Drop Charges, Romney Urged

LANSING (UPI) — Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald asked Gov. George Romney today to dismiss misfeasance charges that have been lodged against him and Brig. Gen. Carson R. Neifert.

McDonald personally delivered his appeal to Romney's office requesting the dismissal of the formal hearing the governor intends to begin Feb. 15.

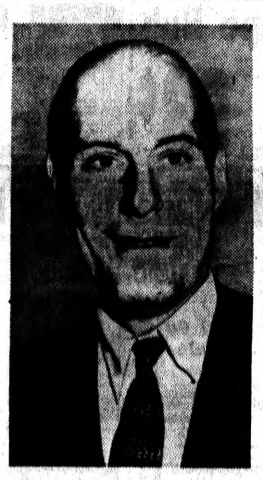

A list of 11 counts was made public by Romney last Oct. 8 but when formal charges were finally delivered to the officers earlier this month they dealt with only three issues, the major one of which was the allegedly illegal sale of state property at Camp Grayling.

McDonald and Neifert were alleged to be responsible for the actions while filling their respective jobs of state adjutant general and state quartermaster general.

Today's motion, which was prepared by Thomas R. McAllister of Bad Axe, McDonald's attorney, listed 20 reasons to support the demand for the dismissal of the charges.

It noted first that when Romney removed McDonald from office Oct. 8 he had acted illegally and that he subsequently had to restore both the generals to their positions.

At the same time, however, Maj. Gen. Cecil Simmons, commander of the 46th National Guard Division, suspended the men from their jobs.

NAMED BY LBJ — President Johnson chose acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach today to take the job on a permanent basis. Katzenbach, who became known for his handling of civil rights cases, has been acting attorney general since Robert F. Kennedy quit to run for the Senate.

Utility Reveals Big Expansion

Consumers to Spend $4.7 Million in Area

Consumers Power Co. will spend $4.7 million for new facilities in the Pontiac area this year, Charles F. Brown, Pontiac division manager, said today.

The money will be used on projects to expand and improve the company's gas and electric services to area residents, Brown noted.

The company expects to add 5,200 new gas service installations to its lines in the Pontiac division during the year, necessitating an expansion of the gas distribution system in a number of areas.

This will bring the total gas customers served by the Pontiac Division to about 55,000, Brown pointed out.

In Pontiac, where Consumers supplies electric service, numerous improvements of a technical nature will be made to the electric distribution system of lines and substations.

An anticipated 50 new customers will be connected.

OTHER PROJECTS

Other important projects listed by Brown include the improvement of gas distribution mains serving approximately 650 existing gas customers, and the installation of four miles of new 20-inch gas main, from the

Tells Christians to Join World Freedom Fight

Rev. Hines Installed as Episcopal Leader in Sacred Ceremony

RT. REV. HINES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, new presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States, called on Christians yesterday to be personally involved in the worldwide struggle for freedom.

"The church is caught up today," he said in his inaugural sermon, "in the throes of a worldwide convulsion, the basic ferment of which is the thrust for freedom and dignity and hope on the part of the little people of the world.

"In some areas it is the struggle of a people who see clearly a destiny — and are willing to risk jobs, and food, and unspeakable brutality in order to participate in that destiny.

"It is painfully obvious that the church as an agent of God's reconciling love cannot survive this revolution as an 'observer.'"

Bishop Hines was installed with age-old ceremony and spiritual pageantry in the Washington Cathedral. Some 2,000 persons, including representatives of other Protestant churches, and the Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox churches, attended the services.

Bishop Hines was elected to the highest office of his 3.5 million member church at its 61st general convention in St. Louis last October. He succeeds the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, who resigned.

Hines, who is 54, was born in Seneca, S. C.

Osteopaths Seeking Aid From State

Backers of a projected osteopathic college have solicited financial support from the state, according to Dr. Alan M. Potts of Royal Oak.

Dr. Potts, chairman of the board of trustees for the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine, said a meeting has been held with Gov. Romney.

Object of the meeting, said Dr. Potts, was to acquaint the governor with the plans for the medical school, which is to be located on a 164-acre site at Opdyke and Auburn.

Dr. Potts said the osteopaths asked for state aid on a scale beginning at $300,000 and rising to $3 million annually.

The trustee chairman said the college anticipates deficits each year because of operating and maintenance expenses.

Dr. Potts justified the request for state aid on the basis that the state spends monies to support other professions.

In addition, he pointed out that some 3,000 osteopathic physicians have served the state, but obtained their training at schools outside of the state.

Dr. Potts said the osteopaths are hopeful that some state allocation for the college could come by the end of 1965 or 1966.

He said Romney was understanding, but offered no immediate reaction to their request.

Romney Calls for Action on Traffic Safety

Demands Immediate Steps to Curb State Highway Death Toll

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney wants immediate action to solve Michigan's highway "massacre." He sent the legislature a special message to that effect yesterday.

Romney said traffic safety is one of his major legislation goals for 1965.

"The fulfillment of our public responsibility demand that we take immediate and informed action to stop Michigan's highway carnage and the 'massacre of the innocent,'" Romney said.

He estimated his program, if enacted, would cost between $3 and $4 million "and maybe more."

Some $1.2 million of the cast would come from the addition of 200 more State Police troopers asked by the governor.

Michigan's traffic toll during the past year now is estimated at 2,125 dead, the third worst highway record in the history.

Romney said his recommendations to the legislature include the bulk of the suggestions for improvement made by a special commission on traffic safety.

The governor listed as major points in his legislative program:

- Implied consent by motorists to chemical tests when they are picked up for driving while under the influence of alcohol.
- 200-man increase in State Police.
- Strengthening of accident and violation reporting.
- Requirement that all new drivers, regardless of age, receive driver training.
- Granting of additional powers to the Secretary of State to crack down on drivers with accident records.
- Bringing juveniles under the point system now covering adult violators.
- Raising the support level for driver education from $24 to $40 a pupil.
- Compulsory inspection for motor vehicles.

THE WINNING TICKET? — Mrs. Robert M. White, 73 E. Strathmore, hopes the ticket she dropped into the barrel at The Pontiac Press cooking school last night at Pontiac Central High School will win her one of the grand prizes. Anyone without tickets who wishes to attend tonight's show will be seated just before the performance at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are still available for Friday's session at 1:30 p.m.

County Dems Praised for Success in Election

Oakland County Democrats last night were praised by Senate Majority Floor Leader Basil W. Brown for their work in helping shift the GOP power in the State Legislature.

"We are very proud that you sent us Democrats," the Detroit senator told party members attending the Democratic County Convention, "and grateful for the caliber of men you elected."

About 250 persons listened to Brown make the keynote address at the convention, conducted in the supervisors' auditorium at the Oakland County Courthouse.

It was the first political convention held in the new auditorium.

"It is highly significant that for the first time we can carry out the programs we have talked about for so many years," added Brown.

★ ★ ★

"These men will be invaluable to the county and the state in solving the problems that face us.

IT TAKES TIME

"Don't expect everything to be done in one or two years," warned Brown in urging that Democrats must continue their drive to keep the party control.

"It took 30 years for the Republicans to disrupt the state and I hope we are given at least 30 years to straighten it out."

George A. Googasian, head of the Oakland County Democratic Party, presided over the four-hour convention.

Primary purpose of the gathering was to name 189 delegates to the state convention to be held Feb. 13-14 in Grand Rapids.

PLATFORM SUPPORT

A number of resolutions were adopted to be presented at the state convention. These included the support of the national and state Democratic platforms.

The group recommended, however, that the state platform on the revision of personal property taxes on specific items be changed so that all phases can be explored rather than just certain areas.

Ferency Claims Income Tax Is a Must in '65

FLINT (AP)—The legislature must enact a statewide income tax this year "if we hope to maintain even the present level of state services," Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency said yesterday.

If the legislature enacted a tax this year, wage earners would not start paying it until 1966, and the final returns would not be collected by the state until the spring of 1967, Ferency said in remarks prepared for delivery at the Genesee County Democratic Convention.

"Failure to act now will cause our schools, colleges and mental institutions to stagger through the present crucial period, only to plunge into a much deeper crisis at the end of two years," Ferency said.

If the legislature waits until next year's session to enact the tax, he said, taxes would not be withheld from paychecks until 1967, with final returns due in the spring of 1968.

Temperature Is Due to Plunge Again

The Pontiac area got a taste of arctic weather today with bone-chilling temperatures snow flurries and high winds.

Ten above was the low thermometer reading preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. the mercury stood at 12 in downtown Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The weatherman forecasts a low of zero to 5 below for the area tonight and high of 8 to 16 tomorrow.

Would Be Built on Fairgrounds

Rep. Law Will Offer Stadium Proposals

The way could be cleared for an Olympic-sized stadium at the Michigan State Fairgrounds under a pair of proposals to be introduced in the House today by Democratic Rep. Arthur J. Law of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, Law filed for the introduction of a bill that would add stadiums to the list of facilities that could be built or acquired by the State Building Authority.

It is aimed specifically at permitting a stadium on the fairgrounds in Detroit, he said.

It also could permit the authority to build such athletic facilities for smaller public colleges and universities if they did not want to spend general fund money.

★ ★ ★

Any decision to build, however, would depend on the findings of a House-Senate Study Committee on Recreational Facilities that Law is proposing.

FORD PROPOSAL

William Clay Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions, has proposed a stadium on the fairgrounds.

Law said he has discussed the stadium with Edwin Anderson, vice president and general manager of the Lions.

He said they talked of a facility possibly seating as many as 100,000 persons.

PROPOSED STADIUM — A $35-million stadium for the Michigan State Fairgrounds, Detroit, was to be proposed today to the State Legislature. As shown in the above architectural drawing, the stadium would be of reinforced concrete construction. The stadium was originally planned by Giffels & Rossetti, Inc., when Detroit was bidding for the 1968 Olympic games.

LBJ Sees End to Recessions

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, forecasting a fifth consecutive year of rising prosperity, assured Congress today that recessions can become obsolete in the Great Society era.

For long-range slump insurance, he asked Congress to streamline its tax-writing machinery to permit "rapid action" on temporary income tax cuts if recession threatens.

The President explained, in his annual economic message:

"A time of prosperity with no recession in sight is the time to plan our defenses against future dips in business activity.

"I do not believe recessions are inevitable."

In exchange, Johnson gave Congress a pledge of his own — if economic growth unexpectedly falters in 1965 despite the 1964 tax cut and this year's proposed excise reductions:

"I shall be prepared to consider additional fiscal action."

SHOT IN ARM

Johnson thus indicated that the taxpayers may get still another shot of tax-relief tonic this year — possibly more income tax rate reduction, or broader excise cuts — if last year's $11.6-billion tax reduction, begins to wear off.

The 290-page report, third and last of the major White House messages to Congress, dwelt on no such possibility. Rather, it predicted for 1965 a record national output of around $660 billion along with unprecedented personal income and profits, some further drop in unemployment and continued price stability.

Johnson asked the legislators to enact quickly his Great Society building blocks. All were outlined in earlier messages.

They included:

An increase in Social Security cash benefits, hospital care for the aged, doubled antipoverty appropriations, a billion dollars to revive Appalachia, extension of the minimum wage to two million more workers, more aid to education, stepped-up worker training, and improved housing and urban development programs under a new cabinet department.

Viet Leader Picks New Premier

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House and State Department spokesmen declared today that President Johnson has "full confidence" in Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, and intends to keep him as top U.S. representative in South Viet Nam.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh made Nguyen Xuan Oanh premier of South Viet Nam once again today and said he would soon set up a 20-member military-civilian council to "advise" the government.

Presence of Khanh-picked military men on the council would give him a channel to exercise control of the government.

Khanh showed continued antagonism to U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, who openly opposed interference by Khanh and his generals in Viet Nam's governmental affairs.

Taylor was out of the country Wednesday when Khanh ousted Premier Tran Van Huong in a bloodless coup. Asked at a news conference what Taylor's reaction to the coup had been, Khanh snapped: "Why don't you ask him?"

INTERNAL PROBLEM

He added: "This is an internal problem. You know from my past actions how important I consider internal matters and national sovereignty. I'm sure the United States will accept any of our actions in the interests of the Vietnamese people, not putting the interests of any single individual above these interests."

His words were clearly aimed at Taylor.

Taylor, who rushed back to Viet Nam on hearing of the coup, has not commented officially. Privately American officials were angry and disappointed.

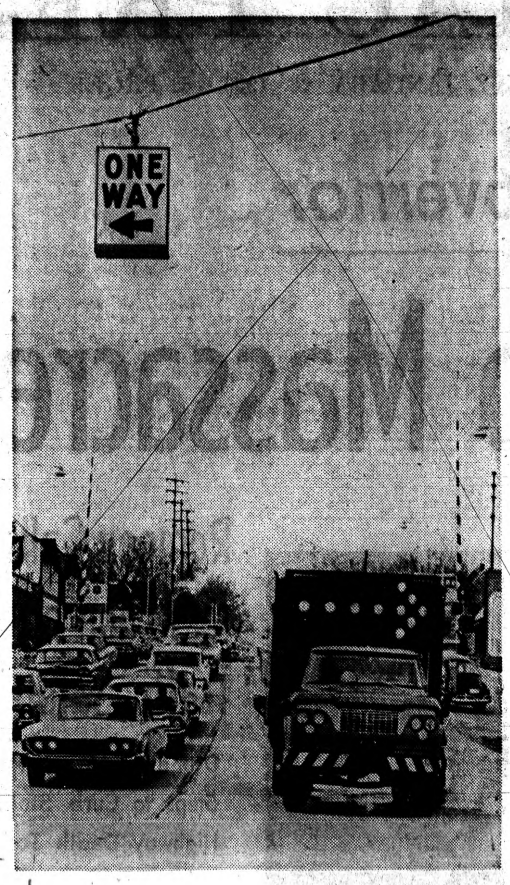

Khanh told a news conference he would ask Phan Khac Suu to stay on as chief of state until a new government is formed. He said Huong's cabinet, except for Huong, would remain in office on a caretaker basis.

Don't Lag Getting Tag

The deadline, and a chance to save $1, is nearing for 1965 city dog licenses.

Dog owners have until March 1 to license their pets at cost of $2. After March 1, the pooch permits jump to $3 apiece.

Licenses are on sale in the office of the city clerk at City Hall.

Union Probe Welcomed

BALTIMORE (AP) — An officer of the striking International Longshoremen's Association said today he would welcome an FBI investigation of possible Communist infiltration of the union.

★ ★ ★

William Haile, an international vice president of the ILA, was asked to comment on the statement by Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds Jr. that he would ask the FBI to investigate.

Reynolds, who was meeting today with negotiators in Galveston, Tex., said last night after Baltimore dockworkers rejected a proposed contract that he had evidence and reason to believe persons allied with communism purposely prolonged the waterfront strike to damage the nation's economy.

"I propose to request the FBI to look into both the New York and Baltimore situations and anywhere else there were indications of subversive activities," Reynolds said.

★ ★ ★

The FBI in Baltimore declined to comment today when asked whether it had received a request to investigate and whether it had looked into the matter before Reynolds' statement.

NO COMMENT

FBI headquarters in Washington also said it would have no comment.

The three were picked by President Johnson, who heeded medical advice that he forego the trip to Great Britain.

By early afternoon in London, the number who had passed by Churchill's black draped catafalque was approximately 100,000.

Pontiac Schools Comply With U.S.

Poverty Program Is Slashed

Pontiac School District officials have eliminated $250,000 from their proposed antipoverty plan and resubmitted the proposal for approval of the federal government.

School officials said last night they hope for acceptance of the new plan within 10 days to two weeks.

The cost to the federal government of the original School - Community Action Program (the local designation for the antipoverty plan) was estimated at $400,000.

The plan was submitted for approval to the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington many weeks ago and received good response from program directors.

★ ★ ★

Officials in Washington said the Pontiac plan was one of the best they had seen and gave school officials hope that a major portion of the program would be approved.

CUTS REQUESTED

However, the school district received a letter Friday from Washington asking that six proposals be dropped from the original plan and the remaining five be reduced by one-half.

The letter stated the new program should cost the federal government no more than $150,000 and should be resubmitted as soon as possible.

Lee Haslinger, director of physical education, athletics and recreation, told the school board last night that although the plan has been substantially reduced the proposals remaining are still beneficial to the community.

Haslinger said that he felt all four school districts in Oakland County which submitted proposals — Pontiac, Ferndale, Royal Oak and Oak Park — received similar instructions from Washington.

DOOR OPEN

He said the letter did, however, leave the door open for Pontiac to submit a second program later in the spring; a program which could encompass the items which were dropped from this plan.

The new plan has six major proposals—most of which have been reduced by one-half from the original plan:

- Administration of the School - Community Action Plan to include a full-time director and two community center school directors;
- The establishment of four preschool centers which would be operated all year around for three- and four-year-old children.
- School library study and learning centers will be set up in existing school libraries with a full-time librarian hired for each library, 1,000 books added to the shelves and the libraries opened during the evening for use by adults;
- Four elementary remedial reading teachers will be added to the school staff, doubling the number the school presently employs.
- Counseling services will be expanded to include two part-time counselors in the secondary schools;
- An elementary summer school program will be started in an attempt to get all third grade students on grade level before they enter the fourth grade. Two month-long sessions will be held during the summer.

Proposals cut from the original program included a youth and adult tutoring program, tuition-free high school evening school, and an expansion of the number of field trips taken by students.

Also dropped from the original plan were a study on the development of perception and motor skills in physical education and reading, and a research program to develop more adequate instructional material for the poor children in the district.

DEATH OF EAGLES — Rancher Leroy Martinelli (right) shows Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Bertrand the eagles he shot on his ranch in Point Reyes Station, Calif. He said the eagles were attacking his sheep and killed five. The largest had a wing span of seven feet, dwarfing Martinelli's daughter, Gail, 4.

Senate Committee Votes More Power for Milliken

LANSING (AP) — Lt. Gov. William Milliken will be able to break all tie votes ini the Senate if the Senate Business Committee's topsy-turvy action on the question is approved.

The committee voted Wednesday to give Milliken such a vote on final passage of bills and all other matters.

It ended a committee controversy which had started with the intent of giving the lieutenant governor less power than he had last year, but wound up giving him more.

★ ★ ★

The decision will go up for Senate approval, probably next week, along with the rest of the chamber's proposed rules.

UNANIMOUS

The 5-0 decision on the issue followed a Republician Senate caucus at which it was decided to go along with the opinion of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley that the constitution awards such a vote to the lieiutenant governor.

Milliken had vowed a fight to the Supreme Court on any restriction put on his tie-breaking powers.

Seemingly conflicting constitutional provisions had created the question.

At one point, the lieutenant governor is given tie-breaking power. But another provision says final passage of bills require approval of a majority of senators elected.

NOT ELECTED SENATOR

Some who favored power-trimming contended the lieutenant governor, while presiding officer of the Senate, was not an "elected senator."

He is chosen on the ticket with his party's candidate for governor under the state's new constitution.

But Kelley, reiterating a year-old opinion, had told the committee Tuesday that taken together, the two constitutional provisions involved allow a tie-breaking vote on final bill passage.

And as the committee finally agreed, the lieutenant governor wins more power than he had last year, when he could vote on amendments but not on final passage.

★ ★ ★

Originally the committee tentatively approved taking away his vote on amendments.

10 State Dems Seek Repeal of Tax Ban

LANSING (AP) — Ten Democratic senators want to repeal the State Constitution's prohibition of a graduated income tax.

They planned to introduce today a joint resolution providing for a statewide vote of repeal of Constitution Article Nine, Section Seven, which states:

★ ★ ★

"No income tax graduated as to rate or base shall be imposed by the state or any of its subdivisions."

Talk of a state income tax is being heard more and more as costs of government rise.

GREATER PROPORTION

Some proponents believe that an income tax should be graduated, as is the federal income tax—that is, a person with high income contributes a greater proportion of his income than someone with low income.

★ ★ ★

Some tax backers have suggested the state assess an income tax based on a percentage of federal income tax, which they claim would drastically reduce adminstrative costs. This would be impossible under the present constitutional restriction.

Death of Cass Man Said Due to Exposure

UNION (AP) — Exposure has been ruled tentatively as the cause of death of Harold Inman, 44, of rural Cass County, Sheriff Robert Dool said Wednesday. He said an autopsy and preliminary investigation appeared to rule out foul play. Inman's body was discovered Tuesday outside his home along U.S. 12, west of here.

Glowing Steel Picture Casts Shadows of Slump, Stockpiles, Higher Prices

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP) — Glowing financial and production statistics of the steel industry, thundering along at nearly full speed, have ominous between the lines meaning.

Read expertly, the message is there unmistakably — slump ahead.

★ ★ ★

It also says: A climb in steel imports and, in a little hazier lettering, either squeezed profits

News Analysis

in 1965 or higher prices that could trigger a skirmish with the government.

Fear of a springtime steel strike is at the root of the trouble.

ECONOMIC BLOW

The slump, depending on how severe, conceivably could throw the nation's economic expansion off stride. And if price action occurs, inflationary implications also are possible.

★ ★ ★

What the glowing figures say between the lines is that big steel users — auto, appliance, machinery makers and the like — are inflating orders, and have been for months, to stockpile steel as a hedge against a possible strike by United Steelworkers after May 1.

★ ★ ★

When, and if, the strike threat is past, they naturally will start using up swollen reserves and cut back orders at the mill. Steel production, employment and profits then can be expected to fall abruptly.

Steel executives are keenly aware of the situation. They say they are powerless to deal with it.

ARTIFICIAL PUSH

"Stockpiling creates an artificial stimulus to the steel industry during the accumulation phase and an artificial depression during the working off phase," Edmund F. Martin, board chairman of Bethlehem Steel Corp., said Wednesday greatly complicating the situation is a moratorium in USW-steel company wage contract negotiations caused by election campaign quarreling within the union. USW balloting in a contest for top offices is scheduled Feb. 8, with the outcome expected to be close — possibly indecisive.

Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel Corp. estimated that inventories gradually had been increased by 5 million tons or so by Dec. 31, and that another 5 or 6 million tons would be added to stockpiles by April 30, boosting the total to about 26 million tons, (equal to four months' consumption in 1963.

Holland Cafe Owner Charges 1910 Prices

HENGELO, Holland (UPI) — Patrons of the "N Zoern" Restaurant here received a pleasant surprise yesterday when they were charged the prices of 55 years ago.

★ ★ ★

The restaurant's owner, Ter Horst, is closing down his restaurant, which was built in 1910. As a farewell gesture, he lowered all prices to the level of that year.

Hunter Bags Big Wildcat

LIVERMORE, Ky. (AP) — Although John R. Stofer didn't bag any squirrels on his hunting trip, he's still the envy of his friends.

★ ★ ★

Stofer was sitting under a tree watching for squirrels when a large wildcat appeared 10 feet away. He downed it with one shot.

★ ★ ★

The cat, weighing 17 pounds and measuring 30 inches, was the first killed in Ohio County in years.

First Message Is Sent From Plane Via Space

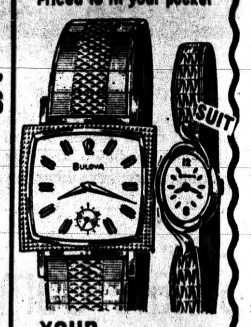

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pan American World Airways has reported the first aircraft-to-ground radio message to travel via satellite.

★ ★ ★

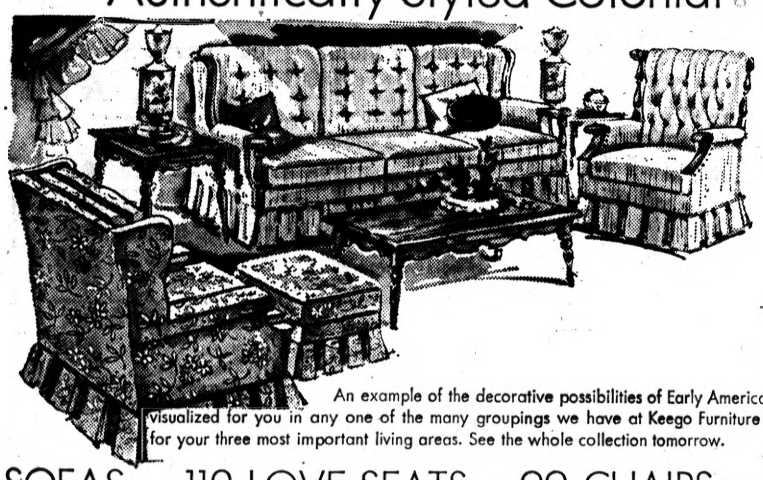

Pan Am announced here yesterday that one of its jet clippers, en route from San Francisco to Honolulu, sent and received messages through Syncom III, which is in stationary orbit over the Gilbert Islands.

Junior Editors Quiz on STARS

QUESTION: Will Polaris always be the North Star?

ANSWER: Polaris is a very useful star to know about, because, as the earth revolves, the other stars appear to change their positions, while Polaris stays in the same place.

This is because the axis of the revolving earth, at least the part which extends toward the north, points to the spot in the sky where Polaris shines.

For this reason, if we can find which star Polaris is, we will always know that we are facing north when we are looking at it. This would help a person find his way if he ever got lost on a clear night.

Bill is showing his sister, in the picture, how to find Polaris. "The big stars of the Great Dipper (left) are easy to find," Bill is saying. "The two fingers of my left hand represent the outer stars of the cup part of the Dipper.

"Imagine a line running through them, such as I am pointing with my right forefinger. The next star out on this line is Polaris, the Pole Star."

As the earth spins, it also wobbles back and forth, somethink like a top slowing down. For this reason, it's axis moves very slowly, in a circle, and does not always point to Polaris.

★ ★ ★

Three thousand years ago, the Pole Star was Alpha Draconis; 2000 years ahead, Alpha Cephei will be the Pole Star.

FOR YOU TO DO: Go out on the next clear night and see if you can locate Polaris, using Billy's system.

British Labor Party Having Labor Pains

Britain's Labor Party is finding that the role of opposition to government in power is more suited to its proclivities than administration of it.

The party, headed by Prime Minister HAROLD WILSON, squeaked into power last fall with a margin of but five parliamentary seats. WILSON has had to depend on the shaky support of the Liberal Party's paltry bloc of nine votes to exercise any sort of command.

But the socialistic orientation of Labor — nationalization of many segments of industry including steel — immediately plunged the Kingdom and its new government into trouble.

Already contending with a serious deficit balance of international payments, the British pound, because of loss of confidence in it, has had to be propped up by a consortium of world governments, while WILSON resorted to questionable economic palliatives to keep the pound on British soil.

Adding to these administration woes, moreover, was the recent double shock suffered by Labor in two by-elections in which its majority in Parliament was cut to three.

In one election, Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker lost to a Conservative in a hand-picked district considered unbeatably Labor. The minister subsequently resigned.

In the other, a significant straw in the wind was indicated by the voting in a district of the industrial Midlands that halved Labor's majority from that of the previous election.

★ ★ ★

These adverse electoral results would seem to rule out any plans WILSON might have to call a surprise general election this spring with hope of enlarging his slim parliamentary edge while strengthening Conservative hopes for an early return to power.

'Retired' Missiles Served Nation Well

History moves with such rocket speed these days that even rockets can't keep up with it.

Hardly had they been tucked in their concrete silos around the country than some 150 Atlas and Titan I missiles are to be hoisted out and retired. They'll be replaced by the more versatile and efficient Titan II and Minuteman ICBMs.

For the few years of their reign, however, these old missiles helped keep the peace. It would be fitting if some of them found a last use as satellite launchers in peaceful space exploration.

But even if they are consigned to the scrap heap, it is a better end than that for which they were designed in case of war. It is to be hoped their successors follow them there as quickly.

Railroad's Fare Drop Not Drop in Bucket

One of the major problems facing metropolitan areas is public transportation between central cities and their environs.

Every commuter does not travel by auto, although a look at jammed highways might indicate it, and many suburbanites depend on rail service as essential to their mode of business life.

★ ★ ★

But the rub is, there are not enough of them to make commuter service profitable for the railroads. And with other sources of rail revenue under competitive attack, the carriers generally have come to the end of the line in subsidizing losses from short-haul passenger service.

The state of the Grand Trunk's suburban service is typical of the impasse that railroads have reached, despite the booming economy of the U.S.

Since its peak year in 1954 when the line carried 1.1 million suburban passengers, the number of riders had declined to 443,624 in 1963.

In 1963, commuter service cost the railroad $80,824, and the 1964 loss is expected to reach $200,000.

★ ★ ★

Since no business enterprise can continue indefinitely under such circumstances, the day may not be far off when commuters may be faced with the grim realization that of the thousands of laws on the books relating to railroads, the inexorable one of supply and demand heads the list.

Dramatic Chiefs of World Fading

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — If the world seems unusually quiet these days, even dull, one reason is that President John F. Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev were better actors, travelers and talkers than their successors.

MARLOW

With them gone, this has become the era of the technicians in Washington and Moscow. But those two capitals aren't the only places where the sparkle has diminished.

The pulse of the world has slowed down because there is not one truly dramatic figure left, or in sight, to make it skip a beat except for French President Charles de Gaulle, and he's old and he's been playing it cool.

Yet this century has had its share of vivid men, particularly these: Three presidents, Wilson and the two Roosevelts, the Kaiser, Sir Winston Churchill, Lenin, Stalin, Trotsky, Hitler, Mussolini, Gandhi, Nehru.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson is at his best operating behind the scenes. There's hardly a peep out of the men who took Khrushchev's place.

KENNEDY WAS ATTRACTION

Kennedy kept American eyes and expectations fixed on the White House if only because his televised news conferences were always a good show: His wit, his gestures, his facial expressions, his sharp intelligence.

Johnson talks a lot and even performs a bit, like pulling the Beagle's ears or grabbing tourists' hands, but he is not at his best in speaking or writing. He reportedly bristles when anyone suggests he's corny.

Just a little over 100 days ago Khrushchev was put in limbo by his Kremlin colleagues. His place was taken by a two-man leadership: Premier Kosygin and Soviet Communist Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev.

★ ★ ★

They've been practically speechless ever since. The party explained one reason they moved in was because Khrushchev had become too much of a one-man show. They called it a leadership cult.

NEW LEADERS UNDRAMATIC

Kosygin and Brezhnev — compared with the bouncy, flamboyant, sometimes giddy, merry, somber, cheerful, threatening, coaxing cajoling, beguiling and always forceful Khrushchev — are as undramatic as a grocer taking inventory.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle doesn't say much but he's one man who doesn't have to. More than any modern leader he could make a grand spectacle out of silence. If he just leads a parade, with his nose in the air, he can make it look like an expedition against the gates of time.

"Gentlemen, We Must Develop A Defense Against The Missile Defense!"

David Lawrence Says:

Warren 'Slip' in Step With Times

WASHINGTON—Maybe Chief Justice Warren didn't make a slip, after all, when he administered the oath of office to Lyndon B. Johnson on inauguration day. The Constitution specifies the oath to be taken by an incoming president as follows:

LAWRENCE

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

But when the chief justice read it at the inauguration this year, he spoke of "the office of the presidency of the United States." Mr. Johnson repeated the same words in taking the oath.

This might seem to be merely a slight change in the wording of the oath, but actually it could have more meaning than appears on the surface. For, in prescribing the exact words of the oath, the Founding Fathers perhaps didn't realize that, with the passage of time, people would be inclined to speak of "the office of the presidency" as being at least modern and up-to-date.

★ ★ ★

Again and again, the Constitution has been interpreted by the highest court in the land to have meanings which the framers of the Constitution may not have thought of but which, in the development of the republic, now are considered by many to be applicable.

FAR MORE

Too often, unfortunately, those who have criticized the Supreme Court have forgotten that, in the evolution of American life, many changes have occurred, and it may be noted that "the office of the presidency" comprehends far more today than it ever did before in the history of the American republic.

The powers of the presidency now are manifold, and the responsibilities of the office are more extensive than they were a century or more ago.

The school of thought which believes that the Constitution should be "modernized" — not necessarily by the people in the prescribed way but by the Supreme Court in its opinions—has argued again and again that the Supreme Court has the power to interpret the Constitution in the light of the changes that have occurred.

★ ★ ★

Thus, in the famous desegregation decision of 1954, the Supreme Court brushed aside all precedents and said that it had discovered new meanings for Constitutional provisions, which it promptly applied as "the law of the land."

CAPTIOUS CRITICS

Doubtless there will be the usual captious critics who will raise a question as to whether Mr. Johnson was constitutionally inaugurated since he did not actually speak the words of an oath identical with what is prescribed in the Constitution.

But there are always legalists who look at things literally, instead of recognizing that some meanings become obsolete and that the spirit of the words of the Constitution is considered today more important than any fidelity to literalism — which seems also to have become old-fashioned.

But if there are any doubts on the subject, they may be dismissed because, after all, it seems unlikely that members of the Supreme Court would ever countenance for one moment the idea that anything a chief justice said in reading from the Constitution could possibly be due to a misprint or be a misreading of the text.

As a matter of fact, the new school of thought would probably be able to make a very good argument in favor of changing future oaths to conform to what Chief Justice Warren proclaimed on Jan. 20 this year.

★ ★ ★

It can, indeed, be argued that Warren has certainly improved the wording of the oath and given it more vitality and freshness, and that he has brought it more within "the spirit of the times" than his predecessors ever did as each president recited the oath on inauguration day.

Bob Considine Says:

Hair-Raising Tales Fill Westminster Hall History

LONDON — The carpenters were hammering and sawing away at the catafalque's platform in the center of Westminster Hall. They might have been erecting a fruit or a flower stand, for all the reverence they showed.

CONSIDINE

What they were building was the place where the body of Winston Churchill would lie on view for 23 hours each day and night between early yesterday morning until he is taken to St. Paul's Saturday morning.

The sounds of the hammers and saws, and the muffled orders about the laying of the carpeting on the old four-foot-square flagstones of the chilled place ricocheted off walls and beams that could tell a thousand hair-raising tales about lusty titans and timorous weaklings who lived and died before Churchill was ever heard of.

This hall was the womb of Parliment, a place that in its original form knew the footsteps of Simon de Montefort 700 years ago this month.

★ ★ ★

Richard the Second, who restored it in 1377, had the misfortune to be tried and dethroned in the splendor of his handiwork 22 years later.

CADAVER EXHUMED

Charles II, avenging the beheading of Charles I, ordered the cadaver of their tormentor Oliver Cromwell exhumed, its head severed and hung from a beam above the point where Sir Winston will lie in state.

Churchill would have enjoyed some of the state banquets forgotten kings of England threw before Shakespeare was born.

As a journalist he would have done a fine job covering some of the atrocious trials that took place within its walls — trials that pioneered methods and ethics we inherited centuries later. The American Bar Association has met twice in Westminster Hall in commemoration.

It was a noisy Hogarth-type market for decades, survived the great London fires of 1666 and 1834, still bears the honored hash marks of Hitler's bombs.

HARDLY ALIEN

It is hardly alien corn for Churchill's body. He mourned there for Kings George V and VI, the unknown soldier of World War One and Queen Mary.

It was there on his 80th birthday that he made one of the better speeches of his later life, an emotion-filled response after the unveiling of a portrait of himself.

Some in the U.S. may have wondered about the three-day delay between the death and the beginning of the lying in state.

★ ★ ★

I did too until sitting through a windy session of Commons and a fumbling press conference given by the Duke of Norfolk on Monday, at which details were discussed.

One came away wondering if either could ever get the sad, sad show on the road.

Since the three civil rights workers were trying to do what they thought was the right thing, you might say they were also doing their job. Says Integration Should Work in Reverse

A Pontiac Central booster expressed concern over a lack of support for the school's basketball team. It's high time integration began working in reverse. The school's enrollment is two-thirds white, yet there's only one white participant on the team and he warms the bench.

True, the Negroes may be superior jumpers and shooters, but coaches have always stressed that being able to take part is more important than winning. The integration leaders of today want a fair percentage of both races in just about everything, don't they coach?

Says Every Controversy Has Two Sides

Concerned is right in remarks about the partiality this Administration is showing to certain segments of our Great Society. I'm afraid the press is aiding. I saw three accounts of the same incident in Selma, Alabama on two separate days, but not one photo of what happened before that policeman pushed that Negress, or what she did to merit the pushing. It would be nice if the press and television would tell us both sides of a question. Every controversy has two sides.

Wants Action to Replace TB Sanatorium

How can the special committee for relocating patients of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium justify transferring TB patients to Herman Kiefer and Mayberry? Oakland County had one of the finest, if not the finest, TB sanatorium in the State. To throw this away because someone waved $1 million at the Board of Supervisors is poor use of responsibility.

A new TB sanatorium has been promised by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. Let's see if action to replace the sanatorium can be as fast as it was when it came to selling it.

J. C. D.

Why didn't County officials consider the desperate situation in housing tuberculosis patients before selling the sanatorium? There were 115 patients in the 168 bed hospital.

★ ★ ★

The Board of Supervisors and TB Committee can restore our faith in their sincerity to serve Oakland County by starting immediate plans to build another facility before the money in spent for something else. It seems a shame to spend from $19 to $23 to "farm out" patients, rather than put it toward a sanatorium of our own.

We hear that $3 thousand income per year puts a family in the poverty line, although a couple earning this, with no dependents, pays $300 income tax. Furnace Firm Fined $100,000

CHICAGO (AP)—A Michigan firm must pay a $100,000 contempt of court fine and its former president must go to jail for six months unless a ruling made yesterday by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago is upset.

The firm is the Holland Furnace Co. of Holland and the former president is Paul Cheff.

The fine resulted from the company's failure to comply with a court order to cease and desist from alleged high-pressure sales tactics.

In addition to Cheff, Alvin W. Klomparens and Richard S. Koerner, former vice presidents and sales managers for Holland, were fined $500. All three were released on bond and allowed five days to file motions for new trial.

SCARE TACTICS

The ruling, in a case involving alleged scare tactics to push sales of furnaces, was the first criminal contempt decision handed down by the court since its establishment in Chicago in 1891.

Charles Trynin, attorney for the company, told the court that Holland's financial condition is such that it would be compelled to file a bankruptcy petition within hours if it pays the fine.

He asserted that more than $5 million in uncollectible accounts receivable have been charged off because of an earlier order by the Federal Trade Commission accusing the company of undesirable sales practices.

"People got furnaces for nothing, because they refused to make payments following issuance of the cease and desist order," he said.

PRIOR TO FINE

Trynin said that even prior to the fine, the company would have had to raise additional capital within 30 to 60 days to avoid bankruptcy proceedings.

Eight other defendants, including six former directors of the firm, were acquitted, Cheff's wife, Catherine, was one of the directors.

★ ★ ★

In 1958, the Federal Trade Commission ordered the firm to stop alleged high-pressure sales practices. The FTC said that firm's agents would gain entry to a home by posing as heating inspectors or municipal officials and, once inside, would tell the homeowner the furnace was in "dangerous" condition and needed immediate replacement.

Site Picked for Hole in Earth Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ocean area near Hawaii has been tentatively selected as the site for the historic attempt to drill a six-mile deep hole into the earth through the ocean bottom, the National Science Foundation announced yesterday.

Drilling is expected to begin in 1968 at the earliest, the NSF said.

But preliminary, shallower drilling with scientific import of its own is expected to begin early in 1967 at six other sites in the Pacific. Drilling of the major hole is expected to take up to three years.

It's all a part of a venture known as "Project Mohole" — an attempt to gain knowledge of the earth's origin, structure, minerals-making and earthquake-brewing.

★ ★ ★

The operation is expected to cost $70 million in the first three years, including the cost of major equipment, and $8 million a year thereafter until the job is done.

INITIAL DECISION

Dr. Leland Haworth, NSF director, said the foundation's "initial" decision to select the Hawaiian site was made on the basis of scientific information presently available.

He said this decision could be changed "should new information indicate that some as yet unidentified site would better fulfill our scientific objectives."

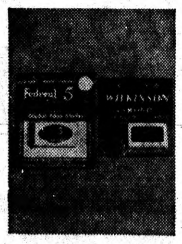

But other spokesmen for NSF told a reporter it is highly unlikely a better spot will be uncovered before drilling begins.

The Hawaii site is in the mid-Pacific about 100 miles north northeast of Maui in the Hawaiian Islands.

King, Honored at Dixie Banquet, Urges Peoples of World to Learn to Live Together

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. called on the peoples of the world "to learn the practical art of living together as brothers" during an Atlanta banquet honoring him for winning the Nobel Peace Prize.

★ ★ ★

An estimated 1,500 persons — including many prominent in business, religious and civic affairs of the city — gave the Negro integration leader and native son a standing ovation at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel Wednesday night.

There were about equal numbers of Negroes and whites present, among them three of King's four young children, bright-eyed and almost too excited to stand up when they were introduced.

★ ★ ★

King said the great new problem facing the nation and all mankind is this: "We have inherited a big house, a great 'world house' in which we have to live together — black and white, Easterners and Westerners, Gentiles and Jews, Catholic and Protestant: A family unduly separated in ideas and culture — who, because we can never again live without each other, must learn, somehow, in this one big nation, to live with each other."

RETURNS FROM SELMA

King, 36, who is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, returned to Atlanta for the banquet from Selma, Ala., where he was leading a Negro voter registration drive.

★ ★ ★

"I have known very few quiet days in the last few years," he told the hushed, capacity crowd and the waiters and waitresses lining the walls to hear him.

★ ★ ★

"A day seldom passes that my family and I are not the recipients of threats of death," he said.

★ ★ ★

So many unkind things are said, King continued, that "it is a refreshing experience to have these high mountaintop moments all the way from Oslo to Atlanta." He received the Nobel Peace Prize at Oslo, Norway, Dec. 10, 1964.

'VALLEY CALLS'

"I must confess that I have enjoyed being on this mountaintop, and I am tempted to want to stay here and retreat to a more quiet and serene life. But something within me reminds me that the valley calls me," he said.

"I must return to the valley all over the South and in the big cities of the North — a valley filled with millions of our white and Negro brothers who are smothering in an air-tight cage of poverty in the midst of an affluent society," King said, pledging to continue his campaign of nonviolence to end racial discrimination.

★ ★ ★

Rabbi Jacob Rothschild of the Temple Synagogue, who acted as master of ceremonies for the banquet sponsored by Atlanta citizens, presented King with a large glass bowl inscribed to him as "citizen of Atlanta, with respect and admiration."

'Where Were You?'

GAASTRA (AP) — Intruders broke into the police station of this Iron County community of 582 people this week. State Police said nothing was stolen, but they found a typewritten note reading: "We were here."

Mars Probe Is Third of Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Mariner 4 spacecraft has traveled almost one-third of its 325-million-mile path to Mars since its launching two months ago, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today. The probe's 9 a.m. position was 11,873,789 miles from earth. It was traveled nearly 105 million miles.

★ ★ ★

Mariner project officials said all of its systems are operating normally. Mariner 4 is scheduled to fly by Mars on July 14.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has approved the sale of Lafayette, La., television station KLFY-TV to Texoma Broadcasters Inc., a firm partially owned by President Johnson's family.

Wednesday's FCC vote was 3 to 1. Price of the station was $2,693,311.

Texoma is 20 per cent owned by M. N. Bostick and 80 per cent owned by KWTX Broadcasting Co., Waco, Tex., which in turn is 29 per cent owned by Texas Broadcasting Corp.

LADY BIRD

Mrs. Johnson holds majority stock interest in Texas Broadcasting and the two Johnson daughters also have an interest. A trustee is now controlling and administering the stock.

FCC Commissioner Robert Bartley opposed the sale on grounds the station's present owners, Camellia Broadcasting Co., are Lafayette residents while none of the prospective purchasers lives in Louisiana.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential aide Walter Jenkins says his family has no present plans to move from Washington to Austin, Tex. But he confirmed that his 14-year-old twin sons, John and Joe, have enrolled at a high school in the Texas capital.

Reached by telephone, Jenkins was asked if his family planned to move to Austin. "No, not at present," he replied.

★ ★ ★

Jenkins resigned at President Johnson's request after it became known that he had been arrested twice on morals charges, once in 1959 and the second time last October.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board reported Wednesday that U.S. gold supplies declined by $95 million in December, bringing the total 1964 loss to $125 million.

★ ★ ★

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named Douglas MacArthur II, now U.S. ambassador to Belgium, to be assistant secretary of state for congressional relations.

Dallas Area to Go 'KKK'

DALLAS (AP) — There are going to be a lot of cars bearing license plates with "KKK" letter prefixes on Dallas streets this year.

★ ★ ★

In this case, however, the letters don't represent the common abbreviation for the Ku Klux Klan organization.

★ ★ ★

For the first time Texas is issuing auto tags bearing three instead of two letters, which are followed by numerals. Steady growth in the number of motor vehicles dictated the change.

Only Dallas County will receive "KKK" plates.

Senate Urged to Reverse Ban on Surplus Food Sale to U.A.R.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has launched an all-out drive in the Senate to reverse the ban on sale of surplus food to the United Arab Republic voted by the House.

All 100 senators were invited but only about one-third attended a hurriedly called meeting Wednesday to hear Secretary of State Dean Rusk argue for a reversal.

★ ★ ★

The administration contends that if the Senate goes along with the House the effect would be to limit President Johnson's flexibility in dealing with UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Senators said Rusk also argued at the closed session that the House action is an attempt to "usurp" the President's authority in the area of foreign policy.

FIRST TEST

The 204-177 House vote Tuesday was the first test in the new Congress of the overwhelming Democratic majority, and when the chips were down this majority blew apart. Voting for the ban were 128 Republicans and 76 Democrats; voting against the ban were 177 Democrats.

It was difficult to measure how much headway Rusk may have made Wednesday. It is also difficult to determine why the House did what it did, although some things are obvious.

★ ★ ★

There is strong resentment against Nasser, who told the United States last month the U.A.R. does not need America's money and "anyone who does not like our attitude can drink from the sea" which translates roughly to "go to hell."

The combative stance Nasser takes toward Israel hurts him among those Congress members who view Israel as a dmocratic state and the U.A.R. as a threat to stability in the Middle East.

AMEND BILL

What the House did was to amend an agrciulture appropriation bill to bar shipment of surplus farm goods to the U.A.R. The author of the amendment, Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill., said it covers $37 million in wheat, tobacco and vegetable oils still to be shipped to Cairo under an agreement that expires in October.

The next big test of the administration's influence on Capitol Hill comes when Rusk appeals for elimination of the amendment at an open hearing of the Senate Appropriations Committee, possibly next week.

Pilferers Put Pinch on Patrolling Pinscher

GARDENA, Calif. (AP) — Thefts stopped at Hughie Cummings' auto wrecking yard when he bought a watchdog to guard the place — a 70-pound Doberman Pinscher "so vicious," said Cummings, "he even bit me."

But thefts started again Tuesday night, Cummings told police Wednesday.

Thousands of the saguaro cacti in Arizona's Saguaro National Monument are from 175 to 200 years old, but few survive beyond the second century.

Two Key Measures Ready for Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate takes up today the administration's bill to aid the depressed 11-state Appalachian region. Democratic leaders hope to have it on its way to the House by nightfall with ringing Senate approval.

Before the $1,092,000,000 measure, passed speedily by the public works committee Wednesday, comes up for Senate debate, the leaders will seek a vote on an administration bill to tighten control of water pollution. This, too, is expected to pass and be sent to the House.

While expressing pleasure that both bills are ready so early, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana noted, however, that the last Senate also approved them. They foundered in the House where they were not put to a vote.

The water pollution bill would authorize larger federal grants to help cities build sewage treatment plants, make available $80 million for a research program on better methods of handling sewage, and strengthen government enforcement of antipollution measures.

ECONOMIC BOOST

The Appalachia bill, under study since the first year of the Kennedy administration, is designed to give an economic boost to a 165,000-square mile, 11-state area. The Appalachian states are West Virginia, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Virginia.

★ ★ ★

The bulk of the money in the pending bill would be spent for new highways, but there also would be funds for a wide variety of other programs designed to boost employment and income.

Seeks Justice for State GI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul H. Todd, D-Mich., says he hopes that justice will be done and "pressures of expediency be resisted" in the case of Airman Larry Cole.

The Air Force, in a letter to Todd, said that according to its investigations, Cole, a native of Charlotte, Mich., while hunting off duty at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines, shot and killed a Filipino national. The incident occurred in November.

★ ★ ★

"There has been some agitation in the Philippines to have Airman Cole turned over to the local authorities for trial, instead of going through a regular military court-martial," Todd said in a statement.

Todd said he has discussed the case with the State Department and the Air Force.

FAIR TRIAL

"I particularly urged that Airman Cole be given a fair trial, by the appropriate authorities," Todd said.

Wintry Cold Hammers Away at North

By The Associated Press

Another blast of rough wintry weather — cold, snow and gusty winds — hammered northern areas of the nation today from the Rockies into New England.

Bitter cold hit northern Midwest regions, with temperatures far below zero. Near blizzard conditions swept eastern sections of Montana and north central Wyoming Wednesday.

Temperatures in the coldest areas — northern Minnesota and the Dakotas—dropped to between 20 and 30 degrees below zero. Cold wave warnings were extended from southeastern Iowa and Arkansas to Indiana and Tennessee. Subzero marks were expected southward into northeastern Missouri and central Indiana.

Snow, fanned by brisk winds, swirled along the cold front from Lower Michigan to Nebraska and the northern Rockies. Three inches of snow fell in a six-hour period in Muskegon, Mich., making a covering of more than one foot.

TWO FEET

Snow measured nearly two feet in Wyoming and more than one foot in Montana. Heavy drifting was reported in many areas and some major highways were closed.

Up to a foot of snow whitened areas east of Lake Ontario Wednesday and similar coverings were indicated in western areas of New York State during the day. Snow squalls and flurries peppered most of the eastern Great Lakes region and the northern Appalachians.

Meanwhile, fairly pleasant weather prevailed across most of the southern half of the nation.

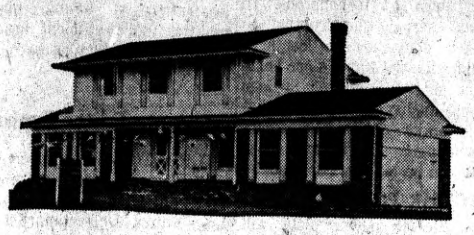

But in the Far West more rain, melting snow and rising temperatures sent some rivers overflowing and other streams to near flood stage in parts of Oregon and Washington.

California's Mammoth Dam Project Prevented Tragic Flood

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — AP SPECIAL REPORT

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — It was Christmas 1955 and down poured the rain, pushing the mighty Feather River over its banks and on a destructive rampage through neighboring Yuba City and Marysville northeast of San Francisco.

Nine years later, in Christmas week 1964 along the north coast, the deadly rivers with the colorful names went wild again — the Mad, Van Duzen, Trinity, Russian, Eel — washing whole villages away, killing more than a score, crippling the lumber industry.

But in Yuba City and Marysville on the Feather, nothing serious happened. Ugly and fast — but controlled — the water surged under the bridge connecting the two cities.

The reason? A close vote of the people and a partly constructed dam.

VOTE IN 1960

The vote came in 1960, when Californians approved by fewer than 150,000 votes a $1.75-billion bond issue — the largest ever authorized by any state —to finance the world's biggest water system.

★ ★ ★

The outcome of the vote reflected the deep split in opinion. Residents along the wet Oregon border voted 4-1 against moving their water south; along the arched Mexican border, results were 4-1 in favor.

It was Oroville Dam — a key element in the now $2-billion project — that saved Yuba City and Marysville. "Unfinished Oroville Dam took the top off a flood crest exceeding that of 1955 and prevented another '55 flood disaster." explains William E. Warne, director of California water resources.

★ ★ ★

"During the hours when the great flood of 1964 was peaking or the Feather and Sacramento rivers downstream, nearly 7,000 visitors went to the dam in driving rain squalls to see and many of them, to be grateful."

WORLD'S LARGEST

Gov. Edmund G. Brown had decided, against strong opposition, to start building the dam in 1960. When it rises to more than 750 feet on completion in 1968, Oroville will stand as the world's biggest earth-fill dam.

After the Christmas storm, an unexpected lake stood behind the dam, the forerunner of a body that will store 3½ million acre-feet of water to keep flowing the man-made river through central California, over the Tehachapi Mountains and into the terminal — Perris reservoir in Riverside County, 60 miles east of Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

"Inflexible deadlines" have been set to deliver water in lush central California's Kern County in 1968, to Los Angeles County in 1971 and Perris in 1972. The first water from the project already is flowing to areas around San Francisco through branch aqueducts.

★ ★ ★

For the millions in Southern California, the water will arrive just in time. For 1971 is almost exactly when the area's legal share of Colorado River water drops to what would be a crisis point without the state project.

SUPPLY IS NORTH

Eighty per cent of California's water need is in the booming southern half of the state — but 70 per cent of the supply is in the northern section, much of it forest and mountain.

Warne told a meeting last July in now flood-isolated Eureka that 10 million acre-feet of water roll down north coastal slopes and drain into the Pacific each year, wasted. As a comparison, the project will yield 4.23 million acre-feet yearly by 1972.

An acre-foot of water is an acre covered by water a foot deep.

The second key point in the facility is the pumping station to lift the water over the Tehachapi Mountains south of Bakersfield and drop it into the Los Angeles basin.

LONG JOURNEY

From its start in the wilds of the Sierra, the water will have flowed into and out of Oroville, down to the Sacramento-San Joaquin delta east of San Francisco, then on a 444-mile journey in an aqueduct.

At the Tehachapi crossing — a $225-million, six-year job now under way —great pumps will boost the water 1,920 feet to a tunnel system at an elevation 3,165 feet above sea level. Why cross so high when a lower-level crossing could be accomplished?

Earthquakes.

Alfred R. Golze, chief engineer of the Water Resources Department, explains:

★ ★ ★

"The Tehachapis are about as full of earthquake faults as they are of rattlesnakes, and they are about as treacherous. To avoid serious interruption to water deliveries to Southern California, the tunnels are being kept near the ground surface where they cross a fault so that if a major earthquake occurs any damage to the tunnel system can be quickly repaired."

NUCLEAR POWER

A nuclear power plant will provide the energy to move the pumps. The federal government and the state have agreed on joint participation, the state paying $80 million of the cost and Washington $20 million.

Although private power combines will take part, the plant will be state-owned and run. The pioneer facility is expected to be the forerunner of a new generation of atomic plants making more efficient use of atomic energy fuel reserves.

Bank Robber Is Sentenced

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)— Howard McCutcheon, 32, a silo salesman and community leader from Bronson, Mich., was sentenced Wednesday to three concurrent 20-year prison sentences for a series of bank robberies.

The 264-pound, 6-foot-2 amateur athlete, whose size finally led police investigators to him, wept as he told U. S. District Judge Jesse Eschbach he was sorry he had betrayed the trust of his friends.

★ ★ ★

Gilmore Haynie, McCutcheon's attorney, said the big man had coached Pony League baseball and amateur basketball teams and had been chairman of the Bronson Community Betterment Board.

Haynie said "something happened" to McCutcheon when he lost his eldest daughter in an auto accident a year ago and he began spending too much money on his two remaining children and running into debt. Then a drought in the area last summer killed the demand for new silos.

BANKS ROBBED

McCutcheon got $2,071 from a band at Howe, Ind., Sept. 18; $2,172 at Waldron, Mich., Sept. 28, and $14,000 at Hamilton, Ind., Nov. 30.

McCutcheon pleaded guilty earlier to the Indiana robberies and pleaded guilty to the Michigan charge Wednesday.

A large part of the money was found in a grain drill at McCutcheon's farm and all of it since has been repaid.

Michigan, Tennessee Schedule Cage Dates

KNOSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)— Tenessee Coach Ray Mears announced Wednesday that Michigan has agreed to play home and home basketball games with the Vols the next two seasons.

★ ★ ★

The first game will be played at Ann Arbor Next Dec. 1 and the Wolverines will play here Dec. 1, 1966.

Plan Appeal to State on Sewer Alternative

LAKE ORION—In another effort to forestall the construction of a $1.36-million sewer system, Village President William V. Shoup will try to get an audience with the Michigan Water Resources Commission to present an alternate plan.

The possibility of a meeting with the state commission grew out of a discussion of one alternative to the sewer system with Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW) officials and village engineers Hubbell, Roth & Clark of Birmingham.

The alternate plan involves an interceptor sewer which would run along Paint Creek, the pollution of which is the key issue.

The interceptor would collect polluted discharge from seven storm sewer outlets and take it to a settlement field for treatment.

★ ★ ★

Suggested by general contractor and village resident Bud Schaar, the plan would in effect create a combination storm and sanitary sewer line, which has not been favored by the state in the past.

MAY LISTEN

But the DPW told village officials and residents, after hearing the plan outlined, that the Water Resources Commission might be willing to listen to the alternate proposal.

Both Shoup and Lake Orion Homeowners Association president Mrs. Charles Robbins said that this was the first time the DPW had held out any hope that an alternate plan to the sewer system might be considered by the state.

Construction of a sewer system was ordered by the Water Resources Commission to eliminate Paint Creek pollution, but only after the sewer system plans were developed by Hubbell, Roth & Clark.

★ ★ ★

The village is presently being sued by both the state and the home owner's group.

DEADLINES PASSED

The state suit, filed by Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley last August, stemmed from Lake Orion's failure to meet planning deadlines for the sewer system last summer.

The home owner suit, being considered simultaneously by the court, was filed on behalf of village residents, and seeks to forestall construction of the sewer system, due to its cost.

AREA NEWS

Ft. Custer Land Study Sought

LANSING (UPI) — Rep. W. Scott Ensign, D-Battle Creek, yesterday introduced a resolution into the State House of Representatives calling for creation of a seven-member committee to investigate the acquisition of 14,000 acres of Ft. Custer land for the state.

Under the resolution, which was sent to committee, House Speaker Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, would appoint the members to investigate the acquisition of the land and developments located in the area of Ft. Custer near Battle Creek.

Particular study emphasis was called for on three possibilities:

- Continued provision of a children's home under the care of the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

★ ★ ★

- Establishment of a national cemetery on approximately 650 acres of that area.

MAJOR PORTION

- Reservation of the major portion of the remaining surplus area to be a recreation area for the people of Michigan under the care of the Michigan Department of Conservation.

★ ★ ★

Ft. Custer was declared surplus under sweeping cutbacks in military installations announced by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Missionary to Speak at Avon Church

AVON TOWNSHIP — A veteran missionary statesman will speak at 7 p.m. Sunday at Elmwood Methodist Church.

Rev. Joe Weatherly of Muskegon, vice president of Overseas for Gospel Films, Inc., will draw from his experiences in 99 countries for material for his talk.

He has been stationed in Bombay, India, for five years, in Singapore, Malaysia, for three and has encountered many Communist leaders on his travels.

The Rev. Mr. Weatherly heads the Overseas ministry of Gospel Films, which has resulted in Christian motion pictures being placed in 99 countries of the world, in 22 foreign languages, at no cost to missionaries.

Oxford Twp. Voting on Tax for Library

OXFORD TOWNSHIP—Qualified property owners and their spouses are going to the polls today to determine whether the Christian Slayton Free Public Library shall get tax support for 20 years.

Two proposals are on the ballot, and both must pass for the library to get the tax financing it seeks.

One would raise the tax limit in the township from 15 to 16 mills, making room for the one-mill library tax.

★ ★ ★

The other would order that the tax be levied.

The polls are open until 8 p.m.

Survival and Camping, Dublin PTA Subject

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—Survival and camping will be discussed at the Tuesday night meeting of the Dublin Elementary School PTA.

Hartly Thorton of the Proud Lake State Recreation Area will speak at the 8 p. m. program.

New 'Y' Exec for Rochester

Presently Working at Kokomo, Ind., Unit

ROCHESTER — A new executive secretary for the Rochester YMCA has been hired to take over the job March 15.

★ ★ ★

Carl Johnson, presently youth secretary at the Kokomo, Ind., YMCA, will succeed Jack Zahn, who left Rochester Jan. 15 for a similar position in West Allis, Wis.

The group of laymen who have been handling the activities of the local 'Y' since Zahn left will continue until the new secretary takes over.

The 38-year-old Johnson has been in 'Y' work all of his adult life. Prior to his job in Kokomo, where he served for five years, he worked in Rochester, N. Y.

★ ★ ★

He will be the Rochester unit's second executive secretary.

★ ★ ★

Married with two children, Johnson was one of four candidates interviewed by the 'Y' Committee of Management for the local position.

Of each public school dollar spent in Oakland County last year, 77 cents paid teacher salaries or bought books and other teaching equipment.

Open House in Novi

School Dedication Is Sunday

NOVI — Speeches, music and an open house will mark the dedication of the new Novi Secondary School Sunday.

Principal speaker at the 2 p. m. event will be Dr. John Tirrell, Oakland Community College president.

Music will be provided by the junior high chorus under the direction of Keith Rolston.

The major portion of the school has been open since September, when seventh, eighth and ninth graders started classes there.

The central portion of the $985,000 building, which has facilities for up to 700 junior and senior high students, contains a gymnasium, library and student commons.

CAFETERIA USE

The commons serves for cafeteria use, study hall and large group learning.

There also are areas for homemaking, shop, arts and crafts, music and typing in addition to the basic areas of instruction.

A six-classroom wing is the academic center for the junior high students now there. A similar wing is expected to be constructed by 1967 when Novi will start its own high school.

Novi students in the top three grades now attend Northville High School.

SCHOOL DESIGN

Located on an 80-acre Taft Road site just south of 11 Mile, the school was designed by O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach Associates of Birmingham.

Property owners approved the bond issue for the building in April 1963, and the school district presently is levying a 4.5-mill tax to finance the issue.

Bersche Construction Co. of Pontiac was the general contractor for the building, submitting a $522,607 bid.

Subcontracts and architect's fees took the construction total to $883,016. An estimated $100,000 was spent on equipment and furnishings.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Besides Tirrell, others to speak Sunday will include Schools Supt. Thomas Culbert.

President William MacDermaid will accept the building from the architects on behalf of the board of education.

Responses will be given for the staff by Principal Samuel Stewart, for the student body by a student council representative and for the community by Novi Village President Joseph Crupi.

Rev. Lavere Webster of the Novi Methodist Church will deliver the invocation and Rev. Peter Tonella of Holy Cross Episcopal Church Mission the benediction.

Film Series to Start at Church in Oxford

OXFORD — The first in a series of 12 episodes in a new Living Christ motion picture series will be shown Sunday at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.

Entitled "Holy Night," the first episode is an account of Isaiah's prophesy and its fulfillment, and covers the journey to Bethlehem, manger scene and adoration of the shepherds.

★ ★ ★

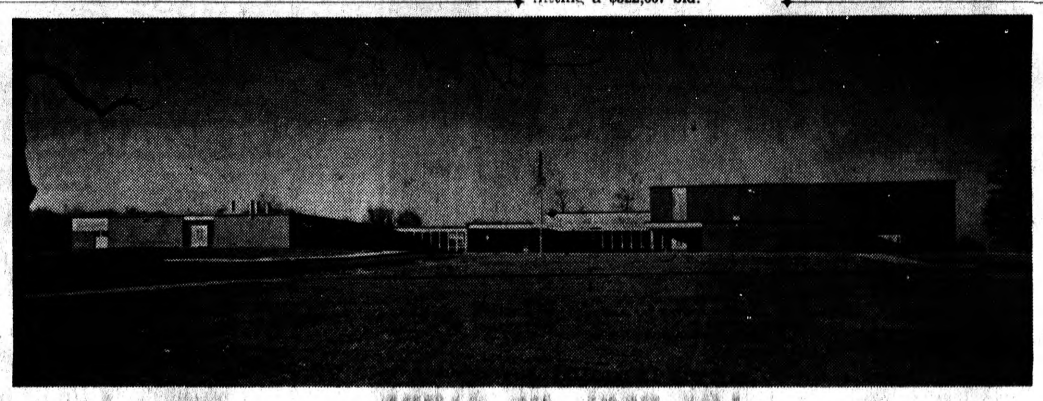

The full-color movie showing is open to the public. An offering will be taken.

The church is at 150 Pontiac.

Romeo Church to Show 'City of Bees' Film

ROMEO — A new color film, "The City of Bees," will be shown in the 7:30 p.m. service Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Romeo.

Produced by the Moody Institute of Science, a division of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, the movie provides a close look into the life, struggles, work and reproduction of the small insect.

First Concert for Orchestra

Group in Rochester to Perform Feb. 7

ROCHESTER — The newly formed Rochester Community Orchestra will present its first concert Feb. 7 in the high school student center.

Also participating in the 4 p.m. event will be the Rochester Tuesday Musicale Chorus.

Conducted by Richard Goldsworthy, high school band director, the orchestra was organized last fall for three distinct purposes:

- Members' individual enjoyment.
- To present good orchestral programs for public entertainment.
- To provide a source of instrumental assistance to other area music and drama groups.

★ ★ ★

Other incidental aims are to furnish a place for young instrumentalists to acquire orchestral experience and hopefully to create a demand for orchestral training in Rochester schools where none now exists.

FIRST PROGRAM

Among the composers to be featured in the first segment of the upcoming program are Bach, Schubert and Haydn and in the last, Fritz Kreisler and Cole Porter.

After the intermission, the Tuesday Musicale Chorus will be featured in four numbers. Singing a duet from Mozart's opera, "Marriage of Figaro," will be William VanderVen, who will be directing the group, and Mrs. Lyle Marshall.

Membership in the orchestra is still open, especially in the string section.

★ ★ ★

Instrumentalists interested in joining need only attend rehearsals held Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. in the high school band room.

★ ★ ★

Admission to the Feb. 7 concert will be free.

Urge County Dog Owners to Have Pets Vaccinated

Dr. Frank R. Bates, director of the Oakland County Animal Shelter, today urged all dog owners to have their pets protected against rabies.

★ ★ ★

The rabies vaccination is required before a license can be obtained for the dog. The deadline for securing a license at the regular fee is March 1.

After that date the rates will be doubled.

Inoculations will be given at nine county operated clinics before the deadline. The fee is $2.

The clinics will be operated at the following locations:

Animal Shelter, 1200 N. Telegraph, Saturday, Feb. 14 and Feb. 28; Wixom City Hall, 49045 Pontiac Trail, Sunday; Avon Township Precinct Hall, 276 W. Auburn, Feb. 6; White Lake Township Hall, M59 and Porter, Feb. 7; and the Highland Township Hall, Feb. 13.

Oakland Township, 4325 Territorial, Feb. 20; Holly Fire Hall, Feb. 20; Ortonville Fire Hall, Feb. 21; and Novi Township Hall, 25850 Novi, Feb. 27.

All the clinics will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. The 1965 dog licenses will be available at the clinics. The license fee for male and unsexed dogs is $1 and $2 for females.

Bates said that in 1964, Animal Welfare deputies issued nearly 1,000 court summons for unlicensed dogs running loose in the county.

CLEAR VALUE

"The value of rabies vaccination has been clearly demonstrated," said Bates. "Since 1954, no cases of rabies have been found in dogs in Oakland County."

Rabies was discovered in two animals, a skunk and a cat, last year.

"This indicates that we have rabies in wildlife." Bates said, "because it is assumed by leading authorities that rabies in cats is contracted through contact with skunks, and because the majority of cats receive no immunization against rabies."

★ ★ ★

A county ordinance requires the immunization of all dogs over the age of four months.

Freak Truck Fire Sparked by Tire Blowout on I-75

TROY — A blown tire yesterday afternoon caused a freak truck fire on I-75 near Long Lake Road that had to be extinguished twice.

★ ★ ★

A tractor-trailer combination owned by Thunder Bay Manufacturing Co. caught fire when one tire blew and apparently threw sparks that ignited the other tires and the trailer section.

★ ★ ★

The truck did not leave the road, but four tires burned before the blaze could be put out by Troy firemen shortly after noon.

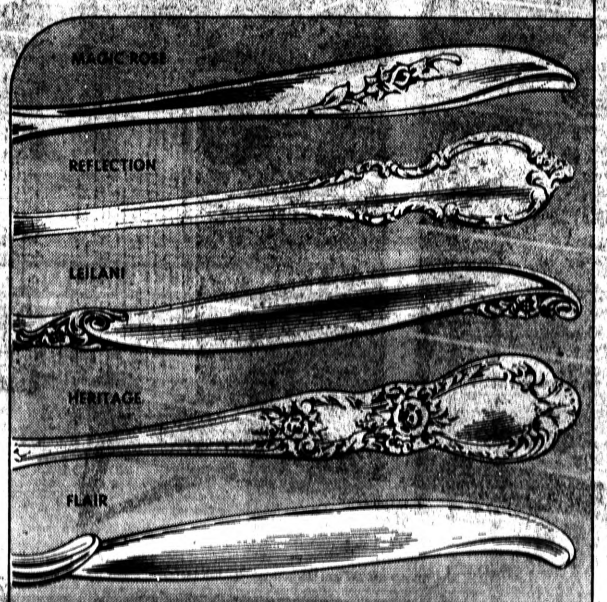

★ ★ ★

Less than an hour later, a Troy fire truck was called to the scene again to extinguish a flareup of one of the tires.

Baffling Question in Viet Nam: What Do the Buddhists Want?

By WILLIA ML. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

In the bewilderment generated by the Buddhists and the generals in South Viet Nam, the most baffling question is: What do the Buddhists want? The Buddhists themselves do not seem to know.

The new military coup in Saigon hardly can be interpreted as a step toward the stability the United States has sought in its efforts to keep South Viet Nam out of Communist hands.

★ ★ ★

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the durable young string-puller, simply reasserted military rule.

News Analysis

In effect, it was there all the time in spite of a facade of civilian government under the now deposed premier, Tran Van Huong.

★ ★ ★

Buddhists cheered Khanh's new coup, but it is difficult to see what they hope to gain from it. They demonstrated just as violently last summer against Khanh as they did against Huong.

SOME ENCOURAGEMENT

Some U.S. policy makers profess to see something encouraging in the latest development: that perhaps it will lead to some sort of viable civil rule. But Americans periodically expressed encouragement in the past, only to have their hopes smashed by new upheavals. There have been seven major ones since November 1963, when President Ngo Dinh Diem was overthrown.

★ ★ ★

Indeed, there can be new frustration for Americans. The upshot may be that Washington will have to choose between Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and Gen. Khanh, who evidently cannot abide the U.S. envoy.

★ ★ ★

Since the Buddhists enthusiastically share Khanh's distaste for Taylor, his usefulness is in doubt.

There can be no solution to Saigon's violent instability until somebody finds out what the Buddhists want. They have been the key.

CHANGING ATTITUDE

But do they know what they want? First, it was civilian rule. They got a form of it and turned against it. Then it was representative government. But they cheered when the military took over again this week.

Two years ago Buddhist unrest had religious overtones. They pictured themselves as oppressed by Diem, a Catholic. Since then, religion and politics have come together.

★ ★ ★

Evidently some influential Buddhist leaders have the idea that in some way they will be able to deal with the Communist threat because they are Asians and the Americans are not. The Communists have made the most of this notion.

★ ★ ★

The confusion has been a windfall to the Viet Cong. But now there probably are elements among the Buddhists hell-bent to keep the boat rocking. The Buddhist rank and file must by now be heavily infiltrated by Viet Cong agents.

57,000 Yanks Have Served

Casualties Top 360 Dead, 1,550 Hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 57,000 American servicemen have seen duty in South Viet Nam in three years of major U.S. involvement, the Pentagon disclosed today.

More than 360 of them have died, more than 1,550 have been wounded.

★ ★ ★

The proportion of officers has been high — about one for each three enlisted me, according to figures furnished the Associated Press.

At present the United States has 23,000 men in South Viet Nam. The Army has contributed about 15,000 of these troops.

NO CATEGORIES

The Pentagon declined on security grounds to provide a breakdown of the 57,000 by service. However, the Army has furnished about two-thirds since the beginning of the big U.S. effort.

Americans are sent to South Viet Nam on one- or two-year tours.

★ ★ ★

For a time, some special forces men — experts in counterguerrilla operations — were assigned there on six-month tours. But now they draw the same length of duty as the other U.S. personnel there.

★ ★ ★

Nobody has been ordered to South Viet Nam for a second tour unless he specifically volunteered for it, the Defense Department said.

AT HIGH POINT

At the beginning of 1962 there were 2,000 Americans in Viet Nam. By the beginning of 1964 the total stood at 15,500 and at the beginning of 1965 it was at the present level of 23,000 — the high point so far.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon said that about 14,000 officers and 43,000 enlisted men have spent duty time in South Viet Nam since Jan. 1, 1962.

★ ★ ★

The high proportion of officers and seasoned enlisted men in South Viet Nam is explained by the role they play there as individual advisers rather than with U.S. combat formations.

Official Opinion on 'Missile Gap' Crisis Split Sharply in 1960

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Was there really a missile gap? In the following, last of three articles, Everett S. Allen, of the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times tells what happened to the missile gap when Eisenhower left and the Kennedy administration took over. The Standard-Times made the series available to the Associated Press.)

By EVERETT S. ALLEN
Standard-Times Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The year 1960 was the peak of the "missile gap" crisis.

Gen. Thomas Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command, declared that with only 300 ballistic missiles the Soviets could virtually wipe out our nuclear strike capacity within 30 minutes.

★ ★ ★

With great reluctance and under pressure from those responsible for U.S. defense planning and security, President Dwight D. Eisenhower finally authorized two U2 flights specifically to look for deployed Soviet ICBM bases. One was the May 1 flight of Francis Gary Powers, who crashed and was captured.

The other, possibly on April 9, since an examination of Russian publications reveals they confirmed a U2 overflight on that date, reported to United States authorities the existence of two missile bases under construction in the northern area.

★ ★ ★

The fact that no more ICBM bases were observed was as puzzling as it was encouraging, and constituted evidence variously interpreted.

In retrospect, Allen Dulles, former head of the Central Agency, commented, "I think we are not to be criticized for sounding the alarm in the 1957-58 period, although perhaps we should have readjusted our figures downward more quickly when it appeared the Russians were not going to deploy the weapon they had tested."

1960 SITUATION

With the admitted advantage of retrospect, a Defense Department official of the Johnson administration summed up the 1960 situation this way for me:

"My reconstruction of events was that officials of the Eisenhower administration were aware as of that moment — 1960 — that the Soviets did not have ICBMs in any substantial number and that, therefore, at that time, there was no gap.

"Intelligence estimates, however, predicted for some time later a situation in which the Soviets might have many more than we. This was seen as possible 1961-62.

"This, however, was only a possibility. Whether it could happen was determined but unknown, because Soviet decisions would have had to be made previously. Their capabilities and intentions of an earlier time were unknown to us, and that was the difficulty.

NO GAP

"Looking back, in terms of ICBMs, there never was a gap. That is, they never could target more against us than we could against them. Maybe in 1960, there was a time when they had, say, three more, but never a large disparity even then; indeed, if there was a disparity, it was the other way."

The great concern of the U.S. military, understandable since it is their job to assume the worst and to be prepared for it, coupled with the fact that the cautiously reevaluated newer intelligence was available to few persons in government, tended to boost the gap to election-year prominence in 1960.

Then came the election and the John F. Kennedy administration, elected by a narrow margin, discovered that it had gone into the White House committed to rectify an Eisenhower error that hadn't been made. At a February 1961 press conference, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told reporters there really was no missile gap. This admission drew a storm of criticism from Republicans and others.

Actually, our assessment of the intelligence information in early 1961 still was not firm enough to lead everyone to support such a pronouncement as McNamara's. Dr. Jerome Wiesner, former science adviser to President Kennedy, commented, "at the beginning of the Kennedy administration, the estimates of Soviet missiles varied as much as 3-1. The Navy guessed they had 200 missiles; the Air Force, 600 to 800, and the CIA 450. I spent a week going through the estimates, all based on the same intelligence information. Anyone could make their own decision."

McNAMARA RECANTED

Even McNamara recanted. In April of the same year, he told Congress, "there is presently a missile gap. There is evidence that a missile gap may exist up to and through 1963."

But to replace the U2, the use of which had scuttled a summit conference and marred the U.S. image abroad, there came into being a new information-collection vehicle described to me by an American scientist familiar with its work as "certainly adequate" compared to the spy plane.

In 1961, the 4,100-pound Samos 2 was launched, completing an orbit of the earth every 98.2 minutes. The aim of this program is to produce pictures of military interest by starlight that will be equivalent to what the human eye would see at 100 feet in full daylight. The project is designed to relay detailed photos of the earth's terrain, and it is assumed the instrumentation of this highly classified craft includes infrared photographic equipment, high-resolution television cameras, and automatic cameras exposing large amounts of recoverable film. Our intelligence information was improved proportionately.

During 1963, the United States launched at least 35 military satellites. Virtually all related data is classified, but they included camera-equipped Samos reconnaissance craft; Midas, which when perfected, is expected to supply information on Soviet rocket launchings, and a pair of "watchdog" satellites planned to detect man-made nuclear explosions in space. These intelligence-gathering vehicles, coupled with other information-gathering systems developed since 1960, go a long way toward insuring against such national uncertainty as characterized the missile gap.

WIDE RANGE

Commenting on what the missile gap amounted to, and what it taught us as a nation, those whose views contributed in major degree to these articles have a wide range of reaction.

Dr. Wiesner remarked, "President Kennedy and Secretary McNamara were courageous in admitting that things were not as they had thought. Some accused Mr. Kennedy of knowing all along, but this was never the case."

★ ★ ★

Several persons whose views are incorporated in this article thought, and still feel, that the Eisenhower administration's level of armaments was adequate. Kennedy's defense advisers, however, called for roughly twice the force — a rise from a proposed ballistic missile force of 700 Minutemen without Polaris, to 1,900 including Polaris. It still is debatable which level is right.

"In any event," Dr. Wiesner continued, "everyone now admits that we outnumber the Russians in missiles. Considering the fact of three to five years lead time necessary to produce an operational missile, much of what we have today still is equipment designed or ordered by the Eisenhower administration."

The view of the Johnson administration as expressed to me by an official of the Defense Department; is equally interesting. He commented, "After the Kennedy administration came in, examination of intelligence estimates — new ones, as I recall — indicated that was not then a missile gap and need not be one in 1962-63, provided certain steps were taken. These included stepping up the Minuteman and Polaris programs and this was done, starting in February-March of 1961.

"Action by President Kennedy in early 1961 prevented the possibility of a gap. It is not clear whether this action was necessary, because the Soviets did not even build as many ICBMs as early 1961 intelligence suggested they could. Maybe, the Eisenhower administration would have taken the same steps. In any event, the Kennedy-McNamara action was, in fact, to take such steps.

"We have consistently underestimated Soviet technical capabilities and overestimated their potential military strength."

Since 1960, Polaris power has been increased by 50 per cent and we have a 4-1 lead in this field over the Russians. Our Navy now has 256 Polaris missiles deployed in 16 submarines, and 25 more Polaris subs are under construction. Our Polaris missiles exceed their Soviet counterparts in range by 3-1, and all the firepower expended in World War II is less than half that of one Polaris submarine.

Our strategic alert forces now include 1,100 bombers, of which more than 500 are on 15-minute alert. U.S. officials estimate the Soviet Union could, with difficulty, place slightly more than 100 heavy bombers over this country on a two-way mission; in addition, 150 medium bombers are capable of striking only Canada and the northwest corner of the United States.

★ ★ ★

The booster gap seems to be reduced and we are able to deliver bigger payloads. When Titan 3's development is completed, it will be a rocket of such tremendous power that it will be able to thrust into orbit around the earth satellites three times heavier than those that can be launched with our present generation of military space boosters.

Highway Bids to Be Opened

Three Oakland County road projects will be among 28 that the State Highway Department will open bids on Feb. 10 in Lansing.

Construction cost of the entire program is estimated at $24 million. Of this, over $5.3 million will be in the county.

The Oakland County work includes:

- Construction of 1.4 miles of I-75 in Hazel Park from Bernard north to Woodward Heights at a cost of $2.7 million.
- Modernization of 2.7 miles of Telegraph from Eight Mile north to I-696.
- The addition of an east and westbound lane to the present four lane I-96 from Beck east to I-696.

The I-75 project in Hazel Park is expected to cost about $2.7 million. This includes the construction of overpasses at Meyers, John R, Nine Mile and Woodward Heights.

The new look for Telegraph calls for the widening of the present four-lane highway to eight lanes, four in each direction at a cost of $2 million.

Two lanes will be added to the existing northbound lane. The existing southbound lanes will be removed and replaced with four new lanes.

The widening of I-96 will complete the highway department's plan to modernize the road into a sixlane freeway between Brighton and I-696. An estimated $620,000 will be spent for construction.

All three of the Oakland County projects are scheduled for completion by June 30, 1966.

Killer Fled Hospital Over 2 Years Ago

No Trace of Arizona's 'Tiger Woman'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — If still alive, "Tiger Woman" Winnie Ruth Judd must be on extremely good behavior during her latest unauthorized leave from the Arizona State Mental Institution.

Mrs. Judd, mutilation killer of two women in 1931, walked away from the hospital almost 2½ years ago. Some discarded clothing was found nearby. There's been no further trace of her.

★ ★ ★

She was 57 when she vanished from a dormitory on Oct. 8, 1962, after 29 years in the institution.

Since her escape, police and hospital authorities have received tips that Mrs. Judd had been seen in various parts of the country.

GET REPORTS

"There was a report from the Los Angeles area about the last anniversary of her escape," said Rex Whitney, medical director at the hospital. "Each anniversary of the escape we get reports that someone has seen her."

Photographs and fingerprint codes were sent to Los Angeles, but the suspect didn't fill the bill.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Judd has been described as "absolutely not dangerous" by hospital spokesmen.

She was convicted of killing two girlfriends in 1931, cutting up their bodies and shipping them from Phoenix to Los Angeles in two trunks.

SUSPICIOUS CLERK

A suspicious railway clerk asked Mrs. Judd to open the trunks when she tried to claim them.

She was convicted of murder and sentenced to hang.

Mrs. Judd became hysterical in death row, however, and was declared insane. On April 24, 1933 — the day she had been sentenced to die —she was taken to the hospital in Phoenix.

Six years later she made her first escape, staying away for six weeks. She took off from the institution on five other occasions before making her latest escape.

COMMUTED SENTENCE

One of her brief escapes focused attention on her case and as a result Gov. Howard Pyle commuted her death sentence to life imprisonment in 1952.

Despite her many escapes, Mrs. Judd was described as a model inmate at the hospital.

★ ★ ★

Law enforcement officers are convinced she must be far from Phoenix, because she was well-known in the area.

Department of Aging in Sen. McNamara Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bills to establish an Administration on Aging were introduced Wednesday by Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., and Rep. John E. Fogarty, D-R.I.

They would authorize $28.5 million in federal grants over a three-year period to states and public or private non-profit agencies for research, training, community planning and demonstration projects related to aging.

Indonesia Gets China Backing

U. S., Britain Given Warning by Peking

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China warned today that it will "absolutely not sit idly by" if Britain and the United States "dare to impose a war on the Indonesian people."

★ ★ ★

The Chinese made the threat in a joint communique issued with Indonesia after five days of talks with Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio in Peking.

The statement, broadcast by the official New China news agency, said the two nations "decided to strengthen their technical cooperation, expand their trade, develop maritime transportation . . . and strengthen friendly contacts in the military field."

Indonesia's foreign office spokesman, Ganis Harsono, told the Antara news agency China and Indonesia agreed to "exchange military experience" but did not form a military alliance.

★ ★ ★

Harsono also said the Chinese pledged $100 million in credit for Indonesian economic development, including $10 million in cash.

JOINT STATEMENT

The joint statement said Indonesia "reaffirmed its persistence to confront" the British-backed federation of Malaysia.

★ ★ ★

The communique called for a "thoroughly reorganized" United Nations and added that China "firmly supported "Indonesia's withdrawal from the world organization.

Subandrio left today for Bangkok to confer with Thai government officials until Saturday. Thailand has tried to mediate between Malaysia and Indonesia.

Lawmaking Risky Work?

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Is being a legislator an extra-hazardous occupation?

State Rep. George P. Sheridan of Tacoma suggested with tongue in cheek yesterday that it ought to be, so legislators could collect industrial insurance.

Sheridan received several stitches recently after being hit on the head with a chair at a local night spot.

And Rep. Donald Talley of Kelso was poked in the eye at a club in Kelso.

★ ★ ★

Talley, however, declined to join his fellow Democrat in sponsoring the bill.

HOLDS 2 POSITIONS

Talley holds two positions and said the constituent who gave him the shiner was sore about something he did as mayor of Kelso.

'World Keeps On Going'

Churchill Was Uncommon---Even in View of Death

(Editor's Note: This is the second of three dispatches giving a new insight into the remarkable life of Sir Winston Churchill.)

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press International

LONDON — Sir Winston Churchill took a calm view of death—as a man who had faced it personally many times—and his funeral arrangements owe part of their splendor to the fact he had no qualms about discussing his own passing.

★ ★ ★

"The world," he said, "does not end with the life of any man."

Since the world was bound to go on, even, after his departure, he gave some thought in life to the kind of funeral he might expect.

A few years ago the Army Council, reorganizing the forces, disbanded many famous regiments and amalgamated others.

★ ★ ★

One thing worried them—what would Winston say when he learned his old regiment, the Fourth Hussars, was going to be merged with the Eighth Hussars?

HAZARDOUS MISSION

Field Marshal Lord Montgomery was asked to undertake the hazardous mission of explaining to Sir Winston that "the Fighting Fourth" would be no more.

To his surprise he found Churchill completely unconcerned about the fate of his regiment but quite worried about the continuance of military bands and the Royal Horse Artillery.

"Monty," said Sir Winston earnestly, "what sort of funeral should I have without bands and the Royal Horse Artillery?"

★ ★ ★

A remark like this is self-revealing.

UNCOMMON MAN

In the common man it might seem to lack humility but Churchill, though he understood the common man very well, was not one himself.

He was an aristocrat to his fingertips, born into an illustrious family at a time when the chasm that divided the classes was almost unbridgeable.

The life that stretched before him was the life of stately homes, of great privilege, of easy relationships with the famous, right up to the throne.

★ ★ ★

Power came naturally to those of his class who wanted it.

NOSES TO WINDOW

The rest of the nation could only press its nose to the windows that sealed it off from the fairytale world of wealth and luxury denied it by birth.

Sometimes, however, there was a chance for the public to play tiny parts in the distant drama, like an army of unidentifiable extras in a movie epic.

One such occasion was the marriage of Churchill to the poor but beautiful Clementine Hozier, kinfolk of the Earl of Arilie, in 1908.

A vast throng jammed central London for the ceremonies, and newspapers put out special editions.

GRAND PALACE

Churchill's birthplace was one of the grandest palaces in the world, Blenheim, the nation's gift to his warrior-ancestor, the Duke of Marlborough.

The natal bedroom is now one of Britain's leading tourist magnets. In these democratic times the half-crown (35 cents) admission fee helps maintain the splendid house.

The tourists see a few mementos of Sir Winston, his father, Lord Randolph Churchill, and his mother, Jennie Jerome of New York.

★ ★ ★

Until the very end, Churchill worshiped the memory of his lovely mother.

FAIRY PRINCESS

"She always seemed to me to be a fairy princess," he said.

A few months ago he took a visitor into the bedroom of his country home, (Chartwell at Westerham bought with the royalties from his book "The World Crisis"), and stood for a moment before a photograph of his mother over his bed.

"Whatever his thoughts," said the visitor later, "his eyes were moist when he turned back to me. He must have loved her very much."

★ ★ ★

For the first 24 years of his life, Churchill was heir to the Marlborough dukedom.

TO IRELAND

As a child he was taken to Ireland where his grandfather was viceroy and his earliest recollections are of military pomp centering around the august figure.

His first remembered sentence, raked up once from his earliest memories, was prophetically of war; his grandfather saying ". . . and with a withering volley he shattered the enemy's line."

The next few years have since been pointedly held up to their parents by millions of British schoolchildren.

Churchill was a poor scholar:

★ ★ ★

"But he improved as time went on and graduated high in his class."

INCREDIBLE PERIOD

Then began the incredible period in which he packed more adventure into his life in five years than any other man of his time.

In 1895 he was an observer in the Spanish War in Cuba. Then to India and the Sudan, hand-to-hand fighting and shooting down tribesmen at point-blank range — plus writing accounts of the campaigns that are still military classics.

In 1899 the South African war found him at the age of 24 the highest paid war correspondent of his time — 250 pounds (then $1,250) a month plus expenses.

★ ★ ★

He was captured by the Boers and almost executed, but managed to escape and returned to Britain a national hero.

INTERNATIONAL HERO

An international hero, in fact, a Ledoure tour in Britain and the United States earned him 10,000 pounds (then $50,000) and this kept him for the next five years.

Members of Parliament (to which he was elected in 1900) in those days did not receive salaries.

He had his critics. "Medal hunter" they called him 20 years earlier.

Sir Winston mellowed a bit after his marriage to Clementine.

PERFECT MARRIAGE

It was a classically perfect marriage down to pet names and secret signals.

He would call her "dear cat" and she would call him, caressingly, "dear pig."

They dubbed their daughters, "Mary the chimp" and "Sarah the mule."

Sometimes Lady Churchill, returning home, would stand in the entrance hall at Chartwell and bark: "Bow wow."

And from upstairs, the greatest Englishman of his time would bellow back:

"Bow wow."

Parolee Faces Murder Charge

NILES (AP)—Parolee Charles Albertson, accused in a holdup-slaying and abduction, was bound over to Berrien County Circuit Court on a charge of murder Wednesday.

He was held without bond for arraignment in the higher court.

Prosecution and defense attorneys agreed before Judge Edwin Donahue to continue charges of attempted murder, armed robbery and kidnaping against the 33-year-old Niles factory worker.

Police quoted witnesses as saying he was armed with a shotgun when he invaded a Niles coffee shop Dec. 18 and without provocation shot to death patron Louis C. Ehninger, 35. Witnesses told police he also fired a shot at another patron but missed, took money from the cafe cash register and customers and forced Mrs. Ardis Darling to accompany him when he fled.

Police said Albertson has served prison terms for rape and burglary. Mrs. Darling was rescued in the capture of Albertson about seven hours after the cafe robbery-shooting.

Just Sprinkle Baking Soda

CANTON, Okla. (AP) — Fire fighters who have been thwarted six months by a burning gas well despite efforts to douse it with drilling mud and water received a new suggestion Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

A Clendenin, W. Va., woman wrote that her sister's gas oven once caught fire and "we threw a big handful of baking soda into the oven and the fire went out."

★ ★ ★

"Now I don't know where a person could get enough baking soda," she added.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Cartoonist Bill Mauldin was on his way today to cover his third war.

Mauldin, whose two mud-spattered GIs, Willie and Joe, were among the most beloved fictional soldiers of World War II, was headed for the front lines in South Viet Nam. The Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist also covered the Korean War.

PEA Recognized as Representative of Teachers

The Pontiac School Board last night recognized the Pontiac Education Association (PEA) as the official negotiating agent for teachers in the school system.

The action came as members of the school board held the first meeting in their chambers in the new school administration building on the corner of Wide Track Drive and Auburn.

The PEA recognition will be limited to the purpose of maintaining and conducting professional relationships between the teaching staff and the school board.

Last week the teacher association submitted a certified list of members to the Board of Education, and requested recognition.

Previously, a policy was adopted by the school board which stated that the teached group with the largest membership would be named as the official bargaining group.

564 MEMBERS

The PEA lists its membership at 564.

The other teacher group in the school system is the Pontiac Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) which has an estimated membership of about 300.

The PEA must seek recognition again before Nov. 30, and each year after that to retain the position of teacher spokesman.

In other business the School Board approved a motion to proceed with plans for a 10-room addition to Frost Elementary School.

★ ★ ★

Originally, a six-room addition had been slated for construction.

10-ROOM ADDITION

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dana Whitmer told board members that the 10-room addition would likely accommodate the needs of the area until 1969 and would provide a saving in construction costs in the long run.

Two school calendar changes also received approval at the meeting.

The Easter holiday will begin on April 16 rather than April 15 to facilitate an in-service training program at the school.

★ ★ ★

The vacation period will be extended an extra day, however, to April 21.

MAY 31 A HOLIDAY

Also, the school will observe Monday, May 31, as a holiday because Memorial Day, May 30, falls on Sunday.

To Discuss Training in Speech, Hearing

EAST LANSING (AP) — Directors of speech and hearing clinics of seven Michigan Universities will meet at East Lansing Friday to discuss lengthening the formal training for speech pathologists and audiologists. The American Speech and Hearing Association has recommended training should continue through a Master's degree.

Bumper's Taken Off —by Speeding Train

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI) — Police are looking for a Laramie driver whose back bumper is perched on the front of a Union Pacific freight train.

Officials said the train clipped off the bumper yesterday after the motorist drove through a marked crossing. The car never stopped.

Cabbie Fined; Refused Swimmer in Wet Suit

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A municipal judge fined a cab driver $100 Wednesday for refusing to drive a young war widow and her sick son to a hospital because her bathing suit was wet.

Police said they also would recommend that the license of Jack Lawrence, 64, be revoked.

Recital in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Contralto Marian Anderson appears here April 14 in recital on her farewell tour. On Easter Sunday four days later, she is scheduled for her final U.S. appearance in New York's Carnegie Hall.

It Was Dark Day for 'White Citizens'

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was a leadership meeting of White Citizens Councils of America organizers in Montgomery, Ala., last week so it stood to reason that Joseph D. Mitchell and Norman Kilpatrick would be there.

Mitchell, who warred on welfare programs as mayor of Newburgh, N.Y., several years ago, was the national field director of the councils. And Kilpatrick was the chairman of the Prince Georges County chapter in suburban Maryland and an author of racist tracts.

Together they ostensibly were working hard to promote segregation in Maryland's suburbs.

When they returned home a surprise was in store for Mitchell. He found that Kilpatrick had been playing a double role and, on the sly, was infiltrating the prosegregationist organization with civil rights workers.

VOTED MERGER

So successful was the infiltration, the Prince Georges chapter formally voted to merge itself with the Congress of Racial Equality.

★ ★ ★

"It's almost a funny story," said Mitchell.

These are some of the accomplishments of Kilpatrick and his cohorts:

A Negro minister, the Rev. Perry Smith, is a member of the chapter. When Smith lived in Mound Bayou, Miss., he was president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People chapter there.

The treasurer is Philip Perkins, the immediate past president of the Prince Georges chapter of CORE.

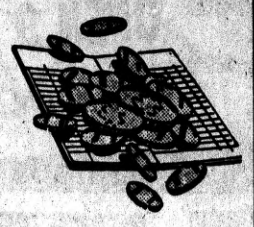

★ ★ ★

At least 16 civil rights sympathizers had formally joined the council chapter or attended its meetings. Of the 12 card-carrying members of the council only six apparently are sympathetic with its aims.

★ ★ ★

Besides Smith, who never attended a meeting but secured his membership card through Kilpatrick's influence, the infiltrators included government workers, several lawyers, a museum curator, a college professor and a Roman Catholic priest.

Decide on the Main Course First

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Most homemakers start their menu planning with the meat course. The rest of the meal then falls into place.

When we talk with women, they ask most often for help with new inexpensive meat recipes. Here are a few.

Beef pot roast is an excellent buy.

You can choose even the cheapest cut of beef for this dish and turn out a tender, juicy entree. Long, slow cooking is of course the answer.

Individual Pot Roasts

2-lb. beef chuck, cut in 6 pieces
2 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon kitchen bouquet
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano, crushed
¼ cup water
1 medium onion, chopped
1 stalk celery, chopped
1 medium carrot, chopped
3 tablespoons flour

Have butcher cut chuck into 6 pieces. Combine honey and kitchen bouquet in bottom of Dutch oven. Place over moderate heat, add meat and turn to coat all sides with honey mixture. Lightly brown meat on all sides.

Add salt, pepper, oregano, water, onion, celery and carrot. Cover and simmer over low heat until meat is tender, about two hours. Replenish water if necessary.

Remove meat to warm platter. Skim fat from pan liquid reserving 3 tablespoons fat for gravy.

★ ★ ★

Put pan liquid and vegetables through a sieve or food mill or blend in an electric blender. Add enough water to make 2 cups.

In a saucepan, combine fat and flour. Add pan liquid and cook, stirring constantly, until gravy thickens and boils. Serve pot roasts with gravy. Makes 6 servings.

Mushroom variation: To the finished pot roast gravy, add 1 can (3-oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms including broth.

★ ★ ★

The USDA lists broiler-fryers as plentiful foods this month.

After you have served chicken for Sunday dinner, here is a good way to prepare it for a second time around. Turkey will be just as good in this casserole.

Ginger Oriental With Almonds

1¼ cups chicken broth
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ to ½ teaspoon ground ginger
1½ cups diagonally sliced celery
1½ cups thinly sliced onions
2 cups diced cooked chicken or turkey
1½ teaspoons kitchen bouquet
1 can (6-oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups packaged precooked rice
¼ cup toasted slivered almonds

Place broth, salt and ginger in saucepan or skillet and bring to boil. Add celery, onions and poultry. Cover and cook over moderate heat until celery is tender-crisp, about 10 minutes. Stir in kitchen bouquet.

Drain mushrooms and combine broth with cornstarch. Add cornstarch to poultry mixture, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Add mushrooms; heat.

Meanwhile, cook rice according to package directions. Place rice in center of serving dish and pour chicken around it. Sprinkle with almonds. Makes 4 servings.

★ ★ ★

Another food in the plentiful list is ripe olives. Here, we find them in an inexpensive casserole dish. Frankfurters are the main source of protein in the recipe.

International Bake

¾ cup ripe olives
3 cups medium-wide noodles
1 can (1-lb. 4-oz.) sauerkraut
1 can (8-oz.) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped parsley
¼ teaspoon celery seed (optional)
Salt
6 to 8 frankfurters
Grated Parmesan cheese (optional)

Cut olives into wedges. Cook noodles until just tender; drain.

Meanwhile, drain sauerkraut (rinse and drain if you wish a milder flavor). Mix sauerkraut with tomato sauce; turn into well-greased 1½-quart shallow baking dish.

Toss noodles with butter, parsley, celery seed and olives; add salt to taste. Turn into baking dish over sauerkraut.

Make crosswise slits in frankfurters; place on noodle mixture. Cover tightly with aluminum foil.

Bake in 400-degree (hot) oven 20 minutes. Remove foil. Bake 10 minutes longer. Sprinkle with cheese. Serve at once. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

INDIVIDUAL POT ROASTS

GINGER ORIENTAL

Grapefruit Is Good in Dinner Menu

A delightful way to serve grapefruit whether you are having a few guests or a large group is by halves.

Grapefruit on the Half Shell

Grapefruit
Clover Honey
Slivered toasted blanched almonds

Use a half grapefruit for each serving. With a small sharp knife, cut away sections from dividing membranes. If grapefruit is seedless, use a kitchen scissors to snip out center membrane; if grapefruit has seeds, use a small sharp knife to cut out center in plug shape.

Spoon honey into center; chill. Just before serving, sprinkle almonds over center.

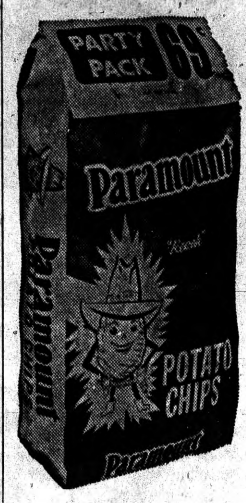

All Wine Fits in 5 Classes

All the wines in the world can be fitted into one of five categories: appetizer, red dinner wine, white dinner wine, dessert wine and sparkling wine.

Here in our own country, notably in California, there is a further division of wines within the red wine class: those that are blended from the juices of several wine varieties are usually labeled as Burgundy, Claret, Chianti or perhaps the descriptive term, Mellow Red.

Others, with the distinctive flavor of one single grape variety, bear the name of that grape, such as Pinot Noir, Cabernet Sauvignon, or Zinfandel. It's an interesting project to determine which you like best, both for cooking and for drinking.

When seedless green grapes are out of season, you may find it handy to have a can of the grapes on your pantry shelf. They are delicious added to a cream sauce for chicken breasts or fish fillets.

Olives Have Place in Various Dishes

Here is a quartet of practical ideas using a favorite nibbling food, olives. Besides serving green and black olives in relish trays, home economists suggest these treats:

- Combine chopped salted pecans with cream cheese. Stir in some chopped pimiento - stuffed olives and stuff celery stalks with the cheese mixture. Chill until serving time.
- Slice ripe or green olives on top of your favorite casserole. Or, stir sliced ripe olives into chicken salad.
- Mix chopped green olives with crumbled blue cheese and mayonnaise. Spread on top of thick tomato slices and broil under medium heat until the mixture is bubbly. Serve at once as accompaniment to meat.

Rice Helps Tuna Dish Maintain Its Texture

Puffy Tuna and Rice Casserole is souffle-like in preparation and in taste, but it doesn't collapse as a souffle does if it must wait between baking and serving.

The pleasantly moist, well-flavored mixture derives its stability from the cooked rice, thick white sauce, and eggs used as ingredients. The rice gives the casserole interesting texture. It also absorbs the flavors of the fish and onion and distributes them evenly throughout the mixture.

It makes little difference which type of rice is used for this casserole — brown, regular milled white, parboiled, or precooked — they all serve equally well.

Accompany the hot and hearty casserole with a tray of crisp relishes adding some pickled crabapples or peaches for fruity accent. And vary the fish in the recipe from time to time.

Try salmon, crabmeat, or even lobster when the budget permits.

Puffy Tuna and Rice Casserole

⅓ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups milk
4 eggs, separated
1 can (7-ozs.) tuna, flaked
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cups cooked rice
3 slices processed American cheese

Make a sauce by melting butter, adding flour and seasonings, then gradually stirring in milk. Cook, stirring, until thickened and smooth.

Beat egg slightly; add a little sauce and mix thoroughly. Stir into remaining sauce and cook 2 minutes longer over low heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

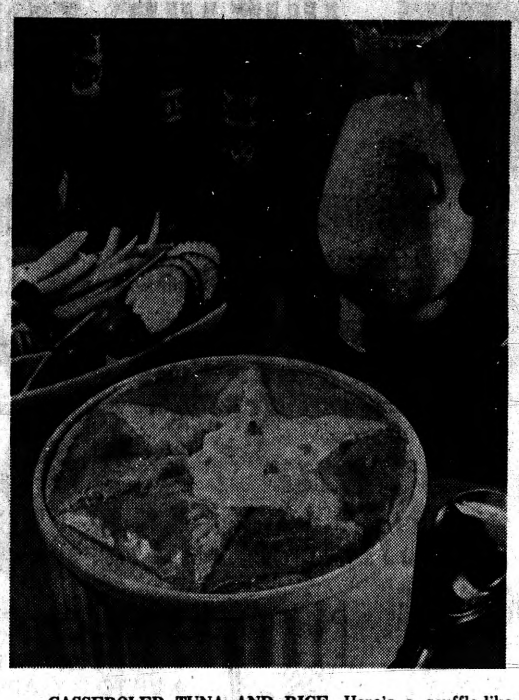

Fold in tuna, onion, lemon juice, and rice. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into tuna-rice mixture. Pour into ungreased 1½-quart casserole.

★ ★ ★

Cut cheese slices in half diagonally. Arrange around edges to form attractive design. Set casserole in pan of hot water.

Bake at 350 degrees about 40 minutes, or until firm. Makes 6 servings.

CASSEROLED TUNA AND RICE—Here's a souffle-like main course that's perfect for Friday meals or for Lenten days ahead. Use any kind of rice you like. The souffle won't collapse.

Fudge Starts With Cheese

Interesting, isn't it, that fudge never seems to get old-fashioned.

This recipe uses the new unsweetened product for chocolate baking that makes it unnecessary to bother melting chocolate before using in fudge and other chocolate recipes.

This fudge recipe is studded with chopped filberts.

Before packing the fudge squares in decorated gift box wrap each in a square of plastic wrap.

Creamy Cheese Fudge

1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon cream
2 cups unsifted confectioners' sugar
2 packets unsweetened product for chocolate baking
½ teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt
1 cup chopped filberts

Combine cream cheese and cream; beat until smooth.

Gradually beat in sugar. Add unsweetened product for chocolate baking and blend. Stir in vanilla, salt and chopped filberts.

Press into a buttered 8x4-inch pan and chill until firm. Cut into squares. Makes about 1 pound.

Packing leftover turkey for the freezer is an art! Put those large slices together in one container, bits and pieces in another; then each kind will be ready to use appropriately.

Crumbs Layer Apples in Dish

This dessert has just a few ingredients and is simple to make, but the flavor is great.

Phyl's Apple Betty

3 pounds McIntosh apples
1 cup packaged graham cracker crumbs
½ cup sugar
¼ pound butter
Vanilla ice cream

Peel and core apples; halve and slice thin. In a buttered baking dish (about 11 by 7 by 2 inches) arrange a layer of the apples, sugar and crumbs; dot with butter.

Repeat layers making three in all. Cover with foil. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 1 hour; remove foil 10 minutes before end of baking time.

Serve warm topped with ice cream. Makes 8 servings.

Hamburgers Assume International Flavor

The plain, everyday hamburger finds honor in American homes throughout the land. But there are people who insist on fancying up their hamburgers.

For example—and a particularly ambitious example—at a restaurant in New York called Spark's Pub South, the chef goes fancy with them. His so-called Sparkburgers are a half pound of meat filled with onions.

But he goes international with them. Here are a few of his variations. Take your choice.

Italian Parmejan: Burger is topped with Italian tomato sauce and melted mozzorella cheese.

French Burgundy: Burger is soaked in wine and topped with mushrooms.

Danish style: Burger is filled with imported bleu cheese.

Mexican Chili: Burger is covered with chili con carne.

California Style: Burger has the works: Melted cheese, tomato, lettuce, pickle.

Russian Strogonoff: Burger is topped with sour cream and black caviar.

Grecian Style: Burger is covered with hot sauce and Greek olives.

Texas Rancher: Burger is covered with melted cheese and bacon.

Hawaiian Luau: Burger is covered with grilled pineapple and coconut flakes.

Hong Kong: Burger is soaked in soy sauce and sesame seeds topped with Chinese noodles.

German Tartar: Burger is served tartar style (raw), capers and anchovies.

Indian Curry: Burger is covered with curry sauce and melted bacon.

Siberian Iceberger: Chocolate covered frozen burger is served on a stick.

COGNAC Burger: Hamburger is covered with cognac sauce and served flaming at the table.

Lamb Has Role in Salad, Appetizers

Let Sunday's American Lamb roast be a double treat this season. The second appearance will be just as successful as the first.

The American Lamb Council suggests Luncheon Lamb Salad . . . perfect for easy entertaining and family fare alike.

Grecian Pinwheel Appetizers, made with ground lamb is another excellent choice, adaptable for many occasions, from appetizer fare to snacks for teenage get-togethers. They take just minutes to put together.

Ground lamb is also ideal for kebabs, alternating on skewers with fruits . . . like pears and fresh or canned apricots . . . and basting with a spicy syrup of brown sugar, vinegar, cloves and oil, or a favorite bottled dressing.

Remember, too, that lamb supplies the body-building protein, B-vitamins and minerals so important to good health.

Luncheon Lamb Salad

3 cups diced cooked lamb
¼ cup clear French dressing
1 cup diced celery
⅓ cup diced green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 tablespoon capers
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon curry powder
¼ cup mayonnaise
Tomato wedges
Hard-cooked egg wedges (optional)

Toss lamb with French dressing; chill. Combine celery, green pepper, onion, pimiento, capers, seasonings and mayonnaise; mix well with lamb. Chill.

Turn onto crisp lettuce leaves, if desired. Garnish with tomato and egg wedges. Makes 4 servings.

Grecian Pinwheel Appetizers

1 tablespoon crushed mint leaves
1 package (10 ounces) pie crust mix
1 pound ground lamb
1 can (3 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained and finely chopped
¼ cup chopped parsley
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Add mint leaves to pie crust mix and prepare following package directions. Roll out to 12x18-inch rectangle.

Combine lamb, mushrooms, parsley, salt and pepper; mix lightly. Spread lamb mixture evenly over top of dough; roll up jelly roll fashion, starting at longest side. Cut into ½-inch slices.

Bake on ungreased baking sheet in 425 degree (hot) oven 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve immediately. Makes 3 dozen.

Skinning Fish Is Way of Better Taste

Fish too strong to suit your taste?

Then skin 'em.

Actually, the objectional flavor commonly associated with game species is caused by three different factors, state fishing authorities.

(1) Care of the fish between the time it's caught and the time it's cooked. (2) Diet and water conditions. (3) The skin.

Reasonable care of a catch to prevent spoilage is generally practiced by most anglers. Either keep them alive by using a stringer or other device, or kill immediately and keep them cool and separated.

Turbid water due to mud or plant growth may impart undesirable flavors to fish. This can be removed by soaking the meat in milk for several hours before cooking.

The main source of bad taste, however, can be traced to the skin.

With fish that are particularly suited, such as bass, walleye and pike, filleting should be the regular procedure. One simple operation results in skinless, cleaned meat ready for the frying pan.

To fillet out a fish, make a cut down along the backbone toward the tail. Then cut forward along the underside up to the gills, keeping the blade close to the ribs.

Lift this slab off, and tackle the other side in the same manner.

To separate the skin, simply slide the knife between skin and meat.

These strips of pure meat are now ready for rolling in batter and frying, or baking with any one of a dozen sauces.

If strong taste has plagued your fish platters, take this advice: switch to filleting. Who knows? Maybe the wife will urge you to go fishing next time.

Olive Dressing Fine on Greens

In addition to cream cheese and small wedges of ripe olives, "Cream Cheese-Olive Dressing" is perked up with orange and lemon juice, grated orange rind and rosemary to make it a salad dressing par excellence. Prepare it well ahead of mealtime to allow for proper chilling.

Markets at present have a bountiful supply of canned ripe olives from California. Enjoy this unique fruit often while it is so plentiful.

Cream Cheese-Olive Dressing

⅓ cup ripe olives
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ cup orange juice
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon rosemary

Cut olives into small wedges. Soften cheese; beat in all remaining ingredients except olives. Stir in olives; chill.

Serve over wedges or slices of iceberg lettuce; garnish with water cress if you wish.

Makes about 1⅓ cups.

Some Thompson seedless raisins are bleached. These are known as golden bleached raisins and range from yellow to brownish-amber in color.

Dumplings Are Easy

For tasty dumplings, sift together 1 cup of sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons of baking powder and 1 teaspoon of salt.

Add ½ cup of enriched farina; cut in 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine.

Add 1 tablespoon of chopped parsley, 2 beaten eggs and ½ cup of milk, mixing lightly.

Drop dumplings by tablespoonfuls onto boiling stew. Cover tightly and cook 12 to 15 minutes without lifting cover.

Serve immediately. Makes 6 large dumplings.

New Parfait Pretty, Pink

Three ingredients and about as many minutes make cherry pudding parfait.

Prepare 1 (3¾-ounce) package of instant vanilla pudding mix as label directs. Stir in ¾ cup of miniature marshmallows. Drain 1 (1pound) can of pitted dark sweet cherries, reserving syrup for later use in fruit punch.

Divide cherries among 4 parfait glasses, reserving 4 cherries for garnish. Add pudding and reserved cherries. Chill. Makes 4 servings.

Teens Speak Mind on Drinking Problem

Editor's Note—This is the fourth in a series of five dispatches on teen-age drinking.)

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's teen-agers have 23 million opinions on the subject of adolescents drinking beer and whisky — each teen-ager being entitled to his own.

Some have flip answers. Sample:

"The only way to learn to drink is practice. The more you practice, the better off you are."

For purposes of this report, United Press International skipped the flip subjects and collected opinions from teen-agers who are leaders—heads and members of student councils, editors of school papers.

"Any teen-ager in the city can get liquor whenever he wants it," reported Jacki Sharkey, editor of the Catalina High School paper, Tucson, Ariz.

But Charlotte Ackerly, editor of the Palo Verde High School paper, also in Tucson, said very few of the students drink, fewer are delinquents, and most are responsible persons.

HOME BLAMED

David Brisiel, president of the student council at John Harris High School in Harrisburg, Pa., blamed the home, saying:

"I think it would have to stem from the home. If it is to be stopped, it has to be stopped there. There has to be more parental supervision and strengthening of the moral fiber at home."

Student leaders in San Francisco said liquor is obtainable—and easily. The youngsters go to the grocer and say they want liquor for their parents. They get it. If the folks won't let them drink at home, they drink in cars.

★ ★ ★

Suzie Miller, first vice president of the student council at George Washington High School, San Francisco, said many student leaders feel teen-age drinking is part of growing up for boys.

AT LEAST ONCE

"The boys who don't go out and really get drunk at least once usually are the ones who would be better off if they did."

Colin McRea, yell-leader for the school, said fellow students are careful to stay away from cars when attending drinking parties. If a car is needed, the driver does not drink.

He favors stiffer legal sentences for minors caught drinking while driving. "We should do like Sweden, where the penalty for drunken driving is a permanently suspended license and a big fine," he said.

★ ★ ★

Bill Bronner, president of New Trier High School student council at Winnetka, Ill., said only 100 out of 1,200 students drink and mostly at private parties.

PARTY DRINKING

"At a party, a person sees his friends drinking, and he wants to try it," he said. "He feels if he doesn't, he will be out of the group. It's also for the fun of it. A person wants to try it once."

A school code of ethics at New Trier stated that a student would not drink. It has been changed. Now the responsibility for drinking is placed on the individual.

Kit Peuter, class officer at Shawnee-Mission, Kan., North High School, said some drink because they feel—"We're big now and we can if we want to."

★ ★ ★

Michael Cole, president of student council at Hall High School in West Hartford, Conn., said 65 to 85 per cent of the senior boys drink but the problem drinkers—15 per cent—are the dropout types who would be in trouble one way or another.

LOOSE MORALITY

"Teen-agers drink because it's part of generally loose morality," said Dick Zimmerman, vice president of the senior class at Sacramento High School in California.

"A solution at teen-age gatherings outside school would be for parents to take a more active role."

Rick Block, speaker of the house of student council at Roosevelt High in Seattle, Wash., said rebellion and insecurity probably are the major reasons for drinking and those doing the most drinking aren't particularly good students nor do they participate in activities.

★ ★ ★

Danny Hoover, student body president at John Francis Polytechnic High School in Los Angeles, discussed the drinking problem with the council and then made these points:

- Drinking is increasing partially because teen-agers have more money and liquor is easier to get.
- Parents should be more aware of where their children are and what they are doing. Liquor store owners should be more careful in selling.
- Some parents set a bad example. Study the adults and find out why they have drinking parties. You may find out why teen-agers drink.

★ ★ ★

In Darien, Conn., Sue Coyne and Rufus Millet, speak for students who are setting up a youth recreation center — one aftermath of the death last June of Nancy Hitchings, 17, after a party where liquor was served.

FORBIDDEN FRUIT

They maintain that drinking is a problem because of its after-effects and also because alcohol is a "forbidden fruit," tempting curious teen-agers.

In addition, there are group pressures to drink. The decision to drink or not to drink is made by the individual and an influence in that is the personality—formed by home, school, church, community.

In many communities, teen-agers take a stand on drinking by developing a code that covers conduct.

★ ★ ★

A code adopted in '61 by student councils of schools, public and private, in Mt. Lebanon, Pa., rules against drinking.

TEEN-PRODUCT

The teen-agers developed the code with a minimum of adult influence. It is called—"We Agree."

A code in Atlanta, Ga., states that no beer or alcohol in any form should be brought to parties, including graduation parties.

The nation's capital is the latest city to adopt a code.

★ ★ ★

The Washington, D. C., code, for 17 private schools, bans alcoholic beverages at parties, noting:

"No one has the moral right to serve an alcoholic beverage to other people's children. The adult who does so is directly responsible for any of the serious consequences which may result."

Pauline Frederick

Speaker Discusses United Nations

Ticket holders to Pontiac Town Hall series greeted speaker Pauline Frederick, United Nations correspondent, with a hearty round of applause Wednesday at the Huron Theater.

When introducing NBC's noted news reporter, Harry J. Reed, managing editor of The Pontiac Press, received appreciative chuckles as he described Miss Frederick's job at "The glassed-in poker palace where everyone plays with our money."

★ ★ ★

"United Nations in a Changing World" was the speaker's topic.

OPTIMISTIC

While always possessing an optimistic viewpoint on the succcess of the U.N., she describes the situation there as a power struggle.

★ ★ ★

This occurs especially between the larger member countries and suggests that no nation has permanent friends or enemies, only permanent self interests.

Involved as she is with the U.N.'s final outcome, she nevertheless is consumed with a realistic attitude regarding its ultimate victory.

She states, "If our response to communism is weapons, we have failed."

Miss Frederick went on to say, that the U.N. is a reflection of the world AS IT IS. It is therefore confronted with the responsibility of dealing with nations compelling one another to bend to the will of the other.

At this time, she said, the U.N. is faced with the conflict of "gunpowder versus the conference table."

MUST BE REALISTIC

Stressed in her lecture was the belief that the darkness (lack of communication) between the powers must in someway be overcome with the light of realism.

Later, at a luncheon in Devon Gables, Miss Frederick found herself with a lapful of questions (sent to her table by the attending women).

With hardly a minute to relax over lunch, she began answering the queries with a forthright directness that is so much a part of her personality.

In reply to the question of her age, smiling broadly, she admitted to over 21 . . . about marriage, she quipped "No, I'm not, but I'd be willing."

WORE BROWN

Garbed in a toasty brown three-piece ensemble, the slender blonde newswoman accented her outfit with matched gold bracelet and beads.

★ ★ ★

She wore a tiny diamond horseshoe pin on the otherwise simply styled jacket.

Seated with Miss Frederick at the main table were Town Hall chairmen, Mrs. John Napley, Mrs. Fred Coleman, Mrs. Lyle Hedden, Mrs. S. V. Sekles and Mrs. Aleck Capsalis.

Others were Mrs. Paul Kern, Mrs. J. C. Bennett, Mrs. Andrew Gulacsik, and Mrs. Paul Gorman.

Pontiac Press Photo

Mrs. Paul Kern, Long Pointe Drive, and Pauline Frederick, Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall speaker, pause for The Press photographer. Miss Frederick, NBC correspondent to the United Nations, spoke at the Huron Theater Wednesday morning. Mrs. Kern is a past president of Town Hall.

Julius Chajes Will Star Tuesday

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra will play the third concert of the year on Tuesday at Pontiac Northern High School.

Julius Chajes as soloist will play the Liszt Piano Concerto.

He was born in Poland and gave his first recital and also wrote his first composition at the age of 9.

In 1933 he was the honor prize winner at the First International Competition for pianists in Vienna, and one year later was appointed head of the piano department of the Music College in Tel-Aviv.

Chajes came to the United States in December 1937 and was immediately engaged to play in three recitals in New York's Town Hall, as well as over the Columbia network.

Since 1940, Chajes has been the conductor of the Center Symphony Orchestra in Detroit.

The New World Symphony by Dvorak and the Roman Carnival Overture by Berlioz will be presented.

Concert time is 8:30 p.m.

Great Grandmothers Unite--- Abby Wants to Hear You

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If things go well, I will become a great-grandmother before I reach my 51st birthday.

ABBY

Thinking this might be a record, I am trying to find out the age of the youngest great-grandmother. So far I've had no luck.

Because your column is so widely read, if you'd be kind enough to print my letter, perhaps you could help me get this information. I would be most grateful. Thank you.

DOROTHY S. IN COEUR D'ALENE, IDAHO

DEAR DOROTHY: The search is on! Anyone out there knowing of a great-grandmother who achieved that status before her 51st birthday, please contact this column.

DEAR ABBY: My mother, now past 70, has almost 100 descendants, but she repeatedly tells me that she will be "alone" on special holidays. My husband says, "Let's take her with us."

When my husband and I go out together, we enjoy each other's company. When we take Mamma, he treks off for the entire evening and I am left alone to entertain my mother.

I invariably become angry, and by bedtime I am not speaking to my husband.

What do I do? Leave my mother alone and be angry with myself? Take her along and be angry at my husband? Or stay home and be angry with everybody?

SOUTHWICK, MASS.

DEAR SOUTHWICK: Next time your husband suggests taking your mother along, ask him if he intends to help entertain her.

If he refuses, and you can't leave your mother home alone on special holidays without feeling guilty, then stay home with her.

And you don't HAVE to be angry at anybody.

Mrs. Cook Is Unit's Hostess

Beta Omega chapter of Lambda Chi Omega gathered Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Cook, David K Street.

George West, hair stylist, demonstrated some of the latest hair fashions on members and talked about care and conditioning of the scalp.

The sorority has planned another magazine drive next month for the benefit of senior citizens at the Oakland County Medical Care Facility.

Dior Collection Ready for Spring Showings

PARIS (UPI)—A soft, supple silhouette with waists in their natural places today marked the Dior line for spring and summer.

The Dior collection, designed by Marc Bohan, dominated the fourth day of the current spring and summer showings for international buyers here.

SOFTNESS

Skirts in today's collection had soft gathers and grouped pleats. The bodice was slim. Flower colors predominated for evening.

Dior has been dead for seven years and his successors have had their ups and downs. But the aura still remains in the impressive cream, gold and gray salons of the House of Dior on the broad avenue Montaigne, near the Champs Elysee.

Marc Bohan inherited the design reins two years after Dior's death in 1957 and promised, "No more revolutions — only evolutions"

NEW TRENDS

"There will be a change — not a great change," he adds quickly, sensing the panic that can result from such news from the Dior house.

"There will be an end to the lean, straight look, a coming back of a fullness . . . pleats, gathers, movement. Waistlines? Oh, definitely, belts, many belts."

"Short, short skirts?" He smiles at the thought. "They've gone up about as far as they can go.

"I promise you, my hems will be about the same for day. For evening? All lengths something a little different.

"Necklines. Much less decolletage. But across the shoulder dresses will be — how is that word meaning you can see through? Yes. Transparent, like chiffon. Black and long sleeves that way, too.

OTHER MOVEMENTS

"Hair styles will be two ways, short and curly, with a small head, or a small chignon on a very small head. Hats will be very important, worn straight on and down the back of the head.

"My shoes will be very plain with heels a little higher and more slender than last year. Pumps for day. Open sandals for dress.

"I am using a lot of navy and white, and white by itself, and, oh yes, a great deal of beige."

kid-pleasin' meals

BROILED OPEN-FACE SANDWICH
Bacon, tomato and Cheddar cheese —a real kid-pleaser. It's a perfect hot lunch for frosty winter days. Celery sticks are fun to munch, and milk completes the meal. For dessert, top peaches with vanilla ice cream.

CREAMED CHICKEN ON BISCUITS
Kids love chicken chunks in a smooth creamy sauce atop tender baking powder biscuits. Flavor up Italian green beans with fresh creamery butter. Then round out the meal with a tomato and lettuce salad and ice cold milk. For dessert, treat the kids to cherry pie à la mode.

BUTTERY-GOOD WAFFLES
Waffles are even more popular when you top them with warm cinnamon, applesauce and pats of melting butter. Fry bacon into crisp, tender curls and serve hot chocolate milk with a marshmallow float. For a real waker-upper, serve a sectioned orange as an appetizer to this kid-pleasin' breakfast.

SAUCY BURGER BROILS
Here's a good way to put more fun into lunch. Split and top English muffins with oregano-flavored tomato paste, browned hamburger and shredded Cheddar cheese and broil. Pour tall glasses of ice cold milk, and add crunch to the lunch with radishes and green onions. For dessert it's a bright red apple with sugar cookies.

THRIFTY MEALS MADE EASY WITH FOOD STORE SPECIALS AND DAIRY FOODS

It's Polite to Inquire About Ease

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: When traveling by train and one occupies a berth in a pullman, is there any rule as to which seat belongs to whom during the daytime?

A: The seat which faces forward belongs to the occupant of the lower berth; the occupant of the upper berth rides backward.

★ ★ ★

It is courteous, however, for the person who has the right to the seat facing forward to ask her companion whether she minds riding backward, and if she does, to make a place at her side.

★ ★ ★

She need not, however, relinquish her seat at the window.

TOO COSTLY

Q: A girl I know, but who is not an intimate friend, is to be married in the not-too-distant future and I have heard she is planning to ask me to be a bridesmaid.

★ ★ ★

While I am flattered, I don't feel that I want to go to this expense for someone who is not an intimate friend.

Is it possible to refuse this honor and if so, how can this be done graciously?

★ ★ ★

A: Tell her frankly that much as you would love to take part in her wedding, you are very sorry but you will have to refuse because you really cannot afford the expense of buying bridesmaid's clothes at this time.

★ ★ ★

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Dining Room Styles Varied at Winter Furniture Mart

By MADELEINE DOEREN

The vast array of dining set styles shown at the 1965 winter home furnishings markets makes it easy for the homemaker to find a set that blends with her decor.

★ ★ ★

Comfort, convenience and watch for, as well as good looks and sound construction.

The dining table may be put to other uses . . . homework, office work, sewing, even games and hobbies.

THINK ABOUT IT FIRST

Before you even start shopping, furniture manufacturers suggests that you try to determine what size and what shape table you need.

Study the area for which you're buying the set. A rectangular table fits into almost any room and can even be pushed against a wall, if necessary, using ends and sides for the diners.

A round or octagonal table requires a nearly square floor area. If there is a narrow traffic aisle to cope with, consider a harvest or 'hunt' table with long, narrow drop-leaves.

★ ★ ★

Size will depend mainly on family requirements as well as the room area. Ideally, each diner should be allowed 24 inches.

ADVANTAGES

With a round or oval table, however, less space per person works out comfortably.

Test the table for stability and try chairs for comfort. . . at the table. Check leg clearance at the table.

Will legs of a drop-leaf table be awkward for women guests?

Does the chair tend to tip forward when you (or a child) sits on the front edge? Does the back encourage good mealtime posture?

★ ★ ★

Convenience factors include the ease in adding or removing leaves and the easy cleaning of upholstery and exposed woods.

WALNUT TOPS

For the eighth consecutive year, walnut was found at the January showings in Chicago to be the leading wood for bedroom and dining-room furniture.

★ ★ ★

Modern styling which gave way to Early American and colonial a year ago, has recaptured the lead.

Mediterranean styling, with Italian and Spanish influence, holds third place.

LOOK FOR QUALITY

Visible signs of quality include smooth table edges to resist chipping and firmly-stitched upholstery secured to chair frames.

Fabric backing of vinyl upholstery insures long wear and resistance to tears.

Metal finishes should be baked-on to resist rust and chipping. A warp - resistant base beneath laminated table surface adds years of serviceability.

Round table-top in Georgian Marble pattern melamine laminate is 41 inches across in this stylish version of the chrome dinette set. With a leaf, it becomes a 41x59-inch oval. Thick-and-thin tubing is worked into unusual lines and curves. Upholstery panels in tapered, tall chair backs are box-welted for luxury pillow effect. The fabric-supported vinyl resembles fine leather. Department, furniture and kitchen specialty stores will tag the five-piece set at about $179.

Pair Recaptures Former Beauty

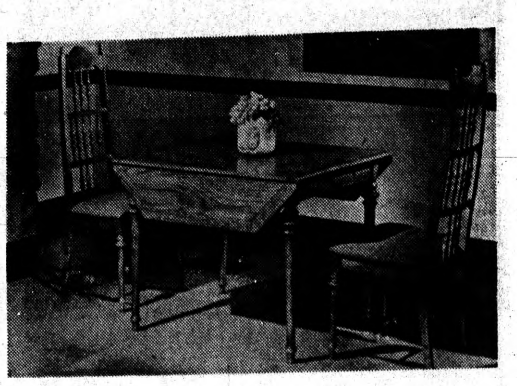

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An 80-year-old building painter and his artist wife call their current project the most important of their lifetime.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards are renovating the statues and ornamentation at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church here.

This is the first time the 50 plaster figures in the 14 stations of the cross and the 20 angels near the auditorium ceiling have been repaired and repainted in 30 years.

Created of solid oak and veneers is the "Country Life" collection from Kroehler. Spindle-back chairs add to the elegant, yet friendly mood in a room where space is at a premium. This table, opened without adding leaves is octagonal in shape, measures about 38 inches. It bears a modest price tag of about $119. The table expands to a gracious 62 inches for dining.

Drexel's "Declaration" collection includes this dining set, one of five rotating displays in the Pavilion of American Interiors at the New York World's Fair. Offered in the deep brown richness of oiled, wild-grained American walnut, are a three-drawer china cabinet with two base doors and round extension table with arm and side chairs. The server has one drawer behind sliding tambour doors.

He Can't Complain About Real Problem

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My divorced sister and her 5-year-old boy live with our parents.

It is a terrible strain on my mother who has to look after the boy all day while his mother works. He doesn't mind her and fusses about every little thing.

When it's time for bed, he rags my mother and sister by running away and hiding.

My sister won't let his grandfather spank him and won't spank him herself . . .

ANSWER: He hasn't anyone to complain to about her, has he?

He hasn't anyone he can say to, "How mean my mother is to leave me alone all day! How mean she is to want me to go to bed as soon as she comes home!"

One of the nicer dividends of being the child of well-married parents is that you can safely complain about one to the other.

If you say to daddy: "She won't listen to me," he says: "She gets like that when she's tired."

★ ★ ★

If you complain about daddy to mother, she says, "When he stops being grumpy, ask him."

ONLY REPROACHES

But if you are living with the parents of your divorced mother, you quickly learn that any complaints about her will produce frightening reproaches.

★ ★ ★

You'll be told, "Shame on you for talking like that about your poor mother! She's working her finger to the bone for you. Don't ever let us hear you complain about her again!"

You realize that mother's parents feel so much sympathy for their own child that they can feel none for you.

As to criticizing her directly, how can you tell her how mean she is to send you to bed when she's been away from you all day? You can't.

★ ★ ★

You know that the whole subject of her changed life is too upsetting to her to mention.

★ ★ ★

You don't dare risk upsetting her by mentioning its consequences to you lest she get angry at you and leave you without any parents at all.

REAL PROBLEM

It is possible that your little nephew fusses about unimportant things like his bedtime because he dares not fuss to anyone about the important thing — the loss of his mother to work every day.

If someone around him could encourage him to fuss about this instead of demanding that he feel grateful appreciation of her, this sympathy with his point of view might produce a happiness between the someone and him which would make mother's daily absence more bearable.

Complaints about the unimportant things might just begin to reduce themselves. I wish someone would try it.

Virus Is Culprit in Baby Death

CHICAGO (UPI) — The sudden-death syndrome which in this country accounts for from 10,000 to 15,000 unexplained infant deaths may be traced to viral infection, suggests a Cleveland pediatrician.

★ ★ ★

In a study of the tissues of 48 infants who died suddenly of unknown cause, Dr. Eli Gold and colleagues found viruses present in the central nervous system of seven, he reported in The Journal of the American Medical Association.

★ ★ ★

This evidence, while not conclusive, suggests viral infection as a possible cause of these deaths, in Dr. Gold's opinion.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Leave Contact Lens Fitting to Specialist

Q—I have heard that contact lenses could cause blindness and cancer. Is this true?

When a person sees well when wearing contacts, what causes blurred vision when the lenses are removed and glasses which are correctly prescribed are put on?

A—To attribute cancer to contact lenses is a vicious rumor of the type which, although completely false is hard to stamp out once it gets started.

When properly used, contact lenses will not cause blindness.

But careless or improper use may cause scratching or infection of the cornea and lead to some decrease in vision.

When contact lenses have been worn for several hours there is usually some blurring when they are removed.

LENS PRESSURE

This is due to the pressure of the lenses on the cornea but it should clear up in about 15 minutes.

★ ★ ★

The fitting of contact lenses is not a simple matter like buying a new hat. It should be done only by a qualified eye specialist.

Q—What would be the effect of prolonged exposure to carbon tetrachloride fumes or having this chemical on your hands while removing spots from clothes?

★ ★ ★

A—Carbon tetrachloride is a powerful poison and should never be used indoors except by an open window.

In persons who have been drinking any alcoholic beverage, the effect of this poison is much quicker and more severe.

Such symptoms as headache, vomiting, diarrhea and pain in the abdomen may occur after an exposure of only a few minutes if the exposure takes place in an enclosed space.

★ ★ ★

Absorption of carbon tetrachloride can also occur through the skin but this is much slower and hence less of a hazard.

HEAVY EXPOSURE

In persons who have had a heavy exposure to the fumes or who have accidentally drunk this poison, severe damage to the kidneys and liver may occur.

The best treatment is prevention. Anyone who develops acute carbon tetrachloride poisoning should be treated in a hospital until all danger of a delayed reaction has passed.

By OSWALD JACOBY

Here is a hand from the 1964 world championship team trials that should really furnish a field day for second guessers.

JACOBY

Seven of the nine North-South pairs in the trials reached five-club contracts by means of the bidding in the box or something fairly similar. One North player opened with one heart and after rebidding two and three diamonds, dropped his partner at four clubs. The other South player got all the way to six clubs.

Playing at five or six clubs, South held himself to nine tricks. He would play dummy's queen of spades at trick one and take East's king with the ace. Then he would take a first-round heart finesse in hope of getting two quick discards. The heart finesse would lose. East would take two spades and West the ace of trump.

The one South who played four clubs went after trumps at trick two. He lost two spades and the ace of clubs, but he made his part score contract.

Where do second-guessers come in? North would have no trouble making five diamonds and actually might make six. Nevertheless, every South player rebid his clubs indefinitely and obviously North had to give up the struggle somewhere along the line.

Were the second guessers right? From a result standpoint, "Yes." From a statistical standpoint, "No."

Every one of the nine expert South players chose to insist on clubs and I imagine that at least 99 per cent of other players would have done likewise. Furthermore, just shift the East and West hands and it turns out that there is no defense against five clubs while five diamonds cannot make.

♥♣CARD Sense♠♦

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Dble.	Rdble.	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠K J 4 ♥Q 10 6 5 ♦K 6 ♣Q 9 7 2

What do you do now?

A—Bid three no-trump. Your partner's two-club bid has shown a minimum type hand with a long club suit. You should be willing to gamble for a no-trump game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two clubs, your partner passes and East bids one diamond. What do you do now?

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The mass exodus of some 80 football players and coaches began this week from the University of Detroit campus with the termination of the first semester.

There departure, as result of Rev. Laurence Britt's sudden hatchet job on football in December, brought many bitter words from the young gridders who headed for schools in all parts of the country.

Head coach John Idzik, who worked diligently for the past six weeks to find new locations for his players, is now the last to leave, having accepted an assistant's job at Tulane University.

Alumni who worked as hard to bring the players to U. of D. had the task this week of wishing the gridders success with the hope that much of the bitterness will not be directed at the loyal men who pursuaded the young athletes to cast their lot to U. of D.

"Many of the players, when approached by alumni, were told that football was secure at U. of D. and that's why many of the better players went there the last two years," said Mike Randall, former All-Oakland County gridder from Royal Oak Shrine.

GOES WEST

Randall, a sophomore halfback last season, decided to transfer to Arizona, along with three other players.

"What hurts is that in almost every case, a player must sit out one whole year before becoming eligible at the school to which he transfers," Randall said dejectedly.

The way the football situation was handled was in the poorest of ethics, certainly not a credit to a denominational institution such as U. of D.

An addition to the Detroit Lions' staff as end coach to be named by head coach Harry Gilmer, will probably be Darrel Brewster, former Cleveland Browns' star pass receiver who was an assistant coach with Minnesota couple years back.

He was on the staff with Gilmer at Minnesota in 1962, but last year was replaced by Lew Carpenter.

Remember Hugh Wilder, Rochester's one-man swim team for couple years, tutored by Pontiac Northern's Ed Dauw? Hugh has been touted as the most outstanding freshman to swim at Denison University in Ohio.

He was out of two meets because of illness but is one of big factors in Denison's 6-0 mark this year.

ATTACK HALTED — An attack by New York's Camille Henry (21) and Rod Gilbert (7) is beaten back by Boston goalie Ed Johnston at Madison Square Garden last night. Action came in opening period. Johnston wasn't so fortunate in later periods as New York won, 5-2.

Chiefs Facing SVC Battle in Flint Tilt

Win at Southwestern Is Must to Stay in Tie for Lead

Tradition may be working against Pontiac Central when it travels to Flint's Southwestern High School gymnasium Friday.

Hair-raising finishes are the rule, not the exception, when the two teams play and Flint Southwestern will have the home-court advantage.

★ ★ ★

The latter fact has made little difference, though, in the four games played between the two schools who are rapidly developing into one of the outstanding basketball series in the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Central has a 3-1 lead, the only loss coming by a 70-68 margin last season on its own court. The biggest margin, in turn, was PCH's 74-66 verdict in retaliation at Flint.

In 1962, the first game in the series was a 64-62 PCH triumph at home. The following year Lester Hardiman's long jump shot at the buzzer produced a 56-55 victory at Flint.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs this week are coming off their worst showing of the season and one which cost them the momentum built with an eight-game unbeaten streak, plus the No. 2 spot in the weekly Associated Press Class A state poll.

PCH is now rated sixth best with its 8-1 mark. Saginaw was the culprit last Friday, 53-46.

SCUTTLED

Flint Southwestern currently is 6-3 overall and tied for fourth in the SVC with a 4-3 log after Tuesday's 87-65 scuttling by Saginaw's now-charging Trojans.

★ ★ ★

The Colts, however, have two fine scorers in Rick Yuille and Larry Gillis. They have a veteran mentor in Roy McMurray and play much the same style as Central.

Lacking height, they have to work for the good shots, setting up Yuille and Gillis mostly and try to fast break when the opportunity presents itself.

The Southwestern quintet has been to Pontiac once this season, providing Pontiac Northern's opening night opposition. The visitors trailed most of the game but pulled out a 70-69 win in the final five seconds.

The Colts showed a lot of poise under fire in the game, a trademark of McMurray's well-coached teams.

★ ★ ★

Saginaw, which is tied with PCH for the league lead (6-1), will visit Flint Central (2-5), Bay City Handy (0-7) will play archrival BC Central (2-5) and Flint Northern (4-3) will meet Saginaw Arthur Hill (5-2) in other circuit clashes Friday.

Air Force Quintet Loses 2 Starters

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP)— The U.S. Air Force Academy basketball team has lost two of its regular starters and leading scorers — Scott Etnyre of Wilmette, Ill., and Jerry Yankee of San Antonio, Tex.

The two junior guards are no longer with the team, Bob Peck, sports information director at the Academy, announced Wednesday. Peck said no reason was given for the action.

★ ★ ★

Other officials of the Academy, including Coach Bob Spear, declined comment other than the stock statement: "We are unable to refute, confirm or reveal the status of any cadet until the current investigation is ended."

Yankee has missed the last four games because of mononucleosis, a blood ailment.

LED SCORING

A 6-foot 160-pound speedster, he was leading the team with 94 points before he was stricken after the North Dakota game Jan. 4.

Etnyre, a 6-foot-1 170-pounder, was the team's second best scorer with 141 points in 12 games for an 11.8 average.

The team has won five games and lost seven to date with an upset 86-74 victory over a strong Oklahoma City team last Saturday.

Announcement of the two players' separation from the squad was made when line-ups were being announced for games with Brigham Young University Friday and Wyoming Saturday here.

The players themselves were unavailable for comment. The Academy has imposed a tight gag on all cadets during the current investigation.

Billly 'G' Trails by 13 in Florida Qualifier

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dan Fix, a 25-year-old rookie from Missoula, Mont., took a 13-pin lead over Bill Golembiewski of Detroit Wednesday night at the halfway mark of the 24-game qualifier of the Professional Bowlers Association's $35,000 Hialeah-Miami Open.

★ ★ ★

Golembiewski, who led at the end of the first round, had a 12-game total of 2672.

The 96-man field will shoot another 12-game Thursday with the 16 high scorers moving into Friday's semifinals.

Pistons Win String Equals' Celtics Run

By The Associated Press

The lowly Detroit Pistons aren't sitting back and letting the Boston Celtics do all of the winning in the National Basketball Association.

Like the Celtics, the Pistons have a three-game winning streak following their 122-108 triumph over the Baltimore Bullets Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

The Celtics won their third straight by dumping Philadelphia 115-98. In other games, St. Louis whipped New York 117-100 and Los Angeles turned back Cincinnati 119-112.

The Piston easily drove past the Bullets, who lost ground in their fight with St. Louis for second place in the West.

Eddie Miles led the Detroit attack that saw six players score in double figures. Miles posted 25 points and Reggie Harding 20. Walt Bellamy poured in 30 for the losers while Don Ohl added 28.

★ ★ ★

Sam Jones led a second-half attack that overwhelmed Philadelphia, the team that stopped the Celtics' 16-game winning streak last Saturday night. Jones scored only nine points in the first half but ripped through 20 in the last 24 minutes.

Wilt Chamberlain sparked the 76ers with 28 points and 10 rebounds.

★ ★ ★

St. Louis overcame an early New York lead and broke a four-game losing streak. The Hawks trailed by as much as 10 points early but fought their way into a two-point halftime lead 51-49. They steadily increased their margin the rest of the way.

Bob Pettit scored 29 points for St. Louis. Bob Boozer led the Knicks with 25.

★ ★ ★

Jerry West erupted for 42 points in sparking Los Angeles to its victory over Cincinnati as the first-place Lakers maintained their three-game lead over St. Louis in the Western Division.

Runner Seeks Track 'Triple'

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Crothers, the near-sighted pharmacist from Toronto, scored a double last weekend and tonight starts his quest for a rare track triple.

★ ★ ★

Crothers, 800-meter silver medalist in the Tokyo Olympics and one of the most impressive runners of the young indoor season, opens a three-day, three-city weekend tonight when he takes the favorite's role in to the 880-yard run in the 58th edition of the Wanamaker-Millrose Games.

He's also scheduled to run in the 600 yards in the Telegram-Maple Leaf Games in Toronto Friday night, along with anchoring a relay team, and in the 600 in the Boston A.A. Games in Boston Saturday.

"It's no tougher than a workout," shrugged the slim, powerful 24-year-old who wears thick glasses to correct his vision. "I can use the work."

Meet director Fred Schmertz confidently predicts an indoor record for Crothers, and most observers see little to threaten him. He holds the meet mark, an American indoor standard, of 1:50 flat and may be able to trim that by as much as a second.

★ ★ ★

He is unbeaten indoors this season, winning the 600 in Boston two weeks ago, along with anchoring a winning relay team, and copped both the 600 and 1,000 in Los Angeles last weekend.

His field of opponents for the Millrose Games was trimmed down late Wednesday night when it was announced that Wilson Kiprugut, third-place finisher in the Olympic 800 meters from Kenya, was unable to make it.

Navy Selects Athletic Boss

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The Naval Academy announced on Wednesday that Capt. Alan R. Cameron will take over as athletic director this summer, succeeding Capt. William S. Busik.

★ ★ ★

Busik, who completes his normal three-year tour of duty as head of the Naval Academy Athletic Association, will assume command of Destroyer Squadron 25, based at Pearl Harbor.

Cameron won three letters in football and two in basketball as a midshipman from 1940 to 1944. He comes to the academy from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in Washington, D. C.

Hoeft Sees Good Year

Lefty Receives Another Try With Tigers

AP Photofax

GRID FEUD — Texas football coach Darrell Royal (left) lashed out at the New York Jets of the American Football League because he said he learned that his top pass receiver George Sauer (right) was going to pass up his final year of college eligibility to sign a pro football contract. Royal said he would fight the recruitment by the Jets.

DETROIT (AP) — You can take Billy Hoeft's word for it—the Detroit Tiges will have another lefthanded pitcher on the team this season, if only in the bullpen.

★ ★ ★

Hoeft, a former Tiger who played the last two years in the National League, was released by the Milwaukee Braves last fall.

The Tigers are giving their one-time carefree playboy another chance because they feel they need another lefy in the bullpen.

FIVE CLUBS

Hoeft, 32, has a 92-95 won-loss record in 13 years in the majors. He played for five different clubs in the last six years.

He does not feel this is his last chance.

"I don't feel I'm near the end at all," he said. "In fact, I feel like I'm going to have a good year for the Tigers—a real good one.

★ ★ ★

"If my arm bothered me, I might feel different about my chances this year. But it's strong and I'm convinced I can help the Tigers.

"In fact, I'll bet the Braves wish they had me back before the year is over."

★ ★ ★

Though he was traded four times, nothing bothered Hoeft as much as his release from the Braves.

"I still can't understand it," exclaimed. "they've got a shortage of lefthanders over there, too, and why they let me go, I don't know. I thought I pitched well enough for them."

Hoeft was 4-0 with the Braves after a 2-0 season in 1963 with San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

But all that is history and Hoeft has his mind set on the future—in the Detroit bullpen.

Jets After Texan

Signing War Continues

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The war between the colleges and the professional football clubs over early signings focused today on George Sauer Jr., Texas pass receiver who says he wants to forego his final year of college to sign with the New York Jets.

Sauer's choice is complicated by the strong objection of Texas Coach Darrell Royal to the signing. Royal says officials of the Jets promise they won't sign Sauer without the coach's consent.

★ ★ ★

The Longhorn end, son of the Jets' director of player personnel, is considered a first-rate pro prospect. The senior Sauer once coached football at Baylor.

Young Sauer said Tuesday he wants to play pro ball next fall if the Jets, of the American Football League, will sign him. A math major, Sauer said he would carry 15 semester hours (usually five courses) this spring, then he hopes to finish his senior year and get his degree next spring.

★ ★ ★

Weeb Ewbank, the Jets' coach and general manager, denied Wednesday the club had offered Sauer a pro contract or had made any official overtures to sign him.

"We drafted him as a future and we've treated him as one. I can assure you he has not been offered a contract," Ewbank said in a telephone interview with the Austin American-Statesman.

Grand Rapids	8	4	Chicago	2	8
Muskegon	5	6

A new individual league scoring record, a tightening of the league race and what will probably be a costly expulsion featured a rare North American Basketball League midweek game last night.

Grand Rapids Tackers traveled to Muskegon Wednesday and ripped into the Panthers, 136-120, to move within one game of idle first place Benton Harbor.

Willie Jones, former Detroit Piston, pumped in 43 points for the new record. Jimmy Darrow of the Panthers had 31.

Guard Herschell Turner, once with Grand Rapids, was dismissed early in the second half from the home forces when he allegedly attempted to strike an official.

A stiff fine may be imposed against Turner.

PONTIAC HOME

The loss, also, dropped the Panthers within one game of fourth-place Pontiac which hosts Benton Harbor Saturday at Pontiac Northern. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

The Sailors have not won away from home this season and were weathered out of their game last week. The two-week layoff could affect their timing.

The return of 6-10 player-coach Bob Bolton Saturday and the fine debut last week of 6-5 Dave Gunther will give the Nationals increased bench strength as they prepare for probably the biggest game they'll have all season.

★ ★ ★

Not only is Pontiac anxious to climb back up in the NABL standings but it is doubly important they make a fine showing in front of a home crowd to insure increased interest in the growth of professional basketball in the Pontiac area.

Their previous home game drew 1,400 fans to see them nip Chicago's Bombers, 109-106, in November. Many of those fans are expected to return Saturday night.

City Recreation Fives Wage Point Struggle

A high-scoring city recreation men's basketball program last night featured The Students' 91-87 triumph over Lloyd Motors, their first victory of the Class A campaign.

Roy White's Unbeatables continued to lead the "A" cagers when they remained unbeaten by dumping K. D. Television, 81-48.

★ ★ ★

In Waterford Township play, Spencer Floor Covering whipped O'Neil Realty, 74-51, in American League play; and National League games had Frushour & Struble nudging Howe's Lanes, 67-59, and Hi & Dry Lounge toppling Joe's Bar, 65-56.

The city's junior hoop program games saw the Auburn Heights Boys Club win twice. Its Buzzards trimmed K-Town Five, 62-53, and the Hawks team topped the Tams, 61-56.

A 32-point effort by Lloyd's Bob Finley wasn't good enough to overcome the balanced attack of The Students who grabbed the decision with 14 field goals in the third quarter in a 28-12 spree. Chuck Clark had 24 for the winners.

★ ★ ★

Vern Ellis tallied 20 points in the Unbeatable's third straight win. They led 59-40 after three periods.

Four players were in twin figures as Spencer remained close to first place in the top township circuit. Dave Struble of losing O'Neil's took game honors with 20.

Dick Blacklaw's 23 paced Hi & Dry Lounge to its third straight without a loss in National play. Joe's suffered its initial loss. Frushour & Struble's win kept Howe's winless and boosted the realtors to 2-1, one game off the pace.

West Bloomfield to Play Barons in W-O Rematch

Bloomfield Hills will attempt to rectify the only blot on its basketball record tomorrow night when the Barons host West Bloomfield.

The Lakers dumped Bloomfield Hills, 43-42, in the third game of the season. Since then the Barons have brushed aside five straight Wayne-Oakland League foes on the way to first place with a 6-1 mark. The Barons are 7-1 overall.

The outcome of tomorrow's other W-O games leave several possibilities.

A West Bloomfield (5-3) victory coupled with a Northville (5-2) win at home over Holly (6-2) would leave the Mustangs tied for first. If Holly wins, the Broncos are alone on top.

Triumphs by Bloomfield Hills and Northville would set the stage for next Tuesday's makeup game between the two. Should the Barons win over the Mustangs, they would have the cage crown all but sewed up.

Should Holly and the Hills win tomorrow, then the showdown game will be Feb. 12 on the Barons' court.

Clarkston (4-4) entertains Brighton (1-7) and Clarenceville (1-7) is at Milford (3-5) in the other league games.

★ ★ ★

Williams is the most consistent point producer.

West Bloomfield can throw the block in the Hills path and create a possible jam at or near the top. The Lakers would move back in the title picture.

Key scorers for the Lakers have been Tim Moller, Jay Williams and Rick Hacht. Hacht, who started the season at a fast pace has tapered off and Moller is now coming on strong in the scoring department.

★ ★ ★

Greg Anderson is the only sure starter for the Barons. Coach Hal Henderson will pick the other four from among Jeff Debandt, Dave Gottlieb, Mike Righter, Joe Menger and Robin Mersky.

Holly edged past Northville the first time around, but the Mustangs have started to jell. Jerry Imsland is the big scorer from the tallest front line in the league.

Tom Fagan sparks the Holly attack. Bill Taylor has started scoring over the 15-point mark and this will take some of the pressure off Fagan.

★ ★ ★

Clarkston is favored to handle Brighton and gain a tie for fourth place if West Bloomfield falls. Brighton's only win was a 71-68 verdict over the Wolves.

Milford are expected to continue its charge toward a first division finish against Clarenceville.

Lee Palmer of Ferndale Maintains Best Average

Ferndale's basketball squad, ranked fifth in the state Class A prep poll, has a couple of things going for it.

★ ★ ★

The team is the only one in Oakland County with a perfect record (9-0) and it also has the county's leading scorer in Lee Palmer.

Palmer, a 6-3½ forward, has racked up 244 points in nine outings for a 27.1 average.

Behind Palmer is Rochester's Bruce McDonald with a 25.5 mark, and holding down the third position is Roger Hayward of Pontiac Northern at 23.7.

Paddleballers in 'M' Meet

National Tournament Starts Friday

The National Paddleball Association tournament begins Friday and continues through Sunday at the University of Michigan intra-mural building with entries from as far as San Diego, Calif.

★ ★ ★

A total of 32 singles players and 24 doubles teams will compete in the tournament, held for the 4th year at U. of M.

Defending doubles champions for the past three years, Bob and Dick McNamara, will be back to defend their crown along with runners-up of the past two seasons, Dave Porok and Harry Detweiler of Ann Arbor.

★ ★ ★

All losers of the first round move into the consultation bracket and trophies are awarded to the winners and runners-up in each bracket.

Singles play begins at 10:00 a.m. Friday and doubles at 1:00 p.m. Finals will be at 10:00 a.m. Sunday in both events.

Several local players are expected to compete in the tournament.

PNH Visits Walled Lake

Pontiac Northern's Dick Hall may be wishing he had Walled Lake coach Bob Bolton's problems Friday night when the Huskies visit the Vikings seeking a share of the Inter-Lakes League cage title.

★ ★ ★

This may surprise the lanky Bolton since the Viking mentor's problems are two fold: which five of the eight or nine "regulars" are due for a good team effort, and how can Walled Lake limit the effectiveness of Roger Hayward's outside shots?

Hall undoubtedly would like to have eight or nine experienced players to choose among. The once attractive PNH roster has suddenly been depleted by injuries and illnesses.

Forward Larry Frye, a 6-4 starter, will miss at least two more games with his sore ankle. A leading replacement, 6-1 Ted Rabaja, will likely miss the Friday tilt with a bad ankle, sprained in practice Tuesday.

This, along with the colds slowing Hayward and 6-4 Dave Sudbury, means that frontline help will have to come from guards John Gailey or Bob Harris, most likely. This will put a bigger load on Larry Cushist, the junior backcourt performer.

And Hayward, who has averaged 23 points a game mainly on long jump shots, will have to see a lot more duty inside in a Huskie bid for more backboard strength.

★ ★ ★

Bolton at Walled Lake has not seen much consistency among the five starters he has looked for all season. Only Matt Planck and Rick Hughes have put several good games together.

The last time the two teams played, PNH won 80-61, after a good ball game for three quarters. Hayward's record 36 points carried Northern through the rough spots.

PNH could clinch a share of the loop crown with a victory, thus stretching its I-L cage mark to 4-0 this season. The Vikings are 1-2 with three loop games to play.

'MUST GAME'

Waterford will attempt to stay in the race by playing host to Farmington Friday. Both are 1-2 and can not afford another loss.

The Falcons spanked Waterford on their home court earlier this month, 78-70, handing the Skippers their only loss in a four-game streak. The Farmington quintet is 4-7 over-all.

Waterford, since losing to the Falcons, has won two of three. The Skippers will be trying for the third time to put their mark over .500 this campaign for coach Bob Taylor, who has had more than his share of losses in his two seasons at the helm.

★ ★ ★

In all, WTHS is 4-4 while playing a rugged schedule with a comparatively inexperienced roster. The game would be an important one in the win column since next week will bring trips to Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern's gyms.

Fireworks on Schedule in Thumb League Tilts

The lid will blow off the Southern Thumb basketball race tomorrow night at Dryden. And there could be a minor explosion at Armada.

These are the sites of the league's two key contests.

★ ★ ★

Dryden and New Haven, tied for first with 6-1 marks, square off and Almont, also in on the deadlock, goes to potentially dangerous Armada.

Memphis is at Anchor Bay and Brown City travels to Capac for other STA contests.

Oxford can do Lapeer a favor in the Tri-County by posting a home court upset over Romeo. League leading Lapeer will be heavily favored to win at L'Anse Creuse. Kettering is idle.

Dryden downed New Haven, 50-39, early in the season on the Rockets' floor. This time, however, the Cardinals will have the full scoring punch of 6-3 Gordon Lee and 6-6 Larry Belt to contain.

The two weren't quite up to par the first time the teams met.

COZY GYM

The cozy confines of the Dryden gym plus a well balanced attack make the Cardinals slight favorites.

★ ★ ★

Almont blasted Armada 85-64 the first time the teams met—at Almont—but the tide could turn. Armada has been disappointing this season after being rated an outside chance for the title.

Victory for Almont and Dryden would set up a possible championship game, Feb. 12 at Dryden.

Romeo (3-1) must win or will lose precious ground to Lapeer as the second round of Tri-County play begins. The Panthers (4-0) have a key tussle coming up with Kettering Feb. 5.

★ ★ ★

Although Oxford is only 1-3 in the league, the Wildcats have proven tough for Romeo to beat in past seasons.

PGA Hand Eases Pressure

Chi Chi Almost 'Thumbed Out'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Puerto Rican Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez set out today in defense of his title of the $57,500 Lucky International Open Golf Tournament after a special ruling erased a threat to his career.

Little Chi Chi thought for a time he might be through as a pro until tournament director Jack Tuthill of the Professional Golfers' Association decreed the 120-pound pepperpot may wear a special brace for his permanently injured left thumb during PGA events.

PROHIBIT DEVICE

PGA rules prohibit a golfer using a device "designed to give the player artificial aid in gripping or swinging the club."

Tuthill said it doesn't apply to the brace and Rodriguez said that without it, "I can't play golf."

Chi Chi shot a one-over-par 72 in Wednesday's pro-amateur prelude to the Harding Park Municipal course, a 36-35—71 layout extending 6,733 yards. He and his three amateur partners tied for first in the pro-amateur division with a best-ball 58.

Also at 58 was Hawaiian pro Ted Makalena and his three partners. Each pro received $375 for their effort. Had the ruling gone against Rodriguez, he would have been disqualified even from the pro-am and not collected the money.

★ ★ ★

Doug Sanders won the low pro division with a 69 to collect $500. At 70 were Chuck Courtney, Kyle Burton, Canadian George Knudson and Lionel Hebert.

Bill Casper, one of the favorites here, finished in a group of eight at 71.

Tony Lema the British Open champion, slipped to a 78. Australian Bruce Crampton, winner of the $7,500 top prize in the Bing Crosby Tournament last Sunday, shot a 73.

BIG NAMES OUT

U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi, Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer aren't playing the Lucky.

"I thought my golfing days were over," Chi Chi admitted. "I can't play golf without this thing on. This is a medical aid to keep me from being crippled."

★ ★ ★

Four months after last year's Lucky, Rodriguez injured the thumb while playing at Las Vegas, Nev. He thought it would heal itself.

"I don't know what I would have done the rest of my life if I couldn't use it," Chi Chi said.

"I guess I would have had to find another job."

Florida Golfer Top Qualifier

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ballard Beasley of Ridge Manor, Fla., fired a five-under-par 67 Wednesday to lead qualifiers in the 1965 PGA National Golf Club Match Play Tournament.

He was one of 15 golfers who broke par on the 6,145-yard West course at Palm Beach Gardens. Only three were under regulation figures on the 6,521-yard East course.

Low on the East were John Barnum of Belmont, Mich., and Ernie Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., with 70s. Leo Biagetti of Ashland, Ohio, had a 71.

Following Beasley on the West, one stroke back, was J. C. Goosie of Largo, Fla. Five were tied at 69 — Joe Loopez Jr. of Miami, Billy Capps of Beckley, W.Va., Chuck Malchaski of Addison, Ill., Harold Thompson of Norwood, N.C., and Pete Cooper of Sorrento, Fla.

'M' Ice Unit Trims MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan scored three goals in the final four and one-half minutes of play to gain a 6-3 Western Collegiate Hockey Association victory over Michigan State Wednesday night.

Mel Wakayabashi tallied two goals for the Wolverines who gained sole possession of fourth place in the league with the triumph.

Alex Hood, Wilfred Martin, Bob Boysen and Marty Read also scored for Michigan. Doug Volmar scored twice and Doug Roberts once for MSU.

Annual Open Ski Meet Set

Mt. Holly Grooming Dual Slalom Course

Stimulated by the recent wintery weather, some 300 skiers are expected to compete this weekend in the annual Michigan Open Slalom Ski Meet at Mt. Holly.

Last weekend's freezing rain and intermittent snowfall did not deter the annual interscholastic races and many of those skiers will be on hand Saturday for the start of action.

★ ★ ★

There are 6 awards in the Michigan Open, which is fully sanctioned by the U. S. Ski Association's Central Division. The meet has six classes of racers.

★ ★ ★

Junior skiers 17-years-old and under will compete Saturday. The veterans' class and seniors (18 and older) will vie Sunday. Parking and admission is free.

The competition is set to begin 10:30 a.m. Saturday. Entry blanks are available at Mt. Holly and most ski shops.

The racing will be on a dual slalom course laid out by instructors at the resort.

Olympic Ski Coach Spurs U.S. Program

NEW YORK (NEA)—It was at Innsbruck, Austria, and the cocky young gentleman with the exceedingly good looks was discoursing about the pressure involved in the Winter Olympics

"Nothing," he said, "comes out of pressure but greatness. That's what we've told these kids all along. That's what we believe. A young racer ought to try and win, or fall down the mountain trying.

The speaker was Bob Beattie and as you may have guessed, he is rather dedicated to certain things, mainly the future of skiing in the United States.

Beattie was the American Alpine Olympic coach last year, and now he's back at the University of Colorado where he coaches when he isn't off in some part of the country promoting the sport.

Some of the country's best skiers including Olympians Billy Kidd, Jim Huega, Ni Orsi, Bill Marolt, Barbara Ferries and Starr Walton are Colorado students, as well as Beattie students.

BREAKTHROUGH

Kidd and Huega started the American breakthrough in international competition, finishing second and third respectively at Innsbruck in the slalom.

It was the first time in Olympic history that American racers finished third or higher in an Alpine event and it was a great moment for Beattie who had been predicting the U. S. success.

"Our policy at Colorado is to work with young American skiers," Beattie said. "We are not interested in looking for European exchange students even though they would give us valuable points, in jumping particularly.

"My philosophy is that if we are going to improve American ski competition, the natural place to do it is in our college program. We must work with our own young men and women."

Detroit Posts 5-1 Win at Port Huron

PORT HURON (AP) — Norm Ullman and Parker MacDonald each scored two goals in leading the Detroit Red Wings to a 5-1 exhibition hockey victory over the Port Huron Flags Wednesday night.

MacDonald scored in the first period and the Red Wings nursed the one goal lead until Gordie Howe scored to trigger a four goal third period.

★ ★ ★

Ray Germain scored in the final minute of play for the International Hockey League team.

A capacity crowd of 3,380 watched Flags' goalies Bob Smeddon and Norm Jacques turn aside 46 Detroit shots. Detroit's Roger Crozier and Bob Champoux combined to make 20 saves.

Hornets' Coach Sets Example for Success

By The Associated Press

Vic Stasiuk, player - coach of the American Hockey League's Pittsburgh Hornets, doesn't believe in just telling his players how to score goals — he shows them.

Stasiuk's club was trailing 5-2 going into the last period against Hershey Wednesday night but before the coach was through, the Hornets had a 6-5 overtime victory.

Stasiuk's first goal, midway through the period, narrowed the gap to a single goal. After Lou Marcon tied it on a breakaway goal in the last two minutes, Stasiuk hit again in the overtime period to win it.

In Wednesday's only other AHL game, the league's leading scorer, Buffalo's Len Lunde, hit twice as the Bisons whacked Providence 5-1.

U.S. Changes Sled, Squad in Trial Run

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) —Despite an involuntary change in equipment, United States' bobsledders appear to be in the running for the Four-man World Championship.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the event, scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, expect the championship to be as wide open as any in recent years. They based their opinion on showings in Wednesday's workouts.

The U.S. squad experimented with Podar sleds and a change in team personnel. The Americans' newly designed sled was damaged beyond repair last Monday. Even with a shift in the team makeup, the United States' times were close to workout times of other entrants.

★ ★ ★

One American quartet of Fred Fortune, Tom Vasser, Joe Wilson and Joe Lord went down the mile Olympia run in one minute, 20.64 seconds and in 1:20.83.

Ralph Wiles, Jim Hickey, Dick Knuckles and Mike Hallrock were clocked in 1:21.02. Dick Davis then replaced Wiles, and the group made it in 1:20.62.

★ ★ ★

The day's best time was 1:19.92 turned in by both the Canadians and the Austrians.

A British foursome, including two-man world champions Tony Nash and Robin Dixon, sped down the course in 1:20.22.

New Ranger on Skates as N.Y. Bumps Boston

NEW YORK (AP) — Ulf Sterner skated in on Boston goalie Ed Johnston, drew back his stick and fired a 15-footer past the beleaguered Bruin netminder. He raised his stick in hockey's traditional salute to a goal, but he was the only one doing it.

"When I turned around and saw the other players with their sticks on the ice instead of in the air, I realized it wasn't a goal," said Sterner. It was the only disappointing moment of the night for the first player ever born and trained in Europe to play in the National Hockey League.

FULL TURN

The New York Rangers celebrated Sterner's NHL debut Wednesday night with a 5-2 victory over the Bruins. In the only other game played, Montreal blanked Chicago 2-0.

The 23-year-old Swede took a full turn at center and would have had his first big league goal but for a whistle just a moment before he shot the puck. He was on the ice for two of New York's five goals.

★ ★ ★

Sterner was called up from New York's American League affiliate at Baltimore two days ago after scoring 10 goals in 28 games with the Clippers. He started the season with St. Paul of the Central League and had 12 goals in 15 games there.

★ ★ ★

Ulf had two shots on goal besides the one that was disallowed. On one, Johnston made a pretty leg save to rob him and another time he came in all alone but fired over the net.

Elsewhere, Montreal stretched its lead to four points over Chicago, beating the Hawks 2-0 on a pair of late goals by defenseman Jean Guy Talbot.

It was the first shutout of the season for goalie Gump Worsley, recalled slightly less than two weeks ago from Quebec of the AHL. Worsley has won five of six starts since returning to the Canadiens.

★ ★ ★

Worsley was particularly strong in the second period when he beat Chicago's Bobby Hull, the league's leading scorer, on a breakaway.

HALL OF FAME BOWLING TIPS

By JOE NORRIS
Written for NA

Nothing irritated Ebber Easter more than to hear someone say, "I'm too old to bowl." Except maybe being called Ebber rather than "Sarge," his nickname.

You see, "Sarge" was a 30-year veteran of army service whose memory was enshrined in bowling's Hall of Fame in 1963, two years after his death. And what a career to remember.

He started bowling in the 1890s but didn't enter major tournament competition until 50 years later. He shared American Bowling Congress team and national doubles titles in 1950, at the age of 68. He achieved one 300 game when he was 71 years old.

"Sarge" was the kind of man who, without ever winning a championship, would have boosted bowling for people of all ages just because he enjoyed it so much. If he were with us today, "Sarge" would take pleasure in watching senior citizen bowlers enjoy the game.

Gains Overcome Losses

Market Continues to Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued its irregular progress into record high ground early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Gains ranging from fractions to 1 or 2 points among key stocks provided upside momentum which overcame losses in many sections of the list.

★ ★ ★

The market was buoyed by a wide variety of corporate reports of greater earnings, increased dividends and other bullish developments.

Chemicals, electrical equipments, rails, oils, nonferrous metals and aerospace issues were generally higher.

The trend was unevenly lower among steels, motors, airlines, cigarette issues, building materials and farm implements.

Another record in the consumer price index added to the encouraging atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 336.2, with industrials up 1.2, rails up .5 and utilities unchanged.

President Johnson's annual economic message also was regarded as a bullish factor.

ACTIVE TRADING

Prices rose in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Up about 2 were Rollins Broadcasting, Astrodata and ANelx. Gains of a point or more were scored by Aurora Plastics, Baldwin - Montrose Chemical common and preferred, Consolidated Mining and Old Town. Fractional gains were posted for Syntex, Sperry Rand warrants, General Plywood, Heinicke and Massey Ferguson. National Video "A" was off about a point.

★ ★ ★

Assault Case to Circuit Court

Arrested After Fight With Waterford Man

Elmer Parcher, 33, no address was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday by Waterford Justice Patrick K. Daly following a preliminary examination on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm and aggravated assault.

★ ★ ★

Held in the Oakland County jail on $2,500 bond, Parcher will be arraigned Wednesday at 9 a.m.

★ ★ ★

He was arrested by State Police following a Nov. 7 fight which resulted in the hospitalization of Melvin Hammond, 54, of 777 Scott Lake, Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Parcher waived examination when arraigned by Daly Nov. 9 and was bound over to Circuit Court. The higher court, however, remanded him Dec. 2 for a Justice Court examination.

Six Suspects Quizzed in Area Thefts

Six persons, whose car was stopped by police at 2:45 a.m. today at Orchard Lake and Bagley, were arrested for investigation of several recent larcenies.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac police said a 38-caliber pistol was found in the glove compartment of the car. A warrant for carrying a concealed weapon is sought.

Police were alerted to watch for the car because one of the six reportedly displayed a gun earlier as the group was leaving a Waterford Township restaurant.

Held for investigation of larcenies in Pontiac, Waterford Township and White Lake Township are Donald Rodgers, 24, no address; Mayme V. Evans, 30, of 539 Emerson; and Frank J. Land, 25, of 44 W. Cornell.

★ ★ ★

Others are Larry R. Reitano, 21, and Thomas W. Reitano, 22, both of 799 Crittendon; and Judy A. Rivenbaugh, 24, of 44 W. Cornell.

AF Academy Scandal Shocks Parents

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — "My boy didn't cheat — he just refused to be a stool pigeon."

That was the bitter reaction today of a parent of one of the more than 100 U.S. Air Force Academy cadets caught in the web of a classroom cheating scandal.

★ ★ ★

"I taught my boy since he was big enough to walk that he shouldn't snitch on the other kids," the parent, a Midwestern schoolteacher, added.

"He didn't do anything wrong. Another boy offered him an examination paper. He turned it down. This was a friend. My boy couldn't turn him in — and now he must pay for it."

Reactions from other parents were marked with similar sadness and bitterness.

65 RESIGN

Thirty more cadets resigned from the academy Wednesday, making a total of 65 who quit rather than face a court-martial. Thirty of the cadets involved are reported to be members of the varsity football team.

Many of the resigning cadets were returning home today. Most of them found loving and sympathetic rather than angry and punitive parents, a telephone survey by the Associated Press revealed.

★ ★ ★

No names of the involved cadets have been released officially and won't be, the academy said. Some leaked out, however, from other sources.

"We sent our boy to the academy with honor and integrity — what have they done to him?" said a mother on the West Coast, choking back the tears.

'FINEST YOUTHS'

"I don't think the investigation should end with the termination date (now set for Feb. 10). Something is basically wrong with a school or a system which permits this. These are the finest youths in the land. Congress should look into this."

The father of a football player living in the Middle West was shaken by news that his son was coming home under a cloud.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not mad at him — I'm proud of him," the father said. "I know he is a good boy. He has been under severe pressure. He has done nothing wrong. We will welcome him with open arms."

REFUSED TO TELL

Another father in the Southwest said his son had told him he had been offered the exam papers but had refused. However, the boy said he refused to tell on his classmates.

"I can't justify the boy on that score," the father said. "He knew when he entered the academy there was an honor code."

★ ★ ★

The code stipulates that a cadet must not lie, steal or cheat and must not tolerate anyone who does. If he sees cheating and says nothing, under the code he is as guilty as the offender.

"The boys live, eat, work and play together," one parent said. "What can anyone expect?"

CURRENT SCANDAL

In the current scandal, it's been unofficially reported that a third-year cadet stole a key to a locker containing examination papers. He made copies of the papers and then obtained 10 fellow cadets to help peddle them to other students.

While the scandal was breaking, two varsity basketball players were dropped without explanation from the squad.

They were Scott Etnyre of Wilmette, Ill., and Jerry Yankee of San Antonio, Tex., both junior guards.

Asked the reason for the action, academy information office and athletic association officials said, "We can neither refute, confirm or reveal the status of any cadet."

In Wilmette, Etnyre's father, Roy, athletic director of New Trier High School, said his son had resigned and will return home this weekend.

"He did not cheat," said the elder Etnyre. "The way I understand it, he was approached by another cadet, and although he refused to accept the exam information offered him, he neglected to report the incident, which the code at the academy demands that he must do.

"I understand that there were only from four to 10 boys directly involved in cheating. The rest were guilty of 'tolerance.'"

In Seattle, attorney Archie Greenlee, father of football end Fritz Greenlee, said Fritz telephoned him a few nights ago and said he was resigning.

"It's like somebody dying — the first shock," he said. "But it's over now. Sure I'm disappointed, but it hasn't caused me to change my mind about Fritz."

Greenlee said the academy code is "impractical, unrealistic and a fantasy."

Life of Area Pair Is Used for TV Plot

A Waterford Township couple will be watching tonight's Dr. Kildare TV episode with more interest than the usual viewer. The show is their story.

Marguerite and Paul Hodge of 349 Fernbarry will be reliving their own experience in the program entitled "Please Let My Baby Live."

Although their first names are retained, other names have been changed and the story has been fictionalized to some extent.

"But all the important details are true," said Hodge, employed at Pontiac Motor Division. In the script, written by Hodge's brother Max of Hollywood, Calif., the actor portraying Hodge is an electronics engineer.

★ ★ ★

The story concerns the RH factor. In real life the Hodges have lost five children due to complications resulting from this factor.

The show can be seen on Channel 4 at 8:30 p.m.

Estes Reading Bible, Mopping Floors in Jail

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Life in jail for Billie Sol Estes is reading the Bible to fellow prisoners, mopping the small concrete floor around his bed and occasionally calling his wife collect.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff Mike Sullivan drew this picture of the former West Texas farm tycoon as Estes ended more than a week in the El Paso County Jail Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The one-time Pecos promoter was jailed Jan. 19 after the Supreme Court refused to hear his appeal of a 15-year prison sentence for mail fraud and his $100,000 bond was revoked.

★ ★ ★

Estes has been permitted only two visitors — Paul W. Slone and Slone's wife, Ercell. Slone uses Estes' name in an import-export business here.

Four Persons Face Abortion Charges

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A Grand Rapids osteopath and three other persons were bound over to Circuit Court Wednesday following Police Court examination on charges alleging conspiracy in abortions.

★ ★ ★

Dr. William J. Wellman, 48, and David Paschall, 58, and Charlotte Bitker, 41, both of Detroit, were released on bonds of $10,000 each to await arraignment in the higher court.

★ ★ ★

John Wolke, accused of having performed the operations, also was bound over but currently is serving a Southern Michigan Prison term on similar charges.

Book of Facts on Mountains

New Lowell Thomas Work on Earth Peaks

Book of the High Mountains by Lowell Thomas

By CORENNA ALDRICH

You won't just read Lowell Thomas' new book. You'll enter his "Book of the High Mountains" to be swept along on a panoramic tour through time and space.

★ ★ ★

Beginning over three billion years ago in the very center of the earth, the "journey" proceeds through the eons up through the earth's crust to the present day and summits of the world's highest peaks.

Few readers will emerge unmoved by the history and legend of mountain and volcano, or by the awesome, still active forces that heave them into existence.

This story of mountains and their effect on men and civilizations should whet even the dullest reading appetite.

★ ★ ★

Each precarious step along a narrow pass, each treacherous descent to a remote valley reveals new paths to adventure, both real and intellectual.

MANY AREAS

Touching on many areas of mountain study — geography, geology, archeology, paleontology — the author provides in each one an enticing springboard to greater knowledge.

Cinerama in print, "Book of the High Mountains" nevertheless is not always easygoing. Its nearly 500 pages are sardine-packed with facts and figures requiring concentration to absorb.

Except for very knowledgeable readers, strange and all-but-unpronounceable names deflect one's flow of thought. Terminology unfamiliar to most of us, though thoroughly defined, demands special attention.

★ ★ ★

However, as you mountain-hop across the globe with Lowell Thomas, one of the world's greatest adventurers, anticipation will carry you over any rough spots. Seldom will your efforts be better rewarded.

Young Army Enlistee Gets Unusual Greeting

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — A young enlistee from Illinois was welcomed into the Army yesterday with a bouquet of roses from a beauty queen and a three-day program of sight-seeing tours and fancy dinners.

★ ★ ★

Pvt. Robert Nuti of Lombard, Ill., was appreciative of his reception as the 50,000th man to volunteer for Air Defense Command missile assignments. "But," he said, "I know it will end Saturday when I get to Ft. Knox." That's where he begins basic training.
