Humphrey Belts GOP 'Failure' at Talk in County

Says Farmers Getting Biggest 'Double Cross' in History

Democratic Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, in a free-wheeling hour-long address to 750 party faithfuls last night in Waterford Township, lashed out at Republican economic policies.

The occasion was a fund-raising, $10-a-plate dinner honoring Paul Sutton of Royal Oak, Democratic candidate for Congress in Oakland County.

Humphrey, jibing at the "discriminatory prosperity" of the Eisenhower administration, told local Democrats "the Republicans have a very limited circle of friends, and you're not in it."

He quoted figures, reportedly from a Council of Economic Advisors report, which indicate a 35 per cent over-all rise in "big business" profits and a 66 per cent drop in "small business" profits since 1953. Farm incomes have dropped 26 per cent, he said.

Republican failure to keep its 1952 farm promises is "the most terrible double cross on rural America in our history," Humphrey said.

He added there is an "interdependency" between farm incomes and national economy. Farm incomes have dropped a billion dollars a year since President Eisenhower took office, he said.

Nicaragua Ruler Hit at Reception; Assassin Slain

U. S. Rushing Doctors to Treat Bullet Wounds in Stomach, Arms, Leg

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua was shot three times at a reception last night and his assassin was beaten to death, the Nicaraguan Embassy reported here today.

Wounded in the arm, leg and stomach, Somoza's condition was described as "delicate."

Ambassador Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa said he received details of the shooting by telephone from Managua, capital of Nicaragua.

Earlier, the White House said President Eisenhower had received word from U. S. Ambassador Thomas Whelan that Somoza had been shot four times. Eisenhower ordered a U. S. medical team flown to Managua from the Panama Canal Zone.

Sevilla-Sacasa said the attack on Somoza occurred while the president was attending a reception in his honor at Leon, a city near Managua.

He said that while most of the large crowd at the reception was dancing, Somoza was seated in a chair at one side of the ballroom.

Suddenly, Sevilla-Sacasa said, the president was approached by a man who fired probably four shots. One shot breaking the president's arm, one hitting him in the leg, the third piercing his stomach.

The ambassador said the crowd turned on the assassin and beat him to death. Savilla-Sacasa identified the man who fired the shots as Rigoberto Lopez Perez.

He said he did not know whether Lopez Perez was a Nicaraguan or not but that he had come to Managua a few days ago from the nearby country of San Salvador.

Sevilla-Sacasa said the reason for the shooting had not been determined but a thorough investigation was under way.

Somoza was flown by helicopter to a Managua hospital, the ambassador said.

Ike Wins Farmers' Cheers, but Do They Mean Votes?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The shouting reception given President Eisenhower by a quarter of a million Iowans on a 24-hour visit to that state lifted Republican hopes today of carrying the farm belt in November.

No responsible politician professed, however, to be able to translate into vote results the demonstrations given the President and Mrs. Eisenhower yesterday by 100,000 persons in Des Moines.

Teenagers and younger school students broke police lines and stormed their motor caravan good naturedly as it crawled through the city's business district on the way to the airport.

Back in Washington for the weekend, Eisenhower leaves Tuesday for a nationally broadcast and televised spech that night on farm issues at Bradley University in Peoria, Ill. This will be the second of a series of radio-TV appearances which are expected to be the backbone of his campaign for re-election.

The rousing reception Eisenhower got in a 160-mile circuit of Central Iowa might cause Republican strategists to urge more personal appearances by the President in politically critical areas of the country.

The general reaction to Eisenhower's visit to Iowa was that there has been no lessening of the President's personal popularity in that key state despite reports of a widespread farm revolt.

Around 75,000 farm men, women and children listened attentively but without much applause as Eisenhower delivered an informal and — as he put it, a nonpolitical — speech at the National Field Days and plowing matches near Newton.

Eisenhower said he was going to lay down a detailed farm program in his Peoria speech. His

Jet Shears Tops Off Cars, Kills 1

Plane Drops Too Fast, Clips Autos on Road; 2 Women Injured

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An Air Force jet plane, swooping in for a landing last night, lost air speed before reaching the runway and smashed into two automobiles. A woman was killed and two other persons injured.

* * *

The Thunderflash sheared off tops of the two cars as they moved along a road near the runway.

The jet, still streaking along at about 100 m.p.h., slid 1,500 feet on the field and groundlooped. The pilot, Lt. Gerald L. Metcalf, 22, of St. Louis, suffered a minor arm injury. He is attached to the 25th Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron stationed at Larson Air Force Base, Seattle, Wash.

The dead woman was identified as Mrs. S. Rubenstein, 40, a widow of Memphis. She was alone in the first car that was hit.

The two injured occupants of the second car were identified as Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Underwood of Memphis. Neither was believed critically hurt.

A Delta Airlines employe, Roy Kinard, said he ran to the plane after the crash.

* * *

"The pilot got out holding his elbow and was completely unaware that he had hit two cars. He was complaining that he had hit a fence which the tower did not tell him about," Kinard said.

Col. Joseph A. Kelly, commander of the Air Force detachment at the field, said the jet was a photoreconnaisance aircraft stationed at Seattle, Wash.

British Goodwill Gesture

Mayflower II Launched for Pilgrimage to America

BRIXHAM, England (INS)—The Mayflower II slid stern first into Tor Bay today, climaxing the first chapter of a drama that will end next spring in Plymouth, Mass.

The Stars and Stripes were draped over one side of her dark oak hull, and the Union Jack on the other, as the replica of the original Mayflower hit the water this morning a year and four months after her keel was laid July 4, 1955.

American tourists and visitors from other parts of the world packed Brixham as the Mayflower was launched. The vessel slid smoothly into the sea amid heavy rain and thunder and lightning.

But the thousands of visitors seemed undaunted. They cheered the band of the 1st. Battalion, Somerset Light Infantry, as it played "Yankee Doodle."

Maj. Gen. Roscoe Wilson, commander of the U.S. 3rd. Air Force, told the assembly during the launching:

"All Americans, regardless of race, color or creed have inherited a tradition of courage and fortitude which belong in particular to our Pilgrim fathers."

The local craftsmen who built her—said to be the finest shipwrights in Britain — watched almost tearfully as their pride and joy made the first move from her cradle to re-enact the voyage which took the Pilgrim fathers to America 336 years ago.

The 90-foot, 180-ton vessel which, when completed, will have cost about $250,000 (compared to about $900 for her illustrious predecessor) represents a good will gesture toward America by the people of Britain.

France Gives In to Canal Users

Joins New Association Which Will Meet Again in London Oct. 1

LONDON (AP)—The French cabinet decided today to participate in the blunted Suez Canal Users' Assn. but with the reservation that it must not weaken insistence on principal of international administration of the waterway.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd issued formal invitations fixing Oct. 1 as the date for a third London Suez conference to settle the mechanical details of putting SCUA into action.

The conference will be on the ambassadorial level and invitations went to the 17 other nations which attended the just-adjourned meeting that founded the association.

Counting France, at least 12 of the 18 attending nations have lined up to join the new international agency which will seek a solution to Egypt's nationalization of the canal nearly two months ago.

Adherence to the agency by France, which had insisted on strong action against Egyptian President Nasser, was placed in question yesterday when the French charged most of the association's teeth had been pulled before it was born.

The French were particularly annoyed because a plan for SCUA to collect tolls paid by all members was dropped.

Pontiac Schools Offering Fluoride Tooth Treatment

To try reducing tooth decay, a fluoride application program will be held again this year in Pontiac public schools, Mrs. Ruth Topefer, dental hygienist for the Pontiac schools, said today.

First schools on the schedule are Linda Vista, Emerson and Daniel Whitfield. Authorization cards are being sent to the parents of children in these schools.

The applicatons are open to second, third, fifth and sixth graders at Emerson and Linda Vista graders are eligible for applications in other Pontiac schools.

—schools not covered in last year's program. Only second and fifth

The series of four treatments costs parents $4 for the first child and $2 each for others, Mrs. Toepfer said.

The four treatments include a dental examination, cleaning and four applications of fluoride solution. The fluoride treatment can reduce the number of cavities by as much as 40 per cent, Mrs. Toepfer said.

Participating in offering the treatments in the Pontiac School system are PTA members, the local dental society, the local health department, and the Michigan Department of Health, Mrs. Toepfer said.

Applications will begin in about two weeks when funds have been collected at the first three schools on the list, she said.

The schoolboard last night voted to test Marveta Hine, 51, whom the board relieved of classroom duties as "unfit" to teach.

Board members had sought her discharge, but tenure rules call for a hearing first to prove charges.

Miss Hine refused to submit to tests asked by the board in 1955 and filed a suit asking for an injunction to back her up.

Tuesday she asked for dismissal of her suit, opening the way for the board's renewed effort to have her dismissed.

Adlai Blames Ike for Farm Crisis

Says U. S. Leadership Lacking in Imagination, Cites Broken Pledges

NEWTON, Iowa (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, accusing the Republicans of "brazen political expediency" in seeking votes, said today America is in the midst of a "farm depression" and that President Eisenhower must shoulder responsibility.

"Today we are confronted not with a breakdown of our agriculture, but with a breakdown of imagination and leadership," the Democratic presidential nominee said in firing sharp criticism at both the President and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

In an address prepared for the National Field Days and Plowing Matches 24 hours after Eisenhower's informal talk here to a huge audience of farmers, Stevenson said:

"There are some chickens, frankly, that have been waiting a long time to come home to roost. Here they come."

During the 1952 campaign, Stevenson said, Eisenhower made pledges to the farmers in "careful, calculated words meant to get farm votes." The pledges have not been carried out, he added.

And Blows Taps Over a Zany Summer

Yiffnitz Waxes Lyrical Over Century's '4th Finest Fall'

Summer ends today.
Some say it never came.
The hour's 8:36 tonight.
The summer of 1956 will be written into private diaries as a dizzy period of continuous exasperation.
It was a zany season.

★ ★ ★

Let's allow it to depart in peace with a minimum of cat calls and just a small Bronx cheer. Certainly we won't burn any incense or suggest the incantation of solemn requiems.

★ ★ ★

Fall is with us at 8:37.
What can we expect?
What lies ahead?

★ ★ ★

The Press cornered our own Herman Lysander Yiffnitz in the editorial department and asked for a forecast. Herman's predictions on everything are uncanny. He was contemplating the dubious joys of a late afternoon of double Martinis and resented the intrusion. However, under stern edict, he gave forth reluctantly.

"The fall of 1956," quoth Herman with a far away look, "will be a sockeroo."

"A what?" he was asked.

CAMELIA

"A sockeroo," repeated Herman. "A double whizzoka. It will be bright. It will be crisp and cool. It will be invigorating. It will be delightful. It will be delicious. It will be—"

"Delovely," interrupted our Camelia.

Herman scowled and reached for an imaginary glass that wasn't there. "You're right. Delovely. And quit interrupting. The fall of 1956 will be the Golden Fall of the Fifties. It will be the fourth finest autumn since 1900."

Our new and cute little Camelia who took over from Magnolia as receptionist in the editorial department, gasped. "How does he-all know that?"

★ ★ ★

Herman turned a stern look of appraisal on our newest Flower of the South. "Several generations back, old Hezekiah Toombstone Yiffnitz wrote the first Farmer's Almanac. He was a sensation. He was terrific. Not as good as I am," added Herman juridiciously, "but still very, very good. We will have average rain this fall. The crops and harvest will be simply magnificent."

★ ★ ★

"How about the cotton?" asked Camelia eagerly.

Herman fixed her with a cold, impersonal stare, something rather difficult for the average male to do with our little Southern Camelia. "The Yiffnitz's always wear wool," said Herman. He reached again for the imaginary glass. It was just an illusion. "You can quote me," said Herman. "This is official."

★ ★ ★

He rose with an expectant look in his eyes. "Camelia, if you were a year older I'd take you with me. The others know where I'm going." H. Lysander Yiffnitz walked rapidly in the direction of his favorite grog shop.

★ ★ ★

There it is, boys and girls.
A great fall lies ahead.
Strike up the band.

Rob Insurance Man of $187 in Pontiac

An insurance man was robbed of his wallet, with $127 company money and $60 of his own last night, Pontiac Police said.

The agent, Carl Kinquist, of 285 Marshall St., said he was at the rear of a Wessen street house about 9:30 when a tall man, unarmed, came up and announced "This is a holdup."

The man grabbed the wallet from his pocket, Kinquist said, and fled on foot. Police say there are no suspects.

Session Added to Brink's Trial

Specs O'Keefe Faces His 4th Day of Intensive Cross-Examination

BOSTON (AP)— The Brink's robbery trial resumes today in an extraordinary Saturday session ordered by Superior Court Judge Felix Forte in an effort to speed up the legal marathon which already has consumed seven weeks.

Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, who has pleaded guilty to participating in the $1,219,000 looting nearly seven years ago, faces his fourth day of intensive cross-examination by Paul T. Smith, chief counsel for the eight men accused of the robbery.

O'Keefe emerged from yesterday's verbal sparring with his story of the nation's largest cash robbery unshaken.

Under Smith's cross-examination, O'Keefe testified the gang made numerous pre-robbery invasions of Brink's headquarters.

The entries were not for practice, O'Keefe said, because in each of them the gang was prepared to carry out the robbery if conditions had been favorable.

The defendants are Anthony Pino, Vincent Costa, Thomas F. Richardson, James I. Faherty, Henry Baker, Michael V. Geagan, Adolph Maffie and Joseph McGinnis.

Two others indicated — Stanley Gusciora and Joseph Banfield — died before the trial opened.

forts to keep Eisnhower "above" party politics.

'IKE ON A CLOUD'

"When something goes wrong, it's never Eisenhower's fault; it's somebody way out in left field," he said. "The President is way up here on cloud 19."

The GOP, has substituted "popularity for leadership, and mediocrity for principle," Humphrey charged.

He also blasted:

The Republicans' "giveaway program — the greatest giveaway of natural resources since Teddy Roosevelt." Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, he said, is "so used to giveaways he convinced the Administration to give him away" to oppose Sen. Wayne Morse for an Oregon Senate seat.

GOP tax reductions, in which "73 cents of every dollar of tax reduction went to corporations with annual incomes of one million dollars or more."

Republican public housing programs, and "the slums this administration perpetrates and perpetuates."

The President's civil rights record. "He is willing to sit down and talk to Bulganin and Khrushchev about their problems, but he won't sit down and talk to civic leaders and governors from North and South about how to get along with each other," Humphrey said, "and I resent it."

WILLIAMS SPEAKS

Gov. Williams spoke briefly before leaving the dinner for a Wayne County meeting.

Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart resumed the giant-killing role assigned him by the party at its state convention in Grand Rapids. Chipping at Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, Williams' opponent in November, Hart jibed at Republicans' highway programs and quoted newspaper editorials praising Cobo for an early decision not to run for governor.

Sutton reviewed the recent growth of Oakland County, and said he would try to get federal aid for the county in solving its drain and flood problems. He also blasted GOP educational policies and local unemployment.

Sen. Patrick V. McNamara acted as toastmaster.

State Supreme Court Justices Talbot Smith and George Edwards, running for re-election on the nonpartisan ticket, also attended.

Paris today to hear a report from Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, declared, however, that it would "work to maintain French-British solidarity."

The British had wanted to keep as much revenue out of Nasser's hands as possible. But Lloyd officially went along with the tempered version. There still was much dissatisfaction among staunch government supporters.

President Nasser flew from Cairo to Riyadh, capital of Saudi Arabia, for a three-power Arabian summit conference with President Shukri Kuwaity of Syria and King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

There was speculation in the Egyptian capital that Nasser's Arab neighbors, fearing a cut of their own oil revenues from the West, were putting pressure on him to come to an agreement.

Some informants in Cairo have been hinting that SCUA came close to meeting Nasser's ideas, and there was much curiosity about the forthcoming visit to London of India's roving ambassador, V. K. Krishna Menon. Menon, who embodies Indian hopes of bridging the gulf between Egypt and the West, has just wound up an intensive week of diplomatic bargaining with Nasser.

UM Doctor Defends Fluoridated Water

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Fluoridated water in industry is no more dangerous to workers than water with chlorine in it, Dr. Seward Miller of the University of Michigan said yesterday.

* * *

Miller, director of the university's Institute for Industrial health said he disagreed with opponents of fluoridation who maintain fluorides will accumulate in the human body in various ways and become harmful.

The results of studies in areas with fluoridated water demonstrate there is no threat of accumulative toxic or poisonous effects, Miller said.

Pontiac Newsboy Robbed by Bullies

A newsboy was robbed of part of his weekly collection money yesterday by two older youths who threatened him with a beating, Pontiac Police said.

Senior Newport, 13, of 7½ Chase St., said he paid $6 when one of the boys threatened to strike him on the head with an empty wine bottle.

Woman Leaps Into Tub With Clothing Ablaze After Fireplace Mishap

A 36-year-old mother of six suffered second and third degree burns of the back and hands when her clothing caught fire yesterday as she stood in front of a fireplace in her living room.

Mrs. Catherine E. Zumbrunnen, of 3700 Joslyn Ave., is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital.

She reportedly put out the flames by running to the bathtub and turning on the water and jumping in.

"Her clothing was so badly burned I had to cut it away with scissors," said her sister, Mrs. Lulu Nesbitt.

audience broke into cheers when he said:

"Now many of you here will not agree with me. Some of you, frankly, will probably think I am a little bit crazy. But I am sure that none of you will think that I am not honest."

While he said he hopes to have the "earned approval" of the farmers, Eisenhower made no other direct political pitch for votes.

This seemed a calculated maneuver to offer a Republican contrast to the full-blown political campaign speech his opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson, makes before a National Field Days audience today.

It's Warmer Than Ever?

2 Weathermen Claim State Temperatures Up Over 35 Years Ago

EAST LANSING (AP)—It's just as you probaby suspected. Michigan is getting warmer.

Definitely so, claim two Michigan State University researchers who compared weather records from 1887 to 1920 with those from 1921 to 1955.

W. D. Baten, MSU statistician, and A. H. Elchmeier, climatologist with the U. S. Weather Bureau at East Lansing, checked the reports from 150 U. S. Weather Bureau stations scattered throughout the state.

January and February temperatures averaged nearly two degrees higher in the latter period, they reported.

HIGHER EVERYWHERE

Temperatures for November, December, March, July and August also were significantly higher in the modern period, they said.

Although temperatures indicate a warming trend, they said there was very little difference in the two periods as far as precipitation was concerned. Both periods averaged about 2½ inches a month.

The two researchers do not claim to have any answer for the change.

* * *

They say one school attributes the warming trend to increases in combustion from factories, home heating and other means coming with the growing population. Another school claims sun spots cause warming and cooling cycles.

No data is available yet to determine lengthy weather cycles, the researchers said, since few accurate records were kept before 1860.

Sues Highland Park for 'Poisoning' Water

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Margaret E. Jones, who says fluoridated water made her ill, is seeking $10,000 to cover medical expenses and the cost of enough untreated water to last the rest of her life.

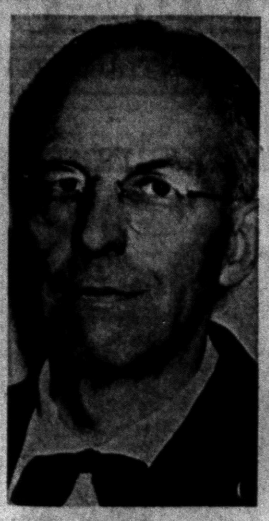

She filed suit for that amount in Circuit Court yesterday against Highland Park, where the water supply has been fluoridated for four years in an effort to combat tooth decay.

Her attorney, James A. Marle, said Mrs. Jones prefers to drink mineral water which costs $1 a gallon.

Pythians from Pontiac Lodge No. 19 and Lodge 108 of Oxford are also participating in the convention.

Two of the major projects of the convention concern promotion of a North American highway courtesy campaign and a high school public speaking contest.

'Litterbug' Problem Met With Varying Success

MINNEAPOLIS (INS)—Are you a litterbug? Do you throw candy wrappers, empty cigarette packages and other paper out the window of your car while driving or riding?

If so, it is costing the American public $15 to $50 a mile per year for the cleanup of refuse strewn along the highways of our various states by motorists and riders.

A survey by the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company shows that this problem has become so serious that 13 states recently shapened their penalties for the offense.

The survey was conducted through cooperation of highway departments of 44 states. It found:

That penalties for "litterbugging" vary from practically none in Idaho which reports "law not very enforceable, litter increasing every year" to a maximum of $1,000 fine or a year's imprisonment in Georgia. The latter state reports "a noticeable reduction in this type of offense" since the new law was passed.

That eight of the 13 states which stepped up their penalties report that the "slovenly type" of motorist has become neater in habits when faced with stiffer penalties.

Some highway departments stated in a survey that under existing conditions litterbugs are hard to catch, and even if caught, are usually let off with a small fine or a lecture by local justices.

But South Carolina did something about the situation and through close cooperation of highway maintenace and highway patrol departments, arrested 81 trash strewers and convicted 80 of them in the first 12 months of its clean highway program.

Ohio, the survey shows, set up an outstanding example of effective coordination of intensive anti-litter education with stricter enforcement of anti-litter laws. Ohio reported that it reduced—through its campaign—the cost of cleaning state highways from $621,733 in 1953 to $442,258 in 1954 and to $344,452 in 1955.

California, where keeping the highway system clean costs an estimated $750,000, reports noticeable improvement through a Chamber of Commerce educational campaign coupled with a strengthened anti-litter law.

Oregon reports gratifying use by motorists of the litter bags so distributed by civic and governmental organizations and of hundreds of litter barrels placed along highways in 1955. But there was one discouraging note in Oregon's report: "It has been necessary," said the report, "to relocate some of the barrels due to local residents filling them with garbage."

Court Order Outlaws NAACP in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The state attorney general asked and got yesterday a court order aimed at putting the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People out of business in Texas.

Dist. Judge Otis T. Dunagan of Smith County ordered the NAACP to stop all operations in Texas, to file no more school integration suits, and to collect no more money until a hearing Sept. 28 in Tyler, Tex.

"We allege that the NAACP has exceeded the bounds of propriety and law and have asked that they not be allowed to operate in this state," Atty. Gen. John Ben Sheppard said in a statement.

Dr. H. Boyd Hall, state NAACP president, said the attorney general's move showed that Negroes in Texas were entering an era of persecution. Hall said he had anticipated the ban.

Starch Sponge's Use Urged in Medication

WASHINGTON — Starch sponge, developed by Department of Agriculture chemists and already in wide use by surgeons as a hemostatic agent, has been proposed as a carrier for medicaments for slow release within the body.

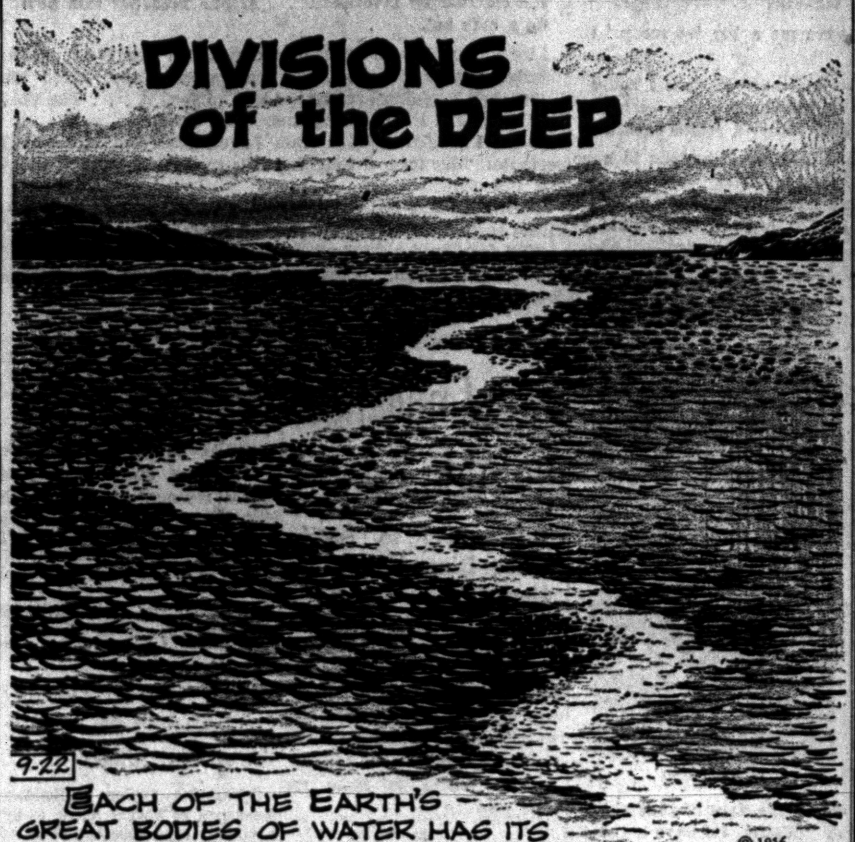

* * *

The sponge, made from ordinary food-quality starch by a simple process, is nontoxic, nonirritating, and is readily absorbed by body tissues. It can absorb about 18 times its own weight of water.

* * *

Used in block or powdered form to control bleeding, it need not be removed from wounds or incisions. This ability to disintegrate slowly, harmlessly and completely within the body has suggested its use as a vehicle for the administration of certain medicines and drugs.

Speech by Kefauver Literally a 'Stopper'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A speech by Sen. Estes Kefauver, Democratic candidate for vice president, may cause a brief delay in starting work on a new war memorial for Veterans Memorial Park.

Park Supt. Fred C. See today said the park's landmark fountain was scheduled for removal Tuesday—the day of Kefauver's appearance—but added that plans have been deferred until after the campaign address.

Groucho Leads Tour to See New House (?)

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Groucho Marx gave me a big fat scoop. He dropped it in my big fat lap.

He conveyed me up into the Hollywood Hills so I could be the first to behold his new $250,000 home which bestows on his wife the gift that all girls want—a round bathtub.

"Naturally, my wife has a round bathtub—I happen to have a round wife!" snapped Groucho for openers.

To condition ourselves for this rigorous safari up Hillcrest Rd., which overlooks the city of Los Angeles and fights at Mocambo, we had a delicious and costly lunch at Romanoff's.

We even had costly cigars.

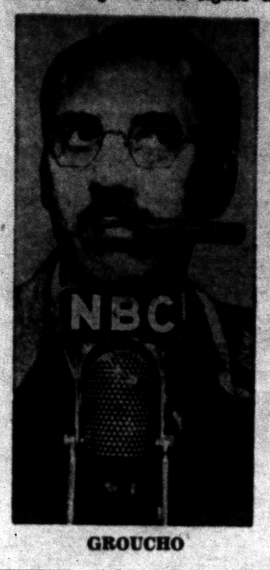

There was a moment of agony about making out the menu.

"Captain," heckled Groucho, "have you got a flashlight?"

For, in obeisance to the current restaurant theory that all women look good in the dark and that female customers are flattered by low and romantic lights, Mike Romanoff had darkened his little diner until it was like a Scranton, Pa., mineshaft.

(And I happen to LIKE Scranton.)

Groucho noticed a beautiful blonde in the next booth (not to mention other blondes in other booths).

GROUCHO

"Never mind, I'll be able to see by the light of that girl's engagement ring," he arf-arfed. "Waiter, I'll have a cannibal sandwich. Even if I did see a couple horses picketing outside."

Groucho just signed a new 12-year contract.

"I'm the oldest show on TV—eight years," Groucho confessed. "It proves people are crazy about one thing. Money. You know why my show's lasted so long?" He looked up with a proud smile. As though he'd discovered uranium in his raw meat.

★ ★ ★

"Nobody watches it—so they don't get tired of me!"

We jounced along Hillcrest Rd. up to what they call the Truesdale Estate.

"Here it is! Isn't it beautiful?" Groucho hopped out.

It was a typical Grouchoism. For there was nothing there but the view. On an otherwise vacant lot, there was a construction shack and a few workmen who'd been doing some digging.

"They don't seem to be doing anything," I said.

"Of course not. It's almost time to quit work for the day. It's 2:30 already.

"I'm the first house to go up here," he said.

★ ★ ★

"All I know is that everything is extra. Heating's extra, air-conditioning's extra, the extra is extra. On a clear day you can see the bank and the way things are costing, I'll have to."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Jimmy Stewart cleared $5,000,000 on a capital gains oil deal . . . Joan Roberts, who was a hit in "High Button Shoes," and quit at the peak is set for a comeback . . . Ingrid Bergman's tutoring Michael Wilding in Swedish for a movie.

Allen Dulles will quit the Central Intelligence Agency about Jan. 1 . . . Charlie Fuqua's Inkspots will re-record the old Inkspot favorites . . . Arthur Treacher said he'll do a cafe act.

Linda Darnell said she's quit dating till her B'way show, "Harbor Lights," opens . . . Shipwreck Kelly, asked his bride's name, couldn't remember how to spell it . . . The Vincent Sardi Jrs. are adopting their third child.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Don Engels described an elegant socialite: "Her idea of roughing it is to drink a martini without the olive."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Movies on TV are like furniture—either early American or old English."—Haf Jackson.

"Old-fashioned girls don't get invited out much these days," notes Peter Arnell, "—not with the high price of old-fashioneds." . . . That's earl, brother.

Estes Challenges Ike Aide Adams

Dares Him to Testify About Dixon-Yates Deal Under Oath

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver said today he would gladly testify under oath about what he called the Dixon-Yates power contract "scandal" and challenged Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams to make the same offer.

* * *

The Democratic vice presidential nominee described Adams as President Eisenhower's "right hand man" and said "his authority is enormous, especially during the President's absences for reasons of health or otherwise."

Kefauver's statement here, consisting of excerpts from a speech scheduled for a rally at Walla Walla, said Adams "pleaded his executive privilege" when called before a Senate subcommittee to tell what he knew about the Dixon-Yates contract.

Kefauver said he had read a news dispatch quoting Rep. Scherer (R-Ohio) as saying Kefauver might be subpoenaed to testify about his speech at St. Paul last Tuesday night on the contract.

* * *

The senator said he stood behind everything he said in the speech about "this scandalous intrigue to rook the government out of millions of dollars" and would be "delighted to be subpoenaed."

"Let's trade subpoenas," Kefauver said. "I'll accept one. Now let's get Sherman Adams, the spokesman and right-hand man of President Eisenhower to accept one."

"The difference between Sherman Adams and me is that I won't stop talking about Dixon-Yates and he won't start," he added.

'Young Punk' Worth $600 to Taxpaying Pop

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—Edgar A. McGinnes, district director of internal revenue, chuckles when he tells this one. A taxpayer came into his office to claim a dependent but said he just hadn't gotten around to naming the new arrival yet.

"What do you call him?" the clerk asked.

"Just call him 'young punk,'" was the reply.

Bikes End Hikes to Coeds' Dorms at Ohio School

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — There's a bicycle boom on at Miami University.

* * *

The coeds seem to have started it as a result of being assigned to temporary quarters in buildings some 15 minutes' walk from the campus.

That means a 15-minute walk too for several hundred young men who like the girls' company.

Roger Howe of Wakeman, Ohio, and Don Lerner, Cincinnati, senior students, like the fad, for they operate a cycle shop. Howe said they sold nearly 100 bicycles the first three days of this week.

"We've put in a rush order for 125 more bikes from New York," Howe said, "and have had to hire four fellows to help us."

Mushrooms-A Protection Against Cancer?

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. —(INS)—The old wives' tale that eating mushrooms gives protection against cancer may have something in it, according to Dr. C. Chester Stock, of the Sloan-Kettering Cancer Institute, New York.

Dr. Stock's laboratory is screening some 280 natural substances a month in its hunt for a cancer-fighting substance.

In addition, 200 chemical compounds are sent to the laboratory each month by scientists and drug companies for testing.

Dr. Stock described the work of Sloan-Kettering's cancer testing assembly line at American Chemical Society meeting.

He said the laboratory will test just about anything sent in or suggested by scientists.

Recently a Michigan State University professor sent the laboratory mushrooms from western Germany, noting that local legend maintained eating the mushrooms would prevent cancer.

The German mushroom showed some anti-cancer activity — at least enough to justify another test, Dr. Stock said. But a second mushroom sent in by the same professor and found in the East Lansing, Mich., area near the MSU campus appears to be more promising.

Dr. Stock said items showing enough initial "biological activity" against cancer cells to justify further tests were the antibiotic-like drugs azaserine and DON.

Chemists would like to find a drug treatment for cancer that works on the principle of the antibiotic penicillin, something that interferes with the wildly growing cancer cell without affecting normal cell process.

Dr. Stock told cancer workers "the time is now to go ahead and test these antibiotics," adding:

"In the stage of cancer treatment we are now even small advances are needed and welcome."

Macaroni Helped to Open Suez Canal Desert Ditch

WASHINGTON — For the Suez Canal, fabulous "ditch in a desert," the world can thank a French man's vision, seas of equal level, and macaroni.

The Frenchman was Ferdinand de Lesseps, 19th-century promoter and a man who could sell a dream to a Khedive. The seas were the Mediterranean and the Red, ancient highroads of trade separated by 100 miles of sand. Macaroni played a part in De Lesseps' finally joining the two.

The story, as told by the National Geographic Society, began well over a century ago.

TUTOR TO A HUNGRY PRINCE

In his youth De Lesseps was stationed in Egypt as a consular officer. There he met Mohammed Said, heir apparent of the Ottoman ruler of Egypt. Prince Said was fat, and he suffered under a stern regimen of spartan diet and strenuous exercise imposed by his father.

De Lesseps gained Mohammed Said's friendship by teaching him to ride like a Bedouin. More satisfying still, he smuggled the hungry youth into his quarters for secret feasts of void-filling macaroni.

Years later, having succeeded his father as Khedive, Mohammed Said attended a marksmanship tourney in which De Lesseps outshot all his competitors. Recalling their youthful days together, he listened attentively as the Frenchman outlined his ambitious dream of cutting a sea level canal across the Isthmus of Suez.

The digging alone took a decade, from 1859 to 1869. De Lesseps was neither financier nor engineer, but he beat down ridicule and mistrust until his goal was reached.

As water came into the desert, the great Lake Timsah formed in the heart of the Isthmus. Engineers of Napoleon's time had reported the Red sea 30 feet higher than the Mediterranean, but De Lesseps proved them wrong. He built his cut without any locks, for sea level is the same at both ends.

OPEN TO ALL PEOPLES

Completion of the Suez Canal revolutionized world trade. It fulfilled its builder's dream — "To open the earth to all peoples." By its writtenc onvention of 1888, it was always to be free and open, in time of war as in time of peace, to every vessel of commerce or of war, without distinction of flag."

Over the 100-mile ditch, so blended into the desert that ships seem sometimes to be plowing through the sands, has flowed an endless stream of the world's goods—grain, coal, and manganese; cotton and textiles, rubber and tires; crude oil and aviation gasoline; tin ingots and tin cans.

Even De Lesseps far underestimated the importance of what he had done. He thought his short cut to the Orient would carry at most a few hundred ships a year. Today well over a thousand ships transit the sand-banked channel each month. In 1955 the canal carried 14,666 ships and, for the first time in its history, more than 100 million metric tons of cargo — five times the traffic of only ten years ago.

Millions of dollars a year have been spent to maintain and enlarge the canal. Originally 72 feet wide, the great ditch has grown to a breadth of nearly 200 feet, taking ships up to 36 feet in draft. Enormously profitable in its nine decades of service, Suez has yet to suffer any major interruption in traffic. And by De Lesseps' original 99-year concession, full control was to have reverted to Egypt in 1968.

Gyps Make Millions, Sell 'Stock' by Phone

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials have appealed to the public to help thwart "scheming operators" who have made millions by high-pressure telephone sales of stock, much of it worthless.

Chairman J. Sinclair Armstrong of the Securities and Exchange Commission told a news conference yesterday that "operations of unscrupulous salesmen selling stock by telephone from so-called 'bucket shops' or 'boiler rooms' in New York" are running on a big scale.

Armstrong said the SEC is fighting these "backroom operations" with all its resources, and he urged people who are so solicited to get the caller to mail his offer in writing, thus opening the way for fraud prosecutions.

Ask Mackinac Airstrip

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—Mackinac authorities are considering a proposal for an airstrip that would handle planes up to the size of DC3s. Kenneth Vogelheim of Rogers City, a private pilot, outlined the proposal at a joint meeting of the island's council and chamber of commerce.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS

J. L. VOORHEES

On the 23rd of September we will honor Gold Star Mothers. They gave birth to sons, reared them through sickness and trying years, saw them assume the stature of youth, come home from Boot Camp as soldiers. Pride filled the hearts of those mothers. Love of country eclipsed mother-love and those young men went away to war. They did not come back.

M. E. SIPLE

Those boys who fought the battle to sustain the love their mothers held for them. They were fighting for her and all the mothers they left behind. They crossed the Bar, knowing that they had done their best, repaying a debt of honor, bringing pride to the mother who had given them life. It is to those mothers we offer our salute:

"To The Bravest of The Brave."

Here's the Inside Story on America's Fast-Growing Financial Institution . . . Your Savings and Loan Association

PERHAPS YOU ONLY HAVE your foot on the bottom rung of the ladder. Maybe you've finally reached the top after years of hard work. Or it might be you were born with the proverbial silver spoon and never worked a day in your life. Nevertheless, all of you have something in common . . . an interest in MONEY! And you probably already know that money can be a "sometime" thing, unless a part of it is saved wisely.

We say, "wisely" because saving itself isn't any guarantee of security. If you look into the matter, you'll find that when it comes to saving money, one place is NOW "just as good an another!" For instance, a cookie jar or mattress affords no safety. Any financial institution would be better. But . . . do you know that your Savings and Loan Association affords safety, earnings and convenience seldom equalled by other types of institutions accepting savings.

Do you know that one out of every three or four families in the country today is saving money in a Savings and Loan Association? Do you know that one out of every three families who mortgaged a town or suburban home last year borrowed the money from a Savings and Loan Association? In fact, the amount of money saved with our type of institution has been increasing at a faster rate, percentage wise, then any other financial institution.

TV Sponsors Decision on Churchill Is Correct

Some of these television emcees better spend more time on their home work, or else someone should tell their sponsors to take a long, slow walk.

They're crossing each other.

★ ★ ★

The other evening RANDOLPH CHURCHILL missed the second query on the $64,000 Question.

He really missed it.

RANDOLPH simply didn't know.

However, Hal March, one of our favorites, hemmed and hawed and nudged and re-stated until so much time had elapsed the thing terminated for the night. The overly zealous Mr. March assured everyone Mr. Churchill would be back next week.

However, he won't.

The sponsor has spoken—but definitely.

★ ★ ★

Mr. CHURCHILL agrees completely with the decision. This tends to prove that he's really WINSTON CHURCHILL'S son.

One emcee actually lost his lucrative job by fumbling around too long too often—and he deserved the fate.

★ ★ ★

You either call 'em all alike and call 'em straight—or you don't. Winston Churchill's rogeny aren't any better than anyone else in the United States of America. And to the everlasting credit of Randolph Churchill, he doesn't want to be.

Another Stalemate

Michigan's Legislature again has demonstrated the type of legislative stalemate which frequently results when the state has a governor of one political party and a legislature in which the opp e party either controls or very nearly controls the law-making body.

★ ★ ★

GOV. WILLIAMS calls the legislature back into special session and tries to tell it what to do. He does this with one eye on the legislation in question and the other on the voters who are going to the polls in November. In other words, his moves are quite largely political.

★ ★ ★

The legislature, in its turn, also has its eyes on the November election. So it refuses to do what the Governor suggests. Sometimes it does the opposite thing and sometimes, as in the present case, it has done nothing but adjourned again without passing any legislation of importance.

Now it must return again, at some later date, if it is to take final action on the controversial proposal to increase unemployment benefits.

★ ★ ★

This stalemate serves notice on the people of Michigan that if they want a full scale legislative program enacted they should elect a governor and a legislature of the same political party. Then a distinct program could be put into effect. Not only that, but the governor presumably would carry out the new laws with a determination to make them truly effective and to see that they accomplished the desired results.

Under present conditions there is much political hauling back and forth, name calling and argument. Little that is constructive is accomplished.

★ ★ ★

The governor accuses the legislature of an unwillingness to act. The legislature accuses the governor of playing politics and carrying on his perpetual campaign for reelection. Meanwhile the state gets a less comprehensive program than it would receive were its governor and legislative majority of the same political faith.

This Is the Time to Clean Up the Basement

This is the time of year when a little precaution may pay big dividends in protecting your home from fire.

★ ★ ★

First comes your furnace, or whatever type of heating you may use. Check your furnace over carefully, or have your furnace man check it. Check the chimney and the openings into it. See that both furnace and chimney are clean and ready for winter operation.

Next, see that your basement is clean. Clean out all the papers that have accumulated during the summer. Remove all litter, anything that could cause a fire.

★ ★ ★

And, while you are at it, see that the basement is shipshape, that no lose boards are left lying about which might cause an accident leading to personal injury. Many such accidents can be avoided if the home is kept clean and uncluttered, with all passageways and places where persons have to walk kept open and clear at all times.

The People's Business:

Cobo Campaign

Dissatisfaction Voiced by Some Outstate Solons

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—A good many outstate Republican legislators say they think the Republican Cobo-for-governor campaign is rolling along in fine style.

★ ★ ★

A few interviewed during the legislative meeting earlier in the week had critical things to say. One predicted Cobo's defeat.

Those with negative reactions were generally reluctant to discuss them, and did not want their names publicly associated with their views.

Mostly, the senators and House members said Cobo was getting a warm reception when he came into their areas.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek) said he timed enthusiastic applause given Cobo when he appeared at a Packed Rotary Club luncheon and that it lasted five minutes.

EXCELLENT IMPRESSION

He said Cobo made an "excellent" impression in an earlier appearance in the district before a Republican Party gathering.

★ ★ ★

Other legislators told of good crowds, talked of curiosity to get a look at the nominee and said voters were pleased with his "sincerity."

Several legislators said Cobo had not yet been in their districts or had not come in since the Aug. 7 primary.

On this score, here was some dissatisfaction, although the general feeling appeared to be that Cobo would get around in time to rouse voters sufficiently in behalf of the Republican cause.

★ ★ ★

Rep. George Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) said Cobo made a big hit on a primary campaign swing around his area but that he did not know when he was coming back. He supposed Cobo would return.

FAILED TO APPEAR

One senator said he had written for and received a commitment that Cobo would visit his county fair but that the candidate failed to show up.

He thought Cobo had missed a chance to build the Republican vote, which has been slipping some, by maybe 5 per cent.

The senator said county Republicans at the fair were interested in Cobo and picked up literature about him at the Republican tent "but there's no substitute for personal contact."

There was a noticeable, but reluctantly expressed sentiment, that Cobo either was budgeting too much time to the Detroit area or had gotten a late start in his outstate activity.

Days of All Faiths

North America Had Martyrs, Too

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

When people think about the early beginnings of Christianity on this continent, the chances are they have in mind the Puritan settlement in Massachusetts or the Church of Englanders at Jamestown, Va. Both of these groups appeared in North America during the early 1600's.

* * *

But at exactly the same time there was a great amount of missionary activity being carried on by Jesuit and Franciscan priests in the inland regions of Canada and what is now upstate New York, and Wednesday in Roman Catholic Churches in the United States and Canada is set apart as the Feast of the Martyrs of North America, honoring eight priests who lost their lives trying to bring the Christian faith to the Indians.

From 1608 on, from Nova Scotia to the Great Lakes, devoted missionaries ranged over the unexplored forest. They not only underwent the normal hardships of life in an untamed wilderness but suffered discouragement, torture, and in some cases cruel death at the hands of the savages to whom they were trying to minister.

Eight at least were killed by the Indians, and it is these eight who are commemorated today. All of them were canonized together in 1930.

A shrine has been built at Auriesville, N. Y., in honor of the three of the eight who lost their lives there.

SPECIAL JEWISH DAYS

The Jews are coming now to the end of Sukkoth, their longest festival, and each of the last three days of this nine-day season has its own special significance.

* * *

Wednesday is known Hoshana Rabba—literally "great salvation." This is the seventh day of Sukkoth. The main feature today is the traditional procession held in the synagogue. Old and young march about, carrying willow branches with which, at the end of the marching, they beat the ground until the branches are bare of leaves.

Although the season of judgment (the High Holidays) officially ended on Yom Kippur, nearly two weeks ago, there are some who believe that even up until today God mercifully extends man's opportunity to repent. To some, therefore, today retains something of the character of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

Thursday is called Shemini Atsereth, which means "the eighth day of solemn assembly." On this, as on the first day of Sukkoth, no work is permitted.

* * *

The special events of this eighth day are a memorial service for the dead and the recital of an ancient prayer for rain. This prayer in former times, when the Jews were farmers in Palestine, was simply part of the ritual of the harvest festival. One agricultural season had ended; now they asked God for rain to prepare the season for the one that would soon begin. Now the prayer provides a link between modern Jews living in all parts of the world and those ancient Jews who cultivated their own soil.

* * *

Today's Jew is not praying for rain in New York or London or wherever he may live; he is praying for rain in Palestine. And since the establishment of Israel, with its great new agricultural program, the old prayer takes on a new importance and points up the unity between the Jews who have returned to Palestine and those who are still scattered throughout the world.

Friday, the final day, is Simhath Torah—"the rejoicing in the Law." The name comes from the fact that the annual cycle of the reading of the Law in synagogue services comes to an end and will start over on the next Sabbath. It is at the same time a closing and a reopening, an end and a beginning, of the Jews' most cherished possession, the Torah, and the Jew rejoices in this never-ending gift.

* * *

Processions will be held today, in which the sacred scrolls, both of the Law and the Prophets, will be carried about the synagogue.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Iodin Ration Does Wonders Again

I went on Iodin Ration about three months ago. Now I am feeling like a new person, energy boundless. It's wonderful . . . (Mrs. P. H. S.)

Answer — Yahbut, like milk, wheat, meat, fish, fowl, fruit, nuts, etc., it is habit forming. Once you start using such things you have to keep on eating them the rest of your life. If you discontinue your daily ration of meat, milk, wheat, etc., as soon as you get feeling in fine fettle, the old tired, weary, bloomy mumpishness will recur. For pamphlet The Iodin Ration send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Please send me your pamphlet on Alergy. I do enjoy your references to Canandaigua so much, for we spent many happy summers there at a nice cottage (F. W. C.)

Answer—at the west shore point that bears your name, I betcha. To decide whether Canandaigua or Keuka is the Gem of the Fingerlakes, one should spent three days around each lake in the summer and three days around each in the autumn. Every reader subject to allergic sensitivity should send stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet Relief for Allergy.

Two weeks ago I sent you a postal card asking whether it is safe to apply iodine to the gums. So far I have seen no answer. The question still stands. (A. M.)

Answer—Answer on p. 48 of Save Your Teeth, for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Please explain what sigmoid diverticulum means. (O. M.)

Answer—The sigmoid or pelvic colon is the last 14 inches of large bowel which terminates in the rectum (about 4½ inches long), called sigmoid because it is S-shaped. A diverticulum is a blind pouch or pocket leading off the bowel. Most persons have a few diverticula — according to X-ray films. Who cares: A Diverticulum is as likely to give trouble as is the appendix, ileum (main part of small intestine), colon (large bowel) or duodenum (Twelve-finger length of small intestine just beyond stomach). And after all everybody has an appendix unless he or she has worked up an impressive bellyache and sojourned for a week in hospital.

I am 58, very nervous, get extremely irritable when the household is too noisy—had two boys, my first, when I was 40, and they are now at an age . . . takes a lot of washing, cooking, ironing . . . When I go to the doctor he just wants to give me estrogen shots . . . must be a better way to steady my nerves. (Mrs. B. E.)

Answer—Boys of that age should help Mom with the dishes, setting table, cooking, etc. That sort of thing makes a man out of a boy. ASK YOUR DOCTOR about premarin tablets—estrogenic effects in a coated tablet.

I can't take milk, not even a glass a day or a small portion on cereal, creamed vegetables, etc., without getting a very offensive breath that lasts for days. Would calcium shots be advisable? (Mrs. F. J. H.)

Answer—If the purpose is to prevent calcium deficiency due to inadequate consumption of milk, the simplest, most effective and cheapest way would be to eat a suitable calcium and D supplement every day. But calcium deficiency is not all one suffers if milk consumption is less than 1½ pints (three glasses) daily. It would be necessary to correct riboflavin, vitamin A, and vitamin B complex as well.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to diseases, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Urges College Church Attendance

Judy indicates the tremendous influence which college students can wield if they get into the harness of local moral organizations. Nowadays, the four years they are in college are almost totally wasted as regards constructive social influence. It is an unusual college town that can show 10 per cent of the student body in churches.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-372: Judy, aged 21, finished her senior year at college last term.

* * *

She wrote home at least once per week, and in one of her letters she mentioned the fact that Daniel and David were going to Detroit for the week-end for dates.

She had been invited to go along, and had a date arranged with a very attractive footballer there, but she declined the invitation.

"It would have kept me away from my Sunday school class Sunday morning," she added, "for the boys weren't planning to get back to the campus till Sunday night.

"I have 12 girls in my class and they expect me to be there as the teacher. So I stayed home."

COEDS IN HARNESS

It would be well if all college coeds would get into harness and teach more Sunday school classes in their college towns.

* * *

For the high school girls are greatly impressed by the superior social status of college girls. Such teachers thus yield tremendous influence.

When I was stationed at Smith College for a couple of years back in the 1920's, I roomed in the Baptist parsonage at Northampton.

Its pastor was a livewire named Edward Estaver. I have always taught Sunday school classes wherever I have been located, so I had a mixed class of college age at the Methodist Church in Northampton.

But there wasn't a girl from Smith College in attendance at the Methodist Church.

"Do they attend your Baptist Church?" I asked Rev. Estaver.

* * *

"Rarely," he confessed. "But Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick's daughter was an exception. She was a faithful worker while she was here."

The big Jonathan Edwards Congregational Church also had few if any patrons from about 1,800 girls at Smith College.

Some of them undoubtedly showed up at the Catholic Church, for Catholics usually rate tops in faithful church attendance.

But I'd estimate that 90 per cent of the Smith College girls never went to church on any given Sunday.

And that is not a reflection on Smith College alone, for the same situation exists on almost all 1,900 college campuses in the United States.

SABBATH VIOLATORS

The students usually date late on Saturday night; then sleep till mid-morning on Sunday.

The girls use Sunday as laundry day to wash their lingerie and loll around.

Yet women are the chief custodians of religion and morality, so the loss of the constructive social influence of such girls is enormous.

We need to harness more coeds for useful civic and religious work in their college towns.

Judy is obviously an exception. And so are my sons, who attend church faithfully. But they laughingly say it is because "Dad brain-washed us so thoroughly."

But America needs more "parwash" their kids about basic moral wash"their kids about basic moral and political problems, so they will put their shoulders to the wheel of all moral machinery.

And you college students, as well as high schoolers, can send for the "Behavior Test for Teen-Agers," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

"Faith without works is dead," said St. James, so it isn't enough just to render lazy lip service to moral idealism.

You need to back that with elbow grease and self sacrifice, so be sure you are in church on Sunday morning, even if you must cancel dates, as Judy has done.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

'Republican Was in Office During Worst U. S. War'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I am becoming weary and disgusted with those who try to put the stigma of "war party" on the shoulders of the Democratic Party. Admitted, two world wars were kept from our shores during the tenures of two Democratic presidents. On the other hand, Abraham Lincoln's Republican party was in power during the worst war in the history of the United States, and fought within our boundaries.

Wants Prosperity for All Residents

I read a letter in the Voice of the People that says the 1,800 residents near the Pontiac plant don't want the new tracks. It concludes by asking whether the city is being run for industry or the people who live near the tracks.

That's a fair question. Should we run the city for the 1,800 who signed the petition or should we run it for the 78,209 who didn't sign but who want to see Pontiac grow, have more jobs and expand?

We want more prosperity for the whole city. We shouldn't decide questions for a handful of people that sign petitions.

Guy Who Has Been Laid Off Since May

'Bus Isn't Denied, Rather Rejected'

In answer to J. C. and Old Trouble Maker, I believe he has named himself right.

I myself send my boy to a parochial school, not that I am averse to the teaching in the public school, but because of the lack of religious teaching.

Now it says in my book, "Thou shalt not covet anything that is thy neighbor's." Apparently J. C. and Old Trouble Maker and a few others overlook the fact that they covet the school bus service which they could have simply by enrolling their youngsters in a public school, and teaching them their faith at home, thereby reaping the benefit of the bus service and save the school tuition.

For my money, these people are not denied the bus service; they are rejecting it.

School Bus Rules Present Problem

Just yesterday there was nearly an accident when a school bus stopped near a drug store where I was shopping. This was in a semi-rural area.

The comments ensuing among the people in the store as a result of this incident was thought-provoking. Out of about ten people, not one, including myself, could state positively what the rules are about school buses.

Understand there was no doubt about what to do when following the bus, but rather about what to do when approaching a school bus from the other direction. Do you hit someone or get your trunk bashed in?

I believe the driver should get out and flag down approaching traffic.

Calls Delinquents Just Lazy Bums

I am sure the public is getting sick and tired of social workers claiming that juvenile delinquency is merely the transition of youth to adolescence, with accompanying pranks and revolt against society. These young hoods are just lazy bums who get up at noon and then hang around outside some candy store, while their parents work to support them.

CELEBRATING THE FEAST OF TABERNACLES — Standing within the suko or hut built adjacent to Congregation B'nai Israel are Rabbi Israel Goodman and children of the Religious School. The rabbi is holding a palm branch and an esrog, a citrus fruit, both ceremonial objects associated with the holiday. They represent man's dependence on nature for nourishment and beauty. In this "suko" hung with fruits and branches, prayers are said and sung, lauding the goodness of God in inspiring seekers of freedom with courage and in sending mankind the bounties of nature.

OBSERVING SUKOS — Commemorating the Feast of the Tabernacles or the Ingathering of the Harvest, Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Abrams of 58 Bloomfield terrace, have arranged a small suko or hut on the dinner table. Jews everywhere build sukos hung with fruits, flowers and vegetables on their lawns, in their homes, beside and in the synagogues, remembering that their ancestors lived in flimsy huts during their desert wanderings — yet felt secure in God's protection. With their parents are the Abram children, Frances, (left) and Judy. The small booth stands as a reminder that God visits those who sincerely seek Him, whether they live in small or luxurious homes.

BRINGING IN THE FRUITS OF THE HARVEST — Children of the Religious School at Temple Beth Jacob participated in the Sukos Family Service. The boys and girls marched down the aisle in a procession to the altar carrying baskets of food which were later given to worthy causes in the community. This is done annually as an expression of sharing the gifts of God. Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein (left) pronounced his blessing on the gifts and children, Iris Gerstein of 286 Ottawa drive (left to right), Judy Abrams of 58 Bloomfield terrace, Joel Chafets of 84 South Genesee avenue and Andrew Golden of Lake Angelus road.

Jews Celebrate Annual Fall Festival of Thanksgiving

Sukos, known as the Feast of the Tabernacles or the Feast of Booths, is the annual Jewish fall festival of Thanksgiving. It commemorates the ingathering of the fruit and vegetable harvest.

* * *

There is much in today's celebration that is still reminiscent of Bible days. Most striking is the "suko" the tabernacle or booth, that is erected in honor of the holiday. It recalls the ancient festival in its similarity to the shelters in which Israelite farmers lived during their harvest-time stint in fields.

Also resembling a desert-dweller's hut, it reminds Jews of the exodus from Egypt and of God's grace to Israel during the long years in the wilderness.

The suko itself is a simple framework covered with a latticework roof of leafy boughs, from which clusters of fruit are hung. Sukos, each of them about the size of a small room, may be seen during the holiday season on the lawns of homes or synagogues or synagogue altars.

The past comes to life in another holiday custom, as children bring offers of fruit and vegetables that are hung on the synagogue's suko.

Similarly in ancient days, Israelite farmers came as pilgrims to the Jerusalem Temple during the Feast of Tabernacles, bringing with them the choicest of their produce as a thanks offering to God.

Jews import for the festival some products of the soil of Israel and, as they recite over them the blessings handed down by age-old tradition, there is re-enacted in the synagogues a part of the old Biblical Thanksgiving.

The plants imported are an esrog or citron and a lulov, a long slender palm leaf bound in a sheaf with a leafy myrtle twig and a willow bough. These plants have been a part of the Sukos festival since time immemorial.

* * *

The last day of Sukos is a joyous day known as Simchas Torah, "rejoicing in the Torah." The Torah, the first five books of Moses, is found in the synagogue in the form of a parchment scroll written in Hebrew. Divided into sections, one for each week's service, the Torah is read in full over the course of each year.

* * *

Simchas Torah is the day on which the reading is finished and immediately begun anew. It ranks as one of the happiest of holidays because of Judaism's deep love for the Torah and its teachings.

Worshipers march in gay procession down the synagogue aisles, the men carrying torahs and the children waving holiday banners.

At Congregation B'nai Israel, Rabbi Israel Goodman will conduct the following services next week: Wednesday, 6:30 p.m.; Thursday 7:30 a.m. and 7 p.m.; Friday 7:30 a.m. and 9:15 p.m. and Saturday 7:30 a.m. The Junior Congregation will meet at 10 o'clock Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings.

Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein will conduct the family service at 7:30 Friday in Temple Beth Jacob. This will conclude the celebration of the fall Holyday season.

Baptist Medical Ministry Established for Burmese

The medical ministry is a firmly established phase of Baptist work in Burma. Two of the hospitals — Sir San C. Po Memorial and Moulmein Christian — provide training for nurses.

At Moulmein Christian, teaching methods are shifting from English to Burmese. In 1955 doctors and nurses translated text books into the latter tongue.

Christian hospitals and clinics prove effective agencies for evangelism as well as centers of physical healing.

At Namkham non-Christian patients remarked on the difference of that hospital from others in their experience. They did not immediately grasp why it was different but they understood when they heard staff members praying for some of the patients.

The Susan Haswell Home for Leprosy Patients in Moulmein has a splendid record of Christian service. While Dr. Richard Buker, who initiated leprosy work around Kengtung, is now assigned to Thailand, 1,070 sufferers from the disease are treated in 15 colonies in Burma.

Another ministry of compassion is for refugees—of whom there are thousands in cities and rural areas.

With post-war privations taking their toll in health and stamina, there are at least 10,000 active TB cases among the displaced in Rangoon alone.

Mrs. Frederick G. Dickason, R. N., directs refugee work for the Burma Christian Council. Baptist funds provide welcome aid, especially for children. Yet available help is pitifully inadequate when measured against the demand.

Strange tales are being circulated about Bible-believing Protestants.

The rumor has been circulated that these Protestants do not belong to the "true church." It is being said that the Protestant faith started in the 16th century. You can hear it said that this Protestant faith was founded by "corrupt" leaders . . . and that they started a new kind of Christianity.

The Bible gives us an accurate account of how the Christian Church began. The early Christians obeyed Christ's command to "preach the Gospel to every creature." The Bible says they "went everywhere preaching the Word." As a result, groups of Christians sprang up all over the known world.

These scattered groups of believers, independent of one another, were united only in their faith in the Bible message . . . that "Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures." (I Corinthians 15:3)

The Church in the first century was not an organization; it consisted of groups of individual believers. The true Church today is not an organization, nor a group of organizations. It is the total number of those who are believers in the Bible message of salvation.

The basis of membership in the true Church has not changed since the first century . . . it has never been by sacraments or by membership in any church organization . . it has always been by spiritual birth, as Christ explained to Nicodemus, "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." (John 3:3)

You may have other questions about the true New Testament Church, and about membership in a local Bible-believing church. Many of your questions are answered in an interesting FREE pamphlet which will be sent to you if you mail the following:

Confident Living

Ask God for the Assistance to Overcome Hate, Anger

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A kiss, a box of candy and a bouquet of flowers brought home to his wife by a tardy husband once saved that wife's eyesight, according to a report by Dr. T. F. Schlaegel Jr., of Indiana University.

* * * * * *

The wife was suffering from glaucoma, an eye disease, and the husband's gift, demonstrating a loving concern, happened to be so timed as to reduce his wife's tension, thus preventing the dangerously high level of pressure within her eyeball from rising to the acute stage. Surely this incident is a demonstration of the power our emotions have over our physical functions.

DR. PEALE

I was once asked to visit a man who was ailing. He told me at length about his sickness and disability. He told me how his knees ached and creaked and showed me his fingers with big knobs at the joints. "It looks like arthritis to me," I said.

"That's what the doctor said, too," he answered. "And my physician made a curious remark. He said I could actually get arthritis by having a mean spirit and by hating people. You wouldn't think that could be so, would you?"

"Well," I said, "your doctor told you so. He knows more about it than I do, but I have seen many instances which prove that meanness can bring on various types of disease."

"I can't get my fist closed," he went on to complain. "I can't get my right arm up to shoulder level."

I decided to come at the problem of his sick feelings another way, so I asked him how he got along with his business associates.

'I'D GIVE MY RIGHT ARM'

"Oh," he exclaimed, his face flushing angrily. "I'm surrounded by the biggest bunch of two-timers you ever saw. One of them has just double-crossed me. I'd give my right arm just to smash that guy." He went on this way for a while, and as he discussed this associate and others, I began to be conscious of such repetitious expressions as "I'd give my right arm if I could wring his neck." Now, I'm certainly no psychiatrist, but this diagnosis was a simple one.

"I'm no doctor," I told him, "but I wouldn't be surprised if there was something in your mind that is affecting the power of your right arm. Perhaps it is the passion of hate. Take that man you say double-crossed you. Instead of saying you'd give your right arm to injure him, do you think you could bring yourself to pray for him and ask the Lord to forgive you for what you feel he has done to you? And then do you think you could pray to the Lord to forgive you for your meanness and take away your ill will?"

"I'd have to pray awfully hard to think well of that double-crosser," was his reply, though he grinned a bit.

I persuaded him to join me in prayer and have a try at it even so, and he did. His prayer was an honest one too; he said he didn't want to pray for that man, that he feared he didn't really mean it and that perhaps he was only doing it because I had persuaded him. But, true to his promise, he kept praying until he did mean it. As his prayers became sincere, he began to get results.

IT DID HAPPEN ULTIMATELY

Now, I'm not going to tell you that, all of a sudden, he could clench his fist and raise his arm. It didn't happen that way. But it did happen ultimately, and today that man is a normal and healthy human being.

* * * * * *

What happened to him? Simply that he asked God to free him from hate and resentment — and God did. That hate and resentment had been inhibiting the flow of Divine health through him. Freed from those evil forces, he could achieve his full powers and reclaim his physical and mental well-being.

You can do the same.

Catholic School Borrows Rooms From Township

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A cooperative arrangement between Walker Township and Holy Spirit Catholic parish allows a parochial school overflow to use a township's facilities.

The Holy Spirit school and Township District School No. 7 are about a block apart.

The Rev. Bernard L. Sikerski, Holy Spirit pastor, says two of the six Felican nuns assigned to the parochial school teach 90 pupils who attend classes in two rooms of the township school.

The assignment allows the Holy Spirit school to offer full-day instructions for 250 pupils in eight grades. The Parish building accommodates pupils in grades two, three, four, seven and eight.

Grades one, five and six are housed in the township school.

Father Sikorski says the township charges no rent for use of the classrooms, but the parish pays for fuel and maintenace.

Minister Will Preach Final Sermons Sunday

The Rev. M. C. Cooper who has been conducting a Revival at the Providence Missionary Baptist Church will speak at the Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock and again Sunday evening at 8. The meetings close tomorrow.

The Pastor's Aid Club will have as guests tomorrow at 3 p.m. the Church of Our Father from Detroit. The Rev. J. H. Gattlin will preach. Mrs. Hattie Scott is president of the club and the Rev. T. Walter Harris is the church pastor.

Bible Progress on Coast Told

Expansion in California Shown in Latest Report of Area Secretary

Secretary James Z. Nettinga of the Southern California District office of the Bible Society wrote recently to supporters of the bible cause in Southern California of "the growth and expansion, the progress and problems" of the area served by his office.

* * *

In part he wrote that behind the tremendous day-to-day development in Southern California of oil, housing, aircraft factories, orange groves, military establishments, electronics, motion pictures and television, there are the problems of people who pour into Southern California at the rate of 500 a day to make these industrial adbances possible.

"The social, moral and spiritual needs of these people have not changed nor decreased," Dr. Nettinga pointed out.

"On the contrary, in the midst of the growing, heterogeneous character of these expanding communities, there is an increasing challenge to the church to replant deep the roots of faith of thousands of spiritually displaced people.

* * *

"The Southern California district office . . . considers it a privilege to serve the churches and the vast spiritual challenge of these changing communities. The Bible is still the living word for all of life."

* * *

The speed of the change in the size of Southern California communities was pointed up by secretary Nettinga when he reported that more people than live in Baltimore, Md. or Cleveland, Ohio have moved into the Los Angeles metropolitan basin in the last five years.

Catholics Urge Work in Cities

26th Missiology Week Stresses Evangelizing in Urban Centers

LOUVAIN, Belgium — The necessity of evangelizing great numbers living in the large cities of the world was stressed by speakers at the 26th Missiology week.

* * *

Fr. Joseph Masson, SJ, secretary of the conference, gave an historical survey of the evangelization of the cities.

* * *

He stressed the basic importance of large cities and stated that all revolutions have started in the cities.

* * *

Therefore, the Jesuit continued, many priests must turn their eyes to the cities as scenes of their labors.

Marguerite Fievez, general secretary of the International Young Christian Workers, cited Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, as a city where many more religious opportunities were needed for the working classes.

"This city of a young continent, full of physical, social and political contrasts, lacks priests," Miss Fievez noted. "Enormous material and moral problems arise in this city" of nearly 2,500,000 people, she said.

* * *

"The religious situation of the workers there is tragic. While, in general, religious duties are fulfilled by 10 or 15 per cent of the population, among young working people the figure is between two and 5 per cent."

* * *

Miss Fievez said that groups of lay people were needed to assist priests in their work and that the YCW had been one means of gaining more contacts with the working classes.

In the U.S. only 10 per cent of the elementary schools have the recommended minimum of 5 acres for play areas.

Calls Sunday School Films Meager Fare for Children

The nation's 36 million Sunday School youngsters are getting only "meager" film fare and have "long since" become disillusioned about the entertainment value of church-produced movies, a National Council of Churches official said last week.

* * *

The Rev. Alexander B. Ferguson of New York, director of films for the organization's Broadcasting and Film Commission, declared Sunday School youngsters are "a captive audience" who have "seen pictures via television and public schools until they run out of their ears."

To capture their interest in the Sunday schools he suggested closer integration of films with church school lessons and "far more copies of films and film strips, smaller, lighter projectors and skill in using materials with small informal groups."

Ferguson attributed part of the problems to the fact that the audio-visual departments of various denominations generally are a part of the promotional departments. "As a result," he said, "about 75 per cent of the films made have dealt with subjects which have only 25 per cent interest range in the local church." He said commercial firms have produced he remaining 75 per cent of Bible films being used by the churches.

* * *

"We have leaned heavily on the Hollywood-type dramatic production which is costly to make," he said. "The most characteristic church film is the 30-minute dramatically slanted documentary." But he, said, "there are indications that 30 minutes may be too long for effective teaching."

Ferguson addressed the 13th annual international audio-visual workshop sponsored by the Broadcasting and Films Commission last week at Los Angeles.

Methodist Plan Missions for 27 Neglected Areas

Methodist missionaries at Greencastle, Ind., recently for a conference listed 27 social and geographic groups around the world who are "neglected" by Christian evangelism and listed ways of reaching them.

The group listed most often as unreached by Christianity was the Moslems. Suggestions from the missionaries for reaching that group included evangelists especially trained in Islamic religion and culture and widespread translations of the Bible into Arabic and other languages spoken by Moslems.

The non-Christian intellectual classes around the world, principally in India and South America were listed, with the suggestion that Christian nationals of high intelligence, able to "speak the language of the intelligentsia," be trained to approach these groups.

Bible classes for farmers were recommended for reaching the rural areas of Japan, teacher-preacher-healer teams were suggested for mass village evangelism in India and elsewhere, correspondence, radio and newspaper evangelism were suggested for reaching factory workers and other groups in large cities.

Specific geographic groups listed as neglected were Pygmies in central Africa, voodoo worshippers in Cuba, Brazil and elsewhere in Latin America, the "overseas" Chinese in Southeast Asia, and the fishing peoples of Angola and Liberia.

The missionaries recommended that in each of these cases an approach by the national church, rather than foreign missionaries, probably would be the most effective contact.

European and American colonies overseas were mentioned as neglected and the missionaries recommended that more pastors from the home countries be assigned to minister to the groups.

Bible Society Has New Edition

Illustrated Photographs of Jerusalem and Area Found in Issue

In Jerusalem, despite the turmoil raging over this city throughout the centuries, many sections remain unchanged, and today visitors may walk through the ancient streets.

* * *

On Jerusalem's streets, Jesus walked with His disciples, rode in triumph on Palm Sunday and carried His cross to a hill called the Place of the Skull outside of the city a few days later.

One may still walk along the Via Dolorosa or "Way of Pain," where Christ carried His cross, and perhaps feel himself in the company of a small band of disciples who lived two thousand years ago.

Scenes like this are brought to us in the pages of the illustrated new testament published by the American Bible Society.

* * *

Nearly 600 actual photographs and other illustrations are included opposite the pertinent New Testament text to help people visualize more clearly the actual Holy Land scenes.

The United States has put to use only about 15 per cent of its total water power resources believed technically feasible for development.

Named Volunteer of the Month

Margaret Steward Cited by CVB

Having chalked up more than 175 hours of volunteer service anually, Miss Margaret Steward of Washington street, has been chosen September's Volunteer of the Month by the Central Volunteer Bureau.

For three years, now, Miss Steward has been centering her fall activities in the offices of the Pontiac Area United Fund. A former mathematics instructor at Pontiac High Schol, she says she enjoys working with the vast amount of statistics of pre-campaign weeks and acting as cashier during the drive.

So far this year, she has worked at the UF headquarters two days a week for the past five weeks. This she crams along with her substitute teaching duties.

Miss Steward bemoans the fact that not many people want the responsibility of checking in the solicitors, envelopes and counting the money. She is looking for some assistants to help her during the rush periods.

MANY AFFILIATIONS

Miss Steward is a member of the AAUW, the University of Michigan Alumni, treasurer of the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church, and recently was appointed chairman of the community service committee of the DAR.

The Central Volunteer Bureau is a United Fund agency serving tax-supported and private social service agencies of the Birmingham-Pontiac area.

It acts as a clearing house, finding volunteers to fill the needs of agencies and placing volunteers who want to serve their community..

* * *

September is recruitment month for the bureau. It's goal—300 newly registered volunteers. The skilled and unskilled, individuals and groups, are needed in many capacities.

The bureau's headquarters are in the offices of the Pontiac Area United Fund, 218 National Building.

Advised to Purchase Own Print From Photographer

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Three months ago I was a bridesmaid at a friend's wedding. Up until the present time I have not received a wedding picture, which I think is the least the bride could do in appreciation of the expense I went through for her.

Don't you think I am entitled to a picture and that I have a perfect right to feel hurt?"

Answer: If she is giving away any pictures, you should certainly be given one. On the other hand, such photographs are usually too expensive for any but very well-to-do brides' families to buy for the entire wedding party. Therefore, those who want a picture order it from the photographer and pay for it themselves.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have asked a girl I know to sing at my wedding. She is not a personal friend but someone I know only casually. I would like to know if it is necessary to send her an invitation to the wedding reception. If so, must her husband also be included."

Answer: If you are paying her for singing at your wedding, it is not necessary to invite her. But if you are not paying her then you certainly have to invite her and her husband.

"Dear Mrs. Post: If a girl has been friends with a man for several years and then their friendship is suddenly broken, and her friends don't know and continue to ask her about him, what can she answer so that they won't keep on asking questions? It is most embarrassing."

Answer: It is best to say frankly (but briefly) "I haven't seen John for a long time," and then quickly speak of something else.

Recreate Mood of Happy Youth

Pictures Hold Magic for Older Folk

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Ray Kalwajtys, one of Chicago's interesting citizens said, "A poverty of happy memories, much more than actual monetary poverty, is the spectre that haunts the older years of many people."

He continued, "Look at the lobbies of middle-class residential hotels anywhere and observe by whom they are peopled — often by unhappy looking older folks who had the foresight to put some money away but never gave a thought to preserving some of their emotional experiences."

Mr. Kalwajtys has been an enthusiastic photographer since childhood. A number of years ago he realized that the sale of cameras, photographic supplies and correlated equipment had zoomed beyond any expectation, while during the same period the Family album practically disappeared from the scene.

* * *

He wondered what people had been doing with the billions of snapshots they take yearly. He had visions of millions of old boxes bulging with pictures, stored in millions of attics and closets, trunk or drawers, when they weren't lost or thrown out in a house-cleaning spree.

Not one to let a good idea lie around Ray Kalwajtys went into the album business. I think one reason he has been so successful is because he really has his heart in his work. He believes that picture albums warm the lonely heart and recover lost moments of happiness, and that they add richness of background to the lives of children.

He thinks that the reason so many older people fail to make new friends is because they lack the aura of happiness which invites new associations. He says:

"In periods of loneliness pictures of happier days lovingly preserved through the years, can create the flavor of happiness and that in itself provides the same kind of aura that the memory of having been a beauty gives a woman who is no longer young or beautiful."

OTHERS RESPOND

And, "Beautiful women develop a certain attitude toward themselves which lasts after their beauty is gone. They treat themselves as feminine creatures all of their lives and the world takes them at their own evaluation.

"It's the same with people who have been happy or successful. They continue to carry themselves like happy and successful people. All these qualities — beauty, happiness, success, always attract others.

"Such people keep on developing new associations with others and never know the extreme of loneliness that can be the lot of older people."

* * *

I always have believed that once a woman loses sight of herself as a woman her charm and magnetism fade. This is more likely to happen to the older woman than to the younger one.

Retired Couple's Security Endangered by Relatives

Oldsters Urged to Be Frank in Asking Return of Loans, Halt to Untimely Visits

By RUTH MILLETT

The husband is 70 years old, his wife 69. When he retired several years ago because of poor health and the two moved to Florida they thought they had enough money put aside to take care of themselves for life.

* * *

With his wife doing all the housework, with the husband acting as handyman and with careful budgeting of money, they told themselves they would never have to depend on anyone for financial assistance.

But here's the fly in the ointment, Relatives on both sides of the family have borrowed money and failed to pay it back.

Relatives on both sides of the family either write that they are coming for a two week's visit or come unannounced.

While they are "vacationing," their retired host and hostess are cooking meals, washing dishes, making beds, laying in groceries. Also, they are spending more than they can afford.

WHAT TO DO?

It is the husband who wrote about their problem and asked at the end of his letter, "How can we meet our problem without straining the otherwise pleasant relationship we have maintained through the years with relatives on both sides?"

* * *

Why not try frankness? Begin by writing a letter to each relative who owes you money. Explain that, since you have no income but are living on your savings, you need to have the loan repaid.

That may result in your collecting at least part of the money owed you. It should certainly keep those who have borrowed before from asking to borrow again.

Then next time you get a letter from a relative announcing the arrival of his family for a visit write back how pleased you are they are coming. But mention that you and your wife no longer have the physical strength to look after guests, much as you wish otherwise, and that you will be glad to reserve rooms for them at a court or hotel.

Your first duty is to each other. If you allow relatives to impose upon your strength and your financial security you can hardly hope that they will come to your aid when your money and strength are gone.

'Doctor' Richard Boone Is Tired of Medic Jokes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Calling Dr. Boone. Calling Dr. Boone."

This is the sort of thing that actor Richard Boone is greeted with all the time. The reason is that he pays Dr. Konrad Styner on the TV show, "Medic."

* * *

"All the time people are coming up to me and making some joke about my being in 'Medic,'" he sighs, "They can't understand why I don't fall down laughing."

Still, Boone, 39, is a patient soul and does not resort to fisticuffs. As a matter of fact, he enjoys the jokes the first few dozen times and is tolerant thereafter.

And why not? Look what "Medic" has done for him.

"For three years, I didn't play anything but dirty men at 20th Century-Fox," he said. "Why, I seldom got to shave. Now look at me."

I looked at him. His chin was clean-shaven and his mustache neatly clipped. His hair was combed and he wore a well-tailored business suit.

* * *

"'Medic' did this for me," he said. "I'm getting my pick of pictures and 75 per cent of Eleanor Parker."

I must explain this. They are not cutting Miss Parker up into percentages. Boone is appearing in a new movie called "Lizzie," produced by Kirk Douglas' Bryna Productions. I believe he meant that his contract calls for his name to be billed in type no less than 75 per cent of the size of Miss Parker's, which is pretty good billing.

* * *

As a matter of fact, Miss Parker is actualy divided into thirds in the picture. She plays a mixed-up girl with a three-way split personality.

I need hardly add Boone plays a medic in the picture. He is the psychiatrist who uncovers the trio of Eleanor Parkers.

Before "Lizzie," Boone made a Randolph Scott western, playing a heavy again—"but a heavy with a longing not to be." Next he goes into "Bail Out at 43,000 Feet." In that one he recreates his TV role as the older Air Force officer who induces a younger man to do a risky bail-out to save his self-respect. The "younger" man will be John Payne.

Ticket Demand for Series Is Largest Ever

NEW YORK (INS) — The New York Yankees have announced, just 48 hours after placing them on sale, that the demand for World Series box and reserved seat tickets has been the "largest in history" and no more mail orders are being accepted.

Standing room tickets at $4.20 each still may be purchased by mail or in person at Yankee Stadium for single games. Remaining standing room tickets and 14,000 bleacher seats will be placed on sale the day of each game at the Stadium.

Berrios Given Split Decision

Puerto Rican Scores Victory Over Chestnut in Detroit Bout

DETROIT (AP) — After hooking his way to victory over Ike Chestnut last night, Puerto Rican Miguel Berrios was ready today "for the best in the featherweight division."

Jimmy De Angelo, pilot of the 5-foot-2 warrior, said: "We are ready to fight any featherweight who ranks above us. We are ready and willing to meet the best in the featherweight division."

Berrios is rated sixth among the 126-pounders. The split decision victory over 9th - ranked Chestnut in a nationally televised 10-rounder was his 19th win in 25 starts.

"Of course, we would like to meet champion Sandy Saddler," De Angelo said, "but we are bidding our time and are willing enough to wait for our shot at the title."

* * *

The bout was scored under a "must five" system being tested by the Michigan Boxing Commission. Judge Jack Aspery gave Berrios the nod, 46-43. Judge Al Goodman voted 48-40 in favor of the Puerto Rican. Referee Johnny Weber, who was roundly booed, gave the fight to Chestmut, 45-44. The Associated Press had Berrios out in front, 49-39.

There were no knockouts, nor was either fighter marked, although both were rocked as the pace quickened after the fifth round.

Bucs Take 2-1 Decision From Brooks' Maglie

Braves Rap St. Louis to Gain One Game in NL Pennant Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Is Milwaukee finally going to make the breaks pay off? Is Pittsburgh about to knock Brooklyn out of the race, just as in 1954? Can Cincinnati still make it?

* * *

That's today's baseball quiz with the Braves within two percentage points of first-place Brooklyn again and the Redlegs only three lengths back in the National League's battle for survival.

The Braves, who have blown breaks like everyone else in a race marked by missed opportunities, grabbed the brass ring and made Chicago errors pay off with a 6-4 victory over the last-place Cubs last night.

* * *

Pittsburgh, the club that sprung a September trap to catch Brooklyn and open the pennant door to New York's Giants in '54, was at it again, meanwhile, tripping the Dodgers 2-1 and roughing up Sal Maglie to boot. And the Redlegs, refusing to quit, made it three in a row with a 9-1 breeze over St. Louis.

* * *

In the other NL game, the New York Giants, with Johnny Antonelli winning his 18th, defeated Philadelphia 7-3, scoring seven in the fifth against Dick Farrell in his major league debut. Willie Mays stole his 37th and 38th bases, tops in the NL since Kiki Cuyler stole 43 in 1929.

In the American, Mickey Mantle's 51st home run gave New York a league record with 183 for the season, but the pennant-winning Yankees also set a major league record by leaving 20 men on base to lose to Boston 13-7.

Pontiac's Band Pays Tribute to Hal Bergen

Friday was a night of tribute for Pontiac High School's marching band.

Making its 1st game appearance of the season the band paid tribute to Hal Bergen, veteran leader of Lansing Sexton bands, who has been ill since early spring. He suffered a heart attack at the time and has not taken up his duties this fall, PHS music department pepole say. The Lansing band was not here last night.

Tribute was also paid, in music, at the halftime program, to former junior high students who took part in sports and band, representing Eastern, Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Madison Highs.

Lose to Tribe, 5-1

Tigers Fail to Gain

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Tiger players have agreed on a money split in the event they make the American League's first division, but time is getting shorter and the odds are getting longer on the club's chances.

The second-place Cleveland Indians dumped the Tigers 5-1 last night in the final night contest of the season at Briggs Stadium and sent the Tigers spinning 2½ games away from the first division.

The fourth-place Boston Red Sox gained a full game by slamming the pennant-winning New York Yankees, 13-7. Eight games remain on the Detroit schedule and Boston has seven to play.

Behind Early Wynn's clutch pitching and the home run feats of Al Rosen and Vic Wertz, the Indians jolted southpaw Billy Hoeft's opportunity to win 20 games. Hoeft was going for his 19th but left after permitting all the damage in seven innings.

* * *

Wynn, racking up his 19th victory against nine setbacks, spaced eight hits and was seldom in trouble. The only serious blow was Frank Bolling's 5th inning home run into the lower left field seats. It was the Detroit second baseman's 6th of the year.

Cleveland scored twice in the first as seven men came to bat. Al Smith doubled to lead off and Bob Avila reached base when Tiger catcher Red Wilson bobbled the third strike.

A walk, sacrifice fly and Jim Busby's infield single brought home the runs.

* * *

Two of the top strikeout artists in baseball were to square off today in the second game of the weekend series.

Paul Foytack, who has fanned 166 batters to rank third in the American League, was to pitch for Detroit and will be after his 15th win against 12 defeats.

For Cleveland it was to be lefty Herb Score, The Majors' strikeout leader, with 242 whiffs.

Browns Upend Bears, Giants Batter Cards

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The champion Cleveland Browns are showing signs of regaining their usual winning touch as the opening of the National Football League nears.

Losers in five straight exhibitions, the Browns upended the Chicago Bears, previously unbeaten on the exhibition trail, 24-14 before 56,543 at Soldier Field in Chicago last night.

The New York Giants whipped the Chicago Cardinals 42-7 at Memphis in another Friday night exhibition.

Dropps Key Man for Shamrock 11

St. Michael opens its bid for the Suburban Catholic League football title Sunday afternoon at Wisner Stadium against dangerous Highland Park St. Benedict. Starting time is 2:30.

The Shamrocks' hopes for rebounding from last week's 20-6 loss to Avondale will depend to a great extent on the physical fitness of star halfback Dan Dropps. Dropps sustained severe facial injuries in the Avondale game.

Coach Bob Mineweaser is hopeful that St. Mike's ace runner will be ready to go against the Ravens. End Paul Amman, bothered by a sore back, is expected to start tomorrow's encounter.

St. Ben, also entertaining SCL title ambitions, blanked St. Francis de Sales last Sunday, 14-0.

Rams in Usual Underdog Role

St. Frederick's football squad will find itself in the familiar role of underdog when the Rams collide with defending SCL champion Orchard Lake St. Mary tonight at Wisner Stadium. Game time is 8 o'clock.

The picture has brightened a little for St. Fred, plagued by a rash of injuries, with the return to right guard of letterman Frank Palopoli and Andy Landry's reinstatement at his normal tackle position.

Landry played halfback last Sunday at Marine City when Gene Wright's team dropped its season opener to Holy Cross, 12-0. Tom Nesbitt and Dick Kast will see heavy backfield duty, along with Tom Derocher and Mike Glynn.

St. Mary's Eaglets, who are starting their 1956 season tonight, will be overwhelming favorites. The Rams are winless in their last 26 games.

Wings Play Final Intra-Squad Game

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—With their last training camp intersquad game scheduled for tomorrow, the Detroit Red Wings still have a substitute in their first line.

The sub is Billy Dea, a stocky southpaw from the Edmonton Flyers who is filling in for Ted Lindsay, veteran left wing, on the National Hockey League club.

Lindsay worked out for the third straight day yesterday, but is still bothered by a severe chest cold that will keep him out of competition. Dea, who scored 29 goals for the Wing's Edmonton farm club last year, has joined Gordie Howe and Norm Ullman in the first line.

Chiefs Snatch Win in Last 3 Seconds

By H. GUY MOATS

In all the annals of sports history at Pontiac High School there probably never has been written a more dramatic finish for a football contest than that which took place Friday night at Wisner Stadium. And it may be many a "blue moon" before an equally thrilling, spine-tingling victory will match the 13-12 PHS win over Lansing Sexton.

While the field clock was cutting off the seconds to end the battle between Chiefs and the Sexton Big Reds, an apparently beaten Pontiac club suddenly erupted, to drive 99 yards, score a touchdown to tie the count at 12-12 and then jam over a tilt-winning point-after.

When the drive began on Chiefs' own one yard stripe 7 minutes were left.

* * *

When Jim Shorter went in to fire a rifle-shot into the waiting arms of Freeman Watkins in the end zone only 3 seconds remained. With victory hanging on the try, Dick Whitmer rammed into the center of the line, barely made it over for the winning point.

The big crowd, exceptional for the chill, wet night, swarmed onto the field to excitedly congratulate the victors. During the 99-yard march up the field the stands were a bedlam.

* * *

Victory was the 2nd for Pontiac. Defeat was Sexton's 2nd setback.

The Lansing team got its two TDs in the 1st half. Freddie Johnson, game's shining individual performer, scored both of them. He took a pitchout from the 6 for the 1st tally, then rambled over for the 2nd early in the 2nd period.

Chiefs converted a break into a TD shortly after Sexton's 2nd tally. Johnson had intercepted a long Whitmer pass on his own 32, but Bill Hall fumbled on the 1st play and Jim Shorter pounced on the ball on the 43. Les Watkins, Jim Hawkins, Whitmer drove to the 19 from where the husky Whitmer scrambled over for the marker. Dick just bowled his way to the line, literally running over a half dozen Sexton defenders who got in the way. That left Pontiac trailing 12-6 at intermission.

* * *

Something happened to the Chiefs at halftime.

Where their play had been something less than effective during the first half, they began to drive, and checked the brilliant little Freddie Johnson to a walk in the 3rd frame. Defensive play improved immensely, but the Chiefs missed a scoring chance with a fumble on Sexton's 17 where a 1st down would have offered the scoring opportunity.

Sexton drove to the Chiefs' 17, a push of some 90 yards, with Johnson, Hall, fullback Jim Ginther and Petrie lugging the ball. That was where the final period started, and before more than a couple minutes had elapsed Sexton was knocking at the Pontiac goal. Reds stalled on the one with the help of a penalty that set them back briefly, and as a result of a great defensive goal line stand.

Chiefs took over on the one, began the spectacular march with its storybook finish. Freeman Watkins' running, Whitmer's effective jump passes and short plunges, Robinson's drives, good hard blocking by Jim Hill at center, Bob Holloway, Bob McDonald, Dick Kors and others made Coach Ed Graybiel smile for the 1st time during the battle.

Watkins was all alone on the very edge of the end zone when Shorter hit him with the TD aerial, Whitmer's drive for the point barely got over the line.

Afterwards, in the dressing room Graybiel praised the revival of the team, on the long march, said it would go a long ways if the same fight was maintained balance of the season. Carl (Buck) Nystrom, Sexton coach, also complimented Chiefs, in a visit to the PHS quarters. It was a happy crew that listened.

Scoring:

SEXTON	6	6	0	0—12
PONTIAC	0	6	0	7—13

Touchdowns—Whitmer and Freeman Watkins (P); Johnson (2) Sexton; Point after touchdown—Whitmer on plunge from the five.

EARLY GAIN — PHS Chiefs' right-halfback, Charley Robinson (41), made an early gain in last night's home opener at Wisner Stadium, but it wasn't good enough for a 1st down. Chiefs had to kick and the return started Lansing Sexton to its 1st TD. Pontiac eventually won the game 13-12 in a thrilling finish. Robinson was stopped by (21) Reds' Gary Freeman. PHS' Jim Shorter is at far left.

Dragons Beat Madison, 21-2

Lake Orion Breaks 9 Game Winning Streak for Eagles

BY CHUCK ABAIR

The Dragons of Lake Orion rolled up 21 quick points in the first half and then coasted the rest of the way to trounce the defending champion Madison eleven, 21-2, in the opener of the Oakland B League season at Lake Orion last night.

The victory was the second straight in the young season for LOHS and ended a nine-game winning streak for the Eagles who went unbeaten last year. It also gave Coach Ted Seia's charges sweet revenge for a 6-0 loss suffered at Madison last fall.

For the second successive week, it was a combination of a pair of hard-running backs named John Schoff and Ralph McLachlan and long distance passer Nick Niera sparking the offense with the line turning in a sparkling defensive performance holding the Purple and Gold to a minus one yard rushing.

Schoff, a swift sophomore who can really skirt the ends, tallied two of the victors' three touchdowns on runs of 15 and 40 yards in the first quarter.

* * *

After the loop rivals matched safeties early in the second period, McLachlan concluded the scoring by catching a 29-yard aerial from Neira and running the last four to pay dirt. He added the extra point by scooting around end on a fake kick. The last TD drive covered 67 yards in just two plays, the other also being a pass completion by Neira.

Madison could never get its offensive clicking in the game marred by 13 fumbles.

85-Yard Pass Play Subdues Clarkston

An 85 yard pass play the first time Brighton had the ball was all the Bulldogs needed to hand Clarkston its second defeat, 6-0, at Brighton last night, in a Wayne-Oakland League game.

* * *

The pass went from Brian Watson to Herb Snyder with Brighton having a 2nd down and 35 yards to go at the time.

* * *

Skippers Electrify Lapeer, 20-13

Waterford High School dedicated its newly-lighted football field last night—and what a successful occasion it was!

* * *

The keyed-up Skipers spotted Lapeer an early 7-0 advantage, then roared back to defeat the Panthers with Tom Wilson, 20-13, before a highly appreciative audience. It was Waterford's 2nd consecutive win.

Halfback Stan Jones turned in the game's most sensational play, a 98-yard touchdown gallop in the 2nd quarter which gave the Skippers a 13-7 halftime lead and furnished the decisive factor in Lapeer's 1st setback.

Lapeer tied the score in the 1st minute of the 3rd quarter when fullback John McKillen scooped up Lindy Salathiel's fumble and rambled 50 yards into paydirt.

Waterford nailed down the hard-earned victory with six minutes remaining in the game when Ed Clark tallied on a 35-yard jaunt. Lapeer's final bid ended on the Skipper seven-yard line with an intercepted pass by Warren Miksh.

The Panthers scored their opening touchdown on a 63-yard aerial strike from Wilson to end Jack Thiemkey, one of the few bright moments the star halfback enjoyed.

Dave Freeman's Skippers bounced back to knot the count with a 30-yard TD sprint around left end by Salathiel. Then it was Jones' turn to electrify the crowd with his long run.

* * *

Powering Southiefld lambasted Notre Dame of Harper Woods, 53-0, with slippery Ron Brewer scoring six touchdowns in four different ways. Three of his tallies came as a pass receiver, in pass plays of 35, 15 and 27 yards. He bulled over from the one, went 59 yards on a kickoff return and ran 24 yards on a pass interception for the other three.

* * *

Halfback Dave Peters had himself a field day as Rochester chalked up a convincing 27-7 triumph over Farmington for its 2nd consecutive win.

Rochester scored once in each period and Peters personally accounted for three touchdowns in addition to having a hand in the other.

The hard-running Peters crossed the Farmington goal on runs of 55, 12 and 15 yards. Peters hit end Doug Falls with a 12-yard TD pass in the last quarter.

* * *

Romeo made it two straight with a 13-0 win over Fraser. The Bulldogs had a 6-0 lead at halftime by virtue of Butch Dallkitz' pass to Fran Schapman for 30 yards.

With 11 minutes remaining Ben Meyer took a pitchout from Ray Ritter and went 35 yards around end.

Oxford evened its season mark at 1-1 by nipping North Branch 6-0 in its debut in the South Central League. The Wildcats scored early in the 4th period with Bob Harrison going over on a sneak from one yard out.

Oxford threatened several times but fumbles hurt the cause. However coach Jean Harkness concluded that it was a better punting game which helped the Wildcats.

* * *

Dryden tallied all of its points in the first half to trample Brown City 31-7 with Willy Avery scoring thrice on 9 and 35 yard dashes and a 76 yard intercepted pass return. Herb Sawgle went 53 yards on a T-sneak and he passed to Kirk Slater 9 yards for the other Dryden score.

* * *

Imlay City romped over Capac 40-0 as Orill Frantz scored three times, and EML favorite East Detroit spanked Roseville in an injury-riddled game, 40-6.

Ortonville gained its 2nd win at home Friday night with a 19-6 victory over Hartland. Ed Hungerford passed to Larry Burns for two of the three and with 50 seconds of game time left ran 35 for the final TD. Hartland's Dick Christensen went over on a pass in the 3rd frame.

Milford Upsets Clarenceville in W-O Battle

For the second straight week the Milford Redskins staged a victory comeback, this time rallying to defeat Clarenceville 18-13 in a Wayne - Oakland Conference game at Milford.

A five-yard end sweep by quarterback Pat Kelley with 45 seconds left to play handed Milford its upset triumph over the defending W-O champions, who apparently aren't what they used to be.

Nick Ianni's Trojans held a 13-6 halftime lead on the strength of a 45-yard touchdown run by Roy Carlton in the 1st quarter and Dale Devitt's two-yard plunge into pay dirt in the 2nd period.

* * *

Dan Lancaster galloped 40 yards in the 2nd quarter to give the Redskins their 1st tally and Bob Kauppt started the last half rally by going over from the two-yard line in the 3rd session. Then came Kelley's climactic TD dash.

Troy Trips Avon, 14-2

BY BILL CORNWELL

Any doubts about the caliber of Troy's football team this fall were erased Friday afternoon and Avondale's disappointed gridders will be only too happy to verify the fact.

An aggressive forward wall and a slippery band of ball carriers were more than the Jackets could handle as the fired-up Colts powered their way to a 14-2 victory in an Oakland B League battle at Troy.

Capitalizing on Jacket mistakes, coach Joe Bechard's Colts struck for two quick touchdowns early in the 1st quarter and Avondale never recovered from the shock.

Except for a miscue by Troy, the Jackets would never have broken into the scoring column. Avondale was credited with a safety in the final period when a mix-up in signals caused the pass from center to roll between the goal posts and out of the field of play.

A couple of alert defensive maneuvers by quarterback Wayne Figley set up both touchdowns, with halfback Sim Acton and fullback Dick Kelly scoring.

* * *

Figley recovered a fumble on the Avondale 11-yard line and Acton bulled through the middle to score on the 1st play from scrimmage. Acton injured his leg in the process and missed the rest of the game.

The hard-charging Troy line repeatedly stampeded Dick Gronski, dumping the Avon quarterback for 59 yards in losses on aerial attempts. The Jackets had 83 negative yards in all and wound up with a net gain of a meager 30 yards.

Vikings Whip Lakers, 43-0

Utilizing a brilliant running attack, Walled Lake scored a convincing 43-0 triumph over a bewildered West Bloomfield eleven with fullback John Walker crossing into pay dirt three times.

The Vikings took the opening kickoff and went 57 yards to score with Don Yergan going over from the one. Yergan grabbed a pitchout a few moments later and raced 58 yards around right end to make 13-0 with Bob DeSormeir's conversion.

Walker scored on 2, 6, and 7-yard bucks after he ripped off consistent gains.

The Lakers failed to penetrate Walled Lake's territory in the first half and managed to move within the 20-yard line twice in the final stanza.

Walled Lake, which last week relied heavily on the aerial game, made its running attack work to the tune of 320 net yards.

Crane Soccer Team Wins

Center-forward Holm Sembach booted every goal as Cranbrook's soccer team defeated Chatham Collegiate Institute of Windsor, 4-0, at Cranbrook Friday. It was the season opener for the Cranes.

Cranbrook Outmanned

Maples Top Cranes, 24-13

Outmanned and outweighed, Cranbrook gave rival Birmingham everything it could handle right down to the final gun before falling 24-13 on the Maple gridiron last night before 4,000 spirited fans.

* * *

The Cranes, who gave way from 10 to 25 pounds per man, fought gamely, and even made gestures for an upset with several serious threats, until the last minute when Mike Nordstrom clinched the victory with a 30 yard touchdown dash.

The Maples blocked a punt and went 15 yards to score first, with Nordstrom going over from the five.

Cranbrook tied it when end Dan Crowley took a six yard pass from Tom Noteware. Late in the second period a Crane drive ended on the Maple one yard line and it was 6-6 at halftime.

* * *

Injured Dale Burrows, who entered the game on pass occasions, hit Bob Isbell with a 36 yarder early in the 3rd period to make it 12-6 and then Nordstrom made it 18-6 on a 9 yard jaunt.

Lloyd Asbury who blocked three placement attempts, also blocked a Maple punt to set up a Crane score early in the 4th period, when Dave Campbell went over from the 3.

Tom Noteware's run for the point made it 18-13 with nearly six minutes left to play. The Maples then marched 60 yards after the kickoff climaxed by Nordstrom's third touchdown of the night.

Barons Win 2nd Straight

Winning two straight may be some sort of a record at Bloomfield Hills, but after the 25-18 victory over a strong A. E. Smith eleven yesterday, the Barons could go on to the best season in history of the school.

The Hillsmen, led by the power running of Jim Kearney and Dave Drury, scored first when Kearney blocked a punt and end Willard Stauffer grabbed it to race 28 yards to score.

Al Bowlan scored from the one, Kearney from the one and Drury from the four for Bloomfield. The Barons held a 25-6 lead with four minutes to play when A. E. Smith struck for two quick TD's, one on a coupled 52-yard kickoff return and 26-yard pass, and another after an on-side kick and a 43-yard pass play.

The win gave Bloomfield the lead in its last season in the Southeastern Suburban League.

To Be an Authentic Reproduction

Full Overhauling Set for Mackinac Island's Historic Biddle House

LANSING (AP)—Work is to start next spring on restoration of the historic Biddle House on Mackinac Island, the Biddle House Restoration Committee reports.

* * *

The committee, spearheaded by the Michigan Society of Architects and representatives of Michigan building industries, held an organizational meeting at Lansing.

The group discussed plans for removing original timbers piece by piece, cataloging each, and then rebuilding.

"It will be an authentic reproduction," said A. N. Langius, architect and director of the State Building Division, chairman of the Restoration Committee.

"We are fortunate in that so many of the timbers are in such good shape," Langius said. "We will use as many of the original logs as we can and much of the interior wood, exterior siding and original glass also is available."

UNIQUE CONSTRUCTION

Langius said the Biddle House is of particular interest to architects because of its unique construction of vertical logs, slotted on two sides, with tongued logs laid in horizontally, chinked and covered with beveled siding and plastered inside.

The house, constructed around 1797 on historic Market street of Mackinac Island, was recorded as an outstanding example of architecture by the Historic American Buildings Survey in 1935, he said.

The Restoration Committee is soliciting an estimated $56,500 from the state's building industry to pay for the project. The house then will be returned to the state.

EXPERTS ON HAND

Warren L. Rindge of Grand Rapids is architect for the project and Prof. Emil Lorch, professor emeritus of architecture at the University of Michigan recognized as the state's foremost authority on Michigan architecture, will be a consultant for the restoration.

"This is probably the oldest house in the northwest territory," Langius said. "We feel the project is of major historic importance since some of Michigan's greatest historic heritage is on Mackinac Island."

Languis said part of the thinking behind the project was the hope it might give impetus to an eventual restoration of the entire Market street area as a historic shrine, by the state or some other agency.

"This area should be protected and restored the same as the French quarter of New Orleans or Williamsburg," he said.

When restored, the Biddle House will form a group on Market street with the Astor Fur Trading Co. headquarters and the restored home of Dr. William Beamont, who did pioneer research on the digestive system.

* * *

Biddle, son, of John Biddle of Philadelphia, appeared on the Mackinac Island scene in 1808. He married and became a partner in the prosperous trading firm of Biddle and Drew. He was sheriff of Mackinac County and a two-term mayor of the Village of Mackinac Island.

Wilson Admits Plane Is the Best Ever

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has confirmed the Bell X-2 rocket research plane has flown "higher and faster" than any other known aircraft in history.

Wilson refused, however, to confirm reports the X-2 has soared a record-smashing 126,000 feet and reached a speed of 1,900 m.p.h.

His statement nevertheless made it clear the X-2 has exceeded the previous records of 1,650 m.p.h. and 90,000 feet. The former altitude record was set in the Bell X-1 plane in August, 1954.

Your Neighbor's House:

Suburban Living Agrees With Detroit Family

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

For fifteen years the Royce R. Haskins lived in a two-story house in Detroit. Their four children were born there and grew up knowing city pavements better than country lanes.

About ten months ago there was an abrupt change in the Haskins' family life. Since Mr. Haskins' work was in the Waterford area, he wasn't seeing much of his wife or children. A move nearby seemed indicated.

After visiting friends who had bought a home in Westridge, the Haskins chose this subdivision for their new homesite. They bought one of the custom-built homes constructed and sold by the firm of Heitman and Tripp.

It was a drastic revision of living for Mrs. Haskins. "Never was there so long a winter," she said. She didn't even have a telephone for the first six weeks.

But the four children — fourteen-year-old Michael, twelve-year-old Susan, seven-year-old Dennis and six-year-old Brian—loved it and still do. They took to country living as if they had been born within sound and sight of lakes and country paths.

In no way can living in Westridge be construed as rough country living. It is Suburbia on a high level. It is, furthermore, very pleasant.

Broad stretches of well-kept lawns separate ranch type homes that differ in appearance. There is a small private lake at the back of the subdivision. Off in the distance the faint hum of cars passing on the Dixie can be heard.

The exterior of the Haskins' home on Cambrook drive is white brick with black trim and a fieldstone bay in front. The roof is a harmonizing dark gray. The house is H-shaped, with the garage forming one side of the H, the bedroom wing the other.

Just inside the front door, in the tiny hall, there is an interesting wall arrangement. Hung as a moving day surprise by Mr. Haskins for his wife, it consists of a six-sided gold clock that looks like an antique and four small gold and black silhouette pictures around the clock.

The living room and dining ell are carpeted in beige nylon with several Chinese throw rugs in strategic spots. The walls are painted aqua.

At the end of the room there is a fireplace painted the same color as the walls. Black marble frames the fire opening. Next to the fireplace there are open shelves with a closed cupboard below. Fireplace fittings are brass.

Two aqua covered arm chairs with mahogany frames flank a marble topped table on one wall. In front of the window is a tan sofa. There are two armless chairs covered in a rosy red that have unusual shaped backs. They look like a Japanese sock that has the space for the big toe. You could also call them finger-shaped.

The bay window is composed of five long panes of glass separated by narrow strips of wood. The draperies are beige and brown with a bit of aqua in the design. Lamps are brass with white shades.

The dining ell has mahogany furniture in a traditional design. The lyre back chairs have pink, rose and green striped chair seats. Brass plates on one wall make a pleasing background for a tall vase of flowers.

Mrs. Haskins has a way with flowers as the numerous arrangements all over the house show. Each bouquet added just the right touch of color to the room in which it was placed.

The high windows in the dining room overlook the small lake at the rear of the house and are curtained with the same material as the living room draperies.

In the garage wing of the house there is a double-purpose utility room. It is also a lavatory and a "mud room" where children in from play can clean up.

The spatter print linoleum on the floor will not show footprints easily. The walls are painted gray. There are lots of storage cupboards above the washer and dryer. Pink and gray curtains highlight the window.

Also in the garage wing is the family room. This room has a cork tile floor and Philippine mahogany paneled walls. There is an aqua Chinese rug on the floor and matchstick bamboo draperies at the window.

In line with the informal atmosphere of the room the furniture is all bamboo with bright colored upholstery. Lamps are modern brass and wrought iron. The TV set is blond.

In the garage there is more storage space. In adjoining closets the furnace, water heater, incinerator and softener can be easily reached.

Michael, Dennis and Brian share the large front bedroom. The walls and carpeting are a soft moss green. Their furniture which includes both a double and a single bed is maple. The curtains are green with a bright design.

Susan, of course, has her own room. Like the living room and hall, her room is carpeted in beige nylon. Her walls are pink and her pink and white striped curtains look good enough to eat.

Susan has twin beds, a dresser and a chest, all in cherry. The green bedspreads have flowered tops.

The family bathroom has gay seashell paper above creamy yellow tile. Like all homes in Westridge, it has a glass block window and a ceiling ventilating fan. The curtains at the window and the shower are salmon colored.

The Haskins have their own bathroom adjoining their bedroom. This is all pink and white. The shower curtain has a large pink flower appliqued on a white background.

In their bedroom the wall and floor covering are aqua. Two long closets with sliding doors and cupboards above take up one entire wall. The furniture is walnut. White curtains and white spreads give this room a clean, cool, restful look.

Having circled the house, we're around to the kitchen which is back of the living room. It can be entered from the bedroom wing hall or from the dining ell

The floor is spatter printed in pink, black, gray and white. One wall is covered with fabric wallpaper in a pink gray and white design. Curtains are an identical match.

The other walls and ceiling are gray, while pink cupboards take away any suggestion of coldness in the room. Counter tops are gray Formica.

The breakfast set is steel with pink table top and pink chair seats. This room, like the dining room overlooks the little lake behind the house.

The Haskins have plans to make the area behind the family room some sort of outdoor living room. Their lot is approximately 125x200 which gives them ample space to do anything they like with it. As a family they agree they like country life.

Check the Plumb Line on Installing Panels

Two of the most important considerations when installing hardwood plywood wall panelling are to check for plumb continually and to make certain that the subsurface is true.

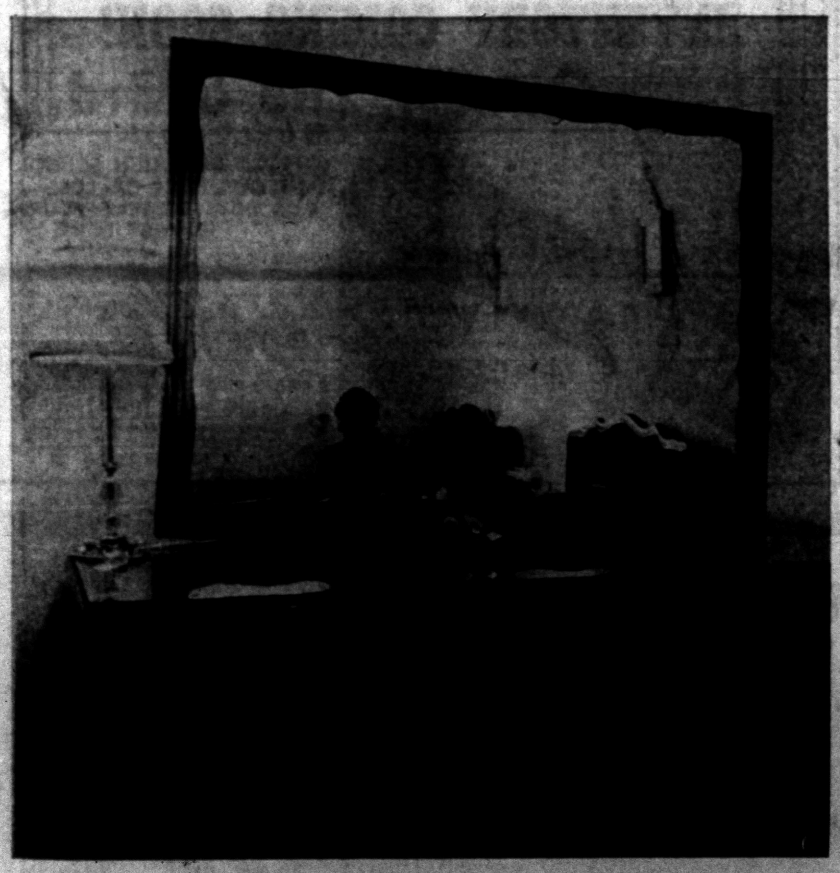

• • •

Keep a level handy to check constantly for plumb along the edge of each 4x8-foot panel as it goes up. If one panel is out of plumb, each succeeding one will be, too.

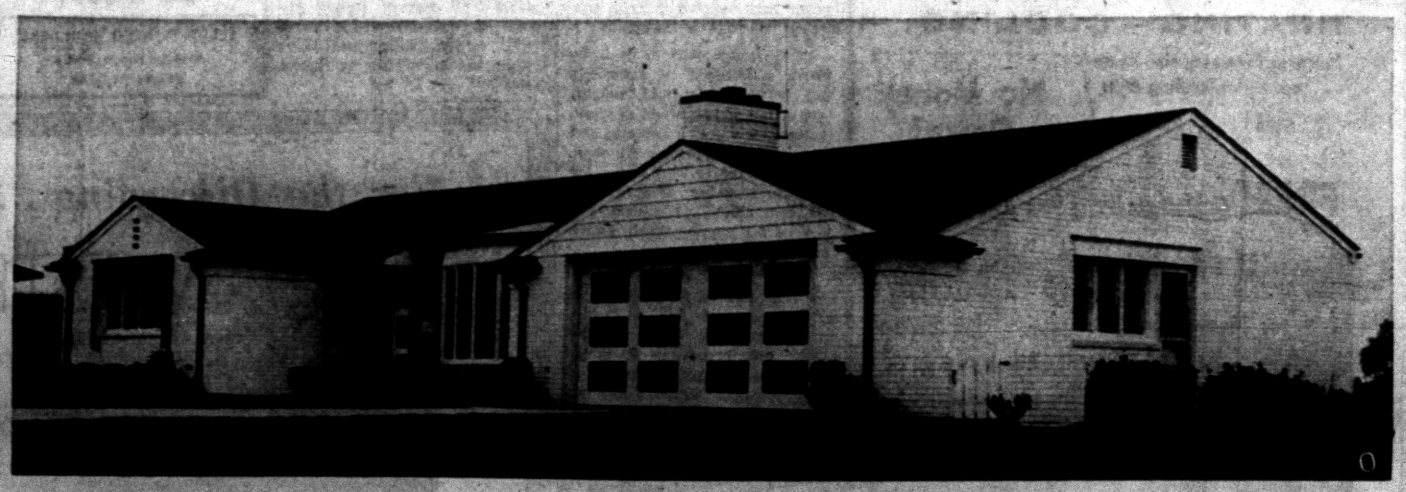

Shim out furring strips or fill hollows in sub-walls to make sure that the hardwood plywood will go over a true plane surface.

SUCCESSFUL GARDENER — Mrs. Haskins loves to grow and arrange flowers; in both fields she is successful. Here she puts the final touches on a bouquet for the dining room table. Mahogany furniture goes well against the aqua walls. The windows which overlook a small lake are curtained in a beige, brown and aqua print.

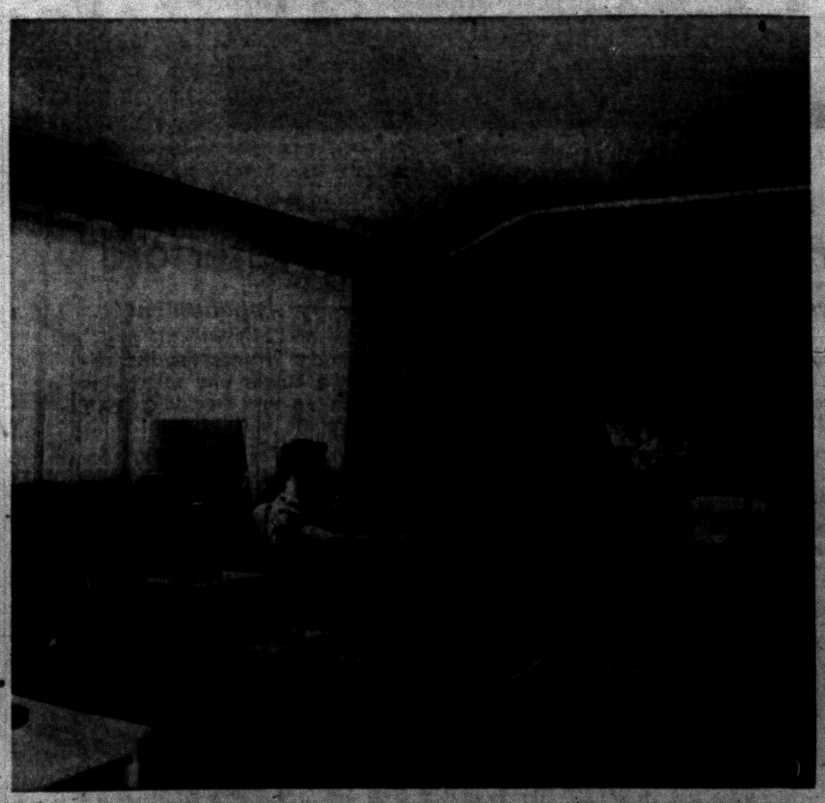

REFLECTED STUDY — Twelve-year-old Susan does a bit of studying on her bed. Reflected in the mirror above the cherry chest of drawers is part of her charming bedroom. Pink walls and pink and white striped curtains are just right for a young girl.

IN WESTRIDGE — The Royce R. Haskins enjoy living in their white brick house on Cambrook drive. Trim is black, while field stone sets off the bay window. The house, built on a 125x200 foot lot, was constructed by Heitman and Tripp. The Haskins have lived in their new home since last October. Westridge is a subdivision west of the Dixie Highway, just this side of Waterford.

Pontiac Press Photos by Eddie Vanderwerp

THE FAMILY ROOM — Richard, eldest of the four Haskins children, enjoys a Saturday morning TV show in the family room. Philippine mahogany walls and a cork tile floor make this room a practical one. The furniture is bamboo with bright colored cushions on the chairs and sofa. A door from this room opens to the outside where eventually there will be a porch or terrace.

ROOM FOR ENTERTAINING — This large living room in the Haskins home has plenty of room for entertaining guests. In front of the bay windows there is a brown sofa. The arm chair at the left is covered in aqua, a shade deeper than the walls. The door in the back leads to the garage wing of the house. It is there the family room and utility room-lavatory are located.

MOWERS THRIVE ON ATTENTION — Periodic testing and adjustment of power lawn mowers helps to keep them in peak operating condition.

Hardwood Variety Gives Right Wood for Purpose

While their natural beauty has played a major role in the popularity which hardwoods have attained for countless uses in the home, another factor also must be given a large share of the credit, authorities on wood point out.

* * *

Nature, they explain, has endowed the numerous hardwoods with a variance in hardness, with the result that the "right" hardwood can be selected for a specific use.

In flooring, for example, resistance to wear is very important. A high degree of hardness therefore is desirable. For such purposes as trim, paneling and many other uses, extreme hardness may not only be unnecessary but undesirable. This is especially true of woods that require considerable hand working and shaping to serve the purpose for which they are intended.

The long-established preference for floors of oak can be attributed in large measure to the fact that it combines unusual hardness and toughness with striking beauty of grain pattern and coloring.

TESTS MADE

Exhaustive tests at the Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, Wis., have demonstrated that oak is one of the hardest of a group of 31 commonly used hardwoods. Only hickory and pecan, which are not produced in abundance, have much of an edge over oak in hardness. Hard maple is slightly harder than oak but it lacks oak's distinctive grain patterns.

At the other extreme is basswood, a hardood of extremely soft texture and light weight. One of the easiest wood to work, it does not warp, it remains flat and it glues exceptionally well. It is particularly well suited for making drawing boards and venetian blinds. Additionally it is used for interior finish, paneling and furniture.

* * *

In the intermediate group for hardness is sycamore, one of the most attractive of all species. Generally quarter-sawed, it is described as extremely modernistic in appearance. Experts say it is especially appropriate for paneling, trim and furniture.

Different species of ash and elm vary considerably in hardness. Commercial white ash, used for interior finish, furniture, tool handles and the like, is almost as hard as oak. Oregon ash is only slightly softer. Black and brown ash, however, are only of medium hardness. Rock elm approaches the hardness of white oak, while soft elm is in the middle range.

Solves the Storage Problems in Homes

Custom-built hardwood plywood units effectively solve storage and decorative problems in a 40-year-old Cleveland home remodeled by the staff of a national magazine as a demonstration piece for the "Operation Home Improvement" campaign.

* * *

The house lacked an entranceway and a coat closet, so a free-standing wardrobe of walnut plywood was planted at right angles to the front door to serve in both capacities.

* * *

The former dining room was integrated with the living room for an enlarged total area by removal of an outmoded archway. Part of the space serves as a dining area. The outstanding feature of the enlarged living room is a storage wall also of walnut plywood. A counter-top for knick-knocks divides upper and lower storage areas, containing books, games and the TV set.

Peg Board Panels Disguise Radiators

An unsightly radiator can be hidden behind a handsome, functional enclosure having sides, top and ends of peg-board panels. Holes in the panels will permit the escape of heat; they also can serve to hold fixtures for shelves.

Completion of a unit will be hastened if factory-primed peg-board panels, recently made available at lumber yards, are used. The neutral gray prime coat may be covered with any color paint or enamel.

For a free plan detailing the construction of a radiator enclosure, write a postal to the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., requesting Drawing No. AP-5.

Nail Popping Can Be Costly

WASHINGTON—Nail popping, a headache for home builders and home owners alike, has its principal origin in the drying out and shrinkage of the wood into which the nail has been driven.

* * *

This is the major conclusion of Ralph J. Johnson, director of the Construction Department and Research Institute of the National Association of Home Builders.

Johnson said the failure of nails to stay put in drywall construction is a "problem of real concern" and a "costly item to repair." He added that although the data obtained from the various tests are at variance in some respects, these conclusions could be stated:

1. Shrinkage of the stud framing members due to loss of moisture is the principal factor affecting nail popping, and the amount of pop is proportionate to the shrinkage and loss of moisture.

* * *

2. The length of nail is directly related to the amount of pop. The shorter nail will give less pop.

* * *

3. The nail diameter does not, for all practical purposes, affect popping.

* * *

4. The nail shank surface condition and shape have relatively little ultimate effect on popping although the threaded or annularly ringed nails have greater holding power as the wood dries out.

* * *

5. The species of wood has little, if any, influence on popping.

Photos of Vacation Are Fine Decoration

Favorite snapshots, such as choice views from a vacation trip, make fine pictures to hang on the wall when enlarged and attractively mounted. Color enlargements are especially good.

* * *

A smart plaque can be made quickly by mounting such pictures on pieces of predecorated hardboard which has a plastic finish. This wall and ceiling paneling can be had in various authentic wood grain patterns, marble patterns or solid colors.

* * *

After sawing pieces to suit, smooth the edges and apply adhesive type hangers on the back. No further finishing is needed, unless you want to wax or paint the edges. Rubber cement will keep the photo flat and without bulges. It also makes it easy to change pictures.

MAKING WINDOWS — Homes made by the Sectional Housing Manufacturing Company of Walled Lake can be set up in a day by four workmen. Here a carpenter frames in a window. The homes come in 13'4" panels with window openings put in at the factory. The workman fits in the window frame which must be within 1/16 of an inch. All siding on these panels is nailed at a 45-degree angle, adding extra strength to the houses. These prefabricated panels lend themselves to any size or type of house. Information regarding them may be obtained from Mahan Realty Company of Pontiac.

Pooch Deserves the Best Doghouse You Can Build

Better homes for dogs is an architectural problem now confronting about ten million families in this country. The dogs are yelping for this cause. With National Dog Week scheduled to follow National Home Week, the dogs will probably make their housing needs the first plank in their convention platform.

* * *

If you own a pooch, you may find yourself in the dog house unless you build a good one. It's the kind of a project that should appeal to any handyman. Experts say that dog houses not only are more healthy for dogs, but also can pay for themselves in saving on wear and tear on furniture and rugs.

Of course, the dogs don't give us much information about the style of architecture they prefer. So we asked Dr. E. M. Gildow, who understands their language so well that he heads up research for the dog food branch of the Carnation Co., near Seattle.

"There are two main rules," says Dr. Gildow. "One, be sure to build your dog house to fit your dog." That sounds sensible. We once knew of a Great Dane who suffered such a psychological shock when presented with a house for a Fox Terrier that he wouldn't try to get in it.

"The next rule," says the doctor, "is to make the house one of the attractions of your place rather than an eyesore. You may not be sure about the aesthetic appreciation of your four-legged pet, but you can count on it among your two-legged guests."

MATCH YOUR HOME

A dog house can be a model of your own home, whether it is ranch, split level, colonial or what-not. Or it can be a simple, functional structure—an old barrel, for example. Dr. Gildow says a barrel with some flooring in it can make a cozy home for any canine, whether he is nail-keg size or of hogs head dimensions. Just measure the dog first.

It's a good idea to provide 36 square inches of floor space for each inch of height at the dog's shoulders. This will give him room to turn around several times before settling down for a snooze. Under this formula a dog 24 inches high at the shoulders would need a sleeping area 36 times 24, or 864 square inches — 2 by 3 feet.

The height of the house should be based on how tall the dog is from the crown of his head to the floor when he is sitting down.

* * *

A flap, or old carpet dropped over the doorway will keep the house warm in cold weather. For extreme cold, additional heat can be provided by a 50 or 100 watt electric light bulb, with or without a thermostat. Ventilation is important, however, with more needed in warm weather.

WEEP HOLES

House cleaning is important for dogs, too. The base of a house should slope for drainage and weep holes should be provided for hosing out the house. A wood floor should be removable for cleaning and should be four inches above the base of the house. A hinged roof also facilitates cleaning and airing.

* * *

An average size dog house, say about 2 by 3 feet and perhaps 2 feet high, shouldn't cost more than $10 at the most.

Just get your dog and yardstick together before you start.

Wood Screws Cost More but Hold Better

Remember that, while nails are easier and faster to use and cost less, screws have about 2½ times the holding power in softwood and about 4 times in hardwood.

Select a flathead screw when the head is to be flush with the surface or countersunk below the surface.

Choose a roundhead screw when you want the entire head to be above the surface.

In joining two pieces of wood, drill a hole in the first piece of wood equal to the diameter of the screw and drill a hole in the second piece much smaller than the screw diameter.

College students average about three colds a year.

Linoleum Over Old Floors Adds Beauty, Cleanliness

Linoleum can be used on old wood floors to make them sanitary and beautiful. Colors are available to harmonize with any other plan for kitchens and other rooms. However, we must make sure the wood floor is in proper condition. Uneven floors will cause linoleum to wear out in spots, and shorten the life of the new covering. You can do this yourself.

* * *

Many old wood floors are made of boards from three to four inches wide. Unless these boards were tongue-and-grooved, and properly laid, warping will be present. This is especially true if the floor has been subjected to wet conditions. Even frequent mopping could cause warping. When warped the edges of the board bend up, and and the edges are higher than the middle. If linoleum is laid on a warped floor, it soon shows parallel wear spots.

* * *

On soft wood floors, knots and worn areas may cause wear.

Any uneven areas — ridges, knots and worn places—show dirt quickly, and make frequent cleaning a chore.

Felt, purchased in rolls, can be cemented to the floor before linoleum is laid. The felt will tend to prevent trouble with slightly uneven floors. Where floors are obviously uneven, the floor should be repaired.

Nail all loose boards with two-inch finishing nails. Use a nail set and hammer to put the nail head slightly below the surface. The use of "coated" nails will make certain that the nail will never work up.

The easiest way to smooth the high spots in a floor is by renting a sanding machine from a hardware store. These machines have bags which catch the dust. Start with coarse paper and keep the machine moving constantly to avoid diggine into the floor. Sand all surfaces until all high spots are leveled. Then use a fine sandpaper on the machine. Keep water off newly sanded floors.

* * *

Another, though more difficult way is to plane all warped edges of the boards with a carpenter's plane. The planing is done until a straight - edge, or a straight piece of wood, put on the floor at right angles to the length of the boards, touches all surfaces. This is followed by sanding with medium-coarse sandpaper.

* * *

Brush away all dust. Now the linoleum can be laid with assurance that it will wear evenly.

USE A VISE when chiseling to spare your hands.

Handy Hints: How to Handle Wood Chisels

DO . . . avoid cutting or knicking your hands with a wood chisel by remembering the 2 basic safety rules: secure the wood in a vise or other mechanical device and keep both hands back of the cutting edge at all times.

DO . . . if you are right-handed, control the chisel with the left hand and supply the power with the right.

DO . . . hold the blade edge at a slight diagonal to the direction of the cut and advance it along the wood grain, not against it.

* * *

DON'T . . . use a steel hammer to hit the handle of a chisel unless you are using an "everlasting" chisel or some other type designed to withstand heavy blows.

DON'T . . . start a cut directly on a guide line, as this allows no leeway for even a slight error; instead, begin very close to the guide line and later remove the excess material very carefully.

Plastic Wood Provides Anchor for Curtain Rods

When a curtain rod pulls out of the wall, leaving a hole in the plaster, you can fill the hole and provide a firm base for nails or screws with plastic wood. If the hole is large, build in from the sides, letting each layer dry before applying the next one. Within 24 hours you will have a base of hard, durable wood that will grip nails or screws far more firmly than plaster.

Storage Space Acute

As the size of families has increased in recent years, the need for storage space in the average home has grown more acute. To solve their stoarge problems, many improvement-minded home owners are turning to wood built-ins and multi-tier room dividers.

The National Lumber Manufacturers Assn. suggests that home owners consider installing a wood paneled wall at the same time they add cabinets and shelving, to give their rooms a whole new personality as well as greater utility.

Ontario counted about 18 million tourists in 1955.

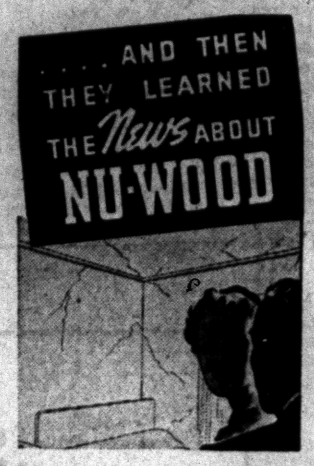

About 73 per cent of American able to play the guitar.

First Official Trademark Was Registered in 1870

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Back in 1870 on Oct. 25 the first registered trademark ever issued by the United States Patent Office was granted to the Averill Chemical Paint Co. of New York, N.Y., upon application by its vice president, Seth M. Cady. The statement of Mr. Cady's application, requesting registration of a trademark for liquid paint, sets forth that the executives of the company "respectfully solicit that protection may be granted for the Trade-Mark, of which the following is a description, reference being had to the accompanying picture or design.

"In the foreground, on a rock, with the word chemistry upon it, is an eagle, holding in his mouth a paint-pot or canister, with a brush, and a ribbon or streamer, on which are the words, Economical, Beautiful, Durable. Below the feet of the bird is represented water, upon which is a steamer and other vessels. In the background is a bridge or viaduct, with a train of railroad cars upon it. Further in the background are seen buildings and manufactories."

There's something patriotic about the design of Trademark No. 1, suggesting that the good American citizen knows the value of a can of paint in keeping his property—and his community—in tip-top condition. The artist's foresight, represented in the background by water plying vessels, railroad cars, and the viaduct or bridge, is a little lacking, of course, without the automobile and airplane.

But if the designer's eyes could have peered into the future to this year of 1956, he would have been astonished at the overwhelming multitude of things which paint products protect and beautify, and he would have despaired of trying to represent all of them in his picture.

* * *

In that long gone past of 86 years ago, paint was far from the readily available product that we know today. It's hard to imagine that people then didn't even dream of the wonderful gleaming enameled kitchens that we accept as commonplace—something to be enjoyed by every family. Nor were their homes, inside and out, is quickly brightened and made cheerful by the easily applied paints that nowadays even the humblest cottage can afford.

And you needn't be told that their surreys, broughams, and buggies, brightly colored and fancy though they were, didn't vie with each other in beautiful hues as do our automobiles in their bright coats of protective colorful finishes.

* * *

How fantastic it would have seemed to that artist of long ago to be told that millions of gallons of paint would be used each year on airplanes alone—and almost incalculable amounts on the ships and small craft that ply the lakes and seas, and on the millions of cars that swiftly travel the highways.

* * *

This bit of pictorial history—the paint can and the eagle—sets us to thinking how far we have come since that October day in 1870. A little dreaming now and then won't hurt anyone—something good might come of it.

Build That Dream House!

Got a mansion on your mind but only a cottage in the bank?

Go right ahead and build your dream home. If you plan a large family, sketch in plenty of bedrooms. Take lots of living room space. Give your imagination full play—on paper.

* * *

After conferring with the contractor, the architect and the banker, decide how many rooms of the paper mansion you can build without waiting for your ship to come in. You've begun building an "expansible house."

Nothing new, this expansible house. America's first homebuilders prudently provided for growing families by building colonial dwellings in sections and adding wings as needed.

rooms that must serve the growing family over the years.

Other points to keep in mind while building the expansible home are:

1. Keep the house as complete in appearance and function as possible at each stage of expansion.
2. "Rough in" wiring and pipes that will be needed for future additions to avoid excessive rebuilding.

Plywood Panel Room Divider

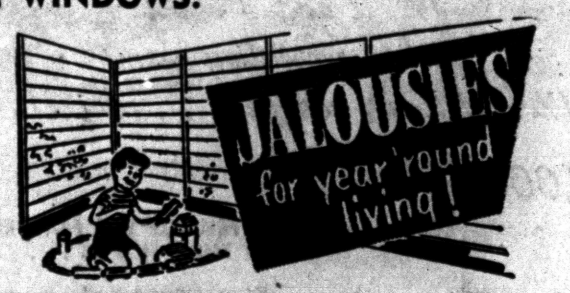

One of the most strongly-established trends in hardwood plywood—the growing use of random-plank wall paneling—provides a popular decorative effect and at the same time solves a tricky installation problem for the home craftsman.

* * *

The material is made in 4x8-foot plywood just like standard wall paneling, but there is one important difference. Random-plank paneling is groved vertically at intervals, frequently at the line formed where two single pieces of veneer are joined.

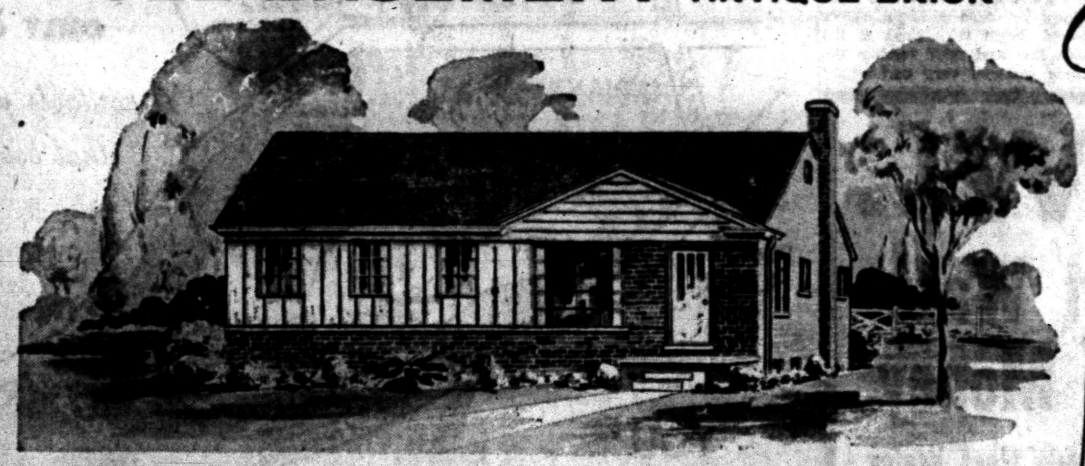

Often, there is a groove at each 16-inch interval for convenient nailing to studs. The edge of each plywood panel is eased off at a 33-degree angle so that it forms a "V" groove with the adjoining panel.

The beauty of the method is that when joining two random-plank panels together, the craftsman need use only the simple butt-joint because the joint looks exactly like another one of the grooves.

DO YOUR CHAIRS WOBBLE? — Glue, dowels and clamping methods team up in the repair of broken or loose chair rungs.

A Little Glue Will Do — Old Chair Isn't Through

Don't junk that wobbly chair. A little glue will go a long way toward putting it back on its own feet, minus the characteristic drunken sway.

* * *

Loose legs and rungs top the list of common chair ills, and the repair is just as routine.

First, remove the offending rung and clean off the old, dried glue from both the peg end of the rung and the peg hole in the leg. You can manage this by scraping with an old knife blade followed by a deft touch with fine sandpaper.

Test fit the rung in its hole. If the fit is sloppy, there are two methods of tightening it.

One is to apply glue to the peg end of the rung and the hole, then cut a small square of old nylon stocking and hold it over the end while forcing the rung back into its niche. The fabric will take up any slack in the joint.

The other way is to saw a slit in the end of the rung and put in a thin, wedge-shaped piece of wood. When rung and leg are reassembled, the wedge will expand the peg end of the rung and glue will seal the joint.

The glue to use for chair repairs is the kind that makes a strong bond even if there are cracks and gaps in the joint. Good gap-filling cements are resorcinol resin, powdered casein and liquid animal glues.

Glue joints will be stronger if kept firmly clamped while glue dries. A tourniquet-type of clamp is easy to improvise with a piece of rope looped around chair legs and tied. The tourniquet is tightened by twisting it with a stick.

Sometimes chair rungs break near their peg ends, and this ailment's cure calls for different treatment.

USE MEDICINE DROPPER

If the peg end remains firmly stuck in the hole, put glue on the broken ends and clamp them together. The next step, after the glue has dried, is to bore a hole from the outside of the leg and into the rung, going beyond the break.

Drilling must be delicately done. Unless aimed perfectly, the drill is liable to come sailing through the side of the rung at an angle. Have someone stand off to one side to make sure the drill is held in line with the rung.

Do's and Don'ts for Finishing That Mahogany

DO . . . know that genuine mahogany is a wood with open pores and requires a wood filler in order to get a smooth, fine gloss finish . . . although the filler may be omitted if a "woody" or textured finish is desired.

* * *

DO . . . apply the finishing materials in this order — stain, sealer, wood filler, sealer and the finishing coats.

DO . . . be certain that the wood is thoroughly sanded, then wiped with a turpentine-moistened cloth, before the stain is applied.

3-Bedrooms in Vogue

About three-fourths, or 75 per cent of all new homes built in 1956 will have three bedrooms, says the United States Savings & Loan League. In 1955, about 68 per cent of new houses were of this size and in 1954 they accounted for only 58 per cent.

Don't drive a screw home with a hammer, a procedure that causes the screw to lose a large part of its gripping power.

Ever Think of This Idea? Piano as a Room Divider

If the youngsters are tearful because there's no room for a piano in your house, here's a solution: Use it as a room divider.

One home I visited recently had made a carport into a music room to suit the needs of talented youngsters. In that room two pianos are placed back-to-back.

* * *

Everyone doesn't have room for development or money for that project. But a single piano might be used as a dividing line between two rooms, perhaps a dinette and a living room.

Here's an arrangement designed by W. W. Kimball: The piano has a planter unit that matches the piano, placed at its back. Make it this way. . .

Use 1-inch lumber. Uprights, shelves and planter bottom should be 1 x 6's. End uprights might be cut 2 inches shorter than the piano. Center upright is about 11⅝ in. shorter than end pieces so top edge of the 1 x 12 in. planter front board is even with the endpiece tops.

* * *

Six shelves may be cut to fit between end pieces and center upright. Check their length by laying out end pieces and planter front on your floor to see they are square, then measure shelf lengths.

Make the planter back 1 x 12 in. long and cut it to match the front panel. The planter bottom should be 1 x 6 in. lumber sawed 4⅛ in. wide to fit snugly between front and back panels.

NOW ASSEMBLE

Assemble planter-shelf unit by building the planter box first. Nail end pieces to front and back pieces and to the bottom piece. Then add center upright and shelves by toe-nailing where shelves join center upright or by fastening them in place with metal corners.

Use finishing nails and glue in the final assembly, setting the heads of the nails below the wood surface and filling in the depressions with wood putty.

Attractive front and back panels of the planter may also be made of tempered hardboard in place of 1 x 12 lumber. When using hardboard, cut the planter bottom ½ in. narrower than the end pieces and nail wooden cleats to the inside of the end pieces. Then nail the hardboard panels to the edges of the cleats and bottom piece.

* * *

The planter itself may be made of galvanized sheet metal. A local tinsmith should be able to meet your specifications. Or as an alternative line the planter with asphaltum paint (roofing asphalt) and line it with heavy aluminum foil.

Fasten the planter shelf to the piano with screw hooks and screw eyes, or small screen hooks. Drive the hooks into the piano back and screw the eyes into the inside faces of the endpiece just below where they will be noticeable.

Finish the assembled plantershelf to match (or contrast) with the piano color. If the piano is a blond or of the limed-oak variety, use a shellac over a thin coat of buff-colored flat paint to match it.

* * *

These days there is a trend to painting the piano to harmonize with room decor. Bright red, shocking pink, Bermuda blue, Apple green, as well as other decorator shades, lifted perhaps from a hue in the rug, drapery or upholstery pattern may really set a room off like nothing else.

Door Runners Stay

In the old Victorian houses, sliding doors were always running off their tracks, involving a lot of lifting and jiggling to get them to work again. That can't happen with the most modern hardware. Nylon rollers for silent and permanently lubricated operation, are locked into jump-proof tracks. The

Damage to Basement Found by Inspection

Like every other part of your house, your basement needs a periodic checkup to keep it in good shape and avert future deterioration, says the Better Basement Institute. It suggests a once-a-year check of stucco cracks and breaks in exterior walls. If deep, these will permit moisture to get behind the stucco or other veneer and damage interior walls.

* * *

Also check the foundation. Breaks in joints between stones or blocks can be patched with mortar mix. A poured concrete foundation showing invitable settlement cracks can be repaired with a sand mix.

* * *

Breaks in risers or treads of concrete steps should be repaired to prevent further damage. A sand mix is recommended here.

Concrete and mortar patching jobs have been simplified by ready-mixed concrete and mortar. This material comes in dry form. You add specified amount of water and mix.

Builders Face Big Battle ---With Pesky Creatures

Insects seem to be running a race with the busiest home builders and the neatest homemakers. They would like to eat us out of house and home. An entomologist, Dr. Harlan R. Shuyler of Kansas City, told us the other day that insects are now causing home damage estimated at four billion dollars a year.

Aside from termites and other bugs that attack the structure of a house, the ordinary flying or crawling whatzit that we all battle at this season, is really eating green stuff right out of our wallets.

So if you find a new bug in your home, don't be ashamed of your housekeeping—it happens to everybody—but get a good insecticide and go into action. The bug may be a punkie, a mud dauber, a no-see-um, a fish moth, a bristletail or a boxelder bug.

It's impossible to know all bugs by their family names. There are some 686,000 species, according to the scientists. Man never has eliminated one species. The experts say that one pair of ordinary houseflies, if given perfect conditions, could blanket the earth three feet deep in a few months.

PROBLEM INCREASES

The bug problem has been intensified recently by the widespread building of new homes in outlying areas—on land that had been wild and wooded until the bulldozers came along. Excavation disturbs insect nests and land clearance destroys their food sources. In the three months or so while a house is under construction, workmen eat lunches and the partly framed house stands open over night. So the bugs move in before the happy homeowner.

Even when people move 45 minutes from Broadway or Main Street, they often are surprised to find roaches there ahead of them.

"Roaches not only come in on groceries," says Dr. Shuyler, "but they have been known to arrive on lumber. They are the most common household pest, carriers of disease, contaminators of food and destroyers of books, paper, and soiled or starched clothing."

BUGS PEGGED

The doctor seems to know the private lives of all the bugs. He heads the Home Insect Control Bureau, a non-profit, public service organization, dedicated to stirring up action against bugs.

We told him we had carpenter ants in our house, having found some sawdust on the basement floor.

"Don't worry too much. Your house won't fall down," he said. "Carpenter ants don't really eat wood. They just chisel out enough to build their nest. But you have to get rid of them."

We were planning to put some carbon tetrachloride in a garden spray and get up into wall spaces that way.

"It would work," he said, "but the fumes might do you more harm than the ants are doing to your house. Dieldrin would be better. This compound is many times more powerful than DDT, harmless to humans, yet it leaves a residue like DDT which is fatal to insects crawling across it."

Moths lead all other insects in dollar volume of damage each year, according to Dr. Shuyler. He takes a dim view of moth balls and moth flakes, primarily because people do not use enough of them and do not store their clothing in air-tight containers. A half-dozen moth balls scattered here and there are useless, he says. It takes a couple of pounds to be effective in about eight cubic feet of sealed space.

World population could double in the next 55 years.

Basement Too Low? Get on the Right Track

If you have low pipes or beams in the basement, take a leaf from the railroads' safety book. Hang strands of rope or tack a folded newspaper a foot or so ahead of each obstruction after the fashion of "ticklers" which hang before entrances to low tunnels. An advance brush with the warning devices saves wear and tear on the scalp.

NEW FHA HOME — Long, low and handsome, this house fits the size of FHA national average house. The economy plan features comfort and convenience.

Here's Advice in Re-Doing Your Kitchen

In today's grab-bag of homemaking ideas we have several interesting suggestions.

Re-doing your kitchen? Tired of the usual type of wall cabinets? Well, then, try this new idea. Say you want a four-shelf cabinet. Make the top shelf the deepest, the next one not so wide and so on until you come to the last and bottom shelf. This will be about one-half the width of the top shelf.

For a door over the shelves use a natural wood panel, on hinges at the top and with a weight at the top. A flip of the finger at the bottom of the panel will swing the weighted panel up and away from the shelves. You can attach a magnetized bar on the lowest shelf to keep the panel closed.

In the mood for knocking down a wall? Don't do it; instead, put it on wheels. Then you can have privacy or fellowship whenever you desire. It's quite practical. Build your wall in separate wood panels, hinged together, with small rubber casters on the bottom. When a lock is released, you can open the wall with one hand and fold up the panels against side walls.

Press House of the Week Emphasizes Economy

A plan showing Mr. and Mrs. Average Home Buyer how much comfort and convenience can be packed into a typical FHA house—1,022 square feet—is featured as Design HW-17 for The House of the Week.

Federal Housing Commissioner Norman P. Mason recently announced that the average of all new homes financed with FHA insured mortgages in the past year comprised five and a half rooms, including three bedrooms, and over 1,022 square feet.

* * *

Architect Rudolph A. Matern planned HW-17 to show the "maximum livability, step-saving efficiency and construction economy" that you can get in a house of this size.

"In so doing," he says, "it was hoped to improve upon current designs, foster better designs for the future and give Mr. and Mrs. Average Home Buyer more home for their money."

The FHA estimated value of the typical house, nationwide, was $11,742. The average market price of its lot was $1,636. Its mortgage amounted to $10,034, running for 25½ years, with monthly payments of $74.32.

The family that bought that typical house had an annual income of $5,484 and its total monthly housing expense, including mortgage payment, taxes, insurance, water, gas, electricity, fuel and maintenance figured at $96.03.

Whether HW-17 could be built in any specific location for that $11,742 average depends on local building costs and other factors. Obviously many FHA houses were built for less, as well as more than that amount to result in the average.

* * *

However, this plan offers an interesting example of the possibilities for gracious living available through expert design.

ECONOMY FEATURE

Economy starts with the simple shape of this plan—virtually a perfect rectangle, with a plain and inexpensive roof of low pitch and continuous ridge to create an appearance of length. Breaks in the perimeter of a house are expensive. Yet the architect contends that pride of ownership requires more than a box to live in. So he recessed the front entrance, creating a weather-protected doorstep, and opened the eaves, egg-crate style, over the kitchen window to admit sunlight for the breakfast table.

People want and are getting larger homes according to the FHA averages. Five years ago the typical house covered 838 square feet. Each year the size of the average house has increased. A year ago it was 961 square feet. The last survey puts it at 1,022 square feet.

Truss-type roof construction is specified for further economy. This permits the use of prefabricated closet units and calls for no bearing partitions. This saves 8 square feet of floor space in this plan.

By pitching the roof, the use of economical asphalt shingles is made possible.

SMART FEATURE

The living room is a smart feature of this plan. Merging the dining and living areas "in-line" eliminates costly interior corners, gives a small house the openness of a 23-foot room and allows almost unrestricted space for dining by overlapping into the living area. After dinner, when the table is pushed back, a large sized living room is available. Closed-in, four-wall oppression is avoided.

Sliding glass doors merge the living room with a living-dining porch. A log-burning fireplace in the living room and a barbecue grill on the porch are touches of luxury which can be eliminated for economy without affecting the design of the home.

The front foyer is a feature usually lacking in small homes. Here it is a saver of rugs and mother's nerves. It provides perfect circulation—direct acess to living room, kitchen, bedrooms and bathroom.

You don't need a basement with Design HW-17. Crawl space under the small bedroom and adjacent to the fireplace chimney will accommodate a modern horizontal heating plant, or heater and hot water tank can be placed in the garage with laundry shifted to the space marked for cellar stairs.

All blueprints for this house include a separate conversion sheet for basementless construction.

The FHA survey showed almost 70 per cent of the new homes equipped with garages. In this plan the garage can be built with the house or as a future addition. It contains 16 lineal feet of added storage space and five feet of work bench area. A 75-foot lot, or a 50-foot corner lot would accommodate this complete structure under most zoning limits.

Wonder of the World

One of the longest railroad trestles in the world is a heavy timber structure spanning 13 miles of Utah's Great Salt Lake. The trestle, called one of the engineering wonders of the world when it was completed in 1904, is still in excellent condition. Engineers say it has another 25 years of useful life.

The ambitious home owner who is doing a thorough re-decorating job on a room should paint the walls, ceiling and woodwork before sanding and refinishing the floor. This does not eliminate the use of drop cloths or newspaper, but assures you an easier and tidier job.

Old Closets Made Modern —but It's a Lot of Work

Modernizing an old closet from an eyesore the family skeleton wouldn't consider haunting into a gleaming model of efficient and attractive storage calls for a stout heart, firm resolve and strong back. But the results will be a source of housekeeping pride for years to come.

This is the time of year to tackle the job. Those dark and dingy corners in closets can become a perfect breeding ground for moths and other insects.

A talk with consultants at the Matico Home Planning Bureau who charted before - and - after transformation of an old closet bolsters my resolve to dig into one particularly disorderly spot before hot summer weather makes the prospect even less pleasing.

The first and hardest step, to me, is to drag out everything and make an honest appraisal of the contents. The general accumulation that works itself to the top and rear of large closets can often be cut in half by a strict sorting-out policy. (Will Junior really miss the stamp collection he lost interest in two years ago? What was it you were going to do with those faded ends of wallpaper rolls?)

And don't ask me why I wrapped up four old window shades so carefully and shelved them. Give the heave-ho to the wornout, the outgrown, the never-used.

After the closet is emptied, the next step is a thorough cleaning and, for good measure, a spraying with insecticide along the cracks. Old wood flooring where cracks abound and where the joining between flooring and baseboard is not tight is unsightly and a cleaning hazard.

One remedy worth the effort, in my opinion, is to cover flooring with resilient tile such as an asphalt or a vinyl asbestos tile.

This will take the man of the house only a short time to install and will give you a closet floor that's easy to maintain. The consultants advise me to use a light-colored, marbelized tile because it looks clean and fresh and because it will reflect more light into the closet interior.

Another aid to lighter, brighter-looking closets is to use light colors on the walls. This could be accomplished with a fresh coat of paint or new wallpaper. One new, quilted, adhesive-backed paper is especially designed for closets. A simple fluorescent light fixture with a metal reflector will also shed bright but glareless light into formerly dark corners.

The last step is to organize the items you're returning to the closet. Garment bags, hat boxes, shoe bags and similar closet accessories are so pretty and relatively inexpensive you can treat your clothing to such dust-free containers.

Mothproofed winter clothing can be protected in new bags with a special zipper pocket for moth crystals.

* * *

If housekeeping equipment heretofore shared some of the closet space, you may be able to move it to more convenient locations. The ironing board, for example, might be easier to use if it were on its own rack on the wall of kitchen or utility room. A perforated hardboard panel screwed to a wall or door facing can now be fitted with a variety of brackets and large hooks. On it you could hang brooms, mop, vacuum cleaner hose and carpet sweeper to keep them off the floor.

Housewives Lament Sterile Look in Home

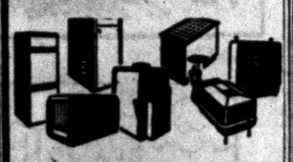

Many a housewife, tired of the white sterile look of the modern kitchen with its many porcelain appliances, has found relief and enjoyment by redecorating her kitchen with wood. Wall paneling, cabinets to conceal most appliances and the rest of the convenient builtins can be made of attractive Douglas fir or west coast hemlock, to give the kitchen a complete new look.

Saves You Trouble

In painting a chair, turn it upside down and start with the legs, rungs and bottoms. This will save trouble and exercise. Now, right the chair and apply the enamel to the seat, back and arms.

Princeton's Nassau Hall to Mark 200th Birthday

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Birthday candles will shine tonight from 80 windows of old Nassau Hall at Princeton University—once the nation's capitol.

* * *

The traditional candle lighting will be part of weekend ceremonies marking the 200th anniversary of the start of classes there.

The building has been more than just a center of studies for many of the country's prominent citizens, however, since it was erected by a group of Presbyterian dissenters.

Its corridors once echoed to the steps of George Washington, James Madison, Lafayette, Chief Justice Oliver Ellsworth, Woodrow Wilson and innumerable other greats.

Nassau Hall, rebuilt twice after its interior was razed by fire, was the capitol of the young United States for more than four months in 1783—and all because the country's founders were afraid.

The Revolutionary War had been fought to a successful conclusion. Yet bitterness remained—and few were more bitter than the Continental soldiers who sought their back pay.

They sent threatening letters to Congress then meeting in Philadelphia and surrounded the state house. So, the lawmakers packed up and came here to the plain three-story building which was called "the most imposing structure in the Colonies."

Congress stayed in Nassau Hall from late June until early November. It was there that Washington and Congress celebrated the end of the Revolutionary War.

George Washington gave the College of New Jersey, as Nassau Hall was then known, 50 guineas (coins) for its kindness. The trustees plowed the money right back into an oil portrait of the general which still hangs in the hall.

Before Congress' visit, Nassau Hall changed back and forth as a headquarters for the American and British forces during the war.

* * *

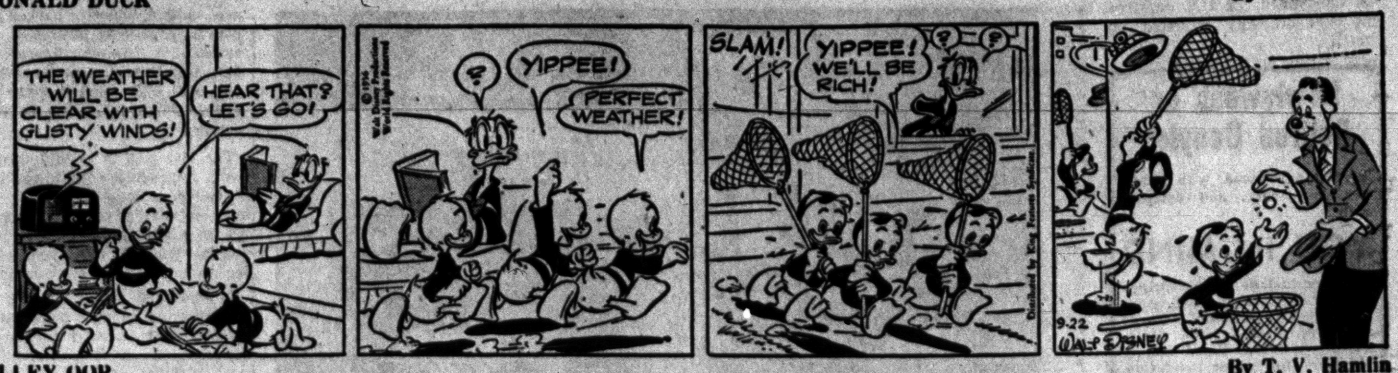

The mark of an American cannon ball from a six-pounder fired by Alexander Hamilton's troops is still visible on the rear wall.

That wasn't all. Sheltering of troops and fighting left the hall in near ruin. Trustees charged that sulky students set the first fire in 1802 because they rebelled at the strong postwar discipline.

* * *

In three rebuildings, Nassau Hall has not changed much from its essential Italian Renaissance-Colonial form. The 63-foot bell tower in the center of the long building remains to toll the beginning and end of the eight daily classes, although there's a new bell.

From her home porch, she tried vainly to hail aid from motorists on the through highway past her home. Her calls attracted attention of a neighbor, who called an ambulance and the fire department.

Besides destroying the bed and mattress, the fire caused smoke damage throughout the house.

Miss Hutchins, who for many years operated a maternity hospital in her home, reportedly took sleeping pills for a heart condition. They were believed to have caused the deep sleep that let the fire get its start unnoticd.

Enrollment Up at Avondale

Six Per Cent Increase; Temporary Measures Alleviate Crowding

AVONDALE—Led by a 21 per cent increase in the high school, Avondale School District shows a total increase of 6 per cent this fall over last spring, according to figures released by Supt. Raymond N. Baker early this week.

Avondale High School has a record 633 enrollment at the present time, an increase of 108 students over the 525 in school in June. The district's total enrollment this fall is 2,527.

While awaiting the construction of the additional rooms voted for in the June bond issue election, certain temporary measures have been take to alleviate the crowded conditions.

Most of the members of the freshman class are attending classes in both the high school building and the junior high building.

Three sections of 9th graders use three rooms in the junior high in the morning, and three other 9th grade sections from the high school change places with them after lunch.

* * *

The reasn for moving the students back and forth between the two buildings, according to high school principal Rosco Crowell, is that this is the only way to give all the freshmen an equal opportunity to take the regular high school elective courses. The junior high does not have the facilities for classes in shop, homemaking, etc.

Heavyweights Ford, Chevy Ready for Another Round

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry's heaviest producers—Chevrolet and Ford—held press previews this week of their sharply restyled cars.

* * *

Their 1957 models will remain secret for another couple of weeks until cars reach dealers. It may be said, however, styling and engineering changes in both promise another bitter competitive sales battle.

Chevrolet again has won the No. 1 spot in production and retail deliveries. But Ford still cherishes the ambition to top the big General Motors unit in both output and sales. Chevrolet is doing better saleswise in 1956 than it did in the record-smashing year of 1955.

Registration figures for this year's January-July period credited Chevrolet with 946,837 deliveries compared with 905,912 in the like 1955 months. Ford was credited with 891,685 registrations this year compared with 884,300 in the same period yast year.

BATTLE LOOMS

Just about every model year starts with predictions of a sizzling Chevrolet-Ford battle. And just about every model year has seen just such a battle develop. Certainly there is no complacency in either camp.

Whether Ford can top Chevrolet in 1957 will not be known until the year is well under way. Both producesr have cars for 1857 that contrast sharply in appearance and in engineering with the models they offered in the eartier postwar period.

The cars cannot be identified as low-price except that Chevrolet and Ford represent that price field in the mind of the average motorist.

* * *

Ford is scheduled for public introduction the first week of October; Chevrolet will come a couple of weeks later. This means Ford will give the first hint of the price trend for 1957.

Plymouth and the rest of the Chrysler lines will be previewed Oct. 1 with public presentation about the first week of November. Buick has slated its preview for Sept. 26 and has announced its 1957 models will go on display Nov. 9.

Virtually all makes will reach the market by Nov. 10.

* * *

It appears Ford's new line, still somewhat mysteriously referred to as the "E" model, will not be ready for introduction before the start of the 1958 model year. It is being created by Ford's Special Productions Division and is intended to fill out the Ford lines for more complete competition with General Motors.

PLENTY TO SPEND

Ford executives already have said the company will spend 250 million dollars and its dealers will invest another 100 million to 150 million to launch the new line.

The new "E" series probably will be fitted into the Ford lines between its Mercury and Lincoln series.

The only other new car in prospect as an addition to any maker's line is Cadillac's Eldorado Brougham. Like the Ford Continental Mark II this is designed as a prestige model. Like the Mark II also, it quite likely will have a delivered price tag in the $10,000 area.

It also will be a limited production model as is the Mark II.

Nixon Criticizes Adlai on Draft

Farm Belt Speech Hits 'Expedient Politicians,' Cites Red Threat

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—Heading for Colorado Springs, Colo., for a "major economic speech," Vice President Nixon said today that leadership of the coutry should not be given to what he called "expedient politicians."

* * *

In a speech prepared for delivery here in the heart of the corn belt, he took indirect cognizance of a recent expression of hope by Adlai Stevenson that the draft soon could be ended "within the foreseeable future." Stevenson called for such action "at the earliest possible moment cosistent with the national safety.

President Eisenhower, he said, has proved his ability to lead the nation in time of peace and in time of war. He referred to the President as a man who has uplifted the government's "whole moral tone . . . who has led us out of one war, avoided others and now offers our best hope of remaining out of future conflicts."

There's No Fuel Like an Old Fuel to Pep Up Jeeps

BLOOMFIELD, Ind. (INS) — Those gasoline attendant pumping fuel into a tank and then holding on to the car for dear life came true to life for Robert Clark.

He bought 1,000 gallons of old fuel from the Navy and put some of it into his jeep. When he got into high gear, he found he was unable to throttle down below 40 m.p.h.

Investigators found the gas he bought for $156.80, actually was torpedo fuel worth $25,000. He returned 980 gallons and got his money back.

Wallet-Sized Punch Cards to Facilitate Tax Returns

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Internal Revenue Service said it will persuade more people than ever before to use a simple little punch card when they make out their income tax returns for 1956.

Officials told a news conference that the wallet-sized cards will be mailed to 18 million persons this year. They said that 14 million taxpayers used the card for their 1955 returns.

Taxpayers taking advantage of the cards merely have to list how much they earned during the year and how much has been withheld in taxes. Practically no muss or fuss.

LESS THAN $5,000

The punch card, officials said, can be used by all persons earning less than $5,000 a year from salaries or wages subject to the withholding tax, and with less than $100 of other income not subject to withholding.

Also, those using the card have to take the standard 10 per cent deduction. They cannot itemize their deductions.

Officials estimated a potential 35 million persons could file on the punch card, provided they did not itemize their deductions. However, a great many persons with incomes under $5,000 are buying homes, and thus it is to their advantage to itemize deductions.

One change has been made in the punch card this year. Three lines have been added so that the taxpayer can figure his own tax if he wants to. Previously, he only filled out the card and the Internal Revenue director's office calculated his tax.

The director's office then billed him for additional tax or ordered a refund, depending on the circumstances.

ALREADY IN USE

Officials said the record operation of printing the 250 to 275 carloads of tax forms which will be used for all 1956 returns began on Sept. 15 and will be completed about Dec. 1.

They explained that, in addition to the 18 million punch cards, about 42 million packages will be mailed to taxpayers with previous taxpaying records. In addition, about 105 million regular income tax forms and 35 million punch cards will be sent to local IRS offices around the country.

In all, about 200 million income tax forms will be made available after Jan. 1 for the use of taxpayers at a cost of about three million dollars. This is the largest printing and mailing operation.

Officials said the regular income tax form 1040 will be practically the same for the 1956 returns as for the 1955. However, they said they've really tried to make the instructions simpler.

Gerity and Hoover Companies to Merge

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Hoover Ball and Bearing Co. of Ann Arbor, will purchase the Gerity-Michigan Corp. of Adrian.

A joint statement said acquisition will be made through a transfer of stock.

* * *

* * *

Gerity is an electroplating firm and also manufactures die casts, automotive hardware and household fixtures. Its manufacturing operations are similar to those of Hoover's subsidiary in nearby Saline, the Universal Die Cast Manufacturing Co. Hoover has two other subsidiaries in Fowlerville and Melvern, Ark.

The announcement said 7.52 shares of Gerity common stock will be exchanged for one share of Hoover common.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LYLE J. O'Neil who passed away one year ago Sept. 22, 1955.
Do not ask me if I miss him,
For there is such a vacant place.
Often I think I hear his footsteps
Or I see his smiling face.
For he left me broken hearted.
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they so little know the sorrow,
That is in my heart concealed.
Sadly missed by wife Violet and children, Janet, Joyce and Wayne.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF 1ST LT. Bill Haynes, who was killed in plane crash Sept. 22, 1945.
His memory is dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
Sadly missed by Mother, Dad and sister Gladys.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF George L. Welsh, Husband and Father, who passed away September 18, 1951.

Hospital Group to Ponder TV Question

TV or not TV—that was the question facing the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees Thursday night.

After a lengthy debate on the merits of television for the new hospital, the Board decided to provide the facilities at least. Final action will be subject to review by the building committee.

Lines will be run through present conduits during construction of the new wing. These lines will run to wall plugs available for sets later.

The discussion was sparked by William P. Babcock, chairman of the Board, who, along with several other hospital officials, attended a hospital convention in Chicago recently.

Babcock said it was better to get the lines in now during construction work, instead of at a later date when patients would be disturbed.

Yuletide TV Spectacular to Be Independent Effort

By JANET KERN

NEW YORK (INS)—In the past, "spectaculars" have always been financed in whole or in large part by networks.

* * *

The first completely independently produced "spectacular" to try its television luck will be the Dec. 23 showing of "The Happy Scrooge" musical inspired by Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

This 90-minute musical (probably in color) will be offered by the Aluminum Company of America, to whom the whole idea was sold by a new firm called Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., which was only a few months old when it swung this more-than-half-million-dollar TV deal.

Joel Spector will produce the show, with music by Fred Spielman and lyrics and book by Janice Torre. On Oct. 15, Columbia records will release an original cast album, and various cast members are making single records of songs from this NBC-TV show.

The cast is certainly varied what with Vic Damone portraying Scrooge as a youth; Johnny Desmond playing Scrooge's nephew, Fred; Patrice Munsel in the role of Scrooge's girl Belle; Basil Rathbone singing the elder Scrooge; Martyn Greene as Bob Cratchit; the Four Lads playing the carolers; and Robert Weede portraying Jacob Marley.

DEPENDS ON WRITERS

Whether this show will be as good as its cast, of course, depends on how able Spielman and Miss Torre prove to be. If they do justice to their cast, then we can expect the "spectacular" field to be invaded by independent production concerns galore.

"Hit Parade" is back in its over-dramatized musical rut, making viewers of my vintage wince to recall that this was radio's peak popularity national institution 20 years ago.

* * *

These days, TV's "Hit Parade" offers no Barry Wood or Frank Sinatra . . . only Dorothy Collins who, despite maturity, marriage (to "Hit Parade" conductor Raymond Scott) and motherhood, still makes a profession of affecting coy, wide-eyed, "never-been-kissed" innocence.

She gets top star billing and prominence for her trouble. Gisele MacKenzie, in her decidedly subordinate role, is the one real star on this show.

* * *

And Gisele looks pretty foolish frittering away her big voice and even bigger versatility on all the simpering silliness of "Hit Parade."

U.S. to Fly 3 B47s Nonstop to Australia

CANBERRA (AP) — Three Boeing B47 Stratojet bombers from the U. S. 15th Air Force are to make the first nonstop flight from the United Staes to Australia.

* * *

Air Minister Athol Townley announced today the planes will fy in the first week of November from California to Amberley, near Brisbane.

Townley said six Thunderjet fighters from the U. S. Far East Air Force would fly from Japan to Sydney.

* * *

He termed the flights Operation Handclasp and said they would demonstrate that powerful friends, once regarded as living half a world away, now are only a few hours distant.

Teeners Favor Curfew

MUSKEGON (AP) — A group of more than 200 Muskegon Heights teenage student council leaders favor a proposed curfew as a means of curbing juvenile problems. The group supported city council plans for an 11 p.m. week night curfew for 16-year-olds and younger.

Study Teaching English

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A group of educators from 14 countries has arrived here for a three-month internship at the University of Michigan in the teaching of English as a foreign language. As part of the program the 23 visitors will live in Ann Arbor homes to receive an insight into American life and customs.

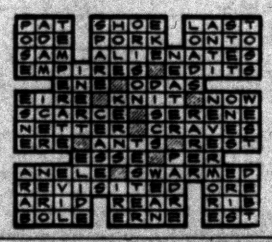

Ford Paying Costs for 181 in Colleges

DEARBORN (INS)—The Ford Motor Co. Fund scholarship program will enable 181 Michigan students to attend colleges and universities throughout the United States this year.

The scholarships, started in 1951, are awarded each year to a minimum of 70 sons and daughters of Ford employes, all of whom must pass scholastic and aptitude tests, and be high school graduates.

The Ford Fund, operated for educational, scientific and charitable purposes, is a nonprofit corporation unrelated to the Ford Foundation.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Virginia Stops Funds for Mixed Schools

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Virginia General Assembly passed Gov. Thomas B. Stanley's entire package of legislation to block mixing of the races in any public school of the state and wearily wound up its special session at 2:10 a.m. today.

* * *

Pegged to the governor's watchword of "unyielding resistance" to the Supreme Court school desegregation order, the program sets up a legal maze to be traveled before any Negro child may be admitted to a white school.

* * *

And even then, an integrated school would be automatically divorced from the public school system and closed for a period of persuasion and negotiation to try to bring about voluntary segregation. Another barrier behind that would be the shutoff of state funds for local school support.

State Park Proposed

CHEBOYGAN (AP)—A proposal for a state park on Duncan Ban in Cheboygan will be made to the State Conservation Commission at its Higgins Lake meeting Oct. 10. The park, which would include a bathing beach and trailer park, would run from Little Billy's Creek to beyond Lighthouse Point.

Alums Jam Who's Who

ANN ARBOR (AP)—"Who's Who in America" has added more names of University of Michigan alumni since 1937 than from any other similar institute in the country. The university announced U-M ranks third behind Harvard and Yale in total listings.
