GM Gives $115,000 to UF

Criticizes Williams

Pontiac Press Photo

BAGWELL AT ROTARY — The Pontiac Rotary Club yesterday heard Paul D. Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor, continue his campaign criticism of Gov. Williams' claim that Michigan is gaining industries not losing them. Bagwell cited figures to contradict the governor's claim.

Williams Killing Off Business---Bagwell

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Michigan's liabilities far outweigh her asets because of the "anti-business climate" Gov. Williams has spread over the state, Paul D. Bagwell said Thursday.

To help bring the scales more in balance, Republican gubernatorial candidate Bagwell again challenged his opponent to appoint a non-partisan commission to answer the big question of this year's battle for governor.

That question is whether Bagwell is telling the truth when he says Williams' "tax-industry-to-hilt" policy is driving industries and jobs from the state.

Or is Williams correct when he says businesses aren't leaving, they're coming to Michigan?

Bagwell, speaking to Pontiac Rotarians, rebuked Williams' claim that if any damage is being done to the state's economic growth, its because of the Eisenhower administration's tight-money policy.

"We've (the state) been going downhill long before there was any hint of a recession," he said.

In his continued attempts to show how his opponent had "padded" figures to show a business incline, Bagwell pointed to the additional 317,000 jobs the governor says were added in the state between 1949-57.

"He even included part-time college students in this total," the speaker said.

"Because Gov. Williams has only one solution for every kind of public problem, and that is you can spend your day out," Bagwell said, "the state faces by the end of the current fiscal year a minimum $65,000,000 deficit."

"I'm sure you know who is responsible for not getting the same results for your money as other states who spend less," he added.

Besides electing him to governor Nov. 4, Bagwell urged a vote for a Constitutional Convention. This would do away with provisions under the present 50-year-old pact which automatically earmarks 70 per cent of the state's income for designated uses, he said.

During his dawn to minight campaign junket through Michigan's 84 counties, the GOP hopeful said he hasn't spoken to one industrial leader who intends to expand his business.

"There, my friends, is our biggest liability brought on by my opponent's anti-business climate and his close alliance to Reuther and

Report Break in Local Strike

Give Tentative Okay to Seniority Wording at Truck, Coach

First break in the eight-day-old strikes at General Motors Corp. plants here came today at GMC Truck & Coach Division.

Company and union officials reported a tentative settlement on the language of the seniority agreement there, although the wage agreement and union grievances were still unsettled.

Andrew Wilson, president of UAW Local 594, announced that a progress report would be made at a membership meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Pontiac Central High School auditorium.

Negotiations at all three plants broke off temporarily today, as union leaders went to Detroit for an international UAW conclave.

★ ★ ★

Local working agreements as well as unsolved grievances are still unsettled at Pontiac Motor Division and the Fisher Body Division plant.

Approximately 14,100 UAW workers have been idled and production halted since the nationwide GM strike Oct. 2 was continued here over local issues.

Flood Sale Flooded

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) —The Artistic Upholstery Co. is running one "flood sale" behind. The store, advertising a sale of $20,000 worth of goods damaged in a July flood, was flooded again yesterday when Weir's Creek spilled over its banks.

Cut Unemployment 588,000 Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment dropped by 588,000 in September, marking what the government called a significant improvement in the job situation.

The joint monthly report of the Commerce and Labor Departments said unemployment declined from 4,699,000 in August to 4,111,000 in September.

This was about twice the usual seasonal decline between August and September.

Employment also dropped, falling from 65,367,000 to 64,629,000 or a decline of 738,000. This is usual as students go back to school at this time of year.

About one million students quit summer jobs to return to classes this year.

AF Said Ready for Moon Shoot Early Saturday

Pioneer Lunar Flight to Greet Columbus Day if All Goes Well

WASHINGTON (AP) — Columbus Day, the 466th anniversary of the discovery of America, may find scientists probing toward a new world in space.

Although there has been no official announcement, the Air Force reportedly is ready to make another try at hurling an unmanned space satellite to the vicinity of the moon—possibly before dawn Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Thus, if all goes well, man's first device to explore the moon area would be well on its way on Columbus Day, Sunday.

This is so because a rocket flight to the moon—some 221,000 miles away at this particular time — would take a little over 2½ days.

The first moon probe attempt by the Air Force failed Aug. 17. The rocket exploded after 77 seconds of flight.

The four days starting Saturday are the best in October for trying a moon shot. During this period the moon is closest to the earth. The shot will be fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

There is no plan actually to strike the moon with the 85-pound lunar probe mounted in the nose of an 88-foot, three-stage rocket.

Included in the payload are 25 pounds of instruments—notably a television-type scanning device designed to get rough pictures of the side of the moon never before seen from the earth. Other instruments are intended for counting meteorites and for determining whether the moon has a magnetic

Stores Offering Bargains Galore in Sale Tonight

A galaxy of bargains will be offered downtown shoppers from 6 to 9 tonight as part of the city's gala "Salute to Industry" celebration.

Sponsored by member stores of the Downtown Merchants Assn., the three-hour sale will feature special prices on fall merchandise.

Store windows will display signs with the slogan, "We Like the '59 Pontiac," and sales clerks will wear pins proclaiming "The Future Looks Great for Pontiac in 1959."

Shoppers will be able to pick up free entry blanks for the "Salute to Industry" contest, which offers an all-expense paid trip to Bermuda for two persons to the winner.

Hospital Might Cut Expansion

Cost to Make Repairs Sliced From $500,000 to $372,000 Total

To handle extra repair costs that have developed in the Pontiac General Hospital expansion program, the city may cancel $160,000 worth of construction remaining under its 1956 prime contracts.

After hearing City Manager Walter K. Willman give a progress report last night on efforts to trim the extras, city commissioners gave the signal to try this "general approach" with hospital officials, architects and contractors.

"Our best bet may be to cancel the old contracts, hire new people on a time-and-material basis, and keep the work going until the money runs out," Willman said.

He reported that architects have placed the added repair cost at around $372,000, considerably less than the $500,000 price tag set by the contractors. The repairs involve replacement of defective electrical, heating and plumbing installations in the old hospital wng.

The architects figured on salvaging what is still usable. Willman said, while the contractors' price covered complete replacement.

Willman believed that the $372,000 figure could be reduced even further.

Two things yet to be determined, he said, are (1) how much financial credit contractors would give the city, if the city in making the repairs duplicated some of the work already contracted for under the remodeling program; and (2) what financial penalties the city would

The weatherman predicts tonight will be partly cloudy and cooler, the low dipping to a cool 37 degrees.

Top coats and blankets are recommended for football fans going to the Michigan-Navy game in Ann Arbor and Michigan State-Pittsburgh game in Lansing tomorrow.

Temperatures in the low 50's is the forecast. The outlook for Sunday is mostly fair, with temperatures slowly moderating by afternoon.

Wait to View Pontiff's Body

MASS PAPAL RESIDENCE — A throng of pilgrims swarms outside the papal residence of Pope Pius XII Thursday at Castle Gandolfo. The crowd is surging toward the entrance to view the body of the Pontiff. Police were hard-pressed to maintain order in the crowd. The Pope's body was en route to the Vatican today.

Body of Pope Arrives at Basilica of St. John

ROME (AP)—The body of Pope Pius XII, clad in funeral robes, was brought today for the last time to the Basilica of St. John Lateran, his see as Bishop of Rome.

The funeral cortege, which started from the Pontiff's Castel Gandolfo Summer Palace where he died Thursday, arrived at the basilica at 3:25 p.m. (9:25 p.m. Pontiac time.)

Hundreds of thousands of people were packed in the basilica and in the streets and piazza adjoining it.

Throughout Italy millions more listened to or watched the solemn program on radio and television.

Along the entire 18-mile route from Castel Gandolfo to Rome, thousands of people stood to watch the funeral procession.

At St. John Lateran Basilica, the body of the Pope, in an austere ceremony, was to be given Holy Absolution.

In this ancient city, where he was born March 2, 1878, there was a tremendous traffic jam, and the streets were packed Italian and papal banners were at half staff.

From the Basilica, the route of the procession leads to St. Peter's in Vatican City where burial will take place Sunday or Monday. The mourning rites continue through Oct. 19.

The motor hearse carrying the pontiff had glass walls, but the coffin was covered by red silk, and the body was not visible.

★ ★ ★

On top the hearse was a big golden triregnum, the triple crown symbolizing the papal office. On each corner of the hearse was a golden angel. The vehicle moved at about 25 miles an hour.

THEY WEEP, PRAY

Along the route men, women, and children stood hushed. Some wept. Priests and nuns said their rosaries as they waited and watched the hearse go by.

A motorcycle escort of Italian police preceded the hearse. Ahead of it was an open car carrying Msgr. Federico Calloro di Vignali, the Pope's court chamberlain, and Msgr. Canisius van Lierde, the Pope's sacristan and vicar general for Vatican City.

In a second car was Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, French-born dean of the College of Cardinals.

Before the procession started, there were two periods for viewing the body at Castel Gandolfo. Originally only three hours of lying in state had been planned there.

But even though 5,000 persons filed past the bier Thursday night, thousands remained so the doors were opened again this morning, and thousands more entered to pay their last respects.

Calling for Independence of MSUO in Due Course

Pontiac will some day have an independent, four-year state college if Michigan follows a wise course in higher education.

That is the opinion of John Dale Russell, research director of a two-year, $160,000 study on higher education being conducted by a joint legislative and citizens committee.

Russell submitted his final report yesterday, the last in a series of 14 staff studies on phases of higher education ranging from course offerings through administrative control and finance.

In addition to Pontiac, Russell's report recommends state colleges at Dearborn, Saginaw and Grand Rapids.

The Pontiac college would develop from Michigan State University Oakland, and the Dearborn institution from a branch being established there by the University of Michigan. The other two would be new institutions.

In opposing establishment of new branches by major existing schools, Russell said that Michigan State University Oakland should be cut loose by MSU as soon as it is completely on its own feet.

MSUO should be given autonomous status with its own control board and administrative staff, he said.

Russell will discuss his conclusions with committee members and university heads Nov. 6-7.

Doesn't Include Pledges Made by Employes

Monaghan Hopes Gift Will Set Pattern, Assure Success of Drive

A $115,000 firm gift from the three General Motors Divisions to the United Fund was announced today by Philip J. Monaghan, campaign chairman.

The announcement was made before some 50 leading Commercial Division employers assembled at the Elks Temple.

UF officials echoed the words of Monaghan who expressed the belief that if GM's donation sets the pattern for future gifts, the success of this year's tenth anniversary appeal will be assured.

The GM gift was announced by Monaghan, general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division, preceding remarks by Berkeley Voss, Commercial Division chairman, who was the featured speaker at the luncheon. Judge Clarke J. Adams welcomed the group and introduced the speakers.

The GM gift comes directly from the corporation and does not include pledges which its employes will make.

The formula for a successful campaign outlined by Voss included the use and promotion of 100 per cent participation from the employes, use of the "Giving Yardstick" as a pledge guide and payroll deduction as the easiest means for pledge payment.

"We are proud of the fact the United Fund principle was born in this city," stated Voss. "Today, it has spread all over the country. There are more than 1,100 communities who have followed our example. I think it is only fitting that the city which gave birth to this wonderful idea should rededicate itself on its Tenth Anniversary and make this year's campaign a milestone in United Giving."

Each of the leading employers attending the meeting was presented with a 17 inch gold, white and black star which they will display when their organization reaches 100 per cent participation among its employes.

The Detroit Edison Company and Michigan Bell Telephone Company hosted the luncheon as a part of the public service advertising to the 1958 United Fund drive.

Air Battle Rages Over Formosa

Report 5 Red Planes Downed, 1 Nationalist Jet Fighter Lost

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Jet fighters of the Chinese Nationalists and Communists battled over the Formosa Strait today. The Nationalists said five Red planes were downed at a cost of one of theirs.

The Nationalist air force said machine-gun fire from its F86 Sabre Jets shot down four MIG17s.

A Sabre Jet collided with a fifth MIG, sending both crashing into the ocean and killing the Nationalist pilot, a spokesman said.

Peiping radio claimed Communist planes shot down two Nationalist Sabre Jets and damaged a third. It said one Nationalist pilot "has been captured alive." Red losses were not mentioned.

The Nationalists now claim they have shot down 34 MIGs and damaged or possibly destroyed 11 more since the Communists began bombarding the Quemoy Islands Aug. 23. In that period the Nationalists say they have lost only the plane in today's collision.

The Defense Ministry said six Sabre Jets were patrolling southeast of Matsu, a Nationalist offshore island 150 miles north of Quemoy, when 20 MIGs jumped them. The Sabre Jets were in the area because MIGs strafed tiny Tungyin Island in the Matsu group Thursday, a spokesman said.

President Chiang Kai-shek said in his annual address that the Nationalists had won the first round of the battle of Quemoy. He predicted they would win the "second round" and eventually would recover the mainland from the Chinese Communists.

Pontiac Fire Statistics Paint Grim Picture

Experts Advise Ways to Prevent Future Tragedy

By PETE LOCHBILER

Three dead so far this year.

Last year, two dead, 19 injured, $371,000 damage to 354 buildings.

These are Pontiac's fire statistics.

Nationally, 11,300 persons dead, financial losses over the $1 billion mark for the first time.

Sad figures, in light of the fact that the vast majority of fires need never have occurred. Nine out of ten could have been prevented easily.

A little caution, a little thought, that's all that's necessary, fire prevention experts say.

What's the major cause of fires? Carelessness.

Pontiac people should make a check around home right now, a check of the potential danger points. Everyone should keep his eye open for trouble spots the year around. An ounce of prevention in this case could equal a life not wasted, an incalculable savings.

That's the message of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Fire Prevention Committee during this year's observance of National Fire Prevention Week, the oldest presidentially proclaimed "week" in the country.

★ ★ ★

It's the home fire that usually is the tragic one, the committee pointed out. A family suddenly homeless, children suddenly orphaned, injury or death striking frightened youngsters or the helpless aged — these are tragedies that most folks don't like to think of as likely to happen to them, and yet such tragedy occurred in Pontiac last year.

Here's some hints the committee is passaing along about the danger spots in the home:

Heating systems should be in good repair. Be especially watchful of oil stoves and space heaters. They should be located on a level floor, away from inflammables such as curtains and bedding and in a position where they won't readily be damaged or tipped over. The manufacturer's instructions should be followed faithfully.

Open flames should be projected. To light a match in your home is to bring open fire into it. Don't let open fire spread, keep inflammables far away from it. Screen fireplaces and rubbish fires, keep an eye on the gas stove when cooking, make sure that used tobacco and matches are really out when discarded.

Inflammable materials such as paper and flimsy cloth go up in flames quickly once they are ignited. Don't let papers and junk accummulate in attics or basements, keep anything that burns away from potential flame. Such items as gasoline have no place in the home at all—gasoline is highly inflammable and fumes from an open gasoline can reach the explosive stage quickly.

Electricity is a threat when cords become frayed, lines lack full protection, installation is slapdash or the simple rules of the fuse box are ignored.

Misused and ill-constructed systems develop short circuits, which generate enough heat to cause fire. Worn out fuses should be replaced only by other fuses of the proper size. To insert a fuse of too large a capacity is asking for trouble. To substitute a penny for a fuse is tantamount to suicide by arson.

Children require special protection and consideration. Never leave them alone in the home, especially when very young. Get a baby-sitter, one with sense enough to evacuate children at the first whiff of smoke or gas.

Children and matches don't mix. This old rule should be strictly enforced. Nor should children be allowed to play around the danger points—they forget the danger too easily and one moment's carelessness may cost a life.

And if, despite precautions, fire should strike, the committee offers this dead-serious advice: Get out of the house immediately and get everyone else out, too. And stay out. Let the fire department do the fire fighting, your job is to keep yourself and your loved ones alive.

Slaying Ends Family Row

Farmer Shoots Wife, Critically Wounds Her Bachelor Brother

WHITE CLOUD (UP) — An elderly farm wife was shot to death and her bachelor brother, a visitor in the house, was critically wounded when a family argument erupted into a savage shooting spree last night.

Prosecutor John Shepherd said the woman's husband, David Tozer, 63, admitted shooting them down in the kitchen of their home near this west Michigan community.

Dead is Mrs. Ethel Tozer, 62. She was shot in the head and chest. Her body was found sprawled on the kitchen floor.

Her brother, Darrell Reed, 47, who lived about a half-mile away, was wounded eight times, three in the chest and five in his arms and hands. He was found in the bathroom.

★ ★ ★

Shepherd said Tozer told him he shot them after about five minutes of arguing over the relationship between his wife and her brother.

After the shooting, he dragged the wounded Reed about six feet to the bathroom, went outside and threw his gun in the White River adjacent to his property, and asked a neighbor to call police, Shepherd said.

Sheriff Robert Dougan said Tozer gave this account of the shooting in a formal statement:

Shortly after the argument started he ordered his brother-in-law out of the house.

Reed refused to leave and Tozer fired at him.

Mrs. Tozer leaped at her husband and tried to wrest the gun away from him. He shot her. She tried to reach the telephone and he shot her again.

Then he turned the gun on his brother-in-law again.

Cool, Wet Clime East of Rockies Expected Today

By The Associated Press

Cool and wet weather appeared in prospect for broad areas in the Eastern half of the country today.

★ ★ ★

Cold Canadian air, fanned by stiff northwesterly winds, spread from the Rockies, across the plains and into the midcontinent. Winds up to 45 m.p.h. lashed the Dakotas and upper Mississippi Valley and dropped temperatures into the 20s in the upper northern Plains. Snow flurries fell in some areas.

★ ★ ★

Showers and thunderstorms moved in with the cool air and extended from the lower Great Lakes to the southern Plains. Funnel clouds were reported Thursday in central Wisconsin and sections of Missouri. A tornado struck through rural areas northeast of Hudson, in western Wisconsin. No injuries were reported.

Say AF Moon Shoot Due Early Saturday

field. And the probe is equipped with radio transmitters for sending information back to earth.

Lunar probe rocketeers have cautioned that complete success would hinge on perfect functioning of some 300,000 parts of the payload and its launching rocket.

The rocket would have to reach speeds up to 24,000 miles an hour to escape the earth's gravitational pull. In this connection, the rocketeers say the venture would be considered a partial success if the rocket was able to break away from the earth's gravity.

Their best hope, they say, is to be able to shoot the rocket's instrumented payload within 50,000 miles of the moon. Chances of coming within that distance on the first trial are rated as no better than 1 in 10.

And if the object did not achieve any kind of lengthy orbit around the moon, one or two erratic passes, around it conceivably could produce crude pictures of the hidden side.

Even on the four most favorable days in a given month, rocketeers have only about 15 minutes leeway each day to fire the device—and still have any chance of coming even within 50,000 miles of the moon.

This is because the launching site and the moon are best aligned for a shot only during such a brief period.

The rocketeers won't be aiming directly at the moon. Rather, they will shoot for an area some 137,000 miles ahead of the moon at the time the rocket is launched.

★ ★ ★

The moon rocket would be launched in a southeasterly direction from Cape Canaveral to take advantage of the earth's easterly rotation. This would add to the rocket's inherent speed.

The rocket's course would take it over the equator and about half way around the earth to gain height and speed before hurtling toward its rendezvous with the moon.

State Police Enter Case of Death at Coldwater

LANSING (UP) — State police detectives today began sifting through testimony given by Coldwater State Home and Training School employes in connection with the death of a patient.

Detectives Charles Southworth and V. W. Caulkins were assigned yesterday to work with a legislative committee in checking into the incident.

At the same time, the State Mental Health Commission launched its own investigation in preparation for a joint meeting with the legislative committee headed by Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron).

Phillips, whose committee is investigating Michigan's mental hospitals, said he asked for state police help in checking conflicting testimony on injuries to Joseph Kibiloski, 45, of Bronson.

Kibiloski, a patient at the institution since Sept. 25, died there two days ago. Though suffering from three broken ribs and numerous cuts and bruises, an autopsy showed he died of uremia, a kidney ailment.

Phillips contended Kibiloski had been "manhandled and abused" by training home attendants. Charles F. Wagg, state mental health director, said his own inquiry showed no evidence of abuse.

"The shock from his manhandling did aggravate the existing illness and contributed to his death," Phillips said.

★ ★ ★

"I want brought to justice the people who did it," he said.

However, he did not join with Rep. Sterling Eaton (R-Plymouth), vice chairman of the investigating committee, in demanding suspension of Dr. E. J. Rennell, superintendent at Coldwater.

"Everybody's entitled to a fair hearing before his resignation is demanded," he said.

The Mental Health Commission and Phillips' committee planned to question Dr. Rennell at the joint meeting.

Phillips said he would ask him "to justify if he can the assignment of a patient with limited walking ability to a two-story cottage with the dormitory on the second floor." He said the man weak and unable to walk without assistance, had been dragged up and down stairs.

Wagg claimed the man probably fell.

Jimmy Hoffa," Bagwell remarked.

Prefacing his attack on Gov. Williams, the 44-year-old MSU professor on leave from the university, brightened his 45-minute talk by showing Michigan has some great assets in its people, land, water, minerals, St. Lawrence Seaway, and the atomic reactor plant near Monroe.

But he made no mistake about his party's number one target if it should win out next month. That will be to rebuild the state's reputation as a great industrial area, he said.

On the other hand, should Williams win a sixth two-year term in Lansing, taxpayers can look forward to another tax burden above and beyond the forecasted deficit, Bagwell stated.

This will come, he said, if promises made at the Democratic state convention are enacted. "It will mean spending a minimum of 200 million more a year," Bagwell contended.

"And we don't have it because my opponent is sending tax dollars out, not in," he continued.

"The governer is guilty of appointing 'layman' to top positions in the state hierarchy, in jobs entrusted to spending large sums of money, strictly on political expediency," Bagwell went on to tell Rotarians.

His appearance marked the third top candidate for office which the Pontiac club has heard this year. Candidates for Michigan senator, Republican Charles E. Potter, and Democrat Philip A. Hart, preceded Bagwell.

MOURNS POPE — The Pope was dead. This elderly woman heard the news as she stood outside the papal summer residence at Castel Gandolfo. She was not ashamed of her sorrow. She expressed it as she best knew how: weeping openly.

Body of Pius XII Arrives at Basilica of St. John

at the Azores to fly back for the obsequies and the conclave that will elect a new pope.

He was led up the marble staircase by Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella, who was elected Thursday by other cardinals as the church's chief executive until a new pope is chosen.

The body was borne out the front gate of the papal summer palace—a gate he never used during his pontificate — for his final trip to the Vatican.

★ ★ ★

The main gate was chosen, a high Vatican official said, because Pius had used it on his first visit to Castel Gandolfo, when he was Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state to Pope Pius XI.

Beginning Saturday morning, the body will lie in state in the vast Basilica of St. Peter for the thousands of sorrowing faithful to file by in last tribute. The body will remain in state until the burial, probably Monday, in the resting place Pius chose for himself in the crypt below.

At the burial a symbolic coffin will be placed in the Basilica. It will remain the center of mourning rites which will continue through Sunday, Oct. 19—nine days of mourning, since the period officially does not begin until Saturday.

Pius XII named the Holy See as his sole beneficiary and asked in his last will and testament that no monuments be built to him.

The will was published today in the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, under a headline: "The Enlightening Testament of The Angelic Pastor."

The will apparently was written in Latin. L'Osservatore Romano carried its Italian translation.

"I name as my universal heir the Holy Apostolic See from which I received benefits as from a mother," the late Pope wrote.

The Pope asked for forgiveness and burial in an obscure, holy place.

Throughout the document, the Pope referred to himself as "me" and "I," dropping the formal "we" with which he has referred to himself and his works during the pontificate.

To Make Appeal in Police Suit

Pontiac Officials Want State Supreme Court to Reverse Adams

An appeal will be made to the Michigan Supreme Court of Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams' opinion yesterday that two Pontiac city officials violated the Civil Service Act in not promoting three police officers.

★ ★ ★

City Attorney William A. Ewart said he would ask Judge Adams to sign a 20-day stay order to permit the city to appeal to the high court, as soon as the judge issues a writ of mandamus ordering the promotions.

"The whole basic concept under the law and city charter of the right of the city manager to appoint or not to appoint, based on whether positions are needed, is at stake here," declared Ewart in announcing the appeal.

Judge Adams ruled that City Manager Walter K. Willman and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley were "attempting to avoid" provisions of the act in not promoting the officers.

★ ★ ★

Four officers filed suit in June claiming they were entitled to the promotions based on civil service tests they took and passed with the highest grades. One officer later withdrew from the suit.

★ ★ ★

The city's defense was that they once asked that the eligibility lists be drawn up to fill vacancies on the force, but later decided these open positions were no longer necessary.

Local School Principals Hear MSU Professor

Dr. Herbert Rudman of the Michigan State University College of Education addressed 142 Oakland County elementary school principals Wednesday at a luncheon in the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Assn. building.

Dr. Rudman spoke on the subject, "Instruction Is Your Business." His talk included highlights of his recent trip to Russia where he visited and studied schools.

Grant Barber, principal of the Quarton School in Birmingham and president of the principals' organization, presided over a short business meeting which followed the talk.

The Day in Birmingham

Plan Special Observance to Fete United Nations

BIRMINGHAM—A two-part program at the Birmingham High School and Community House is being planned for the observance of United Nations Day, Oct. 21, Mrs. G. B. D. Peterson, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced.

★ ★ ★

The program is being handled by the "Foreign Affairs Comes to Suburbia" Committee of the American Association United Nations.

William Frye, information director at the UNESCO office in New York City, will speak at the high school assembly in the morning. During the 1 to 3 p.m. program in the Community House he will make another informal talk on "UN Aims and Activities."

A second feature of this program will be a "Meet the Press" panel, moderated by Mrs. Peterson.

Sponsoring the program this year are 16 area service clubs, the city of Lathrup Village and the city of Birmingham.

A bogus check passer, wanted by police in several southern Michigan cities, was being held today by Bloomfield Township Police after having been tripped up by an alert Miracle Mile supermarket manager and his crew.

Under arrest is Jac O. Crampton, 30, of Lansing. He is suspected of uttering and publishing $400 in bad checks in the Pontiac area and $5,000 in Flint, according to Township Police Chief Norman Dehnke.

Crampton came to the end of his trail Wednesday when he attempted to cash a $20 check at the Kroger store in the Miracle Mile Shopping Center on S. Telegraph road.

Store manager Donald Shaw, 30, of 2915 Otsego St., Pontiac, scanned a list of persons wanted for passing bad checks and saw Crampton's name on it.

Shaw told the man he was wanted, and Crampton bolted for the front door. However, his flight was blocked by stock boys, and others joined in to hold him for the police.

The Rev. F. Falk has been appointed youth minister at the First Methodist Church by Bishop Marshall L. Reed.

Former assistant minister at the St. Luke's Methodist Church in New York City and pastor at Cold Springs, N. Y. Methodist Church, he will assume his position Sunday.

The Rev. Falk will be in charge of the youth groups of the church, which include junior and senior high school students and young married couples.

Birmingham Police today are investigating the theft of $3,000 in clothing, jewelry and other items from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Halstead, 1452 Dorchester Rd.

The robbery was discovered when the Halsteads returned home yesterday after being away four days.

Entry was gained by cutting a screen on the summer porch door and removing a pane of glass from the French doors, police said.

Missing are a mink stole, valued at $2,200; a 12-piece setting of Gorham silver, $750; a $400 ladies wristwatch, three bottles of imported perfume and two bottles whisky.

Robert E. Horter

Robert E. Horter, 62, of 2694 Heathfield Rd., Birmingham, died yesterday at William Beaumont Hospital following a long illness. He was a retired sales representative for the Nashua Packaging Co., Chicago. Surviving are his wife, Ruth; a daughter, Mrs. John H. Ruhl, and a son, Robert E., both of Birmingham; and four sisters.

His body was sent today from Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Chicago for service and burial Monday.

Mourning to Begin Saturday

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The nine days of official mourning for Pope Pius XII will not begin until Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The entire service of mourning will take place in St. Peter's Basilica, without the usual final three days of services in the Sistine Chapel nearby.

Burial in the grottos beneath St. Peter's Basilica probably will be Monday, Oct. 13, four days after the pontiff's death.

MANY CHANGES

All these are changes from the centuries-old procedure of the Roman Catholic Church for the funeral and burial of its popes.

The changes, decided upon by a conclave of the cardinals already in Rome, were caused by the unusual circumstance of Pius XII's death at the summer palace in Castel Gandolfo. It has been two centuries since any pope has died outside Rome.

The modifications also are intended to make it easier for the hundreds of thousands of Romans and visitors to view the Pope's body and to participate in the services.

In the past the bodies of popes have been taken from their death chamber in the Apostolic Palace to the Sistine Chapel for formal robing. The body of Pius XII was robed in his small, monastic bedroom at Castel Gandolfo.

The stop at the Basilica of St. John Lateran in today's solemn procession back to the Vatican also is a new procedure.

Normally the nine days of mourning would have begun today.

Instead, the great doors of St. Peter's Basilica will be locked tonight when the Pope's body finally arrives. They will not be thrown open again until Saturday morning, formally opening the nine days of services.

These will continue from Oct. 11 through Sunday, Oct. 19.

During all that time, the services will be in huge St. Peter's. Normally the first six days of the services would be held there and then would have continued for the last three days in the beautiful but small Sistine Chapel.

At first, the services in St. Peter's will be held before the Altar of the Cathedral Chair. During the final three days, the services will be before the Confessional Altar, instead of the usual Altar of the Sacrament.

Again the reason is that this will make it easier for accommodating the vast throngs expected daily.

Usually popes are buried on the third day after death. Pius XII will probably be buried Oct. 13—the third day of mourning but the fourth day after death.

After the actual burial, the services continue before a symbolic casket.

'57 Automobile Entries Set Canadian Record

OTTAWA — Long-stay tourist-automobile entries into Canada reached an all-time high in 1957, according to the Government Travel Bureau. Cars crossing into Canada on travelers'-vehicle permits, which are issued for 48 hours or more, totaled 2,555,074, a gain of 30,081 over the peak year of 1955 and an increase of 70,630 over 1956.

Says Cigarettes Not Safe Yet

Doctor Claims Cancer Is Related to Smoking in Direct Proportion

LANSING (AP) — No safe cigarette has yet been developed, a leading cancer research expert said today.

Dr. Daniel Horn, director of program evaluation for the American Cancer Society's statistical research section, said his own findings caused him to stop smoking cigarettes.

He added that he still smokes a pipe.

★ ★ ★

He was a speaker today at the fifth annual volunteer leadership conference of the cancer society at Michigan State University. Horn co-authored a research publication on the relationship between cigarette smoking and lung cancer which touched off a wide controversy.

"Research findings," he said, "have established beyond a reasonable doubt the relationship between cigarette smoking and cancer."

He was asked if there is any safe way to smoke cigarettes.

"There is no safe way," the researcher replied. "But the relationship of smoking to cancer is in direct proportion to the amount of smoking."

★ ★ ★

The person who smokes just a few cigarettes wil be safer than the chain smoker, he said. Similarly, one who smokes a cigarette down to the end is taking a greater risk than the smoker who just takes a few puffs and throws it away.

Value of a Diploma Is Figured in Cash

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The Springfield Education Assn. has translated the value of a high school diploma into dollars and cents.

High school graduation completes a 13-year program that cost the taxpayers about $5,000 per student, the teachers' professional organization said.

The high school graduate has estimated lifetime earnings of $189,000, compared with that of $70,000 for a person of limited schooling, the SEA said, adding: "The high school graduate will earn and spend 25 times the $5,000 invested in his education."

May Be Progenitor of Man

Italian Site Yields Skeleton

WASHINGTON—In the search for clues to man's remote ancestors, scientists have unearthed new evidence believed to be more than 10,000,000 years old.

The entire skeleton of a short, humanlike creature was dug up from the depths of an Italian coal mine about 100 miles northwest of Rome. It belongs to a type known as Oreopithecus, which in Greek means "mountain ape."

From previous fragments found, however, anthropologists suspect that these creatures were more like men than apes. If detailed study of the newly found skeleton bears out the theory that Oreopithecus was a progenitor of man, the human line will have been pushed back many millions of years.

Tangible proof of human prehistory was first set before a skeptical world a scant century ago. In 1856, three years before publication of Darwin's "Origin of Species," a large, thick skull with sloping forehead and great bondy ridges over the eyes was discovered in a cave near Dusseldorf, Germany.

Named Neanderthal for the valley in which it had rested, the skull was examined by a scientist who daringly declared it to be that of an unknown type of human. For years thereafter, controversy raged over the antiquity, authenticity and significance of the find.

FAMILIAR IN CARTOONS

Eventually, as similar fossils turned up in many parts of Europe, Neanderthal Man was accepted as an ancient member of the human family. In cartoon art, his low brown and powerful physique are familiar marks of the cave man who dragged his willing love about by the hair.

The main Neanderthal group — placed in a period 85,000 to 40,000 years ago—sprouted as a relatively late branch on man's ancestral tree. Great game hunters, they wore animal skins, made fires, weapons and tools. They buried their dead with implements, a hint of religious inclinations.

Far earlier and more primitive than the Neanderthal were the famed Java, Heidelberg and Peking men. And still further back, in the dim geological past, lived such beings as South Africa's Australopithecus, generally considered neither true man nor true ape, but perhaps older than both.

The first trace of Java's ancient human inhabitants was found in 1851-92 by a young Dutch doctor, Eugene Dubois. Searching a riverbank for evolutionary evidence, he came on a skull and thighbone of a creature that had walked like a man. He called it Pithecanthropus (ape-man) erectus.

JAVA MAN OLDEST

As the first to gain renown, 400,000-year-old Pithecanthropus is the best known of Java men. But his era was 50,000 years later than that of Java's Meganthropus, a giant forbear whose enormous teeth and jaw startled the scientific world in the 1940s. The bones of Meganthropus are regarded by some scientists as the oldest human fossils yet found.

The big jaw of Germany's Heidelberg Man (discovered in 1907) is dated about 400,000 years ago. The relics of Peking Man (uncovered in a hill near the Chinese city in 1929) are believed to be 350,000 years old. The faked Piltdown Man of England (whose contradictions long confused anthropologists) has fortunately been dropped from ancient specimens.

★ ★ ★

In the modern world of Homo sapiens, the most familiar figure is Cro-Magnon Man, who followed the Neanderthalers. Appearing some 30,000 to 40,000 years ago, Cro-Magnon men were fine hunters. They organized tribes and performed religious rites. On the walls of their caves they left behind highly artistic drawings of hunts, animals and people that reveal fascinating details of their lives and times.

The U.S. leads the world in production of coal, iron, oil and silver. Russia ranks second in each of these products.

Truman to Farmers: 'Sell Crops Soon'

CHEROKEE, Iowa (AP) — Former President Harry Truman predicted here Thursday night that farm prices under the Eisenhower administration will drop after the Nov. 4 election. He advised Iowa farmers to sell their crops before that time.

★ ★ ★

The 74-year-old former chief executive, here to aid the campaign of the Democratic candidate for Congress in the 8th Iowa District, was greeted by more than 3,000 persons in the high school auditorium.

Truman said the Republicans "might try to buy the election" in the current farm situation. He added they "did it two years ago with their soil bank payments."

★ ★ ★

"They appear to be doing it now with their high prices for noncompliance corn," Truman said.

"Bumper crops mean a tremendous addition to surplus. Under the low-support Benson policies, they mean farm prices are going to go down again."

Truman spent the night at Sioux City. His next stops under the auspicies of the Democratic National Committee: Minot, N.D. today, then Minneapolis and Detroit.

Youngsters at Temple Beth Jacob Nursery School, now in its third year of operation, have a number of play activities and learning experiences to keep them occupied as they meet throughout the week. These children are making up and illustrating a story, using figures they have cut, pasted and named. From left to right are three-year-olds Beverly Niedelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Niedelson of Draper avenue, and John and Jeff Bell, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bell of Spokane drive.

Violinist John Dalley to Give Concert Here

Violinist and concert artist John Dalley will be the guest soloist at the first concert of the season of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale to be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church.

Mr. Dalley began playing the violin at the age of four and was a member of the American Youth Orchestra Movement. He was a pupil of the late Ottokar Cadek, Efrem Zimbalist and David Robertson.

★ ★ ★

Graduated from Curtis Institute in 1957, Mr. Dalley has been a member of the faculty of the National Music Camp, Interlochen, and is currently an instructor of violin at Oberlin Conservatory of Music.

Mr. Dalley comes from a musical family. His mother is a cellist and his father, Orien Dalley, is an orchestra conductor. A brother and two sisters are accomplished instrumentalists on horn, cello and flute.

JOHN DALLEY

MANY ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Mr. Dalley's accomplishments are many. He has been concert winner at Interlochen for three successive years, winner of the Alabama Young Artist Award, and scholarship student to Curtis Institute.

He has presented recitals and appeared as soloist with a number of orchestras throughout the Midwest and the East, and been received with acclaim.

★ ★ ★

He will present the following program at the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale: Sonata in G minor (Devil's Trill) by Tartini, Sonata in E Minor No. 12 by Paganini, Rumanian Folk Dances by Bela Bartok, Recitativo and Scherzo (for solo violin) by Kreisler, Nigun (Improvisation) by Ernest Block, Beau Soir (Beautiful Evening) by Debussy, and Gypsy Airs by Sarasate.

Talk Set on State Revision

Dr. William Gable, research associate for the Institute of Public Administration, University of Michigan, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 23 at Lincoln Junior High School. His topic will be "Shall the State of Michigan Call a Constitutional Convention to Revise our State Constitution?"

The meeting is being sponsored jointly by the League of Women Voters, Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council and Pontiac Education Association.

A group from the Birmingham League of Women Voters will put on a skit prior to the talk.

Announcement of the cooperative affair was made at the League board meeting held Tuesday evening at the Elsinore drive home of Mrs. Claire Hinckley.

Mrs. Fredric Bailey, chairman of the local league, reported on the progress of the finance drive. She said the halfway mark had been made at the time of the meeting, which was for the "mid-campaign" turn-in.

League calendars, another source of income, were distributed by Mrs. Roy MacAfee.

★ ★ ★

It was voted to organize a group of women to assist the Junior Chamber of Commerce in demonstrating voting machines downtown. The Jaycees have requested this aid.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 22. New member Mrs. John Copple was present.

Hostess Should Be Called

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last weekend several of us attended the out-of-town wedding of my nephew. After the wedding reception all of us were invited to return to the home of the bride's parents for a buffet supper before leaving for home. While our hostess was busy in the kitchen, the telephone (located in the living room where we were seated) rang quite a few times.

"Realizing she did not hear the telephone and thinking it might be important, I answered it and called her to the telephone. After the hostess returned to the kitchen my brother-in-law told me that I had no right to do this and that I committed a breach of etiquette. Under the circumstances, was I wrong?"

Answer: It would have been better to have gone toward the kitchen and called to the hostess, "Mrs. Jones, the telephone is ringing. Do you wish me to answer it?"

"Dear Mrs. Post: When going to visit friends or acquaintances in the evening, is it wrong to bring our dog with us? My husband thinks it is, as there are many people who do not like a dog in their house. Will you please give us your opinion on this matter?"

Answer: If your dog is perfectly trained and can be counted on never to make a mistake, you may take him to the houses of those who like dogs, and who answer your request to bring him with an enthusiastic "Yes."

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and I have been having an argument on the following matter and would like you to settle it. This friend says that when the man breaks the engagement, the girl is entitled to keep the ring, but that when she breaks the engagement, the ring should be returned. I think it should be returned in any case. What is your opinion?"

Answer: You are right—it should be returned—unless he asks her to keep it and she chooses to.

Sheriff Irons Explains Duties for Sorority

Sheriff Frank Irons explained the duties of his office and the operation of the Oakland County Jail when Iota Eta Chapter of Pi Omicron National Sorority met at the Bloomfield Terrace home of Mrs. Raymond Clemens Thursday evening.

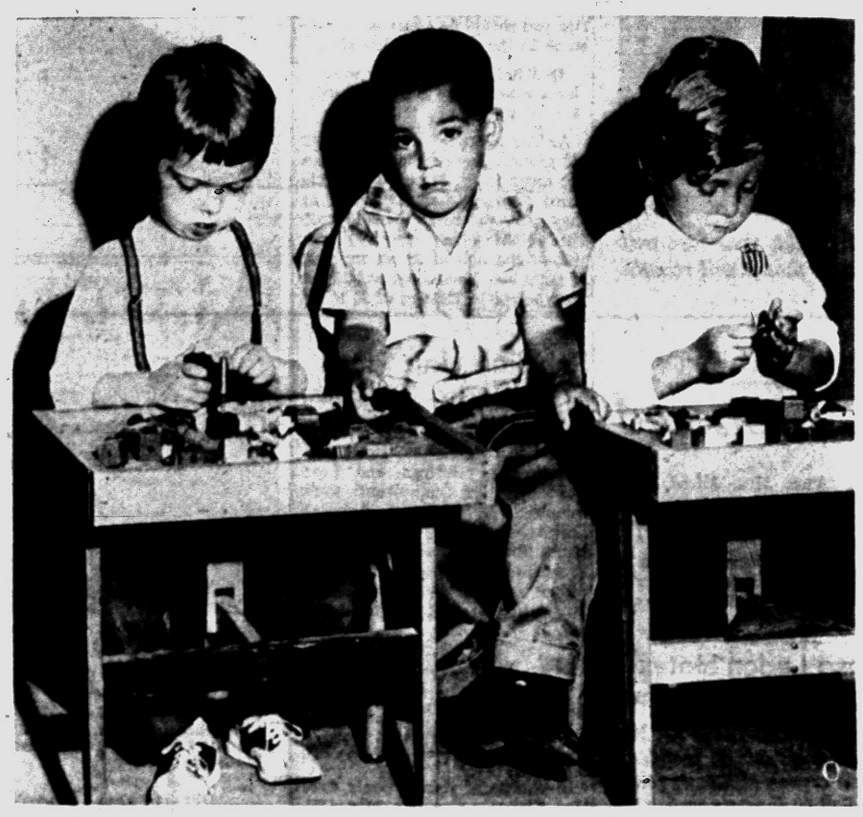
Mrs. Hope Gorman also spoke and explained issues to be decided in the coming election and urged everyone to vote.

Plans for the Council Christmas party to be held Dec. 11 at Hotel Waldron were discussed. Mrs. Irons was the guest for the evening.

Joyce Swartz Plans to Wed Detroiter

Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Green of Traverse City, formerly of Pontiac, announce the engagement of her sister, Joyce Swartz, to Harold Teague of Detroit.

The bride-elect attends Mercy School of Nursing, Detroit, and the prospective bridegroom attended Wayne State University. No wedding date has been set.



These three tots enjoy playing at the peg-boards during nursery school. The program prepares pre-schoolers for group living. Left to right are Jamie Isaacson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manfred Isaacson of Oakway drive; Brad Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark of Pioneer drive, and Susie Wittan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wittan of Warwick boulevard.

Renowned Violinist to Play Here Tuesday

Symphony to Star Mischakoff

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

Mischa Mischakoff, considered one of the great violinists, will be guest soloist at the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra's first concert of the season next Tuesday.

Born in Proskurov, Russia, in 1897, he began his career when he was graduated from the Imperial Conservatory of St. Petersburg at the age of 16 and awarded the highest honors accorded any student of that institution. He was immediately appointed concertmaster and violin soloist of the Petrograd Symphony Orchestra under Albert Coates. He later held the same position with the Moscow Grand Opera.

FLED TO AMERICA

He came to America in 1922 after escaping from Russia at the outbreak of the Revolution. Landing in New York City, without knowing a word of English, he entered a competition sponsored by the New York Philharmonic and was declared winner over 500 other contestants.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after this first American success, Walter Damrosch heard Mischakoff at one of the traditional Sunday evening concerts of the Metropolitan Opera. Mr. Damrosch then engaged Mischakoff as concertmaster of the New York Symphony Orchestra.

★ ★ ★

He then held a series of tenures with various orchestras. Historic fact shows that Mischakoff has been concertmaster of some of the world's greatest orchestras during their periods of greatest glory.

He served as concertmaster of the Philadelphia Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski and in Chicago he served under Frederick Stock.

Mischakoff served Toscanini as concertmaster of the NBC Symphony Orchestra for 15 years and was considered his "third hand."

CAME TO DETROIT

In 1952, he came to Detroit as concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra under Paul Paray. This position he now holds.

★ ★ ★

Often called the "World's Greatest Concertmaster," Mischakoff is also considered to have a knowledge and understanding of violins equal to that of experts. He owns the largest single collection of Stradivarius violins in the world among professional musicians.

He has taught summers at Chautauqua, N. Y., since 1933, and has served on the faculty of Juilliard School of Music in New York City.

★ ★ ★

In Detroit, Mischakoff has appeared on television chamber music programs with Mischa Kottler, pianist, and Georges Miquelle, cellist.

When Mischakoff appears with the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at Lincoln Junior High School Auditorium, he will be heard in Wieniewski Concerto Number Two for Violin.

Gentle Reminder

Geriatrics and grooming should go hand in hand down the years. However, if Grandma seems to be slipping, a gift of a new dress, a permanent, or some pretty washable neckwear may be all the subtlety needed to remind her that part of the beauty of age is enchanting cleanliness.

Soap Bars Serve as Linen Sachet

Put bars of scented toilet soap to work before they are used by the family. They make excellent sachets when stored among clean linens.

The trick here is to remember that they are there when making a grocery list.

Pontiac Press Rules on Wedding Pictures

The Pontiac Press has set a new policy regarding bridal pictures due to the increasingly large number submitted each year.

After Oct. 31 the only photographs which will be accepted for use in the Women's Department will be those of the bride alone. We will be unable to carry pictures of both bride and bridegroom.

Your wedding information and picture should be brought to the Press at least two days before the wedding. The picture will not be carried if submitted more than two days after the wedding.

However, because of limited space, the Press can not publish every picture received.

Wedding Parties, Visits in Birmingham Spotlight

BIRMINGHAM — A Sunday afternoon party will honor Nancy Kay Bearss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Bearss of Hawthorne road, and her fiance, William Peter Kelley. The two will be married Oct. 25 at The Shrine of the Little Flower. Mr. and Mrs. John Dolan and their daughter, Rosemary, will be hosts for the party.

Mrs. Kelley's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clement J. Kelley of Royal Oak.

Mrs. Harold Doyle has planned a dinner at the Women's City Club in Detroit, and there will be a spinster dinner next week given by the bride-elect's sister, Sue Ann. A bridesmaids luncheon will be held Saturday at the Bearss home on Hawthorne road.

Take It Slowly

Lose Weight and Not Be Flabby

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I need to lose weight badly but am afraid I will look flabby afterwards. How can I avoid this?"

A. If you have a lot of weight to lose, do it gradually so that your skin will shrink as your figure does. Also be sure that your diet contains the foods essential for health. Be careful about skin lubrication so that it will remain pliable. Take exercises unless there is some reason why you cannot.

One woman reduced 100 pounds in a year under my direction and she had no flabbiness and looked youthful in the face. I do not know how much you must lose, but if it's a lot, lose only 10 pounds a month.

Q. "When a person is out with friends does she have to order something to eat every time George wants a pint of ice cream or Betty a black walnut malt with ice cream pie? I have been told that it is not good manners if a person doesn't order something when somebody in the crowd wants to do so,"

A. Great Heavens! A black walnut malt and an ice cream pie! I can imagine what your friends look like if they do that often. It is rude for others to insist that you eat when you do not want anything. However it might be more gracious on your part to order something.

You can tell them that you have eaten too much already or too recently if they insist that you order more than a limeade, orange juice, or a soft drink. That's all the calories you should be expected to consume in the name of friendship.

Q. What is the average weight for a woman who is 50 years old, 5 feet, 6½ inches tall?"

A. The average weight is about 149 pounds. However, average does not mean ideal. Most women gain more than is good for them as they grow older. You should keep the weight which was ideal for you at the age of 30 all the rest of your life. Your ideal weight for your height at the age of 30 is 142 pounds if your frame is medium and 128 if you have a small build.

thing that can be done to correct my four months old daughter's ears. They stick out on each side of her head."

A. As soon as it will, let her hair grow long enough to cover her ears. Later on, if the condition is extreme and you wish to have it done, this defect can be corrected by plastic surgery, so don't worry.

Tomorrow: "Good Grooming Takes Time, Thought, Planning."

If you are losing a lot of weight, your face will be affected. Lubricate the skin so that it will remain pliable.

Rebekah Unit Plans Card Party, Bazaar

Plans for a card party and bazaar to be held Oct. 16 at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building were completed when members of Welcome Rebekah Lodge No. 246 met Thursday at Malta Temple. Mrs. William Fyfe is general chairman of the affair.

Past noble grands were entertained by the lodge at the meeting.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Woodrow Sutton, noble grand, announced candidates will be initiated Oct. 23.

Mrs. John Hocking of Star of Hope Rebekah Lodge, Owosso, was a guest.

In charge of refreshments were Mrs. Clarence Cavalier, Mrs. Clifford Lynch and Mrs. Reginald Kalbfliesh.

Shower Honors Barbara Hunley

Barbara Sue Hunley, bride elect of Larry Joe Pankey, was honored at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening at the Strathmore avenue home of her mother. Hostesses were Mrs. Wilbur S. Gregory and her daughter Mrs. G. R. Bodamer of Sturgis.

Miss Hunley is the daughter of Mrs. Deci Hunley and John Hunley of Kankakee, Ill. Mr. Pankey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pankey of Pontiac Lake. The couple will be married Oct. 25 at Grace Lutheran Church.

Airline Jet Pilots Undergo Rugged Training

DENVER, Colo. (NEA) — The flying know-how of airline jet pilots should banish any qualms you might have about super-swift air travel even faster than the planes' 600-mile-an-hour speeds.

That's the expert opinion of airline officials who are doing everything possible to eliminate human error from the operation of the new commercial jet passenger ships.

Pan American and National Airlines plan to start jet service before the end of this year. Other companies will begin the ultra-fast flights in 1959.

Air Transport Association officials in Washington explain that the job of flying the planes at speeds capable of lifting you from New York to Paris in six and a half hours, at altitudes as high as 35,000 feet, will be given to pilots with plenty of flying experience.

These are the airlines' senior pilots, men who are usually over 40 years old and who have been hauling passengers for at least 10 years.

It's expected that their minimum annual salary will be $27,000. This is the sum that National Airlines recently agreed to pay its jet captains. Aviation officials predict that pilots who work for some of the other airlines may make even higher salaries.

SPECIAL TRAINING

Commercial jet age plans call for these pilots to attend special aviation schools for thorough training in every aspect of a jet's operation. A typical example of a commercial jet training program is the one inspected by this reporter at the United Airlines flight training center in Denver.

★ ★ ★

Here, pilots receive 115 hours of classroom instruction designed to make them completely familiar with the structure and mechanics of the Douglas DC-8, the plane that United will use for its jet flights. They also are required to get eight hours of actual flight time in the aircraft before they can fly passengers.

But it's the successful completion of another part of the training program which United officials believe provides the best guarantee that a pilot is fully qualified to handle jets. That's the 25 hours which he must spend inside a jet aircraft simulator.

United's simulator, which was made by Link Aviation Co., is an exact replica of a DC-8 cockpit. It is equipped with all the instruments used in the actual aircraft.

The switches and dials are connected to a battery of electronic brains which cause them to react as they would under actual flight conditions. And these conditions include practically every imaginable mishap that could strike an airplane.

Thus, regular pilots can actually become expert DC-8 jet jockeys without ever leaving the ground. They can learn how to handle the plane successfully under all emergency conditions.

The simulator training is made even more realistic by its use of a closed circuit television system. TV cameras in another room flash a scale picture of an airport runway on a screen in front of the cockpit.

As the pilot practices take-offs and landings, the picture changes in relation to the speed, height and angle at which he is supposed to be flying. The TV system combined with sound effects and a device that rocks the cockpit give simulator pilots the feeling that they are actually airborne.

★ ★ ★

United is the first airline to install a jet simulator. Eleven other airlines, including American and Trans-World plan to start using them later this year for training in both the DC-8 and the Boeing 707.

SAFETY STRESSED

The intense training scheduled for commercial jet pilots is only one of the many safety guarantees that the airlines are providing their future customers. Air Transport Association officials say that the time spent on pilot training plus that used in the designing and testing of the aircraft will total "millions" of man hours when commercial jets finally start carrying passengers.

They explain that the planes have received about every conceivable type of structural and mechanical test to make sure that they are trustworthy.

Plans are also under consideration at Uncle Sam's Civil Aeronautics Administration to minimize the risk of air collisions by setting up a series of high altitude flight lanes for commercial jets. Air traffic flying in these lanes would operate on instrument flight rules and be controlled from the ground.

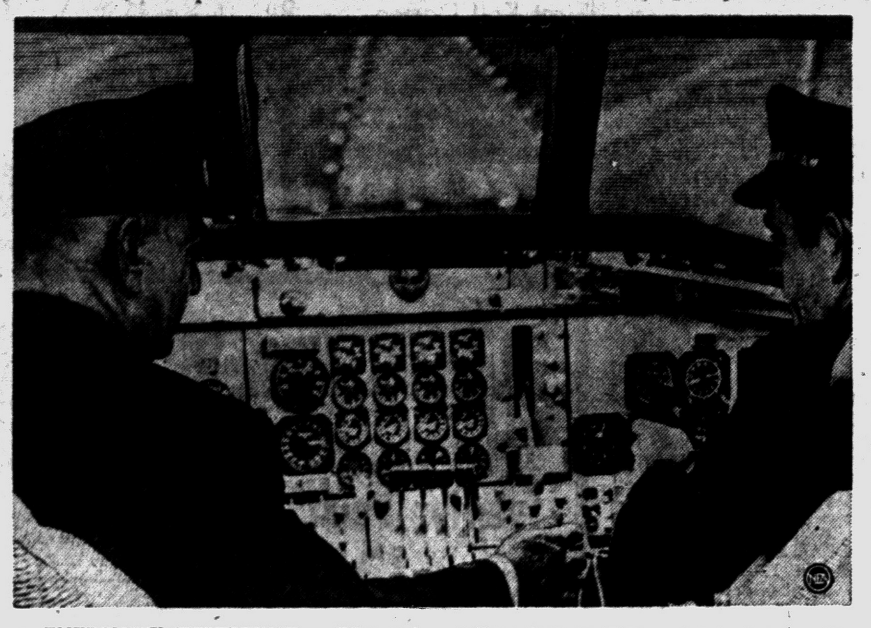
Another safety regulation recently announced by the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board requires commercial jets to provide extra oxygen equipment for each passenger just in case something should go wrong with a plane's pressurizing system.



EMERGENCY EXPERIENCE — Pilot and co-pilot of a new DC8 jet airliner prepare to let down on the runway—without ever leaving the ground. The cockpit is a simulated one at United Airlines flight training center in Denver. The "runway" is a picture provided by a closed circuit TV system, focused on a scale-model of an airport runway.

U.S.-Italy Trade at Peak

ROME — American exports to Italy in 1957 increased by about 25 per cent and Italian exports to the United States rose by 14 per cent. The exchange of goods between the two countries climbed to an all-time peak.

Board Declares War on False Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP) — A stepped-up drive to erase phony price come-ons and fictitious bargain claims from advertising was launched today by the Federal Trade Commission.

Better Business Bureaus across the country, the Advertising Federation of America and local business groups were expected to cooperate in the campaign announced by FTC Chairman John W. Gwynne.

Gwynne issued a nine-point guide list of typical abuses in price advertising and ordered FTC's force of lawyers and investigators to intensify enforcement. The commission hopes to enlighten consumers on price trickery, educate businessmen on where the law halts fictitious pricing, and enlist the voluntary cooperation of sellers, the chairman said.

The commission began concentrating on price violations about two years ago. The number of complaints filed has increased steadily. In the past year price cases amounted to 30 per cent of all the FTC cease-and-desist orders issued in deceptive business practice cases.

Spanking Still Goes On in Spite of Psychology

"We spank and we don't apologize," said one of the 100 women delegates attending a conference on better living.

The mothers in the group were almost unanimously in favor of spanking as a form of discipline.

As the cross-section of American mothers saw it, parents have to agree on the discipline to make it work and you still have to "make the punishment fit the crime."

4 New Polio Cases Reported in County

Four cases of polio were reported in Oakland County during the week ending Oct. 4, according to Dr. John D. Monroe, health director.

★ ★ ★

Through the corresponding period in 1957, 23 persons were stricken by the disease.

★ ★ ★

The following is a list of communicable diseases reported by the city and county health departments, including last week's figures.

Harness Making as an Art Dies With Area Man

MILFORD — With the death of Charles Price of Milford this morning at Pontiac General Hospital, the age-old art of fine harness making all but disappeared. He was 84.

Charlie, as everyone knew him best, was Michigan's only known harness maker and one of the state's oldest active businessmen. He worked all day Saturday in his tiny harness shop on Milford's Main street before being taken to the hospital Sunday ailing with a heart condition.

When this town started having its first "growing pains" some 50 years ago, young Price was an apprentice, learning the then-thriving hand-made leather harness business. Milford's only mode of transportation then was the horse and carriage.

He became an expert in his field, believing in his trade so completely he never bought an automobile. He walked the four blocks from his neat frame home on Union street every day, rain or shine.

After his wife died 15 years ago, Charlie went right on keeping house, cooking his own meals and joining in community activities with an enthusiasm that belied his declining years.

He was treasurer of the Huron Valley Saddle Club and never missed a Sunday service at the Methodist Church.

Officials from race tracks and other horse fanciers from all over Michigan were Mr. Price's customers, bringing their saddles, harnesses and leather goods to Milford for his expert repair work.

Mr. and Mrs. Price had two children, Lucile of Palo Alto, Calif., and Wesley of Milford.

Stores on Milford's Main street, will be closed from 1 to 3 p.m. Monday for the funeral of one of their best loved businessmen. Service will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the Richardson-Bird Funeral Home, with burial at the Wixom Cemetery.

Point System May Be Illegal

County Judicial Assn. Doubts Traffic Code's Constitutionalism

The Oakland County Judicial Assn. belives Michigan's new traffic violation point system may be unconstitutional.

But James Renfrew, Huntington Woods justice of the peace and association president, admitted little could be done to change the law unless it was tested by a Supreme Court ruling.

The law makes a driver subject to loss of his license after 12 traffic violation points have been charged against him in two years. Points are given based on the seriousness of the offense.

Terming the law "ex post facto," the association, composed of justices, also objected to the law on the grounds that it takes traffic cases out of the hands of the judiciary and places them under administrative jurisdiction. The association said the law — in effect — deprives citizens of due process of law.

Ex post facto laws, which create a penalty for a violation after the offense has occurred, are prohibited by federal and state constitutions.

"This system is fine for the most part," Renfrew said, "But we feel only violations committed after Sept. 13 (when the law became effective) should be considered."

The association's criticism is based on a statement by Secretary of State James M. Hare that violations on record during the two years before the law became effective are being transferred to the point scale system.

Sales Tax Funds Allocated in Avon

AVON TOWNSHIP—The following allocation of state sales tax monies has been made by the Avon Township Board:

Cemetery, 30 per cent; general fund, 25 per cent; park, 25 per cent; library, 15 per cent, and police protection, 5 per cent.

The distribution was made according to recommendations by consulting accountant Charles Salter.

The board also voted to donate $150 toward the annual Rochester Kiwanis Halloween parties in township schools.

On recommendation of Sheriff Frank Irons, transfer of the SDM license of Robert W. and Betty Vandenberg to Adele Jabway, 1744 Auburn Rd., was approved.

Waterford Eagles Mark Opening of New Building

Waterford Aerie No. 2887 of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will celebrate its tenth anniversary and opening of its new home building in a three-day festival beginning tonight.

The new building is located at 4761 Highland Rd. Tonight there will be a chicken and fish supper beginning at 5:30.

On Saturday evening a dinner will be given at 6:30 in honor of all charter members, who will be served free. A dance will follow for members, their wives and friends. Guest speaker at the dinner will be William Hazlewood, State Eagles president.

Sunday will see the tenth anniversary class initiated at 4 p.m. Guest speaker will be Fred Helm, past Wisconsin state president. A free dinner and dance for all members and their wives will follow.

Baby Found in River Not Yet Identified

FLAT ROCK (UP)— State police have asked for citizen assistance in identifying the body of an infant child recovered Oct. 7 from the Huron River at Rockwood.

The child was described as a white female, from 11 to 13 months old. Its clothing included a white T shirt and diaper with blue-headed pins and what could have been a red dress.

The body is believed to have been in the water from 30 to 60 days.

Police said they have uncovered no identifying clues.

Slate Workshop in Area School

Lunchroom Workers to Gather at Huron Valley High School Monday

Four hundred and thirty workers in Oakland County school lunchrooms will hold their annual Workshop on Monday, at the Huron Valley High School in Milford.

Mary Slater, Oakland County school lunch consultant, and Erwin Johnson of the Huron Valley schools and president of the Michigan School Food Service Assoc., are co-chairman of the event.

Two 2-hour demonstrations on the use of electric mixers and their attachments and cutlery in the school lunch kitchen will be presented by Hal Bolin. Mr. Bolin is a food specialist in the USDA area office in Chicago.

Other speakers are Norman Tellar, who is chief of the School Lunch division in the state department of public instruction, and Raymond C. Ellis, Jr. of the National Safety Council. Ellis will lead discussions on safety in school lunch kitchens.

Annabel Rickard of the County Health Department will report on a nutritional survey she has completed.

Lives 'Ruined' by Casanova

Debutantes Led Astray

LONDON (AP) — Farmer Joe Green's 20 young pedigree heifers were strictly top-drawer debutantes of the cattle world.

Before the 10 shorthorns and 10 Frisians stretched a glittering future. They had been promised in marriage to a fine Hereford aristocrat.

★ ★ ★

But into their sheltered meadow came a male that blighted their lives.

★ ★ ★

He was a Jersey bull, and in the words of Judge Stable at Birmingham Assizes Thursday it was like the famous frog who would a-wooing go.

Said the judge: "This young bull a-wooing went — and to some very real purpose.

"He was a trespasser and the attraction was undoubtedly the young ladies who lived on the other side of the fence."

A trespasser even of lowly birth, perhaps. But with those 20 innocent young heifers unschooled in the ways of cowshed Casanovas he was a wow.

Every one became an expectant mother.

"The result was that farmer Green, instead of being presented in the course of time with 20 nice Hereford Calves, had 20 little runts," Judge Stable continued.

Four of the babies died at birth. The rest were fit only for veal.

"None of them could have been expected to fetch what they might have done had they been born in wedlock with a Hereford bull," the judge added.

★ ★ ★

That was by no means the end of farmer Green's troubles. He told the court his 20 heifers had to be given a long rest after their premature motherhood. He lost their milk yield and later three of them failed to pass their annual tubercular test.

Green sought damages for trespass by neighbor Wilfred Stabbins' bull. He asked 805 pounds ($2,254).

Judge Stable awarded him 520 pounds plus court costs.

★ ★ ★

"That is the nearest I can get to the mischief that was done," the judge said.

And what of that roamin' Jersey?

"It was an animal which had a very unhappy life — a checkered career," the judge said. "Finally it fell ill, was slaughtered and made only 5 pounds."

Detailed Plans Ordered for Square Lake School

The Pontiac Board of Education last night ordered a Detroit architectural firm to start on detailed drawings for a new elementary school on Square Lake road.

But the board delayed action on an addition to Bagley School after learning that enrollment forecasts had overshot the mark.

After reviewing preliminary plans with representatives of H. E. Beyster & Associates, Inc., the Board gave the go-ahead sign on the Square Lake project.

The school will contain six classrooms, administrative offices and other facilities. Cost is estimated at $198,000. The school should be ready for occupancy by September of next year, according to the firm.

★ ★ ★

The new building would believe overcrowding at Whitfield school. Eight-hundred children attend Whitfield, which has a capacity of 690 pupils.

RECOMMENDS DELAY

Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent in charge of business, recommended delaying the Bagley addition for a year. Expected overcrowding in the area of Bagley and Bethune Schools failed to materialize, he said.

It had been estimated that 1,484 pupils would attend the two schools with a combined capacity of 1,410, but only 1,335 are enrolled.

The Board voted to postpone any decision on the Bagley project for a month so that further studies can be made.

SUBMIT SKETCHES

Sketches of the proposed addition to Washington Junior High were submitted to board members, who authorized the Detroit firm of Eberle M. Smith & Associates, Inc., to prepare preliminary plans.

In other action, the Board voted to apply to the State Department of Public Instruction for qualification of its $2 million bond issue to finance school construction.

Dr. Hufziger told the board that qualification of bonds would make them more attractive to purchasers.

★ ★ ★

Qualification is a limited state guarantee for the payment of bonds in the event the local district cannot meet its obligations.

EXPRESS SYMPATHY

The Board extended "heartfelt sympathy" to the family of the late Harold L. Blackwood and expressed its "appreciation for his outstanding services." Mr. Blackwood, who served as a member and officer of the board for eight years, died Sept. 28.

Benscoter-Kolar Wedding Performed in Waterford

DRAYTON PLAINS—Christ Lutheran Church in Waterford was the scene Saturday evening of the marriage of Judith Ann Kolar to Lawrence E. Benscoter. Performing the double-ring, candlelight rite was the Rev. Arvid Anderson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto A. Kolar of 2876 Marlington St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Benscoter of Marion, formerly of the Drayton Plains area.

For her wedding the new Mrs. Benscoter chose a full-length gown, featuring a bodice of re-embroidered lace and Sabrina neckline trimmed with pearls and iridescent sequins. Her gathered skirt was of antique taffeta, and her veil fell from a circular headpiece trimmed with pearls.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. John Rigg of Rochester. Attendants were the bridegroom's sister, Barbara Jean, Marlene Winter of Pontiac, and Sheryl Tuttle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DeWayne Tuttle of Pontiac.

John P. Huff of Waterford was the best man and ushers were Everett Beach of Drayton Plains, cousin of the bride, Duane Hulliberger of Flint, the bridegroom's nephew, and Jerry Swanson of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Upon return from their honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and New York, the newlyweds will make their home at Linda Court, Drayton Plains.

Square Dance Course on Tap at Waterford

Square dancing instruction for Waterford Township adults will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Community Activities Center for the fourth consecutive year, according to instructors Mr. and Mrs. Warren Allen.

★ ★ ★

All the original fundamentals of the square dance along with additional new steps will be taught, and registrations will be accepted from couples only.

Residents interested in taking the two-hour weekly course during the winter months have been asked to call the recreation department for further information. Registrations will be accepted at the door Monday night.

She's a Dynamo in Romeo Who's Unable to Say 'No'

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — She's a dynamo — a moving force for community betterment in the village of Romeo. She is Mrs. George E. McKeough, who can't say "no."

This charming Romeo housewife is called upon numerous times each year to direct or coordinate some major community-wide activity.

She says, "I think about refusing each time I am asked to do something else, but the challenge is always too great, and I end up accepting another job."

Mrs. McKeough is the wife of a Detroit steel fabricating company executive and the mother of three strapping sons, all over six feet tall. Her interests have touched every facet of community life since she and her family moved to Romeo 11 years ago.

Take last spring as an example of Mrs. McKeough's busy schedule. In March she served as publicity chairman of the Boy Scouts' three-day benefit program for the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center, an ambitious undertaking in itself.

SEVERAL AT ONCE

No sooner was that job completed successfully than she began work as chairman of a fashion show, staged in May, to raise funds for the new Community Hospital.

While these projects were under way, she was working on programs for the Parent-Teacher Organization at Romeo High School. She served as co-chairman with the Rev. Peter Vos, pastor of First Congregational Church.

Before school activities were over for the year, Mrs. McKeough started on another important civic project — program coordinator for the dedication of Romeo's new post office in June.

★ ★ ★

After a slight breather this summer, the attractive volunteer worker directed the sale of used books during the opening days of high school last month. She is now looking forward to the PTO's participation in the new high school's dedication on Oct. 26.

In the meantime, she is chairman of the United Fund campaign for Romeo and Bruce Township, which opens next Tuesday.

Unlike most husbands whose wives are so busy with activities outside the home, Mr. McKeough says approvingly, "What I'm not involved in, my wife is."

NO COMPLAINTS

He dares not complain because his schedule is just as full — or more so — than his wife's. He is South Macomb County United Fund director, president of the Warren Chamber of Commerce and treasurer of the Macomb County Boy Scout Council — to mention but a few.

And this energetic couple, living in a hilltop home on Wealthy Lane north of the Romeo village limits, enjoys doing things together. They are active members of St. John Lutheran Church, play an occasional game of bridge with friends and take in a football game or two — when time permits.

Firemen in Avondale to Hold Annual Dance

AVONDALE — The Avondale Fire Dept. will hold its sixth annual dance Saturday evening at the Avondale High School.

The affair will begin at 9 p.m. Playing for both modern and old-time dancing will be Donald Sharette's Blue Notes, with Jess White doing the calling for square dancers.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or from any Avondale firemen.

Hoffman in Hospital for Upset Stomach

BENTON HARBOR (UP) — Rep. Clare A. Hoffman (R-Mich) spent the night in Mercy Hospital here. Doctors said his trouble was an upset stomach.

"I guess I ate too much," the pry 83-year-old congressman told newsmen when he entered the hospital yesterday.

Dr. Sanford Polansky said Hoffman's condition was not serious but advised him to stay in the hospital for two or three days of rest.

★ ★ ★

Air Force Contracts for Research on Brain

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — The Air Force has given a University of Buffalo Medical School professor a $25,000 contract for basic research that may help man fly in outer space.

★ ★ ★

Dr. George Clark, associate professor in physiology, will use the money to purchase equipment for studying the part of the brain that controls the temperature of the body. The research is expected to take from five to 10 years.

An average railway freight train in the U.S. in 1918 had 34.4 cars. The number has increased to a present average of 55 cars.

Southfield Tests Walled Lake's Strength in I-L

Waterford Will Seek Homecoming Upset; Maples, Keego Travel

By CHUCK ABAIR

League battles hold the spotlight again tonight as they will the rest of the high school football season with each week's games becoming that much more crucial.

One of the biggest of the early season contests will be held tonight at Walled Lake with defending Inter-Lakes' champion Southfield invading.

The combination of Farmington's overconfidence and an outstanding home effort appears the only way an expected overflow homecoming crowd will see much interesting football at Waterford.

Farmingtoin is fresh from last week's big triumph over Southfield and coach Jack Hayes admits his Falcons have been looking past Waterford to Walled Lake despite the fact three veterans have been ailing.

Skipper starters Barry Campbell and Mike Ewer have also been nursing injuries and may see just limited service.

Birmingham will be in the underdog role as the unpredictable Maples invade Ferndale in the Eastern Michigan feature. Hazel Park visits East Detroit and Port Huron goes to Mt. Clemens in other loop action.

★ ★ ★

High-riding West Bloomfield invades Brighton in a battle of Wayne-Oakland unbeatens hoping to prove the old adage that a good offense will beat a topnotch defense. Hard luck Holly, which outgained Brighton 333 to 98 while losing last Friday, tries again at Clarkston. The Wolves have compiled a 2-0-1 record despite a wrath of injuries. Among the missing tonight will be quarterback Bob Porritt, who suffered a head injury in practice.

Even Milwaukee Backers Winners in Reno Parade

RENO, Nev. (AP) — The New York Yanks' World Series victory Thursday set off an impromptu parade that even attracted downhearted Milwaukee fans.

Led by gambling club owner Harold Smith in a Yankee uniform, the parade gathered dozens of jubilant Yankee supporters as if snaked through the city's casinos.

Walled Lake Wins I-L Harrier Title

Marking up its 6th straight dual victory of the season, Walled Lake High's cross-country team yesterday wrapped up the Inter-Lakes championship. Vikings scored 25 points to Berkley's 38 and Van Dyke's 73 in a triangular meet at Walled Lake that closed the league's dual season.

Berkley's Tom Meyers was home first, yesterday, with a course record 10:27 (former mark by Hobbs, set last week, 10:39). Jack Hobbs (WL) was 2nd (10:39); Ray Taulbee (WL) 3rd (10:48); George Beeman (WL) 4th (10:51); Perry (B) 5th (10:55).

The Birmingham Little Football League, which has expanded from two teams and 60 boys to 12 teams and 360 boys in four years, heads into its 3rd weekend of play starting tonight.

One of the highlights of the season is slated for Sunday afternoon when the Tigers and Browns of the Varsity League stage a 15-minute exhibition at Briggs Stadium prior to the Detroit Lions home opener against Los Angeles.

The exhibition will begin at 1:05 p.m.

The Tigers won their first two games in the four-team loop which plays its games Friday nights and Saturday mornings. Eight teams compete in the Freshman Conference Saturday mornings.

Field Is Swift in Pontiac Mile

Close Race Expected Between Trot Winners at Jackson Track

JACKSON — R. K. Giers and King Key figure to pick up where they left off in the Jackson County Trot when they head up a swift field of seven horses in The Pontiac Mile at Jackson Harness Raceway tonight.

Robert Brown drove R. K. Giers to a neck decision over King Key while scoring his eighth win of the year here last Friday but there is some question in the minds of sulky railbirds if the eight-year-old Algiers stallion can repeat it.

R. K. Giers finished the mile in 2:07 4-5 and the Troy, Ohio owned trotter had to call on one of his best finishing kicks to catch King Key in the final strides.

R. K. Giers went off as the sixth choice in the wagering among a field of eight standardbreds and paid $26.00, and has drawn the number six post position and will again have Brown in the sulky.

Prep Front

By BILL CORNWELL

High pressure recruiting of football talent is supposed to be the sole property of the nation's colleges and universities. But as the late George Gershwin once penned into song—"It Ain't Necessarily So."

Recruiting is probably just a college or university function in the majority of these United States. But if you happen to live in the state of Ohio, you're a different breed altogether.

High school recruiting, something seldom given a serious thought by the average fan in this country, is a king-sized operation in the Buckeye state where football is second only to three meals a day.

Rabid alumni make prep recruiting a big business in Ohio, the state which has perhaps the craziest, maddest, zaniest and most rabid grid fans in the U.S.A.

The annual autumn fever runs particularly high around Massillon, Canton and Fremont, cities where stadiums are filled to overflowing for top high school attractions.

More Ohioans fight for seats to traditional prep rivalries there than many states can lure to the Saturday afternoon college game.

The Tiger Booster club of Massillon's Washington High School boasts over 2,000 members, which is often more than Pontiac Central can draw to Wisner Stadium for a game with a highly-rated opponent.

Winning seems to be all-important to these rabid alumni, especially where rivalries like the Canton-Massillon feud are concerned, and every effort is made to secure top-flight material. These Ohioans even go out of state.

For example, take the case of Cookie Gilchrist, a 210-pound fullback who gained All-State honors at Har-Brack High School in Natrona, Pa.

Gilchrist still had his senior year left at Har-Brack but he was ineligible for football there because of his age. The age rule is more liberal in Ohio, however, and enthusiastic Massillon alumni went to work on Cookie.

They offered Gilchrist and his entire family a chance to move to Massillon — all expenses paid, naturally — where a home plus all the trimmings would be provided. And, of course, Cookie would play football at Massillon.

Gilchrist decided to take a whirl with the pros, however, and "operation recruit" didn't pan out. After a brief trial with our "play for pay" boys, he joined the Canadian pros and today is still a grid star north of the border.

This is merely one example of high school recruiting efforts in the state of Ohio, a seething hotbed of prep competition.

No wonder Ohioans become so upset when colleges and universities from out of state woo their talented high school products away from home. It's enough to make any able-bodied Buckeye fightin' mad.

Indianwood Wins Golf Title

4 Women Players Take WGA Par Trophy Event in Club Competition

Four women golfers from Indianwood Country Club have been officially named team champions of the 4th annual Par Trophy event sponsored by the Women's Western Golf Association.

Mrs. Bruce Overbey, Mrs. Carl Best, Mrs. Robert Erdelon and Mrs. Nat Sanford, all Indianwood members, were the winners of the 1958 competition, an 18-hole contest among four-member private club teams.

It is the first time a Michigan team ever has won the tournament, which is based on 18 holes of match play against women's par on the golfer's respective course. All players were allowed their full handicaps.

Mrs. Overbey was medalist of the Indianwood team with a net score of 81-12 — 69. Mrs. Best finished 2nd with 88-16 — 72, Mrs. Erdelon took 3rd with 84-10 — 74 and Mrs. Sanford scored 89-14 — 75. A silver bowl was awarded to each golfer by the WWGA.

There are 315 clubs holding membership in the WWGA with headquarters in Chicago. The WWGA covers all of the nation except the New England states.

Mrs. Erdelon gained additional honors this year at Indianwood by winning the women's club championship. Leo Daigle won the men's club championship.

Lapeer's Wilson Is Now Behind Panitch at QB

Duffy Fears Unbeaten Panthers Who Have Won 3 Straight

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Two sophomores who look and play like Spartan stars of old will be in key understudy roles when Michigan State meets powerful and unbeaten Pitt here tomorrow.

* * *

Quarterback Tom Wilson, reputed to be the best of three Wilson brothers to wear a MSU uniform, was promoted this week from the fourth unit to take charge of the second.

Fullback Herb Adderly, a 200-pound speedster with the looks, style and jersey number (26) of ex-great Clarence Peaks, moved up a notch to join Wilson.

Both will understudy positions some Spartan followers consider to be weak.

* * *

Bob Bercich and Don Arend have been alternating as fullback. Arend started against Michigan but was bumped to the third team this week.

Wilson and Adderly looked impressive in light contact drills staged by coach Duffy Daugherty yesterday.

"We really can't tell much except during an actual game," Daugherty said.

* * *

Both saw limited action in the Spartan victory over California but rode the bench during the 12-12 Michigan State-Michigan standoff. Adderly had a 16-run on a pass interception in the California game.

If the Spartans can find the right backfield combination, they should live up to pre-season ratings.

Pitt has wins over UCLA, Holy Cross and Minnesota.

* * *

Michigan State has never lost to a Pitt team but then neither had Minnesota until last week.

The Panthers have a good passer in quarterback Bill Kaliden, although he has been nursing an injury most of the week. Daugherty said yesterday the Spartan pass defense is "sound."

Skippers End Dual Season With Victory

Taking six of the first eight places in the final dual (double) cross-country meet of the I-L season, yesterday, Waterford High's runners finished 2nd in league standings, now prepare to battle Walled Lake for the regular championship, next week. Win was 5th straight for Skippers who lost only to Vikings in the loop. Yesterday's meet scores, at Farmington — Waterford 25, Southfield 33, Farmington 77.

* * *

Jays' Jerry Liebler was first at 11:36.5, with teammate Bob Karr second. Next six places went, in order, to Skippers' Larry Chapman (who missed 2nd at the tape), Gary Eichbrecht, Larry Harms, Chet Hensley, Dan Chamberlain, and Gary Dodman. Dick McHale and Tom Spear of Southfield completed the top 10.

Bobby Boyd Seeks Revenge in TV Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — Lanky Bobby Boyd of Chicago tonight goes against Jimmy Beecham, who knocked him out of the middleweight rankings with an upset victory last August in Miami.

* * *

The 10-round middleweight scrap will be broadcast and televised by NBC from Chicago Stadium starting at 9 p.m. EST.

In 1936 when Floyd Patterson was a year old, the veteran Archie Moore was engaged in boxing in the Golden Gloves tournement.

Play Saturday Night, Sunday at Wisner

Mikes, Rams Defend Leads

By H. GUY MOATS

What may eventually prove to be the biggest weekend's action in Suburban Catholic League football this fall takes place on the turf of Wisner Memorial Stadium Saturday and Sunday.

Two top-level games in two days.

That's the fare for the city's gridiron fans, and at least one of three unbeaten clubs probably will fall by the wayside, narrowing the title race to two favored elevens.

One of the favored teams is Highland Park St. Benedict. Art Massucci's boys try conclusions with Jim Niebauer's St. Michael outfit on Saturday night. The Shamrocks have a real job cut out for them. Both are two-time winners this fall, but the visitors have the more impressive record. This contest is set for 8 p.m.

Sunday, at 2:30 p.m. top-rated St. Frederick collides with Orchard Lake St. Mary.

The Rams have rolled along to the area's highest-scoring victories in their two league engagements. Gene Wright's club has accumulated 105 points and has received scoring help from every member of its veteran backfield, plus capable flankers.

A versatile offense, alert and effective defense have marked the Rams' play so far. Hard-to-stop Jack Lyon is the Rams' man on the ground, Sophomore Jim Kennedy, a fast-improving signal-caller has shown he can handle the aerial department, which was one of the big factors in last week's 61-7 win over St. James. St. Frederick won its league opener 44-6 over St. Clement.

Eaglets won their SCL opener, 27-6 over RO St. Mary, then fell last week to the Bens, 19-0. Bens scored all their points in the first half, were outplayed in the second, but Eaglets couldn't score either. Rev. John Rakoczy's club has the biggest task of the weekend, trying to stop the Rampagin' Rams. St. Mary has potential, and could make trouble for the Pontiac eleven. Odds, however, favor the Rams.

Neither Rams nor Eaglets are handicapped by injuries, and both will present the starters who opened last week's games, barring last-minute changes. Similar conditions obtain for the Shamrock-St. Benedict Saturday night argument.

Several lineup switches have been effected in the Shamrock roster. The squad, says assistant coach Mike Slivenski, "full of fight, eager for an all-out battle. If the boys play as well against St. Ben's, as they did in practice, there might be upset in the wind."

Here are some of the outstanding players fans will want to watch in the big SCL gridiron "package":

Jack Lyon, St. Frederick fullback, No. 3 in the area's individual scoring race, who tallied four TDs in last week's game, is a powerful runner. He has totalled 36 points.

Tom Derocher and Tom Nesbitt, fast Ram halfbacks, who scored three TDs between then a week ago, and Jim Kennedy's passing.

Chuck Steinhelper, Shamrock halfback, credited with nearly all TDs the North Siders have made so far, for 26 points.

Danny Donar, St. Benedict halfback, a little speedy lad who leads county scorers with 42 points, his brother Art, husky end, a smart pass receiver, and quarterback "Little Art" Massucci (6-2, 105-pounds), top passer.

Bill Krul, hard-running fullback, and Frank Bartos, kicker, with Frank Prelewicz, expected back after being out because of a bad knee, will probably be the ones to watch for the Eaglets.

Play at Villanova

Titans Face 'I' Formation

VILLANOVA, Pa. (UPI) — Seven years ago the University of Detroit had a painful experience with the "I" formation before one of the greatest crowds ever to watch a Titan team. And now the Titans are up against another "I" team, Villanova.

In 1951 the Titans played Notre Dame in Briggs Stadium. Financially the game was a huge success. Artistically, for the Titans, it was somewhat less.

Frank Leahy unveiled the "I" for Detroit fans and the Irish ran up a 40-6 score, using everyone on the bench. Only once since has Detroit suffered a worse beatng.

The Titans and Villanova aren't as mismatched as the 1951 contestants, however. The Mainliners, losers by a 16-7 count at Detroit last year, are 2-1 this season, the same as Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Villanova beat West Chester State, Pa., and Boston College and lost to VMI.

The "T" formation, as used by coach Frank Reagan, has a balanced line with the quarterback lined up directly behind the center, the left half behind the quarterback, the fullback behind him and the right half behind the fullback.

All are about a foot apart with the Quarterback taking the snapback, pivoting and handing off to one of the three or working an option. Deception is the key factor in the formation.

Off their good showing against Quantico, the Titans were rated a three-point favorite over the Wildcats.

Quarter Midget Races in Final Events Sunday

Eighty-seven members of the Wolverine One-Quarter Midget Racing Club will take part in the final official point race of the season Sunday afternoon at the Miracle Mile track.

Time trials will be at 2 p.m. with race time set for 3. Boys and girls between the ages of 4 and 15 will be driving their own motorized 3-horsepower racers.

Most of the contestants will be from the Pontiac area. There will be no admission charge. The racing club is a nonprofit organization.

American Reporter Returns From Tour of Red China

A tall man with the stride of a farm-bred American came across 200 rain-drenched yards of the world's most sensitive frontier at Hong Kong the other day.

He astonished the British border when he said he was John Strohm of Woodstock, Ill., and that he had just spent three weeks reporting in Red China. Three weeks during the height of the Quemoy crisis. Three weeks during which Peiping radio had daily broadcast venom at America and all its works.

* * *

While Strohm sat in a wooden shack between the barbed wire lines that separate Hong Kong and the railhead in Red China, an official telephoned Crown Colony police.

"Impossible!" came the word. "We know of no American traveling in Red China."

But in two hours Strohm was able to talk officials into believing his story — a story liberally recorded in stacks of notebooks and by four cameras — and soon to be told in The Pontiac Press.

What helped was a U.S. passport carrying an official validation of the U.S. State Department, permitting him to tour Communist China. On a separate slip of paper he had a visa issued by the embassy of the People's Republic of China at Helsinki, Finland.

* * *

A quick check of "Who's Who" at the American consulate in Hong Kong showed that Strohm was an experienced globe-girdling reporter, an editor and publisher of farm publications and an advisor on farm problems to the administration in Washington. "Who's Who" recorded that he had written the first story on "The People Behind the Iron Curtain" for NEA Service in 1946 after a tour of Russia.

In Washington, State Department spokesman, Lincoln White confirmed that Strohm was authorized to travel in Red China on a validation issued to NEA Service. White said NEA was among 26 newspapers, magazines and agencies authorized to send someone to China and that Strohm was the first to make it.

How Strohm persisted until successful is a story covering months of discouraging set-backs. In the summer of this year, Strohm, a farm editor with world interests, went to Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson and asked for a visa to tour Red China.

Robertson explained that the department opposed private Americans making such trips but passed him along to Andrew H. Berding, Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs. Berding suggested he might get one of the 26 authorized news outfits to designate him as its man but pointed out the Red Chinese didn't seem eager to let anyone in.

There ensued several weeks of transatlantic telephoning and confusion.

On Sept. 3, Strohm again tackled the Helsinki Chinese by telephone and was told he could pick up the visa any time. He flew at once to Finland, talked his way into a Russian transit visa, and headed in one of the new Russian jets from Moscow, across Siberia to Irkutsk (where U.S. global fliers Wiley Post and Harold Gatty had once touched down in happier Russo-American days). There a Chinese plane took him to Peiping on Sept. 7.

Strohm went at once to the International Tourist Bureau, which handles all foreigners traveling in China. He hired a car, driver and interpreter and told them he wanted to see the people, the farms, the factories, the welfare homes, communes, colleges, hospitals and churches. It was a tall order but arrangements were made with speed and energy.

"In fact," he says, "my travel in Red China was far easier and less restricted than it was in either of my two visits to Russia. I went where I asked to go. I stopped to talk to people I saw on my route. I was required to make formal appointments only to see industrialists, which is to be expected anywhere.

* * *

"I believe my translation service was honest and no one censored a single shot from my cameras. I, of course, paid every cent of my way."

The first of Strohm's dispatches, dealing with the cardinal topic of Red China's attitude toward the United States, will appear in The Press next Monday.

Others to follow will deal with Russo-Chinese relations, the farm and factory problems, and how the people live under Mao's dictatorship. Some will be documented with the only pictures any American newspaperman has brought out of China since Korea.

GM Warns Iron Industry

Reveals Plan to Switch to Aluminum Engines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — General Motors Corp. gave its strongest warning yet to the iron industry to expect a switch to aluminum automobile engines within the near future.

GM engineers yesterday refused to be pinned down on a date. But other automotive sources indicated the new lightweight engine would make its first appearance in the 1960 models, possibly just in certain cars or as optional equipment.

GM said the development had "long-range economic and industrial significance" and the iron industry should try to mee the challenge by improving its product and lowering the cost.

The warning came at a meeting here of the Gray Iron Founders' Society, a national organization of foundry workers who produce cast iron used in present car engines.

* * *

Dr. Robert T. Thomson of GM's research laboratories told the group that all of the problems involved in aluminum auto engines had not been solved. But he said the iron foundry industry should "develop new products to replace business it must inevitably lose."

* * *

He gave no time table for the changeover, but automotive sources said the change was "obviously in the wind and can't be too far off," especially with the increasing popularity of small cars.

Darl F. Caris of the GM engineering staff said an aluminum engine could weigh up to 200 pounds less than its cast iron counterpart.

"But this is only the beginning," he told the foundrymen, "because the lighter engine requires less structure to support it, lighter tires, lighter brakes and better weight distribution."

The net result, the two GM engineers said, was greater overall car efficiency and economy.

The average amount of aluminum used per auto since pre-World War II days has increased from two pounds to an estimated 57 pounds in 1959 models.

* * *

Dr. Thomson said engineers would be trying more and more to replace heavier iron materials with light metals to cut car weight without a corresponding decrease in roominess and performance.

* * *

He explained that some aluminum alloys had shown satisfactory wear characteristics in field tests with experimental V-8 engines.

"In event none of these finally meet all requirements," the GM engineer said. "One can rely on a cast iron cylinder liner, although this is not the ideal solution and will not achieve the goal of maximum weight reduction at minimum cost."

Dr. Thomson cautioned the foundrymen, however, that GM did not believe at this time that cast iron as a bore material would be needed.

Gets Contract of $2.7 Million

GMC Truck and Coach to Build Cabs, Chassis for Air Force Use

A $2,726,427 contract to provide 351 cabs and chassis for Air Force airport refueling tank trucks has been awarded to GMC Truck & Coach Division, Philip J. Monaghan, vice president of General Motors and division general manager announced today.

The contract is with the Heil Co. of Milwaukee which will put the finishing touches on the trucks by installing 5,000-gallon tanks and special pumping equipment on each.

The undercarriages produced here will be the cab-over type with tandem axle and automatic transmission.

The Pontiac plant is in the process of engineering two pilot models which, when completed, will be submitted to the Air Force for approval, after which full production will begin, a company spokesman said.

19 Airmen Killed as Plane Falls

Speculate Craft May Have Run Into Flock of Geese in Idaho

PAYETTE, Idaho (AP)—An Air Force transport, apparently trying a wheels-down emergency landing crashed and burned with 19 servicemen aboard Thursday night. All were killed.

A team of Air Force investigators began a probe today amid speculation the twin-engine C123 may have run into a flock of geese.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to be gliding in for a landing just before it smashed nose first into a brush-covered hillside on a ranch near this southwest Idaho community.

"There were three lights blinking and the wheels were down," said irrigation worker Norman Meadows. "It looked like he was going to try and make a landing."

Officials from Idaho's Mountain Home Air Force Base said the 19 aboard were all Air Force personnel. They said the plane was en route to McChord Field, Tacoma, Wash., from its home Pope Air Force Base, N.C.

* * *

Identity of the victims was withheld.

Sheriff Ray Stephens said some witnesses told him they saw a flock of geese in the area at the time of the crash.

Fire from the wreckage burned some five acres of brush.

A tenant on the Nelson ranch, Claude Smith, said his wife shouted as he was doing his evening milking that a plane had crashed.

* * *

"We went right over there but couldn't get up close enough to give any help," he said. "We found a piece of torn newspaper. It was dated today, from Oklahoma City."

Holdouts and Shortages Hamper Auto Output

DETROIT (AP)—Hampered by continuing work stoppages and materials shortages, the auto industry will build 33,278 cars and 11,328 trucks this week, Automotive News said today.

Last week 34,464 cars and 14,333 trucks were built. In the week ended Oct. 12 last year output was 38,815 cars and 18,810 trucks.

The trade paper said Ford division, Plymouth and Rambler increased output this week. It said an indicated production of 6,000 Ramblers this week marks the third time in the last month that American Motors has set a new high for Rambler production.

Canadian output this week is put at 5,350 cars and 1,195 trucks. Last week Dominion factories built 3,720 cars and 1,094 trucks.

SCOUTS HELP CIVIL DEFENSE — Lowell Vollmar Jr., 11, a member of Boy Scout Troop 150, hands City Manager Walter K. Willman the civil defense handbook which 2,000 scouts and explorers plan to distribute on a door-to-door basis tomorrow in the Pontiac area. Willman, Pontiac's civil defense director, urged citizens to read the handbook and keep it on hand in case of emergencies. Published by the Office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization, the booklet contains instructions on everything from first aid to fallout protection. It is being distributed nationally by Boy Scouts at the request of President Eisenhower.

Mixed at Start, Grains Weaken

CHICAGO (AP)—The entire grain futures list weakened on the Board of Trade today after a mixed opening.

* * *

Wheat started mostly higher on buying against export sales and purchases by brokers representing milling interests. Demand soon slackened, however, and prices fell back on selling by professionals and commission houses.

* * *

Clearing weather over the corn and soybean belt helped depress these grains despite forecasts for frost or freezing temperatures tonight. Large supplies of both corn and beans also were factors in weakness of these commodities.

* * *

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was unchanged to ½ lower, December $1.95⅞; corn ⅛ to ¾ lower, old style December $1.13½; oats ⅜ to ½ lower, December 64; rye unchanged to ⅞ lower, December $1.31½; and soybeans unchanged to ⅜ lower, November $2.16¼.

16 GM Plants Operating Again

But 238,500 Remain Idle at 110 Locations in Local Disputes

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors today counted 36,500 of its 275,000 United Auto Workers back on the job in 16 of its 126 plants.

The total marked continued progress in the efforts of the company and the UAW to settle local grievances in the wake of a 12-hour companywide strike last week.

* * *

But still it was not enough for GM, biggest of the car makers, to consider itself back in the 1959 model production race with Ford and Chrysler.

When GM saw its vast industrial empire paralyzed by local disputes in spite of a national contract agreement with the UAW, GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton said he hoped for full-speed production by midweek.

* * *

GM said it expected most of its 25,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers to return to their jobs at six GM plants today.

The IUE, which struck last week at the same hour as the UAW, came to terms with GM on a new contract Wednesday night.

* * *

GM, virtually shut down for more than a week, was not alone in its labor troubles.

Chrysler Corp. reported 10,800 workers idle at six plants. Most of Chrysler's strikes grew out of salaried office workers' dissatisfaction that their portion of a new contract still is unsettled.

We Eat More Cheese

MILWAUKEE—United States per capita cheese consumption for the last three years has averaged close to 8 pounds a year. Between 1947 and 1949 it was 7 pounds and from 1935 to 1939 the average was 5½ pounds. Although Americans still do not eat as much cheese as do people in some other countries, they now eat about twice as much as they did 20 years ago.

Plastic Bat, Ball Made

MINNEAPOLIS — A new plastic baseball bat and ball being manufactured by a Minneapolis concern are said to let children have the fun of playing baseball without adult supervision, the danger of serious injury, and the hazard to windows. The 30-inch hollow bat is of regulation shape and the ball has circular surface holes to limit the flight.

Special Issues, Coppers Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Coppers and selected issues helped put the stock market irregularly higher early today. Turnover was active.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

* * *

The market was mixed at the opening. A higher trend appeared gradually. The ticker tape was late for a period of seven minutes under the initial rush.

Continued strength in copper prices abroad accompanied a jump of more than a point by Kennecott and about 2 points by International Nickel, a big copper producer. Anaconda was up a sizable fraction.

Reynolds Tobacco was down a point or so, apparently in disappointment that a dividend boost to $1.00 from 90 cents was not more. In later trades the loss was cut.

* * *

Martin Co. and Lorillard were up a point or better. Raytheon, strong yesterday, dipped a full point in profit taking.

Steels and motors showed a gently higher tendency. Ford, an exception, eased.

Alcoa rose about 2 and Aluminium a fraction.

Fractional gains were made by U.S. Steel, Republic Steel, General Motors, American Motors, General Dynamics, Loew's and Southern Railway.

Car, Truck Output Drops This Week

DETROIT (AP)—Motor vehicle output in U.S. factories this week should total 33,798 cars and 11,048 trucks, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

Last week 34,464 cars and 14,313 trucks were built. In the comparable 1957 week, 38,626 cars and 18,860 trucks were made.

* * *

The statistical agency said work stoppages halted all car and truck output in GM factories this week. Strikes also impaired Chrysler output, Ward's said.

Daily average of new car sales during September was placed at 10,240 units compared with an August average of 12,461. Ward's said a September decline was expected, however, because the month basically was a 1958 model cleanup period.

News in Brief

Thieves broke into the Sunoco gas station, 732 S. Woodward Ave. and took coins from the cigarette machine, it was reported to Pontiac police today.

James Hunt, 22, of 78 Houston St., pleaded guilty to drunk driving today before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and was fined $100 or 10 days.
