tiro project officer said Tiro III probably would pass over the disturbance zone today and there was a possibility its two television cameras would obtain pictures of the potential storm.

100-MINUTE TRIP

A Thor-Delta rocket boosted the meteorological satellite into an orbit ranging from 460.74 to 566.52 miles above the earth. It circles the globe once every 100 minutes.

On its first pass, Tiro III transmitted 53 "excellent" pictures showing cloud cover formation over Newfoundland, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the St. Lawrence Valley region.

If project officials suspect the disturbance in the Atlantic could develop into a hurricane, they can command the two cameras to take pictures when the satellite is over the weather system.

The photos will be stored on magnetic tape and played to ground stations at Wallops Island, Va., or San Nicolas, Calif., when Tiro III passes overhead.

In local mail volumes are expected in the year ahead.

Postmaster Donaldson emphasized the program will not mean lesser service for mail which requires quick dispatch — the personal letter or the important business letter.

This type of mail, including all mail with a personal signature, and mail with a news or service value will move out first, he said.

A check here indicated many pieces of first class mail would be able to make surface transportation connections for next day delivery. The Postmaster noted that crucial out-of-town dispatches that could be made more readily in the early evening include points such as St. Louis, Mo., and Chicago, Ill.

Says Pressure of Red Regime Accelerated

Aging Chancellor Sees Beleaguered City in One-Day Visit

BERLIN (UPI) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today that there is "panic" in Communist Germany.

The 85-year-old Adenauer made his comments at a news conference shortly before returning to Bonn after a one-day morale-boosting visit to this beleaguered city in the heart of Communist-controlled territory.

"There seems to be a panic in the Soviet zone," he said. "Pressure of the regime has been stepped up and many still wish to get to freedom as quickly as possible."

As Adenauer wound up his Berlin visit there were these other developments in the East-West dispute over the city:

—In Washington it was reported that the forthcoming U.S., British, and French notes will reject Soviet Premier Khrushchev's Berlin demands and restate the West's wishes for a long-range solution based on free elections and reunification of Germany.

—West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss headed from Bonn to Washington to discuss the Western defense setup in Europe with U.S. officials. Informed sources in Bonn said he probably would call for a general speeding of the NATO alliance's military power, with a commensurate increase in fire power on the European continent.

'WEST UNITED'

—In London, NATO Secretary General Dirk U. Slaus said the alliance must move all try to prevent a crisis over Berlin. But he said it must be made "abundantly clear" to Khrushchev that the West is standing united and ready to stand together, and if he starts anything, "we will be there."

—The Communists imposed new controls in East Berlin again to stop the drain on their sagging economy.

West Berliners have been taking advantage of the cheap East German money by getting haircuts, laundry service and the like in East Berlin.

MUM IN PLANS

Adenauer declined to discuss Western plans to meet in the coming Soviet threat against Berlin, but he predicted the Western allies "soon" would talk with Moscow leaders about West Berlin and Germany.

Disarmament Adviser Briefed

JFK Tells McCloy to Make Every Effort Toward Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy gave final instructions to his top disarmament adviser today for a new round of negotiations with Russia on setting up a big new international disarmament conference this summer.

The President was understood to have told disarmament chief John J. McCloy that he should make every possible effort in talks beginning at Moscow Monday to work out arrangements for a new East-West meeting on this critical issue, including details of time, place and the nations which would be invited to attend.

Revision of Formula for Wages Sought

2 Tots Perish in House Fire

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union says it has some catching up to do in the matter of wages.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock made the statement Wednesday in announcing that the union would present to General Motors today arguments for an upward revision of the auto industry's wage formula.

"We will point out the inadequacy of the present one and three cents per hour," Woodcock said.

"We are almost 60 cents an hour behind the steelworkers in general wages. They have outstripped us in wages in the past 15 years," he added.

The straight time average hourly wage of $2.53 plus a 17 cents cost of living allowance.

Present three-year contracts with the auto companies give the auto workers each year a wage increase of 2 1/2 per cent or 6 cents an hour, whichever is greater. This is known as the annual improvement factor accounting for increases in production costs.

There has been speculation the auto makers may attempt to eliminate both the annual improvement factor increase and cost of living provision in new contracts now being negotiated. Present contracts expire Aug. 31.

The union has declared it will permit no tampering with present contract provisions.

The wage formula—first negotiated at GM in 1948—was based on the theory that the nation's productivity was growing at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent. The union now says this figure is too low because automation has boosted productivity.

The UAW planned to take up with Ford today problems of grievance procedure and eligibility rules for holiday and vacation pay. It already has presented GM and Chrysler a series of complaints on present grievance procedure.

Bargaining talks at Chrysler today turned to a discussion of higher pension levels and expansion of company financed liability pay to supplement state unemployment compensation.

Drought Areas Among Those Hit by Showers

By The Associated Press

Showers dampened wide areas of the nation today, including sections of the drought-stricken West.

Rain clouds hovered over most of the eastern half of the country, with showers and rain in prospect in many areas during the afternoon and evening.

Thunderstorms roamed the Texas south plains and western edge of the Panhandle early today. Seven deaths were blamed on the turbulent weather.

Heavy rains up to 5.3 inches surged over Seary County in West Texas.

2 Tots Perish in House Fire

FLINT (AP)—Two small children died today when a gasoline-fueled fire destroyed a one-story, frame house on Flint's West Side.

Police said William L. Short, 2 1/2, and his sister Barbara Ann, 4, perished in the blaze.

The children's mother, Mrs. James Short, 27, and three other children, escaped. Mrs. Short was treated for burns at Hurley Hospital.

Police said Williams apparently removed a five-gallon can of gasoline from a closet in the home. Part of the gasoline spilled on the kitchen floor.

Flames from a bottled-gas burner ignited gasoline fumes and started the fire.

Vegas Shop Center Burns

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Flames early today destroyed a shopping center on Las Vegas' glittering strip. Five stores and two restaurants were closed when the fire swept through the desert spa center. No one was hurt.

matic to discuss in public what one plans," he said.

He issued Secretary of State Dean Rusk for his last, because before the National Press Club in Washington three days ago as an "example of restraint." And referred to Rusk a number of times when making "no comment" observations about other questions on Berlin.

But Adenauer indicated he did not think the future was all black. He said he would be back in Berlin again and said there probably soon will be discussions with the Soviets following delivery of Western allied notes on Berlin and Germany. The notes are scheduled to hit Moscow next week.

They have been saying his present trip would be his last, because a Soviet peace treaty would be signed with East Germany ending Western allied rights here.

Adenauer re-emphasized his rejection of a neutralized Germany.

"Neutralization of Germany would mean Germany's end," he said. "I wish to state this with clarity and I mean it."

He added that neutralization of Germany would mean a "tremendous strengthening" of the Soviet Union.

"Neither the continental powers nor the United States could agree to German neutralization," he said. "Neutralization would result in a tremendous change of balance."

Adenauer also removed the West German offer of food for East Germany, which the Communists have turned down although there are reported serious shortages in the east zone.

The West German chancellor said the East Germans are living under a regime which does not meet their conception of government and added that it is a "task for all freedom and peace loving peoples" to "end this disaster."

GOP Urges JFK to Drop Plans on Outer Mongolia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressional leaders today called on President Kennedy to drop any plans to extend diplomatic recognition to Outer Mongolia.

In another pronouncement, they said many Republicans could see no political advantage in a mobilization of U.S. National Guard and reserve forces as a show of strength in the Berlin crisis.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Party Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana brought to their weekly news conference prepared statements on Outer Mongolia.

Halleck said the "continued display of interest by some high state department officials in the admission of Red China to the United Nations is bad enough, but the sudden emergence of a proposal to recognize Outer Mongolia is simply incredible."

He called Outer Mongolia "the oldest of all the Soviet Union's puppet states," adding:

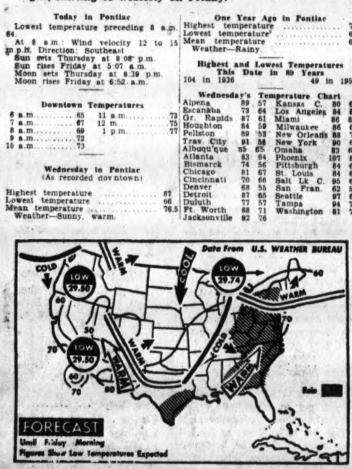

"No wonder our friends in Asia, including Nationalist China, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines, are questioning the sincerity of American policy at this very moment."

"We think it is of basic importance for President Kennedy to stop immediately these disruptive State Department operations. The free world is looking to us for leadership in Berlin, not confusion in Asia."

She is living there while making a movie called "The Inspector." Normally a blonde with a glow of health and hair long enough to sit on, she is playing a dark, short-haired ex-scapee of a concentration camp.

"I don't know how it all happened," she said. "I'm usually playing little Miss Goodie Two-Shoes, bright-eyed and all."

She had played only one dramatic role in her brief, busy career—a Playhouse 90 TV program with Stephen Boyd, her costar in "The Inspector." She thought it might have inspired producer Mark Robson to cast her again with Boyd. But no, he was curiously inspired by her role in "Where The Boys Are," a determinedly flippant film.

Her career started when, as a student at a Catholic girls' school in Studio City, Calif., a friend persuaded her to try out for the lead in a production of "St. Joan." She did and won it.

The friend circulated the studio and the sincerity of the letter so impressed producer Hal Wallis that he sent for Dolores. As a result she appeared opposite Elvis Presley in "Loving You."

Now 24, bright-eyed Dolores seems headed for a career as a dramatic actress as well as a portrayer of debutante types.

Cigarette Habit Form of Suicide, Claims Doctor
HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—Cigarette smoking is a "form of suicide," a well-known doctor said Wednesday night.

"The only difference is, when you put a bullet in your head it is cheap, quick and comparatively painless," Dr. Alton Ochsner, head of the Ochsner Clinic of New Orleans, said in a civic club speech.

Ochsner said lung cancer was rare 30 years ago and argued that all evidence points toward smoking as a contributing factor in lung cancer.

"If there were one-tenth the evidence that Brooklyn Bridge was unsafe," he said, "it would be closed immediately until a complete check could be made."

Miss Hart, 24, won her first movie role when a friend's letter so impressed a producer that he signed Dolores to play in a film.

TOMMIES GO NATIVE—British army engineers in Kuwait find native headlamps and earthenware water jars just the thing to beat the scorching heat in the Middle East. The engineers are building a rest camp in a desert village for comrades guarding the oil-rich territory against threatened Iraqi aggression.

By FRED DANZIG

United Press International
NEW YORK—After taking it on the chin, square chin from TV critics all these years, the men of Madison Avenue struck back Wednesday night.

The blow to the broad basket came toward the close of a watery romantic comedy titled, "Watching Out for Dulle," presented on CBS-TV's kindly old "Steel Hour."

Ordinarily, "Steel Hour" productions behave themselves. They're brought up as to avoid offending any and all minority groups. And that includes TV critics.

But Wednesday night, with Arthur Heinemann's script leading the way, this heretofore noncontroversial series suddenly, unexpectedly, kicked up its heels and gave its viewers a stirring message.

TV critics are only human.

TAKE CRIBES
To bolster this interesting theory, the story let viewers know that they accept bribes in the form of junkies, or at least they did back in the so-called "golden age" of TV, prequid scandals, when junk-teering was at its peak.

The story also let it be known that some TV columnists would rather chase girls than gaze at a 23-inch tube.

But it was the final message that marked "Watching Out for Dulle" as an hour of unprecedented courage, boldness and fearlessness. In the play, 65 TV critics and columnists were flown to England to meet the stars of a new series called something like "The Crusades."

Maury Gordon, the ad agency chap who played den mother, signed the tabs and buttered up the writers, ultimately found himself close to his gullet with and hoping his guest wouldn't like the pilot film he had brought them across the ocean to view.

"She's a nut of a danger yet, however," said Joe Director Frank McInnis, "but, with luck, she should pull through."

impression he was trying to tell you something? Anyhow, despite this violent-for-TV attack on a hard-working, brilliant, infallible, courageous band of patriots, I enjoyed "Watching Out for Dulle," message and all. There! Let Maury Gordon start worrying about that.

Girl, 13, Victim of Brutal Attack

Starts on Errand for Mother; Body Found on Mountain

CENTRALIA, Pa. (AP)—Jane Benfield would have been a freshman in high school next year. Her ambition was to be a nurse like her mother.

Today, the 13-year-old girl is dead, the victim of a brutal attack by an unknown person. Jane's body was found Wednesday night on Artists Mountain about half a mile north of this tiny central Pennsylvania mining community. Her clothes were badly torn. She was severely beaten about the head. Dr. Otto Miller, the Schuylkill County coroner who was called in on the search, said she had been sexually attacked.

Jane left home shortly before noon Tuesday to deliver a jar of jelly her mother had made to a neighbor who lived four blocks away. She never reached the neighbor's home.

Elephant Feeling Better But She's Having No Ball

DETROIT (AP)—Kila, the 1,000-pound baby elephant with the infected esophagus, was reported stronger and more active today.

"She's a nut of a danger yet, however," said Joe Director Frank McInnis, "but, with luck, she should pull through."

PATH OF MIDAS SPY—Arrows show record-high orbital around the earth of a Midas missile alarm satellite, launched from Point Arguello in California. The Midas reached an altitude of 1,800 miles, new high for a circular orbit that will put the satellite repeatedly over Russia. It is circling the globe every 2 hours and 40 minutes. It has an infrared eye to spot hostile rocket blasts.

AF Is Jubilant Over Sky Spy

Midas Satellite Scans Wide Areas Because of Altitude and Orbit

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—A Midas satellite equipped to detect hostile missile firings was circling the earth every 2 hours and 40 minutes today in a record-breaking orbit that repeatedly takes it over the Soviet Union.

Midas II, the first in the missile-alarm series to be launched from the West Coast, carries infrared equipment which can spot rocket exhaust.

The rocket—a big Atlas booster topped by an Agena second-stage vehicle—blasted off at 8:12 a.m. Wednesday from this Navy missile base adjacent to Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Air Force officials were jubilant, since the high altitude and circular orbit will permit the satellite to scan wide areas.

The same officials were firm, however, in refusing to issue progress reports on the satellite. All they would say was that Midas II's first pass over the Soviet Union would take place five hours after launch and that it would be in scanning range of Soviet missile bases in the Ural Mountains six hours later.

Ultimately, a network of sky scoops is expected to double the present 15-minute radar warning time of missile attack.

Parents Starve Tot; Will Be Sentenced

MONROE (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Evans of Monroe today awaited sentencing for manslaughter in the starvation death of their 2-year-old daughter.

They were remanded to the Monroe County Jail Wednesday by Circuit Judge William J. Weipert Jr. after a jury returned the verdict. No date was set for sentencing.

Police said the Evans couple, parents of four other children and expecting a fifth, kept Linda Faye virtually a prisoner in their home. The child's death was reported last Feb. 9.

A pathologist testified at the trial that Linda Faye had been dead for at least a week before police were notified and probably had been near death for at least a month. Starvation was listed as the cause.

Pair Sentenced on Separate Driving Charges

Two men pleaded guilty yesterday to reckless driving charges when brought before separate justices of the peace in Oakland County.

Alonzo J. Crisman, 23, of 120 Mansfield Ave. was fined $65 and $10 costs or 20 days in the county jail by Springfield Township Justice of the Peace Ernest J. Leib.

Preston Traylor, 29, of Detroit was ordered by Highland Township Justice of the Peace Roy J. Curt to spend five days in jail and pay $100 or spend an additional 30 days in jail.

Opera Star Bob Merrill Will Do Concert Tours

By EARL WILSON
ROME—Opera star Robert Merrill humbly told me as he sat at a table on the Via Veneto that everything seems to be coming up success for him in '61. He makes his Italian opera debut in Venice August 13, he's recording "Lucia" here with Joan Sutherland—and thanks to a new interest in him stirred up by his eight appearances on the Jack Paar show, he's being booked for concerts around America.

Bob marvels about the latter particularly. "It didn't come from my singing—but from Jack getting me to tell my lousy opera jokes," he said.

Eddie Bracken's settled here for a year or so to produce his own pictures. "You have to do it nowadays," he says. "This is a day of the independents. The big studios are dead. A lot of actors are sitting around waiting for Paramount or M-G-M to call them. Well, they're never going to call... which is why I'm here."

The summer's worst pun is being perpetrated here about "Barabaras." Director Dick Plescher and fellow quipsters are calling it "Ben His"—and they add, "because it's going to be bigger than 'Ben Hur.'"

Japan Talks of Ties
TOKYO (UPI)—Japan is conducting informal negotiations on possible establishment of diplomatic relations with Communist North Mongolia, it was reported today.

The summer's worst pun is being perpetrated here about "Barabaras." Director Dick Plescher and fellow quipsters are calling it "Ben His"—and they add, "because it's going to be bigger than 'Ben Hur.'"

The Midnight Earl in N.Y.
Toots Shor bumped his head on a girder of his new building, and roared, "I should sue the guy that owns this place!"... Virginia Warren Daly says "Sorry," isn't true she's expecting... Eddie & Lia have to rush home from Moscow in about a week—he on to the LA Coconut Grove July 25, Liz for throat repairs...

Big trek this week to Miami Beach for the Miss Universe show, headed by Pretty Meadows and John Daly... Jayne Jan McArt's starring in "The Chocolate Soldier" in Hyannis, Mass.

EARL'S PEARLS: In Hollywood you can gauge an actor's success by the size of his wife's divorce settlement.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Definition of an intellectual: "A fellow who reads the stories in Playboy."

Theatrical agent Bill Foster tried vainly to phone a client to cancel an appointment, finally said, "Oh well, it's a mind-reading act—he'll know I can't make it."... That's earl, brother.
