International Night to celebrate diversity

By Jeff Samoray, OU Web Writer

Oakland University will celebrate its diverse student culture with food, displays, fashion and entertainment during International Night 2003. The event will be held Friday, April 11, from 7-11 p.m. at the Recreation and Athletics Center. Admission is free.

"International Night is a tradition on the OU campus that attracts a lot of interest," said Coordinator of Student Leadership Development Sara Crampton. "It's also a huge community event that draws a lot of families. We wanted to hold the event in the Rec Center to make it easier for people to see all the entertainment choices in one large area."

Event organizers chose this year's theme, "We are the World," because of the multitude of cultures represented. The participating student organizations include:

- Akanke African Dance Troupe
- Chaldean American Student Association
- China Club
- French Club
- Fuerza
- German Club
- Indian Students Association
- Macedonian American Student Association
- Muslim Student Association
- Pakistani Student Association
- Polish Club
- Spanish Club
