

S. African Man 'Satisfactory' After Heart Transplant

ONE COLOR

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A South African man continued in satisfactory condition today with the heart of a 25-year-old girl pumping his blood after the medical breakthrough yesterday of a human heart transplant.

Louis Washkansky, 55, a Lithuanian-born businessman, was in the critical postoperative period of what Groote Schuur Hospital called the first successful human heart transplant.

Heart specialists around the world were waiting to see if Washkansky's body would accept or reject the heart of Denise Ann Darvall, an accounting machine operator killed in a car crash.

"The longer Washkansky goes on, the better," said Dr. Jacobus G. Burger, medical supervisor of the hospital, "although that does not mean the heart will not be rejected later. The body could decide in 5 or 10 years' time that it doesn't want this heart."

Washkansky had a tracheotomy — a breathing tube inserted in his throat — and could not speak although he was reported fully conscious yesterday afternoon after the five-hour operation. He was being fed and congenial to prevent blood clotting. Dr. Burger said that without the transplant Washkansky would have been dead within a few days because his heart's muscle was worn down.

SURGEONS

The landmark operation was supervised by Dr. Jan. H. Louw, the hospital's chief surgeon, with Prof. Chris Barnard performing the main surgery.

Surgeons removed the heart from Miss Darvall's body first and kept it going by a mechanical pump while they took out Washkansky's damaged heart. They then transplanted the girl's heart into the man's chest and started it beating with jolts from electrodes.

"It was like turning the ignition switch of a car," said Dr. Louw.

Dr. Michael DeBakey, who led the development of the heart pump, said in Houston the transplant "certainly would be a great achievement if they're able to overcome the rejection." Dr. Kenneth Sell of the U.S. Naval Medical Research Institute said there was "quite a definite chance" Washkansky might survive two years or more since several dogs which have received heart transplants are still alive two years afterward.

One abortive heart transplant effort was made in 1964 at the University of Mississippi. Surgeons there kept a patient alive despite a failing heart in a long but futile wait for a suitable human donor. In desperation they finally transplanted the heart of a chimpanzee, which failed after one hour.

The greatest obstacle to success in heart transplants is the human body's own defense mechanism against foreign objects. To suppress this mechanism so it won't attack the transplanted heart, doctors were giving Washkansky a number of drugs. But such drugs so depress the defense mechanism that such harmful foreign objects as germs thrive more easily, creating another hazard.

Pontiac Junior Miss Crowned

"I can't believe it! I never dreamed it would be me!" With these words radiant 17-year-old Patricia Guy stepped forward to receive a wreath of roses and be crowned the new Pontiac Junior Miss at Saturday's pageant at Pontiac Northern High School.

This was the climax of a program sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees in which the six Junior Miss candidates demonstrated physical fitness, talent and poise.

Patricia, a senior at Pontiac Northern High School, is the daughter of Clarence Guy, 386 Maxwell, and Mrs. Sidney Davidson, 352 Voorheis. She received a trophy and $250 in scholarships from Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet and the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The runnerup, Beth Ellen Vershure, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vershure, 1856 Sherwood, Sylvan Lake. A senior at Pontiac Central High School, she received $100 in scholarships and a trophy.

Patricia is a cheerleader, in the pep club, and a member of the student council. She plans to attend Eastern Michigan University next year, and then to teach biology.

Miss Guy will next compete in the state Junior Miss contest to be held Jan. 27 and 28 in Pontiac, also sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees.

School Ruling Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today court-ordered desegregation of all Alabama public school systems.

Alabama's appeal from the ruling, issued March 22 by a three-judge federal court in Montgomery, was rejected. Instead, the Supreme Court affirmed the ruling without a hearing, as urged by the Justice Department.

TALENT SKIT

In her skit for the talent performance she recited "Twas the Night Before Christmas," playing the role of papa. But she had changed from pajamas and a bathrobe into an evening gown by the time she received her crown from last year's Pontiac Junior Miss Johanna Lynn Yansen.

Miss Guy will next compete in the state Junior Miss contest to be held Jan. 27 and 28 in Pontiac, also sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees.

Balmy Weather to Treat Area

The weatherman plays Santa Claus to Oakland County residents as he predicts balmy weather for a preholiday treat.

The swing to springlike temperatures will continue through tomorrow with a few puffy clouds dotting the skies.

Tonight's low will fall in the 28 to 34 range with tomorrow's high slightly above today's predicted 45 degree high.

Wednesday will bring increasing cloudiness with threats of rain by late afternoon or evening.

Today and tonight, precipitation probabilities are near zero per cent. Tomorrow the chance of rain jumps to 10 per cent.

Low temperature reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 27. By 2 p.m. sunny skies warmed the mercury to 44.

Greek Feud in Open

ATHENS (UPI) — A long simmering quarrel between the seven-month-old Greek military regime and supporters of exiled former Premier Constantine Karamanlis broke into the open today.

Two Athens newspapers were banned from newstands for refusing to publish a government statement attacking Karamanlis.

Mekong Delta Fight Rages On

SAIGON (AP) — American infantrymen and South Vietnamese Marines boxed in a Vietcong battalion in the Mekong Delta today and reported killing 200 in a day-long battle that raged into the night.

Initial field reports put U.S. casualties at four dead and 38 wounded, South Vietnamese at 15 killed and 50 wounded.

The delta battle coincided with more of the enemy artillery and rocket attacks which have become the prevailing pattern of the Vietnam war in recent weeks.

Communist troops shelled a U.S. destroyer, killing two Americans and wounding three, made a bazooka attack on the U.S. Army headquarters just outside of Saigon, sank one cargo barge and set another fire, and ambushed an Army convoy.

The fighting in the delta broke out just before 8 a.m. as troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division and the 5th Vietnamese Marine battalion were being landed by Navy armored troop carriers for a sweep.

HEAVY FIRE

The force came under heavy fire from recoilless rifles, small arms and machine guns. U.S. Army helicopter gunships, artillery and Navy gunboats joined in the battle to support the ground troops.

The U.S. Command said heavy contact continued throughout the day and that the allied troops pushed the Communists about 2½ miles northward. At nightfall, there was still moderate to heavy contact.

U.S. Marines turned the tables on the Communists when they ambushed a column of 25 enemy troops two miles south-east of Phu Bai, headquarters of the 3rd Marine Division.

The Marines killed five of the enemy in the brief firefight last night and captured four weapons. One Marine was killed and four wounded.

U.S. Headquarters also announced in a delayed report that an Air Force C-7 Caribou transport crashed from unknown causes last Thursday in a dense jungle area 200 miles northeast of Saigon. All 26 Americans aboard were killed. They included two civilian employees of the U.S. government.

St. Nick Remembers Pets

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fourth in a series on Christmas gift suggestions that are available in Pontiac area stores.

By JUNE ELERT

The elves in Santa's workshop provide something for every member of the family, including its pets. Gift items range from playthings to training manuals to the pet itself.

Kitty would enjoy batting about a fluffy ball with a tiny bell attached. Can-pin in the ball adds to its attraction. In a round metal cage, it sells for under $1; uncaged similar items of multi-colored yarn run about half that price.

A coat for man's best friend comes in cotton poplin, quilted, for about $2. Swaters, knitted or orlon, sell for less than $1.

A nibble cake for hamsters is about 30 cents. All kinds of chewy treats are available for dogs, in shapes of bones,

Hurtling Cable Car Injures 43 in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With passengers screaming in terror, a cable car ran wild down one of San Francisco's steepest hills last night, ramming a car which exploded into flames and crashed into nine others.

Ambulances took 43 persons, most of them from the cable car, to hospitals with burns and bruises. Critically injured was James Van Baalen, 30, of San Francisco.

The six-ton Hyde Street cable car, nearing the end of its two-mile run from Powell and Market streets in a heavy downpour, rolled onto the steep grade and went forward out of control on rain-slick tracks.

According to passengers, the cable car careened for a block and a half down Hyde. Some passengers jumped off.

At Bay Street the car rammed an auto which bounced off others as its gas tank ruptured.

SHEET OF FLAME

"A big sheet of flame hit the cable car," said Jim Kosek, 22, of Clarendon Hills, Ill.

Kosek, just returned from serving in Vietnam, said the cable car seemed to have "lost its brakes."

Several persons were injured in the autos that were hit after the initial impact.

Another cable car passenger, Lorena Matson, 29, of San Francisco, said: "As the cable car started down the steep hill toward Bay Street, the driver said, 'Oh, oh, it looks like we're gonna lose our cable.'"

NOT KIDDING

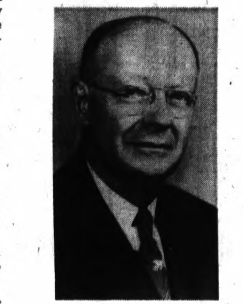

"We thought he was just kidding the tourists, and we laughed. Then we just kept going. Some people jumped off, screaming. There was a white car at Bay Street. Then things were falling. There was fire."

The cable car continued for another block and stopped at North Point Street, its front windshield and the ancient woodwork on the right side smashed. But the steelwork in front appeared intact.

Officer Frank Coombs said he believed the cable car had lost the grip on the sub-pavement cable that pulls the cars up the hills of the city.

Cause of the cable car failure was under investigation.

SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

LBJ May Have to Tell '68 Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is keeping his name off the popularity contest ballot in the New Hampshire primary March 12 but soon after could lose the option of concealing his future political plans.

Johnson has shrugged off questions about whether he is seeking a second elective term. But the bridge he has said he will cross when he comes to it may be just around the bend in the April 2 Wisconsin primary.

In New Hampshire, a candidate's name can't be put on the presidential primary ballot without his consent. In Wisconsin, his name can be entered by a state commission and he must disclaim any intention of running to get it off.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre D-N.H., said in an interview Sunday that in line with the President's wishes, Johnson will not be entered in the popular vote contest but will be represented with a slate of Democratic National Convention delegates.

McIntyre said the President doesn't want to disclose his intentions officially in March in a state where we have only about 85,000 registered Democrats.

'Secrets Recovered From Crash in Viet'

SAIGON (UPI) — A U.S. Air Force courier aircraft crashed Thursday in an enemy-held coastal area of South Vietnam, killing all 26 persons aboard, U.S. spokesmen said today.

Secret material was reported on the craft, a C74 Caribou.

Rescuers reached the wreckage Friday. The crash of the twin-engine plane was attributed officially to "unknown causes."

The Army would not say whether the Thursday crash had been withheld until today. An Army spokesman said "security" and matters concerning the rescue effort were being handled.

But unofficial sources said the plane was carrying classified material. They said the secret cargo was recovered intact Friday, and all the bodies were recovered.

The Army said the plane went down three miles south of Qui Nhon on the central coastline en route from Pleiku to Qui Nhon.

The announcement said the last contact with the craft was when the pilot radioed Qui Nhon he was diverting southward to Nhatrang because of bad weather.

his early childhood in Colorado. He did not plan to become a minister but an engineer. He was graduated from the University of Colorado with a master's degree in engineering.

HIS CONVERSION

It was while Evangelist Billy Sunday was holding revival meetings in Boulder, Colo., that Henry Savage became a Christian.

Following graduation from the university, he decided to go to Moody Bible Institute for a year, specializing in music with the thought of being more efficient in his local church.

Dr. Savage worked with the United States reclamation service in the West for several years and entered the ministry in 1911. He held pastorates in Barron, River Falls, Almond and Baraboo, Wis., before coming to Pontiac in 1924.

Dr. Savage married Bessie Jensen of Barron in 1912.

He preached his first sermon in First Baptist Church on Feb. 1, 1924.

Missionary giving at that time was $1,200. At the present time the annual giving runs over $120,000.

The needs of the world have been kept before the people with over 120 young people of First Baptist Church going out into full-time Christian service during his ministry. Some 40 persons are presently serving in foreign lands.

In the early years, Dr. Savage challenged young people with the need of going out to uncharted areas to organize Branch Sunday Schools. Of these, 15 have become self supporting churches with their own pastor and a strong missionary program.

The family suggests memorials may be made to a special missionary fund in care of First Baptist Church.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain is expected tonight in northern Pacific coastal states with snow inland in the Pacific Northwest. Snow is slated in the northern and central Rockies. Snow flurries are expected in the northern New England states.

SOUNDS WARNING — Secretary of State Dean Rusk presents this study at the luncheon at New York's Hotel Commodore of the United Italian-American Labor Council, Inc., Saturday. He received the council's 4th Freedom Award. The secretary of state said "World peace cannot be maintained unless it is made clear to those who contemplate aggression that the use of force will be met by force and cannot succeed."

McCarthy Backed by Dissident Dems

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy has gained the support of the Conference of the Concerned Democrats in his bid to wrest the Democratic presidential nomination from President Johnson.

Between 2,000 and 5,000 persons from 42 states closed a two-day conference Sunday by shouting their endorsement of McCarthy for the 1968 nomination and unanimously approving a resolution praising the Minnesota lawmaker's "dynamic leadership."

The conference was aimed at finding an alternative to President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

The resolution favoring McCarthy said in part: "McCarthy is a statesman who possesses the qualities of courage, leadership, humility and vision needed to instill faith in our government."

McCarthy announced Thursday he would be a candidate in four and possibly more state.

Before the statement of position was voted upon, Zolton Ferency, who resigned as state Democratic chairman of Michigan in protest of President Johnson's Vietnam policy, addressed the group.

Cardinal Spellman Is Mourned in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — Dressed in the white, red and gold splendor of a Prince of the Roman Catholic Church, the body of Francis Cardinal Spellman lay in state in St. Patrick's Cathedral today.

Thousands of mourners filed by the catafalque, placed in the center aisle, after a solemn high mass of requiem sung Sunday night by Archbishop John F. Maguire and nine concelebrants.

'Anti-Income Tax Drive Succeeding'

The campaign to force a referendum vote on Pontiac city income tax — scheduled to begin Jan. 1 — is approaching a satisfactory climax, according to its chief architect.

Cecil J. Mullin of 570 Lowell said he is confident that the required number of signatures will be gathered before the Dec. 15 deadline.

City commissioners this fall enacted an income tax — 1 per cent for residents, one half per cent for nonresidents working in the city to meet pressing financial problems.

Under regulations governing local income tax ordinances, a referendum vote on the ordinance can be called if some 1,100 registered Pontiac voters sign petitions requesting the vote.

If a referendum election is called the income tax will be delayed at least until July 1, pending outcome of the referendum vote.

U.S. May Push U. N. on Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States may soon press for United Nations Security Council action on Vietnam, authoritative sources said today.

They said chances that the United States would ask the Council to take up the Southeast Asian conflict and try to open the path to a solution have increased considerably because of two recent developments:

- A unanimously passed Senate resolution urging President Johnson to take action to get the world organization involved in trying to find a way out of the conflict.
- Disclosure that the United States in October declined to issue visas for representatives of the National Liberation Front (the Vietcong's political arm), who asked U.S. Secretary General Thant if they could come to New York to lobby their case against Washington.

The State Department has reiterated its willingness to have the NFL represented in any Security Council debate on the war. But U.S. officials said the Johnson administration was prepared to permit Vietcong representatives to come to New York simply for propaganda purposes without being held accountable in some official forum for their actions against the Saigon government.

Birmingham Area News School Sanctions Ruling Will Be Told This Week

BIRMINGHAM — A decision has been made regarding sanctions against the Birmingham School District by the Michigan Education Association (MEA), but the ruling will not be known until later this week.

The Birmingham Education Association asked for the sanctions after contact negotiations with the school district failed or bring about an agreement.

Teachers from the district were at an MEA conference Friday and Saturday at which the application of sanctions was considered by the MEA executive committee.

The sanctions would mean the district would be designated as "an undesirable place to work."

The committee decision was not revealed today, and it is to be officially mailed to the Birmingham teachers before the results can be made known, according to an association spokesman.

A study on what federal funds are available for an airport purchase will be considered by the Birmingham City Commission at their meeting tonight at 7:30 at town which was wrecked by a violent quake last Thursday.

The study was requested after it was learned that Berr Air-Port in Troy, used by many local residents and firms, was to be sold.

Owners of the field announced they had a substantial offer from the Rockwell-Standard firm and would phase out operations there where 145 craft are based.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors studied purchase of the facility, but recommendations are against buying it.

The possibility of communities adjacent to Birmingham joining in a possible purchase has been discussed.

The report indicates that as much as 50 per cent of the purchase price — possibly $2 million total — may be made available under federal programs.

Delays Reply to Thant

Cyprus Chief Balks at Terms

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Makarios of Cyprus delayed his reply today to U.N. Secretary General U. Thant's peace proposals for his island, although Thant omitted parts of a Greek-Turkish agreement to which Makarios objected.

Greece and Turkey accepted the proposals but Turkey had reservations because of two sections that were dropped — one calling for a broader function for the U.N. peace force in Cyprus and one providing special rights for the Turkish Cypriot minority.

Thant said only that the U.N.

force could play a broader role in keeping peace and quiet on the island. U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance wound up his talks with Makarios in Nicosia Sunday without overcoming the Greek Orthodox archbishop's objections to those provisions and another one for disbanding the Greek Cypriot National Guard.

Vance went to Athens and then left for Washington, saying he was "gratified that tension in the area had receded." His choice of words underlined that agreement had not been reached.

At the end of the 3½-hour meeting in Nicosia, Makarios looked pleased, in marked contrast to Vance. He told news-men: "I don't think there is a crisis. I mean there is no reason for it."

As President Johnson's special envoy, Vance had helped Greece and Turkey reach their agreement on moves to prevent war between the two after the Turks threatened to invade Cyprus because of a clash there last month in which 27 Turkish Cypriots were killed. But to make Greece's concessions go down more easily with the Greek public, the strategy was to have the governments respond to an appeal from Thant rather than give way to each other. Thant apparently changed the terms of the appeal after Vance informed him of Makarios' "unyielding resistance."

Michigan Traffic Toll Is Light

Michigan experienced the lightest highway death toll in months this week-end, with only 10 persons dying in auto accidents.

The Associated Press fatality count started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended yesterday at midnight.

The victims:

Marie Scheer, 19, of Grand Rapids, whose car collided head-on with another auto on ice-slicked U.S. 31 in Muskegon County's Norton Township Saturday night.

Thomas Churilla, 44, of Detroit, who was crossing an East Side Detroit street

Saturday night when he was struck by one car and hurled 50 feet into the path of another car. The driver of the first car fled, police said.

Romney Given Boost at Confab

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. George Romney's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination was given a quiet boost in San Francisco over the weekend. "We believe our good governor would make a good president and we have told them so," Lockwood said.

This Green Beret Says U.S. Has Right in Vietnam

By JEAN SAILLE
AVON TOWNSHIP — One does not doubt that any job given Sgt. I.C. Robert G. Crabb will be executed with dispatch. His blue eyes have a way of tightening up to mean business.

Crabb is a soldier — a professional member of the Special Forces — now home on leave after about five years in South Vietnam.

He's brought with him a Vietnamese wife — shy, soft-spoken Lau — and 13-month-old Jason, who peers lovingly at his father through Oriental eyes.

Guests at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Crabb, 1894 South, the trio will be returning to South Vietnam once Crabb's leave is over.

"We have a right to be there," Crabb says about the U.S. role in the controversial war. "I personally believe we should be fighting in North Vietnam rather than in the south, and I believe this country should have employed full strength against the invaders rather than attempt to match them buildup for buildup."

TAKES TO HEART

A man who has lived with the people of the rural country, Crabb takes their problems much to heart.

"We are attempting to buy what time and the freedom to choose them kind of life they will have."

"When a man has been dog-whipped and kicked every day, a human being becomes more or less trained to the role."

"The South Vietnamese are apologetic in the face of any authority; and yet, among themselves in the villages, they act with equality and freedom."

TWO ENEMIES

"On the one hand, the average farmer faces a conspiracy of locally corrupt politicians, and on the other he faces the Communists," Crabb reports.

"You'd be apologetic, too," said Crabb.

"Lau," he said, "could tell you many things if she spoke better English. She's packed a carbine on the back trails many times. Our detachment hired and trained her as a nurse for our dispensary."

Classes Are Delayed in Romeo Because of School Bus Vandals

ROMEO — Classes in some schools were delayed 20 minutes this morning because of school bus vandalism, according to school officials.

Christen Holmes, transportation director, and Lambert Wesolowski, mechanic, said they found the distributor wires cut on about 25 school buses when they reported for work this morning.

A quick repair job had the buses all running, and most students were to school on time, according to Jack Lees, assistant superintendent of education.

Prosecutor to Speak

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Oakland County Prosecuting Attorney S. Jerome Bronson will speak at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Oakland Township Hall in a program sponsored by the Township civil defense office.

His topic will be "Crime! What to Do?"

"She's a bright girl. Her name means that in Vietnamese."

SEEING AMERICA

Lau, just 22 years old, and Jason, have been treated to a considerable view of America by Crabb who brought them to his parents' home the long way around from the West Coast.

"It's a country for which Crabb feels an unabashed patriotism. Recent demonstrations against the establishment do not alarm him."

"It's a country where we should feel free to demonstrate."

SERVED 19 YEARS

The power and the influence of this country are well-known to the 37-year-old veteran of 19 years in the Army. He has lived in Europe, gone into Korea after the war there and spent considerable time in Southeast Asia.

Discounting the threat of Communist China, Crabb believes that country is not as unified as most people would have us believe.

"There are large, scattered areas of China where the people do not adhere to Mao Tse-tung's line," he said.

Crabb also believes that the North Vietnamese have been depleted in manpower and supplies.

SOMETHING'S HAPPENING

"When 25,000 to 30,000 defect from their ranks to aid the South Vietnamese cause, there's something happening," he said.

The lack of specific information regarding the war bothers Crabb, a member of the famed Green Berets.

"When experts confer with experts, we get expert opinions," he said. "They ought to talk with the people."

Santa Will Sneak Into Lake Orion Ahead of Parade

LAKE ORION — Santa will sneak into the village this year prior to the annual Christmas parade.

Due to appear at LS Foodland, 331 S. Broadway, at 9:45 a.m. Saturday, he will precede the parade by 45 minutes.

This year's parade, sponsored by the Merchants' Association and the Orion Area Jaycees, will begin at 10:30 a.m. at Blanche Sims Elementary School.

Composed of 26 entries, including seven floats, the parade will proceed down Florence Street to Flint, west to Anderson, south to Front, west to Broadway, and north to Intermediate Road, according to chairmen Donald DeLong and Shon Allen. Bruce Jacobsen is parade marshal.

Taking part in the parade will be the newly chosen Miss Merry Christmas, Wanda Faye France, 10, and her helpers, Denise Lynn Marlow and Holly Smith.

The girls were recently chosen by drawing in a program sponsored by the Area Jaycees and the Merchants Association.

Troy High Students Will Get Friday Off

TROY — High school students here will have this Friday off due to a teacher workdays, announced Principal Clyde Peterson today.

The day was not included as a vacation day in the school calendar.

Group to Hold Dinner

Press Reader Answers Letter on Open Housing

Mr. Booth wants the government to control and equalize all citizens, as in Russia, where this method has been in effect for years and the Communist party officials hold and control all the wealth. Does Mr. Booth visualize himself as a party official or a common citizen?

It is evident Mr. Booth has not personally toured Detroit in recent years as it appears he is not aware that Detroit is an integrated city, as are its suburbs. A colored doctor lives very close to him in Bloomfield Hills. There are also a few other colored families scattered throughout this area. As these families do live in our area, it is evident that the only thing that stops them is lack of desire or money. Money is the only equalizer of material things, not man-made legislation.

Senator Huber will protect all citizens' rights and their savings when he votes "no" against open occupancy. He is the kind of man that keeps America free and not a slave country.

Something to Think About This Christmas

Why take Christ out of Christmas and just put an "X" in His place? Those who take Christ out of Christmas to the King of all Kings bring disgrace. The "X" could mean anyone's birthday and not the Babe in the stall. So if you dare take Christ out of Christmas, then please don't write Christmas at all.

Reader States Reasons for Not Contributing

I withheld my contribution to the Pontiac Area United Fund for two reasons: Nearly every week someone is collecting money or selling something for some organization supposedly covered by United Fund. Also, the Pontiac Area Planning Council is supposed to plan the future of Pontiac with the best interests of all citizens. Why, then, has a member of the Pontiac Organization of Black Youth been appointed to the council? It does not seem just that a minority voice of militant youths who gain their ends by threats and violence should speak for the entire Negro community in Pontiac.

A group which holds as much power as does the Pontiac Area Planning Council should have only the best minds, both Negro and white, to guide this city.

'All Business Must Operate Competitively'

I do not believe industry is leading people astray. You have to run a business according to the economic principles of a free economy and that means when you sell your products you work and save for a day when business is at a decline. If we work according to a modified socialism, the people do not work competitively and government must eventually take over and competition is dead. We cannot tell business what to charge for their products. They who do not price competitively are soon dead of malnutrition either for want of buyers or for want of capital to maintain operations.

Why do news media fail to mention Dr. Clark's title of M.D. (Medical Doctor)? New Suit

(The Niles Daily Star)

Secretary of Defense McNamara was not happy to see "long-haired youths riding through Saigon on red motor bikes."

He was moved to complain about the apparently carefree Vietnamese youth who pursue a gay life while American men are going to South Vietnam in increasing numbers.

So one of the first acts of President Thieu will be to tighten up the Vietnamese draft regulations and practices.

The minimum age for the draft in South Vietnam has been 20. Officials admit, though, that two out of three 20-year-olds have been getting deferments.

It has been common knowledge that rich merchants and powerful politicians can easily purchase or arrange deferments for their sons and their friends.

It is provoking for Americans to see their sons facing death in Vietnam while military-age Vietnamese shirk their duty. And this situation is not good for the Vietnamese themselves in the long run.

Under the circumstances, it will be well for these Vietnamese youth to have an army uniform in their future.

Aid to Strikers

St. Louis Globe Democrat

Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, is reported ready to push for new laws providing for state payment of relief to strikers after they have been off the job four to five weeks.

Not many years ago, such an outrageous proposal for tax money to finance strikes would have been laughed off as another of Reuther's impractical welfare projects. Today it is a different matter. Four states already have laws giving varying amounts of aid to strikers.

According to the Reuther-type reasoning, strikers are entitled to federal unemployment money because they are just as much out of work as if they had been laid off because of technological or other causes.

That such a preposterous scheme could even be considered says much about the long steps that have been taken toward the welfare state. If the day ever comes when the federal government pays subsidies to strikers, then Heaven help private enterprise. It would be finished.

The cards now are heavily stacked in favor of big unions, such as Reuther's. Because there is no limit on size of these massive armies of union power, Mr. Reuther can force car makers like Ford Motor Co. to grant highly inflationary wages and fringe benefits in order to get back into production.

Instead of further tipping the scales in favor of too-powerful unions, new laws are needed to prevent crippling industry-wide strikes that penalize the public.

David Lawrence Asks:

Is Bobby Behind McCarthy?

WASHINGTON — In these days of devious politics, the country may well wonder just what is back of the announced intention of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota to enter the presidential primaries in an effort to take the nomination away from President Johnson at the 1968 national convention of the Democratic party.

LAWRENCE at the 1968 national convention of the Democratic party.

Is the strategy intended to help Sen. Robert Kennedy get the vice presidential nomination? Is it designed to mobilize the anti-Vietnam war sentiment? Will it in the end unwittingly help LBJ?

These are the questions that are being asked, but nobody is able to provide the answers, because the real motivation for this unexpected revolt inside the Democratic party has not been made clear, either by its sponsors or by anybody else involved in the movement.

The close relationship between Sen. McCarthy and Sen. Kennedy of New York makes it logical to assume that such a step would not have been accidental.

The Kennedys have the money and the political contacts in many states to line up delegates even for a man who has not won any leadership position in his own party in Congress and is relatively unknown throughout the country.

If the Kennedy forces are behind Sen. McCarthy, what is the game? Is it a form of political pressure designed ultimately to pressure Mr. Johnson into dumping Hubert Humphrey as the vice presidential nominee?

NO REASON

The maneuver certainly seems to have no convincing reason for being launched. After all, it is customary for a political party to renominate its incumbent president.

Lyndon Johnson was not only Democratic majority leader of the Senate for many years, but he was chosen for the vice presidential nomination in 1960 by the party's presidential candidate, John F. Kennedy.

It is, of course, taken for granted that Sen. Robert Kennedy wants to be president some day.

If he cannot become the vice-presidential nominee in 1968, it may be that some of his supporters would not mind risking the defeat of President Johnson and thus pave the way for the leadership of the party by the New York senator in preparation for the 1972 contest. But, whatever

U.S. Citizens Show Interest in Extrasensory Perception

Periodically, various U.S. citizens are accredited with extrasensory perception (E.S.P.) which causes some people to gasp and bow, while others smile in tolerant disbelief.

Currently, Mrs. IRENE HUGHES, a Chicago Heights housewife, carries on a "career of clairvoyance" from a downtown office.

She has many believers.
And there are many skeptics.

The talented (certainly she's that) lady asserts she first discovered her "God-given gift" when she was four years old. She had a vision which pictured her as the recipient within a few days of a doll and several strands of beads. And — hold your breath — that's precisely what happened.

When she told her mother, the gracious mama showed no surprise as she asserted she has had many such experiences herself.

The Director of a Psychical Research Foundation in North Carolina conducted a series of tests on the lady in question and finally asserted "she does have E.S.P. abilities."

Many others scoff.
They say: "We all have spells."

Some scientists refuse to discuss this complex subject and insist it isn't really a subject for scientific evaluation. They assert it's more a matter of personal emotions.

Mrs. Hughes says God gives us all such abilities but that the bulk of us simply don't develop our talents. She holds classes in her Chicago office and a course runs 12 weeks. Her best friends insist she's "on the level" and really has a gift.

Others with these same "abilities" appear from time to time and after President KENNEDY was assassinated, the number of free-thinkers who had "foretold" the event was astounding. They sprang up all over the place.

The Chicago Tribune lists some of her predictions made this September:

Civil Rights and anti-war demonstrations will be far, far worse between March and August, 1968.

Wheat will be in the news in a big way. Possibly a great loss.

Great strides will be made in mental health with entirely new methods of treatment.

A Republican President definitely will be elected.

A great fire off Lake Michigan near the Chicago harbor will not involve things on land — but in the water.

Early 1968 stock market extremely high through June.

A fabulous ice rink with beautiful gardens will be built in Chicago.

An unusual chemical dissolved in water will be discovered late in 1968 to clear polluted lakes and streams. This powder is unknown now. It will not hurt drinking water but will eat up foreign matter. It will fix and turn a pink hue.

Mrs. HUGHES, if this last comes true, you'll have me as a wondering disciple. But until then, I'm a timid disbeliever.

HUD Didn't Say Gobbledygook--Exactly

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last October I quoted the Department of Housing and Urban Development as saying that "action-oriented orchestration of innovative inputs, generated by escalation of meaningful indigenous decision-making dialogue, focusing on multilinked problem complexes, can maximize the vital thrust toward a nonalienated and viable infrastructure."

Well, sir, the department now denies it ever made that statement. At least not all in one breath.

HUD informs me that the statement actually is an assemblage of jinglistic gobbledygook put together by C. L. Farris, president of the Urban Programming Corp. of St. Louis.

Farris, who apparently is the puckiest type, has confessed that he constructed the statement out of bits and pieces of speeches by various HUD officials. Then he quoted it in one of his own speeches to get a laugh.

Very well. Fair is fair. Having incorrectly attributed the statement to HUD, I want to do my part in setting the record straight.

SOURCE OF SOURCE

The statement came to my attention in a press release issued by Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., who said it came from HUD. I believed him.

While I realize that politicians now and then play fast and loose with the truth, the issuance of phony press releases by members of congress is a more blatant offense than I am accustomed to.

HUD complains that nobody checked with the department, to determine whether the statement was authentic. I can't speak for Poff, but that is true as far as I am concerned.

I didn't check because I had no reason to doubt its authenticity. The statement sounded perfectly plausible to me.

IN MY HEART

Man and boy, I have always felt down deep in my heart that "action-oriented orchestration of innovative inputs, etc." could let Poff mislead me, and I extend my apologies to HUD. I'll never trust a congressman again.

I mean, if "action-oriented orchestra, etc." cannot "maximize the vital thrust, etc.," then what can?

HUD, I gather, is not necessarily challenging the truth of the statement. It is only denying that it made the statement. Okay. I deeply regret that I

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER FOUR

Claus leaned over the old woman and gently shook her bony shoulders. "You've got to tell me what you know!" he cried. "All the children of the land are sleeping because of this Pigwidgen curse."

"A Pigwidgen curse is a fearful thing," wheezed the crone. "That is why you had best go home."

"Who is the Pigwidgen?" asked Claus. "Where does he live? What does he do?"

The old woman closed her eyes. "I don't remember," she whined. "I am very old."

She pressed her lips together and would not say another word.

BUYS ICE CREAM

Claus begged and teased and threatened but the old granny would not speak or open her eyes or even breathe.

"She is dead," thought Claus in despair. At that instant the crone's eyes popped open and she cackled, "Ice cream always helps a person to remember."

Claus rushed to an ice cream store and brought back all the ice cream he could carry. The ancient one ate seven quarts in seven different flavors. When the last box was licked clean she said:

"When I was a girl a hundred years ago a crooked-legged elf told me about the Pigwidgen. Go to him and he will tell you, too."

CROOKED ROAD

"A hundred years ago!" gasped Claus. "Where could I find such a creature now?"

"On the Sopchoppy River Ferry."

"Where is that?" "When night has come, take the crooked road out of town. When you come to the fork take the middle road to the weeping willow tree. Circle the willow 14 times."

SAYS NO MORE

"And then?" cried Claus.

But the old crone's eyes had closed again. Her mouth folded together. No more would she say.

Claus left her. He went through the town asking directions to the crooked road. No one had heard of such a road. Nor had anyone heard of the Sopchoppy River Ferry.

Claus waited until dark. Then he walked to the four edges of the town. Nowhere did he see a crooked road.

Four times he went to the four edges of the town. On the fourth time when he came to the fourth side the moon had come out and he saw a crooked road where before a straight road had been.

Claus bought all the ice cream he could carry

Claus was very tired but he raced down the loony, zigzaggy, yavvy, catawampus road.

At last he came to a fork. One road branched right.

FOLLOWS PATH

Claus followed the path. He ran on until the path was blocked by a giant willow tree. Although it was winter the tree was in full leaf.

Breath Test No Measure of Sobriety

By Science Service

Passing the breath analyzer test does not mean you are sober enough to drive a car. Poor reactions persist for hours after the breath test reads negative, according to Canadian laboratory C. B. Gibbs, who is with the Control Systems Laboratory in Ottawa.

Dr. Gibbs has developed a more sensitive, electronic sobriety test. The device, called a "stressalyzer," measures a man's ability to steer in response to shifting lights.

With it, reports Dr. Gibbs, he finds that some people show impaired reactions up to seven hours after alcohol in the breath has completely disappeared.

All drinking drivers are impaired to some extent, probably even those who drink a single beer, says Dr. Gibbs.

His work at the laboratory, a facility of Canada's National Research Council, is reported in the Nov. 20 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

OUT OF STEP—Actor Tony Curtis and his wife, Christine Kaufmann, have separated, according to the Los Angeles Herald Examiner. They marched down the aisle almost five years ago, but got out of step—as they are here in Rome earlier this year. Curtis, 41, was previously married for 11 years to actress Janet Leigh.

1968 Tax Bills Are in the Mail

Tax bills are on their way to the La-Z-Boy Chair Co. Saturday across Oakland County. The day night, tied up an elderly county equalization office said watchman, explained they mailed out the statements in the latter part of the week.

The tax rate varies a great chimes. Before the thieves left, the amount higher than last watchman Daniel Grassley told police, they loosened the ropes with which they had tied him, facilitating his escape.

Although only a few communities have approved tax increases, much revaluation of property values has taken place with the object of bringing assessments up to 50 per cent of market value, a move required by a recent state law.

Tax authorities explain two factors are working to raise property taxes — inflation in general and the increase in value of property due to pressures of population.

So even though as resident lives in a community where no increase has been voted on the actual tax rate, the bill is going to be higher in almost every case, say tax men.

However, everyone has until Jan. 10 to come up with the money — before penalty provisions are applied.

Viet Clarification

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A young political campaign expert hired by Gov. George Romney to handle the New Hampshire primary campaign says Romney will have to clarify his position on Vietnam. John Dearbout made the comment at a Republican executive meeting Saturday and added he thinks the Vietnam war will be "a very major issue" in the primaries.

Closing the Job Gap Top Priority for U.S.

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director, National Urban League

Do you know how much an average family of four needs to maintain a moderate living standard? According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the family must earn or have an annual income of $9,191 if they live in an urban area.

The figure is higher for some cities like New York ($10,195), and slightly lower for others. But any way you slice it, it's a lot of money, far beyond the reach of many Americans.

Only about one out of 10 Negro families earns that much, and many can do it only because a higher proportion of wives and mothers work. Despite this, Negro families with two or more jobholders still earned less than the average white family with one working member.

These figures don't mean fancy living. A "moderate" living standard doesn't allow much room for luxuries. But it is still a far cry from a survival living standard. This is about $3,300 for an urban family of four.

Yet even this very low income is beyond the reach of many Negro families. About two out of every five earn less, and live in poverty. The reason for this is that Negro workers tend to be concentrated in the lowest-paying jobs and they are most likely to become unemployed.

The figures for Negro unemployment are rising, and they now stand at 8.8 per cent more than twice that for white workers. Some ghetto neighborhoods suffer unemployment to a degree not reflected in the official figures. Up to half the working population in these areas is unemployed.

These figures are disgraceful. No country can tolerate such widespread poverty, least of all the richest nation in the world. Closing the job gap has to be at the top of America's list of priorities.

The job gap is also a racial gap—it exists because of discrimination. Nothing else can explain the terrible gap in the income figures and in the unemployment figures. Negroes have persistently been thrust to the bottom of the economic ladder, and the figures prove it.

Government, industry, and labor will have to join in efforts to end this situation. During the Depression, when the whole country suffered from poverty and unemployment, massive public works projects were started to put men to work. We can do no less for today's minorities who suffer economic depression on an even wider scale.

SUBSIDIES

In addition to job-creating projects which put people to work on socially useful programs, government can offer incentives to private industry to relocate in the ghetto.

Fantastic subsidies are given to rich farmers not to grow certain crops, and many states and cities offer tax breaks to companies which relocate in their areas.

The same inducements could be offered to firms which agree to hire and train the poor and which build in the ghetto. Industry will have to do a lot more to hire Negroes. They will have to abandon some of the tests they use which are geared for middle-class whites and which work against Negroes, and replace them with more realistic standards which will measure the potential of a man to do the job.

Two Murders Uncovered—After 800 Years

LONDON (UPI)—Murder will out—even after 800 years. And the case of the Llandovery skeletons has been closed with a finding that Joanna Doe and Richard Roe were killed by persons unknown.

That the deaths of two people in 12th century Wales should be found to be murder and not due to natural causes or accident is a tribute to the techniques of modern science.

But Dr. Brian J. Ford did not stop there. By deduction Sherlock Holmes would have approved, he drew from the earth and the few clues still left the probable reasons why the girl, at least, was slain.

As he told the story in the weekly "Medical News", Dr. Ford became interested in the skeletons after they were uncovered by archaeologists. The first thing he discovered when he got them to his laboratory was that the Archaeologists had been wrong in naming one of the skeletons "John."

He changed the name to "Joannah." The skeletons had been wedged in a sewer or drain that ran from a corner of the ancient ruin where they were found. This struck Dr. Ford as suspicious. Then he found that minute fragments around a damaged rib in the girl's skeleton were iron.

So it appeared she had been struck a heavy blow. He assembled the fragments of the skull and all fitted except for a roughly circular aperture. Inside the clay in the cranial cavity there was a bit of stone that might have been a spike, exactly the size of the hole in the skull.

Someone had driven a spike into the girl's skull. But why?

Radiographers reported that the teeth were very worn for a girl of 22, which coincided with speculation that her diet consisted of shellfish—mussel shells were found nearby—and raw vegetables.

The bones also gave some indications of arrested development. The inner surface of the skull showed she might have suffered from a brain growth.

"We have, therefore," Dr. Ford concluded, "a picture of a relatively healthy girl who lived on shellfish and raw vegetables developing behavioral abnormalities after late puberty and as a result regarded with growing hostility by the villagers."

The villagers made the girl the victim of a ritual murder. They also killed the man, who was the right age to have been her father. Then they wrecked the house over the bodies.

It was a double murder—uncovered 800 years later.

Literature Inspires Young 'Playmates'

Juvenile classics once again inspire a variety of doll "playmates." The Gingerbread boy and girl, for example, appear in dark brown plush.

Christmas '67 versions of Raggedy Ann and Andy have bodies that bend, instead of the traditional floppy shape. Mary Poppins is another favorite.

New models of Humpty Dumpty and the Buckingham Palace Guards contrast with such Mod designs as a spotted Cheetah.

The Kid is a new freckled boy doll who talks when various parts of his body are moved.

The Brat doll, in both boy and girl versions, sticks out its tongue when squeezed.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer finds prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H — an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress — Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection.

Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

Pets Provide Fun for Family

Can Santa put lasting enjoyment, family fun and happy companionship under the tree? He can, when the gift choice is a pet — for any individual, or for the whole family.

Dogs and cats are among the most popular choices, as pets to give for Christmas.

Before making a final selection, such factors as personality and characteristics of the animal and care required, should be considered.

Even the size of the home can make a difference. Some breeds of dogs, for instance, require more living space and a larger exercise area than others.

If there's already a pet in the family, remember to give special treats and toys.

Gift Ideas Mount if You're Thoughtful

Stumped for gifts? Try putting a person and a place together. Then, see how the gift ideas add up.

If the person is the head of the house, one place to look might be his desk. A close inspection here can reveal many needs.

A staple gun, a blotter frame, a tape dispenser, plastic boxes to organize clutter, a box for stamps, a desk-side wastebasket make great little gifts. A new lamp, desk chair, even a typewriter are just some of the bigger gift ideas.

Lamps Light List

Lamps of all sorts are useful all round the house. Study lamps, TV lights, table lamps, pole and wall lamps might be just the gift the list need.

Chile has renamed two Pacific Islands associated with two castaway sailors — Alexander Selkirk, an 18th-Century Scotsman, and Robinson Crusoe, Selkirk's fictional counterpart. Isla Mas a Tierra has become Isla Robinson Crusoe and Mas Afuera is now Isla Alejandro Selkirk.

Junior Editors Quiz on CLAY

QUESTION: What is the clay made of?

ANSWER: Clay is a smooth, finely-grained kind of earth. When moist, it is soft and pliable, yet strong enough to hold some shape given to it. Clay hardens when dry. When heated sufficiently, it becomes extremely hard. This is how pottery, bricks and other ceramics are made.

For a long time, sculptors have used clay in beginning their work; but the trouble was, the clay had to be kept moist. A sculptor would have to keep his clay statue covered with wet cloths between working sessions.

Then a much better form of clay was invented for artists, the kind young people use to have fun with. By using special clay-like materials and adding oil, the substance plasticine was made, which can be modelled like clay and yet will not harden.

Barbara started her horse by making a wire armature to hold the plasticine together (1). She added pellets of plasticine (2), finally finishing her statue with modelling tools (3). Later, perhaps, she will have her horse cast in hard white plaster by a professional.

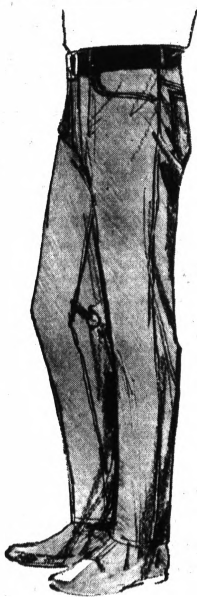

Students Build House

PLUMMER, Idaho (AP) — Ities authorized the project, Students at Plummer High School are building a house, and school officials say their interest in academic studies has increased as a result.

"Some high school students," said Principal Karl Wetter, "are bored stiff in academic classes such as English, Algebra or chemistry. They often either flunk out or quit school."

To try to keep such students in school, Wetter said, the Plummer school district author-

Let Him Explain First

Don't Give Husband 'the Brush'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is an executive who must make occasional business trips. I have been kidded quite a bit lately about his new red-headed secretary. She's Australian, very pretty and married, which may or may not mean anything.

Anyway, my husband recently returned from an out-of-town business trip and when I unpacked his things, as I always do, I found a red hair in his hairbrush. I am keeping it as "evidence" in case I need it.

Have you any ideas on how I can get a hair out of his secretary's head without her knowing it? I would like to send both hairs to a chemist to determine whether they are from the same head. My husband's hair (what there is left of it) is decidedly gray. Thank you.

SUSPICIOUS IN SYRACUSE

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: The obvious solution would be for you to engage the red-head in a hair-pulling contest, but I wouldn't recommend it. (I hear the "Aussies" are excellent fighters.) Why not confront your husband with the "evidence." Don't give him the brush. Just ask him to explain it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that concerns not only me, but all the other kids who ride my bus. It is my bus driver, a woman. First of all she drives a little too fast, and second, when she has to put on her brakes because the car in front of her puts on her brakes, she waits until she is about a foot away from the car she is trying not to hit.

How can I tell her she does these things without hurting her feelings because she is really a very nice lady? I am surprised we didn't have an accident yet, but some of the kids have black and blue marks all over from where she slammed on her brakes and everybody went flying. Thank you.

DEAR ELIZABETH: First, tell the woman bus driver what you've told me. If that doesn't slow her up, tell your mother.

DEAR ABBY: For reasons which you will understand when you read this letter, I cannot ask anyone I know to help me with this problem. You are my last hope, so don't let me down. Abby, I want to get a social security card, but I understand to get one I have to present my birth certificate.

Here's my problem: I am an illegitimate child and I don't have a birth certificate.

Worse yet, there is a question as to who my father was. My mother says one thing, and my relatives say something else. (To be truthful with you, I don't think my mother knows for sure.)

Anyway, I was told that the birth certificates of illegitimate children are locked up somewhere, and it would take an act of Congress to get one out. So what do you suggest I do now?

MANKAT O READER

DEAR READER: You don't need your birth certificate to get a social security card. Laws differ from state to state, but in your case information concerning illegitimate births may be obtained only by a court order.

DEAR ABBY: I read of the difficulty encountered by young brides regarding what to call their mothers-in-law. Recently a friend's son married, and her new daughter-in-law calls her "mama-law." I think this is a wonderful solution. It is respectful and has a feeling of warmth and love.

I hope this will solve someone else's problem. I am sure it would have solved mine 48 years ago.

Lynda Walks Into History's Spotlight Through Elegant White House Route

WASHINGTON — Beneath glittering crystal chandeliers and in history's spotlight, President Johnson's daughter, Lynda Bird, takes her place next Saturday as the 16th bride married in the White House.

The mansion home of the presidents at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, filled with memories of first families and famous events, is a unique setting.

The 500 "dearly beloved" gathered for the wedding of Lynda and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb will stand for the 15-minute Episcopal marriage ceremony, witnessing a chapter of White House history.

Everything about the event will be colorful—beginning with the red, white and blue garb of the bridal party to the arch of crossed swords under which the newlyweds will exit after exchanging "to have and to hold" vows and gold wedding rings.

Lynda, on the arm of President Johnson, will make her entrance along a route from the second-floor family quarters, down the 37 steps and three landings of the grand staircase, across the north portico entrance hall, down the great cross hall to a flower-decked, specially-built altar in the East Room.

It is a route bridegroom Robb has taken often in his military role as officer in charge of the White House color guard for state dinners and receptions.

But this time the young Marine officer will be waiting at the altar in his dress blue uniform.

PORTRAIT GALLERY

On her way down the White House corridors, Lynda will pass a gallery of portraits of past presidents.

And just at the entrance to the East Room is a likeness of former First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt, who watched the last White House wedding in 1942.

As she comes down the grand staircase, Lynda can pause to take one last look at herself in a towering floor-to-ceiling gold-framed mirror that dominates the west wall of the north portico entrance hall.

She will pose on the last landing for photographs in her long, white bridal gown—a fashion secret the White House tries to maintain until this final moment.

The bride and her father will walk beneath the great circular glass lantern in the north entrance, past six 20-foot marble columns into the center of the 794-foot-long great east-west cross hall. Turning east, they walk along 41½ feet of red-carpeted hallway to the entrance of the East Room.

Lynda's appearance will be heralded by the 32-piece Marine Band's chamber orchestra, playing the traditional "Here comes the bride."

The scene of the wedding is the great gold and white East Room, a lofty salon patterned after audience chambers of 19th century European palaces.

DIMENSIONS

The huge room, running the North-South length of the White House—80-feet long, 40-feet wide and 20-feet high—has been associated with splendid, solemn and homey events.

Abigail Adams, the first First Lady to live in the White House, hung her wash in the East Room to dry.

Dances, receptions, bill signings, oath takings and funerals have been held there.

Nowadays, the East Room is perhaps best known as the scene of the President's televised news conferences.

Most previous White House brides picked this elegant room for their weddings.

Graced by long windows draped in gold damask, four white fireplaces topped by long gold-framed mirrors and 23 fluted pilasters, the room is dominated by three great chandeliers. Hanging like inverted umbrellas, each 800-pound chandelier has 15,000 individual sparkling crystals.

Under one of these dramatic chandeliers, in the center of the room, the 14-member bridal party will assemble—bridesmaids in ruby red velvet gowns, groomsmen in grey cutaways.

The altar itself will be placed in front of a draped window in the center of the east wall between two famous gold-framed, full-length portraits of George and Martha Washington.

A student of history, bride Lynda knows well the tales of earlier White House days.

When Robb's six fellow Marine officers in blue dress uniforms raise their ceremonial swords at the East Room doorway, she and her husband will walk into the history books themselves.

The wedding ceremony will be followed by a traditional receiving line, with the bride couple and their parents shaking hands with guests in the Blue Room, an oval-shaped Victorian era drawing room. Portraits of the nation's first seven presidents hang on the gold-flecked blue silk walls.

Here President Theodore Roosevelt shook 8,513 hands at a New Year's reception in 1907.

And the Blue Room was the scene of the wedding of the only president married in the White House, Grover Cleveland. His wife, Frances Folsom, only 21, became the nation's youngest first lady.

Robb's Parents Arrive in Washington

WASHINGTON — Mr. and Mrs. James S. Robb, parents of the man who'll marry President Johnson's daughter Lynda on Saturday, arrived in the capital and almost immediately hosted a pre-wedding party in historic Georgetown.

It was the first of several big gatherings planned for Marine Capt. Charles (Chuck) Robb and Lynda before their wedding.

The Robbs, from Milwaukee, Wis., moved into the White House earlier Sunday and will be guests of President and Mrs. Johnson until after the ceremony.

Exclaimed the older Robb at the Georgetown party, "The room service is good. You just pick up the telephone and ask for anything!"

About 200 guests, many of them relatives and friends of the Robb family, attended the pre-wedding festivities.

President and Mrs. Johnson were there, along with Luci Johnson Nugent, who'll be matron of honor for her sister.

CHUCK'S NURSE

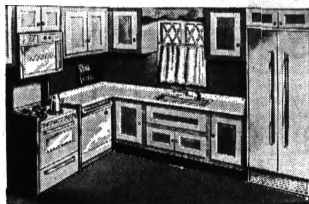

A special guest was Mrs. Susie Clardy, 66, the nurse who cared for Robb for eight years when the family lived in Phoenix, Ariz.

"You sure did a good job on Chuck," the First Lady told Mrs. Clardy.

"Well, if they hadn't moved away from Phoenix, I'd still be taking care of him," the elderly nanny replied.

Allow Children to Paint Scenes

Let the children decorate the windows with Christmas scenes. Mix vegetable coloring and kitchen cleanser in small tin jars. It will only take a small amount, for a little goes a long way.

Fasten the pattern on the outside of the window and paint scene from inside, and when finished the pattern may be removed. Apply with a small paint brush. These pictures may be easily removed with a dry cloth.

It's Tough for Small Size Food Shoppers

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: Why is this trend toward quantity food packaging growing? Why can't I buy the quantity I want?

As an elderly couple, we require only one half pound of ground meat or liver, and a dozen oysters instead of the two or more dozen in a ready-to-go container. There are no pints of milk or small loaves of bread.

It's impossible to buy a couple of carrots for soup or salad. Refrigerated rolls and biscuits come in cans of 10 or 12 and, once opened, must be cooked.

I am grateful for individual cereal packs, but I deplore the necessity for buying several I don't want to get the ones I do want. Two of my sons who at times work away from home like to keep house — or at least keep snacks.

They complain that there are no small boxes of crackers, no little jars of peanut butter. And a loaf of bread gets mighty stale when only breakfast is eaten at home.

It seems to me there are enough elderly couples, lonely oldsters, bachelor boys and career girls to make it worthwhile for producers and dealers to package small quantities.

Mrs. O. V., San Antonio, Tex. P.S. One day I forgot my pen, and dropped into a variety store to buy a pencil for library note-taking. They were packaged — six to a pack.

Dear Mrs. V.: Seek and ye shall find — the "small economy sizes" do exist in some food items and at some stores. But I admit the seeking takes time and footwork.

But consumer economics have got your "small sizes" licked, for the most part. The big packagers and markets are geared to the "family size" and the population explosion. The more variety in packaging and quantity the producer provides, the more costly his operations are.

So, the higher the prices he would have to charge. And for the retailer his shelf and floor space are precious. He can afford to stock only those items which are in biggest demand.

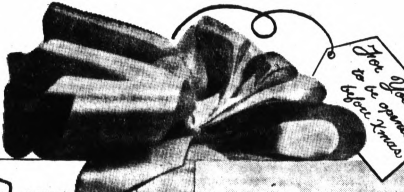

Dear Miss Feeley: Could you suggest where I could write for pamphlets explaining "Living Trust Funds?" I realize of course that any lawyer would be able to supply such information. But I would like to be better informed about the advantages and disadvantages prior to seeing a lawyer.

Mrs. G.J.S., Fort Clinton, Ohio

Dear Mrs. S.: Any bank that has a trust department can supply you with details on the various types of living trusts — either in pamphlet form or in personal discussion with a bank officer.

Before you consult a banker and a lawyer, you should think carefully about what you want such a trust to do. Set your aims down on paper. Are you most interested in retaining administrative control of your income for someone else — and also affect a saving in taxes — through an irrevocable trust? Your basic objectives will guide both banker and lawyer.

It is easier when making a rolled hem in any circular cut material to first make a row of machine stitching on the line of the first fold. And when its extremely flared the bottom thread may be pulled slightly.

355 Brides Wear Garter

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Robert J. Allen owns a blue wedding garter which has been worn by her roommate and sorority sister at the University of Colorado in June of 1919, it was used by Mrs. Allen for her own wedding a year later.

Both women tucked a new penny into a tiny satin pocket designed into the circlet, removed it after the wedding and signed their names to a slip of paper which was placed in the box containing the talisman.

It was 10 years before another bride was to wear it, but since 1930, 353 brides have heard "Here Comes the Bride" while wearing this token of "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue."

Each bride has slipped her own new coin in the pocket and out after the ceremony. Each has added her name and the date to the scroll before returning to Mrs. Allen, in whose keeping the garter remains.

Sometimes overshoe zippers become rusted and difficult to slide. Oil the zippers with ordinary household machine oil. Work them up and down several times until you are sure the zippers glide easily.

Fate Spawned a Designer

Some people believe that no matter what happens it's all for the best. Do you?

For Ray Rogers, a positive attitude has really paid off. Rogers is a designer of fashions to knit and crochet. There was a time when his present career in custom-worked fashions was the last thought in his mind.

Here's what happened. A few years ago Rogers suffered a broken back.

For therapy, this strapping, athletic fellow took up needlework, which, by the way, more and more businessmen are turning to today for relaxation. For Rogers, it was the start of some thing big.

Now, Rogers is one of the top American designers of fashions in needlework. At his Boston studio he's always working on new trend-setters.

The latest is what he calls "mini giant crochet," and the dress featured today shows the technique at its best. The texture is posh, yet it's done in the simplest crochet — not a pattern stitch.

You crochet with a combination of colors and a Spinner mohair yarn. And you turn it out in a few hours.

The easy, big-hook technique that Rogers has devised for this dress gives the garment a built-in firmness. His method puts a stop to stretching. The dress will hold its shape and fit for as many years as you wear it.

Rogers also understands the age-old lament of ladies everywhere, "I've nothing to wear." So, he worked on his crochet technique until he could turn out fashions in text to no time.

For instance, he completed a giant crochet hook coat in a single Sunday afternoon. A sports dress with a large collar would take just one day to make.

Now that Roger's needlework hobby has turned into a career, he's had to look elsewhere for pastimes. He's an oil painter but his most recent sideline is a plan to set up a summer craft school.

HOLIDAY SCHOOL

It's a new and clever idea, typical of him. At this time, there are no vacation spots where one can spend a couple of weeks gaining intensive and professional training in fine needlework and at the same time enjoy the pleasures of holiday living.

Rogers has already selected the setting — a 3,000-foot-high area right on a shining lake in Maine.

It may be awhile before you can sign up for the Rogers' craft school, but you can enjoy his newest fashion design right now.

Directions for his instant giant crochet dress are available for small, medium and large. This means you can wear this smart, up-to-the-moment dress after just a day's crocheting.

For your copy of an instruction leaflet for this new fashion design, send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, c/o The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, ask for leaflet $1.50 and please be sure to include your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNACKS

The color of the fashion you knit or crochet is a very personal choice. You'll want to consider your complexion, hair color and perhaps your wardrobe of accessories. And, if you're a needleworker, you're luckier than most since you have many more choices of colors in yarn than you could ever find on the ready-to-wear racks.

For these reasons, most knitting directions do not call for specific colors. However, where more than one color is used, actual colors will sometimes be specified. Use these colors as a guide in terms of dark and light shades, but let the final choice be your own.

The meeting will begin at 12:30 p.m. in the Bloomfield Hill home of Mrs. Richard Sonke.

A membership tea, under chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Tuohske, will also be held that day.

To secure her elbow length veil she chose a crown of pearls.

Mrs. John Miller was matron of honor for the evening, vowing with Kimberly and Sharon Curtis serving as junior bridesmaids.

The bridegroom was attended by John Miller, best man, with William Curtis, Michael Thompson and William Midkiff as ushers.

Prior to their departure for a Canadian honeymoon, the newlyweds greeted guests in the church parlors.

The bridegroom is the son of the Willard W. Thompsons of Sunhill Street.

Swedish Liners Stock Many Tons of Food, Supplies

NEW YORK (AP) — Multiply 400 persons by a 44-day cruise around South America and you come up with 35,000 pounds of meat, 30,000 pounds of fowl and 20,000 pounds of fish.

In fact, Old Mother Hubbard would gasp at the statistics on the amount of food used to stock up the Swedish American Line's Kungsholm for such a cruise. Besides the meat, fowl and fish required, other necessary quantities are: 35,000 pounds of potatoes, 55,000 pounds of vegetables, 25,000 pounds of flour, 5,000 pounds of coffee, 15,000 pounds of sugar, 700 pounds of tea, etc., etc., etc.

Oh, yes, the shopping list also includes 40,000 bottles of beer and 35,000 bottles of wine and liquor. More than 125,000 pounds of ice are used on the cruise.

WOODWARD AT SQUARE LAKE ROAD

Fran Healy who modeled in the Russian fashion show has naturally curly red hair. Here, it is arranged in a soft hairstyle — perfect for the daytime clothes she wore.

Every participating nation had its 'day', and for America Day, Hugh Harrison parted the hair low on the left side, and turned the ends under in a pageboy. The red, white and blue grosgrain bow added a patriotic — and attractive — note.

Fisherwoman Is Taxidermist

Women In Russia Succumb to Beauty

Armed with only a pair of scissors, a comb, and his talent as a hairstylist, Hugh Harrison struck a "telling blow for beauty" during his recent visit to the Soviet Union.

Sponsored by Clairor as the official stylist to the American segment of the international fashion show, "The Good Look in Fashion: U.S.A.," Hugh's casual daytime, and his frankly romantic evening hairstyles, were seen by thousands of Russian women who attended the daily shows in the huge Sports Palace.

An attractive member of the American contingent was Fran Healy, Oscar de la Renta's model. She wore his dramatic clothes in the show.

Her hair was styled in a "flip," and a pageboy with a red, white and blue grosgrain bow atop the head. The latter especially for "America Day." The evening coiff featured soft loose curls arranged in chignon-fashion.

ALL WOMEN SAME

During his stay in the Soviet capital, Hugh Harrison came to the conclusion that Russian women are just as interested in beauty as their American sisters. For instance, the interest in hairstyles starts at a very early age.

Nearly every little girl sports one or two stiff bright organly bows. Often the hair is braided and looped over the ears. The center part is popular, and two long braids, "bowed" at the ends are popular with the small fry.

The teenage girls made a good impression. They rarely go to beauty salons, and like their American counterparts, wear their hair attractively natural. One of the most popular styles with this age group, is the pony tail, but with loose ringlets framing the face.

TIGHT WAVES

In contrast, the older women like tight, curly permanent waves. Many use haircolor, but the results are often anything but natural. Peroxide blondes take first place, with too-red heads a close second.

Buns of all sizes are popular — often very frizzy, and enclosed in a net. This can be placed in any position from the top of the head, down to low in the nape of the neck. Often the hair and the "bun" don't match.

Hugh reports he was asked constantly about wigs and hairpieces. The Russian women display an overwhelming interest in their use and availability, but unfortunately, these popular hairfashion accessories have not yet come to the Soviet Union.

With but a few minutes between "changes", Hugh Harrison brushed Fran's hair away from her face, and up into a pony tail. He created a charming evening hairstyle by dividing the hair into loose ringlets, and arranging them to form a chignon.

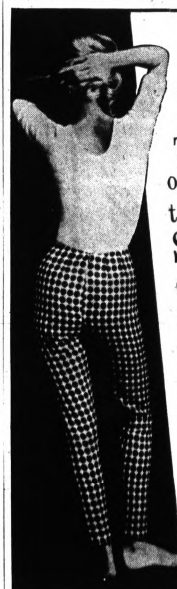

Welcoming Gift Carries Goodwill

HARTSDALE, N. Y. (AP) — Buyers who move into their apartment in a new condominium community here are greeted by a strange-looking package — a green paper bag with a long wooden handle projecting from it.

A note from the builder offers a welcome and explains the four symbols included in the gift: "A broom, that the home may always be clean; a loaf of bread, that there may always be food on the table; sugar, that there may be sweetness in life; and salt, that there may be some spice in living."

To clean candles, wipe them occasionally with a cloth that has been dampened with denatured alcohol.

Is Living Room True to Name?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Here's a test for whether a living room is what the name implies — a place for living.

It comes from Howard Nierderman, member of the National Society of Interior designers and president of the Howard-Parlor Furniture Co.

The gauge is the living room in which one person can be comfortable, where two people can relax in seclusion, and where a group of people can be entertained hospitably.

Mary E. Hill Speaks Vows in Afternoon

Marimont Baptist Church was the setting Saturday afternoon for vows spoken by Mary E. Hill and Airman I.C. Robert Dale Burtch.

Following the ceremony, the bride couple and their parents, the William E. Hills of Collier Road, Pontiac Township, and the Daniel Burtches of Walnut Street received guests in the church parlors.

Attended by Patricia McBride, the Miss Hill was groomed in an Empire silhouette fashioned from silk tulle.

Crystals and seed pearls accented a cluster of rose buds worn atop her illusion bouffant veil.

She carried a cascading arrangement of white and feathered carnations with red Sweetheart roses.

Stephanie Bennett and Barbara Harroun were bridesmaids with Thomas Hill, Gary Burtch, Larry Gray and David Harroun as ushers.

Best man duties were performed by Michael McBride.

Fix Easy Flag Display

DEAR POLLY — I would like plate is used and it is time for to add to a recent Pointer suggestion, simply have everyone gesting the use of a new oil can for greasing baking pans. I use a white plastic squeeze bottle that was thoroughly washed after the detergent was all used. It fits nicely on the door of the refrigerator, where it is always handy, and I put a label on the bottle to avoid confusion.

We, like many others, did not display our flag as often as we should and only because it was hard to put up. Now I have it on a discarded window shade roller. I put the closed-end bracket farthest from the porch steps so it slips in easily, and I can put the slot in the other bracket while standing on the top porch step.

No more having to carry a stepladder. If the shade roller does not work, it is no problem to roll the flag on by hand. An old broomstick would also do nicely, with nails in the ends to fit into brackets. An eye screw is useful for one end and the flag can be hung up for storing rather than folded away in a drawer.

Some paper picnic plates can be very soft and tippy, so I always give each person two plates of this kind. After the first

First step in making a San Blas or reverse applique, start by stitching together five layers of cotton cloth, each the same size but a different color. The top layer will form the background of your applique.

After drawing on design, cut away largest design area. Be sure to cut through only one layer of cloth. Turn under raw edges; blind stitch. Continue cutting and stitching successive layers until design is completed.

Here's an example of San Blas or cut-away applique, turned into a colorful wall hanging. In this design, cotton squares of brown, gold, red, yellow and orange were used. The over-all finished wall hanging looks like a patchwork of bright-colored cottons.

Just Snip Away Fabric for Colorful Applique

Unusual wall hangings can be created by doing cut-away or reverse applique on colorful cottons. Make them for Christmas gifts or to hang in your own home, suggests the National Cotton Council.

The technique, which originated in the tiny San Blas Islands off the coast of Panama, reverses the usual method of applique. Instead of applying fabric pieces to a background cloth, fabric pieces are cut away in successively smaller designs to reveal different colored cottons underneath.

San Blas women use this form of applique to make cotton blouses called "molas." It also can be used for quilts and bedspreads, as well as wall hangings or decorative pillows.

To make a cut-away applique, choose a simple design with five colors. You can create your own design or trace a motif from magazine pictures. The design can be an animal or bird shape or an abstract. Make a paper pattern, penciling in design areas within the main outline.

Baste together five layers of cotton cloth, cut to the same size and in the five different colors of your design. Arrange the layers of cloth according to your color scheme, keeping in mind that the top layer will be your background color.

The second layer should be the color of the largest cut-out area, the third layer the color of the second largest cut-out, and so on down.

DRAW AND CUT

Lay your paper pattern down on the top fabric layer and draw around the over-all shape. Cut away the fabric where you have penciled, making sure to clip only the top layer. Turn under the cut edges and blind stitch.

Continue tracing the pattern and cutting away successive layers of fabric for each part of the design so that the over-all finished piece is a patchwork of bright-colored cottons.

Bride Carries White Bible at Nuptials

Carrying white orchids and ivory mounted on a White Bible, Dedra Eveann Thornton became the bride of Henry Carl Lozier Saturday evening in Lincoln Park Methodist Church, Flint.

The daughter of Mrs. Norman L. Crane of Flint and Wilfred F. Thornton of Clio was attired in a peau de soie ensemble styled with a high rise waist and A-line skirt.

MRS. HENRY C. LOZIER

Swiss lace appliques frosted with seed pearls and crystals accented the gown and its matching floor length train.

The bride's veil, made of Swiss illusion, was attached to a pillow.

ATTENDANTS

Janet Thornton attended her sister as maid of honor with Melanie Matthews and Anna Marie Novich as flower girls. Bridesmaids were Anita Auten, Diane Williams and Donna Matthews.

The bridegroom was assisted by his brother Joseph. Their parents are the Carl R. Loziers of Wildwood Road in Groveland Township.

Jane Thornton and Duwayne and Danny Austin ushered with Craig Thornton acting as ring bearer.

A reception in Grandview Hall followed the ceremony. The newlyweds are residing in Holly.

Sweater Washing

If your sweater stretches out of shape at the neck, bottom and cuffs, try dipping these parts quickly in water to shrink them back to shape. To the final rinse, add a few drops of cologne and your sweater will have your favorite scent. Also, add a tablespoon of glycerin to the final rinse to make the wool soft.

Pope Paul VI appearing at his third successive Sunday noon blessing since his prostrate operation, seemed much improved as his voice rang out strongly over loudspeakers at Vatican City.

Some 20,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's Square as the pontiff, now 70, urged Italy's millions of emigrants to remain faithful to their homeland and their religion. It was the observance of the day of assistance to Italians abroad.

He described the 6½ million emigrants as "those who have left their homes, families and country to seek work . . . becoming foreigners in other lands."

The Pope said the Emigrants were not abandoned by their country nor their church, "which seeks to assist them socially and morally."

Sponsors of Education Bill Seek to Ease Dixie Fears

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate sponsors of a $14.2-billion federal aid-to-education bill seek administration assurances aimed at easing Southern fears over the cutoff of funds because of alleged segregation.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., the bill's floor manager, said Sunday consultations were going on with officials of the Health, Education and Welfare Department even while the measure is under floor debate.

LBJ to Press $4.1 Billion in Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration plans to press ahead with its plan for slashing $4.1 billion in spending from the budget even though its proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge appears dead for this year.

But the congressional stall over action on the tax program appears certain to delay, possibly into 1969, any tax revision aimed at correcting alleged inequities.

Sources reported over the weekend that President Johnson, who offered the spending cuts as a package with his tax proposal, will slash the budget even without approval from Congress.

Even so, spending will still be higher in the fiscal year ending next June 30 than the figure forecast by Johnson in his January budget message to Congress.

END TO CHANCES

At that time he set the spending figure at $135 billion. Now, even with the cuts, his estimated $136.2 billion.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the tax-writing ways and means committee all but wrote an end to the tax hike's chances during the panel's two days of hearings on the measure last week.

He said the committee wouldn't even consider a tax boost without getting more information on government spending plans in the years ahead.

With the congressional leadership pushing for an end to the session within two weeks, the administration likely wouldn't have time to comply with Mills' edict even if it decided to.

And the snag in Congress over the tax increase proposal apparently means no chance of early action on tax revision.

Johnson has said he wants any revision of the Revenue Code handled separately from tax rates.

"seriously weaken the entire negotiating process" by which HEW brings schools into compliance with federal desegregation guidelines.

"School districts would take an additional grace period of up to 12 months before they would lose a dollar."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said he was prepared to speak for other Southerners said no filibuster is planned, however.

Morse said he knew Southern senators "have a great many reservations about the bill" because of the way HEW has proceeded in school desegregation cases.

At the same time, Morse and other sponsors of the bill made it clear they did not want to take floor amendments which could have the effect of weakening the 1964 Civil Rights Act, which bars federal aid funds for projects where racial segregation is practiced.

SOME STATEMENT

The sponsors said they hope HEW can come up with some statement about its handling of future desegregation cases which would satisfy the Southerners.

The Dixie senators declined to bring up any of their proposed amendments in the civil rights area when the bill first was called up for debate last Friday.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield was forced to put the measure over until today.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., is the sponsor of a proposed amendment that would bar HEW from cutting off school aid funds to any district once the school year were under way.

This was regarded by some of the Southerners as an adequate substitute for the amendment of Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., put into the bill in the House but knocked out by the Senate Labor Committee.

LENGTHY PROCESS

It would have barred HEW from deferring approval of aid applications from school districts believed to be practicing segregation.

Under its terms, the department would have been required to go through a lengthy, formal process to cut off funds. The Fountain rider was heavily opposed by the Johnson administration.

Peter Libassi, director of HEW's civil rights office, said the Russell amendment would be a "fictional obit."

Fictional Obit

State Uninsured Driver Fund Healthy, but Officials Wary

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's collected the $35 on 160,148 sets to pay $35, their business picked two-year-old uninsured motorist of plates in fiscal 1965-66 and on up. fund appears to be coming 243,456 sets in the fiscal year along just fine, but money experts in the Department of State are keeping a careful eye on it just in case.

The uncommitted part of the fund — to which everyone who buys Michigan license plates contributes — hovers these days at just under $15 million.

That's about 10 times the amount paid out so far to the victims of uninsured drivers.

Because the new fund seems to be in such good shape, there is considerable sentiment in the Legislature to eliminate the requirement that motorists who carry liability insurance pay $1 into the fund each year.

MORE TIME

But Secretary of State James Hare and his fiscal analysts oppose making such a large reduction in the fund's income — at least until they've had more time to see what's going to happen.

As of Nov. 15, according to fund director Lawrence Carroll, some 2,456 traffic victims had been paid $1,503,290.12. Another 2,345 claims, which would have totaled $1,965,510, were closed without payment.

But, Carroll says, even though the fund so far has been more than big enough to handle the demand, the fund shouldn't be made smaller because the demand probably will grow.

"We're starting to get the larger claims now that have been in litigation," he said in an interview.

ONLY $34,000

In the fund's first two months of operation, at the end of 1965, only about $34,000 in claims was paid, he said, adding that the total for last August alone was $245,000.

He said his department would like at least another year or two to get an accurate picture of the dollar value of claims likely to be filed against the fund in a typical year.

Even though drivers without liability insurance pay $35 a year into the fund and insured motorists only $1, the latter group pays a hefty share of the cost.

That's because only a small percentage of plate buyers — 4.1 per cent of those getting 1966 plates and 5.8 per cent of those who bought 1967 licenses a year ago — are uninsured.

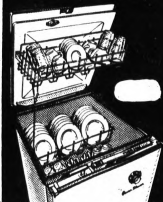

The State Department says it

What may account for the rising numbers, Carroll said, are better enforcement of the law and a change in department policy.

Early in the life of the fund, he said, the department would let you get off with just $1 if you had a certificate showing you had applied for an auto liability policy. Now you have to prove you have a policy in and people found out they had effect.

"In fact," Carroll said, "insurance agents told use immediately after the law took effect and people found out they had effect."

Indianapolis Slum Answer: Self-Help Housing

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Several hundred Negro families who lifted themselves out of slum conditions by building their own homes here have found a bonus.

Private developers, lending institutions and builders are showing new willingness to invest their time and funds in additional new housing in the areas affected.

The self-help project that started it all involves two groups of housing developments, one on the West Side and one on the East, both initiated by Flanner House Homes, Inc.

After the project was organized by the management of Flanner House, a settlement house in a Negro area, Indianapolis businessmen contributed much of a $200,000 revolving fund to buy construction materials.

BUILDING AIDS

These included pre-cut and color-coded wood so that the men, many of them unfamiliar with tools, could build the neat rows of low-cost brick and frame houses.

Private developers began moving in to build houses on adjacent land, finding that many middle-income Negro families wanted to move into the area.

Dr. Clo W. Blackburn, executive director of Flanner House, said "nobody in his right mind" would invest in the area before the self-help project started.

RESULTS

The results showed not only that solid families would move back into the area, but business would form shopping areas and private developers would put in apartments and recreation facilities.

The two developments now include more than 1,000 housing units.

Men must agree to work 20 hours a week at night, in addition to their regular jobs. Groups of 20 build the houses, each performing a specialized job.

No down payment is required for the houses because much of the usual labor cost is eliminated. A completed house is worth about $74,000, but the owner needs only a $9,500 mortgage loan to reimburse the revolving fund for construction costs.

PAYMENTS

Payments on the loans, insured by the Federal Housing Administration, average $90 a month.

One home owner said the self-help technique was the only way out of the slums because "we couldn't have continued paying rent and at the same time saved up $2,000 for a down payment."

Blackburn said demand from Negroes—Indianapolis has about 110,000—is rising steadily for the homes.

That Ain't Hay

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Service station attendant Freddie Pennington said a gunman employed jive language before taking $180.

Pennington quoted the bandit: "Give me all your green, man."

French Economics Backs De Gaulle's Arabian Courtship

By ELIAS N. ANTAR
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — France's President Charles de Gaulle, turning his back on Israel, has started a honeymoon with the Arab world. French economic activity in the Middle East is backing De Gaulle's views.

Paris, almost alone among Western capitals, is on speaking terms with Damascus, most militant Arab capital.

Firebrand Palestinian leader Ahmed Hukairy, who has sent the best wishes of his commandoes to the French president, described De Gaulle as "a Napoleon without faults."

In their need to cultivate friends in the West after the June war, the Arabs have clutched De Gaulle to their breasts because of his support for their cause.

De Gaulle's anti-Israel remarks at his news conference Monday were icing on the wedding cake. Praise for the president blossomed everywhere in Arab world.

BETTER DEFINED

An official Egyptian spokesman said De Gaulle had managed to define the important points in the Mideast conflict "better than we have."

"We are very happy that this voice came from the West," the spokesman said. "We are happy that the people in the West have great courage."

In Beirut, the press said President Charles Helou had warm praise for De Gaulle at a meeting of the Lebanese Cabinet.

The press in Iraq and Jordan hailed De Gaulle as "a great friend," and a Baghdad paper wondered why the Iraqi government had not cooperated with France earlier.

ECONOMIC INROADS

Underlying all this are French economic inroads in the Arab world, where U.S. and British interests have recently found only stony soil.

A state-owned French oil concern, ERAP, has signed an agreement with Iraq's national oil company to exploit vast areas confiscated from the Western-owned Iraq Petroleum Co.

France agreed to transform money owed by Egypt into a French loan, and even added credit facilities to the deal.

Earlier this month, France extended a $27-million loan to Lebanon.

AIRPORT CONTRACT

The Syrian government has granted a French electronics firm a contract for the communications system for Damascus' new international airport.

Another French company has a $2.5-million contract in Saudi Arabia to link the Moslem holy cities in a radio communications network.

Lady Bird's Mink 'Just Borrowed'

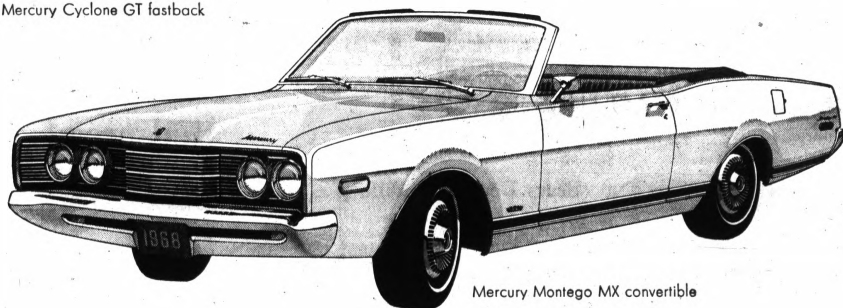

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson arrived at a reception Sunday for her daughter Lynda and future son-in-law, Marine Capt. Charles Robb, wearing a white mink coat.

It appeared to be a new acquisition, and reporters questioned Press Secretary Liz Carpenter. "She's just using this coat while having her own (a light tan mink) shortened," Mrs. Carpenter explained.

Folk Singer Rodgers Makes Phone Calls Despite Bad Beating

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Folk singer Jimmie Rodgers was reported well enough to make telephone calls from his hospital bed today, although his manager said he is still "in very serious condition."

"He insists on making telephone calls to friends and they are letting him do it rather than get all worked up over it," said Seymour Heller, Rodgers' manager.

Hospital officials refused to comment on Rodgers' condition.

Heller said the 33-year-old singer could be hospitalized "anywhere from 3 week or two to a couple of months."

FOUND BEATEN

Rodgers was found unconscious and beaten along a freeway early Friday. He suffered a skull fracture. He had apparently been attacked with a blunt instrument during a robbery attempt, according to his physician, Dr. William L. Donham.

Heller said Rodgers has no collection of Friday — "He's lost recollection of Friday — "He's lost the whole day." He said the only thing that remains is "the impression that he was hit with a tire iron."

Rodgers was taken to his Woodland Hills home after the incident but was hospitalized after he complained of severe headaches. At Glendale Community Hospital, X rays showed the skull fracture.

Heller said he hoped Rodgers will still be able to appear in the film "Catch a Robber by the Toe," scheduled to begin shooting in Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 11. He is cast as a singing star.

TV APPEARANCES

He was scheduled to appear on the Joey Bishop Show and the Pat Boone Show next week, but both appearances have been canceled.

'U.S. Citizens to Leave Cuba'

HAVANA (AP) — A plane load of American citizens and their Cuban relatives is scheduled to leave Cuba Tuesday, but a reliable source who reported this could not say whether the flight means resumption of the repatriation airlift.

The source said a Mexican airliner is due in Havana Tuesday to take about 80 American citizens and their Cuban relatives to Mexico. One source said the chance of more such flights might depend on the repatriates refraining from statements attacking Fidel Castro's regime after they reach the United States.

About 900 American citizens — long-time residents of Cuba — and some 2,000 of their relatives have been trying for several years to leave Cuba, but the Castro government has refused to let them go.

Detroit Researchers Report

'Money Won't Calm Ghettos'

NEW YORK (AP) — Money cannot buy peace in Negro ghettos, say two researchers from Detroit who interviewed Negroes who took part in that city's race riots last July.

Dr. Paul Lowinger and Miss Charlotte Barrow, both of Wayne State University in Detroit, reported on their interviews at Saturday's winter meeting of the American Academy of Psychoanalysis.

They said the cause of the rioting was "an ideologic demand for autonomy" — for Negro control of predominantly Negro neighborhoods.

The two said they conducted interviews with 222 unmarried Negro men living in Detroit and said many of them were participants in the rioting, which claimed 43 lives.

Modern Teachers Are Now Understanding The Children Of Poverty

Educating the Poor: a Growing Dilemma

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third of three stories on school children from low-income families. Today's article discusses the program's problems.)

By DICK ROBINSON

"One of the scandals of public education is the way schools actually retard the performance of Negro and other minority group children. Most educational systems are, by their bureaucratic natures, unresponsive to the needs of the disadvantaged."

This is the criticism of Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League. He is one of the critics of programs for disadvantaged children.

Just how successful are these federal programs that dole out billions of dollars to help educate the deprived?

Findings, so far, are inconclusive—but some what below expectations of those who see schools remaking society.

New York's More Effective Schools program has produced no marked advances in reading or mathematics nor have their teachers capitalized educationally on smaller classes, according to a Federal study.

Class sizes were reduced, and specialists such as psychologists, psychiatrists and social workers were introduced at the annual cost of $450,000 per elementary school.

The same federal study showed achievement-test scores improved, but still lagging below the national average for the grade level and only slightly higher than scores of a control group in ghetto schools without the aid.

Some critics of the More Effective Schools experiment take the findings to indicate that intensified teaching and services for slum children often do not produce lasting benefits.

INSURMOUNTABLE PROBLEMS

They say schools cannot hope to solve problems originating either in basic intellectual equipment or in unfavorable home environment.

An evaluation of Pontiac's Title I programs last year indicates that most of them were successful, according to Dr. William J. Robertson, supervisor of research and evaluation.

Selected elementary students showed gains of five to 17 months in reading ability compared to previous gains of two to six months before the program.

Home-school participation at Wilson School (Project 100) produced increases in the students "self worth," "feeling of belonging" and general school attitude.

Parents' attitude toward school and participation in school activities also increased.

A secondary language arts program, using electronic devices, special reading teachers and materials, indicated that students could make an average yearly gain in reading of almost 13 months compared to six months before the program.

On the negative side, the analysis showed that reduced class sizes produced no significant results (like New York) and that physical exercises to increase visual perception did not yield expected gains in reading.

Some of the critics blame teachers for not understanding the problems of the children of poverty.

"Although Negro and minority children are only a little behind other children in the earliest grades, by the time they are in junior high school, these children are several years behind in performance," Young claims.

But this could be explained that what a child learns before the age of 4 largely determines his future. As he grows older, more and more effort is required to change his intelligence.

Teachers are often prejudiced themselves or believe Negro children don't have the same potential as other students, according to Young.

It used to be that teachers often did not understand the problems of the children of poverty, some local experts contend. But now their eyes are opening.

WITHOUT BREAKFAST

Dedicated, middle-class teachers sometimes failed to realize that many poor children came to school without breakfast and were irritable or troublemakers or underachievers as a result.

Or they didn't understand that when children fell asleep in class it could have been because they were kept up most of the night before by the noise of a big fight next door and not because they were bored.

Dr. Robert L. Green, associate professor of educational psychology at Michigan State University, proposes:

"Let us take the heat off the students and put the heat on educational establishment, including school boards, administrators and teachers.

"Recruitment of committed, highly motivated and dedicated teachers is one of the most critical and pressing problems confronting urban education today."

Unless academically competent teachers who respect social-class and racial differences are recruited, he adds, curricula and program changes in urban schools will be of no avail.

"The underprivileged child is very often destined to failure simply because he sees little in his environment other than failure," Thor Petersen, coordinator of Pontiac's programs for the educationally deprived, explained.

"The urban deprived areas of our cities are significant demonstrations of both individual failure and the failures of our society.

"In most cases, the urban school merely reflects this situation. The deprived parents of today's deprived students are the products of an educational system that failed.

DIFFERENT TODAY?

"Yet, how much different are the schools attended by today's deprived youngsters than the schools attended by their parents?"

Perhaps the best known of the federally sponsored programs for the disadvantaged is Project Head Start.

An increasing number of experts say gains achieved in Head Start are lost in primary grades because teachers are not capable of carrying on what was started.

Petersen contends it is the financial limitations in the curriculum that is holding teachers back.

Others say the source of the disadvantaged children's problems is the home.

Indeed, many people view the challenge of providing adequate education for the culturally disadvantaged children as the most important challenge facing cities today.

It is a crisis that has grown into a dilemma.

Drug May Offer Hope in Leukemia Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — An experimental treatment with an enzyme has shown favorable but tentative effects in a handful of children and adults with one form of acute leukemia, a group of New York scientists said today.

Researchers said they were encouraged, but they pointed out how early the results were, that the results were similar to those attained with standard treatment, and that only very small doses of the drug have been given.

On the other hand, they said seven out of seven patients with acute lymphoblastic leukemia showed a prompt response when treated with the enzyme, L-asparaginase. This common form of leukemia is, however, also most responsive to standard treatments.

Most important perhaps is that the enzyme is a natural antagonist to a protein building-block or amino acid produced by normal cells. Some cancer cells cannot produce the amino acid, and must absorb what they need from body fluids.

THEORY

One theory indicates that destruction of the amino acid in the body fluids could then selectively hamper cancer cells.

The report on the drug trials was made at the annual meeting of the American Association of Hematology in Toronto, Canada, by a group of researchers from Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases, and the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, New York City.

The cautiously worded report was released simultaneously in New York.

The work involves the amino acid, asparagine — originally found in the vegetable asparagus from which it derived its name. There are several forms of the enzyme which destroys it.

EFFECTIVE

But one class of the enzyme, found in guinea pig serum and an intestinal bacterium called E. Coli, has been effective against the amino acid important to animal cell growth.

Only small amounts of the drug have been used. Furthermore, researchers are only beginning to test the toxicity of higher levels of the drug in human patients, after extensive animal trials.

So far, the researchers have given the enzyme to 14 persons. Of the 14, eight showed favorable responses. Of the eight, seven had acute lymphoblastic leukemia. Of the seven, the longest response so far has lasted about six months. The other cases have produced responses lasting for weeks, so far.

Three other forms of leukemia diseases were treated with only one temporary response in a case of acute myeloblastic leukemia. Three other patients with the same form of leukemia showed no response.

Plastic Replaces Bone

By Science Service

A plastic mesh implant can help restore the fractured base of the eye socket, a Kentucky surgeon reports.

The mesh has been tested in patients who have suffered from ethylene polymer that is rigid injuries to the bottom of the eye socket, called the orbital floor, an extremely thin layer of bone. The material consists of an enough to support the eye socket, but is porous enough to permit growth of fibrous connective tissues through it.

Although many surgeons prefer to graft the patient's own bone, this often is not practical because the regular donor sites such as the ribs or the hip bone have also been injured.

The material consists of an enough to support the eye socket, but is porous enough to permit growth of fibrous connective tissues through it.

N.J. Jew Becomes Buddhist Monk

His mother, Mrs. Pat Shlafer, said in Springfield, N.J., her son told her during a visit a month ago his stay in the pagoda would be temporary and he would return to the United States next year to go back to the University of Washington. Many Buddhist men spend periods of several months or years as monks, then return to their former lives.

VIETNAMESE INTERPRETER

Shlafer came to Vietnam in 1963 as a Vietnamese interpreter after training at the Army's language school in Monterey, Calif. After his military service he studied Vietnamese literature at Van Hanh University, a Buddhist school in Saigon. Scholarships from the University of Michigan and the University of Washington helped finance him.

Canoeist at Sea 106 Days

CHICAGO (AP) — A 106-day solo voyage in an outrigger canoe across the Atlantic ocean has shown a Chicagoan that being without water and food is difficult, but so is a lack of companionship.

Francis Brenton told the Chicago Tribune of his experiences Saturday during a transatlantic telephone interview from Agadir, Morocco.

He left Chicago June 6 in a 26-foot canoe in an attempt to sail by himself to Dakar, Senegal, Africa. But a Russian tanker picked him up Thursday near the Canary Islands. He was without food and water.

The tanker took him to Agadir. "You keep wanting company," Brenton, 40, told a reporter Saturday. "After being by yourself for a while, you think you have company."

GOES WITHOUT WATER

The adventurer related that during the long nights, he feared being smashed by ships in the darkness. For long periods, he went without drinking water and eating.

"I went for eight days without water. Of course, I ate some canned things and they contained water in them. I found it helpful to keep myself wet."

On Sept. 29 Brenton was sighted near the Azores by a passing freighter which replenished his exhausted food and water supply. By the time the Russians pulled him aboard their ship he was out of food again.

"My food ran out 30 days before," Brenton said. "I was living for some time from the moss off the boat that collected during the trip."

REGULAR STORMS

He added that it tasted like spinach.

The last 60 days of his voyage was marked by almost regular storms. Brenton said one hit every 10 days.

One storm broke his craft's rudder and tore its sails, leaving him without a means to navigate.

NY Tenement Fires Claim 8 Children

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight children died Sunday in Brooklyn and Manhattan tenement fires.

In the Manhattan blaze, a set of wooden shutters plus a heavy wooden wardrobe shoved in front of the window to keep the children—two 3-year-olds and a 2-year-old—from tumbling out became a trap which blocked the three victims. A brother, sister and their invalid parents survived and were hospitalized.

The five who died in Brooklyn—aged 4 months to 5 years—were from two families.

Britain Hit by Rail Slowdown

LONDON (AP) — Britain's lagging economy was threatened again today by another labor dispute, a railroad slowdown which Labor Minister Ray Gunter called "the silliest dispute of the decade."

The nation's 36,500 locomotive drivers began working by the book, observing strictly every point in their 241-page rule book including lengthy inspections of all equipment before moving.

Scores of freight and passenger trains were canceled. The engineer of a milk train refused to move, and 20,000 gallons had to be siphoned into trucks. The state railway said up to 25 per cent of all passenger services might be canceled.

Roads into London were jammed even more than usual by traffic 50 per cent above normal. Automobile associations organized car pools and commuter pickup points.

CABINET CALLED

Prime Minister Harold Wilson called his Cabinet to assess the effects of the strike and possibly to declare an emergency, mobilizing all available transport to take over the load from stalled trains.

Army trucks may be used to haul essential goods, and Royal Air Force planes to fly the mail.

The engineers claim that train guards, who are members of the rival National Union of Railwaymen, should not be allowed to ride in the empty cabs at the rear of locomotives. The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen said the guards, being in cabs, were not subject to the same discipline as the drivers.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Flapping, nose-picking, a tormenting neural itch are often reliable signs of Pin-Worms...a family affair that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do...and here's how they do it: First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist. Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge...small, easy-to-take tablets...special taste for children and adults.

SPLIT BY SUPPORT — Twenty passengers of this Short Way Lines bus were injured when the vehicle slammed into a bridge support near Lansing and split in two Saturday morning. The bus was passing a car on ice-covered U.S. 127 when it skidded, hit a car, then spun around and hit the bridge.

Crash Splits Bus; 20 Injured

LANSING (UPI) — A Michigan State Police officer said he is "amazed" that 24 persons survived a spectacular crash in which a bus skidded on an icy road, careened into a car, spun into an overpass and split in two.

Twenty persons were injured in the crash Saturday, but only one required hospitalization.

State Police Trooper Oser Rowe of East Lansing investigating the accident and concluded that those involved were lucky.

"The bus was split wide open," he said. "We were amazed no one was hurt worse than they were."

The bus was a Short Ways Line coach bound from Lansing to Jackson with 21 persons aboard, Rowe said. The driver, Carl Garey, 57, Lansing, suffered neck and back injuries.

WOMAN HOSPITALIZED — Mrs. Alta M. Silkworth, 73, of East Lansing suffered head and side injuries and was the only one hospitalized.

Rose said Garey was apparently attempting to pass a car on U.S. 127 when the bus skidded out of control.

The bus slammed into the rear of a car driven by a Lansing woman who, along with two passengers, suffered minor injuries when the car ripped through a guard rail into a ditch.

The bus then skidded sideways into an overpass support pillar. It was ripped in two, said Rowe.

ROAD CONDITIONS — He added that the roads were glazed with ice formed by a freezing rain which had been falling through the day.

Reparations for Negroes Are Urged by Cavanagh

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit warns that to Negroes who are "on the edge of their own daily hell, cities are for burning."

Speaking before the National Executive Board of the American Jewish Committee Saturday, Cavanagh urged the federal government to accept the principle of "reparations of long standing, injustice" to avoid widespread destruction of the kind that broke out in Detroit this year.

The Detroit mayor said he did not mean individual reparations in money.

"I am talking about reparations in the form of special training programs," he said, "special educational programs, special community construction and reconstruction programs, involving not only government but also business, private and public organizations, and the schools and universities."

Cavanagh called for reorganization of national priorities, placing city requirements high on the list. He also asked federal agencies to be more responsive to urban needs.

Among his recommendations were a reconstruction and public works act to train and employ slum dwellers, an urban development corporation to provide financial assistance, and a massive program to encourage private enterprise to create jobs in depressed areas.

Wake Up Your PERISTALSIS And Be Your SMILING BEST

Peristalsis is the muscular action of your digestive system. When peristaltic action slows down, waste materials can build up in the lower tract. You can become irregular, uncomfortable, stuffed.

The unique laxative formula of today's Carter's Pills gives effective, temporary relief of the irregularity by activating the slowed-down muscles of the lower tract and stimulating peristalsis.

So if you're sluggish due to irregularity, take Carter's Pills to wake up your peristalsis and you'll bounce back to your smiling best. Millions of satisfied users take Carter's Pills for effective temporary relief of irregularity. Why don't you, too?

Romney, the first Republican to announce he'll seek the 1968 presidential nomination, said recently he planned to visit a number of foreign countries, including the Soviet Union. He is scheduled to be in Moscow Dec. 18-19.

Unmanned Vessel Rips Bridge-Tunnel

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Two previous encounters with a coal-laden merchant ship slipped anchor in high seas late Sunday night and slammed into the Chesapeake Bay bridge-tunnel causing extensive damage to a portion of the 17-mile-long structure.

The Coast Guard said the 497-foot converted Liberty Ship Mohawk rammed the west side of the bridge-tunnel about three miles off shore and then bumped along the structure until it came to a stop about one-half mile from shore.

The ship was unmanned at the time of the collision, the Coast Guard said, and no injuries were reported.

The extent of structural damage to either the bridge-tunnel or the Mohawk was not immediately determined, but bridge-tunnel officials said the damage was greater to the span than in the collision occurred about 11:30 p.m. It knocked out all power on the bridge-tunnel, a series of bridges and tunnels across the mouth of Chesapeake Bay connecting Virginia Beach and the Eastern Shore.

Navigation lighting was back on about 1:30 a.m., the Coast Guard said.

Jim: "They bid enough."

JACOBY: North had a third diamond.

very minimum limit raise (if that), and South barged into six without further ado. Did he make it?"

Oswald: "According to the letter, it was in a duplicate game and two South players both bid and made the slam. How would you play the hand after the lead of ace and another spade?"

Jim: "It is easy enough to play after you see all the hands. Just looking at my own hand and dummy, as South, I would be distinctly nervous."

"There is so much work to do and so many cards to worry about. However, I would start by playing my ace of diamonds. East would drop the jack, and after some more thought I would lead a second diamond to dummy's king."

Oswald: "You would have come to the conclusion that you were not going to make the hand against a 5-1 diamond break and would be following the principle of playing for the cards to the where you need them when you have bid a trifle high."

Jim: "Exactly. After the queen of diamonds fell under the king, my only worry would be about the trumps. I would solve that problem by leading a third diamond."

"Assuming that East ruffed,

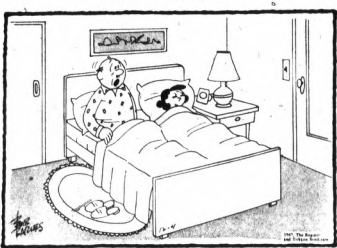

I would overruff, play my ace of trumps and another trump and show my hand. If East discarded, I would assume that he held three trumps to the queen and play him for that holding."

Oswald: "That third diamond lead put East in the position of the man who was going to be hanged if he did or if he didn't."

McNamara Budget to Offer Fresh Look at Vietnam Cost

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

One of Robert S. McNamara's final duties as secretary of defense will be to wrestle with the military budget for the next fiscal year. His figures will give U.S. taxpayers a fresh look at what the Vietnam war already has cost and what it is likely to cost, even without any significant new escalation.

The simplified picture of the war has been one of a little David holding an enormous Goliath at bay. In fact, the war more and more has the chilling look of a global conflict between the United States and a Communist world dominating a billion people.

Over the years, the more the Communist nations invested in the war, the greater the cost to the United States. The costs now have soared to astronomical heights. McNamara, as civilian boss of the military, has been in charge of spending one-half the total U.S. budget, and of that half 25 percent went to Vietnam in the current year.

World War I between April 1917 and June 1918 is estimated to have cost the United States $32.26 billion. At the present rate of spending, if it continues through the next fiscal year, Vietnam will have cost more than double that figure.

WW II COSTS

World War II, for the six years between July 1940 and June 1946 is estimated to have cost the United States $387 billion. If the present rate continues through the next fiscal year, Vietnam costs for four spending years will have reached 20 percent of the costliest war in history.

These are apart from the costs incurred by the six other fighting allies of the United States. In an article written for Scientific American, Beranek says it can be controlled by erecting heavier or multilayered walls between apartments, by floating floors or hanging ceilings, installing silent bathroom fixtures, utilizing quiet systems of air-conditioning.

There is no way of making an accurate assessment of the cost on the Communist side. Although it would fall far short of what the United States is spending, it would not be cheap in relation to the economic capabilities and the problems of the Communist nations.

Although the Communist world is deeply divided because of the feud between the Soviet Union and Red China, the Russians and Chinese along with their respective allies are together in supporting the Communist side in Vietnam, each for its own purposes, and each with the satisfaction of knowing that such support may drain American resources and arouse internal frictions in the United States.

IMPLICATIONS

It is unlikely the Communist cause in Vietnam could long survive without the heavy material support flowing from the Soviet Union, China and other Communist nations. Thus, while Communist powers avoid a military confrontation, the Vietnam war has important aspects of a global conflict.

Earlier this year, Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, wondered aloud whether Americans, after a quarter century of staggering spending figures, had become too immunized to comprehend the meaning of such numbers.

Figures on Vietnam were more comprehensible in the days when U.S. involvement was limited to assisting the French allies whose colonial power was challenged by armed revolution. U.S. spending on Vietnam then reached a rate of $3 million a day. In 1967 it is more than 20 times that.

As of now, the war costs Americans about $63 million a day. If it continues through the 1968-1969 fiscal year, it likely will cost more than $70 million a day. Up to that time it will be close to half the entire U.S. foreign aid investment for the 20 years from 1940 to 1960.

COST COMPARISONS

The outlay for the war in the 1967-1968 fiscal year would cover the entire budget expenses of a nation like France, or pay the annual expenses of the United Nations 100 times over.

When President Johnson unveiled his record budget of $135 billion last January, Vietnam alone accounted for a sixth of the figure and a third of the defense budget. The budget earmarked 10 times more for the Vietnam war than for the war on poverty and four times more than was allotted to the space program.

The cost in the 1965-66 budget was estimated at $5.8 billion. For the fiscal year beginning in July 1966 the estimate was $19.4 billion; for the 1967-1968 fiscal year, $21.9 billion. The estimate for the fiscal year beginning next July has been put at $22.5 billion, although that seems conservative in view of a prospective troop buildup to 525,000 men in Vietnam by June.

The figures for those four spending years total close to $70 billion. That is equal to about $4,000 or so for every man, woman and child in South Vietnam.

Noise a Health Problem

Humans Facing a Din Future?

WASHINGTON (AP) — No husband with a decent regard for his wife's feelings would scream at her to "turn that damn thing off!"

On the other hand, no wife with a decent regard for her husband's feelings would switch on a thumping radio or television program the moment he crawls home from a defeating day at the office in the hope of finding peace and quiet — especially quiet.

There are times when noise, however you define it, reaches a pitch, however subdued, that is insupportable to somebody. Reactions on such occasions are likely to be violent.

Prof. Lee E. Farr of the University of Texas reported at a recent meeting of the American Medical Association that noise can trigger a variety of ailments as well as "outbursts of rage."

The emotional and physiological penalties exacted by noise are coming increasingly to the attention of health authorities.

'SOUND THAT DAMAGES'
Noise has been variously defined as "unwanted sound" and "sound that irritates." It also could be called in some cases "sound that damages." What has come to be known as "noise pollution" is a fact of the times.

One man's noise, of course, may be another man's music. The crescendo of the Saturn 5's roaring rockets at Cape Kennedy on Nov. 9 was a pain in the ear to many a captive listener. But it was the loveliest of songs to the men who made the big rocket and whose reputations rode with it into the skies.

On one thing authorities agree — noise pollution, like all other kinds, is getting steadily worse. According to Dr. Farr, it is increasing the susceptibility of modern man to disease.

According to Dr. Leo L. Beranek of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, it is a threat also to human hearing. Physicists, engineers, architects, psychologists, and physiologists are beginning to pool their talents in the hope of doing something about it.

Can damaging sound be suppressed?

In an article written for Scientific American, Beranek says it can. "Noise can be controlled by erecting heavier or multilayered walls between apartments, by floating floors or hanging ceilings, installing silent bathroom fixtures, utilizing quiet systems of air-conditioning."

OUT OF STEP?—A pair of black shoes stands out in a sea of white on the deck of the aircraft carrier Constellation stationed off Vietnam recently. The men in white are drawn up to receive medals from visiting Vietnamese officials. The black shoes belong to the only enlisted man in the group. Only officers may wear white shoes, according to the Navy way of doing things.

'Ft. Leavenworth Keystone of Army'

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — The keystone of today's Army is at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., Maj. Gen. Michael S. Davidson, commanding general of the fort, says.

Davidson spoke at a civic club luncheon. Of the 3,022 foreign graduates, 600 became generals in the armies of their countries and many achieved posts as ministers, ambassadors, heads of large commercial establishments, and even heads of state, Davidson said.

The shape and form of tomorrow's army is being determined today at the fort, he said.

Market Up in Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced in trading today after a steady decline last week. Stocks and selected issues were strong.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.72 at 881.88.

The market advanced from the start and kept well ahead on the day, with gains steadily holding a ratio of about 2 to 1 over losses.

Expectations that other steel companies would follow the lead of U.S. Steel in boosting the price for cold rolled steel sheet added fuel to inflationary expect-tations. In addition, the rise in October installment credit was thought to reflect consumer borrowing to buy household durable goods.

ADVANCES

A U.S. Steel advanced more than a point and Republic and Armco Steel held a gain of about a point. Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin were averages.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 3.16, with industrials up 1.4, rails up 4 and utilities up 5.

UAW Extends Plant Deadline

BY JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — The concept of a negative income tax, an idea that has floated for years in the sometimes gaseous atmosphere of academic theory, seems once again to have drifted into the world of very practical considerations.

The latest to advocate such a tax, which would aid the poor and substitute for many welfare programs, is also the first major business executive to do so independently.

He is Arjay Miller, president of Ford Motor Co.

Negative income tax plans vary, but generally they set an earnings base below which families receive federal money to bring their living conditions up to a standard, and over which they must pay a tax.

The tax structure, in other words, would be made to do much of the work now handled by many welfare plans. Like a thermometer, it would concern itself with degrees below zero, down into the no-income areas.

The Twinsburg facility employs some 8,000 workers and is a major body stamping facility, and the Indianapolis plant, with some 2,900 workers, makes electrical components.

Both facilities supply Chrysler assembly lines across the country.

Meanwhile negotiators for GM and the UAW worked in two subcommittees yesterday in an attempt to bring talks to the main table.

Three subcommittees—skilled trades, production standards and Supplementary Unemployment Benefits (SUB)—were scheduled to meet today. But spokesmen for both sides would not say how late it would be before top level bargaining resumes a GM.

The UAW had set strike deadlines of 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. against Chrysler plants at Twinsburg, Ohio, and Indianapolis, Ind.

But the local negotiations at Twinsburg narrowed down to technical problems, and the deadline was postponed while technical experts studied the proposals.

Negotiations there were scheduled to resume Tuesday.

A company spokesman said a strike against either of the two plants would halt Chrysler production in about a week.

The Twinsburg facility employs some 8,000 workers and is a major body stamping facility, and the Indianapolis plant, with some 2,900 workers, makes electrical components.

As Welfare Substitute

Negative Tax Reaired

BY JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — The concept of a negative income tax, an idea that has floated for years in the sometimes gaseous atmosphere of academic theory, seems once again to have drifted into the world of very practical considerations.

The latest to advocate such a tax, which would aid the poor and substitute for many welfare programs, is also the first major business executive to do so independently.

He is Arjay Miller, president of Ford Motor Co.

Negative income tax plans vary, but generally they set an earnings base below which families receive federal money to bring their living conditions up to a standard, and over which they must pay a tax.

The tax structure, in other words, would be made to do much of the work now handled by many welfare plans. Like a thermometer, it would concern itself with degrees below zero, down into the no-income areas.

SANTA'S BIG HAPPY FAMILY IS HERE

WITH New Christmas Cookies

By JANET ODELL

One of the nicest things about Christmas cookies is that they are traditional all over the world. Each country has its own specialties. Because our ancestors came from many and varied places, in America we have a medley of recipes.

In the colored illustration at the left you'll see (from the left on the tray) Neapolitans which have an Italian background; Lacy French Jumbos; Dutch Sand Tarts; more Jumbos; and Scot Oat Prizes.

In the Scandinavian countries cooks use cardamom more than we do.

Orange Cardamom Cookies

1/2 cup shortening
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 teaspoon ground cardamom
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening with orange peel and cardamom. Gradually blend in sugar. Beat in egg. Add orange juice.

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Stir into creamed mixture. Chill dough until stiff enough to handle.

Roll out on a lightly floured board to 1/8-inch thickness. Cut into desired holiday shapes.

Bake on ungreased cookie sheets 8 minutes in 400-degree oven until lightly browned around the edges.

Cool and frost with confectioners' sugar water frosting. Makes 7 dozen cookies.

For the frosting, combine 1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar and 2 tablespoons water. Mix until smooth.

Many of our favorite cookies come from Germany. One of the most interesting is Pfefferkuchen or Peppernuts. While some old-time recipes actually called for pepper in the recipe, this modern version uses only cinnamon and cloves.

Light Pfefferkuchen

2 3/4 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup finely chopped blanched almonds
1/4 cup finely chopped candied citron
1/4 cup finely chopped candied orange peel
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups sugar

Sift together flour, spices and salt. Stir in almonds, citron and orange peel. Beat eggs until foamy. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until thick and light. Add flour mixture to eggs and mix thoroughly. Cover and chill several hours or overnight.

Dust hands lightly with flour and form dough into balls using about 2 teaspoons dough for each cookie. Place on greased baking sheets and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes.

Makes about 5 1/2 dozen cookies. For years, one of the favorite Christmas cookies in our house has been Mexican Wine Cookies.

This dough keeps in the refrigerator; you can cut and bake cookies as you have time.

Mexican Wine Cookies

3 cups flour
1 cup butter or margarine
2/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1/4 cup red wine

Sift and measure flour. Cream butter or margarine until light. Gradually work in sugar and beat until mixture is fluffy. Beat in salt and egg yolks.

Add flour alternately with wine. Chill for several hours.

Roll out on floured board to 1/8-inch thickness. Cut with bell cutter and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 12 minutes, or until light brown in 375-degree oven.

Decorate with green confectioners' icing. Makes about 60 cookies.

Steelers, Officials Provide No Help for Inept Lions

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

What can you say about the Detroit Lions after you see the sorry performance by the shabbiest performers ever seen on the Tiger Stadium turf—football, baseball, soccer or what have you — the Lions dropped a 24-14 decision to another cellar dwelling team, the Pittsburgh Steelers.

It was the same story for the Lions. The passers could not throw, the receivers couldn't catch, the blockers couldn't block and the tacklers couldn't tackle. Coach Joe Schmidt tried to find a few new words to explain the pathetic performance but his newly supplemented vocabulary was not for printing purposes.

The game was frustrating in itself for the Lions, but it turned into the farce stage as the officials made decisions on several plays to send the 47,000 fans into a constant reverberation of vocal raspberries.

Two Steelers' fumbles, both recovered by the Lions, caused most of the furor as head linesman Ed Marion awarded the ball back to the Steelers.

Another call which drew the ire of the Lions and the fans, was a sure-touchdown pass to Gail Cogdill in the second period. Cogdill got behind Steelers defensive back Bob Hohn in the end zone and when he made the turn for the ball, he went flying over Hohn's outstretched leg as the ball fell harmlessly to the ground.

The first Steelers' fumble, on the Pittsburgh 20-yard line by Don Shy was given back to the Steelers at this point and the Steel City team went on to complete an 80-yard scoring march for a 7-0 lead as Shy went the final yard and Mike Clark converted.

SECOND BOBBLE

The second Steelers' bobble recovered by Paul Nannoff of the Detroit 14 was again given back to Pittsburgh, and linebacker Mike Lucchi, protesting the decision, was ejected from the game.

Lucchi claimed he did not push Marion deliberately, but as he made a move toward the official he was pushed in the crowd and ran into Marion. The official, however, ejected Lucchi and three plays later the Steelers scored to make it 14-0 amid a constant barrage of boos from the crowd.

The Lions, however, could not generate any kind of an offense, except for the pass play to Cogdill who protested that the Steelers defensive back interfered with him on the play.

The Lions had two field goal attempts blocked, one a 32-yarder by Garo Yepremian and another a 40-yarder by Wayne Walker.

Just before the half ended the Steelers scored, again, on a 66-yard pass play as quarterback Kent Nix spotted

J.R. Wilburn all alone at the Detroit 40 and hit him perfectly to bring the score to 21-0 at halftime.

The Lions went on a 66-yard march early in the third quarter and on the 13th play of the series, Plum had to pass to Mel Farr for a three-yard touchdown. Walker converted.

Pittsburgh missed a couple field goals but after Plum fumbled on his own 15 when he was hit trying to pass, the Steelers booted a 17-yard field goal to make it 24-7.

Ex-Farm Club Easy for Red Wings

Detroit Skates to 6-1 Victory Over Penguins

By JERE CRAIG

DETROIT — In recent National Hockey League campaigns the Detroit Red Wings could depend upon their Pittsburgh farm club for help in times of duress.

The Hornets this year are known as the Penguins, are full fledged members of the NHL and thus no longer related to the Detroiters — but they appear to be "cousins" in the limited head-to-head clashes of the two teams.

Sunday night Pittsburgh invaded Olympia Stadium for the second time and the Red Wings skated to a will to a 6-1 victory that boosted them into sole possession of third place in the Eastern Division.

After a lack lustre opening period highlighted only by some standout reminding by the Penguins' Les Binkley and three merrily penalties, the Detroit skaters found the range.

The play developed well to the goalie's left with Norm Ullman digging the puck away from the boards and getting it to the nearby MacGregor whose pass across the crease found Henderson left unguarded.

SOLO RUSH

The Pittsburgh defense was embarrassed again less than two minutes later when Gordie Howe took an Ullman pass near the blue line of the visitors, slipped unchecked between two defensesmen, pulled the goalie and slid the puck in for a picture goal.

From those weak moments the Penguins' defense deteriorated into almost nonexistence. Floyd Smith made it 3-0 at 13:11 during a scramble in front of beleaguered Binkley.

Pittsburgh's Gene Ubriaco gave the visitors' some hope by scoring on a deflection off Detroit goaltender Roy Edwards with only 33 seconds to go in the middle session.

But there was no improvement defensively by the Penguins when the final period opened. Bart Crasheley smashed his second goal of the season into the visitors' net with 2:19 elapsed.

Ullman again assisted. He got his fourth assist at 11:07 when he set up lineamate MacGregor perfectly on a two-on-two breakin.

In between those two tallies, Red Wing veteran captain Alex Delvecchio — rapidly returning to favor with the fans after an unhappy early rupture — slipped in the fifth goal of the night on a pass from Gary Bergman and Howe.

It was fourth goal of the campaign for "Fats" and gives him 22 points. Both he and teammate Howe are among the NHL's top ten scorers, Gordie equalling Delvecchio's total with his goal and assist.

Ullman's four scoring passes leave him only two points behind his high-scoring mates.

In all, Detroit managed 40 shots on goal last night — all but six coming in the final two periods. The Penguins, who are third in the Western Division, had 29 against Edwards.

The Wings now have gone three games without a loss and are 6-3-1 against the newer expansion clubs. This includes an early 5-1 conquest of the Penguins in their only meeting.

A close race at Airway Lanes saw Donald Ogg edge Ed Craft 722-721 for honors. Dewey Reese followed with 694 and Pat Treacy with a 267 game had 679.

UNMATCHED TOTAL

No one matched Les Rothbarth's 751 total of two weeks ago at Cooley, but Meryl Taublieb hit 694 to lead the Cooley list yesterday.

Bob Leinberg led Fairgrounds with 662 total and the lone qualifier at Howe's was Frank Miller yesterday with 637.

Qualifiers of all three weekends will now go into the semifinals next Sunday. None of the scores listed are to be considered official.

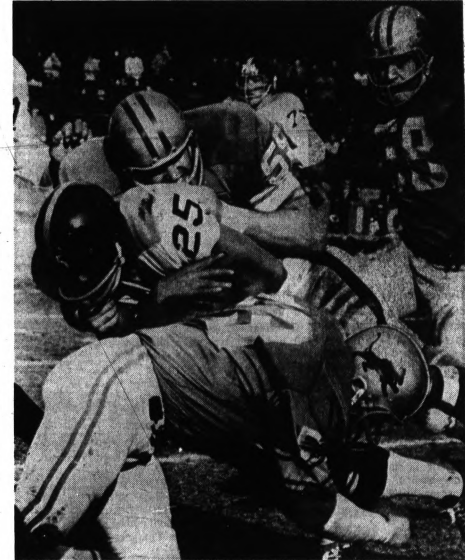

Averages will be checked this week and the entire semifinal squad will be posted Friday.

Five men on a late squad at Airway claimed the team bonus by combining for a 3192, 12 pins better than the score posted at Cooley Lanes by 300 Bowl's winners.

The 1287-doubles total appears to be holding up by the likes of Marty Fleckman, gripped professional golf today.

A total of 1,300 participated in this year's qualifying, a tournament record, and one-third reached the semifinals, also a new high.

WISE SQUAD — Pittsburgh Steelers' back Don Shy (25) finds himself caught in a vise-like situation with Detroit linebackers Wayne Walker (in back) and Mike Lucchi (foreground) applying the pressure. Coming up to lend a hand is another linebacker, Paul Nannoff (58). Shy made only one yard on this first-period play but it gave the Steelers a first down and Shy scored the visitors first touchdown on the next series of plays. Steelers won in Detroit, 24-14.

Michigan, Detroit Quintets Meet; Wolverines Lose Opening Tilt

The college basketball season started over the weekend on the state front. Michigan, a loser Saturday, and U. of D., a winner, will face each other tonight in the Titan field house.

The Titans, meanwhile, had a 96-67 breather over Aquinas in Detroit.

Michigan showed good rebounding power as Tomjanovich picked off 27, and the Wolverines also outshot Kentucky from the floor with 43 per cent of their shots, but it was the sloppy floor play which ruined the Michigan quint.

A crowd of 12,761 turned out to inaugurate the new building and the fans booed soundly when the public address mentioned the new no-dunk rule in college.

Jerry Swartzfager led the U. of D. victory with 34 points Saturday night. U. of D. and Michigan last met on the court in 1963-64 season when the Wolverines won a 117-87 contest with Cassie Russell in Ann Arbor.

Game time tonight in Detroit is 8 o'clock.

Rookie Golf Pro Wins Cajun Cash With Old Putter

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — A new era, ushered in by the likes of Marty Fleckman, gripped professional golf today.

Fleckman, who was winning the national collegiate championship just two years ago, won the $55,000 Cajun Classic Sunday, using an old, "cone crazy" putter to beat Jack Montgomery of Fort Worth on the first hole of an all Texas sudden death playoff.

The victory was the first ever scored by a rookie making his debut in an "official money" PGA tournament.

The 23-year-old Port Arthur resident, who seems to take his golf as solemnly as fellow Texan Ben Hogan, turned in a score of 67-68-71-69—275, which was 13 strokes under par for the Oakbourne Country Club course.

PADDING TOTAL — Keith Nealis led the qualifying at Lakewood Lanes where he posted a 715 total yesterday. Nealis has a 183-206-236—90 series.

handling errors enabled Oakland to catch up. The Pioneers caught the Bulldogs flat-footed several times and pulled to a 43-38 half-time lead.

The Bulldogs fought back behind Rank and Martini to catch the Pioneers and for most of the second half the teams matched points. The score was tied seven times and the lead changed hands 11 times through the first overtime.

Middies Win, 19-14

Navy QB Enjoys Last Laugh

PHILADELPHIA (AP)

Navy quarterback John Cartwright looked like the cat who ate the canary after he led the Middies to a stunning 19-14 upset of Army Saturday in the 68th annual service academy football classic.

Army had ridiculed Cartwright, a 190-pounder who lives a few miles from John F. Kennedy Stadium where 102,000 fans watched him wreck the favored Cadets.

During the week before the game, Army's team captain, Bud Nieswisch, was quoted as saying, "We're not worried about Cartwright. He gets rattled in Army-Navy games."

Cartwright read the quote as did his Navy teammates. They said nothing before the game. After it was over, however, the Middies talked.

"Actions speak louder than words," said Cartwright in the tumultuous Navy dressing room under the cavernous stadium. He was trying to be polite and matter of fact. But the wide smile on his face bared his feelings.

"I didn't feel rattled," said the kid from Sharon Hill, Pa., who completed 19 of 29 passes for 240 yards.

Coach Bill Elias, whose three previous Navy squads had two losses and a tie against Army, described the victory as the biggest of his 20-year coaching career. He said, in effect, that Navy in beating Army had played, completed and won its second football season of 1967.

The Navy, weak on defense in a 4-4-1 season before the Army game, sprung a surprise defense. Elias described it as a "roll action simulated man-to-man" that at times turned into a zone.

The Navy also pulled a new offensive wrinkle, turning its standard I formation with a flanker and a split end into an alignment with the quarterback under center and three set backs.

The defense kept the Army from crossing midfield until late in the second half. The offense allowed the Middies to build up a 19-0 lead over the Cadets in the fourth period.

Army, which had won eight and lost one against a comparatively easier schedule than Navy, finally came to life in the final quarter behind substitute quarterback Jim O'Toole.

UCLA's Bruins Nip Purdue

By the Associated Press
George King lost a two-point heart-breaker at the buzzer and "We might win the next 23 was delighted. Absolutely delirious. John Wooden won it and of the Bruins, who just missed a major upset Saturday night. "I really mean it—we going away," grumbled Coach Wooden after his nationally top-ranked UCLA Bruins pulled out a 73-71 decision at Purdue. The Boiler-makers came back from a 71-66 deficit in the last two minutes to tie it—sophomore Rick Mount and a pressing defense did the trick—before Lou Alcindor's rebound and a 20-foot shot by Bill Sweek won it for UCLA.

DUCKY WEATHER — It was a fine day for ducks in St. Louis Saturday, but it wasn't the kind of day needed for the championship game of the NCAA soccer tournament. The final between St. Louis University and Michigan State was called after 22 minutes and the teams were named champions. Getting in a few licks before the game was called, Ernie Tuschscher (right) of Michigan State moves up to the ball ahead of a splattering kick by St. Louis' Jack Galmiche.

Highland Lakes Quintet Falls, 73-70

Concordia Lutheran College cut the gap to 41-32 at halftime, but finally caught up in the last five minutes.

But after taking a four-point lead, the winless Highlanders again fell into their unproductive habits. Dave Stetler's lay into a 27-3 lead. The visitors up pushed Concordia back in

Game high scorer Tim Engel of the winners then iced the verdict with a long jumper. He finished with 24 points.

Ex - Pontiac Central cager Gordie Hamilton grabbed 29 rebounds to control the backboards for the losers. It set a school record. Hamilton also matched teammate Jerry Wright's 19 points.

Waterford Entertaining Milford in Basketball Debut

PNH '5' After Second Victory in Road Game

Rochester Playing Host to Utica Stevenson; Cranbrook Opening

The last Skippers of Waterford Township usher in the basketball season tomorrow night before the home fans with once-beaten Milford providing the opposition.

The game is one of a handful on the Tuesday night schedule, a slate which also finds Pontiac Northern heading to Highland Park in search of its second win of the young season.

The night also marks the opener for Rochester's Falcons and the Cranes of Cranbrook. Rochester entertains Utica Stevenson while Cranbrook opens Birmingham Seaborn.

Waterford has the height to take command of the backboard game, and if the Skippers come up with a scoring punch, it could be a banner year.

Likely to gain starting assignments tomorrow for the Skippers will be forwards Bill Foely (6-3) and transfer John Spangner (6-3) along with center Steve Searle (6-5).

GOOD RATING

Coach Bob Taylor and the Skippers are picked as the team to provide the opposition for Pontiac Northern in the Inter-Lakes League race, and they will have games with Laper and West Bloomfield before opening the loop campaign against Farmington.

Pontiac Northern is coming off an unimpressive victory over Flint Southwestern last Friday, 79-69, and the Huskies will need a steeper hand to handle Highland Park in the host's small gymnasium, a place where few visitors win.

Northern is playing without a couple of frontline performers in Dana Coia (6-2) and Stan Albin (6-3), both out with foot injuries, but the other Huskies have taken up the slack.

Don Hayward was the kingpin in the Northern win Friday. He flipped in 22 points and turned in a strong performance in the rebounding department.

At Seaborn, the Maples will be trying to jump into the win column after successive losses to Birmingham Groves and Port Huron.

Holly, which showed a lot of staying power in a come-from-behind effort against Brighton Friday, entertains always tough Porton, while Waterford Our Lady will try to make it two in a row against a visiting Orionville quintet.

In other games tomorrow, Oak Park is at Hazel Park, Nov visits Hartland, Roepers School has a date at Southfield Lathrup and Royal Oak Dondero travels to Warren Cousin.

Local Tankers Third in Flint Swim Relays

Flint Central dethroned Pontiac Northern in the sixth annual Vehicle City Relays held Saturday in the Flint Junior College Durham pool.

The Huskies, winners two years running, took third behind Flint Central and Bay City Central and now PNH will have the task of facing Pontiac Central Tuesday evening and Livonia Stevenson on Wednesday in the PNH pool.

Flint Central, with 92 points, won five of their eight relay events, posting two meet records in the 400 yard individual medley and 400 yard freestyle relay.

PNH won the Crescendo Relay with Turnbull, Goeck, Norberg and Pennbacker winning in a time of 5:01.7.

In total points behind Flint Central, Bay City Central and 67, Northern 61, Flint North western 40, Lansing Everett 37 and Flint Southwestern 33.

T-Hawks Wilt Under Record Point Attack

A sizzling 50-point scoring effort by Braves had a chance to tie the State carried the Battle Creek Braves to an easy 161-131 on Saturday night at Northern High School.

The 6-5 forward made 26 of 45 field goal attempts for 37 percent from the field to set a North American Basketball League scoring record and repulse every rallying bid by the Tomahawks.

Crump had fine help from Ajax Triplett — former Western Michigan center — who made 34 points on 16 of 25 (64 percent) — and unheralded reserve Bob Coen who scored 23 and matched Crump's 15 rebounds.

The Braves ran very well against the overmatched T-Hawks, hitting 51 percent of the 133 field goal attempts. They connected on 69 shots, 10 more than Pontiac who had five more tries.

The home team trailed only 36-30 after one period as the Tomahawks' high-scoring rookie Dave Gaines scored 13 of his 27 points to the delight of the small crowd.

Crump, who had six points in the first quarter, then started connecting regularly and tallied 16 in the second quarter and led the Braves to a 78-60 intermission edge.

Working without a couple of regulars, Pontiac Northern's state championship wrestling squad wound up second among a field of eight Saturday in the Owosso Invitational Wrestling Tournament.

It was a strong showing for the Huskies in a good field, and it matched their finish in last year's tournament.

Missing from the lineup for PNH in Saturday's event were Crump, the team's 180-pounder out with an injury, and heavyweight George Norberg, sidelined with the flu.

The Huskies picked up three individual titles to pile up 67 points, well back of tourney champion Lansing Eastern.

Owosso placed third (61), followed by Durand (58), Saginaw Douglas MacArthur (46), Jackson (41), Corunna (41) and Okemos (0).

Picking up titles for the Huskies were Leroy Gutierrez (100), Bill Green (120) and Al Morris (165). John Willson gave PNH a second in the 154-pound class.

Grand Rapids — Midwestern Baptist Seminary of Pontiac rallied in its season opener Saturday night for a 75-72 victory over winless Grace Bible College.

Veteran all-conference forward Ralph Wingate stole the ball and drove in for a layup to break a 65-all tie with less than two minutes to go, then sank two free throws to pad the Falcons' lead in the last half minute. He finished with 35 points.

Freshman Dan Wingate, Ralph's brother, scored 18 for Midwestern. The Falcons trailed, 34-30, at intermission, but ran off 11 points in a row to start the second half.

Midwestern will resume state Christian College AA act Saturday night at Grand Rapids against the school of Bible and Music. Wayne Hodgson's 25 points paced Grace (0-4).

CBS Film Division Off to Feverish Start

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD - "Our situation was like that of a rocket at Cape Kennedy. Unless we had a great amount of initial thrust, we would never make it into orbit. If we waited a year or two, people would be saying of us, 'Oh, yes, isn't that the outfit that is making features for television?'"

This was the explanation of Gordon Stulberg for the fevered pace of his CBS theatrical film division during its first six months of existence.

The progress thus far:

"The Quiet Couple" with Rock Hudson and Claudia Cardinale, now shooting in Rome; "With Six You Get Egg Roll" with Doris Day and Brian Keith to start here Jan. 3; "April Fools" starring Jack Lemmon to begin in April.

Stulberg has also set multiple pictures deals with Miss Day and Lemmon and has entered production arrangements with such creators as Sidney Buchman, Howard Hawks, Stanley Shapiro-Robert Morris, Harold Prince, James Haring, Ray W. Allen, Gertrude Kasper, Wendell Mayes, Pakula-Morgan, Robert Radnitz and others.

MAKING DEALS

"I've been spending most of my time making deals, which is not my bag," sighed the handsome Stulberg, who will be 44 Dec. 17. "But I expect things to start settling down soon."

Stulberg is one of a new breed of movie magnate that has replaced the self-educated pioneers of the Louis B. Mayer, Harry Cohn variety. Toronto-born, he graduated from the University of Toronto, took his law degree at Cornell University and practiced in Hollywood, especially in labor negotiations.

He was vice president and chief studio administrator of Columbia Pictures when CBS collapsed this year to head its new division for the making of War.

feature films. The entrance of a television network into the feature film-ABC has also made the move-has prompted the long-established film companies to complain to the government of unfair competition.

NO COMMENT

Stulberg had no comment to make on the film establishment's complaints. But he did answer criticism about the CBS operation:

1. That CBS could lure stars for features with sweet deals for television series as well-this was supposedly done for Doris Day.

"Our deal for features with Day is entirely independent of the network's for her television series. In fact, there was a little conflict over whether she would make our feature or the TV pilot first."

2. That CBS was elevating salaries for stars.

"Our deal with Jack Lemmon was exactly what he got from Paramount for 'The Odd Couple' - a million dollars. We also gave Day the exact terms she had for her past several pictures."

FILL NEEDS

3. That CBS is making features primarily to fill its feature network needs.

"CBS went into the making of features because it seemed like a logical extension of its activities in the fields of entertainment and communication. It felt that leisure entertainment offers a great future in terms of growth potential. Also, there seemed to be room for more pictures in theaters."

"The idea of providing films for theater/showings on TV may have been a factor in the early thinking. But the economics of films today are such that you cannot make money on a movie unless it is a hit in theaters. If a $3-million-to-$4-million picture is only a so-so success in theaters, the revenue from television can't possibly recover the loss."

The Pulaski Skyway in northern New Jersey was named for Count Casimir Pulaski, a Polish nobleman, who assisted the colonists in the Revolutionary War.

TORNADO WRECKAGE - This $40,000 home was demolished as a tornado roared across the shores of Bogue Sound near Morehead, N.C., yesterday. Clarence Styron, 45, owner of the house, and his wife took refuge in a back room and were uninjured.

Maddox Moves

Into Mansion

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) - Gov. and Mrs. Lester Maddox moved into the new $2-million government mansion over the weekend, even though the main floors downstairs are torn up.

The Maddoxes will be living on the second floor while buckling floors are replaced on the main floor.

PELIKAI, Ala. (UPI) - About 600 residents moved back to their homes yesterday after a truck containing 6,000 gallons of toxic explosive propane was removed from a railroad track.

The truck plummeted to the track Saturday night, falling about 75 feet from a bridge.

The driver, Joe Bobby Hunt of Rosnoke, Ala., was listed in fair condition at a local hospital.

The residents were evacuated when officials feared the leaking gas might explode. By early evening, however, officials had determined the danger was not great, and some people returned to their homes.

Honeymoon Is Seen Over for Sheila, 'Honeymonkeys'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Sheila MacRae's looking for a future.

After a brilliant couple of seasons with Jackie Gleason doing "The Honeymonkeys," it appears to her suddenly that she won't be doing the Gleason show next season because Jackie'll probably turn to variety shows—giving him more time for golf.

"The Honeymonkeys" kept him busy almost every day of the week," she said here the other night at the Downing Square restaurant.

Therefore at the end of the present season she may well be free.

She's been approached about doing the Angela Lansbury role in "Mame" when Angela leaves the Broadway company in April. Lisa Kirk is also in the running. It looks like there'll be a lot of discussion about who gets the part, with doubtless more gals being nominated. Sheila's doing about a dozen TV guest shots here and there'll be plenty of future in her future.

THANKS, THANKS, all you scores of kind readers who wrote and phoned offering cherished copies of the book "Heart Throbs" which Irving Berlin wanted to read again since it inspired a long-ago hit. He has now, through all your efforts, found a copy of the article he sought, and I will be writing about it. Mr. Berlin was touched that you all wanted to give him "Heart Throbs" in return for the heart throbs he has given you.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Richard Burton's co-star in "Where Eagles Dare" may be cowboy actor Clint Eastwood (if Robert Preston's not available).

The Steve Lawrence-Eydie Gorme "Golden Rainbow" musical opened in Philadelphia with some practically top dancers—but they'll be covered from now on... Secret Stuff: A recently-lyved attractive couple is at the punch-tossing stage already.

Jennifer Jones spent Thanksgiving with her children at their upstate N.Y. boarding school... Eddie Fisher has a real estate agent hunting a Westchester home for himself and brood...

Bob Crosby's son Chris, who has sung with his dad's Bobcats, says he doesn't enjoy that. "They're too square." The "How Now Doves" cast, rehearsing, sang a Happy Birthday to David Merrick (his 55th).

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jim Mulholland once belonged to Hippias Anonymous: "If you felt like wearing a chain shirt, they'd send someone over to talk you out of it."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The best example of devaluation is opening to the Playboy centerfold—and finding a picture of Twiggy.—Bob Orben.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "There is only one thing in the world of which everyone thinks he has enough, and that is intelligence."—Descartes.

EARL'S PEARLS: Bob Hope said he'd just had a very rough flight: "They showed somebody else's movie on the plane."

Trude Heller suspects our scientists still don't know everything about the moon: "For instance, they're testing the astronauts for possible allergies to green cheese." That's earl, brother.

S. African Man 'Satisfactory' After Heart Transplant

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (U) — A South African man continued in satisfactory condition today with the heart of a 25-year-old girl pumping his blood after the medical breakthrough yesterday of a human heart transplant.

Louis Washkansky, 55, a Lithuanian-born businessman, was in the critical postoperative period of what Groote Schuur Hospital called the first successful human heart transplant.

Heart specialists around the world were waiting to see if Washkansky's body would accept or reject the heart of Denise Ann Darvall, an accounting machine operator killed in a car crash.

"The longer Washkansky goes on, the better," said Dr. Jacobus G. Burger, medical supervisor of the hospital, "although that does not mean the heart will not be rejected later. The body could decide in 5 or 10 years' time that it doesn't want this heart."

Washkansky had a tracheotomy — a breathing tube inserted in his throat — and could not speak although he was reported fully conscious yesterday afternoon after the five-hour operation. He was being fed anti coagulants to prevent blood clotting. Dr. Burger said that without the transplant Washkansky would have been dead within a few days because his heart's muscle was worn down.

SURGEONS

The landmark operation was supervised by Dr. Jan H. Louw, the hospital's chief surgeon, with Prof. Chris Barnard performing the main surgery.

Surgeons removed the heart from Miss Darvall's body first and kept it going by a mechanical pump while they took out Washkansky's damaged heart. They then transplanted the girl's heart into the man's chest and started it beating with jolts from electrodes.

"It was like turning the ignition switch of a car," said Dr. Louw.

Dr. Michael DeBakey, who led the development of the heart pump, said in Houston the transplant "certainly would be a great achievement if they're able to overcome the rejection." Dr. Kenneth Sell of the U.S. Naval Medical Research Institute said there was "quite a definite chance" Washkansky might survive two years or more since several dogs which have received heart transplants are still alive two years afterward.

One abortive heart transplant effort was made in 1964 at the University of Mississippi. Surgeons there kept a patient alive despite a failing heart in a long but futile wait for a suitable human donor. In desperation they finally transplanted the heart of a chimpanzee, which failed after one hour.

The greatest obstacle to success in heart transplants is the human body's own defense mechanism against foreign objects. To suppress this mechanism so it won't attack the transplanted heart, doctors were giving Washkansky a number of drugs. But such drugs so depress the defense mechanism that such harmful foreign objects as germs thrive more easily, creating another hazard.

200 VC Killed in Battle

SAIGON (U) — American infantrymen and South Vietnamese Marines boxed in a Vietcong battalion in the Mekong Delta today and reported killing 200 in a day-long battle that raged into the night.

Initial field reports put U.S. casualties at four dead and 38 wounded, South Vietnamese at 15 killed and 50 wounded.

The delta battle coincided with more of the enemy artillery and rocket attacks which have become the prevailing pattern of the Vietnam war in recent weeks.

Communist troops shelled a U.S. destroyer, killing two Americans and wounding three, made a bazooka attack on the U.S. Army headquarters just outside of Saigon, sank one cargo barge and set afire, and ambushed an Army convoy.

The fighting in the delta broke out just before 8 a.m. as troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division and the 5th Vietnamese Marine battalion were being landed by Navy armored troop carriers for a sweep.

HEAVY FIRE

The force came under heavy fire from recoilless rifles, small arms and machine guns. U.S. Army helicopter gunships, artillery and Navy gunboats joined in the battle to support the ground troops.

The U.S. Command said heavy contact continued throughout the day and that the allied troops pushed the Communists about 2½ miles northward. At nightfall, there was still moderate to heavy contact.

U.S. Marines turned the tables on the Communists when they ambushed a column of 25 enemy troops two miles south of Phu Bai, headquarters of the 3rd Marine Division.

The Marines killed five of the enemy in the brief firefight last night and captured four weapons. One Marine was killed and four wounded.

DELAYED REPORT

U.S. Headquarters also announced in a delayed report that an Air Force C7 Caribou transport crashed from unknown causes last Thursday in a dense jungle area 260 miles northeast of Saigon. All 26 Americans aboard were killed. They included two civilian employees of the U.S. government.

In the air war U.S. pilots flew 72 strike missions against North Vietnam yesterday.

'Secret Goods' Recovered From Crash in Viet'

SAIGON (UPI) — A U.S. Air Force courier aircraft crashed Thursday in an enemy-held coastal area of South Vietnam, killing all 26 persons aboard, U.S. spokesmen said today. Secret material was reported on the craft, a C7A Caribou.

Rescuers found the wreckage Friday. The crash of the twin-engine plane was attributed officially to "unknown causes."

The Army would not say why announcement of the Thursday crash had been withheld until today. An Army spokesman said "security" and matters concerning the rescue effort were involved.

But unofficial sources said the plane was carrying classified material. They said the secret cargo was recovered intact Friday, and all the bodies were recovered.

The Army said the plane went down three miles south of Qui Nhon on the central coastline en route from Pleiku to Qui Nhon. The announcement said the last contact with the craft was when the pilot radioed Qui Nhon he was diverting southward to Nha Trang because of bad weather.

The rescuers reportedly had to fight their way through the thick jungle against Communist gunfire to reach the plane.

The official announcement listed the dead as four Air Force crew members, two Air Force passengers, 18 U.S. Army personnel and two civilian passengers. The Army refused to give the status of the civilian passengers, but it was later learned that one was a courier for a civilian agency.

27 Hurt as Cable Car Runs Amok in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — With passengers screaming in terror, a cable car ran wild down one of San Francisco's steepest hills last night, ramming a car which exploded into flames and crashed into nine others.

Ambulances took 27 persons, most of them from the cable car, to hospitals with burns and bruises. Critically burned was James Van Baalen, 30, of San Francisco.

The six-ton Hyde Street cable car, nearing the end of its two-mile run from Powell and Market streets in a heavy downpour, rolled onto the steep grade and went forward out of control on rain-slick tracks.

According to passengers, the cable car careened for a block and a half down Hyde. Some passengers jumped off.

SHEET OF FLAME

"A big sheet of flame hit the cable car," said Jim Kosek, 22, of Clarendon Hills, Ill.

Kosek, just returned from serving in Vietnam, said the cable car seemed to have "lost its brakes."

Several persons were injured in the autos that were hit after the initial impact.

Another cable car passenger, Lorena Matson, 29, of San Francisco, said: "As the cable car started down the steep hill toward Bay Street, the driver said, 'Oh, oh, it looks like we're gonna lose our cable.'"

NOT KIDDING

"We thought he was just kidding the tourists, and we laughed. Then we just kept going. Some people jumped off, screaming. There was a white car at Bay Street. Then things were falling. There was fire."

The cable car continued for another block and stopped at North Point Street, its front windshield and the ancient woodwork on the right side smashed. But the steelwork in front appeared intact.

Officer Frank Coombs said he believed the cable car had lost the grip on the sub-pavement cable that pulls the cars up the hills of the city.

Cause of the cable car failure was under investigation.

"I can't believe it! I never dreamed it would be me!" With these words radiant 17-year-old Patricia Guy stepped forward to receive a wreath of roses and be crowned the new Pontiac Junior Miss at Saturday's pageant at Pontiac Northern High School.

This was the climax of a program sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees in which the six Junior Miss candidates demonstrated physical fitness, talent and poise.

Patricia, a senior at Pontiac Northern High School, is the daughter of Clarence Guy, 384 Maxwell, and Mrs. Sidney Davidson, 352 Voorhees. She received a trophy and $250 in scholarships from Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet and the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The runnerup, Beth Ellen Vershure, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vershure, 1554 Sherwood, Sylvan Lake. A senior at Pontiac Central High School, she received $100 in scholarships and a trophy.

Patricia is a cheerleader, in the pep club, and a member of the student council. She plans to attend Eastern Michigan University next year, and then to teach biology.

TALENT SKIT

In her skit for the talent performance she recited "Twas the Night Before Christmas," playing the role of papa. But she had changed from pajamas and a bathrobe into an evening gown by the time she received her crown from last year's Pontiac Junior Miss Johanna Lynn Yansen.

Miss Guy will next compete in the state Junior Miss contest to be held Jan. 27 and 28 in Pontiac, also sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees.

First step in making a San Blas or reverse applique, start by stitching together five layers of cotton cloth, each the same size but a different color. The top layer will form the background of your applique.

After drawing on design, cut away largest design area. Be sure to cut through only one layer of cloth. Turn under raw edges; blind stitch. Continue cutting and stitching successive layers until design is completed.

Here's an example of San Blas or cut-away applique, turned into a colorful wall hanging. In this design, cotton squares of brown, gold, red, yellow and orange were used. The over-all finished wall hanging looks like a patchwork of bright-colored cottons.

Just Snip Away Fabric for Colorful Applique

Unusual wall hangings can be your color scheme, keeping in mind that the top layer will be the color of the largest cut-out area, the third layer the color of the second largest cut-out, and so on down.

The technique, which originated in the tiny San Blas Islands off the coast of Panama, reverses the usual method of applique. Instead of drawing fabric pieces to a background cloth, fabric pieces are cut away from the top layer. Turn under in successively smaller designs to reveal different colored cottons underneath.

San Blas women use this form of applique to make cotton houses called "molos." It also can be used for quilts and bedspreads, as well as wall hangings or decorative pillows.

To make a cut-away applique, choose a simple design with five colors. You can create your own design or trace a motif from magazine pictures. The design can be an animal or bird shape or an abstract.

Make a paper pattern, penciling in design areas within the main outline.

Baste together five layers of cotton cloth, cut to the same size and in the five different colors of your design. Arrange the layers of cloth according to the design.

Snug Slip Covers

While slip covers are still slightly damp from laundering, return them to the furniture. They will stretch, fit more snugly, and be less apt to wrinkle. In cases where the covers are likely to pull out in an unsightly manner, we'd e ordinary kitchen sponges between seats and arms of furniture. They disappear out of sight yet hold the slip covers taut.

Bride Carries White Bible at Nuptials

Carrying white orchids and ivy mounted on a White Bible, Debra Eysan Thornton became the bride of Henry Carl Lozier Saturday evening in Lincoln Park Methodist Church, Flint.

The daughter of Mrs. Norman L. Crane of Flint and Wilfred F. Thornton of Lincoln was styled with a high rise waist and A-line skirt.

Swiss lace appliques frosted with seed pearls and crystals accented the gown and its matching floor length train.

ATTENDANTS

Janet Thornton attended her sister as maid of honor with Melanie Matthews and Anna Marie Novich as flower girls.

Bridesmaids were Anita Auten, Diane Williams and Donna Matthews.

The bridegroom was assisted by his brother Joseph. Their parents are the Carl R. Lozier of Wildwood Road in Groveland Township.

Jame Thornton and Duwayne and Danny Austin ushered with Craig Thornton acting as ring bearer.

A reception in Grandview Hall followed the ceremony. The newlyweds are residing in Holly.

Tennis Star Is Coaching

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Margaret Connolly Brinker, famed tennis star of the early 50's, finds as much or more satisfaction in coaching as she did in her playing successes.

"Little Mo," as she was known in her championship days, turned to coaching when a horse-riding accident in 1954 ended her competitive play. Now involved in teaching young girls the finer points of the game she once dominated, she recently helped in the selection of a Texas delegation to the national Junior Wightman Cup Championships.

"When boys appear on the horizon, many girls get sidetracked in their tennis ambitions," she says. "But anyone who is dedicated will reach the top."

Modern Teachers Are Now Understanding The Children Of Poverty

Educating the Poor: a Growing Dilemma

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third of three stories on school children from low-income families. Today's article discusses the program's problems.)

By DICK ROBINSON

"One of the scandals of public education is the way schools actually retard the performance of Negro and other minority group children. Most educational systems are, by their bureaucratic natures, unresponsive to the needs of the disadvantaged."

This is the criticism of Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League. He is one of the critics of programs for disadvantaged children.

Just how successful are these federal programs that dole out billions of dollars to help educate the deprived?

Findings, so far, are inconclusive—but somewhat below expectations of those who see schools remaking society.

New York's More Effective Schools program has produced no marked advances in reading or mathematics nor have their teachers capitalized educationally on smaller classes, according to a Federal study.

Class sizes were reduced, and specialists such as psychologists, psychiatrists and social workers were introduced at the annual cost of $150,000 per elementary school.

The same federal study showed achievement-test scores improved, but still lagging below the national average for the grade level and only slightly higher than scores of a control group in ghetto schools without the aid.

Some critics of the More Effective Schools experiment take the findings to indicate that intensified teaching and services for slum children often do not produce lasting benefits.

INSURMOUNTABLE PROBLEMS

They say schools cannot hope to solve problems originating either in basic intellectual equipment or in unfavorable home environment.

An evaluation of Pontiac's Title I programs last year indicates that most of them were successful, according to Dr. William J. Robertson, supervisor of research and evaluation.

Selected elementary students showed gains of five to 17 months in reading ability compared to previous gains of two to six months before the program.

Home-school participation at Wilson School (Project 100) produced increases in the students' "self worth," "feeling of belonging" and general school attitude.

Parents' attitude toward school and participation in school activities also increased.

A secondary language arts program, using electronic devices, special reading teachers and materials, indicated that students could make an average yearly gain in reading of almost 13 months compared to six months before the program.

On the negative side, the analysis showed that reduced class sizes produced no significant results (like New York) and that physical exercises to increase visual perception did not yield expected gains in reading.

Some of the critics blame teachers for not understanding the problems of the children of poverty.

"Although Negro and minority children are only a little behind other children in the earliest grades, by the time they are in junior high school, these children are several years behind in performance," Young claims.

But this could be explained that what a child learns before the age of 4 largely determines his future. As he grows older, more and more effort is required to change his intelligence.

Teachers are often prejudiced themselves or believe Negro children don't have the same potential as other students, according to Young.

It used to be that teachers often did not understand the problems of the children of poverty, some local experts contend. But now their eyes are opening.

WITHOUT BREAKFAST

Dedicated, middle-class teachers sometimes failed to realize that many poor children came to school without breakfast and were irritable or troublemakers or underachievers as a result.

Or they didn't understand that when children fell asleep in class it could have been because they were kept up most of the night before by the noise of a big light next door and not because they were bored.

Dr. Robert L. Green, associate professor of educational psychology at Michigan State University, proposes:

"Let us take the heat off the students and put the heat on educational establishment, including school boards, administrators and teachers."

"Recruitment of committed, highly motivated and dedicated teachers is one of the most critical and pressing problems confronting urban education today."

Unless academically competent teachers who respect social-class and racial differences are recruited, he adds, curricula and program changes in urban schools will be of no avail.

"The underprivileged child is very often destined to failure simply because he sees little in his environment other than failure," Petersen explained.

"The urban deprived areas of our cities are significant demonstrations of both individual failure and the failures of our society."

"In most cases, the urban school merely reflects this situation. The deprived parents of today's deprived students are the products of an educational system that failed."

DIFFERENT TODAY?

"Yet, how much different are the schools attended by today's deprived youngsters than the schools attended by their parents?"

Perhaps the best known of the federally sponsored programs for the disadvantaged is Project Head Start.

An increasing number of experts say gains achieved in Head Start are lost in primary grades because teachers are not capable of carrying on what was started.

Petersen contends it is the financial limitations in the curriculum that is holding teachers back.

Others say the source of the disadvantaged children's problems is the home.

Indeed, many people view the challenge of providing adequate education for the culturally disadvantaged children as the most important challenge facing cities today.

It is a crisis that has grown into a dilemma.

A DIRECT HIT — Chunks of white-hot metal streak the night sky over the U.S. Special Forces camp at Bu Dop after a Communist rocket scored a direct hit on an ammunition dump during the weekend. The exploding ammunition shook the compound near the Cambodian border, raining shrapnel over the area.

BIG PUSH — One of the largest liquid cargoes in river history was pushed up the Mississippi River from Natchez, Miss., to Louisville, Ky., recently. The 12 barges totalling the size of three football fields contained 277,413 barrels of crude oil. The tug generates 5,000 horsepower.

Drug May Offer Hope in Leukemia Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — An experimental treatment with an enzyme has shown favorable but tentative effects in a handful of children and adults with one form of acute leukemia, a group of New York scientists said today.

Researchers said they were encouraged, but they pointed out how early the results were, that the results were similar to those attained with standard treatment, and that only very small doses of the drug have been given.

On the other hand, they said seven out of seven patients with acute lymphoblastic leukemia showed a prompt response when treated with the enzyme, L-asparaginase. This common form of leukemia is, however, also most responsive to standard treatments.

Most important perhaps is that the enzyme is a natural antagonist to a protein building-block or amino acid produced by normal cells. Some cancer cells cannot produce the amino acid, and must absorb what they need from body fluids.

THEORY

One theory indicates that destruction of the amino acid in the body fluids could then selectively hamper cancer cells.

The report on the drug trials was made at the annual meeting of the American Association of Hematology in Toronto, Canada, by a group of researchers from Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases, and the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, New York City.

The cautiously worded report was released simultaneously in New York.

The work involves the amino acid, asparagine — originally found in the vegetable asparagus from which it derived its name. There are several forms of the enzyme which destroys it.

EFFECTIVE

But one class of the enzyme, found in guinea pig serum and an intestinal bacterium called E. Coli, has been effective against the amino acid important to animal cell growth.

Only small amounts of the drug have been used. Furthermore, researchers are only beginning to test the toxicity of higher levels of the drug in human patients, after extensive animal trials.

So far, the researchers have given the enzyme to 14 persons. Of the 14, eight showed favorable responses. Of the eight, seven had acute lymphoblastic leukemia. Of the seven, the longest response so far has lasted about six months. The other cases have produced responses lasting for weeks, so far.

Three other forms of leukemia diseases were treated with only one temporary response in a case of acute myeloblastic leukemia. Three other patients with the same form of leukemia showed no response.

Plastic Replaces Bone

By Science Service — Although many surgeons prefer to graft the patient's own bone, this often is not practical because the regular donor sites such as the ribs or the hip bone have also been injured.

The mesh has been tested in patients who have suffered from ethylene polymer that is rigid to the bottom of the enough to support the eye socket, called the orbital socket, but is porous enough to floor, an extremely thin layer of permit growth of fibrous connective tissues through it.

Steelers, Officials Provide No Help for Inept Lions

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

What can you say about the Detroit Lions after you say you're sorry.

In one of the shabbiest performances ever seen on the Tiger Stadium turf—football, baseball, soccer or what have you—the Lions dropped a 24-14 decision to another cellar dwelling team, the Pittsburgh Steelers.

It was the same story for the Lions. The passers couldn't pass, the receivers couldn't catch, the blockers couldn't block and the blockers couldn't block. Coach Joe Schmidt tried to find a few new words to explain the pathetic performance but his newly supplemented vocabulary was not for printing purposes.

The game was frustrating in itself for the Lions, but it turned into the farce stage as the officials made decisions on several plays to send the $7,000 into a constant reverberation of vocal raspberries.

Two Steelers' fumbles, both recovered by the Lions, caused most of the furor as head linesman Ed Marion awarded the ball back to the Steelers.

Another call which drew the ire of the Lions and the fans, was a sure-touchdown pass to Gail Cogdill in the second period. Cogdill got behind Steeler defensive back Bob Hohn in the end zone and when he made the turn for the ball, he went flying over Hohn's outstretched leg as the ball fell harmlessly to the ground.

The first Steeler fumble on the Pittsburgh 29-yard-line by Don Shy, was given back to the Steelers at this point and the Steel City team went on to complete an 80-yard scoring march for a 7-0 lead as Shy went the final yard and Mike Clark converted.

SECOND BOBBLE

The second Steeler bobbie recovered by Paul Naumoff on the Detroit 14 was again given back to Pittsburgh and linebacker Mike Lucci, protesting the decision was ejected from the game.

Lucci claimed he did not push Marion deliberately, but as he made a move toward the official he was pushed in the crowd and ran into Marion. The official, however, ejected Lucci and three plays later the Steelers scored to make it 14-0 amid a constant barrage of boos from the crowd.

The Lions, however, could not generate any kind of an offense, except for the pass play to Cogdill who protested that the Steeler defensive back interfered with him on the play.

The Lions had two field goal attempts blocked, one a 32-yarder by Garo Yepremian and another a 40-yarder by Wayne Walker.

Just before the half ended the Steelers scored, again, on a 66-yard pass play as quarterback Kent Nix spotted

J.R. Wilburn all alone at the Detroit 40 and hit him perfectly to bring the score to 21-0 at halftime.

The Lions went on a 66-yard march after the third quarter and on the 13th play of the series, Plum had to pass to Mel Farr for a three-yard touchdown. Walker converted.

Pittsburgh missed a couple field goals but after Plum fumbled on his own 15 when he was hit trying to pass, the Steelers booted a 17-yard field goal to make it 24-7.

Ex-Farm Club Easy for Red Wings

Detroit Skates to 6-1 Victory Over Penguins

By JERE CRAIG

DETROIT — In recent National Hockey League campaigns the Detroit Red Wings could depend upon their Pittsburgh farm club for help in times of duress.

The Hornets this year are known as the Penguins, are full fledged members of the NHL and thus no longer related to the Detroiters — but they appear to be "cousins" in the limited head-to-head clashes of the two teams.

Sunday night Pittsburgh invaded Olympia Stadium for the second time and the Red Wings skated to a 6-1 victory that boosted them into sole possession of third place in the Eastern Division.

After a lack lustre opening period highlighted only by some standout net-mingling by the Penguins' Les Binkley and three unexciting penalties, the Detroit skaters found the range.

The play developed well to the goalie's left when Norm Ullman digging the puck away from the boards and getting it to the nearby MacGregor whose pass across the crease found Henderson left unguarded.

SOLO RUSH

The Pittsburgh defense was embarrassed again less than two minutes later when Gordie Howe took an Ullman pass near the blue line of the visitors, slipped unchecked between two defensemen, pulled the goalie and slid the puck in for a picture goal.

From those weak moments the Penguins' defense deteriorated into almost nonexistence. Floyd Smith made it 3-0 at 15:11 during a scramble in front of beleaguered Binkley.

Pittsburgh's Gene Ubriaco gave the visitors some hope by scoring on a deflection off Detroit goaltender Roy Edwards with only 33 seconds to go in the middle session.

But there was no improvement defensively by the Penguins when the final period opened. Bart Crashley smashed his second goal of the season into the visitors' net with 2:19 elapsed.

Ullman again assisted. He got his fourth assist at 11:07 when he set up linemate MacGregor perfectly on a two-on-two break.

In between those two tallies, Red Wing veteran captain Alex Delvecchio — rapidly returning to favor with the fans after an unhappy early rupture — slipped in the fifth goal of the night on passes from Gary Bergman and Howe.

It was fourth goal of the campaign for "Fats" and gives him 22 points. Both he and teammate Howe are among the NHL's top ten scorers. Gordie equaled Delvecchio's total with his goal and assist.

Ullman's four scoring passes leave him only two points behind his high-scoring mates.

In all, Detroit managed 40 shots on goal last night — all but six coming in the final two periods. The Penguins, who are third in the Western Division, had 29 against Edwards.

The Wings now have gone three games without a loss and are 6-3-1 against the newer expansion clubs. This includes an early 5-1 conquest of the Penguins in their only other meeting.

South Africa Downed by Spain in Net Play

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Spain defeated South Africa 3-2 in the Davis Cup Interzone tennis final today.

Spanish star Manuel Santana clinched the victory by sweeping through Cliff Drysdale of South Africa in only 21 minutes in the fourth and final set of their postponed match to win 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Keg Qualifying List Grows

All qualifying in the Pontiac Open Bowling championship came to an end Sunday night with 266 more bowlers added to the field for the semifinals next Sunday at 300 Bowl.

This means a total of 472 bowlers will start rolling in the major portion of the tournament.

Again, it was Huron Bowl which led the qualifying totals and those who hit the target score of 600 or better as 132 out of 379 bowlers made it yesterday.

Leading the Huron parade was Jack Overbaugh with 629 actual and a total of 708 pins. However, Mitch Cabi led the over-all qualifying in the house with 721 of which 658 was actual.

Dale Remley's 684 actual gave him a 692 total at Huron.

Keith Nealis powered the lanes at Lakewood for 715 total to lead all entries at the house, where Anthony Miles followed with 691 and James Gauthier with 681.

At 300 Bowl, Larry Washington's 687 led the field with Earl McKee bringing home 678 pins along with Al Phillips.

UNMATCHED TOTAL

No one matched Les Rothbarth's 751 total of two weeks ago at Cooley, but Mervyl Taubert hit 694 to lead the Cooley list yesterday.

Bob Leinberg led Fairgrounds with 662 total and the lone qualifier at Howe's was Frank Miller yesterday with 637.

Qualifiers of all three weekends will now go into the semifinals next Sunday. None of the scores listed are to be considered official.

Averages will be checked this week and the entire semifinal squad will be posted Friday.

No one could break the 3,180 team total hit by the 300 Bowl squad at Cooley the first week and until the score sheets are checked the 1,287 doubles total appears to be holding up with Rose Patisson and Karl VanDeMoortel as the duo.

A total of 1,300 participated in this year's qualifying, a tournament record, and one-third reached the semifinals, also a new high.

Rookie Golf Pro Wins Cajun Cash With Old Putter

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — A new era, ushered in by the likes of Marty Fleckman, gripped professional golf today.

Fleckman, who was winning the national collegiate championship just two years ago, won the $35,000 Cajun Classic Sunday, using an old, "gone crazy" putter to beat Jack Montgomery of Fort Worth in the first hole of an all Texas sudden death playoff.

The victory was the first ever scored by a rookie making his debut in an "official money" PGA tournament.

The 23-year-old Port Arthur resident, who seems to take his golf as solemnly as fellow Texan Ben Hogan, turned in a score of 67-68-71-69—275, which was 13 strokes under par for the Oakbourne Country Club course.

Defender Joins Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Defensive back Mike Barnes, a fourth round draft choice, was placed on the active roster by the St. Louis Cardinals before Sunday's National Football League game with New Orleans. Barnes replaces defensive tackle Bob Rowe of Western Michigan, who was placed on military reserve. Rowe, the Cardinals' 2nd draft choice last year, will be in service for six months and return before the 1968 training camp opens.

LEAD VANISHES — Ed Craft Jr., appeared to have a secure qualifying lead at Airway Lanes with his 721 until Donald Ogg later came in with a 722 total. Craft had a high game of 245 in his series.

PADDING TOTAL — Keith Nealis led the qualifying at Lakewood Lanes where he posted a 715 total yesterday. Nealis has a 183-206-236—90 series.

Vikings' Back Stars in Loss to Green Bay

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Dave Osborn has broken the Minnesota Vikings' single-game rushing record, has the team season ground-gaining record squarely in his sights and could even hit that most coveted goal of all pro ball-carriers—1,000 yards in one year.

Osborn streaked for 155 yards on 21 carries Sunday as the Vikings pushed the National Football League's Central division champion Green Bay Packers to the final eight seconds before bowing, 30-27.

"Osborn is as good a running back as we've faced this year," came the praise of Packers' Coach Vince Lombardi. "He's going to be a good one."

Osborn, who broke Tommy Mason's Viking rushing record of 146 yards set in 1963 against Baltimore, gained 79 yards on 19 carries seven weeks ago when Minnesota upset the Packers 10-7 at Milwaukee.

He now has gained 819 yards on 168 carries this season for a 4.9 average. He's within 48 yards of breaking Bill Brown's Minnesota season record of 866 yards, set in 1964.

And he needs 181 yards to crack the 1,000 mark.

The Vikings had third down with two yards to go for a first down at their 15 when quarterback Joe Kapp fumbled the snap from center. Fullback Brown kicked it into the Packers' end zone where Tom Brown fell on it for Green Bay.

The Packers ran five plays to eat up the clock, then summoned Chandler from the sideline for the game-winning field goal with eight seconds showing on the clock.

"It was a game of breaks, and we got the last bad one," Vikings' Coach Bud (Continued on Page D-2, Col. 7)

WISE SQUAD — Pittsburgh Steelers' back Don Shy (25) finds himself caught in a vise-like situation with Detroit linebackers Wayne Walker (in back) and Mike Lucci (foreground) applying the pressure. Coming up to lend a hand is another linebacker, Paul Naumoff (58). Shy made only one yard on this first-period play but it gave the Steelers a first down and Shy scored the visitors first touchdown on the next series of plays. Steelers won in Detroit, 24-14.

Michigan-Detroit Quintets Meet; Wolverines Lose Opening Tilt

The college basketball season started over the weekend on the state front, Michigan, a loser Saturday, and U. of D., a winner, will face each other tonight in the Tittian field house.

The Wolverines made numerous floor errors in losing 96-79 to the Kentucky Wildcats in the new $7.2 million University fieldhouse at Ann Arbor.

The Titans, meanwhile, had a 96-67 breather over Aquinas in Detroit.

Mike Casey, Kentucky's highly touted sophomore led the contest in Ann Arbor with 28 points while Michigan's 6'7 sophomore star from Hamtramck Rudy Tomjanovich led the Wolverines with 17.

Michigan showed good rebounding power as Tomjanovich picked off 27, and the Wolverines also outshot Kentucky from the floor with 43 per cent of their shots, but it was the sloppy floor play which ruined the Michigan quint.

A crowd of 12,761 turned out to inaugurate the new building and the fans booed soundly when the public address mentioned the new no-dunk rule in college.

Jerry Swartzlager led the U. of D. victory with 34 points Saturday night. U. of D. and Michigan last met on the court in 1963-64 season when the Wolverines won a 117-87 contest with Cazzie Russell in Ann Arbor.

Game time tonight in Detroit is 8 p.m.
