

Youth Will Stay at County Home

Eric Matheny Appears Before Probate Judge Here Yesterday

A 16-year-old West Bloomfield Township boy, who terrorized his parents with a 30-30 rifle Jan. 4, will remain in the Oakland County Children's Home. Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore decided yesterday.

Eric Matheny, son of Dr. Charles Matheny, 5786 Bloomfield Glens, fired a shot at his stepmother, police said, as she stood at a window calling for help.

The elder Mathenys were awakened by a noise about 10 p.m. They walked into the kitchen and heard a voice say, "Get some money." The couple fled into the bedroom and the shot followed.

The youth was arrested later hiding in his father's nearby office basement.

Young Matheny's parents had thought he returned to the Starr Commonwealth for Boys at Albion where he was sent last September after Macon County authorities waived jurisdiction on a car theft charge.

Judge Moore said he will review Matheny's record at the children's home in June.

NOEL DECORATED—Frank (Pappy) Noel, Associated Press photographer, in Washington today receives the Bronze Star from Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas in a Pentagon ceremony.

Peace Being Sought in Simplex Strike

since the strike, was beaten up early yesterday morning.

Fritch, 24, of Oxford, said he was about to enter the Majestic Dinner at Square Lake and Telegraph roads when about 50 men surrounded him.

About a dozen started beating him, Fritch stated, and he suffered a black eye and numerous bruises.

Today's meeting was arranged late yesterday after Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem called in Simplex owner Frank Doerner and Blaine Mergin, president of the striking Local 157, UAW-CIO.

Details were worked out during a conference with Circuit Judges Frank L. Doty, George B. Hartick and H. Russell Holland.

Larry Davidow, attorney for Doerner, said he would await outcome of negotiations before pressing for a court order directing the union to appear and attempt to show why they should not be cited for contempt for violating a restraining order issued Jan. 20.

The order limited pickets to six, ruled out violence and restrained pickets from blocking the driveway.

The company claims 30 of its 50 employees went on strike Dec. 14 without taking a strike vote or giving formal notice as required by law. A hearing was set for Feb. 7 for the union to attempt to show the injunction restraining picketing should not be made permanent.

Attorney for the union, Theodore Sachs, yesterday said Doerner had signed an agreement Dec. 1 recognizing Local 157 as bargaining agent for all employees.

But three union organizers were fired during the next two weeks, he stated, resulting in the walkout. In its court pleadings, the local says firing of the men constituted "unfair labor practices."

Doerner said, "I'm not against unions, I belonged once myself." The men were discharged, he stated, because they refused to do their jobs adequately.

Marrin said his local included about 30 small plants. His aim, he asserted, is to get the discharged men reinstated and begin contract negotiations. Sachs said the company had called off three previous meetings scheduled to attempt a settlement.

Statements made to Ziem and the three judges yesterday showed the pattern of the day's events:

Robert L. May, an employee in charge of shipping and receiving, said he arrived at the plant at 6:45 a.m.

He saw the crowd, he stated and proceeded to Doerner's home, less than a mile away. The two returned with another employee carrying a loaded shotgun in their car, Mays declared.

Between 60 and 70 men surrounded the car and started rocking it and he raised the shotgun into view, said Mays. At that point a sheriff's deputy directed the car to leave.

Doerner said he had to "push" about ten men in order to back his car onto Twelve Mile.

Sheriff's deputies said another employee Edmund H. Blakeman, of 21555 Nummer, East Detroit, arrived at 7:40 a.m. His car was surrounded, Blakeman charged, and hot coffee thrown in his face. There were 200 to 300 men at the plant then, he added.

Blakeman drove off about a half mile and parked on Telegraph just north of Twelve Mile. About 8:30 a.m. some 40 unionists clustered around his car, he stated, and he jumped out and fled across a field carrying a loaded .22 rifle.

When the men followed, throwing bottles, Blakeman said he fired three shots and thought he hit one man. But no gunshot wounds have been reported to police.

Blakeman's car was then overturned in the ditch by the crowd, deputies said.

The last incident occurred about 1 p.m. when an unidentified plant protection man fired a pistol shot in the general direction of a picket line to have thrown a bottle through a plant window.

Ziem said today no warrants could be issued unless witnesses to the shooting were found or complainants come forth.

Jack Pearson, international representative for Local 157, stated

Anti-Fluoride Group Forms

Planning to Circulate Petitions to Force Vote on Water Treatment

H. Malcolm Kahn, attorney for a group opposing fluoridation of water here, today said the group would circulate petitions this week asking that the matter be put to a vote.

An organizational meeting of the group is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today in the YMCA, Kahn said.

"We will probably select a name for the organization and decide who will assume responsibility at the meeting," he said.

This latest development follows the rejection by the City Commission Tuesday night of Kahn's proposal to put the fluoridation question on the April 4 ballot.

Two weeks ago, the Commission approved the fluoridation plan, which is to go into effect April 15.

Kahn said the group would seek a minimum of 3,000 signatures. City officials have stated that approximately 2,100 signatures of duly registered qualified city voters would be necessary for the initiative move.

The attorney said the petitions, now being printed, call for an ordinance "to prohibit the addition of fluoride or any compounds of fluoride to the water supply of the city of Pontiac."

Such an ordinance, he passed, would supersede the resolution calling for fluoridation passed by the Commission.

The ordinance could be passed by the Commission, eliminating the need of putting it up for public vote, according to the city charter.

Adding fluorides to the municipal water supply is advocated as a method of reducing dental decay, especially in children.

The weather bureau warned it will be zero to five above tonight in West Virginia, five below to five above in Ohio, zero to five above in western Pennsylvania, and five to 15 above in Kentucky.

A warning of "much colder" was issued for New York City, while skidding temperatures and 20 to 30 mile per hour northwest winds were predicted for much of New England.

However, the East was not expected to match the polar temperatures early today in the Midwest—32 below at Bemidji, Minn., and Grantsburg, Wis., 20 below at Minneapolis, Minn., and St. Paul, Minn., 28 below at International Falls, Minn., 23 below at St. Cloud, Minn., 26 below at Duluth, Minn., and 13 below at Mason City, Iowa.

The mercury hit 10 below in Chicago early today to set an all-time record for the date and make it the coldest day in the Windy City since the 11 below reading of Feb. 8, 1951.

It was 34 degrees warmer in Anchorage, Alaska, where the temperature was a rather pleasant 25 above.

Williams Would Tax Corporations Profits

prompt, prudent and courageous action to meet the necessary costs of the high level of civilization this commonwealth has achieved."

Williams dismissed the idea of a state property tax, abolished twenty years ago, on the grounds that is the mainstay of local government.

"To invade this field of taxation would simply move the financial crisis from the state to the local levels," he said.

Taxes on beverages, confections or amusements would put more of a burden on consumers, create confusion and hike costs of administration, he said.

The governor also turned thumbs down on any personal income tax at this time. And he said there is little chance that the corporations profits tax would lead to a personal income tax.

Right now, he said, about 70 per cent of state taxes are levied on consumers. "Our present system of meeting the price of state government puts a premium on inability to pay rather than ability to pay," Williams declared.

A corporations tax, he said, would be based solely on a company's ability to pay. Under his plan, corporations showing no profits would not pay any tax.

Corporations can well afford to pay a state profits tax at this time, the governor declared.

Besides climbing profits, corporations recently got a tax break through repeal of the federal excess profits tax, he said.

Williams said there is no evidence that corporations' profits taxes now in effect in 32 other states have resulted in higher prices.

"In general, a corporation will not add such a tax to the price of its product as long as it is in market competition," he said.

Williams urged the legislature to junk the present "antiquated" inheritance tax and replace it with a "modern" estate and gift tax.

The present law, he said, "has numerous loopholes, notably the distribution of property by gift in contemplation of death."

Repeal of the present corporate profits tax would reduce revenues by about 38 million dollars, Williams estimated. Reduction of the business receipts tax would decrease revenues by another 28 million dollars.

Adoption of the corporate profits tax would yield 110 million dollars, leaving a net revenue gain of about 44 million dollars, he said.

Williams presented the legislature last week with a record 292 million dollar budget, including a 25-million dollar item for college and university construction.

Science May Harness Sun to Create Food

perfect, "It may be that from that point on, since both water and carbon dioxide, and sunlight, are plentiful commodities, the food supply problem of the world, which has been a limiting factor on population growth, would be solved."

Just what form these artificial foods and fuels of the future will take can scarcely be imagined. Perhaps the synthetic food materials will be fed to livestock from which man will continue to depend for his main supply of protein.

Perhaps he will consume directly the products of his sun factories. If so, what gastronomic shocks or delights await him can only be guessed.

State Civil Defense Men Boost Program Locally

BIRMINGHAM—State Civil Defense officials last night outlined statewide defense plans, which City Manager Donald C. Egbert today termed "a realistic and intelligent approach to the problem."

Speakers were Homer Higbee, executive assistant to the state CD director, and John E. Pokorny, director for the metropolitan area.

Addressing Egbert, Roland W. Reese, former local deputy CD director, and others, the two men spoke of reorganization in the past year that has simplified civil defense operations.

The Ground Observer Corps, Civil Air Patrol and American Red Cross will operate under their own administrative procedures, except during enemy attack, when they supplement civil defense operations.

In time of natural catastrophes, such as tornadoes, the situation will be reversed.

A state-wide educational program outlining self-preservation is also in the offing.

On a local level, simplification will also be stressed, Egbert said.

"Ordinary municipal services (police, fire and health departments) will be the nucleus, together with trained assistants, for a civil defense organization here," he stated.

The program was revived here some months ago, but both the director and one deputy recently resigned.

Egbert said the City Commission is "very sympathetic to the problem, and must now choose between a part or full-time civil defense director."

Annual father and son banquet will get under way at 6:30 tonight at Embury Methodist Church. Activities include dinner served by the Woman's Society, and William Lenard with his program of "Magic as You Like it." Howard Palmer will toast the sons and Richard Bidigare the dads.

Open to the public is a square dance being sponsored by Hickory Grove School PTA, from 9 p.m. to midnight tomorrow at the school.

have been perfected. Should they be put into execution and meet Communist opposition, Formosa is the nearest territory in friendly hands from which land-based planes could support the fleet.

(A report from Singapore said the fleet itself apparently would be beefed up by the addition of the aircraft carrier Midway. The 45,000-ton flattop was due there Feb. 4 but U.S. Navy officials said she is now "heading north." Four other U.S. carriers, the Essex, Yorktown, Kearsarge and Wasp, are in Formosa waters with the fleet.)

In Taipei, the best guess was that Chinese Nationalist naval forces would carry out the actual evacuation of the Tachens, screened and covered by the gathering U.S. air and sea power.

Signs mounted that the Nationalists would evacuate their 15,000 troops and 15,000 civilians from the two small Tachen Islands, which lie in an exposed position 200 miles north of Formosa and only 12 miles from the Communist China mainland.

Lichens have no roots, stems or leaves. Each lichen is made up of an alga, which manufactures food, and a fungus that absorbs and stores the water.

Firs Menaced by Bark Beetle

Pacific Northwest Insect Infects 500,000 Trees; Controls Sought

EVERETT, Wash. (UP)—A little bug, known as the Silver Fir Bark Beetle, has bored its way into more than 500,000 acres of forest in western Washington and is causing millions of dollars damage to the Pacific Northwest's most vital industry.

R. V. Dickhaus, Bellingham, Wash., forester, said most of the damage has occurred in the Mt. Baker and Day Lake areas of Skagit and Whatcom Counties.

The beetle first was discovered here in 1947 by W. V. Catlow, chief forester of the Puget Sound Pulp and Timber Co.

So great has been the damage that a special group, known as the Silver Fir Beetle Committee, has been formed to combat the menace.

Federal, state and private industry forest agencies are cooperating with the committee in a concerted research program to discover methods for controlling the insect.

All forest agencies are re-orienting their logging plans to hold down the loss of timber from the infestation, Dickhaus said.

So far this year 140,000,000 board feet of trees have been harvested in an aggressive salvage logging operation in the areas infested to lessen the potential loss.

Dickhaus said the most immediate need in the fight against the beetle is construction of logging roads so infested timber can be hauled out of the woods before it deteriorates.

Dickhaus is the chairman of the committee coordinating the campaign.

The bug destroys timber by boring its way under the bark where it dines on soft wood fibers and brings up its offspring. The children, which grow quite rapidly, are hungry critters that spread out looking for more soft wood. Before long the tree loses its strength and begins to deteriorate.

Of course, some of the little beetles look for greener pastures, or, in this case, greener trees, and they move on to the closest tree. It doesn't take long for a whole forest to become infested.

After the flowers of the peanut plant have fallen, the flower stalks turn sharply downward and dig their way into the soil, where the bulb at the end of each stalk enlarges the peanut pod.

Spanish Observer Will Come to U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Spain is going to send an observer to U.N. headquarters—over Soviet objections—after years in the international organization's doghouse. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld said Wednesday he had granted a request from Generalissimo Franco's government for the type of representation allowed such other nonmembers as West Germany, Austria, Finland, Italy and Japan. Such observers have the right to use U.N. facilities and attend meetings. They cannot speak at meetings unless asked and cannot vote.

Malaya, Thailand Will Hit Commies

SINGAPORE (AP)—Malaya and Thailand are expected to launch a new joint drive soon to smash Communist guerrillas terrorizing both sides of the two Southeast Asian countries' common border. Intensified land and air attacks are being set up. British and Thai representatives are drafting plans also to plug border loopholes through which

Chinese Communists in Malaya have been passing into southern Thailand for war supplies and regrouping, then surging back into Malaya to continue guerrilla attacks. Informed sources said today a squadron of British paratroopers coming from England in early March and four Canberra jet bombers due in February likely would be sent into north Malaya to hit at Red hideouts. An average human heart is as big as a clenched fist.

Attorney Advises Against Lie Test

Bomb Victim's Husband Told to Shun Detector; Offers Reward

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (U)—An attorney has disclosed he advised Harry Weaver, husband of a slain heiress, not to take a lie detector test.

Weaver and the attorney, Carl Runge, met reporters here yesterday in a joint interview.

"I want to look a man in the eye," Weaver told the newsmen. "I have nothing to hide."

Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver, 32, heiress daughter of a wealthy ranching and banking family, was blasted to death eight days ago by a bomb planted in an automobile. Weaver, 61, prominent architect and geologist, told reporters he could not "discount the possibility" that his life is in danger. The nitroglycerine bomb which killed his attractive wife may have been meant for him, he said.

Runge told reporters that upon his advice Weaver last Friday declined to take a lie detector test. Weaver had started to the courthouse to take the test, the attorney said, when he met him and told him not to do it.

Runge, pointing at Weaver, said: "This man had no motive. He's worse off now than before Mrs. Weaver was killed."

No arrests have been made in the case.

Dist. Atty. Aubrey Stokes last night sharply criticized a $10,000 reward offer made by Weaver and his daughters for apprehension of the slayer.

Stokes declared the reward offer would "hinder prosecution of the real murderer and tend to defeat justice."

The offer directed that all information be given directly to Weaver.

No Time for Theories

SALT LAKE CITY (U)—While the boss was attending a meeting of local grocers on how to thwart robberies and burglaries, somebody tried to hold up his store last night. But the clerk, 19-year-old Garry Borens, pulled a gun from a counter drawer and chased the bandits out of the place.

8 Hospital Employees Attend Clinic Day

Eight persons from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital attended the 16th annual Clinic Day at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital in Detroit Wednesday.

Dr. Lawrence W. Gardner, director of laboratories at Mt. Carmel was chairman of the meeting.

Those attending from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital were Sisters Mary Paul, Mary Concetta and Mary Norbert; Dr. D. A. Barbour and Dr. Jon Siemsen, resident physicians; Dr. O. B. Beardsley and Dr. J. W. Finn, and Dr. Arthur Kennedy, internes.

Steal Stale Stogies

DALLAS, Tex. (U)—Eight youths, aged 10 to 14, admitted the theft of from 2,000 to 5,000 cigars from the garage of tobacco salesman William Howard but they said each smoked only part of a cigar before becoming violently ill. Howard told police the cigars were stale, damaged stock which he saved to return to the factory.

School Bus Hits Car

PRESOTT, Mich. (U)—A school bus loaded with 40 to 45 children collided yesterday with a car and hurtled into a ditch. Three of the children's teachers riding in the car were injured. Three children were also hurt slightly but were released after treatment.

Sled Mishap Results in Blood for Patient

SCRIBNER, N.Y. (U)—Mrs. Raymond Zucker's panel truck and a sled collided, sending Conley Moeller, 7, tumbling onto the icy street.

She hurried to a hospital with Conley and his parents. While waiting there, she learned of a patient whose life at the moment depended on a certain type of blood.

Mrs. Zucker gave a pint. Conley's injury was a slight cut on the head.

Rules State Can Put Bonus Cash in Bonds

LANSING (U)—An attorney general's opinion held today that the state treasurer may invest proceeds of the sale of the 60 million dollar Korean bond issue in government obligations.

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanaugh said, however, the need of having funds quickly available for the Korean bonus payments would limit the extent of such investments.

In another opinion, the attorney general held that the $5,000 homestead exemption for blind persons would apply to both a blind husband and wife as co-owners of a home and would make a total $4,000 exemption.

Kavanaugh also held that all persons holding any title to mineral interests or interest in land must sign a plat if an attempt is made to plat the land.

Another opinion held that securities of operating public utilities are exempt from the provisions of the "blue sky" law designed to protect investors from dubious securities.

More than 308 million pounds of popcorn were grown in the United States last year.

Supervisors Hit Ruling on Taxes

State Group Expected to Fight Mandatory Use of Michigan Valuations

LANSING (U)—Resolutions aimed at keeping local assessing powers in the hands of local officials were expected to receive overwhelming support today at the windup of the three-day state convention of the Michigan Association of Supervisors.

Delegates expressed deep concern over an attorney general's ruling making it mandatory to use state equalized valuations for assessing purposes in counties with overlapping school districts.

One resolution would put the association on record as opposing the ruling forcing all counties with fractional school divisions to use the state equalized value.

Another asks for amendment of the State Constitution to provide a return of assessment and equalization processes to the jurisdiction of local governmental officials.

Another seeks legislation to allow townships with police departments to retain fines and costs imposed by justices of the peace for violation of township ordinances. This money now goes to library funds.

Charity Gets 'Fine' Aid

WHITEFISH, Mont. (U)—Minor traffic violators will pay as they go in a four-day crackdown by Whitefish police and National Guardsmen. "Fines" will go to the March of Dimes.

Refuses Ladder-Rescue Wearing Shortie Nightie

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—Mrs. Pearl McKersie, 41, refused to be rescued from her second-floor, smoke-filled bedroom after firemen raised a ladder to the window.

Flames were raging in the living room of the apartment, but Mrs. McKersie was wearing a shortie nightie and she wasn't going to be embarrassed by climbing down the ladder.

Firemen finally battered down the front door, quelled the blaze and led Mrs. McKersie, swathed in blankets, down the stairs.

JIMMY AND HIS SHOVEL

Jimmy helps clear snow off the walks and steps with his big red shovel. Would you like to help him with his work?

1. Use crayons to color Jimmy. You can give him a red cap and mittens to match his shovel, and color his suit as you wish.

2. Mount this picture smoothly on stiff paper with white library paste. Cut out the three large pieces. Paste the other leg behind Jimmy, stopping at the dotted line.

3. To make Jimmy stand up straight, cut down along the toe and heel of each foot. Then fold the flaps at the bottoms of his shoes so that they form a base. Fold the base of the shovel along the dotted line.

Lamprey Pact Sent to Senate

Calls for U.S.-Canadian Commission to Destroy Fish-Killers

WASHINGTON (U) — President Eisenhower sent to the Senate yesterday a U.S.-Canada treaty aimed at clearing the Great Lakes of the fishing-killing sea lamprey.

If the Senate approves the treaty, a joint Great Lakes Fishery Commission would be set up.

This body, composed of three Americans and three Canadians, would direct research and destruction of the eel-like creature which has cost Great Lakes fishermen millions of dollars.

The commission's operations would cover all five of the Great Lakes, Lake St. Clair and the St. Lawrence River from Lake Ontario to the point where it crosses the Canadian border.

In addition to the "urgent" problem of the sea lamprey, a State Department representative said the commission also would carry out research on the need for stocking the Great Lakes.

But he told a reporter this phase of the program would be purely in the form of recommendations. It would be up to the states involved to do the actual stocking.

The two nations plan to kill the millions of sea lampreys, which carry out their destruction chiefly in Lakes Michigan, Huron and Superior, through the use of dams.

The dams—both mechanical and electric—would be erected across tributaries where the lampreys swim in salmon-like fashion to spawn.

Barred by electrically charged water or a mechanical obstruction, the lampreys would die, unable to reach spawning grounds to lay their hundreds of thousands of eggs.

Estimated cost of the dam construction is $2,600,000 for three years. The treaty would remain in effect for 10 years.

Marilyn, Joe Won't Discuss Patch-Up

NEW YORK (U)—Joe DiMaggio and Marilyn Monroe, both in town and friendly though divorced, shy away from discussing any reported reconciliation.

Joe was very happy yesterday about his election to baseball's Hall of Fame. But to all questions concerning Miss Monroe, he said: "I've got nothing whatever to say about Marilyn."

Miss Monroe, staying at another hotel, could not be reached for comment.

Before coming here, the couple were in Boston for several days. There they denied a reconciliation was in the offing, although they dined together and visited with Joe's brother Dom and his family.

Teachers' Turn to Treat After Eating Kids' Snack

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (U)—Sixth-grade pupils at West Lawn School saved their pennies and bought 29 doughnuts for an after-school treat. The doughnuts were placed in the principal's office for safekeeping.

At the end of the day, the kids found only six doughnuts left, seems some teachers had thought they were left over from a parent-teachers meeting and ate them up. That made it teacher's turn to treat.

Ike Asked to Speak at Plowing Contest

WASHINGTON (INS)—Rep. John V. Beamer (R-Ind) has announced that President Eisenhower has been asked to speak again at the National Plowing Contest.

Beamer said he wrote the President at the request of the contest chairman, Arden Strauss of North Manchester, Ind. This year's event is to be held in September in Wabash County, which is in Beamer's district.

The congressman reported that the White House has acknowledged the invitation but said no definite answer has been made because the contest is too far in the future for a definite commitment.

Eisenhower spoke at the 1952 contest when he was a candidate for the presidency.

Guaranteed Wage Seen as Issue in Many Fields

DAYTON, Ohio (U)—Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell says the guaranteed annual wage is likely to be the major problem at bargaining sessions across the nation this year.

Mitchell, here to speak tonight at a national industrial relations meeting, said at a news conference:

"The question of guaranteed wages already has come up in CIO talks, and there is every reason to believe it will come up elsewhere."

About one-half of the total area of New Jersey is devoted to agriculture.

Boats Eyed as Antidote to Nation's Traffic Woes

By PHYLIS BATELLE
NEW YORK (INS)—I being of unsound stomach do not like motor boats. I've discovered when a man says Ahoy Babe, let's go for a spin, he means just that. Nevertheless, I've been following with delight the progress of the just-completed National Motor Boat Show, and the enormous sales of craft resulting therefrom, and for a good reason. I see in motor boats one great potential value to humanity.

Every new boat a-weigh means at least one car is being kept off the streets!

And the more families who put out to sea over weekends, the easier for the rest of us to tie over to grandma's house or the race track of a Saturday or Sunday.

For years now, far-thinking auto owners have cherished the vague dream of ultimately easing the traffic problem in all cities reasonably close to waterways by selling our neighbors on boats. Now, judging from the late sales figures on yachts, cruisers, sloops and make-your-own-canoe kits, it may be a reality sooner than anticipated.

At the motor boat show alone, more than 200,000 potential men, women, children and canine sailors rushed up to New York's Kingsbridge Armory to gawk greedily at the latest wonders of the waves. They not only gawked. They wrote $15,000,000 worth of checks for new boats.

This figure, which represents at least a 10 per cent increase over boat show business, last year, is a mere minuscule of the expected sales this year. The big sportsmen's shows in Boston and Chicago are coming up next week, and Neptune only knows what they will lead to! What does all this mean?

Well, since the boats on display ranged wildly in price from a $47 dinghy to an $88,000 yacht with a 51-foot promenade deck and sleeping accommodations for a Perle Mesta party, it is difficult to estimate how many craft, exactly, were sold. But those in the "boat show know" conclude some 4 to 5 thousand were purchased on the scene.

Now, you know how the average new boat owner acts (if you don't, boy, you've got to see to believe). He will take not only his own family, but friends of the wife, friends of the kids and occasionally even an in-law on long weekend cruises to show off his new pride and buoy.

This means that for each of the 5,000 boats sold, we can count on at least one (and in some cases as many as 5 or 6) family cars being parked dockside on lovely weekend days this summer. These are cars which normally would have been cluttering the highways, having flat tires, running out of gas, moving small-like past golf courses and contributing, in countless other irritating ways, to traffic congestion.

There may appear to be a flaw in my thinking on this matter.

General Motors (they make cars) has been bragging around that the sale of autos, also, is picking up. My optimistic answer to that is: Of course. Those who go down to the sea in ships have got, somehow or other, to get to the shore. But you can count on the hot boating enthusiast to hoist anchor by dawn at the latest and drop it sadly no earlier than sundown. Their portal-to-portal traffic won't bother us sensible midday motorists in the least.

Mail Delivery Ends Journey for Boxholder

LEWISBURG, O. (UP)—John F. Lock has a mail box in front of his house on Rural Route 2 after trying for 52 years to get delivery service.

Lock, 74, said that during the 52 years he has been trying to have a rural route extended to where he lives he walked or drove 6,250 miles in his almost daily trips to a mail box.

Lock said the route was established in 1902 and that he had tried since to have it extended the 1,056 feet to his home.

"We felt that we should have had the extension 20 years ago but always failed in our attempt," Lock said.

Lock got action in June when he wrote his congressman, Rep. William McCulloch then wrote to the Post Office department's regional office in Cincinnati, which sent the matter to the Cincinnati district office, which investigated and approved the extension.

Arizona's tourist business has gained 600 per cent in 10 years.

Aunt Confesses to Beating Boys

Nephew Near Death; Lashed With Belt for Moaning, Groaning

PAULS VALLEY, Okla. (U-P)—A 29-year-old woman told officers she severely beat her 5-year-old nephew with a heavy belt because he "moaned and groaned" all the time.

The boy, Lloyd George Stanley, is near death in University Hospital in Oklahoma City. Attendants say he has 19 rib fractures. His younger brother James Edward, 3, was also brought to the hospital suffering from a severe beating. His condition is not considered serious.

County Atty. Raymond Burger jailed Virginia Thompson and her husband Lawrence, 32.

"If the child dies I am going to file murder charges against Mrs. Thompson," Burger said last night. The husband, an oil field worker, denies any connection with the beatings.

The assault on the two children came to light Tuesday after Mrs. Thompson had tried to "dispose" of the oldest boy to a couple at Ringling, Okla.

Mrs. Thompson said the children belonged to her brother now living in Houston, Tex. She said his wife left him and he couldn't take care of them.

Bride Prefers Jail to Parting With Dog

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (U-P)—A teenage bride who's been in jail the past 10 days has a chance to return to her Portland, Ore., home—but she won't leave without her dog Sandy.

Patricia Messick says she and Sandy have been companions since she was 2.

Yesterday a plane ticket for the 15-year-old girl arrived from her mother but it doesn't include Sandy. There's an air travel charge of $30 on him and St. Joseph residents are trying to raise the money.

The girl and her dog have remained in jail because she was without funds. They're not law-breakers.

Patricia's husband Leo also is in jail, charged with issuing a bad check. He hasn't been able to raise $2,000 bond.

August is the peak month for motor travel in the U. S., but December leads in the number of traffic fatalities.

Hal Boyle Says:

Berlitz' Son Puts English Among Hardest Tongues

NEW YORK (U-P)—When Charles Berlitz was three years old he had learned four languages—and was trying to make up a new one of his own.

His grandfather, father, mother and cousin each spoke to him in a Spanish, French and English.

"I had the idea that every grownup had a different language all his own," he recalled, "and the family had to discourage me from trying to develop one for myself."

When Charles was ready for school his grandfather, Maximilian Berlitz, founder of the Berlitz schools, decided it was time the boy started studying languages seriously. The old gentleman, who started his career as a clockmaker and never attended college himself, had mastered 50 languages.

"From the age of 3 on I was taught a new language—either European or oriental—every year," Charles said.

Today at 40 he is author of a textbook in Swahili and speaks 20 languages ranging from Arabic to Zulu.

"Hardly a drop in the bucket," he said mildly, "when you consider there are some 1,200 languages and 800 dialects in the world."

As vice president of the Berlitz Schools he likes to master personal interest. Right now he's tongues which become of international interest, right now he's brushing up on Quechua, the native language of Indians in the Andes.

"Missionaries and explorers want to learn it—we've had a number of calls for it," he explained. "There's nothing written in it. It's purely a spoken language."

The original Berlitz School, established in Rhode Island in 1878, has expanded to a network of 27 schools in this country, 340 throughout the world. It has had some 17 million students, including such notables as Enrico Caruso, Sinclair Lewis, Andrew Kostelanetz, Leon Trotsky, Nelson Rockefeller, the Duchess of Windsor and Eleanor Roosevelt.

The schools, which specialize in teaching a spoken vocabulary of a foreign language in a short time, are widely used by major international business firms and governments.

"A private student by working two hours a day can learn a language in about three months," Berlitz said. "Our basic course includes about 1,500 words, but you'd be amazed how many people get along in English and use only 500 words."

"Under pressure we have taught oil workers being sent to Indonesia a working knowledge of Malay in two weeks. They had to work six hours a day at it, but in two weeks they could make their graduation speech in Malay."

Interest in speaking foreign languages has never been greater in the United States, Berlitz estimates that some 3,000,000 Americans have learned in recent years to speak a language other than English.

"Spanish is still the favorite, followed by French," he said. "Right after the war many people wanted to learn Russian. Now more are interested in German."

Berlitz says Chinese is the hardest language to learn to write. It has 60,000 separate word signs. But Basque is generally regarded as the hardest to speak.

"The Spanish have a proverb: 'When God wished to punish the devil, he sentenced him for six years to do nothing but study Basque."

"But the hardest language to learn to speak without a noticeable accent is English, because it has few rules of accent."

WASHINGTON (U-P)—President Paul E. Magloire of Haiti addresses a joint session of Congress today as the first visiting chief of state this year.

With Mrs. Magloire, he was entertained by President and Mrs. Eisenhower last night at a state dinner, and spent the night at the White House. He came to Washington yesterday with an official party of 20 on the start of a 6,000-mile tour of this country, Canada and Jamaica.

Canada Conducts Nationwide TV Test to Determine Video's Role in Schools

DRAMA FOR THE SCHOOLROOM—Christopher Columbus (right), portrayed by Canadian TV actor Barry Morse, and his first mate face mutineers in drama telecast to Canadian schools.

TORONTO (NEA)—Will TV receivers in classrooms change the role of the teacher and some day largely replace her? Exactly how will they fit into programs of schools of the future?

A large-scale official experiment just ended in Canada may lead to some of the answers.

While tests in the U. S. and Britain have only included a handful of cities, the one conducted here for a month was national.

Two afternoons a week, children in 200 schools turned their attention to video screens. They saw programs on current events, history, art, science, safety and literature.

Half the programs were aimed at pupils in grades five and six, the rest at the seventh and eighth grades. Five of the shows were "live," three were prepared on film, and practically all were dramatized by professional actors. A typical televised lesson was "How Columbus Navigated." This showed the actual types of instruments Columbus used on his voyage and how he showed mutinous shipmates he knew he wasn't lost.

The school broadcast section of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. searched museums throughout the world to find the original instruments, then made exact reproductions.

The programs were carried by 19 stations and none lasted longer than 20 minutes. A sampling of topics: Traffic safety; iron ore field development in northern Quebec and Labrador; an historical house in Toronto; new techniques in art in connection with patterns for clothing and furniture, and a famous children's book chapter.

Canada's external affairs minister, Lester R. Pearson, took part in a lesson on current events showing the nation's part in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

TV manufacturers installed receivers in 80 schools. Some 120 other schools arranged for sets of their own.

Manuals on how to prepare for the lessons and conduct them were distributed to the teachers. Some followed them up by having their pupils make the things they had seen, such as working models of instruments used by Columbus. Official reports on the test will take some time to prepare. But an inkling of how it came off is given by R. S. Lambert, who directed the project for CBS.

Lambert and his staff visited schools in Ontario to note reactions of pupils and found them enthusiastic.

"The child mind is very receptive to television," Lambert reports. "They see much more than we expect and much more quickly."

Canada's educators will want to make many more tests to learn the best ways to use TV. But most are convinced already that the program has merit.

And many are willing to bet that the day will come when video is as commonplace in schools as erasers and blackboards.

Mississippi Moves to Equalize Schools

JACKSON, Miss. (U.P.) — The Mississippi Legislature took the first step toward equalizing Negro and white schools this week when the Senate approved a 60 million-dollar bond issue and the House upped cigarette taxes to help pay for it.

The boost in cigarette taxes from four to five cents a pack is estimated to produce $1,300,000 annually. Addition of a tax on snuff and chewing tobacco — the first of its kind — will produce another $300,000.

The taxes are part of a program designed to bring in an extra 20 million dollars a year to raise the minimum standards of white schools and make Negro schools equal.

Unable to Pay Alimony; Broke, Producer Says

LOS ANGELES (U.P.) — Actress Judy Garland's husband Sid Luft claims he's broke and living on borrowed money.

A former wife, actress Lynn Bari, asked that he be held in contempt because he hadn't bought a $10,000 educational endowment policy for their son John, 5, as ordered by another court. The contempt charge was dismissed.

Luft testified he was broke, that Miss Garland didn't earn anything last year and that his producer's share of profits from her "A Star Is Born" hadn't started to come in yet.

Truman Nears Goal in Library Campaign

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (INS) — Former President Truman says there will be no difficulty in raising the $750,000 balance needed for the Harry S. Truman Memorial Library to be erected in his hometown of Independence.

"More than one million dollars has been contributed," he said, "and as soon as the architect's plans are finished we will let the contract and start to work within 30 or 60 days. When construction starts, the work will go right along."

Thus the former President dream — of establishing an historical research center at the gateway to the old West — finally nears fulfillment. He hopes it will be used extensively by students in the 83 colleges and universities within a 300-mile radius of Independence.

Atomic Debris Useful for Weather Research

NEW YORK (INS) — A Weather Bureau scientist states that debris in the atmosphere from atomic explosions is proving to be a valuable tool in meteorological research.

Dr. Lester Machta told the American Meteorological Society meeting at New York University that atomic debris — dust, radioactive particles and sometimes snow or raindrops formed from atomic clouds — can be used as a tracer. The weatherman, with aid of the tracer, can tell how accurate their predicted air paths actually are.

Man, Badly Burned, Lies Alone 3 Weeks

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (U.P.) — A man who lay helpless with heavy burns for three weeks before discovery has been hospitalized here in critical condition.

Victor J. Killiany, 69, who lives alone, was discovered yesterday in his small Cambridge country home by a neighbor.

From his bed in Guernsey Memorial Hospital he told authorities he managed to keep alive by eating bits of bread after a kerosene stove exploded, burning his entire body.

President Grover Cleveland rejected an appeal in 1893 to have Hawaii annexed to the United States.

Prisoners' Guests Run Afoul Law on Jail Visits

DELAND, Fla. (U.P.) — If you have relatives in jail, it might be wiser to write them than to visit them.

Fred Alderman came to the jail here recently to visit his parents and sister, who had been arrested on lottery charges. Alderman promptly was arrested for drunkenness.

A few minutes later Bertha Carter dropped by to visit her husband. She was arrested on a charge of driving without a license.

Both Alderman and Mrs. Carter declined the opportunity to stay and keep their relatives company. They paid bonds and departed.

7th Fleet Commander Comes Up Through Ranks

Editor's Accusation, Probe Rock Gambling Operators

(This is another in the series of articles by Bob Considine telling the fantastic story of Las Vegas, capital of legalized gambling in the U.S.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

LAS VEGAS (INS) — Last October, Hank Greenspun, who runs the Las Vegas Morning Sun, once held a minor interest in the Desert Inn and is part owner of a "strip" motel needed, some help in a hurry.

The Las Vegas editor had publicly accused Clark County (Las Vegas) Sheriff Glen Jones of owning an interest in Roxie's Motel, a disreputable spot at Formyle, just south of Vegas. Jones, up for reelection, ran last in a field of five in the primary. He sued Greenspun for $1,000,000, charging libel.

Greenspun countered by bringing to Las Vegas one of the most remarkable characters in modern police work, a mysterious soul named Pierre Lafitte, who proudly traces his lineage back to the famed privateer and smuggler.

Lafitte is a bustling little man whose story would fill a thick book. He is, by trade, an undercover investigator and there are those at the FBI and in various major police departments who will swear he's tops in his field.

Once in Las Vegas, Lafitte was put up in style at El Rancho Vegas, registered under the name Louis Tabet, and arranged to meet the manager of Roxie's, Dick Kellogg.

Tabet said he wanted to buy a chunk of Roxie's. He was introduced to Mrs. Roxie and Eddie Clipping, principal owners, and they talked. Tabet had a microphone in his wrist watch and a recording device strapped under his shirt. He came away with such information as the amounts Sheriff Jones was reportedly paid for protection, and the motel's receipts for a typical month — $77,000 — which inferred a million dollar a year business.

He demanded assurance of the protection before he'd put out his money. Tabet said, Kellogg brought in Sheriff Jones and two county commissioners to confer with the supposed hoodlum from the east.

Protection payoff fees were decided upon, and as a binder, the tax commission was told, the sheriff accepted a $375 television set (later seized in his home by district attorney Roger Foley) and one of the bribes — a $450 geiger counter for prospecting for uranium.

That much arranged, Tabet began talking at a second conference of buying into a gambling casino. He said he had lost interest in Roxie's (which has since been closed).

All of that conference was recorded via a mike hidden in the folds of a window drape.

Subsequently, Tabet said, he was told that gambling involved another kind of "fix." He said Kellogg told him he'd have to line himself up with former Lt. Governor Cliff Jones — (no relation to Glen Jones.) Former Lt. Gov. Jones had just been named Democratic national committee man for Nevada, over the strenuous objections of numerous rank and filers. He is no longer national committee man. He resigned "for party harmony" in November, having held office only six weeks.

At this point, Greenspun called in district attorney Foley, who assigned Gordon Hawkins of his staff to monitor the recordings of the stealthy adventure.

Jones was portrayed by Tabet as assuring him he'd get a gambling license without any trouble, "after the election."

Tabet said Jones went on to explain that former governor Vail Pittman was going to be elected over the incumbent, Charles H. Russell, which in turn would mean that crusading Robbins Cahill, Nevada's foremost champion of clean gambling, would be fired from his key job as secretary of the Nevada State Tax Commission — the license body.

Jones, according to Tabet, hinted broadly that once those things came to pass he, Jones, would be in the saddle.

Then, said Tabet, Jones in an apparent attempt to impress him, bragged that he was "partners" with Jake and Meyer Lansky in the Thunderbird, which he praised as "the smoothest run place on the 'strip.'" Jones owns 11 per cent of the hotel and casino, and has pieces of other Las Vegas properties.

Jake and Meyer Lansky are to the Kefauver reports what Custer and Sitting Bull were to the battle of the Little Big Horn.

Jones told him, Tabet related, that it would cost him a little money, of course, and to decide on the amount he (Jones) promised to send along, his law partner, Louis Weiner, for another talk. The tape recorder was in fine fettle when Weiner called on Tabet in his flower-decked suite at El Rancho Vegas. By this time Tabet had convinced the men he was dealing with that he had lost interest in Roxie's and now wanted only a gambling place and the Las Vegas Sun, Greenspun's newspaper.

Weiner was happy over Jones' new post in Democratic circles.

"When Pittman is in," Weiner said, "Cliff is the top dog in the state."

This fellow Russell is nobody. When Pittman is in and changes that commission and sits on that himself, you got no problem."

Called before the state tax commission, and questioned by Special Counsel E. Frandsen Loomis, Weiner shrugged and said, "If you have a tape recording of my voice taken at the El Rancho I presume I said what it says."

Pittman, to whose campaign fund big "strip" operators contributed $42,000, took a beating from the underdog Russell in the November elections — held at the height of the furor over the charges of gangster ownership, corruption, and the association of trusted public officials with known hoodlums.

Marion B. Hicks, president of the Thunderbird, vigorously denied that the Lansky were part owners.

On Dec. 1, the state's gambling control agency at Carson City ordered the Thunderbird Hotel to show why its license should not be revoked or suspended.

The seven-man commission, headed by the triumphant Russell, also voted to investigate charges by Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, that remnants of the Capone gang have interests in certain Las Vegas and Reno gambling places.

A week before this, Sheriff Glen Jones and Clark County Commissioner Rodney Colton were arraigned in Las Vegas. District Judge Frank McNamee released Sheriff Jones on $1,000 bond. Colton posted a $25,000 bond.

The men had been indicted by a grand jury which based its action on the tape recordings and the testimony of Hawkins who monitored them. It was further charged that in addition to the TV set, which was impounded, Jones was promised $5,000 in cash and $1,000 a month until his term expired. Colton assertedly was promised $10,000 in cash and the aforementioned geiger counter.

Lafitte, alias Louis Tabet, disappeared from town as quietly as he had entered. His fee unannounced, Greenspun, the "strip" says, emerged as a power. None of the bigger operators seems very happy about this.

The big operators would wish that Las Vegas were portrayed simply as a clean, sweetly-fragrant resort, noted for its fine desert air, the fishing in nearby Lake Mead, winter sports on Mount Charleston, great dude ranches, golf on the Desert Inn's fine course, beautiful hotels, stupendous floor shows, reasonable rates and . . . if you must . . . gambling at honest tables and wheels.

Las Vegas indeed has all these things. And the A-bomb testing ground at Yucca Flat, to boot. But deep beneath the tinsel it has its troubles, its worries, its inherent leaning to "fix" rather than fix.

(Tomorrow: the business side of gambling and what it has meant to the state of Nevada, where it is as legal as churchgoing. A look at second generation of operators, free of hoodlum backgrounds.)

Radio Europe Gets $250,000 From Ford Co.

DETROIT — A gift of $250,000 to help carry the message of the free world to people in Iron Curtain nations was announced yesterday by Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co.

The gift, made by the Ford Motor Co. Fund, will go to the 1955 Crusade for Freedom to support Radio Free Europe in its year-around broadcasts to Communist-dominated nations.

Ford, who is board chairman of the American Heritage Foundation, sponsor of the annual crusade campaign, urged full support from private citizens, business firms, labor organizations and civic groups.

"Radio Free Europe is engaged in a hard-hitting, round-the-clock campaign to bring the truth to those who would otherwise know only the distortions and lies of Red propagandists," he said.

"Every dollar counts in this determined and successful effort to bring hope and confidence to imprisoned millions whose love of freedom can be no less than our own."

Carrier Midway Believed on Way to Formosa Area

SINGAPORE — U. S. naval sources said today the scheduled visit here of the 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Midway has been canceled, apparently to speed the big ship on her way to duty with American naval forces concentrated around Formosa.

The Midway, which has been making calls at various ports on her way to join the U.S. 7th Fleet, had been scheduled to arrive here Feb. 4 for a two-day stay. Naval officials said she now is "heading north."

The Midway is one of the three largest carriers in commission. She is exceeded only by the still-building Forrestal class.

The 7th Fleet, which is expected to cover the withdrawal of the Nationalist Chinese garrison from the Tachens, now has attached to it the 33,100-ton carriers Wasp, Yorktown and Kearsarge and the 27,000-ton Essex. The Midway had been slated to replace one of these craft.

Meanwhile, four U.S. destroyers cut short a courtesy stay here today, touching off speculation they might be on their way to rejoin the 7th Fleet. But naval sources said the destroyers—the Brownson, S. B. Roberts, Charles H. Roan and Forrest Royal — presumably were continuing their voyage to the United States after service in Korean waters as originally intended.

Six in Downed C54 Saved by Coast Guard Crewmen

NEW YORK — All hands were safe today aboard a Coast Guard cutter which had raced to a radio-guided rendezvous with a military plane forced to ditch into the stormy Atlantic more than 800 miles east of Bermuda.

Rain slashed into a running sea a couple of hours before darkness yesterday when the cutter Coos Bay contacted a four-engine military Air Transport Service C54 with six crewmen and two passengers aboard.

The pilot of the plane, bound from the Azores to Bermuda, shortly before had radioed the U.S. Air Force base at Bermuda that he was running out of fuel 1,000 miles east of that island, bucking vicious headwinds and had no hope of reaching land.

The 311-foot Coos Bay, on mid-ocean patrol and itself battling 13-foot waves and 40-knot winds, was informed.

Forest P. Sherman Is Designed for Quick Output in War

WASHINGTON — The lead ship of the Navy's first new line of all-purpose destroyers since World War II will be unveiled next week with the launching of the USS Forest P. Sherman.

The widow of Adm. Sherman, who was chief of naval operations at the time of his death in 1951, will christen the ship Feb. 5 at the yards of the Bath, Maine, iron works. The vessel has been designed as a prototype that can be reproduced rapidly by the hundreds if war comes.

Ten other destroyers of the new class are building, five at Bath and five at the Quincy, Mass., yards of the Bethlehem Steel Corp.

The navy has described the new ships as "fast, flexible and potent." Their speed, still a secret, will be more than the 35 knots of existing ships of this type. They will also be somewhat larger than the World War II 2,425-tonners, but little heavier, because aluminum alloys are being used for most of the superstructure.

Experts, including interior decorators and color scheme artists, worked to make the destroyers as habitable and comfortable as a 390-foot vessel can be while housing some 350 people.

They will be air conditioned throughout. The galleys have been arranged so that the crews can get hot food and eat it on tables near the source of preparation. Recreational areas in the mess-rooms will be fitted out with chairs and writing desks.

Sleeping quarters have been moved around so that they are relatively free from noise, heat and vibration.

There will be perforated metal partitions between bunks, each of which will have individually controlled reading lights. In the wash-rooms, each man will have a private drawer.

Start Library Drive

KALAMAZOO — M. E. Malone and Mrs. Kenneth Crawford have been named co-chairmen of a committee of 38 citizens organized to start a campaign for a new million-dollar library. Interest in the project gained impetus recently with announcement of a $25,000 bequest for a library from the estate of Winifred Dewing Wallace.

DIAL M FOR MAMA—Four-month-old Roselita Spickelmier, who is probably the youngest telephone subscriber to be listed in the 1955 phone book, gets a big kick out of the dial tone but doesn't seem to know where to go from there. Roselita's mother, a Seattle, Wash., veteran's widow, had the tot listed next to her own name in honor of her dead husband. She said: "Roselita's all I have left. I can't list his name but I can hers."

'Abolish War, Champion Patriotism,' Is MacArthur's Challenge to World

LOS ANGELES — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, a soldier for more than half a century, gave the world today a ringing challenge to abolish war.

But in fierce championship of America he cried out that "seductive murmurs are arising that patriotism is outmoded," and he demanded:

"Listen not to these voices, be they from the one political party or from the other, from the high and mighty or the lowly and forgotten. Visit them with scorn. Repudiate them in the marketplace, on the platform or in the pulpit."

The conqueror of Japan and draftsman of its peace, who was recalled from his Far Eastern command in 1951, observed his 75th birthday anniversary in Los Angeles yesterday. With Mrs. MacArthur constantly by his side, he went through a tiring day of three speeches, adulation of the crowds and dedication of a statue of himself and monument in his honor at the city's MacArthur Park.

He flies back to New York today to resume his business life as board chairman of the Remington-Rand Corp.

In his speech last night at a civic banquet sponsored by the American Legion, he said:

"War has become a Frankenstein to destroy both sides. No longer is it the weapon of adventure whereby a short cut to international power and wealth—a place in the sun—can be gained. If you lose, you are annihilated. If you win, you stand only to lose."

He said war now contains "the germs of double suicide" and "the great question is, Does this mean that war can now be outlawed from the world? If so, it would mark the greatest advance in civilization since the Sermon on the Mount."

Ban Below-Cost Sales of Food, Retailers Ask

DETROIT — More than 3,000 Michigan food dealers have agreed to sponsor a bill which would outlaw below cost selling by forcing a 6 per cent markup over invoice costs on all sales.

The dealers, members of the Michigan Retail Food Dealers Assn., adopted a resolution endorsing such a bill yesterday at the group's 57th annual convention.

William R. Keasey, secretary-manager of the association, said the bill would be introduced in the Michigan Legislature in about two weeks by a legislator as yet unnamed.

Keasey said the measure also will contain a provision to force wholesalers to take at least a 2 per cent markup over the manufacturer's price and include a 1/4 of 1 per cent allowance for cartage.

The food dealers also went on record in favor of a bill, already introduced in the Legislature, which would repeal the 10 tax on each store in a chain up to 25 stores and $250 on each store in excess of 25. Keasey said independent grocers feel they no longer need the protection of the tax on chain stores.

"Listen not to these voices, be they from the one political party or from the other, from the high and mighty or the lowly and forgotten. Visit them with scorn. Repudiate them in the marketplace, on the platform or in the pulpit."

The conqueror of Japan and draftsman of its peace, who was recalled from his Far Eastern command in 1951, observed his 75th birthday anniversary in Los Angeles yesterday. With Mrs. MacArthur constantly by his side, he went through a tiring day of three speeches, adulation of the crowds and dedication of a statue of himself and monument in his honor at the city's MacArthur Park.

He flies back to New York today to resume his business life as board chairman of the Remington-Rand Corp.

In his speech last night at a civic banquet sponsored by the American Legion, he said:

"War has become a Frankenstein to destroy both sides. No longer is it the weapon of adventure whereby a short cut to international power and wealth—a place in the sun—can be gained. If you lose, you are annihilated. If you win, you stand only to lose."

Ban Below-Cost Sales of Food, Retailers Ask

DETROIT — More than 3,000 Michigan food dealers have agreed to sponsor a bill which would outlaw below cost selling by forcing a 6 per cent markup over invoice costs on all sales.

The dealers, members of the Michigan Retail Food Dealers Assn., adopted a resolution endorsing such a bill yesterday at the group's 57th annual convention.

William R. Keasey, secretary-manager of the association, said the bill would be introduced in the Michigan Legislature in about two weeks by a legislator as yet unnamed.

Keasey said the measure also will contain a provision to force wholesalers to take at least a 2 per cent markup over the manufacturer's price and include a 1/4 of 1 per cent allowance for cartage.

The food dealers also went on record in favor of a bill, already introduced in the Legislature, which would repeal the 10 tax on each store in a chain up to 25 stores and $250 on each store in excess of 25. Keasey said independent grocers feel they no longer need the protection of the tax on chain stores.

'Abolish War, Champion Patriotism,' Is MacArthur's Challenge to World

LOS ANGELES — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, a soldier for more than half a century, gave the world today a ringing challenge to abolish war.

But in fierce championship of America he cried out that "seductive murmurs are arising that patriotism is outmoded," and he demanded:

"Listen not to these voices, be they from the one political party or from the other, from the high and mighty or the lowly and forgotten. Visit them with scorn. Repudiate them in the marketplace, on the platform or in the pulpit."

Formosa Action His Command

He's Only Admiral Who Never Attended Naval Academy

TAIPEH, Formosa — The one and only U.S. combat vice admiral who never went to Annapolis commands the U.S. 7th Fleet on guard in the waters around Formosa.

He is Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride who joined the Navy 37 years ago as an enlisted man.

A onetime navy test pilot, he is a bald, 57-year-old grandfather with a light red mustache and a twinkle in his gray eyes—a family man and a churchgoer.

His subordinates say he is tolerant, understanding, good-tempered and relaxed at leisure, and quietly intense but unruffled at work.

He has a sense of humor and never misses anything. Once, on hearing the strong language of a young enlisted sailor, he remarked: "How such young boys could learn so much foul language in such a short time I'll never know."

While he is "easy to know—not the dominating type," as one officer phrased it, he commands the full respect of his men.

He is of medium height, robust and muscular. He does not use tobacco. In drinks, he limits himself to two cocktails; takes them only to be sociable.

"I've never seen such a conscientious man—he's always worrying about the taxpayers' money," said a fellow officer.

Pride, the officer added, pays from his own pocket for many entertainment expenses he feels he cannot charge legitimately to the government.

The initial M. stands for Melville and the only nickname he has ever had is Mel. Only his closest friends call him that.

Pride was born in Somerville, Mass., Sept. 10, 1897. He attended engineering school at Tufts College before he enlisted in the U.S. Naval Reserve early in 1917 as a machinist mate, second class.

He transferred to the regular service in 1921 and in the '20s became a naval test pilot. His left leg was broken in a crash. It has never been the same since.

Pride has checked out in almost everything the Navy has to fly, including helicopters. He still is an active flier.

Only two days ago he was at the controls of an RAD, the Navy version of the twin-engine military transport plane, on a flight from Taipei to Tainan in southern Formosa and back.

He commanded first a bombing and then a fighting squadron on the Langley, the Navy's first carrier, and held various assignments in the United States.

In 1943 he assumed command of the newly commissioned carrier Belleau Wood and served with distinction in the Pacific. In 1944 he was promoted to rear admiral and assigned to duty at Pearl Harbor.

Duty in Washington and at sea followed until May 1947, when he was appointed chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics in Washington.

He was named commander of Carrier Division 2 in 1951 and the next year was made commander of the naval air test center at Patuxent River, Md.

He assumed command of the 7th Fleet with the rank of vice admiral Dec. 1, 1953.

Toll Highway Through Pontiac Says Loan Now Would Save on Turnpike Construction

LANSING — An eventual saving of around $6,500,000 would result if the Michigan Turnpike Authority is allowed to borrow $13,000,000 on a short term loan now for its first toll road project, legislators were told yesterday.

Justin Whiting of Jackson, chairman of the Board of Consumers Power Co. and authority member, said he was almost certain the short term loan would be available.

The money would be used for preliminary work on the proposed toll road from Rockwood to Saginaw via Dearborn, Birmingham, Pontiac, and Flint.

Whiting appeared before the Joint Legislative Highway Committee to explain the proposal, contained in a Senate bill.

Whiting said $3,109,737 would be saved immediately in interest on the proposed $184,500,000 bond issue to finance the entire project.

He said borrowing the 13 million now would cut the eventual bond issue down to around 77

SOLID COMFORT—Colvin Sykes of Pittsfield, Mass., has the right idea. In order to better enjoy an ice fishing derby near his home, Sykes took along a folding rocking chair, some light reading and a picnic lunch. He also came up with 12 perch.

Decide Cadillac as Jet Base Site

Air Force Will Request House to Free Money for Construction

WASHINGTON (U)—Air Force officials say they will ask the House Appropriations Committee to release $4 million dollars for construction of a jet air base near Cadillac.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), chairman of the committee, earlier this month ordered the money held up after he learned the sum was granted by the last Congress to build the base near Homestead in Benzie County.

The House Armed Services Committee rejected the Benzie site after Congress had acted. Air Force Secretary Talbot then picked Cadillac — in Wexford County — over the third site under consideration — Kalkaska near Traverse City.

A letter written by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee strengthened Air Force support of the Cadillac site. Vinson wrote Rep. Thompson (R-Mich) and Rep. Knox (R-Mich) that his committee would not hear any arguments against Cadillac unless they relate to national defense.

The Homestead and Cadillac sites are in Miss Thompson's district. The Kalkaska site is in Knox's district.

UM Extension Classes to Start Here Next Week

Extension courses offered by the University of Michigan will start Feb. 1 and 2 in Washington Junior High School.

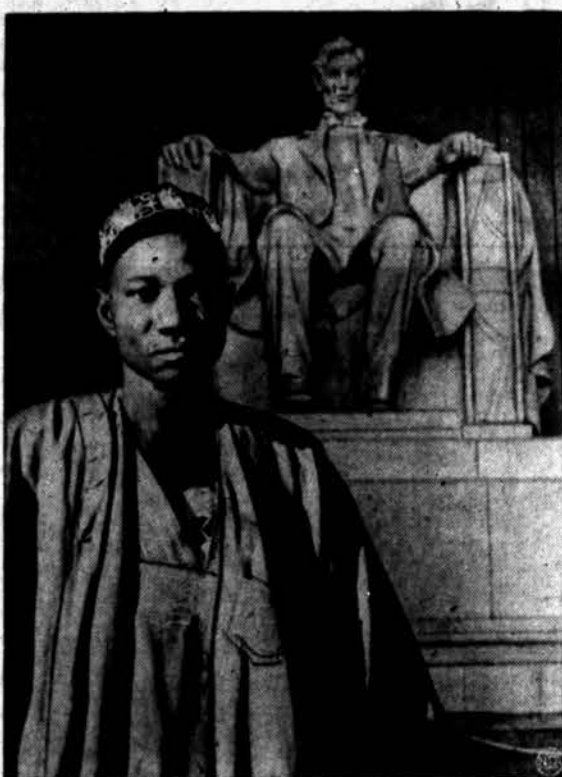

Classes, on both the graduate and undergraduate levels, in education and sociology will be given each week through May 23.

An education course in the psychology of child development starts Feb. 1 at 4:30 p.m. This covers a systematic presentation of facts and generalizations concerning the growth of children from birth to maturity, emphasizing the "whole child."

A class in sociological principles and problems begins at 7:30 p.m. This is an introduction to the mode and procedure of sociological explanation in its major fields of theory and application.

Two education courses are scheduled for Feb. 2, one in the visual-sensory aids in education at 4:30, and the 7:30 class covering the philosophy of education.

Registrations will be taken at the class sessions. Classes will be two hours long.

FIGHTING FOR A SIMILAR CAUSE—The Tolon Na, Yakubu Tall, attending the Moral Rearmament Assembly in Washington, D. C., represents over one million people from Africa's Gold Coast. Standing in front of the Lincoln Memorial, he said: "What Abraham Lincoln did for America, moral rearmament is doing for Africa." Over 1250 delegates from 51 countries are attending the assembly.

Boy Steals $1,025 for Mom to Spend

HARBOR BEACH (U)—Police Chief Donald G. Chamberlain says a 10-year-old Harbor Beach boy has admitted stealing $1,025 from three business places and giving it to his mother, who promptly spent it.

Chamberlain said the money, all in currency, was taken during business hours from cash registers at the Robert Juth Auto Sales Agency, the Esther Wright Beauty Shop and the Topping and Hazel Farm Implement Store. All are in this town area community.

The boy's mother admitted yesterday she spent the money knowing her son had stolen it, Chamberlain said. She was released until police decide what charge to file against her.

The boy was turned over to Huron County juvenile authorities.

Accident Ends Custom

FREMONT, Ohio (U)—Police will no longer stop trucks to solicit drivers to purchase tickets for the annual policeman's ball. Mayor John Collins put an end to the Police Department's 19-year custom yesterday after Patrolman Harry Grabenstetter, 27, was struck by an automobile while standing in the middle of a street stopping trucks.

Men's Fashion Woes Blamed on Gals' Tastes

DETROIT (UP)—The trouble with men's fashions is women, a group of men's clothing experts moaned today.

The experts, among the 300 at the 45th annual meeting of the Michigan Apparel Club, said male clothing is primarily styled to catch the feminine eye.

"After all," complained one representative, "women purchase 85 per cent of men's clothing. If we want to sell our goods, even if men have to wear the clothes."

Another salesman said the only way to get women out of men's clothing was for the men to get together and agree on a fashion dictator, like the women's Christian Dior.

"What the men of this country need," he said, "is a strongman to dictate male clothing styles."

But since the strongman hasn't appeared, the fashion experts admitted their exhibits of male spring and summer clothes were deliberately styled to please women.

Teachers' Auto Hits School Bus

3 Instructors, 3 Pupils Injured in Crash Near Prescott, Mich.

PRESCOTT (U)—Three Richland Township school children and three of their teachers were injured near here yesterday in the collision of an automobile and a school bus loaded with 40 to 45 children.

The crash hurled the bus into a snow-filled ditch along M70, two miles north of this northeastern Michigan community.

The front end of the vehicle was badly battered and the engine was knocked loose from the frame. The children, however, suffered only minor injuries. Three were treated by a doctor and released. The others escaped with bruises.

The three teachers all were riding in the automobile. Edwin Schiel, 33, the driver, and Clifford Snyder, another teacher, were hospitalized. Mrs. Mary Myas, the third teacher, suffered a fractured wrist.

Peter L. Currie Jr., of Prescott, driver of the bus, said he made a stop at the intersection and had started to cross the state highway when the accident occurred.

Schiel's car also was badly damaged and knocked off the highway. Police are continuing their investigation.

Dulles Presents Award to Kalamazoo Essayist

WASHINGTON (U)—Secretary of State Dulles yesterday presented a gold medal and a $500 savings bond to Mary Margaret Boyen of Kalamazoo, with the comment that he is glad to see young people take interest in world peace problems.

Miss Doyen, a freshman at DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., won a high school essay competition over 325,000 other students. The annual competition is sponsored by Lawrence S. Meyers, president of L. & C. Meyers Co. of New York city.

Miss Doyen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Doyen.

Air Officer Points Up Threat of Red Attack

DAYTON, Ohio (U) — The Air Force vice chief of staff says Russia is stockpiling "tremendously destructive nuclear weapons" and a bomber fleet capable of striking North America.

Gen. Thomas D. White said, "This threat is not in the future, it is here today and it is real." In a speech delivered to a Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner last night, Gen. White said he believed U.S. military leaders would be remiss in their duty if they did not call attention to the "urgency and terrible reality of the situation."

Gen. White said the primary problem of the Air Force now is shortage of trained men. He said the re-enlistment rate has dropped under 30 per cent, and is below 15 per cent among experienced technicians.

Howell Man Aboard A-Sub on First Run

GROTON, Conn. (U) — The submarine base today disclosed the names of the 162 naval personnel and civilians aboard the history making shakedown cruise of the world's first atomic submarine — the Nautilus.

The cruise which lasted 50 hours began Jan. 17.

Some of the naval personnel listed below were not aboard when Nautilus made her second cruise under nuclear power. This lasted from Jan. 20 to 24.

Enlisted Navy personnel from Michigan on the original cruise included: Edward C. Harris, Howell; Aage C. Jensen, Muskegon; John J. Krawczyk, Detroit, and Edwin H. Roemer, St. Johns.

In 1900 nearly two-thirds of U. S. men over 65 were working or hunting jobs, but in 1950 less than half were doing so, says the Twentieth Century Fund.

Geiger Counter Makes Physics Lab Popular

CEDAR CITY, Utah (U) — Since they got a Geiger counter and distance scale for the high school physics lab here, they can't keep students away.

Wilford Clark, head of the school's chemistry-physics department, says the southern Utah uranium fever seems to be behind it. The students have been bringing in a piecemeal avalanche of rocks for tests as to their possible radioactivity, he reported yesterday.

Hailstones up to one pound in weight have been reported.

Weekend Meat Specials Should Please All Tastes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's something to appeal to every taste in the meat specials planned by the nation's food stores for the coming weekend.

The favorite "good buys" are pot roast, chuck roast, smoked hams, loins of pork and legs of lamb. However, all of these meats won't be featured in any one store, so you'll have to shop around a bit.

Scattered stores also plan to feature items like round roast, ribs of beef, lamb chops, capons, turkeys and various kinds of steaks.

In the wholesale markets, beef continued firm this week while pork and lamb prices ran around the same as a week ago. Thus there hasn't been much change overall in the retail prices of these items, except where they have been chosen as weekend specials.

Lamb prices are now around year-ago levels, but they are expected to go higher in the months ahead because the flock is about 4 per cent smaller than in 1954.

Asked his opinion of the best value in meats for the weekend, one buyer for a big chain said he'd recommend pot roast. It provides hearty eating with little waste, he commented.

Egg prices are going higher after being on a bargain counter for months. One large group of stores is hiking prices 2 to 4 cents a dozen this week.

Egg-laying flocks are smaller than a year ago and Agriculture Secretary Benson has observed that "we can foresee the end of the cost-price squeeze" that has plagued producers in recent months.

If you find a certain sameness in available vegetables, blame it on the season of the year. Produce men say that potatoes, old crop cabbage, onions and turnips are the outstanding buys again this week. And on the list of good buys are pascal celery, peppers, greens, spinach, new crop cabbage, topped carrots and iceberg lettuce.

Bunched carrots, broccoli and green squash went up in price this week while tomatoes and cucumbers moved a little lower. Green beans are described as irregular in quality and condition. Cucumber quality is not too good either.

Worthwhile buys in fruits include limes, oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, Emperor grapes, apples and avocados.

Asks King Size Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Republican Rep. Robert E. Zeller has introduced a measure in the State Legislature to raise the tax on "king-size" cigarettes from 2 to 3 cents a pack. Zeller himself smokes neither long nor regular-size cigarettes. He rolls his own.

Secretaries All Around

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit's Common Council has agreed that each council member should have his own private secretary. The council approved the hiring of four more secretaries for a total cost of $21,604. At present there are five council secretaries.

Post Office Quashes Chain Letter Bonds

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (U)—A get-rich-quick savings bond scheme operating here has been quashed, postal authorities announced yesterday.

The scheme, another version of the old chain letter plan, extended to those taking part in the hope of getting up to $38,000 for an investment of $37.50.

Postmaster Thomas Simpson said he had received official notification from Washington that bonds purchased in furtherance of the scheme are nonnegotiable, and called on residents to sign pledges they won't accept any bonds through the mails henceforth.

Searchers Find Tot Who Yearned for Choo-Choo

PLAINVILLE, Conn. (U)—Three-year-old Tommy Frac woke up from his afternoon nap yesterday with a yen to "go see choo-choo twains."

Tommy got to the tracks and waited, but no trains came.

At 12:30 a.m. today, more than seven hours later, three policemen in a 200-member searching party found Tommy curled up on a railroad tie, fast asleep in 30-degree cold.

A freight train was due to pass the spot at 4 a.m.

The tot had wandered three miles from home.

How did he stand up to his adventure?

"Oh, fine," said a Bradley Memorial Hospital spokesman. He's resting comfortably, and the last time we looked he was fast asleep—this time in a bed."

Tommy is being held at the hospital 24 hours for observation. Tommy's mother, Mrs. Louis Frac, said she dressed her boy in a snow suit and sent him out to play after his nap.

"He's always talking about wanting to go see choo-choo twains which come by on and off," she said.

"Well, I guess he just got going and going, looking for the trains. Thank goodness he's safe."

California Acquires Historic Documents

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—A collection of California manuscripts long regarded as the finest private collection of its type and spanning more than 200 years of the state's history has been acquired by the University of California.

The collection, assembled by the late Thomas W. Norris, Livermore, Calif., businessman and civic leader who died in 1952, is considered "the greatest body of original materials on early California to reach the university since the purchase of the original Bancroft Library in 1905," according to Dr. George P. Hammond, director of the famed western historical and literary research center.

Notable among its approximately 3,000 items are some 300 letters and papers of Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo dating from 1824 to 1888, three manuscripts of John Sutter telling of life at his New Helvetia outpost and picturing gold rush times, three Lincoln manuscripts, all relating to California, mission correspondence, 1772-1842, signed by padre presidents and comisario prefectos; papers of early American rule in California and correspondence of the prominent early San Franciscans.

To Replace 1826 Home

PHOENIX MILLS, N. Y. (UP)—Otsego County is looking forward to having a new county home—for the first time since 1826. Plans are in the works for a $1,000,000 structure to replace the six ancient existing buildings.

SPEEDSTER—Scott Crossfield, of Berkeley, Calif., first man to fly twice the speed of sound, will receive the Lawrence Sperry aviation award for 1954. The Institute of Aeronautical Science will make the award in New York City.

Pro-Poker Aldermen Repeal Gambling Ban

Under an ordinance which banned all gambling—even penny ante poker—he promptly closed seven places in Watsonville where poker was permitted.

Last night, the Watsonville Board of Aldermen repealed the ordinance.

From four to eight percent of all adults are left-handed.

President Will Stay Close to Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has decided, partly because of the Formosa situation, to restrict his travel for two or three months to trips of no more than two hours flying time from Washington.

In announcing the decision late yesterday, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen "it would be foolish for me to say" the threat of a Chinese Communist invasion of Formosa was not a contributing factor. "But I want it specifically understood, this is not an emergency measure," Hagerty said.

He said the primary reason is that the President wants to keep in close touch with Congress in an effort to win enactment of as much of the administration's legislative program as possible.

Says Chiang Would OK Reasonable Cease-Fire

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune said today that the U.S. government has received assurances from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek that his government will not veto or otherwise oppose any reasonable cease-fire resolution in the United Nations Security Council.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper said the assurances became known yesterday as the Senate opened debate on a resolution authorizing President Eisenhower to use force if necessary to defend Formosa and the Pescadores.

Woman Brings Pleasure to Others Through Hobby

Mrs. Brodie Completes Her 36th Doll Grandchildren Look Forward to New Creations

Mrs. G. Sherman Brodie of West Walton boulevard puts her spare time to good use by making colorful dolls for her grandchildren. She has completed 36 dolls and is looking forward to working on more of the delightful works of art.

She has tried to keep for herself a sample of each kind of doll which she has made.

Mrs. Brodie comes from a family of Michigan pioneers. Her grandfather, Eli Benedict, came to Michigan by canal boat from Saratoga, N. Y., in 1845.

With his wife and eight children he settled in Detroit and lived in a house which was located where the Michigan Central Railroad Station is now situated.

One of his sons, Eri, who was Mrs. Brodie's father, moved to Birmingham in 1854. This is where Mrs. Brodie was born and raised at Maple Grove, her father's fruit farm.

Mrs. Brodie's mother was Ellen C. Adams of Franklin. The Adams homestead built by her grandfather is still standing on Bingham road.

Mrs. Brodie recalls when Woodward avenue was just a county road, part of it made of planks, over which her father carried his fruit to Detroit.

In 1902 she married G. Sherman Brodie who was a resident of Pontiac, and she has been living here since that time. For many years they resided on the Brodie farm at Square Lake, and now she makes her home at Silver Lake with her son, John.

Mrs. Brodie also has a son, Robert, who resides in Birmingham and a daughter, Mrs. Russell Pickering who lives in Franklin.

To be sure, Mrs. Brodie is proud of her six grandchildren, Sharon, Carol, Tommy, and Ronny Brodie live in Birmingham and Margaret and George Pickering are from Franklin. Margaret and George are students at Michigan State College.

Mrs. G. Sherman Brodie of West Walton boulevard is surrounded by smiling dolls of various sizes which she makes as a hobby. Bits of lace trim the checked gingham dress and bonnet of one while other colorful ensembles have designs of rick-rack. Each of the dolls has an individual hair style. Not to be forgotten is the teddy bear with a bright satin bow under his chin.

School PTA Hears Visiting Teacher

Mothers of Longfellow school district gathered in the school gymnasium to hear a group discussion on the subject, "What Is Normal Growth and Development in Children Today?"

Mrs. William Alexander, parent-education chairman for the Longfellow PTA, introduced Frances Priest, visiting teacher, as resource leader of the discussion group.

Miss Priest told the group that "Children should not be called problem children." There are, however, children who have problems that they do not understand, just like the everyday problems that perplex their parents, she said.

The earlier these problems are detected and corrected the better for the child.

Much is being said of our juvenile delinquents, especially among the teen-agers, but the roots of this problem begin to grow far back in the early elementary years, Miss Priest pointed out.

No longer are children thought of as a group or a class, but they are treated as individuals. Some children have the ability to learn faster than others of their own age group, just the same as some children grow faster than others.

If a child is "pushed" too much to keep up to a set standard of learning and emotional development, stated Miss Priest, he soon grows discouraged and gives up. If he is not allowed to do enough for his own individual ability, he grows too dependent again.

The emotional growth and normal development of a child depends a great deal on his home life. Conditions in the home these days can change rapidly, she declared.

The goal of a visiting teacher, such as Miss Priest, is to help children on an individual basis when inner confusion and unhappiness is so great that it prevents a child from getting and gaining self-confidence for effective living.

Most referrals are made by teachers, principals and parents themselves. Few referrals come from doctors, nurses and counselors. Children themselves sometimes go to the visiting teacher and ask for help with their problems, but the final decision for this service rests with the parents, said Miss Priest.

Refreshments at the Tuesday gathering were served by home-room mothers from the grades of Mrs. Leon Bogan, Mrs. Marjorie Cotterman and Faye McNamara. Mrs. Paul Grogan and Mrs. John Kastner presided at the tea table.

Couple Married on Saturday

Residing on Elizabeth Lake road are Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hoff. The bride is the former Rosalie Anne Malloy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick H. Malloy of Downing street. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Otto Hoff of White street and the late Mr. Hoff. The ceremony was performed Saturday morning at 11:30 by Justice Donald E. Adams of Drayton Plains.

The bride wore a pink acetate street length dress complimented by a pink velvet hat and corsage of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. John P. Malloy wore a street length dress of pale green and a corsage of gardenias for her duties as matron of honor. Marshall Mastie served as best man. A reception was held during the evening at the Airway road home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Simmons.

Parents of Son

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Armstrong (nee Janice Horner) of Clara avenue announce the birth of a son, Jeffrey Clark, Jan. 26 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Horner of Commerce Lake and Mr. and Mrs. William O. Armstrong of Lorraine court.

The University of Minnesota's football stadium can accommodate about 66,000 persons and its indoor basketball arena can take care of about 19,000, the latter a midwest record.

City Librarian Discusses Literature Offered Youth

Adah Shelly, Pontiac City librarian, gave a book review when members of Child Study Club Group Three gathered at the Miami road home of Mrs. J. K. Schachern.

Miss Shelly also discussed the type of literature being offered the youth of our community. She brought with her recent children's books.

In commenting on reading in Pontiac she stated that television has not lessened the reading of children as far as the use of our local library is concerned. She pointed out it is important that a child has books at his own reading level so that reading will be a pleasure to him.

During the business meeting it was voted to co-operate with the general Federation of Women's Club in contributing money to the Pontiac civic auditorium fund.

Hayride Plans Are Discussed

Plans were discussed for a hayride to be held during May when members of Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority met at the home of Mrs. Terry Thomas on Avery road. Mrs. Thomas Moffat assisted the hostess at the recent gathering.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 22 at the home of Mrs. Roscoe Lund on Payton road.

It was announced that members will attend the March 15 meeting of the Pontiac City Commission and also the Feb. 9 concert of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

Guests of the club at the Tuesday meeting were Mrs. Donald E. Hanson and Mrs. Donald Rosie. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. William Janacek, Mrs. John Waddell, Mrs. Bob F. Rogers and Mrs. Carroll Braid.

Sue Harrison, daughter of the Barrett Harrisons of Lexington drive, was among the students at Golf Park College who modeled fashions in the annual college style show. Spectators from the coast area were on hand to witness the event held at Gulfport, Miss.

Good Cheer Brings Joy to Blind

TOPEKA, Kan. (UP) — The words "good cheer" have a light and airy sound — associated by most persons with greetings or a friendly toast.

But to some 300 persons scattered around the world, the words "good cheer" mean a big, fat magazine which comes to them through the mails once every three months.

The magazine's publisher is Mrs. Breta Cornelius who has been deaf and blind for 30 years.

She designed the magazine for others who are blind and deaf. To the sighted, it looks like a large, well-filled notebook, for it is printed in the raised symbols of Braille. When Mrs. Cornelius lost her sight and hearing, she took up Braille and began to correspond with others who were similarly unfortunate.

Folks Must Meet Date of Teeners

Check List is Given to Judge Character of Their Friends

If you want to impress that new boy invite him to meet your folks. This will not only make a hit with your parents, his parents and him, but it'll make life simpler for you when you want to date him in the future.

Many girls write letters to Teen Experts complaining that their parents insist on meeting their dates before they are permitted to go out, and most girls seem to think it is unfair.

But do you know lots of boys must introduce their girls to their parents before they date them. You might not realize it, but that casual invitation to a holiday or birthday party at his home may be just to give his Mom and Pop that look-see.

The famous father of four boys, Bing Crosby, said in a recent article that he insists on meeting every girl his four sons date.

So there you have it. Well brought-up boys have the same problem. Only they don't talk about it. A boy who wants to meet in secret should certainly arouse your suspicions.

If your date seems to dodge the issue of greeting your parents ask yourself these questions:

1. Does he try to avoid meeting your family, perhaps inventing reasons why it is more practical for you to meet him elsewhere?

2. If your parents inform you and him that you must be home at a particular hour, does he try to keep you out beyond that time?

3. Are there occasions when you could be introduced to his parents, except that he studiously avoids the meeting?

4. Does he do irresponsible things such as "borrow" his father's car without permission?

5. Do your brothers like him? If not, why not? Do their criticisms seem justified?

6. What do other girls who have dated him say about him? You shouldn't prejudge him. But their experiences might be worth listening to.

7. What does he do in his spare time? Are his recreations wholesome or is he a thrill seeker?

8. If your parents have met him, what do they think of him?

9. Is he popular with his classmates?

10. Is he courteous after a gay evening or does he insist on necking before he takes you home?

Very few parents ever object to nice boys dating their darling daughters. If they permit them to date at all. It seems foolish to try to keep a date secret or meet a boy on the sly. A girl who does is likely to infuriate her parents, because after all their attitude might be (and rightly so) "if the boy is nice what has she got to hide?"

Separate Dining

If you have no dining room, you can effectively separate a dining area with a change of rug color and texture. This is subtle. Few notice exactly what it is, but they get the feeling of another room within the living room.

Use Two Part Mop

You're silly if you don't have two mop parts for your wet mop handle. With two, you take the wet, dirty one off, wash and dry it while still having a clean fresh one to use.

Little Blue Engine Story Celebrates Anniversary

NEW YORK (UP)—An appealing story about a little blue railroad engine is one of the biggest puzzles and biggest success in the world of children's stories.

Nowadays, it would be called a "sleeping" book that attracted little attention when it was first published 25 years ago, and caught on solidly a few years later.

The silver anniversary edition of this children's story, "The Little Engine That Could," published this month, brings exactly 200 times as many copies to book shelves as the original printing of 5,000 books.

Yet the simple story of the brave little engine that kept puffing "I think I can, I think I can," as it chugged up the mountain has no known author.

Somewhere the story had to be told for the first time, but it was told and retold so many times before it appeared in print that the publishers still are looking for the real author.

"I heard about the story in the early 1920's, just after we started our company," Arnold H. Munk, president of the Platt and Munk publishers, said. "I traced it to a company that had published a story called 'The Pony Engine' by Mabel C. Bragg."

To make the search even more confusing, the company could find no record of the book, although they recalled publishing it, and readily agreed to sell all rights for a small amount.

Munk revised the original version and below Miss Bragg's name on the cover he added, "as retold by Watty Piper."

There never was a Watty Piper. The name, since used on many of Munk's books, simply was made up by the partners.

Making a fortune is just about as difficult as trying to get along without one.

Frenchmen Give Babies Fancy Life

Luxurious Parisian Furniture Ideas Revolutionary

PARIS—The French believe that it takes more than vitamins and dry diapers to make babies contented and happy.

In an exhibition showing the latest gadgets for "a child's world" French manufacturers offered fancy cradles, baby buggies and bath ideas for infants.

The most luxurious Parisian cradle looks like a dream-bed for a fairy Princess. It has a stand of wrought iron with high, elaborately curved legs.

From an upright rod ending in a spiral, a fluffy white or gaudy curtain floats down to the floor. The curtain as well as the little bed-spread are trimmed with fluffy white feathers. Three snow white ostrich plumes are fixed fan-like to the foot-part as an additional decoration.

Less fairy-like but more practical baby cradles are now popular in wicker. These basket cradles owe their French look to fluffy white, pink or blue gaudy curtains fixed above to a T bar.

To deal with restricted space many furniture items for children are foldable. One baby-carriage, for instance, can be folded flat to fit into a box for traveling.

A practical minded manufacturer has brought out a high baby-chair that unfolds into a baby-carriage. It also can be transformed into a low chair plus table, a rocking-chair and even a walking-box.

De luxe installations for small fry include miniature bath-rooms. The wash basin, toilet table and bath-tub are made of pink or blue plastic and installed at the appropriate height for children from three to ten.

In the field of bath-room facilities there is a discreet travel accessory to solve baby's problems on a journey. It is a plastic pot complete with foldable seat. It fits into a plain looking, flat, hat-box like case.

Another inventive gadget deals with the feeding problem. It is a contraption shaped like an arm and is meant to hold the milk-bottle.

Hung on the wall near the cradle, it has a knee-joint, pulley and clamps at the end to hold the bottle in the right position. The baby can easily pull it down or push it up without mother holding the bottle.

A washable petticoat with matching dust-ruffle permanently shapes the full skirt of this aqua dress. Made of cotton broadcloth, it has three rows of white rick-rack trimming the rounded neckline and skirt.

Hints Tactics for Good Business

"My husband and I have retired," writes a wife, "and have a nice little place in the country. It is on a busy highway, but we have several acres, and wonderful berry patches.

"We are just getting organized now, but, by summer, we would like to have a little roadside stand to sell berries, as well as my homemade jams and jellies.

We have never had experience of this kind, though, and wonder if you could give us some suggestions. We don't expect to make a fortune, but would like to supplement our income a little and keep busy. We can work together, so it shouldn't be too hard."

Because you are new to this business, it might be a good idea, for the first year, to work with a nearby established roadside market, letting them handle your products on a consignment basis.

This means that you would be able to experiment with your jams and jellies, with various kinds of jars and labels, and have a period of trial and error, which is of such importance. You would learn how to set prices, and which products are in most demand.

In fact, anyone wanting to start such a business will do well to work with an established one first, so no large overhead or capital is required.

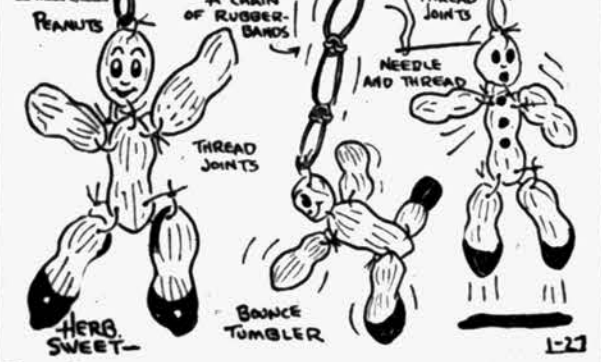

It is a good idea to read up on the subject, also. Most states have an Extension Service which can give advice on operating a roadside market. Also, you can get a free bulletin by writing Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa.

When the time comes for opening your own roadside stand, remember that you must be well organized, with regular hours. You will need a professionally painted sign, giving your hours and the kinds of products you handle, and placed about 150 feet from your stand. Your products must be attractively packaged, correctly priced, and effectively displayed.

Another important point is to specialize. If you stick to berries and jams and jellies, you can build a reputation on them.

Don't let yourself take on lots of other products, just because the first specialty goes over well, or you'll end up in a rat race, with no profits.

A husband and wife team can usually handle a project well, because while the wife is inside making the products, the husband can be attending the stand. Remember, somebody must be right at the stand every minute of your advertised operating hours, or your business will drop off to nothing.

Try It Peanut Tumbler Bounces

Have you ever thought of doing anything with peanuts except to eat them? Here is an idea for you! How would you like to make a bouncing peanut man? You will need six peanuts in the shell for each one. Thread a large needle with black thread and use a thimble to push the needle through the shell at the bottom of the head, then through the top of the body. Be sure that you knot the thread well before breaking it off. Attach the arms and legs to the body in the same way.

Use black paint to make tiny shoes and funny features. Make a loop with the thread at the top of the head and attach a rubber band, then add two more bands to make a chain. Now watch your man dance!

You can also make other people and decorate them in many different ways. Try it!

For public use, industry and irrigation the United States uses 200 billion gallons of water a day, says the National Geographic Society.

In the average home life is not so perfect and pretty soon the furniture starts becoming weak at the joints and will eventually fall apart. The thing to do is to reinforce those weak joints before they give up altogether.

There are several methods of reinforcing or renewing a weak joint. If you are short on skill and the joint is not exposed to view, metal mending plates installed with wood screws do very well.

Another good method of reinforcing is with a wood block which is glued and screwed into place so as to make contact with both surfaces that make up the joint.

This type of reinforcing is best for flat surfaces making a right angle joint. Before the wood block is installed the finish should be removed from the surfaces as glue won't hold well except to clean smooth wood.

The wood block should be cut from hardwood, never from softwood such as pine or fir. Coat the two surfaces of the block with a thin coat of glue and also the two surfaces that it will come into contact with. Use a single wood screw through the block to add strength and to hold the block in place under pressure until the glue is hard.

Another good sort of reinforcing is with a wood dowel. This is used in the same fashion as a pin to hold the two pieces together. A hole must be drilled through the joint and then the dowel is given a thin coat of glue and pushed into place. The size of the dowel used must, of course, be dependent on the size of the wood making up the joint.

Try Sleeping Bag
A new baby sleeping bag has a relatively long life in the babywear cycle. When he gets bigger, there are little ankleholders and cuffs that can be unstrapped. The thing is then worn as a buggy pajama for a toddler.

Take Quiz as Measure for Yourself

McBride, Poor Soul, Finds Psychologists Have Answers

By MARY MARGARET MCBRIDE

Do you use shoetrees to keep your shoes in shape? Do you live on a budget? Do you take a dentist appointment as casually as a trip to the super-market? Did the recent Marilyn Monroe—Joe Di Maggio fiasco fail to interest you at all? Do you like brown better than red?

Sorry—if you answered yes to all or even four of those questions, you don't have much imagination. And lest you begin to browbeat me for saying so, let me tell you this is a test a psychologist once used on me. After serving as guinea pig, I pocketed the questions, for I've been a test-collector for years.

One of my favorites is the Good Company Quiz. Did you have trouble, as a child, learning to swim? Do you take a side-saddle while sitting? Did mathematics stump you in school? Are you unconcerned about the lives and loves of others? Do you sleep with your arms at your sides? A preponderance of yes answers indicates, it seems, that you have anti-social tendencies.

Of all the gauges on marital happiness, I like best one that includes this searching question: Do you dislike housepets? Are you annoyed by absent-minded people? By those with crooked teeth? Do you like loud neckties? Do you wear a bathrobe for breakfast? Are you careless about keeping your fingernails clean? Have you forgotten by spring where it was you stored your bathing suit the previous fall? Answer yes to most of these and, according to at least one expert, you'll have trouble making a go of marriage.

I also like the Tact-and-Sophistication test. This consists of a series of problems, with a variety of solutions to choose from. For instance, you are dining at the home of an acquaintance and are served a dish you know won't agree with you. Will you explain that you have an allergy? Or nibble just a little? Or laughingly upset the dish in your neighbor's lap? Or quietly leave the dish untouched? If you're really tactful and sophisticated, according to my mentor, you'll take the sensible course of leaving the dish untouched, though if your hostess is one of the loud, hearty, concerned kind, she will never let you get away with it.

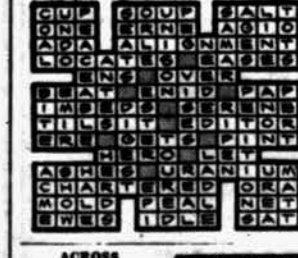

A tactful and sophisticated person will not say he's read a book when he's only read a review of it; will not try to hide deafness by pretending to hear everything; will respond to a friend's question about a hat he doesn't quite like with a judicious "I don't like it as well as that charming pink which made you look about 16."

According to my pet test of all, a person has the emotional age of a child if he lives beyond his means, refuses to admit it when he's wrong, says things he later regrets, seeks sympathy from others and weeps at an emotional play.

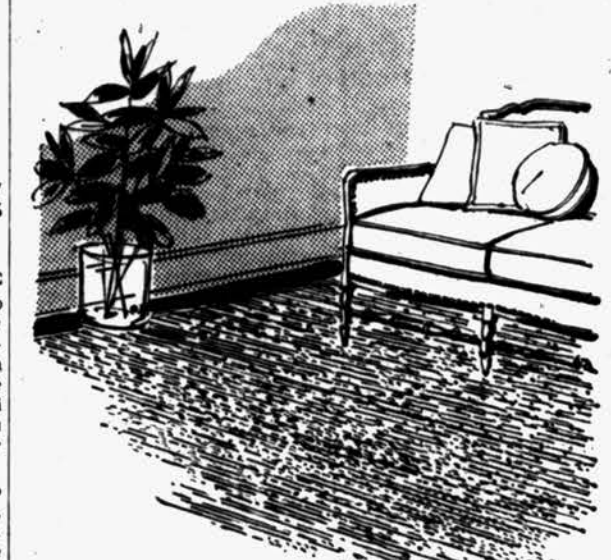

A personality probe in the next pigeonhole asks if you find it hard to rid yourself of a persistent salesman, get stagefright, like attention when ill, blush often and mind returning things you've bought and don't like. If you said yes to all of those you're a poor creature who doesn't dare call his soul his own. P. S. That's me.

Pure silicon is almost worth its weight in gold.

Today's Fiber Rug Good

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Today's fiber rugs look better than ever on living room floors. They're taking to a softer look, in closer weaves and lighter, less contrasting combinations of living room colors.

A new fiber rug is especially good at solving the kind of problem Mrs. G. T. brings up in a letter which says, "We're pretty well fixed for furniture, and some wedding gift pieces are quite good. But we don't own a living room rug, and with my husband back in school, we'd like to spend as little as possible. The condition of the floor rules out throw rugs. What do you suggest for us?"

Fiber rugs certainly qualify on the low cost point, Mrs. T., and the nice tweeds they come in are design-worthy of a living room. The new one sketched is called Delmar, and comes in sand, gray, shades of aqua and mint, and in sandal brown.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like him a lot and I've heard that he likes me, not only from friends of ours but he has told me himself the many times I've gone out with him. The thing that's worrying me is that I've heard he is going steady with a girl from another town.

"Should I ask him about this, or should I wait for him to tell me about it of his own accord. I'd like to know if what I heard is true because I don't want to stop going with him!"

A rumor has you in a perfect twist. Every time you think of him it makes you feel as though you'd no right to. Every time you have a date with him you can't help feeling that his thought just might be elsewhere. That potential "other girl" bothers the life out of you. And you figure the only way to kill off the nightmare is to ask him if she really exists.

But I can think of a lot of reasons why it would be better for you not to know.

First of all you risk upsetting a perfectly fine relationship by questioning its validity. You'd be bringing up the question of going steady and planning him down to explaining your status. You'd be indicating a doubt of his honorable intentions toward you.

Accusing him of going steady with someone else while he's having dates with you on the side would be putting him in a bad light. It might make him cross enough to fib to you.

Why let the rumor upset you when it's so inconsistent with the way he acts toward you? Tell yourself the talk isn't true before you're tempted to make an issue of it. You want to keep on dating with him, so don't stir up a tempest that just might blow romance right out the window.

Large Knobs Cover

Nice brass or chrome knobs can do a lot for the piece of furniture you just refinished. If the knob hole in the chest is worn large, a large flat knob could cover the damaged area and lend a contemporary touch.

Reinforce Weak Parts of Furniture

By HUBBARD COBB

A piece of furniture in a museum where the temperature and humidity are controlled throughout the year and where there are guards to keep people from getting too close, will last almost indefinitely.

In the average home life is not so perfect and pretty soon the furniture starts becoming weak at the joints and will eventually fall apart. The thing to do is to reinforce those weak joints before they give up altogether.

There are several methods of reinforcing or renewing a weak joint. If you are short on skill and the joint is not exposed to view, metal mending plates installed with wood screws do very well.

"Black Magic" is this wool dress. Topped with a companion jacket, the dress is sleek and slim in feathery textured wool broadcloth molded to contour lines.

PETUNIA!

Friends and countrymen, Lend an ear! It's easy—it's quick—it's The Pie Of The Year!

It IS delicious; Petunia! Just add half a cupful of plump pitted dates, cut up, into your custard pie mixture and bake as usual.

Enjoyed Life of Crime, Robber Tells Judge

MANNING, S. C. (UP)—James W. (Bill) Reynolds, 55, a former University of California student with a long criminal record including six bank robberies, received a seven-year robbery sentence yesterday with "no regrets."

"I am not sorry for what I have done," he told Circuit Judge T. B. Greneker. "From my viewpoint, I have enjoyed it and have no regrets. I've had my ups and downs but I've enjoyed life."

Knock Routs Robbers

FITCHBURG, Mass. (UP)—Two men locked Oscar Marceau, 38, and his brother Paul, 26, in the rear room of their liquor store last night and were about to rifle the cash register when a workman unsuspectingly hammered on the partition from a store next door. The thugs, frightened by the noise, fled empty-handed.

A whole family of reasons for using all's "controlled suds" in your automatic washer

No thick-suds detergent can wash so clean yet rinse as free as all.

That's why automatic washer makers prescribe all's "controlled suds."

THE VERY FIRST TIME you wash with all, the original "controlled suds" detergent, you'll revel in the whiteness of your linens, the brightness of your children's "dress-up" clothes, the snowy freshness of your husband's shirts. In your family's fresh-washed clothes, it's all's "controlled suds" that make the difference.

The thick suds myth

Thick suds are lazy. They can even be harmful. They float aimlessly up on top of the wash water. But your clothes, you see, are down in the water under a blanket of useless suds. Then, during rinsing, these thick suds can deposit a dull, soapy film on the clothes, that simply can't be rinsed away.

But all's "controlled suds" go to work down in the water where the clothes are. They tug dirt out and drag it down the drain with the rinse water. So there's no possibility of a sticky suds scum with all-washed clothes.

Thick suds can damage washers

Those thick, soapy suds have a nasty habit of piling up and slowing down washing action. They can even overflow and ruin costly parts. Fact is, repairmen say that automatic washer troubles can be caused by too much suds. But... all's "controlled suds" can't possibly pile up or overflow. Instead, they permit the free and easy action of the clothes in your automatic. That's why most automatic washers are packed with a box of all inside—before they ever leave the factory.

Two wonderful kinds of "controlled suds" all

Millions of women bless the day they discovered the modern "controlled suds" way of washing with the original CONDENSED all. But we know many other women are more accustomed to fluffed-up, less concentrated detergents. So now there's a new EXTRA FLUFFY all on your grocer's shelves today! Here at last is the famous "controlled suds" detergent in the popular fluffy form. It does the same superb washing job at the same low cost and still does away with the shortcomings of heavy, old-fashioned suds.

Both EXTRA FLUFFY all in the new red box and CONDENSED all in the familiar blue box are prescribed by the makers of front-loading and top-loading automatics. Also available from your grocer in money-saving 25-lb. packages and pails.

Young Wife Combines Two Jobs

Learns to Cook in Spare Hours

Mrs. Paul Breninger Makes Fried Chicken Her Specialty

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
You will find dozens of young couples in the Pontiac area like Paul and Phyllis Breninger. They both graduated from Pontiac High School, after which Paul went into service.

He was still in service when they were married. Phyllis lived with her parents for a while, keeping busy with her job in a local bank and counting the days until she could have her own home.

For a year now, 1089 W. Huron St. has been home to the Breingers. Paul also has a bank job (different bank), so their hours coincide.

Paul and Phyllis shop together once a week. Phyllis plans her meat for the week as they go through the store and keeps it in the freezer part of her refrigerator.

They both like one-dish meals like chili and spaghetti. With these Phyllis serves a salad, but not always a dessert. Paul is a meat-potatoes-gravy man, but he is agreeable about new ideas. Green salad with commercial French dressing is practically a must for dinner.

Phyllis concentrates her heavy cooking on Wednesday afternoons and the weekends. She has no time on her present stove so she cannot set it to start their dinner.

She thinks a pressure cooker would be nice, but doesn't own one. There isn't room in her tiny kitchen for her wedding present roaster. This means she has to plan carefully in order not to spend all her time at home at the stove.

The Breingers are house-hunting. Phyllis knows just what kind of a stove she wants when they move. She'll plan space for that electric roaster and settle down to learn all the fine points of cooking. Paul thinks she isn't doing too badly right now.

Phyllis says she has learned a lot in the past 12 months. She had done very little cooking before her marriage, which meant she had everything to learn at once.

Wanting to have Paul's favorite meal when he first came home, she planned a chicken dinner. As she recalled it, she smiled rather ruefully—"It wasn't very good." By now she has mastered the art of frying chicken and making good gravy and proudly gives us her recipe for both.

MODERN YOUNG HOMEMAKER—Typical of today's young homemakers, Mrs. Paul Breninger of West Huron street is prepared to start dinner. She holds down a full-time job while she is mastering the arts of housekeeping and cooking. Efficiency has to be her motto.

FRIED CHICKEN AND GRAVY

By Mrs. Paul Breninger
1 frying chicken
Flour
Salt, pepper and paprika
Butter and shortening
Mix flour, salt, pepper and paprika together, put into a paper

bag. Shake the chicken pieces in the bag until they are well coated. Melt butter and shortening (half and half) in a heavy skillet, having about one-half-inch of melted fat. Brown the pieces of chicken on both sides, turning them skin down first.

Turn the heat low and cover the pan. Let cook slowly 30-40 minutes, or until tender (very large chickens will take longer). When chicken is done, remove from pan and keep warm. Mix 2 tablespoons of flour into the pan drippings and cook slightly. add potatoe water and/or milk and cook until smooth, stirring constantly. Season. Serve at once.

Phyllis always has boiled potatoes with fried chicken, and uses this water for her gravy.

Wondering how to use that marjoram you have on your herb shelf? Try it in meatballs or a stew.

Skillet Can Substitute for Popcorn Popper

No corn popper in the house? Then heat 3 tablespoons of salad oil in a skillet that is 9 or 10 inches in diameter. When a drop of water added to the oil sizzles, it's time to add one-half cup of popcorn. Now cover the skillet and shake. When the corn begins to pop you can lower the heat, but keep shaking until you hear the last kernel pop. Turn into a big bowl, sprinkling salt over the popcorn as you do so.

Bake Franks in Rolls

Your family will love frankfurters that have a wrap-around of rich baking-powder biscuit dough. Bake the frankfurter rolls in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 15 minutes or so.

Individual Cakes Go With Coffee

When your church or club group comes in for a planning session at mid-morning, you'll want a little "something-different" to serve with the coffee.

What to do? Just bake this delicious coffee cake in individual pie pans and you'll say you never saw a cup of coffee kept company by a more unusual snack!

Individual Coffee Cakes

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks
1 1/2 cups sifted, enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup chopped walnut meats
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg white
1-2 cup sugar

Cream shortening. Add 1 cup sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Beat egg yolks. Add to first mixture.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with milk. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry. Fold in.

Pour into well-greased individual pie pans. Mix one-third cup sugar with cinnamon and chopped walnut meats. Sprinkle over batter.

Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees, 20 to 25 minutes. Serve hot. Yield: Eight.

Easy, Unusual Dessert

For a simple but different dessert, serve heated wheat crackers with a slice of jellied cranberry sauce and a cube of cream cheese. Use bread and butter knives for spreaders.

Mix drained canned whole kernel corn with a moist bread stuffing for roast chicken. Good flavor change!

INDIVIDUAL COFFEE CAKES—Wouldn't you be proud to set these tempting individual coffee cakes before guests or a hungry family early in the morning? Since the basis is baking powder bread, they're quick and easy to make.

Beef Tenderloin Insures Dinner With Elegance

For your next special-occasion dinner, serve the most tender of all beef cuts, roast beef tenderloin.

This cut, easy-to-prepare and easy-to-serve, makes an elegant meat for a celebration dinner.

To obtain this cut, it usually is necessary to place an advance order with your meat man since many markets do not sell it regularly.

Roast beef tenderloin is best when served crusty brown outside and medium rare within. In roasting tenderloin, use a hot oven, 450 degrees.

This is an exception to the low temperature of 325 degrees used for roasting all other meats.

The extreme tenderness of the cut and the lack of fat make a high temperature preferable.

The following timetable is for a medium rare roast. Whole tenderloin (4 to 6 pounds)—45 to 60 minutes; half tenderloin (2 to 3 pounds)—45 to 50 minutes. (This time is for the whole roast, not minutes per pound.)

A well-done roast requires longer cooking.

Broiled Fruits Dress Up Meal

"Back to simple cooking, thank heavens," is the comment of many a cook after the holiday hulla-balloo. And pleasant it is to put good, simple meals on the table again after all the reckless richness of the holidays.

But when you're serving that homey casserole, that pot roast, or chicken fricasee, do have something just a little special with it, to show the folks the festive food didn't completely fade with the holidays.

A quick and easy answer to that suggestion is Broiled Banana Apple Rings, combining the flavors of cooked bananas and sliced candied apples, spiced with cinnamon.

You'll find this makes a delicious broiled accompaniment to serve with meat, poultry or fish, or top it with whipped cream to make a fine dessert.

Broiled Banana Apple Rings

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
3 apples, unpeeled
3 firm all-yellow bananas
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Salt
Cinnamon, ground

Mix together sugar and water in large frying pan. Bring to boiling temperature and cook until sugar is dissolved. Wash and core apples and cut crosswise into three thick slices. Add to syrup.

Cook apple slices until tender, but still firm, about five minutes. Remove apples from syrup. Place on broiler rack or into pan containing rack.

Peel bananas. Cut crosswise into slices about one-fourth-inch thick. Cover each apple ring with overlapping slices of bananas. Brush with butter or margarine and sprinkle lightly with salt and cinnamon.

Place in preheated broiler about 3 or 4 inches from heat and broil about five minutes, or until bananas are brown and tender... easily pierced with a fork.

Custard Cornbread Like Spoon Bread

Custard Cornbread

1/2 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup water ground yellow cornmeal
1 egg
1 cup milk
(milked)
1/2 cup milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Stir in cornmeal. Beat egg until thick and ivory-colored; beat in 1 cup milk enough to combine.

Add flour-cornmeal mixture to egg-milk with melted butter; beat until combined.

Turn into well-buttered pie plate (11 1/2 by 11 1/2 inches). Pour 1/2 cup milk carefully over mixture. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven until firm—25 minutes.

Serve in pie plate at table cut into six wedges—with or without extra butter. Makes four to six servings.

Liquid nitrogen will chill a piece of metal quickly to -320 degrees Fahrenheit.

SARDINE TEMPURA—Here's a most unusual appetizer. For those who are fond of sardines it will immediately become a favorite. Sardines are drained, dipped in a batter containing soya sauce and fried in deep fat. They're served warm.

Fried Sardines Whet Appetites

Exchanging recipes with neighbors is certainly a diverting pastime, but it frequently leads to a sameness when we entertain each other. How often do we encounter the same hors d'oeuvres over and over again!

Here's a new idea for your next party, using Maine sardines in a delicious tempura batter. As these sardines are slightly larger than the fancy imported brands, you'll find they are easily adaptable to many more appetizers than those merely served on a cracker.

We like this recipe particularly because the men relish it so. It stops their most common complaint that "canneries are all looks and no food" for this crisp little appetizer really sticks to the ribs.

Sardine Tempura
2 cans Maine sardines, (3 1/2 or 4 ounces) drained
1 egg beaten
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon soya sauce
Deep fat

Drain sardines and place on paper toweling to absorb any excess oil. Beat egg and stir in flour, milk and soya sauce. Mix until smooth.

Dip sardines in batter and fry in deep fat at 375 degrees until a golden brown. Serve hot.

Try Beane Buns for Zesty Snacks

From lunch until midnight snack time canned pork and beans are a tasty treat. Make them into delicious open-faced sandwiches according to the following directions.

Beane Buns
1 can (1 pound 8 ounces) pork and beans
1/2 cup pickle relish
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 large round buns
4 wieners
6 slices of pasteurized processed cheese

Split buns and separate. Combine pork and beans, pickle relish, salt. Place the buns cut side up on a baking sheet. Brown lightly in broiler. Remove; spoon pork and beans onto buns.

Top with split wieners, cover with slice of cheese. Return to broiler (several inches from heat) and toast until cheese has melted. Makes six open-faced sandwiches.

You'd Better Bone Up on Physics Potatoes Being Classified for Best Cooking Results

WASHINGTON (INS)—Government research workers suggested today that in the future potatoes may come labeled so that housewives can pick out the best type of spuds for baking, frying or making potato chips.

The Agricultural Research Service said work now going on is laying the foundation for making the world's No. 1 vegetable still more adaptable.

Baked, Glazed Oranges Lend Color to Table

These are the days when many people are tapering off after heavy holiday feasting. And some, after anxious looks at their waistlines, will consider skipping desserts entirely.

But the current issue of a home magazine offers some compromise solutions to the problem in a colorful group of luscious desserts made with fresh fruits. Here's one of the recipes:

Baked Oranges Suzanne
4 large oranges
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 cup water
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon sherry
1/2 maraschino cherries

Peel oranges, cutting off any white membrane; trim bottom of oranges evenly so they will stand; slice each crosswise into five slices, keeping slices in order so oranges will look whole; secure slices with wooden picks; place in shallow baking pan, 11x7x1 1/2.

Combine sugar and cornstarch in small saucepan; stir in water and orange rind. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until syrup is thick and clear; remove from heat. Spoon one-third of syrup over oranges; bake in moderate oven (350) 30 minutes, basting oranges with remaining syrup twice during baking.

Remove from oven; stir sherry into syrup in pan; baste oranges often with syrup to glaze as they cool. Just before serving, remove wooden picks; garnish each orange with a maraschino cherry. Serves eight.

have been making an intensive study of the relation between tubers in the raw and their eating qualities.

In the process, bushels of spuds from two different crop years and a number of states have been cooked and sampled in a wide variety of forms, including mashed, boiled, baked, French-fried and chipped.

As things now stand, the research workers say their findings make it easy to see why the shopper can't tell just by looking over a bin full of potatoes at the store whether they are suitable for a particular form of cooking.

Crux of the problem usually is: "are they mealy?" It seems most potato eaters like them that way, especially for baking and boiling.

The difficulty is that meanness—as the test proved—varies widely from variety to variety and even within the same variety grown in different parts of the country. Also, it develops that potatoes, like wine, have their "vintage years."

For purposes of the study, samplers tried out six popular commercial varieties—Chippewa, Green Mountain, Irish Cobbler, Katahdin, Russet Burbank and Triumph—grown in two different crop years. Here are some of the things they found out:

Katahdins from Colorado rated high in meanness, but the same variety from Pennsylvania was given a low rating. Green Mountains from New York and two locations in Maine were mealer in the first crop year tested than the second.

Food specialist Mary E. Kirkpatrick who conducted the palatability test said cooking methods didn't affect the meanness.

The research service suggested that producers might use a simple specific gravity test, dunking the spuds in a salt-water solution to predetermine quality.

Those with the highest specific gravity (heavier for their size) would require more salt to float them. Then, in the store, lots of potatoes could be separated according to their specific gravity level.

All the housewife would have to do would be to brush up on her high school physics in order to get her money's worth of potatoes.

Treat Guests to Cranberry Scone Layer

Friends will love to drop in for an informal coffee or tea if you serve them a tempting slice of Cranberry Scone Layer.

Cranberry-Filled Scone Layer
2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Combine egg and milk and add to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened.

Spread half the batter in greased 8-inch layer pan. Over is spread cranberry filling. Cover with remaining batter and sprinkle with topping.

Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) 25 minutes. Makes one 8-inch layer cake.

Filling
Mix together one-half cup chopped cranberries, one-fourth cup sugar and 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

Topping
Mix together 2 tablespoons sugar and one-fourth teaspoon grated orange rind.

To Fry Bacon Crisper

Some cooks like to pour off the fat as bacon cooks in a skillet; they say the bacon is crispier this way. Just be sure to drain the bacon well on absorbent paper when it comes out of the skillet.

THREE WAYS WITH FRANKFURTERS—Take your pick from this trio of thrifty frankfurter dishes for company or family dinners. One of the tasty three is a creamy macaroni casserole, another is sliced frankfurters in a sour cream sauce, the third is savory kraut topped with stuffed franks.

Hamburg Scramble Spooned Over Buns

Serve ground beef in a rich tomato sauce if you want an easily made rangetop dish.

Hamburger Scramble

3 tablespoons fat
1 cup finely diced onion
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 cup finely diced green pepper
1 cup sliced stuffed olives
4 hamburger buns

Cook onion in fat in saucepan over moderate heat about five minutes. Add ground beef; crumble with fork and brown.

Mix in kitchen bouquet well. Add tomato sauce, salt, sugar, chili powder, pepper, green pepper and olives.

Bring to boil. Simmer, covered, about 10 minutes.

Split and toast buns. Spoon beef mixture over bun halves. Makes four servings.

Thrifty Frankfurter Trio Will Brighten Your Table

Frankfurters are a handy item to have around at all times for quick dinner dishes, impromptu snacks and unexpected company fare.

Here's a trio of kitchen-tested recipes starring easy-to-use frankfurters.

Frank Red Caps with Macaroni
4 frankfurters
1 cup uncooked elbow macaroni
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup grated cheese
Chili sauce or catsup

Cook macaroni in boiling water until nearly tender, about eight minutes. Drain well and add milk, pimiento, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and cheese.

Four into a greased 8 by 8-inch baking dish. Split franks almost through lengthwise. Cut in half and arrange on top of macaroni mixture; fill slits with chili sauce or catsup.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Four servings.

The second star of the frankfurter threesome is a fish which is equally good for family and company dinners.

Franks in Sour Cream Sauce
6 frankfurters
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons catsup
1 cup commercial sour cream
2 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup water

Cut franks in half-inch slices and brown in the hot fat. Stir in flour. Add remaining ingredients and heat to boiling point, but do not boil. Serve on rice or noodles. Four servings.

Last, but by no means least of the three frankfurter dinner dishes, is a variation of that old favorite, franks with sauerkraut.

Stuffed Franks with Savory Kraut
8 frankfurters
8 (1/4 inch) strips cheese
8 slices bacon
1 90, 30 can sauerkraut (2 cups)
1/2 tablespoon caraway seed
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/4 cup catsup
3 tablespoons brown sugar

Combine kraut with last four ingredients. Simmer, covered, for 20 minutes.

Split each frank lengthwise, without cutting all the way through. Fill slits with cheese and wrap franks with bacon, fastening each end with toothpicks.

Bake on a rack in a shallow pan at 425 degrees for about 15 minutes, or until bacon is cooked to the desired crispness.

Insure Snowy Potatoes

Want creamy-white mashed potatoes? Peel the spuds before boiling. And remember not to flood the potatoes with water during the boiling process — use just enough to cover them.

Try Spiced Raisin Variation of Waffles

If waffles are regularly on your breakfast menus, you'll enjoy having a variation of the standard recipe to try. To serve with these Spiced Raisin Waffles you'll want pork sausages and tart jelly.

Spiced Raisin Waffles
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs, separated
1 1/2 cups buttermilk
1/2 cup melted butter
2-3 cup seedless raisins

Sift together dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks until light, add to buttermilk and melted butter.

Stir into dry mixture, beating until blended.

Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter, together with raisins.

Bake on hot waffle iron, following manufacturer's directions. Makes eight waffles.

Prepare Sweet Potatoes in Tantalizing New Ways

Now's the time for every good homemaker to make use of the season's good crop of sweet potatoes. Sweet potatoes, in many families, are served only at elaborate company or holiday dinners. Yet few people are really adventurous when preparing "sweets".

Here are two excellent recipes using this colorful and palatable vegetable. One suggests stuffing baked sweet potatoes with a fruit, nutmeat and cereal mixture.

The second recipe combines cooked, mashed sweet potatoes with chopped ham to make an entrée that's as filling as it is delicious. Two wonderful ways to use available sweet potatoes.

Stuffed Sweet Potatoes
8 medium sized sweet potatoes
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup orange juice
1 cup drained, shredded pineapple
1/2 cup walnut meats
6 marshmallows
1 cup cornflakes, crushed

Bake potatoes in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 45 minutes, or until done. Scoop out insides; mash pulp with 2 tablespoons of butter, salt and orange juice. Stir in pineapple and nutmeats.

Roll shells with the mixture. Cut marshmallows into small pieces and spread over top. Sprinkle top with cornflakes which have been mixed with remaining melted butter.

Return to oven and bake at 400 degrees for about 15 minutes. Yield: Six servings.

Ham and Sweet Potato Patties

2 cups cooked, chopped ham
2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
1/2 cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup pineapple, finely cut
4 cups cornflakes
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Combine ham, sweet potatoes, milk, egg, seasonings and pineapple. Shape into 12 patties about 2 1/2-inches in diameter. Crush cornflakes into medium fine crumbs.

Roll patties in crumbs and arrange in greased shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with melted shortening.

6 Eggs Enrich Cheese Souffle

A surplus of eggs has flooded the markets and the government has urged thrifty homemakers to take advantage of the opportunity to serve more of this nutritious low-cost food to their families.

This golden-brown cheese souffle, calling for six eggs, is one of the most delicious recipes in the files of a famous test kitchen.

Cheese Souffle

4 tablespoons shortening
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
Dash of cayenne
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup grated yellow cheese or smoked cheese
6 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored
6 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Melt shortening in saucepan, add flour, salt, paprika and cayenne, and blend well. Add milk gradually and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add cheese and stir over low heat until cheese is melted.

Remove from heat. Add beaten egg yolks, and blend thoroughly. Fold in beaten egg whites.

Pour into 1 1/2 - quart greased casserole and place casserole in pan of warm water. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 - 50 minutes.

Lamb, Wine Form Natural Partnership

You know how some foods just naturally pair off to make extra eating pleasure: Apple pie and cheese, doughnuts and coffee. It's the same way with lamb and wine.

During these months when western lamb will be at your meat shops in quantity, do try some new ways with the less-in-demand cuts, such as lamb shanks.

Baked Lamb Shanks

4 lamb shanks
Salt and pepper
1 (No. 303) can tomatoes
1/2 cup burgundy, claret, or other red table wine
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
Dash of minced garlic or dash of garlic powder

Sprinkle lamb shanks with salt and pepper; place in a roasting pan. Combine tomatoes, wine, celery, onion, garlic and additional salt and pepper to taste. Heat mixture to simmering; pour over lamb.

Bake, uncovered, in a moderate hot oven (375) for 2 to 2 1/2 hours, or until meat is very tender.

WINTER APRICOT PIE—This is a fine pickup for winter-jaded appetites. The tart flavor of the dried fruit will make a pleasant ending to cold weather meals. We think both the pies above will become favorites of yours.

PRUNE MERINGUE PIE—Here's an unusual pie that is luscious enough for the most pampered appetite—ideal for family or company. That old pantry shelf staple, prunes, makes the airy filling. No one could object to prunes in this dish.

Prune and Apricot Pies Tempt Weary Appetites

Since pie is America's most popular dessert, homemakers are always looking for new flavor combinations. Here are two pies which are sure to intrigue your family and friends.

Both pies make use of pantry-shelf fruit, prunes and apricots. Each one is different so that you will want to serve both to your family.

Perhaps you have the light touch with pie crust; perhaps you're scared to death to make it. If the latter is your attitude, stop fussing. There are delicious mixes on the market which will insure a perfect crust every time.

Prune Meringue Pie

3-2 1/2 tablespoons cold water
1 1/2 cups milk
1 package vanilla pudding mix
2 large or medium eggs, separated
4 tablespoons salt
4 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2-ounce jar strained prunes (baby food)

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 baked pie shell
Add milk gradually to pudding; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Blend a few tablespoons of mixture with the egg yolks, then return to saucepan and bring to a boil again.

When mixture thickens, remove from heat. Cool about five minutes. Stir and pour into pie shell.

Beat egg whites with salt until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in sugar. Blend prunes and cinnamon into whipped egg whites. Spread meringue over filling making sure it touches all edges of crust to prevent shrinkage.

Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) 8-12 minutes, or until delicately browned. Cool. Chill in refrigerator at least three hours before serving.

Apricot Pie

1 (12 ounce) package dried apricots
2 cups water
2-3 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch, blended with 2 tablespoons cold water

Simmer apricots in water about 15 minutes. Add sugar, salt, and nutmeg. Simmer five minutes more. Then stir in cornstarch mixture and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Cook 2 minutes.

Fill unbaked pie crust. Roll top crust. Cut steam slits. Adjust over filling.

Tuck upper crust under lower crust on pan rim. Flute or press with fork to seal in juices. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) 20 minutes, then reduce to moderate (350 degrees) and bake 15 minutes longer.

Brown Potato Cakes

Shape cold leftover mashed potatoes into flat cakes. Dust on both sides with grated Parmesan cheese. Then saute in butter, margarine, bacon fat or salad oil till brown on both sides.

Tuna Sandwiches Broiled Open-Face

These open sandwiches are rich and delicious.

Broiled Tuna Sandwiches

1 7-ounce can tuna
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup chili-sauce type relish
4 slices bread
1/2 cup (1/4 pound) grated cheddar cheese

Drain oil from tuna; remove tuna from can and break up with a fork. Mix with mayonnaise and relish.

Toast bread under broiler on one side; pile untoasted sides with tuna mixture, making sure edges of bread are covered. Sprinkle with cheese.

Fruitcake Ice Cream

Crumble leftover fruitcake into slightly softened vanilla ice cream. Serve immediately as is or with lemon sauce. Or keep in ice-cube tray till serving time.

Sweet-Sour String Beans Are European Specialty

Many European cooks have wonderful ways with vegetables. Especially is this so of green beans, sometimes called string beans or snap beans.

Often, for vegetable variety, and also to introduce zesty flavor into the meal, German and Dutch cooks serve sweet-sour beans. The secret of their goodness, in addition to the delightful sweet-sour taste, is clover seasoning.

A hint of bay leaf, a bit of onion and most of all, a generous addition of margarine. The margarine, added last, seems to blend all the other flavors and give the beans just the right dressing.

For years now the best European cooks have used margarine, even in their extra-special dishes. A recent letter from Paris says that French cooks these days use margarine in all of their fine sauces, and even for making glamor desserts like puff paste.

The writer of the letter — a famous cook — wondered if American homemakers know how good modern margarine is! She knows now that almost every American family has known and used margarine for years.

Sweet-Sour Beans

1 1/2 pounds fresh green beans, or 2 packages frozen cut beans
1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1 small onion, sliced thin
1/4 bay leaf
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 whole cloves
3 tablespoons margarine
Onion rings for garnish

Wash and cut fresh beans into inch lengths. Bring water to boil in saucepan. Add salt, onion, bay leaf, nutmeg and pepper. Cover and simmer 10 minutes.

Add beans. Cook until just tender. Drain, saving the cooking liquid. Set beans aside.

To cooking liquid add sugar, vinegar and cloves. Bring to boil and cook until liquid is reduced to about half. Add margarine. Fold in beans. Heat thoroughly.

Arrange in hot vegetable dish and garnish with onion rings, if desired. Good with pork chops, ham or lamb. Makes six servings.

CHICKEN CUTLETS—This colorful meal stars hot golden brown chicken cutlets with a smooth chicken soup sauce. Buttered canned asparagus and scarlet cranberry-apple relish complete the menu. Serve it all on a tray and let the family eat in front of the television set if desired.

Feature Chicken Cutlets for TV Supper on Trays

Both the chicken cutlets and the cranberry-apple relish for this TV supper can be made ahead of time. At mealtime the chicken cutlets are fried to a piping hot golden brown while the sauce and the asparagus (or another favorite vegetable) are heating.

Treat yourself to a real lazy and relaxing evening by serving this meal on paper plates or trays that end dish washing worries for the evening! You'll have fun fixing and serving this meal.

You may want to treat your friends to this TV supper whenever they come around and you don't want to stay in the kitchen!

Chicken Cutlets
1 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup uncooked white rice
2 cups finely diced cooked chicken
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites, slightly beaten
1 cup fine cracker crumbs
Cooking fat for frying cutlets
1 10 1/2 ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup water

Cranberry Apple Relish
2 cups cranberries
2 apples, pared and cored
1 orange
1 lemon
1/2 cup beet or cane sugar

Put the water, salt and rice in a 2-quart sauce pan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn off heat. Leave lid on for 10 minutes. Add the chicken, onion, lemon rind, salt, pepper and egg yolks to the rice and mix thoroughly. Separate the mixture into six equal portions of one-half cup each. Press into balls.

Chill. Cover if mixture is left in refrigerator more than two hours. Press the rice and chicken mixture together firmly and shape into "pork chop-shaped" cutlets.

Dip cutlets first into the egg whites, then into cracker crumbs. Chill. Fry in a skillet of hot fat, cooking one side to a golden brown before turning.

Serve hot with a sauce made by heating together the chicken soup and water. The cutlets may be kept hot for about 30 minutes by placing them uncovered in a 250-degree oven. This recipe makes six cutlets.

Put cranberries and apples through a food chopper. Quarter oranges and lemon, removing seeds and put through food chopper. Add to the cranberry-apple mixture. Mix in the sugar.

Chill in the refrigerator before serving. This relish may be stored in the refrigerator for several weeks. Pass the cranberry-apple relish or serve on the tray with the cutlets.

Festive Fruit Cocktail

When serving fruit cocktail as an appetizer, line sherbet dishes with thin slices of unpeeled orange before spooning in the fruit cocktail. This makes a beautiful fruit cup to greet guests at your table.

Cheese Sparks Simple Dishes

With the fast pace of life today, young homemakers find they have very little time to spend in the kitchen making those gourmet dishes that always please a husband.

Yet with the addition of tangy, crumbly American blue cheese, the simplest recipes take on a subtly different flavor that is bound to be a success with even the most fastidious of eaters.

Try this blue cheese sausage dinner for something different. Or, for a vegetable dish, green beans with blue cheese are delicious.

Blue Cheese Sausage Dinner
 1 pound bulk sausage
 2 large apples, cored, cut in 1/4-inch slices
 1/2 cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 3 ounces)
 1/2 cup crumbled pineapple juice (about 3 ounces)

Shape sausage into eight patties. Pan-fry over low heat 12 to 15 minutes, or until well browned on both sides. Remove patties and drain on absorbent paper.

Drain off all but 2 tablespoons sausage drippings. Fry apple and pineapple slices in drippings until lightly browned.

Arrange fruit and sausage patties in four individual casseroles. Sprinkle with pineapple juice and blue cheese. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 20 to 45 minutes. Makes four servings.

Green Beans with Blue Cheese
 2 tablespoons butter
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 3 ounces)
 1/2 cup crumbled pineapple juice (about 3 ounces)
 1/2 cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 3 ounces)

Melt butter. Add milk, cheese, beans and pepper. Mix well and turn into greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Sprinkle with crumbs and bake, uncovered, 30 minutes. Makes six servings.

Mincemeat, Cream Fill Sponge Cake

Mincemeat Cream Cake
 1 8-inch sponge cake layer (home-made or bought)
 1/2 cup cream
 2 tablespoons confectioner's sugar
 1/2 cup mincemeat

Split cake in half crosswise to make two layers. Whip cream until almost stiff; whip in sugar and flavoring.

Put cake together with a layer of whipped cream and one of mincemeat. Frost top and sides of cake with remaining whipped cream.

Chill for several hours before serving. Makes six servings.

'Finger Foods' May Whet Appetite of Balky Children

ANN ARBOR — "Finger foods" might be the solution to a balky youngster's eating problems, according to Melba Pickenpaugh, University of Michigan hospital dietitian in the children's department.

Although a child might resent cooked vegetables, he seems to take to the uncooked variety, provided he can pick them up and eat them with his fingers.

Parents appear to make an issue out of certain foods, which, incidentally, only serves to aggravate the situation, declares the U-M food expert.

"If you insist on the child eating one food because it is good for him, he may never want to eat it again," says Miss Pickenpaugh. But if you hand him the same vegetable raw and let him eat it with his fingers, a major victory is scored.

The victory according to Miss Pickenpaugh, is not a mere moral one. Children, as well as adults, need vegetables in their diet because of their high vitamin A content.

Dietitians speak of the "Basic Seven" foods. They include milk (1 to 4 cups a day); eggs (at least four weekly); meat, poultry or fish (one serving daily); vegetables (1 serving); fruits (2

IT'S JUNE IN JANUARY—Top wedges of blueberry pie with ice cream snowballs, a pleasant summertime dessert for January meals. Right now blueberry pies are being featured on bakery counters around the country. Many bakers use berries that are quick frozen especially for bakery needs.

Add Own Special Touch to Bakery Blueberry Pie

Right now, it's blueberry time in bake shops around the country! These plump little berries will be showing up in muffins and tarts and turnovers. But most of all, the baker's fresh frozen blueberries will go into blueberry pie.

The blueberry pie may have two crusts or a lattice topping, but regardless of style, your baker suggests that you put the pies in a hot oven for about 10 minutes before serving time.

Oven warmth brings out the sunny, June-time flavor. And because we all like to add our own

Use Frozen Foods for Effortless Meal

For a tempting meal, nothing is easier than this: A frozen chicken, tuna or beef pot pie, a frozen vegetable, and a few relishes. One please-easy combination is tuna pie, frozen broccoli, celery sticks and tomatoes. (Especially appropriate for the approaching Lenten season.)

The tuna pie is merely heated and it's ready for serving. The broccoli can be quickly cooked and seasoned with butter or margarine. Or, for a little added dash, you might try it with lemon butter and toasted almonds.

Then, to complete the meal, a serving of frozen fruit would be just right—simple yet tasty. And there you have it — a delicious meal with practically no effort at all!

Zestful Frozen Broccoli
 1 package frozen broccoli
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 2 tablespoons toasted slivered almonds

Cook broccoli according to directions on package; drain. Mix melted butter or margarine and lemon juice and pour over broccoli. Sprinkle with almonds. Amount: three servings.

For Tender Macaroni

Keep this recipe handy when you are cooking elbow macaroni: Add a tablespoon of salt to 3 quarts of boiling water; add one-half pound (2 cups) of elbow macaroni slowly so that the water continues to boil. Stir occasionally but do not cover. Cook only until tender—eight or nine minutes. This makes about four cups of cooked macaroni.

Try this for a mid-morning pick-up. Stir a teaspoon of beef concentrate (in liquid form) into a cup of hot water.

servings); bread and cereal (2 servings); and butter or other fats (2 tablespoons).

While the list appears to be limited, making it doubly difficult for mother to use her imagination, the combinations actually are endless.

For example, try tomato juice when vegetables don't please; try ice cream when milk gags; and soups, crackers and cookies to supply the additional calories.

Miss Pickenpaugh has a word of comfort for mothers whose youngsters go on "food jags." Some children would eat peanut butter three times a day.

"Don't worry," she says, "the phase will pass, if you can bear it."

In general children learn about foods just as they learn about other things in life: By imitation. If Johnny dumps his bowl of oatmeal in the middle of the kitchen floor, it may be because he has seen Papa rush away to work every morning without touching his own oatmeal.

Here Miss Pickenpaugh admits she is at a loss to help mother. "I'm afraid that's one problem you'll have to work out with your husband," comments Miss Pickenpaugh.

Brazil Nut Frostings Add Distinction to Cake Mixes

Crinkly and protective is the shell that brings Brazil nuts over thousands of miles of Amazon river and of ocean travel.

To crack easily, cover unshelled nuts with cold water; bring to a boil and boil three minutes; drain. Cover with cold water and let stand one minute, then drain and crack. Large nutmeat pieces are easily removed.

To get the neat, even petal slices, the shelled nuts are also covered with cold water and brought to a boil and simmered two or three minutes. Sliced lengthwise, the petals suggest many decorative arrangements.

For the curlique Brazil nut trim, use a vegetable peeler to make the delicately thin lengthwise curls. If the nuts are warmed slightly . . . a minute in the oven will do it . . . the curliques can be cut without any breaking.

BRAZIL NUT FROSTINGS (For Packaged Cake Mixes)
Brazil Nut Nesselrode Frosting
 1 package white cake mix
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 egg whites
 1/2 cup light corn syrup
 2 tablespoons water
 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup chopped Brazil nuts
 1/4 cup finely chopped maraschino cherries

Prepare and bake cake according to directions on package using two 8 or 9-inch layer pans. Mix sugar, egg whites, light corn syrup, water, cream of tartar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat with a rotary beater until sugar is dissolved.

Place over boiling water and cook, beating constantly with a rotary or electric beater until frosting stands in peaks. Remove from heat; add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread.

Remove one-third of the frosting; mix in Brazil nuts, cherries and raisins or dates. Use this filling between layers. Use remaining frosting for top and sides of cake. Garnish cake with Brazil nut slices and maraschino cherries.

Easy Brazil Nut Caramel Frosting
 1 package white cake mix
 1/2 cup butter
 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 1/2 cup milk
 1/4 cup sifted confectioner's sugar

Prepare and bake cake according to package directions, using a 13x9x2-inch pan. Melt butter; stir in brown sugar, boil over low heat two minutes, stirring constantly. Stir in milk; stir until mixture comes to a boil.

Remove from heat; cool to lukewarm. Gradually add sugar, beating until thick enough to spread. If frosting becomes stiff, add a little hot water. Frost cake; sprinkle with Brazil nut curls.

Quick Brazil Nut Chocolate Frosting
 1 package chocolate cake mix
 1 package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
 1 1/2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar
 1/3 cup evaporated milk
 Brazil nuts

Prepare and bake cake according to package directions, using two 8 or 9-inch layer pans. Melt semi-sweet chocolate over hot, not boiling water.

Add alternately confectioner's sugar and evaporated milk. Beat after each addition until smooth. Fill and frost cake; garnish with chopped Brazil nuts.

Bacon Perks Up Macaroni, Cheese

Macaroni and Cheese with Bacon
 1 tablespoon salt
 2 quarts boiling water
 2 cups elbow macaroni (about 8 ounces)
 2 cups butter or margarine
 2 cups grated cheddar cheese (about 1/2 pound)
 1/2 cup light cream
 10 slices crisp cooked bacon (drained and crumbled)

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Toss with butter, then with cheese, cream and bacon. Turn into greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 20 to 30 minutes, or until browned. Makes four to six servings.

For a children's party dessert—roll heaping scoops of vanilla or chocolate ice cream in chopped salted peanuts—serve with chocolate sauce.

'A Good Egg' Assists Cook in Many Ways

With eggs abundant and prices low, the following jingle is appropriate:

An Egg Every Day That's the Good Health Way!
 A "good egg" speaks for itself in its many possible uses:

1. Start the day right with a healthy, hearty, wake-up breakfast of fried, poached, baked, broiled or scrambled eggs.
2. Thicken a custard or a sauce.
3. Lighten a soufflé or a cake.
4. Hold oil and vinegar together in creamy mayonnaise.
5. Coat meats for breading.
6. Bind meat loaves and croquettes.
7. Hinder crystallization in candy-making.
8. Garnish canapés or salads.
9. Add color and flavor.
10. Provide rich food value.

Orange Juice Gives New Zip to Beets

Prepare beets this way when the oven is on.

Orange Beets
 8 medium-sized beets
 1/2 cup boiling water
 2 teaspoons cornstarch
 2 tablespoons sugar
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/3 cup orange juice
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Peel beets and grate coarsely. Place in small baking dish with boiling water; cover. Bake in very hot (450 degrees) oven until tender — about 30 minutes.

Stir cornstarch, sugar and salt together thoroughly. Stir in orange juice until smooth.

Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until clear and thickened. Add butter. Stir sauce into beets.

Makes six servings.

Use light cream in that white sauce, instead of milk, and add capers. Serve to company over a fish loaf or fillets.

Popcorn Good to Serve as Cold Weather Snack

Pontiac Press Food Editor

When we read the story of the Pilgrim's first Thanksgiving feast, as told in our school books, we read that one of the foods brought to the feast by the Indians was popcorn. It is immaterial whether that story is true. We do know that popcorn is a real American food and that it is becoming an increasingly important industry in large cities today.

This wintry weather makes the thoughts of curling up with a good book or watching television most inviting. What better food to eat at such a time than a big bowl of hot buttered popcorn. No, Matilda, you are on a diet and may not have buttered popcorn. But you may have one cup of unbuttered corn which contains only 55 calories.

You can pop just as good corn in an old battered skillet as you can in the latest, electrical gadget. I sometimes think it's better done the old way. It's also fun to do it over an open fire.

During the holidays I learned a new way to pop corn. All you need is a heavy pan and a wet washcloth. Cover the bottom of the hot pan with oil or unsalted fat. Put in enough popcorn to cover the pan, one kernel deep. Wring out the wet washcloth as dry as possible. Stretch it over the top of the pan and smooth it down all around. Then just wait. You'll have the nicest pan full of fluffy popped corn you ever ate; and you won't have to shake it one bit.

We've all eaten and enjoyed popcorn balls. Have you made any sugared popcorn lately? It is different enough from your usual confection to draw admiring comments from the family.

Sugared Popcorn
2 quarts freshly popped corn
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup water
Dash of salt

Have corn popped before preparing the sirup. Boil the sugar, water and salt together to the firm ball stage (242 degrees). Remove at once from the fire and stir until the mixture just begins to grain around the edges. Pour over the corn and stir quickly and thoroughly until each grain is coated with the sugar. If desired, the sirup may be colored red or green with a few drops of vegetable coloring.

Just this week I got the following recipe. It makes what sounds like very good caramel corn. The only trouble is you probably won't be able to stop eating it, once you start.

Caramel Corn
1/2 lb. packaged caramels (36 caramels)
2 tablespoons water
3 quarts popped corn

Place the caramels and water in the top of a double boiler. Heat, stirring frequently, until the caramels are melted and the sauce is smooth. Pour over the pop-corn and toss until every kernel is coated. Spread on a lightly greased cookie sheet and let stand until the surface is dry. Break apart and serve.

For Flavorful Custard

A teaspoon of vanilla or an eighth teaspoon of nutmeg will flavor a custard made with 3 cups of milk, 3 or 4 eggs, 6 tablespoons of sugar and a dash of salt.

Ever team mashed turnips with mashed potatoes? Season with salt, freshly ground pepper, celery salt and butter or margarine.

BREAKFAST SANDWICHES—Here's a breakfast-time surprise that will rate cheery comments all around the table. It's Breakfast Sandwiches, cereal.

Children Need Growth Snacks

Let's look at the facts. Many children if they are to have all the food they need will require an after-school lunch, the meal-to-grow-on, that likewise can be a pushover for providing extra energy.

From the amount and kind of food eaten by youngsters, they may not be as good to themselves as they think. Facts confirm that "mothers know best." Children's diets are best at the pre-school level, next best at the kindergarten and primary, and poorest at high school.

During grade school years, youngsters, as they grow in independence, gradually veer away from mother's early training until only about one-fourth of them eat the recommended amounts and kinds of foods.

Aside from increasing independence, good eating habits must compete too often with hasty breakfasts, school bus schedules and activities.

Good eating habits and balanced diets go together. Good diets are made up of carbohydrates as well as proteins and other nutrients so essential for children.

The need for carbohydrate by energetic youngsters may not be appreciated. Their almost continuous activity during waking hours requires a big refueling job for muscles.

Carbohydrate is a more efficient fuel for exercise than is either fat or protein. Individuals need carbohydrate for long continued muscular work.

If too few calories are provided by carbohydrate-supplying foods—enriched bread, potatoes or cereals—the protein in the diet may be used for energy rather than for growth and repair by the body tissues.

Studies show that if a child, day in and out, lacks as few as four calories per pound of body weight—400 calories for a child whose weight is 100 pounds—he will fail to grow satisfactorily.

Remember these facts when you hear the call, "Mom, I'm home from school!" This might well be the time for a big sandwich of enriched bread filled with peanut butter or cheese, a glass of milk or fruit juice and perhaps vegetable strips.

Turn Cake Into Pudding

A package of cake mix will make a pudding if it is steamed. Add orange rind (grated) to the batter. Fill well-greased custard cups about two-thirds full and tie a couple of thicknesses of waxed paper over the top of each cup. Steam the individual puddings about 30 minutes and serve with an orange sauce.

Sandwiches for Breakfast Will Awaken Good Cheer

Early morning usually is not regarded as the ideal time to spring surprises on an unsuspecting family. But here's one morning surprise that will rate cheery comments all around the breakfast table.

It's Breakfast Sandwiches—tasty, different treats that bring you jam or jelly between two crisp-fried slices of good whole wheat cereal.

Like hot bowls of cereal, these right-out-of-the skillet sandwiches send shivers scotching. They are exceptionally nourishing, too, because the whole wheat cereal you use is the instant or regular kind with extra wheat germ added.

If you think anything that sounds this good must be too much bother for breakfast, listen. You cook the cereal the day before—or use leftover cooked cereal. Put the cooked cereal into a loaf pan to chill.

Next morning, cut the chilled cereal into slices, brown and spread with jam. As easily as that, Breakfast Sandwiches are ready to serve for a hearty, delicious, different morning meal—or for a hurry-up lunch or supper.

Breakfast Sandwiches
2 cups water or milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup uncooked instant or 1/2 cup uncooked regular whole wheat cereal
Uncooked cereal for rolling slices
Fat for browning in skillet
Jam or jelly

Heat water or milk and salt to boiling in 6-cup saucepan. Stir in instant or regular whole wheat cereal slowly enough so that boiling does not stop.

With instant cereal, boil and stir 10 seconds, let stand five minutes and then stir. With regular cereal, boil slowly five minutes, stirring often. Pour mixture into 6-cup loaf pan which has been rinsed with cold water. Cover.

Chill until firm, about four to six hours or overnight. Unmold. Cut into 15 slices. Roll slices in uncooked cereal. Brown on both sides in hot fat.

ARM & HAMMER SAL SODA

Does countless cleaning jobs quicker, with less effort, at small cost.

Place half of cereal slices on serving plate. Spread each slice with a rounded teaspoon of jelly or jam. Top each slice with one of the remaining slices. Serve hot. Makes eight sandwiches.

Oriental-Type Salad Pairs Off With Ham

This salad is a just-right accompaniment to ham.

Oriental Salad
1/4 cup ripe olives
2 hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 pints coarsely shredded lettuce

Cut olives from pits into large pieces. Mash egg yolks fine and blend with vinegar, sugar and mayonnaise. Add olives and thinly sliced egg whites.

Just before serving add dressing to lettuce; mix lightly, adding salt to taste. Makes six servings.

House Probes to Be Curtailed

Rules Committee Plans to Crack Down on All Unnecessary Quizzes

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Rules Committee has announced a crackdown on congressional investigations during the present Congress.

The announcement was made to the House by Chairman Smith (D-Va.), who said it had the approval of the Democratic and Republican leadership.

The Rules Committee must approve all proposals for special investigations by House groups.

Smith said that in past years there has been "a good many unnecessary investigations" and the objective of the new policy is to curb "this matter of investigations all over creation."

He said the rules group will approve no investigation unless "a good case is made for it" and the exact nature of the proposed probes are outlined.

In short, he told a reporter, "There will be no fishing expeditions."

Smith said more than 80 proposals for investigations are pending in the Rules Committee, many of them involving "duplications and unnecessary excursions."

About the time of Smith's House announcement the Senate Rules Committee approved nine requests for funds to set up new Senate investigations or extend old ones. More than a half million dollars in funds was involved.

At the request of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), the Senate Rules Committee put off action on a request from Chairman Johnston (D-SC) of the Civil Service Committee for $125,000 for an inquiry into the administration security program. McCarthy said he wanted to know first "just what they want to investigate."

FIRST BUILDING AT 'STATE'—Nearly 100 years ago, when Michigan State College was a clearing in the wilderness, the first building on the campus looked like this. Beaumont Tower now stands on the spot.

100 Years Old on Feb. 12

MSC Forms Monument to Pioneers in Education

This is the first in a series of two articles on the Michigan State College Centennial.

EAST LANSING (UP)—A revolutionary notion was stirring in the minds of those interested in education about 100 years ago.

This was the idea that a farmer—a plain, dirt farmer, not just a gentleman farmer—should and could go to college.

The new philosophy of education for the common man led to the establishment of Michigan State College, now busily preparing to celebrate its centennial as the nation's first agricultural college.

Farmers made up more than 85 per cent of the population 100 years ago. But colleges and universities followed the European tradition of devoting their teaching to the education of doctors, lawyers, clergymen and "gentlemen."

Michigan was a raw, new agricultural state at the time, just starting to grow with its first tides of immigration.

The State Legislature became interested in this new idea of a "school for farmers" as early as 1850.

On Feb. 12, 1855, Gov. Kingsley S. Bingham signed the law which created Michigan Agricultural College.

Michigan State will open its 100th anniversary celebration Feb. 12 with a Founder's Day to mark that signing.

The infant college began with the purchase of 667 acres of swampy, uncleared land near Lansing at $15 an acre. Three buildings were erected on the muddy clearing, a college hall, a dormitory and a small brick stable.

Classes started in the spring of 1857 with an enrollment of 63 farm youths.

Joseph R. Williams, a Detroit attorney who was the first president, showed himself a man of great vision with his remarks that day.

"Men will brand it as an experiment," he said of the college. "We have no guides and no precedents. In its infancy, the institution must rely on the caprice of successive Legislatures."

"The adoption of a permanent policy requires a stable and resilient support that will carry it through adversity, regardless alike of the frowns or smiles of indifference, ignorance or malice."

He concluded: "As to this youthful state belongs the honor of establishing the pioneer state institution of the kind, and initiating what may prove one of the significant movements of the age, may she enjoy the glory of its complete and ultimate triumph."

The first students received their tuition free, paid two dollars a week board and four dollars a year room rent but had to work three or four hours a day.

"Chopping was the principal work," one of the members of the original class reported. Trees and stumps had to be cleared away to create a campus in the wilderness. Students, aided by a few teams of horses and oxen, provided the manpower.

Because of the low, swampy ground, chills and fevers were epidemic.

At first, there was no professor of agriculture. An orchard set out in a hollow died. A student sowed a field of turnips but spread the seed so lavishly the crop was all tops and little turnip.

"Twenty years after," a historian noted, "this story was still being told to illustrate the fact that professors at the college didn't know anything about farming."

This also was the attitude of many of the early farmer-legislators. Unimpressed by "book learning," they were reluctant to vote funds for the struggling college.

There were repeated proposals to merge the agricultural college with the University of Michigan. Money and manpower shortages during the Civil War nearly dealt a death blow.

Then, in 1862, Abraham Lincoln signed the Morrill Act creating a nationwide system of land grant colleges to be financed by the sale of public lands.

The system was patterned after Michigan State College, which Congressman Justin Morrill, author of the act, declared "was in full tide of successful experiment."

Totally Blinded, Mayor Serves Town 13 Years

CARROLTON, O. (UP)—Robert Frampton, 50, is believed to be the only blind mayor in the state and one of the few anywhere.

He has held the post since 1942, about the time he began to lose his sight from optic neuritis. By 1944 he was totally blind.

Frampton performs all the duties of his office, signing papers, conducting meetings, presiding in court and the like, though he admitted readily that his wife, Lois, and his dog, Vickie, are invaluable.

"Without them I couldn't get along as well as I do," he explained.

Radio is probably one of his most valuable aides. Carrollton has a hook-up between local police, the sheriff's office and the State Highway Patrol which Mayor Frampton is able to monitor and thereby keep in touch with events. One of the town's proudest accomplishments under Mayor Frampton was the completion in 1949 of a new $60,000 town hall.

Greedy Turtle Hooked

ADAMS, Mass. (UP)—Because it ate too much, a 65-pound turtle was caught here. George E. Schwarzer and Raymond Baker baited a long line of hooks and dropped it into Cheshire Lake. The next morning they returned to find the snapping turtle had systematically eaten 10 fish that bit at the hooks. On the 10th hook, the turtle got caught himself.

Scientists See 1985 Airliners Traveling 2,000 M.P.H. 2 Reds Bargain With Uncle Sam

NEW YORK (INS) — Prominent aeronautical and astronautical scientists predicted tonight that passenger airliners 30 years from now will fly 2,000 miles an hour at altitudes above 15 miles and may be powered by nuclear energy.

The look into the skies of 1985 took place at a symposium sponsored by Trans World Airlines at the American Museum-Hayden Planetarium in New York. The occasion was the observance this year of TWA's "30 Years of Service Anniversary."

Glimpses of aviation 30 years hence were given by Dr. Werner von Braun, chief of the guided missiles development division at the Army's Red Stone Arsenal in Alabama; Hall Hibbard, vice president of engineering Lockheed Aircraft Corp., and Dr. Fred L. Whipple, chairman of Harvard University's Department of Astronomy.

Dr. von Braun, one of the world's foremost rocket experts, foresaw the possibility in 1985 of breakfast in New York and morning coffee in Los Angeles, accomplished through the medium of commercial airliners flying at altitudes of about 12 miles—about three times the present altitudes.

He expects the 1985 planes to be not greatly different in size from today's Super Constellations, "but the overall design will be quite different."

He said he doesn't expect the airliners to be powered by rocket motors, but suggests they'll use "novel types of jet engines such as the ram jet."

Dr. von Braun has predicted in the book "Across the Space Frontier" that by 1985 there will be a manned space station circling the globe in an orbit 1,075 miles above the earth. He said:

"But I think it is a good bet that within the next 30 years we'll see first an unmanned 'baby' space station—a small instrument-carrying rocket—fired into an orbit say 200 miles above the earth."

"That will be the first step. Then, after science has probed our outer space in this gradual manner, man will gingerly venture above the earth's atmosphere in rocket ships."

"Finally, after all these experiments, man will erect a huge space station and the last great adventure can begin—the conquest of space."

Hibbard declared that in 30 years' time, supersonic commercial transports will be flying regularly on the airlines. He said these aircraft will cruise at 1,500 miles an hour (at altitudes of 80, 000 feet) and hence will be able to fly from Los Angeles to New York in approximately 1 hour and 45 minutes. He added:

"The short haul city-to-city service will be accomplished by vertical-taking feeder line aircraft carrying 50 passengers and with a cruising speed of 500 miles an hour.

"Due to the low-cost carrying ability of turbo-propeller cargo airplanes, the freight and cargo business will be the major revenue producer on the airlines, eclipsing even the passenger business."

"All mail and parcel post will be carried by air. Nuclear-powered passenger planes will be flying and might possibly be in airline service."

Dr. Whipple said that the planes of 30 years from now will be "extremely fast" and "extremely comfortable" and some of them will be powered by atomic energy.

Alcatraz Refuses Atom Spy's Son Visit With Father

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The wife of Martin Sobell, convicted atom spy, may visit him in Alcatraz federal prison today but their 5-year-old son Mark won't be along.

Yesterday Mrs. Sobell and the boy flew in from New York to visit Sobell. He is serving a 30-year sentence for conspiring with Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who paid with their lives for spying on atom secrets.

Mark was bitterly disappointed when the prison boat arrived with a note from the new warden Paul J. Madigan telling Mrs. Sobell: "Your visit cannot be granted today."

"But you promised. Call the boat back. You promised," protested Mark to his mother.

Mrs. Sobell called Warden Madigan and told him Edwin B. Swope, Madigan's predecessor as warden, had promised to let Mark visit his father.

Madigan explained that Alcatraz was returning to its former policy of not allowing small children to visit the island.

Two Junk Wagons Lose 'Chariot Race' to Police

BALTIMORE (AP)—A "chariot race" up the middle of a Baltimore street cost two junk wagon drivers $10 each yesterday.

A police car joined the race and finished first. Officers said there were four cheering passengers in one wagon and three in the other.

Draws Jobless Pay While Serving Time

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Just because he was a jail trusty, Edward G. Tarr didn't feel that should stop him from calling on the State Department of Employment to pick up a $25 weekly check.

But Municipal Judge Martin Devries took a different view yesterday and sentenced Tarr, 50, to a 60-day term for violating the unemployment insurance code.

Tarr admitted he paid four visits to the employment office while working as a trusty and collected $100. He was serving two 5-day and one 10-day term for intoxication.

Jailed Commies Seek Freedom With Promise to Leave Country

NEW YORK (AP)—Two imprisoned Communist conspiracy leaders have offered Uncle Sam a deal — set us free and we'll leave the country.

The pair — Jacob Mindel, 44, and Claudia Jones, 40 — spurned a federal judges proposal two years ago to suspend sentence if they wanted to go to Russia.

They did not specify in their plea yesterday where they would go if their sentences were reduced to the time already served.

U.S. Judge Edward J. Dimock, who imposed sentence, will hear arguments on the offer next Monday.

Counsel for the pair, Mrs. Mary M. Kaufman, made the proposal in federal court. She said they have heart ailments and continued confinement would endanger their lives.

Mindel, born in Russia, became a naturalized American citizen in 1918. Serving as a member of the American Communist party's National Education Commission, he was sentenced to two years in prison and fined $4,000.

Miss Jones, a British subject from the West Indies, faces deportation at the end of her prison sentence. Serving as secretary of the Communist party's women's commission, she was sentenced to one year and fined $2,000.

The two — along with the rest of the dozen second-string Communist leaders convicted — started to serve time Jan. 11 after the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review their case.

All the second-string leaders rejected Dimock's offer to let them go to Russia two years ago. They

Basement Model Railroad Major Moving Problem

By MARGARET LATROBE
Well, I've heard of folks building a cabin cruiser in the basement, then wondering how to get her afloat without dismantling the house.

And we've been intrigued by a lesser extent by the precision-instrument devotees who build four-masted schooners in beer bottles, but along with us are perfectly content to leave them there.

But now comes a New Jersey gentleman, David M. Sachs of Hillcrest Avenue in Plainfield, who has let himself believe in Santa Claus just once too often. He has built himself an 8-mile railroad in the cellar, over which scurry 18 locomotives, 95 pieces of rolling stock, a 12-stall engine terminal, scads of stations, and tunnels, trestles, and doubtless a few dangerous crossings.

His problem is now—what to do? He wants to move to another house. And if he can't take it with him (the railroad, that is) he ain't going. With thousands invested in this miniature Canadian National, Union Pacific and New York Central, he doesn't see his way clear to leave it behind as one customarily throws in such fixed assets as window shades, door knobs and bird baths for the new owners.

If he moves, the problem of dismantling and reassembling this conglomeration of cow-catchers will take upwards of two years. Then there is, the question of manpower. Railroads don't travel by themselves, as Mr. Sachs has learned. It takes a minimum of 12 men to run his basement choo-choo.

Before wrestling with the trestles, here are some questions which might be put to Sachs. Has rail tycoon Robert Young been approached as a prospective home owner? How about increasing the price of the domicile and considering a nice ping-pong set for the new play-room?

Does Mrs. Sachs own a mink coat or a new kitchen? Does she have difficulty persuading her train-happy spouse to wash storm windows? Finally is there a house-moving outfit which would agree to take basement and all?

When you come right down to it, what's wrong with 231 Hillcrest Avenue in Plainfield, New Jersey? Unless Mr. Sachs can get his rolling stock to roll itself over to the new house, I would advise that he stay right there with his transformers and switch engines.

The moral to this saga is—ladies, watch out what's a-building in the basement. Mushroom-growing or shuffleboard lend themselves to moving day better than a full-blown railroad.

Postpones African Independence Vote

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP)—Prime Minister Johannes Strijdom has pledged that his government will take no action to turn South Africa into a republic before the present Parliament ends in 1958.

But the fiery Nationalist told the crowded House of Assembly yesterday that South Africa will abandon its allegiance to the British crown "on the broad basis of the peoples' will," when the nation is ready. Presumably he meant the action would be taken when the Nationalists think they can win a countrywide vote on the issue.

Strijdom made his declarations in his first major speech in Parliament since taking the premiership from Dr. Daniel F. Malan, who retired last month. The new Prime Minister was replying to a motion of no confidence in the government introduced by the United party opposition leader, J. G. N. Strauss.

Foxy Geese Out-Smart Fox Through Hole in Ice

NORTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP)—Richmond Viall Jr. says he heard the family pet geese honking loudly the other night. On investigation he saw seven geese surrounding a hole in the ice of a nearby pond. The following day, he said, he went to the hole and found the body of a 14-pound fox.

His deduction is that the fox fell into the pond while stalking the geese and the geese kept him in the water until he drowned.

It ends soon!

DiMag, Lyons, Vance, Hartnett Join Immortals

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, one of the Yankees' all-time greats reached baseball's Hall of Fame today just three years after his retirement and was joined by Dazzy Vance, Ted Lyons and Gabby Hartnett as the newest additions to the names of diamond heroes enshrined at Cooperstown, N. Y.

The four were elected Wednesday by 251 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Assn. Their election increased the Hall of Fame membership to 77 men. Formal induction will be at the Cooperstown museum, July 25.

There was no argument as to the quartet's selection although 65 former players received one or more votes. Under the rules a man must be mentioned on three fourths (189) of the ballots for election.

DiMaggio, who just missed last year when the late Rabbit Maraville, Bill Dickey and Bill Terry were selected, led the ticket. The former Yankee Clipper drew 223 votes as the writers recalled his lifetime batting average of .325, his brilliant playing in 51 World Series games in 10 series with the Yankees his major league record of hitting in 56 successive games and selection as the American League's most valuable player in 1939, 1941 and 1947.

"It's great to be on the same team with all those old timers," said DiMaggio who heard of his selection while driving from Boston to New York.

Lyons and Vance, who reached the heights as right-handed pitchers before DiMaggio joined the Yankees, were next in line.

Lyons, who came off the Baylor campus in 1923 and compiled a 260-230 record with the Chicago White Sox before he finally left in 1948 after managing the Sox for three years, received 217 votes. Lyons was a coach with the Brooklyn Dodgers last year, but recently returned an offer to manage in the minor leagues.

Vance, famous as Brooklyn's fireball pitcher, was named on 205 ballots. The Dazzler, who now spends most of the time these days hunting and fishing at his Homosassa, Fla., home didn't arrive in the majors until late in life but he compiled a 197-140 record. His best performance of 28-6 came in 1924.

Vance learned of the honor in a telephone conversation with President Walter J. O'Malley of Brooklyn but he had his suspicions when a Florida highway patrolman flagged down his car and told him there was a photographer waiting at his home.

Hartnett, who recalls his dramatic home run in the gloaming which won the 1938 National League pennant for the Cubs as one of his career highlights, received 195 votes. Gabby, now 54, hit 236 homers, played in 4 World Series and five all-star games.

"Thank God I lived long enough to hear about it," was the Gabby one's first comment on hearing the news while with friends at a golf club.

Giardello Beats Andrews, Looks Forward to Rematch

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Joey Giardello, his plans for an early crack at the middleweight title confounded by a less-than-spectacular showing in his first outing in four months, looked forward today to a rematch with Al Andrews.

"Sure, I want to fight him again," Joey said in his dressing room after winning a unanimous, but disputed, 10-round decision over Andrews last night in a rough brawl at Norfolk's Municipal Auditorium.

"One more against Andrews and then I'm ready for Bobo Olson," Giardello said, his right hand encased in a tub of ice and his left eye sporting a shiner.

Andrews didn't see it that way, although he was just as eager for another fight with Giardello. The two boxers tentatively agreed to a rematch in Baltimore Feb. 8.

"There's no doubt I won," Andrews contended bitterly, fighting drew contended bitterly, fighting fight I've had in a year. He didn't knock me down. I was off balance."

The knockdown won for Giardello. It was the only time either man was floored and came in the ninth round when Andrews walked into a wicked left hook and a sharp chopping right.

Up to that point, one judge had Andrews ahead, the other had the fight even. Referee Paddy Mills had it for Giardello all the way.

Giardello weighed 162, Andrews 159.

Denver Coach Gets Dartmouth Position

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Blackman, switching to Dartmouth from Denver, becomes the 14th man to fill a major college football coaching vacancy since the stadiums were emptied for the last time in 1954.

Blackman, 36-year old mastermind of Denver's Skyline conference champions in '54, was named Wednesday to succeed veteran Deorand (Tuss) McLaughry at Dartmouth following a meeting of the athletic council.

Contract terms were not made public for Blackman whose resignation at Denver became known only a few hours before Dartmouth athletic director Robert (Red) Rolfe's announcement.

$5,000 Salary Boost for Cards' Repulski

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rip Repulski, rewarded with a $5,000 salary boost for his performance with the St. Louis Cardinals last season, hopes to gain ground in the run-batted-in department this year.

The 26-year-old outfielder signed his contract Wednesday for a reported $15,000, about $5,000 more than he received in 1954. Repulski hit 19 homers and 39 doubles and batted .283 last year to rank second to Stan Musial in the Cardinals slugging department with a .454 average.

Topnotch Pros Tee Off Today in Invitational

Thunderbird's Course Has Been Toughened Up for Tournament

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Leading professionals of the touring pros brought their show into this desert resort town to tee off with the first round of the 72-hole Thunderbird Invitational tournament today.

Heading the procession are the winners of the first of the 1953 winter tourney schedule, Gene Littler, Cary Middlecoff and Tommy Bolt, and last year's victor in the Thunderbird, Freddie Haas.

They say Thunderbird's 6,314-yard, par 36-72 course has been toughened up a bit for this year's assault. Haas' winning score of 268 will be difficult to match.

The same may be true in the case of the 61 scored by Bo Winger in the first round last year. Winger, again on deck, shot a spectacular 33-28. It is a professional competitive record although registered in a tournament not officially sponsored by the Professional Golfers' Assn. of America.

Forty-two professionals, including most of the 30 top money winners plus several especially invited pros, shoot for the $2,000 purse for the 72-hole low score. All will receive a minimum of $100 put up by Thunderbird's roster of influential members.

The pros teamed up with the members—one pro, three amateurs—for the first two rounds. The pro member of the winning team will earn $1,000.

Vic Seixas, Trabert Gain Aussie Tourney Finals

They whipped Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig of Australia 6-4, 10-12, 6-0, 6-1 in a semifinal struggle.

In the other semifinal, an all-Australia affair, Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall beat Neale Fraser and Ashley Cooper, 12-10, 6-4, 6-2.

'Peace With Honor' Aim of NFL's Bell

NEW YORK (U) — The National Football League opened its annual business meeting today, giving Commissioner Bert Bell a free hand in negotiating "peace with honor" with Canadian football.

With the unanimous approval of NFL directors, Bell said he would try to work out "a just and honorable peace. We did not start this thing and we are not afraid. We don't plan to turn the other cheek."

Actually, the NFL's war is against one club — the Toronto Argonauts — rather than the entire Canadian league structure. The Argos are determined to hire and talk business with any NFL player they choose, with or without the consent of their own Big Four league or Canadian football as a whole.

The other members of the Big Four — Hamilton, Montreal and Ottawa — have indicated they are agreeable to a peaceful settlement of mutual problems with the NFL, and have entered into a semi-official no-raiding agreement.

The Argos, however, have pushed the issue. In fact, they picked the eve of the NFL session to announce the signing of Billy Shipp, 275-pound tackle of the New York Giants. Shipp is the second New Yorker signed by Toronto in as many days.

Ray Walsh, general manager of the Giants, termed it "an old announcement. The Argonauts sent out the release for no other reason than to breathe defiance of the recent no-raiding agreement.

"There can be no peace," added Walsh, "so long as the Argos operate under their present setup. They will continue to raid and so will we. So far as we are concerned the war is still on."

Bell mentioned the two Giants as well as a Detroit player snared by Toronto and said "something will have to be done about that." He indicated Toronto would have to return the three players and others picked up from NFL teams if peace is to come.

Bell said he would give fair warning to NFL clubs at the start of the player draft — the big item on today's meeting program. Any player selected, he said, who already is under contract with a Canadian club will have to go to that club.

"But if the war is still on," he added, "then it will be up to the NFL club that picks the player to battle it out with the Canadians."

The Canadian-U.S. player feud is not on the official agenda for the three-day NFL session, but several Canadian officials are on the scene and there certainly will be discussions.

Other matters under consideration in addition to the player draft, a ritual in which the clubs pluck off available graduating talent:

1. Three proposed rule changes, the most important suggesting elimination of the conversion and making a touchdown worth seven points.

2. A move to raise the player limit to 35 from 33, opposed by the weaker clubs.

3. Review of the television policy now subject to 2-million-dollar anti-trust suit by the bankrupt Liberty Broadcasting System.

NCAA TV Body Maps Schedule

Plan for 1955 to Be Completed in Next Three Weeks

CHICAGO (U) — The NCAA Television Committee has set up a timetable calling for completion of the 1955 football television plan within three weeks.

E. L. (Dick) Romney, Skyline Conference commissioner, Wednesday was named the new committee chairman at the conclusion of a two-day meeting, the group's first session.

"Members of the committee have a fine approach to the problem of formulating a 1955 plan," said Romney, who for 31 years was football coach and athletic director at Utah State before becoming conference commissioner.

"I am confident we will settle on a suitable program."

"The 12-man committee studied various TV plans without coming to conclusions," said Walter Byers, committee secretary and executive director of the NCAA.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

CASE—Tilt to Right.

If you find yourself wavering to the right as you approach the foul line—a sort of body tilt—my suggestion is that you practice a more complete extension of the left arm.

What you need is something to offset the weight of the swinging ball—the 16 pound weight on the right side. Without left arm stretch, that weight naturally will cause you to sag or veer at right angle.

Do this: Extend the left arm as soon as the ball has been dropped downward into its backswing after the push-away. Some players extend the arm farther than others, but all top bowlers do it. Force the left arm outward, away from the body, if necessary, but get it out there, no matter how awkward it feels at first.

You'll soon find yourself striding in a straight line, and that, of course, means delivering the ball on a desired spot for pay-off control. More than that, you'll feel relaxed, comfortable, free in stride, and much improved in form.

Tebbetts Calls Giant Triumph 'Team Effort'

Claims Many of Mays' Teammates Could Have Been Named MVP

BOSTON (U) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs thinks Willie Mays is terrific but that many of his world champion New York Giant teammates could just as easily have been named the National League's most valuable player.

"The Giants' triumph was a great team effort," Tebbetts said last night at the 16th annual Boston Baseball Writers' dinner. He was presented the Paul Shannon award for outstanding achievement in his debut as a major league pilot.

"But with all credit to Mays," Birdie added, "you've got to give full credit also to men like Alvin Dark, Don Mueller, Johnny Antonelli, Ruben Gomez, Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom."

Mays, and his most valuable player counterpart in the American League, catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees, also got plaques along with Baltimore pitcher Joe Coleman. Other awards went to Giants pitching coach Frank Shellback and Boston Red Sox 3rd baseman Grady Hatton.

Hatcher Says Big 10 Might Bolt NCAA

Midwest Schools Are Unhappy Over National TV Setup

DETROIT (UP)—Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, said today he and other Big Ten college presidents opposed the football "game of the week" television plan and hinted the conference might bolt the NCAA unless some changes are made.

Hatcher said presidents of Big Ten Schools think the NCAA's policy for the past two years is unwise and will soon "be seen for the folly it obviously is."

"We would be reluctant to withdraw from participation in a National Collegiate Athletic Association program, and we trust that this step will not be necessary," he said.

Hatcher, in a speech prepared for delivery before the Detroit Athletic Club, said college football with few exceptions is a local "or perhaps regional sport."

A heavy concentration of alumni and friends in a region would rather see their own or regional schools than "be told by a national committee that they must see the two games they select, or none," he said.

Hatcher also criticized members of state legislatures who have introduced resolutions to solve the TV problem. He said such bills, although well intended, were not in the best interests of intercollegiate athletics.

Syracuse, Celtics Win

Both Syracuse and the Boston Celtics scored victories in National Basketball Association play last night to remain tied for the Eastern Division lead.

Nationals whipped Philadelphia, 107-99, while Boston stopped Western leader Fort Wayne, 99-90. Rochester beat New York, 96-94 in the only other game scheduled.

Crisler Lauds Wolverine 11 for Fine Performance

CHICAGO (U) — Fritz Crisler, Michigan athletic director, told the Michigan Club of Chicago last night that the Wolverines' 1954 football team "succeeded far beyond my expectations."

Speaking at the club's annual football banquet, Crisler praised Michigan grid coach Bennie Oosterbaan.

Pontiac Kegler Hits Unusual String of 134s

What is regarded as a record for Pontiac area bowling lanes—or at least one of the most usual experiences, was turned in a few days ago by Cecil R. Couch, 2821 Buick street.

Couch, member of Welden's team in the Montclair House league, was rolling a few practice lines at West Huron Bowl, when he hit four consecutive 134 games. The 5th was 172. His average is 160.

"I never heard of any one around the area, at least this winter, rolling a quadruplicate," Couch pointed out. "Maybe it's a record of some sort." Tripliques are more common performances.

Procita Beats Mosconi

CHICAGO (U) — Joe Procita of Los Angeles defeated world champion Willie Mosconi 186-150 in 12 innings Wednesday night for his first victory in the 1,500-point pocket billiards challenge series.

Mosconi won 150-8 in five innings in an afternoon match and previously had taken the two opening blocks.

Mosconi leads in blocks, three to one, and in points 600 to 283. The series will continue through Saturday.

South Lyon Man Stabbed in Chest

Edward Banks Attacked After Accepting Ride From Stranger

A 25-year-old South Lyon man was stabbed in the chest early today after accepting a ride in an auto in the southwest section of the city.

Pontiac General Hospital authorities said they weren't able to give the condition of Edward Banks of 425 Donovan after the man had been removed for surgery.

Banks' brother, David, 21, and a companion Joe Richardson, 29, of 320 Gibson, both also of South Lyon, told police the older Banks got out of the car and asked a man, driving a green, 1949 Cadillac for directions. Banks accepted a ride with the unidentified man and drove off, with his brother and companion following in their car.

Police said shortly afterwards, Banks returned to the auto, holding his chest and saying he'd been stabbed.

Meanwhile, the driver of the other car, which had a left-front flat tire, had fled. Police later found the Cadillac parked in front of 28 Iowa St. about 8:30 a. m.

Detective Sgt. Allen D. Noble said he hadn't been able to talk to Banks this morning for a description of the assailant. Police also are checking with Lansing for ownership of the auto. They said blood stains were found on the left door of the car which bore license plate number EW 66-17.

Red Convicted on Membership

Federal Jury Decides That Belonging to Party Violates Smith Act

CHICAGO (INS) — Illinois Communist leader Claude M. Lightfoot who went to Moscow in 1935 and "studied" there for four months was convicted yesterday by a federal jury of violating the Smith Act in the first trial of an untested clause in the statute.

A Chicago jury of seven men and five women decided that Lightfoot, 45-year-old executive secretary of the Illinois Communist Party, had advocated the violent overthrow of the United States government. He faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The section of the 1940 law under which Lightfoot was convicted makes it a crime to belong to an organization advocating overthrow of the government by force and knowing of such intent.

In Washington, Justice Department sources said the historic verdict may clear the way for the arrest and trial of more Communist Party underground leaders. Lightfoot, 45-year-old executive secretary of the Communist Party in Illinois, told newsmen he will continue to work for the Communist Party until his case is finally disposed of through further legal steps including appeal, if necessary. He remained free on $30,000 bond.

Generous Donors Aid Tots in Battle With Disease

LISCO, Neb. (U)—"Perfectly wonderful people" who stand ready in this area of wide ranch lands to give their blood at a moment's notice are keeping two little children alive.

Peggy Lea Davis, 14 months, and her brother Joe, 5, suffer from idiopathic capillary purpura, a rare disease, that baffles medical science. Medical men say there are only about 15 known cases in the United States.

It is an unpredictable bleeding disease. It calls for fresh blood when the victim is seized. To meet sudden seizures, Mrs. A. J. Davis, mother of the two tots, keeps close at hand her large list of "perfectly wonderful people" always willing to aid.

"The only thing that has kept us going is the faith we have in these people, and the faith they have shown in us," Mrs. Davis said.

To date there have been 50 transfusions for Joe. There have been 18 for Peggy Lea.

"It shows," said Mrs. Davis, "that it isn't true that people want to know what's in it for them."

On Feb. 6 Peggy Lea will go to Chicago Presbyterian Hospital for tests devised by doctors there.

Interceptor Plan Receives Shift

South of Waterford to Farmington Now Under Consideration

Officials of five Oakland County communities have shifted the route of a proposed interceptor sewer under consideration to solve their sanitary sewage disposal problems, and one township has already voted to pay a share of the engineering costs for plans of the project.

Oakland County Drain Commissioner Ralph Main explained today that the new path of the interceptor sewer which could carry waste to the Detroit system for treatment would be south from Waterford Township, through Keego Harbor, West Bloomfield Township, Farmington Township and the city of Farmington.

Such a sewer would pick up the flow from local sewers and carry it off, eliminating the need for septic tanks.

Waterford Township board members have voted approval of paying a share of the costs of studying such a project.

Originally the areas had considered tunneling the sewage east, through Pontiac, Pontiac Township, Avon Township, and then south through Troy and Royal Oak townships, and into the Detroit system.

Main said that the newest plan would save Waterford Township considerable money, by eliminating approximately 6-8 miles of interceptor needed.

Earlier, the possibility of building a sewage disposal plant in Avon Township was discussed, but failed to win support.

Avon Township officials had strongly opposed any sewage disposal plant within their boundaries, and favored having the sewage carried into Detroit for treatment.

Main credited Waterford Township Supervisor Lloyd C. Anderson for much of the thinking behind the proposed route change.

Officials at earlier meetings were generally agreed that if further study indicates a need for combined action, a joint governing body or authority might be set up.

A rough cost estimate of the necessary pumping station at Rochester to boost the sewage through lines down to Seven Mile Road under the previous plan was $300,000.

Another meeting of interested officials has been called for Feb. 1 at Farmington Township, to discuss engineer proposals of the plan.

Britain, France Push Bonn Plan Despite Russia

LONDON (U)—Britain and France have served notice they will push forward Allied plans to rearm West Germany regardless of Russia's threats to junk her 20-year mutual aid pact with the two Western powers.

The two governments made public today the texts of notes delivered yesterday to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. They replied to Russia's notes last month warning that she would cancel mutual aid treaties signed with the two nations in World War II, if the Paris accords to rearm West Germany in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are ratified.

The drive is divided into three units, Suburban, Metropolitan Detroit and Advanced, all under the general chairmanship of Harry J. Loynd, president of Parke, Davis & Co. It is set to end Feb. 23.

The Suburban unit also includes Ann Arbor, Monroe, Plymouth, Wayne, Wyandotte, Ypsilanti and the downriver area.

Charges OAS With Meddling

Interned Ex-President of Costa Rica Attacks Interference

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (INS)—Costa Rican ex-President Rafael Calderon Guardia, the leader of the rebel forces in the recent abortive uprising against the San Jose government, has accused the Organization of American States (OAS) of interfering in Costa Rican internal affairs.

Calderon Guardia was interned with 240 of his men when he crossed the Nicaraguan border two days ago.

In his first interview yesterday at the military barracks where he is held, the former president declared:

"The revolution has been won by the OAS. We were winning until the bombers arrived."

He apparently referred to the four U.S. fighter-bombers supplied to President Jose Figueres' government at a nominal price on the recommendation of the OAS fact-finding commission.

Calderon Guardia said the Inter-American organization would be weakened by its action because it moved "against the will of two-thirds of the Costa Rican people."

He claimed: "All political parties in Costa Rica are against the Figueres regime. Our rebel movement was for national unification. Figueres is alone."

'Maser' A-Clock Called Most Accurate Timepiece

NEW YORK (AP)—An atomic clock described as the most accurate timepiece ever devised—with a possible variation of only a second in 300 years—has been perfected at Columbia University.

It can tell time better than the earth's rotation around the sun and may usher in an era of atomic standard time.

Prof. Charles H. Townes, 39, its inventor, foresees myriad uses for the device such as:

Giving greater precision to radio and television frequencies and to navigation instruments.

Determining whether the earth's rotation is slowing down or whether the rotation speed varies from time to time, and

Opening the way for more detailed study of molecular and atomic particles.

The new clock is known as a "Maser," rhyming with "grazer." This is a contraction of "Micro-wave Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation."

Townes told newsmen he came across the idea while sitting "with time on my hands" in Franklin Park in Washington in 1951.

"It is not the first atomic clock," the Columbia announcement said. It differs from its predecessors, however, in that it does not use electronic circuits and thus is not limited by their shortcomings.

The Maser, presently about the size of a refrigerator, is due to be made in smaller models.

There are two Masers. When the first one was finished, there was nothing accurate enough to check it with. So another was built as a double-check.

Work on the Maser began three years ago.

The radiation laboratory is sponsored by the Army, Navy and Air Force. The government consequently will have royalty-free use of any devices stemming from the Maser.

The Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Co. contributed some of the funds for the Maser research.

Winter Carnival Will Open Friday

The first weekend schedule includes a coronation show Friday night, a selection of a Petoskey winter queen Saturday and the northern Michigan open speed skating tournament and the ice revue on Sunday.

An invitational ski meet will head the program for the weekend of Feb. 5-6. Other events will include hockey and basketball matches and the Winter Wonderland ice revue with a cast of nearly 100 local skaters. Michigan's winter queen will be crowned during the final weekend and will reign over the annual winter sports ball Feb. 12.

Seeks All-Fun College

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—A Yale instructor says some students are misfits because they envisioned college as a place of all play and no work. Richard B. Young says that too many undergraduates expected to find a "daily round of fun and games to the accompaniment of music that constitutes a college in the movies."

Sugar and pineapple products account for about nine-tenths of the normal quota of exports from Hawaiian Islands.

Students Dig Prof on Record Show

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—College students are inclined to think of their professors as strictly long-hair when it comes to music.

But not at Oklahoma A&M. The Aggies have a professor who is a disc jockey on a local radio station five nights a week. James C. Stratton is the dignified maestro of the turntables.

The professor's show is devoted mainly to jazz and he has quite a following among the swing and blues enthusiasts. Stratton can converse about classical orchestration or chamber music as easily as he can about jazz. The professor teaches in the Journalism department.

EAST HAMPTON, Conn. (UP)—The noon whistle is 15 minutes late here each day. That's because the whistle is set off by a volunteer fireman who can't leave his regular job until 12 o'clock and it takes him several minutes to reach the whistle.

State Department Seen Refusing to Allow Kin to Visit Airmen

SWEA CITY, Iowa (UP)—Relatives of two captive American airmen, determined to visit their kin in Chinese Communist prisons, today pressed for State Department clearance for the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fischer Sr. of SWEA City, yesterday telegraphed Secretary of State Dulles saying "we don't believe there is any danger to us" but "we are willing to take risks to see our son."

Their son Capt. Harold Fischer Jr., a double jet ace, has been imprisoned since April 1952, when he was shot down over Korea.

"We feel it is imperative to accept Chinese invitation to speed release of our son," the Fischer couple wired Dulles.

John Kiba, 41, of Akron, Ohio, planned to visit United Nations officials today before seeking help from the State Department in an effort to see his brother Airman Steve Kiba, 22, in a Chinese prison.

Kiba's sister Irene, 16, decided last night not to make the trip to Red China after another brother, Joe, an Akron policeman, rejected the idea.

Meanwhile, Washington sources indicated the State Department is unlikely to issue passports for visits to imprisoned American fliers because of the tense Formosan situation.

Shapely Film, TV Queen Is Miscast as an Actress

By EARL WILSON

Sonja Henie—in a full length white mink coat—and Robert Taylor—in a full length black beard—dined at Luchow's (but not together). Van Johnson, Judy Holliday and Janet Leigh also dotted the spot. Somebody started talking of a certain wonderfully shapely movie and TV actress (not Marilyn) who gets lots of publicity.

"That girl can do anything," said one.

"Except act," snapped a director.

Fred Allen—hearing of Jackie Gleason's apartment not being furnished—commented, "He just sits around on his money"—Gleason was asked by a fan to autograph a $1 bill. Actress Martha Stewart spoke up. "He can sign it now, but next year he'll have his picture on it."

Frank Sinatra phoned Gloria Vanderbilt from Australia... Is Conrad Hilton trying to buy one of Miami Beach's most glittering new hotels? ... Georgine Darcy, who was "Miss Torso" in "Rear Window," teams with Billy Daniel in the Mainstreet's new show.

Audrey Meadows was a big hit at the B'nai B'rith Sports Award dinner with her interviewing of Willie Mays—and so was Larry Doby, the Cleveland outfielder, who was asked whether he hates Leo Durocher. "I don't actually hate him," said Doby, "but I dislike him very much."

Martha Raye who bought her daughter Melody, 11, a $2700 mink coat last year, bought her a $2800 mink this year—cause now she's bigger.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Although Marilyn and Joe were in "the country" the other day friends insist they'll always be at the "just friends" stage... Arthur Godfrey denies he's going into a Pennsylvania hospital for an operation... Leo Durocher's hesitating about a $75,000 offer from the SEPost for his story.

Rita Gam, estranged from her husband, is featured in a cigarette ad with the line, "Rita's Going Steady"... The George Sidneys came to town with only the clothes they wore—cause his father mistakenly took off to Honolulu with their luggage.

Debbie Reynolds is at the Taft under her real name, Mary Francis Reynolds... Woody Herman'll be Sid Caesar's summer replacement... Lionel Hampton had a new vibraphone flown to him in Israel... Cost: $7,000... Horace Dodge and Gregg Sherwood will throw a Palm Beach wingding Feb. 20 to celebrate their second anniversary.

Jack Le Scouffe's getting his own big TV show—"The Grouch Bag"—and will become an "afternoon personality"... WISH I'D SAID THAT: "When a wife insists on wearing the pants, some other woman gets to wear the fur coat."—Quote. (Copyright 1955)

Ice Cream Shop Waitress Tells of Film Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Three years ago, Jody Lawrence costarred with Burt Lancaster in "10 Tall Men." Today she is a waitress in an ice cream shop near the UCLA campus.

How could this happen? Jody dropped by the shop to find out. She was dressed in the immaculate waitress uniform. If anything, she looked prettier than when I saw her on the set of "10 Tall Men."

"It was partly my fault," she began, explaining her slip from film prominence. "I see now that I was temperamental. I didn't cooperate with publicity. I didn't want to do cheesecake, not because my legs were bad, because they aren't. My entire training had been as an actress, and I didn't want to submit to the usual starlet routine."

"If I had it to do over again, I would do it differently. I realize now that cheesecake and publicity are an important part of the movie business."

Jody said her movie career began five years ago. She was 19. At Beverly Hills High School, she had been taking dramatic lessons from Benno Schneider and his wife. They brought her to the attention of Columbia, and she was signed.

She was catapulted to stardom, opposite Lancaster, John Derek in "Family Secret," Anthony Dexter in "The Brigand," etc. After working steadily, she had a two-month rest. Then the studio assigned her to a light-weight Mickey Rooney musical.

"I was bewildered and hurt," she recalled. "I had been co-starred in six important pictures. Now they wanted to put me in a little musical, and I couldn't even sing or dance.

"I had seen what had happened to John Derek in his last year at the studio; he was put into pictures that almost ruined his career. I didn't want that to happen to me. So I asked for my release."

She was released by the studio—after she did the Rooney picture, in which she got bottom billing among the principals. She tried for other jobs, but word had been circulated that she was temperamental. Charles Feldman signed her up for six months, but never got his production plans off the ground. She was dropped.

Jody worked in a couple of TV films, then the work didn't come. She needed to eat, so she took a job in a West Los Angeles eatery as a waitress. Not a very strong girl, she found the work hard. Her roommate got a job at the ice cream parlor in Westwood Village, and Jody switched to that easier job.

She earned $250 a week at Columbia. Today she makes $5 a day, plus about an equal amount in tips. "It's rather hard work, but I like it," she said. "After all, it's meeting the public, just like acting. That's what I do best."

Asks Ban on Bibles for School Students

WESTMINSTER, Md. (UP)—A petition was filed in Carroll County Circuit Court yesterday asking that the County School Board be restrained from allowing distribution of the New Testament to students in the public schools.

John A. O'Donnell, of Finksburg, charged the School Board was engaged in "active participation in the affairs of a religious organization" in violation of the 1st and 14th amendments to the Constitution.

The petition said the board allowed or caused distribution of "copies of religious scripture sectarian in nature and susceptible of many interpretations."

Limited GI Bill to Raise Curtain on Vets' Laws

WASHINGTON (UP)—House leaders arranged for quick action today on a limited GI schooling bill—a likely curtain raiser for more far-reaching veterans' legislation in the new Congress.

The measure would permit an estimated 1,400,000 men in the armed forces by Jan. 31 to keep on accruing postservice education rights beyond that date.

That cutoff date was fixed by President Eisenhower in an order which also canceled various Korean War veterans benefits for men entering service after that date.

The education bill, offered by Committee Chairman Teague (D-Tex), has Eisenhower's approval. It would let men in service by the end of this month continue to accrue education rights at the present rate of 1½ days for each day in service, up to the existing maximum of 36 months' schooling—a benefit worth about $5,000 per man. It would cost the government an estimated 350 million dollars or more over the next few years.

New Buffers Against Market Setbacks Provide Confidence for Future Buying

(Fourth in a Series)
By BELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (U.S.)—Every time you draw a paycheck, it worries a man in Moscow.

His name is Eugene Varga. He is the leading Soviet economist. He watches you and your earnings like a hawk. Why?

Because he has staked his reputation—and possibly his neck—on the prediction that millions of Americans will be out of work one of these days. He has been predicting for years that the United States is due for another crippling depression.

Soviet policy most probably is based on the proposition that the United States must suffer a severe economic setback after World War II. The graph, for 150 years, indicates that this always happens, not once but twice, after fighting stops.

Yet today, nearly 10 years after the war, the big crack has not developed. Slumps in 1949 and 1953 failed to follow the harsher familiar tracks of 1921 and 1932.

Foreign aid, the Korean War, rearmament and a huge defense budget all affected the economy. But was there anything else?

The great question today is this: Do American managers and planners possess the know-how, plus legislative machinery, to head off a depression in its early stages?

Says the economist Dr. Sumner Slichter:

"Surely, the days when Americans must accept pronounced ups and downs of business as inevitable are fast coming to an end."

Of course, people were saying that in 1929 there would be no depression. But some changes have been made since then.

Today, the Securities and Exchange commission holds wide powers over the stock market. It can require corporations to furnish complete financial information.

tion about a new stock issue. It can censor proxies and revoke trade privileges of brokers or investment bankers.

And it can compel "insiders" in a corporation to pay over to the stockholders any gains found to have been made in stock operations through information not available to other holders.

The all-important functions of maintaining a sound money and credit base—which influences prices, employment and the general level of economic activity—rests with the Federal Reserve. About half of the banks in the nation are members of the system, and it holds some 75 per cent of the total deposits.

The Federal Reserve Board recently used its braking powers on the stock market, lifting margin requirements by 10 per cent. That is, to buy $100 in stock today, you have to put up at least $60 in cash, as against $30 before this action. You can't borrow as much.

Apart from the stock market, the economy as a whole today can be affected by the so-called "built-in" controls.

Take 1953 as an example. A recession had apparently set in. Unemployment was rising toward the four million mark. Yet as year-end, the total personal income of the nation had set a record. And disposable income—meaning take-home pay—had remained level.

That in turn meant that the nation's buying power had been largely sustained. Consumer buying held up pretty well. In other words, the fateful cycle—reduced employment, reduced income, reduced buying, reduced production, causing increased unemployment—simply didn't develop in the usual way.

A number of actions were taken, and apparently they were effective.

First, about two billion dollars flowed into the economy in unemployment compensation payments.

Second, tax relief turned back some seven billion dollars.

Thus, even though government purchasing had been cut back by 12 billion dollars, something approaching a balance was achieved.

Meanwhile, the spigots on credit—which had been twisted to a tight point earlier—were opened in the fall of 1953. The Federal Reserve began buying 90-day Treasury bills, which eased the flow of credit.

Oddly enough, the present great bull movement in the stock market began in September 1953, shortly before most of these actions were taken. The market tries to foresee the next trend in business and economic activity.

In this case, the market guessed right. The present high levels on the exchanges indicate that traders and investors believe the economy is going to go right ahead, with increased production, earnings and profits.

President Eisenhower made these points in his economic report to Congress:

"In the course of our latest encounter with the business cycle, we have learned or relearned several lessons.

"First, that wise and early action by the government can stave off serious difficulties later.

"Second, that contraction may be stopped in its tracks even when governmental expenditures and budget deficits are declining, provided effective means are taken for building confidence.

However, he added in the vein of most observers:

"The experience of government in dealing with fluctuations in employment is not of long standing, and there is much yet to be learned about the problem of economic stability."

Tomorrow: The almost unimaginable future.

Drummer's Wife Says Hubby Beat Her, Too

Disneyland's Up to Sixth Place

Stanwyck OK's TV; Gary Crosby's Working as Bing Limits Shows

NEW YORK (INS)—ABC newsman Paul Harvey struck up a conversation with a six-year-old girl on a train and discovered she was the sister of one of the boys captured by the Chinese Communies.

He then met the mother who said she had decided to accept the offer to go to China to see her boy and that's how Paul Harvey of ABC scooped NBC—which was paying the lady's way to N. Y. to tell her story—by 12 hours.

All five ABC-TV stations boost their service with "super-power" Feb. 1 at a $2,000,000 cost.

Disneyland zoomed to 6th in the new Nielsen.

Lux Video will have four Oscar winning movie televisions in March to help promote the Academy Awards.

June Havoc hopes to change her TV script luck by filming the rest of her "Willy" shows in N. Y.

Because Hollywood TV shows are repeated hours later by kinescope, Ethel Merman, Red Skelton, the very Kean Sisters and Bobby Van watched their own show at a big party hours after they wiped off the greasepaint.

They saw a great show.

Mel Torme is shooting a pilot film for a new series with mincing comic Joe Besser.

"Big Town" was a shrewd switch on "7 Days 'til Noon," the British film.

Barbara Stanwyck is ready for a TV series if someone has the right script.

Gary Crosby's working already (guesting on radio-TV) so it looks like goodbye college.

Jeanne Carson was signed at 100 pounds for a new British movie, all because she was the season's TV sensation over in colonial U.S.A. on Max Liebman's spectaculars; and has a teddily gee-whimsy title: "An Alligator Named Daisy."

Bing limits his TV shows this year to two high-fee films and maybe won't even do them—but filmed one for Jimmy Demarest's new golf series for six.

There's a statistic for everything: survey shows comedies and westerns won't sell cars; heavy dramas won't sell peddle food but comedies—if really funny—will.

Mickey Rooney's wife Elaine Davis will emote in an upcoming "Dragnet."

Danny Kaye remains scared of USA-TV but shot two quarter-hour TV films for the British Travel Association.

No Changes Afoot for GIs in Far East

HONG KONG (UP)—Gen. John E. Hull, U.S. commander in chief in the Far East, said today he contemplated "no immediate changes at present" in deployment of American ground troops under his command as a result of President Eisenhower's Formosa message to Congress.

Hull, arriving here today from a visit to Thailand, hailed Eisenhower's message as a "very good move to clarify the issue."

Asked how ground troops might be used in the defense of Formosa, Hull told newsmen: "Should any emergency arise, all forces should be called upon to meet this emergency."

"Formosa is of great strategic importance in any type of operation that may be carried on in this part of the world," he added. "Since World War II we have gotten experience of its importance."

Asked how ground troops might be used in the defense of Formosa, Hull told newsmen: "Should any emergency arise, all forces should be called upon to meet this emergency."

MAILMAN IS CROCHET CHAMP—Anthony White, 53, of Portland, Ore., mailman, puffs on big cigar and carries crocheted tablecloth instead of mailbag on his shoulder after being named mail crocheted champion of the year in New York City. Tablecloth won him title for third time as he also was champ in 1950 and 1952. He learned to crochet 16 years ago.

Namesakes Call Truce as Court Untangles Will

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (UP)—William Francis Glendenning and William Francis Glendenning are friends again, although one gets 85 per cent of a $4,000 bequest and the other gets only 15 per cent.

The men, first cousins, had been squabbling over a section of the will of their uncle, John Glendenning. The uncle, who died in 1952 and left a $12,000 estate, bequeathed one third of it to "my nephew, William Francis Glendenning."

The 47-year-old "W. F. G." is a cook who lives in Manhattan. The 50-year-old "W. F. G." is a sewer worker who resides in Woodhaven, Queens.

The cousins used to be chummy, but when they appeared in court they sat on opposite sides of the room.

Surrogate's Court Judge Edgar F. Hazleton listened to the testimony of the dead man's stepdaughter, Miss Elizabeth Bentley.

Miss Bentley said her stepfather liked the 47-year-old "W. F. G." but that he never saw or liked the 50-year-old Queens nephew.

Hazleton said he would award 85 per cent of the money to the Manhattan cousin if the Queens cousin agreed—and he did.

Drinker Found Naked in 4-Below-Zero Cold

CHICAGO (UP)—A 34-year-old man, naked, was found early today—the coldest day this year—in a vacant lot.

Sgt. Samuel Pettigrew and the driver of a squad car found Lewis Miegocki, a laborer, in the lot at 18th St. and Damen Ave. They took him to Cook County Hospital.

Pettigrew said Miegocki had been drinking. The hospital said his condition was "fair."

Sylvan Outlines Junk Collection

New Rubbish System Starts Next Week; City Split Into 2 Districts

A new rubbish collection plan will go into operation in Sylvan Lake next week, City Manager Ernest L. Ethier said today.

Under the plan, the city will be divided into two sections. District 1 collections will be made Tuesday and District 2 Wednesday.

Ethier said the change was made necessary by the increasing number of new homes and the greater distance to a new disposal site. The city formerly used Pontiac's dump on Orchard Lake avenue.

District 1 stretches from the western city limits, including both sides of Orchard Lake road, north to and including Inverness, and from Orchard Lake to, but not including Pontiac drive.

District 2 takes in that portion of Pioneer Highlands lying within the Sylvan Lake boundary Subdivision, plus the area west from Telegraph road to Inverness, including Pontiac drive, from Avondale to the point on the lake.

Ethier also announced a public hearing next week on the proposed municipal water system and the method of financing it. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the city hall.

The city manager also reported 90 per cent of the December 1954 county and school taxes had been collected through Jan. 26, the last day for payment without penalty.

Late taxes are payable at the City Hall through Feb. 28, with a 4 per cent penalty added.

All delinquent 1954 taxes will be turned over to the Oakland County treasurer March 1 for collection, Ethier said.

Besides the county and school tax, this includes city taxes, special sewer assessment installments and interest due and sewer service charges, he said.

Bone Rings, Not Rattles, Tell Age of Rattlesnake

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Bones determine the age of a rattlesnake, not rattles.

Bayard Brattstrom, UCLA zoologist, said the "growth rings" in the bones of the rattler tell how old it is. The rings occur throughout the snake's skeletal system. Brattstrom uses a small bone from the head of the snake, in which the rings are discernible, to determine age.

As for the rattles, said Bratt-strom, a rattlesnake adds a new one each time it sheds skin. This occurs several times a year when the snake is young. Older snakes often lose some of their rattles by accidents, he said.

Rattles usually live to be about 15 years of age.

Take Long Way Around
NEWINGTON, N. H. (UP)—The children of South Newington live just a mile from their school but they have to make a 12-mile round-trip by bus each day. The school bus can't go directly to and from the schoolhouse because South Newington is cut off from Newington proper by construction of the giant Portsmouth-Newington jet bomber base.

U. S. industries use about 77 billion gallons of water each day.

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UP)—Two telephone company line men, Howard MacCulley and Jim Guthrie, know how to cope with the 117-degree heat on the desert while repairing communication lines. Supervisors found them standing shoulder deep in the water of an irrigation ditch eating their lunches during the noon hour.

Except at nesting time, Leach's petrels spend all their time over the ocean.
