Nixon Will Ask Bunker to Remain as Viet Envoy

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Nixon said today he has decided to ask Ellsworth Bunker to remain U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, believing that "at this time a change in ambassadors would not be wise."

The president-elect disclosed that decision as he announced the selection of three top deputies to Secretary of State-designate William P. Rogers. The choice:

★ ★ ★

● Elliot L. Richardson, 48, now attorney general of Massachusetts, to be undersecretary of state.

● U. Alexis Johnson, 60, now ambassador to Japan, as undersecretary of state for political affairs.

● Richard F. Pedersen, 43, deputy U. S. representative at the U.N. Security Council, to be counselor of the State Department.

TO MEET BUNKER

Nixon assigned Ambassador Johnson to go to Saigon and to talk with Bunker about the request that he remain in his post during the new administration.

Nixon did not say for what period of time he wishes Bunker to remain. But he said he had decided today to ask that the ambassador continue.

★ ★ ★

Johnson, who will return to Japan, then visit South Vietnam, said he planned to discuss the details with Bunker there.

"We believe that at this time a change in ambassadors would not be wise," Nixon said. He did not elaborate, but it was evident that the current peace talk efforts were a factor in that judgement.

Nixon indicated that he has not yet discussed the matter with Bunker.

Nixon said Rogers, who was at his side during the announcement of the State Department choices, had recommended each man. "I completely share his evaluation of each of these men," Nixon said.

Nixon said the State Department needs the blend of new men like Rogers and Richardson and experienced diplomatic veterans like Johnson and Pedersen.

★ ★ ★

Richardson, once assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, has had no State Department experience.

4 Cyclists Guilty in Terror Case

Four Oakland County motorcyclists who inflicted a nightlong ride of rape, injury and terror on two young couples pleaded guilty in Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday.

James R. Perna, 19, of 63 E. Burdick, Oxford, pleaded guilty to rape and Raymond M. Spring, 24, of 245 Indian Lake, Orion Township, pleaded guilty to kidnaping. Both charges carry a maximum of life imprisonment.

★ ★ ★

Percy J. Greenwood, 21, of 147 Tennyson and James L. Davidson, 19, of 3501 N. Lapeer, Oxford, pleaded guilty to felonious assault, which carries a maximum four-year sentence.

They were returned to the Oakland County jail in lieu of $10,000 bond on Davidson and $20,000 bonds on the other three, for sentencing Jan. 28.

CHARGED WITH ABDUCTION

The four were charged with abducting a teen-age Pontiac couple in Lapeer County Sept. 20 and taking them to Oxford where the 19-year-old girl was raped repeatedly.

Perna and Spring face additional charges in Lapeer County of rape, assault and armed robbery in an alleged prior and related incident the same day.

★ ★ ★

All four defendants had stood mute at their arraignment and were being tried without a jury. The trial lasted two days.

Before testimony got under way yesterday, a crude knife fashioned from a spoon was found concealed on Spring.

"I was going to use it on one of the guards on the way back to jail," Spring was quoted as saying.

TIPPED OFF ON WEAPON

The discovery was made after a tip from the Oakland County jail where Spring was being held.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff's Deputy Wayne Brause burst into an Oakland County Courthouse office where Spring and his court-appointed attorney, Daniel Devine, were conferring, searched the prisoner and found the 4-inch blade inside his right shoe.

Spring made the weapon at the jail by scraping a teaspoon handle on cement, a jail official said.

Adam Clayton Powell

House to Seat Powell, but . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, the cocky and often criticized Democrat from New York's Harlem, is a member of the House again — but under orders to have his pay docked by $25,000.

He also was stripped of seniority built up during 11 terms as a congressman.

The House came to this conclusion yesterday after a five-hour wrangle — which was itself the culmination of a two-year hassle over Powell's status.

He was excluded from the past Congress by House vote, after an investigating committee charged him with misuse of more than $40,000 in public funds — mainly by putting his nonworking wife on the payroll and by permitting private trips to be paid out of committee funds.

Since then, his constituents reelected him twice — once in a special election and again last November.

Powell took the oath of office after the resolution to seat him with the punishment condition attached had been adopted.

But later, at a news conference, he replied to all questions about paying the fine by saying "I'll see my lawyer." At the same time, Powell said he was represented at a conference of leaders that worked out the compromise to seat him.

A record total of 893,745 units were sold in the year compared to 836,937 in the previous year.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Division established five monthly and 11 ten-day all-time sales records. DeLorean said Pontiac expects to sell "over a million" units in 1969.

Restaurateur Is Charged After Lazaros Complaint

A 37-year-old Grosse Pointe Parke restaurateur and alleged a Mafia lieutenant was arrested yesterday and charged with extortion on a complaint filed by Peter Lazaros, self-admitted underworld figure.

Peter V. Cavataio, 37, was arrested on a warrant requested by Oakland County Prosecutor Thomas Plunkett. He was taken into custody by State and Southfield police at his Southfield restaurant, which he owned in partnership with Lazaros.

Lazaros' complaint charged that between Aug. 15 and Oct. 15, Cavataio threatened Lazaros and his family with bodily harm, and tried to take over his half of the restaurant without payment.

Lazaros said he had invested about $5,000 in the restaurant — one of the franchised Biff's restaurants.

SECOND ARREST

Cavataio is the second alleged Mafia member to be arrested on complaint by Lazaros. Joseph Barbara, Jr., chief operator of the Tri-County Sanitation Services Inc., and alleged Mafia boss is charged with raping Lazaros' wife and trying to extort money from her while Lazaros was in prison.

Barbara is awaiting trial on both charges. His conduct toward Lazaros's wife supposedly convinced Lazaros to talk to police regarding Mafia activity.

Lazaros had been serving a four-to-eight year prison sentence on fraud. He was released in October by a federal court order to appeal his conviction.

Since his release, Lazaros has been under constant State Police protection after he reportedly began telling about Mafia operations in the Detroit area.

Both he and Cavataio were listed as members of the Mafia by former Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards in testimony befor a congressional committee.

Cavataio was scheduled for arraignment on the extortion charge today.

Road Knightmares

FLINT (AP)—Four good Samaritans in Flint probably wish they had minded their own business when they went to the aid of a Genesee County Sheriff's Department car yesterday.

The cruiser became mired in snow and mud on a rural road while deputies were answering a routine trespassing call.

★ ★ ★

The driver of a Jeep happened by and offered to help. All four drive wheels on the utility vehicle became neatly stuck. Then came a pickup truck, which, with a mighty tug, slipped into the communal mess.

A farmer with a sturdy tractor offered his services and nearly tipped over before sinking to the axles.

★ ★ ★

Then a brave little snowmobile came by. The driver threw a rope around the tractor, and with a hefty heave, tore off the back of the snow machine.

Finally, someone summoned a wrecker, which managed to haul out snowmobile, tractor, pickup truck, Jeep and sheriff's car.

There were no trespassing arrests.

More Officers Quit N-Subs

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Twenty-nine naval officers qualified for nuclear submarine duty turned in resignations during one week in November, the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot said today.

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, has sent a classified message to the commanders of the Atlantic and Pacific submarine fleets requesting information on the problem of retaining officers, the story said.

★ ★ ★

It said Capt. William S. Busik public affairs officer for the Bureau of Naval Personnel, confirmed the rash of resignations.

There are 1,539 places in the Navy for officers with nuclear training with 122 of them ashore. The officers man Polaris-missile carrying subs and attack craft.

FIGURES CLASSIFIED

The Navy has classified by-the-month figures on resignations for the nuclear submarine officers in an unprecedented move, the paper said.

★ ★ ★

The article quoted Busik as saying junior officers "are leaving the service at an unsatisfactory rate. A study being conducted should indicate what the actual situation is."

★ ★ ★

According to articles in official Navy publications, the service is losing men because of inability to rotate nuclear sub officers away from sea billets after a reasonable period at sea, long hours, time away from home, attractive job opportunities for nuclear trained personnel, pressure to keep abreast of new nuclear developments and monotony of nuclear submarine duty.

Levin to Leave Dem Post

SANDER LEVIN

LANSING (AP) — State Sen. Sander M. Levin, D-Berkley, said in Lansing early today that he will not seek a second term as state Democratic party chairman.

★ ★ ★

Levin's intention to step down from the party leadership was reported by a Lansing radio station.

★ ★ ★

The 37-year-old veteran of two terms in the Michigan Senate denied he was resigning because of plans to seek statewide office in 1970. He said he wished to devote more time to legislative matters and his family. Levin and his wife, the former Virginia Schlafer, have three children.

Michigan Democrats meet next month in convention in Detroit and are to vote then on a party chairman.

Round Table for Viet Talks OK'd, but Division Disputed

PARIS (UPI) — Western diplomats said today all four sides had agreed on a round table for the expanded Vietnam war talks but still disagreed whether the table would be divided.

Diplomats close to the stalled talks expressed optimism the long hassle over procedures for the opening of the conference may be reaching its final stage.

★ ★ ★

The Communists yesterday announced their willingness to drop all remaining procedural issues deadlocking the talks, including officially calling the conference a "four-party" meeting, if the allies would agree to a solid circular table.

★ ★ ★

The surprise move by North Vietnam and the Vietcong left the old shape-of-the-table issue the only one delaying start of the conference.

1 ISSUE LEFT

And with both sides willing to sit at a circular table, the only issue that remained was whether it will be symbolically marked off or divided to preserve U. S. and South Vietnamese demands the conference be "two party" negotiations.

★ ★ ★

The diplomats said there had been such progress toward breaking the deadlock that has held up the start of the talks since Nov. 6 that a final agreement could come as early as next week. However, the final issue is touchy and the start of the talks could be delayed for some time.

★ ★ ★

The closest the two sides have come to final agreement on the table issue is a proposal by the United States, approved by South Vietnam, to meet around a solid circular table divided by a thin stripe of green baize.

Hanoi and the Vietcong have rejected that proposal and five other presented by the United States for a divided round table.

Saigon has again reiterated it will only accept a table with such a demarcation to stress its view the Vietcong does not have status equal to the South Vietnamese government.

900 in State Strike Gasoline, Oil Suppliers

DETROIT (AP) — About 900 oil and chemical workers struck gasoline and fuel oil suppliers in southern Lower Michigan today.

It was not immediately clear how much effect the strike might have on supplies of fuel oil used for heating homes and institutions such as hospitals, as temperatures hovered near zero in many areas.

★ ★ ★

The strike by three Michigan units of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union — in the Detroit area, at Alma and in Muskegon — was part of a nationwide walkout by 60,000 workers ordered by the union.

"I see no reason for any panic buying," said O. W. Britton, general manager of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association of Detroit.

"Every gasoline station has a few day's supply on hand and there are enough major chains unaffected to take care of immediate needs," said Britton. You might not be able to drive to any station and get gas but there will be gas."

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Detroit Local 7-839 of the striking union said an offer had been made to supply essential customers such as hospitals and nursing homes.

Struck in the Detroit area were Cities Service Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Humble Oil and Refining, Mobil Oil Corp., Pure Oil Division of Union Oil of California, Shell Oil Co., Sinclair Oil Co. and Texaco.

Several other oil firms — including Standard Oil, Boron, Marathon, Sunoco and several independents — either are nonunion, are represented by other unions or have unexpired contracts with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers.

Nation's Red Party Hits Demands

Stern Warning to Restless Czechs

PRAGUE (AP) — The 21-member presidium of the Czechoslovak Communist party today issued a stern warning that "public ultimatums and demands" in this occupied nation are getting out of hand.

A declaration that apparently followed an all-night meeting of the party's top leadership hinted that Czechoslovakia might suffer further Soviet intervention if "certain elements" continue to campaign for the return of freedoms lost in the Soviet invasion last August.

Prague Radio broadcast the text of the declaration.

It called on the nation to unite behind party decisions in November and December that slowed down reforms planned before the August invasion to "normalize" relations with the Kremlin.

"The implementation of these program objectives will be possible only if we proceed in a well-thought-out manner both in internal and external relations," the declaration said. "Society cannot continue to live tossed by conflicts and tensions on the brink of political crisis.

"A dangerous situation has been arising recently. In the last few weeks there have developed broadly based campaigns which are evoking distrust toward the party and state leadership and are bringing to a head problems which in their consequences might endanger the basic interests of our nations and our state."

The declaration went on: "Various ultimatums, demands are made which are creating permanent unrest in the public, arouse emotions which can be easily abused against the true interests of our people."

This referred to widespread petitions from workers, students, scientists, intellectuals and other groups demanding an end to press censorship, more information on the activities of the leadership and retention of progressive National Assembly Chairman Josef Smrkovsky when a new parliament is formed later this month.

'UNJUSTIFIED'

The declaration referred to workers' threats of strikes as "completely unjustified."

The declaration castigated Czechoslovak news media for failing to support the party decisions of November and December, as the Soviets had demanded, and conducting campaigns "which violate the united advance of the party and society."

The press has been giving widespread attention to the public campaign for progress in stalled reforms.

The declaration warned: "It is easy to unleash a movement, but it is more difficult to bear its consequences."

Rolling Stone Kills 7

Flint Shooting Kills Man, Hurts 2 Police

FLINT (AP) — The attempted holdup of an East Side bar early today touched off a shooting outburst in which two Flint policemen were wounded and a nearby resident was shot to death.

Police listed the dead man as Terry C. Jones, 30, whose home is a short distance from the holdup scene.

★ ★ ★

The wounded policemen were Detective Alton Fritcher, 42, reported in critical condition with a gunshot wound in the abdomen, and Patrolman Tom Johnson Jr., 31, of Flint, who was shot in the left hand.

As police pieced the story together from scattered early reports, the two officers were having their coffee break in a restaurant across the street from the bar when a man rushed in and said a holdup was in progress at the bar.

Fritcher went in the front door of the bar while Johnson went in the back way. Moments later, shooting began and both officers were hit.

Two men and a woman, identified by witnesses as the holdup crew, fled from the bar and separated.

★ ★ ★

One of the men, identified by police as Orville Simmons, 32, who escaped from Southern Michigan prison at Jackson two weeks ago, allegedly broke into the home of Jones and shot him to death after a struggle.

Crime-Fighting Devices Given Top Priority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The research half of the Justice Department's new crime control agency has given top priority to development of "Dick Tracy" type two-way radios and night vision devices for policemen.

Both were developed by the Army for use in Vietnam and are expected to be refined for local police within about two years.

Dr. Ralph Siu, associate administrator for research at the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, outlined his program yesterday during a briefing with Administrator Patrick V. Murphy and Associate Administrator Wesley A. Pomeroy.

Siu said the two devices had been given "the highest priority," because they were the items police forces throughout the country want most.

Wisconsin Fires Kill 12 Children

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Deaths of 12 children in less than 24 hours have prompted firemen to issue warnings about home heating units, overworked during a severe cold wave in Wisconsin.

Seven children died late Thursday when flames destroyed their farm home in Bloomer in northwestern Wisconsin.

★ ★ ★

Bodies of two youngsters were found yesterday after fire destroyed a fashionable dwelling in Bayside, a Milwaukee suburb which lacks fire hydrants.

An Appleton businessman and his three children were found dead yesterday in their rural northern Wisconsin cabin near Keshena, evidently victims of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The seven children, aged 11 to less than 1 year, were killed when fire broke out in the furnace room of their two-story home and swept out of control in weather 15 degrees below zero.

The 13-year-old son, barefoot and wearing only pajamas, ran a half mile through snow to a neighbor's home for help. He and his brother were treated for cuts and frostbite.

22 Cong Killed in Drive to Foil Red Buildup

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. infantrymen teamed with Navy patrol boats and rocket-firing helicopters to corner and kill 22 Vietcong in the Mekong Delta, and American troops killed 39 Reds in a drive to disrupt a Communist buildup against Saigon, U.S. spokesmen said today.

The guerrillas killed three Americans in fighting near Saigon.

★ ★ ★

U.S. ships blasted North Vietnamese positions in the demilitarized zone (DMZ), and Communists in the border strip fired at U.S. spotter planes.

The Delta battle broke out yesterday when U.S. 9th infantry division troops spotted 30 Vietcong pushing through swamps near Sa Dec., 60 miles southwest of Saigon, military spokesmen said.

NAVY HELPS

They called in help from 10 Navy patrol boats and U.S. Cobra helicopter gunships which opened fire with rockets and machine guns from two sides while the infantrymen hemmed in the Reds on the other side.

Caught in the cross fire, the Vietcong fought until near dusk. Only eight managed to escape.

The Communists caught a U.S. Army 1st Infantry Division unit in intensive automatic weapons fire 46 miles north of Saigon, killing three U.S. GIs and wounding 25, military spokesmen said.

Helicopter gun ships and army artillery finally drove off the attacking Communists an hour after the fighting broke out near An Loc. The 1st Infantry Division unit lost three dead and 25 wounded. The Communists apparently suffered no casualties, military spokesmen said.

South Vietnamese troops found another large weapons storehouse in the Mekong Delta 140 miles southwest of Saigon yesterday. Three other arms storehouses within 32 miles of Saigon yielded hundreds of grenades, weapons, mortar rounds and fuses and primers.

Flu Ills Kill 3,594

ATLANTA (AP)—Influenza-pneumonia has claimed 3,594 lives in 122 cities since Dec. 7, almost double the normal expected mortality rate, health officials say. But they say a peak in the epidemic is expected in a week or two.

★ ★ ★

The National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta reported that the number of deaths recorded in the control cities is 1,608 more than would have occurred if the country had not been hit by a Hong Kong flu epidemic.

I-69 Given Priority

I-275 Project Is Postponed

Construction of I-275, proposed by the Michigan State Highway Department as a north-south freeway connecting I-696 in Farmington Township with I-75 north of Clarkston, has been postponed.

The project was submitted as high priority to the federal government when it became evident last year that Michigan might extend its interstate program.

★ ★ ★

Henrik Stafseth, chief deputy commissioner of the State Highway Department, said the state had instead been allowed 60 miles of new construction for the completion of I-69 between Marshall and Flint.

An additional grant of $104 million will be received for that purpose, Stafseth said.

The state has already constructed 30 miles of the freeway on a 50-50 cost-sharing basis. The remaining 60 miles fall under the federal government's 90-10 distribution plan on funds.

Stafseth said that besides giving I-275 higher priority, his department had also recommended the extension and improvement of the old Davison Freeway in Detroit. At the bottom of its list, the deputy said, were I-69 from Marshall to Flint and from Flint to Port Huron.

He implied that, though I-69 is an important route, he felt that had the state had more say in the use of federal funds, the money might have been better spent.

Stafseth said the department is currently engaged in a five-year needs study which will be ready by 1970. He said on the basis of that study, the State Highway Department hopes it may convince Congress to end its interstate program and allow more concentration on other road needs.

U.S. Firms Report 13.9 Pct. Jump

'68 Record Year for Car Sales

DETROIT (AP) — American drivers flocked to showrooms and bought in record numbers in 1968, final figures of domestic auto sales released by the four major U.S. firms indicate.

Although domestic car sales were somewhat down from 1965, when the previous record was set, booming foreign car sales were expected to more than fill the gap, with the projected total set at 9.6 million. About 9.3 million cars were sold in the U.S. in 1965.

U.S. manufacturers reported Friday their dealers had sold 8.6 million cars, 13.9 per cent higher than in 1967. Industry executives and observers have projected imported car sales for the year at 960,000, compared with 569,000 in 1965.

Ford Motor Co., hit hard by a nationwide strike in 1967, had the highest percentage increase last year—up a whopping 26 per cent. Ford sold 2.3 million cars in 1968, only 1.8 million in 1967.

GM INCREASE

General Motors, the industry's undisputed giant, showed an 8.3 per cent increase, selling 4.5 million cars compared with 4.1 million in 1967.

American Motors checked in with a 12 per cent increase, selling 269,000, while Chrysler Corp. sales were up 15.3 per cent to 1.6 million, 200,000 better than 1967.

Sales for the final 10 days of December toaled 213,878, up from the previous year's 207,340 but down from the previous 10-day period's 239,204 sales. However, 1968's final 10-day period contained only eight selling days compared with nine selling days in the Dec. 11-20 period.

General Motors dealers sold 113,183 cars during the final period, compared with 137,481 the previous period and 103,882 during the similar period in 1967.

FORD DROP

Ford sold 50,123, down substantially from mid-December sales 63,419, but up from the like period of the previous year, when 49,759 sales were registered.

Chrysler chalked up sales of 39,273 cars during the year's final 10 days, compared with 32,931 sold in the previous period and 43,395 sold during the final 10 days of 1967.

And American Motors showed an impressive gain during the last 10 days, selling 11,209 cars compared with 5,374 in mid-December and 10,364 during the final 10 days of 1967.

Rights Unit Sets Talk on Fair Housing

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission will sponsor a seminar on fair housing guarantees Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Oakland County Courthouse auditorium.

Julian A. Cook Jr., commission cochairman, and MCRC staff members, will discuss questions on current fair housing guarantees to Michigan citizens and the commission's role in their enforcement.

★ ★ ★

The subjects for discussion include federal and state fair housing legislation, specific provisions of the law pertaining to licensees of the state, and proposals for voluntary affirmative action by the housing industry.

Real estate agents, contractors, apartment owners, managers and others in Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair counties who are directly affected by recent legislation and court rulings in the area of housing are invited.

State Education Chief Hails Court Busing Decision

LANSING (AP) — The State Superintendent of Public Instruction Friday hailed a decision by the Court of Appeals upholding the right of a school district to bus students to achieve racial balance.

"I am certain that local school boards which may have been delaying efforts to reduce racial isolation will now be able to move to reduce such isolation and further educational opportunity," said Dr. Ira Polley.

The 2-1 court decision, announced Thursday, overturned an Ingham County Circuit Court ruling which outlawed transporting students to schools outside the districts where they live for strictly racial reasons.

The Year That Was—9

Fortas, Panther Top Court Stories

By JOY STILLEY
Associated Press Writer

From the beginning the confirmation of Associate Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice of the United States looked doubtful. When the nomination reached the Senate floor late in September, the development of a filibuster made failure even more apparent.

Chief Justice Earl Warren had resigned in July, conditional on the confirmation of Fortas, whom President Johnson nominated as his successor to the Supreme Court. Federal Judge Homer Thornberry was in line for Fortas' post as associate justice.

In stormy hearings of the Senate Judiciary Committee, opposition to Fortas centered on charges that his rulings were too liberal on such issues as obscenity and defendants' rights and that he had played an advisory role to President Johnson. And there was the disclosure that he was paid $15,000 the previous summer for teaching a nine-week seminar course at American University.

When an attempt to halt the Senate filibuster failed to achieve the necessary two-thirds margin, Fortas asked Johnson to withdraw his name, declaring his desire was to end "the destructive and extreme assaults upon the Court."

BLACK PANTHER TRIAL

In a maximum security setting in an Oakland, Calif., courthouse, September saw the completion of the trial of Black Panther leader Huey Newton on charges of killing a white policeman, John Frey, 23, and critically wounding another officer, Herbert Heanes, 25.

The two patrolmen had stopped the car Newton was driving on Oct. 28, 1967. Moments later Frey sprawled on the street, bleeding to death from five bullet wounds. Newton was arrested when he appeared at a hospital with a bullet wound in his stomach.

★ ★ ★

Heanes, who was wounded three times, later testified that he had fired that shot after he was felled by bullets that came "from the direction of Newton," though he could not recall actually seeing a gun in Newton's hand. The Negro driver of a passing municipal bus in predominantly Negro west Oakland, where the shooting took place, testified that he did see Newton draw a gun and keep firing it at Frey until the officer's body jerked, then was still.

RACE BIAS CHARGES

No gun belonging to Newton was found, nor was Frey's weapon. Testified the 26-year-old defendant: "I didn't shoot anyone; I have never shot anyone."

The trial lasted eight weeks. Admission was after careful identification only. The trial produced charges of racial discrimination. After deliberating four days the jury, with its only Negro member as foreman, convicted Newton of voluntary manslaughter but acquitted him on the second count of assault with a deadly weapon.

On Sept. 25 the reign of Premier Antonio de Oliveria Salazar, who had ruled Portugal with an iron hand for four decades, came to an end. The 79-year-old durable dictator had suffered a head injury in a fall and then a stroke.

★ ★ ★

Salazar's tenure, the longest of any political leader in this century, was ended by a decree from President Americo Thomaz. Named to succeed him was a right-wing law professor, 62-year old Marcello Caetano, a far more outgoing man than his predecessor.

The new prime minister was expected to give Portugal her first liberal reforms since Salazar became prime minister in 1932.

Michigan's local draft boards are to deliver 2,512 registrants out of a national total of 33,700 men.

Hoffa Appeals to Court Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Imprisoned Teamster chief Jame R. Hoffa yesterday appealed to the Supreme Court a second time his 1964 conspiracy and fraud conviction in Chicago.

In an inch-thick petition, Hoffa's attorneys listed 16 questions for the high court's attention. Five of them concerned an FBI eavesdropping incident in 1963 during which a conversation of one of Hoffa's codefendants — S. George Burris — was overheard.

★ ★ ★

The Supreme Court on May 22, 1967 took note of the eavesdropping and ordered new federal District Court hearings to determine whether it tainted the conviction of Hoffa and associates.

The U.S. District Court and later the 7th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the conviction a second time.

8-YEAR SENTENCE

Hoffa is in the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., where he is serving an eight year sentence for jury tampering in Nashville, Tenn. He has been employed in the prison shoe repair shop.

An appeal from his fourth failure to get a new jury-tampering trial in Chattanooga, Tenn., is also before the high court.

Rocket, Craft for Apollo 9 Taken to Pad

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Apollo 9 space machine rode a mammoth tractor to its launch pad yesterday to start final testing for the crucial Feb. 28 earth orbital test of the ship built to land men on the moon.

The three-man moon ship and its Saturn 5 rocket will use the ocean-side launch site Apollo 8 did when it took off for the moon.

The 36-story rocket left its assembly building before dawn on the back of an eight-tread crawler for the launch pad 3½ miles away.

Apollo 9 astronauts James McDivitt, David Scott and Russell Schweickart were in Houston today for a report from Apollo 8 crewmen Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders.

LOOKS LIKE APOLLO 8

The 363-foot Apollo 9 spacecraft-rocket combination looks the same as Apollo 8 did. But hidden inside is a four-legged spacecraft designed to ferry two men to a landing on the moon.

The object of the 10-day Apollo 9 mission is to give the landing craft a thorough space workout with men aboard. The craft has flown unmanned once.

McDivitt, Scott and Schweickart will ride a command ship in a low orbit around earth.

Better Property Protection Is Needed

The purpose of National Burglar and Fire Alarm Protection Month, Jan. 1-31, is "to inform people and businesses and to promote protection and security of their property."

Emphasizing the criminal aspect of the month-long observance, of the seven types of crime the F.B.I. classifies as major, burglary is by far the most common. The bureau's Uniform Crime Reports note that there were 1.6 million burglaries in 1967, an increase of 218,500 offenses over 1966.

One way to avoid burglary is to live in North Dakota. The burglary rate there in 1967 was 241.2 per 100,000 people, the lowest in the country. The state with the highest rate was California, with 1,446 burglaries per 100,000 people.

These figures should not be taken to mean that Californians are more likely to commit burglaries than are North Dakotans.

The fact is that burglary is primarily an urban crime, and is committed primarily by teen-agers. California, like other states with high burglary rates, is fast-growing and has a large tourist industry. States with low burglary rates are predominantly rural and have static or declining populations.

★ ★ ★

The victims of burglary, through carelessness, may be the burglar's most helpful accomplice. Many owners of homes and businesses fail to take even the most elementary measures to protect their property.

The foremost precautions a homeowner or businessman should take is to install proper locks on all outside doors and use them. But many persons fail to do so.

According to F.B.I. statistics, 15 per cent of all 1967 burglaries in the United States involved entry without force. That is, the burglar was able to enter the premises through an unlocked door or window.

★ ★ ★

Hospitality is a fine American trait —but not when it is extended to would-be burglars.

Girl's Best Friend Is Becoming 'Dearer'

A diamond is forever, so they say, but diamond mines may not be.

Consumption of diamonds, both for decorative and industrial purposes, is increasing every year. In 1940, a little over 14 million carats were mined; in 1950—15.2 million; in 1960—28.1 million; in 1967—nearly 43.4 million.

★ ★ ★

"Unless discovery of new deposits keeps pace with depletion of existing ones, diamonds are certain to become scarcer (and more expensive), with the pinch being felt mostly in large stones of fine quality," writes Dr. George Switzer in the trade magazine, Jewelers' Circular-Keystone. Switzer is chairman of the Smithsonian Institution's Department of Mineral Sciences.

Until recently, Africa produced 98 per cent of the world's diamonds. This figure has now dropped to about 84 per cent. Many old mines have been abandoned and an intensive search is under way to find new deposits, in the sea as well as on land.

Russia claims to have two mines in Siberia as rich as those in South Africa. Soviet production in 1967 was estimated at about 15 per cent of the world's total.

Production of man-made diamond grit can be readily stepped up, but synthetic diamonds for certain industrial uses such as drill, tool and die stones are not yet within reach. Neither have synthetic diamond manufacturers succeeded in making gem-quality diamonds.

Campaign Financing Needs Reform

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

There is something more than a hint that in the new 91st Congress that convened yesterday further efforts will be made to reform and revise existing laws to watch over the financing of political campaigns.

DIRKSEN

During the 89th and the 90th Congress, a long, hard and determined effort was made to finance campaigns by having the voters indicate on their income tax returns whether they were willing to have a dollar withdrawn from their tax payments to become part of a fund to finance presidential campaigns.

The proposal did not apply to campaigns for the Senate or the House of Representatives. Had that proposal been approved, it would have yielded millions of dollars to be distributed among the political parties.

★ ★ ★

It did not succeed, however. It is a speculative question whether the effort will be made again.

It is important for us to examine the anatomy of a political campaign.

The candidate's chief task is to energize the party voters and to explain the issues and seek their support. To the task he brings some funds, but never enough to finance the whole cost of the campaign. Hence, the candidate must depend on friends and other contributors for additional money.

The party machinery consists of precinct committeemen, county chairmen, state central committeemen and others devoted to the party cause. Their prime job is to get out the vote.

★ ★ ★

Party workers are dedicated people. They receive no pay for their work, but the work incurs expenses of no small amounts. The party has to find the money to cover such expenses.

Advertising in newspapers, on radio, television and on billboards is the guts of a campaign. To saturate a state with advertising these days really takes a mint; and now that inflation has got in its deadly work, the costs mount even higher.

★ ★ ★

In addition to advertising, there are such items as postage stamps, telephone, telegraph, campaign literature, office rental, payment to office personnel and other necessary costs, none of which comes for free. And, of course, the tremendous cost of travel.

All those items are indispensable to a campaign that hopes for success. The funds to pay for them have to come from somewhere. At best, the candidate can supply but a small portion. The party workers, in the main, are humble, dedicated people who are glad to canvass the precincts and gets the voters to the polls, but their money contributions are small, limited by their own incomes.

The hope is, therefore, that people of means who do not get in and pitch for precinct work and the like will be the source of campaign funds, and rightly so, because their stake in the country is no less than the humblest party worker.

The reform idea is to place a limit on campaign contributions to give a campaign a broader base. But we don't know how long it would take to arrange it, and neither do we know how successful it would be.

★ ★ ★

It is appropriate to intrude two questions at this point. What is the limit of a citizen's legitimate interest in the country and it leaders? Can such interest be expressed in terms of limits on political contributions?

One person may feel that our form of government has given him a good life and that he should contribute $1,000 to his party. Another citizen, who has done exceedingly well under our system, may feel he should contribute as much as $50,000.

It will be very difficult, indeed, to say where the line shall be drawn.

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

Dr. Samuel Belkin, president of Yeshiva University, is one of the great educators of our time. Since he became president 25 years ago he has remained true to his belief that ". . . faith and respect for traditions of a great heritage provide the only map to guiding men toward a creative future."

A native of Poland, where his entire family was lost in the terrors of his homeland during the Nazi regime, Dr. Belkin is a product of two cultures rich in scholarship: first, two traditional centers of Jewish learning in Europe and later Harvard and Brown University, where he received his Ph.D. degree. He is a prolific writer and a noted authority on Jewish law and Hellenistic literature. His activities have been many—not only locally but nationally and internationally as well. He was one of six outstanding college presidents selected by the U.S. State Department in 1957 to tell the Russian people about the purposes of higher education in America. Dr. Belkin's faith and concepts have given young people much they will need for tomorrow's world.

He says: "Only through an educational system which seeks to develop better men and not merely better technicians can we hope to develop a civilization where men of all faiths can live in harmony dedicated to a brotherhood of man and fatherhood of God."

He continues: "Man should worship God, not his fellow man. But when man renders service to his fellow man, by helping to restore his dignity, his pride and his natural physical and intellectual endowments he automatically worships and serves God, in whose image man was made."

Confident Living:

Learn the Art of Relaxed Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Millions of men and women suffer from nervous tension. It impedes their efforts in life, saps their vitality. Chronic tension is a major factor in heart trouble and other serious body ailments. It is even said by some to be the number one killer of our time. But a person can escape the ravages of tension. Even in our hectic day and age there are ways to live relaxed.

DR. PEALE

Like so many others I too have had trouble with tension. And in the course of learning to handle it I have had some curious experiences. I remember one such incident as vividly as though it were yesterday.

★ ★ ★

It happened during the Great Depression. The radio newscasts in those days were enough to give anybody nervous jitters. And one night I could not get to sleep. I had listened to the late news just before going to bed, and the things I had heard kept bothering me. I felt restless and tense.

★ ★ ★

Finally I got up and wandered into the living room. I sank exhausted into an easy chair. On a table at my side I noticed a pamphlet — the kind put out by insurance companies. Mechanically I picked it up. I started leafing through it — and came to a drawing which caught my attention.

★ ★ ★

It showed a big finger pointing to the word YOU. The YOU was repeated several times, growing in bigger and bigger size, spreading across the page. It seemed to hurtle toward the reader, climaxing in a gigantic YOU! And the caption said: "YOU are nervous! YOU are tense! YOU cannot sleep!"

"How in the world," I thought, "did you know!"

I read on. "I am going to tell you some important secrets. Follow these techniques and you can get relief from tension . . .

"First is to relax your body. Sit utterly inert. Yield your body so completely that if the chair were pulled out from under you, you would drop inertly to the floor. Now stretch your feet out as far as you can and the toes even farther, because tension gets into the extremities . . .

★ ★ ★

"Lift your hand and let it fall upon your knee and rest there like a wet leaf on a log." Ever see anything more relaxed than a wet leaf on a log? "Rest the back of your neck against the back of the chair and let your head roll gently from side to side, to ease the tension that accumulates in the neck muscles . . . And now, with your head still, raise your eyes, look upward, then pretend that there are little weights on your eyelids and let them pull your eyes slowly shut . . ."

I followed these directions and felt a relaxing effect.

★ ★ ★

I read on. "And now that you have your body relaxed, you must now relax your mind. You can do that by utilizing imagination. Just take off in imagination . . . far away. Go away somewhere, to some tranquil place. Enjoy the beauty and peace of it."

★ ★ ★

I felt refreshed in mind and heart. An uplifting calm pervaded my being.

★ ★ ★

Relaxed living is an art. You have to use techniques that affect the whole of you—your body, mind and soul. And you have to practice them consistently. But it sure pays off.

Uphold Spacemen's Right to Have Prayer in Space

I heard on the news of a woman that showed disgust for the spacemen having prayer in space. What is the matter with this person? She has her privilege of disbelief and we have ours of believing in God. I wonder what action could be taken to have this person deported or banned from the U.S.

★ ★ ★

We've come a long way since the first people settled in the U.S. In fact, we're on our way downhill. We are headed for ruin. Less than a century ago people would not have listened to such talk. What has happened to the God-fearing people that came across the ocean—too much prosperity.

Comments on Charges of Police Brutality

It seems every time I open the paper or turn on the television, some law officer has been charged with brutality. If something isn't done to stop these punks, parents backing them up, and politicians sticking their noses in, I predict in four years they are going to be in a s.. ' state. I wouldn't want my husband to be a policeman. They could do a better job if the politicians would leave them alone.

When obscenity, immorality and subversive speakers are allowed on campuses, especially of universities which are supported by the taxpayers and parents, someone should investigate.

Question and Answer

Year after year Pontiac Motor gives progress reports concerning the eventual elimination of the harmful, nauseating fumes coming from its northside foundry, yet year after year that same foundry continues to spew its filthy dust over all of Pontiac. How much longer will this pollution of our city continue?

LEWIS R. HAYNER

REPLY

Some of it will be eliminated this month, according to Mr. Phinney at Pontiac Motor Division. The first phase of the new program is being put into operation, with new electric arc furnaces and dust collectors. These will be evaluated to see if they're doing the job they're supposed to do and the Division expects to have eliminated virtually all its air pollution by 1973. Mr. Phinney explained that it is a long process because equipment to remove pollution must be installed while the foundry is in operation.

Washington Notebook:

Science Seeks to Silence Snorers

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Sound-battered wives of the nation's snorers, take heart. National Institutes of Health and a Florida professor may team up to take the thunder out of the slumber and the braying out of the bedroom.

Sometime in February or March, Dr. Marcus Boulware of Florida A&M plans to ask NIH for a $100,000 grant to study shoring.

"There are approximately 150 recent studies on sleeping," said the doctor, "but I know of none directly concerned with the problem of snoring itself."

Not one to let sleeping dogs lie, Boulware says he would base his research on two major plans of attack: (1) study of nonmedical procedures to still the snorer, and (2) study of the use of earplugs for the snoree, which is the one kept awake by the noise.

Nonmedical procedures could include steps ranging from use of phonetic exercises for firming up muscles that keep the mouth closed, to anti-snoring devices. The latter, as described by Boulware, seem to promise all the sleeping comfort of an Indian fakir's bed of nails.

★ ★ ★

There is the possibility, for example, of a mouth restrainer that fits in the mouth and prevents the tongue from slipping back and depressing the air outlet channel, a prime noisemaker. Also under consideration is a chin strap that keeps your mouth closed so breathing is done through the nose all night (leaving hopes that your nasal spray is good for the duration).

And there is a body restrainer that keeps the potential snorer on his side instead of on his back, which is where the trouble starts.

★ ★ ★

That may sound like a heavy price to pay for the sin of having a little flappy tissue. But the costs of snoring may also be high if as Boulware suggests, a snoring husband, or wife, or both, in a marriage may contribute to the divorce rate.

A snoring study might determine how often the family that brays together, stays together.

A Christmas Carol with all churches invited to participate, as well as anyone wishing to sing Christmas carols, took place Dec. 23 in downtown Pontiac.

Streets were icy and the wind bitter but carolers marched from First Methodist Church to the YMCA carrying lanterns as they sang.

★ ★ ★

Men, women and children joined in what is to be an annual affair.

★ ★ ★

The Christmas Carol Parade was sponsored by the Pontiac Pastor's Association.

HINGHAM, Mass. (UPI) — The Old Ship Church here is considered the oldest surviving church in the 13 colonies and is the only 17th century church in New England.

Campus Crusade

Young People at Conference

Several young people of the Pontiac area attended the Campus Crusade for Christ, International Conference at Marriott Motor Hotel in Chicago, Ill. Dec. 26 through Monday.

These included Jeannie Armbruster, JoAnn Fields, Roger Putnam, Gaynell Rice, Debbie Sibley and Sharman Vessels.

★ ★ ★

Campus Crusade meets at 10 a.m. every Wednesday in Oakland Center, Oakland University. There is a special speaker once a month.

Bill Linke, youth director of Five Points Community Church, works with students at OU. All students are invited to sessions.

★ ★ ★

According to Jim Green, regional director, the conference was attended by 750 students from the Big Ten colleges and universities as well as other schools in the North Central region.

The convention is one of six held during the Christmas holidays on the North American continent by Campus Crusade. Other locations are Chula Vista, Mex.; Washington, D.C.; Sun Valley, Idaho; San Bernardino, Calif.; and Atlanta, Ga.

CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT

"Campus Crusade is an interdenominational Christian Student Movement offering a practical approach to students' everyday problems through a personal relationship with the person of Jesus Christ, Green said.

★ ★ ★

"The purpose of the five-day convention was to train students how to experience a practical Christian life and then to challenge them to be part of a positive solution rather than part of the problems."

★ ★ ★

Green continued to say "Since society is made up of individuals, it will never really change unless individual lives are changed. We believe that as Christ changes people from the inside, they can then be part of a positive solution to the problems of the world."

The wise man will make more opportunities than he finds.—Sir Francis Bacon, English philosopher.

Mrs. Guzman fashioned the lantern from a milk carton, painted it pink, inserted a candle on a screw at the bottom of the carton and she marched from First Methodist Church to the YMCA singing Christmas carols along the way. The Pontiac Pastors' Association sponsored the event.

Dress to Suit Your Age, Figure

According to one well known American designer, all fashion is getting younger.

You may be too young to remember when fashion wasn't as "young" as it's come to be, inclusive of short skirts.

If you aren't a youngster, you need the assurance that those who create trends often start by exaggerating to make a point. Otherwise, it would take longer than the usual five years to accustom our eyes to an emphatic change.

Assuming you were reluctant to adopt the overblouse dress or chemise and are now loath to give up either, you can understand the way fashion works.

Keep in mind the observation that a well dressed woman looks happy in the clothes of her time. This doesn't mean she looks inappropriately-dressed. It does mean she's done some experimenting, kept an open mind, and cared enough about her appearance to find her version of this or that fashion.

Young and well-mannered (if that's the phrase occuring to you) clothes are always yours for first-hand looking.

You may not read about them in headlines or see them on television. But shop in your favorite stores and you'll discover that fashion never changes in one respect. It's always for everybody.

★ ★ ★

Hemlines can be let down. Belts are in again but remain optional. Sleeves are as prevalent as no sleeves. And pants aren't cause for panic. Fashion has come around to paper, but not, to put it mildly, to the exclusion of fabric. The same can be said of pants versus skirts.

FIGURE

Fashion models just seem to be able to wear everything. Actually, their figures are as unlike as yours and mine. Spending more time trying on clothes than wearing them, models find out faster than the average person what they wear best.

Such specifics as your height, the length of your waistline, the length of your legs, and the number of your birthdays are more important for some clothes than for others.

So, too, is whether you have a short or long neck, a small or full bosom, and thin, medium-pretty, or extremely pretty arms and legs.

★ ★ ★

Just as books on interior decoration can give you an idea or two for your own purposes, fashion shows are worth watching. But what you need most of the time is enthusiasm and a full length mirror.

The answer as to whether you will wear what's new will often change with a decided change in fashion — as you see more and more women accepting the change.

Don't change your mind because you can't turn down a wonderful buy. Talk yourself into paying more for whatever you are sure is worth it, but never less for what raises a doubt. As for what is worth paying more, it could be a superior fabric, a longer period of wearability, or an effect.

Annual Gala at Cranbrook Slated Monday

Cranbrook's traditional Twelfth Night Gala will take place Monday in Cranbrook House. Hours are from 8 to 11 p.m.

Guests include members of the faculties and staffs of the Cranbrook institutions, the Institute for Advanced Pastoral Studies and the Cranbrook Theater School; present board members of the Cranbrook institutions, Cranbrook Music Guild, St. Dunstan's Guild, board members of the Studio Council of the Art Academy and some retired employes.

The exact theme of the evening is always secret but it is known there will be mummery and a reenactment of the Christmas story. Henry S. Booth, chairman of the board of trustees of The Cranbrook Foundation and youngest son of Cranbrook's founders, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Booth, will read the Christmas story from the Gospels according to St. Luke and St. Matthew.

Veryzer (head, design department, Cranbrook Academy of Art); Mrs. Donald Heise and Mrs. Donald Roberts (Brookside School Cranbrook); Richard Mosher (Cranbrook School); Mrs. Richard Ritter (Cranbrook Institute of Science); Ruth Edberg and Douglas Leiberman (Kingswood School Cranbrook); Mrs. Katherine Stafford (Music Guild); Mogens Klopp (St. Dunstan's Guild), and Mrs. Paul Wheaton (Theater School).

His Wild Oats Costing More Than Bargained For

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Believe it or not, my husband makes $35,000 a year, but we are so broke he has considered leaving his body to a medical school to save the expense of a funeral.

The reason Freddy is so broke is because he was married twice before and he has to support three families. So now he is throwing a small fortune away on wives and children he never sees. It is like buying oats for a dead horse.

I don't say he should let his ex-wives and children starve to death, but both his ex-wives are staying single and bleeding him for all he's worth, just to be mean.

How can Freddy get the alimony and support money reduced? Don't tell us to ask a lawyer. If it weren't for lawyers we wouldn't be this broke.

"HARD UP" IN HOLLYWOOD

DEAR HARD UP: When you want legal advice, your best bet is still a lawyer. The "horses" for whom Freddy is buying oats are still very much alive. And when a man changes "horses" three times, he had better have enough "oats" to stock Santa Anita. It looks like you picked a losing oat-burner, Kiddo.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Whoever said teen-age years were the happiest didn't know what they were talking about. I am 13 and I am not the least bit happy. Let me explain.

I can't date.
I can't wear heels.
I can't wear lipstick (even pale pink).
I can't wear nail polish (any kind).
I can't shave my legs.
I can't wear short or slacks.
I can't wear low-back dresses.
I can't listen to the radio or watch TV when I want to.
I can't stay overnight at anybody's house.

Had enough? Well, I have. I told my mother that she will regret it some day. And she will, too. I've been thinking of running away. I would, but I don't have any place to go. Please tell me what to do. I don't deserve this.

SICK OF BEING BOSSED

★ ★ ★

DEAR SICK: Your mother is probably sick, too—of being battled. The things you would like to do are privileges teen-agers earn by showing they are mature enough to handle them.

★ ★ ★

One of the first signs of maturity is the ability to accept a decision without putting up an argument. Accept your mother's decisions for a while, and see what happens.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for telling the wife of a Mason to quit pestering her husband for "secrets" of the lodge or she'd lose her Mason by degrees.

★ ★ ★

In the first place, Masonry is NOT a secret society. Everything one would want to know about the organization, its principles and teachings can be found in the public library. The only things which a member may not disclose are the signs, grips and means of recognition.

★ ★ ★

My mother was against my joining the Masons at first, but when she learned that Masonic work benefits the wives and families even more than its members, and in every degree, the admonition of a member's duties is "to God, your family, your country and yourself," she was proud that I had joined.

Outdoor Games Spoil Joy of Owning Home

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: We have just purchased a home in a nice suburb after living in a noisy section of the city. It seems the previous owner of our house was quite chummy with one of our next-door neighbors.

★ ★ ★

The next-door neighbor and the previous owner agreed to the neighbor's tying an outdoor spotlight on a tree on our land so all of the men would be able to play horseshoes in the evening all summer long. My husband and I don't want the light on our tree or all the men in the neighborhood in our yard all summer.

★ ★ ★

I'm afraid we wouldn't be able to entertain our friends, go to sleep early or fully enjoy this big investment.

We want to handle the situation tactfully. What do you suggest? — Louise

★ ★ ★

Dear Louise: You have every right to use your yard as you wish, but if you want to remain friendly with your neighbors you'll have to use a great deal of tact.

★ ★ ★

I suggest that you think of something specific you would like to do with that piece of your property and then say to your neighbors: "We really had planned a rock garden (or playground, or whatever) for this corner — would you mind very much moving your horseshoe pit to your own yard?" Then proceed to do what you have said you planned.

If they move the pit, they will probably move the light too, since it will no longer be in the right place.

SHOWER

Dear Mrs. Post: Several weeks ago I received an invitation to participate in a "parcel post" shower for my neice. She lives easily within driving distance. I wondered whether this "parcel post shower" was proper. — Mrs. Olsen

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Olsen: Showers, as I have said so often, should be friendly gatherings with as much emphasis on an intimate social occasion as on the gifts. A "parcel post" shower for my niece. She "loot" but it certainly ignores the social aspect.

Ordinarily those obligated to bring a gift are pleasantly entertained in return. In the shower suggestion mentioned the obligation is there — with no reward.

Leather Fabric Newest Offering in Synthetic Field

A striking new fabric — embroidered cotton leather — will be offered for home sewing use this spring.

The National Cotton Council reports that the coated cotton leather comes embroidered in several different designs.

There's a bold plaid design, a paisley, and a number of florals, including a border pattern.

★ ★ ★

One unusual version has the cotton leather cut out in diamond shapes, then embroidered to a backing of duck. This fabric has been made into a stunning all-weather coat by one manufacturer.

The new embroidered leather is said to be both washable and dry-cleanable. Moreover, it's lightweight and recommended for easy sewing.

Food Tastes Acquired

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE H-546: Susan B., aged 8, is puzzled.

"Dr. Crane," she asked, "what did the Pilgrims eat?

"Did they have breakfast food like mine?

"Or bananas and oranges?"

No; the Pilgrims were limited chiefly to bread and a little meat, at least until the American Indians enlarged their menu.

DR. CRANE

For example, the white potato was entirely unknown in the rest of the world till long after Columbus discovered America.

And Europeans were so hostile to the potato when it finally was introduced there, that the British clergy thundered against it from their pulpits.

★ ★ ★

They said potatoes were poison and would sterilize the ground until nothing else would ever grow thereon.

It wasn't even till 1719 that potatoes were first grown by the white man in New England and this was almost a century after the Pilgrims landed.

Other distinctly American menu items that had been unknown to the rest of the world until after 1492, were the peanut, plus field corn and popcorn, as well as turkeys.

Tobacco was also an American product.

When the Indians came to celebrate that famous Thanksgiving Day in 1621, they brought corn, venison, fish and turkeys.

And the Indians taught the early colonists how to plant and cultivate corn, placing a dead fish in each hill at the time of planting ot add fertilizer thereto.

Cornbread soon became the major part of the pioneer menu, but corn was very reluctantly adopted in Europe.

The shorter growing season there had hampered its becoming a popular farm product, though potatoes ultimately became a staple item of the food supply of Ireland (Irish potato), Germany and France.

Even in current times, the Germans showed reluctance to sweetcorn.

In 1947, my brother brought a German boy to America to help combat his malnutrition.

And this boy refused sweetcorn, saying that corn was for pigs and thus Americans were belittling the Europeans by trying to feed them corn.

Since the Pilgrims were poor farm people, they did not have access to the raisins, grapes, oranges, bananas, figs or any other of the tropical delicacies then chiefly menu items reserved for royalty.

In fact, in those first tragic winters when starvation threatened, they would gnaw the bark of trees and even chew leather moccasins for a few calories of nourishment.

As a result, that first Thanksgiving Day was basically a religious event to offer thanks to the Almighty for the fact they now had a good crop of Indian corn and thus would survive the next New England winter in good shape.

Even in this year of 1968, millions will die of starvation in China, India and other nations where our "free enterprise" system is not in vogue to offer incentive for the progress that produces our bountiful food surpluses.

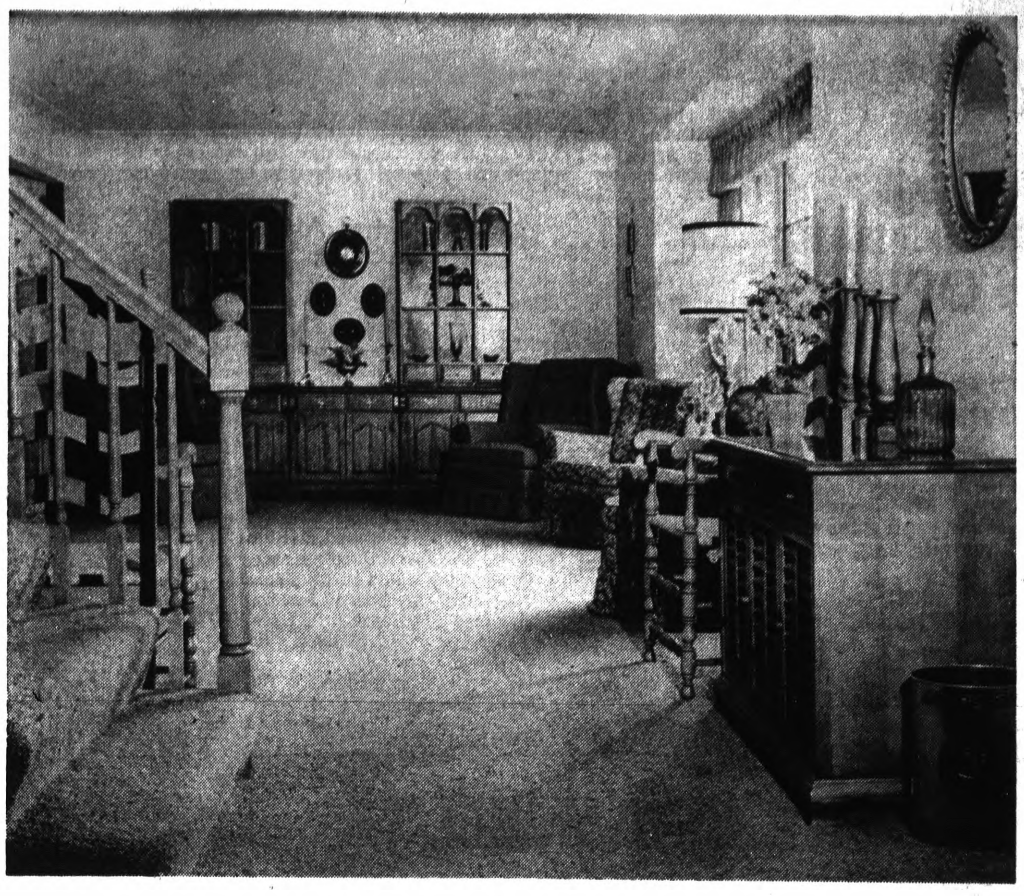
A Cheery Fire Crackles In Fruitwood-Paneled Family-Room Fireplace



Baby Spoons Mounted On Framed Black Ovals In Living Room Grouping

An Atmosphere of Welcome

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Heirlooms and contemporized adaptations of Early Americana blend happily to create an atmosphere of welcome and warmth in the Oakland Township colonial of the E. Lee Parkers.

"The clock on the landing," said Mrs. Parker, leading from the foyer into the formal living room, "belonged to my great grandfather. It's over 125 years old. And the smell of wood smoke still clings to the case."

Carpeted in a rich green twist, the living room features pale green walls and mist-green antique satin draperies.

Matching gold wingbacks flank the distressed maple grouping on the end wall which includes a showing of crystal pieces that belonged to Mrs. Parker's great-grandmother.

OPEN HUTCHES

Grouped between the arrangement's two open hutches are a tole clock, baby spoons mounted in black ovals, crystal candlesticks and a green floral display in a pedestal container.

Twin button-backs in a green, gold, brown and rust print share the room's modified bay with an octagon table topped by an eagle lamp.

In the adjoining dining room, an Early-American print in green-on-off-white dresses the wall above the pale green dado.

Living green accents are introduced in the white milk glass planter centering the oval spoon-legged table. Deep green candles in milk glass candlesticks complete the centerpiece. Lighting the area is a polished-brass drop fixture with hurricane chimneys.

PAUSE TIME

The crackling fire in the nearby family room invites family and guests alike to pause and warm themselves on the cheery hearth. Paneled in fruitwood, the room is floored in a polished oak parquet.

On either end of the moss green wingback sofa are drop-leaf maple tables lighted by matching polished brass lamps. The Della Robbia wreath above the sofa adds bright color interest to the room's autumn-toned color theme.

Adjusting Blinds Can Produce Rewarding Effect

Is your home light-poor?

No matter how sumptuously or sparsely your home or apartment is furnished, you can do a lot for its appearance and for your frame of mind by making the most out of natural lighting opportunities.

According to Eleanor Kandel, a light control specialist for the Flexalum Division of Alcan Aluminum Corporation, adjusting venetian blinds during different times of the day can produce interesting and rewarding lighting effects without additional cost.

★ ★ ★

For example, when the sun shines on a window, do not close the venetians completely, but adjust them so that they deflect the light into interesting shadow patterns that play on floor and walls. As the angle of the sun changes, so do the shadow patterns.

When the sun goes away from the window, blinds should be pulled all the way up bringing the outdoor view in with the window border serving as a picture frame. Finally, when darkness falls, the blinds should be lowered and closed tightly for privacy and to turn attention indoors.

A new development, continental venetians with narrower louver achieve a lighter, airier effect that creates new possibilities for interior artificial lighting.

GRACIOUS LIVING—American Heritage Apartments has electric heat installed in its nine buildings. The system has been found to be maintenance free, inexpensive to operate, clean, safe and provides instant response to a call for heat.

All-Electric Award

Edison Honors Twelve

Owners of 12 total electric commercial establishments were honored by Detroit Edison at a recent dinner party.

Appropriately, it was held in the new all-electric Kingsley Inn Annex in Bloomfield Hills. Each of the 12 businesses were presented with a bronze plaque of the All-Electric Building Award by Thomas J. Peterson, assistant vice president for Edison.

Peterson stated that the All-Electric Building Award is only presented to those owners whose buildings qualified electrically to receive it. Such buildings must be "all electric" with heating, lighting, water heating cooking, air conditioning, and any other needed services provided by electricity. Lighting intensities, water heating requirements, heating and air conditioning requirements must meet standards set up by the electric industry for the award.

Peterson stated, "The fact that the award has been presented means the building bears a hallmark of electrical excellence in electrical construction and design."

The program was launched by The Edison Electric Institute in 1964.

Recipients were: Beauty Rite Homes, Waterford Township; T.V. Station WXON-Channel 62, Walled Lake; American Heritage Apartments, Waterford Township; Pine Knob Food Town Market, Independence Township; and West Bloomfield United Methodist Church, Orchard Lake.

Others included Kingsley Inn Annex, Bloomfield Hills; Cates Electric Company, Royal Oak; Oakdale Electrical Construction Company, Rochester; Oakland National Bank, Southfield; Madison Clinic, Madison Heights; Turner Engineering Company, Southfield; and Lincoln Center Annex, Oak Park.

Aluminum Acquired a New Look

Aluminum has acquired a new look. It isn't necessarily silver-colored any longer.

★ ★ ★

It's gold, copper-colored, bronze, black, white, pastels or one of a great variety of colors developed by an industry attentive to changing tastes.

★ ★ ★

For women who think shiny metal is too cold, the aluminum industry has responded with such exotic innovations as "anodizing" and "integral color as well as special coatings such as porcelain enamel."

★ ★ ★

Then there are imaginative textures — leather, woodgrain — and composits — vinyl, wood veneer, cloth, paper.

SYMBOL

It has become so difficult to recognize aluminum beneath all these fashionable exteriors that the aluminum industry has developed a graphics symbol to help people out.

★ ★ ★

It's called the mark of aluminum, a triangular device in black and red on a field of foil. It carries the word "aluminum" in combination with various modifiers: "care free aluminum," "aluminum coookware" and others. It is used to identify the products as made of aluminum.

★ ★ ★

The symbol is applied on packaging, as gummed labels or hang tags and in other forms. It is sponsored by The Aluminum Association, the industry-wide trade group.

Follow Directions

Always follow the manufacturers directions when painting.

The finish will be the best possible and you will be spared the possible headache and added expense of a paint failure.

Forest Acts as Model in Architecture

Throughout the ages, classic architectural forms have been inspired by the structure of the forest.

Trunks and branches of trees served as the original models for columns and arches of earlier cultures.

This influence still lingers. In fact — with modern techniques — the form and feeling of the forest have been recaptured in homes and other buildings with a clarity unrivaled by the past Modern design dramatizes the intangible qualities of wood that stir human emotions. Timber engineering and lumber lamination have freed designers from restrictions once imposed by the size of the tree. This has injected the warmth of wood into large clear-span buildings.

With the laminating process, one and two inch thick lumber are bonded with powerful adhesives and built up into arches, beams or columns of any desired shape and size. Clear spans of several hundred feet have been obtained with glued laminated arches.

TIMBER ARCHES

Giant timber arches under a sweeping canopy of wood roof decking support and decorate most modern churches and many schools, stores and sports arenas. The effect is inspirational. The soaring timbers create an impression not unlike that of majestic trees.

Specialists Launch Educational Series

Absentee landowners owning private recreational lands in Michigan will have an opportunity to improve their knowledge on managing their investment through a four-session series, reports William F. Muller, Oakland County Agricultural agent.

Each Monday evening in January, specialists from Michigan State University and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will present programs designed to help the landowner manage his lands for timber production, water quality control, improved fish and wildlife habitat, and where and how the investor can seek help from public agencies in the counties where his land is located.

The meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the supervisors' room of the Oakland County Service Center, 1200 N. Telegraph.

* * *

Monday night, Dr. Clifford Humphrys, MSU water research professor, will discuss riparian rights, procedures to gain assistance in water management, possible solutions through lake and stream associations or private action, solving problems in impounded bodies of water and methods of protection for the owner.

* * *

James Neal, MSU district natural resource agent, and Alfred Phillips, district forester, will share the Jan. 13 program on Forestry Management.

Jan. 20, the program on Federal and Public Assistance Available to Landowners will be handled by Arthur Loveness, Oakland County Agricultural Conservation Service, and Ellis Humphrey, U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

The final program, Jan. 27, to be presented by Howard Green, game management supervisor for Michigan department of natural resources, will deal with the improvement of fish and wildlife habitats.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Muller at the Oakland County Extension Office, 155 N. Saginaw.

Organic Growers to Meet Thursday

Carl Ogren of Allegan will address the Organic Farm and Garden Club of Royal Oak Thursday at 7:45 p.m. in the Royal Oak Woman's Club, 404 S. Pleasant at Fourth, Royal Oak.

His topic, "Homesteading—The Trend of Self Sufficiency," will deal with the possibilities of producing all fruits and vegetables needed by an individual family.

Refreshments and a social hour will follow the public meeting.

'69 Parade of Homes Opened by Builders

Grand opening of the 1969 Parade of Idea Homes and Apartments is scheduled for today.

Twenty homes and apartments have been finished and furnished by well-known builders in the metropolitan area for the opening, a traditional prelude to the Builders Home, Furniture and Flower Show at Cobo Hall which will open Feb. 22 and run through Sunday, March 2.

The Idea Home Parade is linked to the $20,000 give-away at the show. As in other years, a plastic model of one of the homes, filled with thousands of nails of all sizes, will be unveiled in mid-January. The person who estimates nearest to the number of nails in the little house gets $20,000 in cash or may use it as a down payment on one of the Idea Homes or an apartment.

The Idea Homes this year carry price tags up to more than $60,000. Hours when the homes will be open from day to day vary, but generally the opening time is about noon through the rest of the day and into the evening.

The Idea Home parade is sponsored by the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit, which also is the sponsor of the 1969 Builders Home, Furniture and Flower Show at Cobo Hall. That show, largest exhibition coming to Cobo Hall in 1969, is expected to attract a half million persons during the 10 days from opening to the closing night.

Alter Garage to Get More Living Space

One of the most practical ways to add living space to a house is to convert an attached garage.

The basic structure is already there, and the finishing work can be done economically with wall, ceiling and floor materials that the home craftsman can handle readily.

* * *

The biggest problem may appear to be how to replace the unsightly garage door. But stock wood windows of ponderosa pine will solve that one.

* * *

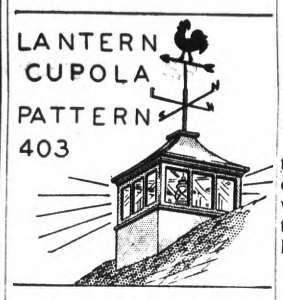
A wide choice of attractive styles — double-hungs, casements, bows and bays, sliders, awnings and hoppers, which combine view and ventilation — are available from lumber dealers.

DOOR

If a door is needed, choose a style that matches the house design. Ponderosa pine panel doors and complete entrances are carried in many stock sizes and styles. They're chemically-treated against weather abuse.

* * *

For interior walls, wood paneling with stain or natural finishes is offered in unbelievable variety. Compare types carefully to help you choose one that is genuine and warm.



FLIP THE SWITCH and light will shine in the cupola of your garage or breezeway. Pattern 403 shows making the cupola with stock-size basement windows also how to fit it to the pitch of your roof. There is even a full-size cutting guide for the roofing and directions for the lighting. This pattern is 50 cents. It also is one of four patterns in the Indoor-Outdoor Assortment Paeket No. 63 for $1.50.

The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 50, New Windsor, N.Y. 12550.

Now Less Mess

A new model electric range has been developed that will simplify messy top-of-the-stove cleaning. Cooking elements are placed under a ceramic-glass counter top that transmits heat to pots and pans. Spills and stains are just washed off the glass.

Touch-Up Your Floors

In your home heavy holiday traffic has undoubtedly taken its toll of your wood floors. You can tell for sure if you notice lots of new scratches, and if the floors are harder than ever to keep clean.

★ ★ ★

Maybe you're putting off doing something about it 'cause you dread the thought of complete refinishing. Chances are it's not necessary, that a relatively simple touch-up will do the trick. How do you know which?

★ ★ ★

Unless the finish is worn right through to the bare wood or unless there's severe darkening, excessive peeling or warping, simple renewal will be sufficient.

★ ★ ★

First remove all wax, grease, dirt and other contamination using any powdered water-soluable wax remover as directed.

★ ★ ★

Next hand-sand any stubborn stains remaining after cleaning. Then apply a uniform coat of clear finish preferably a brand or type expressly formulated to restore worn floors without sanding.

DEALERS

Your neighborhood paint, hardware, lumber or building supply dealer is the place to go for advice in selecting the right product for the job, whether it's a touch-up or complete refinishing.

★ ★ ★

Ask your dealer for a free copy of "HOW TO FINISH WOOD FLOORS" a comprehensive 24-page illustrated manual covering all phases of the subject.

A bleak blank wall converted . . . by a minister . . . to one breathing warmth, comfort and beauty. He installed prefinished hardboard paneling in a rich cherry woodgrain pattern and added an insulated, metal fireplace unit. Panels were put up quickly with a cartridge-type adhesive. Vinyl-clad moldings that match the paneling give the installation a finished appearance. Using paneling scraps, the handyman preacher also built a neat firelog box, shown in foreground.

Stairwell Pantry Brings Storage Nearer Kitchen

A stairwell pantry has the advantages of being near the kitchen and using otherwise wasted space.

★ ★ ★

If the pantry follows the pattern of the stair risers, reaching from the treads to an accessible height, it will serve to screen the basement side of the stairway and be a safety measure. Instead, it may be a large, shallow cabinet, rising from the lower part of the wall.

★ ★ ★

The wall-hung pantry consists of a perimenter framework, shelves of six or eight-inch lumber and two or more sets of sliding doors. Canned goods and large boxes of supplies will be as handy to the homemaker here as in the lower reaches of cabinets.

★ ★ ★

Sliding doors may be prefinished hardboard in a handsome woodgrain pattern. These quarter-inch-thick panels require no framing and they'll slide in metal tracks. They'll keep the pantry's contests dust-free and readily accessible.

MATCHING

Stain or paint the wood trim to match the woodgrain selected.

Minister Livens Blank Wall

There's nothing bleaker than a blank wall. A young minister and his family, finding this situation in the living room of the old manse they were to occupy, decided to make an improvement.

It was really quite simle, the couple said, except for the 8½-foot-high ceiling and the 20-foot-long expanse unrelieved by any architectural elements. By consulting their lumber dealer, however, they were able to come up with a modernization that has members of the congregation exclaiming, "Why wasn't this done long ago!"

★ ★ ★

Rather than remove an ornate, 6-inch cove molding, the couple decided to refinish it in white and use a prefinished hardboard paneling in a traditional cherry woodgrain, to cover the much-painted and often-patched plaster wall.

RELIEF PLANNED

They weren't expecting to just alter the drab appearance by using the handsome woodgrained paneling, however. Some relief from the monotony of a 20-foot expanse of wall was essential.

"For adding warmth and appearance, we decided to have a prebuilt metal fireplace," said the young pastor. "We selected a unit that had style, a good room-warming potential and safety features, including insulation and a built-in screen.

"The elevated hearth was another feature we liked, and the unit was finished in white so it would be a pleasing contrast with the warm beauty of the new walls."

★ ★ ★

A carpenter member of the congregation volunteered his services in putting up the paneling. Working with him, the minister found the job simple because they used a waterproof cartridge-type adhesive rather than nails. This eliminated much work as well as the need for setting nails, filling nail holes and then touching up.

Their job was lightened still more because they used vinyl clad wood moldings, which matched the Royalcote cherry panels. These, too, were applied with the new adhesive, which is moisture-proof and tenacious but allows time for positioning.

"We're immensely pleased with the result of our project, and so are the parishioners," the minister commented. "It's amazing what can be done with a little imagination, persuasion and work. We now have a beautiful wall that requires no maintenance except occasional dusting."

Privacy Screen of Louver Doors Easy to Build

A pretty and practical privacy screen can be made from four narrow stock louver doors of ponderosa pine.

The doors can be obtained in many sizes — ready for finishing and hinging — at local lumber dealers. They can be painted any color or simply stained or varnished.

Hinges should be placed at the top, middle and bottom of each door in a way that will permit the finished screen to be folded like an accordion.

Since louver doors are lighter than regular doors, moving is no problem.

Rooftop Resort

The prohibitively high price of land didn't keep a Maryland builder from providing his apartment tenants with an Olympic-sized swimming pool, a diving pool, two tennis courts, and paddle ball and badminton facilities. He installed them on the roof of the 18-story building.

LBJ Exit Costs Dems Their Whipping Boy

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many people are wondering how well Richard Nixon, as a Republican president, will get along with the Democratic Congress.

WEST

I believe that for a couple of years at least everything will be hunky if not downright dory.

★ ★ ★

Bear in mind that the amount of influence a congressman wields depends primarily upon his own ability —his ability to get reelected.

A senator or representative may not be born great, or achieve greatness. But if he is reelected for enough terms, he will eventually have greatness thrust upon him.

2 WAYS TO EXERCISE

Once acquired, greatness can be exercised in two ways:

- By promoting the passage of legislation the president opposes.
- By preventing the passage of legislation the president has endorsed.

Democrats who control the House and Senate have suddenly realized that after Jan. 20 they will no longer be able to thwart and frustrate Lyndon Johnson.

They could, of course, thwart and frustrate Nixon. But thwarting and frustrating an opposition president is never as much fun as thwarting and frustrating a political ally.

POINT ILLUSTRATED

The leadership fights that preceded the opening of Congress this year illustrate this point. It now appears likely that congressional Democrats will devote most their energies to thwarting and frustrating each other.

Republicans, on the other hand, are relatively united. Being the minority party, they realize they must work together in order to thwart and frustrate Nixon.

As matters now stand, any program Nixon offers is certain to create huge waves of dissent across the nation. Under such conditions, GOP unity in Congress will tend to break down.

A committee chairman can easily sidetrack a bill that has broad public support. But if protests against the measure begin to mount, there is strong pressure to bring it to a vote.

As long as the country remains as divided as it is now, many of Nixon's proposals will have a good chance of slipping through.

Navy Explains Transfer of Inspector in Thai Fuel Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said Friday it terminated the overseas assignment of a civilian inspector whose information revealed massive fuel thefts from U.S. military supplies in Thailand because military authorities decided his presence in Bangkok was "prejudicial to the interests of the United States."

The inspector, John McGee, was transferred to the Navy Fuel Supply Office near Washington as General Accounting Office investigators were drafting their report on the thefts. The report was released this week by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

★ ★ ★

It said bribery, forgery, collusion and government laxity led to the theft of at least 5.5 million gallons of fuel intended for U.S. operations in Thailand, where hundreds of planes employed in the Vietnam war are based.

The GAO said, however, that the thefts were so widespread it was unable to calculate the full extent of the loss to the government.

NAVY REPLY

In its reply Friday, the Navy claimed McGee's supervisor, Arlie Rankin, initiated "investigations into irregularities of handling petroleum products in Thailand . . . in January 1966," more than a year before McGee arrived in Bangkok.

Rankin's reports led to investigations by the Air Force Office of Special Investigation, the Navy said. "The GAO investigation did not uncover any substantive new elements in the pilferage case that had not been reported previously by Mr. Rankin and-or the OSI investigators," it added.

★ ★ ★

The OSI reports, however, were never made public, and the Air Force refused this week to release them.

The Navy, in explaining its transfer of McGee, referred to grievances he had brought in response to Navy personnel action against him, and said McGee requested it. McGee flatly denied it.

'MAXIMUM PROTECTION'

"It was decided that both his interests and those of the government would be best served by ordering him to the Alexandria, Va. office so that he would be available for presentation of his case at the headquarters level," the Navy said. "This would insure him of maximum benefits and protection of his rights."

To support its contention that McGee had asked for the transfer, the Navy cited only two letters he had written asking for the right to personally present his case, and then conceded that "a personal presentation does not necessarily have to be made at the headquarters level."

★ ★ ★

The Navy also denied that McGee was moved on short notice, saying "Notice of this intended transfer was sent to Mr. McGee on Nov. 4. Orders calling for him to report to his new post in the United States were issued Nov. 13 and "were delivered to Mr. McGee in Bangkok by his supervisor" on Nov. 19 — three days before he was notified that his household effects would be packed the following day.

The Navy added:

"COMUSMACTHAI commander, U.S. Military Assistance Command, Thailand, determined on 21 November that Mr. McGee's continued presense in Thailand was 'prejudicial to the interests of the United States' and requested his immediate transfer."

McGee's orders then were modified, the Navy said, and he was told to report to the Fuel Supply Office in Alexandria on Dec. 6 instead of Jan. 6. It did not say why the military commander wanted McGee out of Thailand immediately.

McGee reported in an earlier interview that his new post amounts "to nothing more than a make-work job as a filing clerk. Only there's nothing to file."

★ ★ ★

The Navy replied that McGee has currently been assigned to a permanent . . . position" at the Fuel Supply Office in Alexandria "while awaiting the results of the personnel actions now being processed. He is required to work a normal 40-hour week in a training and indoctrination capacity."

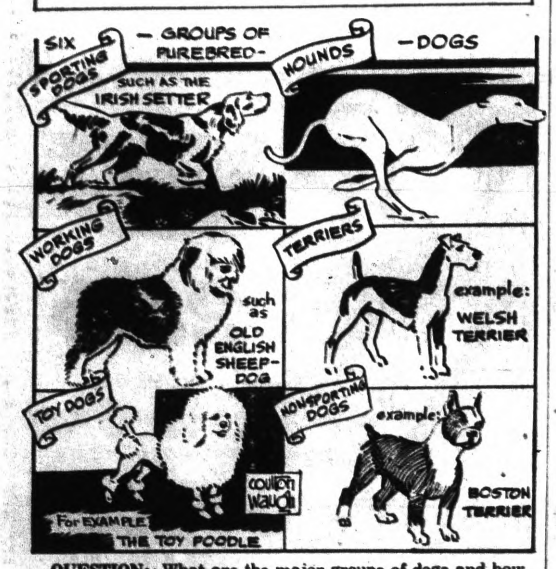
Meanwhile, a Navy spokesman said Friday that the responsibility for assuring required quality and volume of petroleum products intended for U.S. military operations in South Vietnam has been transferred from the Navy to the Army.

The switch, which took effect Wednesday, calls also for the Navy to assume petroleum inspection duties in Formosa, previously an Army responsibility.

Navy officials said the change does not involve all of Southeast Asia and the Navy retains its petroleum inspection functions in Thailand.

They said the action had been long planned. Defense supply officials described it as routine and said it was not connected to the disclosures of widespread petroleum thefts in Thailand.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOGS



QUESTION: What are the major groups of dogs and how can one tell them apart?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The American Kennel Club divides the 115 pure breeds of dogs into six groups, which we show. Dogs within each group vary, but we'll try to give you some points about them.

Sporting dogs hunt by sniffing the air for game. Pointers and setters point noses and bodies toward game; retrievers pick it up; spaniels flush birds into the air. These are very active, deep-chested dogs.

Hounds are dogs which run after game, generally baying rather than barking. They are streamlined, speedy looking.

Working dogs do different jobs and look different. The German shepherd and old English sheepdog were bred to handle sheep, the huskies to haul sleds. The large St. Bernards and Newfoundlands often rescue lost or drowning people.

Terriers were bred to catch small animals by digging; they generally have bushy beards and eyebrows. Important breeds are the Airdale, fox and Irish terrier, and the smaller Skye.

Nonsporting dogs include such different types as the graceful Dalmatian, cocky Boston terrier and squat bulldog.

Toy dogs, of various breeds, can be easily recognized because they are small.

Unresolved Inflation Threat Will Stay to Vex Nixon

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The war-spawned inflation that couldn't be knocked out by the Johnson administration in 1968 will continue to dominate the fever chart of the U.S. economy in 1969.

Even when a sizable fraction of 1968 had yet to unfold, Chairman Arthur M. Okun of the Council of Economic Advisers sized up the coming year as a rough one.

★ ★ ★

"If there was ever to be a year of bliss for the American economy," he said in a looking ahead speech, "it will not be 1969."

★ ★ ★

The new year Okun sketched for his listeners — and his guesses tally with those of many economists and businessmen of both parties — features a slowing down of economic activity to a less inflationary pace in the first half, followed by a picking up from midyear on.

Planned for and induced by the Johnson administration as an inflation buster, the deceleration is intended to be a slowing, not a halting, of the rate of expansion.

The 1968 growth of the Gross National Product — market value of all of the nation's goods and services — from $790 billion to an estimated $860 billion represented an increase of five per cent in "real" growth — far too hot by the administration's yardstick.

★ ★ ★

Okun, for instance, has pointed to "anything between one and three per cent" as the target for the period up to mid-1969.

With prices rising at the fastest rate since the Korean war, the administration went to the mat twice with big business in 1968 to spike price hikes it felt would rosen the situation. Bethlehem Steel and Chrysler Corp yielded to White House muscle and rolled back part of their higher price schedules.

But these were relatively minor skirmishes. The administration fixed its hopes in the inflation battle mainly on the 10 per cent income tax surcharge that began pinching the flow of money into consumers' pocketbooks last July.

Although during the November campaign the surtax would be scrapped when he got in, the betting is better than even that he will ask to have it extended beyond its scheduled expiration date, June 30, though perhaps at a rate less than 10 per cent.

★ ★ ★

When the surtax was slapped on, many observers expected dramatic and speedy dampening of consumer demand, followed by production cutbacks and a rise in the number of jobless.

But it has proved a study in slow motion, some critics writing it off as a flop.

NO SALVATION SEEN

"Instead of being red hot," the newsletter of the National League of Insured Savings Associations said, "the economy has become white hot, and the prophets can't point to anything now that might slow it down."

But most business spokesmen haven't given up on the surtax. They see emerging in early 1969, months behind schedule, the cooling off they have been watching for since fall.

★ ★ ★

They look for smaller wage gains for labor, tighter profit margins for business and some rising of unemployment, currently at a 15-year low.

While few forecasters predict an end to the Vietnam war in 1969, the belief that it will become quieter and less costly is widespread.

MILITANT LABOR ?

Labor may not react docilely to leaner wage gains if they materialize. Even with firstyear wage increases averaging about seven per cent in major contracts negotiated in 1968, the year had more than the usual number of man-days lost to strikes.

Housing starts are expected to top 1.6 million units in 1969, up 8 to 10 per cent from 1968, when sales didn't seem to suffer from mortgage rates averaging above seven per cent.

★ ★ ★

Willingness of borrowers to be saddled with loans at higher interest was cited repeatedly by economists as evidence that "inflation psychology" was getting into the public's blood, leading to decisions to "buy now" in the belief things can only get worse in the future.

This kind of thinking has "gone pretty far" and overcoming it will be one of the most formidable challenges the new administration faces, said Guy E. Noyes, senior vice president of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co.

CONTROVERSIAL MEASURE

The controversial surcharge was voted by Congress in June after Johnson had pleaded for it more than a year. The price he finally paid to get it was to agree to cut $6 billion from the budget requests made in January.

Unpalatable as these gun-at-the-head reductions were to the administration, they and the increased inflow of tax dollars are working a dramatic change in the size of the federal budget deficit.

The President said in mid-December that when the books are closed at the end of the fiscal year next June 30 they might even show a modest surplus — this just one year after government ran $25.4 billion in the red, the biggest deficit since World War II.

The surtax-spending cut package also had profound impact overseas, where money men who fretted about the soundness of the dollar early in the year interpreted the actions as a sign the United States was putting its house in order.

CHANGING THE BALANCE

There was also applause abroad for the crash program the Johnson administration adopted to rebound from the $3.6 billion balance of payments deficit incurred in 1967.

Balance of payments fiourds as a whole improved substantially during the year despite serious deterioration in their most important component the matching of imports and exports.

While exports showed a healthy rise, imports of foreign goods increased faster, totaling $27.2 billion through October compared with $22 million at the same point in 1967.

Administration analysts said exports for the whole year probably would run ahead of imports by about $1 billion, but they weren't crowing. They had only to turn back to 1967 to find a $4.1 billion surplus — at the time considered just so-so.

STERLING IN TROUBLE

Concern for the dollar was triggered by devaluation of the British pound in November, 1967. Speculators felt the dollar, as the world's other major reserve currency, would be weakened and a rise in the official price of gold from $35 an ounce might be in the offing.

Private gold purchases crescendoed in March to the point where the United States and other nations that had been using their own gold to stabilize the price on the London market decided they couldn't keep it up.

At a rush meeting in Washington they hammered out a communique that said from then on the central banks would sell gold only to one another, letting the supplies on the private market seek their own level.

This "two-tier" system helped take the heat off the dollar. By October, when governors of the International Monetary Fund gathered in Washington, U.S. money once again was in good repute.

CRISIS IN EUROPE

Renewed confidence in the dollar helped keep it out of the line of fire in November when a new monetary crisis boiled up. The imbalance between the suddenly anemic French franc and the supersolid West German mark threatened to imperial a number of other currencies, but no run against the dollar resulted.

Titans Roll in 2nd Half; Lakers Upset RO St. Mary

By FLETCHER SPEARS

The Titans of Pontiac Catholic did as expected last night, while the Lakers of Waterford Our Lady refused to live up to their advance billing as the two prep quintets returned to Northwest Catholic League action.

The Titans disposed of Ferndale James after a slow start, 74-55, while the upstart Lakers slipped past a highly-regarded Royal Oak St. Mary squad, 59-56.

'WE'RE LOUSY'

"Let's face it, we were lousy," said Titans' coach Mel Larson, as he recapped the squad's first-half play against St. James.

★ ★ ★

Larson wasn't up to par, either. He met up with the flu bug and he got out of bed to make the game last night.

LOOKED BAD

For most of the first half things looked a little on the bleak side for the Titans who are now 5-1 in Northwest Catholic League, a game in back of idle Orchard Lake St. Mary.

★ ★ ★

St. James led at one point in the first half, 29-18, but the Titans rallied to pull within one at halftime, 31-30.

TAKE CHARGE

The second half was all Pontiac Catholic. The Titans opened up a 49-42 lead after three quarters and blew the game open with a 19-11 advantage in the fourth frame.

★ ★ ★

"The kids knew they were bad in that first half," said Larson. And the coach made some adjustments. "We were in a man-to-man (defense) and it was hurting us, so we zoned in back and went man-to-man out front. That was to put pressure on their guards."

RATTLED DALES

The move did rattle St. James enough to give the Titans a few quick baskets and it was more than the visiting Dales could overcome.

★ ★ ★

Forward Sam Brady paced the Titans attack with 33 points, 22 of them in the second half. Guard Herb Larson collected 16 and center Steve Hoffman contributed 11.

SPARKS ST. JAMES

Gary Johnson was the big gun for the Dales with 25 points and he helped St. James to a 50-42 edge in the rebounding department.

★ ★ ★

"It was just nip and tuck all the way," said Lakers' coach Dean Webster, who guided WOLL to the team's second win in six outings this season.

THIRD LOSS

The loss was the third against four wins for ROSM, which had given Orchard Lake St. Mary and Pontiac Catholic trouble in two previous outings.

★ ★ ★

The Lakers were expected to be easy prey but it didn't turn out that way. They shot at a hot 43 per cent — 26 of 60 — and came up with a balanced attack to pull out the victory. WOLL led at intermission, 27-26.

Dave Calme tossed in 20 points, 16 of them in the first half. Pat McColgan collected 20 and Jerry Yezbick 11.

SUB SHARP

When Calme left on personal fouls in the fourth, Kevin Shaughnessy came on and immediately tipped in a bucket to put the Lakers ahead by three points, 57-54.

Roger O'Connor steadied the Laker floor game and contributed three clutch baskets.

Setting the pace for ROSM was Bill Bolton with 25 markers. Teammate Jim Door added 14.

Brother Rice Rolls Forward in Loop Bid

High-scoring Birmingham Brother Rice shows no signs of letting up in its bid to capture the Central Division basketball crown in the Detroit Catholic League.

The Warriors, who are averaging 78 points a game, stayed unbeaten last night as they rolled to their fifth win, a 76-69 verdict over Detroit De La Salle.

ENTERTAIN RUNNER-UP

Brother Rice went into the contest with a one-game lead over Detroit Austin, a team that will visit the Warriors Tuesday in an early showdown.

★ ★ ★

The Warriors nursed a 37-34 lead at intermission, but blew the game open with a 23-12 advantage in the third stanza.

Don MacAloon triggered the assault with 27 points, while Steve Jones contributed 17. John Maloney added 10.

Gary Swirski (21) and Chris Nacu (19) led De LaSalle.

Milford Redskins Fall in Overtime

A junior guard's accuracy from the free throw line led to the downfall of Milford's Redskins last night.

Rich Adams of Fenton canned a pair of charity tosses with three seconds left to tie Milford at 57 in regulation, and he pushed in another pair with 20 seconds left in overtime to give Fenton a 63-61 decision.

In all, Adams made 11 of 12 shots from the charity stripe to share honors with teammate Dean Stevenson, who flipped in 22 points.

Dave Baker pushed in 23 markers for Milford, which suffered its third defeat in five outings.

South Lyon Is Loser Third Game in Row

South Lyon faded in the final three minutes of play last night and wound up losing its third game in a row by dropping an 81-71 decision to Chelsea.

Chelsea took a 42-39 lead at intermission, but South Lyon made it a close game until those closing mintues when the winners applied a press that broke the game open.

Dave Conklin led the winners with 22 points, getting assistance from Jim Wojcicki (17), Lance Burghardt (16) and Mike Schnaidt (12).

Dave Brandon of South Lyon led all scorers with 35 points, while teammate Ted Canfield checked in with 18. South Lyon is now 2-4 for the season.

Chris Amon Repeats Grand Prix Triumph

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Chris Amon of New Zealand averaged 105.1 miles an hour in his Ferrari today to win the 16th New Zealand Grand Prix.

It was his second straight victory in the race which opened the 1969 Tasman championship.

Jochen Rindt of Austria, in a Lotus-Ford V8, finished second, ahead of Britain's Piers Courage, in a Brabham-Ford V8, only other entrant to complete the 101-mile race.

First Varsity Win for Mott Five

Corsairs Trip Churchill, 58-41

Waterford's roving high school team, the Mott Corsairs, chalked up their first varsity basketball triumph last night by defeating Livonia's newest school, Churchill, 58-41.

With Bill Ziem hitting 17 and Roger Strader 16, Mott also received big help from sophomore Les Hunt, starting his first game.

Hunt connected for 12 points and had 16 rebounds which would be an individual season high for the new school.

The winners led 25-14 at halftime, but Churchill closed it to 39-37 early in the fourth quarter.

SCORING SPURT

Mott then went on a scoring spree aided by Hunt's free throw shooting and board control.

In team rebounding, Mott had a 34-20 advantage, while in field goal percentages, the Corsairs hit on 23 of 50 attempts for 46 per cent. Churchill had a poor 27 per cent from the floor.

Keith Armstrong led the losers with 15 points.

Buzzer Bucket for Ferndale; Maples Triumph

A 25 foot jump shot at the buzzer by Tyrone Lewis enabled Ferndale to be the pacesetter in the Southeast Michigan League after the 36-35 victory over Southfield last night.

Royal Oak Kimball stayed in a league deadlock with 2-0 mark by routing Berkley 74-55 after a close first half, and Birmingham Seaholm came back strong in the final minutes to defeat Hazel Park, 65-60.

Southfield held a 21-16 halftime lead and 30-27 after three quarters in a poor shooting game on both sides.

MANY TURNOVERS

The game see-sawed by a point in the final quarter as both teams were plagued with turnovers as they tried to control the ball.

With two minutes left Southfield held the 35-34 lead and lost possession on a turnover paving way for Lewis' last second heroics.

★ ★ ★

Southfield managed only 30 per cent shooting from the floor and Ferndale was a shade better at 31 per cent. The Jays were also anemic at the free throw line with 9 of 26.

It was 27-27 at halftime with Seaholm and Hazel Park but the Maples finally took the lead at 47-46 late in the third quarter and never lost the advantage.

CHARITY LINE

Both teams had 23 field goals but Seahom's 19 free throws proved to be the margin. Jim Merchel led all scorers with 23 while Seaholm's Jim Hagen had 19.

Berkley held a 34-32 lead over Kimball at halftime, but the Knights surged ahead in the final minute of the third quarter to lead 46-43.

★ ★ ★

Kimball's fast break outclassed Berkley 27-9 in the final quarter scoring and Jay Brown with 24 points, also added 32 rebounds. It was a school record for the 6-3 senior.

Kimball held a 59-36 advantage in rebounds, but the scoring leader in the game was John Benning with 26 for the losers.

Falcons Fly High

The big man is back and all is well with the Falcons of Farmington.

In a loss to Pontiac Northern two weeks ago and in another to township rival North Farmington in a holiday tournament, the Falcons played without 6-4 center Mark Lynott, who was nursing an ankle injury.

HE'S BACK

He's back now and his presence does make a difference.

★ ★ ★

With Lynott setting the pace last night, the Falcons gained a measure of revenge by downing North Farmington, 69-59, and the win evened the Farmington record at 4-4.

TOP SCORER

For the evening Lynott collected 24 points to set the scoring pace, while teammates Steve McGregor and Randy Cleveland picked up 14 and 12 points, respectively.

★ ★ ★

The Falcons jumped off to a 36-26 lead at intermission and maintained at least an eight-point margin the rest of the way.

SECOND LOSS

The loss was only the second in seven outings for the Raiders, who committed 25 turnovers in the game, 10 of them in the first quarter when they fell behind, 18-6.

★ ★ ★

Sophomore Drew Mahalic and Jay Hazelroth shared scoring honors for the Raiders with 16 points, and Mahalic came through with a sharp performance in the rebounding department.

★ ★ ★

Final Poll Official, Buckeyes Rated No. 1

Penn State Finishes in Second Place

By Associated Press

Ohio State's all-conquering Buckeyes proved their superiority over Southern California in the battle of No. 1 vs. No. 2 on the Rose Bowl field New Year's Day.

And Friday sports writers and sportscasters voted them the national collegiate football championship by an overwhelming margin in the final Associated Press poll.

Penn State's Nittany Lions, the only other major unbeaten-untied team, moved up to second place on the strength of their 15-14 Orange Bowl triumph over Kansas, followed by 3, Texas; 4, Southern California; 5, Notre Dame; 6, Arkansas; 7, Kansas; 8, Georgia; 9, Missouri, and 10, Purdue.

MANY SOPHS

The Buckeyes, heavily manned by sophomores and juniors, climaxed a regular 10-0 season and Big Ten championship, by whipping Southern Cal's unbeaten, once-tied Pacific-8 Conference kingpins 27-16 at Pasadena.

This gave Ohio State its first national championship since 1954 and its third since the Associated Press started its poll in 1936. The Buckeyes were No. 1 first in 1942.

★ ★ ★

The Buckeyes collected 44 first place votes and 968 points from a national panel of 49 sports writers and sportscasters.

Penn State, fourth at the end of the regular season with a 10-0 record, received two first place votes and 782 points for a second place standing.

Texas, fifth before with 8-1-1, moved up to third with two first placers, and 762 points. Texas blasted Tennessee 36-13 in the Cotton Bowl. The Vols fell from eighth to 13th.

Southern California, the national champions in 1967, dropped from second after a 9-0-1 season, to fourth after the bowl games with 693 points and no first place votes.

Notre Dame, 7-2-1, which had tied Southern California 21-21 in the last regular season games for both, does not play in bowl games. But the Irish, despite their idleness, advanced from seventh to fifth place with 482 points.

Arkansas, impressive in a 16-2 Sugar Bowl victory over previously unbeaten Georgia, leaped from ninth to sixth with one first place vote and 478 points. The Southeastern Conference champions fell from fourth to eighth with 349 points.

Kansas, edged by Penn State in the Orange Bowl thriller, dropped one notch from sixth to seventh with 349 points.

Fourteen of the Top Twenty in the final regular season poll played in Bowl games with six winning and eight losing.

Auburn and Louisiana State, which had been unranked previously, won in post-season games and gained berths in the elite list. L.S.U. beat Florida State 31-27 in the Peach Bowl and took the loser's 19th place. Auburn routed Arizona 34-10 in the Sun Bowl and gained the No. 16 spot. Arizona State, which had been 17th, was knocked off the list.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press conducted its second full-scale post-season poll because of the match-up between Ohio State and Southern California and because nine of the first 10 teams were involved in Bowl Games.

The AP's first post-season poll was taken after the 1965 season when the first six teams were involved in Bowl games. Alabama, which had been ranked fourth, won the 1965 championship by defeating third-ranked Nebraska as top-ranked Michigan State and second-ranked Arkansas went down to their first defeats.

The final Top 20, with first place vote in parentheses, season records including bowl games, and total points. Points awarded for first 15 picks on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. Ohio State (44)	10-0	968
2. Penn State (2)	11-0	782

Executive Meeting Called by Bill Eckert

NEW YORK (AP)—William D. Eckert, outgoing commissioner of baseball, has called a meeting of the executive council Monday at Chicago's O'Hare Inn to discuss legislative matters and his own interim situation.

Joseph Reichler, public relations chief, said "the meeting has nothing to do with the election of a new commissioner. This was called by the commissioner himself."

★ ★ ★

Those scheduled to attend the meeting are Commissioner Eckert; two league presidents, Warren Giles of the National League and Joe Cronin of the American League; and the two executive council members and their alternates. The council members are Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Gabe Paul of the Cleveland Indians. The alternates are Bob Carpenter of Philadelphia and Bob Reynolds of the California Angels.

A meeting to elect a new commissioner is scheduled for Feb. 4, also in Chicago.

The council meeting Monday was called by Eckert to discuss his own situation while awaiting a successor and also to discuss legislative matters on which the commissioner wants the council to act.

★ ★ ★

O'Malley, contacted in Los Angeles, said the meeting was called by the commissioner and "has nothing to do with selecting a new commissioner."

It would be necessary for all 24 clubs to be represented if a commissioner were to be named. The other owners are not scheduled to be present on Monday.

★ ★ ★

The 24 owners met for 13 hours at Chicago, Dec. 20 without agreeing on a replacement for Eckert, who resigned under pressure, Dec. 6, but still is serving.

DEFENSIVE MOVE—Eric Ernst (34) of Mott tries to stop a jump shot by Churchill's Jack Leirstein at Waterford last night while Bill Ziem (40) watches the action. Mott defeated the Livonia school, 58-41. It was the first varsity victory for the Corsairs.

Two Quick Pins Save Northern

Quick pins in the final two bouts Friday night earned Pontiac Northern a 25-15 wrestling triumph over Flint Northwestern and extended the Huskies' success string to 32 straight duel meets over the past three years.

Once-beaten Walled Lake gained its fourth straight victory in a tuneup for next Friday's clash with PNH (3-0) by blanking Roseville, 46-0.

Northern is favored to hurdle Warren Fitzgerald Tuesday before traveling to the Vikings' mats for what has become annually one of the big duels of the wrestling season locally.

But the Huskies nearly stumbled last night against Flint NW. Leading 15-6 after seven matches, they were outclassed in the next three bouts and the visiting Wildcats tied the score.

Then Maurice Nolin pinned his Flint rival in 52 seconds at 175 pounds, and then Mario Castillo stopped his heavyweight foe in 65 seconds to clinch the PNH victory. Aided by four forfeits, Northern claimed the junior varsity match by a 34-13 count.

READY FOR PNH

"This is just a tuneup for our upcoming meet with Northern," said coach Rick Schneider after the Walled Lakers had mauled Roseville.

The varsity and junior varsity posted shutouts. The junior squad checked in with a 56-0 decision before turning the mats over to the older guys.

★ ★ ★

Jack Netchey pinned his opponent in the 165-pound match, a scrap in which Walled Lake almost lost its shutout.

With just 10 seconds left, Netchey trailed Dennis Pomante in points, 11-8, but Netchey caught his foe and pinned him at the 5:57 mark. The victory raised Walled Lake's record to 4-1.

San Diego '11' Eyes Big Foes

SAN DIEGO (AP) — San Diego State College, eager to get into the major college football circuit, has offered Navy a $100,000 guarantee for a game here, Athletic Director Al Olsen said Friday.

Olsen will be seeking opponents for the Aztecs when he attends the NCAA convention next week in Los Angeles and he'd like to line up some big teams.

Olsen says he has sent out letters seeking games with the top 67 university class teams in the country.

"I have received a few answers," he said. "Some seem interested but nearly all of them withheld anything definite, saying they would see me in Los Angeles."

"I've offered Navy $100,000, and Notre Dame $75,000. Southern Cal has said no and so has Alabama," Olsen said.

Deacons Drub Maryland; N.C. State, Tigers Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maryland took it on the chin from Wake Forest again in college basketball Friday night and now the terps, tired of losing to the Deacons, try to change their luck against North Carolina State.

Wake Forest won its eighth game of the season in 10 starts and second straight against Maryland 93-71 in the opener of a doubleheader at Greensboro, N.C. Then the Terps watched while N.C. State, their opponent tonight, whacked Virginia 95-80. Wake Forest meets Virginia in the other game of tonight's doubleheader.

★ ★ ★

The Greensboro doubleheader was the top attraction on a light Friday night program with all of The Associated Press Top 20 teams taking the night off.

★ ★ ★

Charley Davis, a sophomore, led Wake Forest with 34 points as the Deacons ran off an 11-0 streak early in the first half and coasted after that. Six straight turnovers by Maryland didn't help the Terps, who had been beaten by Wake Forest 95-87 three weeks ago.

BENCH STRENGTH

Van Williford and Nelson Isley led N.C. State's second half surge that carried the Wolfpack past Virginia. Williford scored 25 points and grabbed 15 rebounds while Isley came off the bench to score 20 points, most of them in the second half.

In Philadelphia, Princeton battled from behind to beat Penn 59-56 in the second game of a Palestra doubleheader. Philadelphia Textile routed St. Michael's of Vermont 91-53 in the opener with Paul Poole scoring 20 points.

★ ★ ★

Jeff Petrie led Princeton's comeback victory, scoring 14 of the Tigers' last 18 points to wipe out a nine-point deficit.

Another Ivy League team, Yale, travelled to Nevada and lost 87-84.

In some other intersectional games, Rhode Island held off the University of California at Irvine 81-76, Buffalo dropped Wayne State 74-55 and San Francisco State walloped Akron 92-56. It was Akron's worst defeat since 1901.

Highland Gets Cage Revenge

Rival OCC Quintets to Meet Tonight

Revenge was sweet for Highland Lakes' basketball team. The Oakland Community College team handed Alpena JC its first loss of the season after 10 victories, 72-65, on the Clifford Smart Junior High court last night.

Tonight, Highland Lakes and Orchard Ridge, the OCC rivals meet on the same floor.

The Highland quintet led 33-32 at halftime, but moved ahead by 10 points in the second half before Alpena came back to whittle it down to two points.

Clutch buckets by Joe O'Connor, Len Cole and Frank Russell pushed the margin back to 10 with 1:30 left to play and the threat was over.

★ ★ ★

Both teams shot 47 per cent from the floor but Alpena committed many early turnovers which helped the winners to their fast lead.

Exeter Braces for Invasion by Opponent

EXETER, England (AP) — The citizens of this quiet cathedral city started boarding up their windows Friday as the alarm went out — "Manchester United soccer fans are coming."

Exeter City, an English fourth division team, plays mighty Manchester today in the third round of the English Cup — in tiny St. James' Park Stadium, where 18,000 people can be squeezed in.

★ ★ ★

Thousands of Manchester fans who haven't got tickets are expected to descend on Exeter anyway — and that's what is causing the scare.

Residents in the streets surrounding the stadium bolted their doors and barricaded windows. Some have hired guard dogs.

★ ★ ★

Manchester United fans have caused many a disturbance in the past when their team played away from home. They have been in fights, broken windows and smashed up railway cars — despite appeals for good behavior by team officials.

Manchester fans have offered up to 100 pounds ($240) to rent rooms in houses overlooking the ground. A dozen fans could squeeze in around the window and get a private view of the game.

The residents said "No."

Haywood Is All-Around Statistical Pacesetter

NEW YORK (AP) — The scoring race among major college basketball players looks a lot like last season's.

Pete Maravich of Louisiana State is No. 1, and Calvin Murphy of Niagara is No. 2.

Statistics released Friday by National Collegiate Sports Services show Maravich is averaging 46 points a game while Murphy has hit at a 38-point clip. Last season Maravich finished with a 43.8 average to Murphy's 38.2.

When it comes to all-around play, though, Spencer Haywood of Detroit and Bob Lienhard of Georgia are the dominant players. They are the only ones in the top 10 in scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage.

TOP PERCENTAGES

Haywood, star of the U.S. team in the Olympics, is third in scoring with a 31.1 average, first in rebounding with 23.8 a game and ninth in field goal accuracy with a .619 percentage.

Lienhard is seventh in scoring, 28.8; third in rebounding, 20.8, and third in shooting accuracy, .680. Al Kroboth of Citadel is the best shooter, posting a .684 percentage. Dan Davis of Northwestern has the best free throw percentage, having hit all 25 of his attempts.

Morehead State has the most potent offense, averaging 95.8 points a game, while Army has the toughest defense, having allowed just 55.3 a game.

In the small college scoring race, John Rinka of Kenyon has the lead with a 38.2 average with Ken Hall of Westminster, Utah, second at 34.2.

The top rebounder is Greg Daust of the University of Missouri at St. Louis with 22 a game while John Haas of Monmouth, N.J., leads in field goal percentage with a .678 mark. Jim Davis of Stillman is the top shooter from the foul line with .963.

Stillman, incidentally, is one of the two highest scoring teams, averaging 107.6 points a game, the same as Norfolk State. Ashland, Ohio, has the best defensive mark, giving up a mere 34.3 points a game.

Ex-Swim Ace of Olympics Recuperating

SEATTLE (AP)—Helene Madison, Olympic swimming star of 1932, is recuperating slowly from major throat surgery performed Dec. 13 due to cancer, authorities at Virginia Mason Hospital said Friday.

The spokesman said visitors were not permitted because of Miss Madison's need for rest, adding "this is about the biggest surgery anyone can have."

The voice of the famous swimmer was not affected by the operation, the spokesman reported.

At the age of 19 Miss Madison won three Olympic gold medals and held every world record for freestyle swimming—a total of 16.

Atlanta March Stuns Detroit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Atlanta may be marching through Los Angeles one of these days if the Hawks keep up their torrid pace in the National Basketball Association.

The high-flying Hawks reeled off 20 straight points in the second period Friday night en route to a 128-106 bombing of the Detroit Pistons. It was their 12th straight triumph and moved them within three games of the Los Angeles Lakers, Western Division leaders, who lost to Philadelphia 130-101.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere, Baltimore got by Cincinnati 130-125, San Francisco edged Boston 104-102 and Milwaukee whipped Phoenix 121-104.

Atlanta trailed Detroit 39-37, but Richie Guerin, the 36-year-old player-coach, sparked the Hawks to a 57-39 lead before the Pistons could score again. The NBA record for consecutive points is 24 by Philadelphia in 1966 while the 1946 Washington Capitols and the 1959 Boston Celtics share the mark of 17 straight wins.

Philadelphia built a 27-point halftime in racing past Los Angeles, which played without the flu-ridden Elgin Baylor while Jerry West was held to 14 points and Wilt Chamberlain to eight.

TOP SCORERS

Billy Cunningham's 27 points paced the 76ers, while the Lakers' top three unexpectedly were Keith Erickson, Mel Counts and Bill Hewitt with 20, 19 and 18.

Baltimore threatened with loss of its Eastern Division lead to Philadelphia, hit the boards hard in the final period to overcome Cincinnati and Oscar Robertson, who scored 42 points.

Wes Unseld and Jack Marin tipped in shots in the final two minutes to keep the Bullets in front of the Royals for the night and one game ahead of the 76ers.

★ ★ ★

San Francisco staged a sensational second half rally to win its fifth game in seven starts. The Warriors were behind by 18 points in the third quarter before Joe Ellis and Nate Thurmond led a rally that pulled them to within two points with four minutes to go.

Jeff Mullins tied it at 87-87 and Ellis followed up with another field goal: The Warriors then clinched it on a three-point play, a free throw and a field goal by Thurmond with 52 seconds left.

★ ★ ★

Thurmond finished with 23 points and Mullins contributed 18. Satch Sanders topped Boston with 27.

Veterans Len Chappell, Jon McGlocklin and Fred Hetzel fired in 33, 28 and 24 points, respectively, as Milwaukee routed their expansion Phoenix colleagues.

'Firemen' Star in ABA Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little Willie Somerset put out Dallas' fourth quarter fire and big Mel Daniels kept Indiana ablaze in Friday night's American Basketball Association action.

Somerset scored 39 points as the Houston Mavericks weathered Dallas' late rally and trimmed the Chaparrals 100-96. Daniels put in 33 points, leading the Pacers past New Orleans 126-112 for their third straight victory and 10th in the last 13 games.

★ ★ ★

Miami nipped Los Angeles 92-91 for its sixth successive victory in the only other game scheduled.

Dallas, trailing by 19 points in the final period, cut the deficit to three in a 6½-minute hot streak before the Mavericks squeaked through behind 5-foot-10 Somerset and Art Becker, who added 18 points. John Beasley paced Dallas with 20.

★ ★ ★

Daniels, Indiana's 6-foot-9 pivotman, teamed with Bob Netolicky and Freddie Lewis to lead the Pacers past New Orleans and into third place in the Eastern Division. Netolicky scored 26 points and Lewis 25. Steve Jones' 23 points topped the Buccaneers.

St. Louis Stymies Seals

Can Wings Aid Oakland?

By the Associated Press

There's a busy National Hockey League schedule today and frustrated Oakland will be watching closely to see how Detroit does at St. Louis.

★ ★ ★

Friday night the Seals dropped their 14th straight game to St. Louis, 3-1. The Blues victory string stretches over two seasons and keeps alive the most one-sided series in the NHL. It was the only game scheduled.

★ ★ ★

Doug Harvey and Frank St. Marseille scored early goals for the Blues to give them a 2-0 lead, with St. Marseille's score an indication of just how things have been going for the Seals against St. Louis

Oakland goalie Gary Smith deftly gloved the shot as it was about to pass over the Seals goal. He then inadvertently allowed the puck to fall into the goal for the score.

Jerry Ehman rammed in a rebound for the Seals to close the count to 2-1 but St. Louis defenseman Ray Fortin scored the clincher in the final period.

Fortin's goal? You guessed it—his first of the year.

Besides the Detroit-St. Louis game tonight, New York is at Toronto, Minnesota hosts Boston, Pittsburgh hosts Philadelphia and Chicago is at Montreal.

One-Platoon Grid Proposal Pending

NCAA Confab Begins Monday

Rising Costs Given in Football Plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Proposals to return collegiate football to the one-platoon system may come before the National Collegiate Athletic Association convention.

At the request of the NCAA council, a round table discussion will be held Monday during the NCAA convention on the general topic, "Rising Costs of Intercollegiate Athletics."

A return to one-platoon football would reduce costs but many coaches and others connected with the intercollegiate sport have violently opposed such a move.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, told newsmen Friday that the chairman and secretary of the football rules committee have been invited to meet with the NCAA Council prior to the general business session.

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that in addition to the substitution rule, which determines if play is under the one or two platoon system, size of squads, limits on grants-in-aid and other cost factors will be discussed.

ROUND TABLE

On the round table panel are Edwin H. Cady, faculty athletic representative from Indiana University; Robert Jones, commissioner of the Mid-American Conference; Ralph Ginn, associate athletic director and former football coach at South Dakota State; and James Barratt, athletic director at Oregon State.

★ ★ ★

Byers said a proposal has been made to set up in third division of competition within the NCAA. Currently it has the university and college divisions. The third division would include smaller liberal arts colleges since many of the state colleges have become so large.

Another proposal would make the transfer rule binding on all competition and not just for post-season and championship events. Also studied will be the freshman rule which was approved last year by a three-vote margin and makes freshmen eligible for virtually all sports except football and basketball.

Byers said some favor keeping the rule, others want a return to a previous rule where frosh could not compete on varsity teams and others seek a compromise between the two.

Championships may also be set up for volleyball and water polo in a move to have more universities and colleges include these Olympic sports in their intercollegiate programs.

'Grants' to Be Discussed

Violations on Agenda

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association will be asked to approve cancellation of athletic grants-in-aid for "manifest disobedience."

Last year the NCAA Council approved such an interpretation of the present NCAA rule but to continue this interpretation in effect requires a two-thirds vote of the convention.

Examples of those concerned might be Negro athletes who refuse to compete with teams from schools where they feel racial discrimination is practiced.

Basically, the NCAA prohibits a school from withdrawing its aid to a student-athlete for any athletic reason, such as dropping off the squad voluntarily.

The revised interpretation reads, "A member institution may terminate the financial aid of a student-athlete if he is adjudged to have been guilty of manifest disobedience through violation of institutional regulations or established athletic department policies and rules applicable to all student-athletes.

★ ★ ★

"Construed to be manifest disobedience are disruptive actions which interfere with the orderly conduct of an institution's athletic program, refusal to meet the normal good conduct obligations required of all team members and defiance of the normal and necessary directions of departmental staff members."

Ex-MSU Player on Pitt's List

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette reported Friday night that Frank Kush, head coach of Arizona State, was a prime candidate for head football coach at Pitt.

Kush told the paper that he met at Tempe, Ariz., with Casimir Myslinski, Pitt Athletic director.

★ ★ ★

"There's nothing definite," the paper quoted Kush. "If I'm offered the job, I believe I will make a decision within the next three days."

Pitt has been looking for a new coach since Dave Hart resigned in November. Shortly after he left, Frank Carver resigned as athletic director and Myslinski took over his job.

★ ★ ★

Kush is a native of Windber, Pa., who played for Michigan State and has never had a losing season as a coach.

Last season, his team posted an 8-2 record and over 11 years Arizona State teams under Kush have racked up an 81-28 record.

Explosive Offense Wins for Michigan

ANN ARBOR (AP) A strong defense and an explosive offense gave the University of Michigan an 8-2 victory over Minnesota-Duluth Friday night in a Western Collegiate Hockey Association game.

Merle Falk and Dave Perrin led the Wolverine assault with two goals and one assist each, while Randy Binnie, Barney Pashak, Doug Heyliger and Paul Domm netted single goals.

The Minnesota-Duluth goals were scored by Phil Hoene and Ron Busniuk as the team's record fell to 4-9 overall and 1-6 in the WCHA. Michigan now has a league mark of 3-0 and is 6-3 overall.

Football Field for Hula Bowl Turns to Swamp

HONOLULU (AP) — The super match — pitting runners O. J. Simpson of Southern California and Leory Keyes of Purdue in the 23rd Hula Bowl All-Star Game — has turned into the monsoon bowl, and will be played in about a foot of mud today.

Rains such as come only to the tropics have turned Honolulu Stadium turf into a swamp and driven the two teams, North and South, into gumnasium practice sessions.

The game, which begins at 11:45 a.m., Honolulu time, is likely to turn into sliding contest, rather than a Simpson-Keyes running duel.

All 23,885 tickets have been sold, and the contest will be televised live via satellite to the mainland.

The speedway said the 1969 field may include two steam cars. Steam engines are not included in the U.S. Auto Club formula but may be admitted to the race if they "prove competitive" in pre-race test. Time trials to determine the 33 starting positions will be held May 17-18 and May 24-25.

Seven Under Par Round Best in Golf Tournament

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP) — Mac McLendon, 23, of Birmingham, Ala., set a blistering pace in the first half of the first round of the Southern California open golf tournament Friday with a seven-under par 65.

McLendon, a former captain of the Louisiana State University golf team who turned pro eight months ago, shot seven birdies over the par-72, 6,905-yard course.

★ ★ ★

Defending champion Billy Casper, national open champion Lee Trevino, Bob Murphy and a number of other stars of the PGA tour tee off in the second half of the first round early Saturday.

McLendon came in two strokes better than his closest competitors, former PGA champion Jerry Barber and four Californians, Steve Bogan, Chuck Montalband, Ross Randall and Jim Gilbert.

Three other Californians, Rusty Uhl, Curtis Sifford and Dick Lotz, were in with 4-under par 68s.

★ ★ ★

Bobby Rosburg, former national PGA champion, and veteran Billy Maxwell were the only seasoned tournament campaigners to stay near the pace. They were tied at 3-under-par 69 with two Southern California professionals, Eddie Merrins and Monte Sanders, the low pro in Thursday's pro amateur with a 67.

Playoff Bowl Sunday

Cowboys to Face 'Dagwood' Runner

Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP)—Someone said Joe Kapp runs like Dagwood Bumstead trying to catch a bus.

"Maybe he does," said Coach Bud Grant of the Minnesota Vikings, "but like Dagwood, he always gets there."

★ ★ ★

Kapp is the tough 215-pound quarterback who led the Vikings to the Central Division title of the National Football League. He and the Vikings are getting ready in Miami Beach for Sunday's NFL playoff game against the Dallas Cowboys.

★ ★ ★

Dagwood Bumstead—in case you don't read the comic pages—is in the famous strip, Blondie, and begins each morning breathlessly trying to catch a bus for work.

Kapp's main job for the Vikings is to pass, not run, but the 31-year-old, former University of California star gained 269 yards on 50 carries during the regular season.

Minnesota won its division title with a team effort, posting an 8-6 record. The Vikings played Baltimore for the Western Conference title and lost 24-14.

★ ★ ★

Kapp spent eight years in the Canadian League after being graduated from California. He describes his experience north of the border as better training for an NFL quarterback then sitting on the bench as a backup man.

"Some of those games I played in Canada weren't games," he said. "They were brawls. The hitting was fantastic. But I loved it. This is a kid's game and I'm getting paid to play it. I'm lucky."

Why did he leave Canada?

"I liked playing there," he said, "but I had accomplished everything, played on a championship team. I was ready for a change and besides I wanted to play in the NFL."

Kapp said his biggest problems were in making the change to the NFL were in learning the habits of his own players, those of the players on the other teams, and the different defenses. He did it well, completing 129 of 248 passes for 1,699 yards and 10 touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

A crowd of 50,000 is expected for the game in the Orange Bowl. Each winner earns $1,200, and each loser $500.

Dallas, which won its division with a 12-2 record, is hoping to atone somewhat for its upset by Cleveland in the Eastern title game.

Win Makes Ted National Leader

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

News Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP) — By taking on the Senate's Southern establishment and winning, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has, with one swift stroke, propelled himself into a position of national leadership within the Democratic party.

Kennedy won the No. 2 spot among Senate Democratis, 31 to 26, yesterday over Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana.

★ ★ ★

As assistant Democratic leader of the Senate, the 36-year-old heir to his slain brothers' political estates will be a leading party spokesman during the Nixon administration, especially on domestic affairs.

But even more, his bold move has drawn a sharp line between himself and two other potential party leaders, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

Kennedy has thus taken the first big step towards his party's presidential nomination in 1972.

MUSKIE STANCE

Muskie declined the fight Kennedy waged on grounds the job of whip would restrict him to the Senate too much. But he also felt he would be unable to oust Long, who first won the job of whip in 1965 with strong northern support.

McCarthy, who had no interest in seeking a Senate leadership spot hmself, declined even to vote for Kennedy on grounds his election would only give the semblance of reform and might even retard real reform.

★ ★ ★

Thus, when the balloting was over Friday, Kennedy took his seat in the front row of the Senate, while Muskie and McCarthy remained in the back row as before.

As assistant to Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, who has always looked kindly on the Kennedy brothers, Kennedy is likely to become the chief Democratic spokesman in the Senate —and possibly all of Congress— on domestic affairs.

GOOD TEAM

Mansfield's main interest has always been foreign relations, and division of authority would likely suit both.

They will certainly work closely together, a contrast with the decidedly cool relations that have existed between Mansfield and Long.

★ ★ ★

While he probably owes his victory as much to the enemies whom Long has made over the years as to his own following, Kennedy was quick to see national significance in his victory, relating it to the challenge by both McCarthy and his late brother Robert in last year's Democratc presidential race.

"The winds of change that were so evident in 1968 have expressed themselves in the Senate," he told reporters, calling his victory an expression of support for a "constructive, creative and positive" Democratic legislative program during the forthcoming Republican administration.

SEN. EDWARD KENNEDY

Mansfield said he welcomed Kennedy's election, noting that "Of all the Kennedys, the senator is the only one who was and is a real Senate man."

"He will be a link with the younger generation," the Montana senator said, adding that "I hope that by his example he will get more young people involved constructively in the field of politics."

★ ★ ★

Not everyone saw Kennedy's selection as a blessing. George Smathers, retiring Democratic senator from Florida, said Kennedy's elevation to whip "means that the sophomore and the liberals will be running the party."

"I'm afraid the result will be to force more and more southern Democrats into the Republican party," he said.

Smathers was a close friend to John Kennedy, although the two often differed over policy with the ex-Florida senator taking a generally conservative stance.

Lifer Gets Retrial in City Murder Case

One of three men serving a life prison term for first-degree murder in the 1962 robbery-slaying of a Pontiac grocer will be retried in Oakland County Circuit Court.

While no date has been scheduled, it is likely that the new trial of R. G. Stroman, 35, will get under way during the jury term beginning Jan. 13.

★ ★ ★

The State Supreme Court ordered the new trial on the basis that statements by the other two defendants implicated Stroman in the death of Eftimias Vasiliou.

The ruling was in line with a U. S. Supreme Court decision last year. The high court ruled that the confession of one conspirator could not be used in a joint trial because it would prejudice a jury.

During the trial, Stroman testified that he didn't take part in the holdup that led to Vasiliou's death. He was killed by shots fired from a .22 caliber pistol.

The statements were made by Joseph Page, then 26, and Benny L. Spells, then 23, to the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

★ ★ ★

Their attorney claimed that the admissions, which stated Page shot Vasiliou, were obtained under duress because police had questioned Page and Spells for 19 hours.

Stroman claimed he had loaned Page and Spells the car used in the robbery, but that he did not go to Vasiliou's store at 309 Orchard Lake, July 30, 1962.

Page, Spells and Stroman were implicated in the Vasiliou killing by a fourth man who turned himself in to police in connection with another robbery two weeks later.

Stroman is being held in the Oakland County Jail pending the outcome of his trial. He had been confined in the state prison at Marquette.

10 in Pueblo Crew Receive Purple Hearts

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The skipper of the Pueblo and nine of his men receive the Purple Heart Medal today for wounds suffered during the seizure of the intelligence ship by the North Koreans.

Rear Adm. Horace D. Warden of the Naval Medical Corps is in charge of the ceremonies at the naval hospital, which he commands.

★ ★ ★

Most of the wounded crewmen, including the skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, were hit by shrapnel when North Korean ships opened fire on the Pueblo while it was in international waters, the Navy said.

The men were released and returned to the United States Dec. 24 after 11 months of captivity.

PARENTS GET MEDAL

One Pueblo crewman, Duane Hodges of Creswell, Ore., was killed in the incident. His parents will receive his Purple Heart at later ceremonies.

★ ★ ★

In addition to Bucher, those receiving the Purple Heart are Lt. Edward Murphy Jr., San Diego, Calif.; Lt. Stephen Harris of Richland, Wash.; and crewmen Robert Chicca, Ft. Mead, Md.; Michael Barrett, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Wendell Leach, Houston, Tex.; Charles Crandell, El Reno, Okla.; Peter Langenberg, Clayton, Mo.; Steven Woelk, Alta Vista, Kan.; and Steven Robin, Silver Springs, Md.

★ ★ ★

The 82 members of the crew are undergoing intelligence debriefings at the naval hospital here while awaiting a court of inquiry into the capture of the ship. No date has been set for the court to convene.

About 22 of the crew will be eligible for discharge Jan. 21.

County Board Factions Meeting This Weekend

Activity was scheduled this weekend for both Democratic and Republican caucuses of the new County Board of Supervisors.

Scheduled to meet in their first official session at 10 a.m. Thursday, board members, divided by parties, were to consider the committees at their weekend meetings.

★ ★ ★

Republicans were to meet today in Bloomfield Township to review Democratic requests for an appointment of three members to serve on the seven-man committee on committees.

Republicans have also had members working on a committee plan, and discussion was due by the full caucus on their recommendations. Mary Bawden of Birmingham heads the committee study group.

★ ★ ★

The Democratic caucus, meeting at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Southfield is to hear recommendations from its four committee on committees members —Philip O. Mastin, Democratic nominee for chairman; George Grba of Pontiac; Niles Olson of Lake Orion; and William Richards of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

The four were expected to make recommendations regarding Democratic appointments to the 12 committees already outlined in caucus.

Democrats have suggested reducing from the former 28 to 12 the number of committees serving the board.

Observant Driver Turns in Suspect

PITTSBURGH (AP) — When the young man boarded the bus, driver David Campbell changed his route slightly, stopping in front of the North Side police station. He ran in and announced to officers, "I've got my man."

★ ★ ★

Police arrested Robert Marshall, 19, and charged him with holding up Campbell's bus at knifepoint three times over the past year.

The story unfolded Friday when Marshall was held for court on armed robbery charges.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Here is a hand from a match between Britain and Venezuela which should present no problem in the play, yet one declarer had a blind spot and made a play that might well have been the most expensive of the year 1968.

The bidding was the same at both tables and in each instance West opened the jack of clubs.

Victor Mollo of Great Britain proceeded to make all the tricks without any trouble. He took dummy's ace of clubs, cashed his ace and king of trumps and led the queen of spades. West covered with the king and Victor won with dummy's ace.

Then he returned to his hand with the queen of hearts, led his four of spades and finessed dummy's nine. When that held he discarded a club on the jack of spades and claimed 13 tricks on a cross-ruff.

Victor remarked, "I hope Venezuela doesn't get to seven. If they do, they will have to make it."

★ ★ ★

The Venezuelan declarer went into a long huddle at trick one. Finally he won the club in dummy and played two rounds of trumps. Then he thought again and eventually played the ace and another club.

Clubs broke and he claimed six, announcing that he would discard one of his spades on the long club. As you can see, this line of play would have actually cost South the contract had East held the spade king and if clubs had not broken.

On the other hand, it is an example of a real blind spot. It seems that the Venezuelan declarer had never seen dummy's jack of spades!

LYNDON B. JOHNSON

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Lyndon B. Johnson, 60, in his last year as President, has been named newsmaker of 1968 by editors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio and television stations.

Although his decision not to run for the presidency again was his biggest newsmaking statement, Johnson had plenty of other headlines to his credit.

★ ★ ★

In July, 57 nations signed the nonproliferation of nuclear weapons treaty at the White House, which the President called the most important disarmament accord since the dawn of the nuclear age.

He pledged the U.S. to honor its commitments in Asia, met with South Vietnam President Thieu in Honolulu. He announced Vietnam peace talks, to start in May, a bombing halt in North Vietnam on Oct. 31, and expanded peace talks, adding South Vietnam and the National Liberation Front, in December.

TAX PROPOSED

LBJ proposed a tax on foreign travel, which was not imposed, and a surtax on income taxes, which was.

He denounced the deep cut in his foreign aid bill and slashes in the defense budget, signed a gun control law which he said wasn't stiff enough, named a number of commissions from which came reports on racial disorders and causes of violence.

★ ★ ★

He nominated Abe Fortas for chief justice, withdrew his name after a Senate filibuster.

In October his second grandchild, Lucinda Robb, was born. LBJ invited his successor, Richard M. Nixon, to the White House to being the handing over of presidential power.

CZECH HERO

Alexander Dubcek, 47, who gave Czechoslovakia a "spring" of democratized Communism, brought a national spirit to flower and became his country's hero, was the editors' choice as foreign newsmaker.

Dubcek became head of the Czech Communist Party in January and instituted sweeping reforms — free speech, giving the people a voice in politics, turning the ecnomy to incentives and Western trade.

★ ★ ★

Dubcek met with disapproving Soviet leaders in Cierna July 29 and in Bratislava Aug. 2 and emerged with his reform politics apparently intact. But Soviet tanks and troops invaded his country Aug. 20, captured him and took him to Moscow.

Dubcek was sent back to his country, presumably because his popularity could be used.

PLEA TO COUNTRYMEN

He asked his countrymen to help him rule with occupation troops in Czechoslovakia and to accept the end of the season of liberalism, in order to prevent bloodshed and to hasten troop withdrawal. He tried to preserve a few reforms and stood staunchest against secret police arrests.

Other newsmakers in The Associated Press poll are: Dr. Christiaan Barnard, science; Henry Ford II, business; Albert Shanker, labor; Pope Paul VI, relgion; Denny McLain, sports; Rowan and Martin, entertainment; William Styron, literature, and Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, woman newsmaker.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Christiaan Barnard, 45, of Cape Town, South Africa, performed the first human heart transplant operation in December 1967 and the most successful such operation to last Jan. 2.

Dentist Dr. Philip Blaiberg, who received the new heart in January, 1968, left the hospital in March, has survived liver and lung maladies during the year and currently is leading a normal life.

TRANSPLANT SPOKESMAN

Although Dr. Barnard hasn't done the most heart transplants, he travels a great deal urging the acceptance of transplants, and is the operation's best-known spokesman.

He says the operational technique is mastered; it's usually infection which kills patients has been overcome.

Dr. Barnard believes that if any mechanical device can be transplanted into a human and work in place of an organ, it would be in place of the heart.

Henry Ford II, 51, chairman of Ford Motor Co., this year became chairman of the National Alliance of Businessmen, seeking jobs for hard-core unemployed in 50 big cit: slums.

The organization found jobs for 60,000 and its objective is 100,000 hard-core unemployed working by mid-1969 and 500,000 by mid-1971. Ford said, "People must be given a chance to earn a decent living."

APPOINTMENT RUMORS

Ford also is active in the Urban Coalition, which seeks solutions to urban problems. In February there were rumors that he would be offered the top federal antipoverty post; in September he turned down appointment as a U.S. delegate to the U.N.

Albert Shanker, 40, leader of New York City's United Federation of Teachers, led a city-wide teachers strike that kept 1.1 million children out of school for seven weeks in th worst education tieup in the history of the city.

★ ★ ★

New York, which has had one big school district, set up three experimental small districts with limited local control. One of these, predominantly Negro, transferred 10 teachers out and refused to take back the 10 or the 100 who walked out in protest.

The union, representing most of the city's 60,000 teachers, struck — fearing that decentralization of school districts was being used for union busting and that Negro-controlled districts would transfer white teachers out and promote Negroes.

SCHOOL STARTS LATE

School finally started, seven weeks late, with 33 decentralized districts in a plan to last only through this school year. Shanker wants his union to have to deal with 15 districts at the most.

Pope Paul VI, 71, in July issued a 38-page encyclical, "Humanae Vitae," reaffirming the ban of the Roman Catholic Church on artificial contraception, and a big noisy debate started within the church.

★ ★ ★

There were statements from priests and laymen protesting the encyclical and calls from bishops and the Pope himself to accept and obey. For their public disagreement, some priests in Australia, Ireland, England and the U.S. were suspended from some or all of their offices.

The debate continues, widening from agreement or disagreement with the use of artificial birth control to discussions of individual conscience and the nature of Papal authority.

31-GAME WINNER

Denny McLain, 24, of the Detroit Tigers, is the first baseball pitcher in 37 years to win 31 games. McLain lost only six games in helping the Tigers to their first American League pennant in 23 years.

He lost two games in the World Series to Bob Gibson but his 13-1 victory in the sixth game extended the classic to seven games. Detroit beat St. Louis in the seventh game.

★ ★ ★

Dan Rowan and Dick Martin, both 46, have made "Laugh-In" the year's biggest TV hit.

Using the idea of "cartoon humor," the quick visual picture and the one-line joke, it's a manic-paced show with slapstick, fast skits, non sequiturs and racy lines. And it's got a lot of people in the country saying, "Sock it to me."

PULITZER PRIZE

William Styron, 43, won the Pulitzer Price for fiction this year for "The Confessions of Nat Turner."

The novel, published last year after five years in the writing, is based on a pamphlet supposedly dictated by Turner, a slave and published in 1831.

★ ★ ★

It tells of his being goaded beyond endurance and leading 60 Negroes for two days across the Virginia Tidewater, slaughtering every white person they found.

Styron wrote it in the first person, trying to see and tell it through the eyes of a black man.

JACKIE'S MARRIAGE

Jacqueline Kennedy, 39, widow since 1963, abruptly ended months of speculation about a possible romance with Lord Harlech, 50, with the announcement Oct. 17 that she would marry Aristotle Onassis, 62.

Her wedding to the multimillionare owner of ships and airplanes was on Oct. 20 in a whitewashed chapel on Scorpios, Onassis's private Greek island.

The 45-minute Greek Orthodox ceremony was witnessed by 40 persons, most of them family. The bride wore a pink-beige dress and hair ribbon and for the wedding on Onassis's yacht Christina, added $1.2 million worth of rubies and diamonds.

ROWAN AND MARTIN

State's Editors Pick the George Romney Story as Best of Year

By United Press International

On almost any given day during 1968, George Romney made the front page of Michigan newspapers or was the top headliner on news broadcasts.

Romney, his abortive battle for the presidency and finally his appointment to a cabinet post in the administration of President-elect Richard M. Nixon, was rated the top newsmaker in Michigan in 1968 by UPI newspaper editors and news directors.

★ ★ ★

It was a political story that began well before the beginning of 1968 and should carry on for many more years.

His announcement to seek the presidential nomination was rated the No. 4 story in 1967, but the year-long political infighting, his role at the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach, his campaign assistance to Nixon and finally his appointment as secretary of Housing and Urban Development brought Romney the top spot in 1968.

OH, THOSE TIGERS

The news editors and news directors took a look at the sports section for their second choice — the World Champion Detroit Tigers. They got almost as many votes as Romney but couldn't quite close the gap like they did against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Tigers gave Michigan a story that built slowly, left everybody wondering when the bubble would burst and finally proved, to everybody's delight, that the 1968 Bengals were the best in the world.

★ ★ ★

The jubilation that followed the pennant clincher and the World Series victory with three straight wins were two of the wildest parties in Detroit history as thousands poured into downtown Detroit for the celebration.

Far behind in the battle between Romney and the Tigers for the top spots in the polling was Detroit's record 267-day newspaper strike which began Nov. 15, 1967 and ended Aug. 9, 1968.

A LONG DROUGHT

It was a long newspaper drought that left the state's largest city without its two newspapers — The Detroit Free Press and The Detroit News. In a front-page dispatch detailing the history of the blackout, the News estimated revenue losses for both newspapers was in the millions of dollars as were lost wages to employes.

The News also said it never again would be closed by a strike, having followed a path to train its editorial employes in methods of putting out a newspaper.

★ ★ ★

Rounding out the top 10 news stories in Michigan were:

4. Two mass murders stun Michigan.
5. The battle over daylight savings time
6. Racial strife
7. Open housing act passed by the Legislature
8. Controversial proposal for public aid to parochial schools
9. National candidates make Michigan a target site
10. Two Michigan men receive heart transplants

● On the night of March 16, Eric Pearson, a 57-year-old woodsman, went on a shooting spree that ended after seven persons were gunned down in the small community of Ironwood in the Upper Peninsula.

In early November, Pearson was ordered to serve a life sentence at hard labor in the State Prison at Marquette.

Even more strange, and as yet unsolved, was the mass slaying of the Richard Robinson family in its posh summer home on the shores of Lake Michigan north of Petoskey. Robison, his wife and four children were shot by an unknown assailant. Their bodies lay undiscovered for almost one month. As the year ended, the investigation into the murder of the wealthy Lathrup Village family continued.

● The question of what time it was in Michigan apparently was settled in November when voters turned down a referendum that would have allowed the state to go on daylight time with the rest of the nation.

The first unofficial tabulation showed that daylight time had won. Official figures showed the issue lost by 1,501 votes, and a recount is now in progress.

But three counties in the Upper Peninsula — Chippewa, Mackinac and Luce — still are at odds with the federal Department of Transportation which put the entire UP in the central time zone. Those three counties have opted for the eastern zone so they can be on the same time as the Lower Peninsula.

● Michigan editors, who in 1967 ranked the Detroit riot as the No. 1 story of the year, put racial strife in Michigan cities sixth on the list this year. In the wake of Dr. Martin Luther King's assassination on April 4, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Romney clamped a six day curfew on Detroit, also adopted by its surrounding commnuities in a successful bid to head off a recurrence of the 1967 riot.

A 'COOL' SUMMER

It was a relatively "cool" summer in Michigan as only minor disturbances were reported. Local and State Police in several southern Michigan cities acted swiftly to head off a blowup of any disturbances.

● The legislative act that probably involved more heartache, travail and controversy than any other measure in Michigan in the past two years — open housing — went quietly into effect on Nov. 15.

The fair-housing law broadly prohibited racial discrimination in the sale and rental of property and was ranked the seventh major story of 1968 in Michigan.

Thirty-five Michigan communities enacted their own open housing ordinances. In seven of them — Birmingham, Flint, Pleasant Ridge, Plymouth, Pontiac, Rochester and Saginaw — the proposal was put to a vote by the people, and in all seven it was approved.

● The plight of the state's private and parochial schools created another controversy in Lansing as a bill was introduced in the Legislature that would have provided parents of private school children with payments of $50 for each elementary school child and $100 for each child in high school. The bill died in committee but proponents of the idea pledged a renewed fight in 1969.

A legislative study committee is expected to report on several methods to help the state's parochial schools, including plans for direct subsidies to the schools or parents, sharing of facilities or tax credits to parents.

SUBSIDY STUDIED

Ranked eighth in 1968, the battle between the forces favoring aid to parochial schools and those opposing it could shape up into one of the top stories of 1969.

● Michigan was one of the favorite battlegrounds of Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon and his Democrat opponent, Hubert H. Humphrey, in 1968 as both sought the state's 21 electoral votes. Each paid special attention to the state as did third party candidate George Wallace.

Despite a push by Romney, a late drive by organized labor and late campaign visits by Humphrey delivered the 21 votes to the Democratic ticket. Without a major statewide candidate or race save five constitutional questions, the 1968 campaign went into the books as the ninth-rated story.

● On Sept. 19, Philip T. Barnum, a 49-year-old Kalamazoo accountant, received the heart of a Jackson State Prison inmate who died of a stroke.

SECOND IN DECEMBER

Since that first heart transplant in Michigan, Donald Kaminski, 38, of Alpena, became the second heart transplant recipient on Dec. 2 and was reported recovering satisfactorily as the year ended.

Other top stories receiving votes in the UPI poll of newspaper editors and news directors were the reorganization of county boards of supervisors, the battle between teachers and school boards and between school boards and their communities for money, student unrest on the campuses of state universities, the break between the United Auto Workers and the AFL-CIO and the elimination of justices of the peace and their replacement with district courts.

GEORGE ROMNEY

The Year That Was—8

August: Conventions, Czech Invasion

By JOY STILLEY
Associated Press Writer

A political year crammed with surprises reached its first climax in August during the conventions of the two major parties.

It was no surprise, of course, that Richard M. Nixon was nominated by the Republican Convention at Miami Beach Aug. 7 on the first ballot over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and late entry Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. Nixon had been the front runner all along.

★ ★ ★

But when Nixon selected as his running mate Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, a man virtually unknown until he placed Nixon's name in nomination, the country was taken aback. "Who's Agnew?" asked the man on the street. "I'm stunned," said Agnew himself.

CRACKDOWN PROMISED

Even while Nixon in his acceptance speech was promising a crackdown on lawlessness, lawlessness in the form of looting, fire bombing and sniping was in progress in the black sections of Miami across Biscayne Bay.

Later in the month, still more violence was evident at Chicago, scene of the Democratic National Convention and of frenzied demonstrations by young people. Thousands of youths gathered to express their disenchantment with war, with the political leadership, with the establishment in general.

The convention site resembled an armed camp more than a political rallying point. An unprecedented security system, involving electronic safeguards as well as human guards, was devised to make sure only those who belonged there got into the amphitheatre. Not only were city police out in force, but 5,500 National Guardsmen went on duty and 7,500 federal troops were flown in from Ft. Hood, Tex., to stand by.

When demonstrators attempted to march on the convention hall, police swung night sticks and dragged dozens of protesters into patrol wagons. Police themselves were targets of verbal abuse and missiles. The nation and the delegates saw on television the brief but bloody action. Immediately there were charges of police brutality and countercharges of intolerable provocations by the marchers. Mayor Richard J. Daley was severely criticized by some and praised for his actions by others.

HUMPHREY-MUSKIE

On the convention floor, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was nominated on the first ballot for president. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine was selected for the No. 2 spot.

Far away another political change was in the making under the influence of bullets rather than ballots. Czechoslovakia's 14 million people stood up on the issue of liberalization against the Soviet Union and her 230 million.

★ ★ ★

As the action program, under the leadership of Communist party secretary Alexander Dubcek, sought restoration of personal liberties and other freedoms for the Czechoslovaks, the Soviets bridled.

At last Russia issued an ultimatum to Dubcek: reverse the reform process, reimpose censorship, reassert party authority over all aspects of internal life, get rid of "anti-Socialist forces." Prague leaders refused.

TROOPS MARCH IN

Early on Aug. 21, troops from the Soviet Union, East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria and Hungary moved in. Czechoslovakia awoke to find 70,000 heavily armed soldiers and tanks in the street. Eventually the number of troops reached 600,000.

Although leaders broadcast appeals for calm, blood flowed in ineffective but defiant resistance. At last, "We yield to a superior power," said a Central Committee statement, "but we will never abandon or demands for sovereignty and freedom."

Let This Be A "HAPPY NEW YEAR"

This is the time of year when all our hopes and dreams take on a new meaning. This is the time when new plans and vows are made to change and improve our life.

Many will never get the opportunity to see how long they will hold fast to their pledge, for in one horrifying split second of flesh against tearing, twisting metal they will be in eternity. Others from this same cause will spend weeks, months or even years in bed as hopeless cripples.

Of all the resolutions you make, be sure to make, and keep, the most important one, to be a safe, sane and careful driver, not only throughout the holidays but each and every day of the year.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of Harold (Doc) Strickland our son and brother who passed away January 4, 1968.
God took our loved one
He new best
For only in heaven
There is eternal rest
Will always be missed by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Strickland, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Strickland and Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our Dear Son, Husband, Father and Brother, Bobby Carrol Melton who passed away January 4, 1968:
Sadly and sudden was he called
Of one so dearly loved by all
It was a bitter grief, shocked severe
To part with one we loved so dear.
To love and then to part
Is the saddest thing of the human heart
O Lord, keep green the grave that lies
Under the wide and starry skies
Keep sweet the sleep and give him rest
Whose hands are folded over his breast
Forgotten to the world by some you may be
But dear, to our memory you ever will be Sadly missed by Mother, Daddy and Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our Precious Husband, Daddy and Son, Harold Edward Strickland Sr., (Doc) who was called Home 1 year ago January 4, 1968:
But Oh for the touch of a vanished hand
And the sound of a voice that is still
With all our love, Wife Nancy, Children, Harold Edward Jr., Timmy and DeeAnn, Mother and Richard.

30-DAY OCCUPANCY

That's what one young swinger said when he first glimpsed an Oakland Valley Apartment! Modestly, we agree. We've put all the latest luxuries into these 1 and 2 bedroom apartments . . . sunken living rooms, terrace dining rooms, even private balconies. And just to show we're serious about the Playboy bit, we've built the great new Oakland Valley Club for Oakland Valley Apartment residents and their guests. It has a pool, card and game rooms, exercise room, sauna baths, and a very free-wheeling atmosphere. All yours for as little as $175 a month. P. S.—Reduced rates for Bunnies. Welcome.

DST Recount Set in Midland

MIDLAND (AP) — A recount of votes on the daylight savings time proposition which was defeated across the state in the Nov. 5 general election is planned for next Thursday in Midland.

Nine paper ballot precincts and two machine-voting precincts in Midland County are involved.

Warren Decker from the office of the Secretary of State will oversee the recount by the Midland County Board of Canvassers.

Jim Brown Fined, Then Backs Judges

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Movie actor Jim Brown paid a $300 fine Friday on his plea of no contest to a charge of interfering with a law officer.

"I'm glad this is all over," the 32-year-old former Cleveland Browns fullback told newsmen after paying the fine plus $75 in court costs. "I think the judge did what he felt was right. We must have faith in our judges."

★ ★ ★

Superior Court Judge Mario Clinco gave Brown the choice of paying the fine or spending 60 days in jail.

Brown was accused of interfering with a deputy sheriff trying to enter Brown's West Hollywood apartment June 9 after neighbors complained about a disturbance.

91st Congress Ready for Immediate Problems

he turns over the White House to

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 91st Congress gets down to business in earnest Monday with a more liberalized Senate leadership and enough immediate work to provide clues on the mood that will greet the new president.

After a joint session with the Senate to certify presidential election returns, the House is expected to take up Monday the question of pay raises for congressmen, Cabinet members and the President.

The Senate faces the biennial effort to gut the filibuster rule, plus debate on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty that President Johnson wants ratified before Richard M. Nixon Jan. 20.

★ ★ ★

Related Story, Page C-5

Democrat Edward M. Kennedy and Pennsylvania Republican Hugh Scott upset conservatives to capture their parties' No. 2 positions.

In the only other important race, Michigan's Robert P. Griffin lost an 11th hour bid to beat out Colorado's Gordon Allott for the Republican Policy Committee chairmanship.

MIXED REACTION

Kennedy's defeat of Louisiana's Russell B. Long by 31 to 26 vote and Scott's defeat of Nebraska's Roman Hruska by a 23 to 20 margin drew mixed reaction on whether it would lead to greater muscle for liberals.

★ ★ ★

The immediate impact was expected to be more psychological than practical, however, since the whip in either party has seldom exerted strong influence.

It has, however, been a useful stepping stone and Kennedy's victory was seen as a first step toward a possible 1972 bid for the White House.

★ ★ ★

On the Republican side of the Senate aisle, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois was re-elected unopposed as minority leader. He said Scott's upset of Hruska in the tussle for the post vacated by the primary defeat of California's Thomas Kuchel, would bring no great changes in Republican policy.

APOLLO ROCKET ROLLS TO PAD—The Saturn 5 rocket to launch Apollo 9 astronauts James A. McDivitt, David R. Scott and Russell L. Schweickert Feb. 28 rolls to a launch pad yesterday. Moving the 363-foot-tall space machine and its launching tower the 3½ miles to the pad is a tanklike transporter, hidden from view beneath the launch platform. The photo was taken from atop a 525-foot-tall moon rocket assembly building. (Story, page A-5.)

Nixon Transition in Final Phase

NEW YORK (AP) — After offering a toast to the President of the United States, Richard M. Nixon returned to New York early today for the final phase of his preparations to assume that office himself.

The president-elect planned to begin naming top deputies to his Cabinet officers, but a Nixon associate said it now is clear that there will be vacancies in some of those positions when he takes office Jan. 20.

★ ★ ★

Nixon was expected to announce today the appointment of Elliot Richardson, attorney general of Massachusetts, as undersecretary of state, and U. Alexis Johnson, U.S. ambassador to Japan, as undersecretary for political affairs.

In Chicago last night Nixon offered a salute to President Johnson the man he will succeed.

LAUDS CHOICE

"He has been a man who has worked as hard in that office as anyone who has ever held it," Nixon said at a dinner honoring two of his Cabinet officers and his budget director.

Republican Nixon said Democrat Johnson is dedicated to peace and is deeply disappointed that it has not been achieved. Nixon said he differs with Johnson on policy but not on dedication. "Tonight I truly salute him," he said.

★ ★ ★

He noted the Chicago dinner was the last such affair he would attend before inauguration day and this his last opportunity for at least four years to toast the President

The Chicago dinner honored Secretary of the Treasury-designate David M. Kennedy, Secretary of Labor-designate George P. Shultz and Robert P. Mayo, who will be budget director.

W. Clement Stone, an insurance executive and Republican financial supporter, was host to more than 400 people at what was termed a unity dinner.

Restaurateur Is Charged After Lazaros Complaint

A 37-year-old Grosse Pointe Parke restauranteur and alleged a Mafia lieutenant was arrested yesterday and charged with extortion on a complaint filed by Peter Lazaros, self-admitted underworld figure.

Peter V. Cavataio, 37, was arrested on a warrant requested by Oakland County Prosecutor Thomas Plunkett. He was taken into custody by State and Southfield police at his Southfield restaurant, which he owned in partnership with Lazaros.

Lazaros' complaint charged that between Aug. 15 and Oct. 15, Cavataio threatened Lazaros and his family with bodily harm, and tried to take over his half of the restaurant without payment.

Lazaros said he had invested about $5,000 in the restaurant — one of the franchised Biff's restaurants.

SECOND ARREST

Cavataio is the second alleged Mafia member to be arrested on complaint by Lazaros. Joseph Barbara, Jr., chief operator of the Tri-County Sanitation Services Inc., and alleged Mafia boss is charged with raping Lazaros' wife and trying to extort money from her while Lazaros was in prison.

Barbara is awaiting trial on both charges. His conduct toward Lazaros's wife supposedly convinced Lazaros to talk to police regarding Mafia activity.

Lazaros had been serving a four-to-eight year prison sentence on fraud. He was released in October by a federal court order to appeal his conviction.

Since his release, Lazaros has been under constant State Police protection after he reportedly began telling about Mafia operations in the Detroit area.

Both he and Cavataio were listed as members of the Mafia by former Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards in testimony befor a congressional committee.

Cavataio was scheduled for arraignment on the extortion charge today.

House to Seat Powell, but . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, the cocky and often criticized Democrat from New York's Harlem, is a member of the House again — but under orders to have his pay docked by $25,000.

He also was stripped of seniority built up during 11 terms as a congressman.

The House came to this conclusion yesterday after a five-hour wrangle — which was itself the culmination of a two-year hassle over Powell's status.

★ ★ ★

He was excluded from the past Congress by House vote, after an investigating committee charged him with misuse of more than $40,000 in public funds — mainly by putting his nonworking wife on the payroll and by permitting private trips to be paid out of committee funds.

Since then, his constituents reelected him twice — once in a special election and again last November.

SWORN INTO OFFICE

Powell took the oath of office after the resolution to seat him with the punishment condition attached had been adopted.

But later, at a news conference, he replied to all questions about paying the fine by saying "I'll see my lawyer." At the same time, Powell said he was represented at a conference of leaders that worked out the compromise to seat him.

★ ★ ★

House sources said there appears to be no way he can stay in the House and avoid paying the fine, unless he can obtain a court order blocking it. The clerk is instructed to collect it from his $30,000 a year pay at the rate of $1,150 a month.

Asked whether he considered he had purchased a House seat for $25,000, Powell grinned and said, "Maybe I'm an emancipated slave." He added, "It might be a good idea if everybody had to pay $25,000 to get in here."

TURNED DOWN PLAN

The House rejected a resolution to seat him without conditions and another to refer the whole matter to another special committee.

Pontiac is selling in third place in the industry for the ninth consecutive year.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Division established five monthly and 11 ten-day all-time sales records. DeLorean said Pontiac expects to sell "over a million" units in 1969.

More Officers Quiting N-Subs

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Twenty-nine naval officers qualified for nuclear submarine duty turned in resignations during one week in November, the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot said today.

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, has sent a classified message to the commanders of the Atlantic and Pacific submarine fleets requesting information on the problem of retaining officers, the story said.

★ ★ ★

It said Capt. William S. Busik public affairs officer for the Bureau of Naval Personnel, confirmed the rash of resignations.

There are 1,539 places in the Navy for officers with nuclear training with 122 of them ashore. The officers man Polaris-missile carrying subs and attack craft.

FIGURES CLASSIFIED

The Navy has classified by-the-month figures on resignations for the nuclear submarine officers in an unprecedented move, the paper said.

★ ★ ★

The article quoted Busikas saying junior officers "are leaving the service at an unsatisfactory rate. A study being conducted should indicate what the actual situation is."

★ ★ ★

According to articles in official Navy publications, the service is losing men because of inability to rotate nuclear sub officers away from sea billets after a reasonable period at sea, long hours, time away from home, attractive job opportunities for nuclear trained personnel, pressure to keep abreast of new nuclear developments and monotony of nuclear submarine duty.

Road Knightmares

FLINT (AP)—Four good Samaritans in Flint probably wish they had minded their own business when they went to the aid of a Genesee County Sheriff's Department car yesterday.

The cruiser became mired in snow and mud on a rural road while deputies were answering a routine trespassing call.

★ ★ ★

The driver of a Jeep happened by and offered to help. All four drive wheels on the utility vehicle became neatly stuck. Then cam a pickup truck, which, with a mighty tug, slipped into the comunal mess.

A farmer with a sturdy tractor offered his services and nearly tipped over before sinking to the axles.

★ ★ ★

Then a brave little snowmobile came by. The driver threw a rope around the tractor, and with a hefty heave, tore off the back of the snow machine.

Finally, someone summoned a wrecker, which managed to haul out snowmobile, tractor, pickup truck, Jeep and sheriff's car.

There were no trespassing arrests.

Levin to Leave Dem Post

SANDER LEVIN

LANSING (AP) — State Sen. Sander M. Levin, D-Berkley, said in Lansing early today that he will not seek a second term as state Democratic party chairman.

★ ★ ★

Levin's intention to step down from the party leadership was reported by a Lansing radio station.

★ ★ ★

The 37-year-old veteran of two terms in the Michigan Senate denied he was resigning because of plans to seek statewide office in 1970. He said he wished to devote more time to legislative matters and his family. Levin and his wife, the former Virginia Schlafer, have three children.

Michigan Democrats meet next month in convention in Detroit and are to vote then on a party chairman.

Round Table for Talks OK'd, but Division Disputed

PARIS (UPI) — Western diplomats said today all four sides had agreed on a round table for the expanded Vietnam war talks but still disagreed whether the table would be divided.

Diplomats close to the stalled talks expressed optimism the long hassle over procedures for the opening of the conference may be reaching its final stage.

★ ★ ★

The Communists yesterday announced their willingness to drop all remaining procedural issues deadlocking the talks, including officially calling the conference a "four-party" meeting, if the allies would agree to a solid circular table.

★ ★ ★

The surprise move by North Vietnam and the Vietcong left the old shape-of-the-table issue the only one delaying start of the conference.

1 ISSUE LEFT

And with both sides willing to sit at a circular table, the only issue that remained was whether it will be symbolically marked off or divided to preserve U. S. and South Vietnamese demands the conference be "two party" negotiations.

★ ★ ★

The diplomats said there had been such progress toward breaking the deadlock that has held up the start of the talks since Nov. 6 that a final agreement could come as early as next week. However, the final issue is touchy and the start of the talks could be delayed for some time.

★ ★ ★

The closest the two sides have come to final agreement on the table issue is a proposal by the United States, approved by South Vietnam, to meet around a solid circular table divided by a thin stripe of green baize.

Hanoi and the Vietcong have rejected that proposal and five other presented by the United States for a divided round table.

Saigon has again reiterated it will only accept a table with such a demarcation to stress its view the Vietcong does not have status equal to the South Vietnamese government.

900 in State Strike Gasoline, Oil Suppliers

DETROIT (AP) — About 900 oil and chemical workers struck gasoline and fuel oil suppliers in southern Lower Michigan today.

It was not immediately clear how much effect the strike might have on supplies of fuel oil used for heating homes and institutions such as hospitals, as temperatures hovered near zero in many areas.

★ ★ ★

The strike by three Michigan units of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union — in the Detroit area, at Alma and in Muskegon — was part of a nationwide walkout by 60,000 workers ordered by the union.

"I see no reason for any panic buying," said O. W. Britton, general manager of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association of Detroit.

"Every gasoline station has a few day's supple on hand and there are enough major chains unaffected to take care of immediate needs," said Britton. You might not be able to drive to any station and get gas but there will be gas."

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Detroit Local 7-839 of the striking union said an offer had been made to supply essential customers such as hospitals and nursing homes.

Struck in the Detroit area were Cities Service Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Humble Oil and Refining, Mobil Oil Corp., Pure Oil Division of Union Oil of California, Shell Oil Co., Sinclair Oil Co. and Texaco.

Several other oil firms — including Standard Oil, Boron, Marathon, Sunoco and several independents — either are nonunion, are represented by other unions or have unexpired contracts with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers.

Nation's Red Party Hits Demands

Stern Warning to Restless Czecks

PRAGUE (AP) — The 21-member presidium of the Czechoslovak Communist party today issued a stern warning that "public ultimatums and demands" in this occupied nation are getting out of hand.

A declaration that apparently followed an all-night meeting of the party's top leadership hinted that Czechoslovakia might suffer further Soviet intervention if "certain elements" continue to campaign for the return of freedoms lost in the Soviet invasion last August.

Prague Radio broadcast the text of the declaration.

It called on the nation to unite behind party decisions in November and December that slowed down reforms planned before the August invasion to "normalize" relations with the Kremlin.

"The implementation of these program objectives will be possible only if we proceed in a well-thought-out manner both in internal and external relations," the declaration said. "Society cannot continue to live tossed by conflicts and tensions on the brink of political crisis.

"A dangerous situation has been arising recently. In the last few weeks there have developed broadly based campaigns which are evoking distrust toward the party and state leadership and are bringing to a head problems which in their consequences might endanger the basic interests of our nations and our state."

★ ★ ★

The declaration went on: "Various ultimatums, demands are made which are creating permanent unrest in the public, arouse emotions which can be easily abused against the true interests of our people."

This referred to widespread petitions from workers, students, scientists, intellectuals and other groups demanding an end to press censorship, more information on the activities of the leadership and retention of progressive National Assembly Chairman Josef Smrkovsky when a new parliament is formed later this month.

'UNJUSTIFIED'

The declaration referred to workers' threats of strikes as "completely unjustified."

The declaration castigated Czechoslovak news media for failing to support the party decisions of November and December, as the Soviets had demanded, and conducting campaigns "which violate the united advance of the party and society."

The press has been giving widespread attention to the public campaign for progress in stalled reforms.

The declaration warned: "It is easy to unleash a movement, but it is more difficult to bear its consequences."

Rolling Stone Kills 7

Weapon Is Found Hidden on Prisoner

A spoon fashioned into a crude knife was found yesterday, concealed on an Orion Township man standing trial for kidnaping and rape.

The discovery, by an Oakland County sheriff's deputy, of the weapon on Raymond Spring, 24, of 245 Indian Lake was made at the Oakland County Courthouse following a tip from the county jail where he is being held.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Wayne Brause burst into the office where Spring and his court-appointed attorney, Daniel Devine were conferring, searched the prisoner and found the 4-inch blade inside his shoe, according to Brause.

A spokesman at the jail said the weapon was fashioned at the jail by scraping a tea spoon handle on cement.

"I was going to use it on one of the guards on the way back to jail," Brause quotes Spring as telling him.

Spring is one of four Pontiac-area motorcycle club members accused of inflicting a nightlong ride of rape, injury and terror on a young Pontiac couple last September.

The knife was discovered before testimony in the second day of the trial had begun.

Spring and the other defendants, James L. Davidson and James R. Perna, both 18-year-old Oxford residents, and Percy Greenwood, 21, of Pontiac, stood mute at their examination and now are being tried without a jury.

Crime-Fighting Devices Given Top Priority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The research half of the Justice Department's new crime control agency has given top priority to development of "Dick Tracy" type two-way radios and night vision devices for policemen.

Both were developed by the Army for use in Vietnam and are expected to be refined for local police within about two years.

Dr. Ralph Siu, associate administrator for research at the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, outlined his program yesterday during a briefing with Administrator Patrick V. Murphy and Associate Administrator Wesley A. Pomeroy.

Siu said the two devices had been given "the highest priority" because they were the items police forces throughout the country want most.

Wisconsin Fires Kill 12 Children

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Deaths of 12 children in less than 24 hours have prompted firemen to issue warnings about home heating units, overworked during a in Bloomer in northwestern Wisconsin.

Seven children died late Thursday when flames destroyed their farm home in Bloomfer in Northwestern Wisconsin.

★ ★ ★

Bodies of two youngsters were found yesterday after fire destroyed a fashionable dwelling in Bayside, a Milwaukee suburb whcih lacks fire hydrants.

An Appleton businessman and his three children were found dead yesterday in their rural northern Wisconsin cabin near Keshena, evidently victims of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The seven children, aged 11 to less than 1 year, were killed when fire broke out in the furnace room of their two-story home and swept out of control in weather 15 degrees below zero.

The 13-year-old son, barefoot and wearing only pajamas, ran a half mile through snow to a neighbor's home for help. He and his brother were treated for cuts and frostbite.

22 Cong Killed in Drive to Foil Red Buildup

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. infantrymen teamed with Navy patrol boats and rocket-firing helicopters to corner and kill 22 Vietcong in the Mekong Delta, and American troops killed 39 Reds in a drive to disrupt a Communist buildup against Saigon, U.S. spokesmen said today.

The guerrillas killed three Americans in fighting near Saigon.

★ ★ ★

U.S. ships blasted North Vietnamese positions in the demilitarized zone (DMZ), and Communists in the border strip fired at U.S. spotter planes.

The Delta battle broke out yesterday when U.S. 9th infantry division troops spotted 30 Vietcong pushing through swamps near Sa Dec., 60 miles southwest of Saigon, military spokesmen said.

NAVY HELPS

They called in help from 10 Navy patrol boats and U.S. Cobra helicopter gunships which opened fire with rockets and machine guns from two sides while the inafntrymen hemmed in the Reds on the other side.

Caught in the cross fire, the Vietcong fought until near dusk. Only eight managed to escape.

The Communists caught a U.S. Army 1st Infantry Division unit in intensive automatic weapons fire 46 miles north of Saigon, killing three U.S. GIs and wounding 25, military spokesmen said.

Helicopter gun ships and army artillery finally drove off the attacking Communists an hour after the fighting broke out near An Loc. The 1st Infantry Division unit lost three dead and 25 wounded. The Communists apparently suffered no casualties, military spokesmen said.

South Vietnamese troops found another large weapons storehouse in the Mekong Delta 140 miles southwest of Saigon yesterday. Three other arms storehouses within 32 miles of Saigon yielded hundreds of grenades, weapons, mortar rounds and fuses and primers.

Flu Ills Kill 3,594

ATLANTA (AP)—Influenza-pneumonia has claimed 3,594 lives in 122 cities since Dec. 7, almost double the normal expected mortality rate, health officials say. But they say a peak in the epidemic is expected in a week or two.

★ ★ ★

The National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta reported that the number of deaths recorded in the control cities is 1,608 more than would have occurred if the country had not been hit by a Hong Kong flu epidemic.

I-69 Given Priority

I-275 Project is Postponed

Construction of I-275, proposed by the Michigan State Highway Department as a north-south freeway connecting I-696 in Farmington Township with I-75 north of Clarkston, has been postponed.

The project was submitted as high priority to the federal government when it became evident last year that Michigan might extend its interstate program.

★ ★ ★

Henrik Stafseth, chief deputy commissioner of the State Highway Department, said the state had instead been allowed 60 miles of new construction for the completion of I-69 between Marshall and Flint.

An additional grant of $104 million will be received for that purpose, Stafseth said.

The state has already constructed 30 miles of the freeway on a 50-50 cost-sharing basis. The remaining 60 miles fall under the federal government's 90-10 distribution plan on funds.

Stafseth said that besides giving I-275 higher priority, his department had also recommended the extension and improvement of the old Davison Freeway in Detroit. At the bottom of its list, the deputy said, were I-69 from Marshall to Flint and from Flint to Port Huron.

★ ★ ★

He implied that, though I-69 is an important route, he felt that had the state had more say in the use of federal funds, the money might have been better spent.

Stafseth said the department is currently engaged in a five-year needs study which will be ready by 1970. He said on the basis of that study, the State Highway Department hopes it may convince Congress to end its interstate program and allow more concentration on other road needs.

MAKE OVER PAGES

Dress to Suit Your Age, Figure

According to one well known American designer, all fashion is getting younger.

You may be too young to remember when fashion wasn't as "young" as it's come to be, inclusive of short skirts.

If you aren't a youngster, you need the assurance that those who create trends often start by exaggerating to make a point. Otherwise, it would take longer than the usual five years to accustom our eyes to an emphatic change.

Assuming you were reluctant to adopt the overblouse dress or chemise and are now loath to give up either, you can understand the way fashion works.

Keep in mind the observation that a well dressed woman looks happy in the clothes of her time. This doesn't mean she looks inappropriately-dressed. It does mean she's done some experimenting, kept an open mind, and cared enough about her appearance to find her version of this or that fashion.

Young and well-mannered (if that's the phrase occuring to you) clothes are always yours for first-hand looking.

You may not read about them in headlines or see them on television. But shop in your favorite stores and you'll discover that fashion never changes in one respect. It's always for everybody.

★ ★ ★

Hemlines can be let down. Belts are in again but remain optional. Sleeves are as prevalent as no sleeves. And pants aren't cause for panic. Fashion has come around to paper, but not, to put it mildly, to the exclusion of fabric. The same can be said of pants versus skirts.

FIGURE

Fashion models just seem to be able to wear everything. Actually, their figures are as unlike as yours and mine. Spending more time trying on clothes than wearing them, models find out faster than the average person what they wear best.

Such specifics as your height, the length of your waistline, the length of your legs, and the number of your birthdays are more important for some clothes than for others.

So, too, is whether you have a short or long neck, a small or full bosom, and thin, medium-pretty, or extremely pretty arms and legs.

★ ★ ★

Just as books on interior decoration can give you an idea or two for your own purposes, fashion shows are worth watching. But what you need most of the time is enthusiasm and a full length mirror.

The answer as to whether you will wear what's new will often change with a decided change in fashion — as you see more and more women accepting the change.

Don't change your mind because you can't turn down a wonderful buy. Talk yourself into paying more for whatever you are sure is worth it, but never less for what raises a doubt. As for what is worth paying more, it could be a superior fabric, a longer period of wearability, or an effect.

His Wild Oats Costing More Than Bargained For

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Believe it or not, my husband makes $35,000 a year, but we are so broke he has considered leaving his body to a medical school to save the expense of a funeral.

The reason Freddy is so broke is because he was married twice before and he has to support three families. So now he is throwing a small fortune away on wives and children he never sees. It is like buying oats for a dead horse.

I don't say he should let his ex-wives and children starve to death, but both his ex-wives are staying single and bleeding him for all he's worth, just to be mean.

How can Freddy get the alimony and support money reduced? Don't tell us to ask a lawyer. If it weren't for lawyers we wouldn't be this broke.

"HARD UP" IN HOLLYWOOD

DEAR HARD UP: When you want legal advice, your best bet is still a lawyer. The "horses" for whom Freddy is buying oats are still very much alive. And when a man changes "horses" three times, he had better have enough "oats" to stock Santa Anita. It looks like you picked a losing oat-burner, Kiddo.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Whoever said teen-age years were the happiest didn't know what they were talking about. I am 13 and I am not the least bit happy. Let me explain.

I can't date.
I can't wear heels.
I can't wear lipstick (even pale pink).
I can't wear nail polish (any kind).
I can't shave my legs.
I can't wear short or slacks.
I can't wear low-back dresses.
I can't listen to the radio or watch TV when I want to.
I can't stay overnight at anybody's house.

Had enough? Well, I have. I told my mother that she will regret it some day. And she will, too. I've been thinking of running away. I would, but I don't have any place to go. Please tell me what to do. I don't deserve this.

★ ★ ★

DEAR SICK: Your mother is probably sick, too—of being battled. The things you would like to do are privileges teen-agers earn by showing they are mature enough to handle them.

★ ★ ★

One of the first signs of maturity is the ability to accept a decision without putting up an argument. Accept your mother's decisions for a while, and see what happens.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for telling the wife of a Mason to quit pestering her husband for "secrets" of the lodge or she'd lose her Mason by degrees.

★ ★ ★

In the first place, Masonry is NOT a secret society. Everything one would want to know about the organization, its principles and teachings can be found in the public library. The only things which a member may not disclose are the signs, grips and means of recognition.

★ ★ ★

My mother was against my joining the Masons at first, but when she learned that Masonic work benefits the wives and families even more than its members, and in every degree, the admonition of a member's duties is "to God, your family, your country and yourself," she was proud that I had joined.

Outdoor Games Spoil Joy of Owning Home

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: We have just purchased a home in a nice suburb after living in a noisy section of the city. It seems the previous owner of our house was quite chummy with one of our next-door neighbors.

★ ★ ★

The next-door neighbor and the previous owner agreed to the neighbor's tying an outdoor spotlight on a tree on our land so all of the men would be able to play horseshoes in the evening all summer long. My husband and I don't want the light on our tree or all the men in the neighborhood in our yard all summer.

★ ★ ★

I'm afraid we wouldn't be able to entertain our friends, go to sleep early or fully enjoy this big investment.

We want to handle the situation tactfully. What do you suggest? — Louise

★ ★ ★

Dear Louise: You have every right to use your yard as you wish, but if you want to remain friendly with your neighbors you'll have to use a great deal of tact.

★ ★ ★

I suggest that you think of something specific you would like to do with that piece of your property and then say to your neighbors: "We really had planned a rock garden (or playground, or whatever) for this corner — would you mind very much moving your horseshoe pit to your own yard?" Then proceed to do what you have said you planned.

If they move the pit, they will probably move the light too, since it will no longer be in the right place.

SHOWER

Dear Mrs. Post: Several weeks ago I received an invitation to participate in a "parcel post" shower for my neice. She lives easily within driving distance. I wondered whether this "parcel post shower" was proper. — Mrs. Olsen

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Olsen: Showers, as I have said so often, should be friendly gatherings with as much emphasis on an intimate social occasion as on the gifts. A "parcel post" shower for my niece. She "loot" but it certainly ignores the social aspect.

Ordinarily those obligated to bring a gift are pleasantly entertained in return. In the shower suggestion mentioned the obligation is there — with no reward.

His bride, Sue Sims, is secretary of the Manawatu Parachute Club, but she decided to go by car.

A Cheery Fire Crackles In Fruitwood-Paneled Family-Room Fireplace

Baby Spoons Mounted On Framed Black Ovals In Living Room Grouping

An Atmosphere of Welcome

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Heirlooms and contemporized adaptations of Early Americana blend happily to create an atmosphere of welcome and warmth in the Oakland Township colonial of the E. Lee Parkers.

"The clock on the landing," said Mrs. Parker, leading from the foyer into the formal living room, "belonged to my great grandfather. It's over 125 years old. And the smell of wood smoke still clings to the case."

Carpeted in a rich green twist, the living room features pale green walls and mist-green antique satin draperies.

OPEN HUTCHES

Grouped between the arrangement's two open hutches are a tole clock, baby spoons mounted in black ovals, crystal candlesticks and a green floral display in a pedestal container.

Twin button-backs in a green, gold, brown and rust print share the room's modified bay with an octagon table topped by an eagle lamp.

In the adjoining dining room, an Early-American print in green-on-off-white dresses the wall above the pale green dado.

Living green accents are introduced in the white milk glass planter centering the oval spoon-legged table. Deep green candles in milk glass candlesticks complete the centerpiece. Lighting the area is a polished-brass drop fixture with hurricane chimneys.

PAUSE TIME

The crackling fire in the nearby family room invites family and guests alike to pause and warm themselves on the cheery hearth. Paneled in fruitwood, the room is floored in a polished oak parquet.

On either end of the moss green wingback sofa are drop-leaf maple tables lighted by matching polished brass lamps. The Della Robbia wreath above the sofa adds bright color interest to the room's autumn-toned color theme.

Unresolved Inflation Threat Will Stay to Vex Nixon

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The war-spawned inflation that couldn't be knocked out by the Johnson administration in 1968 will continue to dominate the fever chart of the U.S. economy in 1969.

Even when a sizable fraction of 1968 had yet to unfold, Chairman Arthur M. Okun of the Council of Economic Advisers sized up the coming year as a rough one.

★ ★ ★

"If there was ever to be a year of bliss for the American economy," he said in a looking ahead speech, "it will not be 1969."

★ ★ ★

The new year Okun sketched for his listeners — and his guesses tally with those of many economists and businessmen of both parties — features a slowing down of economic activity to a less inflationary pace in the first half, followed by a picking up from midyear on.

Planned for and induced by the Johnson administration as an inflation buster, the deceleration is intended to be a slowing, not a halting, of the rate of expansion.

The 1968 growth of the Gross National Product — market value of all of the nation's goods and services — from $790 billion to an estimated $860 billion represented an increase of five per cent in "real" growth — far too hot by the administration's yardstick.

★ ★ ★

Okun, for instance, has pointed to "anything between one and three per cent" as the target for the period up to mid-1969.

With prices rising at the fastest rate since the Korean war, the administration went to the mat twice with big business in 1968 to spike price hikes it felt would rosen the situation. Bethlehem Steel and Chrysler Corp yielded to White House muscle and rolled back part of their higher price schedules.

But these were relatively minor skirmishes. The administration fixed its hopes in the inflation battle mainly on the 10 per cent income tax surcharge that began pinching the flow of money into consumers' pocketbooks last July.

Although during the November campaign the surtax would be scrapped when he got in, the betting is better than even that he will ask to have it extended beyond its scheduled expiration date, June 30, though perhaps at a rate less than 10 per cent.

★ ★ ★

When the surtax was slapped on, many observers expected dramatic and speedy dampening of consumer demand, followed by production cutbacks and a rise in the number of jobless.

But it has proved a study in slow motion, some critics writing it off as a flop.

NO SALVATION SEEN

"Instead of being red hot," the newsletter of the National League of Insured Savings Associations said, "the economy has become white hot, and the prophets can't point to anything now that might slow it down."

But most business spokesmen haven't given up on the surtax. They see emerging in early 1969, months behind schedule, the cooling off they have been watching for since fall.

★ ★ ★

They look for smaller wage gains for labor, tighter profit margins for business and some rising of unemployment, currently at a 15-year low.

While few forecasters predict an end to the Vietnam war in 1969, the belief that it will become quieter and less costly is widespread.

MILITANT LABOR ?

Labor may not react docilely to leaner wage gains if they materialize. Even with firstyear wage increases averaging about seven per cent in major contracts negotiated in 1968, the year had more than the usual number of man-days lost to strikes.

Housing starts are expected to top 1.6 million units in 1969, up 8 to 10 per cent from 1968, when sales didn't seem to suffer from mortgage rates averaging above seven per cent.

Willingness of borrowers to be saddled with loans at higher interest was cited repeatedly by economists as evidence that "inflation psychology" was getting into the public's blood, leading to decisions to "buy now" in the belief things can only get worse in the future.

This kind of thinking has "gone pretty far" and overcoming it will be one of the most formidable challenges the new administration faces, said Guy E. Noyes, senior vice president of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co.

CONTROVERSIAL MEASURE

The controversial surcharge was voted by Congress in June after Johnson had pleaded for it more than a year. The price he finally paid to get it was to agree to cut $6 billion from the budget requests made in January.

Unpalatable as these gun-at-the-head reductions were to the administration, they and the increased inflow of tax dollars are working a dramatic change in the size of the federal budget deficit.

The President said in mid-December that when the books are closed at the end of the fiscal year next June 30 they might even show a modest surplus — this just one year after government ran $25.4 billion in the red, the biggest deficit since World War II.

The surtax-spending cut package also had profound impact overseas, where money men who fretted about the soundness of the dollar early in the year interpreted the actions as a sign the United States was putting its house in order.

CHANGING THE BALANCE

There was also applause abroad for the crash program the Johnson administration adopted to rebound from the $3.6 billion balance of payments deficit incurred in 1967.

Balance of payments fiourds as a whole improved substantially during the year despite serious deterioration in their most important component the matching of imports and exports.

While exports showed a healthy rise, imports of foreign goods increased faster, totaling $27.2 billion through October compared with $22 million at the same point in 1967.

Administration analysts said exports for the whole year probably would run ahead of imports by about $1 billion, but they weren't crowing. They had only to turn back to 1967 to find a $4.1 billion surplus — at the time considered just so-so.

STERLING IN TROUBLE

Concern for the dollar was triggered by devaluation of the British pound in November, 1967. Speculators felt the dollar, as the world's other major reserve currency, would be weakened and a rise in the official price of gold from $35 an ounce might be in the offing.

Private gold purchases crescendoed in March to the point where the United States and other nations that had been using their own gold to stabilize the price on the London market decided they couldn't keep it up.

At a rush meeting in Washington they hammered out a communique that said from then on the central banks would sell gold only to one another, letting the supplies on the private market seek their own level.

This "two-tier" system helped take the heat off the dollar. By October, when governors of the International Monetary Fund gathered in Washington, U.S. money once again was in good repute.

CRISIS IN EUROPE

Renewed confidence in the dollar helped keep it out of the line of fire in November when a new monetary crisis boiled up. The imbalance between the suddenly anemic French franc and the supersolid West German mark threatened to imperial a number of other currencies, but no run against the dollar resulted.
