New Kansas Twister Smashes Into Wichita

Senators Approve Amendments Putting Teeth in Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a vote of 86-0, the Senate wrote into its labor bill today additional powers for the secretary of labor to force union compliance with its terms.

Lack of such powers was one of the criticisms of the bill voiced earlier this week by Secretary of Labor Mitchell.

An amendment putting them in was offered by Sen. John S. Cooper (R-Ky), and was accepted by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), chief sponsor of the measure.

Kennedy said he would have been glad to put it in while the bill was in the Labor Committee if the administration had pushed it there.

The amendment would give the secretary subpoena powers to compel testimony of witnesses and the production of books and records in enforcing sections dealing with union elections, trusteeships and financial reporting by unions, union officers and employers.

Kennedy also agreed to accept amendments by Cooper concerned with exempting small unions from the financial reporting requirements and with making financial reports available to rank-and-file union members.

In opening debate on the measure — designed to curb union abuses and also give organized labor some of the things it wants —Kennedy accused Mitchell of gross misstatements and falacious claims about the bill.

Kennedy said the comments by Mitchell in a statement Mon-

3 Golfers Share Early Open Lead

Jimmy Demaret, Ward, Crampton 35 Going Out at Southern Hills

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Bruce Crampton of Australia and Harvie Ward, two-time National Amateur champion from San Francisco and veteran pro Jimmy Demaret took the early lead in the National Open Golf Championship today.

Theirs were the only par scores posted at wind-blasted Southern Hills Country Club.

Crampton and Ward posted even par 35s for the front nine of the 6,907-yard, par 70, Southern Hills course on a day when a stiff south wind caused all sorts of trouble. With about a quarter of the field of 162 through the first nine, scores in the 40s were more common than those close to par.

Demaret, a steady-shooting 48-year-old Texan who feels he knows how to cope with heat and wind, shot nine straight pars going out. Ward and Crampton weren't as consistent but wound up even with him.

One stroke behind at this stage were Tommy Bolt, another seasoned tournament player, Lloyd Mangrum, the 1946 Open Champion, and a couple of little-known professionals, Ed Kringle of Jersey City, N.Y., and John O'Donnell of Baltimore.

Students Head for Vacation Fun as Schools Close

SUMMER DREAMS — This morning was not the one for concentration on studies for the more than 19,000 Pontiac students. It was the last day of the public school year and many minds wandered toward summer fun. These three Herrington Elementary School third graders are already far afield. Left to right: Kenny Tolbert, 717 Bay St., dreams of all of the summer mornings he will be able to sleep in; the out-of-this-world gaze of Cindy Malwitz, 502 Moore St., proves she's not thinking about studies . . . romping under a sprinkler will be much more fun; Raymond Bower, 489 Cameron St., has traded arithmetic problems for the national game.

Senate Debates Trade Program

Sen. Knowland Seeks to Reduce Length of Extension to 3 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's House-passed reciprocal trade agreements program hit a snag in the Senate Republican leadership today.

In the face of a lop-sided 317-98 House vote yesterday to continue presidential control over tariffs for five years, Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif) announced he will back a move to reduce the extension to three years. The House rejected a two-year limit.

However, Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said that while he reserves the right to support other amendments to the House bill he believes the Senate eventually will pass a measure "generally satisfactory" to Eisenhower.

The bill would give Eisenhower authority to reduce U.S. tariffs on imports as much as 25 per cent over the five-year period in return for similar concessions by other countries on U.S. exports.

★ ★ ★

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, traditionally a supporter of the trade program, said the House bill will be given top priority in the Senate.

Gets Top Priority at MSU-O

Student Center Planned

A $400,000 student center is being eyed by Michigan State University as the next major installation at its Oakland County campus, under development east of Pontiac.

"Such a facility has been given the top priority, but how soon it becomes a reality depends upon when the legislature appropriates construction funds," said Dr. D. B. Varner, MSU vice president, addressing the Greater Pontiac Community Council annual meeting last night.

Plans have been drawn up, Varner said, for a center with lounge and cafeteria accommodating up to 1,500 students per meal. This dovetails with the university's expectation of 1,500 students on hand by 1960, he said.

The student center would be located immediately to the east of the classroom building, Varner said, with room for expansion to three times its initial size.

According to the plans, it would contain about 22,000 square feet divided more or less evenly between a kitchen and cafeteria on one side and a student lounge on the other.

"It is considered highly important that we provide the students with facilities to eat and relax during the long classroom day," Varner said.

The plans were prepared by Swanson Associates, Inc., the Bloomfield Hills architects who designed the classroom-administration building currently under construction.

Financed through a $2 million gift from Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, the initial educational plant is designed for 1,500 stu-

Nervy Burglar Loots Officers' Skating Club

Some burglars have more nerve than others. One looted the Pontiac Skate Club, 35 Elizabeth St., of $35 — although the owners are three Pontiac police officers.

When Strike Would Be Effective

Auto Union Putting Locals in Position to Walk Out

By JIM KLOCKENKEMPER

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union is slowly putting its locals at some 275 big three auto plants around the country in position to strike when the strike becomes an effective weapon again.

The UAW bargaining strategy was revealed today by announcement that more locals at Ford and General Motors are taking the initial steps toward holding strike votes.

Ford Local 551 at Chicago has voted 1,446 to 6 for authorizing a strike vote; Mercury Local 325 at St. Louis took similar action by 1186 votes to 56; Ford Local 600 at Dearborn, largest UAW local with 26,000 members employed currently, will take an "authorization" vote in the next three or four weeks; GM-Ternstedt Local 969 in Columbus has also called an authorization vote meeting.

It also was learned that seven General Motors locals have voted to authorize a strike and that at least 13 other GM locals have set dates for such votes.

At least 20 of the UAW locals representing 124 General Motors plants have taken initial steps toward strike action. Seven have taken authorization votes and 13 have set dates for holding authorization votes.

Ken Bannon, head of the UAW Ford Department, said the au-

Condemnation Hearings Go On

6 Court Commissioners Handling Perry Street Property Cases

Hearings to condemn 36 pieces of property needed by the state for the widening of Perry street (M24) resumed today before three court commissioners.

Next Tuesday another set of hearings, for the same purpose, will open before three other commissioners.

The state has appraised estimated prices of all the property not yet acquired at $60,870. Separate parcel appraisals range from $50 to $11,000.

The Michigan State Highway Dept. earlier this year filed suit in the Oakland County Circuit and Probate Courts to acquire numerous parcels from abutting property owners along Perry in order that the state trunkline may be widened from two to four lanes.

It's the duty of the six court commissioners, appointed by Oakland judges, to appraise prices to be paid the owners.

The task is so large that instead of placing all hearings before three commissioners, another three were named to speed the condemnation. Construction work is already under way on the $1,350,000 project.

There were well over 100 parcels needed for the entire four-mile widening. Negotiations out of court acquired more than 50 per cent of these for the state.

40 Homes Hit; Second Funnel Rips Nebraska

Flood Disasters Cause Evacuation of 5,000 in Central Indiana

From Our News Wires

Black funnels renewed their destructive march along Midwest's "Tornado Alley" late yesterday, and rivers crested in flood-stricken Indiana.

Forty homes in a two-and-a-half block area in Wichita, Kan., were damaged when a tornado swept through the northeast section, and at least four persons were injured.

Residents of the area are extremely tornado conscious since a big twister devastated part of El Dorado, Kan., northeast of Wichita Tuesday, killing 13 persons.

High tension wires were ripped down in the Witchita storm and officials said damage would have been more severe had the twister made a direct hit.

Another tornado ripped into Scottsbluff, in Nebraska's Panhandle, destroying outbuildings, corrals and farm machinery on an outlying farm. Meanwhile, raging winds and heavy hail inflicted damages on the sugar beet, bean and corn crops.

★ ★ ★

Several other tornadoes were sighted throughout the Midwest, but early reports indicated damages were not severe.

New thunderstorms ranged across parts of Illinois and Indiana, heightening an already dangerous flood situation in the latter state.

5,000 FLEE HOMES

Floodwaters termed the worst in 45 years raged through North Central Indiana today, causing at least 5,000 persons to flee their homes.

A state of emergency was declared in Peru, Ind. by Mayor John Devine as the Wabash River overflowed its banks last night and caused about 1,000 persons to abandon their homes.

Congressman John Beamer (R-Ind) sent a plea to President Eisenhower to declare Marion a disaster area, saying up to 100 blocks of the city are under water.

Copper Mining in Porcupine Mountains?

Conservationists Fear Ruin of State Park

By ROBERT B. TARR
Managing Editor, Pontiac Press

Michigan's 58,000-acre Porcupine Mountains State Park, on the shore of Lake Superior, has become the center of a heated controversy involving conservationists, mining interests and Upper Peninsula citizens seeking to boost the area's economy.

★ ★ ★

The park, 20 miles west of Ontonagon in the Upper Peninsula, is a scenic, heavily forested area embracing the remains of what was once a mighty mountain range. It contains the highest point of land in the state (about 2,300 feet), is criss-crossed by great ridges and escarpments containing some of the oldest rocks on the surface of the earth, and possesses a rich vegetation. It is one of the state's last wilderness areas.

WANT ORE WORK

Two mining firms which control some 69 per cent of the mineral rights in the park propose to remove low grade copper ore which underlies 15 of the 95 sections of the park and is also present under off-shore lands in Lake Superior.

They are asking the State Conservation Commission to approve mining operations on the 31 per cent of the park on which they have no leases.

Among those in this area who have questioned the wisdom of copper mining in the Porcupines is Dr. Robert T. Hatt, director of Cranbrook Institute of Science.

In his opinion mining in the park proper or even in an area along the mouth of the Presque Isle River is incompatible with the preservation of the park as an example of scenic grandeur and wilderness.

"The finest of our state parks could be seriously damaged," he warns.

The fact that mining companies will pay a sizable tax, royalties of considerable value, in addition to an important payroll, will be used to promote the project, he said. But he warned that after the available ore is exhausted the usual ghost towns will appear to blight the whole area.

He maintains that the assurance that mining can be so controlled as to cause little damage to the park is a highly debatable assertion.

Upper Peninsula groups have declared that some $22,000,000 worth of copper a year could be taken out of the Porcupines for the next 50 years, and the operation would give a tremendous boost to Upper Peninsula economy.

Conservationists claim that such operation will surely spoil the state's last wilderness area, and that the economic uplift is more likely to run its course in 25 years rather than 50.

They add that the long-time value of the park far outweighs the short-time economic factor.

TO DELAY DECISION

The State Conservation Commission, meeting at Higgins Lake today and Friday, will hear proponents of both sides of the question. Gerald E. Eddy, state conservation director, says no immediate decision is likely as members of the commission need more time to study the many-sided problem.

Two firms seeking to push mining in the Porcupine area are the Bear Creek Mining Co., a subsidiary of Kennecott Copper Co., and American Metals & Refining Co., a subsidiary of American Metals-Climax.

Leading opposition to the mining operations is Conservation Commissioner Clarence J. Messner of Grosse Pointe, who is convinced the operations might despoil the park. He is supported by such groups as the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the Audubon Society and the Michigan Botanical Club.

When the state park was created in 1944 under a $1,000,000 appropriation by the Legislature, mineral rights under 69 per cent of the land were retained by the original owners. The mining companies have acquired these rights.

Under the law, the companies may be able to make reasonable use of their leases, including building of shaft houses and other surface facilities.

Whether the establishment of mining towns and the accumulation of huge piles of waste material after the copper is extracted from the ore can be prevented is one of the pertinent questions to the present discussion. Possibility of dumping the waste material (a fine dust) into the deepest part of Lake Superior has been discussed.

Ready Reports on Near Miss

Stewardess, Passenger Injured as Pilot Dives Airliner to Avoid B52

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—United Air Lines and the Air Force prepared today to file with the Civil Aeronautics Authority reports of a near miss between two planes that might have spelled death for 18 persons.

★ ★ ★

The near miss took place yesterday south of Modesto, Calif., a central California city about 90 miles southwest of San Francisco.

The UAL plane made a sudden 500-foot dive to avoid hitting a B52 jet bomber.

The airliner dived so suddenly that a passenger, Peter S. Rodgers, and stewardess J. B. Hooper, both of Los Angeles, were taken to a Modesto hospital for examination of possible neck injuries.

The Convair had five passengers aboard and a pilot, co-pilot and stewardess. It had made several stops on its way up the central valley from Los Angeles.

Castle Air Force Base near Merced, from which the B52 had just taken off, said 10 crewmen were aboard the B52. None was injured.

At the time of the near miss, the airliner was approaching Modesto from the south after a stop in Merced. It was flying at 3,000 feet altitude, according to pilot H. K. Inglis of Los Angeles.

He said he put his plane into a steep dive and the planes avoided colliding by not more than 400 to 600 feet.

Both planes were flying CAA-approved courses.

Pontiac Attorney Seeks Political Post

Brakie J. Orr, Pontiac attorney, has become the first to announce his candidacy for the state representative seat from Oakland County's Fifth District since Rep. Donald A. Brown made his bid for the post of lieutenant governor.

Thirty-nine-year-old Orr, of 427 Dewey St., Royal Oak, this week submitted a $100 filing fee in announcing his first bid for an elective office. Orr is a Republican.

He has been practicing law in Pontiac since 1951. He received his law degree from the University of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Brown, of Royal Oak also, held the post in the state legislature for two years.

State Post Sought by Drayton Resident

Announcing today his first bid for a political office was Robert H. Chapin, Drayton Plains real estate broker who will seek nomination in August to run for Oakland County's First District seat in the House of Representatives.

Chapin, 36, of 46701 Dixie Hwy., yesterday filed nominating petitions with the county clerk for the post on the Democratic ticket.

District 1 encompasses the 14 townships in northern Oakland County.

The candidate is the father of six children, a graduate of Pontiac Central High School, attended the University of Michigan and served in the Marine Corps. He is also a past member of the Pontiac Real Estate Board.

AF Jet Bomber Missing

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — The wreckage of a B47 Stratojet bomber was found today in the Cold Hollow Mountains in Northern Vermont. All three crewmen were dead.

Game Warden Al Flagg was first to reach the wreckage. He removed two of the bodies.

★ ★ ★

Other ground and air parties were en route to the scene of the wreckage, located in the town of Montgomery near the Canadian border.

★ ★ ★

The wreckage had been sighted earlier from the air by a C47 search plane, and a helicopter was dispatched from Ethan Allen Air Force Base.

The Air Force had reported earlier today that a B47 medium jet bomber was missing after failing to land at Plattsburgh Air Force Base, N.Y.

The bomber was one of a flight of three flying a training mission from Hunter Air Force Base near Savannah, Ga., to Loring Air Force Base, Maine, last night.

When bad weather closed in over Maine, the flight was diverted to Plattsburgh where two of the B47s landed safely.

Police to Vote on Ouster Deal

Officers Disagree Over Expelling Those Signing Opposition Letter

In a stormy meeting last night, the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. voted to decide by secret ballot whether to expel members who signed a letter to the City Commission opposing the association's view on the PAS report.

The organization appeared about evenly divided in discussion on the ouster of the dissident members. Finally, one of the men who signed the letter, Robert Wachal, moved that a secret vote be conducted within the next 30 days on the ouster. The motion carried.

The letter, which told the commission that the officers did not feel it was their business to advise the city on who to hire or fire in the police department, ran counter to a resolution of the PPOA.

The resolution urged the ouster of Police Chief Herbert W. Straley on grounds that the study report by the Public Service Administration, of Chicago, had criticized his abilities as chief.

The rebel group charged unofficially that the meeting at which the resolution was passed was "rigged" in that many members were not notified of it or were told at the last minute. This charge was flatly denied by association officers.

★ ★ ★

All the members who signed the letter have since formed another group which Monday night was chartered as a lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police.

U.S. Rep. Broomfield to Seek Re-Election

The 36-year-old Broomfield, of Royal Oak, announced he would seek re-election on the Republican ticket this fall from Michigan's 18th Congressional District (Oakland County).

During his first two years in Washington, Broomfield served as a member of the Public Works Committee and subcommittees on rivers and harbors and federal buildings.

★ ★ ★

Prior to his entrance into national political circles, he served six years in the Michigan House of Representatives and two years in the Michigan Senate.

Guards Troop Colors for Queen Despite Rains

LONDON (UP) — Queen Elizabeth II, the War Office and 2,000 dripping Royal Guardsmen grimly squared their chins today and trooped the colors in a steady downpour.

It was the Queen's official 32nd birthday. On the Queen's birthday, they troop the colors. It is royal tradition, and the show must go on.

The Queen got wet, the troops got wet, and 8,500 of her cheering subjects got wet.

The ceremony takes place each year on the mall near Buckingham Palace. The Queen rides horseback from the palace to a central vantage point, and the regimental colors are carried past.

Her scarlet tunic, blue riding skirt and black tricorne hat were sodden. She smiled bravely as the crowd let go with a loud huzzah.

"It was not trooping the colors," commented the Evening News, "but dripping the colors."

The Queen's birthday really falls on April 21. They hold her official one in June because in June the weather is better.

The Day in Birmingham

Getting Tough on Traffic in Try to Ease Congestion

BIRMINGHAM—Many new restrictions are being enforced in an effort to cope with Birmingham's constantly increasing traffic congestion problem, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley said today.

Parking is the chief concern, he said, as means to keep traffic moving smoothly and with a minimum of danger to drivers and pedestrians are being worked out by T. M. Vanderstempel, traffic engineer.

This applies mainly to residential streets surrounding the business area, Moxley said.

On some streets a 15-minute limit has been imposed while on others motorists are being allowed up to two hours parking between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The action was taken to discourage downtown employes from using side streets for all-day parking and making it hazardous for residents entering and leaving their driveways, Moxley explained.

Some restrictions, such as the parking ban on Adams road, was imposed at the suggestion of county officials. Six stop intersections have been added, along with four "yield right-of-way" intersections.

Moxley said the new rules, operating on a trial basis for about a month, have proven satisfactory and now are permanent.

"The inconvenience to a few is overshadowed by the benefit to the majority," Moxley said.

Mama is back with the children and all is well. Mama is a miniature poodle named Candy, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Scott of 6085 Wing Lake Rd., Birmingham.

Candy was lost Tuesday when she jumped out of the car in downtown Birmingham, creating a problem as to what to do with the four puppies born to her Memorial Day.

While she was missing, the couple acquired a feeding formula, a nursing bottle and took over Candy's duties.

Spotted about 7:30 this morning, Candy was lassoed by dog warden Al Sundell. Badly frightened, she nipped Sundell's hand and also bit assisting patrolman Arthur Burkholz.

She was returned home and all has been forgiven.

Elections of officers and reports will be heard at the annual meeting of the Rotary Anns at 1 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Walter Anderson, 1389 Chesterfield Rd., Birmingham. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Robert Peck, Mrs. Victor Peck and Mrs. J. M. Hardin.

Officers will be installed when the stewardship class of the First Baptist Church holds its annual smorgasbord Sunday.

The slate includes Duncan Hudson, president; Lyle Blanchard, vice president; Mrs. Roland Erickson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Homer Pratt, recording secretary; and Mrs. Hudson, treasurer.

Dr. John H. McLaughlin, Birmingham surgeon, will speak.

Mrs. Leith E. Stites

Service for Mrs. Leith E. (Isabelle) Stites, 54, of 539 S. Bates St., Birmingham, will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Lake Chapel Cemetery.

Mrs. Stites died unexpectedly yesterday en route to the hospital. A resident of Birmingham for 42 years, she was a member and practitioner of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, and the Birmingham Musicale.

Surviving are her husband; three sons, George H. of Birmingham, Leith D. of Detroit, Robert A. of Royal Oak; and her father, the Rev. David H. Curry of Philadelphia.

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Veri Kline and Mrs. Frank Grant, both of Pontiac, and Miss Maude Curry of New York City; two brothers, David H. of Birmingham and Charles E. of Philadelphia, and six grandchildren.

Anthony Fritz

Requiem Mass will be sung at 11 a.m. tomorrow at St. Benedict's Catholic Church in Pontiac for Anthony Fritz, 60, who lived at the Bloomfield Hunt Club on East Long Lake road. Burial will be in Mt. Hope Cemetery, Pontiac.

The Rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m. today at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Mr. Fritz died Tuesday after a long illness. He was a groom and caretaker at the Hunt Club.

Calls for an Election of GOP Congress

PORT HURON (AP) — Howard Pyle, former governor of Arizona, called last night for the election of a Republican Congress this year.

Pyle told the Republican Women's Federation of Michigan that "we owe this obligation to ourselves and posterity."

Pyle said that since the election of President Eisenhower in 1948 the Republicans have not been getting out the vote and blamed "a lack of communication" for the failure to elect a Republican Congress.

Pyle currently is deputy assistant to President Eisenhower on federal-state relations.

All Munich Marvels at Helga's Appetite

MUNICH — Nine-year-old Helga Schultze, of Munich, Bavaria, has such a gargantuan appetite that her father has had to obtain relief to help him meet her huge food bills.

Helga's average daily menu consists of two pounds of meat, six eggs, three pounds of oranges, two pounds of bananas and four pounds of potatoes — and sometimes she is still hungry. Trouble is, her digestive tract is abnormally long.

Surgeons cannot operate until she is 12, they say. Meanwhile her reputation as a great eater is so widespread that strangers often visit her home just to see her having a square meal.

Glasgow Wants to Be Scotland's Tourism Capital

GLASGOW — Glasgow, seeking to become the tourist capital of Scotland, is getting financial aid from the Scottish Tourist Board and the British Travel & Holiday Association.

The city hopes to be headquarters for short journeys to the Western Highlands, Loch Lomond, the Trossachs valley country and places of historical interest.

One trouble is lack of accommodation as the only hotel considered comparable to second or third-class hotels by American standards is the Central Hotel, built over 100 years ago. It has 200 rooms, 50 now with private baths.

Far East Gets Surplus Worth $98,121,000

WASHINGTON — In fiscal 1957 about $98,121,000 of defense-support money was extended to the Far East in the form of United States surplus agricultural commodities, with the International Co-operation Administration reimbursing the U. S. Commodity Credit Corporation for these products with dollars appropriated for Mutual Security.

These commodities are sold for local currency, which in turn is used to finance a country's military expenses or other projects related to the defense effort.

Flint, our prosperous and energetic neighbor to the north, is proposing a dramatic unification program.

Because of the increasing complexities with which all growing communities are confronted today, Flint and her neighbors are considering uniting in one great city with one control and one central management. The new proposal would amalgamate all school districts, also.

This would give her 178 square miles and make her one of the largest cities in the country in physical dimensions. Here's a far sighted proposal to unite that has many things to recommend it.

That's for sure.

At the present time, there are 26 different governmental units seeking to serve the residents of the area under study. Their overlapping and conflicting activities are countless and full of duplication. This is unavoidable. There are 26 theoretical divisions of police, fire, water, sewage, school, paving et cetera. Each small unit struggles to advance its own sector. Each faces the necessity of providing services far beyond its capabilities.

A Flint Area Study Committee weighed the problem thoroughly and came up with these novel recommendations.

If this plan is adopted, conditions won't become perfect the next instance, but the most people will gain the most through uniting. Residents living outside Flint's present city limits will be benefited primarily.

The ordinary plan worked well enough when Genesee County was devoted to farming, and when Flint was represented by a few thousand people. Today Flint claims 200,000 and estimates the area under study at an additional 100,000, or a total of 300,000. There are still many fine farms in Genesee County but the 100,000 people outside Flint's current city limits want more and better service in water, sewers, schools, police, pavements and fire protection.

They deserve it.

Many of these 26 entities are without important financial resources. They lack assessed value. They lack industry and they lack sufficient homes on which to levy. And as they grow, the problem of financing the barest necessities are increasingly beyond their income.

★ ★ ★

The current City of Flint is a solid anchor and possesses the means to provide asistance. This is a challenging proposal and deserves complete study and thought. It was drawn by representatives of the entire area and would contemplate a new charter and a new government.

Retiring AEC Head Has Pushed Program

Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Adm. LEWIS L. STRAUSS has shown good judgment in deciding not to accept nomination for another term.

During his tenure many important accomplishments can be claimed by the AEC. Among them are a detection system which disclosed the first atomic bomb exploded by the Soviet Union and the development of the hydrogen bomb.

First appointed by President TRUMAN, Adm. STRAUSS' intolerance of disagreement irritated his fellow commissioners and the Joint Congressional Commission on Atomic Energy. It arose from his tendency to run a one-man show and his lack of candor with them and with the public. The commission found itself embroiled in politics, notably the Dixon-Yates controversy.

Nevertheless, Adm. STRAUSS' dedication to his job and his talent as an administrator have won him high praise. President EISENHOWER commended him for leadership, judgment and vision. However, Mr. STRAUSS disapproves of the President's seeking an agreement to limit nuclear tests and this may have had something to do with his decision not to accept the reappointment offered. He will remain as special assistant to the President for the atoms-for-peace program.

★ ★ ★

The new appointee to the commission is JOHN A. MCCONE, a Los Angeles Republican businessman and production expert. He was Undersecretary of the Air Force in the TRUMAN Administration and is familiar with missile development.

Two Hatted Colossus

David Lawrence Says:

U.S., Britain Review 'Cold War'

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Macmillan's visit to the United States is really an important development in world affairs.

LAWRENCE

What is coming as a result of the conference this week is a better understanding between the governments of Great Britain and the United States of just what must be done to win the "cold war."

It is rather on the planning side than on the making of particular decisions now that the President's meeting with Prime Minister Macmillan takes on a broad significance for the future.

The fact that stands out conspicuously now is that the "cold war" has reached a virtual stalemate on the military side. Billions of dollars are being spent for military preparations, and this program has been accepted as a necessary policy.

But what has sometimes been spoken of as an "overemphasis" on the military turns out to be a lack of emphasis on political and economic questions.

Neither the United States nor Great Britain can afford to underemphasize military necessities. The Western nations are not rattling the sabre but, because they tell the world freely about what they are doing, there are obviously more news dispatches coming from the West about military preparations than from behind the iron curtain.

The real result of the conferences here with the British prime minister is that there now is a hope of bringing the political and economic problems up to a point of equal emphasis with the military.

This, of course, is a long-range affair and involves questions of money that are not easily resolved, especially during a period of treasury deficits in Washington and recession in various parts of the United States.

But the planning done here this week is not for just a month or a year, but for the long pull ahead. The important truth is that the United States and Great Britain, through their chosen representatives in government, have exchanged ideas and fully understand each other.

Secretary of State Dulles naturally took a prominent part in all the discussions. On more than one occasion this week the British prime minister mentioned to friends here that he has the fullest confidence in the American secretary of state.

The news of this relationship of mutual trust is probably disappointing to the partisans who have been trying to make political capital out of Dulles' alleged lack of "prestige" abroad.

The high officials of the British and American governments see eye to eye on essential points of policy and are fully resolved to go ahead in the "cold war" on a common basis.

Just what can be done on the political and economic side to help win the "cold war"? Can Soviet infiltration and subversion be checkmated, and, what steps can be taken to stop the inroads being made by Soviet money and barter in some of the weaker countries?

The answers to these questions were not found in the conferences here this week, but in principle there was agreement that the situation that lies ahead is a challenging one and cannot be solved by any rigid formula.

A combined economic strategy board may be created by the two governments.

There will have to be adjustments from time to time, particularly the field of trade relations. There is no subject more complicated than tariffs, and it cannot be denied that there is substantial protest inside the United States against lowering tariff barriers.

Many companies in America feel that import quotas should be imposed on foreign products just as other governments impose them on American products.

Passage of the President's reciprocal trade bill on Wednesday by the House, with a large margin of votes, is heartening to America's allies. For the drive to rehabilitate world trade will be stimulated by the knowledge that the present reciprocal trade law is to be extended for five years.

Certainly the Macmillan - Eisenhower - Dulles conferences this week can mean a great deal to strengthen the position of the Western powers in the "cold war."

Dr. William Brady Says:

How to Reduce Distress of Runaway Heartbeat

For the past 10 years a lady has had spells of what the doctors call paroxysmal tachycardia (don't let the lingo floor you, folks, it's just a fancy way of saying spells of rapid or runaway heartbeat). Sometimes a few weeks apart, sometimes six months. She has consulted many physicians, including a (well advertised) heart specialist at the "clinic."

DR. BRADY

Also, she adds, she has had a thorough checkup.

All right. All right. It won't work. Have all the BMRs, blood cholesterol tests and other folderol you like — there are more important things to rail against here.

The lady is 32, married, has a daughter 9 years old. She mentions her racial complexion but not her political or religious persuasion or whether she takes sugar in her tea. She is happy, has a lovely home, a wonderful husband, and she is perfectly contented. Her sex life is normal.

Doctors have advised her to place an icebag over the region of the heart when she has a spell, and to press on her thyroid (just above breastbone) and eyeball. Sometimes this seems to help, but usually she ends up with the doctor giving a hypo. The heartbeat doesn't slow down until hours later. It races at 150 to 200. It frightens the lady although the doctors assure her it is nothing to worry about.

There is no pain with the spells, but they leave her weak and sore for a few days.

WHAT TO DO?

Is there anything I can advise? Yup. Several things.

I advise the belly breathing exercise regularly on waking in the morning, mid-forenoon, mid-afternoon and retiring at night, and not over two or three inflations at intervals of 5 to 10 minutes when the spell is on. Be sure you know "How to Breathe" — send me 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet.

I advise no smoking. If you're wishywashy about it, then at least be temperate — ration yourself rigidly to five cigarettes a day or less — smoke only after meals and never after 10 p.m.

One subject to paroxysmal tachycardia should follow a high calcium diet supplemented with calcium and vitamin D. Many physicians have found that injection of 10 to 20 cc. (2½ to 5 teaspoonfuls) of a 10% solution of calcium gluconate or chloride in water directly into a vein, slowly, of course, usually terminates the attack.

If you notice I haven't said anything about the emotional factor, please excuse it. After all, what does Brady know about such matters?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Sunday Ban on Beer Stirs Writers From Both Sides

Speaking of a ban on Sunday beer, people say keep the Sabbath holy. But Sunday, the first day of the week, isn't the Sabbath. The Bible tells us to keep the seventh day holy. God would never permit men to change His Sabbath, yet they have thought to do so for themselves.

And whether laws or bans are passed concerning us on a true Sabbath or a false one, it would be wrong, for the conscience of men should not be commanded by men in the things of God.

In regard to closing taverns on Sunday as suggested by Pontiac clergy, Mr. Miles and others, it would let bartenders and factory workers get more shut eye and these teenage children should have more watching. How do they get to purchase beer. Go down to Murphy Park after school lets out and you'll see what I mean.

'Everyone Isn't Suited to Marry'

In answer to Reader, the Bible is contradictory on the subject of marriage. I do recall St. Paul said "It's better to marry than to burn," but I think he had certain circumstances in mind. Besides, that still leaves you a choice.

★ ★ ★

Neither a man or woman should marry just because most people do. There are too many in the divorce courts now who married because "it's the thing to do."

Extols Pontiac School System

Much has been said in your very democratic, informative newspaper about the situation of our American schools, both pro and con. After one year of meeting devoted teachers and fine administrators in our system, Pontiac is to me a solid school system and one of which each parent should be proud. Each teacher I've met has genuine interest of the student at heart, enough to put student ahead of personal gain.

★ ★ ★

A fine example is Mr. Wiersema, a man of solid, impeccable character, so dedicated to our youth and yet human and kind enough never to lose sight of the blessedness of being young. He's devoted himself and resources entirely to Pontiac schools for nearly 30 years with utmost integrity and honesty to what we all hold dear in a democratic society.

★ ★ ★

I say publicly thank you for guidance in achieving great personal satisfaction in teaching in Pontiac. I know many join me in wishing him the success so deserved. Jefferson Junior High, its parents and members should be proud for sending me such nice young people. It was a privilege and not just a duty, nor was I so mercenary as just to expect my payment at the end of the month. Being an Iowan by birth, education and having taught there, I hope I shall never leave Michigan, where teachers have so much to work with and where the future is so bright.

'That Won't Help the Little Fellow'

In noting an article in Man About Town, it occurs to me that the editor of said column is way off base when he implies that this recession is only a matter of "lingo" in other words, just talk.

★ ★ ★

Surely he will agree that anyone who can afford a lakefront lot at that price would not be touched by this present recession, nor would he help by purchase of a $5,000 lot the little fellow who is touched by it.

★ ★ ★

The way to help the little fellow who has been out of work for months and really knows what the recession is all about is to purchase the products he helps produce.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Explains Common Problem

Martha has a delicate medico - psychological problem which you probably never have seen mentioned anywhere else except in this column. Yet it prevents romances and makes men as well as women miserable. If you know people who are victims of Martha's trouble, mail this Case Record so they can become free from it.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Y-334: Martha G., aged 19, is an attractive girl who shuns dates!

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I have a secret problem and it makes my life miserable," she began.

"I must have weak kidneys, for whenever I am out on a date, I find it necessary to go to the rest room several times.

"In fact, I can't sit through an average movie without excusing myself. So I have quit accepting dates because I am humiliated every time I attend a show or a dance.

"Is there any way to get over this terrible condition?"

DATING PROBLEMS

Well, I reassured Martha that literally thousands of young people have her problem, for "misery loves company."

And this trouble isn't limited to girls. Many young men are in the very same boat. And here is why:

When you are in the company of the opposite sex, you are keyed up. Your heat beats faster, thus forcing more blood through your kidneys.

The kidneys then filter out the urine, so nervous, excited young people secrete far more urine than do stolid, unemotional folks.

Furthermore, such people on a dinner date will usually drink several glasses of water and maybe take a re-fill on coffee. The extra fluid makes them water-logged, so their urine output is obviously stepped up.

And caffeine in coffee, tea or the cola soft drinks, also is a medical diuretic (urine producer).

To lessen the frequency of visits to a rest room, cut out liquids for several hours prior to your date. And drink sparingly if you are having dinner together that night.

Furthermore, acid urine makes its victim want to visit a rest room more frequently, so a pinch of baking soda will help neutralize the acidic urine and eliminate this prod.

SLAVES OF ORGANS

But there is another reason why many people are slaves to their urinary bladder, and "weak kidneys" is usually not a correct diagnosis.

Once you become self-conscious about this condition, you watch yourself more closely. And you tend to void urine when your bladder holds maybe a slight amount, as three or four ounces.

Soon your bladder develops the habit of demanding that you empty it when it attains four ounces of contents.

This means that about every two hours you may have a great urgency to visit a rest room.

So re-train that bladder. Force it to dilate. The bladder can stretch until it actually may hold a full gallon, as in the case of men with prostate trouble, where the urinary outlet is dammed shut.

So don't fear you will burst your bladder if you try to make it stretch to the point where it will hold one full glass (eight ounces).

When you are at home, load up heavily with fluids. Then grit your teeth and force your bladder to figuratively "let out a notch" and thus hold more urine.

If you can pass the crisis, the pain will subside and you may go for two hours without urgency. This means your bladder has reluctantly surrendered to your will and has begun to stretch past its habitual four ounze size. Soon you can reeducate it to hold six or eight ounces.

★ ★ ★

Combine these methods and you can reduce your slavery to your bladder!

Colorado Fights Grasshoppers

Federal Funds Sought to Throw Into Battle Against Infestation

DENVER (AP) — Colorado launched an attack against grasshopper hordes today, but Gov. Steve McNichols warned the action can be only a limited one unless large-scale federal aid is thrown into the fight.

The funds are needed, he said, to protect the 110-million-dollar wheat crop ripening on the high plains of eastern Colorado and for the hay crop needed to carry cattle through next winter.

Turned down by the White House yesterday in an effort to have the region declared a disaster area eligible for civil defense funds, McNichols said he will appeal to the U.S. Department of Agriculture for part of 14 million dollars available for emergencies under the agricultural conservation program.

He termed the action "a last hope" and said he understood the department "is turning thumbs down already."

McNichols announced he will ask the Legislature, when it meets Monday in emergency session, to appropriate up to a million and a half dollars for the struggle with the hoppers. This apparently would wipe out the surplus in the state's general fund.

Paul W. Swisher, state agriculture commissioner, reported the hopper infestation now covers more than 10 million acres in 21 counties.

The commissioner estimated four million acres are in crops, mainly wheat. The remainder is rangeland.

Federal money is available, if matched on a dollar-for-dollar basis by the state and by the landowner, the aerial spraying of rangeland but none is available for cropland, Swisher said.

The state agriculture department announced the start of a range spraying program, with five two-engine planes flying out of Cheyenne Wells, in east-central Colorado. It said nearly 500,000 acres will be covered in this cooperative venture at a cost of about 60 cents an acre.

Chief Highway Engineer Mark U. Watrous reported his department will begin spraying roadside weeds along 18,000 miles of roads in eastern Colorado tomorrow, using 25 pieces of spraying machinery.

Unless federal aid is obtained, McNichols said, the state will have to concentrate its efforts on spraying the roadsides and fence rows between fields—where grasshoppers are heaviest. This would leave protection of the vast grain fields to the owners themselves.

The governor appealed to all landowners to use whatever resources they can muster to eradicate the hoppers.

"I'm certainly not going to let a hundred and ten million dollar wheat crop go to the bad," he promised.

Her Mended Heart Relieved of Debt

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Surgeons mended the faulty heart of Mrs. Mary Wisneski six years ago. But it was still torn by a debt of gratitude.

★ ★ ★

During the six years since the operation, Mrs. Wisneski had been embarrassed by her inability to pay for her treatment. Dr. Nicholas Antonius, medical director of St. Michael's Hospital, even had to scold her for staying away from his office when she needed post-operative care.

The operation, after 14 years of care, had put her back on her feet and allowed her to take a full time job.

Yesterday, Mrs. Wisneski unburdened her heart of its debt. She presented Dr. Antonius and the hospital with a check for $10,000—part of the $140,000 top prize she got in March's Irish Sweepstakes.

Hey, There: Got a Match?

DETROIT (AP) — Restaurant owner Martin Eichelbaum ordered 10,000 books of matches, but the match company delivered him 125,000 books instead. Eichelbaum claims there was a mistake in the order but a common pleas jury says the mistake was his and has ordered him to pay for the matches. Eichelbaum figures he has about a 25-year supply of book matches.

Poses Stiff Question

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Information specialists at the Naval Academy thought they had answered every conceivable question about the Navy until a letter came from a young girl who had seen a television show about midshipmen. "Is it true," she asked, "that the Academy laundry puts extra starch in their underwear to make them stand so straight?"

Prefabricated Reactor Developed for Training

PARAMUS, N. J. — A prefabricated, portable nuclear reactor that can be installed in buildings without excavation has been developed for training purposes by a Paramus concern. The low-powered, pool-type reactor is designed for use in universities and engineering schools. It is said to have all the features normally found in larger and costlier units.

Aussies Gain in Gold

CANBERRA — Australian holdings of gold and foreign exchange increased to 580,000,000 pound sterling ($1,327,500,000 in 1957, a rise of 165,000,000 pound sterling in a year.

Baked 375,000 Pies in 35 Years at Cafe

VINITA, Okla. (AP)—For 35 years before retiring in 1947, Mrs. W. E. Updegraff cooked in the cafe she ran here. She estimated when she retired she had baked more than 375,000 pies.

To celebrate her 75th birthday this year, Mrs. Updegraff's children rented the cafe and hundreds of friends showed up to wish her well. The big conversation was still her mouth-watering pies that no one could forget.

Students Devour Food

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Officials at the University of Oklahoma figure they'll have to serve 99,000 eggs and 400,000 strips of bacon to students during the school year.

dents, Varner said, but will probably handle only about 500 to 600 when it opens in the fall of next year, due to limited funds for faculty salaries.

The council re-elected all its 1957-1958 officers last night for another one-year term, witnessed the annual presentation of the William W. Donaldson citizenship trophy, and voted for some changes in its constitution.

Re-elected were Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams, president; Mrs. S. V. Seldes, vice president; Mrs. Neil Wasserberger, recording secretary; and Carroll Osmun, treasurer.

Re-elected to the board of directors were Leslie Dean, David Ewalt, Dr. Ivan LaCore, Rev. Carl Nelson and Dr. Dana P. Whitmer. Newly-elected to the board were Robert M. Glenn and Dr. George Petroff.

The citizenship award was presented by Judge Adams to Miss Janice Antona, who has instructed more than 2,500 new citizens in citizenship and English at Pontiac Central High School over the past 20 years.

Miss Antona, a Board of Education employe, was selected for the award by the council's executive board on the basis of service to the Pontiac community.

Among constitutional changes approved were a change in name and organizational setup.

Formerly the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council, the word "advisory" was dropped on recommendation of a committee headed by David Utley, a Pontiac attorney.

Utley noted that the word had had "a limiting and confusing effect in the minds of some people, repeatedly preventing the council from taking effective action."

From now on, the executive committee will conduct its business through two permanent divisions, one for social service planning and the other for civic planning.

UAW Putting Locals in Strike Position

thorization for strike votes was simply bargaining procedure which has always been followed to cut down the time necessary to call a strike.

Contracts at GM, Ford and Chrysler expired May 29-June 1, but the UAW leadership, under President Walter P. Reuther, decided the companies had a two-month supply of new cars and a strike would not be effective.

The leadership urged the half-million workers to stay on the job and work without contracts, no matter what action the companies might take in the plants.

UAW headquarters here emphasized the authorization votes by the locals leave the situation still within the tight control of the international. The international executive board, or the officers in the absence of the board, must approve a strike.

UAW spokesmen declined to estimate how soon the strike might again be effective. Ward's Automotive Reports, the industry's leading statistical agency, reported today that car sales spurted 13.2 per cent in the last 10 days of May.

Ward's said Ford Motor Co. hit a new 1958 high in sales in May. Chrysler Corp. recently announced it was stepping up Plymouth production 18 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Reuther is taking personal charge of the Chrysler Corp. talks, and there was speculation—called unfounded by the union—that this meant the UAW would put strike threat pressure on Chrysler. Ford has been the strike threat target of the UAW in the past two contract-signing years.

Graham Says Satan Selective With Temptation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Evangelist Billy Graham says every human being is alone in the battle against Satan unless Christ is with him.

Graham spoke on the temptations of the devil last night in his sermon to 14,800 at the Cow Palace. He is in the final week of his seven-week crusade.

Graham emphasized that being tempted is not a sin, but that the sin comes in yielding to the temptation.

"Man is never tempted beyond his capacity to withstand temptation," Graham said. "The devil is most interested in tempting those closest to God. Some people he doesn't even bother about."

He warned that Satan attacks in three ways—through "the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eye and pride."

The secret of resisting temptation, he said, is to be obedient to God, to be filled with the Holy Spirit, to spend time in prayer and to know the Scriptures.

'Tornado Alley' Hit by New Disasters

MAN FLOOD ZONE

Airmen from Bunker Hill Air Force Base manned a thin line of sandbags today in a battle to save the homes of a thousand Peru residents from the raging Wabash River.

The river lapped at the second tier of a narrow three-tier wall of sandbags on top of the floodwall protecting the south side section of the city.

It leveled off soon after midnight, just over 23 feet.

★ ★ ★

The south side of Peru was a ghost town, its thousand residents evacuated to emergency quarters across the river. It was empty except for a few police and the airmen sandbagging weak spots in the flood wall.

★ ★ ★

Water trickled through the wall and the sandbag barrier and welled up in yards and in the streets behind the wall.

Emergency quarters for the evacuees were set up in the Baptist, Methodist, Christian and Presbyterian churches and the Peru High School gymnasium.

On the north side, water covered the tracks in the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad yards, including the main line from Chicago to Cincinnati. Train service was halted early today, with freight trains held up. No passengers trains were affected.

★ ★ ★

Serious flooding was threatened as far downstream as Terre Haute as the runoff from three days of cloudbursts in Central Indiana poured down from the tributaries. Hundreds of families were driven from their homes in river cities.

Senate Votes to Put Teeth in Labor Bill

day denouncing the bill as weak and ineffectual were "unfortunate because they have sought to confuse rather than clarify; introduced partisanship where it had been minimized; and jeopardized rather than enhanced the possibilities for favorable congressional action on legislation this year."

He told his colleagues he could not in good conscience describe the measure as perfect.

MEET ABUSES

But he declared that the bill, without being punitive, would meet all of the union abuses on which the Senate Rackets Committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) has made recommendations.

Backing up that view, Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said the bill makes many corrections that should be made, adding that Kennedy deserves the thanks of every member of this body.

McClellan put in that he felt "we are dealing rather effectively with the crooks, thieves and hoodlums who have infiltrated the labor movement."

McClellan said he favored requiring that copies of union financial reports be made available to members at the local level. He said they shouldn't have to come to Washington to obtain them.

He also said that as consideration of the bill progressed, he might see other things that he thought should be included."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) expressed hope the bill could be passed by tomorrow night.

Waterford Rejects 6 Zoning Petitions

Waterford Township Zoning Board members last night turned down petitions to rezone from residential to commercial six lots in the Ideal Country Club Subdivision due to protests from the area property owners.

A public hearing had been continued from the previous month, and because so many people were against the change, board members complied with the objectors.

A request from the Rev. James Luther to rezone from residential to commercial a lot at 3820 Pontiac Lake Rd. was also denied because board members have adopted a no spot-zoning policy.

The board okayed the rezoning from residential to commercial of one lot on Cooley Lake road, in the Acre Heights Subdivision. There were no property owners present who objected to the rezoning.

Holdup Slayer Seeks Release After 6 Years

Arguments began today before the Michigan Supreme Court in the appeal of one of four Detroiters serving life sentences for the 1952 holdup slaying of a Ferndale gas station attendant.

George F. Taylor, chief assistant Oakland County prosecutor who conducted the case six years ago, said the appeal was made more than a year ago by Robert G. Hearn, 23.

Hearn, then 16, along with three men, were convicted of first-degree murder Dec. 17, 1952 by an all-woman jury for the knife slaying of Alfred Jones, 27.

Taylor said the appeal was made on the basis of instructions to the jury by Judge Frank L. Doty.

Sentenced along with Hearn were Frank O. Baker, then 23, Basil Dupius, 22, and Peter Imbimbo, 23.

The murder followed a holdup spree in Ferndale and Detroit. Hearn and Baker blamed a drink and dope spree for the killing when arrested later in Missouri.

Born After Accident, 2-Day-Old Baby Dies

A baby girl born early Monday, a few hours after her mother was injured in an auto accident, died yesterday afternoon at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the infant, Mr. and Mrs. James Becht of Detroit, both are in satisfactory condition at the hospital.

★ ★ ★

Their car collided Sunday evening in Southfield with another driven by William Leddy, 17, also of Detroit. Leddy suffered a broken leg.

★ ★ ★

The baby was about a month premature and weighed seven pounds. The mother is 28.

48 Club Burglary Foiled; 3 Arrested

Police foiled a burglary of the 48 Club, 848 S. Saginaw St., and arrested one youth and two juveniles.

★ ★ ★

Patrolmen Billy Hargraves and Robert Rood on patrol heard a shout as they drove near the club Wednesday night and saw a figure running from the scene. They pursued the person but lost him.

★ ★ ★

Returning to the club they found the back door broken and on entering discovered Willis Hardiman, 17, of 423 Highland Ave. and a 16-year-old hiding in a washroom.

★ ★ ★

They later picked up the other juvenile at his home. He had been acting as a lookout, the officers said.

The youths admitted the burglary attempt and a warrant was obtained today for Hardiman.

Three Are Arrested on Liquor Charges

Three young men were arrested last night, two charged with illegal possession of beer and the other with furnishing beer to a minor.

Raymond Wagner, 19, of 21 Park Place, and Robert Vallance, 20, of 3660 Alida St., Rochester, pleaded guilty to possession of beer and received 15 days in the Oakland County Jail when they refused to tell Judge Cecil B. McCallum where they got the beer.

James Stevens, 22, of 2607 Williams Dr., pleaded not guilty to furnishing the beer and will be tried June 19.

De Gaulle Calls Rebel Leader

Soustelle Flies to Paris for Probable Showdown on Who Runs France

PARIS (UPI) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle summoned Jacques Soustelle back to Paris today for a probable showdown on whether the Premier or the rebels are going to run France.

Official sources said Soustelle, fiery ex-Gaullist leader who escaped police surveillance in Paris to fly to Algiers at the start of the May 13 military-civilian revolt, left North Africa early this afternoon.

He flew in a special plane attached to the Premier's office and was expected in Paris some time later in the evening. Spokesmen in Algiers said he would return there shortly.

Soustelle remains the mystery man behind the scenes in the crisis that is still shaking France, and which was eased from the possibility of a bloody civil war only by the advent to power of De Gaulle.

Soustelle once was a close associate of De Gaulle, but there are reports the two have grown apart in their views.

★ ★ ★

Soustelle has been closely identified with the activities of the All-Algeria Public Safety Committee which two days ago defied De Gaulle's edict to get out of politics. Instead, the committee demanded that political parties in France "disappear," that De Gaulle postpone scheduled municipal elections in Algeria, and the establishment of a "real" government of public safety in France.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle reacted sharply yesterday by sending a telegram to Gen. Raoul Salan, French commander in chief in Algeria and De Gaulle's personal representative there. The Premier rebuked the committee for defying his orders and, in effect, reprimanded Salan for having passed on the group's views to Paris.

It was in an obvious effort to find out further details of the Algerian Committee's views that De Gaulle summoned Soustelle to Paris.

★ ★ ★

As he did, three members of the Public Safety Committee in Ajaccio, Corsica, which also revolted against Paris control in the recent crisis, flew to Algiers to consult with the All-Algeria Committee.

Soustelle remained the apparent key to the whole situation.

Crane Hits Live Wire; Ferndale Worker Hurt

FERNDALE—Construction worker Edward E. Dees, 40, of Detroit, had a brush with death this morning when the cable of a crane with which he was working touched a high tension wire.

He is in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where his condition was described as fair.

Dees was guiding a beam hoisted by the crane at the Detroit Coil Co., 2435 Hilton Rd., when the cable came in contact with the wire, Ferndale Police said. The charge from the wire went through the cable, knocking Dees against the side of a truck. He suffered burns on his back, hands, and feet.

2 Swordmakers Lose Price-Slashing Duel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Columbus swordmakers say they've lost a price-slashing duel.

W. C. Popp and E. T. Lordier started making swords 3½ years ago after reading that the U.S. Navy would require officers to carry swords for the first time since 1941. But the two say they cannot compete with German competitors who pay "only 40 cents an hour for labor."

Brother Called Puny by Pugilistic Sister

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Helen Colvin, secretary of the Terre Haute Boys' Club, reports this conversation with an 8-year-old girl and her 5-year-old brother:

"He's a nice little boy," Miss Colvin told the girl.

"Yes, but he's sick," replied the little lass.

"I am not sick," the boy said.

Continue Probe of Nixon Attacks

Venezuela Government Gives Little Indication on Findings

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Venezuelan government still is investigating the causes of the mob attacks upon U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon here a month ago tomorrow.

It has given no indication what it has learned. The whole affair has been pretty well expunged from local memories.

The Ministry of Interior says it does not know how many of the more than 100 persons arrested for stone throwing and other violent acts are still in jail or whether anyone has been punished.

A ministry official brushed aside inquiries as to what had been done, saying the investigation was now in hands of the police and courts.

★ ★ ★

Caracas newspapers published declarations by Junta President Wolfgang Larrazabal after the touring vice president and his wife were attacked that an intensive investigation would be made. The investigation now seems to have dropped from public memory.

★ ★ ★

Members of the huge American colony in Venezuela — there are 40,000 U.S. citizens here—express belief the ardor of the investigation had been considerably dampened. They attribute this to news that the United States had alerted troops for a rescue of Nixon and his party, if needed and if requested by Venezuela.

★ ★ ★

Only time can tell whether the actual causes of the mob attacks, as viewed by the government, are disclosed, or whether anyone has or will be punished. But there seems to be general agreement everywhere that the incident was Communist inspired.

To Weigh Controlling Level of Area Lakes

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The control of levels of Island, Lower Long and Forest Lakes will be up for discussion Monday at a meeting of the Property Owners Assn. of the three township lakes.

Charles E. Wilson, whose property fronts on Island Lake, has asked, through his attorney, for some control to prevent pollution and damage to property.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the Bloomfield Hills High School, 4200 Andover Rd. Nonmembers as well as members of the association are invited to attend the meeting.

Police Chief Norman Dehnke will speak on law enforcement in the township.

Reports Food Prices Edging Slightly Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices edged slightly higher this week, Dun & Bradstreet Inc. reported.

At $6.61 the organization's food index was a cent higher than last week and 6.3 per cent above the $6.22 figure of the similar week last year.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Higher this week were corn, rye, beef, butter, cocoa, steers and hogs.

Studies Ticket-Fixing, Gets Tagged Himself

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Dan Hollingsworth, manager of the Oklahoma City Safety Council, attended a municipal meeting to study the ticket-fixing problem and help city workers find parking without getting traffic tickets.

McElroy Sees Drastic Steps

May Be Necessary to Keep U.S. Ahead in Cold War Struggle

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Defense Secretary Neil McElroy predicted today the United States may be forced to take drastic steps to keep ahead in the cold war even if it means a more Spartan life for the people.

Great peacetime sacrifices may, and probably will, be called for, McElroy said in a speech prepared for the commencement day meeting of the Harvard Alumni Assn.

"Certain it is," he said, "that the test of our social order is the most serious we have ever faced. It is based not alone on the making of arms, but on a truly phenomenal economic and industrial growth in the Soviet Union, plus an equally prodigious development in the field of education. In all of these areas, Russia reached the position she is in today because she worked harder at it."

U. S. intelligence services estimate that by 1962 the growing Soviet economy will be producing half of what we do now, McElroy said.

"It's what she does with her output that's important. For instance, less than half of it gets into the hands of the Soviet citizen in the form of consumable goods and services. By contrast, over two-thirds of our total production reaches the consumer," he pointed out.

"Parents will have to contribute more money—through taxes or contributions—for the kind of educational program the country needs," he said. "I anticipate we may have to put from 50 to 100 per cent more money in the broad field of education than we are now allocating."

More people have cancer at age 50 than at any other time.

'05 Glidden Tour to Be Relived

Pre-'29 Models Eligible to Participate; Route Through Washington

WASHINGTON — New automobiles that look like brothers to the space ship hold little interest for one group of motorists. They prefer models that resemble buggies.

The die-hards will prove their devotion be finning October 12, as a caravan of horseless carriages chugs through Virginia, the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania in a re-enactment of the famed Glidden Toor of 1905.

No model built after 1929 is eligible. Past revivals if the tour have brought out such relics as a 1901 Oldsmobile, a 1902 Foster Surrey, and a 1902 Pope-Hartford. An original Model A Ford, built in 1903, has also participated.

Then the automobile had still to prove itself as a reliable means of transportation. To popularize motor travel and to arouse interest in better roads, Charles J. Glidden donated a trophy for annual competition in a reliability run.

★ ★ ★

WOMAN DRIVER

Thre was one woman driver, then as now an object of male concern. Mrs. John N. Cuneo steered her steamer off a nine-foot bridge. No one was hurt.

★ ★ ★

The route ran from New York to Bretton Woods, New Hempshire, and back. Some of the residents were delighted with the cavalcade and lined the roads to cheer or encourage the tourists with cornet and bass drum.

But many New Englanders took a dark view.

Traps were set to catch motorists breaking the eight-miles-an-hour speed limit. Lurking at the foot of a hill, where speed was required to build momentum for the grade ahead, constables took eight motorists in charge. They were fined $15 each by a judge who expressed disappointment that the law would not let him throw them in jail.

The tourist then draped their cars in black crepe and hired a band, which preceded them out of town, playing the "Dead March" from Saul and "Over the Hill to the Poor-house."

AF General Scored for Moon Statement

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force general who announced planning dates for shooting rockets at the moon got a verbal wrist slap from his boss yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas said the dates announced by Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson "should be wholly disregarded."

Anderson, director of Air Force research and development, said at a news conference in Milwaukee Tuesday that the Air Force planned three moon shots this year, the first in August.

★ ★ ★

Douglas, however, said Anderson had no authority whatsoever to discuss dates when no final decision has been made.

Arkansas Lions Club Gets Double Blessing

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—A Lions Club official got a better response than he expected when he called on Bob Allison to say the invocation at a luncheon meeting. Two voices began the prayer.

One belonged to club member Bob Allison of Morrilton. The other belonged to Bob Allison of Conway, Ark., a visitor.

Airline Stewardesses Marry During Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — While Western Air Lines was idle, its stewardesses weren't.

Forty of them got married during the 108-day strike that grounded the line. The line resumed its service Tuesday with 20 per cent fewer stewardesses than before.

To produce one bushel of corn requires about 40 minutes of work on the part of an average American farmer.

Ilona Massey's Mother Dies at 79 in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mrs. Lelia Hagymasy, 79, mother of film actress Ilona Massey, died yesterday.

Mrs. Hagymasy came to the United States from Hungary 10 years ago. She leaves another daughter, Mrs. Rosa Bodrogy, in Hungary.

Growing Sesame Seeds Commercially in U.S.

WASHINGTON — Sesame seeds, which are now being cultivated as a commercial crop in the United States, yield half their weight in an oil that is highly resistant to rancidity and suitable for all edible-oil uses. The seed cake remaining after the oil is crushed out makes a protein-rich livestock feed.

Britain's petro-chemicals industry is second only to that of the United States.

Ex-Patriate Finds:

Life in U.S. Is Different---'Things Work'

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ

NEW YORK (AP) — I suppose Rip Van Winkle felt something like I did. Rip slept for 20 years. I was away for 16. We both had surprises due.

To tell the truth, I was a little afraid of coming back. But the kids were growing up and it was time they had some American schooling.

That's why I left the Associated Press' foreign service and came home after 16 years in Latin America.

My first discovery was that life in the United States—if you speak English—is easier than anywhere in the world.

Things work. Public utilities get turned on promptly. You can buy anything you can afford. People do what they say they will when they say they will.

On the other hand, the U. S. is getting more like Latin America in some ways. Take the simple matter of getting a hat cleaned in New York City.

Lots of shoe repair shops display hat cleaning signs. But it doesn't mean a thing. "We don't do that kind of work any more," they tell you.

I finally wound up in a side street hat store. They did the job. But it took a week. In Mexico, they do it in two days.

American department stores are just too big for a simple provincial from south of the border. It takes too long to find what you want to buy.

But it is rather a relief after not being able to find it at all in the biggest store in Rio de Janeiro.

The food stores are wonderful. You can get anything you want all the year 'round.

Latin America exports its best bananas to the United States. I didn't have a really good one for 16 years.

★ ★ ★

The vending machines everywhere were a surprise. I'll bet I could live for weeks on what I could get out of a machine. I'm getting callouses on my thumb from feeding in the quarters.

One of my nicest surprises, believe it or not, was the income tax.

For one thing, it's not as big as I had judged from the moans of my U.S.-dwelling friends. For another thing, you get so much for your tax money.

For example:

My income tax is less than I had to pay for schools for my children in Brazil, my last post abroad.

For that, I get water I can drink right from the faucet. No filtering and boiling first.

I get honest policemen who don't come around once a week or month for their "tips." I get wonderful free lending libraries. I get the schools.

And I get pretty reliable weather reports, fairly clean streets and a system of public transportation that usually works.

Furthermore, my taxbill gives me a license to complain. The average American living abroad has to keep his mouth shut about things. After all, it's not his country.

I must say, though, that the railroads here seem to have fallen apart. Trains are mostly dirty and frequently late. On the other hand, buses are bigger, cleaner and faster.

★ ★ ★

American attitudes proved to be not what I expected.

There doesn't seem to be any war psychosis. Nobody seems to think that he, personally, is in any danger from The Bomb.

Right now, everybody is talking about the recession. To a veteran of the 1933 bank holiday, things ought to be pretty worrisome.

But I don't know anybody who is saving money to be ready for a real depression. And there are still more classified ads offering jobs than there are houses for sale.

I haven't made up my mind about television. I still get along with the old-fashioned radio.

★ ★ ★

And the rock 'n' roll doesn't bother me a bit. It couldn't. Not after years of Mexico's cha cha cha, Rio's samba and the Argentine gato.

Gives Her Letters Unexpected Sendoff

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A woman motorist in Phoenix was aiming to get a passenger in her car close enough to put some letters in a sidewalk mail box.

Ceremonies Set for Saturday

25-Mile Route Moves From Orchard Lake to Kensington Beach

History will be relived Saturday by Boy Scouts of the Clinton Valley Council with the dedication of their 25-mile Chief Pontiac Trail.

Through scenic Oakland County, the route, which follows closely old Indian trails, moves from Orchard Lake to the Proud Lake Recreation Area from where it can be covered by foot or canoe to its end at Kensington Metropolitan Park.

Hundreds of Scouts from the council, comprised of northern Oakland and Macomb counties, built the trail, erecting signs, constructing a bridge and clearing paths. Those who put in more than 16 hours of service on the project will be eligible to make the first trip Saturday.

Dedication, in charge of Dan Murphy, chairman of the council's camping and activities committee, will be held at 9 a.m. at Commerce road and Old Indian Trail. Another ceremony will take place 12 hours later at a council fire at the Chief Pontiac Trail camping ground in the Proud Lake area.

James Montgomery, leader of Troop 108 of Walled Lake Methodist Church, which spearheaded the project, said he expects between 100 and 150 Scouts to participate in the historic journey Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Purpose of the trail is to focus attention on Chief Pontiac and the history of his activities in Oakland County and to provide Scouts with an opportunity to use their camping, cooking, hiking and observation skills.

Twenty-eight Scout units in the council contributed boys and leaders to the project. In one place, a bridge is resting on pontoons until it can be permanently completed.

To earn the Chief Pontiac Trail medal and embroidered badge, a Scout must wear his uniform, identify certain trees, submit a 300-word book review on the history of Chief Pontiac, turn in a map sketch and a report of experiences on the trail. He also must carry all of his food, water and camping equipment and have his application certified at certain check-in points.

Additional treks on the trail will mean bronze, gold or silver arrows to go with the medal.

★ ★ ★

Everett Sherick of Orchard Lake has written a brief history of Chief Pontiac for the booklet which explains the trail and its regulations. Willard Wells, Ottawa District scout executive, said complete support and cooperation for the project was provided by the Orchard Lake Police Department, Proud Lake Recreation Area and Kensington Metropolitan Park authorities.

Actual route of the trail follows Pontiac Trail, Oakley Park road, Bass Lake road to Proud Lake and the overnight camp. On Sunday, Scouts will continue through wooded paths to Kensington Park.

On June 28, the first group of Scouts will take the alternate route, part of the way by canoe. After July 1, any Scout in the country will be eligible to use the trail.

CHIPS GRADUATES TOO — Chips, a springer spaniel who has attended Webster Elementary School daily for the past seven years, received a diploma yesterday along with the 120 sixth grade graduates including his two masters, twins Dick (left) and Don (right) Crawford, of 68 Mark St. Last week at the honors assembly the dog, the school's mascot, received an award for seven years of perfect attendance.

Chips Can Be a Proud Dog: He's Earned That Diploma

By SYLVIA de STEIGER

Today should probably be one of the happiest and proudest days in the life of one dog in Pontiac . . . and, somehow, we think he realizes and understands it.

Yesterday afternoon this 13-year-old springer spaniel marched into the gymnasium of Pontiac's Webster Elementary School to receive his diploma with 120 other sixth graders during their graduation ceremony.

"Chips" is the name of this unique, brown and white dog who, draped in a red and white cape and mortar board, seemed to realize the seriousness and honor of the ceremony with each slow step he took as he marched into the gym and took his place under the grandstands.

The dog is probably the first to attend school (literally remain in the classroom throughout the day) for seven years—kindergarten through sixth.

Chips always accompanied his masters, Dick and Don, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. Crawford, 68 Mark St., to school.

Each of the twins' teachers throughout their schooling signed Chips' promotion diploma as well as a certificate of merit he received last week at the honors assembly.

It was for "Chips, our faithful mascot and member of Webster School for perfect attendance from kindergarten through sixth grade."

"It took more time and preparation to get Chips ready for graduation than it did the twins," Mrs. Crawford explained.

It took a lot of work to get Chips through elementary school . . . just ask the dog catcher.

When Chips was in the second grade, students wrote letters to him and took up a collection to bail their mascot out. He's had several run-ins since.

Chips really liked school. When the twins were ill with the measles he even went to school alone, one of his teachers recalled.

Yesterday, after he and his classmates had received their diplomas, Chips seemed to sense he was different. As the boys and girls marched in the recessional he watched each of them from his seat.

They will go to Washington Junior High School next fall. But he was different. He couldn't go with the twins.

It usually isn't the procedure, but Chips will start grade school all over again next fall when the twins' sister Carol begins kindergarten.

He waited until the graduates were halfway down the aisle. Then he got up, wiggled his tail and walked straight down the center of the aisle listening to the applause of the children's parents, friends and teachers for him. Then, he knew he was different from other dogs.

★ ★ ★

Oakland to Act on Merger Plan

Meet Friday to Debate Proposal to Combine Deeds, Clerk's Offices

After a week to think it over, supervisors of Oakland County tomorrow will act on a proposal to merge the county offices of clerk and register of deeds.

Supervisors, gathered in Detroit a week ago, heard the recommendation from the Special County Government Study Committee headed by John L. Carey of Springfield Township.

No discussion on the subject was held then, but pros and cons are expected to be aired at Friday's special meeting arranged for this purpose.

Carey's committee said combining the two offices might save the county around $14,000 annually.

The four Circuit Court judges are awaiting a decision of the board before naming a successor to Lynn D. Allen, past county clerk, who died May 31.

Three other money matters will also be up for discussion tomorrow.

The Ways and Means Committee is expected to report that the county is owed $26,868 by old Southfield Township for two past unsuccessful incorporation moves for which the county advanced election expenses.

A second matter, which supervisors also heard for the first time last Thursday, will be acted on tomorrow. This concerns $5,000 for operating expenses for the new lake patrol.

The third and final item involves a recommendation from the Retirement Committee that county death benefits be paid monthly to widows or designated beneficiaries of any employe who has been with the county 25 years, irrespective of age.

Benefits are now paid after an employe dies after reaching 60 years of age or 10 years of service.

Commerce Board Will Discuss Trash

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The Commerce Township Board will discuss a proposed trash burning ordinance at its monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The proposed ordinance specifies that township residents must burn trash in containers.

Need for the ordinance came to light during March when the Township Fire Department was called upon to extinguish 71 grass fires. A number of the fires were started by burning papers which blew away from a residential trash fire.

Supervisor Thomas C. Tiley revealed that the township disbursed more than $700 to volunteer firemen for services in March answering grass fire calls.

Township officials believe adoption of a trash burning ordinance will reduce the number of grass fires.

Dems Lukewarm on Defense Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on a House subcommittee have given lukewarm endorsement to President Eisenhower's plan for merging the Office of Defense Mobilization and the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

★ ★ ★

In a report submitted for approval by the parent government operations committee, a subcommittee majority headed by Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif) favors letting the Eisenhower plan go into effect.

The reorganization will take place automatically on July 1 unless either the House or the Senate disapproves.

The subcommittee Democrats said they would not fight the Eisenhower plan because "civil defense is in so low a state that nothing could make it worse and something could make it better."

Subcommittee Republicans were reported to have agreed on a minority report favoring letting the Eisenhower plan take effect on grounds it is a step in the right direction.

'How Can You Play Like That....So Drunk?'

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — The bandleader looked like a real suave one. He played a demon sax. He switched to trumpet without batting an eye. Then, suddenly, he descended from the stand at the end of a set, he tripped and slid across the waxed floor.

"Shay," remarked a table hopper admiringly, "How can you play like that and be so drunk?"

"I'm a genius," said Phil Bennett, and slowly walked away.

These things happen, in Phil's business. He is a fine musician who happens also to be blind. And happens not to want anyone to know about it.

"It's embarrassing sometimes—like that night. But on most occasions, I'd say I was kind of lucky to be blind," he said today. Smiling, looking straight at you out of eyes that have life, if not sight.

"There's a lot you can afford to miss, when you're a bandleader. Like the night a woman came up to request a song . . . She was wearing one of those dresses that takes great scientific skill, and one little scientific feature failed. The dress fell off, and she was standing there in her slip.

"For just standing there talking, I gained the reputation of being the most sophisticated gent at the ball."

That's the way Phil Bennett, society maestro, likes it. He wants his reputation founded on his musical ability alone, and if his blindness (since birth) occasionally makes him out to be a personality that he is not — well, he'd rather be congratulated for being a genius inebriate, or a shockproof girlwatcher, than a blindman.

He explains that it's not that he's ashamed or embarrassed, of course, about his sightlessness. "It's only that I despise pity. And I don't deserve it."

The son of a sometime metropolitan opera chorus singer, Phil learned to play 10 instruments as a kid. He picked them up himself, after his first teacher, a violin virtuoso, raved, "How can I teacha you to play the violin when you can' even reada the notes?"

In high school, teachers didn't want him to play in the school band. Same reason. "But mother went to the school and said, 'Maybe he's no good for your band—but you've got to give him a chance to PROVE he's no good.'"

He was so good that he went on to the distinguished Oberlin Conservatory of Music. After graduation, 14 years ago, he formed his own dance band. It quickly became one of the top East Coast society groups, playing for some of the most brilliant parties of the most brilliant names in the Blue Book.

He's proud of the fact nobody seems to know he can't see. And he honestly believes it has helped his professional talent. (I'm not distracted by the pretty people, or the funny ones, I can concentrate on my music.")

Like the time when he was playing a ballroom date, and a bat came swooping out of the rafters and circled his head.

"I was the serene star of the sax that night . . . I get more praise that way!"

One per cent of the world's water supply is locked in the thick ice fields which cover one-tenth of the earth's surface.

Land Owners Get Tax Tips

Need Not Pay Income Levy on Condemned Property Sometimes

CHICAGO (UPI) — Owners of property condemned for highway slum clearance and urban renewal projects need not pay federal income taxes on any profits they receive so long as they use the money to pay for "similar" replacements, according to a national tax authority.

The Commerce Clearing House said the tests used to determine whether the replacement has been "similar" include:

Restore shade trees and water to farm grazing land bisected by a turnpike.

Build a new building with more capacity than the two buildings given up.

Buy nearly twice as much land for future plant expansion five blocks away from a condemned lot used for employe parking.

Buy a farm with one rental home to replace a farm containing two such homes.

Buy land in another part of the city for a plant site to replace a lease on an improved which had been condemned.

But the Clearing House also cited some instances where tax officials had ruled the replacement was "not similar." The "not similar" instances included:

Proceeds of unimproved real estate were reinvested in improved real estate.

Proceeds of real property were applied in reduction of indebtedness previously incurred in the purchase of a leasehold.

An award for condemned realty was used to buy mortgages on other realty.

NICE PLAYMATES — Two of the biggest, friendliest lions you ever saw have joined the Fleishhacker Zoo in San Francisco and struck it off with lion keeper Jack Castor the first time they met. The pair, King and Alicia are pets of Fresno rancher Louis Alberty who bought them two and a half years ago as cubs. "I always did want to raise lions" Alberty said, "but they just kept growing and growing." The lions took their change of residence calmly. Alicia is expecting a litter of cubs later this month.

DUNSMUIR, Calif. (AP)—Tony Welch, 19, who was awarded $206,804 damages from the Dunsmuir High School District for a 1955 football injury, has had his right leg amputated, his father Cecil Welch said today.

Tony was injured in a game with Enterprise High School of Redding, Calif. The father, a railroad conductor, said Tony wanted the leg amputated so he could sit up in a wheel chair. He said the leg was paralyzed in such a position his son couldn't sit.

Expecting Quick Railroad Aid

$700 Million Loan-Help Bill Passes Senate on Voice Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quick House action is expected on legislation to authorize 700 million dollars in government-guaranteed loans and other help for the ailing railroads.

The Senate passed the bill by voice vote yesterday and the House Commerce Committee was called into closed door session to tackle the measure today.

As passed by the Senate, the bill also would permit the railroads to discontinue unprofitable interstate trains unless the Interstate Commerce Commission determines the carriers are not suffering net losses and overrules them.

The Senate cut out a provision that would have permitted rail, air, barge and truck carriers to set up reserve funds that would be free of income taxes for five years if the funds were invested in new equipment.

On motion of Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), the Senate eliminated authority for the ICC to permit discontinuance of trains operating wholly within a single state. In the amended form, the bill would give the ICC authority to permit discontinuance of any train that crosses from one state into another.

Under the bill, the ICC would authorize government - guaranteed loans to the railroads for acquisition or construction of new equipment.

Up to 150 millions of the 700-million-dollar total could be used for operating expenses and interest payments on existing obligations.

The loans, to be made by private lenders, would be for 15 years.

The provision for tax-exempt construction reserve funds was dropped when Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla) said it was opposed by the House. Under the Constitution, tax legislation originates in the House.

★ ★ ★

Other provisions of the Senate bill would:

1. Prohibit the ICC from holding the rates of one carrier to a high enough level to protect the traffic of a competing method of transportation.
2. Strengthen the ICC's authority over intrastate railroad rates.
3. Prohibit transportation of goods by "buy-and-sell" motor vehicle operators by confining such transportation to operators either primarily in that business or those moving their own products.
4. Bring transportation of frozen fruits and frozen vegetables under ICC regulation.

ATLANTIC BEACH, N.C. (AP) —Milton Santina brought a live 325-pound, 7½-foot porpoise by station wagon from Marathon, Fla., and deposited it in an aquarium here claiming it was thelonium here claiming it was the longest car trip ever made by a porpoise—25½ hours and 1,026 miles.

Eisenhower's Thoughts on Red China Influenced by Meetings With Macmillan

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The impression left by President Eisenhower's three-day talk with British Prime Minister Macmillan was that of two old friends nodding "yes, sir" to each other on everything.

They showed no sign of disagreement. At the same time they didn't appear to have solved anything, either. But the meeting hadn't been billed as a world-shaker in the first place.

But it was one of those things in which, behind the privacy of the White House walls, one man may have been a real influence on the other. In this case Macmillan perhaps influenced Eisenhower's thinking on Red China.

That might explain the startling way in which Secretary of State Dulles suddenly said Red China should be included in any arrangement to police a ban on nuclear testing to prevent cheating.

Almost a year ago the prime ministers of 10 British Commonwealth nations, meeting in London, urged that Red China, as a potential nuclear power, be asked to join in any disarmament agreement or any agreement on ending nuclear tests.

But this government not only refuses to recognize the Red Chinese as the government of mainland China but opposes membership of them in the United Nations.

This is like having cake and eating it, since, no matter what it's called, the present armistice in Korea is the result of agreement with Red China.

This non-recognition of Red China lies behind Eisenhower's omission—in his correspondence with Russian Premier Khrushchev about ending nuclear tests—of any mention of Red China as an interested party.

What Eisenhower and Khrushchev have agreed on is this: that American and Russian scientists —with the British, French, Poles and Czechoslovaks sitting in— should meet to seek some accord on how a nuclear testing ban could be policed.

Macmillan began his talks with Eisenhower and Dulles Monday. Later that day the White House said the President's latest letter to Khrushchev would be made public Tuesday morning. It made no mention of Red China.

But within about an hour Dulles was telling his news conference that to make a ban on nuclear testing effective inspection posts would have to be set up in Red China.

So, while that had been the British position for a year, it didn't become the American position until Macmillan visited the White House. Yesterday Macmillan said Red China should be included in any agreement on banning nuclear tests.

Before Red China agreed to inspection posts inside her borders, she might insist on admittance to the U. N. That would require American recognition of the Red regime as legitimate.

So the Dulles-Macmillan statements on Red China may be the opening of the first door to letting her into the U. N. and giving her the international recognition she wants.

★ ★ ★

If this turns out to be a result of Macmillan's visit to Washington it will, in the long run, prove to have been very far-reaching although at the moment it may seem hardly more than a minor episode.

Interlochen Band to Play at Bridge Rite

DETROIT (AP) — The National Music Camp Band from Interlochen is going to play after all at dedication of the Mackinac Bridge June 26-28.

Two bands of professional musicians also will play.

★ ★ ★

Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, said today a dispute over whether the Interlochen band would play had been settled "through the good offices of Gov. Williams."

★ ★ ★

An original invitation to the Music Camp Band was withdrawn after the American Federation of Musicians objected. The union insisted student-musicians would replace professional bandsmen.

Gov. Williams suggested a second invitation to the Interlochen Band.

Today, Eduard Werner, president of the Detroit Federation of Musicians, said there now was no objection to the student bandsmen playing at bridge ceremonies. He added:

"They also have hired two professional bands to play, which is all I wanted."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Joseph C. Maddy, director of the Interlochen camp, charged the original objection stemmed from personal animosity toward him by James C. Petrillo, who recently retired as president of the Musicians Union.

Communists Show Anti-U.S. Movies

HONG KONG (AP)—A festival of anti-American films is opening Saturday in Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Hanoi Radio, heard here today, said more than 30 feature movies from Russia, Communist China, Hungary, East Germany and Japan are on the program.

★ ★ ★

They include: "Still, It's Good to be Alive," from Japan, described as a "dramatic denouncement of the crimes of the U.S. imperialists who dropped atom bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki and continue nuclear tests in the Pacific."

the Pacific" and a Russian picture "exposing acts of racial discrimination in the United States."

Federal Debt Stretched Out

Elation of Treasury Not Shared by All Units in Financial Circles

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Treasury's elation over its success this week in stretching out the maturity of the federal debt isn't shared today by all in the financial community.

★ ★ ★

The policy is being watched closely by corporate treasurers, school boards and city fathers who may be wanting to tap the investment market for funds. Already they've sold a record breaking volume of new securities this year. Now Uncle Sam is becoming a bigger competitor in this market.

★ ★ ★

The Treasury's aim, however, wins the praise of many on the sidelines for its long term good effects on the money market—that conglomerate thing that can determine how much interest you'll have to pay if you want to buy on time or get a mortgage, and even can determine whether there'll be money available if your community wants to build a new school or your firm wants to borrow to build a new plant.

★ ★ ★

The Treasury holds that it isn't upsetting the investment market nor mopping up investment money pools for long.

★ ★ ★

What the Treasury wants to do —and what it succeeded in doing this week — is to get more of the federal debt into long term bonds so that it won't have to be going into the money market every little while to refund short term issues as they come due.

★ ★ ★

This week the Treasury sold one billion dollars in 27-year bonds for cash and refunded some 7¼ billion of maturing issues into new 6 years 8 months bonds. This allowed the Treasury to stretch out the average maturity of the federal debt to 63 months. Last week the average was 58 months.

★ ★ ★

The Treasury isn't out of the financial woods by any means. The Treasury secretary's fiscal problems go on and on. Before the end of the year he is expected to seek 8 billion dollars more in cash to meet the deficit that will mount fast in the second half of the year.

On Improper Influence

Offer 'Standing Invitation' to Adams — Anyone

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) offered a "standing invitation" today for Sherman Adams or anyone else to tell Harris' House subcommittee about any improper influence on federal regulatory agencies.

Harris did not specifically name Adams, President Eisenhower's chief assistant, but he said the invitation includes officials of the executve branch.

Harris announced also that "we're going to start building the case" next Monday in an inquiry which so far has featured disputed allegations that Adams pulled strings to help an old friend, Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

The Arkansas Democrat said he would call in Federal Trade Commission and Securities and Exchange Commission officials. Goldfine firms have been in trouble with both agencies. Also under subpoena is a Goldfine bookkeeper who so far has balked at turning over all records Harris wants.

Adams was reported ready to deny that he swung favored FTC and SEC treatment for Goldfine.

A White House source indicated Adams would acknowledge that Goldfine frequently paid hotel bills for Adams in Boston. Harris' investigators have said Goldfine paid nearly $2,000 for this over a four-year period. But Adams, it was said, always thought Goldfine kept the hotel rooms as a permanent residence suite.

★ ★ ★

Harris indicated in an interview that he did not really expect Adams to volunteer nor the subcommittee to subpoena him as a witness. Presidential advisers have been deemed immune from forced testimony.

★ ★ ★

As for any evidence his investigators may have that Adams helped Goldfine, Harris would say only that "the hearings will develop any and all information the committee has."

So far the subcommittee record has included only fragmentary, hearsay allegations reported by staff investigators to the effect that Goldfine got favored treatment through his friendship with Adams. This led to double-barreled charges against the subcommittee last night:

1. The American Civil Liberties Union accused the committee of violating a House rule providing for closed hearings when there is a chance of defaming persons without cause.

2. A Goldfine attorney, Roger Robb, said allegations against Adams and Goldfine were based on "worthless hearsay, wild surmise and wishful suspicions."

Meanwhile Sen. Norris Cotton (R-NH) said he has been a frequent guest of Goldfine in Boston hotels.

★ ★ ★

Cotton said he is a business associate and legal counsel for two woolen mills in which Goldfine has an interest. Adams is a former Republican governor of New Hampshire.

There are 55 resort towns along New Jersey's 120-mile ocean front.

Divers Recover Body

CHASSELL (AP)—State Police skin divers yesterday recovered the body of Frank Mueller, 69, of Joliet, Ill., from Portage Lake. Mueller drowned Tuesday night when a fishing boat capsized. A companion, John Killmar, 21, of Hancock, was rescued.

40 Youths From State to Take Surveying Class

LANSING (AP) — Forty Michigan youths, all aiming toward careers in engineering, will take an eight-week course in surveying this summer near Jackson, Wyo.

The group of high school seniors were top qualifiers in a field of 68 students who took a competitive civil service examination. J. A. Fish of Carleton scored the top mark.

The course at the University of Michigan's summer survey school is designed to stimulate interest in highway engineering. Those who pass it will have a choice of continuing engineering studies in college or joining the State Highway Department as engineering aides.

Those who obtain college degrees will have jobs waiting for them in the highway department, said Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The school is sponsored jointly by the U. of M.'s School of Engineering, the Highway Department and the Michigan Road Builders' Assn.

Statehood for Alaska Draws Nearer

By CHARLES STAFFORD
AP Feature Writer

Alaska is close to the star it has cherished for 42 years.

The House has voted in favor of statehood. The Senate is weighing the proposal. With both political parties pledged to "immediate statehood," success seems alluringly near.

But Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho), an ardent supporter, says senators from heavily-populated states resent that sparsely-populated Alaska would have equal representation in the upper house.

Church argues that 25 states had fewer than Alaska's 208,000 residents when they were admitted to the Union. And to those who protest that the territory isn't contiguous to the United States, he answers that when California was admitted to the Union it was separated from the other states by a thousand miles of "towering mountains, sun-baked deserts and stretching prairies, and could be reached only thorugh months of travel."

Alaska first sought statehood in 1916. Once before the legislation was passed by the House, only to die in the Senate. If the territory makes it this year, it will be the first new state since Arizona was admitted on Feb. 14, 1912.

And flagmakers will have to add a star, changing the American flag's six rows of eight stars each to seven rows of seven.

What would this 49th State be?

STRATEGIC LOCATION: Russian Siberia hovers menacingly only 60 miles off Alaska's western tip. Point Barrow, 300 miles above the Arctic Circle, is 3,750 miles across the North Pole from Moscow—about the same distance as the Alaskan capital, Juneau, from Washington. Attu, southwestern most island of Alaska's Aleutians, is but 1,400 miles from Northern Japan.

MONUMENT TO FORESIGHT: Alaska was one of the shrewdest bargains in American history. Vitus Bering, a Dane, discovered it for the Russian czar in 1728. In 1867, with the fur trade on the decline and the cost of his military campaigns going up, another czar sold Alaska to the United States for $7,200,000. Critics promptly tagged it "Seward's Folly" in dubious honor of Secretary of State William H. Seward who did the negotiating. But gold was discovered in the Klondike in 1896. Since then, Alaska has produced more than 700 times its purchase price in gold alone.

STURDY NATIVE STOCK: Most Alaskan folk are descendants of the hardy people who migrated across the western United States in Conestoga wagons. Of the 208,000 residents, 85 per cent are Americans and only 15 per cent native Aleuts, Eskimos or Indians. For the last two decades, Alaska has led the rest of the United States in percentage of yearly population increase.

BIG LAND: As the 49th State Alaska would inherit Texas' boast as the biggest. Seward's folly is twice as large as Texas and one-fifth the size of the United States.

AND A RICH ONE: Alaska is not a land of perpetual ice and snow. The Japanese current curving up from the South Pacific helps create a mild climate in much of the territory. More than 175 types of flowers can be found during the summer months as far north as Nome. There is rich farm land. Gold mining continues to be important, fur trapping has declined but still provide 1½ million dollars in annual income, fishing ranks as the principal industry, and lumbering, which accounted for more than 34 million dollars two years ago, is on the increase. More than that, geologists predict Alaska will one day be one of the world's principle oil producers.

Ninety per cent of Alaska's land is owned by the federal government, but the legislation granting statehood would give more than a quarter of this to the new state government for homesteading.

Suspect Officer in Robberies

Patrolman in Detroit Accused as Paper-Bag Holdup Bandit

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit policeman was accused today of being the paper-bag bandit who failed in three attempted bank holdups but staged four other robberies.

Detroit Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins identified the suspect as patrolman Marmion S. Pollard, 29.

Piggins said Pollard, father of four children and a member of the police force since 1952, confessed after he was identified by John Balgrie, 32, manager of the Detroit Bank & Turst Co.

An attempt to rob this bank was made last month.

Baigrie said he wrestled with the bandit as he tried to flee the bank. He identified Pollard as the man he fought.

Piggins said a paper bag dropped at the bank by the fleeing bandit had fingerprints which matched Pollard's.

Pollard was arrested yesterday after another unsuccessful robbery. Police said a bandit tried to rob a grocery but fled when a woman clerk began screaming. A car parked nearby was watched by detectives and when Pollard came to the car a few hours later he was arrested.

Police said Pollard confessed both the bank and grocery robbery attempts and admitted he tried to rob two other banks.

They said Pollard told them he had been successful in robbing one market twice and two finance companies. The total loot was about $600.

Case Costly to Attorney

HARTFORD, Conn (UPI) — It cost Attorney Snow G. Munford $100 to win $38,135 for a client. His successful argument in one court forced him to be late in another, and he was fined $100 for contempt.

Suburban Man Building Street, Tired of Dust

CLEVELAND (INS) — If the pioneering spirit in America is dead, R. A. Tonsing, of suburban Garfield Heights, hasn't heard of its demise.

Tonsing, a life-long resident of the community, is building his own street. Temporarily laid off his job as a pipe fitter, Tonsing has dug out the stretch of road 100 feet long and 24 feet wide.

Tonsing says, "It will take 100 tons of gravel to fill the road and cost me $400, but the city hasn't the money to do it and I am tired of the dust."

Radio-Set Output Rises

NEW YORK — Production of radio receivers climbed near post-war peaks in 1957, scoring a 9 per cent increase over 1956.

Atomic-Insurance Pool Established in Norway

OSLO — The Norwegian Atomic Insurance Pool was established at a recent meeting in Oslo. Forty-one Norwegian insurance companies have already pledged to join the venture, whose purpose is to provide insurance against any damage or loss caused by the operation of nuclear installations.

More Man-Caused Fires

PORTLAND, Ore. — During the 1957 fire season Oregon had 774 man-caused forest fires compared with 753 in 1956 and 821 in 1955.

Long-Staying Visitors Reach Peak in Canada

OTTAWA—Long-stay automobile entries into Canada reached an all-time high in 1957, with 2,555,074 motorists given vehicle permits to stay in the country 48 hours or more.

This was a gain of 30,081 over the peak year of 1955 and an increase of 70,360 over 1956.

An estimated 127,000 persons fly on commercial airlines every day.

U.S. Health Insurance Benefits Set Record

NEW YORK — Insurance companies paid out a record 2½ billion dollars in benefit payments in 1957 to Americans covered by health-insurance policies, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

* * *

Project to Raise Ship Dropped

Long-Sunken Schooner to Stay on Lake Bottom

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — The long-sunken schooner Cuka apparently will remain on the bottom of Lake Charlevoix.

Because of new problems, Calvin Nelson's unusual project to raise the Cuka from her watery tomb after 25 years was abandoned yesterday.

* * *

The 34-year-old Dearborn insurance man, who saw in his plan a means of salvaging big sunken ships, ran up against the obstacles of ownership and government authority.

Nelson said that until these were settled he would have to let the undertaking rest.

"But I've learned a great deal," he said philosophically, vowing he would try it again.

With the use of parachute-type balloons, to be inflated after being attached underwater to the Cuka, he meant to raise the boat to the surface. The Cuka lies in 45 feet of water in the northwest Michigan lake.

* * *

A onetime excursion vessel, she has lain there for the last quarter century since the U. S. coast guard scuttled her as a menace to navigation. She had been turned into a floating dance hall and the Coast Guard sank her after she had been abandoned in depression years.

Nelson said "publicity" over his attempt had brought up a question of the Cuka's ownership.

In addition, Nelson said his rights under marine law might be at issue. He indicated he would consult with the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers.

* * *

Nelson's skin divers had met with troubles this week in going down to the Cuka.

Strong winds and high seas made the job difficult. One balloon was carried off by the waters before it could be fixed securely to the hulk.

Parks-Recreation Unit Will Show Free Movies

Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department is going to show free motion pictures for children this summer for the first time.

Showings will begin Tuesday night at Murphy Park and continue there every Tuesday night for 10 weeks.

* * *

Admission to the theater under the stars will be free. The movies will begin as soon as it is dark.

The 10 films are full length feature presentations and six of them are in color, according to Leonard Buzz, recreation superintendent.

* * *

Buzz said that a movie screen will be mounted on the department's GM Futureliner trailer and park benches and chairs provided for the audience.

The department rented the 10-week package of films from a Chicago firm for $75, he said.

June 24, Enchanted Forest (color); July 1, March of the Wooden Soldiers; July 8, Last of the Commanches (color); July 15, The Swordsman (color); July 22, Flying Missile; July 29, Phantom Horse (color); Aug. 5, Heidi; Aug. 12, Curley (color), and Aug. 19, Fair Wind to Java.

If any film is rained out, Buzz said, the department will not be able to arrange a substitute showing.

The Saar region, long disputed by both France and Germany, produces about 12 million tons of coal a year for Europe's industrial needs.

May Accident Total Lower in Pontiac

There were 90 auto accidents in Pontiac in May, of which 40 involved injuries, the monthly report of the police traffic bureau discloses.

* * *

This compares with 98 in May of 1957 including one fatality. This May, 53 persons were injured, compared with 52 for the same month last year.

So far in 1958, the report shows, there have been 469 accidents in the city in which eight persons have been killed and 204 injured.

Last year to this date, there were 508 accidents, but only one person killed and 256 injured.

Artillery Troops Soon to Handle Army Redstone

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Army was a step closer to activating the nations first ballistic missile today after the latest apparently successful launching of a Redstone rocket.

The 63-foot Redstone, the most highly developed ballistic weapon in the U.S. arsenal, roared into space last night.

The Army says the Redstone has undergone more successful tests than any other large missile. This is the rocket that the Army hopes will be deployed in the field in the very near future—possibly late next month.

Designed as a highly mobile field artillery weapon, the Redstone has a range of about 250 miles. It can be moved quickly over great distances and fired in the field in a relatively short time.

Specially trained troops from the Army's 40th Field Artillery Missile group fired the missile for the first time May 17. The Army announced then that the accomplishment marked the beginning of the missiles operational phase.

A modified version of the Redstone played a key role in launching two Explorer satellites into orbit as the first stage vehicle for the Jupiter-C rocket.

Jet Seaplane Base Construction Begins

That Mystic Time Here Again Tomorrow

Is Friday the 13th Worrying You Today?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Worried about tomorrow being Friday the 13th?

Thinking about black cats, ladders and your lucky rabbit's foot?

Forget about it. There's enough data at the Library of Congress to offer explanations for all.

There's nothing to connect Friday and the 13th. But both are considered unlucky and therefore a double whammy when they come together.

Actually it is not known how Friday came to be a day of superstition. But the chief reason given is that Christ was crucified on Friday and that "Black Friday" resulted.

EARLY TABOO

The number "13" actually has been taboo since man first learned to count. Apparently not knowing about "this little piggy went to market," he counted to 10 on his fingers and tossed in both feet to make 12. Beyond that lay the unknown—13.

Black cats, ladders and rabbits' feet have no connection with Friday, the 13th.

There still is a widespread belief that it's unlucky to walk under a ladder unless a counter-charm is performed.

The ladder is a symbol of both good and evil in mythology. Egyptians believed their sun god was rescued by ladder when imprisoned by the spirit of darkness. Today, some Egyptians carry minature ladders as luck charms.

In other parts of the world, it is forbidden to walk under ladders for various reasons. One is that the ladder represented the sacred triangle, the symbol of life. Any one walking through would be punished by spirits.

Among some Asiatic countries, criminals were hanged from the 7th rung of a ladder propped against a tree.

DEATH 'CONTAGIOUS'

The belief was that death was contagious and if one walked under the ladder, he would catch it from the criminal.

As for the rabbit's foot, the rabbit had four of them—and what good did it do him?

So, there you are.

Hal Boyle Says:

Enclosed Check in Grateful Appreciation—

NEW YORK (AP) — "As her favorite nephew, we know you will be deeply distressed to learn of the passing of your late beloved aunt, whom we had the pleasure of serving as attorneys for 50 years.

"Probate of her will discloses that you—."

Who, on receiving a letter that begins in this way, could refrain from reading it all the way through?

Practically no one. No matter how busy he was, he would be glad to pause, put away the cares of the moment, and finish reading that letter.

It is a perfect example of how to write a letter. The first sentence plunges one to the depths of despair, telling, as it does, of the final departure of a dear relative. But before one can even give way to grief, the very next sentence is a consoling pat on the shoulder —assuring one that, though much is taken, something still abides. Hope remains.

★ ★ ★

But how often does one get such a really interesting letter as this one? Hardly ever.

★ ★ ★

When you are very young, any letter is exciting and holds the possibility of great mystery. You turn it over and over to prolong the thrill. And when you open it, you are content even if it is only a form letter telling you how to raise guinea pigs for fun and profit, or how to build bigger muscles for $3.95.

★ ★ ★

But as you grow older and more cynical, the romance tends to disappear from the postman's mailbag.

★ ★ ★

But now and then you get a letter turned out by someone who really knows how to write. For example, I can't help finish letters that start out as follows:

"The enclosed check is in grateful appreciation of—."

"We have read the manuscript of your stirring novel and are happy to inform you that—."

"Our board of directors, despite the recession, have voted an extra quarterly dividend of—."

"A review of your 1956 tax return has disclosed you overpaid—."

"Remember how I had to fight you to get you to buy that $1 chance on a new 1958 convertible? Well, the winning ticket has been drawn, and guess who—."

"Usually our Country Club requires a $500 initiation fee for new members, but in your case—."

"Frankly, I thought your son would flunk out the first semester. However, now I must admit—."

"Remember the little redhead who stood you up on that prom date in 1938? Well, all these years my conscience has—."

★ ★ ★

"The lodge next year has to be led by a guy who has real character as well as drive. Your name came up during—."

★ ★ ★

"Your wife returned the dress, and a credit of $175 has been made to your—."

"Cocktails will be served at—."

But you don't hardly get that kind of letter any more, do you?

Malta Order Oldest

ROME — The oldest papal order of laymen, the Knights of Malta, today numbers about 5,000 members throughout the world, including 550 in America. The knights maintain diplomatic representatives in France, the Vatican, Spain, Portugal, Haiti, Argentina, Brazil, Panama, and San Salvador.

Coal Exports Increase

BOSTON — The United States exported 54,000,000 long tons of coal during 1957, an increase of 18½ per cent over 1956.

Upswing in Wages First Since August

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first upswing in wage payments since the recession began last August is reported by the Commerce Department.

★ ★ ★

The department said yesterday that the nation's personal income rate increased by 1¼ billion dollars on a yearly basis during May.

This boosted the total annual rate to 344¼ billion—off three billion dollars from the peak rate of last August.

Part of the gain was attributed to an increase in federal and state payments, up 400 million dollars.

About two out of three first graders troubled with learning to read are said to be below par in their vision.

Child Writes God to Spare Her Mommy

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP) — The letter, written in a childish scrawl was addressed "To God in Heven." It read:

"Dear God,

"I know you are busy, but please will you make mommy well again.

"Daddy says that you may take mommy to Heven to be with you.

"I love you but I want my mommy to stay here with me.

"You can have any of my toys. Daddy needs mommy two.

"I will say my prayers every day."

Postmaster William Runyon opened the letter yesterday. There was no signature.

Longfellow's Ex-Pupil 'Evangeline' Inspiration

ST. MARTINVILLE, La.—Evangeline, the heroine of Longfellow's poem, is commemorated by a statue on the tomb of Emmeline Labiche — the real-life Evangeline — beside the St. Martinville church.

Longfellow never visited this place, but his poem decribed it accurately because a former student of his at Harvard, a St. Martinsville resident, helped him with the local color and customs.

Gets Divorce Finalized After Four-Year Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After more than four years of litigation, actress Veda Ann Borg, 43, has obtained her final decree of divorce from Andrew McLaglen, 38, television director and son of actor Victor McLaglen.

Their eight-year marriage ended in 1954 when she filed a separate maintenance action. A year ago she obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce and McLaglen subsequently obtained a Mexican divorce decree.

Beer Guzzling Cattle Given Hand Massage

WELLINGTON, N.Z. — New Zealand farmers don't care for the advice they are getting from Japan. It appears that if New Zealand's prime beef is to compete with Nippon's best, the farmers must massage the cattle by hand and coax them to become beer drinkers.

This is what the country's meat board learned when it asked its representative in Japan to find out how the Japanese breed such tender beef for its top sukiyaki houses. Came the reply: "The farmer feeds them white rice. Incense keeps flies and mosquitoes at bay . . . Cattle also are given beer from time to time to help fatten them."

It looks like the world has one of two choices — either coexistence or no existence . . . Qiute a few people are already working a four-day week. Trouble is, it takes five or six days to do it. —Earl Wilson.

New Photocell Uses Radioactive Source

NEW YORK — An electric eye that uses atomic radiation instead of a visible light beam has been developed. The maker says it uses a small amount of radioactive isotope strontium-90 to replace the light bulb used in standard photo-electric-cell systems. Its advantages are said to be a higher degree of reliability and long operation without repairs.

Concert Pianist Prefers Audience

Teens Hear Van Cliburn Play

NEW YORK (NEA) — About 50 New York teenagers can say they were there the day Van Cliburn made his first American recording.

Ordinarily, concert artists prefer to work without an audience while making records. But the conquering hero of music asked RCA-Victor to have some people there while he cuts his first one. He said he thought he played better with an audience.

And so 50 youngsters from New York's High School of Music and Art, plus a scattering of other guests, jockeyed for the best vantage points in the gallery of the ornate Manhattan Center ballroom. They custered in the front rows, their chins jammed on the railing, their eyes focused on the lanky Texan.

The ballroom, with its rococo ceiling and pink-glass chandeliers and inlaid murals of worldwide dancing scenes, is one of the favored recording studios in New York. It is big and it is quiet. And, for this session, the echoes were deadened with huge baffles surrounding the polished grand piano and great colored cloths draped over the balcony railing at strategic spots.

Cliburn was due at 11. The orchestra — the Symphony Of the Air — arrived at 10 for an hour of rehearsal and balancing. Kiril Kondrashin, the Russian who conducted for Cliburn when he won the Tchalkovsky prize in Moscow, came in, carrying his baton. He wore a green suit.

He shook hands with one or two of the musicians, took off his coat, placed his wrist watch on the music stand and got down to business. He knew exactly what he wanted, giving his instructions in a few key English and Italian words, some Russian (translated immediately by a cellist) and mostly in the universal language of conductors — he sang, "Like so — da-da-da-dee. Now, please" — that needs no translation.

At 11:25 — Cliburn has a reputation for chronic lateness — the man of the hour arrived. Cliburn waved gayly to the orchestra, took off his jacket, rippled across the keyboard for a few seconds and nodded his readiness to begin.

Kondrashin gave the downbeat that set the orchestra off on the first powerful measures of Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1. And Cliburn played. After perhaps three minutes, the voice from the booth cut in, saying, "All right, thank you," indicating the mechanics were all set.

"Are you ready to record?" asked the voice.

Cliburn nodded. So did Kondrashin.

"All right, then. Please be quiet in the gallery. This is J38942, Take One."

A red light on a stick next to Kondrashin went on. He poised his baton. Cliburn, looking like an animated scarecrow, rested his head on his hand. The downbeat. The orchestra began, this time for keeps.

Cliburn's long fingers went to work. Sometimes they're curved and riged, like an eagle's talons, as they pound out the music. Sometimes they're soft and tender, like a mother caressing a baby, as they make the gentle notes sing. And sometimes they're like a fringe in the wind. the 10 fingers flashing over the keyboard as though racing each other, each one seemingly operated by an independent agency.

In the orchestral portions, when the piano is silent, Cliburn sometimes leaned forward and rested his head on the piano. Sometimes he bent backwards, as though almost falling asleep — and, indeed, once he yawned. He long body curled into innumerable positions when he wasn't called on to play.

But when the moment came for him to go to work, he was there. Often he lifted his head high, his eyes closed, and seemed transported. Sometimes, he shook his head, as though in anger at himself for something he'd done. Frequently he leaned forward, close over the keys, and seemed to be daring them to disobey.

It was over. The verdict was it was rough in spots, but they'd fix that with some spot replays and splicing.

Cliburn's mother, who'd held a whispered conference with him just before the concerto began, smiled at him. Kondrashin, who'd watched over him like a mother hen during the performence, nodding, smiling, making little encouraging gestures, shook his hand.

CLIBURN'S LONG FINGERS GO TO WORK—"Sometimes they're curved and rigid like an eagle's talons," as caught here in sketch from life at recording session by NEA staff artist.

It's Simple in East Germany

Wife's Petit Bourgeois -- That's Easy, Divorce Her

BERLIN (UPI) — One of five marriages in East Germany ends in divorce.

This high rate — almost twice that in West Germany — was revealed by the eastern zone's statistical year-book. It listed 152,000 marriages in East Germany in 1956 and 29,000 divorces.

The Communists give various reasons for this development, including bad housing conditions and the overconsumption of alcohol, but the real reason lies in Communism itself.

Under Soviet zone laws a divorce may be granted "if the marriage has lost its value to society."

★ ★ ★

This new divorce law makes it possible for any east zone official, party member or union leader to shed without difficulties his wife of many years on the grounds that she "is not progressive" or "hinders the husband in his political work."

NO ALIMONY

To make things easier for the male partner, he does not have to pay alimony to his former wife. Under the East German "equal rights for women" law, divorced wives as well as all other Soviet zone females must work for their living.

"In a socialist state every woman can make her own living and does not have to depend on a man as in capitalism," the Communists have pronounced.

Neither old age nor the existence of children receive any consideration in the case of a political divorce.

In Potsdam a Communist Party official was granted a divorce after he charged his wife "obstructed his political development." The couple had been married for 35 years. Court proceedings proved the husband had found a young mistress.

★ ★ ★

WOMEN ALSO SUE

In another instance, divorce was granted although the couple had six small children.

"My wife is a petit bourgeois and stands in my way," the Communist husband said. He won the case.

Sometimes it is women who make use of the political divorce clauses to get rid of their husbands.

"My husband is opposed to the government," an East Berlin Communist woman leader told the court. She was freed of her marital bonds in a jiffy.

Statistics show that it is not the newlyweds who represent the majority of east zone divorce-seekers. Forty-eight per cent of the divorces were granted to couples who had been married ten to 20 years. Fifteen per cent of the divorcing couples had been married over 20 years.

Only six per cent of the divorces were granted to partners married less than a year and 31 per cent to couples with one to ten years of marital life.

Clothes Preferred for Role in Movie

TOKYO (INS)—The good fortune of having her clothes on when director John Huston passed her has helped make a starlet overnight of a Japanese burlesque queen.

What is more, she won the chance to play opposite John Wayne, her long-time screen hero.

Last October, willowy, 23-year-old Eiko Ando was still a comparatively unknown nude dancer at Tokyo's famed Nichigeki Music Hall.

Eiko danced so well and was so generously endowed that she won the nickname of "Venus." A bright future in show business was in front of her—as long as she appeared in the altogether.

Then came a six months sojourn in Paris and a chance to emulate the girls in the Folies Bergere.

When she returned to Japan there was talk about a girl being wanted to play the part of "Okichi," the Geisha sweetheart of Townsend Harris in the movie Huston is directing.

"I don't have a chance," the Manchurian-born girl thought, but took a screen test anyway.

DONS KIMONA

Making a radical departure from her past, Eiko donned a kimono—the brightly colored Japanese garment that covers a girl from head to toe and makes all gals look alike. She had seldom worn one before even though she is Japanese.

Little did she know that she would bear out one of the oldest axioms in the lore of sex—the more clothes the more enticing and mysterious a woman is.

Huston took one look. In Eiko, who came to Tokyo after the war the veteran director found the "mystery of the Orient . . . the enigma" that he had looked for in vain among more than 30 Japanese.

The former nude Venus was immediately pressed into service to use her fully-clothed talents in the picture.

Huston has found a certain amount of resentment among Japanese in the massive cast because of his choice. Although few will admit it, Eiko's past and the fact that she leapfrogged over other Okichi potentials is being held against her.

But Eiko shrugs it off and doggedly goes about the business of satisfying the demanding Huston.

The $3.5 million 20th Century Fox production built around the life of America's first envoy to Japan in the 1860s will require Eiko to render dialogue half in Japanese and half in English.

She will be able to take advantage of her former talents in one Geisha dance scene.

Long Train Hauled

YORKTON, Sask. (AP) — A 2,400-horsepower diesel unit hauled a string of 157 freight cars, almost 1½ miles in length, through Yorkton, setting a CPR record for Northern Saskatchewan and possibly for Canada. Most of the cars however were empty.

Ike's OK Possible on Board for Space

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California said today he believes President Eisenhower would accept a board-controlled civilian space agency.

Rejecting White House requests for a single director for the new space agency, the Senate Space Committee approved its own version yesterday. This would provide for a seven-member board to control the new agency's policies.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who heads the special Space Committee, told newsmen he had not discussed the change with the White House or with leaders in the House, which previously had approved the single director idea.

Johnson said the modified Senate plan assured civilian dominance over the military in the new space era.

Poor Fishermen Getting Chance to Do It Up Big

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP)—Those couples who met recently with the proverbial fishermen's luck of wet posteriors and empty stomachs are going to live it up the weekend of June 20-22.

★ ★ ★

The Bo Englands and Maxwell Stones, whose trip to Lake Brownwood resulted in a series of well-publicized misfortunes, will return as guests of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce.

That organization promised them air conditioned cabins, use of new motor boats and fishing tackle, steak dinners, two small boys to bait hooks and four larger boys to remove fish from lines.

Their escort will be the patrolmen who stopped them for lacking a license plate. Their cars will be serviced before they leave.

On their May trip, the couples ruined a new tire and had five flats, the bumper pulled off their car, the trailer rolled into the lake, and the boat sank in 30 feet of water. The highway patrol stopped them for not having a rear license plate. It was on the bumper torn off by the trailer, wind and rain blew down their tent and soaked their belongings and England caught pneumonia.

Planetary motion was discovered by German scientist Kepler in 1609.

STRAWBERRY CHIFFON PIE — It looks like pie. It's made in a pie dish. It tastes wonderful. It's Strawberry Chiffon-Pie made with a non-caloric sweetener and without a crust. Weight watchers and all lovers of light desserts take heed.

Strawberries Play Role of Queen of Fruits

Many meals will be highlighted now by delectable desserts which feature succulent summertime fruits.

Here are two recipes which are made with the queen of all berries—strawberries. One is for a delightful light-as-air cake which is accented by a halo of whipped cream and glazed strawberries. The other recipe features this luscious fruit in small, sweetly delicious dessert rolls.

Try either recipe—or both—the next time you hostess a tea party or bridal shower. They'll add that extra-special touch to your extra-special affair.

Strawberry Basket Cake

1 baked nine-inch cake layer
1 cup (½ pint) fresh strawberries
¼ cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream
¼ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ cup clear currant jelly, melted

Wash, hull and sugar strawberries. Chill for one hour. Beat cream until it stands in peaks. Stir in sugar and vanilla, continue beating until well blended. Store in refrigerator until needed.

Carefully cut out well or basket in cake layer, half-inch deep, three inches wide. Fill with sugared berries. Gently spoon melted currant jelly over strawberries to form glaze. Arrange whipped cream around rim of well. Yield: 8 servings.

Strawberry Rolls

1 package pie crust mix
2 cups (1 pint) strawberries
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Wash, hull and sprinkle half cup of sugar over strawberries. Let stand one hour.

Mash strawberries, sprinkle with cornstarch. Combine remaining sugar and cinnamon, sprinkle two-thirds over fruit.

Roll out pie mix. Cut into 12 rectangle pieces, 6"x4." Place small quantity of mashed strawberries on each strip. Form into rolls. Seal edges with milk. Prick with fork to permit escape of steam. Sprinkle with remaining sugar and cinnamon. Bake in preheated hot oven, 450 degrees F., for 10-12 minutes. Yield: 12 strawberry rolls.

The Recipe

Sift together ¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour and ¾ teaspoon Clabber Girl Baking Powder; combine with ½ cup whole bran cereal, 1 cup chopped nut meats, and ½ cup finely chopped dates. Beat 2 eggs until light and foamy; add 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract; beat thoroughly. Add dry ingredients and stir until well blended. Spread mixture evenly in a greased 11 x 7 x 1½-inch baking pan. Bake in a 350° F. (moderate) oven about 35 minutes. Cut in 2 x 1-inch bars while warm; cool. Roll each bar in confectioners sugar. Yield: 33 date bars

The "most important" thing about baking...

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.

Balanced Double Action means Better Baking!

Shrimp Fills Wine Aspic

Cool as a cucumber is this Aspic recipe from the Shrimp Association of the Americas. Adorned with thin slices of the cucumber, it's a pretty dish to behold — to serve and to eat. With a cup of dry white wine as one of the ingredients, the molded aspic makes an attractive buffet luncheon or supper dish, to serve six.

Although a light food, it's satisfying — filled to the brim with cooked shrimp and diced vegetables. If you don't have the wine on hand, use a fourth cup of lemon juice added to three-fourths cup of water, and use three bouillon cubes instead of two.

Party Shrimp Aspic

2 chicken bouillon cubes
2 tablespoons gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
1 cup dry white wine
2 cups cooked shrimp
⅔ cup diced cucumber
¼ cup diced celery
¼ cup diced black olives

Soak the bouillon cubes and gelatin in cold water until soft. Add the boiling water and stir till gelatin is dissolved. Then add the wine.

Chop shrimp, reserving about 6 whole shrimp. Arrange the whole shrimp in a flowerlike design in the bottom of a mold and cover with a layer of the gelatin. Chill until set.

Meanwhile, cool remaining gelatin until thick but not set. Stir in the cucumber, celery, olives and chopped shrimp. Spoon the mixture into the mold. Chill until set.

Unmold on lettuce leaves, garnish with thin slices of cucumber, and serve with a dressing of mayonnaise thinned with a little white wine. Makes 6 servings.

Shoppers Demand That Pigs Reduce

To market, to market to buy a fat pig may have been the rule generations ago, but today's homemaker goes to market and looks for lean pork.

The size influences the amount of fat in a pork cut, says the Marketing Information Agent. If you want lean spareribs look for those weighing three pounds or less. If you want lean pork roasts or chops look for cuts from a loin that weighs no more than twelve pounds. A six pound Boston butt will have more lean than one weighing eight.

* * *

Retailers are cooperating with the shopper's wish for lean pork by giving the outside fat a close trim. Farmers are raising more meat-type hogs that actually have more lean.

To market, to market to buy lean pork is becoming the rule today.

Dip ½-inch thick slices of calves liver in French dressing and broil on both sides until brown; bacon can be broiled at the same time if desired.

Hush Puppies Went to the Dogs First

Celebrate the triumphant return of the fisherman by serving delicious and traditional hush puppies with the prize catches of the day.

* * *

Many years ago during an outdoor fish fry, impetuous puppies were very vocal in their requests for some of the delightfully fragrand fish. The cook made a mush of corn meal, fried, and served it with a sharp, "Hush, puppies!.. As good cooks should, the gentleman tasted his concoction and decided that anything that would hush puppies would do the same for humans.

* * *

You'll find that modern day hush puppies are even better when made with instant whole wheat cereal, the kind with extra wheat germ added. Your family and guests, too, will enjoy the delicious nutlike flavor combined with the wonderful crunchy brown crust of hush puppies.

There are only two tricks to making hush puppies. Make them small so they'll be crispy on the outside and light and just barely moist on the inside. The second trick is to be sure to make plenty. Both families and puppies seem to have terrific appetites where hush puppies are concerned.

Take along your own hush puppy mix the next time you go fishing. Add powdered milk to the dry ingredients. Soak dehydrated onion flakes in water for a minute or two and add to the dry ingredients. In no time at all, you'll have delicious hush puppies ready to pop into the skillet.

Hush Puppies

1 cup instant whole wheat cereal
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
1¼ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup milk
½ cup finely chopped onion

Combine instant whole wheat cereal and sifted dry ingredients. Add milk and onion. Mix well. Shape dough on spoon into pieces 2 inches long and ½ inch thick. Drop into hot fat, ½-inch deep. Fry until well browned on both sides. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot. Yield: 3 dozen.

Keep Drink Mix Ready

Be ready for those unexpected visitors with Always Ready Lemonade. Mix 1 cup lemon juice and ½ cup honey and keep in refrigerator in a tightly covered jar. To each ¼ cup of the sweetened lemon juice add 1 cup ice water.

Fresh Green Beans Do Well on Grill

How have you used the good supply of green beans in the market, asks the Marketing Information Agent. Have you thought of using them on a picnic or at your next outdoor meal?

* * *

After washing and cleaning, put the beans into a package made of heavy foil. Add seasonings of salt, pepper, butter and a few onion rings. Then seal.

* * *

When ready to cook, puncture a small hole in the top to let the steam escape. This keeps the beans from losing their bright green color. Cook them on the grill over hot coals.

Green beans are a good vegetable to add to an outdoor meal and so easy to prepare.

Oranges Give Big Value for Money Spent

Oranges mature the year 'round in sunny California . . . so consumers everywhere can enjoy them. There are two varieties that change with the season. California navels are in the market from November to May. Then, with the first signs of Spring come the California valencias. Bursting with juice, rich and full-bodied in flavor, they are practically seedless.

* * *

Valencia oranges are more oblong in shape than navels and do not have the navel formation. However, California valencias, like navels, have the rich natural orange color characteristic of oranges grown in California and Arizona.

Because of the climate in these areas . . . cool nights and hot, sunny days, the oranges have a more distinctive, tangy flavor and the juice has an almost perfect balance of essential citrus fruit constituents. Even though they are known for juice oranges, valencias are wonderful for eating out of hand, for salads and desserts as is the navel.

* * *

Due to the overly warm weather in California last June, there is a below normal crop of valencias this year. However, all present indications show that the interior quality and flavor will be exceptionally good. For the money spent, the nutritional return of the California oranges is higher in seven or eight nutrients than for most fruits available.

* * *

Budget minded homemakers will have to agree for the amount she pays for oranges, it's a thrifty practice to serve this fruit often, particularly since vitamin C has to be replenished daily.

First Belgian Cookbook Hot Off the Press

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Because of the World's Fair being held in Brussels this year, Belgium is in the news more than usual. We are apt to see many articles of Belgian origin in stores this year also.

What could be more appropriate in the food line than to have the first Belgian cookbook ever to be written? Published within the past month, "A Belgian Cookbook" by Juliette Elkon (Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, New York, $3.95) gives the cook a wealth of mouth-watering dishes.

The author is a native of Belgium now living in the United States. She has been interested in cookery all her life and teaches private lessons in French classical cuisine. Most of her special recipes in the book, she says, came from her grandmother, an incomparable hostess.

Mrs. Elkon divides her book into five sections, corresponding to the five regions of Belgium. The people differ in their eating habits, according to the type of land on which they make their living.

In the rich coastal section of Flanders the pace of life is slow and eating is a leisurely occupation. Wafer cookies or Gaufrettes are yeast-raised delicacies baked in a waffle iron. They are a traditional New Year's treat.

Wafer Cookies

4½ cups sifted all purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
1 package dry yeast diluted in ¼ cup lukewarm water
¾ cup sugar
4 eggs
¾ pound butter, softened

In a large bowl sift flour with cinnamon and salt. Make a well in the center and place in it diluted yeast, sugar and eggs. With the fingers gradually incorporate the flour from the sides into the other ingredients until a smooth paste is obtained.

Knead well. Place in a greased bowl and allow to rise in a warm place until double in bulk (about 2 hours).

Punch down. Incorporate butter into this mass. Divide into balls, using 2 tablespoons of dough. Place on a baking sheet, cover and allow to rise for 30 minutes.

Bake in waffle iron. Cool on a rack. Makes 5-6 dozen.

★ ★ ★

From the most scenic part of Belgium, The Ardennes, comes an interesting recipe for a potato and carrot dish. Folks in this area are thrifty by necessity because of their poor soil. But they know how to eat.

Carrot Mold

6 large carrots, thinly sliced
6 large potatoes, cubed
⅓ cup heavy cream
1 egg yolk
3 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper

Boil carrots and potatoes together in salted water until soft. Drain carefully, then put through food mill. Add other ingredients. Beat well with wire whisk or electric blender.

Press puree into buttered 1-quart pudding mold. Bake in hot oven at 450 degrees for 15 minutes. To serve, invert on a platter. Serves 4-6.

I didn't think you readers would care much for eel recipes which seem to be a great favorite in the Antwerp area. But a recipe for rabbit could appeal to a variety of cooks. I think the Belgian rabbits are bigger than our American bunnies.

Roast Jack Rabbit

1 rabbit, 7-8 pounds
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
4 slices bacon
Salt and pepper to taste
3 tablespoons butter
1 pint heavy cream (more or less)
1 tablespoon cognac (optional)

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Discard head, front legs and breast of rabbit. Reserve for other use. Rub saddle and back legs with mustard. Cover back and legs with bacon. Season. Place in an opening roasting pan with butter.

When well browned on top (about 45 minutes), baste with 3 tablespoons of the cream. Repeat every 10 minutes until rabbit is done (about 1½ hours).

Place rabbit on hot platter. Keep hot. Deglaze roasting pan over high heat by adding ¼ cup water and scraping sides and bottom of pan. Stir well. Add leftover cream and cognac if desired.

Taste and correct seasoning. Pour some of the sauce over rabbit. Serve the rest in a sauceboat. Surround rabbit with applesauce, water cress, French fried potatoes and sauteed mushrooms. Serves 4-6 persons.

To remove a frozen dessert from a mold, dip the mold rapidly into water that is between warm and hot. Then loosen edge with a knife and turn out on serving plate.

Let Pop Reign at Backyard Feast

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

All set for a summer of backyard meals? If the weather man will cooperate a little better than he has for the past two Sundays, everything will be fine for Father's Day.

★ ★ ★

Since fathers often take over as cooks when it comes to barbecuing and grill cooking, we can assume he will probably do the honors even if it is his day to crow. Let's see what we can cook up as our contribution to the feast.

But first, let's review a few safety precautions all outdoor cooks should follow:

Your chef may feel a little foolish the first time he dons an apron, but it will keep fat from splattering the new sport shirt he received as a Father's Day present.

When using lighter fuel to start the charcoal, never pour more fuel on the coals after the fire has been started.

When using paper to lay the fire, ruffle it and anchor it with charcoal so the wind won't blow burning pieces of paper away or into your eyes.

Don't set up portable barbecues near garages, sheds or wooden fences.

Finally, another practical idea is to pour water over the charcoal to extinguish the fire after the food has been cooked. It's safer, and the remaining charcoal can be used the next time.

Back to more pleasant details:

Heat the rolls or bread you want to serve right on the grill. Place them in a pan or wrap in foil and set at one side of the grill where heat is not too intense. Turn once or twice for even heating. Little heat passes over the top of the pan or package.

If you decide steak is out of the question, why not try turkey. Now that we have year-round turkeys, they are often cheaper then beef. Turkey Kabobs will be different.

Turkey Kabobs

Remove the meat from breast and thighs of a 7-pound turkey. Cut into 1-inch cubes. Marinate two hours in the following sauce:

¼ cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon thyme

Pontiac Press Photo

ALL FOR DAD — Already plans are under way for Father's Day at the Howard Morgan home on Fernbarry court. As major domo of the portable barbecue grill, Mr. Morgan gets his equipment in shining order. While Michael, Thomas and Howard Jr. watch, Mrs. Morgan counts her pennies to see if the budget will stand steak for the big day. Sandy holds Jeri Ann while Gloria Jeanne looks on.

Place on skewers, alernating with pineapple, orange, green pepper and onion. Broil over medium fire for 40 minutes. After 15 minutes of cooking drip some the sauce over the kabobs.

Father and all the children will love you forever if you bring out a three-layer chocolate cake for dessert. This one gets tenderness from the buttermilk in it.

Chocolate Buttermilk Cake

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
2¼ cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup cocoa
3 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups buttermilk

Cream butter; add sugar gradually and beat until fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time; then vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together and add to creamed mixture alternately with buttermilk.

★ ★ ★

Pour batter into three 9 inch cake pans which have been greased and lightly floured, lined with waxed paper, and buttered. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven 25-30 minutes. Cool on cake racks.

★ ★ ★

Browned Butter Icing

½ cup butter
6 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
⅓ — ½ cup cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

In a saucepan over low heat, brown butter lightly, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and pour into mixing bowl. Add sugar alternately with cream, beating until icing is fluffy and smooth. Add vanilla and salt and beat to desired spreading consistency.

★ ★ ★

Coffee Mixed in Dessert

Here's a glamorous dessert that's truly delicious and easy to make — a layered parfait featuring coffee tapioca! Of course, the perfect complement — in both appearance and flavor — is fragrant demitasse coffee.

Coffee Tapioca Parfait

3 tablespoons sugar, divided
1 egg, separated
2 cups coffee beverage
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Chocolate syrup
Chopped walnuts

Beat egg white until foamy. Add 2 tblsp. sugar, singly, beating until mixture forms soft peaks. Set aside.

Combine egg yolk with ¼ cup coffee in saucepan. Add tapioca, salt, remaining coffee and sugar. Stir over medium heat until mixture comes to full boil (5 to 8 minutes). Remove from heat, pour small amount on egg white mixture and blend well.

Quickly stir in remaining tapioca mixture. Add vanilla. Cool; stir once after 15 minutes. Chill.

Recipe Is All Right: Use Half Cup Salt

New way to boil new potatoes that makes them extra tender and crackling good. Fill heavy kettle with water and bring to hard boil. Put in small, well-scrubbed new potatoes. Add ½ cup or more of salt, depending on size of kettle and number of potatoes. Boil rapidly until potatoes are tender.

Drain at once, and set kettle back on low heat to keep potatoes hot. Serve and eat potatoes in their skins—which will be flaky and crackling with salt. Serve with sweet butter.

Proper Care Keeps Bread Really Fresh

Where does the bread go between meals at your house? Still wearing its original wrap, it keeps well at room temperature in a bread box. Moisture and freshness remain for several days.

★ ★ ★

You can store bread in the refrigerator, but it will stale quickly, states the Marketing Information Agent.

★ ★ ★

The freezer is an excellent place to store bread for several weeks. Leave it in its original sealed wrapper. It is best to cover it again with a freezer wrap or place it in a sealed pliofilm bag.

Frozen bread should be thawed in its wrapper. Otherwise, moisture forms on the crust and causes it to lose crispness, reminds Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Good storage can keep bread fresh and cut down waste.

Try Egg Butter on Sandwiches

When the bridegroom has finished the traditional kissing of the bride, and the last thumping chord of Lohengrin's March has echoed among the pews, the wedding guests turn expectant eyes upon the reception — and, of course, the tempting foods which always grace a wedding feast.

To make the reception truly festive, plan your refreshments around a giant turkey tray, laden with alternating rows of juicy light and dark turkey meat. The tray forms the perfect center of attraction for the serving table, especially when the sliced turkey is surrounded by a golden halo of egg-butter, heart-shaped sandwiches.

The motif is perfect for an anniversary party too, and can be conveniently served at any hour. Serve with rolls, relishes, olives and nuts.

Egg-Butter Sandwiches

12 egg yolks
½ cup soft butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon ground mace
⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ to ¾ teaspoons Tabasco sauce

Carefully lower egg yolks, one at a time, into simmering water. When all yolks have been added, cook at simmering temperature about 9 minutes or until firm throughout. Test for doneness by piercing centers with fork. Drain, cool and sieve.

Blend yolks with butter or margarine. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Egg Butter should be at room temperature for spreading. Makes 1½ cups.

Six hard-cooked whole eggs, sieved, may be used instead of the 12 egg yolks.

Sesame Best Toasted

Sesame toast rounds are good with soups or salads. Brush melba-toast rounds lightly with melted butter, sprinkle with sesame seeds and heat quickly in hot oven, 400 degree F., until butter is melted and seeds are lightly browned.

Prices of Produce Ease as Local Supply Gains

There is welcome news in the produce department. Each week brings more fresh fruits and vegetables for the market basket. More homegrown supplies are adding to out of state shipments reports the Marketing Information Agent.

There are few changes in meat prices compared with a week ago. Beef and poultry are specially priced in a number of stores.

PRODUCE — Many foods in the fresh produce department are easing in price due to heavier supplies.

Salad supplies are increasing. Head lettuce quality is good. For the most food value, pick heads with the greenest leaves. More celery brings lower prices again this week.

The new potatoes are not good keepers. Buy just what you need for the week ahead.

Local asparagus supplies have been small due to weather conditions. Some locally grown green beans and cabbage are other green vegetables to check in the markets.

Cucumbers, radishes and peppers are very reasonably tagged compared to what they were a month ago.

Fruit counters are beginning to have that summery look. More space is being given to the warm weather fruits. As Michigan strawberries start to market we also have a good supply from out of state. This means you will find tempting prices, especially for the quart size baskets.

The weight of the berries in the basket can cause bruising. Why not empty them onto a tray or cookie sheet. Remove any bruised berries, cover with waxed paper and refrigerate. Try to use within two days.

Fully colored strawberries will have the fullest sweetest flavor.

Michigan's cool weather and frost in low areas is holding back strawberry picking. The season is about 5 to 7 days later than usual. Much heavier supplies are expected next week.

Mexican pineapple is greener than Cuban. Though greenish in color, those from Mexico are ripe and very sweet. If cutting pineapple into serving size pieces is a chore for you, write Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, 1260 West Blvd. for a quick way to cut pineapple.

You will notice an increase in watermelon supplies and a big decrease in price per pound. Florida, Georgia and Alabama are shipping at the same time.

The outdoor grown rhubarb does not have the rosy color of the early hothouse type, but it has wonderful tart flavor. Now is a good time to buy. For added color use a few drops of coloring or combine it with strawberries for something different.

Out of season here, but on the fresh fruit counters, you can find a good supply of plums, New Jersey blueberries, sweet cherries and cantaloupe. You will pay premium prices for most of these.

MEAT FOR THE FAMILY—This week's meat supply for the family will cost about what you have been paying. If you buy frying chicken, turkey or beef you can find features in some stores and lower prices.

Fryer prices vary for several reasons. A bird weighing under 2 pounds naturally has less meat in proportion to bone than one weighing a pound more. Because they have less meat, the smaller birds generally cost less per pound.

Whole, ready-to-cook fryers sell for fewer pennies per pound than those cut into pieces. The cost for this service is passed along to the customer.

A third reason why poultry prices differ is the quality or condition of the bird. A grade A chicken will have good shape or confirmation. It will be plump with a good fat covering. There will be no skin tears or broken bones and practically no pinfeathers.

The grade B birds are less plump and may have one or more of these conditions. Naturally Grade B fryers can be bought and sold at lower prices than the Grade A quality.

The best broiled steaks are cut at least one inch thick. Better yet, 1½ inches. If this sounds like too much money for one meal, use part of a steak. But keep it thick for better flavor and more juice.

★ ★ ★

Smoked and canned ham rate favorably when compared with steak. When comparing prices remember that whole ham will yield three servings per pound; canned ham will serve four people per pound.

Uncooked Strawberry Jam

Mix together ¼ cup powdered pectin and 2 tablespoons sugar. Be sure the powdered pectin contains citric acid. To the pectin-sugar mixture, add 1 cup sieved fresh or unsweetened frozen berries and mix for 7 minutes at lowest speed on a mixer.

To this mixture, add ¾ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons corn syrup and 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Mix for 3 minutes longer.

Pour mixture into sterilized jelly glasses or into freezing containers. Cover and let stand at room temperature until jellied, about 24 hours. Store in refrigerator or freezer.

KING-SIZED KABOBS — Treat Father on his special day with these handsome kabobs. Marinate big squares of beef before cooking them over an open fire. Add separate skewers of vegetables so that they can cook a shorter length of time than the meat.

Vegetable Medley Good With Barbecue

Pop, as king of the barbecue, will be much more impressive when Mom makes the rest of the meal appear — as if by magic. Easier said than done! Don't you believe it? A tasty casserole, brown and serve rolls, and a green salad will do the trick. Ygu'll be the best administrative assistant and will still have time to admire Pop's prowess, too.

Now about this casserole—Thyme Enough Casserole is one of our favorites. It's made with carrots and green beans, either fresh or frozen, and celery, and is seasoned with celery leaves, onion, and a little bit of thyme. Use a can of cream of mushroom soup for the sauce. Crisp bite-size shredded rice biscuits in margarine and a little thyme.

Just before heating, crumble the biscuits over the casserole and slip it into the oven. The subtle flavor combination of the herb thyme and the toasted rice biscuits is sure to please the whole family. The rolls go into the oven at the last minute, while you're mixing the salad.

Here's a trick we discovered, quite by accident. Put the casserole and the rolls in a large wicker basket, and the heat of the casserole will keep the rolls hot. Besides that, it's easier to carry out from the kitchen. A wicker basket will also keep the salad crisp and cold longer.

Yes, it's easy to turn the attention to Pop when he barbecues, and isn't it pleasant to watch the king of the barbecue?

Thyme Enough Casserole

1½ cups cut green beans
1½ cups celery, cut in ½-inch slices
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
½ teaspoon powdered thyme
⅔ cup water
1 tablespoon finely chopped celery leaves
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¼ cup margarine or butter
1 can (10½-oz.) cream of mushroom soup
2 cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits

Heat oven to moderate (350 degrees). Butter baking dish. Cook carrots, green beans, and celery in two-thirds cup water, salt, pepper, and ¼ teaspoon thyme. Cover. Cook 15 minutes, or just until tender. Save liquid. Place vegetables in baking dish.

Cook celery leaves and onion in 2 tablespoons margarine until onions are clear. Add soup and ½ cup liquid. Mix well. Pour mixture over vegetables.

Add bite-size shredded rice biscuits to 2 tablespoons margarine and ¼ teaspoon thyme. Coat and stir over low heat for 5 minutes. Top casserole with slightly crumbled biscuits. Bake 30 minutes, or until bubbly and browned. Yield: 8 servings.

★ ★ ★

Biscuit Mix Coats Chicken Before Baking

Oven-Fried Chicken

1 broiler-fryer (about 2½ lbs) ready-to-cook weight
½ cup biscuit mix (spooned lightly into measure)
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 teaspoon paprika
¼ pound (½ cup) butter or margarine

Have chicken cut into 10 pieces. Clean in cold water and drain lightly.

Stir biscuit mix, salt, pepper, curry powder and paprika together thoroughly on a piece of waxed paper. Dip chicken pieces in mixture, coating on all sides. Melt butter in a baking pan (about 9 by 13 by 2 inches) in a hot (425 degrees) oven.

Arrange chicken pieces in butter in single layer, skin side down. Bake in hot oven 45 minutes. Turn chicken so it is skin side up. Continue to bake in hot oven another 15 minutes or until tender. Remove chicken.

Gravy may be made from drippings in pan with stock (made from chicken giblets and wing tips). Makes 4 servings.

Fruit, Nuts Combined in Quick Bread

Applesauce Oatmeal Bread

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅔ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup thick slightly sweetened applesauce
1½ cups uncooked rolled oats (quick cooking or instant)
1 cup seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
½ cup butter or margarine melted

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add brown sugar, eggs and applesauce; beat with rotary beater (hand or electric) until blended. Fold in rolled oats, raisins, walnuts and melted butter.

Turn into greased, waxed paper lined loaf pan (about 10 by 5 by 3 inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on rack; remove paper.

When cold store in tightly covered container overnight before slicing.

King-Sized Kabobs Will Tempt Father's Appetite

Beautiful, beautiful beef is every Dad's choice for his special day. For the outdoor barbecue, honor Father with King-Sized Beef Kabobs. These 3-inch squares of top round or tenderloin barbecue on a big skewer to just the right degree of doneness to be sliced into brown crusted pink-centered servings.

Prepare a barbecue sauce for marinating and daubing during cooking made with a bouillon base, especially for saucing beef. To make certain the vegetables cook just right, cook them on separate skewers and alternate vegetables which cook in the same amount of time.

Slices of zucchini dipped in melted butter alternate with mushroom caps which are marinated in dill-flavored French dressing. Another skewer, alternate small whole cooked onions and squares of green pepper or small tomatoes.

French bread is slashed and pre-buttered with an herb butter of thyme and parsley. Then it is foil wrapped and heated over the coals.

King Sized Beef Kabobs

Select top round or filet of beef, cut 3-inches square. Trim fat from meat. Marinate in barbecue sauce 30 minutes. Thread on large skewers, leaving at least 1-inch between chunks. Barbecue 20 to 30 minutes, brushing with sauce. When cooked to desired doneness, slip chunks of meat from the skewers. Slice and serve.

Beef-Q-Sauce

2 cups beef bouillon
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ cup minced onion
1 clove garlic, minced
¼ cup catsup
½ cup olive oil
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon smoke flavored salt
½ teaspoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine ingredients. Simmer 30 minutes. Use for marinade and basting beef for barbecue.

Vegetable Kabobs

Alternate on skewers:
Unpeeled slices of zucchini marinated in French dressing and mushroom caps marinated in dill-flavored French dressing.

Small whole cooked onions and squares of green pepper.

Herb Butter for French Bread

Butter Brown Oats for Crisp Cookies

A crisp thin sugar cookie made with rolled oats.

Orange Oatmeal Wafers

½ pound butter
1½ cups quick-cooking rolled oats
1 large egg
¾ cup sugar
Grated rind from 1 large orange

Melt butter in 10-inch skillet over low heat just until it turns golden-brown; add rolled oats and, stirring often, brown slightly. Cool.

Beat egg with electric mixer until it begins to get thick and is lemon colored; add sugar, a tablespoon at a time, and beat until very thick and ivory-colored. Beat in grated orange rind. Fold in cooled rolled oats mixture.

Drop level tablespoons of mixture on greased cookie sheet about 1½-inches apart (cookies spread). Bake in slow (300 degrees) oven 15 to 20 minutes. Remove with wide spatula to wire rack.

When cold store in tightly covered container and cookies will stay crisp. Makes about 2½ dozen large thin crisp cookies.

Try Easy Way to Nutrition

The easiest guide to good eating you ever saw has just come off the Government printing presses in Washington. It's called "Food for Fitness," and was prepared by nutritionists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

★ ★ ★

Four different groups of food provide the foundation of this new guide to keeping fit by good eating: They're simple, familiar, and easy to remember by their initials: M, M, V and B. Each day, eat or drink foods from each group. That's the idea.

★ ★ ★

The first "M" stands for milk and things made from milk. Everyone ought to get at least two cups of milk a day, in the form of fluid milk or things made from milk. Children need about twice as much as grown-ups.

The second "M" stands for meats, and it includes beef, veal, pork, lamb, chicken, turkey, fish and eggs. Dry beans, dry peas or nuts serve as good substitutes. Two servings a day is the rule.

The "V" stands for vegetables. It really should be "V-F," to cover both vegetables and fruits. Four servings a day, including a citrus fruit or some other food rich in Vitamin C, and a deep green or yellow vegetable for Vitamin A.

★ ★ ★

The "B" is for the Bread and Cereal group. Four servings a day. The cereals should be either of the whole grain type or should be enriched.

★ ★ ★

"Food for Fitness" is a small folder, easy to read, easy to understand. Single copies are available free from Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

What Ho! British Success Due to American Moms?

LONDON (AP)—The road to success in upper-class Britain is paved with American mothers. And the Duke of Bedford says sorrowfully he never had one.

Sir Winston Churchill had one.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had one.

Conservation party chief Lord Hailsham had one.

And, explained the Duke of Bedford in a television interview, the reason the Duke of Marlborough doesn't have to jazz up his stately home for the tourists is that Marlborough has a rich American mother to keep him.

★ ★ ★

The Duke of Bedford has turned his stately home, Woburn Abbey, into an entertainment center to help pay off death duties. There are peep shows, juke boxes, milk cars and a zoo, and the duke stands behind a counter and sells picture postcards and mementos. American tourists go there in droves.

MARLBOROUGH 'HOPPING'

"That fellow?" said Marlborough, of Bedford. "He's always on television or something. I think it's a common and vulgar remark. There's no need to make remarks about my family. I'd rather not comment on his."

He let it be known that Blenheim Palace is going to remain a stately home—with the accent on the stately.

★ ★ ★

The Duke of Marlborough's mother is the former Consuelo Vanderbilt, whose marriage to the 9th duke was one of the first alliances of American wealth and European title. She and the duke were divorced in 1920 and she is now Mrs. Jacques Balsan, living in New York and Florida.

Girl for Corwins

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Corwin Jr. (nee Ruth Gee) of West Iroquois road, was a daughter, Mary Quaintance, on June 10 at Pontiac General Hospital.

Grandparents of the infant are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gee of Romeo, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Corwin of Pontiac.

Friends' Manners Slipped!

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I invited some friends in to spend the evening. They asked me to play the piano which I did, but no sooner had I started when they began to talk, using my playing as a background for their conversation.

"I thought this very rude and stopped playing very shortly. Am I wrong in feeling that since they asked me to play they should have sat and listened attentively?"

Answer: I agree with you, and think you were quite justified in not continuing to play.

"Dear Mrs. Post: In what manner shall the dining room waitress and the chambermaid be given their tips at the end of a two-weeks stay at a resort hotel?"

Answer: You give the waitress hers just before you leave the dining room. You call the chambermaid just before you leave and give her your tip.

"If she is not around at the time, it is best to put the amount in a sealed envelope addressed to her and leave it at the desk. If you leave it lying on the bureau it may be found by someone who has done little for you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is a hostess ever expected to provide transportation for her guests?"

Answer: Not unless she is taking them to the theater after lunch or dinner, in which case she must arrange for those who have no cars. Also, if she has asked people to come from the city to the country by train, she ought to arrange for their transportation from the station to her house—and back again.

Beta Theta Phi Plans Picnic, Couples' Party

But Take It for Granted When It's There—Abby

We Miss Water When Well Fails

by ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me why a man weeps and carries on when his wife passes away when all the time she was living he never gave her a kind word? She was a good wife and a wonderful mother to his children for 35 years, but everyone knows he treated her like dirt. And now that she is gone he is inconsolable. How come?" HER SISTER

ABBY

DEAR SISTER: Because—you never miss the water till the well runs dry.

"DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having a little family trouble and I would like some advice from you. We have four children and I am not saying they are angels, but they are no worse than the average kids these days. Well, my husband likes children, but not ours. He says they are just like my side of the family.

"I love our children and always take their part but this has caused my husband and me to separate many times already. He says if I get rid of the kids (let my mother raise them) we could make a go of our marriage, but not unless. Any suggestions."

HAVING PROBLEMS

DEAR HAVING: Tell your great big overgrown juvenile that being a "father" is more than a biological accident. If he can't face up to his responsibility, HE should clear out, and send the support money through the mails.

"DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I have run out of ideas for my daughter's letter endings. She is writing to a fellow who is stationed in Japan and she writes him almost every day.

"Do you know where I can buy a book with sweet endings in it for letters to men in service? For example: "Oceans of love with a kiss on each wave." We've used that already. Thank you.

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I don't know of any book, but I think your daughter should end her letters with something original. If it's sincere and affectionate he won't mind seeing the same one repeated in every letter.

"DEAR ABBY: Our son is 12 years old and he is worrying us because he is too peaceful. The other kids gang up on him (even the girls), tease him, call him "sissy" and even hit him, and he cries and runs home.

"Must we raise a roughneck and street-fighter in order to have him acceptable to the other children? He's a good student and minds his own business, but he is very unhappy because he has no friends. Please tell us what to do. WORRIED PARENTS

DEAR WORRIED: You do your son no favor by letting him run home and cry on your shoulder. The world is tough and he has to live in it. Give him special training in athletics (boxing or judo) and he will have more self-confidence.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I was the last person in the world who anyone thought would end up in a divorce court. I was a bride with a veil and a white dress and I promised to love, honor and cherish and so did he, but we weren't married six weeks when my best girl friend told me my husband was trying to date up some of the girls where he worked, and he wasn't fussy either.

"He denies it, but these stories have upset me so much that I get cold and freeze up when he comes near me. He says if we can't be like we used to be there is no sense in staying married, so now we are getting a divorce. I still love him but I can't forgive him." BEA

DEAR BEA: With friends like this you don't need any enemies. A marriage counselor (or the clergyman who married you) should be consulted.

Exercises Can Help Defeat Aging

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today with the knowledge we have about skin and hair care, nutrition, weight and figure control, the effects of boredom and worry on health and appearance, and the benefits of exercise, we have weapons which can bring us very close to our heart's desire—the wish to delay aging.

More and more often we see those who are carrying youthful vigor and a youthful outlook into late middle age and what has been considered old age. It is literally true that the clock of age has been and is being turned back. It seems a shame then that so many people do not take advantage of available information.

DON'T PUT IT OFF

Procrastination is one of our worst enemies. We all lead busy lives and sometimes we sidestep self-improvement because it seems so vague, and also so laborious. Time is at a premium. I am coming to your aid today with exercises which will kill two figure faults with one motion.

Stand with your feet a little away from the wall and your back toward the wall. Raise your arms, bending your elbows so that your lower arms are at right angles to your upper arms. If you can do so, touch your entire back to the wall and press your arms and the backs of your hands to the wall, knees stiff.

Keep your knees stiff as you bend over, trying to touch your fingers to the floor in front of you. Raise your trunk and assume beginning position. Press your back and arms to the wall and continue. Do this slowly. This exercise is slimming to the waist and conducive to good posture.

FOR STOMACH AND HIPS

Here is another "two-timing" exercise. It slims your stomach and hips. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead and your legs straight. Raise your left arm and leg at the same time (elbow and knee stiff) and try to touch your toe with your fingertips. Return arm and leg to starting position.

This time raise your right arm and leg and touch. Then return to position. If you cannot touch your fingers to your toe, bring them as close together as possible.

If you would like to have my Combination Exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 5. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Teenager in Tizzy Needs Calm Mother

By RUTH MILLETT

"I'm worried sick about Julie," said her mother. "She doesn't have a date for the Spring Formal next Saturday night. If there were just something I could do to help her."

It's a cinch that a mother's taking a teenager's ups and downs as seriously as the teenager does isn't any help. The girl already THINKS she is a miserable failure because she hasn't a date for an important dance. She doesn't need a mother who is so sympathetic that she winds up KNOWING she's a failure.

What a girl needs in a case like that is a mother who can keep her own perspective. Instead of becoming upset and oversolicitous, a mother should say something like this:

"I know you'd like to go to the dance and I'm sorry it didn't work out for you. But things don't always go the way we'd like to have them. And when they don't, the thing to do is to look around for the next best thing.

"So why don't you invite some other girl who isn't going to the dance to come over and spend the night with you? Better yet, invite several and turn it into a slumber party."

That kind of understanding helps a girl to see things in proportion and to learn to make the best of the situation, instead of weeping about it.

And it is much easier on the mother, too. For no woman should have to go through adolescence twice.

Yet that is just what some mothers do. Instead of making themselves stand aside with a common sense attitude toward their teenager's problems, they get right in and suffer along with the child.

And so it is unnecessarily hard on both.

Fan Age Due for Comeback?

LONDON (INS) — It looks like a new "Fan Age" is about to flutter in during 1958.

Smart women in increasing numbers are taking to carrying this delightfully feminine accessory about with them.

At cocktail parties, receptions, dances, and the theater the fashionable woman is seen with a fan these days. Not so many are carrying them, however, that the fan can be said to be truly popular, but it is certainly making a comeback.

All it will take is Princess Margaret or Princess Alexandra to carry one of an evening and a new "Fan Age" will be here.

★ ★ ★

Naturally, it was the cigarette that killed the fan, for the graceful woman could hardly handle both.

But interest in antique fans is growing. Many of the Japanese and Chinese fans hidden away in trunks for years are being brought out again. Some are more than a hundred years old, and have survived because of their strength and their beauty.

Women are prowling antique shops in search of fans and a number of simple printed or painted Japanese fans with views of Mount Fujiyama and other famous Japanese scenic spots are back in circulation.

Schwoppe-Mullin Nuptial Spoken at Birmingham

Birmingham's First Presbyterian Church was the setting for the Wednesday evening wedding of Mary Kathleen Mullin and Lt. Edwin G. Schwoppe Jr. of the U.S. Army, who is stationed at Fort Polk, La. The double-ring candlelight ceremony was performed by Dr. Glen Harris in the presence of 160 guests.

MRS. EDWIN G. SCHWOPPE JR.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Mullin of Birmingham. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Schwoppe of Mt. Clemens.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory princess-line gown of Italian peau de soie fashioned with tiny cap sleeves and scoop neckline of Alencon lace appliqued with pearls and sequins. Side panels of the same lace floated from the waist of the dome-shaped skirt, which fell into a court train.

Her double-tier fingertip illusion veil was secured by a crown of pearls and sequins matching the gown, and she carried a cascade of album lilies, ivy, and lilies of the valley.

Matron of honor Mrs. Peter Bakalis of Detroit wore a ballerina-length gown of iridescent sea-green taffeta fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves and an Empire waistline. Her veil and cap matched the gown, and her flowers of lilies and variegated ivy formed a cascade bouquet.

Air Force Lt. Allen R. Briggs of Mt. Clemens attended as best man. Guests were seated by Douglas Ward and George Kling of Mt. Clemens, Thomas Clinton and Peter Bakalis of Detroit, and Paul Mullin, brother of the bridegroom, of Birmingham.

To receive guests at Devon Gables Mrs. Mullin was gowned in natural-linen lace over pink taffeta, with matching hat and bag and a corsage of shaded sweetheart roses. Mrs. Schwoppe wore a jeweled princess-line gown of green and white cotton with matching accessories.

Prior to leaving on a trip to the eastern states via Washington, D. C., and on to Fort Polk where they will make their home at the end of June, the new Mrs. Schwoppe changed to a slate blue chemise with white accessories.

Both young people are graduates of Michigan State University, where he was a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Mullin Jr. of Sault Ste. Marie, Mrs. A. C. Bigger of Shreveport, La., and Mr. and Mrs. William R. Miller of Buffalo, N.Y.

It's His Symbol of Maturity

When Teenager Owns Car...He's Arrived

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

In Grandpa's day, long trousers used to separate the men from the boys.

In Dad's day being allowed to smoke in the house and maybe stay up past midnight on prom night heralded the approach of manhood.

Today it's the automobile that makes the man, or at least the young man.

Eight out of 10 teenagers we interviewed in a nationwide survey indicated that their first turn at the wheel of the family car meant more to them as a sign of maturity than their first kiss, their first date or their first crashing of the midnight curfew.

To the modern teenager, the sweetest thing about being sweet sixteen is that most states allow you to get a driver's license at that tender age.

In fact, nearly 6 out of 10 lost no time whatever in their driving careers and dashed down to pick up the operator's license on the day they were 16.

'YOU'VE ARRIVED'

"Getting a driver's license means that you can be entrusted with a grownup responsibility," said 16-year-old Barry Endipo of St. Louis when asked to explain the importance of the driving license as a symbol of mature achievement.

★ ★ ★

Nearly one out of every five boys knows how to drive before reaching the legal minimum driving age, although some states issue learner's permits at age 14. Most are taught by their fathers.

Among the girls, less than one in 10 can drive before reaching age 18, but three out of 10 can drive by the time they're 22.

Why is a driver's license so important in youthful society?

Said 18-year-old Jeffrey Silverstein of Brooklyn, N. Y.:

"Getting a driver's license is just about the most important thing to any guy who starts dating. Not only does it impress the girls but it gets you home fast on cold winter nights after you take the girl home."

SURE THEY'RE SAFE

Despite the high liability rates set by insurance companies for drivers in their age group, teenagers are insistent that they are safe, conscientious and responsible drivers.

"We just got a bum rap," complained Fred Brandill of Austin, Minn. "It's the old story of everybody taking the blame because of a few wise guys. Most of us are pretty good drivers."

His opinion is seconded by Robert E. Petersen, who won a permanent place in the hearts of all hot-rodding teenagers by hitting on the idea of supervised drag racing as a method of teaching safe driving.

American teenagers can and should be the best drivers on the road today. At that age, reflexes are faster and their ability to perceive a traffic situation is better than that of the average adult," concluded Petersen.

Sometimes, as many teenagers admitted, their natural driving aptitude is the cause of the trouble. Explained a New Haven, Conn. youth:

"We are good drivers. The only trouble is that because we're so good some of us get too sure of ourselves and take too many chances."

TOO RECKLESS

"Teenagers," she said, "are the worst drivers. They're reckless. In fact, some of the ones I've ridden with are downright dangerous. They think they know everything, but someday they'll get told off by a morgue attendant!"

After learning how to drive and passing the license test, youth's crowning achievement, a sure sign of incipient manhood, is owning a car of your own, your very own.

By age 18, our survey indicated, nearly one boy in 20 but less than one girl out of 100 had their own car. Of these, two out of three were in the jalopy class, 1951 models or earlier, and almost all, with few exceptions, came from a used car lot rather than a family hand-me-down.

LEARN MECHANICS

From the time he has a car to call his own, a young man's life begins to revolve around his most treasured possession. Besides the dating and outing opportunities, the young driver begins to take an interest in the mechanics of his car.

Approximately 25 per cent of the young car owners said they had read up on automobile repair either at the library or by buying automobile magazines and booklets. For most, the interest was motivated by economics more than curiosity.

"Unless I make my own repairs," said a Detroit enthusiast, "I have no allowance left to buy gas. The car has to go before I can go."

To the teenager, then, the automobile, whether family car or jalopy, represents a whole new way of life, the first big steps on the road to adulthood. Knowing how to drive means social prestige, newfound independence and a man-sized chunk of responsibility.

★ ★ ★

Concluded Seymour Brandice of New Haven, Conn., "Driving is the first real indication we have that older people recognize at last that we are growing up."

Don't Be Too Eager to Pay Back Favor

Dripping Essential to Permanent Pleats

Almost any washable fabric that can be drip-dried can also go into a dryer with safety. One notable exception is a durable-pleated item.

The reason: It's the action of dripping water that shapes and resets such pleats after laundering.

Talent Search Is Ended —and Porgy Has a Goat

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Another great talent search is over. They've found Porgy's goat.

Samuel Goldwyn needed a very special animal for the goat who pulls the cart of the crippled Porgy in the film version of "Porgy and Bess." It had to be strong enough to pull actor Sydney Poitier, have stage presence and not offend the other actors with its aroma.

Clarence Jones, who supplies animals for film makers, came up with 5-year-old Mr. Faust, a husky, deodorized, talented goat. The new actor was located pulling a wagon for children in an Eastern carnival and was shipped here via air.

Why the name? Because Mr. Faust butts like the Devil, say the whimsical studio aides.

At any rate, the goat has a six-month contract and the use of a stand-in. Mr. Faust will be watched closely. No scenery chewing in a Goldwyn picture. . . .

★ ★ ★

It's ironic that the factor that prolonged Deborah Kerr's marriage helped to sink it in the end. She and Tony Bartley faced problems after the war when she came here as a star. He had nothing to do for a year, since immigration restrictions stopped him from taking a job.

★ ★ ★

The situation of a famous wife and a nonworking husband has always been a dangerous one in Hollywood. But then Bartley began to find his own success as a producer of TV films. The trouble was that his career kept him in Africa and England much of the time while Deborah was working here. Hence the draft in their marriage, once considered unbreakable. . . .

★ ★ ★

Shelley Winters wonders where the money is coming from. Her husband Anthony Franciosa has been paid for 10 weeks on "The Naked Maja," though the picture hasn't even started yet. The same goes for Ava Gardner. The delay is apparently to find a script that will please Ava.

M.P.s Joining Battle of Kilts Versus Trews

LONDON — Scottish Members of Parliament in Britain are reported to have planned a campaign to "Save the Kilt."

Reason: The War Office ruled that when the kilted Highland Light Infantry merges with the Royal Scots Fusiliers (who wear trews, or close-fitting breeches and stockings in one piece) the new regiment must wear trews. The two regiments previously had agreed, after a long argument, to wear kilts.

Now the rebel M.P.s are trying to upset the War Office's order. And the Prime Minister got himself "in bad" with both sides by refusing to intervene in the row.

Banning the kilt will kill any hope of more volunteers, some Scots say.

School Applying Strapping Philosophy

DECATUR, Ga. — John C. Cragg, 38-year-old principal of Southwest DeKalb High School, has his own old-fashioned preventive for juvenile delinquency.

★ ★ ★

It is a two-inch wide leather strap which he uses on boys of any grade when he feels their misconduct deserves it. The dosage usually is 10 licks and the offender is given his choice of accepting suspension in lieu of the whipping but few ever take that way out, Cragg says.

★ ★ ★

He egtimates that not more than one per cent of approximately 1,800 students ever feel the strap but "every one of them knows I have one." Cragg believes that the leather has "straightened out many a would-be delinquent" and says many whom he has whipped have later thanked him for it.

CAVE JUNCTION, Ore. (INS) — There is still gold, pretty good chunks of it, in the Oregon hills.

This was borne out by the finding of a nugget by Bill Horn that weighed nearly one pound. The flat-shaped nugget worth about $400 along Althouse creek about mid-way between Cave Junction and Oregon Caves.

Dulles to Meet With De Gaulle

Schedules Paris Parley to Learn Where Premier Stands on Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)— A flying trip by Secretary of State Dulles to confer with Premier Charles de Gaulle in Paris next month is planned primarily as a two-way fact finding mission.

Officials said today the meeting will give Dulles an opportunity to learn at first hand De Gaulle's views on a whole range of problems from the continuing crisis in North Africa to the possible summit conference.

It also will give De Gaulle a chance to find out what kind of United States cooperation and support he can expect in carrying through his program.

The State Department said yesterday that Dulles would fly to Paris on July 5 and be back here in time to go with President Eisenhower on a visit to Ottawa three days later.

His meeting with De Gaulle will take place against a background of worry about France's role in the western alliance under De Gaulle's leadership.

Possibly one of the most difficult problems which De Gaulle will face is that of cooperation between France and the United States in the field of atomic weapons development. France has been reported at the point of producing nuclear weapons for test purposes and De Gaulle is believed to be determined to make his country the world's fourth atomic power—along with the United States, Russia and Britain.

★ ★ ★

He may confront Dulles with a strong request for information sharing between France and the United States to the same extent that this country is able to share its atomic weapons secrets with Britain under legislation now pending in Congress.

There has been considerable opposition at the Capitol to providing France with U.S. weapons know-how, because of possible security problems and of the long record of instability in the French government.

Another problem is to work out an allied policy on suspension of nuclear tests following the present U.S. series of experimental explosions in the Pacific.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is understood to have made it clear once again during his talks with President Eisenhower this week that if Britain is to halt its own testing, it must get information already developed in U.S. tests.

City Resident Examined on Burglary Charge

Frank M. Zietek, 36, of 99 Orchard Lake Ave., was examined by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum yesterday on a burglary charge.

Zietek, was bound to circuit court where he will be arraigned June 16.

He is specifically charged with the burglary of Dolan's Drugs, 164 Auburn Ave.

Dead Pilot's Bible Sent Home From Germany

WACO, Tex. (AP)—A worn Bible that belonged to a Texas flier killed in action 15 years ago is on its way to his mother by a strange route that probably never will be explained.

The mystery: who carried T.Sgt Bill J. Wheeler's Bible for six months before it was found by a German housewife?

The pocket Bible was found in a ragged U.S. flight jacket in the garden of the suburban home of Mrs. Theodor Hillebrand at Dortmund, Germany, Aug. 12, 1943. An American bomber had just crashed nearby in flames.

She kept the Bible, a violation of Nazi orders. Sgt. Wheeler's signature was inside the Bible.

But Sgt. Wheeler had been killed in action over Germany six months before the Bible fell into the garden.

★ ★ ★

"I wanted to keep that Bible," said Mrs. Hillebrand, "and one day return it to its rightful owner."

But few American soldiers came to Dortmund after the war ended.

Recently Army Specialist 3.C. Denos G. Pappas of Ogden, Utah, visited Dortmund. Mrs. Hillerbrand went to him with the Bible. Pappas took it to his unit chaplain, Capt. Ben Price of Paris, Tex.

From Germany, the book was sent to the 12th Air Force headquarters here. The sergeant's mother, Mrs. F. W. Wheeler of Easterly, Tex., says she recalls the Bible.

The Bible will be officially turned over to Mrs. Wheeler by Maj. Gen. Chester E. McCarthy, commander of the 12th Air Force, in ceremonies here next Wednesday.

AF Plane Hits Farmhouse

2, Possibly 3, Killed as Jet Trainer Crashes in Oklahoma

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A flaming Air Force jet training plane hurtled out of a rainstorm into an isolated farm home last night, killing two persons and possibly a third.

Authorities at the scene five miles northeast of Ponca City said the body of Mrs. Cora Harman was thrown from the house by the explosion. Bits of flesh in the area indicated there may have been two men in the craft.

Air Force investigators said the plane might have been from Vance AFB, Enid, Okla. A partially burned officer's identification card bore the name of the Vance base.

Mrs. Harman's husband, Dick, was in the farm yard driving his pickup truck into the garage when the T33 slammed into a corner of the four-room frame house about 10 p.m.

Barham Van Organ said he was driving with his wife along a nearby road when the plane crashed.

"It was on fire and it seemed to come right over our heads," he said. "We drove to the house and saw a man in a pickup truck. He was suffering from shock and we got him out."

★ ★ ★

Another witness, Bill Clark, who lives a quarter mile south of the Harman farm, said the plane appeared to have come down at an 80-degree angle. He said it looked as though it was falling apart about 100 feet above the ground.

Two unopened parachutes were found in a field. Wreckage was strewn over a six-acre area.

U.N. Officials Sent to Lebanon

Rushed to Stand Guard at Borders Against Any Intruders From U.A.R.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —U.N. truce officials were ordered into Lebanon on the double today to guard its borders against intruders from President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The Security Council sent the watchdog team in answer to a Lebanese complaint that the U.A.R. is sending arms and men to rebels seeking to overthrow President Camille Chamoun's pro-Western government. The U.A.R. denies the charge.

The Council yesterday ordered Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to organize an observation group and rush it into position to seal Lebanon's borders with the Syrian province of the U.A.R.

Hammarskjold turned to the U.N. truce chief in Palestine to borrow some observers temporarily. The first group of these officers who have been trying to keep peace along Israel's borders were due in Beirut from Jerusalem today.

Hammarskjold worked to set up a more permanent organization of both civilian and military observers for the Lebanese assignment. He was expected to appoint a three-man directing board from Norway, India and Ecuador with a Norwegian general in charge of the assistant military observers.

The projected size of the full organization was not known but Hammarskjold was understood to have sent out recruiting calls to a number of nations. He conferred last night with key U.N. delegates including U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Britain's Sir Pierson Dixon, U.A.R. Ambassador Omar Loutfi and Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon.

Suzy Parker Sheds Light on Marriage

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I've been in love seriously only once. I fell in love with him when I fell in love with Paris."

These words, spoken when Suzy Parker was film-making here, shed some light on her secret marriage to French journalist Count Pierre de la Salle.

In New York last night, de la Salle, through an attorney, issued a statement saying they are happily married, and have been since 1955. He said "it was Hollywood press agents who suggested that it be kept secret so that it might advance her career."

★ ★ ★

Miss Parker registered at a St. Augustine, Fla., hospital as "Mrs. Pierre la Salle" after an accident in which her father was killed. She had suffered fractures of both arms. The count, visiting her there, said at first they were not married.

★ ★ ★

Miss Parker in Hollywood had described her Paris lover as "a Frenchman and unmarried."

"I still love Paris more than any other city," she said. "But I find it difficult to love as such, because when two people love each other, they have a tendency to destroy each other.

"I think you can love a man more when you aren't married to him. I've seen the little things that were precious become the big things that destroy. I doubt if I shall ever marry."

★ ★ ★

Such frank talk astounded Hollywood. But despite the clucking of tongues, Suzy wouldn't be silenced. She commented that Hollywood impressed her as a beautiful kindergarten where people have "such pretty houses, such pretty cars, such simple aims in life."

★ ★ ★

Drive and independence come naturally to Suzy, born in San Antonio to a long-time Texas family. She boasted that her grandmother was a deputy sheriff who could flick a cigarette ash with a bullet at 20 paces.

★ ★ ★

Reared in Pomona Springs, Fla. she followed her famous sister, Dorian Leigh, into New York modeling. But she hated the tedious work and went to Europe as a photographer. She returned to modeling only when broke — when the Treasury Department cracked down on her. She had refused to pay income taxes while abroad because "taxation without representation is tyranny."

★ ★ ★

Suzy who is 25, has strong views. Such as:

Drinking—"I believe the senses were created to be enjoyed, and drinking dulls them."

Smoking—"Most women smoke to give them something to do with their hands.

Divergent Golf Interest Leads Couple to Divorce

RENO (AP)—Barbara Romack and Edward Porter went their separate golfing ways today, divorced because their interest in golf was too divergent.

Miss Romack, whose maiden name was restored by the divorce decree, told District Judge John Sexton that golf, which brought them together, caused their divorce.

They were married at Carmel, Calif., on April 7, 1957.

Modern Alchemy Brings Results —in Reverse

WASHINGTON — The medieval alchemists, often scoffed at in the past, may have been on the right track.

In the United States and elsewhere, scientists have succeeded in changing one metal into another—a prime goal of alchemists who sought to manufacture gold. Ironically, today's researchers labor hard in the creation of mercury, using gold as a raw material.

From a gram of gold worth 7½ cents, they have produced a gram of mercury 198, a rare form of the element, worth about $3,000. The feat was achieved by cooking highly purified gold powder in a nuclear reactor for almost 10 months. Bombardment of atomic particles converted some of it to the mercury isotope, which was then distilled out.

The alchemists would have been delighted. They had labored for centuries trying to produce that result. Alchemy's beginnings are uncertain, but the art, or craft, flourished in Egypt before the 3rd century, and had spread through Europe by the Middle Ages, according to historians.

The term alchemist was applied to many kinds of experimenters, magicians, astrologers and plain frauds. Great wealth awaited the man who produced the "Philosopher's Stone"—a substance that would turn base metals to gold. Many tried to make it.

Study Meteor for Answer to Space Problem

WASHINGTON — The space age turns the faces of men toward the sky and emphasizes, as never before, the need for knowing more about meteorites.

Not only is there danger of a blazing, roaring meteorite being mistaken for an enemy missile; study of the speed, heat penetration, and survival of meteorites may help scientists design space vehicles that can successfully re-enter the earth's dense atmosphere.

Meteorites bear proof of the intense struggle involved in penetrating the blanket of air. Both iron and stony specimens are covered with a dark, thin crust of fused matter.

As a meteorite blasts toward the earth, it moves faster than air molecules. Air, trapped and compressed in a pocket before it, becomes fantastically hot. The meteorite's surface begins to melt.

Liquid material is sloughed off in a spectacular display of sparks. It is this fireball that people sometimes see—and more often hear. As it comes lower into the atmosphere intense detonations crack like cannon fire and sound from afar like thunder.

Dense air and friction finally slow down the meteorite. The hot air pocket dissipates, the fireball vanishes, the molten surface hardens into a crust, and the chunky object plummets to earth.

Boros Bandwagon Gains Passengers at Tulsa

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

It wasn't too long ago that a man walked into the Press sports department and asked, "Do you have a Little League in Pontiac?"

After we gave him a negative answer, we curiously wanted to know why he was so interested in the Little Leagues.

"I've just been transferred into this area, and with two sons I would like to get into a town which has Little League baseball," he replied.

There's Birmingham, Walled Lake, Southfield, Rochester and other communities in Oakland County which had franchises we told him. He thanked us and said he would check for residence in one of these areas mentioned.

★ ★ ★

We mention this to point out how strong national affiliates such as Little League and Babe Ruth Leagues are getting throughout the nation and even internationally.

SATURDAY FOUNDATION DAY

Saturday Little Leagues around the country will celebrate Foundation Day. Appropriately, Dwight D. Eisenhower conveyed the message that "Little League baseball provides many opportunities to develop the principles of health, teamwork and fair play."

Little Leaguers, governors, mayors and many other city officials will participate in Flag Day ceremonies honoring more than 150,000 boys representing 9,000 teams.

PROGRAM NEEDS PARENTS

The most successful Little League programs are those where financial support is given by parents and businessmen. Birmingham and Midland are the pioneers of Michigan Little Leagues and in both communities parents have raised money through various efforts in supplying everything but the playing fields for the boys eight through 12.

★ ★ ★

Actually, the city of Birmingham is relieved of a tremendous burden of providing a good recreational program for the boys in Little League and Babe Ruth circuits.

The city merely has to provide the playing fields, the parents, volunteer coaches and the kids do the rest. In fact it's as easy as selling "peanuts."

This is what Birmingham parents and the Little Leaguers did to raise several thousand dollars just recently. They sold peanuts. There are 1,600 youngsters who are now ready for another active season of baseball provided by the funds raised.

We salute them on Little League Foundation Week. It is unfortunate more communities including Pontiac cannot go along with the celebration because they have no Little League baseball.

Fishing Fee Hike Seen

LANSING (UPI) — The possibility of another hike in fishing license fees was placed before Gov. G. Mennen Williams yesterday by conservation director Gerald E. Eddy.

"Our revenues are dropping," Eddy said. "We're having to reduce our program in the face of expanded needs."

Eddy made his report at a meeting of agency heads called by Williams to map ways of adjusting to budget cuts made by the legislature.

Deputy conservation director Gaylord Walker emphasized there were no immediate plans for further hikes. He said the matter was in the "thinking stage."

The resident fishing license was hiked from $1.50 to $2 this year and the trout fee went up from $1 to $2.

"A fishing license is one of the best bargains a man can get," Walker said.

There was one encouraging report made by the conservation department on license sales. The number of resident fishing licenses sold through May 31 was 308,749, a 4.5 per cent increase in sales over the same period last year. However, the trout stamp sale of 59,360 was down 14.2 per cent from last year.

"It's too early in the year to get much of a trend from these figures," Walker said.

Williams asked if the hike in license fees had been responsible for the decline in license sales earlier during the current fiscal year. Eddy and Walker said they didn't think so.

"You can blame it on a number of things," Walker said, "including the recession."

Nieman May Miss 5 to 7 More Days

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Bob Nieman, the American League's leading batter who was struck on the hand by a batted ball June 2, is still unable to grip a bat or throw with power.

Nieman was hit on the right hand by teammate Bob Boyd as he led off third base.

X-rays showed no fracture and the big outfielder was expected back in the lineup in about a week.

Latest reports are he will be out five to seven more days.

Sam Slipped Him a $2 Tip

Open's Lone Negro Was Snead's Caddie in 1947

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Eleven years ago Sam Snead played an exhibition over the naval academy course at Annapolis, Md., and slipped his caddy, a cherub-faced Negro boy of 15, a $2 tip.

Today Snead, now a golf capitalist, and the caddy, an Annapolis school teacher, may brush elbows while crossing adjoining fairways in the National Open golf tournament at Southern Hills.

"I don't think Mr. Sam would remember me," said Richard Thomas, a muscled 210-pounder with the build of a stevedore. "But I'll never forget it. It was one of the big thrills of my life."

Thomas is the lone Negro in the big championship and one of the very few of his race to compete.

Charley Shippen, a Negro, played back in 1896. Ted Rhodes, a former partner of heavyweight champion Joe Louis, played at Riviera in 1948 and at Rochester in 1956, and Howard Wheeler at Merion, Pa., in 1950.

"My ambition is to finish in the top 20," the drawling Thomas said today. "I'd like to make the best showing ever of my race. I hit the ball pretty far, my short irons make me right proud and I'm not a bad putter.

"I've been practicing in 73s and 74s. That's not bad over this course."

BIG PURSE AHEAD — Billy Casper, who tried out the long Warwick Hills course by firing a 37-34-71 recently, eyes the big trophy which will go to the winner of the Flint Open next week. His round has been the only subpar score turned in on the 7,300 yard course.

Trade Talks Cut Short When Gas Fills Club Office

BALTIMORE (AP) — Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles and Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians, in crying need of additional baseball talent, wound up their trade talks Wednesday in tears.

The two general managers failed to agree on a deal, but that wasn't the cause of the overflowing tear ducts.

Hoop Star to Try Grid

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — K. C. Jones, All-American basketball star at the University of San Francisco, will try his hand at professional football. Jones, a high school grid star who did not play in college, has been persuaded to try out for a defensive halfback position with the Los Angeles Rams.

Yanks Up Lead to 9½

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first place New York Yankees upped their lead to 9½ games again in the American League using hits and breaks for a 10-2 and 2-1 sweep over second place Kansas City. Don Larsen won his ninth in a row over two seasons in the opener and once-beaten Bob Turley became the first to win 10 in the majors in the nightcap.

Washington plunked the Chicago White Sox into the cellar, 5-2; and Baltimore rapped Cleveland 7-4.

Brooks Robinson drove in three runs with two singles for the Orioles, who bagged it with five runs in the fourth. Milt Pappas won his third but tired and left after six innings. Dick Tomanek (2-3) was the loser.

Russ Kemmerer (3-3) beat the White Sox with a six-hitter, retiring the last 14 in order as the Senators took fourth place. Three runs in the second did it against Bill Fischer (2-3), with Neil C Bill Fischer (2-3), with Neil Chrisley's triple scoring a pair.

★ ★ ★

The Yankees clubbed 14 hits in the opener, including Tony Kubek's first homer and Yogi Berra's ninth, then won the second game when reliever Virgil Trucks walked four men and forced a run home in the ninth with two out. Turley had a two-hit shutout for seven in a nightcap duel with Ralph Terry, whose scoreless string ended at 19 innings when the Yankees scored in the seventh.

Martin Claims Players Forced Firing of Tighe

BOSTON (AP) — Detroit Tiger shortstop Billy Martin says the club's players are to blame for the firing of Jack Tighe as Bengal manager.

"If there's any blame," Martin said yesterday, "it's on the players . . . I mean me and the rest."

"We're as good as anybody in the league. But we haven't shown it so the manager gets fired. . . I just hope that some day I can play for Jack again. He was a wonderful man . . . a real nice guy."

Norman conducted a 15 minute meeting before the game and told the Tiger players he is depending upon them and the coaches.

He also told the players, "This is too good a club to be last. We're not too far behind to make a move. There are more than 100 games left."

OUR FAULT — Tiger shortstop Billy Martin defended Jack Tighe by saying it was the fault of the players not the manager that the team was not doing its best. Martin started new boss Bill Norman off on the right foot by blasting a pair of homers yesterday.

Norman Shuffles Lineups in 7-0, 9-3 Victories

New Bengal Manager Gets Off to Winning Start

BOSTON (AP)—The Detroit Tigers were off and running fast for their new manager Bill Norman today with two victories and a jump out of the American League cellar to show for it.

A power display mixed with good pitching, not a customary combinaiton for the Bengals this year, swept a day-night doubleheader from the Boston Sox yesterday, 7 to 0 and 9 to 3.

If it was proof of a reformation, new manager Norman could be on the way to success as the virtual overnight successor to the fired Jack Tighe.

Lary, breaking the Red Sox' six-game winning streak, allowed only five hits in winning the shutout opener. Bunning was just a pitch away in the night game from his first complete game since opening day.

He was relieved with two out in the ninth, two runs in and the bases filled.

Shortstop Martin smashed two home runs in the second game, driving in five runs to help keep Bunning safe. They were his fourth and fifth of the year.

Martin hit his first one with Frank Bolling on base in the second inning and smashed his second in the third frame with Bolling and Charley Maxwell riding in ahead of him.

In their mopup of the two games the Tigers were most unusual. Their bottom half of the batting order carried most of the weight. Maxwell got five hits, catcher Jim Wilson three and two, respectively, and Martin and Bolling three apiece.

With the Tigers hitting behind him the first game was a breeze for Lary. He pitched to only 32 men in scoring his second shutout of the season and beating the Red Sox a second straight time. He is now 6-5 for the year.

Bunning, until he weakened in the ninth, also had a breeze. The Red Sox scored a run in the first but it was unearned. The Tigers had it 9-1 going into the last of the ninth when the Sox got troublesome and manager Norman played it safe by yanking Bunning for Herb Moford. Bunning now is 3-5 for the year.

Two-Run Sacrifice Fly

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers' veteran right fielder Carl Furillo claimed today a feat accomplished seldom in baseball—a sacrifice fly which scored two men.

Furillo's long out came in the third inning of last night's Dodger 7-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. It was a tremendous 410-foot drive to deep center which scored Pee Wee Reese from third and Randy Jackson from second. Both men cross the plate standing up.

Furillo also came up with a sacrifice bunt to advance Jackson from first to second and to enable him to score on Gil Hodges' double to left field.

Big Julius Won Crown at Dallas Under Same Weather Conditions

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The Boros bandwagon began rolling today as play started in the 58th National Open golf championship at sunscorched Southern Hills but the one guy who wouldn't get on it was Julius Boros.

Boros hasn't done anything sensational during the practice rounds over the rolling 6,907-yard layout. But suddenly a lot of people looked at the records and decided that the big fellow who won the title at Dallas in 1952 under the same sort of weather conditions is a contender to be feared as much as Ben Hogan.

Boros chuckles at the suggestion that he doesn't mind the heat. "I can sweat as much as anybody," he said, "but I usually play as well on long courses as short ones."

That's the big difference. Southern Hills is a course that requires long shots and accurate ones. A player who strays off the fairways is due for trouble even though the bermuda grass rough was cut down to a four-inch depth for the tournament.

Golfers who have played with the 218-pound slugger from Southern Pines, N. C., during the past few days say Boros has been shooting some of the finest golf of his career and has the kind of game that is just suited to the Southern Hills course.

About a half dozen players in the 162-man field scheduled to start play today were rated even with Boros.

There's Ben Hogan, who is shooting for an unprecedented fifth National Open; long hitting Cary Middlecoff, who has taken the title twice and lost a playoff last year to Dick Mayer; and a flock of former winners with Mayer at the head of the list.

Boros broke into the list of favorites because of his unusual record in championship tournaments. No other player, except possibly Middlecoff, has such a record for consistence in the Open.

A local odds-maker listed Boros as a 15-1 favorite after shooting a subpar 69 in practice yesterday. Par for Southern Hills is 35-35—70 and very few players have broken it this week. Second choices were Middlecoff, Arnold Palmer, the Masters champion, and bulky Billy Casper, who won a couple of tournaments this year but had to drop off the pro tour recently when his game went sour.

★ ★ ★

The big problem, according to one player, is building up enough endurance to play 18 holes. The searing Oklahoma sun has sent the temperature into the 90s every day this week.

Majors Sign Another Chip

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPI) — Central Michigan College didn't win any baseball titles this season and didn't go to any national tournament but the Chips have caught the eye of many major league scouts and the latest to sign a bonus was Spencer Scott.

Scott's talents earned him a big birthday present — a $21,000 bonus from the Chicago Cubs. The 6 foot, 1 inch, 190 pound centerfielder from Hamtramck signed for that amount yesterday, just a day after he turned 20.

It was the third signing of a bonus player from the Chippewa campus. Preceding Scott this year were Tom Tresh of Allen Park, son of the ex-Major League catcher, Mike Tresh, and Scott's neighbor from Hamtramck, Marv Schultz.

Tresh went to the New York Yankees for $30,000 and Schultz signed with the Cincinnati Redlegs for $25,000.

The Detroit Tigers dropped out on the bidding for Scott.

Dr. Don Jaffar Wins Michigan Golf Title With 148

PORT HURON, Mich. (UPI)—Dr. Donald W. Jaffar of Detroit, who plays in the 50-54 age group, is the champion for 1958 of the Michigan Seniors golf tournament.

Dr. Jaffar shot a 4-over-par 75 yesterday to lead the field of 190 with a low gross score of 148. He had a 73 the day before on the first round.

C. H. Whitlaw of Bloomfield Hills was runnerup with 155. Arthur E. Wittig of Detroit placed third with 156.

The tournament is played by classes according to age. Dr. Jaffar took part as a class F man (50-54). Low gross total determines the overall title. The Class F winner was M. P. Patterson of Detroit with 161.

Clare Nevers of Grand Rapids won in Class A, the oldest age group—75 and over. He shot nine holes in 46. Class A was limited to nine holes.

OTHER WINNERS WERE: Class F (55-59, Harvey Olson, Grosse Pointe, 156; Class D (60-64), Cliff Rugge, Oakland Hills, 158; Class C (65-69), C. J. Farley, Grand Rapids, 163; Class B (70-74), Fred L. Riggins Sr., Port Huron, 177.

Collegian to Meet Anthony Tonight

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — If the lucky number holds enough luck for him, Orville Pitts could vault into the top ranks of the light heavyweights Thursday night when the former collegiate boxing champion makes his seventh professional start in a 10-round main event against Tony Anthony, ranked No. 2 in the division.

The 24-year-old University of Wisconsin law student has lost only once, a split decision to Jimmy Slade. If he loses to Anthony in his bid for a shortcut to the top, Pitt will go back and start over the hard way—or go back to the books for good.

Jake Mazur Fans 19 to Win Mound Duel

Jake Mazur mowed down 19 batters on strikes and allowed only one hit to best Roger Reynolds in a brilliant mound duel as Shaw's Jewelers edged Birmingham 1-0 in an eight-inning City Softball League masterpiece last night at Beaudette Park.

A lead-off single in the very 1st inning was the only Birmingham hit against Mazur who faced only 25 men the rest of the way. Reynolds allowed just four hits in another sparkling performance. Louie Seay's lead-off triple and a sacrifice fly tallied the winning run in the top of the 8th.

In other City League games yesterday, Gary Boe twirled a three-hit shutout as the Elks trounced Blue Star Drive-In 9-0; State Hospital scored once in the bottom of the 7th for a 7-6 victory over Griff's Grill, and the Lakeside Royals walloped International Autos 7-1. Jerry Ganzel homered for the Elks.

Low 63 Golfers Join Andonian for Match Play

PCH Teacher Seeks 3rd Straight State Crown; Big Field in Trials

Between 125 and 150 of Michigan's finest public links golfers will descend on Pontiac Country Club Friday morning for 18-hole qualifying rounds in the annual state publinx golf tournament.

Pairings and starting times are presently listed for 90 players, but a flock of post entries are expected and several openings have been left in the tee-off schedule to accommodate the delinquent shooters.

Beginning at 8 a.m., the large field will go in pursuit of 63 qualifying spots for match play which starts Saturday morning.

Defending champion Mike Andonian, the Pontiac Central mathematics instructor, is exempt from the qualifiers and will join the low 63 on Saturday to complete the match play arrangement.

Andonian annexed the championship in 1956 on a medal play basis, then repeated last year when the Michigan Publinx Golf Association decided to adopt match play. Both of Mike's titles were won at Saginaw's Rolling Green Golf Club.

Roy Iceberg, Andonian's victim in the 1957 finals, is one of many talented golfers who hope to thwart his ambition of becoming the first publinxer in history to win the state crown three consecutive years.

Jay Law of Detroit has won the title three times, but not successively. Law's triumphs came in 1943, 1945 and 1947. Only one publinxer besides Andonian has worn the crown twice in a row—Ziggy Zawadski in 1939 and 1940.

In addition to Iceberg, a golfing teammate of Andonian's at the U. of D., are numerous other Pontiac shot-makers taking dead aim at Mike's throne. Among them are Glen Harding, Chuck Barker, Wally Smith, Dick Robertson, Tom Thum, Dick DeWitt, George Woznak and Chuck Cappell.

Lloyd Syron of the host club, state amateur champion, must be considered a powerful threat for publinx honors if he enters the battle. It is anticipated that Syron will be a post entry.

There are scores of players from the Oakland County area, with Birmingham, Oak Park, Royal Oak, Ferndale, Berkley, Hazel Park and Milford among the cities represented.

Two 18-hole matches will be played each day this weekend, which will reduce the field to the four semifinalists. The tourney will then recess until the following weekend when the 36-hole semis and championship final are scheduled.

The double weekend set-up was necessary to avoid conflict with the national public links sectional qualifiers on Monday at Oakland Hills and Knollwood.

British Strong Tennis Threat

May Give Americans Trouble This Week in Wightman Cup Race

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—The British actually are threatening to make a real race for the Wightman Cup this week.

If they succeed and defeat the United States for the top cup in women's tennis, one of the longest victory strings in sports will be broken.

The last time the British won the cup was 1930. In most of their losing years they hardly threaten to win a match, much less the Cup.

The 1958 matches will be played on the grass of the No. 1 court at the All-England Club, more familiarly known as Wimbledon, tomorrow and Saturday.

America's team was a complete group for the first time late yesterday when non-playing co-captain Mrs. Margaret Osborn Dupont arrived from her home in Wilmington, Del.

Mrs. Dorothy Knode of New York, playing co-captain, has handled the American team during practice sessions this week at Wimbledon.

The annual golf outing of the Pontiac Traffic Club will be held Saturday at Morey's Golf and Country Club on Union Lake road.

Thomas Bats in 7 to Drop Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Those Dodgers at last look like Dodgers. A batter gets tossed out of the game for jawin' at the plate, a runner scores from second on a two-run sacrifice fly and Don Drysdale, their young ace, finally has a complete game victory to go with eight defeats.

Drysdale, the 21-year-old right-hander whose last complete game was a decision over Philadelphia in his last 1957 start, went all the way for a 7-4 victory over the Phils last night, giving up nine hits, but striking out six and allowing only two earned runs.

Milwaukee, meanwhile, regained the National League lead as the Braves ended their longest losing streak since 1956 at five games with a 10-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs. San Francisco slipped to second, .005 percentage points behind, as the Pittsburgh Pirates breezed in on Frank Thomas' seven runs batted in for a 14-6 victory and the Giants' fourth loss in a row.

A four-run third inning did the job for Drysdale, now 3-8, and the Dodgers, once more just a half-game behind the seventh place Phillies. The two-run sacrifice fly was a 420-foot smack by Carl Furillo with the bases loaded. Richie Ashburn took it over his shoulder in center field, but by the time he got back within sight of the plate, Peewee Reese was across it after a dash from second base.

Ken Boyer's leadoff 11th homer won it for the Cards in the 12th, ending a four-inning shutout relief duel between winner Morrie Martin (2-1) and Redleg Hal Jeffcoat (3-3). Frank Robinson drove in both Redleg runs, one with his fourth homer for a 2-2 tie in the seventh.

Thomas celebrated his 29th birthday by taking the home run lead with a pair, one a grand-slam, and also gaining the RBI lead. His second homer, No. 19, was his second bases-loaded shot in the majors, both off the Giants (the first was April 23, 1953), and gave the Pirates a 10-2 lead in the second inning. Vern Law won his sixth with relief help while Ruben Gomez (5-5) lost it, giving up a three-run homer to Bill Mazeroski in a six-run first inning.

Record Profit Made by NCAA in Hoop Finals

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A. C. "Dutch" Lonborg, chairman of the NCAA Basketball Committee, disclosed Wednesday that the 1958 NCAA finals in Louisville netted an all-time record $96,875.

Lonborg, in a telephone conversation from Lawrence, Kan., with Sports Editor Earl Ruby of the Louisville Courier-Journal, said the NCAA committee will meet next month to decide on a site for the 1959 finals.

Goodman Still Serious

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Doctors say Johnny Goodman, 48, former National Open and amateur golf champion, still is seriously ill in Long Beach Veterans Hospital.

Goodman won the 1933 National Open and the 1937 National Amateur.

Bell Seeks World Record Saturday

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Olympic broad jumping champion Greg Bell of Indiana takes aim again Friday and Saturday at the world record of 26 feet 8¼ inches set 23 years ago by Jesse Owens.

The fellow from the University of Indiana faces competition from Ernie Shelby of Kansas in this weekend's NCAA meet here. One of them could conceivably wipe track's oldest record from the books.

Shelby has twice won the AAU title. This year he jumped 26-9 but fouled on the leap. Bell has beaten Shelby two out of three times when they met. The Indiana speedster who also runs the dashes has consistently been over 26 feet.

Shelby is a sophomore at Kansas, having spent a year at Pierce Junior College near Los Angeles. Bell, a senior, won the Olympics gold medal with a leap of 25 feet 8¼ in 1956.

In the NCAA, four qualifying jumps will be made on Friday afternoon. The finals are slated Saturday at the University of California's Edwards Stadium.

Three Olympic champions, in addition to Bell, will compete in the two-day championships. Villanova's Ron Delaney, from Ireland, the 1,500 meter champion at Melbourne and defending NCAA mile champ, faces California's Don Bowden, only U. S. citizen ever to break four minutes.

Kansas' Al Oerter, who has a world record shattering discus throw of 202 feet 2 inches pending, and Southern California's Charlie Dumas, the first high jumper to clear seven feet, are the other two Olympic champs competing.

A fifth Olympic champion will compete at Berkeley, but not in his Olympic title event. He is Glenn Davis of Ohio State who won the 400 meter hurdles at Melbourne. Here he will be running in the 440 dash, in which he equaled the world's record of 45.8 recently in the Big Ten meet.

Fourteen events are on the championship program with the University of Southern California, back in the NCAA's good graces, favored to dethrone Villanova as team champion. Two of the West Coast teams, Washington and UCLA, still are on probation because of football aid violations and cannot compete.

Reunion for '47 Champs

ANN ARBOR, (UPI)—Michigan's 1947 Big Ten champions that demolished Southern California 49-0 in the 1948 Rose Bowl game and acclaimed one of the finest Wolverine football teams in history, will hold its 10-year reunion Saturday.

Howard Yerges, quarterback for the 1947 champions, is in charge of the arrangements with Chalmers "Bump" Elliott, Yerges' right half, aiding him. H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, Michigan athletic director, will be guest of honor.

The 1948 Rose Bowl game marked the end of Crisler's coaching at Ann Arbor. He retired from the post following the game to devote full time to his duties as athletic director.

Giardello Wins Society Bout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Giardello and Washington society have met, but odds are steep that they'll never really be chummy.

Joey, the Philadelphia middleweight, made his bow before the capital's elite on the Shoreham Hotel terrace last night. Franz Szuzina, the Germany weightlifter who now fights for a living, appeared with Joey.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The black tie and evening gown audience booed the verdict as judges Harry Volkman (99-92) and Charley Buck (97-94) voted for Giardello and referee Charley Reynolds viewed it as a standoff (92-92). The Associated Press agreed with the judges (99-93).

★ ★ ★

Virginia Lady Leads in Eastern Amateur

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Mary Pat Janssen of Charlottesville, Va., enters the final round of the 54-hole Women's Eastern Amateur golf tourney today holding a one-stroke lead over Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore.

★ ★ ★

Miss Janssen shot a five-over-par 78 in the second round yesterday for a 36-hole total of 154, eight over women's par, at the Allegheny Country Club. Women's par for the 6,067 yard course is 36-37—73.

★ ★ ★

Miss Glick fired a 76 on the second round to go with her opening mark of 79 for 155. Tied for third place at 157 are defending champion Joanne Goodwin of Dartmouth, Mass., and Beth Kerby of Akron, Ohio.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: More Trouble with Iron Play.

DIAGNOSIS: Indecision Carried to Extremes.

Treatment: You'll often be undecided about which iron to choose for a particular shot. That's only natural. You should give considerable thought to the problem.

But DON'T LET YOUR INDECISION CARRY OVER INTO THE SHOT SHOT ITSELF. Take your time in making up your mind which club to use for the shot. Then settle firmly on one club or the other.

If you have chosen, say, a five-iron, then put everything out of your mind except hitting a good five-iron shot. Let it go at that.

If you've chosen the five-iron over the four, don't press the shot. Similarly, if you picked the five in preference to the six, don't let up on the shot. Once the choice is made, stick to it 100 per cent. You'll save yourself many strokes if you do.

HE'S BACK — Perry Byard of Red Run, who teamed up with Ralph Ellstrom of Dearborn to win last year's Pine Lake Invitational golf tournament, is returning to Pine Lake tomorrow through Sunday for another crack at the title. Ellstrom is unable to play this weekend due to business reasons. Byard's partner this time will be veteran Randall Ahern from both Red Run and Meadowbrook.

9th Invitational Event Completes Qualifiers Today

2-Man Teams Staging Match Play Tomorrow Through Sunday

By BILL CORNWELL

Half of last year's championship team will be missing, but nearly all of the other low handicap players in the area are slated to be at Pine Lake Country Club this weekend for the 9th annual Pine Lake Invitational golf tournament.

★ ★ ★

Bob Babbish and Ben Smith of Detroit Golf Club, Blaine Eynon of Forest Lake, Plum Hollow's Jim Funston and Michigan Seniors champion Harvey Olson are just a few of the outstanding entries in the selective drive-alternate shot event.

Ralph Ellstrom from Dearborn, who teamed up with Perry Byard of Red Run to win the 1957 tourney, will be missing this year. Business reasons have forced him to pass up the three-day match play outing.

Byard is coming back, however, and helping him defend his share of the honors will be Randall Ahern, the veteran swinger from both Red Run and Meadowbrook. Ahern was a semifinalist a year ago.

Golfers of differing skills will have chances to win titles on their own levels when match play gets under way Friday. Competition will be conducted in the championship flight and six other divisions tomorrow through Sunday.

There will be 16 two-man teams in each flight for opening 18-hole matches. Eighteen-hole qualifying rounds, which end today, will determine all flight positions.

Pete Green, Birmingham High ace, and Tommy Grace, Detroit prep champ, fired a 79 in their qualifier, which Pine Lake pro Elmer Prieskorn believes will be good enough to put the teenage team in the championship division.

Green and Grace are the youngest players in the tournament. Joe Grace Jr., star Notre Dame golfer and Tommy's older brother, is also entered in the tourney and veteran Tony Skover adds to the list of standout shot-makers.

Returning for their 3rd straight crack at the crown will be Bill Nettle of Plum Hollow and Red Run's Bill Pettibone. The Nettle-Pettibone team has been runnerup for the past two years, bowing to Byard and Ellstrom in the 1957 finals and Howie Neilson and Joe Grace two summers ago.

Match play in the championship flight begins at 10 a.m. each day. All matches, including the title scrap, are set for 18 holes. Single rounds are scheduled tomorrow and Saturday, with the semifinals and finals on Sunday.

Best kickoff return in the Big Ten last season was turned in by Blanche Martin of Michigan State. Against Wisconsin he went 65 yards.

Jewelers Beat Nemesis, 9-3

Southpaw pitcher Les Stone, who has twice mowed down his former Shaw Jeweler teammates this season, didn't have it Wednesday as the Jewelers solved him for eight hits and a 9-3 victory over Griff's Grill in Class A baseball at Wisner Field.

★ ★ ★

Shaw's, staging a comeback in the City League after snapping a four-game losing streak, wrapped up the verdict in a hurry yesterday with five runs on three hits in the 1st inning as 10 men batted.

Jim Jones hurled the distance for the Jewelers and gave up five hits, two by DeWayne Sheffer. Catcher Ken Stanick garnered two of the eight safeties off Stone.

Birmingham Wins Jr. Legion Opener

Birmingham got off to a fast start in Jr. Legion baseball play by walloping Rochester 11-1 on the opening night of league play last night.

A 9-run second inning clinched the verdict early for hurler Tim Springer, who allowed just four singles while fanning six.

George Forrest slammed two doubles and a single and Bob Hawkins had three runs batted in to lead the Birmingham offensive.

Phillies Sign Battery

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies have signed Charles Bennett Jr., of St. Regis, Mont., and Buddy Gene Stover of Clear Creek, W. Va., to contracts with their Johnson City, Tenn. farm club in the Appalachian League. Bennett, 19, was catcher for Montana State University, while Stover, 18, is a pitcher-outfielder.

BIG DAY ON BIRTHDAY — Frank Thomas (right) celebrated his 29th birthday yesterday with two homers and a total of seven runs batted in as the Pirates walloped the San Francisco Giants 14-6. He is shown with teammate Bill Mazeroski who also homered with two aboard. Thomas now leads in homers with 19 and RBI's with 57.

Lions, Wings Join Forces Against Ex-Tiger Stars

Members of the World Champion Detroit Lions will be in another league when they meet the Dizzy Trout All-Stars (Detroit Tiger Old Timers) in a baseball exhibition, Sunday afternoon, June 15, at the Madison Heights High School Field.

Game time is 3:30 p.m. and all proceeds from the game will be turned over to the Madison Heights Little Baseball League.

Tom Tracy, manager and coach of the Lions diamond squad, has lined up a formidable squad that includes quarterback Jerry Reichow, tackles, Bob Miller, Darris McCord and Ken Russell, plus Ollie Spencer of the Green Bay Packers, guard Stan Campbell, linebacker Roger Zatkoff and halfbacks Gene Gedman and Carl Karilivacs to form the nucleus of his team. Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, Gil Mains and John Henry Johnson are other Lions who have been contacted to play in the game.

Gordie Howe and Johnny Wilson of the Detroit Red Wings will make an appearance with the Lion gridders in the game.

The Old Timers are made up of players who formerly played in the Detroit organization and includes such well known stars as Dizzy Trout, Mike Tresh and George Lerchen.

The two teams met last year in a benefit for the Madison Heights Little League and played to a nine-inning 10-10 tie.

Kelly Inks '58 Wing Contract

General Manager Jack Adams today announced that veteran defenseman Len "Red" Kelly has signed his contract for the 1958-59 season, his 12th as a Red Wing.

Kelly's signing brings to three the number of players under contract for next year. Forbes Kennedy and Norm Ullman agreed to terms in April.

Adams also reported that Gordie Howe will be the Wings' captain for the coming campaign, succeeding Kelly who held the position for the past two years.

The change in captains follows the club policy of rotating the title among the players every few years.

With 148 goals in 11 seasons, Kelly ranks as the highest scoring defenseman in National Hockey League history and the Wings' fifth highest scorer of all time.

Last season he split his time between defense and left wing, scoring 31 points on 13 goals and 18 assists.

Thompson Hits 108 MPH in 'Short Circuit'

Bill Hickson Tries to Qualify 'Bill-Der' Today

Three more powerboats, including Art Hickson's "Bill-Der" are attempting to qualify today on the Detroit River for Saturday's Memorial Cup Race.

Yesterday Chuck Thompson raced his "Short Circuit" 108.95 miles an hour to qualify with the highest speed. The boat, formerly "Tempo VII" bettered its time of last year by more than six miles an hour.

Another entry in Saturday's race is "Miss Thriftway" which qualified last month when Bill Muncey raced the boat in the Apple Cut Race in Chelan, Wash.

"Miss Thriftway," a new unlimited hydroplane, entered for two reasons. She wants to pull down a prize and also come to Detroit out of courtesy.

★ ★ ★

Her owner, Willard Rhodes, said "Miss Thriftway" wants to "repay the compliment" of the participation of the Detroit boat "Miss U.S.I." in Washington's Lake Chelan Apple Cup Race last month.

Muncey, former Detroiter who piloted the old "Thriftway" to her two Gold Cup victories, will be at the wheel for the new boat in the Memorial races.

"Miss Supertest," the Canadian boat, qualified yesterday at 98.181 m. p. h. She and "Short Circuit" joined with "Miss U.S.I." "Gale VI," and "Wilroot Charlie" as qualifiers.

Bill Hickson of Pontiac will have to push "Bill-Der" better than 90 miles per hour over the three-mile course to qualify.

Other boats in the qualifying races today are "Gale V" of Lee Schoenith and Jack Schafer's "Such Crust III."

Chemical Proves Effective

New Larvacide Lethal for Lamprey's Larvae

Application of a chemical larvicide in Carp Creek (Black Mallard River) April 15, has been described by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission and the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries at Ann Arbor, as a "technological success."

★ ★ ★

Dr. James W. Moffett, Chief, Great Lakes Fishery Investigation, U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, said the applicatoin "demonstrated the effectiveness of analytical test equipment under field conditions and also resulted in a 100 per cent kill of lamprey larvae resident in the stream."

The test was conducted by the Hammond Bay laboratory of the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries under the direction of Dr. Vernon C. Applegate and John H. Howell. Carp Creek was selected because of its proximity to the laboratory.

The chemical used in the test was Dowlap (3, 4, 6-Trichloro-2-Nitrophenol), a product of The Dow Chemical Company, Midland, Michigan. Dow representatives assisted in the stream application and the evaluation of analytical methods and equipment.

Dowlap applied at the rate of 20 parts per million parts of water resulted in a 100 per cent kill of lamprey larvae after 13 hours of treatment.

Evaluation of the results showed a negligible damage to desirable gamefish and stream life. Only nine of 500 planted trout were counted dead. Snails showed some effects of the larvacide in the early stages of the test but recovered later. However, the clam population was hard hit.

★ ★ ★

Basically, Dr. Moffett stressed, the test was conducted to evaluate the effectiveness of analytical methods. Electronic equipment in the Hammond Bay laboratory provided the basis for positive field checks.

But in all respects, he said, the application was considered "highly successful."

LAMPREY STRANGLER—This is a parasitic sea lamprey which had endangered fish in Michigan for a long time. Now science has found a chemical that can be introduced into lamprey spawning streams in minute quantities. The young of the lamprey, which live from six to eight years in the stream beds, are suffocated by the chemical within 24 hours. Fish are not injured by the chemical. Federal authorities plan to treat all Lake Superior spawning streams with the larvicide within the next 18 months. (AP Photo)

AMC Hires 1,200 To Boost Output

BY FRED OLMSTED
Free Press Automotive Editor

Because of booming Rambler sales, American Motors Corp. announced Monday it will hire 1,200 workers as quickly as possible to boost production from 750 to 835 cars a day.

Elmer W. Bernitt, vice president-automotive operations, said a second shift, with 750 workers, will be added at AMC's Milwaukee plant. An additional 450 will be hired to expand assembly work at Kenosha, Wis.

Bernitt said the 1,200 to be hired will be new workers, since call-backs of other employes have been exhausted.

The new hiring will bring AMC automotive employment to 11,900, an increase of 34 per cent above the 8,900 working a year ago. Both plants have been working overtime and on a six-day-week schedule since early in May.

The company also announced that it added 89 new dealers in May and now has 2,503, or 20 per cent more than a year ago.

Wayne County Morgue Probed

Irregularities Charged to Employes on Staff by Medical Examiner

DETROIT (AP)—More witnesses were summoned today to testify on charges of irregularities by the staff at the Wayne County Morgue.

The investigation started yesterday at the request of Dr. Edward S. Zawadzki, Wayne County medical examiner. Zawadzki had threatened to resign saying it was impossible to discharge employes for questionable practices.

★ ★ ★

His charges involve reports of referral by morgue employes of persons requiring legal aid to certain firms. The charges have been probed before and police found no basis for criminal prosecutions.

Prosecutor Samuel Olsen appointed his chief trial lawyer, Raymond J. DeRyck to the investigation.

DeRyck heard statements yesterday from two women witnesses. Mrs. Jacqueline Rini 36, of suburban Harper Woods testified that Stanley J. Mirus had arranged a $4,000 loan for her business at exorbitant fees and interest.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Rini is co-owner with her husband of the city ambulance service. Mirus is administrative assistant to Zawadzki.

Mirus said Mrs. Rini's loan was arranged by the Mirus Insurance Agency, but added that he already had sold the agency and had no financial connection with it.

Mrs. Christine Dinsmore, 29, of Detroit complained to DeRyck about a morgue attendant's recommendation for a public administrator for her father's estate in 1956. She said the heirs feel they did not receive all they were entitled to from the estate.

Zawadzki said he asked for the investigation after his attempts to discharge Mirus and George I. Adams, former morgue property clerk, failed.

Boy Plucked Alive From Moving Train

DETROIT (AP) — A New York Central Railroad switchman plunged between rolling freight cars yesterday and rescued a 10-year-old boy dangling from the moving train.

The boy, Jerome Paciorkowski, lost his right leg under a car wheel. But police said he was saved from almost certain death by the switchman, Clyde Fletcher, 41, of suburban Romulus Township.

"I ran as fast as I could," Fletcher said. "The boy had a grip on a brake rod and his feet were dragging along the track. He was trying hard to pull himself up."

Fletcher, father of four children, jerked the boy loose and plunged to the side of the track. Jerome's right leg failed to clear the track before the freight car ran over it.

Fletcher said there was an automatic car retarding device a few feet down the track which slows the cars.

"If he had got caught in that, it would have been the end of him for sure," the switchman said.

Pet in Doghouse After Putting Master in Jail

DETROIT (UPI)—A part Spitz, part Collie and part-this-and-part-that dog named Rusty put his master in jail yesterday through sheer affection.

Rusty bounced happily up to his master, Lewis Calloway, when Sgt. Edward Luke and Patrolmen Norbert Palin and Thomas McManus questioned Calloway as a suspected numbers operator.

The officers said Calloway became more nervous when tail-wagging Rusty drew near. According to the officers, Calloway hissed, "Go 'way," but the dog just stood there, looking happy.

Sergeant Luke inspected Rusty's collar and found 20 new numbers slips inside a waterproof pouch.

Calloway was held for arraignment. Rusty barked cheerfully, although he was in the doghouse with his master who was in the jailhouse.

Heuss Sightseeing in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A round of official ceremonies and sightseeing got under way today in honor of Theodor Heuss, president of the German Federal Republic.

Heuss arrived in San Francisco by air yesterday for a busy four-day visit to the bay area. The 74-year-old president received full honors at the airport, including a 21-gun salute.

On hand to meet him were Mayor George Christopher, top ranking military officers in the bay area, Consul General Guenther Kempff, and representatives of German-American societies.

Heuss sent word ahead that he would not speak at the airport, but he emphatically insisted on reviewing an honor guard of Army Navy Air Force and Marine detachments that had assembled in his honor.

Says Special Group Can Boost Michigan

LANSING (AP)—Creation of an organization to broaden the export market for Michigan products and attract foreign capital to Michigan has been proposed by a state researcher.

★ ★ ★

The suggestion came from Paul A. Herbert, chief of research for the Michigan Economic Development Dept.

As an example, he cited the Netherlands - American Industrial Institute which offers advice to U. S. industry and commerce at its offices in New York and The Hague.

Herbert proposed a Michigan-European commercial and industrial institute, possibly with offices at the port cities of Detroit and Muskegon.

"With industry, labor and commerce pooling information," he said, "it would be possible for a foreign purchasing agent to make inquiries on exports and imports at a central office," he said.

Liberal Selling Plummets Rye

CHICAGO (AP)—Rye futures came under liberal selling by profit-takers in early dealings on the Board of Trade today and prices slumped around a cent a bushel.

Other grains held within small fractions both above and below previous closes after some indications of firmness at the opening.

Some dealers said the market appeared to have become largely a speculative trading affair, but that overnight reports indicated a firming tendency.

Toward the end of the first hour, trade had come almost to a halt. At that time wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cents a bushel lower, July $1.84⅞; corn ⅛ to ¼ lower, July $1.31⅛; oats ⅝ lower to ¼ higher, July 62; rye ½ to 1¼ lower, July $1.28½; soybeans unchanged to ⅝ lower, July $2.27½; lard 2 cents a hundred pounds higher to 5 cents lower, July $12.07.

Of the ones who think of you.
Forever in our hearts. Husband, Children and Grandchildren.

SOMEWHERE BACK OF THE Sunset,
Where loveliness never dies;
She lives in the land of glory,
Neath the blue and gold of the skies,
And those who have known and loved her,
Whose passing has brought sad tears;
Will cherish the memory always,
To brighten the lengthening years.
In memory of Rena Andrews.

Deicing Equipment on Jet Liner Tested

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — To test deicing equipment on engine cowlings of the 707 commercial jet airliner, Boeing Airplane Co. engineers rigged up a weird-looking "catcher's mask" device to coat an engine with ice aloft.

The company said the Civil Aeronautics Administration tests were speeded by use of the special device.

The device consists of bars equipped with spray nozzles.

At high altitudes the spray quickly turned to ice on the cowling. The deicing system was turned on when the ice became a fourth of an inch thick. The ice melted in less than 30 seconds.

Actress Won't Tackle Another Video Series if Show Isn't Renewed

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Pat Breslin wants to make it clear at the outset that she likes dogs.

* * *

In fact, the gaminish co-star of NBC's "People's Choice" television series (Thursday, 9 p.m.) takes a back seat to no one in her admiration of man's alleged best buddy.

But on the other hand, she thinks dogs should be dogs, and thereby hangs a tale.

Show people are painfully aware that animals and children are the most dangerous of professional colleagues. They will upstage you every time and steal scenes with the ease of a pickpocket at a county fair.

* * *

In their natural states, they will top the most experienced and wily human performers, but when a dumb animal starts getting chatty and histrionic, like Cleo, the bewildering basset hound of "People's Choice," well . . .

'A DEAR ANIMAL'

"It's not really the dog's fault," sighs Pat. "She's such a dear animal really. I love her.

"But when I read the first script of the show, I thought Cleo was going to be a sort of commentator —you know, making asides to the audience without actually getting into the story.

"So it's turned out that Jackie Cooper and I are the commentators and Cleo . . ." she shook her head. "There I go saying the wrong thing again."

Pat, who recently celebrated her 32nd birthday, hastened to interject another accolade for animals in general, dogs in particular and Cleo specifically.

* * *

Not entirely because of Cleo—she is solidly against tackling another TV series if "People's Choice" isn't renewed for next season. The promised rewards haven't measured up to her expectations.

"I turned the show down when it was first offered to me in New York," she explained. "I was doing live TV, and I liked it. But then everyone told me about the steady income and all the money and security.

* * *

"Now after three years where's all the money I was supposed to have? I certainly don't have it. About all I can say is that I'm out of debt and I own my car, so I suppose I shouldn't kick."

Lynn Fontanne Nearly Loses to Marilyn Monroe

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Lynn Fontanne, one of the first ladies of the American theater, almost got upstaged last night by a star from another world—Marilyn Monroe. Miss Monroe got the oohs and ahs, but Miss Fontanne got the applause.

* * *

Clad in a backless orange dress and trailing a mink stole from one shoulder so it almost swept the floor, the blonde screen actress diverted between-the-acts chatter to herself as she traipsed back to her seat during the first intermission of "The Visit," which stars Miss Fontanne and her husband, Alfred Lunt.

* * *

Several patrons at the rear of the orchestra rented binoculars so they could get a better look at Miss Monroe. Others stood in their seats during the next intermission to catch a glimpse of her in the third row next to her husband, playwright Arthur Miller. Some inched down the side aisle while the curtain was down.

* * *

When it went up again, attention quickly went back to the stage, and the play won the audience's enthusiastic applause. After the final curtain Miss Monroe and her husband went backstage for a courtesy call on the Lunts.

Roz Russell, Dean Martin Best-Dressed Entertainers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rosalind Russell and Dean Martin are the best-dressed woman and man stars of the entertainment world.

So said the California fashion creators last night at a banquet climaxing a four-day fall showing.

Jean Harlow's Mother Dies 21 Years After Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A little more than 21 years ago Hollywood star Jean Harlow died—and her mother, Mrs. Jean Bello, went into seclusion. Yesterday Mrs. Bello, 67, died.

She had been in ill health from heart attacks for five years.

Brigitte Bardot Learns Filming Is Dangerous

By EARL WILSON

PARIS — Hello, America! Your war correspondent happily can't find any war, so he will flash you some bulletins on such big stories as the slapping of Brigitte Bardot, and the romance of Frank Sinatra.

WILSON

I was holed up here in my dugout at the George V just ready to go on an interview date with Miss Bardot when I got the flash by phone:

"B.B. has been slopped on her cheek and ees not well. Zhee weel be onable to zee you."

"What happened?" I asked.

"Zhee was shooteeng her picture and the leading man, Antoine Vilar, was supposed to slop her check. The director said the slop was not hard enough. So Breegeet says 'Slop me more strong.'

"He slop her very more stronglee and her chin was deesplassed. He also broke his beck, his vertebrae. Howevair, do not worree, eet is not very serious at all."

BRIGITTE

That's the inside story. One more thing. The studio where it happened is on the Rue Silly.

J. Paul Getty, the so-called richest man in the world, has been visiting the Brussels World's Fair for a week. There is some talk that he might buy it.

They claim over in London that Frank Sinatra phoned British actress Shirley Ann Field and said, "This is Frank Sinatra." She replied, "Sure it is, and this is Marilyn Monroe." After such a brittle retort as that—romance!

Sophia Loren met Atty. Florence Shientag of N.Y., the ex-Judge, and was astonished. "In Italy we don't have such beautiful judges," Sophia said. "They are mostly very serious sad-looking old men."

Heart, Arteries Take Big Toll

Fifty-Five Per Cent of Insurance Paid Goes for These Diseases

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Fifty-five per cent of the $480,000,000 paid out by one large life insurance company last year in death claims was for diseases of the heart and arteries, and about 20 per cent for cancer, the company's statisticians report.

Together, these causes of death accounted for somewhat more than $3 of each $4 paid in claims to beneficiaries. Twenty years ago they accounted for only 52.7 per cent of the total.

The proportion of disbursements for the degenerative conditions, the statisticians note, has been increasing largely because of the sharp reduction in mortality from the infectious diseases and the rise in proportion of policyholders at the older ages.

Although payments for all causes combined increased by 12 per cent between 1956 and 1957, the amount paid out on account of deaths from pneumonia and influenza rose almost 50 per cent, largely as a result of the epidemic of Asian influenza and other respiratory diseases last autumn.

Death claim payments for poliomyelitis continued to decrease dramatically. Last year's disbursements were $52,000; this compared with $215,000 the year before, and with $849,000 in 1952.

Fatal accidents accounted for disbursements of about $40,000,000, somewhat over half of which was for deaths in motor vehicle accidents.

The bulk of claim payments during the year was on deaths of policy holders at the main working ages. Somewhat over $7,000,000 was paid in death claims on ordinary and industrial policies in force less than a year, and nearly one-third of this amount was on policies in force less than three months.

Today's Cook Finds Kitchen Work Easy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today the old fashioned cook is disappearing from the American kitchens.

Housewives, he said, no longer want to cook chickens, clean fish, squeeze oranges or even peel potatoes. Instead, Benson said, they prefer prepared ready-to-cook foods.

"It is remarkable," he said, "how the food industry has succeeded in reducing kitchen tasks, through built in maid service.

He said food is a much better buy now than it was a generation ago when the housewife did all the chores connected with the preparation of foods.

Benson said farmers, industry and government are working together in a drive to lower food costs, improve quality and expand markets.

At least half the world's people over 10 years of age are totally illiterate and another 15 per cent are partially illiterate, according to UNESCO.
