'Firefly' Flits Into Orbit to Aid Mapping

355-Pound Package Circles Globe 700 Miles Overhead

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A flashing "Firefly" satellite soared into orbit today to measure the size and shape of the earth in an experiment which could produce more accurate world maps and establish guide lines for tracking men to the moon.

The 355-pound satellite, named Anna, rocketed away from Cape Canaveral at 3:08 a.m. atop a Thor-Able-Star booster. An hour later the Defense Department announced it was in a successful orbit about 700 miles above the earth.

★ ★ ★

The first stage pushed the package to the edge of space. The second fired for two minutes, then shut down and coasted for 25 minutes before restarting its engine to eject its satellite into orbit high above Ethiopia at a speed of nearly 18,000 miles an hour.

★ ★ ★

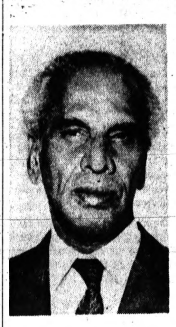
Officials reported that clear signals were being received from the payload.

Because the rocket was fired on a northeast heading in the direction of the Soviet Union, the Defense Department announced time and direction of launching in advance. Sources said this was done to alert the Soviet Union so that the Russians would not mistake the rocket for a hostile missile.

Official name of the satellite is Anna 1B, with the letters standing for Army, Navy, Air Force and NASA, the participating agencies. The "Firefly" nickname derives from four high-intensity xenon gas lights designed to be photographed against a background of stars as they flashed on and off at designated times.

The first launch in the program, Anna 1A, failed last May because of rocket trouble.

Menon Kicked Downstairs



NEW DELHI, India (AP)—the heavily criticized V. K. Krishna Menon as defense minister tonight and took over the job himself.

Menon moved over to become minister of defense production.

A Cabinet communique announcing the change came in a rising tide of charges that Menon bungled India's defenses against an attack by Communist Chinese.

The tide of criticism had been getting stronger ever since the Chinese launched an all-out offensive Oct. 20. Krishna Menon had assured the nation its defenses were adequate, but the Chinese have driven into Indian territory at 13 points, forcing the Indian army back.

One reason for the Indian retreats was the inadequate firepower against the rapid-firing Chinese automatic weapons. Critics have been particularly hard on Krishna Menon's failure to provide proper weapons for his troops.

TURN TO WEST

Now India has turned to the United States and Britain—two countries that Krishna Menon has a peculiar talent for irritating with slashing attacks in the United Nations and elsewhere—to provide desperately needed weapons.

Krishna Menon had turned to the Soviet Union both for weapons and for what he hoped would be a restraining influence on the Chinese.

But Russia has now endorsed the Chinese stand on the border dispute that erupted in an undeclared war, and the biggest arms deal with the Soviet Union is now off. Authoritative sources said Russia has canceled the Indian order for MIG21 jet fighter planes. A dozen had been expected to arrive here within the next few months.

The sources said Moscow had sent 10 Indian pilots who were training in Russia to fly MIG21s.

Further criticism is expected of giving Krishna Menon the newly created ministry of defense production in view of the past failures to produce the kind of arms Indian soldiers now need.

Nehru had been defense minister as well as prime minister and minister of foreign affairs briefly before Krishna Menon took over the defense job five years ago.

Nehru, who has been none too well in the last year, is 72. Menon is 65.

The announcement said President Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan asked Nehru to take over the defense post.

In fact, Nehru has been handling the job for the past week, relegating Menon to the background.

The decision to replace Menon was taken at a Cabinet meeting which outsiders thought must have been heated.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said today the United States will begin airlifting light infantry weapons, ammunition and other arms to India this week.

U Thant in 2nd Meeting With Castro

From Our News Wires

HAVANA — Acting Secretary-General U Thant went into a second meeting with Prime Minister Fidel Castro today to try to win agreement for U.N. verification of Moscow's promises to remove its missiles from Cuba.

Editorial on Page A-6; Other Stories, A-3, A-7, C-1

★ ★ ★

An initial two-hour, 10-minute session between Thant and the bearded Cuban leader made no headway yesterday, informants said. Castro reportedly stuck to such demands as abandonment by the United States of its Guantanamo naval base in southeastern Cuba.

The United States already has rejected Castro's demands, made last weekend.

He also demanded lifting of all economic measures against his regime and guarantees against hit-run raids and invasion preparations.

★ ★ ★

Despite the reported lack of progress, a spokesman for Thant called the meeting "very useful."

FIXED CUBA POSITION

A communique issued afterward said "Cuba fixed her position and viewpoints with clarity," which informants said meant Castro was unyielding in his demands.

President Osvaldo Dorticos took part in the meeting.

In Washington, President Kennedy arranged for a late afternoon meeting with his key Cuban advisers to review developments in the dismantling of Russian missile bases as promised by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Strong indications reaching the U. S. government from a variety of sources suggested the Soviets were hurrying to carry out Khrushchev's pledge that eased the East-West tension this week.

However, there were reports from Havana that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was trying to salvage a semblance of face-saving autonomy over the degree of United Nations verification of the Soviet pull-out.

In Moscow, it was learned that First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan is due to take off tomorrow on what appeared

Tough Month Ahead

K Under Pressure

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Nikita Khrushchev has a tough month ahead. Pressure on the Kremlin leader may induce him to take risky actions against his better judgment and once again head a nervous world toward the brink.

A week from now, the U.S.S.R. celebrates the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik takeover of power. The Communist leadership likes to have some spectacular success to display for this anniversary. At the moment, it has none.

Two weeks from now, the Soviet Central Committee has scheduled an important meeting. It could be a grim session, with the Kremlin leadership facing up to some gloomy realities.

★ ★ ★

No matter how Soviet propaganda paints it for home consumption, Khrushchev backed down in the Cuban crisis and the party leadership is aware of that.

News Analysis

The Cuban crisis probably made some high officers within the armed forces unhappy. There are hints of disenchantment with Khrushchev's cold war generalship.

There's an annoying war going on along the Indian-Red Chinese border. It is embarrassing for Soviet policy.

Plans for new pressure on West Berlin may have gone askew because of the Cuban developments.

★ ★ ★

The Cuban crisis probably has made the Red Chinese and the Stalinists around the world furious.

The Chinese once again are denouncing "modern revisionism," obviously meaning Khrushchev's policies.

RED RESISTANCE

Moscow seems to be running into resistance from the satellite states to plans for coordinating economies of the Communist world under Soviet direction as a reply to the European Common Market.

The Soviet government still

Major Changes in Organization Recommended

Resolution OK'd 6 to 1; to Re-Establish Traffic Unit and Reserves

By DICK SAUNDERS

Major organizational revisions in the Pontiac Police Department were recommended in a policy-making resolution passed by the City Commission last night.

The measure, which contains six recommendations including re-establishment of a traffic bureau and reinstatement of the former police reserves, was approved, 6-1.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner William H. Taylor cast the lone dissenting vote.

Passage came over appeals from both Taylor and City Manager Robert A. Stierer to delay action a week to allow further study of recommendations in the resolution.

Both Taylor and Stierer indicated they had not seen the resolution before last night's meeting.

★ ★ ★

It was introduced by Mayor Robert A. Landry after action had been completed on the printed agenda.

POLICIES CHANGED

To some extent, the resolution reverses policies and procedures put in effect as a result of recommendations in the controversial Public Administration Service study and report in 1957.

★ ★ ★

Landry emphasized that the resolution "is not to be misconstrued as being critical of the city manager, the chief of police or any police department personnel."

He said the proposed changes came largely as a result of repeated complaints of citizens to the Commission.

He indicated the faults were

U. S. Embassy Protests Picketing in Moscow

A note delivered yesterday complained about "the apparent inability or unwillingness of the Soviet authorities responsible for the maintenance of public order to take appropriate measures" to protect the embassy.

Dem Chief Plots Siege; GOP Out to Hold County

By JIM DYGERT

Democratic County Chairman Sander Levin predicts Democrats will "explode the myth that Oakland County is the private property of the Republican party" in Tuesday's election. But Republicans are confident they will retain possession of the county offices on the ballot.

Five men and a woman are waging energetic Democratic challenges against the Republican incumbents in an effort to make Levin's prediction come true. The GOP officeholders are standing on their records.

The backgrounds and statements of the 12 candidates for six county offices are on page B-12 in The Pontiac Press' pre-election presentation of candidates and issues.

State legislature contests will be discussed later this week.

Here are the choices facing voters in the six county races.

Prosecutor: Incumbent Republican George F. Taylor and Democratic challenger S. Jerome Bronson.

Sheriff: Incumbent Republican Frank W. Irons and Democratic challenger Kenneth G. Hirt.

Clerk-Register of Deeds: Incumbent Republican Daniel T. Murphy Jr. and Democrat David S. Lees.

Treasurer: Incumbent Republican Charles A. Sparks and Democrat Mrs. Betty H. McVay.

Drain Commissioner: Incumbent Republican Daniel W. Barry and Democrat Roy J. Russell.

County Surveyor: Incumbent Republican Ralph A. Main and Democrat Stanley F. Dunn.

CANDIDATE BEFORE

Prosecutor hopeful Bronson was a candidate for state senate two years ago.

The candidates for clerk-register, drain commissioner and surveyor are the same as in 1960. Mrs. McVay and Hirt are newcomers to political contests.

The hardest-fought race so far this year has been for drain commissioner.

Besides claiming that Barry is not qualified to be drain commissioner because he is not an engineer, Russell is pointing to the recent auditor general's report claiming Barry overcharged the county on mileage and meal expenses.

Barry answers that the audit report was a political move that turned up nothing illegal. He adds that engineering is only one phase of drain construction.

U.S. Sends Justice Aide to Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The Justice Department sent its No. 2 man winging into the racially troubled University of Mississippi on Halloween eve amid signs of new strife.

And rowdy students got this warning: Quit interfering with Negro James H. Meredith or face federal contempt charges.

After two straight days of serious incidents, the campus appeared quiet this morning as Meredith started his round of classes — as usual, in the company of federal marshals. It was his 23rd day of classes at previously all-white Ole Miss.

Nicholas Katzenbach, the deputy attorney general, flew in from Washington in the wake of a firecracker barrage on Meredith's dormitory Monday night.

L. L. Love, dean of students, later told a group of students Katzenbach had announced that anyone arrested in future disturbances would be charged with contempt of federal court.

★ ★ ★

Tom S. Hines, director of student personnel, gave announcements of the warning to the campus radio station for broadcast, quoting Edwin O. Guthman, Justice Department press officer.

Even as Katzenbach flew in, trouble flared anew on the campus where rioting killed two and injured scores because of desegregation just 31 days ago.

Somebody threw a soft drink bottle at a car carrying Meredith. The bottle crashed through the closed window of a rear door. Fragments of glass cut one of the four federal marshals riding with Meredith.

The incident occurred as Meredith returned to his dormitory from dinner in the student cafeteria.

Katzenbach's appearance gave an indication of the importance the Justice Department attaches to the possibility of more trouble over Halloween — traditional holiday for mischief-makers.

Expect High of 55 in Area Tomorrow

Tomorrow will be somewhat warmer, the high skipping up to near 55 the U.S. Weather Bureau said. Tonight will again be cold, the low about 33.

For the next five days temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees below the normal high of 53 and normal low of 37.

The low temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 36 degrees. At 2 p.m. the reading was 44.

Don't Let Halloween Haunt You

Keep a careful watch for youngsters out trick or treating on Halloween, Pontiac Police Chief Joseph Koren and Sheriff Frank Irons urged motorists today.

★ ★ ★

The two officers warned that children with their vision partially obscured by masks are likely to dart suddenly into streets.

This can add to the hazard caused by early darkness, fog and smoke from burning leaves expected at this time of the year, according to the State Safety Commission.

Parents were asked to tell their children to stay on the sidewalk, cross streets at proper places and watch where they run.

Pet owners also were given a reminder — keep pets, especially dogs, inside.

The strange costumes might frighten animals.

The Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation recommends that elementary-age youngsters be home by 9 p. m., junior high age by 10:30 and senior high by 11.

It also recommended "trick or treat" time be restricted to 6-7 p. m.

Swainson Calls It 'Shady Business'

By The Associated Press

Michigan's Democratic leadership in the showdown drive for the Nov. 6 state election appeared today to be attempting to make a major issue of a citizens' committee checking voter registrations in Detroit and Wayne County.

The avowed purpose of the committee is to prevent fraud.

★ ★ ★

The Committee for Honest Elections calls itself nonpartisan and is headed by Walker L. Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co.

Prominent citizens make up the committee.

Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson, campaigning for re-election, teed off on the committee Tuesday night in a speech to officials of United Auto Workers Local 600 in Dearborn.

Swainson said, "It must be pretty shady business. The committee's chief investigator, George Abrams, refused to tell us who was financing the committee's work.

"There is no fraud in Michigan elections," the governor asserted. "There never has been and we have one of the finest records for clean elections in the nation."

NO COMMENT

George Romney, campaigning outstate as the Republican nomine for governor, had no immediate comment on Swainson's blast.

But he earlier termed Democratic criticism of the committee "hysterical reaction" and predicted Democrats "will frantically push more extreme panic buttons" before election day.

Democratic State Chairman John (Joe) Collins took up the outcry against the committee and asserted, "The hidden Republicans who are backing this effort are understandably insisting on a cloak of secrecy."

Collins added, "Secretary of State Jim Hare and Detroit elections director Louis Urban are men of unquestioned integrity—and they run the kind of elections which keep their records for honesty, determination and enforcement of their beliefs intact. The State of Michigan has received an undue smear."

The Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the committee is suspect "because its origins and source of finance are not clear."

The Democratic State Central Committee asked the national fair campaign practices committee in New York to investigate the Detroit group.

★ ★ ★

The central committee said, "We resent and deplore this behind the scenes, secretive attempt to use the outstanding reputations of fine gentlemen whose civic responsibility is beyond question in what is patently a scheme to intimidate voters."

★ ★ ★

Meantime, the Committee for Honest Elections went ahead with its checking of voter registrations. Its chief investigator, George Abrams, said his staff now includes five investigators and 10 more will be added before election day. He said the investigation had been extended into out-county areas.

The committee's current cost, Abrams said, are being handled by the Honest Ballot Association in New York and eventually will be covered by contributions.

ROMNEY TALKS

Romney, on a whirlwind blitz tour outstate, Tuesday night told a Jackson rally Swainson has painted a portrait of failure in office.

"You can't supply leadership by saying that all Republicans are bad," Romney said. "But my opponent said all Republicans still have cruel hearts and cold blood — and that every Republican is just a crass materialist."

Gov. Swainson, addressing a rally of elderly Democrats, advocated President Kennedy's medical care program, federal aid to education and slum clearance projects.

At his appearance before UAW Local 600, Swainson was introduced by Joe McCusker, the Union's Region 4 coordinator. Declaring senior citizens should get the young people to vote, McCusker said:

"You wouldn't elect Henry Ford as president of Local 600, would you? Then why elect his candidate for governor to the highest office in the state!"

War, Si; Truce, No, Say Anti-Castroites

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban revolutionaries made it clear today that despite U.N. acting Secretary General U Thant's mission to Havana they mean war, yes, truce no.

The Cuban Revolutionary Council sent word to Thant that any deal he might make with Fidel Castro would not block armed action against the dictator.

The council, major anti-Castro alliance, declared it could not recognize a pact with the Cuban regime, which it called a Soviet province.

GIRD FOR WAR

Anti-Castro groups girded for war despite what appeared a cooling-off period during Thant's Cuba visit. Generally they expressed little concern over President Kennedy's promise not to invade Cuba if Soviet missiles are withdrawn. They indicated there are other means of ousting the Castro regime.

★ ★ ★

The Second National Escambray Front, an underground organization, said its guerrillas and saboteurs continued in the field "even though it is difficult at present."

"Infiltration in the Cuban armed forced is one of our main objectives," said Dr. Armando Fleites, secretary-general of the second front.

Fleites, 32, a former physician, said 80 per cent of Castro's militia would defect in case of an insurrection.

ADVISES UNDERGROUND

Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, president of the revolutionary council, advised underground groups not to resort to suicide tactics, but to await the moment for action.

But he added: "the dismantling of missile bases also means the dismantling of Castro."

Fleites reported that the second front, headed by Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, one of Castro's principal aides in overthrowing former dictator Fulgencio Batista, had merged with the exile action group Alpha 66 in response to Miro Cardona's call for unity.

Alpha 66 leaders in Miami disavowed the merger. They went to Puerto Rico, Alpha 66 headquarters, to discuss the rift.

Pleads Guilty to Theft Charge of $1.37 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Alan J. Pomeranz, 34, a salesman accused of masterminding the theft of $1,370,475 in securities from Bache & Co., pleaded guilty today to one count of a four-count indictment charging criminal receipt of stolen property.

State Supreme Court Justice Mitchell D. Schweitzer set sentencing for Dec. 6 and continued Pomeranz in $25,000 bail.

The plea of guilty to one count to cover the four-count indictment was accepted on the recommendation of Asst. Dist. Atty. Oscar Cohen.

Pomeranz could receive up to 10 years in prison.

Teen Attacks Ex-Teacher, 72

Woman Beaten in Home

A 72-year-old retired schoolteacher was beaten severely in her White Lake Township home last night by a youth she discovered in her bedroom.

The attack on Mrs. Lucille O. Greene, 9530 Cooley Lake Road, occurred about 9 p.m. when she awoke and saw someone standing at the foot of her bed.

Mrs. Greene, a widow, told Sheriff deputies that it was a "tall, blond teen-ager."

"He asked for my purse and then wanted to know if I knew him," said Mrs. Greene, who is a correspondent and a photographer for a weekly newspaper.

★ ★ ★

Police said her assailant apparently then struck her in the head with a bottle of toilet water, knocking her off the bed and kicking her under it.

STAGGERS TO NEIGHBOR'S

When she came to she staggered to a neighbor's home two doors away where Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elletson, 9500 Cooley Lake Road, administered first aid and called Sheriff deputies.

Mrs. Greene was taken to Pontiac General Hospital where her condition today is listed as satisfactory. She suffered facial lacerations, multiple abrasions and injury to her right hand.

When Sheriff deputies searched the Greene home they found that her hearing aid had been purposely broken and the phone in the dining room ripped from the wall.

Other than that the house had not been ransacked.

Mrs. Greene told police that she returned home about 5 p.m. yesterday and went to bed about 8 p.m. Police believe the house may have been entered while Miss Greene was away or the assailant had a key.

For the Russians, all this tends to make Cuba part of the whole cold war picture.

Failure of Khrushchev's plans there can embolden his critics who disagree with many other policies.

Red Chinese pressure on India's borders obviously has been in defiance of Khrushchev. It could even be read as a deliberate attempt to place him in an uncomfortable position.

★ ★ ★

Should he side with Red China, he alienates India and the rest of the so-called nonaligned nations. If he sides with India, he widens the Communist schism.

Regarding West Berlin, Khrushchev's opposition inside and outside the Soviet Union conceivably can bring much pressure on him to put up or shut up.

He has promised for four years to sign a treaty with East Germany and to end Western allied rights in the isolated city.

Khrushchev probably will carry the day in the Communist party Central Committee, but the pressures undoubtedly will remain.

They probably can force him eventually to make some sort of move to justify his leadership.

That would set the world's nerves on edge once again.

Resolution Urges Police Dept. Changes

with operational structure and not police personnel.

Some of the changes, Landry explained, were suggested in an effort to set up better traffic and pedestrian controls in the event of a natural or man-made disaster.

The resolution, as adopted, recommends that the city manager place the following measures in effect before Dec. 1, 1962:

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Re-establish an operating traffic bureau immediately in the police department independent of the patrol bureau.

2. Provide foot or beat patrols in the central business district, and the Wessen & Jackson and the Sanford & E. Wilson (street) areas.

3. Discontinue the present use of civilian personnel at the front desk in the police department.

4. Reinstate all former members of the police reserve organization with full status as reserve police officers.

5. Revise procedures required by the present record system to eliminate unnecessary, time consuming, clerical work performed by patrolmen during working hours and substitute a practical realistic method of police reporting which will not involve wasteful time of police officers on trivial incidents.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the resolution orders city administrators to observe a City Charter provision—with the legal interpretation of City Attorney William A. Ewart—in making future transfers or promotions in the police department.

The charter provision reads: "Any reductions or reclassification of personnel in the police department for any reason shall be made according to seniority of service and seniority in rank."

Ewart's interpretation is that the clause must be taken literally and promotions made on a seniority basis much like that in union shops.

The resolution clearly repeals "all resolutions, orders and directions heretofore promulgated by this Commission or any previous Commission in relation to police department policies concerning the above procedures."

The resolution states in part that the measures "are all necessary in order to create a strong and effective police department to handle the numerous law enforcement problems being generated in this city."

★ ★ ★

Commenting on the items, Landry pointed to requests from the Downtown Pontiac Business Assn. (DPBA) for more traffic control and foot patrols in the central business district.

"The matter has been studied and some foot patrols have already been initiated along with increased traffic controls. Problems have been alleviated.

"We have the men and equipment to eliminate this problem and we should use them," he noted.

He said that criticism had often been leveled at the Wessen-Bagley-Jackson street area and suggested that "beats in these areas will at least give us a chance to try and solve the problem, rather than just criticizing and complaining about it."

He said the reinstatement of the old 70-man police reserve in addition to the present auxiliary police unit would not only aid in patrolling high pedestrian events, but also aid in the event traffic and pedestrian control was needed as a civil defense measure.

"I know how much this will be criticized. It is not in any way intended to be a criticism of the present police auxiliary," Landry noted.

"I just know how much easier I would have slept during the Cuban situation last week if we had two reserve units instead of one."

Commissioner Taylor's motion that the resolution be tabled for one week died for lack of support.

"This is the first time I've seen this," he asserted.

Stierer said he "was aware through various discussions that the resolution was in the process of being prepared."

He urged commissioners to hold off a week so he could discuss the legal interpretation and wording of the resolution with the city attorney and methods of implementing changes with Chief Joseph Koren.

He added that "this will also have to be looked at with respect to the 1963 budget."

Stierer's recommendation was ignored.

The resolution and a meeting Saturday at which it was drafted were kept well-guarded secrets until the measure was introduced last night.

BIRMINGHAM — City Clerk Irene E. Hanley today reminded Birmingham voters that they will be faced with a local issue in next Tuesday's general election.

★ ★ ★

The proposition seeks voter approval on a request to sell 10 2-10 acres of city-owned property on Coolidge Road near Maple Road in Troy.

City Manager L. R. Gare explained that the property, originally purchased as an open drainage site, will not be needed when the 12-Towns Relief Drains are completed.

The site, just south of the Ford Motor Co. Tractor and Implement Operations, is considered a valuable piece of property for industrial development by city officials.

★ ★ ★

Gare said the city wants to sell the land once the drainage ditch is filled in. Under the city charter, voters must approve plans to offer it for public sale.

U Thant Meeting Castro 2nd Time to be a trouble-shooting mission to Cuba.

A new contingent of U. N. personnel, mostly communications technicians, flew to Cuba today from New York to help carry out any agreement on inspecting the removal of Soviet missiles.

ADDS TO U.N. TEAM

Meanwhile, Castro is sending two top diplomats to bolster his team at the U. N., rousing speculation that he expects to have a strong voice in any settlement of the Cuban crisis.

★ ★ ★

Diplomats at U. N. headquarters were surprised by the announcement from Havana that Castro had assigned foreign minister Raul Roa and Carlos Lechuga, ambassador to Mexico, to his delegation in New York.

Many had expected that Roa, a veteran U. N. bargainer, would speak for Castro when the United States and the Soviet Union try to negotiate a Cuban solution.

But word that Lechuga was accompanying Roa touched off rumors that Castro might pull out Ambassador Mario Garcia-Inchaustegui, his delegation chief who has echoed Cuba's harsh anti-American line here for the past two years.

JFK Plays It Wisely Letting Khrushchev Save 'Face'

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Top-level American diplomacy has learned some valuable lessons in psychology since the end of World War II.

Fortunately for world peace, President Kennedy astutely avoided the mistake which historians generally agree that Franklin D. Roosevelt made nearly two decades ago in demanding the "unconditional surrender" of Nazi Germany.

★ ★ ★

The end of that holocaust was unquestionably delayed, at a cost of innumerable lives, by our unbending refusal to consider any terms but our own.

Now, as the Cuban crisis moves toward peaceful resolution, we can rejoice that JFK, unlike FDR, knew the value of permitting a powerful enemy to save a little "face."

Much is currently being written about the Kremlin's "loss of face" in backtracking from its offensive stand on Cuba.

Nontheless, it is obvious that the American government wisely gave Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a door by which he could retreat—and he did.

SALVAGES EGO

Instead of loudly demanding an "all or nothing" capitulation to our own terms for settlement, the President gracefully phrased his notes to Khrushchev in such a way that the Communist boss could salvage some of his ego.

We could have forcefully boarded, or fired on the only Russian ship that entered the blockade area around Cuba, but we did not.

We accepted the captain's statement that the tanker carried only oil, which was not contraband.

We could have issued a 48-hour ultimatum to Russia to start dismantling the missile bases, but we carefully refrained from driving the belligerent Kremlin leader into such a box.

PLAYS IT WISELY

In fact, the President played it so smoothly that Khrushchev himself was permitted to appear as a "man of peace," by proposing to withdraw his missiles in return for our agreement to cancel the blockade and any invasion plans for Cuba.

The "Cold War" is far from over, but a powder keg that could have ignited a nuclear war—and solved nothing—is in the process of decontamination.

Knowing the wily Khrushchev, it is reasonable to assume that he will now strike in another vital, but less exposed flank.

However, his misadventure in Cuba may discourage him from any outward, immediate military backing of Premier Cheddi Jagan of British Guiana, an avowed Marxist who is now shopping for Polish and Czech "light industries" for his tropical country on the northeast coast of South America.

British Guiana would have been a logical next bit for the hungry Russian Bear in the American hemisphere, if its bluff had not been called on Cuba.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev, although obviously smarting from his widely publicized rebuff, is certainly not the first world leader to learn that it is unwise to start something that he is unprepared to finish.

Sir Anthony Eden tasted the same ashes when the ill-conceived British-French invasion of Egypt in 1957 met prompt United Nations action, and the forces made an ignominious withdrawal.

Still vivid in President Kennedy's memory is his own role in the Bay of Pigs disaster, when he authorized an invasion of Cuba, but at the last moment canceled the air coverage that was essential to victory.

Nothing succeeds like success, and President Eisenhower also suffered personal humiliation over the ill-fated U2 plane shot down in Russia, on the eve of his abortive summit conference with Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

The crafty Russian leader has over the Cuban episode—yes—lost some international "face" but we have wisely refrained thus far from rubbing it in. A cornered rat will turn and fight. Let's not press our luck too far.

Four streets in Paris are named for American presidents: the Rue Washington, the Rue Lincoln, the Avenue du President Wilson, and the Avenue Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Junior Editors Quiz on STARS

★ ★ ★

QUESTION: How can I find Polaris, the North Star?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: We all need to know something these days about stars and constellations. The way to start is to locate Polaris. This star is almost exactly on a line with the axis of the earth, which is an imaginary line running through the poles, around which the earth spins.

Thing of the North Pole as right under the North Star. Polaris is the one star which remains where it is as the hours pass; all the others seem to be turning around it (of course the stars don't really turn, it is the earth's rotation which gives this effect).

To find Polaris, face in the general direction of north. Look for a large group of stars shaped like a dipper (see picture).

Follow this line out and the next bright star will be Polaris. Since the stars seem to move around Polaris, the Dipper will be in different positions, at different hours and at different seasons, but the "pointers" will still be aimed at the North Star.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: If you ever get lost at night, find the Dipper, then Polaris. Think carefully what direction you should take to get home, whether east, south or so on. You can find this direction taking Polaris as north. As you go, check with Polaris every little while.

The Africander is a breed of hump-backed cattle widely distributed in the Republic of South Africa. Members of the breed mature early and are extremely hardy.

Domestic Help Told to Check Benefit Credit

The Pontiac Social Security office help is urging workers in private homes to make sure they get credit toward Social Security benefits.

Many maids, cooks and other workers in such homes are not getting this credit, says William E. LaRock, district manager of the Pontiac office.

He outlined two main rules for such workers:

★ ★ ★

1—If your work is in a non-farm home and you receive $50 or more in cash wages during any calendar quarter from any one employer, insist that the employer report your earnings and pay the Social Security tax.

2—Also be sure your employer copies your name and social security number from your card.

★ ★ ★

At age 62, you may receive monthly old-age benefits, LaRock said, but only if a certain number of quarters of work have been reported for you.

★ ★ ★

The number of quarters needed ranges from six to 40, depending on the worker's age.

Women Read Fine Print

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women do read the fine print on packages and labels, a magazine study shows. They absorb the printing on everything from food items to beauty preparations, says one magazine, which polled 2,500 females and drew an 80 per cent return to the questionnaire.

There are 224 tunnels on the Trans-Iranian railway.

REMOVED FROM FREIGHTER—A workman is lifted by crane from the hold of the sunken British freighter Montrose in the Detroit River at Detroit yesterday after an explosion injured three salvage workers. Cutting torches apparently set off the explosion. The Montrose sank last August after colliding with a cement barge.

Negroes Hold 10,000 More Federal Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today 10,000 more Negroes are holding important jobs in the federal government than when President Kennedy took office in January 1961.

"This has not been because this administration wanted to appoint anyone on any other basis than the highest ideals of this government—equal opportunity," Johnson added.

★ ★ ★

Johnson spoke as he swore in Lewis S. Flagg III, Negro attorney from Brooklyn, N.Y., as an associate solicitor in the Interior Department. In the $16,000-a-year post, Flagg succeeds Gordon Bennett, who resigned to become a candidate for Supreme Court judge in Montana.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall noted that Flagg was joining one of the largest legal staffs in the government outside the Justice and Defense departments.

★ ★ ★

Johnson said that since January 1961, the number of Negroes holding federal jobs in Grades 4 through 9 has increased by 18 per cent while the number in Grades 10 through 18 has increased 33 per cent.

State Workers Can't Use Cars With Stickers

LANSING (AP)—The State Civil Service Commission is sticking by a ruling that state workers cannot display political stickers or placards of candidates on private cars used on state business.

Robert C. Grosvenor, director of the Michigan State Employes Union, wrote the commission questioning the ruling.

Franklin K. DeWald, state civil service director, replied by citing a number of instances where he said a display of partisan political material by persons using their cars on state business would be out of place.

★ ★ ★

He gave as examples social workers handling welfare cases, liquor enforcement officers checking bars, revenue auditors calling on business firms, agriculture inspectors checking foods for purity and labor mediators calling on labor or management to settle a dispute.

These are just a few of the examples, he said.

In Montrose Explosion

Salvage Worker Critically Hurt

DETROIT (UPI) — A marine salvage worker, injured in an explosion of a 500-gallon tank aboard the crippled British freighter Montrose, remained in critical condition today at Detroit Receiving Hospital.

★ ★ ★

He was Paul Mercier, 37, Detroit, who reportedly was suffering from shock, a fractured knee, three broken ribs and possible internal injuries.

★ ★ ★

Two other workers, Paul Osborne, 31, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Richard Bramwell, 26, Lorain, Ohio, received superficial burns in the explosion.

★ ★ ★

A fourth worker, Anthony Pelterito, 34, Detroit, was examined at the hospital following the explosion yesterday, but released.

The Montrose, which sank in the Detroit River two months ago, after a collision with a cement barge, beneath the Ambassador Bridge, was nearly on an even keel from floating operations when the explosion happened.

Officials of the salvage company, Merrit-Chapman & Scott, refused to release details of the explosion, claiming fumes and smoke filled the No. 3 hold, where the tank blew up.

★ ★ ★

But fire department inspector Lawrence Amprim attributed the cause of the blast to sparks from an electric cutting torch igniting gaseous fumes in the tank.

Indonesian Given Sentence of Death

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A former sergeant major of the Indonesian army has been sentenced to death for trying to kill President Sukarno, the Antara news agency reported today.

A military court in Makassar gave the death sentence to Marcus Octavianus Latuperissa, a former soldier who became leader of a rebel gang. The court was told he and six others were responsible for the throwing of a grenade at Sukarno's car in Makassar last Jan. 7.

The grenade exploded after Sukarno's car had passed, and the president escaped unharmed. Two bystanders were killed and 43 injured.

Nikita's Surrender Enhances America's Standing in World

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV'S abject surrender in the face of President KENNEDY'S demands constitutes one of the most soul-satisfying developments of the decade.

Russia bowed low.

She was stopped cold.

★ ★ ★

Probably this has done more to enhance the standing of the United States than any single development since the original cries of "Yankee, Go Home" began to resound around the globe. The United States was peering over the edge of a bottomless abyss with the world condemning us for inaction.

Now, doubts and queries are answered.

★ ★ ★

Indeed, the events of the past few days may well go into history as the turning point in the cold war. No one, anywhere, banks on the written or spoken word of the lying Russian leaders who think no more of the truth than they do of the lives of a few thousand of their feudal serfs. They recant, deny and repudiate their own statements overnight, so nothing can be absolutely certain. But the future is fraught with promise.

★ ★ ★

We admire President Kennedy for asserting that this was not a "great victory" but merely Russia's honorable recognition of the needs of worldwide humanity. The Reds took a long, long gamble and a shrewdly calculated risk—and were dropped ignominiously in their tracks. Their retreat is a tacit admission that they have no edge in nuclear weapons, intercontinental rockets or lethal striking power.

★ ★ ★

I was in Santiago when the KENNEDY pronouncement came, and a great crowd of hemisphere editors and publishers united in spontaneous applause. The only critical note was this: "Why didn't he do it weeks and weeks ago?"

A worldwide illusion had been woven into the general picture suggesting that the United States would do everything—but fight.

This was proven wrong.

A savage attack was imminent.

★ ★ ★

President Kennedy was reinforced by no national commitments from other nations. He did discuss it with some hand-picked leaders in the United States (including our ex-Presidents), but Congress, the Cabinet and the State Department were bypassed, save for a hasty briefing two hours before he made his declaration. The entire world faced a breath-taking crisis while awaiting Russia's answer. Strictly on this response rested anything from a few well-aimed bombs on hapless Cuba to a worldwide conflict in its most awesome ramifications.

★ ★ ★

This strengthens the American allies in their common stand against communism. Central and South America were growing increasingly critical and apprehensive over our failure to assert the hemisphere leadership they expected. Here was a ringing reply. For once, we did not wait for the Soviets to take the initiative and point the way. President KENNEDY took the play away from the world scoundrels in Moscow and ran with the ball.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev's prompt acceptance of the pre-emptory demands indicates that he had done a right, smart spot of homework on the general situation. The head Red evidently concluded that this preliminary U. S. display of force was not a bluff. He read the handwriting on the wall and evaluated the whole show for precisely what it was—the real thing.

Many students feel he will still try aggressively to wheedle something out of us at a summit meeting in exchange for his Cuban ignominy; and our Turkish base is a big possibility. Russia's meek surrender does give him latent bargaining power.

★ ★ ★

The big giggle is this comic opera character, CASTRO. His serious "hemisphere" speeches and "global" dictates are a light touch that's welcome in the circumstances.

★ ★ ★

Democrats claim this is a great feather in their cap in the coming campaign. Republicans scoff at the "happy timing" and declare that the step should have been taken long, long ago and that the endless delay precipitated a world crisis that should have been avoided.

Anyway, the world breathes more easily.

The Man About Town

Talks Schools

Past Board President Provides Enlightenment

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

A reader recently wrote the column about the similarity between the architecture of Washington Junior High School and Philadelphia's hallowed Independence Hall—and wondered whether anyone else had noticed it.

Well, in due course, it turned out that someone had — the one responsible for it!

He is

of 198 E. Iroquois Road, and he and the MAT had a good time reliving his school days — school board days, that is.

★ ★ ★

Back in 1928, when he was president of the Board, and the school was about to be built, there was discussion about departing from the conventional, strictly functional style and achieving something more individualistic.

Then it was that he suggested that the historic edifice be copied.

This lead to another interesting bit of school history.

In 1927, a school in Bath, Mich., was blown up and scores of children killed and wounded. Incidentally, the building was completely restored through the munificence of the late James Couzens.

The disaster spurred school authorities to scrutinize Pontiac school buildings for vulnerability to explosion from any cause.

★ ★ ★

It was found that the boiler room at Pontiac Central High was directly beneath the scholastic area—potentially dangerous—and it was moved to an auxiliary structure immediately built to house it.

Since that date, all Pontiac schools have been planned with detached heating plants.

Best wishes to young and old for a happy, frolicsome Halloween. The observance, which dates back to about 834, is the festive evening preceding All Saints' Day, November 1.

Happily, the wantonness that once marked Halloween didos (oldsters, such as the MAT, will recall that the introduction of modern plumbing gradually eliminated one area of mischief) has pretty well disappeared . . . has, in fact, followed the pattern of our once earth-shattering Fourth of July celebrations, and become an evening of relaxation and group fun.

Two planned events of the area (there are, of course, many, many more) that have come to the MAT are a 7 p.m. Addison Township doughnut and cider program with prizes for various types of costume, to be held in the Leonard Fire Hall, with acting as chairman, and another for the Pioneer Highlands Subdivision 1 to 91 age set. This is a seven to eight o'clock event with standard refreshments and a Mystery Judge novelty with prizes. Chairmen are

Paul A. Godoshian

of 295 Draper, and

Stanley Strand

of 284 Dick.

David Lawrence Says:

Use of U2 Has Been Vindicated

WASHINGTON — The U2 has been vindicated. Without the photographs made from U2 planes flying over Cuba, it might have been difficult to convince the members of the United Nations and the world in general that the safety of the United States was actually threatened by missiles aimed at us from Soviet bases 90 miles away.

Incidentally in the latest exchange of letters between the White House and the Kremlin, Premier Khrushchev complained about a U2 flight recently beyond Alaska into Soviet territory.

President Kennedy politely acknowledged that the pilot had made a "navigational error."

Had it not been a moment of crisis in other parts of the world this might have been an opportune occasion to defend the use of the U2 — especially in the Siberian area, which is so close to Alaska.

For there is no better way to learn whether an attack is being mounted than by day-to-day photographing. Any substantial change in the progress of a build-up or in the mobilization of military forces can by this method be promptly detected.

A GOOD JOB

The U2 has done a marvelous job of photography in Cuba in recent weeks. While the U2 flights were discontinued over the Soviet Union in 1960, they were not abandoned wherever else they have been useful.

Just what do the U2 photographs show? They do not reveal such things as the kind of troops on the ground, but there are many objects which are too large to be concealed.

The appearance of things on one day can be compared with what has been introduced on the scene the next day, and so on. Constant surveillance is necessary in the photographic operation.

A BIG STAFF

It takes a big staff of technical experts to analyze the photographs brought back by the U2s. Thousands of feet of motion picture film are obtained and enlarged many times. Perhaps only a few feet selected from many reels tell the vital story.

Authoritative sources say that the Washington government knew about the build-up from the time it began in August and was kept constantly informed by secret agents.

Large crates were seen being unloaded from ships and frequent reports about this were received here.

There has been no satisfactory answer to the question of why a risk to the national safety was taken for so many days in a nuclear age.

Prime Minister Macmillan has just told the British parliament that President Kennedy made his decision on October 20.

What would have been the plight of the United States if Khrushchev or Castro had decided to fire the missiles or launch planes in a surprise attack on Oct. 15? It would have been of little avail for the administration then to have argued that it was still studying the "hard core" of evidence.

Also, why was the press misled for at least six days after the U2 photographs were examined at the White House and State Department?

President Kennedy went campaigning on Thursday of that same week and didn't made any public announcement of a change in policy until Monday, Oct. 22.

The fact is that the United States government did know in mid-August what was happening and what it could mean militarily. That's what its intelligence system is for, and there is every reason to believe that the CIA and military intelligence units have been functioning efficiently and effectively in the Cuban situation for many months. Policy-making is quite another matter.

A MYSTERY

It still is a mystery why the administration did not properly evaluate the data it had prior to Tuesday, Oct. 16, and waited so long before acting.

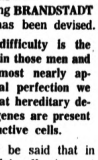
Dr. Wayne Brandstadt Says:

Little Is Known on How to Improve Human Stock

A question often pondered: Can the study of heredity (eugenics) save mankind from his own folly by improving racial stocks, as is done with certain domestic animals, in order that he may live a life of greater service to himself and his fellow creatures.



As yet no effective and acceptable means of improving BRANDSTADT human stock has been devised.

One great difficulty is the fact that even in those men and women who most nearly approach physical perfection we cannot tell what hereditary determiners or genes are present in the reproductive cells.

It can safely be said that in any given couple's offspring, not all of the parents' best features are reproduced.

It has become an axiom among those who have studied the laws of heredity that the more genes involved in the hereditary transmission of a characteristic, the less chance that it will be passed on to one's children unchanged.

HAS SAVED FEW

Advances in medical science have resulted in the saving of persons with certain hereditary conditions such as some forms of allergy, a tendency to diabetes, severe nearsightedness, and some types of impaired hearing.

As these persons are saved, they pass these weaknesses on to succeeding generations.

In an earlier, less enlightened, day many of these persons would have died in childhood or would have been so handicapped that they would not have married, or if married, would have had few if any children.

I would be the first to declare that many of the people with these defects are our finest and most public-spirited citizens but their presence in ever increasing numbers places a great burden on our economy, one which, for the most part, these persons themselves have had to bear.

MEASURES URGED

Measures advocated to prevent deterioration of human stocks include segregation of the sexes to prevent reproduction of the physically handicapped in institutions, sterilization of persons with severe hereditary disease, and laws against the marriage of blood relatives.

None of these measures, even when rigorously applied, has solved the problem. And few civilized societies would seriously consider applying such measures.

★ ★ ★

Although selective breeding would be a more positive approach, it is not likely to be accepted in a free society because it touches on the most intimate aspects of our emotional lives.

Knew Romney During Con Con

Governor Swainson, charging Romney with leadership failure during last winter's tax debate in the legislature, stated, "The opportunity was there, the man was lacking."

This attack Romney could not answer fully for himself. We who sat through Con Con with him can. Had Romney intervened between the legislature and the governor, CIO leaders of the Democratic Con Con delegates would have accused him on the floor of "using Con Con as a springboard into the governorship." Swainson, no matter how great his need for Romney's help, would have echoed their words.

Romney is to be complimented on sticking to the job for which he was elected during those gruelling 7½ months when we were writing a new constitution for Michigan.

We need someone who will bring industry to Michigan. We want jobs.

Another Question About Workshops

I did not imply approval of the Russian or Cuban school systems. I contrasted their intense schedules with the three and four-day school weeks which we have had recently. We cannot afford to fall behind. I did not imply that workshops are unnecessary. I suggested that they should be held so that regular school days would not be interrupted. I would also appreciate an explanation as to why only 4 per cent of the teachers cared enough to attend a training session.

Many lies have been told, but labor cannot truthfully state that Mr. Romney is a foe of labor. This was displayed in the sincere offer of "Progress Sharing" initiated by Mr. Romney and Mr. Cushman. It was presented to the UAW, accepted and the employes are sharing in the yield of the fruit.

Michigan deserves the best in state government and we should accept Romney's offer to serve as governor.

Russian Missiles

New York Daily News

Most of us remember that Khrushchev was bragging only the other day about having missiles so powerful and accurate that he needed no foreign bases for them.

Why, then, did he go to all the trouble and expense of starting missile bases in Cuba? The logical inference is that his home-based devil-birds aren't so deadly after all.

One has to snicker, too, at the song and dance in the Kremlin statement on the quarantine about how Cuba belongs to the Cuban people, and they should determine their destiny.

★ ★ ★

The answer to that is that Russia's Captive Nations by rights belong to their peoples, too — an answer which we hope the Kennedy administration will rub in Khrushchev's unlovely mug at every opportunity.

Border Conflict

St. Louis Post Dispatch

One of the major puzzles in the India-China border conflict is why the Communist Chinese chose this particular time to renew hostilities.

The Chinese attacked Indian outposts on the eve of the United Nations General Assembly debate on seating Red China in the U. N. Since the U. N. already has termed China an aggressor (in Korea) it could not be expected to react favorably to a new aggression.

★ ★ ★

India championed China's cause before the U. N. from 1956 to 1959; since then the Soviet Union has been China's chief advocate. But India's anti-American defense minister, V. K. Krishna Menon, declared Sunday night that because of China's expansionist policy that country "has been completely isolated and segregated from the rest of the world."

★ ★ ★

What about the somewhat frayed relations between Moscow and Peiping? There are London reports India has asked Premier Khrushchev to intervene with Red China.

Russia has a pact with Red China obliging it to come to Peiping's aid in case of aggression, which may explain in part the Chinese effort to blame India as the aggressor. If Russia should blame India it would undercut the Soviet Union's position with the neutrals, who generally believe China is the aggressor.

One of the friction points between Russia and China has been Russia's friendly attitude toward India. Khrushchev's ideas of co-existence are opposed by the more militant Chinese Communists.

★ ★ ★

All these factors suggest there could be more to the Chinese action than an effort to settle a dispute over an ill-defined Himalayan border.

The scale of the Chinese attack and Prime Minister's Nehru's orders to build up India's military strength to turn back "the greatest menace to our freedom" are cause for alarm. The Reds' current objective should become evident soon.

Quiz Kid

The (Lansing) State Journal

Remember what some people said about the Quiz Kids of 20 or 25 years ago? They said these youngsters would never amount to much, that brains aren't everything, and that there is something about precocious development that makes people burn themselves out early.

Well, now one of those former Quiz Kids has won the Nobel prize for medicine and physiology. He is Dr. James Dewey Watson, former child prodigy, now partly bald, at 34 a researcher and lecturer on biophysics at Harvard.

His work has given man a key to the riddle of heredity. When he was only 25, having already participated in the atom-bomb Manhattan project, he set out to discover the nature of molecules, which carry the stuff of heredity.

★ ★ ★

He didn't do the whole job alone, to be sure. His results led to work by Dr. Maurice Hugh Frederick Wilkins and Dr. Francis Harry Compton Crick, both of England, who share the Nobel prize with him. They analyzed his results, confirmed them by experiment, and carried them forward.

JFK Cuba Pledge Doesn't Change Original Position

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's pledge not to invade Cuba—part of the proposed crisis settlement — does not rule out force should Cuba pose a major new threat to the hemisphere, U.S. officials said today.

★ ★ ★

American policy toward Fidel Castro's government will remain as it was before Soviet missiles arrived on the Caribbean island, they said, and Washington's efforts to isolate the Havana regime and to prevent it from sowing communism will continue. If Cuba brandishes another major threat at the Americas, the United States remains committed to defensive measures including use of force.

News Analysis

This interpretation of Kennedy's assurances against an invasion of Cuba given Saturday to Soviet Premier Khrushchev was supplied by high ranking US.. authorities. Kennedy is expected to say more about it at his news conference Thursday.

The President's guarantee does not take effect unless Khrushchev goes through with his part of the deal—to withdraw nuclear capable Soviet weapons from Cuba. But questions about Kennedy's commitment are already being raised.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

TERMS BLASTED

In New York, the formation of a "Committee for the Monroe Doctrine" was announced Tuesday night by World War I ace Eddie Rickenbacker, chairman of Eastern Air Lines.

The committee's declaration charges that the Kennedy-Khrushchev terms are contrary to the Monroe Doctrine in that it "would appear to amount to a guarantee that Cuba will, without forcible interference by the United States, be permitted to remain as a Communist colony and therefore as a base for the continued political and psychological subversion of other nations in this hemisphere."

Four Republican senators cautioned Tuesday against any agreement that might provide a permanent haven for communism in Cuba and protect Castro from Western Hemisphere harassment.

The Cuban Revolutionary Council, announced in Miami it would proceed with armed action against Castro no matter what settlement Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant may bring about.

Washington authorities said Kennedy's pledge — made while U.S. military preparations pointed toward a possible invasion — is narrow and specific: not to invade Cuba if the offensive Soviet weapons are removed.

They described this as a small price to pay for the Soviet withdrawal, because they believed no U.S. invasion had been intended before the weapons shipments were discovered.

FURTHER POINTS

They made these further points:

1. Kennedy's commitment — assuming the deal works out — is binding on the U.S. government, including future administrations.

2. It covers U.S. territory and anything that might be done from U.S. territory.

3. It does not guarantee the continuance in power of the Castro regime.

4. The United States remains committed to its hemisphere defense obligations. The basic inter-American defense charter, the 1947 Rio Treaty, provides for individual and collective action against armed attack. Unarmed aggression may be met under treaty provisions by a wide variety of counter measures ranging up to "use of armed force."

5. The United States and its hemisphere allies have taken steps against Castroite subversion in the Americas and will take more.

As for the anti-Castro exiles, the U.S. authorities said American government policy would revert to its previous position: while the U.S. government sympathizes with the exiles' aims, it is opposed to free wheeling attacks on Cuba staged from U.S. shores.

Defense Dept. Channeling Its Publicity

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department has laid down a stern order intended to govern the way newsmen get information about the national defenses.

Brought to light yesterday, the order seemed patently designed to channel information to the largest possible extent through official spokesmen.

Experienced observers believe the order could have the effect of further inhibiting military and civilian officials who are prime information sources.

It could also limit exposure of criticism and the policy differences in the giant defense establishments.

★ ★ ★

Arthur Sylvester, assistant defense secretary for public affairs, issued the order to Defense Department personnel. He called it "procedures for handling media representatives."

"Media" is the government's term for press, radio and television.

Sylvester dated the order Oct. 27. The Cuban crisis was then reaching a climax, but the instructions were intended plainly to be long range and not limited to the crisis period.

There already were strengthened rules for that.

And what Sylvester directed was in tune with views that Defense Secretary Robert F. McNamara held when he first went to the Pentagon.

Blockade Fleet Pulled Into Tighter Patrol Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has pulled its Cuban blockade fleet into a more compact patrol area, it was learned today.

Exact boundaries of the new picket line were not disclosed, but they were reported well inside the original patrol section which started as much as 600 or 700 miles off Cuba, extending northeast toward Bermuda and eastward of the Virgin Islands.

The sea blockade was in suspension again today, but the quarantine fleet of carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines was still on station.

U Thant, acting U.N. secretary-general, had asked that the U.S. blockade of offensive arms shipments to Cuba be lifted before he began discussions in Havana with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

TO RENEW QUARANTINE

In announcing Monday night that the blockade would be suspended for two days beginning at dawn Tuesday, the White House did not say whether the quarantine would go back into effect after Thant leaves Havana.

Before the suspension, the Defense Department had announced interception of only two ships. The first was a Soviet tanker which was hailed and then cleared to continue its voyage to Cuba. The second was a Soviet-chartered Lebanese ship. This one was boarded by parties from two destroyers, who inspected the ship's manifest and cargo and told it to go on.

The Defense Department doesn't deny that other ships, probably a number of them, have passed through the quarantine line.

One of these was a Swedish ship. Officially, the Defense Department and Navy have nothing to say about this incident. There are several unofficial versions of what happened. One is that the Swedish ship simply wasn't detected as she moved through the perimeter of the blockade. Another is that she was hailed, identified herself and gave information on her sailing orders. A third version was that the Swedish ship ignored questioning signals from the U.S. Navy intercepting vessel or vessels and just held her course for Cuba, unstopped.

Venezuela Catches Most Red Saboteurs

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — The Venezuelan government today announced the capture of most members of a terrorist gang that blew up important American-owned oil installations on Lake Maracaibo last Saturday.

An official communique said the captured men were all members of the Communist party or the Communist-line Movement of the Revolutinary Left (MIR).

Indiana Dem's Suggestion

Ike Blasted, Told to Bow Out of Campaign

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political argument over the Cuban crisis flared up again today after a Democratic spokesman's suggestion that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower bow out of the campaign.

★ ★ ★

Indignant Republicans found no validity in a complaint by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., that some of Eisenhower's barnstorming statements might be misleading because they indicated "there is room for criticism of the position taken by the president" in the Cuban missile threat.

NO COMMENT

At Gettysburg, Pa., a spokesman said Eisenhower was not available for comment.

Hartke told a news conference Tuesday he was speaking only for the Democratic senatorial campaign committee he heads and not for the White House when he suggested Eisenhower give serious consideration to cancelling future campaign appearances.

★ ★ ★

Hartke was vague about the specific Eisenhower statements to which he objected. He said that among other things the former Republican president had left "the clear implication that this crisis is no different from any other one."

He said this could be interpreted abroad as indicating that there was not solid support for President Kennedy's action in ordering the quarantine of offensive arms shipments and demanding the dismantling of missile bases.

CITES RESPONSIBILITY

He added that because Eisenhower is beloved by the American people, he has a greater responsibility than almost anyone else not to say anything that could "leave the impression that we are not united at home in our quest for world peace."

★ ★ ★

In a speech at Gettysburg, Pa., 24 hours after Kennedy announced his action, Eisenhower said that Americans must unite in support of the President. But he added "when the present crisis shall have passed into history—like all the earlier incidents in the Cuban situation have passed—it will be entirely proper then to examine and analyze and criticize decisions and actions taken."

HITS GOP

Hartke criticized Republicans who have suggested that the election campaign had something to do with Kennedy's timing of his actions.

"Whatever our government has done or will do in this crisis is American policy," he said in a statement. "It is not a partisan political policy."

He said that Kennedy had removed himself and Cabinet members from the campaign. He added that former President Harry S. Truman had cancelled further appearances.

★ ★ ★

"You might think the opposing party would do likewise, but they have not," he said. "Now I would not deny them this advantage, if it is an advantage. But I do suggest they have a deep responsibility not to misuse it."

Dems Happy Over Senate Control

(Editor's Note — This is the second in a series of dispatches by UPI political writers previewing the Nov. 6 elections. It deals with the Senate elections, which feature many rugged contests.)

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate offers the Democrats more comfort this year than any other area of political warfare.

The voters will elect 39 members of the Senate Nov. 6, and Republicans have no hope of winning control of the chamber.

Democrats now hold a 64 to 36 margin in the 100-member Senate. Republican leaders concede that they have no chance to gain the 15 needed to give them a majority.

Even so, many rugged battles are being fought for individual seats.

The 39 new or re-elected senators will be chosen from 36 states — 34 for regular six-year terms, four for four-year unexpired terms and one for a two-year vacancy. Here is the Senate election picture:

	Rep.	Dem.	Totals
Seats at stake	18	21	39
Holdover members	18	43	61
Present membership	36	64	100

With 43 holdover members, the Democrats need to elect only seven this year to organize the Senate under their control. (They have the tie-breaking vote of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson if they need it.)

Seven of the Senate seats to be filled are in normally safe southern Democratic states.

Most of the Democratic senators seeking re-election this year were strong enough to win six-year terms in the face of the 1956 presidential election.

The Democrats have nominated candidates for all 39 seats at stake. Attempting to enlarge their southern beachhead, the GOP has candidates for all seats, except in Georgia, where Sen. Herman Talmadge is seeking re-election with no Republican opponent.

OUTSIDE SOUTH

Outside the South, GOP leaders are hopeful of gaining a few Senate seats, which would put them into a better position to bid for control of the Senate in 1964 or 1966.

Among Democratic senators seeking re-election, the chief GOP targets are: Sens. John A. Carroll, Colo.; J. J. Hickey, Wyo.; Frank Church, Idaho; Joseph S. Clark, Pa.; Ernest Gruening, Alaska; and Edward V. Long, Mo.

Republicans would be most pleased by victories in Massachusetts and Oregon, where their candidates are underdogs.

In Massachusetts, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, younger brother of President Kennedy, is the Democratic nominee for a two-year vacancy in the seat once held by the President. His GOP opponent is George Cabot Lodge, son of the 1960 Republican presidential nominee, Henry Cabot Lodge.

In Oregon, Sen. Wayne L. Morse, a former Republican, is the Democratic nominee for re-election against Sig Unanander.

Democrats believe they have their best chances of displacing Republicans in Connecticut and Maryland, where Sens. Prescott Bush and John Marshall Butler, respectively, are retiring. Abraham A. Ribicoff resigned from the Kennedy Cabinet to run in Connecticut against Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr. Rep. Daniel B. Brewster is the Democratic nominee in Maryland against former Rep. Edward T. Miller.

Other major Democratic targets include Republican Sens. Thruston B. Morton, Ky.; Joseph H. Bottum Jr., S. D.; Len Jordan, Idaho; Wallace F. Bennett, Utah; Thomas H. Kuchel, Calif.; and Alexander Wiley, Wis. All are seeking re-election.

In Illinois, the Democrats have Rep. Sidney R. Yates as an underdog challenger trying to unseat Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

* * *

Gov. Gaylord Nelson is the Democratic nominee against Wiley in Wisconsin and former Gov. Milward Simpson is the GOP nominee against Hickey in Wyoming.

Have Fun Answering Trick or Treat Doorbell

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I like Halloween. In a fearful time it is one scare you can count on.

To an untidy middle-aged person, life becomes a kind of constant Halloween, encumbered by ghostly restraints that point special fingers of warning against any vision of plenty.

BOYLE

One is educated also to a growing fear of the knock on the door.

You aren't really frightened. You are usually bored. When you answer the door, you don't feel that any hard-muscled men will be waiting there to pull you toward the incinerator—or at least warn you to pay an overdue bill.

* * *

No, alas, the man who raps upon your panel is likely either to try to sell you life insurance or a children's encyclopedia, or remind you it is time to vote for the politician of his choice.

I have learned never to admit a political partisan into my apartment near election time.

It has been my experience that these people usually travel in pairs, and their discussion of political issues runs pretty much like this:

"Honey, tell the man who to vote for. I see a sofa and I feel like lying down."

"Whassamatter? Aren't we going uptown after all? Hey, Mac, when she wakes up, steer her to apartment 8-F in the next building. Her husband is watching the kids."

OVERBOUGHT

As to life insurance and encyclopedia salesmen, they hold for me neither terror nor adventure. I am absolutely overbought in those fields.

When I sneeze, the board of directors of my insurance company holds a hurried conference and issues a pamphlet against the common cold. Our daughter does not use blankets. We cover her with volumes three to twelve of a set of encyclopedia. That kid gets information through her pores while she sleeps.

But along about now I really enjoy answering the door. We also enjoy building up stock of candy to reward the query: "Trick or treat."

Once when I was younger, I replied, "There's no treat here. What's your trick?"

The child squirmed unhappily. He knew no trick. Then I squirmed too. Sticky widget.

* * *

Children today would rather be feted than play pranks. Probably it's better that way. Maybe.

When the thunder of childish fists beats a tattoo on our door tonight, I know it will open to admit a motely crew of costumed ghouls and beasties.

Our cat, Lady Dottie, is bound to go up and rub herself against a pair of small legs.

"How can she tell me?" our outraged and disguised daughter, Tracy Ann, who is 9, will say. "Doesn't she know I'm a monster?"

* * *

Yes, indeed.

* * *

What children don't realize is that the way they dress themselves to be on Halloween is the way their parents and other friends think of them all the year long.

But to know a monster is to love one. And particularly if you buy it shoes.

LONDON (UPI)—St. Mary's Hospital medical students today claimed a world toting record for carrying a 1,710-pound car containing a pretty girl the length of their 110-yard rugby field in 6 minutes, 11 seconds.

The 14 students performed the feat after reading that 12 students at Florida University in Gainesville carried a lighter car 100 yards in 6 minutes, 42 seconds.

Russian Gets Sentenced for Fraud

MOSCOW (AP) — A fresh produce warehouse director in the southeastern city of Saratov has been sentenced to death for fraud, the newspaper Soyvetskaya Torgovlya (Soviet Trade) reported today.

* * *

The newspaper identified the condemned man as P. I. Bogdanov, director of the Saratov municipal fruit and vegetable trade department.

He and four colleagues were accused of defrauding the state by writing off fresh produce as spoilage, then selling it to state stores and pocketing the proceeds.

Bogdanov was said to have bought two cars, a house with a swimming pool, extensive furnishings and a fur coat for his wife —"and all this on a salary of 65 rubles ($72) a month," the report added.

Michigan One of 5 Hot Races

GOP Going After 21 State Governorships

(Editor's Note — This is the third in a special series of dispatches on the Nov. 6 election by UPI political writers. It concerns the battle for the nation's governorships.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The richest political prizes within reach of the Republicans on Nov. 6 will be the governorships of several pivotal states.

Thirty-five of the 50 states will elect governors with national interest centering on California, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and Texas.

In each of these large and populous states, GOP candidates are making strong bids for gubernatorial chairs now occupied by Democrats.

If they should succeed, it would give them a powerful operating base to strengthen the party to resist President Kennedy's generally expected bid for a second term.

In New York, Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is rated a shoo-in for re-election over Democrat Robert M. Morgenthau. If Rockefeller wins big, he will be the man to beat for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

MAY HAVE RIVALS

But several potential rivals for that nomination may emerge from other gubernatorial races, if Republican candidates are victorious.

In California, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee in 1960, is fighting to stay alive in politics by unseating Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown. The Brown-Nixon campaign has turned into the noisiest political battle California has witnessed in many years. Political observers are saying that it could go either way.

Nixon has said flatly that he will not be presidential material in 1964. But leaders convinced him he was the man for the race.

Similarly close races are under way in Pennsylvania, where Republican Rep. William W. Scranton faces Richardson Dilworth, former Democratic mayor of Philadelphia, and in Michigan, where auto executive George Romney is the Republican candidate driving hard to unseat Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson.

In Ohio, Democratic Gov. Michael V. Di Salle is involved in a tough re-election battle against Republican state auditor James A. Rhodes.

In normally Democratic Texas, the GOP is making a determined effort to win the governorship. Its candidate, Jack Cox, is definitely the underdog, but his supporters claim he has a fair to good chance to upset Democratic candidate John Connally, who was formerly secretary of the Navy in the Kennedy administration.

21 ARE AT STAKE

Since 21 of the 35 governorships at stake this year now belong to Democrats, the Republicans are in the position of having much to gain, and relatively little to lose.

The only GOP seats which appear to be in jeopardy are in New Hampshire, where a feud within the GOP has given Democrat John W. King at least a chance of victory over Republican John Pillsbury, and in New Mexico, where Jack M. Campbell, Democratic speaker of the State House of Representatives, is running a strong race against incumbent Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, seeking a third term.

Besides the big states which cast a large electoral vote in presidential elections, Republicans are hopeful of winning control of the state administrations in Colorado, Wyoming, Wisconsin and Nebraska, all of which now have Democratic governors.

Idaho's hot gubernatorial race has centered around a novel issue — legalized gambling. Democratic candidate Vernon K. Smith has come out for local option casino gambling, which Republican incumbent Gov. Robert E. Smylie denounces as a "moral fraud" and unconstitutional to boot.

Built for Icy Climate

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Supplying handicraft kits to keep 350 Navy men occupied during the nine months of leisure during the Antarctic "Operation Deepfreeze" proved a real challenge to Arts & Crafts Corp. of Baltimore. All the materials had to be able to withstand temperatures as low as 100 below zero.

The Congo population has been estimated to be about 12 million.

Stops Constipation due to "Aging Colon"

Relief, doctors say, lies in new laxative principle that re-creates 3 essentials of youthful regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents dry out and shrink so they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Of all leading laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief.

(1) COLONAID prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain; (2) helps retone flabby colon muscles with unique rebulking action; (3) acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. Introductory Size 43¢.

PICKIN' OUT A PUNKIN'S A MAN-SIZED JOB

Carve Out Own 'Punkin' Heads

Pumpkin faces — happy, sad, or fierce — will light city streets tonight for troops of trick-or-treaters. Dads did the engraving jobs, mostly, assisted by their young "punkineers." But the enterprising youngsters in Mrs. Harold Perry's kindergarten classes at Whitfield School did their own pumpkins during a class project.

★ ★ ★

Kristina Uhrich (right) watches Mrs. Perry sketch a jack-o'-lantern's face, while, Julie Hanson (lower left) scrapes out seeds and pulp with the help of many gooey hands. Jay Greer (lower right) studies his project before taking it home to show mom.

Day Care Centers Are Here to Stay

(Editor's Note — Gay Pauley is on special assignment gathering material for her column. In her absence, authorities in the women's news field will be guest columnists. Today, Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger of the Children's Bureau, Washington, writes of a new problem for today's woman — day care centers. She calls some of the unlicensed facilities "a national disgrace.")

By MRS. KATHERINE B. OETTINGER
U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation is just beginning to face the fact that the working mother is here to stay.

During World War II, she was welcomed into the industry for the contribution she could make to the war effort. A national program was established to provide day care for her children.

This program terminated with the end of the war, but the working mother did not, as many expected, return to her home and her strictly housekeeping duties.

Today, there are more women working than ever before in our national history.

There has been a 66 per cent increase in the number of working mothers with children under 18 in the past 10 years.

15 MILLION CHILDREN

There are about 15 million children under 18 whose mothers are working. Four million of these children are under 6 years of age and 5 million are between the ages of 6 through 11.

For years we have been telling working mothers, particularly those with young children, that they would be better off at home looking after their children.

★ ★ ★

But now we face the reality that we cannot stem the tide of women entering the labor force, many of them doing so out of economic necessity. Therefore, we must be sure that if mothers are working their children have adequate care during their working hours.

NATIONAL APPROACH

The public welfare amendments of 1962 made possible a national approach to the day care situation. A total of $5 million in federal funds was authorized for a first-year start on the program and $10 million for each succeeding year. These funds will be used to stimulate the states to expand and improve their day care services in local communities.

★ ★ ★

The funds were included in a supplemental appropriation containing additional monies for many purposes, which was not passed in the rush at the end of the congressional session.

★ ★ ★

But undoubtedly the Congress will be asked at its next session in January to implement this important part of the President's program.

Invitations Double Up; Follow Rule

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Last evening, while I was at my bridge club meeting, a friend called our house and invited my husband and me to dinner at their house this coming Saturday night. My husband said we had no plans for that evening and that we would be glad to go.

It so happened that very evening one of the members of the bridge club invited us to dinner for that same evening and, not knowing of this other invitation, I accepted.

Now we have two dinner invitations for the same evening. What do we do about this?

A: An invitation accepted from one's house where the family's engagement book is kept, takes precedence over one accepted at a party.

In this instance, you should telephone your bridge club member immediately and explain that you are terribly sorry but that you will not be able to come to dinner because you find your husband has already accepted an invitation from the Smiths to have dinner with them Saturday evening.

★ ★ ★

Q: The other evening at our woman's club meeting we had a guest speaker. He was very interesting but spoke a very long time. As it was getting very late and I had to be up early in the morning, I walked out before he had finished speaking.

Some of the members criticized me for doing this and said that I was very rude. Will you please tell me if I committed a breach of etiquette?

A: If your seat was near the door so that you could slip out unobserved you were not rude.

★ ★ ★

Q: Will you please tell me if it is ever permissible to dip a corner of your napkin into a finger bowl and wipe your mouth off with it?

A: No, you dip your fingers into the water, moisten your lips with them and dry fingers and lips with your napkin.

Following reports by Pontiac, Waterford and Lake Angelus campaign leaders, Mrs. Joseph Fox, women's division chairman announced an overall women's victory with $28,298 of their $28,214 goal raised to date.

Presentation of "Indian Oscar" Achievement awards went to over 90 area and district chairmen reported over their goals.

Attending yesterday's affair and seated at the speakers' table were women representatives of Independence, Orion, Oxford and Brandon townships as well as campaign officials heading other divisions. Township women over their quotas also received awards at this time.

Speaker for the occasion was Fred Haggard, president AFL-CIO Oakland County Council, and this years' Pontiac Area United Fund campaign chairman. Mr. Haggard congratulated the women on their goal achievement.

"Residential PAUF coverage includes solicitation of over 63,000 occupied dwellings," he said. "These calls are made by approximately 3,179 workers. Your help to make this campaign a success is due to your acceptance of responsibility for this tremendous undertaking. Fifty-four agencies and the entire community are grateful for this accomplishment."

Baby Sitter Tells of Pay

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow over 50 years old. I baby-sit in the neighborhood to earn a few extra dollars.

A woman telephoned and asked if I would sit with her two children. She wanted me to come at 5 p.m. give them supper, bathe them and put them to bed.

ABBY

I asked how much she paid and she said, "Twenty-five cents an hour and ALL YOU CAN EAT!" I told her I was sorry but I was busy.

I was really insulted and think I could have thought of a better answer for her. What would you have told her?

INSULTED

DEAR INSULTED: I'd have told her I couldn't eat enough to make it worthwhile.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am failing geometry because of my teacher. Every time I look at him my stomach does flip flops. He is tall, thin, has blue eyes and sandy hair and wears dark-rimmed glasses. He is not married. I have stayed after school to get special help, but when I'm near him I can't concentrate on what he's saying. My other grades are As and Bs. what should I do?

GOT A CRUSH

DEAR GOT: The "crush" is sure to pass but you might not unless you pursue a different angle. School is for learning and not for yearning. You had better concentrate on that for the moment.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 46 years old and have gone with Miss X for seven years. She is 34, never been married and, believe me, I could never find a better wife. She wants to get married between now and Christmas but I don't want to be pressured.

I have a few bills I want to pay up first. I still owe on a new car. Also I plan to expand my business, which will take some of my capital, and my mother depends on me for most of her support.

Miss X says she doesn't mind helping out as she has some money saved. She also agreed to continue working after we are married. But I still think it would be unfair to marry her so soon. Don't you agree?

RANDY

DEAR RANDY: Soon? After a seven-year courtship! If you wait until your debts are paid, your mother doesn't need your help and everything is hunky dory, they will have to wheel you down the aisle. At your age, time is more important than money. Move!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband runs off every weekend. He claims he's going "deer hunting" but he never brings home anything but a hard-luck story and lipstick on his shirt. What should I do?

MAUDE

DEAR MAUDE: Don't complain. It's a short season and you're lucky he doesn't bring home the "dear."

Hawaiians Use Them for Occasions

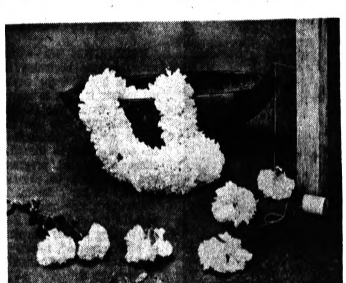
It's Easy to Make Flower Garland

Any malihini (nonislander) knows that an event just isn't an event in Hawaii without flower leis.

When Commander Walter M. Schirra was greeted in our 50th state after his triumphant space trip, a thick, dark red double carnation lei was hung around his neck.

The fragrant garland was long-lasting enough to be flown back to Houston by the commander and presented to his wife.

The Hawaiians, blessed with an ideal climate, can easily pick all the blooms they need. In most of the United States, it isn't that easy. But, the Society of American Florists points out, it's not impossible.



An authentic Hawaiian lei, like the one shown here resting in an antique calabash carved by the original Hawaiians, can be made at home by anyone with a needle and thread, according to the Society of American Florists. Short-stemmed carnations are used for this lovely neckpiece.

If you would like to present a lei, such as the one given to astronaut Schirra, to a friend on a special occasion, or provide an extra note or excitement to a party, you can "do-it-yourself" with locally available flowers.

CARNATIONS PERFECT

Florists' carnations in good supply at this time of year, are perfect lie material. It takes at least four or five dozen flowers to make one lei, depending on the length you want.

However, the carnations need not be of first quality. If you place an order with your florist in advance, he will probably be able to supply you with the shorter-stemmed, less-well-formed flowers that sell at a lower price.

To make a lei similar to the astronaut's, cut off the carnation stems just below the base of the flowers. Then peel away the guard leaves around the base, being careful not to detach the petals from the base.

Thread a darning or embroidery needle with strong cotton thread the color of the flowers, using a double thickness. Use a length of thread about four inches longer than you plan to make the lei, and make a thick knot an inch from the end.

★ ★ ★

Run your needle diagonally through the firm center of a prepared flower and then push the flower down the thread until it reaches the knot. Repeat, fitting the flowers closely together, until the lei has reached the desired length. Cut thread from the needle and knot the ends of the lei together, and there you are. Aloha!

Your Pen Stubborn?

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — I had a ballpoint pen that didn't write very well. Accidentally, I left it on the range while baking. The heat from the oven "unclogged" the ink, and now the pen writes like new.

MRS. J. R.

DEAR GIRLS — This is a dilly. Two of my seemingly worn out pens have a new lease on life after a stay on the plate above the stove's pilot light.

DEAR POLLY — Want an idea for entertaining guests at a bridal shower? Have them each write advice of any kind to the bride.

Then they roll these bits of paper tight and tuck into empty pill capsules you have gotten from the druggist. Put all the capsules in a bottle labeled "Bottled Advice" and give to the bride to read later on or right on the spot if you think that would be more fun.

DEAR POLLY — I sew a heavy band of material, two inches wide, around the arm of my sewing machine near the thread spool holder. When removing pins from material while sewing, it is so convenient to stick them in this thick band. Saves time, too.

DEAR POLLY — Soak soiled plastic tablecloths or shower curtains in a solution of one part bleach to five parts water. I use a plastic bucket. Hang on the line and rinse with the hose. This eliminates wrinkling caused by wringing and removes mildew, too. Articles are soft and pliable.

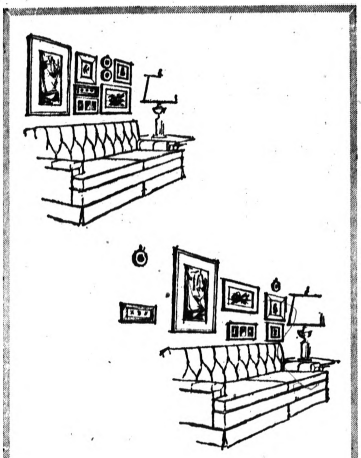
Meeting Serves Two Functions

Beta Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority held a formal initiation and Halloween party Monday evening.

Mrs. Rudy Mazza opened her Avondale Road home for the affair. Hostess was Mrs. Jack Holler.

Rushees Mrs. Frank Keelean, Mrs. William Jacobson and Mrs. Joseph Ray entertained members with a song and dance routine following the initiation ceremony.

Next meeting will be at the Westside Recreation.



Identical framed pictures were used to make the two wall groupings sketched here, yet the results are quite different. In the top arrangement, large and small pictures have been balanced against each other, and each hung the same distance apart. The bottom grouping seems to fly apart because of the unequal spacing between individual pictures and the lack of adequate balance. For good balance, concentrate the heavier pictures on the outside of the grouping, and line up the bottom frames in an even row.

NY Drivers' Licenses Boon to Hair Bleaching

The elimination by the motor vehicles department of New York of the question about color of hair from drivers' licenses has sparked a campaign for similar action by the other 49 states.

With equal gallantry, the department also eliminated the question about weight.

★ ★ ★

The campaign is being waged by a famous haircoloring company which early in 1961 urged that such action be taken. At that time, the company wrote to the heads of motor vehicles departments in every state to point out the unreasonableness of regulations requiring a woman's haircoloring to match the shade originally designated on her license.

★ ★ ★

In reply, several motor vehciles commissioners indicated that regulations regarding haircoloring would not be too strictly enforced. However, none of them said that provisions for designating hair color on licenses would be eliminated completely.

Fast Dabs for Teen-Agers

Devote Time to Make-Up

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Speaking of how a mature woman can be her most attractive self, Eddie Senz, the great make-up artist said, "A quick dab of powder on the nose and a fast dauding of lipstick are for teen-agers.

"A mature woman should devote time to the application and should have all grooming requisites at hand; a magnifying mirror, easy to use scissor-handled tweezers for unruly hairs, cotton swabs to soften eye make-up and erase lipstick errors, a lipstick brush and small sponges for face washing."

Here is how a professional make-up artist applies eye make-up, as told by Eddie himself. He curves eyebrows outward with the feathery strokes of an eyebrow pencil. He never draws a bold hard line because that is harsh, artificial, and aging. Eyebrow pencil strokes should be further softened by stroking with a cotton swab.

DELICATE TOUCH

To emphasize the eyes, use eye shadow. However, it must be done delicately. In applying it, a make-up expert is careful to let none of it gather in the corner of the eye where it can form an unflattering shadow. You can get rid of this with one of the small cotton swabs.

Eddie applies lipstick with a brush. The mouth is given its fullest proportions.

He says, "Don't exaggerate the size so the effect becomes grotesque and unnatural." Using a lipstick brush becomes much easier when a woman learns to steady her hand by resting a finger on her chin while wielding the brush. Blot the lip rouge with tissue.

GENEROUS POWDER

Apply a flattering powder base to the face and neck. A make-up artist will then use a generous dusting of powder to throw a gossamer curtain over tiny imperfections. Be careful not to choose a powder which is too light, Mr. Senz advises, or the effect will be harsh. Afterward eliminate excess powder around the base of the nose and the hairline.

Eddie Senz feels that by wearing well-chosen colors, by having clothes carefully fitted and devoting a little time to the details of make-up, every mature woman can look her attractive best. By dressing in clothes and make-up suited to her years, every woman can improve her appearance right at her own dressing table, at every age.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow: "Feel Tired All the Time? You'd Better Learn Why."

When you get the hang of resting a finger on your chin while brushing on lipstick, you'll be able to do an attractive job.

Might Ask Adenauer to Wait

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Notes from the foreign news cables:

CHANGES MADE:

President Kennedy already has canceled his November trip to Brazil because of the Cuban crisis and West German officials are anticipating he may also request cancellation of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's scheduled White House visit Nov. 7.

If so, Adenauer will fully understand. Whenever he does go, Adenauer will tell the President personally that he approves of the U.S. stand on Cuba.

His message will be: Now that the Western position is clear there must be no concessions.

FAVORED NATION:

The West German government is confident that it has not passed unnoticed in the United States that West Germany was one NATO nation where there were no anti-blockade demonstrations against the U.S. Embassy or consulates.

West Germany complied quickly with the U.S. request not to carry goods to Cuba and has given down-the-line support to the Cuban quarantine.

DELAYED ACTION:

The anti-Gaullist "National Resistance Council" and the remnants of the former secret army organization now hiding in France only called off assination attempts only called off assassination attempts against President De Gaulle until the Oct. 28 presidential referendum.

Renewal of their activity after that date is a foregone conclusion. Former Premier Georges Bidault and anti-Gaullist Jacques Soustell have no intention of dropping efforts to place a right-wing regime into power in France.

DRAWN-OUT:

Church leaders attending the Ecumenical Council in Rome are beginning to get the feeling that it may go on forever. There have been a number of complaints that work is moving at a snail's pace.

Richard James Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, told newsmen that "at the rate this council is going I think we'll be here another 100 years."

Although the council has been under way for more than two weeks they are still debating the first part of the first of 70 subjects that might be taken up.

"UNDERSTANDING":

Japan has gone no further than to express "understanding" of the U.S. blockade of Cuba, but this has been enough to afford "gratification" to American diplomats.

There is more to Japan's limited response than its deep-rooted abhorence of nuclear warfare. Japan's world position hinges on trade, not power-bloc politics. Her closest geographical neighbor is Russia.

As Kazushige Hirasawa, editor of the Japan Times puts it: "Japan is in the difficult position of a 'medium power' that can neither assume the idealism of small nations nor the realism of the big powers."

Castro Storm Still Whirling Around

World Reaches Eye of Cuban Hurricane

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The eye of the hurricane offers a brief time of calm, sunshine and the twittering of birds. Then it is that prudent men take such further precautions as may be available to them against renewed danger and, perhaps, death.

So it is that Americans and others now are in the eye of the Cuban hurricane.

Nikita Khrushchev backtracked fast from a show of United States force supported by the will to use it if must be. Khrushchev backtracked, that is, with words.

Deeds still were to come as the world began a new week on, you might say, borrowed time.

Khrushchev's deeds more often than not do not match his words. And, even though deeds and words do match and Russian missiles and bases are gone, the problem of Fidel Castro and Communist Cuba lie close athwart the welfare of the Western Hemisphere.

* * *

President Kennedy's guidelines for dealing with Castro were laid down in early September.

There is no evidence so far that Castro was listening. Kennedy said the United States would be compelled to act under certain specific conditions.

These were:

—Any effort by Castro to export his aggressive purposes by force or threat of force.

—Organization in Cuba of a combat force from any Soviet bloc nation.

—Establishment of a Russian military base in Cuba.

—Violation of the 1934 treaty relating to the Guantanamo naval base.

—Location in Cuba of offensive ground-to-ground missiles.

—Establishment of any other significant offensive capability in control either of Cubans or Russians.

CASTRO STRIKES

Khrushchev tested Kennedy on missiles and soon seemed to change his mind. At the moment of Khrushchev's backtrack, however, Castro was probing in another area. One sixth of Venezuela's oil production was knocked out last weekend by saboteurs.

The saboteurs are alleged to have acted on radio orders from Cuba. There is some reason to believe that Castro has ordered a general campaign of terrorism in Latin America.

He is neighbor to the uneasy island shared by the Dominican Republic and Haiti. The Dominican and Haitian government are frail establishments, a real temptation to Castro to move in.

* * *

He did, indeed, move in Venezuela. He may be moving generally in Latin America. All of this is in violation of President Kennedy's prohibition against the forceful export of Castro's revolution.

Moreover, Castro is irresponsible, less likely than was Khrushchev to avoid the ultimate showdown. Castro's pride and peace of mind must have been torn when Khrushchev abruptly abandoned him in the decision to dismantle Cuban missile bases.

Castro's ego needs mending. He needs a whoop-la triumph of some kind to repair his bully boy public image at home. The beard could be more dangerous in desperation than when events were going better for him.

* * *

That is why Castro may prove to be a more dangerous neighbor, in fact, minus his missiles than when he had them cocked and ready. Now he may feel compelled to strike.

Hospital Local Shuns Panel

Representatives Fail to Appear 2nd Time

Union representatives Monday failed to appear for a second time before a governor's panel called to make recommendations in a union recognition dispute at Bloomfield Hospital, 2100 Woodward Ave., Bloomfield Township.

State Labor Mediation Board representative Hyman Parker, who was present at Monday's panel session in Detroit, said the panel decided to take the dispute under advisement.

The panel could decide on a recommendation or schedule another meeting, he said.

A management representative labor relations consultant Leonard Schultz, attended Monday's session and an earlier one at which the union also failed to appear.

* * *

The union is Chapter 5 of the Hospital and Sanitarium Employes Guild which attempted to organize nonprofessional employes at the hospital.

The Pontiac local's president, Harold Russell, today said the union had not appeared before the panel because it is challenging the panel's jurisdiction.

Russell said that the dispute now centers around the validity of votes cast at a representation election this summer. This is a matter for the State Labor Mediation Board not for the special governor's panel, the union contends.

Foreign Investing Pays

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Corporate pretax profits of U.S. companies derived from foreign subsidiaries in 1960 totaled $3.5 billion or 7.8 per cent of the $45 billion pretax profits posted by all U.S. corporations in that year, according to commerce department figures.

The spillway of the Grand Coulee dam is half as wide and twice as high as historic Niagara Falls.

Mount Borah or Borah Peak is the Lost River Mountains of central Idaho was named after William Edgar Borah, Senator from that state, who died in 1940. The mountain, 12,655 feet high, is the highest point in Idaho.

Helpmeets Boost 'the Men Who Would Be Governor'

By EVELYN AUGUST

DETROIT (AP) — When John Q. Public goes to the polls in Michigan Nov. 6, he very well could be voting for the woman behind the man rather than the man himself.

* * *

If that's hard to believe, consider Alice Swainson, wife of Democratic Gov. Swainson, and Lenore Romney, wife of Republican candidate George Romney.

John Q. Public may not understand Michigan's tax problems or job crisis, but a pretty smile and a well-turned ankle he does appreciate.

Shapely Alice Swainson and bubbling, vivacious Lenore Romney have both. They've been making good use of them traveling the length and breadth of Michigan drumming up votes for their husbands.

* * *

Whether it's party loyalty or just plain curiosity, men and women, alike, in all parts of the state have flocked to see and hear the wives of the gubernatorial candidates.

On one recent campaign jaunt, Mrs. Swainson penetrated the Republican stronghold of northwestern Lower Michigan for three days. Presiding at teas, coffee hours, luncheons and dinners, she drew crowds numbering between 25 and 425 —mostly all Democrats.

Mrs. Romney, campaigning in the primarily Democratic Wayne County area last week, attracted gatherings of up to 50 persons—mostly Republicans but including some Democrats and independents.

CLASSIC BLONDE

Mrs. Swainson, a fragile, classic blonde beauty of 35, dislikes speaking in public, and her short, five-minute talks show it. Emphasizing her role as wife, mother and homemaker, she sidesteps the controversial and makes no attempt to outline the issues of the campaign.

Mrs. Romney, however, plunges head-first into what she thinks is wrong with Michigan, citing facts and figures she says "are right there on the record for you to see."

A former actress who gave up a movie contract to marry a then struggling unknown, Mrs. Romney knows all the tricks of public speaking. She can talk for 15 minutes, a half-hour or more and still not be wanting for words.

* * *

She uses no notes while speaking and, unlike Mrs. Swainson, relies very little on memorizing, preferring rather to organize her thoughts as she goes along. Quoting Plato and Winston Churchill, she gives the impression of a well-read woman with a knowledgeable grasp of current events.

Introduced as "the youngest looking grandmother of five you'll ever see," Mrs. Romney, a slender, handsome 52-year-old, usually begins with a joke such as: "The other day I was introduced as the governor's new wife—then as the new governor's old wife."

As her speech gathers momentum, her words pour out in rapid-fire succession, her voice strains with emotion and her eyes glisten with excitement.

SHY 1ST LADY

A very emotional woman, Mrs. Romney has none of the cool reserve which Mrs. Swainson displays. The governor's wife, perhaps because of her shyness, speaks slowly and deliberately. Her movements are graceful and precise, sometimes causing others to remark: "How regal she looks."

While Mrs. Romney hits the campaign trail alone, Mrs. Swainson always travels with other candidates' wives. On her trip to northwestern Lower Michigan, Mrs. Swainson did all the driving, while Mrs. Sanford Brown, the state treasurer's wife, and Mrs. Frank Kelley, the attorney-general's wife, read directions from a road map outlined by members of the governor's staff.

Neither Mrs. Swainson nor Mrs. Romney knows in advance where her campaigning will take her. The day before departure, each woman is handed a detailed schedule showing where and how long she will speak, times of arrival and departure, names of the host groups and of the people who will meet her.

Mrs. Romney, who claims to be the only candidate's wife ever to visit all 83 Michigan counties during a campaign, travels by private plane, bus or car. She never drives herself, preferring rather to lean back on the reclining seat of her American Rambler and catch a nap between stops.

A member of the Romney Women's Committee usually accompanies Mrs. Romney, making introductions, riding herd on the luggage and seeing that she keeps on schedule.

A typical campaign day for both women starts off with an 8 a.m. breakfast, followed by two or three coffee hours at private homes, then a luncheon, a couple of afternoon teas, a dinner, and perhaps two or more evening appearances.

MEET AT HOME

On Mrs. Swainson's campaign jaunts, the rendezvous point usually is the governor's residence — a $65,000, five-bedroom colonial on Apple Tree Lane in West Lansing.

There, in white coat, pearl earrings, necklace and sneakers, Mrs. Swainson sets out in her campaign station wagon bearing "Vote Straight Democratic" stickers.

A can of pretzels, a box of candy bars and hundreds of campaign stickers are crammed into the back of the station wagon, leaving little room for the small overnight case Mrs. Swainson has packed with two dresses, nightgown, cosmetics and toiletries.

Ever since she forgot her heels and had to borrow a pair—two sizes too small—Mrs. Swainson always makes a last-minute check to see she has an extra pair of shoes—besides the sneakers she wears while driving.

* * *

Staying at motels overnight, Mrs. Swainson rarely gets to bed before midnight and always is up by 7 a.m. Her schedule is much the same as Mrs. Romney's.

Mrs. Romney — when campaigning in the Detroit area— meets her Romney volunteers at her $150,000 modern Swiss chalet house in fashionable Bloomfield Hills.

With another woman doing the driving, Mrs. Romney goes over the day's schedule, checks her makeup and talks over the previous day's campaigning.

SHOW NERVOUSNESS

As the campaign day wears on, both women tend to show their nervousness. Mrs. Romney, who neither drinks nor smokes because of her Mormon religion, clasps and unclasps her hands, runs her fingers through her hair and folds and unfolds the papers on her lap.

Mrs. Swainson sings softly to herself, smokes increasingly more, and fiddles with the gold bracelet around her wrist.

Names are seldom a problem to either woman although Mrs. Romney appears better able to associate names with faces she has encountered on previous campaign trips.

Both women are veterans at handshaking, sometimes meeting up to 700 or 800 persons in less than a half-hour.

* * *

Questions most often asked concern Mrs. Romney's two daughter's, two sons and five grandchildren. Mrs. Swainson's role as first lady and her two sons and four-year-old daughter also are chief topics of conversation.

As dissimilar as their personalities are the Swainson and Romney homes.

The Romney residence, situated atop a sprawling hill, has huge picture windows "to let in the sun I love so much," says Mrs. Romney, a sun-bronzed, slender brownette.

BEIGE AND LIME

The beige, lime and antique gold decor of the Romney living room provides more sunshine, as does the glistening little waterfall that flows down the hill behind the house.

The Swainson home has none of the contemporary look of the Romney house. It is done in Early American and is on one-level, unlike the two-level Romney residence.

As one of several houses in an exclusive subdivision, the Swainson home has none of the seclusion the Romney home offers in rolling countryside, far back from any road.

Both homes have a full-time housekeeper, although Mrs. Swainson and Mrs. Romney do much of their own cooking, especially on weekends.

* * *

Why have these women chosen to leave their homes for the rigors of the campaign trail?

For Mrs. Swainson, the campaign is one of her duties as a wife. "I feel I have to do everything possible to get John elected," she says.

Mrs. Romney, however, says "We're in this because the conditions of our state became so acute — and also because this is the most important election Michigan has ever had."

TWO VIEWS

What would it be like as Michigan's first lady?

Mrs. Swainson, who's held the title two years now, says: "It's sometimes tiring and hard because of all the entertaining we have to do and because of the time we're away from the children."

Mrs. Romney, who's campaigning "with every ounce of strength I have to get George elected," says: "My goodness, who cares. The only thing I want is an opportunity for George to prove he can get this state moving again."

Gen. Lemnitzer in Paris to Take U.S. Command

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer checked in at American Headquarterrs for Europe (EUCOM) outside Paris yesterday, preparing to take over command.

Ceremonies formally transferring command to Lemnitzer will be tomorrow, making Lemnitzer commander in chief for American army, Navy and Air Force units in Europe.

Lemnitzer also was scheduled to take over as supreme allied commander for Europe this week, but his transfer has been delayed.

The United States and its allies decided to retain Gen. Lauris Norstad in that post for the time being because of the Cuban crisis.

ON CAMPAIGN TRAIL—Mrs. John Swainson (left), wife of the Governor of Michigan, and Mrs. George Romney, wife of the GOP gubernatorial candidate, chat at a meeting in Detroit recently. Both have toured Michigan, each speaking in behalf of their husband's candidacy.

BLENDS WITH WOODS — Because the big main lodge is covered with logs, it doesn't appear to be as large outside as in. The building sprawls all over one of the highest hills in Michigan and burrows down into three separate basement levels.

Haven Hill Area —a Perfect Spot

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

A magnificent lodge atop Haven Hill in the heart of the Highland Recreation Area is a perfect spot for the many quiet conferences held within its rustic walls each year.

UNUSUAL LIGHTS — Tiny flame-like lights line hallways and flank fireplaces in the magnificent Haven Hill Lodge.

So popular is the former Edsel Ford retreat in White Lake Township, reservations must be made a year in advance. Groups interested in conservation, education, recreation and the promotion of public welfare are its constant users.

Once a place to hide children from possible kidnaping — so the oldtimers say — the estate with its green undulating 5,400 acres was bought by the state in 1946 for a reported $300,000.

There are still reminders of the past: A deserted swimming pool, barbed wire.

Today, thousands of people enjoy the picnic grounds, bathing beach, winter sports, and horseback riding in the Teeple Lake section.

In 1956 more than 5,000 Girl Scouts from all over the United States held their National Jamboree on the camp grounds.

A WINDING ROAD

A one-mile winding road, lined with huge trees leads up to the main lodge and annex. The waterfowl spectacle on Haven Hill Lake (made by Ford), the nature foot trails and bridle paths are thrilling sights.

Only minor changes have taken place in the big building with tis hand-hewn beams, five massive stone fireplaces and the sprawling floor plan.

The main hall — paneled, carpeted and softly lighted — is 12 feet wide.

Six bedrooms leading off the two-step-up hall can accommodate 21 overnight guests. The annex houses an additional 22, and the dining room takes care of 50.

All of the interior is bathed in Early America from the pie-pan candle lights to the satin-smooth cherry furniture. The main hall is dominated by a floor to ceiling 18-foot fireplace.

A BEAMED KITCHEN

In the big stainless-steel beamed kitchen, where there isn't one box of commercial "mix," the head cook and house manager, Mrs. Eleanor Boyle, has presided over "hundreds of thousands" of home-cooked meals during her 14-year stay at the lodge.

The trilevel basement is unique even by today's standards.

A miniature elevator lowers fireplace logs to a huge ceiling-high bin, or raises the logs to the fireplaces by a hand-crank mechanism.

Visitors walking outside are awed at the facilities that Ford provided for his family some 40 years ago.

A huge 30- by 50-foot kidney-shaped deteriorating swimming pool is located at the bottom of a wooded ravine. Determined shrubs and trees have pushed through some of the cracks.

To discourage snakes from entering the pool and bathhouse area there remain many feet of two-foot-high meshed fencing held up by iron poles set in cement.

West of the pool, traces of five tennis courts can be seen.

Some high fence still surrounds this area.

A MODEL-T ENGINE

Down a wooded path is the water supply system.

A gigantic pump is still run by an old model-T engine which generates power for pushing tons of water to the lodge.

Two 17,000 gallon tanks taken from Ford's old railroad trains serve as a water storage supply unit.

A big sheep barn one mile away from the lodge — for obvious reasons — is now used as a lounge for winter skiers and also as an office and maintenance building.

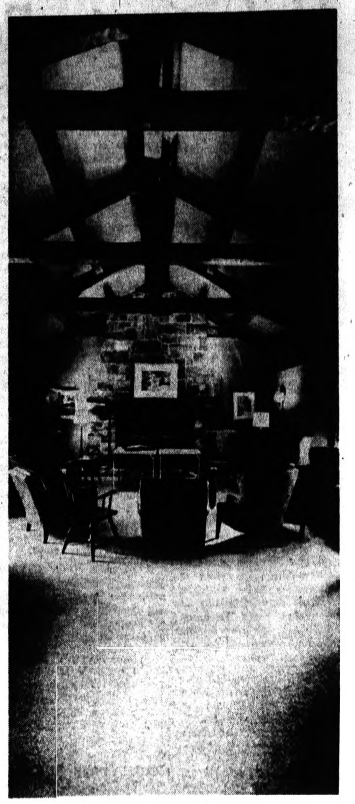
All but the lodge area itself is open to the public.

Because of its seclusion, heavily wooded hills, lakes and two sparkling streams, the Haven Hill area has an air of quiet solitude.

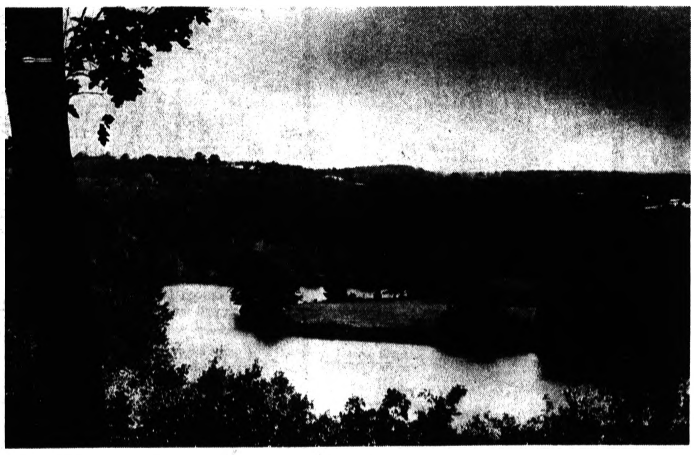
This is what Ford wanted to achieve.

That's what Michigan people are now enjoying.

WOODY WALK — The Joseph D. Reid family of 30114 Ardmore Drive, Farmington, is only one group of many that wander up and down scenic trails at Haven Hill. The main lodge is not open to the general public.

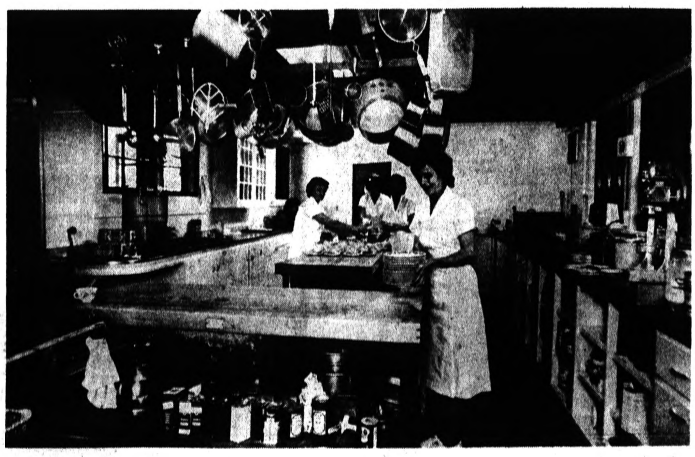


MIGHTY HALL — The furniture in this high-beamed main hall is tastefully arranged for small-group conversation most of the time, but when a capacity crowd of 40 convenes, the comfortable chairs are moved into a circle.



BEAUTIFUL VIEW — This is the sight registered visitors see from the big cut-stone porch facing north. The former owners, the Edsel Ford family had this picturesque lake built and stocked with all kinds of fish. Visitors may fish through the ice during winter months.

MASTER BEDROOM — This was once Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford's bedroom. The early American wallpaper, fireplace and wide plank boards have been kept as fresh as the day the former owners walked out. Handmade tin-backed lights line the walls, and the ruffled curtains at the windows resemble white fluffy clouds.



COOKING ROOM — Only this original kitchen has been modernized during the 16 years the state has had the lodge. Mrs. Eleanor Boyle in the foreground is a veteran head cook and housekeeper, having served "hundreds of thousands" of meals during her 14 years here.

BUILT IN — That's what Haven Hill is. It's built right into a high hill, with roofline and entrances conforming to the contour of the land. There are five mammouth fireplace chimneys, all a least 5-feet square protruding from the low-roofed lodge.

California claims it produces more citrus fruit than any other state.

The surface of the moon contains an estimated 14,657,000 square miles.

Drug Co. Appeal Remanded in Court

LANSING (AP)—The State Supreme Court yesterday remanded the SupeRX Drug Corp. appeal of a State Board of Pharmacy decision to Calhoun County Circuit Court for the taking of evidence.

SupeRX, a subsidiary of the Kroger Co., had appealed the board's decision denying the firm renewal of a Battle Creek drug license.

SupeRX charged the members of the board "acted out of their own personal motivation . . . and not as responsible government officials."

★ ★ ★

The pharmacy board denied the SupeRX application on grounds that the Battle Creek store had allegedly sold barbiturates without a written doctor's prescription.

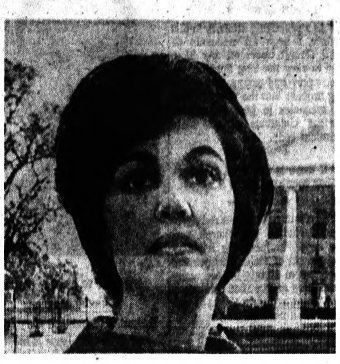
Looks Like Her, Too

Stand-In Poses for Jacqueline



Ruth Shivar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy has a look-alike stand-in who posed for her recently at a White House television filming.

★ ★ ★

Strangers and friends have pointed out the strong resemblance between Ruth Shivar, a law firm secretary, and the First Lady. They're the same age—33—and the same weight and size.

FINALLY

They finally met last week at the White House where a television company NBC was filming part of an hour-long show promoting the proposed new National Cultural Center.

Mrs. Kennedy's part in the show actually will take only a few minutes, but Mrs. Shivar, hired as her stand-in, worked with the TV crews for 10 hours at the White House Oct. 25. Mrs. Kennedy spent an hour doing her bit part describing the cultural center from a design model set up in the diplomatic reception room. They did not pose together.

Mrs. Shivar said she found Mrs. Kennedy more beautiful and charming than she imagined.

The White House had no comment on Mrs. Kennedy's reaction to her look-alike.

Mrs. Shivar, who does modeling as a hobby, but prefers her secretarial job, works for the Washington law firm of Covington and Burling, not far from the White House. She comes from Kenansville, N.C., and lives in Arlington, Va., with her husband who works for the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Sees Victory by Swainson

FLINT (UPI) — New Jersey Gov. Richard S. Hughes predicted last night Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson would be re-elected, despite predictions to the contrary by "pollsters and pundits."

Swainson, running against former president of American Motors Corp., George Romney, has been picked the underdog by local and national polls and several columnists.

Hughes also said the Democratic party across the nation would sweep into power in next week's congressional elections.

★ ★

Hughes described the Swainson-Romney fight as "similar to that in New Jersey in 1960" when he won the gubernatorial election.

These Are Candidates for County Office

GEORGE F. TAYLOR (R)
For Prosecutor

George F. Taylor was appointed county prosecutor by the Circuit Court in 1959 and was elected to the post in the 1960 county election. He had been chief assistant prosecutor for seven years prior to the appointment.

A resident of 631 Franklin Road, Bloomfield Township, the 66-year-old Taylor began his law career at the age of 50 with a degree from the Detroit College of Law and Wayne State University.

Taylor joined the prosecutor's staff in 1946 after serving as a clerk under Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland and former Judge Frank L. Doty.

His statement follows:

"As your prosecuting attorney of Oakland County, I have brought about many reforms.

★ ★ ★

"A consumers' fraud division has been established to prevent citizens from being defrauded by persons who intentionally misrepresent; a lecture course is available to high schools, PTA groups, etc. to show how a criminal record can prevent persons from procuring decent employment; a "court of no record" to help teen-agers from being branded as criminals—this court has handled 1,172 cases to date and only 32 teen-agers have violated their probation.

"I am working diligently to have a work camp established for teen-agers, as idleness is the forerunner to crime.

"I have vigorously prosecuted welfare frauds. This office is always alert to start padlock proceedings to close buildings being used for illegal purposes. Police schools have been established and many hours of instruction given without thought of remuneration.

★ ★ ★

An antismut program has been in effective operation for the last two years. Every store selling printed material of any kind in Oakland County is inspected each 30 days.

★ ★ ★

The cooperation between my office and all law enforcement agencies in Oakland County has provided the people with a much higher degree of protection than exists in many counties of this size.

★ ★ ★

S. JEROME BRONSON (D)
For Prosecutor

An attorney with offices in Madison Heights, S. Jerome Bronson first ran for political office two years ago. He was an unsuccessful candidate for State Senate from Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Bronson, 34, is a law graduage of Wayne State University, is a member of the Oakland County Bar Association and has served as chairman of the United Fund campaign in Madison Heights.

★ ★ ★

He is a board member of the County Society for Crippled Children and Adults and was chairman of Law Day this year in Madison Heights. He and his wife and two sons live at 24540 Seneca St., Oak Park.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"As a practicing attorney in this county, I urge all residents to visit Circuit Court on any Monday to view the long lines of late teen-agers and young adults being brought into the Circuit Court in manacles to face charges of serious violations of our state criminal code.

★ ★ ★

"If there is any area of failure in our country, that is it.

★ ★ ★

"The failure of organized agencies, including the church and the home, to meet the frightening growth of violent crimes and hooliganism among far too many teen-agers in the 17-19 age group and young adults in the 19-21 age group, is a real failure.

★ ★ ★

"My opponent's glib answer to this problem is a gimmick. He calls it a "court of no record."

★ ★ ★

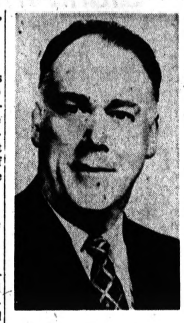
"What is needed in this country is a crash program to put the young law violators to useful, constructive work.

Worklessness seems to be the desired goal of far too many peopoe. This country was not built on the theory of a gley life, it was built on a bedrock of beliefs and hard work.

★ ★ ★

"My opponent would deliver a lecture. What is needed is a court of good records and deeds, based on a record of good deeds to atone for willful violations of the law.

★ ★ ★



FRANK W. IRONS (R)
For Sheriff

Incumbent Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons is seeking his fifth term in office. The 63-year-old sheriff has been in law enforcement work since 1924.

★ ★ ★

He was chief of police for Berkley for 29 years prior to his election as sheriff in 1954.

★ ★ ★

A Pontiac resident, Irons was the county's leading vote-getter in the 1960 general election. He defeated his opponent by a margin of 40,000 votes.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"If elected, I will continue to maintain the same cooperation with township, village, city and state police that is now existing and give the people of our county the kind of law enforcement they are entitled to, and can be proud of.

★ ★ ★

"I will continue the high standard of supervision and sanitation of the county jail, which I initiated and which has been highly commended by both state and federal inspectors of jails, also a safety division with a director, who gives lectures on safety and artificial respiration at schools, PTAs, clubs civic organizations, etc.

★ ★ ★

"The sheriff's department has a water patrol that has gained national recognition and a skin diver's unit that consists mostly of volunteers trained in all phases of skin diving.

★ ★ ★

"The department has a mobile disaster unit, a 20-foot trailer with a 60-foot antenna. Most of the safety equipment was donated by the county's industries.

★ ★ ★

"Prior to the time I became sheriff of Oakland County, I was chief of police in Berkley for 29 years and have been continuously connected with law enforcement since May 1924. I promise, if elected, to keep the sheriff's department in step with the growth and progress of Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

KENNETH G. HIRT (D)
For Sheriff

A former deputy in the Oakland County sheriff's department from 1954 to 1961, Kenneth G. Hirt has a total of some 12 years in police work.

★ ★ ★

Hirt, 34, of 560 Meadowdale St., Ferndale, began his law enforcement career with the Troy Police Department.

★ ★ ★

He was assigned to patrol duty, as a desk officer and relief sergeant, and a leader of the sheriff's department's mounted division during his years as a deputy.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"There are three issues concerning the sheriff's department which stand out. They are:

★ ★ ★

"1. Security of some sort with a merit system. The incumbent is against this. I would like to know why he is against it. A man who is not secure in himself cannot do the job he or she is actually capable of.

★ ★ ★

"2. A juvenile division is something a county of this size needs very much. We have a man in the dual role of water safety and juvenile officer. This is not enough. It is a policeman's job to prevent trouble as well as to take care of it after it happens.

★ ★ ★

"3. We need a central filing system in Oakland County, a form or a system which with the cooperation of all police departments in the county would give each and every department a complete file on all happenings and records of arrests and wanteds.

★ ★ ★

"I believe I can make a worthwhile contribution to the office of sheriff in the area of job tenure and security for each and every deputy in the department. Any police department is only as effective as the morale instilled in every office. I would endeavor to promote the morale in the sheriff's department.

★ ★ ★

DANIEL T. MURPHY Jr. (R)
For Clerk-Register

A 39-year-old Pontiac resident, Daniel T. Murphy Jr. is the only man in Oakland County history to hold the combined job of clerk and register of deeds.

★ ★ ★

He took over the combined post when it was created in 1959. Previously he had been a deputy clerk for six years and register of deeds for three years. He was re-elected to his second term two years ago.

Murphy, who lives at 344 Iroquois St., is a member of the West Pontiac Kiwanis Club, a past post commander of Amvets, a past vice president of Clinton Valley Council Boy Scouts of America and secretary of the State Association of County Clerks.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"At the present time the county clerk and register of deeds office is operating with the same number of employes that were working in the two departments in 1956 although the work has more than doubled.

★ ★ ★

Since the register of deeds and clerk's offices were combined, the law library also has been added to this department.

"Through the installation of modern equipment and filing systems in both offices, Oakland County has one of the most modern and efficiently run offices in the State and we are able to serve the public in a minimum of time with numerous clear copies of records.

★ ★ ★

The present program of microfilming records has saved the County thousands of dollars in storage space. Because of these new processes, this office has saved over $75,000 of the taxpayers' money.

★ ★ ★

I have been cooperative with the various branches of government and I respect the business interests and personal problems of individuals.

★ ★ ★

If elected, I will continue to use whatever new methods and new equipment that in my judgement will tend to do the job more efficiently and economically.

DAVID S. LEES (D)
For Clerk-Register

David S. Lees, a 44-year-old Troy resident, is a production employe at Pontiac Motors Division. He is a former union troubleshooter, salesman for a food service company and employe of the State Highway Department.

★ ★ ★

Lees has held positions with the Seafarers International Union and the Office Employes International Union. He and other Democratic candidates in the county have been endorsed by the county AFL-CIO Council.

★ ★ ★

He was unsuccessful in his contest with Murphy two years ago and had twice before bid for senate and judicial positions in other counties.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"I believe it is time for a change in county government. A complete Democratic administration would let some refreshing light into the County Building."

Nonpartisan Candidates

Along with 12 Republican and Democratic candidates for six county offices on the Nov. 6 ballot are three nonpartisan candidates who are unopposed for re-election.

★ ★ ★

Probate Court Judge Donald E. Adams is the lone candidate for the two-year term on the probate court bench. Judge Adams was the first to be elected to the short-term judgeship after it was created by the state legislature in 1960.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Court Commissioners Maurice F. Cole and Verne C. Hampton also are up for re-election. Voters will cast ballots for two commissioners.

CHARLES A. SPARKS (R)
For Treasurer

First elected county treasurer in 1932, Charles A. Sparks, 69, of 7010 Hatchery Road, Waterford Township, has held the office continuously for 30 years.

Sparks maintained his own real estate and insurance office from 1920 to 1932 after working five years for the old Oakland Motor Car Co., new Pontiac Motor Division. He came to Pontiac in 1915 from Knoxville, Tenn.

He is a past exalted ruler and life member of Elks Lodge No. 810 of Pontiac, past president and life member of Oakland County Sportsmen's Club; past president of State Association of County Treasurers, a member of the National County Officers Association and a member of the National Association of County Treasurers and Finance Officers.

His statement follows:

"The first year of my tenure in office, 1933, the receipts were $4 million. The receipts during 1961 are well over $100 million. Through the installation of automatic and electronic machines, during the years, I have maintained and increased the efficiency in the office.

"The Oakland County treasurer's office has become a model for counties all over the state and many of the procedures have been copied where at all feasible.

"Investments for all funds under the control of the county treasurer exceed $55 million. The intricate and technical knowledge necessary in handling this kind of an operation is almost inconceivable. My office has been commended for astuteness in this phase of work by many financial experts in Detroit and Oakland County.

"I believe 30 years of practical experience is the best qualification for office anyone could have.

"During 1961 my office returned a total of about $422,000 in interest from investing county funds. Interest proceeds will go over $1 million for 1962, including about $600,000 already received on 12-Town Drain funds invested.

"Also during 1961, the fees taken in by my office (not counting taxes) amounted to $2,800 more than the expenditures of the office."

BETTY H. McVAY (D)
For Treasurer

A former school teacher in Virginia, Mrs. Betty H McVay, 54, of 1678 Yosemite St., Birmingham has been active in civic activities and politics since coming to Michigan in 1955.

Mrs. McVay is vice chairman of the Democratic County Committee, chairman of the Birmingham Democratic Club and a precinct delegate. She is the lone woman among candidates for county office.

A 1930 graduate of Flora MacDonald College in North Carolina, Mrs. McVay is on the board of Family Service of Oakland, County Urban League of Pontiac and is a member of the American Association of the United Nations and the American Civil Liberties Union.

Her statement follows:

"A county treasurer should police the receipts and expenditures of all county funds, and give adequate publicity to these receipts and expenditures.

"Has the present treasurer discharged these responsibilities?

★ ★ ★

"While approving a new courthouse, the voters of Oakland County twice rejected a bond issue for its construction. Yet, the money to build it was found.

Over a period of three years the County Board of Supervisors underestimated the receipts from nonproperty tax collections to the tune of some $3.7-million.

Since there is no budget allocation for this allegedly unanticipated money, the board of supervisors is free to spend it in what it deems the most fitting manner.

The net effect to you and me is a property tax rate that is probably higher than it needs to be and a rather distressing lack of accountability for the expenditure of public funds.

Indirectly, the county treasurer can do a good deal about this by publicizing these lopsided surpluses and semisecret expenditures. The exposure of these operations to public view can induce a much higher degree of financial responsibility in the board of supervisors.

The county treasurer should be the people's caretaker of public funds. That is the kind of county treasurer I plan to be.

DANIEL W. BARRY (R)
For Drain Commissioner

Oakland County's drain commissioner since 1957, Daniel W. Barry is seeking his fourth term in the post.

A graduate of Michigan State University, the 39-year-old Barry, who lives at 169 Pleasant Lake Drive, Union Lake, was a restaurant manager and an automobile salesman before his election in 1956.

Barry, a World War II veteran who served in the Air Corps 19th Bombardment Group in the Pacific theater, received most of his early education in Pontiac at St. Michael's School and St. Frederick High School.

His statement follows:

Since assuming the office of drain commissioner in January 1957, I have successfully initiated and coordinated a public works construction program for Oakland County unparalleled in the state of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

"Under construction is the massive Twelve Towns Drain serving 14 municipalities in southeastern Oakland County.

"In the city of Southfield the Eight Mile Drain, the Northwestern Drain and the Southfield Drain are under construction.

"Bids will be received in December and January for the Dequindre interceptor and Red Run enclosure.

"Two intercounty drains are scheduled for construction in April 1963. These are the Kutchey Drain and Sharkey Drain serving the cities of Hazel Park and Madison Heights and the city of Warren in Macomb County.

★ ★ ★

"The intercounty Bear Creek Drain serving Oakland and Macomb counties is under construction. The Pontiac-Clinton Drain, which calls for relocating and enclosure of the Clinton River through the city of Pontiac, is under engineering design and scheduled for 1963 construction.

"Sixteen lake-level projects are under study with construction scheduled for 1963.

"For a continuation of this dynamic program caring for the public works needs of the citizens of Oakland County, it is of utmost importance to retain a proven, professional administrator."

ROY J. RUSSELL (D)
For Drain Commissioner

Roy J. Russell's first campaign for election as drain commissioner was unsuccessful in 1960. Russell, a University of Michigan graduate, is a member of McAlpine Engineers, Inc., of Birmingham.

Russell, 32, of 436 Grey Road, Auburn Heights, is a civil engineer with 11 years of work on drainage projects in Oakland County.

He is manager of the Secretary of State branch office in Birmingham and belongs to several engineering societies. He is part owner of the McAlpine firm, an engineering and land survey company.

His statement follows:

"The highly technical nature of design, construction and maintenance of drains requires that the drain commissioner should have a broad knowledge in engineering and construction. State laws require that where public improvements are proposed, the design and construction of those improvements shall be carried out under direct supervision of a licensed engineer.

★ ★ ★

"It is not only desirable and important, but necessary that the commissioner be a registered professional engineer.

"The present drain commissioner is not an engineer.

"His administration has been beset with personnel problems which reflect his lack of an engineering background.

★ ★ ★

"In the last six months, the chief engineer, chief of inspectors and a $65-per-day project coordinator have either resigned or been fired. These were all very able, technically trained personnel who were unable to communicate satisfactorily with the drain commissioner.

★ ★ ★

"It is not enough for a drain commissioner to be merely a Republican or Democrat. The job requires a man who has professional skills, administrative ability and a background in drainage work.

"I am a practicing consulting civil engineer and have worked on drainage projects in Oakland County for the past 11 years.

"It is time to fill a professional job with a professional man."

Both Candidates Seek End of Surveyor Post

Today's question in government class is: Which candidates for Oakland County office believe the office they seek should be eliminated?

★ ★ ★

Answer: Both candidates for the post of county surveyor.

Voters will get a chance to follow their recommendations Nov. 6 when they decide on a ballot proposal to abolish the post, which has no duties and provides no pay.

Both Republican incumbent Ralph A. Main, who has been county surveyor for six years, and his Democratic challenger, Stanley F. Dunn, recommend the post be abolished.

Eliminating the post is possible under a 1941 state law that permits counties with a population of 500,000 or more to do so.

Oakland County, with a population of about 700,000, passed the 500,000 mark in the 1960 census, thus becoming eligible to discard its surveyor.

The statute does not make clear that the people must vote on the issue, but county officials believe that was the intent.

"The surveyor serves no purpose," say county officials. No one has been uncovered who opposes abolishment of the office.

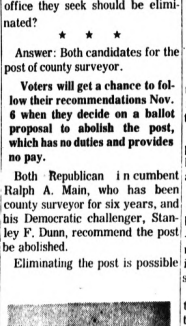
★ ★ ★

"I only run because it's on the ballot," Main says. "It's not a job — there's no office, no salary and no work." He has been advocating abolishment of the post for some time.

Dunn says he's a candidate for the office only in order to keep active in Democratic party affairs.

★ ★ ★

"The job takes up one position on an already cluttered ballot," says county Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. "When we can trim something to make it easier for the voters, I think we should."



RALPH A. MAIN (R)
For Surveyor

A former Oakland County drain commissioner, Republican Ralph A. Main has held the office of county surveyor for six years.

★ ★ ★

Main is 58 years old and a resident of Birmingham. He is a former mayor of Birmingham and former member of the county board of supervisors. He is a consulting civil engineer in his own firm, Main and Fox, Inc., of Birmingham.

Main, however, is recommending that voters abolish his post by voting "Yes" on the county proposal on the Nov. 6 ballot.

"In Oakland County the office of county surveyor has been carried on in name only because of a statutory requirement to have the same appear on the ballot," he says.

★ ★ ★

A 1941 state law permits counties with a population of 500,000 or more to abolish the office. Oakland County's population is approximately 700,000.

Main says there are no duties connected with the post.

STANLEY F. DUNN (D)
For Surveyor

Stanley F. Dunn, a 45-year-old resident of 6635 Colby Lane, Bloomfield Township, is an engineer in the body engineering department of Chrysler Corp. in Highland Park.

★ ★ ★

Prior to 14 years at Chrysler, he spent four years in engineering at Fisher Body Division in Detroit and eight years in engineering at the Ford Motor Co.

He attended Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Dunn also recommends that the office he seeks be abolished by Oakland County voters.

He says the only reason he is a candidate for the office is to keep active in Democratic politics.

Decide Local Issues Nov. 6

Voters in six area communities will decide local issues in next Tuesday's general election.

* * *

They include clarification of assessment procedures in two cities, two millage proposals, a bond issue and a liquor-by-the-glass proposition.

Following is a summary of the issues to be decided at the polls in each municipality:

Oxford Township

The issue of liquor-by-the-glass will be put before the voters here for the second time in four years, in Tuesday's election.

A similar proposal was rejected by voters in 1958.

The referendum requires a simple majority of votes to pass. If it does, under the state liquor distribution laws Oxford Township could eventually have three liquor-by-the-glass permits.

Allocation of these licenses is accomplished on a population basis and is under control of the State Liquor Control Commission.

Orion Township

Voters here will decide a proposal for a one-mill special tax to purchase land and develop a township park.

* * *

If the tax is approved, the township plans to pay $58,000 for Park Island in Lake Orion and develop it into a park for township and Lake Orion village residents.

The proposal will ask voters for authority to exceed the 15-mill tax limitation and approve an extra levy of one mill for five years beginning in 1963.

If passed the tax would bring the township some $19,000 a year for development of the park.

Township officials said one of the first projects in developing the park would be construction of a new bridge to the island.

Utica

Residents will vote on two local issues, one regarding a city charter amendment and the other on a special assessment proposal.

The city is seeking a charter amendment which would empower it to borrow funds in accordance with special assessment procedures.

Directly related to this is the second proposal.

It will ask if the city can issue $200,000 in special assessment bonds to extend water service to a portion of the city recently annexed from Shelby Township.

Costs of the water improvements would be assessed only against property owners in the annexed area and within the confines of the special assessment district, according to Mayor Fred H. Beck.

* * *

Only those qualified voters owning property in the city are eligible to vote on the bonding proposal. All registered voters can cast ballots on the charter change.

South Lyon

A $61,000 bond issue to finance construction of surface drains in the western section of the city will be decided by South Lyon voters.

The proposal, which was defeated in an Aug. 7 election, would necessitate a tax increase of about 2.5 mills for the next 11 years if approved, according to City Clerk Thurman S. Bunn.

The clerk said that lack of surface drains has held up street improvements on the city's west side.

Because of excess water in that section of South Lyon, curbs and hard-topped surfaces can not be added until the drains are built.

The bond issue was defeated by nearly a 3 to 1 margin, 99-34, when it was placed before the voters earlier this year.

However, city officials say chances of the proposition being passed may have been hampered by a tax hike requested by the Lyon Township School Board in another election last August.

White Lake Twp.

A 1.5-mill tax increase for five years to finance construction of a new fire hall and to purchase new fire-fighting equipment is being sought in White Lake Township.

It is the same proposal which was defeated in an Aug. 7 election, 317 to 249.

The new fire hall would be built on the south side of the township, where about 70 per cent of emergency calls for the fire department originate, according to Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz.

The township's only existing fire station is located adjacent to the Township Hall at 7320 Highland Road, approximately three miles from the proposed new station.

* * *

Township voters actually will be faced with two propositions regarding the fire station and equipment.

* * *

One proposition will ask permission to exceed the 15-mill tax limitation while the second requests authority to levy the 1.5-mill tax.

Southfield

City officials are seeking voter authorization to amend a city charter provision which they say is in conflict with state law.

The present Southfield charter requires that detailed engineering drawings and specifications be prepared prior to the first hearing on all special assessment requests.

The normal fee for such detailed plans and specifications, according to City Administrator Donald V. Smith, is 3 per cent of the project cost.

The high cost of the plans, some for projects which may cost more than $100,000, causes many residents to lose interest in needed special assessment improvements, Smith said.

* * *

The administrator said the city's present assessment procedure is in conflict with recent State Supreme Court rulings.

If the charter is amended, the City Council would be able to set the time for presenting detailed plans by ordinance.

The amendment, Smith said, would remove none of the safeguards concerning special assessments now protecting Southfield residents.

Two CD Groups Plan Informational Meetings

The critical international situation has prompted the Northeast Oakland County Civil Defense Council (NOCCDC) and one of its member organizations to schedule public information meetings this week.

The parent unit will sponsor a public meeting at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Rochester Municipal Building.

Avon Township's Civil Defense organization will conduct its informational meeting 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Township Hall.

Charles Morell, Avon Township civil defense director, has arranged to conduct an informal session at that time.

He says he expects to have qualified persons available to answer any questions which might arise, as well as civil defense brochures to give out to those attending the meeting.

Registration in civil defense courses may also be completed at this meeting, Morrell said.

He urged all citizens to avail themselves of the information to be offered at the meeting.

Saturday's meeting of the NOCCDC will also be for the purpose of giving information to those interested in civil defense, according to Dr. Edgar J. Geist Jr., chairman of the NOCCDC.

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION

Dr. Geist said the meeting is being conducted "in response to the current international situation to clarify what the office of civil defense has to offer at this time to the people of Oakland County."

* * *

"We're going to have people on hand who can answer any questions that those attending might bring up," he said.

"If the public is concerned this is where they can learn what is, and is not, presently available in civil defense," Geist said.

"They can also learn more about what everyone can do to improve civil defense."

Oakland County Civil Defense Director John E. Madole will be one of the authorities on hand at the session.

* * *

Madole said he will answer any question brought up and also try to instill realization of the need for more civil defense in the United States.

CITES SUPPORT

"Our county's budget support is probably larger than most counties in Michigan," he said.

He pointed out, however, that because of high public support some areas of the nation receive much more in funds for civil defense.

"Monroe County, encompassing Rochester, N.Y., receives civil defense appropriations of $236,000 as compared to our total state appropriations of $50,000," he said.

* * *

Madole also will discuss the importance of public support in a worthwhile civil defense program.

Troy Mayor Signs Pact for Dequindre Sewer

TROY — Mayor Robert J. Huber today signed a contract for the Dequindre Sanitary Interceptor Sewer having assurance of $250,000 in federal funds toward cost of the project.

However, the City Commission is still considering steps it can take to receive more federal aid in paying 30 per cent of its total share in this sewer arm.

Troy now will receive, through the Oakland County Drain Commissioner's Office, the $250,000 maximum allowed in federal funds by the Water Resources Commission's Water Pollution act of 1956.

A grant of about $1.4 million was given to communities in the Twelve-Town Drain District under this act to pay 30 per cent of their sewage costs, with stipulations that no community is allowed more than $250,000 for that project.

TROY'S SHARE

Troy's 30 per cent of the sewer cost considered eligible for grants by the federal government is $421,000, more than any other participating community. However, it received only $250,000, the maximum alloted by the federal government.

Other communities in the Twelve-Town Drain District don't have to worry, because 30 per cent of their cost does not exceed the $250,000 maximum set by the government.

The City Commission also has officially applied for a federal grant of $1.35 million to cover just under half of the total $2,784,000 expected cost of a sanitary sewer trunk system for Troy.

This grant, if approved, will be given under the new Accelerated Public Works Act which provides up to 50 per cent of the cost of some projects.

State OKs Bond Issue for Sewers

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Officials here today learned that the State Municipal Finance Commission has approved a $297,000 bond issue for sanitary sewer construction in two township subdivisions.

Township Clerk Dorothy M. Chamberlain said the special assessment bond issue will finance construction of lateral sewer lines in the Doherty Estates and Sagamore Estates subdivisions.

The lateral sewer lines, which ultimately will connect to the Farmington Interceptor, will serve approximately 245 homes in the two subdivisions, according to Mrs. Chamberlain.

The Doherty Estates subdivision is located north and south of Walnut Lake Road east of Orchard Lake Road, while Sagamore Estates is south of Pontiac Trail about one mile west of Orchard Lake Road.

The construction project will be financed entirely by property owners in the two subdivisions.

BILLIE J. YASTE

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Hall, 2460 Gerald St., Rochester, announce the engagement of their daughter Billie Joy to Robert E. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Murphy, 1226 Harding St., Rochester. No date has been set for the wedding.

Trustee on Bond in Extortion Case

FARMINGTON (AP) — A Royal Oak Township trustee was free under $2,500 bond today after standing mute in Farmington Justice Court yesterday on a five-count charge of extortion, conspiracy and bribery.

Ernest Wilson, a former township policeman, was accused by state police of being involved in numerous payoffs or attempted payoffs ranging from $25 biweekly to a lump sum of $800.

* * *

Detective Calvin Lapien said one of the counts against Wilson is an accusation on what he demanded a kickback from James F. Easton, named director of the township's urban renewal program last February.

Plan Meeting on Cityhood

Rochester, Avon Twp. to Talk Borders

AVON TOWNSHIP—Representatives of the Village of Rochester and Avon Township will meet with the boundaries committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors on Nov. 20 to discuss plans for a public meeting on cityhood for Rochester.

The time, place and procedure to be followed at the public meeting will be established at the forthcoming 10 a.m. session, according to Corporation Counsel Norman R. Barnard, committee clerk.

Thirty days have passed since the Rochester steering committee for city incorporation filed the petition requesting a special election on cityhood.

According to a state statute no action can be taken on the petition during this period.

* * *

Boundaries of the proposed city encompass an area of 4¼ square miles, including a portion of Avon Township, as compared with the present village's area of 1 9/16 square miles.

* * *

The existing western and southern boundaries of the village are retained in the city plan. Tienken Road would become the new northern boundary and Dequindre Road would enclose the city on the east.

Members Sought for Theatrics

TROY — Applicants are being sought for charter membership in a newly formed community theater group, the Troy Footlighters.

* * *

Anyone desiring to participate in theatrical work will be welcomed at the special meetings scheduled for 7:30 p. m. the next two Mondays at Firehall No. 1, 2870 Rochester Road.

No previous experience is necessary to join the group. Persons interested in acting, scenery, make-up, and directing are invited to attend and join.

The purpose of the group is to present drama, musical comedy and other types of theatrical presentations to the general public.

Although the club is affiliated with the Troy Drama Workshop it is not necessary to enroll in the workshop to be eligible for membership.

* * *

Interested persons should attend the special meetings or call Mrs. C. E. Reeder, 71 Blanche St. or Mac DeLosh, 5690 Livernois Road.

Order of Eastern Star Schedules Bazaar

CLARKSTON — Joseph C. Bird Chapter, No. 294, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its annual bazaar, luncheon and harvest dinner Friday at the Masonic Temple.

Luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and the turkey dinner is planned from 5 to 7:30 p.m. The bazaar, featuring Christmas items, will be in progress all day.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Southfield Gets Grant, Will Start Civic Center

SOUTHFIELD — A $545,000 federal grant — the first approved for an Oakland County community under the Public Works Acceleration Act — will allow Southfield to start building its new civic center.

Council President C. Hugh Dohany, who announced receipt of the grant yesterday, said it was the first PWA application approved through the Chicago regional office of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The funds will be used to construct a combined city hall and police headquarters in addition to preliminary work on a new recreation building, Dohany said.

The city plans to provide its share of funds for the municipal and recreational buildings and for the balance of its proposed $7-million civic center through a five-member building authority appointed Monday night.

GIVES CREDIT

Dohany credited U.S. Senators Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara and former Southfield Mayor Donald L. Swanson for getting swift action on the grant.

Swanson has worked for the federal government in Chicago since August 1961, as director of the regional office of the U.S. Post Office Department.

"I wish to express sincere appreciation to Senators Hart and McNamara for their efforts on our behalf," said Dohany, "and especially I want to thank our former mayor, Donald L. Swanson, for his personal interest and assistance in 'opening the door' at the Chicago regional office of the HHFA."

The city council here agreed to apply for federal matching funds for the civic center project Sept. 25.

The center will be located on a 166-acre site at 10½ Mile and Evergreen roads. The first phase of the project will include the city hall and police headquarters, the recreation building and a library.

Good Homemade Puddings

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Now that wet and chilly fall weather has finally caught up with us, we are planning heartier meals for the family. Instead of the light gelatin molds, the fruit combinations and the frozen desserts, we think of puddings.

* * *

Granted that packaged pudding mixes are the answer to many a harassed homemaker, we still feel that homemade puddings have something to be said for them.

Take, for example an applesauce pudding, crunchy with walnuts and coconut. This fragrant dessert, similar to one Danish cooks make, calls for only 20 minutes of baking.

Golden Apple Sauce Pudding

2 cups canned apple sauce
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
¼ cup orange juice
1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup broken walnuts
¾ cup shredded coconut
Light cream

Combine apple sauce, orange rind and juice. Combine graham cracker crumbs, cinnamon, sugar, butter or margarine and walnuts; mix. Arrange alternate layers of apple sauce mixture, crumb mixture and coconut in greased 8"x8"x2" baking dish, ending with coconut layer.

Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold with cream. Yields 4-6 servings.

When the first part of the meal has been light, a dessert like Butterscotch Rice Pudding is in order. Its glamorous looks belie its low-low cost.

Butterscotch Rice Pudding

4 eggs separated
½ cup dark brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups hot milk
3 cups cooked rice
2 tablespoons dark brown sugar

Blend egg yolks, ½ cup brown sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat with a rotary beater until smooth and light. Stir a small amount of hot milk into the egg yolk mixture. Gradually add the rest of the milk, stirring constantly.

Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, about 10 minutes or until the mixture is thick and will coat a spoon. Do not overcook. Add the rice and mix well. Pour at once into a baking dish, 10" x 7" x 2". Cool.

Chill about one hour or until custard is thick and surface is firm. Allow egg whites to come to room temperature. Beat until stiff but not dry. Drop by teaspoonfuls over the top of the chilled custard being sure to cover the custard completely.

Sift the 2 tablespoons of brown sugar through a strainer over the egg whites. Place in a preheated 400 degree oven for 10 minutes or until the sugar melts and bubbles. This recipe makes 8 servings.

There are more ways to use sweet potatoes than by candying them or putting them in a vase of water to make a vine. Grate some and try out a recipe for sweet potato pudding.

* * *

This recipe calls for sweet potatoes which are not the same as yams. Most of the stores in this area sell the Louisiana yams or the dark orange moist potatoes.

New Jersey sweets are paler in color and dry and mealy. If you can't find the potatoes specified, you may use yams with only a slight difference in the taste of the pudding.

Jersey Sweetie Pie Pudding

Two cups grated New Jersey sweet potatoes (about 3 medium)
2 eggs
1 cup sugar, white or brown
1 cup milk
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
½ teaspoon salt
1 (4-ounce) can shelled walnuts

Grate raw peeled sweet potatoes on medium grater. In large bowl, beat eggs until light, adding sugar gradually while beating. Stir in milk, butter and seasonings. Blend in sweet potatoes and mix well.

* * *

Reserve 8 halves of walnuts; chop remaining walnuts and blend into pudding mixture. Pour into well-oiled 1-quart casserole and bake in moderate (350 degrees F.) oven for 30 minutes. Stir well. Continue baking for another 30 minutes.

Serve pudding hot with hard sauce or top milk or cream, or serve cold with whipped cream. This pudding can be prepared ahead of time, and reheated in top of double boiler.

Try Oyster Pie as Fall Fare

Here's good news for gourmets—the oyster is back from vacation. After spending the summer spawning, these delicious shellfish are harvested and brought to the fish markets from the beginning of September until the end of next April.

The fine flavor of oysters has been appreciated since the days of the early Greeks and Romans. Today, however, oysters are also appreciated for another quality—their excellent nutritive value. Few other foods are as well-balanced nutritionally as are oysters.

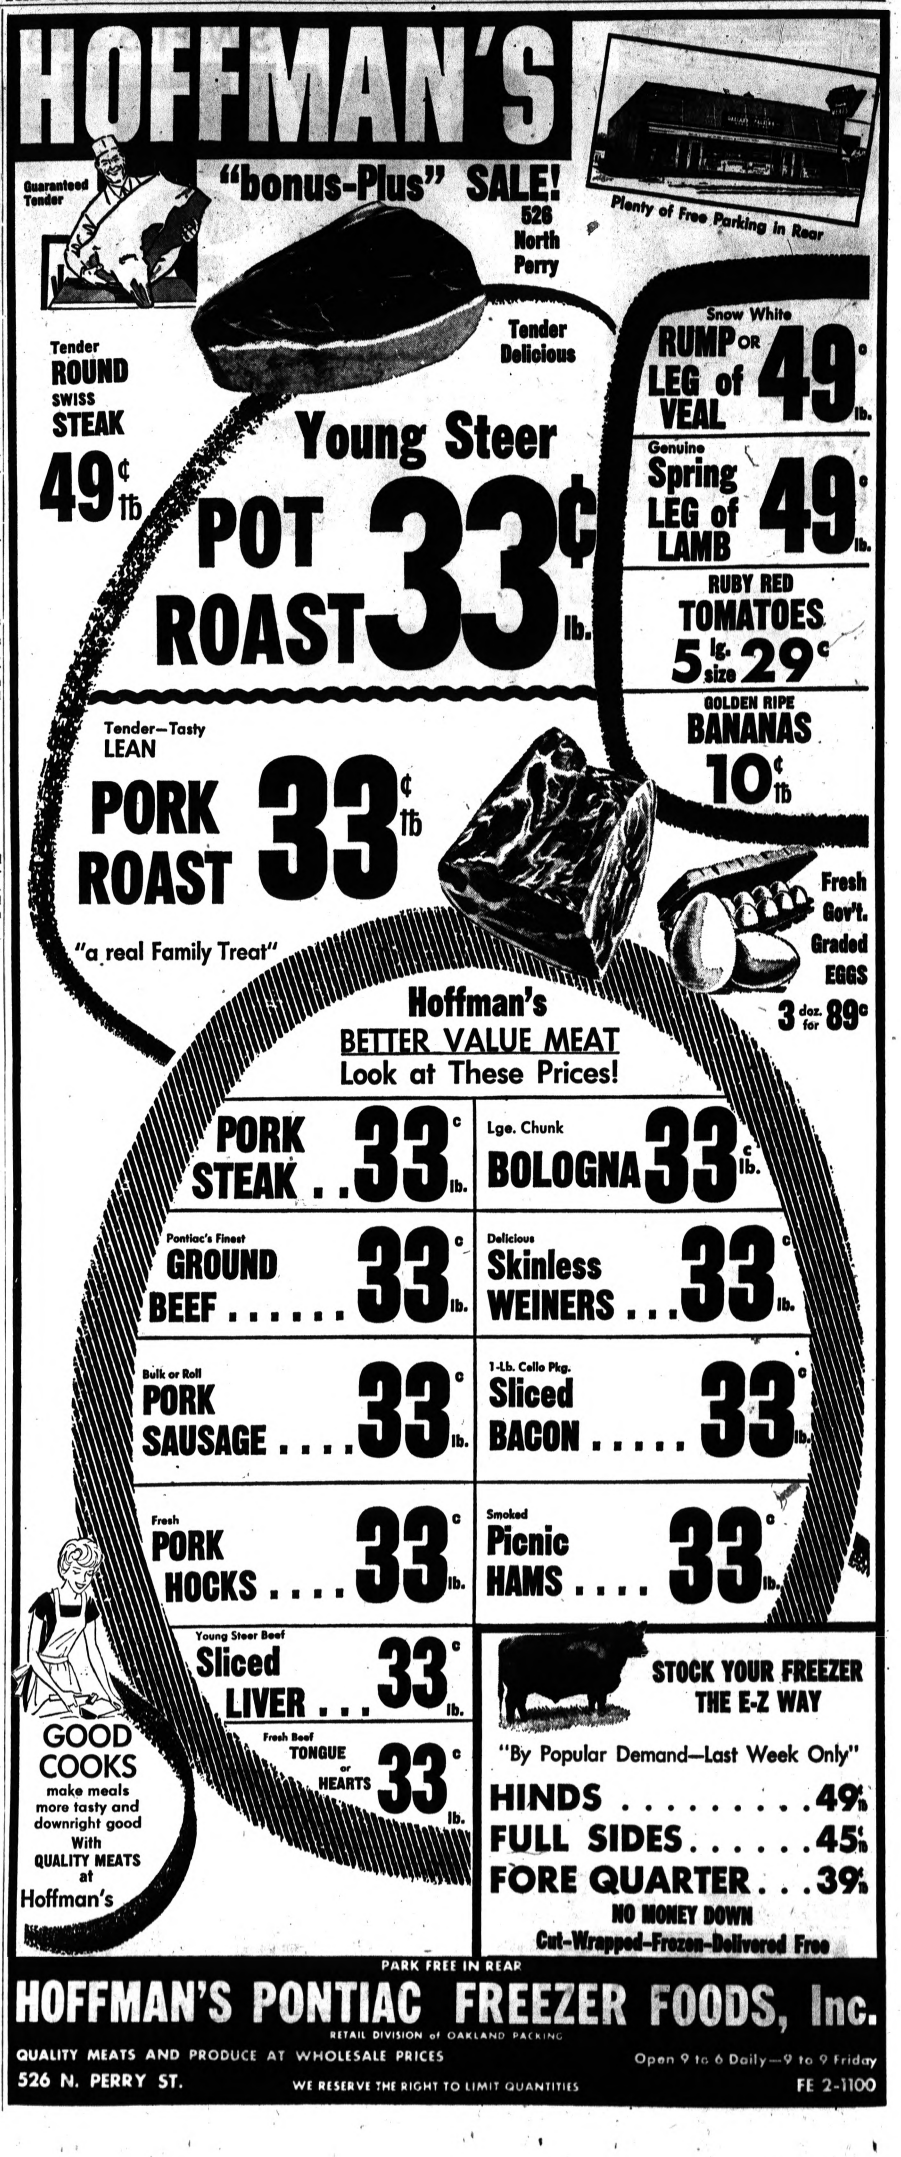
An average serving of six oysters will furnish more than the daily requirement of iron and copper, in addition to iodine, calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, Vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, and high-quality proteins. As an added inducement, oysters are a no-waste food (except the shell), and are easy to prepare. To welcome the oyster back, the National Fisheries Institute suggests this recipe for Oyster Pies.

Oyster Pies

2 dozen oysters
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon tarragon
¼ teaspoon cayenne
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
4 small onions, sliced
2 carrots, sliced
4 potatoes (medium) diced
1 cup grated sharp cheese
½ cup milk

Drain oysters. Save liquid. Chop oysters with scissors, mix with salt, pepper, tarragon, cayenne, Worcestershire sauce. Place a layer of onion, carrots and potatoes in greased pie pans or casseroles. Then a layer of oysters, seasonings and cheese. Repeat layers.

Place 2 tablespoons milk and 2 tablespoons oyster liquid in each pan or casserole. Cover pies with pie or biscuit crust. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F., 45 minutes. Garnish with parsley. Serves four generously.



The bola, a weapon made of weights connected by thongs, was used by primitive peoples some 400,000 years ago and still is used occasionally by the gauchos of South America and by some Eskimos.

Actor Dick Powell's Cancer 'Whipped'

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—"I've got this cancer whipped."

Actor-producer Dick Powell's announcement last month that he was suffering from the disease shocked his friends and fans around the world. But Powell himself remains calm and resolute.

NAME TERRIFYING

"The very name of the disease, cancer, terrifies people," he said, taking a break in his busy work day at Four-Star Productions, of which he is head man.

"Cancer has assumed the horror and whispered superstitions that once marked syphilis and tuberculosis and other fearsome diseases down through the ages. The unreasoning fear of cancer must be dispelled as one of the means of fighting it."

Powell, looking fit and energetic, opened the front of his shirt to disclose two inked marks, targets for the special X-ray treatments he is undergoing on his throat and chest.

"These treatments at the UCLA Medical Center have reduced the cancerous growth by 85 per cent," he said.

"Thank God the doctors caught it early enough. The progress has been miraculous, and I'm feeling a lot better. In about 10 days they will stop the X rays for five or six months and then check the results.

"I'd like to set the record straight on my condition. It's good. But some London papers had me down to 112 pounds and dying."

Powell looked as if he might tip the scales at upward of 180 pounds. He spends somewhat less time in his office than he did previously, but he still runs his television empire energetically.

"You'd be surprised at how many people telephoned and wrote welcoming me to the cancer club," he grinned.

"I heard from all kinds of people who have cancer, and from a great number who have whipped it. I've also learned that medical science is on the verge of coming up with a complete cancer cure."

HAS SENSE OF HUMOR

The star's sense of humor still is going full throttle.

"My doctors told me not to catch cold," he said. "They can cure cancer a lot of the time, but they still can't do anything about colds.

"I'm confident that I've got this cancer whipped, but it makes a man stop and think about how much more can be done to develop a means to defeat the disease once and for all.

"For instance, take all the money the government spent on that moon shot that missed the mark this month. If that amount of money had been spent on cancer research they'd have come up with all the answers by now."

★ ★ ★

Powell admits his knowledge of cancer is slight, but his layman's interest in seeing it cured has increased tremendously.

Still, his humor persists: "In this present world crisis I guess there's some compensation in knowing I'd probably be classified 4-F."

Property Deals Handled

A major portion of the business on last night's City Commission agenda concerned proposed property deals.

Six items involving the acquisition or conveyance of properties by the city came up for action.

★ ★ ★

One of the items involved the purchase of property owned by J. L. VanWagoner, owner of a local insurance agency, and prominent Pontiac resident for many years.

VanWagoner had offered to sell the city 12 lots in the vicinity of Stanley Avenue and Osmun Lake for $100 per lot.

The land is to be used for the expansion of park facilities in that area. The lots are in Assessor's Plat 101.

The Commission approved a resolution authorizing city administrators to purchase the land. The $1,200 will come from capital improvement funds.

Commissioners also authorized the purchase of options from 14 property owners on Wrenn Street for rights of way needed to widen the street.

Widening is necessary if a proposed storm sewer project is to be constructed on the street. The options must be exercised by Jan. 2, 1963.

In another resolution, commissioners approved giving a portion of Lot 49, A.P. 117 to Newman AME Church at Bagley and Brush streets.

★ ★ ★

The land was needed to make a suitable church site in view of the fact that a portion of other property recently sold to the church was retained by the city for widening of Bagley Street.

Two measures involved county-owned properties being acquired by the city for street extensions.

In one move, commissioners approved a resolution whereby the city will swap the cost of county land for a future assessment to the county.

The property involved is right of way for the extension of Sarasota Avenue northward to Kennett Road in the vicinity of Alcott Elementary School, Its value is about $3,000.

MADE EXCHANGE

If the city had bought the land, it would have later charged the county $2,824.35 in special assessments for grading and graveling the roadway since the county will be an abutting property owner.

Since the difference between the county price for the right of way and the assessment is less than $200, commissioners agreed to accept the county's offer of the land at no charge in return for the city dropping the assessment.

The other county item involved an agreement approved by supervisors seven years ago whereby the county would deed lands to the south of Grand Trunk Western Railroad's Belt Line near Stanley Avenue to the city in exchange for city removal of several substandard homes in the area.

The structures have been removed for several years and the city is now moving to accept the land for the sum of $1. The property is earmarked for future extension of Stanley Avenue.

A request from Clarkston Insurance Agency to rezone Lot 10, A.P. 70, from residential to commercial use was received and referred to the planning commission for consideration at its Nov. 7 meeting.

In connection with public improvement projects, the following routine business was completed:

No objections were voiced at a public hearing on the special assessment roll for proposed sidewalk construction on parts of Columbia and Carlisle avenues. Work will now proceed.

★ ★ ★

Rolls were confirmed in the number of payments shown for curb and gutter construction projects on portions of the following streets:

Stanley Avenue, four payments.
Second Avenue, three payments.
Chicago Avenue, five payments.

An ordinance to rezone from residential to manufacturing about nine acres of land fronting on Auburn Avenue south of the Pontiac Sewage Treatment Plant was introduced and scheduled for a public hearing Nov. 26.

Petitions signed by 60 per cent or more of affected property owners were accepted requesting the following improvement and public necessity resolutions were ordered for presentation on each project at next week's meeting.

★ ★ ★

Water main in Bay Street from the south line of Lots 7 and 26 Lake Court subdivision, to the north end of the street.

Combined sewer on the west side of Baldwin Avenue from 60 feet north of Colvin Avenue to New York Avenue.

★ ★ ★

A third petition submitted by property owners and proprietors of businesses on E. Pike, Saginaw to Mill, for higher intensity street lights in that area was referred to City Manager Robert A. Bitterer for study and recommendation.

★ ★ ★

Though waves move across the surface of a lake or sea, the water itself merely rises and falls. A given volume of water sinks back into almost the same place.

MSU Takes Disciplinary Action Against Students, Organizations

EAST LANSING (AP) — A charge of violating a regulation requiring prior approval of all speakers invited to the campus has prompted disciplinary action against six student organizations and six individual students at Michigan State University.

★ ★ ★

The organizations were reprimanded by the faculty committee on student affairs and warned that any further violations will result in the loss of their charters.

★ ★ ★

The six individuals were placed on strict disciplinary probation. This includes forbidding them to hold office in any student organization.

Among those disciplined was Robert Howard, senior from Elmhurst, Ill., president of the All-University Student Government.

★ ★ ★

"Apparently this is what you get for biting the hand that's trying to hit you," Howard commented. "The most repulsive thing to me about Soviet Communism is the limitation it places upon individual freedom. In some degree, that is the path we are following in this university."

Kennedy Doctors Castro

FLINT (UPI) — Castro has developed a stomach ailment and he's counting on Kennedy to cure it for him.

This unlikely situation developed at Flint's Osteopathic Hospital when Leo Toldo Castro placed himself under the care of Dr. Donald Kennedy for a stomach disorder.

TESTED RULE

The university said a number of student groups banned together to test the rule requiring prior clearance of speakers. Three members of the nonviolence Coordinating Committee of Detroit, which sponsors antisegregation and sit-down movements in the south, were invited to speak at the Union Building on Oct. 18.

★ ★ ★

The university termed this "a deliberate violation."

Groups reprimanded and warned they might lose their charters were the All-University Student Government, The Humanist Society, the Young Democrats, the Young Socialists, the campus charter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Campus United Nations.

Other students placed on probation were Peter Werbe, Detroit senior, of the Humanist Society; Robert Hencken, Huntington Woods junior, of the Young Democrats; Jan Garrett, Gainsville, Fla., sophomore, of the Young Socialists; Richard McClellan, East Lansing, president, of the National Student Association and Tom Steinfatt, Lansing junior, of the Forensics Club.

The university said the National Student Association is not under the direct jurisdiction of the university and the Forensics Club was not an active organization at the time and so was not directly involved. The Campus International Club was cleared of involvement.

He Really Ran Wrong Way

MEMPHIS, Ten. (AP)—James Craven didn't show up for jury duty Tuesday but he sent word that he wouldn't mind a bit if the judge sent a deputy to bring him in.

Craven, an insurance agent and Air Force reservist, was called to active duty last weekend.

Don't Be Too Proud of Having a 'Normal' Personality

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Are you normal?

You probably think you are (I've just asked eight acquaintances this question and all replied they "thought" so, although three made if "fairly normal").

And if you think you are normal, you probably are proud of it.

It's those abnormal people — those guys with the neuroses — who are in trouble.

But are they?

Two psychiatric surveys recently have definitely questioned the beneficial qualities of normalcy.

Survey number one revealed that 85 per cent of the people living on the upper east side of New York City have neuroses. The upper east side of New York is inhabited by the wealthiest career people in the world.

★ ★ ★

The conclusion drawn was that the upward move, on the ladder of personal success, is accompanied by emotional, psychological and financial changes which lead inevitably to a certain amount of neurosis.

It might be said (in fact, I'll say it!) that the neurosis, unless it gets out of hand, is worth it.)

Survey number two, recently completed by a working group of the American Psychiatric Association, was a study of 73 normal men.

NORMAL MAN

The group found that the so-called normal man lives a stable and well-adjusted life; has no serious marital discord; is fairly satisfied with his job and his home because he has no aspirations that lead to frustration — no aspirations higher than the status quo either for himself or for his children.

This group of men (who were described by one correspondent as "contented bores") were given "mental-status" tests.

They rated high in "contentment" and "compatibility with their wives."

They scored very low on "richness of personality and breadth of interest."

The psychiatric researchers found that all their normal men had finished high school. Most held average white-collar jobs — all but two in the income bracket between $3,000 and $10,000. They rarely moved away from their home areas.

And finally, and devastatingly, they were found to possess a general "lack of creativity, imagination and spontaneity."

Or do you confess to being ambitious, clever, frustrated, occasionally quarrelsome with the wife, on the move up and just a touch neurotic?

Women are guilty of shop-lifting much more often than men.

★ ★ ★

This is not because they are basically much more dishonest.

They just shop more, so they lift more.

★ ★ ★

"Men and women are apparantly about equal in tendency toward theft. But women do the shopping and have greater opportunities," reports Lincoln Zonn, a commercial lie detector examiner for firms wanting to cut down on business pilferage.

"Of course," he added sympathetically, "women are more likely to shoplift too because they have to work with a tight budget."

★ ★ ★

Zonn said "ladies" will go to "any extent" to avoid being caught, whereas men usually come clean soon after the questions "begin to tangle them up."

With lie detection, as with anything else, he said, women have to be flattered a bit.

He told the story of a girl employed by a large drug firm which manufactured everything from corn pads to eye shadow. She readily admitted to stealing almost everything in stock, after being confronted with the results of the lie detector test, but insisted she never walked off with cosmetics.

Zonn amiably commented on how beautifully she was made up, and asked quickly what brand she used . . . the lie detector bounced. And the flattered lady confessed to stealing $15,000 worth of vanity.

Some scientists have found drinking warm milk helps to induce sleep.

Up Until Now Mrs. FDR Was Stranger to Sickness

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, 78, is fighting for her life. She has been downed by a lung infection and a rare type of anemia.

They'll wish they had never picked on her!

Mrs. Roosevelt has survived more massive foes than these two disorders and carried on in life as if nothing had happened.

The widow of FDR is a woman of immense courage, phenomenal drive, and good stout heart. We wish her well.

The daily bulletins from her sick room are hard to believe. In all her years in the public's eye — and sometimes in its hair — sickness has never been associated with her.

★ ★ ★

For four decades this once painfully shy and withdrawn woman trooped up and down and across this land and the world with a vitality and imperviousness to mundane aches and pains that was truly spartan. Illness was for the birds. We hope it will be that way again.

In some respects, Mrs. Roosevelt's impact on her times has been appreciated more overseas than in her native land.

To many Americans who joined or tagged along behind the hard core of her often shrill and violent critics it always came as a puzzling surprise to learn, year in and out, that she had been judged "First Lady of the World" in that unofficial but revealing competition.

To be the first lady of the world, Eleanor Roosevelt had to overcome a gripping inferiority complex. She has written about it, frankly and boldly.

She came from a line that produced generations of beautiful women, but she was born homely. She was to write "I was filled with shame" because of her looks and stringy appearance.

★ ★ ★

"I was not a very happy little girl," she said in an interview years ago. "I was alone a great deal. But I think I got over that by making myself feel that I was not quite myself but something a little different."

When the handsome, dashing Franklin Delano Roosevelt, a distant cousin, fell for her in 1903, and proposed, she was stunned.

So was his austere mother, Sara Delano Roosevelt.

She took her son off with her on a West Indian cruise to try to talk him out of it. But for once, he would not hear her.

★ ★ ★

There would be no way to describe the burden it must have been to Eleanor Roosevelt to leave her growing family and enter the rough and tumble of politics.

But she managed it in 1910, when he was elected to the State Senate, and again when he campaigned in behalf of Woodrow Wilson — who made him assistant secretary of the Navy.

By 1924 Eleanor Roosevelt was chairman of the New York Democratic State Committee and convinced that her husband, though now confined to a wheel chair, was still a man fit for public office.

Looking back now on her days in the White House, one appreciates the immensity of the changes she wrought in the traditional image of the First Lady. Where most of her predecessors had been content to remain in the shadows of the White House, appearing chiefly at state dinners, Mrs. Roosevelt traveled, talked (some thought too much), lectured, wrote books, magazine articles and a column, spoke out loud and clear on every known controversial issue, befriended minority groups, talked to miners in the bowels of the earth, toured battlefronts, and always urged the public — friend and foe — to take a more active interest in government.

To the end of his life, her husband was impressed with her ceaseless vigor. Nothing she did surprised him. She told us a story once about an unannounced trip she made to a prison to talk to a group of inmates.

The President, wishing to clear something with her, called her White House extension from his office.

"She's gone to prison," her secretary replied.

FDR paused. "She has?" he asked. "What for?"

A winded reporter who followed her through a day's schedule a couple of years ago wheezed "Why do you do it?"

GOP Senator 'Knew About Cuba...Why Didn't JFK'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., has declared that missile bases were in Cuba "a long, long time before the President spoke."

* * *

"You don't build a missile base in a week," said Scott.

He referred to President Kennedy's radio and television declaration Oct. 22 in which Kennedy said he received the first hard information of the offensive missile build-up in Cuba on Oct. 16 — the Tuesday before.

TAKE LONGER

"The kind of work going on down there would take at least 60 days," said Scott, appearing yesterday on a radio program, "The Leading Question."

He added: "But an attempt to produce a sudden photo which any contractor in any small town in America can tell you represented not work from Tuesday to Monday but work of considerably more than a month.

"The very moving of those trucks over mountain roads, the heavy crating . . . all these things indicated this had been going on for a long time."

Scott said he and other Republicans had "very hard information" early in September that the Russians were building missile sites in Cuba.

"We knew it began early in September and any information we had we knew was available to the administration and to the President," said Scott.

"I think the only conclusion can be that the President himself may not have received the information — there may have been a failure of intelligence," he added.

"On the other hand, there may have been a cautious reluctance to move which is understandable but was not shared by the Republican party or the American people."

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, appeared on the same program and said Republicans found themselves without "any real cause to excite people to vote the Republican ticket . . . so they'd been looking around, and they tried to make Cuba an issue.

"And since the Republicans have now been shorn of the Cuban issue," said Hartke, "they seem to be saying, yes, but you should have taken us one step further, we are disappointed you didn't get us into a nuclear war."

Mother Cat Finds Man Has a Heart

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A transient mother cat had kittens at the Garold Carpenter home last weekend—on the porch roof.

Carpenter deemed the spot too risky a place to bring up a family—even a family of vagrant cats—so he set out to evacuate them.

The mother anticipated his concern and moved her children into the attic. One of the kittens dropped between two wall studs. Carpenter sawed a hole in the wall Tuesday to rescue it.

Former Pro Star Andy Farkas Gives Coach Idzik 'Vote of Confidence'

Alumni Rally to Support of Football at U. of D.

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Prominent alumni, led by members of the Gus Dorais Foundation, have rallied to the cause of football at the University of Detroit with the promise to coach John Idzik that "you and your staff have our confidence and we will support you and the future of football for the years to come."

In view of the poorest season in the school's history (now 0-5) rumors again began to circulate that football would suffer the same fate as it did at San Francisco, Marquette, Santa Clara and other Jesuit administered schools in the country.

The situation looked bleak a year ago when Rev. Laurence Britt took over the presidency at U. of D. in place of Rev. Celestin J. Steiner, a former Titan player and strong football enthusiast.

The picture became darker when scholarships were cut and the Gus Dorais Foundation, an organization intended to underwrite the football existence at U. of D., was on the verge of collapse.

ALUMNI PIN-POINTED

Fr. Britt's statement after he took office, was pin-pointed directly at the alumni in the effect "Support the football program or else."

Last night the annual "Titan alumni gathered to welcome all the school's freshmen athletes.

Rev. Britt was called upon for an impromptu talk and in the same vein as he had done in the past he avoided any direct statement as to the status of football by concentrating all comments on the scholastic and academic responsibilities of all students at U. of D. and at all colleges.

"I will be blunt," he said, "these are some grim facts which we have had to recognize."

"In a recent year, of 89 young people in a certain sport, 59 per cent failed to survive. I do not want to introduce fear, but the blunt fact is that there has not been and there will not be any change in the entrance requirements. You must progress academically to survive and no one will be admitted unless he meets the entrance qualifications."

With this challenge thrown directly at the alumni, Andy Farkas, former U. of D. All-American who had a colorful pro career with the Washington Redskins, announced that the Gus Dorais foundation has been rejuvinated and found new life, and is ready to inject into the football situation its most extensive program of recruiting, scheduling and support that has ever been given at the school. He then gave Idzik the vote of confidence.

"There are good students who are good football players and we're going to go after them. And every freshman who comes in will be academically sound," said Farkas.

Another spokesman among the alumni said, "Football is in its best financial condition at this time than it ever has been. Scholarships have been increased. Season sales have gone over $100,000, the most ever in history."

"The support of the Gus Dorais Foundation is at its highest peak; road game guarantees have been better and add to this gate and student proceeds and we are ready to give Idzik all the support he needs to recruit the players he wants," the spokesman added.

TALK OF FUTURE

Besides the promise of financial support by the alumni, the spokesman also noted that scheduling for the future has taken a turn for the better in view of the planned 100,000 seat-stadium earmarked for the State Fair Grounds to aid Detroit's bid for the 1968 Olympics.

"Scheduling has been difficult because of Titan Stadium seating, parking and other necessary facilities," said the spokesman, "and the proposed Olympic stadium has given us encouragement."

U. of D. is now in the midst of a $10 million dollar "Challenge Building Fund" of which $3.5 million has been pledged.

The alumnus pointed to similar building funds at other Jesuit schools, primarily Marquette which took a sudden collapse when it was announced that football was discontinued.

* * *

"Santa Clara has brought football back on a small scale and could be thinking of bigger things in the near future. Marquette tried to do an about face after its announcement and has now found its decision may have been too hasty," said the spokesman.

Many of people involved in the $10 million challenge fund are Gus Dorais members and alumni among 30,000 in the immediate Detroit area who want the rise in football status at U. of D.

"We are ready to support the building fund and also to go all out for a first class recruiting effort. You might say our five-year plan is just starting," concluded the spokesman.

NCAA Probations Seen

Expect Council Action Today Against Three

Two Schools Restored to Full Privileges of Competition

NEW YORK (AP)—The policy-directing Council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association winds up its annual fall meeting today with probationary action expected.

* * *

At least two and possibly three cases of probationary action were reportedly scheduled by the Council which restored the University of Kansas and East Tennessee State College to full rights and privileges Tuesday night.

Kansas had been on probation for two years following violations of NCAA rules involving excessive entertainment of football star Bert Coan and a gift of an automobile worth some $1,500 to former Jayhawks' basketball All-America Wilt Chamberlain.

CAGE VIOLATIONS

This probationary period was terminated, as was the one-year wrist slap of East Tennessee State for violations of basketball recruiting and tryouts.

The action by the Council left seven schools still on NCAA probation. They are Indiana, given a four-year term in April of 1960 for recruiting irregularities; New Mexico State, penalized for three years last January for football recruiting violations; Tennessee State, handed a two-year term a year ago for football and basketball violations; Colorado, penalized for two years last April for football recruiting; and Utah, Humboldt State (Calif.) and Whitworth (Wash.), which received one-year terms last January.

* * *

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, emphasized in announcing the termination of the probationary periods for Kansas and East Tennessee that the report of the Committee on Infractions had not been completed.

"The Council still is considering a report from the infractions committee," he said. "It is possible further announcements will be made on Wednesday."

In other important action, the Council adopted a revision in the by-law requirements concerning post-season basketball games. In essence, it modifies the rule that had limited post-season games to vacation periods.

* * *

In the future, providing the full NCAA convention approves at its January meeting in Los Angeles, an otherwise qualified post-season basketball game may earn NCAA certification if only one day of classwork is missed for practice. If a game is scheduled for Saturday, a vacation day under NCAA regulations, class work on Friday may be missed for a practice session.

City Bowling Times Under Consideration

Bowling alleys may get a shot in the arm in the form of longer business hours.

A proposed amendment to the city's ordinance regulating opening and closing hours of bowling alleys was introduced at last night's City Commission meeting.

MONDAY HEARING

The amendment is scheduled for a public hearing and second reading at next Monday's meeting.

* * *

It would allow bowling alleys in the city to remain open until 3 a.m. every day and to open at 9 a.m. Sundays.

The present ordinance requires them to close by 1 a.m. every day and not open before noon Sundays.

The present 7 a.m. opening hour, Monday through Saturday, would not be changed.

The present ordinance allows one exception. If a state tournament is being held at a local establishment, the owners can open earlier than noon Sundays.

* * *

Commission action on final approval or rejection of the proposed amendment will follow Monday's public hearing.

A group of Pontiac clergymen indicated they will oppose the measure at the public hearing in a letter forwarded to the Commission.

* * *

The letter came from the Greater Pontiac Evanelical Ministers' Fellowship. The group said it was "especially concerned about Sunday hours" and would like to see the present ordinance unchanged.

Pontiac attorney, Louis E. Fairbrother, representing local bowling alley proprietors, asked for the change at the Oct. 2 Commission meeting.

It has been under study since that time.

* * *

Fairbrother complained that communities surrounding Pontiac have no such limiting regulations on bowling alleys.

* * *

He said that Pontiac establishments couldn't compete for business on an equal footing with competition that could stay open later.

The scouting team simulated or ran Minnesota's offense.

Hawks Win to Gain on Red Wings

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Black Hawks, off to a slow start in the National Hockey League race, suddenly have found winning ways and are challenging the Detroit Red Wings for first place.

* * *

The Hawks stretched their unbeaten streak to four—including three straight victories—by defeating the New York Rangers 5-3 in Chicago in the only game played Tuesday night.

In defeating the Rangers for the third time this season without a setback, the Hawks moved to within one point of the league-leading Red Wings. Detroit has 12 points and Chicago 11.

TWO GOALS

Ab McDonald led the Hawks with a pair of goals and an assist that enabled him to take over the individual league scoring lead with 11 points. The goals were the rangy winger's fourth and fifth of the season and the assist was his sixth.

Goals by Al MacNeil and Ken Wharram gave the Hawks a 2-0 lead at the end of the second period before the teams embarked on a scoring rampage in the final period.

* * *

Ranger penalty-killer Ted Hampson tallied in the opening minute of the third stanza with his team short-handed. Stan Mikita got that goal back for Chicago at 2:19 and McDonald produced his first less than three minutes later to make it 4-1.

Dean Prentice of New York cut the deficit to 4-2 but McDonald again found the range. Earl Ingarfield rounded out the scoring for the Rangers.

A crowd of 10,097 saw Chicago goalie Glenn Hall turn aside 24 shots. Gump Worsley, in the New York nets, had 25 saves.

Ex-Titan Star to Start

Big Dave in Pistons' Home Debut

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons open their home season tonight against the world champion Boston Celtics and the results are predictable.

The Pistons, loser of their first five National Basketball Association starts, should present little challenge to the flashy Celtics, who have won three and lost one.

* * *

But a home crowd could do something for the Detroiters and their hopes of getting in the winning columns were strong.

Dave DeBusschere, star forward for the University of Detroit for the past three seasons, will make his first appearance before a home crowd in a Piston uniform.

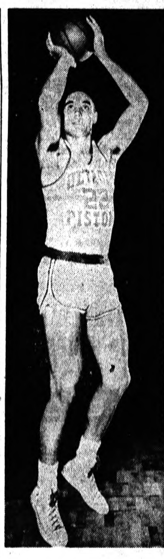
In the first five contests this year, DeBusschere, No. 1 draft pick of the Pistons, has scored 49 points and averaged 9.8 points a game.

Other new faces include Darrell Imhoff, acquired in an off-season trade with the New York Knickerbockers, and Kevin Loughery, No. 2 choice in the draft. Loughery played his college ball at St. John's of Brooklyn.

* * *

Although there are new faces in the Pistons' lineup, veteran Bailey Howell continues to lead the team's scorers. Howell, who missed the season's opener with flu, has been averaging 22.5 points a game.

The Celtics have their same squad back from last season, headed by flashy Bob Cousy and Bill Russell. Their squad should be bolstered by the acquisition of veteran Clyde Lovellette from the St. Louis Hawks and rookie John Havlicek, who earned All America honors with Ohio State last season.



DEBUT — Detroit's greatest prep and college cager, Dave DeBusschere, makes his home debut tonight in the uniform of the Detroit Pistons when they face the Boston Celtics. He has scored 49 points in his first five games and is expected to start tonight.

Red Ejected

Auerbach in Form on St. Louis Court

ST. LOUIS (AP)—This is a new National Basketball Association season but an old story was repeated Tuesday night when Boston Celtic Coach Red Auerbach, threatened and taunted by St. Louis Hawk fans, blew a fuse and charged into the crowd.

* * *

The fiery Auerbach, who often before has warred with the St. Louis partisans, was leaving the floor after being automatically ejected following his second technical foul in the 98-97 St. Louis victory.

'YOU BUM'

Cries of "you lousy bum," proceeded him along the court and unable to stand it any longer, he surged into the crowd. He was followed by most of the Celtics.

He and the Celtics claimed no blows were struck but he wound up with a sprained and cut left thumb, a skinned right knee and dust-stained trousers.

* * *

Auerbach said he fell over a chair.

He told The Associated Press: "It was like walking through a lion's den. Why should you have to take things like this?"

Still fuming, he continued "all I know is when we play with him (Referee Sid Borgia) we don't shoot the fouls. (Bob) Pettit shot as many fouls as our whole team."

He had a point. Pettit made more free throws than the entire Boston team—18 to 15.

* * *

Auerbach said that although "there was only one cop with me and he was three feet behind, he did his best to break it up. The cops as a whole were good. But one usher gave me trouble."

GIVEN THUMB

Borgia ejected Red with 4:50 left in the game when the coach protested too hotly a technical foul on Bill Russell, who with 22 points kept Boston in the game the first half.

In the other NBA game scheduled Tuesday, San Francisco came from behind a 88-85 score in the last quarter to beat New York 125-106 at the University of San Francisco gym.

* * *

Wilt Chamberlain, who holds virtually all the league's scoring records, crossed the 10,000-point milestone in his NBA career. He scored 59 points on 24 field goals and 11 fouls to up his NBA total to 10,033.

Duffy Praises His Fullback

'Splendid Spartan' Lauded

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—They call him "The Golden Greek" and "The Galloping Greek" and "The Splendid Spartan" at Michigan State.

Coach Duffy Daugherty terms him "the perfect all-around football player."

* * *

Fullback and team captain George Saimes already has scored eight touchdowns in five games, equalling his output of last season. He made three each in the last two games, against Notre Dame and Indiana.

* * *

Saimes has 369 yards on 56 carries for a 5.6 yard average a carry, threatening to overhaul the 451 yards that made him the leading Spartan ground-gainer in 1961.

Yet Daugherty says statistics don't tell the entire story.

BLOCKING BACK

"He's our best blocking back and leads the interference for the break-away runners," said Daugherty. "When we get down in close, he's the bread and butter player good for the first down or the touchdown.

"When he breaks into the open, he's likely to go all the way—he runs like a halfback," Daugherty enthused. "On defense, he operates as a rover and can go anyplace he wants. He also calls all the defensive signals when he's in there and is a great inspirational leader."

* * *

Saimes, at 5-foot-10 and 190 pounds, isn't big for a college fullback. The senior from Canton, Ohio, is all solid muscle, however, and is magnificently conditioned.

Two years ago, Saimes wore five-pound lead weights on his ankles and often a weighted vest to get in shape. Last summer he helped run a physical conditioning program at Canton.

WALKS HELP

The son of an immigrant shoemaker from Greece, Saimes takes the game with dedicated seriousness. He goes on a solitary walk to get himself into the right playing mood before each game.

"Every time they put me in there," he explained, "I pretend the next play will be my last. I figure I ought to do the best I can.

Saimes has the same urge to excell at everything he attempts. The dark-haired, ruggedly handsome 21-year-old was the campus "twist" champion and carries a close to "B" average in his social science major.

* * *

Notre Dame Coach Joe Khuarich added his tribute after Saimes broke loose for 153 yards against the Irish.

"He certainly is the finest all-around football player I've seen this season," Khuarich said.

* * *

The Michigan State equipment man provided a clue to how hard Saimes runs in a game. He's now working on his third pair of game shoes after having worn out two pair used only in actual game competition.

Eastern Powers Tied

Delaware and Tufts are tied in the weekly voting for the Lambert Cup, symbol of Eastern small college football supremacy.

Even X-country Is Difficult to Ex-Gridder

ARCATA, Calif. (AP) — Jerry Blueford, a freshman from Oakland, Calif., decided to give up football and joined the cross country squad at Humboldt State College.

* * *

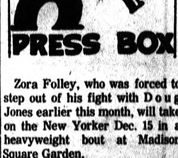
He went out for a run Tuesday—and got lost.

Blueford ended up in Arcata's residential area about 11 blocks from the campus.

The youngster wasn't nonplussed, however. He called a cab.

* * *

Four bits (fifty cents) worth later he was back on campus, reoriented, if somewhat heckled.



Zora Folley, who was forced to step out of his fight with Doug Jones earlier this month, will take on the New Yorker Dec. 15 in a heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden.

* * *

Kenny Lane of Muskegon is No. 1 challenger for the junior welterweight crown and Auburn Copeland of Flint is top contender for junior lightweight honors, according to the new Ring Magazine ratings. Henry Hank of Detroit is seventh among the light heavies and Detroit's Ted Wright is fifth in the welters.

* * *

Michigan's football team would have to lose 10 games a year for the next 31 years — and then lose three more — before the Wolverines' overall win-less record went into the deficit column.

The Little Gridmen

By DICK POINTON

It's 'Bowl' time in little league football.

This weekend marks the culmination of football for area boys who have participated in local little leagues such as the Pee Wee, All-American, West Suburban Boys Club and Waterford Township recreation teams.

Trophies are the standard annual awards in the final contests and several league sponsors 'go all out' to provide their champs with a shining tribute for their successful efforts on the gridiron.

Those participants who do not receive awards still benefit, having acquired a season of football fundamentals and sportsmanship. This provides a good basis in years to come for enjoying action on the grid whether as players or spectators.

Anyone who has seen the youngsters tussle for the pigskin will find themselves highly amused, thrilled and at the same time admiring the progress of the younger set in picking up the precision maneuvers and play.s

★ ★ ★

The kids like it too and many, as early as eight or nine, already have aspirations of becoming 'stars' and big league pros.

PONTIAC PEE WEE

In the Pontiac Pee Wee League the Bobcats, with a 6-0 record are 1962 champs after a title clincher with the Hornets last Saturday, 48-0.

The Packers were second with a 5-1 mark, the Lancers next 2-2-2. With one incomplete game to be played Saturday, the 58ers are 1-3-1. Last but not least come the Hornets 0-5-0.

A trophy will be awarded to the winners Sunday at a victory pot luck dinner.

All-America Little League teams saw action last weekend with the Madison Heights Spartans in a 6-6 tie with the Livonia Blue Jays in the freshman game and another standstill, 0-0, in the junior varsity.

The Spartans lost the varsity tilt, 19-0. Ricky Brubaker went 18-yards for the lone Madison six-pointer.

Highland Park forced the Wolverines, also from Madison Heights, to bow, 19-6 and, 27-6 in the JV and Varsity games.

The frosh battled to a 6-6 deadlock.

A 6-0 defeat, 6-0 win and 0-0 tie marked the Walled Lake Little Beaver efforts on the Troy field against the respective classes.

Roseville shutout the West Suburban Boys Club Little Lakers, 32-0 but lost, 7-0 and tied 6-6 in the Junior and varsity contests.

BOWL GAME ACTION

This weekend the first Candy Bowl game will be held at the Madison Heights field and will feature a Wolverine and Spartan affray.

Irish Showing Loop Interest

Notre Dame Would Favor New League

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Moose Krause, athletic director of Notre Dame, says his school would be interested in a national athletic conference if Army, Navy, and the Air Force among others came in.

But Capt. William Busick, Navy athletic director who shared the same platform with Krause Tuesday, said "we would not be in favor of it."

"We've talked about it in the past," Krause told the Philadelphia Football Writers meeting, indicating that some of the major eastern powers, including Pitt and Syracuse, sat in on the discussions.

"We had Georgia Tech at one of the meetings, too."

PREVIEW GAME

Krause and Busick were in Philadelphia in advance of the Navy-Notre Dame game Saturday at Philadelphia Stadium.

Looking at Notre Dame's 1-4 record, Krause said he considered the four teams the Irish lost to as among the best in the country. They are Purdue, Wisconsin, Michigan State and Northwestern.

"We are underdogs against Navy," said Krause, "but as usual in this game, you can throw the book out the window."

Busick said Navy was not taking Notre Dame lightly. He said Navy "is beginning to s h a p e up as a real good ball club," after an opening game 41-7 loss to Penn State.

Eagles Fire Baker for 'Poor Efforts'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The slumping Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League have fired 272-pound defensive end John Baker, charging him with not giving maximum effort.

★ ★ ★

The Eagles placed Baker on waivers Tuesday and speculation arose that the Pittsburgh Steelers might claim him. If another NFL club does not claim him for the $100 waiver price, he will be a free agent.

"If we are going to lose, we're certainly not going to lose with anybody on the squad who's not giving his best effort," said Nick Skorich, the Eagles' coach.

NO EFFORT

"And we're not going to keep anybody else who is guilty of a lack of effort."

Skorich said his decision to drop Baker was based on his performances "over the past few games."

★ ★ ★

Baker played so poorly in last Sunday's 31-21 loss to Minnesota, said Skorich, that the coach felt the Eagles were playing with 10 men. It was the Eagles' sixth loss against only one victory.

"He (Baker) had many opportunities when he could have hit the quarterback, but he didn't," said Skorich. He referred to Fran Tarkenton who beat the Eagles with his running on rollouts and passing.

FROM RAMS

The Eagles acquired Baker from the Los Angeles Rams last year in a trade for linebacker Bob Pellegrini who later was traded to Washington.

Baker, a graduate of North Carolina College who was a starter three of his four years with the Rams, was expected to plug the hole left by the departure of Leo Sugar after the 1961 season.

"He showed signs of doing the job for us in training camp and in the early games, then he got progressively worse," said Skorich.

★ ★ ★

Baker was not available for comment. When a newsman phoned Baker's hotel and asked for him, his roommate, halfback Tim Brown, said he was en route to Pittsburgh to join Daddy Lipscomb, the Steelers' big tackle.

TIPS FROM CHAMPS by RAY BLUTH

By RAY BLUTH
Bowling All-America

No matter what kind of bowler you are, the chances are that any mistakes you make will happen during the pushaway. This is as true of Don Carter and Harry Smith as it is of any bowler down at the local bowling center.

BIG MISTAKE
"Can't be too deliberate"

The answer to mistakes in the pushaway is care and deliberation. I certainly don't advocate slowing down to the point where you slow up the game, but I don't think you can ever be too deliberate in your bowling.

★ ★ ★

The more care and deliberation you give to each phase of the delivery, the better you will bowl. Just watch Don Carter sometime. He moves quickly to the starting position, but from then on almost seems like a slow motion picture of a bowler in action. Slow and easy does it.

Pat Studstill Leads NFL in Punt Return Yardage

Detroit's Pat Studstill has taken over the punt return lead in the National Football League, according to NFL statistics released today.

Studstill has returned 15 punts for 230 yards, an average of 15.3 yards per return. Runnerup Abe Woodson of San Francisco has a 15.1-yard average on nine punt returns.

Studstill is runnerup to Washington's Bobby Mitchell in kickoff r e t u r n s. Mitchell has returned 7 for 287 yards, an average of 41 yards a return. Studstill has returned 10 for 312 yards, an average of 31.2 yards.

Studstill is the only Lions player to lead an individual category in NFL statistics, although several Detroit players are not too far behind the leaders.

Terry Barr has dropped out of the top 10 in pass receiving. Barr led the league briefly, but has been out with injuries.

FIVE THEFTS

Yale Lary is in a six-way tie for second in pass interceptions with five and is seventh in punting with a 44.9 yard average on 27 kicks.

In rushing, Nick Pietrosante is seventh with 394 yards on 108 carries and Danny Lewis is 12th with 282 yards on 77 carries.

Bobby Watkins is third behind Studstill in kickoff returns with a 30 yard average on eight returns and Wayne Walker is tied for 10th in scoring with 10 points on seven fieldgoals and 19 extra points.

Milt Plum is fifth in passing with a 58.2 percentage on 106 completions in 182 tries. He has passed for 1,374 yards and 10 touchdowns.

The 11th Frame

Youth had its day at the finals of Michigan's men's National All-Star eliminations last weekend. The number two and three men at the close of the 24-round competition were 19-year-old Len Cianciolo of Detroit and Pontiac's Mike Samardzija, a spry 21-years.

The winner George Howard of Detroit, while having a decade on the runners-up, is no old timer either. Howard, who had less than a three-Peterson-point lead at the halfway mark ran away from the pack in the final 12 rounds to lead by 16.70 at the close.

Samardzija lost his second place advantage over Cianciolo late Saturday and spent Sunday attempting to catch him, but fell .13 of a point short. The Pontiac bowler defeated Cianciolo Sunday morning 9.49-9.37.

Monroe Moore went into a slump the final weekend and fell from fifth to the 12 position, only 3.92 points above the cutoff mark for the 16-man squad t h a t will represent Michigan in the National All-Star Championships in January in Kansas City, Mo.

The third Pontiac kegler participating last weekend in Lansing, Paul George, became ill and was replaced the final two days by Fred Bujack. George was in 21st position entering the last 12 rounds and Bujack slipped to 24th at the end, hampered by the 24 points he was penalized as a substitute.

TRAVELING CLASSIC

Three streaks continued to grow last Sunday as the Pontiac Traveling Classic League completed its fourth week of action. Unbeaten 300 Bowl & Lounge posted its lowest score of the season but had enough to take Howes Lanes 7-4. The winners' Pat Sweeney with three points led both teams.

A challenger emerged from the pack, however, when Huron Bowl won its third straight after an opening loss. Huron smashed Wonderland 11-4 behind Arle Sheffler's five points. Art Grisson's 215 game accounted for half of the losers' point total.

W e s t s i d e saw its streak stretched to three — all losses— when it fell to Cooley Lanes' second half comeback, 10-6. Leading 5-2 at the midway point, the league's bottom team couldn't stop the homesters late splurge that saw Les Pennell's four points produce the margin of victory.

Pennell's 232 wind up game Sunday was the day's best effort. Bill Jones of the 300 team still leads the pack with 15 points won on his 218 average. Sheffler and Jos Foster for Huron carry 218 averages also.

The l e a g u e underwent a change last week when Maple Lanes was replaced by Howes. This Sunday's schedule has third place Cooley at 300 Bowl, Airway visiting Wonderland in a fourth place struggle and Westside looking for win number one by hosting Howe's. All are 3 p.m. struggles.

PIN FALL NOTES

Even the pros get beat by handicap (no-average) bowlers. Ask Monroe Moore. There are no names mentioned but what sports editor of the Pontiac Press, who had never bowled a game above 135, took some advice from Moore and then beat him 204-189. This certain sports editor now feels his season is complete even though he may never get above 135 again. Moore could not be reached for comment.

Tigers Yield to Japanese

TOKYO (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers today suffered their f i r s t setback in their 17-game goodwill series in Japan, losing 3-2 to the Mymiuri Giants.

A crowd of 39,500 at Korakuen Stadium saw righthander Minogu Nakamura scatter seven hits as the Tigers were dealt their first defeat in three games.

The Giants, who placed fourth in the Central League this year, took a liking to the slow curves of righthander Phil Regan and scored two runs in the first inning and another run in the third inning to take a 3-0 lead.

The Tigers scored their runs in the sixth inning when Al Kaline reached first on an effort and Dick McAuliffe tripled him home. Fernandez scored McAuliffe with a single.

EYES EXAMINED — Orlando Cepeda of the Giants taking an eye examination in San Francisco yesterday under the supervision of nurse Eileen York. He was being checked for impaired vision in the right eye after failing to pass the eye test for a driver's license.

Cepeda Has 20-20 Vision

Orlando's All Right; Check Willie

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco Giant slugger Orlando Cepeda is all right, teammate Willie Mays is still in a hospital and trade rumors are nearly as thick as medical reports today around Candlestick Park.

★ ★ ★

Here are the developments:

1. First baseman Cepeda learned Tuesday after a 1½-hour eye examination that he does not have a vision-impeding cataract over his right eye as he feared last week.

2. Center fielder Mays, who collapsed in September and spent three days in a hospital, entered Mt. Zion Hospital here for several days of tests that doctors say will comprise a complete physical examination.

3. As soon as Cepeda was ruled free of eye trouble, his name re-entered the winter trade rumor derby. He is said to be San Francisco's chief bait for an established starting pitcher.

20-20 VISION

Dr. George Campion, Giants' opthamologist, examined Cepeda and said his right eye has normal 20-20 vision and his "superb left eye" is 20-15.

The findings apparently rule out eye trouble as a cause of Cepeda's dismal hitting in the final two months of the National League season. Though he finished with a .306 average, Cepeda had been above .350 for the first two months of the season.

★ ★ ★

His home run and runs batted in production also dropped from league highs at 46 homers and 142 RBI in 1961, leading to stories that he might be expendable if the Giants could get another starting pitcher. Cepeda wound up 1962 with 35 homers and 114 RBI.

Club vice president Chub Feeney conceded that the Giants would listen to offers for Cepeda, but was noncommittal beyond that. Two pitchers mentioned frequently are Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia and Bill Monbouquette of Boston.

FLUNKED TEST

Cepeda took the exam after flunking the right eye portion of a driver's license test last week and learning in a preliminary check that he might have a cataract.

Campion said the right eye does have "a congenital opacity of the crystalline lens a millimeter in diameter," but said it does not grow and does not hamper Cepeda's vision.

★ ★ ★

"It is just a tiny dot which doesn't amount to anything at all," said the doctor.

Mays, meanwhile, entered the hospital and said "right now I feel fine—but I can't say about next week."

He was put in a private room with no incoming phone calls and restricted visiting hours so he could get a complete rest.

Unnamed tests will be made on Mays the rest of the week, with findings to be announced Friday or Saturday.

Star Skater of Follies Is Young 'Old Pro'

The smoothest skater of them all!

That is the description given Richard Dwyer, who will star in the Ice Follies of 1962 which opens a 12-day engagement at the Olympia Stadium Wednesday, Nov. 7.

★ ★ ★

Dwyer does a solo number that is a masterpiece of figure-skating virtuosity, and he joins with Dorothyann Nelson in a pair routine that endows the show with fresh beauty and grace.

Although he is only 27 years old, Dwyer is one of the old pros of the Ice Follies. When he was only 14 years old, and a great amateur champion, he was hand-picked by Roy Shipstad as his successor in the show.

He started skating with the Ice Follies in 1943 and, except for two hitches with the Army, he has been one of the revue's headliners ever since. He estimates that he has traveled more than 250,000 miles with the Ice Follies across the U.S. and Canada.

★ ★ ★

Dwyer has starred in more than 4,500 performances of the Ice Follies. He calculates that he skates about a mile and a half in each performance, so he has covered something close to 7,000 miles in the Ice Follies spotlight.

This, of course, does not include the thousands of miles he has sped in almost daily practice sessions.

"I'm on the ice about ten minutes in each show," says Dwyer. "My solo takes three and a half minutes. Then I do a four-minute pair number with Dorothyann Nelson plus a whirl in the Swing Waltz. I have to move quickly all the time I'm on the ice, so I make it a point always to stay in condition."

As an amateur, Dwyer practiced five hours a day, seven days a week. Now he drills about an hour or two each day, in addition to skating in an average of ten shows a week.

★ ★ ★

Ice Follies performances will begin at 8 p.m. on weekdays, at 1 p.m., 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. on Saturdays and at 2:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Sundays. Tickets are priced at $4, $3 and $2 for all performances except Saturday evenings when the price is $4.50, $3.75 and $2.00. Children under 12 will be admitted for half price to the Saturday matinees.

RETURN TO DUTY — Richard Dwyer, who with Dorothy Ann Nelson are considered the best pair of skaters in show business today team up again in the Ice Follies at Detroit's Olympia Stadium, Nov. 7-18th. Dwyer has just returned from the Armed Forces while Miss Nelson recently won the National pairs-title in Boston.

Louisville Plays 'Black Cat' Game

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Anyone with a black cat will be admitted free Saturday when the University of Louisville football team tries for the 13th time to defeat Xavier of Cincinnati.

There also will be a can of cat food for each owner and a "kitty sitting service" operated by the school's veterinary medicine staff.

"All we ask," said public relations director Les Wilson, "is that people pick up their cats when they leave."

★ ★ ★

The idea, Wilson said on Halloween eve, is "to take the X out of our hex—Xavier."

In ages 13-14, Sue Smith was 3rd in individual medley and 2nd in 100 backstroke. Lorraine King was 3rd in backstroke.

A total of 100 swimmers took part. Pontiac Northern will be site of the age group meet sponsored by the Pontiac Swim Club, November 24th.

LSU, Ole Miss Game Brings Back Memories

By The Associated Press

Who numbering himself among Dixie's sports fans could ever forget that misty Hallowee'en night exactly three years ago today when Billy Cannon dashed into football immortality with his twisting 89-yard run that beat Ole Miss and earned him the 1959 Heisman Trophy.

★ ★ ★

The spectre of Cannon and others of recent vintage may be hovering near the field Saturday night when Louisiana State and Mississippi clash.

Cannon, Johnny Robinson, Warren Rabb and Max Fugler, all decked in the old gold and purple of LSU, while Jake Gibbs, Charlie Flowers, Bob Khayat and Bobby Franklin, all proudly wearing the red and blue of Ole Miss.

EPIC GAMES

The Rebels and the Bayou Bengals have staged epics in the same stadium at Baton Rouge where they will do battle Saturday.

There was Cannon's run.

And the 14-0 victory the Tigers earned in 1958 when they were the National Collegiate football champions.

★ ★ ★

Or just a year ago, when LSU emerged a 10-7 victor on the block Monk Guillot tossed at Rebel defender Louis Guy to clear the path for the short scoring jab by Wendell Harris.

The heroes who pranced to the deep-throated roars of 67,500 fans at these struggles have gone on to other fields now. Cannon and Robinson and Rabb, along with Khayat and Franklin are still very much active, though now in professional football.

Gibbs is earning other trophies in professional baseball.

GREAT PLAY

One single play in the LSU-Ole Miss games stands out—Cannon's run and the heartskips that went with it.

Let's recreate the scene:

Ole Miss led 3-0 with the third quarter ending. Tigers' defenses stiffened and Gibbs dropped back to punt.

★ ★ ★

Off his toe came a boomer, one that sailed and dribbled to the LSU 11 where Cannon scooped it up and started down the sideline.

First one, then another, and still another Rebel took a crack at him as he darted perilously close to the sideline. Suddenly, at the Ole Miss 40, he was alone and clear. And then, just as quickly, he was in the end zone for a touchdown.

RED FLAG

But wait! Still another anxiety awaiting those Tigers backers in the stands. For lying at mid-field was the scarlet cloth of an official with the infraction call yet to come.

Then a greater cheer went up when the man in the striped shirt ruled Ole Miss was offside and Cannon's run stood. It placed him alongside other giants of the gridiron.

Conflict Over Lands in Outdoor Recreation

By DON VOGEL

Hunting and fishing versus boating, swimming and camping.

This is the basic conflict going on in Michigan as city and subdivision dwellers continue to flock to the outdoors in ever increasing numbers.

★ ★ ★

In the last 10 years, Michigan residents have become more aware of the outdoor recreational facilities this state has to offer.

Because of the boom in boating and camping that threatens to surpass hunting and fishing, Michigan is fast running out of room to take care of every activity.

Particularly hard-pressed are state areas within an hour or two drive of a large city. Oakland County is a good example because of the heavy flow from Detroit and its populous suburbs.

Any summer weekend will find this county's 30,000 acres of state land and parks and its hundreds of lakes inundated by people.

In an effort to take care of this heavy pressure the parks division of the Conservation Department is attempting to increase its land holdings and improve its recreational facilities.

Toward this end the division is emphasizing swimming and camping facilities. Picnic areas are part of these projects.

SMCCC FILES PROTEST

The Southeastern Michigan Council of Conservation Clubs claims that because of this heavy emphasis on boating and camping those who hunt and fish are being short-changed in recreation areas.

The park's division administers all recreation areas in the state while the Conservation Department's game division has charge of the state game areas, such as the one at Lapeer.

All of the state-owned lands in Oakland County are under the jurisdiction of the park's division.

A vast majority of the state land in this county was purchased with money derived from sources other than hunting and fishing license sales.

Parcels of land purchased with license sales money have been added to some recreation areas in the county and are under administration of the parks division. But this land also is game managed with federal Pittman-Robertson funds.

★ ★ ★

SMCCC officials claim that these game managed parcels of land within the recreation areas are being tagged "high use" areas by the parks division.

Once the "high use" tag goes on a parcel, it is taken out of game management.

The SMCCC, composed of sportsmen's clubs in Oakland, Genesee, Wayne and Macomb Counties, has singled out the Holly recreation area as a vehicle to use in correcting what members say is by-passing of state law by the parks division.

The parks division, the new organization claims, is designating game managed lands in the Holly area "high use" without transferring other parcels "of equal value" from recreational use to game management as required by law.

"Unless something is done about this," said SMCCC chairman Joe Rhoades of Pontiac and the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, "all land in the Holly area will be taken out of game management within five years. And because of this, 10 years from now there will be no reason for people to go hunting and fishing there."

LETTER FROM EDDY

Rhoades said he has received a letter from Conservation Department director Gerald Eddy stating that a meeting of all division heads would be held and the situation discussed.

"Mr. Eddy then said in his letter that either he or his representative and possibly some division chiefs would meet and discuss with us the Holly area," Rhoades said.

District 7 of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs has gone on record as backing the action being taken by the Southeastern Conservation Commission.

"We aren't trying to take land or water away from boaters and campers, we are only trying to save something for future hunters and fishermen.

"Even if we do get parcels transferred into game management for those taken away," he pointed out, "we are going to make sure they are lands of equal value and not some worthless sand hill."

JACKS OR BETTER WINS — Jacks or Better, ridden by Ben O'Meara of Colony Farms, Montville, N.J., clears a jump on the way to victory yesterday in the National Horse Show at New York's Madison Square Garden. O'Meara rode this same horse to victory in this year's Detroit Horse Show at the Bloomfield Open Hunt.

Horsemen Looking to Olympics

NEW YORK (AP) — K'Sar De Spirit. . .Sinjon. . .Night Owl

These are the horses the United States has been banking on in International competition for a long time, but they're getting along in years and the day is coming when they can't take the grind anymore.

So now, looking ahead to the Olympics in 1964, Uncle Sam's riders are breaking in some new horses—mounts they hope to be able to go all the way to the gold medal in Tokyo in 1964.

"The calibre of our so-called young horses has improved considerably," said Bill Steinkraus, the 37-year-old ace of the U.S. team today. "In the past we sometimes had to get down to the second stringer with a lot of what you might call pious hopes.

"Now some of our young horses already have proved they can win. I'm thinking of Shady Lady and Fire One. We are very happy with their progress.

MORE CONSISTENT

"As a matter of fact, we are developing a more consistent quality in our string. Remember, all our horses except Shady Lady and Autrechat have had European experience.

"Then too, you can only have eight horses in the national. The real growth potential of our mounts is in some we can't even nominate for the national.' '

Steinkraus won the Democrat Memorial Challenge Trophy Tuesday night, riding Sinjon, and his teammate Frank Chapot, captured the Mackay Memorial Challenge Trophy on San Lucas—another comer—during the afternoon session when the ancient National Horse Show opened an 8-day run in Madison Square Garden.

So with a dozen of the international events to go, the United States is 2-for-2. Chapot won after a triple-jump off and had to give San Lucas the ride of his life to clear the six barriers in 24 seconds. That beat out European champion David Barker of Britain, up on Mister Softee, who had gone clean earlier in 26.8.

CLEAN JUMPS

Steinkraus hustled Sinjon—the two eight events in a tour of Europe last summer—over the eight jumps clean in 34.4. Doug Cudney of Canada was second on Clandeboy in 35.2.

Jacks Or Better, ridden by owner Ben O'Meara of Montville, N.J., won both the day and night open jumping events for a fat 10 points.

Improvement Plan for Forest Area

CADILLAC (UPI)—Louis A. Pommerening, supervisor of Lower Michigan national forest, has announced a $320,000 improvement program for facilities in Manistee National Forest.

★ ★ ★

Pommerening said the money was made available through an accelerated public works program recently announced in Washington for economically depressed areas.

Pommerening said the improvement program would include work in Wexford, Manistee, Lake, Crawford and Roscommon counties. He said about 500 persons would be employed and the work would include rehabilitation of fire towers, improved roads, removal of timber waste and improvement of recreational facilities.

He said $10,000 of the amount allocated would go to the Lakes State Experimental Station run by the government here.

Eye License for Fishing Great Lakes

New fishing license requirements and removal of Michigan's costly bounty system figure high on the list of legislative proposals for 1963 which will come before the Conservation Commission when it meets Thursday and Friday in East Lansing.

★ ★ ★

Conservation Department officials are proposing that legislation be sought next year to require a standard $2 resident license of Great Lakes sport fishermen and of all female anglers 17 years and older.

All women who have passed their 17th birthday also would need to have the special $2 stamp to fish trout. A three-day license is recommended for out-of-state fishermen at a cost of $2.

Presently, wives of resident fishermen may fish on their husbands' licenses and trout stamps.

No recommendation has been made by the department to seek fee increases for the trout stamp or existing licenses.

BOUNTY MOVE

The commission will be asked to renew its support of legislation to abolish the state's bounty system which cost some $242,000 in hunting and fishing license money last year.

Also on tap for commission action is a legislative proposal aimed at having half of the department's administrative costs financed by general fund money. The game and fish protection fund (hunting and fishing license fees) currently pays all of these costs.

This change, coupled with the fishing license and bounty proposals, would make an estimated $1,200,000 in additional monies available for conservation projects which have been hard pressed under the department's prolonged cash crisis.

Also included in the department's recommended legislative program for 1963 are proposals to: 1) reduce problems clouding the use and administration of Great Lake submerged lands; 2) provide clear-cut regulations covering shoreline fills, dredging, and commercial developments in connecting waters of the Great Lakes and inland lakes and streams; 3) reduce deer poaching at night and road hunting; and 4) give muskellunge and northern pike greater protection in inland waters.

First Shot Wounded His Mother

Teaches Gun Safety Now

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — He shot his mother the first time he fired a shotgun! Now he's rated the country's No. 1 clay target teacher and firearm safety exponent.

★ ★ ★

That's D. Lee Braun, a tall, lean Texan who for the last 27 years has been one of the country's standout scattergun marksmen. He has more national titles — at skeet and trapshooting — than any other man.

Braun is a professional. In trapshooting a professional is anyone employed by an arms or ammunition company, whether he can shoot or not. If he loses his job, he becomes an amateur immediately. A professional wins titles and trophies, but no cash. As an amateur he can collect money — just the opposite of most sports.

D. LEE BRAUN

For 27 years big Lee has been with a firearms company in the southwest and along the Pacific coast. Although he makes his living with shooters he says:

"You can't make a living shooting. It's a sport that requires a little money."

When he was nine years old in his birthplace of Milano, Tex., his parents decreed he couldn't own a gun. But his grandfather kept a shotgun in the barn, and one evening young Lee sneaked it into the house.

SON WOUNDED

Seated on the edge of his bed he snapped one hammer of the double barrel. Nothing happened. He tried the other, and an explosion rocked the house. The charge of shot tore through the bedroom door, the high head of a new bed in an adjoining room, broke a window and — almost spent — pattered into the back of an old settee on the porch.

Seated on the settee were Lee's mother and dad, and a couple of the pellets struck "Mom" in the back.

"Didn't hurt her much — not half as much as Dad hurt me," Lee recalls. "But right there I learned to respect firearms. Since then I've spent a lifetime showing people — mostly youngsters — how to handle guns. By the way, that door with the hole in it is still there."

In 1932, while a student at Southern Methodist, he met and married Marian Speight whose birthdate reads 7-11-11, she having been born July 11, 1911. Lee was born Jan. 11, 1911.

★ ★ ★

As a gun-pointer Braun has held record runs of 308 at skeet with the 28-gauge, 151 with the .410, and back in 1941 he cracked 1021 of 1025 with the 12-gauge for the record average of 99.6. In 1947 he broke 517 straight, and 546 of 550. Last year he duplicated both 1947 feats.

"Just shows I didn't improve much in 14 years," said the laconic Texan now stationed at San Mateo, Calif.

The 190-pound 6-2 Braun has won the North American 16-yard clay target title four times — and everything else in trapshooting except the Grand American handicap.

He's a soothing guy to have as a coach when you're learning the gun-handling art.

As Lee tells it, trapshooting is easy. He advises:

"Get a gun that fits, preferably one of the smaller gauges without much recoil, and work up to the 12-gauge. Point the gun leisurely, as you would your forefinger, at the flying target. No muscle is involved, and no sharp movements.

"Just lay the gun in your left hand — don't grip it — rest your cheek against the stock as you look straight down the barrel. Move the body, not the gun, as you follow the target."

Weather, Corn Helps

Ringnecks Survive

Rain, Sunday hunting laws and corn still standing have combined to leave plenty of pheasants for hunters.

★ ★ ★

The weekend weather was far from perfect for hunting. Nimrods going into the Thumb Saturday found ringnecks in good numbers, but many also discovered that these wily birds were making like a road runners.

Rain falling every other day has kept farmers from moving corn pickers into fields in many areas. A ringneck is a master at running dogs dizzy in the corn and driving hunters to distraction.

Unless the wet weather goes away and is replaced by sunshine and wind for a few days, the heavy equipment will have to remain in the farmyards because of the mud.

If this is the case, more than the usual number of ringnecks will still be crowing when the season ends Nov. 10.

CONTEST ENDS

The Press Pheasant Contest ends at noon Nov. 12. The extra day and a half will give hunters who bag a potential new leader a chance to enter the bird. The final day is a Satruday and no entries are accepted on Sunday.

The duck season will be the first to close at sunset next Monday. Archery hunting for deer will end an hour later. Goose hunting continues into December.

Hunting pressure on ducks has been light because of the curtailment in bag limits and initial reports of lower numbers.

Records show that the 43½-inch ringneck leading the contest's length division is a record for The Press event. The pheasant was downed last week by Louis Giordano of Pontiac while hunting off Middlebelt Road in West Bloomfield Township.

Terry Brown of Clarkston still leads the weight class with a 4-pound 1 ounce ringneck.

★ ★ ★

A $50 savings bond is awarded for the weight winner and a $25 bond for the longest pheasant.

Bluebills, the only species to show any sizeable gain over last year, are pouring into the state by the thousands. These are the bonus ducks. A hunter can take two extra over his daily limit of two.

A few waterfowl gunners were shooting the marshes along Saginaw Bay at Quanicasse and Sebewaing Sunday. Conditions were ideal and plenty of ducks were in the air.

A strong northeast wind whipped up whitecaps forcing ducks to break out of rafts on open water and find more secluded areas. String after string of bluebills, redheads and cans could be seen heading inland. Redheads and Canvassbacks are protected.

Some blacks and mallards kept trying to get into the marshes and decoyed readily. There was plenty of shooting.

COLD RAIN

A cold rain, whipped by the wind, added to the discomfort of the hunters. But the flow of ducks made the nimrods forget about the elements.

The squirrel season in Michigan closes Nov. 10. Woodcock can fly safely in the state after Nov. 9. The grouse season in the upper two-thirds of the state ends the same day as pheasants, but remains open in Southern Michigan nine more days.

State Makes Outdoor Plans

Special Grant Aids Recreation Study

A large group of plans for development of conservation and recreation programs in Michigan will be drawn together in the next two years to see where the state is headed in these areas.

Under a $750,000 federal grant for a statewide planning program, Gov. John B. Swainson said $200,000 would be alloted for recreation-conservation research.

The plans would result in a 20-year program of Michigan's needs in conservation and recreation.

Unlike other programs developed in the past, however, the plan authorized under the federal grant would place the conservation - recreation program in prospective with other

Swainson indicated one tack the planning could take after a spokesman for the Urban Renewal Administration in Washington said surveys show more people visit a place like Coney Island in New York on a hot summer weekend than tour some of the scenic spots in western national parks during an entire year.

State Oil Leases Will Be Auctioned

State oil and gas rights on some 33,000 acres in the Lower Peninsula will be offered for leasing Nov. 13 at a public auction to be held in Lansing by the Conservation Department.

The sale will begin at 10 a.m. in the House of Representatives, State Capitol.

As in recent oil and gas sales, most of the lands are in the northern Lower Peninsula. Approximately 26,440 acres are in the southwest part of this region which comprises Lake, Mason, Mecosta, Missaukee, Oceana, Osceola, and Wexford counties.

Archery Open House

The Oakland County Archers will hold an open house Nov. 20, 23 and 25 at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

Free practice and instruction will be available in the range house. Registrations for archery leagues also will be accepted.

Veteran Game Man Retires

Horses, Snowshoes Aided Warden

By United Press International

One of the few men who served as a "mounted" game warden in Michigan will leave the employment of the Conservation Department tomorrow.

William J. Cronk, currently game warden at Hillman, joined the Conservation Department as a game warden in 1921 to give him the present distinction of having the longest service in that capacity.

Crokn, observed his 70th birthday last week.

In the last 41 years, Cronk has been on patrol in nearly every county in the state. He started his patrol on horseback, using a horse team and sleigh to complete his winter rounds. Snowshoes also were common equipment for Cronk and other game wardens back in the 1920's when they sought conservation law violators.

Cronk recalls his first change from the animal-assisted patrols came when he used a Model T Ford, complete with a tent and camping gear, on his rounds of Alcona, Oscoda, Montmorency, Alpena and Presque Isle Counties.

Through the years, of course, the mode of travel shifted. Another facet of game warden activity also changed. Cronk recalls in his early days he filled out a "penny postcard" daily reporting his activities to the department.

Today, daily activities are still reported but it costs more to get the information to Lansing and the form of the reports has changed considerably. The reports are now sent to Lansing on a bi-weekly basis.

MORE IN OFFICE

Personnel of the Conservation Department also shows a marked difference from 1921, Cronk noted. At that time, he recalled there were just three staff members in Lansing. Today there are nearly 400 people employed by the department in the capitol city.

Everett E. Tucker, assistant chief of the field administration division of the department, notes that one thing hasn't changed much since Cronk joined the game warden ranks.

Cronk recalled he started his rounds, during the early days, at 2 or 3 a.m. and wound up late in the evening, about 10 p.m.

"There are still no set hours for game wardens," Tucker said. "They are assigned particular duties and work the hours to carry out those responsibilities, Of course they are required to put in a minimum of 40 hours per week."

★ ★ ★

In addition to observing the activities of outdoorsmen, Cronk is an avid deer and rabbit hunter He boasts that he has taken a deer every year since 1916—the largest in 1918 when he killed a 240-pound, 10-point buck.

Australian professional Kel Nagle was the firm favorite for the 72-hole championship that ends Saturday.

Winter Sports at PCH

Basketball, swimming and wrestling practice gets under way Thursday at Pontiac Central.

Athletic director Ed Graybiel said no student will be allowed to participate in the practices unless he has turned in a physical examination card.

State Traffic Kills 1,297

EAST LANSING (UPI) — State police provisional reports today showed 1,297 persons died in traffic accidents this year through yesterday as compared with 1,271 highway deaths in the same period of 1961.

Rally's Gains Reduced

Mart Clings to Upside Edge

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market clung to a slim upside edge in moderate trading early this afternoon as gains of an initial rally were reduced.

Steels and motors were the pacemakers in early trading as key stocks throughout the list posted gains of fractions to a point or so. Many of these gains were pared as trading slowed.

The reduction in U.S. Steel's dividend was well discounted in Wall Street and "Big Steel" began the day with a 1-point rise at 40¾ on an opening block of 10,000 shares. The rise was halved in later dealings.

Some analysts felt the steel stocks had about run out of bad news and they looked for at least some improvement in the industry. Board Chairman Roger M. Blough of U.S. Steel had forecast slightly better business in this quarter.

HELD GAINS

Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin held fractional gains but Bethlehem (ex dividend) erased a fractional advance and showed a small net decline.

Big Three motors also were higher at the start as they continued to ride on glowing industry news and forecasts but General Motors canceled its gain and eased. Ford held a fractional gain. Chrysler was barely higher. American Motors eased and Studebaker was about unchanged.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Slight Change in Bond Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The bond markets were narrowly mixed at the opening today.

Over the counter dealers in U.S. government securities said most intermediate and long maturity issues were unchanged from yesterday's close. The only exceptions were a few plus 1/32s.

Meanwhile, corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange showed no definite trend. Utilities tended to shade higher and industrials were the most active section.

Among the few price moves of a point or more outside the convertibles were Lehigh Valley Railroad 5s series F up 1 at 38, Consolidated Edison 2⅝s up 3½ at 83½ and the 3¼s off 1⅝ at 87 and AT&T 3¼s up 1¼ at 86½.

'Made Mistake' in Testimony

Beveridge Admits to Contacts Over Hoffa

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A former trucking company official testified in James Hoffa's $1-million conspiracy trial today he was mistaken in some of his testimony to the Senate Rackets Committee about the case.

Bertram Beveridge, former vice president of Commercial Carriers Corporation of Detroit, admitted he told the McClellan committee that the late Teamsters Vice President Owen Brennan never contacted him about setting up Test Fleet, Inc., in Tennessee.

"I was mistaken then," Beveridge said.

Beveridge was questioned about contradictions in his testimony before the McClellan committee and his testimony yesterday in the labor leader's trial here.

★ ★ ★

He said yesterday that he helped set up Test Fleet, which the government contends was a dummy corporation established to pay off Hoffa, at the request of Brennan following a strike at Commercial's automobile hauling terminal in Flint, Mich.

★ ★ ★

The government contends that Hoffa and Brennan got $1,008,057 from Commercial Carriers to ward off labor troubles. The payments allegedly were made through lease of trucks from Test Fleet to Commercial.

Grain Prices Firm in Active Trading

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices resumed a generally firm trend today in fairly active early dealings on the Board of Trade.

★ ★ ★

Rye and soybeans moved up a cent or more in spots during the first several minutes and other grains major fractions at best. Dealers said the support included a good deal of commercial buying.

A fairly good volume of export business was understood to have been done overnight and more was expected.

One advice said West Germany was expected to call for offers on 10 million bushels or more of wheat within the next few days.

Indications were that the purchase would be for stockpiling against an emergency.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "I'm a conservative man who likes to keep some of his money in corporate bonds. Could I put a few thousand dollars into a good public utility bond at any kind of a reasonable yield?" R. L.

(A) I'm rather a conservative myself when it comes to investments, and I like to work in bonds. I do think, however, that at present levels they're just too rich for the average individual investor.

The major market for corporate bonds is the big institutional buyer — for pension funds or for life insurance companies which may be largely restricted to this type of investment.

Let me tell you one or two issues that are available and you can then make up your own mind. There are American Telephone debenture 4⅝'s due 1994—noncallable before 1967 — selling to yield 4.32 per cent. Or you can buy Commonwealth Edison 4⅝'s due 1992 with call protection until 1967 — at a 4.25 per cent yield basis.

(Q) "Would you please comment on the use of stop-loss orders?" J. T.

(A) Gladly. The "stop-loss order" or "stop order," as it is known in brokerage circles, is a device which helps you to protect your profits.

Suppose you bought a stock at 50 and it has moved up to 65. After such an advance, you are a bit concerned so you give your broker a stop order at 60. This means he is to sell the stock if it drops to that level. There is no guarantee, however, that your broker will be able to get an execution at that figure.

If your stock declines to 60, the stop order becomes an order to sell at the market. The danger is that many other investors may have entered stop orders at about the same figure as yours.

If the price declines to 60 and a flood of stop orders is touched off, you might well get a considerably lower price than you bargained for.

Industry Has Trouble Making Money

Steel Fortunes Down in the Dumps

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP)—The $16-billion steel industry, long a key prop to the nation's economy, has fallen on evil days.

Its money-making ability has gone to pot lately. There is promise of a pickup in the months ahead, but not a great deal.

U.S. Steel Corp., industry goliath, showed how bad things have gotten with a report that July-September profits hit a 16-year low for a nonstrike period, and by cutting its dividend for the first time since the 1930s.

News Analysis

What does it mean to people generally, those who don't own stock? How did the slump develop in a time of relative prosperity?

First, steel's troubles are a sympton that all is not well with the economy generally.

As Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel board chairman, put it: "one factor that is holding back demand as much as anything is lack of industrial growth."

For reasons that go far beyond steel's problems, businessmen are not putting up new factories and buying new production machinery at a rate fast enough to provide a healthy expansion of the economy.

This reflects adversely on employment, slowing the process of putting jobless men back to work and holding back a rise in consumer spending power that would contribute to nearly everybody's prosperity.

President Kennedy, among others, has recognized the problem, and tried to do something about it by depreciation and tax reforms.

MARKETS BATTERED

Secondly, steel's markets have taken a battering—from overseas steel producers, and from rival materials at home like aluminum, plastics, glass and concrete.

These influences started developing years ago. They help explain why, despite a 60 per cent buildup in capacity to 160 million tons since World War II, steel's production has held on a plateau of roughly 100 million tons a year for the last five years.

To complicate matters this year big steel users stock-piled heavily in the early months, hedging against a strike that never came, and have been living partly off inventories ever since.

Inability to raise prices, dramatized by last spring's historic conflict with President Kennedy over an attempt to do so, and steadily rising employment and other costs intensified the squeeze on steel company profits.

Still another factor is a technological upheaval in steelmaking methods. Because much domestic plant was old, foreign steel firms, rebuilt since the war, have gained competitive advantage.

To lick this problem, U.S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp., second-ranking producer, between them have committed $400 million this year alone on new and improved facilities.

U.S. Steel became the fifth major steel company to cut its dividend Tuesday, paring its quarterly payout to 50 cents a share from 75 cents. The old rate had been in effect since late 1956.

At $26.8 million, July-September earnings fell to the lowest level since the April-June quarter of 1946 when $13.9 million was cleared. Profits in the 1961 third quarter were $51.8 million.

Of the 10 largest steel firms, two went into the red — Kaiser Steel Corp. and Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp.

Bethlehem's earnings dropped nearly 60 per cent, Republic Steel Corp.'s fell 45 per cent, National Steel Corp.'s about 35 per cent and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.'s almost 80 per cent.

Analyze Course and Class

HOW You Study What Counts, Not Time

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education, University of Southern California

"Why do you get poor grades?" I asked the student.

"I don't know," he shrugged. "I certainly spend enough time studying. Maybe I just don't have what it takes."

DR. NASON

The student, like many others, was wrong. It's HOW you study, not how long, that counts.

My suggestion to him — and to others who come to me for advice on similar problems — is this:

ANALYZE CLASS

Analyze your course and your class as you would a job. Ask yourself:

What am I required to do in a class period?

What am I required to hear and understand?

What am I required to write?

★ ★ ★

When you've answered the questions fully, practice doing the things you will be required to do.

Henry, a high school student, came to me for help. He was spending a lot of time studying French but he was failing nevertheless. He was discouraged.

I asked him to tell me precisely what went on in his French class. This proved to a key question.

"I hate that French class," he said bitterly. "The teacher makes us go to the board, one at a time, and write sentences dictated by the class."

"What's wrong with that?"

"The class says the French words so fast that I can't seem to do what the teacher expects."

The answer to Henry's dilemma was apparent.

He was being asked to hear French at conversaion speed. Silent home study had been no preparation for this. What he needed was practice in hearing words.

★

Also his hands were receiving no training in writing French. Since he had not prepared himself for two basic classroom functions it was not surprising that he had little success.

CHANGE PATTERN

We devised a new study pattern for Henry.

He read each of the sentences involved in the day's lesson eight or 10 times.

★ ★ ★

The first two times, he read each sentence while picturing the things described in his mind. Next he read the sentences aloud, bring his mind's pictures to his ears.

Then he read the sentences faster and faster until he reached conversational speed. He was training his ears to hear the words and his mind to see the pictures as it was stimulated by the words.

★

Next, Henry wrote the sentences several times, training his hands to write the words clearly and easily.

The next time he was called to the blackboard in class, he wrote three dictated sentences without error. The surprised teacher complimented him.

From this point on, his status in the class changed completely. And his grades moved up from failure to very satisfactory.

Rockets' Red Glare Greets His Question

BALTIMORE (AP) — It happened at Ft. McHenry, where Francis Scott Key wrote "The Star-Spangled Banner."

A sight-seeing bus from Lancaster, Pa., pulled up. As the passengers munched sandwiches, the driver asked a bystander:

★ ★ ★

"Is there anything worht seeing in there?"

The bystander was Gilbert A. Crandall, chief of Maryland's tourist agency. He filled in the driver — at some length.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

An overtrick is worth little in rubber bridge, but in team competition it nets one International Match Point and is well worth trying for.

Arthur Robinson of Philadelphia, 26, will be the youngest player in the Phoenix trials, but there is no one going to play the dummies better.

JACOBY

Bobby Jordan, his partner, almost 10 years older, has played with Arthur for several years, and the team is tough when the chips are down.

Bobby's three diamonds was not a cue bid. It asked Arthur to bid a four card major if he could. Arthur could and did.

He won the diamond opening, led the suit back and ruffled with dummy's nine. East overruffed with the jack and returned the jack of clubs. Arthur won with his ace and led a spade to dummy's queen.

East played the ace, led another club and Arthur won with the queen. He ruffed a diamond high in dummy and East discarded a spade. It would have made things harder if East had underruffed, but Arthur still would have been able to make the overtrick.

Arthur played three rounds of trumps, discarding a club from dummy, led a spade to the king, "Dummy is good."

Anderson Tells Facts on Jobs

Claims Dem Opponent Omitted Whole Story

State Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, today accused his opponent of "failing to give all the facts" concerning Anderson's job with the Oakland County Road Commission.

Anderson said John S. Coleman, his Democratic opponent in his bid for re-election Nov. 6, knew all the facts but only put forth some of them in his criticism of Anderson's job as a right-of-way buyer.

The job requires him to work many nights, he said, because meetings with both husband and wife for right-of-way negotiations concerning their property often can be arranged only at night.

He also works on weekends even while the State Legislature is in session, Anderson said.

He said he was on the job full-time for the road commission seven or eight months out of the year. Coleman charged he was paid $6,900 annually "for four or five months work or less."

Anderson said he has never made any attempt to conceal the fact of his employment with the road commission.

To See 'Both Sides' in Films at MSUO

The controversial film, "Operation Abolition," and a contradicting film, "Operation Correction," will be shown Monday at Michigan State University Oakland.

Campus sponsor of the films is the MSUO Student Activites Council.

The films will be shown to students, faculty and the public without charge at 7:30 p.m. in 190 Science Hall.

"Operation Abolition" was produced by the House Un-American Activites Committee and once was subject of an executive order of Gov. John B. Swainson who forbade Michigan State Police to show it.

"Operation Correction" was produced by the American Civil Liberties Union as a reply to the House committee's film.

On Probation in Chase Case

A 22-year-old Holly man was put on a year's probation yesterday by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams for damaging a sheriff's department patrol car and a private auto in a June 18 police chase.

Lawrence E. Smith of 18174 Buckhorn Lake Road, pleaded guilty Oct. 12 to a charge of malicious destruction of property.

Judge Adams also ordered Smith to make restitution totaling $196.

Sheriff's deputies said Smith damaged the cars, evaded three road blocks and ignored police bullets during a chase through Waterford and White Lake townships.

Royal Oak Dem Officer to Head Dollar Drive

George E. Lennox, chairman of the Royal Oak Democratic Club, has been appointed Oakland County chairman for the 1962 Dollars for Democrats campaign.

Lennox will direct activities of county volunteers in a statewide drive to raise funds for national, state and county Democratic activities.

Will Probe Feeling on Proposed Library

Waterford Township Board of Education members will attempt to establish the school system's position on a proposed township public library at a special meeting tomorrow night.

A statement from the school district is sought by Township Clerk James Seeterlin, chairman of a Township Board committee studying aspects of a proposed library.

With no public library in the community, penal fines have been given to the school system in the past. There is still some question of how this revenue of about $5,000 annually would be distributed if a public library existed.

* * *

In other business the board will consider an expenditure for the refinishing of furniture at Waterford Township High School.

Drain Project Gets Fund OK

County to Issue Bonds on Northwestern Plan

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission has approved the issuance of $850,000 in bonds by the Oakland County Drain Commission for the Northwestern drain, it was announced today in Lansing.

* * *

The drain, already under construction, will serve Northland Center and about 100 homes in the Southfield area when completed around Jan. 1.

It also will enable further development in the center, Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry noted.

Money was advanced by Northland investors to begin the project before completion of the Northwestern Freeway, Barry said. Otherwise the drain cost would increase considerably.

Once sold, the bonds will be retired by assessments on users.

The Northwestern drain will connect into the Eight Mile Road drain which flows into the Rouge River.

Drayton Plains Man Gets Long Sentence

Clinton M. Dodge, 43, Drayton Plains, received a long sentence yesterday from a Genesee County Circuit Court judge and with it a rebuke for not using his high intelligence to better advantage.

Dodge, 2195 Fortress St., was sentenced to 27½ to 50 years in prison for the May 2 holdup of Hotel Durant in Flint that netted $350.

Judge Donn D. Parker told Dodge he had a higher IQ than any of the county's four Circuit Court judges but nevertheless was a serious threat to a civilized community.

* * *

Dodge, on parole from Texas for armed robbery, attacked a Genesee County Jail turnkey Saturday in an attempted escape and then made a vain suicide attempt that night.

Lottery Raid Nets 3 Children; Police Do Double Duty

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Two members of the city vice squad started out on a lottery raid and ended up baby sitting.

* * *

"Mama, mama — she just went out the door," one of the children yelled.

"I showed them my badge and told them I was a police officer and their friend," said Cueto.

* * *

"I fixed them peanut butter sandwiches. I got one of them a glass of water. One was assisted to the potty chair. I told them to go ahead and eat their sandwiches and their mommy and daddy would be back soon, but they didn't say one word."

* * *

The father came home and the children swarmed all over him, Cueto said. The mother, a 22-year-old woman identified as Thelma Patterson, surrendered and was charged with conducting a lottery.

New Soo Lock to Run Longer

DETROIT (AP) — The new Great Lakes ship lock at Sault Ste. Marie to replace the old Poe Lock will be 1,200 feet long, the Army Corps of Engineers announced yesterday in expanding construction plans.

Prior plans had been for a lock of 1,000 feet.

As a result, speculation was heard that future lakes ore carriers might be built to a length of 1,000 feet. The very largest on the lakes now are a little more than 700 feet long.

The Corps of Engineers said the new lock will be 110 feet in width. The previous figure was 100 feet.

Construction of the new lock, first authorized by Congress in 1946, has been held up because carriers and shipbuilders have been planning to build vessels 900 feet in length.

Construction is expected to resume next year after drawing of new plans. Completion is expected about March of 1967. Total cost will be $37 million, or $4 million more than the previous authorization.

Col. H. C. Pfeil, Detroit district engineer, made the announcement of the new plans. The Detroit office has jurisdiction over the Soo locks.

Warns Castro May Be Rough

Aide Says He Could Upset Nikita's Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba's Fidel Castro could upset the agreement reached between President Kennedy and Russia's Premier Nikita Khrushchev last Sunday, assistant secretary of state said day.

Referring to Castro's five demands including U.S. withdrawal from the Guantanamo Naval Base, Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary for inter-American affairs, said "We do not know how firmly he may insist on them."

Martin pointed out that Castro has "preponderant military power in Cuba, he has certain opportunities to make it very difficult to carry out the agreement if he should choose to do so."

Martin, interviewed on "Press Conference U.S.A.," a radio program of the Voice of America, added however that if Castro attempts to upset the settlement he may risk loss of Soviet economic support.

But, he added, "there is no reason to believe that Mr. Khrushchev would find it easy to have a Communist state collapse economically and become a sign of the economic difficulties of communism, or that he would like to give up Cuba as a place from which to operate subversively in the rest of Latin America."

A GUARANTEE

Discussing Kennedy's commitment not to invade Cuba if the Soviets keep their promise and dismantle their missile bases on the island, Martin said this was a "very specific and definite guarantee" and not a guarantee of the status quo.

The question of invasion arose because of the presence of Soviet-installed missiles, Martin said, and "If those missiles are removed then the necessity for an invasion is removed . . . I think that beyond that one cannot go — as the President did not go."

Motorist Keeps Gas Supply for Needy Comrades

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—John E. Lindsay and his girl friend were returning from a late dance when their car ran out of gas.

The streets were deserted and all of the service stations appeared to be closed.

Finally an auto appeared, stopped and out jumped an elderly man. He discovered Lindsay's problem, returned to his own car and brought back a two-gallon can.

* * *

The man poured the gasoline into the stalled auto, but refused to accept any money or give his name. He merely said:

"I carry gasoline all the time for stranded motorists. I wish others would do this and maybe be could spread some human brotherhood."

2 Put on Probation for Area Break-In

Two Highland Township men were put on three years' probation yesterday by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams for breaking and entering a Waterford Township home March 14.

John Collins of 1609 Lombardy St. also was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail.

Collins and Robert Ferdon, of the same address, pleaded guilty Oct. 16 to breaking into a home at 4405 Motorway St.

Talk Could Stretch Out Council

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — At this rate, the Ecumenical Council could last for 20 years.

The reason: talk — and every word of it in Latin.

When the council began, Pope John XXIII told the delegates they could each speak for a maximum 10 minutes on every subject brought up.

There are some 2,500 prelates attending the conference. There are 70 major topics. That alone could mean 1.4 million minutes of speech-making in the language of Caesar — the council's official tongue.

NUMBER OF SUBJECTS

But within each major topic are a number of subjects good for millions more minutes of debate.

"Bishops," said one Vatican observer, "are men with opinions and, as bishops, they are accustomed to having those opinions listened to."

If the delegates talk until 1982, they could out-do the 18-year Council of Trent, which lasted from 1545 to 1563.

That council outlived two popes, but historians do not blame oratory for its length the delegates were forced to spend time making up their own rules of procedure and agenda as they went along.

The current council is carefully mapped out.

Administrator Named as VP

Harry H. Whitlow, administrator of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, has been elected vice president of the American College of Osteopathic Hospital Administrators.

* * *

The election took place at the group's national convention in Miami Beach, Fla., and was announced today.

It is the first time Whitlow has held an office in the organization. He was granted a fellowship in the college last year.

* * *

Whitlow, also administrator of Flint Osteopathic Hospital, was appointed a trustee of the Michigan Osteopathic Hospital Association at its statewide meeting in Lansing two weeks ago.

Fined for Keeping Place for Gambling

One of four men arrested in a January gambling raid on a Waterford Township cabin was fined $350 yesterday by Circuit Court Judge H. Russel Holland and ordered to pay the fine by Nov. 5 or spend six months in the county jail.

* * *

Andrew F. Anthony, 48, who had lived at the cabin at 3164 W. Huron St., was convicted Oct. 12 of keeping and occupying a building for gambling.

Three others arrested are awaiting trial on charges of frequenting a gambling establishment.

Sticker Switcher Stuck for Fine of $28

FOLKESTONE, England (UPI) — Alfred Newton was fined $28 yesterday for fraudulently displaying his road tax sticker.

Newton told the judge he switched the sticker from his motor scooter to his Rolls Royce because he could not afford the tax on the limousine.

Chiang, 75 Today, Very Alert and Busy

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek is celebrating his 75th birthday today in good health and still voicing confidence his Chinese Nationalists will recover mainland China in his lifetime.

This birthday is his 15th in Formosa since he quit the mainland Dec. 10, 1949.

ALERT AS EVER

Chiang seems as alert as ever, his eyes still as penetrating, his power of concentration unweakened.

He is strict on state business, but a genial, readily smiling host on social occasions.

* * *

He unbends with only a few people: his elder son, Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo; his secretary-general, onetime Premier Chang Chun, who has been associated with the generalissimo since they were military cadets in Japan, and vice President-Premier Chen Cheng, a fellow native of the mainland province of Chekiang, who has served under him since 1924.

* * *

Since his last birthday Chiang has varied some of the patterns of his daily life.

* * *

He works mostly at his suburban home instead of at presidential headquarters in downtown Taipei.

* * *

He attends fewer routine military, political and economic conferences. He skips most meetings of the powerful standing committee of the Kuomintang, his ruling party.

NO IDLER

The change in his pattern of work does not mean Chiang is idling his time away, for his routine would tax many a younger man. He is delegating more work to Chen Cheng, his political heir-apparent, and other ministers, while concentrating on matters of top importance.

Chiang also wants to conserve his health. He regards this as a duty necessary for realizing his government's supreme goal — recovery of the mainland. Aides say Chiang has had no recurrence of the bladder trouble for which he underwent an operation at the end of April.

He gets up at 6, exercises, is shaved by a barber, prays and meditates (he is a Methodist). He also works on his diary—a task he never neglects.

* * *

While he breakfasts an aide reads newspaper items likely to interest him.

After breakfast, his confidential secretary brings state documents for consideration. Around 10 a.m., he starts to receive important visitors.

* * *

Chiang works until about 1 p.m. then has lunch, usually with Mme. Chiang. He naps for an hour or so, returns to work, and often has guests at tea.

DINNER AT 7

At dusk he usually walks in the garden or takes a drive. He and Mme. Chiang have dinner at 7 or 7:30 p.m., sometimes with guests.

Chiang likes to go to bed around 10 p.m.

Before retiring he does some exercise, drinks a glass of milk, prays and meditates. He is a sound sleeper.

Chiang does not smoke or drink, but he offers cigarettes to guests and takes a symbolic sip of wine in exchanging toasts.

He likes his meat and poultry well cooked and always has dessert—ice cream, a custard or fruit. He drinks water in preference to tea.

Chiang does not like air-conditioning and even in summer dispenses with it.

CHINESE GOWN

In public he usually wears an unadorned uniform. At home he prefers a long Chinese gown.

Chiang pays close attention to foreign affairs and how they affect his country's interests.

* * *

He also studies intently all intelligence reports from the mainland. He seems convinced a pro-Nationalist revolt will break out there. If it erupts, he is determined to fuse it with all the support his armed forces can give. He has promised to abolish the commune system and to guarantee the people freedom of residence, movement, correspondence and family life.

* * *

Chiang regards the Chinese Communists as betrayers of the 1911 revolution which ended more than 46 centuries of monarchical rule in China. His long-standing policy toward them is: a fight to the finish, no negotiations and no compromise.

GIs to Learn Communism

McNamara Tells of New Training Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Instruction in Americanism and in the threats of Communism will be made a compulsory part of military training for all U.S. servicemen, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced yesterday.

The action was recommended by an advisory committee of top level civilians and recently retired military leaders under the chairmanship of Karl Bendetsen, a former Pentagon official.

The panel was formed last January as an outgrowth of Senate subcommittee hearings on military information and on charges that American military commanders had been muzzled. The Senate subcommittee report did not support the muzzling charge.

McNamara said he generally concurred with the major findings and recommendations of the advisory group and that some of the views had already been carried out.

The panel report, made public by McNamara, said there was "little evidence to support the view expressed in some quarters that the serviceman lacks an awareness of the Communist threat. The fearful, the confused and the pessimistic do not populate the armed forces."

But it said there was a lack of awareness that education is a direct and integral duty of military commanders. It called that the primary defect in previous troop information and education programs.

McNamara accepted the recommendation that general military training should include study of American political traditions, communism in action, national policies and orientation in areas of the world where Americans are now serving.

Primary emphasis was placed on the study of American political traditions. The report said it is more important for servicemen to know what they are for than what they are against.

Harvard Halts One Plan for Peace Corps

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Dean John U. Monro of Harvard College said yesterday that an amicable difference between Harvard University and the Peace Corps had led to discontinuance for the time being of Harvard participation in a teacher training program for Nigeria.

The difference, he said, lay in the fact that Harvard felt that a part of the training program should be conducted in Nigeria, whereas the Peace Corps took the position adequate training could be given in the United States.

"Nigeria has a good school system," he explained, "and we felt that it had a need for especially good teachers."

Monro said that Harvard might take a different attitude toward a teacher training program for the Peace Corps in some other country and said the university has been in sympathy with the Peace Corps program from the outset.

* * *

Harvard men are still going into the corps, Monro said, but he explained that the training program now discontinued at Harvard was not especially for Harvard men but rather for persons getting teacher training from the country at large.

* * *

Columbia University immediately took over the Nigerian teacher training, so that work on this important project was not interrupted, Dean Monro said.

Fallen Thailand Jet Explodes, 3 Killed

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Three inquisitive children were killed today in the explosion of a Thai Air Force F86 jet fighter after it crashed in a rice paddy 60 miles north of Bangkok. Ten other villagers were injured.

The Bangkok World said the plane developed engine trouble shortly after take-off and the pilot ejected safely.

The plane fell in the rice field and exploded seconds after a crowd gathered around it for a close look.

Police Line Holds Mob at U.S. Tokyo Embassy

TOKYO (AP) — A heavy cordon of police warded off 500 Marxist college students who tried to march on the U.S. Embassy in a pro-Castro demonstration today.

* * *

The students, members of the "League of Marxist Students," scuffled several minutes with 300 riot police but were unable to push through their lines to the embassy front gate 200 yards away.

City Closes Airport Deal With Richwing of Detroit

After a lengthy discussion City Commissioners last night voted 6 to 1 in favor of leasing property at Pontiac Municipal Airport to Richwing Corp. of Detroit.

Voting against the lease agreement was Commissioner Winford E. Bottom.

The complex agreement clears up a property dispute existing at the airport for more than a year.

The land in question originally was leased for 10 years to Flite-Line Corp. which intended to build a hangar on the site.

Flite-Line had the hangar under contract to Koepke Construction Co. It was about half finished when Flite-Line went out of business and backed out of the deal, according to city officials.

The steel structure, worth an estimated $40,000, has been standing there for a year.

Through court proceedings, Flite-Line Corp. has been terminated as a tenant and the city has been unsuccessfully attempting to claim $4,416.25 due in unpaid rent on the land.

In addition, Koepke has filed a suit in Circuit Court against the city for a $7,500 mechanic's lien.

The firm claims it is owed that amount for work on the uncompleted hangar. The case is still pending.

Richwing Corp. presently leases a hangar at Wayne Major Airport and must move out by January because the airport wants to tear the structure down.

Under the lease agreement the corporation will buy the city's back rent claim for $2,500, agrees to complete the building and to pay the $7,500 in settlement of Koepke's lien case.

In return, the city will lease the land to Richwing Corp. for a rental fee of $323.75 per month for 10 years with option to renew the lease for an additional 10 years.

N.Y. Avoids Crisis Worries; 'Let's Live!' Says Party Set

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The parties go on and on in N.Y. despite the Cuban crisis . . . it's as though the whole world's saying "Live, live while we can". . . I haven't heard of one party being canceled . . . though I wouldn't mind if I did.

There are just too many for your little ole country boy reporter to cover.

WILSON

Is there a lot of war talk? Nope. Opera Star Robert Merrill and his wife sat across from us when the Playbill celebrated its fourth anniversary. Merrill said he's off to Florence to record "La Traviata" with Joan Sutherland.

"Aren't you sort of afraid of leaving the U.S.?" I half trembled.

"No," he said. "If anything happens, Florence'll be safer than the U.S."

★ ★ ★

Opera Star Jerome Hines, back from Moscow where he met Khrushchev and Mikoyan at an opera party (they drank toasts to his B.W., once a music student in Cincinnati) said that even Mr. K. was a little frivolous.

After making a 5-minute speech concerning the meaning of the revolution to artists, Khrushchev turned to Hines and said in his charmingest manner:

"Of course this I'm saying is propaganda."

★ ★ ★

Jackie Gleasen faced whatever crisis there is by wearing a large red vest and red rose at Toot Shor's. "I happen to be the only man living who knows how to dress," he explained.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ethel Merman, making her cafe debut at the Las Vegas Flamingo, sang 23 songs to a plush audience that included Judy Garland, Mitzi Gaynor and Pat Lawford . . . Eddie Fisher did his show at the Winter Garden, then sang for an hour more at Jilly's — for free . . . Mid-Manhattan was so empty during JFK's speech that one cabbie said:: "The streets looked like bowling alleys."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: There's one advantage to being a nudist — you don't have to hold out your hand to see if it's raining.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: You've reached middle age when you consider the 10 p.m. TV program the Late Show.

EARL'S PEARLS: Women have an eye for figures — particularly if the figures are wearing the same dress as theirs.

There's an Antique Collectors Club in Texas; the members collect old $1,000 bills . . . That's earl, brother.

Renewal Items OK'd by City

3 Resolutions Include Application for Loan

Three items concerning Pontiac's urban renewal program came up for action at last night's City Commission meeting, and all were approved.

A resolution authorizing the city to apply for a $758,000 project temporary loan from the Housing and Home Finance Agency was okayed to get land acquisition started in the R44 project.

Approval also came on contracts for title search and appraisals of properties to be added to the R20 program, Pontiac's first urban renewal project area.

The R44 loan eventually will be repaid with proceeds from land resale. There are some 43 parcels to be purchased and cleared in the project.

★ ★ ★

All of the properties have been appraised, and the city's offering price on many has been approved by federal urban renewal officials.

Of the loan, $730,000 will be earmarked to begin property acquisition. The rest will go for administration expenses.

A proposed revision and expansion of the R20 project nesessitated the other resolutions.

TO CONTRACT FIRM

American Title Co., 61 Oakland Ave., will be contracted to obtain title information and ownership data reports on some 56 parcels to be added to the R20 acquisition list.

The parcels consist mainly of structures which would cost too much to rehabilitate to make such work worthwhile.

American Title will be paid $259.58 for contract services to be completed within 45 days.

★ ★ ★

The other resolution names local real estate appraisers William Knudsen and Leslie R. Tripp as appraisers of the added R20 properties. The total appraisal contract comes to $4,385.

Both will conduct their appraisals independently of each other.

57 Pct. in Frats OK Religious Restrictions

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Fifty-seven per cent of the fraternity men at the University of Michigan think their organizations should be able to restrict membership on the basis of religion, a university survey shows.

The U. of M. survey research center, which questioned fraternity members and independents on campus, said some 44 per cent of the nonmembers agreed.

Other facts about fraternity men disclosed in the report are that they have more dates and lower grades and are more active in athletics and extracurricular activities, the report said.

★ ★ ★

The fraternity member "comes from much the same kind of home as the nonmember, but is somewhat more likely to have college-educated parents," the report said.

N-Sub Proteus Back Home

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) —The U.S. Polaris submarine depot ship Proteus returned to its mooring in the Holy Loch today.

The 19,000-ton base ship was not accompanied by any of its submarines. It sailed from the Holy Loch last Wednesday at the peak of the Cuban crisis.

A British Navy spokesman refused to say where the Proteus had been.

Aide for State Police Is Promoted to Captain

LANSING (AP) — State Police Lt. Harold L. Hilliker, administrative aide in the executive office in East Lansing, has been promoted to the rank of captain.

Hilliker joined the department in 1939, was assigned to the executive office in 1954 and became a lieutenant in 1956. He holds two citations for meritorious service.

Surgery for Star Burr Could Change 'Mason'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — Necessity may prove to be the mother of welcome dramatic invention as far as CBS' "Perry Mason" show is concerned.

★ ★ ★

Raymond Burr, who has played Erle Stanley Gardner's indomitable trial lawyer for five seasons, will enter a Los Angeles hospital for minor corrective surgery in December, the network announced. As a result, the company must make several shows during his convalescence without the star.

According to present plans, Paisano Productions which makes the weekly courtroom drama — and of which author Gardner is an officer—plans to sign big-name guest stars, including Bette Davis to substitute.

COULD ALTER FORMAT

The unavoidable absence of Burr could have a salutary effect of boosting the program out of the format to which it has adhered through the years, including that weekly courtroom confession by the murderer — usually from a spectator's seat.

★ ★ ★

Gail Patrick Jackson, executive producer of the show, explained to this reporter in Hollywood recently that the series is written in its unchanging form "to keep the characters and the stories as compatible as possible with the books."

"After all," she said, "Erle Stanley Gardner is still writing Mason books and they are enormously popular."

CHANGE A TONIC

But without Perry in the show, there's no point in protecting Gardner's special whodunit approach, and the writers might experiment. And if change should act as a tonic to the show's ratings, future shows — with Burr back in his role — might have a broader, less predictable base.

★ ★ ★

The program, switched this season to Thursdays from its old Saturday night spot has dropped out of the Nielsen "top ten" rated shows but even in its new position it is still pulling a hefty share of audiences.

U. of M. Asks $84.4 Million

Will Need It Next Five Years for 24 Projects

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan is asking the state for $84,474,000 for capital outlay during the next five years.

The university has sent the State Department of Administration requests for $66 million for 20 educational facility builting projects and $17.7 million for four projects at the University Medical Center.

Three factors dictated the expansion, the university said in its report. They are:

★ ★ ★

— The effects of age and obsolescence on existing facilities.

★ ★ ★

— A potential enrollment increase of 50 per cent from last year to 1965;

— Increasing emphasis on graduate and professional education—requiring research and clinical facilities;

The university is faced with a "rising demand for the services of higher education in instruction, in research, in patient care," the report said.

Included in the request was $1.34 million to complete plans and start construction of a $7.9 million children's hospital and $350,000 for the start of an annual general campus development.

Projects include completion of the physics, astronomy and institue of science and technology buildings and the school of music, plans for the second unit of the medical science building and full plans for the dental building.

Also included were full plans and the start of construction of the school of education and the college of architecture and design.

400 Teen-Age Employes Told to Stop Smooching

RUGELEY, England (UPI) — Lancashire Dynamo Electronic Products, Ltd., told its 400 teenage employes today to stop kissing on company time.

Officials said the smooching embarrassed important clients being shown around the factory.

Castro Foes Report Loss of 2 Vessels

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Alpha 66, militant anti-Castro band, yesterday reported two of its vessels on a mission to attack a military objective in Cuba sank in heavy seas last week.

★ ★ ★

All 11 members of the expedition escaped, it was reported.

The information was contained in "War Communique No. 3," signed Alpha 66, Puerto Rico, and released by Miami leaders of the secret revolutionary organization.

The raiding mission made its way into Cuba after the vessels sank, the communique said.

After two days inside Cuba, the group attacked a Cuban boat and returned to its base aboard it, the announcement added. The base was not identified.

The mission left the night of Oct. 24, the communique said, running into stormy weather in the Bahama Channel, just north of Cuba.

The communique, released after an early morning Alpha 66 meeting to deal with a split within its ranks, said no members of the second national front of Escambray, an underground group, participated in the expedition.

'Firefly' Flits Into Orbit to Aid Mapping

355-Pound Package Circles Globe 700 Miles Overhead

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A flashing "Firefly" satellite soared into orbit today to measure the size and shape of the earth in an experiment which could produce more accurate world maps and establish guide lines for tracking men to the moon.

The 355-pound satellite, named Anna, rocketed away from Cape Canaveral at 3:08 a.m. atop a Thor-Able-Star booster. An hour later the Defense Department announced it was in a successful orbit about 700 miles above the earth.

★ ★ ★

The first stage pushed the package to the edge of space. The second fired for two minutes, then shut down and coasted for 25 minutes before restarting its engine to eject its satellite into orbit high above Ethiopia at a speed of nearly 18,000 miles an hour.

★ ★ ★

Officials reported that clear signals were being received from the payload.

Because the rocket was fired on a northeast heading in the direction of the Soviet Union, the Defense Department announced time and direction of launching in advance. Sources said this was done to alert the Soviet Union so that the Russians would not mistake the rocket for a hostile missile.

Official name of the satellite is Anna 1B, with the letters standing for Army, Navy, Air Force and NASA, the participating agencies. The "Firefly" nickname derives from four high-intensity xenon gas lights designed to be photographed against a background of stars as they flashed on and off at designated times.

★ ★ ★

The first launch in the program, Anna 1A, failed last May because of rocket trouble.

Castro, U Thant Meet

Discuss Red Missile Promises

From Our News Wires

HAVANA — Acting Secretary-General U Thant scheduled a second meeting with Prime Minister Fidel Castro today to try to win agreement for U.N. verification of Moscow's promises to remove its missiles from Cuba.

★ ★ ★

An initial two-hour, 10-minute session between Thant and the bearded Cuban leader made no headway yesterday, informants said. Castro reportedly stuck to such demands as abandonment by the United States of its Guantanamo naval base in southeastern Cuba.

The United States already has rejected Castro's demands, made last weekend.

He also demanded lifting of all economic measures against his regime and guarantees against hit-run raids and invasion preparations.

Editorial on Page A-6; Other Stories, A-3, A-7, C-13

★ ★ ★

Despite the reported lack of progress, a spokesman for Thant called the meeting "very useful."

FIXED CUBA POSITION

A communique issued afterward said "Cuba fixed her position and viewpoints with clarity," which informants said meant Castro was unyielding in his demands.

President Osvaldo Dorticos took part in the meeting.

In Washington, strong indications were being received by the government that the Russians are hurrying to carry out Premier Nikita Khrushchev's promise to remove his weapons from Cuba.

★ ★ ★

There were clues from Havana, however, that Castro was attempting to maintain a degree of face-saving autonomy in the matter of having U. N. observers on hand to verify the Russian pull-out.

Castro possibly could delay U.N. inspection arrangements, but by going ahead with their own removal plans, Soviet forces in Cuba would be following Khrushchev's orders.

ADDS TO U.N. TEAM

Meanwhile, Castro is sending two top diplomats to bolster his team at the U. N., rousing speculation that he expects to have a strong voice in any settlement of the Cuban crisis.

★ ★ ★

Diplomats at U. N. headquarters were surprised by the announcement from Havana that Castro had assigned foreign minister Raul Roa and Carlos Lechuga, ambassador to Mexico, to his delegation in New York.

Many had expected that Roa, a veteran U. N. bargainer, would speak for Castro when the United States and the Soviet Union try to negotiate a Cuban solution.

But word that Lechuga was accompanying Roa touched off rumors that Castro might pull out Ambassador Mario Garcia-Inchaustegui, his delegation chief who has echoed Cuba's harsh anti-American line here for the past two years.

Thant flew to Havana yesterday to arrange for confirmation of the removal of the Soviet-installed missile bases under an agreement between Khrushchev and President Kennedy.

He also is seeking to set up negotiations to resolve all aspects of the U.S.-Cuban dispute.

De Gaulle Stays On in France

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle announced today he will remain at the helm of the French government even though only about 47 per cent of France's registered voters backed him in a referendum last Sunday. He had a majority of those who did vote, however.

De Gaulle, anxious for a showdown with the nation's politicians, had said he would resign if the results of the referendum were "weak, mediocre or doubtful." But he did not specify the minimum vote that would keep him in office.

The referendum approved a constitutional ammendment proposed by De Gaulle to provide for election of presidents by direct vote of the people. All of the nation's politicians except Gaullists contended he had violated the constitution by not presenting his amendment first to Parliament for approval.

In the vote, 61.76 per cent of the valid ballots were cast in favor of De Gaulle's proposal. Due to stay-at-homes and other abstainers, the yes vote represented only 46.3 per cent of the registered voters. De Gaulle's backing in previous referendums had never been less than 56 per cent of the electorate.

Pressure Mounts in Kremlin

K Faces Tough Month

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Nikita Khrushchev has a tough month ahead. Pressure on the Kremlin leader may induce him to take risky actions against his better judgment and once again head a nervous world toward the brink.

A week from now, the U.S.S.R. celebrates the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik takeover of power. The Communist leadership likes to have some spectacular success to display for this anniversary. At the moment, it has none.

Two weeks from now, the Soviet Central Committee has scheduled an important meeting. It could be a grim session, with the Kremlin leadership facing up to some gloomy realities.

★ ★ ★

No matter how Soviet propaganda paints it for home consumption, Khrushchev backed down in the Cuban crisis and the party leadership is aware of that.

The Cuban crisis probably made some high officers within the armed forces unhappy. There are hints of disenchantment with Khrushchev's cold war generalship.

There's an annoying war going on along the Indian-Red Chinese border. It is embarrassing for Soviet policy.

Plans for new pressure on West Berlin may have gone askew because of the Cuban developments.

★ ★ ★

The Cuban crisis probably has made the Red Chinese and the Stalinists around the world furious.

The Chinese once again are denouncing "modern revisionism," obviously meaning Khrushchev's policies.

City Resolution Urges Changes in Organization

To Re-Establish Traffic Bureau and Reinstate Reserves

By DICK SAUNDERS

Major organizational revision in the Pontiac Police Department were recommended in a policy-making resolution passed by the City Commission last night.

The measure, which contains six recommendations including re-establishment of a traffic bureau and reinstatement of the former police reserves, was approved, 6-1.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner William H. Taylor cast the lone dissenting vote.

Passage came over appeals from both Taylor and City Manager Robert A. Stierer to delay action a week to allow further study of recommendations in the resolution.

Both Taylor and Stierer indicated they had not seen the resolution before last night's meeting.

★ ★ ★

It was introduced by Mayor Robert A. Landry after action had been completed on the printed agenda.

POLICIES CHANGED

To some extent, the resolution reverses policies and procedures put in effect as a result of recommendations in the controversial Public Administration Service study and report in 1957.

★ ★ ★

Landry emphasized that the resolution "is not to be misconstrued as being critical of the city manager, the chief of police or any police department personnel."

He said the proposed changes came largely as a result of repeated complaints of citizens to the Commission.

He indicated the faults were with operational structure and not police personnel.

★ ★ ★

Some of the changes, Landry explained, were suggested in an effort to set up better traffic and pedestrian controls in the event of a natural or man-made disaster.

The resolution, as adopted, recommends that the city manager place the following measures in effect before Dec. 1, 1962:

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Re - establish an operating traffic bureau immediately in the police department independent of the patrol bureau.

2. Provide foot or beat patrols in the central business district, and the Wessen & Jackson and the Sanford & E. Wilson (street) areas.

3. Discontinue the present use of civilian personnel at the front desk in the police department.

4. Reinstate all former members of the police reserve organization with full status as reserve police officers.

5. Revise procedures required by the present record system to eliminate unnecessary, time consuming, clerical work performed by patrolmen during working hours and substitute a practical realistic method of police reporting which wil not involve waste.

Predicts GOP Bastion in County to Fall Nov. 6

By JIM DYGERT

Democratic County Chairman Sander Levin has predicted that Democrats this fall will explode "the myth that Oakland County is the private property of the Republican party."

Five men and a woman are waging energetic challenges against Republican incumbents in county offices in an effort to make Levin's prediction come true.

The backgrounds and statements of the 12 candidates for six county offices are on page B-12 in The Pontiac Press' pre-election presentation of candidates and issues.

State legislature contests will be discussed later this week.

Here are the choices facing voters in the six county areas:

Prosecutor: Incumbent Republican George F. Taylor and Democratic challenger S. Jerome Bronson.

Sheriff: Incumbent Republican Frank W. Irons and Democratic challenger Kenneth G. Hirt.

Clerk-Register of Deeds: Incumbent Republican Daniel T. Murphy Jr. and Democratic David S. Lees.

Treasurer: Incumbent Republican Charles A. Sparks and Democrat Mrs. Betty H. McVay.

Drain Commissioner: Incumbent Republican Daniel W. Barry and Democrat Roy J. Russell.

County Surveyor: Incumbent Republican Ralph A. Main and Democrat Stanley F. Dunn.

CANDIDATE BEFORE

Prosecutor hopeful Bronson was a candidate for state senate two years ago.

The candidates for clerk-register, drain commissioner and surveyor are the same as in 1960. Mrs. McCay and Hirt are newcomers to political contests.

The hardest-fought race so far this year has been for drain commissioner, while an attempt is being made to infuse some life into the otherwise lackluster sheriff and prosecutor contests.

Besides claiming that Barry is not qualified to be drain commissioner because he is not an engineer, Russell is pointing to the recent auditor general's report claiming Barry overcharged the county on mileage and meal expenses.

Barry answers that the audit report was a political move that turned up nothing illegal. He adds that engineering is only one phase of drain construction.

Keep a careful watch for youngsters out trick or treating on Halloween, Pontiac Police Chief Joseph Koren and Sheriff Frank Irons urged motorists today.

The two officers warned that children with their vision partially obscured by masks are likely to dart suddenly into streets.

This can add to the hazard caused by early darkness, fog and smoke from burning leaves expected at this time of the year, according to the State Safety Commission.

Parents were asked to tell their children to stay on the sidewalk, cross streets at proper places and watch where they run.

Pet owners also were given a reminder — keep pets, especially dogs, inside.

The strange costumes might frighten animals.

The Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation recommends that elementary-age youngsters be home by 9 p. m., junior high age by 10:30 and senior high by 11.

It also recommended "trick or treat" time be restricted to 6-7 p. m.

Dems Make Registrations Check Big Issue

Swainson Calls It 'Shady Business'

By The Associated Press

Michigan's Democratic leadership in the showdown drive for the Nov. 6 state election appeared today to be attempting to make a major issue of a citizens' committee checking voter registrations in Detroit and Wayne County.

The avowed purpose of the committee is to prevent fraud.

* * *

The Committee for Honest Elections calls itself nonpartisan and is headed by Walker L. Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co.

Prominent citizens make up the committee.

Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson, campaigning for re-election, teed off on the committee Tuesday night in a speech to officials of United Auto Workers Local 600 in Dearborn.

Swainson said, "It must be pretty shady business. The committee's chief investigator, George Abrams, refused to tell us who was financing the committee's work.

"There is no fraud in Michigan elections," the governor asserted. "There never has been and we have one of the finest records for clean elections in the nation."

NO COMMENT

George Romney, campaigning outstate as the Republican nomine for governor, had no immediate comment on Swainson's blast.

But he earlier termed Democratic criticism of the committee "hysterical reaction" and predicted Democrats "will frantically push more extreme panic buttons" before election day.

Democratic State Chairman John (Joe) Collins took up the outcry against the committee and asserted, "The hidden Republicans who are backing this effort are understandably insisting on a cloak of secrecy."

Collins added, "Secretary of State Jim Hare and Detroit elections director Louis Urban are men of unquestioned integrity—and they run the kind of elections which keep their records for honesty, determination and enforcement of their beliefs intact. The State of Michigan has received an undue smear."

The Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the committee is suspect "because its origins and source of finance are not clear."

The Democratic State Central Committee asked the national fair campaign practices committee in New York to investigate the Detroit group.

* * *

The central committee said, "We resent and deplore this behind the scenes, secretive attempt to use the outstanding reputations of fine gentlemen whose civic responsibility is beyond question in what is patently a scheme to intimidate voters."

* * *

Meantime, the Committee for Honest Elections went ahead with its checking of voter registrations. Its chief investigator, George Abrams, said his staff now includes five investigators and 10 more will be added before election day. He said the investigation had been extended into out-county areas.

The committee's current cost, Abrams said, are being handled by the Honest Ballot Association in New York and eventually will be covered by contributions.

ROMNEY TALKS

Romney, on a whirlwind blitz tour outstate, Tuesday night told a Jackson rally Swainson has painted a portrait of failure in office.

"You can't supply leadership by saying that all Republicans are bad," Romney said. "But my opponent said all Republicans still have cruel hearts and cold blood — and that every Republican is just a crass materialist."

Gov. Swainson, addressing a rally of elderly Democrats, advocated President Kennedy's medical care program, federal aid to education and slum clearance projects.

At his appeaance before UAW Local 600, Swainson was introduced by Joe McCusker, the Union's Region 4 coordinator. Declaring senior citizens should get the young people to vote, McCusker said:

"You wouldn't elect Henry Ford as president of Local 600, would you? Then why elect his candidate for governor to the highest office in the state!"

Voters Face Land Issue in Election on Tuesday

BIRMINGHAM — City Clerk Irene E. Hanley today reminded Birmingham voters that they will be faced with a local issue in next Tuesday's general election.

The proposition seeks voter approval on a request to sell 10 2-10 acres of city-owned property on Coolidge Road near Maple Road in Troy.

City Manager L. R. Gare explained that the property, originally purchased as an open drainage site, will not be needed when the 12-Towns Relief Drains are completed.

The site, just south of the Ford Motor Co. Tractor and Implement Operations, is considered a valuable piece of property for industrial development by city officials.

Gare said the city wants to sell the land once the drainage ditch is filled in. Under the city charter, voters must approve plans to offer it for public sale.

War, Si; Truce, No, Say Anti-Castroites

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban revolutionaries made it clear today that despite U.N. acting Secretary General U Thant's mission to Havana they mean war, yes, truce no.

The Cuban Revolutionary Council sent word to Thant that any deal he might make with Fidel Castro would not block armed action against the dictator.

* * *

The council, major anti-Castro alliance, declared it could not recognize a pact with the Cuban regime, which it called a Soviet province.

GIRD FOR WAR

Anti-Castro groups girded for war despite what appeared a cooling-off period during Thant's Cuba visit. Generally they expressed little concern over President Kennedy's promise not to invade Cuba if Soviet missiles are withdrawn. They indicated there are other means of ousting the Castro regime.

* * *

The Second National Escambray Front, an underground organization, said its guerrillas and saboteurs continued in the field "even though it is difficult at present."

* * *

"Infiltration in the Cuban armed forced is one of our main objectives," said Dr. Armando Fleites, secretary-general of the second front.

Fleites, 32, a former physician, said 80 per cent of Castro's militia would defect in case of an insurrection.

ADVISES UNDERGROUND

Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, president of the revolutionary council, advised underground groups not to resort to suicide tactics, but to await the moment for action.

But he added: "the dismantling of missile bases also means the dismantling of Castro."

* * *

Fleites reported that the second front, headed by Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, one of Castro's principal aides in overthrowing former dictator Fulgencio Batista, had merged with the exile action group Alpha 66 in response to Miro Cardona's call for unity.

Alpha 66 leaders in Miami disavowed the merger. They went to Puerto Rico, Alpha 66 headquarters, to discuss the rift.

Teen Attacks Ex-Teacher, 72

Woman Beaten in Home

A 72-year-old retired schoolteacher was beaten severely in her White Lake Township home last night by a youth she discovered in her bedroom.

The attack on Mrs. Lucille O. Greene, 9530 Cooley Lake Road, occurred about 9 p.m. when she awoke and saw someone standing at the foot of her bed.

Mrs. Greene, a widow, told Sheriff deputies that it was a "tall, blond teen-ager."

"He asked for my purse and then wanted to know if I knew him," said Mrs. Greene, who is a correspondent and a photographer for a weekly newspaper.

* * *

Police said her assailant apparently then struck her in the head with a bottle of toilet water, knocking her off the bed and kicking her under it.

STAGGERS TO NEIGHBOR'S

When she came to she staggered to a neighbor's home two doors away where Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elletson, 9500 Cooley Lake Road, administered first aid and called Sheriff deputies.

Mrs. Greene was taken to Pontiac General Hospital where her condition today is listed as satisfactory. She suffered facial lacerations, multiple abrasions and injury to her right hand.

When Sheriff deputies searched the Greene home they found that her hearing aid had been purposely broken and the phone in the dining room ripped from the wall.

Other than that the house had not been ransacked.

Mrs. Greene told police that she returned home about 5 p.m. yesterday and went to bed about 8 p.m. Police believe the house may have been entered while Miss Greene was away or the assailant had a key.

The Soviet government still struggles with agricultural and industrial problems.

For the Russians, all this tends to make Cuba part of the whole cold war picture.

Failure of Khrushchev's plans there can embolden his critics who disagree with many other policies.

Red Chinese pressure on India's borders obviously has been in defiance of Khrushchev. It could even be read as a deliberate attempt to place him in an uncomfortable position.

Should he side with Red China, he alienates India and the rest of the so-called nonaligned nations. If he sides with India, he widens the Communist schism.

Regarding West Berlin, Khrushchev's opposition inside and outside the Soviet Union conceivably can bring much pressure on him to put up or shut up.

He has promised for four years to sign a treaty with East Germany and to end Western allied rights in the isolated city.

Khrushchev probably will carry the day in the Communist party Central Committee, but the pressures undoubtedly will remain.

They probably can force him eventually to make some sort of move to justify his leadership.

That would set the world's nerves on edge once again.

India, China Fight at Close Quarters

Chinese might be trying to outflank the Indians at Walong.

* * *

In the only other fighting reported in the last 24 hours, the spojesman said Indian troops continued to shell the Chinese around Jang, five miles east of the captured monastery town of Towang on another route to the Assam Plains.

The spokesman denied the Indians were attempting a limited offensive in the area, however.

There was no change in the situation some 1,000 miles to the northwest in the other battle sector in Ladakh, the spokesman said.

Asked whether the Soviet Union, an ally of China, is sending arms to India, the spokesman replied: "Certain equipment was ordered from that country and it is coming according to schedule."

He declined to discuss individual items such as the dozen MIG 21 jet fighters that India has ordered from Russia.

Since the Chinese launched their all-out offensive Oct. 20, the spokesman said, "we have been approaching all friendly countries from which we might get equipment and supplies."

This includes the Soviet Union, he added.

Diplomatic sources in London said Russia has told India it must back Red China diplomatically in the Sino-Indian fighting, apparently to avert a further rift with Peiping.

Resolution Urges Police Dept. Changes

ful time of police officers on trivial incidents.

* * *

In addition, the resolution orders city administrators to observe a City Charter provision—with the legal interpretation of City Attorney William A. Ewart—in making future transfers on promotions in the police department.

SENIORITY SIGNIFICANT

The charter provision reads: "Any reductions or reclassification of personnel in the police department for any reason shall be made according to seniority of service and seniority in rank."

* * *

Ewarts' interpretation is that the clause must be taken literally and promotions made on a seniority basis much like that in union shops.

The resolution clearly repeals "all resolutions, orders and directions heretofore promulgated by this Commission or any previous Commission in relation to police department policies concerning the above procedures."

The resolution states in part that the measures "are all necessary in order to create a strong and effective police department to handle the numerous law enforcement problems being generated in this city."

* * *

Commenting on the items, Landry pointed to requests from the Downtown Pontiac Business Assn. (DPBA) for more traffic control and foot patrols in the central business district.

"The matter has been studied and some foot patrols have already been initiated along with increased traffic controls. Problems have been alleviated.

* * *

"We have the men and equipment to eliminate this problem and we should use them," he noted.

He said that criticism had often been leveled at the Wessen-Bagley-Jackson street area and suggested that "beats in these areas will at least give us a chance to try and solve the problem, rather than just criticizing and complaining about it."

He said the reinstatement of the old 70-man police reserve in addition to the present auxiliary police unit would not only aid in patrolling high pedestrian events, but also aid in the event traffic and pedestrian control was needed as a civil defense measure.

* * *

"I know how much this will be criticized. It is not in any way intended to be a criticism of the present police auxiliary," Landry noted.

"I just know how much easier I would have slept during the Cuban situation last week if we had two reserve units instead of one."

NO TABLING SUPPORT

Commissioner Taylor's motion that the resolution be tabled for one week died for lack of support.

"This is the first time I've seen this," he asserted.

Stierer said he "was aware through various discussions that the resolution was in the process of being prepared."

He urged commissioners to hold off a week so he could discuss the legal interpretation and wording of the resolution with the city attorney and methods of implementing changes with Chief Joseph Koren.

* * *

He added that "this will also have to be looked at with respect to the 1963 budget."

Stierer's recommendation was ignored.

The resolution and Saturday's meeting were kept well-guarded secrets until the measure was introduced last night.

Rain and Snow Visit Eastern Half of Nation

By The Associated Press

Rain, snow and cool weather covered broad areas in the eastern half of the nation today but skies were clear in most sections west of the Mississippi River.

Rain fell from eastern Tennessee northeastward, changing to light snow in Vermont and Maine. Showers sprinkled areas in the Great Lakes and snow showers were reported in the northern Great Lakes region as colder air moved eastward and southeastward.

Showers and thunderstorms hit areas in central and northern Florida during the night. Light showers also were reported in most of Georgia, Alabama and the Carolinas. About nine inches of rain drenched Key Largo, 45 miles south of Miami.

PICKIN' OUT A PUNKIN'S A MAN-SIZED JOB

Carve Out Own 'Punkin' Heads

Pumpkin faces — happy, sad, or fierce — will light city streets tonight for troops of trick-or-treaters. Dads did the engraving jobs, mostly, assisted by their young "punkineers." But the enterprising youngsters in Mrs. Harold Perry's kindergarten classes at Whitfield School did their own pumpkins during a class project.

★ ★ ★

Invitations Double Up; Follow Rule

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Last evening, while I was at my bridge club meeting, a friend called our house and invited my husband and me to dinner at their house this coming Saturday night. My husband said we had no plans for that evening and that we would be glad to go.

It so happened that very evening one of the members of the bridge club invited us to dinner for that same evening and, not knowing of this other invitation, I accepted.

Now we have two dinner invitations for the same evening. What do we do about this?

A: An invitation accepted from one's house where the family's engagement book is kept, takes precedence over one accepted at a party.

In this instance, you should telephone your bridge club member immediately and explain that you are terribly sorry but that you will not be able to come to dinner because you find your husband has already accepted an invitation from the Smiths to have dinner with them Saturday evening.

★ ★ ★

Q: The other evening at our woman's club meeting we had a guest speaker. He was very interesting but spoke a very long time. As it was getting very late and I had to be up early in the morning, I walked out before he had finished speaking.

Some of the members criticized me for doing this and said that I was very rude. Will you please tell me if I committed a breach of etiquette?

A: If your seat was near the door so that you could slip out unobserved you were not rude.

★ ★ ★

Q: Will you please tell me if it is ever permissible to dip a corner of your napkin into a finger bowl and wipe your mouth off with it?

A: No, you dip your fingers into the water, moisten your lips with them and dry fingers and lips with your napkin.

Day Care Centers Are Here to Stay

(Editor's Note — Gay Pauley is on special assignment gathering material for her column. In her absence, authorities in the women's news field will be guest columnists. Today, Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger of the Children's Bureau, Washington, writes of a new problem for today's woman — day care centers. She calls some of the unlicensed facilities "a national disgrace.")

By MRS. KATHERINE B. OETTINGER
U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation is just beginning to face the fact that the working mother is here to stay.

During World War II, she was welcomed into the industry for the contribution she could make to the war effort. A national program was established to provide day care for her children.

This program terminated with the end of the war, but the working mother did not, as many expected, return to her home and her strictly housekeeping duties.

Today, there are more women working than ever before in our national history.

There has been a 66 per cent increase in the number of working mothers with children under 18 in the past 10 years.

15 MILLION CHILDREN

There are about 15 million children under 18 whose mothers are working. Four million of these children are under 6 years of age and 5 million are between the ages of 6 through 11.

For years we have been telling working mothers, particularly those with young children, that they would be better off at home looking after their children.

★ ★ ★

But now we face the reality that we cannot stem the tide of women entering the labor force, many of them doing so out of economic necessity. Therefore, we must be sure that if mothers are working their children have adequate care during their working hours.

NATIONAL APPROACH

The public welfare amendments of 1962 made possible a national approach to the day care situation. A total of $5 million in federal funds was authorized for a first-year start on the program and $10 million for each succeeding year. These funds will be used to stimulate the states to expand and improve their day care services in local communities.

★ ★ ★

The funds were included in a supplemental appropriation containing additional monies for many purposes, which was not passed in the rush at the end of the congressional session.

★ ★ ★

But undoubtedly the Congress will be asked at its next session in January to implement this important part of the President's program.

Fast Dabs for Teen-Agers

Devote Time to Make-Up

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Speaking of how a mature woman can be her most attractive self, Eddie Senz, the great make-up artist said, "A quick dab of powder on the nose and a fast dauding of lipstick are for teen-agers.

"A mature woman should devote time to the application and should have all grooming requisites at hand; a magnifying mirror, easy to use scissor-handled tweezers for unruly hairs, cotton swabs to soften eye make-up and erase lipstick errors, a lipstick brush and small sponges for face washing."

Here is how a professional make-up artist applies eye make-up, as told by Eddie himself. He curves eyebrows outward with the feathery strokes of an eyebrow pencil. He never draws a bold hard line because that is harsh, artificial, and aging. Eyebrow pencil strokes should be further softened by stroking with a cotton swab.

DELICATE TOUCH

To emphasize the eyes, use eye shadow. However, it must be done delicately. In applying it, a make-up expert is careful to let none of it gather in the corner of the eye where it can form an unflattering shadow. You can get rid of this with one of the small cotton swabs.

Eddie applies lipstick with a brush. The mouth is given its fullest proportions.

He says, "Don't exaggerate the size so the effect becomes grotesque and unnatural." Using a lipstick brush becomes much easier when a woman learns to steady, her hand by resting a finger on her chin while wielding the brush. Blot the lip rouge with tissue.

GENEROUS POWDER

Apply a flattering powder base to the face and neck. A make-up artist will then use a generous dusting of powder to throw a gossamer curtain over tiny imperfections. Be careful not to choose a powder which is too light, Mr. Senz advises, or the effect will be harsh. Afterward eliminate excess powder around the base of the nose and the hairline.

Eddie Senz feels that by wearing well-chosen colors, by having clothes carefully fitted and devoting a little time to the details of make-up, every mature woman can look her attractive best. By dressing in clothes and make-up suited to her years, every woman can improve her appearance right at her own dressing table, at every age.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow: "Feel Tired All the Time? You'd Better Learn Why."

When you get the hang of resting a finger on your chin while brushing on lipstick, you'll be able to do an attractive job.

Wool Users

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wool consumption in the United States last year added up to 12 pounds per family, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Four pounds of U.S. wool and 4½ pounds of imported wool went into each family's clothing, blankets, draperies and upholstery. The remaining 3½ pounds, almost entirely imported, was used for floor coverings.

BLENDS WITH WOODS — Because the big main lodge is covered with logs, it doesn't appear to be as large outside as in. The building sprawls all over one of the highest hills in Michigan and burrows down into three separate basement levels.

Haven Hill Area —a Perfect Spot

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

A magnificent lodge atop Haven Hill in the heart of the Highland Recreation Area is a perfect spot for the many quiet conferences held within its rustic walls each year.

So popular is the former Edsel Ford retreat in White Lake Township, reservations must be made a year in advance. Groups interested in conservation, education, recreation and the promotion of public welfare are its constant users.

UNUSUAL LIGHTS — Tiny flame-like lights line hallways and flank fireplaces in the magnificent Haven Hill Lodge.

Once a place to hide children from possible kidnaping — so the oldtimers say — the estate with its green undulating 5,400 acres was bought by the state in 1946 for a reported $300,000.

There are still reminders of the past: A deserted swimming pool, barbed wire.

Today, thousands of people enjoy the picnic grounds, bathing beach, winter sports, and horseback riding in the Teeple Lake section.

In 1956 more than 5,000 Girl Scouts from all over the United States held their National Jamboree on the camp grounds.

A WINDING ROAD

A one-mile winding road, lined with huge trees leads up to the main lodge and annex. The waterfowl spectacle on Haven Hill Lake (made by Ford), the nature foot trails and bridle paths are thrilling sights.

Only minor changes have taken place in the big building with tis hand-hewn beams, five massive stone fireplaces and the sprawling floor plan.

The main hall — paneled, carpeted and softly lighted — is 12 feet wide.

Six bedrooms leading off the two-step-up hall can accommodate 21 overnight guests. The annex houses an additional 22, and the dining room takes care of 50.

All of the interior is bathed in Early America from the pie-pan candle lights to the satin-smooth cherry furniture. The main hall is dominated by a floor to ceiling 18-foot fireplace.

A BEAMED KITCHEN

In the big stainless-steel beamed kitchen, where there isn't one box of commercial "mix," the head cook and house manager, Mrs. Eleanor Boyle, has presided over "hundreds of thousands" of home-cooked meals during her 14-year stay at the lodge.

The trilevel basement is unique even by today's standards.

A miniature elevator lowers fireplace logs to a huge ceiling-high bin, or raises the logs to the fireplaces by a hand-crank mechanism.

Visitors walking outside are awed at the facilities that Ford provided for his family some 40 years ago.

A huge 30- by 50-foot kidney-shaped deteriorating swimming pool is located at the bottom of a wooded ravine. Determined shrubs and trees have pushed through some of the cracks.

To discourage snakes from entering the pool and bathhouse area there remain many feet of two-foot-high meshed fencing held up by iron poles set in cement.

West of the pool, traces of five tennis courts can be seen.

Some high fence still surrounds this area.

A MODEL-T ENGINE

Down a wooded path is the water supply system.

A gigantic pump is still run by an old model-T engine which generates power for pushing tons of water to the lodge.

Two 17,000 gallon tanks taken from Ford's old railroad trains serve as a water storage supply unit.

A big sheep barn one mile away from the lodge — for obvious reasons — is now used as a lounge for winter skiers and also as an office and maintenance building.

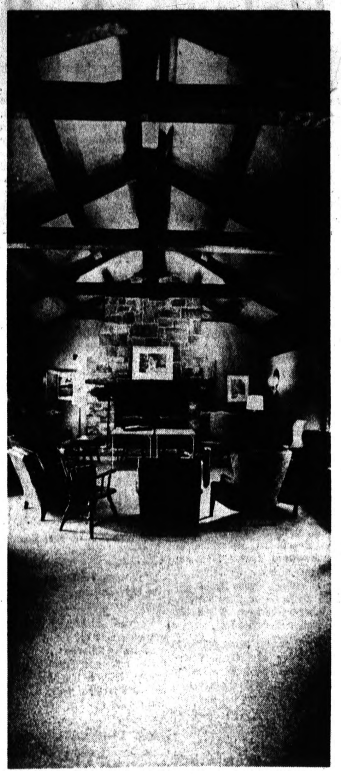
All but the lodge area itself is open to the public.

Because of its seclusion, heavily wooded hills, lakes and two sparkling streams, the Haven Hill area has an air of quiet solitude.

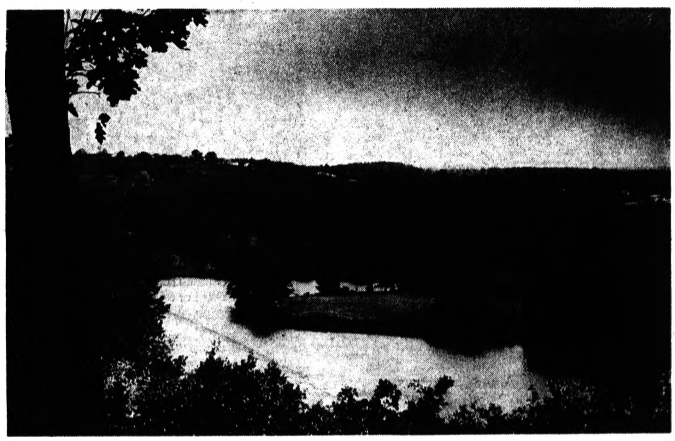
This is what Ford wanted to achieve.

That's what Michigan people are now enjoying.

WOODY WALK — The Joseph D. Reid family of 30114 Ardmore Drive, Farmington, is only one group of many that wander up and down scenic trails at Haven Hill. The main lodge is not open to the general public.



MIGHTY HALL — The furniture in this high-beamed main hall is tastefully arranged for small-group conversation most of the time, but when a capacity crowd of 40 convenes, the comfortable chairs are moved into a circle.



BEAUTIFUL VIEW — This is the sight registered visitors see from the big cut-stone porch facing north. The former owners, the Edsel Ford family had this picturesque lake built and stocked with all kinds of fish. Visitors may fish through the ice during winter months.

MASTER BEDROOM — This was once Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford's bedroom. The early American wallpaper, fireplace and wide plank boards have been kept as fresh as the day the former owners walked out. Handmade tin-backed lights line the walls, and the ruffled curtains at the windows resemble white fluffy clouds.

COOKING ROOM — Only this original kitchen has been modernized during the 16 years the state has had the lodge. Mrs. Eleanor Boyle in the foreground is a veteran head cook and housekeeper, having served "hundreds of thousands" of meals during her 14 years here.

BUILT IN — That's what Haven Hill is. It's built right into a high hill, with roofline and entrances conforming to the contour of the land. There are five mammouth fireplace chimneys, all a least 5-feet square protruding from the low-roofed lodge.

California claims it produces more citrus fruit than any other state.

The surface of the moon contains an estimated 14,657,000 square miles.

Drug Co. Appeal Remanded in Court

LANSING (AP)—The State Supreme Court yesterday remanded the SupeRX Drug Corp. appeal of a State Board of Pharmacy decision to Calhoun County Circuit Court for the taking of evidence.

SupeRX, a subsidiary of the Kroger Co., had appealed the board's decision denying the firm renewal of a Battle Creek drug license.

SupeRX charged the members of the board "acted out of their own personal motivation . . . and not as responsible government officials."

* * *

The pharmacy board denied the SupeRX application on grounds that the Battle Creek store had allegedly sold barbiturates without a written doctor's prescription.

Cars Getting More Use

NEW YORK (UPI)—A petroleum institute says Americans made 210 million automobile trips in 1960 and are expected to boost this figure to 325 million annually by 1970.

Looks Like Her, Too

Stand-In Poses for Jacqueline

Ruth Shivar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy has a look-alike stand-in who posed for her recently at a White House television filming.

* * *

Strangers and friends have pointed out the strong resemblance between Ruth Shivar, a law firm secretary, and the First Lady. They're the same age—33—and the same weight and size.

FINALLY

They finally met last week at the White House where a television company NBC was filming part of an hour-long show promoting the proposed new National Cultural Center.

Mrs. Kennedy's part in the show actually will take only a few minutes, but Mrs. Shivar, hired as her stand-in, worked with the TV crews for 10 hours at the White House Oct. 25. Mrs. Kennedy spent an hour doing her bit part describing the cultural center from a design model set up in the diplomatic reception room. They did not pose together.

Mrs. Shivar said she found Mrs. Kennedy more beautiful and charming than she imagined.

The White House had no comment on Mrs. Kennedy's reaction to her look-alike.

Mrs. Shivar, who does modeling as a hobby, but prefers her secretarial job, works for the Washington law firm of Covington and Burling, not far from the White House. She comes from Kenansville, N.C., and lives in Arlington, Va., with her husband who works for the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Sees Victory by Swainson

FLINT (UPI) — New Jersey Gov. Richard S. Hughes predicted last night Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson would be re-elected, despite predictions to the contrary by "pollsters and pundits."

Swainson, running against former president of American Motors Corp., George Romney, has been picked the underdog by local and national polls and several columnists.

Hughes also said the Democratic party across the nation would sweep into power in next week's congressional elections.

* * *

Hughes described the Swainson-Romney fight as "similar to that in New Jersey in 1960" when he won the gubernatorial election.

Children Let Brother Know That He's Missed

MIAMI (AP)—Two small children were noticed outside Baptist Hospital carrying a home-made sign, waiting patiently for someone to appear in a fifth-floor room.

The sign—to their brother—had a lipstick kiss and the message, "We miss you Ricky."

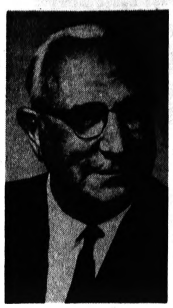
MAKE OVER PAGES

These Are Candidates for County Office



GEORGE F. TAYLOR (R)
For Prosecutor

George F. Taylor was appointed county prosecutor by the Circuit Court in 1959 and was elected to the post in the 1960 county election. He had been chief assistant prosecutor for seven years prior to the appointment.

A resident of 631 Franklin Road, Bloomfield Township, the 66-year-old Taylor began his law career at the age of 50 with a degree from the Detroit College of Law and Wayne State University.

Taylor joined the prosecutor's staff in 1946 after serving as a clerk under Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland and former Judge Frank L. Doty.

His statement follows:

"As your prosecuting attorney of Oakland County, I have brought about many reforms.

★ ★ ★

"A consumers' fraud division has been established to prevent citizens from being defrauded by persons who intentionally misrepresent; a lecture course is available to high schools, PTA groups, etc. to show how a criminal record can prevent persons from procuring decent employment; a "court of no record" to help teen-agers from being branded as criminals—this court has handled 1,172 cases to date and only 32 teen-agers have violated their probation.

"I am working diligently to have a work camp established for teen-agers, as idleness is the forerunner to crime.

"I have vigorously prosecuted welfare frauds. This office is always alert to start padlock proceedings to close buildings being used for illegal purposes. Police schools have been established and many hours of instruction given without thought of renumeration.

★ ★ ★

An antismut program has been in effective operation for the last two years. Every store selling printed material of any kind in Oakland County is inspected each 30 days.

★ ★ ★

The cooperation between my office and all law enforcement agencies in Oakland County has provided the people with a much higher degree of protection than exists in many counties of this size.

★ ★ ★

S. JEROME BRONSON (D)
For Prosecutor

An attorney with offices in Madison Heights, S. Jerome Bronson first ran for political office two years ago. He was an unsuccessful candidate for State Senate from Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Bronson, 34, is a law graduage of Wayne State University, is a member of the Oakland County Bar Association and has served as chairman of the United Fund campaign in Madison Heights.

★ ★ ★

He is a board member of the County Society for Crippled Children and Adults and was chairman of Law Day this year in Madison Heights. He and his wife and two sons live at 24540 Seneca St., Oak Park.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"As a practicing attorney in this county, I urge all residents to visit Circuit Court on any Monday to view the long lines of late teen-agers and young adults being brought into the Circuit Court in manacles to face charges of serious violations of our state criminal code.

★ ★ ★

"If there is any area of failure in our country, that is it.

★ ★ ★

"The failure of organized agencies, including the church and the home, to meet the frightening growth of violent crimes and hooliganism among far too many teen-agers in the 17-19 age group and young adults in the 19-21 age group, is a real failure.

★ ★ ★

"My opponent's glib answer to this problem is a gimmick. He calls it a "court of no record."

★ ★ ★

"What is needed in this country is a crash program to put the young law violators to useful, constructive work.

Worklessness seems to be the desired goal of far too many people. This country was not built on the theory of a gay life, it was built on a bedrock of beliefs and hard work.

★ ★ ★

"My opponent would deliver a lecture. What is needed is a court of good records and deeds, based on a record of good deeds to atone for willful violations of the law.

★ ★ ★

Frank W. Irons (R)
FOR SHERIFF

Incumbent Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons is seeking his fifth term in office. The 63-year-old sheriff has been in law enforcement work since 1924.

★ ★ ★

He was chief of police for Berkley for 29 years prior to his election as sheriff in 1954.

★ ★ ★

A Pontiac resident, Irons was the county's leading vote-getter in the 1960 general election. He defeated his opponent by a margin of 40,000 votes.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"If elected, I will continue to maintain the same cooperation with township, village, city and state police that is now existing and give the people of our county the kind of law enforcement they are entitled to, and can be proud of.

★ ★ ★

"I will continue the high standard of supervision and sanitation of the county jail, which I initiated and which has been highly commended by both state and federal inspectors of jails, also a safety division with a director, who gives lectures on safety and artificial respiration at schools, PTAs, clubs civic organizations, etc.

★ ★ ★

"The sheriff's department has a water patrol that has gained national recognition and a skin diver's unit that consists mostly of volunteers trained in all phases of skin diving.

★ ★ ★

"The department has a mobile disaster unit, a 20-foot trailer with a 60-foot antenna. Most of the safety equipment was donated by the county's industries.

★ ★ ★

"Prior to the time I became sheriff of Oakland County, I was chief of police in Berkley for 29 years and have been continuously connected with law enforcement since May 1924. I promise, if elected, to keep the sheriff's department in step with the growth and progress of Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Kenneth G. Hirth (D)
FOR SHERIFF

A former deputy in the Oakland County sheriff's department from 1954 to 1961, Kenneth G. Hirt has a total of some 12 years in police work.

★ ★ ★

Hirt, 34, of 560 Meadowdale St., Ferndale, began his law enforcement career with the Troy Police Department.

★ ★ ★

He was assigned to patrol duty, as a desk officer and relief sergeant, and a leader of the sheriff's department's mounted division during his years as a deputy.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"There are three issues concerning the sheriff's department which stand out. They are:

★ ★ ★

"1. Security of some sort with a merit system. The incumbent is against this. I would like to know why he is against it. A man who is not secure in himself cannot do the job he or she is actually capable of.

★ ★ ★

"2. A juvenile division is something a county of this size needs very much. We have a man in the dual role of water safety and juvenile officer. This is not enough. It is a policeman's job to prevent trouble as well as to take care of it after it happens.

★ ★ ★

"3. We need a central filing system in Oakland County, a form or a system which with the cooperation of all police departments in the county would give each and every department a complete file on all happenings and records of arrests and wanteds.

★ ★ ★

"I believe I can make a worthwhile contribution to the office of sheriff in the area of job tenure and security for each and every deputy in the department. Any police department is only as effective as the morale instilled in every office. I would endeavor to promote the morale in the sheriff's department.

★ ★ ★

DANIEL T. MURPHY Jr. (R)
For Clerk-Register

A 39-year-old Pontiac resident, Daniel T. Murphy Jr. is the only man in Oakland County history to hold the combined job of clerk and register of deeds.

★ ★ ★

He took over the combined post when it was created in 1959. Previously he had been a deputy clerk for six years and register of deeds for three years. He was re-elected to his second term two years ago.

Murphy, who lives at 344 Iroquois St., is a member of the West Pontiac Kiwanis Club, a past post commander of Amvets, a past vice president of Clinton Valley Council Boy Scouts of America and secretary of the State Association of County Clerks.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"At the present time the county clerk and register of deeds office is operating with the same number of employes that were working in the two departments in 1956 although the work has more than doubled.

★ ★ ★

Since the register of deeds and clerk's offices were combined, the law library also has been added to this department.

"Through the installation of modern equipment and filing systems in both offices, Oakland County has one of the most modern and efficiently run offices in the State and we are able to serve the public in a minimum of time with numerous clear copies of records.

★ ★ ★

The present program of microfilming records has saved the County thousands of dollars in storage space. Because of these new processes, this office has saved over $75,000 of the taxpayers' money.

★ ★ ★

I have been cooperative with the various branches of government and I respect the business interests and personal problems of individuals.

★ ★ ★

If elected, I will continue to use whatever new methods and new equipment that in my judgement will tend to do the job more efficiently and economically.

DAVID S. LEES (D)
For Clerk-Register

David S. Lees, a 44-year-old Troy resident, is a production employe at Pontiac Motors Division. He is a former union troubleshooter, salesman for a food service company and employe of the State Highway Department.

★ ★ ★

Lees has held positions with the Seafarers International Union and the Office Employes International Union. He and other Democratic candidates in the county have been endorsed by the county AFL-CIO Council.

★ ★ ★

He was unsuccessful in his contest with Murphy two years ago and had twice before bid for senate and judicial positions in other counties.

His statement follows:

★ ★ ★

"I believe it is time for a change in county government. A complete Democratic administration would let some refreshing light into the County Building."

Nonpartisan Candidates

Along with 12 Republican and Democratic candidates for six county offices on the Nov. 6 ballot are three nonpartisan candidates who are unopposed for re-election.

★ ★ ★

Probate Court Judge Donald E. Adams is the lone candidate for the two-year term on the probate court bench. Judge Adams was the first to be elected to the short-term judgeship after it was created by the state legislature in 1960.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Court Commissioners Maurice F. Cole and Verne C. Hampton also are up for re-election. Voters will cast ballots for two commissioners.

CHARLES A. SPARKS (R)
For Treasurer

First elected county treasurer in 1932, Charles A. Sparks, 69, of 7010 Hatchery Road, Waterford Township, has held the office continuously for 30 years.

Sparks maintained his own real estate and insurance office from 1920 to 1932 after working five years for the old Oakland Motor Car Co., now Pontiac Motor Division. He came to Pontiac in 1915 from Knoxville, Tenn.

He is a past exalted ruler and life member of Elks Lodge No. 810 of Pontiac, past president and life member of Oakland County Sportsmen's Club; past president of State Association of County Treasurers, a member of the National County Officers Association and a member of the National Association of County Treasurers and Finance Officers.

His statement follows:

"The first year of my tenure in office, 1933, the receipts were $4 million. The receipts during 1961 are well over $100 million. Through the installation of automatic and electronic machines, during the years, I have maintained and increased the efficiency in the office.

"The Oakland County treasurer's office has become a model for counties all over the state and many of the procedures have been copied where at all feasible.

"Investments for all funds under the control of the county treasurer exceed $55 million. The intricate and technical knowledge necessary in handling this kind of an operation is almost inconceivable. My office has been commended for astuteness in this phase of work by many financial experts in Detroit and Oakland County.

"I believe 30 years of practical experience is the best qualification for office anyone could have.

"During 1961 my office returned a total of about $422,000 in interest from investing county funds. Interest proceeds will go over $1 million for 1962, including about $600,000 already received on 12-Town Drain funds invested.

"Also during 1961, the fees taken in by my office (not counting taxes) amounted to $2,800 more than the expenditures of the office."

Betty H. McVay (D)
FOR TREASURER

A former school teacher in Virginia, Mrs. Betty H. McVay, 54, of 1678 Yosemite St., Birmingham has been active in civic activities and politics since coming to Michigan in 1955.

Mrs. McVay is vice chairman of the Democratic County Committee, chairman of the Birmingham Democratic Club and a precinct delegate. She is the lone woman among candidates for county office.

A 1930 graduate of Flora MacDonald College in North Carolina, Mrs. McVay is on the board of Family Service of Oakland, County Urban League of Pontiac and is a member of the American Association of the United Nations and the American Civil Liberties Union.

Her statement follows:

"A county treasurer should police the receipts and expenditures of all county funds, and give adequate publicity to these receipts and expenditures.

"Has the present treasurer discharged these responsibilities?

★ ★ ★

"While approving a new courthouse, the voters of Oakland County twice rejected a bond issue for its construction. Yet, the money to build it was found.

Over a period of three years the County Board of Supervisors underestimated the receipts from nonproperty tax collections to the tune of some $3.7-million.

Since there is no budget allocation for this allegedly unanticipated money, the board of supervisors is free to spend it in what it deems the most fitting manner.

The net effect to you and me is a property tax rate that is probably higher than it needs to be and a rather distressing lack of accountability for the expenditure of public funds.

Indirectly, the county treasurer can do a good deal about this by publicizing these lopsided surpluses and semisecret expenditures. The exposure of these operations to public view can induce a much higher degree of financial responsibility in the board of supervisors.

The county treasurer should be the people's caretaker of public funds. That is the kind of county treasurer I plan to be.

DANIEL W. BARRY (R)
For Drain Commissioner

Oakland County's drain commissioner since 1957, Daniel W. Barry is seeking his fourth term in the post.

A graduate of Michigan State University, the 39-year-old Barry, who lives at 169 Pleasant Lake Drive, Union Lake, was a restaurant manager and an automobile salesman before his election in 1956.

Barry, a World War II veteran who served in the Air Corps 19th Bombardment Group in the Pacific theater, received most of his early education in Pontiac at St. Michael's School and St. Frederick High School.

His statement follows:

Since assuming the office of drain commissioner in January 1957, I have successfully initiated and coordinated a public works construction program for Oakland County unparalleled in the state of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

"Under construction is the massive Twelve Towns Drain serving 14 municipalities in southeastern Oakland County.

"In the city of Southfield the Eight Mile Drain, the Northwestern Drain and the Southfield Drain are under construction.

"Bids will be received in December and January for the Dequindre interceptor and Red Run enclosure.

"Two intercounty drains are scheduled for construction in April 1963. These are the Kutchey Drain and Sharkey Drain serving the cities of Hazel Park and Madison Heights and the city of Warren in Macomb County.

★ ★ ★

"The intercounty Bear Creek Drain serving Oakland and Macomb counties is under construction. The Pontiac-Clinton Drain, which calls for relocating and enclosure of the Clinton River through the city of Pontiac, is under engineering design and scheduled for 1963 construction.

"Sixteen lake-level projects are under study with construction scheduled for 1963.

"For a continuation of this dynamic program caring for the public works needs of the citizens of Oakland County, it is of utmost importance to retain a proven, professional administrator."

ROY J. RUSSELL (D)
For Drain Commissioner

Roy J. Russell's first campaign for election as drain commissioner was unsuccessful in 1960. Russell, a University of Michigan graduate, is a member of McAlpine Engineers, Inc., of Birmingham.

Russell, 32, of 436 Grey Road, Auburn Heights, is a civil engineer with 11 years of work on drainage projects in Oakland County.

He is manager of the Secretary of State branch office in Birmingham and belongs to several engineering societies. He is part owner of the McAlpine firm, an engineering and land survey company.

His statement follows:

"The highly technical nature of design, construction and maintenance of drains requires that the drain commissioner should have a broad knowledge in engineering and construction. State laws require that where public improvements are proposed, the design and construction of those improvements shall be carried out under direct supervision of a licensed engineer.

★ ★ ★

"It is not only desirable and important, but necessary that the commissioner be a registered professional engineer.

"The present drain commissioner is not an engineer.

"His administration has been beset with personnel problems which reflect his lack of an engineering background.

★ ★ ★

"In the last six months, the chief engineer, chief of inspectors and a $65-per-day project coordinator have either resigned or been fired. These were all very able, technically trained personnel who were unable to communicate satisfactorily with the drain commissioner.

★ ★ ★

"It is not enough for a drain commissioner to be merely a Republican or Democrat. The job requires a man who has professional skills, administrative ability and a background in drainage work.

"I am a practicing consulting civil engineer and have worked on drainage projects in Oakland County for the past 11 years.

"It is time to fill a professional job with a professional man."

Both Candidates Seek End of Surveyor Post

Today's question in government class is: Which candidates for Oakland County office believe the office they seek should be eliminated?

★ ★ ★

Answer: Both candidates for the post of county surveyor.

Voters will get a chance to follow their recommendations Nov. 6 when they decide on a ballot proposal to abolish the post, which has no duties and provides no pay.

Both Republican incumbent Ralph A. Main, who has been county surveyor for six years, and his Democratic challenger, Stanley F. Dunn, recommend the post be abolished.

Eliminating the post is possible under a 1941 state law that permits counties with a population of 500,000 or more to do so.

Oakland County, with a population of about 700,000, passed the 500,000 mark in the 1960 census, thus becoming eligible to discard its surveyor.

The statute does not make clear that the people must vote on the issue, but county officials believe that was the intent.

"The surveyor serves no purpose," say county officials. No one has been uncovered who opposes abolishment of the office.

★ ★ ★

"I only run because it's on the ballot," Main says. "It's not a job — there's no office, no salary and no work." He has been advocating abolishment of the post for some time.

Dunn says he's a candidate for the office only in order to keep active in Democratic party affairs.

★ ★ ★

"The job takes up one position on an already cluttered ballot," says county Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. "When we can trim something to make it easier for the voters, I think we should."

RALPH A. MAIN (R)
For Surveyor

A former Oakland County drain commissioner, Republican Ralph A. Main has held the office of county surveyor for six years.

★ ★ ★

Main is 58 years old and a resident of Birmingham. He is a former mayor of Birmingham and former member of the county board of supervisors. He is a consulting civil engineer in his own firm, Main and Fox, Inc., of Birmingham.

Main, however, is recommending that voters abolish his post by voting "Yes" on the county proposal on the Nov. 6 ballot.

"In Oakland County the office of county surveyor has been carried on in name only because of a statutory requirement to have the same appear on the ballot," he says.

★ ★ ★

A 1941 state law permits counties with a population of 500,000 or more to abolish the office. Oakland County's population is approximately 700,000.

Main says there are no duties connected with the post.

STANLEY F. RUNN (D)
For Surveyor

Stanley F. Dunn, a 45-year-old resident of 6635 Colby Lane, Bloomfield Township, is an engineer in the body engineering department of Chrysler Corp. in Highland Park.

★ ★ ★

Prior to 14 years at Chrysler, he spent four years in engineering at Fisher Body Division in Detroit and eight years in engineering at the Ford Motor Co.

He attended Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Dunn also recommends that the office be abolished by Oakland County voters.

He says the only reason he is a candidate for the office is to keep active in Democratic politics.

Witness Back in Hoffa Trial

Beveridge Repeating Testimony on 'Cut-In'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A key witness, tight-lipped and fidgety after two days on the stand, was ordered back for further cross-examination today in the $1-million conspiracy trial of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

★ ★ ★

The witness, Bertram B. Beveridge, is a former official of a nationwide auto transport firm and has been utilized by both sides, although his testimony has been largely a repetition of what he told the McClellan congressional investigating committee.

Testimony in the Federal District Court trial began Monday.

Hoffa's lawyers sought to show through Beveridge that Hoffa stopped a strike at Commercial Carriers' Flint, Mich., terminal in December 1948 because the walkout was illegal. Beveridge at that time was general manager of the Detroit firm.

The government contended Hoffa's action was motivated by an undercover payoff from Commercial Carriers through a dummy trucking company.

Beveridge, of Palm Beach County, Fla., testified under government questioning that the trucking company — which became Test Fleet Corp. — was proposed by Owen Brennan, Teamsters vice president, about three months after the Flint strike was settled. Brennan died at Detroit in 1960.

★ ★ ★

The witness said he agreed to help form the company and have commercial carriers lease 10 trucks from it. Beveridge said he was told by Brennan that they would "have to cut Hoffa in on the deal."

Test Fleet was chartered here in 1949 by an attorney for Commercial Carriers, the witness said. Stock in the new firm was listed in the maiden names of Mrs. Hoffa and Mrs. Brennan.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "I'm a conservative man who likes to keep some of his money in corporate bonds. Could I put a few thousand dollars into a good public utility bond at any kind of a reasonable yield?" R. L.

(A) I'm rather a conservative myself when it comes to investments, and I like to work in bonds. I do think, however, that at present levels they're just too rich for the average individual investor.

The major market for corporate bonds is the big institutional buyer — for pension funds or for life insurance companies which may be largely restricted to this type of investment.

Let me tell you one or two issues that are available and you can then make up your own mind. There are American Telephone debenture 4⅝'s due 1994—noncallable before 1967 — selling to yield 4.32 per cent. Or you can buy Commonwealth Edison 4⅝'s due 1992 with call protection until 1967 — at a 4.25 per cent yield basis.

(Q) "Would you please comment on the use of stop-loss orders?" J. T.

(A) Gladly. The "stop-loss order" or "stop order," as it is known in brokerage circles, is a device which helps you to protect your profits.

Suppose you bought a stock at 50 and it has moved up to 65. After such an advance, you are a bit concerned so you give your broker a stop order at 60. This means he is to sell the stock if it drops to that level. There is no guarantee, however, that your broker will be able to get an execution at that figure.

If your stock declines to 60, the stop order becomes an order to sell at the market. The danger is that many other investors may have entered stop orders at about the same figure as yours.

If the price declines to 60 and a flood of stop orders is touched off, you might well get a considerably lower price than you bargained for.

Industry Has Trouble Making Money

Steel Fortunes Down in the Dumps

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP)—The $16-billion steel industry, long a key prop to the nation's economy, has fallen on evil days.

Its money-making ability has gone to pot lately. There is promise of a pickup in the months ahead, but not a great deal.

U.S. Steel Corp., industry goliath, showed how bad things have gotten with a report that July-

News Analysis

September profits hit a 16-year low for a nonstrike period, and by cutting its dividend for the first time since the 1930s.

What does it mean to people generally, those who don't own stock? How did the slump develop in a time of relative prosperity?

First, steel's troubles are a sympton that all is not well with the economy generally.

As Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel board chairman, put it: "one factor that is holding back demand as much as anything is lack of industrial growth."

For reasons that go far beyond steel's problems, businessmen are not putting up new factories and buying new production machinery at a rate fast enough to provide a healthy expansion of the economy.

This reflects adversely on employment, slowing the process of putting jobless men back to work and holding back a rise in consumer spending power that would contribute to nearly everybody's prosperity.

President Kennedy, among others, has recognized the problem, and tried to do something about it by depreciation and tax reforms.

MARKETS BATTERED

Secondly, steel's markets have taken a battering—from overseas steel producers, and from rival materials at home like aluminum, plastics, glass and concrete.

These influences started developing years ago. They help explain why, despite a 60 per cent buildup in capacity to 160 million tons since World War II, steel's production has held on a plateau of roughly 100 million tons a year for the last five years.

To complicate matters this year big steel users stock-piled heavily in the early months, hedging against a strike that never came, and have been living partly off inventories ever since.

Inability to raise prices, dramatized by last spring's historic conflict with President Kennedy over an attempt to do so, and steadily rising employment and other costs intensified the squeeze on steel company profits.

Still another factor is a technological upheaval in steelmaking methods. Because much domestic plant was old, foreign steel firms, rebuilt since the war, have gained competitive advantage.

To lick this problem, U.S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp., second-ranking producer, between them have committed $400 million this year alone on new and improved facilities.

U.S. Steel became the fifth major steel company to cut its divident Tuesday, paring its quarterly payout to 50 cents a share from 75 cents. The old rate had been in effect since late 1956.

At $26.8 million, July-September earnings fell to the lowest level since the April-June quarter of 1946 when $13.9 million was cleared. Profits in the 1961 third quarter were $51.8 million.

Of the 10 largest steel firms, two went into the red — Kaiser Steel Corp. and Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp.

Bethlehem's earnings dropped nearly 60 per cent, Republic Steel Corp.'s fell 45 per cent, National Steel Corp.'s about 35 per cent and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.'s almost 80 per cent.

Anderson Tells Facts on Jobs

Claims Dem Opponent Omitted Whole Story

State Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, today accused his opponent of "failing to give all the facts" concerning Anderson's job with the Oakland County Road Commission.

Anderson said John S. Coleman, his Democratic opponent in his bid for re-election Nov. 6, knew all the facts but only put forth some of them in his criticism of Anderson's job as a right-of-way buyer.

The job requires him to work many nights, he said, because meetings with both husband and wife for right-of-way negotiations concerning their property often can be arranged only at night.

He also works on weekends even while the State Legislature is in session, Anderson said.

He said he was on the job full-time for the road commission seven or eight months out of the year. Coleman charged he was paid $6,900 annually "for four or five months work or less."

Anderson said he has never made any attempt to conceal the fact of his employment with the road commission.

Will Probe Feeling on Proposed Library

Waterford Township Board of Education members will attempt to establish the school system's position on a proposed township public library at a special meeting tomorrow night.

A statement from the school district is sought by Township Clerk James Seeterlin, chairman of a Township Board committee studying aspects of a proposed library.

With no public library in the community, penal fines have been given to the school system in the past. There is still some question of how this revenue of about $5,000 annually would be distributed if a public library existed.

In other business the board will consider an expenditure for the refinishing of furniture at Waterford Township High School.

Drain Project Gets Fund OK

County to Issue Books on Northwestern Plan

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission has approved the issuance of $850,000 in bonds by the Oakland County Drain Commission for the Northwestern drain, it was announced today in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The drain, already under construction, will serve Northland Center and about 100 homes in the Southfield area when completed around Jan. 1.

It also will enable further development in the center, Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry noted.

Money was advanced by Northland investors to begin the project before completion of the Northwestern Freeway, Barry said. Otherwise the drain cost would increase considerably.

★ ★ ★

Once sold, the bonds will be retired by assessments on users.

★ ★ ★

The Northwestern drain will connect into the Eight Mile Road drain which flows into the Rouge River.

Drayton Plains Man Gets Long Sentence

Clinton M. Dodge, 43, Drayton Plains, received a long sentence yesterday from a Genesee County Circuit Court judge and with it a rebuke for not using his high intelligence to better advantage.

Dodge, 2195 Fortress St., was sentenced to 2½ to 50 years in prison for the May 2 holdup of Hotel Durant in Flint that netted $350.

Judge Donn D. Parker told Dodge he had a higher IQ than any of the county's four Circuit Court judges but nevertheless was a serious threat to a civilized community.

★ ★ ★

Dodge, on parole from Texas for armed robbery, attacked a Genesee County Jail turnkey Saturday in an attempted escape and then made a vain suicide attempt that night.

Lottery Raid Nets 3 Children; Police Do Double Duty

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Two members of the city vice squad started out on a lottery raid and ended up baby sitting.

★ ★ ★

Detectives Louis Cueto and Bill Whitmer burst into a Tampa home. They found numbers lists scattered across the floor and three wide-eyed children, ages 2 to 5, sitting at a kitchen table.

"Mama, mama — she just went out the door," one of the children yelled.

"I showed them my badge and told them I was a police officer and their friend," said Cueto.

★ ★ ★

"I fixed them peanut butter sandwiches. I got one of them a glass of water. One was assisted to the potty chair. I told them to go ahead and eat their sandwiches and their mommy and daddy would be back soon, but they didn't say one word."

★ ★ ★

The father came home and the children swarmed all over him. Cueto said. The mother, a 22-year-old woman identified as Thelma Patterson, surrendered and was charged with conducting a lottery.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Reports from its committee on Christian social action come before the 40th general conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church today — the last full day of business sessions.

The committee report covers recommendations for the denomination's stand on such items as racial matters, nuclear testing, divorce and capital punishment.

Delegates last night approved a plan for the reorganization of four European conferences which cover 77,000 members. It includes creation of a church construction fund, pension fund and a student exchange.

The conference agenda today includes election of members to various boards. It closes with the installation of its seven - member board of bishops and general church officers tomorrow.

New Soo Lock to Run Longer

DETROIT (AP) — The new Great Lakes ship lock at Sault Ste. Marie to replace the old Poe Lock will be 1,200 feet long, the Army Corps of Engineers announced yesterday in expanding construction plans.

Prior plans had been for a lock of 1,000 feet.

As a result, speculation was heard that future lakes ore carriers might be built to a length of 1,000 feet. The very largest on the lakes now are a little more than 700 feet long.

The Corps of Engineers said the new lock will be 110 feet in width. The previous figure was 100 feet.

Construction of the new lock, first authorized by Congress in 1946, has been held up because carriers and shipbuilders have been planning to build vessels 900 feet in length.

Construction is expected to resume next year after drawing of new plans. Completion is expected about March of 1967. Total cost will be $37 million, or $4 million more than the previous authorization.

Col. H. C. Pfeil, Detroit district engineer, made the announcement of the new plans. The Detroit office has jurisdiction over the Soo locks.

Warns Castro May Be Rough

Aide Says He Could Upset Nikita's Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba's Fidel Castro could upset the agreement reached between President Kennedy and Russia's Premier Nikita Khrushchev last Sunday, assistant secretary of state said today.

Referring to Castro's five demands including U.S. withdrawal from the Guantanamo Naval Base, Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary for inter-American affairs, said "We do not know how firmly he may insist on them."

Martin pointed out that Castro has "preponderant military power in Cuba, he has certain opportunities to make it very difficult to carry out the agreement if he should choose to do so."

Martin, interviewed on "Press Conference U.S.A.," a radio program of the Voice of America, added however that if Castro attempts to upset the settlement he may risk loss of Soviet economic support.

But, he added, "there is no reason to believe that Mr. Khrushchev would find it easy to have a Communist state collapse economically and become a sign of the economic difficulties of communism, or that he would like to give up Cuba as a place from which to operate subversively in the rest of Latin America."

A GUARANTEE

Discussing Kennedy's commitment not to invade Cuba if the Soviets keep their promise and dismantle their missile bases on the island, Martin said this was a "very specific and definite guarantee" and not a guarantee of the status quo.

The question of invasion arose because of the presence of Soviet-installed missiles, Martin said, and "if those missiles are removed then the necessity for an invasion is removed . . . I think that beyond that one cannot go — as the President did not go."

Motorist Keeps Gas Supply for Needy Comrades

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—John E. Lindsay and his girl friend were returning from a late dance when their car ran out of gas.

The streets were deserted and all of the service stations appeared to be closed.

★ ★ ★

The man poured the gasoline into the stalled auto, but refused to accept any money or give his name. He merely said:

"I carry gasoline all the time for stranded motorists. I wish others would do this and maybe be could spread some human brotherhood."

Talk Could Stretch Out Council

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — At this rate, the Ecumenical Council could last for 20 years.

The reason: talk — and every word of it in Latin.

When the council began, Pope John XXIII told the delegates they could each speak for a maximum 10 minutes on every subject brought up.

There are some 2,500 prelates attending the conference. There are 70 major topics. That alone could mean 1.4 million minutes of speech-making in the language of Caesar — the council's official tongue.

NUMBER OF SUBJECTS

But within each major topic are a number of subjects good for millions more minutes of debate.

"Bishops," said one Vatican observer, "are men with opinions and, as bishops, they are accustomed to having those opinions listened to."

If the delegates talk until 1962, they could out-do the 18-year Council of Trent, which lasted from 1545 to 1563.

That council outlived two popes, but historians do not blame oratory for its length the delegates were forced to spend time making up their own rules of procedure and agenda as they went along.

The current council is carefully mapped out.

Chiang, 75 Today, Very Alert and Busy

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek is celebrating his 75th birthday today in good health and still voicing confidence his Chinese Nationalists will recover mainland China in his lifetime.

This birthday is his 15th in Formosa since he quit the mainland Dec. 10, 1949.

ALERT AS EVER

Chiang seems as alert as ever, his eyes still as penetrating, his power of concentration unweakened.

He is strict on state business, but a genial, readily smiling host on social occasions.

★ ★ ★

He unbends with only a few people: his elder son, Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo; his secretary-general, onetime Premier Chang Chun, who has been associated with the generalissimo since they were military cadets in Japan, and vice President-Premier Cheh Cheng, a fellow native of the mainland province of Chekiang, who has served under him since 1924.

★ ★ ★

Since his last birthday Chiang has varied some of the patterns of his daily life.

★ ★ ★

He works mostly at his suburban home instead of at presidential headquarters in downtown Taipei.

★ ★ ★

He attends fewer routine military, political and economic conferences. He skips most meetings of the powerful standing committee of the Kuomintang, his ruling party.

NO IDLER

The change in his pattern of work does not mean Chiang is idling his time away, for his routine would tax many a younger man. He is delegating more work to Chen Cheng, his political heir-apparent, and other ministers, while concentrating on matters of top importance.

Chiang also wants to conserve his health. He regards this as a duty necessary for realizing his government's supreme goal — recovery of the mainland. Aides say Chiang has had no recurrence of the bladder trouble for which he underwent an operation at the end of April.

He gets up at 6, exercises, is shaved by a barber, prays and meditates (he is a Methodist). He also works on his diary—a task he never neglects.

★ ★ ★

While he breakfasts an aide reads newspaper items likely to interest him.

After breakfast, his confidential secretary brings state documents for consideration. Around 10 a.m., he starts to receive important visitors.

★ ★ ★

Chiang works until about 1 p.m. then has lunch, usually with Mme. Chiang. He naps for an hour or so, returns to work, and often has guests at tea.

DINNER AT 7

At dusk he usually walks in the garden or takes a drive. He and Mme. Chiang have dinner at 7 or 7:30 p.m., sometimes with guests.

Chiang likes to go to bed around 10 p.m.

Before retiring he does some exercise, drinks a glass of milk, prays and meditates. He is a sound sleeper.

Chiang does not smoke or drnik, but he offers cigarettes to guests and takes a symbolic sip of wine in exchanging toasts.

He likes his meat and poultry well cooked and always has dessert—ice cream, a custard or fruit. He drinks water in preference to tea.

Chiang does not like air-conditioning and even in summer dispenses with it.

CHINESE GOWN

In public he usually wears an unadorned uniform. At home he prefers a long Chinese gown.

Chiang pays close attention to foreign affairs and how they affect his country's interests.

★ ★ ★

He also studies intently all intelligence reports from the mainland. He seems convinced a pro-Nationalist revolt will break out there. If it erupts, he is determined to fuse it with all the support his armed forces can give. He has promised to abolish the commune system and to guarantee the people freedom of residence, movement, correspondence and family life.

★ ★ ★

Chiang regards the Chinese Communists as betrayers of the 1911 revolution which ended more than 46 centuries of monarchical rule in China. His long-standing policy toward them is: a fight to the finish, no negotiations and no compromise.
