Milo J. Cross to Speak at Luncheon in Pontiac Motor Auditorium

More than 100 press and radio-television representatives are expected to be in the Flint assembly plant of General Motors' Chevrolet Motor Division tomorrow morning when the 50 millionth GM auto rolls off the line, the corporation said today.

Completion of the 50 millionth auto, a gold-painted and gold-plated Chevrolet Bel Air sport coupe, will cap what GM hails as "an unprecedented industrial achievement."

No other company has approached the 50 million mark in automotive production, the corporation declares.

The newsmen will join 300 Detroit civic and business leaders at a civic luncheon for 1,200 guests at Flint's IMA Auditorium.

A "Ballad of Progress" skit and a talk by GM President Harlow H. Curtice, presented at the luncheon, will be carried by closed television network to 51 of 65 similar luncheons across the nation, including one here.

Pontiac civic and business leaders will gather for the luncheon in the Pontiac Motor Division engineering auditorium.

In addition, the television portion of the program, Milo J. Cross, president of the Pontiac State Bank and the Chamber of Commerce, will speak.

Day-long open houses will be held at the three GM divisions here. A total of more than 1,000,000 visitors are expected to visit GM plants and training centers in 70 communities.

Locally, GMC Truck and Coach Division will be the first to begin its open house observance. It will swing open its gates at 10 a.m. Pontiac Motor will follow suit at noon and Fisher Body at 1 p.m.

Youth, 15, Admits Slaying Hunter

CADILLAC (UP)—State Police said today that Mike Stevens, 15, of Cadillac admitted he deliberately shot and killed Hugh Flake, a 68-year-old deer hunter, last Tuesday. Cpl. Orley Perry of the Cadillac State Police Post said Stevens told him he shot Flake, but didn't know why; I just did.

Flake, retired Carsonville farmer, was shot in the back of the head and neck three times. Stevens first reported he had seen another hunter shoot Flake, but then said he had shot him accidentally.

Cpl. Perry said Stevens admitted the deliberate shooting when confronted today with evidence that Flake had been shot from close range.

The boy, Perry said, told him he shot Flake in the head from a stump some 5 feet away

C. of C. Supports Goal of Pontiac Foundation

Support was given the Pontiac Foundation's goal of a civic auditorium today by the Chapter of Commerce.

In a prepared statement, Robert J. St. Clair, C. of C. manager, declared:

"We feel that the foundation's initial project—that of helping to acquire a civic auditorium for the City of Pontiac which can be utilized by all its citizens—is extremely worthy while.

"We feel such a structure will add tremendously to the cultural and social progress of the city.

"We can visualize where it could put the city in a position to acquire conventions and supply needed facilities for many activities which cannot be adequately handled now."

This week has been officially proclaimed "Pontiac Foundation Week" by Mayor William W. Donaldson.

The foundation is a fund gathering trustship, through which contributions are being funneled for civic improvement in Pontiac. Its first aim is construction of a municipal auditorium.

13 Lose Lives in State Traffic

Weekend Mishaps Also Include Fire Death and Fall Fatality

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One smashup, in which four died, took a third of the 13 lives lost in Michigan traffic accidents over the weekend.

A 71-year-old man died in a fall down steps at his Detroit home and a Lake County man died in a fire which destroyed his home.

Sheppard Talked Divorce Twice, Confidant Testifies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard twice confided to an old friend and fellow osteopath he was thinking about divorcing his pretty wife, the friend testified today.

Dr. Lester Hoversten of Glendale, Calif., testified Sheppard discussed divorce with him in California in the summer of 1950 and again in Cleveland in the spring of 1953.

In both cases, Hoversten said he told Sheppard, to think it over before making such a decision.

One of the state's key witnesses to establish a motive for murder, Hoversten told the jury trying Sheppard for the murder of his wife July 4 that:

1. In 1950, the Sheppards were living in California and Marilyn had gone to Cleveland on vacation. He said Sheppard then wanted to write Marilyn about a divorce.

2. In the spring of 1953, Hoversten was living in Cleveland. On that occasion, he said: "I remember distinctly advising him to go slow and be careful because he should realize Marilyn was a wonderful wife."

One of the last persons to see Marilyn alive, Hoversten was a house guest of the Sheppards for less than a week and left just a day before she was bludgeoned to death in her bed July 4.

As the murder trial of Dr. Sheppard entered its sixth week today, police investigated a former convict's story that his burglar pal may have slain the osteopath's wife.

Iowa Governor Killed in Crash

Traffic Safety Advocate Dies as Car Hits Rear of Truck; Wife Injured

DES MOINES, Ia. (UP)—Gov. William S. Beardsley, an ardent leader in the drive for traffic safety, was killed last night in a high-way collision. He was 53 years old.

Beardsley was injured fatally when his car rammed into the rear of a panel truck on Iowa Highway 60 two miles north of Des Moines.

His wife, Charlotte, was injured but authorities at Iowa Lutheran Hospital said she was in "pretty good condition" and "resting well."

Three persons riding in the truck were treated for minor injuries and released.

Ironically, the governor had always shown great concern over highway accidents in Iowa. Only a few months ago, he established a state Traffic Safety Committee to work on the problem.

Beardsley, who did not seek reelection in the Nov. 2 election, was just ending his third two-year term. Attorney General Leo A. Hoegh, also a Republican, was elected to succeed him.

LI. Gov. Leo Elthon, Fertile, Iowa, will take the oath as governor today to serve out Beardsley's term.

The Beardsleys had gone to Ames, 30 miles north of here to visit their son, Dan, an Iowa State College student. They were returning here when the accident happened.

Chief Red U.N. Delegate Was Near 71st Birthday

Van Kleffens Announces Death During Session of General Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—Death of Andrei Vishinsky, fiery-tongued chief of the Soviet delegation at United Nations, and one of Russia's most celebrated statesmen, was announced in the U. N. today.

The announcement of the passing of the pre-revolution lawyer, who made the switch to communism and earned worldwide fame as Soviet prosecutor in the "purge trial of the 1930s, was made known to the 1,000 assembled delegates and spectators by E. N. Van Kleffens, U. N. Assembly president.

Death of Vishinsky apparently was due to a heart attack.

The Van Kleffens announcement followed by only a half-hour a U. N. speech in which French Premier Pierre Mendes-France proposed a four-power conference in May to be held in Paris after ratification of the agreements rearming and restoring sovereignty to West Germany.

Vishinsky, assertedly suffered the heart attack as he was preparing to leave the Soviet estate at Glen Cove, L. I., for the Assembly meeting.

Van Kleffens rapped for order and in dramatic voice announced at 12:40 p. m. (EST) that "it is with great regret that I have to report the sad news that Mr. Vishinsky has died."

A shocked silence descended upon the huge auditorium. The assembled delegates and spectators rose slowly to their feet and stood in silence with bowed heads.

Van Kleffens told the delegates that "ample opportunity" would be granted later to express condolences.

Vishinsky was 70 years old.

Mendes-France had left the Assembly by the time Van Kleffens received the information on Vishinsky's fatal heart attack.

The information ended speculation on the curious absence during Mendes-France's appearance on the rostrum of most key delegates from the Iron Curtain countries, some of whom took their seats 15 to 20 minutes after the French diplomat began to speak.

Vishinsky was several times foreign minister of the Soviet Union. He was last replaced in that capacity by V. M. Molotov soon after the death of Joseph Stalin, which caused a top-to-bottom shakeup in the Kremlin that put Georgi Malenkov in as Premier.

Before Vishinsky entered the Soviet Foreign Ministry, he gained a reputation as Stalin's "terrible prosecutor" because of the grim purges he conducted in the Soviet secret police courts, sending literally hundreds of thousands to slow death in the Siberian concentration camps.

Vishinsky had been chief U. N. delegate more or less since 1947, although as foreign minister he came to the U. N. Assembly only during the three months of its annual session.

Averell Harriman and Gov. Williams Make Plea After Conference

HARRIMAN, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. C. Mennen Williams of Michigan and New York's Gov. Elect Averell Harriman made a plea for increased federal aid to education as a means of keeping up with the Russians in a conference yesterday.

Williams, who is in the East vacationing and attending to private business since his reelection campaign, arrived in Harriman with his wife, Nancy, for a lunch-noon visit. The two Democrats met at Ardor House, long-owned by the Harriman family.

Both cited figures showing inequalities in amounts spent by various states for education and said the United States has only doubled its educational investment.

Talking on highway problems, Williams said he thought it would be a good idea for the federal government to get out of the gasoline-tax field.

He said while Michigan taxes gasoline and truck weight for highway purposes, only half of the federal tax on gas goes for highway purposes and the rest into a general fund.

Both Harriman and Williams agreed that an automobile excise tax is not now a good thing. Harriman said legislation had been designed for another period when cars were hard to get.

Williams said the car market must be improved and that Michigan was working strenuously to help the industry "meet the consumer."

Williams said he planned to meet with Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota in the near future.

"A Pilgrim in the Holy Land" is the topic chosen by Dr. Joseph Mayne for his talk at tonight's High Twelve Club meeting at 6:30 at the Community House. He is pastor of the East Congregational Church in Grand Rapids.

illness, and at one time subjected himself to heart treatments by a New York specialist.

Last year he purchased for his personal residence a house in the fashionable East Side section of New York City, where he has been living—except for weekends at Glen Cove, L. I.—with his wife and 15-year-old daughter, Zinaida.

Vishinsky's chief deputy currently is A. A. Sobolev, who several years ago was assistant U. N. secretary-general.

Andrei Yanuarievich Vishinsky was born in 1883, and as a young man practicing law joined the Mensheviks.

The Mensheviks were originally a powerful party directly opposed to the Bolsheviks led by Nikolai Lenin, Leon Trotsky and later Joseph Stalin.

Vishinsky succeeded, however, in switching colors and by conducting the great 1936 purges for Stalin integrated himself to such an extent that he managed to escape liquidation—a fate he helped scores of Soviet political leaders and military chiefs suffer.

3 Caught in Stolen Car

BIRMINGHAM—Two Ferndale brothers and their boy friend, ages 12, 13 and 16, were turned over to Detroit police yesterday after one of them admitted stealing the car in which police found them stalled on Woodward at 14-Mile road. The auto was stolen in Detroit.

State Police said a lie detector test by John Wettberg Sunday showed "nothing to indicate deception" in the deer hunting death of his 28-year-old wife near Ironwood last Tuesday.

She was one of seven victims killed by gunfire during Michigan's deer hunting season, which reached its halfway mark Monday.

Her body was found in the woods near her Ironwood home. She was shot through the head.

Fuehrer, 51, walked into a police station in a Cincinnati suburb yesterday and announced, "I've got something on my chest."

Then, officers said, he told of going to Bay Village on a burglary mission the night of July 3 and fleeing in panic after he heard yells, cursing and scuffling coming from behind a house his companion had entered.

Fuehrer was brought to Cleveland today for further questioning and to see whether he can identify the Sheppard house and a Cleveland bar in which he said he met his companion. He said he knew the other man only as "Pal."

However, police of St. Bernard, another Cincinnati suburb, said they doubted the story told by Fuehrer.

Clifton Goodwin Says Men Took $80 After Beating

A 20-year-old motorist was abducted for 30 minutes in his auto Sunday night when three men beat and robbed him of $80 and fled in the victim's car.

Clifton Goodwin, 20, of 363 Prospect St., was treated for severe cuts and bruises at Pontiac General Hospital after he reported to Pontiac police he was struck on the head with a tire iron several times.

Detective Richard Evans quoted Goodwin as saying he stopped at Mt. Clemens and N. Paddock Sts., when one of the men waved for him to halt his auto. The two others pounced on him from hidden positions and forced him at knife point to sit between them, he said.

Goodwin said the trio took his money, a $34 unemployment check and rode with him about half an hour. He said the men continually struck him with their fists and the tire iron.

Two of the men, he said, jumped from the auto in the southwest section of the city, while the driver knocked him unconscious.

Goodwin fled the moving auto at Saginaw and South Blvd. and called police.

The auto later was recovered by Patrolman John Lyons in a field south of Brush street between Franklin road and Bagley street.

Goodwin described his assailants as dark, between 20 and 30 years of age and about 5 feet 8 inches tall.

4 Injured in Crash at Fairfax, Reynale

BIRMINGHAM—Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Lerchen, both 34, of 988 Gordon Lane, and their two daughters, Katie, 5, and Carol, 3, were treated for injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, yesterday after police said their car was struck by an auto driven by David L. VanDusen, 58, of 1015 Waddington, at the Fairfax-Reynale intersection.

VanDusen was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way to oncoming traffic.

Cordon Concedes Defeat

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Republican Sen. Guy Cordon, who lost the Nov. 2 U. S. senatorial election in Oregon to Democrat Richard L. Neuberger by 2,462 votes, conceded defeat yesterday.

The state officials said such writs would not apply to the turnpike situation. The officials also argued that the supreme court has no authority to issue a declaration of rights as requested by the turnpike authority.

Alert Stickup Man 'Earns' Extra Loot

DETROIT (AP)—An armed holdup man calmly pumped gas for a service station customer yesterday while his partner held the attendant and another customer at gunpoint inside the station. The two fled with $300 from the cash register after the customer left.

The attendant, Robert Harding, 26, of Detroit, said the men walked into the station, pulling their guns on him and Herman Thomas, 38, of Mount Clemens, a customer. Harding said when the second customer drove up one of the men borrowed his jacket and hat and serviced the car, pocketing the proceeds.

Deaf to Call of the Wild

Freeloading Invalids Refuse to Leave Animal Hospital After Taste of Luxury

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—The call of the wild, naturalist George Moore reported today, is highly overrated. Most of the wild animals he knows prefer civilization.

Once they get a taste of it, they are hooked.

Moore is in charge of the repair and rehabilitation of injured wild animals at the Rockwood Reservation near here. He runs a sort of hotel and convalescent home for creatures of the forest.

"Some wild animals just won't go back to being wild. I guess they get used to regular chow, no work and comfortable quarters," he said.

The most outrageous case is an American bald eagle that limped in on one wing 15 years ago and is still around. Though he is supposed to be a symbol of freedom, he hasn't the gumption to shift for himself.

Moore let the eagle out of its cage to demonstrate. The noble bird stood there forlornly.

Moore's entourage at present includes five raccoons, a coyote, a ferret, a badger, two opossums, two foxes, a ground squirrel, a black crowned night heron, a sparrow and several skunks.

Some of these are still sick, but most of them are confirmed free-loaders. Moore pointed out a raccoon, a little on the fat side, that hasn't done a lick of work for months. He lives by swiping potato chips.

There was a fox squirrel that Moore liberated one day. It was back before nightfall, carrying a sandwich it had picked up somewhere.

A pair of deer also went down the primrose path. They hung around the picnic grounds incessantly until Moore took them deep into the forest in a truck and "lost" them like Hansel and Gretel.

Many animals are eager to get back in circulation after a stay at Moore's shelter, however. He takes great care in seeing that they are turned loose when weather conditions and the natural food supply are most favorable.

If the call of the wild has a hollow ring to some animals, it doesn't to Moore. He had been manager of a creamery at Lebanon, Mo., for 30 years before he succumbed to it in the late 1930s and decided to become a naturalist.

He went to the Missouri Park Board and offered to work for $35 a month on a rent-free cabin. He got the job, and although the salary was eliminated in 1943 he stayed on, earning a living by lecturing on wildlife.

Today Moore runs his animal shelter and presides over a wildlife exhibit in a $50,000 building put up by the Missouri Conservation Commission. He and his wife live in a comfortable two-bedroom stone house, and their back yard is a 3,000 acre reservation abounding with animals—wild and not so wild.

First elevated railway in New York was opened for use in 1868.

Pontiac's Hospital

There are some off stage rumblings as to how the city should proceed with the money just voted by the taxpayers for the hospital.

The PRESS feels the path is clearly marked.

The city should use the funds to provide the maximum amount of facilities the amount can pay for. We feel it would be very unwise to use all the money for walls and floors and then stage another campaign to furnish the interior.

"Another campaign" would constitute breaking faith with the taxpayers. Even the suggestion is poor psychology and a definite handicap to future expansion.

The money should be used for the purpose voted. At no time were the voters informed that another campaign might be staged to raise additional money by popular subscription.

So far the idea seems to rest mainly with Mayor WILLIAM DONALDSON. Neither the City Manager nor the Commissioners have gone on record as backing or supporting His Honor. Probably the Mayor was simply sending up a trial balloon.

We prefer to believe he was.

The taxpayers were generous. They voted exactly what the Commission requested.

There were no strings attached and their approval was openhearted. Now they deserve to be treated with equal respect and sincerity.

Malaya a Danger Spot

There are plenty of reasons why the British in Malaya take a dim view of statements that now is the first time since World War II that there's no shooting war any place.

What they still have in that jungle choked peninsula, so rich it supplies one-third of the world's rubber and tin, probably doesn't qualify as a first class shooting war. The bloody fact remains, however, that jungle fighting has been going on there for more than six years.

Some 220,000 troops, 10 per cent of them British, have been forced to fight a specialized type of guerrilla war against the Communists. They hide in the jungle and make raiding forays. British and native troops have to dig them out.

Six years ago it was estimated that the Reds numbered no more than 5,000. Since then 1,098 have been captured, 2,360 wounded and 5,194 killed. But recruits keep the jungle army up to full strength.

The chief concern of the British right now isn't the strength of the jungle Communists. It's what their supporters may do. About half of Malaya's 7,800,000 population is Chinese. They feel a new and growing pride in the expanding strength of Red China.

Besides fearing that these people will aid the Reds, the British realize that Peiping might decide to intervene actively in the struggle. Malaya is another gateway to Thailand and is located strategically in relation to the Philippines and Australia.

The possibility of increased Communist effort there makes the peninsula one of the world's danger spots.

Knowland's Strange Stand

There are signs that the era of Republican eyebrow lifting over the divisive statements of Senate Majority Leader KNOWLAND may be ended.

Indications now are that it is being replaced by increasing intraparty weariness with the Californian's obstructionism. It's still hard to understand what he hopes to achieve by demanding a review of the Nation's foreign policy the day before the White House conference on bipartisanship.

Certainly it could serve only to hamper the President. Sen. KNOWLAND's demand amounts to a virtual invitation to the Democratic controlled committees of the next Congress to investigate the entire Administration.

Gradually it is dawning on the whole country that Sen. Knowland is playing a peculiar role for a Majority Leader. As the Administration's chief representative in the Senate he repeatedly has taken anti-Administration positions.

Though Asian matters obviously are part of the cause of his outbursts, he has had the good sense to disavow any desire for a preventive war. This makes it difficult to understand just what he means by the statement that "co-existence and atomic stalemate will result in ultimate Communist victory."

The implication here seems to be that co-existence would result in such a let-down in defense building that the Russians would overtake us in the atomic and hydrogen bomb race. If that's his argument, it's fallacious. The only alternative to co-existence is A and H bomb war.

President Eisenhower has set the Nation's policy on a solid foundation of peace through strength at home and among our Allies abroad. The people approve this policy. They know the President got us out of the Korean war and vetoed advice by his military advisers that would have plunged us into war over the Quemoy issue.

If Sen. KNOWLAND can't go along with this policy, he should be replaced as floor leader.

"People should stop doing anything they can't afford," says an economist. If this suggestion were followed, a lot of people would quit living.

The Man About Town

Contest Winners

Prize Is Divided Between Two Among 3,191 Entries

Wife: A person who, if she wants to learn to drive, you should not stand in her way.

The 1954 Man About Town football contest closes with the prize of $300 in U. S. Savings Bonds divided between of 711 Menominee Road, each receiving $150 in bonds. Among the 3,191 entries, they were the only ones to survive through the eight games previous to that on Saturday. While both Mrs. Thompson and Miss Karner picked Southern California to win Saturday, it lost by a 34-0 score. However, all others in the contest had been eliminated the week before under the rule that "you are in the contest only as long as you predict correctly." Congratulations to the winners, and to all others better luck next time.

"I am in favor of a new court house for Oakland County," writes

"Always Progressive," who continues, "But I don't think they are doing the movement any good when our present officials exaggerate the inadequacy of the present facilities, and call it a pile of rubble."

That local and very interesting monthly publication that goes to hundreds of Scout workers in the Clinton Valley Council has been given the official name of

"Oakomb Scouters," thus honoring both Oakland and Macomb Counties, where it circulates. This name was adopted at the last meeting of the Council Board of Directors.

There's something new in drinking—the bagged martini. At some swank night spots they now are being served in divided heat-sealed translucent envelopes, the liquor on one side and the olive on the other.

After reading about some of America's classic murder trials in the series by

James L. Kilgallen, in the Pontiac Press, a letter comes from

Edgar Pennoyer of Walled Lake, asking what Oakland County murder would be in top place in local classification. It seems that the killing a few years ago of Mrs. Lydia Thompson of Orchard Lake would have that distinction. It never was solved.

Erect Monument to Senator McCarthy for Opposing Communism, Says a Reader

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

These United States have been disturbed several months over the acts of Senator McCarthy. He has been bled, skinned and crucified. Why?

Because he, alone, has had the fortitude to try to exterminate that undercover, lying, cheating burning and destroying element that has been destroying this country since the days that it was encouraged by the former Democratic administrations.

I think Senator McCarthy should be extolled and a monument erected to him as the "Hero" who, alone, has fought Communism for all the people of these United States.

I refused to look in on the various trials which were to persecute the Senator, but read the papers in regard to the case. It is my opinion that results of the election on Nov. 22 were largely due to this McCarthy dispute. I consider the whole event as a momentous disgrace to all our people.

I recommend that the whole slate be wiped clean as far as possible and Senator McCarthy be again placed as chairman of Un-American Activities Committee in the Senate, with orders to go full ahead with his efforts to rid this country of Communism.

Why don't the city cut the weeds and fix the streets like East Sheffield instead of finding trouble with the paper boys?

Women, as Well as Men, Often Resent Working Under a Female Employer

Girls, would you rather work for a woman employer or a man? Do you think a woman is a more efficient office manager than a man? See if you agree with Zora's observations.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case M-373: Zora Q., aged 24, is a stenographer in a large office. The office manager is an efficient woman aged 43.

"I just can't stand to work under her much longer, though," Zora explained during our conference. "She is so petty, and snoops around ten times more than a man would."

"Three years ago I was working for a man, and I liked it far better. Men aren't so critical as bosses and they give you more responsibilities. Besides, they are more considerate of you and much more generous."

"Dr. Crane, don't you think that women are less popular employers than are men?"

As a general rule, men of course resent working for women employers. It is very obvious that this masculine aversion to female superiors is based chiefly on the fact that since boyhood the male sex has been physically stronger than the female sex.

Because they are larger and more powerful in size and muscle, men tend to feel that they are superior in all other respects to the female sex. The latter generalization is not warranted, however, since women are as alert mentally as are men.

On mental tests, for instance, girls and women can hold their own with boys and men. The old-fashioned conception that women are mentally inferior to men, is now known to be false. And in school marks, girls tend to excel boys.

One reason that girls make better students, as a rule, than do boys is because they take orders gone. Nor do they take orders so readily because a woman is more of an equal. In addition, a woman employer can see through many little feminine tricks that a girl can work successfully on male employers. Besides, a woman boss watches details, such as the dust on the desk tops.

And the older woman may often feel jealous of a younger, prettier girl employee who receives male teasing or kidding from other executives in the firm. This is especially true since the younger girl may be able to marry some male who is even superior to her woman employer and thus quickly gain an indirect superiority to the woman boss.

What do you women readers find true in your own experience? Do you prefer a woman or a man employer? Let's have a vote on this problem.

with less resentment. Where a boy may argue and protest, a girl will more meekly follow commands.

Moreover, girls are usually cleaner and more tidy in their work. Teachers are often subconsciously influenced by a student's appearance and neatness so these factors affect school marks. In college the sororities usually beat the fraternities in scholastic averages. Boys are also inclined toward more active play involving the large muscles, so they often feel irked by detail work. Girls, however, by their habits of sewing and household tasks become trained to finer movements and thus are less irritated by detail work.

When girl secretaries and stenographers are employed by men, they usually do not feel resentment because they have been accustomed all through life to being physically smaller than males and to modifying their behavior according to masculine demands.

There is always some potential romance in the opposite sex, moreover, so this fact is also stimulating. Girls are likewise accustomed to letting men be the aggressors in business as well as many other respects, so they are usually content to play second fiddle to men.

When they work for a woman, however, the romance factor is

Move Seen to Displace Floor Leader in Senate

WASHINGTON — Mischief-makers are busy trying to widen another cleavage inside the Republican Party. Having aggravated the McCarthy split, there are signs of a drive by the same influences to try to displace Sen. Knowland of California as the Republican leader of the Senate and thus completely alienate the Taft wing of the party.

The "sin" of the California senator seems to be that he expresses his convictions on foreign policy and doesn't "conform." His concept of a true liberal is different from the so-called "liberal" doctrine that everybody must toe the mark and accept without qualification the views dictated by a president.

Eisenhower himself, fortunately, doesn't argue that way. In fact, when the late Sen. Taft, Republican leader of the Senate, made a speech on foreign policy in Cincinnati on May 26, 1953, the President two days later gave his own ideas, but said Taft had a right to express his opinion.

Just two months afterward, when Sen. Taft was dying, Sen. Knowland was acting Republican leader and, with characteristic independence, he served notice of the concept that he held so that, if chosen leader, there would be no question about what he believed to be his role. In a copyrighted interview published in "U. S. News & World Report" on July 24, 1953, which was entitled "Like Doesn't Want a Rubber Stamp Congress," the California senator was asked:

"How do you appraise or evaluate the duties of a leader of the Senate? For example, do you feel that you have to reflect 100 per cent the views of the administration in power?"

"No," was the reply. "I think the duties of a floor leader are several and are, of course, important in the legislative program. One is to use every effort to secure the adoption of the legislative program which has been agreed upon by the administration in consultation with the leaders in the House and the Senate and to interpret to the Republican members of the Senate in their conference and on the floor the views of the administration and the background and reasons for the legislation."

"But I also think it is equally important that the Republican leader or the Democratic leader, as the case may be, also must interpret very frankly to the administration in power the views of the members of the party in the Senate."

"And I don't think he serves the purpose of either his colleagues in the Senate or the administration if he doesn't deal with complete frankness and candor in discussing those views and making them known to the President and the high officials in the administration."

Knowland gave as an example of the correct course of a party leader the public reply which Sen. Barkley, Democratic majority leader from Kentucky, made in criticism of the late President Roosevelt when the latter vetoed an important tax bill. This measure was subsequently adopted over the veto upon the urging of Barkley.

Specifically on foreign policy, Knowland was asked if he shared the view that Taft had about speaking out in public when in disagreement. The California senator said: "Well, I think in any case in dealing with questions of foreign policy, a person must act with even greater responsibility as a majority or acting leader, but I believe that there are times when he would not be serving the cause of the administration of which he is a part or his colleagues in the Senate as a whole, to which he has a responsibility over and beyond a partisan responsibility—if he did not speak out. I have always made it clear where I have spoken that I was speaking on my individual responsibility as a senator of the United States."

"Also," he was asked at this point, "hasn't Sen. Taft done the same thing, as, for instance, with his speech in Cincinnati which produced so much comment about his desire to disentangle us from the United Nations arrangements in the Far East?"

"That is correct," replied Sen. Knowland. "He made it perfectly clear that he was speaking on his responsibility as an individual senator."

It so happens that the California senator has a record of 87 per cent—one of the highest in the Senate—in voting with the Eisenhower administration on roll calls. No majority leader of either house of Congress is, of course, a member of the cabinet as in Britain or France.

Notwithstanding his duties as a manager of the legislative business of the administration on the floor, a majority leader continues to speak the views of his constituents, who in the case of Sen. Knowland happen to comprise the people of the second largest state in the union. Otherwise a state would lose its spokesman in the Senate.

Majority leaders have occasionally, when in disagreement, given charge of a particular bill on the floor to a colleague who favors it. But the pattern of the past has been to uphold the idea that Congress is an independent and co-ordinate branch of the government of the United States and not a subordinate bureau or agency of the executive branch.

It seems to be fashionable nowadays in some quarters constantly to belittle or disparage the role of Congress. This certainly betrays a lack of knowledge of the Constitution of the United States as laid down by the Founding Fathers. (Copyright 1954)

Baering Down

 (International News Service)

As an old Kentucky kernel equipped with letters of remark and reprisal we are glad Kernel Barkley is back on the franked laundry route.

Dear Alben was stacked to the accolade of partisan corroboration by his fellow Kentuckians. The John Alden of the four Roosevelt administrations finally flipped a shill for himself.

The Barker has played second fiddle so long he puts resin on yesterday's toast.

It was his racket during the presidential swings to make the voters think the side-show was the main top. And he did it better than heat curling an ostrich feather.

The Barker is a politician pure and simple without being exactly either. When he hears the claxon call of the party he is as ready to go as a bobbed on Forty Mile Hill.

It was the Barker's boosting that put Franklin Delano Roosevelt over in 1940 and 1944 and we don't mean your old aunt Minnie. He found out later that the callopie is at the end of the parade.

Great Many Cases of Acute Indigestion Turn Out to Be Something Different

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

One dismal fall day when I was serving time in Elmira—ten years at hard labor—I went out on my rounds at 1 p. m., well, anyway, I visited my patient, a child recently from England. I was even more cocksure and opinionated then—if you can imagine—and so the behavior of the child's mother irked me.

From the appearance of the child's lips, gums, nails and eyelid linings it was obvious that she was anemic.

Today we'd call it nutritional deficiency anemia or, if the patient happened to be in her thirties or forties, the gray sickness. For practical information send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for the pamphlet The Gray Sickness.

When I asked how long the child had been sick the mother feigned astonishment and said the child had never been sick.

Then why had I been called. Presently the lady saw the difficulty. We all laughed. In England, it seemed, when you're took bad you're ill but if it's something you et you're sick. In America vice versa.

But I have a vivid recollection of that dismal day because shortly after the visit to my patient I began to feel uneasy in the epigastrium, a vague distress which gradually became more insistent. Then I had a chill and took to bed where I just couldn't get warm. And all the time tension (not pain) in the region of the solar plexus increased and I was moaning and writhing when the doctor arrived.

In the first hour or two the seizure was complicated by a very disturbing thought. I had eaten a hunk of fresh coconut just before I started on my rounds. Maybe this was acute indigestion! That would have been more than I could endure. Might just as well have the gout or get sinusitis from going without a hat or develop arthritis or arteriosclerosis from taking too much calcium (in milk, cheese, beans, greens, nuts and peanuts).

If the seizure had been what I insist doesn't happen I could never again have faced the poor geeks who have acute indigestion of one kind or another beyond any doubt of which their minds are capable.

But, happily, and I mean happily, for it was a tremendous relief when the doctor arrived, about 3 p. m., and diagnosed appendicitis and sent me to the hospital where he operated next morning, found a gangrenous appendix, dredged it, put in drainage and sent me on my way rejoicing. Except the extreme tension I felt before the condition was diagnosed, there was not a moment of pain or discomfort in the eight or nine days I was hospitalized and never any trouble afterward.

A great many cases of alleged "acute indigestion" prove to be appendicitis, gallstones, colic, renal colic or perhaps the discomfort, pain or distress that the victim feels in the upper, middle or lower belly is referred from the actual seat of trouble somewhere in the chest, as one feels a tingle in the little finger from striking the ulnar nerve (funny bone) inside the elbow.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diet, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Red China Drafting New Education Plan

TOKYO (U) — Chang Chien of Red China's Ministry of Higher Education says a five-year plan for education is being worked out, according to the official Communist newspaper.

"Training of qualified personnel to meet the needs of national construction, particularly industry," he says, "will provide education for the children of the working people."

In other words, the children of the proletariat, not the peasants, will get first crack at education. Chang says 50 million children are now in primary schools, and 3,620,000 in secondary schools, with 212,000 enrolled in institutions of higher learning.

Satisfaction Received

HAMDEN, Conn. (U) — Detective Sgt. Hugh Mulhern took personal charge of the hunt for the hit and run driver who injured an 11-year-old boy riding a bicycle. Within an hour, Mulhern tracked down the driver and arrested him. The injured boy was Mulhern's son.

UM Professor Doing Telecasts

Philip Thomas in Series of TV Programs Based on Travels in India

ANN ARBOR (U) — A young university of Michigan instructor is telling the story of a disciple of Mahatma Gandhi who walked 1,000 miles to save his native country, India.

Philip Thomas, a university economics instructor, spent a year in India and has returned to describe his findings over Michigan television stations.

Thomas appeared on Grand Rapids television screens Saturday and will appear in Cadillac and Bay City as part of the university's filmed kinescope series, "Understanding Our World."

The Indian pilgrim, Thomas says, is Bhawe, a believer of the Gandhian philosophy that peaceful means can solve India's problems. This is the story Thomas tells:

In 1948, shortly after India gained its independence from Britain, the Asian country was rocked by minor rebellions. Bhawe left his own unsettled province and walked 1,000 miles to Bihar.

There, Bhawe began to preach and pray. Finally at one gathering, he asked the wealthy landlords to share their lands with the poor. Several of the landlords told Bhawe, "Here, divide my lands as you will."

Bhawe preached that the landlords didn't actually own the land. He told them they were merely holding it in trust for God.

The land-gift idea or "Bhoodan Yagna" is now spreading over India, Thomas says. He concludes that India will need time to develop itself into a strong nation.

India, Thomas says, believes "The communists represent the masses of the people and are working for their good." He adds: "India's major fear in the world today is colonialism, not communism."

Thomas adds that Indians dislike "the dictatorial aspects" of communism, but they dislike even more the colonial history of the west.

Last Testament Nearly Long as Old Testament

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (U) — A seven-foot-long will, written in longhand, has been admitted for probate in Superior Court. The lengthy document compromises the will of Mrs. Emma Severance, of West Los Angeles. Filed yesterday, it disposes of an estate valued at $60,000 to $70,000. Mrs. Severance, 74, died Oct. 2.

Dairy's Defense Plea Woodn't Impress Judge

GREENWICH, England (U) — United Dairies, Ltd., was hauled into court Saturday to answer charges of selling a bottle of milk containing a piece of wood. The company's attorneys argued that the public is using its milk bottles "for such things as mixing cement and shaking cocktails."

The judge fined the company 10 pounds sterling ($28). Fort Peck dam is believed to be the largest earthen dam in the world.

Belgian Congo Is Enjoying Boom in Troubled Africa

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo, goes rubber, tin, copper, zinc, man-INS — Leopoldville, the capital city of one of the richest colonial possessions in troubled Africa, is enjoying a peaceful boom in the heart of a continent shaken by unrest.

East of the Belgian Congo, in the British colony of Kenya, the native Mau Mau terrorists are carving their bloody place in the history of Africa. Far to the north the French are struggling to maintain control over growing and frequent violent native nationalism.

The practical Belgians, heirs to a colonial policy which many people now call outdated, sit in the pleasant sidewalk cafes in the hot dusk of the Congo November and shake their heads as they read of these upheavals.

If any such unrest exists among Leopoldville's cheerful, easy-going Bantus, the Belgian colonial authorities don't advertise it and it certainly is not evident in the broad, tree-lined streets of the capital.

Since the spread of Communism through Asia and the mushrooming of nationalism in Africa has cut the western world off from rich sources of raw material, the Con-

The visitor to Leopoldville needs no statistics. The expansion is obvious in the large number of new buildings and the construction in progress on every side.

The Congo's capital city has adopted modern architecture with enthusiasm and the main streets are lined with clean-cut, handsome buildings with streamlined facades.

On the sidewalks modern civilization and primitive cultures rub elbows. Among the Belgians the traditional tropical costume of khaki shirts and shorts with sun helmets is beginning to lose ground to light-weight business suits, neckties and hats.

Many women come from Brazzaville on the French side of the Congo River to do their shopping in Leopoldville. Little launches run on a regular schedule between the two cities, traveling sideways as much as forward in the swift current.

Natives cross the river constantly in both directions. Jobs are scarcer in French Equatorial Africa than in booming Leopoldville, but Brazzaville appears to be a more popular place for native-style relaxation.

One old Congo hand explained that "Leo is trying to be a European city while Brazza is closer to Africa."

The poorwill, southwestern cousin of the whippoorwill, is the only bird which is known to hibernate.

Pole Hunt Under Way in Sunny California

EL CENTRO, Calif. (U.S.)—Hardly a day goes by that somebody doesn't call me to ask for a telephone pole, says the manager of the phone company, Howard Rose. The poles are much in demand for television antennas, which must be raised high to receive programs from Yuma, Ariz.

Some people have even felled poles, ripped them free of encumbering wires and hauled them away, he said. Others have stolen them from stockpiles. "We have a backlog of orders for old poles that will take a year to fill," Rose said. The price of a pole, $80.

Marilyn Will Find Out Frisco's a Nice Place

By EARL WILSON

SAN FRANCISCO—The folks here in Joe DiMaggio's home town believe that Joe and Marilyn Monroe will once again set up housekeeping.

I learned that when I flew out for the world premiere of Marlon Brando's picture about Napoleon, "Desiree."

Shimmy-shaker Sherree North, Debra Paget, Tommy Noonan and others came from Hollywood . . . Yet everywhere I heard boasts that the city's long-time hero, Joe, will soon be having Marilyn reconciling with him if he's really set his mind to it . . . And they think he's grimly serious about it now.

"He's really romancing her now," is the word in these hills. Marilyn's been invited up here by Joe for Thanksgiving and we hear she's going to New York in December, to be followed there by Joe a week later.

"What is it about San Francisco that makes so many people say it's the greatest city in the world?" I'd been asking. For people who've lived in such paradises as Ohio, Texas, Pennsylvania and New England come here just a few months . . . and become undyingly loyal.

Maybe that loyalty's part of its greatness. I went down to Fisherman's Wharf to the DiMaggio Restaurant where everybody seemed "very confident."

You've read how Gloria, the hatcheck girl, wouldn't take Marilyn's picture down. They still proudly mention how Joe and Marilyn had a New Year's Eve here.

"But when he left Marilyn's house, Joe said he would never be back," somebody mentioned.

"He didn't say that!" spoke up Reno Barsocchini, who was Joe's best man. "I was there with him."

"He said he was coming back here to San Francisco, which was his home and always would be his home. The rest somebody made up."

Joe's brother, Tom, and the others nodded. They are for Joe and always will be for Joe.

Of course some people always claim this is such a great city because of the restaurants.

We went to the Black Fox which advertises that it is "Across the street from the morgue." Truly it is. A big sign, "Coroner," blazed its announcement across the street as we pulled up. An ambulance was there, also.

"I'm glad we came here," our dinner companion, Louella Parsons, said. "I might want to go lie down afterward."

★ ★ ★ ★

They brought us tons of delicacies. We crossed the Golden Gate Bridge next day to feast on crab—it's the season—at Sam's Anchor Cafe in the beautiful little spot of Tiburon. The seagulls and pelicans flew and dived nearby, and we saw a woman in a bathing suit, this November time.

It's real nice up here . . . and San Franciscans think Marilyn will probably be finding this out eventually.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL in N. Y. . .

Christine Jorgensen postponed an Australian tour because of strikes there . . . Gary Cooper'll make his TV debut on the Jack Benny show . . . A top singer's worrying pals—he's despondent because of recent flops.

Joe E. Lewis is visited twice daily in the hospital by model Kitty Koppett. (She brought him a copy of the Nat Cole record, "Lush Life") . . . Sandu Scott's the pretty miss working with the Slate Bros. at the Palace.

Michigan's Governor Williams and his wife are in New York "on a no-politics holiday." A waiter at The Lobster restaurant told me, "He's acting just like a regular tourist—ripping apart a lobster, and up to his elbows in butter! Must be a regular guy."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's Peter Donald's definition of marriage: "A process whereby a woman winds up with rings on her fingers and a man with circles under his eyes."

"ANY CAR WILL LAST your lifetime," says Victor Vito. "If you're careless." That's Earl, brother.

Chicago Shore Project Studied

Engineers Mull Plan to Give City a Harbor for Ocean-Going Ships

CHICAGO (UP)—Engineers are working on a plan to remodel the Lake Michigan shoreline at Chicago and give the city a harbor for ocean-going vessels that would rank with the greatest in the world.

Chicago would be equipped to cash in on the new opportunities for ocean commerce provided by the St. Lawrence Seaway and would have a shoreline with the beauty and recreational facilities of Miami Beach.

Man-made islands would rise in the 30-foot-deep water off the Chicago shore. There would be swimming basins with artificial beaches. Yachts and fishing boats would have acres of mooring space. The present windy lakefront would become a playground.

The estimated cost is almost as breathtaking as the scheme itself. Engineers figure it "roughly" at $425,000,000. The construction work would take 10 years.

The plan has been a lifelong dream of Ralph R. Leffler, structural design engineer for the Chicago sanitary district. He first proposed it in 1936 but got nowhere. Last week, with a devastating flood fresh in the minds of Chicagoans, district officials asked to take another look at it.

"We'll probably have the general plans ready in three to four weeks," Leffler said.

The lake front would be remodeled from the suburb of Wilmette on the north to a point east of Gary, Ind., on the south. A system of dikes would form two harbors, one for commercial vessels and one for pleasure craft.

Kelly Overstays Welcome, Won't Turn Off Television

By MARGARET LATROBE

"All right, children. Turn off television and let's get ready for supper!"

"Gee, Mom. We gotta see the rest of Pinky Lee and besides Kelly isn't ready to go home yet . . ."

Kelly is a charming little youngster from two houses down the block. You often wonder (1) if he is this charming at home, or (2) what there is about your own house that charms him into overstaying his welcome seven days out of seven.

"Uh, Kelly — we're about to have our dinner now, dear, so . . ." and you offer him his jacket.

He never flicks a glance from the TV screen.

"Oh, uh — K-EL-L-Y, I said we're about to have our dinner and the children have to get washed up a bit and, well the sun has gone down and everything and maybe your mother is wondering what happened to you . . ."

Kelly stirs uneasily. Pinky is in excellent form this afternoon. "Huh?" he mutters.

I said we are about to have dinner now and we'll see you tomorrow, dear. It's getting dark and your mother is probably worried because you don't come home . . .

"No, ma'am, she ain't worried 'bout me. She knows I'm always right here." And he frowns slightly, picking up the comedy where he left off.

"Well, it's time for you to run along now, dear. The children have to eat dinner."

That's all right," quips Kelly. "They can eat while I watch the show. Can I stay for supper, too?"

OPEN HOUSE

In Celebration of Building Its FIRST FIFTY MILLION CARS

That's right! Tuesday's the big day.

The first time we've ever held a national Open House — the first time we have ever invited the public to visit us in all the 57 towns and cities where we have plants.

But — what better moment to do it than the golden day our first 50 millionth GM car rolls off the assembly line.

For the arrival of that historic car marks a new milestone in American production progress. And there's no more fitting place to celebrate such achievement than right in a modern production plant.

So, your friends and neighbors of the General Motors team in your community, cordially invite you to see how General Motors production works right in your own hometown — the latest equipment — scientific know-how — all combining to produce "more and better things for more people!"

Come early! Plan to spend plenty of time. And enjoy this GOLDEN CARNIVAL of American Production.

We are joining General Motors plants from coast to coast in the nationwide Open House.

Ex-Cartoonist Heads Training Aids Section

FORT EUSTIS, Va. (UP) — Kenneth P. Klinger was picked for the job because he had 17 years experience as a cartoonist for the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"All I had to start with was some wrapping paper, a bottle of India ink and two brushes," he recalls.

Today Lt. Col. Klinger commands a 60-man visual aids section of the Army Transportation Corps which has turned out over 50,000 training aids such as transparent models of engines, wiring systems, charts and diagrams. They have revolutionized and speeded up the training of personnel.

Danny Thomas Stays at One Club 156 Weeks, Signed for Only 7 Days

By EDDIE CANTOR

The biggest hit I ever saw in a Chicago nightclub, or for that matter, anywhere, was my good friend, Danny Thomas. It was at a place called the "Fifty-One Hundred Club." I saw him stand out in the center of the floor for almost an hour and a half with the audience alternately laughing—applauding—and keeping silent—the greatest tribute to a comedian who wants to be serious for a few moments. He came into the "Fifty-One Hundred Club" for one week. It was the longest seven-day engagement anybody ever had. It ran into a hundred and fifty-six weeks.

Danny is a philosophical comedian. His type of humor goes something like this. He'll say, between verses of a song, "I felt so sick this morning when I woke up, the first thing I did was read the obituary column to see if my name was in it." He tells of his uncle back in Toledo, Ohio, who was so strong he used to pitch horseshoes with the shoes still on the horse.

Danny is always kidding about the size of his nose and so when he was making the picture, "I'll See You in My Dreams" with Doris Day, the director, Mike Curtiz, said, "Danny, at the finish of your scene, you must take Doris in your arms—hold her close and kiss her intimately. Danny said, 'Mike, with this schnozzle of mine, the only way I can kiss a girl is long distance."

Danny could have been a preacher. Along with his followers, I believe every single word he utters. He makes sense and makes you think. He makes with the nonsense and you laugh, but all the time you're loving him.

When he ambled out on the stage at the famous Palladium Theater in London, the people must have thought, "He doesn't look like much of an actor—he doesn't look like much of anything—what's he up to?" They soon found out. Danny's opening line was a classic: "I've heard from my fellow performers in America that you're a great audience. Ladies and gentlemen, gee, I wouldn't be in your shoes for anything in the world." From then on, he was in.

Later in his act, he threw up his arms toward the balcony and cried, "Fellow peasants, long have you suffered under the yoke of the oppressors! Long have you toiled in bondage! But fear not, our day will come."

He glanced at his wrist watch and said, "When I give the signal—jump!" His engagement was more than a success; it was a triumph because he knew, as did everyone, that he was following another Danny, a pretty fair entertainer himself, a kid from Brooklyn by the name of Kaye.

Garner, Ex-Veeep, Reaches 86 Today

UVALDE, Tex., (AP)—Former Vice President John Nance (Cactus Jack) Garner, in quiet retirement here, observed his 86th birthday today.

He planned to celebrate it as he always does: hunting with long-time friend Ross Brumfield in the southwest Texas hills around here. "Deer better watch out," he said the other day. "I've got a keen eye."

White-haired and shrunken with age, Garner lives a placid life in his pecan tree-shaded home here, looking after his chickens and reading. He hardly ever talks politics.

BROWNWOOD, Tex., (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shore observed their 74th anniversary quietly today in their home here.

They were married Nov. 22, 1880, in the Brown County ranch home of the bride's parents. Shore is 97, his wife 93. Both are alert and keep up with happenings at home and over the world.

Last Park Personnel Taken Off Isle Royale

BOUGHTON (UP)—Isle Royale National Park was deserted today except for the animals that roam the Lake Superior wilderness island.

The 200-square-mile island was left to the wildlife when Ranger

It, the island's passenger and supply boat, transported the last group of park personnel to the mainland during the weekend.

The vessel will make one more trip to the island later this fall to make certain everything is ready for the winter months. Passenger trips to Isle Royale will be resumed next May.

FLORIDA PUMPKIN PIE—Pumpkin pie with a new twist is Orange Pumpkin Pie. Originated by a transplanted Northerner, this tangy version of the traditional favorite will be enthusiastically received for Thanksgiving Day dessert.

Florida Magic Transforms Pie

Something different for Thanksgiving, yet close enough to the traditional fare—that's Florida Pumpkin Pie.

When a cook who was brought up in New England moved to Florida, she experimented with her pumpkin pie recipe. The result was this unusual and delicious version.

Florida Orange Pumpkin Pie

1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1-16 teaspoon cloves
1 tablespoon molasses
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup evaporated milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 nine-inch unbaked pastry shell

Combine pumpkin, sugar, salt, spices, molasses, orange rind, orange juice and evaporated milk. Stir in eggs; turn into pastry shell.

Bake in 425-degree oven 15 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 35 minutes longer, or until tip of knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Flavorful Peppers Stuffed With Salmon

Try this flavorful way of stuffing peppers with salmon.

Salmon-stuffed Green Peppers

4 large green peppers
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon tabasco sauce
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 egg (beaten)
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup finely diced celery
1-16 can salmon
2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)

Wash peppers. Cut out stem; cut slice from top to make straight edge; dice slices. Remove seeds from peppers.

Cover peppers with boiling water; cook five minutes; drain.

Mix mayonnaise, lemon juice, tabasco, mustard and egg; mix in 1 cup of the bread crumbs and salt. Add to celery, salmon and diced green pepper.

Fill peppers; stand upright in baking pan or casserole. Place in oven; add one half cup hot water to pan.

Bake in 400 degree oven 20 cup bread crumbs and melted butter; sprinkle on top of peppers last 15 minutes of baking time.

Makes four servings.

Canned Pot Pies Solve Mother's Lunch Problems

Are you mothers perplexed again for an easy answer to the perennial schooltime question—what to fix as a nourishing, hot meal for hungry Sister and Junior when they hurry home at noon-time?

This fall there is a convenient and appetizing new answer—a complete, well-balanced meal packaged in a modern can. It is a complete beef (or chicken) pot pie that needs no refrigeration and is large enough to serve two or three healthy children.

Each pie contains over a pound of carefully selected beef or chicken in tender chunks, wholesome potatoes, carrots and peas, rich gravy and seasonings, all enclosed in dough which bakes into a golden, flaky top and bottom crust.

Preparation is so simple that older children could prepare their own lunch. The can is opened with any wall-type or hand-twist can opener.

Then it is popped into a 450-degree oven for 30 minutes of baking. And lunch is ready to be served direct from the attractive pie-pan can.

Mother likes this modern-day meal because it doesn't dirty any pots or pans, and this easy-to-fix meal can be served for dinner too.

More Meats Added to Youngster's Diet

With the addition of pork to both the strained and junior meat lines and veal and chicken to the strained, your baby now has as much variety flavorwise as the rest of the family.

For he has specially packed for him in 3 1/2-ounce glass jars a most tempting array of beef, beef heart, liver, liver and bacon, lamb, and now pork, veal and chicken. There's a different flavor for every day of the week—even Sunday!

Nutritionwise he's really taken care of, too! For these new meats are packed with bone-and-muscle-building proteins and anemia-preventing iron. Since baby's demand for both these properties is higher in proportion to weight than that of an adult, these are mighty important foods.

Check with your doctor about feeding your baby these different varieties of meats, then stock up on those convenient, vacuum-sealed jars that you can find on your grocer's shelf. Open, heat and feed—that's all there is to treating your young son or daughter to health and happiness.

And, to round out the meal for the toddler, try junior green beans and potatoes. It's also new!

Mandarin Applesauce Pairs With Roast Pork

Mandarin Applesauce
1 1/2 to 2 cups applesauce (home-cooked or canned)
1 11-ounce can mandarin oranges
1 1/2 tablespoons finely diced preserved ginger

Mix applesauce, well-drained mandarin oranges and ginger. Serve with roast pork.

Sage Spices Up Soup

A pinch of sage added to canned split-pea soup makes a dish fit for the gods. Taste and add more sage if you like. Canned Manhattan clam chowder benefits by the sage treatment, too. So do canned vegetable soups.

'Scrod' Refers to Small Fish of Several Kinds

Have you ever wondered what manner of fish "scrod" is, or puzzled over the variation in spelling, "schrod"? The National Fisheries Institute's explanation is very interesting.

To a fisherman, scrod is any groundfish (cod, haddock, cusk, hake, pollock) which weighs less than 2 1/2 pounds. Boston restaurateurs seem to prefer baby haddock for their scrod, while New York eating places usually serve young cod.

As for "schrod," Boston's Parker House originated the term many years ago when they served small haddock, using fresh parts only, no bones—the forerunner of the fillets with which we are so well acquainted.

(Those were in the days, of course, before fish were filleted, packaged, frozen and shipped throughout the United States.) Because scrod is caught when so very young, it is especially tender and flaky when cooked. In fact, many people consider broiled scrod the ultimate in gourmet fish cookery.

Broiled Scrod

Cut scrod in serving-size portions. Sprinkle both sides with salt and pepper and brush with melted butter or other fat. Preheat broiler at top heat for 10 minutes.

Place pieces of fish on preheated greased broiler pan or on aluminum foil about 2 inches from source of heat. Brush fish with fat once or twice during the cooking process, but do not turn.

Broil five to eight minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve immediately with lemon wedges and lemon, parsley or tartar sauce or with herb butter.

Creamed Turkey Hints

Ways to serve creamed turkey are unlimited. Try it over baked or mashed potatoes, on buttered noodle nests, on crisp shoestring potatoes or Chinese noodles, over biscuits or cornbread.

Shirred Eggs Take to Varied Treatment

Here are some unusual ways of serving shirred eggs.

Spoon cheese sauce into shallow individual baking dishes. Break one or two eggs over the sauce in each dish. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven until eggs are firm—15 to 20 minutes.

Sprinkle eggs with salt. Garnish each dish with a sprig of watercress pulled through a thin carrot ring, if desired. Serve with thin crisp triangles of buttered toast for lunch or supper.

Butter shallow individual baking dishes. Pour a tablespoon of heavy cream into each dish; arrange one-fourth cup thin strips of ready-prepared fully cooked smoked tongue over cream. Break one or two eggs over the tongue in each dish.

in slow (325 degrees) oven until eggs are set—15 to 20 minutes.

Garnish each dish with a sprig of parsley; serve at once with a tossed green salad and crusty hot French bread for lunch or supper.

Spoon tomato sauce into shallow individual baking dishes. Break one or two eggs over sauce in each dish. Sprinkle eggs with grated cheddar cheese.

Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven until eggs are set—15 to 20 minutes. Put a spoonful of hot drained cooked green peas at the side of eggs; serve at once for lunch or supper.

Shrimp All Prepared

Food news: You can buy frozen shrimp that have been graded, peeled, deveined and put into 8-ounce packages. Handy to have on hand to use for a shrimp cocktail as a first course. Or heat the shrimp with a can of stewed tomatoes and serve over rice as a main course.

Salad Combines Fruit Favorites

Here's a sparkling and colorful salad that fairly sings of Thanksgiving for it pairs two traditional feast day fruits, fresh spicy red apples and bright, crackling crisp cranberries.

The cherry-flavored gelatin picks up the individual flavors and the raw cranberry and apple combination provides excellent texture contrast. For best results select a good eating apple variety like the red Delicious that's tender and juicy.

And, though most stores carry pre-packaged cranberries, it's still wise to check for defined color and crispness.

While the salad is chilling in the refrigerator, cover the mold with waxed paper to prevent the top drying. To unmold, loosen the edge with a small knife and quickly immerse to the top of the mold in lukewarm water.

Do not use hot water as this may melt the gelatin. Shake the mold gently to loosen gelatin, then place a serving dish over the top, invert and lift off carefully.

Cranberry-Apple Salad
1 cup water
1 package cherry flavored gelatin
1 cup orange juice
2 cups raw cranberries
Rind of 1 orange
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup chopped pecans
2 red Delicious apples
1 cup sugar

Heat water to boiling and pour over gelatin. Stir until dissolved. Cool, then stir in orange juice and chill until mixture is syrupy.

While gelatin is cooling, run cranberries and orange rind through food chopper, using a fine blade. Cut unpeeled red Delicious apples into small bite-sized pieces and add nuts and sugar. Combine with cranberry mixture and fold into slightly thickened gelatin.

Spoon into 1 1/2-quart mold. Chill until firm in the refrigerator. Unmold and garnish with crisp salad greens. If desired, center of ring may be filled with cottage cheese. Serves eight.

Leftover Turkey Adopts Regal Air

There can never be too many recipes that suggest ways of using leftover poultry. At this time of the year they are especially welcome. The following one is a simple and appetizing way of serving turkey or chicken.

Turkey a la King in Rolls
3 cups cooked turkey, diced
1/2 cup turkey fat or butter
2 tablespoons minced onion
6 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1/2 cup turkey broth or chicken bouillon
1 can dried, cooked celery
3 tablespoons of pimiento, cut in strips
6 buns or long rolls

Cut up leftover cooked or canned turkey into 1/2-inch cubes, removing fat and gristle. Melt fat in saucepan. Add onion and cook over low heat five minutes; do not allow to brown.

Add flour and seasoning and blend. Add milk and broth gradually and cook over low heat stirring constantly until thick and smooth.

Add celery, pimiento and diced turkey.

Split rolls, remove soft centers and fill with hot turkey a la king. Garnish with parsley and serve immediately. Serves six. (Chicken may be substituted for turkey.)

THANKSGIVING COOK—Mrs. Lee Kremer of Dwight avenue has a sure way with a pie. Her family has pumpkin pie often during the fall and winter months, and it is definitely on the menu for Thanksgiving Day. Mrs. Kremer is representative of all women who will gather their families together for the harvest feast of Thanksgiving.

Busy With Holiday Cooking

Mrs. Kremer Exemplifies the Role of Homemakers

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Stories in a newspaper are often written about the unusual and the different happening. But

Use Short Cuts to Roast Turkey

Golden roasted turkey is the focal point of the Thanksgiving feast, the traditional choice of this special family day.

Even though dinner is an elaborate one, make it easy to prepare by taking advantage of all of the modern short cuts provided by food manufacturers.

The turkey itself will be easier to prepare this year with the introduction on the market of the tuckered, "butter-bird" birds in both the regular and small grown Beltsville styles.

When purchased, the legs of these plump-breasted birds are tucked through a cut in the loose skin below the tip of the breastbone.

When the bird is thawed, pull the legs back, stuff through the ready-cut opening and, instead of the old-fashioned sewing and trussing operation, simply tuck the legs back into the opening and the bird is ready for the oven.

Equally easy is the roasting of the bird. The clear wrapping in which the birds are wrapped when purchased carries complete instructions.

Simply place the bird breast side up on a rack in an open pan. A meat thermometer inserted in the heavy thigh muscle next to the body is the most accurate indication of doneness.

Roast the bird in a 325-degree oven until the thermometer registers 190 degrees or until the drumstick feels soft when the thickest part of the meat is pressed. Because the bird is hot, it is well to protect your fingers with a cloth or paper when using this test.

Add Nutmeg and Cloves for Spicy Pie Crust

Here's a new twist for pastry: Add one-fourth teaspoon ground nutmeg and one-eighth teaspoon ground cloves to a package of pie crust mix; make up and roll out as usual. Use this spicy pastry with a fresh apple or fresh pear filling, sweetening the apples or pears with sugar and pointing up their flavor with a little grated lemon rind and lemon juice.

To step up milk consumption, use more dry milk solids in cooking foods, and in preparing frozen milk shakes and other milk drinks.

Turkey Mexicali Richly Spiced

The Aztecs were eating turkey on golden platters when the conquistadors arrived, as well as drinking chocolate out of golden goblets. So when Thanksgiving rolls around, let us not forget what we owe those noble—not savages, but most highly civilized gentlemen.

There follows a recipe which includes both turkey and chocolate, which some of you may think is going too far; but before you make up your mind, taste it!

This chocolate sauce, called mole, is one of the most justly famous of Mexican dishes, served with turkey, chicken and pork, and this adaptation is guaranteed both to mystify and enchant your friends and relations.

Turkey Mexicali
1/2 green pepper
2 cloves garlic
1 square grated chocolate
1/2 cup almonds
2 slices enriched yeast-raised bread
1 tablespoon chili powder
2 tomatoes
2 teaspoons sesame seeds
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of cloves
Dash of cinnamon
Dash of pepper
1/2 cup shortening
2 1/2 cup turkey stock or consommé
Leftover turkey (enough for 4)

Grind pepper, garlic, chocolate, almonds, bread and tomatoes. Season with chili powder, sesame seeds, salt, cloves, cinnamon and pepper. Melt shortening in skillet, add ground ingredients and cook, stirring occasionally, 15 minutes; stir in stock.

Add turkey; cover. Cook over low heat about 1 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Serves four.

Mince Bavarian Cream Will End Meal on Light Note

Mince Bavarian Cream is a dessert with year-round appeal. Deftly molded, well-chilled and garnished to delight the eye, it is as useful to grace a midwinter menu as it would be to add cool charm to a hot weather dinner.

Whatever the season, this dessert is an easy one, for it is made with a prepared fruit-flavored gelatin dessert and packaged condensed mince.

Instead of whipped cream, whipped evaporated milk can be depended on to make a light, fluffy pudding.

As dessert for your Thanksgiving prove not only appropriate but unusual.

Mince Bavarian Cream
1 3-ounce package lemon or orange flavored gelatin dessert
1 1/2 cups hot water
2-3 cup prepared mince
1 cup heavy cream, whipped or 2-3 cup evaporated milk, whipped
Break one 9-ounce package

mince into pieces in saucepan. Add three-quarters cup water.

Give Crust Character

For a pie crust with a brand new character, add 3 tablespoons of poppy seeds to a basic graham cracker pie crust mixture. The crisp, delicately flavored seeds blend well with the cracker crumbs. Makes a really wonderful party pie!

ter. Place over heat. Stir until lumps are broken.

Boil briskly for one minute. Cool. Yield: 1 1/3 cups.

Prepare gelatin dessert, following directions on package, using 1 1/2 cups hot water. Stir in pre-gelatin mixture brings to set.

Fold in whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk. Pour into 1 1/2 quart mold. Chill until firm. If desired, serve with whipped cream.

Layered Casserole Perfect for Potluck

Casserole dishes are ever the cook's friend. Here's a simple combination that's put together in layers—whole kernel corn, ground beef mixture, sliced tomatoes, topped with buttered crumbs.

Serve this casserole at a buffet affair, or take along to your next potluck supper.

Beef Vegetable Casserole
 1 pound ground beef
 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
 1 cup chopped onion
 1 green pepper, sliced
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1 No. 1 can whole kernel corn, drained
 4 tomatoes, sliced
 1 cup buttered bread crumbs

Brown onion and green pepper in lard or drippings for three minutes. Season. Remove from heat.

Place one-half of corn in the bottom of a 2-quart casserole. Add half of the meat mixture and then a layer of sliced tomatoes. Repeat layers. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs.

Bake in a slow oven (300) for 40 minutes. Six servings.

Add a little grated orange rind to buttered beets for piquant flavor.

Mighty Midget Threatens Giant Gobbler's Standing

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)—That great big old turkey gobbler who struts his stuff at Thanksgiving time and Christmas had better watch out.

A mighty midget threatens to cut him down, if not for the holiday boards, certainly for the off-holiday trade which just doesn't go for Tom Turkey in his normal huge proportions.

Turkey growers, unhappy at this strictly seasonal demand for their product, have developed the small Beltsville white turkey which is expected to bring some real competition for the year-round poultry trade.

This white turkey now scales from 11 to 17 pounds for tom turkeys and 8 to 9 pounds for hens. But the goal of the turkey trade is to shrink this turkey to 4 or 5 pounds so that it will be a real rival to chicken.

William T. Geurts, president of the Oregon Turkey Improvement Association, said growers are using high energy feed to give this midget turkey a mature flavor at the age of 15 to 17 weeks.

The birds, he said, would be ideal to sell as fryer turkeys, cutups or packaged for quick frozen markets.

In this way, Geurts believes, housewives will become accustomed to purchasing turkey the year 'round.

The turkey association executive boasts that turkey is the one product that has not increased in price over the last 10 years.

According to Geurts, turkey

Serve 'Snap' Dinner on Thanksgiving Eve

Nov. 24, the day before Thanksgiving, is your busy day. So make things as easy as possible for yourself by serving a "snap" dinner.

Lean on frozen beef pies, which the family will consider a treat, and round out the main course with baked potatoes. Start baking the potatoes about 15 minutes before it's time to put the beef pies in the oven and they'll be ready to serve at the same time.

Tomato juice for an appetizer and instant pudding for dessert (which one of the children can prepare) will make it a cinch to satisfy everyone.

Cheese Is Valuable Food for Either Young or Old

Cheese has proved to be a very important part of our daily diets. For last year the average American consumed over 7 pounds of cheese. Since cottage cheese is not included in this, the per capita consumption of cheese in the United States is 7.5 pounds or more per year.

Most any cheese that was originally made in far off places and imported can now be produced in this country because cheese makers in the U. S. have been able to reproduce successfully virtually all foreign types through the adoption of carefully controlled scientific processes.

America leads the world today in making fine cheeses which when represented by name include 400 different varieties.

When cheese is cooked, keep the heat low, for it needs not enough heat to melt and blend with other ingredients. High heat or too long a cooking time makes cheese tough and stringy instead of smooth and creamy.

When dry heat is used, as for example oven baking, prolonged heat or high temperatures will cause leatherness. Add cheese to other ingredients in small pieces rather than in one large lump so that it will spread more evenly and cook in a shorter time.

In making cheese sauce add the pieces of cheese just at the last and cook only until the cheese is melted.

The majority of cheeses have extra flavor when served at room temperature. Because of this, remove the amount to be served from the refrigerator at least half an hour ahead of serving time. It is easier to grate cheese when it is cold.

Keep cheese wrapped tightly either in two layers of waxed paper or one layer of waxed paper and one of aluminum foil or in any other airtight container or wrapper. To prevent transference of flavors when highly flavored and mild cheeses are stored at the same time, wrap each kind separately.

The cooler the temperature at which cheese is stored, the longer it will keep without changes in texture, flavor, etc. Packaged process cheese can be stored in the original wrapper if it is carefully opened.

Cheese spreads in jars can be covered with the original caps. Small pieces of leftover cheese can be grated together and stored in a covered jar where they will be handy to use.

Since it takes 10 pounds of milk to produce one pound of cheese, most of the food nutrients found in milk are found to a more highly concentrated degree in cheese.

Protein for building and repairing body tissues, vitamin A for healthy eyes and skin, and calcium and phosphorus for strong bones and teeth are present in abundance in cheese.

Cheese is one of man's most versatile foods, and its uses extend from hors d'oeuvres to desserts. It may be served alone or as an extender for bland foods or as a seasoning.

The flavor and digestibility of cheese along with its high nutritive value and economy help make it a valuable food for people of all age levels.

Shortening, Oil Differ

The term "shortening" in a recipe usually refers to a 100 per cent vegetable, or animal and vegetable, fat suitable for baking. These fats are semi-solid rather than liquid. It's not a good practice to use oil in a recipe tested for use with a solid shortening.

Careful Planning Insures Success of Potluck Meal

Unriddle this riddle. If too many cooks spoil the broth, how can many hands make light work and a good meal?

Clue: Too many cooks don't spoil the broth if each cook has her own special "broth" to make.

Solution: A planned carry-in supper.

Careful planning insures cooperation without duplication, and the lack of it is apt to lead to a table laden with chocolate cakes and nothing else. Actually it isn't difficult to decide how much of each kind of food will be needed and assign accordingly.

So much for planning. Now to cooking. Some foods aren't portable, and therefore aren't suitable, but it's surprising how many are. Even hot soup, if you please, will travel in a thermos jug.

Baked Alaska may be out, but ice cream lasts beautifully with the help of dry ice. A little chipped ice, well dispersed, will keep salad greens crisp and fresh till dressing is added—at the last possible moment.

Hot foods wrapped in several layers of aluminum foil (dull side out) will stay hot for an amazing length of time.

It's just a wee bit safer, though, to take something that's good piping hot or not—something like Individual Mock Ham Loaves. And soft moist, spicy cookies do make better sense for this sort of affair than lemon meringue pie.

Individual Mock Ham Loaves

2 cups oven-popped rice cereal
 1 1/2 pounds ground fresh pork
 1 1/2 cups (12-ounce can) spiced luncheon meat, ground
 2 eggs
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
 18 whole cloves

Crush rice cereal into fine crumbs. Combine pork, luncheon meat, eggs, pepper, ground cloves and cereal crumbs, mix thoroughly. Shape into 6 individual loaves. Insert 3 whole cloves into top of each loaf.

Combine brown sugar, prepared mustard and vinegar. Spread over each loaf. Bake in moderate 350 oven about 45 minutes. Wrap each loaf in 2 layers of aluminum foil to carry. Yield: 6 loaves.

A loaf of Vienna bread will take about 15 minutes in a hot (400 degrees) oven to heat.

Too Many Chores Spoil Thanksgiving for Hostess

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Thanksgiving is just around the corner. You are in the midst of making your food plans for the day. Please don't work too hard. There's no joy for the homemaker in a holiday if she is too worn out to enjoy the meal, her guests or her family.

I can hear you muttering to yourself, "How in heaven's name can I get a company dinner, clean the house and do all my regular chores without getting worn out?" My answer to that is to skip some of the non-essentials.

Granted you want a tidy house. But is it necessary to do a com-

French Omelet Show-Off Dish for Amateur Chef

Many a man has won fame as a cook by his mastery of the French Omelet. Creamy scrambled eggs are good fare for the bachelor cook's live-alone meal, but for guest time the omelet is show-off stuff.

Actually, a French Omelet is a most simple bit of cookery but the filling porclains the epicure.

French Omelet
Needed are 2 eggs per person; water, milk, cream or bouillon, and seasonings.

For the originator's touch, assemble a filling such as crumbled crisp bacon and mushrooms, shredded sharp cheese and snipped chives, hashed browned potatoes and thin sliced onion, cubed cooked chicken in curry sauce—to mention a few.

A heavy 8 to 10-inch skillet is a must. Combine in a bowl 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon liquid, ¼ teaspoon salt for each serving (8 eggs are maximum for an eight-inch skillet. Stir, do not beat. Empty into a heated, lightly buttered skillet.

Keep the heat low to set the eggs. Don't stir! Break big bubbles with the tip of a spatula. To let all the egg set, tilt the pan and lift the omelet at the edge to let any uncooked egg touch the skillet.

When the surface is just set, pour the hot filling over half the omelet opposite the handle of the skillet. Remove from heat.

Grasp the handle of the skillet (under, not over, the handle). Tilt the skillet, use a spatula to fold and roll the omelet over the filling and out onto a hot close-by platter.

A neat trick, this, that makes you look like an expert, yet 'tis really easy if you practice with an empty skillet and learn to coordinate the work of both hands.

Deviled Beef Patties Broiled Like Steak

Use a moderate temperature when broiling these deviled beef patties, the same as a porterhouse or sirloin steak.

This means the surface of the patties should be 2 inches from the heat for a 1-inch patty; if thicker, placed farther from heat. Likewise, it's important to follow cooking time closely.

Deviled Beef Patties
1 pound ground beef
3 tablespoons catsup
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
¼ cup fine dried bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon garlic, finely minced (if desired)

Combine all ingredients. Mix well and shape into patties. Place on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan, allowing 2 to 3 inches between heat and surface of meat.

Broil patties on one side until brown, about 10 to 12 minutes, turn, and brown on second side. Four servings.

plete fall housecleaning the week before Thanksgiving? Very few guests—even persnickety mothers-in-law—are apt to run their fingers over the tops of the doors or snoop in your closets.

Have a tidy house, certainly. But don't wear yourself out; and let the rest of the family assume some responsibility for getting their home into shipshape condition.

"But there's that big dinner to prepare," you now wail. That's where I want to make a suggestion or two that may lighten your labors.

Must you have an appetizer course? Well, all right, if you insist. But make it simple.

Serve something like fruit juice or hot tomato juice in the living room. Crisp crackers or melba toast are good nibble food; top some with cheese, serve some plain. Let your teenager take care of this course.

Once the turkey is in the oven, you can practically forget it. Get the bird ready the night before. Make the stuffing. But do not put the two things together until Thanksgiving morning. Keep chilled separately.

Why not let a plate of relishes fixed the day before and refrigerated take the place of a more formal salad? You will have cranberry sauce (from a can or made ahead of time, and that should take care of the salad section.

People are unpredictable about bread. Some families never have it with a dinner; others consider a meal as nothing without bread-stuff. If it is essential to your guests, please plan something you can make ahead of time.

I'll agree that purkin pie just has to be made the day it is eaten to be really excellent. However, there is nothing in anyone's book that says you can't make the crust ahead of time—even fit it into the pan if you like—and refrigerate it covered.

For that matter, the pumpkin pie filling can be made the same way; or you may use the frozen mixture. Mince pie improves with age, so make that a week ahead.

Do try this year to let your head save your heels and your energy. Your family will love you even more if you're a calm, rested hostess when you take your place at the Thanksgiving dinner table.

Apples Complement Mashed Rutabagas

Old-fashioned country Thanksgiving menus included mashed rutabagas or yellow turnips. Want to try them this year mixed with sliced tart apples?

Mashed Rutabagas (or yellow turnips) and Fresh Apples
3 cups sliced rutabagas
1½ cups sliced fresh tart cooking apples
1-inch boiling water in pan
¼ teaspoon each salt and sugar
1½ tablespoons margarine or butter
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper.

Cook rutabagas and apples until tender (about five minutes) in covered saucepan containing 1 inch boiling water and 1 teaspoon each, salt and sugar.

Remove from heat and mash. Add margarine and ground black pepper.

Note: Cook rutabagas in uncovered saucepan in water to cover if you object to their strong flavor.

However, more of the nutrients are lost by this method. The covered method saves food value, but the flavor is stronger.

Here's a delightful vegetable combination. Goes well with roast turkey. Makes four servings.

Snack-Filled Tomato

A hollowed-out tomato makes a pretty center for a platter of canapés. Fill the tomato with tiny pickled onions or small-size pimiento stuffed olives. Have cocktail picks at hand so guests can help themselves to onions or olives.

Spareribs Hint of Pacific Isles

Spareribs smothered in brown gravy—that's real eating! You won't want to miss one bite of the delicious meat first browned and then slowly cooked so our special seasonings can penetrate through and through. There's lots of rich brown gravy to carry its flavor through tender white rice.

Pacific Island Spareribs

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 pounds spareribs, cut in 2" pieces
2 tablespoons flour
2½ cups water
¼ cup soy sauce
1 clove garlic, minced
Dash of pepper
1 cup uncooked white rice
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups water

Melt the butter or margarine in a skillet. Dip the ribs in 3 tablespoons of the flour. Slowly brown on both sides. Lift the ribs out of the skillet.

Remove the skillet from the heat and blend 3 tablespoons of flour into the fat. Cook stirring constantly, until the mixture bubbles.

Remove the skillet from the fire and slowly blend in the water. Add the soy sauce, garlic and pepper. Place the browned ribs in the gravy. Cover and cook slowly for 40 minutes.

About 25 minutes before the ribs finish cooking, put the rice, salt and water in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible.

Cover and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from heat, but leave lid on for 10 minutes.

Serve the spareribs and gravy over the cooked rice and garnish with pineapple slices or chunks, if desired. This recipe makes six servings.

Ground Beef, Spaghetti Rate Family's Cheers

Sizzling browned ground beef and spaghetti are a champion team for supper. And this meal team gets a cheer from you if you're hustling to be ready for holiday season.

Keep cans of spaghetti in tomato sauce on hand for this dish. To start, brown one-half pound beef and a diced green pepper or some diced celery in a skillet. Add two cans of the spaghetti (about 4 cups). Heat well.

Season the mixture with chili powder if you like—try about 1 teaspoon of it. The spaghetti team goes well with a crisp salad of sliced apples.

Add Zest to Glazed Yams

Give interesting flavor to glazed sweet potatoes by adding a little ground ginger to the syrup in which the potatoes are simmered.

Orange Adds Zest to Candied Potatoes

When you candy your sweet potatoes for your Thanksgiving dinner, try this recipe. It adds orange rind and juice as well as ground cloves to the regular ingredients.

Spicy Candied Sweet Potatoes
4 medium-sized sweet potatoes
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon fresh orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
3 tablespoons margarine or butter

Peel and cut potatoes in half lengthwise. Place flat side down in skillet with water and salt.

Simmer, covered, till tender—about 15 minutes. Combine remaining ingredients except margarine or butter. Pour over potatoes.

Dot with margarine or butter. Simmer, uncovered, 15 to 20 minutes or till well glazed. Taste frequently with syrup. Serves four.

Rosy Cranberries Glow in Fluffy Thanksgiving Pie

Well, here it is again—the sizzle of roasting turkey, the spicy stuffing, the rosy-red cranberries and the all-pervading accent of coffee. (Coffee pots come in for some heavy work on Thanksgiving Day.)

There'll be a great bowl of shaggy mums on the table and a fire in the hearth. Isn't it a wonderful thing to have so much to be thankful for?

Speaking of cranberries, there are few berries that can equal them for sharply delicious, distinctive flavor. This being so, it's a shame to limit them to cranberry sauce, however important and honored an accessory that may be.

With cranberries so plentiful just now, so fully and beautifully ripe, they deserve a course of their own at least on this one day. Give your family a special treat with Cranberry Chiffon Pie, an airy, light pie that still retains the full, delectable cranberry flavor.

Here's one dessert that's incredibly quick and easy to make—a great asset on such a busy day. Only the pie shell needs to be baked. The filling can be whipped up in a jiffy.

After being subjected to thorough chilling, it emerges from the icebox with a lower layer of glowing berries and an upper

For Seafood Dressing

Mix a couple of tablespoons of French dressing with half a cup of mayonnaise; add chili sauce or catsup, Worcestershire sauce and prepared horseradish to taste. Serve with a seafood salad.

Fill a tomato aspic ring with creamed cottage cheese sprinkled with chives or parsley. Surround the ring with lettuce cups and deviled eggs. Serve for lunch with a hot soup and crisp rolls and butter.

layer of frothy, bright pink gelatin. Snowy whipped cream tops it off. Your family will vow they never tasted anything so good, nor more suited to the occasion.

When you bring on the pie, bring on also your prettiest server full of freshly made coffee, to put a fragrant finish to the feast. And don't forget that, on occasions such as this, there'll be many a clarion call for seconds—so make plenty!

Cranberry Chiffon Pie

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
2 cups 10-minute cranberry sauce*
1 9-inch baked pie shell
1 cup whipping cream

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Drain cranberry sauce thoroughly and add syrup, reserving berries. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Beat until light and fluffy. Fold in cranberries and turn into pie shell. Chill until firm. Top with whipped cream.

10-Minute Cranberry Sauce
Combine 1 cup sugar and 1 cup water in saucepan. Bring to boil, stirring until sugar dissolves. Add 2 cups cranberries and simmer until the berries burst open, about 10 minutes.

A new hard sauce that complements plum, prune, fig or date steamed puddings is this Lemonade Hard Sauce. You make it with frozen concentrate for lemonade.

Originally frozen lemonade was used only for beverages, but now so many cooking uses have been discovered that families keep it in the freezing section of the refrigerator or in the freezer all year 'round.

You can make this Lemonade Hard Sauce far ahead, form it into balls or rolls, and keep it in your refrigerator in waxed paper. Decorate with cloves or maraschino cherries.

Plan now to make some and have it on hand for holiday entertaining.

Lemonade Hard Sauce

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup soft butter
1 cup powdered sugar, sifted
1 tablespoon and 1 teaspoon frozen concentrate for lemonade (undiluted)
Cream the butter and add powdered sugar, creaming and beating until light and fluffy. Add concentrate for lemonade and beat well again. Chill slightly and mold in small balls or drop from a teaspoon on waxed paper.

Just How Much Do You Know About Coffee?

This and that about coffee: The average coffee tree yields only one pound of coffee beans per year. There are 3,500 green beans to one pound. One hundred pounds of coffee berries make only 20 pounds of green coffee beans.

Coffee is a fruit known as a cherry, the seed being the bean. Iced coffee originated in Algeria where a sweetened, cold, coffee mixture called "mazagran," is added to water or ice.

Not until 1625 did it become known that sugar had its merits in a cup of coffee. Then in 1660, the Dutch ambassador to China ingeniously thought of adding milk to his sweetened coffee.

Customers of the coffee houses in England were expected to drop coins into a brass-bound box on which were inscribed the words "To Insure Promptness." From the initial letter of these words came "TIP." This is said to be the origin of modern "tipping."

William Penn, who is generally credited with the introduction of coffee in Philadelphia, is said to have paid $4.68 a pound for it.

In 1774 a group of patriots in New York City, members of the Committee of Correspondence, gathered in the Merchant's Coffee House, and drafted a letter to a group of Boston patriots in which a union of the American Colonies was proposed. Fifteen years later the Merchant's Coffee House was decked with flags. Inside, a group of solemn men, some of whom had helped draft the letter back in 1774, arranged themselves formally in anticipation of the moment when General George Washington would ride up to the coffee house, and step down to hear official greeting which awaited him as President-elect of the U. S. A.

Coffee is approximately a $1,500,000,000 yearly business conducted through grocery outlets in the United States, and coffee represents about 4 per cent of all cash register sales of grocery stores.

Avoid Melted Butter

When you are making sandwiches for the lunch box, never use melted butter for spreading the bread before adding the spread. Melted butter has a tendency to make the bread soggy; use creamed butter or margarine instead.

Ever try adding lettuce to a hot potato salad? Use the heart of an iceberg lettuce and shred it; save the outer leaves for some other kind of salad.

Point Up Fish With Prudent Use of Herbs, Spices

There's no prettier culinary sight than a row of glass jars on a spice shelf, each with a different spice, herb or seasoning, within easy reach, of course, to use every day in all kinds of cookery.

Sometimes, it's true, we don't use herbs and spices — fascinating though they are — because there are so many kinds we don't know which to choose.

For that reason the National Fisheries Institute and the American Spice Trade Association have tabulated the following spice tips for fish cookery. These suggestions are good for any form of fish — fillets, steaks or whole fish:

Broiled fish: After the fish has been broiled, or grilled, spread it with a mixture of margarine or butter blended with ground thyme leaves, ground coriander seed, garlic or celery salt.

Baked fish: Before baking, spread the fish with buttered crumbs, seasoned with dried thyme leaves and powdered dry mustard; or brush the fish with margarine or butter and sprinkle it with curry powder.

Baked stuffed fish: Season the dressing with poultry seasoning, whole oregano leaves or celery salt.

Poached fish: Add a small bag of mixed pickling spices to the water in which you poach the fish.

Fried fish: Add garlic salt to the shortening in which the fish is fried, or season the flour in which you roll the fish prior to frying with poultry seasoning.

Creamed fish: Add a dash of chili powder or a $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon of poultry seasoning to the white sauce.

Sausage, Fried Apples Ideal for Sunday Morn

Sausage and fried apples taste wonderful for Sunday breakfast.

For an extra-pretty platter, pestle a few sprigs of parsley around the sausage and fill the center of the apple rings with a little whole cranberry sauce or a tiny round of jellied cranberry sauce.

Make Bologna Horns

Party-pretty appetizers are easily made. Put a large spoonful of cream-style cottage cheese on a slice of bologna. Roll the edges of the bologna over to make a cornucopia and fasten with a cocktail pick. Insert a couple of matchstick pieces of pickle in the center of the cornucopia.

Orange Juice Adds Appeal to Cookies

It takes no arithmetic at all to figure out what will please a hungry youngster just home from school. Cookies and milk are always welcome, of course. For ever, though, we seem to be hunting a new cookie recipe—something to ring the flavor change on a familiar item.

From the test kitchens of a fresh-frozen orange juice comes a timely suggestion for a delicious cookie. It's a golden cookie with the full, tangy flavor of fresh-frozen orange juice — easy to make, and one that stores well.

Orange Cookies

3 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon baking soda
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup shortening
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
2 large eggs, well beaten
1 can (4-oz.) fresh-frozen orange juice undiluted
Cherries, walnuts or pecans
Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and baking soda. Cream shortening and add sugar gradually, beating until mixture is light. Add well-beaten eggs and blend. Add dry ingredients alternately with undiluted fresh-frozen orange juice. Blend well.
Chill in refrigerator at least three hours. Drop from a teaspoon onto greased cookie sheet 2 or 3 inches apart. Garnish with glace cherries and nuts. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 10-12 minutes.

Remove immediately and place on cooling rack. Approximately 5 dozen cookies.

Bake Extra Potatoes for Use at Later Meal

Next time you bake potatoes, put some extra ones in the oven so you can use them for another family meal. Peel the cold baked potatoes, dice and add to a well seasoned medium cream sauce; heat on top of the range.

Sprinkle each serving with paprika and accompany with browned pork sausage links, a cooked vegetable such as peas or snap beans or a tossed green salad. Delicious for a quick lunch, or supper!

Pile Cream on Grapes

Remove seedless grapes from stems and pile in a glass serving bowl. Top with sweetened whipped cream sprinkled with freshly grated nutmeg or curls of unsweetened chocolate. To make the chocolate curls use a swivel-blade vegetable peeler and have the chocolate slightly soft.

Dot Drop Biscuits With Poppyseeds

These drop biscuits are particularly good with a creamed main dish.

Poppyseed Drop Biscuits

$\frac{1}{4}$ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup enriched corn meal
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shortening
1 tablespoon poppyseed
1 cup milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and corn meal. Stir in grated Parmesan. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in poppyseed. Add milk and mix lightly only until mixture is dampened. Drop by spoonfuls, 2 inches apart, onto greased baking sheet.

Bake in very hot (450 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 14 to 16 drop biscuits.

Sliced fruit such as bananas, apples or pears won't discolor if you coat it with pineapple juice.

Relishes Spark Holiday Feast

When you think ahead to your holiday menus, plan to add an extra festive touch with a tray of taste-inviting relishes. It's a good way to dispense with the need of a salad (welcome note for all-on-one-plate buffets and adds a decorative sparkle of its own to your table.

Here's an assortment of "nibbling food" that's fine to serve with any menu, and is quick and easy to assemble.

Arrange sardine-stuffed celery on one side of the tray, and accompany it with a tangy mound of minute corn relish. Also on the tray go wedges of chilled canned cranberry sauce, with a holiday topping of chunky cream squares.

Sardine-Stuffed Celery

1 can (3 1/2 ounces) sardines
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon pickle relish
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Celery
Drain and mash sardines. Add mayonnaise, pickle relish and lemon juice; mix well. Stuff celery with sardine filling. Makes about one-half cup filling.

Minute Corn Relish

1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn
1 cup pickle relish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon celery seed
Combine all ingredients in saucepan; simmer about 15 minutes. Chill well. Makes about 1 cup relish.

Fruit Flavors Blend in Delicious 'Trifle'

Here's a light and refreshing dessert that is nutritious, too.

Strawberry Pineapple Trifle

4 lady fingers
1 cup crushed pineapple
2 cups milk
1 package strawberry rennet powder
1 cup cream (whipped and sweetened)

Split lady fingers lengthwise; place two halves in each of four dessert glasses. Put spoonful of well-drained pineapple in each glass. Warm milk slowly until lukewarm, stirring constantly; test a drop on the inside of your wrist often. When it feels comfortably warm (110 degrees), not hot, remove at once from heat.

Stir in entire contents of package of rennet powder at one time. Mix until powder is dissolved—not over one minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, into dessert glasses.

Do not disturb while milk sets—about 10 minutes. Chill. Just before serving, garnish dessert with whipped cream.

Cranberry Whip Is Light but Festive

For a light but brilliant dessert, try this old-fashioned cranberry whip.

Cranberry Whip

Measure 3 cups fresh cranberries, washed and picked over, into saucepan. Add 1 cup water. Bring to a boil over medium heat and continue cooking until all berries pop.

Force cooked berries through a strainer. Empty one package gelatin dessert (orange flavor) into a bowl. Add three-fourths cup boiling water and stir until dissolved.

Beat three egg yolks until light. Add one fourth cup of sugar and beat in. Pour hot gelatin mixture slowly over egg yolks, stirring constantly.

Stir in one fourth teaspoon salt and strained cranberries. Chill stirring occasionally to keep mixture smooth until slightly thickened.

Beat three egg whites until foamy. Gradually add one-half cup sugar and beat in. Continue beating until mixture forms soft peaks. Fold beaten egg whites into thickened gelatin mixture. Pile into sherbet glasses. Chill until firm. If desired, top with whipped cream. Makes six to eight servings.

Pineapple Mint Filling Insures Dainty Snacks

Pineapple mint sandwiches are ideal to include on your tea tray or on a tray of hot drinks.

First remove crusts from 12 slices of bread. For the filling, mix together 1 cup of crushed pineapple, well drained, 2 tablespoons chopped mint leaves and one 3-ounce package of cream cheese. Cut sandwiches diagonally to make triangles or fingers.

Flavor Soup With Chili

The soup pots on the range these muggy fall days. Next time you have a ham bone and a package of split peas, brew up a great pot of the portenwise dish split pea soup. Flavor it with chili powder as a change.

Rosy Sherbet Contrasts With White Fruit Cup

Thanksgiving day is near! What a wonderful holiday time to serve a cool refreshing fruit cup for the first course of the best feast. All white fruit with a topping of frosty pink Cranberry Sherbet... a superb beginning for any meal.

For the fruit cup, use sliced bananas, crisp chunks of peeled apple, the tiny pale green grapes. A few of the canned pineapple chunks would be nice, too. Such a delightful combination to set off the delicate Cranberry Sherbet.

Now for the special sherbet. So frosty and luscious for any day of the year, but especially right for this Thanksgiving fruit cup.

Cranberry Sherbet
1 pound can jelled cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 egg whites beaten stiff or 1/2 cup cup heavy cream, whipped Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Add juices and rinds. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze with control at coldest setting, until sherbet is mushy.

Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites or whipped cream and continue freezing mixture until stiff. Makes six servings.

Helps healthy husbands start the day happy!

MINCE PIE WITH VARIATIONS—Here's a take-your-choice mince pie that's as decorative and delicious as it is different for the holiday feast. You may add diced apple, crushed pineapple or raisins soaked in orange juice to dress up the mincemeat.

Vary Mince Pie for Taste Treat

Did you ever try a mince pie with variations? You can keep the family happily guessing if you add first one ingredient and then another to several pies made by the standard recipe for a 9-ounce condensed package of mincemeat. You will come up with some tempting taste treats.

The 9-ounce condensed package of mincemeat makes the filling for an 8-inch pie. With the variations suggested there is enough for a generous 9-inch pie.

So if you're having a crowd for dinner, the "variation" pie has double appeal—new taste and larger size.

Whichever pie you choose, when you get it baked give it an appropriate holiday garnish by arranging candied fruits or well-drained maraschino cherries, blocks of pineapple, diced red-skinned apple, raisins and little sweet grapes in a wreath around the edge.

Mince Pie With Variations
1 9-ounce package condensed mincemeat
1 1/2 cups water
1 to 3 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 cups diced apple, or 1 1/2 cups crushed pineapple, or
1 1/2 cups raisins soaked in 1/4 cup orange juice

Break condensed mincemeat into small pieces; add water and sugar. Place over heat and stir until the lumps are thoroughly broken. Boil briskly for one minute. Cool.

Add any of the fruits listed. Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry, fill with mincemeat mixture. Moisten the edge of the crust with water, cover with top crust.

Press edges together, cut slits in center of upper crust and brush with milk. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 30 minutes, or until golden brown.

Easy Friday Supper
Stars Broiled Shrimp
Easy Friday night supper: Dip shelled cleaned shrimps in a barbecue sauce and broil. Open a can of potato sticks and heat while the shrimp are broiling; make a big salad and have plenty of rolls on hand.

For dessert? A bowl of fruit and cookies made from a mix.

Creamy Fudge Deserves Teener's Lavish Praise

"Truly divoon" was a teenager's feet fudge, much more professional comment after generously sampling Marshmallow Cream Fudge. "Truly divine" is only one of many superlatives that might be applied to making fudge this brand-new way.

You know that creamy, velvety texture that characterizes really wonderful, professional fudge? Well, this fudge has it. And it gets it by using a jar of marshmallow cream as a basic ingredient.

Semi-sweet chocolate morsels, the same delicious flavor that made Chocolate Crunch Cookies America's favorite, furnish the chocolate for the fudge. The delicate, lighter flavor of this distinctive chocolate makes a fudge everyone will like.

There is no special equipment needed for making this fudge. No candy thermometer. No tricky equipment. And yet you get per-over moderate heat, stirring constantly. The mixture will develop a light tan color, but this does not indicate burning. Remove from heat. Add and stir thoroughly several minutes until melted.

2 packages (2 cups) semisweet chocolate morsels
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup nutmeats, coarsely chopped (optional)

Pour into greased pan 8x8x2. Cool, then chill until firm. Cut into squares. Makes about 2 1/4 pounds.

3 Cups of Milk Daily Supply Calcium Needs
Do you include milk in your diet every day?

If you are inclined to skip this food, you might remind yourself that three cups of milk a day provide enough calcium for the body needs of a moderately active adult. This amount of milk also furnishes all the day's needs of riboflavin and at least one-third of the protein, in addition to some vitamin A, some thiamine and a small amount of iron.

Ex-Editor of Times Dies of Heart Attack

SKILLMAN, N. J. — Albert Ennis Dale, former editor of the Detroit Times as well as Hearst newspapers in Pittsburgh and Chicago, died yesterday of a heart attack on his Washington Wells farm. Dale was 64.

Dale, a veteran newsman, started his career as an Associated Press reporter in Albany, N. Y., in 1911. He resigned as editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph last Jan. 1 after suffering two heart attacks.

Dale started with the Hearst organization as managing editor of the Detroit Times in 1929 after working for newspapers in Albany and New York City.

Dale was born in Whitehall, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1870. Surviving are his widow, the former Cora Lynn A. Phillips, and two sons, Albert Ennis, 11, and William Grover, 10.

Bob Considine Says:

Inspector 'Knatch'-Wattles Revives Boer War Talk

CLEVELAND (INS) — Wrote a piece the other day about a mythical Scotland Yard man I named Inspector Knatchbull Wattles, and his hypothetical coverage of the Sheppard murder case. There was a mild sprinkle of mail. One reader thought it was in bad taste. Others found it otherwise.

Which reminds me that the late Boake Carter solved the matter of answering fan and pen mail with the same printed reply. It was a card which read: "Dear Friend: What you say may very well be right. In the form letter he enclosed when returning the manuscripts of struggling playwrights and novelists. This letter deserves to be read, I have read your script and much like it."

All of which is an involved way of backing into a letter I received after the piece about the non-existent Inspector Knatchbull Wattles. I had said in the piece—and I assumed jokingly—that Knatch and I had been buddies in the war, the Boer War.

Well, sir, hear this: "Dear Mr. Considine," wrote Rev. Duncan Black (ret.) of Santa Rosa, Calif. "I was with General Gatacre's division but went through with Kelly Kennels and on with another through to Pretoria."

"I would be glad to hear from you as you are the only one I have read about being there. Perhaps you are the young man I had an argument with regarding General Gatacre's mistakes."

"Of course, time has made its mark upon us both since then. I am now in my 90th year."

"With kindest regards and hope, to hear from you," etc.

Reverend, I wish I had gone through to Pretoria with you and your brave band, which may have included a young war correspondent named Winston Churchill. But I wasn't around. I was a 4-F in that one. Wish

Pan-American Nations Meet

U. S. Assistance Policy Toward Latins May Draw Fire at Confab

QUINTANDINHA, Brazil, — Twenty-one American nations met here today for an economic conference that is expected to bring U. S. policy toward her Latin neighbors under heavy fire.

Statements expressing hemispheric solidarity were heard on all sides as the 250 delegates and experts to the Inter-American Economic Conference gathered at this hill resort 40 miles from Rio de Janeiro, but the United States, key country in all major economic and financial projects, already has indicated that she would go only a short way toward meeting the demands other nations were preparing.

Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, chief of the U. S. delegation, arrived last night. He said the United States already "has shown its desire in many ways" to work with her hemisphere partners to develop their power, transportation and trade.

Other delegates withheld criticism until the U. S. position was made known officially, but there was mounting sentiment that the United States is neglecting her Latin partners in apportioning her aid funds around the world.

The Latin Americans here are seeking a system of higher, stabilized prices for their products and greater capital investments. Washington has served notice at various times it does not desire to undertake any international system of price fixing, including stockpiling.

Curfew Siren Awakes Early-to-Bed Oldsters

CEDAR CITY, Utah — Early-to-bed oldsters complain they're losing sleep because of Cedar City's new curfew law.

It says that kids under 15 must be off the streets by 11 p.m. And to let them know, city fathers mark the curfew hour each night by letting go with the town fire siren.

Last May, four-year-old Richard Haller (in middle above) knocked a pot of boiling water off the kitchen stove. His entire left arm, part of chest and side were badly scalded. Richard spent 58 days in the hospital recovering.

Richard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haller of 6800 Abington, Detroit, agree that "Blue Cross - Blue Shield is the best investment we ever made. We'd surely have been hard-pressed to pay our hospital and doctor bills without it."

Sudden serious accident . . . 58 days in the hospital!
Blue Cross paid $1,403.55 . . . the entire hospital bill . . .
and Blue Shield covered $332.00 in doctor bills.
Does your family have protection like this?

Only BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD Offers so Much Protection for Your Dollar

YOUR family's chance of a hospital bill within a year is 1 in 3

MRS. NONA LAMBLY, 9023 Marquette, Detroit: "I was hospitalized 23 days in August, with a total bill of $654.80. Blue Cross paid every bit of it in full, and in addition, Blue Shield paid my entire $82.00 doctor bill. Don't know what I'd have done if it hadn't been for Blue Cross - Blue Shield protection."

MR. GIUSEPPE PAS-SALACQUA, 4501 St. Clair, Detroit: "Pneumonia put me in the hospital for 46 days last March. My total bill was $1,435.39. Blue Cross paid the hospital in full and Blue Shield paid $203.50 to my doctor. It would have been a real hardship without Blue Cross - Blue Shield."

CHARLES FALZON, 7252 Senator, Detroit, a 17-year-old student, was stricken last August with Rheumatic Fever. His hospital bill for 26 days was $519.50. "We paid only $10.00 of that amount," his parents say. "Blue Cross - Blue Shield coverage is the best investment you can make."

MRS. GEORGINA ROTH, 16051 George, Highland Park, was hospitalized 75 days this year with Multiple Sclerosis and 3rd degree burns. Hospital costs totaled over $3,200.00. "We paid only $86.00 of it," says Mrs. Roth. "Blue Cross - Blue Shield protection is priceless!"

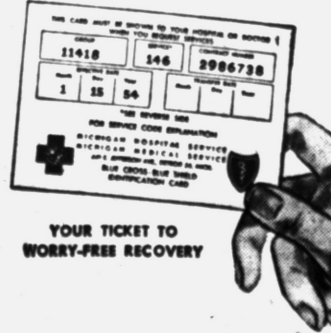

You won't know until it happens how big your next hospital bill will be. And you don't have to know, if you have Blue Cross protection. Because Blue Cross pays off in hospital services . . . not limited cash payments, which often are far too limited to cover your bill.

Hospital Service Protection . . . When you go to the hospital, you always need more services than just room and board. You may need oxygen, operating room, drugs and medicines. Charges for these can run to thousands of dollars. With Blue Cross these hospital services are automatically yours and no worry about the bill. This protection is extended to every enrolled member of your family equally, in participating hospitals having more than 99% of the general hospital beds in Michigan.

Doctor Bill Protection . . . Your doctor can generally tell you how much your bill will be. But, you rarely know when you'll have one to pay . . . and that's why you need protection. Blue Shield offers you protection against the cost of unexpected doctor bills for surgical and in-hospital medical care.

You can't buy finer protection . . . the people you see on this page could tell you that. So could more than 3,000,000 other Michigan people who have it. Chances are that many of your neighbors have this protection! If you still wonder how much you need Blue Cross - Blue Shield, see if they don't agree there is no finer protection at any price. For details about enrollment, write or call your nearest Blue Cross - Blue Shield Office.

Pontiac Hunters Bag Deer at Alcona County Camps

WOODSMAN—Trying his hand with a gas-powered chain saw is Bob Eldred, executive vice president of the Community National Bank here. Eldred, a member of the Ten Buck Club, did his sawing at the club's camp in Alcona County.

READIES RIFLE—Pontiac's Dr. George Petroff sights in a 300 Magnum rifle preparatory to starting on his hunt for an elusive buck. Dr. Petroff did his hunting from Alcona County's Sleepy Hollow Camp.

Sharp-Eyed Britisher Makes Fortune on Other Peoples' Written Miscues

UP Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Nov. 22. — (UP) — "Stradivarius violin for sale cheap. Almost new."
Denys Parsons, who knows that one man's misprint can be another's fortune, neatly extracted that newspaper advertisement from the collection written for him by the fumbling fingers of writers and printers the world over.
A lean and cynical Briton with a sharp eye for errors that creep into modern publications, Parsons had twice before made the best seller lists with his books on "garbles."

Parsons considers a "garble" any misprint or unwieldy grammar which gives a sentence an effect not intended by the writer.
He finds them even in his own correspondence — like this note from a tailor:
"You may imagine it is impossible to obtain a serviceable suit at this price. Buy one from us and be convinced."
Parsons likes all garbles, but he has a few strong favorites. One of them is this letter to a London newspaper:
"Mr. Jones is wrong to suggest that I support the rich against the poor. To the Christian there is no class distinction — that idea was largely concocted by the working classes."
He also treasures:
"The font so generously presented by Mrs. Smith will be set in position at the end of the church. Babies may now be baptized at both ends."
And this weather report:
"Tomorrow we may expect strong northeast winds reaching a gal in exposed places."
And this advertisement:
"Don't kill your wife with work. Let electricity do it."

Actress Pier Angeli Nervous as Wedding Date Nears

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Pier Angeli becomes the year's No. 1 Hollywood bride Wednesday at an elaborate, formal wedding—but today, like any bride-to-be, she sighed girlishly. "I hope it's the right thing!"
Pier and singer Vic Damone will precede that other MGM actress-crooner combination, Debbie and Eddie, with a Catholic church wedding also featuring Gordon MacRae and a 40-voice choir and 700 guests.
"I'm a little nervous," smiled Pier when I caught up with her between fittings on her white chiffon Juliet-style wedding gown in designer Helen Ross' MGM offices.
"Every morning when I get up, I think, oh, I hope it's the right thing."

But then the pixie-ish actress added, "I'm getting married only once. So I want everything in my trousseau from Rome, except for my wedding dress."
The beautiful Italian actress, to the surprise of most of Hollywood and apparently sometimes herself, became engaged to Damone last month.
She had been the steady date first of Kirk Douglas and then of English actor James Dean.
Damone was a sometime date of Pier's years ago but more recently he had courted other actresses, including Pier's sister, Marissa Pavan.
"Vic used to come over to our house to help us with the dishes," said Pier. "He was a friend of the family."

U.S. 'Must Not' Let Reds Take China Coast Islands

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said Saturday the United States "must not permit Nationalist-held islands off the China coast to fall to the Communists, lest this open the way for a Red assault on Formosa."

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, spoke out in an interview after the official Chinese Nationalist News Agency had reported the Reds had moved a paratroop division into position for possible attack against Nationalist outposts off the coast.

The Californian said he does not believe this country can brook any Communist advance into the Pacific.

Knowland said he felt that if the Chinese Communists were aware this country would fight to defend other islands," he said. "But if it should develop that the Communists are mounting a major effort to move out into the Pacific and seize these outposts for an assault on Formosa, we must not permit them to fall."

"Any movement of the Communists out into the Pacific would not be to the advantage of our interests. Theoretically, of course the loss of the island of Quemoy and the Tachens would not necessarily be a fatal blow to Formosa. But the psychological advantage the Communists would gain all over the world would be tremendous."

Knowland said he believed that the Chinese Communists were aware this country would fight to defend

Grant Couple's Petition for New Moving Plan

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Here's one way to leave town.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Volkmer petitioned to have their residence, located at the edge of the village of Waverly, Neb., de-annexed from the village. They contended the property was an "isolated extension" of the city limits and that they were paying village taxes without deriving village benefits.

The Waverly Board of Trustees and Lancaster District Judge Harry R. Ankeny approved.

Largest of the sea mammals, the blue whale measures about 25 feet in length at birth and may be almost 100 feet long when full-grown.

Al Lopez, manager of the Cleveland Indians, played in two All-Star games, 1934 and 1941, but in one game. Both came with the bases loaded.

In 1949 Elmer Valo of the Philadelphia Athletics hit two triplets.

Red Propaganda Even Invading Russian Calendar

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet calendar for 1955 gives the people everything from historic dates to lessons on the evils of capitalism and treating snakebite with vodka.

And all this for 4 rubles ($1 at the official rate). It comes in desk-pad form and also can be affixed to a wall holder.

The calendar is printed by the State Publishing House of Political Literature and on its small pages, only a few inches square, you can read not only how a heroic Soviet milkmaid gets her cows to produce more, but a Russian view that New York City treats its poor badly. The little calendar is political instruction for old and young in the best Marx-Leninist vein. It also has true-life adventure stories and even chess and checkers tips.

Farmers and city dwellers get instructions on sowing vegetables and cross-planting potatoes. And get crossword puzzles.

For Mama there are instructions on handling baby's laundry, cooking recipes and how to "curb children's caprices."

The recommended snakebite treatment says vodka is "even better" than boiling water for washing the wound.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

"I have endeavored in this ghostly little book to raise the Ghost of an Idea, which shall not put my readers out of humor with themselves, with each other, with the season, or with me. Your faithful friend and servant, Charles Dickens, December, 1843."

With that preface, Charles Dickens, who loved people and loved Christmas, began the story of Ebenezer Scrooge, who hated people and—strange as it sounds—hated Christmas . . .

And of Scrooge's wage slave, Bob Cratchit, who loved his little son, Tiny Tim.

Ready Market on Tap for Better Mousetrap

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—Bigger and better mousetraps was the plea at a recent Governor's Council meeting.

State Fish and Game Department officials told the executive group "mouse damage" totaled $243.95 at their experimental apple orchard at Gilford. The mice eat bark at the base of the trees causing the saplings to die, officials explained.

"Mouse guards" will be used in future experimental projects, the F&G man said.

Metal used in making every Victoria Cross, most highly prized of all British military decorations, comes from the guns captured in the Crimean War of 1854-1856.

Antique Shops Outnumber Gas Stations Two to One in Tiny Michigan Village

OSHTIMO (U) — The village of Oshtemo, which sits astride a bend of U. S. 12 west of Kalamazoo, probably is the only community in the United States where antique shops outnumber gas stations and restaurants combined.

That's a fact. This one hamlet of 210 bona fide residents has two gas stations, one restaurant, one drug store and four thriving antique shops.

Small wonder then that Oshtemo considers itself the antique capital of Michigan, and has for more than 35 years. From all over the state, and from every corner of the nation, antique collectors converge on the four shops, hunting for the spinning wheel or the rare old china they need to complete the décor of a living room furnished in antiques.

C. O. Bradfield, who operates a motel east of town, says the lure of antiques hasn't hurt business a bit either.

"We are getting almost as many antique dealers and collectors bound for Oshtemo these days as we are traveling salesmen," he says. "And they don't go away empty-handed."

Summer, the peak of the season, usually brings an occasional celebrity too. Actress Zazu Pitts dropped in last summer. Others have included Bob Crosby and James Melton, Metropolitan Opera star, who collects automobiles of ancient vintage.

Melton headed for the shop of Mrs. Grace Snyder. Her husband, Michael, is in the automobile business, but spends a good deal of time hunting antiques, especially old cars. The Snyders have a back yard full of ancient autos, including a retired bear that they use for hauling home items they've collected for sale on regular tours through the Midwest.

Another dealer, Mrs. Stephanie Cosley, specializes to a certain de-

Storm-Struck Bridge Collapses With Truck

TORONTO (U) — Weakened by recent floods, a Toronto bridge collapsed last night and tumbled a truck 20 feet into a stream. The vehicle's two youthful occupants escaped.

Driver Bruce Logan, 21, said he saw the structure sag when his truck was in the middle. "I knew I'd never make it across," he said. "so I just hung on."

The truck landed upright with a steel girder on top, wedging the doors shut. The two youths smashed a window and scrambled up the bank. They suffered severe cuts and bruises.

Sun-Powered Radio Revealed at Meeting

CHICAGO (U) — General Electric Corp. exhibited a sun-powered radio transmitter the size of a pack of cigarettes at the annual meeting of the Radio Television News Directors Assn.

A selenium converter turns sunlight into electric energy and transistors take the place of conventional electron tubes.

But the radio's effective range is only 100 feet. You can holler much farther than that.

gree in old furniture and Mrs. E. C. Heid, the veteran of the group with more than 25 years in the business, favors old glass. Ed Heid specializes in furniture but also does a good business in old copper and brass.

There's no cut-throat competition among the four dealers; in fact they're happy to have three competitors because it brings more business to town.

"Having four shops so close together is wonderful for antique collectors," says Mrs. Heid. "They can drive here from quite a distance away and browse through all our shops. It's a full day's project and they love it."

Oshtemo's antique dealers, like those everywhere, must keep on the prowl two or three days a week in a never-ending hunt for things to buy or sell. They rummage through old barns, climb into dusty attics and knock on farmhouse doors looking for bargains. They also scout shops of other dealers and attend every auction they hear of.

And once in a while the sharp eyes of these experts fail to appraise the real value of their stock.

Mrs. Heid has never forgotten a Hepplewhite table she found in a barn, bought for $3 and sold for about $150.

She thought she'd not done bad at all until she learned a few weeks later it had been resold for $1,000.

Although goose quills were most often used for pens, the quills of hawks, swans, crows, eagles, owls, peacocks and turkeys also were used.

Canadian Mercy Killers Shoot Oil-Soaked Birds

VICTORIA, B. C. (U) — Squads of shotgun-armed volunteers slaughtered more than a thousand ducks, gulls and other water birds on Victoria's beaches yesterday.

It's all an act of mercy. The birds' feathers are soaked with heavy fuel oil that spread over wide areas of water when the U. S. freighter North Beacon went aground last Tuesday. They are unable to fly. About 3,000 have been killed.

NEW LINCOLN FOR 1955

See and drive these new beauties!

New Turbo-Drive — most far-reaching advance in no-shift driving in 14 years.

New high-torque, high-output V-8 engine — for matchless performance in every range.

We've just seen the new Lincoln for 1955!

All of us have spent the last few hours just looking—and once in a while running a hand, gently, along what seem like the longest, sleekest fenders ever.

This car, in our opinion, is more than beautiful. It is everything a fine car should be—but so seldom is!

Now—come in and see for yourself. The new Lincoln styling—the new colors and fabrics—merit a long look.

And then you must—as we have—drive a new 1955 Lincoln or Lincoln Capri. Because beneath this beauty is new performance words cannot describe.

You must experience Lincoln's new

Turbo-Drive to realize how far ahead it brings driving. It gives you, for the first time in any car, ultra smoothness and instant acceleration—with neither left out for the sake of the other.

And the new Lincoln V-8 engine! You've got to feel its silky power in action to believe it. You must feel its incredible response in every driving range from start to superhighway speeds.

AND A NOTE OF URGENCY: our present shipment of new Lincolns may not be with us long. Early orders mean early deliveries.

We're looking forward to showing you this 1955 Lincoln in action.

Writer's Movie Career Ends With Her Face on the Cutting Room Floor

Guest Right on Refusing Big Portion

Didn't Want Waste of Large Serving She Couldn't Eat

By EMILY POST

A reader explains: "The other evening while visiting friends, the hostess served ice cream and cookies in the living room. The portion I received was much more than I could eat and I asked the hostess to please take some off."

My husband thought I showed very poor manners and that I should have just eaten what I could and left the rest in the dish. Wasn't it better to have some taken off rather than waste it? I would very much appreciate your opinion."

It is entirely a question of how you said it. But if it was a really over-large portion, and you said something such as, "Oh, this is too delicious to waste and I couldn't eat it all, please take some off," it was quite all right.

Dear Mrs. Post: I want very much to give a tea for about 100 people, in honor of my new daughter-in-law who is a stranger here. Please tell me about invitations and also who should receive, and whether we wear hats. Her mother will be at the party.

Write on your visiting cards "To meet Mrs. John Doe Jr." and in the lower left corner the day and time. Your daughter-in-law receives with you, and more than likely you would ask her mother if she cares to receive, especially if she is a stranger.

You and your daughter-in-law do not wear hats if the party is at home. If her mother is to receive, she would probably go without a hat, too, but as this is not a definite rule—she may wear one or not, as she prefers.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have an 8-year-old niece and my fiancé has a nephew of this same age whom we would like to include in our forthcoming wedding, but we are "stumped" as to what part they can take. My fiancé has suggested having them both walk together as a junior bridesmaid and a junior usher. Would this be proper?

It would be very unusual, but you can, of course, do what you suggest. (They would walk between the ushers and the bridesmaids.)

Double-breasted suits and coats are seen throughout the new resort and spring fashions. They suit the small bosom.

Mrs. F. C.—Time for a change from the exaggerated bustline to a more natural look. Suits and coats flow easily over the bust without waistline indentation. The minimized bustline, the double-breasted fashion is a natural.

The Philippines provide about 975,000 tons of sugar to the United States each year.

Six feet of waist, easily striped to bright colors take a nose dive. The king size skirt in winter's darkest days, spells warmth for is equally at home on the ice or the city's cold and career girl alike when thermom. streets.

13 Year Old Told She's Mixed Up

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm the happiest 13-year-old girl ever. My home is wonderful—I love my parents and they love me. They've always been helpful and very understanding. But there's one problem I'm in love. I've been going steady with Bill for a few days. I've known him only a short month. But I'm madly in love with him. He's 16 and we've been talking about getting married. He'd like to run away right now instead of waiting until I'm 18."

He's willing to quit school so as to earn enough money for us. His proposal has been very tempting. I love him deeply, yet I'm all mixed up and too much in love to care.

I realize the trouble our marriage will make, there being a difference in religion and my being too young. I don't know what to do. Please help me before Saturday night—I'll be seeing him then."

And Saturday night will be filled with sunshine. Stardust will twinkle in your eyes. Your tummy will quiver, your pulse will race, you'll feel as though you're walking on air. Every minute you're with Bill you'll tingle with excitement. You'll talk fast, you'll laugh low, you'll smile up into his eyes. It's delicious—this being in love.

I firmly believe you can feel all of that at 13. I'm equally sure you can be as uproariously in love with some other boy when you're 14. And someone else quite different when you're 15. And wind up going to your Senior Prom with someone else! As for getting married to someone you won't even meet —that's for much later—and for years yet.

If only you and Bill would be content to be in love without mixing yourselves up with other ideas. You've known each other just one short month, yet you're already tempted to disrupt the hopes and hearts of your two families.

You know perfectly well how your wonderful parents would react were you to announce to them that you want to get married! You can imagine how Bill's family would howl! You need your family's help, approval and blessing in order to have a happy marriage.

Without your family to back you, you'd be miserable. And you know it.

You're not really mixed up. You're just torn. Torn between what your head tells you is right and sensible, and what your heart thinks it wants to do. In such a fix, don't let your heart give you head anything to worry about. Tell Bill marriage talk is for later, not for now, sweetly refuse to discuss it further. Come down out of the clouds and get back to earth. And may your romance with Bill be lovely while it lasts!

Earnest Efforts Failed

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Reading a press note from Hamburg the other day, I received all the agony and glory of the brief period during which I was a motion picture actress. The dispatch said that Grock, Europe's most famous clown for half a century was retiring.

Though up to five years ago I had never even heard of him, the clown whose baggy pants, little fiddle and lost, bewildered look are beloved by both adults and children in France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy, was chiefly responsible for my short cinema career.

Two friends of mine in Paris that year were making a film of Grock's life in an assortment of languages, including English. They invited me to be part of the English-speaking segment of the movie. The idea was that I should be shown doing a radio interview with Monsieur Grock. I remember not only my lines but also the announcer's AND Monsieur Grock's:

Announcer: It's 6 o'clock in Paris. I o'clock in New York and here's Mary Margaret McBride.

Me: Monsieur Grock, is it true you are married?

Grock: For thirty years! (Only Grock has a little trouble with English, so it came out "For thirty years.")

Me: Really?

Grock: Not a joke! (This had great symbolism, for Grock's most famous exclamation was "Sans blague!" and his line was a rough approximation of that in English.)

That was all, but never have I worked so hard. At the studio at dawn where the makeup crew took over. Onto the set to wait around for the shooting. Doing the bit over about 20 times the first day. The hot lights were exhausting, the makeup made my face itch and break out. The rouge and powder got into my hair and I had to undergo an emergency shampoo.

Then next morning at 6 Bluetie called to say apologetically that the electric current had been weak the day before and the film was ruined. Would I mind coming back for another day of shooting?

So back I travelled to Joinville and we went through the whole thing another 20 times. The third day was just to make sure and for the weary fourth and fifth nobody was making any explanations at all.

Finally, though it was really over and I could scrub the final makeup from my tortured skin and go about other concerns, the picture was supposed to come to America to be shown, but if it did, I never saw it. In fact, I never heard of it again except for one small comment of a friend who saw it in Paris.

"You were not in it at all," she reported forthrightly.

So apparently in spite of earnest effort I ended up as a face on the cutting room floor. I had thought elatedly that at least I was about to cash in on my expensive training in acting.

But evidently the MGM talent scout who years ago spotted me as a prospect and advised me to do something about it was dead wrong. I took the counsel seriously and for days afterward, under the severe eyes of a theatrical coach screamed over an imaginary telephone, gloomed about a non-existent tragedy, even bloodlessly stabbed a fictitious rival. But all to no avail.

Anyway, it was fun while it lasted and so was my short movie career. And even to end on a cutting room floor is an experience.

Pearls Win Royal Favor for Daytime

Queen Mother and Mamie Have Same Jewel Preference

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Queen Mother Elizabeth, the Queen Mother of England favors pearls for daytime ornamentation. She wore a perfectly matched three-strand necklace most frequently on public appearances during her visit.

Of course the royal diamonds always accompanied these in some form. The Queen Mother has a fabulous collection of lapel pins, sprays, earrings, bracelets, necklaces and tiaras, but these she dons mostly for evening.

Margaret Truman came to town from New York for the christening of Elizabeth Snyder Horton, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Horton.

Mrs. Horton, one of Margaret's closest friends when her father was President, is the former Druce Snyder, daughter of the former secretary of the treasury, John W. Snyder. The Hortons have another daughter, Lyn.

Assistant Secretary of State Henry Holland and attractive Mrs. Holland not only speak Spanish fluently but sing it. The Hollands sang folk songs with the Latin American guests at a gay party given in their honor by Mexican Ambassador and Mrs. de Tello.

Christmas Trees Wear Pretty Skirts on Holiday

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

The most interesting Christmas tree skirt we know about grows more beautiful every Yuletide. It started as an inexpensive red blanket cut in the skirt circle to cover the tree base, with only bits of trimming.

Every year a few weeks before Christmas, its worked on again. More trimming is added until this skirt has become the most treasured of all the put-away Christmas things, the various decorations each a happy reminder of Christmases past. Felt is a good weight for a tree skirt and needs no hemming.

Trimming can be felt cutouts, fringe, ric-rac, braid, ribbon, tiny ornaments, beads, spangles, sequins, bells, glitter dust—anything that's colorful and decoratively appropriate to the season. Although skirts like this grow more elaborate they can be simple, with straight cut or pinked edges and count more on Christmas color than on so much trimming detail.

As soon as a piece of furniture starts getting loose at any of the joints, take it out of circulation until you have time to fix it. If you don't the trouble will get so much worse so fast that you'll end up with a major repair job on your hands.

The numbering system used on sandpaper finally got so involved that no one could remember what was what. Now the trend at paint and hardware stores is to have three general types, coarse, medium and fine. These three grades are good for most jobs about the house.

You can save a lot of refinishing work if you cement felt pads to the underside of metal objects felt will prevent any chance of the that are placed on tables, etc. The table top becoming scratched.

A woman who's grown has the wonderful right to dress as herself. No need to give in to unbecoming fads or fashions. She knows her good points—and limitations—and can dress to them.

A good case in point is Queen Mother Elizabeth. Her short trip to this country left behind a shower of adjectives in the press—gracious, royal, kindly, lovely. No young woman aspires to these descriptions. They are rightly due a mature woman who cares for herself.

The Queen Mother's daughter wisely dressed to delight her world-round public. A Queen, and every inch one—slender, style-wise and regal. But the Queen Mother strikes a satisfying balance between her mother-in-law, who dressed forever as she had as a bride, and her daughter, who knows she sets styles for a nation.

Gray satin and silver fox. No young woman could have carried off such a costume on a foggy fall afternoon. No one would dare call her youthful. It would be an insult to this picture of mature grace in full-length gloves, pearls and a warm smile.

She dresses her way. It is neither fashionable nor out-of-date. It is perfect for her job and position. She feels at ease and suitably dressed in the clothes she has selected. This might be a touchstone for the mature woman who alternates uncertainly between the dowdy and the too-youthful.

Pretty, Useful Holiday Gift Idea Is Given

NEW YORK (N.Y.)—A Christmas gift that's both pretty and practical is most often exactly the right thing for small fry. Youngsters have a way of shooting out of their clothes at an alarming rate of growth. And little girls love becoming fashionists.

Try combining fashion and comfort this year in the gift of a warm, washable robe that will provide real eye appeal under the tree on Christmas morning with real service to a little girl for the balance of the year.

A three-way duster in a floral print is quilted cotton. Background is white, binding is in solid contrasting color. There's a large Peter Pan collar, big patch pockets and a tricky three-way belt that permits the robe to be worn half belted in front or back, or belted all the way around.

For a very little girl, there's a charming quilted robe in washable rayon with full circle skirt and nipped-in waistline. It has a solid color lining and is insulated with estring wadding for real warmth.

Middle names once were the exclusive privilege of nobles and men of wealth and it was not until the 16th century that the use of two Christian names became common for the average person.

PETUNIA!

To give a room That certain flair, Repeat a pattern Here and there!

Right, Petunia! For instance, paper one wall, one chest-top, and mat a picture with the same pattern, and it will look beautifully tied-together.

Francesco DiBlasi and 2 Members of Symphony Featured

By DONNA ANDERSON
Thoughts of the approaching day of thanksgiving lead one to interpret many sounds and words as if they were voiced or written especially for the occasion.

Perhaps that is why the performance of Dr. Frederick L. Marriott's Oratorio on Psalm 103 seemed so appropriate at this time.

Members from Pontiac Symphony Orchestra joined the Kirk in the Hills cathedral choir and soloists in the first Michigan performance of the oratorio held Sunday afternoon in George Chapel of the Kirk.

Dr. Marriott, Kirk in the Hills organist, choirmaster and carillonist began the oratorio in 1945. By 1947 it was completed and presented at that time in Chicago.

Francesco DiBlasi, Pontiac Symphony's conductor played trumpet. Concertmaster, Jack Boesen and Celia Merrill Turner, associate conductor were also among the 35 member orchestra.

Soloists were Norma Heyde, soprano; Arlene Sollenberger, alto; Harold Haugh, tenor; and Stanley Kimes, bass.

A symphonic prelude caught the general tone of the psalm from the first soul searching desire to bless the Lord, through enumeration of His gifts, to the triumphant recognition of the truth of His strength. Dr. Marriott wrote the orchestration himself, employing all the descriptive and mood setting qualities of the instruments.

The entire oratorio was clearly a work of its composer's deep devotion and understanding, both of the ancient psalmist's comforting words and of the elements of knowledge needed to combine them forcefully with the science of music.

Dr. Marriott said that the date of performance was not primarily chosen for its nearness to Thanksgiving.

It is true that the psalm fits into devotional aspects of many calendar dates, but those who heard it Sunday will surely be reminded to "forget not all His benefits."

Fellowship Elects Officers

The Annual meeting of the Women's Fellowship of First Congregational Church was held Friday in the church parlors. Mrs. D. W. Edwards gave the devotion, using a Thanksgiving theme. A report given by Mrs. Dora Dawson recalled an active program devoted to missionary work during the past year.

Officers elected were Mrs. Oscar Lundbeck, president; Mrs. Ross Tenney, first vice president; Ora Hallenbeck, second vice president and Mrs. Victoria Gaff, corresponding secretary. Mrs. George Gaches was named recording secretary; Mrs. Leon Cobb, treasurer; Ethelynn Peterson, auditor and Mrs. E. D. Moessner, parliamentarian.

The officers were installed by Mrs. D. R. Olson, state president of the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church. Mrs. Olson spoke on Thanksgiving, stating that the first observance was known as the "feast of the tabernacle" and was attended by 90 Indians who stayed for three days. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Dexter Craig, program chairman.

WOMEN DISCOVER ALOMA LOTION BEAUTIFIES HANDS

Why suffer with dismay and shame over hands that look and feel chapped, dry and rough?

A new and different hand lotion called Aloma Lotion will bring new and soothing relief from seven of the most common causes of hand dryness, roughness and chapping.

What Are These 7 Causes?

Scientists agree that, in cases of hand skin dryness and roughness not caused by skin disorders, there are seven major reasons contributing to the unpleasant and often embarrassing drying out of hands.

They are 1) cold weather, 2) harsh detergents, 3) dry wind, 4) strong cleaning compounds, 5) dry indoor air, 6) hard water, and 7) age.

To fully understand why these seven factors so contribute to common hand skin complaints, we must remember that the skin of the hands differs from that of the rest of the body in many ways.

Why Hand Skin Is Different

One reason is that there are fewer oil glands on the back of your hands, and none on the palms. At the same time, the palms have an abundance of sweat glands.

With fewer oil glands, the back of our hands tend to dry out and redden and become chapped. This is particularly true when our hands are exposed to the drying wind and cold of winter, indoor heat and the other reasons that go to make up the seven major causes of common skin complaints.

Money-Back Guarantee

Aloma Lotion has been formulated, tested and produced to combat these seven major causes through its special blend of lanolin and other softening and lubricating agents, and to help you bring back new pride and pleasure to your hands.

Your hands will respond to extra-creamy Aloma Lotion or your money will be refunded. Aloma Lotion is so different, so effective, yet costs no more. Available in 25c, 50c and $1 sizes at all drug stores, leading department stores and other cosmetic counters.

Are Your Hands Extra Rough, Dry, Chapped?

Aloma Lotion is a new discovery for women who suffer needlessly from extra rough, dry or chapped hands.

Because it works in such a soothing and penetrating way, your hands get welcome relief from conditions caused by the lack of natural skin oils.

Get Aloma Lotion today. It will bring new beautifying relief to your hands—you'll see the difference, or it costs you nothing. Only 25c, 50c and $1, at all drug stores, leading department stores and other cosmetic counters. Buy a bottle today.

Women Change To Thicker, Creamier Aloma Lotion

If a hand lotion is to help soothe and soften your skin, it is just common sense that it cannot be watered down so it no longer has a strong lubricating body.

This is why the makers of Aloma Lotion have insisted on keeping this new and different lotion so thick and full-bodied. It is made extra-rich and thick with lanolin and other lubricating and softening agents.

Aloma Lotion Lasts Longer

The supply of lubrication is kept in a constant thick and creamy form and permits Aloma Lotion to soothe hands that are dry and to help protect them against chapping, cracking or roughness caused by dryness. Because it is thicker, you use less per application and one bottle lasts far, far longer.

Aloma Lotion costs less, too! Only 25c, 50c and $1, and you must be completely satisfied!

Women Over 30 Need Sticky Lotions To Be Extra Careful To Keep Hands Soft

With the passing of time, our hand skin, like the skin elsewhere on our body, has a tendency to dry out, making our hands feel rough and look red.

In addition, our hands are more constantly exposed to the sun, wind and the other elements, causing skin dryness.

Aloma Lotion is especially formulated to help protect hand skin against the ravages of age. It soothes and lubricates the skin with its penetrating action, and works to smooth out lines caused by dryness.

Keep your hands soft and smooth with new Aloma Lotion. Only 25c, 50c and $1, and you receive a gift dispenser with the large $1 size.

Can Spot A Clean Pair Of Gloves

What's more exasperating than slipping on a spotlessly clean pair of gloves and having them stained from the hand lotion you've just applied.

Say goodbye to this risk forever! Aloma Lotion penetrates immediately, does not cling to the surface and leave stickiness.

Get Aloma Lotion today! Only 25c, 50c, $1.

Soviet Is Seen Backing Down

Russia Apparently Has Decided Not to Fight German Rearmament

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The Soviet government apparently has concluded a policy reappraisal and decided against paying a high price—in either concessions or threats—to block Western rearming of West Germany, American officials believe.

Russia's latest moves to prevent the conversion of West Germany into a member of the anti-Soviet defense alliance are considered here obviously lacking in boldness and effectiveness.

This is taken to mean that in a sense the Soviet government is resigned to German rearmament. The interpretation is that the Kremlin may have reached this attitude because (1) it was unwilling to let Germany be unified on Western terms and (2) it was unwilling to threaten seriously use of military forces against the west.

The Soviet Union probably will get this week notes being drafted in London by U.S., British and French officials turning down the Soviet call for a meeting Nov. 29. Russia is thus faced with a solid Western front on its various moves to substitute an East-West security system in Europe for the Western defense program to include a re-armed Germany.

The fact that Moscow is reacting with familiar Soviet propaganda terms, including claims that the German agreement will destroy the basis for future European settlements, is regarded here as being in line with the general peace offensive of the Malenkov regime.

Hudson Store Plans Huge Santa Parade

DETROIT (UP)—The nation's second-largest department store put the final touches on plans today for one of the biggest Thanksgiving Day Santa Claus parades in the country.

The J. L. Hudson Co. said 25 floats, 12 bands and 1,300 costumed marchers would take part in the Thursday procession. It will be televised from coast to coast (ABC network) from 10:15 to 11 a. m.

Climaxing the parade will be the arrival of Santa Claus on a 100-foot-long float drawn by a team of reindeer.

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS)—"I Won't Worry" is the title of a magazine piece by Mary (wife of Ernest) Hemingway, which she wrote before the big news came in about the Nobel Prize and the $35,000 or so that goes with it.

The piece starts off about the Norwegian pioneer farmer who "was also engineer on my father's boat in Northern Minnesota." "If something is wrong," he told her years ago, "fix it if you can. But train yourself not to worry. Worry never fixes anything."

The very same day I read Mrs. Hemingway on not worrying, I also saw an ad for a book, "Release From Nervous Tension," which had appeared first in 1943. A real "puller," it's been running off and on for 11 years—complete with lots of small type and a coupon to cut out and send in for a 27 day free trial.

The picture at the top, and the headline, really grab at you. There's a slim young man in nothing but striped shorts, lying on white space—might be a bed, might be a floor. Under his neck is one pillow, under each of his upper arms is a pillow, under his knees is a pillow—four pillows in all.

"If you can't sleep try this," is the caption, and the copy goes on about how relaxed our striped pants hero is now feeling, how soon he'll feel free of "overwrought nerves," "jittery aching muscles," and how many of our ailments come from tension and worry.

Both the book ad and the soothing piece by Mrs. Hemingway left me so overwrought and jittery, I could scream.

And I'm positive worriers can and do work themselves into knots that kink up their muscles and make their nerves as sharp as carpet tacks.

But I also feel sure it doesn't unkink things to say "don't worry" at people who do, or "relax" at people who can't, or "take it easy" at folks who haven't been able to take anything easy since they themselves were ten —

I can't believe that dishing out these little nostrums ever did one bit of good—except to the disher outer. Disher-outers undoubtedly go around feeling fine and relaxed and superior while they're dishing.

For there's something refreshing about handing out the big-hearted talk about don't this and don't that—don't be a spendthrift, don't antagonize your boss, don't reveal your insecurity, don't fall on your face when you have to make a speech in public.

But the poor soul who just can't manage his cash, who can't get along with the office help, who breaks out in a sweat if he has to face strangers — this poor soul isn't feeling fine and relaxed and superior at all.

There'll always be both kinds of folks, I'm sure—the happy engineers and farmers in Northern Minnesota and elsewhere who are fixers and non-worriers, the relaxers in striped shorts with pillows under their necks, knees and arms—and then the other kind.

Kinds who aren't well-adjusted extroverts, maybe; kinds who're just turned inward enough so they fret like mad when they try to fix something and can't.

Who, if their kids are sickly or their taxes unpaid or their husbands grouchy and bored—who're going to worry themselves into knots no matter how many magazine articles or pillows get thrown at them.

Such people, I confess, sort of appeal to me. At times I'm one of them; at other times, I'm able to stay the other side of worry and remain hopeful and free of tension.

I try not to worry in either case. And my own formula is simple. "Worry all you want," it goes, "so long as you don't panic."

Buckeyes Snatch Big 10 Crown, Rose Bowl Bid

COLUMBUS (U) — The Buckeye capital was still a bit gaga today over Rose Bowl-bound Ohio State's football deeds of derring-do.

The wild weekend of celebration was over, and as they emerged from the hangover haze the fans, who live and die as Buckeye grid fortunes rise and fall, began to realize their favorites had just about "won it all."

Saturday's 21-7 victory over Michigan was enough, in itself, to turn the state upside down. But with it went the bid to the Rose Bowl, 2nd in five years for the Bucks, the Western Conference undisputed championship with a 7-0 record, and unbeaten 9-game season. National title vote wasn't in yet, but the Bucks were slated to be "there or thereabouts."

Stated bluntly, the state "went nuts."

As pulse beats slowly neared normal today, fans started a race for Rose Bowl tickets, only to be brought up short. George Stetten, who handles ducats for the Bucks, said Ohio's allotment of 12,800 for the Pasadena classic would fill about one-fifth of the requests.

To even have a chance, you must be a student, faculty member, a member of the West Coast Alumni Association, or one of the university's regular season ticket buyers. Students and faculty members must pick up their tickets on the coast and show photographic identification to get 'em.

Coach Woody Hayes, who hit the jackpot in his 4th year at the Ohio helm, was on a "business as usual" basis despite the furor. He and his staff were together at 7 a. m. Sunday for a look at the Michigan pictures, then went to church.

Allowed a 44-man squad for the Rose Bowl trip and 16 days of practice. Hayes started his arrangements today. The 44-player plane will leave for Pasadena the morning of Dec. 18.

Another 34 members of the squad, and wives of 12 players, will go by train, but the 34 will go as spectators only. Playing squad will be limited to the original 44, regardless of injuries.

Hayes said he'd probably hold three practices here in early December, and he has made arrangements to use the field house of Denison University, his alma mater 30 miles away, in case of poor weather. Buck coach plans to use the other 13 practice days on the coast for the final tune-up for the clash with Southern California.

Loss to Ohio Gives 'M' 4th 'Almost' Season

Saturday's 21-7 Win for Bucks Puts U. of M. in 2nd Spot Tie

ANN ARBOR, AP — Ohio State's 21-7 victory over Michigan Saturday pushed the Wolverines out of a tie for the Big Ten title and into another "almost" season—Michigan's 4th such season since the Western Conference signed the Rose Bowl agreement.

Since 1916 Michigan has represented the Big Ten twice in Rose Bowl competition against the Pacific Coast Conference.

Four other times Wolverines failed to win a share of the Big Ten title and a possible Rose Bowl trip by one game.

Decisions over Illinois in 1916, 1921 and 1922 and over Ohio State Saturday would have turned the trick and given Michigan eight conference titles or title ties.

Loss to the Buckeyes dropped Michigan to a tie with Wisconsin for 2nd place in the conference—Michigan's highest finish since its last Rose Bowl trip in 1930.

The game won by Ohio on a 4th quarter surge, was the last for six Wolverines: Danny Cline, left halfback; Fred Baer, fullback; Ted Cacher, captain and guard; John Veselekar, end; Duncan McDonald, quarterback and Art Walker, tackle.

Walker and sophomore end Ron Kramer were named to the Associated Press all-Big Ten team.

Cline, Baer and Lou Baldacci received honorable mention.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan had no excuses for the Buckeye loss. He said Michigan played its best game of the season against OSU, ranked No. 1 nationally.

Michigan outplayed the Buckeyes throughout the 1st half before one of quarterback Jim Maddock's passes was intercepted to set up the first Ohio State score.

Michigan's former All-American Tom Harmon, telecasting the game, said the Wolverines' failure to score from a 1st down situation within the Ohio State five yard line was the turning point of the game.

Ohio State took over on its one-foot line and paced by Howard "Hopalong" Cassidy, rolled 99 yards for the 2nd Buckeye touchdown.

Michigan failed to come back and Cassidy set up the final Ohio State marker late in the final period to black out the Wolverines title hopes and a possible 3rd trip to the Rose Bowl.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (U) — Rodrick (Jesse) McMahon, 72, a boxing and wrestling promoter, died yesterday in Wilkes-Barre General Hospital. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Nov. 16 while attending wrestling matches here.

McMahon was matchmaker with Tex Rickard when New York City's Madison Square Garden was opened.

Majors Meet for Player Draft, but NL May Make News With Plans of Possible Expansion

NEW YORK (U) — The major leagues launched their annual draft meeting today but the big baseball news may emanate from another session, held by the National League alone, later in the day.

Although National League executives insisted only routine business was to be discussed, reports persisted that they were to discuss plans for the invasion of California by expanding to a 10-team circuit.

Provision for such expansion already has been made by the National League, as well as the American League. It was believed the older league was determined to press for immediate investigation of such future sites as Los Angeles and San Francisco, in a race to

'M' PASS OKER—A U. of M. pass was good to Danny Cline. In Saturday's game against the OSU Bucks, Cline (above) caught the pass to net an early 4-yard gain. Leaping in front of Cline is Bucks' Bobby Watkins. OSU won, 21-7, on a late splurge.

Kramer Wins Praise From Woody Hayes

OSU Coach Tells Stars Friends He's Worried Over Watkins' Hurts

Michigan's fine end, Ron Kramer, Saturday turned in a game that drew warm praise from a qualified observer—none other than the Buckeyes' coach Woody Hayes.

The Pontiac Press correspondent at Romeo, Mrs. James (Lee) Winborn, and her husband had dinner with Hayes Sunday in the OSU Faculty club. Hayes was a classmate and football teammate of Winborn at Denison (O) University.

Hayes told his friends that Kramer was a fine end, and a big part of the Michigan power. He also is quoted as being worried over condition of his star halfback Bobby Watkins, hurt Saturday. His condition had not been fully checked today. Hayes mentioned that he has some good youngsters coming up next year to take over the ends vacated after this season by Brubaker and Dugger. He did not reveal their names.

Best indications were that Florida, Auburn, Mississippi, West Virginia, Georgia Tech and Penn State were the major candidates. The latter has finished the season with a 7-2 record but Florida, Auburn, Mississippi, West Virginia and Georgia Tech still have games to play.

Felix R. McKnight, president of the Cotton Bowl, said the team would not be selected until after next Saturday at the earliest.

At Fayetteville, John Barnhill, Arkansas director of athletics, said the list of preferences was being prepared by himself, Coach Bowen Wyatt and Dr. Delbert Swartz, chairman of the University's Faculty Athletic Committee.

There were reports that Arkansas favored Florida and did not want Mississippi because the Razorbacks already have played Ole Miss and won 6-0.

Arkansas backed into the host spot Saturday while losing an inter-sectional game to Louisiana State 7-6. The Razorbacks already had finished the conference race with a 5-1 record and while they can be tied by Baylor for the championship they are in the Cotton Bowl because of having beaten Baylor in regular season play.

Baylor ended the campaign Saturday at Waco against Rice and obviously will be fired up to make it a winning finish with prospects of a Sugar Bowl bid.

Rice beat Texas Christian 6-0 Saturday and is in fourth place in the conference race.

Four games are scheduled this week to end the season for all conference members except Southern Methodist, which still will have Notre Dame to play in Dallas Dec. 4.

Browns, Giants Collide Sunday in NFL Feature

Contest Probably Will Decide Hectic Eastern Division Race

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Browns and the New York Giants, two of professional football's finest defensive clubs, collide at the Polo Grounds in New York Sunday in a game that should settle the wrestling for the Eastern Division title of the National Football League.

"They'll have a psychological edge," New York Coach Jim Lee Howell said. "They beat us last month 24-14."

Coach Hampton Pool of the Los Angeles Rams won't pick a winner but he calls the Giants the most improved club in the league.

"I couldn't believe the Giants were that good," Pool said. "They'll be up to Cleveland. They'll be up. This is their 'must' game."

This was after the Rams had beaten the Giants 17-16 in a football melodrama yesterday.

The Browns for their part, turned in a great defensive effort in front of the Giants with 6-2 against the Giants' 6-3.

Detroit, after a bad scare, slipped by Green Bay 21-17 and took a firmer grip on its third straight Western Division championship.

In other games, the Chicago Bears took Baltimore 28-13 and the Chicago Cards thumped Washington 38-16. San Francisco dumped Pittsburgh 31-3 Saturday night.

Twice yesterday New York fought from behind, led 16-10 at the half and might have pulled it out with a fourth-period field goal. Ben Agajanian's kick from the 42 bumped the crossbar and dropped back onto the playfield field.

State College Elevens Wind Up '54 Slates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most of Michigan's college football teams wrapped up the 1934 season over the weekend.

Michigan's hopes of a share of the Big Ten title and a possible trip to the Rose Bowl faded under a 4th quarter Ohio State surge. 21-7; Michigan State swamped Marquette, 40-10, to wind up with one of its worst seasons; Alma rolled over Olivet, 49-0, in a MIAA finale; Wichita downed the University of Detroit, 20-0, and Kent State of Ohio defeated Western Michigan, 20-13.

Alma completed 20 of 39 passes in its rout of Olivet. The winners scored in every period — three times in the 2nd quarter.

The win gave Alma a 24 MIAA record and Olivet dropped its 5th conference game as against a single victory.

New York Dog Wins National Retriever Title

Major VI Performs Flawlessly in Land, Water Tests

WELDON SPRING, Mo. (U) — Major VI, black Labrador that spent much of its puppyhood in a Long Island bar and sometimes retrieved empty beer cans, reigns today as the national retriever champion.

The six-year-old male dog, owned by Mrs. Fraser M. Born of Southampton, N. Y., turned in a flawless performance to outclass five other finalists, including the defending champion. In land and water tests Saturday.

The trial was held at the nearby Busch Memorial Wildlife Area. Mrs. Born said Major VI was bought by her husband as a Christmas present. She said before she owned the dog it spent much of its time in a bar and occasionally retrieved empty beer cans.

King Buck, owned by the Milo Kennels of Brighton, Ill., had won the title the past two years and was bidding for a record third consecutive championship.

Ray Staudinger of Sag Harbor, N. Y., handled the new champion during the three-day trial. Thirty-three dogs were entered.

Wichita Sure of Title Tie

Shockers Whip Titan Club, 20-0; UD Ends Season Dec. 4

ST. LOUIS (U) — Wichita is assured a tie for its 11th Missouri Valley football title, but the task of winning sole ownership against winless Tulsa Thanksgiving Day looks much tougher now than only a week ago.

It isn't that the ambitious Kansas showed any signs of weakness in whipping Detroit 20-0, thereby building the bowl game hopes of their followers still higher.

The apprehension stems from Tulsa's astonishing comeback against Wyoming, co-leader of the Skyline conference, after a 55-13 lashing by Texas Tech.

Tulsa lost, 28-27, but not before giving the Cowboys a bad scare.

Wichita hit the Titans with two 2nd quarter touchdowns, the 2nd on a 49-yard pass from Connie Hoffmann to Jim Sippy, and stayed in control.

Wild Volley at One Deer Costs Pair 106 Bucks

NEWBERRY (UP) — Two deer hunters whose bullets ripped into a house occupied by a dozen persons were out $106.70 today because of their poor marksmanship.

The hunters, Joseph Klukowski of Detroit and George Salmon of Sandusky, Ohio, were fined $50 and $35 court costs each here Saturday after the incident.

The men spotted a buck near the home of Frank Bowler, who lives at McMillan about eight miles west of here. Several of their bullets tore into the house but none of the occupants was hit.

Football Wash: Five Teams Pack Most of Their Scoring Into Final Period in Saturday's Games

NEW YORK (U) — Monday's football wash: A number of teams could have saved a lot of time last weekend by forgetting about the first three quarters of the play. In five games it was the final period that was loaded with scoring.

Princeton topped the fourth quarter assaults with 32 points against Dartmouth in a 49-7 victory. UCLA scored 27 in the last period while beating Southern California 34-0 and Oklahoma added 20 points against Nebraska for a 55-7 total. Only Harvard and Ohio State needed their fourth quarter points, however. Harvard scored 13 to overhaul Yale 13-0 for the Big Three

Spartans End Season With Razzle-Dazzle

By BILL MARTIN

EAST LANSING—Michigan State ended its unfortunate 1934 football season here Saturday on a note reminiscent of brighter years.

Spartans summoned up a final bit of offensive razzle-dazzle to hand Marquette one of its worst beatings in the 46-year-old series, 40-10, before 39,354 fans in Macklin Field Stadium.

The two teams have met 24 times in a rivalry dating back to 1900. In only four of MSC's previous 16 victories was the margin wider than Saturday's 30-point edge.

State's passing attack, which had accounted for only four touchdowns in eight previous games, produced three tallies Saturday. Quarterback Earl Morrill tossed all three scoring aerials, one on the Spartans' first play from scrimmage.

Marquette, unable to gain after taking the opening kickoff, punted to MSC's 41. Morrill then passed to end John "Big Thunder" Lewis on the 21 and the husky flanker raced into the end zone. Gerry Planutis' placement was perfect.

The Morrill-to-Lewis combination clicked again later in the period, this time for 63 yards and another score. Conversion attempt failed and the quarter ended with MSC in front, 13-0.

Warriors drove to a 1st-down on

Michigan State's 6-yard line in the following quarter, but penalties and losses moved them back to the 38. Tackle Frank Scaffidi booted a field goal from that point. That was Marquette's only threat until late in the final quarter when the Warriors pushed across their only touchdown.

Flint sophomore Clarence Peaks went nine yards for MSC's 13rd touchdown a few minutes later after setting up the score with a 50-yard gallop. Planutis kicked the PAT.

Planutis scored his 1st touchdown in two years of collegiate play in the 3rd period, taking a short screech pass from Morrill and scampering 37 yards to paydirt.

Peaks broke loose on a 65-yard dash for another TD in the 3rd quarter, and 3rd-stringer Gerry Musetti plunged five yards for a final marker in the last stanza.

Halfback Fred Connally went the final 13 yards in a 66-yard scoring march by Marquette in the last quarter.

Scores 4 TDs Long Layoff Doesn't Bother Cards' Matson

By JOE MOOSHL

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (U) — Don't blame the Chicago Cardinals if they don't give halfback Ollie Matson a football during the week. Matson bolted for four touchdowns yesterday after literally not having touched a ball for two weeks.

Matson rolled up 163 yards in eight carries, including touchdown runs of 15, 62 and 79 yards to lead the Cardinals to a 38-14 victory over the Washington Redskins.

All this after Matson suffered a "severe concussion" in a game against the Philadelphia Eagles two weeks ago.

Ollie spent several days in a hospital and although he went with the team to Los Angeles last week, he didn't put on a uniform.

He remained on the West Coast during the week to get his official discharge from the Army and didn't arrive in Chicago until Saturday, too late to work out with the team.

The one-time holder of the National Collegiate rushing record compiled while he was at San Francisco showed no effects of his layoff.

The Cardinal organization touts Matson as "the fastest human in a football uniform and the greatest player the National League has ever seen."

Howe's Marker Wins for Wings

1-0 Victory Over Hawks Puts Detroit Sextet in 2nd Place Tie

CHICAGO (U) — Gordie Howe's lone goal slipped the Detroit Red Wings into a 2nd place tie in the National Hockey League last night by beating the Chicago Black Hawks, 1-0.

Howe, who recently returned from the injured list, scored the goal midway through the 2d period. Alex Delvecchio assisting.

Detroit moved into the tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs after the Leafs tied with the New York Rangers.

Chicago, dropping its 7th defeat in eight games at home, gave goalie Terry Sawchuk a busy night as he was forced to make 33 saves. Black Hawk goalie Al Rollins was called on only 22 times.

The contest had only five penalties. Only trouble of the evening game came near the end of the final period when Detroit was short handed with Vic Stasiuk sitting out a two minute penalty.

Sawchuk left the net to make a save and became tangled with Jack McIntyre of the Hawks and Detroit's Tony Leswick. Sawchuk had words with McIntyre, but was quickly quieted by the referee.

"Ain't easy to get a bowling team together up here in the far north!"

Kramer, Walker on All-Big Ten

By JERRY LISK

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State captured three berths and six schools in all were represented on the 1954 all-Big Ten football team selected today by the Associated Press.

Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin each was awarded two positions and one each went to Minnesota and Iowa on the honor team picked by AP staff writers in the Big Ten area.

Two sophomores, Purdue's sensational passing quarterback, Len Dawson, and Michigan's brilliant end, Ron Kramer, made the grade.

Besides the deady-armed

Dawson, the all-conference backfield had Ohio State's Howie (Hopalong) Cassidy and Minnesota's Bob McNamara at halfbacks and Wisconsin's Alan (the Horse) Ameche at fullback.

Ameche was one of three repeaters from the AP's 1953 team. Two other holdovers were the guards in a 212-pound average all-star line, Tom Bettis, Purdue senior, and Cal Jones, Iowa junior.

Paired with Kramer at end was Ohio State's 213-pound senior wingman, Dean Dugger. The other Michigan player honored was

Lightest lineman in the all-star array was Wisconsin's able center, Gary Messner, a 198-pound senior.

It was difficult for the selection board to keep three other Ohio State backs off the 1st team, but the balloting eventually placed Bobby Watkins, halfback, Hubie Bobo, fullback, and Dave Leggett, quarterback, on the 2nd team.

Other second team halfback was Iowa's Eddie Vincent.

Watkins was as hard a runner as either Ameche or McNamara. Fine backs who had to settle for honorable mention were Iowa's Earl Smith, Michigan's versatile Lou Baldacci, and Michigan State's John Matsock.

No fewer than three players fell from top 1953 recognition, due to injuries and change of team fortunes. Guard Jan Smid of Illinois was demoted to the 2nd team, while halfbacks J. C. Caroline of Illinois and Le Roy Bolden of Michigan State dropped to only honorable mention. Injuries slowed both these stars of the 1953 championship teams.

The 1954 all-Big Ten backfield has power in Ameche and McNamara, speed and finesse in Cassidy, and a tremendous passer in Dawson. With the possible exception of Dawson, the unit also has great defensive skill.

At least two of the all-star line-men have been compared with immortals of their schools—Kramer with Bennie Oosterbaan at Michigan, and Jones with Duke Slater at Iowa.

ENDS—Dean Dugger (OSU), Ron Kramer (Mich), Dick Hiltzki (OSU).

TACKLES—Art Walker (Mich), Dick Hiltzki (OSU).

GUARDS—Cal Jones (Iowa), Tom Bettis (Purdue).

CENTER—Gary Messner (Wisc), Len Lawson (Purdue), Howie Cassidy (OSU), Bob McNamara (Mich), and Alan Ameche (Wisc).

HONORABLE MENTION list includes tackle Randy Schrecengost (MBC), guards Ted Carney (Mich) and Henry Bulough (MBC), Jim Bates (Mich), and backs Lou Baldacci, Fred Bear and Dan Cline (Mich) and John Matsock and LeRoy Bolden (MBC).

Two Spectators Killed, 5 Drivers Hurt in 3rd Day of Pan-American Road Race

MEXICO CITY (AP)—One of the deadliest of all Pan American Road Races entered its fourth and next to last day today with no driver in any of the five classes holding a safe lead.

Six persons have been killed and more than a score injured in the first three days of the $117,200, 1,908-mile race from Mexico's tropical southern border to Ciudad Juarez opposite El Paso, Tex.

Two spectators were killed Sunday, three injured, and five drivers were hurt, two seriously.

It was still anybody's race as less than 100 cars left Durango at dawn on a 437-mile downhill dash to Chihuahua. About 150 from 11 countries started last Friday.

Two legs are on tap today: 251 miles from Durango to Parral, then 186 miles from Parral to Chihuahua. There drivers will rest overnight for the payoff sprint Tuesday.

Only minutes separated the leaders and pressing competitors in all five classes. They are: Big Sports class, lead by a Ferrari; Small Sports, Porsche; Big Stock Cars, Lincoln; Small U. S. Stock Cars, Dodge; and European Small Stock Cars, Alfa Romeo.

Leading the big sports car field at the takeoff Monday, was Umberto Maglioli of Italy in a Ferrari. But he was just six minutes ahead of Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., in another Ferrari. Hill lead the first two days.

Less than five minutes separated Ray Crawford of Long Beach, Calif., and Walter Faulkner, also of Long Beach, both driving Lincolns in the Big Stock class. A close third was a Cadillac driven by Keith Andrews of Colorado Springs, Colo.

For the first time in the race, a Dodge took the lead in the Small U. S. Stock Car class. Tommy Drisdale of El Paso grabbed the lead from Dan Morgan of Pueblo, Colo., driving a Ford. Drisdale's lead was only 6 minutes, 32 seconds.

Cross Country Men to Compete at MSC

EAST LANSING (AP)—A field of nearly 200 collegiate distance runners, including numerous sectional champions, gathered at Michigan State College today for the 16th annual NCAA cross country run.

Fourteen schools have full squads entered for the team crown with Kansas State, Pittsburgh, Penn State, and Oklahoma A. & M. among the favorites.

Kikuo Moriya of Wheaton college, one of those favored for individual honors, had failed to arrive by late last night but the lists were kept open until the last minute before the 11:20 a.m. start of the four-mile run.

Central States Pin Tournament Gets Under Way

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—A total of 232 teams this weekend opened the Central States men's bowling tournament, one of the top pin events in the Midwest.

Moving into an early lead was Houghton Insurance of Battle Creek. The team has an actual score of 2664 plus a 390 handicap for 3054.

Detroit's Maple Lanes, with no handicap, was 2nd with 2974 which stood tops among actual leaders.

In singles competition Frank Decker of Albion led with an actual score of 643 plus a 38 handicap for 681. Eddie Jones and Bill Jerris of Battle Creek teamed together for the doubles lead with 1114 and a 138 handicap for 1252.

The all-events lead was taken by Bud Taylor of Battle Creek with 1765 plus a 150 handicap for 1915.

FACE-SETTER—New leader in the weight division of the Pontiac Press' deer contest is the 200-pound buck shown above with hunter George Harlow, of 33 Cross street. Harlow brought the 8-pointer down while hunting near Stonington in the UP's Delta County on opening day.

Holly Hunter Enters Fine Buck in 'Rack' Contest

A 170-pound 10-point buck with an exceptionally well-balanced rack is the latest entry in the best rack division of the Pontiac Press' big deer contest.

Deer was shot by Richard Pacer of 10380 Gibbs Road, Holly, while hunting in Scholcraft County on opening day.

Other bucks, none of which is a contest entry, were reported by Gerald Burt of Walled Lake (10-pointer), W. L. Barton of 814 Sterling street, Pontiac (8-pointer), and Omer McAnnally of 3423 Oakbeach, Drayton Plains (10-pointer).

The 3-way contest includes competition for the biggest deer (weight only considered), best rack and best over-all head.

Entries are restricted to full-time Oakland County residents. Bucks should be brought to the Pontiac Press for measuring and photographing between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. daily and 8 a.m. and 12 noon on Saturdays.

Weight entries must be accompanied by a certified weight slip, bearing signatures of the weigher, the hunter and a disinterested witness.

Rose Bowl Only Major Classic Filled

Gopher, Iowan
Share Big Ten Scoring Lead

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The scramble for lucrative bowl berths was not over by any means today, but no matter how the final pairings line up the "natural" of the year won't take place.

The Rose Bowl is the only one of the four big postseason colts aganias filled. It will pit twice-beaten Southern California against mighty Ohio State, UCLA, possibly the only team in the country capable of giving the Buckeyes an argument, played in the Rose Bowl last Jan. 1, and by Pacific Coast Conference edict, can't appear again.

As far as college football goes, that's a genuine tragedy. Both Ohio State and UCLA boast proud 9-0 records. Both are undisputed masters of their conferences — UCLA the PCC and Ohio State the Big Ten — and they rate the Nos. 1 and 2 teams in the nation.

If there was any doubt as to who was best in the PCC, it was dispelled last Saturday when UCLA clubbed the Trojans 34-0. Ohio State meanwhile, was winning its seventh Big Ten game, a 21-7 decision over Michigan.

Two other teams emerged with bowl assignments. They were Arkansas for the Cotton Bowl host and Nebraska as the visitor for the Orange Bowl. Both sneaked in the back door.

Arkansas was beaten by Louisiana State 7-6, and Nebraska suffered a 55-7 pasting at the hands of Oklahoma. But... Baylor beat Southern Methodist 33-21 in a Southwestern Conference game. Since SMU was Arkansas' only competitor for the Cotton Bowl assignment, the defeat spelled doom for the Mustangs. Baylor still can tie Arkansas for the league title, but the Razorbacks had the forethought to whip Baylor earlier in the season to clinch it.

Oklahoma, like UCLA, is barred from appearing in the Orange Bowl two years in a row, the runner-up gets it this year. Oklahoma's victory over Nebraska gave the Sooners their seventh straight Big Seven title.

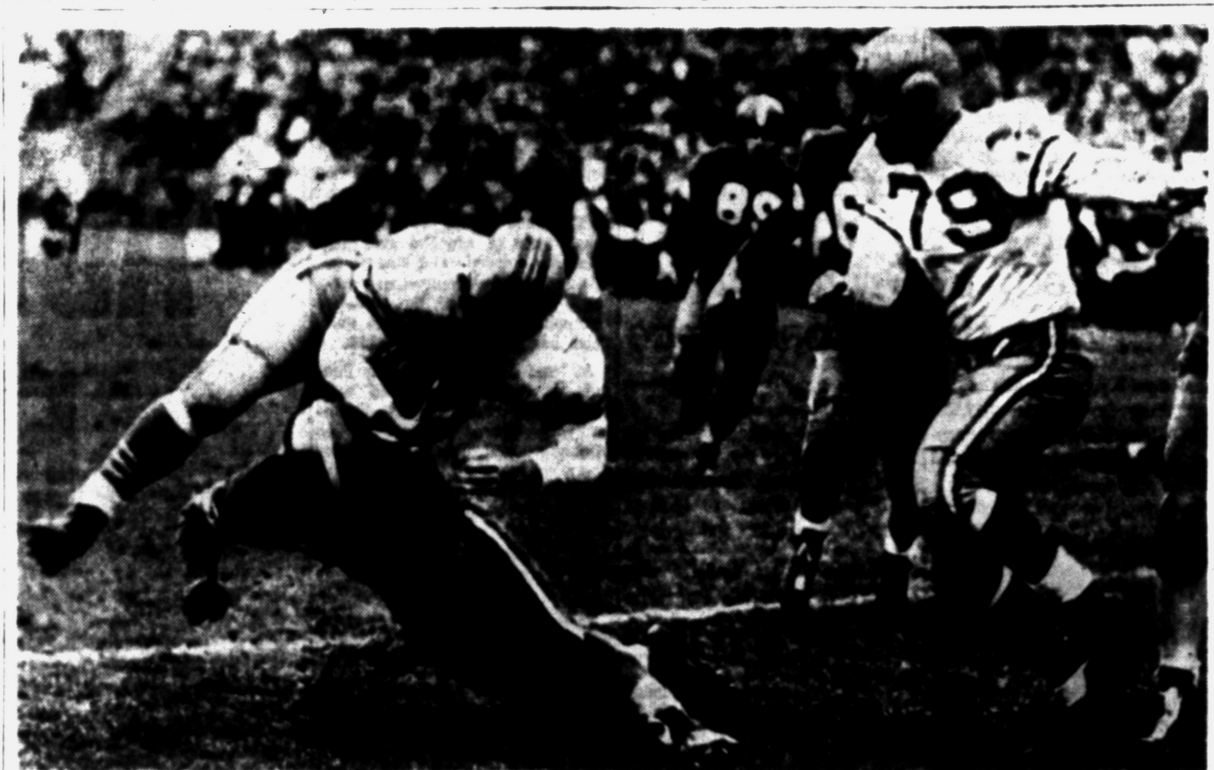

Kansas State was the only team that had a chance of overtaking Nebraska in the race for second place. Colorado beat State 38-14 and that settled things.

If Duke can get past North Carolina Saturday, the Blue Devils no doubt will get the Atlantic Coast Conference spot in the Orange Bowl.

Should Mississippi win the Southeastern Conference championship by getting past Mississippi State

Saturday, Ole Miss will act as host team in the Sugar Bowl. Baylor has a good chance of being named the visitor.

The settling of the Southeastern race also will enable the Cotton Bowl selectors some width in deciding the team to oppose Arkansas.

DUCKETT STOPS SHOCKEY—Michigan back end Ellis Duckett throws a beautiful block on Marquette tackle Dick Shockey, spoiling a 2nd quarter end run and causing Shockey to lose 3 yards. Number 79 is Marquette tackle Jim Pastorsid. MSC won the Saturday game at East Lansing, 40-10.

McNamara and Smith
Each Tally 66 Points to Top Watkins, Ameche

CHICAGO (U)—Bob McNamara of Minnesota and Earl Smith of Iowa finished in a tie for 1st place in the Big Ten scoring parade. Smith vaulted into a tie with the Minnesota fullback by scoring one touchdown against Notre Dame Saturday. McNamara was shut out by Wisconsin.

Ohio State's Bobby Watkins, injured on the first play in the Michigan game, finished third with 57 points.

Alan (The Horse) Ameche scored two touchdowns to finish out his career with Wisconsin Saturday and finished fourth.

Finishing behind Ameche with 48 points was Ohio State's breakaway star, Hopalong Cassidy. Cassidy scored once against Michigan to go ahead of Abe Woodson of Illinois.

In all, 20 players scored 25 or more points. The only player in this group not having scored a touchdown was Ohio State's Tad Weed. He kicked 23 extra points and one field goal.

Layne Sparks Victory

GREEN BAY, Wis. (U)—Every once in a while—especially at late—the Green Bay Packers give the National Football League champion Detroit Lions the scare of the season.

They did it last year in the 1st of two games at Green Bay when the Lions sneaked through with a 14-7 victory. And they did it yesterday—this time by an even closer margin—21-17.

And if the pattern follows that of last year the Lions will paste Green Bay by a pretty fair margin when the two clubs fight a rematch Thursday in a sellout Thanksgiving special at Detroit's Briggs stadium. Last Thanksgiving it was 34-15.

But yesterday, it was Bobby Layne's pair of scoring passes and his one-yard sneak through the middle of Green Bay's line that saved the day.

This, plus mistakes on the part of the Packers, kept Green Bay from handing down the upset of the pro season and slowing the Lions to a walk in their race for a 3rd straight NFL title.

The game, explosive all the way, ended with a midfield fight as the Lions' Lou Creekmur and the Packers' Stretch Elliott traded fisticuffs. Several of the 20,767 fans in the City Stadium descended on the field, but further trouble was nipped by the officials.

Packers dropped their upset chance in the 4th period when Max McGee dropped a perfect pass from Tobin Rote in the Detroit end zone at least three steps ahead of the nearest Lion.

Detroit sewed up its 7th league victory of the season in the 2nd quarter with a two-touchdown spurge after Green Bay took an early lead. Packers closed the gap to 14-10 at halftime and both clubs traded touchdowns in the 3rd period.

Green Bay's loss was its 5th in nine starts. Detroit has lost only one game.

Jim David's pass interception set up the tying touchdown. He ran the ball back to Green Bay's 34. Layne then passing to Leon Hart on the 17. After Bill Bowman ran 16 yards to the one and couldn't take it over in two tries, Layne did it on a one-yard sneak.

Detroit drove 72 yards for the winning touchdown midway in the period. Jug Girard made a falling catch of Layne's 15-yard pass for the score.

Ranger Goalie Lost for Week

Lorne Worsley Injures Ankle in 2-2 Deadlock With Maple Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
As if the New York Rangers don't have enough trouble, they learned Monday that goalie Lorne Worsley would be lost for a week or 10 days.

The Rangers put in a rush call to their Vancouver farm of the Western League for Johnny Bower, last year's netminder, who lost the job to Worsley this season. Bower is expected to arrive in time to play against Boston Wednesday.

Worsley suffered a small chip in his left ankle making a save against the Toronto Maple Leafs with a little over four minutes to go in the game. He finished the game out, but the Leafs salvaged a 2-2 tie, after being shut out for 52 minutes.

Bowl Outlook at a Glance

NEW YORK (U)—Major football bowl situation at a glance: ROSE BOWL — Ohio State, unbeaten Big Ten champion, vs. Southern California, second in Pacific Coast Conference with 6-1 record.

COTTON BOWL—Arkansas, leader in Southwest Conference with 5-1 mark, vs. opponent to be selected.

ORANGE BOWL—Nebraska, runner-up to Oklahoma in Big Seven, vs. Atlantic Coast Conference champion, probably Duke or Maryland.

SUGAR BOWL — Southeastern Conference champion (Mississippi leads 4-1) vs. opponent to be selected.

Short Hunting Trip Proves Successful

COLDWATER (U)—Edward Blackman was at home packing deer hunting equipment for an expedition when he looked out the window.

There stood a big buck. Blackman raised his shotgun and killed the 12-point, 210-pound prize.

It was the 1st deer killed in Branch county in several years.

Harry Watson Is 7th to Hit 200-Goal List

TORONTO (U)—When Harry Watson of the Toronto Maple Leafs scored his 200th National Hockey League goal he became the seventh active player to reach that mark.

Others are Maurice Richard of the Canadiens, Bill Mosienko of the Black Hawks, Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe of the Red Wings, Milt Schmidt of the Bruins and Ted Kennedy of the Maple Leafs.

Demand Pushes Grains Higher

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Mild demand pushed most grains higher on the board of trade today in the absence of any important selling pressure. Dealings were slow. Oats lagged behind the market.

Demand for wheat, particularly for the July and September months, was based largely on the absence of moisture in the southwestern winter wheat belt over the weekend. Light cash corn receipts for a Monday was the main reason behind corn's firmness.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1/4 higher, December $2.29 1/4, corn 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher, December $1.56, oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, December $1.29, rye 1/4 to 1 1/4 higher, January $2.84, and hard 12 to 30 cents a hundred pounds lower, December $14.15.

Ray Starts Year Right, Debbie's Name First on Eddie's Autographs

NEW YORK (INS) — Milton

Berle's fatigue has been complicated by a virus attack and his temperature went above 101. He is so weak, his doctor forced him to cancel his scheduled appearance Tuesday on the Martha Raye show . . . another feverish possibility — that Martha Raye also might not be well enough to do her show . . . general bad health plus marriage problems have weakened the gifted big-mouth.

Eddie Fisher's brother Alvin arrives home today from Korea, after 18 months there. "Alvin made corporal and I didn't," Eddie said proudly.

We noticed when Eddie was signing autographs in Lindy's that he left room above his own for Debbie to sign there and get top billing; greater love hath no ham.

Carol Haney, the shimmering dancing star of "Pajama Game," gets only $250 a week for her anti-personality in that show but she'll pick up $18,000 for six "Toasts of the Town" star spots . . . she's also on leave from MGM where she has $225 a week waiting for her. If she ever returns to choreographing, "She was Gene Kelly's assistant."

Robert Cummings gets fearful now $22,500 for starring in Max Liebman's "Best Foot Forward" spectacular. He had been earning $1,000 for run-of-TV unspectaculars . . . the stiff fee includes $2,500 for "expenses" and a neat sum to be dropped in one of Cummings' corporations. Jimmy Komack gets $500 for his fee on the same spectacular.

Julius La Rosa gets $10,000 for two weeks TV work with Jack Parr . . . the humility kid, incidentally, is taking dancing, singing and acting lessons.

Johnny Ray starts '55 like gang-busters. Two Gleason guestings (January 1 & 8) at $3,000 apiece, two weeks at the Latin Quarter starting January 2 for $15,000 and $100,000 from 20th-Fox for "Pink Tights" which rolls January 23, meaning he may be off to his biggest year yet . . . Red Buttons thinks if he settles in Hollywood he might solve his writing emergency.

Ex-champ Barney Ross is on Eddie Fisher's payroll. Public relations.

The Dumont network announced today it has decided not to sell itself to anyone. ABC-TV previously had been trying to absorb Dumont but an internal squabble involving Paramount Pictures, which owns 30 per cent of Dumont and didn't want it to go to ABC apparently was the straw that broke the merger's back.

The name of the island of Jamaica derives from the Indian word "Xaymaca" meaning "the wellwooded land of springs and waterfalls."

Hal Boyle Says:

Often-Embattled Belgians Want Rearmed Germany

BRUSSELS (AP) — Leaves from a Belgian notebook: The Belgian people are heartily in favor of rearming their big German neighbors who overran them in two great world wars in a single generation.

Many visitors find this hard to understand. To the ordinary Belgian it is merely a matter of accepting the hard facts of geography.

The soil of Belgium literally has been reddened by the blood of millions of men through the centuries. Waterloo. Ypres. Bastogne — these famous battlefields are known to every American high school history student. But any high school student here could name you a dozen more great battles fought in the area of Belgium from Roman times until now.

Belgium in wartime is simply an accretion of anguish — squeezed back and forth by the armies of bigger powers.

"That is why even Belgian underground leaders who fought fiercely against the Nazis now are in favor of rearming Germany," explained an American who lives here. "They know it is impossible to keep the Germans permanently disarmed, and they are in favor of any plan that will make all their big neighbors allies instead of enemies."

There are no signs of combat fatigue in Belgium, no exhaustion of the spirit, no frustrated sense of bitterness against the present, such as visitors sometimes say they see in France.

The cleanliness of Belgium's ancient cities and small towns puts America's newer metropolises to shame. The grime of time has left a pleasant patina of age upon ancient buildings, but the streets and sidewalks are spotlessly clean.

Memo to any American mayor:

Tax Cut in '55 Seen Unlikely

High-Level Sentiment Runs Against Reduction Except in Emergency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sentiment within the Eisenhower administration appeared today to be running strongly against any new tax reduction next year unless business falters.

High officials of four federal agencies which presumably will influence the shaping of President Eisenhower's recommendations to Congress in January, indicated in interviews that a final decision on tax policy hinges on business developments of the next several weeks.

But each said the state of government finances — a $4,700,000,000 deficit is expected by June '55 — does not justify further business or individual tax cuts assuming that the economic recovery is still on the upswing at the turn of the year.

This probably means that the administration not only will oppose a further income tax reduction advocated by a number of the Democrats whose party will control the next Congress, but will take a stand against scheduled reductions in corporate income and estate tax rates.

The corporate tax rate is due to drop from 52 to 47 per cent on April 1, under present law.

Convicted Officer to Stay in Army Awaiting Review

AUGUSTA, Ga. (P)—Second Lt. Charles C. Anderson may spend up to a year in the Army while the court reviews his sentence of dismissal for mistreating trainees at Camp Gordon.

The conviction and sentencing and the order to forfeit all allowances are subject to automatic review by Brig. Gen. Francis Howland, Camp Gordon commander, and convening authority of the court.

The decisions also are subject to review by the judge advocate general of the Army, the Court of Military Appeals and the secretary of the Army.

Anderson, who won an officer's commission at Ft. Benning, Ga., after returning from Korea, testified he used tough measures to shape up Co. A of the First Regiment, which he described as slovenly. He said he was given only 11 days to get the company into shape. It was his first assignment as an officer.

Col. James O. Wade was removed before the trial as commanding officer at the camp's replacement training center for "failing to investigate and report to his commanding general charges made against Anderson by recruits."

After the verdict, the defense called Col. Wade who asked the court to extend leniency. "I believe Lt. Anderson still possesses great potential value to the U.S. Army," Col. Wade said. "He should be returned to duty with troops at an early date."

The court's decision is subject to automatic review by the staff judge advocate of the convening authority. It is also subject to review by the judge advocate general of the Army, the Court of Military Appeals and the secretary of the Army.

Pineapple Firm Mulls Making Own Tin Cans

HONOLULU (P)—Henry A. White, president of Hawaiian Pineapple Co., said the company is considering construction of its own plant to manufacture tin cans for its Honolulu factory.

"Proposals submitted to date by the American Can Co. have fallen short of providing the savings which our studies indicate to be possible from the self-manufacture of cans," White reported to stockholders.

The ermine belongs to the same family as the skunk.

Baked Spuds Decide When to Plant Roses

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (P)—You probably think potatoes and roses have little to do with each other. But at the J. F. Wilcox & Sons greenhouse here the spuds are a big help in raising roses.

Every time new roses are planted at the nursery, the soil is sterilized. This is done by "cooking" the soil with steam pipes. The Wilcoxes bury a potato in each square foot of soil, and when the potatoes are "baked," the soil has been sterilized.
