Church School Aid Can Be Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today knocked down a 45-year-old barrier and cleared the way for taxpayer suits challenging federal aid to parochial schools.

The barrier was imposed by the court in 1923. It found then that individual taxpayers lack the standing to sue the government over big programs because their tax payments are too small to show sufficient personal involvement.

★ ★ ★

Today's ruling sweeps aside that decision. This means seven New Yorkers who contend federal aid to pupils in church-related schools violates the Constitution will have a chance to try to block the program in courts.

★ ★ ★

Similarly, the ruling may clear the way for suits against other government programs.

'NO ABSOLUTE BAR'

The carefully worded 8-1 decision delivered, by Chief Justice Earl Warren, said there was "no absolute bar" in the Constitution "to suits by federal taxpayers challenging allegedly unconstitutional federal taxing and spending programs."

The federal government spends an estimated $41.9 million a year under the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act to provide special education programs and library services for children attending nonpublic schools in poor areas.

★ ★ ★

The seven taxpayers claim this is prohibited by the First Amendment's ban on establishment of religion by government. The Justice Department, meanwhile, urged the high court not to disturb the 1923 ruling. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold called it "a modern exemplar of judicial denial that the court not decide political questions."

Ethel, Jackie Join Thousands at Graves

By The Associated Press

In life, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy went where the crowds were. Now his last campaign is done and they come to him, to stand for a moment before a newly sodded grave on a grassy slope of Arlington National Cemetery.

Nearly 60,000 people made that pilgrimage yesterday, amid steamy heat and afternoon rain.

Ethel Kennedy, expecting her 11th child, came to kneel at the foot of her husband's grave.

Related Stories, Pages A-2, A-9, A-10

Mrs. John F. Kennedy came with her two children to pray at the grave of her assassinated husband, then to walk the few steps to the resting place of her assassinated brother-in-law.

STOOD SIX ABREAST

Tourists and mourners stood six abreast and waited in a burning June sun.

Only a small, white cross marks the grave of the New York senator.

A family spokesman said Robert's grave site is temporary but the permanent burial place will be in the same general area.

Churches throughout the nation were crowded yesterday on the national day of mourning for Sen. Kennedy. Speakers at many memorial services called his assassination a symptom of a sickness in society.

KNELT AT GRAVE

Ethel Kennedy, with her eldest son, Joseph, 15, knelt at the grave, bowed her head and closed her eyes.

★ ★ ★

No one could count the crowds that saw Kennedy to that resting place from the funeral conducted Saturday morning at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York.

In vast throngs they stood along the 225-mile route of the funeral train from New York City to Washington.

The journey, which was to have taken four hours, required more than eight.

The widow, the brother who had just eulogized Robert, and the slain senator's son, Joseph, 15, took the time to thank the people who rode the train.

President Johnson and his wife, who had gone to New York for the funeral, then returned to Washington, were waiting at Union Station.

And an estimated 500,000 people were waiting along the 4½ mile route between station and cemetery.

A vast company of mourners, more than 1,000 of Washington's officials, already had assembled there.

Pontiac Catholic Graduates 95

Pontiac Catholic High School graduated its first class of 95 students yesterday.

It was a day of joy. It was a day of sadness.

★ ★ ★

As all graduations go, students were jubilant about graduating but the ceremonies were overshadowed by a day of mourning for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The graduates said a silent prayer for him.

Rev. Thomas J. McAnoy, principal of Bishop Borgess High School in Detroit, pointed up challenges of the graduates in the main address.

CHARTER CLASS

He said the graduates face a challenge because they are the charter class of the school at 1300 Giddings and came together from two schools, St. Frederick and St. Michael's schools.

★ ★ ★

The other challenge, Father McAnoy said, is going out into another environment in the outside world — a world of discipline where students will have to abide by laws.

★ ★ ★

He encouraged the graduates not to be ashamed of being Christians and to use Christ throughout their lives.

Sub Equipment 'Not Adequate'

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — A Navy admiral testified today that the missing nuclear submarine Scorpion left on her final voyage without a satisfactory system for surfacing in an emergency.

Rear Adm. Edgar H. Batcheller, commander of the Charleston, S.C., Naval Shipyard, told a Navy Court of Inquiry that neither the emergency system nor the main system for blowing water out of the Scorpion's ballast tanks was adequate.

Earlier Story, Page A-5

★ ★ ★

Testimony during the previous four days of the hearings revealed the emergency system was not usable, but Batcheller's testimony was the first indication that the main system also may not have been sufficient to bring the attack submarine to the surface in an emergency.

Vice Admiral Bernard L. Austin, the presiding officer, asked Batcheller whether the system was satisfactory when the Scorpion left the Charleston yard after an overhaul completed in April 1964.

PERSONAL OPINION

"I would have to say that in my personal opinion, the answer is no," Batcheller replied.

He said he believed the main system was inadequate in view of today's operational requirements for submarines to dive deeper than they were expected to eight years ago when the $40-million Scorpion was built by General Dynamics Corp.

4 a.m.	70	11 a.m.	79
6 a.m.	68	1 p.m.	88

It looks like the weatherman's prognosticating equipment is stuck in a rut. The forecast calls for hot, humid weather punctuated by occasional thunderstorms through tomorrow

For the fifth straight day the mercury is due to soar into the 90s, creating a sweltering background for baccalaureates, commencements and elections on the educational agenda.

While Oakland County residents wiped their dripping brows yesterday, thunderstorms spattered the northern parts of the state. Temperatures were comparatively low in the northern Lower Peninsula. The mercury registered a comfortable 47° degree low in Houghton last night.

A low front lying across the Straits of Mackinac accounted for the difference.

Tornadoes played hopscotch across the nation, touching down but doing little damage or injury at Midland, Tex., Joliet, Ill., and Dodge City, Kan.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today 20, tonight 40 and tomorrow 50. Low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 68. By 1 p.m. the mercury sizzled at 91.

King Suspect Balks at Return

LONDON (AP) — James Earl Ray made a two-minute appearance in Bow Street Court today and indicated he would fight the U.S. government's attempt to seek his extradition in connection with the charge that he killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

London's chief magistrate ordered Ray

held without bail for another court appearance on June 18.

There was no mention during the brief preliminary hearing of extradition. But Ray asked the court to appoint an attorney for him, and this was taken as an indication that he would fight being returned to America.

★ ★ ★

American legal officials said they were going ahead with the extradition process and hoped to return Ray to the United States "very soon."

The 40-year-old escaped convict, who had been on the run since the Negro civil rights leader was killed April 4 in Memphis, Tenn., was arraigned under the alias of Ramon George Sneyd and was charged with carrying a false passport and a loaded revolver without a license.

A heavy police escort brought Ray secretly to the court three hours before the preliminary hearing was to begin. A crowd of about 300 laid siege to the courtroom later, and everyone entering it was searched for weapons.

Ray had been under heavy guard since his arrest Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Wearing a dark blue suit with dark brown checks and a blue shirt, Ray stood quietly with his hands clasped behind him as Chief Magistrate Frank Milton told him that under British criminal procedure press coverage of the details of the hearing would be limited unless he asked that the restriction be lifted.

Asked if he wanted the restriction lifted, he replied: "No sir."

Ray's dark hair was flecked with gray at the temples, and his face was tanned.

A government prosecutor asked that Ray be held in custody, and the judge granted Ray's application request that the court appoint a lawyer for him. Then he was taken away by a large force of plainclothesmen and uniformed police.

It was believed that he was taken to Brixton Prison, considered one of London's most secure jails.

IN 3 COUNTRIES

Ray had been in Canada, Portugal and Britain before the two-month hunt ended with his arrest at London airport.

Candidates running for one four-year term on the Pontiac board are Pontiac attorney Christopher C. Brown, Sylvan Lake Mayor Fred P. Crossman, Pontiac attorney John K. Irwin Jr. and Chrysler executive Francis M. Webster Jr.

★ ★ ★

In Waterford, six candidates are seeking two 4-year terms and two are competing for one 2-year seat.

★ ★ ★

Waterford candidates are incumbent Philip M. Hampton, Edward J. Kuhn, William D. Motzny, Frank A. Lane, Louis H. Schimmel Jr., Harry L. Smith, Robert Carr and Mrs. Peggy Wood.

Thirteen of the 19 area school districts outside Pontiac and Waterford are holding millage and bond elections.

Ted Kennedy—What Will He Do?

TED KENNEDY

WASHINGTON (AP) —Still so young to have come so far, to have grieved so much, Edward M. Kennedy stands alone—the last of the Kennedy brothers.

Six years in which triumph and tragedy have followed one another in terribly swift succession have thrust him at 36 into leadership of a fabled political family.

A family with a quest that by its logic he must take up.

His brother John was a senator from Massachusetts when he expressed it:

"Just as I went into politics because Joe died, if anything happened to me tomorrow, my brother, Bobby, would run for my seat in the Senate and if Bobby died, Teddy would take over for him."

TURN TO EDWARD

So it was that while many still mourned Robert, eyes and thoughts turned to Edward.

While the nation watched him rise to his new role—comforting the widow, delivering a moving tribute to his brother, greeting the crowds that gathered along the route of the funeral train— many wondered when and how he would take up the quest.

But in New Orleans yesterday, Archbishop Philip M. Hannan, who presided at graveside ceremonies for Robert, said in an interview that close friends of the Kennedy family are urging Edward to withdraw from political life.

The prelate told the New Orleans Times-Picayune that one consideration is that Edward is the only adult son in a large family which now has many fatherless children.

SHUNS LIMELIGHT

If tragedy has shaped Edward Kennedy, so too did the moment of triumph when he took his Senate seat in January 1963.

Aware of the dangers of being tagged as "the one Kennedy too many," Edward told newsmen he planned to stay out of the limelight.

Edward waited more than a year to make his first major speech. His brother Robert was hardly settled in his seat when he began speaking out on issues.

Edward quietly deferred to Senate elders. Robert clashed heatedly with committee chairmen.

French Vote Clouds Peace Talks Future

PARIS (UPI) — Diplomatic experts said the official start today of the French election campaign clouded the future of the U.S.-North Vietnamese preliminary peace talks continuing here.

They said the talks might have to move if President Charles de Gaulle's regime is defeated.

The weeks of student rioting and labor strikes leading to the elections did not interfere with the parley.

But the sudden eruption of trouble in France did not aid the calm atmosphere the diplomats planned for when they came to Paris. The experts said that if the Communist-backed leftwing defeats de Gaulle the neutral atmosphere for the talks might be swept away.

FENCE-STRADDLING

De Gaulle's offer of Paris as a talk site was accepted by Washington and Hanoi on the grounds that his regime stood half way between the positions of the two belligerents.

Further spoiling the calm, the Vietnam war itself may become an indirect issue in the campaigning — which is shaping up as a straight contest between Gaullism and Communism.

★ ★ ★

The anti-de Gaulle riots, marchers and rallies of the past weeks have been marked by pro-Hanoi chants, posters and speeches. And de Gaulle, only recently the wooer of Communist friendship, has become suddenly the target of Moscow and Peking criticism.

While dissolving parliament May 30, de Gaulle, in a blunt address to the nation, warned that the Communist party was attempting to establish here "a totalitarian dictatorship."

From Public to Parochial Schools

Textbook Loans Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today a New York law that requires public school systems to lend textbooks to children in parochial and other private schools.

The 6-3 decision, given by Justice Byron R. White, said: "We hold that the law is not in violation of the Constitution."

Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Abe Fortas dissented. Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices John M. Harlan, William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall and White made up the majority.

★ ★ ★

The decision rested heavily on the view that parochial schools serve a secular educational function as well as a religious educational function.

NOT INSTRUMENTAL

And, said White, "we cannot agree ... that all teaching in a sectarian school is religious or that the processes of secular and religious training are so intertwined that secular textbooks furnished to students by the public are in fact instrumental in the teaching of religion."

The majority relied heavily, too, on a 1947 Supreme Court decision that upheld reimbursement of parents for bus transportation in sending their children to parochial and other private schools.

★ ★ ★

Similarly, White said for the court, police and fire protection, sewage facilities and other public functions are of some value to religious schools but do not amount to support of a religious institution in violation of the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

County Lake Mishap Fatal to Ann Arbor Man

An Ann Arbor man drowned in Kensington Lake, Milford Township, late Saturday when the rented boat in which he was riding overturned.

Kensington lifeguards recovered the body of Willie E. Wright, 39, about 8:45 p.m., some 30 minutes after he and two companions tipped the 15-foot aluminum craft while attempting to start a motor they had attached, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Principal Seeks Supervisor Seat

James DenHerder of 3961 Lotus Drive, Waterford Township, has announced his candidacy for the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, seeking the Republican nomination for District 25.

★ ★ ★

On the reapportioned board, DenHerder, 59, is seeking to represent approximately the northern half of Waterford Township plus part of the northeastern quarter of White Lake Township.

★ ★ ★

A resident of the area for the past 30 years, DenHerder is principal of Adams School. He holds a master's degree from the University of Michigan in educational administration.

For 18 years he was assistant superintendent in charge of business for the Waterford School system. He and his wife, Ruby, have two daughters. He has served as a Republican precinct delegate.

CIVIC ACTIVITIES

He is a past president of the Waterford Drayton Rotary Club, member of Community Activities, Inc., Association of School Business officials and the Drayton Plains Community United Presbyterian Church.

The supervisors' post pays $20 per meeting attended at present, but the new board will be able to set its own salary.

★ ★ ★

DenHerder states: "In the school system I was responsible for the financial transactions in the bonding programs, investment of monies, building programs and the general financial operation of the schools. This experience should prove valuable.

"In the uncertain times ahead many problems will arise and with my background I could be of assistance."

City to Discuss Rubbish Site at Meeting

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission is to discuss the Southeast Oakland County Incinerator Authority's proposed rubbish transfer station at its meeting tonight at 8.

The authority seeks to construct a transfer station on property on Coolidge between 14 Mile and Maple in Troy.

★ ★ ★

The commission held a public hearing Jan. 22 on whether to sell the property, which is owned by Birmingham, to the authority. It postponed a decision on the sale to allow time to study objections.

On March 11, the commission established a study committee consisting of three commissioners and representatives of two home owners' groups opposing the proposed station.

SITES VISITED

The committee visited a number of transfer sites in the Detroit metropolitan area and journeyed to Seattle, Wash., May 2-3 to study two comparable stations there.

On its return, the committee reported that if the station in Troy were built as described by the authority, there should be "no problems from noise, dust, odor or rodents" — possibilities which had worried home owners in the area.

Though the nearest residences are 1,400 feet away from the industrially-zoned site and separated from it by railroad tracks, property owners have complained that property values would be diminished by the proposed station.

Committee member Benjamin Phelps, president of Sheffield Estates Civic Association, dissented from the committee's report. Since the report, both he and Mrs. M. Kenneth Conrad, representing Pembroke Manor Civic Association, have reiterated their opposition to the proposal.

5 COMMUNITIES

The two-level structure planned by the authority would be used for the transfer of rubbish from the garbage trucks of five area communities to larger carrier vans, which would then transport the refuse to the authority's land-fill site in Avon Township.

Of the 14 communities which make up the authority, only Birmingham, Beverly Hills, Clawson, north Royal Oak and part of Troy would use the facility.

The other municipalities would continue delivering their refuse to the authority's incinerator at John R and 12 Mile in Madison Heights.

Also on tonight's agenda is a report from the traffic and safety board regarding banning of parking on Southfield between Lincoln and Brown.

'NO CHANGE' URGED

The board has recommended that no changes be made in the present parking restrictions in the area.

Residents had objected to the proposed parking bans. Mrs. Charles H. Nielsen, 810 Southfield, called the proposal an "infringement of the rights of property owners in a residential zone." She added that it would be an "encouragement of heavier, faster traffic on an already-dangerous street."

Another citizen, Blythe R. Jones of 863 Southfield, reported a survey of residents along the street found 29 opposed to any change, nine in favor of a ban and one in favor of restriction of parking hours rather than a ban.

The police department has returned a report recommending that a petition from Albert Daiza and other store owners on South Woodward between Taunton and Emmons asking that parking be limited to 15 minutes in front of their stores be denied.

The report includes the results of a survey conducted May 17.

Of 127 vehicles using the spaces in question, 54 per cent parked for less than 15 minutes. In addition, at no time were all spaces full when checks were taken every 15 minutes.

"It was ascertained from this and other checks that Mr. Albert Daiza, the petitioner, 1643 S. Woodward, parks his car in this access drive and leaves it there all day," the report added.

Also, it added, approving the requested restrictions would set a precedent of special restrictions for businesses.

U.N. Unit to Approve N-Spread Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly's main Political Committee is expected to give overwhelming approval to the treaty proposed by the Soviet Union and the United States to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

A 47-nation resolution recommending the treaty to governments of all nations for signature and ratification appeared likely to get between 100 and 110 favorable votes today with only Albania and possibly Cuba and Tanzania voting no and the rest of the U.N.'s 124 members abstaining or absent.

The assembly is expected to approve the resolution Tuesday or Wednesday, and the end of the 22nd session is expected Wednesday or Thursday. The session ran from Sept. 19 to Dec. 19, then resumed April 24 to take up the nuclear treaty and the question of South-West Africa.

The 66-nation Asian-African group and the 23-nation Latin-American group are seeking adoption of a compromise resolution calling for economic pressure to force South Africa to hand over South-West Africa to the United Nations.

EXPECTED TO ABSTAIN

The resolution stands a good chance of getting nearly all the votes in those two groups as well as the support of the Communist countries. The United States and its major Western allies were expected to abstain.

The resolution is an attempt to secure compliance with the assembly's terminating South Africa's mandate over South-West Africa and in 1967 sending a special U.N. council to take over the territory. South Africa foiled both moves.

★

The pending resolution condemns "political, military and economic collaboration" with South Africa and calls all U.N. members "to take effective economic and other measures designed to secure" South Africa's immediate withdrawal from the territory.

Papers Tell of N. Viet's Victory Push

WASHINGTON (AP) — Captured documents released by U.S. officials indicate Hanoi is pressing for fiercer fighting in Vietnam aimed at toppling the Saigon government during the Paris peace talks.

"Unless a major military victory is achieved," said one of the documents, "nothing can be expected from diplomatic struggles."

Another said the United States advocated the peace negotiations to placate world and American opinion, but the U.S. objective remains "to maintain the puppet army and government, i.e. to maintain neocolonialism.

"However," continued the Hanoi document, "our objective is the toppling of the puppet government and the disintegration of the puppet army in conjunction with a U.S. withdrawal.

SHARP DIFFERENCE

"Thus, between our goal and the enemy plan, there exists a strong and sharp difference, especially since the enemy still has a rather large military force and is subjective and stubborn.

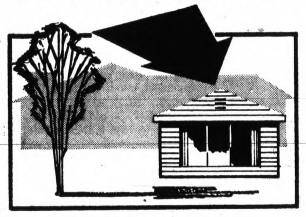

"Such a situation can only be settled by extremely fierce and violent fighting."

Some of the papers—including a calendar notebook recorded by a soldier believed to be from the 271st Regiment of the 9th North Vietnamese-Vietcong Division—indicate the scope of North Vietnamese aims in current offensives.

A May 5 entry said the mission was to send large forces against southern cities, expand North Vietnamese military and political forces, disrupt communications between Saigon and the capital's Cholon district, and capture prisoners — especially wives of South Vietnamese Army officers.

Pressure Group Eying Action

Proposed Rochester-Avon Twp. Merger in Limbo

By JEAN SAILE

Is unification of the city of Rochester with surrounding Avon Township as dead as it appears?

Talk which abounded earlier this year on the seeking of unification between the two areas has not materialized into action.

MRS. SAILE

* * *

A Jaycee-sponsored government seminar last fall conducted by Michigan State University professors failed to produce any unification measures, though that was its stated goal.

The area is in limbo, awaiting a charter election for township incorporation.

Indications are that all is not as dead as it seems, however.

The pressure of influential citizens of both the city and township may soon be brought to bear on the two governments, The Pontiac Press has learned.

* * *

The aim of the pressure group is reportedly the formation of an official study committee to be charged with evaluating the present systems of government — pinpointing similarities and differences — and the proposal of mutually acceptable alternatives.

The study would be made public, according to reports, sometime the middle of February. It is not designed to influence the township's vote on acceptance of a city charter, due also some time the first of the year, probably in January, spokesmen say.

The study is calculated to present concrete information to provide the means where Rochester and the township (maybe the City of Rochester Hills by that time) could become one unit.

The actual mechanics of unification still remain unclear, but the government seminar last fall reportedly pointed out several alternative methods — one of them including the passage of special state legislation.

* * *

Proponents of unity note that the charter proposed for township incorporation is very similar to that used by Rochester.

There are two major differences. The township's charter commission has proposed a 10-mill limitation with the possibility of extending it to 15 mills should an emergency arise. The city has no limitation on taxes other than the 20 mills imposed by the state.

CITY MANAGER

Where the city clerk and treasurer are appointed by the city-manager, the charter commission for the township states that these two people would be elected.

Both charters provide for city-manager type government.

A considerable amount of verbiage was devoted last winter to eventual unification of the two areas. Tied by culture and history, the two units started off on separate paths with the incorporation of Rochester as a city in 1967.

Pushed by fear of having to contribute to the township's involvement in the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor, the city has since contemplated a pact whereby it will share in it anyway in order to bypass the need for construction of a second major sewer line through town.

TOWNSHIP MOVE

Before incorporation as a city had become effective, the township filed incorporation petitions as a means of stopping the city from annexing adjacent high tax base land in the township.

Before the township's vote last Jan. 19 on incorporation (which passed by a narrow margin), talk was that the vote would serve to give the township better bargaining power for a future merger.

Since the vote, there has been no further attempt at unification. The elected charter commission has proceeded to draft a charter for separate incorporation and there has been discussion of an acceptance vote early next year, probably in January.

If the vote is favorable, Avon Township would then become the City of Rochester Hills. If it fails, commissioners could make two more attempts to have a charter accepted. The deadline on attempts is January 1970. If a charter has not been accepted by that time, the area will revert to township status.

WAITING IN WINGS

Meanwhile, a petition seeking the annexation of the whole township to Rochester waits in the wings. It cannot be considered until the charter question is disposd of.

City officials have said they would welcome such annexation and township officials have maintained that unity is still their main goal.

A Sheriff's Substation Is Planned For This Building

State Weekend Road Toll 18

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four persons were killed and three injured last night when two autos slammed into a third car which had skidded across a median into an oncoming lane, police said.

The accident, which raised Michigan's weekend highway death toll to at least 18, occurred on U.S. 23, about eight miles north of Bay City.

* * *

The victims were identified as Lorraine Faber, 46, and Grace Sharp, 20, both of Alpena, Carl E. Mielke, 50, of Saginaw and his 47-year-old wife, Frances.

State Police said Mrs. Faber was driving north when she lost control of her auto and skidded across the median. Her car was struck broadside by Mielk's southbound auto, police said. Then the third car smashed into the Faber car.

DARTED IN FRONT OF CAR

The Associated Press count began 6 p.m. Friday and ended midnight yesterday.

The victims:

Jerry Stevens, 3, of Detroit, killed when he darted in front of a car near his home.

Joseph Rodgers, 5, and Manuel Rodgers, 4, both of Merrill, who died Saturday in a two-car accident at Saginaw County's Albee Township in which their mother and two more of her children were injured seriously.

Jerry G. Boone, 16, of Detroit, who was killed yesterday when the car in which he was riding ran off a road and struck a tree in rural Lenawee County.

INTO PATH OF CAR

Patrick Pierucki, 3, of Coldwater, who apparently darted from behind a parked car near his home into the path of an automobile Saturday.

Jan Levin, 20, of Sturgis, whose motorcycle skidded into the path of an auto on M66 near the Indiana border in St. Joseph County Friday night.

Joseph Dupui, in his 40s, of Marine City, whose car went out of control on M29 in St. Clair County Friday night.

Anthony Dye, 7 weeks old of Pontiac, who was a passenger in a car involved in a two-vehicle accident in Pontiac yesterday.

* * *

Lucy Brown, 60, of Route One, Eau Claire, who was a passenger in a car which ran off the road and hit a tree in Berrien Township Sunday.

John Boor, 80, of Detroit, who was hit by a car on a Detroit street Saturday.

Joseph Pyrharsky, 83, of Detroit, who was struck by a car in Detroit Saturday.

Keith Allen Daugherty, 18, of Route Three, Ludington, whose motorcycle was involved in an accident with two cars on M116 at Mason County's Hamlin Township Saturday.

Colette Stasiak, 17, of Benton Harbor, whose car went out of control on I-196 and plunged into a water-filled gravel pit Saturday.

Sara Kelley, 76, of Detroit, who was in a two-car accident in Detroit Saturday.

Northwest Part of County May Get Sheriff Substation

A new sheriff's substation to service the four-township area in the northwest part of Oakland County has been approved by two committees of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The entire board was to be asked to approve the facility at their meeting today at 9:30 a.m. at the County Courthouse auditorium, Telegraph and Pontiac Lake.

The County Sheriff's Office asked for establishment of the substation to increase efficiency in servicing calls from the area.

Plans call for placing about three cars and radio equipment in the substation.

IN GROVELAND TOWNSHIP

It is recommended that the new post be placed in a building on the former Paradise Beach property in Groveland Township at Dixie and Grange Hall roads.

The park was purchased for $490,000 last June by the county from Dr. Lamar K. Matthews.

On the land are several buildings, including a former clinic located on the northeast corner of the intersection.

This building is planned to be converted for use by sheriff's deputies.

WOULD BE EASED

This will decrease greatly the difficulties in dispatching of cars from the Pontiac area, it was pointed out.

Both the law enforcement committee and the ways and means committee have approved the measure.

No large extra expense is expected to be incurred as the move would merely be a shift in operations with little extra needed in the way of equipment, it was explained.

It was estimated that added expense would be about $11,000 per year and that this money could come from contingency funds. The four neighboring townships will be asked to contribute a total of $11,000 yearly, also.

Wolverine Budget Hearing Is Tonight

WOLVERINE LAKE — A public hearing on the proposed $194,562 budget is tonight at 8 in the Village Hall.

The budget to go into effect July 1 lists expenditures and revenues $41,032 more than last year.

* * *

Proposed salary increases: village administrator, up $500 to $10,500; clerk, up $600 to $5,850; treasurer, up $640 to $5,040; and police chief, up about $1,200 including benefits to $6,500.

Also called for is a life insurance and weekly indemnity program for village employes costing $115 per month.

While taxes stay at 8.5 mills levied last year, revenues are up chiefly because of the $6,000 state income tax rebate, explained village administrator Clifford Cottrell.

Clarkston Unit Backs People's Annex Choice

CLARKSTON — The village boundary study committee appointed three months ago has recommended annexation of several portions of Independence Township.

In a written report the group, headed by Roy Haeusler, advised, however, that the people of the affected area be allowed to vote on the annexation.

* * *

Because Clarkston is a general law village no vote is required for annexation. A previous annexation attempt last January was aborted in the face of voter dissention.

Greater voting power was a point made in the committee's recommendation. Should the village assimilate parts of the township individual votes of its residents would have less power due to the greater number of residents, it was pointed out.

TAX BASE

The report highlighted the opinion that through an expanded and increased tax base, it might become possible to offer better services in such areas as street improvements and policing.

It noted that such items as zoning, building codes, sanitation, effective judicial system and regulation of lakes and streams could be controlled by either township or village government.

* * *

The study committee, while making no recommendation as to the land actually to be included in any annexation attempt, pointed out a source of some 1,100 residents in a three-square mile area around the village. It was projected that the population would remain relatively stable until 1985.

The township population was seen as increasing from its present 16,000 to about 90,000 by that time.

THEY'LL TALK

The report offers the appearance of any committee member for talks before any interested groups.

Serving with Haeusler were Jerome Wilford, Norman Daniels, Clifford Gardner, Henry Wolfenden, Charles Fletcher, Lewis Wint and Dr. Herbert Swanson.

Level of Lake to Be Raised

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The level of White Lake will rise artificially by next month.

A pump under construction at Navarra and Lakegrove is designed to hike the lake 5½ inches per month. Recent measurement of the level shows it to be 25 inches below its legal level.

* * *

With construction about 85 per cent complete, completion is expected at the end of this month, said an Oakland County Drain Commission spokesman.

The pump, to work with a 275-foot well, will add 2,650 gallons to the lake per minute. The water will go from the pump sites, into a lagoon to the east of the pump, and will then wind toward the lake.

$1,800 PROVIDED

The pump should take the level up to the legally set 1,019.1 feet. The White Lake Citizens League provided $1,800 in late 1964 to cover preliminary costs of setting the level.

The project will be financed by a $4.50 per lake-front foot assessment to lake front property owners to be paid over five years.

Smaller assessments will also be paid by residents having access to the lake.

* * *

Total cost of the project is $159,000 with $82,187 going to Layne Northern Co. of Lansing which is constructing the pump.

Delay for Legal Opinion Snags Asphalt Plant Plea

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Action has been postponed on a request to operate an asphalt plant on 147 acres at the northwest corner of Bass Lake and Sleeth roads pending a legal opinion.

The opinion is expected to spell out the authority the township board of appeals has over the proposed plant, said Township Supervisor Robert H. Long.

* * *

First part of the public hearing on the request to operate the plant was Wednesday. The hearing is scheduled to resume July 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall.

The request is made by landowner John N. Doherty, West Bloomfield Township supervisor; Portable Aggregate Producers Inc. of Troy, which is now excavating sand and gravel from the parcel, and Barrett Paving Materials Department of Allied Chemical Corp. of Romulus and New York, which is planning to operate the asphalt plant.

IN TEN YEARS

Representatives of the two firms informed the 25 residents in the audience that the excavation and asphalt operations could be closed in 10 years.

Plans of the petitioners then call for residential development of the land.

* * *

The excavation operation without addition of a plan would continue possibly 15 years, the petitioners said.

These plans made it possible for the petitioners to make their second request to the board. Last September, the board refused the same request chiefly on grounds that the asphalt operation would generate too much traffic, said Long.

ONE IN FAVOR

Of the 10 persons who expressed opinions at the hearing, only one, Charles Martin, approved the operation. He said the sooner the gravel was taken out the sooner the land could be put to a better use, Long reported.

The nine others who spoke objected to the operation because of the added traffic it would bring. These residents also pointed out that the trucks follow the same route as the school buses.

* * *

The excavation operation is a nonconforming use of the land, which is zoned agricultural and is designated for residences in the general development plan put into effect in 1954.

Excavating is allowed to continue because it began before 1954, explained the supervisor.

FISH-KILL—Experimental application of Hydrothol 47 for use as fish-population control in Indianwood Lake, Orion Township, has been successful, according to the State Department of Conservation. An algae control, the toxic chemical—when applied in sufficient quantity—coats the gills of fish and suffocates them. The department estimates a 50 per cent bluegill kill in the lake.

Scorpion Hunting Soviet Sub When Lost?

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Was the nuclear submarine Scorpion playing a dangerous game of hide-and-seek with a Russian submarine when she vanished in the Atlantic with 99 men aboard?

The Navy is not saying. But it has been suggested unofficially that a chance to hunt a potential "enemy" sub might have been the secret assignment that took the Scorpion 27 miles off her normal homebound course south of the Azores.

* * *

A Navy Court of Inquiry, with Adm. Bernard L. Austin presiding, went into it's fifth day of hearings today, with the mystery of the submarine's course deviation still unanswered in open session or by other Navy officials.

The fact that the Scorpion's last position report on May 21 showed her 27 miles south of her course gave the Navy no cause for concern, it was revealed last week by Capt. Wallace Greene, commander of Submarine Division 62.

CLASSIFIED MISSION

Greene told the court the Scorpion's skipper, Cmdr. Francis A. Slattery, had been given "considerable latitude" in carrying out a classified mission either to the north or the south of his course from the Mediterranean to Norfolk.

Austin, noting that all seven members of the court were cleared for top-secret information, then closed the court for additional testimony from Greene on the secret mission.

* * *

The possibility that the Scorpion might have been hunting a Russian submarine was given greater credence by the refusal of Vice Adm. Arnold F. Schade, commander of Atlantic Fleet submarines, to discuss the possible presence of Soviet subs in the area.

At a news conference May 31, reporters who did not know at the time that the Scorpion had deliberately deviated from her course asked Schade whether any Soviet submarines were operating in the area.

WON'T ANSWER

"I don't believe I will answer that," Schade replied.

If the Scorpion did make a practice effort to seek out a Russian submarine, she did so under a disadvantage that was known to Navy officers under whom the sub operated.

The Scorpion, the testimony revealed, was limited to operation at shallower depths than she was designed for because of an inoperable emergency system for blowing water out of her ballast tanks.

* * *

Lack of the system was not a threat, officers said, because the main ballast system would be sufficient to assure safety at the secret depth to which her operation was restricted.

The unusable emergency ballast system was the principal reason the Scorpion did not meet standards of the Navy's so-called "Subsafe" program initiated after the loss of the nuclear sub Thresher off the New England coast in 1963.

SAFETY IMPROVEMENTS

Testimony indicated it would have taken an additonal two years in drydock to put in all safety improvements required under Subsafe.

This raised the possibility that Scorpion might have come to grief by exceeding its safe depth in tracking down a Soviet submarine. The Navy also is considering the possibility that she might have hit an undersea mountain in the area south of the Azores.

Tourists spent some $75 million in the Virgin Islands last year.

Changes Made at Soo College

It Seems to Me . . .

Freshman Given High Marks in Exacting Senatorial Test

As time passes, we hear an increasing number of favorable reports on Michigan's new Senator—ROBERT GRIFFIN.

Senator GRIFFIN is slowly working himself into the role of one of the important figures in the world's greatest legislative body. He has to serve a freshman apprenticeship of sorts. Let there be no mistake about that. Brother Senators make absolutely certain no one escapes the traditions of this distinguished and powerful body.

★ ★ ★

But during the period of servility and subservience, they are shrewdly appraised and graded by cautious brethren and by their constituents back home. Senator Griffin is passing both tests admirably. When a line of action arises with which he is in accord, the Wolverine digs in solidly and helps make things move in the direction he favors. His Washington experience helps mightily. He will never bog down or descend to the "me, too" level. Senator Griffin is also rightly self assertive.

★ ★ ★

As time passes, I believe this fledgling in the Senate will move onward into the most influential and powerful circles. Apparently he is destined to emerge as one of the leaders and motivating influences in shaping and formulating party, national and international policies.

★ ★ ★

Michigan did well when she sent this capable, energetic and stout-hearted man to represent the Wolverine Commonwealth in Washington in this capacity. He brings back pleasant memories of Senator Arthur Vandenberg who was one of the two or three most influential men in all Congress over an extended period of time.

The Press breaks into applause for this new Senator.

Theory on Lawns . . .

Let's agree right here.

Watering the lawn this summer falls under the heading of "Important and Necessary Business." Do you accept the premise? Certainly it becomes a part of the life of someone in nearly every household.

★ ★ ★

KARL ACKERMAN, Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation, says we should water less often and water heavily when we do. Really soak the lawn and then let it go for four or five days. This takes less water than a light daily dose and does one important thing: it makes the roots push downward where the moisture is. This strengthens your grass. When you sprinkle daily and lightly the roots turn upward and edge back towards the surface to get the water.

★ ★ ★

I was taught this a quarter of a century ago by super experts and have been a disciple of the theory ever since. As the marginal member of the Greens Committee at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, I've urged this on my associates—with no success at all.

★ ★ ★

Chairman William Holt, capable, affable, and completely dependable, brushes me off. He's a rock-ribbed disciple of the dribble theory and, of course, there's a slight — well, very slight — chance that he's right. Anyway, Mr. Householder, try my theory this summer and if it works as well as I personally guarantee, drop a friendly note to Monsieur Holt and report your findings. (And if, by some wild stretch of the imagination, he's correct, write to me instead — or just forget it entirely.)

Wire Tapping Legislation . . .

New York state is enacting legislation that will allow properly constituted authorities to engage in wire tapping and electronic bugging in criminal cases.

★ ★ ★

Congress should formulate similar legislation for the nation at large. These practices are already a definite part of criminal activities. And if the crooks, the goons and the cheats follow this procedure, why shouldn't their apprehenders be allowed similar freedom.

★ ★ ★

Why give thieves a head start? Isn't an even break fair?

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

"What's My Line" will return next fall with ARLENE FRANCIS as a permanent panelist while the other three spots vary with each performance. WALLY BRUNER will take over the JOHN DALY role. It may be shown several times a week. . . . . Australia has suffered forever from a lack of water, but new hope springs today. They've found incredibly vast reservoirs underground which can be tapped. Estimates say they can irrigate a million acres for a hundred years.

★ ★ ★

Today's nomination is for one of our greatest. Here's Dawn Kay Abare and this photograph was taken a few days ago in the hospital when she was thirty minutes old. What an all-star we have coming! . . . . . Moonshiner: "Doc, fix up my son-in-law. I shot him." Doctor: "You shot your own son-in-law?" Moonshiner: "Yep. When he wasn't my son-in-law." . . . . . North Carolina, long a Dem stronghold, will probably elect a flock of Republicans this fall. . . . . . White House insiders say they doubt whether President Johnson will attend the Democratic convention in person.

DAWN

★ ★ ★

What-ho! Great Britain is complaining loudly because of daylight saving which was just instituted. The chief lament comes from a whole horde of golfers who played in the early morning, but the time revision knocks them out of an hour. . . . . A movie star, seven times married, told friends number eight was coming off next week. Sez one: "That's wonderful, dearie. Is it someone you know?" . . . . . JAMES FARMER says the Afro-American will play a truly important part in the next election and neither Democrats nor Republicans can bank on a solid block. . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—warm summer weather; the J's—the brutal slaying of BOBBY KENNEDY.

'How Much Room Shall We Leave At The Bottom?'

Barry's Aim: Test of Libel Law

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Barry Goldwater's victory in his libel suit against Fact magazine, its publisher and managing editor was only the first step in attaining his objective. For as I explained in my previous column, he is indifferent to the monetary damages awarded him by the jury and only incidentally concerned in vindicating his honor and reputation.

MOLEY

His basic purpose was to secure a clarification of the libel law so that people holding or seeking public office can be protected against irresponsible and defamatory attacks —in short, to promote greater responsibility in some elements of the press for what is printed about public figures.

★ ★ ★

For a recent series of Supreme Court decisions seems to have held that public life is a hunting ground open to anyone who chooses to make such attacks.

Since the facts in the Goldwater case are so clear-cut, it is difficult to see how the court can fail to dissipate the fog created by those earlier decisions.

The first of those cases, decided in 1964, concerned an advertisement in the New York Times attacking a city commissioner in Montgomery, Ala.

MUST BE PROVED

The court by a majority of six rendered a decision, the key point of which was that the plaintiff in such an action must prove that the defamatory statement "was made with 'actual malice' — that is, with the knowledge that it was false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not."

★ ★ ★

But as Justice Hugo Black said in a concurring opinion, malice "is an elusive, abstract concept, hard to prove and hard to disprove. The requirement that malice be proved provides at best an evonescent protection for the right critically to discuss public affairs and certainly does not measure up to the sturdy safeguard embodied in the First Amendment."

★ ★ ★

This, the concern of the court, and especially of Justices Black and William O. Douglas, was with the publisher of defamatory statements rather than with the victim of such attacks.

Moreover, the Times case clearly placed the status of a public official on a quite different ground than that of a private citizen seeking protection from defamatory attack.

It was not an easy decision that Goldwater made in bringing his suit. For it exposed him and his wife to a three-week ordeal in which the defense stripped to the bone every element of his public and private life.

★ ★ ★

Unless the court soon clarifies the protection of public men and women, our country will be governed by only the callous and thick-skinned, and political life will sink into a swamp of scurrilous gossip, lies and, in the case of Fact, Freudian diagnosis.

Bob Considine Says:

GI Deserves an Answer: What Is Going On?

NEW YORK — "My God," moaned a GI in Vietnam, "What the hell's going on back there?"

CONSIDINE

What the hell is? About 200 million Americans are asking themselves that GI's searing question.

What has happened to the American dream?

We who cracked the atom have turned to cracking skulls. We, with our well-earned reputation for caring where every sparrow falleth, fell good men and women.

COULDN'T HAPPEN AGAIN

The men around Sen. Robert Kennedy did not think it could happen to him, could not conceive of lightning striking twice. So they rejected several offers of the Los Angeles Police Department to provide security.

But L.A. Police Chief Tom Reddin said that the fatal bullet could have hit its target even if the police had been there in strength. He said it could have felled President Johnson, despite his heavy guard of Secret Service men, if LBJ had been in that passageway at that point in time.

★ ★ ★

LBJ gets thousands of mailed threats on his life each month, diseased, demented notes that rise and fall with the movements of the moon and the statistics from Vietnam.

It would be unthinkable for him to step out of his White House unguarded and mingle with his fellow Americans. Today's America has made him its No. 1 prisoner.

ONLY IN DALLAS?

The crosses of the special dead, and the condition charts of the special wounded, have spread dismally in recent times. Reeling from the shock of November 1963, we vented our rage on Dallas, its dumb police force, Oswald and Ruby who destroyed him. ("It could only happen in Dallas . . .")

But it happened, too, in a Harlem hall and made Malcolm X the patron devil of the urban hoodlums, arsonists, looters, snipers and murderers. It happened on a dusty Mississippi road, and a man named James Meredith bit the dust.

It happened in Memphis, and the man who had had a dream would dream no more. Martin Luther King was killed by the same assassin who killed the others and put the bullet into Robert Kennedy's head in Los Angeles. Sirhan Sirhan was only the assassin's agent.

The assassin has 200 million heads. One of them is yours. One of them is mine.

Our skyscrapers have turned into trees and we have ascended into them like primitive forebears. The job now is to learn all over again how to walk upright.

In the meantime, score another point for the Washington lobby of the National Rifle Association.

Voice of the People:

'Our Congress Must Pass Strong Gun Control Bill'

I add my voice to the many who cry "why?" I have waited through the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and now the brutal and senseless slaying of Senator Robert F. Kennedy. I can wait no longer. I must speak.

★ ★ ★

I am sick of this insane and wanton destruction of human life and breakdown of the Nation's values. I feel that Congress must stop pussyfooting around and pass a strong gun control bill.

★ ★ ★

If the apathetic and affluent John Q. Public does not awaken soon to this grave crisis, there will no longer be an America to awaken to. Already three great men have paid the price of this complacency. No matter what the gun lobby thinks, there must be a stop to this bloodshed now.

Letters Are Prompted by Recent Tragedy

I am ashamed to call myself an American anymore. What is becoming of us? Are we going to end up killing each other? Bobby Kennedy wasn't even President and he was shot. It's stupid and useless. There is no sense in this way of killing for no reason. It has to be stopped before we blow ourselves to pieces.

MARY ANN JAWORSKI
WALLED LAKE SENIOR HIGH

Regarding Robert Kennedy's death, I can't believe that this country does nothing much more than sit back and shake its head and wonder who will be shot next. What is wrong with us as a nation and as individuals that we allow the violence to go on and on? It's time we stop blaming a few "sick" people and find out what in our society is turning out this type. We had better wake up or we'll find there are more "sick" people than peace-loving, patriotic people, and then it will be too late.

DIANE ROBERTS
65 N. HOLCOLM, CLARKSTON

The tragedy of Robert Kennedy shows a sickness in the whole human race. Let's try to get well.

SENNATE MARTIN
6866 OAKHILL, CLARKSTON

What can we do to rid our country of this violence and sickness? I see one source of this American disease on television and the movie marquee. Would it help to send a postcard to express our revulsion for every violent television program or every movie featuring sexual perversion? What about telling the druggist how we feel about the displays on the magazine racks? I'm going to begin pleading for an end to the constant violence the commercial and communication industries are exposing to our children.

A DISTRESSED AMERICAN

I'm upset with our Nation. Every time I look at the paper there's either violence or crime to read about. This is not the kind of nation I want my sons to grow up in. Why can't people live like God wants us to live—to love one another, not to hate. Let's pray to God that all of us can make our nation strong again and stop this violence. I'll pray for all Senators that they'll be safe and that my sons won't have to see this violence when they are old enough to understand these things.

Question and Answer

I'm 27 and am still asked for identification at a bar. They require 3 types—why? I have a birth certificate and driver's license, but where can I get more? I also need three things to cash a check at most department stores.

OVER 21

REPLY

We checked with the Liquor Control Commission and Police Department and learned bar owners can ask you for any number of pieces of identification, so having three won't necessarily solve your problem. However, we understand some photographers will make you an identification card with your picture (liquor cards are no longer issued), and the Police Department tells us a baptismal certificate and marriage license are two others that might be used.

Delayed . . .

The (Hamilton, Ont.) Spectator

Since the start of the Vietnam peace talk in Paris they have not moved forward a millimeter. The stumbling block is the insistence by the North Vietnamese that the Americans stop bombing and cease all "acts of war."

★ ★ ★

To do this would be to hand the North Vietnamese a military victory which they cannot otherwise achieve. Since they know that the Americans would never submit to such a humiliation, the insistence is nothing more than a propaganda tactic whose purpose is to extract the utmost from the present situation.

Along with this stand the North Vietnamese delegates are also denying that there are any of their troops in South Vietnam. Since the Americans and the South Vietnamese are at present locked in combat with about 10 North Vietnamese divisions this is a patent absurdity. But it serves as a delaying tactic.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps when the North Vietnamese have squeezed the propaganda orange dry they will be ready to take the next step. In the meantime, mighty efforts are being made to achieve a tactical victory on the ground while the talks stand still. Even a tactical victory would give a moral advantage at the conference table.

★ ★ ★

This is a war that neither side can win on the ground, though a political victory might be achieved in peace talks. Meanwhile, the Communists' performance should be instructive to those who have never witnessed one before.

Those Over 40

Frederick (Md.) News

A new law declares that age may no longer be given as an excuse by an employer for not hiring unless he can prove that it has a direct bearing on job performance.

★ ★ ★

The law bans discrimination against workmen in the 40 to 65 age bracket. It is aimed at ending a cruel aspect of employment — the refusal to hire a man merely because he is in his middle years.

★ ★ ★

There are instances where the average middle-aged man cannot be expected to perform at the peak once he has entered the gray hair category — such as steeplejack or an astronaut.

★ ★ ★

But the average middleager has very important assets — he has matured to the point where he has his feet on solid ground and is at the full flower of his intellectual power.

The new law will open a door of hope and self-fulfillment to many by assuring positions for some of its best-fitted workers and thinkers.

Winter Seaway Shipping Eyed

CHICAGO (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers plans to study whether the benefits of extending shipping operations on the Great Lakes — St. Lawrence Waterway into the winter would justify its costs.

The study results from a one-day hearing last week, in which port officials, politicians and shippers urged that the water lanes be kept open for at least part of the winter.

★ ★ ★

Col. James T. White, district engineer at Detroit who presided, said the corps will study the problem, including the question of whether the benefits would justify whatever the costs might be.

★ ★ ★

E. H. Thiele, vice president of the Cleveland Stevedering Co. and a retired rear admiral of the Coast Guard, proposed a four-point program to extend the shipping season.

★ ★ ★

He suggested the Seaway could be kept open until February by: employing ice-breaking vessels, using infrared rays to prevent freezing of locks, placing water agitators above and below the locks and installing devices to prevent ice from building up in channels.

It's a Mod, Mod World

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Swinging want ads in mod language are being used to attract help in South Africa.

A cosmetic firm advertised for "a cool, calm receptionist—typist for a mad, mod office." A store chain asked "groovy girls" to apply for "swinging jobs" in its record bars. Another firm said it needed "a super-woman out of the Mia mould, with a dash of Hepburn, or a bit of Bardot."

★ ★ ★

There were no applicants when a shoe company advertised for a typist in conservative language. But an advertising concern said it received 134 inquiries after appealing for "a cuddly blonde, an exciting brunette or a daring red head who will be a patient, understanding psychiatrist to a whole bunch of weird, wild advertising nuts."

Beauty Winner Plans Ag Career

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Mary Gard, a 19-year-old hazel-eyed blonde who likes to model, won a state beauty pageant Saturday night.

Asked what her aspirations were, she replied "I think I'm going into agriculture business —along the lines of being an order buyer and seller."

Rocky: RFK Special to Young People

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the first presidential candidate to deliver a postassassination speech under Secret Service guard, said today Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was "someone special to young people" who are seeking new leadership.

The New York governor's remark was in a speech prepared for commencement exercises at Allegheny College in this small northwestern Pennsylvania city.

Rockefeller, who is seeking the Republican presidential nomination, eulogized the slain New York Democratic senator who conceivably could have been his opponent in November's general election.

He said "All generations were stunned and saddened by the tragic death" Thursday, some 28 hours after Kennedy was shot in the brain by an assassin while campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"We know," Rockefeller told the 370 Allegheny graduates, "that he was someone special to young people. He moved and inspired them. We know, therefore that your sense of loss is especially deep and painful."

Further eulogizing Kennedy as one who "became a bridge between the generations and between different groups within the nation," Rockefeller said: "Such is one test of the leadership we desperately need in American society today."

And he said young people are expressing "a need we all feel, a need for leadership that can sense and understand the winds of change — leadership that will channel these youthful hopes, win the trust of all races, restore the confidence of Americans in themselves."

Rockefeller said Kennedy "evidentally recognized as a very young man that a life without a higher purpose is a life without meaning. So he strived for excellence in all he did — and committed himself completely to the service of his country."

"Though his years were few — he was only 42 when he died — he lived a lifetime filled with meaning," Rockefeller said. "He brought understanding and communication to the poor and the exploited."

It is in that way, Rockefeller said, that "We need to break down the barriers and build bridges between all the divided segments of America."

Rockefeller became the first to use new security arrangements for presidential candidates in the wake of Kennedy's assassination. President Johnson ordered Secret Service men assigned to all major presidential candidates after Kennedy was shot Wednesday at a Los Angeles rally. He was there celebrating his victory in the California primary.

Secret Service agents assigned to Rockefeller have been in Meadville for days, although officials soft-pedaled talk of security measures, describing most of them as routine.

Houston Signs Young Draftee

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Larry Mansfield, who was selected by Houston in last week's professional baseball draft, came to terms with the Astros Sunday night.

The 6-foot-8, 240-pound first baseman signed for what is believed one of the largest bonuses ever offered a Class-A draft choice. Full terms were not disclosed but the bonus reportedly was in excess of $25,000.

Teen Arrested in Chicago in Slaying of Jordanian

CHICAGO (AP) — Police today arrested Aaron Myers, 19, in connection with the death of a Jordanian grocer who they had speculated may have been shot in revenge for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Myers, was charged with the murder of Abder Rayyan, 55, the father of nine children, policeman Robert Bonner said. Police declined comment on the arrest.

★ ★ ★

Rayyan was shot in the head Saturday as he bent over a vegetable bin in his store, his daughter, Zuhdeia, 22, who witnessed the shooting.

She said two men entered, one of them pulled out a pistol and they walked silently to where Rayyan was working. The gunman put the pistol behind Rayyan's left ear and fired twice, she said. The second shot missed.

ANOTHER MAN

Police were searching for another man.

After the shooting, police noted the man charged with murdering Kennedy, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, is a native of Jordan. They indicated at the time the Rayyan killing might have been in revenge.

Rayyan left Jordan 16 years ago and lived in South America until 1963 when he came to the United States.

RFK Driver Beaten, Robbed in D. C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lee E. Morrow, personal driver for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was beaten and robbed in the early Sunday hours after being on duty for 24 hours with the grieving family.

★ ★ ★

Police said Morrow, 45, was stopped by seven juveniles a block from his Northeast Washington home. They hit him in the face with a stick and took his wallet, containing 50 cents and three gasoline credit cards in Kennedy's name.

★ ★ ★

Morrow was not seriously hurt, police said.

The youths fled.

Cambodia Prince Frees 2 GIs

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk today released two American soldiers as a gesture of homage to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The two soldiers, Jerry A. Tester and Ronald J. Lehrmann of the 560th Military Police Company, were aboard a Philippine tug that strayed into Cambodian waters in the Mekong Delta.

They were turned over to the Australian Embassy, which has represented the United States in Cambodia since Sihanouk broke relations with Washington.

There was no immediate indication when or how the men would leave Cambodia.

MESSAGE OF SYMPATHY

In a message of sympathy to Sen. Kennedy's widow, Cambodia's ruling prince said:

"The royal government, the Cambodian people and I want to express our admiration and our respect to the Kennedy family whose sacrifices for the cause of peace, justice and liberty for the oppressed must not be in vain for the honor of the American people and the future of humanity."

The prince also sent a message of sympathy to Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who was his guest when she visited Cambodia last year.

INADVERTENT INTRUSION

The U.S. government had protested the detention of the men and said the tug intruded inadvertently into Cambodian waters due to a navigational error.

The Cambodian government rejected the protest, saying the boat passed a "clearly visible" Cambodian border post on the river bank and ignored signals ordering it to turn back.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H® — an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress — Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection.

Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

Seattle Underground Uncovered, Restored

By CATHY NEVILLE

SEATTLE — People are standing in line to see Seattle's underground, the elite, sometimes illicit and often underwater portion of the city that now lies 15 to 35 feet below the traffic-clogged streets.

For almost 40 years the underground was the Seattle business district: a collection of banks, restaurants and outfitters who sold supplies to thousands of miners heading for Alaska with gold in their eyes.

* * *

Then, on June 6, the business city suffered a severe setback when a glue pot overturned in a furniture shop at First Avenue and Madison Street. The major part of the town, 66 blocks, burned to the ground.

As the smoldering ruins cooled, the city fathers began to replan Seattle and, without intending it, began to create a very large and well-preserved exhibit of what life was like just before the turn of the century.

UNOFFICIAL CURATOR

Bill Speidel, a former newspaperman and publisher of a weekly entertainment magazine, is the unofficial curator of the exhibit and a long-time champion of preserving Seattle's historic Pioneer Square area.

In 1965 Speidel scraped together $500, fought a few battles with city regulations and began guiding visitors through two blocks of the estimated eight acres of underground Seattle. In three years nearly 100,000 people have made the tour.

* * *

"The present life is so complex that people like to cling to the old days when things were more simple," he said.

The underground was created when Seattle raised its streets as it rebuilt after the fire. Much of modern Seattle is built on what was originally water or swamp. Early residents got along by storing their gunpowder and flour on the top shelf and shoveling sawdust into the wettest spots. But by 1889 there were over 44,000 people in Seattle. The high tide things became complicated.

BRICK WALLS

As the city was rebuilt, brick walls were constructed on each side of the streets. These walls were high enough to be well above high tide and were then filled with rocks, debris from the fire and dirt before roads — the same roads used today — were built ontop of them.

As buildings were rebuilt they were based on the old foundations now sometmes 15 to 30 feet below the level of the street. The sidewalks were left uncovered and many stores continued business in their old first floor offices with stairs leading up to the street.

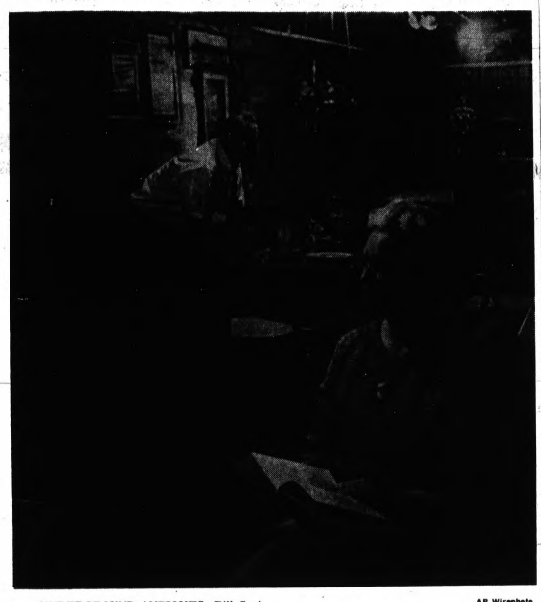

* * *

However the uncovered sidewalks created problems. Horses, carriages and people fell the 10 feet or more from the street to the sidewalks often enough that the city finally ordered that the sidealks be coverd. After that many businesses moved to the floors above and the basements were sealed and old sidewalks forgotten.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups have aided Speidel in his efforts to restore many of the old buildings and to open the underground.

* * *

High school students and Jaycees pitched in to shovel 10 truckloads of dirt, rocks, bottles and junk out of the undergrounds. They also explored, discovering lathe-turned pillars, inlaid tile floors, the remains of some speakeasy, stone building fronts and original wooded sidewalks. Some of the original signs still hang on the buildings now below street level.

UNDERGROUND ANTIQUES—Bill Speidel pauses for a moment in the underground section of an antique store run by Mrs. Inge Jolley (front) in the section closest to the finished area of the underground.

Foam Cannon: Antiriot Tool?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A National Guard officer believes he has devised a harmless method for cleaning up riots with soap and water.

Lt. John Graf, 24, of the 101st Calvary's C Troop, tried out his idea Sunday with men of his command and it proved to be a billowing success.

* * *

"You're totally disoriented and you feel weightless," Graf said as his men foundered in the foam during the test at a training reservation near suburban Meadowbrook.

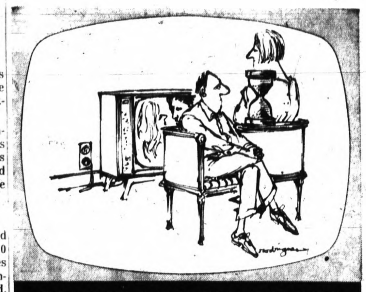

Graf of Trevose, Pa., worked out plans for his bubble gun with his empoyers, the Pennsylvania Box and Lumber Corp. And the Walter G. Kidde Co. of Bellevue, N.J.

After two weeks of work and an outlay of $18,000, they devised the foam cannon. Mounted on an armed personnel carrier, the gun shoots under pressure a stream of liquid soap and water that forms suds.

Rare First Edition

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — An 1855 first edition of Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass" was presented to Massachusetts Institute of Technology today as a symbol of the school's library system having passed the one-million volume mark.

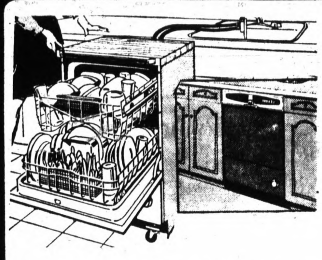

The rare book was the gift of I. Austin Kelly III, a member of the class of 1926. The presentation was made by Kelly to MIT President Howard W. Johnson at the annual Alumni Day luncheon.

Music and Children Highlight Her Life

By JUNE ELERT

The MEA (Master of Education in Administration) degree Geraldine Cheal received yesterday from Michigan State University, will sit lightly alongside the BME received in 1940 from Seaton Hill College, Greensburg, Pa., and the MME acquired in 1947 from University of Michigan.

JUNE

Gerry, as her friends know her, taught music for six years in Pennsylvania schools before moving to these parts. She has been employed in the vocal music department of the Pontiac school system for 14 years.

These years have been devoted, mainly, to elementary teaching, though she has had, this past year, the added responsibilities of heading the elementary vocal music staff.

Teacher, student and mother-wife-homemaker roles have combined and intertwined except for a brief eight years following the birth of the twins, Dale and Diane, in 1950. William, Lee and Robert also made appearances during those years.

Husband Bill, Pontiac's City Auditor, is a talented trombonist and has been the boys' teacher from the beginning.

Gerry gave Diane her start on the piano but relinquished this role to Mrs. James Forman who has also taught Dale and Billy.

With the ink hardly dry on Mrs. Cheal's new degree, she and Bill will attend graduation ceremonies Thursday for three of their children.

At 10 a.m. Billy will graduate from ninth grade at Washington Junior High School, where he has been a valued member and soloist in the advanced band, playing euphonium and trombone.

In the evening, Dale and Diane will receive their diplomas from Pontiac Central High School in ceremonies at Wisner Stadium. Both are National Honor Society members.

Dividing their loyalties between their mother's two Michigan alma maters, Dale will enter University of Michigan as a music education major specializing in brass instruments; Diane will go to Michigan State, also in music education with emphasis on piano and voice.

Lee and Robert both play cornet in the Washington Junior High School band and are section leader rivals.

Gerry's love affair with music began in the third grade with a "perfectly wonderful" music teacher who served as her model.

She sang with choirs and glee clubs in high school and college and, though never a solo performer, used to have fun doing imitations of Kate Smith.

Her job is keeping her "on the hop" right now with preparations for seven separate children's programs winding up the year in the three schools in which she teaches, Whitfield, Willis and Central Elementary.

She is also interviewing prospective teachers for the music department and taking part in workshops designed to select a new series of texts.

A sometime composer, Gerry authored the Pontiac Centennial theme song, "This Is Our City, Pontiac" and a school song for Irving Elementary.

Talent, determination and lots of work seem to be the ingredients of success for Gerry Cheal.

She is looking forward to seeing the children through college.

In the meantime, practice is the order of the day, every day, in the Cheal home on Cherokee road. These parents insist on an hour's music practice every day, including weekends.

★ ★ ★

Patient May Ask Roommate to Lower TV

By ELIZABETH POST

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. Harry Caples of Lutherville, Md.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: Just recently I needed help very much. In a semi-private hospital room, when my roommate had company (often six persons who stayed two hours), I felt awkward lying there that length of time, unable to leave the room, to concentrate on reading, or even go to sleep.

When I had company I wondered whether to introduce them to the roommate, to include her in the conversation, and sometimes whether to ask her to turn down her loud TV.

Frankly, I think it would be better for both roommates and their company to draw the curtain between the beds at such times for privacy. Let me know your opinion.—Margaret Caples.

Dear Mrs. Caples: In the enforced intimacy of a semi-private room, it would seem most unfriendly not to introduce your roommate to your visitors. If she is alone at the time, it is also kind to include her in the conversation. However, this is up to her.

If the one who is alone wishes to rest, read, or watch TV, she may, and should, say so, and draw the curtain herself to allow the patient with visitors a little privacy. For her to draw the curtain does not have the same unfriendly effect as if the others draw it and exclude her when she is alone. Either roommate is always free to ask the other to turn down the radio of the TV.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that we receive each week, we'll send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette.

Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and don't forget to include your name and address.

Surgeon Charges Despite Failure

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband went to the hospital for an operation which we knew would be serious, but we didn't know HOW serious. To make a long story short, he died on the operating table after nearly three hours of surgery.

ABBY

As you can imagine, I was pretty well broken up. Just as I was getting over the shock, here comes a bill from the surgeon for my poor deceased husband's operation! How money-hungry can a doctor be, anyway?

Anyone with half a brain knows that if the operation had been a success my husband would be alive today, so we can assume that the operation was a failure, right?

Please tell me, Dear Abby, is it considered ethical for a surgeon to send the widow a bill for an operation which failed?

THE WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: A surgeon invests the same amount of time, knowledge and skill in an operation which fails as in one which succeeds. There are no guarantees in surgery. If the patient dies, some surgeons will reduce the bill, which may or may not reduce the resentment on the part of the family. But it is indeed "ethical" to send a bill, regardless of the outcome.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and a junior at Shattuck school in Fairbault, Minn., and I would like to get something off my chest.

Sometimes I get very angry with a few of your generation for leaving the world in such a mess for my generation to clean up. I also get mad at some of my own friends at times for being so child-like and cowardly. When I see "hippies" I thank the Lord there aren't more of them. I mean, who would mind the store while we were freaking out somewhere if we were all like that?

I also get frustrated with draft card burners. Imagine what our men in Vietnam who are fighting and dying must think of that? If a man isn't willing to fight for his freedom, he doesn't deserve to be free. As far as I'm concerned, my draft card is my deed to freedom, and if I were to burn it, I would no longer be free.

Sincerely Yours,
BILL HUMLEKER

Pontiac Symphony Has Final Concert Outside

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

With the appearance of Skitch Henderson as guest conductor and soloist, the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra concluded its 14th season yesterday afternoon.

MRS. ROSENTHAL

The Baldwin Pavilion was the setting for the concert, and, in spite of the hot weather, a large and enthusiastic audience was on hand to hear a program of familiar music.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Henderson is a capable, knowledgeable conductor with sharp, direct style and a clipped "no nonsense" approach in his conducting.

The orchestra fared well under his baton in Bizet's second "L'Arliesenne" Suite, "Fair is Fair" by Rogers, "Hollywood Revisted" and Rogers' "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue".

★ ★ ★

However, his tendency to overplay the brass section marred his performance of Shulman's "Laurentian Overture" and Khatchaturian's "Gayne" Suite in which the tempi were too slow to be affective.

In his "Hollywood Revisisted" group, he conducted the orchestra in a beautiful arrangement of "Tara's Theme" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

★ ★ ★

His piano solos for "Laura" and "Thanks for the Memory" were little gems of a beautiful, refined pianistic style and personalized approach. His own inimitable way of playing is skillful, well thought out and thoroughly delightful.

★ ★ ★

It is a pity that there were only the two piano solos. The audience would have loved to have heard many more.

TRIBUTE

Felix Resnick, permanent conductor of the orchestra, opened the concert with Tschaikowsky's "Andante Cantabile" which was played as a tribute to the memory of Senator Robert Kennedy.

Mr. Resnick also conducted the major work of the program, Gershwin's "American in Paris."

Under his adept and smooth direction the orchestra blossomed out to its full potential. Here the orchestral sound was smooth, well-balanced, artistic and impressive.

★ ★ ★

With any orchestra, large or small, professional or semi-professional, there are weaknesses and rough edges. The skill of any conductor lies in his ability to compensate, to play up the strong-points and minimize the weaknesses. It is fortunate for the orchestra and all of us that Mr. Resnick is a past master at this art. His fine musical judgment, his artistic sense of timing and his exacting demands from his group all combined to produce a creative, high standard performance.

★ ★ ★

Roger Welton, principal flautist, excelled in various solo spots, particularly in the charming minuetto of Bizet's "L'Arlesienne" Suite.

Anchor Rollers With Headband

To help keep large rollers from dropping out of your hair around your face and neck, place a headband around your neck before rolling up your hair on the large rollers.

As soon as you have finished setting your hair, pull the headband up around the bottom rollers at the neck, ears, and forehead. This keeps rollers from dropping out. This hint is especially handy for the woman who has fine hard-to-manage hair.

Fluffy Cushions

When making filling for cushions, cut a roll of cotton in small squares. Put them in a pan in the oven and heat for 30 minutes. Do not let the cotton get scorched. Each square will swell to twice its original size and will be as light and fluffy as feathers for cushions.

Lists Priorities to Save Cities From Creeping Social Decay

Our cities are in trouble — deep financial, physical, social trouble. But the country has the resources and the know-how to replan, rebuild, and humanize the urban centers. The big question is whether we have the will to do so.

That is the challenge posed in "Humanizing the City," by Marion O. Robinson, a new Public Affairs pamphlet on a critical issue. The pamphlet, based on papers given at a meeting of the National Conference on Social Welfare, is available for 25 cents from the Public Affairs Committee, 381 Park Avenue South, New York, N.Y. 10016.

* * *

In this concise booklet Miss Robinson analyzes the roots of poverty — and of decay of the urban neighborhoods — and clears away some widely held misconceptions about the slum poor today. "Segregation and discrimination based on prejudice against skin color," she writes, "which dies infinitely harder than prejudice against foreign origin or religion, continually frustrate the efforts of slum dwellers to follow their predecessors up the ladder of success."

This is underscored by the fact that the plight of our minority population has become worse, not better. "Since 1954 Negro unemployment has doubled. Today it is two-and-a-half times the rate of unemployment of white citizens." Among Negro teenagers in the ghetto, unemployment is a disastrous 27 per cent. "The gap between Negro and white median income has broadened. It is clear that prejudice and discrimination are national, not regional, disorders" And millions of the aged, both Negro and white, exist "on the edge of poverty in an unfavorable, often dangerous, environment."

PRIORITIES

Miss Robinson summarizes the priorities as seen by a number of economists, sociologists, and social workers. Among them are the following:

- An adequate level of income maintenance, through some form of guaranteed annual income. An urgent immediate need is a minimum federal standard of welfare equal to that used in the antipoverty program — $3,000 minimum for a family of four.
- Job creation — "matching of the needs of our times with the need of the unemployed to work." One major new industry, for example, could be the rehabilitation of housing. New Careers, an OEO effort, trains "inexperienced people to perform tasks requiring less than professional training, releasing trained professionals in social and other services for more concentrated work."
- Model Cities program, "designed for a coordinated attack on social, economic, and physical problems of blighted areas."

"In most parts of the world," Miss Robinson concludes, "want exists because there is no alternative." But the U.S.A. has the resources for banishing deprivation; what we need to develop is "an educated public opinion which sees poverty as a blight, as a public health menace, and an immoral condition." When this happens, people will vote against poverty.

"Humanizing the City" is No. 417 in the Public Affairs Pamphlet series, now in its 33rd year. The series includes many other distinguished titles covering social and economic problems, intergroup relations, family relations, and health and science. All pamphlets sell for 25 cents each; a list is available upon request.

Darkness Reveals Shower Plans

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — Some friends arranged a baby shower for Mrs. Edna Pientka. In order to get her to attend the surprise party, she was invited to a friend's house to "play cards." As she was alighting from her car in front of the friend's home, another car drove up behind her.

In the pitchblack darkness of the night, the woman got out and, not recognizing Mrs. Pientka, asked: "Are you going to Edna's surprise shower, too?"

Edna quickly replied: "Why, yes, I guess I am."

WRIGHT-CRIGGER

A reception Saturday at Sportsman's Lodge preceded a honeymoon trip to the Hemisfair in San Antonio, Tex., for Leslie Wright and his bride, nee Diane Joan Crigger. The couple were wed that day in Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church. Mrs. Gary Heaton, Carole Sallow, Lynda Green and Mrs. Kenneth Gertz attended the bride, who wore a traditional gown of peau de soie with a rose headpiece and illusion veil. She carried white daisies and carnations. Kenneth Gertz was best man with ushers Richard Crigger, Gary Heaton and Dean Parmenter. Parents of the newlyweds are the Harry Criggers of Crest Street and the Arthur Wrights of Rochester.

LaBRECHE-WILKINSON

Honeymooning in Florida following vows Saturday in Strathmoor - Judson Memorial Baptist Church, Detroit, are Mr. and Mrs. David Milton LaBreche, nee Dianne Lynn Wilkinson. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack LaBreche of Milford and Glen C. Wilkinson Jr. of Detroit. For the evening rite, the bride chose a bouffant-skirted lace gown with scalloped neckline and tiered illusion veil. She carried orchids and June bells. Judith Johnson was maid of honor with Linda Messer, Brenda Wright and Terry Hard as bridesmaids. Robert LaBreche was best man with Jon LaBreche, Peris Messer and James Riley ushering. The newlyweds greeted guests in the Church parlors.

MILLER-KELLEY

A reception in the Elks Club of Pontiac followed vows spoken Friday evening in St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic Church by Linda Joyce Kelley and Jerry Lee Miller. The daughter of the Arthur L. Kelleys of Hamilton Drive was attired in a full-skirted gown or organza and Alencon lace complemented with a bouffant illusion veil and chapel train. Attendants were Mrs. Arthur Kelley, Mrs. Norman West, Dianne Hock, Suzanne Hehir and Mrs. Ronald Miller. Ronald Miller was best man with ushers Dillard Miller Jr., Frank Herold, Norman West and Arthur Kelley. The bridegroom's parents are the Dillard C. Millers of Oak Hill, W. Va. The couple is honeymooning in Hawaii.

A Poetic Plea Gets Pen Pals

PITTSBURG, Kan. (AP) — You will never convince Sara Smith, 11-year-old daughter of Pittsburg's city manager, Jerry Smith, that poetry doesn't pack a punch.

Some time ago, she listed her name in a Presbyterian youth magazine saying she wanted pen pals. She got feeble response. Some time later, she wrote her plea in the form of verse and sent it to the same magazine.

To date, she has had 135 answers and is so deluged she is passing out some of the names to her friends to answer for her.

Kennedy Women Keep Poise

NEW YORK (AP) — Kennedy women always hold up their heads, and they meet tragedy, as they meet triumph, with a magnificent dignity.

Of success and sorrow they have seen more, perhaps, than most women, and they have had to bear them in the public gaze.

With sons or husbands or brothers that have achieved heights average men do not aspire to, their tragic ends, when they have come, have occasioned national mourning.

★ ★ ★

Rose Kennedy, at 77 the vital, youthful-looking matriarch of the Kennedy family, sets the pattern of gallant behavior in time of heartbreak.

After the assassination of her second born son, President John F. Kennedy, in 1963, she said:

"This is the third child I've lost. I've learned to be brave and to put my faith in the will of God."

VIOLENT DEATH

Now that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has become the second son slain by an assassin's bullet, the count is four of her nine children dead violently. But Rose Kennedy has lost neither her singular composure nor her strong faith.

★ ★ ★

The senator's 40-year-old widow, Ethel, who was rarely far from his side in their 18 years of marraige — whether they were shooting rapids, touring the world, playing touch football or campaigning — was with her husband in Los Angeles when he was cut down.

Throughout the gruelling hours of uncertain waiting she showed remarkable self-restraint, doctors said.

In her calm control and concern for others during the difficult days that followed, Ethel Kennedy, who has been called "everybody's favorite Kennedy," maintained the tradition of Kennedy women, even as did her sister-in-law Jacqueline in November 1963.

TRIBUTE

Mrs. John F. Kennedy's control and sense of history throughout that fateful weekend after the president was shot moved the London Evening Standards to write:

"Jacqueline Kennedy has given the American people from this day on one thing they have always lacked — majesty."

The former First Lady, who had given birth in 1956 to a stillborn daughter and who only three months before the assassination had buried her newborn son, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, then took up the two-fold task of rearing her two fatherless children and perpetuating the memory of her husband.

Robert Kennedy, her brother-in-law, was a mainstay during the critical period and acted almost like a father to little Caroline and John Jr.

Now his widow, who is expecting her 11th child in January, is faced with bringing up their large brood alone at Hickory Hill, their six-acre home at McLean, Va.

Ethel Kennedy's tragedies began with the death of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Skakel in the crash of a private plane in Oklahoma in 1955. Skakel, a self-made millionaire, had seven children.

Then her brother, George Skakel Jr., died in a plane crash in 1966, and last year his widow choked to death on a piece of meat caught in her throat.

Fit Needle to Materials

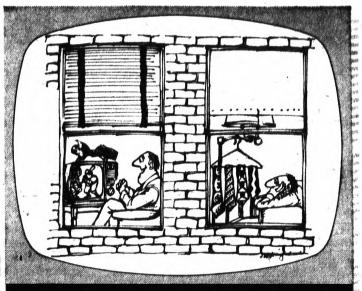

In embroidery, just as in knitting, it's important to know your needles. When you work with a tightly woven fabric, the embroidery or crewel needle is a good choice. This needle has a fine, sharp point.

★ ★ ★

For loosely woven fabrics, choose a tapestry needle which has a somewhat blunt point and a larger eye than the crewel needle. A rug needle is larger still and you'll want to use it when you embroider with extra thick yarns.

★ ★ ★

A forth needle, called chenille, is smaller than all the others and many needleworkers prefer its easy-to-handle size.

U.S. School Trains Latin Americans to Fight Guerrillas

FORT GULICK, Panama Canal Zone (AP)—The Vietnamese village of Gatun Dinh, a cluster of palm thatch shacks huddled around a tall, wooden church, sprawled empty and ominously quiet in the humid afternoon heat.

The rhythmic munch-munch of a horse and two goats lunching in the tall grass and the scolding of purple grackles in the trees magnified the eerie quality of the silence.

★ ★ ★

An American sergeant moved past a haystack, across the central square and paused before the village bicycle repair shop, open for business but devoid of visible humans, yet suggestive of a hidden, dangerous presence. Wheels, chains, sprockets and other spare parts hung loosely from a horizontal pole supporting the roof. A man put his hand to the wheel, moved it and there was a sharp, clacking sound.

"You're dead," said the sergeant to the man. "You've set off a booby trap. Have a look."

MOUSETRAP

On the side of the pole not visible from the street, a mousetrap had been nailed and linked to the wheel by the thinnest of wire filaments. This had set off the trap and, theoretically, a powerful explosive that would have killed the man and his companions.

The sergeant, Manuel Rios, 38, a short, stocky Puerto Rican from Bayamon, walked over to the haystack and exposed its interior, a hollowed out shelter for a sniper.

★ ★ ★

The drowsy-looking village, it turned out, was every inch a death trap.

Sgt. Rios, a Vietnam combat veteran, is an instructor in a course on how to stay alive in hostile territory. He was demonstrating the safest, most effective way of approaching, entering and searching a rural community of doubtful allegiance.

★ ★ ★

Gatun Dinh is a fake, but it's a true copy, complete with cemetery, of villages found in South Vietnam, where lessons being taught here were learned the hard way.

These dramatically realistic lessons, always tough, sometimes dangerous, are part of a three-week training course at the jungle operations center at nearby Fort Sherman. The laboratory is a 52-square-mile stretch of some of the wildest jungle anywhere in the world.

ON CURRICULUM

It's all part of the multifaceted military curriculum at the U.S. Army School of the Americas, which has graduated 22,090 Latin American and 30,265 U.S. students in its 22 years.

The school, say its sponsors and champions, provides nearly solid insurance against leftwing extremist subversion in the hemisphere. Leftist critics call it a "gorilla university" and a "coup d'etat factory." In some Latin American countries, notably Brazil and Argentina, the term "gorilla" has become almost synonymous with old-style, conservative militarists. Its graduates have figured in uprisings against democratically elected governments. Others have thrown in with so-called "popular" opposition movements often identified with the far left. One of the more prominent ex-pupils in this category: Marco Yon Sosa, Guatemala guerrilla leader who has long eluded pursuit by guerrilla experts, trained here.

The Bolivian rangers who tracked down and killed Che Guevara last October were trained in their own country by an 8th Special Force mobile training team sent from Fort Gulick.

The 8th Special Force, Green Berets, maintains an 800-man detachment here for training purposes.

DIVERSE ACTIVITIES

Although jungle warfare is an important part of the over-all training program, the emphasis actually is on less belligerent purposes. Of the 44 courses, ranging from 2 to 40 weeks and covering such diverse activities as water purification—7 weeks—and radio repair—20 weeks, jungle operations is one of the shortest.

"Technical training, the preparations of a man for later nonmilitary life, is our greatest contribution here," says the 8th Special Force group commandant, Col. Louis F. Felder, 45, a lean, tough ex-private from Monroe, Wis.

★ ★ ★

Still, the need to keep so many Green Beret specialists on hand at a time of global military crises testifies to the U.S. military concern for the political situation in Latin America.

Fidel Castro's rise to power nearly a decade ago spawned guerrilla warfare in Latin Amreica and although it has been smashed or neutralized in most countries, it remains a serious threat to stability.

INTEGRAL PART

Experience in guerrilla tactics, mostly in southeast Asia years ago, says Col. Felder, has demonstrated that nonmilitary control of the rural population is an integral part of any counter-insurgency operation. This is achieved through community help-type programs, called Civic Action, designed to win over the support of peasants who might otherwise be helpful to the guerrillas.

Most Latin American armies now have Civic Action teams in the field, many trained here, building roads, schools and health and sanitation projects. As part of this training, the Special Forces here not long ago demolished an underwater reef, cleared the port and built a pier for the little fishing town of Santa Isabella. At another village, Rio Indio, the Green Berets arranged for and helped build facilities providing hot meals daily for some 400 school children.

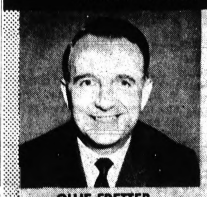

All this represents the U.S. contribution to what appears to be the unstated objective of the School of the Americas: to reshape Latin America's armed forces, operationally and philosophically.

After 22 years, the results have been meager but promising. Officers here believe a more professional soldier, less politically oriented than his predecessors of the 1930s and 1940s, is moving into positions of responsibility. Some countries are revamping military strategy toward internal rather than external defense and re-equipping and training their forces accordingly.

"The Latin American countries are not facing an external threat," at least not at the present," says Col. Felder. "What is needed is adequate police protection within their own boundaries."

King Eulogist Urges Colleges to Fight War, Poverty, Racism

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The man who delivered the eulogy at the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said Sunday Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination "makes it all the more urgent" that universities turn toward conquering war, poverty and racism.

The Rev. Dr. Benjamin Elijah Mays, president of emeritus of Morehouse College in Atlanta, Ga., spoke at Michigan State University commencement exercises.

"It will not be enough for our universities to train their graduates how to make themselves secure in the economic and educational world, and forthwith insulate themselves from the basic issues of our time," said Dr. Mays.

"The day has come for educational institutions to train their students to be seriously concerned about the urgency and the commitment to eliminate war, abolish poverty, and exterminate racism."

NO PEACE

Dr. Mays, who is credited with having greatly influenced Dr. King during his student days at Morehouse and in his early years as a civil rights leader, said he "never should have been assassinated, with the approval of thousands, because he wanted America to live up to its pronouncements" on equality.

"It is not only good for the world that we do it because we are trying to build" and then there will be no permanent peace on the earth until we do," Dr. Mays said.

MSU Grads Feel the Heat at Exercises

EAST LANSING (AP)— Heat, estimated at more than 100 degrees, took a heavy toll at the Michigan State University graduation exercises Sunday.

Dr. James Feurig, head of the MSU hospital, said that because of the humidity and the heat bouncing off the concrete of the stadium was probably close to 103 degrees. The temperature in downtown Lansing was 93.

★ ★ ★

Feurig said two persons were hospitalized with heat prostration, 21 stretcher cases were treated and allowed to leave, and more than a dozen persons were revived with oxygen and cold packs.

Meanwhile, he said, East Lansing police were roaming the campus, picking up at least a dozen heat prostration cases.

Dean Cautions on Power Use

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — A University of Michigan dean said Sunday night, "the worst blunder any dean could make is to assume that because power is there, he could automatically use it."

William Haber, the dean of the university's College of Literature, Science and the Arts, made the comment in remarks to the opening of the four-day Midwest Fulbright Conference here at the University of Iowa.

"The latent powers of the dean, or the president, are indeed rather substantial," Habor told the some 75 educators. "But the worst blunder any dean could make is to assume that, because it is there, he could automatically use it.

"Everywhere we look, authority and the freedom to exercise it have been diluted," he continued.

Official Named

Robert Kohnert, assistant director of Oakland County Department of Veteran Affairs, was named treasurer of the Michigan Association of County Veterans Counselors at a recent meeting at Higgins Lake.

A past president's plaque was presented to Duane Shaw, director of the Oakland County Department of Veteran Affairs, at the same meeting.

Normandy Vets Reminisce in Viet

CAMP EAGLE, Vietnam (AP) — The weatherbeaten sergeant major tilted back his helmet, scratched his chin and recalled that he had been frightened by a cow.

Plenty of soldiers had been frightened by cows and lots of other things on that dark night 24 years ago when they parachuted into Normandy.

These were not the beachhead forces which went in at dawn—these were the paratroopers who dropped behind the Nazi lines hours ahead of the main strike on D-Day, June 6.

They belonged to the 101st and 82nd Airborne divisions and many of them are still around. Only a handful are dodging bullets in Vietnam.

They try and stay in touch and exchange stories—like the one coming down and the man who braced him, and then gave him his own weapon, was James M. Gavin, the airborne commander who later became a three-star general.

★ ★ ★

A little while later, Cannon was moving through farms near the little town of St. Mere L'Eglise when he heard strange noises behind him. This kept up for what he remembers as a long, long time.

'SKIN RAN'

"Finally, that cow hollered 'moo' and my skin ran right up my back," Cannon recalls.

★ ★ ★

After the war, Cannon stayed in airborne outfits, made another combat jump with the 187th Regimental Combat Team in Korea and did such unusual things as serving as an airborne advisor in Saudi Arabia.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes he runs into an old comrade, John Dobransky of Nashville, Tenn., who is now sergeant major of the 2nd Battalion.

★ ★ ★

These three think they are the only Normandy jumpers now at Camp Eagle, the headquarters of the 101st Airborne Division and the attached brigade of the 82nd Airborne.

★ ★ ★

"Of course we are proud to have been there," Carr recalled. "But it was just an episode in the war. A lot of good men joined us later."

Weeds, like many plants, have seeds geared not only to seasonal cycles, but in some cases to dormancy periods that may last several years to insure their species reproduction.

They try and stay in touch and exchange stories—like the rocket the other night that blew up a latrine next to the Colonel's toilet seat into the colonel's cot, which luckily was unoccupied at the time, the colonel being in a bunker.

The colonel is Lt. Col. Bernard E. Carr, 45-year-old ramrod-straight provost marshal of the 101st Airborne Division.

★ ★ ★

In Normandy, he was a green young artillery lieutenant and though his career has since carried him through Korea and Vietnam, nothing has dimmed th memory.

"The planes were going in every direction and the place seemed to be lit up like the Fourth of July . . . It took me 78 days to get back with my own battery."

AMMO DESTROYED

He recalls sadly that he dropped with a load of ammunition—about 80 rounds—and had to destroy it because the cannon were dropped elsewhere.

"That wouldn't make a drop in the bucket, the way we shoot here," the colonel observed, "but we thought it was a lot then."

★ ★ ★

After the war, Carr went back to Michigan State University, studied criminology and came back in the Army as a military policeman. He also had four children — the oldest boy is now at West Point.

Another Normandy veteran with the division has become something of a legend — A. B. Cannon, the grizzled sergeant major of the 2nd Bregade, 101st Airborne.

'PATHFINDER'

Cannon, 44, lean and tough from Cisco, Tex., jumped as a "pathfinder" with the 82nd Airborne Division, the pathfinders being those who go first to mark drop zones for others.

He has two vivid memories of the night, both a little embarrassing.

★ ★ ★

He somehow dropped his weapon coming down and the man who braced him, and then gave him his own weapon, was James M. Gavin, the airborne commander who later became a three-star general.

★ ★ ★

A little while later, Cannon was moving through farms near the little town of St. Mere L'Eglise when he heard strange noises behind him. This kept up for what he remembers as a long, long time.

Continued pounding of the hill by enemy artillery brought early evacuation operations to a halt and most of the injured had to wait two days before leaving.

COINS? WHAT ABOUT THIS AD NEXT DOOR

If you have any of the coins listed it will pay you to read these few words:

There are no gimmicks connected with this ad—We are selling nothing—We are the world's largest coin buying operation. We enjoy a reputation of having been investigated by the nations leading newspapers and hotels and welcomed by both to use their facilities.

NOW THE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

1. Question: Will my coins be worth more if I hold them longer?

1. Answer: If you are an active collector or coin investor there could be times when you could sell for more, but if you don't watch the market your money is better off in savings accounts — free from worries about thefts.

2. Question: Should I sell my coins now? I do not need the money.

2. Answer: It is always easier to sell to a known buyer than try to find a buyer when you need the money. And if you never forsee needing the cash your coins will bring, it is still wiser to have this cash working than laying idle.

3. Question: I've thought of giving my old coins to my children and grandchildren. What's wrong with this?

3. Answer: Nothing — if you can divide them equitably. This is extremely hard to do as the value of one may go up while down on another. Selling the coins while you control them and dividing the money into even savings accounts is always safe. And at today's interest this money should double in 13 years.

OUR BUSINESS IS BUYING COINS.

We hope you will bring yours in to us during our short stay — whether you have 50c worth or several thousands, you can be certain of a courteous cash offer. Show us some of your famous hospitality and bring in your idle coins while we are in town.

MOVING OUT—The Rev. Arthur Knight, shown with daughter Arlinda, 9, is moving his family from Dearborn. AP Wirephoto

'Never Made to Feel Welcome'

Dearborn's Only Negro Family Leaving

DEARBORN (AP) — The only Negro family in this Detroit suburb of 112,007 — the Rev. Arthur Knight, his wife and their four children — is going to move out after two and a half years of disillusionment.

The Rev. Knight said he's going back to Detroit "to be with my people" and because his children have been harrassed and never made to feel welcome in Dearborn.

★ ★ ★

The associate minister of the store-front Jerusalem Missionary Baptist Church in Detroit said he hoped by moving to Dearborn he could give his children, ranging from 6 to 16 in age, a better education and a better place to live.

"But it hasn't worked out that way," he said.

CONSTANT HARRASSMENT

"The harrassment against my children has been constant," he added. "At school my children are called 'nigger' and the white children avoid playing with them.

"The schools haven't tried to cooperate, and the teachers and principals do not accept them from what I gather from the children.

★ ★ ★

"I want to get the children out before they get hurt too bad. I can fight back on any level, but these children are too young to tell what it's all about."

Few of his neighbors have visited his home, but those who have treated the family decently, "except for their attitudes."

'NO INTEGRATION'

Dearborn, where roughly half of 32,000 employed in the huge Rouge complex of the Ford Motor Co. are Negro, is governed by Mayor Orville Hubbard, who frankly concedes he doesn't believe in integration, but who says at the same time, "I have nothing against Negroes."

Hubbard has been mayor for 26 years and won a 13th term last year with 87 per cent of the vote in this city — an all-white community except for the Knights and those who remain of 28 non-Caucasians counted in the 1960 census who live in homes where they work.

★ ★ ★

"As far as I know personally," Hubbard said, "he (the Rev. Mr. Knight) had no problems. Of course, most people like to live in a neighborhood where they are accepted. You can't force people to like each other.

Hubbard said he first learned of the Knights moving in from his police chief who told him the Michigan Civil Rights Commission called him and reported the Negro family moving into the then vacant house.

SOUGHT ADVICE

"It wasn't under our auspices at all," a spokesman for the Civil Rights Commission said. "We gave him some advice, which he sought from us."

Hubbard said someone, he couldn't recall at the moment, had asked that a police car be stationed near the Knight home after the family moved in, but he turned this down "because they're only three minutes from the police station and a car parked there would have only made the house conspicuous."

★ ★ ★

"Like anyone else," he mayor added, "he's privileged to move in or move out. I can't see why the communications media wants to make such a fuss about it."

Knight recalls that a neighbor, who is a policeman, once "threatened to put his foot in the end of my son down in front of his house, but I went to the police chief and told him if the man did that then he'd better be prepared to do the same to me."

HE APOLOGIZED

"A little while after that," the minister recalled, "the policeman called my son and told him he was sorry for what he did."

The only other incident he recalled "about grown-ups who feel they should kick my children around" was a man down the street "ramming a football into my son's stomach and calling him names."

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Mr. Knight's wife, Dorothy, works in the food department at the State Home and Training School in nearby Plymouth.

The Knight children are Charlotte, 16, a sophomore in Ford-son High School; Keith, 14, an eighth-grader at Woodworth Junior High; Arlinda, 9, and Robert, 6, both in Henry Ford Elementary School.

NEW YORK (AP) — The 14,000-man Department of Sanitation depends greatly upon 20 special workers who are always retiring.

Off-Duty GIs 'Free-Lance' in Saigon Fights

SAIGON (AP — For some American GIs it's hard to resist a good fight, even if it means risking their lives on a day off.

Many American "free-lance" fighters participated in the recent Saigon street battles. The government troops didn't seem to mind and did nothing to discourage it.

★ ★ ★

One American recoilless rifle team and U.S. Army helicopters were the only official commitment the U.S. Command made and the rest of the fighting was left to South Vietnamese troops and their American advisers.

But there were several other Americans involved.

2 GREEN BERETS

At Phu Lam, on the western edge of Saigon, two American Green Berets in camouflage uniforms without insignia joined South Vietnamese marines and rangers trying to root out Vietcong guerrillas. One of them recovered the body of an Army photographer who was killed during an assault. No special forces troops were officially involved in the street fighting.

★ ★ ★

In the same general area, three Army men joined the fighting two afternoons running. They explained to a newsman that they had time off from their regular duties and wanted to see some action since they were due to return to the United States soon.

★ ★ ★

Two other Americans came out in civilian clothes—possibly they were civilian employes of the U.S. government—took photographs and fired weapons alongside the Vietnamese troops. They were traveling in an official U.S. mission car.

In Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon, a group of Americans wearing Army insignia joined combat police and rangers, firing machine guns and rifles. Most of them came from American billets in the area of the fighting.

DAY OFF

That was on a Sunday, a day when many GIs in the Saigon area have some time off.

On another instance, an American, wearing a camouflage uniform and carrying a carbine, joined Vietnamese rangers fighting from behind tanks in Cholon. He told newsmen he was a noncommissioned officer working as an adviser to Vietnamese police. He said, however, that he was fighting on his own to "see this difficult kind of war." He declined to give his name.

U.S. military police say their patrols try to intervene to stop the so-called "free-lance" fighting. But often the clashes are isolated and patrols cannot approach the area. Since American personnel live in scattered billets and apartments throughout the city, particularly Cholon, they suddenly may find a battle in their own backyard or nearby.

Asked about the "free-lance" street fighters, a U.S. spokesman said he would withhold comment until the situation could be looked into.

The spokesman said soldiers do not have regular days off but can be given time off by their local commander or section supervisor.

GIs in Saigon processing to return to the United States often have free time.

American military men working in offices, PXs and handling administrative duties in general also have time off when they finish their daily work, unless assigned to guard duty or some other task. Unless otherwise assigned, they are only restricted by the local curfew, which runs from 7 p.m. until 7 a.m.

Electric Warning

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Department of Buildings and Safety Engineering has warned against the dangers of using improperly grounded electrical appliances outdoors. Failures to make sure that equipment such as hedge trimmers or power tools is grounded can result in electrocution, the department warned.

The missing aircraft was a single engine Navion which vanished during a thunderstorm Friday. Aboard were Harry Kitchner of 349 Booth, Troy, the pilot, and Frank Tweedale of 1526 Muer, Troy, a passenger. They were returning from a flight to Antrim County, where two other passengers had disembarked.

Two Detroit Men Drown as Wives Scream for Help

By The Associated Press

While their horror-stricken, screaming wives attempted to reach them from shore with fishing poles, two friends drowned yesterday in Phoenix Lake of Wayne County's Plymouth Township.

They were among eight persons who drowned in Michigan over the weekend as 90-degree weather sent thousands scurrying to waterways and byways for relief.

Robert Evans, 53, and Jesse Atterbury, 56, both of Detroit, were those who drowned in Phoenix Lake. They had gone fishing there.

Evans, who had donned trunks for a swim, went under only some 20 feet out. Fully clothed, Atterbury jumped in and went to his rescue. As the men struggled in the water, their wives screamed for help and extended fishing poles that weren't long enough in a futile attempt to aid them.

RECOVERED BODY

Attracted by the streams of Mrs. Virginia Evans and Mrs. Pauline Atterbury, Richard Yuccasz, 18, of Garden City, drove around the lake and swam to the point where the men had gone down. He recovered Evans' body, but resuscitation efforts failed. Atterbury's body was found later.

Richard Hicks, 19, of Flint drowned Sunday, while attempting to swim across Idlewilde Lake in Lake County.

* * *

The Associated Press tabulation of weekend drowning began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Other victims:

Willie Edward Wright, 39, of Ann Arbor, who drowned at Kensington Park near Detroit when his 15-foot aluminum boat overturned in eight feet of water Saturday night.

David Eugene Hohlzein, 17, of Route Two, Cloverdale, Ohio, who drowned in 12 feet of water at Coldwater Lake in Isabella County's Nottawa Township Sunday.

William Sawdon, 9, of Port Huron, who drowned near his home Saturday when he stepped into a hole that had been excavated for a water pipeline.

* * *

Byron Bringman, 9 months, who fell off a retaining wall and drowned in Bass Lake near Hillsdale Saturday.

James Johnson, 9, of Freeport, who drowned in Duck Creek in Kent County while apparently trying to retrieve one of his shoes that had fallen in the water Saturday.

* * *

He said he was asked if he were having trouble and started to request directions when a passenger in the other car got out and approached him.

The man ripped Klebba's wallet from his pocket and fled with the others in the car, police were told.

Witnesses said the victims were in the boat with Benedict Cornacchia and another son and had just finished filling the gas tank when the explosion occurred.

The vehicles were pulled into the street by the Vietcong to use as fire cover and obstacles to prevent the movement of tanks and other military vehicles of the U.S. and South Vietnamese. Key Bills Still Face Legislature

LANSING (AP) — Four major budget bills and a number of other disputed measures will be waiting for Michigan legislators when they return to work June 25.

The House and Senate, both in session past midnight Friday morning before recessing for 18 days, still disagree on several measures and are negotiating differences in conference committees.

★ ★ ★

Chief among the bills in conference are appropriations to finance the departments of public health, mental health and education — and the state's public colleges and universities — in the year beginning July 1.

The higher education bill — next to school aid the largest of the pending measures which will comprise Michigan's $1.3 billion general fund budget — passed the Senate at $247 million, but the House raised it to $252 million.

$430,000 ADDED

The House also added $430,000 to the Senate's $25.56 million appropriation to the State Department of Education.

Conferees are much closer together on the two health bills, but each is caught up in a emotional issue.

The $19-million-plus public health measures stalled in the Legislature over the question of a $300,000 addition for treatment of kidney disease.

The $150-million mental health bill has been similarly snarled by the efforts of Rep. Peter Kok, R-Grand Rapids, chairman of the House Mental Health Committee, to add another $1 million to the House Appropriation Committee's figure.

LICENSING AUTHORITY

Among other bills now in House-Senate conference are measures which would:

—Give State Police authority to license and regulate private police agencies.

—Outlaw customer "games" at retail outlets.

—Increase the property tax exemptions of disabled veterans.

—Provide a ticketed driver who failed to show up in court on his due date would be guilty of a misdemeanor and could lose hise license.

—Allow suspension of the license of an "accident prone" driver.

Radio Problems in Riot Are Aired

DETROIT (AP) — Testimony on communication problems during the Detroit riot last July will be presented to the subcommittee on regulatory agencies of the U.S. House Select Committee on Small Business today and tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., who is subcommittee chairman, said the hearings will be held to determine whether the work of the police and fire departments and other public safety agencies were hampered by a lack of an adequate radio spectrum.

"We shall explore the degree to which effective riot control has been hampered by the Federal Communication Commission's policies with respect to the assignment and allocation of radio frequencies," Dingell said.

Testimony on the Detroit riot will be received in Room 859 of the federal building in Detroit at 10 a.m. both days.

★ ★ ★

Witnesses will include Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, Dearborn Mayor Orville L. Hubbard, Detroit Police Commissioner Ray Girardin, and Dearborn Police Chief John B. O'Reilly.

Dingell said a spokesman most of the mayors and police chiefs in the Detroit area also from the State Police and the have been invited to appear.

Junior Editors Quiz on MAGNETS

QUESTION: How can one make a magnet?

* * *

ANSWER: The magnets you use are generally of the bar or curved type. Magnetism is caused by the arrangement of the tiny iron molecules. A molecule has a different kind of electric pole at each end. In electricity, opposites attract each other; similar poles repel. With an unmagnetized bar, the molecules are all jumbled around.

But when magnetized, the molecules snap into neat rows like soldiers, all poles of the same kind pointing the same way. This creates a magnetic force which can reach out beyond the bar and attract an object like an iron nail, which it can pick up.

A piece of steel makes a lasting magnet. You can magnetize it by stroking with a bar magnet.

Our picture shows another way to make a magnet. Line a metal bar up with a compass so that it lies north and south. Hold the north end on a table and hit the south end with a hammer. The bar becomes a magnet because the molecules have been jarred into position to pull together.

The pictures at top show what happens when you put a piece of paper covered with iron filings over two magnets and tap the paper. The filings are rearranged along electric lines of force.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Long-Time Career in Education Comes to End

VERNON (AP) — Nearly a lifetime in the Vernon school now appropriately named after her ended for Mrs. Nellie Reed Lahring Friday when she retired after almost 50 years in education.

Her grade school and high school careers and 44 of her 48 years as a teacher have all been spent in the Nellie Reed Elementary school in this small village southeast of Owosso.

* * *

Principal of the school that bears her name for the past eight years, Mrs. Lahring has been known as "Nellie Reed" by thousands of students, including two and three generations of some families.

Although she was married to C. L. Lahring of Durand Jan. 23, 1967, many of her students still call her "Mrs. Reed."

"I respond to both names," she said with a smile.

IN RECOGNITION

The school was named "The Nellie Reed Elementary School" in January 1965, in recognition of her contributions to education in Vernon over the last nearly 50 years at the conclusion of a major school construction program in the Corunna district, which included a large addition to the Vernon school.

For all practical purposes, the addition was really a new school since most of the old school, which served as a high school for many years, was torn down. The bell from the old school occupies a place of prominence in the elementary school lobby.

* * *

Her long career as a teacher began in 1920 at a small rural school near here, where she stayed for two years. In 1922, Mrs. Lahring returned to the Vernon School, teaching six, seventh and eighth graders. Vernon High School closed its doors for the last time in 1943.

She has taught at Vernon ever since with the exception of two years at the beginning of World War II. In 1940 and 1941, she taught at another rural school near Vernon, but returned to the Vernon school the following year.

Actually, Mrs. Lahring won't be retiring completely. She plans on doing some substitute teaching in the Corunna schools. And so still more students may yet know her as "Mrs. Reed" and-or "Mrs. Lahring."

Huge Underwater Peak to Anchor Weather Tower

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP) — A weather station will be towed 300 miles out to sea this week and fastened to a peak that soars nearly 12,000 feet above the ocean floor.

Cobb Seamount, a towering underwater mountain, comes to within 100 feet of the surface due west of the Columbia River's mouth. The weather station that is to be anchored to the mountain's top is a steel cylinder whose upper end will stick into the air and send telegraphic weather reports back to land.

'A GAMBLE'

"It's a technological gamble," said a representative of Oregon State University's Marine Science Center. "But we think it will work."

Monday morning State's oceanography research ship The cylinder, called Totem II, is 180 feet long and 3½ feet Cayuse will start towing the cylinder toward Cobb Seamount. in diameter. The bottom is fitted with a steel spike 3½ feet long. The top is fitted with weather recording instruments and an automatic transmitter.

Tipton Among Three Hurons Eligible for Olympic Spots

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eastern Michigan, which produced world hurdles champion Hayes Jones, will send another trio of U.S. Olympic hopefuls to Los Angeles this month.

Hurdlers Bill Tipton and Jerry Cerulla and pole vaulter Bill Barrett earned berths in the June 29-30 LA trials with strong performances in the NAIA championships at Albuquerque, N. M., June 1.

★ ★ ★

Cerulla, a 23-year-old senior from Wyandotte, beat Tipton for the fifth time in eight head-to-head meetings this year at Albuquerque in winning the 110 meter hurdles title.

★ ★ ★

"But Bill was in fourth place with 15 yards to go and wound up second," says Eastern Coach Bob Parks.

CLOCKINGS

Tipton, an 19-year-old freshman from Pontiac, the home of Hayes Jones, was clocked and 13.9 seconds. Cerulla's winning time was 13.7. Barrett qualified for the trials with a vault of 16 feet.

The times aren't as good as those posted by the likes of Tennessee's Richmond Flowers and Earl McCullouch of Southern Cal., holder of the world 110 meter hurdle mark of 13.2. Both Flowers and McCullouch have posted 13.3 times this season.

★ ★ ★

"You can't compare Michigan times with the rest of the country," says Parks. "Our weather is terrible and our runners are always running against the wind or its blowing sideways.

"Our chances will depend a lot on conditions when we compete. I understand Flowers is hurt and McCullouch may change his mind about the Olympics if the Lions offer enough money."

FLANKER BACK

McCullouch, a football flankerback, was a high draft choice of the Detroit Lions this year.

Parks points out that a runner's performance on a particular day depends on a number of factors, wind, weather, physical condition.

"Tipton had the flu just before the Albuquerque meet," he said. "We practically had to dynamite him out of the infirmery. But he ran and won the preliminaries.

"I don't know how he'll do in the trials. He had a pulled muscle in his right leg all winter and didn't do much until this spring. Then he hurt his foot and had the flu.

"Bill's had a lot of pressure on him this year because of all the publicity about his high school performances," added parks. "But he's very confident. He really believes he can win every race."

Tipton tied the national prep mark, held by Flowers, of 13.5 for the 120-yard high hurdles in his senior year at Pontiac Central.

TRANSITION

College hurdles are three inches higher than those used in high school and Parks says Tipton has made the transition very well.

"He was too perfect a hurdler in high school," Parks points out. "He had such perfect form that he barely cleared each hurdle. But he's starting to hit his stride now and he may surprise a few people."

★ ★ ★

Parks also would like Tipton to take a crack at the 400-meter hurdles. He's turned in a 53.9 as a freshman. The world mark is 49.1 set by Rex Cawley of Southern Cal in 1964. Cawley was a prep star at Farmington High.

"Bill started out with a 14.5 in the 110 hurdles this year and he's cut that to 13.9 which is better than Hayes Jones did as a freshman," said Parks.

Jones, who won an Olympic gold medal in 1964 with a 13.6 clocking, was a high school star at Pontiac Central and was influential in bringing Tipton to Eastern Michigan.

WEIGHT PROBLEM

Cerulla, a 6-foot-4 senior, still is fighting a weight problem but has won the NCAA indoor hurdles title. An asthma condition prevents him from running in longer races but Parks thinks he will give it a good shot.

Tipton will have another chance at the the Olympics in 1972 but this may be the last chance for Cerulla and Barrett.

★ ★ ★

Barrett, a senior from Berkley, is ranked sixth nationally this year. Bob Seagren of Southern Cal holds the record with a 17-6 vault.

"But Bill has cleared 17 feet when the cross bar was at 16-6," says Parks.

"I've been pretty consistent at 16 feet," says Barrett. "But the altitude bothered me at Albuquerque."

★ ★ ★

Both Tipton and Cerulla said they weren't bothered by the mile-high track in New Mexico, but if they make the Olympic preliminary squad in Los Angeles, they'll get a months training at Lake Tahoe to adjust before the final Olympic selections are made Sept. 10.

Tiger Bats Quiet in 2-0 Defeat

Luis Tiant Hurls 4-Hitter Before Largest Crowd

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers gave the bats to the wrong people Sunday.

A total of 37,000 free bats were distributed to youngsters in a crowd of 52,938 — largest Tiger Stadium gathering since 1961 — but the Bengals were shutout 2-0 on a four-hitter by Luis Tiant of the Cleveland Indians.

★ ★ ★

Denny McLain, who left for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, pitched a three-hitter, including a double and a home run by Duke Sims who scored both Indian runs.

Denny pitched a great game but you can't win without any runs," said third baseman Don Wert.

NINTH WIN

The loss left McLain with a 9-2 record, Tiant's victory was his ninth this year against four losses.

The loss snapped a five-game Detroit winning streak and cut the Tigers' American League lead to 3½ games over Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

"I'm happy to get out of here with one victory in three games," said Al Dark, Indians' manager.

Sims doubled in the fifth after McLain retired the first 13 batters he faced, and came home on Joe Azcue's single. He hit a solo homer, his seventh, off McLain in the seventh.

Simms, normally a catcher, was inserted into left field at the last minute by Dark on a hunch about the powerhitter.

RIGHT FIELD

"I figure if Willie Horton can play left field here, Duke can." said Dark. "The wind was blowing to dead right field. I just told Sims to let Cardenal catch all the balls he could reach."

Jose Cardenal is the Indian's flashy center fielder.

Sims made two putouts on fly balls, one of which Cardenal could have caught.

"I can catch fly balls and any ball in my area I'm going to take," said a somewhat indignent Sims. "With the big crowd screaming I couldn't tell if Cardenal had called for it."

★ ★ ★

All four of the Detrit hits off Tiant came after two were out, including a pinch double by Gates Brown with two out in the ninth.

The hit was Brown's eighth in 12 pinch-hit attempts this year.

"I dan't know what it is," said Brown when asked about his success as a pinch batter. "I was doing something wrong last year, but everything is right this year."

Duman Killed After Thanks for Living

WEST ALLIS, Wis. (UPI) — Ronnie Duman was a thankful man.

Four years ago, in the Indianapolis 500, he survived a flaming multicar accident that killed two other drivers, Eddie Sachs and Dave McDonald. He leaped from his car and was pulled to safety by a photographer.

Sunday, before the Rex Mays 150-mile auto race at State Fair Park — won by Lloyd Ruby — Duman spotted a familiar face in the pit crowd, that of the photographer. He called him over.

"This is the man that saved my life at Indy," he told a crowd. "I want to have my picture taken with him."

HEAD INJURIES

A few minutes later, Duman was dead, the victim of crushing head injuries suffered in a spectacular three-car crackup on the third lap of the race.

★ ★ ★

As at "Indy," flames broke out. One of the drivers, Norm Brown of Grand Rapids was in critical condition at West Allis Memorial Hospital with second and third degree burns over more than 40 per cent of his body.

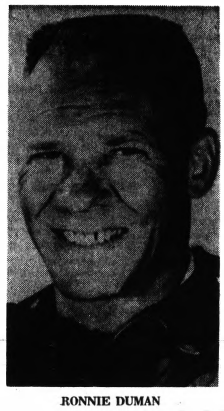

★ ★ ★

The third driver, Bay Darnell of Deerfield, Ill., jumped from his car before the fire broke out. He was burned on his hands and knees by the sweeping flames and was in fair condition.

Eight of the 39,776 spectators were injured; two reportedly by pieces of flying debris. Six were taken to County General Hospital, where they were treated and released.

VICTORIOUS DRIVER

After a 33-minute delay, Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex., drove a turbocharged Offenhauser to victory, averaging 100.7739 miles per hour.

Defending Legion Champions in Sweep

Defending champion Southfield and Waterford both swept twinbills Sunday as the American Legion baseball District 18 program opened its campaign.

The season actually began Saturday night at Troy where Milford won in eight innings, 5-1, and then was held to a 1-1 tie that was called due to a curfew on the municipal field's lights.

Waterford trimmed Farmington, 6-3, and 3-1 behind Steve Goit's slugging and the mound work of Rod Kennedy and Dennis Wooster.

★ ★ ★

Southfield's Bill Davidson had four hits in its 5-4 and 7-5 victories against Walled Lake. Clarkston errors led a 7-6 opening game loss to Berkley before the home team bounced back for a 4-2 nightcap triumph.

The schedule will resume Wednesday night.

SIX RUNS

Goit accounted for all six Waterford opening-game runs with a double and tiple, and he drove in another in the second contest. Kirk Hamilton produced the other two.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy tossed a three-hitter and whiffed nine in the first game, while Wooster held Farmington to three hits in six strong innings of relief in the nightcap.

★ ★ ★

Dave Timassey benefitted from Davidson's three first-game rbi's for Southfield, while Rod Ellison was the recipient of the second-game win.

THREE HITS

Dan Fife slugged a single-triple, homer for three rbi's in Clarkston's opener but on the hill he couldn't handle Bob Coon who matched his hit and rbi totals and that teamed with the leaky Clarkston defense for a defeat.

In the finale, Gerry Ostrom had two hits and pitched good in relief to gain a split. Fife continued his bat work with two more hits and three more rbi's.

★ ★ ★

Milford's Saturday night win was highlighted by Doug Powers' bases-loaded triple in the first extra inning and the strong pitching of Rich Sharpe who struck out eight and yielded three hits.

Turbocar Records Initial Triumph

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A turbine-powered race car, the Howmet TX, topped a field of big American sedans and strong foreign entries to win the Heart of Dixie sports car race Sunday.

In the opener, the Cardinals exploded for 10 runs with two out in the fifth inning to overcome an eight-run deficit and defeat the Reds 10-7.

★ ★ ★

Lee May opened the Cincinnati 12th with a single and Perez, attempting to sacrifice, forced him at second. Perez remained at first as Johnny Bench strick out but Cardenas then laced his game-winning hit to left center.

The blow pinned the defeat on Steve Carlton, 7-2, the fifth St. Louis pitcher. The left-hander started the first game and yielded all eight Cincinnati runs. The Cards' 10-run inning took him off the hook.

It was the Reds' turn to come from behind in the second game. They trailed 5-0 after one inning and 6-0 in the fourth. The got one back in the fourth on Vada Pinson's third homer and four more in the sixth on Pinson's two-run single and Mack Jones' two-run homer, his first.

Dal Maxvill was on the second base with two out when the Cards erupted in the fifth inning of the opener. Julian Javier doubled Maxvill home. Curt Flood walked Orlando Cepeda singled Javier across. Mike Shannon walked and Tim McCarver's two-run single knocked out starter Gerry Arrigo.

Reliever Bob Lee walked Roge Maris and Maxville, up for the second time in the inning, singled in two more runs. Pinch hitter Johnny Edwards also singled to make it 8-7. Lou Brock greeted reliever Bill Kelso with a three-run homer to close out the scoring.

Yankees Take 2 From Angels

NEW YORK (AP) — Pinch hitter Charlie Smith dropped a ninth-inning single to short center field scoring Bill Robinson with the winning run and the New York Yankees defeated California 3-2 to complete a sweep of a Sunday doubleheader.

Stan Bahnsen pitched the Yankees to an 8-1 victory in the first game.

★ ★ ★

Robinson had opened the ninth with a single against reliever Marty Pattin. Bobby Cox sacrificed and pinch hitter Jake Gibbs was walked intentionally.

Then Smith delivered his fifth pinch hit in seven swings this season and Robinson scored.

The Angels had tied the score in the nightcap on single runs in the seventh and eight innings. Cox' error allowed the first run to score and singles by Paul Schaal and Jim Fregosi and a dropped throw at first base by Ruben Amaro on an attempted double play produced the other.

STOLEN BASE

The Yankees pushed a run across in the first when Horace Clarke walked, stole second and scored on Tom Tresh's single, and another in the sixth when Clarke and Roy White singled and Andy Kosco hit a sacrifice fly.

In the first game, Bahnsen coasted to his sixth victory as the Yankees exploded for five runs in the sixth inning.

★ ★ ★

Clarke's single drove in two of the runs, Jake Gibbs and Mickey Mantle singled in one each and another scored on a fielder's choice. White also drove in two runs with a pair of early singles.

Bahnsen lost his chance for a shutout when the Angels bunched three singles with two out in the ninth.

Mike McCormick fanned 10 Mets as the Giants completed the sweep by taking the second game, 4-1.

★ ★ ★

Ty Cline began the winning rally with a pinch hit single off reliever Cal Koonce, 0-2. Jim Davenport, another pinch hitter, struck out but Ron Hunt singled Cline to third. Koonce fanned Dave Marshall, a third pinch hitter, but McCovey hit the first pitch to left for his hit and Mays grounded Koonce's next serve slowly up the middle.

British Amateur Easy Final Win for Bonallack

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Michael Bonallack, a 33-year-old Englishman, sank an 18-foot putt on the 20th green Saturday for a halve that defeated Walker Cup captain Joe Carr of Ireland, 7 and 6 for the British Amateur Golf Championship.

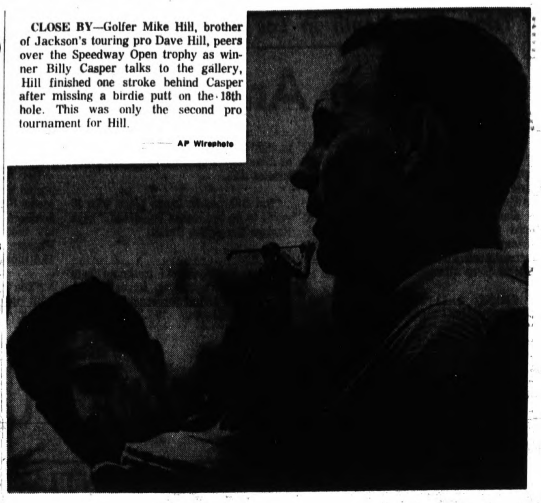

It is the third time he has won it.

Bonallack finished the morning 18 holes 6-up against 46-year-old Carr, himself a triple winner of the crown.

★ ★ ★

After 24 holes, Bonallack was 8-up over Troon's 7,130-yard, par 36-37-73 links, drenched in brilliant sunshine.

But Carr, who won this title — first played in 1885 — in 1953, pulled back two holes and was six down at the 27th.

CLOSE BY—Golfer Mike Hill, brother of Jackson's touring pro Dave Hill, peers over the Speedway Open trophy as winner Billy Casper talks to the gallery, Hill finished one stroke behind Casper after missing a birdie putt on the 18th hole. This was only the second pro tournament for Hill.

Casper Survives 'Hill Climb'

U.S.Open Title Next Target on Pro Tour

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Billy Casper trained his eyes on a third U.S. Open title today after a one-stroke victory in the Speedway Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

"If I can eliminate the mistakes I made here, I'll do well in Rochester," Casper said. "I had a two-week layoff since Memphis and hadn't played much but I feel good now."

★ ★ ★

The PGA's leading money winner, raised his earnings to $124,243 with a $20,000 first-prize for his fourth victory of the season.

Casper admitted that Mike Hill, a 28-year-old rookie, made him play more boldly than he had wanted in the final round.

Hill, of Jackson, Mich., was playing only his second pro tourney.

Hill tried to tie Casper when the veteran bogeyed the par-5 18th hole. Hill blasted a drive and iron shots to just off the green, then chipped to three feet from the pin.

MISSED PUTT

His putt attempt for a birdie curled around the cup but failed to drop and Hill ended with a par.

Casper finished with two-under-par 70 and a 72-hole score of eight-under-par 280. He had won the Speedway Open in 1962 and 1966.

★ ★ ★

Hill, with 75, and Speedway defending champion Frank Beard, who rallied with 68, tied for second place at 281.

Two oldtimers tuning up for the U.S. Open—Sam Snead, 56, and Dutch Harrison, 58—were in a five-way tie at 282 with Lou Graham, R. H. Sikes and Fred Marti.

Snead shot 73 and Harrison 72 in the final round. Graham had 70, Sikes 71 and Marti 71.

There was a brief service before the start of the final round in memory of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as part of the national day of mourning.

Casper said he didn't know he had a two-shot lead over Hill going into the 18th hole.

★ ★ ★

"I thought it was one shot and I wouldn've played safe," he said. "I was going for the green with my second shot but it didn't work. I was fortunate."

Casper's second shot landed in a creek bank. He took a one-shot penalty to get the ball on level ground and finished with a bogey.

'M' 880 Champion Olympics' Timber

HOUSTON (AP) — The sixth United States Federation Track and Field meet produced the world's best one-half mile time this year and provided a bitter lesson for a one-quarter mile freshman sensation from the University of Texas.

Robert Kutchinski, the Big 10 880-yard champion from Michigan, showed he was of Olympic timber in the two-day meet when he ran a brilliant 1:47.1.

Kutchinski's spikes flew over the rubberized asphalt track of Butler Stadium as he won easily.

That same track had little appeal to 18-year-old David Morton, owner of a 45.5 time in the 440 — the second best this year.

Morton came in a poor fourth far behind Hardee McAlhaney of Tennessee, who set a federation meet record of 46 seconds.

Then Morton quit two-thirds of the way down the track as he anchored the Texas mile relay team. He flopped to the grass, yanked off his spikes and then his socks.

"My feet got too hot," said Morton, who complained the sunbaked track caused blisters on his feet.

★ ★ ★

The track didn't bother Jim Green of Kentucky, who blazed a 9.3 in the 100-yard dash and a 20.9 in the 220 to win the outstanding competitor award.

The only other double winner was Karl Salb of the Jayhawk Track Club, who beat an old Randy Matson mark in the shot put with a heave of 60 feet, 7 inches and won the discus with a throw of 182 feet, 5 inches.

Nine records were set and one tied in the Friday and Saturday meet.

Green said it was one of the best run meets he has ever attended and proclaimed: "I think we can win just about every event in the Olympics in Mexico."

In the team standings, the Jayhawk Track Club walked away with the men's title with 76 points. The Lone Star Track Club took the women's title with 110 points.

World Marks Set in Barbell Meet

YORK, Pa (AP) — Bob Bednarski, of the York Barbell Club, set a pair of world records Sunday in repeating as unlimited champion in the AAU Senior National Weightlifting champion ships here.

Bednarski, the lightest unlimited in national competition at 248 pounds, broke two records held by Russia's Leoid Zhabotinsky.

The 24-year-old York resident pressed 456 ¼ pounds for the first record, bettering Zhabotinsky's mark of 444, then came back to break the clean-and-jerk mark of 483 ¾ with a lift of 486 ¼.

Bednarski totaled 1,280 pounds for three lifts, just 20 pounds short of the world record, also held by Russia's Leorid Zhabotinsky.

Empty Tank in Defeat

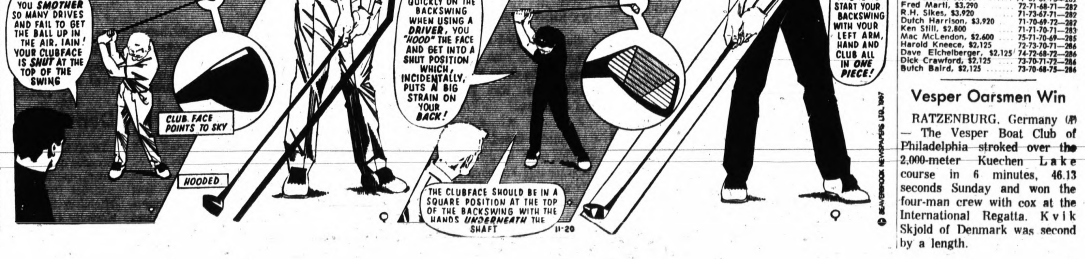

FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium (AP) — When Jackie Stewart's car ran out of gas with only one lap remaining, Bruce McLaren of New Zealand sped past Stewart to win the Grand Prix of Belgium Sunday by 12 seconds over Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico.

Vesper Oarsmen Win

RATZENBURG, Germany (AP) — The Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia stroked over the 2,000-meter Kuechen Lake course in 6 minutes, 46.13 seconds Sunday and won the four-man crew with cox at the International Regatta. Kvik Skjold of Denmark was second by a length.

Disputes Mar Baseball Activities on Weekend

By the Associated Press

Several players might be fined and at least one looked today to be traded following the confusion and bitterness left by major league baseball's scattered attempts during the weekend to mourn the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

To play or not to play was the problem, and Commissioner William Eckert left the solution to the individual clubs. As a result, five games were postponed Saturday, three Sunday. Saturday afternoon games were set back to night games to start after Kennedy's funeral, but four of those five games ignored the delay in the funeral and started well before the burial, causing disputes and late starts.

★ ★ ★

One such dispute led to the resignation of Milt Pappas as the Cincinnati team's player spokesman and Pappas said his "days with the club are numbered." Another led to the possible fining of Rusty Staub and Bob Aspromonte of Houston and Maury Wills of Pittsburgh for failing to appear for Sunday's game.

"A number of things have come up besides the Sen. Kennedy situation. A chance would be better for all concerned," Pappas said.

STARTED LATE

His resignation followed an argument with Manager Dave Bristol over whether the Saturday game against St. Louis should be played because of the funeral delay. The game started 45 minutes late after being rescheduled to a night game.

Houston postponed one game of its doubleheader against Pittsburgh and delayed the start of the other to 9:30 p.m., EDT, still before the funeral.

★ ★ ★

New York Mets players voted not to play against San Francisco Saturday, and the game was postponed when the club backed them up. There was a rumor that Vice President Club Feeney of the host San Francisco club would sue the Mets for $80,000 losses caused by the postponement. But Feeney denied it and said no such consideration was given.

But a dispute arose in Houston when Staub, Aspromonte and Wills failed to show for the Houston-Pittsburgh game.

Houston player representative Dave Giusti said his team voted to play the game on the national day of mourning only because of "very definite economic pressures" from General Manager Spec Richardson. The Astros earlier had voted not to play.

★ ★ ★

An earlier report said that any Astros who didn't play would be fined $3,000. Richardson said he knew Staub, hitting .320, and Aspromonte would not play.

WILL PLAY

"I haven't decided what action I'm going to take, but I haven't contemplated anything that would keep them from playing ball."

On Wills, Pittsburgh manager Larry Shepard said a possible fine, "will be up to Joe (General Manager Joe Brown)."

But with all the turmoil, baseball games in eight cities Sunday drew 259,862 people, including 56,614 in New York and 52,938 in Detroit for bat days and 33,977 in Washington for a benefit game for the Children's Hospital.

TELLING THE STORY—Los Angeles pitcher Don Drysdale, shown pitching in the third inning of the game against the Philadelphia Phillies, Saturday night, set a major league record of 56⅓ scoreless innings when Phillie Roberto Pena grounded out to help Drysdale break the mark held by Walter Johnson. Drysdale upped the mark to 58⅔ before the Phillies broke the string.

Funeral Rites for Ex-Sports Scribe Slated

Services for long time sportswriter Tommy Devine, who died at the age of 54 Saturday following complications after major surgery, will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at St. Owens Church in Bloomfield Township.

The body is at the William Sullivan Funeral Home in Royal Oak. Burial will be in Maysville, Ky., where Devine was born.

★ ★ ★

Devine was United Press International sports editor of Ohio, longtime sportswriter of the Detroit Free Press and the Miami News and most recently he has been the publicity director of the Detroit Race Course for four years.

★ ★ ★

The family has requested that no flowers be sent, but those wishing to send remembrances should instead send their checks to the Tommy Devine Memorial fund at Wayne State University's school of Journalism.

Clippers Out to Hold Class A League Lead

The Clippers try to regain their slim hold on first place tonight in the Class A Baseball League at Jaycee Park after M.G. Collision and Local-653 posted wins Sunday to force a three-way tie.

The Clippers were idle Sunday and saw their 2-0 mark matched by defending champ M.G. who wrecked Uncle Charlie's Pet Shop, 18-0, and the unionmen who downed Talbott Lumber, 6-2.

Local-594 cracked the win column at the expense of winless Pass Excavating, 8-2, in the third game.

★ ★ ★

M.G.'s victory was an abbreviated romp, the game ending at the middle of the fifth inning due to the 10-run-lead "mercy" rule. The winners tallied 12 times in the second inning to take an insurmountable 16-0 lead.

BIG BATS

Rick Pankey, who Clouted a two-run homer in the first, produced two doubles in the big second to finish with four runs batted in. Jerry Harkey had a double and triple for four rbi's. Hurlers Mike Vidor and Jack McCloud shared a one-hitter.

★ ★ ★

A five-run fourth inning that required just one hit — a two-run single by Gene Luppino — featured Local-594's conquest of Pass. Bud Williams rapped a triple and double and Chet Woodmore had two rbi's, also.

McDonagh Marathon Winner

Irishman Has 'Malty' Winning Ways

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP) — Jim McDonagh, a smiling Irishman from New York City, is a running add for beer. He claims the brew plays a key role in his success in marathons.

"I train on eight bottles of beer every day," the 40-year-old building superintendent said Sunday after winning the sixth U.S. Olympic marathon trial in blistering 96-degree heat.

"I got ready for this marathon by drinking 16 bottles of beer and two bottles of Irish ale from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday," he said.

★ ★ ★

McDonagh, runner-up in the 1967 National AAU marathon here held in 97-degree heat, conquered the hilly-sun-baked course in methodical fashion, covering the 26 miles, 385 yards in 2 hours, 46 minutes, 51 seconds.

"I was tired after the first three miles, but I got stronger as the race progressed," he said. "I felt stronger on the last two miles than at any time during the race. I feel I could go another 25 miles right now."

Bob Scharf of Chevy Chase, Md., running in his first marathon since last October, closed strongly, but was unable to overtake McDonagh and finished second in 2:48.53.

"He made a good run at me, but I felt great," McDonagh said. "I knew I had it when we hit the hills with about two miles to go."

The intense heat and the rugged course took a toll and only six runners finished under three hours, considered a slow time for a marathon.

Ed Walkwitz of South Hadley, Mass., was third in 2:55.10, James Green of Lynn, Mass., fourth in 2:56.59, Bill Gordon of New York fifth in 2:58.51 and Leo Duart of Martha's Vineyard, Mass., sixth in 2:59.14.

Johnny Kelley, a seven-time National AAU champion and a U.S. representative in the 1956 and 1960 Olympics, wilted and finished 13th. The 37-year-old Groton, Conn., schoolteacher was timed in 3:07.40.

The 19th in McDonagh, who was this year's Boston A.A. marathon, qualified for a trip to Alamosa, Colo., where the nation's top runners will compete in August for Olympic team berths.

Miss Mann by Four Shots

Carol Wins Tourney in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Playing without a bogey for the entire round, Carol Mann fired a three-under-par 69 Sunday to win the fourth annual Bluegrass Invitational Golf Tournament by four strokes.

Sandra Haynie, also shooting a final round 69, finished second with 214, an effort worth $1,640.

Kathy Whitworth, who was tied with Miss Mann for the lead after Saturday's second round, soared to a 77, five over par, Sunday and finished third at 218 for $1,360. Miss Whitworth's downfall was the front nine on which she shot 42, including a triple bogey 8 on the sixth hole.

The tournament was played at Hunting Creek Country Club.

Tigers Select Dennis Primeau

2 Ex-Northville Stars Picked

Two Northville diamond stars were picked by major league baseball teams last week as more than 1,000 free agents were chosen and 137 players who hadn't signed pro pacts were redrafted.

The Detroit Tigers claimed this spring's Mustang diamond leader, Dennis Primeau, as an infielder at the Class A level. He is expected to sign with the Tigers and play in the Florida rookie league at Sarasota.

★ ★ ★

Former Northville ace right-hander Steve Evans, a sophomore who was 4-4 at the University of Michigan this spring, was taken on the first round of the special phase (redraft) by the St. Louis Cardinals.

He, too, is reportedly ready to sign a pro contract. If so, he would join former Southfield High School bonus prospect Ted Simmons who signed with the Cardinals last year and currently is hitting the ball hard at Modesto, Calif.

2 WOLVERINES

The Tigers took two U. of M. players in the special phase: Big Ten batting champ Elliott Maddox of Union, N.J., (an outfielder) and right-hander hurler John Hurley from Staten Island, N.Y.

They also claimed in the redraft Californians Ron Wayne (left-hander hurler) and Steve Smith (6-2 infielder), plus right-hander pitcher Barry Sheldon of East Batavia, N.Y.

Other collegians in the state taken again in the draft were was Mel Behney, MSU pitcher by Cincinnati; Steve Garvey, MSU third baseman by Los Angeles; and Dale Dunham, CMU pitcher by Cleveland.

In all, Detroit selected 13 prospects from Michigan for its Class A affiliates. Previously, the Tigers chose three high-caliber prospects for the major league, AAA and AA rosters.

They were (in order of selection) Bob Robinson, 6-1 left-handed hitting outfielder from Virginia, and two New Jerseyans: Bob Molinaro (6-1 lefty outfielder) and Ray Blosse (6-1 right-handed moundsman).

★ ★ ★

Of the 50 players drafted by the Bengals, 28 are pitchers (18 right-handers) and 13 are infielders (including four catchers). Among the non-mound prospects, only one candidate was listed as a switch-hitter and 9 of the 22 are left-handed swingers.

The biggest player taken by Detroit is Ghioan Larry Lohse, a 6-4, 210-pound southpaw pitcher. Close behind is another lefty hurler, 6-3, 210-pound Henry Hyde of Chicago.

Anchor Bay outfielder Mark Grove's 6-3, 205-pound frame is the biggest among the state selections.

★ ★ ★

The state prospects chosen by the Tigers:

Pitchers — Tom Casteller, Taylor; Frank Fisher, Wayne; Daryl Busen, Dearborn Heights; Marv Lane, Detroit; Barry Pertler, Gaines; Bill Puryera, Highland Park; and Mark Pratt, Monroe.

Outfielders — Mark Grove, New Baltimore; Matt Rockwood, Grand Rapids; and Wayne Hamilton, New Boston; (also Lane). Infielders — John Zberocot (catcher), St. Clair Shores; Dennis Primeau, Novi; Shawn Howitt, Battle Creek; (also Hamilton).

French Title to Amateur Tennis Ace

PARIS (AP) — Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones, a tennis professional, got $600, but the glory went to amateur Nancy Richey.

Miss Richey, of San Angelo, Tex., defeated Britain's Mrs. Jones 5-7, 6-4, 6-1 Sunday and won the women's singles title of the French Tennis Championships.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jones is one of four professionals under American promoter George MacCall. They had the four top seedings in this tournament, and all were defeated.

★ ★ ★

Miss Richey ousted Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., in the semifinals. The two other pros are Rosemary Casals of San Francisco and Francois Durr of France.

★

Mrs. Jones looked like she was going to win in straight sets as she forced Miss Richey into many errors in the first set and took a 4-2 lead in the second.

LONG RALLY

Miss Richey, however, reeled off 15 straight points and clinched the set with three love games. The Texas girl dominated the third set.

Mrs. Jones won $600 as runner-up. The first prize of $1,000 went back into pot since an amateur won.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jones also won $400 when she teamed with Miss Durr to win the doubles Saturday.

★ ★ ★

In mixed doubles semifinals Sunday, Mrs. King and Australian Owen Davidson defeated Miss Casals and South African Bob Hewitt 5-7, 6-3 and 6-1 and Miss Durr and Jean Claude Barclay of France eliminated South Africans Annette du Plooy and Frew McMillan 6-1, 6-1.

BAT BARRAGE—It was "bat day" at Tiger Stadium yesterday and a crowd of 52,938 fans, mostly children watched the Tigers lose a 2-0 verdict to the Cleveland Indians. The children, when accompanied by adults, were given the "Little League" bats upon entering the park. It was the largest Detroit attendance at a game since 1961. The Tigers won two of the three games from the Indians in the series.

Slugger After Trade

Phillies, Allen Feud

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Anybody interested in a young, experienced third baseman who can hit 30 to 40 homers a year in the National League? If you can afford his $65,000-a-year salary, Rich Allen would probably like to play for your team.

While the Philadelphia Phillies may not want to part with their super hitter right away, Allen apparently is ready to leave on a moment's notice. Their alliance seems to be over with a report that he refused to play ball, although physically fit.

★ ★ ★

In a story in today's edition of the Philadelhia Inquirer, Allen reportedly was malingering so the team would trade him. The newspaper pointed out that the controversial player "resents authority and wants out."

He also is disenchanted with Philadelphia fans, who seem to boo him everytime he steps on the field.

"Allen is trying to effect his transfer from Philadelphia by methods that those who knew him as a rookie star would not have believed possible four years ago," the Inquirer said. "They include an unwillingness to play even though physically able.

"Manager Gene Mauch has tried every way he knows how to get Allen's cooperation in recent seasons. But nothing seems to work. Allen resents authority, and he wants out."

Allen, who has hit over .300 since he was voted Rookie-of-the-Year five seasons ago, was not immediately available for comment. He was with the team as it journeyed east from its series with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

General Manager John Quinn of the Phillies was available — but he wasn't talking.

"I just don't have any comment," he said, "The team is coming back from Los Angeles so I won't have anything to say until I have an opportunity to talk to Gene (Mauch)."

SEVERAL FINES

Allen has been a problem for the Phillies over the years. He has been fined several times for eccentric behavior and his rift with management has become so deep lately that he doesn't even talk to Quinn.

The latest episode could be a dramatic turning point in Allen's career.

He injured a groin muscle while horseback riding May 29 and has not played regularly since.

★ ★ ★

Asked recently how the injury was, Allen replied that it still hurt. Mauch, when queried, said that Allen's return to the line-up was a day-to-day proposition.

★ ★ ★

Allen was reported to recently have raced a teammate across the outfield in San Francisco's Candlestick Park without wincing.

Cecil Turner Turns Pro

Track Speedster Joins NFL Bears

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — When Cecil Turner arrived at Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo three years ago, he wondered what he'd gotten himself into.

Turner had grown up in a Washington, D.C., household as one of 12 children and the small California city was, to say the least, different.

★ ★ ★

"I wanted to leave at first," said Turner, a couple of minutes before he went out to dominate the NCAA's college division track championships Saturday. "It was so quiet. I couldn't get used to it."

But Turner stayed and isn't sorry he did. Besides becoming a world-class track performer, he did so well on the football field that the Chicago Bears made him a fifth-round National Football League draft choice.

TURNS PRO

This Friday Turner bids good-bye to track and says hello to pro football when he reports to the Bears' rookie camp where he will be tried both as a pass-catching flanker and as a defensive free safety.

"I'm pretty sure I'll make the team," said Turner, "I like to catch the ball. I can hit too, but catching the ball and scoring is the main thing."

★ ★ ★

Turner doesn't think his relatively small size—5-foot-11½ and 180 pounds—will hurt him. He points to the success of another track star in football; Bob Hayes.

"I think I could give Hayes a little trouble," he said.

★ ★ ★

Turner's victory in the 100 meters at 10.3 and the long jump at 24-3½ as well as a second in the 200 meters and a leg on a winning 440-yard relay team led Cal Poly Slo to the team title at he meet with 62 points.

The University of California at Santa Barbara was second with 48 points, Nevada third with 40 and San Diego State fourth with 33.

'BLISTING' PACE

Grant Colehour of Eastern Kentucky followed up his 10,000-meter victory of Friday with a triumph in the 5,000 Saturday in 14:29.0 despite blisters all over his feet.

★ ★ ★

Other winners were Clyde Glosson of Trinity, Tex., in the 200 at 20.7, Jay Elbel of UC Santa Barbara in the 400 at 46.7, Mike Eck of Fullerton State in the 800 at 1:50.4 and John Kerr of Ball State in the 1,500 at 3:47.4.

★ ★ ★

Vic Simmons of Nevada won the 110 meter high hurdles at 14.0, Andy Bell of American University the 400-meter hurdles at 51.5, and Gary Tuttle of Humboldt State the 3,000-meter steeplechase at 9:10.4.

★ ★ ★

UC Santa Barbara won the mile relay in 3:12.0 and Cal Poly SLO's winning 440 relay time was 40.4.

In the field events, Clayton Larson of Hayward State took the shot put at 58-4¼. Peter Chen of American won the pole vault at 16-1. Darol Wintle of Weber State took the javelin at 239-8 and Al Flores of Cleveland State won the high jump at 6-8.

U.S. Sweeps Ecuador Net Cuppers, 5-0

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The indoor acrylic fiber court of the Charlotte - Coliseum may have been a factor that contributed to the 5-0 sweep by the United States over Ecuador in the Davis Cup American Zone tennis finals.

Pancho Guzman, defeated by Clark Graebner 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 in one of Sunday's two concluding singles matches said: "I feel that I would have beaten Graebner if we had played on Clay.

★ ★ ★

"I was playing well enough. Clay would have made up to a 50 per cent difference."

The Americans were beaten 3-2 by Ecuador on clay courts in Guayaquil last year.

The U.S. team next will meet the European champion on the series of preliminary tests for the right to play defending is Cup champion Australia later later this year.

In the second of Sunday's two concluding matches, Arthur Ashe defeated Miguel Olvera 6-1, 6-3, 6-0.

The first time a U.S. player lost either a service or set occurred during Sunday's first game when Guzman broke Graebner's service twice in the first set.

The Americans had taken an insurmountable 3-0 lead Saturday by winning the doubles as Bob Lutz and Graebner teamed up to defeat Olvera and Guzman 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

Reds' Manager Not Making Road Trip

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds left Sunday night for Chicago without Manager Dave Bristol, who plans to enter Cincinnati's Christ Hospital for observation and examination.

Dr. George Ballou, team physician, said he advised Bristol to undergo hospital tests as the manager has been bothered by a persistent cough and frequent colds.

★ ★ ★

"I've just been coughing a lot but I'll be all right," Bristol said after Sunday's doubleheader with St. Louis. He said he plans to join the club in St. Louis this weekend.

★ ★ ★

Coach Vern Benson will manage the Reds while Bristol is absent, club officials said.

The Reds, beginning a 10-day road trip, go against the Cubs Monday in the first of a four-game series.

German Wins in Rain

BERTCHESGADEN, Germany (AP) — Gerhard Mitter of West Germany drove through rain and fog Sunday to win the second stage of this year's European Auto Mountain Climb Championship.

Wears Korean Crown

SEOUL (AP) — Chen Ching-po of Nationalist China won the $2,000 first prize in the Korean Open Golf Tournament Sunday by one stroke with a five-under-par 283.

NHL Meetings Start Today

Vancouver Is Seeking Newest Franchise

MONTRAEL (AP) — The National Hockey League opened its annual meeting today, and the owners of the Vancouver Canucks of the Western League were expected to apply for an NHL franchise.

The Montreal Canadiens also had a news conference scheduled for 9:30 a.m., EDT, a half-hour before the four-day meeting opened. The Canadiens were expected to replace retired coach Toe Blake with Floyd Curry.

★ ★ ★

Last week, NHL President Clarence Campbell said that no further expansion is being considered immediately and none of the current 12 teams in the two-division league is expected to move to another city.

However, David Molson, president of the Canadiens, has let it be known he will ask his fellow governors to set up a committee to study the Vancouver presentation and any other bids.

★ ★ ★

The current NHL line-up is Montreal, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, New York and Toronto in the East and Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Minnesota, Oakland and Los Angeles in the West.

African Refugee Haven Has Its Problems

(EDITOR'S NOTE — In the north of Uganda is the African refugee settlement of Agago. It was designed for some 2,000 refugees from strife-torn neighboring countries. But now its population has about doubled and so have its problems.)

By C. C. MINICLIER

AGAGO, Uganda (AP) — "Uganda Uhuru" is branded into each of the small wooden seats Salome Askima makes in his mud hut in this refugees settlement in the north of Uganda.

Askima, a refugee from the Congo who has lived here since 1965 with his wife, Farausu, has found Uhuru — freedom — from fear and want. They were among the early arrivals and were allotted farmland and storage shed.

* * *

But Agago, designed for 2,000 refugees, now has 4,000 inhabitants. More than 500 of the newest arrivals live in four long mud-walled, windowless, thatched roof structures built four years ago as the reception center. There is no land for them to build on. Two thousand acres of the site are unusable because of rocks.

New arrivals, mostly from the Sudan 60 miles to the north, often have spent days or weeks in the bush en route and arrive frequently with only the clothing on their backs, or around their waists. They have no blankets or cooking utensils and often sleep on the bare ground with no covering but the roof over their heads.

BLANKETS NEEDED

Officials need 1,800 blankets.

The rains have come to Agago, bringing life to freshly planted seeds, growing crops and malaria bearing mosquitoes and bringing teeth-rattling cold to those without adequate shelter or clothing.

There are 165,000 refugees in Uganda, fewer than half of whom live in the 12 government-run, U.N.-aided settlement camps. Before the Nigerian civil was the U.N. High Commission for Refugees estimated there were 650,000 refugees in Africa. Now they say there may be three million more.

FROM NEIGHBORS

Uganda's refugees come primarily from neighboring Rwanda, the Congo and the Sudan. The borders of all four countries fluctuated during the colonial period, and border inhabitants frequently have family as well as tribal ties. All three neighboring countries have been torn by strife.

Two hundred miles to the southwest of Agago, on a high plateau five miles from Lake Albert, the Congolese border, is the newer, less crowded, more fertile settlement of Kyangwali. It is frequently cut off from the outside during the rainy season when the 30-mile dirt access road is flooded.

* * *

Nyiranse Kuye, a woman in her 50s, is a typical resident. She has been a refugee since 1959, when she fled Rwanda and entered the Congo with most of the other 5,476 Kyangwali refugees. Five years later she fled the terror of the warring eastern Congo and entered Uganda. Many of her friends and family died of malaria and other diseases at the first settlement in Uganda.

The present inhabitants were moved to Kyangwali over 18 months ago and spent the first year clearing virgin forest for their farmland.

SEEDS DIED

The land outside her hut was tilled by a settlement tractor donated by a private relief agency, but no seed was planted as the April rains began. Kyangwali's residents remember last December when their seed sprouted and died because the rains failed.

Eager refugee volunteers teach school-age children under the shade of big trees at Kyangwali and U.N.-financed schools and a dispensary are being built.

* * *

There is hope, tempered by years of disappointment.

Uganda, which has contributed $4 million to aid the refugees and administer the settlements, is trying to help the refugees achieve self-sufficiency and an exonomic standard compatible with Uganda citizens.

FACILITIES SHARED

Where the U.N. has provided bore holes for water, schools or dispensaries, Ugandans living near the isolated settlements are permitted to share the facilities to avoid the impression the refugees are a favored group.

During a recent visit to a refugee settlement President Milton Obote said that neither his government nor the U.N. High Commission Refugees, which has given some $2.5 million in aid, were able to provide everything required to run the settlements.

* * *

He urged the refugees to concentrate on keeping the peace and cultivating their crops and ignore those who might urge them to cross the border to their former homes and form themselves into an army.

Stock Exec Calls Tax Hike Essential

ALFRED, N.Y. (AP) — Ralph S. Saul, president of the American Stock Exchange, said Sunday, "A tax increase this year is absolutely essential."

Saul spoke at Alfred University after being awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

He said, "If we do not get a tax increase and order the priorities of government expenditures, then, in my opinion, we face a five per cent cost of living increase each year in the future."

Police Probe Blast at Detroit Car Wash

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police today were investigating the mysterious explosion which destroyed an auto wash in Detroit Sunday that once had been owned by a man with reputed connections with the Mafia.

★ ★ ★

An expert from the Detroit police scientific lab said there was a strong odor of dynamite after the blast at the AAA Autowash at 12825 Gratiot.

The explosion also damaged an export-import building next door.

Detroit police said the autowash was owned by Camell Hanna, 50, of Grosse Pointe Woods.

It was purchased in recent years from Santo Perrone, 72, of Grosse Pointe Woods, who lost a leg in an explosion at a car near the auto wash, Detroit police said.

In testimony before a U.S. Senate committee in 1963, the then Detroit Police Commissioner, George Edwards, identified Perrone as a leader of the Mafia. Perrone vigorously denied it.

★ ★ ★

No one was injured in the explosion. Police had no estimate of damage.

Change Nets Win in Dash

CINCINNATI (AP) — Officials of the annual diaper dash at Cincinnati's Coney Island reversed the field Sunday when front-running infants began retracing knee marks to the starting line.

But it proved to be a simple maneuver: The fathers, who were at the finish line scooted around the "track" to the starting line occupied by the mothers who in turn replaced the dads at the finish.

★ ★ ★

Eleven-month-old Tom Frankey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frankey of White Oak, set the pace—with twin brother Ted taking second a half length behind in the crawling contest.

Fund Honors King, RFK

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. J. Gerald Harvey, copastor of the Willow Grove Baptist Church on the near west side, announced Saturday a drive to raise funds for a $25-million memorial fund in honor of U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., both victims of assassins' bullets.

The money will be used to establish a training center for the unemployed, a recreation center for Jeffries Housing project, and a day nursery for working mothers, Dr. Harvey said.

New Officers for B'nai B'rith

A Waterford Township man, Leon Sirlin of 2569 Elsinore, was installed recently as president of the Pontiac Lodge 850, B'nai B'rith.

Other officers include John Rothchild of 2883 Aspen Lane, Bloomfield Township, first vice president; Bernard Toby of 975 Canterbury, second vice president; Barry Keller of 115 Chippewa, recording secretary; Samuel Messing of 37 Rosshire, financial secretary; and Joe Jacobson of 30 Salmer, treasurer.

The officers were installed at a dinner at the Mayfair Catering in Detroit.

Two Dispute Mace Report

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Two civil rights leaders today took issue with a University of Michigan report which said the riot control weapon Mace can be used with safety although it is potentially dangerous when used incorrectly.

Dr. Albert A. Wheeler, Michigan chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said, "This report indicates that if you're using highly trained personnel, under controlled laboratory conditions, where researchers are not angry and the individuals being tested are alert and conscious and normal, then the use of Mace may be safe."

Wheeler, a professor of dermatology at the University of Michigan continued, "The report indicates that under other circumstances, Mace may cause injury or death." "The conditions under which Mace would be used would probably not be those of the laboratory," he added.

Ezra Rowry, director of the Ann Arbor chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality said, "The university is painting a picture that is a lie. The amount of time for testing was not sufficient to determine if there are long-term effects."

The U-M study, released Friday, was conducted by the school's College of Pharmacy. It was initiated at the request of Ann Arbor Police Chief Walter Krasny. Krasny had suspended the use of Mace by Ann Arbor police after protests by civil rights groups and now says he has not yet decided whether the suspension will be ended.

Opening lead—♠ Q

BY OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Oswald: "There are lots of bridge plays that come up all the time in one form or another. These are sometimes called 'book' plays because they either have been or should have been discussed in a book some time or other."

JACOBY

Jim: "One of these plays occurs when a defender apparently wastes a high card. Sometimes he does this in order to keep out of the lead, on other occasions to give the declarer entry problems."

★ ★ ★

Oswald: "Let's look at a simple case of this. South has a normal opening no-trump, and in a duplicate game the chances are that every South player would open one no-trump and play the hand right there against a spade opening.

The play would start out fairly standard fashion. South should win the first spade, since he does not want to give the defense time to start on another suit. Then South should lead his three of clubs. If West is not alert, West will play the five and dummy's nine will force East's king."

Jim: "From then on, there will be no way for the defense to keep declarer from making four club tricks in addition to his own top cards. He will make two no-trump unless the defense fouls up its discarding and lets him steal a ninth trick somewhere."

★ ★ ★

Oswald: "If West is alert, he will see that his queen of clubs isn't going to be worth anything if left in his hand. True, if East started with jack-eight-deuce of clubs, South could rise with dummy's ace of clubs and finesse successfully against the jack, but then South would have no way to get back to dummy for the last two clubs."

Jim: "If West does play the queen and South rises with dummy's ace. South will lose his contract. His correct play is to let the queen hold and let East's king make the next club trick, whereupon South will make one no-trump, but not the overtrick."

What do you bid?

Portraits Found of 35 First Ladies

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — It took two years and a lot of effort, but state archivists have finally located portraits of Colorado's 35 first ladies, from territorial times to the present.

The assignment came from Mrs. John Love, wife of the governor, who sought the collection for the Governor's Mansion.

Descendants of the governors, many of them still prominent in state affairs, and chambers of commerce, newspapers, local and county officials, historical societies, libraries, even postmasters, all helped to track down the pictures.

King Suspect's Arrest Ends Long Hunt

By United Press International

British European Airways Flight 075 from Lisbon rolled up to the cavernous International Terminal at London's Heathrow Airport, the whine of its triple jets dying abruptly, and disgorged its 96 passengers.

Most of them, British businessmen and tourists returning from the continent, trudged up the ramp and joined lines for customs and passport checks.

★ ★ ★

One of the passengers, a slight, dark-haired man with horn-rimmed glasses and an oddly protruding left ear, turned away and strode toward the transient lounge, where travelers could wait between flights.

Nervously, he reached up and tugged at his ear. His light raincoat flapped against his legs, hiding the bulge of the pistol in his pocket.

LEADEN SKIES

It was 7:50 A.M. in London. The leaden skies and chill air would soon give way to warm and welcome sunshine.

It was 3:50 A.M. in New York, a city steeped in grief for Robert F. Kennedy. The United States was in mourning, stunned by an assassin's bullet for the second time in 65 days, for the third time in four and a half years.

★ ★ ★

It was 12:50 at Memphis, Tenn., where wilted wreaths and a marble plaque mark Room 306 at the Lorraine Hotel. It was there, on April 4, that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was slain, and the massive manhunt for his killer was all but forgotten in the fresh grief of Kennedy's death.

As the passenger from Lisbon hurried toward the transient lounge, a burly man with an official air stepped beside him, gently took his arm, and asked him to step into a nearby office. inquiries, he explained, needed to be made.

HE WAS CALM

Around the vast terminal, dozens of men watched tensely. Hundreds more noticed nothing. Calmly, the passenger from Lisbon allowed himself to be steered into the office, ending the greatest manhunt of the century.

Eight hours later, as six cardinals, 18 bishops and 200 priests were celebrating Requiem Mass for Robert Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark in Washington announced the arrest of the man accused of assassinating Dr. King.

★ ★ ★

James Earl Ray, the small-time, Midwestern thug charged in Memphis with King's murder, was whisked from Heathrow Airport to the 19th century Cannon Row police station by Chief Superintendent Thomas Butler, head of Scotland Yard's flying squad.

He was charged with carrying a concealed weapon and obtaining a Canadian passport by fraudulent means, and was warned that anything he said might be used against him.

STILL UNANSWERED

His arrest, the result of a dozen Canadian Mounties spending 15 nights rummaging through passports, answered some of the questions of how James Earl Ray disappeared. But the man still is shrouded in mystery.

Despite Atty. Gen. Clark's technical statement that King's killer acted alone, most investigators believe the assassination was hired, and the killer's escaped carefully arranged.

★ ★ ★

Ray, it was revealed, arrived in Montreal on April 8, four days after King died. He left there on May 6, bearing a shiny new passport issued in the name of Ramon George Sneyd.

Ramon George Sneyd is a Toronto policeman. But Ray apparently produced a fake birth certificate, showing that he was Sneyd, and listing Sneyd's actual parents.

NEVER HEARD OF HIM

Policeman Sneyd, his superiors say, never heard of James Earl Ray outside the investigation.

Neither did Eric S. Galt, who lives about two miles from Sneyd in the Toronto suburb of Scarborough. But it was under the name of Eric Starvo Galt, the FBI says, that Ray purchased in Birmingham, Ala., the .30-06 rifle that killed King.

★ ★ ★

The real Glat's middle name is St. Vincent. He is 52, 12 years older than Ray. But he is roughly Ray's height, and roughly his weight. He has a scar on his forehead and a scar on his palm. So does James Earl Ray.

"There were so many similarities," said Eric St. Vincent Galt, "that I was afraid someone might be tempted to think I really was the one and would take a potshot at me."

LOOSE LAWS

The simplest explanation, authorities think, is that someone in Canada is adapting identities for sale to persons who want to make use of the nation's loose passport laws.

Ray — traveling as Galt — visited Canada at least once before King was killed. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police revealed that he appeared in Montreal in September 1967 and spent six weeks there. This trip to Canada was not mentioned by the FBI when it issued its warrant for Ray although it mentioned his trips from Birmingham to New Orleans, Atlanta, Los Angeles and Mexico.

★ ★ ★

Ray turned up in Toronto April 8 — four days after King was killed — and rented a room under the name of Paul Bridgeman. Not surprisingly, a man named Paul Bridgeman lives not far from Constable Sneyd and his neighbor, Eric S. Galt.

He purchased, for $345, a plane ticket from Toronto to London through the Kennedy Travel Bureau. The agency handled all the details — including mailing his two fuzzy photographs and his faked birth certificate to Ottawa to get his passport in the name of Sneyd.

NO IMPRESSION

Mrs. Lillian Spencer, who sold him the ticket, said he "made absolutely no impression on me at all. He completely faded into the wallpaper."

Police refused to speculate in detail on how Ray, without considerable and expert assistance, could have faked a birth certificate — using the name of a real man and his parents — so quickly.

★ ★ ★

"He must have had access to some confidential information not generally available to the public," said Toronto Deputy Police Chief Bernard Simmons.

Ray departed Toronto on May 6 and, on May 8, he appeared in Lisbon, Portugal.

'RICH TOURIST'

He took a $2.10 a day room in the Hotel Portugal and, according to the clerk there, "behaved like a rich tourist, spenindng the nights in nightclubs and coming back late, sometimes at 6 in the morning."

★ ★ ★

But Inspector Jose Paco said Ray behaved like any normal tourist and "did nothing worth attracting our attention."

On May 16 he walked into the Canadian Embassy in Portugal, complained that his name was misspelled on his passport, and demanded another. The passport read Sneya, he pointed out, and it should have been Sneyd. Officials agreed and gave him a new one. He went away with the old one, too.

The next day he left Lisbon and his movements from May 17 until his arrest Saturday have not been revealed — although he evidently spent the week before his arrest in London.

SOLDIER OF FORTUNE

A London reporter said a man who identified himself as George Sneyd called him several times, wanting to know how he could become a soldier of fortune in Angola. The reporter said he gave him an address in Brussels.

Ray had a ticket to Brussels when he was arrested at Heathrow Airport. If he was, indeed, the caller, he must have made only an overnight return to Lisbon from London. Strangely, he might have avoided arrest had he booked his flight from Lisbon to Brussels through Paris instead of London.

In Paris, customs was still snarled by the strikes. But in London, Scotland Yard was waiting for him.

The alert for Ramon George Sneyd was issued last week. It came after a dozen Mounties launched a massive search through the more than 200,000 Canadian passports issued since Ray's September visit to Montreal.

SEARCH SECRET

They worked only at night and on weekends — keeping their search secret even from employes of the passport department. They set aside every passport bearing a picture that remotely resembled the FBI photographs of Ray.

One of those was of Sneyd, and when it proved to be fraudulent, the FBI, Scotland Yard and Lisbon police were alerted.

There were, apparently, other sources of information. A spokesman for the Mounties said they had learned "Ray had travelling plans" and were ready for an arrest as early as Friday.

And you may enroll during this Limited Enrollment Period without having to see a company representative and without any red tape whatsoever. All you need do is mail the Enrollment Form below together with just $1 before the expiration date. It's that easy!

Why You Need Extra Cash In Addition To Ordinary Hospital Insurance

Anyone who has been in the hospital recently knows ordinary hospital insurance—even Medicare—simply will not cover everything. You have to pay many "extras" out of your own pocket—and it can add up to hundreds of dollars in a frighteningly short time.

But even if your ordinary hospital insurance covers most of your medical and hospital bills, what about the bills that keep piling up at home?

If you, as husband, father and breadwinner are suddenly hospitalized, your income stops, your expenses go up. Even if you have some kind of "salary insurance" it probably won't come close to replacing your full-time pay.

If your wife is suddenly hospitalized, who will look after the family, do the laundry, the marketing, the cleaning? You may have to take time off from your job—or hire full-time domestic help—to take care of things at home.

If one of your children is suddenly hospitalized you will certainly spare no expense. You wouldn't even think of the cost.

If you're over 65 and are suddenly hospitalized, Medicare, fine as it is, won't pay all of your hospital expenses or any household expenses. Most senior citizens won't want to use up savings it may have taken a lifetime to accumulate... they want to retain their independence and not become a "burden" to their children or community.

Without "extra cash" protection, a hospital emergency may leave you with savings gone, debts you can't pay, peace of mind shattered—even your recovery can be seriously delayed by money worries!

How The Plan Protects You And Your Family

Now, with the unique "extra cash" protection of The Doctors Hospital Plan you can avoid these worries because you can be assured of extra cash income when you or any covered member of your family goes to the hospital. No matter how large your family, no matter what your age or occupation and without any qualifications whatsoever, you can choose any of the four low-cost plans shown at right to meet your family's special needs.

In addition to the "extra cash" hospital benefits, you get all these valuable "extra" features:

Your "Health-Bank Account" Grows Each Month

Here's a wonderful benefit, no matter which plan you choose—almost like having an extra "Bank Account." When your policy is issued, your insurance provides up to $10,000, $7,500, or $5,000—depending upon the plan you choose. This is your "Health-Bank Account."

Then, every month your policy is in force, a sum equal to your regular monthly premium (including your first month) is actually added to your maximum! When you have claims, your benefits are subtracted from your "account." It's much like putting money in and taking it out of a bank account.

Enjoy Life-Long Security

For as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—and we guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state or until the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of your policy has been paid.

You May Actually Come Out "Money Ahead"

Because The Doctors Hospital Plan pays you in addition to any other company's health insurance you carry—individual, group or even Medicare—and because all your extra cash benefits are tax-free, you may leave the hospital many dollars ahead... money you don't have to account for to anyone. Of course, you may have only one like policy with Physicians Mutual.

Enroll For Only $1

Regardless of your age, the size of your family, or the plan you select, you get your first month for only $1.00. If you choose the All-Family Plan—all your eligible children (including future additions) are included at no extra cost. (See box at right for low rates.)

Extra Cash Protection At Surprisingly Low Cost

How can a hospital plan offer so much for so little? The answer is simple: We have lower total sales costs. The Doctors Hospital Plan is a mass enrollment plan. All business is conducted between you and the company by mail. No salesmen or investigators are used. It all adds up to real savings we share with you by giving you high quality protection at low cost.

CHOOSE THE PLAN THAT SUITS YOU BEST

ALL-FAMILY PLAN $10,000 MAXIMUM

PAYS YOU: $100 weekly ($14.28 daily) extra cash when you are hospitalized. $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) when your wife is hospitalized. $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each eligible child hospitalized.

If yours is a young, growing family, we recommend the All-Family Plan. You and your wife are covered at once for accidents, for new sicknesses after 30 days, and for maternity benefits after 10 months. And all your children (including future additions) between 3 months of age and under 21 are included at no extra cost as long as they are unmarried and live at home.

ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN $7,500 MAXIMUM

PAYS YOU: $100 weekly ($14.28 daily) extra cash when you are hospitalized. $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each eligible child hospitalized.

If you are the only parent living with your children, we suggest the One-Parent Family Plan. This plan has been tailored to help meet your particular needs. It covers you and all unmarried children living at home between 3 months of age and under 21. Under this plan, of course, future additions are not included since no maternity benefit is provided in the One-Parent Family Plan.

You pay only $7.95 a month and you get your first month for only $1.00!

You pay only $5.95 a month and you get your first month for only $1.00!

HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN $7,500 MAXIMUM

PAYS YOU: $100 weekly ($14.28 daily) extra cash when you are hospitalized. $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) when your wife is hospitalized.

If you have no children, or if your children are grown and no longer dependent on you, you will want the Husband-Wife Plan.

INDIVIDUAL PLAN $5,000 MAXIMUM

PAYS YOU: $100 weekly ($14.28 daily) extra cash when you are hospitalized.

If you are living by yourself, or if you wish to cover only yourself or one family member, choose the Individual Plan.

You pay only $5.95 a month and you get your first month for only $1.00!

You pay only $3.50 monthly and you get your first month for only $1.00!

On all plans, your "extra cash" benefits are paid from the very first day you enter the hospital, for as long—and for as many times—as you are hospitalized, right up to the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of the plan you select.

Naturally, The Doctors Hospital Plan will cover any new accident or sickness. Accidents are covered immediately. After your policy is 30 days old, you are covered for sicknesses which begin thereafter. There are only these minimum necessary exceptions: pregnancy or any consequence thereof (unless you have the All-Family Plan which covers maternity after the policy is in force for 10 months), war, military service, mental disorder, alcoholism or drug addiction, or conditions covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws.

You are free to go to any hospital of your own choice that makes a charge for room and board, with these exceptions only: nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals or Federal hospitals.

SPECIAL EXTRA BENEFITS!

Whichever plan you choose, you get:

50% INCREASE IN YOUR CASH BENEFITS... if you or any member of your family is hospitalized for cancer (including Leukemia and Hodgkin's Disease), heart attack (acute myocardial infarction, coronary thrombosis and coronary occlusion), or stroke (apoplexy).

If you choose the All-Family Plan or the Husband-Wife Plan, you get in addition:

DOUBLE CASH BENEFITS if both you and your wife are injured and hospitalized at the same time: You get twice the amount—$350 A WEEK!

Important: Here is another real "plus"—if you have been told that anyone in your family is "uninsurable"! Even if one of your covered family members has suffered from chronic ailments in the past—ailments that come back again and again, or are likely to recur—you will be covered for these pre-existing conditions after your policy has been in force for two years!

IF YOU ARE OVER 65

Even though Medicare will pay most of your hospital expenses it will not cover all of your needs. During this limited enrollment, you can get the extra cash protection needed during the high-risk senior years without any qualifications just by using the form below!

It's a fact that people over 65 go to hospitals more often and have larger hospital bills. That's exactly why they need extra cash protection! And that's why some hospital plans won't accept them or charge rates beyond their means. But The Doctors Hospital Plan not only accepts you regardless of age, it gives you easy-to-carry protection that is within your means. If you are over 65 now, or when you become 65, the following modest monthly increase applies. (This is the only increase that can ever be made as long as your policy is in force):

Female on All-Family or Husband-Wife Plan	$2.25
Female on One-Parent Family or Individual Plan	3.00
Male on any Plan	3.00

ABOUT THE NEW DOCTORS HOSPITAL PLAN

1. What is The Doctors Hospital Plan?

The Doctors Hospital Plan is a brand-new, low-cost health protection plan—that pays extra cash direct to you when a covered accident or illness hospitalizes you or a covered member of your family.

2. Why do I need The Doctors Hospital Plan in addition to my regular insurance?

Probably your present hospital insurance won't cover all your hospital expenses, but even if it does, you will still need help to cover all your household expenses when you are hospitalized.

3. Can I collect even if I carry other health insurance?

Yes, The Doctors Hospital Plan pays you in addition to any health insurance you carry, whether individual or group—even in addition to Medicare! And all your benefits are tax-free! Of course, you may have only one like policy with Physicians Mutual.

4. Is there a lot of red tape to qualify?

None at all. Your only qualification is to complete and mail your Enrollment Form by the deadline date shown.

5. Which plan should I choose?

You may choose any of four low-cost plans—you can actually select the exact plan that suits you best!

If yours is a young, growing family, we recommend the ALL-FAMILY PLAN. You and your wife are covered at once for accidents, for new sicknesses after 30 days, and for maternity benefits after 10 months. All your children (and future additions) between 3 months and under 21 are included, at no extra cost, as long as they are unmarried and live at home.

If you are the only parent living with your children, we suggest the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN. This covers you and all unmarried children living at home between 3 months of age and under 21. Under this plan, of course, future additions are not included since no maternity benefit is provided in the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN.

If you have no children, or if your children are grown and no longer dependent on you, you will want the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN.

Or, if you are living by yourself, choose the INDIVIDUAL PLAN.

6. If I become hospitalized, when do my benefits begin?

On all plans, your cash benefits are paid from the very first day you enter the hospital, for as long—and for as many times—as you are hospitalized, up to the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of the plan you choose.

7. How much can I be paid?

Each plan has its own "Aggregate of Benefits," what we call the maximum.

For example, under the ALL-FAMILY PLAN, the maximum is $10,000—$100 a week ($14.28 a day) extra cash income for you; $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) for your wife; $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each of your eligible children.

Under the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN, the maximum is $7,500—$100 weekly ($14.28 daily) for you; $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each of your eligible children.

Under the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN, the maximum is $7,500—$100 weekly ($14.28 daily) for you; $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) for your wife.

Under the INDIVIDUAL PLAN, the maximum is $5,000—$100 a week ($14.28 a day) for you.

8. Are any additional benefits included in The Doctors Hospital Plan?

Yes. You receive a 50% increase in cash benefits if you or any covered family member is hospitalized for cancer (including Leukemia and Hodgkin's Disease), heart attack (acute myocardial infarction, coronary thrombosis and coronary occlusion), or stroke (apoplexy).

9. What are the "double" cash benefits?

If you and your wife are both injured and hospitalized at the same time and are covered by the ALL-FAMILY PLAN or the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN, you get double cash benefits. You get twice the amount—$350 A WEEK!

10. Does this plan pay in any hospital?

You will be covered in any hospital that makes a charge for room and board, except nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals or Federal hospitals.

11. When does my policy go into force?

It becomes effective the very same day we receive your Enrollment Form. Accidents are covered on that date. After your policy is 30 days old, sicknesses which begin thereafter are covered. Under the ALL-FAMILY PLAN, childbirth or pregnancy or any consequence thereof is covered after your policy is in force for 10 months.

12. What if someone in my family has had a health problem that may occur again?

Even if one of your covered family members has suffered from chronic ailments in the past, pre-existing conditions are covered after the policy has been in force for two years.

13. What conditions aren't covered?

Only these minimum necessary exceptions: pregnancy or any consequence thereof (unless you have the ALL-FAMILY PLAN), war, military service, mental disorder, alcoholism or drug addiction, or if something happens "on the job" and is covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws.

14. Can I drop out any time? Can you drop me?

We will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—for as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums. We guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state or until the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of your policy has been paid. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.

15. Why is The Doctors Hospital Plan almost like having an extra "bank account"?

When your policy is issued, your insurance provides up to $10,000, $7,500, or $5,000—depending upon the plan you choose. This is your "Health-Bank Account." Then, every month your policy is in force, a sum equal to your regular monthly premium (including your first month) is actually added to your maximum. When you have claims, benefits are subtracted from your "account"!

16. Will my claims be handled promptly?

Yes. With your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. Your claims will be processed quickly and your checks sent directly to you.

17. Why are the premiums so low?

With The Doctors Hospital Plan, you actually get all these benefits—at such a low cost—because this is a mass enrollment plan—and no salesmen are used. Our volume is higher and our total sales costs are lower.

18. How much does my first month cost?

Only $1.00, regardless of your age, the size of your family or the plan you select. After the first month, if you are under 65, you pay only these low monthly rates: only $7.95 a month for the ALL-FAMILY PLAN; only $5.95 a month for the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN; only $5.95 a month for the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN; only $3.50 a month for THE INDIVIDUAL PLAN. (When you are over 65, premiums increase. See modest increase in box above.)

19. Why should I enroll right now?

Because an unexpected sickness or accident could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force. Remember, if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your $1.00 will be refunded immediately.

Humphrey Nomination Seems Sure, N.Y. Times Says

By The Associated Press

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey stands to inherit such a large share of the national convention delegates left unattached by the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy that his nomination for the presidency seems assured, the New York Times said today.

* * *

This, the Washington story said, was the major conclusion of a survey of the effect of the Kennedy assassination on the Democratic party's choice of a nominee conducted by correspondents of the Times over the weekend.

* * *

The story also said in part:

The state-by-state inquiry indicated that more than 400 delegates who had been pledged or were leaning toward the New York senator or available to his cause are now expected to support Humphrey at the Chicago convention, which starts Aug. 26.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, the only remaining contender in the field, has the allegiance of only about 75 delegates who had previously been considered in the Kennedy camp.

CONSERVATIVE COUNT

The addition of more than 400 delegates to his existing convention strength would give Humphrey more than 1,600 delegates, by a generally conservative count. The majority needed for nomination is 1,312.

Comparable estimates of McCarthy's delegate strength, not including any results from New York, were less than 450.

This left about 600 delegates listed as undecided.

Political activity, its fanfare muted by Kennedy's assassination, resumes Tuesday with these developments:

● Interest in the Illinois primary centers on a four-way race for the GOP gubernatorial nomination between Cook County chairman Richard B. Ogilvie, Peoria industrialist John Henry Altorfer, former Gov. William G. Stratton and S. Thomas Sutton of Elmhurst. Democrats elect 48 of their 118 convention delegates and Republicans 48 of their 58 dlegates.

* * *

● In Texas state conventions, Gov. John Connally—considered a Humphrey backer—is expected to take command of the 104-member Democratic delegation and Sen. John G. Tower is expected to control 56 GOP delegate votes for at least the first national convention ballot.

* * *

● Further Alabama Gov. George Wallace resumes his third party presidential campaign with a 12-day fund-raising swing through eight southern states.

* * *

● In a South Carolina Democratic primary, Sen. Ernest Hollings, seeking the nomination for reelection, is challenged by John Bolt Culbertson, a Greenville lawyer.

A spokesman said GOP candidate Richard M. Nixon has not decided when to resume his campaign.

* * *

McCarthy has announced he will begin campaigning Thursday for support among New York's 190 Democratic delegates, the bulk of whom will be elected in a June 18 primary.

Negro to Head Mainly White N.C. Church District

The Rev. James C. Peters, a Negro, has been named superintendent of the predominantly White Winston-Salem-Forsyth District of the United Methodist Church in North Carolina.

The appointment of Peters, 43, of Greensboro was announced yesterday by Bishop Earl Hunt Jr. along with other assignments for ministers of the Western North Carolina Conference.

Peters had served as administrative officer of a district of Negro churches in the former North Carolina-Virginia Conference, which was dismantled when the Methodist Church ended segregation within its organization.

Globe-Circling Yachtsman 1,500 Miles From Home

Lone yachtsman Alex Rose has been spotted about 1,500 miles from home on the return leg of his round-the-world trip, it was announced yesterday in London.

Rose's vessel, Lively Lady, was spotted Saturday by the Norwegian ship Sunseahorse about 400 miles southwest of the Azores.

The 59-year-old Rose's wife, Dorothy, said last night at her Portsmouth home, "It's wonderful. But I always knew he'd be all right."

Rose is expected to arrive in Portsmouth about June 23.

Oldest Japanese Celebrates His 116th Birthday

Jubei Nakamura, Japan's oldest resident, celebrates his 116th birthday today in Kamaishi.

A physician said Nakamura was in the best of health, although he has complained of some weakness in the legs. Nakamura retired as an active fisherman when he was 75.

He neither drinks nor smokes, and attributes his longevity partly to his taste for sea urchins.

Prince Philip Named Member of Order of Merit

Prince Philip, out of England, today was named a member of the Order of Merit by his wife, Queen Elizabeth II, on his 47th birthday.

Philip returns Wednesday from a tour of Australia and Malta.

Poor People's Rally Gets New Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sterling Tucker, director of the Washington Urban League, has agreed to organize a June 19 march in support of the Poor People's Campaign and promised efforts to keep it peaceful.

"We want to create not a climate of fear," Tucker said Sunday, "but a climate of concern."

He was invited by campaign leader Dr. Ralph David Abernathy to lead the march after veteran New York civil rights leader Bayard Rustin quit the job last week in a dispute with campaign leaders.

Tucker did not immediately accept. He was quoted as saying over the weekend he agrees with the principles of Abernathy's Southern Christian Leadership Conference but had "to be convinced I can help."

DECISION

Tucker, who had worked closely with Rustin as Washington coordinator of the march, said he did not decide until 2 a.m. Sunday to accept the leadership.

He said the purpose of the march is "to give thousands of Americans who cannot participate in the daily activities of Resurrection City a chance to demonstrate their commitment to the Poor People's Campaign."

He refused to estimate how many would participate but said he hopes for a cross-section of Americans "in such numbers that it will be clear that there are people who are concerned who are not poor.

Tucker, executive director of the Washington Urban League for 11 years, was vice chairman of the 1963 march on Washington at which Dr. Martin Luther King made his "I Have a Dream" speech before 200,000 people.

Death of Figaro Mourned in East

WELLESLEY, Mass (AP) — Figaro Demosthenes Newton died at the age of 7.

He died of old age in a women's dormitory at Wellesley College here.

* * *

He spent two years in the dormitory. He also spent some time in the office of the president of Wellesley College.

Part of his vacation time was spent with a member of the Harvard crew team and with the president of the MIT Tech Community Association.

GREAT SORROW

When he died last month there was great sorrow at the college and he was eulogized in the Wellesley College News.

Figaro was a goldfish. He had been purchased by Suzanne E. W. Niles, on October 7, 1961, from a Woolworth store in Detroit, and remained the constant companion of Miss Niles through high school and into college.

"He was only three inches long," said Miss Niles, "but he swam tall!"

Texan Still in Swim at 81

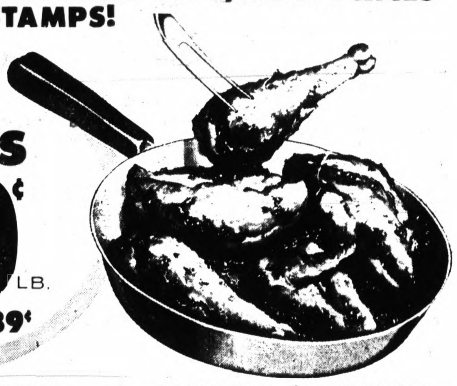

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Ed M. Harrison may be 81 years old, but he still likes to be in the swim of things. In the past nine months, he has completed 50 miles of swimming at a local YMCA pool.

"I didn't think I could do it," he admitted. "I didn't think I would live that long. But here I am."

Despite Tighter Credit

Stock Mart Rises Irregularly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock mrrket advanced irregularly early Monday afternoon despite the tightening of market credit by the Federal Reserve Board.

"A Margin increase wasn't changed a trend," said one analyst.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.93 at 916.81.

This was lower than its best reading of the morning when it was up about 3 points.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 150 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The opening was mixed, but even then the market was higher based on the broadly based New York Stock Exchange index.

The ticker tape was late for a spell in the morning as heavy trading continued after last week's historical record in volume.

Except for some of the higher-priced issues, gains and losses ran generally with fractions to around a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 342.5, with industrials up 1.3, rails up .1, and utilities off .4.

★ ★ ★

Other active fractional gainers included United Asbestors, Gulf American, Federal Resources, Goldfield and Great Lakes Chemical.

Andy Warhol Still Critical From Shooting

NEW YORK (UPI) — Film maker Andy Warhol, shot by an actress last Monday, was still in critical condition today at Columbus Hospital.

Hospital authorities early this morning said Warhol was "critical with some improvement."

★ ★ ★

The 41-year-old Warhol and London art dealer and editor Mario Amaya, 30, were shot in Warhol's Union Square office by a woman who surrendered to the police several hours later. Amaya was treated for a minor back wound and released.

★ ★ ★

The actress, Valerie Jsolanas, 28, is undergoing psychiatric examination at Elmhurst General Hospital in Queens. She appeared in one of Warhol's films "I A Man."

N.J. Train Tragedy Being Investigated

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Investigations have been launched into the accident that killed two persons as they stood on railroad tracks to view Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's funeral train.

The victims were struck by a northbound train coming around a bend just as they watched the southbound Kennedy train move through the Elizabeth station.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Penn Central Railroad said Sunday that because of the Kennedy train, special safety precautions were being taken by the northbound train involved in the accident.

David E. Smucker, vice president of operations for the line, said the engineer of the northbound train had been told by two-way radio that the tracks were crowded with mourners.

REDUCED SPEED

"In response," Smucker said of the engineer, "he had reduced the speed with which he proceeded around the S-curve from the allowable rate of 55 miles an hour to approximately 30 miles an hour."

"And," Smucker added, "he was repeatedly sounding the locomotive horn and the train bell. The locomotive bell also was on."

★ ★ ★

Agencies investigating the accident, which also injured five persons, are the Interstate Commerce Commission, the New Jersey Public Utilities Commission, the Union County prosecutor's office and Elizabeth police. The railroad also was investigating.

The victims were Mrs. Antoinette Sevirini and John P. Cruia, both 56 and both of whom lived in the same apartment development in Elizabeth.

REMAINS HOSPITALIZED

Mrs. Sevirini's grandaughter, 3-year-old Debra Ann Kwiatek of Linden, was the only one of the five injured who remained hospitalized today.

She was listed in fair condition at Elizabeth General Hospital.

Joseph Fausti, 18, who was critically burned in Trenton when his head touched a high tension wire as he stood on a boxcar to view the train, is in the intensive care unit at St. Francis Hospital with burns over most of his body.

Baking Firms, Execs to Be Rearraigned

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Four major baking companies and three of their executives named by the federal government in an alleged price fixing case in Michigan are scheduled to be rearraigned Thursday in U.S. district court at Grand Rapids. Federal Judge Noel P. Fox granted the defendants permission to change their pleas to that of no contest.

The firms and individuals are American Bakeries Co. of Chicago, and its regional manager, Norman V. Clexton; Continental Baking Co. of Rye, N.Y., and its plant manager, Ray W. Moore; Ward Foods Inc., of New York, and its plant manager, William J. Coughlin and Rainbo Bread Co. of Saginaw.

★ ★ ★

Judge Fox denied a similar motion March 8, one week before he allowed eight independent Michigan baking firms and six of their executives to plead no contest to similar price fixing charges.

The defendants were accused of fixing prices and rigging bids of baked goods sold in Michigan.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jimmy Brown, former professional football star turned actor, was arrested last night after sheriff's deputies found a woman on the pavement beneath Brown's second-floor apartment.

Brown, 32, a former fullback with the Cleveland Browns who led the National Football League in rushing, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

Guerrilla Site, Officer Found

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — Government forces turned up a guerrilla camp in the western state of Merida and seized a high-ranking army officer of Cuban nationality, the newspaper Panorama said today.

The report said a Colombian professor also was taken into custody at the campsite near the town of La Azulita. Neither was further identified.

★ ★ ★

Accounts attributed to municipal authorities at La Azulita said guerrillas disguised as peasants had built an aquaduct and were using mules to transport arms, medical supplies and food.

Reports published Sunday said one guerrilla unit ambushed an army convoy recently and that eight insurgents and five soldiers were killed in the clash.

Fact-Finder Enters Grand Rapids Strike

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — M. David Keffe, appointed as factfinder for the dispute between the city nonuniformed employes who have been on strike since last Wednesday, will be here today to study the controversy.

The walkout, involving more that 700 employes, has resulted in a ban on garbage and trash pickups, burials in city cemeteries, a reduced water flow and other city operations.

The union has provided skeleton crews and a previous ban on water sprinkling has been modified to the extent home owners with even street numbers may sprinkle today and odd numbers may sprinkle Tuesday under an alternate plan to conserve water.

Educational Opportunity Report Is Due

A long-awaited major report on equality of educational opportunity in Pontiac schools is scheduled to be presented to the board of education tomorrow.

The report, said to be critical of racial isolation in the schools, is the result of 18 months of work by the school board's Citizens Study Committee on Equality of Educational Opportunity.

★ ★ ★

John Rogers, committee chairman, and Robert Frossard, staff member of the Bureau of School Services of the University of Michigan, which helped on the study, are to present the major findings.

The committee examined policies, programs, procedures, practices and other aspects of education in the city to determine their effect on equality of educational opportunity. Its report recommends ways to increase equality of opportunities for students and employes.

★ ★ ★

The meeting, which is being held tomorrow because of a conflict with a high school graduation Wednesday, is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building, 350 E. Wide Track.

An electric typewriter that embosses Braille characters on paper instead of type has been developed.

Barbara Captures B'Way With Uninhibited Audition

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Barbara Hancock came up here from Atlanta at 20 and showed Broadway how to conduct its "open auditions" which are also called "cattle calls" because the kids are treated like cattle.

"It was for the part of Susan the Silent in "Finian's Rainbow with Fred Astaire," the 100-pound, 5-feet-1 ex-high school cheer leader told me while sitting in Lindy's.

Her Georgia accent slipped through.

"Everybody's herded in one room like cattle," Barbara said. "There were 8 or 10 people sitting in front of me and they all had this cold attitude like 'Let's see what you can do.'

★ ★ ★

"I loosened my hair and let it fall down to my shoulders, and then I just sat down on the floor. They were astonished, like 'What are you doing, child?' Then I rolled the bottom of my tights up so I could go barefoot. I sprung to my feet and started doing anything that came to mind even before the musicians played.

"That was evidently what they wanted—somebody who could do just anything and not be ill at ease."

Barbara, a descendant of John Hancock, so she says, and also related to the Byrds (the Admiral Byrd branch), not only got the part but showed them how to do a screen test.

They cost $15,000 in Hollywood. She went into Central Park barefoot with a director with a hand camera and did one that cost $43. She got a 5-year contract with Warners-7 Arts.

Retired Carpenter Has a Tweet Life

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The back yard of Grady Belk's home is a rainbow of color and a symphony of tweets. The 65-year-old retired carpenter has 500 parakeets in varying colors of bright plumage fluttering about there.

Although he does sell some of the birds, he raises them primarily as a hobby.

It costs at least $100 a month to feed his flock the mixture of millet, oats and other grains. "I don't make any money on the birds," he says, "but it keeps me from twiddling my thumbs since I retired."

A Look at TV

Networks to Increase Violence

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "I think it's high time we recognize that we no longer are Dodge City."

This reference to the romantized frontier town and its gunslingers was made by a dean of theology at a California college after last week's shooting of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

But a close look at the new schedules and future plans of network television indicates that, unless sharp changes now come about, an increase in violence is in store for video watchers.

At the moment, this trend seems all but inevitable. To begin with, consider television's most popular commodity — movies. The supply of old ones is growing short, and NBC-TV has led the way in presenting new two-hour films as filler.

SUCCESSFUL IN RATINGS

The films have been greatly successful in the ratings, and this means there will be many more. But the fact is that, unlike the older movies — a mixture of adventure, romance, comedy and drama — the new ones are essentially action epics.

Made specifically for television, they try to hit hard with the elements that are proven ratings-getters, and this means a kinship with a steady diet of violence, or suggestion of it.

★ ★ ★

Take, for example, this coming Saturday's scheduled NBC-TV run of one of these two-hour made-for-television stories — "Prescription: Murder," about a doctor who plans to kill his wife. Movies made strictly for television are put together with one main purpose in mind: to get a rating. If they don't these films will be out of business.

And along these lines, we have the fact that another network, ABC-TV, also seeking movie filler, has announced plans for a series of 90-minute, so-called motion pictures.

NO EVIL PLOT

Like NBC-TV's two-hour products, these can also be depended on to be, in the main, elongated television melodramas, and there is no doubt the emphasis again will be on "action," to use the euphemism.

There isn't any evil plot in all this. It's just that superior comedy and drama, and even top-flight adventure tales, take more time to turn out than easy action-Violence, which is ground out like so much sausage.

★ ★ ★

And there are executives who would like to do something better — but ratings are the name of the game, and everybody would have to cooperate, and won't, and there are all those cushy salaries to protect and mortgages to pay and cars to buy and new fashions to show off at discotheque parties for charity.

There are a lot of decent, sensitive television executives on both coasts who left friendly toward Kennedy, and whose consciences will be gnawing at them as they continue to have to turn out the kind of violence that they know is contributing to an atmosphere emphasizing lawlessness.

HAVE TO DO SOMETHING

You begin to wonder if, and when, some truly big men will step forward in the video industry and say: We simply have to do something, and now. It's not enough to fidget until another assassination.

There is increasing violence too in the early prime time hours that used to be reserved for children.

★ ★ ★

Advertisers seeking sales sought shows that would reach adult buyers, and not just get a big turn-in from juveniles. For example, we now have in the very early evening hours such series as "The Avengers," "The Saint," "The Prisoner," "Gunsmoke" and tonight's new NBC-TV entry, "The Champions."

And when fall rolls around, we will have even more additions, such as the western "Lancer" and "Mod Squad," not to mention continuing shows like "The Virginian" and "The Wild, Wild West."

One of the big points about these earlier schedulings of action shows is that most of them simply can't make it when competing head-on in the ratings with movies, which have preemted their old-time late-hour slots.

The result is that instead of one violent show thus canceling another out, they just begin to take over the remainder of the schedule by spreading out in all directions.

Spock Will Testify in Own Defense

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock takes the stand in his own defense today as the anti-draft conspiracy trial of the pediatrician and four others entered its fourth week.

On trial with the 65-year-old Spock are Yale University Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43; Mitchell Goodman, 44, a writer and teacher from Temple, Maine; Michael Ferber, 23, a Harvard graduate student; and Marcus Raskin, 34, a Washington research director.

★ ★ ★

They are charged with conspiring to aid, abet and counsel young men to avoid the draft—a federal crime which carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Spock is the last of the defendants to testify before Judge Francis J.W. Ford and an all-male jury in U.S. District Court.

Stokely Appears at Detroit Rally

DETROIT (AP) — Heavy security precautions were taken by private bodyguards in Detroit over the weekend for an appearance by Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael, who spoke at a rally to raise funds to make bonds for black prisoners.

Carmichael, who left Detroit Sunday, said the death of Robert Kennedy only hastened a confrontation between black and white people in the nation.

★ ★ ★

The former leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) said Kennedy had enough support from black Americans to be elected president. Carmichael spoke Saturday at a rally, closed to white persons, at the Redeemer Presbyterian Church.

GROVE CITY, Pa. (UPI) — any form, "whether in a dark alley, in front of newsreel cameras, in broad daylight or in the academic halls of ivy."

U.S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House minority leader, told a commencement at Grove City College violence in any form indicates a breakdown in moral values.

Tito Promises School Reform

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Part of the rebellious student movement at Belgrade University agreed Sunday night to return to classes after President Tito promised them educational, political and economic reforms.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the Communist party youth and student organizations joined with leaders of the student action committee in adopting a proposal to return to classes. They had given sufficient guarantees that the students' demands would be carried out.

★ ★ ★

"It was more and much better than we expected," a member of the student action committee said of Tito's broadcast speech.

The most extreme of the Belgrade students, assembled in the self-styled "Karl Marx Red University," did not respond at once, but there was no sign of disapproval. After Tito spoke, leaders of the group met privately.

★ ★ ★

In an effort to end the week-long students' strike, the 76-year-old president said students occupying the university had brought up questions that had bothered him.

Westmoreland Saying Goodby in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — In a whirlwind of farewells, Gen. William C. Westmoreland took leave of his men on the northern frontier and at sea Sunday, then said goodbye with a "good luck and God bless you all" to the officers and men of his headquarters today.

Wearing starched fatigues with razor sharp creases, and standing ramrod straight on the sunny parade grounds of the Military Asssitance Command Vietnam at Tan Son Nhut Air Base, Westmoreland told 600 of his headquarters personnel it is "most difficult to leave all of you . . . who have served so faithfully and well."

★ ★ ★

Westmoreland relinquishes his command of U.S. forces in Vietnam to his deputy, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, this week, flies to Manila to pick up his family, and then will travel by ship to Honolulu. He becomes chief of staff of the U.S. Army on July 2.

"Please accept my very best wishes for continued success," Westmoreland told his staff, "and my fervent hope that peace and security for the long suffering and freedom loving people of Vietnam will soon reward your efforts."

Abrams praised Westmoreland as the skilled architect who had "forged into an effective military force" the U.S., Vietnamese and allied military units serving in Vietnam.

It was one of Westmoreland's last departure ceremonies. There will be no formal change of command.

King Killing Suspect to Fight U.S. Return

LONDON (AP) — James Earl Ray made a two-minute appearance in Bow Street Court today and indicated he would fight the U.S. government's attempt to seek his extradition in connection with the charge that he killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

London's chief magistrate ordered Ray

held without bail for another court appearance on June 18.

There was no mention during the brief preliminary hearing of extradition. But Ray asked the court to appoint an attorney for him, and this was taken as an indication that he would fight being returned to America.

American legal officials said they were going ahead with the extradition process and hoped to return Ray to the United States "very soon."

The 40-year-old escaped convict, who had been on the run since the Negro civil rights leader was killed April 4 in Memphis, Tenn., was arraigned under the alias of Ramon George Sneyd and was charged with carrying a false passport and a loaded revolver without a license.

A heavy police escort brought Ray secretly to the court three hours before the preliminary hearing was to begin. A crowd of about 300 laid siege to the courtroom later, and everyone entering it was searched for weapons.

Ray had been under heavy guard since his arrest Saturday.

Wearing a dark blue suit with dark brown checks and a blue shirt, Ray stood quietly with his hands clasped behind him as Chief Magistrate Frank Milton told him that under British criminal procedure press coverage of the details of the hearing would be limited unless he asked that the restriction be lifted.

Asked if he wanted the restriction lifted, he replied: "No sir."

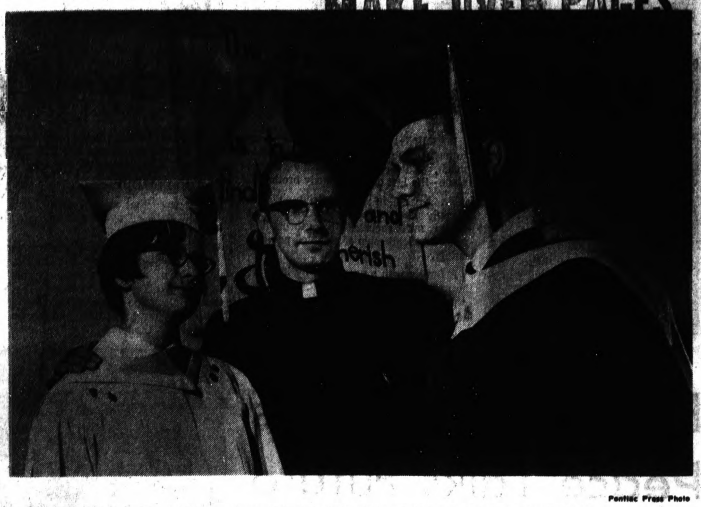

Ray's dark hair was flecked with gray at the temples, and his face was tanned.

A government prosecutor asked that Ray be held in custody, and the judge granted Ray's application request that the court appoint a lawyer for him. Then he was taken away by a large force of plainclothesmen and uniformed police.

It was believed that he was taken to Brixton Prison, considered one of London's most secure jails.

IN 3 COUNTRIES

Ray had been in Canada, Portugal and Britain before the two-month hunt ended with his arrest at London airport.

Brown, 32, a former fullback with the Cleveland Browns who led the National Football League in rushing, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

He was taken to the West Hollywood sheriff's substation and was later released on $12,500 bond.

FIGHT REPORTED

Deputies Myron Cole and John Texeira said they were called to Brown's West Hollywood apartment at about 9 p.m. after neighbors complained of a fight.

Texeira said Brown attacked him when he and Cole tried to take the actor into custody. When the officers subdued Brown and left the apartment building with him, the officers said they found Miss Bohnchin on patio concrete beneath a second-floor balcony.

They said they found patches of hair and bloodstains in the Brown apartment.

LA Staff Busy on Sirhan Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With Sirhan Bishara Sirhan behind bars, top prosecutors are meeting daily in hopes of closing holes in Los Angeles County Superior Coort Case No. A233421.

That case contains the murder charge against the 24-year-old Jordanian immigrant accused of slaying Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Sirhan is to enter a plea to the charge June 28.

Although Sirhan was arrested at the scene of the fatal shooting early Wednesday, and identified by several witnesses as the New York senator's assailant, the case presents unanswered questions.

Not the least of them is whether there was a conspiracy behind the shooting.

dress."

Sandy Serrano, 20, a Youth for Kennedy worker, reported seeing the girl shooting and say, "We shot him!"

Three young women have claimed to be the girl in the polka-dot dress, all saying Miss Serrano misunderstood their words as they ran from the hotel. But Miss Serrano says none is the girl she saw.

"You've got to be color-blind to think that's the girl," Miss Serrano said of the belly dancer, Kathy Fulmer, who had told police she was wearing a polka-dot scarf and a blonde wig the night of the murder.

Ethel, Jackie Join Thousands at Graves

By The Associated Press

In life, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy went where the crowds were. Now his last campaign is done and they come to him, to stand for a moment before a newly sodded grave on a grassy slope of Arlington National Cemetery.

Nearly 60,000 people made that pilgrimage yesterday, amid steamy heat and afternoon rain.

Ethel Kennedy, expecting her 11th child, came to kneel at the foot of her husband's grave.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy came with her two children to pray at the grave of her assassinated husband, then to walk the few steps to the resting place of her assassinated brother-in-law.

STOOD SIX ABREAST

Tourists and mourners stood six abreast and waited in a burning June sun.

Only a small, white cross marks the grave of the New York senator.

★ ★ ★

A family spokesman said Robert's grave site is temporary but the permanent burial place will be in the same general area.

★ ★ ★

Churches throughout the nation were crowded yesterday on the national day of mourning for Sen. Kennedy. Speakers at many memorial services called his assassination a symptom of a sickness in society.

KNELT AT GRAVE

Ethel Kennedy, with her eldest son, Joseph, 15, knelt at the grave, bowed her head and closed her eyes.

★ ★ ★

No one could count the crowds that saw Kennedy to that resting place from the funeral conducted Saturday morning at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York.

In vast throngs they stood along the 225-mile route of the funeral train from New York City to Washington.

The journey, which was to have taken four hours, required more than eight.

The widow, the brother who had just eulogized Robert, and the slain senator's son, Joseph, 15, took the time to thank the people who rode the train.

President Johnson and his wife, who had gone to New York for the funeral, then returned to Washington, were waiting at Union Station.

And an estimated 500,000 people were waiting along the 4½ mile route between station and cemetery.

A vast company of mourners, more than 1,000 of Washington's officials, already had assembled there.

CARRIED CASKET

Twelve pall bearers, led by young Joseph Kennedy, took the falg-draped casket from the hearse and carried it up the lawn to the grave.

"Lord have mercy," intoned Archbishop Philip M. Hannon of New Orleans. Four other prelates said brief prayers.

★ ★ ★

Then the pallbearers folded the flag. John Glenn Jr., the former astronaut and a close Kennedy friend, gave the folded flag to Edward Kennedy. Edward handed it to the widow.

Candles flickered in the hands of the Kennedy children.

KNELT BESIDE COFFIN

Then Mrs. Kennedy and Edward knelt beside the coffin. She bent, touched her lips to the wood.

One by one, the children and other members of the family knelt over the casket.

The final service was brief.

Widow Ethel and Edward, their arms linked, walked back down the hill.

★ ★ ★

And 12 hours and 45 minutes from the start of the funeral in New York, the cortege of limousines began to pull away into the night, its mission over.

Pontiac Catholic Graduates 95

Pontiac Catholic High School graduated its first class of 95 students yesterday.

It was a day of joy. It was a day of sadness.

★ ★ ★

As all graduations go, students were jubilant about graduating but the ceremonies were overshadowed by a day of mourning for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The graduates said a silent prayer for him.

List of Graduates, Page A-2

Rev. Thomas J. McAnoy, principal of Bishop Borgess High School in Detroit, pointed up challenges of the graduates in the main address.

CHARTER CLASS

He said the graduates face a challenge because they are the charter class of the school at 1300 Giddings and came together from two schools, St. Frederick and St. Michael's schools.

The other challenge, Father McAnoy said, is going out into another environment in the outside world — a world of discipline where students will have to abide by laws.

★ ★ ★

He encouraged the graduates not to be ashamed of being Christians and to use Christ throughout their lives.

Voting Is Today on School Issues and Candidates

Voters in 20 area school districts are going to the polls today to elect board members and to decide on village increases and bond proposals. Polls are open until 8 p.m.

Only countywide issue is the election of three members to the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees. There are 13 candidates.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac and Waterford School District voters will only be selecting members for OCC and their respective board of education.

Pontiac held a successful millage and bond issue vote in March and Waterford school officials decided not to ask for additional millage at this time.

4-YEAR TERM

Candidates running for one four-year term on the Pontiac board are Pontiac attorney Christopher C. Brown, Sylvan Lake Mayor Fred P. Crossman, Pontiac attorney John K. Irwin Jr. and Chrysler executive Francis M. Webster Jr.

In Waterford, six candidates are seeking two 4-year terms and two are competing for one 2-year seat.

★ ★ ★

Waterford candidates are incumbent Philip M. Hampton, Edward J. Kuhn, William D. Motzny, Frank A. Lane, Louis H. Schimmel Jr., Harry L. Smith, Robert Carr and Mrs. Peggy Wood.

Thirteen of the 18 area school districts outside Pontiac and Waterford are holding millage and bond elections.

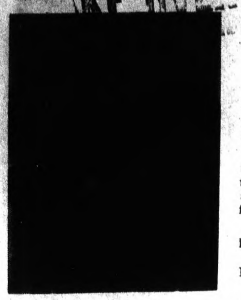

TWO INCUMBENTS

Two incumbents are among 13 candidates seeking six-year terms on the OCC board. They are David W. Hackett and Gordon C. Henderson.

Three are to be elected because a seventh trustee seat has been created.

Ted Kennedy—What Will He Do?

TED KENNEDY

WASHINGTON (AP) —Still so young to have come so far, to have grieved so much, Edward M. Kennedy stands alone—the last of the Kennedy brothers.

Six years in which triumph and tragedy have followed one another in terribly swift succession have thrust him at 36 into leadership of a fabled political family.

A family with a quest that by its logic he must take up.

His brother John was a senator from Massachusetts when he expressed it:

"Just as I went into politics because Joe died, if anything happened to me tomorrow, my brother, Bobby, would run for my seat in the Senate and if Bobby died, Teddy would take over for him."

TURN TO EDWARD

So it was that while many still mourned Robert, eyes and thoughts turned to Edward.

While the nation watched him rise to his new role—comforting the widow, delivering a moving tribute to his brother, greeting the crowds that gathered along the route of the funeral train— many wondered when and how he would take up the quest.

But in New Orleans yesterday, Archbishop Philip M. Hannan, who presided at graveside ceremonies for Robert, said in an interview that close friends of the Kennedy family are urging Edward to withdraw from political life.

The prelate told the New Orleans Times-Picayune that one consideration is that Edward is the only adult son in a large family which now has many fatherless children.

SHUNS LIMELIGHT

If tragedy has shaped Edward Kennedy, so too did the moment of triumph when he took his Senate seat in January 1963.

Aware of the dangers of being tagged as "the one Kennedy too many," Edward told newsmen he planned to stay out of the limelight.

Edward waited more than a year to make his first major speech. His brother Robert was hardly settled in his seat when he began speaking out on issues.

Edward quietly deferred to Senate elders. Robert clashed heatedly with committee chairmen.

French Vote Clouds Peace Talks Future

PARIS (UPI) — Diplomatic experts said the official start today of the French election campaign clouded the future of the U.S.-North Vietnamese preliminary peace talks continuing here.

They said the talks might have to move if President Charles de Gaulle's regime is defeated.

* * *

The weeks of student rioting and labor strikes leading to the elections did not interfere with the parley.

But the sudden eruption of trouble in France did not aid the calm atmosphere the diplomats planned for when they came to Paris. The experts said that if the Communist-backed leftwing defeats De Gaulle the neutral atmosphere for the talks might be swept away.

FENCE-STRADDLING

De Gaulle's offer of Paris as a talk site was accepted by Washington and Hanio on the grounds that his regime stood half way between the positions of the two belligerents.

Further spoiling the calm, the Vietnam war itself may become an indirect issue in the campaigning — which is shaping up as a straight contest between Gaullism and Communism.

* * *

The anti-De Gaulle riots, marches and rallies of the past weeks have been marked by pro-Hanoi chants, posters and speeches. And De Gaulle, only recently the wooer of Communist friendship, has become suddenly the target of Moscow and Peking criticism.

* * *

While dissolving parliament May 30, De Gaulle, in a blunt address to the nation, warned that the Communist party was attempting to establish here "a totalitarian dictatorship."

NEXT SESSION

While keeping an eye on the French scene, both negotiating teams today were preparing for their next working session.

* * *

The chief U.S. negotiator, Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman, was expected to confer today with President Lyndon B. Johnson before returning here for Wednesday's session.

COMMON GROUND

Harriman, who attended Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's funeral services Saturday in New York, was expected to explore with the chief executive means to break the deadlocked talks. Efforts to find common ground for compromise since the parley started May 13 so far have failed.

County Lake Mishap Fatal to Ann Arbor Man

An Ann Arbor man drowned in Kensington Lake, Milford Township, late Saturday when the rented boat in which he was riding overturned.

Kensington lifeguards recovered the body of Willie E. Wright, 39, about 8:45 p.m., some 30 minutes after he and two companions tipped the 15-foot aluminum craft while attempting to start a motor they had attached, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

VC Resume Attack on Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietcong resumed their rocket attack on central Saigon today, killing another 10 civilians and wounding 35. Fifteen 100-pound Russian rockets landed on the capital.

The missiles set several houses afire and narrowly missed the Buddhist pagoda which once was the headquarters for Saigon's militant Buddhist faction.

JAMES DENHERDER

The attack early today raised the civilian death toll from more than five weeks of rocket and mortar barrages on Saigon past 100.

In 22 days of shelling since the preliminary peace talks opened in Paris May 5, at least 109 civilians have been killed in Saigon and 413 wounded.

ENEMY'S AIM

U.S. officers say the aim of the enemy attack is:

- To determine the South Vietnamese government of President Nguyen Van Thieu by spreading fear among the 3 million inhabitants of Greater Saigon.
- To disrupt the capital.
- To give the impression of an army that can strike anywhere, any time, and that the Communists are bargaining in Paris from a position of military strength.

South Vietnamese military headquarters also reported three Vietcong mortar attacks within a 20-mile radius of Saigon.

ELSEWHERE

In fighting elsewhere:

More than 200 North Vietnamese soldiers attacked U.S. Marines in night defensive positions eight miles south of the Khe Sanh. Twelve of the enemy and seven Marines were killed and 41 Marines wounded.

The enemy troops were driven off by helicopter gunships and dive-bombers.

Four miles west of Khe Sanh, North Vietnamese troops using satchel charges and rocket-propelled grenades ambushed a Marine supply convoy. Twelve Marines were killed and nine wounded.

In the Mekong Delta, infantrymen from southwest of Saigon, infantrymen from the U.S. 9th Division reported killing 61 Vietcong in a 12-hour fight. Three Americans were killed and 17 wounded, U.S. headquarters said.

* * *

The U.S. Command said two more Air Force fighter-bombers were downed Saturday and Sunday above the demilitarized zone by heavy ground fire, but all three men aboard the two planes were rescued.

POLITICAL BREAK

On the political front, rumors spread through Saigon that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky is verging on a complete break with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Principal Seeks Supervisor Seat

James DenHerder of 3961 Lotus Drive, Waterford Township, has announced his candidacy for the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, seeking the Republican nomination for District 25.

* * *

On the reapportioned board, DenHerder, 59, is seeking to represent approximately the northern half of Waterford Township plus part of the northeastern quarter of White Lake Township.

* * *

A resident of the area for the past 30 years, DenHerder is principal of Adams School. He holds a master's degree from the University of Michigan in educational administration.

For 18 years he was assistant superintendent in charge of business for the Waterford School system. He and his wife, Ruby, have two daughters. He has served as a Republican precinct delegate.

CIVIC ACTIVITIES

He is a past president of the Waterford Drayton Rotary Club, member of Community Activities, Inc., Association of School Business officials and the Drayton Plains Community United Presbyterian Church.

The supervisors' post pays $20 per meeting attended at present, but the new board will be able to set its own salary.

* * *

DenHerder states: "In the school system I was responsible for the financial transactions in the bonding programs, investment of monies, building programs and the general financial operation of the schools. This experience should prove valuable.

"In the uncertain times ahead many problems will arise and with my background I could be of assistance."

City to Discuss Rubbish Site at Meeting

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission is to discuss the Southeast Oakland County Incinerator Authority's proposed rubbish transfer station at its meeting tonight at 8.

The authority seeks to construct a transfer station on property on Coolidge between 14 Mile and Maple in Troy.

* * *

The commission held a public hearing Jan. 22 on whether to sell the property, which is owned by Birmingham, to the authority. It postponed a decision on the sale to allow time to study objections.

On March 11, the commission established a study committee consisting of three commissioners and representatives of two homeowners' groups opposing the proposed station.

SITES VISITED

The committee visited a number of transfer sites in the Detroit metropolitan area and journeyed to Seattle, Wash., May 2-3 to study two comparable stations there.

On its return, the committee reported that if the station in Troy were built as described by the authority, there should be "no problems from noise, dust, odor or rodents" — possibilities which had worried homeowners in the area.

* * *

Though the nearest residences are 1,400 feet away from the industrially-zoned site and separated from it by railroad tracks, property owners have complained that property values would be diminished by the proposed station.

Committee member Benjamin Phelps, president of Sheffield Estates Civic Association, dissented from the committee's report. Since the report, both he and Mrs. M. Kenneth Conrad, representing Pembroke Manor Civic Association, have reiterated their opposition to the proposal.

5 COMMUNITIES

The two-level structure planned by the authority would be used for the transfer of rubbish from the garbage trucks of five area communities to larger carrier vans, which would then transport the refuse to the authority's land-fill site in Avon Township.

Of the 14 communities which make up the authority, only Birmingham, Beverly Hills, Clawson, north Royal Oak and part of Troy would use the facility.

The other municipalities would continue delivering their refuse to the authority's incinerator at John R and 12 Mile in Madison Heights.

Also on tonight's agenda is a report from the traffic and safety board regarding banning of parking on Southfield between Lincoln and Brown.

'NO CHANGE' URGED

The board has recommended that no changes be made in the present parking restrictions in the area.

Residents had objected to the proposed parking bans. Mrs. Charles H. Nielsen, 810 Southfield, called the proposal an "infringement of the rights of property owners in a residential zone." She added that it would be an "encouragement of heavier, faster traffic on an already-dangerous street."

Another citizen, Blythe R. Jones of 863 Southfield, reported a survey of residents along the street found 29 opposed to any change, nine in favor of a ban and one in favor of restriction of parking hours rather than a ban.

The police department has returned a report recommending that a petition from Albert Daiza and other store owners on South Woodward between Taunton and Emmons asking that parking be limited to 15 minutes in front of their stores be denied.

The report includes the results of a survey conducted May 17.

Of 127 vehicles using the spaces in question, 54 per cent parked for less than 15 minutes. In addition, at no time were all spaces full when checks were taken every 15 mintues.

"It was ascertained from this and other checks that Mr. Albert Daiza, the petitioner, 1643 S. Woodward, parks his car in this access drive and leaves it there all day," the report added.

Also, it added, approving the requested restrictions would set a precedent of special restrictions for businesses.

Pressure Group Eying Action

Proposed Rochester-Avon Twp. Merger in Limbo

By JEAN SAILE

Is unification of the city of Rochester with surrounding Avon Township as dead as it appears?

Talk which abounded earlier this year on the seeking of unification between the two areas has not materialized into action.

★ ★ ★

A Jaycee-sponsored government seminar last fall conducted by Michigan State University professors failed to produce any unification measures, though that was its stated goal.

The area is in limbo, awaiting a charter election for township incorporation.

Indications are that all is not as dead as it seems, however.

The pressure of influential citizens of both the city and township may soon be brought to bear on the two governments, The Pontiac Press has learned.

★ ★ ★

The aim of the pressure group is reportedly the formation of an official study committee to be charged with evaluating the present systems of government — pinpointing similarities and differences — and the proposal of mutually acceptable alternatives.

The study would be made public, according to reports, sometime the middle of February. It is not designed to influence the townships vote on acceptance of a city charter, due also some time the first of the year, probably in January, spokesmen say.

The study is calculated to present concrete information to provide the means where Rochester and the township (maybe the City of Rochester Hills by that time) could become one unit.

The actual mechanics of unification still remain unclear, but the government seminar last fall reportedly pointed out several alternative methods — one of them including the passage of special state legislation.

Proponents of unity note that the charter proposed for township incorporation is very similar to that used by Rochester.

There are two major differences. The townships charter commission has proposed a 10-mill limitation with the possibility of extending it to 15 mills should an emergency arise. The city has no limitation on taxes other than the 20 mills imposed by the state.

CITY MANAGER

Where the city clerk and treasurer are appointed by the city-manager, the charter commission for the township states that these two people would be elected.

Both charters provide for city-manager type government.

A considerable amount of verbiage was devoted last winter to eventual unification of the two areas. Tied by culture and history, the two units started off on separate paths with the incorporation of Rochester as a city in 1967.

Pushed by fear of having to contribute to the township's involvement in the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor, the city has since contemplated a pact whereby it will share in it anyway in order to bypass the need for construction of a second major sewer line through town.

TOWNSHIP MOVE

Before incorporation as a city had become effective, the township filed incorporation petitions as a means of stopping the city from annexing adjacent high tax base land in the township.

Before the township's vite last Jan. 19 on incorporation (which passed by a narrow margin), talk was that the vote would serve to give the township better bargaining power for a future merger.

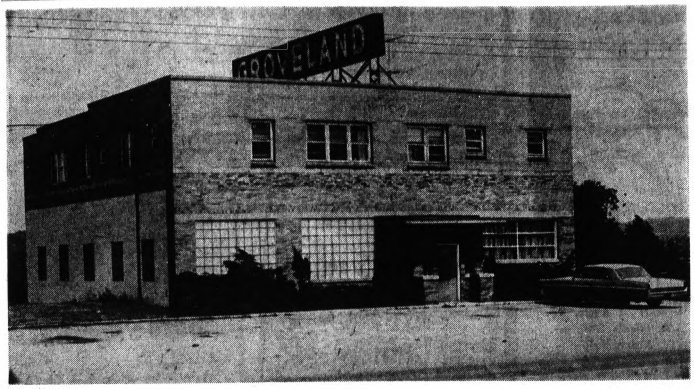

Since the vote, there has been no further attempt at unification. The elected charter commission has proceeded to draft a charter for separate incorporation and there has been discussion of an acceptance vote early next year, probably in January.

If the vote is favorable, Avon Township would then become the City of Rochester Hills. If it fails, commissioners could make two more attempts to have a charter accepted. The deadline on attempts is January 1970. If a charter has not been accepted by that time, the area will revert to township status.

WAITING IN WINGS

Meanwhile, a petition seeking the annexation of the whole township to Rochester waits in the wings. It cannot be considered until the charter question is disposd of.

City officials have said they would welcome such annexation and township officials have maintained that unity is still their main goal.

State Weekend Road Toll 18

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four persons were killed and three injured last night when two autos slammed into a third car which had skidded across a median into an oncoming lane, police said.

The accident, which raised Michigan's weekend highway death toll to at least 18, occurred on U.S. 23, about eight miles north of Bay City.

★ ★ ★

The victims were identified as Lorraine Faber, 46, and Grace Sharp, 20, both of Alpena, Carl E. Mielke, 50, of Saginaw and his 47-year-old wife, Frances.

State Police said Mrs. Faber was driving north when she lost control of her auto and skidded across the median. He car was struck broadside by Mielk's southbound auto, police said. Then the third car smashed into the Faber car.

DARTED IN FRONT OF CAR

The Associated Press count began 6 p.m. Friday and ended midnight yesterday.

The victims:

Jerry Stevens, 3, of Detroit, killed when he darted in front of a car near his home.

Joseph Rodgers, 5, and Manuel Rodgers, 4, both of Merrill, who died Saturday in a two-car accident at Saginaw County's Albee Township in which their mother and two more of her children were injured seriously.

Jerry G. Boone, 16, of Detroit, who was killed yesterday when the car in which he was riding ran off a road and struck a tree in rural Lenawee County.

INTO PATH OF CAR

Patrick Pierucki, 3, of Coldwater, who apparently darted from behind a parked car near his home into the path of an automobile Saturday.

Northwest Part of County May Get Sheriff Substation

A new sheriff's substation to service the four-township area in the northwest part of Oakland County has been approved by two committees of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The entire board was to be asked to approve the facility at their meeting today at 9:30 a.m. at the County Courthouse auditorium, Telegraph and Pontiac Lake.

The County Sheriff's Office asked for establishment of the substation to increase efficiency in servicing calls from the area.

Plans call for placing about three cars and radio equipment in the substation.

IN GROVELAND TOWNSHIP

It is recommended that the new post be placed in a building on the former Paradise Beach property in Groveland Township at Dixie and Grange Hall roads.

The park was purchased for $490,000 last June by the county from Dr. Lamar K. Matthews.

On the land are several buildings, including a former clinic located on the northeast corner of the intersection.

This building is planned to be converted for use by sheriff's deputies.

WOULD BE EASED

This will decrease greatly the difficulties in dispatching of cars from the Pontiac area, it was pointed out.

Both the law enforcement committee and the ways and means committee have approved the measure.

No large extra expense is expected to be incurred as the move would merely be a shift in operations with little extra needed in the way of equipment, it was explained.

It was estimated that added expense would be about $11,000 per year and that this money could come from contingency funds. The four neighboring townships will be asked to contribute a total of $11,000 yearly, also.

Wolverine Budget Hearing Is Tonight

WOLVERINE LAKE — A public hearing on the proposed $194,562 budget is tonight at 8 in the Village Hall.

The budget to go into effect July 1 lists expenditures and revenues $41,032 more than last year.

★ ★ ★

Proposed salary increases: village administrator, up $500 to $10,500; clerk, up $600 to $5,850; treasurer, up $640 to $5,040; and police chief, up about $1,200 including benefits to $6,500.

Also called for is a life insurance and weekly indemnity program for village employes costing $115 per month.

While taxes stay at 8.5 mills levied last year, revenues are up chiefly because of the $6,000 state income tax rebate, explained village administrator Clifford Cottrell.

Clarkston Unit Backs People's Annex Choice

CLARKSTON — The village boundary study committee appointed three months ago has recommended annexation of several portions of Independence Township.

In a written report the group, headed by Roy Haeusler, advised, however, that the people of the affected area be allowed to vote on the annexation.

★ ★ ★

Because Clarkston is a general law village no vote is required for annexation. A previous annexation attempt last January was aborted in the face of voter dissention.

Greater voting power was a point made in the committee's recommendation. Should the village assimilate parts of the township individual votes of its residents would have less power due to the greater number of residents, it was pointed out.

TAX BASE

The report highlighted the opinion that through an expanded and increased tax base, it might become possible to offer better services in such areas as street improvements and policing.

It noted that such items as zoning, building codes, sanitation, effective judicial system and regulation of lakes and streams could be controlled by either township or village government.

★ ★ ★

The study committee, while making no recommendation as to the land actually to be included in any annexation attempt, pointed out a source of some 1,100 residents in a three-square mile area around the village. It was projected that the population would remain relatively stable until 1985.

The township population was seen as increasing from its present 16,000 to about 90,000 by that time.

THEY'LL TALK

The report offers the appearance of any committee member for talks before any interested groups.

Serving with Haeusler were Jerome Wilford, Norman Daniels, Clifford Gardner, Henry Wolfenden, Charles Fletcher, Lewis Wint and Dr. Herbert Swanson.

Delay for Legal Opinion Snags Asphalt Plant Plea

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Action has been postponed on a request to operate an asphalt plant on 147 acres at the northwest corner of Bass Lake and Sleeth roads pending a legal opinion.

The opinion is expected to spell out the authority the township board of appeals has over the proposed plant, said Township Supervisor Robert H. Long.

★ ★ ★

First part of the public hearing on the request to operate the plant was Wednesday. The hearing is scheduled to resume July 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall.

The request is made by landowner John N. Doherty, West Bloomfield Township supervisor; Portable Aggregate Producers Inc. of Troy, which is now excavating sand and gravel from the parcel, and Barrett Paving Materials Department of Allied Chemical Corp. of Romulus and New York, which is planning to operate the asphalt plant.

IN TEN YEARS

Representatives of the two firms informed the 25 residents in the audience that the excavation and asphalt operations could be closed in 10 years.

Plans of the petitioners then call for residential development of the land.

★ ★ ★

The excavation operation without addition of a plan would continue possibly 15 years, the petitioners said.

These plans made it possible for the petitioners to make their second request to the board. Last September, the board refused the same request chiefly on grounds that the asphalt operation would generate too much traffic, said Long.

ONE IN FAVOR

Of the 10 persons who expressed opinions at the hearing, only one, Charles Martin, approved the operation. He said the sooner the gravel was taken out the sooner the land could be put to a better use, Long reported.

The nine others who spoke objected to the operation because of the added traffic it would bring. These residents also pointed out that the trucks follow the same route as the school buses.

★ ★ ★

The excavation operation is a nonconforming use of the land, which is zoned agricultural and is designated for residences in the general development plan put into effect in 1954.

Excavating is allowed to continue because it began before 1954, explained the supervisor.

Level of Lake to Be Raised

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The level of White Lake will rise artificially by next month.

A pump under construction at Navarra and Lakegrove is designed to hike the lake 5½ inches per month. Recent measurement of the level shows it to be 25 inches below its legal level.

★ ★ ★

With construction about 85 per cent complete, completion is expected at the end of this month, said an Oakland County Drain Commission spokesman.

The pump, to work with a 275-foot well, will add 2,650 gallons to the lake per minute. The water will go from the pump sites, into a lagoon to the east of the pump, and will then wind toward the lake.

$1,800 PROVIDED

The pump should take the level up to the legally set 1,019.1 feet. The White Lake Citizens League provided $1,800 in late 1964 to cover preliminary costs of setting the level.

The project will be financed by a $4.50 per lake-front foot assessment to lake front property owners to be paid over five years.

Smaller assessments will also be paid by residents having access to the lake.

★ ★ ★

Total cost of the project is $159,000 with $82,187 going to Layne Northern Co. of Lansing which is constructing the pump.

Teen Arrested in Chicago in Slaying of Jordanian

CHICAGO (AP) — Police today arrested Aaron Myers, 19, in connection with the death of a Jordanian grocer who they had speculated may have been shot in revenge for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Myers, was charged with the murder of Abder Rayyan, 55, the father of nine children, policeman Robert Bonner said. Police declined comment on the arrest.

* * *

Rayyan was shot in the head Saturday as he bent over a vegetable bin in his store, his daughter, Zuhdeia, 22, who witnessed the shooting.

She said two men entered, one of them pulled out a pistol and they walked silently to where Rayyan was working. The gunman put the pistol behind Rayyan's left ear and fired twice, she said. The second shot missed.

ANOTHER MAN

Police were searching for another man.

After the shooting; police noted the man charged with murdering Kennedy, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, is a native of Jordan. They indicated at the time the Rayyan killing might have oeen in revenge.

Rayyan left Jordan 16 years ago and lived in South America until 1963 when he came to the United States.

RFK Driver Beaten, Robbed in D. C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lee E. Morrow, personal driver for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was beaten and robbed in the early Sunday hours after being on duty for 24 hours with the grieving family.

* * *

Police said Morrow, 45, was stopped by seven juveniles a block from his Northeast Washington home. They hit him in the face with a stick and took his wallet, containing 50 cents and three gasoline credit cards in Kennedy's name.

Morrow was not seriously hurt, police said.

The youths fled.

Gesture of Homage to Kennedy

Cambodia Prince Frees 2 GIs

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk today released two American soldiers as a gesture of homage to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The two soldiers, Jerry A. Tester and Ronald J. Lehrmann of the 560th Military Police Company, were aboard a Philippine tug that strayed into Cambodian waters in the Mekong Delta.

They were turned over to the Australian Embassy, which has represented the United States in Cambodia since Sihanouk broke relations with Washington.

There was no immediate indication when or how the men would leave Cambodia.

MESSAGE OF SYMPATHY

In a message of sympathy to Sen. Kennedy's widow, Cambodia's ruling prince said:

"The royal government, the Cambodian people and I want to express our admiration and our respect to the Kennedy family whose sacrifices for the cause of peace, justice and liberty for the oppressed must not be in vain for the honor of the American people and the future of humanity."

The prince also sent a message of sympathy to Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who was his guest when she visited Cambodia last year.

INADVERTENT INTRUSION

The U.S. government had protested the detention of the men and said the tug intruded inadvertently into Cambodian waters due to a navigational error.

The Cambodian government rejected the protest, saying the boat passed a "clearly visible" Cambodian border post on the river bank and ignored signals ordering it to turn back.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H® — an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress — Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection.

Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

Seattle Underground Uncovered, Restored

By CATHY NEVILLE

SEATTLE — People are standing in line to see Seattle's underground, the elite, sometimes illicit and often underwater portion of the city that now lies 15 to 35 feet below the traffic-clogged streets.

For almost 40 years the underground was the Seattle business district: a collection of banks, restaurants and outfitters who sold supplies to thousands of miners heading for Alaska with gold in their eyes.

* * *

Then, on June 6, the business city suffered a severe setback when a glue pot overturned in a furniture shop at First Avenue and Madison Street. The major part of the town, 66 blocks, burned to the ground.

As the smoldering ruins cooled, the city fathers began to replan Seattle and, without intending it, began to create a very large and well-preserved exhibit of what life was like just before the turn of the century.

UNOFFICIAL CURATOR

Bill Speidel, a former newspaperman and publisher of a weekly entertainment magazine, is the unofficial curator of the exhibit and a long-time champion of preserving Seattle's historic Pioneer Square area.

In 1965 Speidel scraped together $500, fought a few battles with city regulations and began guiding visitors through two blocks of the estimated eight acres of underground Seattle. In three years nearly 100,000 people have made the tour.

* * *

"The present life is so complex that people like to cling to the old days when things were more simple," he said.

The underground was created when Seattle raised its streets as it rebuilt after the fire. Much of modern Seattle is built on what was originally water or swamp. Early residents got along by storing their gunpowder and flour on the top shelf and shoveling sawdust into the wettest spots. But by 1889 there were over 44,000 people in Seattle. The high tide things became complicated.

BRICK WALLS

As the city was rebuilt, brick walls were constructed on each side of the streets. These walls were high enough to be well above high tide and were then filled with rocks, debris from the fire and dirt before roads — the same roads used today — were built ontop of them.

As buildings were rebuilt they were based on the old foundations now sometmes 15 to 30 feet below the level of the street. The sidewalks were left uncovered and many stores continued business in their old first floor offices with stairs leading up to the street.

* * *

However the uncovered sidewalks created problems. Horses, carriages and people fell the 10 feet or more from the street to the sidewalks often enough that the city finally ordered that the sidealks be coverd. After that many businesses moved to the floors above and the basements were sealed and old sidewalks forgotten.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups have aided Speidel in his efforts to restore many of the old buildings and to open the underground.

* * *

High school students and Jaycees pitched in to shovel 10 truckloads of dirt, rocks, bottles and junk out of the underground. They also explored, discovering lathe-turned pillars, inlaid tile floors, the remains of some speakeasy, stone building fronts and original wooded sidewalks. Some of the original signs still hang on the buildings now below street level.

UNDERGROUND ANTIQUES—Bill Speidel pauses for a moment in the underground section of an antique store run by Mrs. Inge Jolley (front) in the section closest to the finished area of the underground.

Foam Cannon: Antiriot Tool?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A National Guard officer believes he has devised a harmless method for cleaning up riots with soap and water.

Lt. John Graf, 24, of the 101st Calvary's C Troop, tried out his idea Sunday with men of his command and it proved to be a billowing success.

* * *

"You're totally disoriented and you feel weightless," Graf said as his men foundered in the foam during the test at a training reservation near suburban Meadowbrook.

Graf of Trevose, Pa., worked out plans for his bubble gun with his empoyers, the Pennsylvania Box and Lumber Corp. And the Walter G. Kidde Co. of Bellevue, N.J.

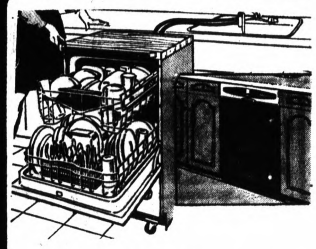

After two weeks of work and an outlay of $18,000, they devised the foam cannon. Mounted on an armed personnel carrier, the gun shoots under pressure a stream of liquid soap and water that forms suds.

Music and Children Highlight Her Life

By JUNE ELERT

The MEA (Master of Education in Administration) degree Geraldine Cheal received yesterday from Michigan State University, will sit lightly alongside the BME received in 1940 from Seaton Hill College, Greensburg, Pa., and the MME acquired in 1947 from University of Michigan.

JUNE

Gerry, as her friends know her, taught music for six years in Pennsylvania schools before moving to these parts. She has been employed in the vocal music department of the Pontiac school system for 14 years.

These years have been devoted, mainly, to elementary teaching, though she has had, this past year, the added responsibilities of heading the elementary vocal music staff.

Teacher, student and mother-wife-homemaker roles have combined and intertwined except for a brief eight years following the birth of the twins, Dale and Diane, in 1950. William, Lee and Robert also made appearances during those years.

Husband Bill, Pontiac's City Auditor, is a talented trombonist and has been the boys' teacher from the beginning.

Gerry gave Diane her start on the piano but relinquished this role to Mrs. James Forman who has also taught Dale and Billy.

With the ink hardly dry on Mrs. Cheal's new degree, she and Bill will attend graduation ceremonies Thursday for three of their children.

At 10 a.m. Billy will graduate from ninth grade at Washington Junior High School, where he has been a valued member and solist in the advanced band, playing euphonium and trombone.

In the evening, Dale and Diane will receive their diplomas from Pontiac Central High School in ceremonies at Wisner Stadium. Both are National Honor Society members.

Dividing their loyalties between their mother's two Michigan alma maters, Dale will enter University of Michigan as a music education major specializing in brass instruments; Diane will go to Michigan State, also in music education with emphasis on piano and voice.

Lee and Robert both play cornet in the Washington Junior High School band and are section leader rivals.

Gerry's love affair with music began in the third grade with a "perfectly wonderful" music teacher who served as her model.

She sang with choirs and glee clubs in high school and college and, though never a solo performer, used to have fun doing imitations of Kate Smith.

Her job is keeping her "on the hop" right now with preparations for seven separate children's programs winding up the year in the three schools in which she teaches, Whitfield, Willis and Central Elementary.

She is also interviewing prospective teachers for the music department and taking part in workshops designed to select a new series of texts.

A sometime comspoer, Gerry authored the Pontiac Centennial theme song, "This Is Our City, Pontiac" and a school song for Irving Elementary.

Talent, determination and lots of work seem to be the ingredients of success for Gerry Cheal.

She is looking forward to seeing the children through college.

In the meantime, practice is the order of the day, every day, in the Cheal home on Cherokee road. These parents insist on an hour's music practice every day, including weekends.

* * *

Gerry says, "We give them one day off a year, and that's on Christmas."

Patient May Ask Roommate to Lower TV

By ELIZABETH POST

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. Harry Caples of Lutherville, Md.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: Just recently I needed help very much. In a semi-private hospital room, when my roommate had company (often six persons who stayed two hours), I felt awkward lying there that length of time, unable to leave the room, to concentrate on reading, or even go to sleep.

When I had company I wondered whether to introduce them to the roommate, to include her in the conversation, and sometimes whether to ask her to turn down her loud TV.

Frankly, I think it would be better for both roommates and their company to draw the curtain between the beds at such times for privacy. Let me know your opinion.—Margaret Caples.

Dear Mrs. Caples: In the enforced intimacy of a semi-private room, it would seem most unfriendly not to introduce your roommate to your visitors. If she is alone at the time, it is also kind to include her in the conversation. However, this is up to her.

If the one who is alone wishes to rest, read, or watch TV, she may, and should, say so, and draw the curtain herself to allow the patient with visitors a little privacy. For her to draw the curtain does not have the same unfriendly effect as if the others draw it and excludes her when she is alone. Either roommate is always free to ask the other to turn down the radio of the TV.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that we receive each week, we'll send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette.

Surgeon Charges Despite Failure

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband went to the hospital for an operation which we knew would be serious, but we didn't know HOW serious. To make a long story short, he died on the operating table after nearly three hours of surgery.

ABBY

As you can imagine, I was pretty well broken up. Just as I was getting over the shock, here comes a bill from the surgeon for my poor deceased husband's operation! How money-hungry can a doctor be, anyway?

Anyone with half a brain knows that if the operation had been a success my husband would be alive today, so we can assume that the operation was a failure, right?

Please tell me, Dear Abby, is it considered ethical for a surgeon to send the widow a bill for an operation which failed?

THE WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: A surgeon invests the same amount of time, knowledge and skill in an operation which fails as in one which succeeds. There are no guarantees in surgery. If the patient dies, some surgeons will reduce the bill, which may or may not reduce the resentment on the part of the family. But it is indeed "ethical" to send a bill, regardless of the outcome.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and a junior at Shattuck school in Fairbault, Minn., and I would like to get something off my chest.

Sometimes I get very angry with a few of your generation for leaving the world in such a mess for my generation to clean up. I also get mad at some of my own friends at times for being so childlike and cowardly. When I see "hippies" I thank the Lord there aren't more of them. I mean, who would mind the store while we were freaking out somewhere if we were all like that?

I also get frustrated with draft card burners. Imagine what our men in Vietnam who are fighting and dying must think of that? If a man isn't willing to fight for his freedom, he doesn't deserve to be free. As far as I'm concerned, my draft card is my deed to freedom, and if I were to burn it, I would no longer be free.

Sincerely Yours,
BILL HUMLEKER

Pontiac Symphony Has Final Concert Outside

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

With the appearance of Skitch Henderson as guest conductor and soloist, the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra concluded its 14th season yesterday afternoon.

MRS. ROSENTHAL

The Baldwin Pavilion was the setting for the concert, and, in spite of the hot weather, a large and enthusiastic audience was on hand to hear a program of familiar music.

* * *

Mr. Henderson is a capable, knowledgeable conductor with sharp, direct style and a clipped "no nonsense" approach in his conducting.

The orchestra faired well under his baton in Bizet's second "L'Arliesenne" Suite, "Fair is Fair" by Rogers, "Hollywood Revisted" and Rogers' "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue".

* * *

However, his tendency to overplay the brass section marred his performance of Shulman's "Laurentian "Overture and Khatchaturian's "Gayne" Suite in which the tempi were too slow to be affective.

In his "Hollywood Revisisted" group, he conducted the orchestra in a beautiful arrangement of "Tara's Theme" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

* * *

His piano solos for "Laura" and "Thanks for the Memory" were little gems of a beautiful, refined pianistic style and personalized approach. His own inimitable way of playing is skillful, well thought out and thoroughly delightful.

* * *

It is a pity that there were only the two piano solos. The audience would have loved to have heard many more.

TRIBUTE

Felix Resnick, permanent conductor of the orchestra, opened the concert with Tschaikowsky's "Andante Cantabile" which was played as a triubte to the memory of Senator Robert Kennedy.

Mr. Resnick also conducted the major work of the program, Gershwin's "American in Paris".

Under his adept and smooth direction the orchestra blossomed out to its full potential. Here the orchestral sound was smooth, well-balanced, artistic and impressive.

* * *

With any orchestra, large or small, professional or semi-professional, there are weaknesses and rough edges. The skill of any conductor lies in his ability to compensate, to play up the strong-points and minimize the weaknesses. It is fortunate for the orchestra and all of us that Mr. Resnick is a past master at this art. His fine musical judgment, his artistic sense of timing and his exacting demands from his group all combined to produce a creative, high standard performance.

* * *

Check Termites in Springtime

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stepped on anything lately? It's the time of year for termites. That's the reason for the question.

* * *

Dr. Ralph E. Heal, executive secretary of the National Pest Control Association, says spring's the time to watch for such mites. He says you shouldn't panic if you see one or more. The bugs won't make off with your rafters overnight. But if you see one or more, call the exterminator.

Plane Lost; 2 Troy Men Are on Board

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Civil Air Patrol search planes and Coast Guard helicopters resumed their search today for a private plane with two Oakland County men aboard which disappeared on a flight from Antrim County Airport to Birmingham.

"We had a report from a citizen in the Roscommon area who said he heard a low flying aircraft and saw a flash in the sky Friday night," said Col. Roger Burgess, information officer for the Michigan Wing of the CAP. "But we didn't turn up anything."

The missing aircraft was a single engine Navion which vanished during a thunderstorm Friday. Aboard were Harry Kitchner of 349 Booth, Troy, the pilot, and Frank Tweedale of 1526 Muer, Troy, a passenger. They were returning from a flight to Antrim County, where two other passengers had disembarked.

Sunday's search concentrated on a heavily-wooded area east of Houghton Lake in Roscommon County, between Roscommon and St. Helen.

Two Detroit Men Drown as Wives Scream for Help

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While their horror-stricken, screaming wives attempted to reach them from shore with fishing poles, two friends drowned yesterday in Phoenix Lake of Wayne County's Plymouth Township.

They were among eight persons who drowned in Michigan over the weekend as 90-degree weather sent thousands scurrying to waterways and byways for relief.

Robert Evans, 53, and Jesse Atterbury, 56, both of Detroit, were those who drowned in Phoenix Lake. They had gone fishing there.

Evans, who had donned trunks for a swim, went under only some 20 feet out. Fully clothed, Atterbury jumped in and went to his rescue. As the men struggled in the water, their wives screamed for help and extended fishing poles that weren't long enough in a futile attempt to aid them.

RECOVERED BODY

Attracted by the streams of Mrs. Virginia Evans and Mrs. Pauline Atterbury, Richard Yuccasz, 18, of Garden City, drove around the lake and swam to the point where the men had gone down. He recovered Evans' body, but resuscitation efforts failed. Atterbury's body was found later.

Richard Hicks, 19, of Flint drowned Sunday, while attempting to swim across Idlewilde Lake in Lake County.

Key Bills Still Face Legislature

LANSING (AP) 8 four major budget bills and a number of other disputed measures will be waiting for Michigan legislators when they return to work June 25.

The House and Senate, both in session past midnight Friday morning before recessing for 18 days, still disagree on several measures and are negotiating differences in conference committees.

* * *

Chief among the bills in conference are appropriations to finance the departments of public health, mental health and education — and the state's public colleges and universities — in the year beginning July 1.

The higher education bill — next to school aid the largest of the pending measures which will comprise Michigan's $1.3 billion general fund budget — passed the Senate at $247 million, bt the House raised it to $252 million.

$430,000 ADDED

The House also added $430,000 to the Senate's $25.56 million appropriation to the State Department of Education.

Conferees are much closer together on the two health bills, but each is caught up in a emotional issue.

The $19-million-plus public health measure stalled in the Legislature over the question of a $300,000 addition for treatment of kidney disease.

The $150-million mental health bill has been similarly snarled by the efforts of Rep. Peter Kok, R-Grand Rapids, chairman of the House Mental Health Committee, to add another $1 million to the House Appropriation Committee's figure.

LICENSING AUTHORITY

Among other bills now in House-Senate conference are measures which would:

—Give State Police authority to license and regulate private police agencies.

—Outlaw customers "games" at retail outlets.

—Increase the property tax exemptions of disaeled veterans.

* * *

—PROVIDE A TICKETED DRIVER WHO SAILED TO SHOW UP IN COURT ON HIS DUE DATE WOULD BE GUILTY OF A MISDEMEANOR AND COULD LOSE

Radio Problems in Riot Are Aired

DETROIT (AP) — Testimony on communication problems during the Detroit riot last July will be presented to the subcommittee on regulatory agencies of the U.S. House Select Committee on Small Business today and tomorrow.

* * *

U.S. Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., who is subcommittee chairman, said the hearings will be held to determine whether the work of the police and fire departments and other public safety agencies were hampered by a lack of an adequate radio spectrum.

"We shall explore the degree to which effective riot control has been hampered by the Federal Communication Commission's policies with respect to the assignment and allocation of radio frequencies," Dingell said.

Testimony on the Detroit riot will be received in Room 859 of the federal building in Detroit at 10 a.m. both days.

* * *

Witnesses will include Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, Dearborn Mayor Orville L. Hubbard, Detroit Police Commissioner Ray Girardin, and Dearborn Police Chief John B. O'Reilly.

Dingell said a spokesman from the State Police and the most of the mayors and police chiefs in the Detroit area also have been invited to appear.

Junior Editors Quiz on MAGNETS

QUESTION: How can one make a magnet?

* * *

ANSWER: The magnets you use are generally of the bar or curved type. Magnetism is caused by the arrangement of the tiny iron molecules. A molecule has a different kind of electric pole at each end. In electricty, opposites attract each other; similar poles repel. With an unmagnetized bar, the molecules are all jumbled around.

But when magnetized, the molecules snap into neat rows like soldiers, all poles of the same kind pointing the same way. This creates a magnetic force which can reach out beyond the bar and attract an object like an iron nail, which it can pick up.

A piece of steel makes a lasting magnet. You can magnetize it by stroking with a bar magnet.

Our picture shows another way to make a magnet. Line a metal bar up with a compass so that it lies north and south. Hold the north end on a table and hit the south end with a hammer. The bar becomes a magnet because the molecules have been jarred into position to pull together.

The pictures at top show what happens when you put a piece of paper covered with iron filings over two magnets and tap the paper. The filings are rearranged along electric lines of force.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Long-Time Career in Education Comes to End

VERNON (AP) — Nearly a lifetime in the Vernon school now appropriately named after her ended for Mrs. Nellie Reed Lahring Friday when she retired after almost 50 years in education.

Her grade school and high school careers and 44 of her 48 years as a teacher have all been spent in the Nellie Reed Elementary school in this small village southeast of Owosso.

* * *

Principal of the school that bears her name for the past eight years, Mrs. Lahring has been known as "Nellie Reed" by thousands of students, including two and three generations of some families.

Although she was married to C. L. Lahring of Durand Jan. 23, 1967, many of her students still call her "Mrs. Reed."

"I respond to both names," she said with a smile.

IN RECOGNITION

The school was named "The Nellie Reed Elementary School" in January 1965, in recognition of her contributions to education in Vernon over the last nearly 50 years at the conclusion of a major school construction program in the Corunna district, which included a large addition to the Vernon school.

For all practical purposes, the addition was really a new school since most of the old school, which served as a high school for many years, was torn down. The bell from the old school occupies a place of prominence in the elementary school lobby.

* * *

Her long career as a teacher began in 1920 at a small rural school near here, where she stayed for two years. In 1922, Mrs. Lahring returned to the Vernon School, teaching six, seventh and eighth graders. Vernon High School closed its doors for the last time in 1943.

She has taught at Vernon ever since with the exception of two years at the beginning of World War II. In 1940 and 1941, she taught at another rural school near Vernon, but returned to the Vernon school the following year.

Actually, Mrs. Lahring won't be retiring completely. She plans on doing some substitute teaching in the Corunna schools. And so still more students may yet know her as "Mrs. Reed" and-or "Mrs. Lahring."

Huge Underwater Peak to Anchor Weather Tower

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP) — A weather station will be towed 300 miles out to sea this week and fastened to a peak that soars nearly 12,000 feet above the ocean floor.

Cobb Seamount, a towering underwater mountain, comes to within 100 feet of the surface due west of the Columbia River's mouth. The weather station that is to be anchored to the mountain's top is a steel cylinder whose upper end will stick into the air and send telegraphic weather reports back to land.

'A GAMBLE'

"It's a technological gamble," said a representative of Oregon State University's Marine Science Center. "But we think it will work."

Monday morning State's oceanography research ship The cylinder, called Totem II, is 180 feet long and 3½ feet Cayuse will start towing the cylinder toward Cobb Seamount. in diameter. The bottom is fitted with a steel spike 3½ feet long. The top is fitted with weather recording instruments and an automatic transmitter.

Humphrey Nomination Seems Sure, N.Y. Times Says

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey stands to inherit such a large share of the national convention delegates left unattached by the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy that his nomination for the presidency seems assured, The New York Times said today.

* * *

This, the Washington story said, was the major conclusion of a survey of the effect of the Kennedy assassination on the Democratic party's choice of a nominee conducted by correspondents of the Times over the weekend.

* * *

The story also said in part:

The state-by-state inquiry indicated that more than 400 delegates who had been pledged or were leaning toward the New York senator or available to his cause are now expected to support Humphrey at the Chicago convention, which starts Aug. 26.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, the only remaining contender in the field, has the allegiance of only about 75 delegates who had previously been considered in the Kennedy camp.

The addition of more than 400 delegates to his existing convention strength would give Humphrey more than 1,600 delegates, by a generally conservative count. The majority needed for nomination is 1,312.

* * *

Comparable estimates of McCarthy's delegate strength, not including any results from New York, were less than 450.

This left about 600 delegates listed as undecided.

Political activity, its fanfare muted by Kennedy's assassination, resumes Tuesday with these developments:

—Interest in the Illinois primary centers on a four-way race for the GOP gubernatorial nomination between Cook County chairman Richard B. Ogilvie, Peoria industrialist John Henry Altorfer, former Gov. William G. Stratton and S. Thomas Sutton of Elmhurst. Democrats elect 48 of their 118 convention delegates and Republicans 48 of their 58 delegates.

* * *

—In Texas state conventions, Gov. John Connally—considered a Humphrey backer—is expected to take commandof the 104-member Democratic delegation and Sen. John G. Tower is expected to control 56 GOP delegate votes at least for the first national convention ballot.

* * *

—Further Alabama Gov. George Wallace resumes his third party presidential campaign with a 12-day fund-raising swing through eight southern states.

* * *

—In a South Carolina Democratic primary, Sen. Ernest Hollings, seeking the nomination for re-election, is challenged by John Bolt Culbertson, a Greenville lawyer.

A spokesman said GOP candidate Richard M. Nixon has not decided when to resume his campaign.

* * *

McCarthy has announced he will begin campaigning Thursday for support among New York's 190 Democratic delegates, the bulk of whom will be elected in a Jun 18 primary.

Rose is expected to arrive in Portsmouth about June 23.

Poor People's Rally Gets New Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sterling Tucker, director of the Washington Urban League, has agreed to organize a June 19 march in support of the Poor People's Campaign and promised efforts to keep it peaceful.

"We want to create not a climate of fear," Tucker said Sunday, "but a climate of concern."

He was invited by campaign leader Dr. Ralph David Abernathy to lead the march after veteran New York civil rights leader Bayard Rustin quit the job last week in a dispute with campaign leaders.

Tucker did not immediately accept. He was quoted as saying over the weekend he agrees with the principles of Abernathy's Southern Christian Leadership Conference but had "to be convinced I can help."

DECISION

Tucker, who had worked closely with Rustin as Washington coordinator of the march, said he did not decide until 2 a.m. Sunday to accept the leadership.

He said the purpose of the march is "to give thousands of Americans who cannot participate in the daily activities of Resurrection City a chance to demonstrate their commitment to the Poor People's Campaign."

He refused to estimate how many would participate but said he hopes for a cross-section of Americans "in such numbers that it will be clear that there are people who are concerned who are not poor."

Tucker, executive director of the Washington Urban League for 11 years, was vice chairman of the 1963 march on Washington at which Dr. Martin Luther King made his "I Have a Dream" speech before 200,000 people.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Film maker Andy Warhol, shot by an actress last Monday, was still in critical condition today at Columbus Hospital.

Hospital authorities early this morning said Warhol was "critical with some improvement."

N.J. Train Tragedy Being Investigated

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Investigations have been launched into the accident that killed two persons as they stood on railroad tracks to view Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's funeral train.

The victims were struck by a northbound train coming around a bend just as they watched the southbound Kennedy train move through the Elizabeth station.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Penn Central Railroad said Sunday that because of the Kennedy train, special safety precautions were being taken by the northbound train involved in the accident.

David E. Smucker, vice president of operations for the line, said the engineer of the northbound train had been told by two-way radio that the tracks were crowded with mourners.

REDUCED SPEED

"In response," Smucker said of the engineer, "he had reduced the speed with which he proceeded around the S-curve from the allowable rate of 55 miles an hour to approximately 30 miles an hour."

"And," Smucker added, "he was repeatedly sounding the locomotive horn and the train bell. The locomotive bell also was on."

★ ★ ★

Agencies investigating the accident, which also injured five persons, are the Interstate Commerce Commission, the New Jersey Public Utilities Commission, the Union County prosecutor's office and Elizabeth police. The railroad also was investigating.

The victims were Mrs. Antoinette Sevirini and John P. Cruia, both 56 and both of whom lived in the same apartment development in Elizabeth.

REMAINS HOSPITALIZED

Mrs. Sevirini's grandaughter, 3-year-old Debra Ann Kwiatek of Linden, was the only one of the five injured who remained hospitalized today.

She was listed in fair condition at Elizabeth General Hospital.

Joseph Fausti, 18, who was critically burned in Trenton when his head touched a high tension wire as he stood on a boxcar to view the train, is in the intensive care unit at St. Francis Hospital with burns over most of his body.

The union has provided skeleton crews and a previous ban on water sprinkling has been modified to the extent home owners with even street numbers may sprinkle today and odd numbers may sprinkle Tuesday under an alternate plan to conserve water.

Tito Promises School Reform

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Part of the rebellious student movement at Belgrade University agreed Sunday night to return to classes after President Tito promised them educational, political and economic reforms.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the Communist party youth and student organizations joined with leaders of the student action committee in adopting a proposal to return to classes. They had given sufficient guarantees that the students' demands would be carried out.

★ ★ ★

"It was more and much better than we expected," a member of the student action committee said of Tito's broadcast speech.

The most extreme of the Belgrade students, assembled in the self-styled "Karl Marx Red University," did not respond at once, but there was no sign of disapproval. After Tito spoke, leaders of the group met privately.

Westmoreland Saying Goodby in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — In a whirlwind of farewells, Gen. William C. Westmoreland took leave of his men on the northern frontier and at sea Sunday, then said goodbye with a "good luck and God bless you all" to the officers and men of his headquarters today.

Wearing starched fatigues with razor sharp creases, and standing ramrod straight on the sunny parade grounds of the Military Assistance Command Vietnam at Tan Son Nhut Air Base, Westmoreland told 600 of his headquarters personnel it is "most difficult to leave all of you . . . who have served so faithfully and well."

★ ★ ★

Westmoreland relinquishes his command of U.S. forces in Vietnam to his deputy, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, this week, flies to Manila to pick up his family, and then will travel by ship to Honolulu. He becomes chief of staff of the U.S. Army on July 2.

"Please accept my very best wishes for continued success," Westmoreland told his staff, "and my fervent hope that peace and security for the long suffering and freedom loving people of Vietnam will soon reward your efforts."

Abrams praised Westmoreland as the skilled architect who had "forged into an effective military force" the U.S., Vietnamese and allied military units serving in Vietnam.

It was one of Westmoreland's last departure ceremonies. There will be no formal change of command.
