Nixon to Beat Romney, Editors Feel

GEORGE ROMNEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sample survey indicates newspaper editors predominantly believe Richard M. Nixon will override a strong challenge from Michigan's Gov. Romney and other potential candidates to win the Republican nomination for president in 1968.

★ ★ ★

Fifty-one of 103 editors interviewed at random during the 1967 convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors here said they thought Nixon will get the top spot on the GOP ticket next year. The editors were asked who they personally thought would be nominated, not who they preferred.

Romney was endorsed by 33 editors, many of whom cited his early start in the campaign. Two others — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois won top dark horse ratings with nine votes each. Newly elected California Gov. Ronald Reagan got one endorsement.

John W. Fitzgerald, editor of The Pontiac Press, is attending the ASNE meetings this week.

The editors also were asked who they thought would head the Democrat ticket next year. They found the answer easy: All 103 named President Johnson, with Hubert H. Humphrey getting strong support to again serve as vice president.

Not all the editors who named Nixon to head next year's GOP ticket were sure it's a good thing. "He'll come back but he'll get the hell beat out of him if he does," said Robert C. Herrick, editor of the Muskegon, Mich., Chronicle. "Romney is running too fast and too soon," he added.

'NOT HAPPY ABOUT IT'

Frank Eyerly, managing editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, picked Johnson and Nixon to face each other in 1968. "And I'm not happy about it in either case," he said.

But others cited Nixon's knowledge of foreign affairs and his record as a hard-working GOP campaigner. "They owe him," said George Passage of the New-Port News, R.I., Daily Press Inc.

Jesse Earle Bowden, editor-in-chief of the Pensacola, Fla., News-Journal, said Nixon "has the best chance of putting both ends of the party together."

Clayton Kirkpatrick, managing editor of the Chicago Tribune, added: "He seems to have the organization."

'FRONT RUNNER

Support for Romney was linked to his early campaign start. "He's the front-runner," said Cy King, executive editor of the Buffalo Courier-Express.

NAME GAME—Some parents can't decide what name to give their offspring, but Mrs. William Ryan had 26 of them ready—one for each letter in the alphabet. However, she had to settle for Timothy William Hugh when the Oakland County clerk's office said it wasn't going to play the name game with her. Mrs. Ryan, 25, of Dearborn Heights gave birth to a five-pound two-ounce son Sunday at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Township.

Death Deadlocks State House

LANSING (AP) — State Rep. James S. Nunneley, a first-term Republican from Mount Clemens who seldom missed an appointment and seldom spoke on the floor of the House, died last night in his Capitol Building office.

The quiet, 56-year-old widower apparently suffered a heart attack shortly after 9 p.m., when he returned from dinner following a lengthy House Republican caucus.

Nunneley was the second Michigan legislator to die this year.

House Democratic leader Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit suffered a stroke March 16, also in the Capitol Building, and died two days later.

Nunneley's death leaves the House deadlocked again, with 54 Republicans and 54 Democrats.

Gov. Romney will schedule a special election to fill his 75th District seat. Romney previously picked May 23 as the date to fill Kowalski's seat.

The Legislature's current schedule sets May 19 as the final date for passing bills.

Funeral services for Nunneley were scheduled tentatively for Monday at First Presbyterian Church in Mount Clemens, with burial in the family plot in Clinton Grove Cemetery.

Fellow legislators today praised their Macomb County colleague, who defeated incumbent Democrat Victor R. Steeh of Mount Clemens in 1966 after losing to him two years earlier.

He was a very capable legislator," said House Republican Floor Leader William Hampton of Bloomfield Hills. "He was self-contained and not overly vocal on the floor, but he was very well versed in the various activities of the Legislature and he was a promising legislator."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Robert C. Stites, R-Manitou Beach, who ate dinner with Nunneley and then, less than an hour later, tried to save his life with artificial respiration, said the Mount Clemens lawmaker had appeared in perfect health as they joked earlier in the evening.

★ ★ ★

Stites said he and Rep. Allen F. Rush, R-Lake Orion, had kidded Nunneley at dinner because his first bill of the session — a minor measure regulating fishing shanties — had been the last measure passed before the House adjourned yesterday.

Weatherman Says Skies Will Clear

Clearing skies and cooler temperatures were expected to follow in the wake of a steady drizzle which fell in the Pontiac area throughout last night and early today.

Light showers had given way to a fog-like mist by midmorning, with the weatherman predicting mild conditions to linger only until an onset of westerly winds tonight.

Considerable cloudiness and brisk southerly breezes will prevail until early this evening.

A wet 40 degrees was the low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury registered 60 at 2 p.m.

UAW to Vote on Workweek

DETROIT (AP) — Although some delegates forecast a strike would be necessary to win major goals already on the table, Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president, has agreed to let his union vote on adding a 35-hour week to 1967 contract demands.

WALTER P. REUTHER

Some 3,000 delegates attending a goals-setting convention of the 1.4-million-member union will vote on the resolution.

Reuther has pleaded for "flexibility" when he begins bargaining in early July on new agreements with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. He has opposed writing any dollars-and-cents or hours-per-week figures into demands.

But under pressure from dissidents, led by a group of delegates from Cleveland, Ohio, Reuther agreed Thursday to let a 35-hour week proposal come to a vote later.

★ ★ ★

Ray Battestilli of Utica, Mich., and Tom Bradford of Dearborn, Mich., were among delegates predicting from the floor a strike would be necessary to win a substantial wage increase, a guaranteed annual income, parity for Canadian auto workers, higher and earlier pensions and a major portion of other demands recommended by Reuther.

"I believe we're going to have a hell of a struggle and I believe we are going to have to hit the bricks," said Battestilli, who forecast that if a strike comes "LBJ will call in Walter Reuther and say, 'We can't have this disrupting the economy with a war going on,' "

Hanoi Rejects Plan

TOKYO (AP)—North Vietnam rejected today a new U.S. proposal to establish a 26-mile demilitarized zone between the two Vietnams, Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency reported.

North Vietnam called the American proposal "a trick aimed at camouflaging the U.S. war escalation" and described it as a "violation of the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam and the statute of the demilitarized zone."

The news agency also asserted the plan was aimed at "setting up a vast no man's land perpetually partitioning Vietnam."

The U. S. proposal called for withdrawal of American and South Vietnamese troops 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone if North Vietnam pulls its forces 10 miles north of the six-mile-wide zone.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. proposal was based upon a plan announced early this week by Canada's Foreign Minister Paul Martin. It was endorsed by the South Vietnamese government Tuesday.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk made the offer at a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's Council of Ministers in Washington Wednesday.

OCC Trustees Okay Revised Tuition Fees

New tuition fees which will make it more expensive for the full-time student at Oakland Community College will go into effect this fall.

OCC's Board of Trustees passed a new tuition plan last night which encourages students to take less than 12 credit hours per session.

Tuition will now be $9 per credit hour rather than the present uneven scale.

In effect, most part-time students will be paying anywhere from $13 less than the current rates to about $1 more.

★ ★ ★

Taking more than 12 credits will now be an expensive proposition. Currently, full-timers taking more than 12 credits pay a flat rate of $103 but this fall they will have to pay anywhere from $5 to $77 more.

"The new plan will motivate the student not to take an overload of credits," OCC President Dr. John E. Tirrell told the trustees. "The current plan puts a hardship on students taking one or two courses."

Almost half of OCC's full- and part-time students are taking 12 and 13 credits, according to an OCC survey.

Under the new plan, a one-time $15 matriculation fee for new students taking six or more hours would be charged.

A $10 enrollment fee is currently being levied. Credit rates are currently $10 each for 1 to 3 credits, $7 for 4 to 12 credits and $103 total for 13 credits or more.

King Puts Military in Control of Greece

ROME (AP) — Young King Constantine of Greece put the army in control of his country today to block leftist opponents of the monarchy.

A source in the Greek Embassy in Rome said the embassy had been advised from Athens that the election of a new Greek Parliament would be held on schedule May 28 despite the military takeover.

"We have been informed," said the source, "that the coup was staged to assure public order and prevent any extremist revolution during the period preceding the election."

He added that the embassy was told the country was completely calm.

The Athens army radio announced that the military had taken over the Balkan member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at midnight under a proclamation signed by the 26-year-old king, conservative Premier Panayiotis Canellopoulos and his cabinet.

CLIMAXES STRUGGLE

The power move climaxed a 21-month struggle between the king and the two leaders of the powerful leftist Center Union party, 80-year-old former Premier George Papandreou and his son Andreas, 48, a former American citizen.

The Papandreous had been scheduled to open their campaign for the May 28 parliamentary elections on Sunday.

The Greek police feared they would touch off widespread demonstrations against the king.

Normal communications with Greece were cut and commercial flights in and out of Athens were suspended.

SOLDIERS PATROL

Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, reported from Athens that tanks with soldiers in full battle dress were patrolling the streets of the capital and that pedestrians and civilian vehicles were kept off the streets.

The Yugoslav report said schools were closed, telephone service cut, and the civilian radio station was silent. Newspapers were not publishing and police were stationed outside their doors, Tanjug said.

The Papandreous have been bitter critics of the Greek monarchy, accusing it of meddling in politics in violation of the Greek constitution.

However, the father has repeatedly denied he sought the monarch's overthrow. He said he wanted the king to reign while the people ruled.

Value of 'Death Strip' Being Bulldozed in Viet Jungle Doubted

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — American and Vietnamese bulldozers are gouging out a 12-mile-long "death strip" in the jungle south of the demilitarized zone that appears to be of questionable military value and certain to cause a high toll of American casualties.

U.S. military spokesmen in Da Nang refuse to discuss the subject. Senior Marines say the part of the strip above their positions near the demilitarized zone is being cleared only to give their troops a better field of fire.

Officials in Saigon have claimed the strip is designed to make any invasion of South Vietnam certain to cost the enemy high casualties. But competent South Vietnamese and American sources agree that the main routes of infiltration from North Vietnam are far west of the strip being cut from Con Thien east to the South China Sea.

They also agree the strip will do nothing to halt heavy artillery, rocket and mortar attacks that have hammered American forward positions. Enemy gunners can fire effectively from well north of the strip.

A DEATH ZONE

A South Vietnamese regimental commander said the entire length of the strip would be turned into a death zone with pillboxes, mine fields, barbed wire and watchtowers guarding it — like the Maginot Line that failed to save France from the Germans in World War II.

★ ★ ★

An American source said he understood that the South Vietnamese government is pressing to make the zone 1,000 yards wide — instead of 220 yards as now planned — and to extend it from the sea to the Laotian border, a distance of 45 miles.

At the present rate of American casualties per yard cleared, this could mean about 1,300 dead or wounded U.S. troops as a result of mine and mortar attacks. The first 2.6 miles cost 66 casualties and dangerous areas still are ahead.

The strip idea appears to have been aimed originally at improving fields of fire but has become a much larger proposal being pushed by the Saigon government.

ROUTE FORMED

Even if the strip was driven through the rugged mountains to the Laotian border, it would only force the North Vietnamese infiltrators to detour through Laos. Well established, all weather roads already form this route.

Military sources agree that the grand Vietnamese plan for a fortified zone, if put into effect, would require large numbers of allied troops to protect it. A Marine source said the North Vietnamese would be able to punch through the zone with relative ease unless a vast number of defenders manned it.

Rubber Union Strikes 3 of 4 Major Firms

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The United Rubber Workers Union struck three of the big four rubber companies today as contracts expired at midnight. More than 50,000 union jobs were affected.

★ ★ ★

It was the first company-wide strike since 1965 when the rubber workers manned picket lines against the U.S. Rubber Co., now Uniroyal.

A union spokesman said it was the biggest since 1959 when the union called walkouts against the same companies struck early today — the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., the B.F. Goodrich Co., and Uniroyal.

★ ★ ★

Word of the breakdown in Firestone negotiations came at about 10:30 p.m. Thursday. The Goodrich strike was announced shortly after midnight, and Uniroyal was struck a few minutes later.

Romney Plans S. America Trip

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney confirmed today he has "tentative plans" for a three-week trip to Latin America next month but would give no further details.

"This is contingent on the situation here in Michigan," Romney said. "My responsibilities as governor will continue to get priority."

That may have been a reference to the fiscal reform battle now in the Legislature. Romney has urged passage of a tax-changing package which includes a new state income tax.

Romney said it is "too early to discuss" what countries he hoped to visit on the Latin trip or with whom he hoped to meet.

★ ★ ★

The trip, if he makes it, "would be to get background and a better feel of the whole South American situation," said Romney, undeclared candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Photos Show Surveyor Bounced Twice Before Resting

Arm Is Extended

Surveyor to Scratch Lunar Soil Tonight

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 3 extended a shaky, tubular arm today but did not attempt to scratch the moon's pitted hide.

★ ★ ★

Trenching of the lunar soil may come sometime after 7 p.m. EST today when Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists resume remote control operation of the three-legged spacecraft's scoop.

The scissor-type extension arm with a two-by-five-inch shovel on the end began reaching out from the craft at 4:56 a.m. EST in two-second steps, a few inches at a time. The spacecraft's camera, mounted just above the arm, photographed each jerky movement and televised a series of pictures.

The arm was left extended about 50 inches a couple of feet above the moon's surface as controllers halted the operation shortly before 6 a.m. EST when the earth's rotation carried the tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., out of view of the moon. The operations will be resumed as the moon rises over Goldstone tonight.

SUB-SURFACE PHOTOS

One of the first movements tonight may be to drop the showel onto the surface, testing the bearing strength for future manned landings. Scientists also hope Surveyor will dig a trench and for the first time photograph the soil beneath the surface.

Scientists said Surveyor's arm movements quelled earlier fears that the soil-sampler's electronic equipment had been damaged shortly after the craft touched down Wednesday night in a 20-foot-deep crater of the moon's dry Ocean of Storms.

★ ★ ★

As the lunar sunrise continued, glare from the spacecraft that had marred early photographs became negligible. A spokesman said photographs radioed back were "as sharp as any from the prolific Surveyor 1 last June."

The photos show a boulder-strewn landscape, pocked by craters at 1½ to 50 yards from the spacecraft.

POWER DRAIN

Explaining the possible impairment of the soil-sampling mechanism, a spokesman recalled that soon after touchdown there were indications in telemetry data of a power drain on the craft's battery.

"We began shutting down auxiliary systems, one by one," he said, "to see if we could confirm a power drain."

★ ★ ★

It was during this time, he said, that heaters protecting the scoop mechanism were turned off. As a result, portions of the mechanism were subjected to temperatures of minus-90 degrees fahrenheit.

Project controllers said plastic and metal parts may have shrunk, cracked or suffered other damage.

COLOR PICTURES

In its picture-taking, Surveyor 3 occasionally used a red, green or orange filter. The photos are received in black and white, but experts can reconstitute the filter effects, combine them and obtain color pictures.

Pictures transmitted soon after the lunar landing were indistinct due to sun glare. By Thursday afternoon, however, the sun was at a more advantageous angle.

OPEN-AIR RIDE—Dr. Carl A. Coppolino and his wife, Mary, are shown leaving court yesterday at Naples, Fla., in a convertible. Earlier in the day, Dr. Coppolino complained of being ill, and court was recessed early for lunch. Yesterday afternoon, however, Dr. Coppolino said he was feeling better. He is on trial for first-degree murder in the death of his first wife, Carmela.

'Battle of Experts' in Coppolino Trial

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — The "battle of the experts," as defense attorney F. Lee Bailey put it, has begun in earnest in the murder trial of Dr. Carl Coppolino.

Bailey put his first expert medical witness on the stand Thursday to testify that the doctor's wife, Carmela, did not die of an injection of succinylcholine.

Prosecution experts, in six days of testifying, backed up the state's charge that Coppolino murdered his wife with a lethal injection of the paralyzing drug on Aug. 28, 1965.

Prosecutors claim the 34-year-old anesthesiologist was in financial trouble and wanted to collect $65,000 life insurance on Carmela and marry a rich divorcee, Mary Gibson.

The first defense witness, research biochemist Dr. John C. Smith, said he injected live rats with lethal doses of radioactive succinylcholine, then traced and measured it.

He said he made chemical tests on tissue taken from the track of a needle puncture on the dead woman's exhumed body and concluded "the level of choline was not consistent with a lethal injection of succinylcholine."

State and defense experts agreed that succinylcholine rapidly breaks down in the body to form succinic acid and choline. Largely because of this, the drug has been considered undetectable after death.

Dr. Charles J. Umberger, chief toxocologist for the New York City medical examiner, testified last week that he found enough succinic acid in Carmela's brain to conclude that she died of "a toxic overdose" of the drug.

News Curb Hit, Then Practiced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's new chief news spokesman told Congress Thursday too much defense news is kept secret — then before nightfall withheld from newsmen the location of two unbombed North Vietnamese power plants.

Phil G. Goulding, Arthur Sylvester's successor as assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, named 10 previously hit power-generating plants but told Pentagon reporters the locations of two other principal electrical facilities couldn't be disclosed.

★ ★ ★

This refusal was viewed as a likely sign they are marked for future targets. Some sources believe the plants are within the immediate Hanoi area.

As news reached the United States that American planes had knifed into the heart of Haiphong to bomb two thermal power units Thursday, Goulding was telling members of Congress that more military news ought to be freed for public use.

Infants' Case Arrest Likely

New leads in the discovery of the bodies of newborn twins Wednesday in Shelby Township were expected to result in an arrest later today, according to Shelby Township Police Detective Glen McAlpine.

The bodies were found at 6:55 p.m. in a recreation area along Ryna Road. Wrapped in newspaper, bed sheets and a plastic cleaning bag, the infants, a boy and a girl, were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mount Clemens, for autopsies.

Findings showed air in the lungs of the male baby, leading investigators to believe he had lived for an undetermined period of time.

School Board Gets Report in Waterford

The citizens' school finance study committee of the Waterford Township School District presented its series of 12 recommendations to the board of education last night.

Based on a six-week study in the areas of finance, future needs, personnel and program, the recommendations were well-received by board members.

The board praised the several citizens who served on the committee for their efforts and gave assurance that the recommendations would receive serious consideration.

The recommendations were made public at the study committee's final meeting Tuesday night at Pierce Junior High School.

At that time, committee members were surveyed on each recommendation. Results of the survey were disclosed at last night's board meeting.

The committee accepted all 12 suggestions, but some were more strongly supported than others.

MOST POPULAR

Among the most popular recommendations based on the survey are:

- If it is determined that additional millage is required or desired, the board should be specific in what the added funds would provide (47 in favor, 1 against).
- The board is urged to inform legislators of its own and of this committee's endorsement of state fiscal reform as a means to more adequate school finance (47 for, 1 against).
- The board is encouraged to maintain its competitive position in staff salaries (46 for, 1 against).
- The board should not call an election involving either millage renewal or increase in June (45 for, 3 against).
- The board should continue to apply present priorities in the use of its funds (42 for, 3 against).
- The board should at least maintain the present pupil-teacher ratio (40 for, 4 against).

BENEFITS

- Fringe benefits paid school employes should be studied and consideration should be given to include life insurance, sickness and accident insurance and salary continuation benefits. (42 for, 5 against).
- While school boundary lines should be adjusted periodically, the committee recommends against busing small groups of children between schools to balance class loads (41 for, 5 against).
- The next millage election should be planned for June 1968 or possibly in the fall of 1967 if economic conditions are favorable (43 for, 5 against).

★ ★ ★

Other recommendations are:

- Taxing authority should be sought for a five-year period (39 for, 6 against).
- The board is encouraged to improve the quality of its program by providing additional personnel in the following areas: elementary library (27-12), elementary physical education (29-11), elementary art (22-18), community school program (40-9) and instrumental music (22-14).
- The board is urged to consider the following recommendations also: continue the long-range site purchase program (44-3), encourage still wider use of schools and school sites as recreation and after-hour education centers (42-4), study the 12-month school year (23-22), consider providing additional daytime facilities for adult education (33-14), seek additional male elementary school teachers (40-3), expand in-service education opportunities emphasizing summer study (45-1) and improve articulation between grades six and seven (38-4).

340 Await Graduation at OU, OCC

For some 340 students who attend Oakland University and Oakland Community College this weekend will be either a joyous or sad one, depending on how you look at it.

More than 200 OU and 140 OCC students will receive degrees at commencement exercises tomorrow and Sunday, respectively.

Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton, president of the University of Hawaii, is the speaker at OU's ceremonies at 3 p.m. in the Sports and Recreation Building.

Dr. James A. Lewis, professor of education at the University of Michigan, will address the graduates at the first OCC exercises. It will be held at 2:30 p.m. in the Southfield High School auditorium, Lahser and 10 Mile Road.

OCC's Budget Gets Final OK

General Fund Outlay Million Above '66-67

A $5.6-million budget for Oakland Community College was unanimously approved by the board of trustees last night with little public opposition.

Total general fund expenditures in the new document are nearly $1 million more than the current year, primarily due to the scheduled partial opening of the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township this fall.

Chief source of income in the 1967-68 budget will be an estimated $2.7 million from the 1 mill local tax. A major expenditure will be about $1.4 million for the Highland Lakes campus.

More than $10.7 million is expected to be spent from the building and site fund. About 19.8 million of it is requested for completion of the Orchard Ridge campus.

★ ★ ★

Salaries for OCC's president and three vice presidents will not increase but trustees voted a change in the social security, state retirement and insurance program as noncontributory on their part.

INSTRUCTORS

Instructional staff will not receive any additional raises except their normal increments. President Dr. John E. Tirrell explained.

★ ★ ★

Trustee David W. Hackett proposed that instructors get the same added benefits, but his motion was soundly defeated when it was estimated that it would cost the college an additional $225,000.

James W. Hobson, vice president for business, reported that the mean faculty salary for 1967-68 will be $9,000 compared to $8,250 this year.

Principals Set at Mott, Crary

Two key administrative positions were filled by the Waterford Township Board of Education last night for the 1967-68 school year.

Based on the recommendation of Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe and a screening committee which interviewed applicants, the board appointed Richard E. Terry of Lansing principal of Charles S. Mott High School and Richard Higginbotham principal of Crary Junior High School.

TERRY

Higginbotham currently is assistant principal at the district's Pierce Junior High School.

The 42-year-old Terry now is principal of Waverly High School in Lansing, a position he has held for two years.

The holder of bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Wisconsin, he has had numerous experiences as a school administrator.

Before coming to Lansing, Terry held a high school principal's job for four years in Joliet, Ill. He was employed for six years with the Milwaukee, Wis., school system where he served as a teacher, department head, vice principal and principal of Brookfield High School.

Terry currently is working toward a doctorate at Michigan State University. He is married.

Higginbotham, 32, has held his present position at Pierce Junior High School for two years.

A product of the Mott fellowship program in Flint, he formerly was principal of Howard Community High School and taught history and government at Niles and Quincy.

Higginbotham holds bachelor's and master's degrees and an education specialist diploma from Michigan State University. He is married and has two children.

Romney Urges Rights Caution

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney says unrealistic expectations have been raised among civil rights advocates about the power of federal legislation to correct social injustice.

★ ★ ★

More federal legislation is needed, he said Thursday night, but added "the elimination of social injustice depends not only on federal action, but on state action, local action and private personal action."

★ ★ ★

In an address at an American Jewish Committee dinner, billed as his first major national speech on civil rights, Romney warned the movement is in danger of "being taken over by those who are prepared to resort to violence."

★ ★ ★

The unavowed aspirant for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination said, "We are at a critical stage in the civil rights movement which arises as a result of excessive discussion of national programs."

URGENT NEED

"It is urgent to achieve progress," he said, otherwise "America faces the ominous possibility of a succession of 'long hot summers'."

"We must overcome the all-too-human distrust and dislike of those who are different from ourselves," he said. "This is what human relations is all about and this is what your religion, and mine, require."

★ ★ ★

At a news conference earlier Thursday, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called Romney the "front-runner" for the Republican presidential nomination and urged party moderates to unite behind the Michigan governor.

The occasion for Thursday night's dinner was the presentation of the Herbert H. Lehman Award for Human Relations to philanthropist Nathan Applemman of New York and Tulsa, Okla.

U.S., Soviets Seen Even in Space Race

Novi Okays Sewer Pact Agreement

NOVI — The way was cleared last night for the start of some concrete action on a proposed joint sanitary sewer system with Walled Lake.

After several months of attempting to clear up some points in the contract, the Village Council unanimously approved the agreement with the city and Oakland County Department of Public Works.

The two communities are planning a $4.3-million project including a treatment plant, a trunkline sewer and an internal sanitary sewer system.

Village Manager Harold N. Ackley said the contract approved differs slightly from that agreed to by Walled Lake some time ago.

★ ★ ★

He said that for Novi, the first payment on the principal will not begin until 1970 and that Walled Lake's is scheduled to start in 1968.

ON CONNECTIONS

He also said that Novi's payments are to be spread according to connections rather than population.

The council gave Ackley instructions to have the engineer prepare plans and specifications for Novi's part of the project.

In the meantime, he said, land can be acquired and easements obtained. He estimated that it would be at least six months before contracts would be let.

A $1,100,000 federal grant was recently given to the county to be shared by the two communities to help cover the cost of the project.

Housing Act Under Fire

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—A group calling itself "St. Joseph Citizens Committee" is circulating petitions for a public vote to abolish the St. Joseph Housing Commission.

The petitions, prepared by the group's attorney, David VanderPloeg, call for repeal of a 1964 ordinance setting up the commission which is responsible for planning a senior citizens housing project and securing federal funds for construction.

The commission has been under fire recently for attempts to use a portion of urban renewal land for the project. A spokesman for the petition group said it hoped to present the petitions to the city commission Monday.

Orion Couple Aids Micronesians

Converted Barn Is Home to 3

By JEAN SAILE

ORION TOWNSHIP — if you pass a converted red barn at 185 Cayuga and hear the click of pool balls accompanied by the whinnying of horses — and three boys emerge laughing — you can be pretty sure its the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Caldwell.

Mike and Sue Caldwell run an unusual menage.

Both students themselves, they are currently providing a home for two boys from Guam and another from the island of Ponape in the Carolines near Guam.

They are also executive director and secretary of Pacific Micronesian Cultural Aid, Inc., a nonprofit group set up to aid other island students.

In his spare time when Mike isn't attending classes with an eye to his master's degree in community social work at Wayne State University, he's a staff assistant to Congressman John Conyers of Detroit.

FAR CRY FROM GUAM

Both products of the Lake Orion Community School system, Mike, 29, and Sue, 24, have created the opportunity for 17-yaer-old Roland Selvidge and 16-year-old Jose T. Espinosa to attend Lake Orion High School.

It's a far cry from Guam, both boys attest.

News of the Area

For Catalino L. Cantoro, 22, of Ponape, the Caldwells' hospitality has meant an opportunity to study social science at Oakland Community College. He and Sue both attend classes there.

★ ★ ★

All three boys are intent on receiving an education that they can take back to the islands for the purpose of aiding their largely agricultural countrymen.

★ ★ ★

Caldwell is something of an authority on Guam, having spent two years as a teacher there. He returned there last summer to become involved in the establishment of a program of social welfare on Guam under federal assistance.

"Most people don't realize that Guamanians are U.S. citizens," said Caldwell. "We own Guam. It is not a protectorate."

He doesn't think the islanders have always benefited from the American influence — feeling that industry was allowed to deteriorate after World War II, in effect setting Guamanians back several years in progress.

"Congress has just voted a $25-million federal budget for the island and things may start to get better," he added hopefully.

NOT AFFECTED

Any difficulties encountered by their homelands have not affected the boys who reflect the fabled sunny disposition attributed to the Polynesians, believed to be their forebears.

Jose, an all-A student, wants to be a doctor. One of nine children, he enjoys the Caldwell horses and the pool table that was a Chrismas present.

Roland likes the American girls, an admission which can bring on a fit of the giggles. He also likes to ski. Both boys are music students.

★ ★ ★

Catalino admits he's been lost in Detroit. They've all traveled some.

BILLS ARE PAID

Caldwell reports the corporation pays their tuition and the cost of musical instruments. The Caldwells have footed most of the other bills.

With Ruben Hoyer of Northern Michigan University, Marquette, vice president of the corporation, the group hopes to set up a cooperative living unit for such students in the Upper Peninsula.

Nicholas Treinen of Lake Orion serves as the corporation attorney.

★ ★ ★

Whatever evolves, the atmosphere can't be any more exciting than it is in Orion Township in the Caldwells' reconstructed barn.

Needs Come First—Mayor

Utica Section to Get Sewers

UTICA—Whether they want them or not, it appears that some 600 home owners on the city's northeast section are going to get sanitary seweres.

Some 86 electors petitioned for such service in November of 1965, but their request for a special assessment district was not approved when other petitions bearing 196 signatures were presented opposing construction.

The council has now voted to start construction on the project on the basis of a Macomb County Health Department report.

Mayor Fred H. Beck said the City Council has the right to create an assessment district for sewage because of health hazards cited by the department.

Nevertheless, he said, a public hearing would have to be held before the project can get underway.

The sewers, in the area north of Hall Road and east of Van Dyke, would of necessity empty into the city's 3-year-old $344,000 sewage treatment plant, at least until such time as a proposed Macomb County Interceptor is built.

The plant, on which $130,000 is still owing, has been declared obsolete by the state.

City officials hope that the interceptor, which would feed into the Detroit Sewage System, would in some way make use of the plant, or that the county might allow some compensation for the plant against the new interceptor.

Go to Canada's Nova Scotia and have a fling.

Get yourself right into the fling of things at these Gaelic games, held every year in Nova Scotia.

Just north of America's New England states is Canada's New Scotland province, Nova Scotia.

Scottish tradition and culture are very much a part of this peninsula province.

The tradition lives on in the Gathering of the Clans at Pugwash, the Highland Games at Antigonish, and Gaelic Mod at St. Ann's.

(But there's French tradition here, too. French explorers were the area's first white colonizers. Today, their Acadian descendants remain.)

If you like the sea, you'll love Nova Scotia. You're never more than 35 miles from the ocean. Water-skiing, swimming in the surf, sailing and deep-sea fishing are all here for you.

All along the coast, beautiful boats are open for charter. Take the whole family out for a boat-ride they'll never forget.

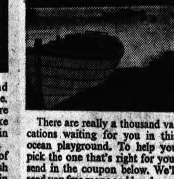
For landlubbers, nature has provided some of the best landscapes anywhere. And over 15,000 miles of toll-free roads can take you to enough camping grounds and trailer parks to last you a lifetime.

But don't miss the cities. They're steeped in history and legend like many other major settlements in Canada.

Halifax, on the eastern coast of the province, was the main British military and naval installation in North America for centuries. Pirates and men o' war sailed into its great harbour from all over the world.

Today, people still come to Halifax from all over, but now they come to visit. And to feast on the seafood, shop in boutiques, or just to amble around this enchanting city as old as yesterday yet new as tomorrow.

And speaking of age, this year is Canada's 100th birthday. Our Centennial. While you're in Nova Scotia some of the Centennial celebrations you must see are the Festival of the Arts, the Annapolis Valley Apple Festival in the Land of Evangeline, and the biggest naval assembly ever held in Canadian waters in which ships from 15 nations are participating.



There are really a thousand vacations waiting for you in this ocean playground. To help you pick the one that's right for you, send in the coupon below. We'll send you free maps and brochures.

Have a nice vacation.

It's our 100th birthday. Join us in our year-long, coast-to-coast Centennial celebrations.

Street Name Change Would Aid OU

The request of Oakland University Chancellor VARNER that Mount Clemens Street be changed to University Drive has a lot going for it.

Not only is the university worthy of an appropriately-named route to it out of Pontiac, but those approaching the institution on I-75 find the necessary "Mt. Clemens" exit most confusing. Significantly, the City of Rochester has simplified travel to OU by renaming Walton Road to University.

★ ★ ★

The importance of Oakland University to the community could scarcely be overstated. Not only has it provided an educational and cultural facility ranking with the best, but it is in effect an important industry. The present physical plant valued at $33.5 million with an annual payroll of $4 million is expected to expand by 1971 to an $85.5 million capital investment with comparable increase in salaries and wages.

True, a certain number of persons and establishments on Mt. Clemens would be required to change their street designation. But the undeniable benefits to OU from such a change should fully compensate for the slight inconvenience experienced by those affected.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS heartily supports the logical request of Chancellor VARNER and urges the City Commission to take favorable action on it.

Konrad Adenauer

History is replete with instances of the right man emerging to power in times of national emergency. The United States has frequently been favored by such good fortune; Great Britain no less so; France likewise the beneficiary.

ADENAUER

Destiny now adds a new name to her long list of immortals — that of KONRAD ADENAUER, who ended his earthly mission at 91.

★ ★ ★

It was Adenauer who virtually single-handedly picked up his homeland from the ruins of World War II and guided her to an amazing resurgence of stability and prosperity.

Forced into exile by HITLER's Nazis, "Der ALTE," then 73, returned at war's end to establish the Bonn Republic, and served as chancellor of West Germany for 14 years — the longest such reign since that of OTTO BISMARCK in the 19th Century.

★ ★ ★

ADENAUER died with his dream of a reunited Germany unfilfilled—an objective for which he had worked unceasingly. A staunch friend of the United States and a hater of communism, he nonetheless established rapport with Communist Russia and, through his friendship with President DE GAULLE, drew together his own country and France — enemies for centuries.

Konrad Adenauer's place in the Annals of the Great is secure. The image that he created will shine through the ages.

The Jingle of National Coin Week Is Heard

National Coin Week, which begins tomorrow, is of interest primarily to collectors and numismatists. But it also directs attention to the fact that silver coins have become a hot investment item.

A recent ad in the Wall Street Journal offered for sale silver dollars in lots of 100—$199.50 for uncirculated, and $159.50 for circulated coins.

★ ★ ★

The profitability of silver stands in direct proportion to its scarcity, which is extreme.

The U.S. Treasury, committed to keeping the price of silver at $1.29 an ounce, has slightly less than 100 million ounces of free silver at present, as compared with about 113 million ounces a month ago.

At that rate of depletion, all of the free silver would be gone by the end of 1967.

Before that happens, however, Congress probably will have approved legislation that would free for sale in the market some of the 430 million ounces of silver now held as backing for silver certificates.

★ ★ ★

The object is to hold the $1.29 price line for several more years, during which the transition to nonsilver coins would be completed.

It is possible that the Treasury will select a different metal for minting nonsilver dimes and quarters. Some people object to the appearance of the present coins, with their core of copper and faces of nickel.

★ ★ ★

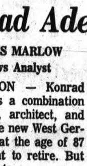
Treasury officials now like to call these "clad" instead of "sandwich" coins. Whatever you call them, they are still debased.

Konrad Adenauer Outlived His Time

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Konrad Adenauer was a combination cement-mixer, architect, and teacher for the new West Germany. Even at the age of 87 he didn't want to retire. But he was forced to.

He was too iron-willed, some would say too bull-headed, to be universally loved. It wasn't that his country didn't appreciate what he had done. It just thought it was time he left.



MARLOW

The same thing had happened to one of his great contemporaries, Sir Winston Churchill, some years before in Britain. But, at that time, Churchill was physically deteriorating. Adenauer didn't seem to be. He had just outlived his time.

The West Germany he took over in 1949 as chancellor, at age 73, was still pretty much a rubble from the war. He held the job 14 years and, in that time, guided his country into a miracle of prosperity and a new way of life.

He had to lay the foundations for the new West Germany and build it by design into a new European power. He allied it with the West, making it one of the pillars of the allies.

★ ★ ★

But perhaps his greatest contribution was in steering the West German people in a democratic direction after their long history of authoritarianism. If West Germany stays on that road, he will be one of the great figures of its history.

INTERVAL FIGURE?

If not, he will simply have been a stopgap leader who happened to appear during an interval between dictatorships.

So, if the obituaries about him seem a little guarded, there is good reason: Since the future of West Germany is uncertain, it is too soon to say whether what Adenauer did was all for nothing or was a glittering achievement.

He preached democracy and at times seemed so authoritarian himself in his impatience with opposition that, while he may have been revered and trusted, he was not particularly popular.

★ ★ ★

West Germany probably needed an iron-willed man at the time Adenauer took over. Then it was surrounded and suspected by its wartime enemies. It might have melted into chaos under a weaker man.

He said there could be no peace in Europe until Germany was reunited (a hope that hasn't been realized yet although he persisted in it), that there must be an end to French-German hostility, and that West Germany "belongs to Western Europe."

'Oh, Dr. King!'

David Lawrence Says:

Senators off Base on Convention

WASHINGTON — Within the last few days certain senators in their speeches have come up with the amazing idea that the Constitution convention cannot be called to consider amendments unless Congress first examines those proposals and agrees to permit such a convention to be held.

LAWRENCE

★ ★ ★

This would be a defiance of the Constitution itself. The document says plainly that Congress, "on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments."

Recent statements by senators, however, assert that Congress need not call a convention if it thinks the kind of amendments proposed are going to be unpalatable.

These same senators are contending that Congress may refuse to call such a convention if "for any reason" the resolutions passed by the legislatures "appear to be invalid."

★ ★ ★

This would make Congress virtually a judicial body, substituting for the Supreme Court of the United States, which usually passes on the validity of state and federal actions.

★ ★ ★

It now is argued that Congress has the authority to decide whether the state legislatures are properly constituted and whether they have a right to ask for a constitutional amendment on certain subjects.

Again and again Congress itself interprets the Constitution in its own way and may pass a law which the Supreme Court could later invalidate.

But for Congress to assume it has the right to use its own judgment on a simple call for a constitional convention is, in effect, a nullification of the provision which specifies that amendments to the Constitution may be made without the consent of Congress.

The exercise of the right of a state to participate in a national convention and to "propose" constitutional amendments is not a final step. The delegates of the states in a constitutional convention may propose an amendment, but the final ratification must be by three-fourths of the states.

Whenever amendments have been proposed at a constitutional convention and ratified by three-fourths of the legislatures, the Supreme Court can review these actions and determine whether in each case the state legislature was properly composed and whether enough states have participated in a legitimate ratification process.

Bob Considine Says:

Reporter Finds It Rough When He's Interviewed

NEW YORK — Among the more chastening experiences in a reporter's life is that relatively rare occasion when he finds himself in the rock crusher of being interviewed by a fellow reporter.

CONSIDINE

Suddenly, terribly, he sees all of own failings homing in on him. He who is prone to scoff at any show of tension on the part of a person he interviews now finds himself jumpy and uncommunicative when the tables are turned.

He suspects every question of being a curve, doubts in his heart whether the questioner knows a damned thing about the subject matter, grows restless when the guy fails to jot down some treasured bon mot and, in short, is thoroughly ill at ease.

I've interviewed so many years in so many places that it has become as natural a process as breathing. A reporter develops his own methods of harvesting other persons' stories, quotes and thoughts.

But know-how is no comfort when it is the interviewer, possessor of such minor skills, who is being interviewed. This has happened a couple of times lately in the course of hustling my wife's new book, "Wait a Minute, Mrs. Gulliver."

While she is busy autographing copies, I have found myself accosted by writing chaps or inquisitive talky people from radio and TV.

Cheeky blighters all! They ask outrageous questions and never seem to pay sufficient attention during my measured and well - constructed and extremely witty replies.

He, who may have in the past had some strong things to say against "slanted" news, now finds himself in the best possible light.

It isn't easy to get through. And, once through, there can be dismay, particularly if the interviewer really doesn't give a damn — (or wasn't really listening, or never heard of you, having been born in 1943.)

No matter. What is more trying is the reporter who says to my wife (as I once said to John Kenneth Galbraith) "haven't read your book; what's it about?"

Galbraith's compelling "The Affluent Society" had just come out. He had the discretion or compassion not to strike me.

Would wish to have the same, and learn a little more about my business.

Reader States His View on Punishment of Killer

It's happened again. A man has escaped from a mental hospital to kill again. Yes, the courts will hold a short trial and the doctors will rule the courts. They will all agree that the man is still insane and must be sent back to the hospital so they can "help" him.

★ ★ ★

When are we going to put this type of person where he belongs, or bring back capital punishment? This man will go back to the hospital and we taxpayers will pay for stuffing his tummy and also for the doctors that un-stuff his head.

SICK OF IT

Citizens Must Rule Government or Be Ruled

If citizens are becoming concerned for their life, liberty and property, perhaps it is time to support our State Senators Huber and Kuhn in their courageous stand to see that a State income tax is not imposed upon us and demand the immediate adoption of Gov. Romney's new and balanced budget.

★ ★ ★

Maybe it is time to begin demanding that the power (in government money is power) of our local, state and national governments be restricted to the protection, not destruction, of our life, liberty and property.

★ ★ ★

Citizens can better solve their business, educational, fraternal and philanthropic problems when free from government interference and coercion. It would seem that either the citizen must discipline his government or his government will discipline the citizen. The choice is still ours. The decision is yours.

Puzzled by Unconcern About Child Cruelty

I will never understand why parents torture their children and people stand knowingly by and never report to the authorities. God bless anyone who cares enough to bring deliverance to helpless, mistreated children.

RUTH COX SAKOFSKE

Urges Stand Against Political Pressures

I have polled the supporters of the Republican party organization in the 60th Legislative district and find that while they are practically unanimous in their opposition to a state income tax, they also share the majority opinion of the citizens in believing that a referendum is the only fair way to settle the issue. But without a referendum, the elected officials from my district can reflect the sentiments of their constituents only if they vote "no" without wavering to political pressures and minority threats.

Newcomers Stymied by Housing Problems

We have just moved to Pontiac from Texas and have tried to rent a house. Because we have children we are unable to do so. We really want to keep all four as we are attached to them by now.

Question and Answer

What kinds of businesses were affected by the new minimum wage law? Some places I know raised the first day of February, but the man I work for said it didn't affect him.

CURIOUS

REPLY

According to Mr. Ross in the Wage Hour Division of the Department of Labor, all those businesses under the minimum wage law before were affected by the increase, and some types of businesses came under the minimum coverage for the first time. We are sending you a pamphlet explaining those included and those exempted.

Wise Move

The Grand Rapids Press

One of the wisest moves the United States has made in a long time was to tell India and Pakistan last week that it will not ship any more arms to them.

There is good reason to believe that our arms shipments to these two feuding countries have made it possible for them to indulge periodically in fratricidal war and may well have encouraged them to do so.

★ ★ ★

The spectacle of these two impoverished nations spending millions to war against each other and diverting large numbers of their healthiest males to fight over Kashmir is revolting. Once India and Pakistan were one country.

★ ★ ★

When men can't solve the day-to-day problems of feeding their peoples adequately, maintaining decent health standards and providing housing and other necessities they take up arms against someone else.

Doubtless some of them believe that militant nationalism will assuage hunger.

★ ★ ★

Both Pakistan and India are angry because we have decided to ship them no more arms. Whether they will be able to get military help from other quarters—Pakistan from China, perhaps, and India from the Soviet Union — only time will tell.

But whatever happens, we in the United States will have the satisfaction of knowing that we have aided the cause of world peace at least a little by making it harder for these two countries to wage war.

Warning!

Buffalo Evening News

College and university administrators troubled by the marked rise in student drug use could well take a lesson from the shape-up-or-get-out warning of Harvard's dean of students.

As anyone bright enough to be at Harvard knows perfectly well, says Dean John U. Monro, "possession or distribution of marijuana and LSD are strictly against the law, and taking drugs involves users in psychological dangers and contacts with the criminal underworld."

★ ★ ★

The corollary of this could not have been put in blunter language: "If a student is stupid enough to misuse his time here fooling around with illegal and dangerous drugs, our view is that he should leave college and make room for people prepared to take good advantage of a college opportunity."

★ ★ ★

A sound precept indeed, applicable to students on every campus who regard a a university as a sanctuary for law-breaking.

If they aren't willing to abide by the rules as all citizens must, if they don't have the good sense to use their time profitably, then let them make way for those on the waiting lists who are mature enough for college opportunities.

Junior Editors Quiz on HOLOGRAPHY

QUESTION: How does one go about collecting autographs and holographs?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Autographs and holographs really mean the same thing. They are anything which is handwritten. They might be a note, a handwritten letter, a handwritten signature. The word holograph is rarely used; and by autograph one usually means a handwritten signature.

Collecting autographs is fun; they may be clipped from a letter and pasted in a book as Nancy is going to do. Or one can get people to sign in a special book as Harry is asking Nancy to do.

He is collecting the signatures of his school friends. His book will recall happy days to him later on.

Another way to get autographs is to buy them from dealers in the cities. Some, like the ones on top of the picture, may be very valuable; but many signatures of well-known people can be bought for small amounts.

Resort to Reopen

MANISTIQUE (AP) — Blaney Park, the largest private resort in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, is scheduled to reopen for the season June 1. Intermar of Michigan, operating company, said four square miles of the central resort area is being offered for sale in this country and thousands more acres of outlying woodlands are being sold to Europeans at $180 an acre.

SINKS INTO HISTORY — The old Metropolitan Opera House in New York City has been reduced to a remaining few stories by demolition workers. The stage was at left in this view. The Manhattan landmark is being demolished to make way for an office building. The Metropolitan Opera's new home is in Lincoln Center.

Negro Job Ills in Chicago Cited

CHICAGO (AP) — Good jobs available in Chicago were not going to Negroes as late as June last year, a study by the Chicago Urban League says.

The report, covering a five-month 1966 period and earlier years, was prepared last year by Bennett Hymer, a league researcher, at the request of the Illinois Commission on Automation and Technological Progress. It was distributed Thursday by the league.

★ ★ ★

Hymer said Negro unemployment was accelerating because of segregated housing, inferior education and a racially dual labor market. Since the survey was made, many Chicago firms have opened the range of jobs available to Negroes and advertised for workers as "equal opportunity employers." The overall Chicago labor picture has tightened considerably in recent months.

Negro unemployment rose from 7 per cent to 8.2 per cent in the first five months of 1966 and teen-age unemployment level "remained at its disastrously high 27 per cent level," Hymer said.

40,000 UNEMPLOYED

The report said 75,000 Negroes were employed at incomes below $3,000 annually and 40,000 were unemployed. Hymer termed these groups "the urban peasantry."

"These workers," the report said, "are confined to the bottom layers of the socioeconomic scale by racial discrimination and the decline in the use of unskilled labor.

"Second, the inadequate training in the Chicago schools virtually insured that many Negro youngsters will enter the labor market with no marketable skills."

Hymer said industrial relocation in areas where Negroes are denied housing has been a major factor in Negro unemployment.

Luxembourg Report

French Debate Leads to Duel

PARIS (AP) — Radio Luxembourg reported today that a duel between two members of the French National Assembly had taken place and Socialist Deputy Gaston Defferre had won, touching Gaullist Rene Ribiere twice with his epee.

Ribiere was only scratched, the broadcast said.

★ ★ ★

Defferre, 56, mayor of Marseille, had told newsmen shortly before the broadcast the duel scheduled for noon had been postponed until late afternoon because of rain. But Radio Luxembourg's reporter said it took place on schedule at noon and he witnessed it.

Ribiere, 45, challenged Defferre Thursday night and chose epees, or duelling swords, after the mayor called him an idiot during a tumultuous debate in the assembly.

SLEEVES ROLLED UP

Radio Luxembourg said the two men met on private property and both wore white shirts with collars open and sleeves rolled up. The reporter said the duel lasted about four minutes.

Ribiere spent about 45 minutes this morning with the master of arms in the fencing room of the National Assembly, familiarizing himself with the weapon which he apparently had never had in his hands before.

Defferre also did some practicing this morning.

Both deputies indicated Thursday night they hoped to get the duel out of the way in a hurry. Ribiere plans to be married Saturday. Defferre said he has an important appointment in Marseille late today.

NO IMMUNITY

French law calls for imprisonment for assault and battery if any injury results from a duel, and a death would bring a murder charge. Legal authorities said parliamentary immunity would not protect Ribiere or Defferre from prosecution.

The challenge to duel came after a stormy debate in Parliament. During a verbal clash between Premier Georges Pompidou and leftist leader Francois Mitterrand, Ribiere thought he heard Defferre call him an "abruti" — meaning stupe, slouch or idiot.

Dems May Back GOP Bonds-for-Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy's proposal for bettering the lot of slum-dwellers has won a prediction of Democratic support despite its sharp differences with administration programs.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield warmly praised the freshman Illinois senator's plan, promised it would get "every possible consideration" and forecast considerable Democratic backing.

* * *

In introducing his plan Thursday, Percy urged the Senate to set aside partisanship.

But his measure to promote home ownership in the slums nevertheless was advanced as a GOP program. It carried the signatures of all 36 Senate Republicans, and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said, "We felt we should be credited with a new venture and a new approach."

BOND SALE

Percy's plan, introduced also in the House, would establish a special foundation — empowered to sell $2 billion worth of bonds — to help arrange home purchases by the poor.

It calls for the foundation to issue loans to community organizations that would rehabilitate slum housing and sell it to low-income families — with mortgages returned to the foundation to repay the loans.

Congress would appropriate $60 million over the next three years to help urban and rural slum home-buyers pay interest on their mortgages.

Administration plans for slum betterment include subsidies of $750 million for urban renewal, $412 million for rehabilitation of selected areas of urban blight and $40 million in rent supplements to the poor.

As Percy's proposal was introduced, mayors of five U.S. cities urged a House Appropriations subcommittee to back President Johnson's program.

After the closed meeting, several of the mayors expressed cautious optimism that the House panel — which chopped deeply into the new housing programs last year — might reverse its stand this session.

Provino quoted the attacker as saying: "I'm a karate expert and I'll kill you if I want."

Rep. Ford Rips A-Site Hassle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., has criticized the Atomic Energy Commission for not anticipating the protests over its selection of Weston, Ill., as the site of its proposed atom smasher.

* * *

"If the commission reverses that decision, it would be a good example of the worst in bureaucratic bungling not to have foreseen this situation," Ford told newsmen yesterday.

At issue is the lack of a state open housing law and the failure of any communities in the area to enact such ordinances.

AEC Chariman Glen Seaborg warned legislative and local leaders at a recent conference in Illinois that unless one is provided — or preferably both — Congress almost certainly will refuse to appropriate construction funds.

* * *

He said the commission may feel it necessary to reconsider Weston's selection, and choose another from five equally suitable sites: Brookhaven National Laboratory, Long Island, N.Y.; Ann Arbor, Mich.; Madison, Wis.; Denver Colo., and Sacramento, Calif.

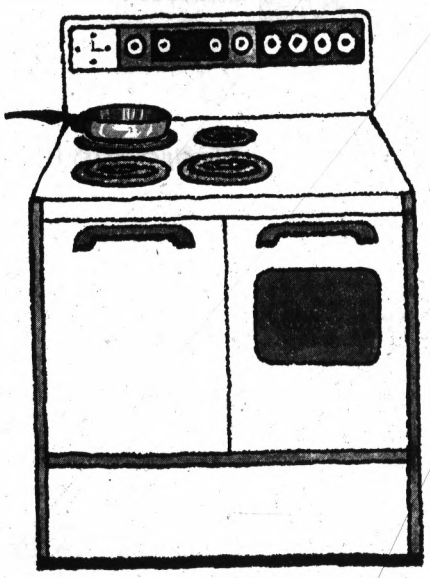
How clean is electric cooking?



Here's a shining example

Cooking with a modern electric range keeps your kitchen cleaner. No flame, no fumes, no fuss. Your pots and pans stay cleaner. Curtains and woodwork, too.

Electric ranges are also more efficient. Because the heat transfers directly from the heating element to your cooking utensils, there's no waste in heat. All the electricity you use goes to work for you in your cooking.

And because there's no wasted heat, electric cooking is cooler. It cooks the food, not the cook.

And there's more. All electric ranges are backed by Edison's exclusive no-charge service. No charge for electrical parts. No charge for labor. And this applies no matter where you bought your electric range. So live the cool, clean life—electrically.—with a modern electric range.

WIND WRECKS LANDMARK — Workmen start clearing operations at a Valley Forge, Pa., covered bridge named after Gen. Henry Knox of Revolutionary War fame. State House OKs 18 Bills in Busiest Day of Session

LANSING (AP) — Elections, water companies and fishing shanties were among the subjects of 18 bills passed by the House Thursday, its most productive day so far.

With the existing deadline for action on bills in the house of origin just a week away, the House has been meeting morning and afternoon to consider the 250-plus bills on its calendar.

Republican and Democratic negotiators, meanwhile, have been trying to work out a compromise tax package which can be adopted next week without a time-consuming and possibly futile floor fight.

Passed in the House Thursday was a bill providing penalties for soliciting absentee ballot fraud. A measure to require special ballots, obtained in advance, for write-in votes was defeated, then revived and dropped to the bottom of the calendar.

Inducing or attempting to induce another person to fraudulently apply for an absentee ballot would be punishable by up to a 90-day jail sentence and a $500 fine under a bill sponsored by Rep. Raymond Hood, D-Detroit.

Also passed was a bill giving the State Public Service Commission regulatory authority over nonmunicipal water companies having 125 or more customers.

The commission would be empowered to set rates, audit financial records, and approve or veto extension or abandonment of services. Rep. James Callahan, D-Mount Morris, sponsored the bill.

A measure introduced by Rep. James Nunneley, R-Mount Clemens, would require all fishing shanties to feature the owner's name and address on all sides. Shanties could not be left on Lake St. Clair overnight after Feb. 15.

Other bills approved by the House would give the votes of a deceased candidate for governor to the same party's lieutenant governor candidate, raise mine inspectors' terms from two years to four, and require that school buses carry no more than 110 per cent of the manufacturer-rated passenger capacity.

2 Senate Leaders in Vote Fund Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unprecedented row between the Senate's two top Democratic leaders left uncertain today the future of a bitterly controversial presidential election campaign financing plan.

At the height of the dispute, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield indicated that he would prefer to resign rather than yield on the point at issue with Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the Democratic whip.

Both men finally said "a failure of communication" appeared to have led to a misunderstanding which resulted in the sharp words.

But veteran senators said they could not recall when there had been such an open break between two top party leaders.

There have been some private disagreements between Mansfield and Long since the Louisianian became the assistant leader in 1965, but nothing like Thursday's public airing.

The dispute broke out after Long had won what seemed an important victory in his protracted battle to save the campaign financing plan enacted into law last year.

This came on a 46-42 Senate vote to adopt a Long-sponsored tax bill rider which would have continued the election financing plan in a slightly revised form.

The vote reversed the Senate's position of a week earlier. Then it had adopted 48 to 42 a rider to repeal the plan.

Long had told newsmen this was to be followed by a Mansfield motion to strip from the bill all extraneous riders adopted during four weeks of floor consideration — including those affecting the campaign financing plan.

Then, he said, the Senate would pass the tax measure without amendment and with a directive to the finance committee, which Long heads, to study all of the extraneous riders and report on them.

But when Mansfield offered his motion, it proposed to leave intact one rider to the bill — a repealer of the campaign financing plan effective July 31.

Long, flushed and clearly unhappy, at once declared he was completely surprised by this and never would agree to it.

Mansfield insisted he still favored the campaign subsidy plan and that he did not intend to repeal it. He pointed out that his motion called for a study of the problem and a report by Long's committee in six weeks.

But Long said that, with repeal, he would be in an impossible position. Any attempt to revive the plan could be "talked to death" in the Senate, he said.

Other backers of the plan said if it were repealed, it never would be reenacted in the House — where Republicans have many more votes than they did last year. Senate Republicans have raised solid opposition to the proposal.

Buried Vietcong Hospital Elaborate and Ingenious

LAI THIEU, Vietnam (AP) — Within sight of Saigon's night lights, the Vietcong carved out an elaborate underground hospital the length of four football fields. American soldiers found it by chance.

"We had bulldozed over it for a week to make farmland for the friendlies," said one officer. "We had no idea the place was here — and so close to Saigon and our base camp."

★ ★ ★

Dozers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, from nearby Di An, had leveled the patch of scrubby woods.

A professional "tunnel rat," Sgt. William G. Wilson of Rochester, N.Y., found it one day while wandering in the debris churned up by the bulldozers. He came upon a small well and decided to check it out.

He lowered himself into the well and began gouging in the dirt wall with his long switchblade stilleto. Suddenly the earth gave way.

Wilson had found a tunnel, a small one, about 30 inches square at the entrance.

Feeling his way through the narrow passageway, he kept his knife at the ready, listening for the tumbling sound that would signal a grenade bounding toward him. He stopped for a moment to hear flapping, squeaking noises ahead of him — bats!

★ ★ ★

Wilson crawled, squeezed, pulled and pushed his body through the darkness, zigging left, then right until he fell head-first into a room with clean linen.

He checked out another tiny tunnel way. It led him into another room, another passage, more zigs and zags, then into a catacomb-like hospital ward.

SOIL BEDS

Beds were carved out of the marble-hard laterite soil, crudely practical beds with space for a nurse to work. There were only 10 beds, which emphasized the importance of the hospital's former patients.

Vietcong defectors questioned later said they had no knowledge of the hospital. Some, who had been wounded in skirmishes in the same area, said they were treated at another underground "general hospital."

At the end of another shaft, Wilson found an immaculate operating room complete with an ingenious self-ventilating air shaft. A candle was positioned at a small opening in the roof. As its flame flickered, the heat rose, pulling the stale tunnel air up a small pipe to the outside.

The medicine cabinet which Wilson found indicated the hospital's important position on the supply chain from the north. Its inventory included 726 vials of vitamins, caffein and penicillin; 31 bottles of glucose and alcohol; stethoscopes; bundles of fresh gauze and bandages; and four complete blood transfusion setups.

DIFFERENT LABELS

The medicine had labels of French, German and American companies.

At the far end of the 400-yard-long tunnel, Wilson found the emergency entrance, an elevator. In its primitive way, the elevator was elaborate. A 15-foot shaft rose to the surface where the bulldozers had unknowingly graded over for days. A stretcher bearing a wounded guerrilla could be eased down the shaft.

★ ★ ★

One American official who came out to inspect the discovery described it as one of the most elaborate finds yet.

"It just points out one thing," he said, shaking his head. "We have underestimated the tenacity of the Vietcong, the Asian, who can endure with ease the conditions that for us would be unbearable."

Iowa Passes Law Banning Housing Bias

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A law banning racial and religious discrimination in the sale or rental of housing has been approved by the Iowa Legislature and Gov. Harold Hughes has said he will sign it.

It passed the House Thursday 121-0.

The bill covers all housing, whether handled by real estate men or private parties, except owner-occupied duplexes, owner-occupied rooming houses with no more than six units, and properties owned by religious institutions.

The Iowa Civil Rights Commission is empowered to hold hearings on complaints and to obtain court injunctions to enforce any antidiscrimination orders it issues. No specific penalties are provided.

A Senate amendment accepted by the House requires that anyone filing a complaint of discrimination in sale or rental of housing to post a $500 bond as evidence of good faith.

Protest Halted in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — For the third night in a row, police stopped open housing advocates before they could march. They fired tear gas at more than 700 white hecklers, and made at least 85 arrests, including two self-professed members of the American Nazi party.

The scene Thursday night again was the city's all-white South End.

★ ★ ★

The jeering crowd of whites, mostly teen-agers, turned over an empty police cruiser, threw rocks, bottles, and firecrackers, and taunted police after they were held about three blocks from the 70 demonstrators.

Placards with swastikas and the words, "Back to Africa," and "white power" were distributed among the hecklers.

★ ★ ★

Two men who said they were members of the American Nazi party, Fred Francis Catalano, 29, and Christopher Vidnjevich, 23, both of Chicago, were arrested for "criminal syndicalism." They wore street clothes.

The charge under Kentucky law prohibits persons from "aiding or counseling" a crime or physical violence "to accomplish any political end to bring about political revolution."

★ ★ ★

The charge, the first felony filed by police in three weeks of housing demonstrations, carries a maximum penalty of 21 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Great Lakes' Levels Rising

DETROIT (AP)—Great Lakes water levels continued to rise during the month of April reports the Lake Survey, conducted by U. S. Army engineers.

★ ★ ★

Highest rise in the past 30 days was 11 inches in Lake Ontario, now at 244 feet. This is three inches above the same point last month and one inch above this point in 1966.

Lakes Michigan, Huron, St. Clair and Erie were up seven inches from the same point last month. Lakes Michigan and Huron were up an inch from April 1966, and St. Clair and Erie were up five inches from a year ago.

★ ★ ★

Engineers said current information points to a continued rise in May, but 14 to 48 inches below the highest recorded stage in 1951 and 1952.

King's Army Seizure Latest Step in Turbulent Greece

By GERALD MILLER

News Analysis

ROME (AP) — The monarchy's military power seizure in Greece today opened a new but not unexpected chapter in the struggle between the right and the left in the turbulent Balkan member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The decision of young King Constantine to suspend normal constitutional procedure and put the army in control had been building for nearly two years as a result of his struggle with former Premier George Papandreou and Papandreou's American-educated son, Andreas.

Rumors and speculation had been growing for weeks that the 26-year-old monarch was becoming increasingly convinced that a period of dictatorship was necessary to avoid grave internal disorder and to save the monarchy.

He has a modern precedent in his own family. His uncle, King George II, gave his consent in 1936 to a dictatorship by Gen. John Metaxas to balk the threat of a Communist take-over. The dictatorship lasted until Metaxas died in 1941.

MASSIVE U.S. AID

Constantine's father, King Paul, became king after the war and with massive American help was able to guide Greece through the years of Communist insurrection and into NATO without resorting to dictatorship.

When Paul died March 6, 1964, and his son succeeded at the age of 23, many supporters of the monarchy feared the consequences.

Constantine was handsome and popular but had seemed interested mostly in sports, racing cars and pretty girls. But as king, he showed toughness and lack of fear in facing his strongest political opponents.

Where his father was conciliatory, Constantine was strong-willed. He and the Papandreous clashed head-on in a fight over forces.

ROYAL PREROGATIVES

The Papandreous and their leftist followers fought to make the king a largely ceremonial figure who reigned but did not rule. Constantine fought to save royal prerogatives to guide the country.

Fearing a left-wing plot among pro-Papandreou army officers to oust the monarchy and take Greece out of NATO, he fired the elder Papandreou from the premiership on July 15, 1965.

From that moment, the struggle that led to today's power move was joined.

Clearly the king felt that only a dictatorial clamp-down on his opposition could keep order in the country. The Papandreous had been scheduled to open their campaign Sunday for the May 28 national election. Police feared it would touch off widespread demonstrations.

SURE THEY EXIST—If you happen to hear residents from Davis, Calif., talk of seeing flying saucers, you better believe it. Paul S. Moller, 30, professor of aerodynamics at the University of California at Davis, gives his first public demonstration of a saucer-like craft that he has designed. The craft is 14 feet in diameter and four feet high and is powered by two 90-horsepower motors.

UAW Officials Angered by Cobo Hall 'Problems'

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers Union officials said Thursday the UAW might never hold another convention in Detroit. City officials pledged to eliminate any problems that have angered the union.

"Every one of my key people handling arrangements has advised that we never bring a convention to Detroit again," said Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer.

He said he had received numerous complaints about preparations for the UAW's special collective bargaining convention, which opened Thursday.

Declining to give details about complaints, Mazey said he would send a letter to Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and all the building trades unions involved.

WILL TAKE ACTION'

Cavanagh said the city "will take every action to rectify any problems."

The convention is being held in Cobo Hall, which Cavanagh said has "established itself as one of the best convention halls in the country. We have had no serious complaints about the hall's operations for many months."

★ ★ ★

Mazey said he was given the impression "that there is no management giving direction to the work force" helping prepare the hall for the 3,000 UAW convention delegates.

"The work force is running the show without adequate and proper supervision," he said.

But Stephen Wish, Cobo's superintendent of operation, said any problems the UAW had met were with laborers hired by the union to do specific tasks.

"Our employes were properly directed and completed their jobs by Wednesday afternoon with no significant delays," Wish said.

The Office of Education also gave $9,864 to develop and test a "computer tutor" system for use in classroom teaching.

State Senate Approves Bill

Incumbent OK'd to Top Ballot

LANSING (AP) — A bill that would place the incumbent's name at the head of the primary election ballot was approved by the Senate Thursday despite opposition from both majority and minority leaders.

★ ★ ★

The bill, which passed 22-16 and was sent to the House, would require that other candidates' names be listed alphabetically after that of the incumbent.

Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, and Minority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, were among the 12 Republicans and four Democrats who voted "no" on the measure. Voting "yes" were eight Republicans and 14 Democrats.

Backers of the bill, which had bipartisan sponsorship, said it would eliminate high ballot printing costs resulting from the present law requiring a complicated rotation of candidates' names on the ballots.

THREE PRINTERS

"There are only three printers in the state that can print primary ballots," said one sponsor, Sen. Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo. "Three printers can't service 83 counties."

Another sponsor, Sen. James Gray, D-Warren, said the change would enable voters to more easily look for and recognize the candidate of their choice, greatly expedite the voting procedure and improve public understanding.

★ ★ ★

The opposition attacked the bill, which was drawn up by the Michigan Municipal Clerks Association, as being a special interest measure favoring incumbents.

"I have seen many special interest bills and this is distinctly a special interest bill to give incumbents a special place on the ballot," said Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor.

OTHER OFFICES

"This will help any incumbent, but those members seeking other offices would be adversely affected," said Zollar, whose name, beginning with Z, would fall at the bottom of the ballot should he run for an office other than the Senate.

"I've spoken on both sides, you can take your choice," Zollar added.

★ ★ ★

A move by Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, to amend the bill to require the incumbent's name be printed at the head of the list in capital letters was not supported.

"It's a good bill," said Young. "It's headed in the right direction. It just doesn't go far enough."

Youth Killed at Cobo Hall

DETROIT (UPI) — Police today questioned suspects in the slaying of a high school student who was stabbed to death while entering busy Cobo Hall to play in a band concert.

The victim, George Overman Jr., 15, staggered into the hall after the attack last night and collapsed in an elevator.

Witnesses said they saw two youths running from the scene of the knifing.

Overman, son of Detroit Police band director George Overman, was found in the elevator by two delegates attending the United Auto Workers union convention at the hall.

★ ★ ★

The boy died minutes later of stab wounds in the chest.

MOTIVE EYED

Detroit Police Homicide Inspector Albert Schwaller said robbery may have been the motive for the attack

Several young people recently have been robbed at the hall, he said.

Two suspects were picked up by police immediately after the slaying, but witnesses were unable to identify them as the assailants.

★ ★ ★

Overman, a 10th grader, played the fourth trombone in the 21-piece Pinney High School band.

The band had been invited to play at the Detroit Public School Girls' Cooperative Office Training Program dinner in the Cobo Hall ballroom.

Didn't Want to Enjoin NFO, Says Freeman

DECATUR, Ind. (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman Thursday told an overflow Midwest farm crowd that he didn't advocate the federal injunction issued in the National Farmers Organization milk holding.

★ ★ ★

Freeman, in speaking to many wearing NFO badges, revealed that President Johnson didn't know about the injunction until it had been issued.

Freeman said the attorney general was given evidence that violence and coercion were being used in the NFO milk market boycott and that he had no choice but to file the suit.

"So help me," Freeman said, "those are the facts."

EXPRESSED OPPOSITION

He added that NFO leaders themselves had expressed opposition to violence.

★ ★ ★

"We didn't like the injunction," said Leo Beuhler, an NFO divisional supervisor from Kettlersville, Ohio. He said he thought farmers should have the same rights to organize and bargain as labor, and Freeman said he agreed but that they didn't under present laws.

★ ★ ★

Decatur is in northeast Indiana and the crowd in the third of the secretary's "shirt-sleeve" meetings with Midwest farmers included large delegations from Michigan, Ohio and Illinois.

The meeting attracted representatives from 34 Indiana organizations and agencies, 10 from Illinois, 12 Michigan and 19 Ohio.

'Viet Disneyland Fun, Fun'—if You Live

GIO LINH, Vietnam (AP) — The battle-savvy gunners at the northernmost U.S. position in Vietnam are still in business and the sign on one western front-style bunker reads: "Gio Linh Disneyland. Fun. Fun. Mortars, snipers and mines. Free shrapnel for the kiddies. Two big features every night."

The "features" are enemy mortar and artillery barrages from inside and beyond the demilitarized zone 1,500 yards north of Gio Linh's barbed wire.

There have been 27 attacks in which an estimated 2,130 shells have banged into the U.S. position since long-range 175mm U.S. guns were moved there Feb. 26 to shell North Vietnamese targets.

2,000 ROUNDS

Night and day, rain or shine, attack or quiet, the U.S. Army and Marine gunners lob an average 2,000 rounds the enemy's way.

The men are dug in. Two 50-foot towers are manned to spot flashes of enemy mortar tubes. Deep trenches link command bunkers and the Marine infantry defense positions. Sandbags make a neat circle four feet high around the howitzers.

The men eat standing up outside the mess tents. If it rains they just stand in it. Mud cakes onto their boots and green fatigues. The gunners have greasy black circles around the one eye they use to look into the gun sight.

Spare time? That question brings indulgent chuckles. Play cards? "That would break into my two hours' sleep," said a Marine lance corporal.

And then there are the attacks by the North Vietnamese intended to knock out the six 175s and the six 105mm howitzers.

"You can hear them put the rounds down the mortar tubes," says a 175 gunner, Army Cpl. Dominic Ercole of Philadelphia. "You really can. They sound like thoop, thoop, thoop." The battery has awarded 29 Purple Hearts. The men were so well dug in that only four of the wounded have not returned for duty.

★ ★ ★

In one attack the crew of a 105, nicknamed "Beelzebub," put out 500 rounds in two hours, more than the gun is designed for.

"The tube just melted," said Sgt. T. J. Sparks of Stephenville, Tex.

MEDIC

During attack the battery's medic, Roy Johnson of New Orleans, has been known to rush about saying cheerfully, "Here comes your friendly family physician."

An Army gunner, Spec. 4. Larry Shaeffer of New Orleans, is so acclimated he has slept through a few enemy barrages. "My bunker took two direct hits once and I never woke up," he said.

★ ★ ★

The men constantly improve their defenses, digging deeper and mounting up more sandbags. The Gio Linh commander, Marine Lt. Col. William H. Rice of Atlanta, says solid bunkers are a must.

"It's important in an attack to have a safe place to wake up in and get your senses," he observes.

Sydney Chaplin Is Proud Son

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Some sons feel it is a handicap to have a famous father.

Not actor Sydney Chaplin, son of Charlie Chaplin.

BOYLE

"I think anyone who feels his life has been scarred because of the fame of his father is a bore," he said.

Sydney recently completed a role in "The Countess From Hong Kong," which was produced and directed by Charles Chaplin. It was his second appearance in a production by his father. In 1952 he played a young composer in "Limelight."

The younger Chaplin is proud of his father's historic stature in the film world.

BIG SALARIES

"My father invented the big salaries in this business," he remarked. "He was the first man to ask and get a million dollars a year. He was always a good businessman."

Life with father in Hollywood wasn't too congenial for Sydney as a lad, however, because of his own harum scarum ways.

★ ★ ★

"Because he had to quit school after the first grade to support his mother, my father always had a great respect for education," he said.

"But I was pretty wild. I had been thrown out of three schools by the time I was 16.

"Dad was terribly disappointed in me at that time. He tried to be strict. He told me, 'You have to be something in life. You must do something to earn a living.'

"But how can you tell a kid that he needs to go to work when he lives in a house with 12 servants?

★ ★ ★

"You know how some kids earn money by setting up a lemonade stand in their front yard? Well, I tried that gimmick, too, but instead of lemonade I sold scotch. Why not? It was there, and easier to do. And at 15 I was getting only $1 a week as an allowance."

A tour of duty during the war, Sydney said, brought an end to his playboy ways and a realization that it was time for him to seek a career of his own.

He helped organize a theater in Hollywood and discovered that father wasn't the only actor in the family. Since then Sydney has appeared in half a dozen films and a notable series of Broadway musicals, including "The Bells Are Ringing" with Judy Holliday and "Funny Girl" with Barbra Streisand.

Sydney maintains homes here and in Paris, where until recently he also owned a restaurant called the Chez Moustache.

★ ★ ★

Six feet one and powerfully built, Sydney bears little physical resemblance to his father.

"Father is enormously proud of me, and has been ever since I started earning my own living," he said, smiling. "We like to be with each other.

"But he and I are two different types of people. He has much more drive than I have. I tend to be lazy.

"I have learned a great deal by listening to him. He has a sense of drama in the theater that no one else has."

By DEBBIE KILLEN

Eighty students took part in a recent radio station's pancake-eating contest at Uncle John's Pancake House.

The boys were given two hours in which to eat as many pancakes as possible.

Dana Coin, a Northern football and basketball player, devoured 75. Northern's heavyweight wrestler, Jim Corr, managed to eat 55. The grand total for all 80 was 2,060 pancakes.

Four Northern students were honored in the annual drafting contest sponsored by the American Society of Body Engineers.

Presented with honorable mention certificates were John Butler, James Norberg, Richard Harris, and Dennis Shael.

WATER BALLET — Appearing in the Groves High School production "Oriental Reflections" are (from left) Douglas Tull, Marilyn Horner, Jan Qualtiere, Cindy Tull and Barbara Weiss (in water). The water extravaganza will be presented May 3 through 6 at 8:30 p.m. Frances Pulley, Groves' physical education teacher, is directing and producing the show. As the title suggests, the theme includes a peek at the Japanese customs, culture and legends.

Oriental Reflections

Aqua Show at Groves

"Oriental Reflections" is the title of the Wylie E. Groves High School 1967 water ballet show.

After many weeks of long rehearsals, the show will be presented May 3-6 at 8:30 p.m. in the Groves' swimming pool. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Frances Pulley, Groves' physical education teacher, is directing and producing the show as she has for approximately the past five years.

She is also staging all the numbers as well as selecting the music to accompany each one.

★ ★ ★

As the title suggests, the theme of the show will be a cross-section of Japanese culture, customs and legends.

Twelve girls in black leotards, highlighted by body lights will represent the Milky Way in a water interpretation of an old Japanese legend.

The legend concerns two lovers, portrayed by Doug Tull and Marilyn Horner, who are separated by the Milky Way and allowed to meet only once every four years.

Another outstanding act in the show will be a solo, in which Barb Weiss will depict the sun goddess as she dances before the palace of the Rising Sun.

"I'm threatening to supply them all with three inch jawbreakers if they don't keep their cheeks puffed out," said Miss Pulley of the show's most humorous number, a frog quartet consisting of Ann Reier, Sue Lapp, Joan Mattice and Peggy Maass.

FROGS

They will be portraying four frogs playing in a pond like the ones found in gardens behind Japanese pagodas.

Yumiko Tanaka and Miki Sarakibara, exchange students from Japan, have already helped with the show by teaching students who will be in a water interpretation of a tea ceremony, how one actually functions.

Barb Weiss, Carol Clark, Chris Decker, Randy Andeer, and Steve and Larry Driver are the students participating in this number.

★ ★ ★

Yumiko and Miki will also be assisting by ushering on the nights of the water ballet.

Art directors Marcy Maniex and Gordon Bolling designed the props, flats and other scenery required for this year's show.

A Japanese pagoda, garden and arched bridge were among the many pieces of scenery constructed by the crew members, Mike Costigan and Mark Edwards.

★ ★ ★

Miss Pulley declined to comment on whether she thought the show would be an absolute success or not. But she did make a remark that could be considered optimistic. "It can be a good show, if things go well, and they generally do."

DOG PATCH

Tonight Groves girls will have a chance to "ketch them a man" at the Sadie Hawkins Dance. For the past two weeks girls have been asking their favorite boys to be their dates.

"Curiosity killed the cat" is an old saying, but for a majority of Avondale's students it may be that "curiosity killed the dance." Tonight these students will attend the long awaited "Computer Dance."

Questionnaires were filled out and sent to Boston where they were matched with several "ideal partners." Each person is to receive a number and a list of numbers corresponding with his or her ideal date. Live entertainment will be furnished by the Oxford Five.

Avondale's Honors Assembly, will take place Tuesday. Recognition will be bestowed upon students with B or better averages.

John C. Thompson, representative from Mercy College, is to be guest speaker. Avondale Honor Society Members are to be identified in a ceremony at the assembly.

Mary Ann Popovich, faculty cosponsor of Future Teachers Association, and eight student members will go to Eastern Michigan April 27.

Barb Catterfeld, Roger Davis, Carol Dellerba and Gertrude Nawrocki are to attend the Governor's Conference for Student Council members at Oakland University Thursday.

St. Frederick Senior Class to Stage Play

BY TIM HALL

Excitement and enthusiasm have grown this past week of last minute preparations and dress rehearsals for St. Frederick High's last senior play.

To be presented is the popular three act play, "Cheaper by the Dozen." It will be enacted this Saturday and Sunday nights at 8 p.m. in the parish hall. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Based on the memories of Frank and Ernestine Gilbreth, played by Janusz Bora and Margaret Ewald, the play reenacts cherished moments of their childhood and memories of their father.

Humor is introduced into the play when father, played by Don Olson, insists on a most efficient household and devises a system of charts and lessons for the saving of motion.

★ ★ ★

Father is confronted with 12 energetic children who could care less about efficiency and the result is a delightfully comical situation.

FACULTY DIRECTOR

Directing the play this year is Geoffrey Todd, a member of the school faculty.

The cast of characters includes Mr. Gilbreth, Don Olson; Mrs. Gilbreth, Kathy Culloty; Frank, Janusz Bora; Ann, Julie Lane; Ernestine, Margaret Ewald; Fred, Steve Hamilton; Martha, Jeanne Tarchalski; Lillian, Jeannie Sharp; Bill, John LaLonde; Dan, Tim Hall; and Jackie, Karen Mercier.

Other characters include Maria Landry, the maid Mrs. Fitzgerald; John LaLonde, Joe Scales; Mary Crake, Miss Brill; Rick Thompson, Larry; and George Zaha, Dr. Burton.

BROTHERLY LOVE — Teasing their sister Jackie (Karen Mercier) are Bill (John LaLonde, center) and Frank (Janusz Bora). The teens, seniors at St. Frederick High School, are rehearsing "Cheaper by the Dozen." The three-act comedy will open Saturday at 8 p.m. in the parish hall. A second performance will be held Sunday at 8 p.m. Directing the play is Geoffrey Todd of the faculty.

Maxine Davison of Sylvan Lake and Ray A. Probst of Troy. The theme of the program was the "Roaring Twenties" — as if you couldn't tell.

1967 boss of the year is Harold A. Cousins of Bloomfield Hills. He was presented with the Elbert Hubbard Award during last night's festivities. Holding his gun for him is Mrs. Joseph Beas of East Pike Street.

Tipacon Gals Use Theme of 'Twenties'

The "Roaring Twenties" made a return to the Edgewood Country Club Thursday evening.

The occasion was the 14th annual Boss Night gala sponsored by the Tipacon Charter Chapter, American Business Women's Association.

Some 100 members and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Howard Hess.

Ralph Norvell served as toastmaster. Mrs. Noel Loveland gave the toast to the Bosses and Donald J. Frey, 1966 Honorary Boss, the response.

BELL RINGERS

The Eastern Junior High Bell Ringers, under the direction of William Coffing, presented a program.

Brigadier Robert McMahon, Director of the Salvation Army Eventide Home in Detroit, chose the title, "Let's Form a Club" for his humorous address.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Elbert Hubbard Award to Harold A. Cousins, making him the "Boss of the Year".

D. Maxine Davison, 1966-67 woman of the year, presented the award.

★ ★ ★

Assisting Boss Night Chairman, D. Maxine Davison, were Mesdames Donald Lunsford and Walter Latozas, also Ruth Lawrence, Ruth Woodworth and Shirley Dobson.

Others were Mrs. Richard Veazey, Mrs. Charles Harmon, Mrs. Burleigh French and Marie Stoycheff.

Women Wield Shovels to Shame the Menfolk

DINGESS, W.Va. (AP) — The state hasn't done it and the menfolk won't do it, so mothers and grandmothers of Dingess have formed a brigade to fix a neglected road through their town.

The women say they are exasperated at "the laziness of some of our menfolk" and are taking sledgehammers, shovels and wheelbarrows into their own hands.

Almost daily for the past week women ranging from the teens to late sixties have reported for work on the road repair brigade.

"We don't quit 'til it hurts," one said.

So far, they have broken rock and shoveled dirt and gravel to mend almost one mile of tattered roadway.

Asphalt paving on the two-lane road is pocked with deep holes. Cars find it tough going at more than 10 miles per hour in some stretches.

But the work brigade is mainly in protest to the men who, the women say, have refused to fix the road. And it is against the state which also has neglected the route.

The prime target is the state welfare program offering $1 per hour to unemployed fathers to work on public projects. Some 700 men in the area receive such aid.

"You can see them sitting up there on their porches, not doing anything and drawing that welfare pay. It's getting to their morality," one lady worker declared.

Some of the men contend they are at work in other areas, doing other things. They also said the women should stay home and "mind the kitchen."

The road winds along Twelve Pole Creek in a narrow valley, servicing some 400 to 500 families in this area. It was paved in 1963 and the women said it had not been touched again until the brigade was formed.

The women work up to four hours a day with a crew of up to 20. They heckle men walking and driving along the road.

The women have divided the crew into teams — some shovel dirt, some fill holes and one or two of the stronger ones wield a 12-pound sledgehammer to crush rock.

The road is smoother where they have been. But there are dozens of miles to go.

Twelve Pole Creek road eventually reaches a better-kept federal two-lane highway in Naugatuk, about 30 miles west of here.

"The state said someone would come down here and see how bad it is. But nobody ever came," said one woman.

"Now we have the men up there sitting and the longer they sit the sorrier they get," said another.

MRS. TODD J. MACPHERSON

Be Honest With Her About This

ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: A few months ago, a friend asked us for the loan of our house for a special occasion, her apartment being too small. Permission was granted her.

Recently we had a death in the immediate family and we are in no mood for a party of any kind. So far, this friend has said nothing about changing the date and her plans. We feel, under the circumstances, it is her place to approach us, but she is going ahead with her plans and invitations just as though nothing had happened.

What can we do?—P.J.K.

Dear Mrs. P.J.K.: You're right, it is definitely your friend's place to approach you, and she shows lack of awareness by not doing so. Since she hasn't, frankness is the only course.

Call her, tell her how sorry you are, but that under the circumstances you must withdraw your permission. I hope that you do this before the sending of invitations makes it too late.

POTTERY PLATES

Dear Mrs. Post: I am very interested in ceramics. I am making plates to give to some of my friends. I want to put my initials in the center, instead of those of my husband. Which would be most proper?—Jean

Dear Jean: When making plates for your friends, it would be far more appropriate to put their initials in the center—not yours or your husband's. Your initials should be on the back, or in tiny letters in a corner or on the edge, it they fit into the design.

She Is Headed for Trouble

Put Girl's Parents Wise

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow funeral director. My late husband and I have had this business for over 35 years. I have a very nice looking, single embalmer who has been with me for two years. He is engaged to be married to a fine young school teacher.

ABBY

My problem is a 21-year-old mentally retarded girl who has a crush on my embalmer — in fact, on ALL men. She chases after them, and so far she is lucky she hasn't been taken advantage of.

At funeral hour, which is sacred for the family, this bold girl stands outside the funeral home dressed in stretch pants and a tight sweater (in summer she wears short shorts and a skimpy halter top) and she just stares at my embalmer. My curb men are instructed to tell her to move on, but they can't budge her.

How can I get rid of this boy-crazy girl? She is ruining the dignity of my funerals and embarrassing my embalmer.

NEBRASKAN

DEAR NEBRASKAN: Don't worry about your embalmer—he can take care of himself. I would be more concerned about this poor girl. She needs to be protected and supervised for her own good. Call on her parents and put them wise before something happens to her.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have been seeing a psychiatrist for several months. I think I know what is at the root of my trouble, but I am too ashamed to tell him.

I have been shoplifting for a long time, Not anything very expensive—just little things. I have never been caught, but I think some of the clerks suspect me by the way they look at me.

I have made up my mind to stop completely, but I am so sick with guilt feelings that I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown. If I tell my doctor, do you think he would report me to the police?

I will do anything to be cured, but I wouldn't want to shame my family with any publicity. Please, please help me.

ASHAMED

★ ★ ★

DEAR ASHAMED: Tell your doctor and be assured that your secret will be safe with him.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When I married Mike he knew that I HATED to get up in the morning. I have always worked the 4 p. m. to midnight shift (waitress) and now I can't suddenly change my way of living, even though I don't work anymore.

Well, Mike has to be on his job at 8 a. m., so he expects me to get up at 6:45 a. m. to fix his breakfast. I tried a couple of times, but I spilled the coffee, dropped things and burned myself.

I am just no good in the morning. Mike can't seem to understand this. Abby, it is ruining our marriage. I love Mike very much, but he says I am selfish, that sleeping late is a habit, and I could retrain myself if I really wanted to.

If you tell me to try, I will, but I honestly think he is expecting the impossible.

SLEEPYHEAD

★ ★ ★

DEAR SLEEPYHEAD: Mike is right. If you really wanted to, you could change your sleeping habits. (New mothers do!) If you require more sleep, take a nap in the afternoon. It's not easy, but it's not impossible either.

Case No. C-526

A Narcissus Complex

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-526: Mary B., aged 29, was a pampered daughter.

"Dr. Crane," her husband began, "Mary comes from very wealthy parents.

"And she is an only child whose parents indulged her every whim.

DR. CRANE

"Whenever she entered a room, every eye turned in her direction for she was always dressed in the most expensive and fashionable clothes.

★ ★

"If mink and sable bathing suits had been in vogue, that's what she would have worn routinely.

"She swept me off my feet, so I gave her a big rush. How I ever happened to win her, I don't know, but when I proposed, she accepted.

"It really seemed that she loved me, at least as much as would be possible in her case.

"For I have come to the unhappy conclusion that she was addicted to what you call the 'Narcissus Complex,' and basically was hypnotized by her own reflection in the mirror.

"At any rate, when she became pregnant, she tried to have an abortion.

"Then she ranted and raved and blamed me for spoiling her figure and depriving her of her social life, etc.

"After the baby came, she became depressed and so blue that she required psychiatric care.

"Shock treatment was used and seemed partially helpful for a time but its effect would wear off, so finally she has been placed in a private mental sanitarium.

★ ★ ★

"She has been there the past 3 years. Her father pays the bills for her care, which run over $2,000 every month.

"And she seems entirely content as long as she has plenty of cosmetics, combs, and brushes, as well as pretty frocks and full length mirrors.

"For she prefers to dress and admire her figure in the mirror; then change costumes and do it all over again.

"Isn't this a tragedy? Could it have been avoided?"

TRIANGLE TRAGEDY

Yes, this is a double tragedy because it could have been avoided.

And it is just another example of the "triangle" that often arises when two females compete for the affection of one man.

Literally thousands of new wives experience a slight amount of jealousy when their first baby is a little girl.

For the husband (as well as the grandparents) will focus most of his attention on the new baby.

If the young wife has been an only child and thus accustomed for 20 years to all the spotlighting on her family stage, this is a very rude and shocking demotion.

You readers can compare this situation to what might occur in the theater if the prima donna, without any warning, were abruptly informed before tonight's performance that she was to be demoted to the chorus and a young girl were to be given her former prima donna spot!

The temperamental former prima donna would almost tear the theater apart, wouldn't she?

But mothers feel they don't dare act openly jealous or hateful of their own baby, so they repress these subconscious ideas.

Insanity is a flight from an unsolved and painful external world, so send for my booklet "How to Stay Sane and Happy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Virginia Lee Muldoon and Howard C. Kuhn plan to marry Aug. 26. She is a junior at Oakland University and he at Lawrence Institute of Technology. Their parents are Mrs. Virginia Muldoon of Keego Harbor and the George E. Kuhns of East Mansfield Street.

Miles of Shadows Between Love and Sex

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Parents often become embroiled in argument over the proposed introduction of sex information courses into public schools and the degree of candor appropriate for teacher instructors.

Though I am personally for school instruction in sex information, I feel great sympathy for the anxiety and reservations of my fellow parents who are not for it. I feel such sympathy for them that I even think I know what their objection is. If I'm right, it is a very reasonable one from a parent's point of view.

I think we feel our anxious reservations about other adults instructing our youngsters in sex mechanics for the same reason we feel anxiously shy about discussing them with them ourselves.

As grownups, we know that no matter how explicit we are, no matter how matter-of-fact and objective, we have told the children nothing when we've finished telling them all we know about sex mechanics.

We know that we've told them no more about sex as we know it than we can fill their ears with storms of music by showing them a Beethoven score. We know that the word "summer" is one thing — and the sight of a cornfield, heavy with fruit, quite another.

We know that the possession of a map to a country is many, many miles distant from experience of that country — its dead-end roads, its shallow streams and its deeper, refreshing rivers, the hills which are unworth the climbing and the mountains which extend the view and widen the world.

What we know is what poet T. S. Eliot knew when he wrote of the "shadow" which falls "between the idea and the reality." It's that shadow we're scared of, the many miles distant between the experience of sex and the experience of love.

But just maybe we could stop being so scared, so shy and so anxious if we felt back to the ages of the children.

If we forget our own point of view for a minute to feel back to where the children are, we can begin to remember how important maps were as sources of thought about the countries we would one day visit.

We can begin to see that the greatest and fullest creations of which we are capable, whether in art, in sex or any form of human aspiration began with the idea, not the reality and were, in fact, born out of the primitive blueprint.

★ ★ ★

You see, the children are not us. And truly, they need the baby blueprint. Information on sex mechanics is a kind of toddling. If they now walk straight and strong, it's because we let them toddle.

The prettiest girl I ever saw was wearing this design by Shannon Rodgers for Jerry Silverman. The low scooped neckline with small sleeves—the strategic darting in both bodice and skirt — the flared lines with a pleated panel front — and the finishing touch of a fringed bow.

All of this adds up to an outstanding design that is particularly adaptable to many fabrics from simple cottons to rich textured satins and silks.

WCTU Hears Report

Following a morning sewing session Thursday, members of the Anna Gordon union, Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU), heard Mrs. Joseph Green report on the recent legislative day in Lansing.

Speaking also before the group in the First Baptist Church was Mrs. Arnold Young.

An upcoming event announced is the 19th District Institute slated for Wednesday in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Rev. William Ballard, Oakland County director of "Lifeliner" will speak, with the Anna Gordon union acting as hostess group.

'Middle'-Aged's Mom Has Pals

By BETTY CANARY

One thing about having a middle-aged child is that you don't just have the middle-aged child . . . you have the child and at least one pal.

And, when you have several children, you have a car full.

They always have to take a long a friend, it seems. Especially when you go to the supermarket.

★ ★ ★

I used to make everybody take turns, but I couldn't keep track of whose turn it was. Besides, kids can out-argue me.

I used to say things such as "kids can out-argue me 9 out of 10 times . . . or "most of the time," . . . or, "half the time." But there is so much arguing that now I have lost track of THAT.

I used to have lots of rules too, but they have all narrowed down to one. Everybody who goes along has to know his own name and telephone number.

Then it's every man for himself if he doesn't keep up with the grocery cart.

DEN MOTHER

There seems to be some kind of process by which the mother with the most kids gets to be a Den Mother.

When the Cub Master leaves, you are alone. Bathed in a euphoric glow of flattery, perhaps . . . but ALONE.

There you are, clutching your little booklet of Den Doings and a mimeographed copy of "A'Cubbing We Will Go."

★ ★ ★

And before you know it, you are knee-deep in plaster of paris, your garage is full of plastic foam, and you have this eight-foot-long list of places where you must take the boys on educational tours.

The tours are educational all right, especially for you.

You learn right off that it will be a cold day in July before you go this route again without a mother or two along to help you.

Another thing you learn is that little boys aged eight and eleven suddenly sprout extra fingers and arms when going through a factory filled with whizzing machinery.

HOLD HANDS

Of course, if you had checked with an experienced Den Mother you would have learned that on factory tours Cubbers go two by two with outside hands firmly in pants pockets, inside hands firmly clasped together.

Experienced Den Mothers are a different breed of cat.

After a few years of this kind of life, you have become as a magnet attracting iron filings. You are the Pied Piper.

★ ★ ★

And, somehow, you get so used to having all those kids around you — other people's as well as your own — that you don't know how to act when you aren't surrounded.

★ ★ ★

Why, once I went to the dime store by myself and had smacked the little boy's hands and sent two little girls to the rest room before I realized they weren't with me at all.

Their mother was across the asile buying place mats.

However the thing that really made me understand I had to get out without kids more often, was the night I went to a dinner party.

REALLY SHOOK

There I was talking away like mad — as I walked around the table cutting up everybody's meat.

★ ★ ★

What really shook me was that is was my second trip. I had already buttered their bread.

Mary Laek, dramatic soprano, of Rochester, will present a concert at the Detroit Institute of Arts lecture hall on May 7 at 8:20 p.m. Ida K. Cordes will accompany her. Miss Laek sings in seven languages. Tickets may be purchased from Grinnell's of Detroit.

Vows Impending

Sharon Louella Messer and Clark Everette Riddle are planning Aug. 12 vows. Their parents are the Charles F. Messers of Belleview Street and the Merle B. Riddles of Tappan Drive, Independence Township.

He is a student at Oakland Community College.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Since my Nine Day Reducing Diet has only been running for four days I have not had time to receive many questions from readers concerning it.

However, I know from past experience what some of these will be and will answer some of them today.

Q. I do not like many vegetables, but I do like most greens and also carrots. Can I substitute these for other similar vegetables?

A. Yes. The ones you mention are at the top of the list so far as health is concerned.

Q. I do not like skim milk. Can I substitute buttermilk?

A. Yes, you can substitute buttermilk or powdered fat-free milk. Many people prefer the latter.

Q. Must I cut out all cocktails?

A. Unless you cut out all alcoholic drinks, I cannot guarantee you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days. Anyway, these have no place on a rapid reducing program.

They are high in calorie count, and you need all of the calories for the essentials of health.

Today, I am printing the menus for Saturday, Sunday and Monday, so you can do your weekend shopping.

Sliced tomatoes or canned tomatoes
One glass skimmed milk

DINNER
Minute steak or chops
Salad of shredded cabbage and carrots

Be sure to watch for Monday's column when I will give you more menus for your Nine Day Diet.

If you want to lose from 5 to 10 pounds in nine days and missed some of the menus or would like to have the "Nine Day Diet" in booklet form, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press. This booklet gives you a list of substitute foods in case you do not like some included in the menus.

U.S. Officials to Air Communications System

Waterford Township Board of Education members last night were informed that U.S. Department of Education officials will visit the school district May 5 to discuss a proposed local computer-based individual communications system.

School officials have requested more than $500,000 in federal funds to implement the exemplary program during the 1967-68 school year.

The experimental undertaking would be conducted over a three-year period.

Selected district school personnel will travel to various parts of the country to confer with experts in computerized individual instruction.

The district's program would be headed by a director of research and development. Working under him would be qualified personnel in the areas of curriculum, research, data processing, public relations and materials and their staffs.

INSTRUCTION

Students in audio - visual response carrels would have access to computer-linked equipment and would receive instruction via television screens, slide projectors, film strips, typewriters and panel lights.

An outside computer would attempt to analyze responses to search for student behavior patterns.

Purpose of the project is to test and evaluate ideas.

In other business at last night's meeting, the board approved a request from the Hillsdale Board of Education for moral support and a $25 donation to aid its case now before the State Labor Mediation Board.

BOARD CITED

The Hillsdale board was cited to the Labor Mediation Board for refusing to recognize the district's principals as a collective bargaining unit.

In what is described as a test case in Michigan, Hillsdale board members thwarted the proposed organizational movement because they consider principals part of the management team.

The Waterford Township School Board approved the request by a 5-0 vote. However, Treasurer Donald Porter and board member Michael Patterson abstained.

★ ★ ★

Porter and Patterson said they wanted more knowledge on the subject, such as local principals' feelings, before taking a stand.

GRIEVANCE DISCUSSED

In other business, a recent grievance filed by the Waterford Education Association (WEA) against the board was discussed.

The WEA contends the board committed a contract violation by distributing individual teacher contracts for the 1967-68 school year prior to the signing of a master contract.

School officials disagree.

★ ★ ★

If the grievance is pursued, hearings will be held in the local level and before an arbitrator of the State Labor Mediation Board.

MASTER CONTRACT

Negotiations toward a 1967-68 master contract for teachers began March 1.

Also last night, the board unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing the principle of state fiscal reform as the means to produce sufficient state revenues to support local public schools.

The board set 5 p.m. May 15 as the final day for unregistered voters to register for the June 12 school election.

★ ★ ★

The resignation of Norma Crawford from the school district's board of canvassers also was accepted last night.

It was announced that Associate Supt. James DenHerder will serve as acting superintendent while Dr. Don O. Tatroe is on vacation tomorrow through May 15.

Also approved by the board last night were 1967-68 contracts for 18 teachers and a resignation.

Air pollutants are now costing the nation $11.5 billion annually in damages, the U.S. Public Health Service estimates.

Waterford School Affairs

Contracts for Stands at WKHS Awarded

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night awarded contracts for construction of a new football grandstand at Kettering High School and opened bids for an interior remodeling project at Township High School.

It was the second time around for both projects. The board had previously rejected the original bids because they ran considerably higher than estimated costs.

Contracts for the 1,800-seat grandstand totaled $63,228. Zarza Stadium Co. of Detroit will build the structure for $54,204, while the E. E. Powell General Contracting Co. of Waterford Township will do the concrete foundation work for the balance of the overall expense.

The grandstand is slated to be completed prior to Kettering's first home football game next season.

★ ★ ★

The bleachers will be equipped with aluminum seating and a pressbox.

TO BE MOVED

The existing stands will be moved to the other side of the football field.

Original budget for the project totaled $45,000. Contingency funds will be used to pay for the difference, school officials said.

Submitting the apparent low bid for the Township High School remodeling project was the Harry D. Osgood Co., Inc., of Detroit with a proposal of $93,027.

★ ★ ★

Five companies bid for the project, with the highest totaling $106,950. Alternate bids for additional optional construction also were submitted by each firm.

All bids were referred to Architects Wakely Kushner Associates, Inc., of St. Clair Shores and the administration for review and recommendations.

Originally budgeted for the project was $45,000 in local funds plus National Defense Education Act financial assistance.

★ ★ ★

The project consists of relocating and remodeling the school's art and homemaking facilities, relighting existing corridors and electrifying the business education department.

County Golf Ratio Better Than State

According to the National Golf Foundation Survey Michigan ranks 7th in total number of golf courses among the 50 states with 402.

By ratio of population however, Michigan has one course for every 20,831 people, which is a higher ratio than the other four states with more courses, New York (527), California (574), Pennsylvania (452) Illinois (442), Texas (450), and Ohio (484).

By comparison, Oakland County which has a larger population than any of these states, South Dakota, Vermont, North Dakota, Wyoming, New Hampshire, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Hawaii, Delaware or Alaska has 58 courses for a ratio of one for every 18,000 people.

This ratio is ahead of that for the state of Michigan and the total number of Oakland county courses is more than in either states of Vermont, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, New Mexico, Rhode Island, Hawaii, Utah, Delaware, Nevada or Alaska.

County Shares in Growth

Golf Industry Boom Continues

The mushrooming golfing industry shows no sign of easing.

The number of golfers playing 15 rounds or more last year in the United States was pegged at 8,525,000, up nearly a million from 1965.

And new course builders and golf equipment manufacturers are trying to keep pace with this upward trend.

Locally, the growth of golf has been a little on the spectacular side.

★ ★ ★

Back in 1955, there were 27 golf courses in Oakland County. Today, there are 59, all of whom either open or in the building stage.

SOME EXPANDING

And there are several courses which are planning expansion of present facilities.

The increase in the number of golfers has brought about a boom in sales of golf equipment, and one of the local distributors of equipment, Golf Mart, Inc., of Birmingham has picked up steam.

"There's been a great lift in the past two years," says Robert Howell, president and owner of Golf Mart, Inc., which services seven states.

While Oakland County has 59 courses, the state of Michigan has 402 and ranks sixth in the nation, numerically.

Leading the nation is California with 574, followed by New York (527), Pennsylvania (452), Texas (450) and Illinois (442).

NEW COURSES

Among the new courses in Oakland this year are Bramblewood Country Club and Groveland Country Club, both located near Holly, and El Dorado, located near Walled Lake. Only El Dorado will be playable this year. The others are slated for 1968 openings.

The county also has a new 'Dean of the Golf Pros' in Frank Syron Sr. of Pontiac Country Club.

Syron, who is in his 47th year as a pro and 27th at PCC, moved into the dean's spot when Al Watrous retired from his post at Oakland Hills Country Club after 48 years.

Replacing Watrous was touring pro Mike Souchak.

Ranking second on the 'Dean's List' now is Leo Conroy of North Hills, in his 42nd year as a pro and 35th at the present course.

Following Syron and Conroy are Tommy Shannon of Orchard Lake and Bill Graham of Bloomfield Hills.

Green Fees Go Up

Numerous Changes in Public Courses

Changes are numerous and various among the public golf courses in the area and among the new looks will be a slight increase in greens fees.

Many of the courses have upped the ante about 25 cents on a nine-hole basis for both weekday and weekend golfing.

And in most cases, golfers will note that an increase in fees has been accompanied by an improvement in the golf course.

One of the changes players will appreciate at Bald Mountain is the watering system. Along with the water, officials have added some trees and made some of the greens larger.

Pontiac Country Club has added air conditioning and the club is making plans for expansion of the clubhouse.

A new nine holes is in the making at Oxford Hills Golf and Recreation on Drahner Road. Owner John M. Hubbard said he plans to seed the second nine this fall. He has a scenic 3,157-yard layout open now.

Another nine hole is being added at Bogie Lake Country Club near Union Lake and officials hope to have it ready for play later in the season.

Sylvan Glen has completed its watering system, added new tees on three holes and installed a water reservoir near the 13th fairway.

Mulberry Hills near Oxford has its full 18 holes ready for play.

Rain will no longer be a problem at Carl's Golfland. Owner Carl Rose is having 100 feet of driving range area covered for rain and sun protection.

BETTER DRAINAGE

Silver Lake Golf Club on Walton has solved some of its water problem with a new drainage system and several new tees have been added at the course.

★ ★ ★

There are 27 holes in play at Morey's Golf Club in Union Lake, and they've dressed up the inside by renovating the lounge and one of the three dining areas.

Holly Greens, which opened last year on I-75 near Holly, has added a new dining area to the clubhouse.

The watering system has been completed at Clarkston Golf Club on Eston Road.

★ ★ ★

The greens at Nos. 8 and 9 have been changed at Rochester Country Club, which will be the site of the George Sadowski Memorial Tournament Sept. 3-4.

CHANGE PAR

The 460-yard, par-5 fifth hole at Kensington has been changed to a par-4.

★ ★ ★

The par-3 Glenlore Golf Club near Milford has nine holes in top shape and owners Lee and Al Kocsis are hopeful that a second nine will be ready by late May. "If it stops snowing," Al says.

A two-level clubhouse is under construction at Shenandoah Golf & Country Club near Walled Lake.

The modernistic clubhouse at Bay Pointe Golf Club is getting the finishing touches and officials hope to have everything ready to go by May 1.

Some 300 trees have been planted at Bay Pointe and a drainage system installed.

New trees have been added at Royal Oak Golf Club and new tees have been added in three holes.

The par-3 Independence Green at Farmington is adding a pro shop which should be completed by fall.

A new clubhouse is the new look at Idyl Wyld Golf Club near Livonia.

Twin Lakes GC Gets 'Facelift'

A facelifting carrying a price tag of some $1.5 million is on top for Twin Lakes Golf Club on Williams Lake Road.

Owners of the course, Don and Bob VanTine, said plans are under way to add another nine holes to the course bringing it to 18 along with a major expansion of the present clubhouse facilities.

Don, 42, a graduate of Pontiac Central, is personnel director of General Motors staff at the Detroit central office, and Bob, 45, is a vice president of Columbia Beneficial Holdings, Ltd., and British Columbia Life and Casualty Co.

Work on the new nine holes is expected to start the first of May.

The property at Twin Lakes was acquired by the Vantine family in 1864. It was developed first as a dairy farm. The golf course was built in 1929.

★ ★ ★

Over-all, the 18 holes will cover 200 acres, with the new nine-hole layout covering 110 acres.

SLIGHT CHANGE

Along with the building of a new nine, plans also call for a slight change in the old nine.

★ ★ ★

The present course is a par-36, 3,175-yard layout. The only change in this one will come on the par-5 No. 9 hole, which will be shortened and par reduced from 5 to 4.

That change will give the present nine a par of 35, and the new nine holes, expected to cover some 3,600 yards, will have a par of 37.

Included in the new nine are a pair of tough par-3 holes, one a 240-yarder and the other going at 235 yards.

★ ★ ★

Present plans also call for watered fairways — from tee to green — which will be added as the new nine holes are built and then later added to the older portion of the course.

Barring any delays, Don said he expects to have the new section of the course open for play in the spring of 1968.

Berkley Boy Youngest to Score 'Ace'

Richard Thorne, 13, of Berkley was the youngest boy to hit a hole-in-one in Michigan in 1966 according to the GOLF DIGEST Hole-In-One Clearing House.

Richard aced the 100-yard 3rd at the Burroughs Farms golf course in Brighton, on June 23, 1966.

The youngest boy ever to hit a hole-in-one was 6 year old Joe Dobson Jr., who aced the 155 yard 4th at Meadowlark Municipal golf course, Enid, Oklahoma on February 23, 1958.

Golf Digest operates the Hole-In-One Clearing House as a service to the sport. Since 1952, when it was founded, the Clearing House has cleared and authenticated over 95,000 holes-in-one.

Last year 494 holes-in-one in Michigan were authenticated by the Clearing House.

Paint Creek CC Ready to Go

Paint Creek Country Club near Lake Orion is the latest to join the ranks of the private club set.

★ ★ ★

The 3,100-yard, par-35 layout, owned and built by Don D'Onofrio, was opened last September and ready for membership now.

The Paint Creek club is an attractive layout, featuring a two-level clubhouse that includes a pro shop, locker rooms, dining area and porch along with a sauna room.

Members at Tam O'Shanter are enjoying a $500,000 renovation of the clubhouse. The Orchard Lake Road course is in line for the 1969 National PGA Tournament. Head pro at Tam is Warren Orlick, treasurer of the national PGA.

★ ★ ★

Knollwood has a new club storage room at the pro shop and a new home for the greens' superintendent.

WATER SYSTEM

In the planning stage at Edgewood Country Club is a watering system which will be installed this fall.

★ ★ ★

The Edgewood course, site of the 'local' U.S.G.A. Open qualifying this year, also has new tees on Nos. 4 and 8.

A number of improvements have been made at Hillcrest Country Club in Mount Clemens, where former Michigan PGA champion Ben Lula is head pro.

They've added new tees on five holes at Hillcrest and a new green at the 16th hole. Other changes include an expansion of the clubhouse and expansion of the cart garage.

Palmer Tells Wives How to Beat Husbands

The best way for a wife to beat her husband at golf "is to tell him he has an Arnold Palmer swing," advised the old pro himself.

"Most men want to be heroes, especially in the presence of ladies," said Palmer in a copyrighted article in McCall's magazine.

"The great delusion of male golfers is that they ought to be able to hit their tee shots 260 yards or more."

"They watch fellows like Jack Nicklaus or Gary Player or me on television. They see us take a hard swipe, and they watch the ball take off like a homesick angel, enabling us to get on the green with a second-shot nine iron," he said.

"So your husband, being a virile mate, thinks he ought to be able to do the same. He swings at the ball as though he were out to destroy it. The result, generally, is that the ball trickles a few yards off the tee, or is far off to one side or the other, or is in the pond.

"The reason I say this is that the kind of game I play — the way I swing, the chances I take and, in fact, my entire strategy — is the last thing in world the average golfer should try to play," Palmer cautioned.

Male weekend golfers also try to copy the pros on the fairway, Palmer added. "If you watch most men, you will see that they vie with one another in getting the longest shot with the shortest club. This is kid stuff, like comparing the size of muscles," he asserted.

TOO PROUD

"But he may be too proud to confess he's not up there with the big boys. And this is the way he beats himself — especially when he plays against a woman who knows his weaknesses."

Groveland Course on Drawings

On the drawing board is another addition to Oakland County's list of golf courses.

The latest is a 7,000-yard, par-72 layout slated to cover some 140 acres of gently rolling countryside north of Clarkston on Dixie Highway across from Mt. Holly ski resort.

Developer of the new course is the Groveland Valley Corporation, which also has a housing project in the same area.

A tie-in will have those purchasing homes and homesites in the area gaining access to the course through a membership program.

Ed Valade of Warren, president of the Groveland Valley Corporation, said the course would open on a public basis with a general trend toward becoming a private club.

PLAN CLUBHOUSE

Along with the course will be a $500,000 clubhouse. Architect for the work is Kieft Engineering of Clarkston, the firm that also built Waterford Hills and Holly Greens.

Valade said work would begin soon on the sprinkling and pumping system at the course. The first nine holes should be completed by the summer of 1968, Valade said.

AFTER THIRD TITLE — Gene Bone, two-time winner of the Michigan Open, will be after his third straight title in the state event when it is played at Spring Meadows, Aug. 11-13. This was his reaction when he took the first crown in 1965.

Never Accomplished

Third State Title Bone's Goal

Pontiac's Gene Bone will be battling precedent when he opens defense of his Michigan Open Championship in the 48th edition of the event this summer.

No player has ever won the event three times in a row, so Bone, with victories in 1965 and 1966, will be trying to end that record.

A number of players have won the crown twice in a row. Before Bone, those scoring consecutive wins were Al Watrous (twice 1926-27 and 1929-30), Marvin Stahl (1938-39), Chuck Kocsis (1945-46) and John Barnum (1960-61).

Complicating Bone's efforts for a third straight title may be the presence of touring pro Mike Souchak, now head pro at Oakland Hills Country Club.

★ ★ ★

Souchak, along with Franklin Hills pro Ted Kroll, are expected to push Bone in this year's event.

SLIM WIN

In last year's tournament at Spring Meadows Country Club near Linden, Bone put together rounds of 70-74-74-73 for a 291, one shot ahead of Kroll, Cass Jawor of Glen Oaks and Jim Picard of Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

Barnum finished fifth with a 294 and Stonycroft pro Jerry Prieskorn shared sixth with young amateur John Grace of Grosse Pointe at 295.

★ ★ ★

Amateurs have had little luck in the tournament.

Kocsis was the last amateur to win, that coming in 1946. The other two amateurs to claim the crown were Chick Harbert (1937) and George VonElm (1928). Harbert, also, won the title as a pro (1942).

James M. Barnes defeated Jock Hutchison 1-up to capture the first Professional Golfers Association championship in 1916.

PGA Format Change Hampers Bone's Trip

Michigan PGA champion Gene Bone was pleased in more ways than one over this triumph among the pros last year.

★ ★ ★

Along with the trophy, the victory also meant that Bone, head pro at Bay Pointe Golf Club, would automatically qualify for the 1967 national PGA at Columbine Country Club in Denver, Colo.

"I was looking forward to that trip," says Gene.

But the national PGA, seeking to reduce the field, wiped out the exemptions for sectional champions such as Bone and with it went Gene's hope for a free trip to Colorado.

★ ★ ★

Now he'll try to qualify for the national event in the sectional 36-hole round June 19 at Birmingham Country Club.

FIRESTONE NORTH — This is the Firestone Country Club North course revealing that water holes will play a major role in challenging the golf skills of the pros. This new layout was designed by Robert Trent Jones who re-designed the present South Course for the 1960 PGA championship.

Firestone Adds Another 18-Hole Course

AKRON, Ohio — The famous Firestone Country Club is building a new 18-hole championship golf course.

* * *

Construction will begin this spring on the new layout designed by architect Robert Trent Jones. Site of the new 7,095-yard, par-72 course is the former 18-hole Firestone Public Golf Course, across the lake to the north of the present 7,180-yard, par-70 Firestone Country Club.

The additional course will provide Firestone Country Club members 36 holes of championship golf as well as offer a new challenge for PGA tournament golf in Akron.

In discussing the new course, Jones commented, "With the addition of this new 18-holes of championship golf caliber, Firestone Country Club will have the finest golf facilities anywhere in the country.

* * *

Firestone has been a regular stop on the pro golfers tour since 1954 when the first 72-hole tournament, the Rubber City Open, was held there.

Since then, two PGA Championships, five Rubber City Opens, five American Golf Classic events, five World Series of Golf championships and numerous nationally televised golf shows have been held at Firestone.

This year, the Classic will be held Aug. 7-13, and the World Series, Sept. 8-10.

Bolt Doesn't Bolt Golfing Fashion Show

Tommy Bolt, Bobby Nichols and Tom Nieporte served as models in a men's fashion show at the Greensboro Open.

They wore golf clothes, naturally.

Unfortunately, the clothes they gave Bolt were not as colorful as he ordinarily wears on the course. But Tom really suffered through it.

Yancey's 265 Total Best

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) — Bert Yancey posted the lowest 72-hole score on the pro tour in 1966 with a 265 that won the Memphis Open.

Billy Casper, the reigning U.S. Open king, posted a 285 in winning the initial Buick Open back in 1958 at Warwick Hills. Billy put together rounds of 70-73-71-71.

The field has been increased from 20 to 25 teams to permit more schools to participate, while the number on each team has been reduced from five to four players.

A phase of the event that remains is the coaches' nine-hole handicap competition.

With the added teams, it may be that one will sneak in and end Bloomfield Hills' hold on the title.

THREE STRAIGHT

The Hills' Barons have won the championship three times in a row, matching a streak put together back in 1953-55 by Birmingham Seaholm, and they'll be after a record fourth straight when the firing opens May 22.

★ ★ ★

Seaholm, which dropped out of the 18-hole tournament three years ago, was given an opportunity to enter this year but the offer was declined.

Three other schools which rank along with the Barons in the favorite's department are Walled Lake, Waterford and Kettering.

★ ★ ★

Waterford surprised the Barons last week in a dual match on the PCC layout by posting a one-stroke victory, and it could be that this will be the year the Skippers take the whole thing.

PLACED EIGHTH

Waterford was eighth last year, but the Skippers are coming back with practically the same team so they'll make it rough for Hills. The Skippers only victory in the tournament came in 1956.

★ ★ ★

Along with looking for its fourth straight win, the Barons will also be seeking their sixth over-all, and should they get it, it would match the six Seaholm won before bowing out.

Individually, there are a number of players capable of taking the top spot.

Hills has Bill Scott, Walled Lake has Russ Herron, Waterford has Randy Reith and Rod Skelton and Avondale has Gary Balliet.

Hills' Coach Returns to Golf Duties

Coach Don Dennis of Bloomfield Hills will try to pick up where he left off in The Pontiac Press Invitational Golf Tournament.

★ ★ ★

The 38-year-old Dennis, who teaches history, Asian studies and painting at Hills, was the winning coach in three of the Press outings and he was ready to for a fourth when an opportunity to study in Hawaii cropped up.

That was two years ago. So last year, Dennis spent the year at University of Hawaii under a scholarship provided by the East-West Center and he wasn't around when the Hills team won its fifth trophy in the Press competition.

Filling in for Dennis last year was football coach Bill Tunnicliff.

★ ★ ★

Dennis is back now and he's resumed his golf coaching duties.

Bada City Golf Kingpin

A couple of city marks are within reach of 35-year-old Paul Bada, the kingpin in Pontiac's amateur golfing crowd.

★ ★ ★

The marks Bada is closing in on are in the city Medal Play Tournament, slated for August at the 5,689 - yard Pontiac Municipal Course.

Bada has won the tournament five times, twice in a row, and a triumph this season would enable him to match a record set by former Pontiac schoolteacher Mike Andonian, who now lives in California.

Andonian captured the championship three times in a row—1951-52-53 — the only player to win three in a row and he claimed his sixth championship in 1962.

★ ★ ★

Bada put together rounds of 66 and 71 for a 137 and a two-stroke victory over former champion Dick Robertson and Avery Burton.

QUALIFYING ROUND

The 18-hole qualifying round for the Medal Play is slated for Aug. 19 with the survivors moving onto the 36-hole finals the following week.

★ ★ ★

The city tournament schedule opens June 24 and Bada will have a hand in that event.

It's the Men's Best Ball Tournament and Bada and George Hammitt will return as defending champions. The two combined for a six-under-par 63 in winning by a stroke last year.

Next on the schedule is the Retiree's Handicap event, and returning to defend his title is Pete Reece, 72, who won the crown last year with a net 35 for players in the over-65 class.

★ ★ ★

The triumph by Reece ended a two-year reign by 73-year-old Ed Harrison, who turned in the best actual score of the tournament, a 39.

The ladies will battle for the Women's Medal Play crown August 5, and returning to shoot for her third straight championship will be Mrs. Bobbi Miller of Farmington.

★ ★ ★

A victory would give Mrs. Miller her fourth over-all in the city series. She carded an 80 to take the title last year, finishing two shots ahead of Jewell Hammett.

City Slates Clinic May 4 at Central

A five-week golf clinic is slated to get under way May 4 at Pontiac Central High School. Sponsoring the clinic is the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

★ ★ ★

Serving as instructors for the clinic will be former Pontiac City Champion Zadah DeBolt and Bill Willson, golfing coach at Pontiac Northern High School.

The classes will meet two hours each week (7:30 - 9:30 p.m.). Dates for the sessions are May 4, 11, 18 and 25 and June 1.

Covered in the clinic will be the fundamentals of the game with emphasis on stance, grip, swing and selection of the club to a particular situation, along with a review of rules and etiquette.

★ ★ ★

Included in the course will be some outdoor practice at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course. Equipment needed for the clinic should include a driver (No. 2 wood), a 5-iron, a putter and two soft-rubber or plastic golf balls.

★ ★ ★

Persons desiring to register for the five-session course may do so by calling the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, FE 3-7131, EXT 272. Late registrations will be accepted at the PCH gymnasium shortly before the first session begins.

Ladies' Open Dates Slated

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1968 U. S. Women's Open golf championship will be played at the Moselem Springs Golf Club, 14 miles from Reading, Pa. The course was designed by golf pro George Fazio.

★ ★ ★

The 1967 Women's Open will be played at the Cascades course at Hot Springs, Va.

Municipal Course Has Improvements

Golf will cost you a little more at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course this year, but city plans are such that you'll enjoy it more.

A program initiated by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department calls for watered fairways, remodeling of the clubhouse, additional fencing in the clubhouse and parking area along with an over-all improvement in the landscaping.

The improvement program actually opened last year with the expenditure of $37,000 — $22,000 for a service building and $15,000 for paving of the parking area.

In a memo to City Manager Joseph A. Warren, Parks and Recreation director David R. Ewalt expressed the hope that the current improvement program could be completed in about four years.

★ ★ ★

The sprinkling system and the clubhouse, when remodeling is completed, will still some of the criticism leveled at the course and city officials in recent years.

DRAWINGS INCOMPLETE

The watering system is expected to cost the city some $70,000 over the four-year period, while estimates on costs of remodeling the clubhouse will not be available until architectural drawings are completed.

★ ★ ★

Along with those two major projects, the recreation department will spend some $3,000 for fencing of the parking area and $1,500 for landscaping and they've allocated another $3,500 to replace the heating plant at the clubhouse.

In raising the green fees, assistant Parks and Recreation director John A. Streit noted that the rates have gone unchanged since 1963.

Rates at all public courses in the area have shot upward in the past two years.

This summer, the rates will be $1.50 for nine holes weekdays; $1.75 for nine holes on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. All-day fees have been set at $3.50 weekdays. Twilight play is $1.

Public Links Makes Change to Stroke Play

The Amateur Public Links Championship will be played at 72 holes stroke play in 1967. It has been decided by match play since its inception in 1922.

★ ★ ★

Recommendation to change the format was made by the USGA Public Links Committee and approved by the Executive Committee.

The 1967 Championship is scheduled July 12-15 at the Jefferson Park Golf Course, Seattle, Wash.

The 1966 Champion, Lamont A. Kaser, of Wichita, Kansas, is now a professional.

Zipper Pops, So Does Shot

Joel Goldstrand doesn't recommend this as a way to make eagles but it worked for him at Tucson. He stopped at a course comfort station and broke a zipper.

He couldn't get it fixed and couldn't enlist any safety pin aid from the gallery. Suddenly, the zipper popped back into place, Goldstrand hit a 9 iron shot to the green and it rolled into the cup for a 2.

Summer Slate Filled With Golfing Events

The 1967 Golfing schedule swings into action with a few events on the May calendar, and the players will move into high gear on the packed June and July slates.

Among the events on the May calendar is the U.S.G.A. 'Local' qualifying round May 22 at Edgewood Country Club for amateurs and professionals.

For the high school golfers on the same day, the Pontiac Press will entertain a field of 100 in the 16th Annual Press Invitational at Pontiac Country Club.

Survivors in the 'local' qualifying May 22 move on to Tam O'Shanter for the 'sectional' qualifying June 6, and the pro tour reaches Michigan on June 8 for the Buick Open at Warwick Hills.

★ ★ ★

Qualifying for the Buick Open is slated for June 5 at Flint Golf Club.

AMATEUR SET

The Michigan Amateur is slated for June 28-July 2 at Belvedere Country Club in Charlevoix.

★ ★ ★

The professional ladies tour makes its annual trek into the state July 7-8 for Yankee Open at Flint's Willowood Club.

The state publinx championship is slated for August 2-5 at Swan Valley Country Club in Saginaw.

Color Swings Into New Golf Season

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Color coordination in men's wear has spread to the field of knitted sportsshirts and sweaters for spring and summer and if a golfer, for instance, isn't a symphony in living color he's not with it.

There are two distinct sets of colors on the best selling list — the Mexican-inspired guacamole, aqua, orange, chili and fiesta yellow, and muted pastels. The Mexican colors have hit almost every line of leisure wear and there are slacks and shorts in the same shades.

But in coordinating the knitted shirts and sweaters, manufacturers have chosen either to match them perfectly or to match the trims. A mock turtleneck shirt, for instance, would find the color repeated in the collar, cuff and rib trims of the sweater.

Terry cloth sweaters and shirts, popular years ago when a college man could have a whole wardrobe of colored sweaters at low cost, are back. But now it's merely a terry look and is apt to turn up in a blend of 65 per cent Dacron and 35 per cent cotton.

* * *

The terries come in a wide variety of styles — deep V necks with side vents, crew necks, boat necks with stripes, and collar styles with two and three button plaques. Most popular colors are the soft ice cream pastels.

* * *

Replacing the popular velour of a few seasons back is a silky effect in a new fiber called Antron nylon. New manufacturing techniques give it the look and feel of silk but with admirable wash and wear qualities.

WHAT'S SHOWING

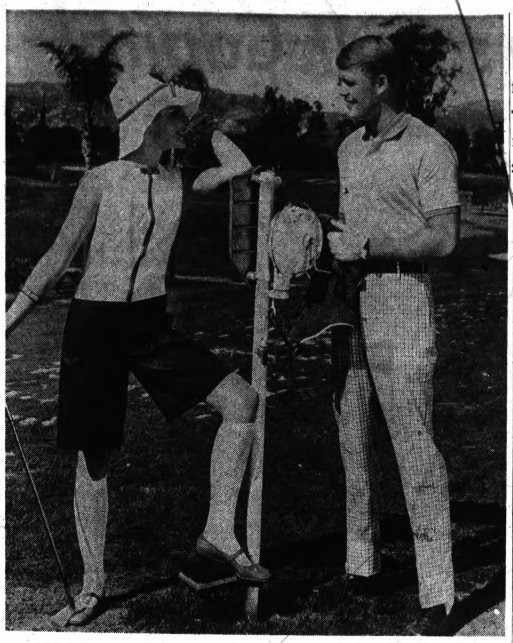
Some of the specific knitwear products being shown for spring and summer:

* * *

Alps has a short-sleeved brick red crewneck with bands of triple striping in chili and worn outside the pants. Jantzen shows stripes in a classic crewneck sweater — brown and white stripes on neck, wrists and waistband against a chili colored background.

* * *

Pebble Beach makes lightweight "skinny ribs" pullovers with short sleeves and a mock turtle neck. Arrow draws directly from Mexico in a serape in solid colors with contrasting neck, waist and side opening for a coverup at the beach.



Par for the sportswear course this spring and summer . . . for her, long-line culottes with matching hat by Tabak of California in Galey & Lord's polyester/cotton Cavatina twill, with sporty Adler knee-high socks . . . and for him, colorful tattersall checked slacks by Spotwood in permanent press polyester/cotton from Galey & Lord, worn with easy care knit shirt by Izod of Burlington's stretch nylon yarn.

Eighteen Aces on Tour

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) — Eighteen holes-in-one were canned by the pros on the 1966 tour. Only 11 were sunk in 1965.

The record for the 72-hole Buick Open is a 274 posted by Julius Boros, who rolled to an easy victory in 1963 with rounds of 66-71-68-69.

For Team Play

World Senior Tourney Set

The first World Senior Amateur Team Championship of the World Amateur Golf Council will be played November 15-18, 1967 at the Pinehurst Country Club's No. 2 Course, Pinehurst, N. C. The event will be conducted by the United States Golf Association.

Decision to inaugurate a Senior competition, for men at least 55 years old, was made by the World Council at its meeting in October at Mexico City. The Council consists of the governing bodies of golf in 50 countries. At least 16 indicated that they would be represented in a Senior Championship.

* * *

The competition will be of exactly the same format as the World Amateur Team Championship for the Eisenhower Trophy. Each team will consist of three or four players, who will play four rounds of stroke play.

The three lowest scores in each round will make up the team with lowest score for 72 holes will be Champion.

The Council plans to hold the Senior Championship biennially, in odd-numbered years. The women's and the men's Championships held in Mexico City last fall are played in even-numbered years; they will next be held in October, 1968 in Australia.

The 18th green at the King's Course in Scotland covers one-half acre.

Mrs. Evans Dominant Figure in '66 WMGA

Golf is just a fun game for Mrs. Max Evans of Southfield.

Playing for the fun of it last season, Mrs. Evans (Valarie) won eight weekly tournaments while competing in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association outings.

The other gals in the WMGA are happy she doesn't take the game seriously.

Valarie is the wife of Max Evans, a golf pro, and she has two sons — Graham, 10, and Byron (after Byron Nelson), 21 months.

★ ★ ★

While her game is good, she sticks with the one-time-a-week schedule, so that most of her time is free for her family.

GOOD GAME

And although she doesn't play often, her game suffers little.

★ ★ ★

"I had a good teacher (Max). I worked hard at it at first getting my swing down. My swing's okay now so I really don't have much trouble," she said.

Max taught her well, because she's a consistent winner in the WMGA, and she also has picked up a pair of holes-in-one, although the latter is difficult to teach.

The first hole-in-one came before she and Max were married and the second came in a WMGA weekly tournament back in 1960 at Plumbrook.

★ ★ ★

Along with taking eight of those weekly events last year, Mrs. Evans also finished in the runner-up spot five times.

OWNS RECORD

The record for victories on the summer circuit in the WMGA is 10, a mark held by Mrs. Bobbi Miller of Farmington, now a member of the Womens District Golf Association.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Evans and the other WMGA members will open the 1967 weekly schedule at Idy Wyle May 3.

The group's three - day medal play tournament is slated for July 24-26 at Partridge Creek near Mount Clemens. The match - play tourney is set for August 28-31 at Highland Hills Golf Club near Highland.

Mrs. Nick Panasiuk is defending medal champion, while Mrs. Midge Cova will be defending the match-play crown.

Detroiter Has 6th Ranking for Seniors

George Haggarty of Detroit, Michigan, is ranked sixth among amateur senior golfers in the nation by the amateur rankings found in Golf Digest 1967 Annual.

Haggarty, a southpaw golfer, finished three strokes ahead of his nearest rival to take the U.S. Senior and was runner-up in the Belleair Invitational.

Other top senior amateurs include 1st: Curtis Person, Sr., Memphis, Tenn.; 2nd: Dexter Daniels, Sr., Winter Haven, Fla.; 3rd: Dave Goldman, Dallas, Texas; 4th: Cecil Dees, Glendale, Calif.; 5th: George A. Dowell, Walnut Ridge, Ark.; 7th: George Beechler, Prineville, Ore.; 8th: Merrill Carlsmith, Hilo, Hawaii; 9th: J. Wolcott Brown, Sea Girt, N.J.; and 10th: Adrian McManus, Windermere, Fla.

Lowest 72-hole score on the 1966 PGA tour was the 265 (63-69-67-66) registered by Bert Yancey in the Memphis Open.

Last Fling for Ladies' Yankee Open

What looked like a happy relationship between the sponsor of the Yankee Women's Open and the Atlas Valley Country Club near Grand Blanc is over.

"We liked it, the girls enjoyed the course and we thought they (Atlas officials) did too," said Joe Megdel this week in discussing this year's edition of the tournament.

Megdel recently resigned as president of Yankee Stores, but he'll still continue to coordinate the gals' tournament with Yankee as sponsor.

This year, however, the tournament is slated for the nine-hole Willowood Course north of Atlas on East Maple Road.

"The LPGA didn't like it (having a new course)," Megdel continued, "but we told them it was in great shape and they agreed."

Atlas Valley CC was an ideal course for the girls. They enjoyed it and Megdel was happy with the whole situation.

"I liked it so well and took it for granted that the Atlas people were happy that I went ahead and signed a contract with the LPGA without asking Atlas about it.

"Well, they (Atlas) then asked for more money. They wanted me to give them an extra $10,000 which would up their income from the tournament to $25,000.

"They always made money on the tournament. They never lost any. We always guaranteed the purse so they couldn't lose. Last year, they made $18,000."

About Atlas' request for more money, Megdel said he didn't think it was fair so he asked for and got the LPGA okay to move the tournament to Willowood.

This year's tournament (fourth annual) will follow the format established last year when it was played as a best-ball event.

The tournament is scheduled for July 28-30 and Megdel said that 24 teams would be on hand to battle for the $25,000 purse.

And among the teams will be defending champions Judy Kimball and Gloria Ehret, who divided the $4,000 first-place money by firing a 67-65-67—199, finishing six strokes ahead of a couple of other teams.

Megdel has upped the prize money for the winners this year to $4,500.

Also on hand for the tournament will be former Michigan

★ ★ ★

Women's champion Sharon Miller of Battle Creek, who won $1,457 on the 1966 tour.

Other gals expected to be on hand for the tournament include the 1966 leading money winner Kathy Whitworth ($33,517).

MRS. CLYDE DEARING

MRS. FORREST WOOD

MRS. GEORGE BOYD

Color on the Greens Is Big News for Gals

Mrs. Clyde Dearing of Fox Hills Drive (upper left) models her new golf outfit for 18 holes at Pine Lake Country Club where she holds a 22 handicap.

★ ★ ★

Topping her cotton navy culottes is a bright yellow turtle neck sleeveless shell. She likes to protect her hair with this bleeding Madras cap.

Rain or shine, her yellow waterproof shoes will take the fairways in stride.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Forrest Wood (upper right) of South Tilden Street pampers her fair complexion by choosing light blue teamed with navy Bermudas. Edgewood Country Club where she plays, limits the length on these to two inches above the knees.

Her navy and white regulation shoes complete the "all blue" look.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. George Boyd (lower) of Ayrshire Drive who also tees off at Edgewood, models her Spring '67 outfit, consisting of yellow hopsacking Bermudas with coordinated yellow turtle neck shell and matching alpaca sweater. Her shoes are the same color.

Loses Height

Phil Rodgers says he has lost ¾ inch in height since joining the professional golf tour.

"Posture at address in swinging at the ball caused it," Rodgers says.

Here's How to Improve 'Approach'

Considering all the evidence taken from conversations with the touring pros who have known to beat themselves more often than not (are you listening Bob Goalby and Tommy Bolt), here are suggestions on how to improve your mental approach to the game:

- Hit it with your practice swing.
- Play the shots you know you can play.
- Forget the bad shots and think only of the good ones.
- Always play for position.
- Steer wide of trouble by choosing the best percentage shot that will penalize you less even if it doesn't come off.
- Have confidence in what you do.
- And quit worring about your ups and downs. On the golf course it happens to everybody. (Are you listening, Mr. Palmer).

Pro Gridder Nips Player

The Pensacola Country Club was a fast track, as the record scores indicate, but Gary Player and pro footballer Lance Alworth really turned it into a race meet.

★ ★ ★

Player challenged the fleet Alworth to a 25-yard race and was just nosed out.

★ ★ ★

"That type of quick starting needs a lot of practice," the athletic Player said. "If I worked on the start, I think I could really give him a close race."

JOYCE KAZMIERSKI
Queen of Golf

Joyce Tops Women's Golf

MSU Coed Holds All Major State Titles

Michigan's 'Queen of Golf' faces several major challenges this season.

The 'Queen' is Michigan State University coed Joyce Kazmierski, the 1966 Women's Michigan Golf Association champion.

Along with the WMGA title, Joyce captured the women's National Collegiate Athletic Association crown and the Women's District Golf Association match-play championship.

For her performance on the links in 1966, Joyce was ranked ninth among woman golfers throughout the country in Golf Digest's Top Ten.

★ ★ ★

Others in the Top Ten include (in order) Joanne Gunderson, Carner, Mass.; Nancy Roth Syms, Fla.; Shelley Hamlin, Calif.; Roberta Albers, Fla.; Peggy Conley, Wash.; Marlene Stewart Streit, Canada; Barbara Fay White Boddie, Shreveport, La.; Phyllis Preuss, Fla.; Dorothy Germain, Arkansas.

Miss Kazmierski will defend her WMGA title July 10-14 at Red Run Country Club. Serving as host cochairmen for the event are Mrs. John Rakolta and Mrs. Walter Montague, both Birmingham area residents.

Local Sites to Host 2 WDGA Tourneys

A couple of local courses will entertain members of the Women's District Golf Association for its major tournaments this summer.

The WDGA's 54-hole medal play tourney is slated for June 20-22 at Orchard Lake Country Club, while Pine Lake Country Club will play the role of host for the match play outing August 7-11.

And when the gals tee off in the medal play event, they'll have their eye on the tournament record that was posted when Orchard Lake CC was the site of the action back in 1955.

Setting the record of 232 that year was Mrs. Keith LeClair of Barton Hills, who has dominated the event since her initial victory in '55.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. LeClair has won six of the last 12 medal tournaments and she'll be playing the role of defending champ at Orchard Lake. She took the title last summer at Grosse Ile with a 235, eight shots ahead of runner-up Mrs. Robert Gamble of Lochmoor.

WON SIX

With Mrs. LeClair taking six of the titles since 1955, the other six were grabbed off by Mrs. John Hume Jr. of Red Run and Mrs. T. M. (Sally) Werner of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Werner took the top spot in 1958, 1959 and 1961, while Mrs. Hume prevailed in 1960, 1962 and 1965.

One of the most exciting finishes in the medal tourney was staged two years ago at Birmingham Country Club.

Heading into the final eight holes, Mrs. LeClair held an eight-stroke lead.

★ ★ ★

Her game suddenly went sour and Mrs. Hume played a steady round and came on to win, 234-235.

SHARE BILLING

While those three have had little competition in the medal event, they've had to share top billing in the match-play outings with a couple other golfers.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. LeClair has taken the match crown once, Mrs. Hume has won twice and Mrs. Werner owns three championships.

The kingpin in the match competition last summer was long-hitting Joyce Kazmierski of Grosse Ile Golf & Country Club.

Joyce, a student at Michigan State University, was also the Michigan Women's champion last year and she has achieved national ranking among women amateurs.

★ ★ ★

The match victory was the second in three years for Miss Kazmierski. Her first came in 1964 when she defeated Mrs. LeClair, and after watching Mrs. Robert Gamble take the crown in 1965, she came back to trim Mrs. Harold Marquart to claim the '66 title.

The WDGA opens its weekly schedule May 16 at Knollwood Country Club and will close the season with a team event September 12 at Birmingham Country Club.

The bestround of putting during the 1966 PGA tour was turned in by Randy Glover in the Oklahoma City Open. On the third round he took only 20 putts.

Support Hose Goes on Links

New Ease on Fairways

Stylewise and comfortwise the golfer can be sure of a more relaxed game with new support hosiery for men.

★ ★ ★

More than ten years after it was made available to women, support hosiery for men is now in stores from coast to coast.

★ ★ ★

"Now men as well as women can enjoy the benefits of true leg support," said A. A. Clarke, director of marketing for the Kendall Company, makers of the new Bauer & Black socks for men.

What is the purpose of the new socks?

★ ★ ★

"Very simply," said Clarke, "to prevent both leg fatigue and the feeling of over-all weariness which results from tired legs."

The new socks are made of nylon-covered spandex and are cool and comfortable to wear. Contrary to what one might expect in a sock engineered to be truly supporting, they are very thin and light in weight.

★ ★ ★

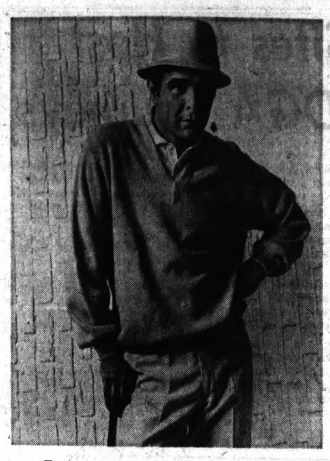
"The support feature does not come from thickness," he explained, "It comes from two important features: a strong, synthetic elastic plus a patented method of construction which permits gentle, even pressure at all points of the leg—regardless of the varying diameters of calf and ankle.

★ ★ ★

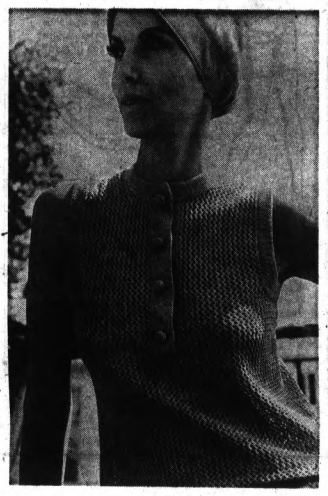
"Men will want to know," he said, "because the whole idea is so new, whether the socks feel tight — whether they constrict the leg. The answer is not at all. They require no garters, come over the calf to just below the knee, and the feeling is one of soothing massage."

Little Birdie 'Lousy' When in This Trio

How about this for scoring: In one threesome, Church Courtney holed out a three-iron for a double eagle, John Schlee sank a 20-footer for an eagle 3 and Paul Bondeson made a birdie on the second hole at the Tucson Open in 1966.



Free tee to tee color is no handicap for this season's golfer, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. This golfer is wearing a pair of pale blue slacks coordinated with a gold sweater that features a blue piping around the V-neck. His shirt is a three-button knit pullover in yellow. And to keep himself well covered, is wearing a telescope crowned crushable rain-hat in a light blue.



It's a witty do-it-yourself tee-top that's both skinny and see-through in the current mood of young fashion excitement. Knit to barely skim the body and ending at the waist, it's the perfect tiny top to knit in multiples using the brightest colors to partner with pants, skirts and culottes on the golf course. Free instructions available by requesting pattern No. KA67-2, National Hand Knitting Yarn Association, 15 East 26th Street, N.Y.C., Room 1806SKN, enclosing large self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Chi Chi 'Chirps' Over Tight Shoes

Chi Chi Rodriquez says he has been wearing size 9½ shoes for some time now instead of his regular 6½ size.

★ ★ ★

"I'm the type of guy who believes anything anybody tells me and this doctor told me that the reason I was having pains in my neck was because my shoes were too tight," he explained.

"So I went to a 9½ . . . and I figured if they didn't suit I could give them to my brother—that's his size."

Jackson 'Defending' GAM Target

A fellow 'who didn't stand a chance' against one of the state's long hitters will play the role of defending champion in the Golf Association of Michigan match play tournament Aug. 3-6, at Belmont.

When the tournament opened last August at Franklin Hills, Pete Jackson, a graduate of Birmingham Seaholm High School, was just another name, sort of cannon fodder for the big guns.

But when the firing ended, Pete, 28, the '66 Oakland Hills Champion, had silenced one of the tourney's big guns and claimed the 45th title in the GAM series which opened back in 1919.

The fellow who fell victim to Pete in the finals was Melvin (Bud) Stevens of Western Golf Country Club, who had won the title two years in a row and was looking for his sixth in nine years.

★ ★ ★

Jackson was no match for the long-hitting Stevens off the tees, but Pete showed his skill around the greens and with his short irons and disposed of Bud in the 36-hole finale, 2 and 1.

ENDS MATCH

Jackson ended the match on the 17th with a pressure shot from the rough.

★ ★ ★

On that 17th, his drive traveled across the dogleg and came to rest in deep rough. Stevens, meanwhile, cut across the dogleg with his ball stopping just a 9-iron away in the middle of the fairway.

Pete hauled out a 4-iron and smacked the ball toward the green and it stopped on the putting surface 20 feet short of the pin. He breathed a little easier.

That shot put the pressure on Stevens, and Bud's approach shot sailed over the green. He chipped long and two-putted for a bogey.

★ ★ ★

Jackson, one up at the time, played it cool and got down in two putts to sew up the title.

GOOD CHANCE

Pete's chances of winning a second straight crown this summer are pretty fair.

Since the tournament opened in '19, seven players have put together back to back victories.

Joseph B. Schlotman of Country Club of Detroit was the first to bag two in a row when he won in 1920-21. John Malloy of Ann Arbor Golf Club matched that feat in 1926-27.

Charles Kocsis of Royal Oak course, Bud Stevens. Beltin' Bud took it in 1932-33, and A. Fred Kammer Jr. of Country Club of Detroit tucked away the title in 1945-56.

★ ★ ★

Ben Smith (1948-49) of Lochmoor and Bob Babbish (1953-54) of Detroit Golf Club were the next to accomplish twin victories.

The latest to do it was, of Double Eagle Big Golf Feat

Roy Sonerson's 584-yard double eagle, longest ever reported to the official GOLF DIGEST Hole-In-One Clearing House, was but one of the many unusual golfing feats of 1966.

★ ★ ★

Sonerson's double eagle was made on the 584-yard hole of the Williams Country Club in Weirton, West Virginia. Sonerson used his driver for his tee shot and his 280-yard second was made with a 3-wood.

STANDARD CLIPPINGS BAG. TORO pioneered grass and leaf bagging attachments for rotary mowers in the first place, and this year they're even better. This standard equipment bag clamps on with one hand, and it has a heavy-duty bottom. No zippers to clog, either.
AUTO-OILER.† A visual oil filler. Push the button and you're sure the crankcase is full. No plug, no funnels, no oily fingers.
SAFETY SPIN START. You wind up the "impulse" starter, step behind the mower handle, for safety, and push the lever to "start" position. Chokes automatically.
CLEAN-OUT PORT. When you're through mowing, let the engine idle and run a little water into the clean-out port. The blade splashes it all around under the housing and washes it out like new.
THREE OR 3½ HP, FOUR-CYCLE ENGINE. Starts easily, runs smoother than cheap 2-cycle engines. No mixing of gas and oil.
TRIMIT.† You know that grass along the sidewalk that won't stand up? This little device props it up so the blade can dip it off crisply.
WIND-TUNNEL® HOUSING. TORO's "S" shaped cutting blade actually creates a powerful suction under the housing. It pulls grass up for a more even cut, "vacuums" leaves, too.
MAGNESIUM HOUSING. The lighter-than-aluminum stuff they use in airplanes.

Part 2—Pontiac Press '67 Golf Edition

SHAVING STROKES

1—The Grip

The starting point in golf is the grip. You have only one direct connection with the club and that is your hands. Therefore, any error in this coupling will result in many more errors on down the line.

It is imperative that your grip be correct in every facet in order to insure proper functioning of the rest of the swing. A proper grip is one in which the club is always held in the fingers and not in the palms of hands.

* * *

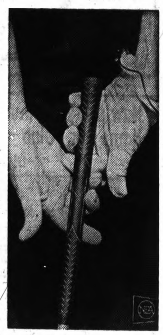
A closer look shows that the shaft lies in the fingers of the left hand running diagonally from the first knuckle of the first finger to the last knuckle of the small finger.

The same is true of the right hand fingers. The club rests only in the fingers.

The left thumb comes to rest just to the right of the shaft center and the right thumb just to the left of the shaft center.

The cohesive force of the grip is in locking of the hands together.

This is done by overlapping the little finger of the right hand with the first finger of the left. This gives the hands the opportunity to work as a unit and keeps them from working separately.



A PROPER GRIP is one in which the club is always held in the fingers and not in the palms of the hands.

2—Stance

After the grip, addressing the ball is the next important element in building a sound swing. You've often heard that the "correct stance" has many different aspects.

However, I believe this incorrect for one reason — your body is one completely connected unit, one continuous line. Therefore, an adjustment in one area will directly affect all other areas.

You cannot move one area without moving every other area in the same general direction or manner.

I want to make it clear that stance and alignment are synonymous. To take a correct stance without assuming the proper alignment, and vice versa, is impossible. If one is wrong so is the other.

When you take your stance, be comfortable. Nothing works if you are not 100 per cent comfortable. The two important things to consider are the feet and the shoulders.

The feet should be kept approximately as wide as the shoulders, but comfortable relationship must be maintained with your own individual size and stature.

Feet and shoulders are kept square to the line of flight for a straight shot. Both are opened for a fade and closed to the line for a hook. Flex your knees as if you are about to sit on a stool.

One other small help might be to "toe" both feet out at a small angle to facilitate your back and forward turns.

IN THE STANCE, the feet should be kept approximately as wide as the shoulders.

3—Balance

Balance is the intangible quality that lends precision and beauty whenever applied. In golf it allows all pieces to fit together, work together and flow in proper sequence.

* * *

The important thing to remember about balance in the swing is that everything revolves around one pivotal point —a straight line that runs from the top of the head, through the spine, and straight into the ground. This line never moves laterally nor at an angle to the ground.

The best way to maintain this equilibrium is to keep your weight equally distributed on both sides of the pivot.

If your weight moves forward, then balance is thrown forward, and vice versa.

* * *

Keep in mind that you are a top-heavy structure and, without good balance, you will have a tendency to move all over the place. The best way to test proper balance is to assume a stance so that a shove from any direction will not disturb your equilibrium.

* * *

Another hint that I use, is to imagine that I am swinging in a barrel that is secured. I try never to touch the barrel's rim. If I can do this I feel confident my balance will always remain intact.

BALANCE revolves around one pivotal point—a straight line that runs from the top of the head, through the spine, and straight into the ground.

'Tourney of Champs' Winner Gives 10 Fundamental Tips

(Frank Beard, who last Sunday won the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas by dropping in an 18 foot birdie putt on the 18th green to defeat Arnold Palmer, has written a fundamental golf series for the Newspaper Enterprise Association. The Press offers these 10 lessons in this golf section as a service to our golf fans.)

SHAVING STROKES

4—Backswing

There is an old saying among golfers that goes, "Give me a player with a fast backswing and a fat wallet." This tells what is thought of a fast backswing and, more important, the poor results.

* * *

The point is nothing good ever comes of something that is rushed in a golf swing. Keep in mind that the slower you take the club away from the ball the better your chances are for good results.

* * *

There are many theories concerning which part of the body moves first on the backswing.

I think all parts should move at the same time if the swing is to be a unit. Separate movements would mean all cohesive and unified action is lost.

Look at the hands. The thing to remember about the hands is that they go straight away from the ball as far as possible, then forget them as they are connected elsewhere and will react naturally.

Next come the shoulders, they move only one way — in a vertically circular motion around the chin. Just hit the chin with the left shoulder and then forget it.

* * *

The arms are kept in an extended position at all times. Not rigid, just extended. The last thing to do is to shift the weight to the right with the hips rotating circularly, not laterally.

All movements take place simultaneously. Each part is connected to the other in some manner. Don't worry about one individually, just as a group working together.

5—Top of Swing

The top of the swing generally goes unnoticed because it is in motion and only lasts for a fraction of a second. However, it is as important as the rest of the swing and deserves equal consideration.

* * *

I use this phase of the swing for a double checkpoint. It is in excellent indication of how the backswing was executed and if you are still in balance and ready to start the downswing.

First, let's check and see what a properly executed backswing results in at the top of the swing.

The hands are carried high at approximately a 45-degree angle between the head and right shoulder with the left arm fully extended.

You should feel as though you are a waiter carrying a tray over your shoulder in your right hand with the right palm turned skyward.

The other areas to be checked are the shoulders and the hips.

* * *

The shoulders are fully turned under the chin in a vertical move — this is very important because there is a tendency for them to move in a circular or horizontal way if not checked.

As for the hips, at the top they are fully turned 180 degrees away from the target—no lateral movement at all.

The weight is shifted slightly to the right on the inside of the right foot. The left heel has raised only a bit off the ground and the left knee is turned in to the right very lightly.

These positions can vary with each individual according to his size and feeling of comfort.

AT THE TOP of the backswing, the hips are fully turned 180 degrees away from the target.

6—Downswing

Unlike the backswing, the downswing is a very definite sequence of individual actions.

* * *

The result is a chainlike reaction with each part of the body moving at different points, yet directly affecting every other part. The end result is again a perfectly timed unit that resembles one movement.

A perfect illustration of how the downswing should look is the spontaneous reaction of a tightly coiled spring that has suddenly been released.

It looks as though the uncoiling happened all in one action, but what actually happened was that the bottom of the spring began the reaction and pulled the remainder of it right along with it.

* * *

The first move of the spring is the left hip. After the backswing has been completed, the left hip starts a circular pull back towards the target with a very slight lateral move to the left.

This in turn starts the weight back to the left side which is the primary generating force for the needed clubhead speed.

The general move of the hips and the weight will automatically drop the hands into the proper position for the impact area.

After the downswing begins, there are two other important moves to be made. First, return the shoulders to their proper position, reversing the original turn in the backsking. The right shoulder goes back under the chin in a vertical plane, never moving laterally. Next, the head must be in place.

* * *

As the weight, hips and shoulders begin their move to the left, there is a tendency for the head to move to the left. A tip here is to make sure that your left cheek never moves in front of the ball.

SHAVING STROKES

7—Impact

The most critical time of the swing comes just at the end of the downswing. It is most commonly referred to as the release and impact area. It begins several inches above the waistline and continues until the ball is struck.

This phase of the swing is of prime importance because it is here that all the power and force of the swing is generated. You have only a fraction of a second to muster the proper clubhead speed. The hands approach this release area fully cocked and leading the club, they are never behind or even with the club.

The key here is patience. Never hurry the release. The later you release the club, the more clubhead speed you will generate.

Another way of illustrating this is cracking a bull whip. The whip is popped with an exaggerated delay in the uncocking of the wrist. At impact, the wrists are never fully released; they are still slightly cocked to insure that you have not expended all of your power before you contact the ball.

The best way to insure this is to keep your body moving through the hitting area so that the hands are always behind or in other words, they are always trying to catch up.

I think it is obvious that if this condition exists throughout the club swing clubhead speed will always be increasing through the impact.

THE HANDS approach the release are fully cocked and leading the club. They are never behind or even with the club.

8—Followthrough

The follow-through in golf is badly misunderstood. The reason is that it is given a positive place in the golf swing when actually it has only negative effects on the swing and results.

The follow-through occurs after the ball is in flight, so it couldn't possibly have any positive effect on the results of the show. I use the follow-through mainly to check the rest of my swing.

First, if the hands have finished high, the shoulders have maintained a vertical plane and the weight and hips have shifted almost completely to the left side, then I generally have nothing to check.

Using the follow-through as a checkpoint, I would have to conclude that the swing was executed properly.

On the other hand, if one of these checkpoints has gone awry, then I start looking for the trouble spots.

A bad follow-through itself only says trouble is present; it does not point directly to the error itself. Sometimes, I use the follow - through to help me correct a small error that has been hard to pinpoint by any-other means.

* * *

Maybe I have been having trouble keeping my shoulders in the proper vertical plane or possibly I have been feeling that my clubhead speed has been slowing down as it reaches the impact area. To correct this, using the follow-through I merely try to "finish high."

If I can do this, I know that the rest of the pieces of the swing will eventually fall into place.

9—Rhythm

Tempo and rhythm are two more intangibles in the golf swing that are almost impossible to pinpoint when trying to describe them or trying to "correct" them.

* * *

Unfortunately, they are innate assets that are hard to teach and harder to learn.

This does not alter the fact they are probably the most important factors in achieving a first-rate golf swing. Tempo is the actual speed with which you swing the club.

Remember that no matter what speed you use in your swing — keep it consistent! It's obvious what the consequences can be if the tempo is constantly changed during the course of the swing. I recommend a fairly slow tempo for any swing.

Rhythm in golf is defined as the ability to repeat the same swing over and over with the precision of the previous swing. This is an internal quality that is almost impossible to describe to a pupil. About the only thing a person can do about rhythm is to practice.

* * *

However, I have found that when I am having trouble with rhythm I can usually rely on one remedy — swing within myself at all times and never try to overexert or force any shot. I take a little more club and swing a bit easier and I find rhythm returns almost immediately.

RHYTHM in golf is defined as the ability to repeat the same swing over and over with the precision of the previous swing.

10—Knee Action

If you've ever had a weight on the end of a long string and tried to start it swinging around your head you couldn't do it with one quick jerk.

* * *

The clubhead is like the rock and the shaft and the arms are like the string. The everyday golfer tries to start his swing by jerking into action. There are two gimmicks that the professionals use to eliminate this lack of rhythm.

* * *

First, is the waggle, which utilizes the clubhead as the tension-breaker. At the address, the clubhead is in some kind of motion.

* * *

The other aid is "knee-action." The right knee is smoothly but firmly "flicked" in toward the left leg and then released as if it were a spring action.

Billy Casper will be defending the title he won in a playoff with Arnold Palmer in San Francisco.

ANOTHER 'LOCAL'

Along with Edgewood CC in the 'local' qualifying category is Kent Country Club in Grand Rapids.

* * *

The two Michigan sites are among 58 across the nation slated for May 22 and 23.

Edgewood, located at 8399 Commerce Road in Union Lake, provides a good test with its 3,102-3,300 — 6,402 yards (par 35-36—71).

The course is lined with trees, there's a generous number of sand traps and the greens are relatively large.

* * *

The 'sectional' field at Tam O'Shanter is likely to include many of the touring professionals who will be on hand for the Buick Open (June 8-11).

ORLICK PRO

The rolling, 6,360-yard Tam O'Shanter layout has numerous trees lining the fairways and several have been added this year. Head professional at Tam is Warren Orlick, treasurer of the national PGA.

* * *

Some 20 per cent of the total entries will advance from the 'local' to the 'sectional' phase of the tournament.

In the sectional, the field will be narrowed to 150 for the final 72 holes at Baltusrol.

More Money for Pro Gals

Prize money for professionals in the 1967 Women's Open Championship has been increased by $5,000 to approximately $25,000. The Championship is scheduled June 29-July 2 at the Virginia Hot Springs Golf and Tennis Club, Hot Springs, Va.

* * *

For the professionals among the 40 and ties who qualify for the last 36 holes, there will be increased money in each position, with first prize being raised by $1,000 to 5,000.

Ocean Liner Has Golfomat

New Gadget for Sea-Going Golfers

NEW YORK (AP) — The engraved invitation said come on down to the S.S. Nieuw Amsterdam at Pier 40 and play a few rounds of golf while sailing to Europe.

You even have your pick of courses — famed Pebble Beach in California, the Congressional at Washington, D.C., or Doral in Miami, Fla.

It's all done with movie screens and computers.

You can play a full round of golf over a legitimate course — drive, approach, chip and putt — almost without getting out of your tracks. It takes about 2½ hours for a foursome.

It's man's newest scientific device for reducing the work load in a sport that already apparently has become too strenuous.

Normally, it's figured a golfer travels at the rate of about 1.5 miles an hour. He swings a club about every five minutes. He rides a cart. He hires a young boy to carry his bag of clubs.

LATEST GADGET

The latest gadget — a thing called Golfomat — enables the golfer to accomplish the same feat without getting too far away from the bar.

The Holland - America Line decided to put it on their big ocean liner.

* * *

Designers of the gimmick contend it's the nearest thing to playing golf as being on the course itself. Only thing, you miss the sun, wind and rain.

Here's how it works:

The golfer is equipped with a set of clubs, a tee and a movie screen which flashes color slides of the course — they have three — and the particular holes being played.

After studying his shot, he drives the ball into a bullet-proof, nylon screen 17 feet away.

The speed of the club impact is recorded on a computer and an automatic projector clicks off the spot where the ball lands — in the rough, water or sand. The electronic gadget figures distance and also records whether the ball is sliced or hooked.

* * *

Every player plays through from tee to green, with the computer placing every shot. Once on the putting surface, the golfer moves over to a simulated undulating green, 12½ x 31 feet to putt.

That's all there is to it, although the boat people announce they also have the first floating pro. He is Doug Ford, former Masters champion.

Touring Pro Problems

Golf Loot Abundant

NEW YORK — It's tough to stare down Santa Claus, but the touring golf pros are grumbling over the back-breaking tournament schedule which is forcing many of the big stars to pack and choose their spots, leaving sponsors in a tizzy.

* * *

According to Golf Magazine it appears likely that the golf tour is heading for the formation of two circuits.

The idea isn't new. Arnold Palmer has long contended the Tour's too long and has called for a cut in tournaments and restricting them to the better courses.

Jack Nicklaus subscribes to the two-circuit theory. "Thirty major tournaments are sufficient and we also need someplace to develop the young players. It's impossible to play the full schedule and still lead a half-normal life. I don't attempt to try."

Al Geiberger says it's the only big sport that's played the year-around. He finds it very exhausting and calls for a break of at least two months.

The $4.5 million official Tour started on Jan. 12 in San Diego and ends with the $275,000 PGA Team matches in Palm Beach Gardens in December with about 40-45 tournaments in between. Besides the official schedule, space has to be left for a number of prestige international events such as the Ryder Cup, Canada Cup matches, British Open, plus television shows such as the Golf Classic.

* * *

Obviously, the pros can't get up for every tournament and faced with an embarrassment of riches, the name stars find it difficult to know which events to point for and which ones to skip.

TAKE BREAK

But while the rich guys like to make their pile and take an occasional break for fishing or other business interest, the 100 or so "rabbits" as the lesser known struggling players are called, want the action to be continuous. They just want to keep teeing up a ball everytime the purse is raised.

The sponsors aren't happy either with the 30 circuit theme being echoed around the locker rooms. The International Sponsors Association, the group representing the men who provide the dough, want a guarantee from the PGA of "names" for their events.

* * *

"It's like showbusiness, one disgruntled sponsor said. "If we advertise an act, we have to tell the people who is going to be in that act." But this would force pros to play certain cities —a high-handed policy the players find very offensive to themselves.

* * *

The pros aren't oblivious to the sponsor's woes. "We have good friends in almost every city that holds a tournament," Jack Nicklaus said. "We feel we are slighting these friends when we don't compete — yet what other course do we have?"

So while the tournament sponsors remonstrate, and the PGA cogitate, the name players agitate. The first major league in professional golf, an exclusive 30-tournament circuit, seems inevitable.

Area Players in Golf Spotlight

Three former local high school golfers, who once starred in The Pontiac Press Invitational Prep tournament were among the players honored by the Association this week.

No. 1 golfer on the GAM honor roll for 1967 is 26-year-Scotsman Hunter McDonald, a member of Oakland Hills Country Club who resides in Southfield.

Among the top 10 on the list also were Pete Green, ranked 5th, and chosen for the 8th time in his young 25 years of age.

Green, a member of Orchard Lake CC, is a graduate of Seaholm and played in the Press Prep tourney three times when the Maples were dominating the tournament.

* * *

Ranked number 10 on the list is 19-year-old Jim St. Germaine of Northville, who was medalist in the Pontiac tournament three years ago.

St. Germaine is now a sophomore at the University of Houston.

The GAM's Outstanding Achievement award went to Pete Jackson, who was on the same Seaholm team with Green when they competed in the Press tournament.

Jackson, was not listed on the honor roll, mainly because he did not compete in enough events, but he won the GAM closed championship last year at Franklin Hills.

Jackson, like McDonald is also a member of Oakland Hills.

The veterans of the top 10 honor roll announced by the GAM this week include: No. 2, Bud Stevens; No. 4, Tom Draper; No. 9, Chuck Koscis.

First time players are John Grace, rated No. 3; Cliff Taylor rated No. 6 and St. Germaine, No. 10.

On the list for the second time are Bill Albright No. 7 and Don Stevens, No. 8.

Ryder Cup Site Twice

The Champions Golf Club, Houston, Texas is to be the scene of the 1967 Ryder Cup Match, June 12-15, 1969.

August Dates for Blue Coat

Orchard Lake Host for Third Tournament

Golfers will have an August date this year in the third annual Blue Coat Invitational at Orchard Lake Country Club.

The third edition of the tournament is slated for Aug. 24-26 over the 6,973-yard, par-72 layout.

And returning to defend the title they latched onto last year will be the twosome of A. R. Kerivan of OLCC and Tom Chisholm of Detroit Golf Club.

Another twosome expected to try for their second Blue Coat victory is that of Peter Green of OLCC and John Collinson of Midland. They won the first one two years ago.

A total of 224 players were entered in the best-ball tourney last year. They were divided into seven flights of 16 teams each and course officials anticipate a greater number this year.

PLCC CHAMPS — Clare Shepard (left), Pine Lake CC member and his guest from Ohio, Ron Hall, were the 1966 Invitational Champions at PLCC. Shepard will be back to defend his title in June, possibly with Hall or another partner.

Pine Lake CC Date in June

A hot streak of putting settled the Pine Lake Invitational last year and left the title in the grasp of a pair of officials of the Timken Roller Bearing Co.

Clare Shepard, sales engineer for Timken, knew what he was doing when he invited Ron Hall of Canton, O., to be his partner in the Invitational.

Hall, 51, general manager of the service sales division of Timken, left his opponents gasping as he canned putts on four holes in a row to make it an easy final match.

Starting at the 7th hole, Hall ran in a four-footer, followed with putts of six and four feet on the next two holes, and then knocked home a 25-foot birdie putt that gave he and Shepard a 3-up lead and they went on to a 5 and 4 victory.

The two are expected back this season to defend their title in the tournament which is slated for June 22-25.

British Teen in Pro Ranks

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Bobby Cole, 18-year old holder of the British Amatuer golf title, has turned professional.

Mrs. Lillian Cole, his nother, said she received a cable from Mark McCormack, Cleveland attorney, saying that the youth would be under his management in the future.

McCormack also manages Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player. Player also is from South Africa.

Cole presently is in the United States, where he competed in the recent Masters tournament in Augusta, Ga., where he was the third high amatuer with an aggregate score of 300.

Masters Champ Bold Charger

Brewer's Win Is Triumph for Offense

AUGUSTA, Ga. (NEA) — It's nice to know that Arnold Palmer Enterprises, Inc., successful at everything from putting a shirt on a man's back to tapping the ball in the cup, doesn't have an exclusive franchise on the "the charge."

Gay Brewer's closing 67 to win the recent Masters was in the best tradition of a vintage Palmer finish — except that it wouldn't have sounded the same if the galleries had exhorted, "go git 'im, Gay."

Gay's bold, drivinb charge to the top brought out a schism in the ranks of professional golf that the boys were talking about in the clubhouse at the Masters over the weekend.

There are offensive and defensive tour golfers, and the designation has nothing to do with underarm deodorants. It's a stylistic thing, generated from the basic philosophy of the player.

★ ★ ★

"Some players," explained Jacky Cupit, "don't know how to play anything but an attacking game. If the pin's on the right of the green, Arnold Palmer will hook the ball out over the water hoping to bring it in. He doesn't know any other way. He's an offensive player all the way, always going for the flag.

SAFE WAY

"On the other hand, someone like Phil Rodgers is defensive. He'll draw the ball in toward the green from the left, playing control golf."

★ ★ ★

Brewer belongs to the "offensive" crowd. He goes for the flag on every shot, no matter what his situation on the fairway. Evidence of that was his bold wood shot on the 15th hole of the final round when he was protecting a one-stroke lead. The ball skipped right over the green and onto the fringe on the far side. Only a fine putt retrieved his margin over pursuer Bobby Nichols.

Brewer's putting style is offense, too. "It's the only way he knows how to play," noted Cupit. There's no shilly-shallying for Gay, standing over the ball and letting the jitters gather. He simply steps up and bangs it. Whatever care is exercised comes in measuring and analyzing the lie of the putt.

The offensive brigade includes, besides Palmer and Brewer, such distinguished citizens as Sam Snead and Jack Nicklaus and such young chargers as George Archer and Raymond Floyd.

★ ★ ★

The defense numbers such eminent names as Rodgers, Cupit, Al Geiberger ("the most successful of the purely defensive players," said Cupit) Dave Marr, Frank Beard, Art Wall and, on occasion, Billy Casper.

Casper, like Julius Boros and Doug Sanders, manages to straddle the line between offensive and defensive play, depending on the situation and the way they happen to be playing at the moment.

★ ★ ★

Cupit, who used to be a long hooker off the tee, explained how a man can be converted: "For two months last spring, I was hooking myself right out of tournaments. I missed the money seven times in a row, and I got desperate. I had to do something, so I changed my game from left to right."

In golfer's parlance, that means he learned to fade almost all of his shots. A fade is a controlled slice, not to be confused with the ball-in-the-woods screamers hit to the right of the tee by weekend hackers. Ben Hogan, who started out as one of the long ball hitters in golf, but specialized in duck hooks that got him in trouble, became a great golfer after 10 years on the tour by fading the ball.

"You sacrifice distance for accuracy," continued Cupit. "It's tough sometimes not to go for the extra 20 yards when you know how you can do it. But since I made the switch to controlled defensive golf last July, I've made $60,000 in official money. So I'm not about to change, even when I come to a tournament like the Masters, which is on a hooker's course (the majority of the doglegs are to the left). My style is determined by my lack of capital."

★ ★ ★

Frank Beard, also defensive, was more succinct in his appraisal of offensive and defensive players. "When you lose," he said, "you're defensive. The winners are offensive. They can afford to be."

With Brewer's success, in this platoon phase of golf, the offense is way ahead of the defense.

In the only triple tie in the Buick Open, Jack Burke wound up with the championship in 1961 by defeating Billy Casper and Johnny Pott in an 18-hole playoff.

JIM BRISSON

Byrne-Brisson Defending Duo

CHUCK BYRNE

It's understandable if Chuck Byrne and Joe Brisson will look a little nervous when they step onto the tee to defend their title in July in the 22nd annual Birmingham Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament.

Maybe they won't be nervous, since they won't be surprised if they fail to retain the title.

Only one team in the 21-year history of the event managed to pull off a repeat performance.

That team was Wally Smith and Arthur Olff Jr., who took the championship three times in a row — 1951, '52 and '54. There was no tournament in '53.

* * *

This year's event is scheduled for July 13-15.

Last year was the second time that Byrne picked up a share of the title. He teamed with Dave Paul in capturing the 1962 event.

SHAKY START

Byrne, a member at Birmingham CC, and Brisson, a member at Indianwood, were a little shaky at the start of their finals match last year against Chuck Granader and Jim Smith, but they settled down late in the duel and won on the 20th hole.

Brisson applied the clincher on the 20th with an eight-foot par putt. Byrne, also, picked up a par with a short putt moments later, while Granader and Smith both collected bogeys to end the match.

No One Knows

Masters Gross $1 Million?

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Masters chairman Clifford Roberts has been an adroit side-stepper of a burning question: What is the gate for the Augusta, Ga., National GC spring event each year?

He was again grilled by golf writers prior to the start of the 1967 tourney and managed to give a Casey Stengel rebuttal that had everyone wondering what the question had been to begin with.

Then he began talking about television blackout in most of Georgia which led to the problems of housing the "live audience" in Augusta.

His point was that if the TV blackout were to be lifted at once, instead of slowly, there is the possibility that the gate would suffer.

He explained how many people attended but did not need housing: "The 1,500 hotel and motel rooms in this area houes only 15 per cent of the people making up our gate."

Get out the math book, children. Say there are two persons to each room available; that makes a total gate of 20,000. A series badge costs $20 for a $400,000 gate

But many times there are three to six in a room and the figure is closer to 4,500 staying in Augusta hotels and motels, upping the ticket sales to 30,000 people for a $600,000 take.

Not everyone buys the $20 ticket; some go for as much as $35. Then there is the TV and concession revenue.

Would you believe the gross is at least $1,000,000?

Dickinson Gives Match Play Tips

NEW YORK — If you've been having trouble winning those "friendly" week - end Nassau matches, Gardner Dickinson has some words of advice that might well pay off at the 19th hole.

* * *

1. Disregard your opponents' shots as much as humanly possible and concentrate on playing your own game.
2. Forget trying to hit your "career shot" and play it safe and sane.
3. Do everything you can to keep the pressure on your opponents and off yourself.
4. Never stop building up your partner's confidence.
5. Find out such seemingly trivial things as whether your partner likes to hit first.
6. Don't let the opposition profit from your club selection, but, if possible, learn from their shots.
7. Do watch your opponents carefully when they putt, and keep putting pressure on them at every opportunity.

Jack Nicklaus set the record for the Masters tournament with 271 in taking the 1965 event.

First Winner of Pro-Am Is PGA Official

The current secretary of the national Professional Golfers Association was part of the first winning state pro-am team back in 1935.

Leo Fraser, former pro at Saginaw Country Club and now PGA secretary, joined Dave Ward in taking the initial trophy.

Cast in the role of defending champions this season will be Glenn Stuart of Grand Rapids and Pete Green of Orchard Lake.

Another likely twosome for the state event is Ted Kroll-Mike Jukes, who won the title in 1964 and '65.

Remember when you had to take off your watch before you could draw a bead, spear a fish or hook a drive?

Still do? Wear a Rolex.

In a way, Rolex has been making watches for sportsmen since 1926. That was the year we patented the Oyster, the first waterproof wrist watch. Today, it's still the finest a man can own. Certain refinements have been made, of course. For instance, the Explorer can take pressures equivalent to 330 feet underwater. There's a Rolex that measures speed and distance. There's a Rolex that indicates elapsed time underwater. There's a Rolex that's built to stand up to the specific rigors of your sport. Why not let us let you in on the full story soon.

This is the Rolex Explorer. Rugged Oyster Perpetual (waterproof*, self-winding) with officially certified 26 jewel chronometer movement. Black dial, heavy duty luminous markers, stainless steel case, $180. Matching steel bracelet, $15.

*When case, crown and crystal are intact.

EIGHTH SEASON — Cotton Strickland, a pro for the past 36 years, is starting his eighth season as head pro at Romeo Country Club.

Nobody Does Things —or Putt Like Sam

By BOB GORHAM
PGA Tour Press Secretary

Nobody talks like Sam Snead. Nobody swings quite like Sam Snead. And nobody—but nobody—putts like Sam Senad is putting right now. But Sam says more people ought to putt that way.

"That way" is what Snead calls his "side-winder" style. And Sam's comments at the recent Greensboro Open, in which he is the mayor stockholder as the only 8-time winner, makes you think he might just be right.

For various reasons, Snead went to his new style last summer at the PGA Championship and television audiences as well as the thousands on hand, were surprised to see him lean over with the putter between his legs and face the cup.

The left hand held the top of the putter near his left shoulder and the right hand was down the shaft near the putter head, guiding the stroke. With a semi-croquet style stroke, Snead knocked in a short putt.

SENIOR MASTER

He has been using that stroke since and as he continues now to master the Seniors Division of golf as he formerly mastered the Tour, he is advocating this stroke for his new compatriots and for anyone else desiring a simple method of putting.

"I tried that croquet style one time," Snead says, "with the top of the putter under my chin, but I hit myself under the chin and a friend told me that if I had swung a little harder, I'd have knocked myself out.

"This way, the side-winder, you don't have to move anything except your right arm. Sure, you have to bend over a little but I figure I can hole anything inside 12 feet with regularity and I like it on slick greens and downhill putts up to 30 feet or so.

"I can't recommend the side-winder to these kids on the Tour these days; they've got no nerves at all — yet. But with the money they are playing for now, they're going to get the yips sooner or later.

BETTER PERSPECTIVE

"The stroke gives you a better perspective; you've got two eyes straight at the cup. But it takes practice. MAN, does it take practice!"

* * *

A talk with Snead on his putting stroke brought to mind a conversation with Byron Nelson just a week earlier at Pensacola.

"I never was a particularly good putter," Nelson said modestly, "because I kinda slapped the ball. But I was on the panel at Don Clarkson's PGA Business School in St. Louis recently and Dutch Harrison said something about putting that really was good, I thought.

"Dutch said the most important point in putting was never to let the putter head pass the top of the shaft until you contacted the ball. When you watch the really good putters you see that this is the position of their clubs."

And then there is Fred Corcoran's story about the 1938 two-hole match between two blind golfers.

"They teed off in the dark to play the first and 19th holes, both par 4 holes. One fellow was on both greens in three and two-putted. The next day, I went to Ky Lafoon and told him what happened.

" 'One thing I noticed,' I told Ky, 'was that this one fellow never moved his head while putting . . . he never looked up.'

"Well, this impressed Lafoon, a tobacco-chewing, full-blooded Indian. And as I stood there, he began practicing putting with his head steady, his eyes riveted on the ground. And believe it or not, he kept putting that way and won the tournament!

"The day after the tournament, there was a headline in the paper saying, BLIND MAN GIVES LAFOON LESSON ON PUTTING."

Shoot Par? Look What You'd Earn

If you think it is necessary to make a basket of birdies to get rich on the PGA Tour, take a look at what you would have done in 1966 had you shot par in every round:

You would have tied Al Geiberger for the PGA Championship. You would have tied Jack Nicklaus, Gay Brewer and Tommy Jacobs for the Masters title. You would have tied Bruce Devlin for the Colonial National Invitation title, and finished third to Billy Casper and Arnold Palmer in the U.S. Open.

And had you 'beaten' these Tour stars in playoffs at the PGA, Masters and Colonial tournaments, you would have won $129,465.16 in the official events on the schedule.

You would have been the leading money winner of 1966!

Now . . .

* * *

A few more par rounds would have added this to the coffers: $5,200 for a seventh place in the Carling World, $3,050 for a tie for fifth in the Crosby National and $280 for the Hope Desert Classic, all 'unofficial' events.

That makes $137,995.16.

STILL BIG TAKE

And had you been so unfortunate to lose the playoffs in the PGA, Masters and Colonial, you still would have taken home $115,321.16 in official money and $123,851.16 total money.

* * *

That would have put you No. 2 behind Billy Casper on the money list and made you the highest paid par shooter in the history of Professional golf.

Not a bad year for a guy who didn't make a single birdie or eagle, huh?

4 County Boys Chosen

Caddies Get Scholarships

GOLF, Illinois — Thirty - one Michigan boys, four from Oakland County, today were awarded Chick Evans college scholarships by the Golf Association of Michigan — 18 to Michigan State University and 13 to the University of Michigan.

The announcement was made by George H. Webb, of Detroit, chairman of the GAM's caddie-scholarship committee.

Today's awards bring to 424 the number of scholarships given by the Association since it affiliated in 1948 with the nationwide Evans Scholars Foundation, administered by the Western Golf Association in Golf, Ill.

NEW ADDITIONS

The 31 Michigan winners are part of 195 new Evans Scholars announced nationwide today at the conclusion of nine Selection Meetings held throughout the country.

There will be 105 GAM Evans Scholars enrolled this fall at Michigan and Michgan State. These are two of eight midwest universities at which the Foundation owns Chapter Houses which are managed and maintained by the Scholars.

Each scholarship is valued in excess of $3,000.

Webb also announced that one of the Michigan winners, Raymond J. Nemcek, 18, of Flint, was selected as the first recipient of the Tony Lema Memorial Award.

* * *

Created as a result of a special contribution to the Foundation by the Buick Motor Division, this award honors the memory of Lema, outstanding touring professional, who was killed in an airplane crash last July 24.

Also, Randall C. Rieth, 17, of Pontiac, was named as winner of the initial John S. French Scholar Award which has been created in memory of the late Mr. French, a Detroit automotive executive.

Financial support for the program comes from more than 65,000 golfers, including 12,000 in Michigan who contribute annually to the James D. Standish, Jr. Fund.

* * *

To qualify for a scholarship, a boy must caddie at least two years at a club affiliated with the GAM, must rank in the upper 25 per cent of his high school graduating class and must require financial aid to attend college. Scholarships were awarded on a competitive basis using these factors.

MIKE SOUCHAK

Mike Souchak in Ranks

State PGA Field Bolstered

The state's pro golfing crowd, bolstered by the addition of a smooth swinger from the PGA tour, may make it rough on Pontiac's Gene Bone as he goes about defending a pair of major championships.

Bone, 35-year-old pro at the new Bay Pointe Golf Club near Union Lake, won the Michigan Open and Michigan Section PGA last summer and there are a lot of players around who would like to take those trophies away from him.

Among the pro crowd is Mike Souchak, lately of North Carolina and the PGA circuit who has hung his shingle at the Oakland Hills Country Club pro shop.

Souchak went to Oakland Hills, replacing retiring Al Watrous. He's not yet a member of the Michigan Section PGA.

"We just might pot let him in," jokes Bone.

At any rate, it'll take a lot of doing to get the championships away from the muscular Bone.

Gene'll defend his Open title August 11-13 in a tourney tentatively set for Spring Meadows near Linden. The PGA comes Sept. 30 to Oct. 2. Officials are hopeful that Barton Hills near Ann Arbor will be the PGA site.

There are some other big names among the state pros who will provide Bone with a stiff challenge.

Veteran Ted Kroll of Franklin Hills is one. The ex-touring pro has a solid game and he won the title two years ago.

Some of the others who rank among the contenders are Brien Charter of Jackson, Ben Lula of Mount Clemens and big John Barnum of Grand Rapids.

In this year's event, Bone will be trying to become the first player since 1958 to win back-to-back PGA tournaments.

The last to do it was Barnum with victories in 1957-58. A number of others have accomplished the feat, including Watrous, Walter Hagen, Sam Byrd and Chick Harbert.

The king of the event, however, has been Watrous. The 68-year-old pro has won the event nine times and it's likely he'll be on hand for at least a token appearance.

Harbert is a six-time winner of the event, his last triumph coming back in 1959.

Match With Harper

'Pressured' Brion

Stan Brion, 24-year-old assistant pro at Tam O'Shanter Country Club, has been in the touring pro classification for less than two years but he moved into the spotlight fast in one tourney the past winter.

Brion won the PGA match play championship at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., and he did it by eliminating veteran Chandler Harper 5 and 4 in the 36 hole finale, Jan. 21.

Harper, who is 52, is the past winner of the U.S. Senior Open and the National PGA.

When he won the PGA, Brion was only eight years old and when he played the Tam assistant, Harper was a solid favorite to win in view of his experience.

This was the first match-play event Brion had been in since his high school days at Adrian.

In 1965, he won the tournament players' card and in his first year on the tour he picked up only about $450.00.

LEARNS OF PRESSURE

Defeating Harper earned him $1,500 but he also gained a lot of knowledge of playing under pressure.

"I think I might have lost my nerve a few times out there player Chandler, but I just concentrated on trying to play the course and not my opponent."

Harper, a pro at Portsmouth, Va., won the first hole with a birdie, but took a bogie on the third hole to even the match.

Brion birdied No. 6 and held a 2-up lead after 18.

* * *

Harper, however, three down going into the afternoon half of the match, won three straight holes to even the match at the 22nd.

Brion however returned the challenge and won three of the next four holes to go 3-up again and it was too late for Harper to catch up.

Warren Orlick, head pro at Tam O'Shanter, considers Brion as one of the more promising young pros in the Michigan Section.

Tourney Slated June 8-11

Rodgers to Defend Buick Crown

One of the happy pros, one with the ready smile is stocky Phil Rodgers, who'll journey into Michigan in June to defend his Buick Open title June 8-11 at Warwick Hills.

The Buick Open was one of two tournament victories for Rodgers last season.

He flunked in his effort to defend his Doral Open crown earlier this year, so he's hoping that things will be different when he reaches Warwick Hills.

In the recent Masters tourney, Phil was well down the list with a 297 that brought him $1,300.

★ ★ ★

With the Doral and Buick championships in hand, Rodgers went on to win $68,360, good for sixth on the 1966 money list, and it was his best performance on the tour since he turned pro in 1960.

DONE WELL

Phil, 29, a native of California, has done well on the tour. He started, perhaps, at the wrong time.

★ ★ ★

Just as Rodgers was turning pro, Jack Nicklaus was doing the same thing and Jack claimed most of the headlines with a hot freshman year.

Rodgers turned pro on Thanksgiving Day in 1960, but it wasn't until July the following year that he joined the pro tour.

And from July 1961 until the end of 1962, he won three tournaments and placed among the top five in six other events, including a tie for second in the U.S.G.A. Open.

He banked $8,734 in that short span in '61 and added $32,181 to his total in '62.

Phil went downhill, moneywise, in 1963 ($22,408) and 1964 ($18,002), but he moved upward again in 1965 ($25,,715) and turned in his best showing last year.

At Warwick, Ridgers wasn't spectacular, just steady.

He won with a 284 on rounds of 70-73-71-70.

Sharing second at 286 were Johnny Pott and Kermit Zarley.

Pontiac Motor Dates

The Pontiac Motor Employes' Open is slated for July 8 and 15 and players will use two courses —Pontiac Country Club on Elizabeth Lake Road and Holly Greens on I-75 near the Holly exit.

PAST CHAMP — Lloyd Syron, son of Pontiac Country Club pro Frank Syron, will try again to regain a title he won 10 years ago. He took the state amateur championship in Charlevoix. The tournament is scheduled for June 28-July 2.

The lowest score ever recorded by an amateur in the Buick Open was a 288 by a fellow named Jack Nicklaus back in 1959.

Lloyd Syron Recalls State Amateur Title

It was 10 years ago that a young Pontiac golfer surprised the state's veterans by bagging the Michigan Amateur Golf Championship at Charlevoix.

The young man was Lloyd Syron, son of pro Frank Syron of Pontiac Country Club, one of two Pontiac players to capture the state title.

After Syrot's victory in the 1957 event, it was five years later (1962) that Mike Andonian, a Pontiac schoolteacher, picked up the crown.

That was five years ago, so it could be the pendulum has moved around to a Pontiac player again.

★ ★ ★

Andonian, now residing in California, will miss this year's event, but Syron is expected to be in the starting field when the firing opens in the 56th tournament.

DEFENDING TITLE

Defending champion this year is 25-year-old Bob Meyer, a Michigan State University graduate student, who took the crown last year by disposing of veteran Cliff Taylor of Spring Lake in the finals, 5 and 4.

★ ★ ★

Two other veteran performers who are expected to be on hand for the tourney June 28 are Charles Kocsis of Red Run and Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile.

Kocsis is the all-time leader in the event with six championships, while Johnson has hauled in five titles.

The first crown for Kocsis came in 1930 and he followed with victories in 1933-34, 1937, 1948 and 1951.

Johnson moved into the winner's circle for the first time in 1954 and he followed with wins in 1955-56, becoming only the second golfer in the history of the event to win three in a row, and he collected the trophy in 1958 and 1961.

The only other golfer to win three in a row was John Malloy of Ann Arbor who turned the trick in 1927-28-29.

AL WATROUS

Watrous Has Many Crowns

Veteran Pro Holder of Various Titles

Among Michigan's professional golfers, no name stands out like that of Al Watrous, longtime pro at Oakland Hills Country Club.

★ ★ ★

Watrous, who resigned this year and turned the post over to Mike Souchak, has won more Michigan pro tournaments than any other player.

He dominated the play in his younger days and has continued to set the pace in the Michigan PGA Seniors competition (over 50).

Since the PGA started Michigan Seniors play back in 1953, Watrous has won the title five times.

★ ★ ★

The only players close to Watrous in this pro division are John Barnum of Grand Rapids and Cliff Settergren. They've won the event twice.

Elks Have Plans for Golf Tourneys

The Pontiac Elks Club has a couple golf tournaments on the summer schedule.

The club's Annual Golf Jamboree, for men only, is slated for June 11 at Morey's Golf Club in Union Lake. It's open to all Elk members.

Another club event is the Guys & Dolls mixed event scheduled for August 27 at Silver Lake Golf Club on Walton Boulevard.

A law was passed in Britain in 1457 prohibiting golf so more time could be spend at archery.

Dr. Kramer Seeks Third Publinx Title

Young Dr. Wayne Kramer was at his best when he almost lost en route to victory last summer in the Michigan Publinx Golf Championship at Portland.

Dr. Kramer, a Flint dentist, has won the state Publinx title two years in a row and he'll be trying for a third Aug. 2-5 at Swan Valley Country Club in Saginaw.

The 26-year-old Kramer had to dispose of six opponents in winning the 1966 crown, but it was the second on the list that proved to be the toughest.

Dr. Kramer fired an eight-under-par 64 over the Portland course and almost lost when his opponent, Mickey McMillen of Midland, refused to fold under the pressure of sub-par golf.

"I was playing great and he was too," Dr. Kramer recalled earlier this week as he headed to Detroit for a state dental association meeting.

"He chipped in a couple to really make it close."

Pontiac Press Photo

CURRENT CHAMP — Dr. Wayne Kramer will be looking for a third straight Michigan Publinx Championship when the firing opens in the 1967 tournament at Swan Valley Golf Club in Saginaw.

One of those that McMillen chipped in came on the back nine when Kramer's booming tee shot stopped two feet from the cup on the par-4, 335-yard 13th.

"I was two feet from the hole and I figured the best he could do was get a birdie-3," Dr. Kramer was saying.

"I was counting on that hole, but then he chipped it into the cup for an eagle-2."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Kramer went on to gain a 1 - up victory over McMillen and then coasted past Detroiter Bob Skrczyski, Al Dimavicius of Grand Rapids, Fred Osmer of Haslett and John Floch of Troy.

GAME BLOOMS

Dr. Kramer's game has blossomed in the last five years, during which he's won a bagful of trophies. The Publinx crowns have been the biggest to date.

Among the doctor's trophies are the Flint City Amateur, the Vehicle City title and a Flint Olympics' crown.

★ ★ ★

Another big victory for Dr. Kramer came shortly after his 1966 Publinx championship when he married the sister of a golfing friend, Rita Whaley.

His wife is a graduate of Michigan State University and now a kindergarten teacher at a Flint school.

★ ★ ★

On the schedule for the Flint ace this summer are several local tournaments plus the Publinx and Amateur at the state level.

Dizzy Dean Showed His 'Potential'

Dizzy Dean walked into the press room at Pensacola and all eyes turned toward the master of the misnomer. When there was proper quiet, the Hall of Fame baseballer inquired: "Is this where I pick up my potentials?"

When the laughter subsided, he was given his credentials.

★ ★ ★

Dean was wearing a wide-brimmed plantation straw hat when he arrived, but when he left he was wearing Bear Bryant's Alabama coaching hat, the baseball type with the red bill and the big red 'A' on it.

Seems Dean won their little bet on the golf game.

Kaline, Freehan Clout Homers

Angels' Lapses Help Tigers to 4-3 Win

DETROIT (AP) — Outfielder Al Kaline, a veteran of 13 big league seasons, called it "the weirdest inning I've ever seen."

Manager Bill Rigney locked the California Angels' dressing room door to newsmen for eight minutes, then emerged and said, "We blew it."

Detroit Manager Mayo Smith smiled a smile of relief and said "There were a lot of things happening in that inning."

It all added up to a 4-3 Tiger victory over old nemesis George Brunet, ending a two-season jinx during which the Angels southpaw from Upper Michigan had beaten Detroit seven straight games.

But it took a wild pitch, a dropped line drive and some curious baserunning by the Angels to pull out the triumph.

★ ★ ★

The victory, Detroit's fifth in eight games, left the Tigers in third place in the American League going into tonight's battle against the Minnesota Twins.

The Angels took the field in the last of the eighth with a 3-2 lead on the strength of a two-run homer by Jimmy Hall and a solo shot by Tom Satriano. Detroit scored on bases-empty home runs by Bill Freehan and Al Kaline.

Gates Brown and Kaline opened the eight with singles and when Jim Northrup forced Kaline at second, Rigney brought in Minnie Rojas to replace Brunet.

★ ★ ★

Rojas uncorked a wild pitch, allowing Brown to score the tying run. Then he fanned Freehan and walked Norm Cash intentionally to get to Ray Oyler.

Smith sent Jerry Lumpe to pinch-hit and Lumpe smacked a liner to center which outfielder Jay Johnstone dropped, allowing Northrup to score the winning run.

The Angels still had a chance to win in the ninth. Rich Reichardt singled and Don Mincher was safe when Dick McAuliffe fumbled his grounder. Hall missed on a bunt attempt and Freehan's snap throw to second nailed Reichardt, who was going with the pitch.

ON THIRD

Hall singled off relief pitcher Fred Gladding's glove and Don Wallace, running for Mincher, took third.

Gladding worked the court to 3 and 2 on Satriano. With Hall going on the pitch, Satriano struck out. Freehan fired to second and Dick Tracewski, seeing Wallace break for the plate, cut off the throw in front of second and threw to Freehan, who tagged Wallace for a game-ending double play.

Rigney said afterwards that Wallace should have faked the run home and returned to third, which may have left the Angels with men on second and third with one out. As it was, Wallace broke late for the plate and was out by 10 feet.

Joe Sparma started for Detroit and pitched seven innings before giving way to a pinch-hitter.

CAUGHT OFF BASE — The Detroit Tigers are in the process of making a doubleplay the hard way in this second-inning action last night in Detroit. Caught in the rundown between first and second here is California Angels' infielder Don Mincher with Tigers' Ray Oyler (left) and first baseman Norman Cash applying the pressure. Play started when Angels' Jimmie Hall grounded to second baseman Dick McAuliffe. Mincher broke for second, stopped when McAuliffe fielded the ball. McAuliffe then tossed Hall out at first and Mincher was trapped between the bases and tagged out. Tigers won, 4-3.

Richard Follows Brother's Footsteps

MONTREAL (AP) — Little Henri Richard, the Pocket Rocket, is following in the footsteps of his retired brother Maurice, The Rocket, in scoring goals for the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League playoffs for the coveted Stanley Cup.

The Pocket Rocket, a 5-foot-7 demon on skates, slapped home three goals to lead the Canadiens in a 6-2 rout of the Toronto Maple Leafs before 14,779 Thursday night in the opener of the best-of-7 final Cup series.

★ ★ ★

Henri now has scored 28 goals in 93 NHL playoff games. This compares to the 82 Maurice tallied in 133 playoff games before his retirement in 1960 as the No. 1 playoff scorer.

Henri's first goal broke a 1-1 tie in the first period. He scored the last two in the third period to widen a 4-2 Montreal lead as the Canadiens chalked up their 11th straight victory and stretched their unbeaten streak to 16 in a row.

"We didn't skate much and they beat us to the puck all night," said Punch Imlach, the Toronto coach. He ordered a stiff workout today in an effort to sharpen the Leafs' play for the second game of the series here Saturday afternoon.

"There's still a long way to go," cautioned Toe Blake, coach of the favored Canadiens. "Let's remember this is just one game."

Richard's three goals overshadowed the two scored by Yvan Cournoyer. Jean Beliveau accounted for the other Montreal goal.

Larry Hillman's goal tied the score at 1-1 for Toronto in the first period before Richard put the Canadiens ahead to stay. Jim Pappin tallied the other Toronto goal late in the second period.

Rogatien Vachon, Montreal's 21-year-old rookie goalie, made several big saves to keep the Leafs off balance. Johnny Bower replaced Terry Sawchuk in the Toronto net with the score 5-2.

Chiefs Set Three Marks, but Lose in Triangular

Pontiac Central displayed some strong individual performances yesterday, but Saginaw Valley Conference rival Flint Central showed fine balance in taking a triangular track victory.

The Indians from Flint Central won eight events and piled up 65 points. PCH finished second with 48 and Midland garnered 35.

Hurdler Bill Tipton set a pair of field records and distance runner Harold Boone added another in giving PCH a boost.

The slender Tipton went over the high hurdles in 14.0 seconds and sped over the lows in 18.9. Boone's record came in the two-mile run when he posted a time of 9:58.5.

★ ★ ★

Another field record fell in the half mile with Flint's Jim Love putting the new standard on the books with a 1:58.0 clocking.

Other event winners for PCH were Ken Franks in the pole vault (12-0) and Bob Mickens in the shot put (49-2).

Indians Take Fourth Straight

Hargan Flips 5-Hitter in Halting A's, 2-0

By the Associated Press

It took only two scalpings to put the Indians on the warpath.

Cleveland's Indians won their fourth baseball game in a row Thursday, trouncing Kansas City 2-0 behind the pitching of Steve Hargan who allowed only five hits.

It was revenge for Cleveland, which lost its opener and the next game to the Athletics before whipping Kansas City on Wednesday.

The victory put Cleveland in second place in the American League.

In the only other AL games, Chicago topped Washington 8-4 and Detroit beat California 4-3. Minnesota at Baltimore was rained out.

FANNED THREE

Hargan struck out three, walked three and gave up singles to Roger Repoz, Tim Talton, Ken Suarez, Bert Campaneris and Ed Charles.

Lew Krausse, 0-2, who started for the Athletics and was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth, took the loss.

The Indians scored their two runs in the second inning on Fred Whitfield's double, a walk to Duke Sims, Gus Gil's single and a throwing error by Suarez, who attempted to keep Sims from stealing third after Larry Brown had struck out. Sims went all the way home on the wild throw.

After Derby Spot

NEW YORK (AP) — Damascus, once beaten but still highly regarded, and Brunch, with an unblemished record in three races, hook up Saturday at Aqueduct in the 1⅛ miles of the $100,000-added Wood Memorial with a berth in the Kentucky Derby starting line-up hinging on the outcome.

Registration Set for Troy League

Registration for Troy's summer boys baseball program will be tomorrow and the following Saturday, April 29, in the old city hall between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Only parents or guardians can register the boys who must be 9 to 17 years old. Birth certificates must be presented at the registration.

Big Welcome for Ring King

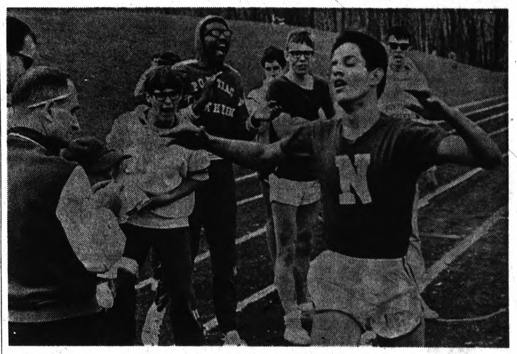
TRIESTE, Italy (AP) — Crying with joy and waving an Italian flag, world middleweight boxing champion Nino Benvenuti came home to an uproarious hero's welcome in his hometown Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

Thousands of screaming persons mobbed the champion's open top car as it inched its way toward the center of this Adriatic port city from an airport.

Flags hung from apartment windows and huge banners from the office buildings of shipping companies.

The caravan was frequently halted in its tracks by the crush of persons seeking to touch Benvenuti, whose winning of the title from Emile Griffith in New York Monday night has sparked a flame of national pride among the Italians.



GOOD START — Two-mile runner Gene Santos raises his arms in victory as Pontiac Northern track coach Herc Renda (left) smiles and PNH teammates whoop it up in the background. Santos' win in 10:59.3 started the Huskies off to a 78-40 triumph over Livonia Stevenson.

Walled Lake Wins

PNH Runners Romp

Pontiac Northern squared its dual meet track record at 1-1 and won an Inter-Lakes League battle with Livonia Steveson, 78-40, Thursday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

The team that beat PNH, Royal Oak Kimball, edged perennial rival Dondero, 62-56, while Walled Lake trimmed Waterford, 70-48, also in a dual meet.

★ ★ ★

Northern won 11 of the 14 events from Stevenson, including both relay events and sweeps in the long jump and high jump.

Mel Cole won two events and finished second in two others, and teammate Paul Ross also was a double winner and ran one of the winning relay legs.

Walled Lake's surprisingly easy win was the Vikings' first of the season. They won 10 of the 14 events, including sweeps in the high hurdles and 100-yard dash. Waterford took all three places in the pole vault and gained a split in the relays.

TWO DUELS

Dondero's Rod Rider outran Kimball's Ron Farac, 22.1-22.6 seconds in the 220-yard dash, and 11.4-11.7 in the 120-yard dash (erroneously marked 100-yard dash), but it wasn't enough to offset a sweep of the two-mile run by the unbeaten Knights.

Rick Eaton of Dondero won the 440-yard dash in a track record :49.8 and the long jump (21-2½). Kimball had a school record by Bill Turowski in the mile, 4:29.9.

Rider also ran a leg on the Oaks' 1:32.1 winning 880-yard relay team; while Kimball's fifth win was clinched with its 3:32.5 mile relay victory.

★ ★ ★

Junior hurdler Bill Penoza cracked one school record and tied another in leading Kettering to a 104-14 track victory over Clarkston.

Penoza stepped over the high hurdles in 15 seconds flat, erasing a mark of 15.3 set by Tim McGrath in 1965, and he ran a 20.0 time in the low sticks to tie the 1965 record set by Jim Haviland.

The Captains blanked Clarkston in the field events, and overall won all but one event in hiking their season record to 4-0-1.

Leg Crushed in Accident

Fate Ends Record Hope of PNH Miler

By JERE CRAIG

Junior Mark Kay, potentially the best mile runner ever to compete at Pontiac Northern, lies in St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital today hoping to keep his right leg.

The 16-year-old had expected a chance to break his brother Dave's PNH mile record Thursday afternoon in the Huskies' duel meet with Livonia Stevenson, but he spent the day in the intensive care ward at St. Joe's after a near-fatal accident Wednesday night.

Kay and two companions were moving across the parking lot at McDonald's Drive-In restaurant on North Perry about 8:30 p.m. when a car being backed by Donna Jean Gamble of Utica went out of control and pinned him against a metal arch.

FAST WORK

His lower right leg was crushed and severely mangled. Quick work by an apparent employe of the restaurant who applied a tourniquet that is credited with saving Kay's life, and the Pontiac police, who summoned an ambulance and alerted the hospital of the teen-ager's condition, enabled a team of surgeons to begin operating on the leg within 40 minutes of the accident.

Kay was in surgery 2½ hours, and required eight pints of blood in transfusions.

Additional surgery and blood will be required. Donors are asked to contribute to Mark today between 2:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. at the Red Cross Bloodmobile in the Waterford Teachers' Association Material Center Building, 1325 Crescent Lake Road.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kay of 57 W. Longfellow, are also seeking the identity of the young man who applied the tourniquet at the accident scene.

Mark lettered both his sophomore and junior years in cross country, and was already within 2.2 seconds of the school mile record of 4:30 set by his brother.

Now he can only wait for the warmth and tingle to return to his right foot, indicating proper blood circulation and eliminating the need of amputation of the leg or foot.

Wilt Sparks 122-108 Win

Cage Title in Sight for 76ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"We want to win it Sunday," declared Coach Alex Hannum whose Philadelphia 76ers have the National Basketball Association title within their grasp.

Sharpshooting by Hal Greer, Chet Walker and Wally Jones plus a fantastic defensive performance by 7-foot 1-inch Wilt Chamberlain brought Philadelphia a 122-108 triumph over San Francisco's Warriors Thursday night and a 3-1 edge in their best-of-seven final series.

★ ★ ★

Returning to Philadelphia for Sunday's battle, the crown appeared all but wrapped up for the 76ers, the first for Chamberlain since he joined the league in 1960.

"Wilt never played better," admitted Warrior Coach Bill Sharman. "Every time I looked up, he was blocking a shot."

The big star also pulled down 27 rebounds and had 8 assists.

ANKLE INJURY

Jones hit 14 points in the first quarter and then suffered an injury to his right ankle. Greer took up the slack and, after only two free throws in the opening period, finished with 38 points for the night.

Walker unloaded in the final stanza with 14 and 33 total to insure victory over 15,117, the largest crowd ever to watch pro basketball in San Francisco. Another 1,300 took in the game via closed circuit television at the downtown Civic Auditorium.

The triple-pronged 76er attack compensated for a 43-point output from the Warriors, Rick Barry.

With three minutes left, the Warriors cut the edge to eight points but then it was Greer, with two free throws and a field goal, who broke it open.

Former Coach Heads Group Seeking Celts

BOSTON (AP) — Red Auerbach, who built the Boston Celtics into a sports dynasty, is expected to take a seat soon as an owner of the National Basketball Association club.

A group headed by Auerbach and Jack Waldron, the Celtics president, is negotiating with Marvin Kratter, board chairman of both the club and National Equities, Inc., which owns the NBA franchise.

"We think we have a very good chance," Auerbach said Thursday after Kratter announced the Celtics are for sale "at the proper price to the proper people."

OTHER OFFERS

Kratter said that he, Auerbach and Waldron have discussed the matter as well as "about 20 other offers we've received in the last year." Only a concrete offer appears needed to complete the transaction.

"I would say that Jack and Red have a very good chance to buy the club," Kratter said. "I think it would be a fitting culmination to a great basketball career if Red and his group bought the club."

Legal Battles Between Pro Cagers Start

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The anticipated war for players between the established National Basketball Association and the emerging American Basketball Association has erupted with legal battles on two fronts.

The Los Angeles Lakers of the NBA took action Thursday, filing a $3,050,000 damage suit against the ABA and Laker forward Jim (Bad News) Barnes, who said earlier he signed with the Dallas Chaparrals of the newly-formed league.

NBA President Walter Kennedy said the Baltimore Bullets have begun legal action against the ABA, its New York franchis and player Leroy Ellis, who signed with the New York club last week.

Bills Ready to Talk

Central Golfers Upset Waterford

Pontiac Central's unbeaten golfers pulled a mild upset yesterday at Pontiac Municipal course as they handed Waterford its first loss of the season.

Led by Tim Pinho (37) and Dave McNeely (38), the Chiefs (4-0) totaled 157 strokes while Waterford came in with 159. Rod Skelton led the losers (6-1) with a 37.

Gay Brewer Fights Jinx as Leader

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Gay Brewer, the Masters champion from Dallas, led the $100,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament with a six-under-par 64 today but he faced a jinx.

There have been 14 tournaments on the PGA tour this year, and in only three of them has the first round leader emerged winner.

★ ★ ★

Brewer, however, is playing the best golf of his career and fired his third 64 of the campaign Thursday. He also equaled the record first round in the tournament's history — the 64 shot by John McMullin in the opening round of 1958.

And it also tied the lowest starting round of the year — the 64 Jerry Steelsmith shot at San Diego where he didn't finish in the money.

And there was another angle — McMullin tied for first in the 1958 tournament yet lost in the playoff.

THREE OTHERS

But Brewer could point to the fact that three fellows did lead all the way this year and won — Arnold Palmer, who had a first round 66 at Tucson; Don Sikes, who had a 67 on his home course at Jacksonville, Fla., and Frank Beard, who fired a 65 in the opening round of the Tournament of Champions.

None of those fellows appear to pose much of a threat to Brewer here. Palmer, the year's leading money-winner who could lose his standing should Brewer win the $20,000 for first place, said he was too weary and was fighting a cold when he soared to a 76.

Sikes isn't playing here and Beard also shot a 76 in the opening round.

John Molenda of Black River fired a 35-32—67.

Takes Soccer Post

New YORK (UPI) — Don C. Becker, former United Press International bureau manager in Manila, was named Thursday as the executive assistant to Na-League commissioner Ken Macker.

Second No-Hitter by Fife

Rochester Sets Pace in O-A

Local prep baseball league races find Rochester setting a fast pace in the Oakland A League, while the Wayne-Oakland and Tri-County circuits are crowded at the top.

Dan Fife's second no-hitter of the season gave Clarkston an 8-0 conquest at West Bloomfield Thursday and a quarter share of the W-O lead.

Milford edged Clarenceville, 3-2; Bloomfield Hills ripped Brighton, 15-2; and Northville overcame Holly, 4-0; to tie the Wolves with 2-0 marks.

Rochester's 4-0 record paces the Oakland A. after the Falcons 3-2 decision over Troy yesterday. Clawson surprised Madison, 10-2, and Warren Cousino beat Lake Orion, 4-1, and Avondale lost to Fitzgerald in eight innings, 1-0.

The Tri-County results found Lapeer nipping Romeo, 8-6, and L'Anse Creuse edging Oxford, 2-1, leaving both winners deadlocked with idle Kettering at 1-0 in the loop standings.

SUPPORT

Fife, who opened the season by hurling ano-hit game and losing to Oxford, had no trouble with West Bloomfield as the Wolves piled up seven runs in the first two frames.

★ ★ ★

The hard-throwing senior right-hander followed teammate Mike Schweitzer's two-run second-inning circuit clout with one of his own. Fife whiffed 15. Mickey Elwood was the loser although allowing only four hits and striking out nine.

Mark Giegler stole home, Chris Mortimore doubled home one run and scored the winning marker on a balk, and senior left-hander Bill Barker struck out nine while holding Clarenceville hitless after the third inning to feature Milford's second triumph.

DUAL PUNCH

Kim Kezlarian and Brian Parrott both had a single and double to produce five of the eight tallies registered by Hills in the opening inning at Brighton. Bob Calhoun pitched a four-hitter and had two singles, while Chip Smith added two doubles.

Holly and Northville waged a scoreless duel for seven innings before Doug Swiss' lead-off double ignited a four-run eighth for the Mustangs. Randy Pohlman contributed a two-run double and scored the final run.

A three-run third featuring run-producing single by Bob Boice and a two-run two bagger by Steve Hopkins led Rochester. Jim Burton fanned 11 as both a starter and reliever in the game.

Sophomore Dave Fredza tossed a one-hitter at defending O-A champion Madison and Don Russell cracked three singles with the bases loaded for seven runs batted in as Clawson matched the Eagles' 2-2 record.

Norm Blandel rapped a solid two-run homer in the eighth inning to hand Craig Wadsworth the win at Romeo. The Lapeer slugger also had a two-run double in a big four-run third.

Frank Payne's two-run safety had deadlocked the score for the losers in their four-run outburst.

★ ★ ★

There wasn't a base runner at Oxford until the 29th batter in the contest. Ron Shamblin singled for Oxford and scored on Rick Sands' safety for the only two hits by the home team.

L'Anse erupted in the fifth for two runs on two singles, a misplayed sacrifice and a two-run error.

BARON BELTERS — Bloomfield Hills' Ken Kezlarian (left) and Brian Parrott both had a single and double as the Barons scored eight times in the first inning Thursday at Brighton. Parrott produced three runs and Kezlarian two in the uprising that led to a 15-2 conquest.

Big Ten 9's Resume Play

Ohio State to Get Gopher Challenge

By the Associated Press

The first round of Big Ten baseball action will be completed this weekend as six teams swing into their first conference tests.

The league race, expanded to 18 games this season, got off to a staggered start last weekend when four teams, including defending champion Ohio State, played four games each.

★ ★ ★

The Buckeyes from Ohio State, expected to be challenged strongly by Minnesota, got off to a good start with a 3-1 performance to move atop the conference standings.

Here's the lineup this weekend.

Friday — Illinois at Purdue for one game, and Iowa at Northwestern and Minnesota at Wisconsin for doubleheaders.

Saturday — Illinois at Purdue for one game, and Iowa at Wisconsin and Minnesota at Northwestern for twin bills.

TWIN BILLS

Three other Big Ten clubs face nonconference action. Ohio State is host to Southern Illinois for a single game Friday and for a Saturday doubleheader. Saturday twin bills also include Central Michigan at Michigan State, and Michigan's freshmen against the varsity.

★ ★ ★

The current standings list Indiana and Michigan tied for second place behind Ohio State with 2-2 each and Michigan State fourth with 1-3.

Groves Is 6-3 Loser; Kimball Rips Rival

Hot hitting by Tom Webster enabled Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows to open its baseball campaign with a 6-3 victory at Birmingham Groves Thursday afternoon.

Royal Oak Kimball ripped Royal Oak Dondero, 5-1, for its fourth win in five starts; Royal Oak Shrine blanked Divine Child in its opener, 1-0; and Southfield stayed unbeaten with a 5-0 decision over Highland Park.

In league action, South Lyon fell into a first-place tie as Saline took advantage of errors by the Lions for a 4-3 triumph in the Southeastern loop.

Armada stayed undefeated with its second win in two days, a 6-3 conquest of Memphis in Southern Thumb action. The Tigers nudged Marysville, 9-7, Wednesday.

BIG BAT

At Groves, Sorrows counted two runs in the first, fourth and sixth innings as catcher Webster rapped a double, single and homer to account for five of the markers. Bob Thiesen was the winning hurler in relief.

Kimball's Rich Blair held Dondero to three hits and received hitting support from Carl Roehling whose double in the second produced three runs, and from Kurt Ritter who had a single and home run for two runs batted in.

Shrine's Dave Yeager scored from third base on Mike Fisher's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning for the only run. Jim Chiesa limited Divine Child to one hit while fanning 11.

South Lyon (5-2 over-all) led Saline, 3-2, entering the final inning on rbi-singles by Paul Jameson and Don Jones in the fifth, and Jim Richardson's sixth-inning two-bagger.

But a walk, balk, pinch-hit single and an error led to two decisive runs in the seventh inning—enabling Saline to tie the losers with 3-1 league marks.

★ ★ ★

Lee Thompson hurled and batted Armada to its second Southern Thumb triumph of the season. He had a single and double to account for three runs and scattered eight hits by Memphis.

Southfield's fourth straight victory was a combined one-hitter by Ted Minke (the winner) and Gary Betrus who whiffed seven and allowed the only hit in three frames of relief.

The Bowling Proprietors Association of Oakland County has brightened up its annual Champion of Champions Tournament qualifying this year with "greenery."

Instead of presenting trophies to the leading qualifiers at each member establishment, the 17 leaders will receive cash. The top 10 per cent of the entries at each house will advance to the finals as in previous eliminations.

The Champion of Champions Tournament is open to all three, four or five-member teams finishing among the top three in their league standings.

★ ★ ★

The first place team will have its $15 prize fund fee paid by the league. Second and third place teams will be given $10 and $5 respectively by the establishment toward the prize fund fee. All contestants must pay for their bowling and expenses.

All qualifying must be finished by May 21. If a team doesn't normally have five bowlers, it expands its lineup by adding men or women from within the league. Any combination of male and female bowlers is acceptable.

The finals will be June 3-4 at Howe's Lanes. The first prize is $1,000 guaranteed by the BPOC.

The member establishments also include 300 Bowl, Wonderland Lanes, West Side Lanes, Sylvan Lanes, Savoy Lanes, Orchard Lanes, North Hill Lanes, Montcalm Bowling Center, Mavis Lanes, Lakewood Lanes, Huron Bowl, Fairgrounds Bowling, Cooley Lanes, Collier Lanes, Auburn Lanes and Airway Lanes.

Additional information on the qualifying is available at each site.

SPARE PINS

Last week's 11th Frame review of the leading sanctioned scores in the Pontiac area seemed likely to attract at least one correction due to the incompleteness of the season records at the Press.

The women's records particularly aren't complete and the two revisions received on high game scores weren't a surprise. June Paddy edged Marie Reynolds (241) and Shirley Pointer (240) with a 242 in the Huron Bowl Ladies Classic.

But moving to the front of the list was Vi Vandewater at Airway Lanes. She hit a 255 this season.

Airway also provided two other corrections. While Don Mazza's 731 series was his initial 700, it wasn't the first for the establishment, nor the highest. Airway had five 700 series prior to this, its seventh, season and added four during the current competition.

CHAMPS

Elks Temple junior teams reign in three of the six divisions in the annual Greater Detroit Bowling Association's Junior City Tournament.

Captain Jim Crawford's senior boys were first last weekend at Farmington Lanes, Cathy Irwin and her bantam girls teammates topped the standings at Wonderland Bowl, and the Elks senior girls led by Joan Merriman had no opposition and won their event by default.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the junior boys captained by Harry Miller were second at Ark Lanes, missing first place by two marks. These four teams plus three others from the local lodge will all vie May 7 at Flint's Panorama Lanes for state championships.

Blondes Battle in North-South Amateur Finale

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Young Connie Day met proven performer Phyllis (Tish) Preuss today in an 18-hole battle of the blondes for the Women's North and South Amateur title.

★ ★ ★

Miss Day, 24-year-old secretary from Cleveland, Tenn., had her game near its peak in a 4 and 3 semifinals victory over Mrs. Alice Dye of Indianapolis, Ind. Thursday. It was her easiest triumph in four tournament matches.

Miss Preuss, 28, from Pompano Beach, Fla., passed her most severe test Thursday, emerging with a 2 and 1 victory over four-time champion Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Top Ladies in Tourney

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — The top money winners are here and the battle is on for first prize in the $12,000 Raleigh Ladies Invitational Open golf tournament today.

Carol Mann, a 6-foot-3 blonde who finished fourth among all the lady pros in money earnings last year, is back to defend her 1966 title.

Kathy Whitworth, who was runnerup in last year's tournament and then went on to win nine tournaments and amass more than $40,000 in winnings, is back for another crack.

LA Hesitates, Loses to Reds

Cincinnati Wins, 3-1, in 13 Innings

By the Associated Press

Cincinnati's Don Pavletich, a reserve catcher, weighs 211 pounds and isn't what you'd call lightning fast on the bases.

He needed all the help he could get in the 13th inning of the Reds' 3-1 victory over Los Angeles Thursday night.

Pavletich was on first base with a one-out walk when Gerry Arrigo bunted. Ron Perranoski, the Dodgers' third pitcher, grabbed the ball, thought about Pavletich lumbering towards second, hesitated just long enough, then wheeled and fired, hoping for the force.

He didn't get it.

Pavletich slid in safely, moved to third on a force play and then scored the winning run when Vada Pinson dropped a tantalizing single into short right field. The Reds got an insurance run on Pete Rose's base hit.

Gary Nolan, an 18-year-old right-hander, worked the first nine innings for the Reds and struck out 12 Dodgers.

Elsewhere in the National League, New York battered Chicago 6-1 and San Francisco ended St. Louis' six-game winning streak, 7-5.

★ ★ ★

Tommy Davis hammered a home run and a double — his first extra base hits of the season — as the Mets trimmed the Cubs.

Rookie pitcher Tom Seaver, a $40,000 bonus baby, got credit for his first big league victory, with Don Shaw, another rookie, finishing up. Veteran Curt Simmons was the loser.

The Giants bunched five singles in the second inning, scoring five runs, but had to hold off the rallying Cardinals for their victory.

Bowling Results

Youthful Bob Schreur of Union Lake last weekend teamed with Livonia's Hugh Humpert for a 1304 actual total and first place in the doubles event as the Class A phase of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association men's city tournament closed.

★ ★ ★

Schreur bombed the pins at Mayflower Lanes for a 695 series — including a 267 game — as he and Humpert finished 13 pins ahead of their nearest competition.

★ ★ ★

Closer to Pontiac, Monday night's men's house league action at Collier Lanes saw Skalnek Ford post season highs of 1083 — 3000 paced by Marion Collins' 245-223—672 and Floyd Thornton's 245 — 612.

Pat Sweeney and Bud Mulholland each had a 234 for Town & Country. August Raman hit 231.

Teen-ager Jerry Owczarski (16) carved a 226-245—677 effort in the Cooley Lanes Senior House circuit Wednesday. Bill Green had 234-217—643. Ed Bevan posted 221-216—616 and Bill Bildinger and Clarence Pohl each hit 248s.

Steal of Home Brings 'Catchers'

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (AP) — Somebody stole home and this time it's a case for the police.

Groundkeepers for McCoy Stadium, home of the Pawtucket Indians of the Eastern League found only a gaping hole Thursday where the rubebr covered oak wood home plate is supposed to be.

Someone ripped the 60-pound black-edged white marker from its three-foot-deep mooring spikes.

Although it costs a relatively low figure of $50, the plate has unestimable value to the avid Indians baseball fans.

Defensive Ace Joins Dolphins

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Tom Beier, ace defensive back at the University of Miami, was signed Thursday by the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League.

★ ★ ★

"There is a spot open on our squad for a good defensive back," said Coach George Wilson after the 5-foot-11, 196-pound Fremont, Ohio, native signed with the pro team.

Clay to Refuse Service Oath 'No Matter'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says he will not go into the Army "no matter what it costs me."

Clay told a news conference he would appear for induction in Houston next week, "but I won't take the oath."

★ ★ ★

For months, Clay has fought a losing battle to avoid the draft on grounds that military duty would be contrary to his Black Muslim religion.

Clay is slated for induction next Friday at Houston, the city he now calls his home. He had his case transferred there from his draft board in Louisville.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the draft board said if Clay refussd to be inducted, he would be required to sign a paper stating his refusal. The case then would be turned over to the federal district attorney for disposition.

Grandma, Grandpa Keep Homes

Senior Citizens Gaining Independence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grandma and grandpa are getting more independent all the time.

There's a marked trend for older Americans to maintain their own homes, the Census Bureau reports.

* * *

Take a look at what happened in a 15-year span. The Census people say "about 9.5 million households in the United States in 1965 consisted of a household head living alone or sharing his home with persons not related to him. In two-thirds of these households, the head was 55 years old or over.

"The number of households of this type in 1965 was double the number for 1950."

MOVE TO CITIES

The vast migration from rural areas to cities has had much to do with this trend, in the view of Don Hummel, assistant secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"Down on the farm in the old days," he says, "Grandpa and Grandma often lived with the younger generations, and were an economic asset to them. They could help raise the grandchildren, do the cooking and chores. But there's not much room or role for the senior citizens when the younger folks live in a small apartment."

Homes for senior citizens are proliferating the nation over. And HUD has many a role in this trend — from FHA-insured mortgages for luxury cooperatives to subsidizing $30-a-month apartments for the poor.

EXAMPLES

Meet a couple of oldsters who enjoy such housing in the nation's capital:

—Mrs. John H. Knapp, great-granddaughter of Chief Justice John Marshall and cousin of Gen. George C. Marshall. She's a Navy widow, and at 78 she's full of vim and meets life with a merry chuckle.

—Guy Stokes, retired plasterer's helper. At 82 he's tall, straight and full of humor. His proudest boast is that in the last two years he has learned to read and write.

Mrs. Knapp's home for her mellow years is the old Roosevelt Hotel which has been rehabilitated under FHA mortgage insurance.

Here the prices, including rent, breakfast and dinner, range from $185 a month for a small room with private bath to $400 a month quarters for two people — living room, bedroom, dining area, kitchen and bath. There is weekly maid service and linen is supplied.

QUIET BEEHIVE

Many retired, semiretired, or in some cases still-working teachers, writers, artists, musicians and government workers live at the Roosevelt, and it's a sort of quiet beehive. Things going on range from a millinery class to a travel club, from checkers to shuffleboard.

"Do I like it?" says Mrs. Knapp. "You bet, or I wouldn't stay."

It is not from lack of relatives that Mrs. Knapp lives on her own. With a laugh, she says: "I've got so much posterity I don't know what to do — 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren." She loves them all, of course, but still and all she likes living independently.

SENIOR LIVING — Mrs. John H. Knapp, 78, great-granddaughter of Chief Justice John Marshall and cousin of Gen. George C. Marshall, plays checkers with a fellow resident at the Hotel Roosevelt in Washington, a home for senior citizens. The hotel is one of many homes for oldsters which are proliferating the nation over. It has been rehabilitated under FHA mortgage insurance.

If You Like Something, Odds Are It's Bad for You

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON—An old joke: "Everything I like is either illegal, immoral or fattening."

The time when people laughed at that line was truly the age of innocence.

WEST

Hardly anything is illegal or immoral any more — and even if it is, vast numbers will do it anyway.

Most things are still fattening, but that is no longer the major deterrent to the enjoyment of life. We now have a better reason for foregoing pleasure.

Thanks to recent advancements in medical research, you can be pretty certain that everything you like is unhealthy. Or will be as soon as medical science finds out what disease or ailment it causes.

I could not begin to enumerate all the nice things that already have been declared injurious.

Smoking, the most prominent example, was only the beginning.

New evils of drinking have been discovered. The dangers of eating have been pointed out in such wholesome foods as eggs and dairy products. Sugar substitutes have been recommended and we have been warned against animal fats.

Breathing is a hazard in some areas, although no suitable alternative for that has yet been divised. Even sex has become suspect.

The latest peril of which I am aware is salt — good, old, common, ordinary, everyday table salt.

News dispatches this week quoted a University of Iowa physician as saying the average diet probably contains 10 to 100 times too much salt, which poses a threat of high blood pressure.

Holy Hippocrates: This is the limit: I have cut down to one cocktail before dinner and no cigar afterwards.

I have curtailed my intake of omelets, ice cream and chitlin's.

I have learned to drink unsweetened coffee and to go for long periods without inhaling. I have foresaken romance whenever possible. But damned if I'll give up salted peanuts.

MATTER OF TIME

You may as well brace yourself folks. It is only a question of time until you pick up a newspaper and read the following item:

Baltimore — A Johns Hopkins University medical researcher reported today that recent studies have confirmed that being born is a health hazard.

Dr. Fred A. Killjoy, head of the department of depression, said statistics show a definite relationship between the death rate and the birth rate.

"Persons who are born run a 100 per cent risk of dying," Killjoy said. "These figures prove beyond doubt that birth is the No. 1 cause of death."

Cavanagh Scornful of Councilwoman Seeking His Recall

DETROIT (AP) — A member of Detroit's Common Council said Thursday she would head an effort to have Mayor Jerome Cavanagh recalled from office because of Detroit's high crime rate.

Miss Mary V. Beck, who has often feuded with Cavanagh over the crime rate, said Cavanagh is more interested in building his national image than solving Detroit's problems.

★ ★ ★

Cavanagh, contacted in New York where he spoke to a national medical meeting, said, "I am highly contemptuous of the highly personalized attack on me.

"What is her proposed solution to the great problems of crime in our city?" he asked.

NO SOLUTIONS

Miss Beck, who offered no solutions in the four-page statement announcing her recall campaign, apparently will get little support from other council members.

Philip J. Van Antwerp, a councilman, called her proposal ridiculous.

★ ★ ★

"Mayor Cavanagh is sincere and is trying to do a job in very trying times," VanAntwerp said.

Other council members had similar views.

Miss Beck was unavailable for questions from newsmen about her announcement, which was delivered to news media by her secretary.

The statement made several complaints against Cavanagh, head of the government of the nation's fifth largest city. Among them were these:

—That Cavanagh is a part-time mayor who has spent almost as much time away from Detroit as in it.

★ ★ ★

—That Cavanagh is using a nonpartisan office to build a partisan political organization "for his personal benefit and future."

—That "Cavanagh has demonstrated a lack of personal morality both in private and public life."

RAN FOR SENATE

—That Cavanagh "deceived the people into believing he wanted a second term in which to serve them" and then, "within weeks after the (successful) election, he ran for the Senate (unsuccessfully)."

—That Cavanagh, "through his puppet police commissioner, has prevented a professional and effective administration of the police department by slowly forcing out the good, top career personnel, while coddling and protecting his political favorites in that department."

★ ★ ★

Cavanagh said that those who know Police Commissioner Ray Girardin "know that this statement is absurd.

"Her current charges are wild, personal and contemptuous, not worthy of any further comment," he told newsmen.

Confab Helped Recreation

Knowledge and ideas gained through last week's Great Lakes Recreation Conference in Detroit spell out improvement in certain phases of the program sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation Department.

Attending the four-day conference from Waterford Township was Thomas Simons, director of recreation.

Simons said the department subsequently is taking steps to acquire federal funds to help finance new lighted baseball and softball fields in the township.

Funds are available on a local federal matching basis, through the U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

★ ★ ★

Simons said the program also helps pay for swimming pools, golf courses and even artificial lakes.

'SURPRISE ACTIVITIES'

New playground activities are planned in the township this summer as a result of ideas gained by Simons at the conference. Five different types of "surprise" activities will be added.

Also slated to begin in June is a playground program for mentally handicapped preschool children. To be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. weekdays at Schoolcraft School, the program will run from June 19 to Aug. 25.

The recreation department will provide supervisory personnel at 13 playgrounds this summer from June 26 to Aug. 11.

★ ★ ★

Playgrounds at the following schools will be staffed: Drayton Plains, Leggett, Grayson, Silver Lake, Waterford Center, Della Lutes, Cooley, Monteith, Williams Lake, Schoolcraft, Waterford Village, Stringham and St. Benedict's.

In addition, a day camp program will be conducted from June 26 to Aug. 18 at the Highland Recreation Center.

Of every 1,000 pupils who entered the fifth grade in the United States in 1957, 710 went on to graduate from high school and 378 entered college.

Postmen Know Numbers Game

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — It took just two sets of numbers and three initials to have a letter mailed in Peru delivered to Albert F. Figueroa in four days.

Figueroa said it was an experiment and told his brother, Jose, a bone surgeon in Hural, Peru, that American mail can operate on numbers without names or words. Jose wrote the numbers 1634, Albert's post office box, and 49501, zip code For Grand Rapids Central Office, and the initials U.S.A. on the envelope and mailed it. Four days later, Albert received the letter.

Antiprostitute Law Is Voided

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Court of Appeals says a prostitute has as much right to wave or whistle at a friend as any other lady.

In a decision handed down yesterday, the court said Detroit's law making it illegal for a "known prostitute or panderer" to hail, whistle, wave or gesture at a passerby is unconstitutional.

Bentgrass Grows Well in Our Area

Almost every lawnsman is familiar with Kentucky bluegrass-fine fescue, workhorse team for most fine lawns. Not quite so familiar is the best use of bentgrass.

Creeping bentgrasses are commonplace on the golf green, but easily cared-for upright lawn bentgrasses such as Highland interest the home owner more.

There are regions where no lawngrass grows better than bent. The Pacific slopes from San Francisco northward, country adjacent to the Great Lakes, and higher elevations in the Northeast are typical examples.

Elsewhere you can have bentgrass, too, but expect to irrigate it. A self-installable automatic irrigation system on the market now can make anyone's front yard "bentgrass climate."

★ ★ ★

The need for humidity fulfilled, next you should treat your Highland like a bentgrass, not a bluegrass. It should be mowed low — less than an inch — preferably each three or four days.

FERTILIZE REGULARLY

It had best be fertilized each few weeks, and be given protection against disease as seasonally required. Snow mold, for example, can be prevented by fungicides before snow blankets the ground.

You may want to thin the grass (remove thatch) in either spring or autumn, and bolster afterwards with fresh Highland seed.

Even if you are not in those misty climates where bentgrass is inevitable, its needs can be met with this little extra care. No grass provides a more luxurious lawn — a turf especially suitable for close-by nooks that can be carefully landscaped.

ROSES ARE FOR YOU—The universal popularity of roses is amazing. They are easy to grow, have lovely blooms all season long, from spring to fall, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. It is easy to become a rose "bug" once a few plants are tried and soon a whole rose garden blooms.

Lawn and Garden News

Sow Seeds Indoors Now

To a homeowner anxious to begin his outdoor gardening, spring weather just can't get here soon enough. But while he is waiting, he can get temporary relief from his anxieties by starting his seeds indoors.

One of the fastest and surest methods of seed germination uses a horticultural vermiculite (vur-mik'-yoo-lite) such as Terra-Lite, which is manufactured by W. R. Grace & Co.'s Zonolite Division.

First select a suitable container. This can be a clay or plastic pot, or even a cut-down milk carton or plastic tray. The only requirements are are that the container be two to four inches deep and equipped with bottom holes for drainage.

Vermiculite can be mixed 50-50 with soil, in which case seeds will need no additional feeding until transplanted. But most experts agree that straight vermiculite is the better starting medium since it has none of soil's disease organisms, and is as fool proof as possible.

If seeds are planted in straight vermiculite, they should be fed a weak fertilizer solution after the first true leaves appear. Normally a tablespoon of soluble fertilizer to a gallon of water will do.

In the early stages of the project, it is a good idea to water seeds by placing the container in a shallow water-filled pan, allowing the seeds to soak up moisture from below. Later, moisture from below. Later, seeds or seedlings should be watered from above, but very gently.

Leaves Puny? Sponge With Oil

If the leaves on your house plants are beginning to look jaded, give them new life, beauty, and strength, by sponging with castor or olive oil.

Warm the oil until it is lukewarm, then dip a bit of cotton in it, and gently sponge each leaf with it.

Your house plants will immediately take on a fresh new look.

Use Vermiculite in Arrangements

When a special occasion demands a floral arrangement of fresh cut flowers, place the cut stems in a pot of horticultural vermiculite soaked with water.

Vermiculite will serve as a firm base while releasing moisture to the flowers as they need it.

Shrubs Are Versatile in Garden

Shrubs are the ideal way to screen outside living areas for privacy, to make a colorful enclosure around a lot, to form a decorative background for flowers, and to soften the architectural lines of a house, suggests the newly revised Better Homes and Garden New Garden Book.

★ ★ ★

And, many of the larger shrubs will stand beautifully alone as specimen plants.

Many shrubs are so versatile that one variety might fill several uses. For example, some types of tall lilacs with a dense growth of branches make excellent specimens — or can be planted close together to form a screen.

And these same plants often can be set even closer together, and trimmed into a hedge.

★ ★ ★

Several kinds of shrubs blend well together, and can be massed for varied color and foliage.

Some shrubs, such as hydrangeas and many varieties of lilacs, don't mix well with other shrubs, and therefor do best as specimen plants.

Shrubs should never be overused. Too many of them will give your property a cluttered appearance.

Chemical Weed Controls

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Chemical weed controls are changing some aspects of gardening. For instance, the government has cleared some preemergence herbicides for control of weeds in lawns and flower beds.

You have to change garden timetables if you use chemical weed controls, applying at times and in amounts specified for the greatest effectiveness.

Such preemergence herbicides as Dacthal will help you stay off your knees, that traditional position.

All easy-to-handle shaker can is effective when using the granular form of this herbicide in small vegetable plots and ornamental areas.

The manufacturer reports that Dacthal has been cleared by the Food and Drug Administration for use on food crops.

CONTROL WEEDS

It has been in use for years to control such weeds as crabgrass, yellow foxtail johnsongrass annual bluegrass, lovegrass, witchgrass, barnyardgrass, carpetgrass, common chickweed, lambsquater, purslane and Florida pussley.

Picture what a help preemergence herbicides will be on strawberry and onion fields, where weed control is so important.

Preemergence herbicides attack and destroy weeds as they reach the germination stage, preventing their emergence above the soil surface.

Dacthal, for instance, should be applied in the early spring, before the weeds emerge. Once the vegetation germinates, its effectiveness is sharply reduced. It also should be used immediately after transplanting new plants.

Cultivate your plant bed thoroughly before introducing the chemical.

If you use a general chemical be sure that the formula you buy does not contain other ingredients that may not have cleared for use on food crops.

Apply it evenly to a soil or turf and water the treated area thoroughly.

You Can Revive Limp Flowers for Bouquet

This trick, from the revised Better Homes and Gardens New Garden Book, will work either with flowers that become limp while you are picking them, or with those in a bouquet.

Cut the base of the stem off at a slant, and scrape the lower part of the stem at several spots until green underbark shows. Then, place them in water that is so hot you can just stand to hold your hand in it, and leave until water cools. Finally, put the roses up to their necks in cold water for at least an hour.

To hold roses for a future date (not more than 10 days away):

- Pick when the sun is shining.
- Don't put in water, but allow them to stay rather limp.
- Enclose totally (seal) in saran, and put in the refrigerator (cool, but not as cold as usually kept for food). When the time comes for use, remove from wrap and proceed as for wilted flowers.

Tree Shortage Is Negligible

The strong nationwide drive for beautification has caused no significant shortages of trees and shrubs in regular sizes this year, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

* * *

Regular sizes in trees, up to 2½ inches trunk diameter are in good supply and are readily available, it is said.

In the past five years, there has been a gradual increase in the size of trees demanded by consumers impatient to wait for them to grow larger, but nowhere has the demand greatly outstripped the supply except in some of the rarer genera and species and this always has been the case.

In the larger diameters, from 3 inches and up there are shortages in some species in certain areas, where the demand for large trees has accelerated.

* * *

Trees are not like manufactured goods, production of which usually can be increased at will. There is no way any gower can speed up the normal growth of trees.

LONG TIME

It takes from 3 to 10 years or more to produce trees depending on the size desired. Neither the grower nor anyone else materially can change this growth rate.

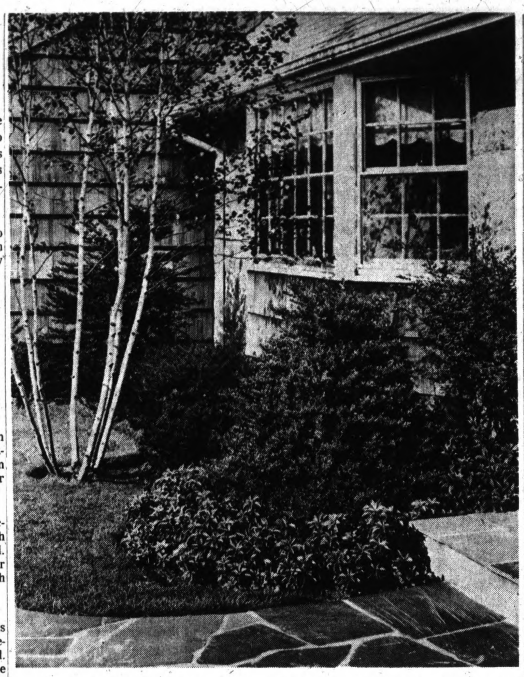
Most nurserymen have increased the supply of trees growing in their fields but it will be several years before the new plantings will reach marketable sizes.

However, the average home owner generally will have no trouble finding what he wants at nurseries.

* * *

And by shopping at the better-equipped nurseries he'll find the trees and shrubs he wants, whether in large or small sizes.

The average home mortgage purchased by the Federal National Mortgage Association is $11,734.



WELCOME—An open birch, taxus, cotoneaster, euonymous, with a ground cover of pachysandra form a pleasing entrance planting. Different leaf structures add greatly to the beauty.

State African Violet Show Set April 29 at Farmington

It's raining violets as the Michigan State African Violet Society prepares to open its 8th Annual Show April 29 at the Masonic Hall, 23715 Farmington Road at Grand River, Farmington. The show will be open from 1:30 to 8 p.m.

Hosting the event is the Tri-County African Violet Club.

Exhibitors are to be divided into three classes, amateur, advanced and novice.

If the exhibitor has previously earned a ribbon on an entry he will be classified as an amateur.

* * *

Advanced exhibitors are persons who have previously won best of show and/or sweepstakes. A novice exhibitor is one who has never won a ribbon or entered a show before.

MANY PRIZES

All of the classes will be entered in the prize competition.

Judging will take place between 10 a.m. and noon. Only clean, healthy plants will be accepted, insect and disease free. Plants must have been in the exhibitor's possession for at least three months.

Suckers, collars, props or supports of any kind disqualify the entry.

* * *

In keeping with the founding of Farmington by the Quakers, the show will follow an Early American theme.

Registration of plants will be from 8 to 10 a.m. on April 29.

A business meeting and election of officers of the Michigan Society will be held at 10 a.m. in the parlor of the Salem United Church of Christ, 33424 Oakland, Farmington.

* * *

Mrs. Joseph Liska of the Hill and Dale Garden Club will be the guest speaker.

Persons interested in obtaining a flower schedule may contact show chairman, Mrs. Edwin Aldrich of 9714 Silverside, South Lyon; or cochairman, Mrs. Boyd Fairfax of 23825 Farmington, Farmington Township.

African Violets Most Popular

The chief horticulturist for one of the biggest retailers of live plants (Woolworth) says the most popular flowering plants are African violets, geraniums and chrysanthemums, in that order.

For indoors, the leader is philodendron (from the Greek "tree loving").

Ease Plant Shock

Transplanting? Use Precaution

Transplanting is a shock, and one of the chief reasons for failure is that home gardeners either don't know or don't observe the few necessary precautions.

* * *

Your nurseryman or garden supply dealer has been careful to make certain that his transplant items such as roses, bushes, shrubs, evergreens and trees are in good condition when they leave the premises. The trouble, however, starts at home.

Horticulturists for the Agricultural Products division of Nelson Steel, who have been studying the use of Green Garde Micronized Iron to help ease transplant shock, report that the leading cause of poor results is dry roots.

Unless the humidity is over 90 per cent, any plant that is out of the ground will lose moisture. Steps must be taken immediately to prevent or retard moisture-loss even if the planting is to be done within a few hours.

* * *

If the plant is balled, keep the soil moist and handle it carefully to keep the ball from breaking. Keep it in the shade and protect it from the wind.

BARE-ROOTED PLANTS

In case of bare-root plants or if the ball becomes broken, heel the plants in trenches and moisten the soil, or wrap the roots in wet sphagnum moss or wet paper till ready for planting.

Although horticultural iron can help reduce transplant shock by encouraging more rapid root growth, even better results can be achieved by working a combination of iron and organic matter such as packaged manure, peat or sphagnum moss, leaf mold or compost into the fill soil.

Another leading cause of failure is improper filling of the transplant hole. Add a spadeful of fill soil at a time and pack firmly with the hands, being careful not to damage the roots. The soil may be tramped after the hole is nearly filled.

* * *

Improper watering practices can be harmful. The extremes — too much or too little — should be avoided. Never allow the soil to become thoroughly dry. On the other hand, it should not be soaked at all times.

Unless there is adequate rainfall, water thoroughly and deep once or twice a week. Frequent shallow waterings do more harm than good.

Flats or seedlings should be handled in much the same way. Keep the soil moist and protect them from sunshine and wind before and during planting.

Varieties to Please Everyone

Roses Are a Garden Must

Roses—a garden lover's must. Roses do for the garden what no other single plant can do; provide uninterrupted color all season long.

And roses take considerably less work to maintain than other plants.

As for planting, there isn't a simpler flower to plant than a rose.

Just find a sunny, reasonably well-drained spot, dig a hole, pop in the rose, cover up with soil mulched with peat, water generously and presto — everything's coming up roses.

★ ★ ★

Probably the greatest single advantage of the rose is the marvelous range of versatility.

MANY TYPES

First, consider how many different types of ever-blooming roses there are: tall, medium and low-growing bushes, ramblers, climbers, pillars and fence covers, and, even a new hybrid rose species for "living fences" border plantings and hedges.

Best evidence there is of rose's increasing popularity is the large number of home gardeners who are planting roses in their front yards rather than limiting them, as in the past, to formal back yard rose gardens.

By putting more and more roses up front, the home gardener is using these everblooming beauties in place of traditional foundation shrubs which either do not flower at all or flower sparingly only once for a relatively brief period.

★ ★ ★

Generously spotting colorful rose bushes in and around green shrubs adds more sparkle and color-appeal to the front yard's appearance.

Fences of colorful roses up to 5 or 6 feet, or low, compact border and hedge plantings of roses are, in an increasing number of cases, replacing conventional fencing materials such as board, wire and concrete block.

Clean Yard Right Now

If you haven't started cleaning up the winter debris, shame on you. You're going to get behind even before the season is in full swing.

★ ★ ★

Get out the steel-toothed garden rake and scratch your lawn's back. Chances are it's been carrying a heavy load of snow all winter and its dried and dead grass will have matted, cutting down the amount of air and rain that you can reach its roots.

After a thorough raking, apply a good fertilizer high in nitrogen. The non-burning varieties are easy to use and will give a quick boost without risk to the grass.

Southern Pine lumber manufacturing is the nation's oldest industry, operating continuously since 1608.

Apple Flies Vote for Blue

Flies of the apple maggot reportedly like the color blue.

As a result, orchardists in Connecticut have been advised to hang blue croquet balls treated with a fly-catching sticky substance to help in timing crop-protective sprays.

The sticky traps are rigged to catch flies of the apple maggot.

Begin the Crabgrass Fight Now

What a black name in lawn circles, crabgrass! It conjures visions of creeping evil, unending trouble, in lawn tending.

Certainly crabgrass is an unwanted guest at your house, even though with modern preventives its reputation outranks its importance.

Will you be one of those who plants a lawn this spring, and has crabgrass this summer? Would you then blame your garden store for selling lawn seed that contained crabgrass? If so, you are dead wrong.

Samples from nearly 2,000 lots of grass seed entering commerce were checked for weed contamination. Not a single one showed even a single seed of crabgrass. About 20 million seeds scanned, never a crabgrass spotted!

★ ★ ★

And it could have been a billion with the same end result! Crabgrass does not come with lawn seed.

SEED PRESENT

Crabgrass seed is present in most soils. It can lie there dormant and unsprouted for years. When the seedbed is prepared, air and light cause a few dormant seeds to sprout.

If you have crabgrass in your lawn, the best defense is to maintain a thick turf of perennial grasses. A dense Kentucky bluegrass-fine fescue lawn mowed tall, or a thick sward of Highland bent, resists invasion.

Crabgrass can't fight shade in tall-mown bluegrass any better than it survives under trees.

★ ★ ★

So plant your lawn to long-lasting "fine-textured" grasses.

Plants Poison Small Ones

Do you know that more children under 5 are poisoned by plants than by waxes, polishes and tranquilizers?

* * *

A Northeastern Weed Control Conference was told by a botanist that plants were only slightly less troublesome than insecticides in this respect.

Prof. John M. Kingsbury of Cornell University said that pesticides usually were blamed in cases of poisoning, making it difficult to determin the real culprit — which he said may be a poisonous plant.

More than 700 species of plants in the United States have been recognized as poisonous, Kingsbury said.

* * *

They range from herbs to trees and may be found in every geographical area and under all growing conditions.

HOME GARDENS

Some are even under cultivation in home gardens. Others are found beside roadsides and in sodded pastures or woods.

Kingsbury said knowledge about poisonous plants often is outdated or wrong and some treatments date back to classical Greek observations.

Some plants may not yet be recognized as poisonous, he said, noting that wisteria was first shown to be toxic in 1961.

* * *

Listed among common trees and plants that may cause poisonous reactions were black locust, wild cherry, Oaks, laurels, rhododendrons, yews, bracken, mayapple, bouncing bet, buttercups, star-of-Bethlehem, water hemlock and the root of wild iris.

Cornell has a plant identification center that includes a 100-species collection of living poisonous plants.

To insure safe moving of your house plants to dust or clean, or just to change room decor, they should be in red clay pots, which are rigid and may be picked up by the collar without splitting the pot wall or disturbing the plant root ball.

Rose Garden Brings Color to Landscape

Take any corner of the home property that has plenty of sunshine.

* * *

Plant it to roses and you'll have one of the most artistic and aromatic experiences in the whole flower world.

Rose blooms provide pleasures unlimited for people who like flowers.

Some of the new varieties of roses, the exotic cherry-reds, the soft, yet brilliant pinks, and yellow, the color of a full moon, adorn a home property as never before in history.

* * *

The new colors were not in existence a few years ago.

ADVANCES

More advances have been made with new colors in roses in the past five or ten years than ever.

Much attention also has been paid to aroma and to the beauty of the flower and plant form.

How do you have a superior rose garden? A section of the lawn that has been in grass for several years is an ideal spot.

* * *

Just spade it up, or dig holes wide enough to keep the roots from crowding, and deep enough to provide for planting so the "bud union," as evidenced by what appears to be a node, or knot on the stem, is at ground level.

Leave a few inches leeway both in depth as well as width of the hole. Soak with water so the soil settles around the roots.

No need to use fertilizer when the plants first are set out.

That's all.

But remember to water regularly whenever natural rainfall is insufficient. Roses like plenty of water providing their is good soil drainage.

* * *

Cut rose blooms make attractive flower arrangements inside the home.

Growing on the bush the blooms provide lovely outdoor decorations, a bright spot of color to enliven the whole scene.

1967 All-American Rose Is Sparkling Floribunda

Since the dawn of civilization, one flower, the rose, has captured the fascination and love of man. Today, through research and modern hybridizing technics, modern gardeners can plant the world's prize roses; the All-American Rose Selections award winners.

* * *

And the 1967 AARS prize winner is Roman Holiday, a sparkling new floribunda, with colors of breath-takingly flaming orange-reds and radiant golden yellows.

Floribundas are an ever popular class of rose that bears a generally smaller bloom with flowers produced in profusion in boquet-like clusters all over the plant, giving a mass color effect. With their own distinctive charm, they are favorites for an array of landscaping assignments.

Roman Holiday has dark green leathery foliage, 2½ to 3 inch flowers that open to long-lasting double blooms with a delicate tea fragrance; urn-shaped buds that slowly open to beautiful blooms of 25-30 petals that are produced in generous clusters on a bushy, low-growing plant; and a flower that will bloom all season long.

Howard's award winning hybridizer, Robert V. Lindquist, crossed the pure scarlet "Independence" with the yellow marked pink and salmon "Circus" to get the unique coloration.

Once you set your eyes on this exciting mass of color, you'll know why it is the 1967 All-America Rose Selections Prize Winning Rose and why you'll want to plant this rose in your garden.

The All-America Rose Selections Award is the highest award or honor a rose can earn. An AARS winner comes to you with and endorsement from the entire rose industry . . . a testimonial that says this is truly one of the finest roses in the world.

Opening lead—♣ J

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

North's opening two-club bid was the popular catch-all two-club opening that either shows a strong no-trump hand or a regular forcing two bid in some suit — not necessarily clubs.

JACOBY

South's two-heart call was a positive response and North's two no-trump merely showed that North held a no-trump type hand.

When South rebid to three hearts, North marked him with a six-card suit. After all, South couldn't hold much in high cards. North was looking right at the king, queen and jack.

North probably should have raised from two to three hearts on the record round to make it possible to approach the slam by the cue bid route but now North was forced to go to Blackwood.

* * *

This was not such an unpleasant prospect. He bid four no-trump and when South responded five diamonds West stuck in one of those fatuous doubles. West did have diamonds galore but he did not have the prospect of taking any diamond tricks against a heart slam.

* * *

Furthermore West doubled six diamonds after South had shown one king in response to five no-trumps.

Victor Mollo now goes through North's reasoning process in bidding seven hearts. North counts six hearts, two spades, a spade ruff assuming, as is quite likely, that South will hold three spades, two top clubs, one top diamond finesse for a 13 trick total.

Victor blames West's doubles for getting North to the grand slam. We aren't sure. Maybe North would have bid the grand slam anyway but if he had without West's friendly diamond doubling, South might have played East for the king of diamonds and gone down at seven.

What do you do?

A—Bid five hearts. Four no-trump is a close second choice.

You bid five hearts and your partner bids five no-trump. What do you do now?

West Leaders to Go to Adenauer Rites

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's capital beside the Rhine becomes the temporary captial of the western world next week when President Johnson and other government leaders assemble for the funeral of Konrad Adenauer.

French President Charles de Gaulle, Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other top men of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will also attend the state services Tuesday in Cologne's Roman Catholic Cathedral for the 91-year-old ex-chancellor who rebuilt West Germany from the depths of wartime defeat.

It will be the largest gathering of western government heads since the funeral for President John F. Kennedy in November 1963.

Wall Street's Fingers Crossed

Mart Heads for Another Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street had its fingers crossed early Friday afternoon as the stock market seemed headed for its seventh straight daily advance. Trading was active.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.12 at 881.74, having topped the old March 23 recovery high at the close Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Street technicians were cautious about the six previous sessions which ran up 34 points in the Dow industrials, regarding it as too sharp and too prolonged to be sustained much longer.

Prices rose at the opening but many key stocks were tardy in starting to trade. As the list showed firmness more buying came into the market.

As the session warmed up, gainers outnumbered losers by a ratio of about 6 to 5.

★ ★ ★

The most actively traded issues, however, contained many recent issues which sustained sharp losses on profit taking. Transogram about 2. Gains of a point or so were made by Technicolor, Syntex, H&B American, Electronic Communications, Oak Electro Netics and Unexcelled Inc.

A 3-point jump by du Pont helped to bolster the averages.

Control Data continued as a trading favorite, adding another 2 points or so in brisk activity.

Avco, however, sank a couple of points in heavy profit taking as traders "sold on the news" of terms of an agreement to merge with Paul Revere Corp.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Dynalectron was active and fractionally higher. Mortgage Guaranty Insurance rose about 2½, and

Chicago Area Teamsters Out

D. C. Talks Bog Down; Firms Ask Dirksen Aid

CHICAGO (AP) — Truckers have resumed their strike against eight Chicago area firms as negotiations between trucking associations and Teamsters bogged down in Washington.

Management and labor representatives flew back to Chicago Thursday and the industry's negotiating team scheduled a meeting for Saturday to discuss the situation.

Trucking industry spokesmen in Washington asked Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., to seek government intervention to head off a widespread strike.

They said the new strike could halt even the shipment of food and have a paralyzing effect on national commerce. A combination strike-lockout last week in the Chicago area forced a number of industries to shut local plants.

STATION PICKETS

Teamsters Local 705 Thursday stationed pickets outside the truck firms which employ more than 1,700 drivers, and ordered company officials to recall their vehicles. The firms affected are the Willett Transportation Co., Frank Cordray Motor Service Inc. and the Lasham Cartage Co.

Later five suburban firms were forced to stop service. These are the Crown Point Transfer, Hammond, Ind.; Elgin Storage and Transfer Co., Elgin; Chicago Heights Motor Freight, Inc., Chicago Heights; Nieder Motor Service, Inc., Des Plaines, and Schieck Motor Express, Inc., Joliet.

A union spokesman said the three firms were being shut down because of "their failure to sign a new contract." Management representatives theorized that truckers were "pressuring" the industry.

Some 52,000 drivers, dock workers and warehousemen were involved in last week's five-day stoppage which was suspended at the request of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Wirtz stepped into the Chicago dispute in an effort to avoid resumption of a nationwide teamster wage dispute which had been settled on a tentative basis April 12.

Stamp Revolt Is Over

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Nothing has dropped so abruptly from the news as the housewives' revolt against trading stamps, which just six months ago had the fervor of a Carrie Nation crusade.

CUNNIFF

What is the cause? Is it simply the inevitable conclusion of a typically feminine outburst? Or is there a deeper meaning to be found in this silence?

★ ★ ★

Some irreverent critics suggest that a highly imaginative and effective public relations campaign by the stamp people might have had something to do with calming the irate housewife.

At any rate, the president of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs this week received the achievement award of the Trading Stamp Institute of America, the first woman so honored. Previous winners were merchants.

FAVORS STAMPS

Said Geraldine V. Brown, the president, at the award dinner: "The Board of Directors of the New Jersey Federation thought so highly of the stamp industry that they went on record in the fall in favor of trading stamps."

★ ★ ★

"We went on record in opposition to any bill which might come before the New jersey State Legislature opposing their (stamp) distribution," she said.

Miss Brown was honored because, and was happy because, her organization's clubhouse was built largely through the redemption of trading stamps — on which four different stamp companies paid big bonuses.

The Trading Stamp Institute estimates that one half of the $125,000 needed to build the clubhouse, on the Rutgers University campus, came from stamps collected from members in hundreds of clubs throughout the state.

Various methods were used in computing the bonuses, but in the final analysis it shows that one company, for instance, redeemed 3,000 books of 1,500 stamps at $2 each although the regular redemption value was $1.50. Another gave $2 for $1.20 books. And donations of time, effort and expense also were made.

★ ★ ★

This can be viewed in two ways: as an overt play for favor or as a public service contribution.

The stamp industry prefers to view its public relations as public service or, as one of its service representatives puts it, "a charitable, philanthropic thing."

GOOD WILL

Katherine Rahl, groups savings director of Merchants Green Stamp Co. of Philadelphia, a subsidiary of Food Fair stores, explains:

"Where else can you get such good will? To see a plaque that this building was erected with trading stamps gives people a good feeling. A lot of these women are young housewives. I don't know of a better way to build good will."

★ ★ ★

Merchants Green Stamps Co. last year redeemed for cash some $80,000 to $100,000 of stamps sent in by groups. Since all legitimate groups receive a bonus, one-quarter of this amount is estimated by the company to be a straight donation.

"This costs the company money," Miss Rahl reminds you.

GLAD TO SUPPORT

"But we're pleased to support federated groups and all others. You create a lot of good will."

Generally, a member of a church, club, charity — even a political group — asks the stamp company for information. In reply they receive a letter that the group savings director may visit and discuss the matter.

A staff member of the stamp company then attends a meeting of the organization which might, for instance, want a piano, station wagon — or new clubhouse.

A sample supply of letters may then be given to officers. They choose one and the stamp company then has the letter printed beneath the club's letterhead. No cost for this, nor for advertising flyers that also might be printed.

CAMPAIGN HELP

Instruction is then provided on how to run a campaign. In New Jersey, for example, the state was divided into 11 districts and each member of each club was asked to turn in one book of stamps or $2.

Navy, AF Claim Successes in North Vietnam Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy fliers today reported "severe damage" to Haiphong's two power plants in their raids Thursday which put out the lights in North Vietnam's major port. Air Force pilots claimed major destruction to trains, railyards and storage dumps in simultaneous attacks 20 to 40 miles from Hanoi.

U.S. military headquarters made no announcement of any plane losses in the raids Thursday but confirmed a Communist report that two American planes were lost over North Vietnam Wednesday. The headquarters said the three fliers in the two planes were missing. Hanoi had said one was captured.

Ground action in South Vietnam was reported light but B52 bombers made six raids against enemy positions and troop concentrations. Four of these truck at troop and staging areas in the northern end of the country, increasingly menaced by massing North Vietnamese troops. A fifth raid pounded a major North Vietnamese infiltration route inside the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

The six B52 raids in one day were one short of the record for the bombers, which made seven strikes on Feb. 16.

POWER PLANTS

In the forays against the Hanoi-Haiphong complex Thursday Navy fliers from two aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf concentrated on the two Haiphong power plants, flying through intense antiaircraft and missile fire. The carrier pilots attacked nine antiaircraft sites and 13 missile sites in the Haiphong area, the Navy reported.

One of the power plants attacked was 1.1 miles northwest of the center of Haiphong and within the city limits. It was the first time in the war that a target inside Haiphong was bombed, but Rear Adm. David C. Richardson on the carrier Kitty Hawk said reconnaissance photos taken after the raid showed "very, very few" homes destroyed.

Pilots reported damaging the boiler house, cooling plant and water treatment plant of the power plant.

The other plant was 2 miles northeast of the center of the city and well within its suburbs, the U.S. command said. This plant furnished power for the city, its industry and port. Pilots said their bombing of this plant left Haiphong in darkness Thursday night. They reported the boiler house destroyed and the generator and transformer buildings damaged.

North Vietnam charged that the raiders repeatedly bombed and strafed targets in the heart of Haiphong. The Communists said the attack was "one of the most dangerous steps of their (American) war escalation."

Sales Zoom, Auto Output Hits '67 High

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto production hit a 1967 high this week in the wake of strong sales reports.

The trade publication Automotive News estimated 172,740 cars would be built this week. The previous 1967 high was the 165,898 car output in the second week of January.

The total compared with last week's 149,841 and the 219,489 built in the comparable week last year.

Year-to-date figures showed 2,360,647 cars built thus far in 1967 far below the 3,098,528 built at the same point a year ago.

Truck output amounted to 35,609 units, up from last week's 29,426 but shy of the 40,795 built in the comparable week last year. The year to date tally climbed to 541,482 versus 599,772 at this point a year ago.

CANADIAN OUTPUT

In Canada, auto production this week came to 13,249 units, short of last week's 16,334 and the 17,773 built in the like week of 1966.

Canadian calendar year auto production rose to 233,659 units compared with 271,679 for the like period a year ago.

Canadian truck makers built 5,414 trucks this week compared with 4,405 last week and 4,333 in the like week a year ago. Canadian truck makers have built 75,338 vehicles thus far in 1967, compared with 60,282 in the like period last year.

Rail Commuter Battle Ends

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley yesterday announced success in a three-year fight to maintain railroad commuter service to and from Detroit.

Kelley said the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Wednesday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) for permission to withdraw its petition to discontinue a morning commuter train from Pontiac to Detroit.

The Grand Trunk also has given up in an attempt to discontinue its evening Pullman trains between Detroit and Chicago, Kelley said.

The railroad action followed a federal court order issued April 7 in Detroit requiring the ICC to hold further hearings on the railroad's request to discontinue service.

★ ★ ★

Grand Trunk also has asked the State Public Service Commission to authorize the temporary addition of a third evening commuter train, leaving Detroit around 6 p.m. with stops at Birmingham, Royal Oak, Pontiac and other Oakland County points.

Plans Made to Form Area JC Chapter

A group of 14 men from the Sylvan Lake-Keego Harbor area voted to organize a Jaycee chapter and elected temporary officers during a meeting last night at the Manufacturers National Bank, 2340 Orchard Lake, Sylvan Lake.

Representatives of the Michigan and Waterford Township Jaycees explained purposes and operations of the organization and answered questions at the meeting. A film also was shown.

Jim Cote, extension chairman of the Waterford Township Jaycees, was in charge.

Temporary officers elected last night were Ron Joyner, 1812 Warwick, Sylvan Lake, president; Ralph Harper, secretary; and Fred Goodwin, treasurer.

Goodwin, Al Weiss and Dick Ulasich were chosen to serve on the chapter's constitution and bylaws committee.

Other elected chairmen were Jim Knapp, ways and means; and Tom Rosenthal, membership.

Another phasing-in meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 4 at the bank. Interested young men in the Sylvan Lake-Keego Harbor area between the ages of 21-35 can contact Charles Wood, 4193 Baybrook, Waterford Township.

A minimum of 20 members is required before a Jaycee chapter is eligible to receive a state charter.

Cleanup Slated in South End

Fisher Street Club Aiding Pilot Project

Residents of Fisher Street in Pontiac's south end will get together tomorrow to clean up the area.

The project will get underway at 2 p.m. with members of the Fisher Street Improvement Club directing activities. The club is headed by Mrs. Nancy Gray.

The cleanup program is considered a pilot project that may spread to other parts of the city, according to Butler Cooper, a neighborhood organizer for the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity.

The Pontiac Department of Public Works will send a crew of men and two trucks to assist in the program, Cooper said.

★ ★ ★

Cooper said the worst eyesore is the 20 or more junk cars sitting in the driveways of homes on a two-block stretch of Fisher between Bagley and Frankline.

LOTS CLEARED

Youngsters in the area already have cleared two vacant lots at Fisher and Mohor for their use as a playground.

Club members will meet at 7 p.m. tonight at 199 Fisher to finalize plans for the improvement project.

Postal Savings to Stop Drawing Interest

U.S. postal savings certificates totaling $89,437 which are on deposit at the Pontiac Post Office will cease earning interest next Thursday, Postmaster William W. Donaldson said today.

Postal savings were discontinued April 27, 1966. Certificates whose anniversary dates have been reached since last April 26 have earned their final interest payment, Donaldson added.

Donaldson urged the 361 remaining local depositors to close out their accounts and invest their funds in U.S. Savings Bonds or the New Freedom Shares which will pay 4.74 per cent interest May 1.

On June 30, all remaining funds in the postal savings program will be put into a Treasury Department trust fund until liquidated.

The funds will remain there available for payment without time limitation whenever proper claims are received.

★ ★ ★

Certificates can be redeemed at the post office where issued or by mail.

Nationwide, the Post Office Department is holding more than $90 million in the now obsolete program.

Church in Area Is Broken Into

Burglars escaped with a tape recorder, a television set and $2.50 in cash in a break-in yesterday at Clintonville Church of the Nazarene, 3005 Mann, Waterford Township. The loot is valued at $164, according to township police.

Entry to the building was gained by breaking and unlocking a window, according to police.

More Help Is Needed for Survey on Cancer

More volunteers are needed to gather information for the Cancer Crusade information survey, according to Mrs. William F. Angell, chairman of the local volunteers. The local drive for statistics begins May 1.

★ ★ ★

The crusade, sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation, a United Fund agency, is a house-to-house survey asking residents to fill out questionaires important in the study of possible cancer causes.

Anyone interested in volunteering to help collect research materials should contact Mrs. Angell of 286 Eileen, Bloomfield Township. A volunteer meeting will be held Thursday at 1.30 p.m. at the unit office, 64 W. Lawrence.

The North Oakland Conuty unit of the foundation hopes to canvas some 40,000 homes, according to Mrs. Angell.

Interviews will also be conducted in the rest of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb and Monroe counties.

Questions are aimed at revealing the roles heredity, diabetes and allergies play in breast cancer.

A National Cancer Foundation spokesman said breast cancer kills 26,000 women each year.

Dr. Johannes Clemmesen, director of Denmark's Cancer Registry who is in town discussing the crusade, hailed the study plans.

"Cancer can't be cured with statistics," he said. "But you'll never know how to cure it without statistics. There's no doubt this campaign will be useful."

Burglars Hit City Home, Gas Station

Burglars struck a downtown service station and a home on Pontiac's near north side in two break-ins reported yesterday to city police.

William Clack, 33, owner of Clack's Sunoco Service, 161 W. Huron, told police $300 cash and a rural-type mailbox valued at $60 were taken from the station early yesterday.

Clack said the theft occurred in the absence of a watchdog usually left in the station at night.

Police said entry to the building was gained by breaking an overhead section of glass on the front door.

★ ★ ★

A set of wedding and engagement rings worth $500 and a $75 transistor radio were reported missing from his home yesterday by John Samuilow, 20 of 475 Valencia.

Samuilow told investigators he left home about 11:45 a.m. and returned about an hour later to discover the break-in.

Police said the house had been entered by someone who apparently drilled a large hole in the front door, then reached through and opened the door from the inside.

Carson Return to Be Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Carson will be back on the "Tonight" television show Monday.

Carson says he will return with "new enthusiasm" after his lawyers and the National Broadcasting Co. announced Thursday that the star and the network had settled their differences.

* * *

The comedian, whose weekly salary had been on the order of $15,000, will receive a "substantial increase." The amount was not revealed.

Carson said earlier that he was seeking certain personnel changes in the show. It was reported Thursday that Art Stark, the late-night show's producer, and an associate, John Carsey, would be given new assignments.

BREACHED CONTRACT

Carson left the show during the AFTRA strike against the networks, charging that NBC had breached his contract in showing taped reruns of his performances.

Carson said later that money was only "partly" the issue in the dispute. He was reported to have won concessions on personal appearances and the possibility of doing specials for the network.

ARE TV SERVICE DEALERS GYPS?
Service technicians are not fly-by-night businessmen. 99 out of 100 run their businesses properly. The other one per cent — the gyps — can usually be spotted a mile away. Nine times out of ten, they are the shops that feature "bargain" prices and ridiculously liberal service contracts. And their victims are generally set owners who expect to beat the game by "getting something for nothing."

CRITICIZE FEDERAL POWER — Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen (right) of Illinois and House GOP leader Gerald Ford of Michigan criticized what they termed the growing extension of federal power. At their weekly news conference yesterday, Dirksen said the major feature of President Johnson's "creative federalism" appears to be a determination to bypass state governments.

Livestock Auction Marks End of Showplace Farm

OWOSSO (AP) — A livestock auction today at St. Louis marked the beginning of the end for one of Michigan's showplace farms.

More than 1,000 head of feeder steers as well as angus breeding cattle from Alvin M. Bentley began a move to Central America where he will again enter the cattle business.

Bentley, the son of former U.S. Congressman Alvin M. Bentley, has announced that he will leave Michigan to set up another farm in British Honduras. The senior Bentley is chairman of the project, Michigan Partners of the Alliance with British Honduras.

The auction, termed one of the biggest of its kind in the state in recent years, was expected to gross more than $150,000, said officials of the Michigan Livestock Exchange.

The young steer calves were shipped from Texas earlier this year. They are chiefly cross-bred angus-herefords, weighing 350 pounds to 650 pounds.

The main 600 acres of Maplewood Farms probably will be leased, the younger Bentley said.

GOP Chiefs Hit Federal Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said Thursday the major feature of President Johnson's "creative federalism" appears to be a determination to bypass state government and deal "under Washington-controlled terms, with local authorities."

"This is neither creative nor is it federalism," the Illinois senator said. "It is instead cremative and is likely to consume us all."

* * *

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said at a joint news conference that "the ruthless extension of federal authority, financing and control grows with every day that passes.

"With it grows the increased and corrosive dependence of our people on Washington," Ford said.

Nixon to Beat Romney, Editors Feel

TAKE OVER PAGES

GEORGE ROMNEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sample survey indicates newspaper editors predominantly believe Richard M. Nixon will override a strong challenge from Michigan's Gov. Romney and other potential candidates to win the Republican nomination for president in 1968.

★ ★ ★

Fifty-one of 103 editors interviewed at random during the 1967 convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors here said they thought Nixon will get the top spot on the GOP ticket next year. The editors were asked who they personally thought would be nominated, not who they preferred.

Romney was endorsed by 33 editors, many of whom cited his early start in the campaign. Two others — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois won top dark horse ratings with nine votes each. Newly elected California Gov. Ronald Reagan got one endorsement.

John Fitzgerald, editor of the Pontiac Press, is attending the ASNE meetings this week.

The editors also were asked who they thought would head the Democrat ticket next year. They found the answer easy: All 103 named President Johnson, with Hubert H. Humphrey getting strong support to again serve as vice president.

Not all the editors who named Nixon to head next year's GOP ticket were sure it's a good thing. "He'll come back but he'll get the hell beat out of him if he does," said Robert C. Herrick, editor of the Muskegon, Mich., Chronicle. "Romney is running too fast and too soon," he added.

'NOT HAPPY ABOUT IT'

Frank Eyerly, managing editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, picked Johnson and Nixon to face each other in 1968. "And I'm not happy about it in either case," he said.

But others cited Nixon's knowledge of foreign affairs and his record as a hard-working GOP campaigner. "They owe him," said George Passage of the New-Port News, R.I., Daily Press Inc.

Jesse Earle Bowden, editor-in-chief of the Pensacola, Fla., News-Journal, said Nixon "has the best chance of putting both ends of the party together."

Clayton Kirkpatrick, managing editor of the Chicago Tribune, added: "He seems to have the organization."

'FRONT RUNNER

Support for Romney was linked to his early campaign start. "He's the front-runner," said Cy King, executive editor of the Buffalo Courier-Express.

Death Deadlocks House

LANSING (AP) — State Rep. James S. Nunneley, a first-term Republican from Mount Clemens who seldom missed an appointment and seldom spoke on the floor of the House, died last night in his Capitol Building office.

The quiet, 56-year-old widower apparently suffered a heart attack shortly after 9 p.m., when he returned from dinner following a lengthy House Republican caucus.

Nunneley was the second Michigan legislator to die this year.

House Democratic leader Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit suffered a stroke March 16, also in the Capitol Building, and died two days later.

Nunneley's death leaves the House deadlocked again, with 54 Republicans and 54 Democrats.

SPECIAL ELECTION

Gov. Romney will schedule a special election to fill his 75th District seat. Romney previously picked May 23 as the date to fill Kowalski's seat.

The Legislature's current schedule sets May 19 as the final date for passing bills.

Funeral services for Nunneley were scheduled tentatively for Monday at First Presbyterian Church in Mount Clemens, with burial in the family plot in Clinton Grove Cemetery.

Fellow legislators today praised their Macomb County colleague, who defeated incumbent Democrat Victor R. Steeh of Mount Clemens in 1966 after losing to him two years earlier.

He was a very capable legislator," said House Republican Floor Leader William Hampton of Bloomfield Hills. "He was self-contained and not overly vocal on the floor, but he was very well versed in the various activities of the Legislature and he was a promising legislator."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Robert C. Stites, R-Manitou Beach, who ate dinner with Nunneley and then, less than an hour later, tried to save his life with artificial respiration, said the Mount Clemens lawmaker had appeared in perfect health as they joked earlier in the evening.

OCC Trustees Okay Revised Tuition Fees

New tuition fees which will make it more expensive for the full-time student at Oakland Community College will go into effect this fall.

OCC's Board of Trustees passed a new tuition plan last night which encourages students to take less than 12 credit hours per session.

Tuition will now be $9 per credit hour rather than the present uneven scale.

In effect, most part-time students will be paying anywhere from $13 less than the current rates to about $1 more.

★ ★ ★

Taking more than 12 credits will now be an expensive proposition. Currently, full-timers taking more than 12 credits pay a flat rate of $103 but this fall they will have to pay anywhere from $5 to $77 more.

"The new plan will motivate the student not to take an overload of credits," OCC President Dr. John E. Tirrell told the trustees. "The current plan puts a hardship on students taking one or two courses."

Almost half of OCC's full- and part-time students are taking 12 and 13 credits, according to an OCC survey.

Under the new plan, a one-time $15 matriculation fee for new students taking six or more hours would be charged.

A $10 enrollment fee is currently being levied. Credit rates are currently $10 each for 1 to 3 credits, $7 for 4 to 12 credits and $103 total for 13 credits or more.

WALTER P. REUTHER

Push for a 35-Hour Week Left Up to UAW Delegates

DETROIT (AP) — Although some delegates forecast a strike would be necessary to win major goals already on the table, Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president, has agreed to let his union vote on adding a 35-hour week to 1967 contract demands.

Some 3,000 delegates attending a goals-setting convention of the 1.4-million-member union will vote on the resolution.

Reuther has pleaded for "flexibility" when he begins bargaining in early July on new agreements with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. He has opposed writing any dollars-and-cents or hours-per-week figures into demands.

But under pressure from dissidents, led by a group of delegates from Cleveland, Ohio, Reuther agreed Thursday to let a 35-hour week proposal come to a vote later.

★ ★ ★

Ray Battestilli of Utica, Mich., and Tom Bradford of Dearborn, Mich., were among delegates predicting from the floor a strike would be necessary to win a substantial wage increase, a guaranteed annual income, parity for Canadian auto workers, higher and earlier pensions and a major portion of other demands recommended by Reuther.

STRUGGLE

"I believe we're going to have a hell of a struggle and I believe we are going to have to hit the bricks," said Battestilli, who forecast that if a strike comes "LBJ will call in Walter Reuther and say, 'We can't have this disrupting the economy with a war going on,' "

Forecast Is Clearing, Cooler

Clearing skies and cooler temperatures were expected to follow in the wake of a steady drizzle which fell in the Pontiac area throughout last night and early today.

Light showers had given way to a fog-like mist by midmorning, with the weatherman predicting mild conditions to linger only until an onset of westerly winds tonight.

Considerable cloudiness and brisk southerly breezes will prevail until early this evening.

Lows of 38 to 44 are anticipated tonight with the shifting winds. Tomorrow's highs 50 to 55 are not expected to approach this afternoon's temperatures.

A wet 40 degrees was the low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury registered 56 at 1 p.m.

King Puts Military in Control of Greece

ROME (AP) — Young King Constantine of Greece put the army in control of his country today to block leftist opponents of the monarchy.

A course in the Greek Embassy in Rome said the embassy had been advised from Athens that the election of a new Greek Parliament would be held on schedule May 28 despite the military takeover.

"We have been informed," said the source, "that the coup was staged to assure public order and prevent any extremist revolution during the period preceding the election."

He added that the embassy was told the country was completely calm.

The Athens army radio announced that the military had taken over the Balkan member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at midnight under a proclamation signed by the 26-year-old king, conservative Premier Panayiotis Canellopoulos and his cabinet.

CLIMAXES STRUGGLE

The power move climaxed a 21-month struggle between the king and the two leaders of the powerful leftist Center Union party, 80-year-old former Premier George Papandreou and his son Andreas, 48, a former American citizen.

The Papandreous had been scheduled to open their campaign for the May 28 parliamentary elections on Sunday.

The Greek police feared they would touch off widespread demonstrations against the king.

An $825,000 gift in bonds to Oakland University from the late Ormond E. Hunt of General Motors Corp. was accepted yesterday for OU by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees in East Lansing.

The donor's bequest will cancel the indebtedness on the OU's Hill House, a six-story women's dormitory which was opened for 200 coeds in the fall of 1964.

Hill House was the first of OU's six dormitories, all of which were built through self-liquidating revenue bond issues.

Hunt, a Bloomfield Hills pioneer automotive engineer who died Jan. 3 at age 83, purchased OU dormitory revenue bonds in the amount of $825,000 in 1964. The money was used to finance the construction of Hill House on the OU campus.

★ ★ ★

In his will, Hunt stipulated that upon his death the bonds would be given to MSU's trustees, the governing body of OU. He had received interest on the bonds.

'GREAT FRIEND'

"Ormond Hunt was a great friend of young people in general and Oakland University in particular," Chancellor D. B. Varner said.

"On many occasions he expressed the view that Oakland University provided an opportunity for citizens of this community to join hands in the building of a distinguished educational institution in their own area.

"We are deeply indebted to Ormond Hunt, not only for his generous financial bequest, but for his continuing counsel and support during these formative years."

★ ★ ★

Hunt, a member of GM's board of directors, was a charter member of Oakland University Foundation's Chancellor's Club Committee until his death.

A leading developer of technical facilities at General Motors, he was executive vice president of GM at the time of his retirement in 1949.

Value of 'Death Strip' Being Bulldozed in

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — American and Vietnamese bulldozers are gouging out a 12-mile-long "death strip" in the jungle south of the demilitarized zone that appears to be of questionable military value and certain to cause a high toll of American casualties.

U.S. military spokesmen in Da Nang refuse to discuss the subject. Senior Marines say the part of the strip above their positions near the demilitarized zone is being cleared only to give their troops a better field of fire.

★ ★ ★

Officials in Saigon have claimed the strip is designed to make any invasion of South Vietnam certain to cost the enemy high casualties. But competent South Vietnamese and American sources agree that the main routes of infiltration from North Vietnam are far west of the strip being cut from Con Thien east to the South China Sea.

They also agree the strip will do nothing to halt heavy artillery, rocket and mortar attacks that have hammered American forward positions. Enemy gunners can fire effectively from well north of the strip.

A DEATH ZONE

A South Vietnamese regimental commander said the entire length of the strip would be turned into a death zone with pillboxes, mine fields, barbed wire and watchtowers guarding it — like the Maginot Line that failed to save France from the Germans in World War II.

★ ★ ★

An American source said he understood that the South Vietnamese government is pressing to make the zone 1,000 yards wide — instead of 220 yards as now planned — and to extend it from the sea to the Laotian border, a distance of 45 miles.

★ ★ ★

At the present rate of American casualties per yard cleared, this could mean about 1,300 dead or wounded U.S. troops as a result of mine and mortar attacks. The first 2.6 miles cost 66 casualties and dangerous areas still are ahead.

The strip idea appears to have been aimed originally at improving fields of fire but has become a much larger proposal being pushed by the Saigon government.

ROUTE FORMED

Even if the strip was driven through the rugged mountains to the Laotian border, it would only force the North Vietnamese infiltrators to detour through Laos. Well established, all weather roads already form this route.

Military sources agree that the grand Vietnamese plan for a fortified zone, if put into effect, would require large numbers of allied troops to protect it. A Marine source said the North Vietnamese would be able to punch through the zone with relative ease unless a vast number of defenders manned it.

Rubber Union Strikes 3 of 4 Major Firms

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The United Rubber Workers Union struck three of the big four rubber companies today as contracts expired at midnight. More than 50,000 union jobs were affected.

★ ★ ★

It was the first company-wide strike since 1965 when the rubber workers manned picket lines against the U.S. Rubber Co., now Uniroyal.

A union spokesman said it was the biggest since 1959 when the union called walkouts against the same companies struck early today — the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., the B.F. Goodrich Co., and Uniroyal.

★ ★ ★

Word of the breakdown in Firestone negotiations came at about 10:30 p.m. Thursday. The Goodrich strike was announced shortly after midnight, and Uniroyal was struck a few minutes later.

LBJ, Kiesinger to Talk in Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Johnson has asked for a special meeting with West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger when he comes to Bonn next week for Konrad Adenauer's funeral, a spokesman said today.

★ ★ ★

Karl Guenther Von Hase, the government press chief, said Kiesinger welcomed the request. No time has been set for the meeting, he added.

President Charles de Gaulle of France and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson will also be in Bonn for the funeral service Tuesday. Von Hase said any meetings among the leaders would be their concern.

★ ★ ★

A report from Washington Thursday night said that while it was known Johnson wanted to confer with Kiesinger, any other sessions with leaders of the western world during the funeral trip were considered highly unlikely.

Photos Show Surveyor Bounced Twice Before Resting Arm Is Extended

Surveyor to Scratch Lunar Soil Tonight

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 3 extended a shaky, tubular arm today but did not attempt to scratch the moon's pitted hide.

★ ★ ★

Trenching of the lunar soil may come sometime after 7 p.m. EST today when Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists resume remote control operation of the three-legged spacecraft's scoop.

The scissor-type extension arm with a two-by-five-inch shovel on the end began reaching out from the craft at 4:56 a.m. EST in two-second steps, a few inches at a time. The spacecraft's camera, mounted just above the arm, photographed each jerky movement and televised a series of pictures.

The arm was left extended about 50 inches a couple of feet above the moon's surface as controllers halted the operation shortly before 6 a.m. EST when the earth's rotation carried the tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., out of view of the moon. The operations will be resumed as the moon rises over Goldstone tonight.

SUB-SURFACE PHOTOS

One of the first movements tonight may be to drop the shovel onto the surface, testing the bearing strength for future manned landings. Scientists also hope Surveyor will dig a trench and for the first time photograph the soil beneath the surface.

Scientists said Surveyor's arm movements quelled earlier fears that the soil-sampler's electronic equipment had been damaged shortly after the craft touched down Wednesday night in a 20-foot-deep crater of the moon's dry Ocean of Storms.

★ ★ ★

As the lunar sunrise continued, glare from the spacecraft that had marred early photographs became negligible. A spokesman said photographs radioed back were "as sharp as any from the prolific Surveyor 1 last June."

The photos show a boulder-strewn landscape, pocked by craters at 10 to 50 yards from the spacecraft.

POWER DRAIN

Explaining the possible impairment of the soil-sampling mechanism, a spokesman recalled that soon after touchdown there were indications in telemetry data of a power drain on the craft's battery.

"We began shutting down auxiliary systems, one by one," he said, "to see if we could confirm a power drain."

★ ★ ★

It was during this time, he said, that heaters protecting the scoop mechanism were turned off. As a result, portions of the mechanism were subjected to temperatures of minus-90 degrees fahrenheit.

Project controllers said plastic and metal parts may have shrunk, cracked or suffered other damage.

COLOR PICTURES

In its picture-taking, Surveyor 3 occasionally used a red, green or orange filter. The photos are received in black and white, but experts can reconstitute the filter effects, combine them and obtain color pictures.

Pictures transmitted soon after the lunar landing were indistinct due to sun glare. By Thursday afternoon, however, the sun was at a more advantageous angle.

OPEN-AIR RIDE—Dr. Carl A. Coppolino and his wife, Mary, are shown leaving court yesterday at Naples, Fla., in a convertible. Earlier in the day, Dr. Coppolino complained of being ill, and court was recessed early for lunch. Yesterday afternoon, however, Dr. Coppolino said he was feeling better. He is on trial for first-degree murder in the death of his first wife, Carmela.

'Battle of Experts' in Coppolino Trial

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — The "battle of the experts," as defense attorney F. Lee Bailey put it, has begun in earnest in the murder trial of Dr. Carl Coppolino.

Bailey put his first expert medical witness on the stand Thursday to testify that the doctor's wife, Carmela, did not die of an injection of succinylcholine.

Prosecution experts, in six days of testifying, backed up the state's charge that Coppolino murdered his wife with a lethal injection of the paralyzing drug on Aug. 28, 1965.

Prosecutors claim the 34-year-old anesthesiologist was in financial trouble and wanted to collect $65,000 life insurance on Carmela and marry a rich divorcee, Mary Gibson.

The first defense witness, research biochemist Dr. John C. Smith, said he injected live rats with lethal doses of radioactive succinylcholine, then traced and measured it.

He said he made chemical tests on tissue taken from the track of a needle puncture on the dead woman's exhumed body and concluded "the level of choline was not consistent with a lethal injection of succinylcholine."

State and defense experts agreed that succinylcholine rapidly breaks down in the body to form succinic acid and choline. Largely because of this, the drug has been considered undetectable after death.

Dr. Charles J. Umberger, chief toxocologist for the New York City medical examiner, testified last week that he found enough succinic acid in Carmela's brain to conclude that she died of "a toxic overdose" of the drug.

News Curb Hit, Then Practiced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's new chief news spokesman told Congress Thursday too much defense news is kept secret — then before nightfall withheld from newsmen the location of two unbombed North Vietnamese power plants.

Phil G. Goulding, Arthur Sylvester's successor as assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, named 10 previously hit power-generating plants but told Pentagon reporters the locations of two other principal electrical facilities couldn't be disclosed.

★ ★ ★

This refusal was viewed as a likely sign they are marked for future targets. Some sources believe the plants are within the immediate Hanoi area.

As news reached the United States that American planes had knifed into the heart of Haiphong to bomb two thermal power units Thursday, Goulding was telling members of Congress that more military news ought to be freed for public use.

Infants' Case Arrest Likely

New leads in the discovery of the bodies of newborn twins Wednesday in Shelby Township were expected to result in an arrest later today, according to Shelby Township Police Detective Glen McAlpine.

The bodies were found at 6:55 p.m. in a recreation area along Ryna Road. Wrapped in newspaper, bed sheets and a plastic cleaning bag, the infants, a boy and a girl, were taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mount Clemns, for autopsies.

Findings showed air in the lungs of the male baby, leading investigators to believe he had lived for an undetermined period of time.

School Census Set for May

BIRMINGHAM — Census takers will be rapping on doors in the school district next month.

School officials point out these persons can be identified by a badge which will be issued. All information gathered is confidential and will not be used for anything but school purposes, officials added.

Census takers will determine the number of children living in the district, a figure which will help determine the amount of state school aid funds to be received.

Information will also give a count of adults to be used in planning bus routes and future school sites and also update the district's mailing list.

Winners of the poster contest held by Baldwin Public Library in conjuction with library Week this week have been announced.

The posters have been on display and some of them will be used in future library activities.

WINNERS

First place in the junior group (grades 7-9) was captured by Teresa Honnold of 2227 Dorchester, Birmingham. Senior high winner was J. Thomas Gregersen of 2359 Lost Tree, Bloomfield Township.

College group winner was Mrs. Merritt Hulburd of 660 Waddington, Bloomfield Hills.

Other winners included:

Juniors — Brian Schenk of 4027 Spur Hill, Bloomfield Twp., and Dale Rankin of 31760 Auburn, Beverly Hills High school — Bob Kilpatrick of 183 Hupp Cross, Bloomfield Hills, and Tom Fisher of 480 S. Evansdale, Bloomfield Township; College — Mrs. S. B. Shuster of 815 Madison, Birmingham.

The newly formed string orchestra for youth has created a stir of interest among junior musicians and 96 turned out for preliminary rehearsals.

★ ★ ★

George V. Cripps, coordinator of music for the school district, extends an invitation to string players of nonpublic schools to join the group.

Future rehearsals will be held on May 10, 24, 31, at Seaholm High, starting at 7:30 p.m. A public performance is planned for June 4.

School Board Gets Report in Waterford

The citizens' school finance study committee of the Waterford Township School District presented its series of 12 recommendations to the board of education last night.

Based on a six-week study in the areas of finance, future needs, personnel and program, the recommendations were well-received by board members.

The board praised the several citizens who served on the committee for their efforts and gave assurance that the recommendations would receive serious consideration.

The recommendations were made public at the study committee's final meeting Tuesday night at Pierce Junior High School.

At that time, committee members were surveyed on each recommendation. Results of the survey were disclosed at last night's board meeting.

The committee accepted all 12 suggestions, but some were more strongly supported than others.

MOST POPULAR

Among the most popular recommendations based on the survey are:

- If it is determined that additional millage is required or desired, the board should be specific in what the added funds would provide (47 in favor, 1 against).
- The board is urged to inform legislators of its own and of this committee's endorsement of state fiscal reform as a means to more adequate school finance (47 for, 1 against).
- The board is encouraged to maintain its competitive position in staff salaries (46 for, 1 against).
- The board should not call an election involving either millage renewal or increase in June (45 for, 3 against).

★ ★ ★

- The board should continue to apply present priorities in the use of its funds (42 for, 3 against).
- The board should at least maintain the present pupil-teacher ratio (40 for, 4 against).

BENEFITS

- Fringe benefits paid school employes should be studied and consideration should be given to include life insurance, sickness and accident insurance and salary continuation benefits. (42 for, 5 against).
- While school boundary lines should be adjusted periodically, the committee recommends against busing small groups of children between schools to balance class loads (41 for, 5 against).
- The next millage election should be planned for June 1968 or possibly in the fall of 1967 if economic conditions are favorable (43 for, 5 against).

★ ★ ★

Other recommendations are:

- Taxing authority should be sought for a five-year period (39 for, 6 against).
- The board is encouraged to improve the quality of its program by providing additional personnel in the following areas: elementary library (27-12), elementary physical ducation (29-11), elementary art (22-18), community school program (40-9) and instrumental music (22-14).
- The board is urged to consider the following recommendations also: continue the long-range site purchase program (44-3), encourage still wider use of schools and school sites as recreation and after-hour education centers (42-4), study the 12-month school year (23-22), daytime facilities for adult education (33-14), seek additional male elementary school teachers (40-3), expand in-service education opportunities emphasizing summer study (45-1) and improve articulation between grades six and seven (38-4).

340 Await Graduation at OU, OCC

For some 340 students who attend Oakland University and Oakland Community College this weekend will be either a joyous or sad one, depending on how you look at it.

More than 200 OU and 140 OCC students will receive degrees at commencement exercises tomorrow and Sunday, respectively.

Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton, president of the University of Hawaii, is the speaker at OU's ceremonies at 3 p.m. in the Sports and Recreation Building.

Dr. James A. Lewis, professor of education at the University of Michigan, will address the graduates at the first OCC exercises. It will be held at 2:30 p.m. in the Southfield High School auditorium, Lahser and 10 Mile Road.

OCC's Budget Gets Final OK

General Fund Outlay Million Above '66-67

A $5.6-million budget for Oakland Community College was unanimously approved by the board of trustees last night with little public opposition.

Total general fund expenditures in the new document are nearly $1 million more than the current year, primarily due to the scheduled partial opening of the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township this fall.

Chief source of income in the 1967-68 budget will be an estimated $2.7 million from the 1 mill local tax. A major expenditure will be about $1.4 million for the Highland Lakes campus.

More than $10.7 million is expected to be spent from the building and site fund. About 19.8 million of it is requested for completion of the Orchard Ridge campus.

★ ★ ★

Salaries for OCC's president and three vice presidents will not increase but trustees voted a change in the social security, state retirement and insurance program as noncontributory on their part.

INSTRUCTORS

Instructional staff will not receive any additional raises except their normal increments, President Dr. John E. Tirrell explained.

★ ★ ★

Trustee David W. Hackett proposed that instructors get the same added benefits, but his motion was soundly defeated when it was estimated that it would cost the college an additional $225,000.

James W. Hobson, vice president for business, reported that the mean faculty salary for 1967-68 will be $9,000 compared to $8,250 this year.

Principals Set at Mott, Crary

Two key administrative positions were filled by the Waterford Township Board of Education last night for the 1967-68 school year.

Based on the recommendation of Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe and a screening committee which interviewed applicants, the board appointed Richard E. Terry of Lansing principal of Charles S. Mott High School and Richard Higginbotham principal of Crary Junior High School.

TERRY Higginbotham currently is assistant principal at the district's Pierce Junior High School.

The 42-year-old Terry now is principal of Waverly High School in Lansing, a position he has held for two years.

The holder of bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Wisconsin, he has had numerous experiences as a school administrator.

★ ★ ★

Before coming to Lansing, Terry held a high school principal's job for four years in Joliet, Ill. He was employed for six years with the Milwaukee, Wis., school system where he served as a teacher, department head, vice principal and principal of Brookfield High School.

Terry currently is working toward a doctorate at Michigan State University. He is married.

Higginbotham, 32, has held his present position at Pierce Junior High School for two years.

A product of the Mott fellowship program in Flint, he formerly was principal of Howard Community High School and taught history and government at Niles and Quincy.

Higginbotham holds bachelor's and master's degrees and an education specialist diploma from Michigan State University. He is married and has two children.

OCC Tuition Rates

Oakland Community College Board of Trustees last night passed new tuition rates for the fall which amount to $9 per credit hour. A sampling of the new and old rates follow:

State House OKs 18 Bills in Busiest Day of Session

LANSING (AP) — Elections, water companies and fishing shanties were among the subjects of 18 bills passed by the House Thursday, its most productive day so far.

With the existing deadline for action on bills in the house of origin just a week away, the House has been meeting morning and afternoon to consider the 250-plus bills on its calendar.

* * *

Republican and Democratic negotiators, meanwhile, have been trying to work out a compromise tax package which can be adopted next week without a time-consuming and possibly futile floor fight.

* * *

Passed in the House Thursday was a bill providing penalties for soliciting absentee ballot fraud. A measure to require special ballots, obtained in advance, for write-in votes was defeated, then revived and dropped to the bottom of the calendar.

JAIL AND FINE

Inducing or attempting to induce another person to fraudulently apply for an absentee ballot would be punishable by up to a 90-day jail sentence and a $500 fine under a bill sponsored by Rep. Raymond Hood, D-Detroit.

Also passed was a bill giving the State Public Service Commission regulatory authority over nonmunicipal water companies having 125 or more customers.

* * *

The commission would be empowered to set rates, audit financial records, and approve or veto extension or abandonment of services. Rep. James Callahan, D-Mount Morris, sponsored the bill.

A measure introduced by Rep. James Nunneley, R-Mount Clemens, would require all fishing shanties to feature the owner's name and address on all sides. Shanties could not be left on Lake St. Clair overnight after Feb. 15.

Other bills approved by the House would give the votes of a deceased candidate for governor to the same party's lieutenant governor candidate, raise mine inspectors' terms from two years to four, and require that school buses carry no more than 110 per cent of the manufacturer-rated passenger capacity.

2 Senate Leaders in Vote Fund Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unprecedented row between the Senate's two top Democratic leaders left uncertain today the future of a bitterly controversial presidential election campaign financing plan.

* * *

OPEN BREAK

Both men finally said "a failure of communication" appeared to have led to a misunderstanding which resulted in the sharp words.

But veteran senators said they could not recall when there had been such an open break between two top party leaders.

There have been some private disagreements between Mansfield and Long since the Louisianian became the assistant leader in 1965, but nothing like Thursday's public airing.

* * *

The dispute broke out after Long had won what seemed an important victory in his protracted battle to save the campaign financing plan enacted into law last year.

This came on a 46-42 Senate vote to adopt a Long-sponsored tax bill rider which would have continued the election financing plan in a slightly revised form.

EARLIER POSITION

The vote reversed the Senate's position of a week earlier. Then it had adopted 48 to 42 a rider to repeal the plan.

Long had told newsmen this was to be followed by a Mansfield motion to strip from the bill all extraneous riders adopted during four weeks of floor consideration — including those affecting the campaign financing plan.

Then, he said, the Senate would pass the tax measure without amendment and with a directive to the finance committee, which Long heads, to study all of the extraneous riders and report on them.

But when Mansfield offered his motion, it proposed to leave intact one rider to the bill — a repealer of the campaign financing plan effective July 31.

Long, flushed and clearly unhappy, at once declared he was completely surprised by this and never would agree to it.

Mansfield insisted he still favored the campaign subsidy plan and that he did not intend to repeal it. He pointed out that his motion called for a study of the problem and a report by Long's committee in six weeks.

But Long said that, with repeal, he would be in an impossible position. Any attempt to revive the plan could be "talked to death" in the Senate, he said.

Other backers of the plan said if it were repealed, it never would be reenacted in the House — where Republicans have many more votes than they did last year. Senate Republicans have raised solid opposition to the proposal.

Protest Halted in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — For the third night in a row, police stopped open housing advocates before they could march. They fired tear gas at more than 700 white hecklers, and made at least 85 arrests, including two self-professed members of the American Nazi party.

The scene Thursday night again was the city's all-white South End.

★ ★ ★

The jeering crowd of whites, mostly teen-agers, turned over an empty police cruiser, threw rocks, bottles, and firecrackers, and taunted police after they were held about three blocks from the 70 demonstrators.

Placards with swastikas and the words, "Back to Africa," and "white power" were distributed among the hecklers.

★ ★ ★

Two men who said they were members of the American Nazi party, Fred Francis Catalano, 29, and Christopher Vidnjevich, 23, both of Chicago, were arrested for "criminal syndicalism." They wore street clothes.

★ ★ ★

The charge under Kentucky law prohibits persons from "aiding or counseling" a crime or physical violence "to accomplish any political end to bring about political revolution."

The charge, the first felony filed by police in three weeks of housing demonstrations, carries a maximum penalty of 21 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Great Lakes' Levels Rising

DETROIT (AP)—Great Lakes water levels continued to rise during the month of April reports the Lake Survey, conducted by U. S. Army engineers.

★ ★ ★

Highest rise in the past 30 days was 11 inches in Lake Ontario, now at 244 feet. This is three inches above the same point last month and one inch above this point in 1966.

Lakes Michigan, Huron, St. Clair and Erie were up seven inches from the same point last month. Lakes Michigan and Huron were up an inch from April 1966, and St. Clair and Erie were up five inches from a year ago.

★ ★ ★

Engineers said current information points to a continued rise in May, but 14 to 48 inches below the highest recorded stage in 1951 and 1952.

King's Army Seizure Latest Step in Turbulent Greece

By GERALD MILLER

ROME (AP) — The monarchy's military power seizure in Greece today opened a new but not unexpected chapter in the struggle between the right and the left in the turbulent Balkan member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The decision of young King Constantine to suspend normal constitutional procedure and put the army in control had been building for nearly two years as a result of his struggle with former Premier George Papandreou and Papandreou's American-educated son, Andreas.

Rumors and speculation had been growing for weeks that the 26-year-old monarch was becoming increasingly convinced that a period of dictatorship was necessary to avoid grave internal disorder and to save the monarchy.

He has a modern precedent in his own family. His uncle, King George II, gave his consent in 1936 to a dictatorship by Gen. John Metaxas to balk the threat of a Communist take-over. The dictatorship lasted until Metaxas died in 1941.

MASSIVE U.S. AID

Constantine's father, King Paul, became king after the war and with massive American help was able to guide Greece through the years of Communist insurrection and into NATO without resorting to dictatorship.

News Analysis.

When Paul died March 6, 1964, and his son succeeded at the age of 23, many supporters of the monarchy feared the consequences.

Constantine was handsome and popular but had seemed interested mostly in sports, racing cars and pretty girls. But, as king, he showed toughness and lack of fear in facing his strongest political opponents.

Where his father was conciliatory, Constantine was strong-willed. He and the Papandreous clashed head-on in a fight over forces.

ROYAL PREROGATIVES

The Papandreous and their leftist followers fought to make the king a largely ceremonial figure who reigned but did not rule. Constantine fought to save royal prerogatives to guide the country.

Fearing a left-wing plot among pro-Papandreou army officers to oust the monarchy and take Greece out of NATO, he fired the elder Papandreou from the premiership on July 15, 1965.

★ ★ ★

From that moment, the struggle that led to today's power move was joined.

Clearly the king felt that only a dictatorial clamp-down on his opposition could keep order in the country. The Papandreous had been scheduled to open their campaign Sunday for the May 28 national election. Police feared it would touch off widespread demonstrations.

Both the U.S. government and the king's father-in-law, King Frederik of Denmark, were reported to have advised Constantine against the action he took.

Frederik was reported to have sent Constantine a personal message advising against dictatorial action. The U.S. Embassy in Athens was said to have conveyed to Constantine earlier this month the word that Washington considered a dictatorship unwise.

Forest Fire Drill

GRAYLING (AP) — A dozen northern Lower Michigan counties will take part in a fire support drill May 18 at Camp Grayling. County, local, state and federal agencies will participate in the exercise to alert and evacuate residents and vacationers in the event of a forest fire. Tree Shortage Is Negligible

The strong nationwide drive for beautification has caused no significant shortages of trees and shrubs in regular sizes this year, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

★ ★ ★

Regular sizes in trees, up to 2½ inches trunk diameter are in good supply and are readily available, it is said.

In the past five years, there has been a gradual increase in the size of trees demanded by consumers impatient to wait for them to grow larger, but nowhere has the demand greatly outstripped the supply except in some of the rarer genera and species and this always has been the case.

In the larger diameters, from 3 inches and up there are shortages in some species in certain areas, where the demand for large trees has accelerated.

★ ★ ★

Trees are not like manufactured goods, production of which usually can be increased at will. There is no way any gower can speed up the normal growth of trees.

LONG TIME

It takes from 3 to 10 years or more to produce trees depending on the size desired. Neither the grower nor anyone else materially can change this growth rate.

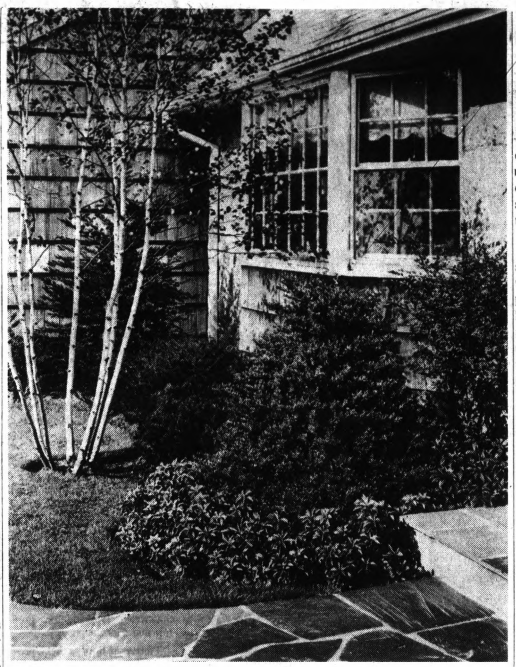
Most nurserymen have increased the supply of trees growing in their fields but it will be several years before the new plantings will reach marketable sizes.

However, the average home owner generally will have no trouble finding what he wants at nurseries.

★ ★ ★

And by shopping at the better-equipped nurseries he'll find the trees and shrubs he wants, whether in large or small sizes.

The average home mortgage purchased by the Federal National Mortgage Association is $11,734.



WELCOME—An open birch, taxus, cotoneaster, euonymous, with a ground cover of pachysandra form a pleasing entrance planting. Different leaf structures add greatly to the beauty.

State African Violet Show Set April 29 at Farmington

It's raining violets as the Michigan State African Violet Society prepares to open its 8th Annual Show April 29 at the Masonic Hall, 23715 Farmington Road at Grand River, Farmington. The show will be open from 1:30 to 8 p.m.

Hosting the event is the Tri-County African Violet Club.

Exhibitors are to be divided into three classes, amateur, advanced and novice.

If the exhibitor has previously earned a ribbon on an entry he will be classified as an amateur.

★ ★ ★

Advanced exhibitors are persons who have previously won best of show and/or sweepstakes. A novice exhibitor is one who has never won a ribbon or entered a show before.

MANY PRIZES

All of the classes will be entered in the prize competition.

Judging will take place between 10 a.m. and noon. Only clean, healthy plants will be accepted, insect and disease free. Plants must have been in the exhibitor's possession for at least three months.

Suckers, collars, props or supports of any kind disqualify the entry.

★ ★ ★

In keeping with the founding of Farmington by the Quakers, the show will follow an Early American theme.

Registration of plants will be from 8 to 10 a.m. on April 29.

A business meeting and election of officers of the Michigan Society will be held at 10 a.m. in the parlor of the Salem United Church of Christ, 33424 Oakland, Farmington.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Joseph Liska of the Hill and Dale Garden Club will be the guest speaker.

Persons interested in obtaining a flower schedule may contact show chairman, Mrs. Edwin Aldrich of 9714 Silverside, South Lyon; or cochairman, Mrs. Boyd Fairfax of 23825 Farmington, Farmington Township.

African Violets Most Popular

The chief horticulturist for one of the biggest retailers of live plants (Woolworth) says the most popular flowering plants are African violets, geraniums and chrysanthemums, in that order.

For indoors, the leader is philodendron (from the Greek "tree loving").

Ease Plant Shock

Transplanting? Use Precaution

Transplanting is a shock, and one of the chief reasons for failure is that home gardeners either don't know or don't observe the few necessary precautions.

★ ★ ★

Your nurseryman or garden supply dealer has been careful to make certain that his transplant items such as roses, bushes, shrubs, evergreens and trees are in good condition when they leave the premises. The trouble, however, starts at home.

Horticulturists for the Agricultural Products division of Nelson Steel, who have been studying the use of Green Garde Micronized Iron to help ease transplant shock, report that the leading cause of poor results is dry roots.

Unless the humidity is over 90 per cent, any plant that is out of the ground will lose moisture. Steps must be taken immediately to prevent or retard moisture-loss even if the planting is to be done within a few hours.

★ ★ ★

If the plant is balled, keep the soil moist and handle it carefully to keep the ball from breaking. Keep it in the shade and protect it from the wind.

BARE-ROOTED PLANTS

In case of bare-root plants or if the ball becomes broken, heel the plants in trenches and moisten the soil, or wrap the roots in wet sphagnum moss or wet paper till ready for planting.

Although horticultural iron can help reduce transplant shock by encouraging more rapid root growth, even better results can be achieved by working a combination of iron and organic matter such as packaged manure, peat or sphagnum moss, leaf mold or compost into the fill soil.

Another leading cause of failure is improper filling of the transplant hole. Add a spadeful of fill soil at a time and pack firmly with the hands, being careful not to damage the roots. The soil may be tramped after the hole is nearly filled.

★ ★ ★

Improper watering practices can be harmful. The extremes — too much or too little — should be avoided. Never allow the soil to become thoroughly dry. On the other hand, it should not be soaked at all times.

Unless there is adequate rainfall, water thoroughly and deep once or twice a week. Frequent shallow waterings do more harm than good.

Flats or seedlings should be handled in much the same way. Keep the soil moist and protect them from sunshine and wind before and during planting.

Chicago Area Teamsters Out

D. C. Talks Bog Down; Firms Ask Dirksen Aid

CHICAGO (AP) — Truckers have resumed their strike against eight Chicago area firms as negotiations between trucking associations and Teamsters bogged down in Washington.

Management and labor representatives flew back to Chicago Thursday and the industry's negotiating team scheduled a meeting for Saturday to discuss the situation.

Trucking industry spokesmen in Washington asked Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., to seek government intervention to head off a widespread strike.

They said the new strike could halt even the shipment of food and have a paralyzing effect on national commerce. A combination strike-lockout last week in the Chicago area forced a number of industries to shut local plants.

STATION PICKETS

Teamsters Local 705 Thursday stationed pickets outside the truck firms which employ more than 1,700 drivers, and ordered company officials to recall their vehicles. The firms affected are the Willett Transportation Co., Frank Cordray Motor Service Inc. and the Lasham Cartage Co.

Later five suburban firms were forced to stop service. These are the Crown Point Transfer, Hammond, Ind.; Elgin Storage and Transfer Co., Elgin; Chicago Heights Motor Freight, Inc., Chicago Heights; Nieder Motor Service, Inc., Des Plaines, and Schieck Motor Express, Inc., Joliet.

A union spokesman said the three firms were being shut down because of "their failure to sign a new contract." Management representatives theorized that truckers were "pressuring" the industry.

Dirksen said he is ready to act quickly and indicated he would add a no-strike bill as an amendment to the first Senate bill introduced after the Chicago situation is appraised. He said the bill would make the strike illegal and would require compulsory arbitration on the grounds that the nation's health and welfare are imperiled.

5-DAY STOPPAGE

Some 52,000 drivers, dock workers and warehousemen were involved in last week's five-day stoppage which was suspended at the request of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Wirtz stepped into the Chicago dispute in an effort to avoid resumption of a nationwide teamster wage dispute which had been settled on a tentative basis April 12.

Rail Commuter Battle Ends

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley yesterday announced success in a three-year fight to maintain railroad commuter service to and from Detroit.

Kelley said the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Wednesday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) for permission to withdraw its petition to discontinue a morning commuter train from Pontiac to Detroit.

The Grand Trunk also has given up in an attempt to discontinue its evening Pullman trains between Detroit and Chicago, Kelley said.

The railroad action followed a federal court order issued April 7 in Detroit requiring the ICC to hold further hearings on the railroad's request to discontinue service.

★ ★ ★

Grand Trunk also has asked the State Public Service Commission to authorize the temporary addition of a third evening commuter train, leaving Detroit around 6 p.m. with stops at Birmingham, Royal Oak, Pontiac and other Oakland County points.

Efforts by Grand Trunk to discontinue Detroit area passenger service started in August 1963 when it asked the Public Service Commission for permission to withdraw the morning and evening trains to Detroit and from Detroit to Chicago.

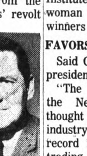
Stamp Revolt Is Over

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Nothing has dropped so abruptly from the news as the housewives' revolt against trading stamps, which just six months ago had the fervor of a Carrie Nation crusade.



CUNNIFF

What is the cause? Is it simply the inevitable conclusion of a typically feminine outburst? Or is there a deeper meaning to be found in this silence?

★ ★ ★

Some irreverent critics suggest that a highly imaginative and effective public relations campaign by the stamp people might have had something to do with calming the irate housewife.

At any rate, the president of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs this week received the achievement award of the Trading Stamp Institute of America, the first woman so honored. Previous winners were merchants.

FAVORS STAMPS

Said Geraldine V. Brown, the president, at the award dinner:

"The Board of Directors of the New Jersey Federation thought so highly of the stamp industry that they went on record in the fall in favor of trading stamps."

★ ★ ★

"We went on record in opposition to any bill which might come before the New jersey State Legislature opposing their (stamp) distribution," she said.

Miss Brown was honored because, and was happy because, her organization's clubhouse was built largely through the redemption of trading stamps — on which four different stamp companies paid big bonuses.

The Trading Stamp Institute estimates that one half of the $125,000 needed to build the clubhouse, on the Rutgers University campus, came from stamps collected from members in hundreds of clubs throughout the state.

Various methods were used in computing the bonuses, but in the final analysis it shows that one company, for instance, redeemed 3,000 books of 1,500 stamps at $2 each although the regular redemption value was $1.50. Another gave $2 for $1.20 books. And donations of time, effort and expense also were made.

★ ★ ★

This can be viewed in two ways: as an overt play for favor or as a public service contribution.

The stamp industry prefers to view its public relations as public service or, as one of its service representatives puts it, "a charitable, philanthropic thing."

GOOD WILL

Katherine Rahl, groups savings director of Merchants Green Stamp Co. of Philadelphia, a subsidiary of Food Fair stores, explains:

"Where else can you get such good will? To see a plaque that this building was erected with trading stamps gives people a good feeling. A lot of these women are young housewives. I don't know of a better way to build good will."

★ ★ ★

Merchants Green Stamps Co. last year redeemed for cash some $80,000 to $100,000 of stamps sent in by groups. Since all legitimate groups receive a bonus, one-quarter of this amount is estimated by the company to be a straight donation.

"This costs the company money," Miss Rahl reminds you.

GLAD TO SUPPORT

"But we're pleased to support federated groups and all others. You create a lot of good will."

Generally, a member of a church, club, charity — even a political group — asks the stamp company for information. In reply they receive a letter that the group savings director may visit and discuss the matter.

A staff member of the stamp company then attends a meeting of the organization which might, for instance, want a piano, station wagon — or new clubhouse.

A sample supply of letters may then be given to officers. They choose one and the stamp company then has the letter printed beneath the club's letterhead. No cost for this, nor for advertising flyers that also might be printed.

CAMPAIGN HELP

Instruction is then provided on how to run a campaign. In New Jersey, for example, the state was divided into 11 districts and each member of each club was asked to turn in one book of stamps or $2.

Navy, AF Claim Successes in North Vietnam Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy fliers today reported "severe damage" to Haiphong's two power plants in their raids Thursday which put out the lights in North Vietnam's major port. Air Force pilots claimed major destruction to trains, railyards and storage dumps in simultaneous attacks 20 to 40 miles from Hanoi.

U.S. military headquarters made no announcement of any plane losses in the raids Thursday but confirmed a Communist report that two American planes were lost over North Vietnam Wednesday. The headquarters said the three fliers in the two planes were missing. Hanoi had said one was captured.

★ ★ ★

Ground action in South Vietnam was reported light but B52 bombers made six raids against enemy positions and troop concentrations. Four of these truck at troop and staging areas in the northern end of the country, increasingly menaced by massing North Vietnamese troops. A fifth raid pounded a major North Vietnamese infiltration route inside the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

The six B52 raids in one day were one short of the record for the bombers, which made seven strikes on Feb. 16.

POWER PLANTS

In the forays against the Hanoi-Haiphong complex Thursday Navy fliers from two aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf concentrated on the two Haiphong power plants, flying through intense antiaircraft and missile fire. The carrier pilots attacked nine antiaircraft sites and 13 missile sites in the Haiphong area, the Navy reported.

One of the power plants attacked was 1.1 miles northwest of the center of Haiphong and within the city limits. It was the first time in the war that a target inside Haiphong was bombed, but Rear Adm. David C. Richardson on the carrier Kitty Hawk said reconnaissance photos taken after the raid showed "very, very few" homes destroyed.

★ ★ ★

Pilots reported damaging the boiler house, cooling plant and water treatment plant of the power plant.

The other plant was 2 miles northeast of the center of the city and well within its suburbs, the U.S. command said. This plant furnished power for the city, its industry and port. Pilots said their bombing of this plant left Haiphong in darkness Thursday night. They reported the boiler house destroyed and the generator and transformer buildings damaged.

North Vietnam charged that the raider's repeatedly bombed and strafed targets in the heart of Haiphong. The Communists said the attack was "one of the most dangerous steps of their (American) war escalation."

Sales Zoom, Auto Output Hits '67 High

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto production hit a 1967 high this week in the wake of strong sales reports.

The trade publication Automotive News estimated 172,740 cars would be built this week. The previous 1967 high was the 165,898 car output in the second week of January.

The total compared with last week's 149,841 and the 219,489 built in the comparable week last year.

Year-to-date figures showed 2,360,647 cars built thus far in 1967 far below the 3,098,528 built at the same point a year ago.

★ ★ ★

Truck output amounted to 35,609 units, up from last week's 29,426 but shy of the 40,795 built in the comparable week last year. The year to date tally climbed to 541,482 versus 599,772 at this point a year ago.

CANADIAN OUTPUT

In Canada, auto production this week came to 13,249 units, short of last week's 16,334 and the 17,773 built in the like week of 1966.

Canadian calendar year auto production rose to 233,659 units compared with 271,679 for the like period a year ago.

Canadian truck makers built 5,414 trucks this week compared with 4,405 last week and 4,333 in the like week a year ago. Canadian truck makers have built 75,338 vehicles thus far in 1967, compared with 60,282 in the like period last year.

The Drayton Plains Nature Center will be featured at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow on the Channel 7 television program Michigan Sportsman.

Jerry Chiappetta, narrator of the show, has entitled tomorrow's offering about the Nature Center "A Tour of a Dream."

Chiappetta recently took several pictures on the grounds of the 140-acre facility located off Hatchery Road near Dixie Highway in Waterford Township.

Prof Wins Prize

NEW YORK (AP)—A University of Michigan assistant professor Wednesday was named one of three winners of the annual Bancroft Prizes. Dr. William Freehling won the award for his book "Prelude to Civil War."

Plans Made to Form Area JC Chapter

A group of 14 men from the Sylvan Lake-Keego Harbor area voted to organize a Jaycee chapter and elected temporary officers during a meeting last night at the Manufacturers National Bank, 2340 Orchard Lake, Sylvan Lake.

Representatives of the Michigan and Waterford Township Jaycees explained purposes and operations of the organization and answered questions at the meeting. A film also was shown.

Jim Cote, extension chairman of the Waterford Township Jaycees, was in charge.

Temporary officers elected last night were Ron Joyner, 1812 Warwick, Sylvan Lake, president; Ralph Harper, secretary; and Fred Goodwin, treasurer.

Goodwin, Al Weiss and Dick Ulasich were chosen to serve on the chapter's constitution and bylaws committee.

OTHER CHAIRMEN

Other elected chairmen were Jim Knapp, ways and means; and Tom Rosenthal, membership.

Another phasing-in meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 4 at the bank. Interested young men in the Sylvan Lake-Keego Harbor area between the ages of 21-35 can contact Charles Wood, 4193 Baybrook, Waterford Township.

A minimum of 20 members is required before a Jaycee chapter is eligible to receive a state charter.
